Obituary.

JOHN POLLARD.

It is with profound regret that we have to announce the death of this ringer, which took place at his residence in Hull, on Sunday, July 17th, after a long and painful illness, at the age of 35. J. Pollard was a native of Pontefract, having been born there in November, 1856. He entered the service of the Lancashire and Yorkshire Railway Company, as a junior clerk in the Goods Department, in 1871, being at that time 14 years of age, and he remained in the office at Pontefract until 1886, when he was promoted to the position of assistant cashier at the company's goods station at Hull. This latter position he held until April, 1891, when, on the removal of the Head Cashier to Liverpool, he was promoted to the post, which he held until the time of his decease. He commenced his career as a change-ringer at the parish church of St. Giles, Pontefract, in the year 1882, and joined the Yorkshire Association the following year. Altogether he has rung twenty-four peals, twenty-two of which are recorded by the Yorkshire Association. They comprise Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Kent Treble Bob, and Plain Bob Major, the peal of Stedman rung at Holy Trinity, Hull, being the first in the East Riding of Yorkshire. On his removal to Hull, he at once became connected with the ringers at Holy Trinity church, where he continued until the early part of the year 1891, at which time he joined the company at St. James' church, but was obliged to resign at end of October in the same year, owing to failing health. On Wednesday, eight members of the Hull branch of the Yorkshire Association, together with four of his fellow clerks, met at his residence and escorted the body to the railway station, on its way to Pontefract for interment, and it was met on its arrival by a company of local ringers. The interment, which took place at Pontefract cemetery, was attended by a representative of the Hull branch, by local ringers, and also by Mr. Senior, of Liverpool, late head cashier at Hull, Mr. Haigh, Station Master at Methley, and by Mr. Megson, late agent L. & Y. R. at Pontefract, as well as by several of his fellow clerks from Hull. The local ringers rang 720 Kent Treble Bob Minor with the bells deeply muffled, with the exception of the tenor, which was open at back stroke, on the peal of six at All Saints' church, before service, the first part of which was held there, and in the evening a touch of Grandsire Triples (1008 changes), was rung with the bells half-muffled at the parish church of St. Giles, as well as a touch of 864 changes of Kent Treble Bob Major. The same evening, at St. James' church, Hull, eight members of the Hull branch rang with the bells half-muffled, a peal of Treble Bob Major, particulars of which will be found in another place. The deceased was a man very highly respected by all who knew him, and by whom his untimely decease will be deeply regretted. He leaves a widow and five children to mourn his loss.

Correspondence.

While allowing the utmost freedom for the expression of opinion, it must never be considered that we are in any way bound to statements made by correspondents.

To the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS AND RINGERS' RECORD."

THE NEWCASTLE EPISODE.

SIR,—My attention has been drawn to a letter in "THE BELL NEWS" of last week, in which my name is mentioned, together with various false allegations, which your correspondent, Mr. T. Denton, has chosen to make without any foundation. With regard to my letter having been dictated, I may inform him I am quite capable of forming my own ideas, and also of expressing them, and that no person whatever knew the said letter was written until it appeared in print. I can, however, and that I have not yet met with any person, either bellringer or otherwise, that has disagreed with what I said. With regard to the second question, your correspondent is evidently ignorant of the existence of a train service, and that it would be possible for a person to be in Newcastle in the afternoon, and twenty miles away at night. As a matter of fact, I can inform him that I did not arrive at Newbiggin until 6 p.m. These matters, however, have no bearing whatever on the real purport of my letter, which was, "Were the Cathedral Bells opened in a fit and proper manner?" We do not want to know the many qualifications of the ringers taking part. If there were so many clever ringers, why on earth did they not ring a peal. It is sheer nonsense endeavouring to throw a veil over the affair by talking about dictated letters and seaside visits, when the fact still remains that a new peal of Cathedral Bells was opened by badly rung rounds and call changes. From what I know of ringing I should imagine a band that possessed so many merits would have been rather ashamed to own to it, instead of making matters worse by making false statements. I quite expected had I written under a nom de plume that my letter would be placed to the credit of some member of the Northumberland and Durham Association, hence my reason for using my own name. This, however, has only had the effect of causing personalities to take the place of argument, but, nevertheless, to judge by your correspondent's letter, has evidently hit the right nail on the head. G. T. MILLER.

Church News.

The Bishop of Hull and Canon Randolph have been elected Proctors in Convocation for the Dean and Chapter of York.

The Bishop of Sierra Leone has arrived in England for his usual six months' furlough.

Canon Crane (Sub-Dean) has been re-elected Proctor in Convocation by the Dean and Chapter of Manchester.

The Church of England Waifs and Stays has received a legacy of £500 under the will of the late Mr. W. Smallwood.

Canon Medd, rector of North Cerney, Gloucestershire, has been elected a commissioner under the Pluralities Act Amendment Act for the Archdeaconry of Cirencester.

The last service at the Temple Church prior to the Long Vacation, will take place on Sunday week, after which the church will remain closed until Sunday, October 2nd.

The annual diocesan mission festival was held at Salisbury on Wednesday and Thursday, the proceedings commencing on Wednesday afternoon with a flower service for children at the Cathedral, the scholars present numbering altogether about 1,400. There were besides about 200 other children. The flowers from the children were received by a number of ladies standing inside the west doors, who during the service grouped them in bunches on trays. From the west end of the Cathedral a procession started, led by Succentor Lakin, who was followed by the Cathedral choir boys and others from the churches in the city, singing the processional hymn "Brightly gleams our banner." A short form of prayers appointed for the service was used, the opening portion being intoned by the Rev. H. C. Bush, after which the special Psalms were sung, the 8th and 67th. The Dean read the lessons and a few concluding collects. The Bishop of Trinidad delivered an address from Matthew xix, 13-15; "Then were brought unto Him little children, and He laid His hands on them." During the singing of the offertory hymns eight of the Cathedral choir boys collected the alms. Sixteen boys of the other choirs then carried the flowers on trays to the altar rails, a few of the choicest being laid in a silver tray, together with the alms, on the altar. After the recessional hymn, "O praise ye the Lord," the Bishop of Salisbury pronounced the Benediction.

A handsome oak screen, from a design from Mr. J. Oldrid Scott, has recently been erected at Tewkesbury Abbey. It is the result of long consideration on the part of those interested in the Abbey Church and well acquainted with its architectural requirements, and it has a very striking effect on the internal aspect of the building. The new screen stands under the western arch of the tower, and completes the enclosure of the choir. It consists of a central arch with four openings on each side; the cornice overhangs considerably towards the east and west, and is enriched with a cresting of intricate design as well as with a belt of hanging tracery. The total height from the nave floor to the top of the cresting is about seventeen feet. Above this rises the cross about nine feet high, with figures of the Blessed Virgin and St. John on every side, which have been finely carved by Mr. Boulton, of Cheltenham. The cross is very rich in its treatment. Crockets spring from each side of the stem and arms, the centre is occupied by a quatrefoil panel containing the Agnus Dei, while the arms are terminated by boldly designed paterae richly carved and perforated. The two figures are of great beauty and much character. The side divisions of the screen terminate in graceful ogee-shaped arches very elaborately cusped and crocketed, with upright tracery in the spandrels. The arches are separated by pinnacles, which form the upper part of the chief supports of the screen. The central division has a double arch spanning it, the upper one is semicircular with foliated tracery, while the lower or hanging arch takes the form of an ogee trefoil, with angels at the points. It is richly cusped and decorated above with bold crockets. The lower stage of the screen is solid, each main division being sub-divided into three smaller panels with suitable tracery. The whole stands on a plinth of bold design. Every part has been carried out with details founded on a careful study of parallel works in the abbey and elsewhere. The ancient side-screen has naturally suggested the treatment to a considerable extent, but the abbey church is full of the finest work to be found anywhere, and the great aim and desire of the donors, as well as of the architect, has been to produce a screen as far as possible worthy of its position and its noble surroundings.

On Sunday the parish church, Hartburn, Northumberland, was reopened by the Bishop of Newcastle after extensive restoration. The church, which is a good type of the old churches of Northumberland, and bears marks of having been more than once in ruins, has for a long time stood sorely in need of repair. The work has been done by Messrs. R. Carse and Son, builders, of Newcastle-on-Tyne. The roofs of the chancel and north aisle have been taken up and relaid, and the old fifteenth-century roof of the nave, which had become dangerous through decay, has been taken down and restored, all the leadwork and nearly all the woodwork, which is of oak throughout, being new, but every detail of the old roof in its best days has been most faithfully reproduced. The plaster has been removed from the walls, and in all instances in which stone-work was found to have been removed and brickwork or lath and plaster substituted new stone-work, strictly and minutely following the old design and the old mouldings in the other parts of the fabric, has been successfully reintroduced. During the restoration many beautiful gifts have been made to the church. A reredos of Caen stone and oak stalls, all richly carved, have been erected in the chancel, and seven Florentine lamps, with iron chains of exquisite design, have been placed therein by Mr. J. Blencowe Cookson, of Meldon Park, as memorials of his brother and sister, in whose memory also their father began the restoration of the fabric of the chancel, but did not live to see it completed.

MESSRS. JARROLD & SONS have pleasure in announcing the early publication by subscription of this most interesting and important work. It will contain an account of all the Church Bells in Buckinghamshire, with everything relating to their history that can be discovered. Full accounts of all the Founders whose bells hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County, including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. The work was undertaken at the instigation of the late J. C. L. Stahlschmidt, Esq., author of "Surrey Bells and London Bell-founders," "The Church Bells of Kent," "Herts," etc.; and the fact that the author had the benefit of the kind assistance and advice of this well-known campanologist may be mentioned as some guarantee of the scope and nature of the present work. Mr. Stahlschmidt wrote the author, that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting county," and he repeated this opinion in a subsequent letter. The "Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 600 pages, & be handsomely illustrated with 21 full-page plates of medieval letterings, founders' marks, etc., found on bells still existing in the County and numerous figures—some of them being peculiar to Bucks—will be inserted in the text. The Larger Edition, Royal 4to, is limited to 80 copies, and will be subscribed at 42s. The prices will be raised on the day of issue should any copies remain unsold.

Her Majesty's Surgeon-Dentist's Testimonial.

"My Dear Doctor,—Allow me to express my sincere thanks for the skill and attention displayed in the construction of my Artificial Teeth, which render my mastication and articulation excellent. I am glad to hear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. In recognition of your valuable services, you are at liberty to use my name.—S. G. HUTCHINGS. By Appointment Surgeon-Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen."
Geo. H. Jones, Esq., F.R.S.L., F.R.M.S.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has by his Perfected System of Dentistry demonstrated that Painless Dentistry is as much an accomplished fact as the swift locomotive, the electric light, or the telephone, and absolutely restores the natural contour caused by the loss of teeth, by the adjustment of Prize Medal dentals, rendering detection impossible, which obtained the Gold Medals of London, 1851; New York, 1853; London, 1862; Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; and Philadelphia, 1876.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has been awarded for his Improvements and Patents in Dentistry gold medals, London and Paris; gold medal, New Zealand Exhibition, 1884; gold medal Calcutta, 1883; and the highest diploma of merit and award at Nice and Amsterdam, 1883-4. Awarded the gold medal of the Académie Nationale, Paris, 1884; and the highest award Antwerp; also the gold medal, International Exhibition, London, 1885; gold medal, Liverpool, 1886; gold medal, Melbourne, 1888-9.

THE WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

The Annual Festival was held on Saturday, July 16th, at Guildford. The date originally fixed was Tuesday, the 12th, but as the polling for three divisions of Surrey fell on the first three days of the week, it was found necessary to change the day at the last moment. The result of the change was that not quite so large a number of members were present as last year. Still during the day upwards of 160 visited Guildford, while 107 sat down to dinner. The bells of St. Nicolas' church were raised shortly after nine o'clock, and with an interval for the ordinary mattins from 10.0 to 10.30, ringing continued until 11 o'clock, short touches being the order of the day. At 11 o'clock a special service was held in St. Nicolas' church, at which about 100 members were present. The service was read by the Rector, the Rev. W. S. Sanders, an honorary member of the Guild; the Secretary, the Rev. R. C. M. Harvey, reading the lesson; while the sermon was preached by the Rev. J. J. Cooke Yarborough, Vicar of Romsey. His most interesting address was listened to with wrapt attention by the members.

After service, the members adjourned to the St. Nicolas' parish hall, where the annual meeting was held, the chair being taken by J. P. Stilwell, Esq., the president of the Guild. The officers of the Guild were re-elected for the next year, and a report was made of the work of the Committee appointed at the last annual meeting to draw up a certificate for the Guild. Their work is now completed, and the certificate, which is much admired by those who have seen it, may be obtained from the Secretary, price 6d., postage extra. The report for the past year was adopted, the Secretary calling attention to the fact that Double Norwich made its appearance for the first time in the list of peals rung. The meeting then proceeded to elect several new members, among them being the preacher of the day, who was elected an honorary member. Dinner was served at 12.45 at the "Castle" hotel, in the High Street, and the wisdom of declining to sell dinner tickets upon the festival day was at once apparent, as those who had taken tickets beforehand had an ample meal in great comfort. The President took the chair, supported by the Rev. H. S. Acworth, the Rev. H. A. Spyers, the Rev. J. J. Cooke Yarborough, the Rev. P. Du Sautoy, W. Scott Evans, Esq., W. C. Ryde, Esq., F. W. J. Rees, Esq., and others. After removal of the cloth the President gave "The Queen and Royal Family," which was warmly received. The toast of "The Bishop and Clergy of the Diocese" was responded to by the preacher of the day, who said that the proceedings of the day had much impressed him with the importance of ringers as a body, and that he meant now to learn to ring himself. The President then gave "Success to the Winchester Guild," to which the Secretary briefly replied. The proceedings concluded with the National Anthem. During the afternoon the members dispersed to ring at various towers in the neighbourhood, the most notable accomplishment of the afternoon being the peal of Stedman Triples rung at Ashtead.

THE GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A District Meeting of this Association was held on Saturday last, July 30th, at Old Swindon. About twenty members were present, and some very fair ringing was done on the bells of the old parish church—a handy ring of eight—viz.: touches of Grandsire Triples, and a course of Bob Major. The towns represented were Old Swindon, Cirencester, Cheltenham, Newton S. Loe, Bristol, and Bitton.

A short service was held at 2.15, which was conducted by the assistant-curate, the Rev. W. Stoate, who gave a most appropriate address to the members present. The presence of a large number of choirmen and boys added much to the enjoyment of the service.

At 5.30 the members sat down to a knife-and-fork tea, served in excellent style at the King's Arms hotel. At the business meeting which followed fourteen new ringing members were elected, and it was decided that the next place of meeting should, with the consent of the authorities, be Tewkesbury.

The reports for 1891 will be ready by the time this appears in print.

THE SURREY ASSOCIATION.

On Monday, 25th July, the Annual Meeting of the above was held at Croydon. Tea was served in the church schools at 6 o'clock to about 36 members from various parts of the county.

The Rev. G. C. Fisher, Vicar of Croydon, took the chair, but was obliged to leave before the termination of the proceedings, when his place was taken by the Rev. E. G. Burr.

The meeting accepted a proposed alteration of a rule, by which it was decided that the election of representatives of the various bands of ringers should rest with those bands and not with the general meeting of the Association.

The President, Treasurer and Secretary were re-elected, the Rev. E. G. Burr was elected Assistant Secretary, and the Rev. G. C. Fisher and Mr. Rees, of Guildford, were elected to fill the vacant places on the Committee.

The peal-book was stated to be nearly full; in fact the Secretary informed the meeting that when all the peals had been booked up according to the orders of the meeting there would be no room for more. Upon this Mr. Rees most generously offered to give the Association a new book if they would accept it. This kind offer was accepted with enthusiasm.

After some discussion it was decided to hold the next quarterly meeting at Guildford if the necessary permission could be obtained.

Afterwards the usual adjournment to the Parish Church tower took place, when the following methods were rung:—Bob Major, Stedman Triples, Treble Bob Major, and Double Norwich.

PRESENTATION AT RHYL.

On Tuesday evening, at the belfry of St. Thomas' church, Mr. R. D. Roberts (Mwrog), honorary member, on behalf of the bell-ringers, presented Mr. F. Hordley with an illuminated address. Mr. Roberts said he was proud to have the honour of making that presentation. The bells, which he considered were truly heavenly music, were appreciated by him perhaps more than by any other person in Rhyl. He had known Mr. Hordley many years, and from what he knew that it was to a great extent through Mr. Hordley's exertions that the bell-ringers had been kept together. Mr. Fred Wallis (captain) said that Mr. Hordley was the last of the fourteen original members who formed the society in 1879. During the thirteen years Mr. Hordley had assisted, and to a great extent had taught over forty members. He had held the honorary office of tower-keeper for many years. The words of the address could not half express the feeling of himself and fellow ringers. When Mr. Hordley left Rhyl it appeared doubtful whether a set of men could be kept together, but he was glad to say that they now had a very good company, and hoped the time was not far distant before the coveted peal was accomplished. Mr. Gamlin and others also spoke, and Mr. Hordley, in thanking the ringers, said that he spent some of his happiest hours in the belfry, and trusted he should be able to join in the peal with them when it came off. He could not thank them enough for the address which they had given him, and which would be prized by him above all things.

THE NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A Quarterly Meeting of this Association was held at Wickham Market, on Tuesday, July 26th, which was but thinly attended; only nineteen being present at lunch time, two or three more dropping in during the afternoon. Nevertheless the bells were kept going at headquarters during the day, and parties also visited Petistree and Ufford; both, like Wickham, six-bell towers. The fittings of the bells at the first-named place were found to be in very poor condition, and ringing there was a work of considerable difficulty. Some of those who went to Ufford proceeded further in the evening to Woodbridge to finish up the day. The towers represented at the meeting were Framlingham, Hasketon, Leiston, Thorndon, Wickham Market, and Woodbridge; the Rev. R. W. Pitt was also present from North Lopham. Five members and probationers were elected. The meeting was thoroughly enjoyed by the few who were there, the day being, happily, fine.

BAZAAR AT HIGHAM FERRERS.

A two days' bazaar was opened in the Bede House, at Higham Ferrers, on Thursday, in aid of the fund for the repair of the church bells, which with their fittings have become in such a bad condition that they are practically useless. The proposal is to have the whole of the bells re-hung, to provide new frame and fittings, to re-cast one bell, which is cracked, and to add two new trebles, thus increasing the peal from six to its proper complement of eight. The cost of one of the new bells has been defrayed by Dr. Crew, whilst towards the sum required for the other work about a hundred pounds has been raised, and it was with the view of raising a further portion of the amount that the bazaar was arranged. The project was most heartily taken up, the patronage of the leading families in the district was obtained for it, and ready help has been rendered by persons of all classes. The result of the united efforts was a bazaar, replete with articles of all kinds, costly and otherwise, and sufficiently varied to meet the tastes and wants of every kind of visitor. It was prettily set out in the Bede House, all around which heavily laden stalls were arranged, their fronts tastefully draped with art muslin. The upper end of the hall was curtained off and used as a tea-room, and the whole appearance was most effective, reflecting the highest credit upon those ladies and gentlemen who had used their decorative skill to such advantage.

The Vicar (the Rev. J. Dun) first explained very briefly the object of the bazaar. He had pleasure in announcing that one of the patrons, Lady Lilford, had sent three guineas; and another, Mrs. Pope, had contributed two guineas.

Mrs. Fitzwilliam, who was received with applause, then, in a few graceful sentences, opened the bazaar.

Mr. E. B. Randall moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Fitzwilliam for attending at considerable inconvenience to open the bazaar, and Dr. Crew seconded.

The vote was carried with acclamation, and Mr. Fitzwilliam, in replying for his wife, said he hoped that that would not be their last visit to that place—in fact he was sure it would not.

The sales then began, and business was kept up briskly throughout the afternoon and evening.

PRESENTATION TO A RINGER.

On a recent evening, at St. Mary's church, Portsea, Mr. Alfred E. Nye was presented with a mantel timepiece and photograph of the church by his brother ringers on the occasion of his leaving Portsmouth for Stratton, Wilts. The Rev. R. C. M. Harvey, in making the presentation, expressed the regret they felt at losing Mr. Nye, he being one of the first members of the St. Mary's band, and having done good service by conducting and otherwise promoting its welfare. He (the speaker) wished Mr. Nye every success where he was going, and trusted that they would continue to hear of him as a change-ringer. In conclusion the rev. gentleman asked Mr. Nye to accept the clock and photograph as a token of their esteem and good wishes for his welfare.

Mr. Nye, in thanking the members for their present and good wishes, said it had always been a great pleasure to him to meet them in that tower, and although he was obliged by business engagements to leave them, he would always take the greatest interest in the performances of the Portsea band. He trusted that they would continue their efforts under their energetic vice-president (Mr. Harvey) to make St. Mary's, Portsea, a centre of good ringing, and although he was leaving them he trusted to visit them occasionally when circumstances permitted.

BUCKNALL, STAFFORDSHIRE.

On Sunday, July 24th, the annual sermons on behalf of the ringers, were preached in St. Mary's Church, Bucknall, by the Rev. G. T. Birch (Rector), the offertories at all the services being given towards defraying the cost of the annual outing of the ringers. Ringing commenced at 7.15, when a 720 of Oxford Treble Bob was rung for the early celebration of Holy Communion, the ringers afterwards all taking part in that service. For the morning service a 720 of Kent Treble Bob was rung, and for evening service a 720 Oxford Bob. The sermon in the morning was from the words, "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with all thy might;" Eccl. ix. 10. The Rector, in urging the claims of the ringers to the support of the congregation, said he did not himself understand anything about change-ringing, but he understood it was the scientific way of ringing, and he was very pleased to find that the ringers of their church were change-ringers, and were proficient in their art, as the peal board which had recently been erected in the belfry would testify, and were carrying the words of his text in their work as ringers. The sermon in the evening was from Exodus xxxiv. 28, "A golden bell." The Rector at great length pointed out the great power and influence that bells had on the human heart. The collections during the day amounted to £3 9s. od., being an increase of £1 7s. od. upon last year. After each service a short touch was rung upon the bells in place of the usual voluntary on the organ. We may add that the ringers are voluntary ringers. The following took part in the ringing during the day:—At 8 a.m. a 720 Oxford Bob. C. Preston, 1; W. Wheeldon, 2; R. W. Twigg, 3; J. Wheeldon, 4; C. Rush-ton, 5; W. Twigg (conductor), 6. Also a 720 Oxford Bob for evening service, the ringers standing as before.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT AMALGAMATED SOCIETY.

The monthly ringing meeting of this society was held at Harrogate, on Saturday July 30th. The attendance was not up to expectations, the direct cause no doubt being another railway accident in this district, which blocked all traffic until late in the afternoon. Not only was inconvenience caused to ringers going to Harrogate, but passengers in all directions were likewise affected. The place where the accident happened is just where three railway systems converge in their passage in and out of Leeds. The first company to arrive made their appearance about 5 p.m., and soon made steps for the tower. The bells were soon swinging in Bob Minor and Major. An interval for refreshments at the meeting-house, the Borough Vaults, then ensued, and this was followed by more ringing in Oxford Minor and Kent Major methods. A business meeting was then opened at the above vaults, the president, Mr. J. Whitaker, presiding, when ringers from the following towns were present: St. Michael's and St. Chad's, Headingley, Leeds, Holbeck, Ripon, Boroughbridge, Northallerton, and the local company. The minutes of the last meeting being passed as read, a hearty vote of thanks to the vicar, churchwardens, and local company, was proposed by Mr. A. Naylor, seconded by Mr. D. Yorke, for the use of the bells, and other arrangements, which was carried unanimously. Mr. Brown, on behalf of those mentioned above, suitably responded. Handbell ringing followed with courses of Grandsire Triples and Major, and at 9.45 concluded one of the pleasantest gatherings of the society.

TIPTON, STAFFORDSHIRE.

On Wake Sunday, July 24th, 1892, being the ancient anniversary of the dedication of the church, members of the above association rang in the afternoon and before evening service, various touches of Grandsire Major and Triples, also Stedman Triples. Besides the local band there were present B. Gough, W. Pardoe, of Coseley; H. Hall, S. E. Grove, Wolverhampton; S. Harper, Bilston; S. Atkins, Willenhall; W. Lawrance, Wordsley; R. Hall, L. Hall, West Bromwich. The ringing was conducted by L. E. Grove, S. Atkins, A. H. Hill, and W. R. Small. Annexed is a paragraph from a local paper as to the origin of the "Wake:"—

THE ORIGIN OF TIPTON WAKE.—On Sunday the annual sermons in aid of Tipton Parish Church Day and Sunday Schools were preached at St. Martin's Church, in the morning by the Rev. J. Hopkins, M.A., rector of Wednesbury; and in the evening by the Rev. W. S. Swayne, vicar of Walsall. In the afternoon the vicar (the Rev. A. A. Cory) gave an address to the children on "Our Parish Church." Having explained who St. Martin, the patron saint of the church, was, and the stories related of his good deeds, the vicar remarked that the church at Tipton was founded 1,200 years ago. Every year on the day on which the church was opened the people of the parish met for Divine worship and the celebration of the Holy Communion. The remaining part of the week was spent in merriment, and in dancing round the maypole on the village green. That was the origin of Tipton Wake, and there had been one held every year since that time, though he was afraid that the Tipton Wake of to-day was far different from what it was in those times.

THE WAREHAM BELLS.

For the antiquity of bells we must refer to the elaborate ceremonial of the Tabernacle, 1491 B.C., and there we find that by divine command golden bells were to be placed upon the magnificent blue robe of the Jewish High Priest. Centuries later an inscription was to be found upon "The bells of the horses." The invention of bells has been attributed by Rymer to "Paulinus, Bishop of Nola, in Campania, and thence named Campanæ." This statement has been a matter of debate. Platt, however, amongst others, attributes the invention of bells to "Bishop Paulinus, of Campagna," and fixes the date at 400 A.D., but this might possibly refer to a re-invention of bells on a new and enlarged scale in the Christian dispensation. The Romans, Greeks, French, and Irish appear to have been acquainted with bells anterior to their introduction into Britain, and prior to their becoming generally used curious substitutes answered the purposes for which bells would have been employed. Bells for church purposes do not appear to have been introduced into England till the Saxon age, after which period, as church architecture improved, there were greater facilities for hanging the bells. Bells were sometimes hung in an arch at the end of small churches, in steeples, and towers; but bells were not always hung in church towers, nor were belfries always attached to the churches. If we turn to the records of Wareham saints—I am not writing of the present, but of men formerly acquainted with our town, and upon whom the high honour of canonisation has been conferred—we shall find that church bells are amongst the many things for which we are indebted to the monks. Archbishop Dunstan, who came to Wareham in order to assist at the translation of the body of King Edward, "could make bells," and it is stated that some bells were "given by St. Dunstan to churches in the west." Bells previous to their being hung were "washed, crossed, blessed, anointed with chrism, and named by the bishop." Dr. Blakeney gives an interesting description of this curious ceremony, the institution of which has been disputed, and which is termed blessing, hallowing, and baptising the bells. The various purposes for which bells have been employed forms an interesting subject upon which space will not permit an intrusion. Most of the bells in England belong to the Established Church, and seem to be parish property; it is ordered in the constitutions that "the parishioners shall find, at their own expense, bells with ropes;" and it is appointed that a bell be tolled prior to each of the daily services. It was an ancient custom that when any person was departing this life the bell should call the priest to his duty, and give the faithful an opportunity of offering up a prayer for the dying: hence the origin of the passing Bell. Another bell was known as the "Sancta Bell." This was rung during the saying or singing of the sublime Sanctus, prior to the Elevation of the Host. There formerly existed in the church of St. Edward the Martyr, Corfe Castle, "a little saint's bell in the tower." It is said that "between the seventh and tenth century the sentence of excommunication was attended with great solemnities. The most important was the extinction of lamps or candles by throwing them on the ground, with an imprecation, that those against whom the curse was pronounced might be extinguished or destroyed by the vengeance of God. The people were summoned to attend this ceremony by the sound of a bell, and the curses accompanying the ceremony were pronounced out of a book by the minister, standing in the balcony. Hence originated the phrase of cursing by bell, book, or candle." During the period in which a parish or kingdom was under an interdict, or the greater sentence, no bells were allowed to be rung on any occasion whatever. In the reign of Henry II., the Bishop of Salisbury, and later, King John and Henry VII.—monarchs acquainted with Wareham—were excommunicated; but probably the last connected with the town upon whom the sentence was pronounced was Mrs. Chaplyn, wife of the Rector of St. Martin's, who seceded in 1662. Her children "paid £3 for taking off the excommunication," under which, previous to her death, she had been placed "doubtless for her Nonconformity." There were many bells in the churches which abounded in ancient Wareham, and, though there is no mention of bells in connection with some of the pre-Reformation churches, their existence is not to be doubted. There is no mention of bells in connection with St. Andrew's Church, which probably stood within the precincts of the Saxon royal residences, or of the church of St. Nicholas in East Street, All Saints' in North Street, Corpus Christi in Roper's Lane, nor St. John's in South Street. Holy Trinity Church, which Pope Alexander III., in 1163, enumerated among the possessions of Sherborne Abbey, has an embattled tower which formerly contained four bells. The church of St. Nicholas, at Arne, which once belonged to Shaftesbury Abbey, had two bells. St. Martin's Church, probably built when William the Conqueror was carrying out such extensive building operations in the neighbourhood, had two bells. In the present tower, built in 1712, hangs one bell dated 1798, the maker's name being T. Osier. Three bells belonged to St. Michael's Church, which stood north of West Street. St. Peter's Church, at the north side of East Street, had two bells. In the tower of St. Mary's, probably erected in the 15th century, there were formerly four bells. After the suppression of Wareham Priory, in the reign of Henry V., this church appears to have been of little or no importance. Whatever benefits might have been derived from the Reformation, no amount of argument can justify the proceedings which followed; churches were desecrated, some bells melted, some used for extraordinary purposes, exquisite and valuable works of art were indiscriminately destroyed and what the Reformers spared was finished during the insurrections. Some of the Wareham churches were desecrated. The remains of All Saints' Church yet exist; St. Mary's has been restored; St. Michael's and St. Peter's entirely obliterated. Wareham was formerly in the diocese of Bristol, and "pursuant to an Act of Parliament . . . Dr. Carleton, Bishop of Bristol, 30 Car. II., 1678, united the rectories of St. Martin's and St. Mary's to that of the Holy Trinity, and made them one benefice by the name of the rectory of the Holy and undivided Trinity." St. John's Church, prior to its demolition, was united to Holy Trinity, which yet remains the mother church of Wareham. In an account of the bells at St. Mary's it is said: "By an order of vestry, September 29th, 1784, the same was taken down, and, with the bells from Trinity Church, recast into a set of eight bells, the total weight of metal being seventy-five hundred-weight, three quarters, and nine pounds." The bells are said to have been "recast by William Mears, of London." Three bells were taken from Trinity Church, and the one solitary bell remaining there was doubtless one of those which summoned the people to attend the ministrations of the Rev. John Hutchings, A.M., the county historian, whilst rector there, and the sole relic of the pre-Reformation bells of Wareham. There is no doubt that the tower of St. Mary's is better and more convenient for a heavy peal of bells than the ancient tower of Trinity Church. Nor is there any doubt that the inhabitants have reason to be proud of the Wareham bells, which are very musical, and whose merry peals as they enliven the town can be heard a considerable distance. It has been said that "their melody is much softened by their contiguity to the river." There is a record (1641) of the church doors of a parish in Warwick having "been locked up and sealed by the King's order, as punishment to the inhabitants for not ringing the bells on his entering the town." It has been said that an English monarch paid an unexpected visit to Wareham. The loyalty of the townspeople appears ever to have been beyond suspicion, and on this occasion the inhabitants endeavoured to express their gratification at the visit by a peal of bells. But, alas! the merry sounds floated over the town as royalty was departing, and, the intentions of the people being misunderstood, this expression of loyalty was regarded by the Queen as an insult. By aged natives of Wareham I was informed that it was supposed, in consequence of this event, the fleur-de-lys in the arms of the borough was reversed, and still continue upside down. If this be the real reason for the reverse it is extremely doubtful if the mark of disgrace ever occasioned the slightest uneasiness to any of the inhabitants.—Dorset County Chronicle.

The tower of Little Wenlock church, Shropshire, having undergone a complete restoration, the bells rehung, and a new clock erected, the Bishop of Hereford preached at the afternoon service on Wednesday week, after which Lady Forester started the new clock. At an evening service Lord Forester, the patron of the living, preached the sermon. The whole of the parishioners were entertained by the Rector to celebrate the event.

Ringers' Outings.

THE ANCIENT SOCIETY OF COLLEGE YOUTHS.—Saturday, 23rd July, 1892, was a memorable day to those who through the kind invitation of Miss Rosa McAlpine Leney, had the grand opportunity of visiting the "Home of the Sidneys." Leaving London Bridge Station on the Brighton line at 8.18 a.m., Groombridge in Sussex was reached at 10.14 a.m. In waiting was a pair-horse brake of good dimensions, also our worthy patroness, her sister Mrs. Mackinnon, (wife of the Rector of Speldhurst), and Messrs. Winn and Still, also of Speldhurst. The preliminaries to a hearty greeting over, seats were taken and a move made for Groombridge Place. What an old world relic! As the approach is made through an avenue of trees, how the mind seems to conjure up the thousand and one reminiscences connected with this link of past ages. On this very spot, after the Battle of Agincourt, breathed, as prisoner on parole, the Duke d'Orleans. Here Evelyn planted that tall tree you see on the right hand side of the entrance over the moate, and here did Waller, mad in love with Lady Dorothea Sidney, write "Saccharissa." The brake halts, and we alight, when a very cordial welcome is extended to us by our entertainers. Mrs. Streatfield, and the Misses Saint, the Rector of Speldhurst (Rev. Donald Mackinnon) also meets us here; and now for a survey of the grounds. The garden is a little paradise, with its fountain, well laid-out flower beds, its terrace, stream and moate, and to complete the picture, its radiant display of peacocks, 35 in number, basking in the glorious summer sun, each seeming to vie with its fellow in gorgeous plumage. A substantial lunch, kindly provided by the ladies of the house, was much appreciated, and after some double-handed Caters with the handbells on the lawn, the house was visited. What a history could here be written; the pannelling, beautiful and unique, the quaint beams, locks, doors, staircases, balusters, fireplaces, fire-dogs, oil painted likenesses of past worthies, a quaint coffee mill, a rush-light holder, tapestry, old bedsteads, dowry chests, Bible dated 1638, Ben Jonson's table, lattice sun-dials—it does not matter in which direction you may chance to look, all reminds you of the ancient past. A vote of thanks proposed by Mr. Haworth for the hospitality and kindness of the ladies of Groombridge Place was suitably responded to by the Rector of Speldhurst on their behalf. Before leaving a course of Grandsire Caters was heard for the first time on the handbells within the ancient walls, and those who wished were allowed to bring away some beautiful peacock feathers as a memento of the visit. We then started for Penshurst, which is situated  $4\frac{1}{2}$  miles W.S.W. of Tunbridge Wells, in a wide and rich valley. The grey walls and turret of the old mansion; its high peaked and red roofs, and the new buildings of fresh stone mingled with the ancient fabric, present a very striking and venerable aspect. It is a fitting abode for the noble Sidneys. The park contains trees of enormous growth, and others to which past events and characters have given an everlasting interest; as Sir Phillip Sidney's oak, near whose branches we College Youths partook of a cold collation generously provided by our "lady" member. Here is also "Saccharissa's" walk. In the Castle the massive oak tables remain; and from Jonson's description of the hospitality of the family, they must often have groaned with the weight of the feast. Jonson's taste for nature is strongly displayed in his fine lines on Penshurst. Our repast over we are again moving, this time towards the church of St. John the Baptist, Penshurst, the tower of which contains a peal of six COMBINATIONS, the go of which is more easily imagined than described; suffice it to say they are in extremely bad going order. Trouble Bob was attempted, but could not be proceeded with, although a 6-score of Doubles was rung, during which a friend from The Red Lion, Bletchingley, in Surrey, entered the belfry, causing quite a surprise both to himself and us, at such an unexpected meeting. It goes without saying that we were pleased to have met a brother-string in the semblance of Mr. John Bashford, junr., on this ancient spot. Retaking our seats accompanied still by our lady friends we are on the road to Speldhurst, but before reaching this lovely spot we have still another treat in store: a halt is made at "Swaylands," Bidborough, the home of Mr. Drummond, the banker, and through the kindness of Mr. Laker, one of the Speldhurst ringers, we are conducted round the greenhouses, vineries, rockery, formed with thousands of tons of natural stone, intersected with caves; (the whole, when completed, will, no doubt be one of the grandest specimens of its kind in existence) and finally we are shewn where the orange house is to be erected. We leave this delightful place, and pursue our road to Speldhurst, which is reached shortly after 6 p.m., and after each blithe youth had partaken of an excellent tea in the Rectory, the handbells were brought into requisition to the tune of Cinques, Caters, and Triples. Then came the time of departure, and the Master of the Society, addressing himself to those present, and in the name of the visitors, thanked Miss Leney, for her great kindness in extending to the visitors such an opportunity of seeing so much, and enjoying such beautiful scenery, also for the combined assiduous attention of Mrs. Mackinnon to make everyone feel at home, who with her sister, Miss Leney, journeyed throughout with the party; and a vote of thanks, combining the names of Miss Leney, the Rev. and Mrs. Mackinnon, for their generosity and kindness was carried with acclamation: a most suitable response from each terminated our stay, and amid hearty farewells and good wishes, the brake started at 8.0 p.m. for Tunbridge Junction, and leaving by the 9.25 p.m. train, Cannon-street was reached by 10.55 p.m. Thus ended one of the most pleasant and enjoyable days imaginable, the whole being under the able conductorship of our lady member. The names of the members of the College Youths present were W. D. Smith, J. Pettit, G. Dorrington, M. A. Wood, W. Cooter, J. R. Haworth, C. F. Winny, H. Springall, R. French, G. Muskett, and E. Horrex. At the request of a lady a short touch each of Grandsire and Stedman Triples were rung on the bells of Speldhurst church. S.

THE LLANDAFF CATHEDRAL SOCIETY.—On Saturday, July 23rd, this company, with the members of the Bible Class of Llandaff Yard, were very kindly treated to an outing by J. R. Christie, Esq., of Baynton House, Llandaff. Leaving Cardiff by special boat at 8.30 a.m. they arrived at Weston-super-Mare at 9.30 a.m. A move was at once made for St. John's Church to have a ring on the bells, the Vicar not being at home permission was granted by Mr. Spencer Tylor, Churchwarden. After raising the bells in peal a start for ten 6-scores, each called differently, which was successfully brought round in 42 mins. by J. Ritchie, 1; J. Belcher, 2; W. Biss, 3; W. Coombes, conductor, 4; J. Clutterbuck, 5; J. Thomas, 6. Time for dinner having arrived a move was made for Mr. Huntley's dining rooms, where an excellent repast was specially provided for the occasion. After the courses were successfully brought round, Mr. Christie's health was drank with musical honours; likewise the toasts of "The Clergy and Bishop of the Diocese," and the Host and Hostess, were done justice to. A course of Triples was then rung on handbells by W. Biss, 1-2; W. Coombes, 3-4; J. Belcher, 5-6; J. Clutterbuck, 7-8. A move was then made back to the tower, when three more 6-scores were rung by: J. Pitcher, 1; W. Coombes (conductor), 2; J. Harris, 3; W. Biss, 4; J. Clutterbuck, 5; J. Thomas, 6. After lowering the bells in peal a start was made for Banwell by brake, a beautiful drive of six and a half miles. The bells being got in readiness by an advance guard, on arriving at Banwell the visitors were met by the local ringers at the Bell Hotel, where some slight refreshments were partaken of. A course of Triples was then rung on handbells by the ringers standing as before. Also a few 6-scores on handbells by J. Pitcher, 1; W. Biss, 2; J. Harris, 3; W. Coombes (conductor), 4; J. Clutterbuck 5-6. A move was then made to the tower, which was close by, the bells were raised in peal and two 6-scores were successfully brought round, but with great difficulty owing to the bad go of the bells. Tenor 28cwt. 3qrs. 14lbs. not 35cwt. as stated by the St. John's ringers of Cardiff. The bells were then lowered in peal, and a move made back to the Bell Hotel, where Mr. W. Coombes enlivened the company with some melodies and eight-bell work on the concertina, which was greatly admired. Time for starting back having arrived a return journey was made and on arriving at Weston an excellent tea was awaiting. This being despatched a move was made for the boat, and the visitors arrived in Cardiff at 9.45 p.m. all safe, after a grand day's enjoyment. They wish to thank the Vicars and Churchwardens of Weston-super-Mare and Banwell, through "THE BELL NEWS" for the use of the bells.

ST. MARY'S, EWELL, SURREY.—The annual outing of this company took place on Monday, July 18th, when in company with the Ewell Working Men's Club, of which most of the ringers are members, they proceeded to Hastings, but as it was rather late in the morning when they arrived there was only time for a dip, or walk along the beach, or a row, before dinner time arrived, when nearly fifty sat down to an excellent repast at the Queen's Avenue Assembly Rooms. This being accomplished in fine style the Vicar (Rev. J. Thornton) invited all who would like to go for an afternoon's trip by steamboat. The whole party then adjourned to the beach where they were photographed by one of their number in a group. About thirty then accepted the vicar's kind invitation, but the ringers desirous of having a ring made their way to St. Clement's Church, where they found a peal of eight, but very little could be done with them. Mr. F. Lock being near the church, and hearing the bells raised, came and made the visitors' acquaintance, knowing they would be disappointed with them, and said had he known of their intended visit he would have got permission for them to ring at Christ Church (of which company they afterwards found he was leader), but was afraid he could not then. However after a little conversation he succeeded in finding the Vicar, who at once kindly gave permission, so after about 20 minutes' walk over the hills they arrived at Christ Church, where they were rewarded by finding a fine peal of six, tenor 22 cwt., hung about two years ago by Messrs. Taylor, of Loughborough, which were soon raised and swinging merrily in Grandsire Doubles, of which several 6-scores were rung by J. Ayling, A. E. Bassett, H. G. and J. Beams, W. Chantler, F. Grove (conductor), C. E. Read, J. Reid, W. Worsfold, and J. Strudwick. The bells were then lowered in peal and the ringers were joined in the belfry by the Vicar, the Rev. Alfred Hodges, who cordially welcomed them and expressed the pleasure it had given him to hear their ringing. After inspecting the bells and viewing the beautiful country and sea from the top of the tower it was time to depart. Being joined at the station by the rest of the party, the company were soon on their way home, arriving safely about eleven, all thoroughly pleased with their day's outing. This being the first time they had had a pull together in a strange tower they wish, through the medium of their valuable paper, to thank the Vicar and Mr. Lock for their kindness.

MIDDLETON, MANCHESTER.—On Saturday afternoon, July 23rd, the ringers of Middleton journeyed by train to Manchester, and thence by train to Didsbury, where having got permission to ring, and everything being ready they ascended the tower and rang a 720 of Plain Bob Minor in 24 mins. T. Oldham, 1; W. Schofield, 2; S. Holt, 3; J. Arrowsmith, 4; D. Renshaw, 5; T. Wellens, 6. Tenor 9 cwt. Afterwards they journeyed by the river side to Northenden, where they were refreshed by tea, and obtaining the keys they went into the belfry and standing as before, with the exception of the treble, which was rung by J. Buckley, they rang another 720 in the same method. Having got rather late they commenced the homeward journey by walking to Withington, and then taking tram to Manchester, where they arrived in nice time to catch the last train to Middleton, where they arrived shortly before midnight. They desire through "THE BELL NEWS" to thank the Vicars for the use of their bells, and also the ringers for being in readiness, and assisting to make the outing as pleasant as it was.

ALL SOULS, HALIFAX, YORKSHIRE.—On Saturday, July 23rd the band belonging to the above church had their annual outing. Leaving Halifax at 7.25 a.m., Southport was reached at 9.55. when tracks were made for Christ Church. The party were met by Mr. Richard Hill, who gave them a hearty reception. Owing to the bells having to be down by 12 noon, on account of the exhibition band, and some brother-strings from Huddersfield desiring a pull, the ringers had only time for a short touch on the very fine ring of eight. The rest of the day was spent in a very enjoyable manner. The ringers reached home shortly before 10 p.m. having thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

THE ST. JAMES'S SOCIETY, HULL.—On Saturday, July 16th, this society held their annual excursion, the place selected being Lincoln. The members, one hundred and ten, left the corporation pier at 1 p.m., arriving at Lincoln at 3.0. The rain coming down merrily, a move was made to a place for shelter and make arrangements for ringing. After being joined by several members of the Lincoln societies, and refreshing the inner man with something substantial, the whole party met at the Cathedral about 5.30, where the bells were kept going until about 9, with touches of Grandsire Triples, Bob Major, and Kent Treble Bob Major, after which the company adjourned to the Black Boy, where the Old Leather Jack was introduced to those gentlemen who were paying their first visit to Lincoln. Thanking the Lincoln men for so kindly meeting them and making arrangements for having a pull, the company dispersed to different parts of the city, all meeting again at the station at 12 p.m. when they embarked for home, landing at the Corporation Pier, Hull, just as the clocks were striking two, having thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

THE SAINT MICHAEL'S SOCIETY, HEADINGLEY, LEEDS, YORKSHIRE.—The first annual outing of this Society took place on Wednesday, July 27th, the place selected being Whitby. The ringers were accompanied by the choir under the superintendence of the Rev. W. F. Swann, M.A., Senior Curate, and Mr. Green, Churchwarden. The party left Leeds by excursion at 6.30 a.m., when after a very pleasant journey, enlivened by tunes and touches on the handbells, and several glees by the choir, they arrived at their destination at 10.20, when being informed that dinner would be provided at the Angel Hotel at 12 o'clock, the party separated, some to watch the unloading of the fishing boats, whilst others preferred having a rowing boat, which latter however did not prove all pleasure, they having to get back into the harbour through about a foot deep of water with the tide going out, which was no easy matter, two of the party trying to catch something which they thought were crabs crawling along the bottom. Twelve o'clock having arrived, the party sat down to a very substantial dinner, to which ample justice was done, after which the ringers and a few friends made a move towards the church, which is a very old-fashioned one. Having ascended 199 steps, the graveyard was reached, and five more steps brought the party inside the church, out of which they had to descend three steps into the belfry, which holds a very fair ring of six. Permission having been obtained, the bells were raised in peal, and a few touches of Kent Treble Bob and Canterbury Pleasure Minor were rung. Then the bells were lowered in peal, and some of the locals having expressed a desire for the visitors to try their handbells, a course of Kent Treble Bob Major was rung, and afterwards a tune. The party then visited a few of the many interesting places to be found in the old town, others went for a couple of hours' sail, which did not altogether conform to them, as the viands they had eaten appeared to disagree with their constitutions. Half-past five having arrived they again met at the Angel Hotel to partake of tea, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all. The time soon arrived for departure, and during the ride home the handbells were again brought into use, and after a very pleasant journey the party arrived in Leeds at 10.45 p.m., all being well satisfied with their first outing. The ringers desire to tender their best thanks to Canon Wood and the Churchwardens for providing the outing, and to the Rev. W. F. Swann and Mr. Green for accompanying them, and making such excellent arrangements; also to Canon Austin, of Whitby, for allowing them to ring, and to the local company for their kindness.

DEDICATION OF NEW BELLS AT HOYLANDSWAINE, YORKSHIRE.

On Saturday the Rev. Canon Kirby dedicated the new bells at the Hoylandswaine Church, when there were also present the Vicar, Rev. G. Milner, Revs. J. Nunn, A. A. Duffield Hardy, and W. S. Barker, of Silkstone. In the afternoon the service was held in the church, at which Canon Kirby delivered a very appropriate sermon to a good congregation. At the close ringers from Silkstone and Penistone opened the bells. There are six bells in all, supplied by Messrs. Warner and Sons, of London. In the evening some of the oldest ringers in the district rang a touch on the bells, when a large number of people were present. In the school a sale of work was conducted by the teachers and friends.

The Bell News &amp; Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 6, 1892.

We often see the announcement of a meeting to be held accompanied by a statement to the effect that one of the clergy will preach to the ringers who assemble for Divine worship. Very few of such preachers are ringers, and thus in nine cases out of ten after the sermon has been given, very little more is heard of them. Ringers who are thinking men always appreciate the kindness of those clergy who at some personal inconvenience come from a distance to address them, but they would be better satisfied if the acquaintanceship, so to speak, was perpetuated, and a real connection with the Exercise kept up.

In some cases however the preacher decides to become an honorary member of that Association or Guild he has just addressed. But here the connection generally ends. We have great pleasure, however, in noting an instance where a clergyman under these circumstances determines to learn to ring. At a recent meeting of the Winchester Guild, the Rev. the Vicar of Romsey, whom we are told gave a most interesting address to the ringers, said, at the meeting which followed, "that the proceedings of the day had much impressed him with the importance of ringers as a body, and that he meant now to learn to ring himself." A wise determination, and one at which we rejoice. Let us hope the rev. gentleman's example may become contagious. The co-operation of such men as the Vicar of Romsey is what we all ardently desire and gladly welcome. We shall wait patiently to see his name among our peal records.

This is thought to be the first peal upon the plan in this number of changes. First rung on May 30th, 1892, at St. Giles'-in-the-Fields, by the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths. Conducted by its author.

NOTE TO THE HUGHENDEN PEAL.—Six of the local band went to attempt a peal at All Saints, Maidenhead, but meeting one short they journeyed to Hughenden, a distance of twelve miles. After having got permission to ring, they found that a wedding was about to take place. When the bride and bridegroom arrived, they found that they had forgotten the certificate of banns, so the bridegroom's brother unharnessed a horse from a carriage and divested himself of his coat and waistcoat, and rode off full speed to fetch it, a distance of about six miles. After waiting about an hour he returned with it, and the ceremony was then performed. The ringers, with two of the local band (after waiting 1½ hours), commenced ringing, and in 2 hrs. 56 mins. Holt's ten-part peal of Grand sire Triples was successfully brought round. Messrs. Neighbour, Wilkins, Taylor, and Dentry belong to Maidenhead; the brothers Biggs to Hughenden; Yates to Marlow; Richardson to Beenharn.

MESSRS. JARROLD & SONS have pleasure in announcing the early publication by subscription of this most interesting and important work. It will contain an account of all the Church Bells in Buckinghamshire, with everything relating to their history that can be discovered. Full accounts of all the Founders whose bells hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County, including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. The work was undertaken at the instigation of the late J. C. L. Stahlschmidt, Esq., author of "Surrey Bells and London Bell-founders," "The Church Bells of Kent," "Herts," etc.; and the fact that the author had the benefit of the kind assistance and advice of this well-known campanologist may be mentioned as some guarantee of the scope and nature of the present work. Mr. Stahlschmidt wrote the author, that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting county," and he repeated this opinion in a subsequent letter. The "Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 600 pages, & be handsomely illustrated with 24 full-page plates of mediaeval letterings, founders' marks, etc., found on Bells still existing in the County and numerous figures—some of them being peculiar to Bucks—will be inserted in the text. The 8vo. Edition is limited to 350 copies, and will be offered to subscribers before the day of publication at 21s. nett. The Larger Edition, Royal 4to, is limited to 80 copies, and will be subscribed at 42s. The prices will be raised on the day of issue should any copies remain unsold.

Her Majesty's Surgeon-Dentist's Testimonial.

"My Dear Doctor,—Allow me to express my sincere thanks for the skill and attention displayed in the construction of my Artificial Teeth, which render my mastication and articulation excellent. I am glad to bear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. In recognition of your valuable services, you are at liberty to use my name.—S. G. HUTCHINGS. By Appointment Surgeon-Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen."
 Geo. H. Jones, Esq., F.R.S.L., F.R.M.S.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has by his Perfected System of Dentistry demonstrated that Painless Dentistry is as much an accomplished fact as the swift locomotive, the electric light, or the telephone, and absolutely restores the natural contour caused by the loss of teeth, by the adjustment of Prize Medal dentals, rendering detection impossible, which obtained the Gold Medals of London, 1851; New York, 1853; London, 1862; Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; and Philadelphia, 1876.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has been awarded for his Improvements and Patents in Dentistry gold medals, London and Paris; gold medal, New Zealand Exhibition, 1882; gold medal Calcutta, 1883; and the highest diploma of merit and award at Nice and Amsterdam, 1883-4. Awarded the gold medal of the Académie Nationale, Paris, 1884; and the highest award Antwerp; also the gold medal, International Exhibition, London, 1885; gold medal, Liverpool, 1886; gold medal, Melbourne, 1888-9.

THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

The third quarterly meeting of the year was held on Saturday, July 30th, at Southport, the beautiful town being en fete with the centenary celebrations, which very much attracted the visitors for the greater portion of the afternoon. Members were present from Manchester, Liverpool, Bolton, Blackburn, Church, Worsley, Walkden, Birmingham and Rugby, Messrs. J. Carter (Birmingham), J. George (Rugby), and J. H. Hardcastle (Bradford), being also present. The business meeting was held at six o'clock in the schools, the President, the Rev. H. J. Elsee, presiding. Supporting him were J. Redford, Secretary, H. W. Jackson, Treasurer, R. Hill, J. Horrocks, and R. Ridyard, committee-men.

The President said that he was sorry that Archdeacon Clarke, Vicar of Southport, who had promised to attend the meeting if possible, was unable to be present. He proceeded to speak of the methods of work used by the Association, saying that although they did not usually get a very large attendance of members at the quarterly meetings, yet by means of the numerous branch meetings held each month in different parts of the county, the Association was quietly carrying on its operations just in the places where they were needed. That might be a less showy way of doing its work, but it was a safe way. Alluding to the report of the committee of the Central Council he said that 800 copies had been procured by the Secretary, Mr. Redford, from whom any member might get a copy for himself for a penny, while they would be sent at the cost of the Association to clergy and others having charge of bells in Lancashire. With regard to the new certificate of membership of the Association which is being prepared, the President said that he had hoped to be able to exhibit a proof at that meeting, but there had been some unavoidable delay in getting satisfactory views of the four towers to be shown on the certificate—Manchester Cathedral, St. Nicholas, Liverpool, and the parish churches of Lancaster and Blackburn, representing the chief towers in the different branches. The work had been entrusted to Messrs. Falkner, of Deansgate, Manchester, and the certificate would be ready before the annual meeting, when he was sure that it would meet with universal approval.

The Secretary announced that the annual meeting would be held on Saturday, October 15th, at Blackburn, and that Bishop Cramer-Roberts had kindly consented to preach the sermon. He also intimated that he should be pleased to apply to the railway companies for an order for parties of eight to travel at the rate of a fare and a quarter, providing they would inform him of their intention to be present in due course.

Mr. Walker (Blackburn) raised the question of cheap railway fares for a single member wishing to attend meetings, similar to those worked in the southern counties.

The Secretary said that the question had been introduced on many previous occasions, and had been thoroughly discussed in Committee three years ago, and they reported that they had been unable to obtain any concessions other than those now existing.

The President said he would call on the manager of the L. and Y. railway, with a view of re-opening the question, and the subject was then allowed to drop.

The usual votes of thanks concluded the meeting. The members then adjourned to the tower, where a 504 Stedman Triples was rung. J. Aspinwall (Liverpool), 1; T. G. Downs (Manchester), 2; Rev. H. J. Elsee (Manchester), 3; J. Carter (Birmingham), 4; W. Davies (Liverpool), 5; F. Derbyshire (Worsley), 6; R. Ridyard (Worsley), 7; J. Walker (Blackburn), 8. The Holy Trinity company of Bolton next rung 600 Grand-sire Triples. The next touch was one of 418 Stedman Triples, which is worthy of record by the number of towers represented. J. Carter (Birmingham), 1; W. Davies (Liverpool), 2; Rev. H. J. Elsee (Manchester), 3; J. H. Hardcastle (Bradford), 4; F. Derbyshire (Worsley), 5; J. George (Rugby), 6; R. Ridyard (Worsley), 7; J. Aspinwall (Liverpool), 8.

THE CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

The Fifth Annual Meeting of this Guild was held at Chester, on Monday, August 1st. A large number of members attended the 10.15 service at the Cathedral, when the Rev. G. M. Custance, of Colwall, gave a short practical address.

The General Meeting was held at noon in the Refectory; the Master (Archdeacon Barber) in the chair. A telegram was read from the Bishop of Chester expressing his regret at being absent, and thanking the ringers for their past services. The Honorary Secretary (Mr. H. A. Heywood) submitted his annual report and statement of accounts, shewing a balance in hand on December 31st of £47 16s. 10d. It was resolved that the Committee be empowered to make grants, as the funds will allow, for the enlargement and improvement of peals in towers in union. Archdeacon Barber was re-elected Master; Mr. H. A. Heywood was re-elected Hon. Secretary and Treasurer; and six honorary and six change-ringing members were elected to serve on the committee, viz.: Revs. Canon Wood, Canon Blencowe, Canon Turner, A. P. Holme, G. I. Howson, Messrs. Hatt Cook, Ball, Foster, Walmsley, Dillon, Holding and Haughton.

Mr. Bolton (West Kirby) moved the following resolution, which was seconded by Mr. Holding, and carried unanimously: "That with a view to rendering more efficient service to the Guild, the members of each branch be requested to elect as their representatives on the general committee, the Secretary of the branch, and one practical ringer."

Messrs. Walmsley and H. A. Heywood were elected representatives to the Central Council, and it was agreed that the expenses of representatives attending the meetings of the Council might be defrayed out of the funds of the Guild.

Crewe was chosen as the place of meeting next year. The best thanks of the meeting were voted to Mr. Custance for his sermon; to the Dean of Chester for the use of the Refectory and for making arrangements for the members in the Cathedral; to the Secretary; and to the Master for his gift of a printed copy of the proceedings at the last annual meeting, for the interest he takes in the Guild, and for his conduct in the chair.

After the meeting the members dined together at St. John's schoolroom (kindly lent for the occasion by the Rev. S. Cooper Scott), and during the afternoon and evening the following towers were open: Cathedral, St. Mary's-on-the-Hill, St. Mary's-without-the-Walls, St. Michael's, St. Peter's, and Eccleston.

ARDLEIGH, ESSEX.—RE-OPENING OF THE BELLS.

The peal of six at this church has been rehung by Messrs. Bowell and Son, of Ipswich, with the addition of two trebles from the foundry of Mears and Stainbank, and now forms a handy peal of eight, much needed in the eastern corner of Essex. The work has been executed as a memorial to the late vicar, Canon Perry, a well-known authority in Ecclesiastical and liturgical history, and its completion was made the occasion for a parish festival, to which the vicar, the Rev. Greville Hales, made all ringers welcome. The bells were opened in due form on the morning of Tuesday, August 9th, with a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major by a band of the Essex Association, a report of which appears in the peal columns. The peal-ringers and others who had in the meanwhile turned up, were hospitably entertained by the vicar in the parish room attached to the vicarage, and all expressed themselves well satisfied with the "go" of the bells, of which the Messrs. Bowell appear to have made a thoroughly satisfactory job. At 3.15 p.m. Divine Service was held in the church, the procession of choir and clergy being headed by the band of the Norfolk Regiment from Colchester. The sermon was preached by the Bishop of Colchester (Dr. Blomfield), who is also Archdeacon for that portion of the diocese of St. Albans. The preacher spoke in feeling terms of the late vicar, and gave an interesting resumé of the various uses to which church bells may be put. After service a public tea with sports of all kinds was held in a meadow near the railway station, and a very successful day was brought to an end. The ringers present have especial reason to thank the vicar for his kindly welcome and hospitality.

A PEAL OF 362,880 GRANDSIRE CATERS, 6d. Contains the full extent of changes on nine bells. Forwarded Post Free, on Receipt of 7d. By James Hewett, 16, Chapel Row, Gosport.

RE-OPENING OF OLD BELLS AND DEDICATION OF THREE NEW BELLS AT ORDSALL.

On Wednesday afternoon, August 1st, the Right Rev. E. A. Were, D.D., Bishop-Suffragan of Derby, visited the parish church of All Hallows, Ordsall, for the purpose of dedicating three new bells, which have recently been added to the Ordsall peal. There was a large and fashionable congregation present, and at 3.15 the choir and clergy met the Bishop at the church porch, when they proceeded up the aisle, the processional hymn commencing "When morning gilds the sky" being sung, a prayer and psalm 150 then followed, after which the lesson from the Chronicles, 29th chap. 10th to 20th verses was read by Canon Ebsworth, Vicar of East Retford. The whole congregation then kneeling, the Bishop repeated the special dedicatory prayers, and after a short peal on the new bells had been rung, delivered his address to the congregation. After explaining the object for which they gathered together, he based his remarks on the opening verses of the 10th chapter of Numbers, and especially on the 10th verse, "Also in the day of your gladness, and in your solemn days, ye shall blow with your trumpets over your burnt offerings, and over the sacrifices of your peace offerings: that they may be to you for a memorial before God." He said that they would see that the first use to which these silver trumpets, referred to in the verses he had read, were to be used to call the assembly together, and that was the main purpose of the bells. Whenever there was a service in the church the bells were sounded to call the people together. When those bells sounded would they remember also that they were to be a memorial before God? He hoped when they heard them they would be able to come regularly to church, they would remind them that their life belonged to God, and the service at his church was a necessary part of the Christian life. That life was lacking without it. No man or woman really knew what the fullness of life was until they knew the meaning of worshipping together. There would be many who would hear those bells sounding for the service in the distance when it was impossible for them to come to church when they were engaged, and no doubt rightly engaged, in other business. Worldly business they called it. Well, let the voice of the bells bring to them a memorial of God in the midst of their worldly business. Their work would not be done any the worse for it. He hoped the thought would come to them, a higher life than they were now leading, and if a perfectly silent prayer should rise in their hearts, and they said, God help me in my work, help me to do my work as unto Thee and not only as unto men, then the bells would have brought their message, and they would be unto them a memorial before God. But it was not only for the calling of assemblies that these bells were used, there was the alarm that was to be sounded. They might, indeed, be grateful that in these days in England they did not hear the bells sounding from their steeples the notes of alarm: it was so in olden days. A few hundreds of years ago the bells of England resounded all over the country from one end to the other, on the occasion of a foreign invasion. They might pray God that the bells might never sound for that again, and yet if it ever came to that—that would be a right use of the bells—to sound the alarm to gather the nation together to defend itself. There were other occasions sanctioned in the Bible on which they might well use their bells, they were the days of gladness. What better use could they have to put their bells to, than in their days of festivity, days of gladness, days of feasting, days it might be of marriage. Then also the sound of the bells would go forth for a memorial before God. They would be reminded that God loved to see his people joyful; that happiness was a real part of the Christian religion, that feasting, and marriage, and song, and joy, were not opposed to religion, that they were not always to be downcast and moody, they were not to imagine that God had no sympathy with their joys. So the marriage-bells, when they sounded forth from that church, may well be a sign to them that the blessings of God went forth upon the happiest days of their lives; that happiness and pleasure, provided it was innocent and such as God approved of, was one of the blessings of their life. He also reminded them that they would have their solemn days, and that the bells would sound then. They would have a message on the solemn days no less than on the days of gladness. He was glad to hear that the whole parish of Ordsall had joined together as one man to subscribe for the restoration of this peal of bells. Quite apart from the bells themselves there was nothing so good as for a parish to join together heartily in some good object, it drew them out of themselves. It made them feel there were other needs beside their own little needs. He understood that for the actual cost of the restoration, re-hanging of the bells, and the addition, even more had been subscribed than was actually needed. In addition to that, one bell had been given as a memorial of one who had passed away. But still, during the putting up of the bells, and the re-arrangement of the tower, certain necessary additions had to be made, which had cost more than the funds they had in hand. At the present time there was a debt of about £40. Surely that would be speedily wiped off by the almsgiving of a united parish. He did not doubt for one moment that the amount would be quickly defrayed, and he congratulated them on having such a peal of beautifully-toned bells. He hoped they would make good use of them for the glory of God. Again to the ringers he asked them to remember that the bells were a memorial before God. They must remember that the belfry was a real part of the church, and that they were as much officers in the church as the choir were, that they had a real part in the voice and service of the church, and that their lives must teach as well as the sound of the bells. Those that rang the bells should ring out good and true and pure lives. Let the ringers remember that they were not only to call others to church, but they were to attend themselves. He wished them to look upon their work as a real Church work done for God because they were His bells. They would bring others best to Church by showing how much they valued the services themselves. The bells were given to him for the use of His church, and when rung they were a memorial before God. He did not doubt that if they were rung with this in their minds, the blessings of God would descend upon the work they had done that day and upon the gifts they had given.

A short touch then followed, and the hymn "Hark on high the joyful music," was sung during the collection, after which 720 Grandsire Minor was rung in 25 mins. by six members of the East Retford society. T. Spurr, 1; H. Haigh (conductor), 2; J. F. Haigh, 3; W. Skelton, 4; H. Warburton, 5; J. B. Joynes, 6. At 5 p.m. two companies of ringers adjourned to the Plough inn to partake of a good meat tea provided by host Gale, and after some good long courses had been got through, "stand" was called; the peal in the knife and fork method being liked as well as any of the day. In the evening another 720 in the same method was rung with Mr. Denison Taylor and W. Tyler from Loughborough, and Mr. Churchwarden Crawford from East Markham; conducted by W. A. Tyler. Also 6-score Grandsire Doubles conducted by W. A. Tyler. The day's ringing concluded with another 720 by W. H. Johnson (Ordsall), 1; W. Skelton (conductor), 2; T. Spurr, 3; H. Haigh, 4; H. Warburton, 5; J. B. Joynes, 6. The borough of East Retford now possesses three peals of bells; East Retford, ten, West Retford, six, and Ordsall, 6.

The peal at Ordsall has the following inscriptions on the bells: The largest bell "God save His Church; John Johnson 1661." It bears the name of its donor, once churchwarden at Ordsall, and a plate in the south aisle records that he died on October 10th, 1680, in the forty-third year of his age.

Fifth bell: "John Hedderley made me in 1743." This seems to be the bellfounder's name, an old Nottingham firm, who probably cast both of these bells.

The fourth bell, which was the oldest of the original peal, bears no inscription, but is supposed to date back 400 years. It has been recast. The three new bells have short inscriptions upon them of no particular interest.

The work of adding four new bells and re-hanging the whole was entrusted to Messrs. Taylor, of Loughborough. They are hung in strong iron H frames, and their splendid go, combined with their sweetness and purity of tone, reflects the highest credit on that well-known firm.

BELL-FOUNDING OPERATIONS.—Messrs. Carr, bell founders, of Smethwick, Birmingham, have just secured the order for a peal of bells, together with oak frame, wheels, beams, and floor, all complete, for a church near Cardiff, which is now undergoing restoration.

Ringers' Outings.

THE ST. PETER'S SOCIETY, CAVERSHAM, OXON.—This society held its annual outing on bank holiday. Diligent readers of this paper have no need to be reminded that in the year 1791 a peal of Oxford Treble Bob was rung by a party of Londoners at the far-famed Abbey of Romsey, Hants; anxious that their names should be recorded on a tablet beside the names of such men as Blakemore, Povey, and Muggeridge, the Cavershamites journeyed to the noted spot just a year ago with a view to attempting the centenary peal, but had the ill-luck to lose it, partly owing to the strands of a rope giving way, and partly owing to the bad going order of the larger bells. Nothing daunted by their previous misfortune, it was determined to try again, Monday, August 1st, being the day selected. Taking advantage of the Foresters' excursion to Southampton and Bournemouth, the party, twelve in number, arrived at their destination shortly before 10.0 a.m., and at the conclusion of morning service, ascended the tower, in company with the Vicar and Curate of the parish. After the usual preliminaries, a start was made, with the strong men at the heavy end, and T. Newman as conductor; excellent striking was heard for an hour, when suddenly the peal came to an end by the 2nd rope becoming fixed in the platform of the clock case, barring all further progress. Another start was impossible owing to a wedding which was about to take place, which some of the ringers celebrated in a proper manner with a touch of Bob Triples with the local men, while the remainder paid visits to the Berthon Collapsible Boat Building Establishment, and to the river Test, where sundry fine trout gladdened their eyes. A capital dinner followed, and the train was taken for Southampton, where at Holy Rood church an excellent touch of Double Norwich was rung. The remainder of the day was spent in handbell ringing, and a sail down to the docks, where among other noble vessels the ill-fated "Eider" came in for a large share of attention. Songs and harmony made short work of the long journey home, Reading being reached about 11.0 p.m., one and all averring that their outing had been by no means the least enjoyable one of the many they have previously held.

NORTH LINCOLNSHIRE ASSOCIATION (GAINSBOROUGH BRANCH).—On Saturday, August 6th, eight members of this branch visited Corringham, for the purpose of ringing on the bells, which have been recently augmented to six. The party were met by Mr. Smithson, churchwarden, who conducted them to the belfry, where a start was soon made. After six 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles (different callings) had been rung (conducted by F. F. Linley, Esq.), an adjournment was made to the house of Mr. Smithson, where a capital tea was waiting. After justice had been done to the good things provided, the thanks of the visitors were given to the Vicar (who came in during the repast) for the use of the bells; and to Mr. and Mrs. Smithson for the tea they had provided. The Vicar and Mr. Smithson having replied, a move was again made for the tower, where a well-struck 720 of Grandsire Minor was rung in 26 mins. by T. Pattison, 1; W. W. Bust, 2; W. Pattison, 3; J. C. Tinker, 4; J. T. Ladd, 5; W. D. Tinker (conductor), 6. Tenor 13 cwt. This is the first 720 of Minor on the bells. After falling the bells a short drive brought the visitors (who were accompanied by some of the Corringham ringers) to Blyton, where a ring of five has recently been hung. Ringing was carried on for about an hour to the tune of Grandsire Doubles, when the bells were lowered, and a start made for home, which was reached about 10.0 p.m.

ST. WERBURGH'S SOCIETY, BRISTOL.—On Monday, August 1st, this company had their third annual outing, Ross, in Herefordshire, being the place selected. Arriving at Lydbrook, a conveyance was found awaiting to convey the party to their destination, a distance of about six or seven miles, the road being through a most enchanting and lovely country. Ross was reached just before 1 o'clock, and the company at once repaired to the Castle hotel, where a first-class dinner was partaken of. The historic parish church of Ross was then visited, and a ring on the fine peal of eight (the go of which was splendid) was much enjoyed. From the tower the scenery of the river Wye was much admired, the "horse-shoe point" being surveyed with advantage, and the curiosities to be seen inside the church were found very interesting. The return journey was made from Ross about 5 o'clock, Bristol being reached about 10.0, all the party having had a most enjoyable time. They desire to thank the Rector of Ross for kindly granting permission to ring, also Mr. J. Wall for making such excellent arrangements.

BIRMINGHAM AND DISTRICT AMALGAMATED SOCIETY.—The annual outing of this society took place on Saturday, August 6, the place selected being Stratford-on-Avon. The party, numbering about thirty, left Birmingham at 1.50 p.m., and arrived at the birthplace of the famous poet a little after three. Mr. Freeman, a local brother-string, met them at the station, and after the usual greetings conducted them to the parish church, where they found everything in readiness. The bells, already raised, were soon going in Grandsire and Stedman Triples, and while several of the party were so occupied, others wended their way, led by Mr. Freeman, to view the memorable house where Shakespeare lived, while a few more, fond of aquatic indulgence, gratified their inclinations on the Avon. At about 5.30 the company, together with a few friends who had been attracted to Stratford by the announcement in this paper, met at the Great Western Arms hotel, and soon another good touch was in progress, the five course-ends coming up in excellent style. The cloth being removed, the president of the society, Mr. S. Walker, took the chair, and gave the toasts of "The Queen and Royal Family," "Church and State," etc., which were suitably acknowledged. Mr. J. Jones proposed "Success to the Birmingham and District Amalgamated Society," coupling with the toast the name of Mr. John Carter. Mr. Carter, in responding, gave an outline of the progress of the society during the past ten years, showing that it was in a flourishing condition. The chairman, in proposing "Prosperity to 'THE BELL NEWS,'" pointed out the great value that paper was to the ringing world, in putting ringers far and near in close touch with each other. Ample proof of the value of such a paper was seen that day, from the fact that a number of visitors availed themselves of the opportunity of meeting brother-strings simply through seeing the announcement of the annual outing in "THE BELL NEWS." The handbells were then brought out and a few selections were played by Messrs. Carter, Bowkett, Walker, Jennings, Sparkes, and Jones, which were highly appreciated by the company. Time being short, Mr. R. C. Bowkett proposed and Mr. J. Jennings seconded a hearty vote of thanks to the vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells; also to Mr. Freeman for his kindness and courtesy to the company which was highly appreciated. The singing of "Auld Lang Syne" and the National Anthem brought to a close a most successful meeting.

CARDIFF, SOUTH WALES.—On Monday, August 1st, Messrs. Smith and Collinson of Chepstow paid a visit to the above place, when they were met by a goodly number of ringers from Llandaff, Penarth, and district. Journeying to Peterstone-super-Ely by the 11.20 train, they were met by the sexton, who immediately took them to the tower where hangs a pretty little peal of six, by Messrs. Taylor and Co., when the following touches were rung: A 720 Grandsire Minor, being the first 720 on the bells. J. Vinnicombe, 1; W. Coombes, 2; T. Collinson, 3; W. Biss, 4; J. Clutterbuck, 5; C. Smith (conductor), 6. And 180 Bob Minor. J. Vinnicombe, 1; T. Collinson, 2; W. Biss, 3; W. Coombes, 4; J. Clutterbuck, 5; C. Smith (conductor), 6. And several 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles. J. Pitcher, 1; W. Biss, 2; J. Harris, 3; W. Coombes (conductor), 4; T. Collinson, 5; R. Brothwell, 6. This brought the ringing to a close at this tower. The next tower visited was St. Fagan's, where another 720 of Grandsire Minor was brought round in 25 mins. T. Collinson, 1; W. Coombes, 2; C. Lloyd, 3; W. Biss, 4; J. Clutterbuck, 5; C. Smith (conductor), 6. First 720 on the bells. And a 6-score of Bob Doubles. J. Clutterbuck, 1; T. Collinson, 2; C. Lloyd, 3; W. Biss, 4; C. Smith (conductor), 5; W. Coombes, 6. Tenor 15 cwt. Leaving St. Fagan's they journeyed to Llandaff, where 252 Grandsire Triples was rung. J. Vinnicombe, 1; C. Lloyd, 2; T. Collinson, 3; W. Biss, 4; W. Coombes, 5; J. Clutterbuck, 6; C. Smith (conductor), 7; R. Brothwell, 8. This brought the day's ringing to a close. Messrs. Smith and Collinson then bade their brother-strings good-bye, hoping soon to be able to spend such another pleasant day together, and also thanking the clergy and churchwardens of the above-mentioned towers through the medium of "THE BELL NEWS."

THE MIDLAND COUNTIES' ASSOCIATION.

The first quarterly meeting of the year was held at Chesterfield on Saturday, July 30th, when the bells of the parish church (ten bells), were open for ringing, and touches of Grand-sire, Stedman, and Treble Bob were rung during the afternoon and evening. Through the kindness of the vicar of Chesterfield (the Hon. and Rev. R. E. Adderley), the tea and subsequent General Meeting took place in the Parish Room, and representatives attended from Burton, Cotgrave, Derby, Duffield, Nottingham, and Sheffield.

The President (A. Percival Heywood, Esq.) presided, and in his address informed the meeting that twenty-eight peals had been rung during the year by ten distinct bands, which was a fair average on previous years, and after proposing a hearty vote of thanks to the vicar of Chesterfield and the clergy present at the meeting, which was unanimously carried, was obliged to leave to catch an early train.

The Rev. C. H. Fisher acknowledged the vote on behalf of the vicar and clergy, and was afterwards elected to preside over the business meeting.

The Hon. Sec. having read the minutes of the last meeting, Mr. Shardlow proposed, and Mr. White seconded, that they be passed and signed.

Five ringing members, including the Rev. H. E. Ferry (President of the Old East Derbyshire Association), were then unanimously elected.

The next business was to select a place for the second quarterly meeting, and Mr. White proposed, and Mr. Wesley seconded, that it should be held at Derby; Mr. Holmes proposed, and Mr. Griffin seconded Loughborough. Upon a vote being taken, Derby was carried by a large majority.

A hearty vote of thanks to the Chairman, proposed by the Hon. Secretary, and seconded by Mr. Shardlow, was carried unanimously. The Rev. C. H. Fisher briefly acknowledged the vote, and closed the meeting.

THE LIVERPOOL DIOCESAN GUILD.

The Quarterly meeting of this Guild was held at Upholland on Saturday, July 30th, members being present from Aughton, Ormskirk, Hindley, Southport and Wigan, besides the local company. Ringing commenced about 4 p.m. and was kept up till 5.30 p.m., when, through the kindness of the Vicar, the ringers sat down to an excellent tea, to which ample justice was done. The business meeting was afterwards held, at which Mr. R. Young presided (in the unavoidable absence of the Vicar), and gave the Guild a hearty welcome to Upholland, and called upon the Secretary to read the minutes of the last meeting.

The Secretary having done so, he also read a general statement of accounts, etc., which spoke of the steady progress of the Guild.

Mr. Hutton then made a presentation of a splendid peal-book to the Guild, and spoke words of encouragement to the members, asking them to still further the art of change-ringing in the various methods.

Other business of a practical nature was afterwards discussed, the usual vote of thanks bringing a very pleasant meeting to a close.

THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

ROCHDALE BRANCH.—On Saturday, July 30th, a meeting of this branch was held at Middleton parish church. Ringers were present from Rochdale, Heywood, Oldham, Ashton, and the local company. Grandsire Triples and Bob Minor were rung. At the meeting Mr. J. Harrison presided, and Mr. John Millett was unanimously elected secretary in place of Mr. F. Birtwistle, who is resigning this year. The next meeting is to be held at All Saints' church, Rochdale, on Saturday, September 3rd. It was mentioned that three peals of bells were going to be rehung viz.: Milnrow, St. Alban's, Rochdale, and Bury parish church, and which ought to be an incentive for members turning up in larger numbers to help on the work of the new secretary. The meeting closed with votes of thanks to the chairman, rector and wardens.

Correspondence.

While allowing the utmost freedom for the expression of opinion, it must never be considered that we are in any way bound to statements made by correspondents.

To the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS AND RINGERS' RECORD."

NEWCASTLE CATHEDRAL BELLS.

SIR,—As one of the performers on the "dissonant bells of St. John's" I wish to correct a few of Mr. Denton's statements appearing in your issue of the 23rd ult., which to say the least, are misleading. En passant, I must say he shows bad taste in thus slandering our little peal of eight, as whatever they may be in tone we have made the best of them, which the talented eight he eulogises so much have not as yet done on their fine peal at the Cathedral. As regards Mr. Miller's letter I can most emphatically state that not one of St. John's ringers, or of the Association, instigated it, or dictated it to him, as Mr. Denton so wildly conjectures; and furthermore as this is the only letter appearing in the press about the opening of these bells, I challenge your correspondent to verify his charge of "proffering to write letters to the press and inviting others to do likewise." As regards our inability to handle ten bells I am afraid I must also differ from him on that score, and refer him to "THE BELL NEWS" of May 8th, 1886, when it records an attempt at a peal of Treble Bob Royal, which collapsed at 1700 in 1 hr. and 10 mins.; no less than seven of this band were in the vicinity of the Cathedral on Whit-Tuesday afternoon. Since that time opportunities for ten-bell ringing have been few and far between, owing chiefly to the retirement of Mr. W. Reed from the Exercise. As to having "the starch taken out of our collars," I think the best reply I can offer to that is to refer him to the peals we have rung (and not one of them badly struck, I am proud to say) on such bells as Gateshead, Alnwick, Morpeth, Hexham, etc. Mr. Denton I see takes shelter under the old lame excuse of springy ropes, etc., to explain away the poor exhibition of ringing on their opening day. If this gentleman and his colleagues had done their duty, that could have been rectified, so this fault is owing entirely to their own indifference. Touching Mr. Denton's lengthy paragraph on the merits of himself and the other Cathedral ringers, the less he says of three out of the four particularly mentioned, the better. I exclude Mr. Simm, whose capabilities and enthusiasm in the Art are above suspicion. Had they had any love for the Exercise, they would not have remained "drones in the hive" for so many years. There have been three practices held on the Cathedral bells, but even at these nothing but rounds and "Tombstone Surprise" have been heard. I appeal to you, Sir, and the Exercise generally, whether men who practice "stoney," be they proficient in the Art or not, are not "stoney" ringers themselves, as has been stated in your account of the dedication of the bells. Mr. Denton says the Association received an invitation a month before the opening. Ye shades of Ananias! what a mis-statement. I know of only one of St. John's men who got an invitation, and that was on Whit-Tuesday. Does Mr. Denton think that one band out of a whole Association was going to sacrifice the dignity of that body by accepting an invitation from one of the ringers when such request should have come from the vicar and churchwardens? I think not. Perhaps Mr. Denton and his confreres think that if the bells had been placed in the hands of the Durham and Newcastle Association they would have made a monopoly of the whole concern, placing our men (St. John's) in the majority. Not so! The intention of the President was, Sir, to take the pick of the Cathedral ringers and the pick of the Association, together with two or three eminent ringers from the Midlands, who could have been induced to come for such an important event, and thus do the bells justice with Caters and Royal besides well-struck rounds. It is the opinion of St. John's men that had those, who were members of the Association in the Cathedral band, been loyal and brought the claims of that body more fully before the Cathedral authorities, this undoubted blunder would have been obviated. C. L. ROUTLEDGE, Master of the St. John's Guild, Newcastle-on-Tyne.

SIR,—In reply to the remarks of Mr. Denton in your issue of the 23rd inst., which only reached me too late to enable me to reply the following week, I wish to state that as far as I am aware, and I was in the neighbourhood during the whole of the opening, etc., of the bells, the report which appeared in your paper was a true statement of the actual facts. Your correspondent sets out with a remark as to "misrepresentation," but does not proceed to establish anything of the kind. Considering the fact as stated by him that there were such a number of good ringers in the belfry, does he not place them in a very poor position when he cannot contradict the fact that "Churchyard Bob" was the order of the day. It must surely be humiliating to him and his friends to have their capabilities and their performances of call-changes admitted. Mr. Denton certainly puts on the cap whether there was one meant for him or not. On the other hand I should like it to be understood that there is no wish on our part to run down the individuals he mentions, but on the contrary should be only too happy to be of any use to them in any endeavours they may make to advance the Art, if they ever intend to make any such attempt. Reference is made to the fact that no peal of Royal has been rung at North Shields. What a reflection upon your correspondent and his friends. They are I think all elderly men, and as is stated, of considerable experience, yet seem to be able to afford to sneer at the juniors for not having yet accomplished a feat they themselves have never dared to contemplate. I think I am right in saying that some of these men rang in a peal of Grandsire Triples (?) on this peal at North Shields. How is it they did not go on to Royal? I fear the ringers of the north have not much for which to thank these men, who I think, should have been our leaders and instructors. Poor dissonant St. John's might still have been like some of the belfries they patronise where a peal is rarely if ever attempted by them, and where instruction to young ringers is practically nil. I do not wish to discuss the merits of the ringers mentioned, and am prepared to give them the widest margin of credit for what is put forward on their behalf, but at the same time I think I could point to some of the lads in our Association with better records than some of those he names. I cannot however pass over Mr. Simm, as I, in common with the bulk of the ringers here hold him in great respect, and I can only hope that I may have the pleasure of ringing many more peals with him. How does Mr. Denton explain the fact that the peals which Mr. Simm has recently rung, have I think all been with the St. John's men; and strange to say not with the very capable change-ringers whom he mentions as being in the Cathedral belfry at the opening. Should he reply that they had not a sufficient number to make a band, then why were some learners not brought forward, or why were not some of the other local ringers asked to assist to complete a band. There are plenty of men eager for a peal, but I cannot remember any ringer being asked by Mr. Denton or any one of his friends to make one in a peal. As to the excuse of the springing of the ropes at the opening, I may state that the bells had already been tried, and "where there is a will there's a way." I have seen that difficulty overcome in other lofts. I have most emphatically to deny the statement put forward as to the Association being invited. No invitation was given to the Association whatever. In any case it would have been utterly inconsistent with the dignity of an Association having the Bishop of Durham and the Bishop of Newcastle at its head as patrons, to have listened to any verbal invitation from the steeple-keeper, and in this I am sure the ringing world will bear me out. It is admitted that the authorities had made the arrangements, but their arrangements were such as not only to preclude anything but rounds, but also to preclude the members of the Association taking part in the opening. We were completely ignored, and for my own part I state that I felt it sorely. A native churchman cannot but love his Cathedral, and being at the same time ringers, the only wish was that the opening had been carried out in a manner more befitting the occasion and in accordance with the traditions of this the only bell-ringing country. With regard to Mr. Miller's letter I have nothing whatever to do, but having made enquiries I cannot find any ringer who dictated it. Mr. Denton appears to know more about it than anyone else. I think our Association can flatter itself in having rung peals now on nearly every peal of eight in the neighbourhood, and I trust we shall continue to advance until we achieve a peal of Royal at North Shields. Might I ask for Mr. Denton's assistance instead of his sneers? He knows how we have had to bring up young ringers, and we want every help we can get.

THE TRINITY YOUTHS.

SIR,—May I be allowed to say a word in reply to "Plain Speaker's" remarks on the Society of Trinity Youths, which appeared in "THE BELL NEWS" of July 23rd. There are two ways in which the words "110th Anniversary Meeting" may be read. "Plain Speaker" has evidently read them the wrong way, coupling "110th" with "Meeting," and not with "Anniversary." I take it that the writer of the report which appeared in "THE BELL NEWS" of the 16th ult., intended the readers thereof to understand that the meeting of which he wrote was held on the Society's 110th Anniversary. Doubtless there has been a lapse in the holding of the Anniversary Meetings, though there has been no break in the Society itself; and I am sure that very few of your readers would take the writer's meaning to be that we had celebrated in our Society 110 Anniversary Meetings. Very few persons did know of the existence of the Trinity Youths "till the appearance upon the scene of Mr. F. W. Thornton," and about a dozen other gentlemen, among whom were Messrs. Bright, Weatherstone, Bedwell, Richards, and myself; for at the date of our election, April 17th, 1888, the Society consisted of only three members—Messrs. Smith, Dyer, and Pead. "The Trinity Youths" is the correct title of the Society. Mr. "Plain Speaker" probably had in his mind the name of another Society, now extinct, whose headquarters were in former days at Greenwich, "the Eastern Scholars." Their old peal-book may, I believe, still be seen at St. Alphege, Greenwich. The headquarters of the Trinity Youths were in those days at St. Nicholas, Deptford, the original members being master shipwrights and caulkers in the Royal Dockyard. Doubtless, Mr. Editor, your forthcoming history of our Society will be a valuable addition to Bell Literature, but may I refer "Plain Speaker," meanwhile, to the short account of the Trinity Youths which he will find at the commencement of our "Rules and Regulations" published in 1888. #### THE ANALYSIS OF PEALS.

SIR,—May I draw the attention of your valuable correspondent Mr. G. F. Attree, to the following facts. (1) In his analysis compiled from quarter to quarter there is no schedule of points for peals beyond Major. Surely Caters, Royal, Cinques or Maximus should count in advance of Triples or Major. (2) Does it not seem but reasonable that peals of 6000, 7000, 10,000, and 16,000 changes should be entitled to more respect than the orthodox 5000, considering how great the chances are of ringing past that number and then not scoring at all, by losing the peal. Perhaps if peals beyond the stipulated 5000 were tabulated, it might be an incentive for bands to go for greater lengths. (3) Should not handbell peals (double-handed) rank higher for points than single-handed or tower performances. (4) Would it not be interesting to the Exercise to insert a column annually containing the names of those persons who had rung the greatest number of peals during the past year under one or more Associations. Perhaps Mr. Attree will see his way to adopt some of the above suggestions.

Leicester.

WILLIAM WILLSON.

EMBLEMS.

SIR,—I am glad to hear that the wearing of some distinct badge is getting to be approved of by church bell ringers. The idea has been frequently mooted in your columns that some emblem of their craft should be worn by all ringers, especially on what may be termed "state" occasions. The difficulty is perhaps to know a firm of manufacturers who can carry out the wishes of ringers in this respect, by correctly supplying the article needed. These emblems may be various: stars, crosses, ribbons, medals, sashes, or even small hoods and aprons. We have adopted an appropriate St. Andrew's cross, surmounted by a bell set in gold lace, to wear on the coat, but the workmanship being local is hardly up to expectation, and we are looking about for an artist in this kind of work.

REGALIA.

A CORRECTION.

SIR,—Will you please correct a mistake in the foot-note to the peal of Stedman Caters rung by the St. Martin's Guild at Aston-juxta-Birmingham on Saturday, July 30th, which should read as follows; "This peal contains eighty-two courses with 321 bobs and two singles," not twenty-one singles as stated.

Obituary.

WILLIAM SELBY.

It is with deep regret that we have to announce the death of the above-mentioned ringer, of Midhurst, Sussex, who died of diphtheria on Friday, August 5th, aged thirty-five years, after five days' illness, leaving a widow and five children. The deceased had been a resident in this town for sixteen years, and for the last five years had been indefatigable in his efforts to promote the art of change-ringing. Commencing to learn under the able tuition of Mr. George Williams, then residing in the neighbourhood, it was not long before seven 1720s of Plain Bob Minor were accomplished, followed by several others in various Minor methods, and one or two peals of Triples. There was no more regular attendant in the belfry, and no one more ready to give assistance to beginners at any time. He was a Local Secretary and member of the Sussex County Association, and also a member of the Winchester Diocesan Guild. Of late his name had been brought more prominently before the ringing world in connection with his very successful silent practice apparatus, first erected at Midhurst parish church, and more recently at Romsey Abbey, the churches of Alton, Guildford, and St. Nicholas, Brighton. The funeral took place on Saturday, the day following the death, on account of the infectious nature of the disease. Shortly afterwards the remaining members of the band rang 360 Woodbine Treble Bob, with the usual whole pull and stand, and 720 Woodbine with the bells deeply muffled as a tribute of respect. On Sunday, August 7th, with the bells still muffled, 720 Kent Treble Bob was rung in the morning, and 720 of Oxford for the evening service.

The Bell News &amp; Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 13, 1892.

It may be taken for granted, we think, that hardly two of our ringing Guilds or Associations dispose of their funds alike. One body finds it politic to defray the travelling expenses of its members to the Annual Meeting; another provides a dinner for them on arriving there; while others set their face against all such liberality, and condemn the principle of such grants. We are not about to question the right of an Association to do as it pleases with the funds at its disposal. The various committees of management know best what should be done: but it may be taken for granted that the circumstances of Guilds are very different, and that arrangements which does for one would not suit another. The proceedings at a recent meeting of the Chester Diocesan Guild, reported on another page, are interesting from the fact that "it was resolved that the committee be empowered to make grants, as the funds will allow, for the enlargement and improvement of rings of bells in towers which are in union with the Guild." This is another mode of disposing of funds, and one which is worthy of commendation. There is something attractive in such a resolve, and we are of opinion that if it can be ungrudgingly sustained, and not become a dead letter, the Guild will ensure a much greater support from church-folk in the Diocese, than it would have done had such determination not been arrived at. For ringers to supply funds toward the augmentation or repair of bells is not altogether new, but we think the Chester Guild can claim the honour of being the first to pass a resolution determining that as long as their funds will admit they will assist in such work.

THE CHURCH BELLS OF BUCKINGHAMSHIRE. By ALFRED HENEAGE COCKS, M.A., Ch. Ch., Oxford; F.Z.S., F.R.G.S., Great Marlow, Bucks. With many illustrations.

MESSRS. JARROLD & SONS have pleasure in announcing the early publication by subscription of this most interesting and important work. It will contain an account of all the Church Bells in Buckinghamshire, with everything relating to their history that can be discovered. Full accounts of all the Founders whose bells hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County, including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. The work was undertaken at the instigation of the late J. C. L. Stahl Schmidt, Esq., author of "Surrey Bells and London Bell-founders," "The Church Bells of Kent," "Herts," etc.; and the fact that the author had the benefit of the kind assistance and advice of this well-known campanologist may be mentioned as some guarantee of the scope and nature of the present work. Mr. Stahl Schmidt wrote the author, that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting county," and he repeated this opinion in a subsequent letter. The "Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 600 pages, & be handsomely illustrated with 24 full-page plates of mediaeval letterings, founders' marks, etc., found on Bells still existing in the County and numerous figures—some of them living, peculiar to Bucks—will be inserted in the text. The 8vo. Edition is limited to 300 copies, and will be offered to subscribers before the day of publication at 2s. nett. The Larger Edition, Royal 4to, is limited to 80 copies, and will be subscribed at 4s. The prices will be raised on the day of issue should any copies remain unsold.

Her Majesty's Surgeon-Dentist's Testimonial.

"My Dear Doctor,—Allow me to express my sincere thanks for the skill and attention displayed in the construction of my Artificial Teeth, which render my mastication and articulation excellent. I am glad to hear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. In recognition of your valuable services, you are at liberty to use my name.—S. G. HUTCHINGS. By Appointment Surgeon-Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen."
Geo. H. Jones, Esq. F.R.S.L., F.R.M.S.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has by his Perfected System of Dentistry demonstrated that Painless Dentistry is as much an accomplished fact as the swift locomotive, the electric light, or the telephone, and absolutely restores the natural contour caused by the loss of teeth, by the adjustment of Prize Medal dentals, rendering detection impossible, which obtained the Gold Medals of London, 1851; New York, 1853; London, 1862; Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; and Philadelphia, 1876.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has been awarded for his Improvements and Patents in Dentistry gold medals, London and Paris; gold medal, New Zealand Exhibition, 1882; gold medal Calcutta, 1883; and the highest diploma of merit and award at Nice and Amsterdam, 1883-4. Awarded the gold medal of the Académie Nationale, Paris, 1884; and the highest award Antwerp; also the gold medal, International Exhibition, London, 1885; gold medal, Liverpool, 1886; gold medal, Melbourne, 1888-9.

THE YORKSHIRE AND THE OLD EAST DERBYSHIRE ASSOCIATIONS.

