On six bells, not less than 5040 changes, rung without interval in true 720's, of which no two in the same method shall be called alike.

On eight, ten, and twelve bells, not less than 5000 true changes rung without interval.

On nine and eleven bells, in each case with the addition of a covering bell, not less than 5000 true changes rung without interval.

MR. ARTHUR R. ALDHAM, OF BARWELL, LEICESTERSHIRE.

(Vide Portrait).

MR. A. R. ALDHAM was born at Hadleigh, Suffolk, on October 5th, 1867; consequently he is now in his 25th year. In 1872 his family came to reside at Ipswich, and in the year 1883 Mr. ALDHAM first became acquainted with bells, and used to chime for the services at St. Margaret's church. He also visited the church of St. Mary-le-Tower, Ipswich, and there learnt to handle a bell and ring rounds under the tuition of such well-known ringers as Messrs. Catchpole, Bevan, Alexander, etc. In January, 1884, he joined the St. Mary-le-Tower Society, and we hear nothing of him in the ringing world until June 21st in that year, when he rang his first peal—5040 changes in five different methods upon five bells—at Sproughton, near Ipswich. He also rang the 2nd in a peal of Oxford Treble Bob Major (5376 changes) on November 15th, at Coddensham, Suffolk; and on November 25th he rang the 9th in a peal of Oxford Treble Bob Maximus (5088 changes) at St. Mary-le-Tower, Ipswich, the first of Oxford Tittum Twelve ever rung. Both of these peals were conducted by Mr. James Motts. On December 26th the Ipswich Society visited Leiston and rang the first peal on the bells, viz., 5088 Oxford Treble Bob Major, in which Mr. ALDHAM rang the 5th. In the year 1884 he rang four peals, and up to the present time he has taken part in fifty-six peals, which will be found below. In 1888 Mr. ALDHAM went to reside at Loughborough, and took part in several peals, one of Stedman Caters, being the first peal in that method on the bells, and a peal of Kent Treble Bob Royal, being the first peal of Royal ever rung in the county of Leicestershire; also a peal of Double Norwich, at Quorndon, in the same county. Below is a list of Mr. ALDHAM's performances:—

The Double Norwich Court Bob Major includes a 6608, 6160, and 8064, the longest peal rung in the method at that time. Mr. ALDHAM has only been successful in ringing two peals upon handbells—one of Kent Treble Bob Royal and one of Kent Treble Bob Major. On Whit-Monday last, while on a visit to Ipswich, he rang the 5th in an attempt for the long peal of Oxford Treble Bob Major (16,608 changes) at Debenham, Suffolk, which was lost after ringing 12,320 changes, in seven hours and fifty-six minutes.

MR. ALDHAM left Loughborough on June 22nd, 1888, and went to reside at Barwell, Leicestershire, where he still resides. He is a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, the Midland Counties' Association, and the Norwich Diocesan Association. In the early part of the year 1889 Mr. ALDHAM became acquainted with the Nuneaton Society, their first meeting being held at Hinckley, Leicestershire, when he was soon invited to Nuneaton for a touch, the company there at that time only being able to ring short touches of Grandsire Triples. Finding the Nuneaton bells a handy peal for change-ringing, he soon arranged for a peal of Grandsire Triples, and Holt's ten-part was rung in two hours and fifty-eight minutes, conducted by Mr. ALDHAM, and was the first peal by all except the conductor, the band all being members of the Midland Counties' Association.

In the latter part of the same year Mr. ALDHAM and other leading members of the Nuneaton Society proposed that Nuneaton should become a separate district of the Association, which was brought before the next quarterly meeting held in December, 1889, and carried, that Nuneaton should become a separate branch of the Association, and at the election of officers Mr. ALDHAM was elected vice-president, and still holds the same position, the Nuneaton branch wishing him every success and hope he may long remain to fill that office.

ARUNDEL.—THE SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

On Saturday, March 26th, a district meeting of this Association was held at the parish church of Arundel. Ringing began shortly after 2.0 p.m. with Bob Minor, and touches of Grandsire Triples were rung till 4.0 p.m., when an excellent service was said by the Rev. C. H. Swain, curate-in-charge, followed by a most appropriate sermon by the Rev. C. B. Walters, curate of Lymminster, of which belfry he is an active member. The psalms and hymns were exceedingly well sung by the well-known Arundel choir, and equally well accompanied by the organist, Mr. E. Bartlett.

After the service tea was partaken of at the Swan inn, and a meeting was held under the presidency of the Rev. J. G. Loder Cother, Vicar of Yapton, and District Secretary, at which two new branches were elected: Lower Beeding and Amberley, together with candidates from old branches and independent members from Speldhurst (Kent), Fulham, and Arundel, amounting in the whole to thirty-two. After the meeting a move was made to the tower, when touches of Grandsire Triples and Bob Major were rung. The attendance was small (fifteen), but the tone of the meeting was good, and tended to show that the recent division of the county into districts will be very useful in giving members a greater opportunity of ringing than larger gatherings. A proposal was made by the secretary and adopted, that twelve belfries should, if possible, be named in the western district, the members of which should give notice that on some practice-night they would be ready to receive any members of the Association attached to other belfries, who might like to visit them; and that each belfry should take one special month, thus dividing the year among them.

Ring was continued until 9.0 p.m. Members were present from the belfries of Amberley, Angmering, Arundel, Lower Beeding, Goring, Midhurst, and Yapton. A lady member, Miss Hubbard, from Lower Beeding, was elected by acclamation. The ringers desire to record their thanks to the curate-in-charge (Rev. C. H. Swain), the preacher (Rev. C. B. Walters), the organist (Mr. E. Bartlett), and the choir-boys.

RIPON AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

A very pleasant evening was spent by the members of this Society on Saturday last, March 26th, in St. Mary's belfry, Harrogate, the Vicar kindly placing the bells at the disposal of the members. Ringers attended from Ripon, Sharow, Boroughbridge, and Harrogate, but not in such efficient numbers as on the last occasion, consequently the ringing was not so successful. The Hon. Sec.'s date touch has to be further postponed to the next meeting, when it is hoped it will be rung. A few touches of Bob Major was brought round in good style, promising well for the future of the society. At 8.30 p.m. the members present held a meeting in the belfry, when it was unanimously agreed to hold the next meeting on Easter Monday at Sharow. A hearty vote of thanks was given by the visitors to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and also to the Harrogate ringers for their cordial welcome and liberality.

THE SOCIETY OF TRINITY YOUTHS.

On Saturday evening, March 19th, an interesting ceremony took place in the belfry of St. Mary's church, Lewisham, when two tablets recording the performance of two peals of Grandsire Triples by members of the above society were unveiled. One was in commemoration of the consecration of Dr. Legge as Bishop of Lichfield, and the other of the induction of the Rev. Samuel Bickersteth as his Lordship's successor as vicar of Lewisham. In the absence of the vicar, who was unfortunately prevented from being present by a sprained ankle, the ceremony was performed by Mrs. Bickersteth, in the presence of Mr. Churchwarden and Mrs. Hardy-Smith, the bellringers of St. Mary's, and others. The ceremony was preceded by a touch of Grandsire Triples on the bells, conducted by W. Bedwell.

Devotional exercises having been conducted by the Rev. T. E. Teignmouth Shore, B.A., Mrs. Bickersteth unveiled the tablets, with the remark that she had great pleasure in so doing in the absence of her husband. After another touch on the bells,

Mr. Churchwarden Hardy-Smith moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Bickersteth. He regretted the absence of the vicar and its cause, and explained that Mr. Churchwarden Warrington would have been present but for his absence from town. Having acknowledged the services of the bellringers and the co-operation of the Rev. T. E. Teignmouth Shore, Mr. Hardy-Smith assured them of his own and his fellow-churchwarden's sympathy, and expressed his gratification at having during his term of office been privileged in wishing God-speed to the late vicar on his appointment to his high office, in welcoming his successor, and now in taking part on this occasion of the unveiling of the tablets commemorating those events.

The Rev. T. E. Teignmouth Shore having seconded and expressed his gratification at seeing one of the churchwardens present, the proceedings were brought to a conclusion with a touch of Grandsire Triples on the handbells.

The tablets, which were designed and executed by Mr. H. Warnett, one of the bellringers, bear in gilt lettering the necessary inscriptions.

Each of those present at the ceremony was presented by the Rev. T. E. Teignmouth Shore, on behalf of the vicar, with a printed copy of the hymn commencing, "Hark on high the joyful music" (No. 381 in Dr. Bickersteth's "Hymnal Companion"). This hymn, which is extremely popular in Devon, was set to the tune "Carillon" by Dr. Vincent at the request of the Bishop of Exeter (father of the Vicar of Lewisham), who is the author of the second and sixth verses, the third, fourth, and fifth being based on lines by Dr. John Mason Neale, written for the dedication of a bell.

THE MIDLAND COUNTIES' ASSOCIATION.

NUNEATON DISTRICT.—An excellent meeting of this district took place at Nuneaton on Saturday, March 19th, members being present from Hinckley, Barwell, Earl Shilton, etc., Messrs. Cotton and Willson also attending from Leicester. Ringing commenced about four o'clock, and some touches in the following methods were characterised by some capital striking, viz., Grandsire, Plain Bob, and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob and Treble Bob Major. Each and every member had the opportunity of having a pull in any method according to his ability, and all seemed to evince a keen interest in the ringing generally. Subsequently a business meeting was held at which it was decided to hold the next meeting at Barwell, near Hinckley, on Saturday, April 30th. During the evening the handbells were brought in frequent requisition for tunes and touches, and an attempt was made to ring a course of Double Norwich Court Bob Major, but it came to grief after three or four leads, the majority never having rung in the method before.

Over 5,000l. towards the sum of 6,000l. required for the restoration of the fabric of Gloucester Cathedral has now been subscribed. It is proposed, as soon as the total sum is assured, to appeal for funds for the restoration of the Lady Chapel, the windows of which, Archdeacon Sheringham states, are not only useless as a protection to the interior, but are in positive danger of falling in.

Correspondence.

While allowing the utmost freedom for the expression of opinion, it must never be considered that we are in any way bound to statements made by correspondents.

To the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS AND RINGERS' RECORD."

MR. CHICHESTER'S COMPLAINT.

SIR,—I entirely agree with "Plain Speaker" that it is greatly to be regretted that Mr. Chichester did not in his letter to you indicate more definitely the whereabouts of the church whose belfry, ringers, and wardens he so graphically described. I wrote privately to him, myself, for the information; feeling that, if the case was one which I could officially deal with, I should be glad to do what I could to provide a remedy for such a disgraceful state of affairs. The information, however, has been refused; and there is nothing left for us to do but to treat the matter in the same way as one would an anonymous letter. I am unacquainted, as yet, with the inside of many towers in the Norwich Diocese, which are not, and never have been, in union with the Association; and it is quite possible that grim goings on prevail in some out-of-the-way places, of which I have no present knowledge. In this neighbourhood, especially, to which the true art of change-ringing seems never before to have penetrated, the ignorance of both ringers, clergy, and churchwardens in belfry matters is startling; and where not only ringers have to be reformed; but the clergy and churchwardens also, progress is necessarily slow.

H. EARLE BULWER, Hon. Sec. N.D.A.R.

A CONTRADICTION.

SIR,—A paragraph headed "Campanology in Swansea" which appeared in your issue of the 12th inst., contains the statement that the Swansea ringers "on Sunday last" rang a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples, being "the first time that so many changes have been recorded by a local band in Wales." In your issue of the 19th inst. the Welshpool band publish a 1554 rung on February 29th, a performance which in point of number of changes, if not of time, surpasses that of the Swansea band. But I should like to point out that neither of the above bands can claim "first time" for any length if, as I am informed, peals have been rung upon the Wrexham bells by a local band.

W. N. HOLT.

THE WILLENHALL PEAL.

SIR,—In your issue for the 26th, I notice Mr. W. Johnson makes an insinuation reflecting upon a peal rang by the St. Peter's Guild, Wolverhampton, on December 28th last. I beg to say that I heard the peal from beginning to end, and that it was rung in 2 hrs. 49 mins. The composition was Taylor's bob-and-single variation, and was called correctly, and I considered it a very fair peal. I think it also possible to ring St. Peter's bells even muck quicker than the peal in question. I may have something more to say upon this subject when time permits.

ROWLAND CARTWRIGHT.

SIR,—Mr. Johnson has made a poor defence of the above peal. He says to explain all will be to ring the same over again. This I don't wish him to do if he is ashamed to publish it. Before starting for and after ringing the peal the conductor tells the band that it is Holt's six-part, then he publishes the peal as Holt's six-part, knowing at the same time that it was not Holt's, then in answer to my letter he says it was an oversight, but the peal rang was Bennett's six-part on the three-lead plan, containing 170 bobs and sixty-eight singles. Sir, I have never seen or heard of Bennett's peal, and if Mr. Johnson or Bennett can get a peal on the three-lead plan with 238 common bobs and singles, they must be very clever men. Seeing that this is impossible, then the peal rang at Willenhall on February 13th, and published in "THE BELL NEWS" of February 20th, must be false. With this I shall close my correspondence on the above peal. With regard to the peal rang at Wolverhampton on December 28th, 1891, in 2 hrs. 49 mins., as conductor of the peal I can honestly say that it was completed and rung in the time. It was Taylor's bob-and-single variation, and was published as such, and not Vicars', and after the peal we were congratulated by several talented ringers on our excellent and regular striking throughout.

Obituary.

JOSEPH FELLOWS, SEN.

The bells of Dudley parish church were deeply muffled, and several touches of Grandsire Triples and Caters were rang between February 19th and 24th, as a last tribute of respect to the above ringer, who died on February 19th. Deceased was an old member of the local band, having rung his first peal of 5040 in 1852, and having took part in a considerable number of peals since. His remains were carried to the grave by the officers of the local company of volunteers, he having held the rank of corporal for nearly thirty years. A touch of Grandsire Triples was rung over his grave on the handbells by J. Mills, 1-2; W. Micklewright, 3-4; S. Spittle, 5-6; E. Fellows, sen., 7-8.

FOR SALE, A Splendid peal of Handbells, 52 in number, in good order. By Blews of Birmingham. Chromatic Scale from G 25 to G 0 4; Cushions, Stand, and Music complete. The cost when new was about £30. Good reason for selling. No reasonable offer refused.—WALTER REA, Stourbridge Road, Bromsgrove.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

Better late than never.

I take the very earliest opportunity in my power to visit my old haunt, and at the same time to corroborate our worthy Editor's remarks the other week respecting my interest in and connection with "THE BELL NEWS." He was quite right in what he said; as he knew; although he had not communicated with me on the subject. Well, here I am again; for once at all events; as to the future I regret I can't promise anything in the way of regular or even frequent appearances. Lengthening years seem to bring with them increasing work, and a corresponding decrease of leisure time. Then again, with increasing years comes the only natural increasing desire, and even absolute necessity, for more rest from labour: and we are continually being made painfully aware that we are not as young as we once were. We begin to feel a desire to take a back seat now and then, and be happy in watching others younger than ourselves—more vigorous also, it may be—take our places occasionally; thereby relieving us for a time, and all the while gaining efficiency to enable them to carry on the work when we have been compelled to relinquish it.

* * * * *

Now, my friends, do not suppose [from these remarks that I am meditating retiring from the scene altogether; that I have any thought of folding my arms, flattering myself that I have done enough, or at any rate my fair share in whatever work I have been engaged. Not a bit of it. My only object is to intimate that my less frequent appearance is not from lessening interest in our weekly organ—I look for it every Saturday just as keenly as I did in the days of its first appearance. Nor is it through any inclination to sever my long personal connection and acquaintance with the Editor and his zealous staff. Once again—not a bit of it! That has become too much a portion of my daily life to be readily cut asunder. I want you to understand, then, that if I don't appear as often as I was wont to do in time past, that is not my fault, but my misfortune. So while acknowledging with grateful feelings the many kindly inquiries which have been made about me, and the good wishes expressed, I desire you not to trouble our already over-worked Editor with frequent enquiries; but if I don't appear, to know that it is simply the force of other circumstances over which I have little or no control, which causes it.

* * * * *

My esteemed friend and collaborateur, "Plain Speaker," has been raising again the bogey of Lent peal ringing. I am astonished at him. I thought we had all agreed "to differ or agree" with each other on the subject long ago. It is a question more likely to be settled by common sense than Canon law; seeing that what would be dire offence in one place might be treated with utter indifference in another. You might abstain from such performances in parishes where the action would be simply misconstrued into an excuse for laziness; and so forth. I can see no better mode of settling that point than an acceptance of the old rule "In essentials, unity; in non-essentials, liberty; in all things, charity." We shall not get far wrong if we stick to that.

* * * * *

During my enforced absence from the scene I have noticed many things, creditable and otherwise, reported herein, as you may suppose; numbers of them which I should have had pleasure in commenting upon. Such, however, are manifestly behind date for me now to notice, and it is with no invidious distinction regarding such that I heartily congratulate the Speldhurst band on its performance of 11,200 of Bob Major on the 9th instant. I should like to join with the large number of inhabitants who we are told congratulated the band at the finish of the peal on its excellent striking throughout, but more especially would I do so to the estimable conductor, my friend Mr. Thomas Card, who piloted the band through the peal on its first attempt. This occasion will, I doubt not, be a "red letter day" with friend Card, and if good wishes from me be of any avail to make the occasion more satisfactory to himself, why, he has them entirely.

* * * * *

Speaking of peal ringing, towards the close of last year I suggested the drawing up of a list of first peals rung during 1891, and proffered my services in compiling the same for the pages of "THE BELL NEWS," if only the necessary particulars came to hand. Now what has been the result? Some of you will perhaps be surprised when I tell you that the total number of such returns which I have received are just two. The first was from a good friend in the north who said he quite agreed with me that such a return would "prove a very interesting feature in the ringers' record." The return he sent me was "Date of peal; Monday, February 2nd, 1891; name of ringer, Robert Challis Hudson (age 15, of Bishopwearmouth) who rung in a peal of 5392 changes of Bob Major at the church of St. John the Baptist, Newcastle-on-Tyne, in 3 hrs. and 11 mins." The other record was "February 23rd, 1891. Daniel Gridley, Foxearth, Essex, 5152 Bob Major." Those are all I received in response to my offer. I can only conclude therefore that the Exercise generally did not consider it worth the trouble to record these first peals, contrary to my anticipations, and thus my proffered services in this direction are not appreciated, or even required. Well, I can only take things as they appear, and although this unaccountable neglect to furnish me with the necessary particulars wherewith to give what appeared to me would be an interesting return, will save me much trouble, I cannot resist expressing my disappointment that there appears so little anxiety in the way of permanently recording first peals, as will appear from the utterly inadequate response to my offer. But as it has been hinted to me that my offer was perhaps not perfectly understood, I will keep it open for a month from this, and if there are by that time indications of a desire in the way I have mentioned, I will proceed with my project.

NEW CLOCK FOR JARROW-ON-TYNE.

The Co-operative Society at this place have just erected some new buildings, which are surmounted by a handsome clock tower. The clock has three large external illuminated dials, a smaller dial shewing inside the large hall, and strikes the hours on a bell at the top of the building. It is from the works of Messrs. John Smith and Sons, of Derby, who are now making the great clock for St. Paul's cathedral, London.

One new member was elected from the parish church company. The next meeting is to be held at St. Thomas's, Newhey, on Saturday, May 7th, and the Secretary hopes the members will try and make it a success.

NOTE TO THE HANDBELL PEAL AT BRIGHTON.—It had long been the ambition of Mrs. G. Williams, the wife of the conductor of this peal, to accomplish the feat, therefore, not losing the opportunity of the assistance of of Messrs. Goddard and Blackburn (who are rehanging St. Nicholas' bells here), a date touch was rung on March 14th. On the following day an attempt was made for the peal, which collapsed after ringing over 2,000 changes, in 55 mins. The next attempt was on the 17th, which also came to grief after ringing over half-way, in 1 hr. 10 mins. Another attempt was made on the following Thursday, the 24th, "go" being called at 7.42 and at 9.53 a well-struck peal was accomplished, it being the first in which a lady has ever taken part with a pair of handbells retained in hand, and who rang with great care and confidence throughout. Mrs. Williams was elected a member of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild previous to the first attempt for the peal. Owing to the rule of only electing members at district or general meetings it could not be made a Sussex County Association peal.

The Bell News &amp; Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, APRIL 2, 1892.

For many years the presence of the gentler sex has not been unknown in connection with ringing. If we take up an annual report of any ringing Guild, we shall be almost sure to find the name of a lady among the list of members. We have heard recently of ladies practising scientific ringing under the tuition of Mr. F. J. PITSTOW, of Saffron Walden, upon church bells, so that we may soon have among us more than one lady "brother-string." We have also heard how in times past the wife of the celebrated GEORGE GROSS made her way early every morning to the church of St. Leonard, Shoreditch, to ring the bell which denoted the hour of 6.0 a.m., and very probably there are at the present time instances where ringers' wives see no incongruity in fulfilling a similar duty. But we have never yet heard that any of these ladies have felt inclined to master the intricacies of change-ringing.

This week we record a performance of a peal of Grand-sire Triples, on handbells, in which Mrs. GEORGE WILLIAMS, the wife of a prominent member of the Sussex County Association, rang the trebles. We are assured that this peal was excellently performed, and that the striking was most accurate throughout, and we see no reason to doubt such assurances. For the first time in history, therefore, we see a lady's name in the records of a peal, and taking into consideration the amount of practice and perseverance required to become proficient with a pair of bells, we say that the achievement does Mrs. WILLIAMS great credit, and shows that she possesses intelligent faculties of the highest order. Whether she will be content to pause here we cannot say. Perhaps we shall hear later on that she has taken part in a touch of Caters at St. Nicholas, or rang a bob bell through a "long course" of Treble Ten. However this may be, we are sure that the report of her success which is chronicled below will elicit high admiration from our readers.

This number commences the eleventh volume of "THE BELL NEWS." During the week we have been requested to commence the new volume with a portrait, and we have acceded to such request. Arrangements were made to publish next week the portrait of MR. JOHN CARTER, of Birmingham, and it is necessary to carry out that intention in order to prevent disappointment.

Summary of the Reports presented at the Forty-third Annual Meeting held on 3rd March, 1892.

ORDINARY BRANCH.—The number of Policies issued during the year was 58,118, assuring the sum of £5,932,493, and producing a New Annual Premium Income of £355,980.

The Premiums received during the year were £1,442,746, being an increase of £280,997 over the year 1890. The increase in the Premium receipts for the Quinquennium 1887-91 was £1,045,806, giving an average annual increase of £209,161.

The Claims of the year amounted to 387,106. The number of Deaths was 2,784.

INDUSTRIAL BRANCH.—The Premiums received during the year were £3,688,338, being an increase of £170,413. The increase in the Premium receipts for the quinquennium 1887-91 was £777,043, giving an average annual increase of £155,408.

The Claims of the year amounted to £1,647,300. The number of Deaths was 183,927.

The total number of Policies in force was 9,617,484; the average duration is six years and three quarters.

The total Assets of the Company, as shown in the Balance Sheet, are £14,623,627, being an increase of £2,043,757 over those of 1890.

The Directors have again prepared a supplement to the Report, showing in detail how the assets of the Company are invested.

The Balance Sheet has been again submitted to the independent professional audit of Messrs. Deloitte, Dever, Griffiths and Co., whose certificate is appended to the accounts.

SUMMARY OF THE QUINQENNIAL REPORT.

FOR THE PERIOD ENDING 31ST DECEMBER, 1891.

The Directors have much pleasure in submitting their Report, and that of the Actuaries of the Company, upon the valuation of the Company's Assets and Liabilities, which has just been completed.

As on previous occasions, the processes and results of the valuation have been submitted to Mr. A. H. Bailey, and his report is also attached.

During the Five years now under review the Assets of the Company have grown from £6,811,954 to £14,623,627, being an increase of £7,811,673.

The annual premium income of both Branches combined, at the beginning of the Quinquennium was £3,472,911, and at the end £5,386,990, being an increase of £1,914,079.

The valuation of the Ordinary Branch has been made upon the same principles as those of the preceding Quinquennium, namely, a net premium valuation on the Institute of Actuaries' (H.M.) Table of Mortality for the life risks, and Mr. Finlaison's Government Annuity Table 1884 for the annuities, the rate of interest in both cases being 3 per cent.

The valuation of the Industrial Branch has also been made on the basis of a net premium valuation at 3 per cent interest, the Table of Mortality being Dr. Farr's "English Life Table," No. 3.

At the beginning of the Quinquennium a revision of the Tables of Assurance was made considerably in favour of those of the assured who keep their policies in force for five years. These increased benefits have been made retrospective, and, as will be seen from the Actuaries' Reports, a corresponding increase has been made in the necessary reserves.

Extract from Mr. A. H. BAILEY'S Report.

The time having arrived at which another valuation is required to be made of the liabilities of your Company, I inspected, during the progress of this immense work, the various processes that had to be adopted for the purpose, and the results have been submitted to me for examination.

On the 31st December, 1891, the total number of assurances in force was 9,880,103, besides 1,557 grants of annuities. By the last Census it was ascertained that the total number of persons living on the 5th April, 1891, in the United Kingdom was 37,740,283; so that, after making allowance for the cases in which two or more

Policies have been granted upon the same life, it appears that the lives of about one-fourth of the population of Great Britain and Ireland are assured by your Company. The numbers have increased by more than 37 per cent. during the Quinquennium now under review.

The funds that have been accumulated to meet these liabilities amount to £14,087,393, exclusive of the Proprietors' capital.

The principles upon which the liabilities have been estimated are those now generally adopted by well-conducted Assurance Companies. The basis of valuation has my full concurrence, and having been set out in the Actuaries' Reports, together with the results in the case of each Branch, need not here be repeated.

Extract from the Reports of Messrs. T. C. DEWEY, W. HUGHES, and F. SCHOOLING, the Actuaries of the Company.

ORDINARY BRANCH.—The number of Life Policies in force at December 31st, 1891, was 262,619, assuring with bonus, £28,570,567, and producing a gross annual premium income of £1,487,344.

The results of the Valuation are as follows:—

Life Assurance Fund on the 31st December, 1891	£5,505,095
Reserve for Life Assurance Policies, including reserve for immediate payment of claims	£3,983,469
Reserve for Annuities	502,241
Net Liability	4,485,710
Surplus	£1,019,385

INDUSTRIAL BRANCH.—The number of Policies in existence at 31st December last was 9,617,484, and the amount assured £933,908,799. The weekly premiums receivable in respect of these Policies amounted to £74,993 per week, or £3,899,646 per annum.

The above number includes 246,152 free or paid-up Policies granted in lieu of discontinued assurances, on which no premiums are payable.

The average duration of all the Policies now in existence is about six and three-quarter years and when the large amount of new business introduced in recent years is considered, this is strong evidence of the success of the means which have been adopted to promote the stability of the business.

Life Assurance Fund on 31st December, 1891	£8,582,207
Net Liability for Life Assurance Policies, including reserve for immediate payment of claims	7,776,712
Surplus	£805,495

Of this net liability upwards of £800,000 is in respect of free Policies granted in lieu of discontinued assurances, and to provide for the increased benefits conferred on Industrial Policy holders during the Quinquennium.

It is worthy of remark that in the two Branches together there are 233,358 Policies assuring amounts of from £50 to £100 each, producing an Annual Premium Income of upwards of One Million Pounds, and of these 54,777 are with weekly Premiums, 44,645 quarterly, 21,010 half-yearly, and 112,926 with annual premiums. When it is considered that every proposer for an amount of £50 and upwards has the option presented to him of paying the premiums in any of these methods, it is remarkable how many deliberately choose the weekly premiums, thus affording a strong illustration of the adaptability of Industrial Assurance to the wants of the public.

With a view to secure accuracy, two independent Valuations were made in both Branches. The Valuation of Ten Million Policies, divided into a very large number of groups and classes, has employed the energies of a staff of about 700 for many months. The arithmetical processes alone have involved an immense amount of labour, and would have been almost impossible of accomplishment without the aid of the Arithmometer, no less than fifty of these instruments having been employed.

MR. JOHN CARTER, OF BIRMINGHAM.

(Vide Portrait).

This talented ringer and composer was born at the town of Darlaston, in Staffordshire, on the 30th April, 1854; consequently during the present month he will see his thirty-eighth birthday. His calling is that of a revolver-maker, and he is employed by a large Birmingham firm—Messrs. Webley and Son—where he has been twelve years. During this period he has proved himself an expert in his craft, and an inventor of many improvements in connection therewith, and his name is to be found many times in the Patent Office in relation to such inventions.

His first visit to a belfry was in the month of July, 1873, at his native place. On that occasion the local company were ringing Stedman, but a peal in that method was not rung on the bells until thirteen years afterwards, which was conducted by him on April 17th, 1886. In seven months after his first visit to a belfry he rang a date touch of Stedman Triples at Willenhall, and in the following July he rang his maiden peal—Grandsire Triples—in the same tower. From this time his progress was rapid. On February 22nd, 1876, his first essay as a peal-conductor was a complete success, Holt's Original being called by him at the church of All Saints, West Bromwich, and supposed to be the first performance of this peal in the county.

As an handbell ringer, the name of JOHN CARTER is very high on the list of those who have maintained the traditions of the great midland town. His talents in this direction is in fact something extraordinary, and calls to mind the displays of the late John Cox. When about the year '76 he paid periodical visits to Birmingham, he and that celebrated ringer, John Bannister (since deceased), used frequently to ring four bells each in touches—three or six courses—of Grandsire Triples. And not only has he frequently rang the front four bells in a 6-score of Stedman Doubles, called in any way the ringer of the tenors pleased, but the same four bells in Stedman Triples. His first peal in hand (Holt's Original) was rung on June 1st, 1876, at the residence of the late Mr. Henry Johnson, which was conducted by Mr. H. Bastable. In 1878 he called the same peal in hand at West Bromwich, this being his first peal in hand as a conductor. Altogether he has rung in hand twenty-nine peals, from Triples to Cinques, composing and conducting nearly the whole of them. Among these may be mentioned a 6064 of Grandsire Major, 6137 of Grandsire Caters, and a 10,176 of Grandsire Major; the two last being the longest peals yet rung in hand.

In 1876, being at that period a member of the St. Martin's Guild, he took part in a peal of Stedman Cinques, conducted by the late Mr. H. Johnson. A complete list of Mr. CARTER's performances is incorporated in this memoir, but many of them possess features of interest, which are worth pointing out. He rang the 2nd in the silent peal of Stedman Triples at Burton on November 20th, 1886, and the same bell on the anniversary of that peal, when each member of the band called three courses in turn throughout the peal. His 100th peal was Cambridge Surprise; his 100th on tower bells one of that intricate method, London Surprise. He composed and conducted a 12,272 of Grandsire Major, rang at Rowley Regis, Staffordshire, the longest peal of Grandsire Major yet rung; conducted a 7001 of Grandsire Caters (composed by the Editor) at the church of All Saints, Worcester, the longest peal rung upon the bells for nearly fifty years; and the peal of Treble Bob Maximus at Sheffield. Except in the long peal of Grandsire Major all his calling has been done without the aid of an observation-bell, so far as ringing that bell is concerned; when going for a peal he invariably waits till the other members of the band have determined their own positions, and then steps into the one vacant place.

Mr. CARTER has taken part in 129 peals, twenty-nine being upon handbells, as under:—

In the art of composition Mr. CARTER has been most industrious and original. There are very few of the well-known methods in which he has not produced a peal—Grandsire, Stedman, Bob, Canterbury Pleasure, Double Norwich, Union, Court Bob, Oxford Bob, Duffield, Forward, Darlaston Bob, etc., the last two methods being compilations of his own. Peals composed by him are generally found with approved musical properties. He was the first to compose a 5008 of Grandsire Major with the 6th twenty-four times in 5-6 and the 5th twenty-four times at home, with all the 857s, 867s, and 678s. Among his other compositions are 9600 of Grandsire Major with the tenors together every lead, a 13340 in the same method with similar qualities; Bob Triples, with the 6th only in 2nd's, 4th's, and 6th's place at a course-end; the extent of Duffield Major with the tenors together; numerous peals of Grandsire Caters, with such a prolific crop of musical variations upon the large bells that their description becomes somewhat perplexing; peals of Double Norwich with the 4th, 5th, and 6th each twenty-four times in 6th's place at a course-end; and many others.

It was in the year 1880 his business compelled him to reside at Birmingham, and events following which led him to resign his position as member of the St. Martin's Guild, a new society of ringers was formed, now in existence under the title of "The Birmingham Amalgamated Society," and enjoying a prosperous career, of which the leading spirit is the subject of this sketch, and which body he represents on the Central Council. We are however sorry to hear that owing to increasing deafness, he has been compelled to relinquish that position.

Mr. CARTER is a member of the following societies: College Youths, London St. James's Society, Yorkshire Association, Midland Counties' Association, Birmingham Amalgamated Society, Lancashire Association, Devonshire Guild, St. Paul's Society, Burton-on-Trent, Worcestershire Association, and the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford. He is at work during spare hours upon what he calls a bellringing machine, which is to ring any peal in any method the onlooker demands. It will be some time before this invention is perfected, though several courses and leads in various methods have already been rung upon it.

Mr. CARTER has been invited to Pendlebury, near Manchester, to call a peal of 17,000 Treble Bob Major, on Easter Monday next. And here we leave him in the hope that the attempt may prove successful, and not afterwards lead to serious physical or mental derangement.

IRTHLINGBOROUGH CHURCH BELLS.

Now that it is probable that the re-building of Irtlingborough Church tower will be continued during the coming summer, and carried on as far as the battlements, there is a prospect of getting the bells into their proper position once more, to ring, chime and send their cheery sounds across the Nene Valley. A few items of information respecting these bells may not be out of place just now. The ancient peal of five were taken down, carried to London, and recast into six smaller ones, at the foundry of Messrs. Mears and Co. (now Mears and Stainbank), Whitechapel, in the year 1829, as the following inscription on the present tenor bell testifies:—

T. MEARS OF LONDON FECIT 1829.
THE FINE OLD BELLS EXCHANGED FOR THIS PEAL OF SIX A.D. 1829.
THE REV. GEORGE WARCUP MALIM VICAR.
CHARLES GROOMER CHURCHWARDEN.

The name of the other churchwarden has been erased. This bell measures thirty-nine-and-a-half inches across the mouth, and weighs 11 cwt.

Although not possessing the grandeur of tone of the heavier peals in the district, Irtlingborough bells have always been considered a very musical, pleasant-sounding ring.

Before they are again hoisted aloft, it would be well that clappers and all other fittings should be renewed, and the bells themselves quarter-turned, as, after over sixty years "wear and tear" the clappers have made considerable indentations in the lips of the bells. There will be a grand chance at the same time to increase the peal to eight. Two additional little trebles placed in front of the present six would make this peal the brightest and handiest octave in the district. Now that there must be a new frame and fittings, the extra cost of this improvement would be very little, but the extra value it would give the peal from a musical point of view, either for chiming and ringing, or the addition of quarter and tune chimes in years to come, would be very great indeed. It is to be hoped some wealthy residents of Ancient Artlyngborough will come forward and give the much to be desired two new bells.

ST. WERBURGH'S, BRISTOL.

On Tuesday evening, the 22nd March last, the rector of the above church (Rev. Hy. Dening) gave the ringers their annual supper, which took place in the Mission Room, Mina Road, close to the church. The St. Werburgh's handbell ringers were also invited. The rector presided, and was supported by both churchwardens, Messrs. Thomas and Stroud. About twenty were present. After the supper amusing and appropriate speeches were given by the rector and churchwardens; and members of the church ringers and the handbell ringers replied by thanking the rector for the hospitality shown by him on these annual occasions. Selections on the handbells were indulged in during the evening, and thus a very enjoyable evening was spent by all present.

ST. NICHOLAS, HALEWOOD, LANCASHIRE.

On Monday, April 4th, this society, newly formed, under the tuition of Mr. Robert Williams, of Liverpool, rang a plain course of Grandsire Triples on their third practice night. The band were: W. Grace, 1; J. Lowe, 2; J. A. Needs, 3; R. Brade, 4; J. Ambrose, 5; A. Grace, 6; J. Grace, 7; D. Briers, 8. The band was complimented by Mr. Churchwarden Wood for so quickly mastering the plain course.

BRIGHTON, SUSSEX.

The old church of St. Nicholas, Brighton, has during past years undergone various changes, amongst which, however, probably the changes which have occurred in its bells will interest the readers of our paper more than any other. In 1777 Rudhall, of Gloucester, hung a peal of ten bells in the old tower with a tenor of 16½ cwt., and between that date and 1825 numerous peals of Triples, Major and Caters, were rung. In 1826, for some unknown reason, the two trebles were removed to the tower of the church of St. Peter, where they did duty in company with a bell by Mears, weighing about 30 cwt., for a period of sixty years. In 1885, when St. Peter's had become the parish church of Brighton in the place of St. Nicholas, it was thought desirable that it should possess a peal of bells; the necessary funds were raised by Mr. Attree, and the present peal of eight, by Warner and Sons, superseded the old three bells. During the period from the time of the removal of the two trebles in 1826 till 1885 very little change-ringing took place; in fact, for 49 years and 6 months not a single peal of any kind was rung in the town. Easter Saturday, April 16th, will again find the old peal once more in as good a state, both as to repair and in number of bells, as at the time when the bells were first hung, for through Mr. Attree's exertions the bells have been quarter-turned, re-hung with entirely new fittings, augmented by two new trebles (as memorials to the late Mr. and Mrs. Shelly), and the old third bell (which had been cracked for some years) recast; the new bells are from Messrs. Mears' foundry, and the re-hanging is being done by Blackburn and Greenleaf, of Salisbury.

A special service of dedication will be held in the church on Saturday, April 16th, at 3.30. It has also been decided to add an improved dumb-peal apparatus for practice, as fixed by Mr. Selby, of Midhurst, at Guildford and elsewhere.

SOUTHAMPTON, HANTS.

On Tuesday, March 29th, several members of the Winchester Diocesan Guild met by appointment to have a pull on the peal of eight in the tower of Holy Rood church at the above place, with the special object in view of inducing the local ringers to take up change-ringing instead of the Churchyard Bob now rang there. Half-past seven found Messrs. Cole, Newman, Saint, Elcomb, and White, from Romsey. George and Groves from Eastleigh, T. Newnham from Fair Oak, and C. Tribe from Southampton, assembled in the tower with several of the local band. Bells up and coats off, and the bells were soon going to the tune of Grandsire Doubles with one local man on the 3rd, and 7-6-8 behind. After this a touch of Bob Triples was attempted with a local ringer at each end, and after several attempts their efforts were rewarded, and "that is all" was called at the end of a well-struck 504. S. Russell, 1; J. Elcomb, 2; T. Newnham, 3; C. Tribe, 4; T. Cole, 5; T. Groves, 6; W. H. George (composer and conductor), 7; T. Curtiss, 8.

The above touch is believed to be the first Bob Triples ever rang on the bells, and it was the first Triples the treble man, who is a local ringer, ever attempted to ring, and he was heartily congratulated by the ringers for the fine style in which he piloted the treble through. It was also the first touch of Bob Triples by the tenor man, who is also a local ringer. The visitors wish to thank the local ringers for so kindly giving up their practice night and placing the bells at their disposal, and hope they may have the opportunity of paying them another visit before long, and have the pleasure of helping a few more of the local ringers through their first touch.

THE SOCIETY OF TRINITY YOUTHS.

At a meeting of the above-named Society held in the vestry of St. Alphege, Greenwich, on Tuesday, April 5th, the following resolution was passed: "That this meeting is of opinion that it is inexpedient to amalgamate the Society of Trinity Youths with the Kent County Association, and that the Secretary be requested to forward a copy of this resolution to the Secretary of the Kent County Association, and to 'THE BELL NEWS.'"

40 Nutcroft Road, Peckham.

F. RUMENS, Hon. Sec.

BARTON-ON-HUMBER, NORTH LINCOLNSHIRE.

After a lapse of twenty years the art of change-ringing has been revived in Barton, at the church of St. Peter. On Wednesday, March 2nd, a 6-score of Doubles was rung. J. Robinson (conductor), 1; J. H. Potts, 2; R. Houghton, 3; T. Haywood, 4; W. How, 5; J. Hobson, 6. This is a new company formed soon after the visit of the St. James' company of Hull, Yorks, to Barton, last summer. Mr. Jenkins of the St. James' company, is the instructor.

THE RECENT HANDBELL PEAL AT BRIGHTON.

SIR,—I was very pleased to read in your issue of Saturday last the account of the handbell peal at Brighton, in which Mrs. Williams rang the trebles, and I desire to congratulate her on her achievement, and to add my little tribute of praise to the very graceful compliment which you paid her in your editorial. I have on several occasions had the pleasure of ringing with Mrs. Williams, both Grandsire and Stedman Triples, and I may say that she would put to shame many of our brother-strings who aspire to be termed handbell ringers.

THE LEEDS AND DISTRICT AMALGAMATED SOCIETY.

The yearly meeting of this Society was held at Leeds, on Saturday, March 26th, at the "Old Royal Oak," Kirkgate. There was a good attendance of members, the following towers being represented:—Armley, Bramley, Calverley, Rothwell, Pudsey, Birstall, St. Chad's and St. Michael's Headingley, Holbeck and Leeds.

The President (Mr. J. Whitaker) presided, and was supported by the Vice-President (Mr. W. Abbshaw). The minutes of the last meeting were read and passed. The balance sheet was then read, which showed a considerable increase in the funds of the society. It was proposed by Mr. A. Naylor, and seconded by Mr. J. W. T. Holgate, that the balance sheet be passed as read, which was carried unanimously.

The Secretary then gave a brief review of the work of the society during the past year. The number of members on the books were ninety-five, against sixty-seven the previous year, fourteen members having lapsed through non-payment of subscriptions, and two by death. The members are distributed between nineteen churches. Thirteen peals have been rung at nine churches: Royal, one; Major, seven; and five 5040's in seven different methods. Twelve methods were used in the peals rung; three being the first peals on the bells; eleven, members' first peals; and one, first peal as conductor. Twelve ringing meetings have been held, which were well attended. As a result of the interest taken by members in the society's progress, there was a substantial increase in members and funds. Votes of thanks to retiring officers for services during the past year were proposed by Mr. H. Lockwood, seconded by Mr. T. Woodhead, and carried amidst applause. The Election of Officers was next proceeded with, which resulted as follows: president, Mr. J. Whitaker (re-elected); vice-president, Mr. C. Pratt; treasurer, Mr. D. Yorke (re-elected); secretary, Mr. R. Binns (re-elected). The Committee consists of one representative from each tower where four or more members belong to the society. Birstall was selected as the place to hold the April ringing meeting. Votes of thanks to the Vicar and Churchwardens for the use of the bells, &c., were passed, and to the local company for the kind arrangements they had made. The Tower next came in for attention, and touches of Kent Treble Bob Minor, Major and Royal were rung, when an accident occurred to one of the bells which put further ringing out of the question. Courses on the handbells at the Meeting House until 10 p.m. brought to a conclusion another successful yearly ringing meeting of this Society.

STRETHAM, ELY.

Thursday, March 24th, is a day long to be remembered in Stretham. A new bell cast by Messrs. Warner, was dedicated and added to the old ring of four. Following the old English office for the dedication of a bell, the new bell was dedicated before it was raised into the tower. After the last five psalms of the Psalter had been said, as directed by the old office, the Rector, accompanied by the choir, proceeded to the west end of the church, and the bell was dedicated, the prayers found in the "Priests' Prayer Book" being used. It was then raised to its place in the tower while a hymn was being sung. The new bell, which weighs about 5 cwt., becomes the treble in a ring of five. It is hoped that before very long the ring may be made one of six. General satisfaction is expressed at the tone and "go" of the new treble.

NOTICE OF A LONG PEAL.—On Easter-Monday next, eight members of the Lancashire Association will attempt T. Day's 17,000 of Treble Bob Major at Christ Church, Pendlebury, about four miles from Manchester. Trams run every half-hour.

The celebrated maiden peal of six bells, cast by Charles Carr at the Smethwick foundry, and lately used at the Prince of Wales theatre, Birmingham in the pantomime of "Dick Whittington," will be on view at the forthcoming Trades Exhibition, to be held in Bingley Hall, Birmingham, on April 11th.

FOR SALE, A Splendid peal of Handbells, 52 in number, in good order. By Blews of Birmingham. Chromatic Scale, from G 25 to G 04; Cushions, Stand, and Music complete. The cost when new was about £30. Good reason for selling. No reasonable offer refused.—WALTER REA, Stourbridge Road, Bromsgrove.

NOTES TO PEALS.

The peal at Bolney is the first peal of Stedman Triples on the bells, also the quickest peal on the bells. It is Messrs. Parsons and Brackley's first peal of Stedman; also G. Gatland's fiftieth peal. A. Parsons belongs to the local band, the rest from Steyning. The ringers wish to thank the vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells; also Mr. G. Walders for making arrangements for the peal.

The authorities at St. Mary's, Gateshead-on-Tyne, will not allow the tenor to be raised on account of a defective tower, so this peal was rung with the tenor "clocked" behind. On account of this difficulty no peal has been rung here since 1850, although these bells are noted as the finest and sweetest toned in the district. Mr. Alderson was elected a member of the Association previous to starting. This was rung as a birthday peal for the conductor, who attained the age of twenty-six on the previous day.

The peal at St. Stephen's, Westminster, is the 200th peal of Mr. E. Horrex, of which the methods are as follows: Grandsire Triples 26, Grandsire Triples on Handbells 2, Grandsire Caters 16, Stedman Triples 26, Stedman Caters 29, Stedman Cinques 26, Kent Treble Bob Major 34, Kent Treble Bob Royal 19, Kent Treble Bob Maximus 9, Double Norwich Major 8, Grandsire Major 2, Oxford Treble Bob Royal 1, Oxford Treble Bob Major 1. Total 200. The longest lengths of the foregoing are 11,111 Stedman Caters at Fulham, the then longest peal in the method; two peals of 8448 and two peals of 8896 of Kent Treble Bob Major; and Mr. Horrex also rang the 6th in the long peal of Treble Bob Major, 15,840, at St. Matthew's, Bethnal Green.

The Bell News &amp; Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, APRIL 9, 1892.

In a recent number a letter appeared from a correspondent, in which he alluded to a belfry within his knowledge which had entirely escaped the efforts of the reformer, and was at the present day in a condition which we hope is very rare indeed. The belfry, said our correspondent, has no glass in its windows; the ringers perform Churchyard Bob while fully attired in heavy marching order, one of them, while smoking very inferior tobacco, calling out the order (or disorder) of the bells in an inaudible voice. Though this belfry is open to the elements of wind and rain, and the Wardens are unable to find the money for repairs, yet according to our correspondent, a small stove can be provided therein in order that the ringers can enjoy spiced ale—hot, we suppose, and seasoned with lemon. Perhaps these ringers (?) frequently brew a bowl or two of punch at the belfry stove, and invite their friends who are not of the "scruffe" to make merry. Surely our correspondent is not one who has been shut out from such enjoyment!

There is a great doubt whether the evils alleged by our correspondent do exist anywhere. We readily acknowledge that there are many belfries where reform has not yet reached, but somehow or other we generally know where they are to be found. The picture drawn by ROBERT CHICHESTER was however, rather too highly coloured, to be believed in absolutely. If his statements were true in every particular, why should he disguise the place where such gross irregularities prevail? If he take us into his confidence and shew us the spot, we will believe in him. Till then we shall be under the impression that his statements are highly exaggerated.

GOOD FRIDAY appearing next week, publication of this paper will take place one day earlier than usual. Everything intended for insertion in the next number must therefore reach our hands not later than Wednesday morning.

Summary of the Reports presented at the Forty-third Annual Meeting held on 3rd March, 1892.

ORDINARY BRANCH.—The number of Policies issued during the year was 58,118, assuring the sum of £5,932,493, and producing a New Annual Premium Income of £355,980.

The Premiums received during the year were £1,442,746, being an increase of £280,097 over the year 1890. The increase in the Premium receipts for the Quinquennium 1887-91 was £1,045,806, giving an average annual increase of £209,161.

The Claims of the year amounted to 387,106. The number of Deaths was 2,784. INDUSTRIAL BRANCH.—The Premiums received during the year were £3,688,338, being an increase of £170,413. The increase in the Premium receipts for the quinquennium 1887-91 was £777,043, giving an average annual increase of £155,408.

The Claims of the year amounted to £1,647,300. The number of Deaths was 183,927.

The total number of Policies in force was 9,617,484; the average duration is six years and three quarters.

The total Assets of the Company, as shown in the Balance Sheet, are £14,623,627, being an increase of £2,043,757 over those of 1890.

The Directors have again prepared a supplement to the Report, showing in detail how the assets of the Company are invested.

The Balance Sheet has been again submitted to the independent professional audit of Messrs. Deloitte, Dever, Griffiths and Co., whose certificate is appended to the accounts.

SUMMARY OF THE QUINQUENNIAL REPORT.

FOR THE PERIOD ENDING 31ST DECEMBER, 1891.

The Directors have much pleasure in submitting their Report, and that of the Actuaries of the Company, upon the valuation of the Company's Assets and Liabilities, which has just been completed.

As on previous occasions, the processes and results of the valuation have been submitted to Mr. A. H. Bailey, and his report is also attached.

During the Five years now under review the Assets of the Company have grown from £6,811,954 to £14,623,627, being an increase of £7,811,673.

The annual premium income of both Branches combined, at the beginning of the Quinquennium was £3,472,911, and at the end £5,386,990, being an increase of £1,914,079.

The valuation of the Ordinary Branch has been made upon the same principles as those of the preceding Quinquennium, namely, a net premium valuation on the Institute of Actuaries' (H.M.) Table of Mortality for the life risks, and Mr. Finlaison's Government Annuity Table 1884 for the annuities, the rate of interest in both cases being 3 per cent.

The valuation of the Industrial Branch has also been made on the basis of a net premium valuation at 3 per cent interest, the Table of Mortality being Dr. Farr's "English Life Table," No. 3.

At the beginning of the Quinquennium a revision of the Tables of Assurance was made considerably in favour of those of the assured who keep their policies in force for five years. These increased benefits have been made retrospective, and, as will be seen from the Actuaries' Reports, a corresponding increase has been made in the necessary reserves.

Extract from Mr. A. H. BAILEY'S Report.

The time having arrived at which another valuation is required to be made of the liabilities of your Company, I inspected, during the progress of this immense work, the various processes that had to be adopted for the purpose, and the results have been submitted to me for examination.

On the 31st December, 1891, the total number of assurances in force was 9,880,103, besides 1,557 grants of annuities. By the last Census it was ascertained that the total number of persons living on the 5th April, 1891, in the United Kingdom was 37,740,283: so that, after making allowance for the cases in which two or more

Policies have been granted upon the same life, it appears that the lives of about one-fourth of the population of Great Britain and Ireland are assured by your Company. The numbers have increased by more than 37 per cent. during the Quinquennium now under review.

The funds that have been accumulated to meet these liabilities amount to £14,087,303, exclusive of the Proprietors' capital.

The principles upon which the liabilities have been estimated are those now generally adopted by well-conducted Assurance Companies. The basis of valuation has my full concurrence, and having been set out in the Actuaries' Reports, together with the results in the case of each Branch, need not here be repeated.

Extract from the Reports of Messrs. T. C. DEWEY, W. HUGHES, and F. SCHOOLING, the Actuaries of the Company.

ORDINARY BRANCH.—The number of Life Policies in force at December 31st, 1891, was 262,619, assuring with bonus £28,570,567, and producing a gross annual premium income of £1,487,344.

The results of the Valuation are as follows:—

Life Assurance Fund on the 31st December, 1891	£5,505,095
Reserve for Life Assurance Policies, including reserve for immediate payment of claims	£3,983,469
Reserve for Annuities	502,241
Net Liability	4,485,710
Surplus	£1,019,385

INDUSTRIAL BRANCH.—The number of Policies in existence at 31st December last was 9,617,484, and the amount assured £933,90,879. The weekly premiums receivable in respect of these Policies amounted to £74,993 per week, or £3,899,646 per annum.

The above number includes 246,152 free or paid-up Policies granted in lieu of discontinued assurances, on which no premiums are payable.

The average duration of all the Policies now in existence is about six and three-quarter years and when the large amount of new business introduced in recent years is considered, this is strong evidence of the success of the means which have been adopted to promote the stability of the business.

The results of the Valuation are as follows:—

Life Assurance Fund on 31st December, 1891...	£8,582,207
Net Liability for Life Assurance Policies, including reserve for immediate payment of claims	7,776,712
Surplus	£805,495

Of this net liability upwards of £800,000 is in respect of free Policies granted in lieu of discontinued assurances, and to provide for the increased benefits conferred on Industrial Policy holders during the Quinquennium.

It is worthy of remark that in the two Branches together there are 233,358 Policies assuring amounts of from £50 to £100 each, producing an Annual Premium Income of upwards of One Million Pounds, and of these 54,777 are with weekly Premiums, 44,645 quarterly, 21,010 half-yearly, and 112,926 with annual premiums. When it is considered that every proposer for an amount of £50 and upwards has the option presented to him of paying the premiums in any of these methods, it is remarkable how many deliberately choose the weekly premiums, thus affording a strong illustration of the adaptability of Industrial Assurance to the wants of the public.

With a view to secure accuracy, two independent Valuations were made in both Branches. The Valuation of Ten Million Policies, divided into a very large number of groups and classes, has employed the energies of a staff of about 700 for many months. The arithmetical processes alone have involved an immense amount of labour, and would have been almost impossible of accomplishment without the aid of the Arithmometer, no less than fifty of these instruments having been employed.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

Notice to Members (amended).

The Second Annual Meeting of the Council will be held at the Colonnade Hotel, New Street, Birmingham, at 1 p.m. precisely on Easter Tuesday, April 19th. Luncheon will be provided at 2s. a head immediately after the meeting, at the conclusion of which the bells of St. Martin's church will, by kind permission, be at the disposal of members.

A meeting of the Standing Committee at which the members belonging thereto are particularly requested to attend, will be held previous to the meeting of the Council, and in the same room, at 11.30 a.m.

A Reception Committee of members of the St. Martin's Guild will assist visitors in any way that may be required. Enquiries respecting local arrangements may be made of Mr. W. H. Godden, 61 Roland Road, Handsworth, Birmingham, Hon. Secretary of the St. Martin's Guild.

The Secretaries of Societies who have not yet remitted the fee of 2s. 6d. for each representative, are reminded that by rule V., until the amount be paid, their representatives are not entitled to vote at the meeting. It is therefore desirable that the necessary sum should be forwarded at once to A. Percival Heywood, Duffield, near Derby.

AGENDA.

1.—To elect an Hon. Secretary. Nomination for the office—Rev. H. Earle Bulwer.

2.—To elect Hon. Members.

3.—Statement of accounts.

4.—To amend Rule x. by substituting "twenty" for "one third the whole number of."

5.—To receive and consider the report of the Committee appointed to obtain adequate recognition of the Exercise at the hands of the Church Congress.

6.—To receive and consider the report of the Committee appointed to draw up a body of advice, etc., as to bells and ringers.

7.—To consider the following motions:—

That the following conditions are essential to the validity of a peal:—

On five bells, with or without the addition of a covering bell, not less than 5040 changes, rung without interval in true six-scores, and in not less than three methods.

On six bells, not less than 5040 changes, rung without interval in true 720's, of which no two in the same method shall be called alike.

On eight, ten, and twelve bells, not less than 5000 true changes rung without interval.

On nine and eleven bells, in each case with the addition of a covering bell, not less than 5000 true changes rung without interval.

8.—That it is expedient to publish a Bibliography or Catalogue of Books relating to bells and ringing, and that a Committee be instructed to confer and report as to how this can best be done.

9.—That a Committee be appointed to receive and classify all compositions of 5000 changes and upwards, and to issue an annual report in which all peals composed during the previous twelve months shall be published.

10.—That no composition shall be deemed legitimate in which any call other than the one bob proper to the method is made use of, excepting only the one proper single in methods not of the Treble-bob class.

Members are requested to note the above arrangements, as, in accordance with rule xii., no individual notices will be posted.

THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION—MANCHESTER BRANCH.

The usual monthly meeting of the above took place at Eccles, on Saturday, April 9th. About thirty ringers attended, representing the following places, viz.:—Ashton-under-Lyne, Bolton, Flixton, Heywood, Manchester, Pendlebury, Rusholme, Swinton, Worsley, Walkden, Whitefield.

Ringling commenced about 5 p.m., when some well-struck touches of Grandsire Triples, Plain Bob and Treble Bob Major were rung until 7 p.m., when the members adjourned to the Mission Room for business. Owing to the absence of the clergy, Mr. J. Eachus (vice-president) was appointed to the chair. The first business was to fix a place whereat to hold the next monthly meeting. Christ Church, Pendlebury, was decided on for Saturday, May 7th. Three new members were added to the list. A vote of thanks was accorded to the clergy and churchwardens for the use of the bells and mission room, to Mr. Barrett for having all in readiness, likewise to the worthy vice-president for having presided. Some of the members again ascended the tower, ringing both Treble Bob Major and Stedman Triples until about 9.20 p.m., which brought this very successful meeting to a close.

PROPER QUESTIONS.

A correspondent of The Guardian thinks that it might interest others to know that one who visited the churches in his rural deanery for the first time since his appointment last year found the following questions useful, originally issued:—

1. Churchyard, by whom kept?
2. State of fabric? windows, doors, gutters, ventilation, etc.
3. Insurance. Heating apparatus.
4. Prayer-book and Bible. Offices book. Parish surplice.
5. Organist, how paid?
6. Degrees of affinity, where?
7. Table of fees, where?
8. Banns-book. Strange preachers book.
9. Church rates or offertory?
10. Any endowment for fabric?
11. Bells. Number and date.
12. Communion plate. Date. Material. Weight. Where kept?
13. Registers. Complete or not? Earliest date and condition.
14. Table of benefactions, where recorded? In register-book or elsewhere?
15. Any parochial charities.
16. Clerk and sexton. How paid?
17. Tithe map, where kept? and terrier.

It is quite refreshing to find that "bells" are mentioned among these interrogatories, though hardly to the extent wished. The enquiry should be supplemented by a searching request for information as to their condition. Perhaps the question of how the ringers are paid is not considered of so much importance as the fees of those excellent people, the clerk and sexton.

THE HOMES FOR LITTLE BOYS AT FARNINGHAM AND SWANLEY, KENT.—In aid of the funds of these noble institutions, the Swallow Minstrels will give an entertainment at Munt's Grand Hall, St. John's Hill, Clapham Junction, on Wednesday, the 27th instant. The doors of the hall will be open at 7.30, and the entertainment will commence at 8 o'clock. One of the Hon. Secretaries for this special object is Mr. H. S. Thomas, of Battersea, a gentleman well-known in ringing circles, and a much-esteemed member of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths. For some years Mr. Thomas has been deeply interested in the welfare of the Swanley and Farningham Homes for Little Boys, and this is not the first occasion in which he has been the principal organiser of an entertainment from the proceeds of which those institutions were to benefit. We cannot therefore doubt that many of Mr. Thomas's ringing friends will feel a pleasure in assisting him in so laudable and philanthropic an undertaking by sending for a ticket or two, and thus show their appreciation of his efforts in the cause of well-timed charity. The prices of admission are as follows: Reserved seats, 3s.; balcony, 2s.; area, 1s.; and gallery, 3d. Mr. Thomas will be pleased to send tickets to admit to either of the above. His address is 71, Bridge Road West, Old Battersea. S.W.

WOLLASTON, NORTHANTS.

RESTORATION OF THE CHURCH SPIRE.—The spire of the church of St. Mary in this village is now undergoing restoration. Most of the Church fell down in the year 1737, the tower and spire and the north transept alone escaping the mishap. In the church chest of the parish church of Wellingborough is a "brief" giving a list of subscriptions (amounting to £21 12s. 6d.) collected in the town towards the re-building of Wollaston church. The spire is stated by a reliable authority to be "a fine specimen of the decorated style of architecture prevailing in the early part of the reign of Edward II." In the tower hang six bells, five of which were cast by Taylor, of St. Neots, in the year 1806. Weight of tenor 18 cwt. The treble bell is much older. When the beautiful tower arches were opened out a few years ago and the north transept re-built, the old ringing loft was removed and the ropes brought down into the Church. This is a very inconvenient arrangement when the tower is central, as the ropes fall among the choir stalls. There is plenty of space for a ringing room above the arches, and it is to be hoped this alteration will be carried out now there is an opportunity.

LINCOLN CATHEDRAL.

Some alarm has been recently excited in Lincoln (the Times says) by the fall of a considerable piece of stone from the north-western (or St. Mary's) tower of the cathedral. Falling from a height of about 150 ft. the stone shattered a flagstone of the pavement beneath into fragments; and it must have proved instantly fatal to any persons who might have happened to be passing at the time. The Dean and Chapter immediately ordered an examination of the stonework of the tower, the result of which was sufficiently alarming to cause them to stop the thoroughfare in front of the cathedral, and to take measures for the temporary security of the masonry, pending the issue of a survey, which they have desired their consulting architect, Mr. Pearson, to make without delay. The mischief appears to be limited to the external features of the tower, and it is hoped that the material fabric may prove to be sound. Meanwhile the scheme for the taking down of Wren's library and its reconstruction on another site is necessarily suspended. The dislocation of the stonework seems to be attributable to the rapid and extreme alterations in temperature during the past winter, severe frosts having been rapidly succeeded by hot suns.

A CHURCH HAT PEG.

For some weeks past the front page of "THE BELL NEWS" has announced the existence of a simple invention in the shape of a hat peg for use in churches, chapels, and other places. This invention consists of a small neat curved brass peg, which at one end has a screw for fixing it to the place it is destined to occupy, and at the other end, on which the hat is to rest, a rubber washer with the edges notched to prevent the hat slipping when once placed upon it. The illustration which is embodied in the announcement makes plain its value for the purpose intended, while its simplicity and the easy manner of affixing are great recommendations for its general use. Those who frequent church, chapel, or any assembly where it is necessary to remove the head-gear, are often at their wit's-end what to do with, or where to place for the time being, such a necessary part of apparel, and especially is this so when the usual tall hat is concerned. What anxiety is frequently caused during the hours of Divine Service in church as to the welfare of the tall hat, which perhaps has been placed on the floor under the bench at the mercy of the feet of other worshippers occupying the same seat. A clergyman lately in our hearing remarked that anything which tended to prevent distraction from the service in church was to be commended, and he instanced this invention as a most desirable thing which could with profit be universally adopted in order to abolish one subject the mind was apt to frequently revert to. He commended this simple but efficacious hat-peg to the notice of the clergy and churchwardens generally. The cost is hardly worth a consideration, while its ultimate benefits are manifold. By its use one of the hindrances to devout and attentive worship is entirely removed, and an addition is made to the comfort of the congregation.

OAKE, SOMERSET.

An appeal has been issued by the rector, the Rev. J. R. Broughton, on behalf of the restoration of the ancient church of this remote little Somersetshire parish. The church is an ancient stone building, parts of it being of 13th century work. Owing to long years of neglect, the church is lapsing into sad decay; the tower, which is in a dangerous condition, is bringing down the main wall of the church. Inside the church presents a dilapidated appearance, the walls being covered with coatings of whitewash, and the 14th century oak roof of the nave, having been also covered over with lath and plaster, is terribly decayed. The church was one of the last inspected by the late Mr. J. D. Sedding, who considered it of much interest and value. Among the subscribers to the work are the Bishop of Bath and Wells, the Dean of Wells, the Archdeacon of Taunton, Bishop Hobhouse, Canon Buckle, the President of the Royal Academy, the Master of Clare College, Cambridge, Dr. Edward Liddon, and Mr. Justice North.

CLOCK AND BELL FOR BUTE DOCKS.

Messrs. Sainsbury Brothers, Walthamstow, who were established as Turret and Cathedral Clock Manufacturers in 1734, have received instructions to make and fix the large clock at the above docks. This clock will be the most important timekeeper in the town of Cardiff. It will strike the hour on a large bell weighing  $\frac{1}{2}$ -ton, and will have four dials, each 8-ft. in diameter, which will be illuminated at night on an improved principle.

NOTICE OF LONG PEALS.—On Easter-Monday next, eight members of the Lancashire Association will attempt T. Day's 17,000 of Treble Bob Major at Christ Church, Pendlebury, about four miles from Manchester. Trams run every half-hour.—Eight members of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, and members of the St. Peter's Society, Caversham, will attempt J. W. Washbrook's long peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major (13,440 changes) at the parish church, Caversham, on Easter-Monday next, starting at 12 o'clock prompt.

A little church in Haleyville, Cumberland county, New Jersey, composed of coloured people, is going to lend to the Chicago Exhibition a bell that once belonged Christopher Columbus. It was presented to Columbus by Ferdinand and Isabella, who received it as a trophy from a chapel in the Alhambra, and he in turn gave it to a congregation of monks in New Granada. Those monks lost it by a band of pirates, whose vessel was in turn wrecked, the bell alone being rescued and carried to South America, where, after many years, it was given to a New Jersey sea captain, from whom it has since come into the possession of the negro church at Haleyville.

JUNO CYCLES.—The Metropolitan Machinists Co.'s manufactures are too well known to need any detailed description at our hands, and it is not our purpose now to do more than glance at the splendid and copious catalogue issued by this renowned cycling firm. Between thirty and forty different patterns of "Safeties" are turned out in the huge workshops of the company, at prices varying from £20 to £5, and whether we take the highest or the lowest priced machine, we find alike honest, sound workmanship, elegance of design, and lightness of build. In the fore-front of the company's escutcheon the mystic legend runs—"Twelve months guarantee given with every Juno." The gauntlet is thus thrown down to the world, and we know how many riders have picked it up, for the roads north, south, east and west literally bristle with "Junos," which are untouched and unapproached by any competitor, in two great and important points—their reliability and their ease of motion, owing to their lightness of build.

WEST GRINSTEAD (Sussex).—On Thursday, April 7th, at the parish church, three 720s of Oxford Minor, each called differently; the first having thirty-four bobs and twenty-six singles; the second, twenty-six singles; and the third, thirty-nine bobs and eighteen singles. W. Jupp, 1; W. Pearce, 2; R. Summersell, 3; W. Denman, 4; S. Woolgar, 5; H. Burstow (conductor) 6. F. Laker rang the treble in the second 720.

EASTER BELLS.

A peaceful vale in the Tyrol, near Dread sound of war's alarm,
Lay wrapp'd in slumber, free from fears
Of cannon's deadly harm.

'Tis nigh a century ago,
When France with Austria warr'd,
In dreams they met no conquering foe,
No battle's wild discord.

Alas! when morning raised the veil
Of night from slumbering eyes,
Hearts throbbing, checked a woeful wail,
And heaved with deepest sighs.

There on the hills above the town
Swarm'd ranks of stalwart men;
Thousands of soldier forms look'd down
O'er the quiet, tranquil glen.

With hurrying zeal a council met,
O'er which fear spread its pall,
Resistance seem'd unwise, but yet
'Twas sad to give up all.

Some in their piety, then cried
"E'er we surrender here
To foe formidable and wide,
Seek help of God in prayer.

"Go full of faith this Easter day,
To worship as before,
Heaven in its boundless mercy may Befriend us as of yore."

They went—whilst in the morning breeze
Bells spake with eager breath,
They sang their sweetest lay of peace,
To Him who conquered death.

Joyfully trill'd the sacred strain
Around the encircling height,
Echo rang out the peal again
Resonant with delight.

It rippled as a festive wave
Cheerfully rolls along,
To hearts, each gentle wavelet gave
Hope, with metallic song.

Down peer'd the French, reliant stood
Their General—then amazed,
He asked "Whence comes this joyous flood?"
Quickly his glass he raised.

And gazed with wonderment to see,
All from their homes depart,
To house of prayer—bells' melody
Cheer'd every drooping heart.

He turned and cursed his luckless fate,
Soon all his troops amass'd
Aloud he cried, "We are too late,
An Austrian force has pass'd."

"Within, since evening shadows fell
They hold the town—retreat!
The victor's glad when all is well;
Their joy means our defeat."

Mistaken thus—the town was saved
From wreck, the peasant tells;
In streams of blood, it might have laved
But for those happy bells.

CURRENT TOPICS.

The present is undeniably a flat time. Very little appears to be moving in the ringing world worth any treatment by me. The topics of interest are few, very few, on which I can dilate, this week. I shall in all likelihood be told that I am suffering from a poverty of resource; and that as a writer for a paper I ought to be able to manufacture some gossip out of whatever information comes to hand, or in fact out of nothing. Those readers who think this should have a cut in at the job; they would soon find themselves spent, dried up, in fact, altogether. It is no ball-play to compile a selection of paragraphs week after week on the same theme, it is, in fact—to employ a vulgar but homely expression—a grind. These remarks are written merely for the purpose of checking the formation of any ideas to the effect that my contribution is not so fresh as it may be, or that I am in danger of becoming less original. This is my apologia, for all time.

My very worthy colleague "Free Lance" is astonished at me because I just alluded to ringing in Lent. I don't mind being lectured by my senior in such a good-humoured manner, but I think he hardly understood the drift of my observations on the subject. However, I won't re-open the question. It is quite refreshing to read what proceeds from his pen, especially after so long an absence, and I'll be bound my readers think so too. Therefore we won't take exception to anything he says, no, not in the least.

My language with reference to the letter of Mr. ROBERT CHICHESTER will be fresh in the memory of my readers. The Rev. H. EARLE BULWER (who by the way I see with pleasure is to be the Secretary of the C.C.) has not been able to get hold of the "facts" concerning this "spiced-ale belfry," as I may call it. Whether the Editor's philippic of last week will extract any further information I am unable to say, but I begin to think that Mr. Chichester has a very fervid imagination. Perhaps he is of a romantic turn, and loves to revel in the supernatural; a believer in dreams, and so forth. To me, his refusal to mention the name of the church where such gay and festive people are to be found has been a source of much disappointment. Had he divulged the intelligence, I should have made tracks for the place next Monday, and tried to have scraped an acquaintance with the ringers. By his uncouth refusal I am prevented from so doing.

The latest contribution to the now celebrated ringers' portrait gallery is equal to any that has yet appeared. I once had the pleasure of being in a belfry when a gentleman made his appearance, who was immediately greeted by one of those present with the remark, "You've been at it again." This was in allusion to a peal which he had rung on handbells a few days before. I enquired of a friend standing by me who the last-comer was, and the answer I received was "JOHN CARTER." As I had at this time heard very little of Mr. Carter, I was curious to know more about him. My informant certainly thought no small beer of John, for he was then a prodigy in the science, according to my friend's description of his abilities. "And would you believe," added he, "that the leading man of the company he was at first mixed up with was jealous of his progress, and told him he was getting on too fast." Therein Mr. Carter is not the only one who has been told the same thing. That gentleman who wished to stop his progress must have read the memoir last week with mixed feelings. But perhaps he don't take in "THE BELL NEWS," but borrows it when it is a week old.

The article upon Irthlingborough Church bells had in it one peculiar feature of interest. The inscription upon the tenor originally had the names of the two churchwardens, but now only one remains, and it is said the other one has been erased! Whoever could have done this; and for what reason? One is apt to imagine all sorts of things in connection with such a disappearance. Was the local representative of Bumbledom the culprit, being offended, perhaps, with any particular act of the warden whose name is erased. It is to be reasonably supposed that very few people have admission to the bell-chamber beyond those whose duties call them there. Then how comes the obliteration? I leave my readers to solve the enigma. It is very certain the ringers of the period had no hand in it.

The Brightonians no doubt rejoice in their latest acquisition—a peal of ten at the church of St. Nicholas. I am far from being singular in preferring, from an acoustical point of view, a peal of ten to any other number; while the entertainment ten-bell ringing affords above any other is simply "immense." Our friends at Brighton will no doubt soon find this out, and we shall soon hear perhaps that at St. Nicholas a good company of ringers is always to be found. Now you men of Brighton, don't overdo the mark, and thus make the place too hot to hold you. Be moderate, and don't give the inhabitants of the parish of St. Nicholas any reason to complain of the bells. And mind your striking. I add this because I once heard that Brighton peals were not "struck" so well as they ought to be. This remark may, however, have not been made with a pure motive.

Writing of Brighton calls to mind the handbell peal of Triples in which a lady rung 1-2. Nothing more need be said about this, because the editorial the same week and the letter of Mr. J. C. Mitchell last week, covers the whole ground. But I may add that I made up my mind to suggest to the Editor the wisdom of publishing the portrait of Mrs. Williams at an early date. But I found on arrival at the office that the proposal was already under consideration.

Somebody was down on to the Worcester ringers the other week. The article contained some hard knocks, from some one who knew how to deal them out, but it is most remarkable that up till now, so far as I know, no one has made any sign that the writer was wrong in anything he said. My readers will join me in the hope that this "reckoning up" may lead to some good. The Worcester gentlemen have had a wipe or two lately. The reviewer of "THE BELL NEWS" who rejoices in the title of "Scrutator," walked into their affections a little some time ago, when he reviewed the Report of the County Association. But I shall refrain from following in the same line. I would say to my Worcester friends, be better boys in future. Where there's a will there's a way, you know. I hope at no distant period to make your acquaintance in company with the Editor, "Free Lance," "Scrutator," "Joshua," and the whole of "THE BELL NEWS" staff. Till then au revoir. But don't forget the hint conveyed above.

The Bell News & Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, APRIL 16, 1892.

BEFORE another number of our paper appears, the season which at one period was pre-eminent over all others for ringers' meetings and visits will have again come and gone. Easter Monday years ago was a time to be looked forward to for bands of ringers to pay a visit to their brethren in other districts, and if possible ring a peal with them. When facilities for travelling were not so great as they are now, what would be considered a small affair at the present time was thought an important journey, requiring some amount of preparation and arrangement. The reunions of ringers at the period of Easter are now more numerous, but it may be doubted whether they each create such an amount of interest as formerly, owing to the fact that their frequency decreases that novelty which at once attached to them.

That the Easter meetings are to be plentiful this year may be seen by the heavy list of notices published on another page. One ingredient of meetings nowadays is that a collation of some kind or other is generally provided for those attending, and we suppose this feature, from its continuance, may be regarded as successful. The aim of a Secretary appears to be to present a kind of miscellaneous entertainment which shall give the visitors the utmost satisfaction, and cause them to look forward with pleasure to another meeting of the same description. Therefore in the menu laid down we generally find that all the bells in the neighbourhood will be available for ringing at certain specified times; that a Service is to be held for the special benefit of the visitors; that the business meeting will be held in a convenient apartment at a certain hour; that a refreshing and substantial repast will be afterwards provided; and the bells again placed at liberty for the remainder of the day. No more is possible; and we should think no more would be expected. All these arrangements cause an infinity of trouble to the various officers concerned, and these gentlemen deserve to be well sustained by the members striving to make good and early attendances, and by complying with the strict letter of the programme laid down, to prevent any unnecessary labour or trouble.

No less than two "long" peals are to be attempted on Easter Monday—a 17,000 of Treble Bob at Pendlebury, near Manchester, and a 13,440 of Double Norwich at Caversham, near Reading. The success of the latter may be regarded as probable, because the Caversham ringers are a well-knit band, and they have recently shown themselves fit to cope with a "long length" in such a method. In the attempt to be made at Pendlebury there is also every element of success present, but the number of changes—17,000—does not tend to create such a feeling of positive assurance as a less number would do. But we heartily wish success to both attempts; such intrepidity on the part of the bands deserve it if it cannot be commanded. We shall hail the appearance of a telegram from each band next Monday evening announcing satisfactory results in both cases.

On Tuesday the Second Annual Meeting of the Central Council will be held at Birmingham. We have repeated the information regarding what business will be transacted thereat, and it will be found quite enough for the Council to get through in the time at their disposal. The election of the REV. H. EARLE BULWER as Hon. Secretary is, we should say, a foregone conclusion, and there could not possibly be found a better man for the position. The proposal that a committee shall be appointed to receive and classify all compositions of 5000 changes and upwards is a grand conception, and the election of the above-named gentleman to the Secretaryship will be a sufficient guarantee that this compilation will be done in the most complete and satisfactory manner.

Before bringing to a close these observations we should like to sound a note of warning to all members of Associations whom it may concern. Let there be heard no complaint next Monday about non-attendance at Divine Service. We put this before our brethren on the low ground of expediency, though it should proceed from better and higher motives. The church is thrown open, the officials of all kinds are instructed to be present to assist in the performance of the service, a special preacher is in some instances invited to give an address, at once practical and appropriate, to the ringers who come to hear the words of wisdom, and in such case it is not only impolitic for ringers not to attend, but we say it is their bounden duty to be present.

Every praise is due to Mr. Belcher for the earnest and indefatigable manner in which he is trying to teach the art of change-ringing to local bands; no distance being considered too far by him, whenever there is a chance of having a pull, and also to instill a love of the art amongst ringers. The above are the longest touches on the bells, which have recently been rehung by Messrs. Llewellyns and James, of Bristol. The "go" of the bells reflect great credit on the firm.

INFORMATION WANTED.

SIR,—I see James Groves has now closed his correspondence with Mr. W. Johnson as regards the peal rung at Willenhall. I should be glad if he would inform me the name of that new method which he and his brother introduced into Gloucester over twelve months ago. I have never seen a peal of it brought home. In J. Groves' composition he was 110 bobs short after eleven weeks' hard study; and Thomas Groves (now at Eastleigh), his composition was thirty-two bobs and a single short after eighteen days' hard study. I should be glad to hear from either of those Salopian composers what it really is. It is not Imperial Bob, nor Oxford Bob, nor yet Union Bob. Perhaps by putting the three above-named methods together, some one else may be able to give it a name.

H. G. GARDNER.

Gloucester.

Compositions.

All compositions sent for insertion must be accompanied by a fee of Sixpence. If proof of a touch or peal is desired One Shilling additional must accompany such request.

The last two courses thrice repeated completes the peal.

This peal, in ten parts, contains fifty-eight out of the sixty course-ends, and is the first peal published on this plan.

If the second course of the first five parts is called the same course-ends are brought up, and the peal reduced to 7168. Another variation, containing 6,912 changes, can be obtained from the same course-ends.

The above peal is the longest that has been published in twenty courses.

If the alternate calling is used in those courses containing bobs before, both peals become 10,000 of Treble Bob Royal.

Summary of the Reports presented at the Forty-third Annual Meeting held on 3rd March, 1892.

ORDINARY BRANCH.—The number of Policies issued during the year was 8,118, assuring the sum of £5,932,493, and producing a New Annual Premium Income of £355,980.

The Premiums received during the year were £1,442,746, being an increase of £280,997 over the year 1890. The increase in the Premium receipts for the Quinquennium 1887-91 was £1,045,806, giving an average annual increase of £209,161.

The Claims of the year amounted to £37,106. The number of Deaths was 2,784. INDUSTRIAL BRANCH.—The Premiums received during the year were £3,688,338, being an increase of £170,413. The increase in the Premium receipts for the quinquennium 1887-91 was £777,043, giving an average annual increase of £155,408.

The Claims of the year amounted to £1,647,300. The number of Deaths was 183,927.

The total number of Policies in force was 9,617,484; the average duration is six years and three quarters.

The total Assets of the Company, as shown in the Balance Sheet, are £14,623,627, being an increase of £2,043,757 over those of 1890.

The Directors have again prepared a supplement to the Report, showing in detail how the assets of the Company are invested.

The Balance Sheet has been again submitted to the independent professional audit of Messrs. Deloitte, Dever, Griffiths and Co., whose certificate is appended to the accounts.

SUMMARY OF THE QUINQUENNIAL REPORT.

FOR THE PERIOD ENDING 31ST DECEMBER, 1891.

The Directors have much pleasure in submitting their Report, and that of the Actuaries of the Company, upon the valuation of the Company's Assets and Liabilities, which has just been completed.

As on previous occasions, the processes and results of the valuation have been submitted to Mr. A. H. Bailey, and his report is also attached.

During the Five years now under review the Assets of the Company have grown from £6,811,954 to £14,623,627, being an increase of £7,811,673.

The annual premium income of both Branches combined, at the beginning of the Quinquennium was £3,472,911, and at the end £5,386,990, being an increase of £1,914,079.

The valuation of the Ordinary Branch has been made upon the same principles as those of the preceding Quinquennium, namely, a net premium valuation on the Institute of Actuaries' (H.M.) Table of Mortality for the life risks, and Mr. Finlaison's Government Annuity Table 1884 for the annuities, the rate of interest in both cases being 3 per cent.

The valuation of the Industrial Branch has also been made on the basis of a net premium valuation at 3 per cent interest, the Table of Mortality being Dr. Farr's "English Life Table," No. 3.

At the beginning of the Quinquennium a revision of the Tables of Assurance was made considerably in favour of those of the assured who keep their policies in force for five years. These increased benefits have been made retrospective, and, as will be seen from the Actuaries' Reports, a corresponding increase has been made in the necessary reserves.

Extract from Mr. A. H. BAILEY'S Report.

The time having arrived at which another valuation is required to be made of the liabilities of your Company, I inspected, during the progress of this immense work, the various processes that had to be adopted for the purpose, and the results have been submitted to me for examination.

On the 31st December, 1891, the total number of assurances in force was 9,880,103, besides 1,557 grants of annuities. By the last Census it was ascertained that the total number of persons living on the 5th April, 1891, in the United Kingdom was 37,740,283; so that, after making allowance for the cases in which two or more

Policies have been granted upon the same life, it appears that the lives of about one-fourth of the population of Great Britain and Ireland are assured by your Company. The numbers have increased by more than 37 per cent. during the Quinquennium now under review.

The funds that have been accumulated to meet these liabilities amount to £14,087,393, exclusive of the Proprietors' capital.

The principles upon which the liabilities have been estimated are those now generally adopted by well-conducted Assurance Companies. The basis of valuation has my full concurrence, and having been set out in the Actuaries' Reports, together with the results in the case of each Branch, need not here be repeated.

Extract from the Reports of Messrs. T. C. DEWEY, W. HUGHES, and F. SCHOOLING, the Actuaries of the Company.

ORDINARY BRANCH.—The number of Life Policies in force at December 31st, 1891, was 262,619, assuring with bonus, £28,570,567, and producing a gross annual premium income of £1,487,344.

The results of the Valuation are as follows:—

Life Assurance Fund on the 31st December, 1891	£3,505,095
Reserve for Life Assurance Policies, including reserve for immediate payment of claims	£3,983,469
Reserve for Annuities	502,241
Net Liability	4,485,710
Surplus	£1,019,385

INDUSTRIAL BRANCH.—The number of Policies in existence at 31st December last was 9,617,484, and the amount assured £933,90,879. The weekly premiums receivable in respect of these Policies amounted to £74,993 per week, or £3,899,546 per annum.

The above number includes 246,152 free or paid-up Policies granted in lieu of discontinued assurances, on which no premiums are payable.

The average duration of all the Policies now in existence is about six and three-quarter years and when the large amount of new business introduced in recent years is considered, this is strong evidence of the success of the means which have been adopted to promote the stability of the business.

The results of the Valuation are as follows:—

Life Assurance Fund on 31st December, 1891	£8,582,207
Net Liability for Life Assurance Policies, including reserve for immediate payment of claims	7,776,712
Surplus	£805,495

Of this net liability upwards of £800,000 is in respect of free Policies granted in lieu of discontinued assurances, and to provide for the increased benefits conferred on Industrial Policy holders during the Quinquennium.

It is worthy of remark that in the two Branches together there are 233,358 Policies assuring amounts of from £50 to £100 each, producing an Annual Premium Income of upwards of One Million Pounds, and of these 54,777 are with weekly Premiums, 44,645 quarterly, 21,010 half-yearly, and 112,926 with annual premiums. When it is considered that every proposer for an amount of £50 and upwards has the option presented to him of paying the premiums in any of these methods, it is remarkable how many deliberately choose the weekly premiums, thus affording a strong illustration of the adaptability of Industrial Assurance to the wants of the public.

With a view to secure accuracy, two independent Valuations were made in both Branches. The Valuation of Ten Million Policies, divided into a very large number of groups and classes, has employed the energies of a staff of about 700 for many months. The arithmetical processes alone have involved an immense amount of labour, and would have been almost impossible of accomplishment without the aid of the Arithmometer, no less than fifty of these instruments having been employed.

ST. DUNSTAN-IN-THE-EAST, LONDON.

The utilitarians seem firmly bent upon their iconoclastic course, in the destruction of old London city churches, without the least consideration whatever. It would not surprise many to hear that the church of St. Mary-le-Bow is doomed, and that St. Paul's Cathedral will shortly follow. Now one of the great Sir Christopher's masterpieces is threatened—the church of St. Dunstan-in-the-East.

"Rebuilt by Sir Christopher Wren in the seventeenth century, its elegant spire has remained to this day as a proof of his constructive genius and his ability as an architect in the Gothic style. Looking at it one recalls the story how Wren, being told that the flying buttresses would never carry the spire, took his stand under the latter when the wooden supports were removed. From London-bridge and the river this spire is a much-admired object. . . . Now this fine building is, I am told, doomed to destruction, in order to provide a few thousand feet for building purposes, although as the frontages are bad, and ancient lights numerous, the value would be small. Some secret Episcopal commission has, however, by a vote of 3 to 2, so decided; contrary, I believe, to the wishes of nine-tenths of the parishioners, and so far as I know, without giving an opportunity for objectors to be heard against it."

So writes a correspondent to the Times. Readers of this paper will naturally ask—"Why should these old churches be removed? If resident congregations cannot be found, why cannot they remain as sanctuaries to be used every day during the week for private prayer?" We sympathise with such an enquiry, greatly. But the answer is that pounds, shillings and pence seem to be at the bottom of it all. The site is wanted for leases, ground-rents, and such abominations, which in the city of London pay always cent. per cent. If in these schemes for the removal of city churches the same edifices could be rebuilt in populous places wanting in church accommodation, the vandalism would be denuded of one-half its horrors. The word "rebuilt" however, must be taken literally. The edifice to be removed should be carefully taken to pieces, stone by stone, brick by brick, and in rebuilding, the original edifice religiously adhered to. Even then the idea that the spot once consecrated has to be abandoned to secular projects, some of them perhaps of a questionable character, is most repulsive to good and enthusiastic churchmen.

The Rev. Precentor Venables, after suggesting whether St. Dunstan's was not one of the churches specially exempted from the Enabling Act, says:—

"But even should it not have been mentioned in the Act, the patent vandalism of destroying the exquisite tower, one of Sir Christopher Wren's masterpieces, unsurpassed among the many spires and steeples for lightness and symmetry, would raise an outcry which even the 'Philistinism' which regards nothing but 'practical utility' would be compelled to heed. The fabric was injured, not destroyed, by the great fire, and was only repaired by Wren, who also added the steeple. The church becoming dilapidated, was rebuilt in 1817, not by an unknown architect, but by Laing, the architect of the adjacent Custom-house, the main credit of the design being due to the late Sir William Tite, then a young man in Laing's office. Considering the date, it is a very creditable example of modern Gothic, quite too good to be pulled down after only seventy-five years of existence. As regards the two neighbouring churches which one of your correspondents so coolly dooms to destruction in order that St. Dunstan's may be spared, the spire of St. Margaret Pattens, as Mr. Fish truly points out, would be sufficient to rescue it, even were it not one of the best attended churches in the city, the musical services being of especial excellence. The domed interior of St. Mary-at-Hill is certainly pleasing, but a glance shows that it was not designed by Wren. In fact it was entirely remodelled by James Savage, the architect of St. Luke's, Chelsea, some fifty years since, and of Wren's work only the east end and the side walls remain. The wood-carving of the pulpit, altar-piece, &c., added only a few years since, executed by Rogers, is of singular excellence. St. Mary-at-Hill has recently been made the head-quarters of the Church Army, and under the Rev. W. Carlile has become the centre of a vigorous life, which will be certain to rescue it from its threatened demolition, which was nearly effected a few years ago."

The church in question—St. Dunstan's-in-the-East—has a ring of eight bells. If it is taken down the tower and spire may possibly, to relieve the susceptibilities of those who are anxious for the preservation of ancient monuments—be left standing. In such case it would be well to remove the bells to a church in the suburbs of London not at present possessing any, where they may be rung more often than they have been for many years. It may be argued that the same objections to the removal of the church applies with equal force to the bells. But once the church is abolished, the tower, though it may stand for a time, will eventually have to share the same fate. And it is much better for those interested to demand, immediately the fiat has gone forth, that if the church cannot be re-erected in statu quo, the bells, as instruments devoted to church use, should be enabled to fulfil their functions elsewhere.

FOUR GENERATIONS OF RINGERS IN ONE FAMILY.

This campanological distinction can be claimed by the Rowland family, members of which have resided for many years in the village of Great Baddow, Essex. On March 7th, 1819, a peal of Bob Major, 10,080 changes, was rung on the eight bells of the parish church, James Rowland ringing the tenor. The peal is described as "being nobly brought round in 5 hrs. and 50 mins, and being the masterpiece of the art ever performed in the county." James had a son, Angelo, who is still living, having exceeded the allotted span of three-score years and ten. For a number of years he was a member of the band of ringers at Baddow, but he is chiefly remarkable for having during fifty-two consecutive years, regularly visited at Christmastide, the principal houses in the village, with his peal of handbells. In Angelo's family two sons call for remark—William and Harry. William developed into a thoroughly reliable change-ringer, being for considerable time a member of the Widford company, and at present, conductor of St. Mary's, Chelmsford, where there is a grand ring of ten bells, tenor 22 cwt. William's son, William, completes the fourth generation. This lad promises to vie with his father in campanological skill, having already rung several 5000's. His latest performance is a peal of 5000 Grandsire Triples on handbells, at Galleywood Vicarage. He conducted this peal, and rang 7-8 to it. Harry Rowland, a master in the Royal Hospital School, Greenwich, although not a tower ringer, can claim to be a campanologist. He has a peal of forty-two handbells on a stand, upon which, in addition to all the latest popular tunes, he taps Plain Bob Major, Grandsire Triples and Stedman.

