POSTCARDS STILL AWAITED.

We are still waiting to hear from quite three-fourths of our readers as to whether or not they are prepared to continue their support to the 'Ringing World' if the paper is enlarged by four more pages and the price increased to threepence weekly. As we stated a fortnight ago, we are ready to do our part if the members of the Exercise will do theirs. There is a general unanimity of opinion that without its own journal, keeping ringers all over the country in touch with each other's doings, ringing would lose more than half its interest; yet when it comes to a vital question of the future of the only ringers' paper, only a minority are ready promptly to express their views. It may be that all the rest imagine that we shall take silence as giving consent. If so, the absence of replies is encouraging, but we do want to know what backing we shall receive if we undertake the additional financial responsibility which would be involved in a larger paper. We presume that this article will be read by every subscriber to the 'Ringing World,' and we would therefore ask all those who have not already communicated with us to send a postcard to-day.

After this gentle chiding of our many friends, let us say that the communications we have already received have been, with very few exceptions, an entire endorsement of the policy we have suggested. We did not expect that everyone would agree, and some few—very few, happily—will not pay threepence, even for a larger and improved paper. Other few fear the enhanced price will kill the journal, although they themselves will do all they can to keep it alive. On the other hand, from a large number of correspondents come cheering messages that the policy we propose will be cordially supported, and is the one most likely to find greatest acceptance. There are most varied opinions as to charging for peals. In some quarters this is thought to be all that is needed; in many others it is believed that the result would be disastrous. For the moment, however, the thing which chiefly concerns us is whether the Exercise wants a paper, and whether it is prepared to pay a penny a week more for something better than it is getting to-day at twopence. Let us say at once that the size, after we have wiped off the arrears of peals, which have come down upon us in recent weeks like a flood, will enable us to devote space to a number of interesting features, among which the interests of the young ringer will specially not be overlooked. But let us come to grips with the position. We ask all who have not done so to say whether they will or will not continue their support if the paper is increased in size and in price, and whether they will undertake to get a new subscriber (we want a thousand such, at least). And we ask you to send that postcard to-day.

FUNERAL OF MR. W. H. GEORGE.

The funeral of the late Mr. William H. George, of Eastleigh, whose death we announced last week, took place at the Parish Church, Eastleigh, on Wednesday, December 29th, the services being conducted by the Rector of North Stoneham (Rev. S. Salmon), the mourners being Mrs. George (widow), Mr. H. George and Mr. J. George (sons), Miss M. George (only daughter), and Mr. James George (brother). The following ringers were present: Messrs. W. T. Tucker (district secretary), D. C. Williams, W. G. Edwards, W. G. Rowe and A. H. Giles (North Stoneham), J. W. Elkins (Winchester). Mr. G. Williams, Master of the Winchester Guild, was unable to be present. The L.S.W.R. accountant's office was represented by Mr. Parkes, and the time office by Mr. Jeffery. There were many beautiful floral tributes.

In the evening, at St. Nicolas' Church, North Stoneham, a muffled peal of Kent Treble Bob Major was rung, and on Sunday, January 2nd, the bells were half-muffled for both services, at each of which a special hymn was rung. The Dead March in 'Saul' was played by the organist at the conclusion of both services.

Mr. George had rung nearly 300 peals in various methods, including Minor, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob, Treble Bob, Double Norwich Major, one peal of Superlative, and also peals of Grandsire and Stedman Caters. He was nearly always to be found ringing at the back-end. His last peal, which he conducted, was Thurstons' Four-Part, rung by the local band at North Stoneham, where he was a regular service ringer on Sundays, in spite of having to walk two miles each way from Eastleigh. The deceased was well known by ringers all over the county of Hants, and had rung peals in nearly all the eight-bell towers under that able conductor, Mr. G. Williams. Mr. George conducted the first peal of Grandsire Caters at Winchester on the Cathedral bells, several of Bob Major at North Stoneham, and three peals of Stedman Triples. He will be greatly missed at North Stoneham.—R.I.P. W. T. T.

ST. ALBANS VETERAN DEAD.

Mr. Thomas Waller, of St. Albans, passed away on Saturday, Dec. 18th, after a brief illness. In the early days of change ringing at St. Albans he was very prominent, and rang a good many peals on tower and handbells, his first peal being rung at St. Matthew's, Bethnal Green, in 1878. He was buried in St. Peter's Churchyard on Wednesday, December 22nd, the treasurer and secretary of the Hertford County Association representing the ringing fraternity at the service in church. Mr. Waller was a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths. In the evening of the funeral the St. Peter's Society rang a half-muffled touch in memory of an old comrade.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

A Guild of Ringers has been formally inaugurated at Westminster Abbey, and a list of some five-and-twenty ringing days has been drawn up. The Sunday evening service ringing has been discontinued.

The peal of ten bells, with tenor 16 cwt., for the Parish Church, Epsom, were dedicated under unusual conditions just before Christmas. They were placed in the churchyard for the ceremony, and were sounded round after the ceremony. Messrs. Mears and Stainbank will have them ready for a ringers' opening before the end of the present month.

The College Youths have again got a Cambridge Maximus band in good practice. Last Saturday an attempt for a peal at Coruhill came to grief through the breaking of a rope, after about an hour, and when ringing had shaped into good peal form.

A frame of new design has been constructed for the new peal of eight at Banstead, Surrey. The bells (tenor 22 cwt.) are being cast by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, and the case provided for them is of substantial construction with special bracing. It promises to give a wonderful rigidity under the thrust of the bells.

Among other peals now on order from the Croydon foundry are: Rochester Cathedral, 10 (tenor 30 cwt.); Carisbrooke, 8 (tenor 20 cwt.); Paddockhurst, 8 (tenor 24 cwt.); Westham, 6 (tenor 10 cwt.); Wiston, 6 (tenor 7 cwt.); Edenfield, 8 (tenor 8½ cwt.).

The peal of Caters at St. Woolos, Newport, Mon., on December 4th, was rung in 3 hours 25 minutes, not 3 hours 35 minutes.

LLANDAFF DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

WAR MEMORIAL DEDICATED.

A large gathering of ringers from all over the Diocese assembled at Llandaff Cathedral on Bank Holiday, and in the presence of a large congregation the memorial tablet erected to those members of the association who fell in the great war was unveiled by the hon. secretary, Mr. J. W. Jones, and dedicated by the Lord Bishop. The officiating clergy included the Dean, Archdeacon Buckley, Canon Jesse Jones, and one of the minor Canons who had done service on the battlefields. Following the dedicatory prayers, the hymn, 'The supreme sacrifice,' by John S. Arkwright, was sung, and whilst the choir and clergy returned to their places the bells were rung for a few minutes, half-muffled. It was a beautifully impressive service. The organist played the Dead March in 'Saul,' and at the conclusion the National Anthem was sung. For those who were privileged to attend it will always remain a touching memory.

The tablet is a fine piece of workmanship, and is made of Hopton-wood stone. For the kindly personal interest which the Dean has shown from the time the memorial was first proposed to him the association owes him a deep debt of gratitude.

The annual meeting of the association took place the same afternoon at St. John's, Cardiff, where the ringers mustered in great force. A service was held in the Parish Church in the afternoon, conducted by Dr. Jones Powell, Vicar. Mr. Ben Davies, a Llansoyd ringer, presided at the organ. Tea followed in the Schoolroom, and although many more mustered than were expected, all were well catered for.

The business meeting was presided over by the Vicar. The officers appointed for the year included Mr. H. Morgan, as Master. Mr. J. W. Jones was re-elected hon. secretary, and Messrs. Hobbs and Dawe, auditors. St. Woolos, Newport, was chosen for the next annual meeting, and Monmouth and Pontypridd respectively for the quarterly meetings. Quite a number of new members were elected, and a good deal of detailed business transacted. The day's proceedings were a huge success.

WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

PROPOSED ISLE OF WIGHT BRANCH.

A successful meeting was held at St. Thomas, Newport, I.W., on Boxing Day, with a view to forming an Island Branch of the Winchester Diocesan Guild, the towers on the island being at present merged with the Portsmouth District. Representatives attended from Ventnor, Whitwell, Ryde, Brading, Carisbrooke and Newport, and the meeting was fortunate in having present Mr. W. H. Fussell, hon. secretary of East Berks and South Bucks branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, whose advice was most helpful in arranging the form of procedure.

The Rev. J. G. Orr, Rector of Whitwell, was voted to the chair, and after an opening prayer the correspondence leading up to this meeting was read and discussed.—It was proposed by Mr. H. Barton, of Ventnor, and seconded by Mr. W. Chambers (Newport), that subject to formal sanction of the Winchester Diocesan Guild an Island Branch be formed.

The election of officers was left until the Guild's sanction had been received, but Mr. Upton (Newport) was elected hon. sec. pro tem.

A hearty vote of thanks to the chairman, on the proposition of Mr. Chambers, seconded by Mr. Fussell, terminated the business programme, after which the ringers had a short touch of Bob Major, conducted by J. Bruce Williamson; ringing was also indulged in prior to the business meeting.

The Island should prove to be as successful a branch as most others in this huge diocese, and it is hoped that the founders of it will be supported by the remaining ringers and so attain the success they have set out to achieve.

THE WHITECHAPEL FOUNDRY. CELEBRATION OF UNIQUE EVENT

Robert Mot, 1573; Mears and Stainbank, 1920; and between those dates an unbroken succession of bell founders carrying on the same business, almost on the same spot. This unique record places the Whitechapel Bell Foundry among the oldest business firms in the kingdom, even if it is not the oldest with, as it were, a direct line of descent. The completion of three and a half centuries of trading, which has carried the fame of the foundry into every corner of the English-speaking world, was an event which was not to be passed entirely unnoticed, but with a modesty characteristic of the ancient firm, the celebration was confined to a 'family' gathering. On Saturday evening, at The Coffee Pot, in the City of London, the headquarters of the Ancient Society of College Youths, the firm entertained the employes to dinner. The foundry staff, who number about thirty, were welcomed by Mr. Albert A. Hughes (the genial principal), his mother (Mrs. Arthur Hughes), his wife and his brother (Mr. Robert Hughes). Mr. Hughes presided at the bountifully spread tables, and at the conclusion of the repast the toast of 'The King' was cordially honoured.

Mr. Alan Macdonald (manager), in felicitous terms, proposed 'The Firm,' whose name in the bell world, he said, was one to conjure with. It was a very happy idea that they should have that gathering. They (the staff) wished the firm continued success, for in that success rested their own prosperity (applause).

The toast was drunk with musical honours.

Mr. A. A. Hughes, in replying, said the occasion on which they had met was unique. They had met to celebrate the closing of the 350th year of the firm's existence. That meant that over since the twelfth year of good Queen Bess, the foundry had been turning out bells for all parts of the world. That was a record of which they all might feel very proud indeed. In the firm's history they had passed through some very trying periods. He doubted very much whether they had ever passed through such trying times as the period of the late war, and the year following the cessation of hostilities. The way in which they had pulled through had been due largely to the unswerving loyalty of the staff. If it had not been for their wholly genuine co-operation he knew very well they would not have got through as they had done. He felt they were running not so much as a big commercial concern where everything was cut and dried; they were a peculiarly old-fashioned business, and they were more of a family party. Most of those present were old members of the staff and knew the traditions that lay behind the firm. They would feel as he very strongly felt, that they owed a great deal to those who had gone before them (hear, hear). By their hard work they helped to build up the fortunes of the foundry and the present holders—he felt they were in the position of trustees of an old institution—should do their best in their turn to see that they handed it on at least as successfully as it was handed down to them (applause). It was in 1570 that Robert Mot, the founder of the firm, started in Whitechapel. It was in the same road as they were now in—he dared say it was a little more salubrious than at the present time (laughter). He often wondered if Robert Mot ever imagined his efforts would live so long after him. He doubted if he could have done, but they would remember that only about eighteen months ago bells that left the foundry more than 300 years before came back for restoration. He referred to two of the bells at Westminster Abbey, one of which was cast in 1583, and the other in 1594. He hoped the firm would have continued prosperity, and that they, with the staff, would work together in the future in the same spirit that had helped them through the recent trying and difficult period (applause).

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, Editor of 'The Ringing World,' on behalf of the ringers of England, congratulated the firm upon attaining the 350th year of their foundation. He pointed out that change ringing was a thing unknown for many years after Robert Mot opened his foundry in Whitechapel, and the work of his successors had a great deal to do with making change ringing possible in the early days of the art. The Whitechapel foundry had a great reputation throughout the country, built upon good workmanship and sterling honesty and business integrity, and he wished the firm long and continued prosperity (applause).

The evening was afterwards devoted to music. There was no lack of talent, and songs were rendered by several members of the staff, including the Chairman and Mr. R. Hughes. There were also some capital banjo and concertina solos, and a foundry band rang a perfect touch of Grand sire Triples on handbells. A few College Youths looked in later in the evening, and the following rang a course of Stedman Caters: J. W. Golding 1—2, H. R. Pasmore 3—4, J. Thomas 5—6, W. Pasmore 7—8, A. A. Hughes 9—10. Mrs. A. A. Hughes played the accompaniments.

WAS IT FALSE?

A Suffolk ringer asks us to say that the peal of Kent Treble Bob, rung at Helmingham, Suffolk, on November 13th, was hopelessly false, as it would be impossible to get the bells home from the order they went into the slow after the seventh in the last course. The bells, he says, had shifted course and were jumbled home. Perhaps the conductor will give the Exercise his views.

CUMBERLAND'S NEW RING OF SIX. WAR MEMORIAL AT MILLOM.

In memory of the men of Millom, Cumberland, who fell in the war, a fine ring of six bells has been placed in the tower of St. George's Church, in that parish. The bells, with a tenor of 14 cwt., were cast by Messrs. John Warner and Sons at the Spitalfields Bell Foundry, and are hung in their patent all-steel frame, on the cantilever principle, and their 'go' is perfect. In the absence of the Bishop of Carlisle, the dedication was performed by the Ven. H. E. Campbell (Archdeacon and Chancellor of Carlisle), and it was appropriate that he should perform the ceremony, for as a former Vicar of the parish, he baptized and helped in the teaching of some of those to whom the memorial has been erected. The unveiling of the memorial tablet and the dedication of the bells took place in a crowded church, and was of a simple but impressive character. After the dedication, the Dalton-in-Furness ringers rang a short touch of Bob Minor, and immediately the bells were lowered in peal. The muffles were then put on, the bells were rung half-muffled, and a 360 Bob Minor was brought round. The bells were then lowered in peal and the muffles taken off. The ringers were: R. Jackson 1, T. Watson 2, G. Jackson 3, W. H. Dennison 4, T. Metcalfe 5, J. Burrows (conductor) 6. This was the most impressive part of the ceremony—the several minutes silence, except for the sound of the bells, and many a sob and sigh from the sad hearts within the church. Prayers were then offered by the Rev. W. G. Arnold (curate-in-charge of St. Luke's), and a hymn sung, after which the Archdeacon gave an address. The dedication of a peal of bells, he said, was an event of very great interest to the parish. He expressed the regret of the Bishop at his inability to be present, and also regretted the absence of his wife, who was prevented by illness from meeting many old friends. He considered it fitting that he himself should be called upon to perform the dedication, as it was thirty-three years to that very day (December 18th) since he delivered his first address from that pulpit, and twenty-five years since his term of office as Vicar of St. George's, Millom, came to an end. His wife and he had spent many happy years at the Vicarage there, in which four of their children had been born. One of their children had made the supreme sacrifice, and he tendered his heartfelt sympathies to the bereaved relatives of the fallen heroes. That, he added, was one of the best churches in the diocese, and the memorial was one of the best and most costly (the bells had cost about £1,100) that he had ever dedicated. It was not only a peal of bells, but a memorial to heroes. The men whose memory was thereby commemorated had fought, had suffered, and had died. They had made the supreme sacrifice, and their loss meant sacrifice also to their bereaved. There was something appealing in the sound of a bell, and the memory of those who had fallen would be carried down to future generations by that memorial.

The hymn, 'O God, our help in ages past,' was sung, after which the 'Last Post' and 'Reveille' were sounded. The service then concluded with the hymn, 'On the Resurrection morning,' and the pronouncement of the Blessing by Archdeacon Campbell.

At the conclusion of the service, the bells were raised in peal, and a 720 of Bob Minor was brought round by: R. Jackson 1, Miss E. M. Smart 2, G. Jackson 3, T. Watson 4, W. H. Dennison 5, J. Burrows (conductor) 6.