STAVELEY (Derbyshire).—On Saturday evening, August 13th, the Staveley branch of the above Associations held their twenty-sixth anniversary dinner to commemorate the restoration of the parish church. Inviting a few friends, including Mr. John Palmer (America), who is spending a few weeks in England, and Mr. J. Hunt (Chesterfield), they sat down to a capital repast, provided by Host Crofts, the "Elm Tree" inn. After ringing a good course with the knives and forks, the cloth was removed, and Mr. W. Worthington was voted to the chair, and Mr. S. Price to the vice-chair. After the usual loyal toasts (not forgetting "THE BELL NEWS,") were proposed and responded to, Mr. Madin, in a few remarks on behalf of the Staveley ringers, said that the Society was very proud to have the gentleman from across the Atlantic to dine with them that evening, previous to his returning back to America on Wednesday, August 17th, when he could tell the people of that country that he had found good friends at Staveley which he never expected to do, and concluded by wishing him a safe journey back to his native shore.

Mr. Palmer, in replying, said that he was extremely obliged to the Society for the kind invitation given him to dine with them that evening, and he should never forget the good feeling shown to him. He should not neglect telling the people of America the many friends he had found during his short stay in England.

The chairman next proposed "The Health of the Host and Family," which was received with musical honours.

Mr. Crofts, in replying, said he was extremely obliged to those present for the kind manner in which they had drank the health of himself and family. He was proud to unite himself with the Staveley Society, and he would always do his utmost to provide and make everything pleasant and comfortable. He would never deny them the time or date when the Society arranged for such occasions as these, as he felt deeply interested in them. He concluded by wishing every member present health and prosperity.

During the evening glees, songs, and recitations were given by Messrs. Madin, S. Palmer, Mottershall, Smedley, and Hunt. A few courses of Grandsire Triples were rung on the handbells, and some tune-ringing by Messrs. A. and J. Worthington, etc., which enlivened all present. At eleven o'clock the company retired, after having spent a very comfortable and pleasant evening.

SHARROW CHURCH, SHEFFIELD.

Mr. E. Bernard Tyzack, Shirley Sharrow, Sheffield, has placed a new clock with two large ornamental dials and two bells to the parish church Sharrow, Sheffield, in memory of his Father. The clock strikes the hours and chimes the quarter-hours, and is a first-class piece of workmanship; he has also put a new floor into the tower and other repairs. The clock and bells were supplied and fixed by Messrs. Wm. Potts and Sons, of Guildford Street and Cookridge Street, Leeds, under the supervision of J. B. Mitchell Withers, Esq., Architect, Surrey Street, Sheffield. Messrs. Potts and Sons are also making new clocks for Wollaton church, Nottingham, Gainsborough new market hall, Lincolnshire, and Great St. Mary's church, Cambridge. A new Cambridge quarter clock, shewing the time upon three 7-ft. copper dials, with all the latest improvements inserted, has just been set going at St. Paul's church, Alnwick, Northumberland. This clock has been presented to the church by Mr. Percy, County Coroner of Northumberland, in memory of his parents, and the work has been carried out by the same firm, who are also makers of Lord Grey's clock, Howick Hall; Alnwick and Newcastle-on-Tyne station clocks; the Chesters, near Hexham; the Abbey clock, Hexham; Morpeth station, and the church clock, Whittingham, near Alnwick; and they are now making Great Salkeld church clock and chimes, Cumberland; Hartlepool parish church clock and chimes; Cleckheaton Town Hall clock; Colne, Lancashire, Town Hall clock, etc.

A PEAL OF 362,880 GRANDSIRE CATERS, 6d.

PRESENTATION TO MR. R. HILL, OF SOUTHPORT.

On Saturday, August 6th, at the monthly meeting of the Liverpool Diocesan Branch of the Lancashire Association, held at St. Mary's church, Grassendale, near Liverpool, Mr. Richard Hill, a ringer at Christ Church, Southport, was presented, on behalf of the members, with several useful articles, in recognition of his services as secretary of the branch during the last two years. The presents consisted of an ebony walking-stick and silk umbrella, both being silver-mounted; also a handsome pipe, with case, and a lizard-skin tobacco pouch. The Vicar of the parish presided over the interesting gathering.

Mr. Aspinwall, of Liverpool, in calling upon the chairman to make the presentation, referred in eulogistic terms to the abilities of Mr. Hill as a first-class change-ringer, and to the excellent assistance he had rendered the branch as secretary.

Mr. Gough and Mr. James, of Liverpool, added a few complimentary remarks, the latter gentleman pointing out that the present flourishing condition of the branch was due to the untiring energy and zeal of the secretary. When he accepted that office the branch was like a sinking ship, but now, thanks to Mr. Hill, its condition was prosperous, as the branch was established on a thorough foundation.

The Chairman then performed the pleasing ceremony in a suitable speech, and Mr. Hill duly acknowledged the gifts and heartily thanked the subscribers. The address engraved on the walking stick and umbrella was couched in the following terms: "Presented to Richard Hill by the Liverpool Diocesan Branch of the L.A.C.R., 1892."

LOCKERLEY, HANTS.

Wednesday, August 10th being the third anniversary of the laying of the foundation stone of this church, and the first anniversary of the first peal on the bells, the following members of the Winchester Diocesan Guild paid a visit to the above place: J. Whiting (Fareham), C. Tribe (Southampton), Messrs. J. Elcomb, T. Cole, A. Newman, and G. Newman from Romsey. They were met at the church by the Rector (who we are glad to state is a change-ringer), and was shown over the church, and the splendid new reredos, stained window, and organ-screen were much admired, the gift of F. Delgatta, Esq., of Lockerley Hall, the donor of the church. The tower was then visited, where hangs a nice peal of six by Taylor, of Loughborough. These were soon raised in peal and a start made for a 5040 of Bob Minor, but which, after two or three unsuccessful attempts, was abandoned. Afterwards a well-struck 720 was brought round; also some Grandsire Doubles, both conducted by J. Whiting. The bells were then lowered in peal, and the ringers were invited to the Rectory, to partake of refreshments, for which they wish to heartily thank the Rector, and also for his kind permission to ring, and they hope to attempt another 5040 on some future occasion.

NORTH NOTTS. ASSOCIATION.

On Saturday, August 13th, a mixed company of ringers connected with this Association visited Retford for the purpose of having a ring on the new peal at Ordsall. Arriving by an early train in the afternoon, and permission not being granted until five, the visitors wended their way to East and West Retford. At the former place a 720 of Violet Treble Bob was attempted, but it came to grief, but a good struck touch was afterwards accomplished. S. Tomlinson, 1; D. Russon, 2; G. Barrowcliff, 3; B. Hall, 4; R. Beeston, 5; F. Hargreaves, 6. At West Retford a 720 of Oxford Treble Bob. S. Tomlinson, 1; G. Barrowcliff, 2; H. Haigh, 3; D. Russon, 4; B. Hall, 5; F. Hargreaves, 6. Ordsall was afterwards visited, where another well-struck 720 of Oxford was rung. R. Beeston (conductor), 1; D. Russon, 2; G. Barrowcliff, 3; H. Haigh, 4; B. Hall, 5; F. Hargreaves, 6. A 360 of Oxford with F. Sewell at the tenor was afterwards rung, and a good day's ringing was brought to a conclusion by a 360 of Kent Treble Bob. S. Tomlinson, 1; H. Haigh, 2; R. Beeston, 3; D. Russon, 4; B. Hall, 5; F. Hargreaves, 6. Messrs. Russon, Hargreaves, Fitch and Hall hail from Shireparks; Beeston and Sewell from Blyth, Barrowcliff from Worksop; and Haigh from East Retford. The ringers wish to thank the vicar of East Retford, and the rectors of Ordsall and West Retford, for the use of the bells.

BELLS AND THEIR HISTORY.

FROM THE New England Magazine.

As in Old England, so in New England, is the curfew still heard. In Boston the nine o'clock bell was rung from time immemorial up to within a very few years. So, also, at eight o'clock in the morning and one o'clock in the afternoon. Many Bostonians regretfully miss this good old custom; old, as is witnessed by Joseph Josselyn, who visited Boston in 1763, and in his description says "On the south there is a small but pleasant common, where the gallants a little before sunset walk with their marmalade madams, as we do in Moorsfield, etc., till the nine o'clock bell rings them home to their respective habitations, when presently the constables walk their rounds to see good order kept, and take up loose people."

In many of our towns the curfew still rings o'er hill and dale. In South America it is called the "stay bell"—tonque de la queda—and after it was rung, at ten o'clock, the use of the streets was forbidden by municipal ordinances to the inhabitants of Quito and other Peruvian towns.

The Angelus is a prayer to the Virgin introduced by Pope Urban II. in 1095, as an intercession for the absent crusaders. It begins with the words Angelus Domini, nuntiavit Mariæ—the angel of the Lord announced unto Mary. Then follows the salutation of Gabriel, Ave Maria, etc.

The prayer contains three verses, and each verse ends with the salutation, Ave Maria; and it is recited three times a day, at the ringing of the Angelus bell, so named from the first word in the prayer. After the crusades, the custom languished until, in 1327, Pope John XXIII. ordered all the faithful to recite an Ave Maria at each ringing of the bell. He announced an indulgence for recitation. Other names are Ave Maria bell and the Vesper bell; the latter is the name given by Byron in his paraphrase of a passage in Dante's Purgatorio—

Soft hour, which wakes the wish and melts the heart,
Or fills with love the pilgrim on his way,
As the far bell of vesper makes him start,
Seeming to weep the dying day's decay.

These religious customs are peculiarly beautiful in the lands in which they are practised, and as the melody of a sweet-toned bell vibrates on the air, call forth the most tender sentiments of love and adoration.

Most large bells are old bells. Although England has so many bells and chimes that it has been called the Ringing Island, and Belgium's bells have caused her to be named classic land of bells; yet Russia, perhaps, exceeds all other nations in its fondness for bells, having an immense number of them, and many very large ones.

The king of bells, the largest one in the world, is in Moscow. It was cast first in 1651 and recast in 1734. It remained in the pit where it was cast until 1836, when Nicholas I. caused it to be raised and placed upon a stone pedestal near the tower of Ivan, in the Kremlin, where it now stands.

Moscow is said to have had at one time over 1700 large bells, and as many as 5000 of all sizes. In the Ivan tower alone there are thirty-four, one of which, in the first storey above the chapel, weighs more than sixty tons; it swings freely, is easily rung, and if one smites it with the palm of the hand it responds in a wonderful clear and startling manner. Two others are of solid silver, with very soft, pure tones.

It has been consecrated as a chapel, the door being an aperture six feet high by seven wide at the base, made by the piece, weighing 11 tons, which broke and fell out during the fire of 1737, when water came in contact with the heated metal. This bell is 21 feet high, 21 feet 6 inches in diameter, 24 inches thick, and weighs 432,000 lbs., or something over 200 tons. Some authorities give the weight as 444,000 lbs., or 220 tons. It has bas-reliefs of the Emperor and Empress, the Saviour, the Virgin Mary, and the evangelists. Another bell about half as large required twenty-four men to ring it, and this was done by pulling the clapper.

Spain has some famous bells. The great one at Saragossa is said to ring spontaneously before the death of a sovereign. The bellmaster in the Giralda at Seville, which is 360 feet high, is blind, as are other bellringers of Spain. Of all the bells in Spain that belonging to the cathedral of Toledo is most celebrated for its size and the stories connected with it. In a volume by Hans Christian Anderson, "In Spain," we are told that fifteen shoemakers could sit under it and draw out their cobbler's thread without touching. The weight is said to be 17 tons. There is another story about this bell.

A rich count of Toledo had a son, who, having killed a man in a duel, sought refuge in the cathedral while his father went to Madrid to petition the king for his pardon. "No," said the king, "he who has killed a man must die!" The count continued to petition, and the king to refuse, till at length the king said, wishing to get rid of him, "When you can make a bell at Toledo that I can hear at Madrid I will pardon the young man." Now Toledo is nearly sixty miles from Madrid. The count went home, and some time after, as the king was sitting in his palace at the open window, he heard a distant roll. "God help me!" he cried, "that's the bell of Toledo!" and so the young count obtained his pardon.

The largest bell in America is that of Notre Dame Cathedral, Montreal, which hangs in the south tower. It is 6 feet high, 8 feet 7 inches in diameter, and weighs 24,780 lbs. It is ornamented with images of the Blessed Virgin and St. John the Baptist, together with the emblems of agriculture, commerce, and industry. It was cast in London, and bears the inscription in Latin, "I was cast in the year of the Christian era 1847, the 202nd since the foundation of Montreal, the first of Pius IX.'s pontificate, and the tenth of the reign of Victoria, Queen of England. I am the gift of the merchants, the farmers, and the mechanics of Ville Marie."

In the opposite tower hangs a chime of ten bells, the smallest weighing 897 lbs., the largest 6,011; total, 21,696 lbs.

The largest bell in the United States is the alarm bell on City Hall, New York, which was cast by Blake, of Boston. It is 6 feet high, 6 feet 8 inches in diameter, and weighs 23,000 lbs.

The London Gazette contains a Privy Council Order notifying that the Queen has approved of the Ecclesiastical Commissioners scheme—(1) for constituting a new archdeaconry within the diocese of Worcester, to be called the archdeaconry of Birmingham, and for endowing the same; (2) for creating one new rural deanery, to be called the rural deanery of Aston-juxta-Birmingham, within the proposed archdeaconry of Birmingham, and for creating one other new rural deanery, to be called the rural deanery of Bromsgrove, within the archdeaconry of Worcester; and (3) for altering the names and areas of certain rural deaneries within the two existing archdeaconries of Worcester and of Coventry, both in the diocese of Worcester, and within the proposed archdeaconry of Birmingham.

A gentleman has lately become possessed of what is believed to be one of the earliest timepieces introduced into this country: "Upon taking it to pieces, within a brass cylinder was discovered a faded and time-worn paper, with an inscription stating that the timepiece was discovered in the Monastery of St. Albans, in digging out the ruins of the old wall, and is supposed to be nearly the first timepiece brought into England, being made in Italy. The silver plate in the centre of the dial shows the different aspects of the sun and moon during their annual revolutions. The gold plate shows the day of the month the year round, and also into what sign the sun is for every month in the year."

Dr. Vaughan, Master of the Temple, and Dean of Llandaff, writes to the "Times":—"I am receiving from various quarters a printed circular purporting to be the prospectus of a school, and giving my name at the head of its references. It is prefaced 'Belton Lodge, Harrow.' It represents 'Mr. Walter Seabrooke, M.A., late scholar of Trinity College, Cambridge,' as receiving a few sons of gentlemen in preparation for the Army, Universities, &c. It details the advantages of the house and its appendages, and the domestic supervision of 'Mrs. Seabrooke.' Not recognising the name, nor remembering any consent of mine to the use of my own, I wrote a letter of inquiry, addressing it to the place named in the prospectus. My letter was returned through the Dead Letter Office, with the inscription 'Not known.' I am now informed that the authorities of the Harrow Post-office knew of no such house as Belton Lodge in that neighbourhood. I have made enquiry at Trinity College, Cambridge, and I learn that the name of Walter Seabrooke is not to be found on the register as that of either a scholar or a member of the college during the last seventy years."

YARDLEY, WORCESTERSHIRE.

On Saturday, August 13th, this excellent old ring of five (cast 1638) were re-opened after being overhauled and rehung with new fittings on modern principles, and also retuned. As this place is only a few miles from Birmingham, a contingent of ringers from Bishop Ryder's church—about a dozen—started by 'bus, and arrived at Yardley about 3 p.m. The tower was at once visited, and after a general inspection of the new work the bells were well-struck through some 6-scores of Grandsire and Plain

Bob Doubles by Messrs. Cresser, Porter, Haskley, Hudson, Stevens, Blackburn, Miller, Bluck, Farrell, etc., and after a few fires and touches by the local ringers the bells were lowered in peal. An adjournment was then made to the "Talbot" inn, and refreshments were partaken of, after which some tunes were rendered on the handbells by Messrs. Hodson and Stevens. Also some courses of Grandsire Triples, etc. The 'bus being ready the party made a start for home, which was reached in good time.

Ringers' Outings.

THE ST. GILES' SOCIETY, READING.—On Saturday, August 6th, the members of this Society had their first annual outing. Starting from Reading at 1.15, Waltham St. Lawrence was reached after an hour and a half's pleasant ride. Here was found a grand old church with a peal of six bells, very good toned bells, but sadly out of repair, so that change-ringing was impossible. Having contented themselves with a few rounds a move was made towards White Waltham, and here was found quite a different state of things. The party were met by the Vicar (the Rev. H. M. Dyer), who takes an active interest in bellringing, and who, after showing them the different objects of interest in the church (including the new organ recently added), conducted them to the belfry, which contains a peal of six in good order, and an hour and half's ringing was enjoyed by all. Refreshments were then partaken of, kindly provided by the Vicar, after which another start was made. Passing Boyne Hill church (where they had hoped to have a ring, but were not allowed), Maidenhead was reached, where tea was awaiting them. After spending a couple of hours in Maidenhead a start was made for home, Reading being reached at 10.45, all having thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

THE ST. JOHN'S SOCIETY, SHAROW, YORKS.—On Wednesday evening, August 3rd, seven members of this Society—Messrs. Pick and son, Ingleby, Shepherd, Matson, Gibson and Clark, with the curate (Rev. J. E. Crabtree), responded to the kind invitation of their Vicar (the Rev. Canon H. D. Cust Nunn), to partake of a knife and fork tea. The company met at 7 p.m. on the tennis ground at the Vicarage, and the Canon and Mrs. Nunn and family gave them a hearty welcome. Games of tennis and bowls were indulged in, and at intervals the ringers rung on the handbells courses of Grandsire Doubles, Minor and Triples. About 8.30 p.m. an adjournment was made to the dining room, where the ringers sat down to a sumptuous repast, the Canon and his kind lady presiding. The repast was much enjoyed by all. The company afterwards proceeded to the pleasure ground in front of the Vicarage, which is a most lovely spot for neatness and situation. The handbells were again brought into use, the sound of which brought more company out of the village. The curate, who only came to the parish last Christmas, has kindly visited the ringers on their practice nights whenever he has the opportunity of doing so, and applied himself most enthusiastically to ringing, and he can now master a bell well, and also ring 7-8 in a course of Grandsire Triples very well, and his company is very much enjoyed by the ringers. About 10.30 the Evening Hymn was sung by the company, Mrs. Nunn playing the piano, after which a vote of thanks was proposed by the Captain of the ringers (Mr. T. Clark) to the Canon for his kind and generous entertainment, and added that although it was the first one, they hoped it would not be the last. The Canon said it gave him much pleasure in meeting them altogether, and was sure it would not be the last time (p.v.).

THE YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION (DONCASTER BRANCH).—The members of this branch arranged, on Saturday last, an afternoon outing to Thorne, to enjoy a ring on the newly-hung peal of bells in that village. The bells were formerly a ring of six, but they have recently made into eight by the addition of two trebles. By the kind permission of the Vicar (Rev. F. J. Littlewood), the bells were placed at the disposal of the Doncastrians the whole of the afternoon and evening. After tea, eight members rang in a very creditable manner a date touch of Grandsire Triples, 1892 changes, in 1 hr. 2 mins. This touch was composed by J. B. Fenton, of Lincoln, and conducted by H. Fevre. The band was stationed as follows: H. Fevre, 1; W. Newsome, 2; C. Armitage, 3; G. Marwood, 4; T. Fevre, 5; H. G. Wilson, 6; J. Leach, 7; W. Howard, 8. A very enjoyable half-day was spent.

THE ST. JOHN-AT-HACKNEY SOCIETY.—On Saturday, August 6th, the members of the above society went for their annual outing to Beddington, Surrey. Arriving at Beddington about three o'clock, the bells of the parish church were soon set going in Grandsire and Stedman Caters. Several touches having been successfully brought round, a move was made for the "Plough" inn, where host Watkinson had provided an excellent knife and fork tea, to which it is needless to say the visitors did full justice. Tea over the party went again to the tower for another pull, where they were met by Dr. Carpenter, Rev. E. W. Carpenter, and several of the Beddington ringers. More Stedman Caters and a touch of Double Norwich concluded the ringing at the church. A very pleasant evening was afterwards spent at the "Plough" inn, members of the company exhibiting their vocal abilities, and several courses of Triples and Caters and tunes were played on the handbells. Master J. Cubitt Smith (son of the Master of the College Youths) also gave some selections on the pianoforte. A hearty vote of thanks being accorded to the authorities at Beddington for their urbanity and also for the use of the bells, the company finally dispersed for their respective homes at 10.30 p.m., having spent a most enjoyable afternoon and evening. The society were honoured by the company of several well-known ringers, viz., Messrs. J. R. Haworth, I. Shade, Davis (Greenwich), W. Prime, J. Monday, and others.

THE DARLSTON PARISH CHURCH SOCIETY.—The members of this Society had their annual outing on Saturday, August 1st, about sixteen members and friends attending. Before starting a touch of Darlston Bob Triples (462 changes) was rung at the parish church, conducted by J. Gough. The journey was commenced at 8.30 a.m., and the party proceeded by brake to Patteringham, where on arriving at the Paget Arms inn, a halt for nearly two hours was made for rest and refreshment. Then the handbells were brought out and several tunes were played. Through the kindness of the Vicar of Patteringham, eight of the visitors were enabled to ring a touch of Grandsire Triples, 420 changes, conducted by T. Lowe. Time being called, they again took their seats in their brake, and went on to Enville, and as they journeyed a touch of Grandsire Triples, 210 changes, was rung by J. Tinsley, 1-2; J. Gough, 3-4; W. Smith, 5-6; E. Unite (conductor), 7-8. On arrival at Enville the party at once went to an hotel, where ample refreshments were found most welcome; after which they proceeded to the tower of the parish church, where the Vicar had kindly given them permission to ring, and a touch of Grandsire Triples, 368 changes, was rung, composed and conducted by J. Tinsley. The handbells were again brought out, this time on the lawn at the Vicarage, and several tunes were played, much to the Vicar's satisfaction, who thanked them for entertaining himself and family, and hoped they would come again next year for a full day. Thanking him for his kindness and permission to ring, they took their leave. After enjoying a country ramble the homeward journey was commenced, home being reached at 9.45 p.m.

THE SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.—WARNHAM BRANCH.—This society's annual outing took place on Sunday, July 31st, and Monday, August 1st, the places selected being Hastings and Battle. Leaving Warnham at seven o'clock on July 31st, they reached Hastings at 10.30, and after having some refreshments they proceeded to the beach, some going for a sail, the others going for a walk, meeting again at one o'clock for dinner. That being over they took another stroll till tea time, five o'clock, and that being over, they at once made for the station to catch the 5.55 train to Battle, where all arrangements had been made for the night and the Monday by Messrs. Mathis and Franks. The party reached Battle just in time to hear the local band finish ringing for evening service, and after making the acquaintance of the local band, their captain, Mr. Franks, informed the conductor that they might ring a touch or two after the service was over, which they readily accepted. He said he had been informed that it would require two men to ring the tenor to a peal, as that bell went bad, the bells having only recently been rehung by Messrs. Warner and Sons. After the service was over they rang a touch of Canterbury Pleasure Major and 504 Grandsire Triples, in which Messrs. Franks (2) and Curtis took part; also 420 Oxford Bob Triples, all the touches being conducted by H. H. Chandler. That finished the ringing for the Sunday, and after having some refreshment they retired for the night. The order in the morning was 7 sharp, which hour found them all ready, and after partaking of a good substantial breakfast provided by host Wagstaff, and to which all did justice, they proceeded to the church, and getting the bells in readiness with one of the local band, the question was whether they should start for a peal of Triples with two tenor men, or give the conductor a chance to see if he could ring her single-handed to a peal of Major, as he said he could after ringing the touch of Major on the Sunday. This statement surprised the members of the local band. At 8.15 he called "go," and at 11.15 the welcome words "that's all" came, and ended the first peal ever accomplished on this fine peal of bells, and which was a good peal from beginning to end. After being congratulated by three of their own tenor-men, who so kindly gave way to the conductor to ring her himself, and two or three of the local company, they at once made for some more refreshment and back again in company with several of the local company, and rung a touch of Grandsire Triples and a touch of Court Bob Triples, this ending the ringing. It now being dinner time they proceeded again to The Chequers, where host Wagstaff had again got a substantial repast ready for them, in the shape of roast beef, lamb and green peas, three of the local company dining with them. They had then to leave Battle by the 2.10 train in order to catch a train back again that night to Horsham. Through the medium of this paper the company wish to thank Messrs. Mathis and Franks for so kindly making all arrangements for them, which they so much enjoyed; also to the Dean of Battle for granting them permission for the peal which was recorded in last week's "BELL NEWS."

KELSE, SUFFOLK.—On Monday, August 8th, the ringers, choir, and other friends had their annual outing, the place selected being Yarmouth. Starting by the nine o'clock excursion train, Yarmouth was reached a little after ten, when they dispersed on the beach till dinner-time at one o'clock, which was served at the Aquarium. After dinner the ringers went to the church for a ring, but a funeral taking place they were disappointed, so they returned to the beach till tea at five o'clock. The guard of the train turned out to be one of their old schoolfellows, so he was invited to dinner and tea. After tea the return journey was begun, and home was safely reached about nine o'clock, all having spent a most enjoyable day.

THE HARLOW (ESSEX) COMPANY.—On Wednesday, August 10th, nine members of the above paid a visit to the quaint little town of Hatfield Broad Oak, where they were met by the steeple-keeper, who conducted them round the fine old edifice, and pointed out the many interesting features connected therewith, including the "Vinegar Bible" lately presented by Lord Rookwood. A move was next made to the tower where they found the bells already raised and oiled for them by their guide. They are a fine-toned peal of eight, tenor about 19½ cwt. in E., but to their surprise they noticed that they hung in the reverse order. However a start was made and a course brought round, followed by attempts at other touches, the only one worthy of note being a 504 of Bob Triples. The "go" of the bells is rather uneven, but a little attention from the local band would soon make them pealable. It is to be regretted this band does not attempt anything better than call-changes. Scientific ringing would be greatly appreciated and supported by the vicar, the Rev. F. W. Galpin, who at the conclusion of the ringing met the visitors at the foot of the tower, and generously provided refreshments for all. The visitors wish through the medium of "THE BELL NEWS" to express their thanks to him for his kind reception and use of the bells; also to the steeple-keeper for having everything in readiness.

NOVOCASTRIANS IN CUMBERLAND.—The two Guilds of ringers connected with St. George's and St. John's churches, Newcastle-on-Tyne, decided to amalgamate their annual excursions on bank holiday, August 1st, and spend the day at Brampton, in Cumberland. Eight of the party broke the journey, by kind permission of the N.E.R., at Hexham, to attempt a peal of Stedman Triples on the beautiful Abbey bells, but a great and grievous disappointment awaited them. A start was made at 9.45, and some capital ringing done till 12.15, when a stumble and change-course amongst the dodging bells brought it to a stand after 4116 changes had been scored. C. L. Routledge (conductor), 1; W. Holmes, 2; H. Lindsey, 3; A. Hillier, 4; W. Story, 5; J. Simm, 6; F. Lees, 7; G. Dixon, 8. Tenor 22 cwt. In the meantime the rest of the party numbering about twelve, visited the seat of the Earl of Carlisle, Naworth Castle, and as nearly all were strangers to these parts, they experienced a real treat, for the grounds and castle are as historical as they are beautiful. An excellent dinner was served up at the Howard Arms hotel, Brampton, in two instalments, hostess Bell kindly doing this to suit the party ringing at Hexham. The loss of such a good peal did not seem however to have materially affected the appetites of anyone, judging from the masterly manner in which the edibles were popped out of sight. After dinner some rambled over the ancient border town, while the captain of the St. Martin's ringers, Mr. C. Cheesbrough, conducted the rest into his department of the church. The bells are a sweet-toned ring of six, tenor 10 cwt. in A., and run well, the only difficulty being the awkward arrangement of the ropes, the treble being placed quite out of the circle behind the third. A touch of Bob Minor and 720 Kent (the first of Treble Bob on the bells) were rung by G. Campbell, 1; W. Story, 2; F. Lees, 3. C. L. Routledge (conductor), 4; A. Hillier, 5; W. Holmes, 6. After tea those who had not yet rung on the bells went up to the tower, whilst the others went roaming over the beautifully-wooded hills surrounding the tower, where the bells were heard to perfection. The journey home was enlivened with the handbells and chorus singing; then one of the older and more staid ones playfully romped from one end of the compartment to the other for about half an hour, thereby upsetting the dignity and equanimity of the whole party. Another of the party, who had lost his ticket, though he cannot yet "dodge" his bell, soon demonstrated to the party that he could dodge a ticket-collector when necessary. The ended a most pleasant day. The thanks of the party are due to the vicar and churchwardens of Hexham and Brampton for the use of the bells, and to the Brampton ringers for having the belfry opened ready for them.

THE ST. PETER'S SOCIETY, BRIGHTON.—On Monday, August 1st, by the kind invitation of Mr. Attree, a most enjoyable day was spent by members of this society. Leaving Brighton at 8.10 a.m., East Grinstead was reached about 10.0, and here Mr. Attree was in readiness with a brake and pair. A drive of three miles brought the party to Forest-row, where luncheon was partaken of on the lawn at Mr. Attree's house, which was much enjoyed by all. A ramble round the gardens, and a course each of Grandsire Triples and Caters on the handbells, preceded another ride by road to Tunbridge Wells, the scenery on the way being magnificent. Halts were made for a pull on the six bells at Hartfield and Withyham, but a plain course of Treble Bob and a 6-score of Stedman Doubles were sufficient to satisfy the ambition of the party, the bells at each church being sadly in want of rehanging. Tunbridge Wells was reached about 4.0 p.m., and a good meat tea was partaken of at The Castle hotel, then on to the church of St. Peter-in-the Fields, where a peal of Double Norwich was contemplated, but after ringing only about four courses, the rope of the 5th came unstranded, and the attempt had to be abandoned. Afterwards touches of London and Superlative Surprise Major and Stedman Triples were brought round, the local men taking part in the latter. The band left Tunbridge Wells by train for Brighton, which place was safely reached about midnight, all having spent an enjoyable day, thanks to the kindness of Mr. Attree. Those who took advantage of the day's outing were Messrs. Weston, King, Reilley, Jay, Merritt, Fuller, Hart, and Williams; and Mr. Palmer, of the St. Nicholas' society. G. W.

At the meeting of the executive committee of the Waifs and Strays Society at the Church House on Monday last, General Lowry in the chair, it was reported that the receipts during the last fortnight, including a gift of £1000 for the proposed new premises for the St. Nicholas Home for crippled children from Miss Anderson, amounted to £2359, and that the payments were £1451. The deficit on the general fund was reduced to £288. It was reported that a lady had offered £100 if nine others would give a like sum, and another had promised £25 if nineteen others would give a similar donation towards the alterations, furnishing stock, and implements necessary for establishing the Walsham Home. A most satisfactory report was read from the St. David's Diocesan Inspector as to the religious instruction in the Mumbles Home. It was reported that twenty children had been emigrated to Canada since the last meeting.

The Bell News & Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 13, 1892.

THE question put by one of our correspondents in this number relative to the truth or otherwise of a peal in the case of a certain event happening during its progress, is more difficult to answer than at first appears. "If a bell gets out of course at any time during a peal, would that invalidate the said peal?" Such is our correspondent's interrogatory, and the way it is put prevents a decisive reply. We would point out to our correspondent that a bell never changes its course by itself; two bells at least must be involved. In some cases when a change-course has occurred the disaster may be remedied by an experienced bob-caller and composer. For instance, if a peal of Grandsire or Stedman Caters was in progress, and the bob-caller at once detected a change-course by two bells, he would be able, if he possessed the ability, to make a true peal of it notwithstanding. But in a peal of Triples, where the extent of changes on the bells is to be rung, it is obvious to the meanest capacity that if two bells have changed course, for however short a period, the truth of the peal is destroyed. It is of no use blinking this fact. Perhaps the "putting right" of two bells which have gone astray for a few changes—or it may be for a few leads—is not an uncommon occurrence, but the verdict of "no peal" is in such instances the correct one. To enquire if a peal of Triples be true, when at the same time a change-course is admitted, betrays a simplicity which arouses one's risible faculties.

It is to be feared that the desire to obtain peals is too often gratified without that regard for truth and genuineness which every ringer ought to have. This week we have another deplorable instance, narrated by Mr. W. T. PATES, of Cheltenham. The suggestion that this attempt would have been recorded as a true peal, had its falseness not been discovered, we entirely agree with. That a ringer like Mr. W. H. FUSSELL should make such a display of bob-calling when better men than himself were present, who would instantly detect any mistake, seems strange, to say the least; and as he is one whom we are proud to number among our friends, we are exceedingly sorry to note that more than one instance of his bob-calling has been called into question.

It would be well if some scheme could be devised whereby no peal should be recognised as such unless vouchers of some sort were produced for its truth. And also that when bob-callers persist in ringing false peals, a penalty of some kind should cling to them. Whoever knowingly foists a false peal upon the Exercise should, if possible, be debarred from again attempting another display of such ingenuity.

INFORMATION WANTED.

SIR,—Will you kindly inform me if a bell gets out of course at any time during a peal, would that invalidate the said peal. A peal was attempted a short time since, I noticed a clash for some minutes, but as they did not stop the ringing, it is claimed as a peal by the ringers. I, being a ringer, informed the conductor they broke down, since which time he has acknowledged to me a bell was out of course. And another of the band told me the same. If you would kindly publish the above in your ensuing number I shall be greatly obliged, as perhaps other bellringers would like to reply to it.

RINGER.

SIR,—In the issue of "THE BELL NEWS" for August 6th, I notice that the Llandaff Cathedral Society paid a visit to Weston and rung ten 6-scores. From there they went to Banwell and rang two more 6-scores; they say the tenor is "28 cwt. 3 qrs. 14 lbs. not 35 cwt. as stated by the ringers of St. John's, Cardiff." Will they be kind enough to say where they got the weight from, as Mr. Castle (churchwarden), also Mr. Shallish (sexton), told the ringers of St. John's that the weight was 35 cwt. They are good enough to give the names of the ringers that rung at Weston, why don't they give the names of the men that rang at Banwell?

EDWARD COOK.

FALSE PEAL RINGING.

SIR,—On August Bank Holiday, ringers from Cheltenham went by train to Hereford, and then boated on the river Wye to Holme Lacey, where I understand a peal has never been rung on the bells. On arriving at the church, we found other ringers waiting for us. We ascended the tower and started for Holt's Original peal of Grand-sire Triples. Mr. Fussell, the late instructor to the Hereford Guild, was calling the bobs. I followed the peal for about sixty minutes, thinking we should have the first peal on the bells, and help to add to our day's enjoyment. After ringing about two hours and thirty minutes, and looking for the plain course, me and my friend Roberts looked at each other, when a bob brought up 253746, but to our surprise a bob was called the next lead. Mr. Fussell still went on calling bobs, and us ringing in misery. How long the calling had been going wrong, perhaps Mr. Fussell knows; in about fifteen minutes after the above change was brought up a change-course occurred, still the calling was continued, we rang on for about 700 changes, having the same changes repeating over and over, and there are other well-known ringers who were in the attempt who can testify to this statement. At last the watch that Mr. Fussell had placed in the window before "go" was called showed that the peal should have been finished. The reason I went on ringing was, I thought I should be in one of the so-called watch peals which have been recorded so much in the past, but when the second bell was called before, I set my bell, and told Mr. Fussell what had happened. His answer to this was, "I know the bells were out of course, and that the first lead of the plain course had been rung." If a young band of ringers had been ringing, I presume the first peal of Triples would have been recorded in "THE BELL NEWS."

32, Victoria Place, Cheltenham.

W. T. PATES.

A FALSE PEAL.

SIR,—I beg to state that the 5024 Bob Major by J. B. Fenton, published in last week's issue is false, the lead-end following 23546 (the half peal-end) being bobbed repeats with the lead following 42536 (the 42nd course-end) being plain.

T. BENNETT.

2, Percy Place, Epsom Road, Guildford.

A CORRECTION.

SIR,—Kindly correct name of the ringer of the tenor in the peal at Northampton, rang on Thursday, August 4th, the name is Ernest R. Maule, not Ernest R. Maude, as it is in "THE BELL NEWS."

22, Raglan Street, Northampton.

J. S. WHITE.

IRTHLINGBOROUGH, NORTHANTS.

"IRTHLINGBOROUGH TOWER RESTORATION."

"Dear Sir,—Will you kindly allow me space in your columns to make another appeal to the nobility and gentry of the county on behalf of the restoration of our famous church tower? The work of restoration is now going on, and we hope to be able to complete the tower itself, without the lantern, before the winter. Unless some outside help is forthcoming we shall then have to stop, and the restoration of the lantern will be indefinitely postponed. Surely those who are interested in the preservation of ancient buildings will do something towards preserving in its entirety one of the most interesting works of art, from an antiquarian and archaeological point of view, in the whole country! The inhabitants of Irtlingborough have worked hard and given generously towards the tower, of which they are so proud, but they can do very little more. There is no hiding the fact that if the work has to be stopped now there is very little probability of its being continued in our generation, and Irtlingborough tower, with the beautiful and unique octagon lantern, famous in all ancient and modern archaeological records, will be lost to the country. £1,500 more would enable us to complete the work, re-hang the bells, and repair the old college buildings between the tower and the church. Any information will be gladly afforded by myself or the churchwardens.—I am, Sir, your obedient servant,

EDWARD BISCOE,

Vicar of Irtlingborough."

THE CHURCH BELLS OF BUCKINGHAMSHIRE. By ALFRED HENEAGE COCKS, M.A., Ch. Ch., Oxford; F.Z.S., F.R.G.S., Great Marlow, Bucks. With many Illustrations.

MESSRS. JARROLD & SONS have pleasure in announcing the early publication by subscription of this most interesting and important work. It will contain an account of all the Church Bells in Buckinghamshire, with everything relating to their history that can be discovered. Full accounts of all the Founders whose bells hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County, including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. The work was undertaken at the instigation of the late J. C. L. Stahl Schmidt, Esq., author of "Surrey Bells and London Bell-founders," "The Church Bells of Kent," "Herts," etc.; and the fact that the author had the benefit of the kind assistance and advice of this well-known campanologist may be mentioned as some guarantee of the scope and nature of the present work. Mr. Stahl Schmidt wrote the author, that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting county," and he repeated this opinion in a subsequent letter. The "Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 600 pages, & be handsomely illustrated with 24 full-page plates of mediaeval letterings, founders' marks, etc., found on Bells still existing in the County and numerous figures—some of them being peculiar to Bucks—will be inserted in the text. The 8vo. Edition is limited to 350 copies, and will be offered to subscribers before the day of publication at 25s. nett. The Larger Edition, Royal 4to, is limited to 80 copies, and will be subscribed at 42s. The prices will be raised on the day of issue should any copies remain unsold.

"My Dear Doctor,—Allow me to express my sincere thanks for the skill and attention displayed in the construction of my Artificial Teeth, which render my mastication and articulation excellent. I am glad to bear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. DR. GEO. H. ### CONSECRATION OF NEW BELLS IN THE ISLE OF THANET.

Thursday, August 8th, will long be remembered as a great day at the church of St. Peter, Isle of Thanet, that day being selected for the consecration of two additional bells to the old ring, making thereby a ring of eight. Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, bellfounders, of Whitechapel, were engaged to carry out the work, and they have made an excellent splice upon the old musical six, which will tend to put some other recent additions in the county of Kent into the shade. The "go" of the bells (tenor 15½ cwt. in G.) is all that can be desired. The Honorary Secretary of the Canterbury district of the Kent County Association—Mr. Alfred Foreman—was invited by the Vicar of St. Peter's—the Rev. Alfred Whitehead, M.A.—to make arrangements for the opening, and the following members attended for that purpose: Messrs. G. Goodbourn (Canterbury), G. A. Ransom (Boughton), G. L. Graham, Esq., and Captain Wood (Faversham), H. and E. Foreman (Hornhill), and G. Willshire (Birchington).

The ringing during the day was Grandsire Triples, and before the consecration service Captain Wood called touches of 504 and 462 in that method. After the service A. Foreman called a touch (composed by him for the purpose) containing Queens, tittums, etc.; Messrs. Ransom, E. Foreman, and Goodbourn also called touches; and in the aggregate about 4000 changes were rung.

The dedication service was conducted by the Vicar, and a choir of well-cultivated voices rendered the musical portion of the service. At 6 o'clock the visiting ringers, with the local band, were invited by the Vicar to a substantial meat tea. After the repast, Mr. A. Foreman proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar for his kind hospitality; and in reply the rev. gentleman thanked them for their kind attendance. At 7.0 the visitors returned home much gratified with the day's proceedings.

THE CREWE SOCIETY.

On Saturday, August 13th, ten members of this Society visited Acton, near Nantwich, by kind invitation of the Rev. — Hodge, Vicar of Acton. Arriving there a move was made to the tower and a 6-score of Doubles rung. J. Wright, 1; A. Jarvis, 2; R. Langford, 3; R. T. Holding, 4; G. Harding, 5; J. Emery, 6. Some 6-scores were also rung with A. Harding, W. Evetts, and J. Emery on the treble, J. Wright and A. Wilson the 3rd, and A. Dudley on the 6th. Six courses of Minor were then rung to see if it were possible to ring a 720 in the Grandsire method, as the bells were going rather heavy. It being thought possible a start was made, and a well-struck 720 of Minor was rung in 30 mins. J. Wright, 1; A. Wilson, 2; A. Jarvis, 3; R. Langford, 4; G. Harding, 5; R. T. Holding (conductor), 6. The local ringers then took to the ropes and rang some very good call-changes. They are a young band, having only started since Easter, at which time the old band for some reason left, and it is their intention to start change-ringing with the help of the Chester Guild (Crewe Branch). The ringers then to the number of sixteen adjourned to the Vicarage, where a most sumptuous tea was provided, presided over by Mrs. Hodge, she being assisted by the Vicar and the Misses Hodge. After tea a vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. A. Wilson to the Vicar and the lady members of his family for providing for the visitors' enjoyment, and seconded by R. T. Holding.

The Vicar suitably responded, and said he thought their best thanks were due to the Crewe ringers for coming over and ringing on their bells in the manner that they had done, and he was very pleased that they had succeeded in ringing the first 720 of Minor ever rung on the bells.

After a few more touches on the tower bells by the express wish of the Vicar, home was started for and Crewe reached about ten o'clock, every one being delighted with his visit. It is intended to rehang the peal shortly, as they go very heavy and stand in urgent need of repair.

ST. CHAD'S, SHREWSBURY.

The centenary of the building of this church was celebrated on Friday, August 19th. The St. Peter's company, Wolverhampton, were specially engaged for the occasion. Ringing commenced at 9 a.m., and with the assistance of Mr. T. J. Bratton, of Welshpool, several touches of Grandsire Caters were rung before and after service, conducted by Messrs. Bratton and Groves. After dinner an attempt was made for a peal of Grandsire Caters, which had to be given up after ringing over 4000 changes in 2 hrs. 52 mins., owing to one of the bells going bad, which was afterwards found to be loose on the stock and catching the frame. C. F. Vickers, 1; W. Jukes, 2; B. Dalton, 3; C. Marsh, 4; J. Fowler, 5; J. Marsh, 6; T. J. Bratton, 7; A. Griffiths, 8; J. E. Groves (conductor), 9; H. Roden, 10. Tenor 41 cwt. This is the longest time that this bell has been rung single-handed. The ringers were afterwards entertained to a capital meat tea by Mr. R. S. Hughes, senior warden, to which full justice was done. Here a course of Grandsire Caters was rung on the handbells. C. F. Vickers, 1-2; J. Fowler, 3-4; J. E. Groves, 5-6; B. Dalton, 7-8; T. J. Bratton, 9-10.

THE CHURCH OF ALL HALLOWS BARKING.

On Wednesday week application was made to the London Consistory Court for a faculty to erect a side chapel and to make sundry other improvements and alterations in the church. Permission was also asked for the removal of certain tombstones and human remains so that the churchyard might be converted into a recreation ground and garden. The total cost of the proposed alterations was stated at £8,000, of which £2,000 had already been subscribed. The Chancellor, who had inspected the church with the vicar, churchwardens, and vestry clerk, thought the proposed alterations were desirable. The churchyard was full of human remains, and the court would order that those which were removed should be interred in the consecrated portion of Ilford Cemetery; also that notice of such removal should be inserted in the newspapers, so that any persons interested might be able to select the place in Ilford, or any other cemetery, where they wished their relatives' bodies to be interred.

It would be well if the authorities of this church could be induced to re-hang the bells, and put the interior of the tower, from the top to bottom, into a condition more befitting the sanctuary. At our last visit to All Hallows the interior of the tower at the basement was in a disgraceful state, and we have not heard since that any efforts have been made therein in the direction of cleanliness.

THE NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A successful meeting in connection with the Beccles district was held at Bungay, on Saturday, August 20th, Beccles and Bungay being well represented, other ringers also being present from Halesworth, Wenhaston, Loddon and Kelsale. Some good touches of Treble Bob, Grandsire and Bob Major were rung, including a quarter-peal of Grandsire and a 1008 of Major. The meeting promises to add several new members to the Association. During the summer this district has held several meetings with the five-bell men, that have been very well attended, there being a good many peals of five in the district.

The Bishop of Guildford was, we regret to say, among the numerous persons who were injured by the fall of a grand stand at Buxton on Wednesday. About a thousand persons it appears, were on the stand at the annual horse show in that place. Without any warning the stand collapsed, and all these were, so to speak, suddenly buried in the mass of falling timber. Fortunately no one was killed, but many had limbs broken, or were otherwise injured. Dr. Sumner's injury was a broken leg. We are requested to state that Mrs. Sumner finds it impossible to acknowledge the many kind letters and telegrams she is receiving about the Bishop of Guildford's accident. "She would like to thank all her friends for their valued sympathy. The Bishop is going on as well as possible, though a fracture of the right leg must take time to mend."—Guardian.

FRANK BUCKLAND AMONG THE RINGERS.

In the very interesting life of Frank Buckland, the celebrated naturalist, the following account of a visit he made to a belfry, on a ringers' practice night, is given. A long enquiry in December, 1874, into the bye-laws of the Wye fishery, brought him into the neighbourhood of Ross, and he diversified his labours by, as he says, "an examination of the beautiful peal of bells in the beautiful church of Ross." The following is his humorous description of the visit:—

"One evening during the progress of the inquiry, when inspecting the shops, a magnificent peal of bells began to ring. Having but once before seen a church belfry, when they were ringing a peal, I determined, if possible, to get up into the belfry. With some difficulty, having no light, we found the little door at the base of the tower, and, after shouting awhile, a man came down with a candle in an ancient horn lantern. I then went up and up and up some very narrow and much worn stairs, till I arrived at the belfry. Imagine a largish room quite square, four bits of candle burning a dim light, from the ends of a very primitive chandelier made up of laths, a creaky floor, a roof of antiquated timbers, an old man and a charity boy on a form in the middle, the solemn tick, tick, of the church clock, and eight men, each standing by a rope, and you will have some idea of the scene which presented itself to my view. The chief of the ringers gave me a very kind welcome; and after giving some mysterious orders to the ringers, who went each to his rope, at a signal given off went the merry bells, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, again and again for about five times. The leader then cried loudly, 'Bob'! and the bells instantly altered to (as I understood afterwards) 2, 1, 3, 5, 4, 7, 6, 8; then to 3, 2, 1, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8; and so on for a considerable time, interspersed with the orders loudly given every now and then 'Single'! 'Bob'! till at last the poor bells seemed suddenly to recover their senses, and away they went loudly 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8; and then 'Halt!' This peal-ringing was evidently hard work, but the music was beautiful. It was a peal of 'Grandsire Triplets,' whatever that may mean. Grandsire, I believe, is the name of a man who was a great authoeity on bell-ringing. An inscription on the wall was pointed out to me with evident pride, which reads as follows:—'February 11, 1851, was rung in this tower a true and complete peal of Grandsire Triplets, containg 5,040 changes, in three hours and two minutes, being the first true peal ever rung in this country.' Then came the names of the ringers.

"I was then permitted to ring a bell, and was surprised to find the tremendous velocity and power with which the rope, at a certain stage of the pull, rushes upwards. This is very dangerous to novices, who might get entangled in the rope, and smashed by it against the roof above. It requires great knack to pull the rope at a certain instant so as to make the bell speak. How the men manage, under these circumstances, to ring a peal, especially with changes, I cannot understand. I was told that the bells were then 'raised,' that is they were standing with their mouths uppermost, and, as time was getting on, the ringers must 'fall' them, i.e. bring them back very gradually back to their original position, with the mouths downwards. This 'falling the bells' took some time, during which many musical combinations took place most enchanting to the ear; they ended, as usual, with a half-faint 1, 2, 3, 4, 6, 7, 8.

"I spread the news of my discovery of the bell-ringers at Ross Church among those present at the Inquiry, and the ringers promised to ring us another peal the following evening. We had to wait till the evening church service was over, when a goodly company of strangers visited the belfry. The ringers then took extra pains with their complicated change-ringing, which is far beyond my comprehension, and even, I have reason to know, past the understanding of the learned lawyers assembled. They cross-examined the ringers again and again, but could make nothing of it. I never saw lawyers so completely stumped before, and this by eight honest hard-working men, a mason, a wheelwright, a tailor, a tallow-chandler, a shoemaker, a ploughman, &c. Trahit sua quemque voluptas was here well explained. The lawyers knew their business the ringers knew theirs. When the men had rung a beautiful peal, they offered to muffle the bells in our honour. The bells are generally only muffled at Christmas. Muffling the bells, I was told, means tying a bit of leather on the clappers, so that the sound is subdued. While two men went up to muffle the bells, the ringers sat down in a row on a form, each with a hand-bell in his hand. By interchanging these bells they rang a very pretty peal, and then standing up, played several good tunes on these hand-bells.

"The bells being now muffled, the men rang another peal, the effect of which was exceedingly beautiful. I then with my colleague, Mr. Walpole, went right up into the steeple, and stood upon the beam, close over the eight great bells, as they were giving out their iron voices. The noise here was tremendous. By signs alone could we speak, but it was a grand sight to see the bells swinging in great circles, with tremendous power and swiftness, and then to see them instantly stopped in their wild career, and made to speak by the comparatively feeble hand of the man at the rope below. The sight of these eight bells all swinging, apparently madly, and without order, and yet giving out a most musical peal, which (when the bells are not muffled) can be heard eight miles off, was grand in the extreme. After looking well at the bells, I sent down word to ask the ringers to 'fall' them; and it was very interesting to see, how neatly and gently the bells began to lessen their speed, then seem to despair of their work, then labour heavily at it, then begin to slumber, and at last fall into the deep heavy sleep, which they have enjoyed more or less for one hundred and eighty Christmas days! Taking a generation at thirty years, these bells must have rung their Christmas peal to no less than six generations of the inhabitants of Ross since the reign of king William III., A.D. 1695, when the 'Man of Ross,' John Kyrle, gave the big bell. It is said that the Man of Ross was present at the casting of the tenor or great bell, and that he took with him an old silver tankard, which, after drinking claret and sherry, he threw in and had it cast with the bell. By a curious coincidence this bell unexpectedly fell off the wheel soon after John Kyrle's funeral."

MANCHESTER CATHEDRAL RESTORATION.—According to the Manchester Courier, the lowering of the Cathedral floor, which has been going on in the Trafford and Browne chapels, on the south side, for some weeks, is now being extended throughout the nave. It is expected that the work will be completed by the first Sunday in September. Probably the new south porch will be ready for opening about the same period.

CHOIR SCREEN, TEWKESBURY ABBEY.—An oak choir screen, from a design by Mr. J. Oldrid Scott, has recently been erected in Tewkesbury Abbey. The new screen stands under the western arch of the tower, and completes the enclosure of the choir. It consists of a central arch, with openings on each side; the cornice overhangs considerably towards the east and west, and is enriched with a cresting of intricate design as well as with a belt of hanging tracery. The total height from the nave floor to the top of the cresting is about 17 ft. Above this rises the cross, about 9 ft. high, with figures of the Blessed Virgin and St. John on each side.

CHURCH BELL RINGING AT ELECTIONS.—Some time ago Colonel Gordon Ives, of Hampshire, addressed a letter to the Bishop of Winchester, calling attention to the fact that certain church bells were rung in his neighbourhood during the recent election to celebrate political victories. In reply the Bishop says:—"I regret to learn that the church bells were rung (I am sure without any intention of giving offence) on the recent occasion of political elections. Such action appears to me to be as much a blunder as an injustice. The Church is comprehensive of all citizens who love their country, and who to the best of their power exercise their trust of sending representatives to administer her affairs. Church bells are hung in what is a temple of peace to summon Christian people to the worship of God, and not to mortify, in the moment of their disappointment, those who have honestly tried to do their duty, to whatever party they may belong. I strongly deprecate, in the interests of all parties, such unjustifiable use of church bells, and trust that the ill-considered action of which you reasonably complain may never be repeated.—Birmingham Argus."

Ringers' Outings.

THE ST. MARY'S SOCIETY, BUCKNALL, STAFFORDSHIRE.—This society had their annual outing on Friday, August 12th, the place selected being Blackpool. Taking advantage of the Conservative trip, which started from Bucknall at 3.45 a.m., we arrived at Blackpool about 7.40. We beguiled the tediousness of the long railway journey by ringing on the handbells, and succeeded in ringing a 720 Bob Minor which we believe to be the first 720 on handbells by members of the Stoke Archidiaconal Association, of which our society forms a branch. C. Preston, 1; W. Wheeldon, 2; R. W. Twigg, 3; J. E. Wheeldon, 4; J. Warren, 5; W. Twigg (conductor), 6; G. Hobbs, 7; T. Bailey, 8. On arriving at Blackpool the party partook of a hearty breakfast at the Waverley Cafe, after which they made their way to St. John's church, and having obtained permission to ring for an hour the bells were soon raised in peal, and after two attempts succeeded in ringing a 720 Oxford Bob in 29 mins. on the front six, with the 7-8 covering. C. Preston, 1; R. W. Twigg, 2; J. E. Wheeldon, 3; J. Warren, 4; G. Hobbs, 5; W. Twigg (conductor), 6; E. Horne (Tunstall), 7; T. Bailey, 8. Time being up the bells were lowered in peal; some of the party then ascended the tower, from the top of which a magnificent view of Blackpool was obtained, the rest of the morning being spent on the splendid promenade. At one o'clock the ringers met at the cafe, where an excellent dinner was partaken of. Having supplied the innman, several of the party hired a waggone to St. Ann's-on-the-Sea, where after some little difficulty in obtaining permission to ring, the Rector being from home, a 720 Bob Minor was rung on seven bells, the second being left out and the tenor covering. C. Preston, 1; G. Smith (Tunstall), 3; W. Wheeldon, 4; J. E. Wheeldon, 5; G. Hobbs, 6; W. Twigg (conductor), 7; E. Horne, 8. Returning from St. Ann's tea was partaken of, and after strolling about a little we made our way to Talbot Road station, from which the train started with praiseworthy punctuality at 7.40 and Bucknall was safely reached at 12.30, having spent a most enjoyable day, the weather having been most favourable. We wish through the medium of this paper to thank the clergy of the two churches for the use of the bells, and also the tower-keepers for their kindness and courtesy. W. T.

HALEWOOD SOCIETY, LANCASHIRE.—Our first annual outing took place on Saturday, August 20th, the place selected being Shrewsbury, in company with Mr. Robert Williams, instructor, of Liverpool, with his son William, left Halebank station at 7.5 a.m., arriving at Shrewsbury at 9.50.; the first move being to order dinner at the Welcome Temperance Hotel, then to St. Mary's church, and was received by Mr. Price, the kind and obliging ringer and caretaker. After an inspection of the sacred edifice we ascended the tower, when Mr. Price played on the chimes, the "Minstrel Boy," in capital style, but owing to a defect in the tower no ringing could take place. With our guide Mr. Price, we visited St. Chad's peal of twelve, but owing to so much ringing having been done on the two days previous, in honour of the centenary of the church, and flower show, we could not get a pull, owing to complaints of so much ringing. We now made for the Welcome Hotel, for dinner, and the courses were got through in capital style, until the bob-caller called stand, owing to so many courses coming up, which he could not get through. It was then proposed by Mr. Robert Williams that the healths of the rev. Rector, Mr. Gibson, and Messrs. Neilsons and Wood, churchwardens, be drunk, thanking them for their kindness in defraying all expenses, and hoping they may live long and do the same again. A move was then made for St. Alkmund's tower, with our friend the guide and Mr. Boylaw, steeple-keeper; on the first pull of a bell we were asked to stop owing to an old gentleman, 90 years of age dying, but had been deaf all his life, and on his death-bed the sound of the bells made his head ache. We then adjourned to the old Abbey church, a grand ring of eight bells, tenor 29 cwt., the ringing room having been spoiled by being carried close to the bells, sallies going round the wheels. And the noise like artillery, and owing to the large beams upright and cross, you have to peep in, between, and round corners, and then cannot see your next man, but we managed to ring three leads of Triples, Mr. Price at the second, but owing to the bad go of the 2nd, and Mr. Price getting his hand hurt, we gave up. We beg to tender our thanks to Mr. Price our esteemed friend, and Mr. Boylaw, for their untiring efforts on our behalf. We arrived home safe at 11 p.m. after four change courses on the journey. And parted with success to "THE BELL NEWS." R. W.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.—TANFIELD BRANCH.—This band had their annual outing to Sunderland on the 6th inst. Starting from home at 7.30 they arrived at 10 o'clock, and set off to visit the park and other places of interest in the town. After partaking of dinner they were joined by their esteemed instructor, Mr. F. J. Harrison, of Jarrow, and thence repaired to Bishopwearmouth belfry. Their first performance was 720 of Canterbury Pleasure. F. Lowe, 1; H. Beasley, 2; H. Tyson, 3; T. Brewis, 4; W. Brewis, 5; F. J. Harrison (conductor), 6. They next rung 360 of College Single. F. Lowe, 1; T. Brewis, 2; H. Tyson, 3; H. Dawson, 4; T. Hudson, 5; F. J. Harrison (conductor), 6. They also attempted a 720 of Kent, but broke down after ringing 360 changes. The bells were then lowered, and they proceeded to Mr. Hudson's house, when they brought the handbells out, and played several selections, after which they went to the Black Swan Hotel, and had tea at the kind invitation of the hostess, Mrs. Kerr. The handbells were brought into use again with tunes and change-ringing, to the delight of the inmates. It was then time to proceed home, where they arrived at 11 o'clock, well satisfied with their outing, for which they thank, through "BELL NEWS," the vicar, and also Mr. Hudson and Mrs. Kerr. On Sunday, the 7th inst., for Divine service in the morning, 720 Oxford Bob Minor, and for Divine service in the evening 720 Oxford Bob Minor, with the bells deeply muffled in respect to our vicar (Rev. T. H. Archdall) through the loss of his youngest daughter. G. Murghson, 1; W. Brewis, 2; H. Tyson, 3; T. Brewis, 4; F. Lowe, 5; F. J. Harrison (conductor), 6.

THE PARISH CHURCH SOCIETY, NEWCHURCH.—The outing of this society was appointed for Saturday, August 20th, when at 5.35 the ringers, their wives and friends started for Blackpool in four engaged carriages, beautiful weather being in their favour. Blackpool was reached about 8.40, when the party sat down to a substantial breakfast, after which the company separated, some going for a sail, and others to Uncle Tom's. They then partook of dinner, and then went for a drive to Lytham, and through the beautiful park to St. Cuthbert's church, where they rung a touch of 672 changes. After thanking the vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells, and also Mr. Miller for taking part with them, they drove to St. Ann's, where they inspected the monument erected to the lifeboat crew. Blackpool was reached about six o'clock, and after having a pleasant drive, they sat down to a good tea, and spent the rest of the night at the Royal Palace gardens. Starting from the Central Station at 10.40, they reached home about 2.30 a.m., every one having thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

THE ST. MICHAEL'S SOCIETY, MELBOURNE, DERBYSHIRE.—On Saturday, August 6th, this society had their annual outing to Loughborough. Leaving Melbourne by the 8.45 train for Castle Donington, where a brake and pair was in readiness, they started and soon arrived at Kigworth, where permission had been obtained to ring on the peal of six. The company soon had the bells going in Grandsire Minor and Doubles. After a short stay they started for Loughborough, where they arrived about 11.45 a.m. The first on the programme was to visit Messrs. Taylors' Bell Foundry, which was very much enjoyed by the members. After having looked round the works, an adjournment was made for dinner. After having refreshed the inner man, ringing was the next order of the day. The company met at the parish church of All Saints, and with the assistance of their Loughborough friends, including the Messrs. Taylor, short touches of Grandsire Triples and Caters, and Bob Major were successfully rung. After spending a short time with the Loughborough friends, a move was made for home by way of the Charnwood Forest, and after about a three hours' drive they arrived at Melbourne at 10 o'clock, after spending a most enjoyable day's outing.

SPORTS AND SPORTSMEN.

SIR,—You have been pleased more than once to decry practices which the uninitiated and the vulgar are accustomed to call "sport," but which are very far removed from it. Under the belief that the accompanying article, taken from a highly respectable daily journal, would commend itself to you and to your readers, I take the liberty of asking you to insert it in the slack season. There is sport and sport, you see, and while you may condemn as much as you like many things called "sport" which the common law of the land ought to deal with, yet you will not deny that real English "sport," which has been known in this country for generations, ought not to come under your condemnation. The article I send is evidently written by a sportsman of the true breed. Here it is:—

'SPORTS AND SPORTSMEN.

'Few words are so grievously misunderstood and ill-used as those which head this article. Possibly the compilers of accepted dictionaries did not truly appreciate the meaning of the terms. The first interpretation of the word sport, in the opinion of lexicographers, is "that which produces mirth or pleasure," and then the compilers go on to mention "play; diversion; game; frolic; merriment; jest; mirth; amusement; entertainment; recreation; pastime; that which one plays; idle jingle; diversions of the field, as fowling, hunting, or fishing." So, as a matter of course, we are instructed that a sportsman is "one who pursues field sports, hunting, shooting," &c. But this is superficial, and, to a great extent, inaccurate. Sport means a very great deal more than is here implied, and the true sportsman would be resolutely opposed to accepting into his brotherhood many men who altogether fulfil the dictionary qualification. One point may be resolved by the admission that a sportsman is a man who devotes himself to sport. That much, indeed, is obvious; but the question what sport is remains to be answered, and is a much wider consideration. It is assumed that some measure of praise is implied by the acceptance of any one as a sportsman. To be regarded as a good sportsman is certainly a very high commendation, to speak of "a sportsmanlike act" is to award eulogy, and to say of a man that he has done anything which was "not sport" is to condemn him, and in the estimation of very many people to do so very severely indeed. It would be difficult to find any word in the usual guides to knowledge which is so imperfectly interpreted. Very many words are habitually used in their wrong signification, so much so, that a writer who scrupulously adheres to his dictionary, and never employs a term that has not the warrant of acknowledged authorities, often seems to be understating his case, on even incorrectly describing it. But the word "sport" most assuredly has a special meaning which the dictionaries altogether ignore, and if only in view of the article in an old Spectator which describes "Sir Roger de Coverley Hare Hunting," it could scarcely be pretended that the error of description is excused because of any new interpretation lately bestowed upon the epithet.

'An idea—wholly unacceptable by any man who hopes to rate himself as a sportsman according to what is now held the true significance of the term—seems to prevail that if a person goes out of doors to entertain himself at the expense of any living creature he is necessarily a sportsman; but this very often becomes an indefensible degradation of the word. To form one of a crowd at a modern race meeting, to lean over the rails and vent ignorant criticism and abuse on the rider of a losing horse—whose defeat touches the critic in his tenderest point, the pocket—is not to perform an act which bears the very remotest relation to sport. One may go several steps higher, or in a different direction, in the social scale, and still not get near a sportsman. If a rich man commissions a trainer of horses to lay out money for him, to advise him as to the engaging of his purchases and the employment of his jockeys, the consequence may be victory and profit, but the element of sport does not enter into the proceeding. The rich man will in all probability be flattered and told that he is an admirable sportsman, and very likely he will believe it; but it will not be in the slightest degree true. Expenditure does not constitute a sportsman, particularly when in return for the outlay a person may incur he reaps profit and reward for one thing, and attracts attention to himself and his doings for another. If any credit is to attach to the word sportsman, it must have a better and higher foundation than this. Owners of race horses may be excellent people and may fulfil a useful purpose. They amuse their friends as well as themselves, and sustain the Turf, which affords recreation to many; but in this there is nothing to qualify them as sportsmen. The term, however, is infinitely more degraded in its application to the parvenu who buys racehorses, or greyhounds, or a yacht, in order that he may be talked about, may see his name in the papers, and make acquaintances in the paddock, on the coursing ground, or the pier at popular yachting resorts. The boxing "boom" seems to be happily approaching its end, but it would probably have been hard to persuade the average backer of a pugilist, the capitalist who speculated on the ability of the fighter he supported to beat the fighter supported by somebody else, that he was not an exemplar of true sport; and so lower down the scale, even to the ruffian who sits drinking bad beer and smoking rank tobacco while his terrier helps to pull a lame rabbit to pieces. This last "sportsman" is a patron of rabbit-coursing, a business which consists in mobbing and mutilating a wretched little rabbit, that has been jammed up in a hamper with a number of its miserable fellows, to be let loose in a strange place, starved, terrified, and with very likely a broken leg, to win bets for the "sportsmen" who have brought their dogs. It is preposterous that the age should congratulate itself upon its advancement when it tolerates this "sport," after abolishing bull-baiting, badger-drawing, and cock-fighting. The dogs and the bulls went at it with a will, the badger and the dogs exercised their natural instincts, the cocks liked fighting, and would have fought in any case if they had found the opportunity—and fought, moreover, with more cruel results, because their own spurs inflicted worse and more prolonged punishment than the metal ones with which they were decked. But barbarous as those sports may have been, they were, from every point of view, less abominable than rabbit-coursing.

'What, then, it may be asked, is sport? The dictionaries, it will be seen, do not furnish a proper reply, for even the rabbit-courser, no doubt, finds diversion in the calculated cruelty he practises. A very just and fair interpretation was afforded by the late Lord Lovat in the chapter on "Deer-stalking," which he contributed to the Badminton Library. His summary might be better worded; but otherwise it will be accepted by true sportsmen as expressing their views, and correcting the shortcomings of lexicographers. Sport he defined as "the fair, difficult, exciting, perhaps dangerous, pursuit of a wild animal, who has the odds in his favour, whose courage, strength, speed, or cunning are more or less a match for, or superior to, our own, whose natural instinct engages a considerable amount of our intelligence to overcome it, and whose death, being of service, is justifiable." As already remarked, this might be more tersely stated; but the sportsman who carries out the ideas set forth does nothing that can properly be considered ignominious by opponents of sport, and goes far to gain credit for the term which described him. No man is a sportsman in the best acceptance of the word unless he takes care that the object of his pursuit has a fair chance, and unless its capture calls for the exhibition on his part of courage or skill. Sports to which this rule applies are numerous, though—and this is an important point—modifications in the pursuit of some are no doubt desirable. For instance, to blow a pheasant to pieces as it lumbers out of the covert six or eight yards from the muzzle of a gun is not sport, because it requires the exercise of no skill; but to knock over a rocketeer coming down wind at speed thirty-five or forty yards above the shooter's head is sport, for the reasons given: the bird has its chance, and skill is required to bring it to bag. A fair stalk is sport of the most unimpeachable character. The man sets his patience, wit, and accuracy with the rifle against the marvellously keen nose and eyes—for nose must come a long way first—of the deer, and if the animal be secured the chances are that the triumph is well deserved. The deer, too, is venison, and to kill him by a shot through the heart is to ensure him by far the most speedy and merciful death he could possibly die. Fishing, again, means the acquisition of food, and the salmon has two chances: he need not take the fly, and he can fight for his life. Riding to hounds, if the premisses be sternly regarded, implies the not very defensible supposition that the death of the fox is the beneficial result chiefly sought. This is not so, for though foxes kill game and poultry, and so, perhaps, merit death, the breed would have been extinct long ago had it not been preserved to be hunted. But courage and skill are necessary for riding over a country, and the sport is of incalculable value as a means for the dissemination of money to well nigh innumerable trades. The pecuniary side of sport is not the highest side, but it is not to be disregarded, and may be urged in defence of racing; for it is only on the racecourse that the real power, gameness, and stamina of a horse can be tested, and for military and civil as well as sporting purposes a breed of good horses is in every way indispensable. The thing to be avoided is to brutalise the idea of sport by associating it with cruelty and inconsiderate money-making, and taking no note of its higher attributes."

[This subject is rather an unusual one; but we hope our correspondent is gratified.—Ed.]

LOUGHBOROUGH, LEICESTERSHIRE.

A small brochure, very profusely illustrated, having for its title "Arts, Trades, and Manufactures of Loughborough," has just been published. In such a work the well-known bellfoundry of Messrs. John Taylor and Sons reasonably occupies a prominent place, and the article upon it is accompanied by an illustration which, we think, inadequately portrays the establishment. We publish the notice in extenso :—

"When we had the pleasure of visiting Messrs. Taylor's world-famous bellfoundry the other day, we could not help thinking that, if the late Edgar Allan Poe had had the advantage of inspecting the establishment, and being informed of the various interesting particulars connected with its history, he might have added another very striking verse to that poem in which he has so beautifully crystallised the poetry and glamour associated with bells in general. Messrs. Taylor's foundry may be looked upon as the home of English bellfounding. The Taylors are representatives of one of the oldest houses of bellfounders in the kingdom, their ancestors having succeeded to the ancient firm of Newcombe, Watts, Eayre, & Arnold, and the business is at the present time being conducted by the fourth successive generation of Taylors, a circumstance without precedent in the history of bellfounding, and one which gives them a fair claim to be regarded as the oldest family of bellfounders in the world. When we add that their achievements have been as remarkable as their history, and that they have from time to time been entrusted with the founding of the most noted rings of bells at home and abroad, it will be seen that their foundry is one of no ordinary character. During the last quarter of a century, Messrs. Taylor have made a record, the like of which has never been equalled. Their handiwork is to be found in all the principal cathedrals, churches, and public buildings in Great Britain. The peal of twelve bells in the north-west tower of our national cathedral—St. Paul's, London—were cast and supplied by Messrs. Taylor and Co. in 1872. It was of these bells that Lord Grimthorpe—then Sir Edmund Beckett, Bart.—wrote in the course of a letter to the Times newspaper :—'On the whole, this (St. Paul's) is unquestionably the grandest ringing peal in England, and therefore in the world.' Messrs. Taylor also founded the bourdon bell, known as 'Great Paul,' which hangs in the south-west tower of the Cathedral, and is the largest bell ever cast in the United Kingdom, weighing no less than 16 tons 14 cwt. 2 qrs. 19 lbs. To have accomplished such work as this places Messrs. Taylor and Co. in the very forefront of their profession. We might go on citing instance after instance in which their services have been called into requisition. At Worcester Cathedral, Edinburgh Cathedral, Manchester Town Hall, the New Post Offices (Adelaide, South Australia), Bombay University Buildings, Preston Town Hall, Christ Church Cathedral (Canterbury, New Zealand), Halifax Town Hall, the Royal Exchange (London), Rochdale Town Hall, and the cathedrals of Lincoln, Chichester, Wells, and Salisbury, to say nothing of hundreds of churches, halls, and public buildings in almost every part of the world their bells have been supplied. The list of single bells, peals, and chimes, cast by them since 1858, varying in size from 'Great Paul' downwards, would fill a book. In fact, it is almost impossible for a person to stand in any part of England on a Sunday from which the ringing of bells made by Messrs. John Taylor and Co. cannot be heard, and they are chiming daily in such remote parts of the earth as Burmah and Madagascar. To look from afar on the comparatively quiet little town of Loughborough, one would certainly not expect to find it the centre of such wide-reaching business operations. But a visit to Messrs. Taylor's works quickly bears evidence to the fact. Approaching by way of Freehold Street, we come upon the main portion of the premises which is built in a quadrangular form, and extends about 100 yards up Cobden Street. The front of this range of buildings, formerly occupied by the offices and stores, was unfortunately destroyed by fire in June of last year, and is now in active process of re-erection. To the rear is a large yard, flanked on all hands by the various workshops, including fitting, tuning, carpenters' and other shops, and on the opposite side of Cobden Street, with a long frontage to Freehold Street, is the foundry proper. The process of bellcasting is an operation surrounded with considerable interest. The bell is first of all designed on paper, the shape and dimensions being properly specified. From this drawing, what is known as the 'crook' is constructed and centred upon a pivot. By means of the crooks the two portions of the mould known as the 'core' and 'cope' or 'mantle' are built, a space of exact form and thickness of the bell being left between the two. Then the metal is melted and run into the mould. The quality of a bell depends not only on the casting, fineness, and mixture of the metals employed, but also upon a due regulation of the proportion of metal to calibre. All these points have to be carefully looked to before the casting takes place, and a great deal of Messrs. Taylor's success is, no doubt, the result of their accurate knowledge of these matters—knowledge which is the outcome of much experiment and experience on the part of both themselves and their predecessors. After being cast, the bell is allowed to cool—a large one often taking several days to accomplish this, and is then said to be in its 'maiden' state. It is afterwards tuned and finished, and furnished with a clapper and a frame in which it may be hung for ringing. Messrs. Taylor cast every description of bells, and finish and fit them throughout. Their foundry contains, in addition to the usual furnaces and casting pits, a variety of heavy plant, such as steam hammers, machines for cutting iron bars, &c., and the fitting-shop where the clappers and other accessories for the smaller bells are made, is furnished with lathes, turning machines, &c., of the most complete nature. The carpenters' shop is devoted to the construction of the necessary rollers, wheels, and stays of the frames, and here numerous circular and upright saws, lathes, planing machines, and the like are in use. The whole of the plant is driven by a 20-h.p. steam engine by Robinson and Son, of Rochdale, which firm are also the makers of the bulk of the machinery. Messrs. Taylor and Co.'s bells are characterised by a superiority of tone and truth of form which could scarcely be improved upon; and the visitor to the establishment cannot but be impressed both by the excellence of the plant and the skill displayed by the hands employed. Amongst the important work which was in hand on the occasion of our visit we may mention a large bell, weighing six tons, which had just been cast for St. Nicholas' Cathedral, Newcastle."

KINGSTON CHURCH TOWER R TAUNTON.—This fine Perpendicular tower has for some time past caused anxiety to its custodians on account of certain cracks, in the eastern and western walls more particularly, which have apparently been increased by an unequal oscillation of the two sides of the tower when the bells were rung, and from other causes. Steps are now being taken to improve and strengthen the structure generally by removing the comparatively modern "rough-cast" from those parts of the walls to which it still adheres, and by pointing the stonework, after all cracks and fissures have been bonded with stones and filled with liquid mortar, and copper cramps applied to the dressed stonework on the lines of the cracks. Some portions of the ashlar and the Ham stone dressings have not been coated with "rough-cast," and the mellow tone of colour imparted to them by time and lichens of varied hues will not be disturbed. The work has been carried out under the direction of Mr. J. Houghton Spencer, architect, of Taunton.

The Bell News &amp; Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 27, 1892.

THE account of a visit to a belfry some years ago, by a gentleman distinguished in the study of animal life and production—MR. FRANK BUCKLAND—to be found on another page, will not be uninteresting, if only from the innocent mistakes he has made in describing his adventure. The announcement of a belief that "Grandsire" was the name of a man who was a great authority on bell-ringing, will certainly be provocative of laughter, and the whole account, in fact, teems with humour. MR. BUCKLAND was not only a great observer of the dumb creation, but of human nature as well—its peculiarities and failings; but his experience was through this visit enlarged, as he promptly diagnosed the fact that, in the matter of bell-ringing, the lawyers who were among the visitors were utterly confounded, and their profound cross-examinations could not avail them one jot. Ringing was past their understanding. BUCKLAND "never saw lawyers so completely 'stumped' before, and this by eight honest hard-working men—a mason, a wheelwright, a tailor, a tallow-chandler, a shoemaker, a ploughman, etc." The lawyers knew their own business, we may suppose perfectly, but the complexities of change-ringing were too much for them.

And unfortunately it has proved too much for many others, whom we would gladly have welcomed to the ranks of the Exercise. Even the initial training has appeared too much for many to overcome. Perhaps in such cases the idea prevailed that the requisite knowledge was easily obtained, and the period of probation was merely a matter of hours, not months or years. But in ringing we know that success is only the outcome of patient application, which many people cannot continue long together. Like the friends of Mr. BUCKLAND, they get "stumped" at an early stage of their noviciate, and depart to enter into other pursuits where less energy, and no close application is required. But these have not "the grit" in them which a successful ringer has.

LAVENHAM, SUFFOLK.

This famous peal of bells has lately been put into excellent order under the direction and superintendence of the Rev. C. E. Hubbard, Rector of St. Michael's, Lichfield—an enthusiast in all matters connected with church bells. New brasses have been put to all the bells except the tenor.

Bells 7, 6, 5, and 4 were securely rehung on the old stocks; 3, 2, and treble were hung on new stocks, and quarter-turned. The bell-frame was repaired and tightened up. New bell ropes. The whole work was satisfactorily done by workmen in the town and neighbourhood.

Obituary.

WILLIAM HARDING.

On Friday, August 19th, the remains of the above-named ringer were interred at Leicester cemetery. The deceased had been connected with St. Margaret's for many years, and with St. George's since the bells were cast in 1857. Four brother-strings bore him to his last resting-place, viz., Messrs. S. Cooper, W. Cooper, J. Buttery, and W. Willson. At St. Margaret's in the evening, 953 Grandsire Caters in the titmuss were rung with the bells muffled. J. Wilson, 1; S. Burrows, 2; S. Cooper, 3; W. Willson, 4; W. Cooper, 4; J. Buttery (conductor), 6; J. Cooper, 7; G. Cleal, 8; J. Marlow, 9; C. Biddles, 10. On Sunday evening, August 21st, after Divine Service at

GEORGE BEBBINGTON.

On Saturday, August 13th, the death took place of the above ringer at the age of sixty-six, and who was for over forty years clerk of St. Paul's church, Warrington. He had been in ill-health for about a month, but did not take to his bed till the night before his death. He was for over twenty-four years sexton, and for about twenty years was an active ringer, but gave up ringing about sixteen years ago, and retired, leaving his two sons to pursue the art of campanology. He was well-known in the town, and was held in the highest esteem by a large circle of friends. His eldest son (William) died about fourteen months ago, and this is said to have affected him deeply. The interment took place in St. Paul's churchyard on Tuesday, August 6th, when from the large crowd which assembled, it was evident the death of the deceased had caused no little regret. The hearse containing the coffin (which was covered with a number of wreaths of choice white flowers, entwined with evergreens), was followed by the relatives and friends of the deceased, among them being Alderman Sutton, Councillor Smethurst, Churchwardens Bonnell and Hill, etc. The officiating clergy were the vicar (Rev. H. V. Pigot), and the curate Rev. J. M. R. Young-Hughes). On Sunday, August 14th, the bells of the above church were rung deeply muffled, and on Sunday, August 21st, were rung half-muffled as a token of respect to the memory of the deceased. The following hymns were sung: "Thine for ever God of love," "My God my Father while I stray" and "O let him whose sorrow." The vicar made suitable references to the deceased from the pulpit, and the Dead March was played upon the organ by the organist, Mr. J. J. Lythgoe.

Correspondence.

While allowing the utmost freedom for the expression of opinion, it must never be considered that we are in any way bound to statements made by correspondents.

To the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS AND RINGERS' RECORD."

A FALSE STATEMENT.

SIR,—I am much obliged to Mr. Bennett for drawing my attention to the fact that the peal of Bob Major by me in your issue of August 13th is false. There is a mistake either on my part or the printers. The wording should have read thus: "Five times repeated, adding three bobs at the * in the third part; singles to be substituted for the bobs in the last course of the third and sixth parts." I would advise Mr. Bennett to be sure there is no mistakes on the part of either composer or printers before rushing into print with the statement that such and such a peal is false.

J. B. FENTON.

REPLY TO MR. E. COOK.

SIR,—In reply to a letter from Edward Cook in your issue of August 20th, enquiring the names of the ringers belonging to the Llandaff Cathedral society who rang two six-scores on the bells at Banwell, near Weston, on July 23rd, I beg to forward the names to you again, the names not appearing in your issue of August 6th, being no doubt an oversight of the printer. The names are as follows: J. Belcher (conductor), 1; W. Biss, 2; J. Harris, 3; W. Coombes, 4; J. Clutterbuck, 5; J. Thomas, 6; assisted by Mr. Shallish, the sexton's son. Edward Cook also wants to know from whom we received the weight of the tenor bell, viz., 28 cwt. 3 qrs. 14 lbs., as compared to the weight given of the same bell by the ringers of St. John's, Cardiff, which was 35 cwt. Mr. Shallish, the sexton, and his son, assured us when we shewed them "THE BELL NEWS" containing the St. John's ringers' visit, that the tenor was not the weight as stated by them, the real weight of it being 28 cwt. 3 qrs. 14 lbs.

A DISCLAIMER.

SIR,—I notice in your issue of Saturday, August 20th, a report from the St. Giles' society, Reading, in which it is stated that on August 6th, they were unable to obtain permission to ring in Boyne Hill tower. In the absence of the vicar such application would have been made to me and readily granted. But no such application was made to me, nor, so far as I can gather, to any other person. I may add that a few weeks ago we paid a visit to Waltham St. Lawrence, and managed to get some very fair touches on the same bells which presented such inseparable difficulties to the men of Reading.

R. P. NEWHOUSE.

Senior Assistant Curate of Boyne Hill.

Church News.

The health of the Bishop of Bedford has much improved, and he has left Devonshire for the coast of Cornwall.

The Bishop of St. Davids has returned from Switzerland to Abergwili Palace, Camarthen.

Canon Thomas Greenall has expressed his intention to resign St. Wilfrid's rectory, Grappenhall, Warrington, which he has held nearly forty-five years.

The Dean and Chapter of Ely have elected Mr. Thomas Tertius Noble, assistant-organist of Trinity College, Cambridge, to be organist of their cathedral.

The Archbishop of York has sent a telegram to the organisers of the forthcoming Old Catholic Congress at Luzern, expressive of his sympathies with its objects.

The Bishop of Wakefield has expressed to his clergy his wish that harvest thanksgiving services throughout the diocese should, if possible, be held within eight days from September 29th to October 6th.

On Sunday more than thirty sermons were preached in the Vale of Clwyd and the Deanery of Mold on behalf of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel. The clergy in the Diocese of St. Asaph are falling in with this plan of having a "general S.P.G. Sunday" in the various deaneries, with exchange of pulpits. The Bishop of Bangor also recommends this plan for his diocese.

The new windows inserted at the east end of St. Michael's, Wigan, by Messrs. Hardman, were dedicated by a short special service on Sunday morning week. The service was substantially that used by the Archbishop of York about a year ago, at the dedication of some windows in St. Mary's Priory Church, Old Malton. The large window has been presented by Mr. R. C. Snape, one of the wardens of the church, as a memorial to his father and mother and a brother and sister.

The Yorkshire Post states that considerable surprise has been occasioned at Coventry through its being stated that Dr. Mills had refused to sign the terms of settlement of the dispute between him and the churchwardens of St. Michael's, and therefore the Bishop of Worcester's intervention had not proved effective. Dr. Mills is reported to have objected to paragraph 5, which states that he is to release all sums in the bank, including any sums received by him on account of offertories and collections, and placed in a separate account in his name since April 24th last.

The Gazette announces that the Queen in Council has sanctioned the formation of a district chapelry to the church of All Saints, South Wimbledon. The district includes that part of the parish of Wimbledon east of the Haydon's road. It is just five years since a conventional district was assigned, and a temporary church erected. A part of the permanent church was completed and consecrated on May 7th. The district has been under the charge of the Rev. Arthur M. Pickering since 1887, when the district was first taken out of the Holy Trinity parish, and he now becomes the first vicar of All Saints, South Wimbledon. The population is 4000 and almost entirely composed of very poor people. There is no endowment. The stipend for the present is paid by the Rochester Diocesan Society.

The Bishop of Truro, formerly Dean of Worcester, has been spending a few days in the neighbourhood of Worcester. On Wednesday he left for his diocese, and the occasion was taken advantage of by the railway men at Worcester, and the representatives of the widows and orphans fund of the latter, to make a presentation to him. Mr. G. C. Glover (passenger superintendent) explained that when Dr. Gott was leaving Worcester the railway men, who had received many kindnesses at his hands and those of his family, thought it desirable to make some recognition. Mr. Hillier then on behalf of a committee of railway men of Worcester and suburbs, representing all grades in the service of the Great Western and Midland joint railways, thanked Dr. Gott for the kind manner in which he treated them as a body of railway men, while he was residing amongst them in Worcester. He then presented the Bishop with an address expressive of their appreciation of his kindness, and of the manner in which he had encouraged all institutions calculated to promote their best interests. The address particularly referred to the interest he had taken in the society for the support of the widows and orphans of the deceased railway men. Having expressed his gratitude at receiving the address from his old friends, the Bishop gave them some good advice, and said that if ever any of them went to Cornwall he and his family would always be pleased to meet and shake hands with them. The Bishop then shook hands with all present, and wished them a hearty good-bye.

THE CHURCH BELLS OF BUCKINGHAMSHIRE. By ALFRED HENEAGE COCKS, M.A., Ch. Ch., Oxford; F.Z.S., F.R.G.S., Great Marlow, Bucks. With many Illustrations.

MESSRS. JARROLD & SONS have pleasure in announcing the early publication by subscription of this most interesting and important work. It will contain an account of all the Church Bells in Buckinghamshire, with everything relating to their history that can be discovered. Full accounts of all the Founders whose bells hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County, including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. The work was undertaken at the instigation of the late J. C. L. Stahl Schmidt, Esq., author of "Surrey Bells and London Bell-founders," "The Church Bells of Kent," "Herts," etc.; and the fact that the author had the benefit of the kind assistance and advice of this well-known campanologist may be mentioned as some guarantee of the scope and nature of the present work. Mr. Stahl Schmidt wrote the author, that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting county," and he repeated this opinion in a subsequent letter. The "Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 600 pages, & be handsomely illustrated with 24 full-page plates of mediaeval letterings, founders' marks, etc., found on Bells still existing in the County and numerous figures—some of them being peculiar to Bucks—will be inserted in the text. The 8vo. Edition is limited to 350 copies, and will be offered to subscribers before the day of publication at 21s. nett. The Larger Edition, Royal 4to, is limited to 80 copies, and will be subscribed at 42s. The prices will be raised on the day of issue should any copies remain unsold.

WOLLASTON, NORTHANTS.

RAUNDS, WELLINGBOROUGH, AND DISTRICT SOCIETY. — A quarterly meeting of the above society took place at Wollaston, on Saturday. Despite the wet weather, there was a good attendance of ringers from Kettering, Wellingborough, Higham Ferrers, Earls Barton, and Warkton, making, with the local ringers, over thirty present during the afternoon. The bells of the church of St. Mary, Wollaston, are a musical peal of six, the tenor (a fine-tone-bell) weighs 18 cwt.; the treble is an ancient bell, but the others are dated 1806. They are rung from the choir in the centre of the church, which is a decidedly inconvenient arrangement both for ringers and congregation. If the ancient bell frame is not soon re-placed by a new one it will, by its great oscillation, damage the beautiful tower and spire, on which a considerable sum of money has lately been spent. At the business meeting of delegates, it was arranged that the next quarterly meeting take place at Rothwell. Hearty votes of thanks were passed to the Rev. Harcourt Powell for the use of the bells and school-room. The entire company sat down to tea at five o'clock, and afterwards amused themselves with more ringing at the church and by playing tunes and changes on a large peal of hand bells brought over by the Wellingborough ringers.

Many years ago, according to tradition, the old chimes formerly in Wollaston tower were removed to Ecton, it was probably done at the time the bells were re-cast in 1806. The clock-room is still called the Chime Loft. The re-cast, or new bells supplied by Robert Taylor, of St. Neots, were fixed in the old frame, and were evidently larger than their predecessors, as the frame had to be much cut about to allow them room to swing. In the year 1868, the third bell having become cracked was re-cast by Taylor of Loughborough. The crack probably originated from the crown of the bell having been accidentally pulled out some years previous. It was then re-placed by an iron one, made by the local blacksmith. Green Charlton (a native of Wollaston), at present one of the Wellingborough ringers, assisted in this rather delicate operation. A few weeks since the fourth bell was, owing to an unfortunate misunderstanding with the clock-keeper, thrown out of its brasses and pitched down into the pit. Mr. Brown, who is a builder in the village and also churchwarden, very promptly lifted the bell back again, and fitted her up with new wheel, so that everything should be ready for the association meeting of Saturday last, when he was present in the church, to watch the ringing, and also favoured them with his company at the tea. The members of the association desire to thank him very much for his efforts to help make the meeting a success, and also to thank Mr. Mark Green, the steeple-keeper, and the local ringers for making them so welcome.

NAILSEA CHURCH BELLS.

For eighteen months or more silence has held its sway over the belfry of the ancient church of Nailsea, whose well-known peal has been left to hang undisturbed amongst the time-worn rafters of the tower. This unwonted state of things is due to nothing but the effects of age and wear, the bells themselves being in a condition which imperatively demands re-hanging and re-quartering. The woodwork has grown so rotten that it was found really unsafe to ring the bells, and consequently they have remained unringed for about a year and a half. Those who are versed in the archæology of North Somerset know that the bells of Nailsea can boast a very respectable antiquity. Previous to the year 1793 they were only five in number, but in that year the peal was increased to one of six. Each bell bears some rhyming inscription, giving the name of the caster and of the churchwarden at the time of their being hung. The tenor bell, which is accredited with a history extending over all but three centuries, seems to have sounded its first note when Alexander Coombes had the oversight of the affairs of the parish,

I to the Church the living call,
And to the grave doth summon all,

Is the inscribed couplet of indisputable truth, but somewhat questionable grammar, which may be read upon the bell. With the exception of the treble and tenor bells, the peal were cast by Bilbie, of Chew Stoke. The sum required to rehang and re-quarter the peal is between £60 and £70, and in aid of this fund a bazaar was held in the old schoolroom on Tuesday, and continued on Wednesday afternoon. This is the third effort of a similar kind made in connection with the church during the last three or four years, the two previous ones being in aid of the re-seating and the heating of the consecrated building, projects which have already been successfully accomplished. The bazaar was arranged to represent a village fair, and the ladies who had the task of arranging and decorating the room succeeded in giving it a very pretty appearance. The stalls were eight in number, and were in charge of the following ladies:—Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Bastow, Mrs. and Miss Winstone, Mrs. W. Winstone, Mrs. Porter, the Misses Gregory, Mrs. Bruckey and Mrs. Gunning (refreshment stall), Mrs. Hingston and Mrs. J. Winsor (flower stall), and Mrs. Weatherall (secondhand stall). A post office was conducted by the Masters Johnson, and this department attracted considerable attention. The bazaar was opened by Mrs. Alfred Brittan, and the opening ceremony was well attended. Mrs. Brittan was briefly introduced by the rector (Rev. J. Johnson), and she then declared the fancy fair to be open. The bazaar was fairly well attended during the day, but the storm which came on in the afternoon somewhat interfered with its prosperity. Nevertheless, some good business was done.—Bristol Mercury.

TANFIELD, DURHAM.

Saturday, August 20th, was quite a red-letter-day amongst the ringers of this picturesque little village, for one of their number was married on that day, and the usual convivialities indispensable to such an occasion were carried out during the day. The contracting parties were Mr. H. Tyson and Miss M. Best, of Tantobie. After the ceremony, with the assistance of two Newcastle ringers, the bells were fired, and then run through a 720 of Kent Treble Bob in 26 mins. *F. Lowe, 1; C. L. Routledge, 2; T. Brewis, 3; W. Holmes, 4; *W. Brewis, 5; F. Harrison, (conductor), 6. *First 720 of Treble Bob. Winding their way hence to the home of the Best's, a most pleasant and harmonious evening was spent. Several selections were given on the handbells, and then Mr. Harrison, in the name of the other ringers, presented the happy couple with a small token of their esteem, and their health was drank with musical honours. Song and recitation followed each other in quick succession, the chief amongst the latter being those by Mr. Tom Brewis, whose fame as a local dialect reciter is spread far and wide. Mr. Harrison also delighted the company with solo handbell ringing. That grand old song, "Auld Lang Syne," wound up a most pleasant and successful day. On the Sunday a 720 of Oxford Bob Minor was rung for morning service by G. Murchison, 1; C. L. Routledge, 2; W. Holmes, 3; T. Brewis, 4; *F. Lowe, 5; F. Harrison (conductor), 6. In the afternoon at Mrs. Tyson's house, this good lady having kindly invited all the ringers up to tea to celebrate her son's wedding, 360 Kent Treble Bob on handbells. C. L. Routledge, 1-2; W. Holmes, 3-4; F. Harrison, 5-6. And a 720 in the same method for evening service. F. Lowe, 1; C. L. Routledge, 2; *H. Tyson, 3; F. Harrison, 4; T. Brewis, 5; W. Holmes (conductor), 6. *First in the method. The two Newcastle men desire to heartily thank, through these columns, their Tanfield friends for their hospitality, which is well-known and appreciated by all ringers in this district.

THE LEEDS AND DISTRICT AMALGAMATED SOCIETY.

The usual monthly ringing meeting of this society was held at Armley on Saturday, August 27th, and only moderately attended, though the following towns were represented: Leeds, Holbeck, Calverley, Rothwell, Bramley, Horbury, St. Michael's and St. Chad's, Headingley; the late secretary, Mr. H. W. Needham, was also present from Hull. Some fair ringing was gone through in the Kent, Oxford, Violet and Duke of York Minor methods.

A business meeting was held at the Barley Corn inn, Mr. C. Pratt, vice-president, presiding, when it was unanimously carried to hold the September meeting at Otley. A hearty vote of thanks to vicar, churchwardens, and local ringers for use of bells, &c. being passed, was followed by courses and tunes on handbells up to 10 p.m.

THE CHOLERA.

[From The Guardian.]