PAINSWICK, GLOUCESTERSHIRE.

ON Easter Monday some members of the Cheltenham society journeyed over to the above place in company with three Salisbury friends, viz., Messrs. Gifford, Blackburn, and Greenleaf, for the purpose of attempting a peal of Stedman Caters on the fine peal of bells there. After a slight contretemps at the start they got fairly away into the peal, when after some two hours' ringing they were suddenly interrupted by the intrusion in the belfry of a personage who proved to be none other than the newly appointed sexton, who so persistently clanked his keys and his tongue, as to bring the peal to grief, and on being remonstrated with he mildly remarked that "he didn't think it would matter." His absolute ignorance of ringing or anything appertaining to it was the only excuse that could be offered for his having spoilt a good peal, and wasted the valuable time of a band which had come some miles to make the attempt for it. The "instruction" which he received will however, it is to be hoped, ensure his not again being the means of bringing down the wrath of a disappointed band upon his head. Time proving too short another attempt could not be made, and the party drove back to Cheltenham and had another start at St. Mary's belfry. This however met with the same unfortunate fate, and the day was perforce none other than a "black Monday"—or at least a "blank Monday." The party comprised the following: Messrs. Phillott, Pates, Musty, Roberts, Humphris, Dyer and Ward, of Cheltenham; T. White, of Painswick; and the three before-mentioned gentlemen from Salisbury.

THE ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

A District meeting of this Association was held at Stansted on Easter Monday. Both the Hon. Sec. (Rev. T. L. Papillon) and the Assistant Sec. (Rev. H. T. W. Eyre), were present.

There is a nice ring of six in Stansted tower, with a tenor about 14 cwt., and an excellent and painstaking band of ringers. The church stands very prettily in the park, and is interesting in many ways. Ringers were present from Stortford, Braintree and Stratford, but not a large number, there being many other attractions. In the afternoon some of the ringers drove over to Farnham, where in the short time allowable, a short touch was rung on the six bells. It is not a very harmonious ring. The tenor is reputed to be about 11 cwt. The bells are rung from the ground-floor, but the loftiness of the ceiling makes the ropes to sag, and therefore difficult to handle. At 6 p.m. tea was served in the Stansted National School, presided over by the Vicar, the Rev. G. T. Valentine, who had most heartily welcomed the Association. We append below a few of the 720s rung upon the Stansted bells during the day: a 720 Plain Bob. W. Cavill (Stanstead), 1; Rev. H. Eyre, 2; T. G. Watts (Stanstead), 3; Rev. T. L. Papillon, 4; I. Hammond (Braintree), 5; W. Watts (Stanstead, conductor), 6. A 720 London Surprise. T. Watson (Braintree), 1; W. Hammond (Braintree), 2; W. Watts (Stanstead), 3; H. E. Hammond (Braintree), 4; F. Rudkin (Braintree), 5; I. Cavill (Stanstead, conductor), 6. A 720 each of London, Superlative, Bocking Treble Bob, Grandsire Minor and Cambridge Surprise, by mixed bands.

THE PARISH CHURCH, BARMOUTH.

It will be remembered that on the night of the 11th September last, the tower of the new parish church, which was in course of erection at this delightful resort on the Welsh coast, fell, and brought down with it the greater part of the whole structure. The local committee have failed from various causes to have this great loss repaired by the parties supposed to be liable under the contracts. With characteristic liberality, the memorial part, including chancel, morning chapel, tower, organ chamber, and vestry is provided for. Money has now been collected to restore and finish the nave, arcade, and isles. The liabilities are now estimated at £2,700. The Bishop of Bangor, in commending this second appeal to the generosity of all Churchpeople, writes the rector, the Rev. E. Hughes:—"The thousands who come to Barmouth year by year will know how nobly the work has been inaugurated, and how devotedly it had been carried on; and we shall indeed be surprised if this second appeal, necessitated very largely by the accident which has befallen your beautiful church, does not meet with the readiest response, if only as a tribute to your energy and perseverance and token of sympathy so widely felt with you and the committee in your recent difficulties."

THORVERTON, DEVON.

Thorverton promised to be gay on Easter Monday, the day fixed for the re-dedication of the church bells. The proceedings were under the patronage of the Earl and Countess of Iddesleigh, Sir William and Lady Walrond, General Sir Redvers and Lady Buller, Sir John and Lady Shelley, etc. The full band of the Royal Marines from Plymouth were present all day, and besides playing in the church at noon they gave open air concerts in the afternoon. Sports and amusements were also held, besides luncheon and tea. In the evening thirty of the Marines, under Mr. Winterbottom, gave a grand concert in the schoolroom. This was a great treat for the residents of the neighbourhood, and all those who have never heard this string band should avail themselves of the next opportunity. The Great Western Railway ran excursion trains, and special late trains to Tiverton and Exeter after the concert in the evening.—Exeter Flying Post.

BELL-HANGING OPERATIONS.

The bells at Sandy (Beds.) and Newton St. Loe, near Bath, are being rehung by Messrs. Blackburn and Greenleaf, of Salisbury. At Sandy a new treble is being added to make a ring of six.

HURWORTH-ON-TEES, NEAR DARLINGTON.

A new public clock shewing the time upon two external copper dials, and striking the Cambridge quarters, was set going on Easter-Monday at 4 o'clock in the afternoon for the first time. The clock has got Lord Grimthorpe's gravity escapement and maintaining power, compensation pendulum, and all the latest improvements inserted. The hours are struck upon the fine tenor bell of about 18 cwt., and the Cambridge chimes upon four bells. The hands are of strong copper, and balanced within, and set by an index dial inside the clockchamber. All the bearings are of gun-metal screwed into the frame, and the dial or motion wheels of gun-metal, cut and polished on the engine.

Messrs. Wm. Potts and Sons, clock manufacturers, of Guildford Street, Leeds, were the makers. Also makers of the station tower clock, Darlington, Gainford church, Aycliffe and Purcebridge School clocks, Middleham, Leyburn, Northallerton, Stokesley, Skelton and Pickering church clocks, the new Town Hall clock and bells, South Stockton-on-Tees, and are now making a clock for Coniscliffe church, near Darlington.

DENT, YORKSHIRE.

It has been proposed to organise a company of voluntary bell-ringers in connection with St. Andrew's Church. The bells for a good many years have been chimed by means of a machine which is very convenient, yet fully half of the beauty in tone of the bells is lost by being rung mechanically. The Vicar is wishful to get ringers to have the bells rung on special occasions, such as Easter, Christmas, &c., by hand. It is to be hoped that he may be successful. The Vicar on Tuesday morning played several hymn tunes on the bells, which showed to good effect what could be done with the bells of St. Andrew's Church.—Craven Herald.

MR. CHICHESTER'S REPLY.

SIR,—I see there has been a general excitement in your columns since my letter which appeared on March 19th. On April 9th, I see the Editor doubts whether what I mentioned is true. But I must inform him that I have not yet joined the "League of Liars," nor have I any intention of doing so. Also, as regards "Plain Speaker's" letter this week, I must inform him that I am not troubled with such luxuries as dreams, nor have I exaggerated, but have only mentioned what I know to be true. The Editor also mentions that perhaps I have been shut out from these entertainments. In this matter he is entirely wrong, as I am never up Norfolk on Christmas time, nor would I partake of their hospitality if I were, as I don't believe in turning the "belfry" into a "public house" and holding "smoking concerts" up there. Had I known that "Plain Speaker" had serious thoughts of visiting this very interesting spot, I would have written to "THE BELL NEWS" before. But perhaps it is not too late now. The tower is about two-and-a-half miles beyond Huanstanton, and stands well out against the sky, and used to form a good land-mark for sailors in olden times. I think from the description that I have given the Rev. H. Earle Bulwer will have very little difficulty in finding out the church, as he knows the geography of the country round there very well. I feel certain if the Editor or "Plain Speaker" were to see the belfry they would acknowledge I had not exaggerated.

ROBERT CHICHESTER.

A CONTRADICTION.

SIR,—A paragraph in your issue of the 9th inst., states that a company from St. John's, Ranmoor, Sheffield, Yorks., rang a 720 of Bob Minor on the 27th March, and that this was the first 720 in the method on the above bells. I beg to contradict this as a company of the Norton Society visited the above church and rang the 720 mentioned on the 18th November, 1883. You will find the same in your issue of December 1st, 1883.

WM. BIGGIN.

"EASTER BELLS."

SIR,—I beg to inform your readers that I was not the author of the verses which appeared in last Saturday's issue of "THE BELL NEWS" under the above title, nor did I know anything about the same until I saw them in print.

Ringers' Outing.

STOKE ARCHIDIACONAL ASSOCIATION.—On Monday, April 18th, the members of the Kidsgrove branch of this Association took a journey by train to Norton Bridge, for Eccleshall, it being a distance of three miles from the station. The weather seemed rather cool, but we kept ourselves warm with the walk. We passed Hillcote Hall and Walton Hall, where Oliver Cromwell fixed his cannon to blow down Eccleshall Castle two hundred and fifty years ago. On arriving at our destination and having refreshed the inner man, we proceeded to the tower, where we found J. Plant and P. J. Seabridge waiting in readiness for their visitors. We then raised the bells in peal and rang several courses of Grandsire Doubles. The Rev. Prebendary Allen, M.A., rural dean, then entered the belfry, and gave us all a hearty welcome to Eccleshall, and hoped we should all enjoy ourselves during our stay with them. He had thought that his ringers were going to be left in the shade, and no one ever came to see them now they had become members of the Association, but this morning he was very pleased to learn that they were not. Now a band of ringers from Kidsgrove were before him, and all complete strangers, for he did not know even one, but he hoped to make all welcome that paid a visit to their tower. He hoped his own company would soon become good change-ringers. The rev. gentleman brought his remarks to a close by inviting all to tea in the Church Room at four o'clock. After a little more ringing the steeplekeeper took us all up in the bell-chamber where we found the six bells placed upon a strong oaken frame, and one small bell placed in the east of the tower, which had in ancient times been used as the sermon bell. After viewing all around we descended the tower and met with the Rev. M. W. M. Dunn, curate and precentor, who gave us all a cordial welcome, and showed us round the interior of the church, and pointed out the chief things of interest. It is an ancient structure, built in the Gothic style, in the sixteenth century. The rev. gentleman then took us all to the Church Room, where tea had been provided by the Vicar, and we all did ample justice to the good things set before us, presided over by Mrs. and the Misses Allen. We then went to the tower once more and rang four 6-scores of Doubles, each called differently. F. Johnson, 1; G. Siddons, 2; C. Ollier (conductor), 3; A. Archer, 4; R. Vickers, 5; J. Mason, 6. Tenor 18½ cwt. Before we departed the following toasts were given: "Prosperity to the Ministers of the parish," "The Visitors from Kidsgrove," "The Friends of Eccleshall," and "The Officers of THE BELL NEWS." Through the medium of this paper we all wish most heartily to thank the rev. gentleman and friends for the kind hospitality shown us upon our first visit to their church, and hope we shall have the pleasure of returning their kindness, when they pay a visit to Kidsgrove. J. M.

THE HOMES FOR LITTLE BOYS AT FARNINGHAM AND SWANLEY, KENT.—We referred last week to an entertainment to be given for the benefit of these institutions on Wednesday, the 27th instant, at Munt's Grand Hall, St. John's Hill, Clapham Junction, and that Mr. H. S. Thomas was taking an active part in the matter. We omitted to draw attention to the probability that there may be many country members of the Cumberlands and other ringing societies who, while desirous of assisting the object, will not be able to attend on that evening. In such case, those who would like to promote the movement which Mr. Thomas has so much at heart may send to him on or before that date a postal order for any amount, however small. It is almost superfluous to add that if at any time a ringer should seek for a young relative the benefits of the Homes, in Mr. Thomas they will have a powerful friend and advocate.

SOCIETY FOR THE ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD.—The next quarterly meeting of this Society will be held at Brierley Hill, on Saturday, April 30th. Ringing at two o'clock. Tea, 1s. per head; notice to be sent in not later than the 25th to the hon. sec., Mr. S. Reeves, 10, Bull Street, West Bromwich.

PORTRAIT NUMBER.—In reference to numerous solicitations, we shall publish next week the portrait of Mrs. George Williams, of Brighton.

CURRENT TOPICS.

The last number published what were called "Proper Questions." They were followed by a few observations which were very acceptable and appropriate. All these questions are of course proper and correct. I hope they always produce satisfactory replies. But to ringers the asking merely of the number and date of the bells is hardly enough. We should like to hear such questions as these: "In what condition are the fittings of the bells?" "At what period were any repairs to the frame or hangings effected?" "Who were the persons employed?" "What sort of ropes!" "In what state is the ringing-chamber; is it a receptacle for coal, mats, cordage, and other lumber, or is it kept decently and in order?" "Is the bell chamber carefully protected from weather, and kept free of birds?" These could be supplemented by other enquiries as to the ringers themselves—whether they were scientific or otherwise; whether there was a regular constituted society, with the Rector as president, and so on.

I find among these questions two other glaring omissions. One of these is the organ-blower. No question is asked about him. He is an important personage, nevertheless. And he thinks so, too, sometimes. My readers have heard no doubt of the organ-blower, who at the close of an organ recital, went round to the organist, and said to him "We played that fine, didn't we." I don't remember the answer of the organist, but it does not matter.

* * * *

Then again there is the gravedigger. No questions asked about him. Yet his duties are most important. We may do without organists, bellringers, clerks, or sextons, but how could we get on without a gravedigger? Even Shakespeare had a weakness for this personage. Speaking seriously, I think some enquiry about this office would not be out of place. The people who place our loved ones in the cold silent tomb should be men of some feeling and intelligence, and not those generally obtained from the lowest strata of society.

* * * *

It is always pleasant to read of Church Restoration, especially when the tower is concerned. So that the short account of what is being done to the spire of Wollaston Church, Northamptonshire, was interesting. We are told that this spire is by a reliable authority stated to be a fine specimen of the Decorated style of Architecture prevailing in the early part of the reign of Edward II. Very interesting indeed. What a splendid addition to a rural landscape is the tall church spire, visible to us now and then through the trees, as we wend our way through some lovely woodland district for the purpose of "having a handful" with the local ringers. But how many times is the picturesque locale of the church sadly marred by finding out, soon after an entrance is effected, that ringing therein, from various causes, is the opposite to pleasant. At Wollaston church the ringing-chamber (to suit the fad of an architect, I expect), has been done away with, and in consequence the ropes now fall among the choir-stalls. This is another instance where no consideration has ever been given to the duties of ringers—whether they could be carried out or not. If the architect who had this ringing-chamber removed had been told that the ringers could not under such circumstances ring the bells with anything like comfort, he would very likely have been astonished at such consideration being shown.

Unfortunately architects have these matters too much their own way. They pose for outside effect, and earning for themselves a name. Not to be blamed altogether, perhaps. We can't condemn any man for trying all he knows to attain eminence in his profession, even if bell-ringers have to ring bells under unfavorable conditions. But I do believe that in most cases when new churches are being built, if the matter was represented to these professional gentlemen that light, air, and space was really necessary for the ringing-chamber, they could easily arrange to have such desiderata without the least essential alteration of their plans. This subject has however been so well dealt with in this paper before, that I need say no more upon it.

As I am writing these lines the Central Council is sitting. Probably we shall not hear much about the proceedings this week, but we may reasonably expect an account in the following number. By the favour of one of the representatives, I have perused the Report of the Committee, rough drafts of which were submitted to the Council at their meeting. If there is any one in existence now who thinks the Council unnecessary or powerless to do good, his scepticism will undergo a radical cure upon reading this excellent report. It breathes nothing but what benefits the ringer. The statements made, and the counsel tendered in its pages, all lead to changes which, while improving the surroundings of ringing, adjusts everything out of gear, and makes the reader, especially if he be a ringer, almost shake hands with himself. More than this I had better not say. I suppose this Report will be come-at-able before long, for a small charge; if so every ringer ought to jump at the chance of getting a copy.

* * * *

The statistics of the bells of S. Mary Overy (otherwise S. Saviour, Southwark) let a little, a very little, daylight on the history of this famous peal of twelve. Famous, did I say? Yes, and truly so. I have seen a document written by a ringer some years ago, a gentlemen of position in the Exercise while living, in which it is stated in reply to a question, that "the best peal in London is unquestionably S. Saviour's, Southwark." Now some people say S. Michael's, Cornhill; some S. Mary-le-Bow, others the peal at S. Paul's Cathedral, are the best. Of course I don't pretend to say which is the best. But I have heard a musician say that if you want to hear twelve bells clear, so as to be able to distinguish well the number of bells, hear S. Saviour's. I offer the most abject apology to those gentlemen who may take exception to such an assertion.

I am not astonished to hear that the possession of that implement known as a cycle is getting quite the "correct card" among ringers. I don't wonder at it. These handy machines must supply a long-felt want, and they must prove very useful indeed to the many ringers who so regularly attend district meetings. A meeting is often held at a place three or four miles from a railway station, and here the "cycle" comes in.

NOTE TO PEAL RUNG AT CARLISLE.—This was a one-part peal, with the 6th her extent in 5-6, and the 5th three course-ends each way (page 40 Snowdon's Treatise, part ii.) Several members of the Cumberland County Association listened to the peal and congratulated the ringers afterwards on their excellent striking. Two peals (Grandsire Triples) have been rung on these bells before, one by the College Youths when they were dedicated some 20 years ago, and another in 1890 by Carlisle men. The Novocastrians wish, through the medium of this paper, to kindly thank the Vicar, Rev. A. Hodges, and Churchwardens of St. Stephen's, for so kindly granting the use of the bells on this occasion; and also the local ringers for their efforts in getting the bells ready for the peal.

ELEMENTS OF CAMPANOLOGY, OR AN Essay on the Art of Ringing,

BY THE LATE WILLIAM SOTTANSTALL,
Of Sowerby, Yorkshire.

IN addition to the Author's works this book contains some of the best Discoveries in the Art of Ringing, communicated by the most Celebrated Composers in the Kingdom, whose names are attached to their various productions, and over 60 Treble Major methods also. ## The Bell News &amp; Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, APRIL 23, 1892.

MANY of our readers will have noticed the regularity of publication of a collection of touches in various methods which are rung almost every week at the village of Stansted, in Essex. The church has only six bells, but the ringers make the most of them, and apparently are well pleased with the entertainment they afford. We have not the pleasure of an acquaintance with any member of the Stansted band, but from their regularity of meeting we should imagine them to be a most united company, full of energy and enthusiasm. The Essex Association has just held a District Meeting at Stansted, and in our report of the proceedings this week, the ringers are described as "a painstaking and excellent band." This statement, made by one who is able to form an opinion, is very satisfactory to read, and it will also be very encouraging to every member of the local company in particular.

These circumstances taken altogether, ought to be sufficient to rouse other village societies in various parts of the country who have only six bells on which to display their skill. There are instances where local ringers look upon the six bells at their parish church with feelings akin to scorn, and refrain altogether from attending practice, preferring to journey a few miles for an eight-bell tower. Such action is the reverse of commendable. We find that the Stansted men if they ever visit the neighbouring tower of Bishops Stortford (where there is a ring of ten) do not neglect the practice of their own belfry, nor the interests of those among them who need instruction. That they are content with what they have is shown by their regular attendance and persistent successful attempts to perfection in every Minor method known. It is such men as these who make good ringers, men with grit in them, so to speak, men who evidently are desirous of earning a name for their church, for their parish, and for themselves in bell-ringing annals. And we are pleased to record our honest appreciation of such among our ringing brethren.

THE ATTEMPT AT PENDLEBURY.—After the unsuccessful attempt at this place, Mr. W. Gordon, of Stockport (who is an amateur photographer as well as distinguished musician), during brief intervals of light and sunshine, and between dense snow-storms, took a few "snap shots" with his hand camera of the ringers and visitors attending. Copies of these can be obtained from Mr. Gordon, mounted and post free for sixpence.

Summary of the Reports presented at the Forty-third Annual Meeting held on 3rd March, 1892.

The Premiums received during the year were £1,442,746, being an increase of £280,097 over the year 1890. The increase in the Premium receipts for the Quinquennium 1887-91 was £1,045,806, giving an average annual increase of £209,161.

The Claims of the year amounted to 387,106. The number of Deaths was 2,784.

INDUSTRIAL BRANCH.—The Premiums received during the year were £3,688,338, being an increase of £170,413. The increase in the Premium receipts for the quinquennium 1887-91 was £777,043, giving an average annual increase of £155,408.

The Claims of the year amounted to £1,647,300. The number of Deaths was 183,927.

The total number of Policies in force was 9,617,484; the average duration is six years and three quarters.

The total Assets of the Company, as shown in the Balance Sheet, are £14,623,627, being an increase of £2,043,757 over those of 1890.

The Directors have again prepared a supplement to the Report, showing in detail how the assets of the Company are invested.

The Balance Sheet has been again submitted to the independent professional audit of Messrs. Deloitte, Dever, Griffiths and Co., whose certificate is appended to the accounts.

SUMMARY OF THE QUINQUENNIAL REPORT.

FOR THE PERIOD ENDING 31ST DECEMBER, 1891.

The Directors have much pleasure in submitting their Report, and that of the Actuaries of the Company, upon the valuation of the Company's Assets and Liabilities, which has just been completed.

As on previous occasions, the processes and results of the valuation have been submitted to Mr. A. H. Bailey, and his report is also attached.

During the Five years now under review the Assets of the Company have grown from £6,811,954 to £14,623,627, being an increase of £7,811,673.

The annual premium income of both Branches combined, at the beginning of the Quinquennium was £3,472,911, and at the end £5,386,990, being an increase of £1,914,079.

The valuation of the Ordinary Branch has been made upon the same principles as those of the preceding Quinquennium, namely, a net premium valuation on the Institute of Actuaries' (H.M.) Table of Mortality for the life risks, and Mr. Finlaison's Government Annuity Table 1884 for the annuities, the rate of interest in both cases being 3 per cent.

The valuation of the Industrial Branch has also been made on the basis of a net premium valuation at 3 per cent interest, the Table of Mortality being Dr. Farr's "English Life Table," No. 3.

At the beginning of the Quinquennium a revision of the Tables of Assurance was made considerably in favour of those of the assured who keep their policies in force for five years. These increased benefits have been made retrospective, and, as will be seen from the Actuaries' Reports, a corresponding increase has been made in the necessary reserves.

Extract from Mr. A. H. BAILEY's Report.

The time having arrived at which another valuation is required to be made of the liabilities of your Company, I inspected, during the progress of this immense work, the various processes that had to be adopted for the purpose, and the results have been submitted to me for examination.

On the 31st December, 1891, the total number of assurances in force was 9,880,103, besides 1,557 grants of annuities. By the last Census it was ascertained that the total number of persons living on the 5th April, 1891, in the United Kingdom was 37,740,283: so that, after making allowance for the cases in which two or more

Policies have been granted upon the same life, it appears that the lives of about one-fourth of the population of Great Britain and Ireland are assured by your Company. The numbers have increased by more than 37 per cent. during the Quinquennium now under review.

The funds that have been accumulated to meet these liabilities amount to £14,087,303, exclusive of the Proprietors' capital.

The principles upon which the liabilities have been estimated are those now generally adopted by well-conducted Assurance Companies. The basis of valuation has my full concurrence, and having been set out in the Actuaries' Reports, together with the results in the case of each Branch, need not here be repeated.

Extract from the Reports of Messrs. T. C. DEWEY, W. HUGHES, and F. SCHOOLING, the Actuaries of the Company.

ORDINARY BRANCH.—The number of Life Policies in force at December 31st, 1891, was 262,619, assuring with bonus, £28,570,567, and producing a gross annual premium income of £1,487,344.

The results of the Valuation are as follows:—

Life Assurance Fund on the 31st December, 1891	£5,505,095
Reserve for Life Assurance Policies, including reserve for immediate payment of claims	£3,983,469
Reserve for Annuities	502,241
Net Liability	4,485,710
Surplus	£1,019,385

INDUSTRIAL BRANCH.—The number of Policies in existence at 31st December last was 9,617,484, and the amount assured £933,90,879. The weekly premiums receivable in respect of these Policies amounted to £74,993 per week, or £3,899,646 per annum.

The above number includes 246,152 free or paid-up Policies granted in lieu of discontinued assurances, on which no premiums are payable.

The average duration of all the Policies now in existence is about six and three-quarter years and when the large amount of new business introduced in recent years is considered, this is strong evidence of the success of the means which have been adopted to promote the stability of the business.

The results of the Valuation are as follows:—

Life Assurance Fund on 31st December, 1891	£8,582,207
Net Liability for Life Assurance Policies, including reserve for immediate payment of claims	7,776,712
Surplus	£805,495

Of this net liability upwards of £800,000 is in respect of free Policies granted in lieu of discontinued assurances, and to provide for the increased benefits conferred on Industrial Policy holders during the Quinquennium.

It is worthy of remark that in the two Branches together there are 233,358 Policies assuring amounts of from £50 to £100 each, producing an Annual Premium Income of upwards of One Million Pounds, and of these 54,777 are with weekly Premiums, 44,645 quarterly, 21,010 half-yearly, and 112,925 with annual premiums. When it is considered that every proposer for an amount of £50 and upwards has the option presented to him of paying the premiums in any of these methods, it is remarkable how many deliberately choose the weekly premiums, thus affording a strong illustration of the adaptability of Industrial Assurance to the wants of the public.

With a view to secure accuracy, two independent Valuations were made in both Branches. The Valuation of Ten Million Policies, divided into a very large number of groups and classes, has employed the energies of a staff of about 700 for many months. The arithmetical processes alone have involved an immense amount of labour, and would have been almost impossible of accomplishment without the aid of the Arithmometer, no less than fifty of these instruments having been employed.

Her Majesty's Surgeon-Dentist's Testimonial.

"My Dear Doctor,—Allow me to express my sincere thanks for the skill and attention displayed in the construction of my Artificial Teeth, which render my mastication and articulation excellent. I am glad to hear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. In recognition of your valuable services, you are at liberty to use my name.—S. G. HUTCHINGS. By Appointment Surgeon-Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen."

Geo. H. Jones, Esq., F.R.S.L., F.R.M.S.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has by his Perfected System of Dentistry demonstrated that Painless Dentistry is as much an accomplished fact as the swift locomotive, the electric light, or the telephone, and absolutely restores the natural contour caused by the loss of teeth, by the adjustment of Prize Medal dentals, rendering detection impossible, which obtained the Gold Medals of London, 1851; New York, 1853; London, 1862; Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; and Philadelphia, 1876.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has been awarded for his Improvements and Patents in Dentistry gold medals, London and Paris; gold medal, New Zealand Exhibition, 1882; gold medal Calcutta, 1883; and the highest diploma of merit and award at Nice and Amsterdam, 1883-4. Awarded the gold medal of the Académie Nationale, Paris, 1884; and the highest award Antwerp; also the gold medal, International Exhibition, London, 1885; gold medal, Liverpool, 1886; gold medal, Melbourne, 1888-9.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

The Second Annual Meeting of the Central was held on Easter Tuesday, at the Colonnade Hotel, Birmingham. The President (A. Percival Heywood, Esq.), occupied the chair, and the following representatives were present:—

The Rev. H. Earle Bulwer (Norwich Diocesan Association), the Rev. T. L. Papillon (Essex Association), the Rev. F. E. Robinson (Oxford Diocesan Guild), the Rev. C. D. P. Davies (Sussex County Association), the Rev. W. W. C. Baker (Bedfordshire Association), the Rev. T. S. Curteis (Kent County Association), the Rev. J. Ulten Todd (Bath and Wells), the Rev. G. F. Coleridge (Oxford Diocesan Guild), the Rev. H. A. Cockey (Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association), the Rev. H. J. Elsee (Lancashire Association), Messrs. G. F. Attree (Sussex County Association), G. H. Phillott (Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association), W. Snowdon (Yorkshire Association), Benjamin T. Copley (Yorkshire Association), C. H. Hattersley (Yorkshire Association), F. W. J. Rees (Winchester Diocesan Guild), W. T. Pates (Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association), J. W. Washbrook (Oxford Diocesan Guild), W. L. Catchpole (Norwich Diocesan Association), N. E. Snow (North Lincolnshire), G. B. Lucas (Middlesex Association), S. Reeves (Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford), H. Bastable (St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham), G. H. Barnett (Winchester Diocesan Guild), J. Griffin (Midland Counties' Association), R. S. Story (Durham and Newcastle Association), L. Newton (Durham and Newcastle Association), H. A. Heywood (Chester Diocesan Guild), C. Tyler (Sussex County Association), G. Williams (Winchester Diocesan Guild), W. D. Smith (Ancient Society of College Youths), G. Walker (Birmingham and District Association), G. Newson (Royal Cumberland Society), H. White (Winchester Diocesan Guild), T. J. Bratton (Hereford Diocesan Guild), H. H. Chandler (Sussex County Association), E. E. Richards (Kent County Association), J. W. Taylor, jun. (Midland Counties' Association), R. Cartwright (St. Peter's Guild, Wolverhampton), W. H. Howard (Yorkshire Association), J. G. Wall, (Hereford Diocesan Guild), A. H. Cocks (Oxford Diocesan Guild), T. Blackburn (Salisbury Diocesan Guild), F. F. Linley (North Lincolnshire Association), and W. Wakley (honorary member).

The minutes of the meeting of the Council held at the Inns of Court Hotel, London, on March 31st, 1891, were read by the President, and their confirmation was moved by Mr. Newson. Mr. Attree seconded the motion, which was agreed to.

The President, after announcing that communications expressing regret for unavoidable absence had been received from the Rev. Canon Wigram, and Messrs. Dawe (College Youths), J. C. Mitchell (St. Albans), and H. Dains (Cumberland Youths), said that it was customary at gatherings such as the present for the Chairman to open the business with an address. But he did not feel that on this occasion he had any remarks to make by which the Council would materially benefit, and, that being so, he did not intend to take up their time further. He should, however, wish to point out that it was exceedingly desirable that members should recollect that they were sent there by their respective Associations, and that accordingly they should on all questions of importance not abstain from recording their votes, as some had done at the last meeting. He thought that in making the remark he was only echoing the sentiments of those who had elected them as representatives. He also hoped that while, on the one hand, no member would hesitate to express his opinion clearly, on the other they would bear in mind that the time at the disposal of the Council was limited, and be brief accordingly.

The President then announced that one society had retired from connection with the Council, viz.: the Eastern Counties' Guild, but it was not an important society, and they might take it that there had been no material falling away from the Council, especially as they had an addition in the Wolverhampton society.

ELECTION OF HONORARY SECRETARY.

The first business on the agenda was the election of an Honorary Secretary in the place of Mr. F. E. Dawe, from whom a letter was read expressing regret at being compelled, by increasing demands on his time, to resign the office.

The President said that in accordance with the rules nominations had to be sent in for the election of an Honorary Secretary, who would serve for the remaining period of two years. He had received two nominations for the same gentleman, and he was given to understand that several others would also have been sent in had it not been known that two were already in his hands. The first nomination was that of Messrs. Dains and Newson, who proposed the Rev. H. Earle Bulwer, and the second that of Messrs. Wakley and Griffin, of Burton-on-Trent, who proposed the same gentleman. He (the President) had been asked whether an article in "THE BELL NEWS," which dealt with the desirability of appointing a clerical secretary, had in any way been inspired by him. He had had nothing whatever to do with it, though he was exceedingly glad to read it, as it represented the opinion entertained by many of them, and went to show that in other quarters the present nomination was approved.

Mr. Howard moved, Mr. S. Reeves seconded, and it was agreed, that Mr. Dawe's resignation should be accepted with regret.

Mr. Griffin proposed, and Mr. Copley seconded, the election of the Rev. H. Earle Bulwer to the post of Honorary Secretary, and there being no amendment, the resolution was carried unanimously, and amid applause.

The President, in notifying the election of Mr. Bulwer, expressed his exceedingly great satisfaction in seeing him in the position to which he had just been appointed.

The Honorary Secretary, in returning thanks, said he esteemed it a great honour to act in that capacity, and would do everything he possibly could to further the objects and work of the Council. He must confess that at first when the matter was brought under his notice he had some misgiving as to the wisdom of such an appointment. Since the first formation of the Council he had had a very strong feeling that it would be a very great deal better that some one of the more professional members of the Council should take the office of Secretary, and if possible, a representative of one of the London societies. Circumstances had so fallen out, however, that it seemed such gentlemen had not sufficient leisure to give to the work of the secretaryship, and therefore, finding his name so well received in the Exercise for nomination to the office, he had no hesitation in consenting, if selected, to act (hear).

ELECTION OF HONORARY MEMBERS.

The President stated that under their rules it was possible to elect 12 honorary members, and 9 such had been elected at the last meeting. It was now open to them to elect three more, who would hold office for three years, exclusive of the meeting at which they were elected, and who would not therefore go out with the Council.

The Rev. C. D. P. Davies proposed, and Mr. Phillott seconded Captain J. E. Acland-Troyte, 16, Augustus-road, Edgbaston, Birmingham.

The Rev. W. W. C. Baker proposed, and the Rev. H. J. Elsee seconded the Rev. A. H. Boughey, of Trinity College, Cambs.

The Rev. F. E. Robinson proposed, and Mr. Rees seconded Mr. W. H. Thompson.

There being only these nominations, the three elections were made unanimously.

STATEMENT OF ACCOUNTS.

The President stated that last year's accounts had been submitted to the Standing Committee previous to that meeting. They had gone through them, and had practically acted as auditors, and as auditors had passed them. Therefore he thought it would be sufficient just to give the totals. The subscriptions for the past year, 1891, had amounted to £9 5s., against which they had to set £1 1s. for the hire of the room in which they then met. That left a balance of £8 4s., which he had placed in Messrs. Williams, Deacon, and Co's. bank in London. This sum, together with the subscriptions for the present year, amounted to £16 19s., and when the unpaid subscriptions were collected, the balance in hand would be about £18.

Mr. Wakley moved the adoption of the balance-sheet, and Mr. Washbrook seconded the motion, which was agreed to.

AMENDMENT OF RULE 10.

The President, in moving the amendment of rule 10 by substituting twenty as the quorum of members instead of one-third the whole number of the Council, said he did not wish in any way to press the amendment upon the meeting, but he thought it would be a more convenient way of defining their quorum. It had seemed to him that it was possible to conceive a case in which they might meet, and find after the business that there had been one or two members short of the requisite number. Consequently the business might become invalid. The fact of having a quorum of so many as one-third of the Council might carry with it some little difficulty; whereas if they had a quorum of twenty, the number would usually be guaranteed; and in the case of so small a meeting as twenty the members would have sufficient good sense not to deal with matters which might more properly be left to a larger gathering.

Mr. Attree seconded the motion, which was carried unanimously.

THE PRINTING OF THE RULES.

The Rev. H. A. Cockey moved "That the rules be printed and circulated among all the members."

The President said that although it was a matter which might well be entertained, still, even with the balance which they had in hand, they should have to be careful not to spend one penny more than was necessary. They might again publish the rules in the pages of "THE BELL NEWS." (Hear, hear).

The Rev. H. A. Cockey thought it would be useful for members to have copies to refer to.

Mr. S. Reeves seconded the motion.

Ultimately, after some discussion, and on a suggestion from the chair, the Rev. H. A. Cockey withdrew his motion, and the following amendment, proposed by the President, and seconded by Mr. Howard, was unanimously agreed to: "That the Standing Committee be requested to take into consideration how the rules may be best brought under the notice of members."

THE EXERCISE AND THE CHURCH CONGRESS.

The next business on the agenda was to receive and consider the report of the Committee appointed to obtain adequate recognition of the Exercise at the hands of the Church Congress, and the President, in making the communication, said that they had been in some doubt as to whether they should bring their subject before the Church Congress which was to be held at Folkestone in the present year, or whether they should defer it till that which was to be held in Birmingham in 1893. For many reasons it would appear that Birmingham was the more suitable place to bring forward such a subject, but after discussion it was determined that Folkestone was preferable. The Congress of 1893 would be the first ever held in Birmingham, and its position being so central, the subject list would be exceedingly full, and the Congress no doubt would be very largely attended, in which case they thought it probable that their subject might be crowded out. Under those circumstances it was resolved that it would be desirable to try and bring the matter before the Congress at Folkestone, and, failing there, then before the one at Birmingham. He had drafted a circular letter, which was sent round to the members of the Committee, on which they made notes. He went through the notes, and, as far as possible, prepared in accordance with them the letter that was to be sent to the Subjects Committee of the Church Congress, and which was as follows:

To the Chairman of the Subjects Committee, Folkestone Church Congress.

SIR,—At a meeting of the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers, held in London last Easter, the undersigned were appointed a Committee for the purpose of pressing upon Congress the desirability of accepting for discussion a subject which may be fitly expressed as "The Present Position of Church Bell Ringers."

In support of our application we would respectfully advance the following facts:—

1.—The marked increase, during the last decade, in the number of bells and of ringers, and the widespread advance in the art of change-ringing, due almost entirely to the efforts of the ringers themselves; and yet that this whole subject receives but very scant attention from Churchmen generally.

2.—The practical failure of the Church to attach to her interests more than a very small proportion of a body of some 40,000 ringers, for the most part men of high respectability; a failure in great measure due to the absence of an understanding and personal interest, on the part of a large majority of the clergy, in the art and aims of the ringer; and also to the neglect of too many church authorities to keep bells and ringing-chambers in an equal state of cleanliness and repair with the rest of the Church.

3.—The increasing and not unreasonable complaints of those who reside near noisy bells; a difficulty which should be met by the adoption of the proper means (now well ascertained) for softening the sound; but not by the discouragement of a pursuit attractive to many young men, and especially available during winter evenings.

We would in conclusion insist upon the urgent need of a sympathetic consideration of the above points by the Clergy and others, with a view to win over the ringers of England to something more than a nominal adhesion to the Church; a need that cannot be more effectively made known than by bringing the subject before the consideration of the Congress. We should be prepared, if required, to indicate readers and speakers fully competent to deal with the subject both in its technical aspect and as an important detail of Parochial organisation.

We are, Sir, your obedient Servants,

A. Percival Heywood,

President Central Council of Church Bell Ringers.

W. Wigram,

Rector of St. Andrew's, Hertford, and Hon. Canon of St. Albans.

T. L. Papillon,

Vicar of Writtle, Chelmsford, and Hon. Sec. of the Essex Association of Change-Ringers.

H. Earle Bulwer,

Rector of Stanhoe, Norfolk, and Hon. Sec. of the Norwich Diocesan Association of Change-Ringers.

The letter was handed to Mr. Bulwer, who was a friend of Archdeacon Emery, one of the moving spirits in the affairs of the Church Congress, and he would ask the Honorary Secretary to relate what subsequent steps were taken in regard to the matter.

The Honorary Secretary said that after having consulted on the point with Archdeacon Emery, he wrote to the Secretary of the Church Congress, or rather he sent a copy of the letter already referred to, and eventually received a printed form on which he put the names of 12 or 13 gentlemen, who he thought might possibly accede to a request from the Subjects Committee to speak on the subject. Having done that, he had been awaiting results, but so far he had heard nothing from the Secretaries of the Congress.

REPORT ON ADVICE, ETC., AS TO BELLS AND RINGERS.

In presenting the report of the Committee appointed to draw up a body of advice, etc., to Church authorities as to bells and ringers, the President said that the work had been very troublesome, lengthy, and elaborate, and the thanks of the Council and Committee were very largely due to the Rev. H. Earle Bulwer for the way in which he had acted as manager of the whole business of the Committee. He had sent round a circular to each member of the Committee, who had affixed his notes, and those circulars having been revised three times, Mr. Bulwer had collated the whole information, and had produced the report which was before them, which was a fair representation of the views of the Committee, so far as they could be brought into accord. Whether the report in the opinion of the meeting fairly represented the ideas they held generally on the subject, they would be now kind enough to say.

The Honorary Secretary moved, the Rev. F. E. Robinson seconded, and it was agreed "That the report should be taken as read."

The Rev. T. L. Papillon moved "That the draft report of the Committee appointed, etc., be accepted as a whole, subject to the reconsideration by the Committee of special details upon which suggestions may be offered." The speaker said that he made the motion with much pleasure, because he fully recognised the great pains which had been bestowed on the work, and also because he was sure that all who had had any experience in ascertaining what the clergy and churchwardens and other persons responsible for the care of the bells either knew or cared about the belfry and its fittings, would agree with him that it was highly desirable that some such body of advice as was contained in the report should be freely accessible to them. He had moved the resolution because he thought that if they were then to embark on a lengthy discussion of every detail upon which any of them might think some alteration was necessary, without coming to any general conclusion upon the report, it would be necessary to issue a reprint of the whole, incorporating the various suggestions made, and thereby causing an increase of expense. It seemed to him the most profitable course they could take was to say they accepted the report as a whole, and that they should offer to the Committee, to which it had been referred, various suggestions as to points of detail. There were various such points upon which he could see some reconsideration was necessary, but it was best they should offer their suggestions in writing.

Mr. Barnett seconded the resolution.

The President explained that if the suggestions might be sent in to the Honorary Secretary in writing, Mr. Bulwer would take into consideration the whole of those views and embody them as far as he could in another circular to go round to the members of the Committee, who would then, by affixing their names or otherwise to such alterations, vote whether these should be incorporated or not with the substance already before them.

The motion was then carried.

Mr. Attree moved, "That advice as the cost of bells, fittings, &c., be taken from some firm of bell-hangers," contending that thereby they might get an exact quotation of the cost. He understood that the part of the report dealing with the matter was not from the hands of professional bell-hangers, and he considered that if the present statement went forth as advice from the Council it was misleading, and would do more harm than good.

Mr. Williams seconded the motion.

The Rev. G. F. Coleridge said he would like to move that it be referred to five or six firms, and that the Committee should then split the difference. (Laughter.)

The Rev. H. A. Cockey said that that portion of the report would be looked upon by the clergy as authoritative.

The Honorary Secretary said that the estimates were simply approximate. He did not prepare them himself; the task was undertaken by another member, but he believed the figures were from certain firms.

Mr. Snowdon said it was most important not to put into the estimates anything which was not correct. He wrote to everybody known in connection with the matter, but he did not receive a reply from everybody, because in a general way people did not like their prices passed round. Of course they might have made mistakes here and there, but they had gone on the rule, so far as had been possible, of trying to get practical opinions. Still he thought it would be a very good thing if they could still further check the estimates by getting from the firms what they thought the figures should be.

Mr. Newson asked if it would be in order to refer that part of the report back to the Committee for re-consideration of prices.

The President asked Mr. Taylor whether he thought there was such inaccuracy as would necessitate an alteration.

Mr. Taylor replied that he did not think there was any great variation, but there was an immense difference between hanging an ordinary peal of bells in an ordinary country church tower and in doing the same in a lofty cathedral. Some work would cost considerably more, and the prices of bells were constantly varying. He would be only too glad to see any list prepared and sent out by the Council, because thereby contractors might do better than they would in competition.

The President said it was absolutely impossible that the Council could pledge themselves to put out an authoritative statement, and he was sure they would only undertake to give some idea as to what the work might be done for.

Mr. Attree contended that even the approximate prices given were very far from the mark.

The Honorary Secretary pointed out that travelling expenses, &c., were not included in the estimates at all.

Mr. Attree, in expressing his willingness to alter his amendment so as to read "two or three firms" instead of "some firm," said that it was simply with a view of getting the estimates as correct as possible that he had brought the matter forward at all. He thought they ought to be reconsidered, as he should be very sorry to see anything go forth from the Council which was inaccurate.

The motion, as amended, was carried.

The Rev. H. J. Elsee said there ought to be some notice in the report as to the provision of lavatory or washing accommodation for the ringers, and he also thought the best way of bringing the clergy and church officials into touch with the ringers would be for the former, if possible, to become ringers themselves.

The Rev. H. J. Elsee subsequently embodied these suggestions in two recommendations, but withdrew them on the suggestion of the President that to save time and avoid further discussion on the subject he should incorporate them in a letter to the Secretary.

THE DESSEMINATION OF THE REPORT.

The Honorary Secretary stated that, in regard to the question as to how the report should be disseminated, the idea that he had had was that the various associations should subscribe for as many copies as they thought they required for the area which they served. If they could get subscriptions from the various associations to the amount of 2,000 copies, he calculated that they could have them at a penny each, which he thought was very cheap. Of course the Council would be very much better pleased if they could get rid of more than that. He did not think that there was any more feasible plan unless the Council made a present of the copies and took the whole charge of the cost of printing and issuing; and that, he thought, the members would not wish to do. The report would be a valuable body of information and would do a great deal of good, and he thought associations generally would be willing to contribute the funds for the small amount required.

The Rev. F. E. Robinson moved—"That the various Associations be asked to take a number of copies in proportion to their numbers and their areas."

Mr. Griffin seconded the resolution, which was carried.

In reply to Mr. Attree, the Honorary Secretary said that he had made arrangements with Messrs. Reeves, of "THE BELL NEWS," to keep up the type of the report for a certain time, or as long as might be necessary for the Committee to embody the alterations which it thought fit. When the 2000 copies were printed, he should not have any further control over the type, and he did not think he could ask Messrs. Reeves to keep it up over the year. If the suggestions were to be reserved for the next meeting of the Council, the type would have to be set up twice instead of once. It was merely a question of economy.

The President explained that the majority of opinions in Committee would be decisive on any suggestion; it was impossible to wait another year.

Mr. Snow was afraid that the report would only go to the clergymen who had shown an interest in the work.

The Honorary Secretary: You may send it to whom you like.

The President thought the book would go to those clergy who in the opinion of the Associations, wanted a little stirring up.

The Rev. T. L. Papillon moved—"That the Standing Committee be empowered to pay the expenses of the report," to which he also proposed that an index should be added.

Mr. Barnett seconded the motion.

The Honorary Secretary said he should address a formal letter to the secretaries of the different associations, asking them to let him know as soon as possible how many copies they would require.

The resolution was then carried, and it was agreed, at the request of the Honorary Secretary, that all suggestions for the consideration of the Committee should be sent in before the end of April.

THE VALIDITY OF A PEAL.

The President said that they would remember with regard to number 7 on the agenda that there was not time to decide at the last meeting what was to constitute a valid peal, except upon seven bells, and the other points were referred to the Standing Committee, who had produced the set of definitions which appeared upon the agenda paper. Of course there were gentlemen on the committee who were not altogether in accord with the majority. The position they were in was that they had finished with the seven bells so far as deciding if they might be rung without a covering bell. The Honorary Secretary had a suggestion to make in connection with that, however, and it would be taken into consideration later on.

Mr. Griffin moved—"That paragraph 1 be taken as a definition for 5 bells, viz.: on five bells with or without the addition of a covering bell, not less than 5040 changes rung without interval in true 6-scores, and in not less than three methods."

Mr. Catchpole seconded.

The Rev. G. F. Coleridge moved the omission of the words—"with or."

Mr. White seconded.

Mr. Attree asked if it was likely, in case the resolution was carried, that they should have the support of the ringing papers.

The President replied that he could not answer the question. They had no control over the editors.

The amendment was carried.

Mr. Attree proposed as an amendment that they should strike out the number of methods altogether.

The Rev. W. W. Baker seconded.

The Honorary Secretary thought it would be advisable to keep "three methods" in.

Mr. Attree said that if they left it in the terms of the definition they would be compelling beginners to waste a considerable amount of time in learning the three 5-bell methods.

The amendment was lost, and the paragraph, with the omission of the words "with or" was adopted.

On the consideration of paragraph 2, "on six bells not less than 5040 changes, rung without interval in true 72os, of which no two in the same method shall be called alike." The Honorary Secretary moved its adoption.

Mr. Williams seconded.

Mr. Attree said he had been requested as a delegate from the Sussex County Association to move the omission of all the words after 72os. He did so, however, without any personal feeling on the subject.

Mr. Snowdon seconded the amendment.

The Honorary Secretary said that the question was whether the 72os should all be quite alike. Why should not each of six young men learn a different calling.

The amendment was lost.

The Rev. G. F. Coleridge moved as an amendment—"That the paragraph should read 'on six bells, not less than 5040 changes, rung without interval in true 72os, of which no two shall be in the same method.'"

Mr. Hattersley seconded the amendment, which was lost.

The second paragraph was then adopted in its original form.

The third paragraph ran "on eight, ten, and twelve bells, not less than 5000 true changes, rung without interval" and Mr. Williams proposed its adoption.

Mr. Story seconded the motion.

The Honorary Secretary moved the addition of the words "in any one method."

Mr. Griffin seconded the amendment, which was carried, and the paragraph with this addition was adopted.

The fourth paragraph ran "on nine and eleven bells, in each case with the addition of a covering bell, not less than 5000 true changes rung without interval," and Mr. Copley moved its adoption.

Mr. W. D. Smith seconded the motion.

The Honorary Secretary moved the following amendment: "To omit the entire clause, and instead thereof, to insert the following:—Peals of Triples, Caters and Cinques, in which respectively seven, nine, and eleven bells are engaged in producing the changes, must consist, in the case of Triples, of not less than 5040, and in the case of Caters and Cinques, of not less than 5000 true changes, rung without interval; but peals on these numbers of bells shall not be as performances accounted legitimate or worthy of record unless they are rung with a tenor bell covering each change. The Honorary Secretary said that as one of those who voted with the majority on the question of the definition of a peal on seven bells, he was much surprised to find that afterwards the vote was interpreted as evidence of a desire on their part to see peals on seven bells rung without a covering bell, and that by their vote they were favouring such a performance. He could say for himself that he certainly intended nothing of the kind when he voted in the majority. The theoretical definition of the peal was to his mind one thing, and the practical performance of the peal was another. Whatever might have been the intention of the mover of the proposition last year, the form of the proposition itself, which was put before the Council, did not to his mind, touch the practical side of the question. They were not asked whether a performance on seven bells, was, or was not desirable: they were simply asked to say what constituted a peal on that number of bells, viz., seven. It seemed to him there was only one answer, and he gave his answer by voting with the majority that a "peal on seven bells consisted of 5040 changes truly rung in the particular method chosen, with or without a covering-bell." It seemed to him that they had really required to have a definite, accurate, theoretical definition of what constituted a peal on any number of bells, but when that question had been settled that there still remained the question what kind of performance should be considered worthy of record. He could not deny, so far as he himself was concerned, that 5040 changes truly rung in any one method upon seven bells without a covering bell was a peal in the theoretical sense, but he might ask the further the question whether the performance was a desirable one, or one that ought to be recorded. He should say certainly not. The two questions were to his mind quite distinct. They were asked the first of the questions last year, and they answered it. The second question was not put to the Council, and it seemed to him quite open to them to give an answer without in any way reversing the decision arrived at last year. There was a very good reason for giving an answer to that question, for if they passed the present motion with regard to 9 and 11 bells, as it stood, without marking the distinction between the theoretical definition and a legitimate performance they would be taking up what seemed to be rather an untelligible position, or at any rate a position which would not be exactly understood by everybody without explanation. Mr. Heywood had in the course of conversation mentioned to him that 9 and 11 bells did not stand exactly on the same ground as 7 bells, but he thought they would be quite justified that day in giving an answer to the second question as to the practical definition of a desirable performance on seven bells.

Mr. Attree: Can we rescind anything done last year without notice?

Mr. Taylor seconded the amendment.

The President said that although it was no doubt true that many of them voted in favour of the motion last year on the understanding that the definition was only theoretical, yet it was undeniable that a certain number of the Council did make a great point of carrying the motion, and of having got the sanction of the Council to register performances such as these. Mr. Bulwer divided his speech into two parts, but such a subdivision was not altogether apparent at the last meeting. He thought they should, in carrying his amendment, be distinctly contravening the principle which was affirmed at the last meeting, and, as Chairman, he could not countenance what he considered to be a reversal, in the eyes of a section of the Council, of a motion that was passed at a former meeting, unless after definite previous notice. Thus that part of the amendment which applied to the 7-bell peal he thought could not be entertained by that meeting, and, if desired, must be brought forward by previous notice at another.

The Rev. C. D. P. Davies said: It seemed to him that the meaning of the word "peal" was creeping on and on. He had looked upon the art and science of ringing as bound up together. If it met with the approval of the Council he did not think there would be any objection to a note being appended to the resolution on Triples, saying that the Council did not approve the ringing of such peals. In that case he would suggest that the motion relating to 9 and 11 should be passed as it was, and a rider appended to that on 7, which he thought would be in their power.

The Honorary Secretary said that would meet his views exactly, and he would withdraw his amendment.

The Rev. H. A. Cockey said that stress had been laid on the theoretical definition of a peal on 7 bells, and surely it would be a theoretical definition on 9 and 11 bells. In that case it would be lawful to ring 9 or 11 bells without a covering bell.

The President said it was clear that what they were then considering was the performance of a peal, and not the theory. The only excuse for 7-bell peals was the want of the 8th man. A band meeting for Caters or Cinques could always ring Triples or Caters if they met short.

The Honorary Secretary proposed the addition of the words "in any one method" to the paragraph.

Mr. Griffin seconded the amendment, which was carried.

The original paragraph, with the addition, was then put to the meeting and adopted.

The President said with regard to the 7 bell original motion, he would like to ask whether they thought it well to move any rider. It would be more in accordance with propriety to defer this till the next meeting.

Mr. Attree moved "That the Council do not entertain the question of a rider upon the 7 bells clause."

The Rev. F. E. Robinson seconded the motion, which was carried.

The President moved a verbal amendment to the 7-bell clause, in no way changing the sense, to bring this into accord with the rest of the definitions. This was seconded and carried.

The Rev. T. L. Papillon moved the adoption of the resolutions as altered en bloc, which was carried unanimously.

A SUGGESTED BIBLIOGRAPHY.

The next subject on the paper was—"That is expedient to publish a bibliography or catalogue of books relating to bells and ringing, and that a Committee be instructed to confer and report as to how this can best be done." The President stated that he had received a telegram from Mr. Strange saying that he was unable to attend, and that if there was no proposer for his resolution, he (Mr. Strange) would like it deferred till the next meeting. The President further said that Mr. Ellacombe had published, as they knew, a list of 213 works, relating to bellringing, of which over 90 were English. Of those a great number were archæological, and did not relate to technical change-ringing. It was suggested that it might be a useful supplement if the work were brought up to date, and perhaps some gentleman would like to move Mr. Strange's motion for him. He thought it would be valuable to have a bibliography of the Exercise up to date. It could easily be done by a Committee with Mr. Ellacombe's list as a basis.

Mr. Snowdon moved the motion of Mr. Strange, which Mr. Lucas seconded, and the meeting adopted.

Mr. Snowdon suggested that an instruction should be given to the Committee to chronicle the fact that Mr. Ellacombe drew up the catalogue.

The President had no doubt that Mr. Strange would undertake the work if the matter were referred to the Standing Committee, of which he was a member.

Both the proposer and seconder of the motion agreed to have their motion amended by the substitution of the words, "the Standing Committee" for a "Committee," and the motion as amended was approved.

CLASSIFICATIONS OF COMPOSITIONS.

The Rev. H. A. Cockey moved—"That a Committee be appointed to receive and classify all compositions of 5,000 changes and upwards, and to issue an annual report, in which all peals composed during the previous 12 months shall be published." He would like to suggest that the number of the Committee should be five. They might get help from the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS," and he thought it would be well if they could be chosen from different districts of the country. Besides that, they might if possible, by and by extend their work by collecting past compositions and bringing them all up to date. He would also suggest that they should have power to add to the number of the Committee if they found it necessary.

Mr. Phillott seconded.

The Honorary Secretary said he hardly thought the suggester of the scheme could have any idea of the amount of labour which would be involved in the matter. He looked upon the proposal with something like dismay (laughter). Besides there was the further question, how were the peals to be made public? Were they going to make a separate publication, or were they going to ask the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS" to publish them in detail? It would be absolutely necessary first of all that they should get a complete collection of all peals by all composers up to date before they started upon their labours. (Hear hear.)

Mr. Copley spoke of the difficulty of carrying out such a scheme as that, but at the same time he did think that it was worth considering. He moved, "that the Standing Committee be instructed to consider the matter."

Mr. Attree said it would be very valuable to have such a collection, and even if they could only get after some years work a collection of what might be called absolutely true peals it would be a great benefit to the Exercise.

Mr. Howard seconded the amendment.

The Rev. H. A. Cockey said that his object in proposing that a Committee should be appointed was his reluctance to burden the Standing Committee with more work than it had already.

The Rev. C. D. P. Davies took it that the Standing Committee should draw up a scheme.

The President said that if such a large body as the Standing Committee had this question referred to them it would need frequent meetings for discussion, and if they had to meet oftener it would be very expensive. He thought that if Mr. Cockey would suggest three names of gentlemen who would undertake to propound a scheme and to carry it out that the Council might appoint them a Committee to deal with the matter.

Mr. Copley expressed his willingness to alter "Standing Committee" to "a Committee."

The Rev. H. A. Cockey nominated the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, and Messrs. J. W. Washbrook and C. H. Hattersley; and Mr. Copley having altered his resolution to read "that a Committee of these three gentlemen be instructed to consider the matter" the amendment was carried.

THE LEGITIMACY OF COMPOSITIONS.

The last motion on the paper was—"That no composition shall be deemed legitimate in which any call other than the one bob proper to the method is made use of, excepting only the one proper single in methods not of the Treble Bob class." The President said that Mr. Dains was to have been there to have proposed the motion, but perhaps the Honorary Secretary would in his absence be ready to do it for him. Possibly they might think it would be worth while to have the motion brought before them and postponed for further discussion. Thus they might entertain it so far as to let it come upon the minutes.

The Honorary Secretary undertook to move the resolution saying that its object was that they should put what pressure they could upon composers so that in future when they were composing peals they should not manufacture special calls to meet special emergencies, but that they should restrict themselves to the common bob and common single proper to the methods with which they were dealing. The second argument was that calls manufactured for an occasion, or those which were alien to the method, were not indispensable from the composer's point of view. He did not think it was a desirable thing that composition should be made easier, and he thought the difficulty they had to face in composition should be faced manfully, and that they should not try to overcome by escaping it.

Mr. Newson seconded the motion.

The Rev. C. D. Davies, while heartily approving of the motion, said the point he desired to bring forward, was: that in some methods it was not clear what was the proper single. He thought it would be necessary in questions of that sort, to lay down what really was a proper single in the method under consideration. As yet they had no single which was universally recognised for Union Triples.

Mr. Snowdon said they ought to encourage a high aim, and the question was, should they not have a standard of excellence?

The Rev. C. D. Davies moved: "That the question as to deciding what is the proper call or calls in each method, be referred to the Committee of three, which has already been named, to deal with the question of compositions."

Mr. Catchpole seconded the amendment, which was carried.

OTHER BUSINESS.

Mr. Attree moved: "that the Secretary be instructed to write to the Editors of the ringing newspapers, and forward a copy of the resolutions arrived at by the Council, in reference to the definition of peals, asking them only to publish those peals which are rung in conformity with those resolutions."

Mr. Washbrook seconded the motion, which was agreed to.

The President said he should like to say that Mr. Attree's analysis was one of the most valuable works done for the Exercise. They had been also very glad to see a new plan for marking the value of peals. Could he not undertake to record performances under the title of one association only in cases where two or more were mentioned?

Mr. Attree said he had thought it best that he should take only the association first named in publication, and mark the peal to them. He would give notice in "THE BELL NEWS" to this effect.

The President said it was becoming a very interesting analysis, and one whereby at the end of the year they wished to see who had attained the highest place, and a fair comparison was impossible if any one peal was credited to more than one association.

Mr. Attree gave notice that at the next meeting he would call attention to the very unsatisfactory way in which members were elected to associations previous to starting for a peal, and would move one or more resolutions thereon.

Mr. Attree said he thought the Standing Committee ought to do more work in the future than they had done in the past. They ought to meet oftener.

The President said he quite agreed with what Mr. Attree had said with regard to the Standing Committee, but he should like to remind the Council that they had to bear in mind the question of expense, and that many members of the Council could not afford to attend oftener. He quite thought they might arrange conveniently to meet twice in the year, once in the middle of the year, and once before the annual meeting. They had also elaborated a system by which they could carry out a great deal by post, without putting the members to too much expense. Therefore if they could conduct their work in that way through the post, he thought the Council would agree with him that they were justified in doing so as far as possible (hear). He must remind Mr. Attree that not having attended the Committee meeting this morning he (Mr. Attree) was hardly in a position to criticise the amount of work which had been done, which was considerable (hear).

The President then intimated that with regard to the place of meeting for next year the Standing Committee had been considering the respective claims of Oxford and Reading—Cambridge they had left for some future time. Bristol and Leicester had been suggested, but there was nothing on one side of the former, while the latter, though a good centre, was rather too much in the same district as Birmingham to be suitable for next year.

Mr. Phillott proposed Oxford as the place of meeting.

Mr. Taylor seconded the motion.

Mr. Snowdon proposed Leeds.

Mr. Hattersley seconded.

On the vote being taken as between Oxford and Leeds 27 voted for the former place and 13 for the latter. Oxford was therefore selected, and it was agreed to meet on Easter Tuesday, 1893, as heretofore, and at the usual time.

The President said they were bound by the rules to see that all decisions in regard to matters affecting the Exercise at large were carried by majority of not less than two to one. He had carefully watched the proceedings and was sure that such had been the case, but he thought it would place the matter beyond doubt if in the shape of a motion he asked them to reaffirm collectively the resolutions that they had passed that day. Any gentleman who did not agree with any of the resolutions could vote against the motion.

The motion was carried unanimously.

The Rev. T. L. Papillon moved a vote of thanks to the President, which was seconded by the Rev. F. E. Robinson, and carried amid applause.

The President, in returning thanks, said he had been much gratified that so many gentlemen had come from so far to attend the meeting of the Council. He hoped that in future days they might expect a still larger attendance as the interest in the proceedings of the Council deepened. He felt satisfied that when they reviewed the work of the meeting they would feel that it had been full of value, and would be productive of real and lasting good to the Exercise. (Applause.)

This concluded the business of the meeting, which had occupied three hours-and-a-half. Among the strangers present were many members of the St. Martin's Guild.

The members and their friends then lunched together, and the majority afterwards adjourned to St. Martin's tower, where touches of Stedman Cinques, &c., were rung.

The Members of the Council desire to return their best thanks to the St. Martin's Guild for the hearty welcome accorded them, and especially to the Honorary Secretary (Mr. W. H. Godden) for the excellent arrangements made for their accommodation and entertainment.

The official minutes, giving the various resolutions in concise form, will appear next week, together with a tabulated list of the attendance of members.

The Bell News & Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, APRIL 30, 1892

We publish this week a full report of the proceedings of the Central Council at their meeting in Birmingham on Easter Tuesday. Criticism of the various resolutions there agreed to we shall defer until our next issue, by which time the official minutes setting forth the exact terms of the decisions arrived at will no doubt be in our hands. In the meantime a few general remarks may be fitly made upon the general aspect of the business which was transacted.

Our readers will, in the first place, not be slow to appreciate the careful regard paid by the whole of the members to the economy of valuable time. The President in opening the meeting set a good example by foregoing all prefatory address, simply asking those present to express their opinions clearly but at the same time briefly, advice which the amount of work accomplished in the space of three hours and a half indicates to have been rigidly followed.

The various motions brought before the Council would seem to have evoked little or no difference of opinion such as was last year apparent upon the question of seven-bell peals. The decisions arrived at will thus commend themselves more generally than would have been the case had the Council been less unanimous. Perhaps, however, the results of the meeting of 1892 are rather to be looked for in the eventual influence upon the Exercise of the resolutions referred to Committees for detailed evolution, than in dictums upon specific ringing questions, although, in the definitions of valid peals, we have a valuable and probably acceptable settlement of disputed points based upon the apparently almost unanimous judgment of a body of experts, to whose authority few will be found to take exception, seeing that they represent between them the large majority of the ringing Societies of the country.

It is matter for congratulation that the delegates in general seem so thoroughly to appreciate their responsibilities, as is evidenced by the great distances that a considerable number of them travelled to Birmingham, no less than by the careful and amicable manner in which the discussions were conducted. It was a foregone conclusion that the gathering last year in the metropolis would be largely attended, but we confess to have awaited with some anxiety the result of the first meeting in the provinces. The conclave in Birmingham may, however, be justly pronounced amply representative, and such attention to their duties, together with the unobtrusive mode in which the Council continue to conduct their valuable work, augur an early attainment of that high position in the estimation of the Exercise which the President pointed out, in the initiatory stage, was only to be gained gradually by a consistent and judicious attention to the many and varied interests of the wide circle of Church bell-ringers generally.

MRS. GEORGE WILLIAMS, OF BRIGHTON.

(Vide PORTRAIT.)

The introduction of one of the gentler sex into our Portrait Gallery is somewhat of an innovation, but it is amply warranted by the numerous requests made to us by our readers. The lady in question is the first of her sex who has advanced so far into the practice of the Art as to be capable of ringing the two trebles in a complete peal of Grandsire Triples on handbells, a performance needing mental faculties of no ordinary description. We cannot, in this very brief notice, give a history of Mrs. WILLIAMS' ringing career because, practically, there is no career of the kind, in this instance.

No one will be surprised to hear that Mrs. WILLIAMS is perfectly acquainted with other methods beside Grandsire; she has, in fact, frequently rung the tenors in Stedman. Mr. Williams has often been engaged in teaching bands of ringers, and at such times his wife has now and then accompanied him, when her assistance has proved valuable. She has written out the music, for the piano, of plain courses of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Caters. She is a member of the Sussex County Association and the Salisbury Diocesan Guild.

We shall not be considered ungallant in alluding to the lady's age. Mrs. WILLIAMS was born at Meonstoke, Hants, on the 16th of November, 1860, so that she will be thirty-two years of age next birthday; an annual occurrence which our readers will join with us in hoping may be happy and numerous.

The publication, this week, of the account of proceedings at the meeting of the Central Council, has necessitated the exclusion of other reports. They will, however, appear next week, when it is intended to issue an enlarged number.

Ringers' Outing.

ST. JAMES'S, BOLTON (Bradford, Yorks.).—On Easter-Monday, the local company had, for the first time for several years, a day's outing together. Leaving Bradford at 5.30 a.m., they were joined at Shipley by Messrs. Nettleton and Kendall, and after a pleasant journey arrived at Derby about 9.20. Here they were met by their brother "scholar" Mr. B. Sugden, and some other members of the Duffield band, with whom cordial greetings were exchanged. The Duffield men, however, had to leave immediately for Nottingham, so the Bolton men adjourned to an adjacent coffee-house to recuperate. A move was then made to St. Andrew's, in the anticipation of a pull on the fine ring of eight, but on arriving at the church received the sad intelligence of the death of the Vicar's son, which had cast a deep gloom over Eastertide in that parish. Ringing there was of course, out of the question, so the party wended their way for a look round the town. Passing St. Werburgh's, they were cordially invited to stay and have a ring there, which invitation they were reluctantly compelled to forego on account of the lateness of the time when service would be over. A little later found them at St. Alkmund's, where the Vicar greeted them most heartily, and speedily bringing the sexton on the scene, the bells were raised, and short touches of Triples and Major brought round satisfactorily, just in time to enable the visitors to get back to the station for the 11.50 train to Castle Donington, where they alighted, and after a pleasant walk arrived at their destination, Lockington; where they at once raised the bells—a very musical ring of six—and had a short touch by way of feeling them. An intimation that dinner was awaiting them at the hall soon caused the belfry to be vacated, and the visitors a few minutes later received a hearty welcome from Mr. Brooks, the genial butler, on behalf of the Squire, N. C. Curzon, Esq., whose guests they were to consider themselves during their stay. A very substantial dinner was immediately served, during the progress of which, Mr. Curzon entered the room, and in a few kindly words bade welcome to the visitors, assuring them of his pleasure at their coming, and bidding them stroll about the grounds, and use the bells at their own free will, so as to make their stay an enjoyable one. After dinner, peals and touches of Bob and Kent Treble Bob Minor were rung, conducted by Messrs. Copley, Titterton, and Mawson, and when not engaged in the belfry full advantage was taken of the privilege to visit the well-kept grounds, conservatories, stables, saddle room, carriage room, &c., which was greatly enjoyed. Shortly before six o'clock, ringing was concluded, and the party again assembled in the hall, where tea was served; at the conclusion of which courses of changes on handbells were rung in the hall, to the evident pleasure of the household, Mrs. Curzon complimenting the visitors on their performances. Before leaving, Mr. Copley, on behalf of the visitors, expressed to Mr. Brooks their acknowledgments for the very generous manner in which they had been treated by Mr. Curzon, himself, and all the household, assuring him that their happy experiences that day would not be readily forgotten. "Homeward" was the next order of the day, and after bidding good-bye to Mr. R. Joyce, thanking him also for his efforts in the way of promoting their pleasure, the various stages of the return journey were reached, first Castle Donington, then Derby, where they again met some of the Duffield band, and then straight for Bradford, which was reached early the following morning; thus terminating a day's outing which had not one single feature throughout to mar the pleasure of all concerned.

The whole of the six men who performed this extraordinary feat will be present, and will be glad to meet any friends who think it of sufficient interest to attend.

THOMAS STEAD.

NOTE TO THE PEAL AT WELSHPOOL.—This is the second peal on the bells, which were hung in 1828, and the first by a local band. We also claim to be the second local band to ring a peal in Wales: the first being Wrexham. It was rung at the third attempt; and is the first peal by the ringers of 1, 2, 3, 4; also by the 5th man with a bob bell. It is the first peal by T. J. Bratton as conductor. W. Maddox is sixteen years of age; and the Rev. T. Hughes is the first clergyman in the Guild to ring a peal.

NOTE TO THE PEAL AT WALTER BELCHAMP.—The calling of this peal will be found in Sottanstell's work, page 200. This is the first peal on the bells since the new second bell has been added; and a great improvement has been made. Messrs. Clarke, Brett and Theobald are from Stanstead, Suffolk; Slater from Glemsford; Sillitoe and Howell from Sudbury; and the brothers Hawkins belong to Belchamp. This is F. Hawkins's first peal in any method.

Her Majesty's Surgeon-Dentist's Testimonial.

"My Dear Doctor,—Allow me to express my sincere thanks for the skill and attention displayed in the construction of my Artificial Teeth, which render my mastication and articulation excellent. I am glad to bear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. In recognition of your valuable services, you are at liberty to use my name.—S. G. HUTCHINGS. By Appointment Surgeon-Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen."

Geo. H. Jones, Esq., F.R.S.L., F.R.M.S.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has by his Perfected System of Dentistry demonstrated that Painless Dentistry is as much an accomplished fact as the swift locomotive, the electric light, or the telephone, and absolutely restores the natural contour caused by the loss of teeth, by the adjustment of Prize Medal dentals, rendering detection impossible, which obtained the Gold Medals of London, 1851; New York, 1853; London, 1862; Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; and Philadelphia, 1876.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has been awarded for his Improvements and Patents in Dentistry gold medals, London and Paris; gold medal, New Zealand Exhibition, 1884; gold medal Calcutta, 1883; and the highest diploma of merit and award at Nice and Amsterdam, 1883-4. Awarded the gold medal of the Académie Nationale, Paris, 1884; and the highest award Antwerp; also the gold medal, International Exhibition, London, 1885; gold medal, Liverpool, 1886; gold medal, Melbourne, 1888-9.

THE MIDLAND COUNTIES' ASSOCIATION.

The Tenth Annual Meeting of this Association was held at Nottingham, on Easter-Monday, April 18th, 1892. Through the kindness of the respective Vicars the following churches were open for ringing from 10.0 a.m., viz.: St. Mary's (ten bells), All Saints' and St. Peter's (eight bells).

A Committee Meeting was held in the vestry of St. Mary's church at 2.0 p.m., the President (A. Percival Heywood, Esq.) in the chair.

At 3 o'clock, there was a special service in the same church, which was attended by upwards of 120 ringers, from all parts of the district, including Ashby, Burton, Beeston, Chesterfield, Cotgrave, Derby, Duffield, Leicester, Long Eaton, Loughboro', Nottingham, Ripley, Sandiacre, Sheffield, and Syston. After prayers had been read by the Vicar (Rev. Canon Richardson), the Right Rev. the Lord Bishop of Southwell addressed the ringers as follows:—

"My friends, as I may call you, who have invited me to say a few words to you on this holiday and gathering, I shall be glad if you will allow me to speak to you upon two different aspects of it. One, I may call lighter than the other, but in singling it so, I do not want you to think the other invaluable or inappropriate to such a time and such a day and place as this. The Church knew that man wants holidays, and so it devised times at which they should be provided. It is, I think, quite in accordance with that, that you should combine your pleasure and holiday with your own gatherings and bring yourselves before God. So I welcome very much your gathering in this beautiful church on this tenth anniversary of your Association, and I would say of this, which I call the lighter aspect, a few words about what seem to be the characteristics of your particular union. Our old English games have generally been two-fold in their spirit. I have been one who has considered the different pastimes in which the English people take part, and I think we may see in them marked differences, some are those in which the separate individual performance makes the whole skill. Our English games have generally consisted in the study of an antagonist, and with that the study of a company working together, united to bring out their own powers. There has been in these past-times of ours a continuous and unconscious exercise of those characteristics of our race in which we have been members of a corporate body, working in broad and open rivalry in competition for distinctions. They have in them that spirit of development which makes them to be sources of mutual good understanding, mutual good-will and sympathy. It is a rare thing, is belonging to your craft. It seems that you combine the power of good understanding and combination, and subordinate yourselves to the shifting and elastic calls upon you. It seems to me that your craft has the highest of these principles developed more than any other, so that whether you call your craft a science, art, accomplishment, or recreation, I am not exaggerating when I say it has for its support, first, the aim of perfection, secondly, the spirit of co-operation, and thirdly, the encouragement, and these are very worthy aims. I do not know that the actual strength imparted into it is an essential, and yet I believe it is an inducement which arises from a feeling, that an association of your character must be composed of men and strength. Your art seems to be an art which shows its skill in elaborating difficulties, and then in overcoming them, in making a responsive capacity for everyone in turn, requiring a constant attention, sympathy, and appreciation of each turn and change. In this, the skill has for its motive what I may call perfection, the aim at doing something in itself perfectly, in finding fresh parts, fresh methods and complications, elaborating fresh intricacies, and finding pleasure, not in having finished and got to the end of all that could be done, but in developing more and more difficult methods, to give more and more pleasure in overcoming them. That appears to me a very high power of mental study and attention, for whilst in almost all other competitions, one lapse of forgetfulness would not necessarily be the cause of a disaster, yet, as I understand it is the case in your craft, only one mistake may destroy hours of careful and successful work. Then in a very signal degree your craft demands never-failing life and attention in every one who is engaged in it. I know of nothing that at all reaches the degree of sympathy, co-operation, and mutual understanding, that such ringing as yours requires. It is not done by written forms before your eyes, but by that responsiveness, which means every man knowing what to do and when to do it. So I feel it is a high art that you have. I will now pass on to say a few words upon the second aspect, the aspect in which you come as church officers, who are connected with the church by the very instruments you use. In so using those instruments you bring yourselves into the very precincts of the church. We know what varied voices those bells have. In their first early uses they were to call people to escape from danger and violence. We need not perhaps go back to those stages, they are but to us a parable, speaking of dangers to be guarded against. The bells are now continually summoning the spirits to worship, to be united and banded together to fight manfully against the great sins of the world. They also ring out the human sympathy which lasts through life, from the day the infant birth is rung in to the day the soul passes away. Through all changes of joy, sorrow, success and difficulties, the church standing as the great centre, calls to unity, as I trust it will always call. No doubt that the duty of ringers is chiefly to call themselves. I cannot doubt that the spirit of your association will be a spirit in which its members will be loyal and living leaders of churchmanship and thorough church worship, as their calling others to church must suggest to them they should be. My friends it needs no words of mine to tell you that a clergyman's times on Sunday are busy. Those in the belfries speak sometimes as if the clergy do not pay attention to their ringers. I know it is not for attention or compliments that you gather to ring your bells. You don't think it is to compliment the clergy that you go to ring. It is for you to make it clear that the clergy cannot be in their belfries on Sunday. The clergy (I speak as one of them), do value the efforts of their ringers. You and I know quite well that such officers as you should be welcomed as those leading others, and I trust your brethren will catch that spirit and call others, by their personal example, to church. I hope the pleasure in the ringing of those bells, and the mental skill and qualities developed by your work, are but small things compared with the higher thought the bells ring, the thought that, I was glad when they said unto me, we will go into the House of the Lord."

After the service the members and friends, to the number of 130, were entertained to tea by the President (A. Percival Heywood, Esq.), in St. Mary's Girls' School, and amongst those present were the Lord Bishop of Southwell, Rev. Canon Richardson (Vicar of St. Mary's), Rev. H. A. Gem (Vicar of All Saints'), Rev. H. Earle Bulwer (Hon. Secretary of the Norwich Diocesan Association), Rev. F. H. Beaven (Vicar of St. Paul's, Burton-on-Trent), Rev. C. H. Montford (Duffield), and Rev. C. Witherington (St. Mary's, Nottingham). In consequence of the Bishop having to leave early to fulfil another engagement,

Mr. Heywood rose and said: I am perfectly certain that I express the feelings of everyone present in saying that we have had no such encouragement during the ten years this Association has existed, as we have this day received in the presence among us of the Bishop of the diocese. His lordship has said that it is difficult for the clergy to get to the belfry at the times of ringing for service. All I can say is, if they will come among us at these social gatherings, we shall take it as a great assistance, and the intercourse will help us to be not only good ringers, but also good churchmen. I beg to propose a hearty vote of thanks to his lordship for his excellent and able address, and for his welcome presence amongst us here.

Mr. J. W. Taylor, jun. said: I am sure we all feel it an honor that his lordship has taken the trouble to address us this afternoon, and therefore I have much pleasure in seconding the motion. The motion was carried with acclamation.

His lordship, in returning thanks, said: Gentlemen, I thank you extremely for the very kind manner in which you have given me this vote of thanks. It has been to me a great honour, and sense of friendliness that you should have come in such numbers to hear what I have said to you. If you will only ask other Bishops, you will find they all feel very much the same as I do. They are happy to meet their churchmen in the social way you have been good enough to let me meet you, but I am sure you will find among them those who can speak better than I can. I admire you from the depths of ignorance. I have always shrunk from attempting to ring a bell. I don't think in other places I have a bad head at all, but when I see the rope disappear through the hole, I frankly must say I do feel giddy, and I very quickly retire. I thank you very much. I have now to leave, so I must wish you good-night, and prosperity in this institution of yours, which I hope has felt itself to be growing in power, and in amicable relations to the clergy. I hope there will be always these social and friendly relations which we all desire, and which these meetings do so much to promote. I beg to return my cordial thanks, and wish all prosperity to the Midland Counties' Association of change-ringers.

Mr. Taylor then read the minutes of the last meeting, and Mr. Millis proposed, and Mr. John Wilson seconded, that they be passed and signed.

The Honorary Secretary read a list of new names for membership, duly proposed and seconded, and one life member and nine ringing members were unanimously elected.

The president then spoke as follows: Gentlemen: The opportunity upon which I now address you is assuredly one which is more than ordinarily deserving of some special mark. It has been marked specially by our having amongst us to-day the Bishop of that part of the Diocese in which we are now met together. There are other matters which make this meeting one of peculiar interest. Our Association has, this year, reached the tenth of its existence, and there are many thoughts which have occurred to me in regard to its past and its future. I had intended to bring before you some statistics in reference to the ten years work the Association has done, but it seems to me (having in view the excellent analysis appended to the report this year, drawn up by our assiduous Secretary), rather to be wasting time to lay before you in words what is before you more comprehensively on paper. I would take this opportunity of expressing my sense of the very great labour and usefulness of the appendix which Mr. Griffin has so ably prepared. Taking into consideration that appendix and the report of the General Committee, you will have a very fair idea of what the work of the Association has been during the past ten years. Possibly it may seem to some that this Association is rather anomalous in its position. If we take its principal towns of Burton, Derby, Leicester, and Nottingham, and draw a line from one to another, we have a parallelogram which embraces the district over which the Association extends. It has occurred to me that it would have been wiser had the Association originally been formed with boundaries co-terminus with the Diocese. It has not been so, and I for one shall now object to any interference with the area embraced by this Association. I grant you there are no peculiarly valid reasons for its delineation, but in the Midland Counties Association we have had ten years experience of a friendship which I hope will not be dissolved in the future. Therefore I shall most strongly use my influence (and I shall be supported by those present of the members of the Association) in saying that if anything occurs which would tend to disunite us I shall directly oppose it. (Hear, hear). We have for years pulled together, I don't suppose there is a more friendly Association, and to divide us would be to undo a great amount of our work of the past ten years. Our title was originally, "The Derby and District Association," and in the second year this was changed to the "Midland Counties Association." In those days there were three companies, for on reference to the report, I see the St. Paul's Burton-on-Trent Company rang the greater part of the peals, and they were supported by a Derby company and a Nottingham company. These were the only three bands who assisted in that report, and we have had up to the present but twelve companies who have rung peals, a small number it seems to me, in view of the enormous advance of this Association, for, though it be conceded to say so, we are clearly leading the Association, so far as method-ringing is concerned, in England (Hear, hear). I think that is something to be proud of. At the same time I think we have a serious matter to consider, whether we shall be able to keep our reputation up to the high standard it has been brought to. If there are only twelve companies, it seems to me a very small proportion out of which to expect to create young bands for the future, and I want to see an increase in the number of towers which have bands attached to them. If we are to have in the future such companies as in the past, we must have young blood, and I earnestly beseech each of you to use your influence to try and bring every member in your neighbourhood to see how very important it is, in the interests of the Association, that there should be a large number of good honest peals to add to the record.

With regard to the future, I ask you to consider what can be done to raise the number of bands who are in the habit of ringing amongst us. It would be so much better for all concerned if distinct companies could be so formed for each church.

Observe how the absence of defined companies affects ringers in London for instance, where there are an ample number of very excellent and friendly ringers, but a large number of these are not attached to any individual tower, and thus hardly become imbued with the church feeling developed in those whose interest is centred in the wellbeing of one church. Where there are several churches try to form distinct companies for each, and do not suppose that there may not, at the same time, be the same good fellowship as before between their respective members. There is another point. It seems to me the advance of change-ringing in this Association has not been of late what it should be. There is something like a nervous dread of change-ringing, apparently, among those who are not change-ringers. If you gentlemen who are proficient in the art would do your best to encourage these shy ones by your advice and practical assistance, you might do much good. There is really nothing to be afraid of. It is the first steps which are most difficult, but after a little, when the man begins to know something about it, the nervousness will wear off in the pleasure of the advance. I am reminded of an incident which occurred in Manchester I am told a few months ago. A covered van arrived at one of the goods stations without the name of the consignee. A porter opening the door was terrified to see a full-sized lion within, and hastily closed the opening and barred it. For two days bits of meat were pushed through a ventilator in the roof, and at the end of that time the expectant owner arrived to enquire for his property. On approaching the van with the intention of opening it, he was dragged back by the surrounding officials. "Mind what you're about," they said, "it's not safe." "Why, bless you, 'tis but a stuffed one," the owner replied. (Laughter). Well, gentlemen, change-ringing is very much like the stuffed lion, not much to be afraid of when you know all about it. In conclusion I thank you very heartily for the kind help that you have always given me in my presidency of this Association since the resignation of the late Mr. Fish, to whom so much of its success is owing. I thank you very heartily for making so pleasant for me this position of president, which I have had the honour to hold for so many years. I only trust the success of the association may continue in increasing friendliness amongst us; and I feel sure that if those members who are experienced will join hands with those who are coming on, we shall be able to carry forward this great work for years to come with unabated success. (Loud cheers.)

Mr. John W. Taylor, jun., then proposed the adoption of the Treasurer's accounts as printed in the Report. This was seconded by Mr. Stephen Cooper, and carried.

Only one nomination had been sent in for the three principal officers of the Association, viz.: A. Percival Heywood, Esq., President; Mr. William Wakley, Hon. Treasurer; Mr. Joseph Griffin, Honorary Secretary, which had been received from the Burton-on-Trent District; thereupon Mr. John Jaggar proposed and Mr. Alfred Archer seconded, that the gentlemen nominated be elected, which was carried unanimously.

Mr. Wakley returned thanks for the re-election, and said: I think you will agree with me that, in our opinion, in our President and Secretary we have officers who have done a great deal to get our Association into the position it now occupies. I thank the members for the confidence they have reposed in me as their Treasurer.

The President then said: I have one other duty to perform. I want to ask you to return your best thanks to the clergy who have allowed us to use their bells to-day, and in particular to Canon Richardson, who has allowed us the vestry for our committee meeting, arranged for our service, and given us the use of the schools for our tea.

Mr. Griffin, rising, said: the more the clergy come among us the better we like them, and I have great pleasure in seconding the resolution.

The Rev. H. A. Gem responded on behalf of the Clergy of Nottingham, in the absence of Canon Richardson and the Rev. G. Edgecombe, and said: I beg to return thanks for the manner in which you have received this resolution. It has been a pleasure to put our belfries at the disposal of the Midland Counties' Association. I regret that the practice of the bell-ringers in this neighbourhood has been so often stopped by cases of sickness.

The President then said: One clergyman here, the Rev. H. Earle Bulwer, has come from Norfolk, and on my left is the Rev. F. H. Beaven, from St. Paul's, Burton-on-Trent. I am not going to say one word in praise of them. Mr. Bulwer you know by reputation, and Mr. Beaven by personal intercourse. I will only ask you to record your sense of satisfaction in their presence by according them a hearty vote of thanks.

The Rev. H. Earle Bulwer said I am proud of my connection with an Association which I regard as the premier one of its kind in England, and I thank you for the kind way in which you have welcomed me.

The Rev. F. H. Beaven : I think it is necessary that the clergy should give their hearty support to the bellringers. I, like Mr. Gem, have received complaints about the bells. Whenever my ringers ask permission to ring I always give it, but I put on my coat and hat and go a walk for about three-and-a-half hours, and thus escape from the noise of the bells and also from all complaints. (Laughter). I am of the opinion that sympathy should be felt for all sick people living near any tower. Thank you for the hearty manner in which you have received the mention of my name.

The next business was to select a place where the Annual Meeting for 1893 should be held, and Mr. John Hickman proposed, and Mr. William Hickling seconded, that it be held at Leicester, and no other town being proposed, the proposition was unanimously carried. For the next quarterly meeting Mr. W. E. White proposed, and Mr. Samuel Johnson seconded, that it should be held at Derby.

The Honorary Secretary proposed Chesterfield, and said if change-ringing was to be encouraged, the Association must not neglect the outside towns.

Mr. John Howe seconded, and Mr. White having withdrawn his proposition, Chesterfield was unanimously agreed to.

Mr. J. W. Taylor, jun., then rose and said : This will be a red-letter day in the annals of our Association, and it is more strongly impressed upon us by another act of kindness on the part of our President. I wish I were able to express more forcibly what I am sure we all feel in this matter. We cannot single out of the whole country anyone who can fill the position as our President does. Every time we meet, we all see some new proof of work he has done for the art of change-ringing. To-day we have enjoyed a splendid repast, provided by him to mark this tenth anniversary of the Association. I beg to propose a hearty vote of thanks to him for the hospitality he shows to all members of the Midland Counties' Association.

The Honorary Secretary, in seconding the motion, said : Not only are we indebted to our President for the tea, but he has this day promised to present the Association with a new peal-book.

The proposition having been put to the meeting, was carried in the heartiest possible manner.

Mr. Heywood, in replying, said I am much obliged for the manner in which you speak of me. I hope you will all think of the welfare of the Association and do your best to try and work out by various means, its further prosperity. I may say for myself I will do all that lies in my power, but I would like to add this : It has been an increasing anxiety with me lest ringers in improving their art should not along with it improve their churchmanship. I have never been cheered in that matter as I am to-day. First, because the Bishop of the Diocese thinks it worth while to devote the greater part of an afternoon to us, and I may mention that the Vicar of St. Peter's would have been here but for illness ; and on the other hand I am cheered by the hearty way in which you have responded to the invitation to hear the Bishop. If you want to do that which will earn my fullest gratitude, do all you can to encourage good churchmanship, along with good ringing. (Applause.)

The meeting then closed.

PRESENTATION AT NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE.

A valued member of the St. John's Guild of Ringers of this town (Mr. Henry Ferguson) has recently decided to migrate to Scarborough, to pursue his profession in that town. Therefore on last Thursday week, the members of the Guild met together to have a farewell evening with him. As Mr. Ferguson's health would not warrant his attempting a 5000, a quarter-peal of Treble Bob, 1280 changes, was rung as a farewell touch by the following : H. Ferguson, 1 ; F. Lees, 2 ; H. H. Lindsey, 3 ; W. Holmes (conductor), 4 ; R. S. Story, 5 ; C. L. Routledge, 6 ; W. Story, 7 ; F. Harrison, 8. A goodly company afterwards assembled at the Victoria Hotel, where Mr. W. G. Routledge took the chair, and Mr. F. Lees the vice-chair. The chairman having made the opening remarks suitable to the occasion, called on Mr. R. S. Story, president of the Durham and Newcastle Association, to make the presentation. This the latter gentleman did in his usual happy style. He said he had known Mr. Ferguson from the latter's boyhood, and had always known him as quiet and gentlemanly, and warm-hearted. He held him up as an example both to himself and others, especially on such occasions as the break-down of a peal, when everyone is apt to lose their temper ; at such times Mr. Ferguson always kept cool and collected. He referred feelingly to the heavy loss his departure from St. John's would be : it would take Mr. Lees a long time to train a man up to ring Stedman and Treble Bob in so masterly a style, as to be able to take Mr. Ferguson's place. With these words he handed him, as a token of esteem from the Guild, a handsome English lever watch, on which was engraved a suitable inscription.

