Correspondence.

While allowing the utmost freedom for the expression of opinion, it must never be considered that we are in any way bound to statements made by correspondents.

To the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS AND RINGERS' RECORD."

REPLY TO MR. LONGNEY.

SIR,—I am afraid Mr. Longney's ire is roused, for which I am extremely sorry. I wont trouble him for the callings now. The Rev. C. D. P. Davies kindly replied to my enquiry at once, without waiting for my name or address, but then he is not Mr. Lionel Longney, of Croome, Worcester. Mr. Longney says he'll "swear" that he called the forty-two 6-scores differently. I entreat him to refrain from doing anything so heroic. And he will repeat the task to "my satisfaction." That is very doubtful, very. Again, I never thought that the calling of forty-two 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles was as simple as supposed, as Mr. Longney says; I should think the listening part of it was a very big affair. I should not have imagined that Mr. Lionel Longney or in fact any one else, needed the assistance of "one of our ablest conductors in the West of England" to verify the fact that anybody would rather conduct a peal of Triples or Caters than call forty-two 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles. From choice, also, I suppose, the "ablest conductor" would much rather be compelled to listen to either of the former than the latter. I ask Mr. Lionel Longney, of Croome, Worcester, not to be too hard upon those people who, from modesty, write to the press under an initial. All of us have not such high-sounding names, and from a proper sense of humility, prefer to keep them in the background. I beg Mr. Lionel Longney's pardon for the trouble I have caused him in answering my letter. I feel that I did wrong in entering into this correspondence with previously asking his great and august permission.

"THE RINGING AT ST. LAWRENCE JEWRY"

SIR,—Owing to absence from home I did not get my "BELL NEWS" for July 18th till this morning. The letter of "Inquirer" in your issue of that date throws more light upon an occurrence personal to myself. Being in the city on the morning of the Emperor's visit, and hearing the bells of St. Lawrence going (as I thought) as described by your correspondent, i.e. with the two trebles clocked, I went to the door, which was open, but ingress barred by the iron gate, and waiting some little time until ringing had temporarily ceased, saw the chief ringer (an acquaintance of many years), and offered my services, which have been rendered, free, many times at the same church, but to my surprise was very gruffly told—"You can't come in here without a ticket from the Churchwarden." Comment here would be superfluous.

July 28th.

A. S. C. Y.

THE SOCIETY OF TRINITY YOUTHS.

The annual excursion of the St. Mary's, Lewisham, branch of the above Society, took place on Saturday, July 18th, the destination being Eastbourne. A start was made from New Cross (L. B. & S. C. Railway) at 8.12 a.m., Eastbourne being reached at 11 a.m., the train being 55 minutes late.

After partaking of some refreshment, a move was made for St. Mary's Church, where a 518 Grandsire Triples was brought round on this beautiful ring of bells, by F. Davis, 1; H. N. Davis 2; G. Daynes, 3; H. Warnett, 4; F. Rumens, 5; J. E. Davis 6; W. Bedwell, conductor, 7; H. Barrett 8.

All Saints was next visited, and some touches in the same method were rung. At 1.30 the party, numbering 20, sat down to a substantial repast, provided by Host Holbourne, of the "Garibaldi Arms." After the last course had successfully been brought round, a move was made for the beach, and a trip out to sea was thoroughly enjoyed.

Christ Church was next on the programme, and some touches were rung upon this handy ring of eight.

After tea St. Saviour's Church was visited. Here the visitors were met by Mr. Ticehurst and several of the St. Saviour's band, and conducted to the tower, where hangs a grand ring of eight. After some touches, and a selection by the St. Saviour's band on their beautiful peal of handbells (numbering upwards of 60 bells), the Trinity Youths had to bid "Good-bye" to their Eastbourne brethren, New Cross being reached about 11 p.m., everyone having thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

The ringers wish, through the medium of "THE BELL NEWS," to thank Mr. J. Rollinson, Mr. Ticehurst, and others, for kindly making arrangements at the various towers. Also to congratulate them for the excellent manner in which their towers are kept.

THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

The quarterly meeting was held on Saturday, July 18th, at St. Mary's Church, Rawtenstall, a goodly number of members attending from various parts of the county. Ringing commenced early in the afternoon. Grandsire Triples, Stedman Triples, Bob Major, and Treble Bob Major were the principal methods rung. The scholars in connection with St. Mary's Church were celebrating their annual "Field Day." The proceedings commenced with the usual procession through the principal thoroughfares of the town, accompanied by two bands of music. The local ringers took advantage of the event by generously providing tea free of cost to all members, which was served in the spacious and well-adapted Schools, the treat being greatly appreciated.

The meeting was subsequently held, the Rev. H. J. Elsee, M.A., presiding, who was supported by the Rev. J. Norris, M.A., Vicar, and the Secretary; Messrs. J. Eachus, H. W. Jackson, A. E. Wreaks, R. Hill, G. Longden, J. Harrison, H. H. Nutter, and J. Herrocks, officers. Messrs. J. Shepherd, F. Birtwistle, and W. Brown, Branch Secretaries, were also present.

The Rev. J. Norris, addressing the members, said he was pleased to welcome the ringers of our large and useful association. It was very gratifying to meet co-workers in the church. He could not see no better employment for a body of men than that of ringing. He could see a wonderful improvement in the character and status of the ringers at the present time. He paid a very high tribute to his ringers for their general conduct and assistance in all parochial matters in his parish. He again welcomed the members, and sincerely hoped they had that day enjoyed themselves.

The President, adverting to the remarks of the Vicar, maintained the high character of ringers throughout the country, and strongly advocated a feeling of brotherhood amongst them.

The Secretary was requested to send copies of resolutions, condoling with the widows and families of the late J. T. Stott (Newchurch) and John Tattersall (Ramsbottom).

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar and Wardens for the use of the bells and the schools; also to the local company for their kindness in providing tea.

Obituary.

CHARLES THORP.

The Secretary of the Ashton-under-Lyne Society wishes to supplement the brief obituary notice of this ringer, which appeared in a recent issue. Although the above-named was young in years (37), he had been a ringer considerably over twenty years, and was the brother of the well-known composer, Mr. J. Thorp. He rang his first peal on the bells of St. Peter's church, which was also the first peal on the bells, in January, 1872—5040 Bob Major, and his last peal was rung at Eccles, in December, 1882, which was Treble Bob Major, 5120 changes. In all he rang thirty-four peals in the Plain Bob, Grandsire, and Treble Bob methods, on eight and ten bells, the longest of which was his brother's well-known composition, 8864 Treble Bob Major, with the tenors together, at Ashton St. Peter's, in February, 1874. He taught the band of ringers of St. Peter's church, and conducted their first peal in October, 1877, it being the first attempt for all who rang in it and also the first for Mr. Thorp as conductor. He had taken part with the Ashton company in several prize-ringing contests, and when eighteen years old rang the tenor at Eccles, when they claimed the first prize. He removed to Crewe about twelve years ago, since which time he has done little peal-ringing, being engaged in teaching new hands. Some two years ago he received an accident to his foot, which necessitated a portion of it being amputated, from the shock of which he had never recovered. On Saturday, July 4th, the funeral was attended by some of his old fellow-ringers, who rang a course of Grandsire Major on the hand-bells over his grave, but to the great regret of the society the greater portion were busy at Macclesfield, opening the bells, which prevented them from attending. On Saturday, the 18th ult., a touch of Grandsire Caters was rung at St. Michael's church, 1961 changes, with the bells half muffled, conducted by Mr. S. Wood, and for service on Sunday morning, 324 and 144 in the same method, conducted by Mr. John Hopwood, and in the evening 485 Grandsire Caters, conducted by Mr. S. Wood. Mr. Thorp married in February, 1876, Miss E. Adams, daughter of a well-known Ashton ringer, who with two children live to mourn his loss.

SEASONABLE ACKNOWLEDGMENTS.

Mr. W. Rees, Treasurer of the Swansea Guild, writes as follows:—
"Through your columns we, the Swansea District Guild of change-ringers, would like to publicly acknowledge the services rendered to us by Mr. T. Hattersley, of Sheffield, who happened to be on business at Swansea, and kindly stayed with us two days longer than he would otherwise have done, solely to instruct us somewhat more in the art of change-ringing; and we also think it a great boon to ringers to have photos of these eminent men given in "THE BELL NEWS," as Mr. Hattersley was recognised by Mr. West, one of our band (while transacting business with him) from the photo, which we have hanging in our tower, this causing the introduction to the Swansea band. At the same time, we would like to acknowledge the services of many others, for instance, J. Morris, of Worcester, who gave us a lot of advice last summer; also Mr. H. Gardner, of Gloucester, who pays us a visit or two every month; likewise the first band, under the able conductor, T. Jones, of Monmouth, who rang the first six-score in Swansea or neighbourhood, I might even venture to say in South Wales, on the 28th of last August. As there will undoubtedly be many ringers visiting Swansea during the week of the National Eisteddfod next month from 18th to 21st, we shall only be too glad to see them paying us a visit in the same manner as those already referred to."

WEIGHT OF TENOR WANTED.

Mr. C. Sillitoe, of Sudbury, Suffolk, asks the following:—
"Could any of your readers inform me the weight of the tenor at Great Tey, Essex. It is given in the Essex Association Report as being 18 cwt. in G, but from what I could judge from the size and pull of the bell, I should think it would not weigh more than 15 cwt. As I had the honour of conducting a peal of Treble Bob on these bells on Saturday last, rung by a band of the Essex Association, I should be much obliged to any brother-string who could give me the required information."

THE UNEMPLOYED IN EAST LONDON.—At a time when much thought is being given to this matter, a practical suggestion may be of service. Last year more than £300,000 worth of foreign matches were purchased by inconsiderate consumers in this country, to the great injury of our own working people, so true is it that "evil is wrought by want of thought, as well as want of heart." If all consumers would purchase Bryant and May's matches, that firm would be enabled to pay £1000 a week more in wages.

* * Several letters, touches and reports, are unavoidably left over until next week.

DR. GEO. H. JONES,
SURGEON DENTIST,
And Doctor of Dental Surgery, U.S.A.,
57, Great Russell Street,
BLOOMSBURY, LONDON.
Consultation Daily to 5.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has demonstrated that Painless Dentistry is as much an accomplished fact as the swift locomotive, the telephone, or the phonograph.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, absolutely restores the natural contour, caused by the loss of teeth, rendering detection impossible, by the Prize Medal dentals, which have obtained the highest possible awards, viz.: London, 1851; New York, 1853; London, 1862; Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; and Philadelphia, 1876.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has received from S. G. Hutchins, Esq., Surgeon Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen, a testimonial, which places beyond all doubt the vast superiority of his system: "My Dear Doctor,—Allow me to press my sincere thanks for the skill and attention displayed in the construction of my Artificial Teeth, which render my mastication and articulation excellent. I am glad to hear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. In recognition of your valuable services, you are at liberty to use my name.—S. G. HUTCHINS, By Appointment Surgeon Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen." Geo. H. Jones, Esq., D.D.S.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has obtained the highest possible awards at the great International Exhibitions for his Improvements in Dentistry, which are protected by Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent, and for Painless and Perfect adjustment of Prize Medal Teeth, viz.: gold medals, London and Paris; gold medal, New Zealand Exhibition, 1882; gold medal, Calcutta, 1883; and the highest diploma of merit and award at Nice and Amsterdam, 1883-4. Awarded the gold medal of the Academie Nationale, Paris, 1884; and the highest award Antwerp; also the gold medal, International Exhibition, London, 1885; gold medal, Liverpool, 1886; gold medal, Melbourne, 1888-9.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, and Doctor of Dental Surgery, U.S.A., consulted daily from 10 to 5, or at any special hour by appointment, and upon a personal visit, every information respecting fees and treatment, without charge, at his only address—

MUSICAL HAND BELLS

ON VARIOUS MODES OF COMPOSING PEALS OF STEDMAN CATERS.

By A. PERCIVAL HEYWOOD.

III.

A year or two ago after hearing a touch of Stedman Caters with the back bells turned half-way from 9 7 8 to 8 7 9, and being impressed with the charm of the variation in the music, it occurred to me that a peal with the bells so turned in every 9 7 8 and 8 7 9 alternately would be a great relief from the monotony of continuous similar course-ends. There are several ways in which this may be effected, and most simply by having bobs at 2 and 9 in each course. But as a bob at 2 throughout the peal would destroy the whole of the tittum sixes, this and other plans involving the same bob were not to be thought of. It was in consequence necessary to adopt the following more complicated scheme, which, however, carries with it the advantage of courses of but seventeen sixes in length, thus admitting of a larger number of course-ends in a peal.

- I - Q. six - 9 7 8

-	I	-	-	9	-	8	-	7
-	I	Quick Six	9	7	8

These two courses requires to be called alternately throughout the peal, finishing with an 8 7 9 course-end. In the above arrangement, which admits of the 6th being kept continuously in 5ths place, there would be no advantage in having this bell in 2nds place. As a 5ths place bell the 6th will be behind, after the course-end, alternately with the 9th and 8th, thus giving the best effect all through the peal. On examining the following composition, together with the preceding skeleton courses, it will be seen that an unusual amount of music is compressed into a 5000.

The last 24 courses repeated, omitting the bob at 2 in the first course, produce 214365879. Round at hand at the next change. The first course marked * is called thus:—

1, 83, 87, 10, 14, 17.

This peal has the 6th the whole extent of 48 courses, all but five changes, in 5th's place. Rung at Duffield, Sept. 16th, 1890.

The gain in the number of course-ends obtained by the shorter courses of this arrangement suggested a further contraction of the course. The following very simple course of only ten sixes in length continuously repeated will produce alternate 9 7 8s and 8 7 9s. The go-off must be from a slow six instead of, as is usual, from a quick one, and the course-ends will all come at slow sixes. A double course is given in order to shew fully the working of the 8th and 9th. These bells will be seen to interchange their work in the alternate courses, the 7th remaining fixed, and never going in slow.

The bobs at 7, 9, 10, in each course, form the standard calling. Additional bobs may be called at 4 and 5, as required, without disturbing 7, 8, 9. The advantages of this plan are its great simplicity in spite of the numerous calls, and the occurrence of a course-end at every tenth six, thus bringing nearly double the usual number of course-ends into a peal. There is the further gain that, with a single at the start, the bells are at once in the same position as if they had gone off from an 8 7 9 course-end; and as 42 double courses, equal to 5040 changes, bring up 21 8 7 9, the bells may be had round at hand at the next six, thus altogether avoiding broken courses. Lastly, as there are no bobs in the three first sixes of the course, the whole of the music appertaining to each course-end is obtained complete. The disadvantages are as follows, and not of importance. No bell can be fixed in 5ths place, as the six smaller bells must be always on the move, but, owing to the shortness of the courses, the 5th and 6th must, one of them, come very frequently into this position, and the frequency of the course-ends amply compensates for any loss in this respect. This plan bears considerable similitude to that of Mr. Johnson already described, but it is simpler, and to my mind, preferable on account of the regularity of the calling and fuller effect of the music.

A few short touches are appended in which the going-off is in the usual way. In peals, however, it is preferable to go off with the first change of a quick six because thus a single at the start will put the heavy bells in the position they occupy after an 8 7 9 course-end. As a peal must consist of at least 84 courses, equal to 5040 changes, an even number (42) of double courses will be required. By starting as from an 8 7 9 course-end this desideratum will be obtained, for the bells are always had round in the six following an 8 7 9. If the start be with a bob, the heavy bells will work as from a 9 7 8, and in such case an extra course will be added to the peal, making the number of changes about 5100. By starting with the first change of a quick six, the bells can be brought round at the 1st 3rd or 5th change of the last six. In certain cases it would be possible to start, not from the end of a slow six, but from its fourth change, thus giving a dodge in the usual way for the bells above thirds place. To avoid complication, however, I have thought it better in all cases to start from 123456, with a quick six, a procedure that has several advantages. In regard to starting with a single, this is not only convenient on account of its effect on the heavy bells, but also because in many, if not most, peals two singles will be a necessity, and one may properly be got rid of at the earliest opportunity.

The work of the front bells in the going-off six will be as follows:—

I may state that the Rev. H. Earle Bulwer has interested himself in this new arrangement, and I hope that in a short time he may be ready to publish some of the peals on which he is now occupied.

In conclusion I wish again to point out that these articles have been written with the object of controverting the prevailing idea that the Stedman method on nine bells is incapable of producing such continuous music as the simpler Grandsire; it is likely that those who familiarize themselves with the above plan of composing may agree with me.

RINGERS' OUTING.

On Saturday, July 18th. the members of the Leiston (Suffolk) society had their outing. Starting punctually at 6 o'clock, they, seven in number, proceeded in a brake with pair of horses to Framlingham, where a halt was made, affording an opportunity of visiting the fine old church and castle, when the journey was resumed to Debenham, where the fine peal of bells were quickly set going to the tune of Bob Major, Grandsire Triples, and Treble Bob Major. The "Red Lion" hotel was next visited, and ample justice dealt out to the substantial dinner served up in Host Jessop's usual good style. After this a start was made for Framdsen, where there is a good peal of eight, but in such bad condition as to be unringable.

Helmingham was the next place visited, when some more ringing was done in Triples and Major. after which a start was made for home, which was reached at 11 o'clock, a most enjoyable day having been spent. The party desire to thank the clergymen for the use of the bells, and the steeplekeepers for so kindly having everything in readiness.

FOR SALE.—A Splendid peal of 42 Handbells, Chromatic, from G 26 to C 1; by J. Warner and Sons, London; together with tables, box, music, and all fittings. Will sell at a sacrifice; reason ill-health. Apply—William Kenney, 5, Townley Street, Macclesfield, Cheshire.

THE WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

The annual festival of this Guild was held at Portsea on Tuesday, July 24th. The belfry of St. Mary's church was opened at 9.45, and ringing was indulged in until eleven o'clock. Some well-struck touches of Grandsire were brought round, and some Stedman and Treble Bob were also attempted, but the number of persons in the belfry, and the fact that the ringers had not rung together before, and were mostly accustomed to so long a draught of rope, prevented any touches being brought round in these methods. The service at 11 o'clock was fully choral, the Rev. H. A. Spyers reading the lesson, and the Rev. R. C. M. Harvey intoning the other part of the service. The Vicar of Portsea (Rev. Canon Jacob) gave a most interesting address, basing his remarks upon 2 Chron. vi. 41; "Arise, O LORD, unto Thy resting-place, and show the ark of Thy strength." Upwards of 170 members attended Divine Service.

The General Annual Meeting of Members followed at 12 o'clock, the acting Secretary being voted to the chair. The first business was the election of officers. Mr. J. P. Stillwell, of Yateley, was elected President for the next year; the Rev. R. C. M. Harvey Secretary and Treasurer; and Messrs. W. Scott Evans, C. B. Ryde, and S. Merritt, members of the committee. The chief object of discussion was the question of a new certificate of membership. Some certificates of other Associations of ringers were exhibited, that of the Oxford Diocesan Guild being specially admired, and Messrs. H. White, J. W. Whiting, and F. J. W. Rees, with the Secretary (ex officio) were appointed as a Committee to frame a certificate on lines similar to that of the Oxford Diocesan Guild.

The Secretary proposed that Mr. G. H. Barnett be accepted as representative of the Guild upon the Central Council, in place of the Rev. C. Buston (resigned), his name having stood next on the list on the occasion of the general ballot. Some discussion followed upon the vexed question of seven-bell peals, and a motion by Mr. Whiting, that such performances be inscribed in the peal-book of the Guild, was carried by a large majority. It was decided to hold the next district meeting at Southampton.

An adjournment was then made to St. Mary's Mission Hall for dinner, 174 members sitting down, a number which severely taxed the resources of the caterer, the fact that the Royal Counties' Agricultural Show opened the same day making it somewhat difficult to secure a sufficient staff of waiters. At the conclusion of the dinner, the Chairman (Canon Jacob) gave "The Queen and Royal Family," which was received with due honors. Mr. Rees proposed "The Bishop and Clergy of the Diocese," the Rev. H. A. Spyers responding. The Chairman then proposed "Success to the Winchester Guild," to which the Secretary briefly replied. The members then dispersed to ring at various churches in the neighbourhood.

At St. Faith's, Havant, the following touches were brought round: three courses of Bob Major, two courses of Kent Treble Bob Major, several plain courses of Double Norwich, two 252's of Stedman Triples, 210 Union Triples, and 377 Grandsire Triples, by Messrs. Rees, Colbourn, Bennett, Groves, Heathorn (Guildford), D. Jordan, E. Jordan, R. Jordan (Capel), G. Baker (Arundel), W. Selby (Midhurst), G. Williams (Brighton), and G. Woodiss (Walton-on-Thames). At All Saints' church, Ryde, 503 Grandsire Triples was rung. J. Harper, 1; H. Garfath, 2; F. Wilson, 3; T. Newnham, 4; A. E. Nye, 5; G. Gratham, 6; J. W. Whiting (conductor), 7; R. Harman, 8. Also a 447. F. A. Barnett, 1; C. Symons, 2; J. Ballard, 3; F. Wilson, 4; H. Stubbington, 5; J. Higgins, 6; H. White (conductor), 7; E. Clapshaw, 8. And a 440. C. Groves, H. Stubbington, A. E. Nye, Rev. H. A. Spyers, H. Garfath, Rev. R. C. M. Harvey, J. W. Whiting (conductor), and A. Knight.

The Hambledon and Romsey bands visited Netley Abbey, and some touches of Grandsire Doubles and Triples were brought round. At Gosport some Grandsire Doubles were rung by the Woking, Shalford, Cranleigh, and Bagshot bands, while the Hawley, Hursley, and Twyford bands were kindly entertained by the Rev. R. Parker at Wykeham.

Many members stayed to ring at Portsea, some touches of Grandsire Triples being brought round, of which details are not to hand, while many more visited the many objects of interest in Portsmouth. In all some 250 members attended the meeting and spent a thoroughly enjoyable day.

THE ALL SAINTS' SOCIETY OF FULHAM.

On Monday, July 20th, the annual outing of this society took place. Previous to starting a 593 of Grandsire Caters was rung at head quarters, and then the company, fifteen in number, took train for Windsor, where they arrived about 10.50 a.m. After visiting the castle and St. George's chapel, a walk was enjoyed through the park to Old Windsor church. Here the visitors were received by the Vicar of Old Windsor, and also by the Rev. J. H. Hindson, Vicar of Wraysbury. Several touches of Grandsire Triples were rung here. Then under the leadership of the Rev. J. H. Hindson, a walk to Wraysbury was enjoyed, where, at the "George Inn," the party sat down to an excellent dinner, the rev. gentleman, in the absence of the Vicar of Fulham, being in the chair. The Chairman read a letter from the Rev. W. E. Muriel (Vicar of Fulham) regretting he was unable to join the company at dinner on the occasion of their first annual outing since he had been their president. After dinner,

Mr. J. W. Driver proposed a vote of thanks to the rev. chairman. He then spoke of the great interest the Vicar of Fulham had taken in the society since he had been among them. He felt sure that they were all disappointed at his absence. It would have been a great pleasure to their Vicar to be present, as well as to themselves, and he had been looking forward to that day's enjoyment with them. But being single-handed, and having to officiate at the funeral of a friend, his absence could not be avoided. It was then agreed that a hearty vote of thanks should be wired to him at once, for the kindness he had shown to them by doing all he could to make their outing a success. This having been done, and a vote of thanks being accorded the host, a move was made to Wraysbury church, where a few touches of Grandsire Triples were rung. Cricket was then indulged in, but on the appearance of Mr. J. Parker, of Farnham Royal, with one or two friends, a move was again made to the tower, where various touches of Stedman Triples were rung.

About 6 o'clock, tea was kindly provided by the Vicar of Wraysbury, and when another touch of Stedman Triples had been rung, the Rev. J. H. Hindson left the party, who then walked to Staines, where only one touch—Grandsire Triples—was rung owing to the bad condition of the bells. This finished the tower bell-ringing for the day, and the company repaired to the "Phoenix Arms," there to spend an hour with the local ringers, when a touch of Grandsire Triples and two plain courses of Bob Major were rung in hand. A farewell was then taken of all friends, and a sharp walk was had to catch the 9.50 train to Putney, which was reached about 10.30., all the company delighted with their day's enjoyment. They desire to thank, through the medium of this journal, all those gentlemen who met them at the various places, and helped to make their outing what it was—a gigantic success.

NORTHAMPTON.

On Saturday, July 18th, the members of the Northampton branch of the Midland Counties' Association erected a peal-board to commemorate the peal rang by them at St. Edmund's church, which is supposed to be the first peal in Northampton ever rung and conducted by local men. Mr. Councillor Tomes (donor of the bells) unveiled the board in a very appropriate speech, which was followed by an address from the Rev. Canon Hughes (Vicar), both gentlemen speaking of the excellent way in which the bells were now rung, and also the great pleasure it gave them to come among the ringers, hoping they (the ringers) would still keep persevering, and perform many more feats of the same kind. A hearty vote of thanks was awarded both to the Rev. Canon Hughes and Mr. Councillor Tomes for coming among the ringers to perform the ceremony.

There was no ringing at St. Edmunds on the occasion, on account of the alterations to the church being in progress. The ringers afterwards adjourned to St. Peter's (through the kindness of the Rev. E. N. Tom), and rang several touches on the church and handbells, and through the medium of this paper they wish to thank him for kindly granting them permission.

THE UNEMPLOYED IN EAST LONDON.—At a time when much thought is being given to this matter, a practical suggestion may be of service. Last year more than £300,000 worth of foreign matches were purchased by inconsiderate consumers in this country, to the great injury of our own working people, so true is it that "evil is wrought by want of thought, as well as want of heart." If all consumers would purchase Bryant and May's matches, that firm would be enabled to pay £1000 a week more in wages.

COSELEY, STAFFORDSHIRE.

On Saturday afternoon, several members of the Worcestershire and Districts Association, the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford, and the St. Peter's Guild, Wolverhampton, were invited to the parish of Coseley to celebrate the ringing of a 720 of Grandsire Minor, the first that had ever been rung on the parish church bells by a local band. Ringing commenced at 4.30 with a well-struck quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples, in 46 mins., conducted by W. Micklewright; and a 350 in the same method conducted by B. Gough.

At 6.30 the company adjourned to the National Schools, where a capital knife and fork tea, which had been provided under the superintendence of Miss Macpherson, assisted by Miss Addie Horton, Miss Rose Horton, and Miss Beatrice Gough, awaited them. This being satisfactorily disposed of, several of the company went for a stroll, while others rang short touches of Grandsire and Bob Triples, a plain course of Stedman Triples being rung by W. Pardoe, 1; B. Gough, 2; E. Goodreds, 3; W. H. Horton, 4; H. Mills, 5; J. Goodman, 6; W. Hartshorne, 7; — 8.

A meeting was then held in the schoolroom, the Rev. C. W. Tibbitts presiding.

The Chairman, having apologised for his absence during the earlier part of the proceedings, said he was pleased they had a band of young men who were gradually becoming efficient change-ringers. This was owing, in a great measure, to the Worcestershire and Districts Association. Very few people had sufficient musical ear to know when a "change" was made, and he saw no reason why the art should not be promoted and brought up to perfection. That which was worth doing at all was worth doing well. Change-ringing was a branch of Church work, and was not only to be used as a pastime but for the glory of God. They sent forth the invitation to come to God's house to take part in the worship of God's holy temple. Some very disgraceful scenes used to occur in belfries, but he was glad to say that that was a thing of the past. He was pleased to see one of their churchwardens present. Ringers appreciated their presence, because it showed that they were recognised as a branch of the Church's officers.

Mr. Pardoe said he was very proud to be a ringer. It was nearly twenty-eight years ago since he joined a band of ringers, but ringing then was a different thing to ringing at the present time. If there was a church that wanted change-ringing introduced, all they had to do was to put the matter in the hands of the Association, who would take the necessary steps to introduce it.

Mr. Smith (Secretary) said he remembered the first time they were invited to Coseley. The objects of the Association were put before the members of the band, and the result was that they joined the Association, who sent two men to instruct them. He hoped that the members of the Coseley branch would hold together as a band of Church workers and good ringers, and when the bells were restored and good harmony produced, many a peal would be heard from the tower of Christ Church. The belfries were parts of God's house, and were consecrated in like manner with other parts of the fabric, and, they, as ringers, should endeavour to keep them as respectable as they could. He should like to see Coseley tower in the same condition as Netherton, and the ringers removed from where they now stood to the chamber above.

Mr. Prestidge thanked the members of the branch for the very hearty welcome which had been given them. He did not think they were deserving of it, for they had simply done their duty. Ringers should be sociable with each other, for if they were not they could not help one another.

Mr. Rowden said that at Penn they had six bells, but wanted somebody to ring them. He should be very pleased to join the Association, and try his best to induce others to do likewise.

Mr. Pardoe proposed a vote of thanks to Miss Macpherson and the other young ladies who had assisted in providing such a capital repast. Mr. B. Gough seconded, and the motion was unanimously carried.

Mr. Smith moved a vote of thanks to the Vicar and Churchwardens for the use of the bells and schoolroom that afternoon, and Mr. Prestidge seconded the motion.

Mr. Clendinnen (churchwarden) in responding, said it had given him great pleasure to be with them that afternoon. He was pleased with the progress their ringers had made, and hoped that very shortly they would have a good band. Not long ago they expended between £1700 and £1800 upon renovating the church and providing a new organ, and he hoped that shortly something would be done to improve the bells and the tower.

A vote of thanks was passed to the Rev. C. W. Tibbitts for presiding, and the proceedings terminated with the singing of the National Anthem. During the evening courses of Grandsire Triples, Major, and Caters, were rung on the handbells.

DRINKSTONE, SUFFOLK.

On Wednesday, July 29th, a special service was held in the church of this parish to re-open the peal of bells, and the south porch, after extensive restoration. The fine peal of six bells, dating from 1695, had fallen into great decay; four out of the six were cracked, and the framework completely out of repair. The present Rector was very anxious at the time of the Jubilee to complete the work of restoring the belfry, which had been begun under his auspices so long ago as 1869, but sufficient funds were not at that time forthcoming. The surplus of the Jubilee fund, however, having been voted by the vestry to this purpose, the Rector and some members of his family, aided by kind friends in the parish and neighbourhood, have since made up the required sum within a few pounds, and had the work put in hand in the spring of the present year. It is sufficient to say that the work has been most successfully and conscientiously carried out, indeed all who heard the bells on the day of opening were loud in their praise, pronouncing them as complete and sweet a peal of six as can now be heard in Suffolk, which is saying a great deal, as the county is considered a land of bells. The Lavenham and Preston ringers were engaged to ring at the dedication service, and very well they performed their office. After a short choral service, commencing at four o'clock, the Ven. the Archdeacon of Sudbury, standing before the belfry, did in the presence of a large congregation solemnly dedicate the bells to the honour and glory of God, and the service of His sanctuary; and afterwards preached a most interesting sermon in connection with the subject.

The customary dedication service, with proper additions, was used; among the latter being the hymn—"Lift them gently," and the Te Deum immediately before the blessing.

The south porch has also undergone thorough repair, chiefly through the exertions of the Churchwardens—Mr. Clarke and Mr. Thomas Taylor. This work, which cost more than was at first anticipated, owing to the ravages of dry-rot through insufficient ventilation, has been completed in a thoroughly satisfactory manner, so that it is now a great ornament to the building. Our correspondent adds: "A large gathering of parishioners, and others in the neighbourhood, testified to the general interest taken in the beautifying of our beloved church."

S. NICOLAS, GREAT YARMOUTH.

The Rev. H. Earle Bulwer, Hon. Secretary of the Norwich Diocesan Association, writes:—

"In your account of the recent instalment of restoration which has just been completed at this magnificent church, I was disappointed at not finding any mention of the renovation and improvements which have been effected inside the lantern tower, as part of the undertaking. The ringing-chamber has been almost entirely renovated and greatly improved in appearance and furniture, and the floor above has been covered with lead. All who have ever visited the belfry will remember the old approach thereto along a narrow gallery close under the roof of the north transept. This is no longer: a new turret stairway having been constructed in the angle between the transept and the chancel aisle, giving direct access to the ringing-floor. I have not yet visited the belfry since the work was finished, but I was there during its progress, and was greatly pleased with the promise it afforded of becoming one of the best appointed ringing-chambers in the Diocese. We may hope that in good time the effort that is being made by the St. Nicholas' Society of ringers to obtain two trebles to add to the ring of ten will be crowned with success."

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A quarterly meeting was held at Cromer on Thursday, 23rd July, which was attended by 36 members, representing the following Companies:—St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich, Diss, Lynn, Swaffham, Weston, Hethersett, Beccles, Somerleyton, Cawston, Hingham and Bunwell. The weather was unfortunately very wet up to 11 o'clock, which, no doubt, prevented some from attending; but after that hour the sun shone brightly, and a pleasant afternoon was enjoyed. The bells of the Parish Church were kept going with but little intermission throughout the day, several good 720s of Treble Bob being rung, as well as shorter touches for the benefit of the learners, of whom many were present at their first meeting. A cold luncheon was served at the "Red Lion" hotel at 1.30, the Hon. Secretary taking the chair, supported by the Rev. T. H. Marsh (Rector of Cawston) and the District Secretaries for Norwich and Beccles (Messrs. F. Knights and H. Hopson). A short business meeting followed, at which the Hon. Secretary congratulated the members present on the continued progress of the Association. Thirty-one members and probationers were admitted at this meeting, including two entire new companies, bringing up the numbers on the roll to close upon 650. It is hoped that this meeting may lead to the formation of a Company for Cromer, to make proper use of the good and well-going ring of six contained in the beautiful church tower; and to the enlistment of other Companies in the neighbourhood, where a good deal of fresh ground, hitherto untouched by the Association, exists.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 8, 1891

IN this week's number Mr. PERCIVAL HEYWOOD brings to a conclusion, for the present at any rate, his practical observations upon the composition of Stedman Caters. While not underrating in the least, his exhaustive dealing with the composition of Triples in the same method, we are inclined to think that these chapters on Caters, though few, have proved as interesting if not more so than those on Triples. This is owing to the absence of that mathematical complexity by which the composition of Stedman Triples is surrounded. Many readers who were frequently unable to accurately grasp the tenour of the remarks of Mr. HEYWOOD and his learned friends when they were dealing with Triples have, we doubt not, been able to see clearly and in fact enjoy his observations upon Caters in this excellent and worthy popular method. To some people, of course, the short courses with the usual tittum course-end, and other matters dealt with by Mr. HEYWOOD, may not be new, but it has been left for that gentleman to elucidate these features, and that too in a manner easy of comprehension. The supposed charm attaching to the fixture of the treble as a seconds-place bell at the course-end in Stedman Caters has now been dispelled, and several properties which at one time were looked upon as the essence of orthodoxy in composition have met with a complete disenchantment. We have now learnt that a particular fixed bell in front even with the 5th or 6th behind the 9th during a course of 108 changes, does not bring out all the harmony and music the method is capable of producing; and this fact is sufficient to teach us that a rigid adherence to old systems of composition, even when they have the sponsorship of the ancients to back them up, is not always the best.

The dissection of Stedman Caters, in the thorough manner which it has been executed by Mr. Heywood, has not in our opinion been a very easy task, nor has it been merely the work of a few hours. Composers who enjoy an acquaintance with this method will be thankful to this talented gentleman for such a pleasing interpretation, but they will be apt, like the well-known character immortalised by DICKENS, to ask for more. And we are glad to hear that it is likely the desire may be granted by further observations from another distinguished worker in the same field. Such investigations as these are always acceptable to those who, in however elementary a degree, have taken hold of the principles of composition, especially when, as in the present case, a deservedly popular method comes under notice.

Obituary.

THOMAS WILSON.

Mr. Thomas Temple, of Coventry, an old friend of the above-named gentleman, writes:—

"I have been waiting week after week in hopes of seeing something in the Ringers' Record from the Midland Counties' Association in reference to the above-named gentleman, who was a member of that respectable body of ringers. But the Association having failed to do so, and myself knowing Mr. Wilson for fifty years, and having rung with him and his brother John in several peals, I take the liberty of sending the following facts for insertion when convenient.

"Mr. Thomas Wilson was born in Coventry on January 9th, 1825. At the commencement of his bell-ringing career he bade fair to become a good change-ringer, and ultimately became what is termed amongst ringers, a safe man; for when ringing either in peals or touches he was always found by the conductor in his proper place. The first peal in which he took part was rung at St. Michael's on the Queen's birthday, May 24th, 1846, consisting of 5040 Grandsire Triples. He also rang the second in a peal of 5130 Grandsire Caters on the Queen's birthday, 1857. On April 4th, 1859, he rang the second in a peal of 5024 Grandsire Major; and on December 24th, 1859, he rang the sixth in a peal of 5147 Grandsire Caters. He rang the ninth in a peal of 5000 Grandsire Royal on October 15th, 1860. He was foreman over a factory of ribbon weavers at Coventry, a member of St. Michael's choir, and deputy tower-keeper under the late Mr. Joseph Bickerton at Coventry. He removed to Leicester on January 9th, 1862—his birthday—and joined the Midland Counties' Association, and rang in several peals of Grandsire Triples, one of which he conducted. He also rang in three peals of Treble Bob Major, one peal each of Stedman Triples and Caters, and several peals of Grandsire Caters. He was a man highly respected by a large number of ringers down to the day of his death, which took place at Leicester on May 11th, 1891, in the sixty-seventh year of his age. After his funeral a muffled peal was rung at Holy Trinity, Coventry; also at Leicester, Birmingham, and Nuneaton."

DR. GEO. H. JONES,
SURGEON DENTIST,
And Doctor of Dental Surgery, U.S.A.,
57, Great Russell Street,
BLOOMSBURY, LONDON.
Consultation Daily 10 to 5.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has demonstrated that Painless Dentistry is as much an accomplished fact as the swift locomotive, the telephone, or the phonograph.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, absolutely restores the natural contour, caused by the loss of teeth, rendering detection impossible, by the Prize Medal dentals, which have obtained the highest possible awards, viz.: London, 1851; New York, 1853; London, 1862; Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; and Philadelphia, 1876.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has received from S. G. Hutchins, Esq., Surgeon Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen, a testimonial, which places beyond all doubt the vast superiority of his system: "My Dear Doctor,—Allow me to press my sincere thanks for the skill and attention displayed in the construction of my Artificial Teeth, which render my mastication and articulation excellent. I am glad to hear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. In recognition of your valuable services, you are at liberty to use my name.—S. G. HUTCHINS, By Appointment Surgeon Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen," Geo. H. Jones, Esq., D.D.S.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has obtained the highest possible awards at the great International Exhibitions for his Improvements in Dentistry, which are protected by Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent, and for Painless and Perfect adjustment of Prize Medal Teeth, viz.: gold medals, London and Paris; gold medal, New Zealand Exhibition, 1882; gold medal, Calcutta, 1883; and the highest diploma of merit and award at Nice and Amsterdam, 1883-4. Awarded the gold medal of the Académie Nationale, Paris, 1884; and the highest award Antwerp; also the gold medal, International Exhibition, London, 1885; gold medal, Liverpool, 1886; gold medal, Melbourne, 1888-9.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, and Doctor of Dental Surgery, U.S.A., consulted daily from 10 to 5, or at any special hour by appointment, and upon a personal visit, every information respecting fees and treatment, without charge, at his only address—

THE ST. MARY'S SOCIETY, PENZANCE.

That very popular watering place on the north coast of Cornwall, Newquay, was decided as the locality to be visited by the members of the above band on the occasion of their eleventh annual outing on the 27th inst.: but inasmuch as that fashionable seaside resort does not yet boast of a peal of bells, some of the neighbouring towers were looked forward to with pleasant anticipations to afford the band some ringing.

Leaving the main line of the Great Western Railway at Par, the branch line to Newquay was traversed as far as Halloon, during which journey some of the prettiest, and at the same time most varied scenery in Cornwall was enjoyed, the fine portion of which is by a steep ascent through a beautifully wooded valley, until one is fairly on the high moorland known as Gossmore, and celebrated for its breed of hardy ponies; running over which, an expansive view presents itself of the distant St. Stephen's china clay workings to the west, and of the high Cornish mountains, Brown Willing and Rowter, away in the distant east; numerous church towers presenting themselves here and there, most of which contain only three, four, or five bells. The tower of Roche, containing six bells in good order, was seen, but time would not permit of a sojourn there. Near the church is a remarkable group of rocks 100 ft. high, with the ruins of an ancient chapel of St. Michael's on the summit, probably the dwelling place of some anchorite in former days.

The train being left at Halloon, half an hour's walk brought the pedestrians to the ancient market town of St. Columb Magor, long before reaching which the cheering sounds of the melodious ring of eight bells assisted in accelerating their footsteps towards the tower. The church is one of the largest in the county, though in 1676 the chancel was injured by an explosion of gunpowder, previous to which it was 10 ft. longer; built of Pentrwan and Caen stone; the tower, standing on open arches, contains eight bells by Pennington 1776, excepting the 5th by Warner, 1860, and tenor by Rudhall, 1825, of about 15 cwt. These are of a very sweet and mellow tone, and were exceptionally well rung in rounds by the local men, who also raised and fell them in capital style. The visitors then took the ropes and soon found that if it were a contest for good striking, they would undoubtedly have to yield the laurels to the home band, whose striking deserves the greatest credit. Some short touches of Grandsire Triples were then rung, 434 being one of the touches, which being in the tittum position, brought out the full musical beauty of the ring. A hasty survey of the church was made, the following being especially noted: the ancient and elaborately carved bench-ends; two of the finest and most interesting brasses in the county to the Arundell family; a stone altar on four granite shafts; and the font, of early date, ornamented with grotesque faces.

An excellent lunch was much enjoyed at the "Red Lion" hotel, when the roast duck and green peas, roast beef and new potatoes, with Cornish cream and fruit pies to follow, did not mitigate the ardour of the visitors for more ringing; but alas, in this latter, they were doomed to the only disappointment for the day, for on alighting from their brake, which was conveying them from St. Columb Magor to Newquay, through some of the prettiest country west of the Tamar, the fittings of the new ring of six bells (1883) hung in the tower of St. Columb Minor, were found so neglected that nothing could be done in the way of change-ringing short of an hour's hard work with hammer and chisel in the bell-chamber, and the time being limited the party were fain compelled to take their seats for Newquay, a drive through which fashionable resort would remind one, except for the close proximity of the sea, of West Kensington, or other of the recently erected suburbs of the metropolis. The greater part of the town is built on the top of the cliff, whose side is precipitous, and the scenery extremely picturesque and grand, overlooking a fine sandy beach, two miles long and half-a-mile wide, with an expansive view of cliff scenery expanding from Pentin Point to Wroon Head. An hour here was but too short to enjoy the full grandeur of the aspect, the return journey by rail not permitting of a longer sojourn.

Home was reached at an early hour, each member being delighted with the day's outing, and grateful to those friends met during the day for their assistance towards the same.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A Quarterly Meeting of the above was held on Bank Holiday, Monday, August 3rd, at Chipping Campden. In spite of many counter attractions in the neighbourhood there was a fairly good muster of ringers from Winchcombe, Buckland, Gloucester, Cranham, Bittou, Henbury, Bristol, etc. Service was held, on the arrival of the contingent from Gloucester way, in the fine old parish church, at 11.45. About thirty members were present. The service was intoned by the Vicar, who was supported by a full and efficient choir. The lesson was read by the Hon. Secretary, the Rev. Pitt Eykyn, and the address given by the Vicar, who based his remarks on the fourth and following verses of the twelfth chapter of St. Paul's first epistle to the Corinthians, pointing out in a few well chosen and most impressive words the duties and privileges shared by ringers, and in common with many other members of the church, as ministers of the services of God's House.

A touch of Grandsire Triples was rung immediately after service, and at 1.30 an adjournment was made to the "Noel Arms," where dinner was served to about thirty-six ringers. The clergy present were, the Vicar, the Rev. F. S. Forster, in the chair, the Master and Hon. Secretary of the Association, the Revs. H. A. Cockey and Pitt Eykyn, the Rector of Buckland, the Rev. C. P. Bricklewel, and the Vicar of Winchcombe, the Rev. F. Binyon. There were also present the churchwardens of Campden and Winchcombe, Messrs. Norris and Webb. The usual loyal toast of "Church and Queen" was given from the chair. That of "Success to the Association" was given by Mr. Churchwarden Norris, who expressed his great pleasure at being allowed to welcome such a Society at Campden, and spoke in feeling terms of the privilege of belonging to so grand an institution as the Church of England.

The toasts of the Vicar and Churchwardens, and of the Secretary of the Association, were given by the Rev. Pitt Eykyn and the Rev. F. Binyon, and were heartily received.

The minutes of the last meeting at Painswick having been read and confirmed, two honorary members and twenty-four ringing members, including the whole bands of Buckland and Winchcombe ringers, were elected, and the belfry elections of Messrs. O. C. Le Hane, and Wm. Askeel were confirmed. The next place of meeting was discussed, and Newnham-on-Severn unanimously selected.

At the close of the meeting touches and courses of Grandsire Triples and Caters were rung on the handbells, and then a part of the company returned to the belfry, where touches of Grandsire Triples and Doubles were rung, while the Buckland company drove to Ebrington, where they rang touches of Doubles on the fine peal of six at the parish church. The whole of the ringers were hospitably entertained at tea by the Rev. F. S. Foster, at the Vicarage, and shortly afterwards left Campden for their various homes, having thoroughly enjoyed a most pleasant day's outing at this picturesque Cotswold village. The bells are a fine ring of eight, chiefly by Abraham Rudhall, tenor fifty inches diameter, and with a little expenditure would go very well indeed.

THE ST. JAMES'S SOCIETY, BRISTOL.

On Monday, July 20th, this company had their annual outing. The city of Worcester was the place selected, where the party arrived at 9.55, having thus twelve hours in front of them for sightseeing and enjoyment. The first place visited was the Royal Porcelain Works, where nearly two hours were spent in witnessing the various stages of that renowned manufacture—Worcester china. The grand old Cathedral was next visited, after which the visitors partook of dinner at Pratt's Temperance hotel. Train was then taken for Pershore, where the old Abbey church was visited. The party ascended to the ringing-cage, but the bad condition of the bells prevented any ringing being done. After partaking of tea the home journey was commenced, and Bristol was reached shortly before midnight, after a day well spent and enjoyed by all.

HANDBELLS FOR SALE.—A splendid set of 20 bells in F., 19 size; equal to new; with an elaborate massive stand for tune-playing, with four beaters. Cost £10. To be sold for £6. Apply H.W.H., office of this paper. A rare opportunity.

ST. MARY'S CHURCH, RAWTENSTALL.

On Saturday, August 1st, the ringers of this church had their annual outing, the place chosen being the historic town of Clitheroe. Leaving home at 1.15 they passed through Crawshawbooth and on to Burnley, where "stand" was called, the time being spent in taking a hurried glimpse of the town, which possesses two peals, one of eight and one of six, but owing to their short stay they did not have a pull at either tower. Leaving this place they took the road for Padiham, en route for Whalley, which is a very beautiful drive of some ten or twelve miles. This part of the drive was delightful, the scenery, aided by the hand of nature, is beyond power to describe, it being simply supreme. Whalley by this time having been reached, the inner man was attended to, after which a hurried look round the old church (where Cromwell worked such havoc during his time) was taken advantage of. Having feasted the eyes on as much as time would allow, the chief, Mr. Smith, called his band together, and "go" was called for Clitheroe, which after a drive of some four miles was reached at 4.15. By this time the inner man began to complain, or remind one that he must not be forgotten or even neglected; such being the case, our worthy Secretary ordered the necessary victuals, which was well served and very much enjoyed. The cravings of hunger having been satisfied, the next step was to get permission to have a ring on the tower bells, and after a few minutes hunting and dodging they were successful in finding the steeplekeeper, who very readily gave them permission to have a pull. A 504 and 168 Grandsire Triples was rung, and the bells were lowered. They then took a look round this fine old church, discussing its pros and cons. Of course the late abduction case came in for a share of comment, but being unable to solve the problem, it was put aside for further consideration. Having left the church grounds they made for the Ribble, where for a time boating and racing was indulged in, and that without any mishap except one or two missing the water with the oar, the result being they were unseated; and one poor individual in order to put his knee out of reach of the oar, dropped it over the side of the boat into the water (not to leave it there) with the obvious result. Their chief then summoned them together, and a start was made for the town, and having an half hour to spare the time was spent in visiting the market and other places of interest. The time (8.35) having arrived, and all being seated, a start was made for home, which was reached at 11.30, all thoroughly pleased with the outing.

Through the medium of this paper they wish to thank the Vicar of Clitheroe for the use of the bells; and also Mr. William Read, for the kind manner in which he received them and complied with their request, and next year they hope (n.v.) to do still better.

ECKINGTON, DERBYSHIRE.

On Saturday, August 1st, the Eckington branch of the Old East Derbyshire Association, together with the workmen of Mr. S. Booth, Timber Merchant, who is an hon. member of the Association, had a day's outing to Sherwood Forest. The party, which numbered upwards of fifty, started from Eckington in four waggons at 7 a.m. Welbeck, the seat of the Duke of Portland, was reached about 9, and the village of Cuckney at 9.15, where the party had lunch. There being only five bells at this place it was decided to continue the journey to Edwinstowe, and after another hour and half's drive through a splendid country, the journey's end was reached. The Secretary, Mr. E. James, had previously arranged with the Rev. H. T. Hayman for the use of the bells, which are a new peal, tenor about 7 cwt. A 720 each of Violet and Oxford was rung, the bells going to perfection, but are too light, the tenor sounding as if there was something wanting to fill up. Their friends had by this time returned from their walk to the celebrated Major Oak, and refreshments having been partaken of, a start was made for Thorsby Hall, the seat of Earl Manvers. A halt was made to allow of a short touch being rung on the bells of Perlethorpe. This church (our correspondent adds) is the gem of all churches that the Eckington company have ever had the pleasure to ring at. Situated in the midst of the wood, and the churchyard with its roses and flower borders all kept to perfection, was a very pleasing sight. One old man of the party, who has passed his three-score years and ten, said that "if his bones could find a resting place there he could lie in a corner and die, for it was like heaven on earth." After a short touch of Duke of York and Oxford had been rung on this light peal, tenor 7 cwt., the ringers summed up and gave their verdict against the new bell at Edwinstowe, Perlethorpe being by far the best tone. Time being up a start was made for Clumber Park, the seat of the Duke of Newcastle, which contains 4000 acres. The mansion stands on the north side of a lake, which covers eighty-seven acres. After passing through the park, Worksop was reached. Tea was the next bob called, and after one hour's rest, a start was made for home, which was reached without a mishap at 10 p.m., the distance covered during the day being forty miles. The ringers wish to thank the Rev. H. T. Hayman for so kindly granting permission to ring at Edwinstowe and Perlethorpe and hope they will soon have some change-ringers at the above villages, which they now lack.

EPWORTH CHURCH, LINCOLNSHIRE.

The above old market town is best known all over the world as the birthplace of the Revs. John and Charles Wesley, the founders of Wesleyanism, also of Kilham, the founder of the New Connexion Methodists. On Monday, August 3rd, a very interesting event took place, viz., the starting of a new public clock, striking the Cambridge chimes on four of the bells, and the hours on the fine tenor bell of about 27 cwt., by the Bishop of Nottingham, a service being held in the church afterwards, a good assembly being present. After the service a public tea in the Temperance Hall, then a flower show and sports in the rectory grounds, the Bishop and the Rev. Canon Overton, the rector, and many friends from a distance being amongst the spectators. The old clock, which was quite worn out and useless as a timekeeper, was erected just 100 years ago by the Wesley Family as a thank-offering, some of the members of the family having been rescued from the upper windows of the Rectory during a fire. The present clock has been erected by subscription, Mr. Johnson acting as Secretary of a very strong committee of all denominations. The firm of Messrs. Wm. Potts and Sons, of Guildford and Cookridge Streets, Leeds, was selected to carry out the work, which they have done to the satisfaction of all concerned, everyone being pleased with its stability and good workmanship, and no doubt it will lead to further orders.

RINGERS' OUTING.

On Saturday, July 25th, the ringers of St. Mark's Church, Worsley, had their annual outing, Blackpool, the Lancashire seaside resort, being the place selected. Arrangements having been made for a ring on the bells of St. John's, they were met at the church by the genial leader of the Blackpool company, and rang 840 Stedman Triples, three courses of Kent Treble Bob Major, and 504 of Stedman. The ringers then took the train for St. Anne's parish church and rang a 756 of Stedman and a touch of Grandsire Triples, this bringing the ringing to a close. The following took part in the ringing: F. Derbyshire 1; J. Welsby, 2; J. H. Ridyard, 3; J. Derbyshire, 4; J. Baguley, 5; T. Derbyshire, 6; R. Ridyard (conductor), 7; J. Ireland, 8. The ringers wish, through the medium of this paper, to thank the Vicars of the churches for their kindness in allowing the use of the bells, also Mr. Clitheroe, of Blackpool, and Mr. Townsend of St. Anne's, for obligingly having everything in readiness, the go of the bells at each church being as good as need be.

SWANSCOMBE, KENT.

On Saturday, July 25th, the ringers and their wives, by the kind invitation of Mr. and Mrs. C. Hewitt, of Knockhall Lodge, Knockholt, had their annual garden party in the grounds of the above place. Meeting about 4 o'clock they indulged in several out-door games until tea time, when all sat down to a good meat tea, presided over by Mr. and Mrs. C. Hewitt. Afterwards singing, dancing, and handbell ringing were indulged in, finishing up just before 12 o'clock with Sir Roger de Coverley, when the company separated with hearty thanks to their host and hostess for their kindness.

THE ST. JOHN'S SOCIETY, RANMOOR, YORKS.

On Monday, July 27th, through the kindness of the Vicar (Rev. J. G. Williams), the wardens, sidesmen, and several of the congregation of the church of St. John the Evangelist, Ranmoor, near Sheffield, the ringers had their annual outing, the place selected being Southport. The journey thither was enlivened by the strains of the handbells, the company arriving shortly after 10 o'clock. Owing however, to unavoidable circumstances, the church bells of Southport could not be rung before 5.0 p.m., and some of the party having to return the same day, only a few touches, therefore, could be indulged in. On the following day, an attempt was made for Holt's ten-part, which collapsed after ringing 1 hr. 10 mins., the ringers being stationed thus: J. A. Wright, 1; R. Hill, 2; J. Rimmer, 3; J. Aspinwall, 4; J. Mulligan (conductor), 5; W. Mellor, 6; W. Fox, 7; R. Collier, 8. Tenor 10-cwt. J. Wright hails from Shipley; R. Hill and J. Rimmer from Southport; J. Aspinwall from Liverpool; the remainder from Ranmoor, Sheffield. They desire, through the medium of this paper, to thank the Vicar, wardens, sidesmen, and other gentlemen who so kindly contributed to their enjoyment; and likewise the Ven. Archdeacon Clark, D.D., Vicar of Christ Church, Southport, for the use of the bells; and to Mr. Hill and the local ringers generally for their kindness.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT AMALGAMATED SOCIETY.

The usual monthly ringing meeting of this society was held at St. Michael's church, Headingley, on Saturday, July 25th, and was well attended, considering the short notice given to members (owing to it being doubtful, up to nearly the eleventh hour, whether permission to ring could be obtained). The delightfully fine day was an important factor, apparently, in the good attendance. The following towers were represented: Armley, Birstall, Burley, Calverley, Holbeck, Headingley St. Chad's, and Pudsey. The go of these bells is all that can be desired. Plenty of ringing was got through—Kent and Plain Bob Major; Oxford, Kent, Violet, and Plain Bob Minor. The first 720 of Oxford on the bells was rung by J. Whitaker, 1; C. Pratt, 2; M. Tomlinson, 3; J. Thackray, 4; M. Broadbent, 5; D. Yorke, 6. Afterwards a business meeting was held, when it was unanimously decided to hold the next meeting at Otley, on August 29th. A vote of thanks to the Vicar, churchwardens, steeplekeeper, and local ringers, concluded a most enjoyable gathering.

RINGERS' OUTING.

The bellringers of the parish church, Wigan, had their annual outing on Monday and Tuesday week last. Having visited Lincoln and Chester in the two previous years, it was decided on this occasion to visit London. Leaving shortly before midnight on Sunday, by the London and North Western Railway, compartments being kindly reserved for the ringers, they arrived safely in the city of smoke shortly before 8.0 on Monday. After a wash and a good breakfast a start was made for Charing Cross, afterwards visiting St. Paul's Cathedral and the Tower of London. After dinner tram was taken to Bethnal Green, where the bells of St. Matthew's Church had by the kindness of Mr. M. A. Wood, tower keeper, been placed at the service of the Wiganers. After ringing three or four touches of Grandsire and Bob Triples, Mr. T. Halliwell, on behalf of the visitors, thanked the vicar of St. Matthew's, and also Mr. Wood for their kindness in granting the use of the bells. Leaving Bethnal Green, the rest of the day was spent at the Crystal Palace, returning after the fireworks to London. On Tuesday the ringers visited the National Gallery, Westminster Abbey, the Houses of Parliament, South Kensington Museum, Albert Memorial, the Naval Exhibition, and several other places of interest. The return journey was commenced at midnight on Tuesday, arriving in Wigan about 6.30 a.m. on Wednesday, thoroughly tired, but perfectly satisfied with their visit to the great city.

SALISBURY.—On Saturday, August 8th, at St. Martin's church, 1260 Stedman Triples. W. S. Wise (conductor), 1; A. P. Goddard, 2; A. W. Searle, 3; C. A. Clements, 4; R. W. J. Gollop, 5; W. W. Gifford, 6; W. Greenleaf, 7; C. H. Watts, 8.

THE SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

WARNHAM BRANCH.—On July 19th and 20th, this branch of the above Association had their annual outing. The place selected for the scene of operations was Tunbridge Wells, where the party arrived on the 19th about 10.30, and were met at the station (by appointment) by police-constable Edwards of the Tunbridge Wells force. He at once conducted them to St. Peter's church, where the local band was ringing for morning service. This is a splendid ring of bells. Being informed by Mr. Mankelow, one of the local band, that they could ring for evening service, the party proceeded to view the various places of interest in the neighbourhood, conducted thereto by Messrs. Mankelow and Muggeridge. In the afternoon they visited the High Rocks, which are in the county of Sussex. Returning, they made their way to St. Peter's church, where with two or three of the local band they rung a 504 of Grandsire Triples, and started for a 600 of Court Bob Triples, which was lost near the finish. This concluded the ringing for the day. On the following morning the visitors went to Tonbridge, where there is a good peal of eight, tenor 21 cwt., and rang the following touches: 672 Oxford Bob Triples; 672 Court Bob Triples; 308 Grandsire Triples; 224 Kent Treble Bob Major; and 224 Canterbury Pleasure Major. After dinner a brake was chartered to convey the party to Speldhurst, the progress of the journey being enlivened by the conversation of their old friend Mr. Burstow. Reaching Speldhurst they at once made for the tower, and rang touches in the following methods: Court Bob Triples, Oxford Bob Triples, and Kent Treble Bob Major. They then drove back to Tunbridge Wells railway station, from where they departed for home, arriving there with feelings of the most complete satisfaction at the result of their outing. They desire to thank the Vicars of Tunbridge Wells, Tonbridge, and Speldhurst, for so kindly giving them permission to ring; also Messrs. Mankelow, Cooke, and Still for having everything in readiness.

ST. MARY'S, BEDDINGTON, SURREY.

Monday, August 3rd, being the anniversary of the opening of these bells, there was a very good attendance of ringers, among whom were several well-known friends from London and Kingston. Various methods were rung, including Stedman Caters, Stedman Triples, Grandsire, Treble Bob Major and Royal, and Double Norwich. Ringing began soon after two o'clock, and was kept up very briskly until late in the evening.

On the 23rd ult. the ancient parish church of Peterston-super-Ely, near Cardiff, was re-opened by the Bishop of Llandaff, after restoration, a sum of about £800 having been expended on the work. The tower was re-cased on the west side, the buttresses and parapet rebuilt, and the six fine old bells re-cast by Messrs. Taylor, of Loughborough. A well carved oak pulpit was presented in memory of the Rev. Charles Lewis, one of the former rectors of the parish, and two stained-glass windows in memory of Mr. Waring, the late churchwarden, and Mr. and Mrs. Turberville Llewellyn. A handsome rood-screen, designed by Mr. Fowler, of Llandaff, was placed under the chancel-arch, and oak seats put in the chancel. A curious round-backed niche, about 9ft. high, was discovered in the east wall on the north side of the altar, with its mouldings in perfect condition, probably at one time, containing a figure of the patron saint, St. Peter. In addition to the subscriptions, numerous and costly presents were given by various friends, making this little village church one of the best appointed in the vale of Glamorgan. The Welsh name of the parish is Llanbedr-y-fro—i.e., St. Peter's-in-the-Vale. Sermons on the day of re-opening were preached by the Bishop of the diocese, Canon Roberts, and the Rev. E. H. Hyslop.

THE UNEMPLOYED IN EAST LONDON.—At a time when much thought is being given to this matter, a practical suggestion may be of service. Last year more than £300,000 worth of foreign matches were purchased by inconsiderate consumers in this country, to the great injury of our own working people, so true is it that "evil is wrought by want of thought, as well as want of heart." If all consumers would purchase Bryant and May's matches, that firm would be enabled to pay £1000 a week more in wages.

THE ST. JOHN'S GUILD, NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE. ANNUAL EXCURSION.

[BY ONE OF ITS MEMBERS.]

At least we call it "annual" still, though the term hardly holds good, seeing that four years have elapsed since the last one took place; but then this time every member solemnly swore to put in four times the amount of enjoyment just to put matters square. Accordingly there was a considerable amount of bustle and excitement in the Central railway station at Newcastle, on Monday, August 3rd (bank holiday), when our ringers and friends mustered for their picnic. Of course the picnic was not to be held in the railway-station, this was only the starting-point for the place to be honoured by the visit of such an important body. The real destination was Brancepeth, a charming little village situated about five miles out of Durham, in the midst of most delightful scenery, away from murky colliery districts as it is. The party was a small one, fourteen all told, as there were several notable absentees, but all the elements for a successful picnic were present. Before starting (7.40 a.m.) it looked as though an uninvited element was going to put in an appearance, which would have metaphorically damped the spirits and literally the clothes of our excursionists. The Sunday name of this individual is Jupiter Pluvius. However, his watery majesty kept away till about midday, when he made his unwelcome presence pretty keenly felt at intervals in the shape of sharp showers. But in this respect bellringers have a decided advantage over other "picnicians," having the loft to fly to, where rainy hours may be passed to advantage in wading through the mystic intricacies of Stedman or Treble Bob.

On arriving at Brancepeth, of course the first thing to be done was to seek out the church of St. Brandon, which, not unexpectedly, was found in its old position, within 100 yards of the fine old castle—the home of the Russell family (Lord Boyne's). The church is a beautiful specimen of ecclesiastical architecture, and like the rest of the surroundings, is remarkably picturesque. Having mounted the belfry stairs, adjusted ropes, and oiled the bearings of the bells, a touch of three leads of Treble Bob was rung to try them. Then a good start was made, and a capital 5024 of Kent was tapped off in 3 hrs. (vide last week's "B.N.") a most enjoyable peal it was too, as the bells are heard so distinctly, and run well. On descending the stairs we were greeted with congratulations from our worthy Vicar (Rev. I. W. Milner) and two of our church officials, Messrs. Churchwarden Woodger and Sidesman W. G. Routledge, who had come on by a later train, and heard the last five courses of the peal.

By this time the midday banquet was sorely needed, as many an empty stomach testified, and no time was lost in making a personal acquaintance with it. Rain was falling, but not to be discouraged, two of our number foraged round, and discovered a tent, which had been erected in the park, by some very considerate individuals, we presume, for our benefit. It was at once taken possession of, and an impromptu table having been rigged up, the meal was spread. If there is one thing more than another that we like, it is a good square meal, and we got it. The meat, the fish, and the pies were all of No. 1 quality, and quite equal to satisfying the most fastidious epicure of the party. When a fair start was made, the silence of the next half-hour was only broken by the pop of the corks and the cries of "pass the pickles," and an occasional bad pun inserted by the comic man, a habit he has, and one which is not conducive to good appetite. The usual inveterate grumbler was of course in our midst. He must find fault, and having no real cause on which to grumble, he was afterwards heard to mention that the only fault a feast like that had, was that it spoilt his appetite.

We were regaled with a little concertina music during luncheon from a neighbouring party of picnicians, which aided digestion considerably. After things were cleared away and packed up again, the handbells were produced, and a course of Grandsire Caters, and one solitary tune (the whole repertoire of the Guild) was played.

This over, we all strolled round, and wandered through shady groves and by babbling brooks (good phrase this and entirely new). The castle was visited, and with the aid and consent of the good housekeeper all the principal rooms of the stately old mansion were visited, from the chapel and drawing-room to the billiard-room. A large amount of admiration was expended over all the beautiful art furniture and armoury, of which there is an enormous quantity. From hence a move was made to the tower, where the rest of the time before tea was spent over Stedman Triples and Woodbine Major.

Tea had been kindly set out for us by Mrs. Bird, of the Post Office, and everyone was ready for it, the way the ham and cakes disappeared was simply marvellous.

Tracks were again made for the bell-loft, where Woodbine Treble Bob Major was again introduced, a touch of 576 being struck off in capital style by H. Ferguson, 1; C. L. Routledge (conductor), 2; H. H. Lindsey, 3; W. Holmes, 4; F. Lees, 5; R. S. Story, 6; W. Story, 7; F. Lees, 8. After a course of Stedman the bells were lowered in peal, and ringing for the day came to a close.

And now a move had to be regretfully made towards the station, the time-table of the North Eastern railway company enforcing a return just at a time when most good ringing is done. But the longest lane has an ending, and like all pleasantly spent days, this one came to an end only too soon. On the platform a course, and the solitary stock tune on the handbells were brought into play before a large and appreciative (?) audience. The ride home was enlivened by comic songs by Messrs. Routledge sen., Harrison, and Clapperton, the choruses being sung most vociferously as only ringers can sing them. The Newcastle station was reached about 8.15 p.m., and this saw the wind-up of as pleasant a day as our ringers have ever spent together.

All the arrangements were carried out to perfection, and we wish to thank the Rev. A. D. Shafto, Rector of Brancepeth, for his kind permission to see over his beautiful church, and to handle the bells; also his curate, Rev. W. F. Barker, who so kindly interested himself on our behalf in obtaining the permission, freely given by Mr. Peirson, Lord Boyne's agent, to picnic in and roam over the park and castle of Brancepeth.

Another correspondent writes to say that all the arrangements for the above outing were made by Mr. C. L. Routledge, and the thanks of every one were freely and warmly expressed for the trouble he had taken to make the affair a success. There was no hitch in the proceedings, and every one was highly gratified.

THE SURREY ASSOCIATION.—ANNUAL MEETING.

This meeting was held at Ewell, by the kind permission of the Vicar, on Monday, July 27th. Ringing began about 4.0 p.m., and continued at intervals until 6.0, chiefly in the Grandsire and Stedman methods, with two courses of Treble Bob to wind up. At six o'clock all repaired to the Cave Coffee Tavern, and discussed ham and beef, tea, cake, etc. Thirty-six members were present at this repast. After tea, the chair was taken by the Rev. Albert Low, who kindly welcomed the members to Ewell. The Secretary read the minutes of the previous meeting. Four peals were ordered to be entered in the peal-book. The Secretary drew the attention of members to the fact that the peal-book would only hold about thirteen more peals, and that a new book would soon be required. Some discussion took place on the subject of booking peals, and it was remarked that certain other societies had their peals entered much more cheaply. It was resolved to make no alteration in the arrangements before the present book is filled up. Fifteen new ringing members and four honorary members were elected.

The officers and committee were re-elected for the ensuing year, and the names of Mr. Arthur Bowers and Mr. Francis Grove were added to the list of committee as representatives for East Molesey and Ewell respectively.

Mr. Woodiss proposed, and Mr. Hallt seconded, that the next quarterly meeting be held at Guildford.

Mr. Kenten moved to amend the resolution by the substitution of the word "Beddington" for "Guildford." This was seconded by Mr. Beams and carried. The resolution was finally carried in this amended form, after an unsuccessful attempt to further amend it in favor of Reigate. It was agreed, on the motion of Mr. Woodiss, that the next quarterly meeting be held on a Saturday. The meeting terminated with a vote of thanks to the Chairman.

More ringing was performed after the meeting until about 9.0 p.m., and included a capital touch of Double Norwich (the first on the bells) consisting of four courses

Correspondence.

While allowing the utmost freedom for the expression of opinion, it must never be considered that we are in any way bound to statements made by correspondents.

To the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS AND RINGERS' RECORD."

MR. STEAD AND OUR CORRESPONDENT.

SIR,—It is the old tale again—if you cannot answer your opponent, abuse him. I shall pass by the first portion of his letter as mere wind. The statement your correspondent made in his first letter, that companies leave their own churches on Sundays without substitutes, and go to practice to some church with a similar ring to those at the church in which the contest is to be held, I have no hesitation in stating is a downright untruth, and I challenge any person who informed your correspondent to prove it; and I say again it is only the exception, and that very rarely. I have no knowledge whatever how many Sundays the Liversedge company rung their own bells on Sundays during the month previous to the contest; perhaps the Liversedge company will reply. The skit about the judges, etc., is not worth answering, as it is not serious and to the point. I dare say the men in question would compare favourably with your correspondent or any other persons in London or out of it, with true striking and variety of method. The similarity of the two letters your correspondent mentions had nothing whatever to do with either of us, knowing that the other had written an answer to your letter, as I had no knowledge whatever who the other was until the letter had appeared. About the Yorkshire Association I will try to make good my statement. The last contests upon eight bells (before the Yorkshire Association became thoroughly established), were Sowerby, Elland, Liversedge, and Almondbury; will any sane man say that the late Liversedge contest, in point of striking, was to be compared to the others I have mentioned? In my estimation it was 50 per cent. worse. Go to a Yorkshire Association meeting after fifteen years' training, and you hear the most miserable ringing imaginable. The late contest at Liversedge is perfection compared to it. New will any of my brother-prize-ringers give their experience and say whether what I have said is true or false. The late Mr. Snowdon used to say he liked to come Dewsbury or Huddersfield way to ring a peal, as he never or seldom got a good peal only when ringing in this locality. The reason I suppose that no member of the Yorkshire Association has refuted my statement is because it cannot be done. I have been a member myself since 1877, and therefore know. No person can say that any letter I have written has any rhapsodical outburst about them, as I have always written seriously, and certain of the truth of anything they contain. The last part of the letter is on a par with the first, and therefore will condemn itself. In conclusion I will invite your correspondent to come to Almondbury in September, as I think I can predict some better ringing than what he heard at Liversedge.

Huddersfield.

THOMAS STEAD.

P.S.—Since writing the above I have learnt from Liversedge that not one company left their church unprovided with ringers to ring at Liversedge during the whole of the practice. The Liversedge ringers rung their bells for every service during the month previous to the contest.

THE YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

SIR,—Some time ago I charged the Yorkshire Association with using their influence to put a stop to prize-ringing. The Committee denied ever having done or said anything which could be construed into any such thing. It has just come to my knowledge that the vicar of Almondbury has received a letter from the Yorkshire Association asking him to stop the prize-ringing contest, and retailing all sorts of impossible crimes about prize-ringing contests and prize-ringers in particular. Will those who have written such letter kindly answer and give their authority for doing so.

THOMAS STEAD.

GREAT TEY TENOR.

SIR,—In last week's issue Mr. C. Sillitoe enquired the weight of the above bell. According to its diameter, which is 3ft. gin., it would weigh 16 cwt., but old bells, as that is, are very uncertain, as some are much thinner than others. Weighing proves most satisfactory.

H. BOWELL AND SON, Church Bell Hangers, Ipswich.

AFFAIRS OF THE SUSSEX ASSOCIATION.

SIR,—No doubt the monthly reports of peals rung comes interesting to ringers in general, but when they come from one that is Hon. Sec. to an Association whose General Meeting, according to rule, should have been held some six months ago, it is a question asked by all members whenever they meet: "When are we going to have another meeting?" The answer is "It would look better if he called our meeting and attended to our business." Certainly we had notice of a meeting, but it was unavoidably put off. Since then we have seen in your valuable paper work which must have taken months to compile, and as I say, our business we know nothing of, only for the peals rung from time to time. Our friend "Free Lance" advised some time ago when we had any grievance, not to rush into print, but Sir, this is the only way we can make ourselves heard. The fact of the matter is, our Secretary is sole manager of our affairs, which ought not to be. Being elected on a committee some eighteen months ago, I was asked last November to state a day convenient for me to go to a meeting. I replied; and from that day to this I have not heard any more, and things that have been ordered by branches, and in some cases paid for eighteen months ago, cannot get their orders attended to. I say it is a shame that any Secretary should be allowed to go on so, and I only hope that members will speak at the next meeting, if ever we have one, the same as they do to one another, and things would be better looked after. No doubt you may think my remarks strong, but I feel I must say something on the matter. Someone must be first, and I think it quite time we began to move ourselves. Of course we shall hear the reasons that cause the delay. A MEMBER.

ST. LAWRENCE JEWRY, LONDON.

SIR,—I am not surprised that those who felt hit by the letters concerning the ringing at this church make no sign of reply. The charges cannot be defended or explained away by them, and they believe I suppose in the old saying that "the least said is the soonest mended." The letter of "A.S.C.Y." was a sharp prod for the "head ringer" of St. Lawrence, who is the person to be held responsible for the hat business, and ringing six bells instead of eight. The idea prevails that if "A.S.C.Y." had offered to place something in the hat he would have got up easy enough; or was he refused admittance so that he should not see this cadging arrangement? It is time Sir, such goings-on as this should be stopped. I am sure all country ringers who have read the letters must have felt more than surprised, and have asked themselves "Can such things be among London ringers?"

INQUIRER.

[Correspondence on this subject must now cease.—ED.]

A GUILD FOR DORSET.

SIR,—I desire to stir up if I can the ringers in this part of the world. Your readers never hear about anything from this dead-and-alive county. Perhaps they hear sometimes of Dorset butter—but who ever hears of Dorset ringers. The county seems famous for nothing in fact besides butter. Why not? There is no reason why Dorsetshire shouldn't have good ringers as well as any other county. If it is true that the county is worked by the Salisbury Guild, the sooner that connection is put an end to the better, and a County Guild established. The county has got good rings of bells, and some of them in good order. Will not some influential clergyman move in the matter? There are men in Dorset anxious to learn scientific change-ringing, if they can only be taught. I repeat that all we want is a County Association, with a good hard working-executive, and in a few years Dorset would beat its neighbours, which are rather slow. Do, Mr. Editor, help us if you can in the establishment of a County of Dorset Guild; or those able writers "Free Lance" and "Joshua." Some of us are pining to learn scientific change-ringing.

AN AMBITIOUS DORSETSHIRE MAN.

A correspondent from the Midland Counties also writes: "I was at Shaftesbury in Dorset last month for eight days, and there was three peals of good bells, but not a man who could ring a course, and as for 'THE BELL NEWS,' that was out of the question! What is the Salisbury Guild doing?"

The Bell News & Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 15, 1891.

WE have felt it our duty to decline to insert any more letters upon the position of affairs which is alleged to have recently been in existence at the church of St. Lawrence, within the city of London, and the last communication which will appear on the subject in this paper, may be seen in another column. The letters which have been published in connection with the alleged proceedings at this church by no means exhaust the correspondence received; and as usual the suppression of several epistles has brought upon us the wrath of their writers. Some were not satisfied because the name or names of those who in their opinion ought to have been at once brought to book for their alleged offences, were never mentioned. Though we could have yielded to such a demand without fear, and have thus brought into unenviable notoriety some one or other, we considered the allegations made had gone far enough for any practical purpose, and the introduction of any one's name would savour of the most bitter vindictiveness. We may take it, perhaps, that the allegations are as near correct as possible. The attention, however, which has been drawn to the offences, or whatever they may be called, will prevent their repetition. To point out by name the chief offender, real or supposed, is what we are charitable enough not to do, nor to allow it to come out in our paper under the veil of a letter.

The affair, however, is not without its lesson, but not in the direction some correspondents have intimated. Its consideration does not open up, as one correspondent stated, "the whole question of pay-ringing in London." The periods of ringing for which emolument is received by metropolitan ringers, and the system or regulation by which such emolument is distributed, has nothing whatever to do with this St. Lawrence affair. To say that the latter "opens up" the former question, is to say what is not the fact. On the day of the German Emperor's visit to the City, bells were ringing here, there, and everywhere, but the ringing of St. Lawrence's bells had nothing to do with the general arrangements made by the directors of those parties who are the acknowledged ringers at the principal of the City churches. The church of St. Lawrence is quite outside such arrangements. It has not, like its sister churches round about it, a stated band of ringers. When the bells are rung, ringers good, bad, and indifferent arrive for that purpose from every part of London—from Dan to Beersheba. Under such a system (or want of it) it is no wonder that irregularities creep in. The authorities know not who ring; can we blame them if they don't care? The church of St. Lawrence is in the centre of the city, next the Guildhall—and in consequence the bells form a prominent part in all the city's pageants. Is it too much to expect that these bells—which by the way are the heaviest ring of eight in the City—should be put under some duly-recognised authority, and that the parish should have a duly-qualified permanent band of ringers? We take leave to suggest to the Church authorities of St. Lawrence the desirability of a change in this direction.

We have not reiterated the nature of the offences which have caused such an overflow of indignant remonstrance. Enough has been said on the subject, perhaps, and we have no desire to add anything. It is evident that the acts complained of have received their deathblow in London; and that those concerned in this business will in future have to forego their propensity to grasp a fee of some sort, no matter how paltry it may be. If the occupation of the inveterate prowling "scruffer" has received any damage by the correspondence which has appeared, those whose aim is to prevent our art reaching the gutter will be quite content.

CRICKET.

ST. ALBANS' CATHEDRAL RINGERS V. ST. PETER'S RINGERS.

This long looked for event was consummated on Saturday, July 25th, under most favourable circumstances, the weather being all that could be desired. The match was played on the Anglesia ground, kindly lent by the committee of that club, whose kindness was much appreciated. St. Peter's won the toss, and handled the willows first, to the bowling of Long and Parkins. Scoring was slow, and when 14 was telegraphed, J. W. Brewer was run out. Only Mr. E. P. Debenham seemed to relish the bowling, and he scored a somewhat lucky 23. The innings closed for 59. Messrs. Long and Parkins defended the Cathedral wickets, and between them raised the total to 62, ere dismissal. Messrs. Weatherley, Cartmel and Randall added another 26, and when the last wicket fell, 98 runs were telegraphed. St. Peter's going in again, scored 20 for three wickets, when stumps were drawn, leaving the Abbey band victors. Both teams sat down to a meat tea at Orpin's Restaurant the same evening, and had a jolly time of it. Songs were given ad libitum, and everybody thoroughly enjoyed themselves. Questions are already being asked "when is the return?" It is probable that the return will be played in September, when some of the cricketers have "returned from their holidays." Scores:—

THE NORTH LINCOLNSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

On Saturday, the 1st instant, the members of the Lincoln branch of this Association were by the kind invitation of the President, the Very Rev. the Dean of Lincoln, entertained at the deanery. The party met at 3.30 within the precincts of the Cathedral, and attended Divine Service; this being over the Dean kindly pointed out several interesting matters with regard to that magnificent edifice, chiefly the alterations and repairs which the north side and cloisters are undergoing at the cost of several thousand pounds; the repairs to the former being caused centuries ago through the falling of the large central tower. The chapter-house and its history, as repeated by the Dean, did not fail to create much interest amongst the listeners. The party, numbering twenty-five, then adjourned to the deanery, where, on the lawn, a substantial tea awaited them. The Dean welcomed the members, and expressed the pleasure it gave him in entertaining them. He also complimented them by contrasting them with the old school as he remembered them some thirty or forty years ago.

Mr. F. F. Linley (Vice-President of the Gainsborough centre), who attended in response to a special invitation from the Dean, then thanked the Dean for his kindness in entertaining them there that day, and took the opportunity of acknowledging the very valuable help and patronage the Association received from the Lord Bishop of the Diocese, Sir Charles Anderson, and the Dean.

The Dean suitably acknowledged the vote, and stated that the Cathedral bells were at their disposal for the remainder of the evening. Touches of Grandsire, Plain Bob, and Treble Bob were then indulged in.

ANGMERING, SUSSEX.

On Wednesday, July 15th, the members of this branch of the Sussex County Association, after ringing a 720 of Kent Treble Bob and a 360 of Oxford Treble Bob, adjourned to "the Lamb" hotel, to partake of a supper kindly given to them by Mr. W. H. Abbot. The chair was taken by the Rev. J. R. Orme, and the vice-chair by Mr. Abbot. After the removal of the cloth, the health of the founder of the feast was drank. Mr. Abbot then gave the health of the members of the branch. He thanked the Rev. J. R. Orme and the members of the branch for the kindness they had shown him. The Rev. J. R. Orme said that he was pleased to hear that though Mr. Abbot was leaving the neighbourhood for Yorkshire, he would still remain a member of the branch.

On the following Monday, a farewell peal to Mr. Abbot, comprising seven 720s of Treble Bob in seven different methods, was attempted, but failed through a change-course. H. Finch, 1; W. H. Abbot, 2; C. Hills, 3; T. Parsons, 4; T. Linfield, 5; C. Clear (conductor), 6. Afterwards a 720 of College Exercise. H. Finch, 1; W. H. Abbot, 2; T. Linfield, 3; J. Hills, 4; C. Hills, 5; C. Clear (conductor), 6.

THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

LIVERPOOL DIOCESAN BRANCH.—The monthly ringing meeting was held at the parish church, Farnworth, near Widnes, on Saturday, August 1st. Ringers were present from Liverpool, Garston, Halewood, and Southport, besides the local company.

The meeting in the schoolroom was presided over by the Rev. J. Leigh (curate), and the minutes of the last meeting were passed. He then addressed those present, giving all of them a very hearty welcome, and wishing them every prosperity in their noble art of change-ringing and church work, etc.

The Secretary (Mr. Hill), also made a few remarks on the progress of ringing in the branch and throughout the county generally since the formation of the Association in 1879, and he hoped they might continue in the same groove of prosperity.

Votes of thanks were passed for the use of the bells and schoolroom, and to the curate for presiding, who briefly responded.

The next meeting was fixed to be held at Halewood (8 bells), on Saturday, September 5th, and the meeting closed with the curate pronouncing the Benediction.

Methods rung during the evening—Grandsire Doubles and several 720's of Grandsire Minor.

Church News.

The Bishop of Winchester has arrived at Folkestone, where he will remain for a few weeks.

The Bishop of Carlisle will be absent from England during the month of September. Letters upon matters requiring immediate attention may be addressed to the Bishop of Barrow, the Abbey, Carlisle, or to one of the Archdeacons.

Mr. Soams, by a donation of £670, has cleared off the debt on St. George's, Westcombe-park, Blackheath, to the building fund and endowment of which he has now contributed in all about £6,420.

It is stated that the Bishop of Nelson (Dr. A. B. Suter) is coming to England, by medical advice, for complete rest and change after his serious attack of illness. Archdeacon Mules will act as special commissary in the diocese during the Bishop's absence.

An Order in Council was recently made empowering the Ecclesiastical Commissioners to mortgage the revenues of the see of Worcester in respect of the sum of £800 to be expended upon improvements at the Episcopal residence, Hartlebury Castle. Repayment is to be spread over thirty-five years.

A retreat for the clergy of the diocese of Lincoln will be conducted in Lincoln Minster by the Rev. Charles Gore, head of the Pusey House and chaplain to the Bishop of Lincoln, commencing on the evening of Tuesday, September 22nd, and closing on the morning of Friday, September 25th.

A new memorial window in the south aisle of St. Mary's, Berkeley, was unveiled and dedicated to the glory of God at evensong on Sunday week. The window has been presented by the daughters of the late Dr. Hickeys, vicar of Draycot, Somersetshire, only son of the late Dr. Hickeys, of Gloucester.

The Archbishop of York and the Hon. Mrs. MacLagan have been on a short visit to the Dean of York. The Archbishop will take up his official residence at Bishopthorpe on September 1st. His enthronement is set down for September 15th, and he will re-open Selby Abbey and the Hook Memorial Church, Leeds, in October.

In consequence of the consecration of Dr. Gott as Bishop of Truro being deferred till St. Michael's Day, September 29th, the installation of Prebendary Forrest, D.D., as Dean of Worcester will probably not take place before the middle of October, and the vicarage of St. Jude's, South Kensington, will only be finally vacant shortly before Christmas.

The Rev. J. T. Tause, vicar of Cloughton, near Scarborough, has received a cheque of £25 from the Queen on behalf of the Church Restoration Fund. This makes £225 Her Majesty has contributed to the same object. The total donations amount to about £1,000. The church was reopened in June by the Bishop of Beverley.

Funds are being raised for the restoration of the parish church of Goodmanham, one of the oldest and most interesting in the kingdom. Godmundingham was the site of a Druidical temple, the high priest of which, Coifi, was converted to Christianity by Paulinus A.D. 627, at the time that King Eadwine, of Northumbria, became a Christian. The present church is principally Early Norman, though traces of pro-Norman work still remain.

The Bishop of Manchester has undertaken to give £100 a year for five years towards a special fund, which he counsels Churchmen to raise in his diocese for the aid of voluntary schools which may be placed in difficulties by the competition of board schools under the fee-grant system. He counsels an immediate application for the fee-grant to those managers who have doubts about the expediency of accepting it.

The patronage of St. Ann, Hanger-lane, Stamford-hill, which is at present vested in Mrs. Robins, of Watford, has been transferred to the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's, subject to the right of presentation being reserved to Mrs. Robins during her lifetime. The Ecclesiastical Commissioners have lately received a sum of money in augmentation of the income of the living on the understanding that the patronage should ultimately rest with the Dean and Chapter.

ST. JOHN-AT-HACKNEY (MIDDLESEX) SOCIETY.

The members of this society paid a visit to Loughton, Essex, on Saturday, August 8th, arriving shortly after 4 p.m. As a prelude to after good things. Grandsire and Stedman were indulged in on the tower bells. At 6 p.m. the party sat down to a most substantial and inviting meat tea, at the "Hollybush" inn, supplied by host J. C. Powell, late of the "Three Tuns," Waltham Abbey. Too much cannot be said in praise of the catering, and any society visiting this pretty district, will never regret making the "Hollybush" their rendezvous. Songs by members of the party, combined with tune and hand-bell ringing, brought a most pleasant afternoon to a close. Through the medium of this paper, the visitors wish to thank the Rector for the use of the bells, and Mr. Lebbon and other local ringers, for their interest so kindly evinced.

PROPOSED MEMORIAL TO THE LATE W. COPPAGE.

It has been decided to place, in the Tower of St. John, Waterloo Road, London, a Marble Tablet, to the memory of the late William Coppage, for many years steeplekeeper at this Church. Gentlemen who desire to assist in this movement will be kind enough to send their subscriptions to the Secretary of the Waterloo Society, Mr. G. W. WILD, 8, Francis Street, Waterloo Road. All will be acknowledged in this paper.

DR. GEO. H. JONES,
SURGEON DENTIST,
And Doctor of Dental Surgery, U.S.A.,
57, Great Russell Street,
BLOOMSBURY, LONDON.
Consultation Daily to 5.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has demonstrated that Painless Dentistry is as much an accomplished fact as the swift locomotive, the telephone, or the phonograph.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, absolutely restores the natural contour, caused by the loss of teeth, rendering detection impossible, by the Prize Medal dentals, which have obtained the highest possible awards, viz.: London, 1851; New York, 1853; London, 1862; Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; and Philadelphia, 1876.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has received from S. G. Hutchins, Esq., Surgeon Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen, a testimonial, which places beyond all doubt the vast superiority of his system: "My Dear Doctor,—Allow me to press my sincere thanks for the skill and attention displayed in the construction of my Artificial Teeth, which render my mastication and articulation excellent. I am glad to hear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. In recognition of your valuable services, you are at liberty to use my name.—S. G. HUTCHINGS, By Appointment Surgeon Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen." Geo. H. Jones, Esq., D.D.S.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has obtained the highest possible awards at the great International Exhibitions for his Improvements in Dentistry, which are protected by Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent, and for Painless and Perfect adjustment of Prize Medal Teeth, viz.: gold medals, London and Paris; gold medal, New Zealand Exhibition, 1882; gold medal, Calcutta, 1883; and the highest diploma of merit and award at Nice and Amsterdam, 1883-4. Awarded the gold medal of the Académie Nationale, Paris, 1884; and the highest award Antwerp; also the gold medal, International Exhibition, London, 1885; gold medal, Liverpool, 1886; gold medal, Melbourne, 1888-9.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, and Doctor of Dental Surgery, U.S.A., consulted daily from 10 to 5, or at any special hour by appointment, and upon a personal visit, every information respecting fees and treatment, without charge, at his only address—

LUDLOW, SHROPSHIRE.

This ancient historical town was the scene of an unusual rejoicing on Thursday, August 6th, occasioned by the reopening of the beautiful central tower, after complete restoration, and the frequent pealing of the grand ring of bells at the parish church of St. Lawrence, which have been almost silent for many years past.

The architectural part of the work was carried out under the direction of Sir A. Blomfield; the bell-work by Messrs. Taylor, of Loughborough, who recast one of the middle bells, retuned the whole eight, and rehung them in a new frame, with new fittings, chiming apparatus, etc., complete. A total of about 12,000l. has been collected (6000l. being subscribed in about six days) which has been devoted to the restoration of the tower, bells and frame, clock, chimes, and other work. The offertories on the opening day alone amounted to 116l.

Holy Communion was celebrated at 8.0 a.m.; first evensong at 3.0 (preacher: the Lord Bishop of the diocese); second evensong at 7.30, when an appropriate sermon was preached by the Rev. E. S. Ffoulkes, Vicar of S. Mary the Virgin, Oxford. At each service there was a very large congregation present. Mr. Hugh Blair, Mus. Bac., of Worcester Cathedral, presided at the organ.

At 2 o'clock, a procession was formed at the Corn Exchange, comprising the mayor, deputy-mayor, aldermen, borough magistrates, councillors, borough officials, the building committee, together with the choir of St. Lawrence, the Rector (Rev. Prebendary Clayton), and about fifty other clergy, of whom about five could be found capable of ringing a church bell in rounds. On the way to the church, the choir sang "Onward, Christian Soldiers," while the deep tone of the tenor bell solemnly tolled the procession into the sacred building.

As early as 6.0 a.m. the local ringers started the bells, and continued until the arrival of a band composed of members of the Hereford Diocesan Guild, with the instructor, Mr. W. H. Fussell. Touches of Grandsire and Bob Triples were then rung, and a course of Bob Major. Other members of the Guild also took part in the ringing during the day, as did Mr. J. W. Taylor, of Loughborough, and one of his workmen. Mr. J. G. Buchanan, Hon. Sec. of the Guild, was also present, and Mr. T. Hobby, of Hertford.

It was intended to attempt a peal, but insufficiency of time prevented, and the proposal was shelved until the festival-day of the Guild, which it is intended to hold at Ludlow early in October next, provided the clergy will come forward with that amount of energy met with in other Associations and Guilds. The new ropes and the great noise in the ringing-room would have rendered the feat a most difficult one. The good folk of Ludlow were sadly disappointed at the abandonment of the attempt.

The tower is a central one, with battlements, and four pinnacled angle turrets. On each side is a large and lofty window on a level with the ridge of the nave. Internally, these windows may be seen from the chancel transepts and nave, and above them springs a groined panelled ceiling, with gilded decoration, which forms also the floor of the ringing-room, intervening floors having been removed previous to this restoration. To obtain this architectural effect, the ringers have been turned out of a most desirable ringing-room into an ill-ventilated loft beneath the bells, without windows or light. The congregation may take their seats and crick their necks to gaze upon what man can do, but while they are being called to church few of them will know of the drudgery ringers have to go through. Perhaps the architect and the Rector would consider it unkind of the writer to wish that they were to be two of the men to undertake the duties of parish ringers at Ludlow during the next twelve-month. The stone staircase leading to the belfry is probably one of the longest of any parish church in England.

Under the supervision of the Revs. J. P. Cranstoun and L. C. Wilkinson (curates) a strong society of ringers has been formed, which promises to add to the ability and strength of the Diocesan Guild. The death of the late foreman of the Ludlow ringers has removed an enthusiast in the art of change-ringing—Mr. Cook—from whom the ringers of Bromfield and Tenbury received their elementary instruction. He died exactly a year before the opening-day of the bells he was so proud of.

Ludlow bells are an excellent peal of eight, similar in tone and weight to those of Ross and Ledbury, tenor 25 owt. in D., and originally cast by Rudhall of Gloucester in 1732. There is also a Sanctus bell dated 1824.

REOPENING OF CHURCH BELLS AT HINDERCLAY, SUFFOLK.

A service, consisting of special prayers and appropriate hymns, was held in the church of the above parish, at 3.30 p.m. on Friday, August 14th, for the dedication of the church bells after restoration. The Rev. W. Hawkins, Rector, intoned the prayers, and the lesson, Numbers x. verses 1—10, was read by the Rev. J. S. Sawbridge. The surpliced clergy then formed a procession to the tower, for the proper dedicatory portion of the service; and during an interval one short peal was sounded on the bells by the following ringers: G. Bullock (Ixworth), 1; R. Pibrow (Hinderclay), 2; H. Lambert (Ixworth), 3; Rev. R. W. Pitt (North Lopham), 4; G. Driver (Hinderclay), 5; G. Lambert (Ixworth), 6. In the unavoidable absence of the Ven. the Archdeacon of Sudbury, through illness, who was to have preached the sermon, this duty was excellently well performed, on very short notice, by the Rev. T. Holt Wilson, Rector of Redgrave, and formerly curate-in-charge of Hinderclay. The preacher founded his address upon 1 Cor. xiv. 10: "There are, it may be, so many kinds of voices, and none of them is without significance," shewing in an impressive manner the various ways in which church bells especially may speak to those who live around. The service concluded with the singing of the Te Deum, followed by the Benediction; and as the congregation dispersed the bells broke forth again into a joyous peal. This fine old ring of six bells, which was famous in the district for purity and beauty of tone, had been for some years so much out of repair that it was not deemed safe to do more than chime them, and their restoration to full use is a matter for congratulation to the parish and Rector, whose efforts have been for some time past directed to the collection of the necessary funds.

THORNE, YORKSHIRE.

On Saturday, August 8th, the members of the Thorne Association of ringers had their first picnic. Starting from Thorne they drove over to the pretty village of Campsall, by way of Stainforth and Askern. On reaching Campsall, the party was met by a brother-string, who conducted them to the church of St. Mary Magdalene, which is a noble structure, and well repays examination. The Vicar, Rev. A. C. E. Bloomfield, had most kindly sent a hearty invitation for the company to have the use of the grand ring of eight bells on their visit. They were soon set going, and the pleasure of the villagers was great, as alas!—how often is it the case in our villages?—a sufficient number of men cannot be found to undertake the duties of bell-ringing, and so this sweet peal is seldom heard. After ringing some time the church was inspected, and then the company took their handbells to The Hall, the seat of J. B. Frank, Esq., J.P., where they played a selection of tunes on the lawn, which gave great satisfaction. They were invited to look over the grounds and gardens, which are now at their best, and full of bloom. A hurried visit was then made to Camp's Mount (the seat of the Yarborough family) to view the mighty cedar trees which grow there, and which are said to be the finest extant out of Syria itself. The trees were viewed and much admired, and then the party drove to Askern Spa, where a first-rate tea awaited them at "The Swan" hotel. After tea they were offered the use of a boat on the lake, and taking their handbells with them, they went on the lake and played a selection. The effect was very fine, and as the boat was rowed from end to end a la Venice, soon a large company of visitors was assembled on the shores, and they showed their appreciation in a very hearty manner, which was proved by the gift of a "fair largesse," sufficient to supply the band with music up to Christmastide. After a stroll round the town, which was fast filling with visitors, the company started again for home after having spent a most enjoyable day, arriving there with the determination that the outing should be an annual one.

ST. PETER'S SOCIETY, CAVERSHAM, OXON.

On Monday, August 3rd, this society had their annual excursion. Taking advantage of the Foresters' excursion to Southampton, and arriving there somewhat earlier than was expected, a train was at once taken to Romsey (that being the native town of the foreman of the Caversham company, he being the youngest son of Mr. G. Newman, for fifty years the leader of the Romsey band). The old town was reached at 9.30, and directly on arrival, the visitors repaired to the far-famed Abbey, where the local ringers had met to welcome their visiting brethren by a few touches on their splendid bells. Several well-struck 6-scores of Doubles were rung while the Caversham men were having breakfast, which repast all seemed to enjoy after a ride of three-and-a-half hours. A move was then made to the tower, with the view of attempting a peal of Grandsire Triples, in spite of warnings being given them by several friends against making the attempt, the back bells going so badly. Nothing daunted by such lugubrious forebodings, the trial was resolved upon, and the strong men of Caversham being placed at the heavy end, the peal was entered upon. All went well for 50 mins., when a mis-call by the conductor unfortunately stayed any further progress. One or two touches of Double Norwich and Bob Major were then rung, and then the party surveyed the interior of the Abbey, wherewith they were all greatly delighted. At the "Market Inn," soon afterwards, they were joined by the local men, and the whole company, now numbering twenty, sat down to a substantial dinner. While this was in progress, a discussion arose upon the impossibility or otherwise of a peal being rung upon the Abbey bells, and the Caversham men being of opinion that it was practicable, another essay was made. After an hour's good ringing the tenor-man needed help, and then the rope of the 5th commenced to unravel itself, an occurrence at which the ringer of the 7th never expressed any sorrow. The conductor, under such circumstances, called the bells round at the half-way, after ringing 1 hr. 34 mins. H. Simmonds, 1; T. Newman (conductor), 2; E. Menday, 3; J. Hands, 4; G. Essex, 5; A. W. Pike, 6; Rev. G. F. Coleridge, 7; T. Hibbert, 8.

In the evening an excellent touch of Double Norwich, 560 changes, was rung by the party at St. Michael's, Southampton.

Armed with a few lubricators and suitable ropes, the Caversham ringers, who object to be beaten, hope to make another attempt at Romsey at no distant date. They wish, through the medium of this paper, to thank Mr. Tribe and his party for doing all they possibly could under the circumstances to make the outing a success.

NEW CLOCK FOR LICHFIELD CATHEDRAL.

Messrs. J. B. Joyce & Co., of Whitchurch, Salop, have just erected a large quarter clock in Lichfield Cathedral, which shews the time on two dials: one fixed in the Nave of the Cathedral. The clock is adapted to chime two sets of quarters; the Cambridge quarters on four bells and the ding-dong quarters on two bells. By turning a lever either of the quarters can be used; or the hammers entirely thrown out of gear. This is the ninth Cathedral clock Messrs. Joyce have erected.

PETERSTON-SUPER-ELY, GLAMORGANSHIRE.

On Saturday, August 15th, a mixed band of ringers from Cardiff, Llandaff, and Penarth, met at the Great Western railway station to proceed to the above-named place. On their arrival they proceeded to the ancient parish church, which has recently been restored, and the bells recast by Messrs. Taylor, of Loughborough. Here they rang nine 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles (each called differently), in 43 mins. J. Clutterbuck, 1; D. Thomas, 2; E. Lloyd, 3; W. Biss, 4; W. Combes (conductor), 5; H. White, 6. And several more 6-scores by J. Vinnicombe, 1; W. Combes, 2; C. Lloyd, 3; W. Biss, 4; E. Nelms, 5; T. Northey, 6. These are the first 6-scores ever rang on the bells. Afterwards the Vicar came into the belfry and congratulated them on their fine striking, and invited them to make another visit at the first opportunity. The bells were then lowered in peal, and the party, after partaking of refreshments at an hotel close at hand, spent the remainder of the time in ringing and tune-playing on the handbells, interspersed with selections on the English concertina by Mr. W. Combes, his rendering of the bells being very much admired by the audience inside and the natives outside the house. Time arriving for departure, a move was made to the station, and amid the good wishes of all the company proceeded homewards, arriving at Cardiff at 9.30 p.m. They wish through the columns of this paper to thank the Vicar for his kindness, and for granting permission to ring.

THE ST. MARTIN'S GUILD, BIRMINGHAM.

The Bishop Ryder's Branch of the above Guild held their first annual outing on Saturday last, the 15th inst. The band secured a compartment on the Great Western Railway, and travelled via Hatton to Warwick. The "lead" was taken from thence, and (after a short "stand" had been made at the "Britannia" for refreshments), "the hunt" commenced for the tower-keeper; having ascertained that he had "run round" to All Saints, Emscote, a "single" member was told off to see him, lest he should "change course," while the instructor "brought round" the rest of the band. The tower-keeper (Mr. Pinfold) having conducted the party to the belfry, a number of 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles were rung, an account of which will be found in their proper place among the "miscellaneous" touches.

After viewing the interior of the Church, etc., the company proceeded to the Pump Room Gardens, Leamington, and from thence to the Great Western Hotel, where several touches on the handbells were gone through. A vote of thanks was accorded to the Rev. Dr. T. B. Dickins, Vicar of Emscote, for the use of the bells at All Saints, and to Mr. J. Pinfold, tower-keeper (who accompanied the party to Leamington), for his services. Mr. Pinfold thanked them for their courtesy, and hoped it would not be long before they paid another visit, as he had been delighted with their company, he having rung his first 6-score with them.

OPENING OF A NEW ORGAN AT LILLESALL, SALOP.

On Tuesday, August 4, this little village was en fête, it being the day selected for the opening and dedication of a new organ, in the parish church, erected by the Marchioness of Stafford in memory of her father, the late Earl of Rosslyn. At 3 o'clock the church was crowded to overflowing by parishioners and friends. The sermon at the dedicatory service was preached by the Lord Archbishop of York. Six members of the St. Peter's Guild of Wolverhampton were engaged for the occasion, and rang some excellent 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles. Some good touches were rung with one or two of the local band, who only a few weeks ago started to learn to ring, and great credit is due to them for the progress they have made. It may be added that the visitors and local band were entertained by the Vicar and Churchwardens to tea and other refreshments, a very pleasant time being spent.

WINCHESTER CATHEDRAL BELLS.—The tenor bell of the peal of eight hanging in the Norman tower of Winchester Cathedral has just been found to have a considerable crack at the part where the clapper strikes, and its recasting is a necessity. The bell, which was cast in 1734 by Richard Phelps, of London, bears the following inscription: "God bless the Rev. Chas. Nayler, dean, and the Rev. Prebends of this church." It may be noted that the curfew bell of Winchester—still rung nightly from the Guildhall belfry—was cast in the first year of Queen Anne's reign, and that the oldest bells in the country are the light peal of three at Long Sutton, which are fourteenth-century ones.—Daily Graphic.

The Bishop of Ripon visited Middlesbrough on Friday week in order to dedicate a costly reredos which has just been completed for St. Mary's church. The reredos is of stone, and the paintings include a representation of the Crucifixion, with on either side a painting of St. Mary and St. John. Directly under these, in panels, are pictures of various saints. The donor of the reredos is Mr. Gjers.

ST. JOHN'S (DEANS_GATE) SOCIETY, MANCHESTER.

On Saturday, August 15th, the ringers of the above society (with their wives), and the choir and other workers connected with the above church, had their annual outing, the place chosen being Chester. Leaving the Central station, Manchester, at 7.28 a.m., the party arrived in Chester about 9.15 a.m., when after a walk round the city, they made their way to the river Dee. Embarking on board the good ship "Volunteer," en route for Eccleston Ferry, they arrived there after about an hour's ride, the journey being accompanied by heavy showers of rain. Disembarkation having been safely effected, a pleasant walk soon led to the mansion of the Duke of Westminster—Eaton Hall—where the visitors were kindly met by Mr. C. Price, who took a few of them up the tower to see the bells, and from where they enjoyed a grand view of the surrounding country. Some of the most important apartments of Eaton Hall were also seen, shortly after which a return was made to Chester, arriving there about 3 o'clock. At 5 o'clock the company sat down to a knife and fork tea, at the "Red Lion" inn, and this should have been the most important event of the day, but, thanks to the caterer, was the most unimportant. This part of the business being over, a few of the party paid a visit to the church of St. Mary-without-the-walls, which possesses a musical ring of eight bells. Here they were kindly received by Messrs. Price and Moulton, and other members of the local company, and with whom a few touches of Grandsire Triples and Bob Major were rung. Time was now progressing, and the hour of departure therefore, had to be taken into consideration. Accompanied to the station by Mr. Price and other friends, the visitors departed for home, arriving in Manchester about 10.0 p.m., after a fairly enjoyable day. To the Rector of St. Mary's for granting permission to ring, the visitors tender him their hearty thanks; and a similar recognition is justly due also to Messrs. Price and Moulton, for their kind welcome. The visitors feel convinced that any brethren visiting the ancient city of Chester will meet with as kind and courteous reception as was met with on this occasion.