A tea was kindly provided by the Vicar, and afterwards short touches of Bob Minor were rung, Miss Barker, J. P. Barker and W. T. Clark, from Broughton, and Mr. Frank Smith (Messrs. John Warner and Son's foreman bell hanger), taking part.

The bells are a very musical ring of six, and are a great credit to the founders. Great thanks are due to Mr. Frank Smith for having the bells ready and in thorough order, and for his able assistance which made the opening so successful.

Ringers were present from the towers of Barrow-in-Furness, Dalton-in-Furness and Broughton, and several enjoyable hours were spent in ringing various methods, much to the delight of the local residents, who one and all appreciated the musical quality of the new bells.

STEDMAN CINQUES.

The commemoration in Birmingham on December 28th of the centenary of the first peal of Stedman Cinques rung out of London, recalls the fact that the first peal of Stedman Cinques was rung by the College Youths at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields on October 6th, 1788. This was a 6204. The Cumberlands beat it at Spitalfields with a 6334 on December 20th, 1806, and the Birmingham peal, conducted by Thomas Thurstans, held the field as a Stedman Cinques record until 1844, when it was superseded in length at Norwich. The honours were recaptured at Birmingham in 1848, when 7392, composed and conducted by Henry Johnson, was rung at St. Martin's, and, incidentally the record remains with that tower in the 11,111 rung there by a band most of whom, happily, are still amongst us.

BISHOP'S STORTFORD'S CENTENARY PEAL.

In reply to 'An Essex Ringer,' respecting the truth of the above peal, I can assure him and also the Exercise, that the peal was true, and not false as some make out. Trusting this will stop all rumours that are afloat.—Yours sincerely,
H. J. TUCKER.

DEATH OF LIVERPOOL RINGER.

One of the earliest members of the Lancashire Association, Mr. G. W. Hughes, has just passed away. For a great many years he was a ringer at St. Michael's, Garston, and had several peals to his credit. He joined the Lancs Association soon after its reconstruction, 1879. The deceased had represented Garston on the Liverpool City Council, and was a prominent Freemason.

The interment took place at Allerton Cemetery on December 22nd, and on the following day a quarter-deal of Stedman Triples was rung at Garston with the bells half-muffled as a last mark of respect: J. Allen 1, A. Imtott 2, C. Davies 3, E. Counce 4, G. R. Newton (conductor) 5, T. Hammond, junr., 6, W. Hughes 7, W. B. Hughes 8.

Much sympathy is extended to the bereaved family and to the deceased's brother, Mr. W. Hughes, who is secretary of the Liverpool Branch of the Lancs Association.

HEREFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

A quarterly meeting of the Hereford Guild was held at Colwall, where the eight bells were available, and a goodly number of ringers attended. Some very good ringing was done in following methods: Stedman, Grandsire and Bob Major. A short service was held in the church, and the Rev. Dr. Harris gave a most appropriate address. Tea was provided in the Choir Room, Dr. Harris presiding. A short business meeting afterwards concluded a pleasant day.

DEATH.

LUCAS.—On Jan. 2nd, at 101, Acacia Road, Walthamstow, Rachel, the beloved wife of G. B. Lucas, sen., passed peacefully away, aged 60 years.

PUBLICATION.

'AMONG THE BELLS.' — THE RINGING CAREER OF LATE REV. F. E. ROBINSON, M.A., Vicar of Drayton, Berks, Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. Part I. to XX. may be had singly at 6d. net. SUBSIDIES.

The result of the article on this page last week has been to stir up at length something like a real interest in the subject which we put before our readers as a matter of considerable interest to them and importance to the Exercise, namely, the future of 'The Ringing World,' which is the only existing link between ringers throughout the country. Promises of support, if the paper is enlarged at an increased charge of a penny per week, have come in in much larger numbers, although we are still far off the desired end of receiving the 'yea' or 'nay' of every reader. As far as we have gone the views expressed are overwhelmingly in favour of the course we have proposed, as against the alternatives.

There is, however, one alternative to which we feel we must return, because we have received from more than one influential quarter the suggestion that it is the line that ought to be adopted in preference to raising the price, viz., that of a subsidy from the various ringing organisations. Arguments in favour of this have come to us from association officials who—and perhaps quite rightly—do not at the moment desire that their names should be connected with it, because they have had no opportunity of consulting either their Associations or their committees. But, coming from the sources to which we have referred, we feel we cannot lightly pass the matter over. We appreciate very deeply the fact that these gentlemen desire to see 'The Ringing World' backed financially by the organisations who are very largely dependent upon it for sustaining the interests of the members. There are, however, serious obstacles to this scheme which may not have been altogether realised by the proposers. Firstly, whatever is done needs to be done soon. Before all the Associations could be consulted—each one of them would have to have a matter like this formally before it at the annual general meeting—a year at least must elapse, and even at the end of that time it is perhaps doubtful if all the Associations would agree. Beyond this, however, is the amount which is involved. The suggestion is that the increased cost of the larger paper should be met by the subsidy, and that the subsidy should be based upon a grant of so much per thousand members. Now, the additional revenue which it is anticipated will be required to increase the size of 'The Ringing World' and put it upon a satisfactory basis is £500 per annum. Such a sum, we venture to think, is quite beyond the powers of ringing associations to guarantee. Assuming that in the aggregate there are twenty thousand members affiliated to the various organisations—we doubt if there are three-quarters of this number—it means that the suggested subsidy would have to be on the basis of £25 per thousand members. What Association would undertake this? These figures, too, to some extent, answer the other proposals put forward, and show that payment for peals, for instance, would be entirely inadequate as an alternative by itself. We believe these facts will enable the Exercise to see that the ringers must individually pay their share. If the remaining readers will at once send their post cards, we may be able to announce a decision next week.

'THE RINGING WORLD.'

RINGERS REALISING ITS IMPORTANCE TO THE EXERCISE.

The special appeal which we made last week to our readers to intimate to us whether they will support a larger paper at an increased cost, has brought us many further communications, but the replies are still far below the present total circulation. Of those that have at present, reached us almost all are in favour of the course we suggest, and what gratifies us still more is the fact that at numerous meetings recently the importance of the journal to the Exercise has been emphasised, and efforts—not without result—have been made to obtain extended support.

For instance, at the Preston Branch meeting of the Lancs Association, on Saturday, the Branch Secretary (Mr. E. R. Martin) made an appeal for wider support for 'The Ringing World,' and an interesting discussion followed, in the course of which Mr. Taylor, junr., proposed that the General Committee of the Association be asked to make a grant to the paper. It was pointed out that the Editor had said definitely that it was not subsidies that were wanted, but better support, and Mr. Taylor, in endorsing the remarks of the Branch Secretary, said he knew several towers in the branch where not a single copy was taken. He considered this was rather a disgrace.

At the Norwich and Ipswich Association, at Ipswich last week, the Hon. Secretary (Mr. A. L. Coleman) referred to the importance of giving adequate support to the paper, and condemned the practice of making one copy serve for a company.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting of the Bedford District was held at Bedford on Saturday last. Service was held in St. Peter's Church, and an excellent address was given by the Rev. Canon Nowell. Tea was provided by the Misses Steel at St. Peter's Hall, and was very much enjoyed by members from Bedford, Thurleigh, Harrod, Sharnbrook, Elstow, Willington, Sandy, Husborne, Crawley, Clapham.

At the business meeting, with the Rev. Canon Nowell in the chair, the Secretary's report was read and passed.

The Committee was re-elected en bloc, and Mr. H. L. Harlow was re-elected as secretary.—One new member was elected, and Canon Nowell an hon. member.—A vote of thanks to the Rev. J. E. Gilbert for the use of the bells and to Canon Nowell for presiding; to Miss E. Steel acting as organist; and the Misses Steel and Miss Leader for the tea, brought a most successful meeting to a close.

ROTHERFIELD.—At St. Denys Church, on New Year's Eve, for service, 240 Oxford Treble Bob Minor and 240 Kent Treble Bob Minor; also a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples at midnight in 45 min.: S. THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

PRELIMINARY NOTICE.

The First Session of the Eleventh Council (twenty-ninth meeting) will be held in the Church House, Westminster, on Whitsun Tuesday, 17th May. Reports of Committees, Notices of Motion, and any other business and matter for the Agenda should reach me not later than Saturday, 16th April.

Hon. Secretaries of Affiliated Guilds and Associations are particularly requested to take notice that affiliation fees are now due, and should be forwarded to me without delay, together with a list of names and full postal addresses of their representatives, newly elected or re-elected, to the new Council.

CHARLES D. P. DAVIES,

Hon. Secretary.

Deane Rectory,
Overton, Hants.
8th January, 1921.

The foregoing notice is official, and is signed as such in my official capacity, but I must add a brief personal note to remind members of Council, with an expression of my warm thanks for the confidence reposed in me for eighteen years or thereabouts, of my firm purpose, expressed at the last London meeting, not to accept re-nomination to the office of hon. secretary and treasurer, and that it is, therefore, incumbent on them carefully to consider the question of finding someone of their number to succeed to the office.

CHARLES D. P. DAVIES.

SIX-BELL METHODS.

ALTERATION OF NAMES.

To the Editor.

Sir,—The Peals Analysis Committee desire to draw the attention of the Exercise to a peal in seven Minor Methods rung at Wath-on-Dearne on the 20th October, 1920, and duly published in 'The Ringing World' on the 5th November following.

Two of these methods—'Nelson's Delight' and 'Duke of Clarence'—are to be found under other titles in the Minor Methods Collection issued by the Central Council: for 'Duke of Clarence' is No. 9 in the 'Treble Bob Minor Methods, and is there called 'Denton,' and 'Nelson's Delight' is a Fourth's Place Delight Method, No. 24, under the title of 'Armley.' The peal No. 9 was rung by the Denton men on June 19th, 1914, and No. 24 by the same men on November 15th, 1914; each performance and naming having been duly announced in 'The Ringing World.'

In the course of correspondence, it now appears that 'Nelson's Delight' was rung at Wath-on-Dearne on the 5th November, 1910 and 'Duke of Clarence' at the same place on November 7th, 1908 both dates being prior to those on which the same peals were rung and named by the Denton men.

The prior claim of Wath-on-Dearne having been conceded by the Denton men, the committee would be glad if those who are keeping up the record of the unnamed peals in the collection would kindly alter No. 9 on page 10 to the 'Duke of Clarence,' and No. 24 on page 19 to 'Nelson's Delight,' so that the record may be in accordance with the facts as now ascertained.

May I take this opportunity of reminding conductors and others interested, that no unaltered peals belonging to 1920 will be included in the analysis, unless they have been duly published in 'The Ringing World' by the end of February?—Yours very faithfully,

ARTHUR T. KING, Chairman.

The Summit, Stevenage.

WESTBURY'S BIG TASK.

A £2,000 RESTORATION.

The annual meeting of Devizes Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild was held at Trowbridge on January 1st, about 25 members being present, representing Hilberton, Warmminster, Trowbridge, Holt, Devizes, Keevil, Westbury, Bath and Marlborough. During the afternoon and evening touches of Grandsire Triples, Stedman Triples and Bob Major were rung.

The meeting was presided over by the Chairman of the Branch (Mr. Hart), and the hon. secretary presented the balance sheet, which showed a small balance in hand, and was considered most satisfactory.

The Chairman made a special appeal to all ringers for help in the restoration of Westbury bells, which was costing no less than £2,000. He pointed out that Westbury had made a great effort, and had raised £1,500, and they all knew how difficult it was to raise the last few hundreds. In conclusion, he hoped that all ringers would do all they could to complete the great task that Westbury is undertaking.

The Chairman was unanimously re-elected, and Mr. H. F. Brown was elected hon. secretary, in place of Mr. S. Pepler, resigned.—A hearty vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells concluded the business.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD. DORCHESTER BRANCH'S SUCCESSFUL YEAR.

The annual meeting of the Dorchester Branch of the Salisbury Guild was held at Fordington St. George, Dorchester, when the towers represented were Buckhorn Weston, Charnminster, Dorchester, Fordington, Kington Magna, Swanage, Upwey, Wool and Wyke Regis. Good practice was obtained on the bells, and the Guild service was conducted in the fine old church by the Vicar (the Rev. R. G. Bartelott), who also gave an interesting address, which contained much historical data as to the bells and old Abbots of Dorset. The surpliced choir was in attendance and led the singing.

After the service there was an adjournment to the Moule Institute, where members and friends, numbering 34, sat down to an excellent tea generously provided by the Vicar, churchwardens and ringers of Fordington. The tables were floridly adorned, and the members were waited on by a willing band of ladies.

The business meeting followed, under the presidency of Mr. R. N. Dawes (chairman), who was supported by the Master of the Guild (Major Hugh D'Aeth), the general secretary (the Rev. F. L. Edwards), the Revs. R. G. Bartelott and C. A. Phillips (hon. secretary Winborne Branch), the churchwardens and lady ringers from Charnminster and Dorchester, and officers of the branch.—The Chairman tendered thanks to the Vicar and churchwardens for inviting the Branch to Fordington, and especially thanked the Vicar for his most interesting address. He expressed pleasure at the presence of the Master and General Secretary of the Guild, warmly thanked the Fordington ringers for their kind hospitality, and also the ladies for the dainty manner in which the tea was prepared and served.—The Vicar responded to these kindly expressions, and voiced pleasure at seeing the lady ringers present.

The Vicar and Mr. E. C. Dobell were elected hon. members, and Mr. Joshua Morris (Leicester) and Mr. A. W. Seymour (Bristol) were elected life members of the Guild.

The Hon. Secretary (Mr. C. H. Jennings), in his annual report, said the past year had been quite up to pre-war standard. Four quarterly meetings had been held at West Lulworth, Bere Regis, Milton Abbey and Fordington. In addition to these meetings they had a special meeting at the opening of Bere Regis bells, and mention was made of the impressive service at St. Peter's, Dorchester, on July 17th, on the occasion of the unveiling of the memorial tablet to their brother ringers who fell in the great war, and best thanks were tendered to all who assisted at the service. Reference was made to the fact that the branch as a whole had not made such great strides in change ringing as was expected after the war. Members were asked to take the matter up more seriously, and go in for higher methods, and, as the Master had requested, where there were six bells to practise Minor. Dealing with restorations, the report stated that a new bell had been added to the existing peal at Bere Regis, and the others had been to the foundry of Meares and Stainbank, quarter turned and hung in steel frames, making a grand peal of six. The six bells at Frampton had also been rebung. There were other peals in the district that sadly needed rehangng and augmenting, and at Piddletrenthide, which had one of the most beautiful towers in Dorset and a tenor of over 20 cwt., they were unsafe for ringing. The same remark applied to the bells at Cerne Abbas. The membership of the branch had reached the record total of 112—an increase of 11 over last year. They welcomed their new hon. members and the Bere Regis band into the Guild. The secretary regretted that Mr. Wilken had been out of the district a good deal during the past year, but hoped to have his services in the future. Thanks were tendered to all who had entertained the members at all the meetings during the past year.

The financial statement showed receipts of £15 8s. 10d., and expenditure of £9 17s. 8d., leaving a balance of £5 12s. 2d.—It was resolved to place the 6s. remaining over from the fund of the memorial tablet to the branch funds. The accounts were adopted subject to audit.—Several members spoke of the amount of work the secretary put in for the Guild, and as a small reward, and as an expression of their greatest thanks to him for the good work he had done for them for several years, they voted an honorarium of two guineas from the funds.—The Secretary said this had been sprang upon him, and he did not wish it, but the meeting would not hear of altering the decision.

All the officers were re-elected, namely, Messrs. R. N. Dawes (chairman), G. T. White (Ringing Master), W. J. Benger (Deputy Master) and C. H. Jennings (hon. secretary and treasurer).

The next meeting was left in the hands of the secretary to arrange either at Hilton or Wyke Regis.

The Rev. F. L. Edwards recalled the fact that a resolution was adopted for the restoration of the peace bell throughout the diocese. That example was likely to be followed in the Diocese of Rochester as the result of an appeal recently made by the Bishop of that diocese in his 'Diocesan Gazette.' He also called attention to the fact that the funds of the Guild had become very low, the lowest in its history. The funds had been taken up by the extra cost of printing the great number of reports, and it was resolved that a recommendation should go forward from the branch to the general meeting of the Guild that the annual subscription should be increased to 1s. 6d. or more, while the branch hoped to make a small grant to the general fund.

Congratulations were given to the writer on the able articles which he had contributed to 'The Ringing World' on their branch meetings and the history of their churches and bells, etc.

The usual vote of thanks terminated another pleasant and happy meeting, and the ringers then repaired to the tower, and kept the bells going to 9 p.m., good practice being obtained in Bob Minor.