Proximus ardet Ucalegon. The cholera has come sufficiently near to demand our serious attention. While it was confined to Russia it excited deep compassion, but not alarm. On the eastern territories of that vast country it is not an infrequent visitor, and the terrible visitation of famine which has been ravaging its central provinces has left the survivors an easy prey to the invasion of any epidemic. The number of victims, even if we take into account the enormous population of the empire, is great, and the virulent character of the disease is illustrated by the fact that one-half of those who are attacked die. It has reached St. Petersburg itself, and is spreading in the city, but there it has proved less fatal than elsewhere, and consequently excites less consternation. From Russia, however, it has extended to Germany, where the great commercial port of Hamburg is seriously infected. Whether it is also raging in the Belgian port of Antwerp and the French port of Havre is still a matter of some uncertainty. They both acknowledge the existence of "choleraic" disease, often and rapidly terminating in death, but do not as yet at least admit that it is the true "Asiatic" epidemic. Paris also, which has been suffering severely in the same way for some weeks, anxiously maintains that her enemy is at the worst only cholera nostras. But there is no doubt of the infectious nature of the disease, since its germs have been carried down the Seine and distributed to the villages in the neighbourhood of Rouen.

This near approach of a foe whose deadly influence we have known by experience, though it need not unreasonably alarm, ought certainly to suggest the need of vigilance and preparation; and we are glad to see that our authorities are alive to the dangers. Our great ports are, of course, the points of chief risk, and special precautions have been taken at once at Grimsby, Hull, Liverpool, and Southampton. The two former ports demand especial attention, as they have a great trade with Hamburg, and lie on the route of the emigrant Jews who are expelled in such large numbers from Russia, which is the centre from which cholera is at present diffused, and who disembark in the Humber for the transit across England to Liverpool on the way to America. It is, therefore, satisfactory to learn that emigrants are carefully examined at this point, and that a floating hospital has been established in the Humber to receive at once any infected subjects. The Local Government Board have not yet felt it necessary to forbid immigration, but they have taken the precaution of prohibiting the importation of bedding and similar materials, likely to convey disease, from all ports on the German Ocean north of Dunkirk.

These measures may, it is hoped, prove successful in excluding any considerable importation of cholera from abroad. But it is necessary also to be provided with the means of dealing with it, since, in spite of all our care, some cases have already occurred; and the Local Government Board have accordingly issued warnings to the various sanitary authorities to make all possible preparation both for its prevention and its treatment. Their labours may be greatly lightened by the efforts of private individuals. We can all help in promoting the great prophylactic of absolute cleanliness in house and person, and in taking care that the earliest notice is given to the medical authorities of any possible case of infection. Water is the chief vehicle of the germs of contagion, and special precaution should be taken in its use. Four years ago, when an invasion of cholera was apprehended, the Local Government Board issued a memorandum which the British Medical Review has summed up in the following words, which may be usefully borne in mind on the present occasion:—"Boil all drinking water; filtering is inadequate, and the addition of wine or spirits utterly valueless. Boil all milk, whitewash uncleanly premises, prevent overcrowding, enforce ample ventilation, enjoin and adopt the cleanest domestic habits, the destruction or removal of all refuse, isolate persons suffering from infective disease, and thoroughly disinfect everything that is used in or comes from the sick-room. In cases of diarrhoea immediate medical steps should be taken." The advice is practically the same which is more fully expanded in the notices now again put forward by the same authority.

One great advantage belonging to these precautions is that they are unquestionably useful, whether cholera invades our islands or not. They are good in themselves, and we may therefore feel a certain amount of gratitude to any cause which induces people to practise them more widely. It is in this sense that cholera has been said to have saved more lives in England than it has destroyed, because the preservatives it has enforced have been equally efficacious against many other forms of disease. But, while it would be inexcusable to neglect any means of excluding or checking an infection which is clearly spreading over the continent of Europe, there is no occasion for any panic about it. During the last five-and-twenty years cholera has frequently appeared in neighbouring countries without producing more than one or two sporadic cases within our own shores. The same result may reasonably be expected again. Our sanitary arrangements, though still quite capable of improvement, are much superior to those of all the Continental nations; and though we do not attempt to rival some of them in the vexatious restrictions of quarantine, we take at times like the present proper precautions against the introduction of unwelcome visitors. Every ship coming from an infected port is carefully examined before anyone is allowed to land. Every ship in which a case of cholera has occurred during the voyage is detained by the Customs officer till the medical officer of health has examined the whole of the crew and passengers. Any person found to be ill with any infectious disease is then removed to a hospital, and the names and addresses of all the rest are taken, in order that their further course may be traced as they are dispersed over the country. Nothing more than this can be done without the risk of producing greater evils than those which it is intended to guard against. But when we have used diligently and intelligently all the means which lie in our own power we may confidently hope for the Divine blessing which alone can render them efficacious.

The renewal of a license was refused by the Malling (Kent) magistrates to a beerhouse at West Malling on Monday, on the ground that persons of bad character had frequented the premises during the past year. The contention that the landlord had not been convicted of harbouring persons of bad character was overruled. A landlord at Trosley who had refused to supply a pleasure-party with tea was told by the same magistrates that it was his duty to serve the public with non-alcoholic as well as alcoholic refreshments, and if in future cases came before them the bench would see that the licensing Act were obeyed.

The Rev. J. Puleston Jones, B.A., of Bangor, who is a Calvinistic Methodist minister, preached in the afternoon and evening of Sunday week in the crypt of Canterbury Cathedral. During his stay at Canterbury he was the guest of Canon Fremantle. Mr. Jones lost his sight when he was two years of age, yet in spite of that he took a Second Class at Oxford, and is an excellent preacher both in Welsh and English. His mother is a sister to Sir John Puleston. This is the first time a Calvinistic Methodist minister ever preached in a Cathedral.

CURRENT TOPICS.

A gentleman has recently adopted the undignified process of sending an anonymous post-card to the Editor reflecting upon the writer of these notes. He signs his effusion thus:—"A B.A. of Oxford." He uses an epithet which if I were of a vindictive turn of mind I should retaliate by asking him to take such epithet to himself. I am sure that all Oxford men who read our paper would, if this precious post-card were shown to them, be unanimous in condemning the writer of it. Let him in his leisure moments think his conduct condemned, therefore, and resolve not to put epithets on a post-card again. If it is any satisfaction to him I may say that his personality is discovered.

The principal news of late has been the accounts of those festivities known as "Ringers' Outings." I am very glad to see that so many of the fraternity are enabled to enjoy such pleasant opportunities. The accounts we read shows that these little excursions are much appreciated, for hardly an instance occurs where those taking part in them do not arrive home in the evening highly gratified with themselves and everything else. Well better feel like that than the reverse. "Outings" are for enjoyment, and pleasure always does yield some considerable amount of gratification, I suppose. But I should like to read of some of these outings being of a more æsthetic character.

* * * * *

One thing however, I notice, is on the increase in connection with them. And that is that many of the clergy whose churches are visited at such times, make acquaintance with the ringers, and hospitably invite them to take refreshment at the Vicarage or Rectory. This is a very cheering feature, and is another illustration of the fact, becoming more palpable every day, that the clergy are beginning to see that ringers are as worthy of their regard and encouragement as any others whose work is identified with the Church.

The bogus bob-caller has had rather a bad time of it lately. What between "watch-peals"—a new term, by the way—and change-courses after a clash, things have been a little lively. I don't wish to refer to the particular instances mentioned, but there is one thing I should like to point out. A correspondent asks if under certain conditions a peal is true. That question I shall not attempt to answer. But I will say that when slight errors are made, when the bells have rubbed together a bit, only a bit, mind, and they successfully emerge from the difficulty all right, then the peal ought not to be questioned. We are apt to say that the performers were "trippy," or that the striking was queer stuff, and make other criticisms, but the peal is not refused the usual honours on that account. Young bands on their first attempt are nervous, and some of them get fatigued in the last 1000, needing looking after, hence a "rub" or two may be common, but who thinks of condemning them for that? Our critics must not be too squeamish; in peal-ringing those who grumble are often the worst "trippers" themselves.

"Sports and Sportsmen" is quite a new topic for our paper. I suspect that the faint allusions made sometimes to "sporting" people of a low type, and the contrasts shewn, "fetched" this article out. There was a deal of truth in it, I have no doubt.

Correspondence.

While allowing the utmost freedom for the expression of opinion, it must never be considered that we are in any way bound to statements made by correspondents.

To the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS AND RINGERS' RECORD."

MR. COOK'S REJOINDER.

SIR,—In reply to a correspondent signing himself J. Clutterbuck, saying that Mr. Shallish (sexton of Banwell) and his son assured him that the weight of the tenor was not the weight that the ringers of St. John's published, I wish to say the weight published by St. John's ringers was the weight Mr. Shallish himself gave. I think he ought to give up telling the weight of Banwell tenor, as he does not know himself. Upon enquiry since, I find that the weight given by St. John's ringers, and also that of the conductor, is incorrect, as the tenor is only 24 cwt. 1 qr. 19½ lbs.; also that they rung two 6-scores of which I doubt. Not only have the ringers of St. John's failed to do anything, but the ringers informed them that five or six bands of ringers have attempted and failed. There is not a single tower the ringers of St. John's visit but what some of the so-called visitors soon after try to contradict something that is done by St. John's ringers. When St. John's ringers paid a visit to St. Fagan's, near Cardiff, they gave the tenor weight as 13½ cwt., but I notice that when the Llandaff ringers paid a visit there, they again disputed that weight; they give it as 15 cwt., knowing it not to be the weight. I wish again to inform them that the weight of St. Fagan's tenor is 13½ cwt. not 15 cwt. Perhaps J. Clutterbuck would like to know the correct weight of Banwell bells from the church record: First, 10 cwt. 0 qrs. 18 lbs.; Second, 10 cwt. 1 qr. 17 lbs.; Third, 11 cwt. 3 qrs. 3 lbs.; Fourth, 13 cwt. 2 qrs. 13 lbs.; Fifth, 16 cwt. 0 qrs. 2 lbs.; Sixth, 24 cwt. 1 qr. 19½ lbs. They were rung in the year 1733, when the ringers of St. John's published that hung the ten 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles at Peterstone-super-Ely, one of the so-called ringers attacked the conductor a fortnight after, and told him it was not done, as he did not know the calls, as there was only nine 120s in Troyte. As a learner by that book perhaps they would like to know the calls of the 120 that is not in Troyte—S.P.S.B. twice repeated.

EDWARD COOK.

REPLY TO THE REV. R. P. NEWHOUSE.

SIR,—In reply to the letter from the above rev. gentleman in your issue of August 27th, I would mention that the condition that the members of the St. Giles' society were not allowed the use of the bells at Boyne Hill were drawn from the fact that the written application, I, as representing the members, made to the vicar, was quite ignored. This gentleman's concluding statement that some very fair touches were rung upon the bells of Waltham St. Lawrence by himself and friends so recently as a few weeks ago surprises me considerably; however I again assert that on August 6th, the occasion of our visit, the bells were out of order, so much so indeed, that to ring anything approaching fair touches was a matter of impossibility. In endorsement of this assertion, I would mention that the steeplekeeper (Mr. E. Palmer), at the time apologised for the bad condition of the bells.

ALBERT E. REEVES.

Re MR. FENTON'S PEAL.

SIR,—Regarding Mr. Fenton's letter in your last issue, his explanation does not alter the falseness of his peal. Mr. Fenton seems to ignore the fact that it is not possible to have two bells in 5-6 for more than three full courses, without a single. The first bob wrong brings the 3rd after the 7th, the 6th being before the tenor until the bob before. Then in the third part the 3rd is called after the 7th (the 6th being at home) for three full courses, thus causing the three leads following the twenty-first course-end (52436) to be a repetition of the first three leads of the peal; the same thing would happen in different courses, whichever part the two extra courses were added. For the future Mr. Fenton should be more careful what he sends for publication, as I think this is not the first time the truth of his compositions has been questioned.

F. BENNETT.

CORRECTIONS.

SIR,—I see in "THE BELL NEWS" of August 27th, a peal of Bob Major, 6720 changes, given under the name of J. B. Fenton, of Lincoln. I should like to ask him, if not too much trouble, to refer back to "THE BELL NEWS" of November 15th, 1890, where he will see the same composition given under my name.

Cemetery Lodge, Bishops Stortford, Herts.

H. J. TUCKER.

SIR,—The 5040 rung at Sharnbrook on Saturday, June 4th, was an Association peal, as all are members of the Bedfordshire Association. Mr. Attree gives it in his last analysis as an independent peal.

Ringers' Outings.

THE ST. LUKE'S SOCIETY, CHELSEA.—On Saturday, August 27th, the members of this Society held their annual outing. The day's proceedings commenced with a touch of Grandsire at the parish church, prior to starting, after which the members proceeded to Victoria station to meet the 10.43 a.m. train for Ashted, Surrey, which was reached a little before noon. On arriving they proceeded to the pretty little church situated in the fine-wooded park of Ashted, where two good touches of Grandsire Triples were rung, viz.: 518 and 461, conducted by A. Hubbard, Master of the Society, and C. F. Winny respectively on the fine peal of eight, tenor 14 cwt. After lowering the bells in peal the members walked on to Leatherhead, a distance of about two miles, where a capital dinner was provided at the "Duke's Head" hotel by Mrs. Challen, the proprietress. The Rev. T. Bird took the chair, Mr. A. Hubbard the vice-chair. After ample justice had been done to the repast, Mr. Hubbard, in very complimentary words, proposed "The Health of the Rector, the Rev. Gerald Blunt," President of the Society, who was unavoidably absent, coupling with it the names of the churchwardens, which was heartily drunk by all present. Mr. Hubbard next proposed "The Health of the Rev. T. Bird," who very ably responded, and hoped that the St. Luke's Society would soon be able to record a peal of 5000, especially now such men as Mr. Hubbard and Mr. Winny had become members. Mr. Winny proposed "The Health of the Honorary Secretary, Mr. T. E. Barber, remarking that the arrangements for the day was one of the best he had ever attended. Chelsea, he said, 150 years ago, produced some of the finest ringers in the country, and he thought that the time was working round again when Chelsea would return to its old form. Mr. T. E. Barber, in responding, proposed "Prosperity to the St. Luke's Society," which was very heartily drunk, and suggested that a move might be made to Leatherhead church for a little more ringing, which was very cordially accepted. On arriving at the church the members were very kindly welcomed by Mr. S. Brooker, the steeplekeeper, and two of the local ringers, and business was commenced with a touch of 223 Grandsire Triples, conducted by A. Hubbard, and 168 of the same method conducted by C. F. Winny; rung on the back eight, tenor 20 cwt. Afterwards, with the kind assistance of the local men, they rang two courses of Grandsire Caters, and then Grandsire Triples was again resorted to, a fine touch of 518 being rung, conducted by A. Hubbard. At six o'clock they returned to the "Duke's Head," and sat down to a good tea, and after talking over the business of the day they left Leatherhead by the 8.45 p.m. train, reaching Victoria shortly after 10 p.m., having spent a most enjoyable day. They wish to sincerely thank the Rev. F. G. L. Lucas, Rector of Ashted, and the Rev. F. E. Utterton, Vicar of Leatherhead, for the use of the bells; also the steeplekeepers, for the arrangements they severally made, and the kind attention paid them. The following members attended: the Rev. T. Bird, Messrs. A. Hubbard, C. F. Winny, T. E. Barber, C. Hindes, W. H. Rowland, F. M. Aldis, W. Barber, W. Tucker, F. Roast, G. Chesterman, W. Dunham.

THE HOLY TRINITY SOCIETY, BOLTON, LANCASHIRE.—The annual outing of this Society took place on Saturday, August 27th, the place selected being Oxford. The party, which included Mr. Richard Hill, of Southport, numbered eighteen. They assembled at 2.20 a.m. at the London and North Western Railway station, and were at once conducted to a second class saloon, which was kindly provided by the promoter of the excursion. A good supply of victuals was speedily placed in a compartment set apart for such purposes, and the company being comfortably seated the order "right away" was given at 2.30 a.m. Shortly after leaving Warrington a goodly portion were indulging in their natural slumber, but the arrival at Stafford found all awake. The music was requisitioned, which was kindly provided by one of the company, the approach to the black country, which still retains its reputation for smoke, being received with closed windows. Mr. Hill at this juncture essayed the first song, which was well rendered, all joining in the chorus. Still steaming along at a fair rate, the company made matters assume a lively aspect by singing and ringing, and eventually Birmingham was reached at 6.25, where they alighted for a stroll along the platform, which was very acceptable. "Take your seats" was the order, speculation being now rife as to the probable time they would arrive at Oxford, as they were now already forty-five minutes behind time. They were soon passing through a beautiful portion of Warwickshire; Coventry with its fine spires looking exceedingly well in the brilliant sunshine. Kenilworth was passed, and soon they were favoured with a grand view of the fine tower of St. Mary's, Warwick. Milverton and Leamington appeared at their best, the fields with their beautiful mantles of green corn ripened before the sickle. Flowers in abundance all added their portion to the magnificent sight here presented; nor was that all, the pleasant recollections of their visit to Warwick and Leamington almost tempted them to stop; but no, their destination was the city of colleges and churches, and they were away again, when to their amazement they were taken the long route, via Rugby. A short time was spent here, the next important stop being Bletchley. Leaving here a good run was had through another beautiful piece of country, finally reaching Oxford at 10.45 a.m. Here they were received by Mr. J. W. Washbrook and another member of his band. After a series of greetings they repaired for breakfast, being one hour and a quarter late. Mr. Washbrook had wisely delayed the time for dining. After partaking of the good things provided all were ready to view the sights of Oxford, Mr. Washbrook and his friend kindly acting as conductors. Passing along High Street they were soon in the throng of the colleges; Balliol College, the Martyrs' Memorial, St. John's College with its extensive grounds lying behind. New College and Magdalen College were special objects of notice. The interior of the private chapel of the former is remarkably fine; a most beautiful painted window by Rubens, representing the Nativity, and supposed to be his masterpiece, came out with wonderful expression as they looked upon the object. Another fine specimen of his painting was seen in the private chapel of the latter College, representing the Judgement. Indeed it would be superfluous to attempt to describe the numerous Colleges visited, and the various points of interest so well depicted by Mr. Washbrook. Touches were rung on St. Peter's (eight) and All Saints (six). At 4.30 p.m. the company again assembled at Coombs' restaurant, Mr. Washbrook and his colleague being included in the dinner party. Full justice was done to a good old English repast, and at the conclusion a very cordial vote of thanks was accorded Mr. Washbrook and his fellow ringers for their kind attention. Mr. Washbrook suitably responded. The party shortly after proceeded to the station en route for home, and after a parting salutation the train steamed off at 6.40 p.m., Bolton being reached at 1.55 p.m., the party having travelled 460 miles. The outing was however a great success, the saloon, along with the excellent arrangements made by Mr. Washbrook, were appreciated by no small degree. Thus the 1892 outing ended, which will doubtless bear comparison with any of its predecessors. J. R.

THE SUDBURY (SUFFOLK) SOCIETY.—On Monday, August 15th, six members of this Society, accompanied by Mr. Cyril Herbert, of Woburn, Beds., had a half-day's outing, Polstead and Stoke-by-Nayland being the places selected for visiting. A start was made by road, and after a splendid drive of about nine miles the first-named place was reached. After obtaining permission of the Rector, and the keys of the church, they repaired to the tower and rang 360 Bob Minor. F. Tolliday, 1; W. Cross, 2; W. Bacon, 3; W. Howell, jun., 4; C. Herbert, 5; C. Sillitoe (conductor), 6. And two 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles. F. Tolliday, 1; C. Sillitoe (conductor), 2; W. Bacon, 3; C. Herbert, 4; W. Howell, 5; H. Brackett, 8. The bells are a fair ring of six, tenor about 9 cwt. A move was then made for Stoke, which was reached after two miles' drive. Here they found an old friend and brother-ringer, in the shape of the Vicar (the Rev. E. Symons, late of Lavenham), who cordially welcomed them, and immediately gave them the use of the bells. Before proceeding to the church a substantial tea was had at the "Angel" inn. On applying to the sexton for the keys of the tower some opposition was shown by that individual, and the Vicar having left the parish some half-hour previous on business, the ringers were placed in rather an awkward position. After having obtained the Vicar's sanction, and then refused admission by "Mr. Jack-in-Office," was rather a novel experience, and would most likely have ended rather unpleasantly, but for the timely appearance of Mrs. Symonds, the worthy Vicar's wife, upon the scene, who obtained the keys and gave them to the ringers. Of course Mr. Sexton was very profuse with his humble apologies after this, and hoped no offence, which of course went in one ear and out of the other with the exasperated visitors. After raising the bells it was found that some hard work would be required to ring them, but a 360 of Bob Minor was brought round by F. Tolliday, 1; W. Cross, 2; C. Herbert, 3; W. Bacon, 4; W. Howell, 5; C. Sillitoe, 6. Also two 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles. F. Tolliday, 1; W. Cross, 2; W. Bacon, 3; C. Herbert, 4; C. Sillitoe, 5; H. Brackett, 6. And a 6-score of Stedman Doubles. W. Cross, 1; W. Howell, 2; C. Herbert, 3; C. Sillitoe (conductor), 4; W. Bacon, 5; H. Brackett, 6. The bells are a heavy ring, tenor about 28 cwt. The tenor is a very good bell, but the others are very ordinary, and the treble is cracked. An adjournment was then made to the "Angel," and the hard-bells were brought forward and a course of Bob Major was rung. W. Howell, 1-2; C. Sillitoe, 3-4; C. Herbert, 5-6; W. Cross, 7-8. Also 363 Bob Minor. W. Howell, 1-2; C. Herbert, 3-4; C. Sillitoe (conductor), 5-6. It was intended to have rung at Nayland, but time would not allow, so a comfortable hour was spent, and a start was made for home, where they arrived about midnight, after a splendid moonlight drive, all agreeing that a very enjoyable afternoon and evening had been spent. Mr. Tolliday kindly invited the company to supper at his residence the next evening, and a vote of thanks was accorded him for his kind invitation. C. S.

VISIT TO LAINDON HILLS, ESSEX.—On Saturday, August 27th, the Barking and West Ham companies paid their annual visit to Laindon Hills. The enjoyment of the trip was greatly marred by a downpour of rain. Laindon station was reached about 3.30 p.m., and the party wended their way through the rain up the hill a mile distant to the pretty little church (which stands about 400 ft. above sea level) containing a splendid peal of six bells, tenor about 16 cwt., and where a magnificent view of the Kentish Hills, the river Thames, the German Ocean, and about fifty miles overlooking Essex can be seen. The visitors were met at the top of the hill by the village schoolmaster, Mr. J. Nettlingham, one of the local band, who had the bells raised and everything in apple-pie order. The first performance was a 720 of Kent Treble Bob. A. Deards, 1; E. Lucas, 2; W. H. Dallimore, 3; H. Springall, 4; W. Doran, 5; S. Hayes (conductor), 6. Also a 6-score of Grandsire Doubles. T. Baker, 1; E. Lucas, 2; A. Deards, 3; H. Springall (conductor), 4; W. H. Dallimore, 5; C. Dean, 6. Also a 6-score of Stedman Doubles. A. Deards, 1; W. Doran, 2; E. Lucas, 3; H. Springall (conductor), 4; W. H. Dallimore, 5; T. Baker, 6. And a 6-score of Grandsire Doubles. A. Motts (Ipswich), 1; S. Hayes, 2; A. Deards, 3; E. Lucas, 4; W. H. Dallimore (conductor), 5; C. Dean, 6. Mr. Deards then conducted the local band through some Churchyard Bob, the locals being without the services of a caller of this intricate method. An adjournment was then made to the village hotel, where a capital tea was awaiting them in the shape of "home-made eggs," as one of the waiters termed them, to which ample justice was done. After tea another start to the tower was made, where Mr. E. Lucas conducted a 720 of Bob Minor, this being his first 720 as conductor. A. Deards, 1; W. Doran, 2; H. Springall, 3; W. H. Dallimore, 4; E. Lucas, 5; S. Hayes, 6. And a 6-score of Stedman Doubles, which brought the ringing to a close. A. Deards, 1; S. Hayes, 2; E. Lucas, 3; H. Springall (conductor), 4; W. H. Dallimore, 5; C. Dempsey, 6. After bidding adieu to the locals a start was made for the station to catch the last up train, Barking station being reached at 9.15, all having thoroughly enjoyed the little outing. The company wish through the medium of this paper, to thank the Rector for the use of the bells; also Mr. Nettlingham for having everything in readiness for their use, and the host and hostess of the hotel for the respectable way the business of the house is conducted, not forgetting the "home-made eggs."

RINGERS AT SEA.—On Saturday, August 20th, three members of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association left Bristol for an afternoon trip by steamer to Chepstow, giving them an hour on shore. They much enjoyed the beautiful scenery of the rivers Avon, Severn, and Wye. Arriving at Chepstow they soon got ashore and made their way as soon as possible to the house of Mr. Morley, the leader of the Chepstow band, who gave them a hearty welcome, and soon wanted to know how things were looking at Bristol. An adjournment was then made to the "Full Moon" hotel, and refreshments were partaken of. Not noticing the time they found that the steamer had gone and left them behind. The first thing to be done was to telegraph home to their wives and inform them of the predicament they were in, and then to the church tower for a pull on the fine ring of eight, the "go" of which was capital. Being one short for Triples they rang several 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles and several touches of Minor. It was then time to think about lodgings, and starting for Matherne, a small village about two miles from Chepstow, they found an old friend who gladly provided beds for them. They were up early on Sunday morning, out in the fields gathering mushrooms for breakfast, which were very much enjoyed. They then started for Chepstow, and on arriving there rang several touches of Minor. After a ramble round the ruins of the fine old Castle they strolled back to Matherne for dinner, expecting to get a pull on the pretty peal of six there, but were disappointed on account of a death near the church. In the evening they started for Severn Tunnel Junction and took train to Bristol, a distance of five miles, the route being through the beautiful deer park belonging to C. E. Lewis, Esq., of St. Pierre. After leaving the park they got a splendid view of the fine old ruins of Caldicott Castle and the church with its ring of eight in capital order. All arrived safe in Bristol, having enjoyed a very pleasant trip to Monmouthshire. They take this opportunity of thanking Mr. Morley and his young band for entertaining them to a ring; and their Matherne friends who got all ready for a ring, not forgetting their old friend who provided them with lodgings.

PORTISHEAD, SOMERSETSHIRE.—The Guild of ringers belonging to this parish (members of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association) had their first outing, the place chosen being Chepstow, which they reached by boat about 9 a.m. Arriving there they proceeded to the tower, where hangs a peal of eight in good going order, tenor 21 cwt., and rung several 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles, with 4-6-8 covering. G. Tippetts, 1; J. Nisbett, 2; W. Hunt, 3; C. Williams, 4; W. Gillingham, 5; J. Morley, 6; G. Harbour, 7; C. Clark, 8. About twelve a start was made for Matherne, a village about two miles distant, where six 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles were rung on the light peal of six. G. Tippetts, 1; J. Nisbett, 2; J. Morley, 3; G. Harbour, 4; W. Gillingham, 5; M. Close, 6. After partaking of refreshments a walk of three miles brought them to Caldicott, where they rang several 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles, with 7-6-8 covering, tenor 18 cwt. They then returned to Chepstow by rail, and after having a view of the castle, left for home, having spent a most enjoyable day. The ringers wish to thank the Vicars of the churches in which they rang for the use of the bells; also Messrs. Morley and Close, who are Chepstow ringers, for their kind assistance.

MAIDENHEAD.—THE OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

ON Saturday, Messrs. J. Evans, R. Biggs, F. Biggs, H. Stratford, and S. Goodchild, from Hughenden, Bucks, with W. E. Yates (Marlow), and J. W. Wilkins and F. Bissley of the local company, met by invitation from the Rev. R. P. Newhouse to attempt a peal of Stedman Triples at All Saints' church, but unfortunately after ringing 1 hr. 40 mins. a trip in the slow brought what promised to be a thoroughly well-struck peal to an end, much to their chagrin, though kindly complimented by the rev. gentleman at the striking, somewhat relieved their disappointment. And this was still further diminished at the surprise which awaited them in the shape of a substantial meat tea in the schoolroom, kindly provided by the rev. gentleman, and which (unlike the peal) was minus any defect in the slow, but was quickly and successfully accomplished with ease. Returning to the tower a 504 of Stedman and a touch of Grandsire brought the ringing (which was conducted by J. Evans), to a close, the band heartily thanking the rev. gentleman for his kindness on this occasion, and hope to make a more successful attempt at some future date.

The Bell News & Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 3, 1892

THAT the Church establishment is without drawbacks no one will venture to assert; that it almost cherishes anomalies which give scope for the attacks of its foes, is also unfortunately not less true. Only one of these we shall deal with here; the one which has come to be known as "the fee system," by which many of the clergy are mulcted in large sums, for services which, with all deference, we think should be remunerated from another source, if paid for at all.

It is wrongly thought that the clergy, as a body, receive almost fabulous incomes. The reverse, in the main, is the actual fact. There is scarcely a benefice in the Church which has the income it is supposed to have, while a new incumbent is often saddled with a horde of payments—many of them almost inconceivable—at his induction. Some of them are no doubt unavoidable, but the majority of what is known as “fees” could, if not altogether dispensed with, be considerably lessened.

Some weeks ago we gave a list of fees which had to be paid by a late prelate on his translation to another see: a preposterous sum. In this case perhaps it may be said that the income he was about to enjoy would have enabled him to bear without embarrassment the charges attendant upon his removal. However, we don't accept even that view. What will be said in the case of a gentleman being appointed to a curacy with about one hundred pounds a year stipend, and having to pay fees to the registrar, who we believe is generally a solicitor. Again, at the consecration of a new church, the fee is to the fore. Many people resent the payment of a clergyman's fees at burials and other offices of the Church, and these objections are most inconsistent and selfish. But the payments we are condemning are causing a scandal just now, and the time has arrived for their abolition.

THE QUIVER (Cassell and Co.) is full of excellent reading. The several tales maintain their interesting characteristics. There appears to be an unusual quantity of religious matter this month, which, however, interests as well as edifies. The chapter on "Crypts" will be read with much enjoyment by all lovers of whatever is venerable and ancient in ecclesiastical architecture.

Messrs. ## Church News.

The Archbishop of York and Mrs. Maclagan have been staying in Scotland. Last week they were staying at Kinloch Rannoch, Perthshire, at the foot of Loch Rannoch.

Acting on medical advice, the Rev. J. J. Twist, rector of Holy Innocents, Fallowfield, has signified to the Bishop his resignation of the living, which he has held for the last twenty years.

In St. John's, Blackburn, has been placed a mural tablet of white marble as a memorial of the late vicar, the Rev. John Baker, who held the living from 1867 till his death last year.

The Bishop of Worcester is leaving England, and will be abroad for six weeks. During his absence letters on diocesan business should be addressed to the Bishop of Coventry, St. Philip's Rectory, Birmingham; or, if on legal business, to the Bishop's secretary, Mr. J. H. Hooper, Worcester.

The Bishop of St. Albans has appointed the Rev. H. T. Armfield, M.A., F.S.A., rector of Colne Engaine and Rural Dean of Halstead, as diocesan lecturer in connection with a scheme for promoting higher religious education which his lordship is establishing in his diocese.

Canon Claughton, who has been ill for some time past, suffering from an ulcer in the foot, was in a sick bed (the Birmingham Post tells us) when the news of his father's death came. However, he attended the funeral, though he was obliged to use crutches. His foot is much better, but he is suffering from acute rheumatism. He is at Danbury Palace, and will not be able to resume his duties for some time.

The Bishop of St. Asaph has offered the deanery of St. Asaph, vacant by the appointment of the Very Rev. John Owen to the Principalship of Lampeter, to Archdeacon Watkin Herbert Williams, and the offer has been accepted. The new Dean of St. Asaph, who is the second son of the late Sir Hugh Williams, of Bodelyyddan, was educated at Westminster School and Christ Church, Oxford. He is a Welsh-speaking Welshman. According to Crockford, he was ordained deacon in 1870 and priest in 1871. In 1870-2, he was appointed vicar of Bodelyyddan. In 1889 he became a Prebendary in St. Asaph Cathedral, and the same year Canon and Archdeacon of St. Asaph.

The fifteenth anniversary of the consecration of St. Alban's church, Windy Nook, near Felling, was celebrated on Thursday, the jubilee of the vicar's (the Rev. E. H. Adamson) connection with the church being also commemorated. During the past few weeks some alterations have taken place in the church, rendering it more attractive and more comfortable. The old seats in the nave have been entirely replaced by new ones. The chancel fittings supplied consist of a screen, choir seats, and alter rail. Some architectural alterations have also been carried out, and a stained window, the present of the vicar, has been placed in the church. The vicar entertained a party of the clergy and his friends to dinner, and in the afternoon a public tea was provided in the school-room, at which 500 persons sat down. In the evening the vicar was presented with an illuminated address and his portrait by Mr. Ralph Hedley.

A four-light memorial window, the gift of Mr. Charles Arthur Tennant, of Dewsbury, has been presented to the church of Swineshead, near Boston. The window is from the studio of Mr. Taylor, of Berners Street, and contains in the main lights the subjects:—"The Christ, the consolation of mankind," and "Christ appearing to the Magdalene." In the base are the four acts of mercy:—"Hungry and ye gave me meat," "Sick and ye visited me," "A stranger and ye took me in," "Thirsty and ye gave me drink."

A lively meeting of ratepayers was held at Morecambe on Thursday evening, August 25th, for the purpose of appointing "two substantial householders" to collect a sum of £85 payable annually by the district of Poulton, Bare, and Torrisholme (of which Morecambe forms the principal portion) to the vicar of Lancaster, under the Lancaster Tithes Commutation Act. "Considerable interest (says the Manchester Guardian) had been aroused in the matter owing to the late collectors having, twelve months ago, been appointed in their absence, and made responsible for the collection of the tithe. Mr. Wesley Walker, a prominent Churchman, and the Rev. C. V. Gorton, rector of Morecambe, were duly nominated, and although considerable doubt was expressed whether the latter gentleman could be legally appointed, the Act was quoted to show that the only exception made was that they be not 'people called Quakers,' and the two gentlemen were declared duly appointed. A proposition that some scheme be prepared to the satisfaction of the vicar of Lancaster, whereby the £85 be paid out of the rates of the township, met with no seconder. A further suggestion that a subscription be raised towards recouping the late collectors for the loss sustained by them also fell to the ground."

Geo. H. Jones, Esq., F.R.S.L., F.R.M.S.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has by his Perfected System of Dentistry demonstrated that Painless Dentistry is as much an accomplished fact as the swift locomotive, the electric light, or the telephone, and absolutely restores the natural contour caused by the loss of teeth, by the adjustment of Prize Medal dentals, rendering detection impossible, which obtained the Gold Medals of London, 1851; New York, 1853; London, 1862; Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; and Philadelphia, 1876.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has been awarded for his Improvements and Patents in Dentistry gold medals, London and Paris; gold medal, New Zealand Exhibition, 1882; gold medal Calcutta, 1883; and the highest diploma of merit and award at Nice and Amsterdam, 1883-4. Awarded the gold medal of the Académie Nationale, Paris, 1884; and the highest award Antwerp; also the gold medal, International Exhibition, London, 1885; gold medal, Liverpool, 1886; gold medal, Melbourne, 1888-9.

THE HEREFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

A Quarterly Meeting of the Welshpool and district branch of this Guild was held at Montgomery on Saturday, August 27th. At 3.30 p.m. members of the Guild from the surrounding parishes met at the church tower, the ringing-chamber of which has recently been repaired, and several touches were rung by the Welshpool band. After two hours had elapsed an adjournment was made to the "Dragon" hotel, where Mr. Watkin had provided an excellent tea. This being treated with ample justice, the company formed into a meeting for the transaction of necessary business. The Rev. T. Hughes was called upon to take the chair, and, having explained the object of the Guild in a few well-chosen words, said he was not going to take up their time, and would therefore proceed to business at once. He noticed on the circular before him that they had to transact the following business: To confirm the minutes of last meeting, admit new members, arrange for instruction, and receive subscriptions. The minutes were then read, confirmed and signed. Several names were put forward as new members, which included amongst others the Rev. J. P. Lewis, Welshpool. These were proposed by Mr. F. Hughes, Welshpool, and seconded by Mr. Wm. Jones, Welshpool, and duly initiated. Mr. J. T. Bratton, the qualified local instructor, then stated that as soon as the harvest operations were completed he intended visiting all the towers in the branch, and arranging as to dates, etc., when he would give instruction. After the matter of contributions of members was settled, it was proposed by the Rev. T. Hughes (Buttington), seconded by Mr. J. Williams, Chirbury, and carried, that the next quarterly meeting be held at Newtown in the last week in November. A vote of thanks was proposed to the chairman for presiding by the Rev. J. P. Lewis. They were all very much indebted to Mr. Hughes for the great interest he had shown in the Association. He thought it an honourable post to be a bellringer, and the more they thought of it the more they would appreciate the office—that they were instrumental in calling people to church, and practically following that up by going to church themselves afterwards.

Mr. W. Jones seconded the proposition, which was carried unanimously.

Mr. Hughes, in responding, said he took a thorough interest in the work, and, although he did not say it in a boasting way, he had put himself to some inconvenience in connection with bellringing. Since he had left Welshpool he had attended the practices as regularly as possible, and had walked two miles in all kinds of weather, and had done so partly from pleasure, and for the interest he took in connection with change-ringing. He hoped their branch would succeed in promoting bellringing generally, and raising the position of ringers. He regretted that more towers were not represented there that day, but he hoped as time went on more interest would be taken in it. He thanked them for the hearty vote of thanks.

Mr. F. Hughes proposed a vote of thanks to their Instructor, Mr. Bratton. He was a splendid teacher and indefatigable in his work. But for him they would be at a loss which would be most difficult to supply.

The Rev. J. P. Lewis, in suitable terms, seconded the proposition, which was carried with acclamation.

Mr. Bratton, in responding, said he was much obliged for the kind manner in which they had received the proposition. He was sure that it gave him great pleasure to do anything for the furtherance of bellringing, and was happy to go anywhere for the Guild.

The company then returned to the tower, where they spent the remainder of the evening, and the Welshpool band rang a touch of Bob Minor, conducted by Mr. Bratton. Also some Grandsire Triples on the handbells. Montgomery has six bells, and with a little perseverance may be in possession of a good band of change-ringers.

BELL HANGING OPERATIONS.

We hear that the re-hanging of the ring of ten at St. Philip's church, Birmingham, has been entrusted to Mr. James Barwell, of that city; also that he has now in hand the restoration of the pretty ring of six at Marbury, Salop, and the re-hanging of the eight heavier bells of the ring of ten at Walsall parish church.

NUNEATON.—MIDLAND COUNTIES' ASSOCIATION.

On Sunday, September 4th, at the house of Mr. Wilbur, Hinckley, an unsuccessful attempt was made to ring a peal or Grandsire Triples on handbells retained in hand by Messrs. A. R. Aldham (Barwell, conductor), 1-2; T. W. Chapman (Nuneaton), 3-4; S. Cotton (Leicester), 5-6; J. H. Swinfield (Ear. Shilton), 7-8. A change-course was the cause of the failure! Having had tea with Mr. Wilbur, the above-named ringers and Mr. H. Argyle, started for Nuneaton on cycles, and having reached the country the bicycle bells were run over and found to be each of a different note. A course of Grandsire Doubles was therefore decided upon, and the machines being placed in order, beginning with the lightest toned bell, the course was successfully rung as they were riding. J. H. Swinfield, 1; S. Cotton, 2; A. R. Aldham, 3; T. W. Chapman, 4; H. Argyle, 5. Nuneaton being reached, the machines were put up, and a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples was rung for evening service at the parish church. J. H. Swinfield, 1; H. Briggs, 2; H. Argyle, 3; J. George, 4; J. W. Clarke, 5; A. R. Aldham (conductor), 6; S. Cotton, 7; W. H. Horwood, 8. Time 44 mins.

WORKING MEN AND THE CHURCH.

The parish of St. Mark's, Swansea, is inhabited by working men exclusively, with a population of 7158. A great need of a parish hall has been felt since the erection of the church in 1887, and the Vicar (the Rev. T. M. Williams) having called his people together, a plan for a hall, to accommodate 430, with offices and a classroom, was drawn up, and a tender accepted last April for the erection of the walls and roof. That part of the building having been accomplished, the men connected with the place have done the greater part of the work, free of charge, by working in the evening after returning from their daily work, and thereby saved about £400 in labour. Last Saturday Sir John T. D. Llewelyn turned in to see the men at their work, and being told that they had paid the contractor for the walls, etc., £300, which was collected in small sums from about 1000 persons, and that £180 was wanted to open the hall free of debt, was so pleased with the work that he immediately offered £100. It is hoped that the building will be opened free of debt by October 20th.

AN INTERESTING RELIC.

Mr. G. W. Cobb has written an interesting letter to the Times on the fate of the old Foudroyant, launched in 1798, which bore Nelson's flag, which received the 'mortally-wounded' Sir Ralph Abercromby on board, and which has recently been sold by order of the Admiralty, resold by her purchaser, and, when last heard of, had been towed off to Swinemede on the Baltic, presumably to be broken up and used "to light German fires." To an appeal not to part with so interesting a relic of the past, "my lords" returned a sympathetic reply, but "in view of the exigencies of our largely increased modern fleet, and the necessity of finding births for them at the several ports," did not see their way to retain this and other old ships which from historical associations they would have been glad to preserve. The Saturday Review, however, points out that only the other day the Admiralty informed the Grimsby authorities it had no ship to give them for a hospital. Meanwhile there is a chance for a patriotic antiquarian with £5500 at his disposal—the sum at which her present owner is ready to sell the Foudroyant once more.

THE SOCIETY OF ROYAL CUMBERLAND YOUTHS.

On Friday, September 2nd, at the society's headquarters, 54, St. Martin's Lane, the election of officers for the ensuing year took place, when the following were elected: Master—Mr. John Mansfield; Treasurer—Mr. William Baron; Secretary—Mr. A. Jacob; (the above have been retained in their respective offices); Senior Steward—Mr. Harold Davis; Junior Steward—Mr. James Davis. A. JACOB, Hon. Sec.

THE WEST MIDLANDS.

"One of the bonds which unite Americans and Englishmen," says a provincial contemporary, "is the affection with which our cousins across the Atlantic turn towards the natural scenery and local associations of the mother country. At this season hundreds of Americans resort to the English shires for their annual holiday, and find such delight in the visit that they come again and again. But to travel to this side of the world costs more money than most Americans who love old England can afford, and for those who must perforce stay at home the great newspapers occasionally supply the best possible substitute for a personal visit in graphic and sympathetic description of English scenes from special correspondents. One of these gentlemen, Edgar L. Wakeman, has lately made a tour through the West Midlands, and his account of what he saw and heard appears in recent numbers of the Chicago News Record. Mr. Wakeman begins by descanting on the 'hidden places of restfulness and beauty' to be found in the heart of England, and after a brief reference to Stratford-on-Avon finds himself at Tewkesbury." His remarks will please most lovers of what is left of our ancient cities:—

"By and by your boat comes under the shadows of a gray old abbey town. Near it is Deerhurst, where kings older than Alfred have worshipped. The Avon has sung itself to sleep in the bosom of the silver Severn, and there, by Olney, Canute and Edmund Ironside met and divided England between Dane and Saxon. Nearer still to the gray old abbey town is the 'Bloody Meadow,' where the War of the Roses was decided.

"Back past this now peaceful scene, past old thatched cottages, bright gardens and green fields, there rises upon the stranger's sight a mighty silver-gray old abbey. It is the abbey of Tewkesbury. It is more than eight hundred years old, and the Norman pillars of its dim old nave are the hugest and highest in England. Few of the English abbeys, or indeed, of the great English cathedrals, contain the materials of history and story of which Tewkesbury possesses. Then what wonderful charm there is in the old, half-timbered houses of Tewkesbury. They lean over the shadowy streets as though they had come back from the affairs of this bright and modern time. Here you have Chester, Bristol, Exeter, and Coventry almost in one in the wealth of specimens of the old Tudor style. In the gables, with their crowning pinnacles; in the porches, doors, mullioned windows and huge chimneys; in the overhanging of stories and projection of windows, they are no more quaint and curious than their interiors, with their spacious, low-ceilinged rooms, paneled with oak of ebon blackness, elaborately carved and ornamented, and with passages, nooks, niches, small rooms, cupboards and presses bewildering in number. All who have read 'John Halifax' will find in Tewkesbury a closer charm than in abbey and ancient houses. Tewkesbury green was Abel Fletcher's lawn. The clematis arbor, the yellow hedge and many delights so pleasantly pictured in 'John Halifax' are still carefully preserved. Dinah Mulock Craik loved old Tewkesbury passionately. She summered at Malvern, but this mellow, restful place was her affectionate haunt. Over in the huge abbey, among some of the richest and grandest ecclesiastical monuments of England, there has lately been placed a fitting tablet to the memory of this good and talented woman."

Mr. Wakeman continues in the following strain anent the neighbourhood north of Tewkesbury; a theme which is always a delightful one to the writer. This is how he speaks of what calls the glorious Malvern Hills:—

"A two hours' walk will bring you to bright and glowing Malvern, set up against the glorious Malvern hills. It is the quietest, handsomest, sunniest, shadiest, laziest inland resort in all England. Thousands are here, but there is no elbowing, no jostling, no hurrying. Everybody saunters, dozes, dreams. A sense of lazy, unconstrained enjoyment broods over the entire place and region. The waters and the mountain air bring all the people here, but these are not a tithe of the attractions. A ten minutes' walk upon the hills and you are in rural England as the poets sing of it. Fruit trees shake their blossoms or their fruit in showers upon the grass in odd nooks and corners of struggling hamlets. Each farmhouse and cottager's cottage stands in its own orchard, brilliant with the sprays of pink and white, or with balls of russet and gold, according to the season. Chaffinches and robins are among the mosses in all these orchards. Blackbirds and thrushes are everywhere in the thick shrubberies of the gardens and in the tangled hedgerows and coppices. Wrens, hedge warblers, and other tiny birds are in the matted grasses, by the hedgerows, and by the shaded runnels in the ditches. Everywhere, too, are the irregular shaped meadows, with their fantastic nooks and corners, and their sweet, rich herbage where dairy cows and cattle 'feeding up' for the butcher pass their tranquil lives literally in clover. There is always sure to be a pretty pool under the clump of trees at one corner, or a shallow stream riggling gently along at one side, singing its way to the valleys from the hills."

It is impossible, we suppose, for anyone visiting Malvern to deny himself the pleasure of a visit to the "faithful city," if only to view the grandly-restored Cathedral, with its model bell and ringing-chambers, and the grand bells. This is what our author says of

"WORCESTER, THE FAITHFUL CITY.

"Not eight miles away are the spires and towers of a quaint old cathedral city. This is ancient Worcester, that earned its title of the 'faithful city' in the times of the Commonwealth in so valiantly holding out against Cromwell for the king. Young Charles watched the last great battle from the cathedral tower until the citizens, vainly beating back the invaders, gave him time to make his escape. Cromwell revenged the plucky resistance, not so like a butcher as at Drogheda, but enough to leave the fair old city almost silent and deserted for years, while only the fowls of the air gathered in its roofless and windowless cathedral. In Worcester the old and the new touch everywhere. Interesting among that which is old are two of the most noteworthy monuments in England within the cathedral. One is that of King John, the earliest royal effigy in any of the English churches. The other is the monument to Bishop Hough of Magdalen College celebrity, whom James II. succeeded in making the English thoroughly remember. This mingling of the old and new is notably characteristic of Worcester. There are bustling streets with broad pavements and busy river wharves. There are noble bridges, big warehouses and bigger manufactories with tall chimneys and long rows of brick cottages for workmen, which may possess comfort, but which have a hideous sameness and dreariness about them. But there are broad streets, sharply turning odd corners and losing themselves in the queerest of lanes running up and down the hills. There are weather stained buildings, sacred and municipal, preserved or restored, or partially rebuilt. There is one venerable fortified gateway and another graceful mediæval arch, while there are streets and wynds and closes with antiquated names like Foregate and the Fryars. So, too, there are many, many timbered houses with those fine old open galleries which used to look down upon the courtyards of inns and hostels—when the wagoners and cartmen liked to keep an eye on their goods, and guests shouted for servants instead of ringing for them."

From the ancient city Mr. Wakeman goes to Broadway, which he describes in rapture.

"But the quaintest, sweetest place in all the Cotswold and Malvern hills is ancient Broadway. Broadway street is its old and pleasant name, derived from that great road or track-way leading from the west of England to London and the east coast, and here anciently called the 'Bradwela,' from the shepherds' cottes on the mounted wolds down to the most fruitful vales of Evesham. It is one long, wide straggling street, with a large, open, triangular green, at one end branching into two great roads, one to Cheltenham and one to Evesham. All its houses are picturesque. Indeed, here is one of the few ancient stone-built villages of olden England, left precisely as its makers built it all the way from three to five hundred years ago, and without a single mark of modern 'improvement' upon it. On every side are high pitched, gabled roofs, with wonderful stone and iron finials, unmullioned windows and bays, leaded casements, containing the original glass, and huge, tall, stone chimney stacks—all weathered to most beautiful colours. Low stone walls in front enclose little old-world gardens with clipped and fancifully-shaped yew trees. There are two of the quaintest inns in England here. Coaches have run to and from them, as now, for hundreds of years; for Broadway is beyond the sound of the railway, and the restful hostelrys abound in interesting bits of detail, old oak doors and hinges, old glass and casement fastenings and most curious chimney pieces, plaster ceiling and panelled rooms. Every house has flat-headed, mullioned windows with massive wood lintels and huge baulks of oak, roughly squared and moulded over the ingles and fireplaces. Near the village green is the old "Grange" of the abbots of Pershore; in an old house at one end of the village colonies of artists, some from our own country, annually come and live in what they call 'In Paradise,' and from the summit of Broadway hill not only can you study scenes blending into thirteen English shires, but hundreds of abbey barns and ancient stone farmhouses can be seen. In every one of the latter, tradition will tell you, Charles I. or Elizabeth passed a night. How wise, if they had the time. I envied them and followed their example wherever I could, and from this mossiest of all west of England nooks took entrancing strolls to Daylesford, where Warren Hastings was born and where he died; to little Strensham, where Samuel Butler, author of 'Hudibras,' was born; to Chipping Campden, site of the ancient 'Cotswold games' of the times of James I., upon which Johnson, Drayton and other poets wrote, and whose rhymes were published in a quaint old volume called 'Annalia Dubrensis,' in 1636; to Winchcombe, asleep by the babbling Isborne stream with its ruin of a once famous mitred abbey and its sad memories of the poisoning of the queen dowager, Catherine Parr; to Cleve Prior, hung like a nest upon the cliffs above the Avon, and to Evesham, queen of noble Evesham vale, rising from the banks of the Avon and backed by venerable tower, antique churches, and the ivied walls of its once flourishing abbey. One and all, idyllic spots and hours were these.

THE CLERGY AS TRADERS.

[From The Guardian.]

A writer in the National Review has revived an old suggestion bo urging that, in view of the present disastrous financial condition of the clergy, they should eke out their scanty incomes by engaging in trade. The writer, Mr. Barham, takes into consideration the case not only of the clergy, but also of Dissenting ministers, who according to him, are in quite as bad a way, and as much under the necessity of supplementing their incomes as are the clergy. With the needs of Dissenting ministers, however, we cannot deal; it is enough, and more than enough, for Churchmen to consider the case of their own parish clergy. It is impossible not to agree with much that Mr. Barham says as to the pitiable condition of many incumbents and superannuated curates in the present day. Indeed we have more than once expressed similar views. Before very long churchmen will find that they have on their hands a not inconsiderable number of absolutely destitute clergymen, unless some means can be devised by which small livings can be increased so as to provide a real livelihood, and some kind of pension secured for curates who have grown too old for work. At present, as an eager—perhaps too eager—correspondent points out, many are ordained every year for whom it is absolutely impossible that the Church, with her existing organisation, should furnish a livelihood. Of these a certain number, no doubt, are ordained with no immediate intention of undertaking parish work; they are schoolmasters or private tutors or university college officials. Others, again, and to a much larger extent, are possessed of private means, and expect to obtain by their clerical work only a supplementary income. But after all such deductions there can be no question that more men enter the ministry of the Church of England than can be provided for by the revenues of the Church at least under existing arrangements. The remuneration of curates, which, in proportion to the incumbents, is certainly excessive, attracts them at first, and they do not find out their mistake till they have obtained what is ironically called a living, or have passed the age up to which a curate can command the market. The result is in many cases most painful, and in all discreditable to the Church.

The remedy proposed by Mr. Barham is that the clergy should be allowed to follow the example of St. Paul, and engage in trade. The writer does not make it very clear what he means by the very elastic term, trade. St. Paul, as we all know, was a handicraftsman, and pursued his calling in order to support himself; and in one or two of Mr. Barham's instances the clergy seem to be doing the like. This is only a return to a former state of things. Readers of Wordsworth will doubtless recollect his beautiful description of "wonderful Walker," the curate of Seathwait for sixty-seven years, who eked out his minute stipend by spinning wool and carrying it to market, by teaching, and by acting as a sort of amateur lawyer or agent for his neighbours. In this way he not only brought up a large family, but managed to save £2,000.; and, making allowance for the different conception that then prevailed of clerical work, it is impossible to say that his parish suffered, or that he was prevented by worldly cares from doing his duty. In this sense of the word trade, there is, it seems to us, little or no objection to the clergy engaging in it, provided always that it does not interfere with their special vocation. It cannot, indeed, be more distracting to a parish priest to spin wool or plough his glebe than it is to prepare pupils for the University; yet nothing is commoner than for the clergy to act as schoolmasters, while a popular prejudice still exists against manual labour.

But Mr. Barham seems to have in view trade in the larger and more common sense of commerce. He quotes cases of clergymen who are partners in shops, of others who grow flowers for the London market, and of one who acts as a horse-dealer both for his friends and on his own account. Now, this seems to us a different matter. If it is only meant that the clergy may be sleeping partners in trading concerns we have no objection to make; there is very little difference between a sleeping partner and a shareholder, and no one would prevent a clergyman from investing his savings in railway stock. But an active partner, or still more a horse-dealer, "who regularly visits the Irish and the Welsh fairs," can hardly be a very competent parish priest. A manual labourer is at least on the spot; he can leave his plough or his loom when duty calls him; but it must call loudly, indeed, if he is to listen to it while cheapening horses at an Irish fair. That is the real objection to Mr. Barham's suggestion, an objection which he does not seem to perceive. It is not the incongruity, but the absorbing nature of the occupations in which he would have the clergy engage, that makes it unadvisable for them to undertake them. The times have changed since it could be said that a clergyman's duty fell on one day in the week, and there are very few parishes whose vicar could devote himself to trade without neglecting the most obvious calls of his post. It must be remembered, too, that trade also has changed its character in the last hundred years. The present conditions of competition are too severe to allow a man to "take to trade" in an amateur fashion, giving up fragments of his time to it, and coming to it with no special preparation or training. Here and there no doubt the parish clergyman might make a small shop "pay;" but it would be at the expense of his ministerial influence. One has only to listen to the complaints made when a clergyman deals at the co-operative stores to realise what would be said of one who actually competed with the village shopkeeper. And a successful clerical trader would, we venture to say, be an exception. Mr. Barham rather startles his readers by referring to the "shrewd intelligence sound judgment, and trained common sense" of the clergy, which would make them formidable rivals to laymen in trade. It is curious that another paper in this month's magazines, which gives us a lady's impressions of the clergy, consisting chiefly of more or less good-natured anecdotes and some mild criticism, enables us to contrast Mr. Barham's estimate of their business powers with that commonly entertained. One of Lady Catherine Milnes Gaskell's criticisms relates to the "sheer ignorance" and want of tact shewn by clergymen. "If you have to do business with them, they bring with them not even the commonest acquaintance with the rules of conduct that govern other men." The sweeping condemnation is no more accurate than Mr. Barham's praise; but it at least shows that, as matters now stand, the clergy would not be generally trusted as safe and prudent traders.

CURRENT TOPICS.

"A new principle of calling bobs and singles in the Grandsire method." This is what we are threatened with, according to a writer last week. I shall be doing a great service by informing this gentleman—whose name smacks of the Emerald Isle—that his new principle is not wanted; no one has looked for it; and all are satisfied with the present mode of "calling bobs and singles in the Grandsire method." It is out of the power of Mr. Dublin Wright to improve upon the present fashion in this respect, and I caution him that if he persists in bringing his invention before the readers of this paper, he will get laughed at for his pains.

Many "new principles" have been discovered by various wiseacres, but on examination they have either been found old as the hills, or else useless. There is no time for adopting "new principles" in ringing. And "new methods" are practically at a discount. During the last fifty years the number of "new methods" invented have been enormous, yet how many have taken hold of the campanological imagination? Not half-a-dozen. If we except New Cumberland Surprise, Duffield, and Forward, it may almost be said that all these "new methods" have been literally scouted. The three named, especially the second, are very good, and possess novel features.

* * * * *

I have intimated that there is no time for adopting anything new in ringing. Exception may be taken to such a statement. Who is in want of something new in the way of methods? Who is, like our friend Mr. Wright Dublin, looking for "new principles" of calling bobs and singles? Are there any readers of this paper anxious for something new—something different to what they have been accustomed to? If there are, let them address me at once. I should ask such dissatisfied and restless ones if they had mastered the three standard methods—Grandsire, Treble Bob, and Stedman. If the reply was in the affirmative, I should put a similar enquiry relative to Double Norwich, Superlative, Cambridge, and London. If I were told that all these had been worked threadbare, then I would suggest that the simpler methods, of which there are so many, would be an agreeable change. If a rejoinder came to the effect that these were also done to the death, then I should at once solemnly recommend to these people a hasty retirement from the Exercise, and the wisdom of following a totally different pursuit, horse-coping, for instance, in which honesty and truth are said to be unknown quantities.

* * * * *

I think those wanting a change in method ringing will find plenty of material at hand. There is, I say again, not sufficient time in the days allotted to man to become proficient even in the methods already known. Of what avail then is it to "invent" a new method, or to enunciate "new principles" in bob-calling? If Mr. Dublin Wright is able to take up the mantle of our friend "Joshua" and produce a peal without any bobs or singles at all, or a touch of Caters on eight bells, he will have achieved something new.

Will it ever come out, I wonder, what Associations worked to circulate the report published by the Committee of the Central Council, and what Societies did not? I hope it is not an impertinent question to ask whether the London Societies did anything to promote the circulation of such a useful budget of information and guidance. If they have not assisted in this work, then they must have fallen from their high estate; or from that position among ringers they were supposed to hold. I am a member of one Guild which from some inscrutable reason has refrained from circulating this pamphlet, and no doubt a question will be asked the Executive officer the reason for this.

* * * * *

Another composer in bad case. A published peal the truth of which is doubted, and another claimed by some one else. Bob-Major composers should have good memories, because there are so many peals of this method that it is easy to "compose" what somebody else has "composed" before, and somebody else previously. Not being a composer myself I solicited counsel upon these Bob Major compositions, and obtained the following opinion: "That many of these Bob Major peals are rubbish." The publication of this opinion may perhaps cause some young ambitious Bob Major merchant to pause ere rushing into print with his figures.

We have now got into Autumn. Just the time for peal-ringing, and therefore may soon expect to see the pages of our paper overrun with records of 5000 and upwards. Grandsire is a famous method I know; but a change to something else relieves the eye when scanning these records. There are many good methods hardly looked at yet, which would prove entertaining in their practice. Perhaps some of my readers will take the hint.

While allowing the utmost freedom for the expression of opinion, it must never be considered that we are in any way bound to statements made by correspondents.

To the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS AND RINGERS' RECORD."

WHAT OUGHT RINGERS TO WEAR?

SIR,—I have been reading the report of the Committee of the Council, in which I see it is recommended that ringers should wear a garment composed of "flannel woven all of wool." Now I am told that doctors advise that flannel should not be worn next the skin, but should be lined with calico or other material. These two statements hardly tally. I believe cyclists and others have some special material made for them to prevent cold when heated; if so would not something like this answer for ringers? Competent advice upon such a matter is needed.

TUBERCULOSIS.

REPLY WANTED.

SIR,—As Mr. Fussell does not seem inclined to reply to Mr. Pates' letter of the 20th August, are we to take it for granted?

JOHN JAGGAR.

GOOD ADVICE.

SIR,—If the person who wrote under the title of Captain of St. Michael's Ringers in your issue of the 3rd inst., would attend on practice nights and lend a helping hand, by taking a rope and assisting a young band to overcome some of the many difficulties which beset the path of beginners, I feel sure he will not again be guilty of sending such nonsense for publication.

GEORGE WRIGHT,

Captain of St. Michael's Ringers.

Stowe Street, Lichfield, September 6th, 1892.

INFORMATION WANTED.

SIR,—A few weeks ago you commented rather strongly upon the backwardness of some societies in not erecting memorials to distinguished ringers, and mentioned by way of contrast the tomb of the late Mr. Johnson, and the absence of any such memorial to the late Mr. Haley and Mr. Dwight. I should like to know if the College Youths have any intention of removing the reproach from themselves by erecting some memorial of either or both of these distinguished ringers.

A LONDONER.

Ringers' Outings.

RANMOOR, NEAR SHEFFIELD.—On Monday, August 8th, through the kindness of the Vicar, the Rev. J. G. Williams, the Wardens, Sidesmen, and several ladies and gentlemen connected with the church of St. John the Evangelist, the ringers held their annual outing, the places selected being Bakewell and Youlegreave, Derbyshire, at which, through the kindness of the Vicars of both places, the bells were at the service of the company. A start was made from near the church at 7.30 a.m. in a waggonette supplied by Mr. Hudson, of the "Ranmoor" inn, and although the morning was wet the drive was much enjoyed, as it included some of the finest scenery in Derbyshire. Arriving at Bakewell about 11 o'clock, after slight refreshment an adjournment was made to the church, where, after inspecting the many ancient monuments and other things of interest in the sacred edifice, the tower was visited, but owing to the fourth bell being cracked the company could only ring a few touches of Bob Minor. Leaving the church, accompanied by Mr. Smith, one of the Bakewell ringers, a conveyance was chartered for Youlegreave, and on arriving there a touch of 756 Grandsire Triples was rung. C. Sawyer, 1; W. Noble, 2; W. Goodwin, 3; F. Allen, 4; W. Mellor, 5; J. Mulligan (conductor), 6; W. Plant, 7; C. Tofts (Youlegreave), 8. Tenor 26 cwt. They returned to Bakewell by historic Haddon Hall, an extensive and ancient castellated mansion, much visited by tourists, and considered one of the most complete stongholds of the feudal barons now remaining in England. It is said to be older than the Conquest. Arriving at Bakewell the company partook of an excellent knife and fork tea, to which full justice was done. After taking a walk round the town the return journey was commenced, home being reached about ten o'clock, all having spent a very pleasant day. They wish to express their gratitude to those members of the congregation who so kindly contributed to the funds for their outing; and also to the Vicars of Bakewell and Youlegreave for the use of the bells, and to the local ringers generally for their uniform kindness.

ST. JAMES' SOCIETY, NORTON, DERBYSHIRE.—The annual outing of this company, together with the choir and the churchwardens, took place on Monday, August 15th, the place selected being Castleton. The journey commenced at 9 a.m. from the church. On the way they called at Hathersage, and a move was at once made for the church, where there is a peal of six bells, and these being raised, 240 Oxford Treble Bob Minor was rung. G. Gaucher, 1; G. Butcher, 2; J. Atkin, 3; J. Biggin, 4; W. Biggin, 5; J. Allen (conductor), 6. And 120 each of Bob Minor and Bob Doubles, with A. Slater, 1; and T. Births, 6. The journey was then resumed, and at Hope, where there is a splendid peal of six bells, a 720 of Bob Minor was rung. A. Slater, 1; J. Gaucher, 2; J. Atkin, 3; G. Butcher, 4; W. Biggin, 5; J. Allen (conductor), 6. Tenor 20 cwt. It was asserted by some of the old parishioners that it was the first 720 they had heard on the Hope bells for more than thirty years. The choir and others of the company having gone forward with the waggonettes, the ringers followed on foot. On reaching their destination a good tea was provided, after which the ringers made their way to the church where they rang 360 and 120 of Bob Minor. An enjoyable home journey wound up an agreeable outing, and Norton church was reached at 11 o'clock.

The removal of the flagstaff upon the summit of the Round Tower at Windsor Castle began on Saturday morning; the work, which is of a dangerous character, having been delayed by the late stormy weather. The old staff, made of stout Norwegian pine, is believed to have been erected about the year 1829; from its base to the truck it was upwards of 70ft. high. The large Royal Standard which floats over the castle in fine weather is 36ft. long and 21ft. broad. The smaller banner, or storm flag, is 12ft. long and 6ft. broad. One or the other is always flying so long as the Queen remains at Windsor. During the absence of the Court a Union Jack, 24ft. long and 12ft. broad, is displayed. A new mast will be erected upon the tower before Her Majesty's return from Scotland.

GRANDSIRE TRIPLES.

The hoar Church tower, worn by lapse of years,
Over whose crest the joyful sun hath shone,
Or darkening storm hath swept, or balmy breeze
Hath softly whispered, through the long-drawn span
Of centuries decennial, lay, but now,
In moonlight bathed, beneath the dreamy stars.
No sound was heard save when the bird of night
Blew his shrill clarion, echoed back by friends.
Then from the east the blushing dawn appears
Her rosy form, to greet the coming day.
All nature stirs—and man (though last to rise),
Prepares to labour through the morning hours.
Now comes the noon with twelve great shocks of sound,
Forth hammered slowly by th' unerring skill
Of Benson's art, proclaiming well-earned rest.
The frugal meal's despatched—an hour is passed,
And all refreshed await the stroke of one,
Which bids resume the intermitted task,
Till the red sun sinks 'neath the western wave;
When lo! unwonted echoes fill the air;
Bell after bell strikes up with joind note,
Till, rising, falling, dying on the wind,
One, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight are heard
In merry round—"Ah!" quoth a grey-haired swain,
"I love to hear those joy bells. Oft, in youth,
I've rung with others, now gone to their rest.
Ah! we could ring then; round and round and round,
In even stroke—Ne'er was such music made,
From forty miles or more they sent for us
To ring their bells, and said, there's none can raise A tenor like old Robert. Ah! 'twas prime."
The listening throng applauded. Then stood forth
A greatly-daring youth, shame-faced, and said,
"Why, Robert, ringing's altered since your day.
They're not contented now to ring in rounds,
Or make call-changes, but at each half-pull
The melody is varied with such skill
And artful method, as would pass belief.
This very afternoon, as I've been told,
A peal is to be tried for." While he spake,
The bells rang forth again in merry round,
Once, twice, and then a tuneful change began,
Another, and another, bell with bell
Entwining, like the partners, hand in hand,
Through country dance. The listeners stood amazed.
"They'll soon break down," says one. "That's wrong," the next.
But still the music thrills upon the breeze.
The minutes fly, and hour succeeds to hour;
Was ne'er such striking known. Bob after bob,
And single after single runs due course.
Now the third hour is passed; one minute more,
And rounds again fall on the expectant ear.
The peal is won! Anon the wearied band
Descend the stair, triumphant, to receive
Their well-earned praise—Nor will they trust my muse
To sing their glory—but on belfry wall,
Haste to record, with pardonable pride,
In golden letters, as such fame deserves,
Their great achievement—for, that day, a peal
Of Grandsire Triples, well and firmly struck,
Five thousand changes and two score, they first Accomplished—All the neighbouring world admired
And envied. Noble Band! your honoured names
Are known, and shall be handed down from age
To age, until the final peal comes round,
And all earth's denizens are called to Stand!

F. WHYLEY.

In its illustrations of cathedrals the Builder has now reached Wales, and views of Bangor and St. Asaph are given in the current number. The former is chiefly Decorated with a Perpendicular choir and western tower, almost the only Norman remains being the piers of the central tower and a window and buttress on the south side of the choir. St. Asaph is Decorated, with a presbytery added about twenty-five years ago by Sir G. G. Scott. Neither has choir aisles, unless the early Decorated rebuilding of the structure on the north of the choir at Bangor may be called one. Part is used as an organ chamber and part as a library with Chapter-house over. At St. Asaph the south transept is used as a Chapter-house and library, the north is partly an organ chamber and choir vestry, while the choir stalls are under the tower.

The Bell News &amp; Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1892.

THE official programme of proceedings at the Church Congress, to be held at Folkestone in the first week of October, has been published. A great array of speakers is announced, who will deliver their opinions on various subjects, none of which, however, seem to possess the charm of novelty. In vain we look for an indication that such a subject as "Church Bells" will be alluded to, and this, after what has been said, is disappointing. We do not presume to say that the subjects selected for discussion are, every one of them, not more important than the subject of Church Bells, though many of our readers may think so. However this may be, the programme appears to us to be a most dry affair. The subjects for treatment are rather common-place, and as we have said before, wanting in novelty. There is a paper to be read entitled "Physical Recreation: its use and abuse." The late Attorney-General, a celebrated athlete in his day, is to speak upon this question, followed by a clergyman; and we would fain hope that by some means or other, one or two of the ringing clergy will follow these speakers, and adroitly introduce Bellringing as a "Physical Recreation" of the highest importance; and surprise Sir RICHARD WEBSTER by maintaining that every athletic pursuit, as such, fall immeasurably below change-ringing as physical recreation, while from a mental point of view there is nothing in the athlete's whole curriculum which can compare with it. If we can persuade some of our eloquent friends to do this, the omission of the subject of "Church Bells and Ringing" from the official programme will not be such a great evil after all, and may lead to the subject being taken up at the Congress in the following year with energy and warmth.

It may be thought from their continued apathy that the clergy as a body were not aware of the important fact that church towers contain, in many instances, a collection of expensive and valuable adjuncts to public worship, which require to be looked after and kept from decay. They are severe upon deficiencies which are open to view, but the bells and the ringers, in many instances, can be left to their fate. "Bells and Ringers" has unfortunately never yet become a fashionable theme, or we may have often seen it among Congress miscellanea. Some people enjoy dissertations upon matters of small importance, but eschew such a good, healthy, wholesome English subject as "Church Bells and Ringing."

Church News.

The Bishop of Rochester has gone to Scotland for a few weeks' rest. Letters on diocesan business may be addressed to the Bishop of Southwark, Dartmouth House, Blackheath.

A striking and chiming clock, with two large dials, and costing £150, has been placed in the tower of Peterchurch Church, near Hereford, and was first started on Sunday last.

Bishop Selwyn, late of Melanesia, has gone for a fortnight to Gibraltar, whence he will return, sufficiently restored, it is to be hoped, to undergo another operation after the Church Congress.

Dr. Tristram, Q.C., Chancellor of the diocese of London, has been appointed Chancellor of the diocese of Chichester in the room of the late Mr. Robert Wintle Wintle, M.A.

Bishop Bardsley has accepted the office of vice-president of the Home Reunion Society in succession to the late Bishop of Carlisle.

A very unusual scene was witnessed on Monday, when the vicar of Bangor baptised by immersion, in the Menai Straits, a male adult who had seceded from the Welsh Baptists.

The Yorkshire Post says that the Rev. W. Askwith has resigned the vicarage of Ugthorpe, in order to take up work under the Rev. W. R. Sharrock, vicar of Great-with-Little-Driffield.

On Wednesday, August 31st, the Bishop-elect of Quebec, the Rev. A. H. Dunn, vicar of All Saints, South Acton, vacated his living, leaving Liverpool the following day. On Tuesday week he was presented with an Episcopal ring, a pectoral cross, a pastoral staff (for the diocese), a set of Bishop's robes, and a D.D. Cambridge hood. Mrs. Dunn also received a gold bracelet.

The Dean of Worcester has rendered the S.P.G. considerable service by a series of addresses on behalf of the society in Wales. He visited, together with the organising secretary, three dioceses, and pleaded earnestly the claims of this the oldest of our missionary societies, and laid stress on the fact that Christianity alone could regenerate the world.

The Archbishop of Canterbury has shown that he is not possessed of a narrow-minded and illiberal disposition, but is rather animated by a largeness of heart. During his sojourn with Lord Aberdeen in an out-of-the-way locality in the far north, he did not hesitate to attend the service of the "Kirk." His Grace was present at Sunday (week) morning service at the parish church of Methlic.

The Dean of Ripon (Dr. Fremantle) celebrated his eighty-fifth birthday on Thursday last, and received numerous congratulations. The Dean, though feeling the infirmity of increasing years, yet retains his mental vigour, and preaches in the cathedral with his accustomed clearness and power. He has now been Dean of Ripon sixteen years, and enters his sixtieth year of ministerial life, having being ordained deacon in 1833. His colleague at the cathedral as canon-in-residence is Archdeacon Cust, who is also an octogenarian and the Dean's senior in years.

The Bishop of Wakefield narrowly escaped a serious accident on Sunday evening. He was driving with his daughter, Mrs. Lloyd Kenyon, from her husband's house to Oswestry, some five miles distant, when the horse bolted. The Bishop and Mrs. Kenyon jumped from the carriage, and alighted in safety, being only shaken. The coachman kept his seat till Oswestry was nearly reached, when, being unable to stop the frightened horse, he leapt from the carriage. In falling he sustained a bad cut upon his head. The horse dashed with the empty carriage through Oswestry, but eventually returned to its stable. Dr. How, after the accident, preached in Oswestry parish church.

Further discoveries of "Anglo-Saxon" remains are announced to have been made in Watt's Avenue, Rochester. One grave contained an iron spear-head and knife, in another was found a knife, and in a third a small urn, a knife, buckle, and two opaque glass beads. It is supposed that the site was a cemetery. In digging foundations for additions at the back of the Guildhall, Winchester, an old chalk coffin with a skeleton has been found, the coffin being 7½ ft. long, and supposed to be connected with the old monastic buildings. Another skeleton was found near by, and in another part of the city a large oak block 4 ft. in diameter and in the form of a bowl, which is thought to have been formerly used by tanners or clothworkers.

ENQUIRER.—Your questions, always plentiful, must be answered through the post. The proof of Treble Bob requires a more lengthy explanation than can be afforded in this column.

THE CHURCH BELLS OF BUCKINGHAMSHIRE. By ALFRED HENEAGE COCKS, M.A., Ch. Ch., Oxford; F.Z.S., F.R.G.S., Great Marlow, Bucks. With many illustrations.

MESSRS. JARROLD & SONS have pleasure in announcing the early publication by subscription of this most interesting and important work. It will contain an account of all the Church Bells in Buckinghamshire, with everything relating to their history that can be discovered. Full accounts of all the Founders whose bells hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County, including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. The work was undertaken at the instigation of the late J. C. L. Stahlshmidt, Esq., author of "Surrey Bells and London Bell-founders," "The Church Bells of Kent," "Herts," etc.; and the fact that the author had the benefit of the kind assistance and advice of this well-known campanologist may be mentioned as some guarantee of the scope and nature of the present work. Mr. Stahlshmidt wrote the author, that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting county," and he repeated this opinion in a subsequent letter. The "Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 600 pages, & be handsomely illustrated with 24 full-page plates of mediaeval letterings, founders' marks, etc., found on Bells still existing in the County and numerous figures—some of them being peculiar to Bucks—will be inserted in the text. The 8vo. Edition is limited to 350 copies, and will be offered to subscribers before the day of publication at 25s. nett. The Larger Edition, Royal 4to, is limited to 80 copies, and will be subscribed at 42s. The prices will be raised on the day of issue should any copies remain unsold.

Her Majesty's Surgeon-Dentist's Testimonial.

"My Dear Doctor,—Allow me to express my sincere thanks for the skill and attention displayed in the construction of my Artificial Teeth, which render my mastication and articulation excellent. I am glad to hear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. In recognition of your valuable services, you are at liberty to use my name.—S. G. HUTCHINGS. By Appointment Surgeon-Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen."

Geo. H. Jones, Esq., F.R.S.L., F.R.M.S.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has by his Perfected System of Dentistry demonstrated that Painless Dentistry is as much an accomplished fact as the swift locomotive, the electric light, or the telephone, and absolutely restores the natural contour caused by the loss of teeth, by the adjustment of Prize Medal dentals, rendering detection impossible, which obtained the Gold Medals of London, 1851; New York, 1853; London, 1862; Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; and Philadelphia, 1876.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has been awarded for his Improvements and Patents in Dentistry gold medals, London and Paris; gold medal, New Zealand Exhibition, 1882; gold medal Calcutta, 1883; and the highest diploma of merit and award at Nice and Amsterdam, 1883-4. Awarded the gold medal of the Académie Nationale, Paris, 1884; and the highest award Antwerp; also the gold medal, International Exhibition, London, 1885; gold medal, Liverpool, 1886; gold medal, Melbourne, 1888-9.

Established 1851.

THE ST. MARTIN'S GUILD, BIRMINGHAM.

On Monday the 5th instant, several members of this Guild journeyed to the pretty town of Llangollen, in North Wales, bent at all hazards on having a jolly day, and if possible scoring a peal.

Number 5 of the wee small hours found a select few at Snow Hill Station, and as 5.15, the time of departure, arrived, it was discovered that several expected ones were absent.

After a pleasant run Shrewsbury was reached in good time, and the party soon ascertained that the admirable railway arrangements left ample time, not only for a saunter through the main street of the town, but also for studying in detail the artistic beauties of the station.

Two carved stone heads at the door of the refreshment room suggested likenesses of well-known ringers, the more interesting one being apparently in the act of masticating an extra thick specimen of the railway refreshment bar sandwich.

From Shrewsbury to Ruabon a fellow traveller afforded much amusement by characteristics strongly resembling those of two well-known scriptural personages of rather unenviable fame, and he was also so good as to impart to the company gratuitous instruction in the pronunciation of Welsh as she is spoken. At Ruabon a facetious member of the company aired this newly acquired knowledge, together with some rather doubtful geographical science, with startling effect upon the natives. A wedding being on at the Parish Church, enabled the travellers on completion of the service to inspect its interior, the various objects of interest—the beautiful stained glass and monuments of the Watkins Wynn family being pointed out by the curate. Application for permission to ring on the bells here was made to the vicar, the Rev. E. W. Edwards, but although attended to as quickly as might be expected, and with the usual courtesy, the delay was unfortunately too great for the limited time at the disposal of the visitors.

The few miles between Llangollen were soon covered, and although the party had been subjected to serious delays, the day was yet sufficiently young to allow them to look forward to considerable enjoyment.

At Llangollen, they were met by the Messrs. Davies of the local band, and Mr. Rowland of Wrexham, who had most kindly responded to a telegram from Shrewsbury, announcing "a man short." After a short interval devoted to a bite and sup, a start was made for the tower, where a capital ring of eight, a splendidly light and airy ringing-chamber, and everything in readiness, augured well for a peal.

In two hours and fifty-eight minutes the conductor's welcome, "this is all," announced the conclusion of Brook's Variation, particulars of which will be found in our last issue p. 288. Afterwards, with the Messrs. Davies and Rowland inside, some well struck Stedman Triples conclusively proved that the visitors need never have been under any apprehension as to shortness of hands. An adjournment was then made to the house of Mr. Davies, where a capital dinner had been provided for the whole company. That the visitors were ringers is sufficient to say how much such hospitality was appreciated, and they feel that they cannot be too grateful to the Messrs. Davies for the kindness and thoughtful care for their entertainment. It was not sufficient merely to place their visitors in the tower, where everything was in readiness, but one threw open his house and provided an excellent dinner, while both accompanied the visitors throughout the day, giving them the benefit of their local knowledge and experience. This is the best possible testimony to the freemasonry existing among exponents of the campanological science, and does especial credit to the ringers of the principality.

After dinner some of the party decided on hill climbing to Crow Castle, while others took passage for a voyage along the canal, which hereabouts runs side by side with the Dee, for a few miles up to the Chain Bridge.

It would be idle for any pen but that wielded by a born artist to attempt to describe the loveliness of the scenery, and the charm of its freshness upon the ordinary town dwellers.

Two of the party accompanied by Mr. Davies paid a visit to Plas Newydd, whereat formerly resided the celebrated "Maids of Llangollen." Here is to be seen a most excellent variety of curios, collected by the maids during their lifetime, and by the the present resident. The throwing open of such an unique collection to the inspection of visitors must in itself form a great attraction to the town of Llangollen.

All too soon the time for departure arrived, when the attractions of the lovely-situated railway station were further augmented by the unusual music of an excellently-struck course on the handbells, in which Mr. Davies assisted the visitors by taking a pair.

The return journey, which was performed in excellent time, was enlivened and shortened by racy tales and conversation in particular by one veteran of the company. These kept the party fully alive, and appear to have given infinite amusement to a stray passenger. Altogether it was felt that the journey had been scored as another success by its originator, Mr. Bastable.

THE NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

DISTRICT MEETING AT ALDEBURGH.—The tenth quarterly meeting of the Saxmundham district was held at the above place on Saturday, September 3rd. The meeting was but thinly attended, in some measure probably owing to the unpropitious state of the weather in the earlier part of the day, sixteen members only being present. The business meeting was held at 6.30, when Mr. A. J. Lincoln was voted to the chair, and the minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. It was reported that one peal had been rung in the district since the last meeting, viz., a 5024 of Oxford Treble Major at Leiston. A resolution was passed to hold the next meeting at Saxmundham on December 3rd, and that the Secretary be requested to apply for the use of the Kelsale bells also upon the occasion. The bells at Aldeburgh were not allowed to be rung in consequence of the death of Colonel Long, an influential resident in the neighbourhood, who died at Aldeburgh on the day previous to the meeting. The usual votes of thanks brought the meeting to a close.

THE YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

A well-attended Committee Meeting was held on Saturday evening, September 10th, at the Unity Lodge Rooms, Bradford, Mr. W. Snowdon, President, in the chair. The meeting occupied about three hours. Several new members were admitted (bringing the year's total to seventy-nine), and the annual report of progress adopted, which was eminently satisfactory in every respect, numerically, financially, and scientifically. Arrangements were also settled for the forthcoming annual meeting to be held at Guiseley on Saturday, October 8th, which included an invitation to the Rev. C. H. King, vicar of St. James, Bolton, Bradford, to preach the Association sermon.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.—BLACKBURN BRANCH.

On Saturday last, a meeting of the above branch was held at Holy Trinity Church, Blackburn, when representatives were present from Blackburn, Church, Hoghton, Oswaldtwistle, and Padiham. Dr. Moffatt, the vicar, presided at the meeting, which was held in the schoolroom, and gave a short address to the ringers. Votes of thanks to the vicar, wardens, and ringers of Holy Trinity, brought the meeting to a close.

The whole of the carving for the Bishop's throne in Peterborough Cathedral has now been completed, and the figures placed in position. At the side of the seat are representations of St. Peter and St. Paul. On the book-board are symbolical representations of temperance, wisdom, fortitude, and justice. The large figures in the lower tier immediately above the canopy are—Abbot Saxulf, founder of Medeshampstead; Cuthwin, first Bishop of Leicester; Abbot William (?), of Sais, builder of the present church; Abbot Benedict, writer of the Peterborough Chronicle; St. Hugh, Bishop of Lincoln, and John Chambers, last Abbot, first Bishop. In the higher tier the figures are—Bishop Dove, the theologian Bishop; Bishop Cumberland, the philosopher Bishop; Bishop White Kennett, the antiquarian Bishop; and Bishop Magee, the orator Bishop. The whole of the figures are from the studio of Mr. N. Hinch, Harleyford Road, London.

SELBY ABBEY, YORKSHIRE.

[From The Guardian.]

The Abbey Church of Selby, though occupying a unique position as the only great conventual church in the wide county of Yorkshire remaining virtually complete and still used for divine worship, and ranking very high architecturally among the winsters of our country, has not, we think, generally received the attention it deserves. Of the tens of thousands of travellers who annually pass it on the main northern line of railway, though they cannot fail to be struck with its size and dignity, very few ever think of making a break in their journey to gain a more intimate acquaintance with it. And yet there are few buildings which are more architecturally interesting, or of which a leisurely examination would prove more rewarding. The nave, beginning with its Norman crossing and first two bays, passing into Transitional in the remainder of its length, and finishing with Early English in its clerestory and the upper part of its west front, offers a school in which the gradual development of our national architecture may be studied most instructively, while the choir, of equal length and still more noble proportions, is confessedly one of the very finest works, both in design and execution, of the best period of English architecture, the Middle-Pointed or Decorated. In the words of the late Sir Gilbert Scott, "it would be difficult to find an example of that style, excepting in some of the finest of our cathedrals"—if, indeed, that exception may be admitted—"more perfect than that of Selby." The east end, with its lofty, crocketed gable, flanked by pierced turrets of very unusual stateliness and richness of ornament, and its magnificent seven-light window of flowing tracery, "which," in the words of the late Professor Freeman, "may claim at least the second place of its own class in England, and therefore in the world" (we suppose Mr. Freeman assigned the first place to the east window of Carlisle), is certainly one of the glories of England.

The foundation is ascribed to William the Conqueror, to whom, according to the tale, Benedict had been introduced by the Sheriff of York, Hugh, son of Baldric. The Sheriff, as he sailed up the Ouse with a large body of soldiers, had spied out the cross on Benedict's cell, halted on his voyage, and sought the pilgrim's society. The impression made was most favourable. Hugh left his own tent for the hermit's shelter and ordered the erection of a chapel for the reception of the sacred finger. On his arrival at York the Sheriff told the King of what had passed; his account interested William so much that he desired to see Benedict. He was accordingly brought to William, who liked the man so well that he made him a grant of land on which to build his monastery, and fortified him with a charter of foundation, opening in a most grandiloquent style—"Willelmus fortissimus immo potentissimus rex omnium regum"—which may be read in the pages of Dugdale. The new foundation bore the conjoined names of St. Mary and St. German. Of this combination of sainted names in the dedications of our religious houses and churches there are many examples. We may instance St. Mary and St. Cuthbert, at Workop; St. Peter and St. Wilfred, at Ripon; St. Peter and Etheldreda, at Ely; St. Mary and St. Chad, at Lichfield, St. Mary and St. Blaise, at Boxgrove; and most intricate of all St. Mary, St. Michael, St. Sampson, and St. Branwallader, at Milton Abbas, in Dorsetshire. In these cases the last named preserves the original dedication to one or more saints of local celebrity, to which, on the refoundation or enlargement of the house, one of more general acceptance was prefixed.

We should be glad if we could attribute the foundation of Selby to some feeling of repentance on William's part for the unspeakable horrors of his harrowing of Yorkshire, of which the pages of Symeon of Durham present so vivid a picture; that "simple, unmitigated havoc," to adopt Mr. Freeman's nervous words, which had left the rich valleys and fertile plains of the county a desolate wilderness in the rear of his devastating army. The date of the foundation might admit of this, but of such remorseful feelings there is no sign in the foundation charter. A strange tradition, unsupported by other testimony, places the birth of William's one English-born son, Henry I., at Selby. The evidence, or rather the probability of this fact, for evidence in the strict sense of the word there is none, has been carefully examined by Mr. Freeman, both in his History of the Norman Conquest and his delightful volume of Towns and Districts. The verdict he pronounces is "that it is a tradition which the very unlikelihood makes likely," not altogether impossible, but certainly far from probable. As Henry I. was born in 1068, if he came into the world at Selby, it cannot have been within the walls of the Abbey, which was not founded till the following year. Soon after the foundation of Selby the long-standing feud between Canterbury and York as to the jurisdiction over Lindsey, which had been apparently altered by the decree of the Bishops in the days of Remigius the first Bishop of Lincoln, broke out afresh at his death, and delayed the consecration of his successor, Robert Bloet, in 1094, till the eve of Rufus's sailing for Normandy. The abbeys of Selby and St. Oswald's, Worcester, were finally accepted by Archbishop Thomas as a compensation for the loss of the fair county of Lincoln, which has ever since without dispute formed part of the Southern Province. The adjacent county of Nottingham, with its minster of Southwell, remained attached to York till the removal of ancient landmarks and the wiping out of ancient boundaries of the Cathedral Act of 1836, by which it was very unwisely united to the diocese of Lincoln, to be separated again on the creation of the see of Southwell in 1884, but without restoration of the primatial jurisdiction which had claimed its allegiance for so many centuries. The high dignity of Selby was speedily recognised at Rome. The mitre and the right of benediction and other privileges were granted to the Abbot by Alexander II. in 1076.

The building of the abbey church was begun by the second Abbot, Hugh by name, 1097-1123. The constructional choir, which would be the first portion erected, was entirely removed on the erection of the existing Decorated choir in the fourteenth century. That it was on the usual Norman plan, with a short limb and apsidal end, has been shown by the foundations discovered during the recent restoration. A single apsidal chapel opened eastwards out of each transept, as at Norwich, the foundations of which have also been recently discovered. The northern apsidal chapel was removed on the erection of the Latham Chantry, a rather poor Perpendicular work, c. 1450. Of Hugh's church we have remaining the crosses with the tower arches, and the lower part of the central tower, the north transept, and the two easternmost bays of the nave. These bays, in common with the whole of the nave, are on what we may call the Durham plan, the piers being alternately cylindrical and rectangular with attached shafts. If, as the vaulting shafts indicate, it was intended for sexpartite vaulting as at Durham, the plan was never carried out, the whole of the nave being covered over with a flat, wooden-panelled ceiling. Hugh's Norman is of the noble type we are familiar with at Durham, to which it presents another resemblance in a single column on the south side covered with reticulated channellings. Funds do not seem to have permitted Hugh to erect more than the ground story and triforium of these first two bays, which were necessary as an abutment for the tower. The clerestory of the whole nave is Early English. This nascent nave, if used at all, must have been temporarily roofed over at the upper triforium string, in the same way as we see it in the mutilated churches of Thorney and Dunstable, which have lost their clerestory. When the nave was continued on Transitorian lines, the builders carried on their work in the same piecemeal way. First the arcade was erected, then the triforium, and last of all the clerestory. Three epochs are distinctly marked in the north arcade. The first two bays are early Norman, the next two Norman of a later type, and the remaining three bays Transitional, verging gradually into Early English, which is exhibited in its full development in the upper part of the west front. The five western bays on the south side are all of one pattern, and have been built continuously. Both triforiums present curious eccentricities. It is a singular fact that no two opposite bays are alike. The nave of Worcester exhibits a somewhat similar diversity at a later date, the north side being Decorated, and the south side Perpendicular, to which style the triforium and clerestory of the two westernmost bays of the north side also belong. We have many other examples of the slow and gradual way in which our mediæval churches were built or rebuilt, but that presented by Selby is, we think, the most remarkable of all. The south triforium of the Transitional bays has all its arches void, with deeply recessed suites of mouldings. Some of the intermediate piers are of a singular and ungraceful form. The broad, continuous abacus forms, as it were, a round table, standing on shafts, as legs, eight in one place and double the number in another. On the south side the design of the Transitional triforium is the same throughout. A large, imperfectly pointed arch includes two richly moulded pointed sub-arches, the tympanum being pierced with a trefoil. Besides the usual vaulting shafts between the bays, an additional detached shaft starts from the triforium string in the centre of each bay, awkwardly bisecting the arch and running up to the roof. Interesting as these divergences from the ordinary type are as architectural whims, they cannot be called pleasing, and one would not wish to see them imitated. On the completion of the two lower stories of the nave the temporary roof would be raised and a low Early English clerestory added and the building opened to its full height. The clerestory within presents a continuous arcade of much gracefulness, but outside it has no such decoration, and is singularly bald, especially on the north side, where each bay contains only one light, against two on the south side. The west front was at the same time completed and the western towers begun. These, however, were not raised higher than the roof. At a later date the nave was treated like that of St. Albans. The roof was lowered and the western gable shorn off. This mischief we have seen redressed in the first restoration conducted by Sir G. G. Scott, by whom the roof was raised and the western gable restored. His design of completing the western towers and capping them with tall leaden spires is left to future restorers to carry out. These towers are so greatly needed to improve the outline of the minster, in which, as Mr. Freeman says, "it is certainly lacking," that we should almost counsel their taking the precedence of the rebuilding of the missing southern transept and the refashioning of the central tower, urgently as these works seem to be called for. The upper story of the central tower fell in November, 1690. Early prints show it to have been a stately design, apparently of Decorated date, with tall, angular pinnacles, and an arcaded belfry-stage. In its fall it crushed the south transept, the ruins of which, in the economical spirit of that dead time, were carted away as so much rubbish, without any attempt at reconstruction. The two lower Norman stages of the tower were not too much damaged to be patched up again, and on this base the present mean and incongruous tower was put up, in the debased classical style of that period. The groining of the western bay of the choir and its clerestory and isles to the south-west were destroyed by the same catastrophe. These have been replaced in the noble restoration conducted by Mr. Oldrid Scott, under the auspices of the present energetic vicar, the Rev. A. G. Tweedie, by whom the glorious choir, of which we have already spoken, has been rescued from the most grievous state of dilapidation, squalor, and decay, and has assumed much of its original beauty and dignity. The rebuilding of the vanished transept, and the replacing of the ungainly upper story of the tower by one more in harmony with the building which it crowns, enter into Mr. Tweedie's scheme of restoration, for which he is earnestly pleading. Nor we are sure will he rest satisfied until he has accomplished the work and brought back the church to its pristine proportions. He has our heartiest good wishes for the success of this bold enterprise, which the present failing state of the existing tower renders one of urgency. But, as we have said, the completion of the original design by the erection of the two western towers is equally essential to the dignity of the church, and we would urge the importance of this being kept steadily in view. We fear that Selby has no such great names to conjure with as those of Bishop Butler and Monk, which have secured the completion of the western towers at Bristol, but we can well conceive their being erected by and bearing the names of some of the great landowners or wealthy manufacturers of Yorkshire, jealous for the honour of the county, of which, as we have said, Selby is the only monastic church which survived the crash of the Dissolution unscathed, and still serves its sacred purpose. The same generous zeal which has given the west front of the Austin Canons Church at Bridlington (where only the nave is standing) its two beautiful western towers can hardly be lacking at Selby, with its wealthy entourage. Some persons, bitten with the anti-restoration craze, may cry out against the completion of the towers as an unhallowed tampering with the old work, even as there are some who denounce the refashioning of the bald and clumsy belfry story, with its Gregorian windows and corner urns, which now forms the abbey. "It is an honest work of its epoch. It marks a period. Let it stand." With such fanatics it is vain to argue, even if the tower were not rendering argument needless by refusing to stand any longer. We only hope that the authorities at Selby will not be deterred from the prosecution of this noble work by any such unreasoning or unreasonable protests. The church is at present confessedly incomplete. Let it be the glory of the closing decade of this century to have completed it according to its original design.