Messrs. F. Lees, W. Story, Routledge, Harrison, Rev. I. W. Milner (Vicar), etc., spoke in support of Mr. Story's speech.

The recipient's health was then drunk with musical honours.

In replying, Mr. Ferguson said he could not find language to express his thanks for their kind words and their handsome present. He had not expected it, and trusted they would not think it ingratitude on his part if his speech was short. He hoped to meet the Guild in Scarborough some day, and would come north as often as possible to ring a peal.

The rest of the evening was spent in harmony, songs being sung by Messrs. W. Story, W. and H. Holmes, Clapperton, Harrison, Watson, and W. G. and C. L. Routledge. Mr. R. S. Story made a lengthy speech on the good work of the Central Council at Birmingham, a most interesting topic to all present. The old song, "Auld Lang Syne," finished up a most pleasant evening, and Mr. Ferguson shook hands with all present, as he was leaving next day for his new scene of labour.

BISHOPSTONE CHURCH, WILTSHIRE.

On Easter Tuesday, the Countess of Craven formally started a new clock and chimes at Bishopstone, Wiltshire. It shows time on one large dial, strikes the hours on a ton bell, and chimes the Cambridge quarters on four others. It is a very fine specimen of workmanship, and is enclosed in an oak glass-fronted case on the ground floor of the tower. All the latest improvements have been incorporated in the mechanism ; the escapement is Lord Grimthorpe's double three-legged gravity, with compensated pendulum. Messrs. John Smith and Sons, of the Midland Steam Clock Works, Derby, have carried out the work to the complete satisfaction of all concerned. The same well-known firm have also just completed a large chime clock at Callaby Castle, Northumberland.

THE SURREY ASSOCIATION.

By the kind permission of the Vicar, a quarterly meeting of this Association was held at East Molesey on Easter Monday, April 18th. Upwards of fifty members sat down to tea at the New Inn, where they were joined by Mr. Robertson, a gentleman who takes a great interest in the church, and especially in the ringing. At the subsequent meeting at which Mr. Robertson took the chair, four new members were elected, and it was decided by a large majority to hold the next (the Annual) meeting at Croydon.

During the day the bells of East Molesey were kept going in the methods of Grandsire, Stedman, and Treble Bob.

THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

BLACKBURN BRANCH.—On Saturday week a meeting of this branch was held at the parish church. Representatives were present from Blackburn (parish and Holy Trinity churches), Church, Oswaldtwistle, and Padiham. Ringing was commenced at 3.30, and kept up till 9.30. At six o'clock the Rector (Rev. J. G. Denison) invited all the ringers to a substantial tea, which was provided in the schoolroom, and to which they all did ample justice. The Rector presided at the meeting, which was held in the schoolroom, where it was decided to hold the next meeting at Clitheroe, on Saturday, May 21st. Votes of thanks to the Rector, churchwardens, and visiting ringers brought the business of the meeting to a close.

THE HERTFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

In conformity with their usual custom the members of this Association spent the Easter bank holiday by having a dinner at the town hall, St. Albans, followed by a business meeting, and subsequently ringing performances on the bells of the Abbey and St. Peter's. In the morning a special service was held at the last-named church, at which the Ven. Archdeacon Lawrance delivered an excellent address from Psalm cxxxiv. 2: "Lift up your hands in the sanctuary, and bless the Lord." In the course of his sermon the Archdeacon referred to the observance in the Jewish ritual of the lifting up of the hands. He said:—

"There were clear meanings attached to this gesture as part of the ancient ritual of God's church. It had passed altogether out of our ritual, and yet there was a part of the church in which that same gesture was practised—in which, still in the Sanctuary of God, hands were lifted up, and were lifted up in order that the Lord might be blessed. They knew what he meant; they knew how it was part of the absolute necessity of ringing that the hands should be lifted up, and the very meaning of the bells in the church was that they were set there to sound forth God's praises, so that he thought they might take those words, without any unfair straining of their meaning, as having a reference to themselves, that when they took part in ringing in God's holy house, they were lifting up their hands in the Sanctuary that they might praise the Lord; that that very gesture which was absolutely necessary for the due performance of that duty which they had taken upon themselves was the reproduction in these modern times of that beautiful and touching gesture of devotion which they found in the Jewish ritual. And although they were doing it as a necessity of their art, yet they might associate with it a meaning of true devotion, that as they lifted up their hands in the church they were praising God, they were making themselves the vehicle of God's praises as the bells sounded forth their tuneful message over the town or village where their church was situate. The lifting up of the hands should suggest in its turn a lifting up of the heart to God, and if it were true that the lifting up of their hearts should coincide with the lifting up of their hands to God in praise and blessing, never at any time in the year more than then, should the truth come home to them. They were at the greatest of all the seasons in the Christian year; they had just been celebrating Easter Day; the Easter season was still with them, with all its profound, and beautiful, and triumphant lessons. They had endeavoured to give vent to their praises and thanksgivings to ALMIGHTY GOD for all his mercy, their thanksgiving to God for that which He done, their praise to Him for that which He is, and they combined their thanksgiving and praise most heartily, most naturally at that time when they remembered that by the glorious resurrection of His Son our LORD JESUS CHRIST, they had learned the truth that death was overcome, and that unto them the gate of everlasting life had been opened. And therefore, when they had met that day at their annual festival, to dedicate themselves afresh to that service which they had more especially undertaken, these words of the text might speak to them not only of the office they discharged in the belfry, but also of that which should belong to them throughout their lives—the lifting up of hands, the lifting up of voices, the lifting up of hearts to God Who was so good to them, Who had preserved them hitherto for His service, and Who had promised, when their service was over, His exceeding great reward."

After the service the dinner and business meeting took place. Mr. Leonard Proctor, one of the oldest ringers in the county, presided, and was supported by the Revs. J. Cruikshank, Sandridge; W. C. Morgan, St. Peter's; T. T. Blockley, St. Alban's Cathedral; and Messrs. H. J. Toulmin, F. W. Silvester, St. Alban's; Jackson, Cambridge; A. Oliver, London, and there were also present:—Messrs. H. J. Wright, W. Hewitt, Aldenham; W. Oakley, W. Atkins, G. Hunt, E. E. Huntley, Bushey; J. Dennis, Knebworth; W. Smith, H. Warner, P. Warner, N. Warner, J. Page, J. Kitchener, Joseph Kitchener, C. Shambrook, L. Chapman, Bennington; G. Munns, Graveley; H. Lewis, T. Waller, W. J. Everton, W. Battle, H. Brewer, E. Hull, W. T. Waller, H. Biggs, E. P. Debenham (secretary), G. W. Cartmel (assistant secretary), St. Alban's; J. R. Haworth, London; W. R. Dennis, J. Hare, Hitchin. A very substantial spread was put on the table by Mr. C. Addington, to which the assembled bell-ringers, who evidently knew the ropes, did full justice. Evidently anxious to handle the bells the business was quickly despatched. Mr. Debenham announced that letters had been received from the Lord Bishop of the Diocese, Archdeacon Lawrance, the Rev. F. Wilcox, Rev. C. V. Bicknell, and the Rev. G. H. P. Glossop, regretting inability to attend, but expressing hopes for a pleasant meeting, and then, on the motion of Mr. Debenham, seconded by Mr. Waller, Mr. Toulmin, Mr. Oliver and the Revs. J. A. Cruikshank and Morgan were elected hon. members, and Messrs. Maynard, Hussey, and C. Burrell were elected ringing members.

The annual report presented by the Society recorded genuine success. It stated that the financial balance in favour of the Association at the beginning of the year was £5 4s. 0d., but an increase of £1 14s. 0d. on that amount was now registered. The membership was composed of the ringing members, eighty-three resident and twenty-eight non-resident and a fair number of hon. members, and the Secretary hoped that in the latter department a further increase would be recorded. Change-ringing had progressed in the county, twenty peals having been rung—eighteen on tower bells and two on handbells. Of the tower peals eight were rung at Aldenham, four at Bushey, three at Hatfield, two at Oxhey, and one at St. Albans, and comprised one of Grandsire Caters, one of Bob Major, and sixteen Triples. The best performance for the year was the handbell peal rung by Messrs. Mitchell, and they claim the credit of having scored the first peal in seven minor methods rung on handbells. The report regretted that the Association had not the support it deserved from change-ringers in the Eastern division, and the Secretary was inclined to adopt the suggestion of Canon Wigram—an ex-secretary of the association—to form districts in the county. In conclusion the Secretary thanked Mr. Cartmel for the assistance given by him during the year.

Mr. Toulmin, as a young member, was anxious to prove of some usefulness, and so proposed the adoption of the report, and in doing so complimented Mr. Debenham on its excellent composition. Mr. Haworth seconded, and it was unanimously adopted. Mr. Debenham acknowledged the compliment, and proposed the re-election of the President, Mr. Proctor, and also a vote of thanks to him for his past services. Mr. Toulmin seconded, and said the association could reckon itself very fortunate in having the services of a such a universally esteemed veteran, and expressed the hope that he might be long spared to occupy the chair on similar occasions. Mr. Lewis desired to heartily support the motion. Mr. Proctor had rendered invaluable services to the Association in the past. The vote was cordially passed, and the Chairman, in replying, said he should always do what he could on behalf of the Association. The election of the Secretary was the next item of business, and Mr. Lewis proposed the re-election of Mr. Debenham, who had managed the affairs of the Association with credit to himself and value to the members. (Applause.) Mr. Toulmin cordially seconded the resolution, and it was unanimously adopted. Mr. Debenham facetiously remarking that he should be pleased to continue in the office at the same salary as heretofore. (Laughter.) On the proposition of Mr. Cartmel, Mr. E. E. Huntley, of Bushey, was elected auditor, and on the motion of Mr. Brewer, seconded by Mr. Hull, a cordial vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Cartmel for the able assistance he had rendered the Secretary, and re-appointing him Assistant-Secretary. The next district meeting was fixed for the summer months at Aldenham, and a vote of thanks was passed to the Archdeacon for his address at the morning service, and to the clergy of St. Peter's for assisting at the service. Mr. Morgan replied, and the Chairman having been thanked for his attendance and kindness in presiding, the company adjourned to the Abbey and St. Peter's towers, where for several hours they were engaged in change-ringing.

It is to be regretted that the service was not well attended by the ringers, especially coming at a time when the clergy are strained through extra services at Easter. The preacher alluded to this in his sermon. There were plenty of ringers even in the churchyard, and yet moral persuasion could not induce them to enter God's House for such a short time.

CHANGE OF ADDRESS.—Mr. Albert E. Parsons, of 42, Corn-greaves Road, Cradley Heath, has removed to 17, Bank Street, Old Hill, Staffordshire.

WANTED, by a Good Workman, Situation as Bell-frame Maker and Hanger. Twelve years' experience. Can have good reference.—F. BARBER, 255, Whitehorse Road, Croydon, Surrey.

DEDICATION OF BELLS AT BRIGHTON, SUSSEX.

On Easter-Eve, Saturday, April 16th, an event took place at St. Nicholas', formerly the old parish church of Brighton, of special interest, not only to the ringers of that town, but to the whole of the members of the Sussex County Association. A peal of ten bells has been unknown in the county of Sussex since 1826, when the two old trebles were removed from the tower of St. Nicholas' to St. Peter's in the same town, thereby reducing the old peal of ten to the octave. A short time since Mr. Shelley, one of the ex-churchwardens, died, leaving a sum to be expended as a memorial, in the old church, to himself and his wife, and Mr. Geo. F. Attree being appointed one of the trustees to his will, suggested the expenditure of the money in providing two new treble bells to take the place of those lost to the church nearly seventy years ago. The Vicar and churchwardens would only consent to the proposal on Mr. Attree guaranteeing to collect the sum of £200 necessary to rehang, quarter-turn and provide all complete new fittings for the old bells, and recast the old third bell, which for years has been badly cracked. This has now been satisfactorily carried out by Messrs. Blackburn and Greenleaf, bellhangers, of Salisbury, while the three new bells are from the foundry of Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. The whole work seems to give great satisfaction, and the splice of the new bells is all that can be desired.

At the Dedication Service the Vicar of St. Nicholas (the Rev. C. W. Bond) officiated, assisted by the Rev. E. Riley (Vicar of St. John's), the Rev. Fairfax Scott, the Rev. E. J. Morgan, and the Rev. E. H. Rogers, and the sermon was preached by the Rev. Prebendary Hannah, Vicar of Brighton. The service commenced with the hymn, "We love the place, O God," which was followed by Psalms 122 and 150. The Rev. E. Riley read the lesson from Numbers x., verses 1-10. Special hymns—"In Sinai's dreary waste," and "Now at length our bells are mounted," were sung as the clergy and choir proceeded to the belfry for the dedication of the bells, and as they returned. The Rev. Prebendary Hannah preached the sermon from Psalm lxxi. 1. "Sing we merrily unto God our strength, and make a cheerful noise unto the God of Jacob."

The hymn commencing "O God, our help in ages past," was then sung, and the service was closed with the Benediction. A few rounds were rung on the bells immediately after the dedication, and at the conclusion two touches each consisting of three courses of Stedman Caters were rung by the following members of the Sussex County Association: First touch. G. F. Attree (conductor), 1; A. A. Fuller, 2; K. Hart, 3; F. Morris, 4; J. Searle, 5; A. Goddard, 6; W. Palmer, 7; J. George, 8; G. Williams, 9; J. Jay, 10. Second touch. G. F. Attree, 1; G. Williams, 2; J. R. Reilly, 3; G. A. King, 4; S. Lawrence, 5; J. George, 6; W. Palmer, 7; J. Searle, 8; A. Goddard, 9; J. Jay, 10.

THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

FYLDE BRANCH.—The members of this branch of the above Association held their quarterly meeting at Kirkham, on Saturday, April 23rd, there being present about twenty members from Lytham, Kirkham, Blackpool and Manchester, including the President of the Association (the Rev. H. J. Elsee), Mr. J. Redford (Hon. Sec.), and Mr. Jackson (Hon. Treasurer). Canon Mason, Vicar of Kirkham, occupied the chair, the proceedings throughout being of a most interesting nature. Speeches were made by the rev. chairman, the Rev. H. J. Elsee, Mr. Jno. Fell (the branch Secretary), Mr. Redford, Mr. Wray and Mr. Butler. During the meeting votes of sympathy were passed to the widow of the late Mr. Blacoe, also to Mr. Clitheroe of Blackpool, and to Mr. Townend, of St. Anne's, who have both lost their wives during the quarter. Great sympathy was also expressed with Canon Hawkins, of Lytham, and the rev. chairman, at the request of the meeting, undertook to convey the same to Canon Hawkins. The Rev. Canon Mason was elected an honorary member of the Association, together with Messrs. G. Brown and R. Redman, of Kirkham, as ordinary members. During the afternoon a series of touches of Grandsire Triples, Doubles and Bob Minor were rung, all the members present, including the President, taking part. The proceedings were very enjoyable, and the gathering was considered the most successful yet held in the district.

MICKLETON, GLOUCESTERSHIRE.

As announced in our peal columns last week a band of the Diocesan Association succeeded in ringing a peal, the first, on the bells of the parish church, which have been recently augmented to eight by the addition of two trebles, by Messrs. Taylor, of Loughborough. At the kind invitation of the Vicar, the Rev. W. V. Perry, the Master of the Association got together a first-rate band, but having secured eight good men besides himself, as one non-arrival on the day would have meant no peal, in a district where change-ringers are so scarce, he had to content himself with spending the morning in overhauling the bells—the trebles only having been newly hung—and the afternoon in listening to as well-struck a peal and as noble a ring of bells at the weight as could be wished for. The church and village are most beautifully situated close under the hills, and in the midst of a rich country. With the lovely scenery bathed in sunlight, and the music of the bells mellowed by distance, the listener on the hillside was to be envied rather than pitted.

The old bells are by Rudhall, with the exception of one by Mears, and are most beautiful in tone; but even in such company the trebles have no cause to be ashamed of themselves, and the Loughborough firm is to be congratulated on having made so excellent a splice. The new bells were presented by an old inhabitant of the village, Mr. Slatter. Long may he live to enjoy their music, and many another good peal may he hear and enjoy as much as he did the first ever rung in Mickleton. All thanks, too, are due to the Vicar for his kind hospitality to the visitors; a sumptuous luncheon on their arrival, and welcome refreshment after the peal greatly enhanced their enjoyment. We hope that the local ringers may be stirred with the spirit of emulation, and that astonishment at the fact that ringers—parsons too—could come all that way and ring three hours for nothing, will give place to conviction that change-ringing is interesting in itself, and has attractions which fully reward those who have patiently groped their way through its first rudiments.

CARDIFF, SOUTH WALES.

On Easter Monday, an attempt was made at Llandaff Cathedral to ring Holt's ten-part peal of Grandsire Triples, which unfortunately was lost, a change-course occurring at the latter end of the third part, after one hour's ringing. Another start would have been made, but the tenor had to be lowered and overhauled as she was "going" very badly. While this was being done the ringers adjourned for refreshment; and on returning to the tower a well-struck touch of 1,554 Grandsire Triples was rung in 1 hr. 7 mins. J. Clutterbuck, 1; C. Smith (conductor), 2; W. Jones, 3; W. Biss, 4; R. Yeo, 5; C. Lloyd, 6; W. Coombes, 7; H. G. White, 8. The 2nd and 5th men hail from Swansea; the 3rd from Morriston; the rest are local men. The above band intend going for the peal again on Whit-Monday, all being well. They wish to thank the Very Rev. the Dean of Landaff and Canon Downing for the use of the bells, and their Swansea and Morriston friends for their kind assistance.

NORTON, DERBYSHIRE.

On Wednesday evening, April 20th, the choir and ringers of the parish church assembled at the Bagshawe Arms to partake of their annual dinner, kindly given by Mr. E. M. E. Welby, Norton House. A splendid spread was provided by host Fielding, to which ample justice was done. After dinner Mr. J. Atkin (choirmaster) occupied the chair, and Mr. J. Allen (representing the ringers) the vice-chair. Along with the usual toasts a capital musical programme was gone through, consisting of songs, glees, and handbell ringing. The Chairman, in very appropriate terms, alluded to the extreme liberality of Mr. and Mrs. Welby towards the promotion of all branches of church work in the parish. This was ably supported by Messrs. Allen and Hunstone, and followed by musical honours. The evening was a most enjoyable one.

* * The appearance of several reports of meetings and touches avoidably held over until next week.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

OFFICIAL MINUTES OF THE ANNUAL MEETING.

The second Annual Meeting of the Council was held at the Colonnade Hotel, Birmingham, on Tuesday, April 19th, 1892. Of the whole number of eighty-four members, forty-five were present, representing twenty-four out of thirty-three societies. The President (A. Percival Heywood, Esq.,) took the chair. The minutes of the meeting of 1891 were read and confirmed. Letters of regret for unavoidable absence from several members were read. It was announced that one society, the Eastern Counties' Guild, had withdrawn its representative from the Council, and that a new society, the St. Peter's Guild, Wolverhampton, had joined.

A letter was read from Mr. F. E. Dawe resigning the hon. secretaryship. The resignation was accepted with regret. On nomination by Messrs. Dains, Newson, and others, it was proposed and carried unanimously that the Rev. H. Earle Bulwer be elected hon. secretary.

It was moved and carried unanimously that the following be elected honorary members of the Council:—Captain Acland-Troyte, Rev. A. H. Boughey, W. H. Thompson.

The accounts for the past year were submitted and passed, having been previously audited by the Standing Committee. The receipts were £9 5s., and the expenditure £1 1s., leaving a balance in the bank of £8 4s. The subscriptions for the present year amounting to £9 2s. 6d. bring the total balance up to £17 6s. 6d.

The following resolutions were then passed:—

It was moved by the President, seconded by Mr. Attree, and carried, that the part of rule x. relating to the number of members required to form a quorum be amended as follows:—that "twenty" be substituted for "one third the whole number of members."

On a motion by Rev. H. A. Cockey that the rules be printed an amendment was moved by the President, seconded by Mr. Howard, and carried, "that the Standing Committee be requested to take into consideration how the rules may best be brought under the notice of the members."

The Committee appointed to obtain adequate recognition of the Exercise from the Church Congress, reported that after deciding that it was desirable to try to obtain a hearing at the Folkestone Congress this year, they had addressed a letter to the Subjects Committee, and had received in reply a form on which they placed the names of several gentlemen whom they thought would speak or read a paper before the Congress. Since returning the paper no further communication had been received.

On consideration of the report presented by the Committee appointed to draw up a body of advice, &c., to Church Authorities on bells and ringers, the Rev. T. L. Papillon moved, Mr. Barnett seconded, and it was carried, "That the draft report be accepted as a whole, subject to the reconsideration by the committee of special details upon which suggestions may be offered, the said suggestions to be sent to the Honorary Secretary in writing on or before April 30th." Mr. Attree moved, Mr. Williams seconded, and it was carried, "that the section of the report dealing with prices of bells and fittings be submitted to two or three bell-founders for verification."

The Rev. F. E. Robinson moved, Mr. Griffin seconded, and it was carried, "That the various associations be asked to take a number of copies in proportion to their numbers and their areas." The Rev. T. L. Papillon moved, Mr. Barnett seconded, and it was carried, that the Standing Committee be empowered to pay the expenses of the report, adding thereto an index."

The Rev. T. L. Papillon moved, the Rev. C. D. P. Davies seconded, and it was carried with but few dissentients, that the following conditions are essential to the validity of the peal:—

On five bells, without the addition of a covering bell, not less than 5040 changes, rung without interval in true six-scores, and in not less than three methods.

On six bells, not less than 5040 changes rung without interval in true 720s, of which no two in the same method shall be called alike.

On seven bells, with or without the addition of a covering bell, 5040 true changes rung without interval in any one method.

On eight, ten, and twelve bells, not less than 5000 true changes, rung without interval in any one method.

On nine and eleven bells, in each case with the addition of a covering bell, not less than 5000 true changes rung without interval in any one method.

The Rev. H. E. Bulwer gave notice that he would move at the next meeting an addition to the definition of a peal on seven bells, with a view of discountenancing such peals without a covering bell.

Mr. Snowdon moved, Mr. Lucas seconded, and it was carried, "That it was expedient to publish a catalogue of books relating to bells and ringing, and that the matter be referred to the Standing Committee with an instruction that, in basing their list upon that of the Rev. H. T. Ellacombe, they should insert an acknowledgement of the labour bestowed by him upon the subject."

The Rev. H. A. Cockey moved, "That a committee be appointed to receive and classify all compositions of 5,000 changes and upwards, and to issue an annual report in which all peals composed in the previous twelve months shall be published."

Mr. Copley moved and Mr. Howard seconded, and it was carried "That the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, Mr. C. H. Hattersley, and Mr. Washbrook be appointed a committee to consider the matter."

The Rev. C. D. P. Davies moved, and Mr. Catchpole seconded, and it was carried "That the question of deciding as to the proper call or calls in each method be referred to the same Committee."

Mr. Attree moved, and Mr. Washbrook seconded, and it was carried "That the Hon. Secretary be instructed to write to the Editors of ringing papers asking them only to publish such peals as are rung in conformity with the definitions put forth by the Council."

On the President expressing a hope that Mr. Attree would see his way, in compiling his valuable analysis of peals, to insert none under the name of more than one society; Mr. Attree consented to give notice in "THE BELL NEWS" to that effect. He also said that, at the next meeting he should call attention to the unsatisfactory way in which members were elected to Associations previous to starting for a peal, and would move one or more resolutions thereon.

Mr. Phillott moved, and Mr. Taylor seconded, "That Oxford be the place of meeting for next year."

Mr. Snowdon moved, and Mr. Hattersley seconded, "Leeds for the same meeting." Oxford was decided on by 27 votes to 13.

On the motion of the President it was seconded and carried unanimously "That, to obviate any objection that might be taken under rule XI. to the results of the voting on the various resolutions and amendments, the Council do now confirm the whole of these as passed."

The Rev. T. L. Papillon moved, and the Rev. F. E. Robinson seconded, "A vote of thanks to the President for presiding." This was carried unanimously.

WORCESTERSHIRE AND DISTRICTS ASSOCIATION.

The Annual Meeting of the above Association was held at Kidderminster on Easter Monday, when Messrs. Newson and Jacob (London), Bastable (Birmingham), and members from Areley Kings, Birmingham, Clent, Dudley, Evesham, Kidderminster, Netherton, Old Hill, Pershore, Stourbridge, Wollaston, and Worcester were present. The bells of St. Mary's parish church were set going in the morning by a mixed band ringing Double Norwich Court Bob Major. The same party afterwards made an attempt for a peal in the same method at Chaddesley Corbett, which came to grief. Meanwhile St. Mary's bells were kept going with Treble Bob Major, Stedman and Grandsire Triples, until four o'clock, when service was held in the beautiful old church. The prayers were intoned by the curate of St. Mary's, the lessons read by the Rev. W. C. Gibbs, rector of Hagley, and a short impressive sermon delivered by the Rev. S. Phillips, vicar of Kidderminster, from Psalm xxvi. v. 8: "Lord, I have loved the habitation of Thy house, and the place where Thine honour dwelleth." The Rev. H. Kingsford, vicar of Stoulton, was also present.

At the business meeting, which was held in the vestry, presided over by the Rev. S. Phillips, and supported by the above-mentioned clergy, letters of apology were read from the Very Rev. the Dean of Worcester, Canon Gregory Smith (Great Malvern), Canon W. W. Douglas, rector of Salwarpe, and Mr. W. Pearce (Pershore), regretting their inability to attend. On the motion of the Master (Mr. S. Spittle), the following alterations were made in rules 6, 9, and 10. Rule 6 after the word year in line three add "ninepence being allowed out of the funds for each member who have previously given notice to attend tea at such meeting." Rule 19 after the words Local Sec. in fifth line add "shall give six days' notice to the Hon. Secretary of the number from his company wishing to attend tea at the Annual Meeting." Rule 9—"The Association shall at any quarterly meeting appoint an Instructor to any local company desiring one, the company to pay such share of the expense as the Committee may decide."

The Very Rev. the Dean of Worcester was elected President of the Association, the Clerical Vice-Presidents, Lay Vice-Presidents, Master, Hon. Secretary, Hon. Treasurer, and a Committee of Management were re-elected. It was then unanimously decided to hold the next meeting at Malvern on Saturday, June 18th.

On the motion of the Rev. H. Kingsford the best thanks of the meeting were accorded to the rev. chairman for presiding, for the service in the church, and for the use of the tower and bells.

The rev. gentleman in reply said it had given him very great pleasure to meet the members of the Association at their Annual Meeting, and he should be pleased at any future time to render all the assistance in his power for the furtherance of the objects the society had in view.

At the conclusion of the business the company adjourned to the schoolroom, where, through the efforts of Mr. J. Crane, one of the local company, a substantial tea had been provided, the rev. gentleman mentioned above being present. Ample justice having been done to the good things provided, the members wended their way back to the tower, where ringing in various methods was kept up by mixed companies. Touches and courses were rang in the schoolroom before and after tea on the Association handbells, and altogether a successful and pleasant meeting was brought to a close.

Obituary.

WILLIAM SMITH.

We regret to announce the demise of Mr. William Smith, of Sheffield, which took place on Saturday evening, the 16th ultimo. The deceased ringer was for many years a member of the St. Marie's (R.C.) society, but from the result of an accident, had not taken part in ringing matters lately. He was a member of the Yorkshire Association and the Society of College Youths. The interment took place on the following Wednesday, at Burngreave cemetery, and was attended by ringers from the different towers. A course of Grandsire Triples was rung over the grave, and in the evening muffled touches were run at St. Marie's, as a last token of respect.

SATURDAY, MAY 7, 1892.

ON another page will be found the official minutes of the Birmingham meeting of the Central Council. These consist of a concise epitome of the resolutions there adopted, of which an extended report was presented last week. A list is added shewing the extent to which each society was represented. This arrangement, kindly sent us from headquarters, will enable our readers more readily to grasp the precise nature of the decisions arrived at, and to follow us in the remarks we offer upon them. Last week we took a general survey of the meeting of the Council. We now propose to consider the motions more in detail.

We are glad, in the first place, to see that our suggestion with regard to the appointment of a Clerical Secretary, and of the REV. H. EARLE BULWER in particular, found unanimous favour with those present. Although many will regret the resignation of our friend Mr. DAWE, and the more that as Hon. Secretary he represented the London section of the Exercise, a representative to which this important body of ringers are fairly entitled, yet, upon consideration, it will be seen that the selection of the REV. H. EARLE BULWER not only provides the Council with a most valuable officer, but also results in the two highest official positions in that body being held, the one by a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, the other by a member of the Royal Cumberland Society, a fit recognition of the high position of these time-honoured Societies, than whom none have in the past done more to keep alive the science and practice of change-ringing.

In this year's selection of Honorary Members, the Council will without doubt have the full concurrence of the Exercise, for the three names added to the roll are those of gentlemen who have already done valuable work in the interests of ringers.

With regard to the accounts, we are glad to note that the Council have upwards of £17 in hand, although, with the many demands that are apparently to be made on its funds, a very careful administration will be required if this amount is to prove in any degree adequate.

The result of the application for the interests of ringers to be considered by the Church Congress will be awaited with some anxiety, as a test of the extent to which the rapid spread of change-ringing has been appreciated by the authorities of the Church.

The publication of the report upon bells and their surroundings, with a view to familiarize clergy and churchwardens with the requirements of their ringers, will be looked forward to with no little expectation as a work that may be found of infinite service. As yet we are not in a position to consider it in detail, and we therefore reserve our review until a future occasion.

Of more immediate interest to the Exercise are the carefully drawn definitions of the essentials of valid peals on the various numbers of bells. These will doubtless be subjected, in parts, to severe criticism, but, upon the whole, we should be disposed to agree with the decisions arrived at. If we are to take exception to any of the clauses it would be in regard to those referring to peals of Doubles and Minor; for while fully agreeing with the President of the Yorkshire Association in deeming it right that the Council should set up a high standard of excellence we are, as it would appear he is himself, doubtful whether the desirable level here specified is not a little too high for some of our less advanced brethren. Again, was it taken into consideration that peals of Minor consisting of 360's in fourteen different methods have been accepted as notable performances? For ourselves we recognise the rectitude of the principle, and shall be glad to see that these definitions are adhered to; but we are not without a fellow-feeling for those who have shared in the past, or may wish to share in the future, in performances hitherto regarded as legitimate, but now, by an authority with an unquestionable right to our deference, declared to be of doubtful propriety.

Space precludes us from completing this week our notice of the remaining resolutions of the Council; the consideration of these we therefore postpone until our next issue.

RAWMARSH, YORKS.-THE YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of members of this Association took place at Rawmarsh on Easter Monday, when representatives were present from York, Sheffield, Rotherham, Bradfield, and Rawmarsh. The proceedings began with a peal of Grandsire Triples being attempted by the local ringers, which came to grief after ringing 3432 changes, in 2 hrs., owing to the 4th rope slipping wheel. An adjournment was then made to the "Earl Grey" inn, where a substantial dinner was served. After dinner Mr. Jos. Farmery proposed, and it was carried, that Mr. Thomas Hattersley, of Sheffield (steward of the Association), preside. The Chairman called upon Mr. W. H. Howard, of York (vice-president of the Association), to address the meeting.

Mr. Howard spoke of the pleasure it gave him to be present, and proceeded to give an interesting account of the ancient peal of twelve in York Minster. One of the bells was cracked, and each bell had a history of its own. Five of the old peal of twelve were cast in the year 1400 by a man named Innocent. The tongue of one of these bells could now be seen in a window of the Punch Bowl inn, York. He then gave a description of one of the windows in York Minster, which commemorates the ancient bells. The upper part of the window gives an account of the origin and date of the bells, and the lower part illustrates an incident connected with the inauguration of them, in which St. William, Archbishop of York, was being followed by a crowd of people over the bridge, and which, owing to the great crush, broke it down. He was writing a history of the bells of York Minster, and in a short time the pamphlet would be ready for sale. He (the speaker) commenced to ring in York Minster in 1839, and had rung many peals of Grandsire, and always enjoyed the work. Alluding to the Yorkshire Association, he pressed its claims upon the attention of the ringers of Yorkshire, and would like to see its influence extended.

The Chairman proposed "Success to the Rawmarsh bell-ringers," which was well received. The Rawmarsh handbell ringers gave several selections in good style, viz., "Jenny Jones," "Going home to-morrow," "The skiff on the shore," and the "Macron waltz." A performance on the bells was given by a company from York, Sheffield, and Rotherham, consisting of a course of Grandsire Caters. Songs were given by Messrs. T. Hattersley, G. Vernon, and G. Knapton. A touch of Stedman Triples was then rung on the church bells by a company of Rotherham ringers; and another by contingents from Sheffield, Rawmarsh, and Bradfield. The Rotherham ringers were Messrs. W. Coates, F. Coates, T. Lee, A. Rogers, J. Hall, and W. Warburton. The Rawmarsh company were: H. Bonds, 1; S. Walker, 2; U. Hawkins, 3; J. Ensor, 4; J. Farmery, 5; T. Whitworth (conductor), 6; W. Hawkins, 7; T. J. Wild, 8.

Tenor 10 cwt. The old veteran, Mr. S. Whitworth, also took part in the handbell ringing. A most successful and enjoyable festival was concluded with thanks to the rector and churchwardens for privileges granted.

THE OLD EAST DERBYSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

On Easter Monday, April 18th, this Association held its second annual meeting at Killamarsh. Divine service was held in the church for the reopening of the bells at 11.0 a.m. After a short service in the tower, the Rev. H. E. Molineux, Rector of Staveley, preached a most appropriate sermon. During the service the bells were raised in peal by the local company, and a short touch of Oxford was rung. After service the church brass band ascended the tower, and played two tunes on the square, much to the delight of the large crowd of people collected together in the streets and churchyard.

The business of the day commenced by the ringing, in good style, of two 720s, by the Norton and Eckington men, when a move was made to the Crown Inn, where thirty members sat down to an excellent dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor, of Loughborough, also dined with the society.

After dinner, the Rev. H. E. Ferry, President of the Association, took the chair. The minutes having been confirmed, the Secretary's report was next read, which was very encouraging. It showed an increase in members during the past year, and the financial position of the Association to be very satisfactory. The number of peals had also increased from one in the last report to six in the present.

On the motion of Mr. H. Madin, the report was passed, the printing of the same to be left in the Secretary's hands.

The following officers were elected: Rev. H. E. Ferry, president; H. Madm and S. Allen, vice-presidents; H. Allen, hon. treasurer; and E. James, hon. secretary. A committee of 14 were also appointed. It was decided to hold the next meeting at Norton, on Saturday, June 25th.

After the usual votes of thanks were passed the meeting was brought to a close, and the tower was again visited by mixed bands, and the following 720s were rang: 720 of Oxford. G. Butcher, 1; J. Atkins, 2; E. James, 3; C. Fowler, 4; T. Lunn, 5; J. Allen (conductor), 6. A 720 of Violet. F. Hancock, 1; W. Price, 2; E. James, 3; W. Worthington, 4; G. Marsden (conductor), 5; T. Lunn, 6. And another 720 in the last-named method by Messrs. Butcher, Atkins, James, Norman, Marsden, and Allen. The Staveley, Harthill, and Dronfield members also rung a few short touches, but having to leave by an early train their time for ringing was limited.

The Vicarage, Portsea.

NOTE TO THE HILLINGDON PEAL PUBLISHED THE WEEK BEFORE LAST.—After ringing the peal the ringers were hospitably entertained by the vicar, to whom the thanks of the ringers are due. An attempt for another peal at St. Andrew's, Hillingdon, came to grief after ringing two hours. A 720 of Bob Minor was rung upon the bells of St. Margaret, Uxbridge, in the course of the day. There is a tablet in the belfry of St. John the Baptist recording the last peal, which was rung on Sunday, May 14th, 1826, by the Watford Union Youths; this was also Holt's ten-part, and strange to say, it also occupied 3 hours 12½ mins. According to the rare yarns told by Charles Tomkins, who's father called the peal in 1826, these Watford Youths were a famous band. The bells run backwards. The following is a copy of an old plaster tablet in the gallery below:—"The whole peal of Grandsire Triples of 5040 changes was thrice performed by those persons hereafter mentioned in ye year 1733 Richard Ashley, James Munday, Richard Inett, John West, Richard Brown, John Christmas, Richard Perries, William Mitchell, Richard Cox, Richard Ashley, Jun. February 6th, 1737, was rung a complete peal of 5120 changes of Oxford Tripples Bobs, in three hours 26 mins., by the following men:—Charles Dodwell, 1; William Munday, 2; Richard Inett, Jun., 3; Charles Taylor (conductor), 4; Thomas Christmas, 5; Richard Inett, Sen., 6; Matt Ashley, 7; John Vuadamer, 8." It is very probable that these peals were rung by local ringers, for by referring to the ms. of the Union Scholars, we find that these Hillingdon men joined that society about the year 1751, one of these rang in the peal of 1737. We further find, that on the 9th April, 1751, that Union Scholars rang 5800 Double Bob Major, and 5040 Bob Major, in seven and a half hours, which was conducted by John Holt. Two other celebrated personages—James Albion and James Vicars, also took part, as they did in another peal of Double Bob Major in the same year. Vicars called another peal of Bob Major at Hillingdon in 1754, which appears to have been the last peal but one rung by the Union Scholars.

THE GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A Quarterly Meeting of this Association was held at Berkeley on Monday, May 2nd. Service was held in the parish church at 11.30 a.m., and an earnest and appropriate address was given by the Vicar, the Rev. J. L. Stackhouse. At the close of the service the Vicar kindly pointed out the chief objects of interest in the church. The fine old building was once the scene of a fierce struggle between the Royalists and Cromwell's troops, when the latter were attacking the Castle, and in the west doors the loop-holes are still to be seen through which the Royalists fired on the besiegers, together with the marks of bullet holes. The defenders were eventually driven from the church, and cannon planted on its roof, by which the Castle was commanded, and a breach made in its walls; the Royalists being thus forced to capitulate. The breach has never been repaired. The tower stands some fifty yards away from the church, on the north, the Castle being on the south. The bells are six in number, with a tenor of some 18 cwt. or 20 cwt., though reputed to be 25 cwt. The music of the ring is sadly marred by the fact that the tenor, a fine bell in itself, is very much too sharp. The bells go heavily. They were recently rehung with new stocks, wheels, bearings, etc., but the old frame was left as it was and is very rickety.

Dinner was provided at the "Berkeley Arms" at one o'clock. The Vicar took the chair and was supported by the Master and Secretary of the Association, the Rev. H. A. Cockey and the Rev. Pitt Eykyn, the Revs. Joberns, Rigbye, and Veal, and Messrs. C. E. D. Boutflower, Chichester, Howell, etc. Between forty and fifty members were present. Dinner over, the business meeting was held. Four honorary and six ringing members were elected. Dinner over, the business meeting was held. Four honorary and six ringing members were elected, and it was decided that the next quarterly meeting should be held at Swindon. After the meeting a large party were shown over the Castle, though they were with difficulty dragged away from the first object which met their view on entering the gate, a huge Chinese bell of curious form and hideous note! Touches of Grandsire Minor, Bob Minor, Kent Treble Bob, etc., were rung at Berkeley during the day, with many 6-scores of Doubles; and a party drove over to Stinchcombe, where a 720 of Grandsire was all but brought round—a change-course occurring in the sixth part—on the very handy and pleasant-toned ring of six by Warner. The same party then proceeded to Dursley, and succeeded in ringing a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples. W. Woodward, 1; R. Devenish, 2; H. Howell, 3; A. Burcombe, 4; Rev. H. A. Cockey, 5; F. Price (conductor), 6; H. W. Fussell, 7; A. Morgan, 8. This was the first quarter-peal by all except the Master and F. Price.

RE-OPENING OF THORVERTON BELLS, DEVON.

We have received the following additional particulars of this meeting:—

Despite the wintry weather a very large number of pleasure seekers was attracted to Thorverton, when the bells of the parish church were re-dedicated. The peal consists of six bells, which are very musical, and date as far back as 1650. Time wrought its work of decay upon the cage in which they were hung, and in the end a portion of it collapsed. A year ago a Committee was formed and a subscription list opened, with the object of supplying a new cage and beams. The sum needed for the work was £120, and the major portion of it was soon assured. Mr. H. Stokes, of Woodbury, was entrusted with the task of constructing a new cage and rehanging the bells, which work he has performed thoroughly, and on modern principles. The festivities connected with the re-dedication really commenced on Easter Day, when special services, attended by crowded congregations, were held. In the musical parts of these services assistance was rendered by four members of the Royal Marine Band from Plymouth. The offertories for the day in aid of the Bell Fund amounted to £5 17s. 7d. The village was prettily decorated at all points. The principal attraction in this respect was a triumphal arch erected across the road near the church gates, bearing the inscriptions "Welcome to Thorverton," "A voice from the Temple," "Songs of praise our bells shall raise," and "Ring out the false, ring in the true." Suspended from the middle of the central span of this arch was a bell carefully made of evergreens and primroses. On Bank Holiday morning other members of the Royal Marine Band (which was present in its almost entire strength) arrived from Plymouth, and played en route from the railway station to the town. The Dedication Service was afterwards held in the church, and was attended by an overflowing congregation. The whole of the Marine Band took part in it. The service was conducted by the Rev. S. Childs Clarke, and there were also present in surplices the Rev. Dr. Dangar (Exeter), the Rev. J. F. Coleridge, rural dean (Cadbury), and the Rev. W. H. Gibbons (Upton Pyne). The re-dedication hymn "Long since in by-gone days," was composed by the Rev. S. Childs Clarke, and was set to an ancient Hebrew melody. The recessional hymn, "On, Brothers, On," was also from the rev. gentleman's pen. Previous to the offertories being taken, the Vicar called upon a band of ringers from Liskeard to ring a short touch. He asked the congregation to remember that in addition to the outlay immediately connected with the bells, other expensive repairs were needed to the tower, the roof, and the clock.

Subsequently a large number of persons partook of a public luncheon in the Schoolroom, which had been prettily decorated by the Misses Clarke and Miss Dangar.

A strong, biting wind considerably moderated outdoor enjoyment. There were trial touches upon the bells by bands of ringers from St. Sidwell's and St. Thomas' (Exeter), Cullompton, Witheridge, Stoke Canon, Crediton, Silverton, Cruwys Morchard, Alphington, Whitestone, Sandford, and Shobrooke, all of whom testified to the excellence of Mr. Stokes's workmanship. The public tea provided in the schoolroom was extensively patronised.

THE ST. SIDWELL'S GUILD, EXETER.

This Society held their seventeenth Annual Meeting in the vestry of the parish church on Saturday evening, April 23rd, Mr. Harry Hems, vice-president, taking the chair in the absence from Exeter of the Rev. S. W. E. Bird, M.A., the rector, who is President of the Guild. The Hon. Secretary (Mr. Frank Davey) read the report, which was of a gratifying description. There are thirty-six members in the Guild. The addition of the two new bells last summer have made a peal of ten, the Cathedral, and St. Andrew's, Plymouth, being the only belfries in the county having a peal of ten, whilst St. Sidwell's stands alone in having that number of bells in an efficient and ringable state. Since September last twenty-five true and complete touches varying from 168 to 5147 changes have been rung, giving a total of nearly 27,000 changes. At the dedication of the bells, a peal of Grandsire Caters was rung with Mr. F. Shepherd, the head ringer, as conductor, that being the first ever attempted in the county. Besides this and several other peals the St. Sidwell's Guild have rung three quarter-peals of Grandsire Caters, with a total of 4083 changes; six touches of Grandsire Caters, with a total of 2916; of Grandsire Triples, 71,008; eleven ditto, 3066; and three peals of 5147, and two 5040's, with a total 15,277, making a grand total of 28,350. The Guild have also rung during the year at St. David's, Broadclyst, Honiton Clyst, Ottery St. Mary, St. Thomas, Sidmouth, Alphington, Cullompton, Crediton, and Thorverton churches. The report embraced expressions of warm sympathy with the worthy rector in the recent domestic affliction he had sustained in the death of his wife, Mrs. Bird, a lady who was enthusiastically fond of everything appertaining to the Art of campanology, and who during her long illness, whenever the weather permitted, was accustomed to have the rectory windows open that she might the better listen from her sick chamber to the bells she loved so well.

The adoption of the report was moved and carried unanimously. The Treasurer (Mr. E. Shepherd) was able to report a fair balance in hand, and the officers of last year were re-elected. The post of Secretary has been some time vacant by the resignation of Mr. William Drake, and Mr. Frank Davey, who has acted as an admirable secretary pro tem., was unanimously elected in his stead. Afterwards a very interesting discussion was started by Mr. Mundy upon efficient bell ringing, its aids, and hindrances, and the meeting finally closed with a vote of thanks to the Chairman.

SOCIETY FOR THE ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD.

The Quarterly Spring Meeting of this Society was held at Brierley Hill, on Saturday, April 30th. The place of meeting is situated in the heart of what is commonly called the "Black Country;" but the day being beautifully fine and clear, with plenty of sunshine, and a wonderful absence of smoke, ringers who attended discovered that the black country is sometimes found to be, like other much-abused people, not half as black as it is usually painted. The view from the church, which stands on the top of a hill, is very extensive, when the condition of the atmosphere is favourable, and when this is the case, as on Saturday, it is possible to see on the one side the Malvern Hills, and on the other the well-known and easily recognised Wrekin, in Shropshire. The ringers on arrival were received by the Rector, the Rev. H. H. Dibben, who had left nothing undone to secure a successful meeting. After some change-ringing in the afternoon a short service was held in the church at 5 o'clock, when the Rector gave a short and appropriate address. After extending a warm welcome to those present, and speaking of the good which ringing Societies are intended to promote, he led his hearers to think of the power which bells have to sound a note which sympathises with the circumstances, joyful or sorrowful, in which we at the moment find ourselves. Bells do indeed strike the key-note of the occasion; they seem to "rejoice with those that do rejoice, and weep with those that weep;" whilst their sound when heard on Sundays and church festivals is a summons as clearly expressed as by any voice to the offering of prayer and praise. The speaker went on to draw from this the lesson that human hearts should feel the sympathy of which even bells seem to speak, that human souls should have also their share in the offering of pure worship, which the bells again seem both to call for and to give.

After the service a Committee meeting was held in the vestry. It was arranged in response to a wish that had been expressed, and to several promises of support that were received, that testimonials should be presented to the Rev. J. R. Keble, the late hon. secretary, and to the Rev. C. H. Joberns, the late hon. treasurer. Both gentlemen have been warm supporters of the Society: the former having acted as secretary from the time of its formation nine years ago, and the latter having in addition to his care for the financial state of the Society engrossed no less than fifty-seven peals in the peal book.

Subscribers to the testimonials are requested to send their names and subscriptions to Mr. S. Reeves, 10, Bull Street, West Bromwich, not later than May 31st. A photograph of the subscribers will be taken at the annual meeting at Lichfield, on June 18th, when the Bishop of Lichfield has kindly promised to give an address. It is hoped that there will be a good muster of members on that day.

After the committee meeting was concluded an adjournment took place to the Schoolroom for tea, and a cordial vote of thanks was passed to the Rector for his kind welcome and his efforts to make the meeting a success.

Members who wish to join in the testimonials are requested to note the date, May 31st, by which their names and subscriptions must be sent to Mr. Reeves. This is necessary so that arrangements may be made for the photograph to be taken.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT AMALGAMATED SOCIETY.

The Monthly Ringing Meeting of this Society was held at Birstall, on Saturday, April 30th, when a good muster of ringers attended from the following towers:—Horbury, Huddersfield, Leeds, Ossett, Headingley, Rothwell, Calverley, Liversedge, Holbeck, and the local company. Ringing was delayed until nearly 5 o'clock owing to funeral arrangements, when some fair ringing was got through in the Oxford Minor and Kent Major methods. A new peal of handbells by Messrs. John Shaw and Son seemed the chief attraction at the meeting house, he "Black Bull," where some good courses of Grandsire Triples, Caters and Royal were rung by the famous Liversedge band and others, until a late hour, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. Several new members were elected. Votes of thanks to the Vicar and Churchwardens for the use of the bells, and to the local company for their kind arrangements and attentions to the comfort of visitors in every way, were passed, and a most pleasant meeting was brought to a close.

THE SOCIETY OF COPLEY SCHOLARS.

This Society held its concluding social of the season in the Unity Rooms, Bradford, on Wednesday evening, April 27th. Mr. B. T. Copley presided, and there was as usual a good attendance. The programme was a varied one, the most noteworthy items being the performance of tunes on the handbells by Mr. James Angus and members of his family (son and three daughters), whose contributions to the pleasure of the evening were highly creditable to themselves, and fully meriting the undeniable encores with which they were greeted. Also, in compliment to the Chairman several members of the Loyal Rose of Yorkshire Lodge of the Manchester Unity of Oddfellows joined the company after the closing of their lodge, some of the members, especially Bro. James Collins, contributing largely to the entertainment of the evening, which concluded with votes of thanks to their entertainers, and to the chairman.

On Friday evening, May 6th, the annual meeting of the society was held at the headquarters of the Yorkshire Association, the "Ring of Bells" inn, Mr. Copley presiding. The Secretary (Mr. Joe Hardcastle) having given his report for the past year, the same was unanimously adopted. The following officers were re-elected to their various posts as follows: Captain—Mr. B. T. Copley; Vice-Captain—Mr. James Cotterell; Secretary—Mr. Joe Hardcastle; Treasurer—Mr. George Titterton. The representatives of towers were likewise appointed, namely: Parish church—Mr. Harry Raistrick; Bolton—Mr. John Joyce; Shipley—Mr. T. B. Kendall; Saltaire—Mr. Alfred Riley. The treasurer's statement shewed a balance in hand. Complimentary reference was made to the day of meeting being the twenty-first anniversary of the Captain (Mr. B. T. Copley) commencing work as a ringer, he with his young band having first rung for service on Sunday, May 6th, 1871. Arrangements for future practice meetings, and other business of a practical nature having been dealt with, the meeting concluded with the customary vote of thanks.

THE KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

CANTERBURY DISTRICT.—The Annual Meeting of this district was held at Elham on Monday, May 2nd. Only a few members attended from Boughton, Brabourne, Canterbury, Elham, Folkestone, and Lyminge. The bells, however, were kept going from four o'clock, and some good ringing was done in Grandsire and Plain Bob. A course of Kent Treble Bob was also rung. At the Committee held in the Parish School, thirteen new members were admitted, viz., three from Elham, one from Deal, and the band of St. Alphège, Canterbury. It was decided that the next Annual Meeting should be held at Deal and Sandwich. Mr. Foreman, of Chatham, was re-elected District Secretary, and Captain Wood (Faversham), representative on the Central Committee.

LUDLOW, SHROPSHIRE.

At a vestry meeting held here recently, Mr. Wells said he should like to draw the attention of the Rector (the Rev. Prebendary Clayton) to the bell-ringing at a quarter-to-six in the morning. It was discontinued during the restoration of the tower, and he and a great many more did hope it would not be recommenced, as it disturbed their rest.

The Rector said the bell had been rung since the year 1733, and if it was a nuisance to some they must also consider that it was a great advantage to others.

After some discussion the matter dropped. The old custom of ringing the curfew is also still kept up.

RIPON AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

The meeting of this association was held on Easter Monday last at Sharow and adjourned to Ripon Cathedral. Ringers attended from Harrogate, Ripon, and Sharow. Grandsire was the method mostly rung, as the Harrogate members would like to become proficient in that. A pleasant afternoon was spent. It was arranged for the next meeting to take place at Borough-bridge, to-day, Saturday, May 14th.

STOURBRIDGE, WORCESTERSHIRE.

RE-OPENING OF ST. THOMAS'S BELLS.—On Saturday, April 24th, the St. Thomas's Society and the local branch of the Worcestershire and Adjoining Districts Association, attempted a peal of Grandsire Triples, but after ringing 3820 in 2 hrs. and 25 mins., the conductor called "stand" owing to a change-course. A. Orford, 1; W. Fryer, 2; W. F. Hartshorne (conductor), 3; G. H. Pagett, 4; C. Barrett, 5; J. Buffery, 6; H. Harris, 7; W. A. Pugh, 8. This was intended as a complimentary peal to C. W. Collis, Esq., in recognition of help and the interest he took in the work of the restoration of the bells, and for his munificent gifts to the church, which include three beautiful east windows, the subjects being the "Nativity," "Ascension," and the "Angels," also the reredos and communication table which have been added in connection with the improvement of the church. Alterations have been carried out at a cost of over £2,000. The bells had not been rung since Easter, 1890, owing to their unsafe and bad condition, and Mr. Collis came forward and offered to bear part of the cost of restoration, which resulted in a town's meeting being called and a committee being appointed to make arrangements for carrying out the work. The bells were cast by Lester and Pack, and bear the date 1759; they have the reputation of being a grand peal, tenor 19 cwt. 21 lbs. The work of rehanging was entrusted to Messrs. Carr, of Smethwick, and it reflects great credit upon that firm for the admirable manner in which the work has been executed, all having been done on the latest improved principles. The "go" of the bells is excellent. The re-opening had been delayed owing to the death of the Rev. W. H. Sherrad, son of the Vicar of St. Thomas's, the Rev. H. Sherrad. Mr. C. Barrett belongs to the Lichfield band, and came over to stand in the first peal with his old company. Another attempt will shortly be made, which it is hoped will prove successful.

THE EAST DERBYSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

On Easter Monday the Annual tea and meeting was held at Clay Cross, the members being greeted with King Christmas weather all the day. In the afternoon a special service was held in St. Bartholomew's church at 3.30 for the ringers, the preacher being the Rev. F. Calder, of Wingerworth. After the service the ringers journeyed from the church to the schools, where a splendid tea was provided. Between forty and fifty sat down and did ample justice to the good things arrayed. They then adjourned into another room, where the meeting was held. The Rev. J. B. Nodder, Vice-President of the Association, was voted to the chair in the absence of the Rev. J. C. Massey, rector of Risley. After the minutes were read and ratified, and the accounts passed satisfactorily, the officers were elected as follows: President—the Rev. J. C. Massey; Treasurer—Rev. H. S. Oldham, Clay Cross; Secretary—Jno. Jas. Cook, 108, Stratton Road, Clay Cross. This brought the meeting to a close, after which the ringers adjourned to the church, but only Doubles were rung, excepting one 720 of Bob Minor (fourteen singles and four bobs), composed and conducted by T. Millington, of Clay Cross, and now rung for the first time. W. Brown (Clay Cross), 1; T. Piperday (North Wingfield), 2; G. Beardow (Ashover), 3; T. Millington (North Wingfield), 4; T. Hopkinson (Ashover), 5; T. Clough (Clay Cross), 6. Tenor 9½ cwt.

WAKEFIELD CATHEDRAL.

The addition of two new trebles to the magnificent ring of ten at this Cathedral is now assured. During the course of a bazaar just recently held, Alderman Watson, whose devotion to both church and city is well-known, announced his intention to present one of the new bells, and that Mr. Martin Stewart, late of Wakefield, would present the other. Alderman Watson has likewise taken in hand the replacement of the present chiming apparatus by machinery of more modern construction, which is estimated to cost about £250. This will make the fifth ring of twelve in Yorkshire.

FOR SALE, A Splendid peal of Handbells, 52 in number, in good order. By Blews of Birmingham. Chromatic Scale, from G 25 to G 04; Cushions, Stand, and Music complete. The cost when new was about £30. Good reason for selling. No reasonable offer refused.—WALTER REA, Stourbridge Road, Bromsgrove.

ST. LUKE'S SOCIETY, CANNOCK.

After ringing in a wedding peal for Mr. Jones, of Leamington, who was married here on Easter Monday, a start was made with some members of the Norton Canes society to visit one or two of the churches up the Trent valley. Rugeley was selected first, and our old friend Mr. Lyons, with his usual good nature, soon put us in possession of the belfry. The peal is not very musical in rounds, but strange to say they sound very well in Minor, those that are out of tune not being so noticeable. Some very good Grandsire Doubles and Minor were rung here, and merrily went the time; so a fresh start was made for Colwich, a three miles walk from Rugeley. Some winterly weather was experienced on the way there, but thanks to our ancestors' thoughtfulness, who planted a holly hedge about a mile along this road, we were not so wet as we should otherwise have been. Colwich, a very pretty village (well sprinkled with Roman Catholics), was reached in due course. The keys having been procured, a very nice church was opened for our inspection; but the bells, the least said about them and their framework the better, but we managed to ring some Doubles and Minor. A very happy day was spent. On Tuesday, April 19th, a 360 of Bob Minor was rung at the parish church, Cannock, by the local company. W. D.

THE OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

CHIPPING NORTON DEANERY BRANCH.—The first meeting of the above branch was held at Leafeld on Saturday, April 23rd. About twenty members and other ringers attended from Chipping Norton, Churchill, and Shipton. The bells of St. Michael's church were kept going from soon after four o'clock till half-past six, and again for an hour after tea. Some well-struck 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles were brought round, and much useful work was done with beginners both in the tower and on the handbells. It was decided to hold the next meeting at Churchill early in June.

THE YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

A Committee Meeting was held at headquarters on Saturday evening last, the 7th inst., Mr. W. Snowdon (President) in the chair, there being a good attendance. Several new members were elected; arrangements for the General Meeting to be held at Knaresborough on Saturday, June 4th, considered, and other business transacted, amongst which was a resolution unanimously adopted, to subscribe for 1000 copies of the report of the Central Council sub-committee's report.

GLOUCESTER CATHEDRAL.

Messrs. Sainsbury Brothers, of Walthamstow, London, Cathedral and Turret Clock Manufacturers, have received orders to construct the great clock and carillons for Gloucester Cathedral.

DALLINGTON (Northamptonshire).—On Sunday, May 1st, by kind permission, four from Northampton, and J. Barry, of London, met at the parish church, and rang for evening service several touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles. E. Maule, 1; W. H. Wood, 2; J. Mackay, 3; J. Barry, 4; J. S. White (conductor), 5. Tenor 8 cwt.

GREAT BENTLEY (Essex).—On Sunday, May 1st, for Divine Service in the evening, two 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles, and 360 Bob Minor. A. Humm, 1; J. Taylor, 2; W. Hazell, 3; F. Balls, 4; G. Humm, 5; W. J. Nevard (conductor), 6. After service, 720 Bob Minor. G. Humm, 1; W. Hazell, 2; H. E. Bowers, 3; F. Balls, 4; J. Taylor, 5; W. J. Nevard (conductor), 6. This is the first 720 by W. J. Nevard since his return home from the Gordon Hospital, London, after being absent some weeks.

LITTLE HEATH (Essex).—On Wednesday, April 27th, at St. James' church, four 6-scores of Bob Doubles, eight 6-scores Grandsire, eight 6-scores Antelope. F. Gillingham, 1; W. Pye, 2; E. Pye, 3; W. Watson, 4; G. Pye (conductor), 5. This was rung with the bells deeply-muffled as a mark of respect to the Rev. F. T. Grey, late vicar of St. James', who was buried on that day. On Sunday, May 1st, the bells were rung half-muffled; three 6-scores Bob Doubles, three 6-scores Grandsire and two 6-scores Antelope being accomplished in the evening, standing as before.

Ringers' Outings.

VISIT OF THE SHEFFIELD ALL SAINTS' SOCIETY TO WOLVERHAMPTON AND OTHER PLACES.—On Easter Monday the full strength of this Society, with a few friends, paid a visit to Wolverhampton and various other places; arrangements having been made with the Midland Railway Co. for their departure from Sheffield as early as 4.25 a.m. Wolverhampton was reached at 9.10, and after refreshing the inner man and receiving the mutual greetings of their brother-strings of that town, a departure was made for Pattingham, that being the place selected for the first peal. Travelling in an open wagonette on such a day was not at all conducive to good health, but the spirits of the company were kept up by Mr. J. Rowley, who pointed out the various places of interest on the route. Everything being in readiness on arrival, the bells were set in motion, and a peal in the Grandsire method was accomplished in 3 hrs. and 1 min., particulars of which were duly published. Afterwards a few courses were rung with two members of the local band. After tea the handbells were brought out, tunes and courses being rung, to the delight of many of the parishioners. As the time for departure drew near, Mr. James Rew gave a song, "They all come home to roost." Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar (the Rev. James Greenstreet) for the use of the bells, also to Mr. Thomas Harper for having all things in readiness, and to the host and hostess of the "Piggott Arms" for their catering. One more song being demanded from Mr. F. Willey, he gave "My village home." A start was then made for Wolverhampton, which was safely reached. Here an adjournment was made for a little harmony, one of the Wolverhampton men being voted to the chair. After a chat, and a few words of welcome from the Chairman, Mr. Fowler (the oldest ringer in the town) gave "When we were boys together" in capital style. This was followed with songs by Messrs. Rowley, Willey and Rew; and several courses on the handbells. A piano and flute duet by J. M. Fitzclarke and W. H. Price was also much appreciated. Songs and courses upon the handbells by the Wolverhampton men brought a very enjoyable day to a close. On Tuesday ringing was again the order of the day. Meeting at the parish church at 9 o'clock, various touches were rung, after which luncheon was partaken of. That being over a move was made for Wombourn, where a peal was again rung in 3 hrs. 2 mins. During the time the peal was being accomplished, Messrs. Lloyd, Willey and Price, with Mr. Jukes, of Wolverhampton, paid a visit to Mr. R. Cartwright's farm at Greenhill, and viewed the stock, &c. Tea time had now arrived, and full justice was done to the ham, eggs, &c., provided. Before concluding this account of their visit, the Sheffield company would like to thank the Vicar (the Rev. — Heale) for the use of the bells, and their estimable friend Mr. R. Cartwright, who made provision for their comfort, both sleeping and conveyance by road, all having been left entirely in his hands. A move was made for Wolverhampton, from whence, after bidding farewell to their friends, the journey was continued to Birmingham, at which place they were met by Mr. W. H. Godden and Mr. R. Cartwright, who had been attending a meeting of the Central Council, and who conducted them to St. Martin's Church. They afterwards adjourned to the "Tamworth Arms," Moor Street, where some of the "shining lights" of the ringing world were met with. A little later on the party proceeded to the station, home being reached in due time, thus ending one of the most successful outings ever indulged in by this company, who will look back for many months and view with pleasure the hearty good wishes of all.

THE KELSEALE AND SAXMUNDHAM COMPANY.—On Easter Monday the above company paid a visit to Halesworth for some ringing. Arriving there about eleven o'clock, the bells, which are a fine old peal of eight, were soon going in a touch of 1008 Bob Major. W. Drew (conductor), 1; F. Lambert, 2; H. Burch, 3; G. Phillips, 4; F. Page, 5; G. Thompson, 6; F. Watling, 7; G. Hardy, 8. After dinner the party embarked on Mr. F. Lambert's yacht "Mayflower," and enjoyed a pleasant sail on the river Blythe, conducted by the mate, H. Burch. After all were safely landed, they returned to the church and attempted a peal of Bob Major, standing as before, but this was lost after ringing 1 hr. 20 mins. They then rang 640 Oxford Treble Bob Major, F. Thompson taking the place of G. Phillips. After tea several more touches of Plain and Treble Bob Major were rung with members of the Halesworth and Wenhasston companies. An hour was then passed with the handbells, and the party started for home, arriving there safely about eleven o'clock. The ringers take this opportunity of thanking the rector, the Rev. A. R. Upcher, for his kindness in allowing them the use of the bells, and also the Halesworth company for helping to make their outing such an enjoyable one to all.

THE EYNESBURY SOCIETY.—Potton in Bedfordshire was the place selected by this society for their annual outing on Easter Monday. A pleasant ride of eight miles brought them to the church, which is prettily situated on the side of a hill. Having gained access to the building the bells were soon raised in peal, and 480 Bob Doubles were struck off in fine style. Several touches were then rung, including 216 and 360 of Bob Minor; after which a 720 of Bob Minor (fourteen singles and four bobs) was rung in 25 mins. by J. Jones, 1; S. Hawksford, 2; G. Coleman, 3; H. Mason, 4; H. J. Sutton, 5; G. Irons, 6. Tenor 9½ cwt. This was the first 720 on the bells, and was conducted by H. J. Sutton. In the evening several 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles were rung, with Mr. Naylor of the local band on the 4th. The tower originally contained five bells, but they were in such a wretched state, being unringable, that the work of rehanging them was placed in the hands of Messrs. Warner and Sons. They have now rehung them in an oak frame with new fittings throughout, and added a new treble, the splice being perfect. They are now one of the handiest rings of six in the county, and go splendidly. The vicar, the Rev. G. E. Gwynne, takes great interest in the bells, and has had the seats under the belfry removed, so as to give the ringers plenty of room, and it is his wish, that, with the assistance of Mr. Naylor, who has recently come to reside in the neighbourhood, the local band may soon become change-ringers. The ringing during the day was listened to by a great many people, and great praise was given to the ringers for their accurate striking. After partaking of some refreshment, the band returned home, all satisfied that it was the most successful outing the society has had, although the return journey was taken in a blinding snowstorm. The members wish through the medium of "THE BELL NEWS" to thank the vicar for the use of the bells, and for the hearty welcome that he gave them.

VISIT TO PETERSTONE SUPER ELY.—On Monday, April 18th, six ringers of St. John's, Cardiff, paid a visit to the above place to have a pull upon the ring of six bells, tenor 8½ cwt., which have lately been rehung by Messrs. Taylor and Co., the hanging of which is a masterpiece of the bell hanger's art. Raising the bells in peal, ten 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles, each called differently, were rung. J. Cook, 1; J. Richards (conductor), 2; E. Cook, 3; A. Rowley, 4; G. Hardage, 5; J. Cook, 6. The bells were then lowered in peal, and on the way home a call was made at St. Fagan's, where the bells were raised in peal, and two 6-scores was rung, after which the bells were lowered. It is to be hoped that something will be done before long to make these bells go a little easier than they do at present. The visitors wish to thank the rector of Peterstone through the medium of this paper for the use of the bells; also to the rector of St. Fagan's.

SEAL CHART (Kent).—On Tuesday, April 26th, at St. Lawrence's church, six 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles, each called differently, in 25 mins. F. W. Kettel, 1; R. J. Saxby, 2; G. P. Burr (conductor), 3; D. J. Goldsmith, 4; S. Cole, 5; D. Kettel, 6.

STEYNING (Sussex).—On Sunday, May 1st, for Divine Service, 640 Kent Treble Bob Major. J. Matthews, 1; C. Smart, 2; J. Smart, 3; G. Gatland, 4; C. Chambers, 5; W. Collison, 6; G. Smart (conductor), 7; J. Woolgar, 8. Also 1008 Stedman Triples. J. Smart, 1; J. Woolgar, 2; G. Smart, 3; C. Chambers, 4; T. Searle, 5; W. Collison, 6; C. Smart (conductor), 7; J. Matthews, 8.

WELLINGTON (Salop).—On Monday, April 18th, at All Saints' church, a start was made by eight members of the local company for Hubbard's ten-part peal of Bob Triples, but it came to grief owing to a change-course, after ringing 1 hr. 30 mins. T. Rowley (conductor), 1; H. Steventon, 2; R. Nichols, 3; R. Rowley, 4; B. Shaw, 5; E. Childs, 6; T. Pritchard, 7; G. Moore, 8.

THE SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

DISTRICT MEETING AT BRIGHTON.—A special District Meeting was held at this town on Easter Monday to celebrate the re-opening of the peal of bells at St. Nicholas' Church after undergoing thorough restoration and augmentation from eight to ten bells. At the last annual General Meeting of the Association the Rev. C. W. Bond, the vicar of St. Nicholas, presided, and announced that he hoped within twelve months from that day he might be able to entertain to luncheon all members of the Association who cared to attend the opening of the increased and rehung peal at his church. The generous invitation was accepted by no less than eighty members, representatives of the following branches being in attendance: Angmering, Arundel, Balcombe, Brighton (St. Nicholas and St. Peter's), Crawley, Christ Church Eastbourne, Lindfield, Midhurst, Seaford, Steyning, Waldron and Worth; in addition to which the following and other well-known ringers attended from London: Messrs. F. G. Newman, R. T. Woodley, E. Horrex, G. T. McLaughlin, W. Cockerill, F. L. and S. Davies, and M. Hayes. Ringing was carried on at St. Nicholas and St. Peter's churches throughout the day, and consisted of Stedman Caters, Treble Bob Royal, Treble Bob and Double Norwich Court Bob Major, Stedman, Grand-sire, and Bob Triples; while various Minor methods were rung by a party of six-bell ringers at Aldrington church, about three miles from Brighton.

A Business Meeting followed the luncheon, at which the Rev. C. W. Bond presided, and was supported by Mr. Churchwarden Lynn. Seven active members were duly elected. The four representatives, the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, and Messrs. Attree, Tyler, and Chandler, were authorised to attend the Meeting of the National Council at Birmingham. A hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar of St. Nicholas for providing the luncheon and presiding, was moved by the Rev. R. F. Tompkins and seconded by Mr. McLaughlin. Between sixty and seventy members assembled in St. Nicholas' Church at 3.30, when a special service was held, and an address given by the vicar, who took for his text "Holiness unto the Lord." After the service ringing was again indulged in until nearly nine o'clock. The Annual General Meeting will be held at Brighton on Whit-Monday.

BISHOP BURTON, BEVERLEY.

A large turret clock, striking the hours and quarter chimes was started on Friday last at Bishop Burton Hall, the residence of E. B. Hall-Watt, Esq. The large bell for the hours weighs over 3 cwt., and the two smaller bells for the quarters about the same weight. The time is shown upon two neat dials with white background and dark figures, and minutes which are raised. The hands are of stout copper, balanced within. The clock has also got Lord Grimthorpe's gravity escapement and other improvements, everything being of the very best quality and finish. Messrs. Potts and Sons, Clock Manufacturers, Guildford Street and Cookridge Street, Leeds, have done the necessary work. They have also recently fixed the Royal Courts of Justice clock, York, Scalby church, Scarborough, and Whitwell church, near Malton, and are now making the University College clock, Liverpool, Great St. Mary's Church clock and chimes, Cambridge (their birthplace), and a fine clock for Keighley Institute and Technical School.

ST. WERBURGH'S (BRISTOL) HANDBELL RINGERS.

A very successful concert was given on Tuesday evening, April 26th, at St. Werburgh's Mission Hall, in aid of the funds of the handbell ringers. The rector, the Rev. Henry Denning, presided. A varied and rather lengthy programme of vocal and instrumental music was provided, and admirably carried out. There should, as a result of the concert, be a good balance handed to the funds of the handbell ringers, who deserve success, as they have on many occasions given their services for charitable objects in different parts of the city during their now nearly ten years' existence. A selection by the ringers concluded an enjoyable entertainment. The bells used were supplied by Messrs. Llewellyns and James, of Bristol.

Correspondence.

While allowing the utmost freedom for the expression of opinion, it must never be considered that we are in any way bound to statements made by correspondents.

To the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS AND RINGERS' RECORD."

SIR,—I have to express my extreme regret that owing to an unfortunate series of accidents, I was unable to attend the last meeting of the Council. With regard to my proposition on the subject of a Bibliography of our Art, I am glad to see that the Council has taken the question into serious consideration. As I explained in my previous letter, the matter in my hands is practically limited to titles of works at present in the National Art Library, which institution does not at present possess a copy of the Rev. H. T. Ellacombe's Catalogue; I was unaware of its existence, and shall be very much obliged if any of your readers can put me in the way of getting a copy. I quite agree that his work must form the basis of our operations. On the old subject of seven-bell peals, I should be glad, as the mover of the original resolution, to say a few words. I have fought the question all along as a matter of right and justice to past performances; and I do not for one moment advocate a continuance of them, except in such special and unavoidable circumstances as caused the first. But I maintain, as I clearly stated at the first meeting, that the music has nothing to do with the validity of a performance of the proper number of changes; and my recollection of the feeling at that meeting is, that it was this consideration only which prompted the vote. No one defended seven-bell peals as such, and I think their musical properties scarcely need the anathema of the Council; but rather than there should be any doubt on the subject, I shall be quite prepared to second, if he will allow me, any resolution Mr. Bulwer may move, discountenancing them as a matter of taste. The Council has already affirmed the self-evident fact that 5040 true changes are 5040 true changes; and there is no necessity to complicate this intricate fact by, as Mr. Bulwer very clearly pointed out, mixing it up with quite another question.

A CONTRADICTION.

SIR,—I beg to inform the Welshpool ringers that their claim to be the second local band of ringers in Wales to ring a peal, is incorrect, as the Llangollen band rang a peal of Grandsire Triples on June 12th, 1889, a report of which appeared in "THE BELL NEWS" for that week. All the ringers in this peal were Llangollenites, bred and born. It was also the first peal by the whole company; and another thing worthy of note was the age of the treble ringer (twelve years), an achievement by this youth which I believe has not been beaten yet.

Llangollen.

J. W. DAVIES.

INDIGNATION.

SIR,—Will you kindly allow me a space in "THE BELL NEWS" to ask the President of the Central Council meeting held at Birmingham on Easter Monday, what he meant by saying that the Eastern Counties' Guild was not an important society. Allow me to tell him that it is quite as important a society as any of them which were represented at the Central Council meeting, for we have over 100 members in it, and the reason there was not a representative sent was because the members have proposed to send instructors out to teach other companies, and I can assure him that we can form one, two, or three companies out of the Guild to ring against any of the societies which was represented at the meeting either on five, six, seven, eight, ten or twelve bells. I think the President was speaking without his book when he said it was not an important society.

R. JARVIS.

44 Cowbit Road, Spalding.

AN EXPLANATION.

SIR,—I find you have put me among the absentees from the Central Council Meeting. Being late I signed my name with several others, at the end of the meeting.

The Bell News &amp; Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, MAY 14, 1892

IN continuation of our uncompleted notice of the resolutions passed at the meeting of the Central Council, we may now draw attention to the motion proposed by Mr. E. F. STRANGE "that a catalogue of works upon bells and ringing should be published." We heartily applaud the suggestion, which will doubtless be carried into effect without difficulty, since it is only necessary to continue up to date the comprehensive list of these works which was printed by the REV. H. T. ELLACOMBE. We would, however, recommend that to make such a production of full utility to the Exercise, all the works upon change-ringing should have the price, and publisher's name appended. Mr. SNOWDON's suggestion that the labours of this great campanologist should therein receive due acknowledgement is only what those who take the matter in hand are in fairness bound to adopt.

We have, in a previous article, signified our entire approval of the proposal of the REV. H. A. COCKEY to classify all compositions of 5000 changes and upwards with a view to their annual publication, but, in company with several of the speakers on this subject, we regard the task as herculean, and one of which the feasibility would appear to be somewhat problematical. If, however, there be any practicable way of attaining this end, we feel sure that the three able composers appointed by the Council to consider the matter will not fail to discover it.

The question of irregular calls is one that has been troubling many thoughtful members of the Exercise, ourselves among the number; for, as our readers will recollect, we have lately drawn attention to this point in connection with date touches, and the departures from the strict method which are so freely countenanced in these compositions. We fully endorse the remarks of the Rev. H. EARLE BULWER upon the subject, and hold that the Exercise should regard with the utmost jealousy the tendency to such liberties, which appears, unfortunately, to be increasing in proportion to the growing difficulty of obtaining novelties in composition. It is unquestionable that but little remains to the average composer in any of the Standard methods in the way of productions containing unattained qualities, much less in the direction of really original peals on lines already well-trodden. It is, in the interests of the rising composer, unfortunate but true that only those who combine a wide knowledge of past achievements with a most able mastery of the subject can hope to obtain new compositions of any merit, but it is certainly not on this account desirable that the rigidity of the laws laid down by the best of our ancient authorities should be one iota relaxed; indeed we would rather say, on the contrary, that in certain respects the limits should be yet further narrowed.

Oxford as the next place of meeting will, we should surmise, be not otherwise than acceptable. At the same time we are almost inclined to believe that the Metropolis as a permanent fixture would prove the most convenient to the large majority of the members, and ensure the fullest attendance, as has been found to be the case with other representative bodies.

In conclusion we may unhesitatingly affirm that whatever difference of opinion may exist in regard to minor points of detail, the work of the Council as a whole is deserving of the hearty approval of all ringers, as a careful and impartial consideration, by thoughtful and competent representatives, of many questions of undoubted importance to the well-being of the Exercise at large.

JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has by his Perfected System of Dentistry demonstrated that Painless Dentistry is as much an accomplished fact as the swift locomotive, the electric light, or the telephone, and absolutely restores the natural contour caused by the loss of teeth, by the adjustment of Prize Medal dentals, rendering detection impossible, which obtained the Gold Medals of London, 1851; New York, 1853; London, 1862; Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; and Philadelphia, 1876.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has been awarded for his Improvements and Patents in Dentistry gold medals, London and Paris; gold medal, New Zealand Exhibition, 1882; gold medal Calcutta, 1883; and the highest diploma of merit and award at Nice and Amsterdam, 1883-4. ## THE NORTH LINCOLNSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

The Annual General Meeting of this Association was held at Lincoln on Saturday, April 30th, and permission had been given for ringing the bells of the following churches: the Cathedral, St. Peter-at-Arches, St. Peter-at-Gowts, and St. Botolph's. Tea was laid at 5 o'clock in the Co-operative Hall, when there was a large attendance of members and friends. Mr. S. Frankland Hood, of Nettleham Hall, presided, being supported by Mr. A. Percival Heywood, Mr. F. F. Linley (Gainsborough), Mr. Basil Warner (Gainsborough), and the Hon. Secretary, Mr. J. W. Watson (Lincoln).

The Chairman said the first business was to pass a vote of condolence with the family of the late Sir Charles Anderson on the bereavement they had sustained. He moved: "That this Association of North Lincolnshire Church Bell Ringers desire to take the opportunity of their first Annual General Meeting held since the death of Sir Charles Anderson, Bart., to respectfully express their deep sympathy with the family of the late Sir Charles Anderson, and also to record with sorrow the loss of one who was a benefactor to the cause of bellringing in the diocese, and who took a great personal interest in the Association, and to whom on many occasions the Association has been indebted for his presence and assistance." Mr. F. F. Linley seconded the motion.

The Chairman, after reading several letters of apology for non-attendance, including one from the Dean, said that it was with great pleasure he took part in their proceedings as one of their Vice-presidents. He was very glad to say they had among them that evening a gentleman who was a great authority on ringing matters, and who had come among them to make some remarks to which he was sure they would listen with great satisfaction. This gentleman was Mr. Percival Heywood, the president of the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers, and also of the Midland Counties' change-ringers' Association.

Mr. Heywood, who was received with applause, said he felt himself greatly honored at being asked to come among them and say a few words on a subject which was very dear to him, but first of all he must say that he had a very small knowledge of the work of their association as distinct from other associations, and again they had very little knowledge of him except what could be gathered from the newspapers, a very uncertain source of information. He would impress on those who were not change-ringers the great desirability of acquiring the rudiments of the art, and they would be encouraged to soon perfect themselves in this delightful science. If those who were not change-ringers would take the first step and not be discouraged, he was sure they would be glad to continue. There was a great deal to be said about the beginning in change-ringing, the noise and disturbance to the neighbouring houses; but they would all admit that having gained the mastery of the rudiments of the art, the result to every one was far more attractive than going on ringing call-changes. He urged them to try and acquire the art and bring others to do the same. With regard to those who were change-ringers, he would say that he was a great upholder of peal-ringing, but he knew it was not popular in that part of the country. He held that there was something beyond merely ringing the peals for church services, and they should try to make change-ringing the high elevating influence it was in those districts where peal-ringing was common. If they neglected peal-ringing they did not practise one of the most valuable principles of the art. Their first peal, or two, or three peals were long, he knew, and they wished they had not started, but after they had rung two or three—and he spoke with some authority, having rung nearer 200 than 100, he wished to continue, and he hoped that all those who took up peal-ringing might come to the same conclusion. There was one other point with respect to peal-ringing. It was an undoubted truth that one of the great difficulties they had to meet at the present day was that peal-ringing made a continuous noise in the immediate neighbourhood. This was in a large measure due to the fact that those who built towers in former days, and he might say at the present time, did not understand how the sound should be allowed to come out from the belfry. It was the usual custom in hanging bells to place the bells opposite the openings, and they would hear the bell outside above those hanging further from the opening, and the result was distinctly disagreeable. The way in which the louvres were built, too, sent the sound of the bells down into the street and on to the houses beneath.

The louvres were not in their proper position, as they wanted to send the sound of the bells outside to a great distance. Where the belfry windows had been bricked up to the spring of the arch, leaving only a small space, the result was that the bells could be heard further than before, and in the immediate neighbourhood they could hear themselves speak. He remembered a case of this kind at Loughborough. He merely pointed this out to them so that when people said peal-ringing was a great nuisance there was a means of preventing it being so in most towers, which was fairly simple. If they would only prevent the sound issuing from the louvres, but let it go out from narrow openings at the top, they would not lessen the distance at which the bells could be heard, but there would be a musical and pleasant sound rung from the tower. When they knew there was a means of overcoming the difficulty by bricking up the openings, and carried it into effect, they would be doing a great service to the art, and this would be done and the difficulty got over without stopping the progress of ringing. He urged the clergy to take more interest in bellringing, and also trusted that they would support the Central Council, as it was a matter of necessity that they should have such a body to represent them and to act unitedly when it was required, and to consider all those difficulties which from time to time would arise. Little hasty words spoken in the tower should be forgotten at once, added Mr. Heywood, and he concluded by saying, with reference to the Central Council, that if they would only support it, it would grow not only to be a representative body of the Exercise, but to be a useful power which would be enabled to help them in their difficulties, and gain sympathy and support from those in authority, which associations singly would never be able to achieve.

The balance-sheet for the year was then read, the balance in the hands of the treasurer being £17. 17s. 11d. The secretary's report stated that the past year had been one of steady growth. Forty-seven new members had been enrolled, and nine probationers had been passed as efficient members, but against this influx several had been taken off the books, leaving the total membership 233, of whom thirty-nine were honorary, eighty-seven were efficient, eighty probationary, and twenty-nine non-resident life members. Progress had been made during the year in change-ringing, four peals having been rung, including a peal of Bob Major, which was the first peal of Major rang by the Association. The new certificate of membership having been completed, it had been freely demanded by the members, no less than 109 having been issued. The officers were elected as follows:—President: the Very Rev. the Dean of Lincoln; Vice-presidents: Rev. Canon Andrews (Claxby), Rev. Canon J. P. Young (Grimsby), Mr. F. F. Linley, and Mr. S. F. Hood; Hon. Treasurer: Mr. Gadd (Market Rasen); Hon. Secretary: Mr. J. Hackney (Mill Street, Market Rasen); Hon. Auditors: Messrs. F. F. Linley and J. W. Watson.

Mr. Snow (Sleaford) reported that he attended the meeting of the Central Council at Birmingham, with Mr. Linley, on Easter Tuesday. It was a most important and interesting meeting, but he would not trouble them with any details now, although he should like to call their attention to one matter. At a meeting held in London a Committee was appointed to draw up a report on bells, frames, and fittings, and they had prepared a wonderful book on the subject, which was of the greatest interest to ringers and clergymen, and it was proposed to circulate that report by means of the various Associations, and he would ask that their Secretary be instructed to obtain a sufficient number of copies to give to clergymen who were not only members of this Association, but also to those whose churches were in the district. He thought it might be the means of increasing the number of their members.

Several new members having been elected, on the proposition of Mr. Linley, a vote of thanks was accorded to Mr. A. Percival Heywood; and Mr. Hoyes proposed a vote of thanks to their late Hon. Secretary, Mr. J. W. Watson, whom he regretted had not now time to continue the work. He spoke in the highest terms of his efficient services to the Association as Secretary, and also of his great ability as a ringer. Mr. Tinker seconded, and it was carried with acclamation.

Mr. Linley proposed votes of thanks to the incumbents for the use of the bells, and to the Chairman for presiding, and these having been adopted, the proceedings closed.

THE GOSCOTE SOCIETY, LEICESTERSHIRE.

The Annual Meeting of this Society was held at Wymeswold, on Monday, May 9th. The day was beautifully fine, and a large number of ringers attended from the following parishes: Wymeswold, Thrussington, Syston, Great Dalby, Asfordby, Belgrave and Birstall. The local company commenced the ringing at 9 a.m. with a 720 of Kent Treble Bob, the other bands following with Grandsire Doubles. At one o'clock dinner was served in the schoolroom, seventy-six sitting down to the repast. Besides the ringers the following gentlemen graced the festive board with their presence: Rev. Canon Cartmell, Rev. R. C. Green, Rev. W. H. Marriott, Rev. W. S. Law, Rev. W. Field, Rev. R. D. Clarke, Rev. J. Bird, Rev. J. Whitworth, Messrs. J. T. Ardron, M. Hickling, J. Hallam, W. Hardy, etc. After dinner the usual business meeting was held, Canon Cartmell presiding. The Chairman proposed the toast of "the Queen," which was drunk with musical honours.

The Secretary, Mr. P. Hardy, of Thrussington, was then called upon to read the minutes of the last meeting. He also submitted a statement of accounts which shewed a balance in hand of £3 18s. 0½d. After a discussion of the financial statement, it was decided to hold the next meeting at Great Dalby, after receiving an assurance from one of the churchwardens that the bells would be put in good ringing order. At three o'clock the Society attended Divine Service in the parish church. The preacher was the Rev. W. Field, of Rempstone, who delivered a eloquent discourse based on the fifth chapter of Ezra, verse 11. A collection in aid of the society realised £1 15s. 3d. After service ringing was resumed, and continued until tea was partaken of at 5.10. After tea the Rev. J. Bird proposed a vote of thanks to the vicar and churchwardens of Wymeswold for the kind welcome afforded the Society, and the excellent manner in which they had been entertained. The motion was carried nem. con.

The Rev. R. C. Green in responding, expressed the great pleasure it gave himself and the Churchwardens to receive the society at Wymeswold. He would like to couple his ringers and the choir in the vote of thanks, for he was sure they had done all in their power to make the visit of the society a pleasant one. Votes of thanks were also accorded to the Rev. W. Field, for his excellent sermon, and to the authorities at Prestwold and Rempstone for allowing the society the use of the bells on this occasion. Ringing was again resumed and continued until 8.15, at which time the home band finished with another 720 of Kent Treble Bob. The ringing throughout the day shewed a great improvement, and all are to be congratulated on their excellent efforts. The bells were in splendid order, and it was quite a pleasure to ring them. During the day the vicarage grounds were thrown open and games at bowls, quoits, &c., were indulged in; indeed nothing was wanting on the part of the Wymeswold friends to make the visit a memorable one in the annals of the society.

PRESENTATION TO A RINGER.

A very interesting event came off in the belfry of Llandaff Cathedral, on Monday evening, May 2nd, when the Rev. Canon Downing, on behalf of the ringers, presented Mr. J. Belcher with a beautiful ebony walking-stick. The handle was made out of an elephant's tusk massively mounted in silver, and bore the following inscription:—

"Presented to J. Belcher, by the Llandaff Cathedral Bell Ringers, Easter, 1892."

Mr. Belcher formerly resided in Cheltenham, and for many years was a member of the St. Mary's company. For some time past, he has taken up his residence with his son, Mr. T. H. Belcher, a gentleman well known and respected amongst the legal profession in the district. To the untiring zeal and energy of Mr. Belcher, sen., is mainly due the present efficient state of Llandaff ringers. Since his location in Penarth he has made a large number of friends, his kind and genial manner endearing him to all those whom he has had the pleasure of meeting. We must not omit to mention that on the day of this presentation being made to Mr. Belcher, he became seventy years old.

THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

ROCHDALE BRANCH.—A meeting of the above branch was held at St. Thomas's church, Newhey, on Saturday, May 7th. Members were present from Rochdale, Oldham, Heywood, Milnrow, Moorside, and the local ringers. The next meeting is to be held at St. Thomas's Moorside, on Saturday, June 4th. The meeting closed with the usual vote of thanks.

THE LIVERPOOL BRANCH.—The usual monthly meeting of this branch was held at Woolton church, on Saturday, May 7th. There were members present from Childwall, Garston, Grassen-dale, Hale, Halewood, Prescott, Southport, and Liverpool, in addition to the Woolton company; in all about forty members attended. The tower was open from three o'clock, and the bells were kept going until the meeting, which took place in the schoolroom at six o'clock. The Rev. G. H. Spooner presided, and cordially welcomed the branch on its third visit to his church. He also impressed on those present their duties as ringers and as churchworkers. One new performing member was elected, and Hale was settled upon as the next meeting place on June 4th. A vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells, schoolroom, etc., and to the steeplekeeper was then proposed and carried. The Vicar, in reply, thanked those present, and hoped that they would again visit Woolton. He then invited them to tea, etc., which was heartily accepted, and for which they desire to thank him. Returning to the tower mixed bands rang during the evening to the tune of Grandsire Minor and Triples, Stedman Triples and Plain Bob Major. In all it was a successful and profitable meeting to all that attended.

THE NORTH NOTTS. ASSOCIATION.

On Saturday, May 7th, the East Retford Church Cricketers, the majority of whom were ringers, visited Worksop to play the 2nd Eleven of the town. After the match permission was obtained for the use of the bells at the Priory Church from the Rev. H. T. Slodden, Secretary of the Association.