It may be interesting to ringers to know that at this beautiful church of Fordington, with its partly Norman aisle and its very noble 15th-century tower—a model of proportion—hang two of the bells that once rang in the peal of twelve at Bindon Abbey (a few miles from Fordington), and when this Abbey was suppressed and looted, the bells formed the small part of the plunder. The bells were to be divided between Wool and Coombe-Keynes, but Fordington rogues thought otherwise, and secretly carried off five of the bells, and hid them in a lane near by, still called Bell Drogg. When night fell they carted off the bells. Hence the doggerel rhyme:—

Wool-streams and Coombe-Keynes wells,
Fordington rogues stole Bindon bells.

The late Lord Bishop of Durham (Dr. Moule) was born at Fordington. His father, from 1829 to 1830, was Vicar of the parish, where he laboured for the social good of his parishioners, and the Moule Institute was erected to his memory. Almost in sight are Max Gate, the home of Mr. Thomas Hardy, the renowned novelist, and the thatched roof of Carne Rectory, once the home of the Dorset poet, the late William Barnes—deep student, true pastor, clear and tender seer of nature, and of man.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

MANCHESTER BRANCH SECRETARY RETIRES.

The first meeting of the New Year was held as usual at Manchester Cathedral, when some 40 members and friends called in during the evening, and touches of Grandsire, Stedman and Treble Bob were rung on the 8 and 10 bells.

The business meeting was presided over by Canon Elsee, when apologies were read from two members, one of whom was on the sick list, and to whom the sympathy of the meeting was sent. The next meeting was arranged for Brookfield Church, four weeks hence.

The Branch Secretary wished to retire after 9½ years' service, and Mr. J. Hall, 22, Silver Street, Miles Platting, Manchester, was appointed in his stead, with a seat on the Central Committee.

Canon Elsee, in his remarks, wished the members the compliments of the season, and commented on several items which have appeared in 'The Ringing World' of late. He informed the members of what the Central Council were doing in the matter, and concluded with an appeal for more support for the ringers' paper.

After a vote of thanks to the retiring secretary, the authorities and ringers of the Cathedral, and the chairman, the bells were kept going until about 9.30.

PRESTON BRANCH.

A very successful meeting of this Branch was held at Preston Parish Church on Saturday, January 8th, over 40 members attending, representing some 12 towers in the branch. The bells were utilised during the afternoon in various Major and Minor methods, and service was held in the small chapel.—The Vicar of Preston (the Rev. A. J. Morris, M.A.) gave an address, remarking that it was the first time he had had the privilege of speaking to ringers, but he realised that they were members of a very high calling. He, therefore, exhorted his hearers to live up to their high calling, and in particular he asked them to be regular communicants.

After service, the party proceeded to the Cafe Orient for tea, which had been very kindly provided by the Vicar and wardens.

At the business meeting, under the chairmanship of the Vicar, Walton-le-Dale and Houghton were chosen as the next two meeting-places, and three new members elected.

At the close of business, a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar and wardens for their generosity in providing tea and granting the use of the bells.—This was suitably responded to by Mr. Willan and Mr. Rawcliffe (churchwardens). Mr. Willan remarked that he thought the gathering was a very pleasant way of welcoming the new Vicar amongst the ringers.—Mr. Rawcliffe, in a humorous speech, said that some of the terms used by the secretary had rather mystified him, and he felt very anxious to find out a little more about ringing. He hoped that he should have the pleasure of meeting all present when next they came to meet at Preston (applause).

The Vicar said that when first approached about coming amongst them he was rather afraid, but he felt that he had been amply repaid, and if his coming had given pleasure to the company then they could rest assured that he also was pleased to have been with them that evening (applause).

The tower was again visited, and ringing kept up till 9 p.m., the methods rung during the day being Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Kent Treble Bob Minor and Major, Double Norwich; also Bob Minor and Cambridge Surprise.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.

NORTHERN BRANCH.

The annual meeting of the Gainsborough District was held at Gainsborough on Saturday, January 8th, ringers being present from Brigg, Corringham, Scotter and Bigby, in addition to the local company. Ringing took place during the afternoon and evening, in different methods. A short service was held, at which the Rev. E. V. Clapton officiated. An excellent tea was provided at 6, Spital Terrace, and was followed by the business meeting.—Mr. F. F. Linley presided, and was supported by Mr. E. Dawber (churchwarden), Mr. Mawditt (sexton), and the Rev. H. T. Parry (Rector of Bigby). Apologies were read from absent members, also a most interesting letter which the district secretary had that morning received from Mr. J. C. Tinker, a former and much respected member of the Gainsborough company, and now residing at Gisborne, New Zealand.

The following new members were elected: Messrs. Harold Green, Brigg, Fred Spittlehouse, Corringham and A. H. Blades, Gainsborough. The whole of the officers were re-elected en bloc, except that Mr. J. T. Ladd was elected Ringing Master in the place of Mr. J. C. Tinker.

The places selected for district meetings were as follows: Messingham, April 16th; Corringham, June 18th; Stow and Willingham, July 16th; Brigg, August 20th; Kirton Lindsey, Sept. 17th.—Mr. C. H. Baker proposed that the district secretary be instructed to write the Rev. Canon Baker, giving the support of the Gainsborough district in his attitude respecting the bells and the ringing of the same being kept under the control of the incumbent as at present.—This was seconded and carried unanimously.

The Chairman gave a very instructive address on constancy and local history, from a religious point of view. His remarks were thoroughly endorsed by the Rev. H. T. Parry, who also made a most interesting speech on the subject.

Votes of thanks to the Vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells, to the Rev. E. V. Clapton for conducting the service; Mr. Mawditt for his assistance; Mr. and Mrs. T. Whelpton for their excellent catering; the donors of the tea; and Mr. F. F. Linley for presiding, were passed and duly responded to.

The Secretary was also requested to write Mr. J. C. Tinker, on behalf of those present, expressing their appreciation of his welcome letter, and at the same time conveying to him their very best wishes. Subsequently further ringing took place, and a very pleasant meeting was brought to a close.

IS IT APATHY?

The apathy of the average ringer is a subject of frequent comment in the Exercise, and we have had an extremely good example of this failing in connection with our attempt to ascertain the feeling of our readers upon whether they are prepared to pay another penny a week for a larger paper. The hope of receiving something like a full response to the inquiry which we put forward seemed, when last we wrote, likely to materialise; but the promise did not mature, and we have had a response from less than half of our present readers. In view of the fact that only about two per cent. of those who have replied have stated definitely that they are unable to support the suggested new arrangement, we feel that in all probability the great majority of those for whose postcards we are still waiting will continue to back us up. Perhaps it really is a case of silence giving consent, and we make one more special appeal, therefore, to those members of the Exercise who are at present subscribers to this journal and who either will not or cannot agree to paying more for a larger paper, giving them matter of wider interest than the present limited space permits. Will those readers who will not continue their support please send us an intimation of the fact by Monday next? We do not ask them to elaborate their reasons, but simply on a postcard say they will not remain readers if the paper goes up to 3d.

Let it be clearly understood that we are not proposing an additional charge without being prepared to offer something in return. The enlarged paper will give a much wider scope and enable attention to be given to a variety of subjects relating to ringing which are at present perforce excluded. As we mentioned last week, special provision will be made for articles for young ringers; we hope also to introduce a Sunday service ringers' page, as well as other features which we have long hoped to provide, but which the crippling limits of the present size of the journal have effectually banned. It has, indeed, been disappointing that we have not long since been able to return to something like the pre-war 'Ringing World'; but in the newspaper business, as in every other concern, it has not yet been possible to eliminate war's effects. During the year 1920 over 650 newspapers increased their price without—in the vast majority of cases—increasing their size. Not a few of the journals devoted to some special subject and appealing to an even wider circle than a ringers' paper can do, have gone from the pre-war penny to a post-war sixpence, and those who follow the pastimes for which these papers cater have had to pay the sixpence or go without. Nobody will be compelled to purchase the 'Ringing World' if the price goes up, but we do ask those who are

The magnificent ring of fourteen bells at St. Mary's Abbey, Buckfast, Devon, are to be opened to-morrow. The bells have been hung by Messrs. Aggett and Sons, of Chagford, in massive oak frames, and comprise a ringing peal of twelve, with a tenor of 40 cwt. 3 qr. in B flat. There are semitones between the treble and 2nd and 6th and 7th. The ceremony will be performed at 2.30 p.m. by the Lord Abbot, in the presence of Sir Robert Harvey, of Dandridge, Totnes, who has given the bells in memory of his wife, Lady Alida Mary Harvey, who died on July 17th, 1901.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Blackburn Branch was held at the Holy Trinity Church, Blackburn, on Saturday, January 15th, Mr. W. E. Wilson presiding. It was decided to hold the next meeting at Church Kirk on Saturday, February 19th.

A discussion took place with regard to the annual report of the association, and it was thought that the time had come when the association should issue a report similar to that which was issued prior to the war. No motion was put to the meeting, but it was decided that the subject should be again brought up for discussion at the next branch meeting in order that a recommendation may be made to the committee.—A vote of thanks to the Vicar and wardens and the local ringers brought the meeting to a termination.

THE LATE MR. W. H. CARROD.

The band at Bishop Ryder's Church, Birmingham, has lost a valued member in Mr. W. H. Carrod, who passed away in his 73rd year, after a long and painful illness. He was always to be depended upon for attendance at service ringing, and for some years was one of the mainstays of the company, of which Mr. James George is Ringing Master. Mr. Carrod was also a chorister at the church, and throughout his life devoted a great deal of his spare time to friendly society work. He joined the Henris of Oak Benefit Society in 1874, and in 1882 was elected secretary of the Birmingham Branch. He was closely identified with the formation of the Juvenile Society and the Distressed Members' Fund, and in 1889 was presented by the Birmingham members with a handsome English lever watch as a mark of esteem and in recognition of services rendered. As a member of the Typographical Society Mr. Carrod took a deep interest in Trade Union matters, and represented his branch on several deputations for dealing with trade disputes. The funeral service, which was choral, took place at Bishop Ryder's Church, and the interment at Witton Cemetery.

We hear that Earl Shilton, Leicestershire, is to possess a peal of eight, the old five to be rebung and three added. The work is to be carried out by the well-known Leicestershire firm. By the way, Earl Shilton is the home of a well-known county cricketer, and we are pleased to hear he will soon be as handy at the end of a rope as on the cricket pitch.

William Ranford, of Suckley, Worcestershire, scored his 80th peal on New Year's Day. These were rung in four counties and 40 different towers. It would be interesting to know how many miles he has cycled to ring them.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD. WEST DORSET BRANCH.

The annual meeting of the West Dorset branch was held at Bridport. Representatives to the number of over fifty attended from Beaminster, Bradpole, Bridport, Chideock, Linton Cheney, Lynde Regis, Netherbury, Stoke Abbot and Whitechurch Canonicorum. The bells were made full use of during the afternoon and evening. Service was conducted by Canon Coulter (chairman of the branch), and a most appropriate address was given by the Rev. W. H. Clarke, Vicar of Westbury, Wilts, who based his remarks on the motto on the 5th bell of his church, 'Draw near to God.' It was one of those really homely addresses which went right to the hearts of his listeners.

Tea and a business meeting followed.—The most interesting point in the Ringing Master's report was the regularity with which the service ringing on Sundays was carried out, though he at the same time urged on those present the need for making a real effort to master the intricacies of change ringing as being the highest form of ringing one could offer for church services.

The whole of the officers were re-elected with thanks for their past services, and a capital programme of meetings mapped out for the ensuing year.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION. EASTERN DISTRICT MEETING.

A successful meeting was held at Hull, on Saturday, January 8th, the headquarters being All Saints' Church. About 50 members attended, representing towers at Beverley, Selby, Goole, Market Weighton, Howden, Sutton, Grimsby, Barton and Barrow. The bells of All Saints' (8), Holy Trinity (10) and St. Mary's (Lowgate, 6) were open during the afternoon and evening to the visitors, who rang them to various methods, including Grandsire and Stedman, and Kent Treble Bob. A service was held in All Saints', when a sermon was preached by the Rev. Canon England, Vicar of Hessle. Speaking from the motto inscribed on the great bell of St. Paul's Cathedral, 'Woe is me if I preach not the gospel,' the Canon dwelt upon the office of a bell ringer, and associated him with the Vicar and the organist. All three had their part in sounding out the message of the gospel. It was for each to see that his life was not inconsistent with his preaching.

After the service tea was partaken of in the Parish Hall, and presided over by the Vicar (the Rev. A. E. Smallwood). The annual meeting followed, the chair being taken by the vice-president, Mr. A. E. West (Sutton), who was re-elected. Mr. H. Fairlam (Selby Abbey) was elected Ringing Master, vice Mr. W. Pearson (Pontefract, St. Giles), and Mr. A. B. Cook (Hull, Holy Trinity) was elected hon. district secretary, in place of Mr. W. Hinton (Selby Abbey). The retiring nine committee-men were re-elected en bloc.

Votes of thanks, including that to the various clergy for the use of the bells, and also to the ladies who so kindly served the tea. Before the close of the meeting, a fine hall stand was presented to Mr. A. B. Cook by the local ringers, on the occasion of his recent marriage. The Rev. A. E. Smallwood made the presentation, and Mr. Cook suitably responded.

ASTON RINGER'S DEATH.

We regret to record the death of Mr. John Currihan, an esteemed member of the Aston Parish Church band, who succumbed as the result of an accident on December 27th. Mr. Currihan rang for evening service at Aston on the Sunday after Christmas, and a few hours later he had a fall, and sustained a fracture at the base of the skull. In spite of the efforts of the staff at the Birmingham General Hospital he never regained consciousness, and died in the early hours of the following morning. The funeral took place on the 1st inst., and was attended by several Aston ringers.

His death has cast a gloom over the large circle of his ringing friends, and the Aston ringers will feel his death all the more from the fact that it comes so soon after the decease of Mr. James Jones, who passed away in his 70th year, after a long illness.

He had held the office of tower keeper and Ringing Master at Aston Parish Church for about 16 years, and had devoted much time and great patience to improve the service ringing, from the chiming which was in operation when he took control, to good change ringing. He had rung in upwards of 300 peals, but unfortunately had not kept his records up-to-date. He was interred in Aston Parish Churchyard.

NORWICH AND IPSWICH ASSOCIATION. CHURCH COUNCILS' (POWERS) BILL DISCUSSED.

The quarterly meeting of the Norwich Branch of the Association for the Diocese of Norwich and Archdeaconry of Suffolk was combined with the anniversary of the re-hanging of the bells in Diss Church and held at Diss on Thursday, January 6th. A large company of change ringers were present from Diss, Tharston, Great Henny (Essex), Thornham, Wickham Skeith, Palgrave, Beccles, Stoke Ash, Norwich, North Walsham, and other places. They were kindly granted by the Rev. B. M. Downton (Rector) the use of the fine peal of bells in the Parish Church tower, and during the morning touches were rung in a variety of methods. Dinner was partaken of at the Crown Hotel.—The Secretary (Mr. A. L. Coleman) read a letter from the President, the Very Rev. the Dean of Norwich, expressing his very great disappointment at not being able to preside on account of having to keep an important engagement that day. The chair was taken by the Rev. B. M. Downton, Rector of Diss, who was supported by the Rev. H. Drake, of Ufford, Mr. F. S. Wilson, Mr. S. G. Hind, Mr. A. Tyrrell, Mr. A. L. Coleman, and Mr. C. E. Borrett (vice-president). Among others present were Mr. G. P. Burton, Mr. W. L. Duffield, Mr. W. Ireland, Mr. J. Souter, Mr. W. Rose, etc.

The only toast given was that of 'The King,' submitted by the Chairman, and loyally received.

The Secretary read letters of apology from a number of clergymen and others who regretted their inability to attend, and nominated ten new members who were unanimously accepted. He afterwards thanked the members of the Diss company for kindly amalgamating their anniversary with the association's meeting, and spoke of the pleasure it gave the association to come to Diss, where, he said, they always met with a very cordial welcome. Having mentioned the suggested visits of the association during the present year, he proposed that the Easter meeting should be held at Fakenham.—Mr. Ireland seconded, and this was agreed to.

The question of the Whit-Monday meeting was afterwards discussed, and mention was made of the peal of bells recently opened at Lowestoft. The question was asked as to which diocese Lowestoft was in, and the reply being that it was in the Norwich Diocese it was decided that the Whitsuntide meeting should be held at Lowestoft. It was further agreed that August Bank Holiday gathering should be held at King's Lynn.