To return to the choir. It is, as we have said, one of the most beautiful examples of the Decorated style at its very best to be found in England. The eastern elevation is peculiarly admirable, exhibiting "the grand and simple type exclusively English." On the same general lines as the earlier east end of Lincoln, one of the very finest of English works, it is more real than that, from the absence of the aisle gables, which, however ornamental, are untrue to the building, behind them. Within it shares in the common English defect, of want of height. As at Lincoln, a large gable window above the great east window shows how much of roof space has been wasted. The groining of the central space, as at York, is of wood, though, as there, the preparation for flying buttresses shows that a stone vault was contemplated. There is no triforium, the wall passage running along the sill of the clerestory windows, as in the choirs of Winchester and Lichfield and the nave of Chester, protected by a well-designed, open-work parapet. There is a similar absence of a distinct triforium in its mighty neighbour, York. There, however, the mullions of the clerestory windows are continued to the string above the pier arches, the prolongation of the window serving as a triforium. Indeed, the triforium as a separate architectural feature may be said to belong strictly only to the Norman and Early English styles. It assumed diminished proportions in the Decorated style, as at Exeter, and died out altogether into the Perpendicular.

Of the abbey buildings contiguous to the church there is not the slightest vestige. They lay, as usual, on the south side of the nave. Views taken at the beginning of the century exhibit some remains of what was probably the vaulted substructure of the cellarer's building attached to the south-west tower. But of these there is now no trace. Local tradition places the dormitory over the west walk of the cloisters, instead of over the east walk, its usual place. Convenience of drainage, as at Durham and Worcester, may have led to a divergence from the usual arrangement. There is a vaulted sacristy of two stories on the south side of the choir, as at Ripon, which, as there also, used to be shown as the Chapter-house. This, or some recently discovered foundations have proved, stood further to the west, opening out of the east walk of the cloister, the place of which is marked by the blocked doorway in the first bay of the south aisle. The abbey gateway, a stately pile, with a tall gable, and wide moulded archways of Decorated date, was still standing at the beginning of this century. Over it was the Abbot's court-house. This, however, has been demolished, and the abbey barn, some distance to the south-west, is the only fragment of the abbey buildings that has survived the general wreck.

How the church escaped destruction at the Dissolution is a point on which the historians of Selby are provokingly silent. No hint is given in Dugdale. The only fact on record is that in James I.'s time, by letters patent, dated March 20th, 1618, it became the parish church of the town, taking the place of the old parish church on "Church hill," which, tradition says, occupied the site of the original cell of Benedict of Auxerre.

We must leave it to some investigator of Selby history to bridge over the gap of nearly eighty years between the dissolution of the Abbey in 1540 and the year 1618. It seems almost certain that as at St. Albans, Malvern, and Tewkesbury the inhabitants must have purchased the church of the grantee, Sir Ralph Sadler, for parochial worship, and that the letters patent of King James were given to remedy some legal defect in the title.

WORCESTERSHIRE AND DISTRICTS ASSOCIATION.

ON Saturday, September 3rd, a Committee and Quarterly Meeting of this Association was held at Evesham, the Rev. R. Straffen, vicar, presiding. A fair representation of members were present from Areley Kings, Bengeworth, Dudley, Kidderminster, Malvern, Netherton, Pershore, Stourbridge, Tipton, Wollaston, and Worcester. The chairman, in opening the proceedings, gave the members a cordial welcome to his centre, and wished the Association every success. The minutes of the last meeting having been read and confirmed, the usual business of the Association was transacted. Several new performing members, and the rev. chairman and Mr. J. Mealing (Pershore), as Hon. Members, were added to the rolls. During the miscellaneous business the Rev. R. Straffen was asked if he would allow the company from Bengeworth the use of the Campanile tower one night a week for practice, this not to interfere with his own company. The company from Bengeworth are change-ringers, and having only six bells are anxious to ring something higher than Minor, whilst the ringers at the Campanile tower are of the old school, and for the most part content to remain so, and object to ringers from a neighbouring church coming to practice change-ringing on their bells. The subject having been carefully considered, the rev. chairman said he would appoint a night when the two companies should meet him, and if possible make an amicable arrangement, so that they might have one night a week for the practice of change-ringing. It is to be hoped that the rev. gentleman will succeed in his endeavours to obtain the desired effect, and that change-ringing may not only be practised but rang to perfection on such a splendid peal of bells as those at Evesham, and of which the inhabitants might justly be proud, and such an arrangement might be the means of the bells being kept in a better state of repair. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the rev. chairman for his courtesy in presiding, and for the use of the schoolroom, tower, and bells. In replying the rev. gentleman remarked that he hoped their visit to Evesham would not be an unfruitful one, and should be very pleased to welcome the members of the Association on a future occasion.

Several touches were rung before and after the meeting, some of the bells requiring great exertion to ring them, the tenor having a double rope, taking two men to do the work of one.

YATELEY.—THE WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

For some time past the "go" of the bells at the parish church were anything but desirable, in fact the tenor and third bells were at times unringable, especially in dry weather, the tower being entirely a wooden structure. The weather had a great effect upon it, causing it to sway a good deal, and several ringers that have been here thought that was the cause of the bells going so bad. When the local ringers found out they would be obliged to have something done, a meeting was held at the residence of their esteemed President, when it was suggested that by permission of the vicar and churchwardens, Messrs. Taylor, of Loughborough, should be instructed to send down a man to report on the matter and see what could be done. They sent down and visited the tower, and found there was a good deal they could do to improve the state of things. They thought that by bracketting the tower with iron brackets and screw bolting the bell frame down to the floor, rehanging the tenor and third bells, and overhauling the others, and putting new bearings, etc., a great improvement might be made; and then came the estimate, which was £40. As soon as the President, J. P. Stilwell, Esq., received the estimate, he began to wonder how the money was to be got, the churchwardens' funds being extremely low, they could not bear the expense at present; so he met the ringers in the belfry to see what could be done. He suggested that the village be canvassed for the money, and the plan was adopted, the ringers themselves giving five shillings each man, and the President with his usual generosity at once said he would make it up to half the amount, and the other £20 was not long in coming, the Vicar very kindly giving a morning offertory to the fund. The money being got together, Mr. Stilwell gave the order for the work to be done, and a splendid job has been made of it. Great credit is due to Messrs. Taylor for the efficient way the the work has been done. The ringers met on Wednesday evening for practice, and were very pleased with the "go" of the bells, hoping that some day they may pull off a peal, which seemed almost impossible before.

ST. MICHAEL'S JUNIOR SOCIETY, GLOUCESTER.

This society's annual outing took place on Monday, September 5th. Leaving Gloucester the previous night for Scarborough, a saloon car having been placed at their disposal, seventeen members soon made themselves comfortable for the long journey, passing glimpses of Worcester, Burton, Derby, and Chesterfield's famous spire being obtained. Daybreak found them at York, and fifteen minutes later brought some of the more active members on the platform, when a course of Grandsire Caters and some tunes were tapped off to the great delight of the other passengers and officials in the train. A rapid ride soon brought them to their destination after a seven hours' ride. A move was soon made for the beach where a boat was soon engaged for a sail round the bay, and there being a heavy sea running the majority were soon experiencing the agonies of sea-sickness. Land being once more safely reached the swimming members were soon taking a dip in the briny ocean. The next move was to the parish church of St. Mary's, and after a brief inspection of the interior a move was made for the belfry, and some touches of Double Norwich having been rung and the bells lowered in peal, a move was made to North Bay where a stroll through the beautiful gardens was much enjoyed. Then a visit to the ancient castle on the summit of the north cliff, from which a grand view was obtained. A few adventurous members next proceeded to the breakwater, where two prominent members got a thorough drenching from the spray produced by the breaking waves. A visit to the Aquarium and Spa Gardens soon brought the time for them to wend their steps towards the station. Starting at 7 p.m., York was reached in two hours, when a splendid view of the noble Minster was obtained in the bright moonlight. After this the deep and regular breathing soon testified that Morpheus had spread her cloak over them. The time soon sped by, and the cry "tickets please," brought them to think that home had been reached at 3 p.m., thus bringing to a conclusion the most enjoyable and successful outing in the annals of this society. DR. TALMAGE IN ENGLAND.—Dr. Talmage, "the Spurgeon of America," who returns to his country this week, was interviewed at the Grand Hotel on the day of his departure from London, by a correspondent of the Daily Graphic. To an inquiry as to how he had spent his holiday here, he replied, with a smile, "Preaching." He had landed at Liverpool at one o'clock and been in the pulpit at half-past six. "I calculate," pursued the Doctor, "I've given ninety sermons here, but I like speaking to English congregations, whether they are out of doors or in. You're a splendid nation, and it's grand to be addressing an assemblage of thoughtful working people." Asked if he "thought the Church of England was fulfilling her part in the movement of the day," Dr. Talmage answered "admirably well, and her ministers are serving Christ's cause with true zeal. I respect the Church of England very highly, and as to her Bishops, whom I was invited to meet at the Mansion House, I can only say I never met a grander group of cultivated Christian gentlemen. The Archbishop of Canterbury, with his pleasant smile and charitable views, is just like a summer morning to me after some people's gloomy faces—and right through, well, if you just looked at them, you saw they all had hearts as well as brains."

The Bishop of St. Asaph has appointed to the archdeaconry of St. Asaph (vacant by the preferment of the Ven. Watkin H. Williams to the deanery), Chancellor Hugh Jones, and to the stall thus vacant his lordship has preferred the present Dean, the Very Rev. John Owen, Principal of St. David's College, Lampeter, thus partially retaining his services in the St. Asaph diocese, where he is so popular and useful. To the vacant chancellorship of the cathedral the Bishop has nominated Canon Richardson, rector of Corwen, for long one of the Proctors of the clergy in the Convocation of Canterbury.

CURRENT TOPICS.

"What ought ringers to wear?" This is a query put by a correspondent last week. I answer—"their own clothes." There's more in this answer than looks at first sight, as will be seen by what follows. I have heard of ringers just before the attempt for a peal almost stripping themselves; others appearing with a kind of combination dress; and there is an instance on record where, not so very long ago either, an eccentric ringer wanted to start for a peal in an entirely nude state, and would have done so only that the rest of the company refused to ring with him under such conditions. This is a fact. Don't let us begin this nonsensical business of peal-ringing uniform. We don't want to imitate prize-fighters and the like. Of course it is necessary to take care of the body while ringing, as well as at any other time. But really there is no special clothing material required for ringers, even if they are going for a 10,000. Common care only, the Council's report intimates.

This brings to mind the absurd letter which appeared a week or two back about medals, ribbons, and badges. The writer of this letter would like to appear in the steeple as an amateur harlequin, but I would remind him that the church is not the place for such displays. Sashes and the like are very picturesque arrangements for a village club, and hare-brained persons exhibited in garments intended to represent the worn-out legend of Robin Hood and Little John, may go far to satisfy their vanity in doing so, but among ringers we want it not. If a distinctive garb was necessary, the clergy would soon tell us that gaudy colors must form no part of it. A burlesque on Joseph's coat would soon bring us into contempt.

Mr. Jaggar asks a pertinent question, but hardly a palatable one. "Silence means consent," friend Jaggar, you know. The gentleman has had enough of the subject, without a doubt. Take it "for granted," and then have done with it. That is to say, let the episode never more be mentioned. "Tell it not in Gath." But let it not, for various reasons, be forgotten for a time.

The letter of "A Londoner" is to the point, and if nothing comes of it shortly, I hope he will allude to it again. I am afraid his plaint will be entirely disregarded. Metropolitan ringers care for none of these things. "A Londoner" must be acquainted with other matters that would "draw" better. Can he enlighten the readers of this paper as to the interior working of pay-ringing among a few of the members of the society he mentions? How about the ringing at the metropolitan cathedral? Are the authorities aware they are served greatly by deputy, Mr. Londoner?

The Rev. F. Whyley of Alton, Hants, is among our poets. His lines headed "Grandsire Triples," were very good, and it is to be hoped he will let us have another effusion before long, either in poetry or prose. I know such would be welcomed by the ruling powers of our paper.

"A snap" at the subjects to be considered at the Church Congress. Such was the editor's subject last week. For my part I think the manufacture, so to speak, of subjects for these meetings, is a wonder. Still, though we cannot always have Church Bells among the subjects, I think such a topic, once in ten years say, not out of place. I think more good ought to be done at the Universities among the clergy in embryo. But the University societies are very quiet, and appear to have lapsed. There was a spurt at Cambridge some time back, which it was hoped might have led to good results, but all is quiet again. Is a thriving university society a total impossibility?

The Hereford Diocesan Guild is looking up, I am pleased to note. A good meeting appears to have been held the other day, which it is likely will lead to good results. A livelier interest than formerly seems to be taken in bells, and it is to be hoped this interest will extend all over the diocese. Our paper is making headway in Herefordshire, I am told, and that is always a sign of ringing progress.

MR. WRIGHT AGAIN.

TO PLAIN SPEAKER—SIR,—Re your letter of "THE BELL NEWS AND RINGERS' RECORD," your malefic informant on the Ringing of St. Michael's as most certainly misled you and as not stated True facts of the case. But is Nothing Moore than a strong passion of a jealous feeling, a letter written as described to your valuable paper cannot Be from a (Compos Mentis Man). The ringers of St. Ms are unanimous in thinking. Thus (Honi Soit qui mal y pense) your informant as a critic on Bell-ringing. It would of Been a Moore Manly action on his part Knowing as he does that they are all young hands and not all smooth sailing at the present, if he would have lent a helping hand to further a good cause in place of using such an Evasive method (Nosiatur Ex Sciois.) as you hint on the Emerald Isle you will see By my correct name as under and not as your informant describes.

ANOTHER REPLY TO MR. COOK.

SIR,—In reply to Edward Cook's rejoinder in "THE BELL NEWS" of September 3rd, giving the exact weights of Banwell bells, I am very pleased to say the weight of tenor bell given by me was nearer the truth than what was published by the St. John's ringers in the first instance. I am also very glad that he has been able to furnish me with the 6-score that does not appear in Troyte's book, which was sent for by them to Worcester before he knew what one it was; how clever of him. I can also inform him the above six-score of S., P.L., S., B., was worked out by one of the so-called ringers, as Edward terms it, through perseverance, and rang at Llandaff Cathedral on December 26th, 1891. Don't forget, Edward, it was found out at home without paying postage. If he would read "THE BELL NEWS" of his own ordering carefully, he will find there has been several touches of Triples, also a quarter-peal and a date touch, recently rung by the so-called ringers, without sending to Bristol for the Plain Course of Triples as was shown in the tower to which he belongs, two years ago, and has not yet been accomplished by them. If Edward is in doubt about the two 6-scores being rung at Banwell, which I am sure it was, he could easily find out by writing to the sexton's son, Mr. Shallish, who would no doubt inform him as to facts. He may also do it in another way if his finances will allow, viz.: by paying the expenses of the so-called ringers to Banwell and back it shall be rang for him over again; or he may send some good change-ringers to hear for himself and report to our valuable paper, "THE BELL NEWS," the merits of the work done. I am very happy to tell him that in not one single instance has anything been sent to "THE BELL NEWS" for publication but what has been accomplished by the so-called ringers before sending. Not wishing to enter into a paper controversy with Edward, I must now draw to a close.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 1892.

THERE has been a meeting of the County Association held at Evesham, in Worcestershire. This old town, with regard to bells and churches, has a peculiarity. In one churchyard is situated two churches—All Saints and St. Laurence—divided from each other only by a wide footpath. Neither church has any bells, so far as we know, but some distance away stands, all alone, a square tower of goodly proportions, possessing a heavy ring of eight bells, which are used for the services of both of the churches. These bells are in bad order. In another part of the town, at the church of St. Peter, is a ring of six, which for some time past has been the head quarters of a thriving young society, the members of which have made great progress in scientific change-ringing. Naturally the members of this company look with longing eyes to the old Abbey tower, and ardently wish for the opportunity of displaying their skill upon the bells therein.

At the meeting of the Association above-mentioned the Vicar of Evesham presided. During the proceedings the rev. gentleman was asked to allow the St. Peter's society a weekly practice on his bells, and it is hoped that he may see his way clear to yield to such a laudable desire. The periodical admission of a band of real, actual, ringers into the Abbey tower ought to be welcome news to the parishioners. Should any opposition be made by the old ringers, we hope it may be utterly disregarded. Their position will not be injured in the least; very likely it may be improved. We shall be very glad to hear that the worthy Vicar has consented to grant the request.

Church News.

It is announced that owing to prolonged illness, the Rev. Arthur Myers, rector of Ruskington, has recently tendered his resignation to the Bishop of Lincoln.

The Rev. Charles Mackeson will preach in Canterbury Cathedral at the request of the Dean, on the evening of October 2nd, the Sunday before the Church Congress.

The Waifs and Strays Society has received a second donation of £250 in aid of the proposed Walsham Farm Home, "in memory of James Wickens."

During Thursday night the residence of the Bishop of Derby was broken into, and property of considerable value carried away. His lordship and Mrs. Were being away from home, the house was left in charge of some female servants.

The many friends of Bishop Sandford, rector of Boldon, Durham, will regret to learn that he has for some time past been confined to a dark room on account of an affection of the eyes, and that he is still unable to attend to the many parochial and diocesan calls upon him. His medical advisers strongly urge his lordship to abstain from all kinds of work for some weeks.

The erection of a tower and porch to complete SS. Mary and John, Cowley Road, Oxford, has been begun. Some of the congregation assembled outside the west end on Monday week after the early celebration to ask God's blessing upon the work. The designs are by Mr. Mardon Mowbray. An anonymous donor has given £2000 towards the cost of the work.

The Bishop of Lincoln has intimated his desire to hold his triennial visitation this year in St. Mary's church, Stamford, on October 19th, if the alterations to the altar in the church can be completed in time for his lordship to do so. It is many years since an Episcopal visitation was held in Stamford, the clergy of that town having in recent times been summoned to Grantham.

During some alterations at the parish church of Long Clawson—between Melton Mowbray and Grafton—the workmen, while taking down the west wall, discovered a large quantity of honey. The comb measured 5ft. in length, and was 2ft. in width. It is supposed that the west end of the church had been inhabited by bees for more than twenty-five years, as during the whole of that time they have been seen in the vicinity, and not unfrequently have been observed flitting about the sacred edifice during Divine Service.

The restoration of the church of South Newington, near Banbury, from plans by Mr. Mardon Mowbray, is in progress. The church, which is dedicated to St. Peter, consists of chancel, nave, north and south aisles, south porch, with tower at the west end, and is one of much interest to archæologists, as the Norman Early English, Decorated, Perpendicular, and Jacobean styles of architecture are represented within its walls. Evidence of some old frescoes have been discovered under the present coats of whitewash, and every care will be taken to preserve them intact.

The Surrey Advertiser says that, owing to the absence from home of many of the diocesan clergy, no steps have yet been taken with regard to the movement towards erecting a memorial to the late Bishop Harold Browne, which was initiated by the rural deanery of Leatherhead some time ago. "The matter, however, will not be left long in abeyance, as the resolutions of the Leatherhead deanery will probably be brought before the Dean and Chapter of Winchester at an early date. There can be no doubt that any movement for perpetuating the memory of the late Bishop would meet with most cordial support amongst Churchmen in the Surrey portion of the diocese."

Bishop Smythies has received an anonymous donation of £1000 towards the fund for the creation and endowment of the Nyasa Bishopric. The fund now amounts to £6250, but £10000 is needed. On Sunday week sermons were preached at Carlisle Cathedral by the Bishop of Barrow-in-Furness in the morning, and Bishop Smythies in the evening on behalf of the Universities' Mission to Central Africa, and the following day a meeting was held in the Fraternity in aid of the same object. The chair at the meeting was taken by the Bishop of Barrow-in-Furness, who said that the Universities' Mission to Central Africa was very dear to his heart for various reasons. But most of all was this Mission dear to him, and to most of them at this meeting, because it was so very near to the heart of their late Bishop. For many years Dr. Goodwin was chairman of the English committee, and, so far as England went, almost the leading spirit in promoting the interest of the Mission in this country. It was a great comfort to know that Dr. Bardsley was taking a great interest in the Universities' Mission to Central Africa, as in many other movements which his predecessor identified himself with. The Bishop had written a kind letter explaining that, owing to a previous engagement he could not be present. Bishop Smythies then addressed the meeting.

THE CHURCH BELLS OF BUCKINGHAMSHIRE. By ALFRED HENEAGE COCKS, M.A., Ch. Ch., Oxford; F.Z.S., F.R.G.S., Great Marlow, Bucks. With many illustrations.

MESSRS. JARROLD & SONS have pleasure in announcing the early publication by subscription of the most interesting and important work. It will contain an account of all the Church Bells in Buckinghamshire, with everything relating to their history that can be discovered. Full accounts of all the Founders whose bells hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County, including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. The work was undertaken at the instigation of the late J. C. L. Stahlschmidt, Esq., author of "Surrey Bells and London Bell-founders," "The Church Bells of Kent," "Herts," etc.; and the fact that the author had the benefit of the kind assistance and advice of this well-known campanologist may be mentioned as some guarantee of the scope and nature of the present work. Mr. Stahlschmidt wrote the author, that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting county," and he repeated this opinion in a subsequent letter. The "Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 600 pages, & be handsomely illustrated with 24 full-page plates of mediaeval letterings, founders' marks, etc., found on Bells still existing in the County and numerous figures—some of them being peculiar to Bucks—will be inserted in the text. The 8vo. Edition is limited to 350 copies, and will be offered to subscribers before the day of publication at 25s. nett. The Larger Edition, Royal 4to, is limited to 80 copies, and will be subscribed at 42s. The prices will be raised on the day of issue should any copies remain unsold.

I am glad to hear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. In recognition of your valuable services, you are at liberty to use my name.—S. G. HUTCHINGS. By Appointment Surgeon-Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen."
 Geo. H. Jones, Esq., F.R.S.L., F.R.M.S.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has by his Perfected System of Dentistry demonstrated that Painless Dentistry is as much an accomplished fact as the swift locomotive, the electric light, or the telephone, and absolutely restores the natural contour caused by the loss of teeth, by the adjustment of Prize Medal dentals, rendering detection impossible, which obtained the Gold Medals of London, 1851; New York, 1853; London, 1862; Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; and Philadelphia, 1876.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has been awarded for his Improvements and Patents in Dentistry gold medals, London and Paris; gold medal, New Zealand Exhibition, 1882; gold medal Calcutta, 1883; and the highest diploma of merit and award at Nice and Amsterdam, 1883-4. Awarded the gold medal of the Academie Nationale, Paris, 1884; and the highest award Antwerp; also the gold medal, International Exhibition, London, 1885; gold medal, Liverpool, 1886; gold medal, Melbourne, 1888-9.

Established 1851.

MICHELDEVER, HANTS.

On Tuesday, September 13th, five members of the Basingstoke branch of the Winchester Diocesan Guild, with Mr. W. S. Hole, of Odiham, paid a visit to the church at the above place with a twofold object, viz.: that of enjoying a ring on the handy little peal of six, and also of giving the local ringers a chance of seeing a little change-ringing, in the hope that it may encourage them to set to work during the coming winter evenings to master the first difficulties of the art. It will be remembered that the old ring of five were rehung by Messrs. Taylor and Sons, of Loughborough, a short time ago, three of the five being recast and a new treble added. Owing to the fact that for some years the bells had not been ringable, the village could boast of no ringers. Consequently the first thing was to find a number of young men willing to apply themselves to the task of learning to handle a bell. This was undertaken by the Vicar (the Rev. W. D. Bell), who soon found enough to make a start, and although the busy time of the year has prevented a few practices, yet they can handle their ropes fairly well in rounds, and it is hoped they may shortly be in possession of a peal of handbells with which to make a beginning in one of the simple methods.

On arriving at the church the visitors were met by the Vicar, who gave them a hearty welcome. Soon the bells were ringing merrily, and a 720 of Grandsire Minor brought round by the following: W. S. Hole (first 720), 1; T. Curtis, 2; C. Hansford, 3; J. Ballard, 4; F. Wilson, 5; H. White, 6. After tea, which had been kindly provided by the Vicar, a 720 of Plain Bob was rung. W. S. Hole, 1; F. Wilson, 2; T. Curtis, 3; J. Ballard, 4; C. Hansford, 5; H. White, 6. Also two 6-scores of Stedman Doubles and a course of College Single. Afterwards some call-changes were rung with some of the local ringers, and some plain courses of Grandsire Minor, with the Rev. W. D. Bell ringing the 2nd. It being time to make for the station, another proof of the Vicar's goodwill was found in the shape of a wagonette to convey them the distance—about three miles. The visitors were highly pleased with the manner in which the bells had been rehung, the “go” of them being perfection, and they take this opportunity of expressing their thanks to the Rev. W. D. Bell for giving them permission to ring, and for his kindness in providing tea, and in other ways endeavouring to make the afternoon's outing enjoyable.

THE ST. ALPHEGE SOCIETY, CANTERBURY.

The members of the above society met on Thursday, September 1st, at St. Alphege church, to present Mr. G. E. Clarabut (the late Hon. Sec. of this company), who is leaving this city, with a testimonial.

The rector (the Rev. T. G. Crosse), made the presentation, and in the course of his remarks spoke very highly of the way in which Mr. Clarabut had carried out the duties of Hon. Sec., and he felt certain they were losing a staunch member, a fact which was acknowledged by all present.

Mr. Bunce (churchwarden), also spoke of Mr. Clarabut as a very regular attendant at church, he having filled the offices of choirman, Sunday School teacher, and bell ringer.

The testimonial consists of a polished oak frame, made to admit the certificate of the Kent County Association, with a brass plate bearing the following inscription:—

“Presented to Gaius E. Clarabut by the clergy, churchwardens, and bell ringers of St. Alphege, as a mark of friendship, August, 1892. This frame is made out of the oak taken from the roof of Canterbury Cathedral.”

Mr. Clarabut in returning thanks for the unexpected gift, expressed his wish to still remain a member. At the termination of these proceedings the company visited St. Stephen's church and rang as a farewell touch to Mr. Clarabut a 720 of Bob Minor on the back six (eighteen bobs and two singles) in 27 mins. M. Pierce, 1; G. E. Clarabut, 2; F. Constant (first 720), 3; H. Fairbrass (conductor), 4; R. Goodbourn, 5; P. H. Pierce, 6.

AN APPEAL FOR RINGING.

The following very temperate letter has just appeared in the columns of the Montgomeryshire Express. We offer no apology for bringing it before our readers:—

“BELLS AND BELL RINGING.

“SIR,—Will you kindly give a helping hand, and by inserting this endeavour to stimulate the feeling to study the interesting and intellectual pursuit of change-ringing. Many people think that bellringing requires little intellect and much bodily exertion. This is a false idea. It is the unskilful handling, clumsy positions, and culpable neglect of bells that make ringing laborious. True, every tower which possesses a ring of bells has its band of ringers, who are ever ready to do their best on special occasions, and particularly when there is ‘pay’ attached; but in many instances the so-called ringers perform an irregular repetition of sounds called out by, and entirely at the optional taste of the ‘leader,’ and so one man takes upon himself to intermittently shout out in what order the bells shall be pulled, while his colleagues have the monotonous task of waiting and obeying his call; whereas in change-ringing every move is made by method, and each man taking part in a ‘touch’ or ‘peal’ has his own special work to do, and therefore must be interested in the doing of it.

“It would be presumptuous on my part to attempt to explain change-ringing; but in passing I may be allowed to borrow from a work on the beautiful art that it ‘is the practice of that rule of arithmetic called permutation—the practical part of a theory given—so that it is acknowledged on all hands, not only to be commended on account of the pleasurable exercise, but for the lasting benefit of continual exercise of the mental powers, of memory, precision, time, and the cultivation of thought;’ and also to quote from the highest authority, that ‘If the younger especially would make themselves acquainted with the ringers’ art, both in its theory and practice, it will be found, when the initial difficulties are overcome, quite as fascinating as cricket or any other pursuit.’

“For several years past there has been a marked revival of change-ringing, and particularly so at the time of celebrating the jubilee of her Majesty the Queen, when several towers were fitted with new bells, and some had those they possessed recast and rehung, and in almost every case a band of change-ringers was initiated, and undoubtedly it is an art that is fast advancing to the front.

“Now, I cannot help noticing that a capital field lies almost unexplored along the east borders of Montgomeryshire, and what excellent opportunities there are of developing such a praise-worthy science. Some six years ago an association, called the Hereford Diocesan Guild of Church Bell Ringers, was established to teach change-ringing, and as time went on the area extended and the work increased, until it was found advisable to form branches, each with a local instructor. In May last a branch of the guild was formed for the north-west of the diocese, with Welshpool for its centre—(I must here mention that, although Welshpool is outside the diocese named, an arrangement under consideration of convenience is allowed in such cases)—and towers over the border and within convenient distance were invited to join. This branch held its first quarterly meeting at Montgomery last week, and it is intended, provided no obstacle is raised, to hold the next at Newtown in November next.

“The time of year is now fast approaching when cycling, cricket, and such pleasant recreation must necessarily be set aside, and a capital substitute for the long winter evenings is the cultivation of change-ringing, which would be found almost equal in physical and superior in mental exercise. In towers where his commendable pursuit is not already adopted, the existing ringers would do well to take it up, and also junior bands could be enlisted, which if attached to the branch before mentioned, would secure the services of a first-class practical instructor. And, if clergymen and churchwardens would give their countenance and assistance to this worthy—though much neglected—object, by raising the standard of bell ringing, many beneficial results would be attained.

“Apologizing for trespassing on your space, but thanking you for thus being instrumental in helping forward the beautiful art of campanology or scientific ringing.” I remain, yours faithfully,

“LAY CHURCHMAN.”

ST. SIMON'S CHURCH, SIMONSIDE, NORTHUMB-BERLAND.

The church of St. Simon's, at Simonside, near South Shields, has just been furnished, by private subscription, with a full set of Harrington's (Coventry) No. 3 patent tubular bells, which are an acquisition to that pretty little edifice, of which the vicar (Rev. E. M. Wolsstencroft), and the parishioners may justly feel proud. The bells, which are eight in number, have been placed in the tower. In appearance they look like a number of long highly polished brass tubes. Although their total weight is 15 cwt., there is no swinging motion when they are being chimed, and the sound being produced by a hammer striking against the exterior of the tube. The ringing apparatus is fitted up in the nave of the church. Communication between the latter place and the bell tower is established by means of wires passing through the church roof. The wires are fastened to the hammer lever, and run through light brass floor sockets and three sets of pulleys into the nave, where they are attached to ringing sallies fixed in a neat framework of pitch pine. The mechanism, while exceedingly simple, is so perfect in every detail that the peal can be manipulated by one person with the greatest of ease. The work of fixing the tubes in position was carried out under the superintendence of Mr. Wells of Coventry, and was completed on Saturday morning last. The testing of the instruments took place on Saturday afternoon. After they had been subjected to a proper trial, it was unanimously pronounced by those present that the tones of the various tubes were marvellously rich and pure. A plain course of Grandsire will be rung on them. The chief credit of providing the peal, which cost £130, is due to Mr. J. Thompson of Simonside, who gathered the whole of the donations, and subscribed largely himself. No date has been definitely fixed for the opening.

THE ST. JAMES' SOCIETY, LONDON.

At the annual election of officers for this Society on Monday, August 20th, the following gentlemen were appointed: Master, Mr. E. E. Richards; Treasurer, Mr. E. Albone; Secretary, Mr. E. A. Young; Senior Steward, Mr. E. Adams; Junior Steward, Mr. E. Smith. At the next meeting the balance-sheet for 1891-2 was presented and passed. E. A. YOUNG, Secretary.

FRAMFIELD CHURCH, SUSSEX.

A new turret clock has just been erected in the tower of this church by the well-known firm of clockmakers, Messrs. Thwaites and Reed, of Clerkenwell. The work is of the highest class throughout, and is made upon the latest principles. The clock shows the time upon a 4ft. skeleton dial, and strikes the hours upon a 7 cwt. bell.

THE REDEMPTION OF TITHE.

It is stated, says The Standard, that amongst the Government measures to be introduced in the forthcoming Session will be found a Bill dealing with the redemption of tithe-rent charges. The Bill as drafted embodies the chief recommendations of the Report of the Royal Commissioners presented to Parliament in February last, and provides for the abolition of the existing terms of twenty-five years' purchase, and the application of the principles of the Glebe Lands Act of 1888, in regard to voluntary redemptions. In the case of clerical rent-charges, the existing provision requiring the consent of the Bishop and patron will be abolished, but notice will be required to be served. Where the whole amount, payable in small sums in one parish by the same tithepayer does not exceed 30s., redemption will be compulsory on the application of either the tithepayer or titheowner. In regard to land now (or hereafter to be) laid out for building purposes, and on which tithe-rent charges exist, compulsion will be resorted to before buildings can be erected thereon. Other clauses, dealing with local Acts of Parliament, corn rents, provision for advances of public money, and the granting of additional powers, as arbitrators and otherwise to the Board of Agriculture, are embodied.

Twice repeated.

This peal is the first regular three-part peal of Grandsire Triples. It will also go as a six-part. All the singles are common Grandsire singles. It was rung for the first time at Upton St. Leonards, on August 6th, and composed on July 26th.

A three-part peal of Grandsire Triples on Mr. Thomson's plan, with two Grandsire singles, is impossible.

PRIZE-RINGING AT CHAPEL-EN-LE-FRITH.

On Saturday, the United Counties' Association cup was competed for at St. Thomas' church, each company ringing 720 changes. The following was the result: 1—Friezeland, 228 faults; 2—Glossop, 333 faults; 3—Saddleshworth, 348 faults; 4—Hayfield, 415 faults. Having now been won three times, the cup becomes the property of Friezeland. The judges were Messrs. Womersley (Almondbury), and J. Pickering (Kirk Burton).

ALL SOULS' SOCIETY, YORK.

On a recent Sunday, at All Souls' Church, special services were held, and collections made on behalf of the bellringers' fund. The Rev. C. J. Robinson, of Rishworth, preached in the morning, and the Rev. M. Richardson, of St. Thomas's church, in the evening. The anthem "O praise God in His holiness," was sung at the evening service. The offertories realised nearly £10.

SEA TRIPS.—The Victoria Steamboat Association are to be congratulated on the remarkable success which has this season attended their efforts to provide the public with a cheap and enjoyable means of taking their holidays. Their fleet of up-river steamers have long been a favourite means of every-day travelling with the London public; while the trips to sea by the "Koh-i-Noor," "Lord of the Isles," and other steamers are well patronised by holiday-makers from all parts of the country. We are, therefore, pleased to be able to state that Mr. Edgar Sband, the General Manager, has announced that the down-river trips will be continued till the end of this month, and probably during the first week in October. Those of our readers who have not yet spent a day on the magnificent "Koh-i-Noor," should avail themselves of this opportunity.

The favourable weather has enabled the builder to get on rapidly with the new Congress hall at Folkestone, so that it is now possible to form a very accurate idea of its form and dimensions. It takes the shape of an elongated oval, with seats raised one above the other all round the building to the external wall. In the middle of the hall there will be rows of chairs, the floor being slightly inclined so that everyone will have a good view of the speakers. The acoustic properties of the building have been carefully considered, and it is anticipated that every one will hear perfectly.

SALISBURY (Wilts).—On Saturday, September 17th, 1260 Grandsire Triples, taken from Holt's Original. W. C. Dawe, 1; H. N. Davis (conductor), 2; A. J. Callaway, 3; C. A. Clements, 4; W. W. Gifford, 5; S. Macey, 6; R. W. J. Gollop, 7; S. Ames, 8. A peal was to have been attempted, but one of the band could not come in time.

A PEAL OF 362,880 GRANDSIRE CATERS, 6d.

Church News.

The Rev. A. Clifford, Bishop-designate of Lucknow, will visit England before his consecration.

The Yorkshire Post says that Archdeacon Farrar, who has of late been suffering from ill-health, intends shortly to resign the chaplaincy of the House of Commons.

The secretaries of the Ripon Diocesan Victoria Clergy Relief Fund have received a donation of £500 from Mrs. Fearnside, of West Cliff, Harrogate.

The Dean and Chapter of Ely have received promises of nearly £5000 towards the sum necessary for the repair of the cathedral.

The restoration of the Lady Chapel at the east end of Lichfield Cathedral, which has been going on for some years, is now practically completed. The valuable old stained-glass windows have been taken out and re-leaded.

An official return of proceedings under the Lord Chancellor's Augmentation Act, from February 18 to August 15, 1892, shows that 109 advowsons were sold in first schedule, and fourteen under the twenty-third section. The total amount realised was £234,259.

The sum of £800 has been raised for a memorial in Peterborough Cathedral to Dr. Magee, the late Archbishop of York, and the committee have accepted the design of Mr. Pearson, R.A., for the cenotaph. The sculptor commissioned to execute the memorial is Mr. James Forsyth, of Hampstead, and Canon Macdonnell has been asked to draw up a suitable inscription.

A movement has been set on foot at Lichfield to present a testimonial to the Very Rev. Dr. E. Bickersteth, who has resigned the deanery. A figure of the Dean, to whose exertions the restoration of the west front of Lichfield Cathedral, at a cost of £40,000, was principally due, has been added to the figures which adorn the west front, on which Her Majesty the Queen is the only other living personage represented.

On Friday, a stained glass window, which has been erected to the memory of the late Captain Hartwell, R.N., and the late Vicar-General Hartwell, was formally unveiled at St. George's church, Douglas, and dedicated by the Rev. B. Baron, vicar. The window is placed on the north side of the church, and has two lights, the subjects being "Christ walking on the sea" and "Christ stilling the tempest."

On Sunday morning during service time a serious fire was discovered in the choir vestry of Tarporley parish church. The fire originated in one of the vestry cupboards which line three sides of the room. The cupboards containing the men's coats and hats were destroyed, as was the roof. The pictures, tables, and furniture, and all the glass were destroyed, and the walls on the south and east side much damaged.

A memorial tablet, of white Connemara marble, the plinth and borders being of similar material, but dark in colour, was unveiled on Sunday in the parish church of St. Paul, Peartree-street, Goswell-road, Clerkenwell, to the memory of the Rev. Dr. Maguire, who was vicar of Clerkenwell from 1857 to 1875, and rector of St. Olave's, Southwark from 1875 to the date of his death, September 3rd, 1890. The tablet, which has been erected by Canon Ellison and the Rev. A. Styleman Herring, contains an inscription setting forth the life and labours of Dr. Maguire.

On Saturday the parishioners of Tywardreath invited the Bishop of Truro and his family to a public tea held in a large tent in a field below the vicarage lawn. The object of the meeting was to welcome the Bishop to the parish on the occasion of his coming to reside at Trenynton, and to express the good wishes of the parishioners for the future welfare and happiness of himself and his family in their new home. The Bishop spoke of the value a good healthy home was in helping a man to do his work in life efficiently.

On Tuesday September 13th, Mrs. Ware, wife of the Bishop of Barrow-in-Furness, and daughter of the late Bishop of Carlisle, laid the foundation-stone of the Goodwin Mission School, which is now being erected in the Blackwell-road, Carlisle, and is intended as a memorial of the late Bishop, who took a great interest in the scheme. The building is designed to serve not only as a Sunday school, but also as a Church of England day school, and its rooms will be used for Mission services, Bible classes, and various parochial organisations. The Rev. H. Lonsdale, vicar of Upperby, has been the chief promoter of the scheme, which will supply a felt want in a populous district of his parish. The total estimated cost is £1,200, and about half that sum has already been subscribed. Mr. and Mrs. Lonsdale have themselves given £200, the contributors also including the Bishop of the diocese, the Bishop of Barrow-in-Furness, and Archdeacon Prescott; £60 has been received from the National Society, £50 from the Diocesan Church Extension Society, and £30 from the Church Extension Association. The site was given by Mr. A. Mounsey-Heysham. After the laying of the stone, the Bishop of Carlisle gave an address, in which he said he could testify that wherever he went he never heard the name of the late Bishop mentioned without respect for the great work which he accomplished, and affection for himself as Bishop, living for twenty-two years in their midst. It seemed to him that the memorial now being raised there was one of a specially pleasing character, for the name of the Bishop would be associated with that Goodwin Mission school as long—he was about to say, as the world would last. Two things the late Bishop had much at heart. One was the multiplication of Mission rooms where population was increasing. He was glad, too, that the building was to be used not only for Mission services, but that there was to be a Sunday school and a day school in the building. It seemed as if the Church of England in her old days was still bringing forth fruit as regarded the education of the people. There never was a time in the history of the country when their Church school system was so strong, and so satisfactory, and with such bright prospects for the future. When he looked upon the state of the education question in the diocese of Carlisle, he was thankful to say that, with regard to the number of schools, the efficiency of the education given, and the confidence of the parents, they never stood in a prouder, stronger, or more satisfactory position. The Mayor, Mr. Gully, M.P., and Mr. Allison, M.P., also spoke; and the Bishop of Barrow-in-Furness replied to a vote of thanks passed to Mrs. Ware.

A NEW BELL ROPE.—We have had submitted for inspection a specimen of church bell-rope, manufactured by the firm of Ironmongers, Limited, of Wolverhampton. We suppose this establishment is one of the largest of its kind in Britain, the premises covering an area of several acres, though as church bell-rope makers their name has not yet been prominently before the Exercise. The rope we have seen is undoubtedly of most excellent make and material. It is made, so to speak, in three parts, the part above the sallie being composed of the best and strongest Italian hemp, and that below it of the finest hemp, with a specially soft lay. This is in fact how a bell-rope should be made. The strongest and most durable material is necessary beyond doubt, but most of our readers know what that means to them when it is used for the part of the rope they have to grasp. After the performance of a 5000 or more, the thought has often occurred to many, when examining their hands, that it ought to be possible, by means of a softer and more pliable rope, to ring a peal in greater comfort, and that too, without sacrificing its utility or hastening its wear. This desideratum has been met by the makers we are alluding to, in the rope submitted to us. The rope above the sallie is strong to an extraordinary degree, yet sufficiently pliable. The "handle" of the rope is, while strong, exceptionally soft, and pleasant to hold, especially for a new rope. The sallie is made to allow for wear, and we should imagine such a rope would preserve a good "tufting" after the wear of years. The rope we have seen has been put in use on the tenor of our peal of eight, and the ringer whose post is usually at that position speaks very highly of it indeed. There is less "stretch" than is usually the case with many new ropes, and also less stiffness above. We cordially recommend these ropes to the notice of ringers, bellfounders, and others who supply such articles. Messrs. Ironmonger, of Wolverhampton, the manufacturers, will be happy to send prices to any one who will write to them. Their advertisement will be found on another page.

Ringers' Outings.

THE ST. LAURENCE'S SOCIETY, READING.—On Wednesday, September 14th, the members of this Society had their annual ringing excursion, the route chosen this year being the delightful county of Buckinghamshire. At 8.30 a.m. the party met at the Great Western Railway Station, and like true Englishmen began talking about the weather. "What a lovely morning; I think we shall have a lovely day," were among the general remarks, and the whole company agreed that it was kind of Jupiter Pluvius to give way, and to allow Old Sol to hold the sway. By 8.45 the train was steaming out of the station, Maidenhead being reached in a very short time. Here it was necessary to change, and after waiting some few minutes they entrained for High Wycombe, arriving there by 10 o'clock. The first place visited was the church, which is certainly a grand and imposing building. After a walk round the exterior tracks were soon made for the belfry, and here they were met by the worthy steeplekeeper, who with great courtesy kindly conducted the party over the tower. The ringers did not want much pressing, for they were soon following their guide into the clock chamber. Here the carillons and machinery were inspected, and the bell-chamber was next visited, and continuing the journey upwards the top of the tower was reached, from which can be obtained a magnificent view of the surrounding country. After thoroughly enjoying the beautiful scene before them they descended to the ringing-chamber, upon the walls of which can be seen a peal-board, recording a peal of Grandsire Caters rung by the London College Youths in 1792, just one hundred years ago; but alas! Father Time has played great havoc with the writing, and it is now read with great difficulty. Having raised the bells the day's ringing was commenced with a touch of Grandsire Caters, which, however, proved a failure, partly owing to the bells not being heard sufficiently in the tower. The company were then informed that they would not be able to ring again until the afternoon, as there was a funeral; consequently ringing had to be adjourned, and a ramble through the town was indulged in. At 12.45 the excursionists sat down to a sumptuous repast at the "Three Tuns," and, considering the morning's work, it can only be expected that ample justice was done to the good things provided. Having disposed of the mid-day meal, the ringers were determined not to leave Wycombe without ringing a touch, and with that determination started for the tower, and this time their efforts were crowned with success, 575 Grandsire Caters being rung in 25 mins. C. Giles, 1; W. Holloway, 2; J. Hern, 3; J. Potter, 4; J. F. Tarrant, 5; F. Hopgood, 6; W. Goseltine, 7; W. J. Williams (conductor), 8; W. Newell, 9; L. Rolfe, 10. By 2.30 the party were all comfortably seated in a brake, which had been previously hired by the worthy captain, Mr. W. Newell, and were soon on their way to Hughenden, which is only two miles from Wycombe. Here the grave of the late Earl of Beaconsfield was visited, and on entering the church tributes on all sides to the memory of the great statesman could be observed. At the west end a stained-glass window, presented by the nation, and another window presented by the undergraduates of Oxford, and in the chancel a monument presented by Her Majesty the Queen. The pulpit, which has just been erected at a great expense to the memory of a member of the Sebright family, is a splendid work, the exquisite carving being much admired. A move was now made to the belfry, where a 336 of Grandsire Triples, and two courses of Bob Major were brought round. The company were very pleased with these bells, tenor only 12½ cwt., and in perfect going order. After lowering the bells in peal the ringers returned to the brake and started for Beaconsfield, via Wycombe. This was a delightful drive, the "go" of the horses being all that could be wished for, and the driver proving himself a veritable Jehu. At 4.30 Beaconsfield hove in sight, and a little later the St. Laurence's ringers were raising the bells; and oh! what bells; inside the church they sound like a grand organ. A 546 of Grandsire Triples was rung, and without praising the ringers too much, the striking proved to be simply perfection. The villagers were very pleased to hear their grand peal of bells, which, according to all accounts, are seldom rung. Leaving Beaconsfield at 5.45 the party journeyed by brake to Marlow, a distance of seven or eight miles, and on arriving there were soon seated at tea, which was awaiting them at the "Two Brewers," the home of their esteemed friend and brother-ringer, Mr. John Truss, who accompanied the party in their travels. Having partaken of tea they adjourned to the cosy belfry of Marlow church, at the invitation of mine host, but time being very precious it would only allow of a short touch of Grandsire Triples and two courses of Bob Major, conducted by J. Potter. They then left the tower and walked to the station, catching the 8.45 train, and after two changes arrived safely in Reading by 9.20, having spent a happy and enjoyable day, particularly from a ringers' point of view. The St. Laurence's Society wish, through the medium of this paper, to thank the clergy, churchwardens, steeplekeepers and others who so kindly assisted Mr. Newell in making the outing a success. W. J. W.

THE LEWISHAM SOCIETY.—On Saturday, September 10th, the ringers of the parish church, Lewisham, went for their annual excursion. Bishops Stortford was the spot selected for their visit, and accordingly a start was made from Liverpool Street Station at 2.32, the party mustering sixteen in all, including one or two friends from neighbouring parishes. The journey down afforded a good opportunity for some of the party to display their musical talent, of which they were not slow to avail themselves. Arrived at Bishops Stortford, the party was met by Mr. H. J. Tucker, and proceeded to the belfry of the fine old church of St. Michael, where they found a musical ring of ten in excellent going order, and some of the local ringers ready to join them in their art. The bells were quickly set going, and some touches of Grandsire, Union, and Oxford Bob Triples called by W. Bedwell, of Lewisham, were successfully brought round, also a touch of Bob Major. Unfortunately it was found impossible to muster a band for Caters. At five o'clock, the rain, which had been falling, having now ceased, a move was made for the "Chequers" hotel, where the whole party, including Messrs. H. J. and A. Tucker, proceeded to discuss the abundant and excellent repast provided by Mr. Chapman. Tea was in the natural order of things followed by tobacco, during the consumption of which votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar (the Rev. H. T. Lane), for permission to use the bells; to Mr. Tucker for his kind and courteous reception of the Lewisham ringers; to Mr. Chapman for the able way in which he had carried out his share in the programme; and to the Rev. E. Teignmouth-Shore for making the arrangements for the outing. This part of the proceedings was commendably brief, and some soon returned to the belfry in time to ring a short touch for evensong, while others preferred to take a stroll through the town. Later in the evening an attempt was made to ring some Grandsire Caters but failed, and a nice touch of Stedman was brought home. At 9.12 the party re-embarked in the train for London and started on their homeward journey, thoroughly pleased with their visit to the old Hertfordshire town, and—need it be added?—with themselves. No misadventures have to be chronicled beyond the accidental stranding of one of the party at London Bridge, in his anxiety for the safety of his comrades, and we believe that the arrival of another train shortly extricated him from his difficulties.

THE HOLY TRINITY SOCIETY, OLD HILL, STAFFORDSHIRE. On Monday, September 19th, five members of the above society had their annual outing to Evesham. Arriving at Evesham about 9.30 and being a man short for a Minor band, they sought out the whereabouts of Mr. F. Cook, of the Bengeworth company, who, with the usual disposition of a ringer, left his work and filled up the gap. Returning to the church they rang a 720 of Canterbury Pleasure in 22 mins. W. Priest, 1; H. Mason, 2; T. H. Smith, 3; O. Pearson, 4; F. Cook, 5; A. E. Parsons (conductor), 6. A 720 of Oxford Bob was then attempted, which within one treble lead of the end came to grief by the entrance of a drunken woman into the belfry. Natural wants being satisfied, the company spent the remaining part of the day in visiting the principal places of interest, and boating on the beautiful river. The return journey started at 7.30, all reaching home just before ten o'clock. The ringers wish to tender their thanks to the clergy and churchwardens for the use of the bells, and to Mr. F. Cook for his courtesy in constituting the company a Minor band.

CURRENT TOPICS.

The correspondence which appeared last week was very uninteresting, and it is a good thing the editor put on the closure. I begin to think there are some who descend to a lot of buffoonery in writing letters to the paper. I cannot understand the "Dublin Wright" letters at all. Three communications from the same town, all with the same signature! There's some collusion here. It may be very funny, this, but the game is not worth the candle. And the parties themselves would think so if they were pilloried, i.e. made known.

I read that the ringers of the bells in the campanile of Evesham, "are of the old school, and for the most part content to remain so." I read also that "they object to ringers from a neighbouring church coming to practice change-ringing on their bells." There is nothing new in such an objection. We have heard of it many a time and oft, and shall again. It is the old story. The Evesham veterans, good old gardeners, I suppose—Evesham being in the midst of market gardens I hear—resent any intrusion into the campanile of men who are ringers. Are they afraid that their loaves and fishes will be endangered? I expect this fear is at the bottom of it. I am told if ever belfry reform was needed it is required at the Abbey tower of Evesham. Now that the opportunity is open for the first step towards reform to be made, it will be a sad thing to lose it. I forbear talking at these old fellows, these old gardeners, I mean, who have pulled and hauled at the bells of Evesham Abbey such a many years, and their fathers before them. They are no worse than many others of their kind, I dare say. They thought they were clever men while in the loft, and regarded the old sexton who used to call out the changes as a prodigy. And therefore when they have made the discovery that their pulling and hauling is not looked upon as actual ringing, but as an abomination which ought to give way to something better, their ire is raised. But I think they will have to yield, and better is it to do so with dignity. The worthy sexton may feel humiliated at seeing another caller in his steeple, and be uncivil for a time to the new occupants. But this will soon wear off, and the good old gardeners will come to say that "these new-fangled ringers bean't such bad fellows; and their ringing—why it is wonderful, sure."

We all hope that the members of the St. Peter's Society of Evesham will be successful in their application to the vicar. If they can have eight-bell practice, we may live to see change-ringing flourish in these districts, where it has never yet taken root, in fact, this side of the county has been peculiarly deficient in this respect. The neighbouring town of Pershore, with its Abbey, and grand peal of eight, has never possessed anything but a band of rope-haulers, or to call them by their new name, "bell-grinders." A county directory informs me that there are many peals in the neighbourhood; which have never yet been blessed with the civilising influences of a half-pull ringer. Bretforton, Wickhamford, Fladbury, and Comberton churches all have bells, I find; and the natives of these places should be looked up, and induced to join the county association. The St. Peter's society of Evesham is the body to work up the district, and I hope they will see to it. Before I take leave of this topic I may say that at Fladbury (so the editor informs me) there was formerly a good band of half-pull ringers. Then why not now?

The ringing reports are increasing, and the touch columns are beginning to assume their wonted proportions. The peals as yet are not of that variety which I expect to note later on, though Stedman Caters and Double Norwich were to be seen last week. There are districts I could name where at one period we used to often read of peals being rung, which are now quiet. There are also ringers whom we now hardly read of who were at one time very energetic in this line. How is it that we never or scarcely hear of them now? Some good old historical names and places still maintain their fame, but may seem to have dropped out altogether from the Exercise. What has become of "Sheffield's great gun?" I put this question with all due respect to that gentleman? Many others I could mention who are painfully conspicuous by their absence, and unfortunately leave no trace of fully-competent inheritors of their ability. This "lapsing," as I may call it, has been alluded to before. I hope no necessity will again arise for a further allusion to it. These are not the times for good men to rest upon their laurels. Their influence, and the force of their example, is still required, and will be till the end of the chapter.

The St. Michael's junior society of Gloucester had an extensive outing, rather. By "extensive" I mean the length of journey. From Gloucester to Scarborough and back in one day is no joke. Would it not be better if two days could be had? Yes; say my readers, but how about the funds? I answer, where there's a will there's a way. Many influential parishioners would not mind helping towards an outing of this sort, if they were asked, and I see no harm in the asking.

PLAIN SPEAKER.

WARNHAM, SUSSEX.

On Tuesday, September 6th, the local ringers instead of pulling the ropes had arranged to try conclusions with the willow against their brother-strings of Capel and Charlwood. The day was all that could be desired, and a beautiful wicket had been prepared by the worthy captain, (who is also secretary of the local cricket club) a most enjoyable game being the result, victory finally resting with the home team. After the match, the players adjourned to the Sussex Oak inn, where full justice was done to a capital spread provided by host Mann. Tables having been cleared, the evening was passed away amid harmony, and the healths of the rival teams having been drunk and responded to, the proceedings were finally brought to a close with "Auld lang Syne," all having thoroughly enjoyed themselves. ## The Bell News &amp; Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1892

A WEEK or two ago an announcement appeared to the effect that the ring of ten at the church of St. Philip, Birmingham, was about to be rehung, and that a responsible and trustworthy firm—Messrs. BARWELL, of the same town—were entrusted with the operations. It is always cheering to hear of peal-restoration, but the case in question revives so many interesting associations, that it deserves something beyond a passing notice. For many years the bells of the New Church—as St. Philip's was frequently called by Birmingham folk—have "gone" badly. In fact, never within our recollection have they been looked upon very favorably, even by local ringers. They are not the very best peal of their weight to be found, though there are many worse. But the pleasure attending unrestricted practice on a ring of ten bells covers a multitude of disadvantages, and therefore no one need be surprised to hear that in spite of bells going indifferently, defective ropes, long draught, and other drawbacks, St. Philip's has not slipped from the ken of the Exercise, this no doubt being principally due to their location among such men as Birmingham ringers. Now they are to be put in good ringing order, and we may reasonably hope to hear of doings equal to those of former times, when THURSTANS, or LATES (who lies in the adjoining churchyard), or CHATTELL, held sway. Such desire is a small matter in these days, when Double Norwich and Superlative is quite common, and two or more peals by the same company per diem is looked upon as the only correct thing. We may venture to hope that so long as it is considered necessary to have two separate ringing societies in Birmingham, that the body which will have its head quarters at St. Philip's, may improve in organisation, and at no distant period cause their steeple to be as much an object of interest as the neighbouring one of St. Martin's. For the historical associations enjoyed by the latter are equally claimed by the former; and to those who fondly cling to the past traditions of the Exercise in the Midland metropolis, one church possesses as much interest as the other. By the restoration of the bells, and the garnishing of the ringing-chamber (which latter we hope is considered a necessary accompaniment) the interest in St. Philip's will become revived and awakened. To maintain that interest and extend it should be the constant study of the company of ringers who will have the privilege of looking upon the tower as their own. They must work unitedly together, and forego every other consideration but the advancement of their society. To keep together a company from which jealousy and its abominable concomitants are absent, requires the practice of self-denial in the highest degree. But the success which follows is worth the struggle.

ELIJAH CRUMP.

It is with the deepest regret that we have to record the death of the above-named ringer, which took place on Wednesday, September 7th, at the early age of forty-seven years, after a long and painful illness extending over a number of years. The deceased had been a member of the Bromsgrove society for about thirty years, during which time he rung upwards of thirty peals of Grandsire, Plain Bob, and Treble Bob. He was also a member of the Worcestershire Association, in which he took a very active part, being on the Committee until the death of the late Treasurer, Mr. W. Duffill, when he was appointed to that office, which he held until about two years ago. From that time he took little or no interest in ringing whatever. Through failing health he ceased to be a member of the Bromsgrove company last Christmas. The death of the deceased came about very sudden; he was walking about his house during the day, when about 4.30 in the afternoon he was in his sister's house having a cup of tea, when he was taken with a stroke, and had to be carried home, and never spoke again, dying the same night just after eleven o'clock. The funeral of the deceased took place on the following Monday, and the Bromsgrove society with a few friends met to pay their last mark of respect to him, and also rang muffled touches before and after the interment. The vicar (Rev. E. Vine Hall), officiated, and on the body reaching the ground five members rang a plain course of Grandsire Caters. O. James, 1-2; G. Bourne, 3-4; J. Hinton (Bristol), 5-6; W. Rea, 7-8; G. Hayward, 9-10. In the evening ten members attempted a peal of Grandsire Caters with the bells half-muffled, but after ringing about 30 mins. it came to grief, the day's ringing being concluded with a touch of Bob Royal. Arrangements were then made to attempt the peal again on Thursday, when it was successfully brought round, an account of which appears in this week's issue. On Thursday, September 8th, a touch of Grandsire Caters was rung with the bells half-muffled. On Sunday evening, September 11th, for Divine Service, other touches of Caters were rung by G. Hayward (conductor), W. Rea, G. Bourne, G. Morris, O. James, W. James, J. Mason, G. Mason, Y. Bullock, A. Moore, G. Mason, T. Farmer, J. Parry, and T. Albutt.

"A LONDONER'S" REPLY.

SIR,—I did not think the simple question I put the week before last would be honored by the notice of that sarcastic but welcome writer "Plain Speaker." My object I assure him was not to "draw" anybody out, in the sense he means. I do really think that the example shown by our Birmingham friends in perpetuating the memory of their departed leader is one which could be well imitated by the College Youths, in the cases I mentioned. No sign having been made by any member of that body in this respect since my letter appeared, shows "Plain Speaker" to be near the mark when he says they care for none of these things. It is not my purpose to enter into other matters which might "draw" better, that I leave to your regular contributor. I suppose the arrangements at the Cathedral he mentions suffer from a trifling irregularity sometimes, like everything else. If "Plain Speaker" thinks the arrangements there can be altered for the best, let him point it out. A LONDONER.

A CORRECTION.

Mr. J. Shepherd, of the Lancashire Association, writes;—"Please note that the peal rung last week at Newchurch, should have been dated Tuesday, September 13th, and not 'Recently.' Also the tenor was rung by 'J. W. Ormerod' not 'J. Hornerod,' please correct these. The post card sent was written in a hurry I am given to understand so do not lay any blame to you. Thanking you in advance, I am yours truly, J. SHEPHERD."

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

DEMETRIUS.—We do not intend to take the style of sensational journals as a pattern.

YOUNG BOB-CALLER.—Ring the observation-bell first, you will soon be able to call from another bell if you try. Calling a bob-and-single peal and ringing the observation-bell, is not a very great feat.

J. J. PARKER.—We have, as you will see, acceded to your request.

IMPATIENT.—The circumstances connected with the subject you mention are not under our control. We think however you may hear something next week.

Full accounts of all the Founders whose bells hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County, including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. Mr. Stahlschmidt wrote the author, that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting county," and he repeated this opinion in a subsequent letter. The "Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 600 pages, & be handsomely illustrated with 24 full-page plates of mediaeval letterings, founders' marks, etc., found on Bells still existing in the County and numerous figures—some of them being peculiar to Bucks—will be inserted in the text. Her Majesty's Surgeon-Dentist's Testimonial.

"My Dear Doctor,—Allow me to express my sincere thanks for the skill and attention displayed in the construction of my Artificial Teeth, which render my mastication and articulation excellent. I am glad to hear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. In recognition of your valuable services, you are at liberty to use my name.—S. G. HUTCHINGS. By Appointment Surgeon-Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen."

Geo. H. Jones, Esq., F.R.S.L., F.R.M.S.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has by his Perfected System of Dentistry demonstrated that Painless Dentistry is as much an accomplished fact as the swift locomotive, the electric light, or the telephone, and absolutely restores the natural contour caused by the loss of teeth, by the adjustment of Prize Medal dentals, rendering detection impossible, which obtained the Gold Medals of London, 1851; New York, 1853; London, 1862; Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; and Philadelphia, 1876.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has been awarded for his Improvements and Patents in Dentistry gold medals, London and Paris; gold medal, New Zealand Exhibition, 1882; gold medal Calcutta, 1883; and the highest diploma of merit and award at Nice and Amsterdam, 1883-4. Awarded the gold medal of the Académie Nationale, Paris, 1884; and the highest award Antwerp; also the gold medal, International Exhibition, London, 1885; gold medal, Liverpool, 1886; gold medal, Melbourne, 1888-9.

ISLIP, NORTHANTS. — RE-DEDICATION OF THE PARISH CHURCH BELLS.

An interesting and unusual service took place at the parish church of St. Nicholas, on Monday afternoon, September 19th, when the Bishop of Peterborough (Dr. Creighton) re-dedicated and consecrated to the service of Almighty God the bells in the church tower. The original peal of five bells, was erected, according to the dates on them, in the years 1621 and 1678. For the last forty or more years three of the number have been defective, and much of the richness of their music has been lost. The matter was recently taken in hand by the energetic Rector (the Rev. W. M. Croome), and the suggestion that the peal should be strengthened by the addition of a weighty tenor was heartily endorsed by the parishioners. By means of a jumble sale and collections in the parish, to which both Nonconformists and Church people most readily responded, a sum of about £250 was obtained; and it was agreed to have the bells thoroughly overhauled and a new tenor added. The work was entrusted to Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, who have carried out the work in a very satisfactory manner. The 2nd, 3rd and 5th bells of the old peal have been recast, and the peal is now a very melodious one, and few parishes in Northamptonshire can boast of such an evenly-balanced and musical peal as Islip now possesses. The bells are hung on an entirely new principle, which does away with a great deal of the hard work in ringing. A new iron H frame has been put in, and those who had a touch on Monday were very pleased with the way the bells worked. In addition to the bells, a new intermediate floor of concrete has been made immediately below the bells, and the ringing-chamber has been rendered more cosy. The work altogether has cost about £300, of which, between £50 and £60 only remained to be raised on the day of the opening. It may be interesting to state that the old peal was used for the last time on Ascension Day.

The special service of dedication took place at three o'clock in the afternoon, when the church, which underwent restoration some twenty years ago, and is as compact and neatly arranged as any in the county, was crowded, the exertions of the energetic churchwardens, Messrs. Colman and Agutter, being sorely taxed to find seating accommodation for all. The clergy robed in the schoolroom opposite, and, preceded by the choir singing the 122nd Psalm, entered the church by the large west door. His Lordship's chaplains were the Rev. F. M. Stopford, rector of Titchmarsh, and the Rev. A. Boodle, of Little Addington. The crozier was carried by the Vicar of Raunds (the Rev. A. E. Oldroyd), the other clergy present being the rector (the Rev. W. M. Croome), the Rev. R. S. Baker (Hargrave), the Rev. R. W. Wynter (Wellingborough, formerly rector of the parish), the Rev. J. S. Watson (Lowick), the Rev. C. B. Bartlett (Burton Latimer), the Rev. J. T. Watson (Woodford), the Rev. H. Howard (Weekley), the Rev. W. W. Dennett (Sudborough), and the Rev. G. M. Edmonds (Stoke Doyle). Seated among the congregation were the Rev. S. Kingsford (Thrapston), and the Rev. W. O. Leadbitter (Denford). The Bishop and clergy remained under the belfry while the choir went to their places, and at the conclusion of the Psalm his Lordship said: "Dearly beloved in the Lord, we are gathered together to-day to render humble and hearty thanks to Almighty God for the many blessings which we have received from this our ancient parish church, and to ask his favour and blessing on this our work, undertaken for His honour and glory, and the edification of the faithful who shall worship in this His house." Special prayers referring to the use of the bells followed, after which his Lordship, having prayed "God the Father, God the Son, God the Holy Ghost" to "accept, hallow, and bless these bells," declared them to be "dedicated and consecrated to the service of Almighty God." Immediately afterwards a short touch was rung by Messrs. Freeman (Syston), 1; Hudson, 2; J. T. Bettles, 3; W. Buckley, 4; J. Betts, 5; J. T. Allen (Islip), 6. The special Psalms were for thanksgiving—47th, 92nd, and 150th, and the selected lessons—Numbers x. (read by the Rector of Titchmarsh), and Hebrews x. (read by the Rev. R. W. Wynter)—contained also an appropriate reference to the occasion. The evening service was intoned by the Rector, the hymn after the third collect being—

Set between the earth and heaven,
Now our bells are raised on high;
In the name of Him who giveth,
Skill and strength, and industry.

Prior to the sermon the hymn was "Angel voices ever singing." The Bishop of the Diocese preached a singularly appropriate and eloquent sermon, taking as his text Numbers x., 1 and 2,—“And the Lord said unto Moses, make them two trumpets of silver . . . that thou mayst use them for the calling of the Assembly,” and “The trumpet shall sound and the dead shall be raised incorruptible, and we shall be changed”—1 Corinthians xv. 52. He said:—

There was nothing said in the Bible about bells for the very simple reason that in the days that were recorded in the Bible bells had not been discovered for the use they were now put to. Bell, it was true, formed part of the ornaments of the High Priests' vestments, but these were little bells, such as were now brought from India or eastern countries and were made out of their plates of brass bent round. There were then no large bells such as they were now accustomed to see, and bells as now used in the service of the Church were a very modern invention and did not come into general use certainly until the ninth and tenth centuries after Christ. Their use was first adopted in the Abbeys for the purpose of assembling the scattered congregations to the service of the church. The parishes in England at that period consisted in many cases of vast acreages, inhabited by people scattered in different parts, and some means were needed to make known when the services of the Church were to be held, and so it came about that in Western Europe bells took the place of all previous means of assembling people together. His Lordship passed on to speak of the important message the church bells carried, summoning all to the house of God—a summons which they so often heard, and which they had paid so little attention to. How often they disregarded the summons as if it was something rather far off, and as if it did not matter whether they went or not! Even people who did go to church were sometimes heard to say “I really don't know what good it has done me,” or “I don't know what I have learnt.” He reminded such that they did not go to church as to a lecture, or as if they were going to spend half-an-hour in reading the news, but rather they went there to know that God was there, and to feel God's presence around them. It was not knowledge they wanted, it was insight. Any man could get knowledge; printing was cheap. They went to church, not to learn, but to know and feel God's presence. They should remember also that the church bell was a call to them to leave the world and its cares, its temptations, its false pleasures, and its business, and to think about their souls. As they had sung in the hymn that the bells were set between earth and heaven, so they should look upon the church as a midway between themselves and God, and he urged his hearers not to neglect the summons which they would hear from the bells of that church.

The offertory hymn was “Holy off'rings, rich and rare,” the collection amounting to £15 4s. 9d. Mrs. Croome presided at the organ, and the church was prettily decorated for the occasion. After the service a touch of Bob Minor was rung, Mr. Taylor, of Loughborough, ringing the tenor. The bells were kept merrily ringing throughout the afternoon and evening by ringers from Ringstead, Titchmarsh, Lowick, and Raunds. A public tea was held in the schools after the service, when about 250 attended, the trays being presided over by Mrs. Sharpe, Mrs. Croome, Miss Croome, Miss Marsh, Miss M. D. Robinson, Miss Ward, Mrs. Beaver, Mrs. Hipwell, Mrs. Agutter, and Mrs. Elderkin.

WEST KIRBY, CHESTER.

On Thursday, September 22nd, the West Kirby Ringers presented Mr. F. R. T. Bolton, branch secretary, of the Wirral branch of the Chester Diocesan Guild, with a handsome silver goblet, bearing the following inscription:—“Presented to F. R. T. Bolton, Esq., by the West Kirby Bell Ringers, September, 1892.”

Mr. Henry Smith, captain of the belfry, presented it on behalf of the ringers in a kind and flattering speech.

Mr. Bolton, in replying, said he was very much gratified by their kindness, and also very much surprised, as it was only last year he received from the same body a very handsome walking-stick.

THE NORTH NOTTS. ASSOCIATION.

On Saturday, September 24th, a quarterly meeting of this Association was held at Blyth. A fair representation of members were present from East and West Retford, Harthill, Anston, Worksop, Bawtry and Blyth. Ringing commenced early in the day, and was kept up until about 8.30 in the evening, with the exception of an interval for tea and general business meeting. The methods rung were Oxford, Violet, Duke of York, and Grand-sire; but unfortunately only one complete 720 was rung, and that by Messrs. R. Beeston, 1; B. Swannack, 2; W. Drake (conductor), 3; N. G. Hunt, 4; H. Haigh, 5; R. Potter, 6. A 720 of Oxford Treble Bob was attempted, but it came to grief after ringing 700 changes, which was a great disappointment to the performers. The Rev. Canon Gray, with his customary kindness, granted the use of the bells, and also the schoolroom for the transaction of tea and business. The meeting was also favoured with the presence of the secretary, Rev. H. T. Slodden, who met with a hearty reception on rising to read the minutes of the last general meeting, which were confirmed. Proposed alteration of Association rule No. 7 was also carried with acclamation, and the next annual meeting will therefore be held at Retford on Whit-Monday, 1893, when arrangements will be made for the towers of East and West Retford and Ordsall to be at the disposal of the visitors. Six new members from Ordsall were duly initiated. This addition brings the total membership, honorary and performing, to upwards of 100, and shows that the Association is progressing numerically and financially. The secretary promised to see that all quarterly meetings be published in the ringers' paper ("THE BELL NEWS") a fortnight before the specified time, and that the name and address of the person to whom all communications are to be sent respecting arrangements for tea and business be published also. This will do away with the absurdity of having to write to each tower to ascertain how many are likely to be present, and bear the expense also. A proposition was made and carried that a copy of the Central Council's Report on the Preservation and Repair of Church Bells be sent to each tower for the information of the Incumbent and ringers, and a ringer, having in his possession the requisite number of copies, the same was distributed and forthwith conveyed by the representatives present. At the close of the meeting a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Rev. Canon Gray for the use of the bells and the school-room, as was also the same for the secretary, Rev. H. T. Slodden, for his attendance, courtesy, and for presiding. In reply, Canon Gray remarked that he hoped their visit to Blyth would be a successful one, and he should be very pleased to welcome the members of the Association on a future occasion. The Rev. H. T. Slodden, having suitably replied, the meeting terminated, and the ringers adjourned to the tower. The next quarterly meeting will be held at Shireoaks on Saturday, December 3rd, 1892, and it is hoped that as many will make it convenient to attend as possible.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.—ASHFORD DISTRICT.

The annual meeting of the above district was held at Ashford on Saturday, September 24th. Thirty-one members attended from the following places, viz.:—Aldington, Brabourne, Canterbury, Elham, Folkestone, Headcorn, Hythe, Maidstone, Margate, Merham, Rolvenden and Willesborough. The bells were raised a little before 4 p.m., and short touches of Grandsire, Plain Bob, Treble Bob, and Stedman were attempted, some being successfully brought round; but owing to the eccentric behaviour of the fifth rope no satisfactory ringing could be accomplished. It was another provoking instance of local tinkering. Some few of the members had a short touch on the six at Willesborough on their way home. At the committee meeting, held by the kind permission of the Vicar, the Rev. P. F. Tindall, in the church vestry, Mr. C. W. Blaxland (Hythe), was elected district secretary in place of A. E. Nunn (Tenterden), resigned. It was determined to hold the next district meeting at Hythe, and to suggest Tunbridge Wells to the central committee as a suitable place for the next general meeting of the Association.

KETTERING, NORTHANTS.—RESTORATION OF THE PARISH CHURCH.

On Wednesday, amidst considerable rejoicing, the Parish Church of Kettering was re-opened after thorough and complete restoration, which has extended over a period of nearly three years. The great necessity for repairs became at last of so urgent a character that the late much-respected Rector (the Rev. Canon Lindsay) some five or six years since set himself boldly to work to overcome the difficulty, and his efforts have been crowned with great success, which unfortunately he was not spared to live to witness. Sufficient funds were at first procured to commence the restoration of the lofty spire, which was begun in the latter half of 1887. It was found necessary to rebuild about eleven feet of the spire, and this is now surmounted with a floriated iron cross and an ornamented gilded copper vane, the gift of Mrs. Lindsay. The height of the spire is now about 179 feet. The great work of restoration, however, was not commenced until a later period. A large and influential Church Restoration Committee was formed in 1888, and the services of Sir A. Bloomfield, A.R.A., that gentleman having been consulted with reference to the condition of the tower, were again secured. The necessary repairs were reported upon, and it was estimated the entire restoration would cost about £7,000. The sum required being so large it was recommended the work should be taken up in sections and the restoration carried on as funds were procured, and this course was adopted. The appeal of Canon Lindsay and the Committee met with a hearty response generally, and the work was thus able to be gradually proceeded with. The Restoration Fund having reached the sum of £5,000 the Rector and the Committee felt themselves justified in commencing the work about the end of 1889, and the tender of Mr. John C. Neal (Messrs. Margetts and Neal), of Kettering, was accepted for certain sections at the sum of £5,396, but it is likely that this sum will be increased by nearly another thousand with the extras. These did not include the heating or lighting of the church, the re-hanging of the bells and other things, which were contracted for separately. The whole of the work has been carried out in a manner reflecting great credit upon the contractor. The total cost is expected to reach £9,000, and of this about £1,700 is yet required.

Instead of leaving the re-hanging of the bells until "a more convenient time," as is often the case, the Kettering folk had them done during the restoration of the Church. They were entirely re-hung two years ago by Taylor of Loughborough, a cracked bell was re-cast, and an excellent ringing room made, which is a model of comfort and convenience.

The re-opening services were attended by most of the clergy of the district, amongst whom were Rev. W. O. Leadbitter (Ringstead), Rev. J. Watts (Orlinsbury), Rev. H. R. Vernon, Rev. R. J. Clarke (Isham), Rev. G. H. Bigge (Harrowden), Revs. R. W. Wynter, H. C. Beesley, and A. S. Altham (Wellingborough.) The Bishop of the Diocese preached a very appropriate sermon. A public luncheon followed, presided over by the patron of the living, Mr. G. L. Watson, of Rockingham Castle. The Rev. Wentworth Watson preached in the church in the afternoon, after which about 1,000 sat down to a public tea in the Victoria Hall. The Ven. Archdeacon of Oakham was the preacher at the evening service. All the church choirs of the town were present at each service, and part of the Town Band assisted in the musical portions.

HEREFORD CATHEDRAL.

The bells of Hereford Cathedral are being re-hung, and will be re-opened on Tuesday, October 4th next, by the Hereford Cathedral Ringers, who will ring from 8 to 9.30 a.m. After the opening service a peal of Caters will be attempted by a mixed band of ringers. The above bells are a very fine ring, but no peal has hitherto been possible on them owing to the arrangement of the ringing room. This is now being improved as far as possible.

A RINGING TOUR.

Some members of the Oxford Diocesan Guild hope to visit their ringing friends in Devon in the second week of October, and during their stay they evidently do not intend to be idle, and seem to be determined to let the people of Devon hear some first-class ringing. The following is the programme of the week's ringing which has been arranged:—

DATE.	HOUR.	TOWN.	METHOD. (subject to revision.)
Oct. 10	3.30 p.m., 6.30.	St. David's, Exeter	Superlative Surprise Major.
" 11	9.30 a.m. 12.30.	Ottery St. Mary	Stedman Triples
	3.30 p.m. 4.30.	Sowton ...	...Superlative.
	8.0 p.m., ...	Cathedral, Exeter.
" 12	10.0 a.m., 1 p.m.	Chittlehampton ...	...Double Norwich.
	4.0 p.m., 7.0 "	Braunton ...	...Superlative.
" 13	9.30 a.m., 12.30	Torrington ...	...Stedman Triples
	6.0 p.m., 9.0 p.m.	St. Sidwells ...	...Stedman Caters.

	3.30 p.m., 6.30	Okeford ...	...Double Norwich.
" 15	11 a.m., 2.0 p.m.	Tiverton ...	...Double Norwich.

It will be seen from this programme that two peals per diem are going to be attempted, and that combined with travelling, which is not easy in Devon, means a hard week's work. We wish the party all success in their brave undertaking in the cause of change-ringing.

A social meeting of the Devon Guild will be held on October 13th, at St. Sidwell's Institute, when the Oxford men will be entertained at tea, at 5.0 p.m., after their return from North Devon. It is hoped also that some peals of Grandsire or Stedman Triples will be rung during the week by the members of the Devon Guild.

MAITLAND KELLY,

Hon. Sec. of the Devon Guild.

YARWELL, NORTHANTS.

On Wednesday, September 21st, the Bishop of Peterborough reopened the church of St. Mary Magdalene after partial restoration at a cost of £350. The church, which is Early English, has had its chancel restored, being re-roofed with strong beams and lead, the north wall rebuilt, and all the windows re-glazed. Though the day was marked by intermittent down-falls of rain, large numbers assembled from far and near. The Bishop, preceded by the Rev. F. Buttanshaw (Cotterstock), bearing the pastoral staff, and attended by several clergy, after Psalm cxviii. had been sung, was duly received at the church doors by the churchwardens and the congregation. The Rev. C. J. Percival, vicar, intoned the service, and the Bishop preached from Psalm xc., verses 1, 17, on the mercies of God, and durability and preciousness of man's existence. At the evening service the Rev. C. J. Gordon, formerly vicar of Nassington, preached from Isaiah xli. 6, 7, the subject being "Encouragement in the Spiritual Life." The new altar-cloth, fittings, and carpet were provided through the kindness of Mrs. Percival and other helpers, together with a collection of flowers. The choir, composed of boys and girls, sang well, with Mrs. Parry as organist.

WILBY, NORTHANTS.

On Saturday evening Mr. John Parsons, churchwarden, generously invited the members of the Wilby Church choir and bell-ringers to partake of supper, and to join in the enjoyable entertainment which followed. Altogether, friends, choristers, and bell-ringers, numbering about sixty, sat down to a sumptuous spread, served in excellent style, in Mr. Parson's loft, which had been thoroughly renovated and made convenient for the festivity. The entertainment opened with a performance by the Wilby handbell ringers, under the able direction of Mr. Thomas Fowler; and during the evening songs were contributed by the Rev. St. John Coldwell, Mr. John Parsons, Mr. F. Barber, Mr. T. Walker, Mr. W. Walker, Master Walter Walker, and others. The Rector, on behalf of the members of the Choir and all present, observed that they ought not to separate without expressing their hearty thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Parsons, for so kindly entertaining them, and he experienced very great pleasure in performing that duty. The vote of thanks having been carried amid acclamation, Mr. Parsons suitably responded, complimenting Mr. Thomas Fowler upon the time and attention he had given to handbell instruction. Votes of thanks to those who had contributed songs to the evening's diversion, and to the church bell-ringers, who rendered invaluable service in the parish, proposed by the Rector, and seconded by Mr. Parsons, concluded a most enjoyable evening.

TONG, YORKSHIRE.

On Saturday afternoon, September 10th, the ceremony of re-opening the bells of the parish church was performed, when ringers attended from Liversedge, Calverley, Pudsey and other places, the bells having been re-hung and quarter-turned, with all new fittings, by Messrs. Warner & Sons, London, and have given every satisfaction, the go of the bells being excellent. A supper was provided at the village schoolroom for the visitors. The Vicar, Rev. Charles Farrow, presided, and in the course of a short address welcomed the visitors to the church at Tong. A vote of thanks to Sir R. T. Tempest, Bart., was passed for generously defraying all the cost of re-hanging; also a vote of thanks to the ladies who had rendered assistance in providing the supper.

Correspondence.

While allowing the utmost freedom for the expression of opinion, it must never be considered that we are in any way bound to statements made by correspondents.

To the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS AND RINGERS' RECORD."

STEDMAN TRIPLES.

SIR,—In your valuable journal of September 25th, 1889, and the following issue, Mr. J. Carter, of Birmingham, gave some musical touches of Grandsire Triples. Would it not be beneficial to the ringing community if that gentleman could spare time to give a similar collection of touches of Stedman Triples. I saw a statement in a recent issue of "THE BELL NEWS" to the effect that it would be well for ringers to ring other methods besides Grandsire, and I am very much in favour of that suggestion, and I think this request is a step, at any rate, to bring about that end.

A. E. THOMPSON.

EXPLANATIONS.

SIR,—I have but lately returned from my holiday, and consequently only now learn that our belfry is under the stigma of inhospitality. The members of the belfry are naturally, and I think, properly exercised at this implication, otherwise I should not think it necessary to take any notice of Mr. Reeves' (of Reading) communication. I beg you will give me an opportunity of apologising, for what seemed to him a slight. We have doubtless many faults, but have never before been charged with lack of hospitality. Perhaps the statement of facts may tend to pour oil on the troubled waters, and remove the reproach of intended discourtesy. Mr. Reeves' letter was forwarded to me when in the Austrian Tyrol, and when I found I could not reply in time to be of any use, I put the letter aside. I also, but not unnaturally, concluded that Mr. Reeves would, on not hearing from me, apply to some official of the belfry, or to my curate, Mr. Newhouse, the secretary of our branch of the Diocesan Guild. Anyhow, permission could not have been granted, as Mr. Reeves only asked to ring from 6.30 to 7, which is the time of our evensong. I can only express my regret for any inconvenience caused him, and beg that he will shew his goodwill by giving us another opportunity for according him and his band the welcome we are always glad to shew to our brethren of the noble craft. It may comfort Mr. Reeves to know that I have only to-day received some letters which have followed me from abroad, one of which required an early answer.

ARTHUR H. DRUMMOND,
Vicar of Boyne Hill, Maidenhead.

SIR,—I find on reading the report of the outing of the Holy Trinity society, Old Hill, Staffordshire, they visited St. Peter's, Bengeworth, and rang a 720 of Canterbury Pleasure Minor; but during an attempt to ring a 720 of Oxford Bob, the intrusion of a drunken woman into the belfry caused it to come to grief. I can assure our Old Hill friends and others that it is with regret that I read of such an intruder, and at the same time wish it to be understood that none of the members of the St. Peter's society were in any way to blame for the unfortunate incident. I hope such a thing will not occur again; one of the main objects of our society being the promotion of the principles of belfry reform.

ALBERT H. SHARP,

Hon. Sec. of St. Peter's Society, Bengeworth.

PRESENTATION TO THE BISHOP OF SHREWSBURY.

On Saturday afternoon, September 24th, a meeting of the Stoke-upon-Trent Archidiaconal Association was held in the Church Room, Stoke, for the purpose of presenting the Bishop of Shrewsbury with an address on his leaving the rectory of Stoke. The Ven. Archdeacon Lane (President of the Association) presided, and there were present the Rev. O. W. Steele (chairman of the committee), the Rev. J. W. Alston (Stoke), clerical Secretary and Treasurer, Mr. W. Twigg (Bucknall), Hon. Secretary, and members from the following towers: Stoke, Longton, Hanley, Wolstanton, Tunstall, Bucknall, and Kidsgrove.

The Ven. Archdeacon, in presenting the address to his Lordship, referred to the many good works which had been commenced and carried on by the Bishop of Shrewsbury, amongst them being the society of bell-ringers, which had met there that day for the purpose of presenting his Lordship with a small token of the thankfulness which they felt to him as the founder and first President of their Association; and regret at his departure from amongst them. He (the Archdeacon) could assure his Lordship that, although the present was but a small one, it nevertheless came from willing hearts. The Ven. Archdeacon then read the address, which was lithographed by Messrs. Atkinson Bros., of Hanley, and read as follows:—

To the Right Rev. the Lord Bishop of Shrewsbury, Sir Lovelace T. Stamer, Bart., Bishop-Suffragan of the Diocese of Lichfield, Rector of Stoke-on-Trent, Prebendary of Lichfield, and Proctor in Convocation for the Chapter. The Stoke Archidiaconal Association of Church Bell-ringers tenders their respectful affection and duty. May it please your lordship, we are not able consistently with our sense of duty to allow you to cease to dwell in our midst without first receiving at our hands some witness of the gratitude which we feel to our founder and first president, and patron for beginning this as well as many other institutions in North Staffordshire, which are designed to serve to the honor of God and the advancement of His church, and of goodwill amongst men. We believe that the association which in ourselves you authorised was the earliest society of change-ringers in this diocese, and the value of it must be recognised not only in its extent, but also in its multiplication. We owe, however, to your Lordship's fostering care, guidance and support under difficulties as well as origin, and we earnestly hope that in the future we may be allowed to look and appeal to your counsel and prudence whenever we may feel to require them. To this expression of our gratitude we desire to add that of our enduring regret that it has pleased God to call you from among us, and that not Stoke, but Shrewsbury is to have the happiness of hereafter being your dwelling place.

Your Lordship's life has, we venture to declare, been so consistently one of self-surrender, that this recent token of it is no new departure, but it must make the sorrow of those who lose you more keen, while we recognise that it makes your Lordship's future happiness the more assured.

We hope it will not be thought presumptuous in a company of bell-ringers, whose office in the House of the Lord is to tell out God's summons, to mingle with their regret and their thankfulness this sense of your Lordship's departure being a call from the Master.

We shall ever remain your Lordship's obliged and affectionate servants.

Signed on behalf of the members;—ERNALD LANE, President; J. WARDLE ALSTON, W. TWIGG.

OTHO W. STEEL, Chairman of Committee, Hon. Sec.

The Bishop, in receiving the address, said it was a very great pleasure to him to be there that day and to receive such a valuable recognition at their hands of the services which he had been able to render to the association. He had always felt a deep interest in the society, and he knew, from going about the diocese, that the association had been the means of effecting a great change in the belfries of their churches. His Lordship concluded by wishing prosperity to the association, and gave a hearty invitation to the members to visit him at Shrewsbury, and promising them that they should have a ring on the twelve bells at St. Chad's. A vote of thanks to the chairman brought a very pleasant meeting to a close.

A presentation was made on Saturday evening to the Rev. A. A. Boddy, vicar of All Saints', Monkwearmouth, and to Mrs. Boddy, by the workmen of Messrs. Tyzack and Co.'s ironworks, Fullwell-road, in recognition of their services to the distressed in the district during the recent strike in the Durham coal trade.

CURRENT TOPICS.

My remarks last week were followed by an account of a cricket match among three companies of Sussex ringers. Variety is said to be charming, and this cricket meeting with all its accompaniments seemed to accurately fulfil the saying. In this account the parties were called "the rival teams." The last word, "teams," is usual with cricketers, footballists, and so forth. But the term is not liked in connection with ringers. We say "a band," or "a society," or "a company" of ringers, but never or very rarely "a team." And a good thing too. My dictionary gives the definition of "team" as "two or more horses, oxen, or other beasts harnessed together to the same vehicle for drawing." Such a definition therefore is hardly the proper thing for an assemblage of ringers. No; our well-known definitions above mentioned are the best. I am not the only one who thinks so.

* * * * *

Very good advice was given in last week's editorial to the society at St. Philip's Church, Birmingham. And very appropriate just now. I think the "Birmingham Amalgamated" is the body recognised at this church. This society has met with some vicissitudes during its history, secessions, withdrawals and the like, but in view of what is going to be done at St. Philip's, the members should pull themselves together without delay, and solemnly determine among themselves that "jealousy and its abominable concomitants" should in the future be unknown. Like other large places, Birmingham has not in the past escaped the stigma of disunion among ringers. In these enlightened times we may expect to hear that better things prevail, and that there may be no such spectacle as one individual breathing threatenings and slaughter if he cannot have his way.

* * * * *

I am obliged to "A Londoner" for his courteous letter. It seems I am not able to draw him out any further. He supposes the ringing arrangements at a certain Cathedral "suffers from a trifling irregularity sometimes." No doubt. A chapter of gossip is hardly the right place in which to respond to "A Londoner's" invitation. Perhaps the opportunity and the time will come. At present I fear the ringers who would be concerned in such questions would entirely misconstrue my motive in putting them.

* * * * *

One or two remarks about the London St. James' Society, as it is called. The last number gives the result of the election of officers. The Master, I read, is Mr. E. E. Richards. I suppose this is the same gentleman who is a prominent member of the Trinity Youths. If so, he will, I am sure, look with satisfaction upon the questions I am about to put to him.

QUESTION 1.—"Will you endeavour to bring the St. James' Society into active and direct communication with the Church authorities of St. Clement Danes, viz., the clergy and churchwardens?"

QUESTION 2.—"Will you, as Master of the society, point out to these authorities that you, as representing the society, should be the controlling power, during your term of office, on all matters connected with the ringing of the bells at practice or at any other time?"

QUESTION 3.—"Will you, also, insist upon the paid ringers at St. Clement's—the head quarters of the St. James' Society—being selected by the members in meeting assembled, and not by the steeplekeeper, or any irresponsible body?"

Many more questions I could put; but these will suffice for the present. The Master of the St. James' Society will, I believe, consider these reasonable.

The Bell News &amp; Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1892.

A NOTICE in this week's number conveys the very welcome intelligence that the ring of ten at Hereford Cathedral has been rehung, and that in consequence a band has been found intrepid enough to attempt a peal upon them. As the tenor is a bell something like 45 or 50 cwt., our readers will await with more anxiety than usual the result of this attempt. "'Tis not in mortals to command success," we are told, but the band who will endeavour to score a peal on such bells as these will amply deserve it.

The county of Hereford was for many years a terra incognita almost, so far as change-ringing was concerned, and the Cathedral not the least. Not only were the bells in bad order, but the conditions under which the tenants of the ringing-chamber had to perform were bad likewise. This latter was, we believe, chiefly caused by architectural alterations, wherein of course, the bells and the ringers received not one atom of consideration. The ringing apartment is, we are glad to hear, improved by some means or other, and for such a mercy we feel grateful. On one or two occasions we have called attention to the unfavorable position of matters at Hereford, though we are not presumptuous enough to suggest that what alterations have been effected for the best is the result of our representations. We think the credit for improvement is due to the correspondent who sends us the welcome information, and also to one of the Prebendaries of the Cathedral.

The Hereford Diocesan Guild is gallantly struggling to make headway in the diocese, and success seems now to attend its efforts. A peal on the Cathedral bells will strengthen the movement, and cause greater interest to be evinced in bell-ringing throughout the district. Therefore we are solicitous as to the result, not only for the honour and credit due to the performers of a "first peal" on such bells, but that an impetus may be given to the extension of ringing within the diocese.

THE CHURCH BELLS OF BUCKINGHAMSHIRE. By ALFRED HENEAGE COCKS, M.A., Ch. Ch., Oxford; F.Z.S., F.R.G.S., Great Marlow, Bucks. With many illustrations.

MESSRS. JARROLD & SONS have pleasure in announcing the early publication by subscription of this most interesting and important work. It will contain an account of all the Church Bells in Buckinghamshire, with everything relating to their history that can be discovered. Full accounts of all the Founders whose bells hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County, including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. The work was undertaken at the instigation of the late J. C. L. Stahschmidt, Esq., author of "Surrey Bells and London Bell-founders," "The Church Bells of Kent," "Herts," etc.; and the fact that the author had the benefit of the kind assistance and advice of this well-known campanologist may be mentioned as some guarantee of the scope and nature of the present work. Mr. Stahschmidt wrote the author, that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting county," and he repeated this opinion in a subsequent letter. The "Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 600 pages, & be handsomely illustrated with 24 full-page plates of mediaeval letterings, founders' marks, etc., found on Bells still existing in the County and numerous figures—some of them being peculiar to Bucks—will be inserted in the text. The 8vo. Edition is limited to 350 copies, and will be offered to subscribers before the day of publication at 25s. nett. The Larger Edition, Royal 4to, is limited to 80 copies, and will be subscribed at 45s. The prices will be raised on the day of issue should any copies remain unsold.

Her Majesty's Surgeon-Dentist's Testimonial.

"My Dear Doctor,—Allow me to express my sincere thanks for the skill and attention displayed in the construction of my Artificial Teeth, which render my mastication and articulation excellent. I am glad to hear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. In recognition of your valuable services, you are at liberty to use my name.—S. G. HUTCHINGS. By Appointment Surgeon-Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen."

Geo. H. Jones, Esq., F.R.S.L., F.R.M.S.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has by his Perfected System of Dentistry demonstrated that Painless Dentistry is as much an accomplished fact as the swift locomotive, the electric light, or the telephone, and absolutely restores the natural contour caused by the loss of teeth, by the adjustment of Prize Medal dentals, rendering detection impossible, which obtained the Gold Medals of London, 1851; New York, 1853; London, 1862; Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; and Philadelphia, 1876.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has been awarded for his Improvements and Patents in Dentistry gold medals, London and Paris; gold medal, New Zealand Exhibition, 1882; gold medal Calcutta, 1883; and the highest diploma of merit and award at Nice and Amsterdam, 1883-4. Awarded the gold medal of the Academie Nationale, Paris, 1884; and the highest award Antwerp; also the gold medal, International Exhibition, London, 1885; gold medal, Liverpool, 1886; gold medal, Melbourne, 1886-9.