MONNEWDEN, SUFFOLK.

On Thursday, August 6th, the newly-formed company of ringers connected with the above parish church had through the generosity of the Rector (Rev. C. A. Sinclair), a most enjoyable outing to Aldeborough-on-sea.

The company, eight in number, drove to Wickham Market station to catch the 7.53 down train. All being seated in the same carriage, the handbells were brought out, and were soon going to the tune of Bob Major.

Aldeborough was reached at 8.40, and after taking some refreshment the party repaired to the church for a pull, permission having been previously obtained. Having had a look round the church, and inspected a fine east window which has lately been erected, the company went up the tower, and rang a 720 of Bob Minor in 26 mins., the first ever rang by Monnewden men away from home. R. H. Hayward (conductor), 1; W. G. Archer, 2; H. Moss, 3; J. Hunt, 4; J. Tarrant, 5; S. W. Martin, 6. The Aldeborough bells are a good peal, tenor 12 cwt., and go well. The party were then joined by Mr. Francis Cooper, and another 720 was tapped off, that gentleman ringing the 4th. A move was then made for the beach, to enjoy the exhilarating breeze from the German Ocean. At 1 o'clock all met by appointment at "The Cross" hotel, where they found the Rector and Mrs. Sinclair, with a friend, who had come on by a later train for the express purpose of joining the ringers. The sea-air combined with the morning's ringing, had created good appetites for the very excellent hot dinner provided by Host Coe, and at which the Rector presided, his lady being at the other end of the table. Dinner over, a move was again made for the church for a pull with Mr. Taylor of Leiston. Several touches of Bob Minor were rang, in which Messrs. Taylor, Cooper, and Smith, took part. The bells were then lowered, and one hour spent by the side of the sad sea waves, before leaving for Leiston, where the party had arranged to call on their way home. Arriving at Leiston Station at 4.55, they were piloted by Mr. Taylor across the fields to the church, where they were met by Messrs. Button, Shearing, and others of the Leiston company, and with their assistance, rang several courses of Bob Major (the first on eight by five of the Monewden band). A hurried tea at the "White Horse" hotel, and then away to catch the last train home. Through the medium of this paper the Monewden company wish to thank heartily the Rev. H. Thompson, Vicar of Aldeborough, for the use of his bells; their Leiston friends; and all who assisted to make their first outing such a great success.

RINGERS' OUTING.

The members of the Woodbridge Society had a most enjoyable two days' outing, on Friday and Saturday, 14th and 15th August. Starting at 6.30 a.m. by road, with a waggonette and pair, we journeyed to Coddensham, where we arrived at 8 o'clock. After ringing touches of Grandsire Triples and Treble Bob, and satisfying the inner-man at "The Crown" inn, a start was made for Stowmarket Church, where several touches were rung, after which part of the local company joined us. After a touch on the handbells we were soon on the road, enjoying the sweet air and the sight of the fields, ripe with corn ready for harvest; we also beheld the fine lofty tower of Lavenham Church, miles before we reached the town. Here it was intended to ring a peal, but after ringing a course of Treble Bob Major the 3rd rope broke. Here we were met by our friend Mr. C. Sillitoe, who joined in touches of Stedman, Grandsire, Treble Bob, and Bob Major. The Rev. Canon Scott very kindly invited the party to partake of refreshments at the Rectory, which is needless to say, was heartily appreciated; our friend, Mr. Sillitoe then conducted us to the "Bear" inn, Sudbury, where we spent an enjoyable hour on the handbells with our brother-strings before returning to rest. Next morning at 7 o'clock, the boys were raising the bells of S. Gregory's, and we rang a touch or two before breakfast; after breakfast we were conducted by our friend to All Saints, a fine old peal of eight, where we rang a course of Grandsire and Treble Bob, but there was too much labour to ring long, as the back bells go heavily, owing to the weakness of the framework. We then went to St. Peter's, ringing touches of Kent Treble Bob and Grandsire, the bells not going so well as usual. Time was up, and we started on our homeward journey, passing through Boxford, where we found the bells very much out of order, and bad for hearing. We footed on to Hadleigh, where the bells were all raised in readiness for us, and rung a good course of Kent Treble Bob, and twelve leads of Grandsire Triples with Queens, titmums and rounds. We then continued on to Ipswich, and arriving at S. Mary-le-Tower, we found these bells also in readiness; we rung a touch of Treble Bob, on the back eight, then by the help of our Ipswich friends, rang a course of Treble Bob Royal; and three leads of Treble Twelve. The outing was a most enjoyable one to the company, who were heartily received at the churches visited, and they desire to express (through your valuable paper) their thanks to the clergymen and friends for kindly allowing the use of the bells. The enjoyment of the outing was considerably enhanced by the excellent arrangements that were made by the respected master of the company (Mr. John Fosdike) who accompanied the party, and took an active part in the ringing. The party included: W. A. Arnott, A. S. Barrell, H. Burch, W. Burch, C. Ward, W. Ward, E. Sherwood. R.

PUBLIC HALL, HOYLAND, BARNESLEY.

Mrs. Knowles, of Greenfield House, Hoyland, Barnesley, wishing to present the town with a suitable and permanent gift, got permission of the local authorities to erect a tower to the Public Hall, and fix a large illuminated clock, with 4 five-foot dials, and a bell of 4 cwts. The clock was set going on Saturday last, on what is hoped a successful career. The necessary alteration to the structure having been carried out by Mr. Walter J. Sykes, Architect, Hoyland; and the clock, which is from the designs and plans of Lord Grimthorpe, was made and fixed by Messrs. Wm. Potts and Sons, of Guildford Street and Cookridge Street, Leeds. Mrs. Knowles is the mother of the Vicar of Sisden, near Keighley, the Rev. Francis Knowles, M.A.

VOLUNTEERS AND CHANGE-RINGING AT LOWESTOFT.

During the encampment of the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd Volunteer Battalion Suffolk Regiment, on Gunton Denes, Lowestoft, Suffolk, which commenced on Saturday, July, 18th, the camp was frequently enlivened night and morn by touches and tunes on handbells by the following ringers, who happened to be at the encampment together: Privates A. E. Durrant, F. Tillett, and F. Mee, Ipswich; Sergt. James and Bugler Pittstow, Saffron Walden; Privates Sillitoe, A. Scott, and J. Campin, Sudbury; Privates F. Lambert, Halesworth, and two or three other change-ringing Volunteers, whose names did not transpire. Courses and touches were rung in the following methods: Bob Major, Bob Royal, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Major and Royal, Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Caters, and Double Norwich Court Bob Major. The most worthy of note were two courses of Stedman Triples by Pt. C. Sillitoe, 1-2; Pt. A. E. Durrant, 3-4; Pt. F. Tillett, 5-6; Pt. J. Campin, 7-8. Also a touch of Kent Treble Bob Major. Pt. Lambert, 1-2; Pt. A. E. Durrant, 3-4; Pt. C. Sillitoe (conductor), 5-6; Pt. A. Scott, 7-8. On Tuesday evening the ringers had the honour of appearing before the Brigadier-General, Col. Barradiston, and his staff, and the officers of the 1st and 2nd Battalion, who were extremely pleased and delighted with the bells, this being the first time anything of the sort had taken place in the camp. On Wednesday evening the ringers took the bells on to the cliffs and two courses of Grandsire Caters was rung by Pt. F. Lambert, 1-2; Pt. A. Scott, 3-4; Pt. A. E. Durrant, 5-6; Pt. C. Sillitoe, 7-8; Pt. F. Tillett, 9-10. And a touch of Bob Major. Pt. Sillitoe, 1-2; Pt. Durrant, 3-4; Pt. Tillett, 5-6; Pt. Scott, 7-8. And a course of Treble Bob by the same band. The bells were kept going at intervals during the remainder of the week till the breaking up of camp, on Saturday, July 26th, after a very pleasant time of it, notwithstanding a drenching now and then.

RINGERS' SUPPER.

On Wednesday, August 4th, by the kind invitation of J. Lea Smith, Esq., the members of the Aldenham, Edgware, and newly-formed Elstree Society, were entertained at supper at the "Plough" inn. Soon after 7 o'clock the bells were raised and kept going until nearly 8 o'clock, when the Aldenham ringers struck off two 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles. An adjournment was then made to the "Plough," where everything was in readiness. Previous to sitting down, Mr. Lea Smith said he was sorry he could not stay with them. He thanked the Aldenham and Edgware companies for their kindness in volunteering to ring on Sundays till the Elstree company could. He hoped they would enjoy themselves, and left amid loud cheering.

Mr. Nutkins, captain of the Edgware company, occupied the chair, and Mr. H. G. Rowe, Captain of the Aldenham company, the vice-chair. The usual toasts were duly honoured, and some capital songs were sung by Messrs. H. G. Rowe, C. Williams, and others. A plain course of Grandsire Triples and a 6-score of Grandsire Doubles was rung by the Aldenham ringers, after which Mr. Rowe tapped some tunes on the handbells. The party, to the number of thirty, then sang "God save the Queen," which terminated a very pleasant evening. They wish to thank Mr. Lea Smith for his kindness towards them. H. G. R.

RINGERS' PICNIC.

The society of ringers of the church of The Holy Trinity, Hoghton, Lancashire, had their first picnic on Saturday, August 8th, the place of selection being Southport. Permission having been kindly granted by the Vicar of Christ Church (Ven. Archdeacon Clarke) to ring there, the company, arriving there about 3.30 p.m., at once rung a few short touches of Grandsire Triples, after which they sat down to a good tea, to which ample justice was done. The return home was enlivened by songs and recitations, and a very enjoyable evening was spent. The visitors beg to express their sincere thanks to the Vicar for his kind permission, and the steeple-keeper for his prompt attendance.

ST. WERBURGH'S, BRISTOL.—RINGERS' OUTING.

On Monday August 3rd, the annual outing of the ringers of this church took place, Newton Abbot and Torquay being the places selected. Starting from Bristol at 6.40 a.m. they arrived at Newton at 10.30, and were met at the station by Mr. T. Bowden, one of the local ringers. The first thing done was to obtain refreshments, which were very much needed after the long journey. They were then conducted to Highweek, about a mile out of Newton. The Church stands upon a hill, from which a splendid view of many miles over the county of Devon was obtained. Here they found a fine peal of six bells, tenor about 14 cwt., the go of them being first-rate. Several 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles were rung, the local ringers also having a pull, their raising and falling the bells in peal being excellent, which they pride themselves very much on; but they follow the old system of call-changes. It is hoped they will soon take a better view of their work and ring by method. The visitors then returned to Newton, but could not get a pull there, owing to serious illness near the tower. A walk of about three miles was then taken to Kingskerswell, where there is a very ancient church, the date of which they could not ascertain. In the church porch there is some old stocks, formerly used to punish drunkards, etc. They put one of their company in it—not for his bad behaviour, but out of curiosity. Here they found a pretty peal of six, tenor about 10 cwt., but only a short time could be spared for ringing, as they had to catch the train for Torquay, which was reached at 4.30. They called at Wood's Temperance Hotel, where a substantial meat tea was partaken of. They then rambled about that favourite resort to the pier, went on board a yacht, and were enabled to inspect the Channel Fleet, which was anchored in the Tor Bay. Torquay was left at eight o'clock, and Bristol reached at 12.30, the weather being gloriously fine throughout the day. The Great Western Railway company kindly placed a saloon carriage at the disposal of the party, which added much to the enjoyment of the outing. The president of the Society, the Rev. H. Denning, was unable to be present, and much regret was expressed at his absence. They desire, through the medium of this paper, to thank the Rectors of Highwell and Kingskerswell for the use of the bells; also Mr. T. Bamden and the remainder of the local ringers for their kind assistance.

STOKE, PLYMOUTH.

This band received a visit on Thursday, August 6th, from N. Biss, of the 7th company, and Sergeant-Major White, 7th section Royal Engineers, Cardiff, who have been staying at Plymouth for their annual training. How the Sergeant-Major did frighten us, Sir, with his gold stripes and other decorations. One of our band suggested that the Duke of Edinburgh (Admiral of the Port) had given up fiddle playing, and like a sensible man, had taken to bell-ringing. At any rate, we had a most enjoyable evening, and rang some touches of Grandsire Minor, Bob Minor, Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, conducted by E. Taylor. We were very pleased to see our friends, and will heartily welcome any change-ringer who will give us a call. W. H. Marsh, of this band, wishes to thank Dr. Symons, of Penzance for the very kind reception he gave him while visiting that place on Bank Holiday for a few hours. W. H. M.

THE MIDDLESEX ASSOCIATION.

HADLEY (Middlesex).—On Monday, August 3rd, five members of the above Association from Finchley, and C. Tucker, of Hendon, visited the parish church, and rang a 720 of Oxford Bob (eighteen bobs and two singles). W. Tubb, 1; C. Tucker, 2; F. Sparks, 3; W. Webb, 4; W. Burrows, 5; F. Carroway (conductor), 6. After some refreshment a move was made to South Mimms, Mr. J. Sumpter, of Barnet, having got permission to have a ring. A 720 of Plain Bob Minor was attempted, but came to grief just over the half way. A second attempt was made, but with the same result after ringing 600 changes. The bells go very bad indeed, and it is almost impossible to do change-ringing on them. The tenor is said to be about 15 cwt. by the local band, but in Messrs. Mears and Stainbank's list it is given as 11 cwt.

CURRENT TOPICS.

On the "prize-ringing" question, now agitating Yorkshire ringers, there is (as on most questions) something to be said on both sides. Mr. Stead may be right in claiming for his favourite institution that it produces good ringing: and it certainly helps to attach credit to the good performance of short touches, as well as of three-hour peals. But the work of Diocesan or County Associations, with which (to their seeming disadvantage) he contrasts prize-ringing, includes a great deal more than good striking. Order and reverence in belfries; a right view of Church Bells as things to be used first of all Church purposes, and of ringers as in the first instance Church officials; the recognition of the clergy as the natural leaders and friends of ringing—these are objects to which mere skill in handling bells is secondary: these things are the main end of our Associations, to which the encouragement of change-ringing is a useful means. With these higher objects prize-ringing contests, however well conducted, have little or nothing to do; and the real ground of objection to them is that they deal with Church bells and Church towers for purely secular purposes, and nothing else. So, it may be retorted, does peal-ringing by members of the Yorkshire Association. I think not. Peal-ringing and the practice of change-ringing generally, is the secular side of our art: it has its proper place, and no one wishes to banish it. But there is all the difference between a prize-ringing contest for money or scarf-pins, and peal-ringing under the auspices of an Association which sets higher aims before it. Those who look at the question from Mr. Stead's point of view—viz.: that of comparative technical skill in handling bells—will perhaps agree with him. Others will feel that, if he shews that prize-ringing is attended by fewer evils than might be expected, he has done all that can be done in such a cause.

When will Church officials consider the proper care of bells and their fittings as necessary a part of their duty as the care of the organ or the Church fabric? On one page of last week's "BELL NEWS" we read that the fittings of the new ring of six bells (1883) in a Cornish tower "were found so neglected that nothing could be done in the way of change-ringing:" and that at the Abbey Church of Pershore "the bad condition of the bells prevented any ringing being done." Two cases, apparently, of gross neglect! and how often I wonder, is the stagnation, or worse, of which we hear complaints in our belfries, due indirectly to such gross and inexcusable neglect by these responsible for the proper care of valuable parish property, and for the decent and orderly condition of a part of the Church? Ringers are blamed, and sometimes deservedly; but ringers are apt to be what their surroundings make them.

Apropos of ringers, when will they learn the observance of ordinary punctuality, and the moral duty of keeping an engagement? "Meeting one short," "the late arrival of one of the band," and the like, are common items in the account of ringing expeditions; and I am sorry to say that experience has shown me that ringers are too often careless of the inconvenience to which they put others. To keep seven other men waiting half-an-hour, or throw them over altogether, or to make even one busy man waste his time by waiting about a churchyard or belfry, is to my mind an act of simple rudeness: and it helps to disgust many well-wishers of ringing with the whole business.

OXONIENSIS.

HANDBELLS FOR SALE.—A splendid set of 20 bells in F., 19 size; equal to new; with an elaborate massive stand for tune-playing, with four beaters. Cost £10. To be sold for £6. Apply H.W.H., office of this paper. A rare opportunity.

THE OLD EAST DERBYSHIRE AND NORTH NOTTS. ASSOCIATIONS.

HAREHILL (Yorkshire).—On Sunday, August 16th, being the village feast, there was a strong muster of ringers from Eckington, Killamarsh, and South Anston. The Anston men rang a 720 of Kent Treble Bob for afternoon service, conducted by S. Smith. After service the Eckington company, assisted by the Killamarsh men, rang 720 each of Oxford and Duke of York, conducted by G. Marsden. The ringers were Messrs. Foulds, R. Smith, Stenton, Drabble, S. Smith, and Fowler from Anston; Messrs. Hancock, Price, James and Marsden from Eckington; Severn, Emsden and Turton from Killamarsh. The local ringers, who are not much advanced in the art, were very pleased to welcome so many visitors.

Obituary.

SAMUEL SMITH.

ON Sunday, August 9th, the death of the above gentleman took place after a long and painful illness at the age of thirty-nine years. He was for many years the respected steeple-keeper of St. Margaret's, Westminster. In the evening before Divine Service the tenor was tolled for an hour, and after service the Dead March in Saul was played by the organist by order of Archdeacon Farrar, the whole of the congregation waiting till the end. On Tuesday, August 11th, the funeral took place, the first part of the service being read in the church. The body was met at the north-west door by Archdeacon Farrar, the curates, and choir, the organist playing a Funeral March as the body was carried to the chancel. Amongst the vast congregation was Mr. Daniels, of the St. Marys Abbots society, Kensington; Mr. Longhurst, steeple-keeper of St. Barnabas, Pimlico; Mr. Mansfield, of St. Martin's-in-the-Fields; Mr. Horley, of the St. Margaret's Junior Society, and many others, to pay their last respects to an old friend. After the first part of the service was read by the rector, the body was taken from the church to Brompton Cemetery, there to be interred in the family grave, the tenor bell tolling, and the organist playing the Dead March in Saul, the remaining part of the service being read by the Rev. W. E. Sims, senior curate. In the evening the usual whole pull and stand was rung with the bells half-muffled, and touches of Grandsire, etc., were rung by members of the Royal Cumberland and Waterloo Societies, of which the deceased was for many years a member.

H. P. BENNETT.

ON Saturday afternoon, August 15th, the remains of the above gentleman, who was killed at the Eastbourne railway station under very distressing circumstances, were interred at the Ocklynge Cemetery amid every sign of regret. Deceased was well-known in ringing circles throughout the county of Sussex, and at Eastbourne in particular he was looked up to by all taking an interest in the science of change-ringing, with the greatest respect and esteem, he having been the one to introduce the art into the town, which he did at the parish church of St. Mary (that being the only peal of eight then in the town), about the year 1871, and successfully accomplished a first peal of Grand-sire Triples (Holt's ten-part) by all the band, and by an Eastbourne company on Saturday, 21st, 1873, the only peal ever rung on the bells since the one rang on October 26th, 1818, (on the occasion of the bells being reopened after being increased to an octave), by a band from Brighton. The first part of the Burial Service was read by the vicar of Eastbourne, the Rev. H. B. Otley, assisted by the Rev. R. S. Woodward, vicar of All Saints, Eastbourne, and was held in the parish church. The bells were deeply muffled, and a quarter-peal of Grand-sire Triples was rung in 53 mins., (during which the funeral service was completed), by a mixed band representing all ringing societies in Eastbourne. W. Ticehurst (St. Saviour's), 1; C. Harfey (St. Mary's), 2; W. Siggs (All Saints), 3; E. Baber (St. Saviour's), 4; J. Sharp (Christ Church), 5; J. Billing (St. Saviour's), 6; E. Willoughby (St. Mary's, conductor), 7; J. Lewis (St. Mary's), 8. Later in the evening a band made up entirely from St. Mary's (that being the society the deceased belonged to), met and rang a half-peal of Grand-sire Triples with the bells half-muffled, in 1 hr. 32 mins. J. Rollison, 1; L. Huggett (conductor), 2; C. Harfey, 3; E. Willoughby, 4; G. Willoughby, 5; J. Lewis, 6; E. Lewis, 7; C. Braban, 8.

THE UNEMPLOYED IN EAST LONDON.—At a time when much thought is being given to this matter, a practical suggestion may be of service. Last year more than £300,000 worth of foreign matches were purchased by inconsiderate consumers in this country, to the great injury of our own working people, so true is it that "evil is wrought by want of thought, as well as want of heart." If all consumers would purchase Bryant and May's matches, that firm would be enabled to pay £1000 a week more in wages.

The Bell News & Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 22, 1891

OUR very old friend the Secretary of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild—Mr. J. R. JERRAM—has made one or two admissions this week, which all those who are anxious for the spread of change-ringing will be sorry to hear. A little dissatisfaction has been shewn at the condition of ringing affairs in the county of Dorset, which county, being comprised in the diocese of Salisbury, may be regarded as being under the territorial jurisdiction of the Salisbury Guild of Ringers. Under such conditions, it is naturally expected that some kind of ringing intelligence should be heard, if only once a year, from Dorsetshire, and also that some efforts should be made by the Guild in that direction. Mr. JERRAM tells us that the funds of the Guild are not in a position to support the payment of a permanent instructor. We should be sorry to say anything which would be regarded as censure upon the Guild's executive, or which may have a tendency to embarrass their efforts in keeping that body in prosperous circumstances. Rather would we now appeal to some of those gentlemen who as Mr. JERRAM tells us, and as the ringing world knows, are "skilled change-ringers," and we may add, of a very superior order. "They prefer peal-ring with a competent band to giving instruction at out-of-the-way places." This preference is only natural, and perhaps no one would do right in ascribing the following of their tastes and inclinations to selfishness. Yet when it is believed that their efforts would be beneficial, were they now and then exercised not in mere peal-ringing, but in attempts to make others proficient, the temptation to ask them, with all humility, to exert themselves in such a manner, cannot be withstood.

A GUILD FOR DORSET.

SIR,—I can scarcely see that the formation of a separate Guild for Dorsetshire would forward the art of change-ringing much in that district. The real difficulty is to obtain the services of a competent instructor who is able to go about from place to place when required. The Salisbury Diocesan Guild has nominally two instructors, but it is rarely that either can find time to leave his employment, even when paid to give instruction; nor can any one blame them under the circumstances. The funds of the Guild do not admit of paying a sufficient salary to make it worth anyone's while to devote their whole time to this work, and the few gentlemen who are skilled change-ringers, naturally prefer peal-ringing with a competent band to giving instruction at out of the way places. I know of scarcely any company in Dorsetshire at the present time who can be considered change-ringers, and I imagine that if the Dorset contingent were to separate from the Diocesan Guild, they would only cut off the small chance that now exists of receiving instruction. I may just add that efforts have been made to find change-ringers in various outlying parts of this diocese, who are able and willing to give instruction in their own districts, but without success.

J. R. JERRAM,
General Secretary, S.D.R.G.

SINGULAR BEHAVIOUR.

SIR,—The Norwich Diocesan Association of Ringers some eighteen months since was divided into districts with a Secretary appointed in each district. Beccles is the headquarters of one district, and since that arrangement our Secretary, with several other members of the company, have deemed it incumbent to visit different places belonging to it. Both last summer and this we have visited a good many of the outlying churches, and have always had a hearty reception both from the authorities and the ringers, and have generally added the name of the clergyman to our list of honorary members. Last Saturday afternoon we went to Cove Hithe—a peal of five—lying quite on the coast between Lowestoft and Southwold; having previously written to a ringer, who, if not a member of the local band, was well-known to them, and apprised them of our visit. On arriving at the church we found the door open, apparently for our reception. As soon as we were inside the church—not the steeple—we were pounced upon by a gentleman with "Who gave you leave to come here pulling the bells about? [we had not touched a rope] and we have to keep them in repair?" Repair it was, such repair that I should never travel ten miles across country to see again. Not that we wish by any means to ignore the wishes of the churchwarden—for such we supposed him to be—he did not inform us; on the contrary we have always endeavoured to treat them with the utmost respect both at home and abroad, but I think such men as these must be great bugbears to ringing in the locality they reside. I write this in the hopes that the attention of the gentleman in question may be called to it. Perhaps it may have a tendency to improve his manners on future occasions, for the benefit of any of the fraternity who may visit it, as at this time of the year many ringers like to take a stroll by the sad sea waves, and are very likely to come across it; if they do I would advise them to be very careful how they approach it, or they may be accorded the same reception as we had, which was far from pleasant.

NOTE TO THE PEAL RUNG AT FAKENHAM, NORFOLK.—This peal was arranged to celebrate the opening of a new peal of eighteen handbells. Afterwards ringers were invited to the School-room, where several selections were given upon the handbell, in the presence of upwards of one hundred ladies and gentlemen of the town, who had assembled from a garden party to hear the Norwich ringers. The party were afterwards entertained by the rector and Mrs. Humphreys to a substantial tea. The handbells were supplied (through Mr. Knights' agent) by Messrs. Shaw, Son and Co., Bell Founders, Bradford, and are arranged to have four peals of eight, two of ten, two of twelve, and fitted up upon their improved principle, and give every satisfaction.

ADDRESSES WANTED.—The Editor will be pleased to receive the names and addresses of Head Ringers and Secretaries of Local Societies.

Compositions.

All compositions sent for insertion must be accompanied by a fee of Sixpence. If proof of a touch or peal is desired One Shilling additional must accompany such request.

PROPOSED MEMORIAL TO THE LATE W. COPPAGE.

It has been decided to place, in the Tower of St. John, Waterloo Road, London, a Marble Tablet, to the memory of the late William Coppage, for many years steeplekeeper at this Church. Gentlemen who desire to assist in this movement will be kind enough to send their subscriptions to the Secretary of the Waterloo Society, Mr. G. W. WILD, 8, Francis Street, Waterloo Road. All will be acknowledged in this paper.

DR. GEO. H. JONES,
 SURGEON DENTIST.
And Doctor of Dental Surgery, U.S.A.,
 57, Great Russell Street,
 BLOOMSBURY, LONDON.
 Consultation Daily 10 to 5.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has demonstrated that Painless Dentistry is as much an accomplished fact as the swift locomotive, the telephone, or the phonograph.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, absolutely restores the natural contour, caused by the loss of teeth, rendering detection impossible, by the Prize Medal dentals, which have obtained the highest possible awards, viz.: London, 1851; New York, 1853; London, 1862; Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; and Philadelphia, 1876.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has received from S. G. Hutchins, Esq., Surgeon Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen, a testimonial, which places beyond all doubt the vast superiority of his system: "My Dear Doctor,—Allow me to press my sincere thanks for the skill and attention displayed in the construction of my Artificial Teeth, which render my mastication and articulation excellent. I am glad to hear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. In recognition of your valuable services, you are at liberty to use my name.—S. G. HUTCHINGS, By Appointment Surgeon Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen."
 Geo. H. Jones, Esq., D.D.S.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has obtained the highest possible awards at the great International Exhibitions for his Improvements in Dentistry, which are protected by Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent, and for Painless and Perfect adjustment of Prize Medal Teeth, viz.: gold medals, London and Paris; gold medal, New Zealand Exhibition, 1882; gold medal, Calcutta, 1883; and the highest diploma of merit and award at Nice and Amsterdam, 1883-4. Awarded the gold medal of the Academie Nationale, Paris, 1884; and the highest award Antwerp; also the gold medal, International Exhibition, London, 1885; gold medal, Liverpool, 1886; gold medal, Melbourne, 1888-9.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, and Doctor of Dental Surgery, U.S.A., consulted daily from 10 to 5, or at any special hour by appointment, and upon a personal visit, every information respecting fees and treatment, without charge, at his only address—

THE CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

The Annual Festival of this Guild was celebrated at Northwich on Monday, August 3rd, when 130 members from all parts of the Diocese were present. In the morning a special service was held at Witton Parish Church. The Rev. F. E. Robinson, Vicar of Drayton, Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, preached from 1 Corinthians, iv., 7. "For who maketh thee to differ from another? and what hast thou that thou didst not receive?" He said he first wished to point out to them that they had each received a spiritual gift; secondly, from whom that gift came; and thirdly, what they were to try and do with the gift. Each of them had received a special gift, by which they were made to differ from their fellows. There were at present comparatively few persons whom he could class as first-rate change-ringers. Even though he had practised the science for upwards of thirty years, and though there were now a great many more such persons than formerly, yet his belief was that such were in a very decided minority, and that the number of those who excelled in the peculiar science and art (for it was both) was small indeed, in comparison with those who took honourable places in other arts and sciences. If that were true, it proved that they had received a special and, to a certain extent, a rare gift. If it were so, there could not be any sort of a doubt as to who had given the gift. If there should be in any mind the least suspicion of doubt on the point as to the giver of that, as of any other good gifts, such doubts were completely removed by the epistle for that day. They were taught that from God came all good gifts, and he contended that everything which came from God was good; but it was for them to see that they used them aright, by dedicating them to His service, honour, and glory. He did want them to feel that the peculiar gift by which they were all made to differ from others was not a mere accident or chance. They believed that their soul was a representation of the first great act of the Creator; that He exerted His power with deliberation, meaning, and choice. If that was the case, they had each received a special gift from God, and the gift was not a chance or accident, but something which He intended to give, and something, which having given, He intended them to use, and, as a consequence thereof, He would hereafter require an account. A combination of gifts was required to make a good change-ringer. First there was a manual dexterity in managing the bell; secondly, the application of the dexterity, for it was true that almost every bell had its own peculiarity, as he had no doubt every ringer had. The special task of a good ringer was in the first few moments, when he should detect the peculiarity of the bell, and must overcome any difficulty it might exhibit. Again, the study and application required to master the various methods in which they rang their changes, and the great work the memory had to discharge, in the successful prosecution of that duty, were each important. Memory was a wonderful factor, especially in the case of some of their most able conductors, who were able to ring through, not only three, but five to nine hours. They were able to remember the coursing order of all the bells, and to remember what course should come up at each particular time. And then there was the ingenuity which had been displayed by not a few of them in the theory and science of change-ringing, and in that peculiar art which they called composition. All those things had to be combined in one person to make him a first-class change-ringer. Such great gifts came from God, though he had had to assert it in the face of persons who denied it. The text referred to having received a gift, and one which had been used with a boasted superiority over others. He believed that sort of offensive pride and conceit was gradually being banished from their belfries. It had not altogether been banished; but he hoped it was on the high road to perpetual banishment. Let them put away that sort of selfish pride and conceit, and when they were met together to celebrate the festival, they should make a new start in the better prosecution of their science. As regarded the use of those gifts, they were told, in the epistle for the previous day, that they were for the profit of all. In looking at the language in which the New Testament was written, they would see that the word "profit" was a peculiar one. In its literal translation it meant bringing things together in order to make a profit by them. They knew that that was exactly what they must do. It was utterly impossible to prosecute their art without association. They must associate with others in order to carry out change-ringing. There they had the introduction of the one great fundamental principle of the Christian faith, that they must not seek to profit merely for themselves, but should seek for the benefit of others. They who had had any experience of belfries and of the management of bellringers knew how absolutely necessary it was on all occasions—if they wished to keep a band of ringers together, and to accomplish anything worth referring to—to keep in perpetual exercise the spirit of unselfishness, consideration for others, and the determination to work with them in harmony and brotherly love. They all knew what the instruments were upon which they plied their craft, and where they were to be found. For the most part, the craft was plied in the church towers, and they used as their instruments of that task the sacred instruments of the Church, the loud cymbals, or the church bells. They should remember that it was their sacred duty to distinctly dedicate their science to the service of the Church. There were at present very few peals detached from the Church. There were some ten or twelve; but he prayed that far distant might be the day that their peals should ever be dissociated from the church tower, and that anything like a majority of the number of ringing bells should be found anywhere except in the Church. And, if they were so found, he trusted they would solemnly bind and pledge themselves to devote their craft to the service of God. They should ever be ready to ring their best for the service of the Church, to do all for the glory of God. That principle should be kept before them in their belfries, and he was glad that in their Guild, before ringing, they had a service of prayer and praise, by which the work was solemnly dedicated to Almighty God. As they strove to become better ringers, so they ought, by the very proficiency they attained in their art, to become better Christians. In order that they might excel, the most careful attention to very minute points was necessary. What made the difference between what they called good and bad striking? It was the interval of a fraction of a second between the sound of each bell, and that must be attended to by every ringer, in order to produce a really good peal. There was, therefore, one point gained, namely, very close and persistent attention to very minute points of detail. That, they would agree, was the very thing they wanted in order to exercise control over themselves, and their thoughts, if they were not to transgress some of the laws of the Almighty. There was also the determination to yield to others, to treat them with all consideration, to be patient in their instruction of the young, to bear meekly with those who sometimes made the mistake as they had made. Thus came in brotherly love, meekness, kindness, long-suffering, and all these principles of love which they were bound, as Christians, to remember. There was, too, the striving after perfection, the never being satisfied, having mastered one method, and perhaps the most difficult, and yet wishing to do greater things. As year after year went by, he could not help speaking of the future, and he thought if they did their best here some special service would be found for them in heaven. From the instrument they used, from the manner of using it, and from the most celebrated methods of ringing, they could also learn most practical lessons for their spiritual life. A bell was no longer a bell unless it was sound and whole, if there was the least crack, it was vitiated, and became nothing more than a mere piece of bell-metal. That taught them singleness of heart, without which they could not attempt to devote anything to the glory of God, much less their change-ringing. They could not do that unless they were whole-hearted in God's service, and unless their one object in life was to try and find out better and better how to serve Him. How did they delight to use their bells? Not in mere tolling; not in mere chiming; but they swung them until they went higher and higher, and nearly completed the revolution. Then the ringer skilfully and deftly balanced his bell, so that it was under his complete control to cut down or hold up. The motion of the bell! How beautifully it gave them a spiritual lesson in these days of hurry! It passed upwards towards heaven; it rushed downward through its mad course; swung up again and poised heavenward. So they must try, even in those busy days, though they had to rush through the world, to find time for heavenward glances; to find time to lend their thoughts and desires to God; to find time to balance and steady their resolutions. There was a most beautiful method of ringing, known as the "Stedman," which was supposed to have been invented 200 years ago, and which, even now, was taxing the energies of their most able composers. In that method three bells did one work, about which he had a peculiar theory of his own. There were three in one, and with all reverence he said it, there they had the fundamental principle of their religion. Every bell must go into the work of three in one, and having done that must come out and work harmoniously and properly with the other bells till it was the time to go in again. That taught them what they had to do, for if they wished to turn their work to the glory of God and to a profit, they must go each in proper turn to the Three in One.

After service the annual meeting of the Guild was held in the National Schools, under the presidency of the Archdeacon of Chester. The Archdeacon of Macclesfield was present, as were many of the clergy from various parts of the diocese. The Hon. Secretary (Mr. H. A. Heywood) having read apologies for non-attendance, submitted the balance-sheet, which showed a balance in hand of £33 15s. 4d. Mr. Heywood made a forcible appeal to the branch secretaries to be a little more business-like in their communications, and to make earlier replies to the letters which he addressed to them.

On the motion of the chairman, seconded by Archdeacon Gore, Mr. Heywood was elected Hon. Secretary and Treasurer, and warmly thanked for his services in the past.

The members of the Committee were then elected as follows: Hon. members: Revs. J. R. C. Miller, G. J. Howson, A. P. Holme, A. Maitland Wood, and Messrs. Hatt Cook and R. Bushell. Change-Ringers: Messrs. F. Bell, Marshall, Foster, Holding, Walmisley, and Dillon.

The Chairman undertook to write to Canon Greenall and express on behalf of the Guild sincere thanks for past services, with the earnest hope that he might soon be restored to health. On the motion of Mr. F. R. T. Bolton, the following resolutions, being duly seconded, were passed:—"That the branch secretaries shall forward to the diocesan Secretary one shilling per member in each year, the balance remaining from honorary subscriptions in each year to be devoted to the working expenses of such branch." "That an account of receipts and expenditure, up to December 31st in each year, be sent by each branch secretary to the Diocesan Secretary not later than January 15th."

Mr. H. A. Heywood then moved that Rule IV. be altered by striking out the words "who shall be a change-ringer," after the word "Master." The object of this change was to enable the Guild to elect a Master, it having been found at present impossible to meet with a suitable person for Master who was also a change-ringer: and the certificates issued to members of the Guild were valueless or incomplete without the signature of the Master. A discussion ensued, and the Rev. F. E. Robinson being appealed to, urged that the alteration was a desirable one, though regretted that they had not a change-ringer for the office. The alteration was unanimously agreed to.

Mr. Heywood then proposed that the Archdeacon of Chester, who had been in a great measure instrumental in founding the Guild, be elected Master, a proposal which was seconded by Archdeacon Gore, and carried with acclamation.

The Chairman, in thanking them for his election, said he would gladly do all he could for the Guild, and would willingly make way for a change-ringer (as he was afraid he could not himself earn that gratification) when such should be found.

It was then decided that the festival of next year be held at Chester on the August bank holiday.

Mr. Hatt Cook said it was his privilege to propose a vote of thanks to the preacher, the Rev. F. E. Robinson, for his sermon to them that morning. He believed the Secretary was responsible for asking him and securing his attendance, and he was sure that, whether they followed or not the manly soul-stirring words he had addressed to them, they could never forget them. Whether they were ringers or not, it was worth going a long way to hear such words, and after hearing them he felt more ashamed than ever he was not a change-ringer.

The Rev. J. R. Miller seconded.

The Chairman, in putting the motion, which was carried with the greatest enthusiasm, said that it was twenty years since he first met Mr. Robinson at the dedication of a new peal of bells in the church of which he was now Vicar.

The Rev. F. E. Robinson thanked them for the kind way in which his name had been mentioned and received. Those who been ringers for years knew that a bell-ringer's life, like every other, had its disappointments, troubles, vexations, and great pleasures. The greatest pleasure of his life was on those occasions when he met his brother bell-ringers, and was privileged to say a few words to them. He occupied a singular position, mostly through the negligence of others, as he had rung many more peals than any of his brethren among the clergy. It was a marvel that many younger men had allowed him to keep the lead of them. His resolution was, as long as his place in the belfry was not filled by younger men, to occupy a place as a change-ringer. He was proud to say that last week he had had the pleasure of pulling off his 350th peal. They had powers which they intended to devote to God's service, to develop and increase. He trusted that they would not only meet at future gatherings here, but hereafter in the great steeple above.

Mr. Bithell (of Chester) moved, and the Secretary seconded, and a vote of thanks was passed to the Northwich committee—Messrs. Hatt Cook (chairman), W. Forster, J. Bell, William Astles, and William Such—for the kind way in which they had made all the arrangements for that day.

A hearty vote of thanks to the Chairman terminated the meeting; after which, the party partook of an admirable repast for which Mrs. Walker, Northwich, catered. With the exception of "Church and State," briefly proposed, there were no other toasts. Arrangements were made for a visit to the Baron's Quay Salt Mine, many of the visitors taking the opportunity of inspecting the sparkling salt strata. At Witton, and various churches throughout the district, parties engaged in ringing.

ST. PETER-IN-THE-EAST, OXFORD.

The bells of this church have been augmented from six to eight by the addition of two trebles. The opening ceremony took place on Thursday, August 10th, when a shortened form of evensong was used, then a little ringing, followed by a few appropriate words from the worthy Vicar, the Rev. J. R. King.

On Thursday, August 17th, the St. Peter's company rang the first peal on the bells, viz., one of Bob Major, which was performed at the first attempt. The bells are now a very musical little ring in G sharp, and is just the sort of peal that was needed in Oxford, as regular eight-bell practice was until now, impossible, owing to the action of the College authorities.

The St. Peter's company beg through the medium of this paper to thank those gentlemen who so kindly and readily subscribed to such a much-needed improvement.

The death is announced of the Rev. J. O. W. Haweis (father of the Rev. H. R. Haweis), late Honorary Canon and Prebendary of Chichester, and Rector of Slaugham, Sussex, who, says a writer to the Guardian, was one of those men who are dowered by nature with many gifts. He was a man of great learning and refinement, and although many-sided, persuasive, and genial, he was destined to live out the greater part of his time in the comparative seclusion and obscurity of a country life—latterly in charge of a country rectory. During the last twenty years of his life he was an active promoter of the temperance movement and a rigid total abstainer. He attributed his astonishing vitality and amazing power of recuperation after a most dangerous operation performed in his old age to his abstinence from alcohol, and his daughter, Mrs. Paynter, a well-known temperance advocate, most zealously seconded and often inspired his efforts in the Blue Ribbon campaign, which was very briskly conducted in Slaugham during the twelve years of his pastorate.

Ringers' Outings.

THE PARISH CHURCH SOCIETY, NEWCHURCH.—On Saturday, August 15th, this company had their annual outing, the places chosen being Whalley, Preston, and Blackburn, by a circular route. The members, with their wives, twenty-four in all, started in a wagonette, with four horses, from Newchurch, as early as 6.35 a.m., the morning being cloudy and threatening. The route lay through Whitewell Vale. Burnley was reached about 7.45, a heavy shower being encountered as we passed through the town; then on through Padiham to Whalley, where a stoppage was made for an hour. During this time the ancient church was visited, and its antiquities were discussed during a sumptuous breakfast. The journey being again resumed, Ribchester was reached at 11.30, and Preston two hours later, after a most lovely drive through a tract of country presenting the most diversified scenery. The parish church of Preston was at once made for, and the bells being raised in peal, a touch of 400 of Grandsire Triples was rung, and the bells lowered in peal. A survey of the town was then made. A row on the Ribble was thought of, but time not admitting of it we had to be content with watching others, and drinking in the sweet perfume from the tastefully-arranged flower-beds close by. A stay of four hours was enjoyed here, when the conveyance being in readiness, we departed, en route for Blackburn, arriving there at 7.45. We had hoped to ring a touch on the ten at the parish church, but on arrival heard the back eight in an attempt for a peal of Grandsire Triples. Wishing the band success in their attempt, we then hunted up the steeplekeeper of Holy Trinity, and a 504 of Grandsire Triples was soon under weigh. By this time it was found that the peal attempt had failed, the disappointed company coming to Holy Trinity church to see the visitors, and would not be content till the young and willing conductor of Rossendale had called another touch, and this having been done, we left at 9.15, departing at once for home, where we arrived safe after spending a most enjoyable day. Thanks are due to the ringers and Church authorities of Preston and Blackburn who in their kind way added to our pleasure. J. A.

ST. MARY'S SOCIETY, BUCKNALL, STAFFORDSHIRE.—On Friday, August 7th, the ringers of this church had their annual outing, the place chosen being Alton Towers, the seat of the Earl of Shrewsbury. A start was made from home at about 7.30 a.m. Arriving at Cheadle a halt was made, and permission having been given to ring on the bells of the fine Roman Catholic church of this town, the ringers at once made their way to the tower, where all being in readiness, a 720 of Kent Treble Bob was rung, tenor 15 cwt. R. W. Twigg, 1; J. E. Wheeldon, 2; J. Warren, 3; G. Hobbs, 4; C. Rushton, 5; W. Twigg (conductor), 6. First in the method on the bells. The journey was then continued (going down the Lord's drive, which was very much enjoyed), Alton being reached about 12.30 p.m. A capital dinner was partaken of at the Shrewsbury Hotel, after which the ringers made their way to the beautiful gardens and park adjoining the towers, where the rest of the afternoon was spent. Returning to the hotel about 6 p.m., a capital tea was partaken of, the return journey being then commenced. A halt was again made at Cheadle with the intention of ringing on the bells at the parish church, but owing to the lateness of the hour, it was abandoned, and after a short stay for refreshments, the journey was continued, reaching home about 11 p.m. The ringers wish to thank the Rev. Walter Murray (R.C. priest), for the use of the bells of his church, and also the steeple-keeper (Mr. W. Fieldhouse), for having everything in readiness, and also the Rev. — Carlos, rector of Cheadle, for the permission given to ring on the bells of the parish church.

BIRMINGHAM AND DISTRICT AMALGAMATED SOCIETY.—On Saturday, August 22nd, the above society had their annual outing, Hagley being the place selected. A start was made from Snow Hill station at 2.15 p.m., and after a ride of about one hour, Hagley was reached, but not in the finest of weather. We wandered our way into the beautiful park where the church is situated, and was there met by Mr. Wright, the tower-keeper, who had the bells ready for our use, and the first on the programme was a well-struck touch of Stedman Triples by W. Brook, 1; J. Carter (conductor), 2; T. Miller, 3; G. Walker, 4;

R. Hackley, 5; F. H. James, 6; A. Hackley, 7; F. Mumford, 8. Also a short touch of Grandsire Triples. W. Brook, 1; J. Carter, 2; G. Walker, 3; T. Miller (conductor), 4; C. Sparks, 5; R. Hackley, 6; A. Hackley, 7; W. Mumford, 8. Afterwards we had to wander our way to Clent Hills, which we could say was not an enjoyable walk because of getting wet through in the rain; but when we reached the "Fountain" inn, where a knife and fork tea had been provided for us, we soon forgot all about the rain when we saw the good things that had been provided and to which ample justice was done. After the cloth was drawn, and a quiet chat was over, a few stayed to enjoy themselves with the swing boats at the bottom of the hill, and a few made their way to Clent parish church, where there is a peal of six, and it was intended to go for a 720, but time not permitting 360 Bob Minor was brought round by W. Sanigar, 1; T. Miller (conductor), 2; G. Walker, 3; R. Hackley, 4; A. Hackley, 5; J. Carter, 6. After another friendly glass with our friends, we had to start on our homeward journey, and we take this opportunity of thanking through "THE BELL NEWS" the vicars of Hagley and Clent for allowing us the use of the bells. G. W.

ST. PETER'S SOCIETY, TUNBRIDGE WELLS.—On Wednesday, August 12th, this branch of the Kent County Association had their annual outing, Portsmouth being the place selected. Leaving Tunbridge Wells at 7.30 a.m., the handbells were brought out, and touches of Grandsire and Plain Bob, together with a few tunes, enlivened the journey. On arriving at Portsmouth, a move was at once made for St. Mary's church, Portsea, where the party were met by Mr. J. Harper, of the local band. After ascending to the top of the tower, from which a splendid view of the surroundings can be obtained, the bells were raised in peal, and several touches were rung, including a 447 of Grandsire Triples by W. Porter, 1; S. Hodges, 2; E. Mankelow, 3; W. Latter, 4; S. Perkins, 5; Rev. R. C. M. Harvey (Portsea), 6; T. Card (conductor), 7; T. Groombridge, 8. After falling the bells in peal, a move was made back to Portsmouth, where dinner was got through without a hitch, the course-ends coming up like clock-work. This being over, the various places of interest were visited, including the Royal Dockyard, the old "Victory," etc., also an inspection of the Channel Fleet, and a trip to the Isle of Wight. It was then time to commence the return journey, and the handbells being once more brought out, ringing interspersed with songs being kept up till the party arrived at Tunbridge Wells shortly before midnight.

THE ST. MARY, PORTSEA, SOCIETY.—This branch of the Winchester Diocesan Guild had their annual outing on Monday, August 17th, Bournemouth and Christchurch being the places chosen. An early start was made by the 6.18 train, so that 9 o'clock found us at Bournemouth. A walk through the town and a visit to the beach, passed the time pleasantly until 11.30, when the belfry of St. Peter's church was open; Messrs. Guest and Merritt of the local company receiving us most courteously. Ringing was indulged in until 1 o'clock, a 434, a 335 and a 503 of Grandsire Triples being brought round, the best two touches, which are the composition of Mr. J. Hewitt, of Gosport, each containing all the 756's. An adjournment was then made for lunch. During the afternoon a move was made for Christchurch, some members walking over, while others went by train. Arrived there about 5 o'clock, the magnificent peal (tenor 32 cwt.) were soon rolling along to the tune of Grandsire Triples, a 210, and a 335 being brought round. So excellent was the go of the bells, and so grand their tone, that it was unanimously decided to get a hasty cup of tea and ring a quarter-peal before leaving. A most excellent refreshment room was found near by, and by half-past six all were again in the belfry. A well-struck quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was brought round in forty-eight mins. by the following: C. Groves, 1; J. Harper, 2; M. Druett, 3; H. Stubbington, 4; C. Simmonds, 5; Rev. R. C. M. Harvey, 6; J. W. Whiting (conductor), 7; M. Cox, 8. On leaving the tower it was found that which had been threatening during the afternoon was falling heavily, so the party hurried off to the station. The return journey was enlivened with a few changes of handbells; home being reached soon after 11. In all 3077 changes were brought round, and the members wish to thank the authorities at both churches for the courteous and cordial welcome they received.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

The first annual festival of this Association took place at Bath on Saturday, the 15th instant. The proceedings opened with luncheon at the London dining-rooms, at which there were present the Rev. Prebendary Salmon (Rector of Weston-super-Mare), Rev. C. W. H. Griffith (Master of the Association), Mr. Rupert Lewis (Hon. Secretary), Rev. H. A. Cockey (Master of the Gloucester and Bristol Association), etc. The towers represented were St. Andrew's, Christ Church, St. James's, St. Saviour's, and St. Mary's, Twerton, St. Mary Taunton, Old Cleeve, Newton St. Loe, and Bathaston.

The luncheon over, the annual meeting was held, the chair being taken by the Rev. Prebendary Salmon, who was supported by the gentlemen already named. The minutes of the meeting held at Dunster having been read, the Hon. Secretary, Mr. Rupert Lewis, read the report and statement of accounts. The latter showed that the total receipts amounted to £21 10s., and the expenditure to £13 12s. 3d., leaving a balance of £7 17s. 9d.

Several new members having been elected, the Chairman congratulated the Secretary and all concerned upon the very admirable beginning which had been made, and he thought the remarks contained in the report very judicious. He hoped they would all try to carry out through the length and breadth of the diocese the great work which they had in view. The report was admirably drawn up for a first report. He trusted that the number of members would increase, and that the present satisfactory financial condition would continue. Having proposed the adoption of the report,

The Rev. H. A. Cockey seconded the motion. He was sure they must all be pleased to hear such a capital account of the beginning of the work of this Association, and they could only hope that it might carry on the work it had begun so well, and increase in wealth, strength, and prosperity.

The Master (Rev. C. W. H. Griffith) remarked that the report was fuller in order to set forth the objects of the Association, and also because it was their intention to send it to every clergyman in the diocese who had a peal of bells, that he might know that he ought to join the Association.

The report and accounts were adopted.

The election of officers was then proceeded with. Mr. J. Blackmore (Twerton) proposed, and Mr. F. Beesley (Bath) seconded the re-election of the Rev. C. W. H. Griffith as Master. This was carried unanimously; as was also the re-election of Mr. Rupert Lewis as Hon. Secretary and Treasurer, on the motion of Mr. Fussell, seconded by Mr. Wilcox; the Chairman remarking that he wished to thank Mr. Lewis for the good work he had done in his neighbourhood.

The Master and Secretary returned thanks, saying how much they should have liked to have done more, and promising their best endeavours for the future. At the same time they were much in need of local district help.

The Rev. H. Cockey moved that the Rev. J. U. Todd, of Minehead, be the local Secretary for West Somerset. It was too much to expect the Master and Secretary to visit all the towers of the diocese, though he acknowledged the great work they had done. This was seconded by Mr. Tomkins, of Old Cleeve, and carried.

The meeting closed with a hearty vote of thanks to the Chairman, who in acknowledging it, wished the Association God-speed. Though it had been long delayed it was now thoroughly established, and he hoped it would go on and flourish.

It was decided to hold the next district meeting at the town of Bridgwater.

The members then adjourned to St. Mary's, Bathwick, where Divine Service was held. The prayers were intoned by the Rev. C. W. H. Griffith, and the lessons were read by Mr. Lewis and the Rev. H. A. Cockey. The Rev. G. Baker was also present. The sermon was preached by the Rev. Prebendary Salmon, Rector of Weston-super-Mare, who took for his text 2 Chron. xxix. 31—"Ye have consecrated yourselves unto the Lord." Having briefly recounted the incidents in the reformation of the worship of the temple by king Hezekiah, he said:—

"Brethren, members of the Diocesan Change-Ringers' Association, there many points of instruction for us in this account of the restoration of religion in the days of good king Hezekiah. I would speak to you to-day in the Name of the Lord. I would speak to you and exhort you as Levites who have a care for a portion of the House of God. First, I would say to all of you, sanctify yourselves, for without sanctification of heart and sanctification of life you can never be fit to take your part in the sacrifice of holy service. I would to God that God the Holy Ghost would put into the hearts of many of the clergy and many also of the laity to give their sympathy and support to the Diocesan Change-Ringers' Association, for I believe that it is calculated to do much good and to raise the spiritual and social tone of those who take part in a very important service in connection with the House of God. It is now more thirty years ago, since I first inspected, in my office of Rural Dean, the belfries of what was then one of the largest Deaneries in Somerset, and learnt something about their arrangements for ringing. In every direction I found bells badly hung, bells, and many of them fine bells, cracked and unusable, belfries dirty and neglected, ringers in too many cases men who cared more for gain than for the services of the House of God. Men seemed to think that the bells were only intended for secular uses and rejoicings, they forgot that they were a part of the things dedicated and consecrated for holy purposes, for the service of the Most High God. Thirty years have passed away; bells have been recast and rehung, belfries have been set in order, and many have taken up the good work of bell-ringing from rightful motives, for the honour and glory of God and for the services of the House of God, with one single aim—devotion, reverence, the consecration of strength and skill for the holy worship of the temple. But much has yet to be done in this direction. If the priests of God are slow in taking up the good work, a work which often entails much expense and self-denial and many difficulties, the Levites must do as they did in Hezekiah's time, throw their hearts into the work and help them. Oftentimes the priest in a parish has almost to stand alone when he desires to see the belfry occupied by men of character, men who have some respect and reverence for holy things, men who do not ring for reward, do not ring for secular merry-making, but ring as an act of praise, ring as an act of holy service, in the belfry of the House of God. Priests and Levites must be workers together for God—they must strengthen each other's hands in standing firmly against prejudice and personal feeling, with burning zeal, with one desire, the repairing the breaches in the House of God. The restoration of bells and belfries to their proper uses is part of the great religious revival for which we should work and pray, part of the great Christian duty and obligation to consecrate skill, and art, and talent, whatever it may be, and all that is beautiful and good, with real self-sacrifice and self-denial, to the holy service of the Most High God. And first let me say to all who take any part in this great movement—Ye must consecrate yourselves unto the Lord, ringers, singers, all who take a part in the Levite service of the sanctuary, all must be men of God. It is not enough for any of you to be respectable characters, able to handle a bell well, skilful in ringing changes; ye must be men of God, men must take knowledge of you that you have been with CHRIST. You must let your light shine among them and show them the evidences of a true, consistent, religious character and conversation. The belfries of our churches must be occupied only by men who are seen every Lord's day, and on festivals, meeting before the altar of God and offering up to God a real sacrifice, a holy and lovely sacrifice, the sacrifice of soul and body, in bounden duty and service, to the worship of their Redeemer. And ye must be prepared for the service of the God, prepared week after week, by the highest act of worship. Ye must consecrate yourselves to the Lord. Ye must come near and bring the sacrifice and thank-offering of holy service into the House of the Lord. Ye must come with a free heart and with some real preparation, and may the good Lord accept your services in the name and for the sake of JESUS CHRIST our LORD!"

The ringing of the day, most of the local towers being available, included the following: A quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples. E. Wotton, 1; A. Melhuish, 2; W. Lewis, 3; J. Wotton (conductor), 4; H. Wotton, 5; J. Fussell, 6; H. W. Brown, 7; T. Hunt, 8. And a 720 of Grandsire Minor, at St. Mary's, in 27 mins. C. Bell, 1; G. Temple, 2; Rev. C. W. H. Griffith (conductor), 3; J. Whale, 4; J. Fussell, 5; H. W. Brown, 6.

HANDBELLS FOR SALE.—A splendid set of 20 bells in F., 19 size; equal to new; with an elaborate massive stand for tune-playing, with four beaters. Cost £10. To be sold for £6. Apply H.W.H., office of this paper. A rare opportunity.

THE MIDLAND COUNTIES' ASSOCIATION.

NUNEATON BRANCH.—A meeting of this branch took place at Narboro on Saturday, August 22nd, a good number of members attending from Nuneaton, Barwell, Stony Stanton, etc., Messrs. S. Cotton and J. O. Lancashire also being present from Leicester. By the kind permission of the Vicar, the bells of the parish church was raised in peal, and several touches in various methods were successfully brought round, including Kent Treble Bob, Plain Bob and Canterbury Pleasure Minor, and Grandsire and Stedman Doubles.

At 5 o'clock the members adjourned to the schoolroom, where a splendid tea had been provided by the Rev. W. Langley, at whose kind invitation about twenty-two sat down, the majority immediately "going in quick." The "slow," however was eventually reached, and "stand" called.

A move was then made to the belfry to ring for evensong, which commenced at 6.0 p.m. All the members attended, some of them going into the choir, thus showing they can be Church workers in more ways than one. Divine Service over a few more touches were rung, and the bells lowered.

At a business meeting subsequently held, a vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar for granting the use of the bells, and for his kind invitation to tea, and the members through this medium wish to place on record their appreciation of the rev. gentleman's kindness and good feeling towards them, for on no occasion when applied to has he refused them permission to ring.

Train time having now arrived, a move was made to the station, when a final course of Grandsire Caters was rung upon the handbells by Messrs. H. W. Horwood, 1-2; T. Chapman, 3-4; A. R. Aldham, 5-6; S. Cotton, 7-8; J. Swinfield, 9-10; much to the delight and amusement of the inhabitants who had assembled, and bringing to a close a most agreeable, pleasant, and enjoyable afternoon.

FEARFUL ACCIDENT IN A BELFRY.

On Sunday morning, as the ringers were raising the bells for the usual peal before service, at St. Edmund's Church, Southwold, Suffolk, one of their number, a visitor to the town, said to be a teacher in an elementary school, and brother to the butler of the family now residing at the Stone House, seems to have pulled his rope with a suddenness and force, causing a strap to break, with the consequence that the wheel of the bell flew round dragging him up to the ceiling of the belfry, breaking his wrist, and inflicting terrible injury to his head and back. The poor fellow then fell back a distance of fourteen feet. He has remained unconscious since the accident, and could only be removed with the greatest care and difficulty at about 2.30 p.m. He is under the care of Dr. Wollett and Dr. Churchill, and it is hoped that he may in course of time rally from the shock. The large congregation at the morning service were happily unconscious of the tragedy that had occurred close by, only remarking upon the sudden and unusual cessation of the bells.—Halesworth and Southwold Times.

THE ST. JAMES'S SOCIETY, LONDON.

The annual business meeting of this Society took place as announced on Monday, August 17th. The accounts for the year having been audited by Messrs. Newman and Payne, and the balance-sheet presented and passed, the following gentlemen were elected and re-elected as officers for the ensuing year:—

Master	MR. F. G. NEWMAN.
Secretary	MR. G. W. WILD (re-elected).
Treasurer	MR. E. ALBONE.
Senior Steward	MR. H. B. PAYNE.
Junior „	MR. E. H. ADAMS.

GEO. W. WILD, Hon. Sec.

8, Francis Street, Waterloo Road, London, S.E.

St. John's, Cleveland-road, Islington, was found on Saturday, to have been entered during the night. Three of the offertory boxes had been forced, and their contents taken.

To the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS AND RINGERS' RECORD."

A GUILD FOR DORSETSHIRE.

SIR,—I was very glad to see a "Dorsetshire Man's" letter in your paper. When first I came into the county, I, together with the ringers in the parish joined the Salisbury Guild. We paid our subscriptions for one year, and received nothing in return except a couple of notices of two meetings at a distance quite impracticable, although there are several good rings in the neighbourhood. I was bitterly disappointed, having just left the county of Sussex, where there is such a magnificent Association. We had meetings once a month in every part of the county, and Mr. Attree had arranged with the London, Brighton and South Coast Railway for every member wishing to go for a pull at any time to travel half-price. I cannot call myself "an influential clergyman," and as for ringing I can do a bit of Churchyard Bob, though I do struggle after greater things. Still failing any better man, I should be too glad to offer my services as secretary for a Dorsetshire Association, and I am sure my old friend Mr. Attree would be kind enough to give me a few hints how to form an Association provided the Dorset ringers would be willing to accept my services. T. H. FISHER, Vicar of Cranborne, Dorset.

INFORMATION WANTED.

SIR.—Could any of the readers of "THE BELL NEWS" tell me what our head men are doing—perhaps they are fallen asleep—as we have not heard anything of our annual festival; perhaps they are putting it off till October 1st again as last year; a pleasant time for an outing, when it begins to get dark soon after five o'clock; it may be a good time the day after Christmas Day.

A MEMBER OF THE HEREFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

AN APPEAL.

SIR,—Would any member or Instructor of a change-ringing society within the distance of about 150 miles from Monmouth, kindly help a young man, aged 18, in securing employment of any kind; can ring call-changes, and would be most pleased to be taught change-ringing. Perhaps there are some kind ringers of a society which are one ringer short, who would help me in the above, which I should be very much obliged for.

JOHN JONES.

LARGS.—THE CHIMES AND BELLS FOR THE NEW U. P. CHURCH.—One of the many important features in the grand new church, which Mr John Clark, of Curling Hall, is presenting to the United Presbyterians of Largs is to be its chime of bells, the order for which was placed a few days ago with that justly celebrated firm, Messrs Gillet and Johnston, of Croydon. In passing it may be remembered that the same firm supplied the clock and chimes for the George A. Clark Town Hall, Paisley. The masonry of the tower of the Largs church, in which the clockwork for the working of the chimes and carillon is to be placed, has now been erected, the height, however, of the whole spire is to reach the goodly altitude of 160 feet. There will be 12 bells in the belfry, and the clockwork contrivance is to ring the chimes, the hours and the bells for the church services. The church bells will be rung with what is known as a "clapper" by which a greater volume of sound is obtained. In this connection, the contractor expects that the sound of the bells under favourable conditions will be heard at a distance of 10 miles. The chimes are to be what are known as the "Westminster Chimes," and the bells will be provided with Ellacombe's chiming apparatus by means of which airs may be performed on them. So well forward is the general work of the church that last week the joiners were busy at the roof work of the transept. The whole of the beautiful church has come in recently for much admiration from natives and visitors alike, its really handsome windows absorbing undoubtedly a very large share of admiration. The principal ones are of great size; in the meantime let a few words about a couple of them suffice. The one in the west gable is 26 feet high and 15 feet broad, while that in the chancel is a foot less in height and only half a foot less in breadth, and the top of both are filled in with tracery work of very handsome and elaborate design.—North British Daily Mail.

It is stated that the Rev. Marmaduke Shaw, LL.B., who has for the last six years been minister at Tynemouth Congregational Chapel, intends entering the Church of England, and will be shortly ordained by the Bishop of Exeter. Mr. Shaw is the son of the Rev. J. Shaw, Congregational pastor of Torrington, and a well-known local speaker on Radical platforms.

The Bell News & Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 29, 1891

We publish this week the reports of two important meetings, important because they indicate a revival of energy among those concerned. The Chester Diocesan Guild, from what has been heard of it until very recently, only appeared to have had a bare existence, and the Association for the diocese of Bath and Wells had for some time past seemed to be struggling in its nonage. The meetings of each body, reported at full in this number, foreshadow the existence of more life and energy in the near future, if any account can be taken of the enthusiasm which seemed to prevail thereat. Let us hope so. While the total collapse of an established Guild or Association must be regarded as something very little short of a calamity, the exhibition of such feeble efforts towards progress and success, as have been shown, is not much less deplorable. The executive of any ringing Association, to ensure a high measure of success, must be content to work very hard indeed in the cause they have elected to champion. There will be at times, no doubt, even among well-directed efforts, moments of vexation and despair, but these meet us in everything, and they are to be overcome. "Where there's a will there's a way."

The addresses of the rev. preachers on the occasions referred to are interesting if only on account of their divergent character. That of the Master of the Oxford Guild—Rev. F. E. ROBINSON—as coming from a ringer, will be read with peculiar pleasure by those who are edified, not in the perusal of a sermon when printed, but only when they can sit under the preacher. This is the first opportunity we have had of publishing a pulpit address of the worthy Master; we hope both for the benefit of our readers and ourselves it will not be the last.

Very earnest was the language of Prebendary SALMON to the congregation of ringers assembled to hear him at Bathwick. He made what we may with propriety call a loving and affectionate appeal to his hearers to make themselves worthy of their Art, and the office to which they had called themselves in the Church. He had had reason to deplore the neglected condition of belfries in his rural deanery, and we have no doubt he made all the efforts he could to reform them. We trust such efforts may not be relaxed in the least; there yet remains much to be done, and if those clergymen holding the office of rural dean will take care to enquire into the condition of belfries under their jurisdiction, and speak in no faltering language when necessary, we shall hear of more bell-founding and bell-hanging than we have yet done. The time has come when neglect of any kind in connection with the Church cannot be passed over, and bells with their surroundings, as much as organs, will have to be taken into consideration the moment decay shows itself. The dioceses of Chester and Bath and Wells now possess the right bodies to agitate when any laxity in this respect begins to show itself, and friends and well-wishers to such a cause, like the rev. prebendary of Buckland-Dinham, will not be asked to co-operate in vain.

THE UNEMPLOYED IN EAST LONDON.—At a time when much thought is being given to this matter, a practical suggestion may be of service. Last year more than £300,000 worth of foreign matches were purchased by inconsiderate consumers in this country, to the great injury of our own working people, so true is it that "evil is wrought by want of thought, as well as want of heart." If all consumers would purchase Bryant and May's matches, that firm would be enabled to pay £1000 a week more in wages.

The Rev. J. H. Hindson, M.A., who is Vicar of Wyrardisbury (abbreviated into Wraysbury), Bucks, was married on Tuesday last at Old Windsor to a daughter of the Hon. R. Butler. The ceremony was fashionably attended. The wedding presents were costly and numerous. On Saturday last he was the recipient of an address from parishioners and friends, it being signed by over 167 persons, which included all sorts of conditions of men and women—from the highest to the humblest in the parish—besides many outsiders. The sums subscribed to the testimonial, which accompanied the address, varied from £7 to sixpence. The same evening he also received a present from the ringers, and an address. The presentation was a bird-shaped inkstand, of silver, being very handsome. The choir also made a present to the Vicar, and presented him with an address of congratulation.

AN OLD RECORD.

The following record of a peal, rung at Northampton, is taken from a local paper published some time in the year 1852. Our correspondent, who thinks it may interest some of our readers, asks: "Has this peal been rung in the county since 1852?"

"CHANGE RINGING.—On Tuesday last the Society of Change Ringers of St. Philip's, Birmingham, on their Christmas tour, called at this town, and at All Saints' church succeeded in ringing, in three hours and twenty-five minutes, a complete peal of Kent Treble Bob Major, comprising 5280 changes. The performers were—Amos Cresser, treble; John Perks, 2nd; Chas. Shaw, 3rd; John Bannister, 4th; Robert Wright, 5th; John Robinson, 6th; John Day, 7th; William Chettell, tenor. The peal is the production of Mr. Thomas Day, of Birmingham, and was conducted by Mr. John Day. This was the first peal of this method ever rung in the county, and the second peal of any method whatever rung in the county. Tenor 22½ cwt."

Most of the above-named ringers have departed this life, the ones left, so far as we know, being Messrs. J. Day, Cresser, and Perks. "Chettell" should be spelt "Chattell."

OLD NORTHAMPTONSHIRE RINGERS.

"NOW HE'S GONE ALOFT.—Died at Barton Seagrave, on Thursday, the 27th ult., John Scott, in the 84th year of his age. Scott, in his time, was one of as famous a band of ringers who in this district have ascended the belfry tower, and have delighted people below with their swinging music, or warned them with the signal bell that another soul has passed away. And he was the last of this famous company, nearly all of whom died at a ripe old age. Let me see, there was John Wish who died at 90, and rung up to the time of his death nearly; Thomas Enfield, who died at 81, and also rang up to within a short time of his death; Wm. Mawby, who died at 76, and who retained his love for the steeple and its music to the last, though blindness prevented him from joining his fellows in the belfry some time before he went his last journey aloft. John Henson, who died at Wellingborough in his 80th year, and was one of the most famous members of this famous company; James Hawthorn, who died at 80, and rang to the last; Thos. Dilke and Samuel Tilley, both of whom, compared with their fellows, died comparatively young. The united ages of this goodly company, who are now to be numbered with the past, the whole of whom are gone over to the great majority, numbers not far short of 600 years, and gives an average of 76 years to each. An octogenarian being asked the secret of his attaining so long a life is said to have replied that he played his fiddle each day a short time after dinner, implying that the music was an aid to the digestion of his principal meal, and conducive to his longevity. Music is proverbially soothing, and I suppose musicians as a class live longer than other people who worry through life without any of its charms. And it seems that making melody, though it be in a church steeple, conduces to length of years, as it certainly adds to the pleasures of life."—Local Paper.

We regret to hear that Mr. Henry Dains is confined to his house by serious illness. Rheumatic fever, we hear, is the malady. Latest advices, however, show an improvement in his condition.

Church News.

The vicar of Dewsbury has received a promise of £1,000 from a lady towards the completion of the restoration of the parish church.

A stained glass window has been placed in the south aisle of the nave of Lichfield Cathedral as a memorial to the late Bishop Rawle.

The Countess of Shaftesbury is building a new church at Woodlands, Dorset, for which the present earl, her youthful son, provides the site and bricks.

As the Church Congress is to be held at Rhyl, in the St. Asaph diocese, the diocesan conferences will not be held this year.

It is stated that although the Bishop of Chester has returned to the Palace at Chester much benefited in health after his recent attack of influenza, he is not yet in a condition to resume his diocesan duties.

The Manchester Guardian says that the Bishop of Liverpool has now definitely arranged to return from Lowestoft to his diocese about the middle of October, and will preside as usual at the diocesan conference.

The Rev. H. Whittaker, who has been pastor of the Reformed Episcopal Church at Peterborough, has announced that his connection with that body is about to cease, and that he will be shortly ordained by the Bishop of Worcester.

The funeral of the Rev. Herbert Richard Hannam, M.A., senior curate of St. Mark's, South Norwood, who died on Monday week at the early age of thirty-two, took place on Thursday, in Shirley churchyard.

The installation of Canon Teignmouth at Worcester Cathedral has been fixed by the Dean for next Friday, and he will enter upon his first term as Canon-in-residence on the following Tuesday. This will probably be the last official act performed by Dr. Gott, Bishop-elect of Truro, as Dean of Worcester.

The Ven. Sir George Prevost, rector of Stinchcombe, com. pleted his eighty-seventh birthday on Thursday, August 20th. There was a gathering of clergy at Stinchcombe on that day, and the venerable rector read the morning service and celebrated, only having the Lessons and Epistle read for him.

Funds are being raised for the restoration of the parish church of Oake, West Somerset. The chancel is probably of thirteenth century date, and the church has a very pretty fifteenth century porch. Other interesting features are some valuable remains of old stained glass in the north window of the nave, and a beautiful carved oak pulpit of Charles the Second's time.

The ancient church at Marr, which has just undergone a thorough restoration at the sole cost of Mr. P. Thellusson, was on Friday week reopened by the Bishop of Beverley. The porch has been rebuilt with the old stone, an entirely new roof has been built, the church reseated, and many improvements effected, the restoration being carried out in character with the building.

During a storm at Stradbroke, Suffolk, on Wednesday, August 19th, the church was struck by lightning. The north-east pinnacle was knocked off, the top being carried at least twelve yards from the foundation of the church. The falling stonework broke through the roof of the north aisle, and did much damage to the work inside. A large stone tomb standing near the tower was broken through.

The Rev. Nicholas Ford Chudleigh, B.A., "Dear old Parson Chudleigh," as his parishioners and friends called him, died on Thursday, at the Churchtown, St. Columb Minor, at the age of eighty-six. He had, says the Western Morning News, a somewhat severe illness in the spring of last year, from which he never completely recovered. "For the last three weeks his sufferings were very great, and he bore them with sweet resignation and Christian fortitude, and with a mind unclouded and cheerful to the last, except for a few minutes now and then, when the paroxysms were at their highest."

PROPOSED MEMORIAL TO THE LATE W. COPPAGE.

It has been decided to place, in the Tower of St. John, Waterloo Road, London, a Marble Tablet, to the memory of the late William Coppage, for many years steeplekeeper at this Church. Gentlemen who desire to assist in this movement will be kind enough to send their subscriptions to the Secretary of the Waterloo Society, Mr. G. W. WILD, 8, Francis Street, Waterloo Road. All will be acknowledged in this paper.

STEDMAN CATERS.

SOME PEALS IN ILLUSTRATION OF THE PLAN ADVOCATED BY MR. HEYWOOD.

BY THE REV. H. EARLE BULWER.

Being now in a position to present a few peals on the plan recently explained and advocated by Mr. Heywood, I may be permitted to preface them by remarking that, personally, I was quite prepared to welcome a new departure in Stedman Caters, and was especially pleased by the plan afforded of being able to dispense with the made-up introductory transition, and coming-round courses, which have always appeared to me to be such unsatisfactory features of the peals usually produced in this method.

There is no doubt, moreover, that the importance of having one bell fixed in second's or fifth's place has been overrated, so far as composition is concerned. A fixed place-bell is certainly a great protection to composition with courses of the usual length: but when the necessary conditions are mastered, composition without a fixed place-bell is not less certain, and far more interesting than it is with it. On the present plan peals in ten, five, six and three parts can be had, as well as in four or two: and, with the heavy bells in the position of 879 at the double-course-end, there is no need to have more than two introductory courses, which, be it remembered, are in no wise made-up, but are had by the regular calling which obtains in the rest of the peal. With the heavy bells in the tittum position at double-course-end, these initial courses are not required, and the first part starts at once from rounds with a bob at 1, and the bells can be brought round at the last part-end by calling another bob at 1 after the last 8 7 9 half-course. Composition on these lines, however, is exposed to the danger of rounds cropping up prematurely, if special care be not taken to avoid it. The precautions against this and all other obstacles to which composition in either form is exposed are simple and can be charted down on the course-end scale.

It is plain, therefore, that the plan presents a good deal of scope for the composer, and will afford a wider field for selection in the matter of varied musical compositions than has hitherto been the case, and opportunity for more sustained musical effects than the usual system. Personally, I must express my thanks to Mr. Heywood for introducing this plan of composition, and I do not doubt that, when it has been practised, he will earn the acknowledgments of Stedman Cater ringers generally.

One word as to notation on this plan. It seems to me desirable that this should be simplified and condensed. The notation of a peal of Stedman Caters of the usual form is simple enough (barring the made-up courses). But on this plan, with 7, 9, 10 constantly bobbed in every short course, the multitude of bob-marks becomes bewildering, if every such course is pricked with its full calling; and the leading features in the construction of the composition become confused. When the principle of the plan has once been grasped (which can be done by a study of what Mr. Heywood has already written upon it), it ought to be sufficient to prick by double-courses only, 8 7 9's or 9 7 8's, as the case may be. This is the way in which I give the following peals; and as each double-course consists of two halves, one ending with a 9 7 8 course-end and the other with an 8 7 9, I call these two halves X and Y respectively. 7, 9, 10 are always called in each half-course, and therefore need not be noted, but will be understood. 4 and 5 are the only varying calls in either half-course, and are to be understood as called or omitted (that is, plained) by the following symbols:—

x means both bobbed;
o o " " plained;

- o " 4 bobbed 5 plained;
o - " 4 plained 5 bobbed;
o s 4 plained, 5, a Single.

Each peal goes off with a quick six from rounds. The first is a 5-part extent, and is given merely to show that the full extent available on this plan can be attained. As the two introductory courses are chiefly employed for the special purpose of getting the bells into position for the peal proper, they are, of course, not to be reckoned as attached to the parts, nor to be repeated; and are, therefore, fenced off by a through line.

No. 2 is a reduction of No. 1, by a slight alteration of calling.

In the foregoing peals the fifth is the observation. The next peal is a perfect three-part composition with 9 7 8 double-course ends, and has, therefore, no introductory courses. It is brought round at the last part-end by calling a bob at 1 after the last 8 7 9 half-course-end.

HOLY TRINITY CHURCH, DARTFORD, KENT.

The ancient and historical parish church of Dartford, in the county of Kent, dedicated to the Holy Trinity, is situate in a spot which suggests, from its close proximity to the river Darent, that it was originally intended for other than the reverential purposes of worship. The present edifice undoubtedly stands on the site, and is an extension of, an older one of Saxon origin; some parts of which, or perhaps all, being now merged into the enlarged structure. Its situation, however, at the foot of a hill, within a few feet of the banks of the river—overshadowing, as it were, the ford—and adjoining the old Roman Watling Street, or main road from London to Dover, suggests that it was originally selected strategically; probably as a place of defence against the murderous ravages of the hordes of Danes who, about nine hundred years ago, were wont to sail up the Thames and harass these shores, committing murder and outrage for miles inland. Thus it may have been that a large stone fort, or tower, was erected here at the first important ford, or crossing, of the river Darent, with the object of resisting the terrible foe, and also as a place of security in the hour of need for the wives, children, and stock of the inhabitants. This, then, being their stronghold, it is very natural that a spot contiguous to it should be deemed the best, if not the only site suitable for the erection of a church. Hence it was that a church was built here, consisting probably, at first, of only a nave and chancel; but eventually, extending to and absorbing the Saxon stronghold and adapting it as the tower of the edifice, the remainder of the church being built in the form of a cross to and around it, at a later period.

Immediately after the canonisation of Thomas à Becket, Dartford became visited by large numbers of pilgrims on their way to Canterbury, they making it their first halting-place out of London; and in the reign of Henry III. a chapel was added to the church, and an altar erected and dedicated to St. Thomas of Canterbury, but since the removal of the altar at the time of the Reformation, the arches which were cut through the massive Saxon masonry of the tower, to expose it to the gaze of the devout pilgrim, have been blocked up, and the chapel converted into a vestry.

In 1235, the ceremony of marriage was performed in Dartford church between the proxy, who represented the Emperor Frederick II. of Germany, and the Princess Isabella, daughter of King John and sister of Henry III. History records that the Archbishop of Cologne, with a retinue of noble personages, was sent by the Emperor to see the English princess, and if they considered she would be a fitting person to become the consort of the Emperor, they were directed to demand her hand of the king, and marry her to the proxy and escort her back to Germany.

About the close of the thirteenth century the work of adding the main portion of the church was proceeded with; making the building, as it is now, 109 feet 6 inches in length, and 67 feet broad, including the nave and side aisles. This was probably completed about 1333; for we find that in that year, that on the Monday before the Nativity of the Blessed Mary, that Bishop Thomas de Woldham went to Dartford to view the great window of five lights, in the main chancel of that church, which Hamo de Hethe's chaplain had made, and then returned to his new house, called "La Place," at Stone. This window, after remaining 450 years in use, was changed in 1783.

In 1338, in the reign of Edward III., Thomas de Dertford, Vicar of Dartford, enclosed the south chancel with screens of elegant open work, and founded therein a chantry in honour of the Blessed Virgin, "for the health of his own soul and the souls of his ancestors, and all the faithful departed this life," at the same time endowing it with lands in perpetuity. The chapel in after years being held in high veneration, the window nearest the altar was considerably enlarged in the reign of Richard II., but perhaps the grandeur of the chapel was not completed until the painting in fresco, on the whole width of the east wall, a space 19 feet 8 inches by 12 feet, of the story of St. George and the Dragon. This painting was not discovered until 1833, when some workmen employed in cleaning and repairing the church came across it; it had been at some anterior period, possibly at the time of the Reformation, entirely obliterated with whitewash, which they succeeded in removing; but unfortunately not without injury to the design. The painting was formerly fully visible, but some years back, whilst the church was undergoing further renovation, the Rev. J. C. Blomfield, M.A. (the then Vicar) and his cousin (now Sir A. Bloomfield) as architect, transferred the organ to the lady chapel, and by so doing almost obscured the fresco. Under the centre of the painting is a shallow niche in the wall, measuring three feet 8 inches, and 1 foot 6 inches wide, having a trefoil head. The whole was painted red, and from an interval in the coloured part, had evidently contained an image. In the south wall of the same chapel is a wide recess (this had also been hidden from view), and close by, towards the east, is a holy water "stoup." Above the clergy vestry is an old room, now used as a lumber-room, formerly as an armoury, and prior to that occupied by an anchorite. There are apertures in its walls which afforded him a view of the high altar and of the chantry of St. Mary's below; there were also small iron-barred windows (still to be seen) from which he had intercourse with the outside world.

The tower is situate in a peculiar position, namely, on the north side of the church at the east end of the north aisle. It is seventy-four feet high, and twenty-two feet square, and consists of three stories, having the clock and chimes in the second, and a good peal of eight bells in the third. During the reign of Edward IV. it became so much decayed as to alarm the parishioners, consequently, by the aid of donations and benefactions, the defects were remedied, and another story added to heighten, and certainly improve the tower. It formerly contained six bells, but in 1702 these were taken down and recast by Philip Wrightman, and two other bells added. One was afterwards recast in 1773, by Pack and Chapman, and in 1807 the whole were taken down, rehung, and one bell recast. The weight of the tenor is one ton.

The nave of the church is divided from the north and south aisle by rows of three similar lofty arches, of the early part of the fourteenth century, supported by octagon pillars, having slightly ornamental capitals. In 1792 the walls of the nave were heightened, the sharp pointed roof lowered, and the church ceiled; but in 1877 the walls were again reduced to their original height, and the flat roof cleared away, being superseded by a handsome groined one—the timbers being exposed on the inside. The eastern part of the church has a covered roof, with oak panels and carved bosses—formerly painted azure with gilt stars. A very handsome oak screen of the Decorated style formerly divided the nave from the chancel, and at one time sustained the rood-loft; but about forty years ago, this becoming irreparably injured, had to be removed.

The church was formerly rich in monumental brasses and ancient armour, but nearly all these have disappeared—the latter, considered by some to have been the finest collection in the kingdom, was sold about 1214 to a Jew dealer for twelve guineas! soon after one suit alone realised £100. There are several interesting monuments still remaining in the church: one on the north side of the high chancel, erected by Sir John Spilman to Lady Elizabeth, his first wife, bears his effigy in armour, together with that of his lady kneeling at a desk, with several verses in Latin, German, and English, and armorial bearings beneath. This was the Sir John Spilman, jeweller to Queen Elizabeth, who erected the first paper-mill on the banks of the Darent, and who is generally considered to have here made the first paper in England. He also brought over from Germany two lime-trees, which he planted on his estate, and which were the first ever seen in England.

A few years back, in 1877, the church underwent a complete restoration at a cost of between £2000 and £3000, when all the old pews were swept away, and the more modern low benches were substituted; the galleries were removed, the walls of the nave lowered, the clerestory windows dispensed with, and the whole re-roofed, a groin roof supplanting the flat one, most of the windows being also taken out and remodelled, and the stone work re-dressed.

Among the vicars who have held the living in the past, and who have left their footprints on the sands of time, we may mention Richard Witch, who was afterwards burnt on Tower Hill, in 1440, for heresy; John Hornley, who was the first President of Magdalen Hall, Oxford; John Denne, who, sad to relate, was a common alehouse haunter, and was frequently drunk on the Sabbath (he was sequestered in 1642); Vavasour Powell, who followed, a talented Welshman, of considerable eminence among the Nonconformists, who gained great affection for his fearless labours amongst the sick and dying during the time of the Great Plague, which raged alike in Dartford as in London. In later years we have had the Rev. Canon Henry Bond Bowlby, M.A. (who was a great favorite, and whose memory will long be cherished), and the Rev. Frederick Spencer Dale, M.A. (a genuine evangeliser, and during whose vicariate the church was restored). The Rev. Alan Hunter Watts, formerly vicar of Holy Trinity, Bordesley, Birmingham, is the present Vicar of Dartford, and has shown himself a zealous and energetic worker in the Church of Christ; he is a strong advocate of the Temperance cause, and takes a deep interest in the religious and secular education of the young. The Sunday Schools contain 1300 scholars and 100 teachers. We might mention, also, that the Right Rev. Randall T. Davidson, Lord Bishop of Rochester, was, some fifteen years ago, a very popular curate here; in fact, Dartford was his first and only curacy.

THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

ROCHDALE BRANCH.—A meeting of this branch was held at Christ Church, Healey, on Saturday, August 29th. There was a very poor attendance. A 720 of Bob Minor was rung, in 27 mins. W. Airey, 1; G. Hoyle, 2; E. Schofield, 3; J. Crossley (conductor), 4; R. E. Hoyle, 5; F. Birtwistle, 6. Two other attempts were unfortunately lost, one in the last two leads, with Mr. J. Gratrix, of Manchester on the 3rd, the rest as before. At the meeting in the schools, Mr. G. Hoyle in the chair, it was passed that the next place of meeting be left with the Secretary, as the place fixed upon was not certain to be available on that day. The meeting closed with the usual votes of thanks.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT AMALGAMATED SOCIETY.

A monthly ringing meeting of this Society was held at Otley, on Saturday, August 29th, and was exceedingly well-attended by members and ringing friends from the following towers: Rothwell, Pudsey, Huddersfield, Calverly, St. Chad's and St. Michael's, Headingley, Harrogate and Leeds. Various touches of Kent and Plain Bob Major and Oxford Minor having been rung, an adjournment was made to the "Queen's Head," where the business meeting was opened by the President, Mr. J. Whitaker. Sixteen new members were elected, and an invitation was tendered from the Leeds parish church Society for all to attend the annual meeting of the Yorkshire Association to be held at Leeds on the 3rd of October next.

The President warmly thanked the members for such a good attendance, and the Otley ringers for the way the Society had been received on its first visit to the town.

Mr. T. Lockwood (Leeds) proposed that the best thanks be given the Vicar, wardens, and ringers for the use of the bells and other arrangements.

Mr. A. Naylor (Headingley) seconded, and it was carried amidst applause. Courses on the handbells, and by special arrangement the Leeds contingent rang several lively tunes, to the delight of all present. Songs, etc. followed, and a vote of thanks to the chairman passed, Holbeck chosen as the place for the September meeting, and a most successful meeting was brought to a close.

OLD WINDSOR, BERKS.

Respecting the peal rang at this parish church on Saturday last, reported in its proper place, the following additional particulars may be stated.

Four peals have been rung at Old Windsor, this last one being the first in the method on the bells, and the first of Major. The composition, now rang for the first time, is a one-part, and has the 4th, 5th, and 6th bells only in 6ths place. It was rung as a compliment to the Vicar of Wraysbury, who gave one of the new bells to this parish, and who was married here on Tuesday, August 26th, a brief notice of which appeared in our last.

Mr. J. Guttridge, kindly attended with the keys, oiled the bells, and adjusted the ropes. Other members of the Royal Cumberland society were present and heard the ringing, including Messrs. G. Stanbrook, W. Wilder, A. Andrews, and R. Flaxman.

Permission to ring was kindly given by the vicar, Rev. T. E. Harwood, whose son promises to become an ardent ringer. The present incumbent has been in the parish—St. Peter's—during the time two additions were made to the church bells, viz.: 1872-90. The ringers desire to thank him for giving permission on this occasion, also for his interest in bells and bell-ringing generally.

TONG, NEAR BRADFORD, YORKS.

About three years ago, owing to some slight disagreement between the authorities and the ringers, the ringing of the six bells at this church was discontinued. All differences having been smoothed away, they are now glad to report that on Sunday last they were heard once again pealing forth in musical tune, in the methods of Tulip, Primrose, College Pleasure, City Delight, Arnold's Victory, Duke of York, and Oxford, the ropes being held, with one exception, by the same men, one of the number being also parishioners' warden.

A CAUTION.

Mr. John Wall, of Ross, Herefordshire, writes as follows:—
"I venture to think that the following may interest your readers, and prevent imposition and discredit on the Exercise at large. The Ross ringers recently had their annual outing, going to Tewkesbury, and shortly afterwards a letter, from Mr. J. Wathen, of that town, announces that a man of about forty years of age, apparently a painter, and giving the name of one of our band, had called on the Vicar of Tewkesbury, various members of the local company, and also at the hotel where we had dined, soliciting pecuniary assistance. This is not the first case of the kind that has come under my notice. Perhaps this exposure may be the means of putting others on their guard."

Ringers' Outings.

ST. MARY'S SOCIETY, EYNESBURY, HUNTS.—Great Gransden was the place selected for the annual outing of this Society. A start was made at 2 p.m. in a conveyance kindly lent by Mr. J. Hall, Gransden being reached after an hour's drive. After partaking of some refreshment, a move was made for the church, when the bells were soon raised in peal, and set going to Bob Doubles. This visit was made for the express purpose of ringing 720 of Minor, but owing to the go of the bells, and there being a new rope on the tenor, combined with the immense draught, made this an impossibility, much to the disappointment of the band. However, after ringing a touch of 144 Bob Minor, the bells were lowered in peal, and a visit paid to the house of Mr. W. Crane, sen., where several touches were rung on the handbells, greatly to the delight of the company present. On Sunday, August 23rd, the same band drove to the parish church, Croxton, and rang for afternoon service 480 Bob Doubles. After the service the bells were raised in peal and several 6-scores rung. The ringing was listened to by several persons, and great praise given to the ringers for the way in which the bells were raised and fallen, this and change-ringing being unknown to them, as the local ringers ring call-changes, and generally fall the bells one or two at a time. This church is prettily situated in the park, and contains a light ring of six, which, with a few alterations, will go well; and it is proposed to pay another visit at an early date and try for a 720 of Minor. The band was afterwards given a capital tea through the generosity of G. O. Newton, Esq., which was greatly appreciated, as it came unexpected. After giving their best thanks to Mr. Newton for his hospitality, and to the head ringer, Mr. Parlett, for his kindness, the party drove home in time to ring for their own evening service. The ringers wish to thank the Vicars of both parishes for granting them the use of the bells. It is hoped that the visits which this Society is paying to the neighbouring churches may induce the local ringers to study the art of change-ringing, which is at such a low ebb in the county of Hunts. The following members took part in the above ringing: J. Jones, S. Hawksford, H. Sutton, G. Irons, G. Coleman, C. Chasty and S. Irons.

THE ST. MODWEN'S SOCIETY, BURTON-ON-TRENT.—On Saturday, August 22nd, this Society had their annual outing, Ashby-de-la-Zouch and Coleorton being the places selected. The members (10) started from Burton at 9.30 a.m. in a wagonette and pair, kindly placed at their disposal by the churchwardens. They arrived at Ashby about 11.0, and after a short stay for refreshments went on to Coleorton, where the pretty little church was reached at 12.30, touches of Grandsire Triples being rung at intervals for an hour and half. When the order was given for dinner a walk of a mile brought us to the "Beaumont Arms," where ample justice was done to the good things provided by Host Charville. Dinner over, another ring at the church and a stroll through the beautiful grounds of Coleorton Hall, and a chat with the Squire (Mr. Donisthorpe) who gave us a very kind and hearty welcome, and invited us to come again, brought their visit to Coleorton to a close. After a pleasant drive Ashby was reached at 5 o'clock, and after a cup of tea a move was made for the fine old parish church, and being joined by several of the Ashby ringers rang touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples. The remainder of the evening was spent with Host Towle, at the "Flaxweavers' Arms," songs being capitally rendered by Messrs. Walker, Carvell, Owen, and Dunmore, also several tunes on the handbells. At 9.15 p.m. the party left for Burton, which was reached by 11 o'clock, one and all having thoroughly enjoyed themselves. They wish, through the medium of this paper, to thank the Rev. Canon Beaumont (Coleorton), and Canon Denton (Ashby), for the use of the bells, and the churchwardens of the parish church, Burton, for the conveyance, and Messrs. Howe, Liggins and W. Canner of Ashby, for helping to make what was a most successful outing.

THE HATFIELD COLLEGE YOUTHS.—On Tuesday, August 25th, this Society had their first annual outing. Starting from their headquarters, "The Baker's Arms," Hatfield, at 8 a.m., the party drove in a brake to the parish church of Knebworth, Herts., and rang on the ring of six Grandsire Doubles and Minor, and a 6-score of Stedman Doubles. The neighbouring church of Datchworth was then visited, and also the parish church of Walton-at-Stone, and Stedman Doubles, Grandsire Minor and Doubles were rung. By this time, wistful and longing eyes were directed towards a suspicious looking hamper hid up in one corner of the brake. Accordingly it was brought from its hiding place, and the contents spread on a table at the "Waggon and Horses" hotel. After this useful piece of business a few tunes were played upon the bells, and a move was made for the change-ringers' home—Benington. Here a few touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples with some of the local ringers were rung. The party then booked for home again. Passing through Hertford, a call was made at St. Andrew's church, and 518 and 671 of Grandsire Triples were brought round. Hatfield was reached at 10.30 p.m. after a most enjoyable ringing day. The band wish to thank those who (at the various towers they visited), gave them a brother-ringers' reception. All through the route they were welcomed at each tower by a ringer or a church official, and everything was ready. The following comprised the party: J. Kentish, sen., A. Shepherd, W. J. Richardson, J. Shepherd, H. Shepherd, J. Smith, H. Tharby, J. Kentish, jun., R. Shepherd and J. Hollingsworth.

THE RAUNDS, WELLINGBOROUGH, AND DISTRICT SOCIETY.—On Saturday, August 29th, thirty-seven members of the above Society journeyed to Leicester, and spent a most enjoyable time in ringing on the famous old peal of ten at St. Margaret's, and the modern peals of eight at St. Mark's, St. Saviour's, and St. Mary's. Hugh Watts, a member of an ancient Leicester bellfounding family, who cast the old back six bells at St. Margaret's (1633), the third, seventh, and tenor at Wellingborough (1620-39), the tenor and other bells at Higham Ferrers (1637) and many more beautiful bells, still in existence in the Midlands, lies buried in St. Mary's church. He died in the year 1643. His epitaph as given by Mr. North is as follows: "Here lieth the body of Hugh Watts the Elder, Gent, sometime Mayor and Alderman of this Corporation, who deceased in the 61 year of his age. Anno Dni, 1643." Bands of ringers from Raunds, Kettering, Wellingborough, Rushden, Higham Ferrers, and Earls Barton handled the ropes by turns during the day. The arrangements made by the various steeple-keepers, and by the Hon. Sec. of the Association, the Rev. Hugh Bryan, were so excellently carried out that everything passed off pleasantly. All the bells made use of were in good going order. Many of the members spent some considerable time in inspecting the various churches, old and new, the beautiful public park, and other points of interest in the town, under the very kind and able guidance of Mr. S. Millis, of St. Margaret's. The very best thanks of the Association are due to the Rev. A. M. Rendell, the Rev. Canon Broughton, the Rev. J. N. B. Woodroffe, and the Rev. J. E. Stocks, for the use of their bells. The principal rings of bells in Leicester are the following: St. Margaret's, ten bells tenor 30 cwt.; St. Martin's, ten bells, tenor 21 cwt.; St. Mary's, eight bells, tenor 18 cwt.; St. Saviour's, eight bells, tenor 26 cwt.; St. Mark's, eight bells, tenor 24 cwt.

ON GOING TO LAW.—I should like, if I may, to ease my mind by strongly advising anyone who thinks of suing a debtor to adopt the advice which Punch some years ago gave to those about to marry: "Don't." Take a ruler and some red ink instead, rule off the debt as bad, and forget it as quickly as possible. In most cases the best way of recovering a bad debt is to make a good one. Of course my advice will be rejected; gratuitous advice always is. I shall not be disappointed; I did not expect it to be taken any more than the pastrycook expects to sell the glass jellies with which he adorns his shop windows. No: I give it for an altogether different reason. There is, indeed, one word of counsel which I venture to press. I hope that before suing a debtor the creditor will consider whether he is really able to pay—whether the debtor has goods which can be seized and sold, or whether he earns an income out of which the judge may order him to pay the debt by instalments. If not, do not sue. In the good old days it was the debtor who had nothing to pay who did wisely if he agreed with his adversary quickly. Now the position is reversed. From the Family Lawyer in Cassell's Family Magazine for September.

UCKFIELD, SUSSEX.

The Sussex Daily News gives an account of a severe storm which visited Uckfield on Sunday evening week, at about six o'clock, during which the tower and steeple of the church were struck by lightning:—"The only person inside the building was the parish clerk, who was lighting the gas for the evening service. The gas partly went out, and he at once turned off the supply at the meter. Six men were in the belfry when the tower was struck, and they were more or less affected—one man's nose bled profusely, and another man was struck on the arm by a piece of stone as large as a double fist, which fell through the opening left in the floors above for the clock weights, and each one felt a swaying motion of his body, as if the floor had been raised and sunk. The lightning, after penetrating the base of the spire, struck the thick masonry of the tower inside, and forced out a considerable piece of the stonework, making its exit through the wall just over the south slope of the roof. The lead covering over the clock was torn and forced outward, and the stone coping of the clock disturbed. A window in the room over the belfry had several panes of glass blown out, and some stones of the south-west wall beneath the coping by the iron chimney of the heating apparatus were displaced. Inside the church itself the only damage was two pieces of plaster detached from the roof. On making a minute search, it was found that in the west gallery there was a smell of fire. A board over the gas-pipe in the floor, was found to be blackened and charred, but a few pails of water soon put all right. A great number of people flocked into the building to see what damage had been done until the rector, the Rev. E. Saunderson, ordered the doors to be closed and the building cleared. After a little quiet had been restored the rector announced that he would have a short thanksgiving service, and a number of those still on the outside were admitted to the building, which was almost in darkness, no lights being allowed except candles at the organ owing to the fear of an escape of gas. The rector, in his cassock, then conducted a short service at the steps of the chancel, and after the Confession, in which all joined, prayers of thanksgiving to ALMIGHTY GOD were offered. The hymn, 'Brief life is here our portion,' was sung, and the service concluded with further extempore prayer, those present solemnly leaving the building as the organist played, 'O rest in the Lord.' A strong feeling of thankfulness prevailed throughout the assembly that the thunderstorm had taken place before time of the ordinary evening service."

WINCHESTER CATHEDRAL.

The Hampshire Chronicle, referring to the fact that on Friday fortnight the tower of Winchester Cathedral was struck by lightning, says that the attention of the Dean and Chapter had been called to the subject of the protection of the building from lightning a little while ago, and at the very time the cathedral was struck a report on the subject was actually under consideration, and a professional electrician had been called in to advise. "Those who have been up to see what happened will have noticed that a large irregular hole was broken out in the wall of the parapet, and some large stones smashed right across and thrown down. There is also a considerable 'shake' in the masonry, causing a portion of it to bulge out in a very uncomfortable manner. But one interesting particular is that the discharge, with its usual capriciousness, impinged first on the inside (i.e., the further face) of the parapet, and pushed out the stones by a back kick towards the point of its approach. The escape of the whole corner of the tower is due, as plainly as stone and metal can tell us, to the presence of a broad band of lead running horizontally round the inside of the parapet, and in communication with a gutter pipe connected with the upper roofs, and through them with the ground."

WELLINGBOROUGH, NORTHAMPTONSHIRE.

RINGER'S WEDDING.—The bells of the parish church rung out merrily on Saturday, August 22nd, in celebration of the wedding of Mr. F. Underwood, one of the parish church ringers, also a member of All Saints' choir. On Monday the ringers and probationers sat down to a supper very neatly put on the table by host Turnell, of the "Fox and Hounds" inn. The toast of "Bride and Bridegroom" was proposed and heartily accorded, with general good wishes and hopes that Mr. Underwood would continue his connection with the belfry, where he had been a useful member both as ringer and handbell player for the past seven years. Songs given by Mr. Turnell and Mr. Randall were much appreciated. Conversation naturally turned upon the work recently carried on at the belfry by Messrs. Taylor, of Loughborough. Much gratification was expressed with the vast improvement made in the go of the 7th and tenor, by the fixing of new gudgeons, and screwing up and tightening of the frame. It was the general opinion that the new clappers had considerably added to the beauty of tone of these two grand old bells. The massive new headstock on the tenor, too, was generally approved of as doing full justice to the broad shoulders of Wellingborough great bell.

MIDLAND RAILWAY.—SUMMER ARRANGEMENTS.

SCOTLAND.—Direct route to and from Perth, Dundee, Aberdeen, and the Highland Railway, via Edinburgh and the Forth Bridge. An Additional Express leaves London (St. Pancras) at 7.15 p.m., for Edinburgh, Dundee, Aberdeen, Perth, Inverness, and the North of Scotland. A New Day Express leaves Glasgow (St. Enoch) at 12.30 p.m., for Manchester, Liverpool, and London. A Dining Saloon Car is run from Leeds to London by this train. Table d'hôte, 3s. 6d.

HIGHLAND RAILWAY.—An Additional Express will, from September 19th to October 17th inclusive, leave Inverness at 2.30 p.m., for Perth, in connection with the Express leaving Perth at 7.40 p.m., for Edinburgh and St. Pancras. The Through Carriage from Inverness to St. Pancras will, during the period mentioned, be attached to this Train, instead of to the 3.0 p.m. Train from Inverness. Improved communication with Wick, Thurso, and the Northern Section of the Highland Railway is now in force. Passengers by the 9.20 p.m. express from St. Pancras arrive at Greenock in time to join the Columba, Iona, and Lord of the Isles Steamers for the Highlands.

The Bell News & Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, 1891.

THE Abbey of Crowland (or Croyland) in Lincolnshire, ought to be an object of interest to Church Bell Ringers of every grade. It was here, if tradition is to be depended on, that "the first ring of bells in England was put up," and we see no reason why the statement should not be accepted. That being so, it is remarkable that the venerable edifice alluded to, or what remains of it, has not come more to the front than it has done, that more interest has not been taken in it; and that enquiries have not been made, by ringers of antiquarian leaning, about its condition. Surely the Exercise, generally speaking, is interested in other questions than the bare process of ringing: the study of the antique in bell-lore has furnished many great minds with inexhaustible sources of delight, and therefore it is reasonable to suppose that those who operate upon church bells and derive great enjoyment from so doing, should at times betray a longing to know something about them in ages gone by.

A movement is now being made to restore the historical edifice of Crowland Abbey, but it is languishing for want of funds. It may never again, even when fully restored, possess a ring of bells, but its former historical connection with them may warrant the suggestion of a ringers' donation to the movement. Whoever may be disposed to aid it will find further particulars in another column.

A tablet to the memory of the late Mr. Herbert Birley has been erected in St. Matthias's church, Manchester. It is of white statuary marble upon a black background. At each corner there is an emblem carved upon a shield, suspended by a ribbon.

The parishioners of Cheshunt have just placed a brass tablet in St. Mary's church in memory of the Rev. H. J. Day, the late vicar. It was due to Mr. Day's exertions that the church was restored, an oak screen placed within it in commemoration of the Queen's Jubilee, and vestries added to the building.

In the absence of the Dean of St. Paul's all necessary communications should be made to the Canon-in-residence. At the consecration of Bishops on Michaelmas Day, there will be no reserved space, except that kept for the friends of the Bishops themselves.

A number of the local clergy met at the Church Institute, Birmingham, on Tuesday week, and presented Canon Bowlby, Bishop-designate of Coventry, with his Episcopal robes. The presentation was made by Canon Wilkinson, rector of Birmingham and Rural Dean, who referred to the satisfaction which was felt by his brother-clergy at Canon Bowlby's appointment. Canon Bowlby feelingly acknowledged this substantial expression of the goodwill and appreciation of the clergy, and assured them that it would be his endeavour to promote the best interests of the Church in the diocese.