Mr. Borrett, moving a vote of thanks to Mr. Fred Day, of Eye, for his services as district secretary, spoke in terms of sympathy and regret of Mr. Day's ill-health. He also alluded to the work done to church bells over a wide area by Mr. Day and his father.—Mr. Coleman seconded the motion, which was unanimously carried, and ordered to be recorded on the minutes.

The Secretary announced that the vacancy caused by Mr. F. Day's resignation of the office of District Secretary for Eye had been filled by the appointment of Mr. William Rose, of Thoraham Magna.

Mr. Coleman brought forward the question of the powers of the Parochial Church Councils in regard to bell ringers and the ringing of Church bells, and alluded to the letters written by Canon W. W. C. Baker and others in 'The Ringing World' of Dec. 10th and 17th. He said if Clause 6 and Section 3 of the Church Council (Powers) Bill became law it would affect them very seriously indeed. This section provided that the Council, with the incumbent, should have power to appoint and dismiss officials—the list including the bell ringers. Canon W. W. C. Baker was urging that bell ringers should be exempted from the clause, and asked that his efforts might be strengthened by resolutions from meetings of associated ringers. He (Mr. Coleman) felt that if they came under the control of the Church Councils it would destroy that happy relationship that had so long existed between the clergy and ringers. If the clause became law it would not benefit either the ringers or the Church, and if the Church Councils once got the power it would be the stepping-stone for municipal and other Councils to make a bid for like authority. With regard to getting permission for ringing, at present they only had their Rector or Vicar to deal with, but if they had to apply to a Council they might have to wait a month before getting permission. The proposal was against their interests as ringers, and he was sure they did not wish for power to be taken away from the clergy. He moved: 'That this association is of opinion that the words "bell ringers" should be omitted in Clause 6 (Section 3) of the Church Council (Powers) Bill, as it considers it detrimental to the best interests of bell ringers and the art of change ringing to subject the ringers to any authority other than that of their parish priests, and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Rev. Canon W. W. C. Baker and to the Rev. A. H. F. Bougher.' Mr. Coleman said he had added the name of the Rev. A. H. F. Bougher because he was the president of the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers.

Mr. G. P. Burton seconded the motion, which was supported by the Rev. H. Drake, who said that sooner or later there was sure to be some cantankerous person upon the Council who would have his knife into the ringers, and if they were disbanded it would be most difficult to get them together again.—Mr. C. E. Borrett also supported the motion, which was carried unanimously.

In reply to a vote of thanks for giving permission for the bells to be rung and also for presiding at the meeting, proposed by Mr. Borrett, and seconded by Mr. Coleman, the Rector expressed his regret at the absence of the Dean, and went on to remark that it gave him the greatest possible pleasure to welcome the association to Diss and to encourage ringing in every way. He was not a great believer in rules, but one thing he believed in was ideals. They wanted always to remember to keep the great art of change ringing on the highest possible level—to the glory of God and for the welfare of their fellows. If they went on those principles, then success was sure; their work was pleasing to God, and the goodwill of their friends was a constant pleasure and an encouragement to themselves. The Rector concluded by saying he would like to express on behalf of those present their indebtedness to their excellent secretary, Mr. Coleman, and to propose a vote of thanks to that gentleman for all the work he had put into the association.—Mr. Ireland seconded, and the motion was carried unanimously.—Mr. Coleman having acknowledged the compliment, and moved a vote of thanks to Mr. W. Ireland for the very kind assistance given in making their meeting such a success, the meeting ended.

The company afterwards adjourned to the belfry and ringing was resumed for some time, after which an enjoyable evening was spent on ringing Mr. J. Souter's magnificent set of handbells, with the pleasure of his hospitality.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION. SOUTHERN DISTRICT'S SUCCESSFUL YEAR.

The annual meeting of the Southern District was held on Saturday, January 15th, at All Saints', Fulham, where the fine ring of ten bells were available. Between 30 and 40 ringers were present, including visitors from Guildford and Birmingham. The business meeting was at Putney, the room having been obtained by the kindness of Mr. T. Bolton. It was decided to leave the meetings of the year to the selection of the committee.

Mr. E. A. Young presented the balance sheet and report, which was formally passed, and which stated that sixteen successful meetings had been held during the past year, and there was a balance in hand to start the new year.

The officers were re-elected as follows: Mr. H. Burton (Master), Mr. F. Smith (secretary), Mr. H. Mance (treasurer), and Mr. J. Herbert (steward).—A vote of thanks to the officers for their services for the past year was proposed by Mr. T. H. Taffender (Master of the Association), who has himself done good service for the society.—A vote of thanks was unanimously accorded to the Vicar and Mr. J. Duffin for the tower and the use of the bells; and the meeting concluded with touches of Stedman Caters on handbells.

OFF TO AUSTRALIA.

Mr. Matthew Ellsmore, of Portsmouth, sends the following letter of farewell.—On the eve of my departure for Sydney, I have to thank you for your kindness in allowing my inquiry to appear as to the existence of bells in Sydney. I received a letter from Mr. G. Bloyce, of Selby, Yorks; and Mr. Richard E. Deal kindly answered through 'The Ringing World.' I now thank those two gentlemen for their valuable information. I hope to meet the Sydney ringers when I arrive there; and, although I have passed the allotted 'three-score years and ten,' I hope to have the pleasure of doing some more ringing.

I offer my best wishes for your future health, and wish the utmost success to 'The Ringing World.' To all my bell ringing friends I bid a most cordial adieu. Farewell to Middlesex, my native county; farewell to Edmonton, my native town; to Tottenham, my good wife's native town; to Portsmouth, and her good people; and last, but by no means the least, farewell to dear old England, and God save the King.

THIRTY YEARS' SERVICE RECOGNISED.PRESENTATION TO MR. GEORGE HALKSWORTH.

In recognition of his thirty years' devoted service in promoting the art of ringing in Doncaster and district, a presentation has been made to the Parish Church Ringing Master, Mr. G. Halksworth. The occasion was a combined practice of the Doncaster and Arksey societies. There were present in the belfry Archdeacon Sandford (Vicar), the Rev. H. T. Eddershaw (curate), the Rev. A. Rhys James (Vicar of Arksey), Mr. W. C. Atkinson (representing the churchwardens), 22 ringers, and a number of friends. After several short touches had been rung, the Archdeacon said it was a great pleasure to accede to the request of his ringing friends to make the presentation. He knew Mr. Halksworth was a devoted and capable member of St. George's belfry. He (the Archdeacon) knew something of the science of change ringing, though he must confess he had been unable to master its intricacies. When a young curate at Sheffield he was sufficiently interested to accept tuition in the art, and was later constrained to purchase a set of handbells to enlarge his knowledge. It was only then he realised the persistent application needed to acquire the necessary efficiency and small progress he had made in that direction. Though he had not proceeded further with change ringing he had not lost interest in it. He wished to congratulate Mr. Halksworth upon the completion of 31 years as a ringer at St. George's Church, and also upon his activities in the district. He hoped that Mr. Halksworth would long be spared to carry on the good work (applause).

Mr. Lloyd read a letter from Mr. Frank Willey, of Sheffield, vice-president Yorkshire Association, regretting his inability to attend. In the course of an interesting letter Mr. Willey wrote: 'Although I am not able to be present at the presentation to Mr. Halksworth, might I add my testimony to so worthy a gentleman and brother stringer, for I know full well that no man in South Yorkshire has done so much as my esteemed and honoured friend for the advancement of the art and science of change ringing. By his geniality, kindness, forbearance, and by his thoughtfulness for others, he had endeared himself to the ringing world. And like all good sportsmen and zealous workers is still running.'

The Rev. A. Rhys James, himself a regular ringer at Arksey Parish Church, spoke in eulogistic terms of the stimulating effects of Mr. Halksworth's visits to Arksey belfry, and Mr. G. Clark (Arksey) referred to the good work Mr. Halksworth had done for them both before they had their peal augmented to eight and since.—Mr. Woodhouse (Arksey) said he had known Mr. Halksworth 15 years, and he was the same George Halksworth to-day as he was when first he met him. Referring to the fact that their Vicar was a ringer, he said that if the clergy as a whole would take more interest in bell ringing and bell ringers, a great deal of good would be done (hear, hear).

The Archdeacon was then called upon to make the presentation, which took the form of a bound volume of 'Amongst the Bells,' and an engraved cigarette case of solid silver, inscribed as follows: 'Presented to Mr. G. Halksworth by the Doncaster and Arksey Change Ringers and a few friends, for the valuable services rendered to his fellow ringers from August 1890 to December, 1920.'

Mr. Halksworth, in acknowledging the gift, said that he never met a greater surprise in his life than the present one. He had been a ringer for 40 years. He started ringing as a young man at Derby, and rather more than 30 years ago he came to Doncaster. That was in the days of Canon Tebbutt, and he well remembered the Canon having received a letter from the Vicar of the church at Derby in which he learnt to ring, and coming to 'dig' him out of his lodgings. Since then he had seen many changes in the band at the Parish Church. There was a time when they had one of the finest bands in England, and were able to ring almost any method from Plain Bob to Superlative. That was the time when a quarter-peal of Grand sire, a date touch of Double Norwich, and a quarter-peal of Stedman, all in one Sunday, was considered an ordinary performance. He was sorry to say that there were only two or three of the old band left, the others having passed over to 'the better land.' The interest in bell ringing was not so widespread amongst the young men of the town to-day as it was 18 years ago. Lately, however, there had been a wave of enthusiasm, and they had recruited to their ranks a number of young men. Twelve months hence he hoped he would be able to say that they would be up to their old standard of 18 years ago.

Mr. Atkinson spoke of the esteem in which Mr. Halksworth was held by the churchwardens, and said that it must be a great honour to be able to ring even the smallest bells of such a magnificent peal as the parish church bells. It had been said that the peal was the heaviest and finest in Yorkshire.—After the Archdeacon had demonstrated his capabilities as a ringer on the tenor (301 owt.), a vote of thanks was accorded him for his presence. The ringers then 'fired' 30 salvas, one for each year of Mr. Halksworth's connection with the belfry. The rest of the evening was spent in ringing short touches in various methods.

Mr. Halksworth is well known as the popular Ringing Master of the Yorkshire Association (Southern District). He was for many years president of the Sheffield and Old East Derby Society, and is a member of the College Youths and many other societies up and down the country. He has rung and conducted between 60 and 70 peals.

CHURCH COUNCILS AND RINGERS.

The proposal contained in the measure now before the National Assembly to place the control of ringers in the hands of Parochial Church Councils will come before the Church's 'Parliament' next month, and our readers will feel gratified that steps are to be taken to safeguard, if possible, the interests of ringers, especially where their services are voluntary in nature. Canon Baker, of Dunstable, the only member of the Central Council who is also a member of the National Assembly, has given notice of an amendment to the measure, which will be considered at the 'Revision' stage—corresponding to the committee stage in the House of Commons—and the Standing Committee, on behalf of the Central Council, have forwarded a petition to the Assembly on the subject, the text of which appears in another column.

Canon Baker's amendment, as he points out, is on the lines of Alderman J. S. Pritchett's suggestion, viz., to add words to the clause enabling an incumbent to exercise a free discretion as to the voluntary ringing of the bells, which, in the majority of instances, would permit Sunday service ringing, and all peal ringing, to remain on the present footing. Canon Baker adds, and we think rightly, that this line of action is less likely to meet with opposition in the Assembly than an attempt to delete from the measure all reference to ringers. It is a most satisfactory thing from the standpoint of the Exercise that it has such an able representative in the Assembly as Canon Baker, and it is to be hoped that his persuasive powers will enable that body to see the matter in the same light as ringers generally view it. There is no question that the clause as it now stands would open the door to many difficulties in the future, and, as was pointed out at the Midland Counties Association meeting the other day, would give a bare majority of a bare quorum of a Parochial Council power to completely prevent the ringing of bells at a particular church. And this might arise from numerous causes. Such a thing, of course, would not be likely often to happen, but it is well that the effort should be made to remove the opportunity.

We are glad to notice that a good many of the associations have realised the importance of the subject, and have strengthened Canon Baker's hands with resolutions, which, backed by the reasoned arguments put forward by the Central Council in their petition, should show the National Assembly that there is a strong general feeling on the matter, and that the desire for an amendment of the clause does not emanate from a few isolated individuals. With regard to the position of paid ringers it must be admitted that the position is different. The Parochial Councils will be responsible for the Church finance, and if a Council has to provide the money to pay the ringers, it will expect to have a voice in the matter of their appointment and the terms of the tenure of their office. We imagine, however, that the proportion of paid bands is now small, and is probably getting less. On the other hand, at by far the larger number of churches the ringers give their services—indeed not a few pay something for the privilege—and when the National Assembly know that they are voluntary church workers equally with the choir and sidesmen, we believe they will be ready to let them remain upon the same footing.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.NORTHERN DISTRICT ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Northern District was held at St. Botolph's, Bishopsgate, on Saturday, January 15th. The bells were ready at 3.30, and some very good touches were rung, ranging from Grandsire Triples to Double Norwich. A short service was held, all the members present attending. The address given by the Rev. — Bullock was very much appreciated. The preacher is himself a change ringer. Tea followed in the Church Rooms, kindly provided by the church authorities, which was all the more enjoyable, as it came as a surprise.

At the business meeting held immediately after tea one new member was elected, viz., Mr. W. Bottrill, of Holloway.

The following officers were also elected for the year: Master, Mr. J. Bullock; secretary, Mr. E. Russell; steward, Mr. A. Howell; treasurer, Mr. T. Walker; committee, Mr. A. Riley and Mr. B. Turner.

Heartly votes of thanks were accorded to the Rector for the use of the bells and room, to the curate for his excellent address, and to the ladies who kindly looked after the ringers at tea.

Songs and pianoforte solos by the members brought a very enjoyable meeting to a close.

DEATH OF MR. R. W. J. GOLLOP.

We much regret to have to report the death of the above-named ringer, which took place on November 20th, at Andover Cottage Hospital, after an operation, at the early age of 48. He was an old and very apt pupil of Mr. W. W. Gifford in Salisbury thirty years ago, and rang in about 40 peals, both on tower and handbells, most of which were rung in the old Cathedral City, while one peal on handbells was rung at Mr. Gifford's old residence, in Devizes Road, conducted by Mr. J. W. Washbrook. Mr. Gollop also rang in the first peal of Double Norwich in Hants on December 26th, 1892, on the fine ring at the Priory Church, Christchurch, followed by another the same day in the same method at St. Peter's, Bournemouth. Mr. Gollop left Salisbury in 1894, and unfortunately has had little opportunity for peal ringing since. He was on a visit to his brother at Southampton only on November 8th, and rang in a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples at St. Mary's for morning service on the 9th before returning home. His death came quite as a shock to those who had met him so recently. He will be sadly missed at Andover, where he has been about eleven years. He was a member of the Salisbury and Winchester Diocesan Guilds, also of the Ancient Society of College Youths.

DEATH OF MR. L. ILLINGWORTH.

The death has taken place at Liversedge of Mr. Luke Illingworth, conductor of the local company, who passed away at the age of 62 years. Deceased, who was well known in Yorkshire ringing circles, had won between fifty and sixty first prizes in tower bell and handbell contests. He also had been successful at Belle Vue, Manchester, with the Liversedge Albert Handbell Ringers. In these competitions he helped to secure four first prizes. He had rung a number of peals, including 10,000 Kent Treble Bob Major, and had conducted peals of Cumberland Exercise Major and Violet Major. He was a man of great patience, which made him greatly esteemed when he was teaching young ringers, and he will be sadly missed at Liversedge.

There was a numerous attendance of old friends at the funeral ringers being present from Almondbury, Birstal, Mirfield, Earlsheaton, Tong, Dewsbury, etc., and the bells were rung deeply muffled while the cortege was coming to church, and a course of Grandsire Major was rung at the graveside by the local company.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD, BIRMINGHAM.JOHNSON COMMEMORATION TO BE HELD ON FEBRUARY 26th.

The annual meeting was held on Tuesday, January 11th, at the St. Martin's Hotel, under the chairmanship of the Presiding Master, Mr. Alderman J. S. Pritchett, M.A.

The President, the Lord Bishop of Birmingham, all the vice-presidents and the Presiding Ringing Master were unanimously re-elected. Mr. J. E. Groves having intimated his desire to relinquish the office of deputy Ringing Master, Mr. Albert Walker was elected, this being his second term of service in this office.—The trustees and the hon. secretary and treasurer were also unanimously re-elected, while Mr. Thos. H. Reeves was elected as auditor in place of Mr. George Swann, resigned.