After raising the bells in peal, they were joined by several of the Shireoaks and Worksop ringers, and a 720 of Oxford Treble Bob was rung on the back six in 25 mins. E. Russon, 1; J. Fitch, 2; H. Haigh, 3; W. Hargreaves (conductor), 4; G. Barrowcliffe, 5; D. Russon, 6. Then followed a 504 of Grandsire Triples. J. Swannack, 1; G. E. Sharpe, 2; T. Spurr, 3; J. W. King, 4; H. Haigh, 5; H. Warburton, 6; J. B. Joynes (conductor), 7; D. Russon, 8. This ring of bells is a handy peal of eight, tenor about 14 cwt., the only drawback to obtain good ringing is the ropes, which are clumsy and have an elastic spring in them. Messrs. Russon (2) Hargreaves and Fitch hail from Shireoaks; Barrowcliffe from Worksop; the rest from Retford. The ringers respectfully desire to thank the vicar through the medium of this paper for granting the use of the bells.

HITCHAM, SUFFOLK.

The tenor bell in this church has been rehung by Messrs. H. Howell and Son, church bell-hangers, etc., of Ipswich, Suffolk, with new metal bed-plates, turned steel gudgeons, improved metal carriages, hard gun-metal bearings, and improved grease boxes and hinge caps. On Sunday last a 720 of Bob Minor was rung. A. Symonds, 1; T. King, 2; A. Long, 3; R. Bedingfield, 4; H. Howell (conductor), 5; A. Howell, 6. Tenor 18 cwt. in F. Everyone present was well pleased with the "go" of the bell, which reflects great credit on Messrs. Howell and Son. During their stay at Hitcham a visit was paid to Monks Eleigh, where some Treble Bob, etc., was rung. On Monday night, through mist and rain, in company with Mr. H. Sewell, they drove to Lavenham, and rang on that fine old peal of bells 672 Grandsire Triples and two courses of Bob Major. They afterwards adjourned to the "Cock" Inn, where a pleasant hour was spent in handbell ringing, Mr. A. Howell contributing some tunes.

SANDY, BEDFORDSHIRE.

The bells of the parish church of St. Swithin having undergone thorough restoration at the hands of Messrs. Blackbourn and Greenleaf, Salisbury, a special service for their dedication to ecclesiastical offices, together with a new church clock, was held on Wednesday, May 11th. The original bells and fittings were entirely removed, and the bells are now hung in a new oak cage, with new stocks, fittings, and wheels. Two of the old bells have been recast, and a new one of a particularly sweet tone added by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, making now a ring of six. The new bell was named after the Duke of Clarence, because his death occurred on the day on which the old peal was taken down. The tenor bell was on the point of being lowered when the news of the lamented death of his Royal Highness reached Sandy, and Mr. Blackbourn replaced the clapper in order that the knell might be tolled. On the conclusion of the office for the special evensong, the choir and clergy in robes proceeded from their stalls in the chancel to the belfry beneath St. Swithin's tower, where the ceremony of dedication was solemnised by the Rev. J. Richardson. This opened with the ascription, "In the Name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. Amen." The Lord's Prayer followed, and then was read the Collect for St. Andrew's Day, "Prevent us, O Lord, in all our doings," etc. Five other special collects were also comprised in the service appointed. The Rector then dedicated the new clock, saying:—

In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost, I start this clock, and may it accurately record the flight of time for this generation and for many yet to come. Amen.

A sermon was preached by the Rev. F. E. Robinson, Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, who congratulated the Rector and his parishioners upon the work of restoration being so well done.

At the conclusion of the service a 720 of Kent Treble Bob Minor was rung. During the performance a public tea was held at the Assembly Rooms. At the close of the tea the Rector gave a brief description of the restoration of the bells and new clock.

ARDLEIGH CHURCH BELLS, ESSEX.

At a Committee Meeting held at the Vicarage on Monday, May 9th, it was decided that the bells should be restored, and that to the present ring of six two new trebles should be added. The 3rd, which is cracked, will be recast, and the other five old bells will be quarter-turned, and the whole will be hung in a new English oak-frame with new fittings and a set of guides for the ropes. A new flagstaff (forty feet long) with weather-cock, complete, is also to be erected. The whole of the work has been placed in the hands of Messrs. Henry Howell and Son, church bell hangers, tuners, etc., of Ipswich, who, it is hoped will make a good job of this handy ring of eight. Tenor about 18 cwt. The opening is fixed for August 9th, when everything will be completed.

CONISCLIFFE, NEAR DARLINGTON, DURHAM.

A new public clock striking the hours on a large bell and showing the time upon a 5ft. 6in. dial which is painted and gilt, has just been erected at the pretty village of Coniscliffe-on-Tees parish church by Messrs. W. Potts and Sons, Clock Makers, Guildford Street and Cookridge Street, Leeds, Yorks, makers of the Gainford and Hurworth-on-Tees church clocks, Stockton-on-Tees townhall clock, Darlington station tower clock, etc., from instructions received from the vicar, churchwardens, and committee.

PRESTWICH PARISH CHURCH SOCIETY.

On Saturday, May 14th, the above society journeyed to Knutsford parish church, and rang a 720 of Bob Minor in 26½ mins. They afterwards had a pleasant walk through the fields from Knutsford to Mobberley under the leadership of Mr. J. Gratrix, where they were met by the Mobberley ringers and rang another 720 of Bob Minor in 26 mins. F. Barlow, 1; W. Warburton, 2; J. Gratrix, 3; W. Stephens, 4; H. Percival, 5; J. Heywood, 6. Both 720s were conducted by F. Barlow.

RINGERS' SUPPER AND PRESENTATION.

On Saturday, April 23rd, the Members of the Waldron Branch of the Sussex County Association partook of an excellent supper provided by Host and Hostess Eade of the "Star" Inn, after which a timepiece was presented to Mr. J. Beal (who is leaving the parish), as a slight recognition of the services rendered by him to the band during the last five years. Several friends and neighbours were present. The chair was taken by the Rector (Rev. W. J. Humble Crofts), and the vice-chair by Mr. Nelson Kenward (churchwarden). When presenting the testimonial, the Chairman in a brief but suitable speech expressed the pleasure it afforded him in being present on that occasion, also his regret as well as that of his brother-ringers at the loss of him, and expressed a wish that when opportunity afforded he would still pay them a visit. Mr. J. Beal, in a few words, suitably responded. After a most enjoyable evening had been spent the health of the host and hostess was drunk, and the National Anthem terminated the proceedings. On Saturday, April 30th, being the wedding day of Mr. J. Beal, the Waldron Branch rang several touches, including 420 Grandsire Triples. A. Dawes, 1; H. Rann, 2; E. Jennings, 3; J. Burgess, 4; G. The Builder for May 7th contains a west view and a plan of Llandaff Cathedral, the existing parts of which are mostly Decorated in style, though there are considerable Early English and some Norman remains, besides the Perpendicular north-west tower and modern south-west tower. The west front between the towers is a good specimen of Early English; it is remarkable for having no transepts or central tower.

THE BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

The Annual Meeting of this Association was held on Easter Monday. At three o'clock a meat tea was prepared in the All Hallows' mission room, to which about seventy sat down, the table being nicely decorated. The Mayor (Dr. Coombs) presided, and the chair was occupied by Mr. Elger, Treasurer of the Association. There were also present the Rev. L. Woodard, Rev. A. C. Downer, Rev. Canon Haddock, Rev. W. W. Carew Baker, Rev. J. Copner, Rev. H. Rudkin, Rev. C. J. E. Smith, Mr. T. Bull, and Mr. Edwin Ransom. London, Cambridge, Leighton Buzzard, Milton Ernest, Woburn, Sharnbrook, Biddenham, Bromham, Bedford, Turvey, Clapham, Embleton, Eversholt, and Wymington were well represented by ringers. Immediately after the tea the Chairman called on the Hon. Secretary of the Association (Rev. W. W. C. Baker) to read the tenth annual report, which with the balance-sheet, were received and adopted. The balance in hand is 21*l.* 18*s.* 4*d.*

The patron, president, and vice-presidents were re-elected, as was also the retiring members of the committee, except Mr. Biggs, who wished to withdraw, and the Rev. C. J. E. Smith was elected in his stead. The treasurer, Mr. Elger, and the auditors were also re-elected. On the proposition of Mr. Chasty, seconded by Mr. H. King, the Rev. W. W. C. Baker was re-elected hon. secretary.

The Rev. W. W. C. Baker said he was much obliged to them for the manner in which his name had been received, but he should have been glad if they could have relieved him, as he had other duties which would take up a great portion of his time. He should not relax his interest in bell-ringing, but if any one would do the writing and take the subscriptions he should be glad. As it was their unanimous wish that he should take office again, he would do his best.

Several new members were then elected.

The Hon. Secretary asked to be allowed to pay the fares of ringers when they went to ring where bells had been restored or new bells hung. Wherever they went they went to promote change-ringing, and it was too much to expect them to pay their own fares. If in such places he could supply a band of ringers, he could do a good work. He moved that the fares be paid. This was seconded, and carried.

After one or two complimentary toasts, the company departed for St. Paul's church, where a special service was held, the Vicar being the preacher. After service the ringers and a few friends met in the belfry for the purpose of unveiling a tablet which had been erected on the south wall recording several peals. The tablet was unveiled by the Vicar, who opened the ceremony with prayer. On removing the cloth which covered the tablet he felt sure that it displayed the skill which their ringers had in the way of change-ringing. A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the subscribers to the tablet and those gentlemen who had taken so much interest in getting it erected. This concluded the proceedings.

RINGERS' WEDDING.

A wedding took place on Saturday, April 23rd, at All Saints' church, Kingston-on-Thames, between Mr. Joseph Apps, of East Molesey, and Miss Sarah Bixley, of Kingston-on-Thames. The bridegroom is a member of the Surrey Association, a ringer at St. Mary's, East Molesey, and frequently visited the tower of All Saints, Kingston, where there is a ring of ten, tenor 33 cwt. In the church were many friends of the bride. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. S. Young, Treasurer of the Association. The bride wore a dress of french grey, with a large fall, and orange blossoms in her hair. The four bridesmaids were also dressed in grey. After the ceremony, as the newly-married pair left the church, they were greeted with showers of rice. In the evening the bells of St. Mary's rung out merry peals from 7.30 to 8.30 in honour of the event. An adjournment was then made to the "Bell" hotel, and about fifteen (including the bridegroom) sat down to an excellent supper, provided by H. Robertson, Esq., the Vicar, the Rev. H. Hollingworth, presiding. After the cloth had been removed the health of the Vicar and Mr. Robertson was proposed and duly honoured. Songs and handbell ringing brought a very pleasant evening to a close at 10.45.

FOR SALE, A Splendid peal of Handbells, 52 in number, in good order. By Blews of Birmingham. Chromatic Scale, from G 2 to G 4; Cushions, Stand, and Music complete. The cost when new was about £30. Good reason for selling. No reasonable offer refused.—WALTER REA, Stourbridge Road, Bromsgrove.

THE LIVERPOOL DIOCESAN GUILD.

The Annual Meeting of this Guild was held at Southport on Saturday, April 30th, when upwards of sixty members attended. Ringing commenced at 2.30 p.m., several touches being rung by the various companies until 3.30 p.m., when a short service was held, at which the Ven. Archdeacon Clarke, the Rev. C. M. Clarke, and the Rev. W. T. Bulpit officiated, the latter delivering a very appropriate address upon the subject "Love the brotherhood." Subsequently the members sat down to an excellent tea, supplied by Alderman Fisher, and to which ample justice was done, after which the business meeting was held, presided over by the Rev. C. M. Clarke, who gave the Guild a hearty welcome to Southport. Then the Rev. W. T. Bulpit in a short address congratulated the Guild on the steady progress that had been made, as the Guild now consisted of three life members, thirty honorary members, and 107 performing members, making in all a total of 140 members, but said he was sorry to add there had been a decrease in change-ringing during the past year, but hoped it might be remedied during the coming year, and regretted the loss of two members by death. The whole of the retiring officers were re-elected, after which Mr. W. L. Hutton in a few remarks spoke of the good work being done by the Guild, and would be most happy to present the Guild with a peal book, which was received with loud acclamation.

Mr. J. Martin then spoke a few words in connexion with the Benevolent Fund, and said he was pleased to see that it was greatly appreciated by the members, and would do all in his power to further increase the membership. Two honorary and six performing members were elected, and other business of a practical nature were discussed, after which the usual vote of thanks brought a very pleasant meeting to a close.

CRAWLEY, SUSSEX.

Messrs. Rice and Jordan, of the local band, having rung their forty-ninth peal on Monday, May 2nd, and wishing to ring their fiftieth together, no time was lost, and it was arranged for a band to meet on Saturday, May 7th, at 7.30. Having met at the appointed time, ringing commenced, and Mr. Rice called "go" at 5.42, Mr. York Green's one-part peal of Kent Treble Bob (which has the 5th and 6th the extent in 5-6 and the 2nd never in 6th's place at a course-end) being the one chosen for the occasion. After three hours and five minutes' excellent ringing the welcome words "that's all" were heard, and they were congratulated on the completion of their fiftieth peal. Mr. Rice's peals are made up as follow: Double Norwich Court Bob Major, 3; Kent Treble Bob, 10; Oxford, 1; Bob Major, 2; Canterbury Major, 1; Stedman Triples, 2; Grandsire, 12; Oxford Bob, 1; Union, 1; Plain Bob, 2; Canterbury, 2; in seven different Methods upon Six Bells, 10; Court Bob Triples, 3. These include a 10,176 of Treble Bob Major, and a 6720 of Canterbury Major. Mr. Jordan's are composed of the following: Double Norwich Court Bob Major, 3; Treble Bob, 9; Double Oxford Bob, 1; Bob Major, 3; Stedman Triples, 2; Court Bob, 2; Plain Bob, 2; Canterbury, 1; Grandsire, 6; in seven different methods upon Six Bells, 20; and a 10,080 in fourteen different methods, of which nine were Surprise.

THE MIDDLESEX ASSOCIATION.

A Meeting of this Association was held at St. Stephen's, Hampstead, on Saturday, April 30th. Ringing commenced at five o'clock, several good touches of Grandsire and Treble Bob being rung on the fine peal of ten bells. The business commenced with the minutes of the last meeting being passed as read. The balance sheet for the past year was, after some discussion, passed. The Secretary then informed the meeting that the Treasurer had sent in his resignation, and therefore it was necessary to elect another in his place. F. A. Milne, Esq. was thereupon duly elected Treasurer. It was decided that the next meeting should be held at Hendon. Several new members were then elected, and the meeting terminated with a hearty vote of thanks to the Rev. J. Kirkham, for allowing the Society the use of the bells.

Ringers' Outings.

VISIT TO SHEDFIELD, HANTS.—On Easter Monday last Messrs. Tribe, Elcombe and Newman from Romsey, journeyed to Shedfield to meet by appointment Messrs. Linter, Warren, and Jacobs from Swanmore, to have a pull on the nice peal of six in that tower. At eleven o'clock, the bells having been previously raised by the local ringers, a start was made for a 720 of Bob Minor, which, after some good ringing, was brought home in 24 mins. E. Jacobs, 1; C. Tribe, 2; G. Newman, 3; J. Elcombe, 4; E. Warren (conductor), 5; W. Linter, 6. A start was made for a 720 of Canterbury Minor, but this had to be brought round at the half-way owing to a vestry meeting being held at twelve o'clock. A move was then made to Swanmore, which was reached after an enjoyable three-mile walk. Receiving a cordial invitation from Mr. E. Warren, they went to his house and partook of an excellent dinner which he had kindly provided for them. A visit was then paid to the tower and 720 Canterbury Minor rung. G. Newman, 1; E. Jacobs, 2; W. Linter, 3; E. Warren (conductor), 4; J. Elcombe, 5; C. Tribe, 6. First 720 in the method by J. Elcombe and G. Newman. The Romsey trio now bade good-bye to their Swanmore friends, and started off for an eight-mile walk to Fareham, which place was reached about six o'clock. There they had the pleasure of listening to a capitally-struck quarter-peal of Stedman Triples; they also rang some Bob Triples with their Fareham friends. They returned home to Romsey by train, having spent a busy but very enjoyable day. They wish to express their sincere thanks to their Swanmore friends for their kindness to them, and they hope to have the pleasure of meeting them again some-day on a similar visit.

THE ST. ANDREW'S GUILD, BISHOP AUCKLAND.—On Easter Monday the members of this Guild had an outing, Ripon being the place selected. Arriving there shortly after 10 a.m. they were met at the station by Mr. T. Clark, of Kelsale Villa, Ripon, who took them to his house and provided refreshments for them. A move was then made to Sharow church, and a touch of 504 Grandsire Triples was rung for service. T. Clark (conductor), 1; E. Bozzard, 2; F. Charlton, 3; G. Pallister, 4; H. C. Mayne, 5; T. Bozzard, 6; J. Shipp, 7; E. Titt, 8. After service 882 and 168 in the same method. W. Pallister, 1; T. Clark, 2; G. Pallister, 3; J. Shipp, 4; H. C. Mayne, 5; E. Titt (conductor), 6; F. Charlton, 7; T. Bozzard, 8. Another visit was then paid to Mr. Clark's residence where a spread of the right sort had been prepared for them, and to which they did ample justice. They afterwards proceeded to Ripon Cathedral, Mr. Clark having previously obtained permission for the use of the bells. A touch of Grandsire Triples was attempted on the back eight but came to grief after 600 had been rung. A move had then to be made to the station to catch the 4.47 p.m. train, and after an enjoyable ride they arrived home, having spent a very pleasant day. They take this opportunity of thanking Mr. and Mrs. Clark for their kindness; also to the Dean of Ripon and the Vicar of Sharow for the use of their bells.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH, SKETTY, NEAR SWANSEA.—On Saturday, April 30th, a band of ringers from St. Mary's, Swansea, through the kind permission of Mr. Cryer, the organist, visited the above church and rang a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples on the pretty peal of eight by Mears and Stainbank. Also a 350 in the same method, by way of trying the go of the bells. J. Smith, 1; F. Curtis, 2; J. Hoare, 3; G. Searle, 4; R. Yeo, 5; J. Smith (Colchester), 6; C. Smith (conductor), 7; A. Shepherd, 8. Tenor about 14 cwt. in F sharp. A. Shepherd hails from Wootton-under-Edge, Gloucestershire. After being refreshed, by the kindness of Mr. Cryer, the band again visited the tower and rang 168 Grandsire Triples. C. Smith (conductor), 1; E. Searle, 2; R. Yeo, 6; H. West, 7; the rest as before. Duty pressing most of the men, the time had arrived to fall the bells in peal. This is the first in any method on the bells; but it will not be long before the Sketty band go in for method ringing. We wish to thank Mr. Cryer for the use of the bells, through the medium of this paper, and also those who took so much interest in it.

Correspondence.

While allowing the utmost freedom for the expression of opinion, it must never be considered that we are in any way bound to statements made by correspondents.

To the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS AND RINGERS' RECORD."

SIR,—Re Bibliotheca Campanalogica.—As it fell to my lot to move Mr. Strange's motion at the Council meeting, in his absence, may I reply to his letter of last week? The list of bell literature which I had in my mind is that which appeared in the Rev. H. T. Ellacombe's Bells of the Church (Pollard, Exeter, 1872). This, counting books, articles, poetry, etc., reaches 247. A very much later list must exist in MSS., and doubtless some member of Mr. Ellacombe's family can place one at the disposal of the Council.

Re the Eastern Counties' Guild.—I heard nothing that should have given our friends of the E.C.G. any offence. The President, congratulating the members present, mentioned that representatives had been returned to the Council from all parts of the country, as in the previous year, with one or two exceptions, such exceptions not being of any importance—that is the numbers who had not sent representatives being unimportant—not the members of the Guild who had chosen not to be represented.

Re Six-bell Peals.—The very difficult feat of ringing fourteen half peals in fourteen different methods has always been a favourite one in Yorkshire, and now that one looks at the Council's exact words it would appear at first sight as if these were barred. Our Association will of course gladly score any such, and meanwhile I hope you will not stop recording them, as I think I can safely vouch for the Council having intended no such hardship. I am more than ever convinced that sub-committees should thrash these questions into shape, and then report to the Council; in fact there is no other way of escaping temporary confusion.

WILLIAM SNOWDON.

Leeds, Yorkshire.

WHERE IS BELFRY REFORM?

SIR,—When our county Association was started one of its objects was the promotion of belfry reform. One of the towers in which this reform was carried out was one that had been called in these columns a "slaughter-house"; not because of the character of the ringers, but the appearance of the ringing-chamber. Since then other subjects have come to the front, leaving this in the background. On going into the same tower a few Sundays ago I was surprised to find that the belfry, which had been made through the instrumentality of the Association more like a part and parcel of a church, made into a "low concert hall." Only one of the company present had sufficient reverence for God's House to remove his hat, while two others were singing "Ta ra ra boom de ay." It would do no harm if our Associations decided, "on principle" what constitutes a true ringer as well as a true peal. Perhaps then ringers as a body would be recognised as Church workers.

LOOKER-ON.

EXPLANATIONS.

SIR,—In your last issue there appeared an account of a three-part peal having been rung at Foxearth, Essex, and said to have been composed by W. Sottanstill; also in the foot-note as a composition of mine, which will be found in "THE BELL NEWS" on page 17, vol. 6. That composition I contradicted the next week, having no claim to it. It was rung at St. Peter's, Sowerby, on December 26th, 1858, conducted by its composer, J. Nicholl.

YORK GREEN.

12, Maryland Park Square, Stratford.

SIR,—In reply to Mr. J. W. Davies' letter in your last issue contradicting our claim to be the second local band to ring a peal in Wales, I beg to inform him that I was perfectly cognisant of the Llangollen peal, but understood they had received assistance from Wrexham; if however such was not the case, I am sorry I made the claim, and consequently withdraw it.

T. J. BRATTON.

CORRECTIONS.

SIR,—The peal of Canterbury Pleasure Major rung at Petworth by the Warnham band was 5024, and not 5040 as published. It was taken from "THE BELL NEWS" of August 1st, 1891.

HENRY H. CHANDLER.

SIR,—In the report of a peal rung at St. Mary's, Kidderminster, and published in last week's issue, the time was put as 3 hrs. 53½ mins., whereas it should have been 2 hrs. 53½ mins.

The Bell News &amp; Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, MAY 21, 1892.

ANOTHER of those instances of unseemly behaviour in the ringing-chamber is by a trustworthy correspondent pointed out this week. We are very loth to further allude to the case, because we know that all good ringers, who strive their best to raise the Art and those who practise it to the level it deserves, feel no small humiliation when they read that there are yet in existence people, ringers we suppose, who think that the latest senseless music hall craze may not be out of place in a church. Nevertheless it is our duty to stigmatise such behaviour in as severe a manner as possible. We may tell the offender or offenders that it is such conduct as theirs which has begotten the remark that the practice of ringing is entirely in the wrong hands; and that it will never be recognized as it ought to be recognized unless some stringent rules are adopted to prevent the admission to the Exercise of unworthy persons. Such offences as the one in question ought not to pass unnoticed. We hope our correspondent or some one else will take measures to have the name-book of the Association purged by the excision of the offender's name, never again to be restored. The punishment may be severe, but the offence demands it. How can we call ourselves "Church workers," when we have such dissolute persons as these to belie the title? We call upon the Association concerned to make a public example of this offender, and thus to show they will not tolerate in the smallest degree such abominable conduct.

Her Majesty's Surgeon-Dentist's Testimonial.

"My Dear Doctor,—Allow me to express my sincere thanks for the skill and attention displayed in the construction of my Artificial Teeth, which render my mastication and articulation excellent. I am glad to hear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. In recognition of your valuable services, you are at liberty to use my name.—S. C. HURCHINGS. By Appointment Surgeon-Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen." Geo. H. Jones, Esq., F.R.S.L., F.R.M.S.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has by his Perfected System of Dentistry demonstrated that Painless Dentistry is as much an accomplished fact as the swift locomotive, the electric light, or the telephone, and absolutely restores the natural contour caused by the loss of teeth, by the adjustment of Prize Medal dentals, rendering detection impossible, which obtained the Gold Medals of London, 1851; New York, 1853; London, 1862; Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; and Philadelphia, 1876.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has been awarded for his Improvements and Patents in Dentistry gold medals, London and Paris; gold medal, New Zealand Exhibition, 1882; gold medal Calcutta, 1883; and the highest diploma of merit and award at Nice and Amsterdam, 1883-4. Awarded the gold medal of the Académie Nationale, Paris, 1884; and the highest award Antwerp; also the gold medal, International Exhibition, London, 1885; gold medal, Liverpool, 1886; gold medal, Melbourne, 1888-9.

THE SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

The Annual Meeting of this Guild was held at Poole on Monday, April 16th, and was attended by about sixty members. Divine Service was held at St. James's church, and an appropriate sermon was preached by the Rev. W. Elliott, of Holy Trinity, Bournemouth. The business meeting was subsequently held in the vestry, the Master of the Guild (Rev. A. D. Hill) presiding. The annual report showed that during 1891 there were 56 honorary members and 268 ringing members, while in the previous year there were 61 of the former and 314 of the latter. Financially, although there had been fewer members, the expenses had been less, and the Guild was in as good a position in this respect as in 1890. The total receipts last year were £27 2s., which with a balance in hand of £20 13s. 6d., made £47 15s. 6d. The aggregate expenses only amounted to £25 18s. 10d., so that a balance in hand of £21 16s. 8d. was left at the end of 1891. As regarded change-ringing, altogether thirteen peals of over 5000 changes had been rung on tower bells, and ten on handbells, during the year, viz.: 1 peal of Treble Bob Major, 13 peals of Grandsire Triples, 5 of Bob Major, and 5 of Stedman Triples. The Committee made the following recommendations and additions to the rules of the Guild: (1) That the allowance of travelling expenses to ringing members attending the annual or district meetings continue to be paid as heretofore according to the usual scale up to 3s. per head; (2) That facilities be also given for change-ringing parties of members, holding the Guild certificate of proficiency, to arrange for special local meetings within the diocese, a grant not exceeding two-thirds of the travelling expenses being given within reasonable limits out of the funds of the Guild. The Committee added an explanation to the effect that these contributions from the funds were not to be made in respect of any member for more than one such meeting, in addition to the allowance for the general meeting, in each year. This was considered to be desirable in order to encourage the knowledge and practice of change-ringing, which was one of the main objects of the Guild. In closing their report the Committee expressed their deep regret at the resignation of the Rev. M. Hankey, district secretary for Dorset. Considerable discussion took place upon the recommendations of the Committee. A suggestion was made that every one who could not ring the treble in 120 changes on tower bells, or 720 on handbells, and therefore not in possession of the Guild certificate of proficiency, should be treated as probationers. This was considered a little too radical, although it was generally admitted that something should be done which would decisively promote scientific change-ringing. Another suggestion was made to the effect that the Guild should undertake to pay one-half of the expenses incurred by any band in securing the services of an instructor. Eventually the report and recommendations were adopted.

A proposition by Mr. T. Blackburn that the Committee be requested to draw up a few simple directions as to the first steps to be taken in order to acquire the art of change-ringing, so that country bands may be able to make a commencement before procuring an instructor, was unanimously adopted, and the consideration of other suggestions was left to the pleasure of the Committee.

The Rev. A. D. Hill was elected Master; Mr. W. Pinckney (Old Bank, Salisbury), Hon. Treasurer; Mr. J. R. Jerram (Salisbury), General Secretary; Rev. C. W. Hony (Bishop's Cannings), Secretary for Wilts; Rev. J. H. Fisher (Cranbourne), Secretary for Dorset; Revs. J. H. Penruddocke and J. D. Morris, Messrs. S. Merritt, G. Parham, C. A. Clements, F. Rigden, and J. Judd, as the Special Committee; and Mr. W. W. Gifford (Salisbury), as Hon. Auditor. On the motion of the Rev. S. Boulter (Fordington), a special vote of thanks was passed to the Rev. M. Hankey, for services rendered.

Dinner was served at The Antelope, the Mayor of Poole presiding, the company including the Rev. A. D. Hill, Rev. J. A. Lawson (Rector of St. James, Poole), Rev. A. Kemble (Berwick St. John, Salisbury), Rev. S. Boulter, Rev. C. W. Balleine (Fontmell Magna), and Rev. J. A. Jacob (Salisbury). The Mayor proposed "The Queen and Royal Family," and "The Health of the Rev. J. A. Lawson," both toasts being received with enthusiasm. Mr. Lawson having replied, the Mayor submitted the toast of "Success to the Salisbury Diocesan Guild of Ringers," expressed the great pleasure it was to him to meet the members of the Guild; alluded to the delight which the music of the bells always afforded him; spoke of the exercise those who took part in bell-ringing obtained, and wished the Guild increased prosperity.

The Master briefly responded, and tendered the thanks of the company to all the incumbents who by throwing open their belfries had contributed to the pleasure of the visitors.

During the day the belfries of St. James (Poole), St. Peter (Bournemouth), Wareham, Corfe Castle, and Canford were available, and ringing took place in most of them.

THE NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A Quarterly General Meeting was held at Thetford on Monday, May 17th, which was very thinly attended by members, owing, no doubt, chiefly to the situation of Thetford being remote from the principal ringing centres of the diocese, and the means of communication by rail intricate. The eight bells of St. Peter's church were most kindly placed at the disposal of the Association for the day by the Rector, the Rev. J. P. Watts, who gave a most cordial welcome to the members who attended. A cold collation was provided at The Anchor at 1.30, to which about twenty sat down, the Rev. Dr. Raven, President of the Association, taking the chair, supported by the Rector of St. Peter's, Thetford, the Vicar of St. Mary's, the Rev. W. R. Pitt, District Secretary for East Harling, Mr. F. Miles, District Secretary for Fakenham, and the Honorary Secretary. A short business meeting followed the dinner, when the Hon. Secretary congratulated the members on the continual growth of the society; and the incumbents of St. Peter's and St. Mary's both cordially welcomed the Association to Thetford, and expressed appreciation of its work. An addition of fifty-seven to the ranks of the society was made at this meeting, viz.: fourteen honorary members, including two ladies, twenty-two performing members, and twenty-one probationers. Ringers were present from Norwich, Fakenham, Wymondham, East Harling, Kenninghall, Fundenham, and St. Peter's, Thetford. Those accustomed to eight-bell work were, however, too few to form a company, therefore, the greater part of the ringing done during the day was Minor.

THE CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

The Fourteenth Quarterly Meeting of the Macclesfield branch was held at Bollington, on Saturday, the 14th, when only twenty members attended; being eleven from Macclesfield, and the remainder from Bollington. During the afternoon several touches of Grandsire Triples were rung by mixed bands, including a 672 by seven from Macclesfield, and one from Bollington. The usual tea was partaken of at five o'clock, which was a substantial one, in the school-room, presided over by the vicar, the Rev. F. Richardson, who also presided over the business meeting which followed. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed, and Prestbury was selected for the next place of meeting, on the 8th of October, 1892. Business of a light character was gone through and great displeasure was shewn at the absence of the Poynton, Prestbury and Gawsorth members. The meeting terminated with a hearty vote of thanks to the vicar for his kindness in presiding, his welcome, and the use of the room and the bells. The tower was again visited, and altogether a pleasant time was spent by the few who did attend.

The designs of Lord Grimthorpe have been followed in the construction of this clock by the makers, John Smith and Sons, of Derby, and the same firm are now making the great clock for St. Paul's Cathedral, under Lord Grimthorpe's instructions.

MAIDENHEAD. BERKS.

On Saturday, April 30th, a meeting of ringers took place at All Saints, Boyne Hill, friends coming from Marlow, Cookham, and Farnham Royal to assist in celebrating the 68th birthday of Mr. R. Smith, the veteran father of change-ringers in this district. A peal was attempted, but owing to a mis-call failed after ringing 2600 changes. The next item was the opening of a magnificent peal-board, recording the first peal of Oxford Bob Triples rung in the diocese, which fact the Vicar, the Rev. A. H. Drummond, in uncovering the board, congratulated the band on, and urged them to still further efforts to obtain more peals and in different methods. A touch was then rung to mark the event, after which the ringers, clergy and churchwardens adjourned to supper at the Institute Club Room, the repast being well served up by Mr. and Mrs. Holdway, caretakers. A course of Grandsire Triples was rung by Messrs. Yates, Parker, J. Wilkins and Truss, which was much appreciated. The cloth being cleared, the toast of "The Queen and Royal Family" was given, and honoured with a verse of the National Anthem. "The Bishop and Clergy of the Diocese" was proposed by Mr. F. Bissley, and responded to by the Vicar, who expressed the pleasure it gave him to be with them that evening, and on all occasions to meet his ringers, as they were men to be proud of. Then came the toast of the evening—"The Health of Mr. R. Smith," proposed by the Vicar, who spoke of the long and excellent services rendered by Mr. Smith to the art of change-ringing and belfry reform in the parish. He could not say all he should like to then, as friends had to catch their trains. He would on behalf of himself, the rest of the clergy and ringers present Mr. Smith with an enlarged photograph of themselves (taken under the tower, with Mr. Smith in the centre, and suitably inscribed underneath), as a memento of his happy existence among them, and appreciation of his ungrudging services to one and all.

Mr. Smith, in reply, heartily thanked them for the honour done to him, and gave an interesting account of his sojourn among them.

"The Health of the Churchwardens" was then proposed by Mr. J. Wilkins, who said they were only too glad to see them in the belfry at any time, shewing they were all interested one with another.

After a song by the last speaker, entitled "Paddy and the Rope," the Vicar's warden responded, testifying the pleasure it was to be with them, and his willingness to do all he could for them.

The healths of the foreman, Mr. F. Bissley, and steeplekeeper, Mr. J. Wilkins, was given by the Rev. R. P. Newhouse, who spoke of their respective merits, which was responded to by them. Songs and tunes on the handbells brought a very successful day to a close.

THE SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION AT LINFIELD.

On Saturday evening, May 14th, a good muster of ringers belonging to this association met at the parish church of St. John the Baptist, for an evening's practice together. Besides several members of the local company, there were present Messrs. Williams, Merriitt, Fuller, Palmer and Hart, from Brighton; Messrs. Parker, Paice, Tyler, F. and J. Rice, from Crawley; and J. Searle and T. Colburn from Burgess Hill. The following touches were brought round: 416 Double Norwich Court Bob Major; 480 Kent Treble Bob Major; 210 and 168 Grandsire Triples; and 168 Stedman Triples. These are the first touches of Double Norwich and Treble Bob on the bells. Several of the local men took part in the Grandsire. On the whole the ringing was very satisfactory, the only method attempted and not brought round being a course of Superlative. Tenor 21½ cwt. It is hoped that several more meetings of this kind will be arranged during the summer months.

HANDBELL RINGING.—Mr. A. J. Perkins writes:—"The Bell News" of last week has given an attempt of a peal on handbells by four members of the Royal Cumberland Youths. It states that about 300 changes were rung. This should be 3000 changes."

BATH AND WELLS ASSOCIATION.

A district meeting was held at Yatton, on Saturday, the 21st May, the towers represented being St. Mary (Yatton), St. Mary, St. Saviour's, St. Andrew's, the Abbey (Bath), Twerton-on-Avon, Long Ashton, Wraxall, Backwell, Barrow Gurney, Huntspill, Wells and Highbridge. A service was held at 2.15 at St. Mary's, Yatton, prayers being read by the Rev. C. W. H. Griffith, M.A., (Master of the Association), and the lesson by the Rev. William Arnold, M.A., (vicar), and an interesting and appropriate address was given by the Rev. J. A. Wadmore, M.A. (vicar of Barrow Gurney), who based his remarks upon Romans xii. 10, 11, 15. Many of the members, after a few touches on the Yatton bells, journeyed farther afield to the interesting churches of Wrington and Congresbury, where they were well received by the local authorities. On the return of the wanderers to Yatton they were entertained at tea, kindly provided by the vicar. A meeting was subsequently held, under the presidency of the vicar, supported by Mr. C. E. D. Boutflower (Bristol), J. H. B. Hesse (Wrington), and Mr. Rupert Lewis, honorary secretary. The minutes of the last meeting having been read and confirmed, sixteen new members were elected on the proposition of Mr. C. E. D. Boutflower, seconded by Mr. J. Smith Flower. It was then decided, on the proposition of Mr. Rupert Lewis, seconded by Mr. A. E. Mills (Wells), who said the members would be heartily welcomed, that the next meeting should be held at Wells. On the proposition of Mr. C. E. D. Boutflower, seconded by Mr. Rupert Lewis, a most cordial vote of thanks was accorded to the vicar for his great kindness and hospitality, and also to the churchwardens, organist, and choir for their services. The ringing during the day included touches of Grandsire Triples, Grandsire, Stedman and Bob Doubles; and a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples in 47 mins. R. Lewis, 1; H. T. Howell, 2; W. Lewis, 3; J. Wale, 4; J. Smith Flower, 5; A. Melhuish, 6; H. W. Brown (conductor), 7; T. E. Lock, 8. This is the first quarter-peal in any method by J. Whale and T. E. Lock.

ERECTION OF A PEAL-BOARD.

With the kind permission of the Rev. J. H. Snowden, M.A., last December a peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major was rung at St. Paul's church, Hammersmith. It was the first peal in the method on the bells, and the first peal on them since they were re-hung in the new tower. On Saturday, May 7th, some members of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths met at this church with the intention of ringing a peal to celebrate the erection of a board in the tower commemorating the peal mentioned, but unfortunately meeting one short the attempt was abandoned, only a few touches in various methods being rung. The board, which is an exceptionally good one, is in black and gold, and was presented by Mr. E. F. Cole. It gave the utmost satisfaction; and after ringing was over Mr. Cole kindly invited the ringers to his house, where they sat down to a substantial repast, to which ample justice was done. The remainder of the evening was spent in conversing on the advance of change-ringing in general, together with a few songs. The time passed cheerfully, and 11 o'clock arriving, the company departed, each one with feelings of gratitude to Mr. and Mrs. Cole for the hearty welcome and kind hospitality he had received.

GENERAL INVITATION.—Mr. H. West, of Swansea, writes:—"The Bath and West of England Show will be held in Swansea this year, and doubtless there are many change-ringers who will visit it. As there will be ringing at St. Mary's, all change-ringers will have a most cordial welcome. Ringing will commence each day at 9 o'clock. The Show will take place on the following dates: June 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, and 6th."

GOLD MEDAL.—We are informed that the maiden peal of six used in the pantomime of "Dick Whittington," at the Prince of Wales Theatre, Birmingham, have taken the gold medal at the Trades Exhibition, held at Bingley Hall, Birmingham. These bells were cast by Messrs. Carr, Smethwick, Birmingham.

FOR SALE.—Eight Volumes of "The Bell News" running from Vol. III, to Vol. X. (with photographs). For particulars, address CHARLES R. STANLEY, 26, Roscoe Street, Liverpool.

GORING, OXON.

A few evenings ago the ringers of this place met to ring a muffled peal in affectionate remembrance of Thomas J. Pocock, of Whitchurch, Oxon, who passed away during Easter week, and who was a great friend to the band, he having assisted them in ringing their first 720 they ever rung: it was intended to have rung some Minor, but one of the band could not attend. Several 6-scores of Doubles were rung instead. G. Moore, 1; C. Tidbury, 2; J. Bower, 3; W. Aldridge, 4; G. Wilson, 5; J. Carter, 6. On Friday evening, April 28th, a 720 Bob Minor, this was rang in honor of Mr. James Schoolbred coming to reside in the village, and a visit by the Rev. H. L. Lewis, who was curate in this parish last summer, and who was married a few weeks ago; the ringers wish them a happy and prosperous long life. On Sunday, May 1st, a 360 Bob Minor and 360 Oxford Bob. On Sunday, May 8th, for evening service, a 360 Bob Minor. J. Carter, 1; J. Bower, 2; C. Tidbury, 3; W. Aldridge, 4; J. Alexander, 5; G. Wilson (conductor), 6.

WOODBIDGE, SUFFOLK.

MUFFLED PEAL.—On Saturday evening, April 30th, a muffled peal was rung by the eight members of the Woodbridge company on the bells of St. Mary's church, as a last mark of respect to the late Mr. David Baldwin, who died suddenly at the Seckford Almshouses, the deceased being an old and much respected member of this society, as well as a good ringer. The treble was taken by Mr. J. Fosdike (the respected Master of the society) who commenced to ring with Mr. Baldwin in 1830. On three of the tablets in St. Mary's belfry, the name of "David Baldwin" is inscribed as ringing the 6th in the following peals: January 12th, 1842, 5,120 Kent Treble Bob, in 3 hrs. 9 mins. March 26th, 1851, 6,144 Kent Treble Bob, in 3 hrs. 56 mins. (this is the longest peal known to have been rung on the Woodbridge bells). Jan. 21st, 1869, 5,040 Grandsire Triples, in 3 hrs. 20 mins.

CLIFTON, YORK.

On Saturday, May 13th, the SS. Phillip and James' company paid a visit to Easingwold, and by kind permission of the vicar, Rev. N. Jackson, attempted a peal on the bells of St. John's church. They however were not successful in getting the peal, but rang five 720's in two hours. The methods were College Single, Yorkshire Court, Grandsire, Duke of York, and Oxford Treble Bob. After the ringing, by the invitation of the vicar, an adjournment was made to the vicarage, where a splendid repast awaited them. After doing justice to the good things provided, the handbells were brought into acquisition, and courses of Grandsire Triples and Major were rung on the terrace before the vicarage. The vicar then took them round the garden and grounds, shewing the splendid views of the church and surrounding country, to be obtained from this vantage ground, which stands very high. A splendid view was obtained of York Minster, the distance being about thirteen miles. A move was then made for the station, and the company reached home safely after having spent a most enjoyable afternoon, and through this medium they wish to tender their best thanks to the vicar for his kindness, and also to the local company for having everything in readiness.

THE ST. JAMES' SOCIETY, LONDON.

On Saturday, May 14th, the members of this society revived the once annual dinner, which it is hoped may be held in future every year without interval. The place selected for the enjoyment of the repast was the meeting-house of the Society, the "Essex Head," Essex Street, Strand. About twenty sat down, the Master, Mr. F. G. Newman, presiding. The menu was on a very liberal scale, and reflected credit on the proprietary of the above-named inn.

After the cloth was withdrawn and the usual loyal toasts given by the Master, Mr. G. McLaughlin gave a short resumé of the origin of the St. James' Society, which was very interesting to all present.

The Master then gave the toast of "The Bishop and Clergy of the Diocese," accompanying its introduction by a few appropriate observations. Toast and sentiment, interspersed with some very good double-handed ringing, then became general.

PRESENTATION AT CAPEL, SURREY.

ON Saturday, May 14th, the Capel ringers and a few friends visited Ockley church tower, and by the kind permission of the vicar rang 720 each of Oxford and Kent Treble Bob. First band: J. Worsfold, 1; J. Akehurst, 2; J. Fayers, 3; M. Jenkins, 4; A. Mills, 5; E. Jordan (conductor), 6. Second band: J. Worsfold, 1; E. Jordan, 2; J. Akehurst, 3; J. Fayers, 4; M. Jenkins, 5; A. Mills (conductor), 6. The party then returned to "The Crown" inn at Capel, where a substantial supper was provided by host and hostess Weeden in their usual good style. About a dozen sat down, Mr. J. Worsfold occupying the chair, and Mr. J. Akehurst the vice-chair, and after three good courses the supper was brought to an end. Time pressing, and the cloth being removed, Mr. J. Akehurst (in the absence of Mr. C. Eagles, nephew of the vicar of Ockley and representative of the Ockley branch of the Winchester Diocesan Guild), in a few well-chosen remarks, presented Mr. D. Jordan, as a recognition of his past services as secretary of the Capel band, with a silver albert, with compass and silver bell appendages, the recipient's name being neatly engraved on one side of the bell, and on the other "Presented by the Capel ringers and a few friends."

Mr. D. Jordan in a few words suitably responded, and expressed his sincere thanks for the way he was being treated.

A letter was then read by the Chairman from Mr. Eagles expressing his regret at not being able to be present, through a long standing engagement he was bound to fulfil a long distance away; and he also spoke how great Mr. Jordan's services had been towards promoting the art of change-ringing in the Winchester diocese; also how much the Ockley band have appreciated the kind and ready way in which the Capel ringers have come forward to assist them.

The Chairman then proposed "The Health of Mr. J. Akehurst," the donor of the feast, which was duly responded to with musical honours. The rest of the evening was spent in singing songs by the company.

Perhaps some of our readers will wonder why the ringers went to Ockley to ring on this occasion. The reason is this: that the bells at Capel are very much out of repair. The ringers had a meeting in the belfry last October, and came to the decision that it was unsafe to continue practice, and sent a note to that effect to the Vicar, signed by the ringers, which had not yet been acknowledged by him, only a statement in the Parish Magazine that as there are several more important objects connected with the church which it is very desirable to accomplish, these repairs evidently cannot at present be effected.

Obituary.

JOHN ROSS.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. John Ross, of Pudsey, Yorkshire, which took place on Saturday evening, May 14th, aged 70 years. The funeral took place on the Tuesday following, and was attended by ringers from different towns. A course of Grandsire Major was rung over the grave, and in the evening muffled tonches were rung at St. Laurence's church. The deceased had been a ringer more than fifty years. He was born at Gomersal, but when quite young he removed to Pudsey, and took up ringing in earnest, and became a prominent member of the company. He has taken part in a number of 5000s and upwards on six and eight bells, his longest length being 10,080 of Kent Treble Bob Major, at Low Moor, which was considered a very creditable performance, being well struck throughout. He has also taken part in a great many contests on six and eight bells, having won upwards of thirty prizes. He was clever in bob calling, but death has terminated the career of this veteran ringer.

Death.

On the 25th inst., at the Bellfoundry, Loughborough, ROBERT SYDNEY TAYLOR, infant son of John W. and Annie M. Taylor, aged 3½ months.

RIPON AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

A District Meeting of this Association was held at the Malt Shovel hotel, Boroughbridge, on Saturday afternoon, May 14th. There is a melodious ring of six bells here (tenor 16 cwt.) and an excellent and painstaking band of ringers. In the year 1870, the lady who was then Miss Burdett-Coutts, gave this noble ring of bells. They were cast by Mears and Stainbank, and hung in the tower by the same firm. They were erected to the memory of the father of the above-named lady, Sir Francis Burdett, at a cost of 500 guineas. The church, which is dedicated to St. James, is a handsome structure of cut stone, in the Decorated style. The fabric possesses all the component parts of a parish church; the tower is 70 feet high, and embattled. Its first stone was laid by the Rev. Geo. K. Holdsworth, on the 10th of June, 1851, and opened for Divine worship by the Lord Bishop of Ripon, July 27th, 1852.

Ringers attended from Ripon, Harrogate, Sharow, Aldborough, and Boroughbridge, nearly all the performing members being present. The Harrogate members were accompanied by their curate-in-charge (Rev. R. G. P. Brownrigg), who is an honorary member of the society, and was cordially greeted by the other members present. Ringing commenced about 4.0 p.m., when a 6-score of Bob Doubles was rung, this being closely followed by a 720 of Kent Treble Bob Minor, by G. Ingleby (Ripon), 1; Baines, 2; Langley, 3; Pick, 4; Clark (conductor), 5; Rumbold (Ripon), 6.

At 5.15 p.m. a knife-and-fork tea was bountifully provided at the hotel, when thirty-two sat down and did ample justice to the good things set before them, the Rev. R. G. P. Brownrigg presiding, and the Hon. Secretary officiating as vice. The latter gentleman made a few appropriate remarks concerning the good position of the society, and how highly honored he felt to see present the rev. gentleman at the head of the table. A course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells both before and after the tea.

At the business meeting which followed the Rev. J. St. Maur Russell, Vicar of Aldborough, and other gentlemen, were elected honorary members. The Vicar of Aldborough kindly invited the members to have a ring at his church, and in pursuance of such invitation a number of the company journeyed thither, a 15 minutes' walk, but a 720 could not be attained owing to the fittings of the 5th bell sadly wanting rectification. A 6-score of Stedman Doubles was however rung by the members of the Ripon Cathedral company before the bells were lowered.

A somewhat untoward incident occurred at Aldborough. The ringers, who ring from the floor at the west end of the church, observed a tall gentleman walking about the church. By-and-by he made his way towards the ringers, and walked in among them while ringing was going on. At length he addressed the ringer who was conducting, and it is hardly necessary to say what followed. The advances of the stranger were met by a forcible request to get out of the way. The ringers afterwards learned that the distinguished visitor was Prince George of Teck, who was staying at Aldborough Manor, and they regretted they were not afforded an opportunity of explaining to the Prince such a seeming discourtesy.

The church at Aldborough is dedicated to St. Andrew, and is an ancient Gothic edifice, restored in 1864-5 at a cost of about £1000. The tower is massive and embattled, and contains a good ring of six bells, tenor about 13 cwt. Near the site of the church is the eastern gate of the Roman Isurium, where there are numerous remains of ancient Roman pavements, which the ringers were kindly permitted to inspect. A 720 of Bob Minor was rung by a mixed band after tea, at Boroughbridge, and also a 6-score of Stedman Doubles by the Ripon Cathedral society. Before leaving, a vote of thanks was given to the Rev. Canon Owen, Vicar of Boroughbridge, and also to the Vicar of Aldborough, for their kind permission to ring; and a similar vote was awarded to the Boroughbridge and Aldborough ringers for their kindness shown on this and other occasions, which votes, it is hoped they will accept through the medium of this paper.

THE ARCHDEACON OF BARNSTAPLE ON BELFRY REFORM.

The Archdeacon of Barnstaple (Ven. A. E. Seymour) commenced his annual visitation for the Archdeaconry of Barnstaple on Monday, May 2, taking the two deaneries of Barnstaple and Sherwell. Divine Service was held in the parish at 11 o'clock, when the Litany was sung. In his charge, the Archdeacon, after referring to education, said:—

Another matter on which I wish to say something is the question of the bands of ringers in our parish churches. There has been for some years now a serious attempt all over England to reform the state of the belfries, which used to reflect anything but credit upon the Church. The fact that the belfry is really a part of the Church, and that, therefore, all that is done in it ought to be done decently and in order, has been strongly insisted upon, and guilds and associations of bellringers have been formed in different dioceses, both to encourage reverent and careful behaviour in those who are engaged in summoning the congregation to worship, and also to promote a cultivation of the science of change-ringing—in the belief that those who became interested in it would love ringing for its own sake, as an exercise of skill and strength, and would indirectly be led on to realise their position and responsibility as workers in the Church, and therefore are as bound to be faithful and exemplary members of it. The Guild of Devonshire Ringers, which has now been established for eighteen years, has done good and useful work in this matter, and it is a pity that its work is not more widely known, and that more bands of ringers are not affiliated to it. There are only two bands in this Archdeaconry attached to it. One of the rules of the Guild is as follows: "That no member shall take part in any ringing match for prizes—should he do, he will be liable to expulsion from the Guild." The immediate reason of this stringent rule is apparent. If we are to lead our bellringers to realise their position as Church workers, we must not encourage them to take up ringing as a means of making money, by ringing for money prizes. It would be an altogether improper thing we should all feel, for our choirs to sing one against another for prizes it would be a degradation of their office of leading the praises of the congregation in the house of God. And we desire, as far as it is possible, to get our bellringers to feel that their office is one which ought to be discharged with a sense of its being done in the Service of God and of His Church. It is impossible to shut our eyes to what the results of ringing matches have been in the past; they have been scenes too often of excess and unseemly conduct—and now that they have been almost universally discontinued, it is very dangerous to revive them. I do not shut my eyes to the arguments on the other side. I know that it may be pleaded that the ringers need some encouragement; they get little or no remuneration for their services, and these matches are said to ensure frequent practice and consequent efficiency. The choirs have their annual choral festival, and in most cases an annual excursion of some sort, or an entertainment now and then—the ringers ought to be equally well treated. And in answer I would admit that they ought to be encouraged, for where there is a good peal of bells the parishioners would regret it very much if they were always silent. I would urge that they should be encouraged to go and ring at neighbouring towers at times like harvest festivals, or dedication festivals, or occasions when any new bells have been added to a peal. I would encourage their going round for an excursion once or more every year to neighbouring churches to ring, but I would urge that such excursions should be carefully guarded from anything unseemly or unworthy of church-workers, and that our aim should be to lead our ringers to take an intelligent interest in the science of change-ringing—one of the most fascinating pursuits possible—so that they may learn to excel, for excellence's sake, and above all to keep steadily before them the importance and dignity of their office, and the duty of making their lives such as befit those who work in any way for the Church of God. The Incumbent of every church has a responsibility as to the use of the church bells which he cannot put off on anyone else; he is the sole guardian and custodian of them; he alone is the person who has the right to say when they may and when they may not be rung, and while every parish priest who loves his people will exercise his rights with a tender consideration for those in whose interest and for whose benefit he is set over them—he must never forget his responsibility or fail to shew himself worthy to discharge it.

The remarks of the Archdeacon have called forth the following letter, which appeared in the Devon and Exeter Gazette:—

"SIR,—In his charge at Barnstaple, Archdeacon Seymour referred to the subject of change-ringing competitions. He decidedly, though I need not say, most kindly and courteously spoke against their continuance. At the luncheon held after the Visitation, the subject was again mentioned, and it was plain enough that the majority of the clergy were against these competitions. As I have lately permitted one to be held in the belfry of Braunton church, I ventured to make a few remarks on the subject, and I should be obliged to you if you can find me space to address a somewhat larger audience. I feel very strongly that we do not do enough for our ringers, and if some more excellent way than ringing matches can be devised for getting them together and interesting them in their work, I for one shall be only too glad to adopt that way. That scientific ringing—as my ringers call it—and the Devonshire Guild are not much in favour in this part of the county is plainly shown by the fact the Archdeacon mentioned, viz., that only two sets of ringers had joined the Guild from the whole Archdeaconry of Barnstaple. There is, however, very plain evidence to show that the North Devon ringers are much in favour of these ringing competitions, and this is shown by the numbers who flock to the matches, some to compete and some to listen. I confess, as the day of our competition—Easter Monday—approached, I had some qualms as to the events that day would bring forth in Braunton, for I had received divers letters of warning anent the scenes of misrule, disagreement, and even riot I might expect. I may at once own that I was most agreeably disappointed; the behaviour of the competitors both in the churchyard and in the church, left nothing to be desired, all were satisfied with the awards of the judges—or if they were not satisfied they judiciously kept their dissatisfaction to themselves—and I have the best of reason for believing that they left the parish in a sober and decent condition; moreover, the police-sergeant informs me that he never remembers a quieter Easter Monday in Braunton. I mention these facts because these competitions are reported to be easy introductions to drunkenness; though it is at least possible that a Guild ringer may like a little light refreshment of a liquid nature quite as well as the common, or ordinary round-ringer at a ringing match. Another objection is that of the ringing for money. Well, I suppose when a churchman is married he likes to have a merry peal of bells as he comes out of church in the proud position of a bridegroom, and he would be looked upon as a mean kind of fellow if he did not present the ringers with a guinea or two. Some small honorarium, too, is given to the ringers for ringing a funeral knell, while most of us are familiar with the "Brief" that comes round at Christmastide on behalf of the ringers. Now, I do not say for one moment these good men and true ring for the money; this is far from being the case, for the infinitesimal sums they receive, when the money is divided up among the ringers, is as nothing in comparison with the work they do willingly and with a good heart. Other church workers, besides ringers, are paid, for we have scriptural warrant for saying that the labourer is worthy of his hire, and paid choirs are not unknown quantities, while there are but very few among the clergy themselves who are in a position to give their services gratuitously, though, doubtless, many would gladly do so if they could; and vergers, sextons, lay assistants, and in fact almost all church workers look to some small solatium to recompense them for the services they give so willingly. I do not see myself why the ringers should be left out in the cold, and I think we shall be doing a poor service to our church if we pour cold water upon anything which tends to bring them together, and to give them an interest in the work they so kindly undertake. I doubt, moreover, whether the prizes—even should they win—pay their expenses. As to the "Competition" part of the affair, I do not believe anything attains to any large measure of excellency without competition, and since choirs are brought up in this connexion I happen to know that one choir at least was stimulated to fresh exertions when it heard by a sort of side wind that it was the best choir attending the Choral Festival. I do not say that these ringing competitions are all that they might be, but I do say that the ringers—in North Devon, at any rate—like them; that the people like them is very easily seen by the ready way in which they subscribe to the prize fund, and the numbers of those who listen to the competing teams. If we are to do away with these competitions we ought to be ready with something acceptable to ringers to take their place, for the matches certainly tend to practice, and practice means of course, a higher degree of excellence. Before we decide to forbid these competitions, however, would it not be well to see if we could not do something with what we have? How would it be for the folk interested in ringing in a Rural Deanery, for instance, to subscribe together for a silver bell for the different sets to compete for, the bell to be hung as a trophy in the belfry of the winning team, and the team that won three times in succession to have the bell for the church's own. This is not my own suggestion, but that of one of the churchwardens present at the Visitation I referred to. My own idea was a cup, but the bell is a most excellent emendation; the cup is, perhaps, too suggestive to some of my friends. The parish where the silver bell was competed for would—at any rate, I think I can answer for Braunton—provide the luncheon for the competitors, and if the clergy and churchwardens and others interested in ringing would come, I doubt not but that a pleasant and profitable time would be spent, encouragement would be given to a deserving, and, I fear, sometimes neglected set of men, and I do not think we should have much to complain of on the score of drunkenness and unseemly behaviour. I think better of the ringers. Trusting that you will forgive the lengthiness of this effusion, and that some one may be able to suggest a better way, for I am not unconscious of difficulties,

I am, yours truly,

E. R. GOTTO, Vicar of Braunton.

Braunton Vicarage, May 3rd, 1892."

The following is another letter, which appeared in the same paper in reply to Mr. Gotto:—

"SIR,—The thanks of all who love ringing for its highest object—the glory of God—are due to the Archdeacon for his outspoken words at Barnstaple last week. The heading of Mr. Gotto's letter in to-day's issue is misleading, as there is only one kind of change-ringing, the change-ringing mentioned by him being merely round ringing, which does not require a great amount of skill, as the conductor simply calls out to each ringer his place. The fact that there are only two bands in the Archdeaconry belonging to the Guild shows that round ringers, as a rule, will not take the trouble to learn change-ringing, and are content with reaching a certain stage of proficiency without ever being able to get any further; while at the same time I have over and over again heard round ringers loud in their praises of change-ringing when well done as it undoubtedly is by one, at any rate, of these two bands. I am quite aware that there is great difficulty in learning change-ringing in country parishes, as young men leave their homes and the band gets broken up; but still it has been learnt and can be done, and is done well, in country places. The fault that ringers are not made enough of lies with the clergy, for we often find the singers encouraged while the ringers are left out in the cold; in some cases too the clergy never visit the belfry from year's end to year's end. It is to be hoped that the suggestion of any prize whatever for ringing will not be seriously entertained. Mr. Gotto hardly keeps to the point in his comparisons. Surely it cannot be right to use anything connected with the church—and the bells are as much a part of it as the organ—in a competition for a prize. Choirs do not sing at choral festivals for a prize, nor to see which is the best choir. I would suggest that the round ringers who in this part of the county, as a rule, do their work very well in their own style, should form themselves into an Association with meetings in each Archdeaconry or better still, in each Deanery, with a service in the church as a part of the day's proceedings, the whole or part of the expenses of each band attending to be paid by the Association. This perhaps, might lead to their being affiliated to the Guild on the understanding that they would work for belfry reform, even if they were unable to manage change-ringing. The regret that such a match has taken place at Braunton is considerably increased when we remember Easter Monday there in 1887 on the occasion of the dedication of the two new bells, when many bands of ringers were present, and at the evening service had the privilege of listening to a most excellent sermon from the then Secretary of the Guild, whose earnest words on this subject of ringing matches will not easily be forgotten by many, at all events, who heard them. My excuse for thus trespassing on your space is my great wish to see more interest taken in the ringers, and that they may realise more their high office.

May 6th, 1892.

Yours truly,
HUGH PIGOT."

While allowing the utmost freedom for the expression of opinion, it must never be considered that we are in any way bound to statements made by correspondents.

To the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS AND RINGERS' RECORD."

REPLY TO MR. SNOWDON.

SIR,—A few lines in reference to the first paragraph of Mr. W. Snowdon's letter which appears in "THE BELL NEWS" to-day. Looking through a bound up volume of Church Bells for 1881 I found an "extended list" of Bell Literature, such as Mr. Snowdon asks for contributed to that paper by the Rev. H. T. Ellacombe. It begins on page 639, is continued on pages 655, 687, and 795 of that volume, and page 26 of the volume for 1882, and is concluded on page 303. This list contains 292 works, not counting poetry, under which head appears Mr. Haweis' "Music and Morals." I give these references, though doubtless you will receive them from other correspondents.

A PROPOSAL.

SIR,—I am an old London ringer, resident in a suburb without bells, and by stress of business able to attend ringers' meetings but very rarely. The Bell News & Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, MAY 28, 1892

THE Ven. the Archdeacon of Barnstaple has, we are glad to say, been moved at his recent annual visitation to refer, among other matters, to the subject of "Belfry Reform." There is not one among the readers of "THE BELL NEWS" who will not agree in toto with every word of the Archdeacon's charge. The ven. gentleman has rendered good service to change-ringing in the western counties, and we shall be much surprised if the very seasonable words he has spoken upon belfry matters do not in due time bear fruit. The stagnation which is apparent in ringing concerns in the south-west of England has long been regretted, especially by those who for years have hopefully looked forward to see the Devonshire Guild recognised and sustained, and the objects it has in view sympathised with in an equal degree with that enjoyed by other county ringing associations. The advocacy of the Archdeacon should without question give a fillip to change-ringing in Devon, and the leading spirits of the Devonshire Guild ought immediately to second his observations in every way in their power.

We must not be too hard on the letter published in reply to the Archdeacon by the Rev. E. R. GORTON, Vicar of Branton. That the rev. gentleman means well, there is not the slightest doubt, but he is absolutely ignorant—we say it with all respect—of the vast difference between scientific and non-scientific ringing. Let us suppose for a moment that he would not object to a friendly contest in his church between church organists—a supposition not at all improbable, we should say, by the tone of his letter—would he be likely, we ask, to look with similar favour upon a contest between organ-grinders (to use the vulgar term they are known by) in his churchyard? We should say in the latter case he would feel disgusted at the bare proposal. Yet he favours something of the sort. He has allowed to take place, in the belfry of his church, not a contest by bell-ringers, but one by bell-grinders. This is the gist of the matter, in fact. The Braunton competition, and all others of its kind, are practically worthless. The idea of competition is to bring out skill of the highest order, but the amount of skill necessary for the Braunton contest could be attained in a month by an average organ-blower or grave-digger, whereas no one who ever entered the pursuit of change-ringing has been able to say that the summit was reached, and that there was nothing further to learn.

NOTE TO PEAL RUNG UPON HANDBELLS.—The first attempt for this peal was made in April, 1891, which unfortunately came to grief after ringing into the 38th course. Messrs. McLaughlin and Barkus were ringing 5-6 and 7-8 in this attempt. At the next meeting Messrs. Wise, 1-2, Buckingham, 3-4, Winny, 5-6, McLaughlin, 7-8. All went well until the 39th course was reached, when the band broke down. For some months after this nothing was done in the matter, owing to one of the band taking unto himself a wife, and it being rather a difficult matter to pick another man out to fill his place in this intricate method. When a start was once more determined on, another kind of misfortune stepped in. Time after time meetings were arranged, and several quarter and half peals rung in attempts, and then, owing to business, first one man failed to turn up, and then another. On Tuesday, May 17th, it was arranged to start with Mr. McLaughlin on 5-6, but at the last moment he was obliged to disappoint owing to his business, and Mr. Buckingham (one of the umpires) who was quite at home on any pair, took his place. Mr. McLaughlin however, turned up in time to hear the last thousand of the peal, and heartily congratulated the band on their grand performance. This is the first time this intricate composition has been rung upon handbells.

WANTED.—Mr. G. H. Bowden, a ringer of Ramsgate, is about removing. He is desirous of boarding with some respectable ringer in Southwark.—Address:—22, Harbour Street, Ramsgate.

Her Majesty's Surgeon-Dentist's Testimonial.

"My Dear Doctor,—Allow me to express my sincere thanks for the skill and attention displayed in the construction of my Artificial Teeth, which render my mastication and articulation excellent. I am glad to bear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. In recognition of your valuable services, you are at liberty to use my name.—S. G. HUTCHINGS. By Appointment Surgeon-Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen."
 Geo. H. Jones, Esq., F.R.S.L., F.R.M.S.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has by his Perfected System of Dentistry demonstrated that Painless Dentistry is as much an accomplished fact as the swift locomotive, the electric light, or the telephone, and absolutely restores the natural contour caused by the loss of teeth, by the adjustment of Prize Medal dentals, rendering detection impossible, which obtained the Gold Medals of London, 1851; New York, 1853; London, 1862; Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; and Philadelphia, 1876.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has been awarded for his Improvements and Patents in Dentistry gold medals, London and Paris; gold medal, New Zealand Exhibition, 1882; gold medal Calcutta, 1883; and the highest diploma of merit and award at Nice and Amsterdam, 1883-4. Awarded the gold medal of the Academie Nationale, Paris, 1884; and the highest award Antwerp; also the gold medal, International Exhibition, London, 1885; gold medal, Liverpool, 1886; gold medal, Melbourne, 1888-9.

THE TAMAR VALLEY GUILD.

"It's an ill wind that blows no one any good." So said the President of the above Guild (the Rev. F. H. Kingdon) at the public luncheon on the annual festival on Saturday, May 27th, because when Bridgerule tower was re-opened after being struck by lightning four years ago, it was made the occasion of carrying out an idea which had long been in the mind of Mr. Henry Rogers, the energetic secretary, of forming a Guild for ringers in and around the valley of the Tamar. The day's proceedings commenced with a celebration of the Holy Communion, with special intention for the Guild, at the Society's headquarters, St. Bridget's, Bridgerule, at 8 a.m. The Guild now numbers nearly a hundred members, most of whom journeyed to Whitstone to hold—by the kind permission of the Rev. R. H. Kingdon, the Rector—their annual service. At 10.30 a.m. the ringers gathered in St. Anne's church, and prayers were said and a few words spoken by the President, while the Whitstone men stood at their ropes ready to ring the opening touch. At one o'clock a good public luncheon was provided, at which about seventy sat down. Afterwards the President, addressing the ringers, bid them remember three things which they must do if they would carry out the great object of the Guild, which is—"The greater glory of God, by drawing and binding church bell-ringers together, to see and know that they are Church workers and helpers in Christ." First, to refrain from taking part in prize-ringing; secondly, always to be present at the Church service when they had been ringing in the belfry before; thirdly, to see that they kept the spirit of the special collect for the Guild, namely, the second collect for Good Friday. The Secretary also mentioned that ringers from three other parishes had joined during the past year.

At 4.30 there was a public tea, and at 7.30 full choral evensong with procession and sermon. The office was sung by the Vicar of Bridgerule, the office hymn being "Hark! how the bells from out old England's towers," written specially for the Guild by the Rev. C. D. Kingdon, Vicar of Prickwillow, Ely. Special lessons were read by the Rector. The procession was that specially arranged by the Lord Bishop of Exeter. After the procession a most impressive sermon was preached by the Lord Bishop of Truro, from St. Matthew, xi. 28; "Come unto Me," which words he said the bells were ever echoing throughout all ages in manifold ways, in sorrow, in joy, at the passing of a soul, at the burial of the dead, at a marriage, for Christ is always to be found in His Church. Their work was a grand one, first calling people to the House of God, and making those feel uncomfortable who obeyed not the call. Secondly, reminding others on their beds of sickness, at their daily toil or pleasure, by the voices of their bells lifted high above the earth and nearer heaven of the Worship of Almighty God. He concluded by beseeching them to let their lives ring out true like the metal of their bells.

After service the bells rang out again till 9.30, when a public supper concluded a most successful day.

COOKLEY, WORCESTERSHIRE.

This picturesque village was again enlivened by the sound of the church bells, after lying dormant for two years. Messrs. Charles Carr have had the order in hand six months, and have at last overcome a difficulty existing there that could not be detected until the whole of the work was finished, viz., the second wheel cast rope through the small space allotted for the bells, the third bell simply guided the rope of the second wheel. They however conferred with the churchwardens, and gallantly attempted to remedy this, which to the satisfaction of the Cookley ringers they have successfully accomplished, so much so that on Sunday, May 15th, at six o'clock in the morning, a 720 Grandsire Minor and 720 Bob Minor was rung in 48 mins. J. Pagett, 1; G. Davis, 2; J. Buffery, 3; W. Wakeman, 4; W. Smith, 5; T. Salter, 6. Messrs. Pagett, Salter, and Wakeman hail from Kidderminster. After breakfast the bells were kept going by the local band for service. The "go" of the bells is everything that could be desired, and Messrs. Charles Carr were complimented for their excellent work and for the manner in which they faced the difficulty.

STANDARD METHODS.

The fact of a third edition of this work having been called for shows the determination and energy with which the rising generation is pursuing its ringing career.

As the late Mr. Snowdon's book is so well known it may suffice for the present if we reproduce The Preface to this last edition, in which the Editor sets out his wish to make the work as complete as possible without deteriorating the value of the former editions now held in so many hands; this preface—by the President of the Yorkshire Association—runs thus:—

"In less time than the first has the second edition of 'Standard Methods' been exhausted. Not only is this gratifying as a proof of the usefulness of the work, but it goes a long way to prove that as a text-book it holds the same favoured position amongst the leading members of the Exercise.

Feeling more than ever convinced that supplementary editions of a popular instruction book of this class should keep in distinct touch with the original issue, I have again had the same collection of diagrams reproduced, so as to avoid all want of uniformity. Relying on this, however, I have felt at liberty to make a few alterations and additions in the descriptive letter-press where ambiguity suggested itself to my mind. In the Stedman chapter some little re-arrangement, and some few additional remarks and tables have been added; and in London Surprise Major I have somewhat further expanded my brother's idea of impressing the "duty" on the learner's mind. I trust that these alterations will not be taken as showing any want of appreciation on my part of the author's work, because, if the truth be told, it has always been a mystery to me where he got the inspiration which enabled him to see so exactly what wanted writing and classifying, and how well he did it, when comparatively inexperienced in multiple method-ringing.

It will be seen that no diagram or description is given of Mr. A. Percival Heywood's method Duffield, which undoubtedly deserves to rank as a "standard method," for even bells, side by side with Stedman for odd numbers. Lest, however, this should be taken as an omission I would remind the junior members amongst us that Mr. Heywood has already published an excellent treatise on his method—at a merely nominal price—which not only deals with the practical ringing but opens up the whole system in a very able manner, and this ought to be in their hands.

In thanking the Exercise for the continued support which they extend to my brother's writings it may prove interesting if I state that, taking one work with another, the first editions have scarcely paid their way, and that it is only the calls for subsequent editions of the more popular that present anything like a pleasing prospect to the publisher. In this case, however, I am so far hopeful that I have ordered the present issue to be made as large as the two previous editions taken together, so at any rate the supply will not run out for some little time.

"Old Bank Chambers, Leeds,
May 1892."

WM. SNOWDON."

To wish the book well is to wish success to our younger brethren, and this we trust we may be allowed to do with all sincerity.

LLANFYLLIN, MONTGOMERY.

A meeting was held in the parish room on Monday evening, May 23rd, to form an association of bellringers. The rector presided, and after explaining the object of the meeting, he suggested Mr. Albert Evans as captain. This was unanimously agreed to. Fourteen members were enrolled, and the following officers of the association were appointed: President—Rev. T. Jones; Vice-Presidents—The Churchwardens, Rev. C. F. Roberts, Mr. Lomax, Mr. Ryle, and Dr. Felix Jones; Secretary—Mr. H. Wheeler; Treasurer—Mr. V. Lloyd. A subscription of three-pence a month from the members was agreed to, and also that the president and vice-presidents be asked to subscribe five shillings a year at least. Friday evenings were fixed upon for practice, and the meeting adjourned for a report by Mr. Ryle and Mr. Deam as to the condition of the tower and peal of six bells, which are remarkable for sweetness of tone, and it has been a matter of regret that they have not been regularly rung, but only chimed.

REOPENING OF LAMBOURN CHURCH, BERKS.

Tuesday, May 17th, was a red-letter day in the annals of Lambourn. Such a day had never before been seen by the oldest inhabitant. The occasion was the re-opening of the magnificent old parish church, by the Bishop of the Diocese (Dr. Stubbs), after restoration of the tower, etc. The parish church of SS. Michael and All Angels possesses historical features of more than passing interest. For years past the massive central tower, owing to its dangerous condition, has threatened the destruction of the whole church. So formidable was the task of restoration, both financially and materially, that until the advent of the Rev. J. H. Light, as Vicar, in 1888, the work had been passed over as impossible. The Vicar and his committee, consisting of the Bishop of Oxford, Lord Wantage, V.C., Lord-Lieutenant of the county, the local members, and many others, called in the aid of Mr. J. O. Scott. Work was commenced in earnest last June, and has continued ever since. The tower piers were underpinned, solid concrete foundations put in, crushed stonework removed, of which there was a large quantity, etc. As much old work has been preserved as possible, and a most beautiful and complete restoration is the result. To give some idea of the work that has been done in a country parish on the Berks Downs, eight miles from the nearest station, remote from the outer world, the following list will show. The work really commenced in 1890, with the restoration of the organ, at a cost of £160. In June, 1891, the work of the tower restoration commenced. The first contract was for £1600; the second for £265; Messrs. Warner and Sons have erected a new belfry, and recast one of the eight bells, at a cost of £185; Messrs. Williams, of Reading, have inserted a new heating apparatus, costing £116; new choir stalls, made from the old beams removed from the tower, a very fine oak groined roof over the choir: the nave walls, and massive pillars and arches, dating from A.D. 1085, have been cleaned and scraped of paint and whitewash; the north door restored in stonework on the original lines, and a stucco cement Classical door of 1850, destroyed. The two windows in the upper portion of the nave have had their stonework renewed, and have been stripped of the brick and plaster which disfigured them; a wood-block floor has been laid down in the upper part of the nave, and new external drainage has been laid down. The total cost represents an expenditure of £2765. In addition to this, the chapel of the Holy Trinity, or Isbury Chapel, has been restored by the Alms-house Trustees, at a cost of £175, including new oak seating. The lay rectors are restoring the chancel walls at a cost of £170. Many minor improvements have been carried out, the whole sum represented involving a total of £3250; all of which has been collected in less than two years.

The festival services commenced with Celebration, 7 a.m., choral Celebration at 8 a.m., Marbeck and Gounod being sung. Dr. Martin of St. Paul's Cathedral, himself a Lambourn man, presided at the organ at this and the other services, and the musical ability of the fine choir was greatly due to the able help he so kindly came from London, to render. Matins was sung at 11.30, the spacious church being packed in every part with one of the largest congregations ever seen within its walls. Punctually at 11.30 the procession started from the vicarage, where the Bishop and clergy had robed, preceded by the cross-bearer, and singing hymn 392. Among the clergy present in the procession were in addition to the Bishop, the Ven. Archdeacon of Berks, the Ven. Archdeacon of Cirencester (an old Lambourn curate under Bishop Millman), the Rev. Canon Slatter, Rev. J. B. Anstice, T. H. A. Houblon, E. F. Hill, rural deans. The Rev. J. Murray, rector of Rugby, Rev. H. Barter, rector of Ship-ton-under-Wychwood, Rev. J. Edgell, rector of Compton Beauchamp, all three of whom were previously vicars of Lambourn. The Revs. R. C. F. Griffith, G. O. F. Griffith, E. B. Mackay, and about thirty others, in all forty-five clergy took part in the procession. The Vicar, the Rev. J. H. Light, sung the service, the Rev. W. Pollock-Hill, curate, assisting. The restored tower and belfry were appropriately dedicated by the Bishop, the collects being taken from the Priest's Prayer Book. Immediately before the sermon the hymn, "Lifted safely within the steeple," was sung, and during the collection of alms "Holy off rings rich and rare." The Bishop preached from Micah iv. 8, a very appropriate sermon. Evensong was sung at 7 p.m., the anthem being the "Hallelujah Chorus" from the Messiah; the preacher was the Ven. Archdeacon of Cirencester. At the close of the service Dr. Martin kindly played some pieces of music, to which the majority of the congregation most attentively listened. The offertories throughout the day amounted to £67 16s. 7d.

Despite the strenuous opposition of a small body of parishioners, chiefly Dissenters of a political type, the vicar has carried the restoration through in a satisfactory manner, the font being moved from the centre of the middle aisle to a baptistery formed at the west end, and the pulpit from the centre of the tower arch to its proper position on the north side of the nave.

Immediately after matins most of the people present adjourned to luncheon in a tent in the vicarage meadow.

It may be of interest to many to know that in the last four years, in addition to all the work of church restoration mentioned above, individual gifts of considerable value have been presented to the church. Two very beautiful stained windows as memorials, one of Miss Twynam, the other of Miss Milman, both the work of Mr. C. E. Kempe, a green silk altar cloth to complete the four colours, from the parishioners, an oak credence table from the Guild, and many others, have all served to make the service of God more complete. While, on the other hand, communicants were never so large, offertories are nearly doubled, and the three great missionary societies, S.P.G., C.M.S., and A.C.S. receive, with others, yearly support. Subscriptions towards the reduction of the debt, £300, will be very gladly received and acknowledged by the Rev. J. H. Light, the Vicarage, Lambourn, Berks, R.S.O.

ST. STEPHEN'S SOCIETY, BRISTOL.

ON Monday, May 23rd, the rector, the Rev. C. H. Joberns, visited St. Stephen's tower, and unveiled the peal tablet recording a peal of Grandsire Caters. The rev. gentleman addressed the ringers in the belfry, and expressed his co-operation with them, and appreciation of their ringing. He generously gave a subscription to their funds, and wished them every success in the future. A 827 Grandsire Caters was then rung by H. Porch (conductor), 1; E. Duckham, 2; C. Gordon, 3; A. Pearce, 4; F. Gooding, 5; G. Pearce, 6; C. Trevett, 7; R. J. Wilkins, 8; H. Tucker, 9; J. Vinney, 10. On Monday, May 30th, at St. Stephen's church, 1260 Stedman Triples. F. Gooding, 1; A. Pearce, 2; H. Tucker, 3; G. Pearce, 4; H. Porch (conductor), 5; R. J. Wilkins, 6; G. T. Daltry, 7; W. Parsons, 8. An attempt for a peal of Stedman Triples had previously failed. R. J. Wilkins has recently left Gloucester for Bristol.

"DISOBEDIENT BELLRINGERS.—A good deal of feeling has been aroused at Stafford by an incident which occurred in connection with the funeral of Alderman Hawkins, the Gladstonian candidate for the borough. The rector of Stafford (the Rev. D. R. Norman), declined to accede to a request made on behalf of the Liberal Association that at the hour of the funeral, which recently took place at Bedford, a muffled peal should be rung on the bells of St. Mary's church, which is the principal church in Stafford. The rector based his refusal on the ground that Alderman Hawkins was neither a parishioner nor a ratepayer, and had no connection with the parish except in his position as a political candidate. In spite of this prohibition, the ringers locked themselves in the belfry and rang the peal. There is a clause in the agreement signed by the ringers which says: "We do agree not to ring the bells on political occasions, nor to fire them except in honour of Royalty." The rector has dismissed the whole band of ringers for disobedience to their written contracts and verbal instruction, and on Sunday the bells of St. Mary's were silent. Mr. Norman states that if Alderman Hawkins had been member of the borough instead of only a candidate, he would have cheerfully assented to the ringing of the peal, but is desirous above all things of keeping the church and the belfry free from politics." It may be thought that the rector has acted rather arbitrarily, but on the other hand, the ringers have created the position by their own conduct, and deserve little sympathy. Yet we hope that the rev. gentleman will reconsider his determination, and restore the ringing company to their position. Perhaps, if he does, the incident will lead to good in the end, by being the means of a more complete and thorough understanding.

SALE OF WORK AT ISLIP, NORTHANTS.

Successful efforts are being made to restore the bells of Islip parish church, which now consist of a ring of five. Two of them are cracked, and will have to be recast, whilst it is proposed to rehang the whole, adding another bell, a new tenor. It is estimated that the sum of £260 will cover the cost, and the Churchworkers have already collected £123, or nearly half of the required amount. To further increase the funds a sale of work and jumble sale took place in the Islip school-room on Thursday afternoon, a good number attending the opening. The interior of the building presented a pretty appearance, being decorated with evergreens and mottoes, amongst which was "Success to Islip bells," whilst the various stalls were laden with useful and fancy articles. In the ante-room other stalls were staged, and articles were also disposed of in a marquee in the school-yard. The following ladies officiated at the stalls: Refreshment stall—Miss Duthy and Miss Sillifant; Plain work stall—Mrs. Croome, Mrs. Karslake, and Mrs. Sharp; Fancy stall—Miss Sackville, Miss Beauford, and Mrs. Hipwell; Second-hand stall—Miss Wood, Miss Marsh, and Mrs. Elderkin; Braple—Mrs. Wright and Miss Morris; Industrial stall—Mrs. Hudson; Carved wood stall—Mr. W. Browning. Everyone in the village contributed articles to the sale of work, and there were specimens of all the industries of the village, including matting, collars, harness, baskets, iron work, pillow lace; the carved work was supplied by the Islip wood carving class. The bazaar was opened by Mr. S. G. Stopford Sackville, at 2.30, when there were present the Rev. W. M. and Mrs. Croome, Miss Lightfoot, the Rev. —. Hodson, Miss Stopford, Mr. Colpman, Mr. Grant, Mr. Smith, Mrs. Smith, Miss Robinson, Miss Reed, and many others. Mr. Sackville he felt sure that they would all put their hands to the wheel and see that the result of the day's proceedings were satisfactory. Referring to the object of the bazaar, he said there was not so much interest shown in local history now as he thought might reasonably be expected. County histories were considered obtuse studies, and few people knew much about the antiquity of their churches, which to his mind would long remain the great ornament of the Nene valley. So highly was the architecture of Islip church esteemed that two prints of it were found in a work published many years ago, when two pictures and a plan of the church were depicted by the brothers Brandon. Mr. Sackville spoke of the church of Islip from the reign of Henry VI., but he said there had been a church, as shown by remains, many centuries before. The church, as it now stood, was built about the reign of Henry VI. or Edward IV., by one Richard De Vere, Lord Addington, whose family had been associated for many years with the parish of Islip; whilst also one of the line was at Lowick, and the two churches in those villages were now unaltered and unspoilt. The people of the past generations had never spoilt these churches, but had built them to the glory of God, keeping them in good order, so that they now had the enjoyment of them in a creditable condition. The Islip church was built in the Perpendicular style. The bells possibly gave out, and by the dates upon them they were renewed in the reign of Charles II. by Bagley, of Checkham. He hoped they had never rung to celebrate the victories of the Commonwealth, because he would rather they should have been rung to celebrate the success of the armies of Charles I. The names of the family of De Vere, and Medbury, one of the earlier rectors, should not be allowed to die away, whilst there were names in the church of some of the Washington family. That church was built during the wars of the Roses, and about the time of the great civil war the bells were put in the church, and he would like those present to draw the moral that oftentimes in great civil disturbances their forefathers were able to rebuild the churches, and if they, after times of civil war, were able to find money to put in good bells, those who lived in these happy and peaceful times ought not to fall short in their good works. What their ancestors did in times of bloodshed and confusion, they should shew by their liberality, in keeping under repair, restoring, and improving, those great evidences of the piety and devotion of their forefathers, that they appreciated, and were in no way inferior to those who went before; and that their earnest desire was that the bells associated with many happy events in their lives should be restored. The bazaar was then declared open.

The Rev. W. M. Croome, in thanking Mr. Sackville for the opening address, stated that all in the parish, from the richest to the poorest, had contributed something towards the bells. During the afternoon and evening there was a good attendance, and numerous articles were disposed of. In the evening a miscellaneous concert was gone through, when the programme was contributed to by scholars attending the school and other willing helpers. The bazaar was also open on Friday.

It is to be hoped that the neighbouring town of Thrapston will soon follow the example of Islip, and put its belfry and bells in order. At present they are in a very discreditable condition.

Ringers' Outings.

On Sunday, May 15th, Messrs. W. J. Nevard and W. Hazell, of the Great Bentley company, made a start from home at 5 a.m. for a pleasant drive of twenty-five miles to the pretty little town of Sudbury. Arriving there at 8.30, they were met by Mr. C. Sillitoe, who kindly entertained them at breakfast, after which a walk was taken through the town, where they met other ringers. A return was made to Mr. Sillitoe's house, where the handbells were brought into use, and a few touches of Bob Minor, Bob Major, and Grandsire Triples were rung. After partaking of dinner another start was made to Great Yeldham to have a ring on the six bells there, tenor about 10 cwt., which have lately been rehung. They have lately been rehung by a local man, but the "go" is nothing to be desired. However two 720s were accomplished, the first being a 720 of Bob Minor. A. Clarke, 1; W. Howell, 2; W. Hazell, 3; R. Brett, 4; W. J. Nevard, 5; C. Sillitoe (conductor), 6. A 720 of Kent Treble Bob, supposed to be the first in the method on the bells. R. Brett, 1; W. Howell, 2; A. Clarke, 3; H. Cooper, 4; C. Sillitoe, 5; W. J. Nevard (conductor), 6. An attempt was also made to ring 720 Oxford Treble Bob, but it came to grief after ringing 600 changes through the 5th rope getting caught in the pulley. R. Brett (conductor), 1; A. Clarke, 2; W. Hazell, 3; F. Hawkins, 4; N. Hawkins, 5; H. Cooper, 6. And five 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles. C. Sillitoe, 1; W. Howell, 2; W. Hazell, 3; W. J. Nevard, 4; N. Hawkins, 5; F. Hawkins, 6. A return was then made to Sudbury for the night, thus ending the first day's outing. On the second day a start was made at 7.20 with Mr. Sillitoe for Glemsford, where they met Mr. F. Wells, who entertained them to a good breakfast, and also meeting with some ringers from Stanstead. A walk of two miles brought them to Foxearth, where a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major had been arranged. A start was made at 9.40, and the peal was successfully brought round at 12.30. After looking through the pretty church, a walk was taken to Belchamp Walter to attempt a peal of Bob Major, which was also successfully rang in 3 hrs., the two peals appearing in "THE BELL NEWS" of May 21st. They then returned to Sudbury. The home journey was then made, both being well satisfied with such good success, and thanking all who took part in the ringing, likewise the clergy for so readily granting the use of the bells.

THE CHIDDINGFOLD SOCIETY.—On Saturday, May 7th, this society had a very pleasant trip to Bramley, Surrey, where they were received by the local ringers, and a very nice evening was spent together. As soon as the belfry was reached, some Grandsire Doubles were rung with extreme leads. F. Blake, 1; A. Ashdown, 2; A. Bartlett, 3; T. Burdock, 4; T. Attwell (conductor), 5; H. Mullard, 6. Afterwards a 720 Grandsire Minor in 26 mins. F. Blake, 1; W. Roe, 2; A. Ashdown, 3; T. Burdock, 4; A. Bartlett, 5; T. Attwell (conductor), 6.

SNAITH (Yorkshire).—On Sunday, May 22nd, for Divine Service in the morning at St. Lawrence's church, a 360 of Bob Minor (nine bobs), in 14 mins. R. Pocklington, 1; G. Holmes, 2; J. D. Bullock, 3; R. Holmes, 4; F. Cryer (conductor), 5; W. Winders, 6. For Divine Service in the evening, two 720's (one with eighteen bobs and eighteen singles and the other with eighteen bobs and two singles), in 52 mins. R. Pocklington, 1; G. Holmes, 2; J. D. Bullock, 3; H. Bullock, 4; F. Cryer, 5; T. Bullock, 6. These were conducted by T. Bullock and F. Cryer. Messrs. Cryer and Winders hail from Selby, and the rest are local men.

SOME MORE BELL-GRINDING.

We record below another of these village entertainments which in local parlance are fondly termed "prize-rings." The one in question has taken place upon a ring of eight bells at Lanlivery in Cornwall, and it is the one, we believe, which our contributor "Plain Speaker" appealed to Dr. Symons, of Penzance, to use his influence to prevent its taking place. How long will the clergy in the West allow these ridiculous things to go on? The following report of the proceedings is taken from a local paper:—

"Llanlivery was full of activity on the occasion of a prize-ringing contest. The suggestion thrown out at the ringers' dinner last November that a match should take place during the parish feast, was heartily taken up, and thanks to the generosity of Mr. W. Pease, of Castle, and others, the committee were enabled to offer good prizes. Lanlivery bells, which were restored a short time ago, are among the best in the county. The average number of church bells in Cornwall is five, but at Lanlivery (tenor 18 cwt.) there are eight, and this fact, together with the substantial prizes offered and the beautiful summer weather, had the effect of attracting ringers and lovers of bells from all parts of East Cornwall and even Devonshire. There were sixteen sets: Bideford, Blisland, Eglosayle, Golant, Lanhydrock, Lanreath, Mervall, Roche, St. Columb, St. Mabyn, St. Minver, St. Neot, St. Tudy, St. Veep Jubilee, St. Wenn, and St. Winnow. The competition commenced shortly before four o'clock, and ended at a quarter to eight, the 'key' of the ringing being thirty rounds a minute. About £20 was offered, and after a really keen contest, some of the 'falls' being excellent, the umpires (Messrs. Biddick, Probus; Freethy, St. Veep; and Freethy, Lanreath), awarded the prizes as follows: 1—Blisland, £5 5s.; 2—Lanreath, £4 5s.; 3—Golant, £3 10s.; 4—Lanhydrock, £2 16s.; 5—Eglosayle, £2 4s.; 6—St. Mabyn, £1 10s.; 7—St. Neot, £1; 8—Roche, 10s. Public opinion was decidedly against the judges' decision, the majority of the people thinking premier honours should have gone to Lanhydrock, and that certain of the sets who were not awarded prizes ought to have been included in the list of honours. Messrs. J. Varcoe (Lanlivery), and T. Jane (Tywardreath), acted as timekeepers. Prior to the prize peals a short service was held in the church, when the vicar of Lostwithiel (Rev. E. Drewe), delivered an appropriate address. There were also a luncheon and a tea, the proceeds being devoted to the funds for defraying the debt on the church heating apparatus. Both were well patronised, among the ladies serving at the tables being Mrs. and the Misses Pease, Mrs. and Miss White, Miss Kendall, Miss Scott, and Miss Marks. Mr. Johns, confectioner, of Tywardreath, was the caterer. The whole of the arrangements were admirably carried out by Messrs. W. Pease, jun., Town Clerk of Lostwithiel, A. E. Skentelbery, H. Roskelly, Rouse (2), and others, Messrs. W. H. Rundle and C. Marks acting as treasurer and secretary respectively."