An addition has been made to the series of stained-glass windows in Truro Cathedral, through the gift of Canon Thornton, as a memorial to his deceased wife. The window is situate in the north aisle of the choir. The subject forms one more link in the series planned to illustrate the history of the Church. The principal figure is that of St. Ambrose, clothed in Episcopal vestments and mitre, and holding in his hand the scourge of discipline. On either side of him are seated two persons over whom he exercised so much spiritual influence—St. Monica and her son, St. Augustine. The latter also is vested as a Bishop, and holds in his left a flaming heart (emblem of his passionate devotion). Below is the memorable scene from the life of St. Ambrose, when the Emperor Theodorus did penance for the crime for which the Bishop had once repelled him from the sanctuary.

The Rev. R. C. Joynt, vicar of Darnall, Sheffield, who is stated to have been recently offered a bishopric in Africa, announced to his congregation on Sunday night that he had decided to decline the offer. On the other hand, the Church Missionary Intelligencer says:—"In consequence of some recent newspaper paragraphs, it is necessary to explain that the society never 'offers a bishopric' to any one. When the society desires an appointment to be made to one of the bishoprics it maintains, it submits one or more names to the Archbishop of Canterbury for his approval. But as most of these posts are very unattractive, owing to unhealthy climate or other difficulties, it is usual to sound the man who is to be nominated, privately, beforehand, as to his willingness to allow his name to be submitted to the Archbishop. If, however, the name gets whispered about before it has been mentioned to the Archbishop, and before he has made the definite order, much awkwardness arises. In a recent case, which has been mentioned in the papers, the negotiations had not even got so far as this. The clergyman had been sounded, not as to a particular bishopric, but as to various posts of importance which the society desires to see filled; and although some correspondence had ensued, nothing definite had been arranged. We must again caution our readers against supposing that newspaper paragraphs about the society are necessarily correct. Sometimes they are: more often they are not; and sometimes they are without foundation at all."

THE RESTORATION OF CROWLAND ABBEY.

There is a prospect, says the Yorkshire Daily Post, of the work of restoring the historical Abbey of Crowland, Lincolnshire, which has been going on for some time, coming to a standstill in consequence of exhausted funds. Six out of the ten sections into which the work was originally divided have been finished, but £1500 more is required to complete the others. The Rector of the parish (the Rev. T. H. Le Boeuf), in issuing a further appeal for help, states that up to the present he has personally written 8300 letters in soliciting and acknowledging subscriptions towards the fund, amounting to £1573 12s. 5d. It is feared that if steps are not taken immediately the unrestored portions of this ancient landmark, which are in a very unsafe condition, may collapse altogether. Already the foundations of the tower have been secured, making safe the perpendiculars to the height of 38ft., but it is necessary to bond the horizontals and secure the squinch arches which support the steeple.

WHITWELL CHURCH, NEAR YORK.

A little above Kirkham Abbey stands this beautiful church, which has been further enriched by a clock striking the hours, given by Mrs. Egerton, of Whitwell Hall. The clock was made and erected by W. Potts and Sons, of Leeds.

THE UNEMPLOYED IN EAST LONDON.—At a time when much thought is being given to this matter, a practical suggestion may be of service. Last year more than £300,000 worth of foreign matches were purchased by inconsiderate consumers in this country, to the great injury of our own working people, so true is it that "evil is wrought by want of thought, as well as want of heart." If all consumers would purchase Bryant and May's matches, that firm would be enabled to pay £1000 a week more in wages.

HANDBELLS FOR SALE.—A splendid set of 20 bells in F, 19 size; equal to new; with an elaborate massive stand for tune-playing, with four beaters. Cost £10. To be sold for £6. Apply H.W.H., office of this paper. A rare opportunity.

PROPOSED MEMORIAL TO THE LATE W. COPPAGE.

It has been decided to place, in the Tower of St. John, Waterloo Road, London, a Marble Tablet, to the memory of the late William Coppage, for many years steeplekeeper at this Church. Gentlemen who desire to assist in this movement will be kind enough to send their subscriptions to the Secretary of the Waterloo Society, Mr. G. W. WILD, 8, Francis Street, Waterloo Road. All will be acknowledged in this paper.

THE CUMBERLAND COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The third annual meeting of the members of the above society took place on Saturday, August 29th, at Keswick, and amongst the ringers present were representatives from Carlisle, Penrith, Crosthwaite, Cockermouth, and Workington. The Rev. Jones Bateman, Penrith; Rev. T. Hackworth, Workington; Rev. A. J. Heelis, Crosthwaite; and Mr. T. Jackson, Workington, represented the vice-presidents and honorary members. In the afternoon Divine Service was performed at Crosthwaite church, the Rev. A. J. Heelis reading the prayers, and the Vicar, the Rev. H. D. Rawnsley, preaching the sermon, taking as his text Zechariah xiv. 20—"In that day shall there be upon the horses, holiness unto the Lord." He said:—

"The office of calling the people to prayer in the House of God was an important one, and it was well that upon occasions like the present Christian ringers should come together to encourage and improve themselves in the pursuit of an art which was not only attractive in itself, but of use in connection with the service of God. They were assembled in the old parish church of St. Kentigern, and would have noticed on the banner that it bore a bell, so that it was probable that Christian worshippers had been called to prayer by its means on that spot from the fifth or sixth century. Thus the ringing of the church bell rippled afar down the ages and linked the present with the past. Ringers ought to be true Christian men, taking a lead in Christian life, and making their influence for good felt in connection with their office in the House of God. Of late years there had been a remarkable revival in the belfries of the land, and the people of Cumberland ought to be thankful that the Association had been able to extend the influence of that revival in this district. In a set of belfry rules, dated 1826, he noticed that most of the regulations referred to drinking ale; and he had heard from an old resident in Crosthwaite parish that in the old days a good deal of the ringers' time was spent in bringing ale from a public-house near the church. Such practices had now disappeared, as the belfry had become to be more recognised as a part of the House of God, and the present type of Church ringer was a decided improvement upon the old. The legend inscribed upon the 5th bell in the Crosthwaite tower was "Peace and good neighbourhood," and this gave a key-note to the object and work of the Cumberland Change-Ringers' Association, which was to improve ringing and promote good neighbourhood amongst the members of the different belfries. They as bellringers should prize their office, and by their example and conduct do something towards the praise of the God of all good."

After the service an adjournment was made to the parish room, where an ample tea was provided for the visitors, about fifty sitting down. After tea, the Rev. H. D. Rawnsley, president, occupied the chair. Mr. L. N. Jennings, hon. secretary, read the annual report, which showed that the year was marked by a great improvement in every respect. Great progress had been recorded, and the third year of the Association's existence had been the most successful. At the opening of the year all the belfries in the county were associated, but recently the Brampton ringers had withdrawn, giving as a reason that they could not keep their ringers together. The membership was increased from a total of 86 last year to 99 this year—including ringing and honorary members. The accounts showed a balance of £9 6s. to the good. Progress had been made in belfry reform and improvements; change-ringing had been taken up with great enthusiasm; and many of the members of the Association were doing their best to master its intricacies. The system of belfry visitation had done much to promote the art and increase good fellowship, and it was clear change-ringing was a good thing for promoting friendly feelings amongst the members. Mr. Frank Hyde had acted as secretary for the Workington district, and Mr. Wise for the Keswick district, and in their hands the districts, particularly that of Workington, had progressed in a very satisfactory manner.

The report and balance-sheet were adopted, and on the motion of the Chairman, seconded by the Rev. T. Hackworth, it was agreed that a letter be forwarded to the Brampton tower, asking the ringers to reconsider their decision to withdraw, as the association did not desire to see the scheme marred of including the whole of the towers of Cumberland in the Association.

The Chairman thanked Mr. Jennings for producing such a good report, which was very gratifying to them. He regretted that Mr. Jennings expected to leave Cumberland shortly, and that would cause his resignation as secretary.

A hearty vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Jennings for the labour bestowed upon the Association, and for his encouraging example.

Mr. Jennings briefly replied, saying that the work was made easy by the courtesy and sympathy of all with whom he had been brought into contact by the business of the Association. He regretted that it would be necessary to resign.

The following new members were then elected: Ringing members—H. Turnbull, W. H. Campbell, J. Campbell, J. Swindle, R. Stanley, Keswick; and John Wilson, Carlisle. Honorary members—Mr. G. T. Archibald, Workington; Mr. John Worton, Mr. Jos. Edgar, Carlisle. The Lord Bishop of Carlisle was re-elected patron; the Rev. H. D. Rawnsley, Crosthwaite, was re-appointed president; and the following were elected as vice-presidents: Rev. J. S. Falle, Brampton; Rev. W. F. Gillbanks, Great Orton; Rev. T. Hackworth, Workington; Rev. A. J. Heelis, Crosthwaite; Rev. A. Hodges, Carlisle; Rev. T. P. Monnington, Penrith; Rev. J. S. Ostle, Skelton; Rev. W. Parker, Cockermouth; Rev. H. Whitehead, Lanercost; and Rev. K. M. Pughe, Irton. Mr. G. Stuart, Workington, was elected hon. secretary; Mr. Thomas Jackson, Workington, hon. treasurer; and Messrs. James Dalton and James Panter, Keswick; B. Dobson and T. Smith, Penrith; Frank Hyde and R. S. Fox, Workington, were elected as committeemen, the other representatives on the committee to be appointed at the different belfries.

The Rev. T. Hackworth suggested that certificates of membership should be procured, and also that the meeting should consider whether a cup or other trophy should not be obtained for competition by the members of the Association. He hoped that the next annual meeting would be held at Workington, and that by that time Workington would have got a ring of eight bells.

The Chairman said that he joined in the wish that Workington would not only get its eight bells by next year, but that the ringers would also ring to celebrate the whole of the furnaces in blast in Workington.

Some discussion took place as to the certificates and instruction in change-ringing, which were agreed to, but it was decided not to introduce a cup competition, being looked upon as a direct importation of the sporting element.

The Chairman remarked, amid laughter, that if they introduced a cup competition on the belfries, they might look for a cup to be competed for by the best preachers.

A vote of thanks to the ladies who had made tea, and to the ringers of Crosthwaite church for their hospitality, and a similar compliment to the chairman, concluded the agreeable proceedings.

Afterwards the ringers adjourned to the bell-chamber, where a number of touches were rung by mixed bands, Mr. J. Lancaster, a veteran ringer of 74 years, ringing the treble, and conducting one of the touches. The belfry and bells of Crosthwaite church were much admired.

The Rev. T. Teignmouth Shore was on Friday afternoon week instituted to the canonry of Worcester Cathedral, in succession to the Bishop of Peterborough. The ceremony of institution was performed by the Bishop of Worcester in the Chapter-house, and afterwards at evensong in the cathedral the new Canon was installed by the Dean. All the other Canons were present.

NORTON FITZWARREN, SOMERSET.

On Wednesday evening, September 2nd, at the parish church, a pretty wedding took place at 12 o'clock, the contracting parties being Mr. H. J. Creed, of Norton Fitzwarren, and Miss Bennett, eldest daughter of Mr. Charles Bennett, of Shuttern, Taunton. After the ceremony the bells rang out a merry peal, consisting of Grandsire Minor and Doubles, by the local band, the bridegroom himself taking part in a 108 of Minor. In the evening the members of the St. James's Guild, Taunton, made their appearance, and rang 720 Grandsire Minor, in 26½ mins. S. Radford, 1; T. W. Radford, 2; R. Crossman, 3; J. Burge, 4; J. Cridland, 5; J. Maddock (conductor), 6. Tenor 13 cwt. The company then proceeded to the house of the bridegroom, where the health of the bride and bridegroom was drank, and the rest of the evening was spent in singing, etc. The company, after thanking the host for his kindness, and wishing all good night, retraced their steps homewards, reaching Taunton about 12 p.m., all pleased with their evening's outing.

THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

LIVERPOOL DIOCESAN BRANCH.—The usual ringing meeting of this branch was held at the parish church, Garston, on Saturday, September 5th. Ringers attended from Liverpool, Halewood, Grassendale and Southport, besides the local company. In the unavoidable absence of the Vicar (Dr. Oliver) the Rev. J. Shaw, M.A. (curate) presided. After the minutes of the last meeting were read and passed, the rev. chairman addressed those present, giving a very interesting account of bells and their uses, and in the name of the Vicar gave all a very hearty welcome at all times to Garston. He also spoke in the highest terms of their excellent steeplekeeper, Mr. Gough. It was proposed and carried that the next meeting be held at West Derby (6-bell tower) on the first Saturday in November. Votes of thanks were accorded the Vicar for the use of the bells and Institute; the rev. chairman for presiding; and Mr. Gough for having everything ready. Touches of Treble Bob, Plain Bob and Grandsire Triples were rang during the evening.

ROSSENDALE BRANCH.—The first monthly meeting of this branch for the ensuing year was held at Ramsbottom on Saturday, September 5th. Members were present from Newchurch, Ramsbottom, Helmsore and Rawtenstall. The Vicar, the Rev. W. H. Corbould, kindly provided tea (free), after which a meeting was held, presided over by the Vicar, supported by the Rev. C. Higson and Mr. H. H. Nutter. The chairman, in his opening remarks, referred to the loss he and the Association had sustained in the death of the late J. Tattersall, and trusted they would turn out as trustworthy as him. He also gave them a hearty welcome to his tower, and was only sorry a greater number was not present. Mr. J. Rollerson, 13, Railway Terrace, Rawtenstall, was elected branch secretary in place of Mr. J. Shepherd, resigned. Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar for presiding and providing tea; to the Wardens for the use of the bells; and to Mr. Shepherd for his services during the past year.

THE NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

DISTRICT MEETING AT PEASENHALL.—The sixth quarterly meeting of the Saxmundham district was held at Peasehall on Saturday, September 5th, when twenty-four members attended from Aldeburgh, Leiston, Kelsale, Sweffling, Rendham, Sibton, and Peasehall. The bells of Yoxford, Sibton, and Peasehall were most kindly placed at the disposal of the members, upon which various touches were rung during the afternoon and evening in the Grandsire, Plain Bob and Treble Bob methods. The business meeting was held at 6.30, presided over by Mr. John Mills, when three performing members were enrolled. The Hon. Sec. read the minutes of the last meeting, which included the annual report, and which were confirmed. It was decided to hold the next meeting at Kelsale on December 5th. A cordial vote of thanks was passed to the Rev. H. Parr for the use of the Yoxford bells; to the Rev. W. Bromley for the use of the Sibton bells; and to the Rev. A. S. Thompson for the use of the Peasehall bells, and which brought to a close a successful and enjoyable meeting.

WHITWICK, LEICESTERSHIRE.

On Sunday, September 7th, the All Saints' (Loughborough) company visited Whitwick parish church, by special invitation of the Vicar and churchwardens, to ring for Divine Service. The four new bells to complete the octave were dedicated by the Lord Bishop of Peterborough on Wednesday, the 2nd instant, when the opening touch was rung by the Ashby-de-la-Zouch band.

Leaving Loughborough at 7.15 a.m., a very pleasant drive past the ruins of the old Abbey of Grace Dieu brought the members of the All Saints' company to Whitwick, where they arrived at 8.30. After partaking of a thorough good breakfast, the bells were raised in peal, and were soon tapping away in good style to the tune of Stedman Triples, and a quarter-peal was brought round a few minutes before service. After service, three courses each of Double Norwich and Plain Bob were rung, in which Messrs. Aldham and Swinfield of Barwell took part. Adjournment was then made for dinner, the courses of which were thoroughly appreciated, and at the conclusion thanks were tendered to the Vicar and Churchwardens for their hospitality and kindness.

A short touch of Stedman Triples was rung for the afternoon children's service, at the completion of which a start was made for Heywood's variation of Thurstan's well-known peal. There being barely time to complete this before the hour for commencing evening service, the bells were rattled along at a great pace for the first half, the striking being all that could be desired. It being then found that all being well rounds should turn up before 6.30, the speed was slackened, and the welcome sound of "that's all" was heard at 6.25, thus leaving time to fall the bells. With the exception of a little hesitation in the "slow" of the 19th part, which upset the striking for about a course, the first peal on the bells was completed in a manner which will take some beating. Particulars of the peal, etc., will be found in its usual place. A good tea being then in readiness the ringers sat down with Mr. Burton, who has officiated as churchwarden for the past twenty-eight years, the ringers thoroughly appreciating his great kindness in seeing that all were amply provided. Being Sunday no speeches were made, but it being mentioned that it was the Vicar's birthday the ringers all wished him many happy returns of the day, expressing great pleasure that they had accomplished a peal on such a memorable occasion. At 8.30 p.m. a start was made for Loughborough, the ringers all wishing Mr. Burton "good night," and hoping it would not be long before they paid another visit to Whitwick.

THE ST. MARY'S SOCIETY, MONMOUTH.

ON Saturday, August 22nd, this company met to welcome Mr. E. Moses, of Reigate, Surrey, who some sixteen or twenty years ago tried to start a change-ringing band in the same tower with the old company, one of which was there to ring a 720 of Bob Minor with him. It was intended to start for a peal at three o'clock, but the train being late, and one of the local band being at Swansea, and one working at Newport, they were short-handed for Triples, so for Divine Service they rang a 720 of Bob Minor. W. Jones, 1; J. Ward, 2; W. Walters, 4. T. M. Preece, 4; E. Moses (conductor), 5; H. Jones, 6; H. Brown, 8. And on Sunday morning, August 23rd, for Divine Service, a 360 in the same method, conducted by T. H. Jones, the ringers standing as before.

On Thursday, August 27th, some of the above company visited their old friends at Swansea, where they found a Guild with a total membership of thirty-six, some of whom twelve months before to the day, they piloted through their first six-scores, but now they want no coaching in Doubles, and very little in Triples or Bob Minor, touches of which were rang during the day.

A visit was again paid to the neighbouring church, in which a set of Messrs. Harrington's tubular bells are fixed, on purpose to hear the same, and very soon the tubulars were going to some well-known church tunes at the hands of Mr. T. H. Jones.

FOR SALE.—Splendid peal of 58 Musical Handbells, by Shaw, of Bradford, recently new, ranged chromatically from G 25 to A 3, with seven duplicate bells; also 10 books of music, table cover, box, and all requisites for a band. Price complete, £14 nett. Cost above double. Apply—T. Heath, Secretary, Hallamshire Handbell Ringers, 7, Warburton Square, Matilda Street, Sheffield.

Ringers' Outings.

THE ST. JAMES'S SOCIETY, HULL.—On Saturday, August 29th, the members of this Society had their annual outing, the place chosen being Campsall. A start was made at 1.15 by the Hull and Barnsley Railway, the company alighting at Kirk Smeaton at 2.40, and Campsall forty minutes later, after a very pleasant walk, during which they were augmented by three friends from Pontefract, who were journeying to Campsall to meet them. While partaking of a little refreshment, arrangements were made for some of the party to pay a visit to the grounds of J. B. Frank, Esq., J.P., and the others to start for a peal of Grandsire Triples, which unfortunately came to grief owing to two bells changing course after ringing 55 mins., the company standing thus: G. T. Miller (Hull), 1; J. W. Stickney (Hull, conductor), 2; W. Burkinshaw (Hull), 3; A. Pearson (Campsall), 4; J. Carter (Pontefract), 5; G. Goodman (Campsall), 6; H. Campey (Beverley), 7; W. Marshall (Hull), 8. Afterwards a course of Kent Treble Bob Major was rung. A visit was then paid to the grounds of J. B. Frank by all the company, which was thoroughly enjoyed. A move was next made to the "Old Bells" inn, where the wants of the inner man were attended to, and two or three courses rung upon the handbells. After thanking the company for meeting them and making the necessary arrangements, a return was made to Kirk Smeaton, which was reached in due course, and after half an hour's extra waiting for the train the company embarked for Hull, which was reached about two minutes to eleven, everyone satisfied with his first visit to Campsall. J. W. S.

THE WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.—Five members of the Romsey Abbey branch of this Guild, taking advantage of an excursion to the Railway Temperance Fete at Oakley, on Thursday, September 3rd, paid a visit to Basingstoke, for the express purpose of having a practice with some of the local band. They were met at the station by Mr. H. White, and conducted to his house, where he had generously provided tea for them. Tea over, a move was made to the church, and a 6-score of Bob Doubles rang by way of a feeler. Next a plain course of Bob Minor was essayed, but to the great surprise of both ringers and conductor the bells were not brought home until a well-struck 360 had been rung. The next attempt was a 420 of Minor, and this was also brought round in good style. Next a plain course of Bob Triples was attempted, and like the Minor before "that's all" was not called until a 252 had been rung. Time being nearly up for ringing in the tower another 252 of Bob Triples was rung, and then the bells were lowered. A move was then made to Mr. White's house, and the handbells taken in hand and a well-struck 504 of Bob Triples was soon an accomplished fact. A hasty parting glass with their friends and a move was made to the station, and Romsey reached in the small hours of the morning, viz., 1 o'clock. The Abbey ringers were highly pleased with such a successful practice, it being the first touches of both Minor and Triples on tower bells, and they wish to heartily thank Mr. White and his ringers for their kind help, and also the Vicar for the use of the bells. They were loud in their praises of the neat and cosy appearance of the belfry. The Rev. Danbury, formerly curate at Romsey, and now at Basingstoke, paid a visit to the belfry during the ringing.

DALTON-IN-FURNESS, LANCASHIRE.—On Wednesday, September 2nd, the members of the parish church society had their annual outing, the places chosen being Heversham and Beetham. Leaving Dalton shortly after seven o'clock Heversham was reached about nine. A 720 of Plain Bob Minor (sixteen bobs and two singles), in 28 mins. T. P. Jackson, 1; T. Watson (conductor), 2; T. Stuart, 3; M. Caddy, 4; T. R. Jackson, 5; J. Burrows, 6. Also two 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles. T. P. Jackson, 1; A. E. Sheppard, 2; T. Watson (conductor), 3; M. Caddy, 4; T. Stuart, 5; J. Gibson, 6. Also 720 Plain Bob Minor (sixteen bobs and two singles), in 25 mins. A. E. Sheppard, 1; T. P. Jackson, 2; T. Watson, 3; M. Caddy, 4; T. Stuart, 5; J. Burrows (conductor), 6. They then made their way to Milnthorpe, where dinner was partaken of. After full justice had been done they made their way to Beetham, and rung 480

Plain Bob Minor. T. Watson, 1; T. Townson, 2; J. Spencer, 3; M. Caddy, 4; T. R. Jackson (conductor), 5; J. Burrows, 6. Also four 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles. A. E. Sheppard, 1; T. Townson, 2; J. Spencer, 3; T. Stuart, 4; T. R. Jackson (conductor), 5; J. Gibson, 6. They then made their way to Arnside, where they booked for Dalton, which was reached about 7.30 p.m., every one being well pleased with their outing. The company wish to return thanks to the Vicar and churchwardens of the above-named churches for their kindness in allowing them the use of the bells.

THE HOLY TRINITY SOCIETY, HOGHTON, LANCASHIRE.—The ringers of this church had their second picnic this season on Saturday, September 5th. Having obtained the use of the bells at St. Cuthbert's, Lytham, they arrived there about half-past three and rang short touches of Grandsire Triples. Afterwards they sat down to a good tea at the "Market" hotel. This part of the proceedings having been satisfactory accomplished a move was made for St. Anne's-on-the-Sea, and rang two touches there, returning home by the 8.27 train, having had a very pleasant outing. They beg to give their best thanks to the Vicars of Lytham and St. Anne's.

THE TANFIELD SOCIETY, DURHAM.—On Saturday, September 5th, the members of this Society had their annual outing, the places selected being North Shields, Whitley and Jarrow. They arrived at Shields at 2.45, and were lucky in falling in with the steeplekeeper, J. Hern. They were also joined by W. Henderson and F. Harrison, of Jarrow, and T. T. Gofton and R. S. Story, of Whitley. The bells were soon going in Bob Triples, of which a 504 was brought round. F. Lowe, 1; H. Tyson, 2; T. Brewis, 3; R. S. Story, 4; T. T. Gofton, 5; F. Harrison (conductor), 6; J. Hern, 7; W. Brewis, 8. Call changes were then tried on the ten bells, after which a 360 of Oxford Bob was rung. They had then to make a move to the station, where they caught a train to Whitley, and at the invitation of the President (R. S. Story, Esq.) had tea at his house, after which a move was made to the church, when a 720 of Oxford Treble Bob was rung by W. Henderson, 1; R. Gofton, 2; R. S. Story, 3; W. Barks, 4; T. T. Gofton, 5; F. Harrison (conductor), 6. Also 720 Bob Minor. F. Lowe, 1; R. S. Story, 2; T. Brewis, 3; J. Hern (conductor), 4; W. Barber, 5; T. Thompson, 6. A move was then made back to the President's house, where refreshments were brought out, and shortly after the party had to make a move to Jarrow, where they stayed all night. Sunday morning found them at Christ Church, when a 600 of Bob Minor was rung. G. Murgison, 1; H. Tyson, 2; R. Oliver, 3; T. Brewis, 4; W. Brewis, 5; F. Harrison (conductor), 6. They then hurried down to St. Peter's, and rang 360, E. Carr and F. Lowe taking G. Murgison and F. Harrison's place. They had a strong invitation to ring at night, but the train left too early for them to accept it. They arrived home about 9 o'clock well pleased with their outing. They wish, through the medium of this paper, to thank all who looked after them, especially Mr. Story; and also to the respected Vicars for the use of their bells.

ST. MARY'S, WHITECHAPEL, LONDON.—On Saturday, September 5th, the ringers of this society had their sixth annual outing to Romford and Hornchurch, Essex. On arriving at Romford parish church, ringing was indulged in, including touches of Grandsire Triples, after which a move was made to the Globe Coffee Tavern, where a good dinner was provided, Mr. Joyce presiding. Ample justice having been done, a start was made for Hornchurch parish church, where some more ringing was done on the bells of the above church, including some Grandsire Doubles, tenor 20 cwt. A few songs brought the day's outing to a pleasant close. The ringers wish to thank the rector, churchwardens, and those gentlemen who so kindly contributed towards their days' outing.

An old woman, named Margaret M. Gunnall, died last week in Eastry (Kent) Workhouse, at the advanced age of 102 years, having been born in 1789. She was a native of Ross, in Scotland, and was the wife of an old coastguardsman.

Mr. R. Hill, of Southport, writes:—
"The peal rung at Southport on August 25th, ought to have been published as a Lancashire Association peal, as all who rang in it are members of the Association."

NOTES BY THE WAY.

Take things as they come;
Ne'er complain.

A kindly old friend is anxious to learn my state of health and whereabouts. Well, both these have, like the weather, been very miscellaneous during the past few weeks. As to the first, while I could dilate on the hours of excruciating pain which I have suffered, my Æsculapius will be best able to explain the various stages of constitutional disorders he has been fighting against in my unfortunate system. But he appears to have at length got on the right side for both of us—himself especially—and I hope soon to have a respite from the only too familiar “two tablespoonsful every three hours,” etc. Regarding the latter; I have been driven through rural lanes, and charming pastoral scenery. I have rested by the “sad sea waves,” and sailed upon them both when they have been almost “as still as a sleeping babe,” and when they have lashed furiously against the sides of the little vessel as if bent upon swallowing us up or crushing the boat in their terrific watery embrace. While away from home, my state of health, unfortunately, militated against ringing expeditions—much against my inclinations, as you may be sure; and thus I was debarred the pleasure of the company of brother-strings, “good, bad, or indifferent.” I did have just one Sunday morning pull with a band of real good-hearted fellows, who greeted me—although a perfect stranger—with quite a boisterous welcome when they found I could take my place with them in the circle. Their belfry was neat and clean, while the tablets and framed photographs which adorned the walls added additional evidence to the pride which the occupants of the place manifested in their work and surroundings. After the service touch had been completed and the bells brought down, we descended, and emerged into the fresh air of a most lovely morning. Here I instinctively paused for the next move—was it to be in the direction of the church porch, or what? I was not left long in doubt, for one after another they filed round the tower—and I followed. On the north side of the old church, and quite under the shadow of the tower was a large square space on which grass had grown plentifully, and skirting which were four or five “table gravestones.” Before I had fairly taken in the scene some had seated themselves on the gravestones, and others stretched themselves on the grass in the centre. About half-a-dozen copies of “THE BELL NEWS” then made their appearance, and soon the contents were being discussed in an animated sort of way, which, I confess, so interested me that not only did I miss the service but very nearly also the conveyance which was to take me back home. That mode of spending Sunday forenoon, I gathered during the conversation, was the usual one with them when weather was favourable; and I thought to myself, after I had hurriedly bade them adieu, here is yet another cause of ringers' absence from Church Services. Mr. Editor, your work and influence broadens to an almost unlimited extent; its ramifications are untold; and thus you have much to answer for, that even you know not of!

Every week-end, however, I have looked for my “BELL NEWS,” which seemed more and more to keep me in touch with the ringing world. I read with interest the numerous accounts of outings enjoyed by friends in various parts. I watched the rising of what I fancied was going to be a right good debate on the interminable Yorkshire prize-ringing question, but was once more disappointed, by reason of the narrowness of the advocates' line of argument, through which it once more collapsed into a sort of quid pro quo disputation, beyond which the champions of prize-rings somehow never seem to have the ability (or courage) to rise. And thus with many other of its contents. In my enforced temporary retirement I seemed to feel as if “THE BELL NEWS” was the one connecting link which kept me together with the Exercise, and valued it accordingly.

Since I last wrote, another version of the “old, old story” has been narrated to me, and I hope I am abusing no confidence in here retailing it. In the parish church tower of a certain large and prosperous town (which shall be nameless) there is a handy ring of bells and a band of ringers who fully recognise their duties and responsibilities as Church officers, and act accordingly. But “’twas not ever thus.” Till a short time ago the belfry was in possession of a class of men only too common amongst us before the advent of our county associations. The equivocal relationship between belfry and taproom here was in intimate existence. Between them and the parson there rose no friction, because they never troubled each other with acquaintanceship. Did a young recruit shew himself, his first duty was to pay his “footing,” which meant some ten or a dozen pints of ale. Then as he progressed, at every stage came a repetition of the aforesaid bibulous footing, these repetitions counting about a score or so—that is to say, if the novice had not been financially or otherwise tired out before that time. This was good business for the publican, at any rate; but after a time a righteously-rebellious spirit manifested itself amongst the younger ones, who refused to be thus systematically “fleeced” any longer, and who desired to have belfry matters conducted in at least a sober and sensible manner. For a long period the conflict waged, but in this case, as it is proverbially wont to do, it might be said that “time fights for the just,” and so eventually things began to take a turn. A meeting of Vicar and ringers brought affairs to a climax, and now those who so resolutely struggled for decency and order, are reaping their reward in a well-appointed belfry, tenanted by men who know and value their true position in the Church. All praise is due to them, I say; and my regret is that I cannot just now personally give them my warmest good wishes for their success in the future. I hope to see their names often in the pages of “THE BELL NEWS” in connection with some performance which will tell of their progress, and to learn from time to time that the new state of things which they have inaugurated is constantly redounding to their credit.

It is a considerable time since I had the pleasure of complimenting young ringers on extraordinary achievements. This week I am happy to notice that two have been making their debut as peal ringers at a very early age. John Kentish, of Hatfield, at thirteen years, and Arthur Coghlan, of Fareham, each piloted the treble through a peal of Grandsire Triples. Well done, my boys! But don't stop there. You have, I trust, a long life before you; let that life be marked by continual progress in every good thing you take in hand, not forgetting your work as ringers.

By the way, I know of a place where two or three Grandsire ringers would be welcomed. If there are any such out of work, who “have a trade in their fingers,” I have no doubt a job would be found for them, as the town is large, and the trades in it numerous. If there is any one desirous of making application, let me recommend him to write stating his case to the Editor, who I believe will kindly act as intermediary in the first instance.

To the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS AND RINGERS' RECORD."

INFORMATION WANTED—AND GIVEN.

SIR,—The Annual Festival of the Hereford Diocesan Guild is to be held at Ludlow on Thursday, October 15th. In making the fixture, I have been guided by no one, save the Master of the Guild and one or two members of the Committee, simply because no one seems to take enough interest to address me as much as a line on the subject, and with no suggestions I have endeavoured to act as far as possible from precedent in the matter. In selecting a date, it certainly was not contemplated that any "member of the Hereford Diocesan Guild" was afraid of being out in the dark; it will be a consolation to your correspondent to know that there will be a full moon on October 17th, so that the night of the 15th will not be very, very, obscure. I only hope that the day will be from rain, or our member may get his feet wet, which would be too dreadful. In conclusion if our member had written for information direct to me, which one would have thought the most practical method, I should only have been too happy to have answered his letter, in fact if he is a keen member and will communicate with me, I can still find him a job to do for the Guild, viz., to take a circuit round his district and collect subscriptions, and at the same time remind some of the 500 clergy and others (of whom he will no doubt be able to find several) to whom I have written this year on Guild matters, that I am still waiting for their replies.

JOHN G. BUCHANAN, Hon. Sec. H.D.G.

INFORMATION WANTED.

SIR,—Could any of your readers tell me what has become of the Salop Archidiaconal Association; it is over three years since it had a meeting, the last being at Shrewsbury in July 1888? I have been asked by several of its members if we are going to have another meeting.

JAMES E. GROVES.

CORRECTIONS.

SIR,—I wish to call your attention to an error which appeared in your issue of the week before last, where, as you have printed the communication which was forwarded to you, it appears that the 720 of Grandsire Minor mentioned was rung at Milverton, whereas it was rung at St. James', Taunton, to which the ringers belong.

R. CROSSMAN.

SIR,—Seeing in your last issue a record of a peal rung at Northampton in the year 1852 stating that it was the second peal of any method rung in the county, Kettering ringers have the credit for ringing peals earlier than the date named above. The first rung at Kettering was in the year 1729, the next in 1731 in 2 hrs. 48 mins., another in the year 1759, and the last in the year 1840 by the famous band mentioned the other week; 5040 changes each.

G. L.

SIR,—I notice in your report of the first peal of Bob Major on the bells of St. Peter's-in-the-East, Oxford, that a foot-note is appended stating that it was the first peal of Bob Major by all except the tenor-man. I beg to inform you that I have rang several peals in the method whilst a member of the Tottenham society.

ALFRED FOX.

LUDLOW, SHROPSHIRE.

SIR,—It was with interest that I read the account of the reopening of the bells of St. Lawrence's church, Ludlow, in your issue of August 22nd, in which it was said that a strong society of ringers had been formed, which promises to add to the ability and strength of the Diocesan Guild. Sir, this strong society of ringers I am informed, numbers between twenty and thirty members; these I suppose would strengthen the Guild if they all join, but they are making slow progress to add to the ability of the Guild. This strong company of ringers I am told, has got some very curious rules, the most curious is this—"That no person (whether ringers or not) be allowed in the belfry on a practice night unless he is a member of this company or by special permission from the vicar." This is the only rule that this company seem to recognise. Sir, any one paying a visit to St. Lawrence's church on a practice night will find the steeple-keeper at the bottom of the belfry steps on guard, with orders from the vicar to let no one go up only members of the company, unless he is armed with a note from the vicar. Perhaps that rev. gentleman will give an explanation of this state of things. Does he regard ringers as suspicious characters and forget that they are church workers? Now Sir, these ringers meet for practice once a week for one hour; after getting the bells up (most of them the wrong side and not troubling to turn the clappers), they start to show their ability in real earnest.

When all are ready the conductor takes his stand in the middle of the belfry with book in hand and proceeds to call out the changes some-like this: "the 7th to 5th, 6th to 7th, tenor to 6th." This is what they call the Grandsire method. After the conductor has called the bells into rounds again the treble man gives about five minutes warning, telling them to get the bells up, and when they ring at the rate of fifteen changes a minute he calls "stand." Sir, the sooner Mr. W. H. Fussell, the Guild's Instructor, pays a visit to Ludlow, the better, before they get too far into that interesting method, Churchyard Bob.

WITHDRAWAL OF MR. BULWER'S PEALS OF STEDMAN CATERS.

SIR,—I have received a letter from Mr. Heywood, by which it would seem that I have overlooked an important test in estimating the truth of the peals of Stedman Caters published last week, and have consequently fallen into a trap against which I thought myself carefully guarded. I have no time to go thoroughly into the points just now; but if I have tripped in the way indicated, it shows that I have not yet myself thoroughly grasped the conditions of safe composition on this plan, although I considered that the argument upon which I based the proof was sound in all its parts. If, as I suppose, the mischief proceeds from the employment of the combinations - o o -, or o - o, in the two halves of a course, it will add greatly to the difficulties of dealing with the plan; as, after many attempts, I found it impossible to obtain a shunt for the parts without the use of these combinations. As the truth of the peals is impugned, I have, of course, no alternative but to withdraw them for revision, and to offer a profound apology for having been too hasty in publishing them.

H. EARLE BULWER.

A NEW LUBRICANT.

SIR,—In 1890 our ring of bells were rehung, and of course it was expected that all would work well. We found however that still we had to work very hard; sometimes the "go" was pretty good, then the drag was very heavy. In fact when the Association held the meeting here on August Bank Holiday, 1890, Mr. Attree in his report spoke of them as requiring further attention from the hangers, and this was obtained, since which at times the same might be said until our leader got a little of Bell's Asbestoline, and now we have a 1-lb. tin, costing 2s. 3d., and the "go" is altogether different, and there is no waste or dropping, as from oil, or clogging as from lard and black lead or Russian tallow. The reason is every time the bell is pulled it catches on the gudgeon, and so is always greased. I hope you will publish the above, as I think it will be useful to the Exercise generally.

The Bell News & Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1891.

On Thursday last a body known as the "Welsh National Council" met in solemn conclave. At the time of going to press we are unacquainted with the result of the deliberations of such an august assembly, but our readers may be told that the scheme which this Council has in view is the disestablishment of the Church in Wales. Upon such an important matter we hold that it is not beyond our province to comment.

The object actually before those persons who comprise this council—the primary object, we ought perhaps to say—is an attack on the Church of England as by law established; for such a thing as the "Church of Wales" has practically no existence. The Church in Wales is an inherent part of the English Church, every one of its Bishops being subject to the Metropolitan See of Canterbury, and therefore it is easily seen that an attack upon that section of it affecting the principality is only an assault upon what may be termed the Church's outworks, to be followed, if successful, by a vigorous and determined onset along the whole line. Perhaps it may occur to the minds of many that it would look more fair and honest if the opponents of the Church were to declare at once their intentions, to define accurately their objects; but however painful it may be to say so, it is the fact that fairness, truth, and common honesty are usually absent when the Church is the subject of attack by her insidious foes.

The campaign levelled against the Church in Wales is only the introduction to one against the Church at large. If any of the opposing forces have the temerity to contradict this assertion, or deny it, then the demands of courtesy would prevent us from arguing the matter with them any further.

We are of opinion that the bulk of our readers are totally opposed to what is known as the Disestablishment of the Church. We believe also that the thousands of ringers throughout the kingdom present an almost solid phalanx against such a measure, from whatever quarter it may come. By such a body as Church Bellringers these attacks on the Church ought to be watched. If there is any who doubt the earnestness of the Church's opponents let them peruse the literature of the Liberation Society, and between the lines they will discover much that will alarm them; and much also, if they read carefully, that will make them uncompromising opponents of all enemies of the Church.

We allude to this subject from a non-political standpoint. Politics should have nothing to do with such a question. Church Bellringers of every political opinion have a great interest in the Church; and it behoves them, therefore, to repel, by every means in their power, all attacks which may be made upon it. There is a danger to be met by those concerned, and to be met in time. There must be no temporising with a common foe to ringers as well as all other Churchmen.

The nefarious suggestion that the churches with the churchyards shall be sold to the highest bidders at a public auction is not a joke by any means. The picture of a church being converted into a music hall or stables, and the ground adjacent thereto at the mercy of a jerry-builder, is one which cannot be looked upon with equanimity. The fact is, ringers must make this matter an important one, and when the time arrives not only strenuously decline to support any one who is a Liberationist, but throw every shred of influence they possess in opposition to him. And we would have them remember that, should the would-be despoilers gain the day, the sacred character of the institution will not be regarded in the least, much less customs which, at one time, all who gloried in being Englishmen were taught to revere.

PEAL OF BELLS AT CONNAH'S QUAY.—The High Sheriff of Flintshire, Mr. Charles Davison, of Fairfield Hall, Connah's Quay, has signalled his year of office by presenting a peal of eight bells to St. Mark's church, Connah's Quay. The bells are of a very sweet tone, and can be distinctly heard by residents on the Cheshire coast on the opposite side of the river Dee. The bells were on Wednesday, September 2nd, dedicated to the church by a special service.

THE UNEMPLOYED IN EAST LONDON.—At a time when much thought is being given to this matter, a practical suggestion may be of service. Last year more than £300,000 worth of foreign matches were purchased by inconsiderate consumers in this country, to the great injury of our own working people, so true is it that "evil is wrought by want of thought, as well as want of heart." If all consumers would purchase Bryant and May's matches, that firm would be enabled to pay £1000 a week more in wages.

HANDBELLS FOR SALE.—A splendid set of 20 bells in F, 19 size; equal to new; with an elaborate massive stand for tune-playing, with four beaters. Cost £10. To be sold for £6. Apply H.W.H., office of this paper. A rare opportunity.

THE CHURCH OF ST. MARY, SAFFRON WALDEN.

The present church occupies the site of one of much earlier date and probably smaller size, nor is it at all impossible that here, as in the case of many old parishes churches, heathen rites were performed in some rude temple long before Christianity was introduced into this corner of Britain. In the reign of Edward the Confessor, "Waledon" belonged to Ansgar, Master of the Horse to the king, and this is practically all that is known of it up to the time of the Conquest, when it was granted by William the Conqueror—with its castle, church, and other possessions to Geoffrey de Mandeville (Magna-ville), one of the bravest of his Norman followers, in acknowledgment of his services at the battle of Hastings. By his grandson, of the same name, it was given to the Priory which he founded at Audley End in 1136; Walden being one of about twenty churches (Great Waltham, Enfield, Sawbridgeworth, Edmonton, and others) with which this very wealthy foundation was endowed. About 1190 the Priory was converted into an Abbey of the Benedictine Order, and a vicarage was instituted at Walden by Reginald, the first Abbot.

On the festival of St. Mark, April 25th, 1258, Bishop Fulco, of London, assisted by Hugo de Balsham, Bishop of Norwich, consecrated a church at Walden, of which a few traces have been met with in digging graves. We may conclude that the foundations remain in the soil underneath the present building, nor can there be much doubt that the materials of the old church were made use of in the construction of the new, and are to be found chiefly at the west end, and in the lower part of the tower. Of the old church, however, its size, character, etc., scarcely anything is known for certain, and not a vestige worthy of mention remains. Nor is it possible to assign any actual date to the present church. Begun in the early years of Henry VI.—1425, or thereabouts (to which age may be assigned the tower and west end of the nave)—it was not finished till the reign of Henry VIII., more than a century later, whilst its crocketed spire—replacing one of little architectural merit, made of wood covered with lead—belongs to this century, having been erected after designs by Rickman and Hutchinson, as recently as 1831, at an outlay of £3,316. At the same time it was found necessary to rebuild a considerable portion of the tower, to support the weight of the new spire. It is pleasant to record the fact that the cost was defrayed by a church rate, unanimously voted. Nor was this all that took place at this time to show how deep an interest was taken by the parishioners in the work of building up and beautifying the house of the Lord. A suggestion having been made that the appearance of the spire would be greatly improved by the introduction of crockets, Mr. Rickman explained that he had omitted them from an unwillingness to make the estimate too costly. The inhabitants thereupon subscribed the necessary sum, and the crockets were added.

As every reader of this paper knows, this church possesses one of the best rings of eight bells in Essex, and also some of the most talented ringers and composers to be met with. The mention of the names of Nathan Pitstow and John Penning is sufficient proof of the latter statement.

The north chancel was built as a chantry or side chapel, about 1500, by the parishioners, greatly assisted by John Leche, vicar of Walden; and the completion of the east end and part of the south aisle (1535) is due to Lord Audley, whose tomb of black marble stands in the south chancel. By him the roof of the chancel (which in its style and finished workmanship is very inferior to the nave) was brought from Sudbury Church; and it is noticeable that the walls on which it is supported are not in line with those of the nave, inclining slightly northward.

After much ill usage—by storm and tempest, or by axe and hammer—very few remnants of the old stone carving survive. The numerous side chapels which once existed have wholly disappeared, and nothing remains to tell of their having been, beyond some mutilated niches for images of saints and apostles, and some enriched arcade work, apparently the canopies of sedilia, against three bays of the wall of the north aisle, with carving of clunch stone, representing David playing on the harp, St. John with the Cross, and the Agnus Dei. The quatrefoils in the spandrels over the arches throughout the church deserve careful study. Worked into them we find a number of subjects of antiquarian or historical interest. The Catherine wheel, of frequent occurrence, probably serves the twofold purpose of being in honour of the Saint and of ladies of that name, especially of Queen Catherine of Arragon. The pomegranate is also found side by side with it. The Portcullis and Rose are Tudor emblems. The Mullet, thrice repeated, is the cognisance of the Veres, and the badge of Bourchier appears on one of the bosses of the ceiling of the nave, and on a spandrel in the north aisle. On the spandrels on the north side of the south aisle, immediately opposite the south-west entrance, Saffron blooms are cleverly introduced, and higher up on the same side we come across the emblems of St. James—patron saint of Walden Abbey—the palmer's staff with wallet suspended and three cockle (escallop) shells on a shield.

The church, dedicated to St. Mary the Virgin, and described in documents of about 1500 as the Church of Our Lady, or of the Blessed Virgin at Walden, is a fine specimen of perpendicular (or rectilinear) architecture. Its ground plan is an oblong, the side aisles, which are carried eastward as far as the last bay but one of the chancel, being very nearly as wide as the nave.

There are seven pointed arches on either side of the nave, and over each arch two clerestory windows, the lower panels of which are closed. The lofty arcade of the nave and the extreme lightness of the church will strike every one on entering it, and it must be borne in mind that the architect, in tracing its lines, meant that all its windows should be filled with coloured glass. The dimensions are as follows:—length, including porch, 200 feet; breadth, 82 feet; height of tower, 85 feet; height of spire from the ground to the weathercock, 193 feet. (The former spire was fully 40 feet lower than the present one.) On account of the elevation on which it stands, the building, when seen from a distance, appears to be much loftier even than it is. On the north and south sides are porches; that on the north has at different times been closed, and used as a vestry. The south porch is of considerable size, and has a chamber above it which is claimed by the Corporation. There can be little doubt that this room, known in architecture as a "parvise," was originally occupied by the Sacristan or some officer of the Church. On November 9th in each year it is formerly visited by the Mayor and Corporation, and, until recently, the election of the Mayor for the ensuing year was held in it on St. Bartholomew's Day, August 24th. As the Corporation had its origin in a Guild of the Holy Trinity, which was a distinctly religious order, dissolved in the time of Edward VI., it is not unlikely that this ceremonial visit dates from the time when all the meetings of the Guild were held here.

During the centuries through which Walden Church has weathered the storms, the worship of God has been carried on, and the Name of Christ made known under widely different conditions, and with the greatest possible divergence of ritual. It has been ruthlessly plundered of much valuable plate, of most costly vestments, and of priceless stained glass. Within it, strange scenes have been witnessed—in earlier times a Miracle Play, and in later the quartering of Parliamentary soldiers and the wrangling of fanatics. It is cheering to think that in our days the services are ordered in a spirit equally removed from superstition on the one hand, and irreverence on the other; still, in each generation in turn, we may trust that here some souls at least have been trained for Heaven; and if, in dark and dreary days, it has seemed, to faint and sinking hearts, that the glory had for ever departed, yet the Lamp has never quite gone out. The old Church stands, and will stand for many a year, to bear its silent testimony that the Lord is in the midst of us, and to be a haven of rest to weary souls upon their journey Heavenward.

The Archbishop of York has conferred the vacant prebendal stall and canonry of Holme, in York Minster, upon the Rev. J. C. Atkinson, D.C.L., who for forty-four years has worked so hard in the isolated moorland parish of Danby, in Cleveland. In making the offer of this honorary appointment, the Archbishop says that it is in recognition, among other things, of his literary labours. Dr. Atkinson is well known, not only in the diocese, but over a much larger area, as the author of several valuable works on the history and glossary of Cleveland, and other parts of Yorkshire. His most recent and best known work, published only a few months ago, is entitled Forty Years in a Moorland Parish.

This peal contains the 4th, 5th, and 6th bells the extent in 5-6, without the 2nd ever being in 6ths place at a course-end.

By the use of inverse calling in the 9th course a 5184 peal is obtained, and a like result obtained by the use of inverse calling to the last course.

By the use of both inverse callings mentioned above, the peal is augmented to 5248 changes. Again—by using the alternate calling to the 6th course, the peal is reduced to 5088 changes; and, as this process will reduce all three of the other mentioned variations, the following lengths are had from this composition:

One peal of 5088 changes; One of 5120; Two of 5152; Two of 5184; One of 5216; One of 5248.

The peal as given in 5120 changes, was first rang at Christ Church, Southgate, Middlesex, on Saturday, September the 5th, 1891, by members of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths. Conducted by G. Newson.

P.S.—None of the other variations have yet been rang.

PROPOSED MEMORIAL TO THE LATE
W. COPPAGE.

It has been decided to place, in the Tower of St. John, Waterloo Road, London, a Marble Tablet, to the memory of the late William Coppage, for many years steeplekeeper at this Church. Gentlemen who desire to assist in this movement will be kind enough to send their subscriptions to the Secretary of the Waterloo Society, Mr. G. W. WILD, 8, Francis Street, Waterloo Road. All will be acknowledged in this paper.

THE CHURCH OF ST. MARY, CIRENCESTER.

Cirencester is placed at the crossing of two Roman roads, the "Foss Way" from Bath to Lincoln, and the Ermine Street from Gloucester, running south-east. It is a very quiet little town, and a very pretty one, and the church is an exceedingly fine building, its internal length being 157 ft. and its breadth 104 ft.

It is built almost entirely in the Perpendicular style of the fifteenth century, but parts remain which are considerably older, and it has been added to subsequently. Its size, fine workmanship, and beautiful proportions raise it to a much higher level of interest than attaches to most country town churches.

The most noticeable features are the tower, panelled and pinnacled, with its wonderful flying buttresses; and the curious porch, which is in itself a large building, and is used as a town hall. The tower is 150 ft. high to the top of the pinnacles. It is of singular beauty, both from its exquisite proportions, and the panelling with which its three storeys are covered.

This is one of the few churches that has a complete peal of twelve bells; the tenor being about 36 cwt. Round the battlements of the nave are two series of most interesting figures carved in stone, interesting as representing the social life and customs of those days. One series is a "Whitsun Ale," a feast which still survives, in a modified sense, up till now in many parts of the country. The chief figure is that of the king or lord of the feast holding a scroll on which is written "Be Merrie;" others are the queen, musicians, and a court fool. The other is probably one of the "Miracle Plays," popular in the Middle Ages, the forerunners of the regular drama.

Inside the church, perhaps the best view is obtained from the south-west, where one gets a good idea both of the height and breadth of the building. The clustered piers of the nave are carried to a great height, and immediately above are the clerestory windows, which have their lower half blind, suggesting a triforium. Over the chancel arch is the broad window that is so charming a feature in several of the larger churches in Oxfordshire and Gloucestershire.

Beyond the north aisle, which is itself about the height of the nave of most churches, with clerestory windows, is another aisle, divided from the church by a stone screen. It contains many monuments of the Bathurst family, and on the floor, at the east end, are several brasses. Those of Richard Dixon, Esq., 1438, and of Robert Pagge, wool merchant, and his wife, are very beautiful ones.

On the south side of the chancel is a chapel of earlier date, in the Early English style of the thirteenth century. On the north side there are two chapels; the one a narrow strip, continuing the aisle, and a further one. The roof of the former is of stone, a most beautiful example of fan tracery.

Although there are a good many monuments in the church, there are none that are especially remarkable. One exception, although it may seem a very small one, I venture to quote. The stone is, alas! lost, but happily the verse has survived. It was written by a rector in the last century:—

"Loe cruel death has hurried hence
A little world of innocence;
Thus early fruits are often found,
Like her, betimes dropt to the ground.
Mercy's not lost; here's only one
From misery to mercy gone."

The Rev. E. A. Fuller, who was assistant curate at Cirencester in 1865-7, has written an excellent descriptive handbook, in which he remarks: "The great restoration, under Sir Gilbert Scott's direction, was not commenced till 1865, but during the previous twenty years some beginnings had been made at the suggestion of the then Vicar, the Rev. W. F. Powell, and where necessary, under that architect's advice. The final work of restoration was begun in June, 1865, and continued till November, 1867, at a cost of over £14,000. The work was most carefully superintended, and Sir Gilbert Scott would not allow any portion of the fabric to be re-built except where it was absolutely necessary, while he was exceedingly anxious about preserving every piece of ancient work possible."

The parish registers commence in 1560, and are perfect from that date, with the exception of four years, from April, 1581, to May, 1585.

The organ, originally built by Green, in its present form was erected by Messrs. Gray and Davison, with many new stops, the case being designed by Sir Gilbert Scott. There was a stipend for an organ player in the fifteenth century, but this was confiscated in 1548, and on the rebuilding of the nave in the reign of Henry VIII., Henry Tapper bequeathed £4 "towards the buying of a new paier of organs," so called from the double bellows. In 1685 a new organ was purchased, and this was replaced by Green's organ in 1790.

The present Vicar is the Ven. Henry Rudge Hayward, who received the appointment in 1881, and became Archdeacon of Cirencester two years later.

ST. MARY, LYMM, CHESHIRE.

On Saturday afternoon last, the dedication of the new ring of eight bells and clock in the tower of Lymm parish church took place. Evensong to the end of the third collect having been sung the choir and clergy, singing as a processional hymn the Old Hundredth Psalm, marched to the tower, where the usual form of consecration service was sung, the Ven. Archdeacon Barber, Master of the Cheshire Diocesan Guild, taking the priest's part. At a certain point in the service a pause was made, and the Witton church ringers, who had been specially invited, rang the first peal. This being over, the rector, the Rev. G. W. Guest, led Miss Fox, the donor of the clock, to the tower, and placing in her hand a cord suspended from the clock chamber, he bid her pull it, thus setting the pendulum in motion. A processional hymn was then sung back to the chancel, and an address was given by Archdeacon Barber. The bells, the heaviest in the diocese, the cathedral excepted, were cast by Messrs. Taylor, of Loughborough, and are of magnificent tone; and the clock, which strikes the Westminster chimes, was made by Messrs. Potts and Sons, of Leeds, and is a splendid specimen of workmanship. Lymm can now boast of one of the finest church towers, ring of bells, and clocks in the kingdom.

On the following Sunday afternoon there was a gathering of about five hundred members of the various friendly societies of the parish, accompanied by the three local bands—the Church, the Nonconformist, and the Volunteer. Evensong was sung, the choirs of Lymm and Oughtlington uniting and forming a body of about sixty, and an address was given by the Rev. F. Wainwright, Vicar of St. John's, Altrincham. This is the second gathering of the kind, and is a decided improvement on the old custom of marching to church on a weekday and after service adjourning to the public-house for dinner. The sermons at matins and evensong on Sunday were preached by the Rev. N. Egerton Leigh, brother of the patron of the living.

The weight of the tenor of the ring is 29 cwt. 3 qr. 8 lb. in the key of D. These bells take the place of six hung in the old tower, which had to be entirely demolished. Four of the oldest of these bells have been incorporated in the new ring, three of the remaining four being special gifts, whilst the fourth—the magnificent tenor—forms a most appropriate memorial of the late Mr. and Mrs. Battersby, of Lymm Hall. The inscriptions on the four old bells have been very properly reproduced, whilst the other four bear inscriptions suitable to their origin. Each, however, in addition bears on the crown the opening words of a Canticle, so that the ring may be known as the Eight Canticles. The clock has been constructed to the specification prepared by Lord Grimthorpe, and bears the following inscription: "To the glory of God, this clock was given to the parish church, Lymm, by Laura Caroline Fox, A.D. 1891. Pereunt et imputantur."

On Tuesday week an interesting ceremony took place at Dartington. A considerable sum of money had been collected from parishioners, friends, and relations, for a memorial to the late rector, the Rev. Richard Champernowne. To carry out this purpose, the committee of subscribers determined to place a clock in the church tower. At 6.50 p.m. Mr. G. F. Kellock and other members of the committee formally handed over the clock to the rector and churchwardens, and it was at once set in motion by the young squire, Mr. Arthur Champernowne. A number of parishioners watched the first movement of the hands, while the bells were rung for a few minutes. When the clock struck seven all adjourned to the Church, where Divine Service was performed.

TILLINGHAM, ESSEX.

The old parish church of St. Nicholas, Tillingham, was reopened and re-dedicated by the Bishop of St. Albans, after a complete restoration, on Tuesday week. Until the extension of the Great Eastern Railway to Southminster two years ago, there was no station nearer than Maldon, fourteen miles distant, and yet for all its isolation it has been closely allied with the cathedral church and city of London since the seventh century, and, as the vicar in a recently published letter states, it is a memorial of the earliest Christian Missions to our Saxon forefathers; for its endowment dates from A.D. 609, when Ethelbert of Kent gave the manor and tithes of Tillingham to the cathedral church of St. Paul's, London, and in the middle of the seventh century St. Cedd, the great missionary Bishop from the Northumbrian Church, made Ythancæster (the Roman Othona) the seat of his bishopric, and from thence recovered for Christ the diocese of London which had been lost on the flight of Mellitus, the Bishop appointed to that see by St. Augustine of Canterbury. Here, then, the Celtic and Saxon churches joined hands, and henceforward became united in their work. The church, which will seat 300, is of thirteenth and fourteenth century work. There are traces of at least two earlier buildings. Massive buttresses strengthen the north wall of the nave, and the walls of the tower, which is one of the strongest and best-proportioned in the county, are in places 7 ft. thick. The Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's have taken the deepest interest in this work of restoration. Thirty-five years ago they restored the chancel, and ten years later the parishioners and others rebuilt the south aisle that had fallen down a century and a half before. The present vicar, the Rev. William C. Miller, on his appointment in 1879, took immediate steps for the restoration of the whole fabric, and he has succeeded in rebuilding the damaged portion of the tower and its turret, reroofing the same, together with the nave and chancel, also providing a vestry and organ-chamber, which had long been required. Much of the old stone work, concealed by plastering, has been uncovered, and the older features of the building restored to view. The interior is enriched by the addition of a handsome carved oak screen, pulpit, and choir stalls. The front of the fine oak altar is in three divisions or panels, of Early English design, filled in with oil paintings by Mr. Frederick Drake, Exeter—the middle panel representing our Lord's rising from the grave, with the legend, "I am the resurrection and the life;" on the north of it St. John the Baptist, with "Behold the Lamb of God;" and on the south St. John the Evangelist, with "Worthy is the Lamb that was slain." The chancel roof of oak, and the nave of deal unstained, are richly carved and most effective. The Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's, who are patrons of the living, and also own large estates in the parish, given to them by Ethelbert, for keeping in repair the fabric of St. Paul's Cathedral, and retained by them ever since, have defrayed the cost of the chancel roof, stalls, and pavement, amounting to £600, and have also contributed £120 of the £600 spent on the nave. The vicar had previously expended £353 in restoring the tower, and has now completed a vestry and organ-chamber on the north side of the chancel at a cost of £200, towards which collections were made at the opening services on Tuesday week amounting to £19 5s. 4d., and together with offerings from friends at a distance unable to be present, made a total of £38 12s. 10d. The altar-screen and pulpit have been given by the vicar and old personal friends in parishes where he had served as assistant-curate. Miss Scobrook, of Springfield, presented a new bell, completing the peal of six, with new belfry fittings, and Ellacombe's chiming apparatus, at a cost of £120. The Incorporated and the St. Albans Church Building Societies each contributed £25, and the Ecclesiastical Commissioners, who are lords of the Manor, £20. The City companies and charities of London gave no help, and the aid of a bazaar has not been sought. The total expenditure was over £2,000. The dedication services consisted of a choral celebration at noon, at which the Bishop was celebrant and preacher. The clergy and choir, after robing in the schoolroom, proceeded across the village square to the church, Archdeacon Johnson bearing the Bishop's pastoral staff, and entered the western doorway, singing "Onward, Christian Soldiers." A pause was made at the chancel gates for his lordship to bless the pulpit, and, placing his hand upon it, he invoked a blessing upon the word spoken from it. The Veni Creator was sung as the introit. There was again a procession at evensong, and the Archdeacon preached to a full church. The whole work, with the exception of the altar (designed by Mr. Herbert Francis, of Broad-street, London), was designed by Mr. Fredk. Chancellor, of London and Chelmsford. There was a public luncheon at 2 p.m. in the schoolroom, the vicar presiding, the Bishop, Archdeacon, clergy, Mr. Round, M.P., and many others, to the number of seventy, being present. Nearly £200 is still required to clear off all liabilities, and a new organ is a necessity, the musical efforts of the choir, which deserves better support, being assisted only by a borrowed harmonium.

WORCESTERSHIRE AND DISTRICTS ASSOCIATION.

ON Saturday, September 12th, a Committee and Quarterly Meeting of this Association was held in St. Leonard's schoolroom, Clent, when a good number of ringers from Areley Kings, Clent, Cradley, Dudley, Hagley, Kidderminster, Lye, Netherton, Old Hill, Stourbridge, Tipton, Westbromwich, Wollaston, and Worcester, presented themselves. The Rev. F. R. Lawson, vicar, presided, supported by the Rev. W. C. Gibbs, rector of Hagley, Mr. Spittle (Master), and Mr. J. Smith (Hon. Sec).

During the course of the usual business, the Hon. Sec. moved, and the Rev. W. C. Gibbs seconded "That no business meeting be held until January, 1892," but suggested that ringing meetings be held at various centres in the meantime.

On the motion of the Master, seconded by Mr. W. Micklewright, it was unanimously agreed that the suggestion be adopted, and arrangements made to carry out the same.

The usual vote of thanks to the rev. gentleman for presiding, for the use of the schoolroom, tower and bells, brought the meeting to a close. The tower of St. John's, Hagley (eight bells), was visited by some of the members, and touches of Kent Treble Bob Major, Grandsire Triples, etc., were rung, and 360 Kent Treble Bob, 720 Plain Bob Minor, and other short touches were rung upon the six bells at St. Leonard's, Clent.

Courses of Grandsire Caters and Triples were rang on the Association and Clent handbells.

THE WATERLOO SOCIETY, LONDON.

Efforts lately made to secure an additional tower for practice, for the convenience of those members who cannot always get over the water to the Waterloo Road, has resulted in the first fortnightly meeting being held at St. James', Clerkenwell, on Thursday, September 10th, when two courses of Grandsire Triples were rung. H. Alford, 1; W. Meads, 2; J. Barry, 3; J. E. Davis, 4; H. Howell, 5; A. Howell, 6; D. Lovett, 7; J. Rayner, 8. Also three courses with W. Moore, 1; H. Alford, 8; conducted by H. Howell. The members present thank the steeplekeeper, Mr. Bissmire, for having the bells ready, and it is to be hoped that the members will attend as often as possible, with a view of working harmoniously with the local ringers, and others who are anxious to get on.

The next meeting of this society here will be on Thursday, September 24th, at 8.30.

SAFFRON WALDEN SOCIETY.—FOUNDED 1623.

Visit to Quex Park, Wednesday, 9th September, 1891.

Saffron Walden Society, seeking variety,
To Quex Park repaired, and firmly declared
That having so done, it was jolly fun.
They were amply repaid, and longer had stayed,
But by train excursion, their valued diversion
Of bell-ringing sport was cut much too short—
Grandsire Triples they rung, to Stedman bells swung,
And Caters assayed, and were not afraid
Double Norwich to ring; and continued to swing
The ten of the peal 'till time's moving wheel
So quickly revolved, they sadly resolved
To ring the bells round—to time being bound,
But were fully inclined, and made up their mind
To Quex Park again, to ride in the train,
And meet Mr. Reed, who was so well indeed
Keeps the bells ordered that nothing's disorder'd,
And gave welcome hearty, to all our party.

J. F. P

BARROW GURNEY, SOMERSET.

On Thursday week, the restoration of the parish church of Barrow Gurney was brought to a happy conclusion by the consecration of a baptistery and tower and the dedication of a ring of eight bells, the whole cost having been borne by the patron, Mr. H. M. Gibbs, of Barrow Court. The massive tower, with spirelet and pinnacles, is built 12ft. further west than the original one (which was condemned as unsafe), the original length providing extra sittings and a baptistery, besides adding dignity and symmetry to the building. The carved font is of Caen stone, standing on steps of Redmansfield and Pennant, and surmounted by an elaborate oak canopy suspended from a wrought-iron bracket. The bells, which are fitted with a chiming apparatus, were cast by Messrs. Warner and Sons, of London. They were rung for the first time on the above day by a company of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association, and their purity of tone was much admired and appreciated by the parishioners, who for many years past have had to content themselves with one bell, the other two—one of which is of mediæval pattern, and contains the inscription in Lombardic letters, "Sancta Katerina ora pro nobis"—being cracked and useless. The latter now reposes on the floor of the belfry chamber. Each bell bears an appropriate motto, from the Angels' Song or Te Deum, besides the name of the donor, vicar (the Rev. J. A. Wadmore), and churchwardens. Amongst other additions are an oak font bucket bound with brass staves, presented by the members of the children's service, and a stone group of the Annunciation, which has been placed in a niche over the reredos of the Court chapel. The services of the day consisted of two celebrations, at 8 and 10.45, at the latter of which Bishop Hobbhouse was the celebrant, and a special dedication service at 11.30, which was attended by a large congregation, during which the Bishop delivered an address to the ringers and preached from St. John ii. 17. The remainder of the day was spent as a parish festival.

YEOVIL, SOMERSET.

The restoration of the tower of St. John's Church, Yeovil, is now almost complete, and the re-hanging of the peal of eight bells, together with two new ones added, is now being proceeded with. The restoration of the tower and bells will cost over £1,000. The bell-work is being carried out by Messrs. Warner and Sons.

REDEDICATION OF THE BELLS OF WHITWICK PARISH CHURCH.

We are asked to supplement the account of Whitwick Church bells, given in our last issue, by the following:—

On Wednesday, 2nd, instant, the Lord Bishop of Peterborough (Dr. Creighton) rededicated the bells of the Whitwick parish church at three o'clock. Four bells have been added to the old ones, forming a peal of eight. These the Ashby Parish Church Society of Change Ringers, under the direction of Mr. W. Liggins, the captain, rang with marked precision at the appointed time. At the hour stated for the service the church was well filled, and during the course of the service seats were unattainable, while several persons had forms in the aisle. Miss Cuthbert, of Coleorton, the talented organist of the church, played a pretty voluntary, and punctually at three o'clock the Bishop, with the Rev. Canon Beaumont (Coleorton Rectory), the Rev. Canon Denton (vicar of Ashby-de-la-Zouch), the Rev. Geo. Crossley (vicar of Breedon), the Rev. H. E. Broughton (vicar of Hugglescote), the Rev. W. A. Williams (vicar of Osgathorpe), the Rev. — Fowler, (curate of Hugglescote), the Rev. H. W. Andrews (curate of Coalville), and the vicar of Whitwick (the Rev. A. F. Tollemache), met in the church belfry, and the service proceeded. The congregation were easily enabled to follow the order of service by means of printed forms. After it the beautifully-toned bells rang out a short peal, listened to by the large congregation with evident pleasure. The bishop meanwhile, preceded by the clergy named and the Rev. George Crossley (carrying the Bishop's crozier), took his seat, and evening prayer followed. The special psalms were xlvii., xcii., cl., and the special lessons Joshua vi. 1—20, Revelation xiii. A splendidly-trained choir under the direction of Mr. Harold Cuthbert, schoolmaster, of Whitwick (his sister playing the organ), sang the first hymn, "Lift them gently to the steeple, Let our bells be set on high," in which the congregation joined fervently, as also did they in the hymn before the sermon, "When morning gilds the skies." The Bishop then preached, taking his text from Psalm cxxii. 1, "I was glad when they said to me, let us go into the House of the Lord." In the course of the very practical sermon, his lordship held the attention of his congregation. Bells, he said, conveyed a message to those who never entered a church, and told them that prayer was being offered within the walls, and that there was still a ladder between heaven and earth. The bells were of metal and had no souls, but they proclaimed the spirit of the worshippers. If a church was a sermon in stone, the bells of the church were its tongue, and were a substitute for the old custom of proclaiming the hour of prayer by word of mouth and asking them to "go into the house of the Lord." His lordship gave kindly counsel, and the sermon was a pleasure to listen to. The last hymn,

O Lord of heaven and earth and sea,
To Thee all praise and glory be, having been sung, the Bishop blessed the people, and as his lordship and clergy retired the ringers rang a merry peal with that precision which characterises the well-practised ringers of Ashby, who, by the way, were accompanied by Mr. H. G. W. Howe, their energetic hon. sec. The collection at service amounted to £8 11s.

At the service Canon Beaumont and Canon Denton were the bishop's chaplains. Mr. Charles Button, C.C., and Mr. Jno. Sharp, the churchwardens, officiated in their capacity in the church, and in other respects paid attention to the visitors' comforts. The Bishop was entertained by the Vicar at the vicarage, as also were the clergy who took part in the service. Among other clergymen present who, however, were not in the procession, were the Rev. G. O. Vandeleur, rector of Ravenstone; the Rev. Dr. Barber, master of Ravenstone Hospital; the Rev. Chas. Williams, vicar of Coalville; the Rev. C. J. Taylor, vicar of Twycross; the Rev. R. Genge, of St. Mary's, Shrewsbury. The congregation also included a number of residents of Ashby, Coalville, Gracedieu, Thringstone, Swannington, and district. At periods in the evening the ringers gave several touches on the bells, which are finely toned and certainly an acquisition to the grand old church.

The bells now re-dedicated are the successors to a very old peal believed to have been hung in the reign of Edward VI. In expectation the four old bells were taken down, the tenor having been tolled on the previous Saturday for the last time for the death of the Rev. Dr. Magee, Archbishop of York, better known in this district as the Bishop of Peterborough. The bells were sent away to Messrs. Taylor's foundry at Loughborough to be tuned, so as to ring in harmony with the four new bells. Messrs. Taylor undertook the work of constructing the new bells and retuning the old ones at a cost of £315 16s. Upon the four old bells are the following inscriptions:—On the two large bells are: "IHS Nazarenos, Rex Judæorum, Filie Dei, Misere mei, 1628." On the second bell, "Celorum Christe, Platiati tibi rex sonus iste 1628." On the first bell there is, "God save the King, 1628." The inscription on the two large bells is the same which appeared on the helmet on the effigy of a knight (Sir John Tacbott) in the north aisle of the church. The amount required was raised by voluntary subscriptions, and bells were given by Mr. Tollemache, Mr. Basil Taylor, Mrs. Dalby, Mr. Thos. Jesson, Mr. Wm. Sheffield, Mr. Geo. Underwood, and Master Houghton gave bell ropes. While the bells were away at Loughborough the belfry steps were repaired, and the belfry itself put in better order. As much of the old wood as possible was utilised, though plenty of it was rotten to the core. Messrs. Taylor and Sons, of Loughborough, gave the following particulars and the weights of the bells:—Treble bell (new), 4cwt. 0qr. 11lbs.; 2nd, 4cwt. 1qr. 25lbs.; 3rd, 5cwt. 0qr. 21lbs.; 4th, 6cwt., 1qr. 18lbs.; 5th (old), 6cwt. 1qr. 23lbs.; 6th, 6cwt. 3qr. 18lbs.; 7th, 9cwt. 0qr. 18lbs.; 8th, 11cwt. 3qr. 12lbs.—total 54cwt. 2qr. 6lbs. The treble bell has the inscription: "Given by Thos. Jesson, of Ashby-de-la-Zouch, to the glory of God, and in memory of his ancestors and relatives, A.D. 1891." The second bell bore the inscription: "In memoriam, H.F.T., obit, A.D., 1890. d.d. A.B.T. A.D. 1890." The third bell: "In memoriam, T.E.T. obit, A.D. 1883. d.d., B.R.T., A.D., 1891." Fourth bell: "Given by Elizabeth Dalby, to the glory of God, and in memory of her parents and relatives. A.D. 1891." A cast-iron plate in the belfry has the following: "This peal was rehung with four additional bells, A.D. 1891. Augustus F. Tollemache, vicar; Charles Burton, John Sharp, churchwardens."

The following ladies gave trays for the public tea held in the National Schools after the service, and at which about 300 sat down:—Mrs. Houghton, Mrs. Jno. Sharpe, Mrs. Joseph Sharp, Mrs. Porter, Mrs. T. Beckworth, Mrs. Broadhurst, Mrs. Biddle, Mrs. Newbury, Mrs. Chamberlain, Mrs. Fern, Mrs. Swinfen. The tea was served in a first-class style, and reflected credit on the ladies who generously presented it. During tea and after, the Whitwick Town Band, under the conductorship of Mr. Wm. Egan, played the following selection creditably:—"Napoleon's March," "Roderic Dhu" (Metcalfe), "Cross of Jerusalem" (Bleger), solo polka, "Fusilade," and "Golden Wreath," a selection. Later in the evening the band played for dancing in the school-room. At the entrance to the school yard was a large inscription, "Welcome to the Bishop." The day was generally observed as one of holiday, and the Bishop's visit was indeed welcomed.

Ringers' Outings.

CHRIST CHURCH, WEST BROMWICH.—With a lively recollection of a very enjoyable excursion to the neighbourhood of Cheltenham some years ago, the ringers at this church decided on again visiting the same neighbourhood this year for a three days' ringing excursion. Having reached Birmingham at mid-day on Saturday, the 5th inst., they were joined at New Street Station by the Secretary of the Birmingham St. Martin's Guild, Mr. Godden, who had been hospitably invited to accompany them. Arriving at Cheltenham after a short and pleasant railway ride, they were met and heartily welcomed to Cheltenham, by Messrs. Phillott, Pates, Musty, Morris, and other members of the St. Mary's company, who had arranged everything in the tower in readiness for an attempt at a muffled peal of Grandsire Caters, to honour the memory of the late Postmaster General. The company's ringing master—Mr. S. Reeves—being unavoidably absent, and unable to join the party until the following Monday, Mr. Pates had kindly volunteered to preside, and especially on this account is it to be regretted that a peal was not scored. The band were stationed thus: H. Hipkiss, 1; T. Horton, 2; W. H. Godden, 3; J. R. Frisby, 4; W. R. Small, 5; J. Hall, 6; R. Hall, 7; W. T. Pates (conductor), 8; C. Price, 9; J. Hares, 10. Everything went fairly well for over two hours, when one of those unfortunate lapses, which will play the bear with the best intentions, took place, and everything was soon "up in the air." Here the qualities of the conductor came into play, and instead of "stand" being at once called the bells were restored to order and brought round. Being then joined by Messrs. Phillott, Musty, Roberts and Hodges, of the local company, a touch of Stedman Caters was attempted, Mr. Pates again officiating as conductor. An adjournment was then made to head-quarters at the "Sidney Arms" hotel, where the remainder of the evening was passed in social intercourse, the single-handed exploits of Mr. Pates on the handbells fairly astonishing the visitors. All too soon the hour of parting came, and betimes in the morning the West Bromwich men were astir, some of them whetting their appetites for a good sound breakfast by a short country walk. Here an unfortunate misunderstanding occurred, which caused the main body of the visitors to make their way to Charlton Kings, while the local men were expecting them to assist in making up a band for Caters at Cheltenham. On the heavy ring of six at Charlton, which are in capital going order, a 720 of Grandsire Minor, for Divine Service, was all but scored by the following: W. R. Small (conductor), 1; W. H. Godden, 2; J. Frisby, 3; T. Horton, 4; J. Hall, 5; R. Hall, 6. The courteous tower-keeper at Charlton then took the visitors in hand, and piloted them for a delightful walk to a neighbouring ridge, which gave a fine panoramic view of Cheltenham and the surrounding country. All in good time the company were seated at a most substantial dinner, to which their exercise disposed them to do full justice. A quiet chat and talk over the arrangements for the following day brought on the time for starting to Prestbury, where an appointment had been made to ring for evening service. Here, previous to the arrival of the Cheltenham men, a capitally struck 504 of Grandsire Triples was rung by Messrs. Hares, Frisby, Godden, Small, C. Price (conductor), J. Hall and R. Hall, and afterwards touches of Grandsire and Stedman, with Messrs. Phillott and Pates standing in. The opportunity was then taken of making the acquaintance of several of the local ringers, and a very heavy rain setting in prevented a return to Cheltenham until nearly ten. The salubrious change of air had by this time taken full effect, and sleep required so little courting that everyone was fairly locked in her embrace without an attempt at repeating the pranks of the previous night. Soon after nine on the Monday morning, every one had laid a good square foundation for the day's work, and being joined by the West Bromwich conductor—Mr. S. Reeves—the visitors accompanied by Messrs. Morris, Pates and Musty were soon in full sail towards Painswick. The scenery between Cheltenham and Painswick is of the most lovely description, and at this time of the year, graced as it was by teeming and abundant crops of corn and fruit, could not fail to gratify the senses even of those to whom it had not the charm of novelty. Arrived at Painswick the company were soon in attendance on the tower-keeper—Mr. Hale—and everything being in readiness, a start was made for a peal of Grandsire Caters under the conductorship of Mr. Reeves, Messrs. Pates and Musty standing in. H. Hipkiss, 1; S. Reeves (conductor), 2; W. H. Godden, 3; W. R. Small, 4; T. Horton, 5; J. Hall, 6; F. Musty, 7; W. T. Pates, 8; C. Price, 9; R. Hall, 10. The band were not very successful in a first attempt of ten minutes' duration, but afterwards were sailing along at a good beat for about half an hour, when the clapper of the 6th flew out. This unfortunate occurrence prevented another start being made, and the ringers were compelled to resign themselves to the fate of going back home without a peal. An adjournment to the "Falcon" for dinner, and a chat with two of the Painswick veterans (one of whom favoured the company with a recitation, after songs by the veteran of Cheltenham—Mr. Morris—Mr. Pates, and another recitation by Mr. Musty), brought on return time, and, with sundry halts for refreshments and inspection of the scenery, Cheltenham was again reached. A rise, a plain course of Grandsire Caters, and a fall at St. Mary's brought the ringing to a close, and the company adjourned to their hostelry for leave-takings. Before parting Mr. Phillott, on behalf of the Cheltenham ringers, expressed the pleasure it had given them to welcome the West Bromwich men, and the gladness it always gave them to extend hospitality to visiting ringers. His remarks were fully endorsed by Messrs. Pates and Musty, and suitably responded to by Messrs. Reeves and Godden; but more than any words could convey were the visitors made to feel, from the first moment of setting eyes on a ringer at Cheltenham, not only the cordiality of their welcome, but how much the feeling of brotherhood between ringers is cultivated here. Their warmest thanks are due to the various tower-keepers and church authorities with whom they came in contact, and every member of the party will for ever remember with gratitude the extreme kindness extended to them.

THE ST. MARY'S SOCIETY, TAUNTON.—The annual outing of this Society took place on Tuesday, September 1st. Through the liberality of the Vicar, the Rev. Prebendary Askwith, a thorough campanological outing was enjoyed. The party, which numbered eighteen, left Taunton by the first train for Weston-super-Mare, where a light breakfast was partaken of. Next the visitors wended their way to the parish church, and by the kind permission of the Rev. Prebendary Salmon rang three 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles on the musical little ring of six. G. Collard, 1; J. Taylor, 2; G. Yendall, 3; T. Doble (conductor), 4; F. Millard, 5; E. Wyatt, 6. The tenor having been taken by W. Pearce, three more 6-scores were nicely tapped off, the others standing as before. The company then set out for Yatton, and on their arrival found that a substantial lunch had been very kindly provided for them by the Vicar, the Rev. W. Arnold, who was for seven years senior curate of St. Mary's, Taunton, only leaving for Yatton in August last. After doing ample justice to the good things provided, a touch of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells in front of the Vicarage and before Mr. Arnold's family. A move was then made to the belfry of the parish church, where hangs a nice peal of eight bells, tenor about 24 cwt., but not in first-rate going order. Here, in the presence of Mr. Arnold, a 6-score of Grandsire Doubles, with 7-6-8 covering, was brought round. G. Collard, 1; J. Taylor, 2; H. Pearce, 3; G. E. Harbour, 4; T. Doble (conductor), 5; G. Yendall, 6; E. Wyatt, 7; W. Pearce, 8. And a couple of courses of Grandsire Triples. C. Wilkins, 1; J. Taylor, 2; F. Millard, 3; G. Collard, 4; G. Yendall, 5; G. E. Harbour, 6; T. Doble, 7; E. Wyatt, 8. After thanking the rev. gentleman for his kindness a hasty retreat to the station had to be made in order to catch the train for Clevedon, where the remainder of the day was to be spent. It was intended to have a ring on the light peal of five at St. John's church, permission having been given by the Vicar, the Rev. A. E. Cartwright, but a letter which was to have announced to the Vicar the time the party would be at the church never reached him, and consequently no arrangements had been made with the steeplekeeper, who was some way off at work. The most important item in the day's proceedings now became the object in view, viz., dinner, which was served up in splendid style at Mr. Wickenden's. In the unavoidable absence of the President of the Guild, the chair was occupied by Mr. C. H. Venning, the vice-chairman being Mr. T. Doble. After the requirements of the inner man had been well cared for the party divided, some taking a stroll round Clevedon, others seeking a sheltered spot for a dip in the briny. Boating was quite out of the question, as it was so very boisterous. At 5.30 all assembled at Mr. Wickenden's for tea, which was very much enjoyed after inhaling for two or three hours a good sea breeze. The homeward journey now soon commenced, and all arrived safely at Taunton at 9.30, having thoroughly enjoyed the day's outing, so kindly provided by the President of the Guild.

THE ABBEY SOCIETY, TEWKESBURY.—On Monday, September 7th, some members of this Society visited Derby for their outing, where permission had previously been obtained to ring upon the bells of St. Andrew's, All Saints, and St. Alkmund's. It was found that after ringing a 504 of Stedman Triples at St. Andrew's, and a touch of Union Triples at All Saints, that the time at their disposal was very limited, so ringing had to be given up at St. Alkmund's, as a telegram had been sent to Mr. W. Wakley, of Burton-on-Trent, to say that the party would arrive in Burton about 4 o'clock, where permission had previously been obtained, through Mr. Wakley, to ring at St. Paul's church. Here we found everything in excellent order, and after a short walk a visit was paid to Mr. J. Griffin, who kindly shewed us many things of modern interest, and afterwards accompanied us to the church. During the evening some Stedman and Union Triples were rung, Mr. Wakley taking part in a touch of Union Triples. Our very best thanks are due to those of our ringing friends who met us during the day and made everything so very enjoyable.

THE WYCOMBE JUNIOR SOCIETY.—A party composed of members of this Society, being also members of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, and a few friends went for a trip up the river Thames on Monday, September 7th. The weather was magnificent. Starting by the 7.55 a.m. train from High Wycombe, they arrived at Bourne End shortly after eight o'clock, and at once proceeded on board the speedy steam launch Mystery, which was waiting to convey them up the river. A short stay was made at Marlow to take on board Messrs. J. C. Truss and W. E. Yates, and F. Harvey, of Brighton, who were waiting at Marlow Lock to join the party. The launch then proceeded to Henley, where a longer stay was made to admit of slight refreshments and a stroll. Reading was reached at 1.30 p.m., where the party disembarked. The ringers of the party at once proceeded to the "Mitre," where they found Mr. Newell and Mr. Reeves waiting to accompany them to the church of St. Giles, where a few short touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples were rung. The return journey was commenced from Caversham Lock at 5 p.m., and under the excellent steering of the Rev. W. E. Keeling (late of Eastbourne), Bourne End was reached soon after nine o'clock, enabling the party to easily catch the 9.35 p.m. train for Wycombe. The outing was most enjoyable, and it is hoped to make it an annual affair.

BLACKBURN, LANCASHIRE.—On Thursday, September 10th, the members of the parish church Society had their annual outing, the places selected being Chester, Liverpool and Ormskirk. We arrived at Chester at 9.50 a.m. the "Blossom" hotel being headquarters for the day, where a grand breakfast was awaiting us. After breakfast a visit was paid to the cathedral. It now being time to meet Mr. Price at the church of St. Mary-without-the-Walls, we arrived there at 12.30. Mr. Price had everything in readiness, and a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung in 44 mins. J. Smith, jun., 1; W. Slater, 2; J. Smith, sen., 3; W. E. Wilson, 4; C. Price, 5; J. Watson, 6; J. Walker (conductor), 7; M. Adams, 8. Tenor 20 cwt. After falling the bells we were met by Mr. J. Moulton, and he amused us with some tapping on his fairy bells. The afternoon was spent in boating on the Dee. At 4.30 the "Blossom" hotel was again visited, and tea partaken of. We left Chester at 6 p.m. for Liverpool, leaving there by the 8.15 p.m. train for Ormskirk. Arriving there at 8.55 p.m. we found Mr. Prescott with everything in readiness, and rang 504 Grandsire Triples. J. Prescott, 1; W. Slater, 2; J. Smith, sen., 3; W. E. Wilson, 4; G. Prescott, 5; J. Watson, 6; J. Walker (conductor), 7; M. Adams, 8. Tenor 25 cwt, 2 qrs. 25 lbs. Leaving Ormskirk by the 10.20 train we arrived at Blackburn at 11.30, all well pleased with our day's outing. We wish, through the medium of this paper, to thank all who looked after us, especially Messrs. Price, Moulton, and G. Prescott.

CURRENT TOPICS.

The report of proceedings at the Annual Meeting of the Cumberland Association will be very cheering to most readers of "THE BELL NEWS." And why? Because, as it seems to me, there does not appear an immense amount of energy among our friends in Cumberland, or in fact in the adjoining county of Westmoreland. This is more noticeable from the fact that the neighbouring counties are well to the fore with regard to change-ringing. Now my friends of Cumberland and Westmoreland, wrestle your utmost towards efficiency, and let us hear more of you.

* * * * *

I am a strong opponent, not only to prize-ringing, but to prizes in toto so far as ringing is concerned. Competition as applied in this case is a relic of the barbaric ages, and its revival is out of the question. Therefore I was glad to read that the proposal at this meeting to give a prize-cup was not entertained.

* * * * *

Letters to the Editor were plentiful last week. There is a stir being made in Ludlow, an ancient town of Shropshire, and though there at present seems a difference of opinion on local ringing matters, I hope to see all things harmonious. Ludlow may, as the county town—with its rings of bells—is so lax, become a kind of headquarters for Shropshire. There is a good number of learners at Ludlow—the more the merrier, say I.

* * * * *

The county of Shropshire can almost be classed in the same category as Westmoreland. Mind, I say "almost." For very little ringing has been done within its confines, so far as I know. Ringers of Shropshire, "the country has its eye upon you," as the fervid speakers at an election in the olden times used to tell the voters.

* * * * *

Will those concerned in the Counties above-named, take to heart the few words I have just written? They are written in pure kindness; coupled with a desire to see change-ringing flourish and abound within those districts. Many people I know take up ringing in a very lukewarm manner, a sort of fill-up, in fact. I should like to tell all whom it may concern, the old and true saying: "Whoever is a good ringer is a good tradesman." Good ringers are generally found therefore active, painstaking, shrewd, intelligent fellows. Perhaps the ardent love of ringing makes them such.

* * * * *

The Editor has referred to that wide question, the Disestablishment of the Church. I agree with all he says, but I should like to see great changes in Church economy and government nevertheless. Many changes for the good of the Church are often proposed by its best friends, but never get carried out. I am of opinion that a revision of the Church's revenues, a redistribution of its salaries, perhaps I may call it, would be a wise thing. No matter what arguments may be adduced, it is impossible to make some people blind to the wide difference there exists between £15,000 and £150 per annum stipend. These people are the ones, though, who will, I am afraid, have power by-and-by.

The Bell News & Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 1891.

We have lately read of several instances of destruction, in part, of the fabric of churches and other buildings by lightning. The accounts have been too frequent, in fact, for the peace of those who are custodians of such edifices, whether clerical or lay. It is to be feared that proper precautions against the effects of such a powerful agency as lightning are not made, in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred, where they ought to be made. Most careful people make the insurance of their premises against fire a sine qua non of their business life, yet protection against the elements above us appears to be very little thought of. In the case of churches, especially those with lofty and elaborate steeples, having a tendency to attack from the electric fluid, perhaps we shall not be far wrong in saying that protection from its effects by efficient safeguards in the shape of approved lightning conductors is no whit secondary in importance to insurance against fire.

The matter is one deserving the immediate attention of the Clergy and Churchwardens. The danger during a hot summer is not so far off as is usually supposed, and vain regrets after the disaster do not repair the effects of the catastrophe. It ought to be standing advice with Archdeacons and rural deans that necessary precautions against lightning should be observed by those having churches in their care. We believe the provision against the effects of lightning is simple, and comparatively inexpensive. But care in this, as in other concerns, should be taken to have the best and most approved article, and erected by those skilled in the work. The following observations, coming from a warrantable authority, is appended in the hope that they may bring home to the minds of many the importance of having such work as the erection of defences to the attacks of lightning executed in a proper manner:—

"The most perfect lightning protection is said to be secured when the building is virtually in a metallic cage, the parts of which in connection with the earth are thoroughly connected with the moist stratum. At each corner of a large building there should be a conductor of sufficient size as to take the greatest possible discharge of the electric current. It should have a factor of safety. A $\frac{1}{2}$ in. iron rod is supposed to be ample if the rod is connected to water or gas-pipes, or into a moist well, or pit filled with coke or tin scrap. Very few buildings, we fear, are protected on this principle. The electric current is apt to meet with an obstruction in the descent of some improperly-fitted conductor, and make a passage through ill-protected and poorly-conducting masonry to some metallic fitting in the interior; hence the serious damage sometimes inflicted. The fixing and arrangement of the conductor on properly understood principles are essential to the protection of a building. The current will take the path of 'least resistance,' whichever that be, whether the rod or the building and its contents."

We need not say any more upon this subject, perhaps, though, on account of its importance, it is almost impossible to say too much. The name and address of a firm experienced in the manufacture and erection of lightning conductors, will be seen in our "Church Furnishing Directory," to be found on another page.

DESBOROUGH CHURCH, NORTHAMPTONSHIRE.

The peal of five bells in the tower of the above church have been quarter-turned, provided with new fittings throughout, and rehung in a new oak frame. The whole of the work has been carried out in a very satisfactory manner by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, bell founders, of Croydon. At the opening ceremony a few days' since, touches of Bob Doubles and Grandsire were rung by the following members of the Raunds society: Messrs. Stubbs, Gilbert, Wilmot, Kirk, Boles, and Pendered, who expressed themselves pleased with the "go" of the bells. In the evening a choral service was held, when the Rev. A. Wilson intoned the prayers, and the Rev. R. D. L. Clarke, curate-in-charge of King's Cliffe, preached an admirable discourse. A collection in aid of the bell fund was taken at the close.

Miscellaneous.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

BARNWOOD (Gloucestershire).—Recently at the parish church, by the local company and a few others, a 720 Grandsire Minor (thirty-four bobs and two singles) in 27 mins. A. Rheams, D. J. Aston, E. E. Bewick, J. E. Groves (first 720 as conductor), H. Mitchell, and A. A. Waite. Also 720 Kent Treble Bob Minor (nine bobs) in 27 mins. F. Gillett, H. G. Gardner, J. Yeates, J. E. Groves (conductor), H. Mitchell, W. H. Brunsdon. And 720 Canterbury Pleasure Minor (fourteen singles and four bobs) in 26 mins. A. Rheams, J. Yeates, E. E. Bewick, G. Miles, H. Mitchell (conductor), J. E. Groves. Also on Sunday morning, July 19th, prior to Divine Service, 720 Oxford Treble Bob Minor (nine bobs) in 27 mins. J. Yeates, D. J. Aston, E. E. Bewick, G. Miles, H. Mitchell, A. A. Waite (conductor). And on Tuesday, August 11th, 720 Bob Minor (eight bobs and six singles) in 26½ mins. A. Rheams, F. Gillett, E. E. Bewick, D. J. Aston, H. Mitchell, A. A. Waite (conductor). Also on Sunday morning, August 16th, prior to Divine Service, 720 Canterbury Pleasure Minor (eighteen bobs and two singles) in 27 mins. E. E. Davis (first 720), D. J. Aston, E. E. Bewick, A. A. Waite, G. Miles, H. Mitchell (conductor). Several 6-scores of Stedman, Grandsire, St. Dunstan's, and Bob Doubles were rung during the various practices.

THE NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

LEISTON (Suffolk).—On Saturday, September 12th, at St. Margaret's church, eight members of the above Association attempted a 5120 of Oxford Treble Bob Major, but after ringing upwards of 4000 changes, it was found that two bells had changed course, and the conductor called the bells home after ringing 2 hrs. 15 mins. F. Argent, 1; W. Taylor, 2; I. S. Alexander, 3; H. J. Button, 4; O. Moule, 5; A. J. Lincoln, 6; E. T. Shearing, 7; J. Motts (conductor), 8. Messrs. Alexander, Moule, Shearing, and Motts belong to the St. Mary-le-Tower Society, Ipswich; the others belong to Leiston.

BEDFIELD (Suffolk).—On Sunday, September 13th, at the parish church, 360 Grandsire, 240 Antelope, 120 each of April Day and Evening Star. H. Beacroft, 1; W. G. Crickmer (conductor), 2; F. Claydon, 3; E. Claydon, 4; D. Collens, 5. This is the longest touch on the bells since they were rehung. When the treble is put up in the tower these will make a musical ring of six, second to none of their weight. Tenor 10 cwt. It is hoped that the local ringers will try and learn the art of change-ringing, so as to get the new treble put in. Crickmer hails from Earl Soham; the rest from Worlingworth.

ALDEBURGH-ON-SEA (Suffolk).—On Monday, September 14th, six members of the Association rang a 720 of Bob Minor in 25 mins. on the occasion of a wedding at the parish church. J. Ashley, 1; H. Girling, 2; W. Taylor, 3; F. Argent, 4; C. Smith (conductor), 5; J. Button, 6. Tenor 12 cwt. Messrs. Taylor, Argent, and Button hail from Leiston, the others belong to the local company.

THE WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

PORTSEA (Hants).—On Sunday morning, September 6th, for Divine Service at St. Mary's church, 490 Grandsire Triples. J. Matthews, 1; J. Harper, 2; W. Cornish, 3; J. Symons, 4; H. Stubbington, 5; C. Simmonds, 6; A. E. Nye (conductor), 7; E. Hardy, 8. And for evening service, 336 Grandsire Triples. C. Groves, 1; J. Harper, 2; J. Symons, 3; H. Stubbington, 4; C. Simmonds, 5; Rev. R. C. M. Harvey, 6; A. E. Nye (conductor), 7; J. Gould, 8.

THE KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

CLIFFE (Kent).—On Saturday, September 5th, at the parish church, an attempt was made for a peal of Canterbury Major, 5088 changes, but after ringing 3600 changes in 2 hrs. 5 mins., it was unfortunately lost through the third rope slipping wheel, the bell setting itself, and could not be pulled off. A. Peill, 1; F. Cullum, 2; W. J. Sevier, 3; F. French, 4; C. Wilkins, 5; G. Conyard, 6; E. Barnett (composer and conductor), 7; J. H. Cheesman, 8.

CRAYFORD (Kent).—On Sunday morning, September 13th, for Divine Service at the parish church, 420 Stedman Triples. H. Gibbs, 1; W. Axtell, 2; G. Cook, 3; T. Saxby, 4; —, Davis, 5; R. Wilkins, 6; E. Barnett (conductor), 7; E. Cook, 8. The above was arranged for Mr. Davis, who hails from Peckham, time preventing a longer touch.

THE ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

ROMFORD (Essex).—On Sunday evening, September 13th, at St. Edward's church, on the occasion of the Harvest Thanksgiving, 404 and 720 of Bob Major. S. James, 1; W. Watson, 2; B. Keeble, 3; A. J. Perkins (conductor), 4; G. Roughton, 5; G. Pye, 6; W. Nash, 7; W. Pye, 8.

BRAINTREE (Essex).—On Saturday, September 12th, at the church of St. Michael and All Angels, 720 Kent Treble Bob. Also 720 Cambridge Surprise. T. Watson, 1; W. Moore (Bocking), 2; W. Hammond, 3; F. Calthorpe, 4; F. Bumpstead, 5; E. Carter (London, conductor), 6. Afterwards a pleasant evening was spent at "Ye Old Wheatsheaf" with the new set of handbells supplied to the company by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE.—On Sunday, September 6th, at St. John's church, for Divine Service in the evening, 720 Kent Treble Bob Minor in 22 mins. H. Fergusson, 1; H. Lindsay, 2; J. Clapperton, 3; W. Holmes, 4; C. L. Routledge (conductor), 5; F. Lees, 6. And on Monday, September 7th, 602 Grandsire Triples. Also on Thursday, September 10th, after service, the bells were rung muffled as a token of respect to the late Mrs. Story, mother of Messrs. R. S. and W. Story, who died on Monday, September 7th, and was buried on Thursday afternoon, September 10th. The ringing comprised 252 Bob Triples, 504 Grandsire Triples, and three leads of Treble Bob Major. G. Campbell, H. Ferguson, H. H. Lindsey, J. Clapperton, F. Lees, J. Simn, W. Holmes, C. L. Routledge (conductor), and R. Welsh. The tenor was then tolled slowly for five minutes. The muffles were kept on the bells on the bells over Sunday, and in the evening a 360 Treble Bob was rung on the middle six with the treble leading and tenor behind, in which W. G. Routledge took part.

WORCESTERSHIRE AND DISTRICTS ASSOCIATION.

Rice (conductor), 6. And after service a 720 London Scholars' Pleasure. B. Payne, 1; H. Weston, 2; J. Parker, 3; E. Streeter, 4; G. Illman, 5; F. W. Rice (conductor), 6. Also 720 College Exercise. B. Payne, 1; H. Weston, 2; F. W. Rice, 3; J. Parker, 4; G. Illman, 5; J. Gasson (conductor), 6. And on Sunday morning, September 13th, before Divine Service, 720 Superlative Surprise Minor in 22 mins. F. W. Rice, 1; H. Weston, 2; J. Parker, 3; R. Jordan, 4; E. Jordan, 5; G. Williams (conductor), 6. Also 720 London Scholars' Pleasure in 22 mins. J. Parker, 1; G. Williams, 2; H. Weston, 3; R. Jordan, 4; E. Jordan, 5; F. W. Rice (conductor), 6.

MIDHURST.—Recently, for practice, 720 Violet Treble Bob, in 25 mins. C. Tribe, 1; T. E. Ellis, 2; W. H. George (conductor), 3; W. Selby, 4; C. Soane, 5; A. B. Bennett, 6. First by all. The above was rang on Selby's silent apparatus. On Wednesday, September 10th, 720 Woodbine Treble Bob. C. Tribe, 1; T. E. Ellis, 2; W. H. George (conductor), 3; A. H. Bennett, 4; W. Selby, 5; J. Lee, 6. On Friday, 11th, owing to a visit of C. Tribe, of Romsey, some touches Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, Oxford Single, College Single, Canterbury Pleasure, and Plain Bob, were rang by the following:—C. Tribe, 1; T. E. Ellis, 2; C. Soane, 3; A. B. Bennett (conductor), 4; C. Tribe (Romsey), 5; W. Selby, 6. These were also rang silent owing to choir practice, and it was decided to start for a 5040 next night, but owing to the lateness of the hour it had to be rang silent, so, at 8.15, Saturday, 12th, the start was made, but after ringing 2 hrs. 4 mins. the attempt came to grief, when 3600 changes had been rang, as follows:—Two 720s each of Oxford and Kent Treble Bob and 720 of College Single. The tenor rope breaking was the cause of the collapse, much to the disappointment of all. The above is believed to be the longest length ever rang with a silent apparatus. C. Tribe, 1; T. E. Ellis, 2; W. H. George (conductor), 3; A. B. Bennett, 4; C. Tribe, 5; W. Selby, 6. Longest length by treble-man.

St. Michael's church, Lichfield, has been restored, and will soon be reopened. The walls of the chancel, which were covered with plaster, have been restored to their original condition, and the fine east window replaced. The masonry of the tower has been re-pointed, and decayed stones replaced. The clock and dial have been raised, and an old window opened out. The stair turret has been made good, so that the battlements can now be reached.

Manchester is not so rich in architectural features of interest that it can afford to destroy the few characteristic buildings it possesses, and it is to be regretted that the corporation of that city, unmoved by the appeal of the local Society of Architects, backed up by Mr. Waterhouse, have finally determined upon the demolition of the 18th century tower of St. Mary's Church in Deansgate.—Building News.

THE RINGERS' GUIDE TO THE CHURCH BELLS OF DEVON. By C. PEARSON, M.A. Price One Shilling, or bound cloth, 1s. 6d. Postage Threepence.

Correspondence.

While allowing the utmost freedom for the expression of opinion, it must never be considered that we are in any way bound to statements made by correspondents.

To the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS AND RINGERS' RECORD."

LUDLOW, SHROPSHIRE.

SIR,—Your correspondent "J. J." has rung a false peal in your last week's issue anent the state of affairs in the belfry here. In his laborious efforts to be smart and facetious, he has passed the boundary line of fairness, and has furnished your readers with an altogether distorted picture of our position at the present time, which I will humbly endeavour to correct. In the first place we make no pretence to be change-ringers, but we hope to be, and in order that our hopes may come to fruition, we have been drudging for some time at a little plain course of Grandsire—70—on the handbells, so that we may master the alphabet of change-ringing before we obtain the services of the diocesan instructor. In the second place we have had to deal with the deep-rooted prejudices of old ringers, and believing suaviter in modo to be the better method of overcoming them, we have adapted ourselves to their change-ringing customs while learning to handle the ropes; but we have never applied the dignified title of Grandsire to their unscientific system of call-changes. In the next place I am sure you will be the first to admit that authority must be vested somewhere, and that as "order is heaven's first law," so we should aim at a like state of things in those heavenward pointing structures to which you devote your special attention. This granted, it follows that we must have regulations, and I will give you an illustration of the way in which the rule your correspondent objects to has been applied. At the re-opening services, as you have already reported, we invited members of the Diocesan Guild to perform, providing them with refreshment, and paying their travelling expenses. On the following Sunday a stranger presented himself in the belfry without anybody's permission at all, and it fell to my lot to inform him of the existence of this much abused rule, of which your correspondent has only quoted a part. He told me that he was a member of the Gloucester Diocesan Guild, and my reply was "We are very pleased to see you," immediately introducing him to the rev. Master of the belfry, who invited him to take part in the proceedings. Since then he has been free to attend in the belfry whenever he chooses. This, Sir, is the sort of courtesy we have extended to strange ringers. What does your correspondent want? Does he expect a room with a necessarily limited area to be thrown open to Tom, Dick, and Harry, without any restriction whatever? I pass over his remark about the clappers rising false, the insinuation is not worth disproving. In conclusion let me point out to "J. J." that abuse of the clergy for imaginary grievances is not the best way to advance the growth of scientific change-ringing, and I regret to say that your otherwise admirable report of the reopening services is marred by the same defect. The present rector is not to be blamed for the position of the ringing-chamber; he is rather to be praised for furthering a scheme which has given us in addition to a well-hung peal, a well ventilated room about fourteen feet high, with increased light and with reasonably comfortable fittings, in the place of a dark hole not more than eight feet high, with little light and less ventilation, as left by a restoration of thirty years ago, which lanternised the tower. Since the reopening we have overcome the excessive noise and reduced the ropes to good form, and nothing will give us greater pleasure than to listen to a full and true peal of Grandsire at the forthcoming Diocesan Festival.

EDMUND JONES.

INFORMATION WANTED.

SIR,—Could any of the readers of "THE BELL NEWS" kindly inform me as to where can be had a set of guides for a peal of eight bells, tenor 21 cwt., to be used in the ringing-loft; also the probable cost of the same; the above guides to be of wire and fastened into the walls.

B. A.

Additional decorative work has just been completed at St. Paul's Church, Burton-on-Trent, at the cost of Lord Burton. It consists of the painting of the roofs of the chancel and sanctuary. The roofs are composed of a series of small panels, and those in the sanctuary contain alternately the figure of an angel, with raised gold wings and nimbus, and the sacred monogram on a shield. In the chancel panels the subjects are the cross-swords, the letter "P," and the crown, the emblems of St. Paul. The work has been carried out by Messrs. Powell Brothers, of London and Lincoln, under the supervision of Mr. G. F. Bodley, A.R.A.