The balance sheet for 1920 was adopted, and was regarded as satisfactory, although the assets were about £4 down, this being due to the larger number of peals rung, and the expense of having them written in the book in good style.

It was also unanimously decided to hold the annual Henry Johnson Commemoration Dinner at the Imperial Hotel, in the beautiful Connaught Room, the management having agreed, after much persuasion, to put on a good dinner at the cost of 6s. 6d. per head. Saturday, February 26th, is the date fixed, and there is every indication that the programme will be well up to the high standard attained in previous years.

Several new members were elected, various belfry elections ratified, and it was decided to hold the next quarterly meeting at Aston, subject, of course, to the Vicar's permission being forthcoming.

Messrs. Aggett and Sons are now commencing to restore the fine ring of six bells at Botus Fleming (Cornwall) in massive iron frames; also the peal at Landulph St. Budeaux and the bells at Rockbeare.

Surrey ringers will have their first opportunity upon the fine new ring of ten at Epsom Parish Church on the occasion of an association meeting on February 5th. The old eight were recast (after one of them had given way and fallen into the pit) by a former churchwarden (Mr. A. J. Warren) in memory of his wife, and Mrs. Hasten has added two trebles in memory of her late husband. The old tenor was 14 cwt. 1 qr. 2 lbs.; the new tenor is 16 cwt. 0 qr. 2 lbs. in E. The work has been carried out by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.

After having been in office for nearly the whole of his 36 years' membership of the Winchester Guild, Mr. J. J. Jones is resigning the post of secretary of the Guildford District, which he has held for 26 years. The district is one of the largest and most successful of the Guild—largely owing to the energy of Mr. Jones—who feels it is time a younger man shouldered the work. Mr. Jones has over 150 peals to his credit, but his services to the Exercise can be seen in the excellent condition in which he is leaving the district—if the members will let him.

Newton-in-Makerfield, Lancs, has for 21 years boasted of a grand ring of eight bells (tenor 25 cwt.), but it was only on Saturday last that the first peal was rung on them, previous attempts having usually failed owing to the great noise in the ringing chamber.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

In days of old when knights were bold, Ashby, with the dinky name of De la Zouch, was a happy hunting ground for jousting and tournaments. The name suggests Zounds! and Gadszooks! and its ruined castle brings to mind the scenes enacted therein as told by Sir Walter Scott in 'Ivanhoe.' Here on Saturday, January 15th, the above association held its quarterly meeting, when, despite the wintry weather, some forty to fifty ringers put in an appearance. Ringing commenced with Stedman Triples, and during the afternoon various other methods, including Double Norwich and a good course of London Surprise were brought round. The towns represented were Derby, Burton, Nottingham, Loughborough, Hinckley and Leicester. Tea was served at a neighbouring cafe, when Ald. R. B. Chambers, president, and Mrs. Chambers, honoured the company with their presence.

At the subsequent business meeting, the principal items were the question of support for 'The Ringing World,' the Parish Councils Act, and the election of an extraordinary number of honorary members—thanks to the untiring energy of Ald. Chambers.

Regarding 'The Ringing World,' the president asked for the unswerving support by the members, and this was endorsed by the hon. treasurer, who said that if 'The Ringing World' stopped, it was not likely that anyone would attempt another paper—exclusively for ringers.—The motion was carried with acclamation.

The question of the Church Councils authority was next discussed.—Mr. J. Griffin, as a member of the Standing Committee of the Central Council, stated that action was being taken by that committee to ensure, if possible, the ringers being placed in the same position as the choir—exempt.

Mr. W. Willson drew attention to the injustice that may be done to any official under the 'rules of procedure,' pointing out that one-third of the Church Council constitutes a quorum (Rule 5), and that a bare majority of that quorum could legally dismiss organist, steeple-keeper, vergor or anyone else (except the Vicar) under Rule 9.—The Hon. Treasurer emphasised the necessity of safeguarding the livelihood of church officials. As an example, a Council of 21 members could do business if only seven were present, and four of that seven could discharge an official! In his opinion, no dismissal ought to obtain except by (at least) a majority of the whole Council.—It was moved, seconded, and carried unanimously that the attention of the Rev. Canon Baker—as the ringers' M.P.—be called to the matter.

The list of new members, compiled by the hon. secretary, Mr. A. C. Wright showed upwards of sixty fresh adherents, including the Marquis of Hartington, the Mayor of Burton-on-Trent, and a well-known merchant of Barbadoes.

Votes of thanks to the local clergy for the use of the bells, to the local committee for their catering—especially to the veteran secretary of Bass Town; and to the president, brought the meeting to a close.

It may be stated that the M.C.A. is going 'great guns' at present, and a bumper annual meeting is looked forward to on Easter Monday at Leicester.

RINGERS WEDDED.

A very pretty wedding took place on December 18th at Lyme Regis Parish Church, the contracting parties being Mr. George Whitmore and Miss Eva Hill, both of whom are ringers in the Lyme belfry. The Vicar officiated. The wedding was fully choral, the organist and choir willingly giving their services on such a unique occasion, and out of regard for two most keen and earnest church workers. After the wedding a merry peal was rung in honour of the bride and bridegroom. The ringers presented Mr. & Mrs. Whitmore with a clock as a mark of their regard, and with best wishes for their future welfare.

THE FUTURE OF BELL RINGING. CENTRAL COUNCIL'S PETITION TO THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY.

To the Editor.

Sir,—In pursuance of Canon Baker's letter, which appeared in your columns on December 10th, the Standing Committee of the Central Council have unanimously agreed to present a petition to the National Assembly. As it may interest your readers, I send you a copy, in case you may like to print it. I am glad to learn that associations are passing resolutions advocating the same principle, namely, that ringers should not be placed under the control of Parish Councils.—Yours very truly,
A. H. F. BOUGHEY.

Cambridge, 24th January, 1921.

[Copy.]

To the President and Members of the National Assembly of the Church of England.

A Petition of the Standing Committee of the Central Council of the Church Bell Ringers of England.

We understand that there is now before the National Assembly a proposal that 'the Council of every parish shall have power, in conjunction with the Incumbent, to appoint and dismiss the organist, parish clerk, bell ringers, and sexton, or any persons performing or assisting to perform the duties thereof, and to determine the salaries and conditions of tenure of their offices.'

As representatives of the church bell ringers of England, we beg leave very respectfully to ask that your Assembly will reconsider this proposal so far as it concerns bell ringers.

We do so because we are convinced that it is far better for the Church and for bell ringing that the control of the bells and of those who ring them should be vested in one responsible person in each parish. This, we believe, to be at present the universal custom and law of the Church of England, the person responsible being the incumbent. There are very many churches which have more than four bells, and are, therefore, suitable for the beautiful and essentially English change ringing: some of these have paid ringers, but a large number (we believe the majority) have bands of voluntary ringers who give their services gratuitously. We are desirous that all ringers should regard themselves, and be regarded by others, as true Church workers, and not merely as servants (paid or unpaid) of a Parish Council. Ringers appear to us to stand on the same footing as choristers, who, we notice, are not included in this proposal of the National Assembly.

On the other hand, ringers are on a footing very different from that of an organist, a parish clerk, or a sexton, with whom they are grouped in the clause we have quoted. Each of these persons is a single official, who may remain unchanged for many years. But every Church which possesses enough bells for change ringing ought to have a considerable body of regular ringers; and ought to be constantly introducing new probationers 'to perform or to assist in performing the duties' required. It is hardly possible for the Parish Council to be summoned every time that an appointment or dismissal of a ringer or probationer has to be considered.

There are several other reasons which lead us to deprecate the proposal before the National Assembly. But we wish specially to emphasise the point that we are anxious for the position and recognition of ringers as forming, like the choir, a definite part of the ministry of the church. We venture, therefore, to express an earnest hope that ringers may continue, as now, to be subject only to the authority of the incumbent of the parish.

Signed on behalf of the Standing Committee.

A. H. F. BOUGHEY, M.A., Fellow of Trinity College, Cambridge, President.

C. D. P. DAVIES, M.A., Rector of Deane, Hants, Secretary.

CANON BAKER'S PROPOSED AMENDMENT.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I am greatly obliged to you for inserting my previous letter on the subject of the provisions of the Parochial Church Councils' Powers Measure, in relation to ringers, and for the assistance you have given me by the articles in your paper, and the letters from your numerous correspondents on the subject.

I am entirely in agreement with those who have pointed out that the clause is not conceived in a spirit hostile to ringers, but a statute is interpreted not by the intentions of those who drew it up, but by what it says, and I still think that without some amendment, it might be possible for harm to accrue to the Exercise. The amendment suggested by Mr. Pritchett seems to me to be more likely to win acceptance than a proposal to omit any reference to ringers. It formulates admirably what was shaping itself in my own mind, as the best line of action, and I propose, therefore, to put down an amendment in that sense.—Yours obediently,
Dunstable.

W. W. C. BAKER.

WELLS.—On Sunday, Dec. 26th, at St. Cuthbert's Church, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1260 changes), in 50 mins.: G. Radford (first quarter) 1, W. J. Mills 2, F. Loxton 3, E. Lush 4, S. 'FORTY YEARS ON.'

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD'S BIRTHDAY.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The Oxford Diocesan Guild is now just forty years old. I think that to many of your readers the following may be of interest. It is an extract of some Press cuttings, which form part of the ringing diary of the Rev. F. E. Robinson, the ever-honoured founder and first Master of the Guild. I hope you may find room for it in your columns.—Yours truly,

CYRIL W. O. JENKYN,

Master, Oxford Diocesan Guild.

The preliminary meeting for the formation of this new Diocesan Guild was held at Reading on the 13th inst., November, 1880. The eight bells of St. Mary's and the six bells of St. Giles' were kindly placed at the disposal of the meeting by their respective Vicars. Ringing commenced at 2 p.m. by a touch of 500 Grandsire Triples. The names of those who handled the bells will be a sufficient guarantee for the excellence of the ringing which afforded a treat to the ringers of the neighbourhood such as they have seldom, if ever, enjoyed before: J. E. A. Troyte 1, J. R. Haworth 2, B. Barrett 3, G. Marsh 4, F. White 5, Rev. F. E. Robinson 6, E. Horrex 7, T. Bennett 8.

The bells of St. Giles' were rung with great spirit by several bands made up of the ringers of the neighbourhood. It was particularly gratifying to hear a well-struck six score of Grandsire Doubles rung by five members of the Oxford University Society.

At 4 p.m. above seventy sat down to tea. About a dozen clergymen of the neighbourhood were present with their ringers, and by the keen interest which they took in the proceedings showed how ready they were to welcome the formation of a Guild.

A public meeting was then held, Sir John Conroy, Bart. in the chair, when it was unanimously decided to form a Guild, and a representative committee for setting the requisite machinery in motion was chosen as follows: Revs. F. E. Robinson, H. Barter, R. W. Fiske, Dolben Paul, R. H. Hart Davis, H. C. Sturges, H. Drummond, S. F. Marshall, Messrs. F. White, J. E. A. Troyte, C. Hounslow, W. Newell, J. Parker, — Rogers.

It was agreed on all sides that such a successful meeting augured well for the future of the Guild.

A general meeting of the Guild was held on January 17th, 1881, at Oxford, in the rooms of the Oxford Churchmen's Union in Broad Street, presided over by the Archdeacon of Berks. It was largely attended by the clergy of the neighbourhood and many others, interested in furthering the objects connected with heltry reform which the Guild has in view. The Archdeacon of Bucks attended, and spoke of the necessity of admitting round ringers into the Guild, upon which a lively discussion took place, many feeling that the art of change ringing was the only sure way of raising the tone of ringers, while others were not willing to exclude those whom the Guild wished, above all others, to reach and influence. It was finally decided to admit the round ringer as a probationer, and on payment of 1s. annually to grant him all the privileges enjoyed by a change ringing member. Exception having been taken by the Bishop at the word 'performing member,' which he said savoured too much of a street organ and a monkey, the word 'change ringing member' was substituted. The rules were then formally read and passed.

SOCIETY FOR THE ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD.

A quarterly meeting was held at Willenhall on January 15th, and resulted in a good muster of members and friends. A short service was held in church, with an admirable address given by the Rev. C. H. Barker, L.Th. (honorary clerical secretary), Vicar of Swindon, near Dudley. The Rev. E. A. Toulouse presided at the organ. A capital tea was provided in the Schoolroom by the churchwardens and members of the local band.

In moving a vote of thanks to the donors, as well as to the ladies in attendance, the Rev. C. H. Barker coupled with it a vote of sympathy to the Rev. T. H. P. Hyatt, M.A. (Vicar), who was unable to be present through serious illness—much to the regret of all.

The Clerical Secretary next laid great stress on the necessity of giving greater support to 'The Ringing World,' pointing out that each one should obtain a copy, not—as he feared was the case in some places—making one copy suffice for the whole company.—Mr. W. R. Small, in supporting the motion, informed his hearers that he possessed a complete set of copies of each of the various ringing papers that had been launched, and had them in book form.

Announcement was made with regard to the Rowland Cartwright Memorial Fund. As previously published, £22 7s. 6d. Added to this: The Rev. C. H. Barker, 10s.; Tettenhall ringers, 10s.; Mr. J. Rowley, Newport, Salop, 5s.; Mr. Wm. Bayliss, 2s. 6d.; collected by small amounts—per Mr. H. Freeth, £1 16s. 6d.; promised on behalf of the ceased's railway colleagues, £10; making a total to date of £35 11s. 6d. It was agreed to obtain designs and estimates, so that the memorial may take shape in the coming spring.

The next meeting is provisionally arranged to take place on April 9th, at Sedgely.

A LARGER PAPER.

After much anxious consideration we have at length come to the conclusion to adopt the suggestion which we put forward some weeks ago to enable 'The Ringing World' to continue to cater for the Exercise, viz., to enlarge the journal in size and to raise the price to three-pence per week. This we believe to be the only satisfactory way out of the present situation. As our readers are aware, various alternative proposals have been made by well-wishers, but all of them have merely touched the fringe of the trouble. Everyone agrees that if interest in ringing is to be maintained, there must be a ringing paper, and without it as a link between ringers in all parts of the country the art would probably cease to flourish. For nearly fifty years, we believe, there has been a journal which has been the medium of information between ringers, and it would be a reflection on the Exercise if, in these days of progress, neglect or apathy, or whatever one cares to term it, left the art without its own paper.

These premises being accepted, two things stand out as essentially important. First, the journal should be worthy of the Exercise, and secondly, the Exercise should do its part to enable the paper to exist. With the return of ringing to something like pre-war conditions a twelve-page paper, such as we are having to content ourselves with at present, is utterly inadequate to the needs of the times. We cannot accommodate anything like the quantity of matter that is sent up to us for publication, and, much as we regret it, a great deal has to go by the board. An enlargement by four pages will enable us to reduce to some extent the disappointment which correspondents must feel when their contributions do not appear, and, in addition, it will enable us to provide some of those features which in former days helped to build up the popularity of 'The Ringing World.' An increase in the size of the paper is the only thing which will enable this to be done, but enlargement is in these days a costly thing. Payment for peals, by itself, would be absolutely inadequate to meet the increased cost, while subsidies from Associations would be productive of no end of difficulties, besides delaying the expansion, even if anything like unanimity among the Associations could be obtained.

The life blood of a newspaper is circulation, and it is that and that only to which 'The Ringing World' must look if any improvement is to be effected. The present period of depression may not seem a good time to increase the charge for the paper, but, as we have said before, if we may take silence as giving consent in the case of those of our readers who have not communicated with us, then we shall lose only a tiny percentage of support when the price goes up. The number of new subscribers who have been promised is considerable, but fall very far short of the one thousand we asked for. What we propose to do, however, is to give the 16-page issue a start at the increased price and let it have the practical test of a trial run. If it is supported to the extent that will be required to maintain it as a sound business proposition all will be well. We shall look in the first weeks for rapidly growing sales, and we must leave it to the Exercise to give us its whole-hearted co-operation in this matter. The date when the enlargement will take place will probably be announced next week, and when it is effected our first task must be to wipe off the accumulation of peal reports which limited space and the rapid growth of peal ringing has left round our necks.

Rung after meeting short for Caters. The tenor man having failed to put in an appearance, W. H. Williams volunteered to undertake to ring the bell, with C. Edwards remaining in tower to rest him if necessary, but his help was not required, which speaks well for the 'go' of the bells.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Messrs. T. Doble and Son, of Taunton, have recently rehung the heavy six bells of the Parish Church of North Petherton, Somerset, and the 'go' now leaves nothing to be desired.