The above extract does credit to the reporter of the local paper from which it is taken. He has been most precise in his compilation with the exception of one important particular. The names of every one seemingly interested, down to the purveyor of food and drink, are given, but the real heroes alas! are denied that honor; or surely their names would have become immortalized in Cornish annals. Let their prowess be inscribed in letters of gold without delay: perhaps the town clerk of Lostwithiel, who the report says helped to carry out the arrangements, will see to this. But we would convey a hint to that gentleman not to forget the timekeepers and judges, for their heavy responsibility in such an important contest must have been tremendous. We sincerely hope the debt on the church-heating apparatus has received a sensible liquidation from the proceeds of this tournament, though perhaps if the Vicar of Lanlivery knew the ineffable disgust such wretched and worthless exhibitions as these create in the minds of all lovers of bells and ringing, he would feel some qualms of conscience in appropriating them for such a purpose.

There is no reason to doubt that all parties concerned, with the exception of the judges, went home in a most agreeable frame of mind. Especially would this be so with the "caterer," who would probably be found counting up his day's profits before retiring to rest, and cogitating whether it would not be a good investment to have his name in bold letters among the list of subscribers to these entertainments. We advise the good man not to throw his money away.

THE NON-CONDUCTED PEAL AT TILEHURST, BERKS.

As will be seen by the peal column, St. Lawrence's Society, Reading, and through them the Oxford Diocesan Guild were successful in ringing Holt's ten-part peal of Grandsire Triples non-conducted, on Saturday last. It is now a fortnight since a band of ten were selected, two to act as witnesses, or in case of emergency to stand in the peal. It was fortunate this arrangement was made, as one gentleman had the misfortune to meet with a serious accident which prevented him taking part in the attempt, consequently a draw was made on the reserve, and another gentleman selected to stand as witness. However, owing to business arrangements, he was unable to turn up, so the task of watching fell on Mr. C. Giles alone. He (Mr. Giles) sat in the belfry the whole time, marking the progress of the peal from a copy of the same, and ticking off every bob lead. Not a single word was spoken by the ringers, or a sign made of any kind; and the striking throughout was excellent. To test the capability of Mr. Giles, he was required to ring three 500s non-conducted on a previous date, which he did most successfully. As may well be imagined, the ringers were delighted with their achievement, and the silence was so perfect that on the completion of the peal one remarked, "why nobody even coughed." The success came rather as a surprise, as it was rung at the first attempt, and certainly reflects great credit on these students of campanology. The rector, the Rev. J. W. Routh, kindly granted the use of the bells, for which the ringers tender their thanks. W. J. W.

THE EIGHT-BELL COMPETITION CUP.—On Saturday, May 21st, the annual competition in connection with the above took place at Brookfield church, Gorton, Manchester, in the presence of a large number of change-ringers from the surrounding districts, when the following bands entered and rang in the order given: Ashton-under-Lyne (parish church), Ashton-under-Lyne (St. Peter's), Saddleworth, Friezland, and Hyde. Each band had to ring 1248 Kent Treble Bob Major, or 1312 Grandsire Triples. All with the exception of St. Peter's, Ashton, rang Treble Bob. After the last band had rung, the judges gave their decision as follows: First prize: The Association's silver cup and eight cruets—Hyde, 267 faults; Second prize: Eight electro-plated tea pots—Ashton (St. Peter's), 529 faults; Third prize: Eight silk handkerchiefs, Saddleworth, 647 faults. The judges were Mr. R. Binns, of Leeds, and Mr. J. Pickering, of Kirkburton, and their decision gave every satisfaction. The contest was conducted in a pleasant and orderly manner, great being due to the Gorton ringers and their friends for presenting such useful and beautiful prizes.

The ancient bell of the church of Llanfyllin, in Wales, is now used to summon to service a congregation in Patagonia. In the interior of Patagonia there is a little colony of Welshmen, the majority of whom are Churchmen, and have built a church capable of holding about a hundred people. They are very proud of having secured a real church bell from the old country.

CURRENT TOPICS.

The pages of our paper have been full of late, so much so that the two individuals who have the privilege of penning these gossiping notes have, like other people, been forced to submit to the inevitable "crowding-out" as it is sometimes called. One week it was found necessary to actually enlarge the paper so as to work out the arrears which in every class newspaper is so apt to accumulate. Calling at the office the other week I was shown enough "copy" to fill up a Times. In this state of affairs I was informed by Mr. Printer, rather brusquely, I thought, that I need not trouble to write any more for a twelvemonth! But softer counsel and influence prevailed, with the result that this week I appear again.

* * * * *

I am glad to relate, in connection with these jottings, a noteworthy fact. Two letters have been received from distinguished members of the Exercise, written in the highest approbation of the writings of my senior contributor, "Free Lance," and also of my own. One gentleman hopes that one or other of us will appear each week, because our remarks are a change, or variety to the rest of the intelligence. I can assure this writer that both my friend and myself will do our best to content him. But I would have them to know that none of the readers are pleased when on looking through the paper they find that something which they expected to see in print is not. Then some of them get out of temper, and threaten all sorts of pains and penalties. But the great majority of readers are, I hope and believe, patient and charitable, and let me add, sensible, under such disappointments.

* * * * *

If the gentleman who in the number for May 21st wrote himself "Looker-On" had mentioned the actual belfry where some one so far forgot himself on a Sunday as to chirp out what is truly called "the latest senseless music-hall craze," it would have saved me a lot of trouble. There is no danger in being explicit, friend "Looker-On," as witness my own "topics." I recollect the term "slaughter-house" being applied to some belfry, but forget where, so I had to wade through my volumes of "B.N." At last I found it. And in accordance with my habit of plain speaking, I say the belfry is that of Romford, a market town (so my directory tells me) in Essex. Now the cat is out. If I should be wrong, perhaps "Looker-On" will correct me, for it would not be right that Romford should have the credit of this unless it is deserved. Whatever people can see in these music hall fooleries I can't imagine. A good honest comic song imparts amusement, if not instruction—I mean one of the old sort, because there are no comic song writers in the present day. Some people think there are, but they are mistaken.

This episode unfortunately is another proof that among some ringing circles, good manners and behaviour are absent, and refinement and gentlemanly demeanour unknown quantities. I think this painful fact should be a little more considered. If some of these "uncultivated" people were to be boycotted now and then, it would have a good effect. If conductors in arranging a peal would take care in selecting for that purpose only those who always behaved properly, and at the same time conveyed a hint to others that they were not asked on account of the probability that they would behave improperly, it would do good. A good ringer or two may get shut out whose presence was desirable, but that evil should be endured. Better to have no peals at all than peal-ringers whose moral calibre is low.

The Salisbury Diocesan Guild has taken a commendable step. "In order to encourage the knowledge and practice of change-ringing," as the report says, facilities have been given for change-ringing parties to hold special ringing meetings at different places throughout the Diocese. The Guild has consented, under reasonable restrictions, to pay a moiety of the travelling expenses of such parties. I shall be corrected if I am wrong, but it appears to me that the performances of this Guild have been chiefly done by one or two bands living in or near to Salisbury. Nothing that I recollect has been reported as coming from Dorsetshire in the way of change-ringing, by members resident in that county. As far as change-ringing is concerned Dorset is a perfect blank. But if meetings of the kind mentioned can under the auspices of the Guild be held in different districts, and if those attending such meetings have an eye not to the scoring of a peal only, but to the advancement of ringing, we may hear before long of something from the above county: in fact it may become as famed for ringing as it is for choice "Dorset."

The correspondence which has appeared in a Devonshire paper and the Archdeacon of Barnstaple's charge is interesting reading. What the Archdeacon says all ringers will devoutly agree with. And this is also true of the letter signed "Hugh Pigot," who I think is another reverend gentleman living not far from Barnstaple. The traverser of the words of the Archdeacon—the Rev. E. R. Gotto—"means well," we are told, and I am among the first to bow to that opinion. But for all his well-meant letter, he has put a block in the way of progress in Devon. Those clergy who don't want to move in belfry reform, who prefer not to be bothered by any suggestion which means increased activity in any shape, will find a solace in Mr. Gotto's letter. There is only one cure for Mr. Gotto, that is to become a change-ringer as soon as he can by having the very best instruction the neighbourhood affords. When he has mastered the art he will look upon this letter of his with different feelings to those which he now regards it.

"An Ancient College Youth" writes to suggest that those who have the getting up of peals in London and suburbs should notify the same in this paper. I should take this writer to be rather a verdant young gentleman. Does he not know that Londoners rejoice in keeping their business secret, and that there are to be found those among them who wish there were no papers at all to publish anything about ringing? His idea is a good one, nevertheless, and if it can be carried out would be of service.

The Bell News &amp; Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, JUNE 4, 1892.

THE state of the weather as we write indicates that on Monday next many members of the Exercise will recreate themselves by visits to well-known centres of ringing, where they will be able to meet old friends, and make new ones. One or two of the principal Associations invariably hold their annual meetings on Whit-Monday, and in some instances most bountiful fare of every kind is provided for those attending. The Essex Association, the annual meeting of which is as usual to be held at Chelmsford on the above day, presents attractions somewhat above the ordinary. There are no less than five towers available for ringing: one of ten bells; three of eight bells; and one of six; all in fair order. Then there is a service to be held in the parish church of Chelmsford especially for the benefit of ringers, and a special preacher to address them—a service in which they can join in with great heartiness, and which it is hoped they will attend in great numbers. Then after the business meeting a repast on the most liberal scale is provided at an almost nominal sum; in fact there appears to be a strong desire on the part of the Honorary Secretary and his worthy Coadjutor to manufacture as much enjoyment as possible for the members who attend. This is only an instance. The officers of other Guilds go to work in a similar manner, and we think the exertions made by them generally prove great successes.

It is obvious to the meanest capacity that these meetings, especially where such elaborate arrangements are made as we have indicated, are a great help to progress. Such gatherings bring new members; confirm the wavering ones, and secure them in their membership. Very few we think would continually attend the Annual Meeting of an Association and partake of its pleasures without becoming members, and interesting themselves more and more in its operations. Our present object is to advise, with all the power we are able, a general beating-up on the part of members of Guilds and Associations to enlist new members. Who will join in such a crusade? There will be plenty of opportunity on Monday next. Ringers will appear at the several trysting-places who belong to no organisation whatever, but we believe many of them can be induced to do so. We ask those who read these lines to determine, before they leave home next Monday morning to attend the meeting, to secure at least one recruit.

One more word before we bring this comment to a close. We have already expressed a hope that the services in church may be well attended, and that there may be no reason for any dissatisfaction under this head. There is yet one more point worth an allusion. Next Monday is settling-day with some societies; and it is hardly necessary to say that delay in this part of the business causes a deal more work to those gentlemen who as Secretaries are the mainstay of the organisation. Every one should remember that the position of Secretary is taken up and regarded as a labour of love, but continual applications for the small annual sums due must create a degree of impatience to the most even-minded, and it may develop into disgust. We appeal to members to spare their secretaries the trouble of such applications. If they will do so, their action will go a long way to show their appreciation of their secretary's manifold duties, the complete and efficient performance of which, in many cases, creates the most profound amazement.

Her Majesty's Surgeon-Dentist's Testimonial.

"My Dear Doctor,—Allow me to express my sincere thanks for the skill and attention displayed in the construction of my Artificial Teeth, which render my mastication and articulation excellent. I am glad to hear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. In recognition of your valuable services, you are at liberty to use my name.—S. G. HUTCHINGS. By Appointment Surgeon-Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen."
Geo. H. Jones, Esq., F.R.S.L., F.R.M.S.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has by his Perfected System of Dentistry demonstrated that Painless Dentistry is as much an accomplished fact as the swift locomotive, the electric light, or the telephone, and absolutely restores the natural contour caused by the loss of teeth, by the adjustment of Prize Medal dentals, rendering detection impossible, which obtained the Gold Medals of London, 1851; New York, 1853; London, 1862; Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; and Philadelphia, 1876.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has been awarded for his Improvements and Patents in Dentistry gold medals, London and Paris; gold medal, New Zealand Exhibition, 1882; gold medal Calcutta, 1883; and the highest diploma of merit and award at Nice and Amsterdam, 1883-4. Awarded the gold medal of the Académie Nationale, Paris, 1884; and the highest award Antwerp; also the gold medal, International Exhibition, London, 1885; gold medal, Liverpool, 1886; gold medal, Melbourne, 1888-9.

THE KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The Thirteenth Annual General Meeting of this Association was held at Greenwich on Monday, May 30th. This was expected to be the largest meeting of the Association on record, as the Secretary had issued over two hundred tickets for the dinner. Several members, however, who had applied for tickets, and friends who had expressed a wish to be present, failed to put in an appearance, so that the meeting, though large, was not much better attended than the meetings at Maidstone and Folkestone in the two previous years. Permission had been gained to ring at St. Alphege, Greenwich (ten), St. Mary, Lewisham (eight), St. Nicholas, Deptford (eight), St. Margaret, Lee (eight), and St. John the Baptist, Erith (eight). The two last-mentioned towers were applied for, as the bells at St. Mary, Woolwich, were pronounced unsafe, and the roof at St. John, Deptford, was under repair. Apparently, the permission to ring at St. Nicholas, Deptford, was a privilege of a rather dubious description, as several members paid a visit there, and found a dirty and dismal belfry, and bells unringable. The other churches at a distance were not visited till the afternoon. The Greenwich bells were kept going both in the morning, and until a late hour in the afternoon, rounds and touches being rung by mixed bands of members.

A meeting of the central committee was held in the vestry of St. Alphege at 11.30 a.m., at which among other business the bands at Bromley and Ospringe were admitted. It was also decided to propose at the general meeting that a new suburban district be formed.

There was a choral service in the church at 12.30 p.m., the Hon. Secretary, the Rev. F. J. O. Helmore, Precentor of Canterbury Cathedral, intoning the prayers and reading the second lesson. The Rev. S. G. Scott, Rector of St. Mary, Woolwich, read the first lesson. Two hymns were sung—379 and 274 "A. and M."—"Now thank we all our God," and "Through the night of doubt and sorrow." Two members assisted in the choir: Mr. H. G. Pope, Staplehurst, and Mr. W. Cooke, Sec. of the Rochester District. Several more no doubt would have done so had they been in the way to be invited. Another year it is to be hoped that arrangements may be made beforehand to secure a good choir from among those members who are singers as well as ringers. A short address was given by the Vicar, the Rev. Brooke Lambert, from the text, St. Matthew xi. 17 (revised version): "We piped unto you, and ye did not dance; we wailed, and ye did not mourn." The preacher spoke of the common feeling we all experience from time to time, like those Jewish children playing at a marriage or a funeral, that our efforts did not receive that amount of appreciation which we considered our due. But it would generally be found, if we could examine ourselves honestly, that we were as guilty of this lack of appreciation of others, of which we were so apt to complain. Our social position, in its threefold aspect of family, national, and church life, laid this obligation upon us, to pay due respect to the feelings and interests of others. "No man liveth to himself;" and we should not be doing our duty in any of these relations, unless we did our best to consider the interests of others beside ourselves. In conclusion the preacher exhorted his hearers to be good kinsfolk, good citizens, and good churchmen.

Shortly after two o'clock the members, to the number of about 190, sat down to dinner at the "Good Duke Humphrey" coffee tavern. The Rev. S. G. Scott occupied the chair, and was supported by the Revs. T. S. Curteis (Secretary for the Tunbridge District), A. Brine (West Malling), H. Wilford (Horsmonden), G. Hitchcock (East Fairleigh), Teignmouth Shore (Lewisham), F. J. O. Helmore, Hon. Secretary; and Messrs. Newman and Winy (London), W. Cooke (Secretary for Rochester district), E. Richards, C.C. (Woolwich), Thornton and Rumens (Master and Secretary of the Trinity Youths), and others. Not even the most contented and uncomplaining of ringers, nor the most ardent supporter of coffee taverns, could have expressed satisfaction with the fare provided, or the manner in which it was served. However, the company swallowed what victuals they could, as well as their dissatisfaction, and prepared with good humour to go through the business part of the meeting.

After the toast of "The Queen" had been duly honoured, the Chairman called on the Secretary to read the report. Among other things the report stated that considerable progress and activity had been shown during the past year. Two inspectors of belfries had been appointed (Messrs. F. G. Newman and A. E. Nunn), and several applications for their services had already been received. A new certificate had been prepared from a design by Mr. W. H. Fussell, of Slough. Peals had been reopened at Upchurch (six), East Fairleigh (six), and Hythe (eight); and a new ring of eight by Messrs. Taylor, of Loughborough, tenor 17 cwt., had been opened at Ospringe. There were now 498 practising and 149 honorary members, making a total of 647, as compared with 616 last year. During 1891, eighty-two peals were rung, being twenty more than in the previous year; and it was encouraging to notice that progress was still being made in the number and quality of peals, and in the practice of different and more intricate methods. The balance-sheet shewed a credit balance of £4 15s. on the year, not including a sum of £3 5s., the amount of the offertory at the Ospringe opening service, which was given to the Association. The receipts for this year were £84 9s. 10d., and the expenditure £79 14s., while of the reserve balance of £91 11s. 10d. at the end of 1890, the sum of £68 had been placed in deposit with the Association's bankers.

The report and balance-sheet having been duly passed, Mr. Foreman (Secretary for Canterbury district) proposed "The Healths of the Archbishop, the Bishop of Rochester, and the clergy," together with a vote of thanks to the Vicar of Greenwich for the use of the bells, and his address at the annual service.

This was responded to by the Rev. S. G. Scott, as the preacher was unable to be present at the dinner. In the course of his remarks Mr. Scott said that he could not understand people saying that the bells made them melancholy. For his part, though he knew nothing about ringing (he wished he did), he was always glad to hear them, and they called to his mind joyous thoughts and refreshing memories. He was disappointed that he was not able to welcome the ringers present to his belfry at Woolwich, but the bells had been pronounced unsafe, and he was therefore reluctantly compelled to close the belfry. The company, however, would be glad to hear that he was taking steps to have the bells put in order, and he hoped it would not be long before they could be rung again with ease and safety.

The election of officers and central committee was proposed by the Rev. T. S. Curteis, and seconded by the Rev. A. Brine. On the motion of the Secretary, the names of the Rev. L. E. Goodwin, Rector of St. Martin's, Canterbury; C. W. Blaxland, Esq., of Hythe; and Mr. W. Martin, of Swanscombe, were put on the central committee in place of several who had retired. The Secretary then brought forward the proposal that a new district be formed, to be called "The Lewisham District," comprising those towers which lie north of the L. C. & D. railway, and west of a line drawn southwards from the Thames at Greenhithe to the L. C. & D. railway. This was seconded by Mr. Cooke (Secretary for Rochester district), and carried. Afterwards a meeting of the new district was held in the vestry of St. Alphege, at which the Rev. T. E. Teignmouth Shore was appointed District Secretary, and Mr. Conyard, of Crayford, representative on the central committee.

The day, though warm, was beautifully fine, and in spite of the indifferent fare provided at the "Good Duke Humphrey," members managed to enjoy themselves in various ways, and some good ringing was done.

OPENING OF A NEW PEAL AT BEXHILL-ON-SEA.

At the kind invitation of the Rev. Leighton Grane, several members of the Eastbourne branch of the Sussex County Association visited this rising little seaside resort, for the purpose of testing a recently acquired peal of eight at the parish church of St. Peter. As far back as 1739, a peal of six with a 12 cwt. tenor was cast for this church by Lester and Pack. These, owing to the lapse of time, and the probability that nothing was done to keep them in a good condition, gradually became so bad as to be unsafe. Consequently at the beginning of the present year a movement was set on foot to put them in a proper state, and as soon as the object was known, kind friends were not wanting to find the necessary funds to enable the bells to be put in thorough repair. Nor was this all, for at the same time a present of two trebles to complete the octave was made and needless to say accepted.

The first of these, which is the gift of Mrs. Wallis, in memory of her husband, bears the following inscription: "In memory of Frederick Wallis, M.D., born 1815, died 1892;" while the second is inscribed "The gift of F. Michael Wallis, Churchwarden." The whole of the work was entrusted to the firm of Mears and Stainbank, and has been carried out in their usual masterly manner. This work consists not only of casting a couple of trebles, but also of recasting the old second, which was found to be faulty, quarter-turning the other five, and hanging the peal in a new oak frame with new wheels, stocks, clappers, etc., complete.

Short touches of Grandsire Triples was the order of the afternoon, and three 168's, one 210, and two 504's were successfully brought round, whilst a quarter-peal was lost after ringing over 1000 changes. Besides this Doubles were rung with some of the local band standing in. As this was only an informal opening to test the "go" of the bells, no service was held. This is reserved for June 29th (St. Peter's Day), when a dedication service is to be held. Those taking part in the ringing were: Messrs. Rollison, Willoughby, Harfey, Huggett, Billings, Harding, T. Lewis, J. Lewis, and C. Lewis (Eastbourne); Hunnisett and Greed (Bexhill); Beams (Seaford); Sager and Lock (Blacklands, Hastings); and other members of the Bexhill band also rang in the rounds and Doubles.

Death.

On Saturday, June 4th, at Slough, from consumption, ALICE LOUISA, wife of A. C. Fussell, deeply regretted.

STEDMAN TRIPLES AT KING'S NORTON, WORCESTERSHIRE.

For many years the church of St. Nicholas, King's Norton, possessed the only available ring of eight bells near Birmingham, and being very rurally situated at the distance of only a pleasant walk, was a favourite resort of Birmingham ringers.

Our records show peals of Grandsire Triples and Bob Major in the early part of this century, and about 1853 Chattell with his band scored the first peal of Treble Bob Major, conducted by John Day.

Chattell's ambition was to score the first peal of Stedman, and memory carries one back to 1843, when a new impulse was given to Stedman Triples by the ringing during the previous autumn at Aston of the "Lates-Thurstans" peal with two doubles, conducted by Thomas Day.

In the spring-time of 1843 Chattell took his young band, having the late T. Gay as conductor, and made probably the first attempt on the bells, the writer being permitted to sit in the belfry. Two or more starts were made but no peal resulted.

Shortly after this Mr. Gay went to reside at Liverpool, and Chateil took the job into his own hands. It would be difficult to say how many times he journeyed there for a peal of Stedman Triples, but always with the same result. His two last attempts were very remarkable, both seeming to be assured—in the one case the bells being nearly home (some say in the last course), when a change-course occurred; and in the other, what was still more extraordinary, being in the last course with only a single to call, the 7th rope parted. Then Chattell gave the job up in despair.

For the past fifteen years or so the bells were in rather a shaky condition and not at all nice to ring on. Lately they have been entirely restored, re-tuned, and put on a new frame with latest improvements by Messrs. Taylor, of Loughborough, and the change is so great that that one hardly realises that they are the same bells.

In February last the St. Martin's Guild were invited by the church authorities to ring for the opening service, and at the subsequent luncheon they were asked to come and ring the first peal on them.

Stedman Triples naturally came to the front, and on April 23rd a representative band of the Guild made the first attempt, but after 2 hrs. excellent ringing the usual occurred. Mr. J. S. Pritchett, of King's Norton, a member of the Guild, then entertained the band to a substantial tea, and while the good things were being discussed, and in the intervals of the band being chaffed at their failure, that day month was fixed for another attempt. May 28th accordingly saw them on the war path again. At about 3.30 "go" was called, and at 4 o'clock a bell was set. "This won't do," said the conductor, "try again." In about three minutes the band were in changes again, and at eight minutes past seven the welcome "that's all" satisfactorily ended as well-struck a peal as need be heard, rung—with the exception of the conductor's voice—in almost complete silence. The band was heartily congratulated on their success by their King's Norton friends, and at host Foster's at "The Old Bell" Mr. Pritchett again substantially provided for the inner man.

Having done full justice to a capital tea, the handbells were introduced, and after a course of Grandsire Caters, a well-struck touch of Grandsire Triples was rung by J. S. Pritchett, 1-2; W. S. Pritchett, 3-4; H. Bastable (conductor), 5-6; G. Hands, 7-8.

The toast "Success to the King's Norton Guild of Change-Ringers," coupled with the health of Mr. J. S. Pritchett, was then drank, this gentleman being complimented on the smartness of the young hands who are being trained by him. Mr. Pritchett having suitably replied, the party broke up, well satisfied with the half-day out.

A note as to the weight of the tenor at King's Norton may perhaps be interesting. This bell was always spoken of as weighing 18 cwt., and being in the key of E natural, the quality of the bell would seem to warrant such tradition. In an old list issued by the Whitechapel Foundry, it is quoted as 17 cwt. When taken down and weighed at the railway station, it was discovered to be a few pounds over 15 cwt., and now in its present state re-tuned, and with the cannons off, it weighs 14 cwt. 1 qr. 18 lbs., and is a shade flat of E, and a good bell.

THE LONG PEAL OF TREBLE BOB AT DEBENHAM, SUFFOLK.

In the proper place will be found the official record of this peal. Our old friend Mr. Brundle, of Ipswich, who rang the 4th, writes us the following letter concerning it, which we give in full:—

"DEAR SIR,—I am this evening asked by my brother-ringers to send you a detailed account of the long peal, which I will do to the best of my ability. Firstly: I must apologise to the Exercise for not giving notice of the attempt as we have done on previous occasions, and which certainly would have been done on this, but for this reason, the same band had agreed to attempt it who rang in the attempt last year, but one of them was obliged to work at his employment through the holidays, at the request of his employers, Messrs. Ransomes, Sims and Jefferies, so we had to find a substitute; at his request, Mr. E. Collins, of Worlingworth, filled the gap. Debenham is situated fourteen miles from Ipswich by road, seven from Eye by rail, and seven from Framlingham, the nearest railway station, so we had to go from Ipswich by horse and trap, which can hardly be had for love or money just before Whitsuntide; we however, succeeded in getting one on Thursday evening last. On Whit-Monday, Messrs. Motts, A. R. Aldham, R. H. Brundle, W. Lines, and F. Tillett, started from "The Running Buck" at 4.15 a.m. Mr. J. Motts, riding his 52-in. machine, arrived at Debenham at seven minutes to 6 a.m., being heartily welcomed by the respected steeple steward, Mr. Grimes, and other friends, when we partook of an hearty breakfast at an adjoining hostelry. We then repaired to the old tower, to once more try our fortunes, when ropes were readjusted, grease boxes, etc., inspected, and at eighteen minutes past 7 a.m., the familiar voice of James Motts resounded in no unmistakeable tone; 'Go: Oxford Treble Bob'; when the fine old peal told the Oxford method truly, the first part-end coming up in 3 hrs. 32 mins., the second part in 7 hrs. 2 mins. and the welcome 'that's all' in 10 hrs. 32 mins. Ringing cheers went up from a large crowd for the size of Debenham town, a splendidly struck peal from first to last being accomplished. Upon the doors being opened, the ringers were heartily congratulated by the Vicar, the ringers, and the crowd, the following exclamations being heard: 'Well done my boys, you have rung a splendid peal,' 'Good old Jemmy, you have got 'em this time,' etc. The ringers were kindly entertained at the vicarage by the Vicar and his family. Mr. W. Lines, of the St. Mary-le-Tower Society, who is well known for his integrity, acted as umpire throughout the peal. I may here mention that it is eleven years since the first attempt was made, ten attempts having been made with varying fortunes, the longest being 7 hrs. 54 mins. on Whit-Monday last year, and the band now consider the success of the peal as being mainly due to the perseverance of our esteemed conductor, good Jemmy Motts, and F. Tillett, who, with good English pluck, stuck to and struck his bell throughout, which is a well-known fact is no mean performance on a peal like Debenham. The ringers all desire to thank the vicar and churchwardens for kindly granting the use of the bells on the various occasions, also Mr. Grimes and the local ringers, who have ever been ready to help and wish us success. R. H. B."

MARRIAGE AT OLD HILL, STAFFORDSHIRE.

June 1st was quite a festival at Old Hill—the day of the wedding of Alfred H. Bassano, Esq., J.P., conductor of the Old Hill ringing society, with Agnes, the second daughter of George Allan, Esq., managing director of the New British Iron Company. Flags were flying, bells ringing, volleys of dynamite cartridges, and fog signals exploding, and crowds of people hurrying to the church long before the hour appointed. The clerk of the weather smiled approvingly, and all passed off most happily. The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. E. Brewer, and much brightened by the willingly volunteered services of the Old Hill Musical Society, of which Mr. Bassano is the conductor. Mr. Gaul, the composer of the now famous "Holy City," presided at the organ, and two numbers from his cantata "Ruth" were well rendered by the Society. The scene when the bridal party left the vestry was a pretty one, and will not easily be forgotten by those present. Amid showers of rice, and accompanied by the good old tune of Grandsire Triples merrily rung out by the Old Hill band, the party left the church, and shortly after the happy pair set out for Oxford (the famous change-ringing city, which holds the fame of having handed to the Old Hill Society by their conductor the position they now occupy in the ringing world) en route for Cornwall. The good wishes of the Old Hill ringers follow them, together with those who have been connected with them in any way. A peal was intended to have been attempted in the evening by the same band, but was prevented by an evening service.

REOPENING OF THE BELLS AT ST. MICHAEL'S, FRAMLINGHAM, SUFFOLK.

The bells in the above church, which for many years have been almost unringable, have lately been rehung, and reopening services were held on Wednesday, June 1st. These bells were formerly five in number, to which a sixth was added in 1657, and in 1718 two more, making a ring of eight, which is, with one exception, the oldest in the county. They are in the key of E, tenor 20 cwt., and in very good tune. The old frame, which has been removed, was the former five-bell frame, which had been twice altered for the above-mentioned additions, and which by reason of these alterations and the ravages of time, had become unfit for its work. The first reopening service, comprising Matins and Holy Communion, was held at 10 a.m., in the course of which the first round on the rehung bells was sounded. After the service a 1088 Oxford Treble Bob Major was rung by the following company, most of whom were members of the old Framlingham company. R. H. Hayward (Monewden), 1; G. Day (Eye), 2; W. Crickmer (Earl Soham), 3; F. Day (Eye), 4; D. Collins (Worlingworth), 5; W. Flory (Cretingham), 6; E. Collins (Worlingworth), 7; H. Baldry (Brandeston), 8.

Services were also held at 3 p.m. and at 7.30 p.m., at the former of which the preacher was the Rev. H. Earle Bulwer, M.A., Hon. Secretary of the Norwich Diocesan Association, and at the latter the Rev. Canon Raven, D.D., President of the Norwich Diocesan Association. Several touches were rung in the course of the day by different companies, and all seemed very pleased with the "go" of the bells, which are now rung from the floor of the tower, a draft of about seventy-five feet.

We regret to announce the death (under extremely painful circumstances) of HENRY JAMES SHADE, a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, which took place at the Seamen's Hospital, Greenwich, on Tuesday evening last. He was in his 38th year. The interment will take place at the Royal Naval Cemetery, Old Woolwich Road, East Greenwich, to-day, Saturday, at 4.0 p.m.

SOCIETY FOR THE ARCHDEACONRY OF SALOP.

A meeting to consider the advisability of reviving and re-organising the above, was held in St. Mary's Clergy Room, Shrewsbury, on Saturday. Archdeacon Lloyd presided, and amongst those present were—the Revs. N. Pointz (St. Mary's), T. Auden (St. Julian's), E. S. Carpenter (St. Chad's), Shrewsbury; W. H. Egerton (Whitchurch), R. C. Wanstall (Condover), A. P. Salusbury (Wrockwardine, E. T. Billings (Calverhall), W. R. Burns (Annscoft), J. Mackay (Leaton), F. Grindrod (Edgmond), W. T. Burges (Newport), D. Jones (College), S. Hobson (Uppington), &c.; also Messrs. Thos. Burd, G. Roden, Thomas Price (St. Mary's, Shrewsbury), J. B. Bratton, H. Hughes (St. Chad's), G. Byolin (St. Alkmund's), W. E. Bennett (Condover), B. T. Phillips (Dawley), W. H. Cureton, H. Rogers (Hordley), B. Thomas (Leaton), Joseph Ashley, Thomas Paddock (Bicton), John Vickerstaffe (Wellington), &c.

The Archdeacon, in opening the proceedings, said it was not the first time they had met for bell ringing in Salop, and he thanked Mr. Wanstall, who had been instrumental in calling the meeting together, that a society of change-ringers for the Archdeaconry of Salop was likely to become permanently successful. He believed great benefit would arise from the power of association. The Chairman then called on the Vicar of Condover to read any letters bearing on the subject. The Rev. R. C. Wanstall then read the following letter from the bishop:—"My dear Mr. Wanstall,—I am glad to hear that you are on the point of forming an Archidiaconal Association of Change-Ringers, and I shall be pleased to become a patron of the Association. We have already arranged for a special service for the existing Diocesan Association in the Cathedral, on Saturday, 18th June, at 4 p.m. Would your members be able to come to it? The Rev. D. Jones (Theological College, Lichfield), is Secretary, and might arrange with you." The rev. gentleman also read letters from the Bishop of Shrewsbury, Rev. A. L. Oldham (rector of Bridgnorth), and Mr. J. G. Buchanan (of Clun, Salop, and Hon. Sec. of the Hereford Guild of Church Bell Ringers), Wainwright (Norton-in-Hales), and James. The Chairman then called on the Rev. D. Jones (Lichfield), Hon. Sec. of the Staffordshire Society of Change-Ringers, who gave a vigorous and practical address on "Bells and Bell Ringing."

The rev. gentleman mentioned that there were 40,000 bell ringers in England, and the object of the Salop Guild would doubtless be to recognise the position of ringers as church workers, the promotion of the art of change-ringing, and he must add belfry reform, for no doubt there were many old traditions which needed to be swept away. After an eloquent allusion to the historic Church of England, he said that the office of change-ringers was just as important and as dear to God, if done in a right spirit, as that of any other work—and he hoped the day was not far distant when church bell-ringers would not be "looked down upon," but looked up to and revered. The Chairman then called on the Rector of Whitchurch, whom he described as the "Father of bell ringing" in Salop, to make any suggestions.

The Rev. W. H. Egerton expressed the pleasure it gave him to see so representative a meeting from all quarters of the Archdeaconry, and he suggested that after the Guild was thoroughly established it should be subdivided into smaller districts, working in union with the central Association.

Mr. Wright (Whitchurch), Mr. Price (St. Mary's, Shrewsbury), Mr. Byolin (St. Alkmund's, Shrewsbury), Mr. Bennett (Condover), Mr. Vickerstaffe (Wellington), Mr. T. Burd, and others took part in the discussion, and made several valuable suggestions, including the advisability of holding an annual festival alternately at various centres in Shropshire. A code of rules and regulations were then agreed to, and it was decided that the title of the Association should be "The Guild of Change-Ringers for the Archdeaconry of Salop." The appointment of officers was then proceeded with—Patron, the Bishop of Lichfield.

The Rev. W. H. Egerton proposed Archdeacon Lloyd as Treasurer, which was carried amid applause.

The Rev. E. S. Carpenter proposed and Mr. Wright (Whitchurch), seconded, and it was carried unanimously, that the Rev. R. C. Wanstall be secretary of the Salop Guild.

The Vicar of Condover, in reply, thanked the meeting for the honour they had done him, but as the public offices he already held were legion, he should much prefer someone else being elected.

The rector of Whitchurch and several of the laity present, having urged the rev. gentleman to at any rate start them, the Rev. R. C. Wanstall expressed his willingness to accede to the request made. The Revs. N. Pointz (St. Mary's), W. T. Burges (Newport), W. H. Egerton (Whitchurch), C. R. Dickinson (Shifnal), were suggested as suitable members for the committee; also the names of several laity including leaders of the tower bells were named, but eventually it was decided to defer the appointment to the first general meeting, which is to be held at Shrewsbury, on Saturday, June 25th, and for the ringers to visit some of the belfries in the town.

A vote of thanks to the Archdeacon for presiding, and to the Rev. D. Jones, for his address, concluded the meeting, which was of a very hearty and practical character.

THORNBURY, GLOUCESTERSHIRE.

DEATH AND FUNERAL OF MR. THOMAS TRATMAN, OF TYTH-ERINGTON.—A gloom of sorrow has been cast over the vicinity of the Church of St. James' Tytherington, by the death of an esteemed parishioner, Mr. Thomas Tratman, who for nearly twenty years had held the office of parish Clerk of that place, and whose death took place on Wednesday, May 25th, after 10 days' illness of bronchitis, followed by inflammation of the lungs, which resulted in his death. The deceased, who was much respected in the village, was a member of the choir, also a ringer, and the only performing member representing the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association of Change Ringers in Tytherington. Much sympathy was felt for the widow and family in their great sorrow. A letter of condolence from the Thornbury Parish Ringers was forwarded to the widow. The Funeral took place at the Church on Monday afternoon, May 30th, at 3.15 p.m., when many neighbours and friends assembled to pay a last token of respect to his mortal remains, amongst whom were Messrs. F. K. Howell, C. Eddington, and E. Hale, representatives of the Thornbury Ringers, and the Gloucester and Bristol Association, who journeyed the distance of four miles, hoping to be able to make it as much of a ringer's funeral as possible, by assisting the local company to ring a peal on the handbells round the grave; but the widow did not wish this to be done. Wreaths of a beautiful nature were placed on the coffin, which was of elm, with an engraved breast-plate bearing the following inscription.—"Thomas Tratman, died 25th May, 1892, aged 56 years." The mournful procession was met at the church gates by the Rector (Rev. G. H. Jackson), and the surpliced choir. As they entered the church, the organist (Mr. A. Lissaman), rendered "I know that my Redeemer liveth" on the new Organ. The service, which was of an impressive character, was feelingly preformed by the Rector, and commenced with singing Hymn 400, "Christ will gather in His own"; followed by the ordinary burial service, Psalm xxxix, being sung to an appropriate chant. After the reading of the lesson from Corinthians, "Lord now lettest Thou Thy servant depart in peace" was sung; and as they proceeded to the grave, the solemn strains of the "Dead March" in Saul were played. In the churchyard, and around the grave, much grief was discerned among the many relatives and friends. At the close of the service, the choir sang "For ever with the Lord," around the open grave, and a muffled peal was also rung on the bells, the deceased's age (56) being struck with the usual "whole pull and stand."

CHEPSTOW (Monmouthshire).—On Sunday, June 5th, for Divine Service, several 6-scores of Plain Bob Doubles on the back six. A. Williams, 1; G. Williams, 2; W. Freestone, 3; A. Longville, 4; J. Morley (conductor), 5; J. M. Cross, 6. Tenor 21 cwt. in E. In reference to the 6-scores rung on May 21st and 29th, great credit is due to the conductor, Mr. J. Morley, for the pains he has taken in getting the present band, which is entirely a new one, through their first 6-score; also to Mr. W. Freestone, for the kind assistance he has rendered, and it is hoped that with perseverance they will soon master Triples.

FOR SALE, A Splendid peal of Handbells, 52 in number, in good order. By Blews of Birmingham. Chromatic Scale, from G 2 $\frac{1}{2}$  to G 4; Cushions, Stand, and Music complete. The cost when new was about £30. Good reason for selling. No reasonable offer refused.—WALTER REA, Stourbridge Road, Bromsgrove.

THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

The second quarterly meeting of the year was held on Saturday, May 28th, at Worsley, near Manchester. Between thirty and forty ringers attended from various parts of the county, though the majority belonged to towers in the neighbourhood of Worsley. The afternoon was beautifully fine, and the fresh green of the trees and through them glimpses of a grand view of distant hills were delightful in the extreme to ringers whose lives are mostly spent in the somewhat grimy surroundings of Lancashire towns. Ringing commenced soon after 2.30 p.m., and touches were rung at intervals until 5, when a short service was held in the beautiful church, which was fairly well attended by the ringers and others. A practical and encouraging address was given by the Vicar, the Rev. F. K. Hodgkinson, who spoke of the honourable position occupied by ringers as church workers, and of the consequent need of reverent behaviour and attention to their art in the belfry. After the service a business meeting was held in the school. The Vicar presided, and was supported by the Rev. H. J. Elsee, President of the Association, Mr. H. W. Jackson, Treasurer, Mr. R. Ridyard, Mr. J. Barratt, and others. The Vice-President was unfortunately detained in Manchester until the business meeting was over, but arrived in time to take part in the ringing afterwards.

The Chairman, in the course of a few words, apologised for the bad "go" of the tenor, but explained that the work of re-hanging it afresh had been entrusted to a well-known firm, and he hoped that in a short time the bells would be in a thoroughly satisfactory condition. He expressed his pleasure in having been able to arrange for the service in connection with the meeting, and hoped that this would become a regular feature of the quarterly gatherings, as it already was of the annual meeting.

The President next said a few words, in the course of which he spoke of the comprehensive report and body of advice to those who have charge of bells, drawn up by a committee of the Central Council. He expressed a hope that through the instrumentality of the Association this report might be widely circulated in their own county.

Amidst applause, the Vicar was elected an honorary member of the Association, and two performing members were also elected. Votes of thanks were given to the Vicar for his address in the church, and for his courtesy in presiding over the meeting; to the proper authorities for the use of bells and school; and to the local ringers for having all in readiness. An adjournment was then made to the tower, where touches rung in various methods brought a most enjoyable meeting to a close.

WEST GRINSTEAD, SUSSEX.

A very pleasant gathering of the members of this Society took place at the parish church on Thursday, May 19th, the occasion being the wedding of Mr. W. Gander, one of the local ringers. A 720 of Bob Minor (eighteen bobs and two singles), was rung. W. Jupp, 1; W. Pearce, 2; R. Summersell, 3; H. Tourle, 4; S. Woolgar, 5; W. Denman (conductor), 6. And 240 and 216 in the same method, conducted by R. Summersell. On Wednesday, June 1st, on the occasion of the wedding of Mr. W. Jupp, one of the local ringers, a 720 of Bob Minor (eighteen bobs and two singles), 720 in the same method (twenty-two singles), and 360 (twelve singles). R. Summersell, 1; W. Pearce, 2; W. Denman, 3; H. Tourle, 4; S. Woolgar, 5; H. Burstow (conductor), 6.

To the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS AND RINGERS' RECORD."

SIR,—The peal of Grandsire Triples which appeared lately in "THE BELL NEWS" as the composition of Mr. W. J. Sevier, is a simple variation of a peal which appeared in your valuable paper on January 17th, 1891, as the composition of EDWARD B. JAMES.
Catus College, Cambridge.

A CORRECTION.

SIR,—Will you kindly correct the date touch published on the 21st of May, it should have read Bob Triples, instead of Major, by the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association.

THE WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

A District Meeting was held at Petersfield, on Wednesday, May 18th. By kind permission of the Vicar, the bells were available from 11 o'clock in the morning, and it was intended to attempt a peal, but unfortunately a band could not be got together in time for a sufficiently early start, and consequently the attempt was abandoned. Several touches of Grandsire Triples and two plain courses of Stedman Triples were rung in the course of the day by mixed bands. The ringing chamber had been most tastefully decorated with flowers out of compliment to the Guild by the wife of one of the members of the local company, an attention which was greatly appreciated by the members. A committee meeting was held at the Coffee Tavern, at which it was decided that the Annual Festival be held at St. Nicholas, Guildford (by kind permission of the Vicar), on Tuesday, July 12th, a committee meeting to make final arrangements to be held at Guildford on the previous Tuesday. The Secretary was also requested to invite the Bishop of Winchester to be present at the festival. We trust that it may be possible for his Lordship to comply with the request. About twenty members put in an appearance in the course of the day, which was a thoroughly enjoyable one throughout.

Ringers' Outings.

ASSINGTON, SUFFOLK.—On Sunday, May 29th, a mixed band of ringers paid a visit to this place to have a ring, permission having been previously obtained. The company arrived at 9 o'clock in the morning, and at 9.30 two 720s were rung for Divine Service, viz.: 720 Oxford Treble Bob. W. Howell, 1; W. Hazell, 2; J. Starling, 3; H. E. Bowers, 4; W. J. Nevard, 5; C. Sillitoe (conductor), 6. And 720 Bob Minor. H. Diggins, 1; H. E. Bowers, 2; W. J. Nevard, 3; W. Hazell, 4; A. J. Clarke, 5; C. Sillitoe (conductor), 6. After service, 720 Double Court. W. Howell (first attempt in the method), 1; W. Hazell, 2; J. Starling, 3; H. E. Bowers (first attempt in the method), 4; C. Sillitoe, 5; W. J. Nevard (conductor), 6. First 720 in the method on the bells. The Rev. J. W. D. Brown then kindly invited the ringers to luncheon at the vicarage, to which ample justice was done. After a walk round the vicarage gardens a return was made to the church to ring for afternoon service. A 720 Kent Treble Bob Minor. C. Sillitoe, 1; A. J. Clarke, 2; J. Starling, 3; W. J. Nevard, 4; W. Hazell, 5; W. Howell (conductor), 6. And 720 Bob Minor. A. J. Clarke (conductor), 1; W. Hazell, 2; J. Starling, 3; H. E. Bowers, 4; W. Bentick, 5; H. Diggins, 6. This peal was rehung and augmented to six by Warner and Sons, in 1890, and great credit is due to them for both the tone and go of the bells. The visitors wish to thank the Rev. J. W. D. Brown for his kind hospitality and for the use of the bells. Messrs. Howell and Sillitoe hail from Sudbury; Clarke from Stanstead; Diggins from Great Walsingham; J. Starling from Great Bromley; Hazell from Little Bentley; Bowers and Nevard from Great Bentley; the rest are local men.

ALL SAINTS, HAMER, ROCHDALE.—On Saturday afternoon, May 14th, the ringers of this church had an outing to Bolton, arriving there shortly after 3 p.m. They were met at the station by Mr. W. Holmes, who took them to Holy Trinity Church, where a 720 was attempted, but came to grief after ringing 600 changes. They afterwards proceeded to the Saviour's church, where they rung a 720 in 27 mins., on the back six. W. Airey, 1; E. Shepherd, 2; J. Crossley (conductor), 3; R. Whittles, 4; T. E. Schofield, 5; R. Hoyle, 6. A move was then made to the residence of one of the ringers, where a spread of the right sort had been prepared for them, to which ample justice was done. A visit was afterwards paid to the parish church, and another 720 was rung. After a look round the town a move was made to the station to catch the 10.27 train to Rochdale, and after an enjoyable ride they arrived home, having spent a pleasant afternoon. They take the opportunity of thanking the Vicar for the use of the bells, and also Mr. Holmes for his kindness.

The Bell News &amp; Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, JUNE 11, 1892

THERE are several topics this week favorable for dealing with to some extent in our weekly comment, but we can only refer to one or two of them. There is, first of all, the long peal rang by a band of the Norwich Diocesan Association at Debenham, a small town in Suffolk. This performance, upon a ring of bells having a 20 cwt. tenor, reflects great credit indeed upon those who had the temerity to attempt such a feat, and if weight of metal is any criterion it must be held to surpass the peals of Bethnal Green and Ashton-under-Lyne. One of the band gives on another page his version of the proceedings, which will be interesting to our readers. The peal of Stedman Caters at Painswick, Gloucestershire, is worthy of note if only from the fact that such a number of years have elapsed since a peal in this method was rung there. Painswick at one time was a great centre of ringing, and held its own with the metropolis and other places; but those who made its fame are either dead or scattered abroad, and thus for many years its former repute has been quite forgotten. The condition of the tenor gives little ground for hope that change-ringing will be revived in Painswick; but the successful labors of three ringers to get her through a peal may perhaps induce the authorities to have some necessary alterations effected, as ringing under such conditions, though showing undeniable energy and pluck, is the reverse of pleasant. We hope the state of the bells will be brought before the Vicar and Churchwardens without delay.

The revision of the constitution of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford is a movement of some importance. A good array of clergy appear to be interested therein, and their countenance, especially if accompanied by corresponding energy, will be of service. We should have been glad to have heard of a scheme for the formation of a Guild for the whole Diocese of Lichfield, with the three archdeaconries as divisions working on their own basis, but all in complete union as a Diocesan Guild. Such an arrangement appears to us to be the most consistent and regular with any organisation connected with the Church. But those immediately concerned are no doubt the best judges in the matter, and have substantial reasons for the course taken. At any rate, we hope the new arrangement will tend to enlarge the borders and greatly extend the operations of the society in question.

Whilst the 1st C.P.R.V. corps were in camp at Wye, one of them called on Mr. Laker, of Ashford, who is rather better in health than he was some time ago. With such a man in their midst, Ashford ought to wake up and not be content with call changes, or what is worse, only making feeble attempts at chiming, as was the case on Sunday, the 22nd ult. It seems there has been a dispute between the ringers and the vicar about ringing on the occasion of the opening of an Industrial Exhibition a week or two ago, the vicar not allowing the ringers to ring, the consequence was, the ringers have struck; what the result of it will be at present no one can tell. ## Her Majesty's Surgeon-Dentist's Testimonial.

"My Dear Doctor,—Allow me to express my sincere thanks for the skill and attention displayed in the construction of my Artificial Teeth, which render my mastication and articulation excellent. I am glad to hear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. In recognition of your valuable services, you are at liberty to use my name.—S. G. HUTCHINGS. By Appointment Surgeon-Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen."
Geo. H. Jones, Esq., F.R.S.L., F.R.M.S.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has by his Perfected System of Dentistry demonstrated that Painless Dentistry is as much an accomplished fact as the swift locomotive, the electric light, or the telephone, and absolutely restores the natural contour caused by the loss of teeth, by the adjustment of Prize Medal dentals, rendering detection impossible, which obtained the Gold Medals of London, 1851; New York, 1853; London, 1862; Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; and Philadelphia, 1876.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has been awarded for his Improvements and Patents in Dentistry gold medals, London and Paris; gold medal, New Zealand Exhibition, 1882; gold medal Calcutta, 1883; and the highest diploma of merit and award at Nice and Amsterdam, 1883-4. Awarded the gold medal of the Académie Nationale, Paris, 1884; and the highest award Antwerp; also the gold medal, International Exhibition, London, 1885; gold medal, Liverpool, 1886; gold medal, Melbourne, 1888-9.

MR. ROBERT SPENCER STORY, C.C.

PRESIDENT OF THE DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE ASSOCIATION.

[Vide Portrait.]

In the long list of eminent ringers, whose photos and memoirs we have placed before the readers of "THE BELL NEWS," we come once more to one who is well-known in the north of England (and further south still in fact) as a hard worker in the science and its advancement. Though a ringer of some merit and ability, his strong point seems to lay in teaching others, and Mr. STORY has spent both time and money in this pursuit.

He comes of an old and much respected family of Novocastrians, who for many generations past have resided and held office in the parish of St. John, Newcastle-on-Tyne. Both he and his brother, Mr. Wm. Story, are freemen of the borough. He was born on September 18, 1858, and is therefore in his thirty-fourth year. He was educated to the mercantile profession, and some years ago succeeded his late senior in a prosperous business on Newcastle Quay side, and enjoys the confidence and respect of all who meet him, either on 'Change or in the belfry.

His first connection with the belfry was in 1879, at the restoration of St. John's church, when the late Vicar organised a voluntary Guild of ringers. With others he assisted in putting the belfry into a fit state for practice, and received his first lessons from that veteran ringer, Mr. Francis Lees, whose biography has already appeared in these pages, and who was the appointed instructor to the Guild. The amount of work requiring to be done in this loft before the bells were all rehung (which was done gradually), prevented any quick progress being made by the ringers. Therefore MR. STORY's name did not appear in the Minor records of "THE BELL NEWS" till the latter part of 1881, when he rang his first 720 at North Shields, and another with his own society in November of that year. Half-pull ringing seems to have come naturally to him, for the band he had around him soon sought "fields afresh and pastures new" in the Art, and some fourteen or fifteen methods of Minor were quickly mastered. The work of augmenting St. John's bells to a peal of eight, however, prevented the ringing of a 5000 in seven methods, although several attempts were made, with MR. STORY as conductor.

On May 12th, 1883, he rang the seventh in his first peal, one of Grandsire Triples, by a mixed band at All Saints' church, in his native town, and the first rung in Newcastle for over thirty years. He has since had a peal-board recording it erected in the belfry at his own expense. He followed this achievement up with a 5088 of Treble Bob Major at North Shields on New Year's day, 1814, the first peal of Major north of the Tees.

In September, 1883, he "took unto himself a wife," and went to reside at Whitley, a Northumbrian sea-side resort, but still kept up a close connection with his old church in the "coaly town" where he was engaged in business every day.

In the following year when augmenting operations were going on in St. John's tower, we find him acting as "first assistant" to Mr. Lees in re-arranging the old bells and hanging the new ones, and he spent many long hours, whenever he had the time to spare, at this work, which, though not a very clean or easy task, was still a labour of love. He had the satisfaction, however, of seeing a neat, well-going, handy peal of eight, which was badly needed in Newcastle, the other peals being in such a wretched condition. He called the first peal on these bells at the close of 1884, a 5008 of Bob Major, and followed this up with several others in various methods.

In October of the same year, on the resignation of Wm. Reed, Esq., of North Shields, MR. STORY was elected President of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association, an election which seems to have been extremely popular, as he has been re-elected every succeeding year since. He fills the post with dignity and tact, and shows a spirit of enthusiasm in his work, which everyone in the Association would do well to emulate. He has been the guiding spirit through its vicissitudes and its prosperity, and when any friction takes place amongst the members, he is the first to step in to heal the breach.

Shortly after this he took to teaching the Art at various places in the two northern dioceses. Starting at Shotley Bridge, an outlying parish in Durham, some twenty miles from his own home, he journeyed there every week for many months, and succeeded in training a capital six-bell band, introducing change-ringing into a district where it was hardly known. Bishopwearmouth was his next task, and after some trying uphill work he taught a band to ring Minor comfortably; they have since rang several other methods. He then turned his attention to home requirements, the bells of his own parish church at Whitley being in a wretchedly poor state, and change-ringing scarcely known. Here he made a radical reform, introducing new blood, who have assisted him in placing the bells and ringing-chamber in a fit state to practise in. Success only can follow such indomitable perseverance as his, so he soon had the pleasure of ringing in a 720 of Minor, rung wholly by Whitley men, an achievement unknown to that village before. He has since been elected a Churchwarden of this church, and in that capacity takes good care that the belfry receives the attention due to it. Until quite recently MR. STORY has been teaching a band at Morpeth Watch-tower (eight bells) with some success, but a split amongst the ringers has put a stop to further advancement there, for a while at least.

Business matters very often take MR. STORY to distant towns, and on such occasions he invariably makes for the belfry, and speaks highly of the courtesy and heartiness with which he is welcomed in all parts. At Ipswich he has been rather unfortunate, ringing a peal of Double Norwich which was afterwards proved false, and also getting within a few sixes of the end of a peal of Stedman Triples at the same place. In 1885, accompanied by his brother, he visited some of the principal towers in south Yorkshire and north Derby, and scored several peals on that occasion. He was also in Birmingham at the first Johnson Memorial meeting, and rang in a peal of Stedman Caters at Warwick, being his first peal on ten bells, conducted by Mr. Heywood. Previous to the Central Council meeting of 1891, he visited Duffield and rang a 5000 of Double Norwich. MR. STORY was elected a representative on the Central Council for his own Association last year. He is also a member of the College Youths, the Yorkshire, Norwich Diocesan, and Midland Counties' Associations. His peal list has not yet reached very formidable proportions, as until recently (when strenuous efforts were made to raise the Durham and Newcastle Association from its previous poor position in Mr. Attree's analysis) peals at home were few and far between; but his name is to be found in almost every peal recorded by the above Association. He totals forty-four in all, as follows:—

Grandsire Triples	5
Plain Bob "	1
Stedman "	1
Stedman Caters	1
Plain Bob Major	4	conducted 2
Kent Treble Bob Major	23
Oxford " " "	(one 6144) 6	conducted 1
Woodbine " "	1
Double Norwich	1
Seven methods of Minor	1

The peal of Oxford Treble Bob Major which he conducted, was the first on the bells at St. George's, Jesmond.

MR. STORY has made a close study of the theory, proof, and composition of most of the Standard methods, and is the recognised authority on these subjects in the two north-east counties. He is also one of those who are equally at home at either end of a peal, taking any bell he is required to from the treble to the tenor, striking either with equal precision. Many are the peals he has saved from destruction by his readiness in picking faulty ones up, and putting them once more on the right track. His influence and untiring energy has done much to improve and elevate the locus standi of ringers in the north, and the Association which claims him as its President, owes a great deal of its popularity to the above-mentioned characteristics of ROBERT SPENCER STORY.

MR. ROBERT SPENCER STORY, C.C.
(OF NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE.)

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE NORTH NOTTS.
ASSOCIATION.

The most important and largest gathering of ringers in connection with this Association attended the annual meeting held at Workop on Whit-Monday. The weather being beautifully fine, members put in an early appearance from East and West Retford, Blythe, Bawtry, Everton, Shireoaks, East Markham, Anston, Harthill, Killamarsh, Eckington, Gainsborough, Workop, and many other places, including members from the Yorkshire and North Lincolnshire Associations. The bells were put in motion at an early hour, and a well-struck 630 of Grandsire Triples was rung for Divine Service by the following: J. Swannack, 1; W. Skelton, 2; T. Spurr, 3; H. Warburton, 4; H. Haigh (conductor), 5; R. Potter, 6; J. B. Joynes, 7; R. Beeston, 8. At 12 o'clock precisely there was a good muster present to listen to an eloquent address given by the Curate, the Rev. F. Smith, who spoke of the various use of bells and their different meanings in the times of trouble and sorrow, mirth and joy; he also spoke of ringers as useful and intelligent men, and whose services were becoming more and more appreciated as church workers day by day. The rev. gentleman also impressed upon the ringers that after doing their duty in the belfry by calling God's people to the house of prayer, to attend themselves as regularly as possible. He knew it was very difficult at times for all ringers to attend Divine Service, especially those who were married and gave preference to their wives, but he thought it became all good churchmen, especially ringers, to attend as early as possible.

During the afternoon several touches were rung by mixed bands in the Treble Bob methods on six bells, and the first 720 was one of Kent Treble Bob. C. F. Fowler, 1; H. Stenton, 2; J. Emsen, 3; H. Bettison, 4; G. Marsden (conductor), 5; R. Beeston, 6. And 518 Grandsire Triples. R. Beeston, 1; W. Skelton, 2; H. Warburton, 3; W. Drake, 4; H. Haigh, 5; J. T. Ladd, 6; J. B. Joynes (conductor), 7; R. Potter, 8.

At 5 o'clock the members adjourned to the Abbey School Room, where upwards of sixty sat down to ring a peal in the knife and fork method, with the Rev. H. T. Slodden as conductor. "Go" was called at 5.5 p.m., and after some good long courses had been got through without the slightest hitch, "stand" was called at 5.45 p.m., the conductor being of opinion that a good peal had been rung, with bobs and singles too numerous to mention. After tea the usual business meeting was held. The Secretary read the statement of accounts, which shewed that the Treasurer at the commencement of the year 1891 had a balance in hand of £5 5s. 9d., and he was pleased to say that at the end of the year, after all expenses were paid, the Association had a balance of £8 8s. 0d., which was considered a very favourable report. The President, Vice-Presidents, the working committee, with the Rev. H. T. Slodden as Secretary, and Mr. G. R. Lucas, as Treasurer, were re-elected for the ensuing year, and the Rector of Harthill and the Curate of Workop were elected honorary members. The new Vicar of Shireoaks was also elected a vice-president, and a vote of condolence was passed with the relatives of the late Rev. G. O. Brown, who took an active interest in the doings of the Association, and gave a hearty welcome to all ringers who paid a visit to Shireoaks. Ten ringing members were elected, including Mr. J. T. Ladd, of Spalding, and Mr. C. Crawford, of Markham.

At the conclusion of the business the Rev. — Rigg, of Anston, delivered a complimentary address to the members, who, he was pleased to see, had gathered together in such a large number on that auspicious occasion, and expressed the pleasure it gave him to be present amongst them and to hear good ringing performed on tower bells; he was also glad to welcome at any time the members of the Association to his tower when it was convenient. He also spoke of the good work done by the Honorary Secretary, who he was quite sure had spent a great deal of time and trouble in correspondence and compiling the report which he had presented to them that day, and it was gratifying to know that the Secretary had undertaken to fulfil the office another year at the same salary as hitherto.

Votes of thanks were passed to the curate of Workop for his excellent address, and to the Secretary and other officers for their services during the past year. The meeting then broke up and the bells were again put in motion to the tune of Oxford Treble Bob, and were rung until late in the evening. The next quarterly meeting will be held at Blyth, on Saturday, September 24th, and it is hoped that all those who were present at this meeting and as many others as possible will make it convenient to attend, as it is the jubilee day of the bells, which have been in the tower fifty years that day. There will also be other important business to transact, viz.: to decide where the next annual meeting shall be held.

TIPTON, STAFFORDSHIRE.

On Saturday last, June 11th, a very pleasing interesting ceremony took place in St. Martin's belfry, Tipton. Early in the afternoon, ringers began to assemble to witness the unveiling of a tablet which records two peals, one of Kent Treble Bob Major, 5088 changes, rang on January 2nd, and is the first on the bells in the method for forty years; the other a peal of Darlaston Bob Triples, 5040 changes, on January 16th, this being the first peal on the bells in this method, and was rung with the bells muffled in memory of H.R.H. the late Duke of Clarence. Both peals were conducted by Mr. J. Carter, the performers being members of the Worcestershire and Districts and Archdeaconry of Stafford Associations. At 5 o'clock the Rev. A. A. Cory, vicar, accompanied by the churchwardens, and the Rev. H. C. Courtney, Vicar of Hatton, ascended the tower, which was now filled to excess. Amongst those present were Messrs. J. Perks, J. Carter, J. Jennings (Birmingham), W. Pardoe (Coseley), S. Spittle, W. Micklewright (Dudley), W. H. Godden (Handsworth), W. Smith (Darlaston), J. Smith (Netherton), Rev. C. W. Bassano and Mr. Mason (Old Hill), W. Sayer, Esq. (Oldbury), H. Roden (Penn), J. E. Grove (Wolverhampton), R. Cartwright (Wombourn), S. Reeves, P. Horton, R. Hall (West Bromwich), and the members of the local company, etc. The vicar, in a few brief introductory remarks, said it gave him very great pleasure to be there amongst them on this occasion, and began to think that the remarks he made a few years ago were coming true, that if they kept placing peal boards in the belfry of their records achieved, they should have to think of enlarging the same. He now asked Mr. Small, the tower keeper, to explain to them the object they had met for that afternoon. Mr. W. R. Small, who is a very energetic ringer, said he was pleased to see such a large company of ringers and friends present, and was thankful to see one amongst them, Mr. J. Perks (Birmingham), who stood in the peal of Kent Treble Bob Major rang forty years ago in that tower, Mr. Day (Birmingham), and Mr. S. Marsh (West Bromwich), being the only survivors left, and hoped ere long to see a small tablet recording the peal then rang. They had met that afternoon to shew their appreciation of those who had taken part in the two peals recorded on the board about to be unveiled which was placed there to shew to this and the rising generation that change-ringing had existed there, and to stimulate those who should come after to surpass the records of the peals handed down to them, and expressed a hope to see more erected, recording Plain Bob, Canterbury Pleasure and Double Court Bob Major recently rung. He most heartily thanked all for their presence, and would now ask their respected vicar to unveil the tablet. This having been done, the vicar said great credit was due to all those who took part in these intricate methods, and should be more pleased to see one recorded by all members of his tower. On the motion of Mr. Small, seconded by Mr. Carter, and supported by Mr. Spittle, a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Rev. A. A. Cory, for the interest he took in bell-ringers and ringing generally. The rev. gentleman in reply, said he did not think a vote of thanks was due to him, as he considered himself as one of themselves, and should be pleased if Mr. Small would accept a portrait of himself, framed, to hang in the tower. Before the ceremony took place, touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, and Bob Major, conducted by R. Cartwright and W. R. Small, were rung on the tower bells. After it was over, touches of Kent Treble Bob Major, and Darlaston Bob Triples were rung, conducted by J. Carter. An adjournment was made to the ringers' house, where a very enjoyable evening was spent.

Ringers' Outings.

THE TONG (YORKS.) SOCIETY.—On Saturday, the 4th instant, the parish church company, Tong (near Bradford) accompanied by a few friends, attended the meeting of the Yorkshire Association, held on that day at Knaresborough. En route they made a call at Harrogate, and rang a touch on the bells of St. Mary, Low Harrogate. At the conclusion of the Association meeting they journeyed forward to Boroughbridge, permission having been kindly granted to them by the Vicar to ring on the bells of the parish church. On arrival they were met by some of the Boroughbridge ringers, and the party adjourned to "The Windmill" inn, where arrangements had been made with an old friend of the party, now proprietor of this hostelry, to stay the night. The weather being unfavourable, the evening was agreeably spent with the handbells, tunes and changes following each other in quick succession. Sunday morning found the party early astir, and about 7.0 they assembled in the tower, being met by Mr. Langley, and rang for early service 720 of Oxford and 240 of Kent Treble Bob. At the close the Vicar paid a visit to the belfry, and gave the company a hearty welcome. At 9.30 they assembled once more, and the following rang 240 each of Violet, Duke of York and Oxford, after which they attended Service. H. Oddy, 1; S. Oddy, 2; W. Bolland, 3; J. Haley, 4; G. Bolland, 5; F. Birks, 6. Tenor 16 cwt. In the afternoon they visited Aldborough, and by permission rang for the special Hospital Sunday service (at which the sermon was preached by the Lord Bishop of Ripon) 504 of Oxford and 240 of Violet. H. Oddy, 1; S. Oddy, 2; W. Bolland, 3; W. Stainthorpe, 4; G. Bolland, 5; J. Haley, 6. By the kindness of A. S. Lawson, Esq., they were afterwards permitted to look round the grounds of Aldborough Manor. For evening service at Boroughbridge, they rang a course of Bob Minor (with Mr. Langley, one of the local ringers, at the 7th), and afterwards a 720 of Oxford in 26 mins. The time for return now drew nigh, and the party drove by waggonette to catch the train at Harrogate, the outing having been highly enjoyed by all. The visitors desire to express their warmest thanks to the Vicars of Boroughbridge and Aldborough for so kindly granting them the use of their bells, and also to the local ringers for their attention and kindly welcome.

WHITCHURCH (Salop).—On Saturday, June 4th, eight members of the Crewe Society visited this place for the purpose of having a friendly afternoon's ringing with the local men. The first touch of 518 changes was rung by J. Wright, 1; G. Wright (conductor, Whitchurch), 2; R. Langford, 3; J. Gibson (Whitchurch), 4; R. T. Holding, 5; A. Jarvis, 6; G. Harding, 7; A. Dudley, 8. Also a 360 of Grandsire Minor with tenor behind. A. Harding, 1; R. Langford, 2; A. Jarvis, 3; R. T. Holding, 4; G. Harding, 5; G. Wright, 6; A. Dudley, 7. Another 360 of Minor was also rung with W. Evetts on the treble and E. Langford, of Whitchurch, on the tenor. A move was then made for tea, after which the tower was again visited, and two more touches of Grandsire Triples (588 changes). C. Langford, 1; G. Wright, 2; A. Jarvis, 3; R. Langford, 4; R. T. Holding (conductor), 5; G. Harding, 6; T. Barron (Whitchurch), 7; A. Dudley, 8. And 350 changes. W. Barron (Whitchurch), 1; G. Wright, 2; R. T. Holding, 3; R. Langford, 4; J. Gibson (conductor), 5; A. Jarvis, 6; W. Hutchinson (Whitchurch), 7; A. Dudley, 8. The bells were then lowered in peal and a very pleasant hour spent with the Whitchurch ringers. The Crewe ringers returned home much pleased with the afternoon's out, and the very kind manner in which the Whitchurch men received them, and hope before long to see them at Crewe, when they may be sure of a hearty reception.

TUNSTALL (STAFFORDSHIRE) SOCIETY.—On Saturday, June 6th, the members of this society held their annual outing, Betley being the place selected. Accompanied by a few friends they started from Tunstall at 3.0 p.m., and after a pleasant drive arrived at Betley at 5.0 p.m., where they were met by Mr. R. Cross, who had very kindly made all the necessary arrangements for them previously. After partaking of a little refreshment they went to the tower and made a start for Bob Minor. After a short touch they started for a 720, but unfortunately after ringing nearly 600 changes it came to grief. Nothing daunted by the failure of this attempt, they adjourned for tea to the Swan hotel. Immediately after they started for the tower to try their luck again, Bob Minor being the order of the day, and a 720, containing sixteen bobs and two singles, was brought round in 29 mins., tenor 10½ cwt. in A. T. Miller, 1; G. A. Smith, 2; H. Lea, 3; E. Horne, 4; W. Rigby, 5; J. Johnson (conductor), 6. First 720 in the method by E. Horne, and first in any method by G. A. Smith. These bells which have recently been rehung and augmented to six by the addition of a new tenor by James Barwell, of Great Hampton Street, Birmingham, are all that can be desired, and reflect great credit upon the hanger for completing his task in such an efficient and workmanlike manner. The company wish to thank through the medium of this paper the vicar, churchwardens, and Mr. Ralph Cross for the courtesy extended to them during their visit, also for granting them permission to ring. About 9.15 they started for home, arriving there at 11.30 p.m., every one having enjoyed themselves thoroughly.

THE RAWMARSH (YORKS.) SOCIETY.—The members of this society had their annual outing on Monday, June 6th, about twenty ringers and friends being present. The place selected was Hatfield, near Doncaster. The journey commenced at 7.30 a.m. from the "Earl Grey" inn, with a waggonette and four-in-hand, the property of John Moorhouse, of Rotherham. On the way they called at Conisbro, and then journeyed on to Doncaster to the White Hart, which was reached about 9.15 a.m. Here they had an hour's rest and luncheon, after which the handbells were brought out and several tunes were played on them. Time being called they took to their seats again for the journey to Hatfield, which was reached at 11 o'clock. They then adjourned to the "Blue Bell," and after refreshing themselves they were met by the tower-keeper, who conducted them to the tower where they soon raised the bells, which are in good going order. A few touches of Bob Major and Grandsire Triples were rung, after which they adjourned to the "Blue Bell" and the handbells being placed upon the table a few more tunes were rung until the host came to announce dinner, to which ample justice was done. After dinner the handbells were brought into use again to the tune of "Jenny Jones." They then went to the church, which is a very old and ancient place, the tower-keeper shewing them the interior. At the further end of the church is hung some old armour, which is decaying away. They were next shown a Bible which has a lock and chain to it, but it is never used because it is a very old one. They then came to the entrance where there is a box which is studded all over with iron bolts, and has had at one time seven locks on it, but there is only one on at the present time, and the tower-keeper told them it was called Peter's Pence Box. They then went back to the tower, where the bells were soon set going to the tune of Bob Major and Grandsire. After spending about an hour they went back to the "Blue Bell," and the handbells was kept going the whole of the afternoon to the tune of "Jenny Jones," "Going home to-morrow," "Macnon," "The Skiff," "Whitworth Waltz," "Blue Bells of Scotland," and "Auld Lang Syne." A few courses of lapping was also gone through by the company. The following took part in the ringing: S. Whitworth, J. Farmery, J. Ensor, B. Whitworth, T. Whitworth, T. Wild, J. Hawkins, V. Hawkins, J. Schofield, S. Walker, W. Hawkins, W. Whitworth, and H. Bunce. The ringers wish to thank the vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells, also the tower-keeper for having all in readiness, and the host and hostess of the "Blue Bell" for providing dinner for them. After spending a delightful day they commenced their homeward journey leaving Hatfield at 6 o'clock, calling at Doncaster and Conisbro, and reaching home at 10 o'clock none the worse for their day's outing.

THE LONGEST PEAL OF CATERS.—The figures of this composition, by James Hewitt, an old respected member of the Cumberlands, have, as many of our readers know, been printed, and advertised for sale. Very few copies have, however, been sold. This is greatly to be regretted. We hope all our readers will send to the veteran author for a copy without delay, and thus be the means of adding to the solace of a most worthy ringer in the evening of his life. An advertisement appears at the bottom of the previous page.

THE ESSEX ASSOCIATION.—ANNUAL MEETING.

The Annual Meeting of this Association was held at Chelmsford on Whit-Monday. Favoured by the beautiful weather over 100 ringers from various parts of the county attended, and spent an enjoyable holiday. The proceedings opened with Divine Service at St. Mary's church, at 11.0 a.m., better attended (we are glad to note) than in some previous years; some who would have been there being prevented by the lateness of a train. The service was said by the Rector, the Ven. Archdeacon Johnson, assisted by the Revs. C. C. Naters and H. T. Wilson, his curates; the lessons being read by the Revs. T. L. Papillon and H. T. W. Eyre, the Secretary and Assistant-Secretary of the Association. The Rev. E. F. Hay, Vicar of Kelvedon, an Honorary Member of the Association, gave a short practical discourse from 2 Kings ii. 21, showing that all human gifts and powers must be salted and purified with the Holy Spirit, as the waters were purified by Elisha casting in salt. The business meeting was held at 12 o'clock in one of the schoolrooms, the Honorary Secretary presiding. The officers for the past year were re-elected, and the following new members proposed and elected: Messrs. C. H. Biggs and C. Burrell, St. Albans; A. Cranmer, Kelvedon; J. Dellow, sen., J. Dellow, jun., W. Dellow, jun., F. Mills, M. Milton, J. Sibley, J. White, Farnham; H. P. Harman, Bromley; H. Lincoln, W. Miller, G. Sorrell, Writtle; A. Morley, Witham; H. Parker, Barking; S. Parmenter, Stepney; G. Sadler, Coggeshall; W. Foster and J. Taylor, Foxearth. Hon. Members: Rev. C. C. Mills, Coggeshall; Rev. J. G. Geare, Farnham.

The Secretary then read his annual report, as follows:—

"The Essex Association is now so firmly established, and its work so regularly maintained, that there is less necessity each year for a lengthy report. Our numbers appear to have reached, for the present, their highest point; and our care must be to prevent any falling off. Our ringing members ought not to fall below 500; and efforts should be made in all parts of the county to secure more Honorary Members, particularly among the clergy. This is important not only from a financial point of view, but for remedying that ignorance of and consequent want of interest in ringers and ringing, which so much hinders the work of belfry reform and the spread of change-ringing. Till the clergy as a body take the same kind of interest and feel the same responsibility for their bells and ringers as for their organs and choirs, we shall not secure even such recognition as I think we ought to secure at our own Diocesan Conference, to say nothing of the Church Congress itself.

"Four District Meetings have been held during the past year, at Coggeshall, West Ham, Romford, and Stanstead. From Coggeshall an expedition was made to Great Tey, where there is a fine tower with a ring of eight in fair order, and some change-ringers hitherto unconnected with our Association. The re-opening of the ring of ten at West Ham brought together one of the largest gatherings that we have had for some time at a district meeting. The meeting at Romford was small, and saddened by the recent death of the Duke of Clarence. At Stanstead only a six-bell tower was available; but the ringers there set a creditable example to us all, in the harmony and perseverance which has now made them one of the most accomplished bands of six-bell ringers in England. An attempt was here made to re-open ground at Farnham, the ringers of which place had withdrawn from the Association. With what success, I cannot at present say. One of our chief difficulties is how to keep in touch with the ringers in out-of-the-way villages, who were never perhaps very keen about change-ringing, and unless kept up to the mark, will soon give the whole thing up. If we find it difficult to keep the Association alive even in towns, how much harder is it in villages? Yet this is precisely the work which the Association ought to do, and in which I believe it might very much help the Clergy, if only they would welcome it more. I should be very grateful for any suggestions on this point. There are still in Essex thirty out of fifty-three six-bell towers, and an immense majority of the five-bell towers, in which the Essex Association and change-ringing are unknown; and in some of these, we may be sure, there is much to be desired in the way of belfry reform.

"In belfry improvement we have to note the re-opening of West Ham bells after re-hanging by Messrs. Howell and Son, of Ipswich. The same firm have secured the contract for re-hanging and adding two new trebles to the ring of six at Ardleigh, near Colchester, as a memorial to the late Canon Perry. A good ring of eight is much needed in that district, the bells of St. Peter's, Colchester, being sadly in want of re-hanging; while the hope that Dedham might again become a centre of change-ringing has been extinguished by an architect's report upon the tower.

"The Committee of the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers appointed to draw up a body of information upon bells and belfries have compiled a pamphlet of some thirty pages, the chief heads of which are: The preservation and repair of bells, frames and fittings; The means of modifying and controlling the sound of Church Bells; The arrangement and Furniture of Ringing Chambers; The responsibility of Church Authorities with regard to ringers; and a Schedule of approximate prices for bells, frame and fittings. I have on behalf of your Association secured a certain number of copies of the first issue of the pamphlet; some of which I hope that the Association will allow me to distribute among the clergy and churchwardens of parishes where it seems desirable, while others will be at the disposal of members of the Association at the price of one penny per copy. If the Central Council had done no other piece of work than this, it would have fully justified its existence. No such compact and practical body of information has ever yet been accessible to those who have the charge of our bells and belfries.

"In peal-ringing, our Association maintains its position as far as the number of peals is concerned. Since Whitsuntide, 1891, about forty peals have been rung, including two of Double Norwich at Saffron Walden, one of Stedman Cinques at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, London, and one of Stedman Triples upon handbells. The Saffron Walden band upon eight bells, and those of Stanstead and Braintree upon six, seem likely to extend their proficiency into the "Surprise" methods, and we want more such companies who will hold together, and work together, and not rest satisfied so long as there is anything fresh to be mastered.

"Our finances continue satisfactory. The account as made up to Whitsuntide shews a balance in hand of £10 7s. 7d., from which however some £3 or £4 will have to be deducted for the expense of booking peals, the account for which has not yet been received. We shall therefore begin the next year with about the same balance in hand as that with which we started a year ago, viz., a little over £6. The Reserve Fund in the Chelmsford and Dengie Hundred Savings Bank was, on the closing of that Bank in November 1891, transferred to the Post Office Savings Bank, in which there now stands to the credit of the Association £59 6s. 8d.

"I must, in conclusion, express my thanks to the Assistant Secretary, the Rev. H. T. Eyre, for his valuable assistance in the most troublesome part of a Secretary's work; and would appeal to all members of the Association to lighten that work as much as possible by punctuality and regularity in the payment of their subscriptions."

It was resolved to defray the travelling expenses of not more than two representatives attending meetings of the Central Council. A scheme of suggested belfry rules, to be circulated under the authority of the Association, was referred back to the committee who had drawn it up, with instructions to report again to the next district meeting. It was then resolved, on the motion of the Chairman,

- (1.) "That the 'Peal Committee' be requested to consider the Resolutions passed by the Central Council as to the conditions of a true peal on any number of bells, and to make such recommendations as they see fit with respect to the adoption of any or all of those Resolutions by the Essex Association."
- (2.) "That the Committee of the Association be instructed to consider and report upon the questions of (a) making the financial year begin on January 1st instead of Whitsuntide; (b) a life subscription for Non-Resident Ringing Members."

The Secretary was authorised to obtain estimates for a new peal-book, the present book being nearly full. Copies of the pamphlet issued by the Central Council upon the care of bells, etc., were offered to members at one penny per copy, and the Hon. Secretary was authorised to distribute the pamphlet at his discretion to clergy and churchwardens.

The members present then dined together in another school-room, kindly lent by the Rector, about 110 being present; and after dinner a photographic group, with the church as a background, was taken by Mr. F. Spalding, of Chelmsford, from whom copies may be obtained. The members then dispersed to the various towers placed at their disposal, viz.: Chelmsford (ten bells), Great Baddow, Widford, and Writtle (eight each), and Springfield (six). An attempt for a peal of Stedman Caters at Chelmsford in the early morning unfortunately failed through a change-course among the heavy bells.

services merited the honour they that evening paid him in asking his acceptance of the present. He expressed a hope that the recipient might live many years to wield the baton. It was twenty-four years since he first began to play with Mr. Pitstow, and although occasionally they might have struck a wrong note, it had not been long before they got into tune. Mr. A. Taylor, organist, signified his appreciation of Mr. Pitstow's past services, and Mr. George Hughes, a member of the band, said Mr. Pitstow thoroughly deserved the present. Professor Beavan also bore his testimony to the services rendered by Mr. Pitstow and his family to the art of music. In acknowledging the present, Mr. Pitstow said what he had done for music had been for the love of the thing and not for what he expected to receive. He thanked Mr. Williams for the time and trouble he had taken in the matter, and said he could not have done what he had if others had not assisted him.

The Bell News &amp; Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, JUNE 18, 1892

"If the Central Council had done no other piece of work than this, it would have fully justified its existence." So said the Hon. Secretary of the Essex Association—the Rev. T. L. PAPILLON—in his annual report to the members, when referring to the pamphlet which has just been published by the Central Council. And the rev. gentleman added: "No such compact and practical body of information has ever yet been accessible to those who have the charge of our bells and belfries."

It will be something near a calamity if such a excellent epitome of information, as this pamphlet is by trustworthy authority said to be, is not made the most of. This can only be done effectually by a liberal and ungrudging circulation. True it is that the process will cost money; but what scheme ever propounded for the enlightenment of the public did not? We and our forefathers have long deplored the ignorance which existed in all matters appertaining to bells and belfries, and have strived by various agencies to remove such ignorance, but unfortunately with questionable success. By many of those in authority, the complaints, suggestions, and warnings of individual ringers have fallen upon the year unheeded; the stereotyped remonstrances which have from time to time been made to them have been continually disregarded, in some instances received with contempt, and almost, we may say, criminal apathy and indifference. High dignitaries of the Church have been known to pooh-pooh representations made to them respecting the well-being of bells entrusted to their care, and to look upon those who make such representations as fanatical enthusiasts. Churchmen of every social grade have been found to whom a dissertation upon Church Bells was most uninteresting and frivolous, not half so attractive as a discussion on the shape of a cope or the colour of a stole. How is this? we may well ask. A ring of bells is among the most valuable and costly of the Church's furniture and ornaments, and why, therefore, this want of interest? Because they are out of sight, we suppose, is one reason. Another may be that no collective voice has hitherto been heard in connection with them; no central united authority competent to deal with such a matter having shown itself.

However this may have been hitherto, it is not the case now. The Central Council of Ringers is certainly an authoritative body. This Council, by its Committee, has deliberated upon important questions connected with Church Bells, and published the result of such deliberations in a complete and handy form. We have seen what the Rev. T. L. PAPILLON says of this publication, and a better judge than he could not be found. Then we invite our readers, especially the Secretaries of Societies, to strain every nerve to promote the circulation of this pamphlet among the Clergy and Churchwardens, and in fact, among all classes of Churchmen. The circulation, as we have said, should be liberal and ungrudging; and we also add, immediate. Below the Rev. H. EARLE BULWER gives ample directions how copies of the Council's report may be obtained. Those anxious for tangible results through its publication should communicate with him "without delay."

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL'S RERORT.

The Honorary Secretary of the Central Council begs to inform Honorary Secretaries of Associations, Guilds and Societies of ringers, and all members of the Exercise, that the Report of the Committee on the Preservation of Bells, Frames, and Fittings, etc., is now ready to be issued. It is important that all orders for copies should be sent in WITHOUT DELAY, that the numbers to be printed may be known before the type is broken up. The nominal price charged will be One Penny per copy; but to Associations ordering 500 copies or upwards, for gratuitous distribution among Church Authorities, a discount of 20 per cent. will be allowed for cash on delivery. Individual members of the Exercise and companies of Ringers are advised to order such copies as they may require through the Secretary of their local Society. Orders for single copies, or small numbers, sent to the Honorary Secretary of the Council must be accompanied by a remittance, at the rate of One Penny per copy and sufficient to cover postage according to the following scale:  $\frac{1}{4}$ d. for a single copy;  $\frac{1}{4}$ d. for 3 copies;  $\frac{1}{4}$ d. for 5; and an additional  $\frac{1}{4}$ d. for every 2 copies up to twelve. By parcel post 3d. for 13 copies, and an extra  $\frac{1}{4}$ d. for each additional 13, or any part thereof. All orders, remittances and communications should be addressed to the Rev. H. Earle Bulwer, Stanhoe Rectory, King's Lynn.

Correspondence.

To the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS AND RINGERS' RECORD."

THE PEAL AT DEBENHAM.

SIR,—In last week's issue I saw an account of eight members of the Norwich Diocesan Association ringing 16,608 changes of Treble Bob Major at Debenham, Suffolk. I do not doubt that the peal was rung, and rung well, but I do not think they ought to be congratulated on their achievement in ringing the peal without first giving notice through this valuable journal, so that any of the men ringing in the other peal, or any other ringer, should have an opportunity of listening to it if they wish. I think that all peals of 10,000 or more, should be duly notified, as the Appleton peal has not thoroughly been explained.

A FAIRPLAYER.

REPLY TO MR. E. B. JAMES.

SIR,—Will you kindly allow me space in your valuable paper to inform Mr. James that I cannot see how he can come forward and claim my peal as a variation of his which appeared in your valuable paper of January 17th, 1891, given as a ten-part peal with two common singles. I think Mr. James might have mentioned it at the time of the insertion of his peal, not to wait till now to come forward and claim a five-part peal a variation of his original ten-part peal. To prevent an endless correspondence on this subject, I will it entirely to the Exercise in general to compare the peals, and put who they think proper the composer. Thanking Mr. James, and hoping he will give them more plainly another time.

WILLIAM J. SEVIER.

9, Clifton Road, Gloucester.

AN EXPLANATION.

SIR,—The time occupied in ringing Holt's ten-part peal of Grandsire Triples at St. James', Birch, Rusholme, on Monday, June 6th, was 3 hrs. I apologise for my mistake in omitting the time.

W. E. RYDER.

THE STAFFORD EPISODE.

SIR,—May I trouble you in justice to the Stafford "disobedient bellringers," to reply to the remarks in your issue of Saturday, June 4th. It is perfectly true that the rector of Stafford was waited upon, and his permission asked that a peal should be rung in connection with the funeral of the late Alderman Hawkins, but not on behalf of the Liberal Association. Mr. Hawkins was a man respected alike both by partisans and those opposed to him, and it was this and no political question that it was asked that the peal might be rung. The action of the rector in refusing a very reasonable request gave cause for much comment, and taking into consideration the fact that the bells have on former occasions been rung on purely political occasions with the rector's approbation, it was thought that the rector was acting in a biased way. It may be well to inform you that there are persons of both shades of politics who are ringers, and they were all unanimous in acting in the manner they did. With reference to the agreement so largely quoted, there are several who did not know of the terms. The rector's statement may, to the large number of your readers, seem sound, but they must bear in mind that they are not conversant with Stafford local affairs, and the attitude of the rector in many cases. If they did, quite a different complexion would be placed upon his actions, and the bellringers, instead of "deserving little sympathy" would, I venture to assert, hold their own in the eyes of all lovers of justice. I may say that the rector's action has given cause for a great deal of feeling, and if you ask the opinion of the Stafford public, you will find that their sympathy is with the ringers. The bell ringers are not prepared to submit to the tyrannic dominance which the rector would like to have, but if fair play is to be the order of the day, will act as honourable and conscientious men should. Of the gentlemen (?) who have taken upon themselves to fulfil the office after learning the duties of the discarded bellringers, I will not say a word, although their action is not appreciated. With reference to the action of Mr. Page, of Stoke, in coming to instruct these men, I, as a member of the Staffordshire diocese of bellringers, protest against his action. The persons, I can hardly call them gentlemen, who have taken our place, are I believe to a man opposed to the late Mr. Hawkins' politics, and have stepped in our shoes to approve the rector's action, and gain a mean political point. I may state that no member of the Stafford diocese would undertake to do the work which Mr. Page, perhaps for a pecuniary consideration, has consented to do. If Mr. Page is open to teach change-ringing, I think he could have engagements without trespassing on the grounds of another diocese, namely, apart from Stafford: Stone, where there is at present a little friction.

34, Rowley Street, Stafford.

W. C. HALL.

[We publish the above as it is sent to us. Nothing in our opinion warrants flying in the face, as it were, of the Rector. The best policy is to submit to his dictum, to oppose is to court certain defeat. Perhaps Mr. Page would have acted wisely in endeavouring to reconcile the parties, and such action would have met with approval. We hope the Rector has not debarred the way, even yet, to a friendly settlement.—Ed.]