FOR SALE.—Splendid peal of 58 Musical Handbells, by Shaw, of Bradford, recently new, ranged chromatically from G 25 to A 3, with seven duplicate bells; also 10 books of music, table cover, box, and all requisites for a band. Price complete, £14 nett. Cost above double. Apply—T. Heath, Secretary, Hallamshire Handbell Ringers, 7, Warburton Square Matilda Street, Sheffield.

Review.

BY SCRUTATOR.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE ESSEX ASSOCIATION.—Like our friend "Free Lance" I am once more back to my post. This annual summer-time somehow seems always to disorganise us in the way of serious business, and thus we are more prone to indulge in outings or to read about those enjoyed by others than troubling ourselves with dry routine and financial affairs. But long evenings are once again approaching, and as we get more accustomed to them, I expect we shall as usual settle ourselves down for another time to those necessary matters of progress which our various Associations present to us more numerous and vigorously as time rolls on. The first report I purpose dealing with is—as the heading denotes, that of the Essex Association, which is so well known to us through its estimable and zealous honorary secretary, Rev. T. L. Papillon. He tells us at the commencement of his record of the past official year's work that "during the past year our Association has gone steadily on its way without any falling off either in the number of its members or in the quantity and quality of its ringing performances." That is very gratifying indeed, but on the other hand, he regrets that "it is still one of our chief difficulties that the Church, as represented by her clergy and leading laity, shows so little active interest in her ringers and belfries; and he fears that it will be some yet before this difficulty is overcome." Meanwhile, he is of opinion that "if Associations like ours do their best to promote good order and reverence in belfries, and to deserve respect by the personal conduct and character of their members, we shall be making one way to that fuller recognition which we claim as our due." That is a sentence which pleases me, not merely for the "well-rounded" character of its construction, but for the important fact which it so tersely conveys. There can be no doubt about it, that if ringers will but act as he specifies, they must of necessity force themselves into that position in the Church which we constantly "claim as our due." Conduct on our own part different to that which he desires of necessity but too effectually retards the accomplishment of one of the greatest aims of our County and Diocesan organisations. Mr. Papillon has a good report of belfry improvement to present to the members; and referring to their numerical strength, he informs us that the Essex Association now includes 64 honorary and 501 ringing members, which is a slight increase for the year. "Our finances," he says, "are flourishing. The balance of £7 6s. 4d. with which we ended the last financial year, has been increased to £14 3s. 5d., of which £8 has been transferred to the reserve fund, as compared with £3 10s. transferred from last year's account. The larger balance this year, he continues, "is due partly to the reduced cost of printing the Annual Report, and partly to the energy of the Assistant Secretary in recovering arrears of subscriptions. Should this prosperity continue" he thinks "it will be for the Association to determine whether the Reserve Fund shall be further increased, or the surplus of each year be expended in some other way, such as defraying the expenses of representatives in attending the Central Council, or contributing towards any deserving schemes of belfry improvements in the county." In peal-ringing, "the Association has maintained its position," we are told. "Since Whitsuntide, 1890, 35 peals have been rung, including 2 of Stedman Caters, and 2 of Stedman Triples (both in Essex towers); the first peal by the Association of Oxford Treble Bob Royal at Fulham; a peal of Double Norwich at Foxearth; and Oxford Bob Triples at Widford. And here Mr. Papillon diverges for a moment by remarking that "while pleased that our Association should thus hold its own in the ringing world, we must remember that peal-ringing is after all a small part of its work, not much appreciated by the public, and not essential to the influence of the Association over the ringers and belfries of the County. The one thing I have always thought, that can be said for the now discredited system of prize-ringing is that it encourages ringers to feel that there was credit to be gained by good performances of short touches, no less than by long peals, and possibly win more favour with the public if our ambition as to the length of ringing performances was oftener limited." I must confess to a little surprise when I read this outspoken declaration. Had Mr. Papillon been a merely non-ringing and honorary member of his Association, we might have put down this expression of opinion as that of one who not being a peal ringer himself had small appreciation of those who aspired to prominence in this direction. But the vicar of Writtle—as is well-known—is not only a good and practical ringer, but one who also enjoys heartily the opportunity of taking part in a peal—particularly if it is characterised by some good striking—that such a charge could not be possibly made against him. On the contrary, he speaks as an enthusiast even on ringing matters, and thus his words must have additional weight on that score alone. After all, no matter who was the author of that observation, there is a considerable amount of common sense about it, which deserves more than a mere passing thought. We all of us desire to hear as well as join in good striking, whether the method rung be simple as Grandsire, or complex as Superlative. Our Associations as a rule take cognisance of nothing in the way of ringing less than 5000. Would it not be practicable to give shorter lengths a "look in" on the score of good striking? Say, for instance, if the best struck quarter-peal or date touch were to be assigned some special place of honour in each annual report. That would, of course, necessitate a proper arrangement of fixtures, and the appointment of capable and reliable members to act as umpire, judges, recorders, or whatever name you might choose to call them. I throw out that suggestion in its crude state for consideration. If any Association thought fit to adopt it and try the experiment, a detailed plan of working it out might easily be drawn up. To resume. Mr. Papillon concludes his report with an expression of gratitude to the Rev. H. T. W. Eyre for his valuable assistance, without which he declares he would have felt obliged to resign his secretaryship. I notice in the list of officers for the ensuing year Mr. Eyre's name again appears as Assistant Secretary, so that between the two there is every likelihood of the conducting of business continuing as satisfactory as before. The balance-sheet shews the income for the past year to have been £40 10s. 10d., and the expenditure £30 3s. 9d., so that the balance is considerably on the right side. Altogether, I consider the Essex men have great cause for satisfaction at their last Annual Report; and given loyal support, there appears no reason whatever why the estimable Vicar of Writtle should not have an even better record to present at Whitsuntide next year.

The outcome of the offer of General Pitt-Rivers to purchase Old Sarum from the Dean and Chapter of Salisbury, is that the Dean and Chapter have resolved to maintain possession of the place, while taking measures to place it under the Act for the Preservation of Ancient Monuments. I do not know whether General Pitt-Rivers was acting officially in making the offer, but take it that he was, and that had the Dean and Chapter, with the concurrence of the corporation of Salisbury, agreed to the offer, the site of Old Sarum would have been the scene of archaeological explorations, which, from the nature of the place, would have been calculated to afford many very interesting discoveries of remains of antiquities and indications of old buildings. It is said that the question of the sale of the site of the old city aroused much public interest with lengthy pro and con discussions. Judging by the result, the cons. prevailed, and I for one, am glad. It is not every site of antiquity that we would wish to be ransacked. Let the old bones and stones rest in peace, and the halo of pleasing mystery and imagination—quickly dispelled by matter-of-fact research—hang over the place for ever.—"GOTH," in The Building News.

Mr. Gladstone has forwarded to each lay clerk of Chester Cathedral a copy of his work The Impregnable Rock of the Holy Scripture, accompanied by his card, and to each cathedral choir-boy an illustrated guide to Hawarden, together with his portrait and autograph. These appropriate gifts are to mark Mr. Gladstone's sense of the services rendered by the choir at the funeral of the late Mr. W. H. Gladstone.

THE UNEMPLOYED IN EAST LONDON.—At a time when much thought is being given to this matter, a practical suggestion may be of service. Last year more than £300,000 worth of foreign matches were purchased by inconsiderate consumers in this country, to the great injury of our own working people, so true is it that "evil is wrought by want of thought, as well as want of heart." If all consumers would purchase Bryant and May's matches, that firm would be enabled to pay £1000 a week more in wages.

HANDBELLS FOR SALE.—A splendid set of 20 bells in F., 19 size; equal to new; with an elaborate massive stand for tune-playing, with four beaters. Cost £10. To be sold for £6, Apply H.W.H., office of this paper. A rare opportunity.

FALL OF A CHURCH TOWER.

During the Queen's visit to North Wales last year, Princess Henry of Battenberg, at the invitation of the Dowager Marchioness of Londonderry, visited Barmouth, and laid the foundation stone of a new church. The site chosen consisted of an excavation in the limestone cliff overlooking the estuary, and a lofty tower formed part of the design. After a considerable portion of the masonry had been erected it was found that some serious defect rendered the foundation unsafe. Great expense was incurred in trying to strengthen the foundation by means of concrete buttresses, and the building was proceeded with. On Saturday last the roof was ready for the slates, and the tower had been built almost to its full height, when, suddenly, in the forenoon, it collapsed and fell into the nave, utterly destroying the building. So far as could be ascertained no lives were lost. A meeting of the Building Committee was held on Wednesday last, and it was estimated that the total loss will be upwards of 5000l. The architects attributes the accident entirely to blasting operations with dynamite among rocks immediately at the back of the church, in order to obtain more light for the church. The explosions had first shaken, and eventually brought down the tower. The contractor will immediately commence the reconstruction of the tower and building.

Canon Andrews, rector of Claxby, near Market Rasen, fell on Sunday morning outside the Sunday-school and broke his left leg.

The Bishop of Bangor was out driving on Monday near Aberystwith when his carriage broke down. His lordship was severely shaken.

The new vicarage of St. Matthew, Pell-street, has been annexed to the rectory of St. George's-in-the-East, and the Rev. C. H. Turner is now the incumbent of both parishes.

The Dean of York has been requested by the Archbishop to preach the sermon at his Grace's first ordination in the diocese, which is to be held in York Minster on Sunday next.

On Sunday week the Bishop of Lincoln is to preach the evening sermon at York Minster on the occasion of the annual harvest festival. His lordship will be the guest of the Archbishop at Bishopthorpe.

The Rev. C. E. L. Wightman, vicar of St. Alkmund's, Shrewsbury, celebrated on Tuesday week the fiftieth anniversary of his induction as vicar of the parish, and was presented with an illuminated address and a purse of 300 guineas.

Dr. Gott, the Bishop-elect of Truro, gave a farewell garden-party on Wednesday week at the Deanery, Worcester. The guests included the Bishop of Worcester and Mrs. Perowne and representatives of most of the county families of Worcestershire.

In accordance with his custom of holding his September ordination (for deacons only) at one of the principal parish churches in the diocese, the Bishop of Manchester will hold his ordination on Sunday next, at Prestwich parish church. Canon Davenport Kelly is to preach the sermon.

PRESENTATION TO THE REV. C. D. P. DAVIES.

On Monday evening, the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, who, for three and a half years has been curate-in-charge of Ringmer, Sussex, and is now leaving, the Vicar having just died, was presented with a purse of gold, an illuminated address, and a writing pad. The interesting ceremony took place at a parish tea, over 200 persons being present. The address, which was a veritable work of art, was first presented by Mr. Andrews, and was as follows:—

"To the Rev. Charles Douglas Percy Davies, M.A.—Rev. Sir, We, the undersigned 347 parishioners of Ringmer, Sussex, desire to offer you some small token of our respect and esteem; and also to express our sympathy with you in the very trying circumstances in which you have been placed in your endeavours to preserve the newly-erected schools for church purposes. We also wish to thank you for the reverent and efficient manner in which you have conducted the whole of the services for the last three and a half years, and your unwearied care for the spiritual welfare of the sick and poor in this large parish, and we further beg to assure you that you will carry with you our prayers and best wishes for your happiness and success in a new sphere of labour." (Here follow 347 signatures).

The Rev. C. D. P. Davies, in reply, said he could not have overcome the many difficulties with which he had had to contend had he not been supported by what he might call the backbone of the people of Ringmer. As to the services of the church, his heart was in them, and what he had done was simply and solely for the glory of God. He was deeply grieved to leave so many friends, but he was sure their heart was with him, and that was what the clergy wanted, not for themselves, but for the sake of their office, and for Him whom they served. He begged to thank the district visitors, the choir, and all who had worked in the cause of the parish. If he had not received the assistance he had, his efforts would have been in vain. They were kind enough to say he had done much, and, of course, he accepted their word.

Miss Mudge, Superintendent of the Sunday School, then handed the rev. gentleman a writing-pad and accessories, and read the following letter:—

"Rev. and Dear Sir, We the Sunday School teachers of Ringmer, past and present, beg you to accept the accompanying writing pad as a mark of our gratitude for the kindness and assistance we have met with at your hands. We shall indeed miss the spiritual help and guidance we have received from you, and desire to thank you most heartily for it. May the blessings of God rest upon the work you have done here for His glory, and be with you through all your future life. With our best wishes for your happiness, we remain, yours faithfully, (Here follow 17 signatures).

Mr. Andrews also handed to Mr. Davies a purse containing £27 5s., and the signatures of the subscribers, and the rev. gentleman feelingly acknowledged the gifts, and said it added to his happiness, and enhanced the value of the writing pad, because he had received it from the hands of her who was dearest to him in all the world. The proceedings terminated with a vote of thanks to the ladies who had superintended the arrangements for the tea.

THE "OPENING" AT BARROW GURNEY.

In our account of the proceedings at the above opening, given in our last, the following particulars were omitted:—

The whole work of procuring the bells and hanging them was placed in the hands of Mr. Harry Stokes, of Woodbury, Exeter. The ringers who opened them were highly pleased with the work, and also the go of the bells. They attempted a 5040 in the afternoon, but after ringing for over two hours they came to grief through a miscall. We hope soon to have the pleasure of hearing that the same band has been successful in ringing the first peal on the bells.

RESTORATION OF FRAMFIELD CHURCH, SUSSEX.

For upwards of two centuries the ancient and beautiful old church in the picturesque village of Framfield has been without a tower to add a stateliness and finish to the sacred building, but this want will fortunately exist but a short time longer, Mr. Robert Thornton, of High Cross, having consented to bear the entire cost of the erection of a new tower. The work has been already commenced, and on Wednesday afternoon the memorial stone was laid by Mr. Thornton in the presence of a large number of the clergy and laity, a gratifying feature of the proceedings being the presence of a large number of the villagers, who evidently take a deep interest in their Parish Church, in which, for many generations, their forefathers have not only been baptised and married and have worshipped, but in which, after life's fitful fever, they have received the last solemn rites of the Church, before being laid to rest within its "hallowed acre."

It appears that a tower once existed at the west end of the church, but in 1667 it either fell or was taken down, and it evidently dragged with it a part of the west wall to which it was attached. No traces of this mediæval structure now remain, as the portion of the foundation still existing clearly belongs to the intended rebuilding of the tower some 150 years since, which was abandoned when the work arrived at about the ground level. The fabric now rising is 17 feet 6 inches square externally, with boldly projecting buttresses at the angles, and its foundations rest on the solid sandstone rock many feet beneath. The old west door is being replaced in the west wall of the new tower, as also the interesting fragments of a beautiful traceried window, which needs very careful restoration. There will be a lofty moulded stone archway between the nave and the tower, thus affording the much-needed light of the setting sun to the now windowless west end of the church. There will be a panelled oak ceiling to the underside of the first stage, above which, thanks to the generosity of Mrs. Thornton, a handsome clock, with face to the north, will be fixed, striking the hours on one of the fine old bells disused for many years since the ruin of the former tower. Above the clock story stage, at which level the buttresses terminate, will be the bell-chamber, where it is hoped, ere long, a peal of bells may sound, as ample room has been provided for them. On each side of this portion of the tower will be a two-light traceried window, with oak louvres. The tower will be surmounted by a freestone parapet and crowned by a lofty pyramidal roof, covered with oak shingles. On the summit the ancient iron weathercock and vane will be placed. The total height up to base of vane will be 64 feet 6 inches. The materials used will be the local sandstone and Westwood Ground Bath stone for the quoins and dressings. The work is being carried out from the designs of Mr. B. Edmund Ferrey, F.S.A., architect, of 15, Spring-gardens, London, by Messrs. W. H. Lorden & Son, builders, of Upper Tooting, Surrey.

HANDBELL CONTEST.

The Thirty-seventh Annual Tune-Ringing Contest on Hand Bells took place on Monday, September 21st, 1891, at Belle Vue Gardens, Manchester, for which 23 bands, with 270 performers, were entered, and the following 15 competed, viz.:—1, Cheddleton; 2, Hyde; 3, Ramsbottom; 4, Gorton; 5, Honley; 6, Liversedge; 7, Crossland Moor; 8, Elland; 9, Mirfield; 10, Tintwistle; 11, Middleton; 12, Almondbury; 13, Birstall; 14, Dewsbury; 15, Keighley. The ringing commenced about 1.30, the various bands performing in the above order, and terminated soon after 6.0 p.m., the Judges' award, given at 6.20, being as follows:—1st Prize, £17, Liversedge Albert; 2nd Prize, £10, Almondbury United; 3rd Prize, £7, Woodroyd Victoria, Honley; 4th Prize, £5, Hyde; 5th Prize, £2 10s., Tintwistle; the test piece was the overture to "Martha" by Flotow, and the judges, Mr. G. Jaeger, Professor of Music, Conservatoire, Paris; Mr. T. Vettee, Musical Director, Manchester. Great dissatisfaction was expressed by the audience at the result, the popular opinion being very much opposed to that of the judges.

FOR SALE.—Splendid peal of 58 Musical Handbells, by Shaw, of Bradford, recently new, ranged chromatically from G 25 to A 3, with seven duplicate bells; also 10 books of music, table cover, box, and all requisites for a band. Price complete, £14 nett. Cost above double. Apply—T. Heath, Secretary, Hallamshire Handbell Ringers, 7, Warburton Square, Matilda Street, Sheffield.

CHEWTON MENDIP, SOMERSETSHIRE.

The restoration of the tower of the parish church is now entirely completed. The works which have been in progress since July, 1890, has embraced the entire rebuilding of the stair turret, and the embattlement at the top of the tower, and the partial rebuilding of the pinnacles. The bell-chamber has been strengthened by solid walling 16 inches thick, securely clamped to the exterior freestone, and the whole of the top storey has been made doubly secure by massive iron tie rods from angle to angle imbedded in the masonry, and an oak wall plate, a foot square, clamped into the main walls. The bells have been provided with a new oak frame, constructed on the most recent scientific principles by Messrs. Llewellins and James, of Bristol. The whole cost has been a little over £1,000.

On Saturday, September 12th, a band of the St. Stephen's society, Bristol, journeyed by brake to the above place, a distance of fifteen miles. They were received by Mr. Treadaway, schoolmaster of Chewton Mendip, who shewed them every kindness, and gave them a hearty welcome. After partaking of the refreshments provided, the tower was visited, and the bells were raised. The bells are a heavy ring of six, of good quality, the tenor weighing 37 cwt. Three 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles were rung, when notice was received of something being ready at the house of Mr. Treadaway. A capitalspread had been provided by him, over which Mr. Churchwarden Cross presided. Ample justice was done to this, and the tower being regained, three more 6-scores were rung, and the bells being fired, were then lowered in peal. G. Staddon, 1; A. Pearce, 2; W. Pad-dock, 3; W. Parsons, 4; G. T. Daltry (conductor), 5; E. Duckham and J. Vinney, 6. Mr. Treadaway invited the ringers back to his house, and the rest of the evening was spent there, with a goodly number of the parishioners. During the evening a copy or two of "THE BELL NEWS" was distributed, and the return journey was duly accomplished, a thoroughly enjoyable day having been spent.

ST. MICHAEL'S JUNIORS, GLOUCESTER.

The anniversary meeting of the above society was held in the vestry of St. Michael's Church, on Monday, September 17th, 1891. The Treasurer read the report for the year, which was considered very satisfactory, several new members having been made. The following are a list of peals rung during the year: Grandsire Caters 1, Kent Treble Bob Major 1, Oxford Treble Bob 1, seven Minor Methods 1, five Minor Methods 1, Double Norwich Court Bob Major 5, Stedman Triples 1; Total 11. This was considered a very creditable record for so small a company, comprising as it does one peal of Caters, three different Major Methods, Stedman Triples, and seven Minor Methods, four of which had never previously been rung by the Diocesan Association. Various attempts have been made for a peal of Duffield Major, but unfortunately so far unsuccessfully. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—Master: W. C. Jones; Vice Master: G. S. Brunson; Hon. Sec.: A. Roberts; Hon. Treasurer: S. E. Romans. A vote of thanks to the retiring officers brought the meeting to a close.

DEATH OF MR. JOHN SANDERS, OF WOLLASTON, NORTHAMPTONSHIRE.

It is with the deepest regret that we have to record the death of Mr. John Sanders, a retired farmer and maltster, who expired at his residence, Prospect House, Wollaston, about nine o'clock on Thursday week, Sept. 10th. The deceased was well known in the neighbourhood, and was highly respected by a large circle of acquaintances. For a great many years Mr. Sanders was an active worker in connection with the Parish Church; indeed, we are informed, that the deceased and his father were church-wardens for about 100 years. Until a short time ago he took a lively interest in parochial affairs. The interment, which took place on Monday week, was witnessed by a large concourse of people, including villagers and visitors from the surrounding neighbourhood, who assembled to pay a last tribute to the memory of their departed friend. Deceased was attended up to the time of his death by Dr. Clark, of Wellingborough. The Church choir was in attendance, and during the funeral service sang two of the deceased's favourite hymns, "Abide with me" and "O God our help in ages past." As the funeral cortege entered the church, Mr. George Jones (organist) played "O rest in the Lord." The burial service was read by the Rev. Harcourt Powell (Vicar). The coffin, which was literally strewn with most beautiful wreaths and crosses, bore the following inscription:—"John Sanders, died September 10th, 1891." The interior of the family vault, decorated with moss and asters, presented a very neat appearance. The chief mourners were—Mr. Nethercote Sanders, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Sanders, Mr. and Mrs. Whichello, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson, Mr. Harold Whichello, Mr. Ernest Sanders, Mr. Staff, and the nurse and servants. Among the company present were—Dr. Clark (Wellingboro'), Mr. J. W. Watts, C.C., Dr. Orr, Mr. and Mrs. Wright (Grendon House), and many other friends. On Sunday, as a token of respect, the ringers rang muffled peals from 12 to 1 o'clock. On Monday, in addition to the usual tolling of the tenor, the bells were chimed in Queen's Change (a favourite chime of the deceased gentleman's) during the time of the funeral. This is an old Northamptonshire custom now almost obsolete. In the evening the bells were again rung full muffled. The Wellingborough Ringers kindly lent their muffles for the occasion.

DEATH OF THE OLDEST RINGER IN LEICESTER.

On Monday evening, by kind permission of the Vicar of St. Margaret's, the following members of the Midland Counties' Association attempted at St. Margaret's church a muffled peal of Grandsire Caters, 6111 changes, to the memory of the late Mr. Thos. Langham, who was interred in the Leicester cemetery the same day, but after ringing nearly 4500 changes an unfortunate accident took place, and the peal was lost. The deceased had been connected with St. Margaret's for upwards of sixty years, and rang his first peal in the year 1828. His next performance was at the opening of St. Mary's bells in March, 1831, which he followed by ringing at St. Margaret's a peal of Grandsire Caters containing 5507 changes in 3 hrs. 32 mins. In 1842 he rang in a peal of Grandsire Triples at Loughborough, which was conducted by Mr. Christopher Morley, and in 1848 he achieved his greatest performance on St. Margaret's bells by ringing 6012 changes of Grandsire Caters in 4 hrs. 32 mins., the longest peal yet rung in Leicester during the present century. He was appointed steeple-keeper at St. George's church in 1857, on the opening of the new peal of six bells, and resigned some fourteen years ago through failing health. The last peals he took part in were: 5130 at St. Margaret's, 1868; 5024 Kent Treble Bob Major at St. Mary's, and his final peal at the same church in 1872. The octogenarian received a place in Trinity Hospital by the help of the Rev. Canon Broughton, vicar of St. Mary's, fourteen years ago. Muffled peals were also rung at St. Mary's and St. George's churches to the memory of one so well-known, and who was in his 87th year.

CRICKET MATCH.

MELBOURNE RINGERS v. TICKENALL RINGERS. (8 a side). On Saturday, September 19th, the return match of the above teams was played at Melbourne, the first match being played at Tickenall some few weeks ago, Melbourne only being able to score 34 to Tickenall's 45. The visitors arriving about 4 o'clock a late start was made, and Melbourne winning the toss elected to bat, and some fine cricket was shown by Messrs. Fred Hollingworth, Wood, and Pipes, Wood making a fine drive for six, which were all run. Owing to the late start the match ended in a draw in favour of Melbourne, John Wood securing 3 wickets at a small cost. Below are the scores. Marriott for the visitors bowled very well.

Ringers' Outings.

TWO NOVOCASTRIANS' VISIT TO OXFORD AND DISTRICT.—Having made arrangements to spend a ringing holiday in the above district, we embarked on board the good steamship "Bolden" on Saturday, August 22nd, and for the while cast the cares of business to the winds. After a thirty hours' rough passage the first half of which was spent below in the throes of mal de mer, we reached East Greenwich, and made our way to the Naval Exhibition. Finding it too late to reach Oxford that night we availed ourselves of the hospitality of a relation, and proceeded on the following morning to Oxford. On our arrival we had little difficulty in recognising the worthy Instructor of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, from "THE BELL NEWS" portrait. By his guidance we were duly billeted at the house of Mr. H. R. Cox, who acted throughout the part of "guide, philosopher, and friend." The afternoon was much enjoyed in visiting various colleges under Mr. Washbrook's guidance. In the evening we accompanied him to Woodstock, and took part in three touches of Stedman Triples with his promising pupils. On our return we had the pleasure of being introduced to Mr. Washbrook's amiable "better-half," and several of the local ringers, with whom we passed the rest of the evening in handbell ringing. The following afternoon we had the pleasure of scoring a peal of Grandsire Triples on the famous ring at Merton College. As anyone knows who has visited this tower this was not accomplished without considerable difficulty and our success here was mainly due to our friend's able conductorship (see "THE BELL NEWS" of August 29th). On the following day we had hoped to take part in peals of Stedman Triples and Double Norwich at Swindon and Wootton Bassett; but were disappointed to find that the band was complete; however we consoled ourselves by ringing a peal of Bob Major at St. Peter's-in-the-East, being the second peal on the bells. (See "The BELL NEWS" of September 5th). On Friday we rowed down to Ilfley, and visited the interesting church, and in the evening attempted a peal of Stedman Triples at Christ Church Cathedral. All went well for 2 hrs. 25 mins., when down came the third rope. The band stood as follows: C. Hounslow, 1; P. Hind, 2; A. Fox, 3; C. L. Routledge, 4; Wm. Story, 5; Rev. F. E. Robinson, 6; J. W. Washbrook (conductor), 7; A. Barney, 8. On the following morning (August 29) under the guidance of our mentor, Mr. Cox, we walked to Drayton and had the pleasure of calling on the worthy Master of the Guild, and then inspected the tower and peal-boards in the parish church. Returning by road we arrived in Oxford after 17 miles' walking, in time for a dinner and tea combined, and then proceeded to the Cathedral for another attempt for the peal of Stedman Triples. Unfortunately we were doomed to disappointment by meeting one short. We adjourned to the meeting house, the "Black Lion," (Mrs. Murnane's, alias "Ma"), and held an impromptu smoking concert. The famous "siffleur," Mr. C. Hounslow, opened the proceedings by a masterly performance of an air with variations, which was greeted with rounds of applause. Then followed handbells—three courses of Duffield Major:—A. Fox, 1; C. Hounslow, 2; A. Dubber, 3; W. Story, 4; J. W. Washbrook, 5-6; C. L. Routledge, 7-8. The rest of the programme was filled in with varied songs by Messrs. H. R. Cox, J. W. Washbrook, Lieut. Colin Campbell, and ourselves. We may here mention that "Ma's" hospitality and kindness during our whole visit were highly appreciated, as was also the excellent Oxford ale, known briefly as "Morrell's." Having promised to visit Birmingham we duly reached there the following morning (Sunday), in time to take part in ringing a 672 of Stedman Triples at St. Chad's, proceeding thence to Wyld Green to visit another uncle, with whom we spent a most enjoyable week, and Monday was spent in seeing the lions of Birmingham, and in the evening an attempt was made at St. Chad's for a peal of Stedman Triples, but unfortunately was lost after ringing 3574 changes in 2 hrs. and 7 min.:—G. Walker, 1; J. Carter (conductor), 2; R. Bowkett, 3; C. L. Routledge, 4; R. Hackley, 5; W. Story, 6; A. Hackley, 7; J. Jones, tenor. We had promised to return to Oxford for the peal of Stedman at Christ Church on the Tuesday, and were glad to find the band turn up in due order, and the peal was successfully accomplished. (See "The BELL NEWS" of September 5). Having had a long desire and made many attempts for a peal in this method we were much pleased at its achievement, especially on such a noble peal as Christ Church. After the peal we proceeded to "loot" Mr. C. Hounslow's residence (Ringwell), and we suspect that a state of famine prevailed at breakfast next morning. Our ringing holiday having terminated all too soon, we bid a sad farewell to our Oxford friends the following morning. We arrived at our northern Metropolis on the banks of the eolaly Tyne the same evening, after having broken our journey at York to get a glimpse of the noble Minster. In conclusion we wish to heartily thank all our friends, both at Oxford and Birmingham, for their many kindnesses, which made our holiday as enjoyable as any we have ever spent. We can only say that should any of them ever reach our northern climes, although the atmosphere may be colder, we can promise them the warmest of welcomes.—W.S. C.L.R.

THE SOCIETY OF ST. LUKE, BRISLINGTON, SOMERSET.—On Monday the 14th inst., the above society had their outing to Wells and Glastonbury. After an enjoyable ride, enlivened by touches on the handbells, we arrived at St. Cuthbert's, Wells, where we had immediate access to the tower, wherein is a fine peal of eight with a tenor, they say, of 36 cwt., the go of them being very good. A few touches, and then thanking the Curate and steeplekeeper for their kindness, it was thought time for refreshment, after which we started for Glastonbury, and it being fair day we found the place all alive. Through the kindness of our Vicar the Rev. Richardson, writing for the use of the bells, we went to St. John's, a peal of six, where we found the steeplekeeper and the bells all ready for us, the go of them being good. We next made a move to the church of St. Benedict, where there is a nice peal of eight, which we found as before all ready. We were in hopes of having a touch or so with the local men, but we found them against half-pull ringing altogether. Here there is an octagon stand in the middle of the tower, and a printed form for each bell. However we found all very agreeable and willing to do all they could for our comfort. It being now time to start for home we prepared for the journey, and arrived in Bristol at 9.30 after enjoying a very pleasant outing; and we beg here to thank the several Vicars for the use of their bells, also the steeplekeepers for their kindness.

THE ST. MICHAEL'S SOCIETY, MELBOURNE, DERBYSHIRE.—On Saturday, September 12th, the members of this society journeyed to Nottingham for their annual outing. Arriving just after 10 a.m., they were met at the station by Mr. John Hickman, the steeple-keeper of St. Peter's, who kindly took them round to the different places of interest, notably the fine old castle, where they had a good look round, and which was well worth going to see. A move was afterwards made to St. Peter's, where the bells, a peal of eight, were set going to the tune of Oxford Bob Triples, and several short touches were successfully brought round. Just as the company were preparing to leave Mr. Taylor, sen., of Loughborough, had a look in, and rang the 4th through a touch of Grandsire Triples; then a move was made for dinner, everybody being in trim for the operation. After doing ample justice to the good things provided, St. Mary's Church (ten bells) was visited, where some short touches of Grandsire Triples and several courses of Caters was rung in company with some of the Notts ringers. A move was then made for All Saints' Church, and the way being past the fire brigade Station, and some members of the band looking in the yard, one of the firemen volunteered to show us round the place, and it was a treat to see the fire-engines and the mechanical devices for calling the men together in case of fire. After kindly thanking the man for his trouble, the journey to All Saints' was continued. On arriving an attempt was made for a touch of Stedman Triples, but was a failure, when some Oxford Bob Triples were rung. A walk through the Arboretum, and a convivial half-hour with the Notts ringers concluded the events of the day. The visitors desire to thank the clergy and steeplekeepers of the different churches for their kindness; also Mr. A. Lambert and Mr. John Hickman for making arrangements and taking them round.

* * Several reports, touches, and other matters, are unavoidably left over until next week.

CURRENT TOPICS.

The peal-ringing season, judging by the few reports we read of such performances, has I suppose, barely commenced. Yet the recent weather has been favorable for them. Last week's list had very little out of the common, if the peal of Double Norwich at Crawley (Sussex) be excepted. By this I mean nothing out of the common so far as methods are concerned. There were five peals, and with one exception they were all the first methods upon the respective bells. The Treble Bob Major at Christ Church, Oxford, with a 40 cwt. tenor, which bell was rang single-handed by Mr. Washbrook, was a respectable performance, when endurance is considered. This achievement shows that this talented conductor is himself again, a fact welcome not only to his own friends, but also to the general body of the Exercise.

* * * * *

I think it would be an excellent plan if, when something extraordinary in the way of peal-ringing is to be attempted, notice thereof was given. By extraordinary in this instance I do not mean great lengths or complex methods solely, but occasions which may become interesting from the circumstances surrounding the ringing of a peal. The first peal on the bells of a Cathedral, for instance. I believe had notice been given of the Llandaff peal, many ringers of the principality would have been glad to have taken an holiday on the occasion; especially if it had been also known that the Master of the Oxford Guild was to be present. Though that gentleman goes about pretty considerably, there are many who have not seen him who would like to have that pleasure. Perhaps, as a Welshman, and a native of the above-named city (though it is many years since I came away from it) I notice this the more. There is at any rate, no reason why the intention of such meetings should be studiously kept secret.

* * * * *

Still they come—the "outings," I mean; that is to say, the accounts of them. The non-ringing public, who edify themselves—to their profit, let it be said—by carefully reading "THE BELL NEWS," must hold to the opinion that church bell ringers are a very happy lot of fellows. I shall expect to hear soon that some of the many refreshment caterers (not Caters) are sending round their circulars to the various secretaries and stewards, setting forth the vast resources of their respective establishments, and adding to such announcements something like this: "Peals of six, eight, and ten bells, are within a stone's throw of the above-famed hostelry, each of them having an obliging steeplekeeper, and permission to ring may always be obtained. A proficient bob-caller can be provided, and at a small fee supernumeraries can be had for vacant places in an attempt for a peal. The hotel is furnished with a telephone by which direct communication is had with the office of 'THE BELL NEWS.'"

* * * * *

Rumour reached me last week of a marriage which was to take place, of a distinguished member of the London Exercise. But I saw nothing about it in the paper. Perhaps the rumour was void of foundation, and got up by way of a joke. A very poor joke, though, and one calculated to annoy the parties concerned.

* * * * *

Mr Edmund Jones, of Ludlow, has "sat upon" the correspondent who wrote under the initials "J. J." It seems hardly the correct thing not to throw open the tower to all and sundry, but in many instances it is necessary. When the belfry is approached through the church, a troop of people, whether ringers or not, is unadvisable. Among ringers we have unfortunately some black sheep, men whose ordinary behaviour unfit them for the companionship of respectable people, and such as these I would not allow in the steeple at all. The subject is a difficult one to deal with, but the time is coming when it will have to be faced. We ought, I think, to exercise greater care in the admission of persons to membership of our various Guilds and Associations. At present the entrance is in too many cases thought lightly of. Perhaps this will ever be the case while the process of solicitation, humiliating to the renown and prestige of any ringing society, is kept up.

* * * * *

That part of "THE BELL NEWS" devoted to notices, etc., is no doubt found very useful. An improvement may however be made with this portion. And in this respect. Sometimes we see what may be termed a preliminary notice of a meeting, and which generally concludes with something like this:—"Further particulars next week." These "particulars" sometimes do not appear either the "next week," nor any other week. Such things show great negligence on the part of Secretaries. The last instance of this neglect I saw was the notice of the Annual meeting of the Sussex Association, which appeared three successive weeks, and contained this: "Details of arrangements in next week's issue." These details never appeared at all, though they were announced three times! I hope for all this, the Association had a good meeting, and that those who have of late expressed their dissatisfaction with the management, went away content.

PLAIN SPEAKER.

ST. PETER'S GUILD, WOLVERHAMPTON.

On Saturday, September 12th, this Society held its Annual Meeting at St. Peter's Church. Ringing commenced at 3 o'clock, and was kept up by members from Birmingham, Darlaston, Penn, Tettenhall, Wombourn and Lilleshall until 5 30 p.m., when the business meeting was held for the election of officers for the ensuing year, the Rector, the Rev. Prebendary Jeffcock, President, in the chair. The minutes of last meeting were read, and several new members were elected. Then followed the election of officers. The Rector was re-elected President; R. P. Walker Esq., Vice-President; Mr. R. Cartwright, Ringing Master; Mr. J. Pardoe, deputy ringing master; and Mr. C. F. Vickers, Hon. Sec.; also a member for every tower connected with the Guild to act as a Committee. The party, to the number of thirty-six, then adjourned to the "Lamb Inn," where an excellent dinner was awaiting them, provided by host Freeth in capital style. The cloth removed, the Rector gave the toast of "Church and Queen." Mr. R. Cartwright then gave "The President," which was drunk with musical honours, and responded to by the Rector, who said he was pleased to meet all on such an occasion, complimenting them on the progress made during the last year. Other toasts followed, including "St. Peter's Guild," and "The Visitors." The remainder of the evening was passed in singing and handbell ringing, the company breaking up about 10.30 p.m., one and all having thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

THE SOCIETY OF ROYAL CUMBERLAND YOUTHS.

On Friday, September 18th, at the Society's headquarters, 54, St. Martin's Lane, the election of officers for the ensuing year took place, the result being that Mr. George Newson, Master, and Mr. William Baron, Senior Treasurer, are retained in their respective offices. Mr. A. Jacob was elected Secretary; Mr. F. Pitts, Senior Steward; and Mr. W. Baron, Junr., Junior Steward.

MONEWDEN, SUFFOLK.

On Thursday, Sept. 17, the ringers of the above parish celebrated the first anniversary of the opening of the new peal by ringing the church bells during the afternoon and evening. The visitors who took part in the ringing were Messrs. Wightman (4), W. Flory and W. G. Crickmer; those belonging to the parish were Messrs. S. Tarrant, E. W. Brook, Jas. Hunt, H. Moss, and W. G. Archer. A 720 Bob Minor was rung, also 360 of Double Court, and touches of Oxford Treble Bob. At 8.30 thirteen sat down to a capital supper in the new parish room, under the presidency of the Rector, Rev. C. A. Sinclair. At the conclusion of the repast Mr. R. H. Hayward, on behalf of the ringers, thanked the Rector for the kind manner in which he always treated them, for taking the chair that evening, and for the use of his nice room. In response the rev. gentleman said that it always gave him great pleasure to meet his ringers, as he looked upon them as church workers. They had during the past year made great progress, and he hoped that nothing would occur to mar that good feeling which at present existed; humorously remarking that one word he often heard in the belfry was "go:" that struck him as being very characteristic of ringers, and he trusted that they would all go on making headway in all that was good. He hoped that they would soon take more young hands in and teach them their art, as he was given to understand there were some that wished to learn. Speaking to the visitors, he said he was happy to meet them there that evening, as he thought that his own band were greatly indebted to the visits of outsiders for the progress they had made. The rest of the evening was spent in playing games, indoor quoits, etc., courses of Major, Royal, Grandsire Caters and Treble Bob, being rung upon the handbells.

KENDAL, WESTMORELAND.

A very large clock was formally started in the parish church of Kendal on the 11th instant. It is the gift of Mrs. Braithwaite, as a memorial to the late G. F. Braithwaite, Esq., of Hawesmead, Kendal, and is fitted with all the latest improvements. The quarters are chimed on four bells same as at Westminster, and the hours are struck upon a 25 cwt. bell. The escapement is a double three-legged gravity, and the pendulum is compensated for changes in the weather; all the wheels have machine-cut teeth so as to be perfectly accurate, and the whole of the parts are arranged so that any part may be removed without interfering with the others. The whole of the work has been carried out by the celebrated firm of John Smith and Sons, Midland Clock Works, Derby.

Review.

BY SCRUTATOR.

TENTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.—In issuing their last annual statements, the Committee state that "Mr. Dolben Paul has been the energetic Hon. Secretary of the Guild since its establishment in 1881. Much of the success is due to him, and the regret that he is unable to chronicle the tenth, and not least successful, year in its history is universal. If the Guild is to be judged from the point of view of mere numbers, the verdict must be in its favour. We have kept the high level that was reached in 1889, and can now count 190 Hon. Members, 666 Change Ringers, and 193 Probationers, or a grand total of 1,049. When we come to ask whether proficiency and numbers have moved on together, the answer on the whole must be satisfactory. In 1881 there were four probationers for every five Change-ringers: in 1886 the proportion was still as much as 3 to 4, but in 1889 it had fallen as low as 1 in every 4, and during 1889 it has remained about the same—i.e., 2 probationers for every 7 Change-ringers. With regard to the quantity of peals rung, there has been some falling off, owing to the breaking up of the Appleton Company, to the removal or retirement of some other members, and to the illness of Mr. Washbrook in the autumn, whom we are all glad to welcome back to work in restored strength. Notwithstanding this, the Guild's name stands forth in Mr. Attree's list for the year, and the quality of the work done may be pronounced as quite satisfactory. It is interesting to notice that £127 has been expended on instruction by the Guild, and a like sum by the various towers during the decade." This being the tenth report of the Guild, naturally there has been a tendency in the way of stock-taking; thus a table on page 33 gives statistics of progress since the formation of the Guild. From this we find that in 1881 it comprised 123 hon. and life Members, 108 Change-ringers, and 83 probationers. There were then 22 towers in union, and two peals were recorded for the year. With one exception since that time every year has shewn an increase in numerical strength—the total advance being from 314 to 1,049. The number of towers in union has increased from 22 to 83; and the peals rung each year have numbered respectively 2, 8, 9, 16, 18, 33, 48, 63, 78, 52. Of the latter total, 13 were Grandsire Triples, 21 Stedman Triples, 6 Double Norwich Court Bob Major, 2 Superlative Surprise Major, 2 Grandsire Caters, 1 Treble Bob Major, 3 in Minor Methods, and 4 of Grandsire Doubles. In the conducting of these peals, as usual, Mr. Washbrook takes the lion's share with 33; the Rev. F. E. Robinson comes next with 5; Mr. E. Newman following with 3; Messrs. J. H. Fisher and J. W. Wilkins with 2 each, and Messrs. W. W. Gifford, J. J. Parker, H. L. James, T. Blackburn, T. E. Pocock, C. Holifield, and H. Judge with one each to their credit. The balance-sheet shews that the Guild commenced the year with £28 18s. 0d. in hand; it has received £39 8s. 0d. in subscriptions, and arrears £22 10s. 3d. from local branches, and 17s. under the head of miscellaneous, making a total of £91 14s. 0d. In the opposite column we find that £16 7s. 1d. has been paid for instruction to six branches, £18 14s. 11d. for general expenses, including the Annual Report, hire of Committee rooms, postages, &c. The annual dinner and festival at Buckingham absorbed £15 17s. 6d., leaving a balance of £40 14s. 6d. to carry forward. This balance sheet, I am pleased to note, has been examined, and its correctness certified by Mr. Arthur E. Preston, F.C.A., Hon. Auditor of the Guild. The improvement in the financial position of the Guild will, of course, be gratifying to all; equally so to myself is the expenditure of over £16 in the way of instruction; but at the same time, £15 17s. does certainly appear to me a somewhat exorbitant expenditure for one meeting. I have referred beforetime to the custom of subsidising members attending meetings in the way of free dinners and teas out of association funds, a custom which always appears to me objectionable, but I suppose the officers of the Oxford Guild know best what is desirable in their own circumstances, and after all there is the satisfaction of knowing that in spite of this heavy expenditure the funds in hand are considerably more than what they were twelve months previously, so I will not reiterate. To sum up: this tenth annual report of the Oxford Guild cannot but be regarded as a satisfactory record not of the past year only but of the decade during which the Guild has been in existence. Its numerical strength has increased, about it might be said, "by leaps and bounds;" its peal record is so creditable that such has become quite a characteristic feature of its work; its donations in the way of instruction to local branches—amounting as it does for the decade to £127, representing £254 expended within its district for this laudable purpose—must of necessity have been productive of a considerable amount of good to the Exercise in its midst; its finances are healthy; it has a most energetic Master, four thoroughly qualified Instructors, a good working Committee, and last of all but (to use a most hackneyed phrase) certainly not least, although it has lost the active services of its first and foremost Hon. Secretary, Mr. Dolben Paul, it has in Mr. Hart-Davis a successor who, if he has not actually already "won his spurs," is undoubtedly on the high road in that direction. What can the Guild wish for more? Nothing but the hearty co-operation of the "rank and file" to carry out the objects specified in rule 2—namely, "to recognise the true position of ringers as Church officers; to cultivate the art of change-ringing; and to promote belfry reform where it is needed." Given that loyal support, the Oxford Guild cannot fail to achieve the whole "three points of the charter" upon which it bases its operations.

The Bell News & Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1891.

IN the last contribution of our friend "FREE LANCE," an intimation appeared that proficient ringers might obtain work in a particular town upon application to the Editor of this paper. We are pleased at all times to do anything through the instrumentality of our journal, which may tend to the advantage of any portion of its readers, and hope that those who may receive invitations to cast their lot in the town from which a request for ringers has been made, will continue to be of opinion that "THE BELL NEWS" is fulfilling its mission to the letter. The many applications we have received precludes the possibility of our replying to them. They will all be forwarded to the gentleman who has the matter in hand, and he will doubtless reply to them in due course.

This circumstance has led to the conviction that some good may be effected within the brotherhood in the way of help to those who are unfortunately out of employment. At times there may be a demand for labour in various districts which would meet the requirements of some in other parts where such demand is not equal to the supply. In such cases no doubt there could be found among our ringing brethren many willing to migrate to those spots where employment could be obtained. The difficulty is to know of such places. If any of our readers are willing at any time to announce that in any district labour is in demand, and that in such districts ringers will be able to continue their ringing practice, we shall be very pleased to publish such announcements.

Correspondence.

While allowing the utmost freedom for the expression of opinion, it must never be considered that we are in any way bound to statements made by correspondents.

To the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS AND RINGERS' RECORD."

A FAMILY OF RINGERS.

SIR,—There is in Cretingham, which parish adjoins my own, an exceptional family of ringers. Their name—Wightman—is familiar to the readers of your much valued paper, since it appears frequently in the space you set apart for the achievements of ringing. The father and five sons ring together now; a sixth son is getting his hand in, and already promises to keep up the good reputation for ringing which the family has rightly earned; another son, now absent from home, used to ring with his father and brothers. If this son was at home, and the youngest a little older and more practised, we should have a family who could do justice to a peal of eight bells. The father and his six sons have rung together; let us hope the father and seven sons will do so. Surely this must be quite an exceptional case. I mention this incident thinking it may interest many ringers outside Suffolk, and I should be glad if anyone can give us a similar case to this, or surpass it.

Monewden Rectory, Sept. 21.

C. A. SINCLAIR.

A QUERY.

SIR,—I see that last week the Oxford Diocesan Guild rang a peal of Treble Bob Major on the Cathedral bells at Oxford, and the weight of the tenor is stated to be 40 cwt. Now I know from the best authority, by one who has measured it, that the diameter is 4ft. 8½ inches, and according to bell founder's rule, she would fall far short of 40cwt., and is not at all a thick bell. The peal was also rung in 3 hrs. 29 mins., while one of the same method and weight of tenor at Norwich took 3 hrs. 40 mins., a considerable difference on such heavy peals. Without wishing to take away any of the merit of such a fine performance, I think the correct weight of tenor, when possible, should be given, and I am given to understand that Mr. Washbrook has been told that she is not 40 cwt.

TENOR WEAHER.

LUDLOW BELFRY AND RINGERS.

SIR,—May I venture to remark to your correspondent "J. J." that the tone and spirit of his letter in your issue of the 12th instant show very clearly that he makes the mistake that many energetic but somewhat ill-informed change-ringers appear to fall into, viz., that a ringer has a right to enter a strange belfry. The rule in force at Ludlow is a good one, and a necessity in any well-ordered belfry. Nevertheless, so far as my experience goes, visiting ringers always receive a hearty welcome; and if not, it is, as a rule, their own lack of tact, good sense, and good breeding, that closes the door against them. It strikes me very forcibly that "J. J." does lack these necessary qualifications, and that the Ludlow ringers would be quite justified in keeping him out in future if they have not done so in the past. Ardent campanologists who are wishful to spread the "art and mystery" of ringing, will do far more by friendly overtures and the exercise of care in their dealings with the old school of ringers than by unkind, not to say untruthful insinuations and charges, such as "J. J." seems to think fit and proper. Judging from Mr. Jones' letter in to-day's "BELL NEWS," I should say that the Ludlow ringers, in conjunction with the church authorities, are acting very sensibly, for a steady quiet reform, with due regard for the feelings and opinions of old ringers and the inhabitants generally, is much better than a sudden revolution with its consequent ill-blood and unpleasantness, and decidedly more in the spirit of the injunction to "do unto others as you would that they should do unto you." I close by wishing all possible success to the rector and ringers of Ludlow in their efforts to improve their belfry and introduce change-ringing.

BELL WARDEN.

LUDLOW, SHROPSHIRE.

SIR,—In answer to Mr. Jones' letter of last week, in which he says that my laborious efforts to be smart and facetious, and that I have passed the boundary line of fairness, I ask him where he has seen my laborious efforts, etc., etc. I have good reasons to think that he is fitting the cap on the wrong head, therefore I will endeavour to explain my visit to Ludlow. On a certain Monday evening myself and two other change-ringers journeyed several miles in the down-pouring rain for the express purposes of visiting the belfry and having a pull on the grand peal of eight with the local company, and if possible to help them to advance in change-ringing, having previously been informed of the rule that we should have to get permission from the vicar. Arriving at the vicarage—which was to our disappointment about 8.25 p.m.—we had the pleasure of hearing the bells go up in peal, which, no doubt, the ringers did to the best of their ability. We then walked round the church with hopes of finding the belfry door or the man on guard, but this proved fruitless; we then accosted a stranger as to the road to the belfry; he said that he could shew us, but it would be of no use, as we had not got a note from the vicar. After a little more conversation with this gentleman, who is not a ringer, but was well acquainted with most of the ringers and their mode of conducting changes, our attention was drawn to the slowness of the ringing, when our friend told us that they were getting them ready for setting them in a few minutes. They stood, when I detected that the three large bells were wrongly clattered, which is easily detected outside by the slightest bump of the stay. Now, Sir, if the ringers must have such rules, why not entrust them in the hands of the Ringing Master, or, in case he should be absent, then to the deputy-master? I think it would be more satisfactory to the ringers themselves, as they might get a deal of help from visitors; and I hope and trust that the next visit I pay to Ludlow I shall find the vicar at home. Mr. Jones goes on to say that they make no pretence to be change-ringers. I did not say in my letter that they were change-ringers, so it appears to me that Mr. Jones intends to learn the method of change-ringing, and then obtain the services of the instructor.

THE STEDMAN CATERS PEAL AT ASHTON-UNDER-LYNE.

SIR,—At last the above Society have succeeded in getting their first Stedman Caters Peal, which has been on the tapis for many months. Practices have been held time after time, but always one or more short when meeting for the peal; but at the first strike off for the event it was pulled off in fine style, as per peal column. It is the first peal of Stedman Caters rung in Ashton, and it is a noteworthy fact that the first attempt in any method in the new tower has been successful, which it is hoped will be for the good of the Society.

JOHN HOPWOOD, Hon. Sec.

25, Egerton Street, Ashton-under-Lyne.

A CORRECTION.

SIR,—In a foot-note to a peal of Treble Bob Major, rung at Southgate, on the 5th inst., and published in your paper of the 12th, is a remark: "That it was thought to be on a new plan." I beg to say this is not so, a peal of 5024 changes in 14 courses was published in "BELL NEWS," September 15th, 1888, and rung at Skipton on the 20th October following, with same properties, viz., the 4th, 5th and 6th their extent in 6ths place, the second never there at a course-end; but the 4th only two courses in 5ths, it has the 2nd and 3rd their extent before, and in 13 courses one or the other in the hunt.

SAM. MARSH.

P.S.—A 5184 in fifteen courses, with the 4th three courses in 5ths place, was published about same time, with all the other properties. West Bromwich, Sept. 21, 1891.

CHANGE OF ADDRESS.—Mr. William Gordon, the well-known professor of music, of Stockport, has removed to No. 71, Lower Hillgate, as will be seen from the correction made in his advertisement on the second page of this paper. Mr. Gordon, who is an accomplished brother-string, will supply from his new establishment every conceivable kind of music for handbell players. We shall not be saying too much when we state that his knowledge and experience in the business of a music printer and publisher, so far as relates to tune-playing on handbells, is without a parallel. He is always pleased to give practical advice to young hands about entering into the pursuit of handbell playing, and all speak of him as courteous to the last degree in his business dealings.

RINGERS AND CYCLES.—That wondrous machine, the cycle, has in these latter days almost revolutionised locomotion along the public highway. The members of our craft are not behindhand in their use, for it is no unusual thing to witness a score or two members of an association attending a district or other meeting, conveyed thereto by either a bicycle or tricycle. These useful machines have in the course of time become placed within the reach of all, and the most respectable makers of them allow, under proper regulations, facilities of easy payment to those whose means prevent them purchasing for ready cash. If any of our readers are intending to possess one, we advise them to write for particulars and advice to Mr. R. Cartwright, of Wombourn, near Wolverhampton, who as a brother-ringer would be likely to impart the best counsel; or to Messrs. Perry Richards and Co., of the Empire Cycle Works, Wolverhampton. This firm's advertisement will be found on the last page but one of this paper.

THE UNEMPLOYED IN EAST LONDON.—At a time when much thought is being given to this matter, a practical suggestion may be of service. Last year more than £300,000 worth of foreign matches were purchased by inconsiderate consumers in this country, to the great injury of our own working people, so true is it that "evil is wrought by want of thought, as well as want of heart." If all consumers would purchase Bryant and May's matches, that firm would be enabled to pay £1000 a week more in wages.

THE BELLS OF EXETER CATHEDRAL.

In the south tower of Exeter Cathedral hangs, as is well-known, one of the finest, if not the finest, of ringing peals in the world. Eleven bells, ranging from 9 cwt. to 67 cwt., form three grand rings of six in E flat (tenor 30 cwt.), eight in C minor (tenor 47 cwt.), and ten in B flat (tenor 67 cwt.). Their names, founders, age, and weights, are thus given by Mr. Pearson in his "Ringer's Guide to the Church Bells of Devon :—"

Treble.—1727, W. Evans, 9 cwt., D.
Second.—1616, John Byrdon, 10 cwt., C.
Third.—1650, J. Pennington, 10 cwt., B flat.
Fourth.—1676, T. Purdue, 12 cwt., A.
Pongamouth, or "extra fourth," 1630, T. Pennington, 11 cwt., A flat.
Fifth.—"Fox," 1729, W. Evans, 15 cwt., G.
Sixth.—"Doom-Bell," 1693, T. Purdue, 21 cwt., F.
Seventh.—"Cobthorne," 1676, T. Purdue, 30 cwt., E flat.
Eighth.—"Old 9 o'clock bell," 1729, W. Evans, 38 cwt., D.
Ninth.—"Stafford," 1676, T. Purdue, 47 cwt., C.
Tenor.—"Grandison," 1729, W. Evans, 67 cwt., B flat.

The Cobthorne ring of six comprises the 3rd, 4th, "extra 4th," 5th, 6th, and 7th of the above list; the "Stafford" ring of eight, the same bells with the addition of the 8th and 9th; while the "Grandison" ring of ten omits the "extra fourth." At present sixteen men are required to ring the ten bells (four on the tenor, two each on the 7th, 8th, and 9th); and from the defective hanging of the bells, and the irregular fall of the ropes in the ringing-chamber, anything like scientific change-ringing on eight or ten is practically impossible. The Devonshire Guild have, I was told, rung some six-scores on the Cobthorne ring; otherwise nothing more than call changes are attempted, and that only on the front bells; all that can be done at present with the heavy bells being to keep them going in rounds. Estimates have been obtained from two or three of the leading firms for the entire rehanging of the bells; and as there is now one member of the Chapter (Canon Trefusis), who has some knowledge of, and interest in ringing matters, hopes are entertained that when the Cathedral organ is finished, the bells may be taken in hand. For such an object, subscriptions may well be asked in all parts of the diocese; but the Cathedral dignitaries must first set a liberal example. I only wish that I were one of them; I would curtail my own expenses, rather than share the reproach of leaving such bells in so unringable a condition. Still, we must not judge others hastily, and the Dean and Chapter very likely have good reasons for delay. May those reasons soon disappear!

In the list given above, it will be noticed that all, except the first four bells, have special names—"Grandison," "Stafford," and "Fox," are named after Bishops of Exeter; "Cobthorne" after a Dean; "Pongamouth" perhaps after some unknown donor. The "old nine o'clock bell," as at Chester Cathedral, was no doubt the evening bell. The meaning of the name "Doom-bell" is, according to Mr. Pearson, unknown; but it may recall some custom of tolling a bell for an execution, to call the people to pray for the soul of one passing from life. The best-known instance of this custom is the bell of St. Sepulchre's, London; it is also known to have existed at Worcester, Chester, and other Assize towns, and may very possibly have obtained at Exeter.

Nothing has yet been said about "Great Peter," the clock bell, which hangs by itself in the north tower. Its reputed weight is six tons; but its diameter (76 inches) is only a few inches more than that of "Grandison," and its sound-bow (5 inches) not much thicker—in fact, to look at, there seems very little difference between the two bells, and the weight of Great Peter is probably not more than 4 tons. Its inscription tells its history:—"Ex dono Petri Courtenay Episcopi Exon. Anno Dom. 1484. Plebs patriae plaudit dum Petrum ple (nius audit).

Renovat ex impensis Decani et Capituli Exon Anno Dom 1676 per Tho. Purdue."

"The gift of Peter Courtenay, Bishop of Exeter, in the year of Our Lord, 1484. The people of the country cheer, when Peter's note they fully hear. Recast at the expense of the Dean and Chapter in the year of Our Lord, 1676, by Thomas Purdue."

Great Peter has no wheel, and is tolled by being struck with a heavy hammer. It is sounded for matins, and for curfew at 8 p.m., the number of blows for the latter being the number of the day of the month, followed by a pause and then eight blows. It is also sounded for the meetings of the Greater Chapter.

Thomas Purdue, who cast Great Peter and the fourth, seventh, and ninth bells in the same tower in 1676, and the sixth in 1693, was one of a family of bell-founders at Salisbury, over one of whom there is a punning epitaph in Limerick Cathedral;

Here a bell-founder honest and true,
 Until the resurrection lies purdue (French perdu, hidden).

The oldest of the Cathedral bells is from the foundry of the Byrdans (John and Thomas) at Exeter. Their successors in the Exeter foundry were the Penningtons, into whose hands and those of a Cornish firm of the same name came the greater part of the west country business in the eighteenth century. In the late Mr. Ellacombe's list, the Cornish Penningtons are credited with 480 bells, the Exeter family with 174. From an entry in the Cathedral books, however, it seems that their work did not always give satisfaction:—"Resolved, that the Doom-Bell, lately cast by Mr. Pennington, be re-cast by Mr. Thomas Purdue, and be made tuneable and useful in his place." W. Evans, who supplied the four newest of the Cathedral bells (treble, fifth, eighth, and tenor), was an eminent founder at Chepstow in the first half of the eighteenth century, and the Cathedral tenor, "Grandison," is a noble memorial of his art.

The oldest of the existing bells in the Cathedral is, as we have seen, 275 years old. Great Peter, however, preserves the metal of a much older bell; and it is known that in the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries there were bells at the Cathedral called Walter, Bockerel, Chauncel, Germacyn, Jesus, Mary, Peter, Trinity, and Grandison; the metal of some of which may survive in their successors.

The rehanging of this peal is much to be desired, not only for the credit of the Cathedral and city, but for the cause of change-ringing in the west country, where call changes and rounds are still in many cases deliberately preferred to more scientific methods. With the Cathedral as a centre, and an efficient body of ringers on its staff, the work of the Devonshire Guild might be materially helped forward. The ringers of St. Sidwell's church at Exeter, where there is now an excellent peal of ten, are setting a good example; but all over the county there are many towers with fine bells in good order, where even the first sparks of desire to leave the old paths have yet to be kindled. But perhaps in this matter we may all look at home. T. L. P.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION OF SIX-BELL RINGERS.

The usual quarterly meeting was held at Standish, on Saturday, September 19th. Members attended from Blackrod, Chorley, St. James and St. Andrew's Leyland, Preston, St. Mark's Penwortham, and Standish. The methods rung were London Single Bob and Bob Minor. Mr. G. Higson presided at the meeting, and after the minutes of the last meeting had been passed, St. Andrew's, Leyland, was selected for the next quarterly meeting. The meeting then closed with the usual votes of thanks to the chairman, rector and ringers for the use of the bells.

HANDBELLS FOR SALE.—A splendid set of 20 bells in F, 19 size; equal to new; with an elaborate massive stand for tune-playing, with four beaters. Cost £10. To be sold for £6. Apply H.W.H., office of this paper. A rare opportunity.

THE ROYAL CUMBERLAND YOUTHS AT YEOVIL. OPENING OF THE PARISH CHURCH BELLS.

According to huge bills posted about the town for several days past announcing that the Dedication Service would take place on the 25th ultimo and that members of the Royal Cumberland Youths, London, were engaged to open the bells the undermentioned members set out for, and arrived at, Yeovil by the 5.0 p.m. train from Waterloo Station on the 23rd, and were met upon the platform at Yeovil by Mr. Churchwarden Damon, the principal of the firm of Messrs. Jno. Warner and Sons, and several local gentlemen, who seemed as anxious to hear the new ring of bells as were the ringers to ring them. The whole party at once proceeded to St. John's Church, and the bells, after being pulled up, and ropes, &c., being adjusted, were set going at about 9.30 to the tune of Grandsire Caters, and a well-struck touch of about four courses was brought round with evident satisfaction to all concerned, officials as well as ringers. The band were: Messrs. J. W. Mansfield, J. Rogers, B. Foskett, H. Dains, H. Hopkins, J. Hannington, A. Jacob, W. Baron, G. Newman. Tenor 45 cwt. in C. The party then descended the tower, and, after some refreshment, enlivened their friends with touches upon the handbells.

Thursday morning the bells were set going soon after 7.0 a.m., but all hope of a peal attempt was set at rest, as the two trebles were not allowed to be used till after the Dedication Service at mid-day; therefore touches of Stedman and Grandsire Triples were performed at intervals during the morning, and which gave the ringers the opportunity to take a stroll and listen to the large eight bells.

The Church stands apparently about the centre of the town, and its grounds, with a shrub or tree fence, is surrounded by strong iron palisading. The sacred edifice is an early English building in the Perpendicular style, and is considered a good specimen of its period; it has just undergone considerable repair, and the townspeople may well be proud of their restored church. The bells were originally a ring of five (we are told) augmented to eight several years ago. The splice, by the addition of the two trebles now added, is an excellent one, and the "go" of the bells, now hung in new wood and iron frames is excellent, and the work reflects the greatest credit upon the firm of Warner and Sons.

The Dedication Service was attended by the Mayor, D. Colmer, Esq., in all the paraphernalia of office, and a procession of about 50 of the clergy from neighbouring villages and towns headed by Lord Arthur Hervey, D.D., Bishop of Bath and Wells. When entering by the western door, the interior of the church (already full of local gentry) presented an impressive scene, which, like the very able address given by his Lordship, will long remain in memory both of visitors and inhabitants. At the close of the service, his worship the Mayor, by the touch of a wire, set the Cambridge Chimes in motion for the first time, and the tenor bell tolled the hour of 12 a.m. The ringers then gave a touch on the (10) bells and then responded to an invitation to a substantial dinner, the Master occupying the chair. Justice having been done to this portion of the proceedings, the tower was again visited, this time with quite a host of local ringers, friends, church authorities, &c., the belfry being full of visitors, and touches of Grandsire Caters, Stedman Caters, with a course of Kent Treble Bob Royal were performed. The honour of conducting the ringing was divided between G. Newson, J. Rogers, and W. Baron. Ringing over and bells lowered, the new carillon was put in use by J. W. Mansfield, who chimed thereon several sacred hymn tunes, including: "Rock of Ages," "Sun of my Soul," &c. Tea was served at the Hotel, and after the Churchwardens had expressed their satisfaction of the ringers' treatment, and "go" of the bells, with mutual greetings the return journey was commenced, and London was safely reached by the Royal Cumberland Youths at about 10.40 p.m.

ST. MARY'S, LYMM, CHESHIRE.—FURTHER ACCOUNT.

A special religious service was held in the parish church of St. Mary, Lymm, on Saturday afternoon, September 12th, on the occasion of the dedication of the new peal of bells and the new clock. The half-day was observed as a holiday by practically the whole of the village, augmented by a considerable number of strangers. The children of the Sunday School marched in procession, headed by the Church of England temperance brass band, to the church, where they arrived a little after three o'clock. The service was opened by a processional hymn, sung by the choirs of Lymm and Outrington, being headed by the Rector (Rev. W. Guest) and the Ven. Archdeacon Barber, Rev. G. W. Knocker, Rev. G. Egerton Warburton, Rev. H. Leigh Mallory, Rev. C. N. Leigh, and Rev. F. Coward; Messrs. T. Ardern, F. Swallow, and F. Holt, sidesmen; and Mr. Watson, churchwarden. After matins a form of dedication service was read by Archdeacon Barber, in the midst of which the procession came down the aisle singing the "Old Hundredth," and at a signal the ringers rang the first short touch on the bells. At the close, donor of the clock, Miss L. C. Fox, pulled the ribbon which set the clock in motion, and the rector read a form of dedication prayer. The bells were rung by the Witton Church ringers. On the procession returning the Rev. Archdeacon Barber preached from the words "O come let us sing unto the Lord; let us heartily rejoice in the strength of our salvation." After service the Sunday scholars, to the number of 150, were regaled with tea in the schools, and the bells continued to ring out at intervals during the remainder of the day. The handsome clock, which is the gift of Miss Fox, of Brookfield, will be a great boon to the people of Lymm. After a careful examination of the tenders of the principal clockmakers in England, that of Messrs. Wm. Potts and Sons, of Leeds (who are well known for this class of work), was selected. The clock is constructed from the designs of Lord Grimthorpe, the greatest authority on clocks. It has the double three-legged gravity escapement, and all the latest improvements inserted, and strikes the Cambridge Chimes on 4 bells, and the hours on a tenor bell of 30 cwt. The dial is of solid copper, and very strong cast in segments from the designs of Mr. Crowther, architect. Messrs. Potts and Sons have made many of the most important clocks, amongst them being Lincoln Cathedral, Preston, Bolton, Rochdale, Wakefield, Sunderland, and other town hall clocks. Mr. James Potts, of Leeds, represented the makers of the clock, and Mr. Taylor, jun., of Loughborough, the bell founders, and have no doubt but that the clock and bells will help to maintain the high reputation of the above two firms.

WIVETON, NORFOLK.

On Sunday afternoon, September 27th, some of the Norwich St. Peter's Society with Mr. J. W. Spratt, of Norwich, visited the above place for the purpose of ringing on the melodious peal of six bells which were all cast by William Dobson, of Downham, Norfolk, in 1809. The tenor weighs 12 cwt., in the key of G. This is the first time any of the present Norwich ringers have rung on the bells, which were re-hung about three years ago by Mears and Co.

Wiveton is 25 miles from Norwich, and lies between Wells and Sherringham, and about two miles from the north coast of Norfolk. It possesses several features of interest to visitors generally, its beautiful scenery, and fine view, as approached from Holt, of the churches and steeples of Blakeney, Cley, and Wiveton, the bells of which seldom get rung in scientific change-ringing, unless visited by ringers from a distance. A 360 of Bob Minor was rung (after mending a rope) as follows; C. Borrett, 1; E. Francis, 2nd; J. W. Spratt, 3rd; P. Sadler, 4th; F. Knights, 5th; F. H. Knights, Jun., tenor; which was followed by a 720 of Oxford Treble Bob in 23 minutes: F. Knights, conductor, treble; E. Francis, 2; G. Howchin, 3; F. Howchin, 4; F. H. Knights, 5; P. Saddler, tenor. A course of Bob Minor was then rung with three of the local men; Messrs. Hudson, Allen, &c. taking part in it. We are glad to hear that the entire company are going to become members of the Norwich Diocesan Association of Ringers, and will therefore obtain the help of an instructor in the art. The party visited the beautiful church of Cley, where Mr. Spratt was kind enough to explain all objects of interest, pointing out the fine carving work and the old brasses, &c. They wish to take this opportunity of returning thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells.

Ringers' Outings.

A PLEASANT OUTING TO DEVONSHIRE. — On Thursday, August 27th, taking advantage of an excursion, we two brothers, F. K. and H. T. Howell, representatives of bands from Thornbury, Gloucestershire, and St. George's, Bristol, journeyed to Exeter, where some ringing had been previously arranged. On arriving at St. David's station, Exeter, a tram was boarded, which soon landed us near St. Sidwell's church, where the sound of the bells drew us up into the ringing-chamber to meet with pleasant greetings from the brothers F. and E. Shepherd, and rest of the band who had just brought the bells round from a touch of Grandsire Caters, the two new trebles recently added making a capital splice to the former musical peal of eight. After the introductions, etc., and responding to the invitation to man the ropes, a short touch each of Triples and Caters was brought round, and being tea time an adjournment was made for that refreshing beverage. Mr. F. Shepherd kindly accompanied us to a Temperance Hotel, which we made our headquarters. After tea another visit was made to the tower, where more Caters and Triples were indulged in, and rest of evening spent in a most pleasant manner with our brother-strings. Friday morning, soon after six o'clock, found us on our way to St. Thomas' station for Dawlish, a nice watering-place fourteen miles distant, to which return bathing tickets are issued four days per week for the sum of sixpence per journey, and a dip in the briny found us an appetite for breakfast. After strolling through the town, and two or three miles over the hills, we found ourselves at Teignmouth, another fine watering-place. The afternoon was spent seeing the beach, creeping into bathing machines to avoid the storms of rain, then, finding time was creeping on, we returned by train to Exeter, spending the evening at the house of Mr. E. Shepherd listening to handbells being manipulated by Messrs. F. and E. Shepherd, W. Drake, and F. Davey in a most creditable manner. Saturday morning another visit to Dawlish, a dip, and breakfast was repeated, and from there a visit to Exmouth, crossing by the steam launch, and a stroll up the sands brought us to the lifeboat-house. Having obtained the keys, the boat was duly inspected and admired, adding a small contribution toward the expenses of her noble calling, then, finding time rapidly passing, we returned to Exeter, as a peal had been arranged at St. David's tower, locally known as the pepper-box, it being surmounted by a dome. Here a nice little ringing-chamber was found, the only drawback in not being too well ventilated. After the usual preliminaries, "Go" was called to Holt's Original, and after 1½ hrs. good tapping it was brought to an abrupt conclusion through some semi-official procuring keys and walking boldly into the midst of ringers. Thanking for him for his unusual conduct, the rest of the evening was spent in conviviality. The following took part in the above: W. Drake, 1; F. Davey, 2; G. Woodward (conductor), 3; E. Shepherd, 4; F. Shepherd, 5; F. Howell, 6; J. Moss, 7; W. Rew, 8. H. T. Howell unfortunately had to decline on account of ill health. Sunday morning at 9 a.m. found us with our friends at St. Sidwell's, where a good touch of Grandsire Caters was indulged in, each of us taking part. After dinner we paid a visit to the Cathedral, listening to the grand peal of ten chiming for service, which was bright and hearty, being led by a fine choir. Five o'clock found us at St. Edmunds' church, where we received a hearty welcome from ringers, and Grandsire Triples were indulged in. Monday morning at ten o'clock found us again at the Cathedral to meet Messrs. J. Moss and Mudge, to see the bells in the west tower, and on reaching the ringing-chamber were very much interested at the way the bells are brought down, there being no attempt at any circle, which must be very awkward for a stranger ringing. We were informed that 16 men are required to use them in peal. We next visited the bell loft and for the first time in our history looked upon the heaviest peal of ringing bells in England, the tenor being 67 cwt., in B flat. A visit to the castle enclosure, seeing the grand old historical walk, also museum, &c., brought H. T. Howell's visit to a close. Monday evening found F. K. Howell at St. Sidwell's as previously arranged, to attempt a peal of Grandsire Caters, all went well for an hour when a trip brought it to a close, standing as follows: W. Drake, 1; G. Woodiss, 2; E. Shepherd, 3; C. Carter, 4; F. K. Howell, 5;

F. Davey, 6; F. Shepherd, conductor, 7; F. Mudge, 8; J. Moss, 9; W. Kew, 10. Tuesday morning Mr. F. Shepherd and K. F. Howell visited the premises of Mr. H. Hems, the noted modeller and carver. Wednesday, there being a wedding at St. Sidwell's, the bells were set in motion in honour of the event, and in the afternoon the lost peal of Saturday was attempted but failed after an hour's good ringing. The time had, now arrived for F. K. Howell to say good-bye, and Thursday morning found him steaming out of Exeter on board "The Dutchman." We feel we cannot sufficiently thank our ringing brethren at Exeter for making our visit such a pleasant one, and trust we may have in store on some future occasion another such pleasant holiday.

ULVERSTONE RINGERS' ANNUAL TRIP. — On Saturday last, through the great kindness of Mr. G. S. Remington, who takes great interest and an active part in the ringing, the ringers of St. Mary's church, Ulverston, paid a visit to the lake district. Starting with a pull on the home bells, the ringers, accompanied by Mr. Remington, left by the 9.15 train for Lake Side, leaving there by steamer, and arriving at Ambleside at 11.0. They went straight to the church, and lost no time in raising the bells in peal, and after a good ring, comprising some sharp touches of Bob Doubles, the bells were lowered, and after looking round the beautiful church and yard, the company adjourned to the Queen's Hotel, where arrangements had been made for dinner. Here the men were very successful in handling the good things on the table, which were like—"Snowflakes on the river; One moment seen, then gone for ever." Dinner over, the company proceeded to Brathey, and after obtaining the ponderous key, the far-famed Brathey bells were set in motion, and so much was the music admired by the ringers, that peal after peal went ringing out from the tower as only Brathey bells can ring. Upon leaving the churchyard the ringers were congratulated on their performance. The party then walked to the Ambleside pier, starting for home, which was reached at seven o'clock, all being well pleased with their outing. The ringers take this opportunity of thanking those friends who so kindly placed their bells at their service; and also Mr. Remington, for his great kindness in entertaining, and bearing the burden of the day. The Ulverstone company met on the following Monday night for practice, and were again successful in ringing a 6-score of Bob Doubles. E. Shaw (conductor), 1; J. Lamb, 2; J. S. Remington, 3; C. Salterthwaite, 4; W. Cookson, 5; E. Hutton, 6. Tenor 12 cwt.

THE HORNSEY GUILD. — On Saturday, September 19th, the members of this Guild had their annual outing, the place selected being Brighton. The party left London Bridge at 8.20, and after a splendid run arrived at Brighton at 10 o'clock. After refreshing the inner man, a start was made for St. Peter's Church, where the members of the Sussex Association were beginning to muster (it being their "annual field day"). Places were very kindly given to the Hornsey members for a few short touches of Grandsire, Stedman and Treble Bob. After a ramble on the sea shore a start was made for the Grand Concert Hotel, where dinner had been ordered. Full justice having been done to the good things provided, a brake was engaged to take the party to the Devil's Dyke, 6 miles out, rain making the journey a little unpleasant. At 5.30 all assembled at the Unicorn Hotel for tea, which was served in good style by "Host Awcock," a brother-string. The homeward journey now commenced and all arrived safely to town about 10 o'clock, having thoroughly enjoyed the day's outing. The following comprised the party: G. Griffin, J. Hannington, J. Ward, W. King, W. Dixon, W. Ashling, John Yorkshire and the Rev. C. Clementson.

ANNUAL HOLIDAY. — During the past fortnight the writer has had a most enjoyable outing, having visited various churches in Lancashire, Hampshire, and Sussex, and desires, through the medium of this paper, to thank Messrs. Eachus, of Manchester, R. Hill, of Southport; J. W. Whiting, of Fareham; G. Gatland, of Steyning; George Williams, of Brighton; and others for the arrangements so kindly made. Seven peals were attempted, four of which came to a successful issue, and which will be found in the proper place. Grandsire Caters was attempted at the Cathedral, Manchester, but came to grief after 2 hrs. and 7 mins. Bob Major was attempted at Southport, but came to grief after 1 hr. and 30 mins. Stedman Triples was attempted at Steyning, but came to grief after 35 mins. The writer also paid a visit to Blackpool, Portsmouth, the Isle of Wight, and Brighton. — JAMES GEORGE, Rubgy.

THE SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The Sixth Annual General Meeting of this Association was held at Brighton on Saturday, September 19th, when although not favoured with pleasant weather, representatives from the following branches were present to the number of about 70:—Angmering, Arundel, Bolney, Brighton (St. Nicholas), Brighton (St. Peter's), Crawley, Eastbourne (Christ Church), East Grinstead, East Hoathly, Goring, Midhurst, Seaford, Southover, West Grinstead, and Worth. The tower of St. St. Peter's (the parish church), was opened for ringing at 10 a.m., and during the day the bells were heard to the tunes of Double Norwich Court Bob Major, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Major, Plain Bob Major, Grandsire and Stedman Triples. At twelve o'clock a short special service was held in the church, and concluded with a practical address by the Rev. J. W. G. L. Cother, vicar of Yapton, taking for his text "I was glad when they said unto me, we will go into the house of the Lord." At 1.30 p.m. about fifty members sat down to a cold luncheon, the Rev. C. W. Bond taking the chair, supported by the Rev. Knatchbull-Hugessen, rector of West Grinstead; the Rev. J. W. G. L. Cother, the Rev. R. F. Tompkins, Dr. George, of Midhurst, and Mr. George, of Rugby. Amongst other well-known ringers present at the tower and luncheon may be mentioned Messrs. Hannington, Kitchener, Newman, and others from London. Luncheon over, the business meeting commenced, and owing to the important matters to be considered, lasted upwards of two hours. The Lord Bishop of Chichester was re-elected President, and the twenty Vice-Presidents, including the Marquis of Abergavenny, the Earls of Sheffield, March, Egmont, Winterton, and Chichester, and Viscount Hampden, the Archdeacons of Chichester and Lewes, were also re-elected. The committee again contains the same names, while the Hon. Sec., Mr. G. F. Attree, and the Hon. Treasurer, the Rev. R. F. Tompkins, and the Auditors, Messrs. Morris and Fuller, occupy the same posts as last year. The Report and Balance-Sheet were received, adopted, and ordered to be entered on the minutes. On the proposition of Dr. George, seconded by the Rev. J. W. G. L. Cother, the Rev. S. M. Campbell, vicar of Midhurst, was elected an Honorary Member, and twenty-six Active Members were added to the strength of the Association. The following report of a sub-committee appointed at the last General Meeting to consider the desirability of dividing the county of Sussex for the better management of Association Business was then read, and after a considerable discussion it was unanimously adopted.

Report of a sub-committee, appointed at the last Annual General Meeting, to consider the advisability of dividing the county of Sussex and the diocese of Chichester, for the purpose of matters connected with the work of the Sussex County Association of Change-Ringers:—

Gentlemen,

We beg to report that, acting upon our instructions, we met at 136, North Street, Brighton, and thoroughly considered the proposal contained in a resolution moved by Mr. Thwaites at the last Annual General Meeting, when we arrived at the unanimous opinion that the work of the Association could better be carried out from three centres than from one. We therefore advise that the county be divided for the purposes of management only, into Eastern, Western, and Central Divisions, by imaginary lines drawn from north to south, so as to place the respective branches in the above-mentioned divisions as follows:

Western Division.—Amberley, Arundel, Billingshurst, Chichester, Easebourne, Felpham, Fittleworth, Goring, Heene, Lyminster, Midhurst, Milland, Rudgwick, and Slinfold.

Eastern Division.—Ardingley, Battle, Buxted, Chailey, Eastbourne (St. Mary's, Christ Church, and All Saints), East Grinstead, East Hoathly, Heathfield, Maresfield, Ringmer, Seaford, Southover, and Waldron.

Central Division.—Balcombe, Bolney, Brighton (St. Peter and St. Nicholas), Crawley, Horley, Horsham, Hurst, Lindfield, Steyning, Warnham, Worth, and West Grinstead.

We further recommend that at each Annual General Meeting an hon. secretary be selected for each division, whose title shall be "The Divisional Hon. Secretary," and whose duties shall consist as follows:—(i) To arrange two District Meetings for each division each year, so as not to clash with the district meetings in other division one of such meetings being for ringing and general business, the other for ringing and the election of members only. (ii) To collect all subscriptions in their respective divisions, and to pay incidental expenses incurred: sending to the Honorary Secretary of the Association prior to March 30th and September in each year, a statement of account up to June 30th and December 31st, together with the balance in hand. (iii) To forward to the Local Secretaries in his division all reports, notices of meetings, supplies of railway tickets, certificates, peal cards, etc., which shall be required from time to time. (iv) To prepare and forward to the Hon. Secretary for printing, all notices of district meetings or any other matters, giving numbers required. (v) To obtain from the Local Secretaries corrections and particulars for the Annual Report, etc. (vi) The duties of the Hon. Sec. to be—receive reports from the district Hon. Secs., to order and supply the Divisional Hon. Secretaries with all printed matter for distribution, to receive all moneys from the Divisional Hon. Secretaries, to contract and settle all accounts connected with the Association, to call the Annual General Meeting in Brighton as hitherto; to publish the Annual Report, Balance-Sheet, and to supply the same to the Divisional Hon. Secs.

Signed on behalf of the Committee: Rev. C. D. P. Davies, and Messrs. Chandler and Tyler, and the Hon. Sec.

GEO. F. ATTREE, Hon. Sec.

The appointment of the three divisional secretaries was then proceeded with, and upon the names of three enthusiastic ringers being submitted to the meeting by the sub-committee, they were duly elected without opposition. They were as follows: For the Western Division—Rev. J. W. G. L. Cother, the Vicarage, Yapton-Ford; for the Central Division—Rev. F. A. H. du Boulay, Aldrington; for the Eastern Division—Mr. T. Hervy Beams, 5, Clinton Place, Seaford; to whom all matters of detail, and applications for railway cards, peal tablets, and certificates, should be addressed.

The Honorary Secretary then reported that the proposal made at the last Annual General Meeting concerning the subscriptions of Active members, so as to make all pay at the uniform rate of 2s. per member, irrespective of the number of members in a band, had not met with the approval anticipated, three bands having withdrawn their membership, and several others having given notice of their intention to do so should the rule be enforced.

On the motion of the Hon. Sec., seconded by the Rev. R. F. Tompkins, it was decided by an overwhelming majority, that the rule should be reinstated, and that for the future, bands of ten or under should pay at the rate of 2s. per quarter; and, if above ten members, an inclusive sum of 21s. per annum.

The next proposition, also by the Hon. Sec., was as follows:

"That for the future all independent members residing ten miles outside of the county, be entitled to become Life Active Members on payment of a donation of 7s. 6d., such to remain in force only during time of non-residence in the county; such donation to entitle each Life Active Member to a copy of the Annual Report, free, on demand."

This proposal also met with general approval. Numerous questions were asked of the officers by members, thereby evincing personal interest in the work.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Chairman, the Rev. C. W. Bond, who, in responding, expressed the great pleasure it had given him to again meet the members of the Association, and mentioned that during the present year the bells were to be rehung and augmented at the parish church of St. Nicholas, making a peal of ten, and would be the establishment of the first peal of bells of that number in the county of Sussex. He should be pleased to see a large gathering of the members of the Association present at the opening and dedication, and gave them a hearty invitation to luncheon with him on the occasion. The date for the ceremony was fixed for Saturday, December 5th, the day prior to St. Nicholas' Day. Ringing was again indulged in the towers of St. Nicholas and St. Paul, in addition to that of St. Peter, each of which had been kindly thrown open for the use of members. Touches of Double Norwich Court Bob, Kent Treble Bob and Plain Bob Major, Stedman and Grandsire Triples were rung.

The Challenge Bell for the best record of peals during the year was again won by the Angmering Branch.

The Annual Report is now being distributed, and early application should be made by members desirous of a copy.

THE UNEMPLOYED IN EAST LONDON.—At a time when much thought is being given to this matter, a practical suggestion may be of service. Last year more than £300,000 worth of foreign matches were purchased by inconsiderate consumers in this country, to the great injury of our own working people, so true is it that "evil is wrought by want of thought, as well as want of heart." If all consumers would purchase Bryant and May's matches, that firm would be enabled to pay £1000 a week more in wages.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

It is with no small amount of satisfaction that I find myself in a position to compliment our mutual friend Mr. Davies on the many marks of esteem of which he has been the recipient from the parishioners of Ringmer. To say that the Exercise generally will have read the report of these presentations with considerable pleasure is a superfluity of which I don't intend to make myself guilty. Any one who has the good fortune of a personal acquaintance with Mr. Davies will not wonder that he has won golden opinions from the good folk of Ringmer during his residence amongst them; and I can well imagine that the only regrettable feature in connection with this circumstance will be that felt by the inhabitants of the aforementioned Sussex town at losing the company and services of its late estimable curate.

* * * * *

A friend of mine, who was on a visit to Manchester on Monday, the 21st ult., tells me a long story of the handbell contest which took place at the Belle Vue Gardens there on that day, during which he was present. He says he thinks the name of this now celebrated pleasure resort should (at the conclusion of the annual handbell contest, at any rate) be altered to "Bear Garden," if the conduct of the audience be anything to go by. The decision of the judges (one a professor of music from the Paris Conservatoire and the other a musical director of the Cottonopolis City) were, he says, received with uproar, and the hooting and yelling which followed "something awful." But what puzzles me most is that although every year, almost, the decisions of the judges are diametrically in opposition to the loudly-expressed opinions of the audience, yet the annual contests appear to lose nothing in the way of popularity, nor are the prizes offered less keenly competed for. From the tone of my correspondent's letter, I infer that he is one of the dissentients from the judges' decision, but then it must be taken into account that there is a considerable difference between tune-ringing on handbells and change-ringing on tower bells. In the former case any professional musician should be a competent individual to decide upon the merits of the contestants, and naturally these judges being strictly neutral persons, having no special knowledge of the competing bauds, and thus being unbiased, their awards should be accepted as honest, in common fairness. This somehow does not appear to be a characteristic of these Manchester contests. Every year, I believe, there is more or less of a "rumpuss" when the decisions are announced, but still every succeeding contest shews the same keen competition for winning the prizes. That, may be, must be put down as one of those things which—as Lord Dundreary said—"No man can understand," but at the same time, I do think that when persons enter for contests they should accept the decisions given philosophically; and if they are amongst the losers, or if they have not gained as high a position in the awards as they think they ought to have had, they should not complain.

I have been making an attempt to reckon up who is most to be congratulated on the recent additions to the "note-taking staff" of this paper—the readers thereof, the writers of the same, his worship the Editor, or my humble self. But up to this I have not been able to definitely settle the question. Sometimes I think the reader is the one most benefitted; other times I am strongly tempted to class myself as that fortunate individual, seeing that not only does the change afford me welcome relief, but I do so enjoy the pleasure of reading other people's ideas, when expressed in this chatty fashion and clear of cold conventionalisms. Then I picture to myself the Editor in his sanctum, with the morning's post delivery in front of him. There are bulky letters, and thin limpy ones, post cards and newspapers, "all sorts and conditions" almost, of communications. There is a particularly well-filled envelope, which seems to contain copy sufficient for half the paper. On opening it is found to contain quite a panoramic display of touches from a plain course of Grandsire Doubles to a 6-score. Another letter contains a newspaper cutting of two or three long columns, with the modest request that the Editor will give it an insertion in his "highly-valuable paper" next Saturday. And what is the extract all about? Why the opening of a new school in some village, with a country reporter's specimen of verbatim reporting. And so on. Then the Editor thinks—a very common habit of his by the way—or to be more expressive, I would say he cogitates. There are no reports of good big Association meetings. Our friends have for the time being ceased to "fall out by the way," so there is little or nothing in the way of correspondence. To mend matters "Free Lance" is bad with neuralgia, and so "Notes by the Way" will be conspicuously out of the way for that week, at any rate; but still there must be the usual quantum of copy for the printing office. And where is it all to come from? That is what bothers Mons. Le Redacteur considerably. But now, the scene is changed. Other notifiers are coming to the front. Thus, while I shall be contentedly happy in taking a back seat as our new writers are giving us the benefit of their opinions, the readers of "THE BELL NEWS" will be the gainers in getting what I might call contemporaneous opinions, and at the same time our Editor will (so I hope, at any rate) experience less doubtfulness week by week at getting sufficient copy, which will be acceptable alike to himself and the readers. So, "all's well that ends well;" and if my recent indisposition, and numerous business calls, have been the means of bringing out other efforts for our benefit, why, we shall be all the gainers.

* * * * *

Brethren all, let us hear from you more upon questions which so intimately concern us from time to time. You have a most efficient organ wherewith to develop your latent faculties. When a notion strikes you which appears to you calculated to benefit the Exercise, do not hesitate in placing it upon paper in your own fashion, and if you don't want to figure in the correspondence columns, why, send it either to the Editor privately, or to myself, through him, and doubtless good will result in some way or other from your efforts.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1891

THE Sussex County Association has just made a new departure, which we doubt not will prove most beneficial in more than one direction. It has been more than once remarked, that the organization and constitution of the various ringing Associations are susceptible of great improvement, and the step now resolved upon by the above-named body is a move towards such improvement. The work devolving upon the Hon. Secretary of a County or Diocesan Guild, is, in most instances, too vast for one individual, and especially is this the case when the area over which the operations of the Association extend, is wide or irregularly defined. The duties of the office very seldom relax or grow less; in fact, they may be said to increase almost day by day. This may be held to be a good proof that change-ringing is constantly extending, and certainly this is so. But the fact remains that the labours of the executive become much augmented, and the performance of the duties assigned to it grow irksome. There is nothing but that responsibility should be enlarged, and that others should be found who will be both able and willing to put their shoulders to the wheel. The division of an Association into districts effects considerable relief, and by its means the hands of a secretary are left free to attend to important matters which the conflicting duties of sole management prevent him from attending to. The Sussex Association will, we hope, soon behold the benefit which this new departure will bring in its train.

Matthews, 5; G. Gatland, 6; G. Smart (conductor), 7; J. Woolgar, 8. This came to grief through the treble attempting to vary the monotony of the "slow" work by a dodge or two in 4-5 at the end of the eighth course. A 504 of Stedman Triples was then brought round in 16 minutes by J. George, 1; C. Smart, 2; G. Williams, 3; W. N. Holt, 4; J. Matthews, 5; G. Gatland, 6; J. Woolgar, 7; G. Smart (conductor), 8.

SOUTHPORT (Lancashire).—On Tuesday evening, September 15th, at Christ Church, an attempt was made to ring a peal of Bob Major, but it came to grief after ringing 2656 changes, in 1 hr. 30 mins. owing to a miscall. R. Hill, 1; J. Rimmer, 2; D. E. Rimmer (conductor), 3; T. Fielding, 4; J. Rimmer, 5; L. Tyldesley, 6; J. George, 7; W. Rimmer, 8. Afterwards a long touch of Grandsire Triples was rang. J. Rimmer, 1; D. E. Rimmer (conductor), 2; R. Hill, 3; T. Fielding, 4; J. Rimmer, 5; J. Aspinwall, 6; J. George, 7; W. Rimmer, 8. J. George hails from Rugby; J. Aspinwall from Liverpool; the rest belong to the Christ Church company.

While allowing the utmost freedom for the expression of opinion, it must never be considered that we are in any way bound to statements made by correspondents.

To the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS AND RINGERS' RECORD."

ST. LAWRENCE JEWRY.

SIR,—I don't wish to re-open in the least the matters regarding this church upon which I last addressed you. I am however pleased to note that my remarks has led to some improvement in the ringing. Last Tuesday, the occasion being the election of Lord Mayor and Sheriffs, eight bells were rung. I have been informed that the obnoxious hat was no longer there, though some gentleman entered the belfry and tendered the "head ringer" a small gratuity, perhaps having the idea a fee was customary at St. Lawrence. I learn the "head ringer" refused to accept it, but it was taken with avidity by another of the band and afterwards shared by the whole company. Had the authorities of St. Lawrence adopted my proposal to have a competent and respectable band of change-ringers from one of the London great societies to ring their bells, the gentleman who generously offered this fee would have been courteously informed that ringers declined all such gratuities. It seems a pity that this peal of bells, about the oldest eight in the city, at any rate the heaviest, cannot be brought under some clearly-defined control. One of the well-known societies of London should be invited to take charge, the members of whom would be responsible for everything appertaining to the bells to the powers that be. The accepted body, knowing their duties, would under such circumstances accurately perform them, and there would then be no "beating up" all over the Metropolis for ringers, flotsam and jetsam, when wanted, either by the person who fondly calls himself the "head ringer," or any one else. Was not the ringing arrangements at this church at one time regulated by the St. James' Society of London? Perhaps some member of that body could answer the question, and decide this and similar subjects which at the present moment require a tremendous reform.

ENQUIRER.

THE LLLANDAFF PEAL.

SIR,—Mr. "Plain Speaker" refers to our intention of starting for this as a "studiously kept secret." Allow me to say that the sanction of the authorities at Llandaff was not obtained until the Sunday preceding the Thursday on which the peal was rung, which naturally precluded the possibility of announcing it broadcast through the agency of your journal. Immediately the permission was accorded us I took steps to inform such local bands as were likely to be interested.

PRIZE RINGING AT ALMONDBURY.

SIR,—Not being able to be present at the above, I looked forward to last Saturday's paper with much interest, expecting to find in it an account of the doings at Almondbury on Tuesday week last. To my surprise there was not a line about it; but when I got information from another source, I no longer wondered that the account had not been sent to you. Some weeks ago we were told that the standard of ringing at the Liversedge contest was low, not up to the quality of previous occasions; but that, it was said by one of your correspondents, was owing to the scarcity of these contests, and we were told to wait for the coming one at Almondbury, when, with the extra practice gained, we were led to suppose that we should have something extraordinary in the way of faultless ringing. Well, Sir, we have waited, and what is the result? Why, if figures mean anything at all, they show that instead of "taking the shine out" of the Liversedge meeting, the Almondbury ringing has been of a very much inferior stamp. Ten companies entered for the first event, and six for the second; so I will take the first six in each instance for the purposes of comparison, as to their relative number of faults:—

LIVERSEDGE.		ALMONDBURY.
1st Prize	632 faults.	630 faults.
2nd "	643 "	964 "
3rd "	750 "	984 "
4th "	809 "	1192 "
5th "	832 "	1330 "
(No Prize)	952 "	1496 "
Totals	4618 "	6896 "

So that, with all the extra practices given in, the Almondbury meeting was 2,278 faults to the bad, in comparison with the previous one at Liversedge. And besides this, more faults were placed to the credit of the company winning the first prize at the former place than were entered against the sixth down the list at Liversedge, and which in consequence gained no prize whatever. So how does this tally with the statements about more frequent contests bringing better ringing? As I remarked at the beginning of my letter, I was surprised at the non-appearance of the report last Saturday, but now am not at all. I have had as much to do with ringing contests as most people, but I really am getting of opinion that, given a few more instances of prize-rings such as we have had, with their disputed decisions, their equivocal attendant circumstances, and the sinister rumours which—shark-like—follow in their wake, the opponents of these contests will need but to fold their arms and watch the speedy arrival of the day when prize-ringing will come to an unnatural death, and be swept off the face of the earth by the hands of the prize-ringers themselves.

J. CHRETHAM.

A CORRECTION.

SIR,—The correct number of the peal of Double Norwich published by me in your issue of September 26th, is 5008, not 5088 as given.

MIDLAND RAILWAY.—IMPORTANT ALTERATIONS FOR OCTOBER.

SCOTLAND.—The Express leaving London (St. Pancras) at 7.15 p.m. for Leicester, Nottingham, Sheffield, Carlisle, Stranraer (for Belfast and North of Ireland), Edinburgh, Dundee, Aberdeen, Perth, Inverness, and the North of Scotland, will be discontinued. The Expresses leaving London (St. Pancras) for Edinburgh at 9.15 p.m., and for Glasgow at 9.20 p.m., will be united. The combined train will leave London at 9.15 p.m., and run via Leicester, arriving in Edinburgh in time to connect with the Express leaving there at 7.0 a.m., and reaching Dundee at 8.50, and Aberdeen at 11.0 a.m. Nottingham passengers will join and leave the Express at Trent. The Additional Day Express which leaves Glasgow (St. Enoch) at 12.30 p.m., and Carlisle at 3.3 p.m. for Manchester, Liverpool, Leeds, Bradford, and London (St. Pancras), will continue to run. A Dining Saloon Car is run by this train between Leeds and London. Table d'hôte, 3s. 6d. 9.45 p.m. Express Edinburgh (Waverley) to London will be due to reach London at 7.30 a.m., 20 minutes earlier than at present. On Sunday Nights the train will be altered to leave Edinburgh at 9.30 p.m. 9.20 p.m. Express Glasgow (St. Enoch) to St. Pancras will leave at 9.30 p.m. on Weekdays. On Sundays it will leave at 9.15 p.m. as now.

LONDON AND THE NORTH.—9.45 a.m. Express from London (St. Pancras) will be due to reach Leeds at 1.50 p.m., 10 minutes earlier than at present. 12.30 p.m. Fast Train London (St. Pancras) to Matlock and Buxton will be discontinued, and passengers for those Stations will leave St. Pancras at 12.0 noon instead of at 12.30 p.m.

LONDON AND YORKSHIRE SUNDAY SERVICE.—An improved service of Express Trains has been appointed to run between London and Yorkshire on Sundays. Drawing Room Cars are run by some of the Day Express Trains between London (St. Pancras), and Nottingham, Sheffield, Leeds, Bradford, Manchester, Liverpool, Edinburgh and Glasgow. Luncheon and Dining Saloon Cars are run between London and Nottingham, Sheffield, Leeds, Bradford and Manchester. Sleeping Saloon Cars are run between London and Manchester, Glasgow and Edinburgh. First and Third Class Lavatory Accommodation is provided in the principal Express Trains running from and to London (St. Pancras). Full particulars of the Company's Train Service for the Winter appear in their Time Tables and Bills.

Much has been written of late concerning the exorbitant fees paid by bishops on appointment or translation. The Guardian publishes a list of the fees which the late Archbishop of York was required to pay upon his translation to the Northern See. Most of these costly items ought to be dispensed with, and many of the offices totally abolished. We notice that while eleven "songmen" received £1 1s. each for their duties on the day of enthronement, the ringers of the Minster had to be satisfied with the more modest sum of seven shillings each.

ST. STEPHEN'S SOCIETY, BRISTOL.—On the occasion of the wedding of Mr. H. Llewellyn Wethered (partner in the firm of Messrs. Llewellyns and James, bell founders, Bristol), to Miss Harrison, of Liverpool, on September 24th, the above society rang at All Saints, Bristol, 1036 Grandsire Triples. H. Porch, 1; A. Pearce, 2; G. Pearce, 3; W. Paddock, 4; E. Duckham, 5; W. Parsons, 6; G. T. Daltry (conductor), 7; G. Stallard, 8.

FOR SALE.—Splendid peal of 58 Musical Handbells, by Shaw, of Bradford, recently new, ranged chromatically from G. 25 to A. 3, with seven duplicate bells; also 10 books of music, table cover, box, and all requisites for a band. Price complete, £14 nett. Cost above double. Apply—T. Heath, Secretary, Hallamshire Handbell Ringers, 7, Warburton Square, Matilda Street, Sheffield.

In your issue of September 12th, a 5120 peal in this method is given by me, and a footnote states that a 5088 peal, obtains by use of alternate calling to 6th course. This is an error, and such a peal would be false.

The peal here given is the one intended, and as will be seen, obtains by a similar process to the seventh course; the other remarks standing good.

PROPOSED MEMORIAL TO THE LATE W. COPPAGE.

THE ESSEX ASSOCIATION.—RE-OPENING OF THE BELLS AT WEST HAM.

A District meeting of the Association was held on Saturday, October 3rd, at West Ham, in connection with the re-opening of the peal of ten bells, after re-hanging by Messrs. H. Howell and Son, of Ipswich; the whole cost of which has been defrayed by a lady resident in the parish, as a thank-offering for mercies received during illness. At five p.m. a special service was held in the Church, with psalms, prayers and hymns appropriate to the occasion, and a short address by the Rev. T. Stevens, Vicar of St. John's, Stratford, late Vicar of Saffron Walden. During the service at the General Thangsgiving, and again at the last hymn, the bells were rang for a few rounds. Tea for members of the Association was served in the Church Hall after service, about sixty being present. The chair was taken by the recently appointed Vicar of West Ham, the Rev. R. Arnold Pelly, supported by the Secretary and Assistant Secretary (Revs. T. L. Papillon and H. W. Eyre). After tea the usual business meeting was held, at which several new members were elected; among them being the Vicar and two Churchwardens of West Ham as honorary members. A move was then made to the tower, and the bells were set going in touches of Grandsire and Stedman Caters and Treble Bob Royal: but as usual on these occasions, when the belfry is crowded, not much ringing of importance was done.

The bells have been thoroughly re-hung with new head-stocks, metal bed-plates, turned steel gudgeons, improved metal carriages, and gun-metal bearings, grease-boxes, and hinge-caps. They have also been fitted with new wheels, stays, sliders, &c., the clappers with H. Howell and Son's brass bushed clapper-hinge, new rollers, and a complete set of new ropes by Nicoll of Bermondsey. The belfry has also been thoroughly cleaned and re-painted. It is a great pity that opportunity has not been taken to raise the clock case in the belfry (as might easily be done) six or seven feet higher, so as to get it out of the way of the ringers of the first two or three bells. Till this is done, the improvement, so far as the ringers are concerned, will not be complete. The "go" of the bells appeared to give general satisfaction, considering that it was the first day of their use, and the heavy bells have had hardly time to settle in their bearings. A stone tablet at the foot of the belfry stairs records the name of the lady to whose liberality the parishioners and ringers of West Ham, and the members of the Essex Association generally, owe the timely restoration of one of the only two rings of ten in the county.

During the afternoon the Secretary and Assistant Secretary and other members of the Association paid a visit to the tower of Holy Trinity, Barking Road (near Canning Town Station) where there is a handy little peal of six (tenor 7½ cwt.) in good ringing order, and a zealous band of young ringers.

The next District meeting will be held either in December or January, at Romford.

THE OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

HIGH-WYCOMBE BRANCH.—The re-hanging of the tenor bell in the tower of All Saints' church, High Wycombe (by Messrs. Blackburn and Greenleaf, of Salisbury) having been completed on Thursday, September 17th, a service was held the same evening to commemorate the event. A small congregation assembled. Evensong was said by the Rev. H. F. La M. Stowell, and the Lessons were read by the Rev. A. L. Armitage and the Vicar (the Rev. R. Chilton). The hymns sung were 380 and 273. The sermon was preached by the Rev. F. E. Robinson, Vicar of Drayton, from the 23rd and 24th verses of the 9th chapter of Jeremiah. The preacher, in the course of his sermon, said they had a fine peal of bells in their church tower—one of the finest in the Diocese. Some few weeks ago a complete set of changes was rung upon those bells, that was to say there were rung in consecutive order all the possible combinations of changes that could be rung on seven bells. In consequence of this there had been erected a board or tablet recording the performance; bearing the names of those who rang the peal. The preacher then proceeded to answer the question why did they put up this tablet? In order to encourage the band of workers in connection with the bells it was necessary to pay that tribute to them. He thought that in thus recording whole peals of changes they ought to show that the tablets were not simply put up for their own glory, and he suggested it would be well to put on at the top of the tablet a text such as "Praise Him upon the well-tuned cymbals, praise Him upon the loud cymbals." It was right and proper to ring peals and to mention them, for they were costly offerings to Almighty God. The bells themselves were expensive things, and a good deal of expense was necessary in order to keep them in repair, and a peal of 5040 changes must also be a costly offering, as time, labour, application, patience, and temper had all to be combined in the ringing.