THE REV. T. L. PAPILLON, M.A.

[Vide Portrait.]

The REV. T. L. PAPILLON, M.A., Vicar of Writtle, Essex, Honorary Secretary and Treasurer of the Essex Association, was born at Lexden, near Colchester (of which parish his father was many years Rector) in 1841. He was educated at Marlborough College, and in 1860 proceeded to Oxford as a Scholar of Balliol College, taking his B.A. degree in 1864 as First Class in the Final Classical School. In 1865 he was elected to a Fellowship at Merton College, which he held till 1869, having meanwhile served for one year as an Assistant Master at Rugby, under the present Bishop of London, and spent part of another year in foreign travel as tutor to the late Earl Grosvenor, eldest son of the Duke of Westminster. He was ordained Deacon in 1867 and Priest in 1868 by the late Bishop Wilberforce, of Oxford. In 1870, on the invitation of the authorities of New College, he returned to Oxford as Fellow and Tutor of that College; by which in 1884 he was presented to the Vicarage of Writtle. He married in 1871 the elder daughter of the Rev. C. B. Dalton, Prebendary of St. Paul's, and late Vicar of St. Michael's, Highgate, by whom he has one son, now a Scholar of New College, Oxford.

As a ringer and friend of ringing, Mr. PAPILLON's career only dates from 1884, when, finding himself placed in charge of a parish with a fine ring of bells, but with few ringers and no change-ringing, he determined, as the best means of reviving the ringing at Writtle, to learn the art himself. Before leaving Oxford he was taught how to handle a bell in New College tower by the late Mr. Joseph Field, at that time in the employ of the College; and in the autumn of 1885, having got together some young hands willing to learn change-ringing, he invited Mr. Field to spend a fortnight at Writtle and put them and himself in the way of learning the art. With the occasional help of ringers from the neighbouring parish of Widford and others, fair progress was made, despite the usual drawbacks of irregular attendance, and in 1886 the Writtle men accomplished their first 6-score of Grandsire Doubles.

In 1887, after the Annual Meeting of the Essex Association on Whit-Monday, the Vicar and one of his band scored their first peal of Grandsire Triples in the Writtle Tower, on which occasion Mr. PAPILLON was elected a member of the Cumberland Society. But it was not till Christmas, 1888, that the object which had been kept in view for nearly three years was attained, and a peal rung by eight members of the Writtle company all resident in the parish, the Vicar himself taking the sixth bell. Since that time, with various fluctuations, a band of some kind or other has been kept together, and it is seldom that the eight bells are not heard at least once before service on Sundays; the Vicar being generally present in the belfry.

Mr. PAPILLON has also done his best to stir up the neighbouring town of Chelmsford to make more frequent use of their peal of ten, and has himself taken part in three peals of Grandsire Caters on those bells; while he has also rung in a peal of Grandsire Triples at Brentwood and one of Bob Major at Widford. But he does not often ring outside his own parish, and prefers to leave peal-ringing to men of fewer years and greater leisure. And though he is a living example to prove that it is never too late to learn change-ringing and attain a certain degree of proficiency in the art, he always allows that he began too late to make a first-rate ringer. And having attained the special object with which he became a ringer at all, he is content, as a rule, with the ordinary ringing in his own tower.

As Secretary of the Essex Association, to which office he succeeded on the retirement of the Rev. H. A. Cockey, his time and interests are always at the service of ringers and change-ringing; which he has also endeavoured to promote among the clergy in general by occasional communications to the Guardian newspaper. If only more of the clergy, whether they became accomplished ringers or not, would show the same interest in change-ringing, and in their own belfries and ringers, that the Vicar of Writtle continues to show, we should have less cause to complain of the indifference of the Church—an indifference upon which we hope that the efforts of such clergy as Mr. PAPILLON are slowly making impression.

A WEEK'S RINGING IN THE MIDLANDS

BY MEMBERS OF THE DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE ASSOCIATION.

This long contemplated tour commenced on Saturday, September 10th. All arrangements had previously been made by the President, Mr. R. S. Story, and everything pointed to a successful trip. Two of our most prominent members, Messrs. W. Story and A. Hillier, however, were prevented going, the former having decided to become a Benedict that same week, and the latter through sickness in his family. We left Newcastle by the 4.0 p.m. train on the above date, and were joined at Durham by Master R. C. Hudson of Sunderland; and Mr. Clark of Ripon got in at Thirsk. On arrival at Sheffield, we were accorded a hearty reception by Messrs. T. Hattersley, Brierley, Burgar, etc., who conducted us to our quarters for the night. At the club room later we met with more of the Sheffield men, including the celebrated C. H. Hattersley, and a most pleasant evening was spent in their company. The handbells were brought out and touches and courses of Grandsire, Stedman and Treble Bob on 8, 10 and 12 bells were the order of the evening. One of our number, who thirsts after knowledge in the higher branches of the art, was soon seated alongside Mr. Harry Hattersley, and seemed to be doing his best to pump him dry. He appeared to have a willing informant, however. The Messrs. Burgar charmed everyone, even the critical Lees, by their masterly manipulation of the handbells in tune-ringing, putting in variations in delightful harmony. A glance through the beautiful peal-book of the St. Peter's company was also obtained and was greatly admired.

We found that our good friend Mr. T. Hattersley had made capital sleeping arrangements for us, and everyone was thankful to turn in after the long journey.

The next morning, (Sunday) saw us in St. Peter's belfry at 9.30 sharp, where, after raising the twelve in peal, five of us had the pleasure of ringing a course of Treble Bob Maximus with the local men. C. H. Hattersley, 1; W. Burgar, 2; W. Lomas, 3; S. Thomas, 4; F. Lees, 5; W. Holmes, 6; C. L. Routledge, 7; J. Holman, 8; E. Woodward, 9; R. S. Story, 10; T. Hattersley, 11; F. Harrison, 12. In the afternoon an 880 Treble Bob Royal, by R. C. Hudson (first touch of Royal), 1; H. Lindsey, 2; T. Hattersley, 3; T. Clark, 4; C. L. Routledge, 5; J. Holman, 6; W. Holmes (conductor), 7; R. S. Story, 8; F. Lees, 9; F. Harrison, 10. Tenor 41 cwt. In the evening a 416 Double Norwich, and 168 Stedman Triples were rung for evensong at St. Marie's (R.C.) church by our own band. Another pleasant hour or two was spent among our friends at the "Queen," and then farewell was taken, and sorry we were to part from such kindly and obliging people, for they seemed to vie with each other as entertainers, and placed their belfries entirely at our disposal.

We left for Chesterfield that night, and though it was after midnight when we arrived, we were welcomed on the platform by Mr. Arthur Knights and his friends, including Mr. J. W. Roper, who now belongs to Newcastle. We caught a fine moonlight glimpse of the peculiar twisted spire of the church, but inspected it more minutely in the morning. We put up at the Rutland Hotel over night, and rose early on the Monday morning, fresh for a start at our first peal. The most galling disappointment of the whole tour awaited us here however, for meeting at 9.0 a.m. we started for a peal of Treble Bob Royal, 5080 changes, but after two hours and forty-eight minutes' nice striking, the 9th man, who had been unwell all the previous week, had to set his bell through exhaustion. R. C. Hudson, 1; H. Lindsey, 2; A. Knights, 3; T. Clark, 4; C. L. Routledge, 5; J. Hunt, 6; R. S. Story, 7; W. Holmes (composer and conductor), 8; F. Lees, 9; F. J. Harrison, 10. Tenor 25 cwt. Messrs. Hunt and Knights were elected members of our Association before starting. We were joined afterwards by Messrs. Harris and W. Worthington of Staveley, who, hearing of our advent came over for a touch, and to invite us to ring at their tower. We were, however, unable to accept this offer, our programme being full. A fine view from the top of the steeple was obtained by those who had the temerity to climb it. After dinner we started for the famous village of Duffield, Messrs. Knights and Roper accompanying us, the former giving us, en route, a glimpse into his thorough command of the art of composition. After examining the old churchyard and putting two or three of our juniors into the old yew tree, we were hospitably entertained to tea by Mr. Heywood at a favourite establishment near the church. Ill luck followed us even in this beautifully appointed tower, for a miscall brought an attempt for a peal of Double Norwich to a collapse after one hour's ringing. Mr. Knights kindly rang the 7th in this for us, as Mr. Lees was indisposed. In the midst of a touch of three courses of Stedman Caters, the President of the Midland Counties' Association put in an appearance and gave us a kindly welcome; everyone was quite charmed with the fine going order of the bells, the unique peal-book and the peal-boards, in fact nothing seemed to be wanting to make it a perfect resort for the peal-ringer. We were rather unfortunate in not seeing Mr. Heywood's far-famed works at Duffield Bank, but time would not allow. Mr. John Howe of Derby, joined us here, and we left with him for "his own particular" town at 9.35. He had arranged sleeping accommodation at Derby, and we were most comfortable. Here we had most reluctantly to bid farewell to our excellent friend Arthur Knights, with a promise to arrange another attempt for a peal of Royal at Chesterfield. The next item on our programme was Prestwold, a pretty peal of eight, about three miles out of Loughborough. Arriving at the latter place Mr. Taylor, jun., was on the platform waiting for us with three conveyances to lift us out to our destination. Here another peal of Double Norwich was lost after two and a half hours' good ringing, the demon of misfortune still being on our track. R. C. Hudson, 1; H. Lindsey, 2; T. Clark, 3; W. Holmes, 4; J. W. Taylor, jun., 5; R. S. Story, 6; C. L. Routledge, 7; F. J. Harrison, 8. Tenor 10 cwt. Returning to Loughborough we visited the bell-foundry, and Mr. Taylor and his brother, Mr. E. Denison Taylor, kindly took us all through it most minutely, and then allowed us to see the casting of four bells, one of two tons for Richard's Castle, and three for Cayton, near Scarborough, Yorkshire. This was indeed a treat, and an entirely new experience for all. After indulging in an excellent tea with Mr. Taylor, we wended our way to the tower to tackle a peal of Treble Bob Royal; this was considered a safe thing, but alas for the credulity of human nature, it was not to be. One hour's ringing was the extent of this performance, two bells changing course. F. Lees, 1; H. Lindsey, 2; R. C. Hudson, 3; T. Clark, 4; C. L. Routledge, 5; J. W. Taylor, jun., 6; R. S. Story, 7; W. Holmes (conductor), 8; W. T. Billinghamurst, 9; F. J. Harrison, 10. Tenor 27 cwt. Mr. Billinghamurst was elected a member before starting. It had been decided to make Loughborough our head quarters for four days, so Messrs. Taylor, father and son, kindly made arrangements to put four of us up, whilst the rest went to the Café Temperance Hotel. Leicester was on the bill of fare for the Wednesday, and we arrived at St. Peter's, Belgrave, about 9.30 a.m. where we elected Mr. Wm. Willson of the local society a member of the Association, and then rang a peal of Treble Bob in three hours and one minute (see "BELL NEWS" for September 24th). The bells were of nice tone, but the ropes unfortunately ran from left to right, instead of the usual way. This performance somewhat raised our spirits, and we started for St. Saviour's with lighter hearts. Here we found a fine sonorous peal of eight, tenor 28 cwt., and started for Thurstans' peal of Stedman Triples, which came to an untimely end in one hour and twenty minutes. F. Lees, 1; H. Lindsey, 2; J. W. Taylor, jun., 3; T. Clark, 4; C. L. Routledge, 5; R. S. Story, 6; W. Holmes (conductor), 7; F. Harrison, 8. We had the pleasure of meeting Messrs. Stephen Cooper, Alfred Millis, and other Leicester veterans here, besides our old friend Wm. Challoner.

A brake had been arranged for for Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, and a good start was made for Coleorton and Ashby-de-la-Zouch. The glories of this drive will never be forgotten by us northerners. We passed through a beautifully-wooded county and our "guide, philosopher and friend," Mr. Taylor, pointed out the places of interest on the way. We arrived at length at as pretty a little country church as one could wish to find, Coleorton. After a little adjustment of ropes we were soon travelling at the rate of twenty-eight to the minute in Double Norwich again, but two hours and five minutes of this seemed to be enough for the bells, for they got somewhat mixed (of course the ringers themselves were not to blame), and we set them.

We were condoled with outside by Mr. Taylor, sen., who had driven over with his wife and Mrs. Taylor, junr. Mr. Griffin, of Burton-on-Trent, was there also to greet us as we came out crestfallen. These two latter gentlemen strolled round the grounds of the Hall with us, and then joined us in the conveyance to Ashby. After dinner an attack was made on the tower, and a peal of Stedman Triples assailed with Mr. Griffin piloting us, but even he could not dispel our unlucky wave, and we lost through an irritating rapping on the door. R. S. Story, 1; C. L. Routledge, 2; T. Clark, 3; J. Griffin (conductor), 4; H. Lees, 5; J. W. Taylor, jun., 6; W. Holmes, 7; F. Harrison, 8. Mr. Griffin was elected a member of our Association before starting. Messrs. Scott and W. Canner had everything in readiness for us here, and the bells were a real treat to ring on. The drive home was cold but pleasant, Mr. Griffin kindly entertaining us with a long list of lost peals, with the good intention, we presumed, of consoling us; and he succeeded pretty well too, judging from our high spirits on arriving at Loughborough.

Next day, Friday, was that mapped out for Nottingham; just as the train by which we were to start steamed into Loughborough station, the Shellthorpe contingent were seen tearing down the road behind one of Mr. Taylor's fiery steeds, and they just managed to catch the train. A peal of Double Norwich was successfully brought round at All Saints, in three hours and ten minutes (see "BELL NEWS," September 24th). The bells were muffled to prevent the noise deafening the neighbours. We dined at the celebrated "Talbot" Hotel, and then were all photographed in a group at a neighbouring photographer's, as a memento of our visit.

Beeston was the next place to visit, and we arrived there about 4 p.m., our old friend the steeple-keeper at All Saints', acting as advance agent for us. A bold attempt was made for a peal of Stedman Triples, and some fine striking done, but a mix in the slow work brought it to grief again. J. W. Taylor, jun. (conductor), 1; H. H. Lindsey, 2; F. Lees, 3; T. Clark, 4; R. S. Story, 5; C. L. Routledge, 6; W. Holmes, 7; H. Harrison, 8. Tenor 19 cwt. On the way to Burton-on-Trent, our last calling place, we parted with Mr. Taylor with no small amount of regret. We were met at Burton station by the famous brothers Wakley and Messrs. Jaggar and Smith. A touch of Stedman Triples was rung on handbells at the hotel we were staying at. J. W. Smith, 1-2; J. Jaggar (conductor), 3-4; C. L. Routledge, 5-6; F. Harrison, 7-8. We met with a severe disappointment here finding we could not have the far-famed St. Paul's bells for a peal, through illness near at hand.

However, Tamworth bells were kindly placed at our disposal, and the next morning, after Mr. Griffin had shown us over St. Paul's church, we travelled out there. Nothing of importance, however was done at this ancient tower, Stedman Triples positively refusing to go more than 40 minutes. So we gave it up, and Mr. Griffin piloted his young protege, Robert Hudson, through a touch of Double Norwich on an inside bell. Luggage and traps were gathered up and a start made homewards. Mr. Griffin left us at Burton, while we continued our journey northwards, two of our number going on to Sheffield, three to Ripon, two to Scarborough, and one to Glossop. The most unanimous feeling amongst the band, before breaking up, was that of thanks to all those who had helped to make so very materially this outing as pleasant as it was. It was perhaps rather an adventurous proceeding for a band so comparatively inexperienced outside their own neighbourhood, and it was only taken in hand through the strong faith we had in the reception with which we should meet in the districts we had chosen. In this we were not disappointed, but, on the other hand, the kindness and hospitality experienced far exceeded anything which could have been expected. Belfries were open to the minute for us. There was no waiting of steeplekeepers; bells were raised and oiled, and provision made for securing privacy during ringing. The warmest thanks are due to Mr. J. W. Taylor, jun., Mr. Griffin, Mr. Hattersley and Mr. Knights for their so kindly making such excellent arrangements and for spending so much of their valuable time with us. It was a great pleasure and a valuable experience to meet with so many advanced and practical ringers, and our gratitude is due to them for the kindly advice and encouragement they gave us. To Mrs. J. W. Taylor, jun. and Mr. Heywood we return our heartiest thanks for their hospitality, and all the authorities and steeplekeepers who were so good as to allow us the use of their bells. We should like to take this opportunity of assuring any of our brother ringers further south that could they see their way to pay us a visit it would be highly appreciated and they can depend on the warmest of welcomes.

THE WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

On Saturday, September 24th, Messrs. G. Williams and H. Weston, of Brighton, and G. Gatland, of Steyning, journeyed by the 1.20 p.m. train to Havant, en route for Fareham, where a peal of Treble Bob Major was arranged to celebrate the birthday of Mr. Whiting, a prominent member of the local band. Arriving at Fareham at 4.48 they were met by Mr. White of Basingstoke, Mr. T. Groves, Eastleigh, and Mr. Whiting, the latter taking them to his house to tea. Afterwards a move was made to the parish church, and being joined by F. Hill and G. Grafham, both local men, "go" was called for Kent Treble Bob by the conductor, Mr. Williams, and without any hitch, in 2 hrs. and 57 mins. came the welcome "this is all," and the first peal on the programme was successfully accomplished, the band wishing Mr. Whiting many happy returns of the day. After the peal a pleasant hour was spent together before retiring to their respective quarters, Messrs. Williams and Weston driving eight miles to Soberton, the rest remaining at Fareham for the night. After breakfast on Sunday Messrs. White, Whiting, Groves, and Gatland started on shanks's pony for Soberton, calling at Wickham and ringing, with the assistance of two of the local band, some Doubles for the morning service. Arriving at Soberton about 1 o'clock, they soon repaired to the hostelry of Mr. Holmes, the "White Lion" inn, where a good dinner was soon on the table, and to which full justice was done. A touch of Stedman triples was rung for evening service, and all retired early for the night, as Monday was to be a busy day. Monday morning, at 7.40, found Messrs. Weston, Williams and Gatland busy looking over ropes, greasing bells, etc., and at 8.25 "go" was called by Mr. White for Bob Major, and at 11.15 the first peal in that method on the bells was accomplished, this making the conductor's fiftieth peal. The Rev. R. C. M. Harvey, Secretary of the Guild, and the Rev. F. E. Robinson, Master of the Oxford Guild, arrived soon after the peal was over, and all partook of a capital dinner at Host Holmes, which was served up in his excellent style. At 2.9 p.m. "go" was called by the Rev. F. E. Robinson for Stedman Triples, and all went well until the end of the fifty-eighth course, when a little trip in the slow caused a change-course, and the bells had to be stopped in the fifty-ninth course. Tea-time had now arrived, and what had best be rung after was discussed at the tea-table. It was intended to have attempted Double Norwich in the evening, but owing to the afternoon failure it was decided to try their luck again at Stedman, the result being that a capitally-struck peal was brought round at 9.20 p.m. At 6.12 on Tuesday morning the party left Soberton by waggonette for Privett, arriving there at 8 o'clock, and very soon this grand ring of bells were swinging in Treble Bob Major, a 5056 being brought round at 11.20, being the first peal of Major on them. On descending the tower the waggonette was all in readiness, and after partaking of slight refreshment the visitors were soon on the road for Eastmeon, where a well-struck peal of Stedman Triples was brought round at 7 p.m., being the first peal of Triples on the bells. Another drive of four and a-half miles brought them to Petersfield, where permission was granted to attempt a peal on Wednesday, but which had to be abandoned owing to the services, and the departure of the trains not agreeing with other arrangements on that day, all, except Mr. Warren, who had returned home, travelled by last train to Havant, where Treble Bob was arranged for the morning, but on their arrival it was found that a death had taken place close to the church; therefore there was no ringing. Wednesday morning all started by the 10.24 train to Portsmouth, where a peal of Stedman Triples was arranged for the early part of the evening at St. Mary's, Portsea. Although only a seven-miles ride, it was decided, going down in the train, to cross over to Gosport and try their luck on the light peal of eight at Holy Trinity Church. Mr. James Hewitt, an old friend, was soon found out, and, in company with the Rev. F. E. Robinson, were soon at the vicarage. Permission having been obtained, the bells were soon swinging to the tune of Stedman Triples, Mr. Hewitt making the eighth man, but unfortunately was not able to stand a peal, so a half-peal was successfully brought round in 1 hour 25 minutes, conducted by G. Williams, and was the longest length on the bells. After partaking of dinner a move was soon made for Portsea, and with the Rev. R. C. M. Harvey in place of Mr. Hewitt, a start was made for a peal of Stedman Triples at 4 p.m., but to the great disappointment of the company, after ringing twenty-nine courses in 1 hour 25 minutes, the seventh rope broke, which left them the same number of peals scored as they had the preceding day. A capital meat tea was partaken of at the vicarage, and the band dispersed to their respective destinations.

SHIFNAL, SHROPSHIRE.

NARROW ESCAPE IN THE BELFRY.—On Tuesday evening, September 27th, whilst Mr. J. E. Cheadle was winding up the clock in the belfry of the parish church the pulley jaws of the striking weight (through a flaw in the casting), gave way, causing the weight, which is about half a ton, to descend about 35 ft., scattering the sections in all directions, one section passing close to Mr. Cheadle's head. The shock on the belfry floor caused the tower to shake. If the accident had happened whilst the ringers had been chiming few could have escaped injury.

STOKE-ON-TRENT ARCHIDIACONAL ASSOCIATION.

The usual monthly meeting was held on Saturday, October 1st, at Cheddleton: Bucknall, Tunstall, Leek and Market Drayton being represented. During the afternoon two 6-scores of Bob Doubles were rung. G. Sheldon, 1; W. Wheildon, 2; E. Horne, 3; J. Johnson, 4; J. E. Whieldon, 5; H. Shuker, 6. Later in the evening it was decided to make an attempt for two 720's, one each of Bob Minor and Oxford Bob. The Bob Minor was completed successfully in 26 mins. but unfortunately Oxford Bob came to grief after ringing nearly 700 changes. G. Sheldon, 1; G. A. Smith, 2; E. Horne, 3; J. E. Wheildon, 4; W. Rigby, 5; J. Johnson, 6. In the attempt for Oxford Bob, W. Whieldon rung the 2nd, the others as before. Conducted by J. Johnson. This is G. Sheldon's first 720 in the method, and he hails from Leek; H. Shuker from Market Drayton; W. Whieldon and J. E. Whieldon from Bucknall; G. A. Smith, E. Horne, W. Rigby and J. Johnson from Tunstall.

THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

LIVERPOOL BRANCH.—The usual monthly meeting of the above was held on Saturday last, October 1st, at Childwall church. There were about a dozen members present from Liverpool, Woolton, Farnworth and Garston. The weather was anything but favourable, or no doubt a much larger attendance would have been put in. Garston was decided upon as the next place of meeting on Saturday, November 5th. Grandsire Minor and Doubles were rung on the bells.

A PEAL OF 362,880 GRANDSIRE CATERS, 6d.

THE NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.—ANNUAL MEETING AT NORWICH.

The Fifteenth Annual Meeting of this Association was held at Norwich on Tuesday, September 27th. There was a good attendance of members from nearly all parts of the Diocese, as many as twenty-seven towers being represented. The bells of St. Peter Mancroft, St. Andrew, St. Michael Coslany, St. Mary Coslany, St. John Maddermarket, St. Laurence, and St. Peter per Mountergate, were placed at the disposal of the Association during the day by the kindness of the respective incumbents; the magnificent and grandly-going ring at St. Peter Mancroft being, as usual, the centre of attraction. The service, usual in connection with the Annual Meeting, was held at this church at 12.45, a special form, kindly sanctioned by the Bishop of Norwich, being used for the first time. There was a very full attendance of those who came to the meeting at this service, which was heartily joined in by the large congregation of ringers present. A very useful and earnest address was delivered by the Ven. R. H. Gibson, Archdeacon of Suffolk, and Rector of Lound, near Lowestoft, from St. Matthew xi. 17—"We have piped unto you and ye have not danced; we have mourned unto you, and ye have not lamented." Dr. Bunnett most kindly presided at the organ at some inconvenience to himself, and, with the welcome aid of about a dozen chorists, the musical portions of the short service were effectively rendered.

After the service the members assembled in the large hall attached to the Conservative Club in St. Giles' Street, and sat down to the number of 141, including steeplekeepers and reporters, to a plentiful repast effectively set forth and served with his accustomed skill by Mr. Leander Brown, of the Shire-hall Tavern, who has been for several years the Association's caterer on these occasions. The Rev. Dr. Raven, the President of the Association, occupied the chair, having around him, besides the Honorary Secretary, the Revs. C. F. and A. G. Blyth, H. J. Coleman, H. Parr, T. H. Marsh, and W. H. Collett; F. W. J. Rees, Esq., and Arthur C. L. Back, Esq. The Revs. R. W. Pitt and F. J. Moule, Rector of St. Laurence, assisted at the long tables with Messrs. J. W. Spratt and F. Knights, H. Hopson, W. T. Blyth, W. Taylor, F. Miles, W. Ireland, district secretaries. The Archdeacon and the Vicar of St. Peter Mancroft were unfortunately prevented from attending the dinner. The customary loyal toasts having been given and duly honoured, the "National Anthem" being effectively played on handbells by Messrs. F. and F. H. Knights, P. Sadler, J. Smith and C. Borrett.

F. W. J. Rees, Esq., proposed "The Bishop and Clergy," and a vote of thanks to the preacher, and to the Incumbents of the several churches for the use of the bells.

This was briefly responded to by the Rev. W. H. Collett, Rector of Hethersett, the Hon. Secretary subsequently expressing Archdeacon Gibson's apologies for his unavoidable absence.

The President gave the toast of "The Association," coupled with the name of the Hon. Secretary, who (after another performance on the handbells) responded; expressing his satisfaction at seeing so representative an assembly of Norfolk and Suffolk ringers, and his feeling of encouragement and thankfulness at the excellent attendance at the service in St. Peter's church. The progress and prosperity of the Society would be found detailed in the report, which he proceeded to read. This set forth the present position of the Association, showing that 120 names had been added to the register during the past twelve months, and although there had been some inevitable losses during the year from death and lapse of subscription, there were now 698 resident members, viz.: 13 life members within the division, 130 honorary, 690 performing or company members, and 65 probationers. Five towers had come into union, and none had seceded. The performances during the same period were also detailed; the want of variety in the methods practised being pointed out, and the consequent prejudice to the position of the Association among other Societies. Special mention was made of the long peal at Debenham, which was claimed as the finest long-peal achievement in the annals of change-ringing, excelling the Mottram peal in the far greater weight of metal dealt with in its performance. The Hon. Secretary interrupted his reading of the report here in order to propose the toast of "the long-peal band," which was honoured with loud applause."

Mr. James Motts, the conductor of the peal, subsequently returned thanks, and explained how it came to pass that, owing to uncertainty up to the last moment almost as to the formation of the band, it was impossible to give previous notice of the attempt. But as the enterprise has been of almost annual occurrence for at least a dozen years past, there does not seem to be much room for criticism on this ground.

The adoption of the report having been moved by A. C. L. Back, Esq., seconded by Mr. George Day, the officers formally resigned, and were unanimously re-elected.

A resolution presented by the St. Mary-le-Tower Society, Ipswich, advocating the holding of Association meetings on a Saturday in future, was read by the Hon. Secretary, who having explained that, if such a course were adopted he would be unable to attend the meetings, as a rule, owing to the impossibility of getting home again the same day, it was moved by the Rev. C. F. Blyth, seconded by Mr. W. Ireland, and carried "That this meeting of the Association regrets that it cannot assent to the proposition."

Fakenham, Fressingfield and Aylsham having been fixed upon for the quarterly meetings in 1893, the election of new members was proceeded with. These included four honorary members, viz.: Archdeacon Gibson, Rev. J. C. Garnett, of Raveningham, Rev. J. E. Rogers, Vicar of Great Yarmouth, and Ambrose J. Palmer, Esq., of Haddiscoe; twenty-two performing members, and nine probationers. A vote of thanks to the President brought the business meeting to a close, and members proceeded once more to the several towers, till the hour of departure to their several homes terminated one of the most successful and cheering meetings of this Association ever held.

SOCIETY FOR THE ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD.

The autumn quarterly meeting of the above society was held at Tipton, on Saturday, September 24th. The bells were set going in good time in the afternoon, and before service at 5 o'clock touches were rung in Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob Major and Kent Treble Bob Major, besides a course of Forward Major. To the great regret of all the ringers who attended, the Vicar of Tipton, the Rev. A. A. Cory, an hon. member and warm supporter of the Society was, through illness, unable to be present. In his absence the service was conducted and the address given by the Rev. D. Jones, the clerical Hon. Sec. of the Society. At the subsequent committee meeting the printed annual report was distributed among the Committee-men present, and a copy of the excellent photograph taken at the annual meeting for presentation to the late Hon. Sec. and Hon. Treasurer was submitted for inspection. After the business of the Committee was concluded, an adjournment was made to the Schoolroom, where tea was served for about thirty.

Mr. T. W. Waring, of Tipton, an hon. member of the Society, presided, and was supported by Mr. Vincent Hughes, another hon. member and local supporter of the art.

In acknowledging a vote of thanks for so kindly presiding, Mr. Waring expressed his great regret at the Vicar's absence. He assured those present that they were heartily welcome to Tipton, and that he wished the society all success.

After tea the bells were again set going, and a touch of Kent Triple Bob Major was successfully brought round. A touch of Oxford was also attempted, but unfortunately it came to grief.

It was arranged to hold the next meeting at Christ Church, West Bromwich, on Saturday, January 14th, 1893. Members who wish for copies of the photo can obtain the same by sending their names to the Hon. Sec., Mr. S. Reeves, 10, Bull Street, West Bromwich. The price is 2s. 6d.

THE CHURCH BELLS OF BUCKINGHAMSHIRE. By ALFRED HENEAGE COCKS, M.A., Ch. Ch., Oxford; F.Z.S., F.R.G.S., Great Marlow, Bucks. With many illustrations.

MESSRS. JARROLD & SONS have pleasure in announcing the early publication by subscription of this most interesting and important work. It will contain an account of all the Church Bells in Buckinghamshire, with everything relating to their history that can be discovered. Full accounts of all the Founders whose bells hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County, including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. The work was undertaken at the instigation of the late J. C. L. Stahl Schmidt, Esq., author of "Surrey Bells and London Bell-founders," "The Church Bells of Kent," "Herts," etc.; and the fact that the author had the benefit of the kind assistance and advice of this well-known campanologist may be mentioned as some guarantee of the scope and nature of the present work. Mr. Stahl Schmidt wrote the author, that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting county," and he repeated this opinion in a subsequent letter. The "Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 600 pages, & be handsomely illustrated with 24 full-page plates of mediaeval letterings, founders' marks, etc., found on bells still existing in the County and numerous figures—some of them being peculiar to Bucks—will be inserted in the text. The 8vo. Edition is limited to 350 copies, and will be offered to subscribers before the day of publication at 25s. nett. The Larger Edition, Royal 4to, is limited to 80 copies, and will be subscribed at 45s. The prices will be raised on the day of issue should any copies remain unsold.

The Bell News &amp; Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1892.

At the annual meeting of the Norwich Diocesan Association, held at Norwich on the 27th ultimo, a report of which may be found on another page, the Honorary Secretary intimated that "one hundred and twenty names had been added to the register during the past twelve months. Five towers had joined the Association, and none had seceded."

These favorable items of intelligence were no doubt received by the assembled meeting with profound satisfaction. They are a proof of the great interest showed by the chief officer of the Association, and his unwearied efforts to promote the cause of ringing in the Eastern Counties.

In several quarters praiseworthy efforts are being made to extend the influence and operations of Ringers' Guilds. There is ample room in some cases for a more spirited executive, and the great association to which we have referred is an excellent example of what can be done by wisely-directed efforts in the way of extension and search for influential co-operation. Let some of our struggling societies take a leaf out of the book of the Honorary Secretary of the Norwich Association, and they will soon see a change for the better in their organisation. That all cannot be favored with such success we know too well, but much more may be done in several ways towards a greater recognition of ringing, by the co-operation of influential persons.

MACHYNLLETH, MONTGOMERYSHIRE.

DEDICATION OF THE PARISH CHURCH BELLS.—On Thursday, September 29th, a very interesting ceremony took place at the parish church, being the inauguration of a new peal of six bells, which have been placed there by Mrs. Howell as a memorial to her late husband, D. Howell, Esq., of Machynlleth and Aberdovey. The tower originally contained three bells, which according to the inscription were cast in 1745, but two of them have been cracked for some time past. The work was entrusted to Mr. James Barwell, Bell Founder, of Birmingham, who has carried it out in a very satisfactory manner. Two of the old bells have been recast, and three new ones added, and now constitute a very melodious peal, the new bells especially deserving mention, the workmanship and finish being all that could be desired, and the "go" of the whole peal as perfect as possible.

The dedication service took place at 3.30 in the afternoon (the day of the Harvest Thanksgiving Festival), the church being beautifully decorated, and a large congregation being present. The service consisted of a short form of prayer, litany, and Psalm xxix, after which the bells were dedicated by the Archdeacon of Merioneth (the Ven. W. Williams), and rung for about three minutes. Afterwards the hymn "Lift them gently to the steeple" was sung, then the Archdeacon delivered his charge, in which he chiefly referred to the Christian life of the late David Howell, Esq., the three great characteristics of whom were—great simplicity, sterling wisdom, and peacefulness. Hymn 242 A.&M.: "We love the place O God" was then sung, and the service was brought to a close with the Benediction.

The following is a copy of the Memorial Tablet erected in the church:—

IN MEMORIAM.

A Thank offering in memory of the honoured life of DAVID HOWELL, late of this Parish, this peal of six Bells has been completed and dedicated by his Widow, I.J.H. to the Glory of God and his Church, on the Festival of St. Michael and All Angels, 1892.—R.I.P.

A band of change-ringers from Welshpool were engaged for the opening ceremony, and after the dedication an attempt was made for a 720 Grandsire Minor, but was lost after ringing 15 mins., owing to an influx of visitors into the belfry. Afterwards several 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles, touches of Grandsire Minor, and Plain Bob were rung, and 168 of Grandsire Triples on the handbells. The bells were then lowered in peal and the ringers left by the 7 p.m. train, where a 168 of Grandsire Triples was rung on the platform. The following were the band. Rev. T. Hughes, F. P. Hughes, W. Jones, E. Thomas, T. Barnes, L. Gittins, T. J. Bratton (conductor), and Mr. E. Bray (late of the Hertfordshire Association), who is now residing in the neighbourhood, took part in several of the touches, and also the Triples on the handbells.

CAMBERWELL BATHS CLOCK.—The clock at these baths, which was made and fixed by J. W. Benson, of Ludgate Hill, shows the time on an opal glass dial 4 ft. diameter, which is illuminated by four electric lights; it is fitted with all the latest improvements.

"My Dear Doctor,—Allow me to express my sincere thanks for the skill and attention displayed in the construction of my Artificial Teeth, which render my mastication and articulation excellent. I am glad to hear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. In recognition of your valuable services, you are at liberty to use my name.—S. G. HUTCHINGS. By Appointment Surgeon-Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen."
 Geo. H. Jones, Esq., F.R.S.L., F.R.M.S.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has by his Perfected System of Dentistry demonstrated that Painless Dentistry is as much an accomplished fact as the swift locomotive, the electric light, or the telephone, and absolutely restores the natural contour caused by the loss of teeth, by the adjustment of Prize Medal dentals, rendering detection impossible, which obtained the Gold Medals of London, 1851; New York, 1853; London, 1862; Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; and Philadelphia, 1876.

DR. GEO. H. ## ANNUAL MEETING OF THE YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

[FROM OUR "EXTRA SPECIAL."]

The casual visitor to the typical old English village of Guiseley on Saturday last, October 8th, could not have failed to notice that something outside the regular order of things was in progress. The "red cross banner" floated on the tower of the ancient priory church of St. Oswald, while flags of various devices fluttered in the front of the Liberal Club and several other places in the quaint old town. Guiseley is most pleasantly situated at about equal distance from the two great manufacturing centres of Leeds and Bradford, midway between the celebrated Yorkshire vales of the Aire and the Wharfe. Within a few miles of it is the ancient market-town of Otley, with its Chevin—a great resort of holiday-makers—and its bold rugged scenery. Close at hand is the parish of Ilkley, with its wells, its rocks, its wealth of antiquarian relics; and (not least) its most intimate associations with the lamented chief, Jasper Whitfield Snowdon: and the famed Bolton Abbey in the near distance. Harrogate also, with its health-giving mineral springs, is but little further away. Thus it will readily be seen, even by those who have not had the good fortune of a visit to this neighbourhood, that it would have been geographically difficult to have found a place more wealthy in interesting and pleasant Associations wherein to hold the Annual Meeting of the Yorkshire Association.

When I arrived, shortly after noon, it seemed as if brother-strings had actually taken possession of the place. There were little knots of them at every turn, shaking hands warmly with each other, or engaged in pleasant converse together, asking after each other's welfare and the health of absent ones unable to join with them that day. It is always a pleasure to see how hearty and fraternal are the greetings of Yorkshire ringers at these annual meetings, and this spirit was considerably en evidence at Guiseley on Saturday last.

A band was ringing some Treble Bob Minor as I passed the church on my way to the school, and I thought to myself as I listened, that there could be no wonder Guiseley folks were so fond of their bells, whose pureness and sweetness of tone blended so well with the peaceful rural surroundings. Arriving at the school I found the officers busily engaged receiving subscriptions and issuing the Annual Report, as well as the Central Council Committee's Report on bells and belfries to quite a crowd of members, while the local committee were likewise fully occupied with their duties.

At half-past three the Bradford parish church company commenced ringing a touch of Stedman Triples, composed for the occasion by Thomas Pollitt, and conducted by J. H. Hardcastle, the striking of which was highly creditable to the band. The service, timed for four o'clock, was a little late in starting, and commenced with the hymn "Onward Christian Soldiers." The shortened form of Evening Prayer was used, with Psalms cxlix. and cl., and the special lesson, Exodus xxviii., commencing at the thirtieth verse. The hymn "Hark, hark my soul," took the place of the anthem, and at the end of the service the Rev. C. H. King, A.K.C., vicar of St. James, Bolton, ascended the pulpit and preached the Annual Association sermon.

The preacher took for his text a portion of the special lesson of the day—Exodus xxviii. 33, 34, 35. "And beneath upon the hem of it thou shalt make pomegranates of blue, and of purple, and of scarlet, round about the hem thereof; and bells of gold between them round about; a golden bell and a pomegranate, upon the hem of the robe round about. And it shall be upon Aaron to minister; and his sound shall be heard when he goeth into the holy place before the Lord, and when he cometh out that he die not." Commencing with an observation regarding the paucity of actual references to bells in Holy Writ, he spoke of the ancient usage of the bell or gong both in Christian and Mohammedan countries. The universality of this mode of summoning the faithful to prayer was a matter of historical fact. And more than this, the duty was ever regarded as of so much importance that men were specially trained and set apart for this work. These men were regarded as officers of the sanctuary, and formed part and parcel of its internal economy (so to speak). After an interesting description of the observance in this direction amongst the Mohammedans, the preacher traced his subject down through successive ages to the present time. A quarter of a century ago, he said, the condition of bells, belfries, and ringers was a positive scandal and disgrace to the Church of our country. England has long been known as the land of bell-ringing; but what was the actual state of affairs in our Church towers so lately as twenty or twenty-five years ago? Belfries too often were mere dust-holes, receptacles for rubbish, places abandoned to the dust and rubbish of generations. The bells themselves were in like manner neglected, and their fittings allowed to go to rack and ruin. So also with the ringers. As the instruments they used were regarded with so small a value, the ringers shared in the general neglect. At the same time, it could not be disputed, the conduct of the ringers of that day was the reverse of what it ought to have been. They rang for their own amusement, with no conception of their duties and responsibilities as officers of the Church whose bells they rang; and when they finished their ringing they turned their backs to both church and tower, as though their connection with both had ceased for the time being. Their social status, besides, had sunk so low that it became a word of reproach to a man for it to be said of him that he was a ringer or a frequenter of belfries. Thus it seemed, that instead of making determined effort to rise above this contemptuous treatment, the ringer was content to drift lower and lower down the social scale, and at length was not considered fit to be classed even amongst the "hewers of wood and drawers of water." And it was astonishing that the delicate and intricate science of change-ringing had survived through all this. But the dawn came at last, though the night had been long and dreary. There arose throughout the Church of our land a keener sense of the duties and obligations of those who bore the name of the Lord Jesus, and worshipped in His sanctuary; and with this arising of a quickening spirit in the Church itself came the belfry reformation. Eighteen years ago, the Yorkshire Association was established for the purpose of advancing the true and lasting interest of change-ringing, as a science on the one hand, and as a branch of Church work on the other. This was the dawn, and soon the pale tremulous morning rays developed into the bright and shining sunlight which shed its warmth and its lustre around. Each succeeding year saw this Association extending its borders, strengthening its influence and its inherent power for good; till now, eight hundred members—the flower, if not indeed the whole bulk, of the ringers of our county—are inscribed upon its books. But not in Yorkshire only had the revival of the past quarter of a century been manifest. Throughout the whole country it had spread, till now, he believed, there was not a county or a diocese without its organisation having similar aims to their own. This was a transition very pleasing to reflect upon. But at the same time he must say frankly, that although so much had been already accomplished by the associations—considerably more, very probably, than what had ever been dared to hope for by their founders—yet much remained undone. Ringers had yet to be instilled with an adequate sense of their duties and responsibilities as officers of the church. Aaron wore the bells on his robe—why? Because of his office in the church; and so, he contended, would the good work taken in hand by the ringers' association of our county not be accomplished till every individual ringer realised that he was an officer of the Church, and a co-worker with his Vicar, with the choir, with the churchwardens, and with all who took each their own individual part in the ordering and performance of the worship of their Heavenly Father. The vast improvement in the general conduct, social status, and outward life of ringers of to-day was as different as sunshine to darkness of twenty years ago. If the Associations had accomplished, or attempted to accomplish, only that, they had fully demonstrated their worth, and the need for their establishment. But there was something more than this—the raising still higher, and still nearer, that true position of active Church officers which should be attained by all ringers. Their duty primarily was to summon the people to prayer and praise. When they had performed their part; the priest was in his "accustomed place" in church ready to commence his part—and tell the people of the blessings of the Gospel of Christ. The ringer, then, was peculiarly the inviter of the church to the people; and he (the preacher) asked them in all seriousness if they were acting true to their profession, if they did not themselves accept that invitation which on behalf of the church, they extended to others. They should have in their churches not only seats for the ringers, but ringers for the seats. And the preacher concluded an excellent sermon with an eloquent exhortation to the members to be true to their principles, their faith, and their church; not to neglect those means of grace which the church had so abundantly provided for all who desired the salvation of their souls; but remembering the apostolic injunction, "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with all thy might," whether it was in their ringing, in their daily life, or in the meek and humble efforts to so pass through this life that they might obtain life everlasting; and be greeted by their Almighty Father with the blessed words—"Come, good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joy of the Lord."

The singing of the venerable Old Hundredth followed; the service closing with the Benediction, and as the congregation left, the ringers of St. James, Bolton, rang a touch of Triples in compliment to their respected vicar, whose sermon they, in company with the whole congregation, had listened to with so much interest and pleasure.

The next movement was towards the school, where tea was waiting to be served, here was soon a great crush; but by dint of energy on the part of the local committee and their willing helpers on the one side, and good humour on the other, all were eventually provided with a most excellent meat tea. The tables, I should add, were likewise beautifully and profusely decorated with plants and flowers, which gave the schoolroom a most pleasing appearance.

Immediately after tea, the annual business meeting was held in the adjoining central schoolroom; Mr. William Snowdon (President) in the chair; along with him being the Rev. Edmund Thomas, M.A., Rector of Guiseley, the Rev. Curate, most of the officers, and a large assembly of members.

The President, in opening the proceedings, referred briefly to the most pleasant afternoon they had been privileged to spend in Guiseley, so far; and after apologizing for the absence of the Rev. C. H. King, who had been obliged to return home, read the minutes of the previous meeting, which were adopted.

The annual report of the committee and the treasurer's balance-sheet next came up for consideration. The former stated that "never before have we been able to report more satisfactory progress than that to which it is our privilege now to refer." "The total number of members last year was 742, made up of 28 honorary and 714 ringing members. During the year, 4 honorary and 75 ringing members have been elected, but on the other hand we have lost 11 members by death, whilst 13 names have been erased for non-payment of last year's subscription. In the now opening year we have therefore 32 honorary, and 765 ringing members, making a total of 797 names on the Association's books. During the year, 72 peals have been rung, which is far in excess of the largest number accomplished by the Association, and indeed, with possibly one exception, by any society in that period. Our previous "record" year was that of 1881-2, in which 55 peals were rung at 17 churches. But, as this year's peals have been credited to 33 churches, and as the greatest number of towers over which a previous year's work has been spread is 28, it follows that we have beaten the previous record, both in the number of peals and in the towers contributing them." But "although so many peals have been rung this year, it is noteworthy that such towers as York, Rotherham, Wakefield, Birstall, Otley, All Saints Sheffield, Halifax parish church, Skipton, Tong, and many others, have not swelled the total; proving that the Association has not put forth its full strength." The treasurer's balance-sheet shewed that the income of the Association for the past year had been £34 5s. 1d., which had well covered the expenditure. On capital account, £200 were invested with the Leeds Corporation, which with £3 19s. 2d. in the Leeds Provincial Building Society brought up the reserve fund to £203 19s. 2d.

On the motion of Mr. J. Yeadon, seconded by Mr. Baldwin, the report and balance-sheet were adopted.

Mr. D. Yorke proposed a vote of thanks to the auditors and returning officers, the general officers and committee, and the Central Council delegates, which Mr. F. Woodhead seconded, and it was carried.

No invitations for the place to hold the February meeting being forthcoming, the selection was left in the hands of the Committee, according to rule.

The President moved, and Mr. W. H. Howard seconded, a vote of thanks to the Rev. C. H. King for his most excellent sermon, also to the organist and choir for their assistance at the service. This was carried with much applause.

The election of officers was the next item on the agenda paper, whereupon the President announced that for the posts of vice-president and hon. secretary no new nominations had been received. The retiring officers, Messrs. G. Bolland and B. T. Copley, were thus re-elected. For the office of Steward, Messrs. J. H. Hardcastle (retiring steward), and G. A. O. Nettleton were proposed. For the three seats on the committee there were six candidates, Messrs. Haigh and Jackson (retiring members), T. Clark, Frank Prince, J. A. Ross, and J. Yeadon. The report of the returning officers (Messrs. James Baldwin and John Wootton), shewed the voting to have resulted in the re-election of Mr. J. H. Hardcastle as Steward; and of Messrs. C. Jackson, T. Clark, and T. Haigh, as Committee-men.

A motion respecting railway fares of the Hon. Treasurer and Hon. Secretary, of which notice had been previously given, was carried unanimously.

A vote of thanks to the rector and churchwardens of Guiseley for the use of the bells, church, and school, was carried most heartily.

The Rev. Edmund Thomas, M.A., rector, in replying to the vote, spoke briefly of the pleasure which the visit of the Yorkshire Association had given to himself and the wardens, assuring the members of their sincere desire for the success of their society.

Mr. Thomas Lockwood submitted a vote of thanks to the Guiseley branch for their generous arrangements, and to the ladies who had kindly assisted at tea.

Mr. James Angus seconded, and Mr. W. Elliott supported the proposition, which was carried amid loud cheers, and responded to by Mr. Yeadon.

A similar compliment was paid to the Chairman, after which the meeting terminated.

WAKEFIELD CATHEDRAL BELLS.

The two bells which have been recently added to the Cathedral peal through the generosity of Mr. Martin Stewart and Mr. Alderman Watson, will shortly be formally dedicated by the Ven. Archdeacon Donne, M.A., vicar. The new bells, which have already been tested, possess a splendid tone and will add to the reputation Wakefield justly holds in respect to her church bells; indeed, a gentleman capable of judging informs us that the Cathedral peal is now one of the finest in Yorkshire. Each of the new bells bears a suitable inscription, that given by Dr. Watson having also the words "Adeste Fideles" engraved upon it. We may mention that on Monday week, for practice, 720 Bob Mino (eighteen bobs and two singles) was rung on the middle six bells of the Cathedral by Messrs. Geo. Buckley, 1; Tom Mars, 2; J. W. Moorhouse, 3; Albert Scott, 4; J. T. Hollis (conductor), 5; and J. E. Hartley, 6. The first 720 ever rung on six bells by all except the conductor, although greater lengths of grandsire triples and caters have been achieved by these persevering young men, who have only been practising about twelve months under the tuition of Messrs. J. T. Hollis and T. Ormond.—Wakefield Express.

THE CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

The Fifteenth quarterly meeting of the Macclesfield branch of the above Guild was held at Prestbury on Saturday, October 8th. The weather was most wretched and miserable, and seriously affected the attendance, as Macclesfield and Prestbury were the only places represented. A little ringing was indulged in prior to the usual tea, and afterwards a 504 of Grandsire Triples were rung by W. Matthews, 1; J. Minshull, 2; A. L. May, 3; S. Smith, 4; A. Bowers, 5; J. D. Wheeldon, 6; W. Walmsley (conductor) 7; W. Gayes, 8. Tenor 18½ cwt. in F. The next meeting was arranged for Macclesfield on January 14th, 1893.

HEREFORD CATHEDRAL BELLS.

To write the history of the Hereford Cathedral bells—or even to give a sketch record of the splendid peal which now so merrily clangs in the massive tower—it would be necessary to go back to a date somewhere about three hundred or more years ago. It is not intended here to trace that history at great length. A few words on the recent and important improvements which have been effected and on the re-opening of the bells after re-hanging, which took place on Tuesday, October 4th, may, however, be interesting. The bells are ten in number—"We were made ten in the year 1697," says one of the inscriptions—and the tenor is C sharp. The 8th and 5th are comparatively modern, and the old treble, which was out of tune, has just been recast; the remainder are old, some being undated. The peal is generally considered as being among the finest in the country. It is some time now since the peal has given voice to the best advantage, the old treble bell, as stated above, being out of tune, and the hanging apparatus generally being in a bad state. To many who loved to listen to their "molten-golden notes," this was a cause of much regret. Consequently about three months ago, practical steps were taken to restore the bells and belfry to a satisfactory condition, and Messrs. Blackbourn and Greenleaf, of Salisbury, were entrusted with the work, the cost being upwards of £200. All the bells have been re-hung, the treble bell re-cast, and the whole of the framework strengthened. Improvements have also been carried out in the ringing-chamber. The chamber itself, unfortunately, is too near the bells, the noise from which makes it almost impossible for the ringers to hear the conductor's instructions, while the upper floor is extremely low, and the ringers themselves have been up to the present partially hidden from each other by the large oak supports. The old oak uprights have now been substituted by comparatively small iron columns. The proximity of the bells, however, is still a source of inconvenience, rendering change-ringing difficult, and it has been suggested that this might be obviated to some extent if the under flooring were lowered.

What was termed the re-opening of the bells, which of course have been silent during the repairs, took place on Tuesday, the proceedings lasting the greater part of the day. In the morning, directly after the clock had chimed eight, a touch was given by the Cathedral ringers. At ten o'clock there was the usual morning service. The congregation was not large. Among the clergy in attendance were the Dean, the Rev. G. M. Custance (vicar of Colwall), Canon Phillott, Canon Palmer, and Prebendary Baldwyn Childe. The preacher was the Rev. G. M. Custance, who is Master of the Hereford Guild of Church Bellringers, and he founded an appropriate sermon on the words, "I will raise up the tabernacle of David that is fallen, and close up the breaches thereof; and I will raise up his ruins, and I will build it as in the days of old" (Amos ix., 11). He dwelt at length on the unchangableness of God's Word, and on the immutability of His counsel and His will in the work of restoration. Let them, he said, look at the creation of the world, at the restoration of the earth after the great flood, at the restoration of the Jewish people who were brought out of bitter and degrading slavery unto immense power, at the restoration which was yearly manifested by nature herself. The tabernacle of David had now been raised up; and they who formed part of that tabernacle, having been restored, had the unspeakable privilege, as well as the great responsibility, of being, from their very position, co-workers with the Almighty in the work of restoration. Where could they find a more lively proof of God's power of restoration than in that noble building (the Cathedral)? Think for a moment—those who knew ecclesiastical history—what vicissitudes that Cathedral had experienced, think of the terrible conflicts she had witnessed—national, theological and ecclesiastical; but God, with His restorative power and His infinite goodness, true to His Almighty Word, had kept them safe. And the work of restoration in God's Catholic Church in England was still going on, this being specially shown by the marvellous progress which had been made in the Church, during the last few years. Their efforts should still be to go on building up the Church of God, and endeavouring to add to the dignity of worship, seeking to be co-workers with God in His glorious work of restoration. Once more, he was pleased to tell them, the noble peal of bells in the Cathedral tower had been restored to a perfect condition. Surely the bells formed a very important item in adding dignity to the worship of God. The bells! How they linked the past with the present! How many were there now sleeping in Jesus who had been rejoiced in that city by the sound of the Cathedral bells calling them together for public worship! It might be said, in the words of St. Paul, that the bells rejoiced with those who rejoiced, and wept with those who wept. It was a cause for much rejoicing, then, to think that the Cathedral peal had been once more placed in a proper condition for ringing. A work of restoration had been carried out. That day the alms of the congregation were asked towards the Hereford Diocesan Guild of Church Bellringers. He would urge them to help in the restoration of that noble art, campanology; so that the ringers might be able to skilfully and intellectually handle the bells which were ready to be rung, not in the Cathedral tower alone, but in the churches throughout the diocese. In restoring the noble art the ringers themselves were also restored. They wanted to improve the men as well as the art. And how were they to improve the men? The answer was by improving their position, by letting them see that they were men of importance, and by recognizing them as church officers as much as the organist and the choir. It was indeed a work of restoration, and he would ask them—if he had been secretary of the Guild for some few years and knew that money was really required—to give liberally towards the object to which their offerings would be devoted, believing, as he said, that it was a work for God and a work which was for the glory and honour of that God Whose one great and perfect work was restoration. At the close of the service a collection in aid of the Guild was made.

It was intended during the afternoon to ring a peal of Stedman Caters, but owing to the difficulties already alluded to, the several attempts only ended in touches. In the evening the ringers tried again, only ringing 4,700 changes, and then, unfortunately, although so near the end, again broke down. The following were the band: F. Musty (Cheltenham), 1; G. H. Phillott (Cheltenham), 2; F. E. Ward (Cheltenham), 3; W. W. Gifford (Salisbury), 4; A. Roberts (Cheltenham), 6; Rev. F. E. Robinson (Drayton, Berks), 7; Rev. C. D. P. Davies (Brighton), 7; W. Pates (Cheltenham, conductor), 8; Rev. G. F. Coleridge (Reading), 9; W. Greenleaf and —. Humphries, 10.

In the evening the ringers were entertained to dinner at the Spread Eagle hotel by the Dean and Chapter. Canon Palmer presided.

On Wednesday, a further attempt to ring the peal also proved futile. It is understood, however, that the ringers have expressed their determination to still ring the peal. Most likely, then, at some future date they will pay another visit to the Cathedral tower.—Hereford Times.

THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

ROCHDALE BRANCH.—On Saturday, October 8th, the monthly meeting of the above was held at Heywood parish church, when only a few members put in an attendance. A meeting was held in the tower, the Rev. —. Jelly in the chair. Three new members was elected, including the Rev. —. Jelly as a Life Member, and two performing members. The next meeting was decided on being held at Rochdale parish church on November 5th. Grand-sire Triples, and Plain Bob Triples, and Minor was rung on the bells.

BAYDON, NORTH WILTS.

The ancient and interesting parish church here has been, during the present and past years, undergoing considerable restoration, the Right Hon. Baroness Burdett-Coutts having determined to place the fabric in a sound condition throughout. The first portion undertaken was the tower, and the usual contents, viz.: bells, the whole of the timbers, even to the massive roof beams, were removed, and sound old English oak inserted, a new frame being made, the ancient bells being rehung by a well-known firm of bell-hangers from Salisbury, Messrs. Blackbourn and Greenleaf. The decayed roof has quite recently been removed from the nave, and the contractor for the entire works, Mr. W. Lawrence, of Aldbourne, is now engaged in renewing the same, divine Service being meanwhile held in the National Schools. A. Reeve, Esq., of London, is the architect.

DEDICATION OF A NEW PEAL OF BELLS AT BOLSTERSTONE, YORKS.

The memory of a good man is not so fleeting a quantity as Shakespeare would have the world believe. The good work done by the Rev. John Bell, M.A., who was incumbent of Bolsterstone from 1848 to 1862, and whose death took place in January of the present year, is still held in loving remembrance by the people of the hilly region which forms the Yorkshire border-land to the south-west. "Many of his former pupils, friends, and parishioners cherish the memory of one who was 'a man full of faith and good works,'" to quote from a printed account of the proceedings connected with the movement for placing a peal of bells in the tower of Bolsterstone church, as a memorial of their late pastor. At a meeting held last February with this object in view, subscriptions amounting to over £110 were promised, and subsequently, by the help of a hard-working body of parishioners who formed themselves into a committee, the sum of £585 was obtained from members of the late Mr. Bell's flock, his friends, and former pupils. Between 800 and 900 people subscribed to the fund, in sums varying from 2d. to £25, and a peal of eight bells were obtained from Messrs. Taylor and Sons, of Loughborough.

The bells were brought up to Bolsterstone from the valley in May, when the proceedings took the nature of a triumphal procession, each of the horses and nine drays which carried the bells being decked out bravely with ribbons. Since that time the bells have been safely placed in the church tower. They have a rich musical tone, and when rung on Saturday, were the theme of general admiration in Deepcar, Stocksbridge, and the immediate vicinity of Bolsterstone. They swing at a height of more than a thousand feet above the level of the sea, and their voices will be heard far over the desolate moorland hills which surround the picturesque Ewden valley. The village of Bolsterstone crowns the summit of the Waldershelf hill, and looks down into the quiet valley of the Ewden, which has an interest of its own in the eyes of most Sheffielders on account of the powers which have been obtained by the Town Council for the making of a reservoir. The spot upon which the church has been erected is 980 feet above sea level, and the cluster of neat houses which forms the village, is one of the loftiest in England. The old bell, which was in use for 154 years, has been rehung, and retains its place in the tower, so that an ancient and useful servant has not been discarded. The money subscribed for the Bell memorial was found to be more than sufficient for the purpose, and accordingly a handsome new oak screen was purchased with part of the funds which has been subscribed and placed in the tower arch. A new font of Mansfield stone has also been given to the church. Through the kind assistance rendered by the patron of the living, Mr. Rimington Wilson, a new clock with two dials has been placed in the church tower. A great portion of the carving of the screen was executed by Miss Sharpe, of Townend House, Bolsterstone, and the beautiful hangings at the east end of the building were the work of her mother, Mrs. Sharpe. A silent ringing apparatus has been fixed to the bells, so that the ringers are able to practise without annoyance. A band of bell ringers has been formed under the captaincy of Mr. David Brearley, an old Bradford ringer. They were rung on Saturday by six ringers from Sheffield parish church, with Messrs. Arthur and David Brearley.

There was a large assembly of people from Bolsterstone and the surrounding neighbourhood on Saturday, the day fixed for the consecration of the bells by his Grace the Archbishop of York. The houses in the village were decked out with flags, the tricolour being very much in evidence, and Union Jacks floated from the church tower and the residence of Mr. C. Macro Wilson. When the time appointed for commencing the service arrived the handsome church was completely filled with people. It was found to be impossible to accommodate so great a throng, and an overflow service took place in the churchyard, the Deepcar and Stockbridge choirs leading the singing, and the Revs. T. Houghton, M. C. Wells, and C. M. Potts conducting the service.

A procession was formed, consisting of the band, the bell committee, the Stockbridge and Deepcar choirs, the Bolsterstone choir, the clergy, the churchwardens, the Archbishop and the Rev. Canon Favell, who officiated as his chaplain. The form of service used was shortened evensong, beginning with the Lord's

Prayer, one Psalm (the 84th), one lesson, and ending at the third collect. The 395th him, commencing "O word of God above," was also sung. The service was choral, and was marked by great heartiness. The hymn having been finished, the choir, clergy, and Archbishop formed in procession and walked to the tower, where the dedication ceremony was to take place. The opening collect was read by his Grace. The churchwardens taking the bell ropes requested the Archbishop to dedicate the bells to the glory of God and the use of his Church. On receiving the ropes the Archbishop declared the bells to be solemnly set apart and separate from all profane and unhallowed uses, and dedicated them "to the glory of God and the benefit of His holy Church." Delivering the ropes to the vicar he then said: "Receive these bells as a sacred trust, committed unto thee as the appointed minister of Christ in this church and parish, and take heed that they be ever and only used in His service and for His glory." To the churchwardens and those standing within the tower his Grace repeated these words: "You are to take notice that these bells of the church are committed to the custody of the vicar of the parish, to be used only with his consent, subject to the ultimate control of the bishop of the diocese." The ceremony being completed the bells were chimed for a few minutes. The procession having returned, a number of prayers, bearing upon the ceremony, asking that all who were called by the bells to church might hear God's loving invitation; that those who were hindered by sorrow, sickness, or other adversity from assembling together for the worship of God might be reminded by the bells of the prayers of the Church, and that all they who heard the passing bell might be warned to prepare for the time when they, too, shall depart from this life, were repeated by the Archbishop. The hymn

Lifted high within the steeple,
Now our bells are set on high,
To begin their holy mission,
Midway 'twixt the earth and sky.

was sung with extreme heartiness by the congregation.

The Archbishop's sermon was preached from 1 Peter iv. 10; "As every man hath received the gift even so minister the same one to another as good stewards of the manifold grace of God."

The service terminated with the singing of the hymn commencing "The Church's one Foundation."

Immediately after service the opening company rang a short touch to oblige Mr. J. W. Taylor, sen., who wished to have a pull. The church was then cleared, and a start was made for a peal of Treble Bob Major which was successfully brought round in 3 hrs. 5 mins., a record of which appeared in last week's issue. This brought to a happy conclusion a day that will be long remembered in the annals of Bolsterstone.

THE SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

EASTERN DIVISION.—A district meeting of the above Division was held at Southover, Lewes, on Saturday, October 8th. Members attended from Angmering, Brighton (S. Peter and S. Nicholas), Eastbourne, Lindfield, Seaport and Waldron, besides the local band. Ringing commenced about 2 p.m. and was continued till 3.30 p.m. when a short special service was held at which the rector (Rev. E. J. Richardson) gave an address from the chancel steps. After service an adjournment was made to the Mission Room, in Eastport-lane, where a capital meat tea was awaiting; kindly provided by the rector. Having satisfied the cravings of nature, the business was next taken in hand. This was not of a very lengthy description. Waldon was the place selected for the next meeting. Five active members were also elected. A vote of thanks to the rector for his kindness to the association was carried with acclamation, and that gentleman having replied, the meeting terminated. The tower was again visited and the bells kept going till 8 o'clock. During the day touches of Stedman and Grandsire Triples, Bob Minor and Grandsire Doubles were rung.

THE CHURCH BELLS OF BUCKINGHAMSHIRE. By ALFRED HENEAGE COCKS, M.A., Ch. Ch., Oxford; F.Z.S., F.R.G.S., Great Marlborough, Bucks. With many Illustrations.

MESSRS. JARROLD & SONS have pleasure in announcing the early publication by subscription of this most interesting and important work. It will contain an account of all the Church Bells in Buckinghamshire, with everything relating to their history that can be discovered. Full accounts of all the Founders whose bells hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County, including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. The work was undertaken at the instigation of the late J. C. L. Stahlischmidt, Esq., author of "Surrey Bells and London Bell-founders," "The Church Bells of Kent," "Herts," etc.; and the fact that the author had the benefit of the kind assistance and advice of this well-known campanologist may be mentioned as some guarantee of the scope and nature of the present work. Mr. Stahlischmidt wrote the author, that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting county," and he repeated this opinion in a subsequent letter. The "Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 600 pages, & be handsomely illustrated with 24 full-page plates of mediaeval letterings, founders' marks, etc., found on bells still existing in the County and numerous figures—some of them being peculiar to Bucks—will be inserted in the text. The 8vo. Edition is limited to 350 copies, and will be offered to subscribers before the day of publication at 21s. nett. The Larger Edition, Royal 4to, is limited to 80 copies, and will be subscribed at 42s. The prices will be raised on the day of issue should any copies remain unsold.

HOW TO MAINTAIN LIFE WITHOUT WORRY.—One of the great problems of this life is how to secure the largest measure of content to ourselves and the future happiness of our survivors, and in a brochure recently published by an eminent medical specialist, interesting figures were given showing the higher rates of longevity in those cases in which the subject had made the present and future by discreet insurance secure from poverty and misery. The notion carries conviction on the face of it; for what can more effectually reduce vital energy than continuous worry and anxiety and dread of calamity and want? Whilst on the contrary, as to the prudence and providence of the thrifty policy-holder, what can be more conducive to health and strength than the satisfaction born of the consciousness that he and his are fortified against a fell invader—poverty. To neglect insurance is to court care and all its concomitant evils; to adopt it is to feel that a duty has been done; the sequence—tranquility, happiness, contentment. We have much pleasure in commending this subject to the serious consideration of our readers, and we would draw their attention to the advantages offered to them by the British Workman's and General Assurance Company Limited, Broad Street Corner, Birmingham, in which every description of life assurance may be effected. This excellent office has made itself prominent since its foundation in 1866, in settlement of claims; and notwithstanding the exceptionally heavy contribution to epidemic under which it has been placed within the last few years, it has shown a decided onward march in its financial career, whilst thousands of families have been seasonably and promptly relieved by its agency in the hour of need. We find that in its paying out department the office has parted with no less a sum than One Million Pounds; and, with a present annual income exceeding £300,000, a thorough economy in its administration; and a widespread reputation, we feel sure that intending assurers will find that they have acted wisely and well in selecting an office so deserving of confidence.

Ringers' Outings.

ASHBY-DE-LA-ZOUCH.—The Parish Church Society, through the kindness of the Right Hon. Earl Ferrers, held their annual picnic on Wednesday, September 14th, at Staunton Harrold. The party were joined by a few friends from Burton-on-Trent, and after a very pleasant drive and several touches on the bells in the private chapel, were conducted through the gardens and grounds by Mr. Holder (head gardener). Tea was provided at the Saracen's Head, Heath End, the Rev. Canon Denton, occupying the chair, and Mr. Alderman German, (churchwarden) the vice-chair. After tea the chairman proposed a very hearty vote of thanks to his Lordship for his kind permission to hold the picnic in his grounds, which was seconded by Mr. Howe (hon. sec.), and duly acknowledged by the vice-chairman (his lordship's agent). Mr. C. Matthews, the senior churchwarden, was unavoidably absent. After tea a move was made to the hall, and the visitors were allowed to inspect the beautiful collection of curiosities with which the entrance hall is filled, amongst which is a grand specimen of one of the famous Chartley herd of wild cattle, which stands opposite the entrance. After visiting the belfry, and there fixing a board to commemorate the peal rung by this society in March 1889, the bells were lowered, and a short stay was made at the Saracen's Head, where the hand-bells were rung and songs rendered by several of the company. The return journey was commenced, and a very pleasant day was thus brought to an end.

THE ST. PETER'S SOCIETY, TUNBRIDGE WELLS.—This society had their annual outing on Thursday, September 15th. The party met at the South Eastern Railway station at 7 o'clock. Hastings was the place selected, which was reached at 8 o'clock. Application had been made for a ring at Bexhill, but the party were sorry to learn from the rector that they could not have the bells, and as no ringing could be done some time was spent on the water, and visiting the various places of interest. At one o'clock all met for dinner at Miller's, in the Queens-road. After dinner, arrangements were made by the captain, Mr. J. Latter, for a break, and at 2.30 a start was made for Battle. During the drive the handbells were brought into service, some Stedman Triples were rung, and Grandsire Triples, double-handed, and a few lively airs and songs were indulged in. Battle was reached at 4.15, the party being met by Mr. Mathis the steeple-keeper, and no time was lost in making way for the church. After taking a good view from the tower, a 504 of Grandsire Triples was successfully brought round by the conductor, W. Latter, also a plain course of Oxford Bob Triples. Owing to a service being held further ringing had to be adjourned, and a start was again made for Hastings by another road. The return journey started at 9, and some touches of Grandsire Triples were rung on the handbells, the train arriving at Tunbridge Wells about 10. The ringers wish to thank the Dean of Battle for the use of the bells, likewise Mr. Mathis for his kindness.

VISIT TO TUNBRIDGE WELLS AND TONBRIDGE.—On Saturday, October 1st, Messrs. Newson, Jacob, Wilkins, Cheesman, and Foskett met at Cannon Street Station intending to leave by the 12.48 p.m. train, which however did not start till ten minutes later, for Tunbridge Wells, and after experiencing the pleasures of an express which stopped between the stations, they arrived at their destination half an hour late. A brisk walk brought them to the church of St. Peter, where they found the Messrs. Card (2) and Maynard waiting, and all in readiness. At 2.46 "go" was called for a peal of Double Norwich Court Major, and at 5.43 the bells were brought home in excellent style, being the first peal in the method on the bells. The band at once hastened back to the station, and after waiting fifteen minutes returned by train to Tonbridge, where another ten minutes was spent in the train before they were permitted to land. All haste was made to the church of SS. Peter and Paul, when at 6.55 a second peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major was attempted, and at 10.0 p.m. the welcome "that's all" was heard, indicating the finish of a second well-struck peal. This was the first peal in the method upon the bells. The members from London were compelled to hasten immediately to catch the last train for Cannon Street, where they safely arrived, well pleased with their short but most successful outing.

 "My Dear Doctor.—Allow me to express my sincere thanks for the skill and attention displayed in the construction of my Artificial Teeth, which render my mastication and articulation excellent. I am glad to hear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. In recognition of your valuable services, you are at liberty to use my name.—S. G. HUTCHINGS. By Appointment Surgeon-Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen."

DR. GEO. H. ## RINGING TOUR IN DEVON.

"MAITLAND KELLY writes about a ringing week in Devon in the autumn—how say you? will you see to it? Yours, etc., F. E. Robinson. Drayton, Berks., April 29th, 1892." Such was a post-card received by the Rev. G. F. Coleridge at Caversham on the day following; a letter from Mr. Ferris Shepherd, of Exeter, arriving some days later, and commencing: "for the sake of honest Devon, I hope you will come and give us a fillip," settled the business, and a "week in the West" was in a fair way towards becoming an accomplished fact. A correspondence ensued, extremely profitable to the post office, no less than 160 letters and postcards being written in arranging the matter. To Mr. Coleridge was deputed the task of getting together a band, while Mr. Kelly, the Devon Secretary, undertook the far more difficult task of providing hospitality at the various towns and villages contemplated in the tour.

All preliminaries being settled, Monday, October 11th, saw the Revs. G. F. Coleridge and W. S. Willett on the Exeter platform, in waiting to welcome the chosen band; these were shortly joined by Mr. H. G. Fruin, of Plymouth, the down express bringing in the Rev. F. E. Robinson from Drayton, J. W. Taylor from Loughborough, J. W. Washbrook from Oxford, and W. W. Gifford from Salisbury; a few minutes later the "Cornishman" deposited the brothers Pitstow from Saffron Walden, and the party of nine was complete. Mr. Hounslow of Oxford, and Mr. Blackburn of Salisbury hoped to be present, but to the general regret of all found themselves unable to come. Punctually at the appointed hour St. David's church was reached, and the band welcomed by Mr. C. Pearson, author of "How to learn Change-ringing without an Instructor," "The Church Bells of Devon," etc., Mr. F. Shepherd, who had spent several hours in seeing that all was in good order overhead, Messrs. Moss, Davey, and others. A peal of Superlative Surprise was rung in 3 hrs. 12 mins., the first in the method in the county, the ringers being heartily congratulated on descending the tower by the local men, who accompanied them to the station en route for Ottery St. Mary. Here the Rev. G. E. F. Molineux, Vicar of Harpford, met the band, and conducted them to the Vicarage, Mr. Kelly (the Vicar) being in the tower with his own men to welcome the visitors with the honour it was desired to accord them. Supper being finished, the men were conducted to their billets for the night, some sleeping at the vicarage, one at Salston, one at the manor-house, one at the schoolmaster's, while other kind friends provided for the remainder. Breakfast at the vicarage being over, the splendid old collegiate church was examined, and needless to add, loudly extolled, its fair proportions and splendid transeptal towers impressing all who saw them for the first time. The south tower has been beautifully decorated with mosaics, etc., in memory of the late Right Hon. Sir John T. Coleridge, by his son, the present Lord Chief Justice, whose seat adjoins the church, while just raised above the level of the belfry floor there is a beautiful recumbent effigy of the late Lady Coleridge, in purest marble. In the midst of these beautiful surroundings, a splendid peal of Stedman Triples was tapped off, with the Rev. F. E. Robinson at the helm—the first in the method on the bells. Loud were the praises of those assembled in the churchyard, clergy and ringers from neighbouring parishes being present in force, several noted round ringers amongst them who had come to decry "the scientific," as it is called in these parts, but compelled to admit that round-ringing was not to be compared with what they had heard, one noted judge at prize-ringing contests confessing to Mr. Gifford that "he couldn't prick a fault." Luncheon at the vicarage followed, when a break, very kindly provided by Mr. Kelly, took the ringers to Sowton over the West Hill, whence a magnificent view of the Dartmoor range was obtained, with an extensive panorama of hill and dale. Pulling up at the churchyard gate, the travellers were welcomed by the Vicar, with a large basket of apples in his hand—the said basket, three parts empty, may be seen in a photo of the group taken at the time by Mr. Cheese, of Exeter, an amateur who kindly had come over specially with a friend to take the group. A peal of Double Norwich, with the 4th, 5th, and 6th successively in 6th's place, the first in the method in the county, was skilfully piloted by Mr. Taylor, the bad "go" of the 6th taxing all Mr. Washbrook's capabilities, whilst a very confined space necessitated a certain arrangement of the men—the stout ones being put in the corners—the thin ones along the walls. The vicar of the neighbouring parish of Pinhoe here put in an appearance, and with the Rev. S. T. Serle, and his son, sat down with the ringers to a bountiful tea at the vicarage—one at least of the "Essex calves" having his first taste of Devonshire junket and cream. Thanking the Vicar for his hospitality, a further drive of four miles brought the visitors to the Cathedral, where the Dean and Chapter, through the Rev. Canon Trefusis, had granted permission. The very courteous and obliging steeplekeeper, Mr. Edworthy, had everything in readiness, a large number of local men being at hand to assist if need be. The bells were raised, the front six in peal, ten or a dozen men being required for the job, and a few rounds rung on the ten, when some one suggested a course of Caters, no such thing ever having been rung by any men, the bad go of the bells and weight of metal, tenor 67 cwt., being supposed to militate against it. Though sixteen men are accustomed to ring the ten, the visitors stuck to the nine changing bells single-handed, allowing only four to the tenor. Marvellous to relate the course was rung, and well rung too, as testified by those outside. On this historic occasion, the first touch ever brought round on the ten bells, we may be permitted to append the names of the gallant band. H. G. Fruin, 1; J. W. Taylor, 2; E. A. Pitstow, 3; N. J. Pitstow, 4; Rev. F. E. Robinson, 5; W. W. Gifford, 6; F. Shepherd, 7; Rev. G. F. Coleridge, 8; J. W. Washbrook, 9; Rev. W. S. Willett, E. Shepherd, B. Mundy and J. W. Carnell, 10. While cooling down after their exertions, the six minutes' ringing being far harder than the nine hours occupied by the other peals, the local men kindly rang the minor eight, with the noble 9th covering, that the visitors might listen to the wondrous and plaintive melody. The St. Sidwell's Society then entertained the band at supper, Mr. S. Herbert in the chair, Mr. F. Shepherd in the vice-chair, a curious old bell of strange shape, formerly belonging to the late Rev. H. T. Ellacombe, adorning the table, and later in the evening put to a novel use as a "loving cup," at the smoking concert which ensued. For the many kindly remarks which were tendered we regret we have no space.

An early start on Wednesday brought the visitors to Umberleigh, where the carriage of the Archdeacon of Barnstaple was in waiting to convey some to Chittlehampton, a kindly churchwarden bringing on the rest. Superlative Surprise was started for, but after 1½ hours' ringing, it came to an end, one of the band having had no breakfast and making a hurried rush for the train, not feeling equal to the task. Touches of Stedman Triples were then rung in the splendid tower, till the welcome call to dinner by the Archdeacon was heard. The meal was laid in the Parish Room, the Archdeacon being supported by his curate, the Rev. A. Spicer. In thanking the band the Archdeacon expressed a hope that their efforts would result in much good in North Devon, and would greatly raise the standard of ringing in those parts where change-ringing proper had not hitherto flourished. A short journey by train along the banks of the Taw revealed many sportsmen endeavouring to entice the finny breed, and not without success, for at Barnstaple one gentleman got into the compartment with a splendid salmon of 28 lbs. In a short time Braunton was reached, and who has not heard of this historic spot, its warlike inhabitants who in the days of Elizabeth sailed to fight the Spaniard, are warlike still in the days of Victoria; who has not heard of the notorious School Board, whose members are reported to have stripped off coats at the commencement of debates, and not to have hesitated to enforce arguments by blows, till the Education Department stepped in and appointed a Board of its own. For ringers, too, the place has a peculiar interest, for was it not at Braunton that a recent prize-ringing match was held? was it not here that the Vicar, desirous to do something for ringing, with the very best of intentions, proposed to start a round ringing association, with a silver bell as an object for competition? was it not here that a leading ringer was well-nigh murdered last Christmas over some dispute about ringing monies? right glad however were the visitors to find him healed of his wounds, his brain none the worse for the ferocious assault with the kitchen poker. Never was more obliging steeple-keeper to be found; having put in eight hours in the belfry at the prize-ringing, a matter of three hours was nothing to him; but alas! after 1½ hours at Double Norwich, a rope parted below the sallie, bringing our friend to his feet with an obliging "Have another, Sir." Great was his astonishment at the ease with which the changes were rung; wide did his eyes and mouth expand as the mystic word "Bob" resounded in the belfry, so different to the accustomed manner of producing changes, viz:

Tew, wan, dree, vive, vower, zeex—gaw.
Tew, dree, wan, vower, vive, zeex—gaw.

This break-down gave the visitors a chance of critically examining the quaint old tower, its old-world appearance vastly amusing them, and making them feel that for the time at least they had gone back some 200 years. Monkleigh was the destination for the night—a flying visit to Mr. Wright at Barnstaple being made on the way. A brake from Torrington, very kindly provided by Mr. Willett, took the party to Monkleigh vicarage, where they were heartily welcomed by Mrs. Willett, whose kindness was greatly appreciated during their stay.

Up with the lark on Thursday morning six of the party had accomplished 720 Kent Treble Bob, at the parish church, the Vicar ringing the treble, presented by himself in his undergraduate days at Oxford. Punctual to the moment the band arrived at Torrington, and were welcomed by the Vicar, and genial steeplekeeper, whose belfry is a credit. Stedman Triples the method, out of deference to the local men, who like to hear the tenor occupying the position of a cow's tail—always behind; a grand peal the result, the striking throughout being well-nigh faultless, as testified to by a well-known judge at matches, who heard the peal in company with many others. Dinner at the Coffee Tavern at the expense of Mr. Willett being over, a glorious walk over the common with its truly splendid scenery, brought the visitors to the station—the journey to Exeter being whiled away with stories of oddities of parish clerks and others, told in inimitable style by the Devonians of the party. Tea at St. Sidwell's Institute at 5 p.m., when the chair was taken by C. Pearson, Esq., who proposed "The health of the Visitors" in felicitous terms, to which Mr. Robinson replied. A large number of members of the Devon Guild were present, with several of the clergy, including Canon Trefusis. Mr. Kelly was then obliged to leave the band, having been with them since their arrival at Ottery; his departure was greatly felt by all. Stedman Caters on the truly magnificent peal of ten at St. Sidwell's followed, but owing to the extreme difficulty of hearing the bells, a change-course occurred after nearly two hours' ringing. Adjourning to the "Coach and Horses" a smoking concert was held, in the midst of which, to the huge delight of those assembled, Mr. Phillott, of Cheltenham, and Mr. H. G. Gardner, of Upton-on-Severn, put in an appearance, and remained with the band till the end of the week. The handbells were brought out, and the Exeter men gave a taste of what they can do in the way of tune-playing, the visitors being greatly delighted.

Friday dawned, wet and cheerless and miserable. A journey to Tiverton by train, and breakfast at the Coffee Tavern saw the band on their way to Huntsham in a brake very kindly provided by Colonel Troyte, who, though absent from home, did all in his power to make the ringers comfortable. Mr. Payne, the gardener, received the band, the butler at the Court dispensed such refreshment as was needed, the tuneful peal of bells swinging off to Superlative Surprise, which was struck with faultless accuracy for one-and-a-half hours till an unlucky trip created such a disturbance among the bells that the peal came to an untimely end. A splendid lunch was kindly provided in the dining room, the Vicar, the Rev. G. Cruddas, taking the place of Colonel Troyte. Another drive of eight miles through magnificent scenery, and the travellers were deposited at Oakford church, and welcomed by the Rev. G. E. F. Molineux, a former curate, who had come up thirty-four miles the previous day to see to the ropes and bearings, determined that a peal should be scored; but so it was not to be. Superlative was substituted for the contemplated Double Norwich, and striking of superlative accuracy was heard for just two hours and forty-five minutes—one short course only remained to be rung—when a bump brought down the 7th, three times repeated, and the peal came to an unfortunate end. What the cause was remains a perfect mystery; a careful examination of the bell and fittings revealing nothing. A black day indeed it was—pouring wet; two good peals of Superlative lost, and very nearly an upset on the way back over a heap of stones, with only a solitary lamp on the wrong side. Tiverton, however, was at length reached, and the men glad to get to supper and to bed, after their long drive of twenty-six miles. We must not omit to mention the extreme kindness displayed by Canon Hillyard at Oakford. His entertainment at tea, enlivened with a rich store of anecdote and information gained during a life of 84 years, will long remain in the memory of those who were privileged to be his guests; his warm shake, or rather shakes of the hand all round, and pressing invitation to "come again soon," will assuredly not quickly be forgotten.

Determined to be avenged for the previous day's disasters, the party met in good spirits at the ancient parish church of St. Peter, Tiverton, after a good night's rest, prolonged through the kindness of Canon Eyre, who proposed to hold morning service during the time the bells were ringing, thus obviating an early start, which otherwise would have been a necessity. This grand peal, called by the late H. W. Haley "the star of the west," was soon doing justice to Double Norwich, the melodious roll of the bells in perfect time calling forth unbounded admiration from those outside, among whom were the Misses Coleridge, who had driven in to listen, and to whom an old gentleman thus addressed himself: "Aw, Missy, this bean't no ordinary ringing; this be like a band uv moosick in B; and I tull'ee, yew know, I be a proper guid jidge of zichlike." The Rev. F. E. Robinson was obliged to return to Drayton after the peal, while the Rev. W. S. Willett was also compelled to return to North Devon for the duties of the morrow, leaving the rest of the band to try again on the grand peal at St. Sidwell's, Exeter, for the lost peal of Caters on the Thursday. The attempt resulted in success, Mr. Phillott declaring that as soon as the bells got settled down after the first twenty minutes, the ringing till the end was as fine Caters ringing as could anywhere be heard. So thought others, to judge by the enthusiastic applause which greeted the performers. It was a peculiar pleasure to the visitors that the brothers Shepherd were able to take the place of the two unavoidably absent; to take part in ringing such a fine peal of Caters, after years of drudgery and uphill work in instructing, and in battling against prejudice and opposition in every shape and form, was thought to be a reward for their painstaking efforts. The usual "smoker" followed, "Auld Lang Syne" being sung with great enthusiasm ere the visitors departed to their several destinations, well pleased with their week's enjoyable holiday, and trusting that they deserved the encomium bestowed upon them by a prominent layman, that they were "the best Home Missionaries he knew"; meaning that well-conducted ringers such as those who had been making the tour, were a great power for good wherever they went in raising the status and moral condition of those with whom they were specially brought into contact.

The great object of the week's outing was to show the ringers of Devon, and the inhabitants of Devon generally, that change-ringing was possible, and might be struck as well as the rounds and call-changes to which they were accustomed. This object was certainly carried out. Though eleven peals in all were attempted, six were successfully accomplished, two being unavoidably lost, while one of Superlative and one of Caters were lost through a change-course, leaving one other of Superlative brought to an end by a jumble after superb striking throughout. The main feature of the week was without doubt the splendid striking, bringing over many who were prejudiced against method ringing, and laying the foundation, we hope, of better things to come. Wild and out-of-the-way places were purposely chosen in many cases, that the neighbourhood might have an opportunity of listening to real ringing. The tour most certainly aroused a great deal of enthusiasm in the county; the local press from day to day chronicling the doings of the visitors. There was the little urchin careering about and asking "Be the Oxford bells a going to ring?"; there was the old man who came to listen, and go away only to confess that his favourite call-changes were "not in it" when placed by the side of "the scientific"; there was moreover the middle-aged man enlarging in his hotel on the wonderful peal of Double Norwich Treble Bob which had been rung; while on the Saturday evening little knots of people were to be seen up and down the streets, discussing the events of the week, and commenting on the splendid striking of the peal of Stedman Caters then in progress. May good fruit be borne, and may the "flip given to honest Devon" prove of abiding worth.

It is usual in such accounts as these to tender hearty thanks to all who have contributed to the success of the tour; the writer, however, finds it quite impossible to thank all as they should be thanked. The Vicars and Rectors of churches for permission to ring; the hospitality tendered in almost every case, long to live in the memory of those who partook of it; all cannot be thanked individually. Just a few, however, may be mentioned: the Rev. W. S. Willett for providing beds and provision and brake; Col. Troyte for brake and dinner; to Mr. Shepherd, of Exeter, and Mr. Mundy, of Tiverton, for their energetic co-operation; while, above all, to the Rev. M. Kelly are the thanks of the tourists due, for to him alone are they indebted for the very excellent arrangements; the comfortable accommodation provided without expense, the liberal entertainment day by day, and for the carefully compiled programme carried out without hitch of any sort. May he long live to organise many a similar outing.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE BIRMINGHAM AND DISTRICT AMALGAMATED SOCIETY.

The Annual Meeting of this society took place in the school-room, Corporation Street, on Saturday, October 15th, under the presidency of the Lord Bishop of Coventry. At 5.30 the members together with friends from Darlaston and Northampton, numbering twenty-five, sat down to tea, to which ample justice was done. After tea was over, the general meeting was held. The Chairman, in opening the meeting, spoke of the great pleasure it gave him in being able to meet the members that evening, and in the course of his address gave some good practical advice to the ringers. His lordship referred to punctuality as being very essential in promoting the progress of a company of ringers. In being punctual it not only created a good habit, but was beneficial to a company as a body. To be regular in attendance should also be one of the chief aims of a ringer, as nothing was more irritating to both ringers inside the tower, and parishioners outside, who delighted to hear the church bells, to find that the usual number were not present. With regard to change-ringing itself, his lordship said he was not conversant with the Art, but he was well aware that it was a science which required practice and energy of mind to become proficient. In concluding his remarks the Bishop said he hoped that, although his numerous appointments took him for days together out of Birmingham, he should be able to meet them on future occasions.

The minutes of the last meeting, together with the balance-sheet for the past year, which shewed an increase in the balance in hand, were read and confirmed.

The officers for the ensuing year were then elected, viz.:—President—The Lord Bishop of Coventry; Vice-President—Mr. G. Walker; Secretary—Mr. J. Jennings; Treasurer—Mr. J. Carter; Ringmaster—Mr. J. Carter; Deputy Ringmaster—Mr. J. Jones; Committee—Messrs. J. Jones, R. C. Bowkett, G. Hitchman, E. Scott, and C. Sparkes.

The president, on behalf of the members of the association, said he had a very pleasing duty to perform, which was to present Mr. G. Chester with a gold pendant, with the following inscription:—"Presented to Mr. G. Chester for his great kindness, by the members of the Birmingham Amalgamated Society, October 15th, 1892," together with a scarf pin, as a token of gratitude for undertaking to write up the peal book. Mr. Chester, in replying, remarked that he was taken by surprise to find that his slight services had been appreciated in so complimentary a manner. Although the writing up of the peal-book had been a long business, yet it had been a work of pleasure to him. He found the Association since its formation in 1882 had rung up to the present time sixty-two peals in twelve different methods, consisting of eighteen handbell peals and forty-four tower bell peals. Two record peals of Grandsire Major had been rung, one 10,176 on handbells, and the other 10,272 on tower bells. Out of the peals rung, Mr. J. Carter had composed thirty-five, and conducted forty-seven, an item which spoke for itself. Mr. Chester said he regretted he was leaving Birmingham, and wished the society every success. If the members would only bear in mind the valuable advice the Bishop had given them in his address, and try to carry it out, he was sure they would succeed in the future. The Amalgamated Society, so far as he could speak from his short experience, was conducted on as good principles as other societies, in fact it was a society which paid particular attention to young ringers. He felt grateful to them for the beautiful present they had given him, and assured them that it would be looked upon with pride, and would always remind him of the short but pleasant connection he had had with the Birmingham Amalgamated Society. A vote of thanks to the Bishop for presiding, terminated the business part of the meeting.

The Bishop said he was sorry he had to leave, on account of other engagements. He introduced Dr. Malin, who took up the presidency for the remainder of the evening, which was spent in songs, selections on the handbells by the St. Philip's society and the Darlaston society, and a well-struck course of Grandsire Caters were rung by J. Gough, 1-2; J. Jones, 3-4; J. Carter, 5-6; W. Smith, 7-8; J. Tinsley, 9-10.

Votes of thanks to the Managers for the use of the school-room, and to Dr. Malin for his presence amongst the society were passed.

Dr. Malin, replying in a humorous speech, said that when first elected as churchwarden, he had no idea that change-ringing was so interesting, and although he had lived for twenty years within the precincts of a peal of bells, he was not aware until recently, that there was such an intricate business as "Triple Grandsire Major." When in conversation the other day with Mr. Carter on bell-ringing matters, he had a paper put into his hand, and much to his surprise found it was a current issue of "THE BELL NEWS," a paper entirely devoted to bells and bell-ringing.

Hearty cheers for Dr. Malin and his family brought to a close one of the most successful and enjoyable meeting the society has ever had.

GREAT SALKELD PARISH CHURCH, NEAR PENRITH.

At the above church a new Cambridge quarter clock, showing the time upon one external skeleton dial, painted and gilt, 4ft. 6 diameter, with copper hands painted and gilt, and balanced within, has just been erected, the following being a brief description: The clock is constructed on the solid horizontal cast-iron bed-frame, the top surface planed perfectly flat; the frame rests upon strong iron brackets let into the wall of the tower, thus giving a firm foundation. All the bushes are of gun-metal, screwed separately into the frame to enable any part of the clock to be detached without disturbing the other parts. The dial is of cast-iron, skeleton form, for circles, figures and minutes, which are well gilt, the hands of copper. The dial wheels for carrying the hands are of gun-metal, with joints of hard brass, and connections for attaching to the clock movement. There is an index dial inside the clock chamber, by which to set the outside hands. There are three separate trains of wheels, viz., going part, striking part for the hours, and striking part for the Cambridge quarter chimes. The going part wheel is of large size, with maintaining power attached for the purpose of keeping the clock going during the time of winding up. The escapement is the double three-legged gravity by Lord Grimthorpe, with a compensation pendulum, so that the time keeping of the clock will not be affected by any sudden changes of the weather. The barrels are of iron, with patent wire cords running over iron block pulleys bushed with brass: the weights being of iron cast in slips for easier adjustment. The main wheel of the striking part for the hours is of a large size, with cams fixed for bringing out the full tone of a tenor bell of 13 cwt. The main wheel of the Cambridge chimes is of proper size, with cams attached for lifting the hammers for striking the correct musical quarters. There is also an apparatus for pulling off all hammers during the time of ringing the bells for service. The makers are Messrs. W. Potts and Sons, of Guildford Street and Cookridge Street, Leeds, who also made Penrith parish church clock and chimes, Carlisle Corporation Markets large clock and bells, the large clock and bell at Muncaster Castle, Ravenglass; the Cathedral clock, Lincoln, Hurworth, Gainford and Coniscliff church clocks, Darlington Station tower clock, Hexham Abbey, Ryton, Wylam and Hurworth-on-Tyne church clocks, and Newcastle-on-Tyne Station clocks, etc.

THE OLD EAST DERBYSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

On Saturday, September 24th, a quarterly meeting of this Association was held at Staveley. The attendance was not so good as usual. Tea was provided in the rectory mission room, kindly lent by the Rev. C. H. Molineux, Rector. The business meeting was held in the same room directly after tea, the Rev. C. H. Molineux presiding. The following towers were represented: Sheffield (St. Marie's), Chesterfield, Dronfield, Wingfield, Staveley, Eckington, Killamarsh, and Barlborough. The minutes having been confirmed, the chairman called upon the Secretary to move the resolution of which notice had been given at the last meeting, viz.: "To extend the radius of the Association to twelve miles, the limit now being eight miles from Staveley."

Mr. James, in moving the extension, explained to the meeting that under the present rules they would never number more than sixty members, but if the rules were revised so that they could hold meetings at Sheffield, Rotherham, and other places, there would be no excuse then why the ringers at those places should not become members. The expenses to work for twenty or thirty more members would only be a trifle, whereas the contributions would be a great help to the Association.

Mr. H. Mottershall seconded the resolution.

Mr. A. Knights, of Chesterfield, suggested that instead of increasing the radius it would be better in his opinion to form a branch of the Midland Counties' Association, which could be worked by the same officers, and would save a great outlay in reports, which was the chief expense now, and he was bound to say that if that could be done the East Derby Association would join hands with the Old East Derbyshire and do likewise.

The Rev. H. E. Ferry, President of the Association, also spoke in favour of the societies amalgamating, which would do away with a lot of friction.