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A general meeting of this Association was held at Sunderland on Whit-Monday, June 6th, being the only meeting held in that town since 1884, and also the third since the formation of the Association in 1877. The bells of Bishop Wearmouth parish church (a ring of six) and also those of the Sunderland parish church (a ring of eight), were, through the kindness of the Ven. Archdeacon Long, Patron of the Association, and the Rev. T. Randell, D.D., placed at the disposal of the ringers throughout the day, and from nine o'clock they were kept going during the greater part of the day. The Committee met at the "Grand" hotel, Bridge Street, at 12 o'clock, at which most of the different branches were represented, and transacted the business of the Association. At one o'clock the members, numbering sixty-seven, including several friends, sat down to a substantial repast excellently purveyed by the manager (Mr. G. P. Banton) of the "Grand." The chair was taken by the President of the Association, Mr. R. S. Story, of Whitley, the vice-chairs being occupied by the Vice-Presidents, Mr. F. Lees, of Newcastle, and Mr. T. Clark, of Ripon. There were also present the Ven. Archdeacon Long (Bishop Wearmouth), the Rev. G. D. Scott (Bishop Wearmouth), Messrs. W. Story, C. L. Routledge, L. Newton (Honorary Secretary), T. Hudson, C. J. Butterworth, F. Harrison and others. The following branches were represented: Durham (St. Oswald's), Newcastle (St. John's), Jarrow (Christ Church), Chester-le-Street (St. Cuthbert's), Bishop Wearmouth (St. Michael's), Tanfield, Bishop Auckland (St. Andrew's), Whitley (St. Paul's), Benfieldside (St. Cuthbert's), Whickham (St. Mary's), Winlaton (St. Paul's), Willington (St. Stephen's), and South Shields (St. Hilda's). At the conclusion of the dinner the toast of "Church and Queen" was submitted from the chair and duly honoured, after which the President gave the toast of "The Bishops and Clergy of the Dioceses." In proposing the toast he remarked that a new peal of bells (ten) was to be opened at Newcastle Cathedral on the following day (Whit-Tuesday) and was sorry to say that the members of the Association had not been invited to take any part in the opening. It was the custom in such events to invite the ringers of the district. He thought, or at least he hoped they had been passed over in the matter because of the Association not being sufficiently well-known among the clergy as one of churchworkers. It comprised both voluntary and paid ringers, the former, he believed, including the most accomplished ringers in the North. The Association, he thought, had not throughout its existence received the support and encouragement it had a right to look for from the Clergy, the latter, he was afraid, had not yet fully realised that they were church workers. He advised that some means should be adopted in bringing their Association more prominently before the clergy of the two counties, and also that the Bishop of Newcastle should be asked to preach the sermon to them on the occasion of their annual meeting in Newcastle in October next. The toast was heartily carried.

The Ven. Archdeacon Long responded, and after acknowledging the friendliness he had to the Association, he related the circumstances in which he and the wardens of Bishop Wearmouth church were, on the occasion of the Queen's jubilee, placed through the action of the then paid ringers. From that state they were rescued by their present President. He advised them to endeavour to raise a band of voluntary ringers, and thanks to Mr. Hudson a band was raised, and they could now boast at least to be in a very satisfactory condition. In the course of further remarks the Ven. Archdeacon expressed his entire sympathy with the Association, the assistance rendered by them to Bishop Wearmouth church, and concluded by thanking them for their work, which he hoped, as it so well deserved, would receive encouragement from the clergy it merited.

The Chairman, in a few remarks, stated that the Honorary Secretary had drawn his attention to the financial position of the Association. He suggested as a remedy for this somewhat unsatisfactory state that the performing members might be asked to assist the funds by becoming honorary and performing members, the minimum subscription of the latter being five shillings annually.

A glee company comprising members of the Bishop Wearmouth church choir enlivened the meeting by singing several glees with handbell accompaniments.

On the proposition of Mr. F. Lees, Vice-President, a hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Ven. Archdeacon Long, and to Dr. Randell, of Sunderland parish church, for having allowed the members of the Association the use of the bells of their respective churches. A similar compliment to the friends from Bishop Wearmouth church, who had contributed the glees to the proceeding, was also accorded, and a vote of thanks to the Chairman terminated the meeting.

I am glad to hear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. # OPENING OF A NEW RING OF TEN BELLS AT NEWCASTLE CATHEDRAL.

During the last six months the Newcastle newspapers have been edifying their readers with bell literature of all sorts. The city council and the antiquarian society have discussed bells from all points of view, and the Cathedral authorities have held meetings unlimited on the subject. The cause of all this has been the scheme to place a new ring of ten bells, and new hour-bell, to replace the old eight and "the Major," in that fine old piece of architecture, the Cathedral tower.

Four of the old peal of more recent date were sent to the foundry of Messrs. Taylor at Loughborough, while the three pre-reformation bells have been kept, and are now hung above the new peal. The oldest post-reformation bell has been bought by a local antiquarian enthusiast, and is now hung in Langley Castle, Northumberland.

The new bells are fine specimens of the founders' art, the tone being beautifully clear and distinct, especially when the listener is some distance away. The tone also of "the Major," or hour-bell, is a great improvement on the old one (a local casting of Harrison's, Barton-on-Humber). The present bell weighs nearly 6 tons. The hanging of the peal also does credit to the Loughborough firm, all the bells "going like clockwork"; and "the Major," which is hung on stock and gudgeons, with a half-wheel, can be rung comfortably by three or four men. The city of Newcastle has reason now to be proud of her fine ring of bells, the tenor of which weighs 37 cwt. No expense has been spared to make the work complete, and everything inside the tower is now as it should be—quite consistent with outside appearances.

The work was consummated on Whit-Tuesday by a grand formal opening. The Cathedral square was thronged early in the afternoon with citizens waiting to catch the first tones of the new peal. The Mayor and Corporation walked from the town hall in procession, and were met at the Cathedral porch by the Bishop of the diocese, the Vicar of Newcastle, the Archbishop of York, a large number of the clergy of the diocese, and the churchwardens. The bells were then formally dedicated under the tower by the Bishop of Newcastle, and the bells were rung in rounds while the procession moved up the aisle to the chancel, and then evensong commenced. The service was fully choral, the anthem being "Rejoice in the Lord, O ye righteous." The hymn preceding the sermon was the appropriate one which commences—"Now at length our bells have mounted." The Lord Archbishop of York (Dr. Maclagan) preached a most instructive and eloquent sermon to an enormous congregation, from the text, 1 Cor. xiv. 10: "There are, it may be, many kinds of voices in the world, and none of them is without signification." His lordship said:—

It is in a remarkable context that we find these words. St. Paul had been writing to the Corinthians about spiritual gifts, their use and their abuse, and of the endless variety of their manifestations. He had been teaching them that no gift was without its special purpose, and that for that purpose it was to be employed, not for selfish gratification or for vain display, but to fulfil the end and object for which it had been bestowed by God. His words are little more than suggestive, and yet their reference, although limited in this case to a special application, is of a wide extent. They open up to us a great subject, one of surpassing interest and too little understood. And it is a subject which has its special fitness for this holy season, when we call to mind the descent of the Holy Ghost on the day of Pentecost to divide with God's people on earth, and, through them, to use the diversities of gifts which He is ready to bestow upon mankind. And so the Apostle proceeds to say, although the connection at first is not perfectly obvious, "there are, it may be, so many kind of voices in the world, and none of them is without significance." Perhaps we might more simply understand it—the words are obscure—"that none of them is without its purpose," and then the connection becomes more clear. "Your gifts," he says to the Corinthians, "are given to you for a special end." There is nothing aimless or purposeless in the creation of God. "There are, it may be, so many voices in the world, and none of them without its purpose." St. Paul, in this passage, first of all suggests the wide range and infinite diversity of the operation of the Holy Spirit. It seems to have been a subject of special attraction to St. Paul, and one to which he constantly turned his thoughts. We could wish that he had said more about it to us, but he has said enough to indicate the course in which his thought continually ran. In another passage of this same apostle, as you will all remember, he unfolds a little more clearly his estimate of the sphere and the functions of spiritual energy. He teaches us to see the Holy Spirit's power in gifts of the most diverse kind, and not, as we might think, always of what we call a spiritual character. Take two only as examples. He speaks of gifts of healing as coming from the Holy Spirit, and gifts of government alike. So, then, he would have us remember that these gifts, whether rightly used or wrongly abused, derive all their power for good from the operations of the Holy Spirit. He connects very closely our intellectual powers with spiritual energies. He recognises a spiritual origin for all our intellectual gifts, even where they do not maintain their spiritual character. Two truths St. Paul had ever in his mind as he wrote his Epistles. They underlie all his teaching. It would be well for us if they were more constantly in our own thoughts. First of all, the truth that man was made in the image of God—made, unlike the lower animals, with a capacity for spiritual things, and, therefore, constituted so as to be capable of transmitting as well of enjoying the spiritual energies of the Holy Ghost. And then again another thought—the thought of the abiding presence of the Holy Spirit with the Church on earth. To St. Paul the Holy Ghost was not a mere influence for good—a power for holiness which streamed forth from God in measure to individuals here and there, but a personal being who had come down from heaven to dwell upon earth—to dwell with us as truly as our blessed Lord dwelt with us during His earthly life—to dwell, not in one human body as the son of God did during His earthly ministry, but to dwell with the Church, which is Christ's body, and through its agencies and its ministrations to bestow His saving gifts upon mankind. St. Paul recognised that there was something akin to God in each one of us—in our whole moral and intellectual nature—and that through these the Holy Spirit exercised His beneficent influence, not only on ourselves, but on others around us. Gifts of healing and gifts of government—he taught us to associate both of these with the working of the Holy Spirit. He taught us—if I may put the matter plainly—He taught us, as we see our doctor's carriage, or as we read our daily newspapers, not to think that it was the profession or skill of the one who healed our disorders, or the statesmanlike capacity of the other which kept the nation at peace in itself and with the other nations of the world; but a real spiritual power bestowed by Himself in gifts of healing or gifts of government, however much they may be hindered or perverted through the selfishness or sinfulness of men. But in this passage before us he carries our thoughts one step further. He invites us to see, even in the material world, the operations of the Holy Spirit. It is to our incalculable loss that we so often fail to associate the phenomena of nature—its marvels and its mysteries—with the power of the Spirit of God. There is a great truth which is everywhere to be perceived in the kingdom of God that none of its dispensations, none of its operations, ever cease or pass away. One is followed by another, but the first still holds its course. This deeply interesting subject is beside our purpose to-day, but the mere mention of it may be helpful to us in considering St. Paul's teaching in the words before us. Take two examples only to illustrate the meaning of what I have said. The incarnation was no mere isolated event, in which, to use the words of one of our creeds, Christ took the manhood into God, but it was the characteristic and initial act of the dispensation in which God should ever be gathering His children one by one with Him, and He in them, and thus creating that union between the soul and God which is the only condition and basis of its true happiness either here or hereafter. The incarnation is not an event of 1800 years ago, it is a spiritual process going on from day to day and from year to year, or, again, it is a giving of the Holy Spirit at Pentecost. It was not a mere manifestation of God's power when that Holy Spirit came down with outward symbols of fire to light upon the heads of the Apostles and their disciples. It was the inauguration of a new era in the world, when men should be made capable of understanding that Holy Spirit in their hearts, when God in His infinite condescension should not only dwell with men but dwell in men, and thus work out the purposes of His love. And so, while the Holy Spirit carries on its blessed work for the sanctifying of God's people, the process of the Incarnation is still carried on. It has not ceased in the uniting of one and another of God's children into the source of life in Jesus Christ himself. And now let us look at the creation from the same point of view. Even the work of Christ, although in one sense completed, did not cease when God rested from all his work. Our blessed Lord has thrown a brilliant light upon these words by His own utterance when He declared "My Father is working hitherto, and I am working." God still is working even in the world of nature. The process of creation has not ceased, although the definite act of creation was complete in itself. It is one of the obligations under which we lie to the latest conclusions of science however much they may prove to be defective or erroneous, that they recall us to the idea of a power still working in nature, carrying on the work of creation, developing and perfecting from step to step the powers and capacities of the creature. When we regard these theories from a Christian standpoint, we perceive in them only the scientific presentation of scriptural teaching. To St. Paul a creative energy is still at work, though accomplishing its ends through the process of nature. In the springing up of the buried grain he sees the direct operation of the Divine power. "God," he says, "giveth it a body as it hath pleased Him, and to every seed his own body." The yearly harvest of the earth was the work of Him who is the universal giver of life. This was St. Paul's estimate of what he saw going on around him in the world of nature. And One greater than St. Paul has taught us to see in the summer beauty of the flowers of the field a clothing given from year to year by God, the maker of them all. "If God do clothe the lilies of the field." I have made this apparent digression in order to arrive at the great principle which was ever present to St. Paul's mind, and which he is really unfolding in the passage before us—I mean the indwelling and working of God as by a kind of sacramental presence in the world of nature. All its processess, all its phenomena, all its grandeur, all its beauty, were to him manifestations of the power and the working of the Holy Spirit. The Spirit of God, who in the beginning of creation brooded over the abyss, bringing forth life and order from the formless deep, is still overshadowing creation to which He first gave its life, reviving it year by year with a resurrection power, and calling forth its loveliness to gladden our eyes and delight our hearts as we see the living spring rising out of the winter's grave and growing into the perfect beauty of the summer day. How much men lose who cannot see and know these things; how hard and cold that beautiful world—God's great work of creation—must be to them who do not discern behind it the continuous workings of God's power, God's wisdom, and God's love. But in my text St. Paul suggests a similar view of the sounds of nature as well as its sights. It is in close connection with the operation of the Holy Spirit that he brings this thought before us. "There are, it may be," he says, "so many kinds of voices in the world, and none of them is without its purpose." As I have said before, the exact meaning of the words is obscure, and they are capable, no doubt, of somewhat different interpretations. But there can be no doubt as to their inner meaning, or the great principle which underlies them. These voices in the world, St. Paul would teach us, have a spiritual origin and a spiritual character. They are in the last analysis the voices of the Holy Spirit. The goodness of God has not only adorned the world with sights which charm the eye, but has enriched it with sounds which delight the ear. All these are the overflowing of His goodness, for we needed some of these things by which to live or to sustain our being. But He has given them to us as the offerings of a loving Father to his children, not only that we may prosper, but that we may be happy while we prosper; not only that we may press onward for our heavenward home, but be cheered and delighted as we go by the fair sights and the sweet sounds of the world in which He had placed us to live. So, then, St. Paul would teach us that the voices of nature are the voices of the Lord. The voice of the Lord is a glorious voice. The singing of joyous birds, the rippling of the graceful streams, the sighing of the summer wind, the moaning of the restless sea, all speak to him of God and from God, for they are his voices, and none of them is without its significance. And certainly, if in these, no less in the loveliest of all voices, the voice of God's noblest earthly creature, the human voice itself, with all its indescribable power and pathos, St. Paul would recognise as a divine gift and a divine power, bestowed for high ends and for holy purposes, however it may be perverted, however it may be misused, how unspeakably would our enjoyment of the natural world be elevated and intensified if we could learn to remember to look and to listen with the eye and with the ear of the apostle, to find God everywhere, to see Him in the loveliness of flowers, to hear Him in the tunefulness of birds, to discern in these diversities of manifestation the manifold gifts of the spirit of God. But St. Paul goes further than this, and in the same connection speaks even of things without life giving sound—the pipe, and the harp, and the trumpet. Even where the skill of man has framed the instrument, it is God who has endowed the material with its capacity for tuneful music. No human skill could have created the mysterious power of sound which lies latent in certain forms of matter and in their combinations. We can but call it forth where it is present; we cannot impart it where no capacity for it exists, and we may go still further, for may we not well believe that the same spirit of God who taught Belshazzar and Ataliah, as we read, gave them the power and the skill to adorn the Tabernacle for the service of God with all manner of costly and of beautiful adornment, that that same spirit of God is still the source from which all skill, all wisdom, comes to men to mould and fashion the unconscious matter into channels through which sounds of music may flow forth and delight the ears of men. It is but a step from these instruments of music to the tuneful bells which have sounded to day from this church, and sounds from the towers and the spires of our cathedrals and our village churches, whither in great cities or in secluded hamlets. How intimately are those voices associated with early memories of our lives, with long past sorrows so well remembered, with the manifold changes and chances of this mortal life? Who is there that is altogether unconscious of their power to touch and move the heart of man? They speak to-day amid the strain and the pressure and the hurry of these days of toil, or in the silent watches of a sleepless night. Is it not well for us to learn from the suggestive words of St. Paul to recognise even in them some of the many voices of the world through which the Holy Spirit speaks—speaks to those who have ears to ear—voices which are none of them without its significance? What shall be the significance of the voices which have sounded for the first time from your lantern tower to-day? I might speak to you of the varied messages of joy and of sorrow of which they will be the channels on many occasions, both in your public and in your private life. I might look onward to the possibility that in another generation they may again ring forth peals of thankfulness on the jubilee of a Sovereign or ring their muffled peals on the death of a young prince. On days of public rejoicing in your own city, or of public sorrow for the removal of one and another of your great citizens, or, in a narrower circle, as they remind us of the union of loving hearts in holy bonds, or the breaking up of family ties by the departure of one and another through the grave and the gate of death—of all these things they will speak to us, these many voices, which are none of them without its significance. Above all, how blessed for us if we can learn to hear in the bell which calls us to the house of prayer the echo of our Lord's own comforting words—"Come unto Me, and I will give you rest." And hour by hour the rapid flight of time will be marked by the deep tones of your Major bell—a title full of suggestiveness, by calling us to greater efforts and to higher aims, not to sad lamentations over an irrecoverable past. But there is one significance which specially suggests itself to us to-day. The bells we have now dedicated to the service of God are the bells of this great city, the bells of its mother church, in which not only every churchman, but every citizen will have an honest and a justifiable pride. Whatever may be your position, whatever your duties and occupations, whatever your political opinions, whatever your religious convictions, you will speak of them as "our bells." You will claim your part and your right in them, and find in that unity of interest and property a tie to bind you more closely together as fellow-citizens and fellow-Christians. If such be the spirit in which you hear these bells, using them on all occasions of public interest, of public thankfulness, of public sorrow—and never, I trust, using them to celebrate any political triumph—but using them in the sight of God and for the high and hopeful purposes for which God designs them, then, as year by year the Christmas chimes are sounded in your ears, they will ring out clear to you that message of the first Christmas Day—"Peace and goodwill to all men."

As the procession moved out of the Cathedral at the close of the service, the bells were set going in rounds and call-changes, and this was kept up till later in the evening. The only approach to scientific ringing was a course of Grandsire Triples on the back eight.

Our correspondent writes: "If the Cathedral authorities had seen fit, their bells would have been opened by a thoroughly competent band of change-ringers, and Caters and Royal ringing would have been the order of the day. However, they chose to ignore the proffered assistance of an association which exists in their midst, and which as churchworkers they ought in duty to support, the result being as stated, "rounds and call-changes;" and even those were rung in an inferior manner, on a grand peal of ten, with a tenor of 37 cwt. Anent this opening the subjoined letter appeared in the Newcastle Daily Journal for June 9th:—

To the Editor of the "Newcastle Daily Journal."

SIR,—I was very much surprised, not to say disappointed, at the manner in which the Cathedral bells were opened yesterday. I am not a bellringer, but I am acquainted with the mysteries of the art of campanology, hence my surprise at not hearing a proper peal of changes rung on the day of dedication. The grand organ was opened in a fit and proper manner by some of the leading organists of the day, and doubtless great surprise would have been expressed had it been opened by some person playing a series of scales or five-finger exercises. Such, however, is a fit comparison to the bells being opened by call changes or Churchyard Bob, instead of a proper peal in some of the scientific methods. I am informed there was actually a band of ringers standing outside the Cathedral listening to the badly struck "merry peals," who could have rung a proper peal, and who did so in the evening at St. George's Church, Jesmond. I certainly think, therefore, that some explanation is due from the Cathedral authorities as to why the bells were not opened in a proper manner, when there exists in our midst an association which has for its object the cultivation of the art of change-ringing, and which was prepared to supply a band, comprising some of the leading change-ringers in the country, who would have been only too pleased to open the bells by a properly rung peal had they been asked to do so. G. T. MILLER.

Gateshead, June 8th, 1892.

This letter adequately defines the indignation which is expressed on all sides by the people of Newcastle, especially those who understand the beauties of our art, at so pitiful an opening of such a fine peal.

Another correspondent asks us to add the following remarks by a writer in the Newcastle Journal :—

As one of the invited guests who attended the general meeting of the Diocesan Bellringers' Association, held at Sunderland, on Whit-Monday, I was somewhat surprised to see the considerable interest taken in the Association by bellringers in different towns in the district. I was very much more surprised to find from the speech of the chairman at the dinner that the Association, which is the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association of Ringers, had been quite ignored with regard to the dedication services of the new bells of the Cathedral. It would have been a matter of simple courtesy to have invited representatives of the Association, which exists particularly for the advancement of scientific bellringing in the district, to have been present at any rate, if not to take some part in the proceedings. Regret was expressed that the dedication ceremony was to be accompanied by the old fashioned system of "call" change-ringing. This is a matter which concerns the bellringers themselves principally; at the same time, it is one which might well engage the attention of the authorities.

The President, Mr. Story, also expressed himself as a little disappointed with the lack of sympathy and interest shown by the clergy towards the Association, which, he maintained, consisted of men who could lay claim to the title of Churchworkers. The Archdeacon of Auckland spoke in reply to the speech of the President, and fully acknowledged their claim to be considered Churchworkers. He said he was sure that the objects of the society only required to be better known to secure the hearty sympathy and co-operation of the clergy; but that it would be most appropriate for the interests of the Association to be brought before the clergy in the regular archidiaconal address which the Archdeacons of the two dioceses deliver annually. He also acknowledged the valuable assistance which had been given to Bishopwearmouth Church by the Association, and Mr. Story in particular, in a time of difficulty some few years ago. The church at Bishopwearmouth has now a splendid band of voluntary ringers under Mr. Thomas Hudson, who owe much to the instruction originally given them by Mr. Story. This the Archdeacon acknowledged thoroughly. From what I could gather at the meeting on Monday, the members of the Association seem desirous to be helpful in their particular way to the furtherance of Church work, and undoubtedly are worthy of encouragement.

RAUNDS, WELLINGBOROUGH, AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting of this Association took place at Rushden on Whit-Monday, June 6th. The various companies of ringers arrived early, and in the forenoon the following bands had each of them an half-hour's ringing: Rushden, Higham Ferrers, Wellingborough, Raunds, Kettering, and Earls Barton. The Warkworth band (which has just joined the Association) rang last and chimed for service, which took place at 1.0., and at which the Rev. Hugh Bryan (late Vicar of Raunds) preached a most appropriate and able sermon from 1 Cor. x. 31. The Ven. Archdeacon was also present. At the conclusion of the service the organist played a theme by S. Wesley, entitled "Holdworthy Church Bells." After service, about sixty ringers and friends sat down to an excellent repast at the coffee tavern, at the conclusion of which the ven. Archdeacon, who presided, said he hoped they might meet under similarly happy circumstances next year. Proceeding, he said he had a duty to perform, to one who had been the founder of that Association, and who had thrown all his heart into its working. By the founding of that Association, Mr. Bryan had done a great deal for bellringers, and for the clergy too. As every clergyman ought to have some knowledge of music, so he should also have some acquaintance with bellringing. From its establishment in 1883 to the present time, their organisation had done a deal of good, and he was sure the annual and quarterly meetings were fraught with benefit. He sincerely hoped they would have men in the future who would take as great an interest in the society as those of the past. To show their goodwill and appreciation of the services of Mr. Bryan as their secretary, he had much pleasure in handing to him, on behalf of the ringing members of the Association, a handsome inkstand and stationery case combined, and "The Bells of Northamptonshire," by North.

The Rev. Hugh Bryan, on receiving the presents, said he was much taken aback, and should value them all his life as reminders of his connection with that Association. He had done his best, and the meetings at first, though small, were successful. They had gone on growing, and he was pleased to see that this year another company had joined them. He believed the tendency of the Association was for good, and his own experience too was that good had been done. As to the duties of Secretary he felt he would be too far away to be of any use, but he should be pleased to be an hon. member still. He thanked the Archdeacon and all present for speaking of him so kindly, and showing their appreciation of his work by those presents, which, he again assured them, he should value to the end of his life.

Business was then proceeded with, the financial statement being read by the Rev. J. Dun, which showed a balance in hand of about ten guineas. The Rev. A. E. Oldroyd (Raunds), Mr. John Henson (Kettering), Rev. C. Bridges (Rector of Warkton), Rev. W. H. Boyne-Bunting (curate of Rushden), and Mr. Chas. Watkin (Wellingborough), were elected as honorary members; while the following were elected as ringing members: A. Henson and H. Rice (Wellingborough), W. Wood (Rushden), H. Sharman (Raunds), J. Julian, W. Hensher, C. Chasty (Kettering), L. Goodman, C. Mutton, W. Islitt, C. Taylor, and C. Law (Warkton). The present number of hon. members is eighteen, and of ringing members sixty-four.

It was decided, on the proposition of Mr. J. Martin (Higham), seconded by Mr. Craddock (Wellingborough), to give £1 towards the bells at Irthlingborough, the Archdeacon remarking that the tower was being got on with, and he hoped the good folk at Irthlingborough would soon have the pleasure of hearing the bells, and also that the Association would soon be admitting a whole company from that place, as they had from Warkton.

On the appointment of Secretary, the Archdeacon hoped they would find one who took as much interest in the Association as Mr. Bryan. The Rev. C. J. Gordon was suggested as Mr. Bryan's successor, but that gentleman, while expressing his appreciation of the support the suggestion received, felt that owing to the great amount of work already needed in his parish, he could not undertake the office. He proposed Mr. Dennes for the post. This was seconded by the Rev. Hugh Bryan, and carried amid applause.

The only other business was a vote of thanks to Mr. Gordon, and the churchwardens of Rushden, for the use of the church and bells, which, on the motion of the Archdeacon, was heartily accorded, the newly-appointed Secretary adding that he hoped next time they came they would have eight bells instead of six.

The company then separated for a time, afterwards visiting The Hall grounds, and the Rectory, where tea was provided for them, the invitations to these pleasant spots being communicated by the Rector at the dinner-table, when they were received with loud applause. After tea, at the Rectory, the whole of the company (including the Archdeacon, the Vicar of Higham Ferrers, and the Rector and Curate of Rushden), were photographed in a group on the lawn. Ringing was again indulged in later in the evening.

Rushden bells are a ring of six, cast by Taylor, of St. Neots (the first five in the year 1794, the tenor in 1818). The tenor is stated in Taylor's catalogue to weigh 18 cwt., the diameter is 40 ins. Messrs. Taylor have been consulted regarding two new trebles, to increase the peal to eight; it is to be hoped the idea may soon be carried out.

THE YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

The members of this Association, to the number of some 150, found themselves on Saturday, June 4th, strolling round one of the most interesting and picturesquely-situated towns in their beautiful county. Standing on the site of the old castle surveying the mural remains of the ancient stronghold wherein the murderers of Thomas à Beckett are said to have found shelter, looking over deep precipices, down on the winding river whose banks were clothed in all their summer beauty, and listening to the bells pealing forth from the old church tower, was indeed a treat, and one calculated to make a thoughtful man thankful that his lot had fallen in the "piping times of peace." Everything in and about Knaresborough is of interest; the grand old church, itself full of history, sheltering the remains of the famous Royalist, Sir Henry Slingsby, beheaded in 1658, makes one feel that it was indeed a stirring place in former times. Nor was it for friendly 5000's that men "ascended the tower" in those days, as rumour has it that the Scots during a foray in Yorkshire in 1318, after destroying Northallerton and Boroughbridge, piled timber round the steeple and so made a huge fire for the purpose of destroying those defending it, the marks of the fire remaining, it is said, to this day. Turning one's thoughts to modern times, the scene of the tragedy which Hood has so powerfully in his "Dream of Eugene Aram," made one's flesh creep a wee bit, in spite of the friendly faces met on all sides. But it will not do to dwell further on the wonders of the place, its famous dropping well, its former hermit, St. Robert, nor its Yorkshire prophetess, Mother Shipton, as we have other changes to ring. Neither do we intend to describe all the towers which sent representatives, to do so would be to make a list of Yorkshire churches, which are best found in the Association's report. The vicar, the Rev. W. E. Hancock, who had given every assistance to the local branch in preparing for the visitors, had given up the Mission Room for the day's headquarters, and here all committee work, etc., was transacted. The ring of eight bells, by the way, has a tenor of 19½ cwt., and it made one wonder whether lighter tenors are not mistakes, we were going to say huge mistakes (lovers of waistcoat pocket tenors of about 10 or 12 cwt. please note). An excellent tea, to which ample justice was done, was provided at the schools, after which the business meeting followed, with Mr. Wm. Snowden, the President, in the chair. Certain routine work over, three invitations were placed before the meeting—a fourth, which had been planned, not being officially announced, when it was learnt how strong the competition for the next meeting was. Guiseley, Sheffield, and Low Moor were the three inviting towns, the vote and choice falling to Guiseley, who had, it was strongly pointed out by that branch in setting forth their claims, twice before tried for the honour. Considerable sympathy was felt for the Sheffield branch, who were anxious to secure the meeting, seeing that they had on previous occasions given way to other towns. The Low Moor invitation was also sent with a reminder that it was sixteen years since the Association had visited their town. After Mr. James Baldwin and Mr. Joseph Yeadon, of Guiseley, had been chosen auditors and returning officers for the Annual Meeting, votes of thanks were passed to the Dean of York for coming to Knaresborough, to the vicar for the use of the bells and schools, and also to the Rev. G. O. Brownrigg, of St. Mary's, Harrogate, and their respective wardens.

The vicar, in returning thanks, gave a hearty welcome to the Association, trusting that on some future occasion they might have the pleasure of another visit.

A warm vote of thanks was then passed to the Knaresborough branch, to which Mr. James Hoy suitably replied. After Mr. Rhodes Busfield, churchwarden of Guiseley, had been elected an hon. member, the President, supported by one of the vice-presidents, gave notice of an addition to the rules which had met with approval at the previous committee meeting, relative to the payment of railway fares of certain heavily worked officials attending meetings. The proceedings closed by service in the parish church, when a very interesting sermon was preached by the Very Rev. the Dean of York, Dr. A. P. Purey-Cust, an honorary member of the Association, taking as his text St. Matthew xxii v. 21: "Render therefore unto Cæsar the things that are Cæsar's, and unto God the things that are God's." The Dean pointed out clearly and forcibly that for change-ringers there was much to be learnt and borne in mind in the two-fold duty here set forth. Commencing with the introduction of single bells into Christian worship, and passing step by step to the present time, the preacher showed how God's beautiful laws of sound had been gradually subjugated to the proportioning of special alloys by the bell founders, until peals of twelve bells in perfect tune were heard pouring forth their melody in calling to worship. Pausing for a moment to consider the various effects of bell music, nothing, he said, so much touched his heart as hearing muffled bells pealing over a good man's grave. To England—and to England alone—belonged the science of change-ringing, and surely this peculiar art should teach its votaries that the present is but a fleeting scene in the endless goodness of the Creator. But they must ever bear in mind that the mathematical science brought to bear upon their intellectual and engrossing pastime was at its best nothing more than rendering to Cæsar that which might be expected from men wishful to do their worldly duty. They must, above all things, combine their work with good churchmanship, and so, hand in hand, also render to God the things that are God's.

UNVEILING OF A PEAL TABLET AT BUCKNALL, STAFFORDSHIRE.

On Sunday, June 12th, sermons were preached in St. Mary's church, Bucknall, on behalf of the day schools, that in the evening being preached by the Bishop of Shrewsbury. Advantage was taken of the visit of his lordship, by the local ringers, to request him to unveil a peal tablet, which has by the aid of public subscription been placed in the belfry, and he kindly consented to perform the ceremony. After the service his lordship, accompanied by the Rev. G. Birch (Rector), the Rev. R. Tonge, and a good number of parishioners, proceeded to the belfry, which is on the ground-floor. Before proceeding, the Bishop said it gave him very great pleasure to be there that evening for the purpose of unveiling a tablet which had been erected to commemorate a peal on their bells. Change-ringing, said his lordship, although not the most important, was one of the objects of the Stoke Archidiaconal Association of Change-Ringers, of which Association the ringers of Bucknall were, and he hoped would continue to be, members. After speaking of the duties of the ringers as churchworkers, his lordship said he had now very great pleasure in removing the covering from the tablet. Having done this, he congratulated the ringers of Bucknall on the success which had attended their efforts in change-ringing, and upon having such a handsome record placed in their belfry.

Mr. W. Twigg (the leader) expressed the thanks of the ringers to his lordship for so kindly acceding to their request, and for the very kind words which he had said to them.

The tablet, which is about four feet in height and three in width, is made of oak, with gilt letters on a black ground, and contains a record of a 5040 in seven different Minor methods, being the first performance of the kind on the bells.

STOKE ARCHIDIACONAL ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of this Association was held at Kildsgrove on Saturday, June 4, but owing to other attractions was very poorly attended, Bucknall, Leek, and Kildsgrove being the only towers represented. Touches of Kent Treble Bob, Grandsire, and Bob Minor, were rung.

A meeting was also held at Eccleshall, on Whit-Monday, June 6th, the following towers being represented: Stoke, Bucknall, Longton, Hanley, and Tunstall. The ringers were welcomed by the Rev. — Dunn, the curate. A funeral taking place about half-an-hour after the arrival of the ringers, the interval was employed in viewing the church and churchyard. The funeral ceremony being over, the bells were raised, and touches of Bob and Grandsire Doubles were rung. An attempt was then made to ring a 720 of Bob Minor, but it did not meet with success. Tea, which had been kindly provided by the Rector, the Rev. Prebendary Allen, was then partaken of at the Church Lodge. This being over, the ringers again made their way to the tower, and rang a 720 of Bob Minor in 28 mins., the report of which will be found in its proper place. A vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector for his kindness and hospitality, and for granting permission to ring.

THE ASHTON-UNDER-LYNE SOCIETY.

ON Saturday, June 12th, a party of the above society visited Warwick, Leamington, Kenilworth, and the neighbouring portions of this historic part of England. Leaving Ashton in the early morning, Leamington was reached shortly 9 a.m. Several of the party went to test the waters for which this beautiful town is noted, but they do not wish to repeat the experiment. After refreshing the inner man, and a walk round the town, a tramcar was boarded, and they were shortly landed at Warwick. Tracks were at once made for St. Mary's church, the massive tower of which had been in view for some time. This beautiful and ancient church which has recently been restored at a cost of £30,000, contains some old historical tombs, including those of the Earls of Warwick, and also that of the Earl of Leicester, the favourite of good Queen Bess. The tower contains a good ring of ten bells, and the visitors are greatly indebted to Mr. Hardy, the courteous steeple-keeper, for his kindness in obtaining permission for them to have a ring. A visit was made to Kenilworth Castle in the afternoon, and a view of Guy's Cliff and the old mill en route. A drive back to Warwick was followed by tea, after which the church was again visited, and a view of the castle was obtained from the top of the tower, which was all they saw of it, as it was closed to the public in consequence of the Royal Agricultural Show being held there that week, and preparations were being made to entertain illustrious guests. A move was then made to the ringing-room, and the bells being raised, three leads of Treble Bob Royal and a touch of Grand-sire Caters were rung, conducted by S. Wood, and they were both taken part in by — Hardy (Warwick), Messrs. Wood, Wilde, Longden, Mellor, Andrew, Booth, Taylor, Smith, Broadbent, and Hopwood, also taking part in the day's proceedings. All arrived home early in the morning, having thoroughly enjoyed themselves, and hoping to revisit this ancient town and explore its castle.

BOLSTERSTONE, SHEFFIELD.

On Saturday, May 28th, the village of Bolsterstone, near Sheffield, was aroused into activity, the occasion being the reception of a peal of bells, to be erected in the parish church tower, in memory of the late Rev. John Bell, M.A., for many years incumbent of Bolsterstone. The sum of nearly £600 was raised by subscription from the parishioners, irrespective of creed or sect, in aid of the project. The bells, eight in number, are from the foundry of the well-known firm, Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough; tenor 13 cwt. On the bells is an inscription in Latin verse, in hexameter and pentameter lines alternatively, one on each bell. The demonstration took the form of a procession through the various parts of the parish. The bells were met at the railway station by the Vicar and churchwardens, and a procession formed, which marched through Deepcar and Stocksbridge (parts of the parish) to the church at Bolsterstone in the following order: Stocksbridge brass band, church boys' brigade, Vicar, Curates, and churchwardens, committee, bells and belongings on drays, Stocksbridge fire brigade, followed by inhabitants of the district. The horses were gaily decked for the occasion, and the band played selections on the route. On reaching Bolsterstone the procession formed into a circle, with the clergy and churchwardens in the centre, and the grand old psalm—"All people that on earth do dwell"—was sung to its equally grand old tune, accompanied by the band. The Vicar, the Rev. R. W. Wilson, then delivered an address. Prayer, asking the acceptance by God of the bells, was also offered, and the Doxology sung. The work of unloading the bells was then successfully accomplished by many willing helpers. Tea was afterwards provided in the schoolroom.

STRANGE APPLICATION.—At the Launceston Petty Sessions, on Monday, June 6th, William Burford, landlord of the "Northumberland Arms," made an application, says the Devon Gazette, for extension of time for two hours on the occasion of the opening of St. Stephen's church bells on Thursday, June 9th. This was granted.

THE STAFFORD EPISODE.

SIR.—In your last week's issue there appeared a letter from Mr. W. C. Hall, one of the late "disobedient bellringers," as he styles himself, whom I had the pleasure of meeting at Lichfield, on Saturday last, at the annual meeting of the Archdeaconry of Stafford Association. We had a talk together, and when matters were explained to him, he admitted that a different complexion was put on the case altogether, and I think if we had met a week or so earlier that he would not have written; but still, in justice to every one, I think it is only right that I should clear myself from the imputation cast upon me. Mr. Hall charges me with trespassing on the grounds of another "diocese" (whatever that may mean). Well, Sir, the facts are these. One of the churchwardens of Stafford wrote me asking if I would undertake to instruct a band of ringers. I replied, and told him that I did not belong to the Archdeaconry of Stafford, but that if he wrote to the secretary (Mr. Reeves, of West Bromwich), he would get every information, and no doubt an instructor would be provided. I had a letter a few days afterwards from the churchwarden saying that the secretary (Mr. Reeves) wished me to act as instructor, and would I do so. I then wrote to Mr. Reeves himself, asking him if he knew anything of the bother at Stafford, and if there was any likelihood of a reconciliation between the rector and ringers, because, if so, I should not think of going to instruct a fresh band. Mr. Reeves replied advising me to undertake the task, so, under those circumstances, I think I was quite justified in doing so. As regards the slight friction at Stone that Mr. Hall speaks about, three of the Stoke ringers went, a short time ago, to assist in ringing at a wedding, but they were not aware at the time that any unpleasantness previously had arisen amongst the Stone ringers, if they had they would not have gone. Now, Sir, as regards the lamentable affair at Stafford there is no one regrets it more than myself, and, as I have told several ringers (and Mr. Hall himself, last Saturday), that if any slight influence I might have with the rector will bring about a reconciliation I shall certainly use it, for I think if the rector and ringers were to meet together and talk affairs over there would not be much difficulty in arranging matters. Should I, by any means, be able to bring the above about it will give me great satisfaction.

THE LONG PEAL AT DEBENHAM.

SIR.—In your issue of June the 18th "Fairplayer" thinks that notice should have been given of the intention of the company to attempt the long peal, and that their having failed to do so detracts from the merit of their achievement. Now, Sir, as this looks like a veiled insinuation that everything was not perfectly straightforward and aboveboard in the transaction, will you allow me to state that uncertainty up to the last moment as to the composition of the team is the only explanation of notice not having been given. Had the conductor been certain of his men due notice could have been given. That the peal was rung in its integrity, without failure, and without error, there can be no doubt. I and my brother ringers are prepared to verify this fact. That the ringing was good throughout, the striking clear and well sustained—in fact, faultless—was the common remark of all who were fortunate enough to hear this splendid peal. If "Fairplayer," instead of raising his voice in disparagement of this manful achievement, were to join in acclaiming it, he would, I think, find himself amongst the majority, and not, as I take it, in a minority of one.

WILLIAM GRIMES,
Secretary of the Debenham Society.

SIR.—In reply to the anonymous correspondent who signs himself "Fairplayer" in our journal of June 18th, I am desired to say that, after the explanation given in reference to the long peal, we think his remarks uncalled for, and that, as he has not got courage enough to sign his name, his remarks will be treated with contempt by the Debenham long peal band.

The Bell News &amp; Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, JUNE 25, 1892.

THE Cathedral of Newcastle has just been enriched by a grand ring of ten bells, and an hour-bell of goodly proportions, all properly hung with the latest improvements modern ingenuity can suggest, the founders of the whole being men of integrity and skill, whose work can be safely depended on. The proceedings in connection with the opening ceremony would appear to have been formulated on a most elaborate scale, such in fact as the important occasion amply called for. The good offices of the Bishop of the diocese were secured to dedicate such a grand peal to the services of the Church, and the presence of the Lord Archbishop of the Province was also invoked to preach to the multitude who were in attendance. En passant, we give by special request the sermon of the northern Primate in full. The Mayor and Corporation attended the Cathedral in state; the presence of a large number of the clergy of the diocese affirmed the wisdom of the ordinance of dedication; while the good folk of Newcastle attended in thousands, and waited in anxious expectancy to hear the bells utter forth their mighty sound. The day was evidently a day of rejoicing among the good folk of the northern city, and the event was worthy of it. We heartily congratulate the citizens of Newcastle, Churchmen and non-Churchmen alike, upon the latest acquisition to their Cathedral Church.

Having said so much, the reader will naturally be inclined to imagine that a new epoch, so far as change-ringing is concerned, was about to be inaugurated at St. Nicholas' Cathedral. But the facts are grievously disappointing. We naturally, after all this description of ceremony, expect to hear what was done upon these bells by gentlemen—Churchmen—learned in the lore and management of bells, on the day in question. Did the Cathedral authorities hasten to procure the co-operation and advice of the Master of the Diocesan Guild of scientific ringers as to the proper order in which the bells ought to be rung for the first time? Did they show any anxiety to retain ringers of well-known skill and talent, in order that such an important proceeding as the opening of their new peal of ten bells should be carried out with déclat, to the admiration not only of connoisseurs in bell matters, but of the Newcastle public generally? We sorrowfully regret to say they did not. But what did they do? They actually refused the proffered services of those who were able to "open" the bells as educated Churchmen and clever ringers could do, and entrusted the handling of their bells to those whose knowledge of ringing reaches its summit in displays of "Churchyard Bob" and merry-go-rounds.

We hope soon to hear that this arrangement for such an opening was a mistake, and that whoever is responsible for the absence of practical ringers at such a ceremony acted in pure ignorance. Should this be so, the epoch of "call-changes" in Newcastle Cathedral, which has just dawned, will very likely be nipped in the bud. The Cathedral authorities cannot in reason let their new bells remain in the control of unscientific hands. The Diocesan Guild is the body to whom they should be entrusted, and no other. The members thereof will guard them with fond but jealous care, and with them, and them only, can the clergy rest without solicitude for their entire preservation.

Her Majesty's Surgeon-Dentist's Testimonial.

"My Dear Doctor,—Allow me to express my sincere thanks for the skill and attention displayed in the construction of my Artificial Teeth, which render my mastication and articulation excellent. I am glad to hear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. In recognition of your valuable services, you are at liberty to use my name.—S. G. HUTCHINGS, by Appointment Surgeon-Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen."
Geo. H. Jones, Esq., F.R.S.L., F.R.M.S.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has by his Perfected System of Dentistry demonstrated that Painless Dentistry is as much an accomplished fact as the swift locomotive, the electric light, or the telephone, and absolutely restores the natural contour caused by the loss of teeth, by the adjustment of Prize Medal dentals, rendering detection impossible, which obtained the Gold Medals of London, 1851; New York, 1853; London, 1862; Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; and Philadelphia, 1876.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has been awarded for his Improvements and Patents in Dentistry gold medals, London and Paris; gold medal, New Zealand Exhibition, 1882; gold medal Calcutta, 1883; and the highest diploma of merit and award at Nice and Amsterdam, 1883-4. Awarded the gold medal of the Académie Nationale, Paris, 1884; and the highest award Antwerp; also the gold medal, International Exhibition, London, 1885; gold medal, Liverpool, 1886; gold medal, Melbourne, 1888-9.

Established 1851.

THE DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE ASSOCIATION.

On Monday, June 6th, this Association held a meeting in Sunderland, the first during the past six or seven years. Most of the members arrived in the forenoon, and rang at Sunderland and Bishopwearmouth parish churches. At one o'clock the members and friends, numbering over eighty, assembled in the Grand Hotel, Bridge Street, where they partook of a substantial repast. The chair was occupied by Mr. R. S. Story, president of the Association, and the vice-chairs by Mr. F. Lees and Mr. T. Clark, vice-presidents.

At the conclusion of the dinner the toast of "Church and Queen" was submitted from the chair, and duly honored.

The President then gave the toast of "The Bishop and Clergy of the Diocese." He said he regretted he could not at that meeting congratulate the Association, as he had the pleasure at the last meeting, on having advanced in its status. A new peal of bells was to be opened at Newcastle Cathedral, and he was sorry to say that the Association had been ignored in the matter. It was the custom in such events to invite the ringers of the district. He thought, or at least he hoped, they had been passed over in the matter because of the ignorance of the clergy concerned of the fact that their Association was one of church-workers. It comprised both paid and volunteer ringers, the latter, he believed, including the most accomplished of the ringers in the North. The Association throughout its existence had not received the support and encouragement they had a right to look for from the clergy. The latter, he was afraid, had not yet fully realised that they were church workers. Their work was a continuous one; summer, winter, and holidays, it never ceased. He advised that they should bring their Association more prominently before the clergy of the two counties, and also that the Bishop of Newcastle should preach a sermon to them on the occasion of their meeting in Newcastle in October next. He thought such efforts would lead to the advancement of the Association. The toast having been duly honoured, it was responded to by

The Ven. Archdeacon Long, who related the circumstances in which he and the churchwardens of Bishopwearmouth were, on the occasion of the Queen's jubilee, placed through the stubborn conduct of the then paid bellringers. From that state they were rescued by their president. He advised them to endeavour to raise a party of volunteer ringers, and thanks to Mr. Hudson, a corps was raised, and they were now in the very satisfactory position so well known. In the course of further remarks the Archdeacon expressed his entire sympathy with the Association of ringers, and thanked them personally for their work, which he hoped, as it so well deserved, would receive the encouragement from the clergy it merited.

The Chairman, in a few remarks, referred to the financial position of the Association. They commenced last year with a balance in hand of £10; this year they had only a few shillings to their credit. He suggested as a remedy for this somewhat unsatisfactory state of affairs that their performing members might be asked to assist the Association more than they did at present.

On the proposition of Mr. Lees, a hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Rev. Dr. Randell, of Sunderland church, and to the Ven. Archdeacon Long, for having allowed the members of the Association to ring upon the bells of their respective churches. A similar compliment to the friends from Bishopwearmouth church, who had contributed glees, handbell ringing, etc., was also accorded, and the proceedings terminated.

THE DEVONSHIRE GUILD.

The Annual Meeting of this Guild was held at St. Mary Church on Whit-Monday. There was a very fair muster of members, although many were prevented from being present because on Whit-Monday many of the benefit clubs hold their annual meetings. Arrangements had been made for ringing at various steeples in the neighborhood, and so the bands did not come together until 3.30 p.m., when the annual meeting was held, presided over by J. Symons, Esq., M.R.C.S., of Penzance. The officers were re-elected, and the report of the committee was accepted.

The report stated that during the year one fresh band had joined, and also many individual members. The two new bells added to St. Sidwell's, Exeter, were opened on June 27th, 1891, and on October 10th, the first peal of Caters was successfully accomplished by members of the Guild; the first peal of Caters ever rung in Devon. The report regretted to have to note that more than one prize-ringing contest had been held in Devon and Cornwall during the year. The Guild has always entered its protest against this desecration of church bells, and it is hoped, as its influence is more widely felt, that prize-ringing may become extinct. The report concludes with thanking one of the Vice-Presidents of the Guild, the Ven. Albert Seymour, Archdeacon of Barnstaple, for the words he spoke in his last charge on the subject of prize-ringing, and the testimony which he bore to the good work done by the Guild.

The members then adjourned to an high tea, to which fifty-nine sat down. This being over, the whole party attended a special service in the church, conducted by the Vicar (Rev. A. B. Wrey), who gave a most suitable address, in which he urged upon ringers the importance of being earnest in the work which they had undertaken for God, so that they might become really proficient in the art, and thus offer to God the best ringing. They also should be self-sacrificing, and considerate for others, willing to give up their own private fancies or wishes so as to promote harmony and goodwill; and thirdly, they should be good Churchmen, as shewn in their regularity of attendance at church, and especially at the highest service of the church, viz.: that of the Holy Communion. A good ringer who would bring credit upon himself and the Guild, must be earnest in his ringing, self-sacrificing in his conduct, and above all, a regular communicant.

A very hearty vote of thanks was given to the Vicar of St. Mary Church for the kind and hearty reception he had given to the Guild; and also to the incumbents of the various parishes who had placed their belfries at the disposal of the Guild.

THE HEREFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

A meeting was held in the belfry, Welshpool, on Tuesday, May 24th, to consider the desirability of forming a branch in connection with the above Guild. There were present the Rev. D. G. G. Davis, Vicar; Rev. J. H. Hawkins, Rev. L. Jones, Rev. T. Hughes; and Messrs. T. J. Bratton, F. P. Hughes, T. W. Jones, C. Challinor, W. Maddox, T. Barnes, D. Williams, Welshpool; T. S. Davies and W. H. Jones, Montgomery; J. Williams and T. Williams, Chirbury; R. Griffiths and W. Jones, Leighton. Berriew had consented to join, but were not represented. The following resolutions were then proposed and carried unanimously:—

- (1) It is desirable to form a branch of the Guild with Welshpool as its centre.
- (2) That it be called the Welshpool and District branch.
- (3) That the Hereford Guild Rules v., vi., vii., be accepted as the laws of this branch, and that subscribers of 2s. 6d. be honorary members of the respective towers.
- (4) That the Committee consist of the clergy and two representatives from each tower in the District.
- (5) That the Rev. T. Hughes be appointed Secretary, and Mr. T. J. Bratten, instructor.

The Vicar, in closing the meeting, said that he was very pleased to see the great improvement that had taken place in the ringing, and reminded the ringers that the object of the Guild was the furtherance of change-ringing, and to secure greater reverence for God's house and worship.

The first quarterly meeting will be held on Saturday, August 27th, at Montgomery. It is expected that several other towers will join the branch.

NEW MUSIC.—Mr. W. GORDON, change-ringer, of Stockport, whose advertisement will be found upon the opposite page, announces the publication of several new pieces of handbell music. The long period of years which Mr. Gordon has given his attention to such matters renders him an adept.—Mr. J. H. WILKINS, of Walthamstow, a beginner in the same line of business, is, we hear, giving satisfaction to those whom he has supplied with music.

MEETING OF RINGERS AT LINCOLN.

On Saturday, June 18th, an amalgamated meeting of the members of the North, South, and East Lincolnshire Associations was held at Lincoln, the proceedings being of a highly successful character throughout. At the conclusion of the afternoon service at the Cathedral, the Bishop of Lincoln was announced to give an address to the ringers in the retro-choir. There was, however, such a large congregation, that the service was held in the nave, it being computed that nearly 400 ringers and friends were present.

His Lordship founded his discourse upon Rev. iv. 1—"Come up hither," remarking: We are met here together this evening, dear friends, in order, in part, that we may offer as it were our thanks to those who give their time, strength, thought, and character to the work of ringing our church bells. In part to give them our thanks, to show them our sympathy, and in part that we may say a word, please God, to encourage them to remember the high calling to which he has called them in giving them this work to do. It is a high calling in the simplest meaning of the term. Where are the bells that ring out to us? Not down here as the people who sing in our choirs. No, lifted up in our church towers above the earth, betwixt earth and heaven on their way to Paradise—they are, as it were, echoes coming back to us of songs of which angels and martyrs sing, and they are, as it were, wafts of incense floating above to the place of angels and archangels. Yes, come up hither, that is really what they say to us. Think for a minute where they are. They are a reminder to us that here we have no continuing city; that this is not the end of our life, that we are to abide here but for a short time, and that our true home is there. Not grovelling upon earth, not sunk in sin: no, not fascinated or allured, trying to satisfy ourselves with the most refined beauties which are to be found on the earth below. No, they will not satisfy the heart; they cannot satisfy man, for God made man for Himself. There, there, is our rest and real satisfaction; rest of head and rest of heart, and the bells claim our gratitude, because amongst all our temptations and trials, and the lowering influences which surround us in this world—with its beautiful allurements and attractions to win us down here below—our church bells will not leave us alone. There they are placed up betwixt earth and heaven, and keep saying to us, "Come up hither." Those who ring the bells in our churches deserve our gratitude because they are constantly reminding us that here we are not abiding for ever. We are reminded that neither wealth, rank, nor noble enterprise can keep us here. No, there, there, is satisfaction, and the bells tell us so. They express to us our Saviour's words, "Friend, come up higher." It must be a very dull heart indeed that can hear the bells ring out the old year and ring in the new without being moved. It must be a very callous heart that can listen when in the stillness of the night the bells ring out the old year—a pause—and then a brighter peal ringing in the new year without feeling their uplifting tendency. Who knows what the new year will bring to them, and those dear to them? Not only do the bells mark for us the turning points in the natural year, in many and many a Christian village, but also ring out on those great epochs in the Christian year. On Christmas night, when our Saviour was born, our bells mark it out for us. Yes, we owe a debt of gratitude to the men who ring the bells on Christmas Eve, telling us that the Babe is born at Bethlehem, and when they watch for the breaking of the Eastern morning, telling us of the Saviour Who has vanquished death, and Who is not dead but lives for ever, and is ever making intercession for us. The village bells tell us again and again that the Saviour is risen, and we thank God on Ascension Day when we hear them ringing. Ah! my brethren, we do not know what saints there are in rough workmen's clothes in this world of ours. I have heard people talk of the different kinds of occupation, as if of necessity they must drag down the soul; as if there were no honourable men engaged in the simplest employment. We have heard people say again and again, those men who are employed in our brickfields, and make our bricks, we must not expect much idea of love from them; we must not expect much love from our "brickies." I heard this week of a brickfield in which some men were working three years ago, who went to their clergyman and said, "Why should not we have an early celebration of the Holy Communion." They did so, and attended regularly, and this year seventy of these men, between four and five o'clock in the morning, had Communion in that parish. Do not let us take too low a view of human nature. Come up hither, that is what the bells say to us. Not for one narrow class, for God would say to all, "Come up hither," and the bells are true when they say that. Oh! what we owe to our church bells in helping us to remember our English Sunday, and God forbid that we should ever forget it. Be still then, and know that I am God; see to it lest we forget God. The bells wake us up on Sunday mornings, and let us know that it is Sunday; a day of rest; it is the Lord's day, give it to Him. We owe all this to the men who stir themselves, and shorten their own rest to ring the bells on Sunday morning helping us to priceless possession of the peace and blessedness of the English Sunday. For ever may our English church bells ring out and tell us that it is the English Sunday; it is the Lord's day. There come special times when we hear the bells with mixed memories; still the marriage bells have their own joy, and God would have them have that joy. The Saviour, Who wrought His first miracle to save the social embarrassment of simple people at the wedding at Cana, He would bless with his own presence the love of our peasants as they give themselves one to another in His church in holy matrimony. The bells ring out "rejoice" at a Christian marriage. Ah, but to any young people before me now let me give you a word of kindly warning; be careful. There is one thing that makes the bells sound cracked in a wedding peal, and that is sin before marriage. If you would have your village bells ring out for your wedding day, take care of yourselves in the early part of life. Sin before marriage makes the bells sound cracked in the village peal. Be true; be straight; be holy, remember where you are going. Let the bells ring out, and let all rejoice with you, and the angels will join in the joy. The same Jesus who worked His first miracle at the Cana wedding feast shall bless your wedding day as well. The bells tell us to come away, and toll for our departure, but let me remind you that it was part of our church's rule that one peal should be rung at the Christian's death, hoping to have in it a prevailing note of joy and thankfulness. The peal that tells us that there is no sadness there, should be a note of hopeful joy, even when sounding out for the death of those who have gone. I think you will say with me that it is right to give thanks to those who give themselves to this work; right that there should be this public exhibition of it, because they cannot see those on whom they are exercising their influence. Those who ring the bells are shut out from those who they are helping; their work is especially unconscious influence. There they are in the belfry, and even the very congregation they have called to church they cannot see, and the congregation cannot see see them. The bells not only call those to church who come, but also those who must stay away; those who are sick in their bodies. On the summer's day go into the cottage, and you will find the window open, and the sick one there listening to the bells calling all those to church who can go. The sick one's heart is there, but the ringers of the bells cannot see that one nor the many who are kept away from church by sickness or age, and can no longer come. Neither the choir, the organ, nor the clergyman can reach them, but the ringers can; the ringers who ring out the Sunday peals for church, touching the hearts of those they never see, and neither will see in this world. It may be that in Paradise they may hear how they were blessed through the work they did. It is therefore right that we should have a festival to express our thanks to those who cannot see on whom they have an influence that sin should not come. Not only that, but there are many poor wandering souls not sick, not ill in the body, but who are sick at heart; sick with hopelessness, feeling that they have sinned. They wander on wondering whether life is worth living, and whether they should not plunge into the stream, and thus get out of it all. They stand on the brink of the stream in a doubtful sort of way when they hear the bells ringing out, upward lifting their memories. The Saviour came to save sinners; "Come up hither" the bells ring out, touching the hearts of those whom the ringers never see. But we must not be untrue. If I am speaking to some of you who give yourselves to this work, let me not deceive you. This work is not to be the outcome of mere sentiment. You cannot hope to have the sunlight and warm showers bringing up the crop of corn unless you put the seed in. You must sow the seed that when the rain and sunshine come the corn will appear. So it is here; there must be the sowing of good seed in your hearts, then the music of the bells like refreshing showers, will come down from heaven, and the fruit will come. Therefore, let me say to you, ask yourselves if you have the good seed in your own hearts. God be with you, dear people, who give your lives to this work. God help you so that you may spend your lives here on earth, helping us to remember whither we are going, that by God's grace we may meet you there, through Jesus Christ our Lord.

The service was concluded by the hearty rendering of the hymn, "The Church's one Foundation."

About 200 ringers afterwards partook of a substantial knife and fork tea in the Co-operative Hall. The Rev. Precentor Venables presided over the public meeting which followed.

The Rev. H. J. Cheales (Friskney)—who with Mr. N. E. Snow (Sleaford), had been mainly instrumental in organising the day's proceedings—spoke of the importance of retaining the present organisation, and of standing shoulder to shoulder in the work. He moved: "That pending the formation of a diocesan society it is desirable that the various associations should be kept in touch by means of an annual festival such as this."

Mr. Stow (Morton), in an able speech, seconded, and urged that the annual meeting should be held in the south and east of the county as well as in the north. He asserted that the great drawback to ringing was the clergy, who did not take it up as they ought to do, and not as heartily as their clerical friends on the platform. After the noble address they had heard from the bishop that afternoon he thought the clergy would be constrained to take it up. The resolution was then carried nem. con.

Mr. Norman E. Snow agreed with Mr. Stow, that the clergy as a body did not back the ringers up. He had sent out 76 circulars to the clergy in his district, with a special letter begging for a reply, and although many of the clergy were known to him personally, he only received two answers. They had arranged to hold that meeting at Lincoln that day, on account of the cheap excursions running from all parts to the Temperance Festival. It gave him the greatest possible pleasure to see so many present, and he hoped it would not be the last time they should meet together.

Mr. H. Hoyes (Lincoln) proposed that a vote of thanks should be accorded to the Bishop of Lincoln for his address. Mr. Watson (Lincoln) seconded, and said the bishop had always been a very great supporter of their association. This was carried, and

Mr. Lindley (Gainsborough) said it was only fair that two sides of the question should be known. One clergyman had brought eight ringers that day, and a lady in his neighbourhood had sent twelve ringers, their expenses in each case being paid. He proposed a vote of thanks to the incumbents of the various Lincoln churches for the use of the bells that day. Mr. Mason (Boston) seconded, and the proposition was carried.

A vote of thanks was accorded to the Rev. Precentor Venables for presiding, on the proposition of Mr. J. C. Tinker (Gainsborough), seconded by Mr. Seamer (Grimsby).

THE ANCIENT SOCIETY OF COLLEGE YOUTHS AND THE ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

At Bocking, Essex, on Saturday, June 18th, a very successful meeting of ringers took place. At St. Mary's church, a 720 Kent Treble Bob was rung by S. Sargent, 1; W. Moore, 2; F. Bumpstead, 3; H. Hammond (conductor), 4; F. Rudkin, 5; E. Carter (London), 6; to commemorate the erection of a peal tablet recording the only peal of 5040 changes yet rung upon the bells in seven different Treble Bob Methods. It was rung on January 23rd, 1892. Mr. E. Carter, one who took part in the peal, very handsomely defrayed all expenses of the tablet, which was executed under the supervision of Mr. A. Huckson, a venerable ringer, I might say, the father of the present Braintree band. I have no hesitation in saying it gave the utmost satisfaction to every one present. After the opening peal the tablet was unveiled by Mr. F. Rudkin, the Rector and Dean, the Very Rev. H. Carrington, being present, and very kindly contributed toward the tea arranged by the Bocking members at the "Black Boy" hotel. During the afternoon, members arrived to spend a comfortable hour. Messrs. S. Hayes, of West Ham, and J. M. Hayes, London, journeyed down to be present on this pleasing occasion, the rest of the company being as follows: F. Rudkin, H. Hammond, F. Bumpstead, F. Calthorpe, A. Huckson, T. Watson (Braintree), D. Elliott, sen., D. Elliott, jun., W. Dyer, (Coggeshall), W. Ward, F. Davey (Halstead), E. Radley, A. Chaplin, E. Chaplin (Stisted), E. Hynes, E. Claydon (Stebbing), W. Moore, S. Sargent, C. Bearman, and J. Hayes (Bocking). It is worthy of note that every ringer present had a touch on the bells. At the call twenty-eight members and friends sat down to the good things provided at the hotel, the catering of Mr. N. Lee giving every satisfaction, and by a hasty glance round at the crippled state of the dishes, one could see all had thoroughly done justice, under the presidency of Mr. J. M. Hayes. After a walk out and a few short touches on the tower bells, we again returned to the meeting house; we could not find a better place to spend the rest of the evening sociably. Mr. J. M. Hayes opened the proceeds of the evening with a few chosen remarks, complimenting the ringers of the peal, also those that had been so kind to meet to celebrate the opening of the peal tablet. Mr. S. Hayes responded, adding that he was very pleased to come down to his native home and be present at such a comfortable meeting, and see the record of such a grand performance. He was pleased to acknowledge it stood well to the front in the ringing science; it was the tower in which he first learned to ring, and it gave him great pleasure to be present. The "health of the peal board" was toasted with musical honours, coupled with the name of Mr. H. Hammond, the conductor, who responded with a short speech. A touch on the handbells brought a very pleasant evening to a close. F. C.

MICHELDEVER, HANTS.

On Monday, June 20th, what is practically a new ring of six bells was opened at the above place by a company of the Winchester Diocesan Guild. In reality there is only one additional bell, the treble, the gift of Earl Northbrook, but what should have been the present 2nd, 3rd, and 5th were recast, so that of the old bells only the 4th and tenor remain. The work of splicing the peal and rehanging was entrusted to Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, who have carried it out in the most satisfactory manner possible, the go of the bells being everything that can be desired, and reflecting the highest credit on that firm. The ring is now a handy little ring of six, the weights being as follows:—

	cwt.	qrs.	lbs.	Note.
1. . . 3	2	21	.. F. . .	new bell.
2. . . 4	1	11	.. Eb . .	recast.
3. . . 4	3	18	.. Db . .	recast.
4. . . 5	2	19	.. C. . .	old bell.
5. . . 7	0	3	.. Bb . .	recast.
6. . . 8	1	15	.. Ab . .	old bell.

Ringling commenced in the afternoon with three 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles, followed by a 720 of Bob Minor by S. Powell, 1; J. Ballard, 2; J. W. Taylor, 3; F. Wilson, 4; H. White, 5; J. W. Whiting, 6. After tea, which had been kindly provided by the Vicar (Rev. W. D. Bell), as time was limited a 240 of Grandsire Minor was rung for the opening service, which took place at 5.45, all the ringers attending. After service another 720 of Grandsire Minor was rung, the greater part of the congregation looking on with wonder and amazement, the ringing-chamber being on the ground floor. A 6-score of Stedman Doubles was then rung, and the bells lowered in peal. Having a few moments to wait in the churchyard (the conveyance not having arrived) the handbells were brought out, and a course of Grandsire Triples was rung, to the delight of the people standing around. W. T. Billinghamurst, 1-2; J. W. Taylor, 3-4; H. White, 5-6; J. W. Whiting, 7-8. As the ringers left, the Vicar called for three hearty cheers, which was responded to in good old English fashion. Arriving at Micheldever station good-bye was said to Mr. Whiting, of Fareham (Mr. Hewitt having gone by an earlier train), and the short distance between Micheldever and Basingstoke stations was enlivened by a 504 of Grandsire Triples on the handbells, coming into rounds just as the train steamed into the last-named station. H. White, 1-2; J. W. Taylor, 3-4; F. Wilson, 5; S. Powell, 6; J. Ballard, 7-8. It is hoped that with such an easy-going ring of six, Micheldever may soon boast of a good band of change-ringers.

THE LONG PEAL AT DEBENHAM.

SIR,—Mr. Brundle and his comrades in the recent long peal at Debenham, need not be surprised or disappointed if there are some ringers who hesitate to accept their splendid performance. In the writer's opinion no band is justified in asking the Exercise to accept a new record of their own creation, who do not comply with the necessary condition of giving due notice of the attempt, and thus place a sound performance above suspicion.

JAMES S. WILDE.

Hyde, Cheshire.

SIR,—I see in "THE BELL NEWS," the letter from Fairplayer, and the one in answer to it by Mr. Grimes, wherein it is stated that if the conductor had been certain of his men, due notice would have been given. Now, I can say a few words on that point, as I was written to several weeks ago by one of the band stating there was one man short, and I was asked if I would make one and fill his place, and after careful consideration, I was obliged to give the answer, no, with thanks for their kindness, as I had no confidence in myself for such a wonderful long job. From this, I had another reply asking me to reconsider the thing, as they had every confidence in me, so to try myself, one morning I got up early, about half-past five, had a walk in the fields, and then had breakfast over by seven, and then went to work to see how long I could work without food and rest, this I did till about half-past four in the afternoon when I was obliged to give over, as I was very much fatigued. This I tried as a bit of test, after which I gave a final answer, stating that I must decline the invitation with thanks, as I had not the faintest confidence in myself, had it been only a 10 or 12,000 I should have been only too pleased to make one. I have these two letters lying in front of me while writing these few lines, and any one can see them if they like; this I have done to prove that the conductor was not really sure that he could get a band, and at the last meet one of the band was obliged to work all the Whitsun Holiday, as stated in "THE BELL NEWS" by Mr. Brundle, so they had to find a substitute in Mr. E. Collins, of Worlingworth, which proved to be a good one. I hear from one that heard the whole peal that it was a splendidly-struck peal, and that no one struck more than a couple of false blows throughout it. I also hear from one of the long peal men that no living creature entered the belfry only a moth and butterfly, and this about the ninth hour, and that they flew around and had a look, as it were, at these most wonderful men. I should think if we could enter their minds after seeing the ringers, that they wished them good luck as they took their departure. Upon inquiries I am informed that the only thing in the way of refreshment that these men had, was a piece or two of orange, which they snapped off a chair, one of the rush bottomed chairs, with a little shelf at the back, which they had placed handy for themselves. The umpire, Mr. Lines, was in the church all the time, and ticked off the bobs as called, and this I think ought to be satisfactory to all lovers of ringing.

SAMUEL SLATER.

GRANDSIRE TRIPLES.

SIR,—I want to ask your permission to publish my views on the question of singles in Grandsire Triples, a question among others which came before the meeting of the Central Council on Easter Tuesday, and was referred to a committee of three members to decide. My original intention was to have placed my views before the Rev. C. D. P. Davies privately, knowing full well that that gentleman would, very rightly, have considerable influence in the settlement of the question; for which purpose I have had an argument sketched out for some time, but having reason to know that Mr. Davies has been engaged recently in an important undertaking, I did not like to approach him at such a time. However, now that the matter has been brought before the Central Council, and that Mr. Davies is one of the three gentlemen in whose hands the matter rests, I think it best, if at all, to place my argument—indirectly as it were—before the Central Council generally, and the committee of three in particular by this means, if you will allow me to do so. I am writing under many and peculiar disadvantages; in the first place I am not in a position to make references to back numbers of "THE BELL NEWS" (not that I have not been a constant subscriber to your paper), therefore in attributing any statement to Mr. Davies I am speaking from memory, and hope this will be taken into consideration if I am wrong. In the second place I believe a discussion did take place some two or three years ago on this subject; now it so happens that this must have been at a time when I did (for reasons which it is not necessary to explain and over which I had little or no control) miss "THE BELL NEWS." All this, together with the fact that nothing transpired at the meeting of the Central Council to indicate the lines on which the question would be settled, tends to make the thing very awkward to deal with, and I would like to say that it is only from my firm conviction that the Central Council is in danger of deciding this very important question on false grounds, that I venture to ask you this favour. I believe Mr. Davies has said somewhere, in advocating the use of Holt's bob-single, that no other should be allowed, and so far as I can gather, he would base his opinion on theoretical grounds. It will be readily agreed that any argument on the question of these in-course singles—as I call them—involves the question of the arrangement of peals generally after composition and their symmetrical aspect. I propose in the first place to have a look into one or two peals as composed and before their arrangement as whole peals, with a view to shew that Holt's single is not theoretically the proper one to use, and also to explain why it is that the ten-part peals, apparently does not run, the one half exactly reverse to the other. I shall have to refer to a remark made by Mr. Davies in his correspondence with Mr. Carter on Union Triples, so far as it applied to Grandsire, as I know very little about Union. I understand Mr. Davies to argue to this effect: that the bell in 3rds place at the treble's lead-end rules the method, or to explain my view of his argument better, that the bell in 5ths place at one treble's lead-end must be in 3rds at the following, and make that place, and any deviation from this is theoretically bad; I take the same view of the matter myself, but I want to point out a far more important principle to be recognised if we are to be strictly theoretical. Take one of the ten-part peals in its two round blocks, it will be seen that the whole peal consists of 360 equal sections or leads; each section commencing with the handstroke lead of the treble and finishing when the treble is in seconds place at backstroke; by taking these fourteen changes to constitute a "lead" the whole of the 360 leads are equal, but by taking any other fourteen changes to constitute a lead we get them unequal, in the former case take 1325476 as the lead-head, its lead-end must be 5172634, cannot be anything else, therefore it appears to me that to be strictly theoretical the 360 complete sections should be kept intact in any arrangement of the peal as a whole. This means (1) that the proper lead-ends are the changes with the treble in second's place at a backstroke. (2) That the singles must be made so as to shunt from the end of a complete lead to the beginning of another, in short, the single must be made at the handstroke lead of the treble. All this goes to show that Holt's single itself renders it impossible for the peal to appear symmetrical. Another point which militates against the symmetry of a peal is this, the first change of a peal must be 2135476, which is the third change of a complete lead, the last change of a peal must be rounds, which is the second change of the same lead. Now it appears to me that in theory the peal should start with the first change of a complete lead and finish with the last change of another, and that rounds, is just as admissible in the middle of the peal as any other change. I hope I shall not be taken as saying that anything of this sort would be at all practicable. This brings me to make a statement which although somewhat beside the question, is nevertheless an interesting, if not important fact, viz., that, given the lead-head 1325476 as the first change of a peal, the whole peal is possible with bobs and plain leads only, that is to say, the 5039 changes may be made to follow 1325476 without any deviation from the method whatever; no doubt this is well known to all those who have studied the subject to any extent, but I do not think it is known to the Exercise generally. To show why it is that the ten-part peals are not strictly symmetrical, take Holt's, the first proper lead-end following the middle single is 4162735, now if the single be relegated to its proper place between two complete leads, so that the first lead-end following shall be the same, we get the following arrangement. It is only necessary to give a few leads each side of the half-way, and the single is made thus:—

Single.	Middle of peal.
3124567	P.L. 7164352
1324567	P.L. 6134275
	P.L. 3124567s
	B. 4162735
	B. 7156342
	P.L. 5136274

As the single used in this has the advantage of keeping the 360 leads intact, and is—I should say—just as easy to make as Holt's, indeed it is the same, only made a change earlier, if the theoretical side of the question is the most important, I think this is the single for it. I may say that this is the "call" used exclusively in James Lockwood's peal, and, although I do not say Mr. Lockwood's is a desirable peal to ring, it is the only peal to my knowledge having the 360 equal leads retained. This single has, to my mind, a wonderful peculiarity, I believe it is the only available in-course single to be made at hand, and as a plain lead single and a bob-single, there is no actual difference in the making, an advantage I certainly consider. In the foregoing arrangement of the peal, as the last lead of the first half is a plain lead, the first lead of the last half should be a plain lead also, to be strictly symmetrical, and so on; this not being the case, I will ask your readers to compare it with the following, to show where the discrepancy arises. It is necessary to take a variation of the peal this time, to start with bobs at 2, 5, 5, 1, 5, 2, etc., the middle of the peal runs thus:—

P.L. 6147352
B. 3124567

B. 6173524
P.L. 5143276

I think it will be agreed that this arrangement is theoretically and symmetrically perfect, but for the utterly impracticable single or shunt which it necessitates. However, I think this shows it is not in the composition where the discrepancy arises, but in the arrangement. Whether it is possible by taking other variations of the ten-part peals, to arrange one on the same lines as the above, and to use a practicable single, is a thing I have not looked into, but I believe this is the only place where Holt's ten-part will reverse from exactly. In the appendix to the work "Grandsire," Mr. Davies attributes an error to the author, consisting in his thinking that the two halves of Holt's ten-part start from the same point—I certainly consider the two halves do start from the same point—that is, from or with a corresponding lead in the peal table, but it so happens it is the wrong variation to admit of symmetrical arrangement, but the foregoing does admit of this but for the outrageous single or shunt. Much of this misunderstanding, is due, I think, to two causes, the vagaries of the positions of the reverse leads with respect to each other in the peal table, and the want of a definition of a complete lead, a want which I have tried to supply. I am of opinion, for a peal to have any possible chance of being symmetrical, each half must start with a corresponding lead in the table, not necessarily two reverse leads or two leads belonging to two reverse courses, and even then it must be the right variation. Coming now to the six-part peals, I believe it is the popular impression that those peals with three bells fixed, are perfectly symmetrical as arranged, this I contend is erroneous. To get at any satisfactory calculation, it is necessary to assume that the single is made a change earlier in such a manner as shall give the same lead-end following; an impracticable single though it may be. I shall give the lead-ends in the ordinary way, the back-stroke leads of the treble, but I want it to be understood that I intend the rows I do give to represent the lead of fourteen changes commencing with the hand-stroke lead of the treble. Being better acquainted with Holt's, I will take that for example, and the middle of the peal runs thus:

Middle of Holt's Six-Part.

B. 275634
P.L. 246375

P.L. 264735
B. 572364

In this, the third lead preceding the half-way is a bob lead, but the third lead after the half-way is a plain lead, therefore it is not symmetrical, the reason of this is because the last half does not start from the same point as the first, that is to say, 235476 is not a corresponding lead to rounds in the peal table, besides in this we have five consecutive plain leads, which is in my opinion theoretically bad, for this peal to be symmetrical requires a shunt that will give 243657, which is a corresponding lead to rounds in the table. Call the first half the same and we get—

P.L. 264735

which is perfectly even. Of course my object is not to suggest a remedy for the un-symmetrical aspect of these, but to show to some extent why they are so. The next peal I want to speak about is that by Mr. Parker (six-parts) with no fixed or repeating bells, and I want to point out a single which fits this peal—as a backstroke single—in exactly the same degree as Holt's fit the ten-part peals. Mr. Parker has used the single once, I forget exactly in what peal, but if I remember right it was an irregular composition and given more in illustration of some point, than for ringing purposes, it is this, a common single with 6-7 lying still at backstroke thus:—

I admit it would interfere with the bell before, but I have not as yet said that, taking into consideration the difficulty, I think I may almost say the impossibility, of arranging a peal on strictly symmetrical and theoretical lines, I think the practical side of the question is the most important; I beg to contend that this single is the most practicable single possible, although it seems to fit this kind of peal only. I believe it can be made to apply to most others. Everybody can make a common single, and I think if it were used in peals, there would be fewer unsuccessful attempts, and better ringing in many of the successful ones. I say this, not from my experience of making it, but as a deduction from my experience of the making of others. One other matter I would like to mention is this—I have heard and read many times an argument, if it may be called one, to this effect, "why should composers be allowed to manufacture singles to suit their own convenience." For the benefit of those who thus infer that there is no limit to singles please allow me to place before your readers the only four available singles for in-course peal. That is, assuming it is desirable there shall be only one kind of single in any one peal, and made either at handstroke or backstroke lead of the treble. They are as follows:

Handstroke Single	Backstroke Singles.
(1)	(2)	(3)	(4)
3124567	1325476	1325476	1325476
1324567	1235476	1324576	1325467

Each of these may be made either as bob-singles or plain lead singles. Nos. 3 and 4 are wretched as plain lead singles. It will be seen by this there is very little material for the manufacture of singles. I am aware Sir, in making this venture, the probabilities are that I shall have made more enemies than friends from the fact that I have dared to question the absolute perfection of Holt's single, but I would ask those who so blindly denounce every idea which may be construed as opposed to Holt, to note one or two facts in connection with my argument. I have not tried to show that Holt's single is impracticable or undesirable; I have questioned its degree of practicability I admit. But I have endeavoured to show by conscientious reasoning, that either from a theoretical or practical point of view, it would be unwise and undesirable in the extreme for the Central Council to enact that in future Holt's single shall be used exclusively in all in-course peals of Grandsire Triples. G. CLEAL.

P.S.—I had almost omitted to mention there are two backstroke shunts other than those I have given, but which are not available from the standpoint of my argument, which is this: I have assumed throughout that, more than the least possible number of necessary shunts (two) foreign to the method is very undesirable, and as the use of one of these necessitates four in a peal, I think I am justified in the inference that they are not available. The shunts I refer to are these:

and represent Q sets of four members, and therefore are adapted to the joining together of four round blocks. Judging by the results of the problems I have gone through on the four-part system, I have never come across anything of an acceptable nature in four round blocks; one phase of this system, which is perhaps the most interesting system of all, is that by bobbing reverse leads, the round blocks produced run naturally one half reverse to the other, in which case it will be easily understood, there cannot be more than four consecutive plain leads in the middle of a touch or peal. I know to three problems on this system giving the peal in eight round blocks, four large and four B blocks, which may possibly be arranged into whole peals by joining a B block to each large one, between two common singles, and then joining the whole by means of one of the foregoing shunts (or a compound between one of them and a common single). I cannot say this for certain, not having tried to so arrange them, as I could never bring myself to think that an acceptable peal would be the result.

The Bell News &amp; Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, JULY 2, 1892.

It falls to our lot sometimes to complain of the apathy and indifference shown by the Clergy to the work of our ringing Guilds ; at other times we are pleased to allude to the loyal co-operation shown by them in ringing concerns. Last week we referred to the neglect shown to the Durham and Newcastle Association by the Cathedral authorities of the last-named city ; this week it is refreshing to read the kind and practical observations of the Lord Bishop of Lincoln, comprised in an address he gave to the members of the three ringing Associations whose operations lie within his diocese. The gist of this address may be read on another page, and its perusal will afford an uncommon degree of satisfaction. It was originally intended that Divine Service should be held in the retro-choir of Lincoln's famed Minister. but such a large congregation attended—comprising nearly four hundred ringers and friends—that the nave had to be used for the purpose. If the other proceedings of this amalgamated meeting of ringers had not been a success, this assemblage in the Cathedral, and the sermon of the Bishop, would be quite enough for gratification and thankfulness.

We are among the last to presume in the direction of an analytical process of his lordship's remarks. Everything which he said was good, and we doubt not profitable to those who listened. Our desire is to point out that occasions of this character should be made the most of; that they should not be forgotten, in fact, so readily. Our experience carries us back to those dark ages when an address to ringers from the pulpit would have been a novelty; one in fact to be condemned from the fear that some movement was about to arise which would deprive the "scruffers" of the period of their perquisites, and other such-like changes, and relegate the free and easy hilarity of the ringing-chamber to its proper place. In the present day the novelty exists where no service at all is held, and such a novelty has very little to attract.

We say that these occasions, when high dignitaries of the Church come among us, to do us good, should not be forgotten. Is there any one to be found who has the temerity to uphold the doctrine that ringing is necessarily a low pastime, not to be followed or encouraged by people of refinement? If so, let the recent addresses of the various bishops—among them those of Doctors RIDDING and KING, and others—be thrown in their teeth. Let us regard these deliverances as a portion of our title-deeds to the name of "Churchworkers." Let us in fact, make the most of them, and quench not the feelings of comfort which they impart. The pure light is breaking forth upon the principles of our Art, and its effect is accelerated by such addresses as that just given by the good Bishop of Lincoln.

Ringers' Outings.

THE ALL HALLOWS' SOCIETY, TOTTENHAM.—On Whit-Monday, the members of this Society journeyed to Sawbridgeworth, Hertfordshire, to hold their annual excursion. Arriving there about 9.30 they at once made their way to the church of Great St. Mary, to try the fine peal of eight, tenor 25 cwt. Some excellent touches of Grandsire Triples, Bob Major, and a 500 of Stedman Triples was rung, in which some of the local ringers took part. A move was next made to the house of Mr. P. Taylor, "William the Fourth," who had provided a splendid dinner, to which ample justice was done. During the afternoon some of the ringers took a ramble through the country, while others were watching a cricket match between the local team and Winchester House School. After tea the church was again visited, where a few touches of Grandsire Triples being rung completed the ringing for the day. The ringers who took part were Messrs. Adams, Barnett, Button, English, Ellis, Grove, Gibson, Hale, Lucas, Martin and Waghorn. Reaching the station about 8 o'clock they arrived home about 9.30, having spent a most pleasant and enjoyable outing. They wish to thank the Vicar for his kind permission in allowing them the use of the bells, also the steeplekeeper for having everything in readiness.

THE SHEFFIELD JUNIOR AMALGAMATED SOCIETY.—On Saturday, June 11th, the members of this Society had their third annual meeting, the rendezvous being the Ranmoor inn. It was originally intended to meet at 3 p.m. and play a cricket match, but through the inclement weather cricket had to be abandoned. The bells of St. John's church being placed at our disposal, we adjourned there and rang several touches of Treble Bob and Stedman Triples. Six o'clock having arrived a move was made back to the inn, when nearly thirty, with a few of the gentler sex, sat down to an excellent supper, provided by Host Hudson, to which ample justice was done. After the cloth had been removed the President, Mr. J. W. Mulligan, took the chair, and gave a short review, illustrative of the past year's progress. The toast, "Success to the Sheffield Junior Amalgamated Society," proposed by S. Thomas, Treasurer, and seconded by R. Harrison, Secretary, was most enthusiastically drunk. "The Ladies," proposed by R. Harrison, was responded to by E. S. Wibberley. "The Visitors," proposed by J. Lloyd, supported by J. Dixon, was replied to by F. Willey, who eulogised the progress the Society had made since its formation, and trusted that on a future occasion he would be counted a member. Tune and change-ringing on the handbells, songs, etc., votes of thanks to the Vicar and Wardens of St. John's for the use of the bells, the steeplekeeper for having all in readiness, the chairman and officers, and the health of the host and hostess, brought a most enjoyable and successful meeting to a close.

THE OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.—On Saturday, June 18th, several members from All Saints, Boyne Hill, with E. Yates, of Marlow, paid a visit to the interesting village of Lawrance Waltham, for the purpose of enjoying a ring on those historical peal of bells which it is hoped on a future date to give a few particulars, and also to induce the new band of young ringers recently formed by the vicar, the Rev. E. Neville, to learn the art of change-ringing instead of "stoney." A call was made at White Waltham on the way, and permission being readily granted by the vicar to ring, the bells were raised in peal, and two 120's of Stedman and one each of Plain Bob and Grandsire were rung, and then the bells were lowered in peal. The band were seated once more and reached their destination after enjoying the fine drive and ring on the way. The party was heartily welcomed by the vicar and conducted over the church and thence to the belfry, when the bells were raised in peal and a 6-score of Grandsire rang to test the "go" of them. Then followed 168 of Minor and two 6-scores of Stedman previous to partaking of an excellent tea kindly provided at the vicarage and presided over by the vicar's wife, Mrs. Neville. The repast was thoroughly enjoyed, as was evidenced by the quick disappearance of the viands. A course and short touch of Grandsire Triples was rung on the handbells, which were appreciated by the host and hostess. The company then took their leave, thanking them heartily for their kindness in receiving them, and then returned to the tower to attempt a 720 of Minor which failed when only three leads from home. Stedman and Bob Doubles followed. A few rounds with the local youths and pointing to them the advantages of joining the Guild and inviting them to Boyne Hill, said "good night," and arrived safely home, having spent a very pleasant afternoon. The Rev. R. P. Newhouse accompanied the band on his tricycle and took part in the ringing.

*.* Several other reports of ringers' outings are crowded out; all will appear in due course.

THE CHURCH BELLS OF BUCKINGHAMSHIRE. By ALFRED HENEAGE COCKS, M.A., Ch. Ch., Oxford; F.Z.S., F.R.G.S., Great Marlow, Bucks. With many Illustrations.

MESSRS. JARROLD & SONS have pleasure in announcing the early publication by subscription of this most interesting and important work. It will contain an account of all the Church Bells in Buckinghamshire, with everything relating to their history that can be discovered. Full accounts of all the Founders whose bells hang in the various towers who were located in the County, including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. The work was undertaken at the instigation of the late J. C. L. Stahl Schmidt, Esq., author of "Surrey Bells and London Bell-founders," "The Church Bells of Kent," "Herts," etc.; and the fact that the author had the benefit of the kind assistance and advice of this well-known campanologist may be mentioned as some guarantee of the scope and nature of the present work. Mr. Stahl Schmidt wrote the author, that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting county," and he repeated this opinion in a subsequent letter. The "Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 600 pages, & be handsomely illustrated with 24 full-page plates of mediaeval letterings, founders' marks, etc., found on Bells still existing in the County and numerous figures—some of them being peculiar to Bucks—will be inserted in the text. The 8vo. Edition is limited to 350 copies, and will be offered to subscribers before the day of publication at 2s. nett. The Larger Edition, Royal 4to, is limited to 80 copies, and will be subscribed at 4s. The prices will be raised on the day of issue should any copies remain unsold.

SOCIETY FOR THE ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD.

The tenth annual meeting of this Society was held at Lichfield on Saturday, June 18th. There was a large attendance, some 140 ringers being present. The Cathedral bells were set going about 2.30, and touches continued to be rung until the time of the Cathedral evensong at 4 o'clock. This was very largely attended. At the close of the service the Lord Bishop of the Diocese (Dr. Legge) gave the usual address. In the course of his remarks the Bishop said it had been a pleasure and a satisfaction to him to find that there was a Society of change-ringers in the diocese. The objects of it, in connection with the ringing of the bells, was all that they could desire, and included the recognition of bellringers as churchworkers, and the promotion of the art of change-ringing. Some observations having been made on Psalm xciii., which had been sung during the service, his lordship said that they felt that all the powers and forces of nature, so far as man had reduced and brought them under his power, were to be consecrated to the service of God, and it was so with regard to the particular work which they did in the church. By means of the bells they were able to produce sweet touching music, which came more closely to their hearts than any other. But when they were engaged in ringing the bells they were doing church work, and because it was so it had, especially in late years, been felt that all things in connection with the ringing of the bells should be conducted decently and in order. In all times and generations there was need of reform. Many reforms were needed in the Church many years ago, and many had been carried out. The services were differently conducted now from what they were fifty years ago. Let them look at that beautiful Cathedral in which they were now assembled, and consider what its external appearance was fifty years ago. Let them consider the slovenly way in which the services were then conducted. What a change had come over the building! And how greatly the services had been reformed! They had felt that they had learnt something, and that they were bound to worship God in a more decent and orderly fashion, and that there was need for reform in their church belfries. There was a time, and that not so long ago, when language was used in the belfries which was not fit for the House of God, and societies had been formed in all parts of the country to bring about a reform in that respect, and to lead those who were engaged to feel that it was God's work, and to make them feel that there ought not to be any drinking in the belfry or bad language used, and that while there their conduct should be wholly reverent. He trusted that they were purging their belfries of many of the things to which he had referred. His lordship then alluded to their desire to promote the art of change-ringing, and to the fact that change-ringing had been greatly developed of late years, and reminded them that they not only rang the bells on Sundays that they might call the people to come and worship God, but also on other occasions—occasions of joy and thankfulness, which reminded them that holiness was not to be associated with sadness, but rather with joy in the Holy Ghost. The service closed with the benediction and the recessional hymn—"Sons of Jesus."

At the close of the service an adjournment was made to the coffee house for tea. The Bishop, who had but few minutes to spare, as he was leaving for Shrewsbury, very kindly was present, and said a few words of encouragement. It is needless to say that his lordship was very warmly received. This is the first occasion on which the society has had the honour of having its patron present at any of its meetings.