A collection was taken on behalf of the bell fund, and the service concluded by the Vicar pronouncing the Benediction. Some touches of Bob Major and Stedman Triples were rung prior to the service, and at the conclusion several touches were rung, the Rev. F. E. Robinson taking part. The tablet in the belfry is a handsome ornament, and records the fact that Holt's ten-part peal of Grandsire Triples was rung in 3 hrs. and 8 mins., on the occasion of the Rev. J. H. Young's marriage to Miss A. M. Chilton. The tablet is about 3 ft. by 2 ft., and painted black with gold lettering. The names of the ringers inscribed thereon are: E. Gadsden, 1; J. W. Washbrook, 2; A. Kirby, 3; A. Heady, 4; W. Whiffin, 5; Rev. F. E. Robinson, 6; A. W. Tubb, 7; B. Page and E. Britnell, 8.

THE OLD EAST DERBY ASSOCIATION.

On Saturday, September 26th, the members of this association held their quarterly meeting at Dronfield. Thirty-two members of the society, representing Dronfield, Eckington, Staveley, Chesterfield, North Wingfield, Bradfield and Ecclesfield, sat down to an excellent repast, generously provided by the Rev. C. J. Bickerstaff, Vicar, which was admirably served by Mr. Henry Allen, of the "Green Dragon" inn.

The meeting was held in the Church Schoolroom, when the Rev. H. E. Terry occupied the chair.

The minutes having been confirmed, it was resolved to hold the next meeting at Eckington, on Saturday, December 26th.

On the motion of Mr. D. Brearley, a hearty vote of thanks was given to the Vicar for the kind manner in which he had welcomed the Association to Dronfield.

The Rev. C. J. Bickerstaff, in reply, thanked them for the kind way in which his name had been mentioned and received. He was pleased to meet so many bell ringers together, and more so because they had a new school to welcome them in. Although not a ringer themselves, he had resolved to become an hon. member of the Association. It had given him great pleasure to listen to the merry peals during that day, and although they could now only boast of six bells, he hoped that the time was not far distant when they would be able to welcome the Association to Dronfield on a peal of eight.

Several new members having been elected, the meeting closed with a hearty vote of thanks to the Chairman, who in acknowledging it wished the Association God-speed, and hoped it would go on and flourish.

The members then adjourned to the tower. The Eckington Company, with the assistance of Mr. D. Brearley, rang a 720 of Oxford Treble Bob. The Dronfield Company also rang a 720, with the assistance of Messrs. J. Biggin and J. Allen, of Norton. Several short touches of Bob Minor were rung by the Wingfield and Chesterfield Companies.

Probably the longest inscription on any bell in the country is that which Mr. J. S. Hadden takes from the bell in Glasgow Cathedral. It is dated 1790, and is as follows: "In the year of grace, 1794, Marcus Knox, a merchant in Glasgow, zealous for the interests of the reformed religion, caused me to be fabricated in Holland for the use of his fellow citizens of Glasgow, and placed me with solemnity in the tower of their cathedral. My function was announced by the impress on my bosom—'Ye who hear me come to learn of holy doctrine'; and I was taught to proclaim the hours of unheeded time. One hundred and ninety-five years had sounded their awful warnings when I was broken by the hands of inconsiderate and unskilful men. In the year 1790 I was cast into the furnace, refounded at London, and returned to my sacred vocation. Reader! thou shalt also know a resurrection—may it be unto eternal life."—Daily News.

RINGERS' TESTIMONIALS TO THE LORD BISHOP OF LICHFIELD.

On Saturday afternoon, September 26th, the parishioners of Lewisham (Kent), presented Dr. and Mrs. Legge with various testimonials of the appreciation in which they have been held. The audience consisted of several hundreds of the leading inhabitants of the entire district, of all shades of religious and political opinion. Amongst the presentations was one by the bell ringers and friends of St. Mary's, of a handsome book rest. In making this presentation the Rev. Teignmouth Shore said that he was present as a bellringer, and wished to present a testimonial (a brass book rest) on their behalf. He alluded to the fascinating and healthy recreation of change-ringing, and to the improvement that had taken place in recent years in the general behaviour of bellringers. The Lewisham belfry would bear favourable comparison with any in the kingdom, and for that they had chiefly to thank Dr. Legge. They wished to ask his acceptance of that testimonial as a token of their warm esteem and regard, which were the outcome of their personal intercourse, which had been marked on Dr. Legge's part by unflinching kindness, courtesy, and consideration. Amongst the many friends he was leaving behind him in Lewisham there were none whose wishes were more hearty, or whose prayers were more sincere, than the bellringers whom he had the honour to represent.

Dr. Legge said that he would not detain them by any words of his beyond expressing his very sincere thanks to the bellringers of the parish of Lewisham for that unexpected and exceedingly gratifying present. It had been a matter of satisfaction to him during his ministry in Lewisham to see a great reformation in their belfry, and he was glad that the Association of Trinity Youths had come forward and taken up the work, which they had conducted in a very respectable and excellent manner. It was very kind of them to remember him on that occasion, and he sincerely thanked them; and also Mr. Teignmouth Shore for the kind words he had used in making the presentation.

A further development of the peal of Grandsire Triples rung at St. Mary's, Lewisham, in honour of the Hon. and Rev. Canon Legge's translation to the Episcopate (and recorded last week), is, writes a correspondent, "worthy of notice, with a view to placing upon record the manner in which his lordship has seen fit to congratulate the Society of Trinity Youths upon a reformed belfry."

"The occasion in point was the final farewell which the youths took of their well-beloved vicar at the Harvest Festival on Saturday last, when the voice of social persuasion added to the ever enticing invitation of their well-beloved bells ensured his presence in the belfry to receive a well executed photograph, framed in solid oak, of a group of the ringers, taken 'midst snow and wind, with their handbells ready to strike that chord which goes further to an Englishman's hearth at Christmas-tide than any words that tongue can speak."

"Mr. Redwell, the steeplekeeper, and the enthusiastic leader of what the Lord Bishop of Lichfield is pleased to term his reformed ringers, made the presentation, and modestly hoped that it would be 'something for him to remember them by.'"

"His Lordship, who stated, with truth, that he was out of breath upon reaching the ringing-chamber, expressed his extreme gratification at such an unexpected presentation, and went on to say that the touch of friendship which had echoed from the bells of his dear old church would be remembered for years to come—he should never forget the work of Mr. Redwell and his brother youths, and he sincerely hoped that the Society would still flourish—he was sure that Lewisham, increasing as it was, would know how to appreciate the efforts of the Society, and he hoped to be able to further congratulate them upon some occasion which he trusted was not far distant. His successor was unknown, but, be he who he may he was sure that as minister of the church he would do everything in his power to help the ringers in the important part they took in the service of the church. He concluded by reminding the ringers that they, like himself, were individually members of one body, and hoped that they would remember, that while he was called to another part of the field to work he was relying upon the Lewisham bells being rung to the glory of Christ and the good of His Church."

"Before service the following members of the Society of Trinity Youths performed 518 changes of Grandsire Triples as follows:—Rev. T. E. Teignmouth Shore, 1; J. Rose, 2; G. Daynes, 3; H. Warnett, 4; F. Rumens, 5; H. Barrett, 6; W. Bedwell (conductor), 7; A. Bedwell, 8.

"The presentation took place after the service, and at its conclusion there was rung a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples, in 42 minutes, by the following members of the Trinity Youths. F. Rumens, 1; J. Rose, 2; G. Daynes, 3; W. Bedwell, 4; J. E. Davis, 5; H. Barrett, 6; F. W. Thornton (conductor), 7; W. Forman, 8."

ST. NICHOLAS, GUILDFORD.

On Monday, October 5th six members of the above band, with the assistance of Mr. G. Woodiss (Shepperton) and Mr. W. Bulpitt (Dorking) met with the intention of ringing a 5168 of Bob Major, as a compliment to the conductor on the occasion of his wedding, which event was celebrated last month. "Go" being called at 5.45, everything had proceeded satisfactorily for two hours and twelve minutes, when just as the conductor was going to call the single at the thirty-third course-end, the fifth rope was seen to hang up, and the ringer made a leap for the nearest window, and a tremendous crash, which shook the tower to its foundations, was heard. Naturally everyone was in a panic, and, following their brother-string's example, made for the windows and door, leaving the ropes flying in all directions, and what a minute before had been a scene of utmost order and quietness was turned into one of utter confusion. The crashing of the bell overhead for a time made the ringers fear that she would be down amongst them. This, happily, did not occur, and after the bells had been got down a move was made to the bell-chamber, when it was discovered that the 5th was lying on her side in the cage, with her wheel and portion of the framework smashed. A closer inspection showed that the gudgeon had broken off short against the stock, the broken piece being found in the bearing without any sign of a flaw in it. In her present position it is impossible to ascertain if any further damage is done to her.

The local band are very much incensed about the affair, as it is only about two years since the tenor broke in exactly the same manner, and the third some years before. The whole peal, which is a new one, has been up about ten years. The bell did not give the slightest warning of anything amiss with her beyond a stroke or two before she fell; a little extra pulling was required to keep her up.

After the ringers had regained their composure, some strong expressions of disapproval were uttered regarding the materials used for the gudgeons.

The band stood as follows:—C. Ede, 1; F. W. J. Rees, 2; J. Heathorn, 3; W. Bulpitt, 4; G. Woodiss, 5; M. Brown, 6; F. Bennett (composer and conductor), 7; W. Grove, 8.

QUEDGELEY, GLOUCESTERSHIRE.

A special dedication service of the bells of the Parish Church of Quedgeley, near Gloucester, was held on Tuesday week. The work was entrusted to Messrs. Taylor, of Loughborough, and carried out in a satisfactory manner. Not only have the old bells been re-tuned and re-hung, with new clappers, fittings, &c., but two new small bells have been added, to complete the ring of eight. The sermon was preached by the Dean of Gloucester, a very beautiful exposition on the words "To what purpose is this waste?" The congregation was a large one, both of parishioners and the gentry and clergy of the neighbourhood. Altogether nearly £200 has been spent, and already a sufficient sum is in hand to bring the scheme to a satisfactory financial conclusion. The ringers from Quedgeley and St. Michael's Gloucester, were entertained by the rector (the Rev. E. L. Bryans), after which they rang Grandsire Triples for two hours and a half.

THE UNEMPLOYED IN EAST LONDON.—At a time when much thought is being given to this matter, a practical suggestion may be of service. Last year more than £300,000 worth of foreign matches were purchased by inconsiderate consumers in this country, to the great injury of our own working people, so true is it that "evil is wrought by want of thought, as well as want of heart." If all consumers would purchase Bryant and May's matches, that firm would be enabled to pay £1000 a week more in wages.

Ringers' Outings.

THE ST. LUKE'S SOCIETY, CANNOCK, AND THE NORTON CANES SOCIETY.—A very enjoyable day was spent on Saturday, September 26th, by these two companies. Arrangements had been made for some time to have an outing together, and according to promise the Norton Canes society made their appearance at Mr. Sellman's posting-house about nine o'clock, a three-miles walk through a drenching rain. After a drop of the Highland dew to dispel the gloom occasioned by the weather, a covered brake was kindly placed at their disposal, and they started with good spirits. "All things come to them that wait," is a good old saying which applies to the weather as well as anything else, for as they neared the red, white, and blue, they perceived one of these colours through the clouds, the weather being fine for the rest of the day. They reached Wolverhampton at the time appointed, and made their way to the old collegiate church of St. Peter, where meeting the "wrong" man, they had a slight rebuff. However, eventually they met the "right" man, and was soon having some good practice on five, six, and ten bells, with the aid of the Wolverhampton gentlemen and a member from Gloucester. After an hour and half good practice here, they made their way to host Freeth's, whose house is conducted in a very respectable manner. An hour was spent here on the handbells, interspersed with songs. As this was not their goal, they loaded up once more, and had another ride to Wombourn, a five-miles ride from Wolverhampton old church. No delay was experienced here in making a start, and with the help of Mr. Claridge, sen. (clerk), they were soon ringing some Grandsire Doubles. After ringing a few minutes, they saw the smiling face of "Noblesse oblige" (Mr. Rock Small), at the church door. Some Minor was now rung, touches of which were conducted by Messrs. Small and Devey, and the Grandsire Doubles by Messrs. J. and A. Rock (Norton Canes). Some of them had the privilege of walking round the vicarage gardens and listening to the bells, which brought to their mind the two lines of that well-known hymn

"Far, far away, like bells at evening pealing,
The voice of Jesus sounds o'er land and sea."

After partaking of refreshments, they started on their homeward way, and putting up at Wolverhampton again, they patronized the above-mentioned house, and was introduced to some good old ringers, who shewed them how to ring Grandsire Caters in style. Ringing on the handbells and songs finished up the night's enjoyment. They wish to heartily thank everybody who helped to add to their enjoyment, especially Mr. Rock Small for so kindly meeting them. They regret that Mr. Cartwright was not able to be with them, but they would remind him of his promise to give them a look in.

WELSHPOOL, MONTGOMERYSHIRE.—The Welshpool company had their first outing on Tuesday, September 29th. Leaving home at 7.50 a.m. for Gresford, which was reached at 9.45, we were met by Mr. Baxter, parish clerk, who informed us that Mr. Williams, the steeplekeeper, was in the tower, and had everything in readiness. The bells were then rose, and we were soon ringing Grandsire Triples, but after three or four fruitless attempts we failed to bring a touch home. A couple of plain courses were then rung. W. Maddox, 1; C. Challinor, 2; E. Thomas, 3; Rev. T. Hughes, 4; W. Jones, 5; T. Barnes, 6; T. J. Bratton, 7; L. Gittins, 8. It may here be mentioned that Gresford is noted for its fine peal of eight bells, tenor about 24 cwt. in A, and they are considered one of the seven wonders of Wales. We then decided to walk to Wrexham—about three miles—and when just leaving Gresford we came across an old antiquarian relic, which stands under an oak tree at the junction of the roads, which after a minute inspection we imagined to be an ancient font. Wrexham was reached about 12.45, and at one o'clock dinner was partaken of at Messrs. C. R. Benson and Co's. Restaurant, in Henblas Street, to which ample justice was done. At 2.15 a move was made to the Church, where we were met by Mr. Barber, the conductor of the Wrexham band, who informed us that everything was in readiness. A touch of Grandsire Triples was then attempted, but lost. We were then assisted by Mr. Barber and another of the Wrexham men, and the ten bells were then rung, none of our band except the conductor ever having rang upon ten before. The fine peal at Wrexham, tenor 28 cwt., are the oldest peal of bells in North Wales, and were cast in the year 1723, and the original receipt for £46 17s. 6d. for casting them, and signed by John Rudhall, may now be seen framed in the belfry. The bells at Welshpool were opened by the Wrexham men in the year 1824, they being at that time the only band of change-ringers in North Wales. We left Wrexham at 3.38 and reached Oswestry at 4.30. We went straight to the belfry, which may be here mentioned is one of the best appointed ringing-chambers to be found anywhere, and owing to the late arrival of one of the band a 216 of Minor was rung. W. Maddox, 1; C. Challinor, 2; E. Thomas, 3; W. Jones, 4; T. Barnes, 5; T. J. Bratton (conductor), 6. Afterwards a 168 of Grandsire Triples was rung. W. Maddox, 1; C. Challinor, 2; E. Thomas, 3; Rev. T. Hughes, 4; W. Jones, 5; T. Barnes, 6; T. J. Bratton (conductor), 7; H. Gittins, 8. Four of the Oswestry ringers, G. Whitfield, Esq., and Messrs. R. Edwards, E. Jones, and T. Rogers then joined us, and two plain courses of Grandsire Triples were rung, after which the bells were lowered in peal. Tea was then partaken of at the "Harlech Castle," after which we strolled about Oswestry until nine o'clock, and Welshpool was reached at ten p.m., after having spent a very pleasant day. We wish to thank the Vicars for the use of the bells, and also the steeplekeepers for having them ready.

ST. MARY'S, SWANAGE, DORSET.—On Thursday, September 24th, the annual outing of the ringers of this church took place. Accompanied by the Rector, the Rev. T. A. Gurney, and the Hon. Sec., Mr. G. F. Parsons, the party started from Swanage at 7.30 a.m. and made for Portland, arriving there about 9.30 a.m. A brake and pair were waiting for them at the station and they were driven round the island, paying a visit to the convict Prison and calling at the Avalanche Memorial Church. A splendid dinner was served in capital style at the Victoria Hotel, Fortune's Well. After dinner they had to make a move to the station, the company alighting at Rodwell, and a pleasant walk of twenty minutes brought them to Wyke Regis, where they were met by the local ringers in the town. The bells being raised, a plain course and 168 of Grandsire Triples with two six-scores of Grandsire Doubles were rung. Through the kindness of the Rev. Bell Salter, tea was partaken of by the ringers, who then proceeded to walk to Weymouth, where they strolled through the town and along the quay to the station. Weymouth was left at 4.50 p.m. and soon the party arrived at Dorchester, where they were met by the Rev. — Allen, Vicar of St. Peter's, and several of the local ringers. They at once repaired and made to the church, where a touch of 504 Grandsire Triples was rung, standing as before. A strong invitation was pressed upon the visitors to stay longer, but the train left too early to accept it. Leaving Dorchester at seven p.m., Swanage was reached at eight p.m., all having thoroughly enjoyed themselves. They wish to thank the respected vicars for allowing them the use of their bells, and also the local ringers for having everything in readiness.

THE YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

On Saturday, October 3rd, this Association added one more to its long list of successful meetings. When at Ripon in June last, the Leeds branch gave an invitation to the Association to hold its annual meeting in their town. With the remembrances of the great meeting at Hull in last October, and in the midst of so many indications of hearty welcome in the city of Ripon, the Leeds branch could not fail to have been conscious of the heavy and responsible task which they were thus taking upon themselves. But, however that might be, the members of the Leeds district threw themselves heartily into the work of making adequate preparations for another gathering of the Association in their town, the first since January 1883, and the first annual meeting there in the whole history of the Association.

Operations commenced about 9.30 on Saturday morning with an attempt at a peal of Kent Treble Bob Maximus by the following members: T. Dixon (York), 1; E. Fearnley (York), 2; H. W. Needham (Hull), 3; J. Broadley (Bradford), 4; T. F. Earnshaw (York), 5; C. H. Hattersley (Sheffield, conductor), 6; J. Barraclough (Huddersfield), 7; F. Woodhead (Leeds), 8; T. Haigh (York), 9; T. Hattersley (Sheffield), 10; C. Jackson (Hull), 11; G. Breed (York), 12. All went on well for nearly three hours, when to the regret of everybody, "stand" had to be called, owing to the two heavy end men being unable to continue longer.

By this time members were coming in from all directions; they came from Armley, Addingham, Birstall, Bolton, Bradford, Bramley, Brighouse, Calverley, Dewsbury, Doncaster, Drighlington, Earlsheaton, Guiseley, Halifax, Harrogate, Headingley, Holbeck, Huddersfield, Hull, Hunslet, Ilkley, Keighley, Knarborough, Low Moor, Liversedge, Liverpool, Mirfield, Ossett, Otley, Pudsey, Queensbury, Ripon, Rothwell, Sandal, Selby, Sheffield, Shipley, Skipton, Tong, Wakefield, Woodlesford, York, and many other places. There was no lack of bells for those who were desirous of having a touch. Besides the ring of twelve at the parish church, the rings of eight at St. Michael's Headingley, St. Chad's Far Headingley, and St. Matthew's Holbeck, had been placed at the disposal of the members by the various vicars. Not unnaturally, the grand new ring at St. Michael's came in for the lion's share of attention and manipulation, the splendid tone of which, as well as their "go," appearing to give universal satisfaction to the visitors.

About 3.30, the Bradford branch (with W. Gill, of Keighley, at the tenor) took possession of the parish church tower, and rang for the service touches of Kent Treble Bob Royal and Grandsire Caters. Four o'clock found a large congregation assembled inside the church. Here the decorations for the coming Harvest Thanksgiving had been hurried forward, so as to be in time for to-day's service, and the chancel especially looked remarkably beautiful. Dr. Creser was at the organ playing the voluntary, one whose theme was unmistakably in peculiar accordance with the congregation listening, and the cause of the day's public service. When the choir entered, it was found to be unusually large, the daily choristers being assisted by many members of the Sunday choir, who had voluntarily given their assistance. It will not be wondered at, therefore, that the musical portions of the service were performed in that manner which has long been characteristic of the choir of Leeds parish church. Their rendering of the "Bell Anthem" (Purcell's "Rejoice in the Lord alway") was listened to with rapt attention, as it fully deserved to be. As the final strains of that grand old anthem was still lingering overhead, as if reluctant to leave, Canon Bullock took up his position at the junction of the central nave and chancel aisles, to deliver the Association sermon, taking for his text Phil. iv. 4, the opening words of the anthem just sung. He said—

The anthem which they had just heard from the choir, and from a portion of whose words he had selected his text, was an old and celebrated one, the original copy of which was in the British Museum. It had long been known as the Bell Anthem, by reason of its introductory passages, where the sound as of bells ringing and swelling—now softly, now loud and deep—was made to come from the pipes of the organ. And very appropriately was it that amidst such musical grandeur as this that we were told to "Rejoice in the Lord alway." Turning to the ringers' own particular instruments, the bells, the irreal origin was lost in antiquity. Some of the oldest specimens extant, and which are now in the British Museum, are in the shape of drinking cups, made of metal so that when those using them "clinked" their vessels together in token of amity, their sound was sweet and pleasant to hear. Then they were gradually enlarged, but how they developed into instruments in connection with public worship, we have no means of knowing, although it was certain enough that they were rung in the heathen temples as well as in the Jewish temple of old. After dwelling for a brief space upon this subject and the original meaning of the ward campanology by which those the ringers' art and science was known, the preacher referred to a writer of the last century, who said that bell-ringing was a science certainly, but one of the lower sort, inasmuch as it required but the physical faculties of man; that any strong man could accomplish it, as it occupied the body only and not the mind. But perhaps that writer's acquaintance with ringing changes on the bells was limited to what he (the preacher) had witnessed in belfries, and what no doubt many present would likewise have witnessed, namely, a certain number of changes written out and placed in some conspicuous place where all those who were ringing the bells could see which set changes they rang, altering at intervals from one to another. But had he (the writer) seen, as they all had seen, the tablets in belfries recording the performance of peals containing 5000 or more changes, he would not have described ringing as requiring only physical capabilities, for now we know that the science of change-ringing requires all the faculties of mind as well as of body. Regarding the work of ringing the bells of the Church (for rings of bells were as a rule in their own church towers) he sometimes feared that while on the one hand change-ringing was not appreciated by the people generally as it ought to be, and as it deserved to be, on the other hand ringers did not adequately recognise and appreciate their true position as a section of Church workers. He fully recognised the often laborious nature of the ringers' work, which made him disinclined to join in the service of the Church after he had performed his duties in the belfry. But even if a ringer found himself not in a fit state to be present at the commencement of the service to which he had assisted in calling others, surely there was much more excuse for him joining in it later on than there was for so many who habitually came in late for worship. If any one had full cause to rejoice in the Lord alway, was it not the ringer, for the possession of those gifts both mental and physical which enabled him to take his part in the work of the belfry? In the full enjoyment of these blessings, he bade others to come to the house of God for prayer and praise, and to rejoice in the Lord. Should not his actions, then, be in accordance with his precepts? Just as the preacher should act in accordance with his preaching, so should a ringer obey the call which he gives to others, and not be like the mile post which points to others the way, but never goes itself. He thanked God that, in a very great measure through the action of Associations such as that under whose auspices they had met that day, a real improvement had been effected in this direction. He trusted this reformation would continue, and that the higher spiritual life which was now manifest in the Church generally had extended no less to her ringers who performed so important a part in connection with her services. "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with all thy might," thus when the bells shall rise or fall or swing in peal together, might the ringer be always found in his right place, ringing his bell in proper order; and that when his earthly end arrived and the muffled bells sounded the departure of his soul, he might then be found in his right place, and be for everlasting in the eternal kingdom of his Lord and Master.

The hymn "Praise the Lord! ye heavens adore Him!" was sung at the conclusion of the sermon, and after the Benediction the large congregation left the church.

Tea was the next item, which was served in the adjoining schoolroom, a large number of ladies of the congregation attending to the wants of the visitors, who numbered over 300, necessitating two "sittings down." It was thus later than had been calculated upon before this necessary (but welcome withal) function was completed, and the actual business of the day commenced. Tables having been cleared away,

Mr. W. Snowdon, President, took the chair, being supported by Messrs. W. H. Howard and G. Bolland, vice-presidents, the Rev. J. G. Simpson, Mr. B. T. Copley, Hon. Sec., Mr. W. Stainthorpe, Treasurer, Mr. Thomas Hattersley, Steward, and other officers. Among those present, also, were Mr. W. Davies, of Liverpool, Mrs. W. Snowdon, and several other ladies.

In opening the business, the chairman briefly alluded to the successful gathering which had characterised their annual meeting, and referred with gratification to the large congregation which had been present at the annual service. He next read the minutes of the previous meeting at Ripon, which were agreed to unanimously. The following officers were then declared duly elected, there being no opposition: Mr. W. H. Howard (York), vice-president; Mr. Thomas Hattersley (Sheffield), steward; and Mr. W. Stainthorpe (Birstall), treasure. For the three places on the Committee, the three retiring members and Mr. W. Abbishaw had been nominated. Mr. McKell, however, had felt it his duty to retire on account of his inability to attend the committee, so that the contest was annulled, and the president declared Messrs. J. Broadley, W. Barraclough, and W. Abbishaw duly elected committeemen for the ensuing three years. In doing so, he paid a tribute of praise to the hon. treasurer, for his kindness in allowing himself to be re-elected for another term of three years, saying that this gentleman's work had been done quietly, accurately, and good naturedly, which had made it quite a pleasure to all to have such an efficient officer. In the matter of Mr. McKell's retirement from the committee, he could not but recognise the good work done by him to the Association for many years, and was certain the members would agree with him in assuring Mr. McKell that although he was not a member of the committee, special attention would always be paid to any communication or suggestions received from him, knowing his zeal for the welfare of the Association.

The President next read letters of apology which had been received from the Bishop of Ripon, the Vicar of Leeds (the Rev. E. S. Talbot, D.D.), and others. Dr. Talbot's letter was to the following effect:—

The Vicarage, Leeds, September 26th, 1891.

MY DEAR MR. SNOWDON,—I write a few words to express my regret that my absence from Leeds will prevent me from shewing the interest which I feel in the work of the Association of ringers. It is encouraging to believe that there is on both sides, a disposition to bring the work of the ringers into closer connection with the general work of the Church, of which it is so properly a part, than was the case in time past. You have the best reason for knowing that at the parish church, we have had very happy examples of this kindly mutual recognition in the generous gifts which have made the belfry more convenient for the ringers, and on their part, in the response which they have made to any interest which has been taken in them. I trust that such happy relations will be both strengthened among ourselves, and will increasingly prevail in the parish churches of the country. I sincerely wish the Association a pleasant visit to Leeds, and I hope that their members may find in the use of our peal, interest and satisfaction.

Yours very truly,

EDWARD S. TALBOT.

No invitation being forthcoming for the place to hold the February Meeting, the selection was left in the hands of the Committee.

Mr. Thomas Lockwood (Leeds), as one of the Auditors, proposed the adoption of the report and balance-sheet, remarking that he had never seen neater or better-kept books. Everything was correct; they had examined the Corporation Scrip, the building society book, and all securities, and could assure the members that everything in connection with the Association's books and securities were in most perfect order.

Mr. Wm. Woodhead (Leeds) seconded the motion, which was carried unanimously.

This report stated that the total number of members last year was 704. During the year one honorary and 61 ringing members had been elected and two former members resuscitated; while on the other hand 8 had been lost by death, and 18 through non-payment of their subscriptions. The number on August 1st, 1891, was: 28 honorary and 714 ringing members—a total of 742. Forty-three peals had been rung during the official year, as against 27 the previous year. The balance-sheet showed on capital account a sum of £201 os. 2d. invested; while the yearly account shewed the receipts to have been £41 18s. 0d. and the expenses £35 15s. 0d.

On the motion of Mr. W. Elliott (Birstall), seconded by Mr. M. Tomlinson (Holbeck), a cordial vote of thanks was accorded to the Auditors, the general officers and Committee, specially to Mr. Stainthorpe, the treasurer, for accepting re-election, and to Mr. McKell, on his retirement, which were agreed to.

The President, having referred to the meeting of the Central Council, and other matters, it was evident that there was no desire to change the representatives, and the question of their expenses in connection with the next meeting was left over until February.

Mr. W. H. Howard proposed a vote of thanks to Dr. Talbot for the use of the bells, the schools and the parochial rooms for tea and business meeting, and the church for service; to the precentor, the Rev. Wynn Healey; the Rev. Canon Bullock, for his most excellent sermon; and to the organist, Dr. Creser, and members of the choir for their rendering of the service.

Mr. T. Lockwood seconded, remarking as he did so on the kindly manner in which the ringers of Leeds Parish Church were treated by those in authority, and it was carried with applause.

The Rev. J. G. Simpson, who in rising to respond, was cordially greeted, humorously remarked that his attempting to address a body of ringers was putting him in a position like the bell he was learning to ring, with its tongue tied. But he hoped it would not be long before he appeared amongst them not as a guest but as one of themselves. He was making diligent efforts to master the science of bell-ringing, although up to the present he feared his progress had been slow, compared with the exertions of his tutor, Mr. Binns. When he first visited the tower he was astonished at what he saw, and immediately after went to his vicar to tell him what a wonderful place their tower was; but to his surprise was told by Dr. Talbot that he himself had been from top to bottom long before. It had given them great pleasure to hear the manner in which their bells had been rung that day; and on behalf of the vicar and their Church authorities, while thanking them for their vote, assured them of their heartiest wishes for the success of their Association and work.

Mr. D. York proposed and Mr. Tomlinson seconded a vote of thanks to the Rev. Canon Wood, of St. Michael's; the Rev. J. T. Hoyle, of St. Chad's; and the Rev. O. Cookson, of St. Matthew's, and to the churchwardens, for the use of their bells, which was carried unanimously.

Mr. G. Bolland (Tong), vice-president, proposed, and Mr. B. T. Copley (Bradford), hon. secretary, seconded a hearty vote of thanks to the Leeds Parish Church branch and their friends for their generous arrangements; and to the ladies and others who presided at tea. This motion was carried with loud applause, and a vote of thanks to the Chairman concluded a most successful meeting.

The members then dispersed in various directions, the bells being kept going until the hour of departure; this completing an event which had been highly creditable alike to the Association and its hosts for the day.

DEBENHAM, SUFFOLK.

On Saturday, September 26th, a service was held in the church of St. Mary, when a sermon was preached by the Rev. E. B. Pearce, Secretary of the Eye District of the Norwich Association, to dedicate the new treble bell that has recently been re-cast at the Whitechapel bell foundry, the other bells having been overhauled and put in perfect going order and tune.

Ringling commenced in the morning at nine o'clock, on the grand old peal of bells, by four members of the local company, and Messrs. J. Motts, W. Motts, I. S. Alexander, and R. Brundle, of the St. Mary-le-Tower company, Ipswich. There were between twenty and thirty ringers present during the day from Ipswich, Diss, Eye, Worlingworth, Earl Soham, Framsden, and Creetingham, when several touches of Bob Major, Treble Bob, Stedman and Grandsire Triples, and Double Norwich were rung, and the fine renovated peal was much admired by all ringers present.

On Sunday morning for Divine Service a touch of Grandsire Triples was rung by the following band:—J. Brady, 1; W. Ruffles, 2; G. Rowe, 3; J. Motts (conductor), 4; W. G. Crickmer, 5; E. Collins, 6; W. Grimes, 7; W. Miller, 8; and a touch of Oxford Treble Bob. J. Motts hails from Ipswich; Crickmer from Earl Soham; and Collins from Worlingworth.

MR. JOHN W. TAYLOR, JUN.—We regret to hear that this gentleman experienced a fall in the foundry a short time ago, injuring his side and ribs, but fortunately no bones have been broken. This accident will prevent Mr. Taylor from doing any ringing for several weeks, and is disappointing on this account because arrangements had been entered into by him to call several new peals of Stedman Caters before Christmas. Our readers will join with us in hoping that he will soon be restored to his usual health and physique.

THE EAST LINCOLNSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

On Saturday September 26th, a cricket match was played at Stickney between the honorary and ringing members, which resulted in a very close game. It looked at one time as if the ringing members would come off victorious, but the President, the Rev. J. H. Cheales, had not forgotten some of his youthful play, he going to bat also last, the score soon began to rise, and at last a big hit from him for three sent the score up to win, and the next ball, sent by his son, took his bales, and all was over. Tea was provided at the "Rose and Crown," presided over by the Rev. G. Hales, captain of the Stickney club. After tea the chairman gave the ringers a hearty welcome, and, referring to the match, said he had presided over several but never over one consisting of all bell-ringers and its connections. He, as one of the society's Vice-Presidents, would not welcome them to Stickney for ringing, as they had only four bells, and they were in a very bad state on account of the tower, which required re-building, but he would to one of the best wickets in Lincolnshire. He thanked the secretary for arranging such a pleasant afternoon's outing, and proposed his health.

Mr. Mason thanked the chairman for his kind remarks about himself and the society, and in doing so said although they had lost the match, they had had a very pleasant outing, and a good result would follow. It had been the means of getting some of the members together, but thought if the chairman could get two more bells added to the present four at his church at Stickney they might have been able to compete with the bells if they could not in the field.

Mr. Abbott proposed "The Chairman." Several tunes were then played on the hand bells, and the company soon after drove home to their different parishes, all having enjoyed a very pleasant outing.

Correspondence.

While allowing the utmost freedom for the expression of opinion, it must never be considered that we are in any way bound to statements made by correspondents.

To the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS AND RINGERS' RECORD."

THE BELLS OF EXETER CATHEDRAL.

SIR,—Allow me to correct a slip in the account printed in your issue of October 3rd. The treble and second of the "Cobthorne" and "Stafford" rings are the second and third of the ring of ten; not (as inadvertently given in my paper) the third and fourth. It is obvious, as a musical friend has pointed out to me, that the fourth and "extra fourth" cannot be used at the same time, whether six or eight bells are being rung.

T. L. P.

A CORRECTION.

SIR,—Will you kindly correct an error which somehow appeared in my letter of last Saturday? In the list of faults, the number against first prize at Almondsbury should be 930, not 630. J. CHERTHAM.

FOR SALE.—Splendid peal of 58 Musical Handbells, by Shaw, of Bradford, recently new, ranged chromatically from G. 25 to A. 3, with seven duplicate bells; also 10 books of music, table cover, box, and all requisites for a band. Price complete, £14 nett. Cost above double. Apply—T. Heath, Secretary, Hallamshire Handbell Ringers, 7, Warburton Square, Matilda Street, Sheffield.

DR. GEO. H. JONES,

SURGEON DENTIST.

And Doctor of Dental Surgery, U.S.A.,
57, Great Russell Street,
BLOOMSBURY, LONDON.
Consultation Daily 10 to 5.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has demonstrated that Painless Dentistry is as much an accomplished fact as the swift locomotive, the telephone, or the phonograph.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, absolutely restores the natural contour, caused by the loss of teeth, rendering detection impossible, by the Prize Medal dentals, which have obtained the highest possible awards, viz.: London, 1851; New York, 1853; London, 1862; Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; and Philadelphia, 1876.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has received from S. G. Hutchins, Esq., Surgeon Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen, a testimonial, which places beyond all doubt the vast superiority of his system. "My Dear Doctor,—Allow me to press my sincere thanks for the skill and attention displayed in the construction of my Artificial Teeth, which render my mastication and articulation excellent. I am glad to hear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. In recognition of your valuable services, you are at liberty to use my name.—S. G. HUTCHINGS, By Appointment Surgeon Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen," Geo. H. Jones, Esq., D.D.S.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has obtained the highest possible awards at the great International Exhibitions for his Improvements in Dentistry, which are protected by Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent, and for Painless and Perfect adjustment of Prize Medal Teeth, viz.: gold medals, London and Paris; gold medal, New Zealand Exhibition, 1882; gold medal, Calcutta, 1883; and the highest diploma of merit and award at Nice and Amsterdam, 1883-4. Awarded the gold medal of the Académie Nationale, Paris, 1884; and the highest award Antwerp; also the gold medal, International Exhibition, London, 1885; gold medal, Liverpool, 1886; gold medal, Melbourne, 1888-9.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, and Doctor of Dental Surgery, U.S.A., consulted daily from 10 to 5, or at any special hour by appointment, and upon a personal visit, every information respecting fees and treatment, without charge, at his only address—

THE NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

The Annual Meeting of this Association was held at Ipswich on Tuesday, October 6th, and was well attended by members from both Suffolk and Norfolk, the towers represented being Aldeburgh, Bramfield, Brockdish, Dickleburgh, Eye, Funden-hall, Grundisburgh, Halesworth, Hasketon, Helmingham, Ipswich (St. Mary-le-Tower), Kelsale, Leiston, Norwich (St. Peter Mancroft), Rendham, Stradbroke, Stowmarket, Wenham, Wickham Market, and Woodbridge. Eight towers were kindly placed at the disposal of the Association for the day, by the incumbents of the parishes named, viz.: St. Mary-le-Tower (12), St. Margaret (6), St. Clement (6), St. Mary Key (6), St. Mary-at-Elm (5), St. Lawrence (5), St. Nicholas (5), St. Matthew (5). It is to be regretted that Ipswich does not as yet possess a single ring of eight bells, all ringing in Major methods and Triples being thus confined to the back eight at St. Mary-le-Tower, where the twelve, we were pleased to learn, are about to be thoroughly refitted by Messrs. Warner and Sons.

A special service took place in this church at 12.45, which might with advantage have been more fully attended by those who came to the meeting, for the sermon was preached by the Rev. Cecil F. Blyth, Rector of Wetheringsett, a member of the Committee, and a good ringer, who gave a most useful and appropriate address from 2 Tim. ii. 20, 21, in the course of which he paid a most feeling tribute to the memory of the late Captain A. P. Moore, who was for many years such a staunch friend to ringers, and supporter of the interests of the Exercise in the Diocese. The Archdeacon of Suffolk, the Ven. Dr. Woolley, also testified by his presence the interest he takes in the work of the Association.

At 1.30 dinner was served at the "Coach and Horses" hotel, in Brook Street, to which 104 sat down, the number overtaking the capacity of the large room, and necessitating the preparation of tables in other apartments. The chair was taken by the President of the Association, the Rev. Dr. Raven, who was supported by the Ven. the Archdeacon of Suffolk, the Hon. Secretary, the Revs. C. F. and A. G. Blyth, W. C. Eppstein, E. B. Pearse, F. J. Moule, and F. Haslewood (St. Matthew's, Ipswich), C. C. Tuck, Esq., Messrs. W. Taylor, F. Knights, and J. Fosdike (District Secretaries), among the visitors being also F. W. J. Rees, Esq., of Guildford, and Mr. R. T. Woodley, the Secretary of the College Youths.

The usual loyal toasts having been given by the President in his accustomed happy manner, that of "Bishops and Clergy" was proposed by Mr. Rees, with a well-deserved compliment to the preacher, and an expression of thanks for his excellent address.

Archdeacon Woolley, responding, expressed the pleasure it gave him to meet the members of the Association, and his appreciation of the society's aims and objects, concluding his remarks with a challenge to the members to ring the bells of East Bergholt, and proposing "Success to the Association."

The Hon. Secretary, in acknowledging the toast, intimated that the Annual Report he was about to read would show that that the Association was making real progress. He expressed his real acknowledgments to Mr. Blyth for his able address, and that more members were not present to hear the eloquent tribute which had been paid to the worth of their lamented friend Captain Moore, reminding those who had not attended the special service that they could not expect the blessing of God to go with them in their pursuit of the Art, if they neglected the opportunity of united prayer and praise, which the annual meeting offered.

The report was then read. After referring to the losses which had been sustained by death during the last twelve months, it was shewn that the Association had made good progress since the last report was presented, no fewer than 166 new members and probationers having been, in that period, admitted to the ranks of the Society, bringing up the total membership, within the Diocese, to 625, viz.: 13 life members, 108 honorary, 453 performing, and 51 probationers. The performances also had been more numerous and varied than usual, special mention being made of the achievement by the St. Mary-le-Tower Society of a peal of Double Norwich Royal within the metropolitan area; and of the first peal of Treble Bob Major ever rung on the back eight at St. Peter Mancroft, by the Norwich Scholars. In the church towers of the Diocese restoration work was steadily going on. The finances were declared to be in a satisfactory condition, there being every reason to expect, at the closing of the accounts, a substantial addition to the balance in hand with which the year began.

The report was adopted on the motion of Mr. Catchpole, seconded by Mr. Woodley. The officers having formally resigned their offices were unanimously re-elected on the proposition of Mr. F. Cooper, seconded by Mr. J. W. Spratt; Mr. F. Knights, of Norwich, and C. C. Tuck, Esq., of Stowmarket, being appointed on the Committee to fill the vacancies caused by the death of Captain Moore, and the withdrawal from the Diocese of the Rev. J. F. Hastings. Mr. Alexander, of Ipswich, was re-appointed auditor. The election of representatives on the Central Council was then proceeded with, when the Hon. Secretary announced that Mr. W. L. Catchpole had consented to withdraw his resignation, and that as one of the two gentlemen who had been nominated for the remaining seat, had declined, there was but one name to submit to the meeting, that of Mr. F. Oswald Moule, the present Secretary for the Ipswich district, who was forthwith declared duly elected amid cheers. The election of new members followed: 1 non-resident life, 6 honorary, 10 performing members, and 15 probationers being admitted.

A special vote of thanks was then, on the motion of the President, accorded unanimously to the Incumbents of the various churches for the use of the bells during the day. This was acknowledged in a humorous speech by the Rev. F. Haslewood, Vicar of St. Matthew's, the only Ipswich clergyman present. The Rev. C. Ward, Vicar of St. Nicholas, had greeted the Hon. Secretary earlier in the day, but could not be present at the dinner, owing to indisposition. Great regret was felt that the Vicar of St. Mary-le-Tower was unable to appear at all during the day to offer a welcome to the Association.

LIVERPOOL DIOCESAN GUILD.

On Saturday, September 26th, the monthly meeting of this Guild was held at Crosby, and there was a good attendance of members. Ringing commenced about three p.m., several touches of Grandsire, Bob and Treble Bob Minor being rung. By the kind invitation of Captain and Mrs. Green, the ringers sat down to an excellent meat tea, and ample justice was as usual done to the good things provided. Captain Green presided afterwards at the business meeting, supported by the Revs. R. Love, W. T. Bulpit, Mr. J. Martin, &c. The Chairman then addressed the ringers and gave them a hearty welcome. He spoke of the good and useful work being done by the Guild. The Rev. W. T. Bulpit said he could endorse all that Mr. Green had said, and since the last meeting a grant of £2 had been made out of the Benevolent Fund to the widow and children of a late member of the Guild, and read a letter from the widow thanking them for their kindness and sympathy. Other items of interest were discussed, and several practical suggestions were given by Mr. Martin, after which five honorary and two performing members were elected. The usual vote of thanks brought a very pleasant meeting to a close.

THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.—FYLDRE BRANCH.

The first quarterly meeting in connection with this branch was held in St. John's schoolroom, Blackpool, under the chairmanship of the Vicar, the Rev. N. S. Jeffery, who spoke very encouragingly, and gave the ringers a warm welcome to Blackpool, afterwards becoming an honorary member. All the Blackpool and Kirkham parish church ringers became members, and also three from Lytham, making a total of sixteen ringing and one honorary member. Canon Hawkins, of Lytham, is already a life member. This branch has now twenty-six ringing, one life, and one honorary members. The meeting decided that the next quarterly meeting be held at the parish church, St. Ann's-on-the-Sea, in January next, due notice of which will appear in this paper. A vote of thanks was proposed and seconded to the Vicar for the use of the bells, to which he favourably responded. Previous to the meeting short touches of Grandsire Triples and Bob Minor were rung. It is hoped that change-ringing may yet flourish in this district, as there are some good rings.

SOCIETY FOR THE ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD.

The quarterly meeting in connection with the above Society was held on Saturday, the 3rd inst., at Wombourn, when there assembled in the fine old church representatives from the following places: Perry Barr, Wolverhampton, West Bromwich, Cannock, Brierley Hill, Dudley, Handsworth, Tipton, Darlaston, Willenhall, Penn and Walsall. Ringing commenced at 4 p.m. with a touch of Grandsire Triples, after which a touch of Stedman Triples was brought round. A short service was held at 5 p.m., and an address given by the Vicar of Wombourn, to which upwards of forty ringers very attentively listened. A committee meeting was held in the vestry, the Rev. J. R. Keble presiding. The minutes of the last meeting having been read and confirmed, three new members were elected, and it was decided to hold the next meeting at Handsworth early in January, 1892. An excellent tea was served in the Schoolroom, which had been very kindly lent for the purpose by the Vicar, who presided, everyone present thoroughly enjoying the good things provided, for which their appetites were in first-class order, having journeyed by train and brake to get there. Tea over, a vote of thanks was proposed and carried unanimously to the Vicar for his address; to Mr. Cartwright for superintending the arrangements for tea; and to the ladies, who very kindly attended to the wants of all present. As it was now time for returning, the horses were put to and the brakes chartered, and away went the party, everyone being fully satisfied with the outing and the success of the meeting.

THE CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

MACCLESFIELD BRANCH.—The twelfth quarterly meeting of this branch was held at Poynton on Saturday, October 10th, when twenty-four members attended from Macclesfield, Bollington, Poynton, and Prestbury. Soon after three o'clock, members began to assemble, and the bells were set swinging to a touch of Grandsire Minor by the Bollington company, followed by a 12-score of Bob Minor (twelve singles) by five of the Poynton band, with the Secretary of the branch, W. Walmsley. Tea was partaken of at five o'clock in the parish schoolroom, presided over by the Vicar, Rev. Thomas Bridge, who was supported by Mr. Churchwarden Everett. After tea, the minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed, and Macclesfield was selected for the next place of meeting on the 16th of January, 1892. Other matters were then disposed of, and a vote of thanks being accorded to the rev. Chairman for his hearty welcome, and the use of the bells and schoolroom, the meeting ended.

On returning to the tower, it was found that the Northenden ringers had put in an appearance, and they were at once sent off to tea in the schoolroom. With the Secretary's assistance three 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles were rung by five of the Prestbury company, and other 6-scores in which Messrs. J. and T. Minshull and W. E. Blackwell took part. A course of Grandsire Triples was also rung on handbells. Most of the members returned home by the 8.7 train, leaving the Northenden ringers more than half-way through a 720 of Bob Minor.

NORTH NOTTS. ASSOCIATION.

On Saturday, October 10th, the members of this Association held their quarterly meeting at Bawtry. About forty members attended, the following towers being represented: Anston, Bawtry, Blyth, Everton, East and West Retford, Harthill, Shireoaks, and Worksop. Tea was provided at "The Crown" hotel. At the business meeting which followed Mr. Haigh, of Retford, was voted to the chair, and it was resolved that the next meeting be held at Harthill on the 16th January, 1891. Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar for placing the bells at the disposal of the members of the Association, and to the host and hostess for the excellent tea. The Bawtry members rang a 720 of Bob Minor in 25½ mins., and this was the only one rung during the day, each other attempt proving unsuccessful.

STRATFORD ST. MARY (Suffolk).—On Wednesday, September 30th, for practice at the parish church, 720 College Single Bob Minor. *W. Ransom, 1; *J. Taylor, 2; A. J. King, 3; F. Balls, 4; *J. W. Smith, 5; W. J. Nevard (conductor), 6. *First 720 in the method. This is also the first 720 in the method on the bells.

RINGERS' WEDDING IN CORNWALL.

A wedding took place at Lanhydrock, the seat of the Right Hon. Lord Robartes, the Rev. J. J. Every officiating, on Wednesday, October 7th, the contracting parties being Miss Blanche Rogers (of his Lordship's household), and Mr. M. V. Coad, from the gardens. After the ceremony in the pretty little church, which was well filled, the wedding party passed midst the music of the bells and showers of rice and flowers thrown by his Lordship's children, to the house, where with their fellow-servants and guests, numbering about fifty, they sat down to a splendid breakfast in the spacious servants' hall. After the breakfast his Lordship asked all present to drink the health of the bride and bridegroom, which was enthusiastically done, and kindly remarked though the weather that day had been sunshine and shower he hoped their life might be long and happy, and sunshine always attend them.

The bridegroom, in replying, said he could not sufficiently show the gratitude of his wife and himself to Lord and Lady Robartes for their great kindness in words, but hoped through life they might be always dutiful to them.

After other customary toasts and the cutting of the bride-cake by the bride, amidst great applause, a dance was opened by his Lordship and the bride, the Hon. Miss Robartes and the bridegroom following. At 6.30 p.m. the bride and bridegroom left for Plymouth, en route for Bristol, for the honeymoon, amid showers of rice, shoes (lucky ones) and the cheers of his fellow-ringers. Dancing was continued until 10 p.m. Miss Sarah Coad and Miss Isabella Rogers, sisters of the bride and bridegroom, acted as bridesmaids, and Mr. Edward Coad, brother, as best man. The presents, including one from the ringers, numbered over fifty. Peals were rung (Cornish fashion) throughout the afternoon by the parish band, the Vicar kindly joining.

A NEW METHOD.—"DARLASTON BOB."

By JOHN CARTER, Birmingham.

After several attempts to ring a peal of Triples at Birmingham and Darlaston, and being unsuccessful, owing to clappers coming out, ropes breaking, stoppages owing to choir practices in the church, etc. a good peal was successfully rung on Saturday, October 10th, at Darlaston (a report of which is to be found in its proper column), by members of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford. Although the method is on the principle of College Single, it cannot be called such, the one being an odd bell method, containing a bell in the hunt, with 5th's place; and the other an even bell method, without a bell in the hunt, and 4th's place instead of 5th's. A lead of the above appeared in "THE BELL NEWS" a short time back. I again publish the lead, and also the peal that was rung, which is on the three-lead principle, the 7th coming home every three leads, and 6-7 every 210 changes. I send the first half of the peal, which is in two parts, by each division of five courses when 6-7 are at home. Bobs are called when the treble is in 5th's place, and made while she is in 3rd's place.

THE RINGERS' GUIDE TO THE CHURCH BELLS OF DEVON. By C. PEARSON, M.A. Price One Shilling, or bound cloth 1s. 6d Postage Threepence.

Ringers' Outings.

ST. WERBURGH'S, BRISTOL.—On Saturday, October 10th, the members of this Society had an half-day's outing, Portbury and Portishead, Somerset, being the places visited. On reaching Portishead, the first thing arranged for was to go on board the training ship "Formidable," which was found very interesting, and where there are generally about 350 lads under training. After leaving the ship the parish church was next visited, where was found a good peal of six, tenor about 18 cwt. Grandsire Doubles was rung here for about an hour. It being then about six o'clock, the inner man wanted attending to, which was done in good style at the "Victoria" hotel. A two miles' ride by train brought the party to Portbury. The church being about a mile from the station, the band had rather an unpleasant walk in the dark and rain. On arriving at the Church the band found a fine ring of six, tenor about 28 cwt., which were a pleasure to ring. Grandsire Doubles was again indulged in for about an hour, being one short for a Minor band. The band had then to make for Portbury station to catch the 9.10 train, Bristol being reached about 10 p.m. The Society take this opportunity of thanking the respective Vicars for the use of the bells, and the sextons, Messrs. Gale, for having everything in readiness.

THE PARISH CHURCH SOCIETY, KETTERING, NORTHANTS.—On Saturday, October 10th, the members of this Society had their first annual outing, the places selected being Tichmarsh, Oundle, and Peterborough, but unfortunately, owing to the downpour of rain for five hours had to content ourselves at Tichmarsh. Leaving Kettering at 8.35, tunes, etc., were played on the handbells on the way to Thrapstone. A halt was made here for refreshments, and after meeting Mr. F. Gilbert, of Raunds, they continued the journey on foot to Tichmarsh, arriving just in time to escape the heavy rain. After obtaining the keys of the belfry the bells were soon set going to the tune of Grandsire Triples, several short touches being brought round. An adjournment was then made to the nearest inn, where a capital dinner was provided by the worthy host, after which the handbells were again brought into use. Returning to the belfry again, several short touches of Triples and Doubles were rung, and the bells lowered. Finding the weather had improved by this time we made our way to Thorp Station and took train to Ringstead, where the bells were soon raised, but owing to some misunderstanding between us and one of the Ringstead band they were soon lowered again, and we made our way to the station. After bidding farewell to friend Gilbert and one or two of the Ringstead band, we continued our journey to Wellingborough, where the "Granville" was soon found, and after the inner man had been attended to and a walk round the principal streets it was time to make the return journey. We arrived at Kettering at 10.30, all having thoroughly enjoyed ourselves. Our most hearty thanks are due to the churchwardens and all subscribers generally for providing such a treat.

TOWN v. GOWN.—So much of the difficulty between the University (of Cambridge) and the town has been due to mere sentiment that it is unfortunate that the feelings of the townsmen should have been ruffled once again. No part of the University powers in dispute is less valuable than that of controlling the entertainments in the town; it is impossible to judge for certain as to the character of the songs which will be given at a concert, or whether an assault-at-arms is going to be a glove-fight. The authorities cannot possibly exercise an effective control, and the town is much irritated at the attempts to exercise any. The last case of interference to prohibit an entertainment occurred before the present Vice-Chancellor entered on office. Wombwell's Menagerie was the entertainment to which leave to come to Cambridge was refused. To treat a wild beast show as an exhibition likely to demoralise undergraduates seems on the face of it absurd.—Guardian.

HANDBELLS FOR SALE.—A splendid set of 20 bells in F, 19 size; equal to new; with an elaborate massive stand for tune-playing, with four beaters. Cost £10. To be sold for £6. Apply H.W.H., office of this paper. A rare opportunity.

To the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS AND RINGERS' RECORD."

A CORRECTION.

SIR,—Kindly allow me to correct an error on my part, in the report of the accident at St. Nicholas', Guildford, in last week's issue. It should have read—"the ringers, with the exception of Mr. F. W. J. Rees, left their ropes, he retaining his rope until the bell was down."

F. BENNETT.

AN EXPLANATION.

SIR,—Referring to the Peal of Treble Bob Maximus at Leeds, the Yorkshire Association Meeting, we think that it is only justice to Mr. George Breed to say that, through an oversight of our steeple-keeper, the clapper of the tenor was left on the wrong side, therefore making it almost impossible for it to be rung through a peal.

ST. PETER'S RINGERS v. CATHEDRAL RINGERS.

Although very late in the season these two ringing societies of St. Albans managed to bring off their return match on Saturday, 26th September, on the Anguloa ground, kindly placed at their disposal by the executive of that club. The wicket was very wet, but the afternoon remaining fine, fully compensated for that drawback, a most enjoyable and interesting game being played, victory resting this time with the St. Peter's eleven. Tea was partaken of at Orpin's restaurant at 6.30, followed by a concert, in which everybody, from the ubiquitous small boy to the grown up individual, expressed delight. Scores:—

ST. OSYTH (Essex).—On Sunday evening, September 27th, at the parish church, on the occasion of the Harvest Thanksgiving services, a mixed band met and rang 720 Bob Minor. A. Humm, 1; J. Taylor, 2; F. Balls, 3; H. E. Bowers, 4; J. W. Smith (conductor), 5; W. J. Nevard, 6. Messrs. Nevard, Humm, and Bowers hail from Great Bentley; Balls from Little Bentley; Taylor from Great Bromley; Smith from Higham, Suffolk.

WORCESTER.—On Tuesday afternoon, October 6th, for Divine Service at the Cathedral, on the occasion of the installation of the new Dean, touches of Grandsire Caters were rung by members of the Cathedral society, including 828, 503, and 306. J. Clements, 1; N. Wale, 2; W. Pudge, 3; H. Pheasant, 4; J. Perks, 5; T. Bullock, 6; H. Wilkes, 7; J. Reynolds, 8; T. Gwynn, 9; W. Hale, 10. The Mayor and Corporation attended the service in state.

HANDSWORTH (Staffordshire).—On Monday, October 12th, for practice, 1008 Grandsire Triples. W. Verry, 1; C. Daniel, 2; F. H. Banks, 3; *B. Starkey 4; S. Atkins, 5; *R. Fanx, 6; T. Westwood, (conductor), 7; T. Verry, 8. *Longest touch with a bob bell.

OLD SWINFORD, WORCESTERSHIRE.

On Thursday, October 1st, at St. Mary's parish church, on the occasion of the Harvest Festival and re-opening of the bells, 720 Bob Minor was rung by five members of the Worcestershire Association, assisted by Mr. J. Buffery, of the St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham. W. A. Pugh, 1; J. H. Parsons, 2; J. Buffery, 3; H. Harris, 4; A. Orford, 5; G. H. Pagett (conductor), 6. Also 720 Grandsire Minor. W. A. Pugh, 1; G. H. Pagett, 2; A. Orford, 3; T. Lees, 4; W. Lawrence, 5; J. Buffery (conductor), 6. It is just twelve months ago, when ringing for the Harvest Festival, that the fourth bell was cracked of this peal. After a futile attempt to weld the bell together again by electricity, the work was entrusted to Messrs. Carr and Co. of Smethwick, to recast it and rehang the whole peal. Great credit is due to the firm for the admirable manner in which the work has been executed. The ringers of the above were highly pleased with the "go" of the bells, and the only thing required is the addition of two trebles, which would make a grand peal of eight. Tenor between 13 and 14 cwt. in F sharp. Messrs. Orford, Pugh, Pagett and Harris belong to St. Thomas', Stourbridge; Parsons to Wollaston; Lees to Hagley; and Lawrence to Wordsley.

ST. GEORGE'S, BRISTOL.

On the occasion of the Harvest Festival at this church on Thursday, September 24th, several ringers, by invitation, visited the place and rang for service in the evening Grandsire Doubles and a short touch of Minor. After service 720 in the same method. R. Channings, 1; C. Gordon, 2; H. T. Howell, 3; J. Davis, 4; W. Emery, 5; C. Tompkins (conductor), 6. On Sunday, September 27th, for morning and evening service, the bells were again rung by visitors from neighbouring towers in touches of Doubles and Minor. After service a second 720 was attempted, but it collapsed after capital striking a short way from home. M. L. Baynham, 1; C. Gordon (conductor), 2; H. T. Howell, 3; J. Davis, 4; W. Emery, 5; C. Tompkins, 6.

To account to the numerous readers of this paper the fact that our bells were rung by visitors, it is most regrettable to have to state that our members to the number of nine resigned in a body a short time before the Festival took place; unfortunately I have been obliged to defend and explain erroneous statements ventilated in the Bristol Mercury, the sum and substance of it being opposition to a weekly subscription of one penny. The proposition was to abolish the penny, and raise the entrance fee from 1s. to 2s. 6d. inclusive. However, at the meeting which was called only four out of the six signing the requisition turned up; and the proposer having no one to second him the motion was dropped. Had they stood shoulder to shoulder, no doubt they would have carried it, but I am afraid that would only have worked up further complications. However, to improve upon their lack of combination, in the first instance they made up for it by gaining a jury of nine members of one mind, to send in their resignation, and now we are left with six bells and two ringers, but as the majority now belong to cricket and football clubs, I expect that has a little to do with their feelings simmering down on bellringing. I also think it would be interesting to many of your readers who have rings in close proximity to houses, and consequently necessitating few practices, to add that we have had unlimited use of belfry and bells since the Guild was formed in 1888. Also the use of schoolroom for hand-bell practice and meetings connected with the Guild, and last, but not least, sole control of our weekly penny and hon. members' subscription. However, as I had the pleasure of teaching the early members of the Guild to first handle the ropes and start them in half-pull ringing, as far as my very limited knowledge would allow, I am quite as willing to go over the old ground again as soon as we get volunteers, and hope it will be but a short time before the bells will again be sending forth the rather doubtful music of their clamouring tongues. I take this opportunity of informing our brother-strings that any time they would like to bring out a band, knowledge of their coming would ensure them a hearty welcome from many parishioners and my unworthy self. Also at the same time, through the medium of this paper, I beg to thank our friends, in the name of the church authorities, for their kindness in coming forward so readily in a time of need.

PRESENTATION TO THE REV. E. MILNER BARRY AND FAMILY.

On Saturday, October 10th, in spite of a downpour of rain, a large number of parishioners assembled in the School House, Scotherne (near Lincoln) to take leave of the Rev. E. Milner Barry, who has, on account of ill-health, been obliged to resign the Vicarage, after an incumbency of nearly thirty-nine years, and to present him with a piece of plate, as a token of regard and gratitude for all that had been done among them during that time. The testimonial consists of a magnificent and richly embossed silver bowl, mounted on an ebony stand, and bearing the following inscription: "Presented to the Rev. E. Milner Barry by parishioners and friends, on his resignation of the Vicarage of Scotherne, in the county of Lincoln, after nearly thirty-nine years' faithful service; Michaelmas, 1891." Together, with an address and the names of the subscribers, this was presented by A. Garfit, Esq., who until lately has resided in the parish, and by the Rev. R. B. Mackenzie, Rector of Sudbrook, who spoke on behalf of friends outside the parish.

The Rev. E. Milner Barry, having read his reply of thanks, a striking and repeating travelling clock was presented to Mrs. Barry, whilst Miss Barry received a fitted travelling bag from Sunday School and Band of Hope children and their friends, and from the Girls' Guild a case of cut glass scent bottles. Mr. R. Taylor, conductor of the ringers (members of the North Lincolnshire Association) then begged Miss Barry to accept a gold pencil case and an address as follows: "To Miss Milner Barry. We, the bellringers past and present of Scotherne, beg that you will accept the accompanying present of a gold pencil-case, as a slight token of our sincere regard, and as an expression of our thankfulness for all the help and encouragement that you have been good and patient enough to give us from time to time."

Miss Barry, in the course of a short speech, stated she was quite unable to thank them sufficiently for all their beautiful gifts, which she did not need to remind her of the many happy days spent at Scotherne. Work undertaken there had always been a pleasure, because everyone had helped her so willingly, from the Band of Hope children, who did their best at practices and concerts, to those older friends whose kind assistance had made the church so bright for the Festival only a few days ago. As for the ringers, she felt it almost her duty to give them a present, so often had a good peal come to an end, because her arms were tired or her hands blistered. She could only thank them once more for all their kind words and lovely gifts, and concluded by expressing a wish that she and her bag might soon find themselves travelling back to Scotherne.

Miss Alda Barry having become the happy owner of an elegant gold bangle, the Vicar closed the proceedings with prayer.

MARWOOD, NORTH DEVON.

Wednesday, October 7th, was a red-letter day in the history of the parish of Marwood, as the fine old bells, cast in 1771, by Thomas Bilbie, of Collumpton—tenor 16 cwt. in F—were then formally re-opened after many years of silence. The treble had been cracked, and altogether their condition was dangerous even for chiming. However the parishioners put their shoulders to the wheel, with the result that they now possess one of the finest peals of six in North Devon. The cracked bell has been recast very successfully by Messrs. Warner, while the work of re-hanging was entrusted to Mr. H. Stokes, of Woodbury, and a right good job he has made of it, the new frame, fittings, beams, and floors shewing thorough workmanship, while the "go" of the bells leaves nothing to be desired.

The Ilfracombe ringers represented the Diocesan Guild, and their splendid striking called forth the admiration of all present. The round-ringers also did some good work in their own style. The services during the day were as follows: Holy Communion at 8.0 a.m.; Matins at 11 a.m., when the bells were re-dedicated, with an address from Canon Trefusis; Evensong at 6.30.

THE UNEMPLOYED IN EAST LONDON.—At a time when much thought is being given to this matter, a practical suggestion may be of service. Last year more than £300,000 worth of foreign matches were purchased by inconsiderate consumers in this country, to the great injury of our own working people, so true is it that "evil is wrought by want of thought, as well as want of heart." If all consumers would purchase Bryant and May's matches, that firm would be enabled to pay £1000 a week more in wages.

THE DEAN OF ROCHESTER AT THE CHURCH CONGRESS.

The columns of the Guardian have during the past fortnight been greatly devoted to the speeches of members of the Church Congress, which has just been held at Rhyl, North Wales. Among the speakers was Dr. Hole, Dean of Rochester, whose appearance is always looked for at each Congress. At one of the Working Men's Meetings he delivered, says the Guardian, "one of his characteristic speeches, which was listened to with deep attention, and loudly cheered again and again." The cost of the paper containing this speech is sixpence, but the entertainment it provides, and the lessons it teaches, are not to be measured by such an expenditure. I cannot commence quoting from what the Dean said at this meeting, because his remarks won't bear clipping, and space is limited. Let my readers get the paper for themselves, and read all the addresses from beginning to end; it will edify them much more than Reynolds or The Referee, and give them an idea of what is being done in the Church, and what remains to be done.

Papers were read at the Congress on "Church Music," and between these papers, says the same authority, the Dean of Rochester "made an amusing speech, which was greatly applauded." I cannot refrain from cutting this out with a hope that the Editor may be pleased to insert it in full. Here it is:—

There has been in my time a marvellous development of Church music. I can remember a time when a Bishop, afterwards an Archbishop, informed certain of his clergy that it was not lawful to chant the Psalms except in cathedrals; when a dear old lady said to me, "My husband and I were always High Church, but we could not go any longer to St. Barnabas's, when they began to sing the Psalms"—(laughter); when it was known to the congregation in St. Peter's, at Marlborough, that they were going to have an anthem, because the choir left the church for "The Six Bells" inn, on the other side of the way, to fortify themselves beforehand with liquid refreshments; in vulgar parlance, to wet their whistles. (Laughter.) I can remember a time when the music in our village churches was a sore trial to him who had a keen sense of humour or an appreciative ear for music, and caused much perturbation of spirit, as when

The wedding guest, he beat his breast,
For he heard the loud bassoon."

I have lived to see the "singing galleries" go down, and with them the basson and the big fiddle, the clarinet and the flute—not without some sadness of regret, for the infinnence of music is almost always good, and these instruments kept many a man in happy content at home. I do not lament the elimination of Tate and Brady, or of those vain repetitions, "O turn my pi", O turn my pi", O turn my pious soul to Thee." I have lived to see the surpliced choir in its proper place; and I rejoice thereat when the surplices are clean, and it cannot be said, Qui color albus erat nunc est contrarius albus; when those who wear them stand for praise and kneel for prayer, and do not sit, and stare, and sprawl; when there is an odour of sanctity and not of peppermint. (Laughter.) There has been, I say, a wonderful progress in the last half-century, and, on the whole, an admirable improvement in the quality of the music and in the behaviour of the musicians; but it seems to me, notwithstanding, that our zeal in some cases has outrun our discretion. A feverish, insatiable craving for organs has become an organic disease. No one admires that glorious instrument, reverently played by a skilled musician, more than I do. It is indispensable in our cathedrals and great churches; but when you find a huge, second-rate instrument occupying a large space in a small church, like a Clydesdale cart-horse in a perambulator, thumped by an amateur who has taught himself, with all the stops out, the result is almost as painful as when the college organist at Oxford, in his drunken imbecility, sat on the instrument and played upon the stool. (Laughter.) I would much rather hear the voices overpowering the organ than the organ overpowering the voices. What we want is, all the impressive effects which an organ can produce, the pathetic sweetness, the resounding grandeur, when it is played alone; but when it accompanies the voice, a subordinate assistance, a help to the choir in leading the congregation. Another hindrance to congregational singing arises from the injudicious introduction of elaborate anthems and of difficult tunes for hymns. When, as in our cathedrals, there is the talent and the culture, music should be heard occasionally in the highest perfection of the art, and though the congregation cannot join they will hear to their edification, if it be reverent, spiritual, as well as artistic and refined. I say if, because I have suffered much from anthems which have been evidently written for the praise and glory of—the composer. As for hymns, I have endured yet more painful, almost shameful, disappointment, when preaching to great congregations, tunes have been chosen which hardly more than a score could sing, and I was told by the clergyman who made the selection that he was educating the taste of the people. He had about as much hope of success as the man who was teaching a weathercock to crow. I have so many dear friends who exclusively admire Gregorian music, and there is such a devotional element in its tones that I hesitate to speak in discouragement, yet I must protest against its use when voices are few and feeble or many and incapable. The discord is suggestive of corncrakes and fighting crows, foghorns, and cracked bells jangled, out of tune, and harsh. In brief, this Gregorian music resembles the young lady who wore a little curl on her forehead. When she was good she was very, very good, and when she was bad she was 'orrid. Let us have elaborate music occasionally, when it can be had in perfection; but as a rule let us have simple but impressive melodies in which all may join. We have heard how this may be done. Let us go home and do our best, in our churches, to practise that which we have heard. God has given to us all the most perfect instrument for prayer and praise, that grand organ, the vocal organ (of which the vox humana stop is a very feeble counterfeit); and it is the duty, as it should be the delight, of every Christian man and woman to say with the Psalmist—"My heart is fixed, my heart is fixed; I will sing and give praise with the best member that I have."

The Dean of Rochester is a Vice-President of the Keat County Association. Alas! this connection with the Exercise is a very faint one. What a tower of strength the Dean would have been to us had he qualified as a change-ringer! Perhaps it is too late in the day now to hope for his appearance in the belfry, if only in the belfry of his Cathedral to see if any improvement can be carried out.

PLAIN SPEAKER.

ST. NICHOLAS', CHURCH, BRIGHTON.

An important improvement is contemplated within the fane of St. Nicholas. Some few years since, when the Vicar of Brighton was in charge, clerestory windows were put in on the northern side of the building and gave considerable satisfaction in consequence of the better light afforded, as well as a much-needed improvement by way of ventilation. Notwithstanding the pleadings which have been made from time to time for funds to secure a vis-a-vis set of windows on the southern side, all efforts had failed in extracting the needful corn of the realm. But the old adage has again proved true about things coming along all right to those who exercise patience. A certain Mr. Astor has made a gift to the church of £200, and this gentleman's beneficence is to be the nucleus from whence the cash is to be drawn for this desirable alteration.

St. Nicholas' belfry is also to come in for a share of the good things, though this part of the church is to be supported by a legacy left by a former churchwarden, Mr. George Shelley. On St. Nicholas' Day a peal of ten bells will have been completed and will be set going on that auspicious occasion. This set will form the only ten bell chamber in Sussex. This feature in campanology has been mainly brought about through the instrumentality of our fellow-townsman, Mr. G. F. Attree. The Vicar of St. Nicholas takes considerable interest in church bells, and not only did he recently preside at the annual meeting of the Society, but has invited the ringers to take lunch with him after doing duty in the belfry on the anniversary of the Patron of Fishermen. Altogether the original parish church means "business."—Brighton Gazette.

ANOTHER FAMILY OF RINGERS.

A correspondent writes: "In Horsmonden there's a family of ringers (father and seven sons), Lambert by name, and I might mention that a few years ago a match of cricket was played between eleven Lamberts and eleven Le Mays (hop factors, of London), and only four of the above family took part in the match."

The Bell News & Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1891

RECENTLY we have with pleasure read of one or two instances where companies of ringers have thought fit to make public their appreciation of the incumbent's work and influence among them. Last week we published an account of a presentation made to the Lord Bishop of Lichfield by the Society of Trinity Youths, which was supplemented by his acceptance from the Lewisham branch of the same society of another appropriate souvenir. In this week's number will be found the report of a similar proceeding. The Vicar of Scothorne, near Lincoln, having to retire from his incumbency through ill-health, the parishioners determined to let him know that they have highly esteemed him through a long vicariate, and to show such esteem they speed him with parting gifts. In this latter case, the daughter of the Vicar is, however, an accomplished ringer, not on hand-bells merely, but in the steeple; and, therefore, the ringers deemed it absolutely necessary that the young lady should not leave without giving her some token to remember her ringing friends.

Such proceedings as these reflect credit on those who promote them. They show that ringers, equally as well as any other portion of the community, know how to appreciate private worth; and it is cheering to possess that feeling of satisfaction which is engendered by the conviction that our brethren are more and more becoming in touch with the clergy.

DR. GEO. H. JONES,

SURGEON DENTIST,

And Doctor of Dental Surgery, U.S.A.,
57, Great Russell Street,
BLOOMSBURY, LONDON.
Consultation Daily 10 to 5.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has demonstrated that Painless Dentistry is as much an accomplished fact as the swift locomotive, the telephone, or the phonograph.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, absolutely restores the natural contour, caused by the loss of teeth, rendering detection impossible, by the Prize Medal dentals, which have obtained the highest possible awards, viz.: London, 1851; New York, 1853; London, 1862; Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; and Philadelphia, 1876.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has received from S. G. Hutchins, Esq., Surgeon Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen, a testimonial, which places beyond all doubt the vast superiority of his system. "My Dear Doctor,—Allow me to press my sincere thanks for the skill and attention displayed in the construction of my Artificial Teeth, which render my mastication and articulation excellent. I am glad to hear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. In recognition of your valuable services, you are at liberty to use my name,—S. G. HUTCHINGS, By Appointment Surgeon Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen." Geo. H. Jones, Esq., D.D.S.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has obtained the highest possible awards at the great International Exhibitions for his Improvements in Dentistry, which are protected by Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent, and for Painless and Perfect adjustment of Prize Medal Teeth, viz.: gold medals, London and Paris; gold medal, New Zealand Exhibition, 1882; gold medal, Calcutta, 1883; and the highest diploma of merit and award at Nice and Amsterdam, 1883-4. Awarded the gold medal of the Académie Nationale, Paris, 1884; and the highest award Antwerp; also the gold medal, International Exhibition, London, 1885; gold medal, Liverpool, 1886; gold medal, Melbourne, 1888-9.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, and Doctor of Dental Surgery, U.S.A., consulted daily from 10 to 5, or at any special hour by appointment, and upon a personal visit, every information respecting fees and treatment, without charge, at his only address—

THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

On Saturday, October 10th, the members of this Association held their Annual Meeting at Liverpool, it being the first time the Association has held its Annual Meeting in the great seaport town. It was feared by some that the many places of interest in the city, and the numerous facilities for sailings on the river, would militate against a good attendance of members; but to the satisfaction of all concerned such was not the case, a good number of members attending, especially from the Manchester branch, some of whom journeyed early in the morning to pay a visit to the Ship Canal works at Eastham. Members began to arrive shortly after 1 o'clock, the headquarters for the day being St. Luke's church, the pro-cathedral and St. Nicholas also having a goodly proportion of ringing. The members came from Manchester, Bolton, Blackburn, Rochdale, Heywood, Rawtenstall, Waterfoot, Ramsbottom, Ashton-under-Lyne, Worsley, Eccles, Widnes, Garston, Grassendale, Southport, Wigan, Wootton, Walton-on-the-Hill, Rusholme, Walkden, etc.

Four o'clock found a good congregation assembled within the church of St. Luke, the choir very kindly giving their services. The Rev. C. Musgrave Brown, senior curate, read the prayers, the lesson being read by the Rev. J. H. Elsee, President. The familiar hymns "Soldiers of Christ, arise," and "Rock of Ages," were heartily sung. The sermon was preached by the Rev. T. J. Madden, Vicar of St. Luke's, who took for his text St. Paul's first epistle to the Corinthians, 10th chapter, part of the 31st verse—"Do all to the glory of God." The rev. preacher spoke of the danger of carelessness in religious matters on the part of those whose duties specially connected them with religious worship. He remembered long ago reading a tract, entitled "What became of Noah's carpenters?" Those men had special opportunities of hearing Noah's warning, and had ever been engaged in the work of putting that warning before the world, and yet they made no use of it for themselves. Again he reminded his hearers how our Lord's denunciations were, in many cases, specially directed against those whose duties connected them with the Temple at Jerusalem. Let all who were connected in any way with the Church's service take the warning to heart, and see that their one aim was to do all to the glory of God.

Tea was partaken of in the schools adjoining the church, and this most welcome portion of the proceedings being concluded, the tables were cleared for the business meeting. The Rev. H. J. Elsee, President, on taking the chair, announced that he had received letters of apology from the Rev. Charles Lowe, the late President, the Right Rev. Bishop Cramer-Roberts, Vicar of Blackburn, the Rev. W. J. Hill (Flixton), the Rev. W. D. Heelas (Middleton), and the Rev. J. G. Leigh (Walton-on-the-Hill). The Rev. T. J. Madden had also expressed his regret that he was obliged to leave Liverpool immediately after the service, and so was unable to attend the meeting.

The President, who was supported by the Rev. H. F. Lloyd (Wigan), Mr. J. Eachus, vice-president and the secretary, said he was glad to see so good a gathering of the Association in Liverpool. Doubtless the bad weather had interfered somewhat with the attendance of ringers from the more distant parts of the county. Still they had a large number present. The Liverpool branch of the Association had had special difficulties to contend with, but it had come through them well, and the thanks of all were due to Mr. Hill, of Southport, to whose untiring energy as secretary the branch owed much of its success. Proceeding, the President congratulated the members present on the satisfactory state of the Association at the present time, both in its numbers and in financial matters. Four years ago it had a balance in hand of £10 12s., with 258 performing members; this year the balance had risen to £59, and the number of members to more than 500. The past year had been uneventful, but the work had gone on quietly and steadily. The question for members to ask themselves was "Is the Association succeeding in its objects in making its members better ringers and better churchmen?" In answer to the first question, he thought that it was at least trying its best to gain success, through its numerous branch meetings. The second he could not answer himself, for he had few opportunities of judging; but from the good attendance of ringers at that day's service, and at one or two other special services at which he had been present earlier in the year, he hoped that the Association was succeeding in this object as well.

The Secretary (Mr. J. Redford) then read the committee's report, which stated that it would be unreasonable to expect that the rapid rate of increase during the two preceeding years would always be maintained. Our numbers are now fifty-one honorary life members, twenty-two honorary members, 499 performing members, and twenty-two non-resident members, making a total of 592 members in all. We regret to say that seventy names have had to be struck off the list, owing to non-payment of subscription for two years; while, no less than ninety-three members have not yet paid their subscriptions for the past year. May we again express a hope that those concerned will quickly remedy this discreditable state of things? We would point out that under the new rule which was passed at the last annual meeting, in order to become a life member it is necessary for a performing member to have paid 15s. without any break in his membership of the Association. Thirty-eight peals of not less than 5000 changes have been rung in seven methods; also 178 720s. The five branches already in existence are in vigorous working order, and we tender our best thanks to the local secretaries for their untiring exertions in their own district. A sixth branch has just been formed in the Fylde district, which will, we hope, bring the Association into touch with a part of the county in which it has hitherto done little work. The state of our finances is most satisfactory. The balance in hand has risen from £48 10s. 6d., when our last report was issued, to £59 2s. 6d. at the present time. Of this £40 has been invested in the names of three trustees in the Post Office Savings Bank.

Mr. W. Davies, one of the auditors, spoke as to the correctness of the balance-sheet, which was unanimously adopted.

The election of officers was then proceed with. Mr. J. Eachus was re-elected Vice-President; Mr. A. E. Wreaks, ringing secretary; Mr. G. Longden and Mr. R. Hill were re-elected members of the committee; Mr. F. Birtwistle was elected in the place of Mr. Harrison, who expressed a wish to retire, which elicited from the President a few words of recognition for the good work done by him for the Association. These remarks are also applicable to Mr. Barratt, who is succeeded by Mr. R. Ridyard, of Worsley. The representation on the Central Council was next introduced by the President. A short discussion ensued, but the meeting was perfectly satisfied with the representatives, and decided to adhere to the former resolution passed at Manchester, viz.: to send two representatives only. One honorary and ten performing members were next elected. Blackburn, Bolton, Manchester, and Rochdale were the places submitted for the next annual meeting. The selection fell on Blackburn almost unanimously, the Right Rev. Bishop Cramer-Roberts, Vicar of Blackburn having kindly given the Association an invitation.

The President proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar, curate, and wardens of St. Luke's; to the authorities of St. Peter's and St. Nicholas; and to the choir and all who had so willingly given their services that day.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Secretaries and the Treasurer, which Mr. J. Redford acknowledged.

The President, in acknowledging a vote of thanks, was received with tremendous applause, which was an evident proof of the popularity he has gained in the Association.

A word of praise is due to Mr. R. S. Mann, and his colleagues for the local arrangements.

At little Maplestead the vicar, the Rev. J. F. Harward, has to toll the bell himself, as there are neither churchwardens, clerk, nor sexton. The church is one of the four round churches in England, measures 30 ft. in diameter, and is 70 ft. long. The living is valued at £68, and the vicar, who resides in Derbyshire, travels to Maplestead every week to conduct the services.

HANDBELLS FOR SALE.—A splendid set of 20 bells in F, 19 size; equal to new; with an elaborate massive stand for tune-playing, with four beaters. Cost £10. To be sold for £6. Apply H.W.H., office of this paper. A rare opportunity.

PRACTICAL HINTS.

Mr. J. R. Jerram, the Secretary of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, sends the following to the Salisbury Diocesan Gazette. He thinks that, where similar vehicles of diocesan information are in existence, secretaries of other Ringing Associations could, with profit, deal with the same subjects in like manner. We think so too.

"Having from time to time received applications from clergy, churchwardens and others, in various parts of the diocese, for hints on the erection of new peals of bells, rehanging old ones, establishing local bands of ringers, belfry rules, etc., I venture to offer the following suggestions, with the sanction of the Master and Committee of the Diocesan Ringers' Guild.

"I. With regard to erecting new peals of bells, rehanging, restoring or augmenting old ones, &c., I would briefly urge that a professional church-bell-founder or church-bell-hanger, as the case may be, should always be employed. On no account should any of this work be entrusted to a local carpenter or builder. Church-bell-hanging is a trade in itself, and can only be done properly by an experienced person accustomed to the work. And here I would just say that bell-fitting and bell-frames, even when put into good order, require occasional overhauling and screwing up by some experienced man; especially in hot dry weather, when the woodwork contracts and the ironwork expands.

"The practice of clocking bells (i.e. chiming or tolling by means of a rope tied to the clapper) should be avoided.

"Bell-ropes should always be obtained from a regular bell-rope maker, and not from an ordinary rope and twine manufacturer. I have frequently known bells, which would otherwise go well, rendered almost unringable on account of the thick, clumsy ropes locally supplied, which probably have cost as much, and even more, than proper bell-ropes.

"II. In establishing a new company of ringers it is as well to make it a society or guild, with the Incumbent of the parish (who has the legal control of the bells) as president. The Churchwardens, or any laymen interested in ringing may also be elected as honorary members, and there can be as many ringing members as may be thought desirable; of which some should be full members and others probationers; from the latter vacancies among the former may be filled.

"Elaborate rules are neither necessary nor desirable, but in forming a new society it is well to lay down definite principles on the following points:—(1.) That the ringers are to be a respectable body of men, and church-goers. (2.) That the belfry be looked upon as part of the church and unseemly behaviour avoided therein. (3.) That fixed days and times for ringing be specified. (4.) That all money received and paid for ringing be duly booked and accounted for. A certain portion of fees paid for extra ringing may be placed to a reserve fund, if thought desirable.

"III. The occasions on which bells ought to be rung may vary somewhat in different places, but it is desirable to have a list of ringing days throughout the year suspended in the belfry. The list should always include the four greater Church festivals (Easter Day, Ascension Day, Whitsunday, and Christmas Day), and one or two loyal occasions, such as the Queen's Birthday and Coronation (and in municipal towns the Mayor's day), may also be added. On no account should the bells be rung for any political matter or anything in which party feeling is likely to exist. Ringing should not be allowed during Holy Week for any occasion whatever. The bells may be rung for weddings, or other special occasions when ordered, with the sanction of the Incumbent. Payment for ringing on the regular ringing days and special occasions should, if possible, be secured. The scale of such payment must depend entirely on the funds at command; but the fees for ringing for weddings or any other occasions ordered by private individuals should be considerably higher than those paid for the regular ringing days.

"Opportunity for practice should be given on at least one evening in the week during the winter months if not all the year round. The bells should be rung for service on Sundays where practicable. Where they are chimed only this chiming should be done by the ringers, unless there is a chiming apparatus, when it is usually done by the steeplekeeper.

"IV. The introduction and revival of scientific change-ringing has done much to improve the moral and intellectual tone of ringers, and is far preferable to rounds and call-changes. But it is not always practicable in small villages or with less than five bells. Various books on the art of change-ringing have been published, but I know of none so really elementary as 'Rope Sight' and 'Grandsire,' both by the late Mr. J. Snowdon, of Leeds. But it can be taught best by a competent instructor, whose services can usually be obtained from the Diocesan Guild of Ringers. Although change-ringing ought to be encouraged in moderation as an art calculated to raise the general tone of the belfry, I must remind those interested in it that it is not necessarily inseparable from good churchmanship, and the danger of the ringers' art becoming a mere sport should always be guarded against.

"On such occasions as the opening of a new peal of bells, or the reopening of an old one after restoration, it is desirable to obtain the assistance of a skilled band of change-ringers, as the performance of a "peal" (i.e. over 5000 changes) is the best test of the efficiency with which the work has been carried out."

DEDICATION OF A NEW PUBLIC CLOCK AT THE PARISH CHURCH, SAWSTON, NEAR CAMBRIDGE.

A fine large clock has been erected in the tower of the parish church, Sawston, which will supply a long felt want, and no doubt be highly appreciated by the village and the district around for many miles. The clock has been made throughout by the well-known firm of Messrs. Potts and Sons, at their clock factory, Guildford Street, Leeds, the makers having been selected from amongst many other competitors, the good work they had done at many other places satisfying the committee that they would be safe in placing the order in their hands. The clock at Sawston shews the time on two large external dials 5 ft. each in diameter, bolted to the walls of the tower. The hands, figures and minutes are gilded, and the back-ground painted black, which enables the time to be distinctively seen at a distance. It also strikes the hours upon the new tenor bell, and the Cambridge or Westminster musical four quarters upon others of the new peal. The clock is well made on the best principles, from the designs of Lord Grimthorpe, and has his gravity escapement, compensated pendulum, and many other of his inventions and improvements, which will, with ordinary care and attention enable it to be a first-class timekeeper. It was started on Thursday, the 15th inst., by Mr. Crampton, in the presence of a large congregation. The occasion selected was very appropriate, being the annual Harvest Festival. The proceedings passed off very pleasantly, and all were pleased with the new clock, and the improved appearance it gave to the church tower, and everywhere was expressed the opinion how useful it would be to the whole parish. Mr. Robt. Potts represented the makers, Messrs. Potts and Sons, Leeds, and gave a few particulars of its construction. Messrs. Potts, we understand, made the clock at Willingham parish church, Cambridge; Baldock, Herts.; Hornsey, near London; Bournemouth pier; Margate Jubilee tower; Southampton public clock; Newbury, Berks.; St. Paul's, Spalding; Lincoln Cathedral, one of the largest clocks in England; and many others in all parts of the country. They are now engaged in making the large clock for the University College, Liverpool, for A. Waterhouse, Esq., the architect, London; clock for Northampton; Kingston-on-Thames; Stockton public clock; Newcastle-on-Tyne, etc., etc.

PRESTWICH (Lancashire).—On Sunday afternoon, September 20th, for Divine Service at the parish church, a half-peal and 9-score of Bob Minor. F. Barlow, 1; R. Fitton, 2; J. Brooks, 3; T. Lund, 4; H. Percival, 5; J. Heywood, 6. And on Tuesday, October 6th, for practice, 720 Bob Minor in 27 mins. F. Barlow, 1; W. Warbuton, 2; W. Minnett, 3; J. Brooks, 4; H. Percival, 5; J. Heywood, 6. These touches were conducted by F. Barlow. Warbuton hails from Whitefield; Lund from Bury; the rest belong to the local company. Tenor 15½ cwt.

WATERFOOT (Lancashire).—On Sunday afternoon, October 4th, at St. James's church, 720 Bob Minor, in 26½ mins. R. H. Halstead, 1; J. Bolton, 2; J. Gratrix, 3; J. Rollerson, 4; J. Smith, 5; J. B. Taylor, 6. The ringers of the 1st, 2nd, and 6th are local men; J. Gratrix hails from Manchester; the rest belong to Rawtenstall.

REOPENING OF HANLEY PARISH CHURCH BELLS.

Saturday, October 17th, brought to a close a work which has been in hand for a long time by the churchwardens of the above church, Hanley is the metropolis of the Potteries. The old peal of eight, tenor about 20 cwt. in E, were cast by Arnold of Leicester, and when the church was built over a century ago, the bells were drawn in procession on a waggon by six horses, and each ringer stood by his bell previous to it being hung in the tower. They have been long out of repair and have continually been patched up by local workmen until they could not be rung at all, and nothing has been done to them for the last four years. However, the churchwardens, Messrs. Heath and Henstock, called in a practical man, and all the framework was found to be in a rotten state, so it was decided to put a new cast iron frame in and add two trebles to the peal, which work was entrusted to Messrs. Warner, who have carried out the work in a very satisfactory manner; indeed the splicing of the bells is the finest the ringers have heard.

Saturday morning found eleven members of the Ashton-under-Lyne society en route for Hanley, having been engaged to open the bells and to ring on the Sunday, when the church was declared free and open, all the old pew-holders having been bought out, the funds having been obtained by diverting some portion of the benefice of Stoke, which was formerly the parish church, until Hanley was made a separate benefice by Act of Parliament.

The party consisted of Messrs. J. and S. Wood, Thorp, Smith, Adams, Mellor, Broadbent, Taylor, Andrew, Longden, and Hopwood. The Secretary arrived about 2 p.m., and after some refreshment made for the tower, it being intended to ring a peal of Treble Bob Royal, but on raising the bells it was found it would be an impossibility, as the tower, which is a brick one, and without buttresses, having the bells hung near the top oscillated so much that it caused the bells to go very bad, and this coupled with the stretching of the ropes, and not being able to hear the bells very well, caused the attempt to be abandoned with much sorrow, as, until now, a peal has not been rung on the bells. However touches of Grandsire, Stedman Caters, and Treble Bob Royal were rung during Saturday and Sunday, to the delight of the inhabitants. In some of the touches Mr. H. Page, late of London, took part. On Sunday evening the ringers were entertained to tea by the Wardens at the Hanley Coffee Tavern, and after service in the Mission Hall, which was conducted by the respected vicar, Mr. Ring, the ringers were cordially welcomed, and rang a course of Caters and a tune on the vicar's handbells. They were kindly invited by Mr. Holcroft to tea, for which they heartily thank him and his estimable lady, and hope before long to have the pleasure of assisting him through a peal, he having a band now learning to ring at Hanley, but all being new to the work it will likely be some time before they are all ready. The ringers wish to give their sincere thanks to all who gave them such a hearty welcome, and to the Rev. Mr. Ring for his cordial greeting which will take a long time to forget. The visitors hope to have the pleasure of attempting a peal when the bells have got settled down. All arrived home about 10 p.m. on Sunday evening, having heartily enjoyed themselves.

THE SURREY ASSOCIATION.

On Saturday, October 10th, was held at Beddington the third quarterly meeting of the above. Ringing began early in the afternoon with various touches of Grand sire, Stedman, etc. At six o'clock a move was made to the "Plough" inn, where a capital tea was discussed by forty members, hailing from Beddington, Benhilton, Carshalton, Croydon, Bletchingley, Ewell, Fulham, Guildford, London, Mitcham, Reigate and Streatham.

After tea the chair was taken by Mr. J. Plowman, and after the minutes of the annual meeting had been read and confirmed, and one peal reported and ordered to be entered in the peal book, five new members were elected. The meeting heard with regret of the death of Mr. Alfred Bruce, for many years representative for Croydon, and decided to elect in his place Mr. William States, the present steeple-keeper. After some little skirmishing, the meeting decided to hold the next meeting at Camberwell on the 2nd Monday in January.

THE HEREFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

The annual Festival of this Guild was held at Ludlow, on Thursday, October 15th. There was a large attendance of visiting ringers from the various towers of the Guild, viz., Tenbury, Clun, Lugwardine, Ross, Bridgnorth, Colwall, Cradley, Coddington, Foray (near Ross), and Withington. The proceedings commenced with Divine service in St. Lawrence's Church, when a most able sermon was preached by the Rev. A. L. Oldham.

After service the company adjourned to the Town Hall for luncheon, which was presided over by the Rev. A. L. Oldham, supported by his Worship the Mayor (J. Valentide, Esq.), the Revs. G. Maddison, J. C. E. Besant, L. C. Wilkinson, J. P. Cranstoun, A. C. Lee, J. E. Davies (Bridgnorth), and Percy Brent. Mr. E. Leake, C.C., — Buchanan (hon. sec.), Alderman W. T. Bessell, Messrs. E. Jones, G. Woodhouse, and F. Cox were also present.

The Chairman, in giving "The Queen" and "The Guild," said he did not know if they were all bell-ringers, but no one had more rung for them than the Queen herself.

The Mayor then said it was his pride and duty to give them all a most hearty welcome to Ludlow, as he was sure his fellow townsmen felt proud of the honour of their company in their noble tower, and they were looking forward to a great treat that afternoon from their demonstrations.

The Chairman, in making some remarks about the Guild, said he was in strong relation to the bell-ringers, although not a bell-ringer. There was one great difficulty in living away from a centre of the Guild, as one may go to Hereford and only find the secretary there, causing loss of time and expense. He should like to make the Guild as useful as possible, and form a centre at Ludlow. He then called on Mr. Hebb (Ross), the treasurer, for a statement of accounts.

Mr. Hebb said he had no statement whatever to present, as they were in debt, and no assets whatever; also that the churchwardens had a claim on the bells; and, unless more money came in, he did not know how the Guild was to be kept up, which was the true statement of the Ecclesiastical Guild.

The Rev. A. C. Lee spoke of the desirability of forming the Guild into districts, as his friend, the Rev. J. P. Cranstoun, informed him that Ludlow could guarantee £10, if others could guarantee, say £5 or £10 to make up the necessary £100 required to maintain the Guild.

The Chairman then called on Mr. Fussell, instructor to the Guild, for his opinion.

Mr. Fussell said that the Diocese was like a large bell, with a boy 10 years of age trying to ring it. No matter how energetic the officers of the Guild might be, it was impossible, without help, for the hon. sec. and treasurer to pull the Diocese round into working order. By dividing it into districts—each district, according to the number of them formed, guaranteeing a sum sufficient to bring in an income of about £100 a year, which would pay all secretarial and business expenses, and permit the employment of local instructors—thus improving its work and usefulness. He had been connected with this Diocese three years, during which time the number of members and towers in union had greatly increased, more so than the funds had. Men were willing to improve and anxious to do better, but felt the want of support from the clergy. During his engagement with the Guild he had met with some dozen clergymen who had been exceedingly kind to their ringers and to him. So long as the ringers were treated well, he did not care so much about himself. For the past 16 months his occupation with the Guild had only lasted about three months, and if he had to depend upon the Guild for a living he would have been in the poorhouse by now—a disadvantage probably to some parishes where the ringers were eager to have him to stay with them. It was impossible for him to go round so large a Diocese in so little time, to do justice to the belfries visited. No wonder, therefore, some of them were disinclined to pay their subscriptions until they saw him. The fear of a premature collapse of the Guild had prevented him giving up the appointment. Unless a serious effort was at once made to place the Guild on a firm basis, it would be as well to give up the undertaking.

The Chairman announced that those who desired to avail themselves of the opportunity of going into the belfry had better do so, and those interested in discussing the best means of carrying on the Guild would adjourn to the Council Chamber.

A meeting was afterwards held in the Council Chamber, presided over by the Rev. A. L. Oldham, the rector of Bridgnorth, and a life member of the society. There were about 25 members present, representing nearly as many towns in the Diocese.

The Chairman, reading from information supplied by the hon. sec., stated that the annual income showed a loss of about £15 or £20, owing to the necessary expenditure exceeding the receipts. This appeared to arise from the fact that, while the Instructor had, as an expert, to be paid as reasonable a salary as might be expected from the nature of his acquirements, the ringers in the various towers, from their general humble position in life, were unable to contribute enough to pay for such services; and, although the Guild was supported by the subscriptions of honorary members and subscribers, yet the list of such members and subscribers was totally inadequate, considering the amount of good accomplished by the Guild.

Several members present then expressed their views on the subject, but no definite suggestions were carried by motion, owing to the divided opinion of this meeting as to whether ringers' subscriptions should be increased throughout the district.

An increase of subscribing town members might be very well expected, but in the case of rural parishes, where the ringers are for the most part drawn from the agricultural classes, the question of subscriptions bears rather hardly, even where such subscription is of the most limited amount; and it appeared to be unanimously approved that to attempt to increase agricultural labourers' subscriptions would be a course which might very well be avoided.

A very general feeling seemed to be that local centres should be formed in as many places as practicable—each centre to guarantee about £4 or £5 annually, and not less than 20 of such centres to be formed,—so that the income of the Guild should at any rate be assured.

The meeting broke up without any special resolution being put and carried, but the opportunity had not been lost of getting ringers' opinions on the subject of how best to keep the Guild together, and we hope good results may follow the efforts of the members who are certainly keen on the object which is next their hearts.—Local Paper.

ERECTION OF A PEAL TABLET AT ST. GILES', READING.

Eight members of the Oxford Diocesan Guild met on Saturday, October 17th, for the purpose of ringing a date touch of 1891 Grandsire Triples, which was successfully brought round in 1 hr. 12 mins. This was rung to commemorate the erection of a tablet recording the only peal of 5040 yet rung upon these bells. The tablet was made by Mr. W. H. Holloway, a member of the St. Lawrence Society, and the writing was done by Messrs. Keen and Chandler of this town. The board was given by the Vicar (the Rev. J. P. Farler) and churchwardens, who have been making other important improvements in the belfry for the comfort of the ringers. It was hoped that the same band that rang in the peal would have been there on Saturday, but, unfortunately, R. T. Hibbert, who was at Exeter, was unable to get to Reading by the time specified for starting, so a substitute had to be found, and a brother of the conductor was asked to take the vacant rope. Great credit is due to him for the way he rung, it being his longest length, having only learnt change-ringing since the peal was rung on the 9th of May last. The following rang in the date touch: H. Dibley, 1; A. E. Reeves (conductor), 2; A. W. Reeves, 3; A. H. Evans, 4; F. Sweetzer, 5; W. Newell, 6; W. J. Williams, 7; H. Smart, 8.

CURRENT TOPICS.

My contribution last week was confined to one subject: the pithy remarks of the Very Rev. the Dean of Rochester at the Church Congress. I had several other matters in my mind which would bear a reference being made thereto, but I know the value of the space at the Editor's disposal, and the calls made upon it, sometimes at the last moment. One of these matters I may as well allude to now, as it has not yet disappeared from my mind.

I refer to the St. Lawrence Jewry episode. The correspondent who under the signature of "Enquirer" has unearthed the doings at this church, appears to be trying his best to have the sins of the offenders visited upon them, and the head ringer there has evidently not pleased him in declining to accept a gratuity offered; nor has the acceptance of the same by another of the company. Perhaps the head ringer, whoever he may be—and I am not in the secret—"smelt a rat." But I think "Enquirer" might have left this last occurrence alone. Entirely antagonistic as I am to any solicitation for a gratuity on the part of ringers, I cannot see any objection to receiving anything that is spontaneously offered by a visitor to the belfry. Should a visitor enter a belfry where I was ringing, and when the bells were set, tendered to me a crown or a sovereign, or any other coin of the realm, I should accept it with thanks, and should hold I did no wrong in devoting it at the meeting-house to the purchase of refreshment among the members. Objections to such a course are only made by croakers.

At the meeting of the Norwich Association the other day another reproof was administered to some of the members on account of their non-attendance at the Church service which was specially arranged for them. These non-Church goers are among the first to splutter about being Church workers, and all the rest of it. But a ringer who prefers to hear or take part in the small talk—sometimes bounce—of a tavern parlour, to attending a service in the church solely provided for him, is a worker of another sort, of whom the Church is better without. The day will certainly come, and it can't arrive too soon, when those who regard ringing from its lowest aspects, will be thrust from its practice. This is plain speaking, and I intend it to be so. What encouragement is there to arrange for these services if they are not well attended? They are not provided without some trouble. The preacher has to make the address a special one for the occasion, and then there are no hearers, or else a very few. How a ringing clergyman must on such occasions reckon-up some of those who are fond of calling him a "brother-string." The most rural village club who attend Church en masse on their annual feast-day, puts many ringers to shame in this respect.

The account of the "resignation" of the ringers at St. George's, near Bristol, is an ex parte statement. For the life of me I cannot understand the position of affairs. Yet, Mr. H. T. Howell (I suppose he is the writer) makes a point—which, he says, is not the least—of the members of the society having the control of their own penny weekly and hon. members' contributions! What a remarkable thing, Mr. H. T. Howell. It would satisfy the curious, if Mr. Howell would state who, in his opinion, ought to have the control of the members' contributions.

The presentation at Scothorne was a very interesting and pleasing ceremony. I was pleased to see the Editor's comment upon these displays of feeling. I'll be bound to say that the ringers of Scothorne attend the church services, and they would consider themselves fortunate could they hear from the pulpit of their church an address from a clergyman who is a ringer.

I see that the reports of touches are again increasing. This is noticeable, on account of the fact that some time ago the pages of our paper were not so full of them as formerly; a falling off, which was, I think, noticed at the time by my worthy collaborateur, "Free Lance." Now, I am opinion that the publication of touches, no matter how small the number of changes rung, is a good sign of vitality in the Exercise. Such reports may not be interesting to those who are never at ease unless they can see their own names in three, four or six peals; but these clever people ought to be told that their names sometimes become stale from constant repetition. Some of our friends, whose names figure in touches, have as healthy an ambition for something better as those whose fortune it is to score a frequent peal, only local circumstances of kinds innumerable militate against their desire. Nevertheless, I should like to give a hint to those of the fraternity who send these touches. First of all, write out your copy plainly. From a brief conversation I had with a compositor employed on "THE BELL NEWS"—and I am happy to say that I am allowed free access to the composing-room—I gathered that much of the touch "copy" is sent up in a very careless manner, and the amount of time expended in the elucidation and translation of these hieroglyphics—for in some instances they are nothing else—is a serious item in printing-office economy. I also was told that, under the best conditions, the setting-up of the type for the touches was far from pleasant. I don't doubt this at all. To a compositor, who knows nothing of ringing, the constant repetitions must be monotonous in the extreme. I recollect seeing some time ago a witty verse, in which a compositor on our paper is supposed to bemoan his fate. We need not add to the discomforts of compositors even. The exercise of a little more care in the preparation of reports would greatly assist them in their duties, and I hope my brother-strings will note this in future.

PLAIN SPEAKER.

THE MIDLAND COUNTIES' ASSOCIATION.

The second quarterly meeting of the year was held at Leicester, on Saturday, October 17th, when the following towers were open for ringing: St. Margaret's, St. Martin's, St. Mark's, St. Mary's, St. Saviour's, and St. George's. Tea and general meeting took place at the St. Margaret's Coffee Rooms, about sixty members being present from Burton-on-Trent, Beeston, Loughborough, Nuneaton, Barwell, Stoney Stanton, Sandiacre and Rugby. Through the unavoidable absence of the President (A. Percival Heywood, Esq.) the Rev. Arthur M. Readell, Vicar of St. Margaret's, Leicester, was unanimously elected to take the chair, and two honorary (including the chairman), one life, and six ringing members duly elected. After the minutes of the previous meeting had been read and passed, Burton-on-Trent was unanimously selected for holding the next quarterly meeting. Sixteen peals have been rung by the Association since the last meeting, including two peals of London Surprise by the Duffell Society, and the meeting heartily congratulated the performing members upon this achievement, and the Hon. Sec. was ordered to duly enter the vote upon the minutes. Hearty votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicars of the various churches for the use of the bells that day; to the Leicester branch for so kindly providing a free tea for visiting members, and to the chairman for presiding.

THE UNEMPLOYED IN EAST LONDON.—At a time when much thought is being given to this matter, a practical suggestion may be of service. Last year more than £300,000 worth of foreign matches were purchased by inconsiderate consumers in this country, to the great injury of our own working people, so true is it that "evil is wrought by want of thought, as well as want of heart." If all consumers would purchase Bryant and May's matches, that firm would be enabled to pay £1000 a week more in wages.

The Bell News & Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1891.