They are also engaged in the restoration of the ring of five bells at Hinton St. George, Somerset. The case is being well braced with tie bolts and corner plates, and the bells rehung with all new fittings, provision being also made for a new treble, which it is hoped to add in the near future.

It is interesting to note that the beautiful Connaught Room at the Imperial Hotel, Birmingham, where this year's Johnson Dinner is to be held on February 25th, is panelled all round with cedar from Mount Lebanon, brought specially for the purpose to the order of the (one-time) proprietor.

Would Mr. Leonard Rodwell, ringer of the 7th in the peal of Kent Treble Bob Major at Hull on December 27th, 1920, kindly correspond with Mr. L. T. Osborne, 17, Dorothy Street, Reading, Berks?

COLLEGE YOUTHS' ROLL OF HONOUR.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—As you have already heard, a list of members' names who fell in the great war is to be inserted in the Society's Peal Book, and in order that the list may be complete, we beg that you will find room in 'The Ringing World' for this appeal to secretaries of the various Guilds and associations throughout the country to forward any further names to me before February 22nd.

Names already known are: Ernest Atwater, Reginald Blake, Sedley J. Collins, Douglas W. Drewett, Fredk. J. Hardy, Christopher Hughes, William D. James, Frank T. Martin, Mark Melia, James H. Payne, Bertram Prewett, Henry J. Sudej, William H. Taffender, William Truss, Sydney A. Wright.—Yours very truly, 32, Edgeley Road, Clapham, S.W. WILLIAM T. COCKERILL.

DEATH OF MR. JAMES MANN.

RINGER WHO SECURED ALDERSHOT'S SOLDIERS' BELLS.

It is with extreme regret that we have to record the death of Mr. James Mann, who died at the age of 57, at Ash, Surrey, on the morning of January 18th, after a short illness, through contracting pneumonia and bronchitis. The interment took place at Ash Cemetery on Friday, the 21st. A military funeral was accorded the deceased, as he was at one time Quartermaster-Sergeant in the Royal Engineers.

There were about 100 present, representing various bodies and organisations, Mr. J. J. Jones representing the Guildford district of the Winchester Diocesan Guild. The bells at Ash were muffled and rung for the funeral.

The sympathy of the Exercise will go out to the widow, who only last Christmas lost her daughter.

Although Mr. Mann had not rung a great number of peals, he had devoted untold energy to benefit ringing and ringers, for to him belongs the credit of keeping a band for service together (all learners) at Aldershot all through the war. Many times he cycled from Ash in the most unfavourable weather, probably to ring only five bells. Everyone knows, when the towers were drained to their uttermost, how difficult this task must have been.

This was not his only single-handed accomplishment, for one remembers that less than twelve months ago the bells at Aldershot were augmented to eight, by the addition of the two 'Soldiers' Bells,' for which, in less than a year, Mr. Mann had raised £147 in subscriptions from the soldiers in Aldershot, no meagre task owing to the unsettled state of the garrison, which was rapidly demobilising its troops at that time. His motto was 'sheer doggedness and determination,' and at the opening ceremony he had the satisfaction of handing the receipt for the money to the Vicar—work done and paid for.

We also remember his suggestion at the above meeting of ringers from all parts, that every tower should order as many copies of 'The Ringing World' as there were bells in the tower. Shortly before his death he expressed a wish that if ever a peal was rung for him, he hoped it would be a peal of Stedman Triples half-muffled, and (to use his words) "called by old Alf. Pulling" on the Aldershot bells which he struggled so hard to get. This wish was carried out to the letter, for Mr. Pulling and his men very generously cancelled their previous engagements at a moment's notice; went to Aldershot and rang the peal.

It almost amounts to tragedy that the first peal on the bells since augmentation to eight should be a half-muffled one for the man who worked so hard and doggedly to place the two extra bells in the tower.
G. G.

FAREWELL TOUCH.

On Sunday evening, January 23rd, at St. Giles' Church, Reading, 1008 changes Double Norwich Major was rung by members of St. Giles' Society as a farewell to Mr. G. R. Goodship, who is leaving Reading for Nottingham: G. R. Goodship 1, L. T. Osborne 2, G. Wiggin 3, R. Bishop 4, A. Balley 5, R. N. Runham 6, H. A. Osborne 7, A. W. Osborne (conductor) 8.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.NORTH AND EAST DISTRICT'S SATISFACTORY POSITION.

The annual meeting of the N. and E. district of the Middlesex Association and London Diocesan Guild was held at Christ Church, Southgate, on January 22nd, when over 70 members attended. The splendid peal of ten bells was made use of from 3 to 5.30, when a service was held, at which the Vicar (the Rev. C. F. Peplow) gave an excellent and most helpful address on the subject of 'Fellowship,' which was much appreciated.

Tea was served at 'The Woolpack,' where the business meeting was afterwards held. The chair was taken by the president (Mr. A. T. King, I.S.O.), whilst many well-known members of the Exercise were present, including Messrs. W. and G. R. Pye, R. Sanders, W. H. Oram, J. Armstrong, W. D. Smith, A. A. Hughes, E. H. Lewis, and several ladies.

The balance sheet, showing a credit on the year's working of nearly £3, and assets to the amount of over £90 (including £73 13s. 6d. in War Loan), was adopted subject to audit, and a sum of £10 was voted to the Central Fund to help meet a deficiency incurred prior to the raising of the subscriptions.

Thirteen new members were then elected, and the subsequent business included the re-election of the whole of the retiring officers, with the exception of Mr. J. Waghorn, whose resignation from the Central Committee was accepted with regret and thanks for past services. Mr. W. H. Oram, of Harrow, was elected to fill the vacancy.

An earnest appeal for increased support for 'The Ringing World' was made by the Hon. Secretary, who pointed out that they were being asked to pay very little more than the pre-war price, as 3d. in those days had about the same spending value as a 1l. before the war. For the sake of their associations ringers should see that the paper continued to exist, as their position without such a lift would be a very difficult one. As four extra pages had been promised there was no doubt that the paper would go back to its pre-war standard, when all ringers and all ringing were catered for.—The appeal was supported by the President, who said that he hoped members would take their copies regularly, and an extra copy if possible.—Mr. E. J. Butler (hon. secretary, S.W. District, Essex Association) also supported the appeal, pointing out that association postage expenses would greatly increase without a newspaper.

It was resolved to hold the next meeting at Cubitt Town on March 5th.—A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Rev. C. F. Peplow for his address and for the use of the bells, and to Mr. J. E. Miller and the Southgate ringers for the excellent arrangements made. A most successful and pleasant meeting was brought to a close by another visit to the belfry, where, during the day, much ringing was done, from rounds for the learners, who are always so welcome at district meetings, to Stedman Caters and Cambridge Surprise Royal for those who aspired to these methods.

RESTORATION OF A DORSETSHIRE RING.

The six bells of the Parish Church at Frampton, Dorset, have been in an unringable condition for some years, owing to the worn out state of the fittings and a broken tenor. Recently the work of restoration was placed in the hands of Messrs. T. Dohle and Son, of Taunton who sent the tenor to Loughborough, where it has been 'recast in memory of Capt. C. L. Sanctuary, who died of wounds in France, November 15th, 1916.' The deceased officer was the son of the Vicar. The new bell weighs 16 cwt., and is of excellent tone.

The frame has been well braced with long tie bolts and corner plates, and the bells have been rehung with entire new fittings. An Ellacombe chiming apparatus has also been fitted, and the whole of the work has been carried out in a manner which have given complete satisfaction.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.WOTTON-UNDER-EDGE BRANCH.

The annual meeting of this branch was held at Thornbury, on Saturday, January 22nd, and was well attended. The Rev. Canon Cornwall (Vicar) conducted the service, and presided over the business meeting.—The Branch Secretary, Mr. W. A. Lewis, read a short report of the year's work, which showed that thirteen meetings had been held, with an average attendance of twenty. One life member, one honorary member, and 17 performing members had been elected during the year, bringing the total membership to 90—a record since the branch was formed in 1909. The receipts amounted to £29 9s. 6d., and the expenditure £4 9s. 6d., leaving a balance of £25. The balance sheet was unanimously adopted, and the following officers were elected: Chairman, Mr. F. Oakhill; vice-chairman, Mr. A. Burcombe; hon. secretary, Mr. W. A. Lewis. Mr. H. W. Fussell was elected to represent the branch on the General Management Committee. Mr. R. Pools was elected as a performing member.—Cam was selected for the next meeting, fixed for February 19th.

Mr. F. R. Howell (hon. treasurer) spoke on several matters of importance, including the registration of all members of the association.

Mr. W. A. Lewis proposed a hearty vote of thanks to Canon Cornwall for the use of the bells, for conducting the service, and for presiding over the meeting; also thanking Mr. F. H. Burchell for his support to the branch and the interest he takes in the association by so kindly auditing the accounts.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.PROGRESS IN THE WIMBORNE BRANCH.

The annual meeting of the Branch took place at Wimborne. It was marked by several things; the first was the breezy welcome and personality and address of the new Vicar, the Rev. A. L. Keith; another was the playing on the Minster organ by the Master, Major Hughes D'Aeth, who rendered every part of the service in which we offer up 'our craftsman art and music's measure,' as only a ringer could do it; a third was the progress and keenness of the local company, including the older members, who after so many years of ringing in the old style, are joining heartily in the new effort, and setting a splendid example to the older generation who would keep the youngsters to call changes. Mr. Keith could welcome us as a brother ringer; Haslemere made him so; though not himself an expert, he could appreciate the difficulties and essentials of the art; he was proud of the position which the grand old Minster had been steadily taking in the ringing life of the Diocese since that memorable day of June 14th, 1911, when, through the beneficence of Mr. Chessil, the two trebles had been added, and had given to the Diocese its one and only ten bell peal. He looked forward keenly to the day in the near future, when the local company should be second to none in the neighbourhood in the art itself; and in concluding he could make the old text, Exod. xxviii. 34, vibrate with a message that was fresh and clear and straight: 'the man must be greater than the artisan'; the greatest expert could render to God and the Church and his fellow men a still higher service, that of a life that rang true—that sends out its golden sound, as he moves about in the ordinary day's doings.

After the service, an ample tea was provided at the Church House, and the business meeting followed. Among those present, then or earlier, besides the Vicar and the Master, were the Chairman of the Branch (the Rev. H. L. Phillips, Rector of Poole); the Secretary of the Guild (the Rev. F. L. Edwards); Revs. A. D. Allan, C. Carew Cox, R. H. Gundry, H. F. Whitford, C. A. Phillips (Branch Secretary), Mr. A. F. Martin Stewart (Past Master), Mr. C. H. Jennings (Secretary, Dorchester Branch), and members from Bournemouth St. Peter, Bournemouth St. John, Lytchett Minster, Poole Stanbridge, Sturminster Marshall and Wimborne. The report of the past year showed among its activities that the Master practises what he preaches, and recorded useful six bell practices, held under his auspices at Sturminster Marshall, Bryanston, Canford St. Giles. The first new bell in the district since the Armistice had been added to the five at Shroton by Messrs. Mears and Stanbank, and bore the following inscription:—

'I was given by John Crouch in memory of his wife, Sarah Ann Crouch, 1920.

My gentle note shall lead the merry sound.

Peace to the Parish—may goodwill abound.

R. Hugh Gundry, Rector; J. Crouch, J. W. Harvey, Churchwardens.'

The officers of the branch were re-elected, with the exception of Mr. Goodenough, as representative on the Guild Committee; he has found that he is unable to attend the meetings, and his place is taken by the Rev. A. D. Allan. Mr. Goodenough has given through the past 20 years more valuable, continuous and devoted help to change ringing in this district than any other single member, and it is much regretted that he will no longer appear among the branch officials.

After the meeting most of the company returned to the tower. The quality and variety of the ringing was not quite up to the standard of the war-time annals, when Q.-M. Serret, Cave and some of his friends from the camp at 'Jumpers,' helped the members to those splendid touches of Stedman Caters and Treble Bob Royal, but there were some useful courses of Stedman Triples, Bob Major and Grandsire Caters, and some of the younger members gained fresh experience in a new method, on a greater number of bells, or in handling heavier metal.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.CENTRAL DIVISION.

The quarterly meeting of the Central Division was held at Seaford. The Vicar (the Rev. E. H. Phillips) conducted service, and afterwards about 35 sat down to a sumptuous 'knife and fork' tea, the Vicar presiding, supported by the churchwardens and several ladies, the Master of the Association (Mr. J. T. Rickman), and the Rev. Cecil H. Clarke (Vicar of Chiddingly). At the business meeting which followed, five new members were elected, viz.: Mr. Frank Bowral, Miss N. Packham and Miss E. Packham (Seaford), Mr. G. Gasson, and Mr. W. Lovel (Burgess Hill).

At the conclusion, a hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Vicar and churchwardens for their hospitality and kindly welcome, and also to the organist.

The tower was visited both in the afternoon and evening, and touches varying from Grandsire Triples to London and Bristol Surprise were rung.

The offertory at the service, for the Association's Benevolent Fund, amounted to one guinea.

LADIES' GUILD.

A largely attended and very successful meeting of the Ladies' Guild (Midland Section) was held at St. Martin's Church, Tipton, in the heart of the Black Country, on Saturday, January 30th. About 40 members and friends were present from Erdington, Solihull, Smethwick, Handsworth, Coaley, Wolverhampton, Dudley and Tipton. The ringers and others were welcomed by the veteran, Mr. W. Rock Small, and his band, who had the bells already for the visitors. The bells, a sweet light peal of eight, were first rung by the ladies, and afterwards by mixed bands in various touches. The company then attended service, which was conducted by the Rev. Walter T. de Vine M.A., R.D., at which the Guild's form was used. The service was fully choral, and was entered into most heartily, ably led by the organist, the Vicar, in a most interesting and encouraging address, giving a hearty welcome to the members, urging the ringers to keep together, for the work they were doing was one that God had called them to. He also reminded his hearers that the bells when rung brought great joy to some people and sorrow to others, yet he rejoiced to have them rung at all times, especially to call people to prayer.—The Benediction having been said, the visitors, together with the Vicar, wardens and local band, returned to the tower, where a solemn little ceremony took place.—Mr. Rock Small said they had met together that afternoon to unveil a peal board to the memory of one of their ringers, Mr. Rowley, a young man of 19 years, who went forth to do duty for King and country, and had paid the great supreme sacrifice. He trusted that no other ringer would have to go on a similar call, and he expressed the sympathy of all with the mother who was present.—The Vicar offered prayer, and then asked Mrs. Rowley to unveil the tablet.—This having been done, a beautiful piece of work was exposed, the tablet bearing the royal coat of arms in colours, and being lettered in gold.—The Vicar having addressed the company, this part of the proceedings terminated. An adjournment was then made to the Schools clog by, where a substantial tea, kindly provided by the Vicar and wardens, was served.—Mrs. Groves moved a vote of thanks to the Vicar for his inspiring address, and to the wardens, organist, Mr. Small and all who had helped to make the meeting a success.—This was seconded by Mrs. Preston, and carried unanimously.—The Vicar, in responding, said it gave him much pleasure to welcome the Guild to Tipton, and wish it every success.

The ladies then held their business meeting, Miss Sarah Pigott, Smethwick (president of the Guild), being in the chair.—The members were elected, and the place of the next meeting was left to the secretary to fix.

The President then called the attention of the members to the Editor of 'The Ringing World's' appeal, and advised them to send a postcard giving their view.—After a short discussion it was decided to support the paper at increased rate.

A vote of thanks to the President brought the meeting to a close, when another short visit was paid to the tower for ringing.

RINGERS REMAIN UNDER INCUMBENTS

The National Assembly last week eliminated bell ringers from the terms of Parochial Church Councils (Powers) Measure, and ringers will remain for the future, as they have done in the past, subject to the control of the incumbent. Both 'organist' and 'bell ringers' were omitted from Clause 6, which proposed to place their appointment and dismissal and the terms of the tenure of their office under the Parochial Councils, and the mover of the amendment in both cases was no less an authority than Lord Phillimore, who is recognised as one of the greatest of the Law Lords of this country. After the legal arguments which he put forward, the task of securing the deletion of the words was an easy one, and there was no need for Canon Baker to move the amendment of which he had given notice. Indeed, he merely contented himself with presenting the petition of the Central Council at the opening of the session, and speaking in the debate of the numerous representations he had received from ringing organisations all over the country. The ringers also found a champion in the Dean of Lincoln, who seconded Lord Phillimore's proposal, and had there been more time available, other speakers were ready to support the amendment of the clause. But there was no necessity and the omission of both ringers and organist from the section was carried by a large majority.