Subsequently a photograph of the subscribers to the testimonials to be given to the Rev. J. R. Keble and the Rev. C. H. Joberns was taken on the lawn at the rear. At 6.0 the general meeting was held, the chair being taken by the Rev. E. D. Pollock, Vicar of Tamworth. The ninth annual report was read by the Rev. E. Jones, as follows:—

"The Committee in presenting their 9th annual report are glad to think that the year's record will be found once more satisfactory. The annual meeting was held at Lichfield, on June 20th, 1891, and was in every way successful, upwards of fifty members attending. There was a special service and address as in former years in the Lady Chapel of the Cathedral. The quarterly meetings have been held at Wombourn, Handsworth, and Brierley Hill, and have all been successful. The number of members of the Society shows an increase. There are now twenty-three honorary members and 189 ringing members. During the past year eight honorary members and forty-seven ringing members have been elected, and the Committee hope that members belonging to the twenty-five towers in the Archdeaconry at present unrepresented may be led to join the Society. The number of peals rung, viz., twenty-three, shows an increase of four, and also exhibits more variety of methods than in former years. Of these the list is as follows: one of Kent Treble Bob Major (first in the method); one of Canterbury Pleasure Major (first in the method); two of Stedman Caters; two of Stedman Triples; one of Plain Bob Major; three of Plain Bob Triples; three of Darlaston Bob Triples; two of Grandsire Caters; seven of Grandsire Triples; one 5040 of Bob Minor. The financial condition of the Society is satisfactory. In conclusion the Committee have to record their sense of the great loss sustained by the Society in the removal of the Rev. J. R. Keble from this Diocese. They are convinced that this feeling of regret is shared by every member of the Society. To Mr. Keble belongs the credit of the formation of the Association nine years ago, and ever since he has been its earnest supporter and friend. For it he has worked hard, and its progress and success is largely due to his unselfish and untiring efforts. In acknowledging with gratitude the good work he has done, and his constant kindness and courtesy, the Committee trust that every happiness will attend him in the new sphere of work to which he has been called. The Committee in sending out this report trust that the coming year will be one of progress to the Society and prosperity to all its members. The tenth year of its history has been auspiciously begun with the kind presence and helpful words of the Lord Bishop of the Diocese."

On the motion of Mr. Cartwright, seconded by Mr. Brindley, the report was adopted.

The Chairman then observed that since the resignation of the Rev. J. R. Keble the duties of the office of treasurer had been discharged by the Rev. D. Jones, and on the motion of Mr. Cartwright, seconded by Mr. Small, Mr. Jones was unanimously elected treasurer. The Rev. D. Jones having thanked those present for the confidence they placed in him, read the balance-sheet, which showed that there was a balance in hand of £12 16s. 4d.

The Rev. D. Jones and Mr. S. Reeves were then re-elected as Hon. Secretaries. The Rev. E. D. Pollock, the Rev. R. Hodson, and Mr. Howard Paget were elected to fill vacancies on the Committee. It was then decided to hold the next quarterly meeting at Tipton, on September 24th.

The Rev. D. Jones having suggested as a subject for consideration the question whether the change-ringers should wear a badge, votes of thanks were passed to the Chairman and the Hon. Secretaries. The Rev. D. Jones having replied, the Chairman suggested that a union between the ringing societies of the three Archdeaconries of Salop, Stoke, and Stafford, should be formed, and the suggestion was warmly approved. The proceedings were then brought to a close.

The Rev. J. R. Keble was present at the meeting, having travelled from York on purpose to attend. It is needless to say that he was warmly welcomed by his friends amongst the ringers, with whom he has been so closely associated, since, owing to his energy, the Society was formed in 1883. He was unfortunately obliged to leave before the photograph was taken, but before leaving addressed some helpful remarks to the assembled company.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT AMALGAMATED SOCIETY.

The June meeting of this society was held at Drighlington on Saturday, June 25th, and was well attended by members and friends from the following towers: Birstall, Headingley, Leeds, Tong, Armley, Wakefield, Horbury, and Rothwell. Ringing commenced in good time, and was well kept up till 10.15 p.m. with fair striking throughout, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob Major, Oxford, Kent, Violet, and Duke of York Minor being rung. A business meeting was held during the evening at the "Spotted Cow." The President, Mr. J. Whitaker, presided, and it was unanimously decided to hold the July meeting at Harrogate. Votes of thanks were accorded to the vicar, churchwardens, and local ringers, for the use of the bells and other arrangements. This concluded another pleasant gathering of the society.

THE OLD EAST DERBYSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

On Saturday, June 25th, the above Association held their Quarterly Meeting at Norton. There was a good attendance of members from Sheffield, Bolsterstone, Eckington, Killamarsh, North Wingfield, Dronfield, and Norton. The bells were raised at one o'clock by the Killamarsh company, and a 720 of Killamarsh Treble Bob was rung by J. Severn, 1; T. Bettison (conductor), 2; J. Emsen, 3; G. Burnham, 4; H. Turton, 5; C. Severn, 6. Also 720 City Delight, with E. James, 5; and C. Severn (conductor). Tea time having arrived, the members, to the number of thirty-five, made their way to the vicarage, where a splendid spread was awaiting them, kindly provided by the vicar, the Rev. G. W. Hall, free of charge. Finding that there was not accommodation all at one sitting, the following made for the tower and rang 720 Kent Treble Bob. R. Harrison, 1; J. Atkin, 2; E. James, 3; T. Sarles, 4; J. Dixon, 5; W. Biggin (conductor), 6. The second tea party have done justice to the good things provided, and the Secretary having called the business for half an hour later, a move was made to the vicarage garden for a pipe and walk round, during which time a 720 of Oxford was brought round by G. Butcher, 1; T. Bettison, 2; J. Emsen, 3; W. Biggin, 4; H. Turton, 5; J. P. Tarlton, 6. Conducted by T. Bettison. Mr. D. Brearley (Bolsterstone), presided at the meeting, which was well attended.

The minutes having been confirmed, it was agreed that the next meeting be held at Staveley on Saturday, September 24th.

Mr. E. James gave notice as per Rule 7 "That at the next meeting of the Association he should move a resolution that the radius of the Association be extended to twelve miles from Staveley parish church."

This plan if carried out will include Sheffield, Rotherham, Workop, Shireoaks, and Anston.

Mr. R. Harrison pointed out to the meeting that the Sheffield ringers would welcome any change in the rules that would give Sheffield the right of having a meeting held in that town, which was now a very rare occurrence.

Mr. D. Brearley, in proposing a vote of thanks to the Rev. G. W. Hall for the handsome way in which he had welcomed the Association to Norton, also for the splendid repast he had provided for them, said how pleased he was to see such a grand muster of ringers together. The vote was seconded by Mr. Tarlton and carried unanimously.

Mr. James proposed and Mr. Oates seconded a vote of thanks to Mr. Brearley for presiding.

The Chairman in reply said that he hoped soon to see their peal of bells at Bolsterstone opened, when he should be pleased to welcome all brother-strings to Bolsterstone, and was only sorry that Mr. James could not see his way clear to extend to that place also. The meeting then closed.

A 720 of Bob Minor was rang by J. Butler, 1; W. Butler, 2; F. Knowles, 3; T. Allibone, 4; S. Thomas, 5; J. P. Tarlton (conductor), 6. And 720 of Violet. G. Oates, 1; J. Atkins, 2; E. James, 3; S. Thomas, 4; G. Marsden, 5; J. Allen, 6.

THE NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

DISTRICT MEETING AT RENDHAM.—The Second Annual Meeting of the Saxmundham District was held at Rendham, on Saturday, June 18th, when thirty-two members assembled from Aldeburgh, Leiston, Saxmundham, Benhall, Great Glemham, Sibton, Peasenhall, Sweffling, Rendham and Halesworth. All the towers in union, with the exception of Kelsale, were represented. The bells of Sweffling church were most kindly placed at the disposal of the members, and were kept going during the afternoon and evening, in the Plain Bob, Treble Bob, and Grandsire methods. The local hostelry, the "White Horse," was the headquarters, and host Barker placed tea upon the table punctually at 5.30, which having been done full justice to, the cloth was removed and the business meeting forthwith followed.

Mr. F. Cooper, of Aldeburgh, was unanimously voted to the chair, and the minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. The Honorary Secretary, Mr. William Taylor, then read the annual report, which shewed that three peals of Bob Major had been rung in the district by members of the Association, two of them being rung at Leiston, and the other at Kelsale. In these four members have rang their first peal, and two members scored their first peal as conductors. During the year six performing members, one honorary member and one probationer, have joined the Association in this district. The total number now belonging to the district is sixty-four, fifty-six of which are full performing members, seven honorary non-performing members and one probationer. During the year quarterly meetings have been held at Aldeburgh, Peasenhall, Kelsale and Leiston, all of which have been well attended, both representatively and numerically. One member had died on January 11th, Mr. William Pipe, of Theberton, at the age of ninety-one years, and on the day of his interment some muffled touches were rung upon the bells at Leiston and Saxmundham. In concluding the report the Secretary thanked all his brother-ringers for the ready and willing help they have at all times rendered to him, without which the work of the district could not have been successfully carried out.

One performing member was enrolled. It was decided to hold the next meeting at Aldeburgh on September 3rd. A cordial vote of thanks was passed to the Rector of Sweffling, the Rev. H. Ruxton, for his kindness in granting the use of the bells; and to the Chairman for presiding, which brought to a close a highly enjoyable and encouraging meeting.

THE ESSEX ASSOCIATION.—BRAINTREE BRANCH.

The annual meeting was held at the vestry on Thursday, June 9th, the Rev. J. W. Kenworthy, vicar, presiding, supported by Messrs. G. T. Bartram and J. Carter, churchwardens. The ringers present were Messrs. Rudkin, Calthorpe, Bumpstead, and Howard. The meeting was for the purpose of appointing ringing officers and members from Easter 1892 to Easter 1893. The following were appointed: F. Rudkin, Leader; F. Calthorpe, Secretary; T. Watson, H. E. Hammond, F. Bumpstead, C. Howard, and W. Hammond, Ringers. Other business having been satisfactorily settled, the Secretary read the report for last year, which was favourably approved by the vicar and churchwardens, and is as follows:—

"Our company have had forty practice nights this year as against twenty last year. We can also report 122 720's as against ninety-six last year, making a total of 87,840 changes. The attendances at practice nights and also on Sunday duty have been very satisfactory. During the year ringers have visited our bellry from Bardfield, Bocking, Chapel, Croydon, Halstead, Ireland, London, Rayne, Stansted, Stebbing, Stisted, and Streatham. Our company have also been successful this year in ringing two peals of 5040 changes each in seven different Treble Bob methods. We have also rung 22,026 changes in touches, making a grand total of 109,866 changes successfully brought home in the following methods: London Surprise, Cambridge Surprise, College Exercise, Morning Exercise, New London Pleasure, Bocking Treble Bob, Woodbine Treble Bob, Kent Treble Bob, Oxford Treble Bob, Double Court, and Bob Minor. H. E. Hammond conducted fifty-four, F. Rudkin, forty-six, C. Howard, eleven; the other 720's were conducted by Messrs. E. Carter (London), F. Calthorpe, W. Hammond (Braintree), E. Radley (Stisted), C. Bearman (Bocking), and I. Cavill (Stansted)."

Mr. G. T. Bartram very kindly proposed that the best thanks be given to the ringers for their services during the past year, hoping the success that have attended them may continue to improve throughout the next year. This was seconded by Mr. J. Carter, and cordially endorsed by the vicar.

WORCESTERSHIRE AND DISTRICTS ASSOCIATION.

On Saturday, June 25th, a committee and quarterly meeting of this Association was held in the Priory Church schools, Great Malvern, the Rev. H. E. Ketchley, curate (in the absence of the Rev. Canon Gregory Smith, vicar), presiding. There was a fair attendance of members from Areley Kings, Bengeworth, Dudley, Kidderminster, Kings Norton, Malvern, Netherton, Pershore, Stourbridge, Tipton, Wollaston, Worcester, etc., and F. E. Ward, Esq., Oxford Diocesan Guild.

The minutes of the last committee meeting having been read and confirmed, the usual business of the Association was transacted, in the course of which fourteen performing members and the Rev. H. E. Ketchley, M.A., Malvern; J. S. Pritchett, Esq., Kings Norton, as Honorary Members, were elected. The next meeting was fixed to take place at Evesham.

A resolution, proposed by Mr. Spittle, seconded by Mr. Pagett, congratulating the Hon. Sec. on the action he had taken in ordering 750 copies of the report compiled by the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers, on the preservation and repair of bells, frames and fittings, etc., was unanimously carried. A hearty vote of thanks having been accorded to the rev. chairman for presiding, and to the Rev. Canon Gregory Smith, R.D., for the use of the school-room, tower and bells, the meeting was brought to a close.

Touces of Stedman and Grandsire Triples and Kent Treble Bob Major were rung on the tower bells, and courses of Grandsire Triples and Caters upon the Association's hand-bells.

NEW CLOCK FOR HOO CHURCH, KENT.

A new clock has just been fixed in this church. It was set in motion by the wife of the donor, Warwick Stunt, Esq., of Abbott's Court, Hoo, Rochester, the order being entrusted to Mr. J.W. Benson, of Ludgate-hill and Old Bond-street, London, whose clocks are well-known in the county of Kent. It is made upon the latest principles, the frame being of horizontal construction. It shows the time on a four feet 6 in. dial, painted black ground, with gilt hands and figures, and strikes the hours upon a tenor bell weighing 17 cwt. The movement of the clock is fixed in a chamber below the dial, a distance of twenty feet. All the wheels are of hard brass. The teeth are cut and polished by machinery. The escapement is a Graham's dead-beat, with a pendulum beating  $1\frac{1}{2}$  seconds of time, and having a bob weighing  $1\frac{1}{2}$  cwt. It is also fitted with dial and hands, for setting external hands, maintaining power to continue action during winding and striking train with rack repeating work. There is an engraved and silver plate on the movement bearing the following inscription: "Presented by Warwick Stunt, Esq., in commemoration of his wife's restoration to health, 1892."

THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

LIVERPOOL BRANCH.—The usual monthly meeting of the above was held on Saturday, June 4th, at Hale. There was only a small attendance, representatives being present from Liverpool, Garston, and Grassendale, with the local company. At the business meeting the Rev. R. B. Stewart, vicar, presided. In a brief speech he gave a hearty welcome to the Association, and said that it must be doing a dead of good if it was only visiting one another monthly, and ringing sociably together. The objects of the Association were all that could be desired, and deserved the support of the clergy. Three performing members were elected. Halewood was decided upon as the next place of meeting. A vote of thanks to the vicar for presiding and for the use of the bells, to which the vicar briefly responded, brought the meeting to a close. Methods rung—Grandsire Minor and Doubles.

ROCHDALE BRANCH.—A meeting of the above branch was held at St. Alban's church, Rochdale, on Saturday, July 2nd, Mr. Millett, sen. being in the chair. Middleton was selected for the next meeting on July 30th. There were twenty members present from Rochdale, Heywood, and Moorside. Touces of Grandsire Triples were rung, and a 720 of Bob Minor came to grief in the last lead owing to a change-course. The meeting closed with the usual votes of thanks.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL'S REPORT.

The Rev. T. L. Papillon, Hon. Secretary of the Essex Association, has recently sent the following letter to The Guardian :—

"CHURCH BELLS AND BELFRIES.

"SIR,—The clergy and churchwardens who have peals of bells under their care may be glad to know that a body of advice, suggestions, and instructions on the preservation and repair of church bells and their fittings, the means of modifying and controlling their sound, and other kindred matters, has been drawn up under the authority of the 'Central Council of Church Bellringers,' and may now be procured in the form of a pamphlet, price one penny, from the secretary to the council (the Rev. H. Earle Balwer, Stanhoe Rectory, King's Lynn), or through the secretaries of diocesan and other ringing associations. So much ignorance prevails upon the subject of church bells—and it is so common to find them either utterly neglected by Church authorities or, when repairs become urgent, injured by well-meant but inexperienced tinkering—that such a body of information as is here for the first time generally accessible ought to be of great service.

"The object of this pamphlet, I may repeat, is not to enter into the science of change-ringing, but to secure (in the interest of change-ringers, and of Church-people generally) that those who are responsible for so valuable a part of the furniture of a church as its bells may know how to take proper care of them and of the belfry where they hang. As a practical ringer, who is often asked for information on matters connected with bells, I can cordially recommend it to my brother clergy."

ALL SAINTS' BELLS, NEWCASTLE.

The following letter has recently appeared in the Newcastle Daily Journal :

SIR,—In the interesting account contained in the "North-Country Notes" of the "Daily Journal" of the bells of the old parish churches in this city, apropos of the new Cathedral bells, reference is made to those of the old All Saints' church. May I be allowed to supplement this information with one or two facts culled from the standard histories of Newcastle and the old records in All Saints' vestry?

Extract from Common Council books:—"April 1st, 1695.—All Saints' parish humbly request the metal (of King James II. on Sandhill) towards the repair of their bells." "Ordered that All Saints' have the metal belonging to the horse of the said statue, except a leg thereof, which must go towards the casting of a new bell for St. Andrew's parish." They were accordingly "founded anew or increased in number" (Brand) in 1696, the peal consisting of five, and weighing nearly fifty-nine cwt. Nearly a hundred years later there is an entry in the "Common Book" for repairing All Saints' Church, to the following effect: "6th April, 1797.—It was this day resolved and agreed that Mr. Lawton should conclude an agreement with Mr. Mears in the best manner that he can, when he is in London, for a new set of eight bells."

The present peal in All Saints' church, eight in number, the tenor bell weighing nearly 19 cwt., was accordingly cast by Messrs. Mears in 1797, and as negotiations were entered into with the same firm to make an allowance for the old peal, there is at least a possibility that the metal was used in the casting of the new ones. A board in the belfry records the fact that the present bells were first rung by the Union Society of Newcastle on October 11th, 1797. The peal, consisting of 5040 changes, rung in 3 hrs. 1 min., in celebration of Admiral Duncan's victory over the Dutch fleet off Camperdown. During the century that they have hung in All Saints' steeple, the wear and tear of time and use have had their natural effect, and the bells cannot now be rung without undue strain upon the framework and the tower. They need to be entirely rehung, the clappers require to be turned so as to strike on a new surface, the wheels must be renewed, the framework strengthened, the fittings, gudgeons, bearings, etc., replaced before our beautiful peal that has rang out on many joyful occasions can once more be heard.

The vicar and wardens of the church have determined to make a strenuous effort to have these necessary repairs executed, at an estimated cost of £130. As much has been done to the church during the past ten years, including the restoration of the beautiful steeple at a very great cost, during the incumbency of the Rev. A. S. Wardroper, they are not without hope that the sympathy and help of some of the many well-wishers of All Saints' may be evoked, so that the peal of bells that have so nobly done their work during the last 100 years may once again be heard in Newcastle.

OWEN CHARLES CARR.

BOLSTERSTONE, SHEFFIELD.

The village of Bolsterstone is situated about eight miles from Sheffield, and about half-an-hour's walk from Deepcar station on the M. S. and L. main line. The inhabitants have been displaying great activity in procuring the funds necessary for a peal of bells to be hung in the parish church tower, which, standing as it does on the top of a hill nearly 1000 feet above the sea, causes the bells to be heard for miles around. The bells were ordered from the Loughborough foundry, and the occasion of bringing them up from the station was made a day of rejoicing by the Vicar, Churchwardens, and parishioners generally, particulars of which have already appeared. The work of hanging the bells was actively proceeded with, and the bellhanger and the Vicar, wishing them to be tried before the former went away, the Bradfield ringers were invited to come over and test them, which they did on Thursday evening, June 16th. By the time the ringers arrived a great crowd of people had assembled to hear the bells, thus shewing what interest the inhabitants took in the proceedings. The bells were raised in peal, and rung in rounds for a short time, after which a 6-score was rung to "feel" them. Then a 720 of Bob Minor was brought round in excellent style by J. Gillott, 1; F. Wilson, 2; D. Brearley (conductor), 3; C. Fox, 4; G. H. Uttley, 5; A. Brearley, 6. Touches were afterwards rung with Mr. J. Billicliffe, an old veteran from Penistone, who is 77 years of age, and had come especially to have a pull on the new bells, the tone of which was greatly admired. They are hung in iron frames, with all the latest improvements, go splendidly, and are a credit to the firm of Taylor and Co. After ringing was over, by kind invitation of the Vicar the ringers repaired to the Vicarage, where an excellent supper was provided for them.

Mr. A. Brearley (leader of the Bramfield ringers), moved a vote of thanks to the Vicar (Rev. W. R. Wilson), and said that it gave him great pleasure to come to Bolsterstone on such an occasion, the more so as he did not think there would be any bells there in his time, but he had been most agreeably disappointed, and he congratulated the Vicar and parishioners on possessing such an admirable ring of bells.

The Vicar, in returning thanks, said it gave him great pleasure to see the ringers there, and he would always be glad to see them at any future time.

Bolsterstone church is also to have a new clock, which will chime the Westminster quarters; new oak screen for the tower arch, new font, etc. The bells will be formally dedicated when all is completed, probably about the latter end of September. In the meantime the bells will not be rung for Divine Service, as there are no ringers in the district. A company is, however, being formed, and will be instructed by Mr. D. Brearley, who is the only ringer in the neighbourhood.

THORNE (NEAR DONCASTER) PARISH CHURCH.

DEDICATION OF THE PEAL OF BELLS.

The fine old peal of five bells at this church have just been augmented by the addition of three new bells into a full octave of eight bells. The new bells have the following inscriptions cast upon them:

Treble—"Fides J. J. Littlewood, Vicar."	} Churchwardens, 1892."
Second—"Spes A. L. Peace, J. H. Bletcher," Third—"Caritas W. Armitage, B. Maskill," Sidesmen, 1892."

The whole work has been carried out by Messrs. Shaw and Co., Bell Founders, Bradford, Yorks. The peal of eight bells are now hung with all new fittings in a massive iron girder frame, which has been much admired and praised by the different societies of ringers and those interested in belfry reform. The new frame-work is made entirely of iron, with the exception of the oak beams upon which the ironwork stands. The top part of the frame is made of best English I girder iron (having an immense breaking strain), and the whole is bolted together with steel angle and corner plates, in turn these girders are bolted upon cast-iron cross legs or struts, all planed level, and when all are fixed together they form one compact mass of great strength, and capable of resisting the swinging of the heaviest bells without perceivable oscillation, in fact the whole frame does not move more than one-sixteenth of an inch. Some 500 bolts and screws are used in the construction of the frame. On Monday, June 27th, the Archbishop of York, assisted by the clergy of the district, dedicated the bells and fittings. After the usual service and powerful address to a very large congregation, the bells were opened by a company of ringers from Calverley, near Leeds, when over three hours' good ringing was got through, and which included touches of Treble Bob, London Treble Bob, and Cambridge Surprise. Owing to the lateness of the dedication ceremony, a peal was not attempted. The ringers and friends were then entertained to supper by the churchwardens. The usual loyal and other toasts were proposed and responded to, and the vicar spoke of the pleasant manner in which the work had been carried out by the firm, which was responded to by Mr. Shaw. The "go" of the bells is all that could be desired. The tower is now put into a very clean and efficient state, and it only remains for the home ringers to persevere in the Art, to be some day first-class ringers, and to accomplish what many other good bands have done.

THE SAFFRON WALDEN SOCIETY.

The 269th Anniversary was celebrated on June 27th. A capital dinner was partaken of at the "King's Arms," and honored by the presence of the vicar and churchwardens. About forty dined, amongst which were the noted Benington squire and his band, friends from Stansted, Sawbridgeworth, Cambridge, etc. The Vicar proposed the Royal toast, which was heartily and musically received. He said he was pleased to see so many distinguished ringers present, and hoped that their belfries would always resound with the music of the bells, and coupled with his good wishes the health of all of them, making special mention of Squire Proctor, who in responding stated that from a boy he had been a lover of bells and ringing, and hoped that the Saffron Walden bells would always be handled by a skilful band of ringers.

Mr. N. J. Pitstow wished to express the pleasure of the assembly at the presence of the Vicar and Churchwardens, and hoped that every place had as good supporters of ringing.

Stebbing Leverett, Esq. returned thanks on behalf of the Vicar and his co-churchwarden, and expressed the pleasure of meeting ringers, and was pleased to see so many strange faces. He gave some interesting facts respecting the foundation of the society in 1623, which he believed has existed without a break from that time, and certainly no person living could recollect a time when the 27th of June was not observed as a ringing-day at Saffron Walden.

In the evening the vicar preached the memorial sermon, which was very interesting and instructive.

The ringing commenced at 9 o'clock with a touch of Double Norwich Court by the home band as a welcome to the visitors; and during the day the methods of Cambridge Surprise, Superlative Surprise, Double Norwich Court, Kent Treble Bob, Stedman, Grandsire, and Bob Triples were rung.

At intervals after the dinner the company was enlivened by tunes upon the handbells by Squire Proctor and J. Kitchener; and June 27th, 1892, is to be numbered amongst the most pleasant anniversaries which have been held.

WEST KIRBY, CHESHIRE.

On Saturday, June 25th, the parish church ringers had their annual excursion. The place selected this year was the beautiful Vale of Llangollen. The ringers, accompanied by two or three friends, left West Kirby by the 7.55 a.m. train, and arrived at Llangollen at ten o'clock. During the morning visits were paid to all the places of interest in the neighbourhood, and in the afternoon a few touches of Doubles and Triples were rung on the beautiful bells in the parish church. The ringers wish to thank the Vicar, the Rev. E. R. James, for kindly allowing them the use of the bells, and also Mr. G. Davies, for his kind attention to them. The bells, which are comparatively new, gave great satisfaction to the West Kirby ringers. After partaking of tea and one or two more rambles, the party left Llangollen by the 7.21 train, all much pleased with their day's outing.

Ringers' Outings.

LYTHAM (Lancashire).—On Whit Monday, three ringers from Birmingham, Tipton, and West Bromwich, who were staying at Blackpool, were desirous of changing their round of pleasure in the direction of their natural hobby. The electric current was therefore soon set in motion to Mr. John Fell, the secretary to the Fylde District of the Lancashire Association, and through his ever willing heart, and through the kindness of the Rev. Canon Hawkins, granting permission, a large number of ringers ascended the tower of St. Cuthbert's church, and a well struck touch of Stedman Triples containing 840 changes, was rung by W. R. Small, 1; Jas. Miller, 2; T. Horton, 3; W. Atkinson, 4; J. Carter (conductor), 5; J. Miller, 6; R. Atkinson, 7; G. Miller, 8. Afterwards a touch of 677 Grandsire Triples, with all the 576's and 567's at hand, by J. Miller, 1; J. Atkinson, 2; Jas. Miller, 3; T. Horton, 4; J. Fell, 5; W. R. Small, 6; J. Carter, (conductor), 7; E. Fairclough, 8. Messrs. J. Carter, W. R. Small and T. Horton, wish to thank Mr. James Fell and the Lytham ringers for the kind manner in which they were treated.

ST. MARY'S SOCIETY, THORNBURY.—The annual outing of this society took place on Friday, June 10th, the place selected being Manchester; a lengthy detailed account of the day's proceedings has been forwarded by one of the members, from which we cull the following:—"A cheap excursion train having been announced to run from Berkeley Road to Belle Vue, Manchester, on Friday, June 29th, we speedily made arrangements to make this our annual outing, and on the day named, at 3 a.m., we seated ourselves and set out for Berkeley Road Station, and were soon travelling at a high speed in the direction of Manchester. Passing through Burton-on-Trent en route, we managed to catch a glimpse of the tower of St. Paul's church, the ringers of which we have often read of in "THE BELL NEWS," and the sight of the church brought to our minds their renown as eight-bell ringers. At 10.15 we steamed into Belle Vue Station, Manchester, after five hours' rapid travelling. After viewing a street procession, we made our way to St. Andrew's church in the hopes of having some ringing, but we could make nothing out here, and were informed there was a peal of bells at the Town Hall, which would be rung at one o'clock. We hastily bent our steps hither, and on our arrival there found that this was a very magnificent building of immense structure; but as at St. Andrew's, we were unsuccessful in obtaining any information of any ringing taking place. We had evidently been misinformed, but we had the satisfaction of hearing the clock strike the hour on the beautiful deep-toned bell. We learnt that the bells are rung by members of the city police force. Facing the Town Hall are three statues, viz., the Albert Memorial, one of Bishop Fraser, and one of John Bright. The Cathedral, to which we now repaired, is a very fine specimen of architecture, and contains many monuments of excellent workmanship, erected to perpetuate the memory of leading citizens. Among these is one of granite and marble, erected to the memory of James Fraser, D.D., many years Bishop of Manchester. After a brief inspection of the interior, we made an adjournment to dinner, and after doing justice to the good things set before us, we made a return visit to the Cathedral in the hopes of meeting a member of the Cathedral society, to whom a letter had been sent, to ask him to assist us in getting a pull on the Cathedral bells. The verger was here sought for, and reference made to the letter addressed to his care; and strange to say he had it under lock and key, waiting the opportunity of handing it to the proper owner: and so we had to abandon all hopes of ringing there: nevertheless through the kindness of the verger we were permitted to ascend the tower, and the first landing brought us to the ringing-chamber, a spacious room, on the walls of which peal boards were hung to record some successful peals rung on the bells. We noticed also that the ropes were brought down in a capital circle. We next had a peep at the bells (ten in number), the 6th of which was being chimed for the afternoon service. On the summit of the tower we had a splendid bird's-eye view of the city and suburbs. Retracing our steps we descended into the crypt, and taking a hasty glance round we passed out into the streets, and after a while were soon seated on the outside of a tramcar en route for the Belle Vue Gardens, where we remained till time to return home had arrived. Taking our seats at 10.30 we steamed out of the station on our midnight journey, and were very soon all in the land of dreams, but the time quickly sped away, and at 4.30 we alighted on the platform at Berkeley Road. After the long confinement in a railway carriage the eight-mile drive we had to take to reach our destination (Thornbury) was very refreshing, and at the end of our journey we felt very little effects of the long day's excursion, but had the satisfaction of knowing that we had had a thorough good outing, having one and all thoroughly enjoyed ourselves."

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD, BIRMINGHAM.—The second annual picnic of the Bishop Ryder's branch of the above Guild took place on Saturday, June 25th. The party being again disappointed in obtaining the use of the Stratford-on-Avon tower, it was resolved to try Warwick, as there were two towers there, one with a peal of eight, and the other ten. Having secured the kind permission of the Rev. T. Rivington, vicar of St. Nicholas, the band soon began to get the bells in readiness. An attempt was made for a peal of Grandsire Triples, but failed, after which a 720 of Grandsire Minor and two 120's of Doubles were rung, and the bells lowered. The band then proceeded to St. Mary's (ten bells), where they were cordially received by Mr. Hardy (tower-keeper), who informed them that on account of illness in the vicinity they would be unable to ring, and conducted them to the Warwick headquarters, where justice was done to the good things provided, and the handbells brought into requisition. The party then called on Mr. Pinfold (the Emscote tower-keeper), who immediately placed that tower at their service, and two well-struck touches of Grandsire Triples work rung for Divine Service, when the time for return had arrived. Arriving at Birmingham at 9 p.m. they assembled at the "White Swan," where votes of thanks were accorded to the clergy and others who had helped to make the party a success, and especially to the Instructor (Mr. T. Miller), for the great care and trouble he has taken with this branch, and a hope was expressed that the Guild would give him a little assistance in this matter, and the Secretary (Mr. Carrod) promised to bring the matter forward.

THE COLCHESTER SOCIETY.—On Sunday, June 12th, Messrs. Stannard, Green, and Geernaert, made a start for an eight-mile walk to Great Tey, where they arrived about one o'clock, when to their great disappointment they found that the tenor wheel was broken and so rendered them unable to ring, after having walked so far in the steady downpour of rain, which lasted all the way. They were then advised to go to Coggeshall, a small town about four miles further on, where they might get a pull, so they thereupon shouldered their umbrellas and started off again in the still heavy rain, and arrived at Coggeshall about three o'clock, just in time to see the steeple-keeper before service, who at once did his best to get a company to ring, in which he was successful in getting enough to ring on the back six. A 300 Bob Minor was rung before evening service. J. Nichols, 1; W. Dyer, 2; D. Elliott, 3; W. Green, 4; L. G. Geernaert, 5; R. W. Stannard (conductor), 6. And a 720 after service. C. Norfolk, 1; W. Dyer, 2; D. Elliott, sen., 3; W. Green, 4; L. G. Geernaert, 5; R. W. Stannard (conductor), 6. By this time two others of the Coggeshall company arrived, and a course of Bob Major was rang. C. Norfolk, 1; W. Dyer, 2; D. Elliott, jun., 3; J. Nichols, 4; D. Elliott, sen., 5; W. Green, 6; L. G. Geernaert, 7; R. W. Stannard, 8. After this a start was made for home, being quite satisfied with the day's proceedings, and they take this opportunity of thanking the vicar for the use of so grand a peal of bells, and the steeple-keeper, Mr. J. Nichols, for so kindly getting together a company together at the last moment.

* * * Several other reports of ringers' outings are crowded out; all will appear in due course.

The Bell News &amp; Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, JULY 9, 1892.

THE long peal lately rung at Debenham, Suffolk, has not been allowed to pass muster without the complaint of no notice being given that the attempt was about to be made. To those distinguished men who rung the peal such complaint appears unnecessary, and in fact quite out of place, especially after the first explanation which was given of the omission. Naturally, perhaps, this feeling might be expected. When a ten hours' ordeal has successfully been endured, those concerned naturally become impatient at any objection which to them may seem trivial, and thus the spirited language of our friends the Norfolcians may perhaps not be wondered at. There is not the shadow of a doubt in our minds that the peal in question was truly and excellently performed, the company who rang it, from the conductor downwards, being men of probity and honour, who would scorn to do anything but what was right under such circumstances, and nobody doubts such a belief, or has called the truth of the peal in question. But it is quite open to any one, notwithstanding, to point out that it would have been better if the circumstances had allowed the usual notice to have been given beforehand. Such a remark is not at all improper, and does not show a want of belief in the performance. Our correspondent who writes under the nom de plume of "Fairplayer" would, we are sure, be one of the last in the world to throw doubt upon the performance, or suffer from any want of faith in those who rang it. His idea, no doubt, was that, in the absence of the notice, an opportunity was afforded to those people, who are fond of cavilling at anything, to rush into print; and it may be that his letter has taken the wind out of their sails. The explanation is perfectly satisfactory, and no doubt every one will be content with it. The peal has been performed, and is now upon record, and the record is true. Perhaps the incident may not be without use in the future, as showing the great importance attaching to a notice when something extraordinary is about to be assayed.

Correspondence.

While allowing the utmost freedom for the expression of opinion, it must never be considered that we are in any way bound to statements made by correspondents.

To the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS AND RINGERS' RECORD."

THE LONG PEAL AT DEBENHAM.

SIR,—In reference to the letters that have appeared respecting the above, I beg to say that mine seems to have been misunderstood. It seems from one or two of the correspondents that I have condemned the ringing of the peal, but I can assure you that it is not so. My letter only condemns any long peal being attempted without first giving notice, so that those wishing to hear the peal should have an opportunity of doing so. I think myself that the ringing of the peal was a most extraordinary performance. FAIRPLAYER.

GRANDSIRE TRIPLES.

SIR,—Next week I hope to be able to send a line or two on the subject of Mr. Cleal's letter. I am very glad to find that his interest in Grandsire Triples is still as keen as in the days when we used to ring together. CHARLES D. P. DAVIES.

East Marden, July 6th.

WHITBY, YORKSHIRE.

The parish church, dedicated to St. Mary the Virgin, is situated near the ruins of the old Abbey on the East Cliff, and is reached from the town below by a flight of 199 steps. It was built in the year 1110 by William de Percy, abbot of Whitby, as a place of worship for the townspeople, who, up to that time, had worshipped with the monks in the adjoining monastery.

In its original state it has not been devoid of interest, and though no magnificence has ever characterised it as compared with many other of our ancient sacred structures, its several portions and their details have been marked with an ecclesiastical propriety.

In those early days it would seem to have consisted of a nave and chancel only, in the Norman style, being without either tower or transepts, and for the bell or bells there may have been an open gable on the point of the roof at the west end. In the course of time, transepts or wings have been added to the sides of the building at the junction of the body with the chancel, along with a square tower at the west end, and thus a change from the quadrangular shape to the cruciform was effected, but without any internal division into aisles. The sides of these transepts are modernized in the worst manner, and when in 1819 the one on the north was widened by a new addition for increased accommodation, the cruciform plan of the church was effectually marred.

The interior is as mixed in its characteristics as the exterior, owing to the many alterations by the erection of new galleries, putting in sash windows, ceiling overhead with deals, and other additions, that little trace remains of any particular style of architecture, and the whole is remarkable rather for quaintness than for architectural beauty. The church is pewed throughout, there not being an open seat in the whole building.

Of the antiquities preserved in the church, mention may be made of the pulpit and reading-desk, which constitute a real "three-decker," one pew slightly elevated and with accommodation for one occupant only, where unfortunate females, after doing penance by walking barefooted, clad in a white sheet and carrying a wand, sat out a discourse bearing on their moral lapse. There is also a small stone coffin within the communion rails, and a curious chest in the belfry containing old marriage licenses.

Right under the eaves is perched an old sun dial dated 1757, whose motto silently counsels us to remember that "our days pass like a shadow."

The church being very deficient in bells, in the early days another large bell was procured weighing about twelve hundredweight, having the following motto:—"Discite justitiam."

moniti, et non temnere divos, 1590," which was increased to four by the addition of one weighing about eight hundredweight bearing this motto—"Jesus be our speed, 1626, J.J.G.C.," and one weighing a little more than a ton bearing the motto—"Gloria Deo in excelsis, et pax hominibus, 1637. R.R.W.H. C.C.J.H.S.R.D.S."

In the year 1708 the least of the four bells was either re-cast or a new one purchased in its stead; it was inscribed, "Repent in time. 1708." In the year 1762 the four bells were replaced by a splendid peal of six, by Mears and Stainbank, which now do duty.

This is the only church in Whitby that possesses a peal of bells, but it is proposed to put a peal of eight in the new church (dedicated to St. Hilda) on the completion of the tower.

STOKE ALBANY, NORTHANTS.

On Saturday, June 18th, six members of the Leicester branch of the Midland Counties' Association, viz.: Messrs. Cotton, Harriman, Lancashire, Miller, Millis and Willson, left Leicester for Stoke Albany, a picturesque village overlooking the Welland Valley, for the purpose of attempting a 5040 in three methods on the handy ring of six at St. Botolph's church, Mr. and Mrs. Deacon (relations of Mr. Harriman) having previously kindly offered to entertain the ringers during their visit. Arriving at the village, a knife and fork tea awaited them at the house of their worthy host and hostess, to which ample justice was done. Tracks were then made for the church, and a start was made about a quarter to six, and after two hours and fifty-eight minutes' good ringing a 5040 was successfully accomplished, particulars of which appeared last week's issue. At the close the Rector and some of the local ringers congratulated the visitors, this being the first 5040 on the bells. A move was then made for supper, and the evening was pleasantly spent in singing and handbell ringing. Prompt at 8.30 on Sunday morning they were again assembled with keen appetites for breakfast; this being disposed of a move was made for the tower and soon a capital 720 of Bob Minor was rung. J. W. Willson, 1; A. Millis, 2; J. T. Harriman, 3; J. O. Lancashire, 4; W. T. Miller, 5; S. Cotton (conductor), 6. The afternoon was pleasantly spent by a walk through Wilbaston and Carlton Park, and after more ringing it was soon time to start for home, all being very sorry to leave. They wish, through the medium of this paper, to thank the Rev. J. N. Philpott, for kindly granting them the use of the bells, and especially Mr. and Mrs. Deacon, Mr. Broughton, and other friends, for their generous hospitality.

THE CHURCH BELLS OF BUCKINGHAMSHIRE. By ALFRED HENEAGE COCKS, M.A., Ch. Ch., Oxford; F.Z.S., F.R.G.S., Great Marlow, Bucks. With many Illustrations.

MESSRS. JARROLD & SONS have pleasure in announcing the early publication by subscription of this most interesting and important work. It will contain an account of all the Church Bells in Buckinghamshire, with everything relating to their history that can be discovered. Full accounts of all the Founders whose bells hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County, including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. The work was undertaken at the instigation of the late J. C. L. Stahlischmidt, Esq., author of "Surrey Bells and London Bell-founders," "The Church Bells of Kent," "Herts," etc.; and the fact that the author had the benefit of the kind assistance and advice of this well-known campanologist may be mentioned as some guarantee of the scope and nature of the present work. Mr. Stahlischmidt wrote the author, that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting county," and he repeated this opinion in a subsequent letter. The "Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 600 pages, & be handsomely illustrated with 24 full-page plates of mediaeval letterings, founders' marks, etc., found on bells still existing in the County and numerous figures—some of them being peculiar to Bucks—will be inserted in the text. The Bvo. Edition is limited to 350 copies, and will be offered to subscribers before the day of publication at 2s. nett. The Larger Edition, Royal 4to, is limited to 80 copies, and will be subscribed at 4s. The prices will be raised on the day of issue should any copies remain unsold.

THE SOCIETY OF TRINITY YOUTHS.

The 110th Anniversary Meeting of the above society was, by kind permission of the Vicar and churchwardens, held at St. Alphege, Greenwich, on Saturday, June 18th. The churches in the district were well represented. Ringing commenced just before 4 p.m., on the fine peal of ten at St. Alphege, and was kept up until past 6. Touches of Grandsire Triples and Caters, Stedman Triples, Bob Major, and Kent Treble Bob Major were successfully brought round. Soon after 6 a very excellent meat tea, to which over thirty members sat down, was served in the Mission Room, under the superintendence of Miss Airy (who kindly presented each one present with a handsome "buttonhole"). The Revs. Brooke Lambert and J. G. Bayley, of Greenwich, were also present.

A special choral service was held in the church at 7.30, the officiating clergy being the Rev. Brooke Lambert (vicar), Rev. G. J. Bayley (curate), and Rev. E. Teignmouth Shore (curate of St. Mary's, Lewisham). There was a good muster of members and friends, who joined heartily in the service. A shortened form of evening prayer was gone through, and the singing of Hymns Ancient and Modern, 119 "Thou art the way, &c." and 292 "Praise the Lord! ye heavens adore Him." The Rev. G. J. Bayley, in the course of an interesting address urged upon the members the dignity and sacredness of the human nature they wore by virtue of the humanity of Jesus Christ, the son of God: that in all that was proper to their humanity Christ therefore took a deep interest—their work, their play, their home life, their life as citizens and Englishmen, and wanted them to feel that He did so, that they might seek His blessing on all their undertakings, and the help of His grace to keep them free from the destructive influence of sin. His brief exhortation that night was "be true"—an injunction that at the outset could not be very obscure to bellringers. He exhorted them to let their lives ring true, and that in three respects: (1) To be true to God: To learn from Jesus Christ what was God's purpose for each of them and endeavour to live true to it. (2) To be true to their fellow men: To remember that their highest and noblest duty here was to seek to promote with all their power the welfare of all and the honour of all at whatever cost to self. (3) To be true to themselves: To obey the voice of God within and to yield themselves willing servants of Him who, though the Son of God, came not to do His own will but the will of His Father in Heaven.

The singing of Hymn 23, "Glory to Thee, my God, this night," brought a very bright service to a close.

The business meeting was held in the Mission Room immediately after the service, the retiring master (Mr. F. W. Thornton) presiding. The election of new members having taken place and some preliminary business gone through the hon. sec. (Mr. F. Rumens) read his Annual Report, as follows:—

"In submitting the Annual Report I have the pleasure of drawing your attention to the very satisfactory and steady increase in the number of members of the society. On the occasion of the Annual Meeting in May of last year, we had 137 members on our books. At the present time, after erasing the names of members who are more than two years in arrear with their subscriptions, in accordance with Rule xii., we have twenty-four life, twelve honorary and one hundred and thirty-three ringing members, making a total membership of one hundred and sixty-nine.

"As regards peal ringing, the society has rung during the past year eleven peals, which is a decrease on the previous year of twelve. The peals were rung in the following methods, viz.:—5 Grandsire Triples; 1 Oxford Bob Triples; 2 Treble Bob Major; 2 Canterbury Pleasure Major (one of which was 10,080, at Erith, conducted by Mr. E. Barnett), and 1 Stedman Triples. Four were rung at Erith, three at Lewisham, and one each at Cliffe-at-Hoo, Crayford, Greenwich and Woolwich. The conductors were Messrs. Barnett 3, Bedwell 3, and Cheesman, Conyard, Grove, Thornton, and Weatherstone 1 each. Although there is a decrease in the number of peals rung, the society has made good progress in the standard methods, and practice is not now confined to Grandsire Doubles and Triples, as in days recently gone by, as touches of Oxford Bob, Union, Plain Bob and Stedman Triples, Bob Major and Kent Treble Bob Major are now the rule, and not the exception, on practice-nights.

"Financially, we are in about the same condition as last year. The balance sheet for the year ended this day, shows total receipts, including £3 8s. 5d. balance from last year, £14 10s. 6d., total expenditure £11 11s. 5d., leaving a balance to the credit of the society of £2 19s. 1d.

The arrear of subscriptions are a great source of trouble to the officers. If members would only pay the same punctually, the work of the Hon. Sec. would be greatly reduced.

"Within the past few days the Central Council of bell-ringers have issued the report of the committee appointed by them, on the preservation of bells, &c., copies of which are being forwarded to the clergy and churchwardens of the various churches in the district, and copies can be obtained through the hon. sec. at the price of one penny each. The report is a most exhaustive and instructive one, and I strongly recommend it to the notice of ringers, and more especially to those who are responsible for the good condition of the bells and belfries.

"At the beginning of the year the Kent County Association submitted terms for the amalgamation of the society with that of the association, which, after full consideration were not accepted by the society.

"In concluding my report, I wish to thank most heartily and sincerely all those members with whom I have come into contact, more especially the steeplekeepers and the secretaries of the different steeples and local bands, and also to any brother officers, for their great kindness and services to me during my term of office. The thanks of the society are also due to the clergy in our district for so kindly placing the bells at our disposal on various occasions throughout the year."

The report was received with applause, and the balance sheet presented by the treasurer (Rev. G. J. Bayley), and it was resolved that the report be adopted and entered on the minutes, and that the balance-sheet be received subject to audit.

Upon proceeding to the election of Master for the ensuing year, it was resolved that the retiring Master (Mr. F. W. Thornton), retain the chair, and that the election be taken by ballot. The names of Messrs. Richards and Rumens were submitted to the meeting, and upon the ballot being taken, there appeared for Mr. Richards 5, Mr. F. Rumens 21. The latter was thereupon declared duly elected, and amidst much cheering, the newly-elected Master took the chair, and in a few words thanked the members for the honor they had conferred upon him, and promised that he would work as zealously on behalf of society in the ensuing year as he had done in the past. The Rev. G. J. Bayley was then unanimously elected Hon. Secretary for the ensuing year, the Rev. E. Teignmouth Shore, treasurer, and Mr. G. H. Daynes, steward.

During the meeting the retiring master (Mr. F. W. Thornton), formally presented the new and very handsome peal-book, the gift of the Rev. Brooke Lambert and Miss Airy to the society, to whom a cordial vote of thanks was accorded. Miss Airy in reply expressed her great pleasure in being able to be of service to the society, and hoped some peals would soon be entered therein.

Votes of thanks were unanimously passed to Miss Airy for kindly making the arrangements for the tea, to the members of the choir and organist for their services, to the Rev. G. J. Bayley for his address, and to the vicar and churchwardens for kindly placing the church, bells and mission room at the disposal of the meeting. Miss Airy having replied, and the Rev. G. J. Bayley having also replied on behalf of himself, the choir, &c., and the clergy, a vote of thanks was accorded to the retiring officers for their services for the past year, and suitable replies having been made, a very pleasant meeting was brought to a close.

OXHEY, WATFORD.

A mixed band of ringers from the following places—London, Brighton, Rugby, Saffron Walden, Walthamstow, St. Albans, and Bushey, obtained the consent of the Rev. Newton Price to ring a peal of Stedman Triples on the morning of Sunday, June 12th, which they failed to accomplish after ringing an hour. Many of the residents in the immediate neighbourhood were not only annoyed by the clanging of the bells in the early morning, but were still more surprised to find that the church clock did not strike the hours during the day. But the Oxhey bellringers themselves were more annoyed when they discovered the cause and found that the visiting team had tied the clock hammer up and left it, and it was not released until 6.30 p.m. They also cut 19 inches off the rope of No. 3 at the rope's end, so that it is now too short for the person that generally rings that bell, and in all fairness they should be called upon to provide a new one. At all events, it is to be hoped that it will be a very long time before they obtain permission to ring again.—Communicated.

Ringers' Outings.

ST. HILDA'S SOCIETY, MIDDLESBROUGH-ON-TEES.—On Saturday, June 11th, this society had their annual outing, Catterick, Yorks, a pretty village on the bank of the river Swale, being selected. Starting from Ironopolis by the 10.37 a.m. train, the party, numbering twelve, after a journey by rail of little over an hour, arrived at their destination, where they were met at the station by Captain Mack, of the local society, who however was not quite at liberty just then. After reaching the village, slight refreshments were partaken of, and then a start was made for the church. It was then found that the formidable key which one of the Middlesbrough men had armed himself with was not sufficient to admit them to the belfry, and another search was at once made for the missing one, when good old village "Robert" ever to the front, soon was on its track, and quickly had it run in, and the bells, a fine ring of six, were soon telling the place had been stormed. The veteran (S. Walker), soon had them going merrily, and was not long in bringing one of his 120s, conducted from the tenor, round in fine style. Another start was at once made for a 720 of Bob Minor, previous to the attempt of the day, but unfortunately was lost after ringing some time. The company then adjourned to the "Golden Lion," where the hostess had been busy preparing a useful course, which was run through in capital form. "Stand" being called, the weld was introduced for a short time, and another visit paid to the church, where the company was joined by several of the local band, including the ever genial Mack and the vicar, the latter expressing his pleasure at seeing the kindly feeling prevalent among ringers. After ringing a short touch of Bob Minor and a course of Grandsire Triples on the handbells, a 720 Kent Treble Bob Minor was then rung, followed by a 720 Bob Minor, the latter including two of the local company. Here a pleasant surprise awaited Mr. Blakiston, the captain of the visitors, in the shape of a most becoming testimonial, subscribed for by the rest of the Middlesbrough company in recognition of his indefatigable services as instructor to the band during the last seven years. The present consisted of a gong, bell shaped, hung in an electro-plated stand, with turned columns, the presentation being made by the oldest ringer, Mr. S. Walker, and was suitably acknowledged by Mr. Blakiston. Before proceeding to catch the last train several of the company availed themselves of the opportunity of seeing through the extensive nursery ground of Mr. R. Mack, the well-known rose grower, which afforded a very pleasing feature to the outing. After spending the greatest time in ringing, time kept going on, and they were only reminded of this by the approaching train, and had to take a hurried farewell of such nice surroundings, and run for the train, which arrived home in due course, and thus brought to an end one of the most enjoyable outings yet recorded by this society. The ringers and friends wish to thank the vicar and churchwardens through the medium of "THE BELL NEWS," and also Mr. Mack and the rest of the Catterick ringers for the kindness shown.

THE SPELDHURST SOCIETY.—This company had their annual outing on Whit Monday, June 6th. The places selected were Hythe and Folkestone, and being favoured with splendid weather, they started from Speldhurst in a brake at 6.15 a.m. and reached Tunbridge Wells in time to catch the 7.0 o'clock train. Arriving at Hythe at 9.0 a.m. and having refreshed the inner man, a move was made to the church, where they were kindly met by Mr. Blaxland, the captain. The bells being raised and tried, a start was made for Holt's Original peal of Grandsire Triples, but was unfortunately lost after ringing about 1800 changes in 1 hr. and 10 mins. F. Still, junr., 1; J. Baker, 2; R. Pelling, 3; W. H. Card, 4; J. Maynard, 5; H. Edwards, 6; G. A. Card (conductor), 7; A. Edwards, 8. And a 447 was then successfully brought round. A. Tawney, 1; ———— 2; R. Pelling, 3; C. W. Blaxland, 4; F. Still, sen., 5; F. Still, jun., 6; G. A. Card (conductor), 7; A. Edwards, 8. Also a 384 of Bob Major. H. Edwards, 1; J. Baker, 2; R. Pelling, 3; J. Maynard, 4; F. Still, sen., 5; F. Still, jun., 6; C. W. Blaxland, 7; C. A. Card (conductor), 8. Tenor 21 cwt. The bells were then lowered in peal and the crypt visited, and a move was made for dinner. The party then took a tram to Sandgate and walked into Folkestone, and having arrived at the church, were met by Mr. Barker, and then proceeded to the belfry, raised the bells and started for a 560 of Grandsire Triples, which however came to grief, and a 336 of Bob Major was then rung. A. Edwards, 1; J. Baker, 2; F. Still, sen., 3; R. Pelling, 4; J. Maynard, 5; H. Edwards, 6; F. Still, jun., 7; G. A. Card (conductor), 8. Tenor 25½ cwt. The bells were then lowered in peal, there not being time for any more ringing on account of a service being held at five o'clock. Tea was the next order of the day and a look round the town, when a move had to be made for the station, Speldhurst being reached about 11.30 p.m. one and all having thoroughly enjoyed themselves with their day's outing. The ringers wish through the medium of this paper to thank the vicars for the use of the bells, and also to Mr. Blaxland and Mr. Barker for so kindly attending on them.

THE LAVENHAM COMPANY.—On Saturday, June 25th, this company visited Hadleigh, Suffolk, a distance of ten miles. Starting at 1.30 p.m., after a pleasant drive in 1 hr. 40 mins., a halt was made in front of the "Crown and Anchor" inn for refreshments. The landlord, Mr. James Mann, formally a well-known and respected resident of Lavenham, congratulated them on their pleasant journey. Here they were unexpectedly met by Mr. Jno. Scowen, who was surprised, not knowing of their visit, as permission had been granted the Rev. E. Spooner, but he being away from home no answer was received, but after exchanging a ringers' compliment from and to Mr. Scowen, he soon returned to get permission from the churchwarden, which was soon granted, but on going to the church a funeral delayed the ringing for an hour. The ringers then separated to different parts of the old and interesting market-town, most of the company coming in contact with their earlier and well-known companions and friends, congratulating each other most heartily. The bells were then raised, and the band soon wended their way to the tower, again finding Mr. Scowen, who had everything in readiness. A proposal was made to ring a date touch, but finding the 7th in heavy going order short touches were rung instead. Afterwards a move was made to refresh the inner man, and an hour and half's rest renewed the lively chat between ringers and friends. Afterwards another touch at the tower, consisting of 504 Grandsire Triples, finished the proceedings on the heavy metal, the rest part of the evening being spent at the "White Lion" hotel, the handbells being freely used to Bob Major and Grandsire Triples, Messrs. Bate-man, Scowen, and Everard taking part. The landlord showed great sympathy by inviting them under his fine skylight to ring the handbells and to partake of refreshments. At 9.15 while Mr. James Symonds, an early resident of Lavenham, was preparing with his own property to take the band on their long course homeward, the usual ringers' grip complimented the ringers of Hadleigh for the generous manner in the way of treating their visitors, and thanking them for their company in the way of promoting their pleasure, not forgetting a Mr. Cook, who gave a merry chat about the grand peals and ringers of London, speaking highly of the well-known Editor of "THE BELL NEWS," each one expressing their thanks for his making "THE BELL NEWS" what it was desired for the ringers at large. The ringers were Messrs. Fisk, Bobby, Snell, Symonds, King, Smith, Parker, Jarvis, and W. Moore. The company wish to thank Mr. Grimwade, churchwarden, for granting them permission to ring, through the absence from home of the Rev. E. Spooner. The visitors arrived at their respective homes at 11 p.m., feeling none the worse for their day's outing.

THE SEAFORD COMPANY.—On Saturday, June 18th, the annual outing of this company took place under the most favourable conditions. The day's programme consisted of a visit to the towers of Buxted, Maresfield, and Uckfield churches. Owing to some of the band having to work on that morning the start had to be postponed to the 8.52 train, instead of leaving by an earlier one. However, at 7.15 a party assembled at the home tower and rang a short touch of 450 Grandsire Doubles. Meeting again after breakfast, all had the satisfaction of noting that no one was absent, and we were soon en route for Buxted. On alighting at the station, strings of flags across the road denoted that something out of the common was to take place, which, upon inquiry, we found was the wedding of the vicar's daughter with a local gentleman, and judging from the enthusiasm shown by the villagers, the union must have been a most popular one. Buxted church stands in the park of that name, and to reach it you have to cross one of the most picturesque pieces of park scenery to be found anywhere in the south of England. The undulating surface of the ground, with its masses of rocks, the fern clad dells, each with its babbling rill, the stately avenues of chestnut and elm in all the beauty of their summer foliage, the herds of deer browsing on the short sweet grass, or lying in the shade of clump of trees, all helped to form a scene worthy alike of the artist's brush or the poet's pen. Such is the approach to the church of St. Margaret, and no inconsiderable time was spent in admiring it, till the sure, but to us just then, the all too quick flight of time warned us that if we were to keep to the programme it was time we were inside the tower. After a hasty survey of the interior, which was very prettily decorated for the occasion, the bells (a peal of eight) were taken in hand, and "go" was called for a date touch of Doubles, but the bad go of the bells, coupled with the spring of a new set of ropes, did not tend to good ringing, and a collapse occurred after ringing about 400 changes. Not to be denied, a fresh start was made, and in 1 hr. and 9 mins. "that's all" was called. This was rang with the two trebles leading throughout. Glad at having accomplished the task started upon, every one was more when it was agreed to make a move to the next place, for one and all voted against any more ringing on this peal owing to the frightfully bad go of the bells, which although rehung only a few years ago went so bad as to quite knock up some of us. Shank's pony was brought into requisition, and a two miles' walk brought us to the "Chequers" at Maresfield, where dinner had been ordered. Everything being in readiness no time was lost in again setting to work, and all being in good condition "go" was called for 3 courses of Knife and Fork Surprise. In this method all seemed equally at home, and doubtless owing to the fresh air and walk, the courses were long ones, but the part-ends came up well, and in exactly one hour "that's all" was called. The church of St. Bartholomew with its old peal of six was next visited, but we found the remark given in the Surrey County Association Report "bells require attention," all too true, and one 6-score was brought round, and this only after repeated efforts, Quoits, walks, &c., occupied the intervening time till tea was ready. Having partaken of the refreshing cup, we again took to the road, and half an hour's walk found us in Uckfield. No time was lost in hunting up the sexton, and obtaining from him the keys of the church, and this peal of eight was soon on the swing. After the tiring work we had experienced at the other two towers, it was very pleasant to ring on a peal that ran as well as these do. Various short touches in the Grandsire method were brought round. Those returning home (a very small minority) had then to leave to catch their train, but others continued ringing, having been joined by several of the Uckfield band. Ringing over, an adjournment was made to the local meeting house and an enjoyable evening was spent in harmony. No ringing was done on the Sunday by those who stayed, but instead of that a country ramble was indulged in, and when the time came for departure, it was with regret that such outings did not occur more often. The ringers through this medium, wish to thank the clergy for granting them the use of the bells, and especially the Rev. J. P. Gell, of Buxted, for contributing in such a liberal manner to enable them to drink the health of his daughter and her husband.

ST. JOHN'S SOCIETY, CARDIFF.—On Saturday, July 9th, the members of this society journeyed to Weston, where their annual pic-nic was held. Arriving there at about 10.15 a move was at once made for St. John's church, where the steeple-keeper was waiting to meet them to have a ring on the peal of six. Raising the bells in peal "stand" had to be called owing to something bumping, which was found to be one of the hammers. Again a start was made, when seven 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles were rung, each called differently. Again "stand" had to be called owing to the 5th rope slipping wheel. J. Cook, 1; J. Richards, 2; A. Rowley, 3; E. Cook (conductor), 4; G. Hardage, 5; J. Cook, 8. Then two more 6-scores were rung with A. Hatton, 6. After lowering the bells in peal a move was made to some dining rooms, where they were catered for in a most commendable manner by the hostess, who gave great satisfaction. In the afternoon a visit was paid to Banwell, a distance of ten miles, permission having been obtained to have a ring on the bells. After raising the bells an attempt was made to ring two 6-scores, but owing to the bells being heavy and going bad (tenor, 35 cwt.), it was useless to attempt it. After having a few rounds with the local men, the bells were lowered, Coming out of the tower they were met by Mr. Castle, churchwarden, who kindly had the church opened to show them the beautiful carved screen and stained windows, after which he showed them a pond that throws twelve tons of water a minute upon a wheel of the mills. Five o'clock arriving, a move was made for tea, when all done ample justice. After a few songs were rendered by Messrs. Cook, Hatton, Madden, and Richards, a hearty vote of thanks to the rectors and churchwardens having all in readiness, was passed.

LLANISHEN (South Wales).—On Sunday, July 10th, five ringers from Cardiff, and two from Penarth, journeyed to the above place by the 3.45 p.m. train to ring for evening service. On arriving at the church they were met by one of the local band who conducted them to the tower, where everything was in readiness. The bells were then raised in peal and three 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles were rung. J. Vinnicombe (conductor), 1; D. Thomas, 2; C. Lloyd, 3; W. B. Biss, 4; J. Clutterbuck, 5; W. Coombes, 6. The tower was then visited by the vicar, the Rev. W. Dovey, B.A., who gave the ringers a hearty welcome and said he should be pleased to see them at any time. He then kindly invited them to tea at the vicarage, to which they at once adjourned, and enjoyed the good things provided, especially some very fine strawberries; after thanking the vicar and Mrs. Dovey for their kindness and hospitality, the ringers returned to the tower and rang ten 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles, each called differently, in 39 mins. J. Vinnicombe, 1; W. B. Biss, 2; J. Clutterbuck, 3; C. Lloyd, 4; W. Coombes (conductor), 5; H. G. White, 6. This is the first ten 6-scores rang on the bells. Tenor 34 cwt. in A. The bells were then lowered in peal, and after service the ringers returned to Cardiff by the 8.31 p.m. train. They wish to thank the vicar and churchwardens through "THE BELL NEWS."

THE ESSEX ASSOCIATION.—On Saturday, June 25th, Messrs. Lucas and Deards from Barking, and Dallimore from Holy Trinity, Barking Road, paid a visit to Harlow, Essex. Arriving there about three o'clock, they had a stroll round the pleasant little town, and then securing a refreshing cup of tea, they were afterwards met by the local ringers, and by the kind permission of the vicar, the Rev. H. Farrow, several touches of Bob Triples and 464 Bob Major were rung at St. Mary's church. E. Parish, 1; A. Deards, 2; F. Perrin, 3; H. Perrin, jun., 4; C. French, 5; W. H. Dallimore, 6; E. Lucas, 7; H. Perrin, sen. (conductor), 8. On Sunday morning, June 26th, for Divine Service, a quarter-peal of Bob Triples was rung in 50 mins. A. Deards, 1; F. Perrin, 2; W. H. Dallimore, 3; H. Jermy, 4; C. French, 5; E. Lucas, 6; H. Perrin (conductor), 7; A. Bass, 8. This was the visitors' first attempt at Bob Triples. The visitors wish through the medium of this paper to thank the vicar for the use of the bells, and also Mr. Taber, the steeple-keeper.

THE OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.—On Saturday, July 9th, Messrs. Smith, Bissley, J. W. and G. Wilkins, Hoskins, Taylor, and the Rev. R. P. Newhouse, by invitation visited Winkfield for a friendly ring with the local band, when previous to Divine Service, to which all attended, several 120s of Stedman, Grandsire, and Bob Doubles were rung. Also after taking tea at the vicarage, kindly provided by the rector, a 336 of Grandsire Triples on handbells and several tunes. Returning to the tower more Doubles in the above methods were rung in which several of the locals took part, and a 360 of Grandsire and 420 of Bob Minor ended the ringing. Then a pleasant hour was spent in singing songs, which brought a very enjoyable outing to a close. Through the medium of this paper they wish to thank the rector for his kindness on this occasion.

THE HOLY TRINITY SOCIETY, GOSPORT.—On Coronation Day, June 28th, six members of the above had a trip to Lyndhurst, New Forest. Arriving there at 12.15, they were met by the foreman of the local band and conducted to the tower. Three different 120s of Grandsire Doubles and 120 Stedman Doubles were rung. K. Gardner, 1; E. Tomlins, 2; G. Keech, 3; E. Reynolds, 4; A. E. Tomlins (conductor), 5; S. Tomlinson, 6. Tenor about 12 cwt. They wish to thank the vicar and foreman for the hearty welcome given them, and for so willingly granting permission to ring.

PRESENTATION TO A FOREMAN BELLRINGER.

After Divine Service at the Parish Church of Wigan, recently, the clergy, wardens, sidesmen, and ringers, assembled in the vestry for the purpose of presenting a testimonial to Mr. Thomas Halliwell, the foreman of the bellringers at All Saints' Parish Church, who has been a diligent student of the art of campanology for forty years, and is justly credited with the great improvement in the ringing there at the present time. There were in the vestry the Hon. and Rev. Canon Bridgeman, the Revs. H. F. Lloyd, A. C. Brown, H. W. M. Gunning, and W. E. Kingsbury; Lieut. Colonel R. A. Farrington and Mr. J. Browne (churchwardens); and Messrs. J. Phillips, J. F. Hopwood, W. Makinson, J. Elsworth, G. B. Walker, J. Potter, T. Halliwell, and the whole of his brother-ringers. The presentation consisted of a handsome silver lever watch with gold albert curb chain and large pendant in the shape of a bell, beautifully wrought in gold, the whole being supplied by J. Seddon & Co., Wallgate. Inside the watch and behind the massive pendant was the following inscription:—"Presented to Mr. Thomas Halliwell, after forty years' service as bellringer and conductor at the Parish Church, by the Clergy, churchwardens, sidesmen, and bell-ringers, Wigan, June, 1892." We understand that all who were asked subscribed most willingly to this testimonial, and Mr. G. B. Walker, chairman, and Mr. J. Meadow, treasurer and secretary, had a pleasant task in soliciting the necessary subscriptions. Mr. Walker having stated the purport of the meeting,

The Rector said it was a very pleasing duty which they had deputed him to do. Mr. Thomas Halliwell, the foreman of the bellringers, had been a ringer for very many years—he could speak for nearly twenty-six years—and he had performed his duties in a manner highly creditable to himself. Not only had Mr. Halliwell made himself popular among his friends in the belfry, but he was also respected when he was a non-commissioned officer in the volunteers, and it was there that he learned the word of command. Bellringers were not always thought of so highly as they were at present. In fact, he had been reading that many years ago to speak of a bellringer was to speak of a drunkard, and a man who did not know how to behave himself. One or two in that vestry would even remember the conduct of the ringers when he first took up his duties at the church, and he had occasion to discharge the whole of them for refusing to abide by the rules they themselves had laid down. Since then, however, everything had gone on well, and he had not heard of the least disagreement. He was exceedingly glad to find that Mr. Halliwell from his consistent good conduct and his services had been appreciated by his mates, and he had great pleasure in asking him to accept a testimonial of their regard.

Lieutenant-Colonel Farrington said he would like to bear testimony also to the efficiency of Mr. Halliwell as a bellringer, but more particularly as a non-commissioned officer in the volunteers. He had shown an example to all others which they might follow with honour and credit to themselves. He (Mr. Farrington) had seen him as a workman, bellringer, and a non-commissioned officer of the volunteers, and he could say with truth that Mr. Halliwell had done his duty both to God and man.

Mr. Browne also spoke as to the efficiency of Mr. Halliwell as a bellringer, and said it was moreover known to nobody better than himself what great care he took of the bells, which in themselves were a very valuable portion of the church's property. Indeed he was of opinion that Mr. Halliwell, by his careful conduct and regular supervision had saved them hundreds of pounds. If they had to pay a man for his services they would have great difficulty in estimating their value, and great credit was due to him for offering his services in so voluntary a manner.

Mr. Phillips spoke of Mr. Halliwell's uniform courtesy and kindness, and said the same could be said of all the ringers that he had got around him. They were a body of men who were a great credit to the town when they went away, and it was with great pleasure that he accompanied them to London a year ago. He was pleased at the heartiness with which the matter had been taken up by everybody who knew of it, and to the pleasure that all had manifested in the presentation of the testimonial.

The Rev. H. F. Lloyd, as one of the ringers, spoke of the respect they all bore for Mr. Halliwell. Change-ringing was quite an intellectual art, and needed a great deal of attention and study. Their foreman had shown a great deal of perseverance and skill, not only in the way in which he had applied himself to the ringing, but in the matter of instructing others.

Mr. Halliwell, on receiving the gift, said he was in such a position that he hardly knew how to express his thanks, but he was very thankful to all of them. Whatever he had undertaken, whatever had been his occupation, he had tried to do his best for those who were in authority over him, and so he would always do for the rest of his life. He had studied bellringing for a long time, but he could assure them that he had always done it for the good of the tower and the benefit of his brother ringers. They were in a position now that they had never been in before, and he hoped that all the ringers would persevere and hand down their knowledge to the rising generation, so that the art would never be forgotten. Twenty or thirty years ago they did not know what change-ringing was in Wigan, but they knew now, and instead of "foreigners" coming to help them, they were able to go and render assistance to "foreigners." He was always glad to do anything in the tower to help the church in every possible manner, and he would conclude by thanking them once more for their great kindness.

Mr. Walker, in proposing a vote of thanks to the Rector for presiding over the meeting, hoped he would be spared to preside over many more similar gatherings. At the same time he begged to thank all the subscribers, in the name of the ringers, for so liberally and generously helping them to do justice to one of their number. Mr. R. Fisher seconded the motion, and the meeting concluded.

ORFORD, SUFFOLK.

A parish meeting was held in the schoolroom at Orford, Suffolk, on Wednesday evening week, to consider what steps should be taken with regard to the restoration of the parish church, it having been recently discovered that the roof of the nave is in a very dangerous and dilapidated condition, so much so that on the recommendation of the architect called in by the rector and churchwardens, the main body of the church has been abandoned, and for the last month services held in the south aisle, partitioned off for the purpose. The chair was taken by the rector, the Rev. E. M. Scott, who was supported by the squire of the parish, Mr. A. Haywood, Mrs. Haywood, Dr. Place, and the principal residents of Orford. A good number of parishioners testified their interest by being present, and a committee was elected to assist the rector and churchwardens in their endeavour to raise the necessary funds to carry out the work. The church is one of the finest in the county, and indeed in the east of England, possessing many features of great interest both to the architect and the archaeologist. The ruined chancel is a grand specimen of Norman architecture, being coeval with the castle, which was built in the time of the Conqueror and granted to one of his barons. The main body of the church is built of the rough stone of the county, faced with Caen stone and ornamented with flints. It is a fine combination of the Perpendicular and Decorated style, and is of noble proportions. The pillars and arches are very beautiful, as also are the windows, which contain some very fine tracery in good preservation. There is a remarkably interesting ancient font, which has been carefully restored. A large portion of the tower fell in the year 1828, when it became necessary to take down the bells, which fortunately were uninjured, and now stand inside the church. The present roof is a very debased and poor structure, and is believed to have been erected about 150 years ago. The original roof was very lofty, with a handsome span, as may be seen from the marks where it joined the tower. The late Mr. George Street, R.A., was employed by the late Sir Richard Wallace, the then squire of the parish, to inspect the church, and evinced the very greatest interest in and admiration of the edifice. He drew some beautiful plans for the restoration shortly before his death, and there is little doubt that, had he lived, the work would then have been carried out. It is these plans which the rector hopes in course of time to see executed, but inasmuch as the sum required is a very large one and the parish consists chiefly of poor people, it must necessarily be some time before a sufficient amount can be raised. A good start, however, was made on the above evening, when subscriptions amounting to nearly 500*l.* were announced in the room. Further sums will doubtless be forthcoming.

CURRENT TOPICS.

It can hardly be said there is free play in our paper for a topical correspondent. The general matter sent for insertion is fitful in its appearance; sometimes the editor's box will not hold the "copy," and then that which has been the last received has to be banded and labelled with a date, to be taken up in due sequence; at other times when everything on hand is exhausted, the incomings are slow and halting, and then the resources of the staff have to be tapped. The latter condition is the case this week, so I am told by Mr. "Printer," (as the gentleman who divides the matter into pages, and generally controls the printing of it is called), and thus, as my senior "Free Lance" is not within hearing, and that funny man, "Joshua," for some reason or others declines with thanks the invitation to pen some of his witticisms for the behalf of myself and fellow readers, I unhesitatingly throw myself into the breach.

The foregoing is sufficient for an introduction; and now to proceed. First of all I will allude to the enormous proportion of space taken up by Mr. Cleal in his remarks about Grandsire Singles. I have not the slightest knowledge of the composer's art, but this common and otherwise single business appears to flavour somewhat of pedantry. We know of two singles in Grandsire Triples, the ten-part and the ordinary, and in Grandsire Minor the old 720's published in The Clavis were, when I was a boy, plain-lead singles, and called when the treble was in seconds place. So I should think we want no others. I write as one ignorant of composition, as I have already said, but as I take it, Mr. Cleal seems to think that for symmetry or something else we should have a variety of forms of singles; in all places up and down. If that is so I hope the C.C. will put their foot down without hesitation upon such a suggestion; if I am under a misapprehension as to Mr. Cleal's meaning (and very likely I am) I hope he will excuse me. But I can't help thinking that the Exercise is getting satiated with these continual dissections, as many of them have been dealt with, ad nauseam, generations ago. But then I suppose ringers had not their "BELL NEWS" to read. Neither had I till late last week.

Mr. James Motts and his companions are the heroes of the hour. The thought of the job they have just executed almost takes one's breath away. Ten hours and a half! 16,608 changes! Bravo Motts, Brindle, Tillett & Co.! I forget the names of the other worthies. I hope copies of our paper containing the record of this peal were circulated about those benighted parts of Dorset, Devon, and Cornwall, where what has lately been termed "bell-grinding" is made so much of by those who ought to know better. I should think this is the longest peal we shall hear of for a time.

To be in the fashion I have secured a copy of the longest peal ever composed. This is the extent of the changes upon nine bells in the Grandsire method. It is a most interesting production, and ought to be in the hands of everyone, as I suppose it is by this time, after the recommendation it has received from the Editor. I have my copy framed as a curio, and I would advise all ringers who want something out of the common and have not this peal, to procure a copy before it is too late. Mr. James Hewitt, of 16, Chapel Row, Gosport, is the Composer, and as he is a ringer in years, and consequently not able to earn so much as when he was younger, the proceeds of the sale of these sheets will no doubt benefit the veteran. Brother-strings: help the movement; you will be old yourselves some day if you live long enough.

A brief account of a visit to England by the most illustrious Duke of Stettin in 1602, lately published, affords a little interest to my readers. His "princely grace," as he was called, not only visited foreign countries in an age when few people made long tours, but before setting out seems to have made such arrangements as ensured a daily record of his experiences. His wanderings included a journey through Germany, France, and England. Once landed in this country he seems, however, to have posted on from Dover by way of Canterbury and Rochester without any unusual delay, though two days were required to accomplish the journey to London. After a compliment to the Thames and the shipping we are told that—"at Deptford (Dortforde) opposite lies a long town, Limehouse (Leinhaus), that may be called a suburb of London. Here were lying many men-of-war and merchant ships. On arriving in London we heard a ringing of bells in almost all the churches going on very late in the evening, also on the following days until seven or eight o'clock in the evening. We were informed that the young people do that for the sake of exercise and amusement; sometimes they lay a considerable sum of money as a wager who will pull the bell the longest or ring it in the most scientific way."

That was a very pretty opening at the Cathedral of Newcastle the other day, and I don't wonder at the disappointed feelings of the association. I suppose the Dean and Chapter have had copies of our paper adverting to the affair, and are able to judge into whose hands the bells should in future be given. If they don't like to give their friends—the "stoney" ringers—the go-by, they can insist upon their becoming practical ringers. We are accustomed in our Cathedrals to have everything of the best: ornate ritual, high class music and singing, and why not the best ringing? If these "stoney" men can't or won't learn anything better, then they should make room for those who are eminent in such work as ringing. In electing members of the choir, and also when a minor canonry is vacant, the candidates have to undergo an examination as to their capabilities. And quite right too, I suppose. And with the selection of ringers it is just as necessary. Every one knows that if an examination were to be held in order to get the best ringers for a Church a "stoney" man would be nowhere. In fact he would not have the assurance to try; and "stoney" or "call-change" ringers know that to be a fact.

If this opening had been in many places entrusted to call-change ringers, they would have invited the scientific ringers to put in an appearance some time during the day. But perhaps in this instance they were afraid. The difference in the ringing may have been so pronounced, as to have led to enquiries being made which would have resulted in the enforced resignation of the "stoney" party. It is not too late to take this measure now.

The Bell News &amp; Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, JULY 16, 1892.

THAT we are now having the kind of weather which makes peal-ringing a somewhat uncomfortable business, the paucity of our records testify. And not only with regard to peal-ringing does this appear, but the reports of touches have gone down much below their usual quantity. This decrease may not be attributed, we think, to holiday-making by ringers, for it can be held as a rule that their holiday resorts would be principally at those places where they could pursue the Art among the locals, and thus the amount of work done under such circumstances would not be less, but rather more than usual. So that we must hold to the idea that the weather is the factor during this quiet time. True it is that many are employed in agricultural pursuits, when the utmost advantage must be taken of genial days to forward labour in the field, but here again we see that the cause of a temporary cessation of ringing is the weather.

But it is in those cases where our friends are compelled to forego their usual practice on account of the hot weather alone that we may with propriety make a suggestion. There are always young academicians to be instructed; and just now, when the steeple is not the coolest place, or work therein of the pleasantest, a favorable opportunity presents itself to engraft upon the young mind, by the aid of handbells, the principles of the method which is proposed to be taught. Handbells in any case afford the readiest means of grasping what are indeed complexities to beginners, and their use at all time—unlike church bells—gives no ground for complaints from a neighbourhood in which a continual state of quiet and repose is preferred. There need not, therefore, be entire abstinence from the pursuit in the hot weather; in fact a most important part of it, that of giving instruction, may be readily kept alive by the means we have pointed out. The recesses of a garden or lawn are peculiarly applicable for the practice of handbells on a summer evening, and the entertainment—for such it is—is also well worth the notice of the gentler sex, who it must be remarked are rather slow to follow the splendid example of that lady whose portrait appeared with this journal a short time ago. Ringers who are Benedicts are sometimes heard to complain that their spouses are hostile to ringing, and we must admit, unhappily, that some ladies have been found now and then to wield domestic authority sufficient to cause their husbands to break their connection with ringing altogether. Where such hostility as this breaks forth, we would strongly advise the immediate purchase of a peal of handbells, which would give to the home an additional charm, and no doubt in time lead—if there is any truth in the statement that the daughters of Eve enjoy in some degree the curiosity of their remote maternal ancestor—to enquiries being made respecting the nomenclature of ringing, and ultimately a desire to become practically acquainted with it. At any rate, our hint with regard to keeping the practice alive, by handbells, and by the same instruments advancing the education of young hands, is worthy of adoption.

THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

LIVERPOOL BRANCH.—The usual monthly meeting was held on Saturday, July 2nd, at Halewood Church. There were about thirty members present; Southport, Hull, Woolton, Grassendale, Gaiston, Liverpool being represented, in addition to the local ringers. At the business meeting held in the school-room, the Rev. H. Gibson Smith, Vicar of Halewood, presided. In a brief speech he gave a hearty welcome to the association, and gave a short history of bells, church towers, and steeples, which was very interesting. On the Secretary expressing a hope that the rev. gentleman would become a member, he (the Vicar) said it would be a pleasure and an honour to him to become a life member. Five performing members were also elected. Farnworth and Grassendale were proposed as the next place of meeting. Grassendale was carried. Mr. R. Hill made a few remarks about the next quarterly meeting which is to be held at Southport, expressing a wish that all those present would attend, and so make it a successful and profitable gathering. He then proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, school-room, and for presiding. Mr. Gough seconded the proposition, which was carried. The Vicar in reply thanked them, and invited all present to partake of tea with him, which it is needless to say was heartily accepted.

After a splendid knife and fork tea, Mr. R. Williams proposed and Mr. J. Aspinwall seconded a vote of thanks to the Vicar and Mr. Wilson for the tea, which had been given at their expense. The Vicar briefly responded.

The handbells were then produced and a well-struck course of Bob Major was rung by the following: W. James, 1-2; R. S. Mann, 3-4; T. Hammond, 5-6; J. Aspinwall, 7-8. The Vicar, highly pleased with the ringing, asked the ringers to come to the rectory, where a course of Bob Royal was rung. W. Davies, 1-2; R. S. Mann, 3-4; W. James, 5-6; T. Hammond, 7-8; J. Aspinwall, 9-10. The tower bells then rang out for the remainder of the evening.

THE KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

SWANSCOMBE BRANCH.—The Annual Meeting of the above was held on Saturday, July 2nd, in the vestry of the Parish Church, the president (Rev. G. Hale, Rector) in the chair. The secretary read the annual report, which stated that the band still retained the number of members, viz., 11 practising members, with two honorary members, also that the ringing for Divine Service and the practice-nights had been well attended during the year. The number of 720s rung during the year was 66, these being rung in eight methods; the reason of the number being so small is owing to the rule never to ring 720s on practice-nights when there are young members present to learn change-ringing, but the band has added two new methods to their list during the year, viz., London Surprise and Superlative Surprise. The balance-sheet was then read, and that and the report were adopted. The officers were all re-elected, after which the Rector addressed the meeting, thanking the ringers for their regular attendance to ring for Divine Service, especially the early celebrations at the great festivals. A discussion then took place as to the best means for providing new ropes, and it was finally decided to ask one of the churchwardens to accompany one of the ringers round the parish to solicit funds for the same. A vote of thanks was then passed to the officers for their past services, and the business was concluded by a very hearty vote of thanks to the Rector for presiding.

Correspondence.

While allowing the utmost freedom for the expression of opinion, it must never be considered that we are in any way bound to statements made by correspondents.

GRANDSIRE TRIPLES.

SIR,—After seeing that interesting letter by Mr. G. Cleal on the singles of Grandsire Triples, I cannot let it pass (although I am a bad hand at writing), without saying a word against them. Mr. G. Cleal shows what he thinks is the best and most suitable to the method, but taking into consideration that the method is worked out by 3rds place-making, and runs on 5, 7, 9, and 11 bells, his call is of no use whatever only for 7, and to get in-course peals on that number, therefore, we want calls to suit all numbers, but by introducing 4th, 5th, and 6th place-making, it is no longer Grandsire. Peals can be got by 3rds place-making only, but the treble would have to be away from lead twice at least while the 3rd is being made to turn the natural coursing-order, which would not do. Holt's original peal of Grandsire Triples contains two common singles which were used by Garthorn, Vicars, and Annable before him, and by that I consider that the common Grandsire Singles are the original and proper ones for the method. Holt, in working for a ten-part peal, found it was impossible on the five-lead plan. He manufactured a call to meet his requirements, and so spoiled this most musical method of Grandsire. A few words on the use of the common Grandsire Singles. They turn the course of the bells, so that odd or even numbers of changes can be got; also we can get the most musical touches, such as the Queens and Tittums in 168 changes, all the 567s at handstroke, or backstroke, in less than 400 changes, also all the 567s and 576s at handstroke or backstroke, in less than 700; the twenty-four 67s in a 1008, and peals in twenty-four divisions with all the 67s at backstroke, which cannot be got with manufactured in-course calls; besides being a trouble to the Exercise in knowing what they have to do in nearly every different peal they ring. The best peals can be got in one, two, three, four, five, six, eight, ten, eleven, and twelve parts by the common Grandsire Singles, and are the very best, taking the method on one or all numbers of bells. If the Council are in favour of illegitimate calls, what is to be said about Caters starting with 213546798, which I consider is superior, as it brings up the Tittums position instantly.

Birmingham.

JOHN CARTER.

SIR,—Absence from home and other business prevented my writing to your last issue on the subject of Mr. Cleal's letter. He refers to my membership of the Committee of the Central Council on the composition of peals. Anything I may say now or at any other time apart from our report must of course be taken as merely my private opinion, and not to the prejudice of the opinion of the Committee of which I have the honour to be a member. There is I fear little that I can add to what I have formerly expressed regarding Holt's and other Grandsire Singles, but I feel that I should appear ungracious were I to suffer Mr. Cleal's appreciative letter to pass without an acknowledgement.

I therefore copy the few observations which I jotted down on reading his letter.

Mr. Cleal's point of division between the leads is quite correct, the parting row being the row previous to the bob row, i.e., that with the treble in seconds, coming down.

The 5039 with bobs only is well-known. See "Grandsire," page 113, where the instance given is called 5038, because the first row on Mr. Cleal's computation, namely, that before rounds is not counted. As to the point at which the two halves of Holt's ten-part commence, I have nothing to alter in, or to add to, the remarks on page 165 of "Grandsire." I do not think that Mr. Cleal or anyone else will ever arrange a true variation of Holt's Ten-part in which the two halves start in opposite directions from the same point.

I will conclude by once more briefly defining my position with regard to Singles.

(a.) They are not strictly natural, but sudden forcible reversions of current, allowable as a rule for only two purposes.

(1.) Turning the course of the bells to produce rounds at a row which would otherwise be an out-of-course row. For this purpose rarely more than one single is needed.

(2.) To produce a complete peal when impossible with bobs only.

There are only two forms of single which on theoretical orthodoxy, for practical usefulness, and historical associations I would be disposed to recommend. Against all others I protest. The two are the common Grandsire, and the form known as Holt's.

(b.) Of the common Grandsire Single.—This amply justifies its existence and use on theoretical grounds, and is worthy of all honour for its antiquity and general use and usefulness. It performs the duty in (1) just above. It would be a great achievement to obtain a peal with only two of them. But it is a single (or sudden reversing of the engine,) and therefore never to be once used without sufficient cause. As an example of what I mean—a bob-and-single peal with more than 46 of them stands self-condemned.

(c.) Of Holt's Single.

My argument for this is largely historical. It was used by Holt, the first great master in Grandsire composition. But by him it was used (1) only for the four individual rows { 325476 and { 324567
235476 and 234567 and (2) never for the production of anything short of the whole peal. Moreover Holt used them only in those peals in which all the other calls were ordinary bobs. My strong contention is that these restrictions should never be transgressed. But keeping to these restrictions I strongly advocate its use on account of the wonderful variety of peals it can produce, its symmetrical nature (Mr. Cleal's is unsymmetrical), its keeping the bells in-course, and last, but far from least, the fact that by only two of them, one at midway and one at the end, peals of Grandsire are produced in parts of equal length and in great variety—such as in short two common Grandsire singles have never yet produced, or seem likely ever to do. CHARLES D. P. DAVIES.

A SUGGESTION.

SIR,—I heard a suggestion the other day which I thought good. I do not know if it is new, but as it might interest many of your readers, more especially in the London district, I give it, viz:—Why should not a tower with a peal of 10 or 12 bells be put up on some common in the neighbourhood of London, easily accessible by rail from all parts, for the exclusive purpose of peal and practice ringing? Such a tower to be accessible for ringing at any time, and under the care of a responsible person. Any band of ringers being able to "book" a day, hours, or hour, which was not already bespoken, on payment for same, to defray expenses. Hitherto the art of change ringing has been associated almost exclusively with bells in church towers, and necessarily so, as there are, with few exceptions, no others. I do not know that ringers have to complain of the want of hospitality on the part of those in authority, with regard to the use of the church bells under their care; on the contrary—nevertheless there is often a difficulty on account of services, &c., and many are the disappointments to ringers—and now that the art is becoming more extended and peals are more often rung, or at least attempted, I think the suggestion merits consideration, and if you, Mr. Editor, would kindly allow others to express their opinion in the pages of your excellent journal, it would be interesting at any rate. To me there appear but two difficulties, viz.: (1) How to raise the first cost? (2) The right site for the tower. Perhaps someone might see how to get over these.

W. POLE ROUTH.

A CORRECTION.

SIR,—In your last issue of "THE BELL NEWS," you publish a peal of Bob Major by the St. Michael's Junior Society, Gloucester. Will you kindly correct the time; it should read 3 hrs. 7 mins., and not 3 hrs. 13 mins. I believe the conductor is responsible for sending the wrong time.

A. ROBERTS.

THE DEBENHAM PEAL.

We are asked by several readers to insert the following lines upon the above peal, written by Mr. Samuel Slater, of Glemsford, Suffolk.

THE LONG PEAL AT DEBENHAM.

Come you who all love to hear the bells rung,
And the praises of ringing for ever be sung,
And hear of the ringers who to Debenham went down,
To ring a long peal of true lasting renown.

This peal is the longest that ever was rung
By any bold ringers now under the sun.
Ten hours and thirty two minutes of time
Was taken in ringing this marvellous chime.

On famed Debenham bells the changes rolled on,
Their sweet merry notes kept floating along;
Their music is good, and the bells go so well,
That all ringers can ring that can handle a bell.

Of changes sixteen thousand six hundred and eight
Were rung by this band, in a manner most straight.
It will never be beaten—my opinion I give—
By any one company so long as we live.

This peal you must know, was rung by a band
Who high in the art of change-ringing do stand.
On Whit-Monday last—what a grand lucky day!
That their labours were crowned with success, I do say.

James Motts rang the treble, and handled her well,
And he was the ringer who did the bobs tell;
His memory is great, his mind it is good,
To call all the bobs so long as they stood.

William Motts at the second, none him can excel;
Where's the man who strikes better, or handles a bell?
To ring this long peal that was his intention,
And his name all good ringers are now proud to mention.

Of William Crickmer, the third, we must say the same
(And of the whole band who this peal did ring);
Determined was he this long peal to gain,
Now his name in change-ringing must ever remain.

Arthur Aldham as next the fourth bell did take,
And, like all the rest, never made a mistake;
Though a native of Suffolk, he dwells far away,
But an annual visit he ventures to pay.