THE Annual Meeting of the Hereford Diocesan Guild, just held at Ludlow, contains very few cheering or hopeful prognostications of future success: The burthen of the position, we are told, is the poverty of the ringers, both in esse and in posse, within the Diocese, which prevents them from making the smallest contribution to the funds of the Guild. If this be so in fact, it is remarkable, to say the least. The population of the Diocese, or rather the bell-ringing population, is said to consist, in the main, of agricultural labourers, whose weekly wage is too small to allow them to use the least fraction of it for anything but the common necessities of life. This, if we understand correctly, is one of the principal difficulties the executive of the Guild have to contend against.

Many who read these lines will be of opinion that agricultural labourers, who are ringers, if they feel the interest in ringing which they ought to feel, and have any heart in them, could manage, without undergoing any tremendous privation, to subscribe one shilling per annum to the Guild's funds. And if they would do this, there would be more inducement for the gentry of the Diocese to come forward with their yearly subscriptions. We do not say the wealthy people ought to hang back from assisting the movement, till the ringers shewed that they had tried to do their part. But it would appear, nevertheless, that, until the latter put their shoulders to the wheel in the direction we are indicating, the former will continue to hold aloof.

We have, in our experience, seen many ardent ringers among the rural labouring population, who have always been to the fore with their subscriptions, as much as their more fortunate brethren. And it will take something to dispel the idea that, with many of the members of the Hereford Guild, the power is not lacking to promote its interests, but the inclination. The Guild has been established some years; the services of an intrepid and experienced instructor have been employed; and yet the members are far behind most other Guilds. The lack of support from wealthy Churchmen may be a great factor in the poor progress which has resulted, and such apathy on the part of those who ought to help the cause is to be greatly deplored; but the ringers of the Diocese should prove themselves equal to the position, by straining every means they know of to bring their Guild to the front.

Review.

By SCRUTATOR.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.—This Report which is just to hand, covers the period of the Association's existence and work from January to December, 1890. "In presenting the Report for 1890, the Hon. Secretary feels that he may congratulate the Association upon a successful year upon the whole. The division of the county into districts appears to work fairly well, and as the new constitution gets more understood, and the Association spreads in the county, doubtless the number of districts will be largely increased, so that there will be no tower or band of ringers without an official of the Association within easy reach. But there is much to be done before this state of things can come about, and it can only be effected by the earnest efforts, not only of the Hon. Secretary, but of every band and every individual member of the Association." So the Report commences. After referring to seven district meetings and the Annual Meeting held during the year, it continues: "There are 160 Honorary Members, of whom 18 are Life Members, 456 Practising Members, of whom 87 are Probationers, making a total of 616. . . . The most noticeable feature of the year has been the extraordinary increase in the number of peals rung, so that the Association stands at the head of the list published by Mr. Attree in 'THE BELL NEWS.' Then we are told that "in 1891 thirteen peals were rung, the total number entered in the peal-book since the formation of the Association being 89. In 1890 the number rose to 61 peals." These dates appear to be a bit mixed up, but that probably may be set down to a clerical error, for which, likely enough, poor long-suffering Mr. Printer will get the blame of. These peals for 1890 are made up of: Stedman Caters, 1; Grandsire Caters, 3; Kent Treble Bob Major, 3; Canterbury Pleasure Major, 3; Bob Major, 5; Grandsire Major, 1; Stedman Triples, 5; Oxford Bob Triples, 1; Union Triples, 1; Grandsire Triples, 29; Canterbury Pleasure Triples, 1; Bob Triples, 1; three Minor methods, 1; two Minor methods, 2. That list accounts for 57 out of the total of 61. A further examination of the peal records discloses that 5 peals of Union Triples have been rung, which covers the deficiency. This is a most creditable record, as well for its being "top scorer" in quantity as well as for methods rung. These 61 peals were rung in 19 different towers; 135 members took part in them, and 27 conductors, in which latter Mr. E. Barnett takes first place with 8. It will thus be seen that 1890 has been a busy year with the Kent Association in the matter of peal-ringing, at any rate; and I heartily compliment the members on that score. Turning to the balance-sheet on page 5, I find the receipts for the year to have been made up as follows: Honorary Members' Subscriptions, £20 12s.; Life Members, £10 10s. od.; Practising Members, £42 13s. od.; Ditto, Life, 7s. 6d.; Dinner Tickets, Certificates, and sale of Reports account for another £2 2s. 9d., making a total of £76 5s. 3d. Against this the disbursements mount up to £78 13s. 9d. There are only seven items of expenditure, and when I looked upon them—well, I will say, I pondered. The seven district meetings have absorbed £14 11s., and the Committee meetings £1 15s. 3d. That might be passable, though appearing somewhat excessive; but what can be thought of the Annual Meeting which is credited with an expenditure of no less than £40 17s. 8d. Over forty pounds for one days' meeting! We are told that it was attended by 200 members, thus it cost an average of more than four shillings per head for all present. But still the annual subscription of Practising Members is only half that amount. I almost begin to be ashamed of constantly referring to this extravagant expenditure in connection with Association meetings; but usually, when out of £78 13s. 9d. no less than £55 8s. 8d. has been paid in what I suspect is nothing else but subsidising members in attending meetings, I cannot refrain from expressing my opinion that for progressive purposes the money appears to have been, to say the least of it, most extensively used in an equivocal direction. Then when one looks at the next item of £6 14s. 6d. for "Instruction and Inspection," the contrast between them becomes, as Mrs. Partington would say, "ojus." Had the items been reversed, I should have had much pleasure in complimenting the Association on the judicious management of their finances. I expect I shall be treading heavily on some one's corns in these remarks, but I can't help it. He is a false friend who utters praise when he knows in his own heart that kindly admonition is really required of him. The objects of the Association are stated on page 2 to be "to cultivate and encourage the good old English art of change-ringing, and to create a more general interest in it; to secure the due recognition of ringers as Church officials, and the proper care and use of bells and belfries." To this, I am tempted to think should be added: "and to entertain members at annual and district meetings out of the subscribed funds of the Association." One thing I would not omit to mention, namely, that the printing of the Report has been executed at the office of "THE BELL NEWS" in a very creditable manner.

NOTICE.

Mr. Deards wishes to thank the numerous applicants who answered his advertisement, and begs to state that the vacancy is filled.

NOTE TO THE PEAL RUNG AT LODDON, NORFOLK.—This is the first peal in the Kent Variation, and the longest length yet rung upon the bells. The ringers were entertained by the Vicar to a substantial dinner. Afterwards they were invited to the vicarage, where several selections were played upon the handbells by Messrs. Knights and Warnes, in the presence of Mrs. Maybaw and several ladies. The ringers take this opportunity to thank the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Maybaw for their kind invitation, and the way in which they were entertained on this occasion.

* * * The publication of several compositions is compelled to be postponed till next week.

Compositions.

All compositions sent for insertion must be accompanied by a fee of Sixpence. If proof of a touch or peal is desired One Shilling additional must accompany such request.

This peal, in two irregular parts, has the 3rd, 4th, 5th, and 6th bells the extent in 5-6, without the 2nd being in 6th place at a course-end. The number can be reduced to 5312 by the use of inverse calling to the sixth course.

Alternate calling may be used to the first and ninth courses. But to reduce such a peal to 5312 changes, inverse calling must be used to the fourteenth course.

DR. GEO. H. JONES,
 SURGEON DENTIST,
 And Doctor of Dental Surgery, U.S.A.,
 57, Great Russell Street,
 BLOOMSBURY, LONDON.
 Consultation Daily 10 to 5.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has demonstrated that Painless Dentistry is as much an accomplished fact as the swift locomotive, the telephone, or the phonograph.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, absolutely restores the natural contour, caused by the loss of teeth, rendering detection impossible, by the Prize Medal dentals, which have obtained the highest possible awards, viz.: London, 1851; New York, 1853; London, 1862; Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; and Philadelphia, 1876.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has received from S. G. Hutchings, Esq., Surgeon Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen, a testimonial, which places beyond all doubt the vast superiority of his system.

"My Dear Doctor,—Allow me to press my sincere thanks for the skill and attention displayed in the construction of my Artificial Teeth, which render my mastication and articulation excellent. I am glad to hear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. In recognition of your valuable services, you are at liberty to use my name.—S. G. HUTCHINGS, By Appointment Surgeon Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen."
 Geo. H. Jones, Esq., D.D.S.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has obtained the highest possible awards at the great International Exhibitions for his Improvements in Dentistry, which are protected by Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent, and for Painless and Perfect adjustment of Prize Medal Teeth, viz.: gold medals, London and Paris; gold medal, New Zealand Exhibition, 1882; gold medal, Calcutta, 1883; and the highest diploma of merit and award at Nice and Amsterdam, 1883-4. Awarded the gold medal of the Académie Nationale, Paris, 1884; and the highest award Antwerp; also the gold medal, International Exhibition, London, 1885; gold medal, Liverpool, 1886; gold medal, Melbourne, 1888-9.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, and Doctor of Dental Surgery, U.S.A., consulted daily from 10 to 5, or at any special hour by appointment, and upon a personal visit, every information respecting fees and treatment, without charge, at his only address—

THE REV. W. W. C. BAKER, RECTOR OF MILTON BRYANT, WOBURN, BEDS.

[Vide PORTRAIT.]

The Rev. W. W. C. BAKER was born in 1860 at Long Melford, Suffolk, of which parish his father was then Curate-in-charge. He was thus born within the sound of the famous Lavenham bells, and the note of that renowned tenor insinuating itself into his infant dreams, may have done something to inspire his love for bellringing. But this influence, whatever its power, was shortlived, for when he was a year old his father was presented to the living of Eversholt, Beds. The church of this parish possesses a peal of six fine bells, to which there attaches the tradition that Handel, when on a visit to the Duke of Bedford at Woburn Abbey, was one day driving past Eversholt church when the bells were ringing, and that he was so pleased with the musical qualities of the peal that he ordered the coachman to stop for a while that he might listen to the ringing. It was not, however, on these bells that the subject of our sketch learnt to ring, though he often visited the belfry and watched the ringers at work. In 1879 he went up to Clare College, Cambridge, and among his most intimate friends there was Mr. W. C. Pearson, one of the leading spirits in the foundation of the Cambridge University Guild of Change-ringers. And so it came to pass that Mr. BAKER made one of that small band who met twice a week in St. Michael's schoolroom for handbell practice, and for tower practice when and where they could. Mr. BAKER learnt to set a bell at St. Bene't's church—the church of Fabian Stedman—but shortly the Guild removed for tower practice to St. Andrew's-the-Great. They did not, however, display the "mucky, yawling" tone of these bells (as an eminent writer terms it) to the general public, as a condition of their use was that the clappers should be tied. Little real progress was made here, and it was not until leave was obtained to practise at Great St. Mary's, where Seage's dumb practice apparatus was generously presented by the genial president of the Guild, the Rev. A. H. Boughey, Fellow of Trinity College, that the Guild could claim to be change-ringers. By the help of this useful apparatus, however, progress was soon made, and Mr. BAKER, with other members, was soon able to take part with the town company at their practices at Great St. Mary's. After leaving Cambridge in 1883, Mr. BAKER spent a year at home, during which time he practised regularly with the Woburn company, walking across Woburn Park every Monday for the weekly practice. The Bedfordshire Association had been founded in 1883, with Mr. BAKER as one of the committee, and at Woburn was rung the first 720 obtained by the Association.

In 1884 Mr. BAKER was ordained to a curacy at St. Mary's, Nottingham, where he found a fine ring of ten bells, but at that time no change-ringers. He soon began to teach the young ringers, and before he left the town had the pleasure of hearing the bells in Grandsire Triples instead of "Churchyard Bob."

At this time Mr. BAKER enjoyed greater opportunities for ringing than before or since as a member of the Midland Counties' Association. His original instructor in the art, the Rev. W. C. Pearson, was at this time Curate of Syston, near Leicester, and with him, and at Loughborough with Mr. J. W. Taylor, jun., and at Duffield with Mr. Percival Heywood, or in Nottingham with the local companies at All Saints' and St. Peter's, he made many attempts for a peal, but success did not crown his efforts till somewhere about the twenty-fifth attempt, when, on January 25th, 1886, he rang in a peal of Kent Treble Bob at Syston, conducted by Mr. Heywood.

Other peals soon followed; but in the autumn of that year Mr. BAKER was presented to the living of Milton Bryant, an adjoining parish to Eversholt, of which his father is still Rector. Here are only three bells, which he hopes some day may be increased to six, though the tower is somewhat slightly constructed. Two years ago he was elected Honorary Secretary of the Bedfordshire Association, on the resignation of Mr. Charles Herbert, and is the representative of that Association on the Central Council.

In February, 1889, he took part in the ringing week of the Midland Counties' Association, organised by Mr. J. W. Taylor, jun., when nine peals were rung in five days. Mr. BAKER rung in seven of these, and he wrote the very interesting account of the week's ringing which appeared in these columns.

Unfortunately Mr. Baker has not kept an accurate record of the peals he has taken part in, but they only number fifteen or sixteen, twelve of which have been rung with the Midland Counties' Association. They comprise peals of Grandsire Triples, Bob Major, Treble Bob Major, Treble Bob Royal, Stedman Triples, Stedman Caters, Double Norwich Court Bob Major, and a 5040 on six bells in seven Minor methods. He has only conducted one peal—one of Bob Major.

It has always been Mr. Baker's fate to have to begin afresh to give elementary instruction in ringing, rather than to enjoy the fruits of past struggles. At Cambridge the changes in the Guild were necessarily rapid. At Nottingham he left just as the company at St. Mary's could attempt a short touch. In Bedfordshire there is little to induce young men to settle down, and consequently at Woburn and elsewhere no sooner is a company got together than it is broken up by removals, and for those that remain there is nothing but the dreary work of beginning afresh a new era of bad striking and breaking down until a new band can take his place, only in turn to leave, and so da capo. And here we leave Mr. BAKER on a wet evening to trudge six miles to Leighton Buzzard and back, to assist a young band in mastering the intricacies of Grandsire Doubles.

THE HERTFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

A district meeting of this association was held on Saturday, October 17th, at Hitchin, the bells of the parish church being placed at the disposal of the ringers by the vicar, Canon Hensley. The following representatives were present:—Messrs. J. N. Frossell, C. W. Clarke, J. Hills (Bedford), F. Sharp (Clapham), G. T. Spicer, J. J. Cawdell, J. Phillips, Thomas Webb (Baldock), J. Hare (Hitchin), J. Dennis, W. R. Dennis (Knebworth), E. P. Debenham and G. W. Cartmel, secretary and assistant-secretary respectively (St. Albans), J. Shepherd, J. Kentish, H. Shepherd (Hatfield), and others. Touches of Kent Treble Bob Major, Plain Bob Major, Stedman and Grandsire Triples were rung during the afternoon. Tea was served at about five o'clock at Mr. Hunt's coffee house, on the Great North Road. The business meeting followed, Mr. E. P. Debenham being voted to the chair, in the absence of Canon Hensley. The minutes having been read and confirmed, the following were admitted members: Messrs. W. Short and Barber, from Southgate (provisionally elected at Hatfield), H. Weston, Brighton (provisionally elected at St. Albans), W. Abbott (Oxhey), F. Sharp (Clapham), C. W. Clarke, J. Hills (Bedford), and J. Dennis (Knebworth). Some desultory conversation ensued as to the selection of the next place of meeting, and eventually, on the proposition of Mr. J. Hare, seconded by Mr. H. Shepherd, St. Albans was selected. Votes of thanks concluded the business, the ringers retiring to the belfry. It should be mentioned that the meeting was originally intended to be held at Hatfield, but the bells not being placed at the disposal of the association, the visit had to be abandoned. It is hoped that this difficulty may be overcome at some future date, as Hatfield is a very convenient centre to meet at.

HANDBELLS FOR SALE.—A splendid set of 20 bells in F, 19 size; equal to new; with an elaborate massive stand for tune-playing, with four beaters. Cost £10. To be sold for £6. Apply H.W.H., office of this paper. A rare opportunity.

THE REV. W. W. C. BAKER, M.A.
(RECTOR OF MILTON BRYANT, BEDS.)

WATERMOOR, CIRENCESTER.

The Annual Meeting of the Watermoor band of volunteer ringers was held at the Holy Trinity schools on Tuesday, October 20th, the Ven. Archdeacon Hayward, the President, in the chair. The Hon. Secretary read the minutes of the previous meetings, and also the attendances made by each member during the past year. The minutes having been confirmed, the leader gave an interesting account of the work done by the band since its formation. The officers were then appointed for the ensuing twelve months; the Rev. W. K. Weston being elected Treasurer in the place of the Rev. W. P. Acworth, who has removed to Gloucester. Mr. G. W. Lait was appointed leader, and Mr. John E. Waters, Hon. Secretary.

THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

BLACKBURN BRANCH.—On Saturday, October 24th, a meeting of the above branch was held at Holy Trinity Church, Blackburn, when representatives were present from Blackburn parish church, and Holy Trinity, Burnley, Church, Hoghton, Padiham, Higher Walton, and Walton-le-Dale. During the afternoon and evening touches of Bob Minor, Grandsire Triples, and Bob Major were rung. At six o'clock the business meeting was held, at which Mr. J. Walker presided, and was re-elected President of the branch for the next twelve months, Mr. J. Horrocks also being re-elected Secretary for the next twelve months. Votes of thanks to the officers for their past services, also to the vicar, wardens, and ringers of Holy Trinity, brought the business meeting to a close.

HOYLAND, NEAR BARNESLEY.—NEW PUBLIC CLOCK.

This village is much indebted to Mrs. Knowles for a handsome tower and large illuminated clock, which she has had erected and presented to the inhabitants.

The tower is from the designs of — Sykes, Esq., architect, and the well-known firm of Messrs. W. Potts & Sons, Leeds, were instructed to make and supply the clock, which shows the time on four illuminated dials, five feet in diameter, made of skeleton cast-iron frames and glazed with white opal glass. It has four sets of strong dial or motion wheels, for carrying the hands, with double and single universal joints—all gun metal or the best hard brass; four pairs of strong copper hands, correctly balanced or counterpoised within. The clock has been made at the works of Messrs. W. Potts & Sons, clock manufacturers, Guildford Street, Leeds, who made and fixed the large clocks at the Cathedral, Lincoln; Picton Memorial, Liverpool; the Central Station clock, Manchester; Preston and Bolton Town Hall clocks, Lancashire; Wakefield, Yorks; Hyde, Cheshire; Newbury, Berks; Imperial Arcade, Birmingham; Leeds Royal Exchange and Arcade clocks; Llanfairfechan church clock, and many other important clocks throughout the country. The same firm are now making large clocks for the University College, Liverpool; for A. Waterhouse, Esq., architect, London; clock for Northampton; Kingston-on-Thames; Stockton public clock; Newcastle-on-Tyne, etc. The clock at Hoyland is from the designs and plans of Lord Grimthorpe, and is constructed on a solid, horizontal cast-iron bed frame, planed perfectly flat. All bushes are of gun-metal, screwed into the frame, so that each or any wheel can be taken out separately, if required, in case of alteration or accident. The large main wheel of the going train has maintaining power attached to keep the clock going during the time of winding up. It has also Lord Grimthorpe's double three-legged gravity escapement—the finest improvement ever introduced for making a clock to keep the correct time, and also a compensated pendulum attached with heavy cylindrical-shaped bob, so that the clock will not be affected by any variations of temperature. The striking part, large or main wheels, has the necessary cams attached for lifting the hammer suitable for striking upon the fine bell in the tower, which bell is made of bell metal and weighs 4 cwt. It has also patent steel cords, cranks, levers, hammer, weights, block pulleys bushed with brass and pivoted in, automatic gas apparatus for turning the light up and down according to the season of the year, gas fittings and reflectors, and everything necessary in a first-class clock.

ROWLEY REGIS, STAFFORDSHIRE.

By the courteous invitation (conveyed through his ringers) of the Vicar of this Parish, the Rev. M. N. Kearney, M.A., an attempt was made, on Saturday, October 17th, for a peal of Stedman Triples on the handy ring of eight here.

The band, selected by Mr. John Carter, of Birmingham, represented all the ringing organizations of the district, viz., the Societies for "The Worcestershire and Adjoining Districts," "The Archdeaconry of Stafford," "The Birmingham St. Martin's Guild," "The Birmingham and District Amalgamated," and the more distant "Midland Counties' Association."

One of the number, Mr. W. Kent, having elected to stand out, with the ostensible object of pricking off the course-ends, the band was stationed thus: W. H. Godden, 1; J. Carter (conductor), 2; H. Bastable, 3; J. Jones, 4; W. R. Small, 5; T. Russam, 6; S. Reeves, 7; and J. Jennings, tenor, were very soon after their arrival fairly sailing along in that prince of all odd bell methods.

For about two hours every thing promised a capital peal, but alas! the conductor was seen to shake his head, and a change-course having taken place, a foreign single, with a few attendant bobs, had to be imported to bring the bells round at the end of 3940 changes.

After a short touch of Grandsire, with some of the local ringers standing in, the bells were ceased, and with a further addition to the party of Mr. Sayer from Oldbury, an adjournment was made to the Vicarage, where the Vicar was in attendance at his hospitable board to entertain the visitors and his own ringers. Sharp-set appetites and keen carvers soon made the good things grow beautifully less, and at the termination of the repast, the Vicar, in a few words, gave his visitors a kindly welcome, expressing his pleasure at the good ringing they had heard that afternoon, and paying a high compliment to his own ringers. Although greatly interested in ringers and their fascinating science, he explained that, as a young man at Dublin, he had not the opportunities of becoming acquainted with that science, which students at the sister universities now possessed. He hoped to have the pleasure of again meeting the visitors at Rowley, and, as an inducement to some of them to come and settle there, drew quite a charming picture of its beauties and salubrity.

The leader of the local ringers, Mr. Bennett, in proposing a vote of thanks to the Vicar, also welcomed the visitors, and, in explaining the difficulties under which the local band laboured, expressed a hope that they might in the future receive assistance from their more fortunate neighbours. He was pleased to see with them on that occasion one to whom they were indebted for such services in the past—Mr. Small. He was glad to say that their ring of eight had been so effectively augmented and restored by Mr. Barwell, of Birmingham, in the Jubilee year, 1887, that they had never experienced any trouble on account of the go of the bells.

This vote of thanks, seconded by Mr. Godden, and supported by Mr. Small, who urged the local ringers to keep in touch with their neighbours by enrolling themselves in the ranks of one of the many local ringing societies, was cordially agreed to.

After entertaining the Vicar and his family with a well-struck course of Grandsire Caters, by Messrs. Russam, Bastable, Carter, Kent and Reeves, the party broke up in good time for their several destinations.

The visitors take this opportunity of again thanking the Vicar for his cordial invitation and entertainment, and Mr. Bennett and the local band for having everything in readiness for them.

THIRSK (Yorks).—On Sunday evening, October 11th, for Divine Service at the parish church, 1036 Grandsire Triples in 38 mins. J. Neesam, 1; J. Wrightson, 2; J. W. Long, 3; H. Brown, 4; G. Wright, 5; G. Neesam, 6; R. Boddy (conductor), 7; H. Wright, 8. Also on Thursday, October 15th, for practice, 2520 Grandsire Triples, in 1 hr. 27 mins. J. Neesam, 1; J. Wrightson, 2; J. W. Long, 3; D. Burton, 4; the rest as above; conducted by R. Boddy. And on Sunday evening, October 18th, a quarter-peal in the same method in 44 mins., with the bells deeply muffled as a mark of respect to the late Rev. Henry Hawkins, vicar of Topcliffe for fifty-three years, who died on Sunday, October 18th. J. Neesam, 1; J. Wrightson (conductor), J. W. Long, 3; D. Burton, 4; G. Wright, 5; G. Neesam, 6; R. Boddy, 7; H. Brown, 8. Tenor 19 cwt. in F.

Review.

BY SCRUTATOR.

THE YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.—SIXTEENTH ANNUAL REPORT.—Once more I have the pleasure of perusing this report, which, I doubt not, is looked forward to annually with more than ordinary interest, if only through the fact of its being the pioneer of others now its contemporaries. But besides this, we, I believe, all of us are much interested in learning the progress of this great Association in our greatest county. And if we have in time past, or should do in the future "take a leaf out of its book" to assist us in the endeavour to perfect our other Associations, that is no discredit to us by any means. The members are told that "the annual report of your committee, for the sixteenth time, bears witness to the active progress made by the Association, and shews a considerable advance both in the number of members, and in their performances. It further confirms the Society's financial soundness in a manner which must be pleasing to all concerned." After referring to three successful general meetings held during the year, it continues, "The total number of members last year was 704, made up of 27 Honorary and 677 Ringing members, of which latter 70 came under our non-resident classification. During the year 1 honorary and 61 ringing members have been elected, and two former ones have been resuscitated; but on the other hand we have lost 8 members by death and 18 names have been erased for non-payment of last year's subscription; amongst a few of these latter, death has again been the cause. In the now opening year we have therefore 28 honorary and 714 ringing members, of whom 69 are classed as non-resident, making a total of 742 names on the Association's books." During the year 43 peals have been rung (against 27 the previous year) at 28 different churches. "Concerning this" the Committee observe, "it is pleasing to notice that although the peals are twelve below the highest total—that of 1881-82—this year's have been spread over a greater number of churches; in fact, in no previous year has a greater number of towers been represented." These peals are thus classified: Stedman Caters, 1; Bob Royal, 1; Kent Treble Bob Royal, 3; Kent Treble Bob Major, 24; Bob Major, 2; Grandsire Triples, 6; seven Minor peals, 6. The total number of life members is stated to be 254, an increase of 32 on last year. "This cessation of subscriptions," the Committee remark, "will become one of the most interesting items in the balance-sheets of the future. It is with pleasure, therefore, that your Committee are able to report themselves, as having under consideration the permanent investment of another £100, which now stands in the Leeds Provincial Building Society. These investments form, of course, the capital, the interest of which will be required to counterbalance the ever-decreasing subscriptions as the yearly groups of members get placed on the life members' list." The Central Council also comes in for a share of attention in this report, which states that "the expense of sending as many as four members to the Central Council, although one went at his own expense, and the others must have partially done so, seems on the face of it to be somewhat heavier than it need be. Your representatives, however, report that an overwhelming majority of the Council declared themselves to be, for the present, in favour of keeping the representation on its present basis; hence it only remains to wait until experience shows a way out of the difficulty. Probably the Council will eventually see its way to lessen the number of representatives all round. It is well to be clear and candid on this point, as one afternoon's deliberation per annum at the price the northern counties are likely on the average to pay, amounts in itself to a startling sum when multiplied by the number of members composing the Council—between 70 and 80—and who can say that circumstances may not arise to make it desirable to have an extra meeting or two in some important year?" But although thus criticising the same, the Committee continue "As the Central Council of Church Bellringers has been touched upon when reviewing the balance-sheet, this opportunity is taken of placing on record what your Committee hoped of this movement. Undoubtedly the event of the year has been the first meeting of this Central Council, and it is trusted that solid good will gradually accrue to the Exercise from having such a body. It is not to be expected that any startling results will suddenly show themselves, but it is of vast importance to ringers generally that they should have a body ready to champion their cause in quarters where the action of a single individual, or a single Association, would have no appreciable weight. This power will greatly assist the various Associations in their work of raising the status of ringers generally, and obtaining for change-ringers a due appreciation of their work. It is gratifying to be able to congratulate our Midland neighbours on supplying the Council with such a President as Mr. A. Percival Heywood, well-known as a good churchman and skilled both as a mathematician and change-ringer." With an expression of thanks to the local Secretaries for the prompt and satisfactory manner in which they have performed their important duties, the report concludes. I come now to the balance-sheet. The capital account shews funds in hand at commencement of year to be £191 11s. 5d.; at the end of the year, the total is £201 os. 2d. The yearly account shews subscriptions £27 12s. 6d. Dividends from Corporation Stock, etc., account for £3 15s. 10d., and £10 9s. 8d. advanced by President bring up the total to £41 18s. 0d. On the expenditure side, I find the three general meetings have cost altogether £3 14s. 0d., the whole of which is comprised of printing, postages, etc. The annual report and other printing items amount to £14 4s. 0d. Postage, stationery, and incidentals add £3 13s. 3d.; expenses of Central Council and delegates, £4 10s. 0d.; cash repaid President, £9 14s. 0d., and £6 2s. 2d. paid into Building Society bring up the total of £41 18s. It will thus readily be seen that numerically, financially, and progressively, the Yorkshire Association's last official year has been one which will compare very favourably with any of its fifteen predecessors; a fact which will be regarded with pleasure by both its own members and those of other Associations. But if there is one thing more than another (to use a homely old saying) that pleases me in the balance-sheet, it is the fact that all the disbursements are of what I consider a strictly legitimate character. There is no subsidising of members at general meetings. All the expenses thereat are for printing and postages. Even committee meetings have presented no drain upon the exchequer. These Yorkshiremen appear to do their work and pay their own expenses besides, which certainly reflects credit on their zeal and enthusiasm; and therefore it is not to be wondered at that their association stands well to the front in a financial position, and year by year improves that position, although conferring free life memberships upon all after ten years' subscriptions have been paid. I do not wish to make disagreeable comparisons, but cannot help, while on this point, referring to the annual meetings, at Hull, of this association, and that at Maidstone in connection with the Kent Association, which I spoke about in the previous notice. At the Maidstone meeting, we are told, 200 members attended, at a cost to the Kent Association of £40 17s. 8d., an average of 4s. per head. The Hull meeting, at which it was reported about 300 were present, cost the Yorkshire Association just £1 4s. 10d.—just a penny a-piece! It may be urged by our southern friends, in justification, that if the association itself was not put to any expense in providing for the comfort of members attending the annual meeting, the Hull branch must have had to "lay out" for the occasion. I readily admit this; but that fact itself reflects all the more credit on the Association in general, and the Hull branch in particular, that when they invited the Association to meet in their own town, they did not do so empty-handed, but fulfilled the duties as host on the occasion as they ought to be fulfilled. That appears to be the usual plan in the Yorkshire Association; thus its Treasurer is in the proud position of being able to present the healthiest and wealthiest balance-sheet of any Association in the kingdom. The members have every cause for gratification at their last report; and I see no reason for doubting that future years will find their Association keeping up its record.

THE BELLS OF WELLS CATHEDRAL.—The opening of these bells has been fixed for Wednesday next, November 4th. The old peal of eight has been rehung by Messrs. Blackbourn and Greenleaf, of Salisbury, and two new trebles have been added, cast at the bell foundry of Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, Whitechapel, London. There are now three peals of ten in the Bath and Wells diocese—that at Wells Cathedral, tenor 50 cwt. in C; one at Bath Abbey, tenor 40 cwt. in D; and one at St. Mary's, Taunton; which is a very limited number for so large a diocese. The reopening and dedication ceremony will take place in the Cathedral after Morning Prayer at 11.15, at which a few opening touches will be rung; after which a peal of Stedman Caters will be attempted, as it is one of the conditions of the contract with the hangers, that the firm shall not be paid till such a peal has been rung to test the efficiency of the work. The opening touches will be undertaken by the Master and members of the Bath and Wells Association. But for the peal the Dean and Chapter have invited the Master of the Oxford Guild to come with a selected band. This of course was done with the concurrence of the officers of the Bath and Wells Association, as the latter felt that since there are only two peals of ten in the diocese, one the unpealable ring at Bath Abbey, the other that at distant Taunton, their members have not had the chance of Cater practice sufficient to enable them to undertake the opening peal with confidence.

CURRENT TOPICS.

The gentleman who usually reviews the various annual reports, and who calls himself "Scrutator," is generally down upon the system which obtains in some associations of allowing the members to participate in benefits—gastronomic or otherwise—provided out of the funds. I cannot altogether agree with him. The money of honorary members, especially in the Kent Association, appears to be given most liberally. If the honorary members were canvassed as to whether they approved of the idea of devoting their subscriptions towards giving ringers a good dinner on the annual meeting-day, or making them some travelling allowance, I think the number of objectors would be infinitesimal. In fact, it is doubtful whether the same amount of money would be got in some counties, if it was known to be only for the purpose of investment, or to purchase stocks or shares. May be, what suits one Association, will not meet the wants of another. I think, with all respect to the distinguished reviewer, that he is wrong in an all-round condemnation of the provision and allowances which are made to the members. I won't state my reasons too pointedly—they will, no doubt, be understood. Without wishing in the least to say anything uncomplimentary to the Hereford Diocesan Guild, I cannot but think that, could a good meeting of its members be held in a town where there was plenty of ringing to be had, and the members assisted there by a liberal travelling allowance, and a good dinner provided for them, I say I cannot but think that such steps would be most beneficial to the Guild. I don't know any ringing association who assists its members, either wholly or partially in these respects, but what is in a good financial position.

Now a word about the members of the Hereford Guild. Brother-ringers—The Editor in his article last week made some pointed remarks about you, but not unkind ones. I can hardly believe that there is one of you who could not afford the small sum required per annum for the Guild funds. If you are anxious to keep your Guild above water, or in other words, if you are ardent ringers, you will do so. If it is necessary to practice self-denial, then practice it. Just half-a-dozen half-ounces less per annum will do the job nicely.

When coming into the office of "THE BELL NEWS" this (Wednesday) evening, I had the following newspaper cutting put into my hands, with a note from the Editor that I would be pleased to deal with it. Here it is:—

"THE KENTISH VICAR AND THE BELL-RINGERS.—The Vicar of a Kentish parish is just now faced by a difficulty he has gravely brought under the notice of his Bishop. Hitherto there have been no bells in the church tower, but the indefatigable Vicar, dunning all round, has succeeded in obtaining a sum of money sufficient to provide 'these instruments of torture' to quiet parishioners. The difficulty arises in connection with the belfry. Bellringing is a task which takes a good deal out of a man, and leads to thirst. In brief, the Vicar has discovered the impossibility of obtaining, in the parish or out of it, relays of bellringers who will be content to dispense with refreshment during the hours of labour. At present, the only way refreshments could be brought to the workers is by a staircase which is part of the consecrated building. The Vicar shrinks from the sacrilege of beer jugs, full or empty, going up and down this staircase, and is considering a suggestion, which he has submitted to the Bishop, that a hole may be knocked in the outer wall of the belfry, up and down which beer may, upon occasion, be drawn in a basket. In the meanwhile, the ringing of the bells is deferred."

We are getting accustomed to this kind of thing. This, however, beats all I have ever read. No wonder the Editor refused to soil himself by having anything to do with such miserable rubbish. The writer of this choice morsel, if not a fanatic, is a fool. I venture, also, to say that each statement contained therein is a lie, a foul and unnatural lie. I take the sentences seriatim, from one period to the other, and say each of them is a contemptible lie. I find upon enquiry that this tit-bit appeared in Reynolds' Newspaper of Sunday last—(that I am not surprised to hear), then it crept into the Star the following evening. The Star man (of whom we hear so much about) has not taken "a front seat" this time. The talented editor of the Star should see that his myrmidons, when using the scissors, only culled those parts which have a semblance of truth in them. But I have said too much about this wretched ribaldry.

PLAIN SPEAKER.

Ringers' Outings.

ST. MARY'S, CHEPSTOW, SOCIETY.—On Saturday, October 24th, the members of the above Guild had their annual outing, Bristol being the place selected. Leaving Chepstow by the 9.38 train, arriving at Bristol at 10.45, they were met by Mr. Beynham, who kindly piloted them throughout the day. The first church visited was that of St. Mary Redcliffe, where, having permission from Mr. Price, the steeple-keeper, who kindly invited them to take a rope, they were only too pleased to do so, it being the first time that some of the younger members of the band ever had the opportunity of ringing on such a fine peal of twelve (tenor 25 cwt., in C). Previous arrangements having been made by Mr. Beynham to have a pull at St. Luke's, Bedminster, several 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles were rung by the following:—A. Longville, 1; C. Waters, 2; J. Davies (conductor), 3; W. Emery, 4; J. Morley, 5; M. Closs, 8. Tenor about 12 cwt. It being now about 1.30, the inner man wanted attending to, which was done in good style at the London Commercial and Temperance Hotel, 2, All Saints' Lane. Proceeding by train from the Drawbridge to the Hot Wells, to see the Clifton suspension bridge, they made their way afterwards to St. Werburgh's church, where they were met by some of the local band. After raising the bells, several 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles were rung by the following: W. Andrews, 1; J. Davies, 2; C. Gordon, 3; — Chamming, 4; J. Morley (conductor), 5; A. Longville, 6. Tenor about 12 cwt. The 3rd is supposed to be the oldest bell in England, being over 500 years of age. Messrs. Morley, Longville, Closs and Andrews hail from Chepstow, the others belonging to Bristol. The band had then to make for Stapleton Road station to catch the last train for home. The members take this opportunity of thanking Messrs. Beynham, Davies, Gordon and others for the kindness shewn them throughout the day.

THE SWANSEA DISTRICT GUILD.—On Saturday, October 17th, some of the members of this Guild made their first start on a missionary enterprise to try and convert some of the outlying Tombstone Bob rings to the proper method of change-ringing. Owing to the kind permission of the Rev. J. Thomas, of Dyffryn, near Neath, that tower was made for, and at 3.55 p.m. the train steamed off towards Neath with eight second-class passengers, who were thoroughly enjoying themselves at the nature of the mission they were upon. The distance, however, being so short, (eight miles), was soon covered, and Neath reached. And then for shanks' pony for about two hours, through terrible gusts of wind and rain, till the pretty little church of Dyffryn was found, with the steeplekeeper, who had everything in readiness, on the look-out for the visitors. The ringing-chamber being reached, six ropes were found adjusted to six pretty bells by Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough; tenor about 12 cwt. In less time than it has taken to write this, the knowledge so recently acquired by the said Guild was being imparted to the Dyffryn men in the shape of 720 of Grandsire Doubles, each called differently. E. Searl, 1; G. Searl, 2; R. Yeo, 3; J. Hoare (conductor), 4; H. West, 5; W. Rees, 6. Some of the local band were then invited to "essay their infant skill," but the breaking of a rope put an end to ringing for a time, but recourse was had to the handbells, on which the best exertions were made to initiate them into the art. The broken rope having been spliced by Mr. Rees, another 6-score was rung with one of the local men at the tenor. The hour of departure having arrived, Neath was again made for amid drenching showers. Here the visitors refreshed themselves, and soon afterwards departed for Swansea, where they arrived about 9 o'clock, after thoroughly enjoying themselves notwithstanding the inclement weather. They desire through this paper to tender their best thanks to the Rev. J. Thomas, and the organist, Mr. Thomas, for their kindness.

Obituary.

JESSE AVERY, OF APPLETON.

This good old ringer passed peacefully away on Wednesday, October 7th, in the fifty-ninth year of his age. For some time past he had not been able to take part in the Art he loved so well. His illness lasted for upwards of twelve months, during which time he had not been able to earn anything for his support. Some time back friends were very kind in helping him with subscriptions, as published in "THE BELL NEWS," for which he hoped to be able to thank them, but alas! his time was much shorter than he at first anticipated, and one of his last and most earnest wishes was that they should be thanked for their kindness. He was laid to rest on Sunday, October 11th, in the quiet churchyard at Besselsleigh, well within the sounds of the bells he loved to ring. He was carried to the grave (as he wished) by four of his brother-ringers, and was followed by about eighteen or twenty others of his brother-strings. Muffled peals were rung at Appleton, Cumnor, Oxford, and other places, as a last token of respect. He was one of the band who rang in the four long peals at Appleton in 1888, viz., 10,080 Double Norwich, 12,041 Stedman Caters, 13,247 Grandsire Caters, and 15,041 Stedman Caters. He had taken part in upwards of eighty peals, among them being Superlative and Cambridge Surprise, Treble Bob Royal and Major, Stedman Caters and Triples, and several other methods. He was a first-class striker, and a very careful ringer, rarely making mistakes in methods he was accustomed to. His genial face will be much missed by visitors to Appleton, for he was always ready to give up his rope to the greatest stranger at the last moment. His place will be very hard to fill, as it is only after long application and perseverance that a man rings with the clockwork regularity as did Jesse Avery. When one went to Appleton for a peal, one of the first questions asked was "Is Jesse coming?" Ah! there never was a man who was loved more than he by his fellows, so straightforward, so good and jovial, and always the same. Now he is gone one can only think of the happy hours spent in his company, of his droll remarks and happy face, and one's last and most consolable thought is that his sufferings are ended. May he rest in peace.

One copy, 12 months	8s.
" 3 "	2s.

Everything for insertion in this Journal to be addressed "The Editor of THE BELL NEWS, Walthamstow, London." Letters forwarded for publication, and performances under 5000 changes must reach us not later than Wednesday morning ; and the insertion of any communication arriving later than the first Postal delivery on Thursday morning cannot be guaranteed in that week's number. When it is found impossible from want of space to insert all touches forwarded, the earlier ones will have the preference.

All communications respecting advertisements must be addressed to the office of "THE BELL NEWS," Walthamstow, London.

The Bell News & Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1891.

THE number of peals rung during the past week, with other matters, again prevents us indulging in our usual comment. Such a situation frequently happens, which points to the existing desirability that the number of pages of this journal should be permanently increased. Such a consummation can only be brought about by each of our readers successfully procuring one—and only one—more permanent subscriber. This ought not to be any great difficulty, if our readers will apply themselves to the task.

This week we again, after an interval—caused by the indisposition of one of our staff, whose department lay in this direction—begin a re-issue of the popular portrait gallery. Owing to some misapprehension of arrangement the portrait arrives one week earlier than we understood it would, and thus the usual notice was not given in our last number. Perhaps this evil—if it be an evil—our readers will readily excuse. These portraits will follow on each month in succession—though to fulfil the publisher's compact with the yearly subscribers, it will be necessary to recover all the arrears. In a fortnight therefore, we shall issue another—that of Mr. THOMAS C. POWELL, of Loughton, Essex.

Our Christmas number is in course of preparation, and will contain two stories, written expressly for "THE BELL NEWS" by the same authors as those of last year. With the Christmas number will also be issued a portrait, with memoir, of a well-known composer and ringer.

Our correspondence through the post is getting almost unmanageable. As a favour, we beg therefore that our friends will be content to have answers to their replies through the paper: and if there be not room to insert "answers to correspondents," they will patiently wait till the following week.

Devereux, 6; Jno. Wathen, 7; Jos. Wathen (conductor), 8. This is the longest touch in the method yet achieved by all.

RAWTENSTALL (Lancashire).—On Sunday, October 4th, for morning service at St. Mary's church, the following attempted a date touch of 1891 changes: G. H. Ashworth, 1; J. Gratrix, 2; W. Haworth, 3; E. Whittaker, 4; E. Nuttall (conductor), 5; J. Smith, 6; J. Ramsbottom, 7; J. W. Cunliffe, 8; but through some misunderstanding as to time for service being up, rounds was called a few bobs from home. For evening service, a 1008 of Grandsire Triples was rung, standing as before, with the exception of G. E. Rollerson, 2; J. Gratrix, 3.

This peal, in two irregular parts, has the 3rd, 4th, 5th, and 6th bells the extent in 5-6, without the 2nd being in 6ths place at a course-end. The number can be reduced to 5312 by the use of inverse calling to the sixth course.

Alternate calling may be used to the first and ninth courses. But to reduce such a peal to 5312 changes, inverse calling must be used to the fourteenth course.

[Note.—This peal is a correction from that which appeared last week. Through a compositor's error the calling was wrongly given, therefore we again publish it with the correction made.]

NOTES TO PEALS.

OLD BATTERSEA, SURREY.—This preformance was arranged by Mr. Henry S. Thomas, as a farewell to the Rev. E. L. Wise, who has been a well-beloved Curate at Old Battersea Church ever since his Ordination in 1876. During these fifteen years he has been a sympathetic pastor to the sick; never missing a Wednesday choir practice; and seldom has a night passed without his making a visit to the Young Men's Club, all of whom lose a true friend through his departure. He is expected to undertake the united benefices of Weston and Wappenbury, in Warwickshire, and his residence in future will be Cublington Grange, Leamington. A tablet is in hand for the bellry to record this performance, and the composition will appear in due course.

MAIDENHEAD, BERKS.—This peal was rung to celebrate the birthday of the Rev. R. P. Newhouse, senior curate of this parish, who shewed the keen interest taken by him in the ringing, and also in the ringers, by inviting them to a bountiful supper at his residence, to which full justice was done, their appetites, including that of the host, who presided, being sharpened by the peal. After supper the band were busily engaged in a smoking concert and jovial chat, which finished up a pleasant evening, the band thanking their host for his hospitality, and wishing him many happy birthdays in the future.

 BLOOMSBURY, LONDON.
 Consultation Daily 10 to 5.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has demonstrated that Painless Dentistry is as much an accomplished fact as the swift locomotive, the telephone, or the phonograph.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, absolutely restores the natural contour, caused by the loss of teeth, rendering detection impossible, by the Prize Medal dentals, which have obtained the highest possible awards, viz.: London, 1851; New York, 1853; London, 1862; Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; and Philadelphia, 1876.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has received from S. G. Hutchins, Esq., Surgeon Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen, a testimonial, which places beyond all doubt the vast superiority of his system.
 "My Dear Doctor.—Allow me to press my sincere thanks for the skill and attention displayed in the construction of my Artificial Teeth, which render my mastication and articulation excellent. I am glad to hear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. In recognition of your valuable services, you are at liberty to use my name.—S. G. HUTCHINGS, By Appointment Surgeon Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen."
 Geo. H. Jones, Esq., D.D.S.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has obtained the highest possible awards at the great International Exhibitions for his Improvements in Dentistry, which are protected by Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent, and for Painless and Perfect adjustment of Prize Medal Teeth, viz.: gold medals, London and Paris; gold medal, New Zealand Exhibition, 1882; gold medal, Calcutta, 1883; and the highest diploma of merit and award at Nice and Amsterdam, 1883-4. Awarded the gold medal of the Académie Nationale, Paris, 1884; and the highest award Antwerp; also the gold medal, International Exhibition, London, 1885; gold medal, Liverpool, 1886; gold medal, Melbourne, 1888-9.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, and Doctor of Dental Surgery, U.S.A., consulted daily from 10 to 5, or at any special hour by appointment, and upon a personal visit, every information respecting fees and treatment, without charge, at his only address—

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

The Annual Meeting of this Association was held in Durham on Monday, October 26th. During the day bands of ringers visited the belfries of the Cathedral (8), St. Nicholas' (6), and St. Oswald's (6) churches, and the citizens had the pleasure of listening to some capital change-ringing. In the afternoon a special service for ringers was held in St. Nicholas' church, at which there was a good attendance. The opening prayers and first lesson were read by the vicar (the Rev. H. E. Fox), and the second lesson and concluding prayers by the curate (the Rev. J. G. F. Reade). The sermon was preached by the Rev. C. Buston, of Embleton, who took as his text the 31st verse of the 10th chapter of St. Paul's first epistle to the Corinthians. He said these annual festivals were not only good because they brought ringers together to unite in public worship, but they were also valuable as affording them a suitable opportunity for being mindful of their duty towards God and their neighbours. He reminded them that in ringing, quite as much as in anything else, perhaps even more so, they ought to remember St. Paul's advice: "Do all to the glory of God." Mr. Buston pointed out that, in order to do this, it was necessary that they should practice two things, patience and self-denial. He went on to say that their position as church officers was now very much better than it was twenty years ago, and also referred to the fact that there had been a certain amount of what might be called belfry reformation. The clergy also took more interest in ringing than they used to do. Some people knew no difference between chiming and ringing. He suggested that they might bring this knowledge to such people by chiming their bells in Advent and Lent, and by ringing them on all other Sundays and festivals of the church. He also suggested a more frequent use of that most beautiful of peals, the muffled peal, especially on Good Friday—which, alas, was now but too often observed as a holiday for recreation and pleasure—and also in ringing the old year out. He said if they practised patience and self-denial in the various ways he had suggested, they would make their position felt more than it had been as change-ringers, and they would perhaps overcome the indifference with which change-ringing was regarded by some at any rate. He concluded by hoping they would all go forth from that House of God, each man determined to walk worthy of his vocation as a bell-ringer in God's Holy Church. Might God give them grace to remember in their belfries, as they handled their ropes, the Apostolic injunction, "Do all to the glory of God."

Later in the afternoon the annual dinner was held in the large dining hall of the "Three Tuns Hotel," New Elvet, Durham. About sixty sat down to the excellent repast provided by Mrs. Brown. The president, Mr. R. S. Story, occupied the chair, and Mr. Lees the vice.

The President gave the "Church and Queen" and the "Bishop and Clergy of the two Dioceses," both of which were honoured, the Rev. Mr. Milner, vicar of St. John's, Newcastle, responding to the latter.

The minutes of the last meeting were then read and confirmed, after which Mr. L. Newton, the hon. sec., read an admirably-drafted report, in which he congratulated the society, more especially the members of the Tyneside Branch, upon the number of peals which have been rung during the past twelve months. The record of peals for the past year exceeds that of any previous year. Previously that of 1885, with seven peals, was the best record since the commencement of the association, but this year he was able to chronicle twelve peals of upwards of 5,000 changes. Of these six were of Treble Bob Major, two of Bob Major, two of Grandsire Triples, one of Bob Triples, and one 5040 in seven different Minor methods. Eight of these peals have been rung at St. John's, Newcastle, one at Bishop Auckland, one at Hexham, one at Tanfield, and one at Brancepeth. The report went on to say: "There is but little doubt who has been the means of the success of the peal-ringing for this year, as I am sure you will all have seen his name appearing in nearly the whole of the peals which have been rung. The member to whom I refer is Mr. C. L. Routledge, of Newcastle, whom I am sure deserves the greatest praise that we can bestow upon him, he having rung in eleven peals of the twelve that have been rung, and I believe not only has he rung in them, but has also been the means of getting most of the bands together for making the attempts. Following very closely in Mr. Routledge's footsteps is another of our Newcastle friends, viz., that of Mr. Wm. Story, he having succeeded in taking part in nine peals. He also has been most attentive to further the interests of the association. Third on the list comes one who we all greatly esteem, viz., our president, Mr. R. S. Story, who has scored seven peals. Following very closely comes another member of St. John's branch, viz., Mr. H. Ferguson, whose name appears in the records of six peals. Mr. T. Gofton has also succeeded in taking part in six peals, and has also shown great ability in conducting, having succeeded in conducting his first peal of Major at the first attempt. Messrs. Harrison, Lees and Pattison have each succeeded in appearing in five peals; Mr. Lindsey in four; Messrs. Clapperton, Holmes and Atkinson in three; Messrs. Titt, Charlton, Borrows, Macfarlane, Blakiston, and R. C. Hudson in two; and Messrs. Egglestone, Wallis, Edwardson, Dixon, Campbell, Pearson, Simm, Henderson, Butterworth, Charlton, Cleminson, Mayne, Bozzard, and L. Newton in one. In all, thirty-four members have taken part in the ringing of peals this year." There were attached reports from the different branches, most of which were of a satisfactory character, and concluded with a tribute to the memory of the late Mr. Henderson, of Jarrow, who was a young and promising ringer.

The report was adopted.

Mr. Hudson, of Sunderland, then proposed "The health of the President." They were all proud of Mr. Story and the position he held in the society, and hoped he would long be spared to preside over them. Mr. Story took the greatest possible interest in the work of the association, and also greatly interested himself and spared no pains in bringing forward and instructing young ringers.

The toast was musically honoured.

The President, in responding, said he was very strongly attached to the objects of the association, and whatever position he held, should always endeavour to further them, because he was thoroughly convinced that the art of change-ringing was beneficial to them both as men and as members of the Church; not only because of the attainment of a musical result, but because it was good in moulding and forming men's character, as well as increasing their abilities. Their association might be termed to some extent a mutual improvement society, as well as a body of change-ringers.

Mr. Wm. Story gave "The health of the Vice-president," and moved a vote of thanks to the hon. sec. They would all agree that in Mr. Newton they had the right man at the wheel.

Mr. Lees briefly responded, after which Mr. R. S. Story was unanimously re-elected president, Mr. Clark and Mr. Lees vice-presidents, and Mr. L. Newton hon. sec. and treasurer, the latter being carried by acclamation.

A large number of honorary and performing members were elected, the former including the Rev. T. Urmson, Willington; the Rev. P. A. M. Sullivan, Durham; the Rev. E. Price, Bishop Auckland; the Revs. J. W. Milner and E. Lewis, of St. John's, Newcastle.

A vote of thanks was then proposed to the Rev. C. Buston, for his eloquent and instructive sermon, by Mr. Lees.

The President proposed a vote of thanks to the Dean and Chapter of Durham, and to the Vicars and Churchwardens of St. Nicholas' and St. Oswald's, Durham. The members of the association had rung in three towers that day. He was glad to say that at St. Nicholas' the bells were in a very good condition, and it had been a pleasure to go there and ring, and as a result there had been some very fair ringing. At St. Oswald's, too, the bells were kept in good order, and the members could always get a good ring there, and consequently their thanks were due to the authorities of these two churches for giving them permission to ring; and he also thought it only right to compliment the latter upon keeping their bells and belfries in such good and proper repair. He thought from what their clerical friends had said that day that it was generally admitted that the belfry, or any part of the tower, was deserving of as much attention as the vestry, or the choir vestry at least. He regretted exceedingly to say that this principle was not carried out in Durham Cathedral, a place to which they might naturally look for an example. He (the President) happened to be a churchwarden, and should feel very much ashamed if he could not point to a better belfry than that of Durham Cathedral. The ringers went there that morning, having heard that some repairs had been carried out. They knew that the bells had for long been in a very disgraceful condition. Well, what they found was that some slight repairs had been done to the frame. He regretted very much to inform the association that the repairs were not satisfactory, and that the bells were in but little better condition, if in any better condition at all, than they were on the occasion of their last visit, and he defied any body of men, however practised in the art of change-ringing, to go and ring a peal upon them. They were a handy, fine peal of bells, and it seemed a great disappointment to the whole ringing world, yes, even to men at a distance, that the Cathedral bells were not fit to be rung through a proper 5,000 in the Major method. There was no earthly reason why they should not be. At least twenty-four men could be found amongst those present capable of going and ringing a peal like that, and yet the Cathedral bells were not available, because they were in such a wretched condition that it would be impossible to succeed upon them. One could not help referring to the contrast that existed between the belfry of Durham Cathedral and that of St. Nicholas', Newcastle. At the latter place the authorities had risen to a sense of their duty, and had promised a new peal of bells, and also that they would put the whole place in order. Let them hope it would soon be so in Durham. He thought it was the duty of the association to call attention to the condition of the belfry at Durham Cathedral, and he trusted that the authorities would show their readiness to move in the matter, and put the belfry on a par with those of other Cathedrals. At the adjacent Cathedral of Ripon they found a brand new frame had been put in, and people could go there and ring a peal quite comfortably, and yet here, at a rich Cathedral like Durham, it was surprising to find things so backward and in such a condition. It was a matter that demanded very serious attention; at the same time they must heartily thank the Dean and Chapter for giving them permission to ascend the tower and try the bells. They succeeded in ringing a few very short touches, and they all perspired very severely in their exertions. If any other persons present desired to go up and try their skill, they were quite at liberty to do so, but he questioned whether they could ring more than 500 changes, if so many.

The vote having been carried by acclamation, the proceedings terminated.

The ringing during the day consisted, at St. Nicholas', of 720 Kent Treble Bob Minor, being the first on the bells. W. Fraser (Whitby), 1; H. Lindsey (Newcastle), 2; J. Clapperton (Newcastle), 3; T. Hudson (Sunderland), 4; H. Ferguson (Newcastle), 5; F. Lees (Newcastle, conductor), 6. And a 720 Bob Minor. A. Thompson (Chester-le-Street), 1; — Wanderson (Chester), 2; D. Shipp (Staindrop), 3; F. Charlton (Bishop Auckland), 4; F. Leasdale (Darlington), 5; L. Newton (conductor), 6. And at St. Oswald's, 720 Kent. F. Teasdale, 1; F. Charlton, 2; W. Newton (Durham), 3; J. W. Shipp (Bishop Auckland), 4; E. Titt (Bishop Auckland, conductor), 5; J. Cleminson (Bishop Auckland), 6. And a 720 of Bob Minor by the Tanfield ringers, assisted by E. Carr, Jarrow (first 720), and F. Harrison (Jarrow). At the Cathedral, a 420 of Bob Triples. H. Ferguson, 1; T. Clark (Ripon), 2; T. T. Gofton, 3; C. L. Routledge, 4; R. S. Story, 5; F. Harrison, 6; F. Lees, 7; W. Story, 8. And a 168 of Grandsire Triples and a course of Bob Major. T. Gofton, 1; F. Charlton, 2; J. W. Shipp, 3; E. Titt, 4; J. Cleminson, 5; W. Story, 6; R. S. Story, 7; F. Lees, 8. A 720 Canterbury Pleasure was also rung at St. Oswald's, by four Chester-le-Street and two Durham men.

UPCHURCH (Kent).—On Sunday, October 18th, a company of ringers from Sittingbourne and Borden visited this church, and, with the assistance of Mr. F. Hinckley, of Upchurch, rang 720 Bob Minor. The bells (six) have been recently rehung, and this is the first 720 since the work has been completed. W. Tassell, 1; S. Snelling, 2; J. G. Elliott, 3; E. J. Bottle, 4; F. Hinckley (conductor), 5; C. Willshire, 6. This is F. Hinckley's first 720 as conductor. The ringers were afterwards kindly entertained at tea by Mr. Hinckley.

ERRATUM.—No. 2 of Rev. H. E. Bulwer's peals of Stedman Caters, in directions for repeating, for "without the single," read "with bob for single."

THE EAST LINCOLNSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

On Saturday, October 24th, the quarterly meeting of this association was held at Hagworthingham. Ringers attended from Boston, Frieston, Skirbeck, West Keal, Spilsby and Willoughby. Hagworthingham contains a fine peal of eight bells in good ringing order. Ringing commenced at 10.30 with a 910 of Grandsire Triples. E. Clayton, 1; F. Dovoto, 2; G. Clark, 3; W. F. Harwood, 4; A. Barber, 5; J. M. Rylatt, 6; E. Mason, 7; J. Sharp (conductor), 8. Also a 720 of Bob Minor (eighteen bobs and two singles). W. F. Harwood, 1; J. A. Hand, 2; G. Clark, 3; T. Seagrave, 4; J. M. Rylatt, 5; E. Mason, 6. Several 6-scores were also rung by C. Lilley, Rev. C. C. Gibson, T. Boyers, J. Sharp and E. Clayton.

At 12.30 a short service was held with an address by the Rev. G. W. Lowe, rector. At 1.45 dinner was provided at the "George" inn, presided over by the Rector. After dinner the usual business of the society was gone through. The Rector gave the ringers a hearty welcome to Hagworthingham and became an hon. member, and his son became a ringing member. The society now has five ringing clergy members in the district. Six from Willoughby became members. A very successful meeting was brought to a close with tea at the rectory.

ARUNDEL, SUSSEX.

October 24th, on the occasion of the marriage of the Rev. E. Hughes, late curate-in-charge, of Arundel, with Miss Tompkins, third daughter of the Rev. R. Tompkins, vicar of Tortington, four members of the Warnham branch, with W. Burstow, of Horsham, were invited to Arundel, with three of the local band, for a peal for the occasion. At 2.30 they started for a peal of Oxford Bob Triples. Every thing went well for two hours, when the fifth rope slipped wheel, and could not be pulled off again, which put an end to what would have been an excellent peal. F. Luxford, 1; T. Andrews, 2; C. Blackman, 3; W. Charman, 4; H. Burstow, 5; W. Short, 6; H. H. Chandler (conductor), 7; A. Mills, 8.

The Rev. R. Tompkins afterwards invited the ringers to a meat tea with him. Justice being done to the good things set before them, Mr. Walter Charman rose and proposed the health of Mr. Tompkins and the newly-wedded pair. Mr. Tompkins, on rising, said he thanked the ringers for so kindly drinking his health, and also that of the newly-married pair. But he was very sorry to hear that they were not successful in their attempt for the peal. They again visited the belfry and rang a quarter-peal in the same method. W. Short, 1; F. Luxford, 2; W. Charman, 3; T. Andrews, 4; C. Blackman, 5; H. H. Chandler, 6; H. Burstow, 7; A. Mills, 8. The visitors take this opportunity of thanking the Rev. R. Tompkins for so kindly inviting them to Arundel for the peal.

NOTE TO THE PEAL AT ST. NICHOLAS, BRIGHTON.—It had been the wish of Mr. Searle, the conductor, to ring a peal of Stedman on these bells before being restored and augmented with two new trebles to a peal of ten. Consequently on Saturday, October 24th, eight members of the St. Nicholas and St. Peter's societies combined, met for that purpose. All went well until over the half-way, when owing to a late late call and a bell dropping just at the same time, caused the attempt to collapse. Nothing daunted, on Thursday, October 29th, the same band met again, and with a slight re-arrangement (for the best as it proved) rang in 2 hrs. 45 mins., a first-rate peal of Stedman Triples, which will be found recorded in the proper place. Great credit is due to the steeple-keeper, Mr. Palmer, for the time and trouble spent in doctoring them up for this occasion, they having been considered unpealable for the last two or three years.

A CORRECTION.—The peal of Bob Major rung at St. Luke's, Liverpool, and published in the last issue of this paper, was the composition of A. Percival Heywood, Esq.

VALUABLE Bargain.—Fine mellow-toned Violin, in perfect preservation; suit lady or gentleman for orchestra or solo playing; complete with bow and ebonized case. Take 14s. 6d. for the lot; violin alone worth double. Money willingly returned if not approved. About 20s. worth of unsoiled music given in free.—Mrs. Graham, College Buildings, Ipswich.

THE UNEMPLOYED IN EAST LONDON.—At a time when much thought is being given to this matter, a practical suggestion may be of service. Last year more than £300,000 worth of foreign matches were purchased by inconsiderate consumers in this country, to the great injury of our own working people, so true is it that "evil is wrought by want of thought, as well as want of heart." If all consumers would purchase Bryant and May's matches, that firm would be enabled to pay £1000 a week more in wages.

Ringers' Outings.

VISIT TO LYMM, CHESHIRE.—A visit was paid to the above place on Saturday, October 31st, by eight members of the Lancashire Association who had arranged to attempt a peal of 5088 Kent Treble Bob. Owing, however, to the neglect of one of the party, seven only arrived at the church at the time appointed, where the churchwarden was found waiting for them, and who kindly placed the bells at their disposal. As no one could be found to make up the band, nothing was done, beyond raising and examining the bells and partaking of some refreshment, for more than an hour, when the late member turned up. It was then found that it would be impossible to ring a peal in time to catch the last train for home, so one part only was rung and the bells brought round. Altogether 1,760 changes, in 1 hr. 10 mins. R. Hill, 1; R. Williams, 2; C. Williams, 3; W. James, 4; J. Aspinwall, 5; H. Coley, 6; T. Hammond, 7; W. Davies, 8. Composed by C. H. Hattersley and conducted by T. Hammond. During the ringing the belfry was visited by a number of the local band and others. After the above, touches of Stedman Plain Bob and Grandsire Triples were rung. Mr. Heald, of Manchester, who has been instructing the local band, took part in the last three touches. The bells are a grand ring, by Messrs. Taylor, hung in iron H frames (tenor 29½ cwt., in D), and the go of them leaves nothing to be desired, although they might be handled with greater advantage if boxes were placed for the ringers of the three heaviest bells. The ringers take this opportunity of thanking the Rector and churchwardens for their kind permission to ring, and trust they will be able to attempt the peal at some future time. Mr. R. Hill hails from Southport, the rest of the band from Liverpool.

VISIT OF WINDSOR RINGERS TO MAPLEDURHAM.—The peal of six at Mapledurham was, on Saturday, swinging to the tune of Grandsire Doubles, the ropes being handled by five of the Old Windsor ringers, assisted by a local ringer, always ready to give a helping hand. This completed, a fellow-string from the next village arrived, and a 720 Grandsire Minor was pulled off. A pleasant walk of about two miles, and Whitchurch was reached. Here the belfry was soon occupied, the only touch calling for special remark being a 720 Bob Minor. A. C. West (Maidstone), and T. Pocock (Whitchurch) taking part in the peal. The musical peal at Pangbourne was the next on the list, the ringing of most note here consisting of some good 6-scores of Stedman Doubles. R. Flaxman (Slough) conducted the various touches of Grandsire Minor, the Bob Minor being called by W. Lawrence, and the Stedman by A. C. West; the other visitors comprising G. Williams, G. Stanbrook, A. Andrews, and G. Guttridge. The tenor of the Mapledurham peal was cast by Robert Wells, of Aldbourne, Wilts, in 1764, and is a good bell; 3 and 5 are without doubt Reading bells, the productions of the Knight family; 2 and 4 contain long Latin inscriptions, and are probably by the same founders, the dates varying from 1625 to 1664.

GREAT HORKESLEY, ESSEX.—On Sunday, November 1st, Messrs. Nevard, Hazell, Balls, King and Bowers, from Great Bentley, journeyed to Great Horkesley, where Messrs. H. Howell & Son are engaged re-hanging the grand old ring of five (tenor 16 cwt.), whence they walked over the fields to Little Horkesley and rang several 6-scores on the pretty little peal of five (tenor 6 cwt). From there they went to Nayland and rang 720 Bob Minor for afternoon service on that fine old ring of six (tenor 18 cwt.); and, curious to say, not two of these bells are cast by the same founder, but they are perfectly in tune. F. Balls, 1; W. Hazell, 2; A. Howell, 3; H. Bowers, 4; H. Howell, 5; W. Nevard (conductor), 6. They then went to Stoke, by Nayland, where there is another grand old ring of six (tenor 28 cwt). On these bells a 720 of Bob Minor was rung. W. Nevard (conductor), 1; J. King, 2; W. Hazell, 3; H. Howell, 4; H. Bowers, 5; A. Howell, 6. Owing to bad ropes, etc., it is not all pleasure to ring these heavy bells in Minor. Here the Great Bentley ringers left for home, a twenty miles' ride in the dark. They were all well pleased with their day's outing, and wish to thank the rev. gentlemen at each of the above churches. We may also mention that Messrs. Howell and Son are doing the work of re-hanging the tenor and setting in order the peal of eight (tenor 16 cwt.) at Framsdon, Suffolk.

MUMBLES PARISH CHURCH, GLAMORGANSHIRE.

A correspondent writes:—A new peal of bells at the Mumbles parish church would not come amiss. The present bells are not exactly ideal church chimes, and the criticisms of the parishioners are such that it is not at all unlikely but that some practical measures will be taken with a view to add another bell or two to the existing ones. The parish church of the Mumbles was built in the eleventh century, and is one of the oldest, if not indeed the oldest, places of worship in Wales. Its present bells have been rung by the same sexton for over fifty years, whilst the ancient history of the sacred edifice is as interesting and remarkable as that of any other church.

LLANDYGWYDD (WALES).

A new peal of bells have just been presented to this parish church by Mrs. Brigstocke, of Blaenpau; Mrs. Weobly Parry and Miss Weobly Parry, of Noyadd Trefawr. The new bells are of the most modern design, and the opening peal was accompanied with considerable rejoicings in the parish. Llandygydd possesses one of the oldest communion cups in Wales, its date being 1573.

DEATH OF A VETERAN RINGER.

At the moment of going to press we hear of the somewhat sudden decease of Mr. William Morris, of Cheltenham, which took place on the 3rd inst. He was in his 82nd year, and was taken ill in the early morning of Tuesday, and passed away the same evening. We hope to give fuller particulars in our next issue.

"On Monday last the new peal of eight bells, cast by Messrs. Chapman & Mears (of White-chappel) for All Saints' Church in this town, were opened by the Society of Change-ringers from Birmingham, and the College-youths from the City of London; by whom several Changes were rung with the greatest exactness. Many real Judges from different parts attended on this occasion, who universally pronounced the Bells to be truly complete and musical. Weight of the tenor upwards of 23 hundred."—From the Northampton Mercury of Monday, Sept. 16, 1782.

UNVEILING OF A PEAL BOARD AT NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE.

On Monday evening, October 19th, an interesting ceremony was performed in the belfry of St. John's church, Newcastle-on-Tyne. A goodly number of ringers were present, also several visitors, amongst whom were the Vicar of the parish, the Rev. I. W. Milner, M.A., and his curate, the Rev. E. Lewis, Churchwardens Woodger and Rickaby, and Mr. Sidesman Routledge, R. S. Story, Esq., President of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association, W. Story, Esq., and others. Proceedings were commenced at 6.45 p.m. with a well-struck 576 of Woodbine Treble Bob Major. T. T. Goffton, 1; H. Ferguson, 2; H. Lindsay, 3; J. Clapperton, 4; W. Holmes, 5; R. S. Story, 6; C. L. Routledge (conductor), 7; F. Lees, 8. Then the Vicar drew the curtain to one side, disclosing to view a handsome peal-board in three panels. The two outer ones, which are surmounted by opal photos of Durham and Newcastle Cathedrals respectively, record the first peals on the bells, 5088 Bob Major and 5120 Kent Treble Bob Major, both rung in 1885. The centre panel, which is topped by a bell bearing the inscription "A.D. 1706," the date which St. John's tenor bears, records a peal of Bob Triples rung in May of this year. The whole is in the Gothic style, and painted black and gold, the lettering being a marvel of artistic neatness. Under the bright rays of the electric light, which has lately been fitted into the church and belfry, the board had a striking effect, and is a real ornament to this well ordered belfry. The ringing-room has also undergone a thorough cleaning and painting, and looks brighter than ever. A short and appropriate service was then read by the Vicar and his colleague, after which the former addressed those present with reference to the newly unveiled board, and heartily congratulated the ringers on their success, and made very flattering remarks anent the artistic way in which the tablet had been illuminated and constructed.

The company afterwards adjourned to the Victoria hotel, Neville Street, where a very successful smoking concert was held under the able chairmanship of Mr. W. G. Routledge, Mr. R. Story taking the vice-chair. Toast, sentiment, song, and recitation followed each other in rapid and pleasing succession, and many were the wishes expressed by those present that such meetings were more frequent, and everyone was sorry when the company had to join hands and sing "Auld Lang Syne," preparatory to departing for their several homes.

Mr. H. Ferguson has photographed the peal tablet, and a copy will be presented to each of the subscribers and ringers.

RAUNDS, WELLINGBOROUGH, AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

A Quarterly Meeting of this Association took place at Raunds on Saturday afternoon, October 24th. About forty ringers from the various belfries in connection with the Society attended. Ringing commenced at 2.30 and was continued until late in the evening. At 4 o'clock a business meeting of delegates was held at the Schoolroom. Wollaston was fixed upon as the place for the next quarterly meeting. J. Henson, Esq., of Kettering was proposed as a new hon. member. The Rev. Hugh Bryan Vicar of Raunds, Hon. Sec. of the Association, and his churchwarden, Mr. Black, were present to welcome the visitors. The Vicar conducted the ringers over the Church and pointed out the particular objects of interest in the grand old edifice, which is one of the largest in the county. Its lofty tower and spire have been described by a reliable authority as "amongst the finest, even in this district of spires, which contains some of the best in England." The tower is understood to date from the time of Henry III. and the body of the church was probably rebuilt in the reign of Edward III. An ancient clock face fixed above the west arch inside the church has the twenty-four hours marked on it in accordance with the latest idea in modern timepieces. The bells are a peal of six, tenor 18 cwt., the first four being by Eayre and Penn, and the fifth and tenor re-casts by Warner. The bell frame is very old, it bears date 1663; nevertheless, the bells go nicely, which speaks well for the care taken of them by Mr. Stubbs, the steeplekeeper. There is a strong desire to increase the peal to eight. The local ringers certainly deserve an octave, there is ample room in the tower for extra metal, and the large tower will accomodate two more ropes. On the belfry wall are two peal tablets; one 18th century, and the other erected eight years ago.

At 5 o'clock the Rev. Hugh Bryan provided an excellent tea at the Coffee Tavern, to which thirty-seven ringers sat down. On the proposition of Mr. Craddock, seconded by Mr. E. J. Dennes, a hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Hon. Sec. for his great hospitality and the warm welcome he had given them to Raunds. Ringers in the district will be pleased to learn that the scheme for rehanging and increasing the bells at Higham Ferrers is progressing favourably, and also that a project for adding two trebles to the peal of six at Rushden has been brought forward. The floods in the Nene Valley, and the heavy fog that followed the bright afternoon, rendered the return journey of some of the ringers anything but pleasant.

BIRMINGHAM.

On Monday, October 26th, in response to the invitation of Mr. J. J. W. Carr, the managing partner of the Woodland Bell Foundry, Smethwick, Messrs. T. Miller and W. Bryant visited the Foundry and inspected a peal of six bells, tenor 11 cwt., made specially for the pantomime of "Dick Whittington" at the Prince of Wales' Theatre, Birmingham. After listening to the bells, which by the way are all maiden bells and nicely in tune, an inspection was made of the several departments connected with casting and moulding of bells, etc., and an invitation was accepted to the offices of the firm, where, after partaking of refreshments, the handbells were brought into use. Touches of Grandsire Triples were rung by W. Bryant, T. Miller (conductor), H. Bastable, and J. Buffery, interspersed with a few tunes by Messrs. Bryant and Miller. Messrs. Carr brothers also rung several plain courses and 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles, assisted by T. Miller. The firm have several apprentices who would soon make ringers with a good tutor. The visitors took their leave very much pleased with what they had seen, the bells especially.

THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

MANCHESTER BRANCH.—The usual monthly meeting of the above branch was held at St. Michael's parish church, Ashton-under-Lyne, on Saturday, October 31st, when members attended from Manchester, Eccles, Bacup, Newchurch, and Rusholme. The business meeting was held in the vestry, presided over by the Rev. Canon Cager (vicar), and supported by the Rev. H. E. Elsee (president), and Mr. J. Eachus (vice-president) of the association. The meeting opened with a short prayer by the Vicar, who afterwards delivered a very appropriate address to those present, touching upon many important points in the career of ringers, which were well meant for the good and welfare of all. It was decided to hold the next meeting at St. Ann's church, Hyde Road, Gorton, Manchester, on Saturday, November 28th. During the evening touches of Caters and Cinques in the Grandsire method, Stedman Caters, Bob Major, and Kent Treble Bob Royal were rung. A vote of thanks was accorded the Vicar for presiding and for his able address to the ringers, also for so kindly granting the use of the bells; also to the local company for having all in order. At the suggestion of the Vicar, the Doxology was sung, which brought the meeting to a close.

STAMFORD, NORTHANTS.

On Friday, October 30th, 1891, a meeting was held in the mission room belonging to the parish of St. Martin to found a society of ringers for the parish church. The chair was taken by the vicar, the Rev. A. H. Jones, who explained the objects of the meeting and the position which the new society would hold, and then called upon Mr. H. L. James, in whose hands he had placed the tower, to read the proposed rules. Mr. James read the rules, and made such comment upon them as was necessary, after which seven members joined the society, which bears the name of "St. Martin's Scholars." The members then adjourned to the tower and raised the bells for a few minutes' ringing. This company will begin by learning Bob Doubles, with a view to ringing Minor methods.

HINGHAM, NORFOLK.

On Monday, October 26th, the bells of St. Andrew's church were re-opened, after being re-hung with new head stocks, metal bed plates, turned steel gudgeons, improved metal carriages, gun-metal bearings, grease boxes, and hinge caps. They have also been fitted with new wheels, stays, slides, etc. About 10 o'clock members of the Norwich Diocesan Association from Norwich, Dereham and Aylsham arrived, and rang a few touches of Bob Major and Treble Bob. At 2 o'clock a luncheon was provided at the boys' school-room by E. Eagling, of the "Angel" inn. The chair was taken by the rector (the Rev. A. C. W. Upcher), supported by the Rev. H. Earle Bulwer (secretary of the Norwich Diocesan Association); Rev. — Pitt, curate of South Lopham; Rev. H. Fagan, curate of Hingham; Henry Feltham, Esq., solicitor; and W. Muffett, sen., churchwarden. After luncheon the usual toasts were drunk.

The Rev. H. Earle Bulwer, in speaking of the good done by ringing associations, said that in the last nine months the Norwich Association had almost doubled its numbers, there now being 625 members. Several towers had lately joined—Thetford, Fakenham, Wells and Holkham, where only call-changes had been rung—and were now making great progress, and would soon be full members. He thought he ought to congratulate the rector, churchwardens and parishioners for the way their bells had been restored.

The Rev. A. C. Upcher said that about twelve months ago a working party met at the rectory, and at the sale £35 was the result. As £88 was required, £53 was still wanted. After heading a paper he sent it round the parish, and within a week the £53 was collected. He was proud of his church and also of his bells. He was sorry to add that the president of the association, the Rev. Dr. Raven, was not able to be present, but hoped a meeting of the Norwich Association would be held in Hingham next year.

The bells are a peal of eight; tenor, 18 cwt., in F. A tablet on the north wall of the ringing chamber is inscribed: "This peal of eight was completed by a generous contribution, 1742. Taylor Cooper, Benjamin Curby, churchwardens."

PRESENTATION AT BASINGSTOKE, HANTS.

On Monday afternoon, October 19th, after a Confirmation had been held by the Lord Bishop of Guildford, the local ringers met in the belfry for the purpose of presenting the Rev. W. H. Windle, late curate of the parish and now vicar of Odiham, with a testimonial in recognition of the interest he had taken in them during his stay in the town. There were present, in addition to the ringers, the Lord Bishop of Guildford, the Rev. Dr. Cooper-Smith (vicar), Mr. Harry Loe (churchwarden), and Mr. Frank White (sidesman). The testimonial, which took the shape of a church bell (plated), in a polished oak frame, was intended to serve as a table or dinner-bell, and bore the following inscription: "Presented to the Rev. W. H. Windle by the ringers of St. Michael's church, Basingstoke." The Vicar, as president of the society, in presenting the bell, said he knew Mr. Windle owed him two or three grudges for entrapping him on previous occasions, and he supposed would owe him another when he told him he had enticed him up there to present him with a gift on behalf of the ringers. He was certain that Mr. Windle, who is himself a ringer, would never forget the ringers of Basingstoke with whom he had worked and spent so many happy hours. He concluded by wishing Mr. Windle every happiness in his new home and parish. The Rev. W. H. Windle said he thought the Vicar was an adept in entrapping people. He had not the slightest idea, when he was asked to look up and see the ringers, that he was going to receive such a handsome present. He thanked them most sincerely for their unexpected token of goodwill, and expressed a hope that he might soon have the pleasure of welcoming them to the belfry of his own church at Odiham. The Bishop then addressed a few words to the ringers, in which he expressed the pleasure it afforded him in being present at such an interesting ceremony, as it was one of the many proofs now existing of the co-operation of the ringers and clergy. He took an interest in belfries and ringers, and he always found that a band of properly-constituted ringers was an immense help to the clergyman in his parish.

Correspondence.

While allowing the utmost freedom for the expression of opinion, it must never be considered that we are in any way bound to statements made by correspondents.

To the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS AND RINGERS' RECORD."

ST. GEORGE'S, BRISTOL.

SIR,—It was with great surprise that I read the account in the columns of your paper of the resignation of the St. George's (Bristol) ringers, and I must say that Mr. H. T. H. has given a very unfair account of the occurrence from beginning to end. In the first place I flatly deny that Mr. H. T. H. has had to explain any erroneous statements made in the Bristol Mercury. With regard to the weekly penny subscription which was the cause of the resignation, Mr. H. T. H. states that the proposer had no one to second him. In the first place Mr. H. T. H. was not present at the meeting, and secondly the reason that it was not seconded was that immediately it was proposed it was vetoed by the Vicar, as patron of the Guild, and thus stopped the proposition being carried any further. The penny subscription was started at the commencement of the Guild, as the tower was in such a bad condition; but as the tower is now furnished in a good substantial style, and the treasurer has a very fair balance in hand, the members desired to abandon the subscription and raise the entrance fee with the result as above. Mr. H. T. H. also states that football and cricket had something to do with our resignation. I deny it, and I must also state that Mr. H. T. H. has not visited the tower himself during the last six months more than six times. And as to the free use of the schoolroom, Mr. Howell does not mention that the Guild voted 10s. at the Annual Meeting towards the school, and lastly, I must say that out of a population of 37,000 I do not believe that Mr. H. T. H. could find 100 who would take his view of the case, or welcome any other band under the present circumstances.

THE PROPOSER.

A CORRECTION.

SIR,—In your most interesting notice of the Rev. W. W. C. Baker last Saturday, there is one slight mistake which I should like to be allowed to correct: The mention that Seage's apparatus was presented by me to the Cambridge University Guild, I am afraid that I can claim only half the honour of the gift; the other half belongs to the Rev. F. G. Howard, late Chaplain of Trinity and Censor of Non-collegiate Students, who was an active supporter of bell-ringing here until his health failed, and whose death two years ago was in many ways an irreparable loss to Cambridge. We were more than repaid for our gift by the great use of which the apparatus has been, especially in a town like Cambridge, where open ringing is strongly objected to by many students.

Obituary.

THE REV. CANON BRIDGES.

Readers of "THE BELL NEWS" will be grieved to hear of the death of the Rev. Alexander Henry Bridges, Rector of Beddington, and Rural Dean, and Honorary Canon of Winchester, which took place on Friday, October 16th. The deceased gentleman had been in failing health for several years, but it was not until two months ago, i.e. in the middle of August, that his state of health gave rise to any distinct alarm. He was in his 80th year, which he would have completed next December had he been spared. Canon Bridges was appointed rector of Beddington in the year 1864, and a few years afterwards his energy and munificence caused him to undertake the complete restoration of the church and chancel, which were indeed sadly in need of repair. This scheme involved the repair and strengthening of the tower and the augmentation of the old peal of three bells to one of eight. Some years subsequently the rector added two more trebles, making a peal of ten; indeed it is known that had the tower been strong enough he would have augmented the peal to twelve. In addition to this work at home Canon Bridges had the peal of eight at Horley rehung entirely at his own expense; he gave one bell out of the peal of six at Benhilton, Sutton, and was a large subscriber to the recent restoration and addition at Ewell, when the old six were rehung and two trebles added. Canon Bridges was one of the original members of the Surrey Association, and presided over the meeting which gave birth to that Society. His loss will be very widely felt, while at Beddington it is hard to see how he can be replaced. The deceased was buried in the churchyard of Beddington on Friday, October 23rd. Before the interment there was rung a touch consisting of 504 Grandsire Caters, in the inverted titmuss, the bells being deeply muffled. After the service the usual whole pull and stand followed by rounds eighty times repeated, and after a short interval a muffled peal of Grandsire Caters, notice of which appeared in our last issue. Memorial services were held at the church on Sunday, October 25th, and the bells were rung muffled for all three services.

This peal in two irregular parts, comes from the 5376 published last week, and has all the qualities there mentioned, excepting that one course is inserted in each part, which makes it a peal containing the 5th and 6th the extent in 5-6. Its changes can be reduced to 6144 by using the alternate calling to the seventh or fifteenth courses. If both are used the changes are 6080. A variation may be made by the use of alternate calling to the first and tenth courses, but to reduce such a peal as above, inverse calling must be made to the sixth and sixteenth courses.

This peal like the last one is in two irregular parts, with all the qualities there stated. The two courses there mentioned being inserted together between the course-ends 26435 and 32654. Its changes may be reduced to 6080 by using alternate calling to the sixth course. A variation can be made of this peal by using alternate calling to the first and ninth courses; but the two inserted courses must go between the course-ends 25346 and 42563. To reduce such a peal to 6080 changes, inverse calling must be made to the sixteenth course.

57, Great Russell Street,
BLOOMSBURY, LONDON.
Consultation Daily 10 to 5.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has demonstrated that Painless Dentistry is as much an accomplished fact as the swift locomotive, the telephone, or the phonograph.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, absolutely restores the natural contour, caused by the loss of teeth, rendering detection impossible, by the Prize Medal dentals, which have obtained the highest possible awards, viz.: London, 1851; New York, 1853; London, 1862; Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; and Philadelphia, 1876.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has received from S. G. Hutchins, Esq., Surgeon Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen, a testimonial, which places beyond all doubt the vast superiority of his system. "My Dear Doctor,—Allow me to press my sincere thanks for the skill and attention displayed in the construction of my Artificial Teeth, which render my mastication and articulation excellent. I am glad to hear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. In recognition of your valuable services, you are at liberty to use my name.—S. G. HUTCHINGS, By Appointment Surgeon-Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen." Geo. H. Jones, Esq., D.D.S.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has obtained the highest possible awards at the great International Exhibitions for his Improvements in Dentistry, which are protected by Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent, and for Painless and Perfect adjustment of Prize Medal Teeth, viz.: gold medals, London and Paris; gold medal, New Zealand Exhibition, 1882; gold medal, Calcutta, 1883; and the highest diploma of merit and award at Nice and Amsterdam, 1883-4. Awarded the gold medal of the Académie Nationale, Paris, 1884; and the highest award Antwerp; also the gold medal, International Exhibition, London, 1885; gold medal, Liverpool, 1886; gold medal, Melbourne, 1888-9.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, and Doctor of Dental Surgery, U.S.A., consulted daily from 10 to 5, or at any special hour by appointment, and upon a personal visit, every information respecting fees and treatment, without charge, at his only address—

MR. T. C. POWELL, OF LOUGHTON, ESSEX.

(Vide PORTRAIT.)

In collecting the necessary memoranda for the compilation of a brief memoir of this distinguished ringer, we are brought face to face with the names of many celebrated men of a past generation. The fact that the subject of these lines well recollects such men as Thurstans, Cooper, Lates, and others their contemporaries, affords the present writer a great deal of interest in the task allotted to him. He hesitates not, therefore, to dwell for a time on the connection between these ancient Birmingham celebrities and the gentleman whose ringing career it will be his privilege to afterwards pourtray.

In the early part of the present century a distinguished member of the Birmingham St. Martin's Guild was Mr. Joseph Powell. Old and authentic records attest that even among such men as those already mentioned, Mr. Powell was a ringer of noted eminence. In 1817 he rung the 5th at St. Philip's, Birmingham, in a peal of Stedman Caters, which was composed and called by Thurstans, and in 1819 he is heard of at the 5th in the first peal of Kent Treble Bob Royal ever rang on the St. Martin's bells, which was also conducted by Thurstans. In all Mr. Joseph Powell is accredited with having rang about twenty-five peals, which comprise 6600 of Stedman Cinques, the longest peal in this method at that time, which was also composed and called by Thurstans; the first peal of Oxford Treble Bob at St. John's Deritend: 5016 Grandsire Cinques at St. Martin's; the first peal of Kent Treble Bob Major at St. Helen's Worcester (composed and conducted by Thurstans) in 1824; the following year himself calling the first peal of Kent Treble Bob Royal at All Saints, in the same city. In the next year he called a peal of Treble Ten at Aston; in January, 1829, a peal of Treble Twelve at St. Martin's; and in 1831 he composed and called the first peal of Stedman Caters ever rung at Aston.

Mr. Joseph Powell had a son, whom, from the age of ten used to accompany his father to the belfry, and thus the boy became well known to all the leading Birmingham ringers of that day. The youth alluded to is the subject of our sketch, Mr. THOMAS C. POWELL, now mine host of "The Holly Bush" inn, Loughton, Essex.

The introduction to the belfry by his father in the manner just described created the fondness for ringing which has ever since been a characteristic of Mr. POWELL. He rang his first peal on the 31st of January, 1847—Stedman Triples—at Aston; and in April of the same year another peal in the method at Deritend, both conducted by the late H. Johnson. By these performances his position as a clever and safe ringer was assured. In the year 1848 the long spell of silence at Birmingham—so far as Stedman Cinques was concerned—was broken. Twenty-seven years had gone by without the achievement of a peal of this description, but on January 11th in the above year a peal was rung, conducted by Mr. Johnson, in which THOMAS POWELL took part; as he did also the following month in a peal of Treble Bob Caters at Aston, the only peal of Caters in that method that has yet been rung. He rung altogether in the year 1848 eleven peals, in various methods, one of these being the longest peal of Stedman Cinques rung up to that date—7392 changes. A peal of Grandsire Cinques, 6336 changes, in 1849, appears to be the last he rang in Birmingham for a while, for in the following year he is found in London, and as a member of the Cumberlands, ringing peal after peal under the conductorship of the celebrated Charles Goozee. He was in the attempt for the long peal, with the above-named conductor at the helm, at St. Michael's, Cornhill, on May 5th, 1851, where after six hours' extraordinary good striking, the attempt failed when 7746 changes had been rung. On the 19th of December, 1853, he rang 3-4 in the first peal of Stedman Triples ever performed in hand. This performance at once brought him to the front among ringers, and though after many years had lapsed the statement was made upon undoubted authority that one of the four ringers of this peal crossed his bells by accident for about half-a-dozen blows, it is only fair to state that that ringer was not THOMAS POWELL, and thus his ability as a double-handed ringer cannot be called into question thereby. On April 9th, 1854, he rung 3-4 in Holt's ten-part; in the following June the same pair of bells in Holt's Original (the first time this peal had ever been rung in hand); the following January, 3-4 in 5000 Stedman Caters; and on the 24th of October, 1857, he rang 5-6 in another 5000 of Stedman Caters. All these handbell peals were called by the late John Cox.

About the year 1857 Mr. POWELL accepted an engagement at the Government Works at Waltham Abbey. This old-fashioned market town had earned some notoriety in ringing circles from the feats of the brothers Carr, one of whom was parish clerk. Mr. Thomas Britten, a very highly-respected metropolitan ringer, had become proprietor of "The Three Tuns" inn in the market place 'neath the Abbey walls, and it would thus appear that under all three combined circumstances ringing would not die out at Waltham Abbey. In fact London ringers enjoyed the run down to the ancient Abbey, and were always welcomed, and by none more so than our friend Mr. POWELL, who soon came to be regarded as the leader of the local ringers, in the tower, and whose efforts to teach them the art were shown by the ability some of them at present possess.

Mr. POWELL now joined the College Youths, and rang several good performances in that Society, among which was a peal of Stedman Cinques at St. Saviour's, Southwark; Caters in the same method at All Saints, Poplar; and Treble Bob Maximus at St. Michael's, Cornhill. In 1872 his friends Mr. H. Johnson and Mr. H. Bastable visited the metropolis, and while on their visit they rang a peal of Stedman Triples at St. Matthew, Bethnal Green, which Mr. POWELL conducted. In the same year, at Waltham Abbey, with his pupils he called Holt's ten-part in hand, ringing 3-4. A synopsis of the whole of Mr. POWELL's performances will however be found below.

In the year 1880 Mr. Britten retired from the proprietorship of "The Three Tuns," and after an interval, Mr. THOMAS POWELL succeeded him. This hostelry was in fact a house peculiarly suited for the control and management of a ringers. A room had at some time or other been specially built for the uses of ringers, and its furniture and fittings at once denoted it to be a ringers' rendezvous. And many's the time that a good company of ringers has assembled beneath its roof. Ringers were sure of being welcome at "The Three Tuns" before any one, and at all the appointed evenings were sure also of meeting a party to ring. But after a few years of Mr. POWELL's proprietorship ringing concerns at Waltham Abbey did not make headway, and through some unfortunate misunderstanding a schism was created, and the "rift in the lute" was sufficient to cause our friend POWELL to retire from ringing so far as Waltham was concerned, and resign his position as warden of the belfry. It is not the writer's province to open this old sore; it is entirely beyond his duty to say where the blame, if any, existed. But the general consensus of opinion of those who have known Mr. Powell for many years is that it is practically impossible for him to do any action of a mean or under-hand character, or any thing which may lead to confusion or unpleasantness. He has a fault, it is true; and that is, depending too much upon human nature, and appearing to entertain the idea that all men are as unselfish as he is himself.

(OF LOUGHTON, ESSEX.)

However, we will end this subject by saying that there is no ringer in or out of London who is more respected by his ringing brethren than Mr. THOMAS C. POWELL, now of Loughton, Essex. He is always delighted to meet a ringer from any part of the country, but especially from Birmingham and the district around, many of whom, on their visit to the Metropolis, make his house their head quarters for a day or two, and return with feelings of the most uncommon satisfaction at the few hours enjoyed in his company. A rare old specimen of what an English victualler ought to be is THOMAS POWELL.

Below is a table of Mr. POWELL's performances :—

	Rung.	Conducted
Grandsire Triples	14	5
" Caters	1
" Cinques	1
Kent Treble Bob Caters... ..	1
Treble Bob Major	2
" " Royal	1
" " Maximus	2
Stedman Triples	11	2
" Caters	15
" Cinques	6

Three of the above peals of Grandsire Triples were rung in hand, and one of Stedman Triples, and one of Stedman Caters.

A reference may very well be made at the end of this memoir, to an elaborate stone tablet which was erected many years ago, in the steeple of St. Martin, Birmingham, to record six twelve-bell peals, of which Mr. POWELL rung in five. The tablet was erected at the cost of one of the St. Martin's Guild—the late Mr. Hopkins—whose memory is held in the highest respect. Since it was affixed to the wall, the floor of the ringing-chamber has been raised, and the tablet is now underneath this floor, and consequently out of sight. It is a great pity that the Church authorities of St. Martin do not take some means to remove it to a spot where it can be seen and read. The tablet is of Painswick stone, and is engraved in a most superior manner, and cost between £30 and £40. There is little to encourage anyone to spend money on valuable and costly ringing records with this example before them.

RE-OPENING OF THE ORIGINAL EIGHT, AND DEDICATION OF TWO NEW BELLS AT WELLS CATHEDRAL.

On Wednesday, November 4th, after a silence of a year-and-a-half, the bells of Wells Cathedral, augmented to a ring of ten, were successfully rung again.

The documents in possession of the Dean and Chapter furnish a few scattered notices of the history of the bells; the earliest is a statute of Bishop Jocelin, who died 1242, which directs that a bell shall be rung to call the Canons into Chapter. Thomas of Bitton, Dean of Wells, 1286-1292, afterwards Bishop of Exeter, gave to our church the bell commonly called "the sermon bell." Accounts for the year 1343 show that there were four bells, called respectively "Maria," "Peter," "Buttone," and "Doustone;" and the account further speaks of "two belfries." It is therefore pretty clear that there must have been belfries in 1343 in each of the two western towers, though they were not yet carried up above the level of the nave roof. In 1394 either more bells were added, or the old were re-cast, for heavy expenses were incurred that year in the "hanging of three new bells in the old north tower." At this same time there were two bells in the south-west tower; and it is supposed that these two were presented by Bishop Harewell, and named "Greater Harewell" and "Harewell the Less." In 1414 five more bells were added to the two Harewell bells, the communal's account containing payments for the "hanging of five bells and for new clappers, brought from Sherborne;" and hence it would appear that now there were seven bells in the south tower and five in the north—(will there ever be twelve in one tower?). After the completion of the north-west and Buburth tower in the roll of 1449-50, there is an entry which suggests that some disaster made the ringing of the bells difficult or dangerous, owing to the sinking of the high tower and the fall of some masonry. The roll of 1500-1 speaks of "payments for bringing the great bell," and for "consecration of the new bell." But soon after began the time of sacrilege and spoliation; and probably some of the bells were melted down, as the next time we hear of the bells is in a chapter minute of 1586 "that the great bell be placed by the master of the fabric in the tower, and the fragments of the metal to be sold." And again in 1587-88, "Harewell great bell to be re-cast by Joseph Carter, of Reading." The bells had now been reduced in number to five, as Francis Godwin, Canon 1587-1617, writing in 1601, says: "Bishop Harewell gave two great bells, the biggest of which being cast fewer times since I was in the church, now at last serveth for the greatest of a ring, the goodliest for their number (being but five), I think, in England." We may notice that among the inscriptions on the greatest bells the old 6th, dated 1757, by A. Rudhall; also the 7th, same date; and the tenor was re-cast in 1803 by Rudhall. Since then the tenor has been cracked once at least, and was re-cast by Taylor, of Loughborough, 1877, and may well be called "a masterpiece," as its size, shape and sound testify.

About eighteen months ago the bell-cage was condemned as unsafe, and the Dean and Chapter decided to re-hang the bells. Whilst the work was proceeding, the Dean (Dr. Jex-Blake) and Mr. Alderman Everett offered very generously each to give a new bell, and the offer was gratefully received by the Dean and Chapter. The bell given by the Dean weighs 7 cwt. 3 qrs., and is inscribed: "A thank-offering. T. W. Jex-Blake, 1891." That given by Mr. Everett weighs 9 cwt., and is inscribed: "Given by John Giffard Everett, 1891." These bells are from the foundry of Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, Whitechapel, who are celebrated for their treble bells. The work of re-hanging the old bells and hanging of the new was entrusted to Messrs. Blackbourn and Greenleaf, the well-known firm at Salisbury, who have done such good work at Christ Church Cathedral; and who, being practical ringers and loving the noble art, have proved that they can deal with the heaviest peals; in fact, the excellent quality of the work, the immense strength and stiffness of the iron frame, the accuracy with which every detail has been carried out, have excited the admiration of various independent inspectors of it. One proof being that, whereas before, Mr. Washbrook had to ask for help to set the tenor after he had pulled her off, he rings her now for three-and-a-quarter hours in peal without any help.

The Dedication Service was held on Wednesday, Nov. 4, at 11 a.m. A special service was chanted in the choir, and simultaneously the Rev. Canon Bernard conducted a short service in the ringing-chamber, where the Wells ringers were assembled, as well as several ladies and gentlemen, including members of the Diocesan Guild. Canon Bernard addressed all present shortly, expressing thankfulness for the completion of the work, and urging the Wells ringers to enthusiasm in what is God's work and for the glory of God. The bells were rung in rounds for a few minutes, while the congregation in the distant choir sat and listened; and the brightness and the richness of the whole peal proved a very pleasing part of the service. After the service a short touch of Grandsire Caters was rung, conducted by J. W. Washbrook, supported by a most efficient band of first-class ringers.

At 1 p.m. the Rev. Canon Bernard entertained a large company of ringers at luncheon at the "Swan" hotel, short speeches ensuing from himself and the Dean appropriate to the occasion, especially referring to the satisfactory way in which the work had been carried out, and welcoming the ringers who had come to try a peal. Cathedral Evensong was rung in at 3 and then an hour's calm ensued. At about 4 p.m. the bells were started for a peal of Stedman Caters by a band collected by Rev. F. E. Robinson, Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild (the peal is fully recorded among the peals in this paper), conducted by J. W. Washbrook, who took the tenor alone; and the true, steady striking at once told all the listeners that they "meant to do it," the only fear being that some of the old hands should go to sleep over what was evidently a very easy job to them.

It remains to be said that it was indeed a grand peal, and will take a lot of beating. The striking was as near perfection as possible; many were seen walking about in the Cathedral Green listening with delight. Mr. Langton, the organist, evidently thought it better than any other music! Our dear and venerable Bishop was wheeled about in his chair for a long time, in order to hear them at different points, and it is said that two ladies sat still during the whole peal and listened to every change. The peal went on merrily for 3½ hours, when report says that someone was going to sleep in the slow work; so Mr. Washbrook had to get off the tenor box (leaving the rope to Mr. Greenleaf) and see what was the matter, and the unusual sight was presented of the conductor sitting in a corner of the box, putting on his shoes, calling a bob; walking over and putting on his coat, and calling another bob. Well—he peal was finished just before 8 p.m. and the band came down, knowing that they had never rung better, and proud of ringing the maiden peal on one of the finest ring of ten in the world, having proved also that they had been beautifully hung.

At 8.30 the Dean entertained all ringers at supper at the "White Hart," and a very pleasant evening was passed, varied by songs, tunes by Messrs. Washbrook and Hinton, and whistling from Mr. Hounslow. Mr. Robinson, returning thanks for the welcome given to him and his band, expressed his complete satisfaction at the work done, and his view that Messrs. Blackburn and Greenleaf had fully justified his confidence in recommending them for the work to the Dean and Chapter.

On the following morning this indefatigable band actually rang a short touch of "Treble Ten," Mr. Washbrook working the Tenor in easily! That speaks for itself, and needs no comment, and must be almost unique in the annals of ringing with a tenor of 58 cwt.!

We can only close this account with an earnest hope that the ringing we have heard will stir us Wells ringers to real enthusiasm in the art. We know now what good ringing is. People will not now be content with monotonous rounds. We must work hard and steadily towards being able to handle this grand ring of bells, and one day perhaps attempt a short touch of even Stedman Caters. A.G.

CLENT (Worcestershire).—On Saturday, October 24th, 720 Plain Bob Minor. W. Shilcock, 1; W. Boughton, 2; G. Workman, 3; T. Barber, 4; W. Huxley, 5; C. Boughton (conductor), 6. Also 720 Grandsire Minor. G. Workman, 1; W. Boughton, 2; C. Boughton, 3; T. Barber, 4; W. Huxley, 5; H. Martin (conductor), 6. On Sunday, for evening service, 720 Kent Treble Bob. G. Workman, 1; W. Boughton, 2; H. Martin, 3; W. Barber, 4; W. Huxley, 5; C. Boughton (conductor), 6. After service, 720 Oxford Treble Bob, standing as above. These touches were rung with the bells half muffled, as a mark of respect to Mr. Charles Maycroft, who was buried at St. Kenelms on Saturday, the 24th, and who was formerly a member of the Clent society.

THE EAST DERBYSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

NORTH WINGFIELD.—On Tuesday, October 27th, at the parish church, 720 Bob Minor (fourteen singles and eight bobs), arranged by T. Millington, from J. Parker's 720 of fourteen singles and eight bobs, called the reverse way. J. Butler, 1; W. Butler, 2; J. Tarlton, 3; T. Millington (conductor), 4; W. Hopkinson, 5; T. Day, 6. Also another 720 Bob Minor (eighteen singles and three bobs), taken from "THE BELL NEWS" of October 10th, 1891. T. Day, 3; J. Carlton (conductor), 6. All are members of the Old East Derbyshire Association, excepting T. Day. Tenor 18½ cwt., in F.

THE MIDLAND COUNTIES' ASSOCIATION.

RIPLEY.—On Sunday afternoon, October 11th, at the church of All Saints, the local company rang 720 changes in four different methods, viz., Stedman, Plain Bob, Manchester, and Grandsire Doubles, in 30 mins. Tenor 19 cwt. J. Shardlow, 1; C. Davie, 2; W. H. Frost, 3; J. Slater, 4; H. George (conductor), 5. The above was rung as a farewell touch to Mr. J. Shardlow, who left the town upon this date; also in honour of the birthday of Mr. W. H. Frost, each of whom received the congratulations and best wishes of their brother-ringers upon the conclusion of the ringing.

BRISTOL.—On Sunday, November 1st, after Divine Service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire. J. Richmond, 1; C. Derrick, 2; C. Trevette, 3; T. Salter, 4; J. Hinton, 5; W. Emery, 6; F. Price (conductor), 7; J. Palser and D. Palser, 8.