As has been pointed out, the danger in the clause was not the intention of the draughtsman, but the construction that might be put upon the words once they had been enacted, and it is most satisfactory to know that the Assembly have seen fit to exclude ringers from the operation of the clause. Lord Phillimore's argument was convincing. Whatever power of appointment or dismissal of organist or ringers was given to the Parochial Councils, the organ could not be played or the bells rung without the consent of the incumbent. That, in effect, was the legal view he put forward, and, after that, there was little to be said by anyone who sought to retain the powers.

To the Exercise, of course, the amendment which actually secured the elimination of ringers came from an unexpected source, but ringers will be no less grateful to Canon Baker for all the trouble he took in connection with the matter. It was through him that the Exercise received its first warning of the possible danger, and it was upon him that we should have depended had there been no action by such a welcome protagonist as Lord Phillimore. At our request Canon Baker has kindly written a short resume of the proceedings, and his report of what happened at the Assembly will be read with great interest. It is most gratifying to think that there is upon the National Assembly one who has so closely at heart the interests of the Exercise, and so long as he remains a member, ringers will be able to rest content that nothing affecting their sphere of church work will escape attention. At the same time, even though purely legal motives prompted Lord Phillimore's action, the Exercise will appreciate his services, while the Dean of Lincoln's championship of the voluntary ringers' cause will also give rise to a feeling of gratification.

The first issue of 'The Ringing World' enlarged to 16 pages at the increased price of 3d. will be made NEXT FRIDAY, February 18th.

As we announced last week, our intention is, in the first place, to bring the publication of the peal reports up-to-date. As soon as that has been done we intend to introduce as a regular feature a Sunday Service Ringers' page and a series of articles for young ringers, while articles of special interest will also appear from time to time.

May we ask all our friends to assist us by continuing their efforts to extend the circulation of the paper, as it is only by this means that we shall be able to maintain the size of the paper?

Next Friday 'The Ringing World' will be 3d. and will contain 16 pages.

THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY AND BELL RINGERS.

CANON BAKER'S RESUME OF THE PROCEEDINGS.

At the session of the National Assembly last week, 'bell ringers' was deleted from Clause 6 of the Parochial Church Councils' (Powers) Measure. Canon Baker supplies us with the following account of the proceedings:—

The Exercise can congratulate itself that the difficulties foreseen if Clause 6 of the Parochial Church Councils' Powers Measure should be passed in its original form have been entirely removed. By a large majority it was resolved on Wednesday, Feb. 2nd, to omit both 'organist' and 'bell ringers' from the sub-section.

In each case the omission was proposed by Lord Phillimore, and the question was really settled when he showed, with a wealth of legal knowledge, that whether or not the Council appointed an 'organist,' he could not play the organ without the consent of the incumbent. The same argument held good, he said, for the bells, and it was soon clear that the most ardent supporters of the powers of Parochial Councils had no desire for the empty privilege of appointing and paying organists and ringers, if they could neither play the organ nor ring the bells.

In the case of 'bell ringers,' Lord Phillimore's motion was seconded by the Dean of Lincoln, speaking as the President of his Association. He laid stress on the voluntary character of the services of most ringers, and pleaded for their exemption from the clause. Though he did make some of us smile by talking of 'triple bobs,' we owe him a debt of gratitude for his strong championship of our cause.

The Assembly was impatient to get on to other business, so I contented myself with speaking of the numerous representations I had received from all parts of the country, and the division took place with the result that I have stated.

It was noteworthy that other speakers in the same sense were crowded out, and that no one spoke in favour of retaining the word in the clause.

So all's well that ends well.

I should add that, in accordance with the rules of the Assembly, I presented the petition of the Standing Committee of the Central Council at the opening of the session, but could not read it, or make a speech on it at that time.

W. W. C. BAKER.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

In fine weather, the annual meeting of the Yorkshire Association was held on Saturday, January 31st, at St. Peter's, Earlsheaton, some 250 ringers taking advantage of the invitation of the local company to visit Earlsheaton. Divine service was held in St. Peter's Church, the preacher being the Rev. Frank Wolde, M.A., Vicar of the neighbouring parish of Dewsbury. A most interesting sermon was preached from the Book of Wisdom viii. 1, 'Wisdom reacheth from one end to another mightily, and sweetly doth she order all things.' The preacher stated that the ringers' function was not merely calling to prayer. The law and order that had to be observed in the art of change ringing was a great lesson to the lawlessness of the modern world. What is not law and order is not the will of God, and ringers were on a level with the great musicians of the church, in proclaiming the call of the Master, that the message of the church was to bring method and order into all things.

A bountiful tea was provided in the neighbouring schoolroom, this being followed by the business meeting, the President (the Rev. C. C. Marshall) being in the chair, supported by the Vicar of Earlsheaton (the Rev. R. S. Davies, M.A.) and the principal officers of the association.

It was decided, on the motion of Mr. F. Palframan, and seconded by Mr. F. Cryer, to hold a meeting of the association at Scarborough on Easter Monday next.—The balance sheet, which showed a deficit of some £46, owing to heavy cost of printing the annual report, was passed on the motion of the auditors, Messrs. J. W. Dews and W. Idle.

A vote of thanks to the Vicars and local authorities for the use of the fine peals of eight at Earlsheaton and Dewsbury and six at Thornhill, was responded to by the venerable Vicar (the Rev. R. S. Davies), who once more added to the great debt of kindness which ringers owe to the local clergy, by offering a hearty welcome to the association, and regretting that advancing years would in all probability prevent him from welcoming the association to Earlsheaton.

So ended a most pleasant day to the visitors, who carried away memories of a splendid meeting, a kindly welcome, and leaving them with a hearty desire to come to such pleasant quarters again.

P. J. J.

ASHTON-UNDER-LYNE SOCIETY.

The quarterly meeting was held on Saturday, January 29th, at the Church of St. Thomas, Pendleton, under the chairmanship of the President, Mr. S. Booth. During the afternoon some very good touches were rung, including Grandfira Triples, Stedman Triples and Double Norwich Major.—At the business meeting a resolution was passed that the secretary send a letter to the Rev. Canon Baker, supporting his proposition to exclude ringers from the Parochial Council's Bill.—A vote of thanks to the church officials for the use of the bells brought the meeting to a close.

A.D. 1920.

Bearing the above inscription, a tablet of Portland stone in the Cathedral Church at Chelmsford stands for all time as a record of those members of the Essex Association who laid down their lives in the war. One more name has yet to be added, W. Wallace, of Waltham, but the tablet has been dedicated by the Bishop of Chelmsford at an impressive service, which was attended by a large congregation, including the Mayor and Mayoress of Chelmsford, relatives of the deceased, and ringers of the county. The service was fully choral, and comprised the hymn, 'O God, our help in ages past,' and the opening sentences of the Order for the Burial of the Dead, beautifully rendered by the choir, with Mr. F. R. Frye, Mus.Bac., F.R.C.O., at the organ. There followed the Psalm, 'The Lord is my Shepherd,' and then the lesson, Wisdom.iii. 1-9, read by Mr. C. H. Howard, of Braintree, the Master of the Association.

At the close of the lesson there was a procession to the west end for the purpose of dedicating the memorial, including the Bishop and clergy, the relatives of the fallen and the officers of the Association, Mr. C. H. Howard (Master), pulled the cord of a Union Jack covering the tablet, and as the flag fell the Bishop recited:

'To the Honour and Glory of Almighty God and in grateful remembrance of our comrades who fell in the war, we unveil this tablet. May God accept this gift at our hands. May it grant that those who look at it may lift their eyes from the shadows of this world to the unseen and eternal glories of the life to come, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.'

The procession then returned while the hymn, 'God of the living,' was sung.

The Bishop of Chelmsford preached from Zechariah xiv. 20. 'In that day shall be upon the bells, Holiness unto the Lord.'

After the address the congregation stood while the Bishop commended to the mercy of God the souls of the departed; and read each name. Then prayers for comfort were recited, and the Lord's Prayer, followed by the hymn, 'For all the Saints,' the concluding prayer being for those who rang the bells of God's House of Prayer. The Bishop pronounced the Blessing, the Last Post was sounded on the bugles, and the National Anthem concluded the service. As the congregation left the Cathedral the 'whole pull and stand' was rung forty-four times, representing the number of the fallen members.

Subsequently the gathering took tea with the Bishop and clergy in the Corn Exchange, the Mayor and Mayoress of Chelmsford (Ald. and Mrs. J. O. Thompson) being also present.

Mr. Howard, who presided, thanked Mrs. Butler and Mrs. Straight and their helpers for kindly providing the tea, and then tendered his thanks to the choir and organist for the beautiful service, and to the Bishop for his address. His Lordship had referred to prayers in the belfry, and he was glad to say that in their book of rules they had a little office by Canon Papillon which was much used.

The Bishop replied, and the Master then referred to the presence of the Mayor and Mayoress, and spoke of the growth of the association. He said its numbers were as high as ever, and interest in it was never greater.—The Mayor offered his congratulations, and the Master further expressed the association's indebtedness to the Rector of Chelmsford, the Rev. Canon Lake, for all that he did for them on that and every occasion (hear, hear). He hoped the proposal that the Parochial Church Council should have the power of appointing and dismissing bell ringers would not be carried, for they would rather be under the incumbent (hear, hear). They were very well satisfied with their position with the clergy. They would rather work under Canon Lake in Chelmsford than anywhere else (hear, hear).

The Canon replied that they had spent a very happy day, the result of which would be the promotion of their work for God.

Before the service, a touch of 701 Grandshire Caters was rung, with the bells half-muffled, by: A. Edwards, Boreham 1; S. Roper, Cropton, 2; H. Edwards, Boreham, 3; T. Lincoln, Writtle, 4; A. Head, Writtle, 5; H. Head, Writtle, 6; P. Timson, Chelmsford, 7; J. Wood, Chelmsford, 8; W. Lincoln, Writtle (conductor), 9; W. Pease, Chelmsford, 10. At the close of the service the same band rang the 'whole pull and stand.' After tea, with the bells open, Grandshire Caters and Cinques, Stedman Caters and Treble Bob Royal were rung by various members of the association. The Mayor and Mayoress visited the belfry, and the Mayor expressed a wish to become an honorary member of the association.

VARIATIONS OF KENT TREBLE BOB.

By the Rev. E. BANKES JAMES.

Who has not heard of the curate's egg? He was staying at the palace, and at breakfast-time the Bishop noticed that the egg was a little off colour. On being asked if that were not the case, the curate, not wishing to disparage his host's provender, stammered out, 'Parts of it are excellent, my Lord.'

Now, I have always held that sentiment with regard to Kent Treble Bob. Parts of it are excellent. But when the tenors get in the slow — * * * — !!

It was in the hope of removing that blot that Worcester Treble Bob was produced, and it effectually served its purpose: but it went too far. By the omission of all bobs, the method became monotonous.

On Monday, January 17th, I discovered a variation of Kent which effected the same object, without departing so far from the method. If you allow the treble to make second's place after dodging in 1-2 up, and let her continue by dodging in 1-2 down, the next lead end is brought up in eight changes.

The following two cuts in the plain course prevent the tenor and seventh from ever going on the slow:—

18764523	17586342
81765432	17583624
18674523	17856342
81764523	17586342
17856342	15738264

By introducing these cuts into Mr. Harrison's 6080, and shortening every course, we produced a peal of 5120, in which the tenor's never go in slow; and we rang the peal the same night. This variation we named 'The Gonville variation' of Kent Treble Bob. It does not depart on the whole from the spirit of the method, as the three-pull dodges are analogous to those which are made at a Bob.

But on the following morning (Tuesday) I discovered another variation, which we called the 'Granta variation,' which keeps much closer to the regular method. By the simple device of allowing the treble to go into the slow when the heavy bells offer themselves, the same effect is produced without disturbing the even flow of the treble bob work up behind, as follows:—

GRANTA VARIATION.

Major.

18674523
81765432
81674523
18765432
17856342
17583624
17856342

By this plan the course of Major is reduced to 168, Royal to 216 and Maximus to 264; and all the objectionable changes are cut out, while no work foreign to the spirit of the method is introduced.

[Note.—The ten and twelve bell figures will be published later.—Ed.]

PROPAGANDA WORK AT ST. ALBANS.

On Tuesday, January 25th, Mr. G. W. Cartmel, hon. secretary of the Hertford County Association, gave a lantern lecture in the Christ Church Parish Hall, on 'Bells and Bell Ringing,' to a large and enthusiastic audience. The lecturer treated of the history of bells, old and present-day founders, bell casting, old ringing societies, and change ringing, the audience being somewhat amused and mystified with the various methods thrown upon the screen. Members of the Cathedral Society demonstrated on eight and ten handbells, which was greatly enjoyed. Grateful acknowledgment is extended to Messrs. J. W. Taylor and Gillett and Johnston for the gift and loan of various photographs with which to make the lantern slides.

DEVONSHIRE GUILD.

A general meeting of the Exeter District of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers took place at Topsham. It was attended by representatives of Topsham, Clyst St. George, Sowton, Withycombe Raleigh, Littleham, Alington, Heavitree, St. David's and St. Sidwell's (Exeter). Ringing was done at Topsham, Clyst St. George, and Lympstone. Tea at Topsham was followed by a business meeting, when over 50 assembled. Those present included the Revs. Canon McLaren, G. Halliday, Weber, H. B. Clarke, and J. B. Ball. Withycombe was chosen for the next district meeting, and the date fixed April 9th. Christow became affiliated as a band.

An appeal was made for subscribers to 'The Ringing World.'

Votes of thanks were passed to the clergy for use of bells, and to the Rev. G. Halliday for arranging a room for the tea and meeting. The latter, in returning thanks, said ringers did a valuable amount of work in a quiet and unadvertised way.

DEATH OF TWO LIVERPOOL RINGERS.FATAL ACCIDENT TO MR. GEORGE WOODHALL.

By the death of Mr. John Turner and Mr. George Woodhall, the ringers of Liverpool and district have sustained a severe loss. Mr. Turner, who was unmarried, and aged 47, died from an internal complaint, and was buried at Garston Churchyard on January 15th, in the presence of a large gathering of his fellow-workmen, and ringers from various Liverpool churches.—The Vicar of Garston, the Rev. T. Parnell Rowe, gave a short and impressive address, in which he alluded to the high character and faithful service of the deceased, who had served faithfully and well for 30 years with the London and North Western Railway Company, and for a period of 20 years was a regular ringer at St. Mary's, Grassendale.

The deceased was a good and safe ringer, and had taken part in about 40 peals in the Standard Methods and Double Norwich.

Mr. George Woodhall, who leaves a widow and several grown-up children, was aged 63, and met his end in a sad and tragic manner. While engaged at his work at Cobling Dock, he fell from a height of 50 feet, and fractured his skull, dying shortly afterwards.

He was buried at Anfield Cemetery on January 19th, prior to which a service was held at St. Dunstan's Church, at which the Rev. C. A. Clements, Vicar of Hale, and the Rev. Hunter Rodwell, Vicar of the parish, officiated. The Rev. C. A. Clements pronounced the committal sentences at the graveside, in the presence of a large and representative gathering of relatives and ringers of the district. The remains were borne to their last resting-place by four fellow ringers, Messrs. W. Hughes, E. Breese, E. Counce and A. Lintott, and afterwards a course of Grandsire Triples was rung over the grave by: W. Hughes, T. Hammond, A. Lintott and J. Martin.

George Woodhall was well-known and respected in many parts of the country, and, as far as the writer has been able to ascertain, rang about 50 peals in the Standard Methods.

Much sympathy is extended to his widow and family in their tragic loss.

The following ringing has been done with the bells half-muffled in memory of the two ringers, and as a last tribute of respect:—

On Saturday, January 15th, an attempt for a peal of Superlative Surprise Major was lost, after 2 hours and 35 minutes' ringing, at St. Michael's, Garston.

On Monday, January 17th, at St. Mary, Grassendale, a peal of Minor was lost in the fourth 7: through a rope breaking.

On Tuesday, January 18th, a quarter-peal (1359 changes) of Stedman Caters was rung on the front ten at St. Nicholas Church: W. Fisher 1, E. Counce 2, R. O. Street 3, W. Booth 4, W. T. Robson 5, T. Gilmour 6, J. Martin 7, A. Lintott 8, W. Davies (conductor) 9, C. Davies 10. Also 238 Grandsire Caters: E. Bounphrey 1, W. Fisher 2, A. Lintott 3, E. Counce 4, G. R. Newton 5, J. Donnelly 6, T. Hammond 7, C. Davies 8, J. Martin 9, W. Lindsay 10.