Mr. Topliss also thought that it would facilitate matters if Mr. Knight's plan could be carried out.

Mr. J. Harris, who spoke at some length in support of the extension, was also a little inclined to favour the Midland, and stated that he had been corresponding with the Secretary of that Association on the subject.

Mr. H. Madin, who had remained silent during the debate, was called by several members for his opinion, and he remarked that he could not see why they should hand a prosperous Association like this one, of which he was proud to be a member, over to other people, who had done nothing for this part before the Old East Derbyshire Association was resuscitated. There had been a good work done by the Association this year; the report of peals was seven against one last year, and as everything was now in good working order, it would be a big mistake to make the change suggested by his Chesterfield friends. He should therefore vote for the Secretary's motion. There being no amendment, the chairman put the resolution, which was carried, only three voting against.

The next meeting was arranged for North Wingfield, on the first Saturday in January, 1893. The usual vote of thanks to the Rector for his hospitality and for presiding at the meeting was proposed by Mr. Madin.

The rev. gentleman, in reply, said that he wished the Association success in the future as in the past, and hoped that by extending their radius they would be able to add to the prosperity of the Association.

The meeting then closed. The splendid peal of eight bells was kept going during the day by mixed bands. The Staveley men also gave some good selections on their handbells, which brought the day's business to an end.

LOWER BEEDING, SUSSEX.

The bellringers and friends of this parish held a meeting in the School room, on the 10th inst., to present the Rev. C. B. Knox with a testimonial, which consisted of a silver-teapot, on the occasion of his leaving the above parish.

A RING OF BELLS FOR THE IMPERIAL INSTITUTE.

Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, have received a commission from an aged Australian lady to provide and place in the central or "Queen's" Tower of the Imperial Institute, as an appropriate commemoration of Her Majesty's Jubilee, a complete peal of bells, which are to be ten in number, and designated, by permission of the Princess of Wales, as the "Alexandra" peal. The tenor will be two tons in weight, and bear the following inscription:—"Victoria R. I. 1837-1887." The other bells are to be named after the Prince and Princess of Wales, the Duke of Edinburgh, the Duke of Connaught, and the five children of the Prince and Princess of Wales, the total weight of the ten bells being over eight tons. The bells are to swing in a chamber 200 feet above the level of the ground floor of the main building. The gift is a personal one to the Prince of Wales, and the names of the various bells have been approved by Her Majesty and his Royal Highness. The only condition specified by the donor is that the bells shall be rung on the birth-day and accession-day of the Sovereign, and the birth-days of the Prince and Princess of Wales. They are to be completed and rung on the occasion of the inauguration of the Institute by the Queen next year.

GREAT BROMLEY, ESSEX.

The fine old peal of six at this church have been silent for several weeks owing to the dangerous state of the tenor bell, the cannons of which have been cracked several years. Having become more dangerous it was decided to have the cannons properly cleaned off and drilled, and bolts inserted through the crown. The 2nd and 4th have also been entirely rebung with new headstocks, metal bed-plates, and turned steel gudgeons working in improved metal pedestals and gun-metal bearings, improved grease boxes and hinge caps, new wheels, etc. The 5th and tenor have also been fitted with new bearings, etc., and three of the peal have been quarter-turned and fitted with improved clapper-joints, and the whole peal has been thoroughly overhauled and put in good ringing order. The work has been carried out by Messrs. Henry Bowell and Son, church bell-hangers, of Ipswich, who have made a very satisfactory job of it. Sunday, October 9th, being the Harvest Festival, was also the day fixed for opening the bells, and ringers attended from Little Bentley, Great Bentley, Ipswich, and Coddensham, and several 720s were rung, comprising 720 Oxford Treble Bob and 720 Bob Minor. J. Taylor, 1; F. Balls, 2; W. Hazell, 3; H. Bowell, 4; W. J. Nevard (conductor), 5; A. Bowell, 6. Also two 720s of Kent and Plain Bob, with A. Bowell, 5; W. Nevard, (conductor), 6. Some courses of Grandsire Triples and Bob Major on handbells terminated the day's proceedings. The day was very wet and unpleasant for the harvest festival, although a good congregation attended the service.

THE SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

On Saturday, October 8th, a district meeting of the above Guild was held at Semley and Shaftesbury. The companies represented were Salisbury St. Thomas's, 6; St. Martin's, 2; Longbridge Deverill, 6. Ringing was commenced at St. Peter's, Shaftesbury, but the bells having lately been rehung by a local builder, it was found impossible to ring more than one 6-score of Doubles on them. J. Judd, 1; A. Smith (Longbridge), 2; S. Macey (Sarum), 3; A. Dufosse (Longbridge), 4; F. Pearce (Longbridge), 5; H. Gibbs (Longbridge), 6. Dinner was provided at "the Mitre" hotel, the Rev. F. H. Fisher (Cranbourne) in the chair. A visit was made afterwards to St. James's church, where the bells were found to be in much better condition, though they made a great noise in the belfry. Several 6-scores of Doubles were rung with J. Short, Lush and Clements of Salisbury. To conclude the day it had been arranged that Messrs. Clements and Macey should drive back to Longbridge with the Longbridge company, where, after partaking of the hospitality of Mr. Dufosse, eight 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles were rung in 27 mins. C. A. Clements (conductor), 1; A. Smith, 2; S. Macey, 3; A. Dufosse, 4; F. Pearce, 5; H. Gibbs, 6.

Full accounts of all the Founders whose bells hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County, including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. The "Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 600 pages, and be handsomely illustrated with 24 full-page plates of mediaeval letterings, founders' marks, etc., found on Bells still existing in the County and numerous figures—some of them being peculiar to Bucks—will be inserted in the text. The 8vo. Edition is limited to 350 copies, and will be offered to subscribers before the day of publication at 21s. nett. The Larger Edition, Royal 4to, is limited to 80 copies, and will be subscribed at 42s. The prices will be raised on the day of issue should any copies remain unsold.

The Bell News &amp; Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1892

THE ringers' tour in the County of Devon, which was announced a fortnight ago, though falling below what was hoped in the direction of peal-ringing, must be regarded as an immense success. The Devonshire Guild has for some time been in a quiescent if not apathetic condition, but the proceedings of the visiting band of ringers, with their surroundings, must be the means of waking up ringing matters in the county, and giving the fillip that was asked for to the cause of ringing in "honest Devon." Such is the effect the Exercise will look for, in fact.

The spontaneous tokens of hospitality shown by various inhabitants to the visitors, the uniform welcome they received, and the great interest portrayed in their ringing, are cheering to read of. Our account of the tour, furnished by a most valued correspondent, who contributed to its success in no small degree, will interest every one of our readers. The discomfiture of the prize-round-ringer, who at the tones of Double Norwich and Superlative was aghast at the idea that his own vaunted skill was so much rubbish ; the agony of the "learned judge" of west country ringing matches because he could not secure a "fault," coupled no doubt with the fear that his occupation would be gone, and the expressions of wonder and amazement given vent to in the local patois, will also be productive of amusement.

The practical effects of this ringing tour upon the fortunes of the Exercise in the two western counties will no doubt be what every one desires to see. As we have above intimated, great apathy in ringing matters has for some time existed in Devonshire, the energy at one time displayed in the cathedral city having apparently died out. Cornwall also, in which county unfortunately very little has been done, may, it is hoped, be affected by the fillip given to its neighbour. But whether such hopes are realised or not, the Rev. MAITLAND KELLY deserves the gratitude of the Exercise for having initiated such a movement for the purpose of preserving the practice of the Art from an almost total obliteration in the counties above mentioned.

The sermon was preached by the Rev. G. Custance, Master of the Guild. After service a party of ringers attempted a peal of Stedman Caters, but after ringing about an hour the attempt came to grief. A second start was made in the afternoon, and the peal seemed a certainty, but this also unhappily came to grief after ringing 3 hrs. 33 mins. F. Musty, 1; G. H. Phillott, 2; F. E. Ward, 3; W. W. Gifford, 4; H. Roberts, 5; Rev. F. E. Robinson, 6; Rev. C. D. P. Davies, 7; W. Pates (conductor), 8; Rev. G. F. Coleridge, 9; W. Greenleaf and A. W. Humphris, 10. The bells have been rehung by Messrs. Blackburn and Greenleaf, of Salisbury, who have made a very creditable piece of work, especially considering the difficulties which have to be encountered in this tower. The whole of the work was under the direction of G. H. Phillott, Esq., Architect, of Cheltenham. It is hoped that before long a plaster ceiling may be added to deaden the noise of the bells in the ringing-room, which at present is very great. Some excellent touches of Grandsire Caters were rung on Wednesday, October 5th, by a mixed band, including the greater part of those who had rung on the previous day.

Correspondence.

While allowing the utmost freedom for the expression of opinion, it must never be considered that we are in any way bound to statements made by correspondents.

To the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS AND RINGERS' RECORD."

MR. FUSSELL'S EXPLANATION.

SIR,—In reply to Mr. Pates and yourself let me state that if such an unfair motive was even intended by me, or had I ever been inclined to do so, I would not attempt it with such men as rang at Holme Lacey, and this should be the first reason you ought not to have judged me without hearing my side of the question. The plain course lead 253746 came up in 2 hrs. 33 mins., and had I been disposed to do as Mr. Pates seemed to think I did, it would have been easy for me to then call the last 700, and so complete the peal. There were ringers outside whose timing of the speed we rang at just coincided with this idea. The bells were wrong previous to this lead, but I continued to call the bells before as I have learnt them, to test myself and the calling, not having rung but three times the whole of the year. I was at fault in not shouting "stand" directly—I knew the bells were out; it's simply because I was with such competent men that I wished to call the bells round, and in doing so rang on for some 500 changes, during which time the bells changed course more than twice to my knowledge, thus accounting for the repetition of changes. Why should I call the 2nd before with a bob, why tell Mr. Pates I new the bells were out, and why set my bell as soon as he did? Will one of the ringers please state whether or not I called out, after the interruption of a dog barking in the tower, and a trip or two, "The bells are all right"? This I did say to the band while we were ringing, immediately after my 4th part-end, 1276543, came up, in 2 hrs. 26 mins. The calling and the ringing was correct some four or five leads after this change. I am not expert enough to omit or invent leads, and depend entirely on the bells called before, and so long as they came in the order I have committed them to memory, the ringing may continue until either the lead-ends or the bells before shew the peal is untrue. I had not the slightest idea of calling, and much wished Mr. Pates to do so. The ringing was most discreditable throughout for such a competent band, and this Mr. Phillott will be able to substantiate. It is surprising to me that nothing was said relating to the failure all the rest of the evening, though we spent a pleasant hour together at the rectory, directly after leaving the tower. I am indebted to Mr. Goddard for kindly giving me a copy of "THE BELL NEWS" for August 13, or I may not have been able to answer this assertion for a long time, through ignorance of the charge against me.

Slough.

STEDMAN TRIPLES.

SIR,—In answer to Mr. Thompson's letter in your issue of October 1st, allow me to say that I have received a quantity of letters from ringers asking for short touches of the above. At present I am so busy that I really cannot afford the time to do so, but I will endeavour to send you some in the course of a month or two.

Park Road, Aston, Birmingham.

THE KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION REPORT.

SIR,—There is a stupid omission on the credit side of the Kent County Association balance-sheet, on page 7 of the Annual Report just issued. May I make use of your columns to call the attention of members who may have received the Report uncorrected. The sum of £1 10s. should have appeared, being the total amount of subscriptions received during the year from non-resident Life Members. I hope this omission has not caused any very serious puzzling of brains or scratching of heads among our members. F. J. O. HELMORE, Canterbury.

Oct. 18th, 1892.

Hon. Sec. of the Kent County Association.

Obituary.

JAMES SHAW.

It is with regret, which we feel sure will be shared by all, that we refer to the loss sustained by the Exercise generally by the death of Mr. James Shaw, bellfounder, of Bradford, which sad event took place on the 4th instant, at the age of sixty-six. Mr. Shaw commenced early in life learning the trade of a mechanic. In 1850, while living at Low Moor, he turned his attention to the casting of hand-bells, with a result which is now familiar to the ringing world. For a few years back, however, Mr. Shaw has had very uncertain and indifferant health, so that his presence amongst ringers became less and less frequent, and his business was managed by his two partners, Messrs. William Shaw and Thornton Harrison. Since the commencement of the present year his health failed rapidly, and he passed peacefully away on the morning of Tuesday, the 4th instant. His remains were interred on the Friday following; and in accordance with a wish many times expressed by him, the mournful ceremony was of a very simple character, and confined to the family, the workpeople, and a very few friends. Thus by his death another familiar face has passed from amongst us, and the owner of a familiar name has gone to his rest. His death was the theme of much regretful comment at the meeting of the Yorkshire Association on Saturday week, when the sad news came as a great surprise.

GEORGE MEADOWS.

On Friday, October 1st, the above-named gentleman expired at his residence, Childwall, Lancashire, at the age of seventy-six years, he having been a ringer at the village church for sixty-five years. The funeral took place in the churchyard on Wednesday, October 5th, the remains being followed by his brothers, relations, and friends, muffled touches being rung before and after the funeral. In the evening a company from St. Peter's Cathedral, Liverpool, rang a 720 of Plain Bob. C. Williams, 1; J. Brown, 2; W. Booth, 3; W. R. Williams, 4; T. Hammond, 5; R. Williams, 6. And 720 of Treble Bob. C. Williams, 1; J. Brown, 2; W. Booth, 3; R. Williams, 4; E. Booth, 5; T. Hammond, 6. A start was also made for a 720 of Grandsire with W. Meadows, 3; but it came to grief within four leads from the finish, through the 3rd bell casting her rope.

I am glad to hear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. In recognition of your valuable services, you are at liberty to use my name.—S. G. HUTCHINGS. By Appointment Surgeon-Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen."
Geo. H. Jones, Esq., F.R.S.L., F.R.M.S.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has by his Perfected System of Dentistry demonstrated that Painless Dentistry is as much an accomplished fact as the swift locomotive, the electric light, or the telephone, and absolutely restores the natural contour caused by the loss of teeth, by the adjustment of Prize Medal dentals, rendering detection impossible, which obtained the Gold Medals of London, 1851; New York, 1853; London, 1862; Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; and Philadelphia, 1876.

DR. GEO. H. ## MR. JOHN JAGGAR, OF BURTON-ON-TRENT.

[Vide Portrait.]

MR. JOHN JAGGAR, who comes of a ringing family (his father having been for many years a ringer, though not to any extent a change-ringer), was born in the city of Oxford on January 3rd, 1861, and, like his friend and schoolfellow, Mr. J. W. Washbrook, in whose company his earliest attempts at bell-pulling were made, early gave proof of that love for bells and bell-ringing which has always distinguished him. In the year 1873 he, with the rest of the family, settled down at Burton-on-Trent, and four years later joined the band of junior ringers which the late Mr. Fish had organised at St. Paul's, where he continued to practice until the reorganization of the St. Paul's senior company in 1879, when he was one of the first to join the new band. The first peal of the new society—one of Kent Treble Bob Major—was rung on November 6th in the same year, and this was quickly followed by peals of Stedman and Grandsire Triples, Double Norwich Court Bob, Superlative Surprise, Cambridge Surprise, New Cumberland Surprise, and London Surprise Major. In all these performances MR. JAGGAR took an active part, not only as a ringer, but to some extent as conductor and composer, a notable composition being the 5024 of New Cumberland Surprise rung at St. Paul's in 1886, which was the first peal ever rung in the Rev. H. E. Bulwer's musical method. He took part in the silent peal of Stedman Triples rung at St. Paul's on November 20th, 1886, which still remains the only silent peal in the method rung on church bells, and has also given considerable attention to handbell ringing, four peals of Grandsire Triples standing to his credit in the records of the Midland Counties' Association, several long lengths of Stedman Triples having also been rung by him. He also ranks high as an Instructor, the Ashby-de-la-Zouch parish church society being among his most successful pupils. Taken altogether, as Instructor, Composer, Conductor, and Performer, he has every claim to be considered an excellent example of an "all-round" ringer.

MR. JAGGAR has for some time ceased to actively participate in the doings of the St. Paul's society, but he still remains an honorary member of the company, and is at all times a welcome visitor. He is also a member of the Midland Counties' Association (of which for years he was Local Hon. Sec. and member of Committee), the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford, the Oxford Diocesan Guild, the St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham, etc. Following is a tabulated list of performances in which he has taken part:

THE HERTFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

A District Meeting of this Association was held at Baldock on Saturday, October 15th, which was attended by members from Bennington, Hatfield, St. Albans, and Knebworth, besides a goodly muster of the local ringers. During the afternoon and evening the bells, which are in capital going order, were rung in touches in various methods. At half-past five an adjournment was made to the George and Dragon hotel, where a substantial tea was provided, the President, Leonard Proctor, Esq., occupying the chair. At the conclusion of the repast,

The President opened the business meeting by calling on the Honorary Secretary, Mr. E. P. Debenham, to read the minutes of the previous meeting, which were duly confirmed. The provisional election of Mr. B. C. Pratchett as a member on August 7th, was confirmed. Mr. G. Steabben of St. Albans was elected a ringing member, and the Rev. N. S. Hodson, of Hatfield, an honorary member. Some discussion took place as to where the next meeting should be held, several of those present desiring that Hatfield should be selected, but it having been announced that the Rector for some reason refused to allow the tower of his church to be open for ringing on a Saturday, the project had to be abandoned, and on the motion of Mr. Spicer, Hitchin was the place fixed upon.

Mr. Debenham proposed that a hearty vote of thanks be accorded to the Rector of Baldock for the use of the tower that day, and also to the local ringers for the kindly welcome they had given to the members, which was carried unanimously, Mr. Robert Jackson, the Master of the Baldock ringers, acknowledging the compliment. Votes of thanks having been passed to the President and Secretary for their services, and acknowledged, a move was made to the belfry, where ringing was resumed.

THE MIDLAND COUNTIES' ASSOCIATION.

The Second Quarterly Meeting of the year took place at Derby, on Saturday, October 22nd, 1892, and representatives attended from Burton-on-Trent, Derby, Duffield, Leicester, Lichfield, Long Eaton, Melbourne, and Nottingham.

The President (A. Percival Heywood, Esq.) took the chair at the meeting; and one patron (the Rev. E. Aden Beresford, curate of Lenton, Notts.), two honorary members (including the Rev. H. Arnold Gem, Vicar of All Saints, Nottingham), and six ringing members were unanimously elected. The minutes of the last meeting were read, and on the proposition of Mr. Wilkins (Nottingham), seconded by Mr. Warren (Melbourne), were duly passed and signed.

The Chairman next delivered his address on the peals rung since the last meeting, and heartily congratulated the Leicester branch on their success in ringing peals on handbells, and expressed a hope that as they had already rung peals in two methods, the time was not far distant when a peal of Stedman Triples would be accomplished. He also congratulated the members of the Nuneaton branch on their success in ringing peals on church bells, and trusted that in a short time he should hear of them scoring a peal of Stedman Triples, or a peal in some advanced Major method. The President also informed the meeting that forty-seven peals had been rung by the Association during 1892, which placed them second to the Kent County Association, a position he trusted they would be able to hold for the remainder of the year.

The place for the next quarterly meeting was then discussed, and Mr. Jaggar (Burton) proposed, and Mr. Thompson (Derby) seconded, that if the necessary arrangements could be made, the meeting should be held at Birmingham. This was carried, but in the event of anything occurring to prevent the meeting as desired taking place, Burton-on-Trent was selected in preference to Loughborough.

ARDLEIGH, ESSEX.

A society has been formed here, and since the opening the members have managed to ring the eight bells round. They are under the tuition of Mr. A. Bowell, of the firm of H. Bowell and Son, bellhangers, of Ipswich, who have lately rebung the bells, and augmented them to eight, and it is hoped that before long the young locals will do something upon them.

RE-OPENING OF BELLS AT WESTERHAM, KENT.

On Thursday, October 13th, the bells of the beautiful church of St. Mary, Westerham, were re-opened by members of the Kent County Association. The work done includes a new oak frame with cast-iron struts, new fittings, the turning of one or two of the treble bells, and the re-casting of the tenor, which now weighs 23 cwt. (note D), the old tenor (18 cwt.) having been considered too light for the rest of the peal. These repairs and improvements have been most efficiently carried out by Messrs. Taylor, of Loughborough, at the expense of Mrs. Griffiths, Squerryes Lodge, Westerham. The secretary of the Kent County Association, Rev. F. J. O. Helmore, had been invited to bring a band of experts to "open" the bells, the local ringers, although belonging to the Association, not being as yet quite up to the form required on such occasions. Mr. J. W. Taylor, jun., was to have taken a rope, but the ringing tour in Devonshire required his presence in another and distant part of the country. His brother, Mr. E. D. Taylor, was present at the proceedings in the evening, but arrived too late to take part in the peal. Fortunately this did not affect the ringing, as seven members had been engaged, viz.: Messrs. F. G. Newman (London), A. Palmer and T. Mannering (Maidstone), E. and W. E. Pope (Staplehurst), Fairbrass and Goodbourn (Canterbury), who, with the secretary, were all on the spot at the proper time, 1.30 p.m. The reason for the postponement of the opening service till the afternoon is worth mentioning, though it will be hardly credited by those ignorant of the remarkable arrangements of the South Eastern Railway Co. that persons travelling from East Kent cannot get to Westerham till nearly 1 p.m., and not even to Sevenoaks, a tolerably important place on the main line, till 12.30 p.m.

The proceedings began with a short service (fully choral) in the church at 1.30 p.m., which in spite of the uncertain weather was well attended, the church being nearly full. The Vicar (Rev. H. C. Bartlett) read the prayers at the west end, standing near the font just in front of the tower arch. During the service the ringers rang a plain course of Stedman Triples, after which the hymn, "In Sinai's dreary waste" was sung, and the service ended with the Blessing. There was no sermon or address. A short touch of Stedman was rung after the service in the presence of a large number of the congregation, who seemed much interested in the performance. After this the church was cleared, and the ringers prepared to attack Thurston's One-part peal of Stedman Triples under the conductorship of Mr. F. G. Newman. This was successfully accomplished at the end of three hours and eleven minutes. On the door being opened hearty cheers and congratulations from the Vicar, the local ringers and others, were accorded to the band, who donned their coats with the air of satisfaction usually displayed at the close of a decently-struck peal. An account has already appeared in the peal column.

Before starting for the peal the ringers were photographed in front of the south porch by an enterprising local photographer, who had already taken a photo. of the new tenor on its arrival from the foundry before it was swung into position.

In the evening the visitors were entertained at dinner in the public hall. The Vicar, the Rev. H. C. Bartlett, presided. There were also present Col. Warde, the Revs. T. W. Knipe, C. G. Acworth, and L. Coulter (curate), Mr. Drake (organist), and the choir and bell ringers of the parish church.

After dinner the usual loyal toasts having been given and duly honoured, the Chairman proposed the health of Mrs. Griffiths. He expressed the deep regret felt by all that Mrs. Griffiths was unable, through indisposition, to be present at the service for the dedication of the bells that day, and hoped that she would long be spared to listen with enjoyment to the tuneful bells, for which Westerham is indebted to her kindness and generosity. Their bells were now as perfect as they could be made, and the belfry furnished with new, strong framework and flooring. This work had all been carried out at the cost of Mrs. Griffiths, and of her alone, and he took this opportunity of publicly thanking her for her handsome gift to the parish. The toast was received with the greatest cordiality, and especially honoured with three cheers.

Colonel Warde returned thanks to the company for the cordial manner in which they had received the toast and drunk the health of his sister, Mrs. Griffiths. He said he would have pleasure in acquainting her with the great appreciation of her gift, manifested by them. Mrs. Griffiths was very pleased to be able to make this gift, and would no doubt feel abundantly rewarded when the local ringers followed in the steps of their visitors, and treated the inhabitants of Westerham to the same delightful sounds as those to which they had listened that day.

Col. Warde then said that, before sitting down, he had a toast to propose, namely that of The Visitors, who had come from different parts of the county, and of whose skilful manipulation of the bells they had had a pleasant experience that day. In the absence of Mr. Helmore, who with some other of the ringers had left early in order to catch a train, the toast was coupled with the name of Mr. Newman.

Mr. Newman, having replied in appropriate terms, other toasts followed, such as the bell founders (Messrs. Taylor, of Loughborough), and the Westerham bell ringers.

The health of the Chairman, proposed by Mr. Knipe, brought the evening's pleasant proceedings to a close.

ROTHWELL, NORTHAMPTONSHIRE.

A quarterly meeting of the Raunds, Wellingborough and District Society was held at Rothwell, near Kettering, on Saturday, October 22nd. The request for the use of the bells of the parish church of Holy Trinity was readily acceded to, and they were at liberty for ringing from 2 to 8 p.m. Although Rothwell is at the extreme end of the Society's district, there was a good attendance of ringers, many of them coming very long distances to attend the meeting. Representatives from Kettering, Rushden, Higham Ferrers, Workton, Earls Barton, Wellingborough, Desborough and Rothwell were present during the afternoon and evening. Several 6-scores of Grandsire and a half peal of Minor were got through very creditably, but real good ringing was out of the question. Rothwell bells are a very nice peal of six, the tenor being a grand-toned bell, weighing 22 cwt. It was cast by Taylor in the year 1857, and was rung for the first time on the 5th of November in that year. It is to be hoped that when the restoration of this spacious and interesting old church is taken in hand that the bells will be re-hung and that the ringing room and clock loft may be cleansed and cleared of all rubbish and other matters and customs now deemed out of place and unfitting in a well-ordered belfry. There were quarter and tune chimes here, but they are now silent and out of gear. Rothwell Church is understood to be one of the largest in the district. It dates from the Norman period, about A.D. 1250 to A.D. 1400. The spire fell in the year 1660, and has never been rebuilt. The transepts were removed thirteen years later. It is estimated that over £20,000 will be required to restore this interesting old structure. The Rev. W. G. Parker, curate of Rothwell, and the schoolmaster, Mr. Whiteman, took great interest in the Association meeting, and spent some time in the ringing-room. Mr. Willis, the parish clerk's and sexton, kindly showed the ringers the various points of interest in the church, and allowed them to inspect the famous collection of bones in the crypt below. Mr. Carpenter York, one of the senior local ringers and steeple keeper, made the visitors welcome and did his best to make things go off pleasantly. Campanology seems to be at a low ebb at Rothwell just now, though peal boards in the belfry testify to the skill and endurance of its ringers in the past. The business meeting took place in the schoolroom at 4 p.m., the hon. sec., Mr. E. J. Dennes, presiding. The names of the Rev. C. H. Beasley, Curate of Wellingborough, and the Rev. E. C. Channer, Vicar of Desborough, were added to the list of honorary members, to be proposed at the next annual meeting, also the names of the Desborough Ringers as ringing members.

Mr. Dennes intimated that he had requests to join the Association from ringers at Yardley, Hastings, and Irchester. General gratification was expressed at the information imparted by the Higham Ferrers delegate (Mr. Martin) to the effect that the re-hanging and increase to eight of the bells in that old corporate town was to be taken in hand at once by Messrs. Taylor, of Loughborough. There was a unanimous expression of opinion that, this being the case, the annual meeting should take place at Higham Ferrers instead of Raunds. It was decided that the next quarterly meeting be held at Islip or Finedon, on Saturday, February 11th, 1893. Hearty votes of thanks were passed to the Rev. R. Morton, the aged Vicar of Rothwell, and the churchwardens for the use of the bells and schoolroom.

Below are the inscriptions on Rothwell bells, given on the authority of "North's Church Bells of Northamptonshire":—

1. Cantate Domino canticum novum Henricus Bagley me fecit 1682.
Edward Hill Esq. 1682.
2. Henry Bagley made mee 1682.
3. William Stephens and Thomas Driver Chvrchwardens Matthew Bagle made me 1682.

THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

FYLDE BRANCH.—The sixth quarterly meeting was held at Poulton-le-Fylde, on Saturday, October 22nd, the meeting being held in the belfry, the school not being available on account of a concert taking place. Later on, the Vicar, the Rev. J. H. Guest, being away on his holidays, Mr. Robt. Cookson, of Kirkham, presided, and in his address said he was glad to be present on that occasion. He thought since this branch was formed the ringers had got to know each other better, and therefore created a fellowship which hitherto had not existed in this district. He also thought that the ringing generally was far superior to what it was formerly. Mr. Heaton, of Kirkham, proposed that a vote of sympathy be forwarded to the Rev. W. G. Jerry, St. Ann's-on-the-Sea, he having lost Mrs. Jerry through death a short time ago. Mr. Worthington (Blackpool) seconded. The Rev. J. G. Smart, Vicar of St. John's, Lytham, having been elected a life member, the next item was to fix the next place of meeting, Blackpool being chosen for January 21st, 1893. The meeting concluded with a vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells and belfry, and to Mr. Cookson for presiding. During the afternoon several 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles and touches of Bob Minor were rung. Poulton, and its neighbour Singleton, do not know what change-ringing is, but a few are desirous of learning.

A RINGER'S WEDDING.

On Tuesday, October 18th, a pretty little wedding was solemnised at the parish church, Blewbury, Berkshire, the happy couple being Mr. Alfred Cummins, one of the local band of ringers, and Miss A. Walters. The wedding party started from the vicarage, the bride wearing a grey dress trimmed with cream silk, and white tulle bonnet. The bridesmaids, four in number, wore dresses of terra cotta and blue trimmed with cream silk, and hats trimmed with white roses. The service was conducted by the Vicar of Blewbury, the hymn, "Thine for ever" being sung at the commencement of the service. As the party proceeded from the church the bells were rung merrily in rounds and call-changes by the local company. It is hoped that before long something will be done in the way of repairs to the bells, as change-ringing is impossible on them in their present condition, and the local ringers are very anxious to learn change-ringing; amongst the local ringers may be mentioned the names of H. Busby, N. Busby, T. Alder, A. Grace, J. Green and J. Hewitt. Mr. C. H. Martin acted as best man.

RE-OPENING OF ST. MATTHEW'S BELLS, WALSALL.

On Saturday, October 8th, these bells were re-opened after being rehung by the Messrs. Barwell, bellfounders, of Birmingham, and the work done by that firm reflects great credit upon them, the go of the bells leaving nothing to be desired.

After ringing several touches in different methods, the local company, with friends from Handsworth, Tipton, Darlaston, and West Bromwich, sat down to supper at The Vine inn. Upon the removal of the cloth, Mr. Godden, of Handsworth, was voted to the chair. Toasts of "The Queen," "Success to the Walsall company," "The Visitors," votes of thanks to the Churchwardens, and songs and recitations by various members of the company, and tunes on the handbells, contributed to make up a very pleasant evening, which was enjoyed by all.

YARDLEY HASTINGS, NORTHANTS.

In the ancient and somewhat dilapidated tower of the Church of St. Andrew, Yardley Hastings, hang six very interesting old bells, cast by Henry Penn, of Peterborough, in the year 1723, the Rev. Humphry Betty being Rector, and Samuel Whitmey and Robert Jeffrey churchwardens. In addition to the inscriptions given below, each bell bears the arms of George, fourth Earl of Northampton. The fourth bell having become cracked, was re-cast in 1885, by Taylor, of Loughborough, the old inscription being with much good taste reproduced. It was re-hung by Mr. Hornsby, of Yardley. The diameter of the tenor bell is 42 inches, it weighs probably about 14 cwt.

1. Fear God honovr the King Henry Penn Fovnder 1723.

JOSEPH SLATER.

On Monday morning, October 19th, the above-named ringer died at the residence of Mr. Fredk. Wells, New Cut, Glemsford. He was for many years a member of the Glemsford company. Deceased was in his seventy-fifth year, and was suffering from heart disease. He died very suddenly, being only ten minutes from the time of his reaching Mr. Wells' residence, till he was dead. His last words were "Lord have mercy upon me." He was interred in Glemsford churchyard on Saturday, October 22nd, and was carried to the grave by Messrs. Garwood, Honeybell, Bradman, and Gowers, four well-known ringers, and the usual muffled touches were rung, which consisted of Plain Bob, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, which was rung by the following members and friends: C. Sillitoe (Sudbury, conductor), R. Wells, F. Wells, J. Bradman (Glemsford), G. Maxim (Cavendish), and A. Papworth, A. J. Clarke, R. Brett, and G. Smith (Stanstead). Besides taking part in ringing various methods on six bells to upwards of twenty, deceased took part in a 5040 of Bob Major rung in 3 hrs. 6 mins., in November 1851, at Long Melford: and a 5040 in seven different Minor methods, in September 1870, at Glemsford.

A TIMELY WARNING.

SIR,—In order to prevent peal No. 588 in the Yorkshire Association Report just issued, 1891-2, being rung again, kindly allow me to point out that it is false. The composition to which my name is attached, is mine so far only as it applies to Yorkshire Court. The mistake has occurred by using it to Bob Major.

CHANGE-RINGING AT EXETER CATHEDRAL.

SIR,—In the interesting report last week of a ringing tour in Devonshire, we read of Grandsire Caters being rung on the Exeter Cathedral bells "for the first time" during this tour. I fancy, if my memory serves me right, that there is something wrong here. What tale could some of the "Ancients" in London tell, who visited Exeter Cathedral many years ago, with, I believe, the late Henry Haley?

THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.—ANNUAL MEETING AT BLACKBURN.

The annual meeting in connection with this association was held at Blackburn on Saturday, October 15th. In the early part of the afternoon various methods were rung at the parish church and Holy Trinity church in that town. There were about 240 members present from all parts of the county. At half-past three in the afternoon a special service was held in the parish church, the preacher being the Rev. Bishop Cramer-Roberts, D.D., Vicar of Blackburn. Prayers were read by the Rev. F. O. Sutton, Curate of the parish church, Blackburn; and the Rev. A. D. Powell, Vicar of St. Peter's, Blackburn. The Rev. H. J. Elsee, of Manchester, the president of the association, read the lesson; and amongst the other clergy present was the Rev. H. F. Lloyd, Curate at the parish church, Wigton, and an active member of the association. Subsequently the members had tea together in the parish schools, after which the business meeting was held under the presidency of the Rev. H. J. Elsee, who was supported by Mr. Eachus (Manchester), vice-president, and Mr. Joel Redford (Bolton), one of the hon. secretaries of the association. The president founded the subject of his annual address to the members on two Lancashire bells. One was a very small bell and the other a very big one. The first, so far as he knew, was the oldest bell in the county, and the other was the most modern of bells. But it was the inscriptions on the bells more than anything else that he wished to draw their particular attention to. The small bell was at Cloughton, and so far as he was aware it was the oldest dated bell in the kingdom. There might be older bells in use, but this was the oldest bearing a date. The parish of Cloughton had not more than sixty souls all told, and the church was like a barn, and about half the size of the room in which they were assembled. To reach the bell they had to get a ladder and climb on to the roof. The date upon it was 1226, so that for almost six hundred years this bell had been doing its duty, speaking as the voice of the Church in that place. It had no doubt tolled at the death of many generations of the hamlet, and it taught them as ringers that their occupation was not only an honourable one, but a very old one in this country. The other bell was the largest in Lancashire, and was hung in the Manchester Town Hall. He often wondered if the people knew what it taught as it rang out over the city. The words that were written upon it were, "Ring out the false, ring in the true," and he could not imagine a grander line. It was a grand thought, and one from which they could take a lesson in life. The twenty bells which hung below this one at the Manchester Town Hall had inscribed upon them some lines from Tennyson, which the rev. gentleman read to the meeting.

Mr. H. H. Nutter (Ramsbottom) said that that meeting afforded the members an opportunity of showing their appreciation of one of their number who had done a great deal to make the association the success it was. They had got subscriptions from members in all parts of the county for this object, and he had great pleasure in asking their president to make a presentation to Mr. Joel Redford, of Bolton, who had acted as their secretary for eleven years.

The Chairman said he could not do better than read the address which accompanied the handsome timepiece about to be presented to Mr. Redford. The address set forth that the completion of eleven years' service as secretary to the association afforded the members an opportunity of expressing their sense of the value of Mr. Redford's work. It also acknowledged that much of the success which had attended the operations of the association was due to the energy of Mr. Redford, and the members asked his acceptance of that address and timepiece in recognition of such services and as a mark of their esteem. The address, which was neatly framed, had attached the names of the president, vice-president, the treasurer, seven members of the committee, and the ringing secretary. The Chairman, having paid Mr. Redford a high compliment for what he had done for the association, handed over the address and timepiece amid loud and continued applause.

Mr. Redford, who was received with enthusiasm on rising to respond, said he could scarcely find words to adequately express his feelings at the moment, but he heartily thanked the members for their handsome present. He was afraid he was not entitled to all the compliments which had been paid him. The success of the association was not due to him alone but to the local branch secretaries and the other officers of the association; and whilst on his feet he wished to thank those gentlemen for the assistance they had always willingly given to help forward the association. There was no doubt they had as an association achieved a great success, and he, along with the other members, felt proud they had in their president a "ringing parson."

As Bishop Cramer-Roberts had to leave at this stage, a hearty vote of thanks was tendered him for the excellent arrangements he had made for the annual meeting.

Mr. Redford followed with the annual report of the committee, which stated that the association now included 59 life members, 26 honorary members, 592 ringing members, making a total of 698. A new branch had been formed during the year for Preston and the Fylde district, and the finances were in a satisfactory condition.

The report and balance sheet were adopted, and then the meeting proceeded to the election of officers. The Rev. H. J. Elsee was re-elected president, on the motion of Mr. Eachus (Manchester), seconded by Mr. W. Harmur (Bolton); and Mr. H. W. Jackson and Mr. Joel Redford were reappointed as treasurer and secretary respectively. Three committee men retired by rotation, and an election resulted in the appointment of Mr. Horrocks for Blackburn, Mr. R. S. Mann for Liverpool, and Mr. Shepherd for Rossendale. For the new Preston and Fylde branch Mr. Mather was elected to the committee.

After the transaction of some other business appertaining to the annual meeting, a vote was taken as to the next place for the annual meeting. The result of the voting was that Rochdale secured the honour. The customary votes concluded the proceedings.

The timepiece presented to Mr. Redford was supplied by Monk Bros., Deansgate and Bolton, and on the base of it there is a plate bearing the following inscription:—"Presented to Mr. Joel Redford, by the members of the Lancashire Association of Change Ringers, in appreciation of his services as secretary during the past eleven years.—October, 1892."

STOKE ARCHIDIACONAL ASSOCIATION.

BUCKNALL.—On Thursday evening, October 6th, the ringers of St. Mary's Church met to celebrate the silver wedding of Mr. George Hobbs, one of their members, when a 720 of Duke of York Treble Bob was rung by the following:—C. Preston, 1; W. Wheeldon, 2; R. W. Twigg, 3; J. E. Wheeldon, 4; G. Hobbs, 5; W. Twigg (conductor), 6. After which the ringers adjourned to the house of Mr. Hobbs, where they were entertained to supper, and the evening was spent in a convivial manner. The health of Mr. and Mrs. Hobbs was proposed by Mr. Twigg, (leader), and was heartily responded to, the party wishing them every happiness, and hoping they would live to see their golden wedding. Songs were sung during the evening by various members of the band, and altogether a very enjoyable evening was spent.

PURSTON, NEAR PONTEFRACT.

This important mining village, which since the opening out of Lord Masham's extensive collieries, has given it a still greater importance, has hitherto been without a public clock until the present week, when Mr. John Waller, of the Junction hotel, Purston, a member of the Board of Guardians, has had fixed on his new premises at the junction of the Purston, Ackworth and Pontefract highways, a new illuminated clock, showing the time on two large dials, which will be a great boon to the inhabitants, also to the immense traffic continually passing between those places, the necessary work having been executed by Messrs. Wm. Potts & Sons, clock manufacturers, of Guildford Street and Cookridge Street, Leeds, the makers of the Pontefract, Ackworth and Knottingley parish church clocks, Wakefield Town Hall, etc.

In Preparation. To be Published by Subscription. THE CHURCH BELLS OF BUCKINGHAMSHIRE. By ALFRED HENEAGE COCKS, M.A., Ch. Ch., Oxford; F.Z.S., F.R.G.S., Great Marlow. Bucks. With many Illustrations.

MESSRS. JARROLD & SONS have pleasure in announcing the early publication by subscription of this most interesting and important work. It will contain an account of all the Church Bells in Buckinghamshire, with everything relating to their history that can be discovered. Full accounts of all the Founders whose bells hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County, including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. The work was undertaken at the instigation of the late J. C. L. Stahl Schmidt, Esq., author of "Surrey Bells and London Bell-founders," "The Church Bells of Kent," "Herts," etc.; and the fact that the author had the benefit of the kind assistance and advice of this well-known campanologist may be mentioned as some guarantee of the scope and nature of the present work. Mr. Stahl Schmidt wrote the author, that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting county," and he repeated this opinion in a subsequent letter. The "Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 600 pages, and be handsomely illustrated with 24 full-page plates of mediæval letterings, founders' marks, etc., found on Bells still existing in the County and numerous figures—some of them being peculiar to Bucks—will be inserted in the text. The 8vo. Edition is limited to 350 copies, and will be offered to subscribers before the day of publication at 2s. net. The Larger Edition, Royal 4to, is limited to 80 copies, and will be subscribed at 4s. The prices will be raised on the day of issue should any copies remain unsold.

CONTENTIOUS.—You are perfectly right in your contention; no one can lay claim to such a composition, no matter whether the 5th or the 6th or the 3rd is fixed. The plan is the property of no one in the present generation. We have answered the same question before.

BETHWORTH.—We hope our correspondent at this place sees this week what he has been looking for. If not, perhaps he will write again.

T.B.—About fifteen years ago.

G. AYNLEY.—Try again; it is to be done.

MR. FOWLER'S NEW METHOD.—Mr. W. Watts, of Stansted (Essex), writes: "Having seen in your issue of October 15th, that Mr. Fowler published a new method which he names Anston Treble Bob, allow me to inform him that he cannot claim it as a new method, as I have one exactly the same, it is named College New Treble Bob. I think it appeared in 'THE BELL NEWS' in the year 1884 or 1885 with a selection of other methods." Mr. F. Clayton, of Worlingworth (Suffolk), also says the following: "Allow me to inform you that the method published by the name of Anston Treble Bob has been in my possession for at least two years under the name of New College Treble Bob, but who composed it I am unable to state."

The Bell News &amp; Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1892

THE Lancashire Association, at their Annual Meeting held on the 15th instant, did a very gracious and commendable act in recognising the value of the labours of the principal Secretary of the Association, MR. JOEL REDFORD, by the presentation to him of an address, accompanied by a timepiece. We are not much in favor of the giving of testimonials, as they are termed, in the abstract, but if ever man deserved to be complimented in this manner, MR. REDFORD is that man. He has worked very hard to promote the interests of the Association throughout his eleven years of office, and especially during the schism which led to a secession of members two or three years ago. With a careless executive at the period alluded to the Association might have succumbed, but the heroic efforts made resulted in it being more firmly established than ever. Doubtless the members had this period in view when they determined to show their Secretary how they appreciated his efforts.

The Lancashire Association appears to be progressing. There is a large area under its jurisdiction, and events may not travel so fast in consequence. But good work is being done, new branches are being opened, the members' roll continues to enlarge, and we may hope in due time for a great revival in those places in Lancashire which appear to have become almost forgotten by change-ringers.

"My Dear Doctor,—Allow me to express my sincere thanks for the skill and attention displayed in the construction of my Artificial Teeth, which render my mastication and articulation excellent. I am glad to hear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. In recognition of your valuable services, you are at liberty to use my name.—S. G. HUTCHINGS. By Appointment Surgeon-Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen."

Geo. H. Jones, Esq., F.R.S.L., F.R.M.S.

DR. GEO. H. DR. GEO. H. ### OPENING OF A RING OF EIGHT BELLS AT CHOBHAM, SURREY.

The pleasant village of Chobham was en fête on All Saints' Day, on the occasion of the dedication of three new bells which have been added to the five old bells of St. Laurence's church, the whole being hung in a new frame. Of the former ring of five, the oldest bell was the third, bearing the inscription—and the famous shield of W. Culverden, the name of the founder being expressed in a "rebus" by the figure of a pigeon (anciently called "culver") surmounted by the letters de with the usual mark of contraction. This London founder made bells from 1510 till his death in 1522, and thus this most interesting bell is shown to be nearly 400 years old. The 2nd, 4th, and tenor (which weighs about 10½ cwt.), were cast by Richard Eldridge, of Wokingham, in 1597 and 1610; while the old treble was cast by William Eldridge, of Chertsey, in 1684. These formed a sweet mellow ring, but the frame had become so dilapidated that it was no longer safe to ring them. The vicar of Chobham (the Rev. H. S. Ackworth), took steps to raise the necessary funds with the result that not only has a new bell frame been placed in the tower, but by the addition of three small bells a very pretty ring of eight has been secured at a moderate expense. The work was entrusted to the Whitechapel firm, and Messrs. Mears and Stainbank have made an excellent splice.

The special dedication service was conducted by the Ven. Archdeacon of Surrey, assisted by the Vicar of Chobham and several other clergymen, among whom we recognised the Rev. H. A. Spyers, formerly Secretary of the Winchester Diocesan Guild. The ringing had been entrusted to the ringers of St. Nicolas, Guildford, who, being one short had called in the valuable assistance of their good friend, Mr. H. White, of Basingstoke. At the end of the anthem the Archdeacon, attended by the clergy, went in procession to the tower and said five special collects. On his return to the chancel a short touch of Grandsire Triples was rung, the striking being very good and creditable to the ringers, who had never heard the bells until they pulled off for the touch. Next followed a special hymn, and then the Archdeacon delivered an excellent and appropriate address, pointing out (among other things) the value of Guilds and Associations in improving the tone and status of bell ringers as officers of the church, and promoting the practice of scientific ringing. At the end of the service an attempt was made for a peal of Bob Major by W. Grove, 1; C. W. Miller, 2; J. Heathorn, 3; F. W. J. Rees, 4; F. Bennett (composer and conductor), 5; E. Heathorn, 6; J. J. Jones, 7; H. White, 8. All went on well for 1 hr. 55 mins., but when 3100 changes had been rung, a sudden and most unexpected trip brought the attempt to an end. After this two or three ringers from Bagshot joined in some short touches of Grandsire Triples. At 7 p.m. the visitors with the Chobham ringers, were most hospitably entertained at the vicarage, sitting down to a sumptuous dinner. The vicar thanked the ringers for their services during the afternoon, and Mr. Rees, in thanking the vicar on behalf of the visitors, said that the ringers of St. Nicolas, Guildford, considered it a great honour to have been invited to take part in such a service. He congratulated the vicar and the parish on the possession of such a handy and sweet-toned ring.

It is understood that the Chobham ringers will be immediately enrolled in the Winchester Diocesan Guild, and proceed at once to learn change-ringing.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.—WIRRAL BRANCH.

On Tuesday, October 25th, the members of the Bromborough company were hospitably entertained to supper by the Rev. J. Davenport Jones, curate of the parish church, which by the way the viands disappeared they thoroughly enjoyed. After supper the rev. gentleman spoke a few kind words of advice and encouragement. The ringers then adjourned to the tower for practice, and rang 504 Plain Bob Triples and 504 Grandsire Triples. J. Picken, 1; J. Ollerhead, 2; T. Hughes, 3; H. Bird, 4; J. Dillon (conductor), 5; F. Jones, 6; C. Gittins, 7; R. Roberts, 8. This is the first time Bob Triples has been rung in this tower; it is also the first time it has been rung by the company.

DEDICATION OF A RING OF BELLS AT EMBLETON, NORTHUMBERLAND.

A little more than a year ago, an idea was started that a church possessing such a fine tower as Embleton ought to have a peal of bells. This idea was well taken up by the parishioners, and after nine months of begging, a bell committee was formed, and Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, the well-known Whitechapel firm, undertook to put in a new peal of six bells, including an old bell of uncertain date, but probably locally cast, which had hitherto been the sole cause of calling people to church. Friday, October 28th, St. Simon and St. Jude's day, was fixed for the dedication festival. Proceedings commenced by an official luncheon at the vicarage, when Canon Osborn, the Vicar of Embleton, entertained the Lord Bishop of Newcastle, the Rev. C. Buston (assistant-priest), the three churchwardens, J. Coates, Esq., J. Forster, Esq., Mr. J. Thompson, the ringers (a select band of the Durham and Newcastle Association), and three guests: Sir Edward Grey, Bart., M.P. for the Berwick division, the Rev. W. M. Richardson, Vicar of Ponteland, and the Rev. W. H. Connor, Vicar of Alnwick.

The dedication service was held at 2.30 p.m., under the belfry tower. The Bishop first of all committed the bells to the Vicar, and bade him take heed that they were to be ever and only used in God's service, and for His glory. Then, turning to the churchwardens, he bade them take notice that the bells were committed to the custody of the Vicar of the parish, to be used only with his consent, and subject to the ultimate control of the Bishop. The ringers then rang a plain course of Stedman Doubles, and the Bishop and Clergy made their way to the chancel. The psalms used were 122 and 150, and the lesson taken from the usual and well-known 10th chapter of Numbers. The hymns were the old bell hymn, "Now at length our bells have mounted," and "O God, whom veiled Angels and Archangels adore." The anthem, "Praise the Lord, O Jerusalem," preceded the sermon, which was preached by the Lord Bishop from the text Rev. viii. 1: "There was silence in Heaven about the space of half an hour." The offertory amounted to £9. A public tea was afterwards held in the schoolroom, and realised £3 5s. 9d.

Immediately after service, the select band of ringers of the Durham and Newcastle Association rang a well-struck 5040 in in seven different Minor methods. The official report of this performance will be found in its proper place. Embleton is the most northern place in England where a 5040 has yet been rung.

The bells reflect the greatest credit on Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, whose reputation for a musical ring of bells, as well as for splendid hanging, has been well sustained in this, their most recent production. The bell committee take this opportunity of thanking most warmly Mr. R. S. Story and the other members of the Durham and Newcastle Association for their great kindness in coming over to Embleton to open the new ring of bells. They would also like the ringers to know that from all parts of the parish, and even outside of it, there is but one expression of opinion as to the excellent ringing on the occasion, the striking being most wonderfully true, and the musical effect most pleasant to listen to, in fact it is not too much to say that it will be many a long day before their performance is forgotten by the Embletonians.

It is only just to say that though all the bell committee worked hard, special thanks are due to J. Cracter, Esq., Treasurer, who gave all the orders to the bell founders and other contractors for the necessary work, and conducted the business transactions throughout, and to Miss Osborne, who not only assisted the Treasurer in writing a large number of letters of a begging character, but also did a great deal of the work in the various arrangements necessary in the undertaking of so big a task as "getting money" for a peal of bells. This meant in this case, both an American Fair, as well as a sale of work, after the style of an old English Fayre. Throughout the whole the exertions of the Rev. C. Buston were unflagging, and, while it may be stated that he was the originator of the idea, he with his co-workers are to be heartily congratulated upon the very successful result they have brought about.

ANNUAL RINGING HOLIDAY.

During the past fortnight the writer has experienced a most enjoyable outing. On Saturday, October 8th, an attempt was made at Manchester Cathedral for a peal of Plain Bob Royal, but after ringing 1 hr. a man, who appeared to be under the influence of alcohol, disturbed us by knocking at the belfry door. A touch of Stedman Caters was afterwards rung. On Sunday, October 9th, at Manchester Cathedral and Ashton-under-Lyne, touches of Grandsire and Stedman Caters and Grandsire Cinques were rung. At St. John's church, Manchester, 630 Grandsire Triples was brought round, it being impossible to ring a longer length on account of the bells going so badly, which have recently been rehung. On Monday, October 10th, another attempt was made at Manchester Cathedral for the peal of Bob Royal, but it was lost after ringing 1 hr. 25 mins., owing to a change-course. On Tuesday, October 11th, at Ashton-under-Lyne, a peal of Grandsire Cinques was brought round in 3 hrs. 34 mins. On Wednesday, October 12th, at Leicester, a peal of Union Triples was brought round in 2 hrs. 27 mins. On Thursday, October 13th, at Portsea, Hants., a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (composed and conducted by the writer), was brought round in 45 mins. On Friday, October 14th, at Fareham, an attempt was made for a peal of Grandsire Triples, but was lost after ringing 45 mins. On Saturday, October 15, at Horsham, a peal of Stedman Triples was brought round in 2 hrs. 56½ mins. On Sunday, October 16th, at Warnham, a start was made at 5 a.m. for a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major, which was brought round in 3 hrs. 2 mins. An attempt was made in the afternoon for a peal of Stedman Triples, which was lost after ringing fifty minutes. Touches of Grandsire and Treble Bob were rung for morning and evening service. On Monday, October 17th, at Heene, Sussex, a peal of Stedman Triples was brought round in 2 hrs. 49 mins. On Tuesday, October 18th, at St. Peter's, Brighton, an attempt was made for a peal of Stedman Triples, but it came to grief after ringing an hour. On Wednesday, October 19th, at Lewes, an attempt was made for a peal of Stedman Triples, but it came to grief after ringing 30 mins. At the residence of Mr. Williams, 49, Clifton Street, Brighton, the following members of the Sussex County Association rang a 504 of Grandsire Triples, on handbells. Mrs. G. Williams, 1-2; J. George, 3-4; G. Williams (conductor), 5-6; E. C. Huntley (Bushey), 7-8. On Thursday, October 20th, at St. Paul's Brighton, a peal of Bob Major was brought round in 2 hrs. 58 mins. On Friday, October 21st, at Steyning, a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major was brought round in 3 hrs. 1 min. On Saturday, October 22nd, at St. Peter's, Brighton, an attempt was made for a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major, which did not prove successful. Also at the same church, 518 Grandsire Triples. — Owen, 1; J. George (conductor), 2; G. Williams, 3; K. Hart, 4; J. Jay, 5; A. A. Fuller, 6; H. Weston, 7; H. Tugwell, 8. It will be seen that fourteen peals were attempted, seven of which came to a successful issue, and were reported in their proper place.

The writer desires, through the medium of this paper, to thank Messrs. S. Wood (Ashton-under-Lyne), J. Eachus (Manchester), S. Cotton (Leicester), J. W. Whiting (Fareham), H. W. Chandler (Warnham), G. Gatland (Steyning), George Williams (Brighton), and others for the arrangements so kindly made.

GAINSBOROUGH, LINCOLNSHIRE.

A new eight-day illuminated turret striking clock has been presented to the New Market Hall, Gainsborough, by the Chairman of the Board, E. Pearson, Esq., J.P. The clock is constructed on a solid cast-iron bed-frame, cast in one piece, the top being planed perfectly flat, and resting on strong iron brackets built into the wall of the building, thus giving a good foundation. All the bearings are of gun-metal, screwed to the frame, so that each wheel may be removed without interfering with the other. All the wheels are of gun-metal cut from the solid. All arbors and pinions are of best cast steel, hardened and tempered. The large main wheel of the going train has going during winding. The escapement is the double three-legged gravity, by Lord Grimthorpe, with compensation pendulum, the pendulum bob being cylindrical in form. The large main wheel of the striking part for the hours has cams fixed for lifting a hammer in iron frame (with hardened steel check springs attached) for striking the hours upon a bell at the top of the building. The time is shown upon a large external dial of skeleton shape, forming the circles, figures and minutes, and glazed with white opal glass, for illumination. There is also an automatic gas apparatus fixed to the clock movement for turning on and off the gas according to the season of the year. The dial wheels are of best gun-metal; the hands of strong copper counterpoised within. There are double and single universal joints of brass, bevel wheels and connections. An index dial inside the clock chamber, by which the outside hands are adjusted. The barrels are of iron, with patent wire cords running over iron block pulleys bushed with brass. There are cranks, levers and every requisite in a good clock, which in every respect is similar to the fine clocks shown by the same makers, Messrs. Wm. Potts and Sons, of Guildford and Cookridge Streets, Leeds, at the Saltaire and York Exhibitions, where they were awarded gold medals. They also made and fixed the Lincoln Cathedral clock, St. Mark's and Guildhall clocks, Austhorpe, Wadingham, Saunby, Walkeringham, Scunthorpe, Epworth church clocks, and others in the district.

HENDON, MIDDLESEX.

The ringers connected with St. Mary's parish church, Hendon, attended in goodly numbers on Sunday, October 9th, to ring for the Divine Services, and, thus in a measure, to discharge their duties as church officials for the festival of the day, viz., harvest thanksgiving. Various touches were rung, including six 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles. C. Pratchett, 1; C. H. Martin, 2; F. Pratt, 3; J. Barrett, 4; C. W. Tucker (conductor), 5; F. Kirby, 6. Also 720 Plain Bob Minor. H. Martin, 1; C. H. Martin (conductor), 2; H. J. Martin, 3; F. Pratt, 4; F. Carroway, 5; C. Crampton, 6. And two 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles. H. Martin (conductor), 1; H. J. Martin, 2; F. Pratt, 3; J. Barrett, 4; C. H. Martin, 5; C. Crampton, 6. Tenor 6½ cwt. On the previous Wednesday evening, Mr. W. C. Tucker, who for seven years has been a member of the local company and the Middlesex Association, formally took leave of his brother-strings, owing to his leaving the neighbourhood, and 720 Kent Treble Bob was rung as a farewell touch. Mr. Tucker enters on his new sphere of labour with the good wishes of the Hendon ringers, and his name is, with many others, prominently recorded on most of the peal-boards which adorn the walls of the tower of the parish church, and will thus serve to keep green the memory of a competent ringer and conductor, who has left the centre of the Middlesex Association, and taken up his residence, as gardener, at Whiteley Ridge Lodge, Brockenhurst, Hants. The following ringers were also present on this occasion: W. J. Westwood and A. J. Giddings (Brighton); C. Pagett, J. Carroway, W. Jones, G. White, and F. Jones.

ISLE OF THANET, KENT.

At the invitation of the Vicar of St. Peter's, Isle of Thanet (the Rev. A. Whitehead) eight members of the Lewisham branch of the Kent County Association visited this place on Saturday, October 29th, for the purpose of attempting the first peal on the bells, which have recently been augmented to eight by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, of the Whitechapel Foundry. A start was made from Crayford at 7.16 a.m., Broadstairs being reached at 11 a.m. Here they were met by the Rev. E. T. Gwynn, who conducted them to the church, where they found a handy ring of eight, tenor 15 cwt., the "go" of which left nothing to be desired. A start was then made for a peal of Treble Bob Major, which, alas! came to grief after ringing 1 hr. 30 mins. Another start was however made, which resulted in an excellent peal of Treble Bob being rung in 2 hrs. 57 mins., being the first peal on the bells. For particulars see peal column. After partaking of some refreshment a move was made to the station, Crayford being reached about 11 p.m., every one having thoroughly enjoyed the day's outing.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.—MANCHESTER BRANCH.

A meeting of the above was held at St. James's church, Birch-in-Rusholme, on Saturday, October 29th, when about forty members attended, representing Ashton-under-Lyne, Flixton, Gorton, Hyde, Manchester, Rochdale and Worsley. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m. with touches of Grandsire Triples and Minor. At 4.30 a short service of evensong was held in the church, conducted by the Ven. Archdeacon Anson, Rector, assisted by his curate and the choir. After the service the Rector led the way up into the tower, the choristers, churchwardens, ringers and a few ladies following, where a shortened form of prayer and song was gone through, after which the Rector unveiled the new peal tablet recently erected in the tower, recording the first peal of Grandsire Triples rung by a local company. Stedman Triples was then rung for a few minutes prior to taking tea in the schoolroom. The tea was a very substantial one, kindly provided by the Rector, and was done ample justice to by the visitors. Tea over, the room was rapidly cleared and arranged for the business meeting, the Rector kindly presiding. The place for holding the next monthly meeting was the first business brought forward, when it was decided upon St. Philip's, Hulme, on Saturday, November 26th. Following this was the election of members, when two more names were added to the list. A vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector for the use of the bells, for officiating at the service, for his kind invitation to tea, and for so kindly presiding at the meeting; to the churchwardens and choristers for their services; and to the ladies who so kindly waited upon the ringers at tea. The members then made a move to the tower, and rang touches in the following methods: Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob and Treble Bob Major, until 9 p.m., which closed a very successful gathering of a few campanologists of the County Palatine.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT AMALGAMATED SOCIETY.

The monthly ringing meeting of this Society was held at St. Michael's church, Headingley, on Saturday, October 29th, and a good number of ringers attended from the following towers: Rothwell, Armley, Birstall, St. Chad's Headingley, Holbeck, Drighlington, Liversedge, Leeds and the local company. A business meeting was held in the belfry, the President, Mr. J. Whitaker, presiding. It was unanimously carried that the November meeting should be held at Wakefield Cathedral. The usual votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar, churchwardens, and ringers for the use of the bells, etc. Ringing commenced with Treble Bob Major, followed by touches of Grandsire and Bob Major and Minor, till 9.30. An adjournment was then made to "The Oak" inn for refreshment, and here a little disappointment was experienced, handbell ringing being strictly objected to by Mr. Policeman. The usual ringing topics having been discussed, a very pleasant meeting was brought to a conclusion.

ST. PETER'S GUILD, WOLVERHAMPTON.

On Saturday, October 8th, this society held its annual meeting at Wolverhampton. Ringing commenced at 2.30, when members were present from Wombourn, Tettenhall, Littleshall, and the local company. Various touches were rung in different methods, including Grandsire Triples, Major, and Caters, and Plain Bob Major. The meeting was held in the vestry at 5.30, with the President, the Rev. Prebendary Jeffcock, in the chair, the vice-president, R. P. Walker, Esq., being also present. The balance-sheet for the year ending September 30th was read and confirmed, shewing a small balance on the right side, after which the election of officers for the ensuing year was proceeded with, the President and Vice-President being re-elected. Mr. J. E. Groves was elected ringing-master in place of R. Cartwright, who was elected deputy-master, Mr. C. F. Vickers being re-elected secretary; the committee being all re-elected.

Tea was provided at the Temperance Hotel, Lichfield Street, to which about twenty sat down, including the President, Vice-President, and the Rev. T. C. Keble. It was proposed to hold the next monthly meeting at Tettenhall on Saturday, November 12th. After tea courses of Grandsire Caters and Major were rung on the handbells.

Ringers' Outings.

THE ST. MARY'S SOCIETY, CHEPSTOW.—The members of this society recently had their annual outing, Gloucester being the place selected. Starting by the 8 a.m. train, Gloucester was reached a little after nine, and as no ringing could be done until four o'clock, the time was spent in visiting the various places of interest. At one o'clock they all met for dinner, after which some made their way to the football grounds to see a match played between Gloucester and Stroud, and then proceeded to the church of St. Michael, where they were met by some of the St. Michael's Juniors, who kindly assisted them through some touches of Grandsire Triples, it being the first by some of the band. After tea they made the best of their way to the pretty little church of Hempsted, a walk of some two miles. A difficulty was found in getting the keys of the church, but they rang some 6-scores of Bob Doubles. An attempt was made to ring a 720 of Bob Minor, but after ringing about 300 changes it came to grief. Time not permitting for another attempt, a 360 was rung. W. Andrews, 1; E. B. James (conductor), 2; J. Austin, 3; A. Longville, 4; J. Morley, 5; W. T. Bennett, 6. Messrs. Morley, Longville, and Andrews hail from Chepstow. This was the first attempt by Messrs. Longville and Andrews. The return journey started at 9.10, home being reached at 10 p.m., after having spent a most enjoyable day. The company wish through the medium of this paper to thank the vicars and churchwardens, and also Mr. Sevier and the rest of the St. Michael's ringers for the kindness shown.

THE SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.—STEYNING BRANCH.—The annual outing of this society took place on Monday, October 17th, the place selected being Leatherhead. The party with one friend, numbering in all sixteen, left Steyning at 8.45 a.m., arriving at Leatherhead at 10.4 a.m. On arriving at the station they were met by Mr. S. Brooker, the steeple-keeper. The first move was to order dinner at the Temperance Hotel; then to the parish church. After an inspection of the sacred edifice the tower was visited, and having raised the bells, the day's ringing commenced with 504 Stedman Triples. J. Matthews, 1; C. Smart, 2; T. Searle, 3; J. Smart, 4; G. Gatland, 5; J. Woolgar, 6; G. Smart (conductor), 7; W. Collison, 8. Another 504 of Stedman Triples. G. Smart, 1; J. Matthews, 2; S. Brooker, 3; T. Searle, 4; C. Chambers, 5; G. Gatland, 6; C. Smart (conductor), 7; J. Smart, 8. Also 518 Grandsire Triples. C. Smart, 1; T. Searle, 2; J. Smart, 3; G. Gatland, 4; G. Smart (conductor), 5; J. Matthews, 6; W. Collison, 7; J. Woolgar, 8. The above touches were rung on the back eight; tenor 20 cwt. After lowering the bells they adjourned to the Temperance Hotel where an excellent dinner was awaiting them. After doing justice to the good things provided, they walked on to Ashted, a distance of about two miles. On arriving at the church they were met by Mr. J. Page, the steeplekeeper. After an inspection of this very pretty little church, which is situated in the fine wooded park of Ashted, the tower was visited, and having raised the bells in peal, ringing commenced with a 504 of Stedman Triples. G. Smart, 1; J. Smart, 2; T. Searle, 3; J. Woolgar, 4; J. Matthews, 5; W. Collison, 6; C. Smart (conductor), 7; Rev. A. Pridgeon, 8. And 546 Grandsire Triples. W. Woolgar, 1; G. Smart (conductor), 2; J. Smart, 3; J. Matthews, 4; C. Smart, 5; G. Gatland, 6; T. Searle, 7; E. Huges, 8. And 640 Kent Treble Bob Major. J. Matthews, 1; J. Smart, 2; C. Smart, 3; J. Woolgar, 4; T. Searle, 5; G. Gatland, 6; W. Collison, 7; G. Smart (conductor), 8. Tenor 14 cwt. Having lowered the bells, they returned to Leatherhead, where tea was partaken of. They left by the 7.5 train, Steyning being reached at 9.22, everybody having enjoyed themselves. They wish to thank the Rev. F. E. Utterton, vicar of Leatherhead, and the Rev. F. G. L. Lucas, rector of Ashted, for the use of the bells, and also the steeplekeepers for the arrangements they severally made.

GEORGE F. ATTREX.

TWELVE POPULAR AIRS FOR HANDBELL RINGERS. — BY W. HALEY. — (London: John Warner and Sons). — This is a book similar in size and character to the "Twelve Carols for Handbell Ringers," by the same author. The publishers, Messrs. Warner and Sons, exhibit some intrepidity, we should think, in issuing these works, if a lucrative return is sought for. There are many ringers who interest themselves in tune-playing, and who gladly hail the appearance of such brochures, but they hesitate to expend the ridiculously low sum required for the purchase of copies. We question if the shilling book of carols has proved remunerative to the publishers; but for all this we find them issuing another novelty which is equal to that in all respects. "Twelve Popular Airs" will help to while away many a dull half-hour, and enliven the time of waiting—not till the clouds roll by, but for the laggards of the band to come up. We suppose few companies are now without handbells, and such instruments cannot be always used for change-ringing. This little but cheap book will help to provide much amusement when change-ringing cannot be had, and therefore we recommend it to our readers.

MR. MILLINGTON'S NEW METHOD.—Mr. W. Watts, of Stansted (Essex), writes: "Allow me to inform Mr. Millington the method he published in last week's issue, under the name of Wingfield College Bob, has been in my possession for at least sixteen months, under the name of Jubilee Court Bob, but who composed it I am unable to state." Mr. F. Clayton, of Worlingworth (Suffolk), also says the following: "The method published in 'THE BELL NEWS' of October 29th, by Mr. Millington, under the name of Wingfield College Bob, has been in my possession for two or three years under the name of Jubilee Court Bob. I got it through Mr. D. Gridley, of Clare, Suffolk, who has one of the largest collection of methods in the world." Mr. Millington forwarded this method with the 720, to us, asking if it was known, and whether the 720 was true. We placed it before one of our staff who is well versed in 6-bell methods, and his reply was that the method was new to him, though closely approaching many others he knew of; and the 720 was correct. On the strength of this opinion we inserted it.

In Preparation. To be Published by Subscription.

THE CHURCH BELLS OF BUCKINGHAMSHIRE. By ALFRED HENAGE COCKS, M.A., Ch. Ch., Oxford; F.Z.S., F.R.G.S., Great Marlow, Bucks. With many Illustrations.

MESSRS. JARROLD & SONS have pleasure in announcing the early publication by subscription of this most interesting and important work. It will contain an account of all the Church Bells in Buckinghamshire, with everything relating to their history that can be discovered. Full accounts of all the Founders whose bells hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. The work was undertaken at the instigation of the late J. C. L. Stahlschmidt, Esq., author of "Surrey Bells and London Bell-founders," "The Church Bells of Kent," "Herts," etc.; and the fact that the author had the benefit of the kind assistance and advice of this well-known campanologist may be mentioned as some guarantee of the scope and nature of the present work. Mr. Stahlschmidt wrote the author, that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting county," and he repeated this opinion in a subsequent letter. The "Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 600 pages, & be handsomely illustrated with 24 full-page plates of mediæval letterings, founders' marks, etc., found on Bells still existing in the County and numerous figures—some of them being peculiar to Bucks—will be inserted in the text. The 8vo. Edition is limited to 350 copies, and will be offered to subscribers before the day of publication at 21s. nett. The Larger Edition, Royal 4to, is limited to 80 copies, and will be subscribed at 42s. The prices will be raised on the day of issue should any copies remain unsold.

The Bell News &amp; Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1892

THIS number of "THE BELL NEWS" contains accounts of two re-openings, one at Chobham, in Surrey, the other at Embleton, in Northumberland. The latter, which was the augmentation of three bells to a ring of six, appears to have been successful through the enthusiasm of one of the Churchwardens, the daughter of the Vicar, and the Assistant-Priest of the parish, the Rev. C. BUSTON, who all exerted themselves to the utmost in the collection of the necessary funds, which, as our correspondent says, was a big task. We shall hope that the local ringers will show their appreciation of such endeavours by striving with all their might to become expert ringers.

The opening at Chobham was occasioned by the augmentation of the bells from five to eight, the whole of which have been placed in an entirely new frame. Here, as at Embleton, no change-ringers have yet existed, but this augmentation will lead to a band being formed, who under the auspices of the Winchester Diocesan Guild, will doubtless soon become efficient.

We have the satisfaction, therefore, of knowing that by these operations of the bellfounder, two fresh spots are about being converted from the practice of unscentific to that of half-pull ringing. As has been remarked, bell restorations and additions are always welcome news, but when new ground is broken by such work, additional interest and satisfaction are experienced.

To the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS AND RINGERS' RECORD."

MR. PATES AND MR. FUSSELL.

SIR,—In answer to Mr. Fussell's letter in your issue of October 22nd, concerning the peal at Holme Lacey, I should like to ask him a few questions. He says the plain course lead came up in 2 hrs. 33 mins., but the bells were wrong previous to this lead; does he mean the bells had changed course, or does he mean that he had called the bobs wrong? If the former, it is impossible for 253746 to show itself at the backstroke lead, or if the calling was wrong, and he went on calling to bring the bells round, and he noticed the first lead of the plain course 253746, why did he not let the bells run round and not keep them going to the time mentioned in my first letter? The two statements in his letter contradicts itself; he also mentioned that he wondered there was nothing said all the rest of the evening? He knows perfectly well we went straight to the vicar's to tea, and left him there, and he was shown "THE BELL NEWS" in Hereford about the middle of September for August 20th, and not the 13th.

W. T. PATES.

33, Victoria Place, Fairview, Cheltenham.

SIR,—I am of opinion that in Mr. Fussell's so-called explanation won't wash. The excuse that he did not see a copy of our paper is an awfully lame one, and one he ought to have been ashamed to make. According to this he is a non-supporter of this paper, though it has patted him on the back more than once. This is ingratitude, Mr. Fussell. There is an old proverb which says that our backslidings, like chickens, come home to roost, meaning that we shall in due time reap the reward of the errors we make in our conduct. Does our friend Fussell think the proverb applies?

W. W.

THE OLD BELL AT CLAUGHTON.

SIR,—In your account of the annual meeting of the Lancashire Association, the date of the old bell at Claughton is wrongly given as 1226. It should be 1296. So far as I know, this is the earliest bell bearing a date which now exists in England, though I think I have heard rumours of a bell bearing a yet earlier date having been discovered in the south. If any of your readers can enlighten me on this point, I shall be obliged. Possibly a fuller account of the Claughton bell may interest some of your readers. The little church, which was rebuilt early in the present century, stands in the Lune valley, a few miles above Lancaster. It possesses two bells, which hang side by side in a bell gable at the west end. The smaller bell is inscribed—

"Nicholas Fennick Esq., H. Croff, T. Sneefone Wardens 1727"

and on a small stamp—

"Luke Ashton Fecet Wigan."

Its diameter is 18½ inches. Its more famous companion bears the inscription:

ANNO DNI . M . C C . NONOG . AI .

The diameter is 21 inches. The church itself possesses little else of interest. Close beside it however is a fine old hall, now occupied as a farm-house, part of which dates back to the fifteenth century.

THE OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.—MEETING AT ENGLEFIELD, BERKS.

The members of the Bradfield Deanery Branch of the above Guild held their annual gathering at Englefield on Saturday afternoon, October 29th, when the weather proved much more favourable than had been anticipated, rain having fallen in the early part of the morning. The attendance was highly satisfactory, and the visitors on their arrival walked about admiring the beautiful surroundings of Englefield House. At three o'clock Divine Service was held in the parish church, the prayers being read by the Rector (the Rev. Arthur L. C. Heigham). The hymns sung were No. 215, "The Church's one Foundation," and No. 303, "When morning gilds the sky," the surpliced choir assisting in the service, and Mr. Robinson presiding at the organ. The local clergy present included the Rev. J. B. Burne, Rural Dean, and Hon. Secretary and Treasurer of the Branch, Rev. D. O. Harrington and Rev. Hector Mawson (Burghfield), Rev. P. H. Bushnell (Beenham), Rev. F. R. Horwood (Aldermaston), Rev. R. Finch (Pangbourne), Rev. S. C. F. Angel Smith (Theale), etc.

The pulpit was occupied by the Rev. T. E. E. Chataway, of Bladon, Oxon, who took for his text Exodus xiv. 15, "Speak unto the children of Israel that they go forward." The preacher narrated the circumstances under which these words were uttered, and said that although the whole of our life was beset with dangers, there came from time to time such a crisis as came to the Israelites at Pihiroth, when a man was tempted to say to himself he could not go forward. If they were trying to live for God, they had passed through more than one such a crisis. Their only way of safety was to press steadily forward. The preacher impressed upon his hearers the necessity of forsaking all the sinful lusts of the world, and beseeched them to press forward, though they might be beset on all sides with dangers. He then proceeded to address them more particularly as bell-ringers. As members of the Bradfield branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, he wished them to take to their hearts the message of his text, "Go forward." If there was one thing a change-ringer should have printed on his mind it was the motto "Forward." He should never be content with past performances, but should always endeavour to improve, to learn more. It was not easy to keep going forward, especially with bands of ringers in a village, where young men were constantly leaving their homes for better employment. But if each ringer would make up his mind to learn and persevere in learning, more progress would be made. There were difficulties, of course, but if a man would stick to his work, they would disappear by degrees. There was no royal road, no short cut to knowledge of any kind. Some men were quicker than others, but all needed to stick to it if they were to become good change-ringers. If they had already learnt some simple method such as Plain Bob or Grand-sire, let them not be content with that, but go on and learn Treble Bob and Stedman, and Double Norwich and the Surprise methods, and even further, to the arts of conducting and composing. There was plenty to occupy a man a good many years of his life, and when he had learnt all he could himself, and could strike his bell as well as he understood the theory of ringing, he could turn his hand to teaching and helping others forward. No difficulties or circumstances ought to stop them or the band to which they belonged from going forward. They would not like to go back to the old system of call-changes, and therefore they must go forward in the strength and help which God would give if they asked Him. But he had something more important to say to them as bell-ringers. They were church officers, and associated with the clergy and choir and other church officials. They all knew what the old state of things was, but they had very much altered for the better now all over the country, and the clergy and all good men and women were thankful for it. But still they should not forget their watchword "Forward." There was still much more advance to be made by their body. They must be churchmen, and also men who practised what they preach. They must not regard themselves as conferring a favour upon the clergy, or any one else by being a ringer, but rather as being admitted to enjoy a great privilege—the privilege of speaking for God, and calling others to worship Him, praising Him, when they rang the bell in His house. They expected the choir—men and boys—to live lives which corresponded with their office in church, but let them see that the bellringers did the same. People would judge their conduct, and they should give no good reason for speaking ill of them. He hoped they would never be absent from church, and never by their conduct give any occasion for people to cast a slur upon the Guild or their branch of it. He urged them to rally round their clergy, and other church officers, and thus become a source for good, as God only knew how far the force of one good life would go. Let them live their own individual life in all its details to His glory. Whatever standard of churchmanship they had already attained to, let them not rest satisfied but go forward. If they were not regular church-goers, they should resolve to be so from that day forward. It was a rule and principle of the Guild that they should be. If they were regular church-goers, they should go on and be regular communicants. Let them rise to a sense of their privileges as members of the Church of Christ, and use them, if they were really trying to live for God. They needed all the help and grace which it was their privilege to claim, and to draw from Him. He urged them not to despair over the dangers and difficulties which surrounded them, but to put their trust in God, and go forward in the path which he had bidden them tread. And if they were regular at Church and Holy Communion, let their lives correspond with their outward profession. He urged them to seek above all things that personal holiness of heart and life without which no man shall see God. In conclusion, he bade them take this message from God to their hearts, "Speak unto the children of Israel that they go forward."

The service, which throughout was hearty and impressive, closed with the Benediction, pronounced by the Rural Dean. Many of the ringers lingered in the sacred adifice to inspect the exquisite decorations and adornments.

Later on the members assembled, by the kind permission of Mr. and Mrs. Benyon, in the Long Gallery at Englefield House, where the transaction of the usual business was combined with welcome refreshment, a substantial tea having been provided in a highly satisfactory manner by Mr. Sherval, of Reading. The Rural Dean presided with his wonted geniality, the vice-chair being occupied by the Rector of Englefield. The annual statement of accounts showed a good balance in hand. Mr. Routh, of Tilehurst, was, on the proposal of the Rural Dean, seconded by the Rector of Englefield, unanimously elected as delegate to represent the Bradfield Deanery Branch on the Central Committee of the Guild.

The Rev. T. H. Bushnell proposed "Health and happiness to Mr. and Mrs. Benyon and family," and also the thanks of the Guild to the worthy and much esteemed squire for having so kindly permitted them to meet together in that spacious room, which from time to time Mr. Benyon had lent for gatherings of different classes of people. He felt quite sure there was no one present who did not desire that the class of landowners represented by Mr. Benyon might long continue to exist in England.

The Rector thanked Mr. Bushnell for the kind words he had just uttered in reference to the good squire and his family, and promised to convey them to Mr. Benyon when next he wrote to him. The Rector added that they were fortunate in having in this parish a working men's club, which they regarded as a very useful institution, and the visitors who were then assembled would be heartily welcomed at the club room during the evening if they desired to use it.

The Rev. D. O. Harrington gave "The Health of the Rector of Englefield," warmly thanking him in the name of the members for having permitted them to gather together for Divine Service in the beautiful parish church, where everything was carried out in a spirit of true reverence.

The rector having made a brief, but appropriate response, expressing the pleasure it had given him to receive the clergy and the ringers of the Newbury Deanery on this occasion,

The Rev. S. Angel Smith proposed "The Health of the preacher," who suitably replied.

The Rev. T. H. Bushnell gave "The Health of the Rural Dean," to whom he tendered the cordial thanks of the company for his valuable services as hon. secretary and treasurer of the branch, and for the excellent arrangements he had made for that successful gathering.

The Rural Dean modestly acknowledged the compliment, describing himself as being "merely the little man who oiled the wheels."

The company thereupon quitted the Long Gallery, and subsequently gave some excellent change-ringing at Englefield and Theale churches, the sweet sounds being heard across the valley in the stillness of the evening. The Englefield ringers rang a capital touch of 360 Grandsire Minor, and this was followed by a touch of 360 Plain Bob Minor, by a mixed band. After tea the Beenham ringers rang on the above bells 720 Bob Minor. Many of the ringers then made their way to Theale tower, which was kindly thrown open to the members of the Guild. The Burghfield band was the first to raise the bells in peal, and rang some call changes, conducted by their venerable captain, D. Higgs. This was followed by touches of Grandsire Minor, Bob Minor, Stedman Doubles, and Grandsire Doubles.

THE MOORSIDE SOCIETY, OLDHAM, LANCASHIRE.

On Saturday, October 29th, the members and friends of the above society held their annual party at the ringers' meeting-house, where a good knife and fork tea was provided, and to which; it is needless to say, ample justice was done. After tea, the company adjourned to another room, where the hours were enlivened by ringing, singing, and dancing.

In the course of the evening a testimonial was made to Henry Hoyle, Esq., on his attaining his 60th birthday. This consisted of a neat little walnut escritoire. The presentation was made on behalf of the ringers by Mr. Gratrix, of Manchester, who performed this duty in a very creditable manner.

Mr. Hoyle thanked the company very much for their kindness. He should prize very much the handsome present they had given him, not for its intrinsic value alone, but also because it had come from Moorside ringers.

Another presentation was then made to Mr. Gratrix, who was a guest of the company that evening. This consisted of a portrait of the ringers, and which Mr. Adam Butterworth, on their behalf, presented to Mr. Gratrix, as a memento of his visits up to Moorside.

In accepting the gift, Mr. Gratrix said he did not know how to express his feelings towards them for the kindness they had shown him on every occasion he had been amongst them. But he thanked them very much for the portrait.

The usual votes of thanks to the host and hostess brought a most enjoyable evening to a close.

CIRENCESTER PARISH CHURCH VOLUNTARY SOCIETY.

The annual meeting of this society took place at the Church Institute on Monday evening, the 31st ultimo, the Ven. Archdeacon Hayward, president, in the chair. There was a good attendance. Mr. C. Bartlett was elected to fill a vacancy on the Committee. Mr. E. P. Harmer was appointed leader, and the secretaryship was transferred to Mr. F. Gardner. Several matters of interest and importance were discussed, and satisfaction was expressed at the progress that had been made in the Stedman method, hearty thanks being awarded to Mr. F. E. Ward, of Cheltenham, Honorary Treasurer of the Diocesan Association, for his valuable gratuitous instruction.

RIDGMONT, BEDFORDSHIRE.

A large new clock has just been erected in the church tower at this village, which will doubtless prove a great boon to the inhabitants. The hours are struck upon a large bell, and there are two very distinct dials each 4 ft. 6 in. diameter, facing north and west. All the latest improvements have been incorporated in the clock, which has been made by Messrs. John Smith and Sons, Midland Steam Clock Works, Derby.

ARDLEIGH, ESSEX.

On Thursday, November 3rd, a meat supper was given by several of the leading tradesmen of this place, to the young ringers. The Vicar, who kindly made all arrangements, presided, and afterwards a very enjoyable evening was spent.

THE BELLS AT ST. MARY'S, WOOLWICH.

We have been asked to insert the following:—

SIR,—At a meeting of the clergy, churchwardens, and sidesmen of the parish church, Woolwich, held at the Rectory on the 12th of October, it was decided that the work of restoration should be commenced with the belfry. For some months past the bells have been in a dangerous condition, so much so that it has been considered inadvisable to attempt to ring them, consequently the usual Sunday and Thursday peals have had to be discontinued. To facilitate matters, independent estimates of the work required to be done have been obtained, and we find that about £160 is wanted for repairs to the bells themselves, and to fix them in such a condition as to ensure their safety. I may here mention that none of the money subscribed to the "Restoration Fund" can be touched for this purpose, "wing to the subscribers having given it for the new chancel, and for renovating the church itself, consequently the Rector and churchwardens have to appeal for special aid to realise the amount required. £160 cannot be considered a large sum to raise when there are many and willing hands to assist, either by substantial donations or otherwise, and to further this desirable work, as well as to endeavour to carry it to a successful issue I have accepted the Secretaryship, to whom all communications should be addressed. I appeal then first to the congregation who attend St. Mary's to do their part; secondly, to other church people in the neighbourhood to subscribe; and thirdly to any others who will help us. It is our desire that the bells may again be pealing at Christmastide, but to do this of course the means must either be in hand or promised speedily, as the work itself will occupy about six weeks. Do not let it be said that Woolwich is indifferent to the maintenance of its parish church, where all the sittings are free, and where every one is welcome. May I ask those who are disposed to help either to give me their contributions, or to send them, whether large or small, by cheque, cash, or stamps, and I promise they shall be duly acknowledged. I am, Sir, yours, etc.,

E. V. MASTERS, Hon. Sec. to the Belfry Fund.

7, Woodville Street, Wood Street, Woolwich.

We heartily endorse this appeal:—

C. E. ESCRETT, Rector of Woolwich.

W. J. SQUIRES,

ROBT. JOS. WARREN, } Churchwardens.

UPPINGHAM, RUTLANDSHIRE.

THE CHURCH BELLS.—In the year 1772-3 the old bells hanging in the tower of the church of SS. Peter and Paul, Uppingham, appear to have been re-cast into or replaced by a peal of eight from the ancient bell foundry at Whitechapel, London. This Foundry (started by Robert Mot, 1570) was at the height of its fame between 1700 and 1800. The proprietors during that period, Phelps, Lester, Pack and Chapman, and Mears, cast some of the best bells in London and the south of England, also the celebrated peal of St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich, and the old bells of York Minster. In "Shipway's Campanologia," published 1816, Uppingham bells are described as "the only peal of eight in the county of Rutland, tenor 17 cwt. in F." Oakham at that time, and until 1860, had only six bells. The fourth bell seems to have been recast by Taylor, of St. Neots. It has the following inscription:—

Matthew Catlin and Richard Wade Jun., Churchwardens. Taylor, St. Neots, Founder, 1804.

The tenor is inscribed thus:—

Ye ringers all who prize your health and happiness

Be sober merry wise and you'll the same possess.

Pack and Chapman of London. Walter Roberts Ch. Warden 1772.

The others simply bear the name of the founders (Pack and Chapman) and the date of casting. The bells hang in two tiers in an oaken frame of somewhat peculiar construction. Uppingham bells are of that moderate size and weight, such as if kept in good order, and properly handled, should produce excellent music, either in chiming or ringing. The church clock, with quarter-chimes, were made by Whitehurst, of Derby, in 1776.

GREAT HORKESLEY, ESSEX.

On Sunday last, Messrs. Nevard and Hazell, from Great Bentley; R. Stannard and Geernaert, from Colchester; and H. Howell and Son, from Ipswich, paid a visit to the above place, and rang several six-scores of Grandsire Doubles, Plain Doubles, and two 6-scores of Stedman Doubles, standing as under. W. Hazell, 1; R. Stannard (conductor), 2; W. J. Nevard, 3; H. Howell, 4; A. Howell, 5. Second 6-score: W. Hazell, 1; A. Howell, 2; R. Stannard, 3; L. G. Geernaert, 4; W. J. Nevard (conductor), 5. First 6-score of Stedman by Messrs. Hazell and Geernaert. The ringers were then entertained to partake of tea with the rector, the Rev. J. Storr, who has lately had the bells re-hung by Messrs. H. Howell and Son, church bell hangers, etc., of Ipswich, and is now trying to get a company of ringers together, who it is hoped will do ample justice to this fine old ring of five. Tenor weighing about 16 cwt., and cast about 1450. After tea several courses of Grandsire Triples, Bob Major, and three leads of Oxford Treble Bob Major were rung on the handbells. After thanking the rector for his kindness they took leave for home, Mr. Nevard having some thirteen or fourteen miles drive.

GREAT ST. MARY'S CHURCH, CAMBRIDGE.

We hear the St. Mary of Cambridge chimes now in every part of the kingdom. It appears that the celebrated Dr. Crotch, once Regius Professor at Cambridge, was invited to compose chimes for the new clock to be erected at that time (about a century ago) for the Great St. Mary's church, and he adapted the chimes from Handel's air "I know that my Redeemer liveth." The old clock at St. Mary's having got considerably worn, the Council decided upon asking a few well-known firms to compete for a new clock to be made on modern principles, but to have the original chimes inserted and to strike them upon the original bells. Messrs. Potts and Sons, of Leeds, had the honour of receiving the order for the work, and have this week completed the same, the old clock having been fixed in the museum. Messrs. Potts and Sons have also clocks in hand for the Catholic Cathedral and Messrs. Foster's Bank, Cambridge; Haddenham church, near Ely; Town Hall, Cleckheaton, Yorkshire, for Messrs. J. W. and F. Wadsworth; and have just completed one for Liverpool University College, presented by W. P. Hartley, Esq., Aintree, Liverpool.

ANOTHER PRIZE-RINGING COMPETITION IN NORTH DEVON.

We get the following from the North Devon Herald :—

"WEST DEVON.

'RINGING COMPETITION.—We here that it is now definitely decided to hold a ringing competition in this village shortly. Altogether some £7 has been already promised towards the cost of certificates, prizes, etc. A committee of management is in the course of construction, of which the hon. sec. pro tem., is Mr. G. West, to whom all entries or subscriptions may be sent. Although no definite date has been fixed at present, it has been suggested that Bank Holiday, December 26th, would be a good day, but this will, of course, depend upon the convenience of the competitors. Any further particulars will be forwarded with pleasure on application to the hon. secretary."

RICHARDS CASTLE, SHROPSHIRE.

On Tuesday week, the memorial church of All Saints, Richards Castle, near Ludlow, was consecrated by the Bishop of Hereford. Since the death of Major Foster in 1880, a great desire was felt by Mrs. Foster and her daughters to commemorate his memory by building a memorial church. This desire was greatly increased when, in 1883, Major Foster's eldest daughter died at the age of eighteen. In 1889, Mrs. Foster and her two surviving daughters offered to build a new church for the parish in place of the old church of St. Bartholomew, and on a more convenient site. This was gratefully accepted. Two sites were offered, one by Mrs. Foster and the other by Mr. Alfred Salwey, the former being decided upon as it commands a very extensive and beautiful view. The bell tower of the new church is 80ft. high, and the nave 56ft., and the chancel 48ft. The interior is fitted with oak pews. The nave is 73ft. long, and there is accommodation for 192. The architect is Mr. R. Norman Shaw. In the belfry has been fixed a bell, weighing 2 tons 2 cwt., and bearing the following inscription on one side :—

To the glory of God, and in loving memory of Johnstone Jonas Foster, of Moor Park, who died February, 26th, 1880, aged 53 years; and of his daughter, Katherine Lætitia, who died October 31st, 1883.

On the other side the inscription is :—

This bell is given by Hannah Jane Foster and her two daughters, Ethel Jane Foster and Gertrude Mansfield Foster, October 31st, 1892.

It is stated that this is the sixth church the Foster family have built.

The Archbishop of Canterbury (says the Athenæum) was recently approached by the editor of Lloyd's News with a view to the introduction of a short sermon into that journal. His Grace received the suggestion with favour, and it has been decided to begin the series the last week in November. The idea is a sermon of 500 words, the first of which will be written by the Archbishop of Canterbury. The Bishops of Bath and Wells, Ely, Lichfield, Peterborough, Rochester, Ripon, Sodor and Man, Southwell, Wakefield, Worcester, Bedford, Dover, Beverley, Southwark, Derby, and Barrow-in-Furness have already sent or promised sermons, and many more occupants of the Episcopal bench warmly commend the editor's proposal.

A TALK ABOUT CHURCH BELLS.

"The History and Uses of Church Bells" was the subject of an able and interesting paper read at a meeting of the Chelmsford Odde Volumes, on Monday evening, October 17th, by the Rev. T. L. Papillon, Vicar of Writtle, and Honorary Secretary of the Essex Association. The Rev. A. Cyril Pearson, rector of Springfield, presided, and, in the language of the settee, the shelf was well filled with volumes. After a vote of condolence had been passed with the family of the late Mayor, who was Volume 22, Mr. Papillon proceeded with his lecture. He remarked that the history and uses of church bells, and their connection with national, parochial, and individual life, constituted an interesting field of inquiry. In some counties this field had been exhaustively worked, and Mr. Deedes had now promised to deal with the church bells of Essex. Mr. Papillon, in a graphic and attractive manner, then traced the connection of bells with English life, from the Norman Conquest down to the present time, showing the multiplicity of their uses in religious, social, and business concerns. It was clearly shown that church bells have been associated with almost every event of interest in the daily lives of Englishmen. It appears that of existing church bells in England, the oldest whose dates can possibly be ascertained belong to the 12th and 13th centuries. The pre-Reformation bells were, as a rule, larger and heavier than those of these times, when change-ringing requires a larger number of bells which can be more easily handled. At Great Waltham, one of the eight bells dates from 1422. In that tower, so far as can be ascertained, the bells were never rung in changes until a few years ago. The heaviest bell known is at Moscow, and weighs 200 tons. It has never been hung, however, and is only placed on a pedestal. It was remarked that the bells at Chelmsford and Writtle are large enough for dignity of sound, but not too large to be easily handled, and are very well hung. Referring to customs of bell-ringing, the lecturer mentioned, among other things, in reference to the induction bell, that it is an old superstition that the number of strokes which the inducted clergyman gives will correspond to the number of years he will remain in the parish—an observation which led the chairman subsequently to say that he gave ninety-nine strokes on being inducted to Springfield, and was therefore likely to be accessible to his neighbours for a good many years to come. The curfew, and the many different methods of tolling death bells, new years' bells, and so on, were all passed in review, and it was mentioned that in Mr. Papillon's own parish of Writtle it is the custom on New Year's Eve to have the bells muffled at intervals until five minutes to twelve, a joyous peal following the striking of the hour. Change-ringing was then lucidly explained, and its interest and importance insisted upon, since it is putting the church bells to their best use. The rev. gentleman condemned the neglect and parsimony of many churchwardens in the concerns of the belfry, reminding them that church bells require little outlay when they have once been well hung, but that that little is absolutely necessary. He rejoiced in the improved status of bell-ringing as compared with the days when bell-ringing news was only put upon record by the sporting papers, together with reports of prize fights, races, and a mysterious game called knurr and spell. A lengthy and interesting discussion followed, in which Mr. T. Thompson, the Rev. J. H. Bloom, the new curate of Springfield, Mr. F. H. Meggy, Mr. E. Durrant, Mr. D. A. Polley, Mr. C. R. Finch, and others took part. Mr. Papillon also replied to a large number of questions. He had no knowledge, he said, of an alleged exchange of the ancient market at Writtle for the church bells of Chelmsford.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.—ROCHDALE BRANCH.