THE GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A District Meeting of this Association was held on Monday, November 2nd, at Newnham-on-Severn, where there is a handy ring of eight in good order. Proceedings commenced early in the morning with a peal of Bob Triples, rung by five of the local men with the assistance of three friends from Gloucester, which is the first accomplished by any of the local band. The 11.20 train brought down most of the visitors from a distance, in time for the special service at 11.45. A most appropriate address was given by the Vicar, the Rev. W. G. Baillie, M.A., who took for his text 1 Tim. iv. 8 (rev. ver.) The rev. preacher said:—

Whatever else that splendid man, St. Paul, meant by these words, my brothers, I think we may be quite sure of this, that he did not intend to disparage or depreciate, for one moment, healthy physical exercise. We cannot read those grand parables of his, in which he makes use of the athletic contests of the Greeks as figures of the Christian Race, without feeling that he had probably stood and watched those manly sports with as keen a zest and interest as any of the spectators. Nor would he who, in the midst of a spiritual letter paused to give the young Timothy a hint about his diet, so that he might keep well and strong, be likely to despise bodily exercise as a means of preserving health and vigour. But, St. Paul was wise enough to see, that mere bodily exercise and nothing more can never be enough to develop the full capabilities of a man. In fact, it can only minister, directly, to one part of our threefold nature. Man is made up of body, mind, and spirit. And he who cultivates the powers of the body alone, neglects two-thirds of his capacities. To live as God meant him to live, he must also use his mind, his reason; and yet more, he must bring into action those highest powers of his immortal spirit, by which he can hold communion with God, his Creator, Redeemer, and Sanctifier; in short, to his manliness, he must add godliness. Then he will be a true man. Now, what has all this to do with the object of the Associations by which, nowadays, church bell ringers are bound together as brothers of God's bells? I venture to say that it has a good deal to do with it. Cast your minds back, you who are old enough to remember a past state of things; use your imaginations, you who are younger; walk into a church belfry fifty years ago, or even less; and what do you see? You find a set of men, strong of limb, firm of nerve, energetic of purpose, quick of apprehension, skilful in their art, armed with patience, perseverance, pluck, "giants of old" that you still look back upon with reverence, as you read of their feats, and try to emulate them. The bodily exercise is magnificently performed; the mental effort is creditably maintained; those men of bygone days were no fools, who could do such deeds as are recorded on many a belfry wall. And, in so far, you do well to imitate them. But now comes the difference between the old way and the new. Too often those men were "heavy drinkers, heavy swearers, bad livers"; the ringing-loft was frequently the scene of "the ribald joke, the blasphemous oath, the loud irreverent laugh," as the ale went round. Too often those men were men who never bent the knee in the public worship of God, who called others to the church, but seldom obeyed their own summons. It is this which we have so greatly altered in these our days. The Church has awoken to her duty and responsibility in the matter. We insist that (so far as can be ascertained) our Church ringers shall be men of "godly, righteous, and sober life." We require that they shall be Churchgoers. We try, by every means in our power, to impress on them that the belfry, as much as any other part of the church, is "holy ground," solemnly consecrated to God Himself, and pervaded by His Covenanted Presence. And, what is more, we entreat them to realise that they are Church Workers, every bit as much as members of the choir, or teachers in the Sunday School, or the Parson of the parish himself, for "there are diversities of ministrations, but the same Lord." Then, following close on this, comes the consequence that they must lead lives worthy of their holy calling and office. Put it all in a word, and it comes to this: that the Church now seeks to take care that you who are ringers should not confine your energies to "bodily exercise," but as St. Paul said, nineteen centuries ago, and would say to you, my brothers, if he were addressing you now, "exercise yourselves" also "unto godliness." "Be good ringers; but, above all, be good men." Now my friends, I would ask, "Is this reform complete?" I think the true answer to that question is "No." And for several reasons. 1.—The first reason why it is not complete, is, that there are sure to be individual exceptions. Of course, there were exceptions to the rule in the old days of careless, thoughtless ringers. Among them were to be found men of quiet, pious, Godfearing life, an honour to their office. But now also, when we hope that the generality of our ringers are "exercising themselves unto godliness," there must be some who are not doing so. Remember, my Clergy are not (as seems to be supposed by some) policemen or detectives. We trust you, as honourable men;

we do not play the spy on our Church workers. What, then, if a ringer, in his hours of leisure, misconducts himself, drinks to excess, pollutes his mouth with filthy talk, defiles his body with sins of shame? It may very well be that the parish priest does not at once get to hear of it, and the unworthy ringer is suffered to retain his post of honour and sanctity. In every such case, contempt and disgrace is poured on the Church of Christ; occasion is given to the unbeliever to deride; a blow is struck at the progress of the Kingdom of God; an insult flung in the face of Christ Himself. My brother, if conscience smites a single one whom these words may reach; my brother, remember that the eyes of all are upon you, not only when you are exercising your ministry, but at all times; be watchful and be true. But remember, far more, that one eye is always upon you, that can read you through and through, the Eye of The All-knowing God, to whom, one day, we shall all of us have to render an account, but those of us who have undertaken Christian work of any kind, a very special one. 2.—And this brings me to another point, of which we must take jealous care, if the reform to which I have alluded is to be real and abiding. We must beware of substituting "respectability" for "godliness." That would be putting casket for treasure, husk for kernel. But it is only too easy to do. Men nowadays are shocked, if they find an uncared for Church, or a desecrated belfry; but in many cases their horror is not due to any definite consciousness that God has been insulted; but rather to the idea that such neglect is disreputable, and out of date. In the same way, we are too apt to be satisfied if our ringers are men of inoffensive life, and decent behaviour, without urging on them positive godliness. This will prove a fatal mistake; a false ground to take; and must end in the collapse of the whole reform that I have spoken of. The Church ringer ought to be a man of real manly unobtrusive piety; no hypocrite; no canting unnatural self-appointed preacher; no sour-faced misanthrope; but a clear-conscience Christian of a cheerful countenance and a kindly art; a man of real prayer; a man who loves his worship; a man who "adorns the doctrine of God our Saviour in all things." Yes, brothers (I say it deliberately, and I say it emphatically) the ringer must be a holy man. 3.—If he is to be this, and to keep so, among all the many temptations of daily life, he cannot afford to despise or reject any of the spiritual helps which God Himself offers and has appointed for us. Of these Christian means of Grace, chief, first, foremost, highest, grandest, purest, strongest, most glorious of all, stands The Blessed Sacrament of Holy Communion. I must speak very plainly about this so that no one can be left wondering what I have been driving at. There is an opinion abroad in many quarters that a man can be a good Christian enough, without being a communicant. I can only say (speaking as one who once held that opinion, but have, long since, utterly renounced it) that I do not believe that any man, who will sit down and read his New Testament carefully, prayerfully, and without prejudice, can hold any such opinion. Thank God, the Church is waking up to the danger of this delusion, and earnestly inviting all who are trying to lead "a Godly and Christian life," in humble dependence on their Lord, to obey Christ's plain command, to receive Christ's promised strength, to commemorate Christ's Precious Sacrifice, and to enter into Christ's assured Presence, by coming to the Holy Table of the Lord, reverently, faithfully, regularly; and, as time goes on, with increasing frequency. And I should not feel that I had declared to you "all the counsel of God," if I did not say to you that to every man who in earnest, the way is straight and clear that leads from the belfry at one end of the church to the altar at the other, and that you are earnestly entreated to tread it oftener. Until that is done, this reform will not be complete. In the rules of almost every band of ringers, it is now required that each member shall attend at least one service of the church every Sunday. Pray God that twenty years hence you may be ripe for the full rule of Churchmanship, "and shall also be a Communicant." And now, my brothers, I wish you God-speed, alike in your physical exercise of the body; your mental exercise of memory; skill and adroitness; and, above all, in that unwearying exercise of Godliness, which will sanctify and make bright all the rest, and without which you cannot be true Church-workers, or true Christian men at all. Yours is a blessed ministry. Perhaps you little think of the influence that the bells exercise on the listening world, outside your trim and well-loved belfries. In how many a weary heart they awake memories of far-off days and holy teachings! To how many an overworked brain they bring the message of Sunday rest and communing with God! For how many a wandering sheep, long absent from the worship of the Church, they are the only voice that keeps within recollection the existence of things eternal! Some of you may have seen a picture which represents a beautiful custom prevalent among the simple peasantry on the Continent. At the sound of the church bell, announcing the hour of prayer, the daily task is suspended for a moment, in the workshop, in the field, by the roadside; and heads are bent and hands are clasped, as a prayer is repeated in blessed child-like faith. It would, no doubt, take a long time to make general such a custom among our reserved, undemonstrative English people. But there are not a few, especially among the sick and aged, who, without sign or gesture, throw up to God a burning dart of prayer at the sound of the bells summoning to worship; and yours, my brethren, are the hands that start those prayers. If you did nothing more, that would be a holy privilege. The Jews of old sounded out a blast on the great silver trumpets "for the convocation of solemn assemblies;" the Mohammedan, standing high on the balcony of the tall minaret that surmounts his stately mosque, proclaims the prayer-hour with the human voice; but in no worthier way are men called together to "worship and fall down, and kneel before the Lord their Maker," than by the giant-tongues of those great bells to which you harness yourselves so willingly. Brothers, go on; put your heart, as well as your muscle and mind, into the work. Guard your lips and your lives, as men self-consecrated to a holy work. Exercise yourselves unto Godliness, for that is best of all; because it is "profitable for all things, having promise of the life which now is, and of that which is to come."

After service a touch of about 600 Bob Triples was rung, and an adjournment was then made to the Templars' Hall, where about twenty-five sat down to an excellent dinner provided by Mr. Pyart. The Vicar occupied the chair, and was supported by the Revs. H. A. Cockey (Master), Pitt Eykyn (Hon. Sec.), C. P. Brickwell (local secretary for Campden Deanery), and Messrs. C. E. D. Boutflower (local secretary for Bristol), E. Lascelles, and W. H. Hinton, Churchwarden of Newnham. The companies represented at the meeting were the St. Michael's Juniors Gloucester, Ruardean, Dursley, Newnham, Buckland, Bitton, Newton-St.-Loe (Somerset) and Bristol. After the usual toasts had been duly honoured the business meeting was proceeded with. One honorary, four ringing, and eight probationary members were elected; Mr. Howell was appointed Instructor on the usual terms, for Berkeley, and it was decided that as the next meeting—the Anniversary—in ordinary course, be held at Bristol, the new Dean should be asked to arrange for a service to be held at the Cathedral, and to address the members there assembled.

At the close of the meeting one band adjourned to the Newnham belfry and there rang some touches of Triples, whilst another drove to Westbury-on-Severn and there accomplished a well-struck 720 of Bob Minor on the grand ring of six at the parish church.

The report for 1890 is in the hands of the local secretaries, and may be obtained from them by members residing in their several districts.

THE LIVERPOOL DIOCESAN GUILD.

The monthly meeting of this Guild was held at Upholland on Saturday, October 31st, members being present from Aughton, Hindley and Wigan, besides the local company. The Vicar (the Rev. G. F. Wills) gave them a hearty welcome to Upholland, and kindly provided an excellent tea, to which ample justice was done; and at the business meeting afterwards held the Vicar presided, being supported by the Rev. W. T. Bulpit. He spoke of the excellent work being done by the Guild, and when they visited Upholland again he hoped that he would be able to be amongst them as a practical change-ringer, and gave an earnest invitation to visit Upholland at a future date. The Rev. W. T. Bulpit then gave an excellent address, and thoroughly explained the objects of the Guild, after which two performing members were elected. A hearty vote of thanks to the chairman for providing so excellent a tea, and for the use of the bells, brought a very pleasant meeting to a close.

THE SAFFRON WALDEN SOCIETY.

On Wednesday, October 21st, this Society accomplished a peal of Treble Bob Major on the bells of the parish church of Saffron Walden, on the occasion of the marriage of Miss Margaret Evelyn Pelly, third daughter of the Vicar, and one of the band of lady ringers, with Godfrey Lawford, Esq. To commemorate this event the Vicar has kindly promised a marble tablet to be erected in the tower. In the report of the peal the number of changes were omitted, which should have been stated as 5056.

THE UNEMPLOYED IN EAST LONDON.—At a time when much thought is being given to this matter, a practical suggestion may be of service. Last year more than £300,000 worth of foreign matches were purchased by inconsiderate consumers in this country, to the great injury of our own working people, so true is it that "evil is wrought by want of thought, as well as want of heart." If all consumers would purchase Bryant and May's matches, that firm would be enabled to pay £1000 a week more in wages.

Correspondence.

To the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS AND RINGERS' RECORD."

Re "H.T.H." OF BRISTOL.

SIR,—“Plain Speaker” having asked H. T. H. to answer a question, I have several others I should like answered at the same time. Before I ask them, I should like to say that H. T. H., having brought himself before the public, must not feel hurt at having to defend the position that he has taken up, namely that the ringers and not their instructor are at fault. Now if in a regiment the drill, discipline, or physique of a company is at fault, it is not the men, but the officers that are properly blamed. If in a school the boys are backward, unruly or slothful in a certain form, the head master suspects that the blame ought to fall on the form master and not on the boys. In the same way in a belfry, if the members are dissatisfied, slow in progress, bad at attending practices or even worse, striking in a mean manner, the onlooker blames not the men, but their head, that is to say, their instructor, and tries to discover where this man has been lacking, either in tact, temper, enthusiasm in his work, or power of giving instruction in bell ringing. Now never having heard of H. T. H. or of St. George's belfry, I propose to ask several searching questions on this subject. But before I do so, I should like to emphatically impress with what tremendous advantages H. T. H. began his very responsible duties in 1889. 1.—Apparently a new band, not one like mine, accustomed for years to ring call-changes, which is quite the most difficult duty to undertake. 2.—No tiresome neighbours continually complaining about the noisy bells. 3.—A comfortable schoolroom to practice handbell ringing in, probably a fire supplied. 4.—Power to practice when they like without let or hindrance. 5.—A parish and church officers encouraging his work and not obstructing it. Observe what H. T. H. tells us: (a) handbells given to practice on; (b) actual interest shewn—they have honorary members who appear even to pay their subscriptions when due. But if I continue to detail the advantages they had, your readers will think they have bought a fairy tale, instead of their beloved “BELL NEWS.” Now the first and most important question I wish to put is the following: 1.—Exactly how many of the band would have been able to take a bob bell through a peal of Grandsire Triples, with a reasonable chance of getting the peal. Not how many he has altogether taught to do this, but exactly how many out of the men now on strike could take such a bell at this moment. I do not desire any information about Grandsire Doubles. 2.—If the band were learning Plain Bob, how many members were able to ring a 720 of Bob Minor on a bob bell, without any pushing at all, but thoroughly and well. If a majority of the band, at least six, have not attained to one of these levels it is most certainly the fault of the conductor, as a competent man should have managed it, notwithstanding the many misfortunes that he would have been sure to have met with, starting under such favourable auspices as at Bristol. My second question is hardly less important. Is H. T. H. a competent instructor? H. T. H. says he is ready again to go over the old work, proffering his slender abilities. This, one hopes, can only be modest self depreciation on his part, as most assuredly no instructor, recognising his responsibility to the Exercise generally, and to his parish in particular, would have omitted in three years' time to work up and know, in all its points, the method which he is professing to teach, both as to the exact use and working and alterations caused by bobs and singles, calling, conducting, bringing round and knowing the separate course of every bell in the plain course relative to the work of the others, and most important of all, having learnt to impart this knowledge. If H. T. H. has not, though having worked the method up himself, and though knowing it thoroughly, been able to impart this knowledge (some men never can) it would be better for him and for his parish if he retired, to let some fresh hands try their prowess. One cannot conceive that a promising band of ringers as they should be, would work so ill together and strike in such an unsportsmanlike manner, unless there were greater grievances under the surface than H. T. H. speaks of. My third question is very weighty. Has H. T. H. himself been thoroughly regular, especially during the last year, in attending practices, in attending meetings, in attending to ring on Sundays, etc., and above all, has he been punctual, or generally dropped in late? Has he done his utmost by using persuasion to get his men to attend regularly at ringing and at practice meetings. Has he kept that control over his temper, which is so necessary in a conductor? Has he used proper tact in dealing with his unruly members? In a word, is he a competent instructor or has he flown too high and fallen with draggled wings in a praiseworthy though unsuccessful attempt to carry out his duty? Has he failed in the grave responsibilities that were entrusted to him? H. T. H. may know the name and address of the stranger who is attacking him by writing and asking the Editor, to whom I am sending my card. I write solely to champion the side who have not been heard, and who are probably very much in the wrong as well, and committed a dirty trick in their manner of striking, and don't seem to understand the sacredness of their office. A BELIEVER IN TWO SIDES TO EVERY QUESTION.

NOTE TO THE PEAL AT SOUTHGATE, MIDDLESEX.—This performance was arranged for and the peal was rung in honour of the fiftieth birthday of Mr. Harvey Reeves, in commemoration of that gentleman's jubilee. Although "three score and ten" is the proverbial allotted span of years for mankind, it is well known that thousands never even reach the point accomplished by our friend the Editor, and the ringers, one and all, wish him many happy returns of the day. "Not the half century," which of course he would not desire. Double Norwich was intended, but at the last moment the services of Mr. Clark (not a Stedman ringer) were successfully sought in place of Chas. Martin, who could not attend. One of the ringers, having heard that this birthday fell upon the 10th inst., arranged the peal, and its accomplishment upon the occasion will no doubt gladden and enliven the hearts of both the domestic circle and staff at Walthamstow, the chief of whom, we hope, has recovered his recent indisposition. H. DAINS.

W. H. Abbot of Gisburne House, Watford, would be very glad to hear of any Grandshire Triples Ringer, who will be staying in Watford during this winter, and would be much obliged if any such ringer would send his address.

Compositions.

All compositions sent for insertion must be accompanied by a fee of Sixpence. If proof of a touch or peal is desired One Shilling additional must accompany such request.

Round at 2nd change of last six.

* 2, 7, 8, 12, 15, 16, 518, 23, 24, 26, 28

In this touch 6-7s, 7-4s, and 4-6s are produced in all but the first and last courses. The go-off is from the last change of a quick six, the usual start being inapplicable to the number of changes required. The first six will, therefore, be as follows:—

1 2 3 4 5 6 7

2 4 1 6 3 7 5

For the convenience of conductors who are unaccustomed to figured calling, the position calls may be of service, the 7th being taken as the observation bell.

In the first course call:—

Wrong, and Home with a double.
First whole turn, and Last whole turn with a double.

Single Wrong, and Home with a double.
Wrong, and In quick.

At the first single the 7th and 3rd are behind, and the latter will make the single (6ths place). It should be noted that, at the time this call is made the 7th is home, not wrong as at a bob.

In the body of a touch call Last whole turn for the bob at 7, and In quick for the bob at 12. In the last course, which consists of six sixes only, call Wrong for the bob at 2, and Out quick for the bob at 5. The treble and 5th are behind at the half-way single, the latter making the single (6ths place).

*. We particularly ask that correspondents desiring answers to their questions through the medium of this page, will write such questions in separate sheets of paper, otherwise they may be lost sight of.

BLOOMSBURY, LONDON.
Consultation Daily to 5.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has demonstrated that Painless Dentistry is as much an accomplished fact as the swift locomotive, the telephone, or the phonograph.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, absolutely restores the natural contour, caused by the loss of teeth, rendering detection impossible, by the Prize Medal dentals, which have obtained the highest possible awards, viz.: London, 1851; New York, 1853; London, 1862; Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; and Philadelphia, 1876.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has received from S. G. Hutchins, Esq., Surgeon Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen, a testimonial, which places beyond all doubt the vast superiority of his system. "My Dear Doctor,—Allow me to press my sincere thanks for the skill and attention displayed in the construction of my Artificial Teeth, which render my mastication and articulation excellent. I am glad to hear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. In recognition of your valuable services, you are at liberty to use my name.—S. G. HUTCHINGS, By Appointment Surgeon Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen." Geo. H. Jones, Esq., D.D.S.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has obtained the highest possible awards at the great International Exhibitions for his improvements in Dentistry, which are protected by Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent, and for Painless and Perfect adjustment of Prize Medal Teeth, viz.: gold medals, London and Paris; gold medal, New Zealand Exhibition, 1882; gold medal, Calcutta, 1883; and the highest diploma of merit and award at Nice and Amsterdam, 1883-4. Awarded the gold medal of the Académie Nationale, Paris, 1884; and the highest award Antwerp; also the gold medal, International Exhibition, London, 1885; gold medal, Liverpool, 1886; gold medal, Melbourne, 1888-9.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, and Doctor of Dental Surgery, U.S.A., consulted daily from 10 to 5, or at any special hour by appointment, and upon a personal visit, every information respecting fees and treatment, without charge, at his only address—

THE MIDDLESEX ASSOCIATION.

The Annual Meeting of this Association was held at Southgate on Saturday, November 7th, about thirty members being present. The tower was open at three o'clock, but ringing was not commenced till past four o'clock, when touches of Grand-sire, Treble Bob, Stedman, and Double Norwich were rung on this beautiful peal of bells. At 6.30 an adjournment was made to the "Cherry Tree" where Mr. Palmer the landlord served a plentiful tea, to which all were able to do justice. After tea, Mr. G. B. Lucas, the Master, having taken the chair, business commenced by confirming the minutes of the last meeting. The Annual Report was then read by the Secretary, Mr. F. A. Milne, which was adopted. The Treasurer did not present his account because some subscriptions had still to come in. His statement was accepted, and it was decided that the annual balance-sheet should be printed in the report. A discussion having arose as to the desirability of securing payment of booking fees, the Master urged upon all conductors of peals to collect the booking fees at the end of the peal, and also that the names and addresses of members proposed before a peal be at once submitted to the Secretary. The Master then drew attention to a peal rung at Southgate on Monday, November 2nd last, which had been described in "THE BELL NEWS" as a Middlesex peal, but as four new members were elected before starting, and by the rules of the Association only two members can be elected before a peal, it was decided that the peal should not be booked. The list of peals was then read by the Master, and it was resolved that they should be printed in the report. The election of officers for the ensuing year was next proceeded with. Mr. Lucas being unwilling to stand again as Master, two names were submitted; Mr. C. H. Martin, of Hendon, and Mr. John Barber, of Wood Green. Mr. C. H. Martin was elected. Mr. Milne not seeking re-election as Secretary, Mr. Percy Howard, of Stoke Newington, was unanimously elected. Mr. J. Waghorn, jun., was re-elected Treasurer; Messrs. Groves and English were appointed Auditors. The provisional election of Mr. A. Jacob and Mr. A. Howell was duly ratified. A discussion as to the formation of districts ensued, and several suggestions as to the division of the county were made, but nothing definitely was settled. Mr. Howard undertook to push the formation of a western district with a centre at Acton or Ealing as far as he could.

On the question of the continuation of monthly meetings, Mr. English proposed and Mr. Foskett seconded, that the Secretary be empowered to make arrangements, if practicable, for monthly meetings to be held at some tower or towers in London.

On the motion of Mr. Howard, seconded by Mr. Foskett, it was agreed that the Annual Meeting in 1892 should be held at All Saints, Fulham.

The meeting then terminated with a hearty vote of thanks to the officers of the past year for their services to the society, and to the vicar of Southgate for granting the society the use of the bells.

PRESENTATION TO A RINGER.

On Saturday evening, November 14th, the ringers of All Saints church, Northallerton, assembled in the vestry for the purpose of presenting Mr. John Holmes, their late captain, with a handsome marble timepiece, suitably inscribed, on his leaving Northallerton to take up an improved position at Huddersfield. Mr. C. D. Smith, at the request of the Rev. B. C. Caffin, vicar, who through a slight indisposition could not attend, made the presentation. In handing Mr. Holmes the testimonial, the chairman regretted that they were to lose the services of Mr. Holmes, which had been most efficiently rendered as a ringer for over twenty years.

Mr. Holmes in reply said he was pleased to hear that his services had been appreciated in his new home.

After Messrs. Barnett, Barker, Simons, and Shuttleworth had made a few remarks, Mr. Holmes appropriately replied, and agreed to ring 360 Bob Minor for morning service, and a 720 for evening service, which was nearly finished when time for lowering arrived, owing to a ringer being late. The following took part morning and evening: A. Barker, 1; J. E. Simons, 2; J. Barnett, 3; J. Walker, 4; W. Thompson, 6; J. Holmes (conductor), 7; R. Shuttleworth, 8.

THE UNITED COUNTIES' ASSOCIATION.

On Saturday, October 24th, the annual six-bell cup competition took place at Holy Trinity church, Dinting Vale, near Glossop, when four prizes were offered for the best 720 of Minor. First prize—the Association's silver cup and six dozen knives and forks; Second prize—seven copper kettles; Third prize—six dozen tea spoons; Fourth prize—six silk handkerchiefs, given by the Dinting ringers and friends. Nine companies entered for the competition, viz., Friezland, Friezland Junior, Glossop, Glossop Junior, Hyde, Hayfield, Mossley, Saddleworth, and Saddleworth Junior; all competed except Hyde. Great interest was manifested in the proceedings throughout, and at the close, Mr. John Blakeley, Vice-President of the Association, read out the judges decision, which was as follows: First prize—Friezland; number of faults, 183; Second prize—Glossop; number of faults, 228; Third prize—Friezland Junior; number of faults, 288; Fourth prize—Glossop Junior; number of faults, 333; Saddleworth—number of faults, 336; Mossley—number of faults, 482; Saddleworth Junior—number of faults, 550; Hayfield—number of faults, 220; rung out. The Judges were Messrs. Joseph Pickering (Kirkburton), and John Collins (Huddersfield). Directly after the decision was given, a move was made to the club room at the Viaduct Inn, where the prizes were distributed by Mr. Pickering. Afterwards a vote of thanks was given to the judges for their fair and impartial decision, which was heartily carried and duly acknowledged. A vote of thanks was also given to the Dinting ringers for the valuable prizes they had given, and the successful way in which they had carried out the competition. Votes of thanks were also given to the vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells.

THE ESSEX ASSOCIATION.—BRAINTREE BRANCH.

On Thursday, November 5th, the members of this branch were cordially invited, through the kind hospitality of Mr. Robert Crickmore and Mr. Samuel Parmenter, to a substantial dinner at the Wheatsheaf Inn. The Rev. J. W. Kenworthy, vicar, presided, and the vice-chair was occupied by the Rev. H. P. Parmenter, curate, supported by Messrs. Crickmore and Parmenter, churchwardens. The event was to celebrate the inauguration of a new set of nineteen handbells, No. 18 in the key of G, supplied by Mears and Stainbank. Justice having been done to the good things catered for by hostess Miss L. Piggen, in her usual satisfactory style, the cloth was removed, and a liberal supply of grog, cigars, tobacco, and ale were freely passed round during the evening. The vicar very suitably thanked the churchwardens for supplying the spread with the comforts of the evening to the company.

Mr. R. Crickmore moved a vote of thanks to the vicar for presiding, also to the ringers, hoping this would not be the last meeting they would have, coupling with it the name of Mr. Rudkin, the leader.

Mr. Rudkin responded on behalf of the ringers, thanking the churchwardens for their kindness to them at all times. He also thanked Mr. S. Parmenter for the splendid box he presented to the company, the interior being fitted with baize and partitions for each bell. A call was made on Mr. Howard, who thanked the parishioners for the voluntary subscriptions in aid of the bells. During the evening tunes were played, and some touches rung by the company. The tone and finish of the bells gave general satisfaction. Songs were rendered by the Rev. H. P. Parmenter, Messrs. H. Hammond, Rudkin, and Calthorpe. Mr. Hammond came in for his share of honour for collecting subscriptions; thus ending a very successful and comfortable evening, all parting for home highly pleased with the evening's enjoyment.

THE BELLS OF ST. STEPHEN'S, BRISTOL.

DEDICATION SERVICE.—For about twenty minutes at mid-day on Saturday, November 7th, the belfry at St. Stephen's church was crowded whilst a dedication service was being held, prior to the new bells recently placed in the tower being brought into use. The bells have been provided by the Ancient Society of St. Stephen's Ringers, who have also had the old peal re-hung, and have effected other improvements in connection with this particular department at considerable outlay. The pressing need of the work which has just been carried out may be indicated by the fact that some of the old timbers removed were so decayed that they crumbled away upon very slight pressure. The eight existing bells were re-hung by Messrs. Llewellyns and James, of Castle Green, who also furnished the two new bells, and they have carried out their work in an admirable manner. The ringers' chamber has been re-floored, provided with neat wainscoting and seats, and fitted up in a manner which must materially enhance the comfort of those using the apartment. Messrs. Llewellyn and James's contract for re-hanging the old bells was £221, for the two new bells the cost was £82, and for restoring the ringers' rooms the expense was £92 10s.—altogether £395 10s. The tower clock has been cleaned by the Goldsmiths' Alliance.

The Ancient Society of St. Stephen's Ringers, who have already spent between £14,000 and £15,000 in works of renovation and improvement at the church from which they take their title, have by no means completed their labours. They contemplate erecting in the immediate future two additional dials to the clock in the tower. It has at present a single face on the west side; and the other dials will be fixed on the north and south sides of the tower, and will be fashioned after the style of the face which can now be seen from St. Augustine's parade. The cost of this work will be about £100. This perhaps will hardly be regarded by energetic members as a full year's work for the society, seeing the extent to which they have spent money in former periods; and for a later date a much more ambitious scheme is in view, but details have yet to be considered. What is contemplated is the renovation of the old porch, which stands alone in Bristol for its fan tracery, and the construction of a new transept. The cost of this work will be considerable.

The Rev. H. C. Joberns, the newly-appointed Rector, officiated at the service, which was of a very simple character. Amongst those who followed the Rector up the worn steps of the tower into the ringers' chamber were—Messrs. C. R. Hancock (master of the society), C. A. Paul, C. W. Cope Proctor, Goodenough Taylor, C. H. Tucker, Wm. Bullock, C. E. Boutflower, J. Gerrish, etc. After the dedication prayer a hymn was sung; and another prayer brought the service to a close. The Rev. H. C. Joberns subsequently made a brief speech, saying that they ought not to separate without thanking the generous society, which had not only furnished that splendid old tower with the new bells, but had re-hung the old bells, and had made the belfry as they saw it now; very different, he believed, from what it was a short time ago. He was sure that one of the great inducement to him to come to Bristol was the knowledge that there was connected with that venerable church such an invaluable body as the Ancient Society of St. Stephen's Ringers; and he was exceedingly glad to see the Master of the society amongst them that day. He (the Rector) was very anxious to have that service; and he was glad the master wrote to him respecting it a few weeks ago, because it had been the custom in the Church of Christ from the earliest ages, not only to consecrate those houses of prayer which were erected to the glory of God, but also to hallow, or bless, or dedicate any gifts which might from time to time be offered to those churches. It would have appeared to him unseemly that these bells should have been used in any way until they had first supplicated Almighty God to give His benediction to them and His benediction to the service in which they would be employed. He was delighted to see so many friends present that morning. Now that the service was ended, the ringers would be free to take their part; and he only hoped that every time they used those bells they would inwardly bless the Ancient Society for putting the old bells in such good order, and for increasing the peal to ten. He believed they now had the same number of bells as there were at Wells Cathedral. The bells were then set ringing, and the clearness of their notes and excellence of their tone during the time of the peal were the subject of congratulatory remark.

The first touch on the bells was three courses of Grandsire Caters by Messrs. Staddon, Tucker, A. Pearce, G. Pearce, Gooding, Duckham, Porch, Daltry (conductor), Boutflower, and Vinnery. This was followed by other touches, among which was a 557 of Grandsire Caters with J. Gould and G. Stallard in place of the above, conducted by H. Porch. At seven o'clock a dinner was generously given by Messrs. Llewellyns and James, and among those present were the Rev. H. C. Joberns, Mr. C. R. Hancock, Mr. J. H. Howell (senior partner in the firm of Llewellyns and James), Mr. C. H. Tucker (ex-churchwarden of St. Stephen's), and Mr. C. E. D. Boutflower; also the foremen of the various departments of Messrs. Llewellyns and James, including Mr. G. Lavershaw, the foreman bell hanger, and Mr. J. Rider, foreman bell moulder. It is worthy of mention that Mr. Rider has been connected with the firm of Llewellyns and James for sixty-two years, and is the oldest bell moulder in the west of England. There was also present thirteen members of the St. Stephen's Society, Bristol, who re-opened the peal. A capital dinner was partaken of, Mr. C. R. Hancock being in the chair, and Mr. J. H. Howell being in the vice-chair. The Chairman proposed the toast of "Church and Queen" which was received with musical honours. The Chairman next proposed the health of Mr. Howell (as representing the firm of Llewellyns and James), and in doing so dwelt on the thorough manner in which the work at St. Stephen's had been carried out. The toast was enthusiastically received, and Mr. Howell in responding said that their aim had been to give satisfaction, and he was pleased to find they had done so.

Other toasts followed, and the rector, in responding to the toast of his health, spoke in high praise of the Ancient Society of St. Stephen's. Songs and handbell ringing brought to a close an evening thoroughly enjoyed by all.

THE DEVONSHIRE GUILD.

A District Meeting of this Guild was held at Exeter on Saturday, November 14th. The following bands were represented: St. David's, St. Edmund's, St. Sidwells, St. Thomas, Exeter, Clyst St. George, Huntsham, Kenn Ottery, St. Mary, Silverton, Tiverton, and Whitstone. The Tiverton band rung some well-struck touches of Stedman Triples at St. Sidwells church, and also joined with other members of the Guild in some Grandsire Caters. Tea was served by kind permission at St. Sidwells Institute, to which about seventy sat down. C. Pearson, Esq., presided, and was supported by the Rev. J. W. Bird, rector of St. Sidwells, and the Rev. J. H. Berkeley, vicar of Heavitree. After tea the various bands adjourned to the different steeples in Exeter, and some good change-ringing was accomplished in Caters, Triples, and Doubles.

EASTBOURNE, SUSSEX.

On Monday, November 10th, after ringing various touches of Grandsire Triples at mid-day and in the evening, the ringers sat down to an excellent supper at the South-western Hotel, at the invitation of E. W. Rebbeck, Esq., the newly-elected Mayor and captain of the St. Peter's Company. The chair was taken by Mr. Merrett, who, after the loyal toasts, proposed the "Health of the Mayor and Mayoress," remarking on the many and various occasions they had been recipients of Mr. and Mrs. Rebbeck's kindness and generosity, he having been associated with St. Peter's ever since its foundation, and his father was the first parish clerk. It is probable that Mr. Rebbeck will present two new trebles to St. Peter's as a memorial to his late father. The ringers feel greatly honoured by having a Mayor for their captain. A very pleasant and enjoyable evening was spent, and the party broke up at half-past ten, after drinking the health of the host and hostess.

VIOLIN (fine, rich-toned) for Sale; very antique looking; in perfect condition; labelled, copy "Ruggeri"; together with nice bow and brass-mounted baize case, and several accessories and some music, making very good violinist's outfit; price only 17s. 6d.; extremely cheap, as these are no rubbish, but useless to present owner; genuine.—Miss Garland, 84, High Street, Maldon, Essex.

Ringers' Outings.

THE ST. MARY'S SOCIETY, FINCHLEY.—The members of this society met at Church End at five o'clock on Saturday, October 17th, and after a pleasant drive to Barnet, they were joined by Mr. J. Sumpter, of Hadley. They arrived at South Mimms soon after six o'clock, where they were met by the vicar (the Rev. W. H. Wood), and Mr. H. Howard (sexton). The bells having been raised, a start was made for a 720 of Minor, and after two or three attempts a 720 of Plain Bob (nine bobs and six singles) was brought round by the following: W. Russell, 1; J. Cornell, 2; W. Webb, 3; F. Sparks, 4; F. Carroway (conductor), 5; W. Burrows, 6. Also several touches of Plain Bob, and 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles, in which the following also took part: W. Tubb, W. Mulley and J. Sumpter. Tenor 11 cwt. After lowering the bells a move was made to the parish room, where, by the kindness of the Vicar, a very nice tea had been provided, and was soon done justice to by all present. Some tunes having been played by Messrs. Tubb and Cornell on the handbells belonging to the church, a start was made for home, where all arrived safe about twelve o'clock, after having spent a very pleasant evening. The ringers desire to thank the Vicar for his kindness in providing refreshments, and also for the use of the bells; and Mr. Howard for having everything in readiness for them.

GREAT TEY, ESSEX.—On Saturday, November 7th, Messrs. Burch, Boyden, Rashbrook, Wright and Geernart, of Colchester, rang their first touch in a strange tower, with R. W. Stannard, on the bells of Great Tey (tenor 16 cwt.), ringing their first course of Major, with the help of the local ringers, to whom they wish, through this paper, to give their hearty thanks for this their first, and, as it proved, a most enjoyable, outing. Unfortunately, a great lack of interest has been shown by the Essex Association in this part of the county, it being almost unknown that an Association existed, and not one of the above knew that we had a paper connected with the art, until a few weeks ago; but now five copies of "THE BELL NEWS" are taken amongst them. On handbells, a 720 of Bob Minor, with Mr. John Kettle ringing 3-4. Great credit is due to this ringer, who is totally blind, having been blind since the age of sixteen years, and it is worthy of mention that he never started bell-ringing until he was 23 years old, thus learning to ring without sight. He also rang a 720 of Bob Minor on the tower bells, and certainly put many handbell ringers to shame, ringing any two bells in Treble Bob or Plain with a skill very rarely seen.

Obituary.

WILLIAM MORRIS, OF CHELTENHAM.

This octogenarian ringer passed away at his residence in Cheltenham on the 3rd inst., as we briefly announced in a previous issue, literally dying in harness, for he was engaged in his business on the day preceeding his death, and went to bed in the evening, after partaking of a hearty supper, apparently in his usual health. He appears to have been taken ill in the early morning of the 3rd inst., and his wife got up for the purpose of preparing him a cup of tea, which, however, when ready, he was unable to take, and he shortly afterwards lost his power of speech, and lay in a comatose condition for the most part of the day, but towards evening he appears to have rallied somewhat, and was able to express a wish that his son and daughter should be telegraphed for. Shortly afterwards, however, the still but firm hand of death seized hold upon him, and between seven and eight o'clock on the evening of his seizure, he quietly passed to his rest. The doctor reported the cause of death as being hemorrhage on the brain. He was in his 83rd year, and would have completed it on the 27th inst. had he lived until then. Indeed there was every reason to think that he would have done so, for he was in the Cheltenham belfry five days before his death, and took part in all the ringing that evening, and almost the last thing he did was to express a hope that a peal should be rung on his birthday, and he went so far as to mention the names of those whom he would like to take part in it, pathetically adding—"perhaps it will be my last." The deceased was in his younger days elected a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, and was for many years a member of the now defunct Ancient Society of Crypt Youths, Gloucester." On his removal to Cheltenham some quarter of a century since he joined the St. Mary's Company at that place, and at the time of his death he was Master of it. He was likewise a member of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, the members of which have lost in him a true and kind hearted friend. It may truly be said that he was a connecting link between this and the last generation of ringers, for he well remembered the too long peals at Painswick, the last taking place nearly sixty years since. As a mark of respect for the deceased a muffled peal of 5001 Stedman Caters was rung at St. Mary's church, on the 6th inst., by members of the Diocesan Association, comprising the Rev. F. E. Robinson, Messrs. Washbrook, Hounslow, and White, of the Oxford Guild, who came to take part in honoring the memory of an old and valued friend, and on the 10th inst. another muffled peal (5040 Grandsire Triples) was rung at Prestbury, at the tower of which he had been a frequent and welcome figure. Particulars of these peals appeared in our last issue. He was borne to his last resting place in the Cheltenham Cemetery, on the 9th inst., a deputation of the Cheltenham Company attending as mourners, in addition to his relatives and friends, and after the funeral a muffled touch was rung on the parish church bells, together with the whole pull and stand, and afterwards the number of double strokes, signifying the age of the deceased. By the death of Mr. Morris the mastership of the Cheltenham tower now devolves upon Mr. W. T. Pates, whose past achievements in long peal conducting well qualify him for the position. Mr. Morris was a good ringer and an excellent striker, and was ever ready, even at his advanced age, to take part in any ringing which was proposed, and his loss will be greatly felt by his ringing friends and others, amongst whom he was a general favourite. F. E. W.

HENRY MOSS.

We deeply regret to announce the death of the above-named ringer, who died on Thursday, October 29th, in his 44th year, and was interred at Holbeck Cemetery, on Sunday, November 1st. He was carried to his last resting place by his brother ringers, followed by relatives, members of the Holbeck Working Men's Club, Friendly Society, and other ringing friends. After the burial service had been read by the Rev. O. Cookson, Vicar of Holbeck, a course of Grandsire Caters was rung on handbells. M. Tomlinson, 1-2; G. Barraclough, 3-4; T. Lockwood, 5-6; J. Hutchinson, 7-8; J. Woodhead, 9-10. The bells of St. Matthew's church were rung half-muffled for morning and evening service on the day of interment. The deceased who had been in failing health since December last, eventually succumbed to consumption. He was a good ringer, and ever ready to make one in a band for either peal or practice. In all he rang thirty-eight peals, three of which he rung previous to the formation of the Yorkshire Association, which Society he joined at its commencement, and singular to relate (though many attempts) he never scored a peal away from his native church; for instance, in one attempt at Keighley he rang up to a few leads of the finish of a peal of over 7000 changes of Bob Major, when the 5th rope broke. The peals he rang were as follows: twenty-one of Kent, four of Oxford, eleven of Plain Bob, one of Yorkshire Court, and one of Bob Triples. He commenced his ringing career with the first band on the new peal at St. Matthew's, Holbeck, on October, 1871, of which company he remained a member up to his death. He was one of the founders of the Leeds and District Amalgamated Society, in which he took a great interest. He was always to the fore in promoting any feature which he considered beneficial to the art. He leaves a widow and four children to mourn his loss.

JOSEPH BROWN.

It is our painful duty to record the death of Joseph Brown, a native of Sapcote, Leicestershire. The deceased was born in the year 1810, and was thus in his 82nd year. He had been a ringer for upwards of sixty years, and was well known to some of the old ringers in Leicester and Coventry, and also in the villages for miles round his native place, as a thorough good ringer, very fond of the art (as he often walked a distance of fifteen miles to get a practice) and willing to give good advice to beginners. He was apparently in his usual health up to Wednesday last, and went to work as usual, but was seen by a young lady to lean heavily on a post as if in great pain. She at once procured help, and had him conveyed home, where he died in the arms of one of his fellow ringers, John Bishop. The deceased had never been successful in ringing a peal of 5000 changes, although he had tried a great number of times, his longest length being over two hours of Grandsire Caters at Coventry. He had taken part in the opening of St. George's bells, Leicester, also Barwell, Earl Shilton, and many other places. On Sunday afternoon, during the funeral, a 720 of Bob Minor was rung upon the bells of Stoney Stanton (the bells being deeply muffled), as a last token of respect.

THE UNEMPLOYED IN EAST LONDON.—At a time when much thought is being given to this matter, a practical suggestion may be of service. Last year more than £300,000 worth of foreign matches were purchased by inconsiderate consumers in this country, to the great injury of our own working people, so true is it that "evil is wrought by want of thought, as well as want of heart." If all consumers would purchase Bryant and May's matches, that firm would be enabled to pay £1000 a week more in wages.

NEW CLOCK AT THE PARISH CHURCH
UTTOXETER.

The new parish church clock, which is both a credit to the contractors and to the town, was started at 12 o'clock on Saturday, Nov. 7th. A few minutes before 12 p.m. a short dedicatory ceremony took place in the clock chamber. Amongst those present were the Vicar, the Rev. H. Abud, R.D., the Rev. E. Parry, Mr. A. C. Bunting (parish churchwarden), Capt. Abud, Mr. G. H. Tortoisshell, Mr. J. Rogers, the workmen, and others. The 90th Psalm having been read, hymn 165, A. and M., was heartily sung, after which the Vicar spoke a few words on the value and use of time, taking as his text, the motto round the clock in Exeter Cathedral—"Pereunt et Imputantur" (the hours die away and are reckoned). A few facts about the new clock will perhaps not at this time be out of place. Owing to the mason's work being more than was at first anticipated, the entire cost will be about £260, of which sum about £220 has already been subscribed. The clock is erected as a memorial to the late Mr. Chas. Bunting, who for many years was one of "the leading spirits" of the town in all public matters, and had he only lived, it had been his intention to provide a new parish clock for the town, as the old one had become worn out through old age, and whose time was anything but reliable. His death occurred, however, before his wish was realized, and his son, Mr. A. C. Bunting, who was appointed at the vestry in succession to his father, in the office of parish warden, set about the work in a thoroughly energetic manner, and his appeal received a very warm response as it was thought by the parishioners generally that the clock would form a lasting memorial and recognition of the late Mr. Chas. Bunting's many services to the town and church. The new clock is supplied by the eminent firm of Messrs. J. Smith and Son, of Derby; it has two dials the same size as before, will chime the Cambridge quarters upon the 2nd, 3rd, 4th, and 7th bells, and strikes the hours upon the tenor bell; and is fitted with all the latest improvements. Besides an improved method for winding and regulating it has a small dial upon the clock frame by which the external hands can be regulated and simultaneously set to time. The main frame of the clock is of one solid iron casting, plain smooth, and all the wheels are of the best gun metal or hard brass, with teeth cut from the solid, so as to be perfectly accurate and smooth. The dials are gilded figures and minutes on dark groundwork, and the hands are made of copper, and are counterpoised within the tower by adjustable balance weights. The dials are illuminated and glazed with white opal glass, with automatic gas apparatus attached, by which the gas can be turned up and down by the clock, adjustable for the varying lengths of the days throughout the year. Altogether the clock is one of the best that can be made, and is guaranteed to maintain perfectly accurate time, with less variations than ten seconds a month. The whole of the work so far has been executed in a most satisfactory manner, and the new clock, which is warranted to last for generations, will certainly be a great boon, as well as a credit, to the town. While we were examining the beautiful workmanship of the clock, we took a stroll in and amongst the bells. There were originally six bells to the church, and these were hung in the year 1729. The old bells bear the inscription—"Henry Cotton, vicar; Edward Ball and Thomas Myatt, Churchwardens, 1729"; also a line to the effect that "Abraham Rudhall, of Gloucester, cast us all. Three of the bells have also on them the following mottoes:—

"I to the Church the living call,
And to the grave do summon all."

while on another are the words:

"Prosperity to Town and Parish, 1729."

and on the third is inscribed

"Peace and good neighbourhood."

The bells were re-arranged in the year 1874, a new treble being then added to the number, on which is inscribed the name of the Rev. H. Abud, vicar, and the then wardens, Charles Bunting and John Coulson. The "big" bell was presented the same year by George Kirk, Esq. We have just cause as a parish to be proud of our bells and chimes, and we now possess a clock which is, on the authority of the builders, far superior to anything even in a town like Derby.—Local Paper

THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

LIVERPOOL DIOCESAN BRANCH.—The monthly meeting of this branch was held at West Derby, on Saturday, November 7th. In the absence of the Vicar, Mr. W. Davies, of Liverpool, presided. After the minutes of the last meeting were passed the chairman addressed those present, and said he was sorry so few were there, but no doubt that was owing to the bad state of the weather. Members were present from Liverpool and Southport, and some of the local company. The next meeting was fixed to be held at the parish church, Wigan, on Saturday, December 5th, when it is intended to unveil a peal tablet recording a peal of Treble Bob Major rung there by eight members of the branch a few months ago. A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar for the use of the bells. Several touches of Grandsire and a 720 of Minor were rung during the evening.

ROCHDALE BRANCH.—A meeting of this branch was held at St. Mary's church, Balderstone, on Saturday, November 14th. These bells have been rehung by Mears and Stainbank, and about thirty ringers from Oldham, Rochdale, and Heywood turned up to test the go of them, and several attempts were made before a touch was brought round, owing to some of the bells dropping. It is hoped they will go better with ringing. The only supports for these bells are four corbels in the ringing room, on which rest four baulks of timber, and are connected together by cross pieces. On the top is the framework in which the bells are hung, and it is a work of ingenuity. The treble and second are hung above the other six; the tenor is 16½ cwt., and the peal is thought too heavy for the disadvantages in the tower. A meeting was held in the schoolroom, presided over by Mr. Millett, sen., in the absence of the Vicar through illness. Eight new members were made. Newhey was chosen for the next place of meeting, and the proceedings closed with the usual votes of thanks.

STROUD, GLOUCESTERSHIRE.

THE PARISH CHURCH BELLS.—We hear that the fund for defraying the expenses of the proposed absolutely necessary repairs to the parish church bells is still upwards of £30 short of the sum required. A comparison of the subscription list up to date, with the very large list of circulars which have been distributed, would seem to suggest that many members of the congregation and of the parish generally, have overlooked this most reasonable appeal to their liberality; and the Vicar and churchwardens feel assured that they will not be accused of undue importunity in again bringing the matter before their notice. May we not hope that the whole of the £150 required, and without which the Vicar and churchwardens do not feel justified in giving an order for the commencement of the work, will be speedily forthcoming? If it is not so, we fear we must make up our minds for no ringing on Christmas Day.

BATLEY CARR, YORKSHIRE.

On Wednesday evening, November 11th, the ringers of Holy Trinity Church rang 240 London Scholars, 240 City Delight, 240 College Pleasure, 240 Oxford Treble Bob. J. H. Scott, 1; W. H. Stead, 2; G. H. Simon, 3; J. Blackburn (conductor), 4; W. Idle, 5; Squire Mitchell, 6. The ringers were afterwards entertained by the churchwardens (Mr. Smith-Ward and Mr. Fred. Ellis, jun.) to a most substantial dinner at the "Shoulder of Mutton" inn. After the cloth was drawn the usual toasts were given, amongst them being the health of the Vicar, Churchwardens and Curate. The evening was spent in hand-bell ringing and song singing, the song entitled "Peter Piper," by Mr. G. Bowden, being highly praised.

THE ST. PETER'S GUILD, WOLVERHAMPTON.

The monthly meeting of the above was held at Penn, on Saturday, November 14th. There were members present from Tettenhall, Wombourne, Wolverhampton, and some of the local band. Touches of Grandsire Plain Bob Minor, Grandsire, Plain Bob and St. Simon's Doubles were rung. The usual business meeting was held, when Mr. R. Cartwright was elected to represent the Guild on the Central Council. The next meeting is to be held at Busbury, on Saturday, December 12th.

SYDNEY, AUSTRALIA.
THE POST OFFICE CLOCK AND BELLS.—FORMAL OPENING BY LADY JERSEY.

(FROM The Sydney Daily Telegraph of September 17th, 1891).

AT the invitation of Mr. Henry Daly, contractor for the construction and placing in position of the Post Office clock and bells, a large number of persons assembled in the tower yesterday morning for the purpose of witnessing the official opening of the new clock. The place in which the ceremony was held was somewhat crribed, cabined and confined, and there was little room for the guests, which included a number of ladies. It was on a small platform at the foot of the tower, and the door had been opened in the main shaft, in which dangled a blue silk cord connected with the works, and which, when pulled, would put the whole machinery in motion. The guests began to arrive soon after 11.30, and were ushered through the spacious entrance doors in Martin-place, up the handsome steps, and thence by the lift to the floor below the platform, which was then reached by the spiral staircase. Amongst those present besides a number of ladies, were Messrs. John Davies, W. J. Trickett, J. Norton, C. J. Roberts, A. J. Riley, Ms.L.C., Mr. A. J. Gould, M.P. (Minister for Justice), J. Martin, B. R. Wise, Davies, Black, Kelly, Eve, J. See, Jeanneret, Fitzgerald, Inglis, Alderman Dean, Beare, H. Chapman, Walker, Barnett, Calvert, Burns, and others.

The clock, it may be stated, was started some time since, and the tone of the bells has been generally admired, in fact the consensus of opinion amongst those who have had experience in these matters, has been that for purity of tone, distinctness, and musical rhythm, they are superior even to the far-famed bells in the Victoria Towers at the Houses of Parliament at Westminster.

The Vice-regal party, which included the Earl and Countess of Jersey, and the Countess of Kintore, accompanied by Lord Ancrum, A.D.C., arrived at the George-street entrance to the Post Office verandah shortly after a quarter to twelve, where they were met by the Postmaster-General (Mr. D. O'Connor), and other officials of the department, and were conducted along the corridor which had been carpeted for the occasion, to the main entrance in Martin's-place. Here Lady Jersey and Lady Kintore were presented with handsome bouquets, and the party at once proceeded up the main staircase and in the lift to the scene of operations. The crowd was a big one, considering the limited space, and numbers of people after standing on the staircase for some time and craning their necks in a vain attempt to get a view of the proceedings, retired to the instruction room, where the mechanical appliances in electrical science were duly explained. At twelve o'clock, amid a buzz of excitement, after the cry had been given down the shaft, "All ready," Lady Jersey pulled the silken string, and at once the bells rang out their silvery peal, chiming the four quarters, followed by the mellow, sonorous tones of the bell "Great Parkes" sending the hour.

Lady Jersey then, in a word or two, declared the clock and bells duly opened, and expressed the hope that the chimes would always mark happy notes for the people of Sydney, and keep all both in time and tune with one another.

Mr. Daly thanked Lady Jersey for the honour she had conferred upon them by formally opening the clock, and as a gallant Irish gentleman, expressed the hope that the Governor and Lady Jersey would enjoy good health and prosperity as long as the clock lasted.

After the ceremony the Governor and the Countess of Jersey, Lord Ancrum, and a small party of ladies and gentlemen, invited by the Postmaster-General, adjourned to Mr. O'Connor's private apartments where champagne was opened, and two or three short speeches were made, including a spirited one by the host himself. The guests included Mr. James Inglis, M.P., Mr. and the Misses Dalgarno, Mr. and Mrs. Curnow, Mr. John Davies, M.L.C., Mrs. and Miss Davies, Mrs. D. O'Connor, Miss Carroll, Miss Fox, Miss Burke, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Burns, Mrs. McIntyre, Colonel Mackenzie, Mr. Trickett, M.P. and Mrs.

Trickett, Mr. C. J. Roberts, Mrs. and Miss Cameron, Mrs. Dillon, the Misses McCarthy, Miss Lambton, Miss Curley and Mr. John See, M.P. and Mrs. See.

Copy of letter received from Mr. Henry Daly, who had the ordering of the Clock and Bells for the Sydney Post Office.

"Sydney, September 21st, 1891.

Messrs. J. Taylor and Co.

Dear Sirs,—I had nothing very particular to communicate since my return, or I would have written you. I heard from Mr. Hamilton that you were enquiring about freight for a bell for Sydney—the Cathedral—I suspect.

You will be glad to hear that the Post Office bells have been started by Lady Jersey. I hoisted them into position safely, and without mishap. I am sure they are the finest tenor and chimes I have ever heard. They are most musical and soft, and reflect the highest credit on you. "Great Parkes" is a noble bell, so some of my musical friends say.

I send you a newspaper giving an account of the starting of the clock and bells. Please accept my compliments.

Yours faithfully,

HENRY DALY."

THE ELY DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of this Association was held at Ely on Monday, November 9th. It was the first Annual Meeting, and a solid success. About thirty attended from Ely, Newmarket, Soham, Wilburton, Stratham, and Littleport. At the dinner the Rev. J. Franey, vicar of St. Mary's, presided, supported by the Rev. J. R. Vincent, Secretary, and the Rev. K. H. Smith, Secretary and Treasurer of the Diocesan Association. The business meeting was held afterwards. We are glad to hear of a stirring of the dry bones at Ramsey, Yaxley, and Whittlesea, and also at Somersham; and this in a county (Hunts) where Tombstone Bob and Churchyard Surprise have long held their own.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT AMALGAMATED SOCIETY.

The monthly ringing meeting of the above society was held on Saturday, October 31st, at St. Chad's, Headingley, and was only moderately attended. The reason no doubt was owing to various attempts for peals by members in the adjoining district. Ringers from Birstall, Calverley, Liversedge, Holbeck, St. Michael's, Headingley, and Leeds. Touches of Kent Treble Bob Major, Plain Bob, and Oxford Minor were rung. Courses on the handbells at the meeting-house, the Woodman Inn, when an invitation was announced to all present to attend the interment of one of the oldest members of the society, Henry Moss, of Holbeck, which cast a gloom on the day's ringing. After votes of thanks had been passed to the vicar, wardens, and steeple-keeper for arrangements, the meeting was speedily brought to a close.

STOKE ARCHIDIACONAL ASSOCIATION.

At a meeting of this Association held at St. John's church, Hanley, on Monday, November 9th, 720 Bob Minor was rung. J. Burton, sen., 1; J. E. Whealden, 2; G. Woods, 3; J. Burton, jun., 4; W. Twigg, 5; W. Carter (conductor), 6. Also 720 Kent Treble Bob Minor. G. Woods, 1; E. Glover (conductor), 2; W. Carter, 3; J. Warren, 4; J. Wood, 5; W. Twigg, 6. The above were rung on the front six, and are the first on the bells since they were rehung, and are supposed to be the first 720s of Minor ever rung on these bells. The Messrs. Burton hail from Cheadle; Twigg, Warren and Whealdon from Bucknall; Carter from Biddulph; Woods from Longton; and Glover and Wood from Norton.

SAFFRON WALDEN (Essex).—On Monday, November 9th, 1056 of Double Norwich Court was rung on the occasion of the election of J. P. Atkinson, Esq., M.D., as Mayor. N. J. Pitstow, 1; *W. Prior, 2; A. James, 3; C. Freeman, 4; G. Martin, 5; J. F. Penning, 6; E. Pitstow, 7; F. Pitstow (conductor), 8. *Longest touch in the method. Also six courses of Stedman Triples and five courses of Kent Treble Bob.

While allowing the utmost freedom for the expression of opinion, it must never be considered that we are in any way bound to statements made by correspondents.

To the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS AND RINGERS' RECORD."

THE HEREFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

SIR,—The remarks made in your leading article on October 24th are based, I think, on a wrong supposition, viz.: that our ringers will not or cannot pay their subscriptions. I do not know how you come by that information unless you have mis-read the report which you publish in another column of the same issue, and I should like to publicly contradict it, as it is unfair to our ringing members. As a matter of fact, ringers in this Diocese are by no means unwilling to pay. The difficulty experienced is this: change-ringing and belfry reform being in a very backward state generally, nearly every tower requires the services of our instructor in return for its ringers' subscriptions. If the instructor is told off to visit a 6-bell tower with eight members, all very much in want of instruction, and whose united subscriptions amount to 15s., and the instructor remains a week, as he is often obliged to do if he wishes to see any real progress made, the instructor's visit, though satisfactory to the tower, ends with a dead loss to the Guild, as the subscriptions are necessarily not enough to satisfy the officer's salary. Towards the end of the year the expenditure incurred in this way has become large, and although we have of course subscriptions from hon. members and friends, the list is not long enough to allow us to satisfy all our requirements. This was explained at the meeting held after our last Festival, and various suggestions were offered, amongst which was one to raise ringers' subscriptions. This did not meet with approval, and I myself opposed it, as I maintain 2s. 6d., which is our present probationer's subscription, is quite enough to ask annually from an agricultural labourer—a personage often to be found in a country belfry—who has to provide for himself, and not unusually a family, on 11s. or 12s. a week. Personally, I would be against asking any man in the position of agricultural labourer for any subscription at all if it could possibly be avoided, and I certainly think everything else should be attempted before trying to increase his subscription. I think that no one who knows the position of many a ringer in a country parish as well as I do could fail to agree on this. Much less should be denied just the "half-dozen half ounces less per annum," whatever that may mean, as suggested by "Plain Speaker" in a previous issue. No, Sir. It is not from want of ringers' subscriptions that our Guild is not in such a flourishing financial condition as it might be. The experience I have had since taking office goes to show that no money comes in more cheerfully than the amounts we ask from our ringing members. What we do require is better support from the clergy and leading laity. There are happily some of the former, who do their utmost on our behalf, but there are still many, who, although an attempt has been made now and again to direct their attention to the good work the Guild can do and is doing, still remain unrepresented in our lists; and we have always had and still have, alas! plenty of spare and bare pages where-in should be recorded the subscriptions from gentry and well-to-do church folk amongst the laity, who, if not well able to subscribe, are at least in a better condition to deny themselves just that small modicum of comfort or luxury which I suppose it is that "Plain Speaker" would like us to deprive our ringers.

Clun, November, 1891.

JOHN G. BUCHANAN, Hon. Sec.

We have received another letter on this subject.

WORCESTERSHIRE AND DISTRICTS ASSOCIATION.

SIR,—I am informed through Mr. W. Page, local secretary of the Worcester branch of this Association, that the Rectors of All Saints (ten bells), and St. Helen's (eight bells), Worcester, have now refused to open their respective towers to the members of the Association on Saturday next (as announced in "THE BELL NEWS" of Saturday, November 7th and 14th) after promising to grant the use of them.

JOHN SMITH, Secretary.

A CORRECTION.

SIR,—Allow me to correct an error which appeared in the memoir of Mr. T. C. Powell last week. The writer states that the peal of Treble Bob Caters at Aston is the only peal in that method that has yet been rung. This is not correct. A peal of Treble Bob Caters (5184 changes), in the Kent Variation, was rung at St. Peter's cathedral church in this city, on Thursday, January 28th, 1886, composed and conducted by Robert Williams.

NOTE TO THE PEAL AT ASHTON-UNDER-LYNE.—This peal was arranged for Messrs. Burgess and Luke Broadbent, who are two of the old veterans of the Ashton society, the latter of whom has lived at Saddleworth, Yorkshire, for a number of years, but has never severed his connection with his old ringing friends. They both rang their first peal within a few months of each other, about 50 years ago; and their last peal was rung at the first attempt, although a colt had to be put in (S. Booth), as one of the selected band failed to put in an appearance. W. Burgess attained his 73rd birthday on the above date, and his friends wish him many happy returns.

MR. CARTER'S NEW METHOD, "DARLASTON BOB."

By J. J. PARKER.

Having dipped rather deep into the mysteries of this kind of method, a few remarks from me will perhaps be of interest. For music, I should say Mr. Carter's method will compare favourably with other seven-bell methods. It will be seen that all the dodging is done in 6-7, when the bell coming out of the hunt dodges in 6-7. All this seems very good and acceptable. Now, as far as Grandsire and Union are concerned, the three-lead course plan is not considered admirable; but the fact of the 7th being brought home every third lead in Darlaston, the 6th is also brought into 7th place oftener, which must improve the music, and thus place peals upon this plan before those upon the same plan in the other two methods. This being so, I doubt whether Mr. Carter will approve of another kind of single for peals in six and ten equal parts. I am aware that Mr. Carter has rather strong views in regard to singles, at the same time we have seen again and again that in all these methods in which there is a bell in the hunt, that one kind of single has not been sufficient, and that peals in five, six, and ten parts, with two singles, have helped to make most of these methods popular. Therefore I shall touch upon one or two of the peculiarities of this method, and then it will be for Mr. Carter and the Exercise in general to decide whether it will be advisable to introduce another kind of single. In the first place, Darlaston seems to have a very close and interesting relationship to Union, and, as far as I have been able to ascertain, the intervals between the bobs in any peal of Union will produce the same peal in Darlaston. Anyone interested in this matter should prick out peals of Darlaston from my five-part No. 1, ten-part No. 3, and six-part No. 3 of Union, and note the various positions of the observation-bells in the different methods, including Oxford and Court. For Darlaston, 243576 is the reverse of 234567, and belongs to the reverse course. It is also the half-peal end (proper) for the second half of six and ten-part peals having reverse calling for the second half. Thus we have the suggestions that 3-4 and 6-7 should lie still at going off, in order to get in the reverse course at the commencement of five-part peals. And for six and ten-part peals, why should not these bells lie still at the commencement of each half peal? Holt's singles may be used in the same way I used them for Minor. If any particular bell is always called before in Grandsire, Oxford, and Court, and 7th place in Union, and 5th place in Darlaston, one half of the q sets bobbed will be the reverse of the other half. One reason I have for writing is that I see that the question of irregular calls is to be brought before the next meeting of the Central Council. There is also another question of as much, or even more importance, which should have the careful consideration of the Council, viz., the laying down of rules which will place all composers upon a fair footing in regard to the question of the calling of peals in one method producing peals in another.

TILNEY ALL SAINTS, NORFOLK.

A large clock has just been erected at the parish church of the above place, which plays the Westminster quarter chimes, strikes the hours upon a large bell, and shews time on one dial. It has been manufactured by John Smith and Sons, Midland Clock Works, Derby, to the designs of Lord Grimthorpe, and it is guaranteed by the makers to keep accurate time. The same firm are also now making other similar clocks for Aston Cross, Birmingham, Little Wenlock, and other places.

HOW TO LEARN CHANGE-RINGING WITHOUT AN INSTRUCTOR.—By the same Author. Price Threepence; by post Fourpence, or six copies for 1s. 3d.—WILLIAM POLLARD AND CO., Printers, Exeter.

LINCOLN.—NORTH LINCOLNSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

ON Wednesday, November 18th, at the church of St. Peter-at-Arches (in an attempt for a peal) about 4000 changes of Bob Triples were rung in 2 hrs. 20 mins. by R. E. Clarke, 1; W. Stiles, 2; W. A. Hodson, 3; G. Chester, 4; F. W. Walker, 5; J. W. Watson, 6; C. Wells (conductor), 7; R. Dawson, 8. A note of this failure may perhaps be interesting to the Exercise, as the ringers regard it as a performance of no small merit. The peal was arranged, and at the last moment it was found one of the band could not attend, so to make the best of a bad job, and to prevent the consequent disappointment of no attempt being made, Mr. Clarke, who belongs to a five-bell tower, was asked to attend; he was however objected to by one of the band, who absolutely refused to ascend the tower on account of the inexperience of Mr. Clarke, as he had only once before attempted Triples. After some consultation it was suggested that an attempt should be made with Mr. Dawson at the tenor, who, by the way, knew nothing of change-ringing, and had not "covered" any changes before, as he only learned to handle a bell about the end of August, and since then excepting the band met one short, was consigned to the usual place for novices—"the seat." However under these adverse conditions a start was made, which, as before stated, lasted 2 hrs. 20 mins., and would no doubt have come to a successful issue had it not been for the unfortunate indisposition of one of the band, who had to leave his rope. Had the peal been achieved it would have been the first peal by Messrs. Clarke, Stiles, and Dawson, and the first with a bob bell by W. A. Hodson. It would also have been the first peal in the method known to have been rung on the bells.

NEW PEAL FOR HEATON CHURCH, YORKSHIRE.

Mr. Frederick Illingworth, of Heather Bank, has generously given a peal of bells to St. Barnabas' Church, Heaton. Messrs. Shaw, Son and Co., bellfounders, of Bradford, have had the casting of the peal in hand for some time past. The work is now finished, and the hanging of the bells will be preceded with during next week. The peal consists of eight bells, in the key of G. The tenor weighs 11 cwt., and measures 3ft. 4in. in diameter, and it bears an inscription—"To the glory of God. This peal of eight bells was presented by Frederick Illingworth, Heather Bank, Heaton, August, 1891. G. B. Flynn, Vicar; W. James, G. W. Crabham, churchwardens. Shaw, Son and Co., bellfounders, Bradford." The treble is 2ft. 2in. in diameter, and the whole peal weighs together about 50 cwt. The new peal will be formally inaugurated on December 1st by the Bishop of Richmond.

CROYDON.—THE SURREY ASSOCIATION.

ON Monday, October 19th, at St. Peter's church, after the weekly practice, the sum of £3 10s. 0d. was handed to Mr. Charles Bruce toward the funeral expenses of his father, Mr. Alfred Bruce. This sum was subscribed by the St. Peter's ringers, assisted by a few friends, and included 10s. from St. Martin's tower, Epsom.

ASHFORD.—THE KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

ON Friday evening, November 6th, at the parish church, a few friends from Mersham and Willesborough met to commemorate the eighty-fifth birthday of Mr. John Laker, who rang the treble and conducted two courses of Bob Major, and who has been a ringer for sixty-eight years. Two more touches of Bob Major was then rung, and an adjournment was then made to the meeting-house.

In the report of a peal rung at Bradford parish church on Tuesday, November 3rd last, omission was made of the fact that it was the first peal of Major ever rung on those bells.

DEDICATION OF NEW BELLS AT ST. MARY'S CHURCH, LOW HARROGATE.

ON Saturday afternoon, November 21st, an event of a particularly gratifying nature transpired at the above church, and was the occasion of considerable interest to the town in addition to the inhabitants of the parish. For some little time past it has been the desire of the parishioners of St. Mary's that the sacred edifice should be adorned with a full peal of bells as soon as a favourable opportunity presented itself. With such zeal was the matter taken up, that during the past week the two additional bells necessary to complete a peal of eight, have been hung in the belfry of the church. The original six bells were placed in the tower of St. Mary's so far back as 1866, and have now done duty for upwards of twenty-five years. At the period when this important acquisition was made, the Rev. Claude William Roberts was the clergyman in charge, the Rev. J. Digby (the then vicar) being incapacitated through ill-health. It was the energetic efforts of the first-named gentleman that a peal of six bells were secured, the means employed to defray the expenses including bazaars, subscriptions, etc. The two bells just added have been hung at a cost of upwards £100, and are supplied, like those already hung, by Mears and Stainbank, of Whitechapel, London, who are celebrated for their treble bells. Both those added are trebles, 4 cwt. 18 stone and 4½ cwt. respectively, and have been fitted with oak frames and gun metal bearings. Upon the bells are inscribed the names of Mr. Samson Fox, who headed the subscription list with the handsome sum of £21, and also that of Mrs. Haigh, who has been assiduous in her endeavours to obtain the necessary funds for carrying out in as complete a manner as possible the object in view. The dedication service took place on Saturday afternoon at three o'clock, a fair number of worshippers being present. The clergy present were the Rev. R. Brownrigg, the Rev. T. Sheepshanks, and the Rev. J. W. Chippett. The service opened with prayer, and the chanting of the responses and the 150th Psalm; the responses were then continued, being followed by the dedication prayers and the singing of the 122nd psalm. This portion of the service concluded, the doors separating the nave from the tower were thrown open, and the dedication touches were heard and listened to in silence for several minutes. The hymn, "In Sinai's dreary waste" (tune 250) was then sung, following which came the sermon by the Rev. Thomas Sheepshanks, M.A., who gave an eloquent discourse from 1 Chron., 29, part of the second and following verses—"Now I have prepared," etc. The closing hymn was "Thanks be to Thee, O gracious Lord" (tune 291), during the singing of which the collection was made amounting to £3 10s., and which will be devoted to the bell fund. The Benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Thomas Sheepshanks. Mr. T. Varley presided at the organ, and at the close of the service ably executed the "Hallelujah Chorus." There was also a full choir present, which sang with excellent taste.

As the congregation dispersed merry peals were rung on the bells, which now constitute an octave (in G natural). The bells although not exactly tuned, sounded remarkably well, the process of tuning being carried out during the present week. The following were the ringers on the occasion of the dedication of the bells: H. Brown, 1; A. Atkinson, 2; H. Dickinson, 3; H. Robinson, 4; W. Stott, 5; J. Vickers, 6; J. Ireland, 7; W. Turner, 8. In the evening the ringers were entertained to supper at the Vicarage, through the kindness of the Rev. Robert Brownrigg, who heartily welcomed the company, the proceedings being of an enjoyable description.

In addition to the increase to the peal, other improvements have been made to the church, the most noticeable of which is an iron spiral staircase leading into the belfry, which has been substituted for the somewhat primitive means of ascent previously in use. In the place of the plain clothed baize doors leading from the porch into the nave, a handsome portico has been erected of carved pitch pine, lighted with cathedral tinted glass, etc. By this means all draught is excluded, and the comfort of the worshippers increased, entrance being effected by a door on either side of the newly-added porch, whilst a couple of double doors, forming the front of the erection, may be thrown open to allow of the exit of the congregation. This work has been carried out by Mr. Topham, joiner, of Strawberry Dale, and it is a neat piece of workmanship. Both these latter improvements have long been required, and doubtless their completion will be a matter of much gratification to the congregation which attends St. Mary's.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

Time's changes pass o'er us,
Yet Hope smiles before us.

Our Editor has been again placed hors de combat, and compelled (in medical parlance) to take to his bed. I am confident that in giving vent to a hearty wish for his speedy recovery, I am doing what the whole Exercise would do were it in my place. But I am more especially sorry on this point owing to the fact that on Tuesday, the 10th inst., he arrived at his half-century of years; and thus his fiftieth birthday will naturally have passed over less happily than would have been the case had he been at the time in the enjoyment of at least a normal state of health. However, that fact, regretful though it is, will not prevent us from wishing him every good wish, and specially that for his speedy recovery.

* * * * *

Time alone has prevented me from obtruding myself once again in the way of supplementing the Editor's last request for an increased circulation of "THE BELL NEWS," so that an enlargement thereof might be brought well within the region of practical economies. Surely there ought to be no necessity for such an appeal. Surely there will be amongst us that hearty appreciation of our own special organ which should, in the way of circulation, place the proprietors thereof in a position to make that addition to its pages which, while necessary entailing greater expense on them, would of a positive certainty be a considerable advantage to ourselves and the work in which we are engaged. If there is one thing more than another that creates in me doubts as the reality of the professions of my brethren of the Exercise, it is the fact of the scant support which I see in my visits to various towers, is given to the paper which was established and which has been thus far conducted for our own benefit amid difficulties which probably none but those who had them to contend with can adequately realise. There is not one amongst us, I am confident, who will dispute the assertion that "THE BELL NEWS" has been a power of good to our work. Indeed the amount of that good it would almost be impossible to estimate. I venture to submit, therefore, that if only from feelings of common gratitude for services faithfully rendered, not to speak of the advantages thereby accruing to ourselves, we ought to make such an effort in the way of at least doubling the circulation, as will be the means of dispelling any doubts from a financial point of view in the direction of increasing the size of our paper.

* * * * *

Then, I say, let us shew our appreciation of our Editor's efforts for so many years back, by commemorating his fiftieth birthday with at least a doubled circulation. Let us have no more of that discreditable "one copy for a band" sort of business; but let us all be content with nothing less than a copy of our own every week; and thus by so small a personal effort be doing what will be—and what must be—a good work for the benefit of the Exercise generally.

* * * * *

The peals lately reported give no uncertain indication of the approach of cold weather and the consequent imaginations of what we are in the habit of regarding as the peal-ringing season. And while looking over these reports, I could not resist the temptation to do a bit of amateur analysis sotto voce. These performances are now becoming, I find, not only numerous in quantity, but also numerous in variety. That is a most creditable state of affairs to all concerned. We live in a most unmistakably go-ahead age, and thus when quantity and quality are found marching on parallel lines, it looks as if the spirit of the age is manifest amongst us as ringers—that we are not content with simply scoring, but are desirous of shewing progress at the same time. And it is for this reason that I am so pleased to read in the appended footnotes the information that the peal is so-and-so's first in the method, or as conductor; or first on the bells. This evidences an effort in the way of progress which I most cordially welcome as a favourable sign of the times, and a good augury for the future. If we do but take into adequate consideration the desirability to let quality and quantity run contemporaneous together, and act upon it, the Exercise both present and future will undoubtedly be the better for it.

Our popular "Gallery" is again to the fore, the last portrait of which is equal to any of its predecessors. Our Birmingham friends are no doubt pleased to see a portrait of their ancient comrade. Mr. Powell may be well said to be a connecting link between the present and the past.

FREE LANCE.

COLLINGTON PARISH CHURCH, NORTHANTS.

A new public clock, striking the hours on the large or tenor bell, shewing the time upon one large external copper dial, has been fixed in the above church. The clock has got Lord Grimthorpe's double three-legged gravity escapement and compensation pendulum for variations of temperature, maintaining power to keep the clock going during the time of winding up, and all the latest improvements, and was set going, on what is hoped to be a useful career, by Miss Phipps, the donor, on Thursday, November 12th, the work having been carried out by Messrs. Potts and Sons, clock manufacturers, of Guildford and Cookridge Streets, Leeds, from instructions given them by the architect. Messrs. Potts are also making large clocks for the University College, Liverpool, South Stockton Public Offices, Keighley Mechanics' Institute, New Arcade, Goole, Preston Bank, Blackpool, the Mersey Harbour and Docks Board, Liverpool, and the Chesters, Northumberland.

The same firm have also fixed a large illuminated clock, on the premises of Messrs. E. Miller and Co. Limited, Leeds, Cabinet Makers and Upholsterers. The clock shows the time on one external skeleton dial, 6ft. in diameter, with automatic gas apparatus for turning on and off the gas according to the season of the year. Lord Grimthorpe's double three-legged gravity escapement, compensation pendulum and maintaining power to keep the clock going during winding up, and all the latest improvements are inserted. The clock was made and fixed by Messrs. Potts and Sons, makers of the Royal Exchange, Thornton Arcade, and New Arcade clocks, Leeds.

GEORGE F. ATTREE.

RAUNDS, NORTHANTS.

THE VICAR LEAVING RAUNDS.—After his sermon at the evening service at St. Peter's church, on Sunday last, the Vicar, the Rev. Hugh Bryan, announced to the congregation from the pulpit that he had accepted the living of Stoke Golding, near Hinckley, Leicestershire, and was leaving them. The announcement came as a surprise to the congregation and parish also, the likelihood of a change having not so much as being hinted. The Rev. Hugh Bryan is the popular Hon. Secretary of the Raunds, Wellingborough, and District Association. All ringers in the district will much regret his removal.

OXHEY, HERTS.

November 16th, will always be a red letter day to the Oxhey ringers, being the first time, after months of trying, that a band composed entirely of the local ringers, or with only one stranger, have ever got through any touch of Doubles except the plain course. They regard their first peal within measurable distance, and intend very shortly to send something more respectable. The men, all Oxhey ringers, stands as follows: B. Pritchett, 1; W. Abbot, 2; H. French, 3; E. Vernon, 4; G. Price, 5; J. Browton, 6. Several 40s were rung for the first time, coming round at hand, and one 70.

JASPER W. SNOWDON'S WORKS.

ROPE-SIGHT : 1s. 6d. FOURTH EDITION.

Commences by explaining how to manage a bell; deals with Change-Ringing on three, four, five, six, seven and eight bells in the PLAIN BOB METHOD, giving touches and peals in each case; and closes with instructions for conducting, etc., etc. (143 pages).

STANDARD METHODS: 2s. 6d. SECOND EDITION.

Contains full explanations and rules for ringing all the best methods, from five to eight bells, with plain-course diagrams of each printed in full, with coloured lines. (40 pages of diagrams and 87 of descriptive letterpress).

GRANDSIRE ; 2s. 0d. THE METHOD, ITS PEALS, AND HISTORY. WITH PORTRAIT AND MEMOIR. EDITED BY HIS BROTHER, WM. SNOWDON. COMPLETE WITH AN APPENDIX BY THE REV. CHARLES D. P. DAVIES, M.A., OXON. Commences with ringing on five, six, and seven bells, for the benefit of a learner; gives instructions on composing, proving, varying, and reversing, conducting and calling round; and ends with a general survey of the practical and scientific aspect of the composition of triples—thus forming a complete reference book for all Grandsire ringers. (10 pages).

TREBLE BOB. 3s. 2d. PARTS I. AND II. COMPLETE.

Part I. contains instructions for pricking, transposing, proving, composing, and conducting peals; an essay on the In and Out-of-course of the changes; and a history of the various compositions and performances. Part II. contains classified peals of Minor, Major, Royal, and Maximus, with their reverse variations; remarks on the different qualities; particulars of first performances, composers' names, &c., &c. (236 closely printed pages. Part II. (136 closely printed pages) may be had separately, 2s. 1d.).

DOUBLE NORWICH COURT BOB MAJOR. 1s. 0d.

Contains rules and instructions for pricking and ringing the method; a linear diagram of the plain course; a collection of touches and peals; instructions for proving, and a history of the earlier performances, with a list of peals down to 1884 (78 pages).

A few copies are still left of "An Account of the Society of Union Scholars." (49 pages). Post free, 8d.

Forwarded, Post Free, on receipt of remittance, by WM. SNOWDON, Old Bank Chambers, Leeds.

 tist, has received from S. G. Hutchins, Esq., Surgeon Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen, a testimonial, which places beyond all doubt the vast superiority of his system.

"My Dear Doctor,—Allow me to press my sincere thanks for the skill and attention displayed in the construction of my Artificial Teeth, which render my mastication and articulation excellent. I am glad to hear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. In recognition of your valuable services, you are at liberty to use my name.—
 S. G. HUTCHINS, By Appointment Surgeon Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen."

WILLIAM GORDON, 71, Lower Hillgate, Stockport.

MR. WILLIAM NEWELL, OF READING.

(Vide Portrait.)

MR. WILLIAM NEWELL was born on November 8th, 1838, at Brightwell, Oxfordshire, his father being the Village Blacksmith, and, as is so frequently the case, one of the Church Ringers. The church possessing only three bells, he had to find an outlet for his musical talents in another, but somewhat similar direction. The Church choir provided this outlet for his energies, and for many years he was its leader, performing on the clarionette or bassoon. At the early age of seven or eight years, young NEWELL was frequently to be found in the the belfry, watching his father pulling away at the tenor. His family migrating to South Stoke, in the same county, in the year 1849, WILLIAM NEWELL soon made the acquaintance of the ringers, the Church possessing a musical ring of five bells. It was in this tower that he learnt to chime and ring a single bell, and here his ringing career may be said to have commenced. In 1851 he obtained a situation in Reading, and as he lived with his uncle almost under the shadow of the tower of St. Mary's church, it was not long before he became acquainted with the band of ringers who then had possession of the belfry. Many times has he been heard to narrate his first experiences with these ringers. It was the date of the burial of the Duke of Wellington, whose mansion at Strathfieldsaye is situated not many miles from Reading. A muffled peal had been arranged, but meeting one short, the subject of our sketch requested to be allowed to try his hand on the second bell, and to the no small astonishment of the older hands, he acquitted himself very creditably, and from that day became one of the regular ringers connected with the Church. Change-ringing in these early days was an Art wholly unknown in the town, but in 1870 Mr. NEWELL became acquainted with the Oxford and Appleton societies; frequent visits enabled him to get an insight into the mysteries of the Art, but this was not sufficient for so energetic a man. What he learnt that he must needs do his utmost to impart to others; terribly uphill work it was, but with the assistance of Troyte's work on change-ringing and an amount of pluck so characteristic of the true-born Briton, he succeeded at length, after numberless disappointments, in getting a band, wholly taught by himself, through a course of Grandsire Triples. Further progress was arrested by a strike in the belfry, and things falling into an hopeless state, Mr. NEWELL turned his attention for a time to handbell ringing. Purchasing a set of fifty, he formed a capital band with himself as conductor (his inherited musical talents standing him in good stead), and with his friends gave many a capital concert in Reading and the neighbourhood.

Not to be beaten, Mr. NEWELL still kept on with his work among Church bells and ringers, training in the space of a very few years at least four different bands in the town, though rebuffs, too numerous to mention, fell on his broad shoulders from Clergy, Churchwardens, and even from many of the ringers themselves, for whose benefit he had devoted no small portion of his leisure hours. In 1881 the Oxford Diocesan Guild was formed, and Mr. NEWELL, as was to be expected, was one of its heartiest supporters, striving to carry out its aims and objects in every possible way, and on every conceivable occasion. It was about this time that the peal of bells at St. Lawrence's Church, ten in number, were being rehung. Being asked by the Rev. Charles Kerry to form a band, Mr. NEWELL undertook the task, and so laboriously did he work, that on the last day of 1883, he managed to get his band through a peal of Grandsire Triples, conducted by himself, being the first rang by local men for over 150 years. Doubtless it was this fact which earned for him the title by which he is commonly known among his friends

"the Father of Change-Ringing in Reading." As one of the Instructors of the Guild, Mr. NEWELL has done good work in the neighbouring villages, placing the Art on a sure footing in not a few of them. Space would not suffice us to give any idea of his uphill work in connection with his beloved Art. If away from home when any brother-string may chance to drop in, it may safely be assumed that he is endeavouring to propagate the Art in some benighted corner, hauling some young band through their first course of Doubles, or giving some astute advice to Clergy and Churchwardens as to their duties in connection with their towers. It is as an indefatigable and patient Instructor that WILLIAM NEWELL is best known, though his name is not infrequently to be seen inscribed in our peal columns. He has rung in some forty peals, among others three of Stedman Triples, four each of Bob Major and Bob Royal, the remainder consisting of Grandsire Triples and Caters, of which he has conducted two. His name may be seen on a peal board at St. Lawrence's commemorating a peal of Grandsire Triples rung by eight "Williams."

For very many years Mr. NEWELL has been a member of the choir of St. Mary's Episcopal chapel, a church which only contains one bell, but one well used to unskilful handling by youngsters under the tuition of their mentor. As is to be expected, Mr. NEWELL from the commencement has been an ardent supporter of "THE BELL NEWS," at one time taking in no less than sixty copies weekly, and distributing them among the ringers in the town and neighbourhood. Combining the pursuit of a Brewer and Licensed Victualler, his house is a noted resort for ringers, very few failing to give him a call. Any brother-string wishing not only to spend a pleasant evening, but to form a lasting friendship with one whose friendship is well worth having, we would advise to drop a post card to the "Mitre Brewery," when, if it be a Monday, Tuesday, or Thursday, a good band would meet him in one of the four-bell towers, and would conduct him afterwards to the well-known hostelry, from which he would depart feeling himself a better and stronger man after the genial welcome and warm grasp of the hand extended to him by WILLIAM NEWELL.

THE WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

A District Meeting of this Guild was held at Southampton, on Tuesday, November 24th. The following bands were represented: Gosport, Fareham, Bournemouth, Twyford, Bishop's Waltham, Portsea, Basingstoke, Havant and Romsey. Some twenty-two members put in an appearance during the day. Permission had been obtained to ring both at St. Michael's and at Holy Rood, these being the only two peals in Southampton. The bells of St. Michael's were found to be in very bad condition, and it was only with considerable difficulty, and after a great deal of labour that some touches of Grandsire Triples were brought round. Tea was provided in the Deanery School, which was kindly lent to the members. After tea an adjournment was made to Holy Rood, where the go of the bells was much better, though the 4th needs considerable management, owing we were told, to the rope passing through the works of the clock. Nevertheless, some very creditable touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples were brought round. It is much to be deplored that a place so large as Southampton should have no band of change-ringers at all, and we are hopeful that some good may come out of this visit of the Diocesan Guild. We are aware of the difficulties in the way of ringing where the tower is in the main street, but still we believe that "where there's a will there's a way," and we hope that our Southampton brothers will test the fruits of that proverb.

The members of the Guild wish to thank the Vicars of the two churches for granting them the use of the bells.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A district meeting of the above was held at Bridgwater, on Saturday, the 28th ult., when the following towers were represented: St. Mary's and St. James's (Taunton), St. Mary's (Bridgwater), St. Mary's (Bath), Minehead, Huntspill, High-bridge and Old Cleeve. The bells of St. Mary's were set going by members from Minehead and Taunton during the morning, and at 2.30 service was held in the church. Prayers were read by the Rev. J. Utten Todd, and the lesson by the Rev. W. Turner (curate of St. Mary's, Bridgwater). The Master (the Rev. C. W. H. Griffith, of St. Mary's, Bath) addressed the ringers upon the care to be bestowed on the fabric of the bells and belfry, and their position as church workers, basing his remarks on 1 Chron. xxix 1.

A meeting was subsequently held under the presidency of the Master, supported by the Rev. J. Utten Todd (Minehead), the Rev. W. Turner (Bridgwater), Mr. C. E. D. Boutflower (Bristol), and Mr. Rupert Lewis (hon. sec.). The minutes of the last meeting having been read and confirmed, it was decided, on the proposition of the Rev. J. Utten Todd, seconded by Mr. T. Doble (Taunton), to hold the next district meeting at Yeovil. In response to a request from some of the members for information respecting the recent opening of the Wells Cathedral bells by the Oxford Guild, the Master read a correspondence which had taken place between the officers of the association and the Master of the Oxford Guild, and in explaining the steps which had been taken in the matter, said he felt it would be better to let the matter rest, but, of course, he was bound to fall in with the urgently expressed wish of the meeting. After some discussion, it was proposed by Mr. C. E. D. Boutflower, seconded by the Rev. J. Utten Todd, and carried unanimously, "That this meeting, having had before it the correspondence with reference to the re-opening of the bells of Wells Cathedral, approves the action of the master and secretary, and deprecates the behaviour of the master of the Oxford guild in the matter."

On the proposition of the Rev. J. Utten Todd, seconded by Mr. C. E. D. Boutflower, a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the master and secretary for the manner in which they had vindicated the honour of the Association. A cordial vote of thanks to the vicar of St. Mary's for the use of the bells, brought the meeting to a close.

Owing to the inclement state of the weather the members were unable to visit the neighbouring towers, but confined their attention to St. Mary's bells; the ringing during the day including touches of Grandsire, Stedman, and Plain Bob.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT AMALGAMATED SOCIETY.

The monthly ringing meeting of this society was held at Pudsey, on Saturday, November 28th, and was well attended, considering the steady downpour of rain from 1.30 to a late hour. However, the band appointed to attempt the peal announced in "THE BELL NEWS," turned up prompt at 2.30, and were soon off in Oxford Treble Bob Major, with good ringing for 2 hrs. and 40 mins. Then something happened, well-known to all peal ringers—it collapsed, and no one was wrong, as the bells got the blame, and it was decided to try again later on. Tracks were soon made to the "Park Hotel," formerly the "New Inn," where members and ringing friends were present from the following places: Calverley, Tong, Birstall, Leeds, St. Chad's and St. Michael's, Headingley, Bradford, and the local ringers. Handbell ringing followed, courses of Grandsire Major, and Triples and Treble Bob Minor being rung. It was decided to hold the next meeting on January 2nd, 1892, at Bramley. Three new members were elected, and arrangements made for another attempt the Saturday following. Thus concluded another pleasant gathering of this society. The members wish to thank the Vicar and Churchwardens for the use of the bells, c. Also the local ringers and steeple-keeper for their kind arrangements.

RE-OPENING OF FRAMSDEN CHURCH BELLS, SUFFOLK.

On Saturday evening, November 28th, the ring of eight, tenor 16 cwt., were re-opened after being put in ringing order by Messrs. Henry Bowell and Son, church bell hangers, of Ipswich, Suffolk. The tenor has been rehung with new headstock, metal bed plates, turned steel gudgeons, massive cast-iron carriages, with new gun-metal bearings, improved grease boxes and hinge caps. The bell has also been quarter-turned on a new stock, and fitted with improved clapper hinge and false crown staple. The other seven have been overhauled, and wheels, stays, clappers, etc., repaired.

Ringers attended from Cretingham, Monewden, Helmingham, Ipswich and Framsdén. Ringing commenced at 6.30 p.m. with touches of Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Major, Grandsire and Bob Major, and Stedman Triples, in which Messrs. Bowell and Son took part. Afterwards the ringers and bell hangers were invited to partake of refreshments, by the kindness of the Vicar. Courses of Grandsire Triples and Caters were rung on the handbells, and after wishing the Vicar and his churchwarden good night, the company returned home, well pleased with the splendid go of the bells, and with the new ropes which came from Mr. Nicoll, of Bermondsey, London. The bells are considered one of the prettiest rings of eight in the county of Suffolk, and it is 120 years since they were hung by Pack and Chapman.

For afternoon service on Sunday, November 29th, some touches of Grandsire were rung with the aid of the Cretingham ringers. There are only two change-ringers residing in the parish, but it was proposed to form a company of young hands, who it is hoped will soon master the Art, and do justice to their restored peal of bells.

THE ANCIENT SOCIETY OF COLLEGE YOUTHS.

The Annual Meeting of this Society took place at St. Saviour's, on Tuesday last, the 1st inst. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year, viz:—

Master.—Mr. William D. Smith.

To the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS AND RINGERS' RECORD."

PEAL-RINGING ON SUNDAYS.

SIR,—One would have thought in these days of ringing revival that anything like peal-ringing on Sundays had died out, but such, I regret to say, is not the case, at least so far as a certain church at Bath is concerned. That being so must be my apology for asking for space in your columns to call attention to it. Further than that, my regret is deepened to find that it should have been attempted by members of the rising Bath and Wells Diocesan Association. The facts are as follows: Recently on a Sunday afternoon, the ringers of St. Saviour's church, Bath (and, if report be true, a prominent member of the Association was among the band), started for a peal of Grandsire Triples. Before I proceed, I should say that I draw a distinction between ringing for church services, festivals, and the like, and that my remarks are directed against the open and avowed attempt of scoring a peal, which could, and ought to have been done on any of the other six nights of the week, without disturbing the peace and quiet of the residents near, and all within the reach of the sound of the bells on a Sunday afternoon from three to five, as in this case. Such a proceeding I maintain is entirely foreign to the best and truest principles of ringing, and one that ought to be put a stop to, lest the idea should become contagious, though there is little fear on the point. Very few complaints are heard against ringing when carried out with the due regards to the feelings of those who live near, but when it is done simply for the purpose of gratifying personal ambition to score a peal, and that on a Sunday afternoon, it becomes a most degraded form of ringing, and unless this kind of thing is nipped in the bud it can only end in bringing ringing into disrepute, and raising up a strong public opinion which it would be difficult to appease. Moreover, if this is to be the result of the revival, it had better never have taken place. It should be added that the attempted peal failed, as it deserved to, after about 2 hrs. ringing.

A RINGER.

INACCURATE WEIGHT OF BELLS.

SIR,—The tenor bell at St. Cuthbert's, Wells, is 28 cwt. not 33 cwt. as it has been given by the last two peals that have been rung on the bells. There is many mistakes being made at present as to weights of tenor bells, and a few members of the Oxford Guild are mostly the offenders in this matter. As regards the weight of Christ Church Cathedral, Oxford, at times it is called 42 cwt., and then again at 40 cwt. I should like to know what makes it vary in weight from time to time. This bell in particular is very much overrated as regards its weight, and I have pointed it out to one of the principal ringers of the Oxford Guild before now. And as this bell is only 4ft. 8in., it cannot weigh 42 cwt., nor yet 40 cwt. By looking carefully at this bell, and by sound judgment, I put the weight down at 30 cwt., it might possibly reach a little more, but there is a great doubt in that, as it is not like a modern bell. I have measured the bell and I am convinced that I have given a correct account of its weight. A modern bell of the same diameter would not weigh 40 cwt. by seven to eight cwt. as there is more metal in modern bells than what there is in old ones, and especially this tenor at Oxford, as their is a great falling off as to metal, as the bell is very narrow towards the shoulder, and of very moderate thickness throughout. There is neither size nor metal to call for such an absurd weight that has been given, and hoping for the future we shall not see through this valuable paper such inaccurate weights given to tenor bells.

R. LANE.

86, Freehold Street, Loughborough, Leicestershire.

The great bell of Cologne Cathedral, known as the "Emperor Bell," is interesting in many ways. It bears an inscription recording that "William, the most august Emperor of the Germans and king of the Prussians, mindful of the heavenly help granted to him, whereby he conducted the late French war to a prosperous issue and restored the German empire, caused cannons taken from the French to be devoted to founding a bell to be hung in the wonderful cathedral then approaching completion." On one side is a likeness of St. Peter, the name-patron of the church, beneath which is a quatrain in the style of the mediæval conceits, praying that, as devout hearts rise heavenward at hearing the sound of the bell, so may the doorkeeper of heaven open wide the gates of the celestial mansion. On the opposite side is inscribed a sestet in German. It may just be added that no less than twenty-two cannons taken from the French were assigned by the Kaiser for the manufacture of this great bell.

In Memoriam.

WILLIAM MORRIS.

Died at Cheltenham on November 3rd, 1891, in his 83rd Year.

On the third of November, one eight ninety one,
Our friend William Morris, his course having done,—
Death called him away, from his friends kind and true,
To his rest in the land of eternal bright hue.

A ringer he was, Oh! so noble and true,
And many's the peal that he rang his bell through,
He always was ready, and willing to stand,
To ring in a peal when there was a good band.

His last peal he rang in his seventy-ninth year,
Like a man, he would never give up in despair,
It was in Stedman Triples, which were his delight,
And we think, were it needed, he'd ring them all night.

As late as within a few days of his end,
He attended the tower, his efforts to lend,
And took place in all that was rung in the span
Of the evening, comprising "Grandsire" and "Stedman."

When ringing was done, he would just like a glass,
And tell us some tales of his life that had passed,
Or sing us a song,—his favorite ditty,
Was about his old home, i.e.—"Fair Gloucester City."

Sometimes at a supper old William would meet us,
And always with hearty good-fellowship greet us,
He would be like a lamb, so jolly and frisky,—
And just a bit fond of a glass of good whiskey.

When engaged at his work he never forgot,
To take with him trestles, his brush, and paste-pot.
He would paper your walls, and not hurt your feelings;
And if you desired, he would paper your ceilings.

A ringer he had been for fifty years past,
And he rung like a Briton right up to the last;
He always was keen, on a bit of good striking,
And would very soon say if 'twas not to his liking.

He rang for our Queen, on the day she was crowned,
And at "Jubilee time he rang too, loyal and sound,
He had rung for births, weddings, and deaths not a few,
And many a time for the old year and new.

This jolly old ringer, his duty has done,
At work, and in ringing, and likewise at home;
And now 'tis our duty to give him his due,
That in time to come, we may naught have to rue.

As a mark of respect, for such a good man,
Muffled-peals we have rung at Prestbury and Cheltenham;
The last hope of all—from our hearts 'tis express'd,
Is that he may have peace and Eternal rest.

Prestbury, 9th November, 1891.

CHARLES POCKETT.

The decorations of bells as distinguished from the mere lettering, have been tersely described by Mr. Llewellyn Jewitt, F.S.A., as consisting of encircling inscriptions, usually on the haunch; encircling borders both on the crown, the haunch, the waist, the sound-bow or rim, and of more or less elaborate design; crosses of every conceivable character; figures of saints and angels; evangelistic and other symbols; heraldic bearings; heads of kings and queens; grotesque figures derived from mediæval literature; ornaments of various kinds—roses, fleur-de-lis, crowns, quatre-foils, etc., etc., and marks and devices, as well as initials and names of founders. All this, however, applies more particularly to the continental bells, especially those of Belgium. At Mechlin, for example, on a bell dated "1697, Antwerp," there is what Mr. Haweis describes as "an amazingly vigorous hunt through a forest with dogs and all kinds of wild animal." It is carried right round the bell, and has all the grace and freedom of a spirited sketch. Again, on one of the bells cast by the celebrated Belgian founder, Petrus Hemony, and bearing the inscription "Laudate Domini omnes gentes," there is a long procession of boys dancing and ringing flat handbells, such as are now rung before the Host in Street processions.—Newbery House Magazine.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

The best are missed most when missing.

Had I been one of the band belonging to the North Lincolnshire Association whose doings as reported on page 421, the ringers, we are told regard "as a performance of no small merit," I certainly do think I should have been ashamed of some at least of the incidents mentioned in that paragraph. First this Lincoln band arrange for a peal; one finds he cannot attend, so another ringer belonging to a neighbouring tower is asked to fill the gap. Another of the band, evidently with no small notions of himself, has the most excellent manners to reward their accommodating substitute with a positive refusal to ring with him. Eventually, we are told, they decided to make a start with another at the tenor, "who by the way, knew nothing of change-ringing, and had not covered any changes before, as he only learned to handle a bell about the end of August, and since then, excepting the band met one short, was consigned to the usual place for novices—the seat." The peal failed (and I was about to add, serve them right, but I forbear), and it is added, "a note of this failure may perhaps be interesting to the Exercise. Well, that may be so; but speaking for myself, the story of this failure should be described by a word not so pleasant or euphonious in sound as "interesting." Is it "interesting" to read of a gross insult being paid to a man who has consented to fill up a gap, so that a band may not be disappointed in at least starting for a peal which had been previously arranged? Is it "interesting" to read that at the church of St. Peter-at-Arches, in the city of Lincoln, it is customary to relegate their novices to "the usual place—the seat," except when the band happens to meet a man short? Is it "interesting" to learn, after all our efforts in late years to induce a better treatment of recruits to the Exercise, to infuse a more earnest desire amongst us in the way of assisting those desirous of learning our Art, and aiding us in our work, that in the historic church of St. Peter-at-Arches in the even more historic city of Lincoln, men anxious to learn are snubbed and consigned to the "seat," except when the self-estimated proficient ones are "a man short," and thus make a convenience of the aspirants to campanological efficiency? If so, then the report on page 421 is "interesting" in the extreme. After this, should it ever be my lot to find myself in the city of Lincoln, with a desire to have a pull—at any rate in the tower of St. Peter-at-Arches—I shall most decidedly take the precaution of providing myself with a certificate of efficiency, so that I may not run the risk of either being told that so-and-so will not ascend the tower to ring with me, or having gained entrance to the belfry to find myself consigned to "the seat," as a novice, and unworthy to join such brilliant shining lights of the Exercise in their manipulation of the bell-ropes. There is evidently much room even yet for good work to be done by the North Lincolnshire Association; and when that is accomplished, no doubt the account of it may "be interesting to the Exercise."

* * * * *

From Lincolnshire I make a rapid stride to Ashford, in Kent, where our friends have just recently been commemorating the eighty-fifth birthday of good old John Laker, on which occasion the veteran added to his sixty-eight years' experience as a ringer by ringing the treble and conducting two courses of Bob Major. I wish I had been with you my friends of Merham and Willesborough on the evening of the 6th November last, that with you I might have had the pleasure of personally congratulating (and perhaps having a pull with) your old comrade. That could not be; but all the same, while here in my little den penning these lines, I send to you, Mr. John Laker, my heartiest good wishes for your future comfort and happiness, and I know you will appreciate them though given in this way, just as much as if I had been able to convey them to you viva voce.

* * * * *

On glancing over the extraordinary long list of peals rung, I was pleased to read that our Yorkshire friend, Tom Lockwood, has scored his century with a peal of Treble Ten, composed and conducted by himself. It is some time since I had the pleasure of a "confab" with brother Tom. He must—like many more of us—be getting on in years now; but I have no doubt that he is yet, and may in all human probability be for many years to come, a bulwark of strength to his band at Leeds Parish Church. The name of Lockwood has been for many years—both inside and outside Yorkshire—too well-known and esteemed to need any encomiums from me here; but nevertheless I—metaphorically, that is—shake him warmly by the hand, and wish him good luck on his march towards his second century.

* * * * *

Last week I alluded to the many signs of progress evidenced by foot-notes to peals, recording first performances, et cetera. An esteemed friend of mine has just called my attention to last week's record in this direction, which he says contains about a score "first peals," another score "first peals in the method," with a number of "first peal on the bells," et cetera. This is properly "interesting," and at least bears out my last week's observations on the evident marks of progress which are visible amongst us.

* * * * *

A year ago I had the pleasure of sending my good wishes to Mr. Richard Hill, of Southport, on the occasion of his sixtieth birthday. At that time it was my intention to have paid a visit to that well-known sea-side resort, which has the honour of numbering him among its worthy citizens, during the following summer, but circumstances unfortunately prevented me carrying out my desires in that direction. It is thus with special pleasure that I now endeavour to make amends for my shortcomings in this respect (which I can assure Mr. Hill has been a disappointment to me), but reiterating my good wishes to him on his sixty-first birthday, and to give utterance to the hope that we, in general, the Lancashire Association in particular, and the Southport band especially, may have him with us in the enjoyment of this world's good things for many years to come.

* * * * *

I would just add (like the feminine gender, I leave the most important till last), that I am pleased to learn that our Editor is making progress towards convalescence, and that soon he may be back at his post again, an event which I am quite sure we shall all of us be very pleased about.

FREE LANCE.

RE-OPENING OF TEMPLE COMBE BELLS, BATH.

The bells of this parish church have been re-hung and a new bell added by Mears and Stainbank, and the re-opening and dedication service took place on Thursday, November 19th. The new treble is given by the parishioners and friends to the memory of the late Rector, and the opening touches were accordingly muffled. In addition to a 720 of Grandsire Minor rung under the conductorship of the Rev. C. W. H. Griffith, Master of the Diocesan Association, touches of Bob Minor, Grandsire and Bob Doubles were rung. Evensong was held at eight the preacher being Prebendary Ainslie.

Obituary.

EDWARD MATTHEWS.

It is with regret that we have to record the death of the above-named ringer, who died on Monday, November 9th, and was buried on Thursday, November 12th, aged fifty-seven years. He joined the old church, society, Macclesfield, in 1853, and rang 500 of Stedman at the first attempt. He was a ringer of no mean degree, his favorite method being Stedman, he being able to watch two or three besides his own. He was conductor of the society for thirteen years, his health causing him to resign in February, 1890, to the regret of all the local ringers, and his kind, genial, ever obliging manner, and readiness to assist or give way for a young hand, has won for him the respect which was shewn to him, and the regret of so many at his death. He always advocated "THE BELL NEWS," and was one who always assisted in pushing on its circulation, he sending a great many circulars to towers in Lancashire, Yorkshire, and Derbyshire, at his own expense. He was for three years the first representative for the Macclesfield branch of the Chester Diocesan Guild. No doubt there are some ringers who have a handkerchief of his own weaving, with bells and ringing mottoes woven in it. He was as industrious at home as in the tower; his health causing him to give over weaving those beautiful handkerchiefs after he had turned out over 2000. He never rang many peals, perhaps a dozen, his longest being a 6155 of Grandsire Caters, his last being a 5120 of Grandsire Major at Prestwich, three miles from home, on February 10th, 1885.

NOTE TO THE PEAL AT ST. MARY'S, LEICESTER.—This peal has the 4th and 6th their extent each way in 5-6. The 6th is also five times at home, and is supposed to be the first one-part peal in fifteen courses having these qualities. It is the first Midland Counties' Association peal in which Mr. Knights has rung. It is also the first peal rung on the bells for the last ten years, the last being one of Kent Treble Bob, rung in April, 1881.