Robert Brundle was next, who the fifth bell did swing,
To complete this long peal he was anxious to ring,
And his best he did too, I'm sure all must tell,
For he is a wonder at ringing a bell.

David Collins, the sixth, in order stood next,
And through the whole peal was never perplexed;
He's a lover of ringing for more than a day,
And never is found to wander astray.

Edgar Collins was next, and rang the seventh bell,
And manfully did he assist the peal's swell;
In Treble Bob Major find better who can,
To ring a long peal he's just the right man.

Frederick Tillett rang the tenor, and did it so well,
All the band gave him credit for ringing this bell;
He can ring a great bell to the greatest perfection,
And praises should come from every direction.

An umpire and judge of the course there was one,
And William John Lines this work he has done;
All ringers the greatest reliance will feel,
For he is an excellent judge of a peal.

"Oxford Treble Bob" the method is named,
And for music, with ringers will always be famed.
Thomas Day, he composed this wonderful length,
Which requires a considerable outlay of strength.

Health and happiness to the ringers I give,
And wish that for many long years they may live;
May their names be recorded in letters of gold,
Who rang the long peal which in rhyme I have told.

SAMUEL SLATER.

Women, says a writer in a daily paper, are pushing their way into the domains of the tyrant man in all directions, and the latest development has taken the curious direction of bell-ringing. I have just seen a paragraph setting forth the fact that two young ladies are in the habit of shaking musical peals out of the bells of a church near London, which novel circumstance has shaken the following bit of rhyme out of my too susceptible system:—

Oh, many a time a cheerful chime,
Is rung by those two girls;
But some fine day, two bounders bold,
In garments gay, with hoops of gold,
Will ring those charming belles.
But when those belles are ta'en from church,
Their tongues will still keep clanging;
And the ringers then—if quiet men,
May wish their belles were hanging.

NOTE TO THE PATTINGHAM PEAL. — This is the first peal of Major by the ringers of the first five, and seventh, and the first attempt for Major by Messrs. Vickers (Tipton), and White; and the first by Mr. Groves as conductor. The band afterwards had a very pleasant drive to Wombourne, where they were met by Mr. R. Cartwright, and touches of Bob Major and Grandshire Triples were rang for evening service. On the way home a halt was made at Mr. H. Roden's, Penn, and courses of Grandshire Triples, Major, and Caters were rang on the handbells. The visitors thank all those who had contributed to the enjoyment of their outing, and Mr. Groves for arranging and conducting the peals, which proved so successful.

NOTE TO THE WOLVERHAMPTON AND PATTINGHAM PEALS. — In the Wolverhampton peal the treble man hails from Tipton; 2nd from Coseley; 3rd from Tettenhall; 4th from Darlaston; 5th from Dudley; 6th from Rugby; 7th from Northampton; 8th from Welshpool (Montgomery); 9th from Wolverhampton; tenor from Penn. It will be seen that each ringer represented a different tower. It is the first peal of Caters by the ringers of the 2nd, 7th, and 8th bells, and the first peal of Caters by Mr. Groves as conductor. Great credit is due to Mr. White, he never having seen ten ropes before; also to Mr. Bratton, being his first attempt for a peal of Caters. Messrs. White and Bratton were elected members of the society previous to starting.

THE CHURCH BELLS OF BUCKINGHAMSHIRE. By ALFRED HENEAGE COCKS, M.A., Ch. Ch., Oxford; F.Z.S., F.R.G.S., Great Marlow, Bucks. With many Illustrations.

MESSRS. JARROLD & SONS have pleasure in announcing the early publication by subscription of this most interesting and important work. It will contain an account of all the Church Bells in Buckinghamshire, with everything relating to their history that can be discovered. Full accounts of all the Founders whose bells hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County, including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. The work was undertaken at the instigation of the late J. C. L. Stahlshmidt, Esq., author of "Surrey Bells and London Bell-founders," "The Church Bells of Kent," "Herts," etc.; and the fact that the author had the benefit of the kind assistance and advice of this well-known campanologist may be mentioned as some guarantee of the scope and nature of the present work. Mr. Stahlshmidt wrote the author, that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting county," and he repeated this opinion in a subsequent letter. The "Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 600 pages, & be handsomely illustrated with 24 full-page plates of mediaeval letterings, founders' marks, etc., found on bells still existing in the County and numerous figures—some of them being peculiar to Bucks—will be inserted in the text. The 8vo. Edition is limited to 350 copies, and will be offered to subscribers before the day of publication at 25s. nett. The Larger Edition, Royal 4to, is limited to 80 copies, and will be subscribed at 42s. The prices will be raised on the day of issue should any copies remain unsold.

I am glad to hear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. ## THE ST. MARTIN'S GUILD OF BIRMINGHAM.

This important Guild (which holds a rather unique position, because, while having head-quarters at St. Martin's, in the City of Birmingham and County of Warwick, its members reside not only within the recently enlarged city boundaries and the neighbouring parish of Aston, but in the surrounding large and densely populated manufacturing district on the borders of three counties, and within the important dioceses of Worcester and Lichfield, and thus comes within the influence of other organizations of ringers) held its annual pic-nic and dinner at King's Norton on the afternoon of Saturday, the 16th inst. Although the fixture seems to have fallen in the English rainy season, the day turning out most depressingly wet and cheerless, this quaint and charming village, with its lovely surrounding scenery, soon had an exhilarating effect on the spirits of the travellers when they reached it after their short railway journey.

A member of the Guild who resides at King's Norton (J. S. Pritchett, Esq., barrister-at-law), had invited the party to his house and grounds during the interval before dinner, so that while some of the members were delighting the residents with well-struck touches on the tower bells, others were enjoying the hospitality extended to them at Hill Top, where a marquee had been erected in which they could enjoy the weed and the other light refreshments provided. An excellent peal of handbells (by James Barwell, Birmingham) was at this juncture produced by Mr. Pritchett, who expressed a wish to hear a touch of Stedman Cinques rung in his house. This was duly accomplished in a masterly style and to the great delight of all the listeners by Messrs. Bastable (conductor), Kent, Russam, Witchell, Miller, and H. Johnson. Your deponent asserts that nothing could sound lovelier than this as heard from the bottom of Mr. Pritchett's kitchen garden.

Between five and six o'clock the members reunited under the noble tower and spire of the parish church, which forms such a prominent landmark for this part of Worcestershire, and a glance around showed the face of many an ancient, now—owing to uncontrollable circumstances, seen far more seldom than one could wish—and, alas! the absence of many an unforgotten face.

At six the party, numbering between fifty and sixty, were seated at dinner at the "Saracen's Head," where the good things provided disappeared with astounding alacrity. After a short interval, utilised in ringing on the tower bells by some of the more active members, and in a quiet smoke and gossip by the more staid, the whole party again reassembled for the discussion of the usual toast list, under the chairmanship of the Guild's presiding ringing master, Mr. John Day.

The secretary, Mr. W. H. Godden, having read letters of apology from Mr. A. P. Heywood, the Vicar of Aston (Rev. E. A. Knox), the Vicar of King's Norton (the Rev. D. H. Cotes Freedy), and Mr. W. Butler also mentioned the regret expressed to him at their inability to attend by several other prominent friends and members.

The Chairman then gave the usual loyal toast of "Queen, Church and State," and which was responded to in the usual vigorous ringers' style.

Mr. J. S. Pritchett, in giving "Continued prosperity to our Guild," referred to the self-evident indications of its present prosperity in the splendid gathering of that day, and in the exposition of ringing given by the members both in the tower and on handbells. He also referred with evident pride to his connection with a Society like the St. Martin's Guild, which numbered among its members men capable of ringing Stedman Cinques in hand in the manner they had that afternoon, and to his gratification that such a performance should take place in his house. He urged his hearers to still endeavour to maintain such a standard of excellence, and in coupling with the toast the name of Mr. Day, stated how much he felt that that gentleman was in his right place at the head of the St. Martin's Guild, and hoped that he might be spared for many a year to come to fill such a position. The Chairman having suitably responded, Mr. W. R. Small gave "The Art of Change Ringing and Kindred Ringing Societies," coupling with it the health of their guest, Mr. Spittle, the Master of the Worcester and adjoining Districts Association. In responding to this toast Mr. Spittle expressed his pleasure at meeting for the first time the assembled members of the St. Martin's Guild. In referring to the speech of the previous speaker, Mr. Small, he emphasised most strongly the fact of the improvement in the general status of ringers and the ringing art, due to the work of the various ringing associations throughout the country, illustrating the point by an experience of his own of fifty years ago. He also thanked the band of ringers who had given him the opportunity that afternoon of listening to Stedman Cinques in hand, that being the second occasion on which he had heard the same band—the first occasion being at the Colonnade Hotel, Birmingham, from which the existing Central Council emanated.

In a neat little speech Mr. T. Pritchett proposed "Prosperity to the Ringing Papers—THE BELL NEWS and 'Church Bells,' humorously referring to the lamable ambition possessed by himself in common with other young ringers to see their names appearing for the first time in the peal columns of those papers.

"Our Visitors" was then given by Mr. F. Smith, who coupled with that toast the name of Mr. W. S. Pritchett, a gentleman who, although a comparative novice in the art, his experience being only of a few months' duration, had given them a taste of his quality in the ability with which he had steered a pair through a touch of Grandsire Caters. Mr. W. S. Pritchett, in responding, mentioned the pleasure it gave the King's Norton inhabitants generally, and the King's Norton Guild of Ringers particularly, to have the St. Martin's Ringers with them.

The Secretary, Mr. W. H. Godden, then proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. J. S. Pritchett, not only for his hospitality in entertaining them at his house and grounds, but for the general care and pains he had taken to make this gathering a success. This notion "caught on" admirably, and the vote was enthusiastically carried, Mr. Pritchett's health being drank with musical honours.

The remainder of the evening was spent in social enjoyment, a recitation—not altogether new to some of the company—being called for and given in a masterly style by the veteran, John Ward. Capital songs were also given by Messrs. Spittle, Reynolds and Palmer, the time for breaking up and dispersing coming all too soon for the majority of the company.

OPENING OF A PEAL-BOARD IN NEWCASTLE.

To hand down to posterity the record of a peal of Oxford Treble Bob Major, rung in St. George's Tower, Jesmond, a neatly executed peal-board has been placed in that belfry. The peal itself was rung on New Year's day of this year, by the Durham and Newcastle Association, and was the first peal on the bells.

These particulars are set out in gold letters on the black background of the tablet, and the whole thing, though small (3 feet by 2 feet), has a pleasing effect, and relieves the monotony of the bare walls of the tower. On Tuesday, July 5th, in the presence of a goodly company of ringers, the Rev. E. S. Pennefather, vicar, unveiled it, and in so doing, said he believed it recorded the best performance done on his bells. He was glad to say that from the first opening of the bells, they (St. George's ringers and clergy), had had the hearty support of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association, who had assisted them in every way to advance in change-ringing. He hoped soon to see as fine a performance done by his own ringers alone.

After a vote of thanks to the Vicar for his kind services that evening, a short touch of about 300 was rung on the bells, and the lowering of them closed the proceedings.

THE BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

A quarterly meeting was held at Sandy, on July 2nd. There was only a small attendance of members, owing to the pressure of hay-making. Three members of the Eynesbury Company were present and joined the Association. This is one of the few change-ringing centres in Huntingdonshire, which it is hoped may soon become more numerous.

Some good 720's were rung in Treble Bob and other methods, and a pleasant meeting concluded with a hearty vote of thanks to the Rev. J. Richardson, the rector, for his kindness in placing the bells at the disposal of the Association.

Owing to the small number of members present it was found impossible to pay a visit to Potton, but it is hoped this is only a pleasure deferred.

News from Abroad.

We have received the following note from Mr. William Shenton, of Armadale, near Melbourne, Australia, together with the newspaper extract which follows, giving an account of the proceedings at the dedication of the new tower and bells of St. Peter's church, Ballarat:—

HIGH STREET, ARMADALE, NEAR MELBOURNE,

June 4th, 1892.

DEAR MR. EDITOR,—The enclosed extract, I think, speaks for itself. The peal of bells it refers to are a rather light peal of eight just sent out to this colony by Mears and Stainbank, for the church of St. Peter, Ballarat. Unfortunately the tower is only eleven feet inside, and there are only six bells hung for ringing, the two smallest being placed above. The Ellacombe apparatus is affixed, the ropes of which, I am afraid, will be used more than the ropes for ringing.

The band of ringers at the opening ceremony were from the Ballarat Club, whose head quarters are at the City Hall, where they have a good peal of eight, tenor 23 cwt. I had the pleasure of taking a rope with them on this occasion, being the representative of the Victorian Society of change-ringers, Melbourne, and although not much ringing was done, it was sufficient to give satisfaction, and to prove that the bells are a musical little peal, in the key of G, with tenor perhaps a little under 12 cwt. The assembled company (clergy and parishioners) appeared to wish for tunes, and Mears and Stainbank advised us not to ring much for another six months, so as to let the tower get stability, it having been only recently built.

[EXTRACT.]

On Tuesday, June 3rd, the ceremony of dedicating the tower and bells, the munificent gift of Mr. James Fry to St. Peter's church, was performed by Dr. Thornton, Bishop of the Diocese, in the presence of a very large gathering. Long before the time appointed the parishioners and the general public thronged into the church building, while many remained outside in order to witness the hymnal procession. The proceedings commenced with a processional hymn, "Onward, Christian soldiers." The procession took the following form: The bishop, preceded by Canon Radcliff, carrying the staff: Archdeacons Green and Allanby, Canons Mercer and Flower, Revs. Curzon-Siggers, W. H. Gear, E. J. Davies, W. Swinburn, R. M. Fulford, J. C. Carmichael and J. Glover; choristers (robed), Mayor Shoppee (with mayoral robes and jewels of office), with the churchwardens bringing up the rear. On arrival at the tower the clergy, choir, &c., separated into two lines, and the Bishop, accompanied by his chaplain and the vicar, passed up the entrance. The Bishop touched the door with his staff, saying, "Open ye the doors," upon which they were opened from within. On entering, the donor handed the keys of the tower, porch, and belfry to the bishop, who committed them to the vicar. After the recital of prayers to the Almighty Father, the Gracious Son of God, and the Holy Spirit, the procession passed through the new porch and moved towards the choir of the church, singing, "Lord of the worlds above." After a shortened form of even-song the procession returned to the belfry, where the bishop received the bell-ropes from the donor, who preferred the following request:—"Right Reverend Father in God, we request you to dedicate to the glory of God and the use of this church, this peal of bells." The bishop, holding the ropes, said:—"By our sacred office we do most solemnly set apart, separate from all unhallowed, and ordinary, and common use these bells, now dedicated entirely to God's service for the benefit of His holy church." Then, delivering the ropes to the vicar, he said—"Receive these bells as a sacred trust, committed unto thee as the appointed minister of Christ in this church and parish, and take heed that they be ever and only used in His service, and for His glory." Appropriate prayers were then offered up, after which the procession retraced their steps to their previous position in the church, singing the while "Now at length our bells are mounted."

At the conclusion of the service the bell ringers, under the leadership of Captain Bracher, rang out a merry peal as the congregation emerged from the church, and subsequently discoursed a number of appropriate hymns.

After inspecting the tower, and listening to the music of the bells, the majority of those present, at the invitation of the vestry, adjourned to the schoolroom, where refreshments were partaken of, after which the vicar (Canon Flower) extended a cordial welcome to the bishop of the diocese and the clergy of the surrounding parishes. He then read apologies from Canon MacMurray, Rev. A. H. Adeney, Judge Gaunt, Mayor Dunn, and others. He was, he said, delighted to have to welcome the donor of the tower and bells. (Continued applause.) The occasion was a great one, and of great consequence and great happiness, and he wished, on behalf of those present and the parish they represented, to heartily thank him (the donor) for his munificent gift. (Applause.)

He then called upon the bishop to present Mr. Fry with a framed picture of St. Peter's church, as it now appears. On the back of the picture is recorded the inscriptions on the bells, together with the names of the vicar and officers of the church.

The bishop, having referred to the extreme gratification he felt at having dedicated the tower and bells, which he felt would have a moral effect upon the minds of those who heard them, requested Mr. Fry to accept the slight offering.

The recipient, who was greeted with loud applause, said it was with a sense of appreciation and gratification that he accepted the gift, which he would hand down to his family, and he hoped would pass from generation to generation. He valued the gift so highly that he could not find words with which to convey his feelings of gratitude. It was, indeed, gratifying to commemorate the completion of a building that had been in contemplation for so many years. He wished to thank Mr. Retallack for his assiduous attention in superintending the erection of the tower. He regretted the present depression, which was pressing as heavily upon him as upon others. Yet he had much to be thankful for, and he felt it was his duty to strengthen the hands of the bishop and to assist the church. He could join hands with the Christians of every denomination, but still he loved his church, and felt sure he could not do half enough for its advancement. Mr. Fry resumed his seat amidst loud applause.

Mr. Retallack was then presented by Mr. Crocker, on behalf of Mr. Fry, Canon Flower, and the vestry, with a beautiful piece of silver plate in recognition of his undivided attention as clerk of works.

Mr. Retallack, in accepting the gift, said he had had the greatest pleasure in doing the little he had done, and he almost felt sorry that the work was completed. St. Peter's Church was very dear to him, all the more so because it was there where he first met Mrs. Retallack, and he had had no fewer than ten or eleven children christened there.

On the motion of Mr. H. Bradbury, a vote of thanks was accorded the architects and building contractors, for the manner in which they had carried out their duties.

A vote of thanks to the clergy for their attendance, moved by Mr. Pittard, and responded to by Archdeacon Allanby, brought the proceedings to a close.

The list of speakers at the Church Congress has been further added to, and the following names appear: The Bishop of Coventry, Bishop Selwyn, the Dean of Windsor, Canons Scott Holland, Maclear, Ince, Driver; Mr. Justice Grantham, Sir J. Parker Deane, Mr. W. Layton Loundes, and Mr. Guy Pym. The Bishop of Peterborough and the Head Master of Harrow (the Rev. J. E. C. Welldon) will preach two of the Congress sermons on Tuesday, October 4th. Mr. John Hart is arranging his well-known Ecclesiastical Art Exhibition for the Congress week.

The Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge has voted £500 towards a Clergy Endowment Fund for the diocese of Bathurst, to meet £2,500 raised from other sources. Grants amounting to £810 for Sunday School buildings in English dioceses have also recently been made, while the sum of £340 has been devoted to the erection of Mission-rooms.

ST. PETER'S GUILD, WOLVERHAMPTON.

A complimentary dinner and presentation to Mr. J. Fowler took place on Saturday, May 28th, when a large number of ringers and friends met to celebrate the seventy-third birthday of the above-named gentleman. Touches of Stedman Triples, Grandsire, and Stedman Caters, was rung at St. Peter's church, conducted by J. Carter and J. E. Groves. The company afterwards adjourned to the "Lamb" inn, where a capital spread was awaiting them, and to which full justice was done by ringers and friends to the number of forty-five, ringers being present from Wolverhampton, Birmingham, Dudley, Tipton, Kidderminster, Wombourn, Penn, Tettenhall, and Rugby. After the cloth was drawn, Mr. R. Cartwright was voted to the chair, and Mr. W. R. Small to the vice-chair.

The Chairman in a very neat speech explained the object of that meeting, and called on the vice-chairman to present to Mr. Fowler an address as a small token of esteem from his brother-ringers.

Mr. Fowler, who was taken quite by surprise, returned thanks for the great honour they had done him. The address was beautifully got up and enclosed in a massive English gilt frame, and signed by twenty-four ringers.

The rest of the evening was spent in handbell ringing and singing, including some excellent tunes by the Darlaston handbell ringers.

Votes of thanks were passed to host and hostess Freeth for the excellent spread placed before them, which was responded to by Mr. Freeth. Votes of thanks to the Chairman concluded the meeting.

Ringers' Outings.

ST. JAMES' COMPANY, BRISTOL.—The eighth annual outing of the above recently took place. The party, numbering fourteen, accompanied by the Rev. W. E. Blathwayt, and Mr. J. H. Read (lay reader), went by train to Weymouth. Starting from the Bristol station at 7.10 a.m., they arrived at Weymouth at 10.45 a.m., and only having a short time there, they inspected a few places of interest, and an hour in the boat round the bay. Dinner time being at hand, they proceeded to the Imperial hotel, where Mr. Took, the manager, provided a good substantial dinner. They then made for the 2.30 steamer for Portland. Having little over two hours there to amuse themselves on the pebble beach, and a short walk across the hills. They left Portland at 5.15 p.m. for tea at six o'clock, to which ample justice was done. Starting from Weymouth at 6.45 p.m., they reached Bristol at 10.5, every one having thoroughly enjoyed themselves with the delightful day's outing.

ST. WILFRID'S SOCIETY, CALVERLEY, YORKS.—On Saturday, July 16th, this society had their annual outing, the place selected being Harrogate. After looking round the beautiful town they went to St. Mary's church, and some good touches of Oxford, Violet, Kent Treble Bob, and London Treble Bob Major were rung. The ringers wish to thank the vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells, and also the local ringers for their kind welcome.

A QUEER INSCRIPTION.—A writer in Answers sends to that paper the following inscription, which he found in a belfry:—
"7761 S.W. snedraw hcruhc W.O. T. irom

which he says, "I discovered in a belfry in Lincolnshire, and which gave a decided reminder of the mysterious and formidable looking 'agony' advertisements one sometimes sees in the papers. When it entered my head to read the inscription backwards, however, all uncertainty vanished, and 'Memento mori [remember death] T.O.W. churchwardens W.S. 1667' was disclosed. Though Lincolnshire can boast an older and, indeed, the first English peal of bells, a date which exists in the belfry of another fen-land church rather staggered me—viz., '1266.' Reference to the parish documents, however, showed that this, too, was evidently to be ascribed to the inaccuracy on the part of the founder, '1626' being much nearer the mark."

THE DISPUTE AT ST. MICHAEL'S, COVENTRY.

The financial difficulties between the vicar of St. Michael's, Coventry (the Rev. Dr. Mills), and the churchwardens, which have now existed for a considerable time, have for the last two months been standing in abeyance, during the intervention of the mayor, with a view to an amicable settlement. The proposals submitted by the mayor were accepted by Dr. Mills and the churchwardens, and till within a few days ago a settlement seemed imminent. The churchwardens, however, held a meeting on Thursday, and submitted an additional proposal to Dr. Mills and his legal advisers, which has resulted in the breaking off of the negotiations. Dr. Mills's financial claims on the churchwardens were £500 due at Easter last, £75 due on June 24th for stipend, and £75 for the curate's fund, making a total of £650; while the proposals submitted by Mr. Singer were that the vicar should accept £390 and £250 at a deferred date, the churchwardens paying the legal expenses. The vicar was also to relinquish to the churchwardens any rights he might have in the appointment of church officials, and a further proposal was that if he were offered a suitable preferment he would take it. Dr. Mills accepted these terms, and the Bishop of the diocese gave his approval. The churchwardens' additional condition was that the vicar must leave the parish, that the £250 should not be paid unless he had left within twelve months, and that the legal expenses should not be paid until after his actual departure. This condition Dr. Mills will not agree to, and it is expected that the legal proceedings against those who refuse to pay the vicar's rate will be resumed. The Times, from which the above is taken, also states that the dispute between Dr. Mills and his wardens has been resumed, and after the evening service on Sunday there was another scene in the vestry. This was over the sermons preached on that day on behalf of the Church of England Temperance Society, the churchwardens objecting to any charity sermons being preached at present, owing to the financial difficulties in which the church is concerned. The sermons, however, were preached in the morning by the Rev. W. Wilkinson, of Birmingham, and by the Rev. W. Kipling Cox in the evening. After the latter service, when the choir had left the outer vestry, Dr. Mills states that three wardens waited on him, and, on his entering, commenced abusing him. He retired to the clergy vestry-room, but they shouted after him that he was a coward for running away, and that he was afraid to meet them or listen to what they had to say. They followed him into the private vestry, and when asked to leave refused to do so, saying that as churchwardens, no part of the church was private to them. After some further remarks they left. On Monday Dr. Mills wrote to the local manager of London and Midland Bank instructing that no cheques were to be cashed on any account whatever held in the name of the vicar and wardens unless his name was signed to the cheques.

A choral festival in connection with the Church Choir Guild, of which Dean Pigou is the president, was held in Bristol Cathedral on Thursday, when there was a very large congregation. The processional hymn was "Rejoice, ye pure in heart," the beautiful silk banner of the guild being carried at the head of the procession. Most of the choristers wore the badge of the guild. Evensong was beautifully rendered, and with such a body of trained musicians at his command, the task of Dr. J. H. Lewis, warden and licensed lay chaplain of the guild, who conducted, was a comparatively easy one, and the members of the choir sang the music in a manner which was most impressive. It is hardly necessary to say the organ accompaniment was worthy of Mr. George Riseley. The responses were Tallis's, the Proper Psalms were chanted to Goss in D, the Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis were Tours in F, and the anthem was Gadsby's "O Lord, our Governour." The hymn before the sermon was "O God, our help in ages past," and the offertory hymn, "O Lord of Heaven and Earth and Sea." The prayers were intoned by Precentor Mann and the Dean, and the Lessons were read by Canons Tetley and Ainger. The sermon was preached by the Dean from Ephesians v. 18. He said the object of the Church Choir Guild was as commendable as it was intelligible. It was a bond of union among those who were devoting their musical attainments to the most sacred use—music in connection with Divine worship.

STOKE-ON-TRENT ARCHIDIACONAL ASSOCIATION.

The Annual Meeting of the above association was held at Stoke-on-Trent, on Saturday, July 9th, and was attended by the Ven. Archdeacon Lane, Rev. O. W. Steele, vicar of Wolstanton; Rev. R. H. Craft and Rev. J. W. Alston, of Stoke-on-Trent, and about 40 members. A service was held in the Parish Church, and in the unavoidable absence of the Bishop of Shrewsbury, an address was given by the Ven. Archdeacon. The ven. gentleman said:—

Gentlemen,—The address which I am about to give to you this afternoon will be founded upon the words of the 6th chapter of St. Matthew and the 24th verse: "No man can serve two masters." We all know this text is very important to all of us assembled here, and I have been called upon (at the last moment), to say a few words, that we may be refreshed and renewed with fulness of life, from the words I have just quoted. Now we have all two great masters to contend with, our Creator and Satan, and we must choose which we will serve, for we cannot serve both of them, we must either serve the Lord, or serve the devil; and we are now met together, let us consider over a few matters that may be beneficial to all of us. Our Master Christ went about doing good on earth, as I hope all the members in this association are, and as they go about their duties that they will try to consider which Master they are serving, for every one of us may soon be led astray when we are trying our utmost to strengthen ourselves, with the good motives we have at heart; and as we all meet together to handle the ropes, and as each one seem eager to perform his duties manfully, when the work is done may he carry out the good intentions with which he commenced the day by heartily enjoying the services of the church, so that he may be filled with new life and vigour for the coming week, as we all require energy from our Great Master to enable each of us to perform the work which He has given us to do. We cannot serve two masters is a very important thing for a man to consider, and to set his mind upon holy things, for if he has not got some guard against himself he may go headlong into ruin, then all would be lost. But we must seek to gain a higher sphere in life by committing ourselves wholly unto him for all the benefits we need, as we may all ask faithfully and obtain effectually, and it is my earnest wish that every one here will try to do his duty manfully and well, that he may obtain a great reward from his Master Christ. A great many may think that it is a hard work to do, trying to serve one Master, but you would always be gathering together a renewal of fresh energies, making you one with Him and He with us. Then while you are applying these words of our Master you must put on the whole armour of God, and walk in the way of His dear Lord, then we shall be able to say that we are doing the work of our Gracious Master. I have not put my words in parables to you, as a personal friend of mine once did (Rev. J. J. Serjeantson), but I hope that (by the blessing of God), my words will find their way to every heart here assembled. I can only recommend them to you in the name of Jesus Christ, our Master and Saviour. We should not be able to consider much of ourselves if we had not a Heavenly Father to apply to for His help in our time of distress. I know that all of you have felt a Divine power, though you may not be able to express yourselves as to this power rendered unto you by the gift of His Holy Spirit. Then, dear friends, what is there for any of us to neglect this grand offer presented unto us as a living sacrifice, holy and acceptable unto the Lord, which is our reasonable service. Therefore, as we find all things working together for our own good, let us live and do the work which He has sent us to do, never to shrink from the task He has enabled us to fulfil, for there are times when we may lack courage, but the Lord, whom we seek, will supply us with His bountiful grace to walk steadfastly through life with reverence and godly fear. It is with these few remarks I have given to you this afternoon that I hope all may be able to follow in the steps of our Blessed Master, as through Him we live and move and have our being. We must, therefore, exercise ourselves to be of one heart, and one mind, labouring together fervently with all diligence, that we may be profitable in all things, and when we are called to give an account of our works unto the Lord, may each be found acceptable in His sight, as He ever liveth to make intercession for us through Jesus Christ.

The business meeting was held in the Church Room, immediately after the Service, the chair being taken by the Ven. Archdeacon. The Annual Report was then presented to the meeting by the hon. sec. (Mr. W. Twigg), which showed that the society had made considerable progress during the past year, the balance sheet showing a sum of over £6 to the credit of the society.

The officers for the ensuing year were then appointed, the Rev. O. W. Steele being appointed Chairman of the Committee, and the Rev. J. W. Alston, clerical secretary and treasurer, in place of the Rev. R. H. Craft, who is leaving the district. Mr. W. Twigg was re-elected lay secretary.

Regret was expressed that the association was about to lose the active services of their patron, the Bishop of Shrewsbury (Sir L. T. Stamer), who is shortly leaving the district to take up residence at Shrewsbury. It was proposed that a testimonial in the form of an illuminated address be made to the Bishop as a memento of his connection with the association, which was unanimously agreed to.

A vote of thanks to the Chairman brought a very successful meeting to a close.

Tea was afterwards partaken of by the members in the room, and the rest of the evening was spent in ringing.

THE ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

The bells of Ardleigh Church, near Colchester, now being rehung and increased to eight, in memory of the late Canon Perry, will be re-opened on Tuesday, August 9th, by members of the Essex Association. Divine Service at 3.15 p.m.

Ringing members of the association will be welcome during the afternoon. Tea will be provided after service. Ringers intending to avail themselves of this invitation are requested to inform me not later than Friday, August 5th. The trains leaving Colchester at 9.14, 11.13, 4.10, and 5.43, call at Ardleigh; return trains at 6.34, 8.24 (for Colchester, Marks Tey and Sudbury), and 9.14 (all stations to London). T. L. PAPILLON.

Writtle Vicarage, Chelmsford.

THE DEBENHAM PEAL.

Ten times we tried it, from year to year;

And ten times we tried in vain;

Sometimes we felt down-hearted,

But we tried and tried again.

We were sure that we could do it,

Though we knew 'twas ten to one,

That a rope would break, or a man's head ache,

Or his fingers cramp, or a little mistake

Would happen, and we'd be done.

Fourth's rope slipped the wheel in eighty-two,

And next year I lost my course;

Once they stopped us because the squire was ill,

And once when his wife was worse.

In ninety we passed the ten thousandth change,

Something went wrong with a wheel;

And only last year we were three-parts through,

A slider stuck, and — I won't say who—Missed the sally and spoilt the peal.

And now at last they have rung it,

Sixteen thousand six hundred and eight!

And I was not there to help them,

It was not my fault but my fate.

I only wish I'd been in it,

Ten hours-and-a-half I could stand,

But I don't grudge their fame. Fill my glass all the same,

Here's a health to you, Jemmy Motts, and your crew!

Here's a health to the Debenham band!

C. PEARSON.

A PEAL OF 362,880 GRANDSIRE CATERS, 6d.
Contains the full extent of changes on nine bells. Forwarded Post Free, on Receipt of 7d. By James Hewett, 16, Chapel Row, Gosport.

CURRENT TOPICS.

So I see the Ancient Society of College Youths hath a new Secretary. There is no account, verbal or otherwise, so far as I know, of the late Secretary resigning his office. But the five lines of bad poetry which appeared the other week, and the notice that another officer had been appointed, makes one think that the late Secretary has gone away in a manner—well, say abrupt. The new man—Mr. Cockerill—I have only seen once or twice, but I am of opinion the College Youths will have in him a very efficient and respectful officer. In these days it is necessary to have for such an office one possessed of intellectual attainments, in short, a gentleman, and I believe that in Mr. Cockerill these qualifications will be found.

The position of Secretary to any ringing Society is by no means a sinecure. Perhaps among what I may term "locals," as distinguished from those which are either county or Diocesan, the position of Secretary to either of the great London Societies is one requiring no ordinary amount of tact. And now these bodies can be congratulated upon the officers who serve them in this post. There is an immense amount of correspondence devolving upon a London Secretary; he has to look after the interests of his company; to act as its general adviser upon most matters; to give information upon almost every subject connected with ringing to country correspondents; and among all he should preserve a courteous and placid demeanour; this latter is sometimes a difficult matter.

The "Society of Trinity Youths" merit the prefix of "Ancient" if there is no error in saying that their last assembly was the "110th" Anniversary Meeting. There are several other ringing societies who claim to have been established early in the seventeenth century. Such statements are very interesting, and I don't see where the doubt comes in. The problem lies in the question whether these Anniversary Festivals have always been held; whether there has or has not been a break in them; a lapse, so to speak. I am afraid there has, in more than one case. If there is ground for such fear, why keep on perpetuating the error? The year of establishment may be given, but the assertion that every year since then the company in particular has had an annual dinner, or festival, or anniversary, or what ever name it is known by, is rather too much to swallow. Persons have been known to assert, and maintain their assertions strongly, that one important London Society has had a break in its history; and I confess that till the appearance of Mr. F. W. Thornton upon the scene, I did not know that the Trinity Youths (should the title not be "Scholars?") were still in existence.

This antiquity business of course is mere sentiment. We need not be concerned whether the Trinity Youths "came over with the Conqueror" or whether the Conqueror came over with them. The main interest is in the present doings of the Society and its progress. A continuation of most excellent officers has evidently brought it to be regarded as one of the "great" Societies of the Metropolis. True it is that the members don't regard peal-ringing as the only object of their existence, though they have done some good work. The ambition of the officers appears to be to obtain to what I may call the height of administration. Every item of management is carefully carried out to the strict letter. Notices of meetings, both for business and ringing receive ample publication, in short, the general administration of the Society of Trinity Youths appears a good model for any local societies.

My reason for dwelling at length upon the Society of Trinity Youths is that it was hinted to me last week at the office that the Editor had in view the giving of a short history of the Society. Therefore I thought it would not be out of place to commit my own thoughts to paper on the subject first, and reading last week the report of the 110th meeting decided me. I think a history of the Trinity Youths would be interesting, and will be made so if our chief has full materials for the purpose.

The presentation to Mr. Thomas Halliwell, the proceedings of which were recorded in last number, do great credit to his colleagues at Wigan. Mr. Halliwell has worked heartily and patriotically for the science for twenty years at least in Wigan, with the result that he, independently of this testimonial, he has reaped his reward. At Wigan twenty or thirty years ago change-ringing was unknown. In endeavouring to introduce it "foreigners" had to be imported to assist the movement, but now we are told, the Wigan gentlemen are able, and I hope and believe willing, to go to the assistance of "foreigners." In undisguised English this means I suppose, that the assistance of friends from neighbouring towns was required at Wigan formerly, now, through Mr. Halliwell's exertions, the Wiganites are able to help their struggling neighbours. We sometimes in the political world hear of a doctrine termed "reciprocity." I eschew politics altogether though I have just recorded my vote in favour of a candidate who was averse to Disestablishment, and I am glad to say he got elected. This however by the way, Political reciprocity, whatever it is can't come up to the reciprocity, or freemasonry, or any other term you like, existing among ringers. They are not only willing to help each other to progress, but pleased to do so, and in the majority of cases, without fee. The gratification comes in the end sometimes, as in the case in point. It is not an impertinent question to ask here—"Is there any other society in existence who have at some time or other received the benefit of gratuitous instruction from some competent ringer who have failed by the absence of any little courtesy to their teacher, to acknowledge his labours among them?" Or again, is there a society of ringers to be found who have repaid the services of their instructor with ingratitude, misrepresentation, and calumny? I am sadly afraid that this last question can be answered in the affirmative. All, honour, therefore, to the men of Wigan for acting rightly. More power to them.

I see our old friend, Slater, has in some degree, the divine afflatus. I think that is the correct term. I do not wish the honours to the Debenham men to be chary, but to rush into poetry like this shows too much gush. Poetry is rather a ticklish subject to embark in; if it is good, why it's good; and vice versa. I have never seen much poetry about ringing as I should like. I am told that the Editor's box swarms with unaccepted poetical contributions.

The Bell News &amp; Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, JULY 23, 1892.

A suggestion not altogether novel was made last week by a correspondent, who wishes to see a tower with a complete peal of bells erected in some spot near London, having no connection whatever with a church. We have heard an idea something like this mooted before, but it has never been received with the barest sign of approval. Nor is there the remotest probability that the suggestion of the writer will ever be carried out. We are among those who would look upon such a movement with disfavour.

The proposal is no doubt made in good faith, but the writer does not appear to know that his suggestions, if carried out generally, would entirely alter the position and character of Church bell-ringing. Ringers are at present—and long may they remain so—regarded as Church officers, by reason of their duties being performed in the church. The erection of towers with bells having no connection with the Church, would revolutionise the present position, and ringing, thus divested of its churchmanship, would soon degenerate into that unholy thing which is denominated

"sport," with all its attendant horrors. We have as yet kept our science free from the operations of the gambler; this suggestion would easily open a way for them, if it could be realised. All ringers, it may be, cannot see the distinction we have endeavoured to draw; but the desire that bellringing should be an appanage of the Church, and of nothing else, is gaining ground, and will continue to do so. Our correspondent's intentions are good, no doubt, but they cannot be commended.

While allowing the utmost freedom for the expression of opinion, it must never be considered that we are in any way bound to statements made by correspondents.

To the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS AND RINGERS' RECORD."

GRANDSIRE TRIPLES.

SIR,—Mr. Carter's letter calls for very little comment from me. I did not mention Bob and Single peals, my argument was confined to in-course Singles and peals entirely, as to whether these latter are desirable; I, for one, shall be contented with the decision of the C. C., whatever it may be. Mr. Davies repeats a series of statements, and considering his position on the Committee, I can quite understand the withholding of his arguments to a great extent. He says that his argument for Holt's Single is largely historical. It may be that the history of the thing decrees in some way unknown to me that, whereas the effect of the original common Single takes place at the back-stroke lead of the treble, the effect of any other shall take place there, a line of reasoning which has often occurred to me; in the same way, whereas one of the features of the common Single is the making of seconds place, in no other Single shall that feature exist, a line of reasoning which seems contradictory. I will not venture an opinion as to the bearing history has on the subject; but as to the practical usefulness of the Single, Mr. Davies recommends, I think its superiority over others, in that respect, will take some explaining away. In the case of Holt's, a Single is called, two bells make a Bob, and the others something which is neither Bob, Single, or plain lead, not one bell makes a Single. In the case of the one, I advocated four of the six working bells, making what we all know as a Single. Just a word with our old friend "Plain Speaker." His inconsistency I take exception to. He is careful to protest his ignorance of the whole subject, and yet he is full and weary of it, and thinks everybody is the same. Notwithstanding his professed ignorance of the thing, he does not hesitate to advise the C. C. to put its foot down somewhere, he does not care where, by the tone of his remarks, so that the foot goes down. I can assure your contributor that the motive which prompted me in the writing of my letter was not a selfish desire to make myself heard, as he so cleverly insinuates; but one of genuine interest in the subject, in the belief that the questions brought forward, and opinions expressed were pertinent in every way.

THE CATHEDRAL BELLS OF ST. NICHOLAS, NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE.

SIR,—With regard to the remarks in your publication anent the ringing on the bells of St. Nicholas' Cathedral, and your leader thereon, I was surprised at the insertion of such an evidently one-sided account. As to the letters in the local press, we have treated them with the contempt they merited; but when such gross misrepresentations are published in "THE BELL NEWS," which is extensively circulated among lovers of the Exercise, it is time some notice was taken.

On the opening day the authorities of the church had made such arrangements as precluded anything but "ronnds" being rung before the service, as there was only a short time to ring while the procession proceeded from under the tower to the pulpit, and afterwards, the members of the Association could have rung on the bells to their hearts content, as they were invited to do by Mr. Simm, the steeple-keeper, a month previously; but they did not put in an appearance, preferring to write letters to the press, and inviting others to do likewise.

Of the ten ringers at the Cathedral, eight have accomplished peals of 5,000, some of them are also members of the Association, but believe the labourer is worthy of his hire, and don't go in for "rattening." Mr. J. Simm has rung ten peals with the Association within the past twelve months; Mr. E. Wallis has also rung various peals with them, as your columns show. Mr. S. Power has rung fourteen peals of Caters with the Birmingham Society, besides other peals. Your humble servant has rung peals on all numbers up to and including Treble Bob Maximus, as the peal books of the London Societies and others show. So much for the "Churchyard Bob" or "call-change" performers. Besides, Mr. Taylor, of Loughborough, and other change-ringers were present in the tower. There is an acknowledgment of a course or two of Grandsire Triples being rung, which seems a contradiction. More would have been accomplished, but, on account of the ropes springing, and incompleteness of arrangements generally, it was not deemed judicious to attempt too much, as some of the ringers were not used to ten-bell ringing. If the Diocesan Association, as represented by the performers on the dissonant bells of St. John's are so very anxious to possess the Cathedral bells, they are quite welcome to them as far as the present ringers are concerned; but perhaps they had better wait until we get them in better going order, or they may get more starch taken out of their collars than they bargain for.

Touching the dictated letter of Mr. Miller, it is a "story" from beginning to finish. Mr. Miller must either be ubiquitous, or have longer ears than usual, for how could he be at Newbiggen-by-the-Sea—twenty miles from Newcastle—and hear St. Nicholas' bells, passes my comprehension, unless the bells have much more resonance than I give them credit for.

As regards the band of good ringers outside St. Nicholas' Square, how is it, with such a handy peal at their command as the peal of ten at North Shields—tenor about 18 cwt.—which they have had the use of for about twelve years, that they have never accomplished five courses yet, after numberless attempts?

THOMAS DENTON.

COMPOSITIONS.

SIR,—In last week's issue was published a peal of Duffield Major, by J. B. Fenton, of Lincoln. By looking in the book of "Duffield," peal No. 5, on page 58, you will find a peal composed by me, which I consider the same, therefore I shall leave Mr. Fenton to consider whose peal it is.

JOHN CARTER.

A SUGGESTION.

SIR,—Of late I have heard several suggestions on the long peal at Debenham, myself and several brother-ringers being unanimous in favour of the whole band being photographed in group and published with "THE BELL NEWS." I think this suggestion merits much consideration, and if you, Mr. Editor, would kindly allow others to express their opinion in these excellent pages, it would be interesting to the many readers. Perhaps it is not at all unlikely that the band would be photographed after ringing the peal, if so it would not be very difficult to have the above desired result, and thus give the whole Exercise an opportunity of being in possession of a copy of a band who I think is worthy of being in every ringers' home. I for one should hail its appearance.

JOSEPH B. FENTON.

CORRECTIONS.

SIR,—Will you please correct a mistake in the peal of Grandsire Triples rung at Framdsen, Suffolk, on June 23rd, and appeared in "THE BELL NEWS," Saturday, July 2nd, 1892, "This was a mistake of mine. The ringer of the treble should read "Alfred Calver," not "A. Thatcher."

Creetingham, near Wickham Market.

A. S. WEIGHTMAN.

SIR,—Kindly correct the weight of the tenor to the peal of Bob Major, rang at Pattingham, published in your last issue as 24 cwt., should be "14 cwt."

JAMES E. GROVES.

101, Shepherd Street, Wolverhampton.

SIR,—The peal rung at Birmingham and reported last week should read "rang at St Chad's (R. C.) on Saturday, July 16th, 1892;" and "birthday peal to J. Jennings, all wishing him many happy returns of the day."

G. WALKER.

A REQUEST.

SIR,—Would you, or any of your readers, kindly give me the information that I have asked ringing friends for in vain—what makes a bell "rise false?" One bell in our tower almost invariably has the clapper on the wrong side, when the bells are raised together—some bells always rise right, while others have to be pulled down sharp to prevent them rising false. Is it in the length of the staple, and if so, what is the right length? I have seen a bell with a very long staple, coming far below the line of the gudgeons, that has to be checked hard to get the clapper up on the right side. As we are about to quarter all the bells in our tower, I should be very glad to know how to overcome this difficulty.

The Duke of Connaught laid the foundation-stone of a Mission Church, to be called St. Boniface, in the parish of Portsea, in memory of the Rev. T. H. Harvey, for some time curate of the parish, but who went out as a missionary to Mid-China, and died during his honeymoon. The Duke spoke in high praise of the late Mr. Harvey's devotion to duty.

On Friday, St. Swithun's Day, the Dean of St. David's (the Very Rev. James Allen), attained his ninetieth year, and is still vigorous and able to attend to his duties. Mr. Philips, the verger of St. David's Cathedral, is eighty-seven, and Mr. James Roberts, lay-vicar, who has been longer on the Cathedral staff than any other member, recently completed his eightieth year.

The church erected at Brethdir, in the parish of Llanrhaiadr, on the borders of Montgomeryshire and Denbighshire, in memory of William Morgan, who in 1558, while vicar of Llanrhaiadr, completed the translation of the Bible into the Welsh language, was opened on Monday by the Bishop of St. Asaph. The annual festival in connection with the Hants Diocesan Society was held at Newport, Isle of Wight, on Tuesday week. Services were held in the morning at the parish church at eight o'clock, and half-past eleven, the Mayor attending the latter, and there were nearly a hundred robed clergy, in addition to a fair attendance of the laity. The Bishop of Winchester preached an excellent sermon. Luncheon was subsequently served at the Mission Hall, and at three o'clock a meeting was held in the Drill Hall, the Bishop of the diocese presiding. Mr. Charles Seely, M.P. in a letter regretting his absence, enclosed a cheque for £100. Resolutions were passed in support of the society.

The Welsh police are investigating the circumstances of an act of vandalism at Bettws parish church, near Bridgend, which is now being restored and enlarged at the expense of Miss Olive Talbot. The masons were restoring the north chancel wall, containing a sixteenth century credence and the remains of a leper's window. The workmen had carefully shored up their work for the night, when the building was subsequently visited by unknown persons and the entire wall demolished. Three of the most interesting specimens of sixteenth century architecture to be found in the Principality have thus been wantonly destroyed. The outrage has created the utmost indignation.

The church of All Saints, Mattishall, Norfolk, was reopened after a very successful restoration on the 30th ult. The parish has this peculiar interest attached to it, that it is the birthplace of Mrs. Parker, wife of Matthew Parker, Archbishop of Canterbury, and a sermon is annually preached at Mattishall on Rogation Tuesday, by one of the Fellows of Corpus Christi, Cambridge, of which college Parker was the Master, when a small dole is distributed to the poor parishioners present. The church is an exceedingly well-proportioned building; the nave dates from the beginning of the fourteenth century, while the chancel is to be assigned to its close.

THE CHURCH BELLS OF BUCKINGHAMSHIRE. By ALFRED HENEAGE COCKS, M.A., Ch. Ch., Oxford. F.Z.S., F.R.G.S., Great Malvern, Bucks. With many Illustrations.

MESSRS. JARROLD & SONS have pleasure in announcing the early publication by subscription of this most interesting and important work. It will contain an account of all the Church Bells in Buckinghamshire, with everything relating to their history that can be discovered. Full accounts of all the Founders whose bells hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County, including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. The work was undertaken at the instigation of the late J. C. L. Stahl Schmidt, Esq., author of "Surrey Bells and London Bell-founders," "The Church Bells of Kent," "Herts," etc.; and the fact that the author had the benefit of the kind assistance and advice of this well-known campanologist may be mentioned as some guarantee of the scope and nature of the present work. Mr. Stahl Schmidt wrote the author, that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting county," and he repeated this opinion in a subsequent letter. The "Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 600 pages, & be handsomely illustrated with 24 full-page plates of mediaeval letterings, founders' marks, etc., found on bells still existing in the County and numerous figures—some of them being peculiar to Bucks—will be inserted in the text. The 8vo. Edition is limited to 350 copies, and will be offered to subscribers before the day of publication at 21s. nett. The Larger Edition, Royal 4to, is limited to 80 copies, and will be subscribed at 42s. The prices will be raised on the day of issue should any copies remain unsold.

"My Dear Doctor,—Allow me to express my sincere thanks for the skill and attention displayed in the construction of my Artificial Teeth, which render my mastication and articulation excellent. I am glad to hear that you have obtained Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent to protect what I consider the perfection of Painless Dentistry. In recognition of your valuable services, you are at liberty to use my name.—S. G. HUTCHINGS. By Appointment Surgeon-Dentist to Her Majesty the Queen."
 Geo. H. Jones, Esq., F.R.S.L., F.R.M.S.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has by his Perfected System of Dentistry demonstrated that Painless Dentistry is as much an accomplished fact as the swift locomotive, the electric light, or the telephone, and absolutely restores the natural contour caused by the loss of teeth, by the adjustment of Prize Medal dentals, rendering detection impossible, which obtained the Gold Medals of London 1851; New York, 1853; London, 1862; Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; and Philadelphia, 1876.

DR. GEO. H. JONES, Surgeon Dentist, has been awarded for his Improvements and Patents in Dentistry gold medals, London and Paris; gold medal, New Zealand Exhibition, 1882; gold medal Calcutta, 1883; and the highest diploma of merit and award at Nice and Amsterdam, 1883-4. ## THE OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD—ANNUAL FESTIVAL.

The 12th Annual Festival of this Guild was held at Wallingford, on Monday, July 18th. The members, to the number of 250, arrived in the town by special trains early in the day, and at eight o'clock a peal of Stedman Triples, comprising 5,040 changes, was rung on St. Mary's bells, particulars of which have already appeared in these columns.

At half-past eleven a special service was held in St. Mary's Church, a large congregation, consisting entirely of the members of the Guild, assembling. The Rector of St. Mary's read the service, and many of the clergy accompanying the ringers also went into the choir. The first lesson was read by the Rev. F. E. Robinson (Drayton), being taken from Numbers x; and the Rev. Sir J. L. Hoskyns, Bart. (Rural Dean) read the second lesson, viz., 1 Corinthians, xiv. The Psalms were the 47th, 98th, and 150th. The preacher was the Rev. J. T. Brown, Rector of St. Paul's, Wokingham, who took as his text, Exodus xiv., part of verse 15—"Speak unto the children of Israel that they go forward." He said:—

There would always be found in parishes men whose life was more or less an idle one, working when driven to do so, but not keeping to it for any time. But how very different it was with the artisan and young man of the present time. Habits of sobriety with them had quite as strong a hold upon them as with persons in a higher class, and they set themselves steadfastly against intemperance in all its forms. In such a point as this, a point of moral conduct, they all welcomed the exhortation to "go forward." And he was sure there was not one in that Church who would not hold out a hand to a brother in order to lead him forward in the same path of sobriety and temperance. Then there was the advance and value of education. Sometimes he had heard it said that the standard of education was higher than was needed in their elementary schools. He never heard a parent say that. They seemed to him to value more than ever the benefits of a substantial education for their children. And then in reverence shown to our Church service, both on Sunday, and at marriages and at funerals, there was a marked advance. No one now liked careless or slovenly ways in the performance of Divine worship. The wish of everyone of them—bell-ringers and others—was that everything should be done decently and in order. The days when there was great neglect with regard to parish churches—when the floors were rotten, and the roofs were not watertight, and when high pews concealed the worshippers, and belfries and bells were utterly disregarded—those days were all gone and past. No one now was contented unless every care was taken in the management and proper ordering of the churches. Now, he spoke to the bell-ringers as Churchmen. They belonged to the Diocesan Guild of Church Bell Ringers. They were members of the good old Church of England, and so he might remind them that they were pledged by their baptism to "go forward" as followers and soldiers of the Lord Jesus. He could recall to them their Confirmation—that was a step forward. The day that they received the Holy Communion—that was a step forward. With those advantages they don't remain as they were. "Go forward," remembering that God's grace was with them. And now he turned to the special object of their gathering that day. There had been a going-forward—remarkably so—in the view that was taken of bells and belfries. By the establishment of diocesan guilds in the country a very improved view was now entertained by all of bell-ringing. It was looked upon as a science, and young men took an interest in it and were willing to join the society in the various parishes, and order and propriety were maintained in the belfries, which we now recognised as part of the sacred building. The true purport to which bells were put seemed to him to be set forth in the inscription, in Latin, in the belfry at Sonning, in his neighbourhood. The English was, "I praise God, I call the living, I bewail the dead." Now the voice heard from each was one reminding the inhabitants of the mercies received from the Lord and of the blessed hope of eternal life which each Sunday brought before us. And especially did we love to hear the bells giving out their voices of praise at our great Church festivals. He was sure they always fell in with the thoughts of their fellow-parishioners at the seasons when they ushered in Christmas, and Easter and Whit-Sunday, with joyous peals. It was unnecessary that the clergy should remind them of the seasons, or beg them to ring. They bore them in mind. A call given by their leader or deputy-leader was sufficient, and they put themselves to inconvenience to give honour to the Lord by ringing the bells on those great days of thanksgiving. But it was not only on those festival days that the voices of the bells were heard telling them of God's great mercies to them, but at other days and times. There was the sound of the bells on our ordinary Sundays, which fell on the air in a most plaintive manner, calling us not to set our affections on things below, but reminding us that there was a life beyond with which we were concerned. The parishioners loved to be called to Church by their own bells, and indeed they loved also to hear the bells of neighbouring churches. He dare say it had occurred to each of them on a Sunday afternoon to hear the bells of a Church at a distance; and there was something so arresting, so touching in the sound, so uplifting to the heart. And even when the habit of Church-going was laid aside, as it must be with so many, yet their hearts must be hard indeed if the sound of the Sunday bells did not reach them. In truth, he believed no one would wish the bells on a Sunday to be silent. It was a sound which all loved to hear. Even though the object of the bells was not recognised, still the parishioners loved their bells. He was sure it was the case in that parish, and their sound, as he could well believe from what he heard that morning, was heard across the river for many a mile. And then think how the sound of the Sunday bells rejoiced the hearts of many whose circumstances and duty obliged them to remain at home. Their sound was heard by the sick, by the busy mother of the young family, and by the servant whose turn it was to keep the house, and they joined, in spirit, all worshippers in prayer and praise. And then there was one way in which the bells had a voice to every parishioner, whether Churchman or Nonconformist. Even the greatest reformer would wish them retained, however many other things, in his opinion, might be altered for the better. To go back to the inscription on the Sonning belfry, "I bewail the dead." And so the sound of the passing bell was heard giving notice that God had called another soul to himself. He was sure there was not such selfishness amongst any parishioners as would lead them to be careless about the death of a neighbour, and when the bell was heard people asked through the parish for whom the bell was going, and when the bell again reminded parishioners that the body was about to be committed to the earth the same-kind sympathy filled the hearts of all of them who did not usually worship with them. He felt certain that no one could listen to the half or muffled peal which was often rung down in their belfries without being deeply impressed with the solemnity of the sound, and with, at the same time, the comfort that went with it, the joyful sound of the resurrection of life. And so the voice of our Church bells were heard from year to year. In our old parishes they had rung on during changes of government and under different reigns. Some of the bells of that (St. Mary's) Tower, which were made and re-cast at the Queen's jubilee, rang during the reigns of Edward VI. and onward; and the victories, of which we had read in history, of our Army and Navy, had been celebrated by joyous peals of bells, which now summoned the parishioners in these days of peace to prayer and praise. Was it any wonder that such an interest was felt in the Church bells, which were so connected with the past? Why, the curfew bell, which was rung from that Tower every night at nine, carried the recollection back to the arrival of King William the Conqueror on a visit to his faithful thane at the castle after the battle of Hastings. And was it any wonder that they should look upon Church bells and love them when they took such a part in the joys and sorrows of all the parishioners? And was it any wonder, therefore, that they should regard the bells as a most important part of the furniture of the Churches, seeing not only how much they had to do with their parochial and individual life, but knowing how much they were associated with all holy ordinances which were given to us, to strengthen us in our life, and to awaken in us all holy desires, and to cherish in us the hope of eternal life? Let him say to his friends the bell-ringers "go forward." Don't be contented with the point to which they had reached; improve and advance in the science of change ringing. He knew this was very difficult. Some towers could not obtain an instructor, or, if he came it was only occasionally; but very often one of the younger members of the side understood the method better than the rest. Never mind whether he was young or old, take advice from him—make progress. It was worth the time and labour to require a very skilful use of the bells. It required self-denial, he knew, to spend winter evenings in the belfries, but they must make way. They would not be contented without going forward and reaching to greater achievements, might he say, to as much as the five thousand and forty changes which greeted their ears on their arrival at Wallingford that day? And yet let him say to them, it was not for their own glory they were ringing—

Whene'er the sweet Church bell
Peals over hill and dell
May Jesus Christ be praised:
O hark to what it sings,
As joyously it rings,
May Jesus Christ be praised.

Immediately after the service, the members of the Guild proceeded to the Corn Exchange, where a generous luncheon was served by Mr. Hedley, of The "Feathers." Three tables, the entire length of the building, had been prepared for the occasion, and by the time that the company had assembled, the seating accommodation appeared to be fully taken. The Rector of St. Mary's (the Rev. A. W. N. Deacon, presided) and he was supported by the Mayor of Wallingford (Councillor Morty), Aldermen Wells and S. Payne (Churchwardens of St. Peter's and St. Mary's), the Rev. W. C. Sayer-Milward, formerly of Wallingford, the Rev. J. B. Burne (Chairman of the Bradfield Deanery Branch of the Guild), the Rev. A. H. Drummond (Chairman of the East Berks and South Bucks Branch), the Rev. R. P. Newhouse (Secretary of the East Berks and South Bucks Branch), Mr. A. H. Cocks (Treasurer of the East Berks and South Bucks Branch), Mr. J. Hussey (Secretary and Treasurer of the Newbury Branch), the Rev. G. F. Coleridge (Secretary and Treasurer of the Reading Branch), the Rev. J. F. Llewellyn (late Secretary and Treasurer of Sonning Deanery Branch), and the Rev. E. Broome (the present Secretary and Treasurer of the Sonning Deanery Branch). The honorary members present were the Rev. Sir John L. Hoskyns, Bart. (Aston Tyrrold), the Rev. J. M. Price (Caddington, Aylesbury), the Rev. J. W. Winch (Brize Norton), the Rev. C. E. Hart-Davis (Dunsden), the Rev. Evan Hughes (St. Leonard's, Wallingford), and the Rev. W. H. Young (North Moreton). The following members of the Committee were present:—The Revs. T. E. E. Geater (Newbury), R. Smith (Maidenhead), and R. Haworth (London). The places represented were Abingdon (St. Helen's), Aldermaston, Amersham, Appleton, Beenham, Bladon, Boyne Hill, Brize Norton, Caversham, Cuddington, East Ilsley, Englefield, Finchampstead, Goring, Great Marlow, Hagbourne, Harwell, High Wycombe, Hughenden, Hurst, Long Crendon, Middleton, Milton, Newbury, Oxford (St. Peter's), Pangbourne, Peasemore, Reading (St. Mary's and St. Giles'), Sonning, Stone, Thatcham, Tilehurst, Waltham St. Lawrence, Wantage, Whitchurch, Winkfield, Withey, Wokingham (St. Paul's), and Woodcote. The company, which numbered some 250 persons, having been photographed, the luncheon proceeded. At the conclusion of the repast,

The Chairman submitted "Long life, happiness, and all God's blessings to Her Most Gracious Majesty the Queen," not forgetting also their Royal Highnesses the Prince and Princess of Wales and the rest of the Royal family. Bell-ringers, he said, would not be happy, if any other class of the community were, if, after a dinner of this kind, they did not receive this toast with heartiness and loyalty. In all our towns, and many of our villages, the year never went round without our remembering on our bells, as we remembered 55 years ago, the fact of Her Majesty's accession to the throne. Few of them would ever forget that day when, with muffled peals, they tried to remind themselves of that solemn service which was going on at Windsor, and sent forth their prayers and their heartfelt sympathy with the Royal Family in the time of their affliction.

The Chairman, again rising, said he had another toast to commend to their kind consideration. He was quite sure that all of them that day who were visitors to Wallingford would not be happy unless he, as their spokesman, were to offer their good wishes to the worshipful Mayor of that town who had been so kind as to come to their dinner. He must not anticipate what he might say to them presently, but he might say on his behalf that directly he asked him he promised to attend. It was a very happy circumstance in the town that they were on such pleasant and brotherly terms with the corporation of Wallingford. Their very old Church, with its old traditions, some of which the preacher adverted to in his sermon, had always preserved, he was glad to say, its municipal character. There still remained the old Corporation seats, and he was glad to say that during the year the Mayor and Corporation had shown by their attendance there their respect, not only for the common Father of us all, but for the old traditions and interests which were attached to such an ancient borough. They came regularly to Church at certain times in the year, and they showed their interest in the Church, as citizens of Wallingford, in the Jubilee year, by subscribing £300 towards the bells. They had heard that day of the connection of their Church (St. Mary's) with the past. They might say, roughly speaking, that the curfew was rung within a fortnight of the Conquest, and would ring again at nine o'clock that night. It reminded them that a special privilege was given to Wallingford people for putting out their lights an hour later than any other place in England. Without further words, but commending to their attention the toast of the Mayor, and telling them that he was a most worthy successor of many who had preceded him, he asked them to drink with great heartiness—"The Mayor and Corporation of Wallingford," coupling therewith their best thanks to the Mayor for attending there that day.

The Mayor, who was received with loud cheers, said, speaking in the name of the inhabitants of Wallingford, they were very pleased indeed to see them all there that day. He had enjoyed himself very much in their company. That morning, wishing to know something more about bells, he asked a gentleman the origin of bell-ringing. He then learned—of course he could not vouch for the accuracy of the statement, nor hold himself responsible for the words—that the origin of bell-ringing was to frighten away a certain person who should be nameless. He, no doubt, had a great deal of influence over a great many of them, but after hearing the bells that morning he thought they could give him the go-by for some time to come. At any rate he hoped it would have that effect. Bell-ringing had different effects on different temperaments. Some people thought it was the best and most useful music in the world. Others thought it so much noise, so much waste of energy. He believed that the latter class was in a minority. Nowadays minorities could not expect to rule the roost. He heartily welcomed them all to Wallingford, and he hoped it would not be the last time that they would see them there.

Mr. S. Payne proposed "The Clergy." They were very pleased to see so many of them there that day. He was sure gentlemen in their vocation as bell-ringers must all be brought more or less in contact with the clergy, and he had no doubt their opinions would coincide with his, that whatever might be the case at the beginning of the present century, the clergy now were foremost in every good work, whether it tended for the welfare of the community at large, or for the good of the Church. He had great pleasure in asking them to couple with the toast the name of Mr. Brown, who preached such a peculiarly appropriate sermon that morning.

The Rev. J. T. Brown said his name had been coupled with a double toast. He had first to answer for the clergy who were present, including the Rural Dean, at the dinner, and also for the archbishops, bishops, and clergy generally. Speaking for the former, all he could say was he hoped they would take them just as they found them, and as far as they were able to do their duty he hoped they would give them the credit they deserved, or perhaps did not deserve. With regard to himself, he supposed no one was more profoundly ignorant of bells than he was. He therefore took it to be a very great compliment on the part of the secretary and committee of the Guild, to have asked him to preach upon that occasion. It had been a source of very great pleasure to him to come there, and to visit the Church of his old friend, Mr. Deacon, whom he had known for many years, and to be welcomed there by him. He thanked those who were in Church that morning for the great attention with which they listened to him. Might he say with regard to the clergy, that they who were so ignorant of bell-ringing, were very much indebted to the ringers for what they did for them on Sundays and at other times. He really did not know what they should do if they had not had the most hearty assistance of the bell-ringers. They never grumbled because they were asked to do this or that, but readily and willingly went up into the tower even before they asked them. Might he just say one word—he could not help it—because it recalled the past? It was a little bit of history, of which he was rather proud. The origin of the Guild was in a room opposite his house at St. Paul's, Wokingham—and the one who gave the first start to the Guild was their present Secretary—who, in 1879, read a paper on the subject, after which a committee was formed to establish a society. From that time on it went, faster and faster, until they had now that great Guild, the Oxford Diocesan Guild of Church Bell Ringers.

The Chairman then proposed "The Guild," coupling with it the name of their most excellent and venerable master, Mr.

Robinson, and their most excellent secretary, Mr. Hart-Davis. He, personally, had heard of the Guild for a great many years, and it had always had his sympathy and his great respect, for it was by their kindness and energy that it came by its birth, and was nurtured to maturity, and it was with great pleasure—quite unsolicited on his part—that he received them into Wallingford. He need not say for his brother clergy in the town, one of whom was with him in Church, and was present that afternoon; and another, his predecessor, Mr. Sayer-Milward, that they were glad to welcome them, and to have heard their skill upon those dear old bells that they were so truly proud of in Wallingford, and so very fond of. If there were any flaws they must put it down to his ignorance, not from any want of good will or desire to be inhospitable. He was sure they all heartily wished, as the Mayor said, they would again come to Wallingford. He could not sit down without reminding them that there was no one who was so especially fitted to be a leader as their present leader. He was sure it put to shame some of the younger men to think that their Master, whom they valued so much, should have been up at half-past four that morning, undertaking a tremendous drive, and be in the belfry before eight o'clock, ringing till half-past eleven, and then taking part in the service. If that was not energy for the cause and interest in it, he did not know what was. Might the bells which he had made instrumental in giving so much pleasure, peace, and happiness to others, be to him also comfort and happiness in his moments of solitude, trial, and sorrow. With regard to the Secretary, all he could say was that it did not look, from the success of that meeting, as if they wanted another Secretary. The Chairman then gave the toast, which was enthusiastically received.

The Rev. F. E. Robinson, on rising to respond, received quite an ovation. He gave a rapid sketch of the position of affairs in the different towers of the Diocese, and urged the members of the Guild, in the words of the preacher that morning, to "go forward." He remarked that he always liked a peal every Saturday afternoon to make him ready for Sunday morning, and he also made a sympathetic allusion to the late secretary.

The Rev. R. H. Hart-Davis, who also responded, said the Guild owed a great deal to the Chairman, as most of the members probably knew. When he came to Wallingford, on Thursday, with Mr. Newell, whom he was sorry to say was unable, through indisposition, to be with them, they were received with great hospitality by the Chairman, and he very much lightened their labours. As to the Guild, he hoped other towers in the neighbourhood would become associated with it, following Hagbourne and Dorchester. He announced that the members were going to Dorchester, Hagbourne, Benson, Cholsey, North Moreton, Brightwell, and Ewelme, and expressed the hope that before another year had passed, the five last-mentioned places would join the Guild. He then proposed the health of the Chairman, and suggested to him that he should become an honorary member.

The Rev. A. H. Drummond also spoke in support of the toast.

The Chairman, in reply, said he should be glad to be an honorary member of the Guild. He had no doubt, too, that the Rural Dean, when he next summoned his clergy together, would mention the subject, and anything he proposed to do for the benefit of the Deanery he should be only too glad to do. He then announced that Mr. J. Kirby Hedges, the owner of the Castle grounds, had kindly thrown them open for the benefit of the members, and concluded by wishing them every happiness.

At the conclusion of the complimentary toasts the Master took the chair, when the minutes of the last general meeting at Woodstock, and of the three committee meetings, were read and passed. The only change in the list of officers for the ensuing year was the substitution of the name of the Rev. T. R. Terry, rector of East Ilsley, for that of the Rev. J. F. Llewelyn, among the twelve elected members of the committee, while Mr. David Geater, of 2, Waterloo Place, Newbury, was formally added to the number of qualified instructors. Long Crendon, near Thame, in Buckinghamshire, was chosen as the place for the Guild Festival, in 1893. The Secretary stated that 165 members had come in, of whom 114 were qualified as change-ringers, since July, 1891, and that the finances were in a satisfactory position, notwithstanding a large increase under the head of Central Council expenses. The purchase of 1,000 copies of the very valuable Report of the Central Council on the preservation and repair of bells, &c., and their free dissemination to the churchwardens of towers with peals, and to the Rural Deans, accounted for the greater part of this additional cost. A motion by Mr. Hern, of Reading, who advocated more frequent General Meetings of the Guild, could not be put for want of formality, but its author may feel that he has now secured for it a careful consideration in the future.

During the afternoon the members proceeded in brakes to the following towers, where permission had been given for ringing:—Dorchester, Benson, Cholsey, and Ewelme. The members left Wallingford early in the evening, the enjoyment of the day being somewhat marred by the wet weather.

THE BATH AND WELLS ASSOCIATION.

The second annual meeting of the Association was held at Wells on Saturday last, when a large number of members were present from different parts of the diocese, representing the following towers:—St. Saviour's, St. Mary's, St. Andrew's, Christ Church, and the Abbey (Bath), St. Mary and St. James (Taunton), Twerton-on-Avon, Wraxall, Barrow, Gurney, Huntspill, and Highbridge. The Bath contingent, who drove down, broke the journey at Chewton Mendip, and rang several 6-scores on the peal of six there, a notable incident of this performance being that one of the company had rung on these bells fifty-seven years ago, but had not been there since. Dinner was provided at the Swan Hotel, Wells, and was provided over by the Master (the Rev. C. W. H. Griffith, M.A.), supported by the Dean (Dr. Jex Blake), the Rev. Mr. Hayward (St. Andrew's, Bath), Mr. C. E. D. Boutflower (Bristol), Mr. J. H. B. Hesse (Wrighton), and Mr. Rupert Lewis (hon. sec.). The Dean, who, owing to another engagement, was bound to leave before the meeting, in a few words welcomed the members most cordially to Wells. The meeting was subsequently held, the chair being taken by Preb. W. Stokes Shaw, M.A. The report, which was read by the master, stated that the quarterly meetings had been held with considerable success, the places visited being Frome, Dunster, Bath, and Bridgwater. The thanks of the Association were due to all the clergy who assisted at their meetings, especially to the Rev. Preb. Salmon for his kindly words and cheering encouragement at the last annual meeting. Eleven peals were rung during the year, speaking of steady advance in the work of the association. The report stated that three peals were opened by the association, viz., on 11th September a new peal of eight at Barrow Gurney; on 19th November a peal of five augmented to six and rehung at Temple Combe; and on 28th December a peal of five augmented to eight at Drayton, opened with a 5,040 Grandsire Triples. On 4th November, with the concurrence of the association, the peal of eight augmented to ten at Wells Cathedral, was reopened by a band of well-known ringers from various parts of the country and enrolled in the Oxford Diocesan Guild, with a 5,021 Stedman Caters, various members of the home association taking part in the preliminary touches. The loss was regretted of one of the life members, the late Very Rev. E. H. Plumptre, D.D., Dean of Wells. The books did not show much increase in the number of members, but there was a great advance in the proficiency of the ringers. The list of membership showed 31 honorary members and 163 performing members, representing 22 towers in union. The report concluded by saying that much work remained to be done, and asking every member to help on and spread the work by all the means in his power, especially by the excellence of his ringing, the devotion of his calling, and most of all by the goodness of his life. The statement of accounts was also submitted, showing a balance in hand at the close of 1891 of £9 18s. 9d. Mr. F. G. Beesley moved that the reports and accounts be adopted, which was seconded by Mr. H. Wyburn, and carried nem. con. The Dean of Wells was elected a vice-president in the place of the late Dean, and the Rev. Prebendary Salmon, M.A., was added to the list. The Rev. C. W. H. Griffith was unanimously re-elected master, and Mr. Rupert Lewis hon. sec. and treasurer, and they spoke briefly in acknowledgment. The Rev. Hayward (curate of St. Andrew's, Bath) was elected an honorary member, as also thirteen performing members. Yeovil was selected as the place for the next district meeting. An adjournment was then made to the Cathedral for service,

ROYAL NORMAL COLLEGE FOR THE BLIND. STARTING OF THE NEW CLOCK AND BELLS.

On Thursday, July 21st, a large turret clock and bells were formally started by Lady Mary Grosvenor (daughter of the Duke of Westminster) at the Royal Normal College for the Blind, Upper Norwood, S.E. The occasion was the opening of the Armitage memorials, of which the clock and bells form a part, and a large number of ladies and gentlemen visited the college on the day mentioned to witness the ceremony. Some considerable time was spent in watching the blind pupils at their work and recreation, and in listening to the choir, a body of singers of no mean order. Subsequently the Duke of Westminster, who is president of the college, took the chair at a meeting held in the skating rink, and gave a brief address, at the close of which Lady Grosvenor pressed an electric button, and thereby started the clock, which immediately chimed out the quarters and then the hours, the tone of the bells being very much admired. Her ladyship was then presented by the children of Mr. Johnston (one of the manufacturers of the clock, etc.), with a small silvered and polished handbell, composed of the same metal as the larger ones, and bearing the following inscription engraved upon it:—

"Presented to the Lady Mary Grosvenor by Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon, as a memento of the clock and bells at the Royal Normal College, Norwood. Thursday, July 21st, 1892."

It may be interesting to not a few of our readers to have some of the principal features in connection with the work described. The order for the clock and bells was intrusted after due consideration to Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, the well-known clock manufacturers and bell founders of Croydon, who have to all appearance thoroughly justified the confidence placed in them, and have succeeded in giving general satisfaction to all concerned.

The clock, which is constructed to chime the Westminster or Cambridge quarters, and to strike the hours, is in every respect of the very best workmanship and material. It is fitted with the double three-legged gravity escapement, this being undoubtedly the best for accurate timekeeping, and has a compensated pendulum which, by virtue of its compensation, is enabled to successfully resist all variations of the temperature, thus keeping the pendulum rod always the same length, upon which much of the timekeeping qualities of the clock depend. We may remark that the pendulum is over 5 ft. in length, and the cast iron bob at the foot weighs upwards of 120 lbs. Some idea of the power of the mechanism may be gathered from the fact that the frame of the clock (i.e. that portion containing the works) which is of solid cast iron, and weighs close upon 2½ cwt. measures 5 ft. 6 in. long, 3 ft. 3 in. deep, and 3 ft. 3 in. wide, and the main wheels for the going, striking, and quarter parts measure respectively as much as 12, 14, and 14 inches diameter, they are, like all the other wheels in and connected with the clock, of solid gun metal, turned and polished, with the teeth cut to mathematical precision by improved machinery. The dial upon which the time is indicated, is of cast iron glazed with opal glass, it measures 4 ft. 5 in. in diameter, and is fitted with a pair of hands of a suitable pattern, both dial and hands being painted in an artistic manner. An engraved and silvered dial has been fitted on to the movement of the clock, so that any person can from within the clockroom observe the time as shown on the large dial. This dial is also of considerable convenience when it is necessary to set the hands of the clock. A small silvered inscription plate has also been fixed in a conspicuous place bearing the following words engraved upon it:—

"This clock, with bells, was erected to the memory of Thomas Rhodes Armitage, Esq., M.D., the faithful friend and wise benefactor of the Blind, and inaugurated by Lady Mary Grosvenor, on Thursday, July 21st, 1892."

As before stated, the clock is constructed to chime the quarters and hours, the bell necessary for this purpose being also manufactured and supplied by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston. They are composed of best bell metal, are well in tune, and are excellent castings. The following is a list of the notes, sizes (i.e. diameter across the mouth) and weights of the five bells, the hour and quarter bells (which as will be observed are taken out of a peal of ten), being so indicated. We also append the weights of the hammers which strike upon the different bells:—

	No.	Notes.	Sizes.	Weights.			Hammers.
				cwt.	qrs.	lbs.
Quarter Bells.	1	G#	25 inches.	3	2	7	18 lbs.
	2	F#	27 "	4	3	21	18 "
	3	E	29 "	6	0	0	18 "
	4	B	35 "	8	2	21	22 "
Hour Bell	5	E	49½ "	20	2	26	56 "
Total weight				43	3	19

The hour bell, in addition to the makers' name and the date, has the following inscription cast upon it:—

"In memory of Thomas Rhodes Armitage, M.D., faithful friend and wise benefactor of the Blind, whose loving service turned darkness into light."

The motive power of the clock is derived from cast iron weights, the aggregate total of which amounts to upwards of 30 cwt. They are for convenience in handling cast in sections each weighing 56 lbs., and are suspended by lines made of twisted steel wire.

The whole of the work of manufacturing, supplying, and fixing the clock, bells, etc., has been carried out by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, who have now in hand amongst others large clocks and bells for Ditchingham parish church (to the order of Mr. Rider Haggard); Dover College; Hungarton parish church; Largs U.P. church, etc.; also clocks and bells for South Africa at Pietermaritzburg Town Hall, Vrigheid church, Transvaal, and Wellington church, Cape Town.

THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

BLACKBURN BRANCH.—On Saturday last, a meeting of the above branch was held at Colne, when representatives were present from Blackburn, Church, Colne, and Padiham. Ringing was commenced at 3.30, by a mixed band, when a 720 of Bob Minor was rung. But good ringing is almost an impossibility on these bells at the present time, as the go of them is anything but what it ought to be, and if some of the officials of the Church would just have a pull at them we feel confident that the time would not be far distant when Colne Parish Church bells would be re-hung, and probably augmented by the addition of other two bells, which would then make a capital ring of eight. Mr. Walker presided at the meeting which was subsequently held, when six new members were made. It was decided to hold the next meeting at Holy Trinity, Blackburn, on Saturday, September 10th, when all necessary arrangements can be made for the annual meeting in October. Votes of thanks to the Vicar, Churchwardens, and ringers, terminated the business of the meeting.

J. H.

FYLDE DISTRICT BRANCH.—The fourth quarterly meeting of the above was held at Lytham, on Saturday, July 23rd. In the absence of the vicar (the Rev. G. Smart), the Rev. W. R. M. Holme (curate) presided. He welcomed the ringers in the name of the vicar, saying that their ringers (St. John's) pleased the officers of their church. He concluded his address by giving his experience when a boy by pulling off a bell, the consequence was that he broke the stay, so that it had silenced him, for he had not handled one since. The branch secretary gave the history of this branch since its formation, and he was highly gratified, as this the fourth quarterly meeting, they had, he said, about 27 performing, 2 life, and 2 honorary members; there are two towers in his district where call changes are practised; he would like to see them members, and hoped when the summer months were over to be able to find an instructor. Mr. Needham, one of the wardens of St. John's, also addressed the meeting, and in a brief little speech said he was very pleased to be with the ringers. Mr. Clitheroe then proposed a vote of sympathy to the Rev. G. Smart, who has recently lost two brothers. Mr. Robert Cookson seconded. The business concluded by a vote of thanks to the vicar and wardens for the use of bells and school. During the afternoon, several touches of Plain Bob, and Grandsire Doubles were rung. The next meeting to be held at Poulton-le-Fylde, on October 22nd.

Ringers' Outings.

THE MANCHESTER CATHEDRAL SOCIETY.—This Society had their summer outing on Saturday, July 16. The ancient town of Shrewsbury, Salop, being their destination, the company, with a friend, numbering eleven, mustered at London Road Station at 6.50 a.m., the train leaving at 7 a.m. The gathering of the band, and the start was made under anything but favourable weather, there being a heavy downpour of rain, which, I am sorry to say, kept us company all day; consequently, there was more ringing done than would otherwise have been the order of the day. Arriving at Shrewsbury at 10.0 a.m., we were met by Mr. T. Price (the genial parish clerk of St. Mary's Church), who very kindly conducted us from place to place, all through the day, showing us all things of interest, so far as the weather would permit. The first place into a thoroughfare called "Shoplatch," to Messrs. Jones Brothers, Restaurateurs, where the inner man was well refreshed with a good substantial breakfast of ham and eggs. This over, the company wended their way to St. Mary's Church, where hangs a fine ring of ten, tenor 22 cwt. After raising the bells in peal "go" was called for Grandsire Caters, a well struck touch of 575 being pulled off, followed by another touch of 485. The bells were then lowered in peal, after which Mr. Price entertained the visitors by playing the tune, "Home, sweet Home," on the tower bells, by the chiming cords, which he had evidently had much practice on, from the manner in which he handled them. After looking through the Church, another trudge of twelve minutes through the rain brought us to St. Chad's Church, where there is a beautiful ring of 12, tenor 42 cwt. One of the local company here, waiting, keys in hand, we were soon up and at work. After raising the back four singly, and the front eight in peal, one of the local company and Mr. T. Price were called upon to take a rope to try the whole peal in rounds. We had not the pleasure in ringing them in Cinques or Maximus. A 593 Grandsire Caters, 2 courses of Bob Major, and 3 courses of Stedman triples, were pulled off on the back ten, and back eight respectively. After this the rain abating somewhat, we then left the tower on a visit to what is called the quarry, but has more the appearance of a beautiful park, running right down from St. Chad's to the shore of the river Severn, and studded with tall stately elms, forming one of the grandest avenues (I ever saw) of about two-thirds of a mile in length. On the journey round a slight break was made, the visitors taking a sail across the ferry, and partaking of a little refreshment. Journeying from there through the new market to the famous "Shoplatch" establishment, we once more spoiled our appetites by partaking of a good dinner, consisting of lamb, green peas, &c. After this our friend Mr. T. Price piloted us through the old market place to St. Alkmund's Church. Here a handy peal of eight hangs, which, when taken into hand, were not long in calling up a brother string into the tower, who hailed from Bristol, and throwing off his coat, taking one of the ropes, we then pulled off merrily a 640 of Kent Treble Bob Major, followed by a 210 Grandsire Triples, conducted by Mr. T. Price, from the 6th; two courses of Stedman Triples closing the day's work; the whole of the ringing being conducted by Mr. J. Eachus, with the exception of the touch of Grandsire Triples. After partaking of a little further refreshment, some of the company felt desirous of leaving for home so as to reach Manchester at a reasonable hour before midnight. Others of the company remained behind, and had the pleasure of looking through the beautiful old abbey along with our friend Mr. Price, the second party reaching Manchester about 1.0 a.m. on Sunday. I must say that each and all enjoyed the outing full well, considering the state of the weather. We take this opportunity of thanking Mr. T. Price for the kindness and courtesy shown to us through that day; also our best thanks to the Vicar and Rectors of the various Churches for so kindly granting us permission to ring on the beautiful-toned bells of Shrewsbury town.

THE ST. STEPHEN'S (WESTMINSTER) SOCIETY.—It having been agreed upon to visit Tunbridge Wells and Speldhurst, fifteen members of the above society, with Mr. Mash (the worthy steeplekeeper of St. Saviour's, Southwark), and Mr. Hawkins, of St. Stephen's School, left Charing Cross by special train, about 7.55 a.m., having two compartments reserved for them. Mr. Durling, of Chislehurst, was to join the party at Chislehurst, but on enquiring before starting, it was discovered that being a special train it would not stop there, however, knowing that Old Tom would be on the platform, his ticket was put in an envelope, with a penny to weight it ready to be thrown out, but going through the station at a very moderate speed, the ticket was handed to him, telling him to come on by next train, but owing to some delay the train was brought to a standstill about a hundred yards from the station. It was then discovered that our old friend was running down the line like a deer (although a man on the verge of sixty, and rather corpulent as well), however, just as he reached the hindmost carriage, the iron horse gave a whistle, and off it started, leaving him still three or four carriages in the rear of the one he wished to reach, but some jovial fellows in the last carriage opened their door and hauled him in, much to our delight. As soon as he gained his breath, his new-found companions refreshed him with something more invigorating than water, so he fared much better than if he had managed to reach his own party. Thus ended the first exciting episode of the day. Onward the train sped towards Tunbridge Wells, the time being passed in hand-bell ringing and viewing the splendid country. Our destination was reached by 9.40, and as we were not timed to turn up at St. Peter's till 10.30, a walk round the town was proposed down the High Street, on to the parade, which is now called "Ye Olde Pantiles" (not forgetting to have a drink of the "waters," and back again through the principal streets, to the Church of St. Peter, where Mr. Latter, senior, had his handy ring of eight all ready, and in good going order. Tenor 14½ cwt. Touches of Grandsire, Stedman, and Bob Major were successfully brought home, under the able conductorship of Messrs. H. R. Newton, C. F. Winny, and H. S. Ellis. The bells were kept going till twelve o'clock, when they were lowered, and a move was made for the Royal Oak inn for some light refreshment, previous to a three mile walk to Speldhurst, where dinner was ordered at 1.30. Several members engaged a carriage, not caring to test Shanks' pony too much so early in the day, but the majority thoroughly enjoyed the walk across the common (viewing the Toad Rock on the way), through hay-fields and charming woods. Speldhurst was reached at the appointed time, where our worthy Vicar joined us, he having journeyed down over night on a visit to some friends. Dinner was very shortly announced in the wonderful Old Oak Room, which is 500 years old, and which is worth anybody's while to visit when in the neighbourhood. The St. Stephen's ringers being no exception to ringing societies in general, ample justice was done to the splendid roast beef, and lamb and green peas, &c., provided by host Wells. Mr. H. R. Newton spoke about the sad accident which had befallen J. M. Hayes, and proposed that a "Vote of Condolence" with his wife and family be passed and forwarded to Mrs. Hayes, which was most heartily seconded by Mr. E. Duff, and forwarded to Mrs. Hayes. A quiet walk round the country was taken by some members in all directions. Coming back to the lawn, a course each of Grandsire and Stedman was rung on the handbells, several ladies and gentlemen having left the lawn tennis ground to hear it. Miss Leny then gave a beautiful basket of flowers to be divided amongst the members. Having thanked the Rector and Miss Leny for their kindness and said good-bye to all friends, a move was made for Tunbridge Wells once more, some having commissioned a omnibus to take them. This time the walking contingent were very much in the minority. The Wells were reached by half-past eight, and as there was yet an hour and a quarter before train time, an adjournment was made to the "Hand and Sceptre," where time very quickly passed in humorous conversation. Leaving Tunbridge Wells by what should have been the 9.55 train, which, however, was rather late (nothing new on the S.E.R.), away we sped, enlivening the whole way by songs and handbells till Chislehurst was reached, when our running-man (Mr. T. Durling) was allowed to leave the train in a more respectable manner than he entered it. Charing Cross was reached by midnight, when each separated for their respective homes, everyone agreeing that it had been a most enjoyable day, tendering, through the medium of "THE BELL NEWS," our hearty thanks to the respective vicars, &c.

The Bell News &amp; Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, JULY 30, 1892.

WE give this week a full report of the proceedings at the Annual Festival of the Oxford Guild, recently held at Wallingford. On the whole, this meeting appears as successful as former ones, and no lack of interest whatever in the Guild's work and objects evinces itself among Churchfolk of the Diocese. The Oxford executive has from the establishment of the Guild managed things rightly; the late revered Hon. Secretary was noted for his powers of organization, and the gentleman who succeeded him in the office appears to be not one whit behind in this respect. The spectacle of two hundred and fifty ringers assembling in a quiet country town, arriving from various parts of the diocese, if not unique, is novel, and shows the very effective measures adopted by the Hon. Secretary to promote success. The Guild has ever regarded the enlargement of its borders as a prominent feature, and the work of extension still goes on with spirit and energy. May it ever continue.

RE-OPENING OF A PEAL OF BELLS AT TREETON, YORKSHIRE.

ON Wednesday, July 20th, the above village was en fete, the occasion being the opening of the church and peal of bells after undergoing thorough repairs, the bells being augmented from three to six by Messrs. Taylor and Co., the well-known Loughborough firm, two trebles and tenor being added, and the third being recast, the splice and the "go" of the bells being all that can be desired. The cost of the whole is £2,200, of which sum only about £400 is unrealised. The Killamarsh company was invited over to open the bells, and rang for the opening service 720 City Delight and 360 Violet. H. Taylor, 1; T. Bettison (conductor), 2; J. Emsen, 3; G. Burnham, 4; H. Turton, 5; C. Severn, 6. And in the afternoon 720 each of Killamarsh Treble Bob and Arnold's Victory. And for evening service 720 College Pleasure, standing as above, and 240 of Oxford, with J. Nicholson, 6; the rest as before.

GIGGLESWICK PARISH CHURCH, NEAR SETTLE, YORKSHIRE.

The masters and scholars, past and present, of the Grammar School, Giggleswick, have just presented a new St. Mary of Cambridge Quarter Chime Clock to the Parish Church in honour of the restoration, which has cost several thousands of pounds. The Head Master, the Rev. J. Style, M.A., set the clock going on Saturday evening last, at 8.55, there being a large number of clergy and gentry present, including the Rev. T. H. May, M.A., LL.D., Rector of Heswall, Cheshire, and others. The work has been carried out by Messrs. Wm. Potts and Son, clock manufacturers, Guildford Street and Cookridge Street, Leeds, who erected the large clock at the Grammar School some years ago; also the Church clocks at the adjoining villages of Bentham, Ingleton, Clapham, and Kirkby Malham.

MINETY, WILTS.

The pretty little peal of five from the Gloucester Foundry, Rudhall's, were opened, after being rehung with new English oak frame, and all new fittings, by Messrs. Blackburn and Greenleaf, Salisbury, on Friday, July 15th. The opening took place in the afternoon, when six 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles were rung, each called differently, by Messrs. Pates, Humfrey and Alcock (of Cheltenham), assisted by Messrs. Goddard and Blackburn, of Salisbury. The work gave great satisfaction. The Vicar provided a capital meal, after which the visitors were allowed to ramble about his gardens, and help themselves at the strawberry beds.

Messrs. Blackburn and Greenleaf are also engaged rehanging the bells at Hereford Cathedral, and substantially repairing the frame work.