A meeting was held on Saturday, November 5th, at the parish church, Rochdale, when about twenty-five ringers were present from Heywood, Hamer, Balderstone, Healey, Milnrow and the parish church. The meeting was held at six o'clock in the parish room, the Vicar, the Ven. Archdeacon Wilson, in the chair, who was elected a life member. St. Mark's, Glodwick, near Oldham, was the place selected for holding the next meeting, on Saturday, December 10th. Some touches of Grandsire Triples and Plain Bob Minor was rung after the meeting.

THE OLD BELL AT CLAUGHTON.

SIR,—In "English Bells and Bell Lore," North gives the inscription on this bell without the G of the word NONOG, as quoted by Mr. Elsee. I should be glad to be quite sure that the latter gentleman has transcribed it correctly, before noting the alteration. In a case of such importance one cannot be too accurate.

EDWARD F. STRANGE.

National Art Library, South Kensington Museum, S.W.

SIR,—Seeing in the last issue of "THE BELL NEWS" a letter with reference to the old bell at Claughton, Lancashire, and also a reference to a yet older bell down south, I remembered having seen an account of a lecture on church bells some time ago in "THE BELL NEWS," so I took the trouble to wade through the back numbers until I came across it in No. 402, vol. viii., December 14th, 1889, page 436. Here it states that the oldest bell in England is supposed to be that of Duncton in Sussex, dated A.D. 1319; so it appears by this that the Claughton bell is twenty-three years older than the Duncton one. I may say that Duncton is a small hamlet close under the South Downs, about two miles from Petworth station on the London, Brighton and South Coast railway, and adjoins Bar-Lavington, where the late Cardinal Manning was vicar.

A REQUEST.

SIR,—In the issue of "BELL NEWS" for August 20th, there appeared a letter headed "Information Wanted," and signed by "Ringer," asking whether "if bells get out of course during a peal, would that invalidate the said peal?" This letter evidently referred more especially to a peal of Grandsire Caters rang at St. Margaret's church, Westminster, on Saturday, August 13th, and conducted by Mr. Fredk. Pitts, and it somewhat surprises myself and others that he has not endeavoured to clear himself after being plainly told the peal was false. Mr. Pitts says the bells were not out of course for more than a lead, but it has been stated (I believe openly) by those who heard the peal, that the bells were out of course for nearly two hours, and that the striking was so bad during that time, that they could not hear a course-end. In fairness to the other nine ringers who rang in this "alleged" peal, would it be asking too much of the conductor to state plainly whether or not the peal was a true one.

A RINGER.

JOHN PICKERSGILL.

It is with deep regret that we have to announce the death of the above gentleman, who died at Masham on Wednesday, October 26th, in his fifty-third year. The funeral took place on the Friday following at 2.15 p.m. The curate performed the service, which was attended by many of the principal members of the Masham Local Board, tradesmen, friends, and relatives of the deceased. Blinds were drawn all along the route from the residence of the deceased to the church. After the funeral a 720 Oxford Treble Bob Minor was rung half-muffled by the local society. The deceased commenced his ringing career when he first came to reside at Masham twenty-eight years ago, when he was elected surveyor under the Masham Local Board. Since that time, and up to within a few months of his death, he has assiduously attended, as a member of the local society, to his duties, and became a very efficient change-ringer. He took part in a peal of Bob Major about two years after his commencement, and another peal of Kent Treble Bob Major a few years afterwards. He was highly esteemed by his brother-ringers for his cordial and able assistance, and was never backward in helping as far as laid in his power any good object relating to any one. He was greatly esteemed by his employers, and gave every satisfaction. He had been a member of the Yorkshire Association since 1877.

PICKWELL, NEAR OAKHAM.

Some time since the bells of this church were restored, and now a new clock has been erected to completely furnish the tower. The time is shewn on a handsome dial 5 ft. across, and the hours are struck upon the largest bell. The movement of the clock has been made to the designs of Lord Grimthorpe, by John Smith and Sons, of Derby, who are also now making the great clock for St. Paul's Cathedral.

The peal was also rung on the fortieth birthday of Mr. J. Buffery, who was the recipient of the congratulations of the company at the event. Also as a compliment to C. W. Collis, Esq., as a recognition of the interest he took in the restoration of the bells. It was Messrs. Dakin and Dyke's first peal of Triples; W. A. Pugh's away from the tenor; and W. Fryer's first of Grandsire Triples. It was the first peal of Grandsire Triples on the bells since 1869.

THE CHURCH BELLS OF BUCKINGHAMSHIRE. By ALFRED HENEAGE COCKS, M.A., Ch. Ch., Oxford; F.Z.S., F.R.G.S., Great Marlow Bucks. With many Illustrations.

MESSRS. JARROLD & SONS have pleasure in announcing the early publication by subscription of this most interesting and important work. It will contain an account of all the Church Bells in Buckinghamshire, with everything relating to their history that can be discovered. Full accounts of all the Founders whose bells hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County, including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church Bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. The work was undertaken at the instigation of the late J. C. L. Stahl Schmidt, Esq., author of "Surrey Bells and London Bell-founders," "The Church Bells of Kent," "Herts," etc.; and the fact that the author had the benefit of the kind assistance and advice of this well-known campanologist may be mentioned as some guarantee of the scope and nature of the present work. Mr. Stahl Schmidt wrote the author, that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting county," and he repeated this opinion in a subsequent letter. The "Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 600 pages, & be handsomely illustrated with 24 full-page plates of mediaeval letterings, founders' marks, etc., found on Bells still existing in the County and numerous figures—some of them being peculiar to Bucks—will be inserted in the text. The 8vo. Edition is limited to 350 copies, and will be offered to subscribers before the day of publication at 21s. nett. The Larger Edition, Royal 4to, is limited to 80 copies, and will be subscribed at 42s. The prices will be raised on the day of issue should any copies remain unsold.

Her Majesty's Surgeon-Dentist's Testimonial.
"My Dear Doctor,—Allow me to express my sincere thanks for the skill and attention displayed in the construction of my Artificial Teeth, which render my mastication and articulation excellent. I am glad to hear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. In recognition of your valuable services, you are at liberty to use my name.—S. G. HUTCHINGS. By Appointment Surgeon-Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen."
Geo. H. Jones, Esq. F.R.S.L., F.R.M.S.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has by his Perfected System of Dentistry demonstrated that Painless Dentistry is as much an accomplished fact as the swift locomotive, the electric light, or the telephone, and absolutely restores the natural contour caused by the loss of teeth, by the adjustment of Prize Medal dentals, rendering detection impossible, which obtained the Gold Medals of London, 1851; New York, 1853; London, 1862; Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; and Philadelphia, 1876.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has been awarded for his Improvements and Patents in Dentistry gold medals, London and Paris; gold medal, New Zealand Exhibition, 1882; gold medal Calcutta, 1883; and the highest diploma of merit and award at Nice and Amsterdam, 1883-4. Awarded the gold medal of the Académie Nationale, Paris, 1884; and the highest award Antwerp; also the gold medal, International Exhibition, London, 1885; gold medal, Liverpool, 1886; gold medal, Melbourne, 1888-9.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION IN NEWCASTLE.

On Monday, October 31st, the annual gathering of the members of this Association was held in Newcastle. The bells of All Saints, St. John's, and St. George's were placed at the disposal of the members. At the latter church three courses of Kent Treble Bob and three of Bob Major were rung in the morning. A committee meeting was held in All Saints' vestry at twelve noon, at which several matters of importance were discussed.

The annual service was held at All Saints' Church at 1 p.m., and a most appropriate and interesting sermon was delivered by the Rev. E. Williams, curate of the parish. The collection was in aid of the rehanging of the bells at this church. In the afternoon the annual dinner was held at the "Crown" hotel, Clayton Street, Mr. R. S. Story, president of the Association presiding, supported by the Revs. O. C. Carr, and E. Williams (All Saints, Newcastle); I. W. Milner (St. John's); W. D. Heelas (St. George's); and C. Buston (Embleton); Messrs. T. Clark, Ripon; W. G. Routledge, W. Lindsey, and F. Lees, Newcastle; W. S. Craster, Embleton, etc. Members were present from Darlington, Hexham, Embleton, Whitby, Bishop Wearmouth, Chester-le-Street, Consett, Jarrow, Lanchester, Willington, Winlaton, Tanfield, Whickham, North Shields, and Newcastle.

After dinner the President proposed the toasts of "The Bishops and Clergy of the Dioceses," coupling with it the name of the Rev. O. C. Carr, Vicar of All Saints, who, in reply, said he was pleased to be affiliated with such a good work as the Association was doing, and assured the members of always receiving a warm welcome in his belfry.

The President read out a letter from the Hon. Secretary, regretting his inability to be present through illness.

The feature of the meeting was of course the annual report, which, in the absence of Mr. Newton, was read by the President. There had been thirty-six peals of over 5000 changes rung during the year, as compared with thirteen last year, but it was to be regretted that these had been rung by a comparatively small number of members. They had been rung however in a considerably increased number of methods, viz.: Grandsire, Plain Bob and Stedman Triples (5); Oxford, Kent and Woodbine Treble Bob Major, and Plain Bob and Double Norwich Court Bob Major, and a 5040 in seven Minor methods. First peals had been rung on the bells of St. George's Jesmond, Morpeth, Alnwick, Consett and Embleton, and first peals of Major on the bells at Carlisle, Sunderland, All Saints Newcastle, etc. The lion's share of the year's work had been done by the St. John's Newcastle branch, who, besides ringing most of the peals had rung a large number of touches in various methods, including Treble Bob Royal and Stedman Caters at North Shields. The Bishop Auckland ringers had rung two peals of Triples without assistance, and there are prospects of a peal of Major by this branch at an early date. The Middlesbrough men also showed a good record, and had rung one 5000 of Triples, but were unfortunately now crippled from loss of members. Referring to the week's ringing in which eight of the members had taken part, it was unfortunate that so few peals had been rung, but it had served its purpose in bringing the Association more in touch with their brethren in the Midlands, where one of the premier Associations of the country existed, and it would give them no little standing amongst ringers generally. Most of the six-bell towers had done good work, especially Darlington (St. John's), where it is intended to augment the peal to eight shortly. Bishop Wearmouth, Consett, Tanfield, Whickham, St. Oswald's, Durham, and Winlaton also received favourable comment in the report. Touching on the openings of bells by the Association, there had been those at All Saints, Newcastle and at Embleton, where a new peal of six has been hung. Peals had been rung at both these places on the opening day, and a warm reception had been given to the members who attended these openings. Great regret was expressed in the report that the Cathedral bells had not been opened by the Association, but better things seemed to be in store in that quarter, as the use of the bells had been granted for the annual meeting most readily by the Vicar and churchwardens. A band of ringers had been formed at All Saints, Newcastle, with the Rev. E. Williams as Captain, and it was evident change-ringing would soon flourish there, with assistance from St. John's. Embleton was also in good hands in the person of the Rev. C. Buston. With all this good work going on there was still room for improved teaching and more peal-ringing in our belfries.

The report was adopted, with one slight alteration suggested by Mr. Harrison, of Jarrow, unanimously.

It was also decided at the meeting to issue a pamphlet, drawn up by Mr. R. S. Story, setting forth the claims of the Association as a belfry-reformation movement, and to be placed in the hands of the clergy of the district, asking for further co-operation on the part of these gentlemen.

Mr. W. G. Routledge, Newcastle, proposed that a vote of condolence be accorded to the Revs. T. H. Archdall, Tanfield, and W. M. Jones, Blaydon, in their recent family bereavements, each having lost a child recently under very distressing circumstances. This was also carried.

The President's health was next proposed by the Rev. C. Buston, in felicitous terms, and it was received with musical honours.

Mr. Story replied, thanking the members for their kind appreciation of his humble efforts to fill the presidentship properly.

The Rev. I. W. Milner proposed "The Health of the vice-presidents," and after Messrs. Clark and Lees had replied, the election of officers for the ensuing year took place. Mr. R. S. Story was re-elected President, Messrs. Clark and Lees Vice-Presidents, and the Rev. C. Buston, Honorary Secretary and Treasurer. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the late Secretary, Mr. L. Newton, Durham, for his past services in that capacity. Several new members were elected, including the Revs. O. C. Carr, Canon Osborn, E. Williams, and J. and W. S. Craster, Esq., of Embleton, J. L. Brown, Esq., of Bishop Wearmouth, W. Lindsey, Esq., of All Saints, Newcastle (churchwardens). Also Messrs. R. Johnson, Tanfield, G. A. Overton, Darlington, J. Griffin, Burton-on-Trent, A. Knights, Chesterfield, etc.

Mr. Wm. Story proposed a vote of thanks to the Rev. E. Williams, for his excellent sermon that morning, which was carried nem. con.

Mr. Lees asked for a vote of thanks to be accorded to the vicars and churchwardens of the various churches where the members had been granted the use of the bells for the day.

This was also agreed to enthusiastically, and a vote of thanks to the Chairman closed the meeting. The ringing afterwards consisted of Bob Minor and Triples at St. John's, Plain Bob, Double Norwich and Kent Treble Bob Major at All Saints, several touches being brought round during the day. The ringing at the Cathedral has already been recorded in these columns.

THE MIDLAND COUNTIES' ASSOCIATION.

On Wednesday evening, November 9th, at the Baptist Chapel, Rugby, the second part of an entertainment consisted of several touches of Grandsire Triples, on handbells, by Messrs. J. O. Lancashire, S. Cotton, and G. Cleal, of Leicester, and J. George, of Rugby. Also several tunes by Messrs. S. Cotton and G. Cleal. The audience showed their appreciation of the performance by their loud and continued applause. The ringers left Rugby at 11.50 p.m., and on the platform at Nuneaton station "go" was called at 12.35 a.m. for a date touch of 1892 Stedman Triples, which unfortunately came to grief after ringing about 1260 changes. J. O. Lancashire, 1-2; S. Cotton, 3-4; G. Cleal (conductor), 5-6; J. George, 7-8.

YORK MINSTER.

On Wednesday, November 9th, being the birthday of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, and the annual election of the Lord Mayor, Sheriff and Aldermen of the City Council, advantage was taken of an opportunity which seldom occurs, for the inhabitants surrounding the Minster complain so much about the noise of the bells. The Dean, who is a noble specimen of loyalty, wished the band of ringers to give the Prince a good long peal. They accomplished a peal of Grandsire Caters, which is believed to be the first true peal of Caters on the present ring. An account of this peal will be found on another page.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

DEAR SIR,—At the last meeting of the above Council I was instructed to communicate to the Editors of the "Ringing" periodicals the following definitions of a valid peal on any number of bells, from five to twelve, agreed to by resolution of the Council, and to request that the record of such peals as fulfil the conditions laid down by these definitions should alone be published.

CONDITIONS ESSENTIAL TO THE VALIDITY OF A PEAL.

On five bells, without the addition of a covering bell, not less than 5040 changes, rung without interval in true 6-scores, and in not less than three methods.

On six bells, not less than 5040 changes rung without interval in true 720s, of which no two in the same method shall be called alike.

On seven bells, with or without the addition of a covering bell, 5040 true changes rung without interval in any one method.

On eight, ten and twelve bells, not less than 5000 true changes rung without interval in any one method.

On nine and eleven bells, in each case with the addition of a covering bell, not less than 5000 true changes rung without interval in any one method.

With reference to the above, you will perceive that it is the desire of the Council to limit the performance of peals of Doubles to five-bell towers, by discountenancing such performances where there is a ring of six bells, the tenor being used as a cover. With regard to peals of Triples, although, for theoretic reasons, the Council did not invalidate a performance without a covering bell, there was still a strong and general feeling that such peals were unworthy of record. A rider to that effect was ruled out of order by the President, but it will be moved at the next meeting.

I am, dear Sir, your obedient Servant,
H. EARLE BULWER, Hon. Sec.

IRTHLINGBOROUGH, NORTHANTS.

There is a prospect of Irthlingborough church tower being completed at a much earlier date than the most sanguine persons had imagined to be possible. That portion of the ancient and historic fabric, erected by private subscription, had just been completed, when the glad news reached the Rector (the Rev. E. Biscoe) that Miss Lucas, of Westbury-on-Trym, had generously decided to defray the expenses of the completion of the lantern, the upper portion of the tower, in memory of her beloved brother. This work will be proceeded with at once, under the direction of the architects, Messrs. Talbot, Brown and Fisher, of Wellingborough, at an estimated cost of £500. There will, however, still remain to be carried out such details as the rehanging of the bells, the clock and chimes, which, it is hoped, will arrest the attention of other kind donors, so that Irthlingborough church, with its noble tower and picturesque lantern, will, ere long, stand forth as in former days, an object of beauty and architectural grandeur. It has been suggested that when the bells are rehung, it would be well to add two trebles to complete the octave. This would be a fitting finish to the restoration of this noted Nene Valley tower. The local ringers are already collecting funds for the rehanging.

The Kelly motor was supposed to be a power derived from sound, not the musical "power of sound," but its mechanical power. Catalani was credited with having broken the windows of the Mayence Casino by the strength of her sweet and strong voice, while the echo, artificially made, in the vaults of the Pantheon in Paris, for the amusement of visitors, was declared to have shaken the foundation of that edifice, and was discontinued. It is now averred that the bells of St. Martin's, Charing Cross, have shaken the solidity of the spire and necessitated the repairs that are going on. It is hoped that the spire will be so strengthened as to admit of the full-toned and most powerful ringing of those joyously-sounding and popular bells, beloved from our infancy, when their melody pronounced a constant accusation of indebtedness.—Court Journal.

HENDON, MIDDLESEX.

The ancient parish church of St. Mary's, Hendon, has a queer old tower, from the top of which one is informed that in olden days a beacon light used to burn to guide travellers through the "forest." The exterior of the tower is remarkable for its "red corner," and the interior is far more remarkable and interesting, if one can only climb the dilapidated steps, which, according to Mr. C. H. Martin, are "all right" when you are used to them. The clock-room seems to speak volumes, its ancient door and relics of cumbersome furniture being of an interesting character, together with a queer and antique ladder which leads up to the bells. One would think its construction was of an antediluvian period. But be this as it may, the visitor is well repaid for his visit to the top of this tower, where a capital view of the surrounding country can be obtained, and from the number of names cut or scratched on every conceivable place, one is convinced of the number who abuse the privilege so freely offered. The tower contains six bells, three of which are alleged to be cracked, viz.: treble, second, and fourth. The following are the inscriptions:—

TREBLE.—"At proper times my voice I'll raise and sound to my benefactor's praise. Lester and Pack, 1759."

SECOND.—"Gloria Deo in Excelsis. I.E.—R.M.—B. & E.—1637."

THIRD.—"Feare God, 1638."

FOURTH.—"Thos. Mears, of London, Fecit, 1802."

FIFTH.—"Edward Nicole, Michael Combes, Churchwardens, 1690.—I.B."

TENOR.—"Mk. Walter Earle, Vicar. Wm. Wade and Jno. Dowdswell, Ch-Wardens, 1759.—16 cwt. 2 qrs. 11 lbs." (In F.)

THE CLOCK.

"The gift of Mrs. Mary Wellenton, February, 1759. William Wade, Jno. Dondswell, Churchwardens, Thomas Chilton, London."

If one may now turn to more modern times it is very pleasing to hear that the Vicar, the Rev. Newton Mant, M.A., recently paid the ringers a visit whilst in the tower, and cordially shook hands with all present, and in an appropriate manner spoke on the duties of a ringer as a church official. The rev. gentleman also referred to the erection of a contemplated ringing-chamber, which has been a long-felt want, and which ere long may probably be an accomplished thing. Of late the Hendon ringers have lost the services of two prominent members, but in the one instance it is to be hoped only temporary, during the business engagement of Mr. Charles Pratchett. Lastly, the writer hopes that there is no real intention on the part of the Master of a particular Association vacating his position owing to the forthcoming nuptial spice. A. J. J. G.

THE ASHTON-UNDER-LYNE SOCIETY.

This Society held a meeting at Ashton, on Saturday, November 12th, when upwards of twenty members attended, Leeds, Manchester, Hyde, etc., being represented, as well as the local companies. Touches of Grandsire Caters, Treble Bob Royal and Maximus, and Stedman Cinques were rung during the day. A meeting was afterwards held under the presidency of Mr. Longden, when the Secretary reported that about forty members had joined the Society. He also reported the steps which had been taken towards purchasing a peal-book for the Society, and submitted a code of rules which he had drawn up. After a discussion it was resolved to form a committee to go through them and decide on the printing of them, etc. A new member was elected, and it was decided to hold ringing meetings quarterly, the next to be on the second Saturday in February, 1893, at Ashton. The rest of the evening was spent in a convivial manner, and in handbell ringing, and all separated satisfied that the first ringing meeting had been successful.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.—BLACKBURN BRANCH.

On Saturday, November 12th, a meeting of the above branch was held at the parish church, Oswaldtwistle. Representatives were present from Blackburn, Church, Burnley, Padiham and Oswaldtwistle. Ringing commenced at 3.30 and was kept up until 9.30, several 720s of Bob Minor and a 720 of Grandsire Minor being rung. At 5.30 the business meeting was held in the schoolroom, presided over by the Vicar, the Rev. B. Hazlewood, B.A., who also joined the Association as a ringing member. Mr. J. Walker, of Blackburn, was re-elected President of the Branch for the next twelve months, and Mr. J. Horrocks, of Church, was re-elected Secretary for the same term. Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar, Wardens, and ringers of Oswaldtwistle for the use of the bells, schoolroom, etc., during the afternoon and evening.

INFORMATION WANTED.

SIR,—We are very much bothered in our belfry by the ropes becoming stiff previous to and during wet weather. As this form of the elements is almost incessant with us, we shall be much obliged if you or any of our brother-strings could inform us of some method of keeping them soft and pliable. I should state that the ropes are hemp.

ANSWER TO "A RINGER."

SIR,—I have read the letter signed "A Ringer" in last week's paper; would it be too much to ask him to send his name for publication; when he has I will answer the letter.

F. J. PITTS.

THE OLD BELL AT CLAUGHTON.

SIR,—I have before me a rubbing taken by myself from the Claughton bell. The inscription is exactly as given in "THE BELL NEWS" of November 5th, save that there is a small initial cross before the word ANNO, a contraction mark over the N of D N I, and a small mark, o, over the M, the second C, the G, and the V in the date. NONOG is, I suppose, intended for a contraction of NONAGESIMO, "ninetieth." The special interest of this bell lies in the fact that it bears a date. Probably there are several bells still in use in England which are actually older than that at Claughton, but it is extremely rare to find a date on any bells cast before the Reformation period, so that their age has to be determined by other considerations. May I, through your columns, thank Mr. Tribe for the information he has given with regard to the Duncion bell.

Obituary.

WILLIAM HAYNES.

The above-named ringer, of Great Doddington, near Wellingborough, died recently after a painful illness, aged fifty-one years. He had been connected with that belfry since the year 1863. He was buried in the churchyard, the Rev. E. Symons, vicar of Doddington, conducting the funeral service. In the evening some muffled 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles was rung at St. Luke's church. J. Thornton, 1; J. Sharp, 2; J. Law, 3; J. Bonham, 4; E. Chapman, 5. Deceased generally rang the tenor.

WRAYSBURY (Berks). — On Tuesday, November 8th, a start was made for a peal of Grandsire (Holt's ten-part), by four of the local men, assisted by three visitors from Fulham and one from Old Windsor. A change-course at the end of the first part so encroached upon the time available, that afterwards the band had to be content with a half-peal, which was successfully completed. E. Whatmore, 1; Rev. J. H. Hindson, 2; G. Kirby, 3; H. Shanks, 4; J. G. Green, 5; W. T. Meaton, 6; J. W. Driver (conductor), 7; J. Gutteridge, 8.

Holding (formerly a Whitchurch ringer) from Crewe, the rest belong to the local band, and it was G. Wright's first attempt at calling a peal. Afterwards the ringers to the number of fifteen adjourned to the "Greyhound Inn," where a most sumptuous repast was provided by the liberality of the rector. The Rev. G. R. Plant (curate), took the chair in the absence of the rector, and the C. N. Swayne (curate) the vice-chair. Having done justice to the good things provided, the chairman proposed the "Queen and Royal Family," after which the toast of the evening, "The Rev. W. H. Egerton," was received with great applause; the other toasts being "the Visitors" and the "Local Ringers." Song and sentiment then reigned until nearly eleven o'clock, when each one departed for home well pleased with the afternoon's enjoyment.

THE CHURCH BELLS OF BUCKINGHAMSHIRE. By ALFRED HENEGGE COCKS, M.A., Ch. Ch., Oxford; F.R.S., F.R.G.S., Great Marlow, Bucks. With many illustrations.

MESSRS. JARROLD & SONS have pleasure in announcing the early publication by subscription of this most interesting and important work. It will contain an account of all the Church Bells in Buckinghamshire, with everything relating to their history that can be discovered. Full accounts of all the Founders whose bells hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County, including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. The work was undertaken at the instigation of the late J. C. L. Stahl Schmidt, Esq., author of "Surrey Bells and London Bell-founders," "The Church Bells of Kent," "Herts," etc.; and the fact that the author had the benefit of the kind assistance and advice of this well-known campanologist may be mentioned as some guarantee of the scope and nature of the present work. Mr. Stahl Schmidt wrote the author, that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting county," and he repeated this opinion in a subsequent letter. The "Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 600 pages, & be handsomely illustrated with 24 full-page plates of mediaeval letterings, founders' marks, etc., found on Bells still existing in the County and numerous figures—some of them being peculiar to Bucks—will be inserted in the text. The 8vo. Edition is limited to 350 copies, and will be offered to subscribers before the day of publication at 21s. nett. The Larger Edition, Royal 4to, is limited to 80 copies, and will be subscribed at 42s. The prices will be raised on the day of issue should any copies remain unsold.

RINGING FOR CHRISTMAS (O.S.)

"It's getting time to meet together,
The nights are long, and cold the weather,
So mind and come, let's catch no foxes,
Else you'll go short of Xmas boxes."

Thus spoke the leader of our band
Of call-change ringers. Understand
We only meet—it is the rule—
When scruffe-days come, to have a pull.

But to this rule there's one exception,
Which you will see on ealm reflection
Must be allowed, 'cause as the fact is,
We cannot do without some practice

For Xmas day; else we should be
That early morning "up a tree,"
Therefore we meet some nights before
To practice ups and downs galore.

And rounds and Queens, at fair good rate,
1 3 5 7 2 4 6 8;
The back-change too 's correctly done,
8 7 6 5 4 3 2 1.

Such work as this, to do it well,
And every one master of his bell,
Requires some pains, about the striking
Before it's to the Rector's liking.

Therefore it is a usual thing
With us to meet, to have a ring,
Twelve nights before each Xmas feast,
And practice hard one hour at least.

And thus when Xmas morn appears,
About our ringing we've no fears,
Practice has made us all efficient,
And our Xmas gifts don't prove deficient.

The congregation all admire
Our skill and prowess when we "fire,"
And then break out in tittums straight,
1 5 2 6 3 7 4 8.

And when we've rung them into church
We scorn to leave them in the lurch;
But one by one we take our places,
That the Rector can easily see our faces.

And then he's pleased, it is his glory,
To see his ringers (Whig and Tory),
Assembled there; and for a while
Their voices raise through nave and aisle.

The service o'er we all repair,
To ring again without a jar;
This duty done, to our relief,
We go and eat our Xmas beef.

The following day at sound of tocsin
We commence our round of Xmas boxin'
The parishioners all our praises singing,
Because we've done such splendid ringing.

And they treat us well, with joyful glee,
While giving their liberal gratuity,
And say, while treating us all like men,
"Hope to see you when Xmas comes again."

CALEB.

The Bell News &amp; Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 1892

On another page will be found an important communication from the Honorary Secretary of the Central Council of Change Ringers. The "conditions essential to the validity of a peal" therein set forth, will affect those of our friends who have opportunities only for six-bell practice; in short it may be said that only six-bell ringers will be concerned about them.

It is necessary perhaps to explain what will be our attitude in the matter. We shall certainly act on all occasions with devoted loyalty to the behests of the Central Council. And now that we have received this official minute from the Hon. Secretary, we notify to our readers that for the future it will be acted upon with regard to the admission of ringing reports in our columns. Therefore we make known that the report of any performance falling short of the "conditions" laid down by the Central Council will not be published in company with the peals, but with the touches. We do not think it necessary to vary the present nomenclature used for long performances on five and six bells; the distinction of being classed among the peals in tablet shape will no doubt be sufficient.

Her Majesty's Surgeon-Dentist's Testimonial.

"My Dear Doctor,—Allow me to express my sincere thanks for the skill and attention displayed in the construction of my Artificial Teeth, which render my mastication and articulation excellent. I am glad to hear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. In recognition of your valuable services, you are at liberty to use my name.—S. G. HUTCHINGS. By Appointment Surgeon-Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen."
 Geo. H. Jones, Esq., F.R.S.L., F.R.M.S.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has by his Perfected System of Dentistry demonstrated that Painless Dentistry is as much an accomplished fact as the swift locomotive, the electric light, or the telephone, and absolutely restores the natural contour caused by the loss of teeth, by the adjustment of Prize Medal dentals, rendering detection impossible, which obtained the Gold Medals of London, 1851; New York, 1853; London, 1862; Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; and Philadelphia, 1876.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has been awarded for his Improvements and Patents in Dentistry gold medals, London and Paris; gold medal, New Zealand Exhibition, 1882; gold medal Calcutta, 1883; and the highest diploma of merit and award at Nice and Amsterdam, 1883-4. Awarded the gold medal of the Académie Nationale, Paris, 1884; and the highest award Antwerp; also the gold medal, International Exhibition, London, 1884; gold medal, Liverpool, 1886; gold medal, Melbourne, 1888-9.

WORCESTERSHIRE AND ADJOINING DISTRICTS ASSOCIATION.

On Saturday last a meeting of this Association was held at King's Norton, Worcestershire, a good number of representative members being present from Birmingham, Bromsgrove, Cradley, Dudley, Hanbury, Kidderminster, King's Norton, Netherton, Stourbridge, Tipton, Wollaston, Worcester, etc. The Master, Mr. W. S. Spittle, presided.

Before commencing the business the Chairman remarked that the Honorary Secretary had received a letter from the Rev. D. H. C. Preedy, Vicar of King's Norton, regretting his inability to attend and preside owing to illness. He (the Chairman) would have been pleased, and no doubt the members would also, to have seen the Vicar in the chair, as it added dignity to a meeting of ringers when the incumbent of the parish presided. He moved that a vote of sympathy be sent from that meeting to the rev. gentleman in his severe illness, trusting that he may soon be restored to his usual health. Mr. J. S. Pritchett kindly undertook to convey the same to him.

The minutes of the last meeting having been read, the Hon. Secretary said that in accordance with the resolutions passed at that meeting, held at Evesham, viz.: "That copies of the Central Council's report be sent to the clergy and churchwardens belonging to the churches in the diocese of Worcester where peals of bells existed," he had so distributed copies of the report, and in conjunction with them had issued printed circulars headed with the name of this Association, in the hope that both the clergy and lay officers of the Church might be induced to assist the movement by becoming honorary members.

The Revs. H. L. Courtney, Vicar of Hatton (Warwickshire), and A. Marshall, Vicar of Feckenham (Worcestershire), were proposed as honorary members, and several performing members were added to the roll.

In the course of the evening the Master, the Hon. Secretary, and Mr. W. Rock Small impressed upon the members the importance of all change-ringers becoming regular and constant weekly subscribers to "THE BELL NEWS." Most ringers were desirous, when they had done any ringing, of seeing it recorded in its columns, and they therefore ought to try their best to increase its circulation and usefulness. The idea of taking one copy for the use of a whole company should be met with strong disapproval, and each speaker hoped that every member of the Association would in future be found among the most active supporters of the paper.

A resolution, proposed by Mr. W. H. Godden, and seconded by Mr. G. H. Pagett, instructing the Hon. Secretary to write the Rev. R. Straffen, Vicar of Evesham, reminding him of his promise made at the last meeting held at his centre, in reference to the Bengeworth company having the privilege of the use of his bells for the practice of change-ringing, was unanimously carried.

Votes of thanks to the Master for presiding, to the Rev. D. H. C. Preedy, Vicar of King's Norton, for the use of the school-room, tower, and bells, brought the meeting to a close.

During the afternoon and evening, touches in the following methods were rung upon the tower bells: Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Kent Treble Bob, Plain Bob, Double Norwich, and Forward Major. Touches of Grandsire Triples and Caters were also rung upon the Association handbells.

TONG, YORKSHIRE.

At the conclusion of the 5040 in seven different Minor methods, rung at Tong, near Bradford, Yorkshire, on the 19th instant, and recorded in this number, the ringers partook of tea together in the village reading room, and subsequently the handbells were brought into use, various selections being rung, the Rev. C. B. D. Farrow, B.A. (Curate of Armley Hall, near Leeds), and his younger brother (the Vicar's sons), taking part.

THE ANCIENT SOCIETY OF COLLEGE YOUTHS.

The 255th Anniversary of this Society took place on Saturday last, November 19th. At four o'clock visitors began to arrive at St. Michael's church, Cornhill, being met by members of the dinner committee and other London ringers, where, through the kindness of the Rector, the Bishop of Marlborough, ringing was indulged in until six o'clock. Touches of Triples, Caters and Cinques were attempted by various bands. The bells of St. Mary-le-Bow, Cheapside, were also kindly granted for the occasion, and a band, including Mr. Pates, of Cheltenham, the Rev. F. E. Robinson, Messrs. Hounslow and Washbrook, succeeded in ringing two courses of Stedman Cinques on this grand peal. At seven o'clock College Youths and friends to the number of ninety-five had arrived at the "Bridge House" hotel, London Bridge (some from places as far distant as Cheltenham, Oxford, Warnham, St. Albans, Bromley), and others from the outlying districts of London, and were enjoying a dinner, served in good style, and consisting of soups, fish, joints, poultry, sweets, and their necessary concomitants.

The programme, which had been carefully drawn up by the dinner committee, was commenced at 8.30. Mr. E. E. Vinen, F.C.O., opened the proceedings with a pianoforte solo, and very ably presided at that instrument throughout the evening. The following toasts were duly honoured: "The Church, Queen and Royal Family," "The Ancient Society of College Youths," "The London and Provincial Ringing Societies and Visitors," "The Officers of the Society," and "The Press." These were interspersed with songs, recitations, one instrumental number, and change-ringing on handbells. Amongst the songs were "Flight of Ages," "Mona," "Star of Bethlehem," "Ho, Jolly Jenkin," "Queen of the Earth," "The White Squall," "Mr. Barnard Rafferty," "The Tale of a Kiss," "Red, White and Blue." Recitations: "The Death Bridge of the Tay," "The Toast," and "Kissing Cup's Race," which were rendered in a masterly and artistic manner by Messrs. Sice, Rolfe, Mash, Fullerton, Dawe, Ross, Ferguson, Luxford, and C. W. Bedwell. Messrs. C. A. Denny and E. E. Vinen also received great applause for their effective performance of "Allemande and Romance," being a suite for violin and piano. Change-ringing on handbells was illustrated by Messrs. Cooter, Dawe, Winny, Washbrook and W. D. Smith, who successfully brought round a touch of Stedman Caters. The singing of "Auld Lang Syne" concluded the programme, and the Master (Mr. W. D. Smith) and his official colleagues may be congratulated on their achieving what must have been one of the most successful of the 255 annual banquets of this Society.

HARWICH, ESSEX.

On Tuesday, November 1st, on the occasion of the marriage of Miss H. Druce, eldest daughter of the Rev. G. W. Druce, Vicar of this place, the following rang at St. Nicholas' church two 720s of Bob Minor, on the middle six. W. Pennick, 1; A. Brewster, 2; T. Aldis, 3; J. Brewster, 4; D. Huff, 5; G. Knock, 6; C. P. Ramplin (conductor), 7; G. C. Scowen, 8. Also a plain course of Kent Treble Bob Minor. J. Brewster, 1; G. C. Scowen, 2; T. Aldis, 3; D. Huff, 4; C. P. Ramplin, 5; G. Knock, 6. This is the first in the method rung by a local band. After lowering the bells the ringers were invited to the Vicarage to view the presents, and there drank the health of the newly-married couple, wishing them long life and prosperity. Next they enlivened the party with some handbell ringing, ringing a course each of Grandsire Triples and Bob Major, and some tunes. On Wednesday, November 9th, being Mayor's Day, 720 Kent Treble Bob Minor, on the middle six, standing as before, and a course of the same. On Thursday, November 10th, for practice, 360 Kent Treble Bob Minor, on handbells. G. C. Scowen (conductor), 1-2; C. P. Ramplin, 3-4; D. Huff, 5; G. Knock, 6. This is the longest touch in the method by all except the conductor. G. C. Scowen, J. Brewster, G. Knock and C. P. Ramplin are members of the Essex Association.

CHURCH TRAINING FOR CHILDREN ATTENDING BOARD SCHOOLS.

(From the Guardian.)

Whether the religious teaching in board schools be good or bad; whether it embrace a full syllabus of Scripture and moral lessons as in schools under the London School Board, or amount to no more than a mere reading of a few verses from the Bible "without note or comment," it is equally true of all such teaching that Church doctrines as such are rigidly excluded from the curriculum.

Yet the children attending those schools are by no means all the sons and daughters of Nonconformists. In fact, if a religious census could be taken of the almost two millions of board-school scholars, it is fairly certain that many more than a million of them would be found to have been baptised in the Church of England. And yet, as scholars in board schools, they are completely and effectually deprived of all that Church teaching which is as much their inheritance as it is that of scholars attending Church schools. How is it possible to make up for this admittedly most serious shortcoming?

Some people point to Sunday Schools as the cure for the evil, and they go so far as to say that if these institutions were thoroughly reorganised, so that they might be worked by an efficient staff of teachers under a well graduated curriculum, and with a carefully arranged time-table, they might do wonders in the way of supplementing the imperfections in the religious instruction given in board schools. But we need only point to the nature of the conditions here specified to show how very unlikely it is that the hope in question will ever be realised. Where is the efficient staff of Sunday-school teachers to be obtained? The clergy are already so fully occupied all the Sunday as to have scarcely an hour which they can afford to devote to this work. And, as for the volunteer teachers, whilst almost all of them are earnest, good people, and a few of them skilful teachers, the general average of their teaching quality is necessarily much below that of the day-school teachers. If we depend on Sunday-schools to supply the Church teaching which is not given in non-Church schools, we shall soon find that we are leaning on a very weak reed.

Catechising in church, again, is put forward as a cure for part of the evil so much to be deplored. But, in the first place, the time allowed for the exercise, even if it is carried on every Sunday, is too brief for rapid progress; the number of children who can be thus dealt with effectually is too few to meet the extent of the need; and, then, again, comes in the difficulty of the inefficiency of the catechisers. There are catechisers who can so skilfully secure the attention of the children, and at the same time so clearly combine definite instruction with rousing questioning, that every child may carry away some good from every attendance upon the exercise. But for one such able catechiser there are ten wholly incapable of doing any real good.

Something has lately been said of a proposal made many years ago by Dr. Hook as a solution of the difficulty. It must be remembered, however, that before the proposal can be seriously acted upon, some change must be effected in educational law. As the matter now stands no clergyman as such has any status in a board school. He may be a member of the board and in that capacity may have admission to the board schools. But he goes into them as a citizen and not as a priest. If therefore free access is to be given to him and to Nonconformist ministers to visit board schools for the purpose of giving religious instruction, the existing law must be radically altered. Is this at all likely to be done? But even if this preliminary difficulty were removed what is the proposal which Dr. Hook put forth? It is that on two afternoons of the week, other than Sunday, recognised "ministers" should be admitted to the State schools and be allowed to instruct the scholars belonging to their several denominations in their own religious belief. Mr. French's experience points to the probable grounds of the failure of such a project. The afternoon is a bad time for instruction in such subjects. The number and the varying qualifications of the scholars demand careful classification, and a band of teachers instead of the clergyman single-handed. And unless the clergyman in question is "apt to teach" as well as a good disciplinarian his very best efforts will prove to be futile. It is a little humiliating to have to confess that our Roman Catholic brethren appear to do very much better in this respect than we can do ourselves: but we shall do no good to the cause by ignoring the fact that thorough aptness to teach is not too common a qualification of the average parish priest. If the law admitted of its being done we should like to see how the plan would work amid favourable circumstances; but we are much inclined to believe it was a right instinct which churchmen followed years ago, when they offered the cold shoulder to the vicar of Leeds' proposal.

There remain but two other plans which, so far as we know, have ever been seriously proposed with a view to solving the difficulty we are dwelling on. If there are any others we shall be glad to hear of them.

By one of these plans children belonging to the Church are invited to come to the church itself during the time set apart for religious instruction in the board schools, there to be taught the meaning and use of both the Catechism and the Prayer-book. To this plan it may be objected that the authorities of the board school have the power to compel attendance within its walls of any scholar the whole time the school is open. If, however, the object of holding the Church class were clearly explained, we can hardly imagine people would be so intolerant as deliberately to place obstacles in the way of children resorting to the class.

The other plan is the plan which originated some years ago in Truro diocese, and is still in operation in one Cornwall parish, St. Austell. It is the plan of holding "a school of religion," as it has been elsewhere called, on the Saturday. The ordinary day-school is then closed; the children are under no obligation to school teachers and managers; and if they would only be willing to attend the "Saturday school," the opportunity would be an excellent one for imparting Church teaching. Mr. Taylor, diocesan inspector of Truro, in his last report writes of the "Saturday school:"—

"This important agency, where school boards practically exclude religious instruction, might be more generally used. Only, in that case it would be better to give definite Church teaching, however small in consequence the attendance may be. A few children, knowing well the doctrines of their Church, and the use of their Prayer-books, would in after-years become a source of great parochial influence."

The Bishop of Marlborough says the Church Times, has just thrown an interesting side-light upon the ecclesiastical appointments in the diocese of London. Speaking at South Acton the other night, he said that when a benefice in the gift of the Bishop of London fell vacant, the Bishop before appointing a clergyman to the position, called together his Suffragans (the Bishops of Marlborough and Bedford) and his two Archdeacons. They went through a list of all possible suitable clergy together, and then, and not till then, the appointment was made.

A singular mishap occurred in St. Paul's Cathedral shortly before twelve o'clock on Tuesday morning. The man whose duty it is to wind up the clock had just completed his work, when one of the weights, which weighs about 800 lbs., fell through the timber supports of the clock, afterwards crashing through the tower staircase. The winder had a narrow escape. Happily no one was hurt.

The Rev W. M. Thomas, vicar of Billingborough, has offered to give to the church a pulpit, a font, and two Glastonbury chairs. It is proposed that the present richly carved pulpit, which was new when the church was restored, shall be removed and used as a prayer-desk. The vicar a short time ago also gave to the church a magnificent organ.

The Archbishop of York had a narrow escape on Monday week. He was being driven from the vicarage grounds, Carleton, in Mr. Hatchard's brougham, when the garden gate swung to and caught the vehicle between the fore and hind wheel, tilting it up against the other wall, and wedging it there. The horse began plunging, but Mr. F. Howden, churchwarden, who was passing, seized it, and the Archbishop and Mr. Hatchard got out. His Grace, who was none the worse, assisted in unharnessing the horse and in righting the brougham. The coachman was thrown from his box and much shaken.

—PORTRAIT NUMBER.—Next week will be published the Portrait, with Memoir, of Mr. Richard E. Grove, of Kidderminster.

THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.—FYLDE BRANCH.

LYTHAM (Lancashire).—On Wednesday evening, November 16th, the ringers of St. John's assembled for practice and rang 720 Plain Bob Minor, in 26 mins., as a farewell peal to Messrs. Gregson and Bowling, who are now on their way to Tasmania, the former of whom took a great interest in the ringers of St. John's church, having acted as their adviser in bell matters and ringing in the early stages of their study. The other week the ringers of each church collected amongst themselves and were able to present Mr. Gregson with a purse of money. Mr. Gregson, in a letter to the ringers, said he was highly gratified to know that he was held as a personal friend by each and all, and still hoped at some future time to have a pull with them on the old bells at Lytham. Mr. Gregson was one of the company of St. Cuthbert's who rang the first 5040 Grandsire Triples in Lytham. He has conducted and rung in nearly all the peals rung there. Though Mr. Gregson had given up ringing he was always ready for a 5040. He also conducted the first peal of Stedman Triples and the first of Kent Treble Bob Major, so that Lytham has lost a good ringer. Mr. Bowling served as a warden along with the late Mr. Robt. Rainford, and has filled various offices since at St. John's. The ringers had a kind friend in Mr. Bowling, who always endeavoured to meet the wishes of anything that was required in connection with the belfry. The following were the ringers: W. Bamber (conductor), 1; T. H. Mark, 2; C. H. Kerr, 3; J. Salthouse, 4; R. Cookson, 5; J. Fell, 6.

EASTBOURNE, SUSSEX.

The bells at the parish church of St. Mary, a good peal of eight, have just undergone a thorough overhauling at the hands of Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, whose ability in such work is so well known. After three weeks' rest, during which time the bells have been in the hands of the above firm, the ringers met at the tower on Friday evening, November 11th, eager for a pull, and desirous to give an expression of opinion as to how they considered the work had been carried out. Several touches were rung, but owing to a concert being held at the Pitman Memorial Institute, just opposite the church, the ringing on that evening was not such as was desired, but the general opinion was that everything was satisfactory. Since the 11th, the local company have had ample opportunity to test them, and in every way great credit reflects upon the Whitechapel Firm, the "go" of them being all that can be desired. The local ringers will be pleased to welcome any brother-strings who happen to be that way to come to St. Mary's and test them.

Correspondence.

While allowing the utmost freedom for the expression of opinion, it must never be considered that we are in any way bound to statements made by correspondents.
To the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS AND RINGERS' RECORD."

THE DUTY OF PUNCTUALITY.

SIR,—Scarcely a week passes without our reading in "THE BELL NEWS" that some touch or peal has fallen through because the ringers "met one short," or this or that ringer "failed to put in appearance." Of the number of occasions on which the time and temper of some is sorely wasted and tried by the unpunctuality of others, nothing is said; but to many of us this is scarcely less annoying than actual non-appearance. Is it too much to ask of our brother-ringers that, even if time is of no value to them, they should consider the time of others, and neither break appointments without notice, nor act in the matter of punctuality as if half-an-hour, more or less, was of no consequence whatever? I hold strong—some may think, exaggerated—ideas of the duty of punctuality. To fail deliberately in an appointment with others seems to me an act of gross discourtesy; to keep others waiting shews, to say the least of it, a great want of consideration. And I am sorry to have to add that I have, in my own experience, met with so much of this discourtesy and want of consideration, that I have been several times tempted to give up all ringing in sheer disgust. I think, Sir, that if a man undertakes to meet others at a particular time and in a particular place, he is morally bound to be in that place at the time, and not at such time after the appointed hour as happens to suit the whim of the moment. If anything has meanwhile occurred to prevent his coming, he is bound to let others know, even at the cost of a telegram or the trouble of a journey. If he says that he "could not help being late," we must in charity give him the benefit of the doubt; but my belief is that in nineteen cases out of twenty a man can help being late if he chooses. I trust that I have not written too strongly; but my enjoyment of so many pleasant meetings in the tower has been spoiled by the lax ideas and practice of others in the matter of punctuality and of keeping appointments, that I cannot help feeling strongly. At the same time I wish to avoid any special or personal complaint; and lest any of those with whom I have rung, or am in the habit of ringing, should fit the cap too closely on himself, I will merely sign myself

A LOVER OF PUNCTUALITY.

THE PASSING BELL.

SIR,—I think it would be interesting to many if some of the many ways of tolling the passing bell, spoken of by the Rev. T. L. Papillon at the Chelmsford Odde Volumes Meeting, were published. Here it is 3 with "pausing sound 3 times" as Crabbe's Poetical works has it, for a man; 2—3 times for a woman, and 1—3 times for a child under 10; then raise and whole pulls for half-an-hour, fall and toll age, and if bells toll on the morning of the funeral, raise, ring four strokes for half-an-hour, then fall, ready for the half-hour's toll for the funeral.

F. M.

REPLY TO "MANCUNIAN."

SIR,—"Mancunian" should rub his ropes well with soft soap; this makes them soft and pliable. The bearings of bells should be well cleaned and greased with Bell's Asbestoline.

EDWARD R. DALE.

THE RINGING AT ST. CLEMENT DANES, STRAND.

SIR,—Lately there has been some misunderstanding in connection with the ringing on ringing days at this church. And the steeplekeeper declines to give any information as to who the scruffie ringers are. Can you advise what is to be done in the matter for the interest of the St. James's Society?

F. G. NEWMAN (late Master).

THE LONDON ST. JAMES' SOCIETY.

SIR,—At the St. Clement's meeting on Monday last, the steeplekeeper was asked by one or two prominent members of the Society, who the scruffie members were? His answer was: "I absolutely refuse to tell any one, and it is my own business." I should like to ask him through your paper if the authorities pay for eight or ten bells on ringing days.

A MEMBER OF THE ABOVE SOCIETY.

AN ALLEGATION.

SIR,—In "THE BELL NEWS" of November 12th there appears a peal of Grandsire Triples rung at the parish church, Burton-on-Trent, composed by Mr. E. B. James, and there is also a peal, the one before ours, rung at Hull, composed by W. J. Sevier. Now knowing that Mr. Sevier had a peal of Mr. James' composition going about with his (W. Sevier's) name attached to it, I wondered whether it was the peal rung at Hull, so I at once wrote to Mr. C. Jackson asking him to kindly send me the figures of the peal they rung, which he did, and I was not surprised to find the figures were exactly the same as the peal we had rung. Of course I communicated with Mr. James, who sent me a reply to say the peal was his composition. Now Mr. Editor, what is to be done with the Hull peal? I would suggest that every one who has got "BELL NEWS" for November 12th, should draw their pen through it, and let it be inserted again with the proper composer's name attached to it, but I would like the other part of the business to be left to the Central Council to deal with Mr. Sevier as they deem fit, for cribbing peals which he knows are not his composition; at the same time I think Mr. Sevier ought to apologise to Mr. James and Mr. Jackson, and to withdraw his name from those peals which are not his, through "THE BELL NEWS."

JOHN JAGGAR.

FALSE PEAL.—Mr. John Rogers writes to say that the peal of Grandsire Caters, by Mr. Wright of Kingston-on-Thames, published last week, is false.

THE BELL RINGER'S CAROL.

The following verses have been written and set to music by Mr. Sydney E. R. Coles, Mus. Bac., F.C.O., Organist of Eastbourne parish church. In a letter to the Church Musician, the journal of the Church Choir Guild, of which Mr. Coles is a member of the council, he says, "I have always felt a strong sympathy with the bell ringer's art, and I hope that my efforts to bring their craft before the members of congregations in an acceptable form may meet with their support and appreciation."

THE NEW YEAR CAROL OF THE BELLS.

Ring out the old, ring in the new,
In "Grandsire Triples" sending
The welcome news—the year's begun
With joyful music blending.

Ring out the old, ring in the new,
Let Treble, Alto, Tenor
Their lusty tones so full and sweet,
Peal out the grand "Bob Major."

Ring out the old, ring in the new,
"One gone," the signal given,
The Captain leads his noble band
In number, they are seven.

Ring out to young, ring out to old
Ding, dong; the bells are tolling,
The old year out, the new year in,
As time keeps onward rolling.

Farewell to old, welcome the new,
Your tuneful task completing,
As one by one each bell rings up
To claim Heaven's New Year greeting.

THE CHURCH BELLS OF BUCK-
INGHAMSHIRE.By ALFRED HENEAGE COCKS,
M.A., Ch. Ch., Oxford; F.Z.S., F.R.G.S., Great Marlow, Bucks. With many illustrations.

MESSRS. JARROLD & SONS have pleasure in announcing the early publication by subscription of this most interesting and important work. It will contain an account of all the Church Bells in Buckinghamshire, with everything relating to their history that can be discovered. Full accounts of all the Founders whose bells hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County, including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. The work was undertaken at the instigation of the late J. C. L. Stahl Schmidt, Esq., author of "Surrey Bells and London Bell-founders," "The Church Bells of Kent," "Herts," etc.; and the fact that the author had the benefit of the kind assistance and advice of this well-known campanologist may be mentioned as some guarantee of the scope and nature of the present work. Mr. Stahl Schmidt wrote the author, that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting county," and he repeated this opinion in a subsequent letter. The "Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 600 pages, & be handsomely illustrated with 24 full-page plates of mediaeval letterings, founders' marks, etc., found on Bells still existing in the County and numerous figures—some of them being peculiar to Bucks—will be inserted in the text. The 8vo. Edition is limited to 350 copies, and will be offered to subscribers before the day of publication at 2s. nett. The Larger Edition, Royal 4to, is limited to 50 copies, and will be subscribed at 4s. The prices will be raised on the day of issue should any copies remain unsold.

The Bell News &amp; Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1892

Two letters appearing this week touch upon a vital point of belfry economy and organization. Grievances shadowed forth by this correspondence have we fear, some existence; and now that the question of emolument for ringing and other matters at the church of St. Clement Danes is brought to the fore, we hope it will be threshed out thoroughly, and such arrangements made that will not only conduce to the welfare of the society which has its head-quarters at that church, but that matters may be set upon such a footing that no grounds can ever again arise for dissatisfaction. It is folly to contend that ringing matters in the metropolis is anything like perfection, and therefore all who wish to improve their condition should interest themselves in doing so, but calmly and respectfully; and not cry down any one, be he whom he may, who desires a healthy change. If it be true that very little or no direct connection obtains between the Society of ringers and the authorities of St. Clement's, the sooner such is established the better. We shall await the further unfolding of events in this particular business: meanwhile it is as well to point out that though our columns will be open to the expression of opinion upon the question, we shall be especially careful to prevent the publication of any correspondence which may not come up to our ideas of temperate and courteous discussion.

Her Majesty's Surgeon-Dentist's Testimonial.

"My Dear Doctor,—Allow me to express my sincere thanks for the skill and attention displayed in the construction of my Artificial Teeth, which render my mastication and articulation excellent. I am glad to hear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. In recognition of your valuable services, you are at liberty to use my name.—S. G. HURCHINGS. By Appointment Surgeon-Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen."
Geo. H. Jones, Esq., F.R.S.L., F.R.M.S.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has by his Perfected System of Dentistry demonstrated that Painless Dentistry is as much an accomplished fact as the swift locomotive, the electric light, or the telephone, and absolutely restores the natural contour caused by the loss of teeth, by the adjustment of Prize Medal dentals, rendering detection impossible, which obtained the Gold Medals of London, 1851; New York, 1853; London, 1864; Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; and Philadelphia, 1876.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has been awarded for his Improvements and Patents in Dentistry gold medals, London and Paris; gold medal, New Zealand Exhibition, 1882; gold medal Calcutta, 1883; and the highest diploma of merit and award at Nice and Amsterdam, 1883-4. Awarded the gold medal of the Académie Nationale, Paris, 1884; and the highest award Antwerp; also the gold medal, International Exhibition, London, 1885; gold medal, Liverpool, 1886; gold medal, Melbourne, 1888-9.

MR. RICHARD E. GROVE, OF KIDDERMINSTER.

[Vide Portrait.]

This week we have the pleasure of presenting our readers with the portrait of one of the best known of the younger ringers in the West Midlands, Mr. RICHARD EDWARD GROVE, of Kidderminster.

MR GROVE was born at Kidderminster on July 12th, 1859, and was, one might say, brought up almost in the odour of campanology, his father having, among other offices, held that of parish clerk for the last thirty years. At the age of fifteen he first learnt to pull a bell, and used to sit in the belfry and watch the old ringers trying to achieve a plain course of Doubles, a difficult feat, inasmuch as the bells were in such bad repair that they finally became unringable, and had to be put to rights by Messrs. Taylor, in 1883. At this time an effort was made to re-introduce change-ringing, but for a long time it was very up-hill work, as may be supposed from the fact that although several 720s of Grandsire Minor were rung in 1885, the first peal of Triples by the local band was not accomplished until January 8th, 1887, when Mr. Washbrook conducted. In the same year MR. GROVE made his debut as a conductor, with Holt's ten-part. Then came an opportunity which the young band were not slow to avail themselves of. With most unusual consideration and courtesy, the Vicar gave them an evening once a week for practice, and altered the service on that day, so as to permit of ringing after 6 p.m. The result was soon apparent; MR. GROVE called Holt's Original, and peals of Bob Triples and Major before the end of the same year, Stedman Triples in 1889, Double Norwich in 1890, and Superlative in 1892.

The whole of his peals have hitherto been on six or eight bells, there being few opportunities (from one cause or another) for practice on the greater numbers; but there are few among us who can show so good a six-years' record as the subject of our notice; a result due to his indomitable perseverance, as well as to the tact with which he has engineered his band through many trying experiences and critical periods. MR. GROVE is a member of the Worcestershire Diocesan Association, the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford, and the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths. His record is as follows:—

ST. WERBURGH'S, BRISTOL.

On Saturday, November 19th, the ringers of the above church visited Newton St. Loe and Witcombe, near Bath. Newton was the first place of calling, and here was found a pretty ring of six in good going order. Grandsire and Plain Bob was kept up for about an hour, after which the rector (the Rev. Edwin Lascelles), kindly invited them to take tea, and for which they now take the opportunity of thanking him. Witcombe was next visited, but no ringing could be had on account of a service being held in an adjoining schoolroom. The band spent the remainder of the time at their disposal in Bath, and arrived in Bristol about 10 p.m., having spent a very enjoyable half-day's holiday.

THE TEMPLE CHURCH, BRISTOL.

The Church of Temple or Holy Cross, derives its name from the military order of The Knights Templars, by whom it was founded about the year 1145, being the second oldest church in Bristol. The architecture of the church is Gothic, its long slender columns being much admired. The chancel is the longest of any in Bristol, measuring seventy-four feet. The Weavers' Chapel, situated in the north-east part of the church, was granted in the reign of Edward I., A.D. 1299, to the Company of Weavers (now extinct) for their use for ever. The church has many historical associations. In the dark ages of the church one Richard Sharpe for worshipping in the Weavers chapel, was taken to St. Michael's hill and there burned to the stake. Thomas Blanket, a weaver, worshipped in this church, blankets taking its name from him. John Wesley on several occasions preached in this church. Edward Colston was born in Temple parish (1636, died 1721), and was christened in the church. He was one of Bristol's greatest benefactors, leaving charities to the amount of £100,000. The most interesting part of the church from a ringers' point of view, is its famous leaning tower. Its height is about 110 feet, and it is four feet six inches out of the perpendicular, and in this tower is a splendid ring of eight bells, and also a very ancient Sanctus bell. This peal of bells for a great many years prior to 1887, were in a very neglected state, the seventh and tenor being cracked, and the frame very unsafe. Early in 1887, the vicar and churchwardens thought it a very good way to commemorate the Jubilee year of Her Majesty's reign by having the bells rehung and the cracked bells recast. Consequently the order was given to Messrs. Taylor, Loughborough, who found it also necessary to recast the fifth and sixth bells. The bells are hung in an iron frame, and the tower was further strengthened by means of an iron girder, the casting and re-hanging costing nearly £500. The bells were rung for the first time on Jubilee Day, 1887, and Messrs. Taylor are to be congratulated on the peal of bells they have turned out, the tenor being considered the finest bell in Bristol. Several attempts had been made to get a peal on the bells, but hitherto without success, but on Monday, November 14th, 1892, a good and well-struck peal of Grandsire Triples was brought round in three hours and five minutes, by a band selected by W. J. Hinton, notwithstanding predictions from ringers in high authority that the bells were unpealable. This is the first peal on the bells and the first peal ever known to have been rung in the tower, and is recorded in "THE BELL NEWS" of November 19th, 1892.

RE-DEDICATION OF CHURCH BELLS AT COSELEY, STAFFORDSHIRE.

The churchwardens of Coseley parish church have recently spent £120 in improving the church bells. The treble, 2nd and 6th have been entirely recast, and the whole peal has been rehung and put into thorough working order by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, of the Whitechapel Foundry. The names of the Vicar (the Rev. W. Spencer, and the churchwardens (Messrs. Clendinnen and Rankeillor) are inscribed upon the three new bells. The peal is now one of the finest in the diocese, and, is much lighter than the previous one. On Thursday evening, November 17th, everyone was struck with the sweet chimes, which were much admired. The Bishop of Lichfield was announced to dedicate the bells in the evening, but on account of the bad state of the weather and railway traffic his Lordship was not able to be present, which was a great disappointment to the large congregation who had met to greet him on his first official visit to the parish. The Vicar, seeing that the Bishop was not likely to be present, went on with the ordinary evensong, and at the conclusion dedicated the bells himself. After service 504 Grandsire Triples were rung. J. Fellows, 1; A. Jones, 2; F. G. Horton, 3; S. Bunn, 4; J. Pardoe, 5; B. Gough, 6; R. Cartwright (conductor), 7; H. Roden, 8. Several touches of Grandsire Triples were also rung by Messrs H. Roden, W. Jeavons, W. Horton, S. Bunn, B. Gough, F. G. Horton, J. Fellows, R. Cartwright (conductor), J. Pardoe, A. E. Law and A. Jones. R. Cartwright hails from Wombourne; S. Bunn from Sedgley; H. Roden from Penn; J. Pardoe from Wolverhampton.

CHANGE-RINGING IN CARMARTHENSHIRE.

On Saturday, November 26th, a band of the St. John's (Morriston) Guild of ringers visited Llandilo, Carmarthenshire, for the purpose of attempting the first bit of half-pull ringing on the St. Teilo bells. Starting from Morriston by the 9.20 a.m. train, Llandilo was reached shortly after eleven o'clock. A short time was spent in exploring the town, and at 12 o'clock all met at the church, and made straight for the tower. Several 6-scores of Bob Doubles were rung, finishing up with a 600, in 24 mins. H. C. Gibson, 1; W. Jones, 2; R. C. Gibson, 3; L. J. Naysmith (conductor), 4; W. Green, 5; E. R. Naysmith, 6. Tenor 13 cwt. So unusual was the occurrence that the whole town was enlivened. A move was then made for the "Cawdor Arms" hotel, and at one o'clock all sat down to a sumptuous repast, effectively set forth and served with his accustomed skill by Host Hopkins, and "go" was soon called to a couple of courses of "Knife and Fork Surprise." In this method all seemed equally at home, and doubtless owing to the fresh air and the journey, the courses were fairly long ones, but the part-ends came up well, and soon after two o'clock "That's all" was called. At 2.30 another move was made for the belfry, and several touches of Plain Bob and Grandsire Doubles were rung. At 5 o'clock tea was announced, and having partaken of the refreshing cup, it was decided that the striking and the "go" of the bells being so good, an attempt be made for a touch of Bob Minor, notwithstanding that the casement of the pendulum of the clock prevented the 4th and 6th ringers seeing each other, and the 2nd and 5th only seeing each other through a small pane of glass let into the casement. The tower having been reached again, Mr. Green soon called "go" to the tune of Bob Minor, but time being short the bells were brought home at 3.60, after 14 minute's good striking. W. Harris, 1; W. Jones, 2; R. Gibson, 3; D. J. Clark, 4; L. J. Naysmith, 5; W. Green (conductor), 6. Having spent a most enjoyable day the ringers made for the station, and leaving Llandilo by the 9.30 train reached home soon after 11 p.m. This is the first change-ringing on the bells, and the first touch of Minor in the county. The ringers wish, through the medium of this paper, to thank the Rev. Lewis Price, Vicar, and churchwardens for the use of the bells.

LIVERPOOL UNIVERSITY COLLEGE.

A very large Cambridge quarter clock, showing the time on four external dials eleven feet each in diameter, and striking the hours and quarters on five bells of the total weight of 5 tons 1 quarter 10 lbs., also driving the hands of three large dials in the building by an electrical arrangement attached to the clock movement, with dropping arrangement as at Lincoln Cathedral, Lord Grinthalpe's double three legged gravity escapement, 1½ seconds compensated pendulum with cylindrical shaped bob, weighing 450 lbs., which is fixed on iron brackets, bolted into the wall of the tower, and all the latest improvements inserted, has been presented to the city of Liverpool and fixed in the Jubilee tower of the Liverpool University College, by W. P. Hartley, Esq., Aintree, Liverpool, and was set going by the generous donor on the 15th instant, in the presence of Holbrook Gaskell, Esq.; Professors Mac Cann, Herdman; Professor and Mrs. Hele Shaw; Canon Armour; Professors Parker, Raleigh, Carey; Colonel Gamble; Drs. Londini, Waters, Gemmell, Davidson; Colonel Morrison, Principal Rendall; Mrs. and Miss Hartley, Mrs. R. Gladstone, Rev. Higgins (Septon); Mr. Thos. Smith; Mr. T. Gee, Mr. Thelwell Thomas, Mr. T. Holden and other ladies and gentlemen, including Mr. Reginald Bushell, who kindly explained the different parts of the clock to the large company assembled. The clock chimes and electrical apparatus were supplied and fixed by Messrs. Wm. Potts and Sons, clock manufacturers, of Guildford Street, and Cookridge Street, Leeds, who also made the large clocks at Mr. Hartley's works, Aintree, Liverpool; the Picton memorial for the late Sir J. A. Picton, Liverpool; the Orphan Home, Fazackerlay; and other important clocks in Liverpool and the vicinity.

WANTED, in an Experimenting Workshop, a Turner and Fitter. Quick and used to high-class work. Age under thirty. Change-ringer on eight bells. Apply to A. PERCIVAL HEYWOOD, Esq., Duffield Bank, near Derby.

KETTERING, NORTHANTS.

The parishioners of Kettering greatly regret the departure from among them of the Rev. A. S. Lindsay, son of their late revered Rector. At the parish church recently, Mr. Lindsay preached his farewell sermon. There were few indeed in the sacred edifice at the time who were not deeply touched by the words addressed to them by the rev. gentleman, because those words implied separation from scenes and associations endeared to his memory, as Mr. Lindsay himself is to every one in Kettering. He reminded them that he had not only been amongst them as one of the clergy, but as a parishioner for nearly thirty years. For a long time, few figures have been more familiar in Kettering than that of Mr. Lindsay, and his presence will be much missed. Equally dear to him must be the old town in which so much of his youth has been spent, and the hallowed pile from which the breath of prayer has ascended for so many generations, and which is full of touching and solemn memories. Truly it was a parting between clergyman and people not likely to be soon forgotten. Mr. Lindsay, on his part, did not fail to thank everyone for the personal kindness he has experienced during his stay in Kettering, and especially for the sympathy manifested by rich and poor alike, Churchmen and Nonconformists, in the hour of deepest sorrow. The respect and esteem between clergyman and congregation has never been more fully manifested than on this valedictory occasion. Something of the pain of parting will however be mitigated by the fact that Mr. Lindsay is going to Oxendon, a place not many miles from Kettering, so that his old parishioners may hope to have the pleasure of seeing him again and again make his appearance among them for some time to come. The best wishes of all classes in Kettering accompany him to his new sphere of duty, coupled with the hope that good health and unalloyed happiness may be his portion throughout a long and useful life. The Rev. A. S. Lindsay will leave Kettering not only with the good wishes of the parishioners, but with the God-speed of the ringers connected with the Raunds, Wellingborough and District Association, of which he is vice-president.

THE MIDDLESEX ASSOCIATION.

The Annual Meeting of this Association was held at Fulham on Saturday, November 26th. Ringing having commenced soon after 5 o'clock, various touches of Grandsire Caters, Bob Royal, Bob Major, and Treble Bob Major were rung upon the magnificent ring of ten bells, the going of which is a credit to the steeple-keeper. The business meeting of the society commenced with the passing of the minutes of the last two meetings. The third annual report was then read by the Secretary and adopted by the society. The balance-sheet was next passed subject to audit. It was then resolved that no money should be paid out of the funds without the authority of a General or Committee Meeting. The election as members of Messrs. Giddings and Paget, of Hendon, was ratified. Messrs. Pitts (Kennington), W. Jones and F. Jones (Hendon), and H. Watson (Hampstead), were duly elected members of the Association. The list of peals for the past year was then read by the Master, and contained twenty peals as against eighteen peals rung in 1890-91. The election of officers was next proceeded with, Mr. C. H. Martin, of Hendon, being re-elected Master; Mr. Percy Howard (Stoke Newington), was re-elected Secretary; and Mr. F. A. Milne, of Lincoln's Inn was re-elected Treasurer; and Mr. H. Martin and Mr. Westwood were elected auditors. The place for holding the next Annual Meeting was left to the Committee. It was agreed to hold the next meeting at Hendon. A hearty vote of thanks was next accorded to the vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells, and to Mr. Driver (the steeple-keeper), for his kind preparations.

THORNE (Yorkshire).—On Sunday evening, November 27th, for Divine Service at the parish church, a quarter-peal of Bob Triples in 50 mins. W. Meggett, 1; A. Wood, 2; T. Jackson, 3; F. Sanderson, 4; W. H. Sanderson (conductor), 5; F. Clarke, 6; A. Hemingway, 7; E. Walker, 8. W. Meggett hails from Fishlake, and was his first attempt at Triples; also W. H. Sanderson's first quarter-peal as conductor.

A VERY SAD "NOTE BY THE WAY."

My pen has been still of late, because of the multitudinous and imperative engagements in other directions, till I had begun to seriously meditate putting it away altogether, and letting my signature lapse amongst the things of the past. But the gloom almost of despair hangs over the household of our Editor. The angel of death has been and suddenly taken away the wife and mother, and—need I add—left the desolation of so great a bereavement behind. The editorial desk is vacant this week. Could it be otherwise under so severe an affliction? Thus it is that my pen is once more in active service. My friends, I have had cause to lament the loss of near and dear ones, many times during the past few years. I have had the sorrowful duty of referring to the departure of able, talented and zealous brothers of the Exercise, and have been filled with sorrow thereat. But Mrs. REEVES occupied a unique position in our ringing world. For three-and-thirty years she has been the faithful help-mate of our Editor, and a loving mother to her children. But it is in another connection that I apply the term unique to her. Those who have a knowledge of the severe uphill struggle which attended the work of establishing our weekly journal; who remember the vicissitudes which not unnaturally accompanied the courageous attempt; and who know of the material assistance which such a wife as her could give—and did give—at all times; comforting him in his difficulties; encouraging him in his oftentimes thankless work; and rejoicing with him when success smiled upon them, I say those of us who know of all this will readily admit that the term unique is no misnomer. Then again, those of us who, like myself, have had the pleasure of her personal acquaintance, and the felicitous privilege of occupying the position of one of her guests, and of witnessing the kindly though unobtrusive manner in which she ever welcomed her husband's brother-ringers, will readily admit the kindly influence which she perhaps unconsciously exercised amongst us. They will also realise more fully than the general reader the force of this terrible blow which has staggered our Editor, and bewildered both himself and his family through its very suddenness.

I feel sure I am expressing the heartfelt sentiments of the whole of the Exercise when I give utterance to the fervent prayer that the Father of Mercies—He who "tempers the wind to the shorn lamb"—will in His goodness so mitigate the blow which He in His inscrutable providence has seen fit to administer to our Editor and his devoted family; and that amidst their desolation they may have every comfort which our Holy Faith provides; be comforted with the thought that in all things she did her best; and consoled with the fond anticipation that after "life's fitful fever,"

We shall meet at last,
Never to part again.

Death.

On Saturday, November 26th, suddenly, from apoplectic seizure, MARY ANN, for thirty-three years the beloved wife of HARVEY REEVES, in her fifty-first year. Deeply lamented by her sorrowing relatives and many ringers all over the country.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT AMALGAMATED SOCIETY.

The November ringing meeting of this society was held at Wakefield cathedral on Saturday, November 26th, when about fifty ringers attended from most of the churches in the district. Ringing commenced at 4.30 by raising the twelve in peal, followed by touches of Treble Bob Royal, Treble Bob Major and Duke of York Minor. A business meeting followed at the 'Golden Lion' hotel, in the well-appointed ringers' room. The President, Mr. J. Whitaker, presided, and the following towers were represented: Armley, Birstall, Rothwell, Mirfield, Holbeck, St. Michael's Headingley, Kirkburton, Dewsbury, Earlsheaton, Horbury and Ossett. The report and minutes were read and passed, and seven new members elected. Mr. W. Abbshaw (Rothwell) proposed (seconded by Mr. D. Wilson) of Birstall, a hearty vote of thanks to the vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells, and especially to the local company for the kind arrangements they had made for the comfort of all present, which was passed unanimously. Ringing again commenced and the following rung the first course of Treble Bob Maximus on the bells: *J. Moorhouse, 1; *E. Andrews, 2; *T. Prince, 3; W. Illingworth (Ossett), 4; G. Crawshaw (Ossett), 5; R. Binns (Leeds), 6; *W. Scott, 7; *J. T. Hollis, 8; *W. Firth, 9; D. Stephenson (Ossett), 10; *T. Ormond, 11; Joseph Peacock (Mirfield), 12. *Local company. During the afternoon and evening some Grandsire Triples, Major and Caters were rung on the handbells. Train time having arrived for most of the visitors and the usual parting compliments passed, concluded the first visit of the society to Wakefield cathedral, which now possesses as handy a peal of twelve as ringers could wish for, the tone and "go" being all there.

HIGHAM FERRERS, NORTHANTS.

THE CHURCH BELLS.—As the first step towards the re-hanging and increase to eight of the interesting old peal of six of the parish church of Archbishop Chicheley's birthplace, the bells and bell frame have been safely lowered from the tower, and the former sent to Messrs. Taylor's Foundry at Loughborough, to be re-fitted and attuned to the two new trebles and the re-cast second bell. The latter has been cracked for some years past. All these bells (excepting the treble, which was re-cast by Taylor, in 1820) came from the ancient Leicester Foundry of the Watts family, the second and tenor in the year 1633 (when the tower was rebuilt), the fifth three years later (1636), and the third and fourth very probably about the year 1600. The shield charged with three bells used by the Watts family as their sign or trade mark, is found on all these bells, although the third and fourth bear no date. The little priest's bell (formerly used as the fire bell), which hangs in a window, is dated 1660. Hugh Watts, who cast these bells, was also the founder of the six largest bells at St. Margaret's, Leicester (1633), and the third, seventh, and tenor at Wellingborough (1620 and 1640). One of the new trebles is the gift of Dr. Crew, one of the churchwardens. The old bell frame, just removed, is said to have been made by a man named Cheese, with timber from Brixworth Forest.

RINGERS' FESTIVITY.

Recently the ringers of St. Nicholas church, Liverpool, were entertained to supper by Mr. Henry Pert, churchwarden. Proceedings commenced at 7 p.m. with a touch of Grandsire Caters on the tower bells, as a mark of respect to the churchwarden. A move was then made to the Albany Restaurant, Old Hall Street, where they were met by Mr. Pert. There were also present the Rev. J. Francis (curate-in-charge), Mr. Burns (sidesman), Mr. Waugh (organist), Mr. T. Barlow, Mr. Gwyn Jones, and Mr. Wood, members of the choir. An excellent supper was served up in good style, and heartily enjoyed by all, after which, interspersed with a pianoforte solo by the organist, and songs by the members of the choir, the following toasts were duly honoured: "The Queen," "The Bishop and Clergy," "The St. Nicholas Society," "The Choir," and "The Churchwardens," the latter being drank with musical honours. The singing of the National Anthem brought the proceedings to a close just before 11 o'clock, and the company separated after a most enjoyable evening, which will long be remembered by all.

THE CHURCH BELLS OF BUCK.

INGHAMSHIRE. By ALFRED HENEAGE COCKS, M.A., Ch. Ch., Oxford; F.Z.S., F.R.G.S., Great Marlow, Bucks. With many illustrations.

MESSRS. JARROLD & SONS have pleasure in announcing the early publication by subscription of this most interesting and important work. It will contain an account of all the Church Bells in Buckinghamshire, with everything relating to their history that can be discovered. Full accounts of all the Founders whose bells hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County, including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. The work was undertaken at the instigation of the late J. C. L. Stahlschmidt, Esq., author of "Surrey Bells and London Bell-founders," "The Church Bells of Kent," "Herts," etc.; and the fact that the author had the benefit of the kind assistance and advice of this well-known campanologist may be mentioned as some guarantee of the scope and nature of the present work. Mr. Stahlschmidt wrote the author, that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting county," and he repeated this opinion in a subsequent letter. The "Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 600 pages, & be handsomely illustrated with 24 full-page plates of mediaeval letterings, founders' marks, etc., found on Bells still existing in the County and numerous figures—some of them being peculiar to Bucks—will be inserted in the text. The 2vo. Edition is limited to 350 copies, and will be offered to subscribers before the day of publication at 25s. nett. The Larger Edition, Royal 4to, is limited to 80 copies, and will be subscribed at 42s. The prices will be raised on the day of issue should any copies remain unsold.

To the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS AND RINGERS' RECORD."

REPLY TO MR. JAGGAR.

SIR,—Just a line or two in reply to Mr. Jaggar. Allow me to say that my peal is an even five-part peal, and was first published and rang at Ashton-under-Lyne, and the composition appeared in its proper place in "THE BELL NEWS" in March. As I never like to have any unpleasantness with compositions, I will leave it to the Exercise to put whom they think proper as to the composer of the peal, and I can only say that the composition still belongs to me, or any other variation of it. In defiance of all that Mr. Jaggar can say upon it, I repeat my peal was rung and published long before Mr. James thought of this even five-part one; and let Mr. Jaggar think before he rushes into print (which the gentleman I refer to often does), of the old motto, to be in love and charity with all men.

THE RINGING AT ST. CLEMENT DANES, STRAND.

SIR,—I am glad to see some of the leading members of the St. James' society have taken the question of scruffe-ringing in hand. In its present condition it is a disgrace to the London exponents of the Exercise. The scruffe-ringers at the church in question are seldom seen in the tower except on paid ringing-days, while those ringers who gladly give their services on Sunday, and who should at least have an opportunity of participating in the loaves and fishes, are totally ignored. This is unfortunately the case in a great many of the London towers. Then again at St. Clement Danes, there are ten bells. Why are not ten bells rung instead of eight on these occasions? The "scruffers," not only of this but of several other churches, work several churches, so that when a paid ringing-day comes round, they have to get two or three substitutes who are often barely competent men, and who receive just what the "scruffers" choose to give them for the day's ringing. The results are two-fold, viz., disgraceful ringing when the authorities expect and pay for it to be above the average, and dissatisfaction amongst the younger members of the Exercise, who often leave the ringing in disgust at the shady practices of these "scruffers."

J. WAGHORN, JUN.

SIR,—I have made enquiries since writing to you last week for advice respecting the ringing at this church, and find that only eight bells were rung on Lord Mayor's day, November 9th, and that a volunteer band rang a peal of Stedman Caters in the evening. I understand from some of the older members of the St. James' society that the sum of two guineas is paid by the Mansion House authorities for St. Clement's bells to be rung when the Lord Mayor and procession is passing; also this being the Prince of Wales' birthday, the parish authorities pay the sum of £1 16s., which makes the total sum for the days' ringing £3 18s. Now as only eight bells were rung, and the sum of 7s. 4½d. (4s. Lord Mayor and 3s. 4½d. parish), which amounts to £2 19s., was paid to each man, what becomes of the balance of 19s., handed back to the parish authorities, I suppose (?)

Our "Concert Organ" is the largest single-manual Organ ever successfully constructed either by us or any other manufacturer. It has seven sets of reeds in the treble and five in the bass, both hand and foot blowers, and also the celebrated "Scribner's Patent qualifying Tubes," which were invented by Mr. G. W. Scribner, a partner of our firm.

"Bell" American Organs.

There are 200 "Bell" Organs made weekly (or over 10,000 a year), which is the largest number actually produced by any single manufacturer, notwithstanding all the assertions and extensive blowing of our numerous competitors.

57, Great Russell Street,

Her Majesty's Surgeon-Dentist's Testimonial.

"My Dear Doctor,—Allow me to express my sincere thanks for the skill and attention displayed in the construction of my Artificial Teeth, which render my mastication and articulation excellent. I am glad to bear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. In recognition of your valuable services, you are at liberty to use my name.—S. G. HUTCHINGS. By Appointment Surgeon-Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen."
Geo. H. Jones, Esq., F.R.S.L., F.R.M.S.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has by his Perfected System of Dentistry demonstrated that Painless Dentistry is as much an accomplished fact as the swift locomotive, the electric light, or the telephone, and absolutely restores the natural contour caused by the loss of teeth, by the adjustment of Prize Medal dentals, rendering detection impossible, which obtained the Gold Medals of London, 1851; New York, 1853; London, 1862; Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; and Philadelphia, 1876.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has been awarded for his Improvements and Patents in Dentistry gold medals, London and Paris; gold medal, New Zealand Exhibition, 1882; gold medal Calcutta, 1883; and the highest diploma of merit and award at Nice and Amsterdam, 1883-4. Awarded the gold medal of the Académie Nationale, Paris, 1884; and the highest award Antwerp; also the gold medal, International Exhibition, London, 1885; gold medal, Liverpool, 1886; gold medal, Melbourne, 1888-9.

THE HEREFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.—WELSHPOOL BRANCH.

The Second Quarterly Meeting of this newly-formed branch was held on Saturday, November 26th, at Newtown. The attendance was very good, and included the Rev. T. Hughes, rector of Buttington (branch secretary), Rev. J. P. Lewis, Messrs. J. E. Jones, W. H. Jones, T. J. Bratton, W. Jones, T. Barnes, and W. Maddox, from Welshpool; Messrs. Lloyd, Purcell, and Morris, from Berriew; S. O. Davis (Montgomery), F. Evans (Chirbury), etc. Ringing commenced at the parish church at 4 p.m., when several 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles were rung by the Welshpool band, and is believed to be the first ever rung on the bells, which are in a very bad state of repair at present, and have been very much neglected. The old band of ringers have been discharged, and a new society formed, which promises to become a great acquisition to the Guild. Tea was partaken of at Mr. Williams' restaurant, The Cross, to which over twenty members sat down. Tea over, the business meeting commenced, the chair being occupied by the Rev. T. Hughes, and vice-chair by the Rev. —. Hamilton (Newtown). The minutes of the last meeting were then read and confirmed, after which the Chairman rose and said it gave him great pleasure to be present and to see such a good meeting. Having briefly described the objects of the Guild, he said he felt sure that the meeting that day would be the means of bringing about a better state of things among the ringers of Newtown than had formerly existed. At this point, the Rev. —. Fishbourne, rector of Newtown, entered the meeting-room, accompanied by Bishop Smythies, of South Africa, whom he introduced to the meeting. The Rev. J. P. Lewis said that he felt sure that everyone present was highly honoured by the Bishop's presence that evening, and on behalf of the meeting begged to tender him a hearty welcome.

The Bishop then briefly addressed the meeting, and said he hoped he should live to see peals of bells and bellringers in his diocese in South Africa.

The Rev. —. Fishbourne then addressed the meeting, and in conclusion said they had eighteen members in their newly-formed society, and they had decided to join the Guild at the commencement of next year.

Votes of thanks to the Chairman and Secretary, the Rev. T. Hughes, and the district instructor, Mr. T. J. Bratton, were proposed and carried unanimously, to which those gentlemen suitably responded, bringing a most successful meeting to a close.

An adjournment was then made to the tower, where ringing was indulged in by members from the various towers present until 7.30 p.m., when the bells were lowered in peal, which brought to a conclusion a very enjoyable evening.

THE OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

On Saturday, November 19th, several members of the East Berks and South Bucks branch of this Guild journeyed from Boyne Hill to Burnham, Bucks., for an afternoon's ringing with the local band, who, having had their peal augmented from five to six, anticipate learning change-ringing. The visitors, who with the Rev. R. P. Newhouse, Branch Secretary, arrived about 4 p.m., were met by the Vicar, the Rev. R. F. Rumsey, who showed his interest in the art by receiving his first lesson in handling a rope, coached by the visitors. Several 6-scores of Grandsire and Plain Bob Doubles were then rung, Mr. Tilbury, the local captain, ringing the treble. A 720 of Grandsire Minor followed, and then the band were kindly provided with tea at the vicarage, which was much enjoyed. Afterwards another visit was paid to the tower, and after ringing Stedman, Plain Bob and Grandsire Doubles, the bells were lowered in peal and a move made for the adjoining hostelry, where a very pleasant hour was spent with the handbells, on which Grandsire Triples and some capital tunes by the locals brought a most successful afternoon to a close. The following were the ringers from Boyne Hill: Rev. R. P. Newhouse, Messrs. J. W. Wilkins, G. Wilkins, A. W. Garraway, F. Bissley, W. Brown, and H. Gilding. The ringing was conducted by J. and G. Wilkins, Garraway and Bissley. The band wish, through the medium of this paper, to thank the Vicar for his hospitality, and the local ringers for the good feeling displayed, hoping to meet them as fellow members of the Guild on many future occasions.

THE ST. MARTIN'S GUILD, BIRMINGHAM.

The first of this Guild's social gatherings for the present winter season was held on Saturday, November 26th, at the "Tamworth" Arms, Moor Street. The officials in their announcement having invited the presence of any ringers or their friends—whether members of the St. Martin's Guild or not—a good muster resulted, including some well-known ringers of the district who are not generally to be found at the St. Martin's gatherings. The ringing masters at the various towers, who are responsible for the arrangement of these meetings, had evidently taken care that there should be no lack of musical talent, and they were greatly assisted by the exertions of ex-Detective Inspector Painter, who not only provided a pianiste in the person of Mrs. Painter, but assisted generally in the other business. The programme, which in its working out brought the closing hour all too early, comprised a capital selection of music by the pianiste, and a choice collection of songs splendidly rendered by Messrs. Proctor, Hazlehurst, Scott, Shepherd and Manton. Naturally the handbells played their usually important part, the Guild's beautiful bells being heard to advantage in plain courses of Stedman Caters and of Grandsire Cinques, performed by Messrs. John Carter, H. Bastable, W. Kent, T. Russam, T. Miller, and H. Johnson. Mr. T. Miller's Victoria band of tune ringers (Messrs. Miller, T. Verry and J. Bastable) gave a very dashing exposition of tune-ringing on the handbells, one piece accompanied by the piano, and with a chorus of voices, fairly fetching down the house. The proceedings, with a hearty vote of thanks to Mrs. Painter for the great ability she displayed at the piano, ended in the usual manner, most of the company, to the number of about a hundred expressing themselves highly gratified.

NEW PEAL OF BELLS FOR BARNET PARISH CHURCH.

The trustees of the Chancel Estate are providing a new peal of bells. The old peal was undoubtedly harsh and somewhat discordant, and if its music was indifferent, it certainly had no historic value. Six of the peal dated back to 1810, and when the church was enlarged and restored in 1875, two new bells were added, the treble and tenor. Whatever the old peal may have been, the bells as rehung with the two additional bells never blended, and the position of the whole in the bell-loft was not calculated to give pleasing results. These bells have now been removed, and a contract has been entered into with the well-known firm of Mears and Stainbank, of Whitechapel, to provide a better peal and hang them on the best known principles. The new peal will weigh some five tons, tenor 25 cwt., and the chancel trustees, with excellent judgment, as all good judges will readily admit, have taken the bells of Southgate as the model of what the new peal is to be, and it is hoped they will be in position in time to ring a Christmas peal, and to "ring out the old and ring in the new" on New Year's eve.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.—LEWISHAM DISTRICT.

The first Annual Meeting of this District was held at Bromley, on Saturday, November 26th. In spite of the rain, which came down in torrents, a goodly company of ringers assembled in the belfry of the fine old church of SS. Peter and Paul. Some forty members in all were present from Lewisham, Lee, Crayford, Erith, Dartford, Chislehurst, Greenwich, Woolwich, etc. Ringing commenced about 3.30, and numerous touches in various methods were accomplished. At the committee meeting held in the parish room, by kind permission of the Vicar, the Rev. A. G. Hellicar, the Rev. T. E. Teignmouth Shore was re-elected District Secretary, and Mr. G. Conyard representative on the Central Committee. Dartford was the locality, and February 11th the date, chosen for the next quarterly meeting, and it was decided to propose Tunbridge Wells to the Central Committee for the annual meeting of the Association.

WANTED, in an Experimenting Workshop, a Turner and Fitter. Quick and used to high-class work. Age under thirty. Change-ringer on eight bells. Apply to A. PERCIVAL HEYWOOD, Esq., Duffield Bank, near Derby.

RE-OPENING OF BELLS AT BURY, LANCASHIRE.

The parish church at Bury has for a number of years been without bells that were pealable. Formerly a peal of six bells were hung in the tower, but they had fallen into such a state that it was almost impossible to ring them. After many appeals by outside ringers and friends, the authorities became somewhat interested and examined the condition of things. The result of such investigation has been the augmentation of two new trebles, and the rehang of the old six in iron frames by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough. Some of the old bells had been almost without tone and would have been considered by some people cracked, but after being treated by this notable firm of bell founders, they sound in good tune, and our ringers say they "go well." The rector and wardens, at the express desire of their ringers, arranged for the bells to be opened on Saturday last, by a selected band of the Lancashire Association. The intention was to ring a peal on them, but owing to the ringing-chamber not being finished, it was considered impossible to stand for so long a time and ring the seventh. This is occasioned by the works belonging to the clock, but which will be shortly put out of the way. However, the ringers chosen, decided to try a date touch, which they most successfully brought round in 1 hr. and 12 mins. under the leadership of Mr. John Shepherd who also composed it. The ringers stood as under, and the method was Grandsire Triples. J. Kay (Heywood), 1; A. Barrett (Radcliffe), 2; G. Hoyle (Rochdale), 3; J. Shepherd (Bacup and Newchurch), 4; J. Hardman (Radcliffe), 5; W. Warburton (Whitefield), 6; J. Harrison (Heywood), 7; F. Birtwistle (Rochdale), 8.

The rector and wardens then met them, and cordially invited them to a substantial knife and fork tea in the Bury Grammar School, and the tower was left at the service of a great number of other ringers from Radcliffe, Prestwich, and Whitefield. After tea, the Rev. — Hopwood, rector, spoke a few words to the ringers, and desired their opinion on the bells as they found them. In reply, Messrs. Shepherd, Hoyle, and Birtwistle, commended the work of the bell founders, and considered that the "go" of the whole peal was splendid. The fittings are well done, and reflect great credit on the makers and fitters. The ropes are also very firm and strong, and the brass tubes that guide the ropes (each of which weighs 34 lbs.), are a very ornamental feature, as well as being almost everlasting, and beneficial to the ropes.

After tea, on handbells, two courses each of Grandsire Triples and Grandsire Major: J. Shepherd, 1-2; G. Hoyle, 3-4; W. Warburton, 5-6; J. Harrison, 7-8. Also G. Hoyle, 1-2; W. Warburton, 3-4; J. Harrison, 5-6; F. Birtwistle, 7-8, which greatly pleased all present. At the further request of the wardens, the band who opened the bells adjourned to the tower and rang a 672 Bob Major, standing as follows: A. Barrett (Radcliffe), 1; J. Morris (Radcliffe), 2; G. Hoyle (Rochdale), 3; J. Shepherd (Bacup), 4; J. Hardman (Radcliffe), 5; W. Warburton (Whitefield), 6; J. Harrison (Heywood), 7; F. Birtwistle (Rochdale), 8. Conducted by J. Shepherd.

The bells are a good addition to the Rochdale branch of the Lancashire Association. The ringers who opened them are desirous that the Rector, Wardens and local company should accept their congratulations on possessing such a peal, and also wish to thank them for their kindness and hospitality. It is hoped that many will attend the meeting to-day, Saturday, December 10th, and give further proof of the satisfactory condition of this new peal.

THE ST. THOMAS' SOCIETY, STOURBRIDGE, WORCESTERSHIRE.

On Saturday, November 26th, the members of the above society and a good number of ringing friends, including Mr. J. Smith and Mr. J. Lewis, Hon. Sec. and Hon. Treasurer of the Worcestershire Association, and Mr. C. Barrett, of Lichfield, were kindly invited to supper by Mr. C. Carr, of Smethwick, on the completion of the work and celebrating the opening peal. Meeting at the tower 672 Bob Major was rung. J. H. Parsons, 1; W. F. Hartshorne, 2; G. H. Pagett (conductor), 3; W. Fryer, 4; C. Barrett, 5; H. Dakin, 6; H. Harris, 7; J. Buffery, 8. And 288 Kent Treble Bob Major. J. Lewis, 1; G. H. Pagett (conductor), 2; H. Dakin, 3; W. Fryer, 4; H. Harris, 5; J.

Smith (Netherton), 6; W. F. Hartshorne, 7; J. Buffery, 8. During the evening Mr. W. Newell, of Reading, visited the tower, and was invited to spend the evening with them, but could not comply with their request, to the regret of the ringers, but he was pleased to see such great improvement made since his last visit. Adjourning to the "Car and Horses," an excellent supper was awaiting them, laid out in Mrs. Underwood's customary style, which gave satisfaction to all. On the removal of the cloth, Mr. C. Carr was elected as chairman, and Mr. G. H. Pagett (Local Secretary), to the vice-chair. As a prelude to the evening's enjoyment, a course of Grandsire Triples and Major was rung. J. Buffery, 1-2; H. Dakin, 3-4; G. H. Pagett, 5-6; W. F. Hartshorne, 7-8. The toast of the evening was submitted by the vice-chairman. In proposing "The health of the Chairman" he said he felt sure he was expressing the opinion of all present of their indebtedness to him for his generosity in providing such an excellent supper. Mr. J. Smith and Mr. Dakin supplemented the remarks of the vice-chairman, acknowledging his kind invitation, and testifying to the admirable manner they had carried out the work at St. Thomas'. The toast was enthusiastically given with musical honours. Mr. Carr, in responding, thanked them for the kind manner in which his name had been received, and expressed the pleasure it gave him to spend such an enjoyable evening with them. He also expressed his desire to learn the art of change-ringing, and during the evening he rang with other members of the Smethwick firm, double-handed, a touch of Grandsire Doubles very creditably. The health of "The Hostess" was given and responded to. Songs, recitations, and tunes on the handbells were given in the course of the evening, which was spent in a most agreeable manner, every one having heartily enjoyed himself.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.-MANCHESTER BRANCH.