Mr. T. Maude, of Bradford, writes: "In the paragraph in your last issue referring to the new peal of bells at Heaton church, near Bradford, the statement is omitted that owing to the smallness of the tower they will not be able to be rung in the usual manner, but only chimed, a very great difference from a ringers' point of view. P.S.—In our local paper, the Bradford Observer, the above statement was mentioned."

ABERDEEN CITY BELLS.

In the tower of St. Nicholas, Aberdeen, there is a set of Belgian carillons, erected in honor, we believe, of Her Majesty's Jubilee. It would appear that the great expectations formed of these bells by the inhabitants have not yet been realised (nor in our opinion are they likely to be). As our correspondent writes: "They have indeed 'bulked' rather in the eyes of the public as a ponderous white elephant. On the morning in June 1887, when the bells were first tested in the presence of an immense concourse of people, it was found that their sound, was heard within only a very limited radius, and that that sound where heard, was but a 'jangle, out of tune and harsh.' Since then there has been nothing but a growing feeling of disappointment regarding them. Unfavourable criticism has been carried to the extreme. They have been the butt of the wit, and the fruitful field of the satirist. Pantomimes have flourished on their caricature, and public men have been doomed to a fate of oblivion on account of them. They have proved a terrible infliction to the sensitive musical tastes of the average Aberdonian, and have in short, been universally voted a failure and a frost. In the case of one of the principal bells, noted for its unharmonious sound, it was found that the clapper was several inches too short. Another change was made by the entire removal of the upper louvres in the bell-chamber, designed to let the sound have a freer escape."

These and other objections to the peal induced the authorities of Aberdeen to get the opinion of some expert who would, with his magic wand, allay all further dissatisfaction. Accordingly that wonderful man, the Rev. H. R. Haweis—the fons et origo of the bells, is communicated with, whom it would appear consented to visit Aberdeen, and give what is called a lecture on bells. He seems to have been accompanied by M. Denyn, an experienced carillonneur of Malines, who, for the benefit of the Aberdonians displayed his abilities on their bells. Our correspondent further goes on to say that "it has been proved beyond all possible doubt that some of the bells in the higher register are out of tune, for, even in the hands of the bellmaster of Malines, these, when brought into use, produced most unharmonious strains. Mr. Haweis, while speaking of the merits of the bells, and saying that they were as good as those of Malines, admitted that there were one or two faulty, but condemned a proposal for the removal of them, as he said, in every carillon there was bound to be some defect. What he advised was that the public ear should be educated to bell ringing gradually by use at first of those of the lower register, which are perfect, and by bringing in next, from time to time, the more complicated clangour of the smaller bells. This course will, in all likelihood, be followed: but it is hoped that, by the time the introduction of the smaller bells is thought of, some steps may have been taken to bring them nearer to accord with their bigger brothers. Mr. Haweis, in the course of his lecture, however, stated that in his opinion carillons could never be anything but an approximation to tune. One octave of bells could easily be in tune; to put a second octave in tune was very difficult; and to put a third octave in tune was still more difficult. Mr. Haweis suggested that instead of the present quarter chimes there should be a barrel introduced, which should ring out a fine tune, so that the people might be accustomed to hear airs on the bells harmonized. In this respect he contrasted the condition of things in Belgium, where every quarter of an hour a flood of music rolled through the air, and all tune was set to music, to that in England, where there was nothing but the raw ding-dong of the big bells, which he characterised as an intolerable nuisance."

But we give below the substance of Mr. Haweis' remarks, taken from a local paper:—

from St. Nicholas' tower, and by a gong as an example of one of those "abominations" which the rev. gentleman said he would scorn to class in the same category as bells, and by the lecturer's own vocal powers of imitation. At the outset, Mr. Haweis remarked that he little thought when, in 1879, he addressed the Royal Institution on the subject of bells, that one of his dreams would be realised in Aberdeen. On that occasion he said he hoped the day would come when they should see a large English town interested and excited about a large carillon of Belgian bells. Such a sight he had seen that day. He was in the churchyard, and he was in the streets of their city, and he saw their people thronging out to listen to the magnificent performance of his friend M. Denyn, the celebrated carillonneur of Belgium. He regarded M. Denyn's father as the greatest living carillonneur, but unfortunately from ill-health he had retired. M. Denyn, sen. had, however, bequeathed his great talents to his son, and certainly if M. Denyn, the father, was the Liszt, he thought he might say that M. Denyn, the son, was the Rubenstein of the carillon clavecin. Most people thought they had dismissed the subject of bells when they quoted a few lines of Schiller's "The Song of the Bells," and a verse or two of Edgar Allan Poe's celebrated "Ballad of the Bells." But he would like them to feel a little of his own enthusiasm for bells in the abstract, as well as bells in particular. He did not want their meditations that night to be bounded strictly by the tower of St. Nicholas, although he stood before them in rather a responsible position as having been the fons et origo of those bells round which had raged a very considerable amount of controversy—(laughter). It would be his duty and his privilege and his pleasure to ask what were their legitimate expectations about the bells—why they might have suffered some little disappointment at all events when they first heard them, and then how their legitimate expectations might be realised in the near future. He thought that question had been considerably modified by the magnificent performance they had listened to that afternoon, for he understood that never before were the bells heard as they were heard then. Previous trials had been experiments. They got over a venerable carillonneur with inefficient muscles—(laughter)—who had once been able to play, just as some singers, who would be nameless, had once been able to sing; and he altered all their bells for them in order that he might have no trouble in playing. The consequence was that they had what Mr. Grossmith had described as "tinkle, tinkle, tankle; tinkle, tinkle, tankle"—(laughter)—and they asked indignantly—are these the magnificent Belgian bells about which we heard so much? Other people said they were deficient in volume of sound, especially the little bells, and he was told that some people were for pulling down the little bells, and only leaving the big ones, thus reducing their delicate and beautiful instrument to a mere common, ordinary peal of big bells. That beautiful mellow tone—he exclaimed, as he struck one of the smaller bells of the peal which was hung in front of the platform—like a fine wind instrument or string instrument—this, he believed, was one of the victims they wanted to have out of the tower—(laughter). If any opinion of his had assisted in any way in saving these melodious sounds, he should indeed feel proud and happy. But before entering on the great question of the St. Nicholas' bells, he wanted his hearers to feel a little of the true enthusiasm in bells essentially as bells. He wanted to speak on the mystery of bells, on the romance and dignity of bells, on the uses of bells, and on the importance of bells. What he meant about the mystery of bells was just that point where bells struck the imagination. To his mind there was a strange fascination about the sound of bells. A bell was a kind of cauldron of sound—a great repertoire of sound. He had a bell weighing six cwt. in his own room, and it was so sensitive that when any one passed it they found it was muttering to itself. Every vibration, every sound seemed to be analysed by a true bell. If he stamped on the floor they heard the sound of that stamp; if he sneezed near a bell, it was astonishing to discover the number of notes that went to make up that sneeze. It was the art of the bellfounder so to cast and arrange the bell in order that it might give one note that could be piped, or whistled, or hummed, but the special art of the Belgians was that, in addition to the one fundamental note, the bell should have a third and a fifth. The fault he found with the English bells was that, though they sometimes by a fluke had the third and fifth, they generally had also all sorts of things. (Laughter). The bell before him, which he had caused to be taken from St. Nicholas' tower, was quite true, being a Belgian bell. He had not yet touched it, but he knew very well he would get the fundamental, the 3rd and the 5th from it; he knew very well it was a respectable bell. There (he exclaimed, striking the bell), true as a piano! He next referred to the enormous number of uses that bells were put to, mentioning several, and proceeded to give a short historical sketch of bells. In this connection he alluded to Big Ben in Westminster. Big Ben was always cracked; he was cracked now—(laughter). But the Lords and Commons did not know it; they were quite content—(laughter). Big Ben went on year after year in the capital of the world, and the Lords and Commons legislated under its shadow and amidst its roll, and he wished to know what harmony they could expect in the House of Commons under such conditions—(laughter). Mr. Haweis next had a word to say as to the dignity of bells. He always maintained that a belfry should be as well kept as any other part of a cathedral; but a belfry was usually in a filthy state. He had received numerous letters from deans and chapters asking him what they should do with their belfries; and he had replied by telling them to sweep them out—(laughter). In every village, in every town, the most beautiful situation for surveying the glories of the landscape was the belfry. The first place anybody ought to be taken to on getting into a town was the top of the belfry, in order that he might have a magnificent view of the city and the surrounding country. Having briefly touched on the romance that attached to bells, he went on to say that carillons could never be anything but an approximation to tune. If they had got four bells, they ought to be in tune. An octave in bells ought also to be in tune; to put a second octave in tune was very difficult; and to put a third octave in tune was still more difficult. One must recognise the conditions of bell-casting and bell possibilities, and then they would know that carillon music was only an approximation of tune; though three-quarters out of tune was intolerable. The sound of bells, wherever they were heard, was deeply connected with the drudgeries of human life. There was a certain romance imparted into them by memory and association. They were so connected with their lives, yet they were apart from their lives. They were the passionless chroniclers of joy and sorrow. Bells rang impartially for good and for evil—for weal and for woe. They had many mystic and holy associations in the sacred functions and offices of the Church; but he thought the most impressive of all bells to him was the bell which rang in the midnight service, when the tolling of the old year going out and the bursting pæan of praise when the new year came in, and the congregation kneeling silently; then it seemed to him that the voices of the bells were full of the past, and also prophetic and full of the future. Then, as to the music of bells. He wished that, instead of striking the quarters, they had a barrel which rang out a fine tune, so that people would be accustomed to hear tunes on the bells harmonised. In Belgium, every quarter of an hour a flood of music rolled over the air, and all time was set to music; but when they left that country and came to England, there was nothing but a raw ding-dong of the big bells, which was a perfectly intolerable nuisance. After referring to his definition of bells in the "Encyclopædia Britannica," he proceeded to say that bells did not come to perfection at first, like violins, although the rise of bells was coincident with the rise of the art of modern music and also with the rise of the violin. The English bellfounders were generally very angry when they were told that they owed the art of bell-casting mainly to Belgium and the low countries. It was true that in proportion as the English bells approached to the Dutch models, they were good; but whenever they deviated from the traditions of the Dutch bell, they deteriorated. These were very hard nuts to crack. He never said they were not good, for there were some capital English bellfounders. There were many splendid English bells which had an octave well in tune; but he never yet knew two octaves of English bells approximately in tune; and as for three octaves of these bells, he never wished to hear them at all—(laughter). As to what they were to expect from carillon music, he said they need not expect the same measure of tune as they had from a violin or pianoforte. That was not the quality and character of carillon music. Carillon music was a specialty like any other specialty. It required a certain trained ear. They need not expect to have a pianoforte tune on the carillon any more than they could expect a scene painter to have all the minute finish and accuracy of a miniature. Miniatures were one thing and scene painting another. They got in scene painting effects which they could not get in miniature painting; and so they got out of the vast ocean of sound, upon which floated approximately and recognisably, fundamental notes defining the air—filling in the accompaniment. They got these fundamental notes, picking out the airs in the ocean of sound generated by the whole carillon. That was the effect peculiar to carillon music, and the ear must be cultivated to hear it. Perhaps they did not like it. A musician said it was not in tune. That did not so much matter in a carillon as an orchestra; for this reason: that there was such an enormous confusion of sound generated that the ear itself ceased to accept that rigid tune which it would have were that substratum upon which notes floated removed and replaced by definite and fixed harmonies in the orchestra. It was an education. People wrote of their instrument as being a vile thing to a musician. That was a very plausible remark to make; but it only proved that they had not grasped what carillon music was, they had not learned to listen and to lend themselves to the extraordinary emotional conditions realised by that ocean of sound upon which these fundamentals floated. He could not stand the Antwerp bells—they were monstrously out of tune; but the Malines bells were beautiful. When he heard what had been said about the St. Nicholas' bells, he came to Aberdeen with fear and trembling; and he thought he would have to appear and make the best story he could—(laughter). But when he heard the bells he was comforted. They would never get anything much better than that. They were equally as good as those at Mechlin. All that was wanted was that they should listen to them more often. He did not say that there was not one or two faults in their carillon of thirty or forty bells. They were certain to find some bell which belonged to a different tone; but that was the exasperation of bellfounders. The emotional condition produced was peculiar to the bells, and then when that had been produced, when the whole system had been seized upon and made elastic and sympathetic by being bathed in this mysterious ocean of sound, then the fundamentals came out, and they saw through this mist and maze of harmony, they began to recognise the air, the accompaniment, and it gave quite a new idea—something quite unique, quite different from the orchestra and piano. The only thing he found fault with in Aberdeen was that too much had been attempted. It was "line upon line and precept upon precept." They ought to have "The Blue Bells of Scotland" ding-dong, and they ought to have "God Save the Queen" ding-dong, and any other melody the people would have liked, and when they had received that a small accompaniment might have been introduced; but their friend M. Denyn, being a great virtuoso, was accustomed to the Belgian public assembling as connoisseurs, and where he had to look out for novelties, and where the people were tired of anything commonplace, he immediately flourished complicated harmonies and chromatic scales, and he did not know what. He concluded by hoping that some person locally would learn to play the carillon and give performances, and so stimulate other great towns to fit their belfries with a noble carillon.

Lord Provost Stevens, who presided, expressed the hope that more would be heard of the bells in the future than in the past.

Mr. Haweis said the Lord Provost's desire could be absolutely fulfilled by means of a carillon barrel, selecting those notes in the bells which would satisfy a rigid musician.

There seems to have been a great deal of amusement created by the remarks of the rev. gentleman, if we are to judge by the amount of laughter which ensued. And no wonder, perhaps. This lecture, or whatever it may be called, if attempted before a body of practical ringers, would in all probability never have reached its end. We do not hesitate to say that the good folks of Aberdeen would have done wisely in taking counsel with some one else. The Rev. H. R. Haweis is a musician no doubt, but it is a well-known fact that musicians, as such, are not the best judges, by any means, of bells. And upon the subject of practical scientific ringing the rev. gentleman is known to be as ignorant almost as it is possible to be. People of the British Islands look upon Church Bells not as instruments from which tunes are to be thumped out; they imagine bells are erected for bona fide ringing purposes, and to be used so that people may distinctly hear their voices on occasions proper for their use. Mr. Haweis may criticise the work of English bell founders as long as he pleases, and very few people will care for what he says. Yet it must be known to him that an English bell founder some years ago challenged any foreign bell founder to produce a bell better than could be produced at his manufactory. Certainly this challenge was hampered by conditions. One was that practical ringers only should be allowed to adjudicate. And the Incumbent of Marylebone would under such condition have been debarred from officiating. We should strongly counsel the bell authorities of the northern city to have their bells hung for ringing; they will be much better satisfied. If they will have tunes there are English carillon makers who can meet their views and wishes in every respect. A lot of bells fixed in a church tower for tune-playing alone is an anomaly. We forbear alluding to the suggestion about the height of the tower, though at present it appears to us most puerile.

OPENING OF A NEW PEAL OF BELLS AT SHEDFIELD, HANTS.

ON Monday, November 30th, a new peal of six, presented to the parish church of Shedfield by Mrs. Franklin in memory of her husband, was dedicated by the Lord Bishop of Guildford. The bells are a nice handy peal by Messrs. Taylor, hung in iron frames, tenor about 12½ cwt., and their tone was much admired by all who heard them. The proceedings commenced with evensong at 3 o'clock, sung by the vicar, the Rev. A. B. Alexander, special prayers and a special lesson being used, and an address given by the Bishop on the part played by the bells in the various events of human life. One remark of the Bishop was especially noticed; and that was a strong expression of opinion on his part that on Sundays the bells should never be chimed but always rung. It is to be hoped that the Shedfield ringers will always give effect to this opinion. Service over, the bells struck out for the first time, and were soon rolling along merrily through two six-scores of Grandsire Doubles. The ringing throughout the day was done by a band of the Winchester Diocesan Guild. A parish tea was held in the afternoon, which was attended by the ringers, who treated the people to a plain course of Grandsire Triples on the handbells, which was much appreciated. Before evening service a 720 of Treble Bob Minor was satisfactorily brought round, and a full congregation assembled to listen to an interesting address given by Canon Lee, rector of Botley and Rural Dean, on the lessons to be learnt from a peal of bells. The proceedings concluded with another 720 of Bob Minor and three 6-scores of Stedman Doubles, after which the ringers were most hospitably entertained by the donor of the peal.

THE NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

DISTRICT MEETING AT KELSEA.—The seventh quarterly meeting of the Saxmundham district was held at Kelsale on Saturday, December 5th, at which twenty-six members attended from Aldeburgh, Leiston, Saxmundham, Rendham, Sweffling, Kelsale, and Great Yarmouth. The fine ring of bells were kindly placed at the disposal of the members, and were kept going at intervals during the afternoon and evening in the Plain Bob Major, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob Major methods. The business meeting was held at the new Church House at 6.30., presided over by Mr. Fenton Thompson, when three performing members were enrolled.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. It was reported that one peal had been rung in the district since the last meeting, viz., at Leiston. A resolution was unanimously passed to hold the next meeting at Leiston on March 12th.

A cordial vote of thanks was passed to the Rev. G. Irving Davies, rector of Kelsale, for his kindness in granting the use of the bells, and also for the use of the new Church House in which the business meeting was held, which brought to a close another highly successful meeting.

While allowing the utmost freedom for the expression of opinion, it must never be considered that we are in any way bound to statements made by correspondents.

To the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS AND RINGERS' RECORD."

SUNDAY PEAL RINGING.

SIR,—I was glad to see the protest against the above practice from a 'ringer' in your issue of to-day. I know nothing of the case to which he refers, but I am sure that with all our boasted 'Belfry Reform' there is room for a very great improvement among ringers, both as regards the observance of Sunday and Churchmanship generally. Setting actual Peal ringing on one side, how often do we read that such and such a band had an outing, travelling by road or rail on Sunday, during the time of morning service, and arriving at their destination just in time for a touch as the congregation are leaving church? Then follows the dinner at the inn; the afternoon is spent in various touches, and perhaps often ringing the congregation in to the evening service, the visitors depart and arrive home "well satisfied with their days outing." What wonder if the clergy and church authorities do not, under such circumstances, always appreciate their performances? What wonder if the Incumbent sometimes refuses them the use of the bells altogether on such occasions? No doubt ringing for the morning and evening services on Sundays in one's own tower at home, is theoretically the ideal thing: But in how many cases do ringers care to attend Divine Service afterwards? This, I imagine, is not because they are exhausted with their labours in the belfry, but because they like a walk and a chat about ringing matters (which they have plenty of time for after a week night's practice), and sometimes a 'brother string' from some distant part of the country drops in and has a pull; and a talk about ringers and ringing is his part of the world seems to have more attractions than prayer and thanksgiving. Far be it from me to insinuate that the above state of things prevails in every tower where there is Sunday ringing; or that bells ought not be rang on Sundays, or that Sunday ringing should be confined to the greater festivals only. I would merely ask change-ringers whether they wish to be considered as regular church officials; or whether they can conscientiously say that to practice touches and ring the greatest amount of peals in the most intricate methods, on any day and at any time when they can (however praiseworthy such proficiency may be in itself), ought to be the chief and only aim and ambition of a body of men professedly calling themselves Christians and Churchmen?

J. R. JERRAW.

WEIGHTS OF TENORS.

SIR,—Mr. Lane's letter in your last issue is very much to the point and is the more forcible that it comes from a practical man. Overstating the weight of old bells is bad enough, because even that can always be judged pretty fairly by the diameter and general dimensions, but to exaggerate the weight of a modern bell, such as that of St. Cuthbert's, Wells, is unpardonable—in addition to that it is foolish, because the misstatement can so easily be contradicted, and the "fib" exposed. I can give an instance, viz., at Oundle (Northants), the tenor is stated to weigh 32 cwt. It was recast in the year 1868 by Mears and Stainbank, and the weight they give is "nearly 27 cwt." An old bell at Olney (Bucks), diameter 52 in., is said by the local men, to weigh 36 cwt., which is a decided error—it is just about the same size as the Oundle tenor.

"BELL WARDEN."

PORTSEA RINGERS AT CHICHESTER.

ON Tuesday evening, December 1st, the Portsea branch of the Winchester Diocesan Guild paid a visit to Chichester Cathedral tower, where they were met by Mr. Falconer, steeplekeeper, Mr. Walters and others of the cathedral band, from whom they received a hearty welcome. The bells were soon set going to Grandsire Triples, and a quarter-peal was brought round in 43 mins. C. Groves, 1; J. Symons, 2; J. Harper, 3; H. Stubbington, 4; C. Simmonds, 5; Rev. R. C. M. Harvey, 6; A. E. Nye (conductor), 7; R. Harman, 8. And a 504 in the same method. J. Harper, 1; J. Symons, 2; H. Stubbington, 3; A. E. Nye, 4; R. Walters (conductor), 5; C. Simmonds, 6; Rev. R. C. M. Harvey, 7; W. Spurlock, 8. Messrs. Walters and Spurlock belong to the cathedral company. The bells were then lowered, and the visitors had to leave to catch their train. They desire to thank the local company for the hearty welcome they received, and trust to pay them another visit.

PORTRAIT NUMBER.—Next week will be published the portrait, with memoir, of Mr. F. LEES, of Newcastle.

THE ANCIENT SOCIETY OF COLLEGE YOUTHS.

The 254th Anniversary Banquet was held at the "Bridge House" hotel, on Saturday, November 21st. Previous to the dinner the towers of St. Michael's upon Cornhill and Spitalfields were open for the convenience of visitors. At 7.15 the Master took the chair, and was supported by ninety-four members and visitors. Among the members who attended were—A Percival Heywood, Esq., of Duffield, Messrs. Dorrington, Garrard, J. Willshire, F. L. and S. G. Davies, G. T. McLaughlin (vice-chairman), Coxhead, H. J. Ellis, Burden, Langdon, Pettit, W. D. and G. J. Smith, Comb, Barrell, Bowen, Harvey, Horrex, Prime, Bonney, Monday, Kennedy, Wallace, Joyce, Dwight, Glover, Winny, Adams, Cockerill, How, Dallimore, Burkin, Coles, F. W. Nunn, W. Worthington of Staveley, Howell of Sudbury, H. P. and E. Harman of Bromley, J. George of Rugby, Messrs. Buckingham, Cartmel and Randall, of St. Albans, Palmer, Maidstone, Romans, Gloucester, Messrs. T. and G. Durling, of Chislehurst, W. J. Smith and W. J. Emery, of St. Mary's Cray, J. Shade, Lamb, Richards and Davies, of Greenwich, W. Bedwell, of Lewisham, Wadey, of Billingshurst, H. Chandler, of Warnham, J. Akehurst and J. Fayers, of Capel, and E. Duff. The visitors, Messrs. Davies, Gooch, Mountain, E. J. and F. W. Horrex, Dngan, Welsh, Fell, Horan, Glover, Ambrose, Kays, T. Harford, Carmell, Tildman, A. Worthington, of Staveley, Shadwell, C. and J. Rutter, Mr. Creswick, churchwarden of St. Alphege, Greenwich, Norris, Warren, Bilham, Huxley, Humphreys, H. J. Davies, W. Partington, G. Wild, of the Waterloo Society, Berry, Pickles, C. Scarborough, and Mr. Oswald Hicks, of All Saints, Clapton. The menu card and programme were very nicely printed on a special card, the expense of which, with the dinner tickets and the engagement of Professor May with his musical glasses (and who discoursed sweet music during the repast) was borne by the Master. The menu was a liberal one, and it is needless to say that justice was done to the bill of fare provided. During the removal of the cloth, Mr. E. Delves (Royal Horse Guards band), performed at the piano. Upon reassembling after dinner, the first toasts given were "The Queen and Royal Family," and "the Army, Navy, and Auxiliary Forces." The former was given upstanding, and to a few bars of the National Anthem. Mr. F. Roe then amused the company with two very good comic songs, viz.: "Brown's Old Sweet Song," and "Brannigan's Band." The next toast given was "Church and State," followed by Mr. Duff's song "Farmer's Son."

The Master (Mr. F. E. Dawe) then gave the toast of the evening, "The Ancient Society of College Youths, and its Provincial Members," and in a somewhat stirring and yet amusing speech, gave a record of what had occurred to the Society and its members during the past year. While expressing his thanks for the attendance that evening, he regretted the absence of some of their oldest members, who in years gone by had been the mainstay of the Society. Having alluded to various special performances, he paid a passing compliment to Miss Leny, of Speldhurst, and those members who had by their kindness been the means of providing two of the company present with dinner tickets. In conclusion he asked the company to drink the toast, coupling with it the name of Mr. W. D. Smith, and this gentleman briefly, but expressly to the point, acknowledged the toast on behalf of the company. A touch of Stedman Triples on the handbells by Messrs. Cartmel, 1-2; Buckingham, 3-4; Winny, 5-6; McLaughlin, 7-8; was deservedly applauded.

The Master then called upon the company to drink the toast of "The London and Provincial Ringing Societies and Visitors," coupling with it the name of Mr. A. Percival Heywood, of whom the Master spoke in a very eulogistic manner for his efforts on behalf of ringers. Mr. W. Harvey then gave a performance on his dulcimer, and Mr. Hicks sang "Jessie."

He said he was in rather an invidious position, as he found himself called upon to answer for the Royal Cumberland Youths; and if there were any present he hoped they would allow him the pleasure of thanking the company for the manner in which the toast had been received, and also for members of any other company there. Referring to the Central Council, he spoke of the lukewarm manner bells and ringers were treated by the Clergy in general, and he hoped at the Church Congress at Folkestone next year to be able to bring to the front the real position regarding our belfries and ringers. He dwelt strongly upon practising ringing to the annoyance of surrounding neighbours. He urged upon all ringers the necessity of forbearance in the belfry. Mr. Heywood's remarks were listened to with much interest, and he resumed his seat amidst loud applause.

Mr. W. D. Smith next gave "The Master and Officers of the Ancient Society of College Youths," coupling with it the name of the Secretary; and here Mr. Smith's wit came into play, anent the Secretary's joining the ranks of the Benedicts, who then thanked the company for the way in which the toast had been received. He referred to the performances of the company, and gave some statistics for the past year, and in conclusion referred to the unavoidable absence of Mr. G. Mash, through the decease of his wife, referring to the great interest he (Mr. Mash) had always taken in their annual dinners. He again thanked the company on behalf of the Master and other officers of the Society. He then proposed "The Press," and feelingly referred to the absence of the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS," through a painful illness. This toast was well received.

During the evening other songs were rendered by Mr. J. Rutter, Mr. W. D. Smith, etc., and the Master gave a recitation, entitled "The Lifeboat." At 11.30 "Auld Lang Syne" brought the 254th banquet to a close. The arrangements for the dinner were admirably carried out by a dinner committee, consisting of the Master, Treasurer (Mr. J. Pettit), the Stewards (Messrs. Barrell and G. J. Smith), the Secretary and Messrs. G. Mash, T. McLaughlin, W. E. Garrard, E. Horrex, Winny.

RE-OPENING OF THE BELLS OF ST. MARY-LE-TOWER, IPSWICH.

On Saturday, December 5th, these bells were re-opened by members of the society after being rehung by Messrs. Warner and Sons, London, by whom the augmentation of the peal from ten to twelve was made in 1867. New bearings and gudgeons have been supplied, the clappers put right, and altogether the bells have been put into first-class working order.

During the afternoon touches of Double Norwich Royal and Major were rung. At 5 o'clock dinner was provided at the "Running Buck" inn. The vicar (the Rev. Ythil Barrington) presided, Mr. A. Jannings occupying the vice-chair, supported by his brother warden, Mr. P. Cornell.

After dinner the vicar proposed the usual loyal toasts, and spoke very encouragingly to the company, who in their turn thanked him and the churchwardens for the trouble they had taken in getting the above work done.

An adjournment was then made to the tower, when Stedman Cinques and Treble Twelve were rung with F. Mee (Sproughton), and W. Gobbett (Wingfield). Returning to the "Running Buck" a most agreeable evening was spent with songs and compliments until the hour of eleven compelled the coming home course to be got through. All the members expressed themselves perfectly satisfied with the way the bells go, and it reflects great credit upon the firm of Messrs. Warner and Sons, and the ringers only hope that it will be another quarter of a century before anything serious in the nature of repairs will again be wanted.

EVESHAM (Worcestershire).—On Sunday morning, December 6th, at St. Peter's, Bengeworth, six 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles, each called differently. G. Cook, 1; H. Middleton, 2; F. Cook (conductor), 3; W. G. Arkell, 4; A. H. Sharp, 5; G. Williams, 6. Longest touch by all except the 3rd and 4th men. Great credit is due to the above company for being so advanced in the art, as (with the exception of W. G. Arkell), they have entirely taught themselves within the past few months without the aid of any instructor.

The above are some of the "foot-note records" of last week. This sort of thing is becoming quite common; and I hardly need add that to myself it is positively refreshing. Every year in the history of the Exercise—during the last decade at any rate—has had some peculiar characteristic. One year has been noted for the extraordinary extension of our County and Diocesan Associations. Another has eclipsed previous records in the number of peals; another in variety of methods rung; another in "long lengths;" but this year seems to have been peculiarly one of the "colts;" and to my mind its record will bear comparison with any of its predecessors. We may ring our "longest length," and live to supersede it by another still longer. We may take part in the first peal on some particular ring, and afterwards be privileged to do the same on another. But a man's first peal is an event which of course can never be repeated; thus as a ringer it is an era in his lifetime, and one which marks definitely his entrance into the ranks of our peal-ringers. It is an event, also, which we are accustomed to look back to with pride and make special note of in our chronology. Therefore it well deserves "special mention."

While musing upon this matter, I have thought over a scheme which I believe will be at least interesting, and with our Editor's kind permission will propound it. I propose (if my friends will supply me with the necessary particulars so far as themselves are concerned), early next year to compile three lists—first of "first peals;" second of "first peals as conductor;" and third of "first peals on the bells, rung during this year." This, I think, will be, to say the least of it, a most interesting accompaniment to friend Attree's analysis for the year, and besides be not only a permanent record of these events of Anno Domini 1891, but be also useful for reference in future years.

Presuming that our Editor is favourably disposed, and that I am therefore to carry out this little scheme: I will ask my friends to assist me in the following direction. For the first list, let me have by the end of this month, or within the first week of January next, these details: date of peal; name of ringer; where peal rung: what length, and in what method. For the second, the same particulars, with the exception of conductor in the place of ringer. For the third, date of peal; name of church and town; method rung; and number of changes. The particulars for each might easily be written on a post card; and it will be a convenience if correspondents will mark on the corner which list the communication refers to—"No. 1," "No. 2," or "No. 3."

I leave this suggestion with my friends, for their consideration. If they think it worth carrying out, and give me the necessary assistance, I will endeavour to make the three lists as complete as possible. And also, I would add, let all communications for this purpose be addressed "Free Lance, c/o Editor 'THE BELL NEWS' Office, Walthamstow, London."

A certain lady who takes particular interest in both "THE BELL NEWS" and my comments therein, suggests that while on this point, I should add a fourth list—one giving the number of times brother ringers have "come to grief" in their attempts for peals. But I am afraid she little knows to what extent in the way of space the adoption of this suggestion would lead. Not long ago, I heard of a band of ringers which met thirteen times in weekly succession, many of the members thereof walking long distances each time, before they brought their peal round. Another band that I know of were between three and four years, and meeting frequently too, during that period, before they were successful. One time they met a man short; another a rope broke; another time one of the bells began to run so badly that "stand" had to be called in the middle of some good striking, and when all seemed to bid fair for success. These are only too common experiences, and thus I am afraid it would entail a very much greater enlargement of "THE BELL NEWS" to record all these unfortunate contretemps than what even our usually sanguine Editor ever contemplated.

I have no desire to be invidious, but while on this subject of peal-ringing cannot refrain from expressing my pleasure at learning two circumstances, namely that John T. Kentish, a Hatfield lad, has at the early age of thirteen years rung his first peal—and with a working bell, two! and that the persevering band at Crewe have at length crowned their efforts with Holt's ten-part peal of Grandsire Triples. To all these debutanti I offer my cordial congratulations and my warmest wishes for their future progress.

I would also, before I draw to a close this week, have a word anent the latest addition to our "gallery," and it as with special pleasure that I do so in this case, for Mr. Newell's experiences in ringing have been so much in line with my own, that I read with a considerable amount of interest the biographical sketch of Saturday last. Friend Newell has evidently been gifted with the phrenological bumps of perseverance and pugnaciousness in no small degree; thus his frequent rebuffs have but acted as so many additional incentives to prosecute the good work in which was engaged, and to which he has devoted so many valuable years of his life. Like myself, however, he has lived to see good fruits of his labours; and those who once strove to frustrate his efforts come round and become active helpers. And now that he has—more fortunate than myself—been rewarded in some degree by the addition of his portrait among our "celebrities" I do hope he will long enjoy the satisfaction of knowing that his efforts for the good of our cause are neither unacknowledged nor unappreciated. Many a man possessing zeal and ability has broken down before obstacles much less than what friend Newell has had to encounter, because they had not that indomitable spirit which has so strongly characterised Mr. Newell. It is not too much to hope, that the record of his life's work so far may infuse into some now labouring under difficulties and depressing influences, much encouragement to persevere, with the confident anticipation of ultimate success.

The Bell News & Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 12, 1891.

THE heavy lists of peals, accounts of which have been published in recent issues of this paper, exemplify generally that change-ringers are making themselves week by week more efficient in the practice of their art. Though it may be held, and with truth, that the mere ringing of peals ought not to be regarded as the highest or principal aim of a ringer, it will not be denied that their performance prove that those who achieve them show the possession of skill, cleverness, and pluck. This is especially the case when an intricate method is selected. And it is refreshing to find, that though the simpler methods have yet the most patronage, they have not the entire monopoly. Very rarely do we see in the present day a long list of peals which only comprise what were formerly known as the standard methods, i.e. those having a plain hunt for the treble. We begin to feel disappointed if amongst the records there are not about half-a-dozen peals of Stedman, and one or two of Double Norwich; while if two or three numbers appear without a peal of Surprise of some sort or other, a spirit of enquiry is aroused as to what this or that company is thinking of. This attitude is we say, refreshing; it shows that ringers are not afraid to face the difficult parts of the science, and by unflinching perseverance overcome them. Let us continue to make the most of such performances. By the plan of publication adopted in "THE BELL NEWS" it is made plain that we have from the first endeavoured to give them as honorable a record as possible. It is to be hoped that those who take part in them will recognise their worth, and the credit they attach to their position as ringers. They should not be satisfied, like many ringers were in the past, with the mere execution of the peal, but take fond and enthusiastic pride in seeing that their prowess has been recorded, and in knowing, by ocular demonstration, that the successful outcome of their struggles has been brought to the notice of their ringing brethren all over the world.

Not only in ringing, but in the higher art of conducting do we see that progress is being made. Time was, and not so long ago either, that those who could conduct a peal of Stedman Triples without ringing either of the observation-bells, were very few in number. But this is now altered, and ringing such bells in this beautiful method when calling seems to be the exception. We publish a peal this week—the composition of the late JOSEPH TEBBS—which certainly reflects great credit on the caller, and—it would be unworthy to disguise the fact—establishes him as a man of great ability. The band who performed this peal deserves also a meed of praise, if only by reason of the many peculiar singles the peal contains. The advances in the art which we have alluded to, point to the fact with greater force than ever, that our science is before anything under the sun when recreative pursuits are under discussion.

EPSOM (Surrey).—On Monday, November 9th, at the parish church, in honour of the fiftieth birthday of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, 50 treble leads of Union Triples. G. Kelly, 1; W. Sanders, 2; A. E. Bassett, 3; G. Pederick, 4; J. Easton, 5; T. Miles (conductor), 6; J. Hawkins, 7; A. Gower, 8.

KETTERING (Northants).—On Saturday, November 28th, for practice at the parish church, 336 Grandsire Triples, and other short touches. G. Toseland, 1; A. Thurgood, 2; T. Hensher, 3; J. Meal, 4; E. Underwood, 5; B. Panther, 6; G. Lewis, 7; J. Spence, 8. This is the longest touch of Triples by the local band for many years.

MIDDLESBROUGH.—On Friday, November 27th, at St. Hilda's church, 1008 Grandsire Triples. M. Bradley, J. H. Blakiston (conductor), J. H. Jones, R. Borrowes, J. J. Nicholson, A. Mellaaby, J. E. Edwardson, S. Walker. Rung on the thirtieth birthday of the conductor, the ringers wishing him many happy returns.

OLDHAM (Lancashire).—On Sunday evening, November 29th, for Divine Service at the parish church, 1050 Grandsire Triples in 36 mins. J. Butterworth, 1; S. Elson, 2; J. Gratrix, 3; A. Crossley, 4; J. Davies, 5; S. Stott (conductor), 6; W. Ingham, 7; J. Wood, 8. Gratrix hails from Manchester; the rest are local men. Tenor 12½ cwt.

TWELVE CAROLS FOR HANDBELL RINGERS.—By W. Haley.—(London: John Warner and Sons).—This is a small book of popular Carol tunes set to a figured score for handbell ringers. The author is W. Haley, whose compilation of "The Bell Hymn-Book" has received such universal commendation. The price at which these twelve Carols are published brings them within the reach of every one; and handbell ringers, and in fact all who are fond of those harmonies which abound at the season of Christmas may do many things worse than invest a shilling in the purchase of this book. The printing is clear and the plan adopted for tune players cannot be misunderstood.

 And Doctor of Dental Surgery, U.S.A.,
 57, Great Russell Street,
 BLOOMSBURY, LONDON.
 Consultation Daily to 5.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has demonstrated that Painless Dentistry is as much an accomplished fact as the swift locomotive, the telephone, or the phonograph.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, absolutely restores the natural contour, caused by the loss of teeth, rendering detection impossible, by the Prize Medal dentals, which have obtained the highest possible awards, viz.: London, 1851; New York, 1853; London, 1862; Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; and Philadelphia, 1876.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has received from S. G. Hutchins, Esq., Surgeon Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen, a testimonial, which places beyond all doubt the vast superiority of his system.
 "My Dear Doctor,—Allow me to press my sincere thanks for the skill and attention displayed in the construction of my Artificial Teeth, which render my mastication and articulation excellent. I am glad to bear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. In recognition of your valuable services, you are at liberty to use my name.—S. G. HUTCHINGS, By Appointment Surgeon Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen."
 Geo. H. Jones, Esq., D.D.S.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has obtained the highest possible awards at the great International Exhibitions for his Improvements in Dentistry, which are protected by Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent, and for Painless and Perfect adjustment of Prize Medal Teeth, viz.: gold medals, London and Paris; gold medal, New Zealand Exhibition, 1882; gold medal, Calcutta, 1883; and the highest diploma of merit and award at Nice and Amsterdam, 1883-4. Awarded the gold medal of the Académie Nationale, Paris, 1884; and the highest award Antwerp; also the gold medal, International Exhibition, London, 1885; gold medal, Liverpool, 1886; gold medal, Melbourne, 1888-9.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, and Doctor of Dental Surgery, U.S.A., consulted daily from 10 to 5, or at any special hour by appointment, and upon a personal visit, every information respecting fees and treatment, without charge, at his only address—

MR. FRANCIS LEES, OF NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE.

(Vide Portrait.)

Although the subject of this article will not be so well known as some of those gentlemen who have already appeared in our Portrait Gallery, yet the amount of energy and time he has devoted to the good work of belfry reform in the two Northern Dioceses entitles him to a place of eminence in the ringing world.

Mr. LEES was born of Quaker parents at Holmfirth, in Yorkshire, in 1839, and is therefore in his 53rd year. Early in life his parents moved to the old town of Glossop, among the Derbyshire hills—a great centre of peal-ringing, as is universally known. No wonder, then, that his earliest steps in life were made in ascending the belfry stairs of Old Glossop Church, where he came in contact with those masters of a by-gone day, James Platt, of Saddleworth, and William Harrison of Mottram; and many a time has he delighted young aspirants to ringing fame in the North with his quaint reminiscences of those worthies. Under the guidance of the veteran, John Lawton, he soon became proficient, and rang his first peal, one of Treble Bob Major, in 1858, taking the 7th bell. That he was most enthusiastic in his new-found art will be understood when we mention that he was wont to walk over to his birthplace, Holmfirth, a distance of 14 miles, every Sunday, to practice method-ringing on six bells, and would return home by road the same evening.

He soon followed up his first peal by taking the 5th in eight Treble Bob 720s of Minor, 5760 changes, at Old Glossop. In 1860 he organised a company of handbell ringers in Glossop, and was their conductor for some time. The cotton panic of 1862 however interfered with his residence in that district, for it was a case of either "leave or starve," and as the former alternative was the more preferable, he and his fellow handbell ringers started on a tour in the Northern Counties, and succeeded in making a living during those distressed times. During this prolonged ramble they rang in over 200 churches, mostly six-bell towers, and it is really a great treat to have a "crack" with Mr. LEES on this topic, their adventures and misadventures being sufficient to fill a good-sized story-book, and most amusing withal.

When they reached Newcastle-on-Tyne, he obtained a situation through the influence of a friend in the despatch department of the Newcastle Chronicle offices in the summer of 1863, and has been there ever since, over twenty-eight years altogether. He married in 1868, and until 1876 did very little ringing, "Churchyard Bob" reigning supreme in the northern metropolis at that time, a state of things which had existed ever since the death of Mr. George Dodsworth, who had in his time a really clever set of ringers, but with his decease, peal-ringing also died out. In the last-mentioned year Mr. LEES joined the "Ancient Society of Newcastle and Gateshead Youths," and formed a company of handbell ringers from amongst its members, and under his conductorship it has flourished ever since. This year also saw the accomplishment of a peal of Grandsire Triples at North Shields, the first for very many years by Newcastle ringers.

During the following year an association was formed for the Diocese of Durham (afterwards the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association), of which Mr. LEES was one of the pioneers, and he has been one of its Vice-Presidents and principal supporters ever since. He is also a member of the United Counties' Association.

In 1879, the St. John's Guild of Ringers was formed in Newcastle with the intention of reforming the belfry at that church. The bells and ringing-chamber, ropes, etc., were in a very bad state. A promising company of amateurs had been got together and placed under Mr. LEES' tuition, and he in his usual energetic style threw his whole heart into the work, and soon St. John's had as nicely an appointed tower and as good a six-bell band as any in the north.

Mr. LEES' mechanical ability is well known to be far above the average, but it was put to a severe test in 1884 when he volunteered to re-hang the old six and re-arrange the frame to find room for two new bells to complete the octave. This he did with what little assistance the other members of the Guild could give, and it was done in a manner that gave satisfaction to everyone. No one will ever know but himself the number of days and weeks he has spent among these bells, re-hanging one, new gudgeons on another, tucking up the heavier bells, etc.; but he has now the proud satisfaction of knowing that a better going peal of eight bells does not exist. An immense amount of ringing has been done on these bells since 1884, Mr. LEES himself conducting the eighteenth peal on them a short while ago, and they "go" better now than they ever did.

In 1887 he was presented with an illuminated address and a purse of gold from his fellow-ringers and friends, setting forth the noble traits in his character, and the high esteem in which he is held by all. In 1889 Mr. LEES was appointed instructor of St. George's Newcastle Guild of Ringers. This was shortly after the new peal of eight was placed in the tower, and the young ringers have made considerable progress under his tuition.

Mr. LEES still pays an occasional visit to his native district, and on these visits takes the opportunity of adding to his list of peals. This latter is by no means a formidable one, numbering about 22 in all, but as he has kept no actual record of them, the following is as near a synopsis as can be ascertained:—

	Conducted.
Kent Treble Bob Major	12
Oxford " " (6144)	1
Woodbine " "	1
Bob Major	3
Grandsire Triples	2
Bob Triples	2
Eight Minor Methods	1

Mr. LEES is equally at home on a light or heavy bell, and for good striking he has few equals, and woe betide the stranger who handles a rope and causes bad striking in his belfry, for he has to bear the brunt of Mr. LEES' criticism. As a man and a ringer the subject of this biographical sketch is a gentleman in the true sense of the word; most upright and just in his dealings with other men, generous to a fault, kind and gentle with a struggling learner; and fortunate is he who counts Mr. LEES amongst his friends, for he is both a staunch and a true one.

The photograph is taken from one by Mr. James Bacon, of Newcastle-on-Tyne, and is a life-like reproduction of his features.

THE SOCIETY OF COPLEY SCHOLARS.

The first social of this society for the winter season was held in the Foresters' District Rooms, Sunbridge-road, Bradford, on Wednesday evening, December 9th, when, as usual, there was a very large attendance. Mr. B. T. Copley presided; Mr. G. Titterton officiating as vice-chairman. Songs, recitations, and handbell performances were given, between which dancing was indulged in under the direction of Mr. James Mawson as M.C., and to the accompaniments on the piano of Messrs. James Angus and Albert Bakes. After a very pleasant evening, votes of thanks to the performers, and to the Chairman and Vice-chairman were carried with applause, the singing of the National Anthem bringing the proceedings to a close.

RE-OPENING OF GREAT HORKESLEY CHURCH BELLS, ESSEX.

On Sunday last these five bells, tenor 16 cwt., were opened, after being silent several months. They have not been rang since Jubilee day, on account of their unsafe condition. The local carpenter has since that time tried his skill in putting things right, but at the end of his labour the bells were not even raisable. The next step was to call in the well-known firm of Messrs. Henry Bowell and Son, Church Bellhangers, of Ipswich, who has entirely rehung the bells, with new headstocks, metal bed-plates, turned steel gudgeons, improved metal carriages, gun-metal bearings, grease boxes and hinge caps, wheels, stays, slides, etc. The treble, which has been hanging in an unsafe, rickety frame above the other four, has been taken down and hung on a level with the other bells. On Sunday morning, amidst all the rain and wind, Mr. W. J. Nevard, of Great Bentley, and four of his young band came some fourteen miles to open the bells. They were started with some 1000 changes of Grandsire and Plain Doubles, and the joy of the villagers in hearing once more there old melodious peal, may well be imagined. H. Bowell, 1; W. Hazell, 2; H. Bowers, 3; A. Bowell, 4; W. J. Nevard, conductor, 5. After Morning Service some 6-scores of Stedman Doubles and Nightingale were rung. At the conclusion the ringers and bell-hangers were invited by the Rector (Rev. John Storr) to the rectory, where an excellent hot dinner was awaiting them. After all were well refreshed they once more repaired to the church and rang several more 6-scores of Stedman Doubles. During afternoon service a strong wind arose and two very large trees in the park, in which the church and rectory is pleasantly situated, were torn from the ground. After service more ringing was done, making some 3000 changes on the newly hung bells. During the day the ringers were again invited to the rectory to partake of tea; after which a converse with the rev. gentleman, about ringing matters, etc., was had, and some courses of Grandsire Triples and Bob Major (to the delight of Mrs. Storr) were rung on the handbells. The evening being far advanced the Great Bentley ringers took leave of the Rector, thanking him for his kindness, and started for home, everyone being highly pleased with the splendid go of the bells, which reflects great credit on Messrs. Bowell and Son, who it is hoped will, before twelve months, be engaged in hanging a sixth bell.

THE CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

The bells at Audlem parish church, Cheshire, have been rehung and quarter-turned with new head stocks, wheels, etc., by Messrs. Taylor, of Loughborough. On the very kind invitation of the Vicar, Canon Atkinson, the Crewe society joined the Audlem men in the re-opening on Saturday, the 5th instant. They were rung muffled first, as a mark of esteem to the late Lord Combermere, and after the muffles were removed change-ringing was attempted, but much could not be done as some of the bells were not all that could be desired, but the bellhanger being present he quickly made the alteration required, but when this was done it was time for tea, when the visitors and friends did ample justice to an excellent repast provided by the Vicar at "The Lamb" inn. After tea the Crewe ringers rang a few tunes on the handbells, when the tower bells were again started, and several touches of Grandsire Minor and Doubles were rung by mixed bands. The ringers expressed themselves satisfied with the go of the bells. It is to be hoped that now they are in good going order Audlem will soon have a skilled company of change-ringers.

PRESENTATION AT PORTSEA.

On Friday, November 20th, at St. Mary's church, Portsea, Hants, Mr. J. W. Whiting, the instructor of the St. Mary's band, was presented with a silver-mounted pipe, subscribed for by the members of the band. The Rev. R. C. M. Harvey, who made the presentation, in asking Mr. Whiting's acceptance of it, said how much the band was indebted to Mr. Whiting for the pains he had taken in instructing them, and trusted that they might yet spend many more pleasant hours in that tower under his tuition.

Mr. Whiting thanked the members in a few brief remarks.

PRESENTATION TO THE LORD BISHOP OF BEVERLEY.

A large and influential meeting of clergy and laity was held on Friday in the State Room of the Mansion House, York, for the purpose of testifying their appreciation of the services rendered to the diocese by the Bishop of Beverley during the past twelve months—a period in which two Archbishops were removed by death, and the Suffragan-Bishop was called upon during two interregnums to discharge the Episcopal duties. The Lord Mayor of York presided. The presentation took the form of full robes of a Doctor of Divinity of Cambridge, handsome silver candelabra, and an illuminated copy of resolutions passed at a public meeting held in York on the 28th October, which were bound in dark morocco. The illumination of the two inner pages is executed in mediæval style, and on the border are the Episcopal arms of Beverley, the arms of Dr. Crosthwaite, the arms of the see of York, the arms of York Minster, the seal of the Archdeaconry, and the arms of Trinity College.

The Earl of Feversham read a letter from Dr. Butler, Master of Trinity College, Cambridge, informing him that the Council of the Senate had conferred the degree of Doctor of Divinity upon the Bishop of Beverley. He then proceeded to make the presentation, and said that the subscribers wished to evince how much they appreciated the ability, activity, and zeal with which the Bishop of Beverley had performed all the high functions which fell to his lot.

The Dean of York said it gave him great pleasure to take part in that presentation, because apart from all personal feelings, he felt that, as representing the Dean and Chapter, they really owed a very great debt of obligation to the Bishop of Beverley for the admirable way in which he had discharged the duties during the past year.

The Bishop of Beverley, in acknowledging the testimonial, spoke of the kindness shown to him by both clergy and laity throughout the diocese during the last twelve months, and said he would ever look back to that chapter of his life with the greatest satisfaction. Although the confirmation centres had been reduced from seventy-six to sixty during the year the number of confirmations was larger, which showed that the clergy did not allow the reduction of centres to interfere with their promoting the work of the diocese. He expressed his gratitude to the late Archbishop Thomson, who, he said, taught him to work, and he felt bound to say he owed much to the influence of his example and to his great abilities, which were ever before him.

EAST HADDON, NEAR NORTHAMPTON.

On Wednesday, November 18th, the vicar of this parish (the Rev. J. H. Du Boulay), invited the ringers of East Haddon and Great Brington to supper. When the latter company arrived they made their way to the tower, and with the assistance of H. J. Cadman, of East Haddon, rang Grandsire, Gog Magog, and Antelope. Afterwards they adjourned to the vicarage, and enjoyed a very good supper, and they tender their thanks to the rev. gentleman for his kind hospitality. After supper the handbells were brought into use, and a great many tunes and changes were rung. The vicar of Great Brington is learning to ring, and it is to be hoped he will succeed in the Art. A good hearty chat about ringing matters brought the enjoyable proceedings to a close.

OUR NEXT NUMBER.—We shall publish much earlier next week in consequence of Christmas, and therefore all matter intended for insertion must reach us not later than Tuesday morning next. It has been decided to forego the usual supplement this year, but we shall issue a Portrait of Mr. HENRY DAINS, of London, which will be accompanied by the customary memoir. The price of publication will be the same as is usual with portrait numbers.

HANDSWORTH (Staffordshire).—On Sunday, December 6th, for Divine Service at the parish church, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples, 1260 changes, in 44 mins. F. Workman, 1; C. Daniel, 2; T. Verry, 3; G. W. Baldwin, 4; W. H. Godden, 5; T. Westwood (conductor), 6; W. Verry, 7; B. Starkey, 8. Composed by the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS."

ST. SAVIOUR'S, SOUTHWARK, LONDON.

Some time ago an appeal on behalf of the restoration fund of this church was made in this paper in the following terms:—

"THE RESTORATION FUND AND THE ANCIENT SOCIETY OF COLLEGE YOUTHS.—As is well known, this grand old fabric is now undergoing a most complete restoration, and to such an extent that it will be amply fitted for a cathedral for the proposed new diocese of South London. Most of our readers are aware that this church, with its famed peal of twelve bells, has for many years been the headquarters of the Ancient Society of College Youths, and therefore it will not appear remarkable that the members of that Society take a more than deep interest in this work of restoration. The funds required to carry out what is intended are not yet complete, and the members of the above-named body have therefore thought that this scheme of restoration is one towards which they, as a Society, could most appropriately contribute; and a well-timed suggestion has been made that College Youths of every degree, and resident in all parts of the globe, should be invited to help in such a laudable object. The trustees of the Society will therefore be glad to receive from any College Youth donations, however small, for this purpose, which will be acknowledged by them in this paper. The amount raised in this manner will be the "Society of College Youths' Subscription" to the undertaking, and it is confidently hoped that every member of the Society, wherever he may be situated, will respond to this very commendable suggestion, and thus show to the authorities of St. Saviour's, and Churchmen generally, that they are not altogether supine in matters which affect the well-being of the grand old Church of England. The Trustees of the Society are Mr. George Mash, 30, Newcomen Street, Southwark, S.E., and Mr. George Dorrington, 18, Church Row, Bethnal Green, E. As we have just stated, these gentlemen will be happy to receive all sums sent to them for the above purpose."

The following are the subscriptions up to the present date, and it is hoped more subscriptions will be forthcoming before the end of January next, as the list will then be closed:—

To the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS AND RINGERS' RECORD."

SIR,—I notice in your issue of last week, the Rev. H. R. Haweis is very much to the front on the subject of bells generally. As a change-ringer (of humble calibre) I much regret that such a lover of bells should be opposed to the Exercise, but after his advice to Deans and Chapters, to have their belfries swept and cleansed, who shall say he is our enemy? I fear that many steeplekeepers are much to blame in this matter, and one often wishes more of them were alive to the virtue of cleanliness. I sometimes attend the services at Mr. Haweis' church, the breadth and catholicity of his views, and the beauty of the service generally are exceedingly attractive, but I have often marvelled that so musical a gentlemen could tolerate the bell which heralds the services at St. James; to me it is extremely harsh and discordant, and I am always relieved when it ceases and the Rev. incumbent begins, then we have music indeed; I can only suppose that the bell is chosen for its unmusical qualities in accordance with the law of contrasts.

Obituary.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. Thomas Salter, of Bristol, who had been a ringer in that city for upwards of 50 years, and who died on the 11th inst. at the age of 72. We shall refer next week to the deceased.

AN APPEAL.

We are asked to insert the following:—

DEAR BROTHER RINGERS,—It is with deep regret I announce to you, through our "BELL NEWS," by the kind permission of our Editor, the fatal accident which befell our peal of bells at St. Michael's, Workington, nearly a year ago. Since that time our merry peal of six has not rung out their melodious tone. Not even dare we disturb one bell, owing to their bad condition. 'Tis true the tenor tolls out its mournful sound on Sundays, as if for a funeral, more than calling the people unto worship. A committee has been formed and the town canvassed for subscriptions to rehang the present six and add two others to complete the octave. I can assure you we ringers were delighted with the thought of having a peal of eight, which most of us had been accustomed to, but now we hang down our heads, for we are doomed to disappointment, and I am sorry to say, that after all our labours, the subscriptions we gathered was only about £100—of that we ringers contributed £15—for which, of course, we were very pleased, much more so if we had got the required sum, which is £350, and it has taken us nearly twelve months to procure the £100. Owing to the 2nd bell falling and breaking its wheel, bearings and fittings, we have been at a standstill ever since. The iron and steel trades of Workington are in a very bad way, and at present hundreds of families are depending upon soup kitchens, free breakfasts, etc. The town is in such a bad state, and this church has been so unfortunate, having been burnt down and lying in ruins for over three years, that the ringers are in despair about raising the money for the increased peal. They, therefore, make an appeal to their brother-strings, and their friends for help towards the funds. Donations may be sent to Rev. T. Hackworth, Rev. J. Hodgson (Workington), or A. Newman, secretary to the ringers.

ALGERNON NEWMAN.

P.S.—Of our ringers Messrs. J. and F. Hyde has rung at Dinting, Derbyshire; G. Higson at Hindley, Lancashire; R. Fox, Anston, Yorkshire; T. Platts, Dronfield, Derbyshire; F. Sumner, Ancaster, Lincolnshire; and myself at Chipping Campden, Gloucestershire.

AN OLD RECORD.—"On Monday last, the new peal of eight Bells, cast by Mr. Edward Arnold, of St. Neots, in Huntingdonshire, for the Parish Church of St. Giles in this town (the tenor whereof is in D sharp, weighing 25 hundred), was opened by the Society of Change-ringers from Leicester, when a variety of peals were rung in the hearing of a great number of persons who assembled on the occasion, who expressed the greatest satisfaction at the pleasing and harmonious tone of them: After which, a respectable meeting of the inhabitants of the town, with the Society, dined at the Saracen's Head Inn, where the day was spent in the greatest harmony and good humour. And on Tuesday morning the above-mentioned Society went through Mr. Holt's complete peal of 5040 Grandsire Triples in 3 hours and 22 minutes, which was allowed by the judges to be a most excellent performance; at the conclusion whereof the Society walked in procession from the Church (preceded by a Band of music) to the above Inn, amidst the plaudits of a great number of spectators, well pleased with such a melodious entertainment. The Bells are hung upon a new construction, and do the greatest credit to Mr. Arnold as an artist in his profession."—Northampton Mercury, April 14, 1783.

CLAPTON PARK (Middlesex).—On Wednesday, November 18th, 720 Bob Minor, being the first in the method on the bells. J. Davidson, 1; W. D. Smith, 2; W. Burkin (conductor), 3; H. Stubbs, 4; J. Barry, 5; P. Howard, 6.

STEYNING (Sussex).—On Sunday, November 29th, for Divine Service at the parish church, 640 Kent Treble Bob Major. G. Gatland, 1; J. Smart, 2; J. Matthews, 3; W. B. Hills, 4; C. Smart, 5; J. Searle, 6; T. Searle, 7; C. Tyler (conductor), 8. Also 504 Stedman Triples. J. Matthews, 1; J. Woolgar, 2; T. Searle, 3; G. Gatland, 4; J. Smart, 5; C. Chambers, 6; C. Smart (conductor), 7; C. Tyler, 8. And 504 in the same method. T. Searle, 1; J. Smart, 2; J. Matthews, 3; J. Woolgar, 4; C. Chambers, 5; C. Smart, 6; J. Searle (conductor), 7; C. Tyler, 8. J. Searle hails from Brighton.

THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION BRANCH AT WIGAN.

Anyone paying a visit to the belfry of the Wigan parish church would be sure to notice a number of signs on one of the walls, and if he asked the meaning of them he would be told with an air of pardonable pride that they were records of the achievements of the ringers in the important art of change ringing. There is a laudable striving for perfection, even in the bell-ringing line, and it is well to place on record that something has not only been attempted but actually done. These signs, to which we have referred, are called tablets, and the first was put up on November 16, 1879, to signalise the fact that the first peal of Grandsire Triples was rung by the whole band of the Wigan ringers. The second was put up in November, 1887, to celebrate the ringing of a similar peal, and the third was erected to show posterity that a half-a-peal of Reeves' variation had been rung. To the number of tablets three more have been added recently, one of which sets forth that on March 21, 1891, after the confirmation by the Bishop of Liverpool the ringers of the church rang Holt's ten-part peal of Grandsire Triples, consisting of 5040 changes, in three hours and five minutes. Another records the important fact that on May 30, 1891, the first peal of Major in any method was rung on the Wigan parish church bells. On that day a number of members of the Liverpool branch of the Lancashire Association of change-ringers rang a true peal of 5088 changes of Kent Treble Bob Major in three hours and thirty-five minutes, the ringers being—Treble, R. Hill; 2nd, W. James; 3rd, W. Woodhead; 4th C. Williams; 5th, H. Coley; 6th, T. Hammond; 7th, W. Davies; tenor, R. Williams, who conducted. Weight of tenor 28 cwt. The third of the new tablets proclaims the fact that on October 15, 1891, the ringers of the parish church rang Holt's ten-part peal of Grandsire Triples, consisting of 5040 changes, in three hours and nine-half minutes. The ringers stood as follows:—Treble, G. R. Walker; 2nd, S. C. C. Turner; 3rd, J. E. Gummerson (first peal as conductor); 4th, G. Turner; 5th, J. F. Hall; 6th, S. Hall; 7th, R. Fisher and J. Barker; 8th, A. Shaw and J. Meadow. Weight of tenor 28 cwt. in key of C. Witnessed by T. Halliwell, tutor; Rev. the Hon. G. T. O. Bridgeman, rector; Colonel flarington and John Browne, churchwardens. The three tablets we have described were unveiled on Saturday, December 5, 1891, by the Rector, who at the close of the afternoon service ascended the belfry and performed this interesting task. He was accompanied by the Rev. H. F. Lloyd. Mr. Thomas Halliwell, addressing the Rector, explained what it was the ringers wished him to do, and said that change-ringing was much needed in Wigan. Fifteen or sixteen years ago they knew nothing of change-ringing in Wigan, but he was glad to say they had made some progress. The Rector then unveiled the tablets, after which the company sang the doxology. He said he was very glad to witness the record of the progress they had made. He supposed that bell-ringing was about the oldest music we had in England, and he hoped that for many years that tower would witness the bells rung in the same spirit as they were now. He thought he might assert that there had not been a more steady, honest, and loyal set of ringers at that church than there were at present. A vote of thanks was passed to the Rector for his services. The Rector, on behalf of one of the oldest members, presented a book to Mr. Halliwell in which to record the progress made by the ringers. In reply, Mr. Halliwell said that anything performed should be entered in the book. As he had said they were making progress, as now they had four methods in hand. Afterwards the monthly meeting of the Liverpool Branch of the Lancashire Association of change-ringers was held. The Rector, who presided, was made a life member of the association and three performing members were elected. It was decided to hold the next meeting at St. Luke's, Liverpool, on the first Saturday in January. A vote of thanks was passed to the Rector for the use of the bells, and this closed the proceedings.—Local paper.

THE SWEET BELLS OF GOTHAM.

(From The New York World.)

New York has many magnificent sets of church bells, both in peals and in chimes. The latest addition, soon to be realized, will represent the largest swinging bell in the city, perhaps in the United States. Within a few days the Trinity corporation has filed an order for a peal of bells for the new St. Agnes's Chapel in Ninety-second Street, near Columbus Avenue. The set will consist of four bells, the largest of which, in B flat, will weigh about 10,000 pounds; the second in E flat, will weigh 4,500 pounds; the third will weigh 2,300 pounds. The last bell is a G. The St. Agnes bells will constitute a peal. There is no limit to the number of bells necessary to make a peal. In New York a peal is generally said to be three bells, attuned to the first, third and fifth tones of the musical scale. If a fourth bell is used the eighth musical tone is added. These bells are usually provided with full mountings, and are sounded by swinging, after the manner of church bells. On the other hand, a chime is generally said to consist of eight bells, attuned to the eight notes of the octave, or diatonic scale. In nearly every case a bell attuned to a flat seventh tone is added, inasmuch as the chime is thus rendered capable of producing music in two keys. "The St. Agnes peal," said the gentleman who placed the order, "will be rung by the lever system, as in St. Patrick's Cathedral. The largest bell will be mounted on a wheel. This wheel will have a diameter of fourteen feet. When the subject of suitable bells for this chapel was first broached there was much opposition on the part of some of the people on the east side. I believe they actually formed an anti-bell society. You see, they had in times past been annoyed almost beyond endurance by the ringing of harsh bells, and they did not propose to have more of it. Well, I do not understand that anything more in the way of opposition will be heard of over there. Certain it is that there need be no complaint on account of the St. Agnes bells. These will be without doubt among the sweetest-toned bells in the whole city. The tendency in modern church bells, as I understand it, is to get a clear, musical note without undue loudness. Now, a bell the size of the largest of the three that is ordered for St. Agnes's Chapel could, without difficulty, be made to carry sound at least sixteen miles. Many of the bells of New York are constructed on this principle. But, as I say, the tendency of to-day is for clearness and richness of tone rather than fullness or mere volume of sound."

The magnificent chime of bells which has been ordered for St. Patrick's Cathedral is now rapidly approaching completion at the bell foundry in Troy. This great chime, aggregating in weight something like thirty-two thousand pounds, and cast at a cost of 16,000 dollars, has lately been visited by many musicians from different parts of the country. One expert committee, representing J. Pierpont Morgan, the banker, charmed at the beautiful tones of one of the St. Patrick's bells at the initial trials, ordered a duplicate of the bell for Mr. Morgan's memorial gift to a Connecticut church. The St. Patrick's chime will be mounted in a bell chamber 160 feet above the earth. However, in the opinion of experts, it is not necessary to have the bells at any greater elevation than that which will insure the bells when mounted being a trifle above the level of the tops of the surrounding houses. The room will be arranged to permit the free egress of the sound. It will be tightly sealed directly above the tops of the windows, which latter will be open wide, extending almost to the floor, in order that the bells when at rest may have their rims above the level of the base. The floor beneath the bells will be tightly closed. The bells will be mounted in wooden standards and will be rung from a set of pedals below. Each pedal will be connected with its proper bell by means of steel cables.

The Bell News & Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 19, 1891.

THIS week we again publish the appeal made by the Ancient Society of College Youths towards the restoration fund of the church of St. Saviour, Southwark. As many of our readers must be aware, this church is now designed for the usages of a cathedral, and the work of restoration now in hand is not merely to meet such a purpose—because very little alteration would have been necessary for that—but to place the fabric in a sound and substantial condition, sufficient to withstand for very many years the process of decay which everything sublunary has to encounter. As is well known the head-quarters of the above-named Society are at the church in question, and therefore the propriety of the step of assisting the restoration fund by subscriptions among its members will be at once apparent. The idea is in fact one to be greatly commended, and most worthy of imitation. "The College Youths Fund," should it prove such a success as it ought, will be a fruitful topic for the members to converse upon in years to come, and succeeding generations of Colls. will in such case be able to point with honest pride to the fact that when the noble edifice underwent a substantial restoration the old members, many of whose names can be seen in the peal-book, came to the front, and aided by their modest contributions the progress of the work. We are apt to admire the spirit which in past days found expression in augmenting peals of ten to twelve by the College Youths and Royal Cumberlands, and such efforts are eminently worthy of all the admiration we can give them. We are of opinion that the movement now alluded to will among forthcoming generations be as highly thought of and valued.

Let us then be allowed our efforts of persuasion upon all ringers, but more especially College Youths all over the world, to assist this fund as far as they can. Donations however small will be thankfully received by the officers of the Society, and gratefully acknowledged in this paper. But we would remark in conclusion that there is no time to lose, as the fund closes next month. We are close upon the season when a deal of ringing is performed all over the country, much of which is paid for. Shall we be out of order in suggesting that were possible "the poundage"—or the odd shillings which it is so very frequently a difficult matter to divide of such emolument—may be utilised in the direction indicated? We hope not.

BLOOMSBURY, LONDON.
Consultation Daily 10 to 5.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has demonstrated that Painless Dentistry is as much an accomplished fact as the swift locomotive, the telephone, or the phonograph.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, absolutely restores the natural contour, caused by the loss of teeth, rendering detection impossible, by the Prize Medal dentals, which have obtained the highest possible awards, viz.: London, 1851; New York, 1853; London, 1862; Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; and Philadelphia, 1876.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has received from S. G. Hutchins, Esq., Surgeon Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen, a testimonial, which places beyond all doubt the vast superiority of his system.
"My Dear Doctor,—Allow me to press my sincere thanks for the skill and attention displayed in the construction of my Artificial Teeth, which render my mastication and articulation excellent. I am glad to bear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. In recognition of your valuable services, you are at liberty to use my name.—S. G. HUTCHINGS, By Appointment Surgeon Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen."
Geo. H. Jones, Esq., D.D.S.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has obtained the highest possible awards at the great International Exhibitions for his Improvements in Dentistry, which are protected by Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent, and for Painless and Perfect adjustment of Prize Medal Teeth, viz.: gold medals, London and Paris; gold medal, New Zealand Exhibition, 1882; gold medal, Calcutta, 1883; and the highest diploma of merit and award at Nice and Amsterdam, 1883-4. Awarded the gold medal of the Académie Nationale, Paris, 1884; and the highest award Antwerp; also the gold medal, International Exhibition, London, 1885; gold medal, Liverpool, 1886; gold medal, Melbourne, 1888-9.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, and Doctor of Dental Surgery, U.S.A., consulted daily from 10 to 5, or at any special hour by appointment, and upon a personal visit, every information respecting fees and treatment, without charge, at his only address—

MR. HENRY DAINS, C.C., OF LONDON.

Just after the introduction of our present style of portrait we, in reply to a correspondent's enquiries, promised to again portray those of our friends who had already appeared in this journal under the old style of portrait. A portion of this promise we now redeem, as the likeness of Mr. H. DAINS appeared in our issue of October 30th, 1886, with a memoir from which we occasionally cull.

During the last fifteen or sixteen years the name of H. DAINS has been continually before the public, notably as a composer of considerable ability. Treble Bob Major has yielded to his treatment as the plastic clay does to the skilful potter, and on many occasions proved that the saying "that nothing else was obtainable in Treble Bob Major" required at least some modification, peal after peal appearing from his pen on this method, and there is no gainsaying the fact that as a composer of the first order he takes his stand among the celebrated men the present century has produced. Nor has his attention been exclusively confined to the method above mentioned, as Double Norwich Court Bob Major and Superlative Major has yielded to his labours with characteristic results.

It will only be possible to briefly enumerate the productions of this prolific composer or analyse the properties his compositions contain, but we may avail ourselves of the present opportunity to say that in the many compositions he has submitted to the ringing Exercise it will be found that some of the best, or what is regarded as the best, musical compositions have been successfully sought. As an author his name appears many a time and oft in the works of the late Jasper W. Snowdon, and his compositions meet their due praise from that distinguished and competent critic.

Mr. H. DAINS joined the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths in the year 1873, and on September 13th of that year, at St. Peter's Church, Walworth, he rang his first peal, a 5040 Grandsire Triples. On April 27th, 1876, his first peal of Treble Bob Major was rang at St. Anne's, Highgate; it contained 8896 changes. May 9th saw his first peal on twelve bells in a peal of Stedman Cinques at St. Bride's.

He has only figured as a conductor upon three occasions, the first at St. Mary's, Lambeth, to one of his own compositions in the favourite method of Treble Bob Major.

As Master, and also of Secretary of the Society of Royal Cumberlands (which latter office he has just vacated, after many years' service) he has merited the compliments bestowed.

In the various testimonies to merit Mr. DAINS has taken considerable part. He was one of the chief promoters of the Testimonial and Jubilee Fund to the late J. Cox, and brought the movement to a successful issue, resulting in a private grave with noble head and foot stones being set to mark the last resting-place of the old veteran conductor; and, indeed, in all such movements he is a warm supporter.

Of Mr. DAINS there are a few items of interest worthy of note upon the present occasion. The 5024 appearing in this journal on April 4th, 1891, is described by the Norwich Association's report as the nearest approach to a peal of Treble Bob Major without the 2nd or 3rd being in 6th's place at a course-end hitherto attained. It was composed in the year 1887. And again during the last few months, notably the 5376 which appeared in "THE BELL NEWS" for October 24th, a peal having the 3rd, 4th, 5th, and 6th the extent in 5-6 without the 2nd being there, is a composition of the order up to date.

In Superlative, at or about the time of our friend appearing in these columns, he obtained and produced peals in this method in both one, two, and three parts, without either the 2nd or 3rd bells even being in 6th's place at a course-end, and his 5056 in two equal parts gained the praise of all competent critics.

In Double Norwich a style of originality obtains in his composition whenever the 6th bell is placed at twelve consecutive course ends in both 5th's and 6th's places, and recently a peal in 5008 changes, having the 4th and 6th bells exclusively in 6th place, appeared in this journal from his pen.

Mr. DAINS is a member of

The Royal Cumberland Society.
The St. James' and Waterloo Societies.
The Yorkshire Association.
The Norwich Diocesan Association.
The Midland Counties' Association.
The Sussex County Association.
The Winchester Guild.
The St. Paul's Society, Burton-on-Trent.

About 130 peals have been rung by him, which includes

Two peals of Grandsire Cinques,
Twelve peals of Stedman Cinques,
Three peals of Treble Bob Maximus.

Fifteen peals of Double Norwich Court Bob Major.

In the month of August last, as reported in our paper at the time, Mr. DAINS suffered seriously from what was at first thought by his medical attendant to be rheumatic fever. The fever symptoms soon, however, passed away, and the patient went out to his business, but only to experience a serious relapse, and the malady developed into acute rheumatism in the ankles, which caused him to lay by for about three months. But we are glad to say that during the last month or two Henry has been himself again, and busy not only at the rope's end but at his favourite pursuit, Treble Bob and Double Norwich composition, as a perusal of our very recent numbers will show.

Mr. DAINS is one of the representatives of the Cumberlands upon the Central Council, as the letters appended to his name at the head of this notice denote.

TORWOOD, DEVONSHIRE.

At this church, on the 28th ult., a reredos, which has been in hand in the studios of Messrs. Harry Hems and Sons for nearly a year, was dedicated. Unfortunately, the two ladies who presented their parish church with this costly gift were unable to be present. The reredos, with the exception of the various columns that support the canopies, and which are of polished serpentine, is built entirely of alabaster. The central panel is devoted to the Crucifixion, carved in very high relief, with the Blessed Virgin, and St. John.

During the gale on Thursday night week about a ton of the lead roofing of the parish church at Boston was blown off, carrying with it a third of the carved coping stone-work.

MR. HENRY DAINS.
(OF LONDON.)

THE SOCIETY OF TRINITY YOUTHS.

The annual dinner was held on Saturday, the 12th inst., at the "Prince Albert," Royal Hill, Greenwich, Mr. Frederick W. Thornton, Master, in the chair, supported by the Revs. Brooke Lambert, Teignmouth Shore, T. B. Charlesworth, and G. J. Bayley (Treasurer), Miss Christabel Airy, Messrs. Frederick Rumens (Hon. Sec.), and R. T. Woodley (Hon. Sec. Ancient Society of College Youths). Among the company present were Mr. Creswick (Churchwarden of St. Alphege, Greenwich), and Messrs. H. Warnett (Steward), W. Bedwell, W. G. Davis, J. Crowder, W. Pead, F. Palmer, E. E. Richards, T. Durling (Chislehurst), J. Garard (Erith), C. and J. Rutter, C. R. Shill, E. and R. Davis, and others. Altogether about 60 members and friends partook of an excellent dinner, served up in a very creditable manner.

Mr. W. Tyack having opened the musical part of the programme by a pianoforte solo,

The Master gave the toast of "The Royal Family," which was received in the customary loyal manner amongst bell-ringers, after which he rose to give the toast of "The Clergy," and in doing so said: It is with very great pleasure that I rise to propose the toast, and am sure I interpret the sentiments of all present when I say how extremely pleased we are to welcome four reverend gentlemen to our festive board. Ever since the re-establishment of this society the clergy of the district have been most earnest supporters, and of late have taken more than ordinary interest in bells and bell-ringing, and the welfare of their ringers. The services held at Lewisham and Greenwich on the occasion of our last two annual meetings and the interesting and instructive addresses to which we listened from Canon Legge and the Rev. Brooke Lambert will be fresh in your memories. We must always remember that it is mainly owing not only to the support but the sympathy of gentlemen like Dr. Legge and Mr. Lambert that we have been enabled to eradicate some, at all events, of the evils which for years existed in our belfries, and while grateful for their kindness to us in the past it behoves us, as fellow Church-workers, to strive our utmost to merit a continuance of their confidence and support in the future.

The Rev. G. J. Bayley proposed "Our lady members," and said the society felt highly honoured by having lady members, and particularly one who had taken a practical part in bell-ringing and had honoured them with her presence that evening. The name of Miss Airy needed no introduction.

Miss Airy said she felt herself highly honoured in being allowed to reply for "The lady members." It was an honour to be there and see so many faces that she knew. She had learned a little of bell-ringing, which she looked upon as one of the highest arts, and it had only been her illness that had prevented her ringing of late, and when her health and strength were restored she would take it on again. She was charmed with bell-ringing, and recognised the kind way in which she had always been received in the belfry, when she knew she was only in the way ("No, no"). She knew that she was not born to be hung, as she had been nearly so in the belfry (laughter). She hoped some day to be a ringer, and was thankful for the kind way in which the toast had been proposed and received.

The Master, in rising to give the toast of the society, said—In submitting the toast of the evening, "The Society of Trinity Youths," I do not propose to inflict a long speech upon you for two reasons,—first, because of the lengthy and interesting programme, and secondly, as I am not a polished orator, my incessant chatter would soon weary you. But there are one or two matters that are, I think of interest to us as ringers, that with your kind indulgence, I would touch upon. With regard then to change-ringing as applied to Sunday services. Doubtless, some of you may have read in "THE BELL NEWS" a few weeks ago, an interesting account of the annual meeting of the Durham and Newcastle Association. In the course of an eloquent address to the members, the preacher strongly advocated the ringing instead of chiming of church bells for the Sunday services. He said, the public generally did not understand the difference, and it was for the ringers to teach them. Where possible, the bells should be rung once a day, and on Good Friday, a muffled peal would add greatly to the solemnity of the occasion. With those remarks, I, in common with many others, quite agree. Now, taking Greenwich as a centre, we find that for miles around, the church bells are rung for at least one service on Sundays. There is one exception—St. Alphege, Greenwich, with its fine peal of ten, is silent, and the seat, so kindly set apart for the ringers' use, is unoccupied. Why? simply because there are no ringers! However, a step has at last been taken in the right direction, and on four occasions recently, ringing has been substituted for that monotonous chiming. Mr. Bayley and other friends interested, are making capital progress, and ere long, I trust we shall be able to command a strong half-pull party at Greenwich, more especially as for years past, it has been the custom to send all over the district (and some distance out of it too), for a band of exponents of "Churchyard Bob." Now, here in our circle even, there are many old wisacres, who when the subject of Sunday ringing is mentioned, shake their heads, and in a tone of sorrow, mingled with fright, say, "It is a great mistake, a bad plan. Why? you will have the vicar and churchwardens asking you to ring gratis soon, if you commence that game!" Gentlemen, what twaddle! who are these gentlemen so anxious to quash progress? who, for years raised their voices against Sunday ringing, as making ringing too cheap for sooth? They are easily recognised as those who go only to practice at the towers where there is a job at some future date; at steeples where there is no likelihood of a wedding, &c., they are conspicuous by their absence, this proving conclusively that they do not ring for the love of the art, but that it is with them, simply and solely a matter of £.s.d. In face of all and sundry objections, I venture to say that where Sunday ringing is adopted the church authorities will regard it as a welcome innovation, will give the movement every encouragement, and I am certain that it will tend to bring the clergy, congregation and parishioners more in touch with the bell-ringers than they are at the present time. Do not think that I depreciate payment for ringing. Certainly not! "The labourer is worthy of his hire," but where payment is made, the best men, not the worst, should receive it. We cannot expect progress and reform from those persons whose only interest in the Exercise is centred around the few shillings to be earned in connection with it. Paid ringing in itself is an admirable institution, but after an experience of twelve or twelve or thirteen years, I have arrived at the conclusion that it is the curse of the Exercise. If we are to bring ringing in this district up to its proper standard, we want more energy, enterprise and intelligence. Further, we require more local organisation, for where it exists, it is easy to get respectable and intelligent men to join the Exercise. Let me urge upon the guardians of the towers the advisability of establishing branches of the society with their own officers—a system of self-government. By those means we shall soon be enabled to accomplish the objects for which the society was established, viz.: progress and reform. After paying a well-deserved tribute to his brother officers, particularly to the hon. sec. Mr. Rumens, and urging the elder members to bestir themselves and assist their younger brethren, the Chairman (whose remarks were frequently applauded), concluded by giving the toast, which was enthusiastically honoured.

The Hon. Secretary, in reply, said: I thank you all very heartily for the manner in which you have received the toast, and for the very kind reception accorded to the officers. I have received letters of regret from absent friends at Cubitt Town, St. Albans, Erith, and Bromley, all of whom wish us every success, and the following letter from the Bishop of Lichfield:—

Lichfield, 7th December, 1891.—Dear Mr. Rumens,—Your letter brought back recollections of dear old times. I hope that your dinner on Saturday, when I shall be far away in Shropshire, may be as pleasant and enjoyable a gathering as that at which I was present last year. The Society of Trinity Youths will always have my gratitude for its work at St. Mary's, Lewisham, and my best wishes for its prosperity in time to come. There is a good society in this diocese, I am pleased to hear; and I shall hope some day that the Trinity Youths will send a contingent to Lichfield to show what Kent can do. The photograph of our St. Mary's ringers hangs in my dressing-room; so I am not likely to forget them. My kindest remembrances to them all—Yours sincerely, AUGUSTUS LICHFIELD.

(The reading of the Bishop's letter was received with great enthusiasm, the members rising and giving him three hearty cheers).

—The society, I am pleased to inform you, is in a flourishing condition, both numerically and financially. Up to the date of the annual meeting in May last we had 137 members. At the present time we have 16 life, 14 honorary, and 133 ringing members, making a total of 163 members, which you will admit is a very satisfactory increase indeed. Now we ought to have a larger number of honorary members, and I think if the members only used a little more energy and showed the clergy and others connected with the churches that we meant going in for belfry reform all round we should have little difficulty in adding other names to our books. Two of our honorary members have been promoted to posts which they justly deserve, and we ought to feel proud that we have such names on our books. I mean the Hon. and Rev. Canon Legge, who has just been created Lord Bishop of Lichfield, and the Rev. Rhodes Bristowe, who has been made a Canon of this Diocese. The interest the Bishop of Lichfield, when Vicar of St. Mary's, Lewisham, took in our work will always be remembered with the deepest gratitude by all who had the pleasure to come into contact with him. Although from the date of the annual meeting up to the present time we have only rang six peals they have been in four methods, viz., three Grandsire Triples, one Oxford Bob Triples, one Canterbury Major, and one Kent Treble Bob Major, so that we have no reason to despair, as the society was not instituted primarily for the purpose of peal ringing but to spread a knowledge of the science and art of change-ringing, and put an end to the abuses in the belfries which existed in the olden days, and which I am thankful to see are being stamped out in all parts of the country. One thing before I leave this matter. It would give the instructors greater interest in their work if the beginners would only take the trouble to thoroughly master the rules of the standard methods; it would be a great source of pleasure to themselves, and they would the sooner be able to take their places with the best of ringers. And again, if you want to master the art of change-ringing it is not a bit of good attending one practice and staying away from three or four others; it is only by diligent practice that perfection in the art can be arrived at. Before I sit down I must again urge upon the members the necessity of paying their subscriptions promptly; it is a very unpleasant duty forced upon the officers to have to be continually calling the members' attention to the fact that they are in arrears. The subscription is not a large one, and it would relieve the officers of much anxiety if they were paid as they fall due and the arrears were promptly settled. There are several accounts to be settled shortly, and unless subscriptions come in our funds will be pretty well crippled. The peal-book has only about six pages left and there are peals waiting to be booked, but unless any of you know of a kind friend who will give us a book I don't see how the peals can be entered. I again thank you for the way in which you received the toast.

The Master informed the meeting that as a result of the Hon. Secretary's remarks, the vicar of Greenwich (the Rev. Brooke Lambert), had kindly promised to present the society with a new peal-book, which promise was received with cheers.

The other toasts were those of "The Visitors" proposed in felicitous terms by Mr. W. Bedwell, and acknowledged by Mr. R. T. Woodley; "The Dinner Committee" proposed by the Chairman, and suitably acknowledged by Mr. W. G. Davis; "The Press," by the Chairman, and acknowledged by Mr. Thomas (Kentish Mercury), who stated that he would be pleased to do anything for the good of the society by bringing it to the notice of the public.

The toasts were interspersed with some capital singing, including "River of Years" (Mr. C. Rutter), "The Lads in Red" (Rev. G. J. Bayley), "Friar of Orders Grey" (Rev. T. B. Charlesworth), "The Warrior Bold" (Mr. J. Rutter), "The Longshoreman" (Mr. C. R. Shill), "Coming thro' the dye" (Mr. F. W. Thornton), &c.; a violin solo, Mazurka, capitolly executed by the Rev. Teignmouth Shore (encored); duet, "Excelsior" (Messrs. C. and J. Rutter), and handbell selection, including "Home, sweet home" (Messrs. Crowder, Deal, Edridge, and Pheasant). An evening that will be remembered for some time to come by all who partook of the enjoyment concluded with "Auld Lang Syne."

Church News.

The health of Bishop Claughton has greatly improved, although his lordship has not yet sufficiently recovered to return from Scotland to Danbury Palace.

The statement that the Bishop of Ontario has received an intimation of the intention of the Archbishop of Canterbury to visit Canada is contradicted.

The Bishop of Bangor has conferred the prebendal stall of Llandfair in Bangor Cathedral upon the Rev. Canon Silvan Evans, B.D., rector of Llanwrin, Montgomeryshire, the eminent Celtic scholar.

The Archbishop of York has appointed the Bishop of Barrow-in-Furness as guardian of the spiritualities of the diocese of Carlisle, and to act as commissary for the performance of certain episcopal functions during the vacancy in that see.

The Rev. Fred J. Ponsonby, St. Mary Magdalene, Munster Square, has consented to accept the post of warden of the community of St. Katharine, Fulham, vacant by the death of the Rev. William Purton, first warden of the Sisterhood.

The Chancellor of the Diocese of Oxford (Mr. Henry W. Cripps, Q.C.) has decided that the recently-erected reredos in the church of St. Mary the Virgin, Chipping Norton, is illegal, and must be removed, seeing that no faculty has been obtained for its erection.

Arrangements are now being made by Sir John Puleston, M.P., and the Rev. E. Killin Roberts, assistant-curate of All Saints, Margaret Street, for holding another Welsh National Festival at St. Paul's Cathedral on the eve of St. David's Day, February 29th, 1892, when it is expected the Lord Mayor will attend in slate.

The Hon. and Rev. J. G. Adderley, priest-in-charge of the Christ Church (Oxford) Mission at Poplar, writes to explain that Earl of Beauchamp does not propose at present to permanently reside in Poplar, but only to pay a visit in order to acquaint himself with the work of the mission of which he is the Oxford secretary.

The Archbishop of Canterbury's appeal on behalf of the special fund which the National Society is raising for the assistance of poor and necessitous Church schools has just been most generously responded to by an anonymous donor with the munificent gift of £5000. £20,000 at least is still wanting to enable the society to meet the present crisis as it should be met.

THE LATE THOMAS SALTER, OF BRISTOL.

The death of the above ringer took place on Friday, December 11th, at his residence, 2, Cox's Buildings, Hillgrove Hill, Bristol, at the age of seventy-two. He rung his first peal in 1845 at the church of St. Mary-le-Port in this city, which was a peal of Grandsire Triples, composed and conducted by himself. Since then he has rang and conducted several peals. He was a ringer of this city for upwards of fifty years, during which time he was a member of the Ancient Society of St. James of this city, and was conductor of the said society for the greater part of that period. He was buried at Arnos Vale Cemetery, Bristol, on Wednesday, December 16th, the Rev. Pitt Eykyn, Hon. Secretary of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, performing the burial service. Messrs. Price, Davies, Palser, and Parish rang courses of Grandsire Triples at the graveside. Muffled touches were rung at the following churches: At St. Matthew's church, Kingsdown, 420 Grandsire Triples. H. Schusler, 1; C. Waters, 2; R. Knill, 3; J. Davies, 4; A. Parish, 5; F. Ellis, 6; C. Tomkins (conductor), 7; R. Channings, 8. Also at St. Philip's church, 630 Grandsire Triples. H. Schusler, 1; C. H. Gordon, 2; C. Trevette, 3; J. Davies, 4; F. Ellis, 5; J. Hinton, 6; C. Tomkins (conductor), 7; F. W. Powell, 8. And on Thursday, December 17th, at All Saints' church, a peal of Grandsire Triples was started for with the bells muffled, but after ringing about an hour a change-course occurred. R. Lewis, 1; W. Parsons, 2; C. H. Gordon, 3; H. Goadling, 4; G. Gould, 5; C. E. D. Boutflower, 6; G. Daltry (conductor), 7; J. Viney, 8.

NEW CHURCH NEAR DOVER.

The foundation-stone of a new church at Charlton-by-Dover was laid on Wednesday week, the interest in the ceremony being, as the Church Times remarks, far wider and deeper than is ordinarily experienced in the announcement of another church stone-laying, "first in the little church so dearly associated with the name of Dr. Pusey, for it was here that he sought refuge at the time of his two years' suspension, and later, on the spot close by, where a new church, which promises to be one of Mr. James Brooks's most striking works, is to be erected for the needs of this fast growing suburb by the people of the town. They are aided in their noble task by Churchmen all over the country desirous of paying a tribute to the confessorship of the Rev. S. F. Green, whose shameful prosecution and subsequent imprisonment for nearly two years in Lancaster Castle will remain part of the ecclesiastical history of this century."

Mr. S. Fielding, who laid the stone, said the Council and members of the English Church Union had raised a special fund for the erection of a portion of the building as a memorial of the noble stand made by the rector, the Rev. S. F. Green, against the interference of the secular courts in spiritual matters; and it had been decided that such funds should be devoted to the cost of the sanctuary.

PENARTH, GLAMORGANSHIRE.

On Saturday, December 5th, six ringers of the parish Church of Penarth proceeded to Swansea to have a pull at the bells of St. Mary, which were kindly placed at their disposal by the Rev. Canon Smith and churchwardens. Arriving there about 12 o'clock they proceeded to the belfry and were met by the genial leader of the Swansea band, Mr. Smith, who gave them a hearty welcome to St. Mary's. They at once peeled off and raised the back six and rung several 6-scores of Grandsire's Doubles, each called differently. J. Vinicombe (conductor, 1; C. Hodge, 2; J. Jones, 3; W. Hallett, 4; F. J. Bartlett, 5; R. Percy, 6). The bells were then lowered in peal, and the members proceeded to satisfy the inner man and to have a look around the town. They repaired to the belfry again in the evening, and were met by some of the Swansea band, and raised the eight and rung several more 6-scores. They also listened to a well-struck touch of Triples by the local men, and felt sorry they could not take part in it. After extracting a promise from the local band to visit Penarth at an early date, they proceeded to the train for the return journey, each one pleased with their outing, and wish through the medium of this paper to heartily thank the Rev. Canon Smith and Churchwardens for the use of the bells, and also the ringers for their most cordial reception.

THE NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A pleasant and successful meeting in connection with the Beccles branch of this Association was held at Halesworth on Saturday, November 12th, when about about twenty-seven members were present from the towers in that part of the district. Some touches of Grandsire Major and Treble Bob were rung during the afternoon. The striking was not altogether so good as it might have been, owing to the difficulty experienced in hearing the bells, it being the general opinion that the comfort of the ringers was not taken into consideration in the recent alterations that have been made. They take this opportunity of thanking the rector for the use of the bells.

ST. SAVIOUR'S CHURCH, BOLTON, LANCASHIRE.

On Tuesday evening, December 15th, the ringers of this church were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Calderbank to a supper, in commemoration of the first peal rung by the local company. After supper a very interesting ceremony took place, when the Vicar, the Rev. H. J. Jauncey, on behalf of the ringers, presented to Mr. A. E. Wreaks, the conductor, a beautiful walking stick and umbrella, in recognition of his services. Mr. Wreaks, who was taken by surprise, responded in suitable terms. Votes of thanks were passed to Mr. and Mrs. Calderbank, for their hospitality, and to the Vicar for his kindness. The rest of the evening was spent in change-ringing on the handbells.

CARLEON, MONMOUTHSHIRE.

On Saturday, December 19th, five ringers from Llandaff and district journeyed to Caerleon by the 2.45 p.m. train from Cardiff, arriving there at 3.30. They were met by Mr. Davies, master of the local band, who kindly conducted them to the tower, and having viewed the ancient church, ascended to the belfry, were, with the assistance of the local men, the bells were raised in peal with the intention of ringing Taylor's Bob-and-Single peal of Grandsire Triples, but the attempt failed, a change-course having occurred. A second attempt also failed, and not having time to start again, E. Davies kindly invited them to his house, where Mrs. Davies had, to the surprise of all, provided a good hot supper, which was highly appreciated, being a very frosty night. Then tendering Mr. and Mrs. Davies their sincere thanks, they made their way back to the belfry, and rang 308 Grandsire Triples, conducted by E. Davies. J. Clutterbuck, 1; R. Le Visconte, 2; J. W. Jones, 3; A. White, 4; C. Lloyd, 5; W. Coombes, 6; E. Davies, 7; H. G. White, 8. A 504 of Grandsire Triples, conducted by J. W. Jones, was successfully brought round in 23 mins. J. Clutterbuck, 1; E. Davies, 2; R. Le Visconte, 3; A. White, 4; C. Lloyd, 5; J. W. Jones, 6; W. Coombes, 7; H. G. White, 8. This brought the ringing to a close, and train time arriving, they proceeded to the station, and after kindly thanking the Caerleon ringers for their kindness in assisting them, left by the 9.8 p.m. train, arriving in Cardiff at 10.30 p.m. having spent a most enjoyable evening. They wish to thank the vicar and the churchwardens of St. Cadoc, for the use of the bells. E. Davies, J. W. Jones and R. Le Visconte belong to Caerleon, the rest to Cardiff.

THE WAITS.—The Waits have begun some few days since. I live in a quiet London square, and as usual at this time of year went to bed each night lately in trembling expectation. And on Friday the 11th they woke us in the middle of the night as usual, by playing the "Adeste Fideles" and "Mistletoe Bough," out of tune. We blessed that policeman who after ten minutes' torture made them move on. What are Waits? That is a question which the etymologists have not settled. Some hold that the word is the name of certain musical instruments, and others that it is that of the players upon them. In Dr. Faustus (Thomas's Edition) "waits" are joined "viols," "harps," "lutes," etc., and Rimbault takes the same view in his catalogue of musical instruments. But Herbert Coleridge, a brilliant master in philology, early taken from us, accumulated evidence that so far back as 1400 the word was applied to persons. Thus "a wayte, that nightly from Michelmas to Shreve Tuesdaye pipeth the watches," etc. A writer in Notes and Queries thinks the word connected with the Scotch waith, meaning "wandering." The magistrates of Glasgow, he says, still grant a licence to a few musicians, generally blind men of respectable character, to perambulate the streets for about three weeks before New Year's Day, when they perform on violins the slow, soothing airs peculiar to a portion of the old Scottish melodies. The Waits, at all events, until a few years ago, received a certain degree of recognition in London and Westminster. In 1820, a Mr. Clay died, who had been the recognised leader. Mr. Monro applied for his post and received it, and afterwards complained to the police magistrate of unauthorised persons who were going about and usurping his office. The magistrate promised to support him: but apparently from that time onwards, there was Free Trade in Waits.—"PETER LOMBARD," in the Church Times.

NOTICE OF LONG PEAL.—On Monday, December 28th, eight members of the Oxford Diocesan Guild—the St. Peter's Society, Caversham—will, by kind permission of the Rev. F. E. Robinson, attempt a long peal of Double Norwich (13,440 changes) at Drayton church, Berks.

BRIGHTON (Sussex).—On Sunday morning, December 13th, for Divine Service at St. Peter's church, a plain course of Superlative Surprise Major. And in the afternoon, three courses in the same method. And in the afternoon three courses in the same method. J. Searle, 1; G. Williams (conductor), 2; G. F. Attree, 3; *R. Jordan, 4; *J. Parker, 5; *F. W. Rice, 6; *E. Jordan, 7; H. Weston, 8. *First touch in the method. The brothers Jordan hail from Capel, Surrey; Rice and Parker from Crawley.

CURRENT TOPICS.

We have been favored of late not only with some very excellent portraits of prominent ringers, but with very well written and interesting biographical—should I say campanological?—sketches of these worthies. I rejoice in the fact that the northern county has at last furnished a subject for what is known as "Our Portrait Gallery" in the person of Mr. Lees. His struggles in the promotion of ringing has been rewarded, and his career stands out as a shining example for those, who are working in the same field, to imitate. Mr. Lees has not been one of those who were never at rest unless they had a peal or two on the board. By this let me not be understood to decry the ringing of a peal, because I am always ready for the job when called upon, and, proud am I to say it, I have in my time "saved" a few from collapse. But there are some who are never at their ease without being on the look-out for a steeple where they can go for a peal, and unhappy if they have not, upon every night in the week, "a peal on." Such work for the Art is more showy than solid. Goodness knows we want hard enthusiastic workers; but they must be of the same calibre of Mr. Lees, to effect any lasting good.

The "Copley Scholars" have again commenced their social gatherings. I should think that such meetings as these have a tendency to make the science popular somewhat. When a young fellow gets first introduced to one of these assemblies, he must very soon come to the conclusion that ringers are an exceedingly happy lot, and desire ere long to join their ranks. If only for such an outcome, these innocent festivities meet with my warmest approbation.

I hardly know what to say anent the St. Saviour's restoration fund. Unless the movement is taken up with spirit, so as to make the "Society of College Youths' Subscription" a respectable figure, it will look rather paltry. I think it would have looked better had the Trustees named a sum, say £50, which they were desirous of raising among their members towards the very laudable object they have in view. The writer of the editorial last week urges it upon those of his readers who are College Youths, and makes a suggestion which is very clever. The notion of appropriating the "peunage" from the proceeds of the ringing pay-days is certainly original. I have nothing to say against it, nothing whatever, only that I should like to see the "scruffe" of the outlying churches of the metropolis make the first move of this sort, when they settle for next Christmas ringing. Now then, you bands of College Youths, scattered all over London, you who "scruffe" from Dan to Beersheba, as we are told—note this: If you commence, the country members will be sure to follow, and £50 will be subscribed in no time. Perhaps those who have a "double-day" at Christmas will also devote one part to the object. Quite likely!

I was told of a very amusing occurrence directly I reached the "office" on the afternoon of the 23rd instant. It seems that in a village which shall be nameless, there are nearly forty change-ringers, and about eight of them buy a copy of this paper weekly. To satisfy the cravings of the remainder for ringing news the local publican buys one, which is well patronised. But very frequently the poor innkeeper's copy is missing, and this has been so often the case that he has caused to be stamped or written on the front page of each one the following: "Stolen from the N— H—." Various surmises have been made as to who is the silent purveyor (to his pocket) of the paper, and more than one individual would appear to be suspected. When it is picture week, the portrait is sure to go, I am told. And in connection with this it is said that three local ringers were seen to perform that mystic operation known as "odd man out" for the possession of the portrait of Mr. T. C. Powell.

I do not like to be thought curious or inquisitive, nor to suffer the reproach of being what is called a "busy-body," but I certainly should like to have an explanation of that phrase in the published report of the meeting of the Bath and Wells Association whereby some fault seems to be found with the action of the Master of the Oxford Guild. And I should say, many other readers of the paper would like to know something about it. The Oxford Master I have not the honour of knowing, and he may be an excellent gentleman from all points of view, but a great many think he has his own way a great deal, and though I mean no offence, yet it should be remembered that the Master and Instructor of the Oxford Guild are not "the Exercise."

While I am writing sounds are sufficiently potent to my ears of the festive season. In the thoroughfare which bounds my apartment, there is a Babel of voices extolling the value of the various Christmas wares the owners of them have for disposal. I hope all my brother-ringers are enabled to have a merry and enjoyable Christmas in every shape and form. And I also truly wish them "A HAPPY NEW YEAR." PLAIN SPEAKER.

DAMAGE TO A WELSH CHURCH.

During the storm on Sunday week the parish church of Brynmawr, Breconshire, was so severely damaged that Matins and Evensong had to be abandoned. Although built as recently as 1871, the condition of the fabric has been causing great anxiety, and a few months ago the churchwardens invited Mr. T. Nicholson, the Hereford diocesan architect, to report upon it. His report recommended the demolition of the building, and declared certain portions of it to be dangerous. This state of things is entirely due to bad workmanship and inferior materials. The church council resolved to act upon this report, and a strong building committee was at once formed. Plans were prepared by Mr. Nicholson, which have already been approved of by the Bishop of St. David's. The storm of Sunday week proved that the preliminaries had not commenced one day too soon. Brynmawr is the most populous and the most Dissenting parish in Breconshire. The people are all colliers and shopkeepers. The land belongs to the Duke of Beaufort, who has done so much in times past for the church in the town that little help is now to be expected from his Grace. The proposed new church will cost at least £5000 to complete.

DESTRUCTION BY FIRE OF ALL SAINTS' CHURCH, HERTFORD.

All Saints' church, Hertford, was completely destroyed by fire on Monday morning. The fire was discovered at five o'clock, and it then had such a hold upon the building that there was no chance of subduing it. A valuable organ and several memorial windows were destroyed. There was also a fine peal of ten bells. The only things saved from the fire are the old registers. Last Sunday night the same church was broken into by burglars. The building is partially insured.

The Bell News & Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 26, 1891

THE return of Christmas, besides its all-important religious associations, brings thoughts of good-will and fellowship between kinsfolk, friends, and neighbours in every relation of life; and in wishing our readers and the Exercise in general "A MERRY CHRISTMAS," it is only natural to give such thoughts a special application to the pursuit which unites us in common interests and common pleasures.

Christmas and the New Year will be the occasion for many peals, rung or attempted; may no inconsiderate breach of engagements, no gross unpunctuality, no subsequent jealousies or recriminations, mar the pleasure of such meetings. When ringers attend (as it may be hoped they will attend) Divine Service on Christmas morning, and listen once more to the message of "Peace on earth, goodwill to men," may we trust that all will resolve to give it practical effect in their dealings with each other—in courtesy and consideration for all brother-ringers: in kindly help and patient forbearance with learners (who too often, we fear, have cause to complain); in the avoidance of all conduct that can in any way give offence to Church authorities, and so injure not themselves only, but the Exercise at large. It is good for us all as men to keep Christmas merrily, not forgetting meanwhile the highest reasons for Christmas mirth. And it will be good for us as ringers, if it helps to draw us closer to each other and to the Church, in whose service alone our Art can flourish. Ringing has its secular side; we ring for amusement and for the practice of our Art, as well as to call people to church. But the lower aim must be governed by and subordinated to the higher; and Christmas may remind us that we are Churchmen first and ringers afterwards.

DR. GEO. H. JONES,

SURGEON DENTIST,

And Doctor of Dental Surgery, U.S.A.,
 57, Great Russell Street,
 BLOOMSBURY, LONDON.
 Consultation Daily 10 to 5

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has demonstrated that Painless Dentistry is as much an accomplished fact as the swift locomotive, the telephone, or the phonograph.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, absolutely restores the natural contour, caused by the loss of teeth, rendering detection impossible, by the Prize Medal dentals, which have obtained the highest possible awards, viz.: London, 1851; New York, 1853; London, 1862; Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; and Philadelphia, 1876.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has received from S. G. Hutchins, Esq., Surgeon Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen, a testimonial, which places beyond all doubt the vast superiority of his system.

"My Dear Doctor,—Allow me to press my sincere thanks for the skill and attention displayed in the construction of my Artificial Teeth, which render my mastication and articulation excellent. I am glad to hear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. In recognition of your valuable services, you are at liberty to use my name.—S. G. HUTCHINGS, By Appointment Surgeon Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen." Geo. H. Jones, Esq., D.D.S.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has obtained the highest possible awards at the great International Exhibitions for his Improvements in Dentistry, which are protected by Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent, and for Painless and Perfect adjustment of Prize Medal Teeth, viz.: gold medals, London and Paris; gold medal, New Zealand Exhibition, 1882; gold medal, Calcutta, 1883; and the highest diploma of merit and award at Nice and Amsterdam, 1883-4. Awarded the gold medal of the Académie Nationale, Paris, 1884; and the highest award Antwerp; also the gold medal, International Exhibition, London, 1885; gold medal, Liverpool, 1886; gold medal, Melbourne, 1888-9.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, and Doctor of Dental Surgery, U.S.A., consulted daily from 10 to 5, or at any special hour by appointment, and upon a personal visit, every information respecting fees and treatment, without charge, at his only address—