A monthly meeting of this branch was held on Saturday, November 26th, at St. Philip's church, Hulme, when about forty ringers attended, representing the following towers, viz.: the Cathedral and St. John's, Manchester, St. Michael's, Ashton-under-Lyne, Pendleton, Flixton, Rusholme, Worsley and Eccles, besides the local company. Ringing commenced at 4 p.m., Grandsire and Stedman Triples being the order before tea, which was, through the kindness of Mr. J. Scott (formerly President of the Association) provided in the British Workman Club Room gratuitously to the ringers present at the meeting. Tea over a short routine of business was gone through in the tea room, the President, the Rev. H. J. Elsee, in the chair, assisted by the Vice-President, Mr. J. Eachus. The place for holding the next meeting was fixed for St. Thomas's church, Pendleton, on Saturday, December 17th. After this ten names were added to the list of members. The business meeting was brought to a close by the Rev. Chairman proposing a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. J. Scott for so kindly providing the tea; to the Rector and churchwardens for the use of the bells, and to the local company for having everything in readiness. Some good touches were afterwards rung in the following methods: Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob and Treble Bob Major. Our correspondent adds: It may be here stated that these bells have recently been rehung by Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, and they reflect great credit on the firm, as some of the bells were false, but they have remedied this defect in the rehang. All the ringers spoke well of the way in which the work had been done, with two or three exceptions, and these were regarding the tenor bell, which they think can be improved.

SNAITH, YORKSHIRE.

The Annual outing of the local company took place on Saturday, December 3rd, the rendezvous being Horbury, which was reached at about 3 p.m. The belfry of the church was at once made for, and as two or three of the regular ringers were absent the Horbury men kindly filled their places. A 720 of Plain Bob was rung. *G. Horner, 1; G. Holmes, 2; *G. Hunt, 3; C. Tree, 4; R. Holmes, 5; J. Bullock (conductor), 6. *Local men. Afterwards touches in various methods were rung. Ample justice having been done to a good tea, the party returned to Snaith, after a very pleasant afternoon's outing.

WOLLATON CHURCH, NOTTINGHAM.

On Monday evening, November 28th, a very important event occurred at this church, viz.: the starting of a new illuminated turret striking clock, which has been erected in the tower of the parish church to replace the old one, which had got entirely worn out, by a new one of more modern design, with all the latest improvements inserted. The Rev. H. C. Russell, the rector, being acquainted with Lord Grimthorpe, the greatest authority on clocks, got his lordship's advice on the matter, who gave special directions for the manufacture of the new clock, which has been faithfully carried out by the makers, Messrs. Potts and Sons, of Leeds, who have recently replaced the original Great St. Mary of Cambridge church clock and chimes with an entirely new one of more modern construction, but still retaining the chimes first introduced by the celebrated Dr. Crotch at the above church. The clock shews the time on a new illuminated dial 4-ft. in diameter, which is composed of a skeleton cast-iron frame to form the circles, figures and minutes, and is glazed with white opal glass, which gives it a clean and neat appearance by day, and shews the time at night by means of gas lights within, the gas being turned on and off by an automatic gas apparatus attached to and worked by the clock, and regulates it according to the season of the year, the hands being of strong copper, and balanced within. The clock movement is constructed on the solid horizontal cast-iron bed-frame, the top surface being planed perfectly flat. All the bearings are of gun-metal, screwed separately into the frame to allow of any wheel being removed without disturbing the others. The main-wheel of the going train is of large size, with Lord Grimthorpe's improved maintaining power attached, for the purpose of keeping the clock going during winding up. The escapement is Lord Grimthorpe's double three-legged gravity, with a  $1\frac{1}{4}$  seconds pendulum attached, with heavy cylindrical shaped bob. The large main wheel for the striking part for the hours has got cams attached for lifting a hammer of the proper size for bringing out the full tone of the tenor bell; the cords are made of wire strands, running over iron block pulleys, bushed with brass and pivoted in, and all the latest improvements. The clock was set going by Lady Middleton on Monday evening, November 28th, at 7 o'clock, on what is hoped will be a useful and prosperous career, it being a very important thoroughfare adjoining the church, between Nottingham and Ilkeston.

ASHBY-DE-LA-ZOUCH PARISH CHURCH SOCIETY.

At the parish church, Ashby-de-la-Zouch, on Thursday, November 10th, the Bishop of Peterborough unveiled a large memorial window to the memory of Mr. W. E. Smith, for thirty-one years one of the churchwardens of this church, and also dedicated a massive oak tower screen, erected to the memory of Mr. Edward F. Mammatt, a sidesman of the church, and Secretary to the restoration and enlargement committee, and who had taken special interest in the parish church ringers' society since its formation in 1886, from which Society originated the desire to perpetuate his memory by a memorial screen. He was also an honorary member of the Midland Counties' Association. The Bishop of Peterborough preached a very striking sermon from Psalm xxvi. 8, and the memorial service was most impressive, the Bishop of St. Albans, Canon Denton (Vicar of Ashby-de-la-Zouch), and the Rev. A. S. Mammatt assisting in the service. For morning service at 11.30, the following members of the Society rang a touch of 546 Grandsire Triples: G. Hatton, 1; E. W. Beadsmore, 2; H. Canner, 3; T. Jacques (conductor), 4; W. Owen, 5; A. Hitchcock, 6; J. H. Dunmore, 7; J. Curtis, 8. And during the afternoon a quarter-peal, taken from the "Clavis," in the same method, in 44 mins. G. Hatton, 1; E. W. Beadsmore, 2; J. Jaggar, 3; T. Jacques, 4; W. Owen, 5; A. Hitchcock, 6; J. H. Dunmore (conductor), 7; J. Curtis, 8.

Correspondence.

While allowing the utmost freedom for the expression of opinion, it must never be considered that we are in any way bound to statements made by correspondents.

To the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS AND RINGERS' RECORD."

OXFORD BOB TRIPLES.

SIR,—When I published my peals of Oxford Bob Triples, I pointed out that a table with the 7th always called before, would yield eighteen peals with 114 or 120 calls. I also said that most of them would admit of being called without the shunting bobs. In the face of this, I was surprised to see the original transposition of my No. 7—with the shunting bobs omitted—appear in your issue of November 26th, with Mr. Piper's name attached to it. When working at this method, I confined my attention to the above plan for six-part peals, but there are many others besides, having one bell nearly always called before, therefore I hope Mr. Piper will not be discouraged or offended by my pointing this out.

J. J. PARKER.

P.S.—Concerning the peal of Grandsire Triples now under discussion, I do not think the Central Council would have much difficulty in settling the question, and I feel confident that they would decide against Mr. Sevier. For my own part, I think Mr. Sevier ought to give up all claim to the peal, and produce another more original.

NOVEL COMPOSITIONS.

SIR,—In reference to the "date touch" published in your issue of November 26th, will Mr. George explain for the benefit of novices in composition what particular breed of Grandsire Triples he calls it, when the treble is in second's place going up at backstroke; and how he manages to get the bells home from the out-of-course backstroke change, 2135476. In fact, leaving the three "odd changes" (odd enough) out of the question, a little more explanation of this exceedingly novel composition would be of incalculable value to the Exercise, and perhaps prevent a valuable contribution falling into oblivion. The peal of Grandsire Triples by D. H. Burton in this week's "BELL NEWS" is false as fire is hot. In fact it is on such an impossible plan that it could not well be otherwise. If would-be composers would only go to the trouble of getting some little inkling of even the rudiments of composition, before rushing into print, we should have fewer false peals, and barbarous atrocities called date touches, faked up with odd changes, encumbering the pages of "THE BELL NEWS," than we have been treated to lately. It would be a great blessing to the Exercise in general, if you, Sir, would keep a kind of private executioner in one corner of your office, who would kindly strangle some of these idiotic abortions before they are permitted to see the light of day.

GRANDSIRE CATERS AT WESTMINSTER.

SIR,—Amongst a clique in the East end, I am accused by "those in the know," of being the author of letters that have appeared in "THE BELL NEWS," on this subject: allow me to give the following facts:—I heard 45 minutes at the finish, in common with a band of ringers who failed in an attempt for Double Norwich at a neighbouring tower, and then came round to listen. I, as well as others, gave some of the ringers in the above peal my opinion on the matter in a friendly way; here as far as I was concerned the matter dropped. I disclaim having written anything on the subject in this or any other paper, nor have I authorised anyone to do so on my behalf; nor have I the slightest knowledge of who the person is who has written. Besides this, I condemn the practice of assuming a nom de plume when a point so important is at stake. As a rule I do not take notice of idle clamour, which is often the outcome of a bad, jealous disposition towards others, but when ringers take up such cudgels as these to fight with, I think it is time to defend oneself, especially in a case where there are imaginary grievances and they wait to see your departure ere they sit in judgment on you.

ACKLAND J. PERKINS.

THE RIGHT WAY.

SIR,—May I say a word about the spelling of "S. Nicholas?" The word comes from the Greek, and to put "ch" instead of "c" is quite a mistake. If any one will turn to the calendar (not chalendar) at the beginning of the Prayer-book, and look for December 6th, he will find clear proof of what I write. CHURCHWARDEN OF S. NICOLAS.

Eve of S. Nicolas.

MESSRS. JARROLD & SONS have pleasure in announcing the early publication by subscription of this most interesting and important work. Full accounts of all the Founders whose bells hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County, including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. The work was undertaken at the instigation of the late J. C. L. Stahl Schmidt, Esq., author of "Surrey Bells and London Bell-founders," "The Church Bells of Kent," "Herts," etc.; and the fact that the author had the benefit of the kind assistance and advice of this well-known campanologist may be mentioned as some guarantee of the scope and nature of the present work. Mr. Stahl Schmidt wrote the author, that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting county," and he repeated this opinion in a subsequent letter. The "Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 600 pages, & be handsomely illustrated with 24 full-page plates of mediaeval letterings, founders' marks, etc., found on Bells still existing in the County and numerous figures—some of them being peculiar to Bucks—will be inserted in the text. The 8vo. Edition is limited to 350 copies, and will be offered to subscribers before the day of publication at 22s. nett. The Larger Edition, Royal 4to, is limited to 80 copies, and will be subscribed at 42s. The prices will be raised on the day of issue should any copies remain unsold.

The Bell News &amp; Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1892

OUR great festival of Christmas—great alike in Church and Nation—is once more close upon us; and it seems almost superfluous to remind the ringers of our Church of their traditional duties during this season. There is scarcely an item of our year, either as Churchmen or as Englishmen, that is not intimately associated with the bells which we ring. The varying seasons of life have likewise with our countrymen their outward exponents in the bells of our towers. The merry "wedding bells"; telling of a union of hearts; the sad "muffled peal," bemoaning the loss of some beloved one; the joyous clanging in times of national or local rejoicing, the slow and measured tone of the bells on occasions of grief; all these have a peculiar significance; all are national institutions. But the happy Christmas-tide is especially the season of bell-ringing. Christmas in almost numberless places would be shorn of its great characteristic were the bells of the parish Church to be silent, and not as of yore ring out their wonted proclamation that "unto us a Child is born; unto us a Son is given." Let us therefore in the fast approaching recurrence of this great festival, lack naught of our traditions. Let us once again send forth throughout the length and breadth of our land the glad tidings of "peace on earth and good will to men." Let the sound go forth from the louvred windows of every tower, proclaiming the Church's great festival, and its sweetness mingle with the voices in the streets below carolling—

Glory to the new-born King."

Since last Christmas-time we have all of us had our rejoicing and our sorrows; with many of us trials and troubles have crowded thick and fast upon each other, till the outlook seemed lonely and desolate. But at this time, let us, as far as we can, put aside our troubles, remember only the festival which "comes but once a year," in whose train there should be naught but peace and happiness, and so join with the sweet melody of our bells in one glad love of thanksgiving for mercies rendered; of child-like submission for trials and losses suffered, and of Christian-like hope for the future; leaving everything in the hands of our Almighty Father, to do unto us what seemeth best in His sight. Thus let us once more again ring out those Christmas bells with hearts renewed; and as we ring let the sound of the bells be in perfect accord with those hearts of ours; in unison with the hearts of those who hear them; and in consonance with the glad message—

Peace on earth
Good will to men.

Consulted Daily from 10 to 5

Her Majesty's Surgeon-Dentist's Testimonial.

"My Dear Doctor,—Allow me to express my sincere thanks for the skill and attention displayed in the construction of my Artificial Teeth, which render my mastication and articulation excellent. I am glad to hear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. In recognition of your valuable services, you are at liberty to use my name.—S. G. HUTCHINGS. By Appointment Surgeon-Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen,"

Geo. H. Jones, Esq., F.R.S.L., F.R.M.S.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has by his Perfected System of Dentistry demonstrated that Painless Dentistry is as much an accomplished fact as the swift locomotive, the electric light, or the telephone, and absolutely restores the natural contour caused by the loss of teeth, by the adjustment of Prize Medal dentals, rendering detection impossible, which obtained the Gold Medals of London, 1851; New York, 1853; London, 1862; Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; and Philadelphia, 1876.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has been awarded for his Improvements and Patents in Dentistry gold medals, London and Paris; gold medal, New Zealand Exhibition, 1882; gold medal Calcutta, 1883; and the highest diploma of merit and award at Nice and Amsterdam, 1883-4. Awarded the gold medal of the Académie Nationale, Paris, 1884; and the highest award Antwerp; also the gold medal, International Exhibition, London, 1885; gold medal, Liverpool, 1886; gold medal, Melbourne, 1888-9.

THE NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

DISTRICT MEETING AT SAXMUNDHAM.—The eleventh quarterly meeting of the Saxmundham district of this Association was held at Saxmundham, on Saturday, December 3rd, when thirty-five members assembled from Aldeburgh, Leiston, Saxmundham, Kelsale, Benhall, Rendham, Sweffling, Great Glemham, Wenhamston, Hacheston, and Woodbridge. The bells of the parish church, and also those of St. Peter's church, Kelsale, were placed at the disposal of the members, by the kindness of the respective incumbents, and were kept going during the afternoon and evening, during which various touches in the Plain Bob, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, and Grandsire methods were successfully brought round. The members were here accorded a hearty welcome. On arriving at the church the Rev. G. F. Richardson, M.A., the popular Rector of Saxmundham, was waiting to receive them, giving to each member a few words of kindly greeting. The rev. gentleman remained a considerable time in the belfry, and was much interested in the various performances upon the bells.

The "Queen's Head" hotel was the head quarters, where the business meeting was held at six o'clock, presided over by the Rev. G. F. Richardson, M.A., who called upon the Honorary District Secretary, Mr. William Taylor, to read the minutes of the last meeting, which were duly confirmed and signed. The Secretary stated that he had much pleasure in being able to report continued progress being made by the Association. Since the last meeting another tower, that of Great Glemham, had been brought into union with this District, and that six of the members of that company had joined the Association. He was also very pleased to announce that the Rev. G. F. Richardson had kindly consented to become an honorary member of the Association; also that the Rev. G. Irving Davies, M.A., Rector of Kelsale, had rejoined the Association. Various letters were laid before the meeting, including some from several members, regretting their inability to attend, and hoping for a successful meeting. There had been unfortunately a falling off in the number of peals rung during the past quarter, and the Association is in consequence losing its pride of place in Mr. Attree's analysis with sad rapidity.

On the proposition of Mr. F. Cooper, seconded by Mr. John Button, it was decided to hold the next meeting at Great Glemham, on Saturday, March 4th.

The rev. chairman delivered a most kind and appropriate address, stating the very great pleasure it gave him to welcome the members, and to become an honorary member of their Association. The rev. gentleman said apart from the scientific art, the office of a ringer was a solemn and important one, not only taking part on all occasions of national rejoicing or mourning, but also in our own midst on similar occasions, and calling worshippers to God's House and tolling the knell of the departed. It was indeed a solemn office, and how reproachful the sound of the church bells to those who heard the summons and refused to attend. The rev. gentleman concluded his address by hoping he might soon again have the opportunity of welcoming the Association.

A very hearty vote of thanks was passed to the chairman for presiding, and for the use of the bells; also to the Rev. G. Irving Davies, M.A., for the use of the Kelsale bells, which brought to a close one of the most successful and encouraging meetings that has yet been held in the district.

COPT HEWICK, NEAR RIPON, VILLAGE CLOCK.

An influential meeting was held in the schoolroom here recently to consider the advisability of erecting a four-dialed illuminated clock, and bell for the clock to strike upon. Joseph S. Hurst, Esq., J.P., of Copt Hewick Hall, occupied the chair. Mr. Kingsmill, Secretary, and other members of the committee being present, also a large gathering of ladies and gentlemen from the neighbourhood. Mr. Hurst kindly offered to erect the tower at his own cost, and a tender having been received from Messrs. Potts and Sons, Clock Manufacturers, of Cookridge and Guildford Streets, Leeds, to supply the clock, it was proposed and seconded that the above firm should carry out the contract, which was adopted by the meeting, and the work is now in progress.

BARKWAY, HERTS.

On Monday, December 5th, the members of the local company, with a few friends, were invited by Mr. Charles Guy, who is a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths and the Sussex County Association, to a meat tea, and to try a new set of handbells which have been bought for the ringers of the parish church by subscription. The bells are twelve in number, and are in the key of F, and were procured from the well-known firm of Taylor and Co., of Loughborough. They are of fine tone, and have given general satisfaction to the ringers. After tea a vote of thanks was unanimously passed by the members present to the parishioners and friends who had contributed so generously to the fund for purchasing the bells, and the remainder of the evening was spent in change-ringing and tunes tapped on the handbells by T. Beale, in a masterly manner. During the evening a few plain courses of Grandsire Doubles and Plain Bob Minor were rung by the following: J. Allen, 1; H. King, 2; W. Sharp, 3; W. Bygrave, 4; C. Guy, 5; C. Sharp, 6. F. Sharp and H. Machon also took part in the ringing. This Society has recently been formed for the practice of change-ringing, and Mr. C. Guy has been instrumental in bringing about the formation of the Society, and to him special praise is due. At the close of the proceedings a hearty vote of thanks was given to Mr. and Mrs. Guy for their kind hospitality, after which the company proceeded home, thoroughly well pleased with their evening's enjoyment. The members of the local company will be pleased to welcome any brother-string at any time, and permission will be heartily given to a band who would pay them a visit. There is a ring of six in good going order. Buntingford, on the G.E.R., and Royston, on the G.N. are both four miles from here, but arrangements can be made to bring up six or more visitors from the station at one shilling a head. All communications addressed to the Secretary, Mr. W. Bygrave, Barkway, Herts., will receive prompt attention.

THE ST. MICHAEL'S SOCIETY, HEADINGLEY, YORKS.

On Friday evening, December 9th, members of the above Society and the neighbouring company of St. Chad's, with a few invited ringing and other friends, dined together at the "Oak" hotel, Headingley, the occasion being the second anniversary of the opening of the bells. The ability of the landlord (Mr. Brooksbank) as a caterer was evident, judging from the manner in which the victuals vanished. The cloth having been removed, Mr. J. Whitaker was voted to the chair and proposed the toast of "The Queen and Royal Family." Other toasts followed in quick succession, including the "St. Michael's and St. Chad's Societies," "The Leeds and District Amalgamated Society," "The Yorkshire Association," and "THE BELL NEWS." A vote of condolence was passed to the Editor in his recent bereavement. Tunes and courses of Bob Major and Grandsire Triples were rung on the handbells, and some humorous songs were rendered by Messrs. A. Naylor, H. Kirk, and A. Stokoe in quite a professional style. A touching illusion was made to the Hon. Sec. of the St. Michael's Society, who is suffering from illness. May he have a speedy recovery was the fervent wish of all present, his absence being much regretted. Arrangements were then made for a peal on the morrow, an account of which will be found on another page. The thanks of the company are due to Mr. Clifford, who ably accompanied on the piano. The "Health of the Host and Hostess" was drank with musical honours, to which Mr. Brooksbank suitably responded. The singing of the "National Anthem" concluded a most enjoyable gathering of ringers, singers, vergers and friends.

NOTE TO THE PEAL AT ST. PETER MANCROFT, NORWICH.—This peal was rung upon the birthday of Mr. F. Knights, his brother-strings wishing him many happy returns. It is the longest peal in the method on the bells, only one previously having been rung—5040 in the year 1827, conducted by the celebrated Samuel Thurston. First peal of Oxford Treble Bob Royal by all on tower bells, and the first peal of Royal in any method by the ringers of the 2nd, 5th, 6th and 7th. This composition is now rung for the first time.

SOMETHING ABOUT BELLS.

The new peal of bells for Barnet Parish Church has been cast, and ere these lines catch the eyes of our readers, may already have been swung into position. We had intended to give the description of an eye witness to the casting of this peal, but London fog and Great Northern trains foiled our efforts to reach the foundry on the eventful morning, so we turned instead to the pages of the Encyclopædia Britannica for information, and here is what we found:—

"As to the manufacture of church bells during the last five centuries, it must not be supposed that the early bell founders understood all the principles of construction, mixture of metals, lines, and proportions which go to form our notion of a good bell. As an Amati or Stradivarius violin is the result of innumerable experiments extending over centuries, so the bells of Van den Gheyn (1550) disengaged themselves, after ages of empirical trials, as the true models, and supplied the finished type for all succeeding bell-workers. Bell metal is a mixture of copper and tin, in the proportion of four to one. In the time of the third Henry it was two to one. In Mr. Layard's Nineveh bronze bells it was ten to one. Zinc and lead are used in small bells. The thickness of a bell's edge is one-fifteenth of its diameter, and its height is twelve times its thickness. Bells, like viols, have been made of every conceivable shape within certain limits. The long narrow bell, the quadrangular, and the mitre-shaped, in Europe at least, indicate antiquity; and the graceful curved inwardly-midway and full trumpet-mouthed bell indicate an age not earlier than the sixteenth century. The bell is first designed on paper, according to the scale of measurement. Then the crook is made, this being a kind of double wooden compass, the legs of which are respectively curved to the inner and outer sides of the bell, a space of the exact form and thickness of the bell being left betwixt them. The compass is pivoted on a stake driven into the bottom of the casting pit. A stuffing of brickwork is bound round the stake, leaving room for a fire to be lighted inside it. The outside of this stuffing is then padded with fine soft clay, well mixed and bound together with calves' hair, and the inner leg of the compass run round it, bring it to the exact shape of a bell. Upon this core, well smeared with grease, is fashioned the false clay bell, the outer leg of the compass. Inscriptions are now moulded in wax on the outside of the clay bell. These are carefully smeared with grease, then lightly covered with the finest clay and then with coarser clay, until a solid mantle is thickened over the outside of the clay bell. A fire is now lighted, and the whole baked hard: the grease and wax inscriptions steam out through holes at the top, leaving the sham clay bell baked hard and tolerably loose, between the core and the cope or mantle. The cope is then lifted, the clay bell broken up, the cope let down again, enclosing now between itself and the core the exact shape of the bell. The metal is then boiled and run moulden into the mould. A large bell will take several weeks to cool. When extracted it ought to be scarcely touched, and should hardly require tuning. This called its maiden state, and it is one so sought after that many bells are left rough and out of tune in order to claim it."

The quality of a bell depends not only on the casting and the fineness and mixture of metals, but upon the due proportion of metal to the calibre of the bell. The larger the bell the lower the tone, but if we try to make a large E bell, with metal only enough for a smaller F bell, the E bell will be puny and poor. It has been calculated that for a peal of bells to give the pure chord of the ground tone or key-note, third, fifth, and octave, the diameters are required to be as thirty, twenty-four, twenty, fifteen, and the weights as eighty, forty-one, twenty-four, and ten.

It has been mentioned that Pope Sabinianus (604) first used church bells; but it seems clear that they were introduced into France as early as 550. In 680, Benedict, Abbot of Wearmouth, imported them from Italy; and in the seventh century Bede mentions them in England. St. Dunstan hung many in the tenth century, and in the eleventh century they were not uncommon in Switzerland and Germany. It is incredible that the Greek Christians, as has been asserted, were unacquainted with bells till the ninth century; but it is certain that, for political reasons after the taking of Constantinople by the Turks in 1453, their use was forbidden, lest they should provide a popular signal for revolt.

Several old bells are extant in Scotland, Ireland, and Wales. The oldest are often quadrangular, made of thin iron plates hammered and rivetted together.

The history of bells is full of romantic interest. In civilised times they have been intimately associated, not with all kinds of religious and social rights, but with almost every important historical event. Their influence upon architecture is not less remarkable, for to them indirectly we owe all the most famous towers in the world.

A good bell when struck, yields one note, so that any person with an ear for music can say what it is. This note is called the consonant, and when it is distinctly heard, the bell is said to be "true."—Local Paper.

KELVEDON, ESSEX.

On Sunday, November 27th, Messrs. Nevard and Hazell, of Great Bentley, Bowell of Ipswich, and Rashbrook and Geernaert of Colchester, paid a visit to Kelvedon and the adjoining villages. Arriving at Kelvedon at 10.45 a start was made for the pretty little peal of five at Irworth, about two miles from Kelvedon, and before service three 6-scores of Grandsire and a 6-score of Plain Bob Doubles were rung, the band standing as follows: A. Bowell, 1; G. M. Rashbrook, 2; W. Hazell, 3; L. G. Geernaert, 4; W. J. Nevard (conductor), 5. Also another 6-score after service. W. Hazell, 1; G. M. Rashbrook, 2; W. J. Nevard (conductor), 3; L. G. Geernaert, 4; A. Bowell, 5. The party next made their way for another peal of five at Feering, and rang a 6-score of Grandsire for afternoon service. W. Hazell, 1; G. M. Rashbrook, 2; L. G. Geernaert, 3; W. J. Nevard (conductor), 4; A. Bowell, 5. After this they returned to Kelvedon, and with the aid of some of the local ringers some 6-scores of Grandsire, Plain Bob and Stedman were rang upon the splendid peal of five after afternoon service. Tenor between 20 and 22 cwt. They then had to make all speed for the station to catch the 4.53 train home, all being thoroughly satisfied with the day's proceedings. They take this opportunity, through the medium of this paper, of thanking the rectors for the use of their bells, and the steeplekeepers and local ringers for their help in getting everything ready.

The Guardian states that the Rev. William Collings Lukis, M.A., rector of Wath, died on Tuesday week. He had been in failing health for some years, and had for a considerable time been unable actively to discharge his duties. He was well-known as an archaeologist, and pursued researches in Brittany, publishing a guide to the prehistoric monuments of that district, and numerous archaeological and other works. He also edited three volumes of Stukeley's Diary. In connection with the Ripon Scientific Society he made researches at Castle Dykes, an old Roman encampment near Ripon, which resulted in valuable additions to the museum. Mr. Lukis was the contributor of a chapter entitled "Ancient Ripon" in the Ripon Millenary Record, a work just issuing from the press. He had been rector of Wath for the last thirty years, and took a prominent part in the public affairs of the district. He was a justice of the peace for the North Riding, and also a member of the Ripon Board of Guardians, of which he was for some years the chairman. He graduated at Trinity College, Cambridge, in 1840, and was ordained the following year to the curacy of Bradford-on-Avon; he was afterwards perpetual curate of East Grafton, Wilts, 1846-50; vicar of Great Bedwyn 1850-5, rector of Collingbourne-Ducis 1855-62, being presented to the rectory of Wath in the latter year. In 1850 he was appointed chaplain to the late Marquis of Ailesbury. He was Rural Dean of Marlborough from 1857 till 1861, and of East Catterick from 1864 till 1870.

The Prince and Princess of Wales have each subscribed ten guineas towards the memorial to Bishop Claughton, and have approved of its taking the form of a chancel screen in the old parish church of Kidderminster, of which Dr. Claughton was for many years vicar. A design for the screen has been prepared by Sir Arthur Bloomfield.

ST. NICOLAS CHURCH, BRIGHTON.

On Tuesday, December 6th, the festival services of the old church of St. Nicolas attracted good congregations in honour of the occasion, and in connection therewith it may be noticed that a board has been put up in the belfry of the church by the St. Nicolas Society in commemoration of the peal of Grandsire Triples rung on the morning of Jubilee Day, 1887. The board is of an ornamental description with gilt lettering, etc., and the Royal arms done in colours, at the top being a gilt crown. The inscription on the board reads as follows:—

Victoria D. G. B. R. F. D. Jubilee,
Sussex County Association,
St. Nicholas Brighton Branch.

On Tuesday, June 21st, was rung in this tower, by eight members of the above Association, a true and complete peal of Grandsire Triples, 5040 changes (Holt's ten-part reversed), in two hours and fifty-four minutes, as follows: Jesse Neves, Treble; James Searle, 2; John Fox, 3; Henry Boniface, 4; William Palmer, 5; George A. King, 6; Charles Tyler, 7; William Davey, Tenor. Conducted by James Searle.

The above was rung to commemorate the Jubilee of Her Most Gracious Majesty, Queen Victoria, and was commenced at 4.15 a.m.

It is believed that this was the first peal rung on Jubilee Day. The erection of this board has been brought under the cognisance of the Queen, through an application made by Mr. H. Boniface, the Secretary of the St. Nicolas Society, for permission to use the Royal Arms. The reply received from Sir Henry Ponsonby, dated from Windsor Castle, November 21st, was as follows:—

SIR,—In reply to yours of the 17th inst., I do not think there is any probability of objection being made to your use of the royal arms on so loyal an occasion as that which you report. But I do think the Queen would like to see a photograph of the tablet. Yours faithfully, Henry F. Ponsonby.

A photograph was accordingly prepared and sent to Her Majesty, and Mr. Boniface, on November 25th, received the appended acknowledgment:—

SIR,—I have to thank you for sending me a photograph of St. Nicolas church tablet, which I have shown to the Queen. I remain, Sir, your obedient servant, Henry F. Ponsonby.

PRESTEIGN, RADNORSHIRE.—DEATH IN THE BELFRY.

A young man named Vaughan, one of the ringers of the parish church, lost his life on Monday last under unusual circumstances. The church bells had been left up after ringing for evening service on the previous day, and Vaughan went to the belfry about two o'clock on Monday afternoon to correct some small fault with the gear. He was not seen during the remainder of the day, but when some of the ringers went to the belfry in the evening they found Vaughan dead, his body being astride a beam among the bells. It is supposed that in the course of his work he dislodged one of the bells, causing it to swing over, and that to save himself he had clutched the wheel of another and caused that to fall also. One of them had evidently struck the man on the head, killing him instantly. Several persons remember noticing the sudden striking of one or two of the bells at three o'clock. Vaughan leaves a widow and two children.

The Rev. Herbert Mortimer Luckock, D.D., late Canon of Ely, was on Thursday week installed into the deanery of Lichfield Cathedral, the Mayor and Corporation attending in state. The Dean-designate, accompanied by the Bishop and registrar of the diocese, was received at the entrance by the cathedral body, and presented the letters patent, made the declaration, and took the oath required by law on his admission to the deanery. The Bishop's mandate for the installation and induction was then issued, and the Bishop laid hands on the Dean-designate and pronounced the Benediction. The Dean was then conducted to the Chapter-house and made the usual declaration. The Dean and Chapter then returned to the choir, and the Dean was inducted to his stall by the Precentor. He was afterwards placed in the seat belonging to his office in the Chapter-house.

REPLY TO MR. SEVIER.

SIR,—Will you allow me space to reply to Mr. Sevier's last letter. He says that I never thought of putting the peal in the form of a five-part peal until his variation appeared. To prove him wrong in his assertion, I will mention a short conversation which I had with my brother the day before I composed the peal, when I asked him if any of Mr. Davies' five-part peals would run true as a ten-part by a shunt among the five B blocks left out. After that, the same evening, I examined these peals, and finding that none of them would, I composed my peal the next day, August 14, 1890, so that in fact I knew before the peal was composed that it would run true as a five-part if it would go for a ten-part. But this is beside the question. For it is a well-known fact, which Mr. Sevier seems to have overlooked, that all ten-part peals will go true as five-part compositions. Were I to publish Holt's ten-part as a five-part with ten Holt's singles, who would give me the credit of the composition. Yet that which Mr. Sevier claims is equally absurd. Now comes the question: whence did Mr. Sevier get his brilliant idea of making a five-part peal out of my ten-part. I will endeavour to clear the matter up to everyone's satisfaction. When I first produced my peal, I showed it to our Gloucester ringers, and asked Mr. Sevier to call it. He said that he would if it was true. He then, unknown to any of us, sent the peal to Mr. J. J. Parker, and asked him to prove it. Mr. Parker, through some accidental oversight, sent it back to Mr. Sevier, saying that it was true as a five-part peal, but false as a ten-part. He also enclosed a copy of it varied into a five-part, which Mr. Sevier gave to Mr. W. H. Brunson, of Gloucester, as Mr. Parker's peal, though I am sure that Mr. Parker laid no claim to it. Mr. Sevier must afterwards have varied this five-part to produce the peal which he now claims. In conclusion may I ask what Mr. Sevier means by his very rude attack on Mr. Jaggar. Unless I am much mistaken, Mr. Sevier himself, in reply to my last letter on the subject, said that he was willing to leave the matter to the judgement of the Exercise; yet when Mr. Jaggar, an eminent member of the Exercise, gives us his opinion on the matter, he writes such a letter as appeared in your issue of December 3rd. Is this true Christian charity?

EDWARD B. JAMES.

SIR,—After Mr. Parker's letter of last week, it is quite unnecessary for me to say another word, only to advise Mr. Sevier "to think before he rushes into print with his [?] peals, but be in love and charity with all men."

JOHN JAGGAR.

A WITHDRAWAL.

SIR,—Concerning the peal of Grandsire Triples now under discussion, acting on Mr. J. J. Parker's suggestion, I beg to say that I relinquish all claim to the peal, and for the future Mr. E. B. James' name must be appended to the composition.

W. J. SEVIER.

A CORRECTION.

SIR,—On looking through the Lancashire Association Report for 1891-2, I came across a peal of Bob Royal, rang at the Cathedral church of St. Peter, on September 22nd, 1891, conducted by Robert Williams, which is an error, as I conducted the peal myself from the 9th bell, and not Robert Williams. It was published in "THE BELL NEWS" of October 3rd. 1891.

BELL-RINGERS ON STRIKE.

SIR,—The above may sound strange, but I understand that the South Anston company have resolved to leave the ropes, until such time that their vicar will decide to have the clock weights protected. At the present time the men who ring the 5th and 5th are close against the short rails which reach only a few feet from the floor, and should a rope chance to break, providing the weight did not fall straight down, the ringers would run a great risk of having a few cwt. of metal on their heads. I have heard rev. gentlemen preach to ringers about going to church to ring others there, and then leave the sacred place thinking nothing about saving their own souls, but this is a question of leaving the church to save their life.

BY REQUEST.

"THE RIGHT WAY."

SIR,—Allow me to thank Mr. Churchwarden for his interesting correction of a popular error. I ought to have known it, but am afraid I must own to having often made the mistake. May I correct another? You often see "Saint" abbreviated as "S." As a matter of fact this is the Latin abbreviation of "Sanctus," so that one would correctly write "S. Petrus" or "S. Johannes"—but if one is writing in English, it should be "St. Peter" or "St. John." Of course we do find both forms in the Calendar—but ancient printers worked in rather a haphazard way, and as we have this variance, we ought to choose the English abbreviation of the two. I know that many people consider the plain "S." more "High Church"—in order therefore that I may not be suspected of any bias, I may say that I am what is commonly called a very High Churchman—much as I dislike the use of party names.

NORTH NOTTS. AND "THE BELL NEWS."

SIR,—On a recent visit to the above Association meeting, I learnt during a conversation with a member, that the Worksop and Shireoaks ringers were very fond of having a look at "THE BELL NEWS," but alas! eight ringers at the former place and six at the latter, and out of that number only Mr. Russon supports the paper. Brother-strings, you can get one every week for a penny.

VISITOR.

AN EXPLANATION.

SIR,—When I sent in for publication the report of the Quarterly Meeting of the North Notts. Association held at Shireoaks on the 3rd inst., I did not intend you to abstract the last paragraph and publish in the advertisement column. I meant you to publish the full report in the proper column as hitherto. The matter of advertising, the Hon. Secretary, the Rev. H. Slodden, deals with, and he will undoubtedly send you full particulars in due time. I merely write this to save an explanation to headquarters, and to shew the members I have not exceeded my duty.

Obituary.

SAMUEL CARTER.

Not with an actual ringer this time does our obituary notices deal with. Mr. Samuel Carter, who died on Sunday last, in his 62nd year, was the father of John Carter, of Birmingham, and was greatly respected by friends and ringers both near and far. Many visitors to the great Midland town will recollect his cheery manner, always greatly pleased in welcoming ringing friends who came to see his son. He was almost sure to be found at any ringers' meeting in company with our friend John, and though knowing nothing of the art, he greatly enjoyed the company and conversation of ringers. On the Thursday before his death, while father and son were having their tea together in the workshop, he was suddenly taken ill, and had to be conveyed home without delay. He lingered till the following Sunday morning, and underwent great suffering up till an hour or two preceding his decease. Great sympathy is felt for Mrs. Carter, who mourns the loss of a fond husband, and also for our friend John Carter, and the other members of the family. In this feeling of sympathy we are sure all our readers will heartily join.

NEXT WEEK'S NUMBER.—We shall issue next week a portrait, with memoir, of that distinguished ruler, the Rev. F. E. ROBINSON, Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, and Vicar of Drayton, Berks. The number will also contain a few "notes" from "Free Lance," poetry, and other matters. A very successful portrait of the above-named rev. gentleman has been secured.

CHRISTMAS PRESENTS.—Our readers will not have failed to notice the large new advertisement of our old friend, Mr. WILLIAM GORDON, on the last page but one of this paper. Mr. Gordon, in addition to supplying all kinds of music for ringers and others, has opened an emporium for the supply of every kind of musical instrument known. In the list given in the advertisement many articles will be found which are suitable for Christmas presents, and any of our readers about purchasing, cannot do better than drop a line to Mr. Gordon at once. He is able and willing to advise them upon all matters relating to every kind of musical instrument, whether they become purchasers or not. We have just seen a violin sent from his establishment, which a talented judge in such articles has praised very highly indeed. Mr. Gordon's new list of handbell music will be found on the second page.

NOTE TO THE PEAL OF LONDON SURPRISE AT HUGHENDEN.—At the commencement of the year the band being one short, they wrote to Mr. W. E. Yates at Marlow, and told him how they were situated, and he kindly volunteered to come and make up the band, and so continued to practice and attempt the peal until September 20th, ringing several times over two hours, but the treble-man getting married he could not come, so it was decided to invite the Rev. F. E. Robinson, and attempt the peal on Friday, but owing to the awkwardness of the trains, he arrived too late to attempt the peal, so had a practice instead, and decided to start on Saturday afternoon, and were successful; in two hours and fifty-two minutes a capital struck peal was rung, without a hitch from beginning to end. Mr. W. E. Yates rode and walked from Marlow to Hughenden, a distance of 14 miles there and back, 37 times, to practice and attempt the peal, making a total distance of 518 miles. This is also his twentieth peal, and was rung five weeks previous to his twentieth birthday.

Mr. Sykes writes: The peal I sent you for insertion in "THE BELL NEWS" of Saturday, December 3rd, was printed wrong; it should read—middle, in, out, fourths and wrong.

The peal of Stedman rung at Mitcham, on November 30th, was rung in 2 hrs. and 47 mins. not 2 hrs. and 44 mins.; and the weight of tenor 16 cwt. not 15 cwt. as reported.

Compositions.

All compositions sent for insertion must be accompanied by a fee of Sixpence. If proof of a touch or peal be desired One Shilling additional must accompany such a request.

THE CHURCH BELLS OF BUCKINGHAMSHIRE. By ALFRED HENAGE COCKS, M.A., Ch. Ch., Oxford; F.Z.S., F.R.G.S., Great Marlow, Bucks. With many Illustrations.

MESSRS. JARROLD & SONS have pleasure in announcing the early publication by subscription of this most interesting and important work. It will contain an account of all the Church Bells in Buckinghamshire, with everything relating to their history that can be discovered. Full accounts of all the Founders whose bells hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County, including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. The work was undertaken at the instigation of the late J. C. L. Stahlschmidt, Esq., author of "Surrey Bells and London Bell-founders," "The Church Bells of Kent," "Herts," etc.; and the fact that the author had the benefit of the kind assistance and advice of this well-known campanologist may be mentioned as some guarantee of the scope and nature of the present work. Mr. Stahlschmidt wrote the author, that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting county," and he repeated this opinion in a subsequent letter. The "Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 600 pages, & be handsomely illustrated with 24 full-page plates of mediaeval letterings, founders' marks, etc., found on Bells still existing in the County and numerous figures—some of them being peculiar to Bucks—will be inserted in the text. The 8vo. Edition is limited to 300 copies, and will be offered to subscribers before the day of publication at 21s. nett. The Larger Edition, Royal 4to, is limited to 80 copies, and will be subscribed at 42s. The prices will be raised on the day of issue should any copies remain unsold.

The Bell News &amp; Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1892.

We have again been treated to a discussion upon the authorship of a composition which is claimed by more than one gentleman. It is refreshing this week to hear that the original claimant yields up the pretensions he hitherto maintained, and makes a formal renunciation of the production which has engendered the correspondence. We have before remarked that very little care appears to be taken to ascertain whether a composition has already become known. Indeed, so much has been said upon the subject, that it seems hopeless almost to endeavour to bring some people to distinguish between what is right and what is wrong in connection with the question. A rumour reaches us as we write of another instance, where there is more than one claimant to a peal of Treble Bob, the figures of which have appeared in this paper, and it is just likely we shall be shortly regaled with the dictums which will be laid down by the partisans of each claimant. In such case we hope that an authoritative voice will be heard at an early stage of the discussion, which will settle the question at once, and spare us the spectacle of two distinguished composers waging in a war of words which has no ultimate effect but estrangement.

The date touch question also again crops up. Mr. HUBBARD, with his usual pungent sarcasm, assails these compositions in earnest, and it would be affectation on our part to pretend not to agree with almost every word he says. This date touch business is becoming an article of faith—a fetish in fact—to be adored and revered. Rather than these continual libels on an excellent method should be countenanced, it would be better for the Exercise to combine and abolish them altogether. There is no magic in the thing. It may be a difficulty to produce a certain number of changes in any particular method, and to overcome such difficulty a credit, but if the method is to be tampered with, such difficulty is with ease removed; hence no credit for ingenuity is earned.

Our composition columns of last week contained a most remarkable peal of Grandsire Triples: a ten-part peal on the usual plan, with a common single mid-way and end. As the above-named gentleman wrote, this peal was as "false as fire is hot." Yet a company in the North has been found innocent enough to ring it, and a conductor, who is not ignorant of the principles of composition, to call it. In an account sent to us of this performance the conductor intimates that since ringing it by some means or other they have discovered that it was false, and he adds "the ringers wish to present the composer with their compliments." Perhaps the latter gentleman will be of opinion that his name is sufficiently famous without entering the field of composition again.

Her Majesty's Surgeon-Dentist's Testimonial.
"My Dear Doctor,—Allow me to express my sincere thanks for the skill and attention displayed in the construction of my Artificial Teeth, which render my mastication and articulation excellent. I am glad to hear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. In recognition of your valuable services, you are at liberty to use my name.—S. G. HURCHINGS. By Appointment Surgeon-Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen."
Geo. H. Jones, Esq., F.R.S.L., F.R.M.S.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has by his Perfected System of Dentistry demonstrated that Painless Dentistry is as much an accomplished fact as the swift locomotive, the electric light, or the telephone, and absolutely restores the natural contour caused by the loss of teeth, by the adjustment of Prize Medal dentals, rendering detection impossible, which obtained the Gold Medals of London, 1851; New York, 1853; London, 1862; Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; and Philadelphia, 1876.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has been awarded for his Improvements and Patents in Dentistry gold medals, London and Paris; gold medal, New Zealand Exhibition, 1882; gold medal Calcutta, 1883; and the highest diploma of merit and award at Nice and Amsterdam, 1883-4. ## THE REV. F. E. ROBINSON, OF DRAYTON, BERKS.

[Vide Portrait.]

The Rev. F. E. ROBINSON was born in Oxfordshire in 1833, and educated at Winchester College. As a boy he greatly admired the Cathedral bells in that city, but it was at Finedon, in Northamptonshire, that he first essayed to ring a bell. As an undergraduate at Oxford he was frequently to be found in the belfry at Magdalen and New Colleges, ringing the bells for the chapel services. In the year 1858 he was persuaded to visit Appleton, where he was kindly received by the ringers. With them he rang his first peal, Grandsire Triples, in October, 1859. This was followed by a peal of Kent Treble Bob in the following December. The Appleton band then began to practice Stedman Triples, and Mr. ROBINSON rang his first peal in that method with them in February, 1861. A promise having been made that a peal of Stedman Triples should be followed by an addition of two tenors to the ring of eight at Appleton, the bells were at once ordered, and the ten were first rung on May 17th, 1861. A peal of Grandsire Caters was scored in October, 1861, followed by a peal of Stedman Caters in March, 1862. In 1878 Mr. ROBINSON became Vicar of Drayton, Berks, and the six bells he found there were soon on their return journey to the Whitechapel Foundry to receive a new treble and a tenor, and thus be augmented to a ring of eight. The first peal on them, Grandsire Triples, was rung in May, 1880, and in the following June a peal of Stedman Triples was obtained. In 1881 the Oxford Diocesan Guild commenced its career, Mr. ROBINSON being unanimously elected its Master. Ringing matters however made but slow progress until the rising of the Oxonian star, Mr. Washbrook, whose marked ability as an instructor and conductor gave them a powerful impetus. In 1884 Canon Wigram, of Hertford, was the first to introduce the practice, since adopted by various Associations, of devoting a whole week to peal-ringing. Mr. ROBINSON has taken part in twelve such weeks in various localities, nine peals out of ten attempts having more than once been accomplished. He has had the honour of being re-elected Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild year after year, and in the discharge of his official duties, in addition to attendance at every general and committee meeting of the Guild, he has paid eighty-two visits for inspection and advice to various towers, and been present at forty-six opening ceremonies after rehanging of bells.

He has taken part in five longest lengths, viz.: 10,080 Double Norwich (record), 13,000 Grandsire Caters, 12,000 and 15,000 Stedman Caters (record), and 7000 Superlative Surprise (record).

He has conducted ninety peals, including the first Surprise peal rung by the Oxford University Society, and the only one ever rung by a clerical band, viz., Stedman Triples in October, 1884. He has taken part in 397 peals, an analysis of which is appended. He is a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, the St. James's Society, and most of the Diocesan and Provincial Guilds and Associations.

THE RINGERS' GUIDE TO THE CHURCH BELLS OF DEVON. By C. PEARSON, M.A. Price One Shilling, or bound in cloth, 1s. 6d. Postage Threepence.

LYNDHURST, HAMPSHIRE.

On Saturday, December 3rd, the following members of the Winchester Diocesan Guild, viz., Messrs. J. Elcombe, T. Cole, and F. Russen, of Romsey, Messrs. C. Tribe, J. Batts and C. Cook, of Southampton, paid a visit to this place, and there met by appointment Mr. C. W. Tucker, formerly of Hendon, and now at Brockenhurst. Permission having been previously obtained to ring they made an inspection of the bells, and after a visit to the grocer for lard, and the shoemaker for wax thread, the bells were geared, ropes repaired, and the bells raised. The intention was to have started for a 5040 of Minor, but this (owing to the long draught of rope—60-ft.—and the bad going of some of the bells) had to be abandoned. A 720 of Bob Minor was brought round, also a 360 and several 6-scores of Plain Bob and Grandsire Doubles. The bells were then lowered in peal, and an adjournment made to the "Crown" hotel, where tea and other refreshments had been kindly provided by Mr. Churchwarden Gale. After tea a start was made for Romsey, which place was reached about seven o'clock, after an enjoyable moonlight drive of ten miles through some of the most lovely parts of the New Forest. Being joined by the local ringers, a move was soon made to the Abbey tower, and several touches of Bob Minor and Bob and Grandsire Doubles were rung. A visit was then paid to the house of Mr. J. Elcombe, and several 6-scores of Doubles and two plain courses of Grandsire Triples were rung on handbells. Great credit is due to Mr. C. Cole, who piloted the treble through several 6-scores of Doubles and the two courses of Triples without any previous practice.

The following day being ringing Sunday the visitors assisted to ring for the three services, and then left for Southampton by the 7.24 train, having spent a most agreeable and pleasant outing. They wish to thank the Vicar and churchwardens of Lyndhurst for their kindness in granting permission to ring and providing tea, and also to Mr. J. Elcombe, of Romsey, for his kindness and hospitality.

RIPON AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

On Saturday, December 17th, a very pleasant and successful meeting was held in Sharow belfry by this Association, about twenty members being present. Ringing commenced at 5.30 p.m. on the musical peal of eight, tenor 13 cwt., and concluded at 8.30. The object of this Association is to give every member a trial whether efficient or non-efficient, and to promote progress in change-ringing; consequently our doings are not so scientific as perhaps would be expected. The first touch was a 360 of Plain Bob Minor, with the tenor and treble behind. J. Benson, 1; R. Pick, 2; T. Clark, 3; H. Robinson, 4; H. Dickinson, 5; W. Turner, 6; —, Rumbold, 7; A. Gibson, 8. A touch of Grandsire Triples. A. Gibson, 1; J. Barnes, 2; H. Robinson, 3; H. Dickinson, 4; W. Pick, 5; T. Clark, 6; —, Rumbold, 7; F. Shepherd, 8. This was followed by another 350 in the same method, Turner ringing the 5th, Atkinson the 6th, and W. Watson the tenor. And 672 Bob Major. A. Gibson, 1; —, Baines, 2; —, Robinson, 3; H. Dickinson, 4; W. Pick, 5; F. Shepherd, 6; T. Clark, 7; —, Rumbold, 8. After some rounds and Queen's changes had been rung two trial courses of Kent Treble Bob Minor. A. Gibson, 1; —, Baines, 2; T. Clark, 3; —, Turner, 4; —, Ingleby, 5; —, Rumbold, 6. In the second course Atkinson rung the 2nd, which concluded the ringing. All the touches were conducted by T. Clark, Honorary Secretary of the Association.

The ringers from a distance were kindly invited by the Hon. Sec. to a knife and fork tea at his residence, provided by Mrs. Clark with her usual liberality and kindness. Afterwards the company had to make all speed to the station, a distance of half a mile, to catch the last train home, all being thoroughly satisfied with the evening's proceedings. T. C.

NOTICE OF LONG PEAL.

All being well, eight members of the Oxford Diocesan Guild will attempt a peal, 13,440 changes, of Double Norwich Court Bob Major, at All Saints, Boyne Hill, Maidenhead, Berks, to start as soon after eight a.m. as possible on Saturday, the 31st of December.

In this touch 6-7s, 4-6s, and 4-7s are produced in all but the first course.

For the convenience of conductors who are unaccustomed to figured calling, the position calls may be of service, the 7th being taken as the observation bell.

In the first course call:—

Wrong; Home with a double.

Last whole turn; Middle with a double (after going in quick).

First half turn; Last whole turn with a double.

In Quick.

NOTE: when the observation bell is called "middle," it makes the bob.

In the body of the touch "Last whole turn" must be called for the bob at 7, and "In quick" for the bob at 12. At the single the treble and third are behind, and the former makes the 6ths place at the single.

In the last course after calling "In quick," add "Out quick" and "Home." The bells come round at hand as the 7th lies its whole pull behind.

SPONDON, DERBYSHIRE.

At the kind invitation of the Vicar of Spordon, the Duffield Society paid a visit to this place on Saturday, December 17th. On nearing the church, the bells were heard being raised in peal by the local band, and on reaching the belfry the visitors, who were heartily welcomed by the local men, commenced by ringing some Stedman Doubles, followed by a 720 of Bob Minor, being the first 720 on the bells. G. Dawson, 1; W. Clarke, 2; H. W. Wilde, 3; W. Hickling, 4; J. Flower, 5; J. Howe (conductor), 6. A touch of Double Oxford Minor was next rung, followed by several 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles, in which several of the local men took part. These bells have recently been rehung in an iron frame, and a new treble added by Messrs. Taylor and Sons, of Loughborough, the "go" of which leaves nothing to be desired. The visitors were then conducted to a house near the church, where refreshments had been provided for them, a very pleasant hour being spent in company with the Spordon ringers, who are learning change-ringing under the tuition of Mr. John Howe. A start was then made for the station, all having thoroughly enjoyed themselves. The Duffield society wish, through "THE BELL NEWS," to thank the Vicar for the use of the bells, also the local company for having everything in readiness, and so kindly entertaining them.

THE LATE REV. W. C. LUKIS.

Mr. Jerram writes as follows:—

"In the obituary of last week, speaking of the works of the late Rev. W. C. Lukis, you omit to mention that he was the author of "An Account of Church Bells," published in 1857, price 6s. This book is now, I believe, out of print. It was one of the first modern works on bells and ringing, and contains specimens of bell inscriptions from nearly every county in England; and a most comprehensive list of Wiltshire bells. In the course of the work Mr. Lukis treats of belfries and their condition, with remarks on dilapidated towers and bell fittings; bell-founding, tuning, and bell-hanging; ancient bells and inscriptions; with an account of several long peals; suggestions on belfry reform (much needed at that date), and lastly on the spoliation of bells. Although the book would not perhaps be thought of much account now among ringers, it was certainly one of the most exhaustive works of the kind published at that time."

BURY, LANCASHIRE.

A peal was to be attempted on the bells of Bury parish church on Saturday last, the time to meet being 4 p.m. Unfortunately there was service, so a start could not be made till 5 p.m., then again through death in his family a ringer could not attend. A cab having been procured, a messenger was despatched therein for a tenor man  $2\frac{1}{2}$  miles away, and he being at home, was soon on the return journey. A start being made at 6.15, the tenor-man keeping them going with clockwork regularity, the first half of Holt's ten-part was accomplished in 1 hr. 29 mins., not a word being said, when having rang 2926 changes the bob-caller kept his mouth closed till it was too late, and then called stand, having rang 1 hr. and 38 mins. A good many ringers listened to the ringing, which was pronounced excellent outside. Afterwards an excellent tea was partaken of, which was called Knife and Fork Surprise, and the ringers thought they could not separate without thanking Mr. Thomas Nuthall, churchwarden, for his generosity in providing this repast. A vote of thanks to that gentleman was therefore moved by Mr. Birtwistle and seconded by Mr. A. Barratt, and carried unanimously. A similar vote being given to the ringers for having the bells, etc., in readiness. The band stood as under: J. Kay, 1; A. Barratt, 2; G. Hoyle, 3; W. Warburton, 4; W. Taylor, 5; J. Harrison, 6; F. Birtwistle (conductor), 7; G. Walker, 8. G. Walker was made a member of the Lancashire Association before starting for the peal.

BIRMINGHAM AMALGAMATED SOCIETY.

BIRMINGHAM.—On Sunday, December 20th, at St. John's, Deritend, an attempt was made for a peal of 5040 Grandsire Triples, with the bells muffled for the late Mr. Samuel Carter, a member of the above society, and who was laid to rest on December 17th, at Aston (the churchyard in which lies the late Henry Johnson, sen.) but after ringing 2 hrs. and 32 mins. it came to grief. J. Prichett, 1; R. C. Bowkett, 2; J. Jones (conductor), 3; C. Sparkes, 4; G. Hitchman, 5; J. Jennings, 6; J. T. Perry, 7; F. H. James, 8. Tenor 13 cwt.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

"Unto you greeting."

By the time this week's issue of "THE BELL NEWS" reaches its readers, the great festival of Christmas will once again have begun: and I feel most reluctant to let that happy season of our lives pass away without, as beforetime, adding my heartiest expressions of good will, and hopes for "many happy returns," to those others which I doubt not will be plentifully uttered all round. My friends, the last occasion which prompted me to have a few words with you was one of deep sorrow, through the death of a near and dear one. This time, the occasion is one of rejoicing—a season of happy reunions and "joining of hearts," when we should endeavour as best we can to put aside our troubles, our anxieties, our disagreements with each other (where such exist), and with one heart and mind in unison—

"Welcome Christmas in."

As loyal churchmen there should be no spirit abroad—most especially at this time—which savours of ought but "peace on earth, good will to men." True: this spirit should be manifest throughout the whole of the Christian year, yet we are but human, and thus of a nature prone to disagreements. It is therefore a happy circumstance that we have one season when we are especially called upon to banish estrangements, cement friendships, and thus commence the new year "hand-in hand together as brothers."

* * * * *

I was reading a short time ago of an interesting custom which prevails in the Tyrol. On the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding-day, the venerable couple once again meet in front of the altar, when the marriage office is performed as it was with them just half a century ago, and they formally renew their pledges of Youth. This golden wedding-day is made the occasion of great family reunion. Relations and friends gather together in church to witness the ceremony, and as the pair return homewards, flags and banners are hoisted, guns and pistols fired into the air, amid every demonstration of rejoicing. Then the whole family meet and dine, with the aged father and mother in their places of honour at the head of the table, and for the remainder of the day all is "as merry as a marriage bell."

* * * * *

I could not help drawing a comparison between this Tyrolean custom and our own festival of Christmas. They are each occasions of family reunion, of mutual rejoicings, the burying of feuds, whether of old or recent date: and the banishment for the time being of every note which jars against that perfect harmony which is traditionally supposed to be all-existent at this time.

* * * * *

So now, my friends, let me for another time, with all my heart, wish you one and all a right happy Christmas-tide this year of grace eighteen hundred and ninety-two. May you and I—all of us—in the future have nought but pleasant recollections of this year's festival; so that as we step forward, not knowing what a day may bring forth, our hands and hearts may be strengthened by the knowledge that it did not pass away without bringing us down together in the bond of brotherhood.

* * * * *

A week hence, we shall—many of us—be tolling the knell of the dying year; and filling the air in its last moments with the muffled sounds from our belfries. And when those sounds have ceased, the record of 1892 will be a thing of the past—irrevocable. Then when the midnight is passed, and we welcome in the New Year with one merry peal, the book of Anno Domini 1893 will be opened for good or ill.

* * * * *

How shall that book be written?

* * * * *

Shall its pages be written in black, telling of grief and sorrow? of animosities begotten of perversity and selfishness? Of neglect of our duties and obligations as men one towards another, or as Christians and faithful sons of the Church? Of bickerings and strife, of exhibitions of that "man's inhumanity to man" which "makes countless thousands mourn?"

* * * * *

Or shall they be written in the book of silver, denoting that we are content to remain passive, without making an effort so that the year may leave us better than it found us?

* * * * *

Shall they not rather be written in letters of gold, each chronicling day by day that whether in our daily contact with each other, in our duties as Christian men and as citizens, we are striving constantly to "improve the time." Shall not the golden letters tell of our striving "upward and onward," throughout our daily life, bearing and forbearing with each other, and so bringing the bright sunshine to drive away the shadows—the darkness and gloom of an otherwise cold and pitiless world?

* * * * *

My friends, I trust I may be pardoned for speaking so seriously; but the coming year is before us, and although we are in the hands of "the great Master of us all," yet it is in our own power to a great extent to bring sunshine or shadow along our path of life.

* * * * *

Let us then so "shape our ends" this Christmastide that the renewal of our friendships, the hearty expressions of goodwill one towards another, and the consigning of ill-will to the past, which I trust will accompany it, may brighten our lives as we enter upon the coming year, and thus will prove no empty sentiment that time-honoured mutual greeting—with which I greet you all, that you may have—in its very best sense—

"A MERRY CHRISTMAS AND A HAPPY NEW YEAR."

THE CHURCH BELLS OF BUCKINGHAMSHIRE. By ALFRED HENEAGE COCKS, M.A., Ch. Ch., Oxford; F.Z.S., F.R.G.S., Great Marlow, Bucks. With many Illustrations.

MESSRS. JARROLD & SONS have pleasure in announcing the early publication by subscription of this most interesting and important work. It will contain an account of all the Church Bells in Buckinghamshire, with everything relating to their history that can be discovered. Full accounts of all the Founders whose bells hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County, including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. The work was undertaken at the instigation of the late J. C. L. Stahschmidt, Esq., author of "Surrey Bells and London Bell-founders," "The Church Bells of Kent," "Herts," etc.; and the fact that the author had the benefit of the kind assistance and advice of this well-known campanologist may be mentioned as some guarantee of the scope and nature of the present work. Mr. Stahschmidt wrote the author, that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting county," and he repeated this opinion in a subsequent letter. The "Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 600 pages, & be handsomely illustrated with 24 full-page plates of mediaeval letterings, founders' marks, etc., found on Bells still existing in the County and numerous figures—some of them being peculiar to Bucks—will be inserted in the text. The 8vo. Edition is limited to 250 copies, and will be offered to subscribers before the day of publication at 2s. nett. The Larger Edition, Royal 4to, is limited to 80 copies, and will be subscribed at 42s. The prices will be raised on the day of issue should any copies remain unsold.

The Bell News &amp; Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 24, 1892.

THE period at which we commemorate the greatest event in the history of the world, and the most important occurrence of the Christian Church, is upon us. In fact with many of our readers, Christmas will have dawned ere they peruse this number, and the arrival of the "happy morn" will have been announced by the molten heralds of the Church. In the latter duty we are required to exercise our skill; ours the hands to cause the first announcement to be made that the commemoration of "The Nativity" is near; the anniversary of that glorious event which gave a Saviour to poor, suffering, lost man. Long may this duty be ours. Long may our glorious Church enjoy the initiative of announcing, publicly and authoritatively, by means of her bells, the advent of this, as well as every other Christian festival. And may those whose duty it is upon such occasions to officiate in the belfry, be filled more and more, and year by year, with the Spirit to carry out such duty with feelings of joy, thankfulness, and reverence. Truly the occasion demands it. A great privilege is that enjoyed by the bell-ringer at this season. Let us all try to improve the occasion, so that recollections of this day especially may be a solace in the hour of trouble. It is pleasing to believe that very many who read these lines will heartily join in the services of the Church on the occasion; that with thankfulness they will again hear of the divine mission of the ambassador dispatched from heaven to announce the good tidings of great joy to the world; of the whole of the scenes of that eventful morning—the inn at Bethlehem; the agitation of the wise men of the East, who journeyed to discover the reason of a celestial phenomena which had upset their calculations, and their joy in finding that its cause was that the fulness of time had come, and that unto them and all the world a Child was born, whom the prophet had foretold should be called Wonderful, Counsellor, the Mighty God, the Everlasting Father, the Prince of Peace; and of whose kingdom there should be no end. We say it is a pleasure to believe that many of our brethren will on Christmas Day join in the Church's service, and be edified and refreshed thereby. There is nothing inconsistent with this and the conventional festivity of the season, if the latter is enjoyed in a temperate and sensible manner. The kindly fruits of the earth are sent for our enjoyment, and the period of Christmas is one when we may with propriety enjoy them somewhat more liberally than at any other time, but in their use temperance should be actively combined with benevolence. In company with those near and dear to them, our readers will enjoy their Christmas fare. And they will relish it with greater zest if they have helped to "make a Christmas" for any who may be suffering from adversity. To be good and distribute when plenty is at hand, is not very difficult, but it is often forgotten. Amid the plethora of comfort and enjoyment this season, let us not forget our poorer brethren, who through no fault of their own have not the provision for a Christmas dinner.

And let us also during this Christmas, spare a thought of sympathy for those who among our ranks have so recently been deprived of their nearest and dearest. To them the words "A Merry Christmas to you" will appear a hollow mockery. Death has within the last week or two invaded more than one family whose names are well-known to the Exercise, and inflicted sorrow and desolation upon their households. The touch of nature which we are told makes the whole world kin, has, we know, been liberally and considerably exhibited in these instances. But we can picture the gloom and despair which will arise around the Christmas board when the absence of the once most prominent member of the family is felt. We are certain that a thought, a feeling of loving sympathy for the bereaved, will find a response in the hearts of many of our readers, to all of whom we wish not only "A MERRY CHRISTMAS," but that they may be spared as much as possible all such visitations of adversity and sorrow.

We hear that Messrs. Llewellyns and James, Bellfounders, of Bristol, have been awarded a silver medal at the Kimberley Exhibition for their exhibits.—Messrs. Carr, Bellfounders, of Smethwick, near Birmingham, have received orders to rehang the 11th bell of the ring of twelve at Christ church, West Bromwich. also a large bell-frame for Stromness, in the Orkney Islands.

"My Dear Doctor,—Allow me to express my sincere thanks for the skill and attention displayed in the construction of my Artificial Teeth, which render my mastication and articulation excellent. I am glad to bear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. In recognition of your valuable services, you are at liberty to use my name.—S. G. HUTCHINGS. By Appointment Surgeon-Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen."

Geo. H. Jones, Esq., F.R.S.L., F.R.M.S.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has by his Perfected System of Dentistry demonstrated that Painless Dentistry is as much an accomplished fact as the swift locomotive, the electric light, or the telephone, and absolutely restores the natural contour caused by the loss of teeth, by the adjustment of Prize Medal dentals, rendering detection impossible, which obtained the Gold Medals of London, 1851; New York, 1853; London, 1862; Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; and Philadelphia, 1876.

DR. GEO. H. DEDICATION OF NEW BELLS AT HENFIELD, SUSSEX.

The ring of six bells at the church of St. Peter, Henfield, had for a long time past been in bad going order, in fact, the old frame was considered unsafe; and an expert being called in reported that an entire new frame, fittings, and floor, were necessary, the cost of which would be about £150. The difficulty of expense was removed by the generosity of J. Eardley Hall, Esq., the Vicar's churchwarden, who kindly offered to defray the entire cost. This brought about a suggestion that it would be a splendid opportunity to add two trebles to make the octave, the cost of which would be about £95, and the efforts of Mr. James Martin, the people's churchwarden, to raise by subscription the amount required, have met with astonishing success, the whole of the money having been obtained.

The work was entrusted to Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, and has been carried out in a very satisfactory manner; the expression made by some, that "they go like tops," being well deserved. The inscriptions on the bells are as follows:—

TREBLE.—Christmas, 1892. Glory to God, on earth peace. C. J. Dunlop, Vicar. J. Eardley Hall, James Martin, Churchwardens.

SECOND.—Christmas, 1892. The two trebles purchased with subscriptions collected by James Martin, Churchwarden. Serve faithfully with heart and hand, our God and Church, our Queen and laws.

THIRD.—The gift of Philip Cheale, Esq., 1755. Lester and Pack, of London, Fecit.

FOURTH.—Lester and Pack of London, Fecit, 1755.

FIFTH.—S. K. 1738.

SIXTH.—T. Mears, of London, Fecit, 1813.

SEVENTH.—Richard Woolven, Church Warden. S. K. 1738.

TENOR.—Nicholas Coffe, W. Durrant, Ch. Wardens. R. Phelps, Londini, Fecit, 1733.

The special dedication service, which was well attended, took place on Tuesday afternoon, December 20th, at 2.30., the clergy present being the Rev. C. S. Dunlop (Vicar), Rev. Prebendary Teulon, Rev. R. Doughty (senior curate), and the Rev. W. T. Dutton. Amongst the congregation were the Revs. R. F. Tompkins and the Rev. T. R. Peebles. A full choir was in attendance. After the responses, the special psalms 29, 67, and 150 were sung. Then followed the hymn, "Rejoice! the Lord is King!" during which the clergy and choir proceeded to the belfry, where the special dedication prayers were offered by the Rev. C. S. Dunlop, at the conclusion of which the bells were rung for the first time by the local ringers. Then followed the hymn, "Come ye faithful, raise the anthem," during which the clergy and choir returned to the chancel. The sermon was preached by the Rev. Prebendary Teulon, who based an excellent discourse on Psalm cxvii. 1: "I was glad when they said unto me, we will go into the house of the Lord." A collection was made for the bell fund, and meanwhile the hymn, "In Sinai's dreary waste," was sung. The Rev. C. S. Dunlop pronounced the blessing, after which the bells were again rung by the local band.

The tower was then taken possession of by the visitors during the rest of the day. The following towers were represented:—Arundel 1, Angmering 1, Bolney 2, Brighton 4, Crawley 2, Capel 1, Goring 1, Heene 2, Horsham 1, Horley 3, Hurst 2, Lindfield 1, Milland 10, Steyning 6, Warnham 3.

During the evening the Vicar and Churchwardens invited the visiting and local ringers to a substantial meat tea, the Vicar being in the chair, supported by Mr. James Martin, and J. Eardley Hall, Esq., in the vice-chair. Having done justice to the good things provided, Mr. Hodges, on behalf of the visitors and all present, said they ought not to separate without expressing their hearty thanks to the Vicar and Churchwardens for so kindly entertaining them. The vote of thanks having been carried unanimously,

Mr. James Martin suitably responded, remarking that it had been a great ambition of his to see a peal of eight bells in the tower, and J. Eardley Hall, Esq. promising to defray the expense of rehanging the old peal of six, he would have made himself responsible for the two trebles, but the parishioners subscribed so freely that he was relieved of the idea of having to pay the whole amount himself. He also remarked that they were very fortunate in having a good ringer to settle down amongst them who had offered his services gratis, into leading them into the mysteries of change-ringing, and he sincerely hoped that the local ringers would appreciate the instruction offered. He was also pleased to hear that the bells were very satisfactory, and hoped that one and all had spent a pleasant day.

The following touches were rung during the day: 504 Grandsire Triples. H. Hodges (Heene), 1; T. Sparks (Horley), 2; W. Wadey (Warnham), 3; G. Gatland (Steyning), 4; G. Walder jun. ## THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of members of this Association was held at Haslingden parish church on Saturday, December 17th, when about eighteen were present from Bacup, Helmshore, Ramsbottom, Rawtenstall, and Waterfoot, besides members of the local company. At six o'clock, the company adjourned to the schoolroom for business purposes, the Vicar, the Rev. A. Spencer, presiding. St. Saviour's, Bacup, was the place selected for holding the next meeting, which will be held in the month of January, 1893. Some touches of Grandsire Triples were rung, and a 720 of Bob Minor, the first on the bells by the Association. Z. Lord (conductor), 1; J. H. Smith, 2; Jas. Smith, 3; J. S. Lomas, 4; J. B. Taylor, 5; J. Smith, 6.

BLACKBURN BRANCH.—On Saturday, December 17, a meeting of this branch was held at Holy Trinity church, Burnley. Representatives were present from Burnley, Blackburn, Church, Oswaldtwistle, and Padiham. During the afternoon and evening, several touches of Grandsire and Bob Minor, and a 720 of Kent Treble Bob were rung. The Rev. W. Blackburn presided at the meeting which was held in the schoolroom, when it was decided to hold the next meeting at Darwen. Votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar, wardens, and ringers, which terminated the business.

A PEAL OF 362,880 GRANDSIRE CATERS, 6d.

DUMBLETON, GLOUCESTERSHIRE.

For some considerable time the framework of the bells at the parish church of this village had been in a most shaky condition, ringing being very difficult. So bad did matters become that it was considered unsafe to ring them, and in consequence they were only chimed. On this state of affairs becoming known to Mrs. Eyres, of Dumbleton Hall, this lady, with her usual generosity, determined to have them rehung at her own expense. Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, were entrusted with the work. The framework now consists of an improved iron pattern, standing on iron girders, a plan of hanging now adopted by the firm for the first time. This work necessitated resh flooring beneath the bells, and a new ceiling to the bell-chamber. These alterations have been carried out by the above-mentioned firm in a most satisfactory manner. The bells now go beautifully, and the whole of the parishioners feel grateful to Mrs. Eyres for her great kindness. The bells were cast in 1729 by Rudhall, and each has a well-known inscription.

On Tuesday evening, December 13th, the bellhangers and ringers were entertained to a supper by the Rector, the Rev. F. Willoughby Jones, to mark the occasion.

The following is another account given by a local correspondent:—

The parish bells here were reopened on Monday, December 12th. After being without ringing for four or five months the bells being in a bad state no ringing could be done, so they were put into the hands of the well-known firm of Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, whose work will give them much credit; all the old frame has been removed and a massive iron frame on a new principle has erected. About 6 p.m. the local ringers met, and after ringing for a short time Mr. W. A. Tyler wishing to have a ring, two 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles were rung by G. Sallis, 1; E. Slatter, 2; W. A. Tyler (conductor), 3; F. Sallis, 4; T. Sallis, 5; S. Slatter, 6. On the following Tuesday, the local ringers met again eager for a pull, and a 6-score of Grandsire Doubles was again rung by G. Sallis, 1; E. Slatter, 2; G. Midwinter, 3; F. Sallis, 4; T. Sallis (conductor), 5; S. Slatter, 6. Afterwards the ringers met at the house of Mr. George Sallis, where a substantial supper was provided by the rector, Rev. F. W. Jones. Supper being over W. A. Tyler was elected chairman and Mr. T. Sallis to the vice-chair. As a prelude to the evening's enjoyment, a course of Grandsire Triples was rung. In proposing the "Health of the Rector," the chairman said he felt sure he was expressing the opinion of all present of their indebtedness to him for his generosity in providing such an excellent supper. Mr. T. Sallis supplemented the remarks of the chairman, and the toast was enthusiastically given with musical honors. Songs and tunes on the handbells were given in the course of the evening, which was spent in a most agreeable manner, every one having heartily enjoyed himself.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH, KINGSTON-ON-THAMES.

A large illuminated turret clock has just been erected at the above church, containing all the latest improvements, and showing the time on four seven-feet dials of skeleton form, filled in with white opal glass, and presenting a beautifully clear and neat appearance. There is also an index dial in the clock chamber by which to adjust the outside hands, and an automatic gas apparatus attached to the clock, and worked by it to regulate the gas supply for illumination purposes. The makers, Messrs. Potts and Sons, of Guildford-street and Cookridge-street, Leeds, are also making a turret quarter-chime clock for the Corporation of Richmond, Surrey; Colne Town Hall, Lancashire, and other important work.

LONG EATON (Derbyshire).—On Sunday evening, December 18th, for Divine Service, 224 Oxford Bob Triples. J. Bailey, 1; F. Ricketts, 2; A. Ricketts, 3; W. R. Hexter, 4; J. E. Hexter, 5; J. Poxon, 6; W. ## OPENING OF A NEW RING OF BELLS AT BARNET, HERTFORDSHIRE.

On Christmas-eve, eight members of the Ancient Society of College Youths had the pleasure—says our old friend and correspondent, Mr. Cooter—of opening a superb peal of eight at the town of Chipping Barnet, Herts., cast by the well-known firm of Mears and Stainbank, of Whitechapel, London, and who on this occasion were represented by their talented manager, Mr. Hughes. After the dedication service, which was attended by a most influential portion of the inhabitants, who expressed their gratification at the magnificent tone of the bells, a touch of Grandsire Triples was rung by Messrs. Wood, Dorrington, Bonney, Horrex, West, Binfield, Scholes, and Cooter. Time did not permit of longer ringing, for Mr. Monday to take a part, although he assisted in the dedication.

WOLVERLEY, WORCESTERSHIRE.

A scandalous piece of damage was perpetrated at Wolverley, —a little village two-and-a-half miles from Kidderminster, where there is a peal of six—the latter end of last week, by some person or persons who gained access to the ringing-chamber by the window—which is a distance of 14 ft. or 15 ft. from the ground—and reaching as high as they could, cut the ropes in twain, some in the middle of the sallie, and the others immediately above it. The matter has been placed in the hands of the police, but neither the parts of the ropes which were cut away, or the miscreants who committed such sacrilegious acts, have yet been heard of. No cause can be assigned for such damage.

CHIEVELEY, BERKS.—THE OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

On Wednesday, December 7th, some members of the East Ilsley branch of the above Guild walked to Chieveley to try the bells, the 5th and tenor having been rehung with new stocks, wheels, gudgeons, brasses, etc., and the other four having been thoroughly overhauled and tightened up, and new crown joints to clappers. The Ilsley men opened proceedings with a 360 of Bob Doubles by R. Warwick, 1; R. T. Hibbert (conductor), 2; W. Hibbert, 3; J. Butler, 4; H. Brown, 5; T. Matthews, 6. A 720 of Bob Minor was rung in 28 mins. by J. Field, 1; W. Hibbert, 2; T. Hibbert, 3; J. Butler, 4; H. Brown, 5; R. T. Hibbert (conductor), 6. The bells were then lowered in peal, and the combined bands of visitors and local men adjourned to the vicarage, where they were kindly entertained by the Rev. J. and Mrs. Carter, to whom the Ilsley men wish to tender their thanks through the medium of this paper.

DEATH IN THE BELFRY.

The Guardian says:—"Peter Snowden, who has been a bell-ringer at Leeds parish church, fell dead in the belfry on Sunday shortly before morning service."

The reconstruction of the floor of the nave, aisles, chapels, and tower entrance of Manchester Cathedral was begun in June last, and has just been completed. The earth was at first removed to a depth sufficient to allow of a thick bed of concrete being laid over the whole area, and the result from a sanitary point of view, is reported to be most satisfactory. The new floor is laid 6in. lower than the old one, and, by thus bringing the basis of the columns into just proportion with the column, materially enhances the effect of the whole interior of the nave. The floor of the main aisles and tower have been paved with Carrara marbles in squares of dove and white, laid diagonally, having an ornamental border in rouge Griotti, white, and black marbles. The remaining portions of the floor have been laid with Patterson's mosaic adamant of a red color, and bands of grey marble are inserted to define the precise limits of the old chapels.

PENGE (Surrey).—On Sunday, December 4th, 720 Bob Minor, in 25 mins. F. Sanders, 1; G. Durling, 2; G. Wickens, 3; W. Smith, 4; E. Dunn, 5; H. P. Harman (conductor), 6.

News from Abroad.

We have received the following letter from our friends in Australia:—

Sydney, Nov. 14th, 1892.

To the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS."

DEAR SIR,—I append a few extracts from our peal-book which will tend to shew you that we in Australia are not losing interest in the art of change-ringing. It is to be regretted that out of some seven or eight towers in N.S.W. we do not get anything like the work that one would expect from so many peals of bells, however, we are on the eve of a general meeting of ringers, with the object of starting a union, which I hope will be productive of some good in the way of change-ringing, and general belfry reform, which is sadly needed. The following is a little accomplished by our members during the past few months:—At St. Mark's, Darling Point, 11th August, for practice, 720 of Bob Minor. *A. Joyner, 1; *T. Joyner, 2; *H. Davies, 3; *M. A. Noble, 4; A. Macartney, 5; A. B. Joyner (conductor), 6. Time 25 mins. *First 720 in this method, and the first in the method on the bells. August 14th, for service, 240 Plain Bob Minor. A. Joyner, 1; T. Joyner, 2; H. Davies, 3; J. Waterman, 4; A. Macartney, 5; B. Joyner (conductor), 6. August 18th, for practice, 720 of Grandsire Minor. A. Joyner, 1; A. Noble, 2; T. Joyner, 3; *J. Waterman, 4; B. Joyner, 5; A. Macartney (conductor), 6. Time 28 mins. *First 720 in this method. 29th September, for service, 360 of Bob Minor. A. Joyner, 1; T. Joyner (conductor), 2; H. Davies, 3; J. Waterman, 4; A. Noble, 5; B. Joyner, 6. Time 20 mins. 6th October, for practice, 240 of Bob Minor. J. Waterman, 1; T. Joyner (conductor), 2; H. St. Mark's S.C.R.,

Yours sincerely,

P.S.—I enclose photographic specimen of our certificate of membership, which you will see is awarded for ringing a 720 in any method.

RINGERS' OUTING.

The ringers of the northern part of the Mid-Sussex division of the Sussex County Association, were strongly en evidence on Boxing Day, for by pre-arrangement two Treble Bob bands were to take possession of the two peals of eight at Epsom. The first train from Horsham was the order of the day, and by this travelled representatives from Crawley, Billingshurst, Horsham, Worth, Warnham, and Capel. These were met at Epsom by one from Reigate, and this completed the number. As the peals could not be started for till after morning service, short touches of Stedman and Kent were rang prior to 11 o'clock, and while service was on, the bands were selected from those present. These were Messrs. Parker, Akehurst, Wadey, Andrews, Charman, Short, Burstow, and Chandler, for the parish church, and Messrs. Dench, Moses, J. Rice, Ward, Pace, D. Jordan, F. Rice, and E. Jordan for Christ Church, Epsom Common. About noon each band were at their respective towers, and soon both peals were pouring forth their notes to the tune of Kent Treble Bob. At Christ Church, however, success did not attend the efforts of the ringers, and the peal was lost. Better luck however was in store for those at the parish church, for in 2 hrs. 57 mins. the bells came home after a well-struck 5088. Having again met with the others, the train was again entered, and a start made for Leatherhead. Here the party was met by several of the local ringers, and the peal of ten were soon put in use, Stedman Triples and Grandsire Caters being rung. All too soon however, the clock announced the time of departure of some of the party, and they proceeded homewards very pleased with their pleasant day's outing. One and all wish to thank the vicars and steeple-keepers of the towers visited, for permission to ring, and for having every thing in readiness.

HADDENHAM CHURCH, NEAR ELY.

An idea having been mooted in the Jubilee year to erect a new public clock and chimes in the tower of the parish church, Haddenham, but as it was found the church itself required thoroughly repairing it was thought to be the wisest course to do it at first. The church having got the necessary repairs completed, the proposed new clock and chimes was again brought to the front. Tenders were received from some of the principal makers, and at last it was decided by the Committee to place the work in the hands of Messrs. Potts and Sons, Clock Manufacturers, of Guildford and Cookridge Streets, Leeds (Mr. Brown, Watchmaker, St. Ives, Hunts, being the local agent), who have now completed the clock and chimes, which was formally set going on Wednesday, December 21st, by the Ven. Archdeacon, everything being finished in a satisfactory manner. Messrs. Potts and Sons are also making two new large clocks for Cambridge, viz., the Roman Catholic Cathedral, and Messrs. Foster's new banking premises.

THE NORTH LINCOLNSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

On Monday, December 26th, four members from Lincoln journeyed to Retford for the purpose of having a day's ringing. They were met at the station by Mr. H. Haigh and several of his promising young band, who escorted them to Ordsall, only a few minutes' walk from the station. The nice ring of six, which had been rung earlier in the morning, on the occasion of Miss Haigh's marriage, were soon struck off in Bob Minor, a well-struck 720 (fourteen bobs and twenty-two singles), being brought round in 23 mins. H. Haigh, 1; F. W. Walker, 2; R. E. Clarke, 3; C. Wells, 4; C. W. P. Clifton, 5; G. Chester (conductor), 6. It may be remarked that great credit is due to the ringer of the third bell, as he had done very little Minor ringing. In the afternoon a start was made at St. Swithin's church on the back eight of the ring of ten for a peal of Grand-sire Triples, which was successfully brought round, particulars of which will be found in the proper place.

Correspondence.

While allowing the utmost freedom for the expression of opinion, it must never be considered that we are in any way bound to statements made by correspondents.

To the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS AND RINGERS' RECORD."

OXFORD BOB TRIPLES.

SIR,—In the issue of "THE BELL NEWS" for December 10th is a note from Mr. J. J. Parker, referring to a peal of Oxford Bob Triples with my name attached, and published in "THE BELL NEWS" for November 26th, 1892. I write to say I had that peal composed and proved before Mr. Parker's were published; only, having the ambition to call the peal myself, it was never rung (although attempted several times) till about four weeks before being published. From the tone of Mr. Parker's letter, he implies I copied his peal (omitting shunting bobs). I can assure Mr. Parker I never had such a thought; my original idea was to get a peal with the 7th always called before, but after several fruitless attempts I found I could not get one true, and the one I called on October 26th, 1892, and which was published four weeks later, was the only one (of several more I had) that would stand proof. Of course I cannot claim the composition, as Mr. Parker's was published first, but I might call it a variation of his No. 7 six-part peal. I hope Mr. Parker will not think I was taking advantage of one of his compositions, and by altering it a little call it my own. I worked hard many an evening to get it, which I should not have done if I thought someone else would claim it as soon as I had got it. In the same issue appears some remarks from Mr. Hubbard about a false peal of Grand-sire Triples, by D. H. Burton. He says (which is quite right) that would-be composers ought to know something about the rudiments of composition before encumbering the pages of "THE BELL NEWS" with such idiotic abortions. Now perhaps Mr. Burton is in the same predicament as myself; he does not know much about the rudiments of composition, and has no one to enlighten him (those that do know won't tell you, even when asked, but tell you something which makes confusion more confounded. If Mr. Hubbard will kindly send me a few of the wrinkles belonging to composition, I should feel extremely obliged to him; a lift on the right road would encourage brother-ringers (who perhaps are not so clever as himself) and create that friendly feeling one towards another, which such unfeeling remarks as Mr. Hubbard's tend only to destroy. W. J. PIPER.

MR. PERKINS AND THE "EAST END CLIQUE."

SIR,—With your permission I should like to ask a few questions of the writer of that wonderful epistle which appeared in "THE BELL NEWS" of December 10th, signed "A. J. Perkins." With the peal itself I have nothing to do; I leave that to be dealt with by others whom it may concern. Is it not a fact, Mr. P., that the "East End Clique" would have known nothing about the peal had not you spoke about it at the East End? and you gave the ringers of said peal to understand that as far as you were concerned the matter had dropped. That, Sir, would lead us all to believe that he never said anything more about it. Well, I would like to ask Mr. Perkins just to pull himself together a bit, just shake up his recollection-box like, and answer the following questions: Did you not meet a company in the suburbs about a week after the peal was rung, and in a public spot inform members of that company of the false peal that was rung at Westminster, and produce the out-of-course changes, and say the bells were in that position for about two hours? And yet, in your letter you say you only heard in common with others forty-five minutes at the finish, and gave them your opinion in a friendly way. Well, Sir, if that is friendliness, to go and denounce a band of ringers—or perhaps I ought to say the conductor of the peal, members of your own Society, to members of another Society, then I am at a loss to know where enmity comes in. Again, did not you throw out the hint that there was a good chance for anyone to open a correspondence on the matter—it would be all right—meaning of course that they could rely upon what you had stated? But the "East End Clique" were "not having any," so you had therefore to go further west. Can you wonder at the "East End Clique" sitting in judgment upon you after that? Allow me to inform you that that sitting in judgment, as you call it, would not have taken place had not one of your own Society brought the subject forward, I suppose, to gain what information he could, so that he could inform his friend what this one and that one said, as you were very anxious to open a correspondence. The general impression prevails that our friend Perkins is very fond of seeing his name in "THE BELL NEWS." This is what I hear—168s of Grand-sire Triples to wit. So I think, Sir, that whatever is said now Mr. Perkins has only himself to blame, as the "East End Clique" had no intention whatever of rushing into print, considering it only "idle clamour," and like a great many other idle clamours, would have been a nine days' wonder. The "East End Clique" do intend to talk wherever occasion requires, especially when there are real grievances and not imaginary ones.

ONE (FOR THE PRESENT) OF THE EAST END CLIQUE.

NOVEL COMPOSITIONS.

SIR,—With reference to Mr. Hubbard's remarks, I considered when I sent my date touch that to men of average intelligence it was sufficiently plain to be understood, as I composed it to start at back-stroke, which will be seen by the explanation below:—

1 3 2 5 4 6 7 back-stroke (first odd change)
1 3 2 4 5 7 6 hand-stroke (second odd change)
1 2 3 5 4 6 7 back-stroke (third odd change)
2 1 3 5 4 7 6 hand-stroke (off as usual)

Although I departed from the method by starting at back-stroke, I did this to enable me to obtain a simple five-part date touch.

JAMES GEORGE.

A DOUBT.

SIR,—In the account of a 720 of Kent Treble Bob Minor, with fifteen bobs, rung at Barking Road, I beg to say that the 2nd, 3rd and 4th are no more observation than the 5th and tenor. Nine bob-callers out of ten would, although ringing another bell, make the tenor the observation. They certainly would not open everyone's eyes to the fact that he had learnt throughout the work of the bell which the conductor had called from. G. W.

TREBLE BOB MAJOR.

SIR,—I am privately informed by my friend, Arthur Knights, of Chesterfield, that the last 5280 peal given by me in your last issue has been rung in his name several times. That being so I relinquish all claim to that composition, and thank him for drawing my attention to the subject. Allow me to add, in conclusion, that alternative calling may be used to the first course of either 5280 peal, and the changes are augmented to 5376 in each, and from both compositions several peals varying in number of changes are obtainable. H. DAINS.

147, Barnsbury Road, N.
P.S.—Allow me to wish the Editor and staff of "THE BELL NEWS" seasonable compliments and A Happy New Year.

A DISAVOWAL.

SIR,—The peal of Canterbury Pleasure Major published by me in your issue of February 6th, 1892, was first published by Mr. George Hayward, of Bromsgrove, therefore I give up all claim.

JOHN CARTER.

NOTE TO THE PEAL AT NEWCASTLE CATHEDRAL.—This peal was rung by the consent of the authorities in the morning. It was the first peal of Royal by all except the conductor, and the first peal on this new ring of ten bells, which were opened on Whit-Tuesday last. This was also the first peal on ten bells rung by this Association, and it was rung at the first attempt. It speaks well for Messrs. Taylor's hanging that F. Harrison rang the tenor single-handed with comparative comfort. This peal, which was rung for the first half in the tittum position, always has either the 5th or 6th in 5-6, and the 2nd never in 6ths, and the 3rd only once there. It appeared in "THE BELL NEWS" for December 10th, and is now rung for the first time. The thanks of the company are due to the cathedral authorities for the use of the bells, and to Mr. Simm, the steeple-keeper, who came up during the peal, in case relief was required at the heavy end. The band was congratulated by members of the cathedral society on descending the tower, on their excellent striking.

CHANGE OF ADDRESS.—Francis L. Davies has removed to 15, Melbourne Square, Brixton, S.W.

THE CHURCH BELLS OF BUCKINGHAMSHIRE. By ALFRED HENEGGE COCKS, M.A., Ch. Ch., Oxford; F.Z.S., F.R.G.S., Great Marlow, Bucks. With many Illustrations.

MESSRS. JARROLD & SONS have pleasure in announcing the early publication by subscription of this most interesting and important work. It will contain an account of all the Church Bells in Buckinghamshire, with everything relating to their history that can be discovered. Full accounts of all the Founders whose bells hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County, including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. The work was undertaken at the instigation of the late J. C. L. Stahl Schmidt, Esq., author of "Surrey Bells and London Bell-founders," "The Church Bells of Kent," "Herts," etc.; and the fact that the author had the benefit of the kind assistance and advice of this well-known campanologist may be mentioned as some guarantee of the scope and nature of the present work. Mr. Stahl Schmidt wrote the author, that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting county," and he repeated this opinion in a subsequent letter. The "Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 600 pages, & be handsomely illustrated with 24 full-page plates of mediaeval letterings, founders' marks, etc., found on Bells still existing in the County and numerous figures—some of them being peculiar to Bucks—will be inserted in the text. The 8vo. Edition is limited to 350 copies, and will be offered to subscribers before the day of publication at 21s. nett. The Larger Edition, Royal 4to, is limited to 80 copies, and will be subscribed at 42s. The prices will be raised on the day of issue should any copies remain unsold.

The Bell News &amp; Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 31, 1892.

"A HAPPY NEW YEAR!" Such we again wish to all our ringing brethren. May the coming year be to them more prosperous and happy than any which have gone; may they enjoy during the year 1893, in a greater measure than ever before, peace, competence, and health. These are our wishes, and they are sincere and genuine.

Looking over the records of the past twelve months, we see very little change in the aspect of ringing matters. The year 1892 appears to have been one of the jog-trot kind, and no striking departure from the usual roads appear to have taken place. Perhaps it may truly be said that Double Norwich Court has been more popular in 1892 than in any other previous year, and that is about the only progressive change worth mentioning; though we do not forget that a great many accessions to our ranks have been made from quarters where we hope to enlist additional recruits.

The relative position of ringers to the Clergy is a question which has not received the attention it demands. Cases arise now and then resulting in an unpleasant friction between ringers and steeplekeeper, which would never occur if the ringing company, through a representative mutually agreed on, were in direct communication with the incumbent. The matter is of more importance than it seems; and it would be a very appropriate subject for the Central Council to discuss and make its influence felt in dealing with it. The Exercise insist upon being recognised as officers of the Church: how can they be so in cases where the incumbent has never seen the ringers, and knows nothing whatever of them, and rests satisfied with the ringing affairs being controlled by an official who in many cases possesses not one single qualification of a ringer? Shall we be able to say in a year's time that some reform is effected in this direction? We hope so.

IMPORTANT CORRECTION.

In the date touch given in the last issue of "THE BELL NEWS" an unfortunate slip occurs. In the position calls for the first course the 7th should be called "Out Quick with a double," instead of "Middle with a double." The figured calling is correctly given.

DR. GEO. H. JONES,

AND Painless Dentistry.

Dr. GEORGE H. JONES,
SURGEON DENTIST,

And Doctor of Dental Surgery, U.S.A.,
57, Great Russell Street,
(Opposite the British Museum), Bloomsbury, London.
Consulted Daily from 10 to 5

Her Majesty's Surgeon-Dentist's Testimonial.

"My Dear Doctor,—Allow me to express my sincere thanks for the skill and attention displayed in the construction of my Artificial Teeth, which render my mastication and articulation excellent. I am glad to hear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. In recognition of your valuable services, you are at liberty to use my name.—S. G. HUTCHINGS. By Appointment Surgeon-Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen,"
Geo. H. Jones, Esq., F.R.S.L., F.R.M.S.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has by his Perfected System of Dentistry demonstrated that Painless Dentistry is as much an accomplished fact as the swift locomotive, the electric light, or the telephone, and absolutely restores the natural contour caused by the loss of teeth, by the adjustment of Prize Medal dentals, rendering detection impossible, which obtained the Gold Medals of London, 1851; New York, 1853; London, 1862; Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; and Philadelphia, 1876.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has been awarded for his Improvements and Patents in Dentistry gold medals, London and Paris; gold medal, New Zealand Exhibition, 1882; gold medal Calcutta, 1883; and the highest diploma of merit and award at Nice and Amsterdam, 1883-4. Awarded the gold medal of the Académie Nationale, Paris, 1884; and the highest award Antwerp; also the gold medal, International Exhibition, London, 1885; gold medal, Liverpool, 1886; gold medal, Melbourne, 1888-9.

Established 1851.