On January 18th, a peal of Minor at Walton-on-the-Hill was successful; as was also a peal at Garston on the 22nd.

WORCESTERSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

A quarterly meeting of the Northern Branch was held at Netherton on Saturday, January 22nd, when nearly every tower in the division was represented, about 50 members being present.

Service was held, and the Vicar (Canon S. J. Marriott) gave an impressive address. Tea was followed by the business meeting, the Vicar presiding. Hartlebury was selected as the place for the next quarterly meeting in June. The quarterly peal is to be attempted at Netherton, with Mr. A. Davies conductor. Five new members were elected, and the sum of £1 3s. 6d. was collected for the memorial window, which will be unveiled and dedicated at Worcester Cathedral on Easter Monday.

A discussion on the proposed increased cost of 'The Ringing World' took place, and it was resolved 'That this meeting pledge itself to support "The Ringing World" at its increased cost.'

A vote of thanks to the Vicar for the service and for presiding was carried unanimously. Ringing was indulged in both before and after service and meeting, the methods ranging from Grandsire to Surprise.

ELY AND ST. EDMUNDSBURY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

A united meetings for the Hunts and Isle of Ely districts was held at Ely on January 29th. A short service was held in St. Mary's Church, after which tea was provided at a restaurant close by, to which fourteen sat down, the towers represented being Ely, Cambridge, Fordham, Newmarket, Soham, Theford, Long Stanton, March and Shouldham, with a welcome visitor from Essex, in the person of Mr. W. H. Elliott.

A business meeting was held subsequently, at which the Rev. S. Addleshaw, Vicar of St. Mary's, took the chair, and was supported by the two district secretaries, Mr. R. Lathbury (Isle of Ely) and the Rev. H. B. Woolley (Hunts).—It was decided to hold the next meeting for the Hunts district, subject to convenience, at Hemingford Abbots and Hemingford Grey some time during May.—A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Rev. S. Addleshaw for his kindness in having the ringers at Ely.—Six new members were elected, three from Great Staughton, two from March and one from Soham. During the afternoon and evening touches of Kent, Stedman, Grandsire and Plain, Bob were rung on St. Mary's bells.

REVIVAL OF OLD-TIME REIGATE CUSTOM.

The pleasant old-time custom of entertaining the Reigate (Surrey) ringers by interested church folk was revived this year, when a happy reunion took place at 'Normanton,' by courtesy of Mrs. Barnes, and by invitation of that lady and Mrs. W. L. Smitheman-Lorkin. The chair was occupied by Mr. Temple Newell (churchwarden of Reigate Parish Church), and among those present were Messrs. Smitheman-Lorkin, Staff, G. Hoad (leader of the ringers), H. Ewins (secretary), H. Hoad, A. Lorkin (a campanologist of 53 years' standing), F. Rice, H. Atkins, A. Bashford, H. Jordan, W. Pooley, W. Claydon, F. Morse, W. Sudd, A. Holden, and H. Linter. An admirable repast was provided, to which the guests of the evening did full justice.

The toast of 'The King' having been duly honoured, Mr. Temple Newell proposed 'The Reigate Bell Ringers.' He voiced the interest he took in the belfry, and expressed a wish that more interest would be shown in it by residents of the borough. He thought they should be thankful to Mr. Lorkin for the interest he took in campanology, and hoped that when the Church Council came on more interest would be taken, and a little money given towards the belfry fund (hear, hear).—Mr. Hoad responded in a happy speech, and said that since 1821 members of his family had been campanologists, and he hoped the tradition would be carried on.

In proposing the toast of 'The Hostesses,' Mr. Arthur Lorein said it appeared that the good old custom of annually holding a bell ringers' supper died out some years ago in Reigate, and the ringers were apparently forgotten by most of the parishioners. Owing to so many ringers having laid down their lives in the great war bellfries were very hard hit, but he was glad to say a good many of the young men and ladies came to the rescue. In the last twelve months he had had the pleasure of ringing with several lady bell ringers in different churches within a radius of ten miles from there, and he trusted that the day was not far distant when some of the younger residents of the borough would take to the art. In thanking their hostesses for having so kindly entertained them that night, he was sure he was expressing the wishes of all present in hoping that that gathering might be the resurrection of an old custom, and that the grand evening which they had spent might not be forgotten (applause).

The toast was drunk with musical honours.—Mrs. Smitheman-Lorkin said Mrs. Barnes and herself were happy when making others happy, therefore, the enjoyment of those present on that occasion was also theirs. She hoped that some other parishioners would step forward to encourage and acknowledge the work done in the belfry (hear, hear).

The toast of 'The Chairman' was proposed by Mr. H. Ewins (secretary of the Southern Branch of the Surrey Association), and appropriately responded to by Mr. Temple Newell.

The evening's enjoyment was enhanced by a clever conjuring entertainment by Mr. Staff, and recitations by Miss Pretty, and was concluded with the singing of the National Anthem.

THE NEW STEP.

Having with this number made the change in the size and price of "The Ringing World" which we announced a fortnight ago, we would like to take the opportunity of thanking those readers who, in responding to our request to advise us of their continued support, have sent us many cheery words of encouragement. Also we desire to express our deep appreciation of the help of those who, at association meetings throughout the country, have been doing their level best to extend the support given to the journal. The hundreds of letters which we received with personal promises to assist in promoting the circulation of the paper, and good wishes for success, were indeed a tonic and have given us much heart to go forward with the new responsibilities.

But what has struck us as equally important for the future is the fact that the continuation of "The Ringing World" has been made the subject of discussion and appeal at a large number of association meetings, showing that the importance of a journal to the Exercise is fully realised. If this view of the existence of a ringing paper is kept before members, there is greater likelihood of a wider support. The difficulty in this, as in all similar matters, is to get the lukewarm folk sufficiently interested. We are fully aware that under the restricted size of the paper with which we have too long had to be content, there was little that could be done to help arouse new interests. But the limitations made it absolutely impossible to do anything more than mark time. In this, therefore, the one has reacted upon the other. On one hand it has been out of the question, for want of space, to provide material to encourage the support of the indifferent; on the other hand the absence of this support was a handicap in improving the paper.

The step which we have now taken is, we think the majority of our readers will agree, the only one that can take us out of the difficulty with which we have been confronted. It is an experiment, but we have every ground for hoping that it will succeed. It will take a week or two to wipe off arrears which have overtaken us and we hope our readers will bear with us while we bring things up-to-date. New features are being prepared, which we believe will make the paper acceptable to a much larger circle of ringers, and we ask that the efforts that have been made by the associations during recent weeks, when the position of the only ringers' journal was fully realised, will be continued in the future. We are still some distance off the one thousand new subscribers that were asked for to make the new proposition an assured success, and it is not until they have been secured that the labour and responsibility

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The eight bells at Horsham, Sussex, are to be restored, the contract having been placed with Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. It is interesting to note that the original peal of eight were cast at the Whitechapel Foundry in 1752.

It was at Horsham that those early founders, the Eldridges, carried on their business, and they were tenants under the Horsham Churchwardens of the 'Belle House' from 1592 to 1623, when they removed to Chertsey, Surrey.

There were bells in Horsham steeple at this time. In 1615 the steeple was struck by lightning and set on fire, and this necessitated the recasting of the largest bell. The bells gave trouble at various times after this, and more than one of them was sent to Chertsey.

In 1751 there were six bells in the tower, and at a vestry meeting held on June 8th of that year it was agreed 'That the Great Bell should be immediately taken down and sent to London to be new cast by Thomas Lester, Bellfounder in White Chapple.' The tenor was reputed to weigh 36 cwt.

At a vestry meeting on March 8th, 1752, it was decided 'that the remaining five bells should be taken down and sent away with all convenient speed to Thomas Lester at his foundry in White Chapple, London, in order (with the Tenor which has been sent some time ago) to be cast into 8 bells, according to articles which are to be entered into By the Churchwardens with the said Thomas Lester.'

Horsham ringers made good use of their bells when they were returned to them, and were among the earliest of the provincial peal ringers. They joined the Cumberland Youths, and on April 11th, 1766, rang their first Peal, Grandsire Triples. In 1775 they rang the first peal of Union Triples in Sussex at the neighbouring village of Bolney, and in 1776 were visited by George Gross, Francis and Samuel Wood and Samuel Mugeridge, the Cumberlands long peal men of those days, and scored the first peal of Bob Major in the tower.

So Horsham has a peal ringing as well as a bell founding history, and as the bells (24 cwt.) are nearly the heaviest peal in a county where heavy peals are almost absent, it is good to learn that they are to be restored.

It is something like pre-war times to see Sam Thomas and his friends on the warpath again. Recently a peal of London Surprise, now the first peal of Yorkshire Surprise Royal. This latter was rung at Chesterfield at the third attempt.

According to those who have rung the Major of the method, it is more pleasing to ring than Superlative, and the Royal requires more attention than Cambridge. We hope in a week or two to publish the figures of this interesting method (of which Mr. Arthur Craven is the author), for it certainly deserves wider practice than it at present obtains.

Canon and Mrs. Papillon, who have resided for some years at 'Acrise,' St. Albans, have left the Abbey town. Their temporary address is the Albany Hotel, Hastings.

From a notice in another column it will be seen that a meeting in connection with the proposed Wigan Branch of the Lancashire Association is to be held on the 26th inst.

For the information of correspondents we would point out that reports of meetings, peals, etc., can be sent by post for a halfpenny stamp, if nothing in the nature of a letter accompanies the MS. The envelope must be left open; it should be marked 'Matter for Press,' and be addressed to the Editor.

The report of a peal at West Deeping has been sent without date. The Bishop of Worcester, on a visit to St. Mary and All Saints' Church, Kidderminster, on February 5th to dedicate a war memorial and a stained glass window to the memory of the late Vicar (Canon Phillips) also visited the belfry, where he unveiled and dedicated a peal tablet bearing the records of two peals of Grandsire Triples, one rung on December 27th, 1918, to commemorate the cessation of the European War, and the other on September 27th, 1919, to celebrate the signing of Peace.

St. Clement's, Hastings, where the Sussex Association held a meeting the other day, boasts (?) of one of the very few peals of steel bells in this country.

The handbell peal of Bob Royal rung on January 6th in the tower of St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, was umpired by Mr. J. W. Cornford.

On Friday, January 28th, Miss Annie Brown, of St. Philip and St. Jacob's, Bristol, a member of the Ladies' Guild, took part in a 'silent' peal at the Church of St. Mary-le-Port, Bristol. Holt's 'Tew Part' was the composition selected, and the bells were successfully brought round without a mistake or hitch of any kind in 2 hours and 50 minutes. Miss Brown is the first lady to take part in a peal of this kind.

At Bucknall, Staffs, two ladies have taken part in a peal of Surprise Minor in seven methods, and it is the first time that they have done so for the Stoke-on-Trent Archidiaconal Association. We are asked if two ladies have ever before taken part in such a peal anywhere, and we have no doubt that if the claim of the Bucknall peal to be the first is disputed we shall be quickly informed.

SURREY ASSOCIATION. ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual general meeting of the Association was held at St. Martin's, Epsom, on Saturday, February 5th, the occasion being marked by the opening of the new peal of bells just installed by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. A service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. W. P. Bainbridge-Bell), while the address was given by the Rev. Canon A. G. Hunter, who has been an hon. member of the association for many years. Tea was served at 6 o'clock, and the business meeting followed, amongst those present being the Vicar, Mr. Warren (who is responsible for the recasting of the bells), Mr. A. A. Hughes (representing the founders), Mr. C. F. Johnston (hon. treasurer of the association), and Mr. J. D. Drewett (Master), and Mr. C. Dean (hon. secretary).

The Master gave a resume of the work of the association during the year 1920, and made passing reference to the deaths of two members, namely, that of Mr. Barrington, in October last, and of Mr. Acland J. Perkins, who passed away last month.

Several new members were elected, and it was decided to hold the annual general meeting in 1921, at Reigate. The following officers were elected: Master, Mr. J. D. Drewett; treasurer, Mr. C. F. Johnston; hon. secretary, Mr. C. Dean; assistant hon. secretary, Mr. Chas. Reading; secretaries of the Southern, Central and Western Districts, Mr. Ewins, Mr. Trappitt and Mr. Shepherd respectively; representatives on the Central Council, Mr. C. F. Johnston and Mr. C. Dean.

It was decided to issue an annual report, and that a charge of 6l. per copy be made to each member requiring same.

A vote of thanks to Canon Hunter for his address, to the Vicar for the use of the bells and for conducting the service, to the organist and caterers, was passed, and the members then dispersed in order to again visit the tower for ringing.

SOCIETY OF CUMBERLAND YOUTHS. ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The annual meeting was held at the King of Denmark on Feb. 5th, a fair gathering of members attending, and the Master (Mr. J. D. Matthews) presiding.

The balance sheet showed a credit on the year's working of about £4, and the balance available now amounts to £21 1s. 9d.

The officers elected for the ensuing year were as follows: Master, Mr. J. D. Matthews; Senior Steward, Mr. F. Smith; Junior Steward, Mr. A. Hardy; Hon. Treasurer, Mr. B. Foskett; Trustees, Mr. E. Chapman and Mr. H. Warner; Hon. Secretary, Mr. J. W. Corston. It was decided to hold the annual dinner and concert at the Old Bell Restaurant, Holborn, on the 5th March, and it is hoped that all members will give their support. Particulars appear among the Notices.

An earnest appeal is made for subscriptions for the roll of honour, to enable the scheme to be put in hand, while names of any members killed in the war should at once be forwarded to the hon. secretary.

A letter was read from Mr. A. H. Gardom, of British Columbia (a ringer in the days of John Cox, etc.), expressing his kind regards to all who were acquainted with him, and wishing the society every success.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

A most successful meeting of the Luton District was held at Woburn on Saturday, February 5th, when members were present from Aspley Guise, Bletchley, Bedford, Cranfield, Husborne Crawley, Linslade, Tring, Dunstable, and the local tower. The ringing throughout the meeting was good, and was noteworthy, owing to the number of methods which were rung, viz., Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Major, Double Norwich Superlative, and Cambridge Surprise Major, and a course of London Surprise Minor.

A short business meeting was held in the tower, presided over by Mr. E. Merbert. It was decided to hold the next meeting at Leighton Buzzard on March 5th.

After the usual votes of thanks, further ringing took place, and everybody agreed that this was one of the most successful meetings ever held in the district.

WINCHESTER GUILD.

Members from Winchester, North Stoneham, Titchfield, Fareham, Farnham, Havant, Bishopstoke and Southampton, as well as the local band, attended a meeting of the Winchester District of the Winchester Guild at Alton on February 5th. The bells were available during the afternoon and evening, and touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob, Treble Bob and Double Norwich Major were rung. Tea was provided in the Church Room, and was followed by the meeting, at which the Rev. W. E. Colchester presided, supported by Mr. G. Williams (Master of the Guild), Rev. E. B. James, Mr. W. T. Tucker (hon. secretary), Mr. W. Andrews, etc. The Vicar of Alton, who was unable to be present at tea, but came in afterwards, was accorded a vote of thanks for the use of the bells and room.—The Vicar, in reply, said a hearty welcome would await the Guild if they would come again.

The next meeting is to be held at Sheffield English.

THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY AND BELL RINGERS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—As Canon Baker says, 'All's well that ends well.' But without the intervention of Lord Phillimore, from the legal point of view, we might not have had such a walk-over. I had written to a clerical member of the Assembly, whom I knew to be acceptable in high Church circles, asking him to support the amendment, and he afterwards wrote, 'I voted as you told me: but I am not sure that the ringers would not have done more wisely to accept the new authority, and then prove their own worth.' He has charge of a celebrated ring of bells, and is a well-wisher to ringers. But not all members of the National Assembly fulfil those conditions; and the danger was by no means imaginary.—Yours,

T. L. PAPILLON.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION. THE RINGERS' WAR MEMORIAL.

The pre-Lent meeting of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association was held at Cramlington on Feb. 5th, and was most successful, 31 members attending from various centres. The fine peal of six (tenor 20 cwt.) of the parish church were kept going in various methods during the afternoon and evening.

After the committee meeting, all sat down to a sumptuous meat tea in the Parish Hall, the wants of the inner-man being excellently attended to by the 'better halves' of the local ringers. The Vicar was present at the tea, and was accorded a hearty vote of thanks for his kindness in giving permission for the bells to be rung, and for granting the use of the Parish Hall for the tea and meeting.—He spoke a few kindly words of welcome to those present, and hoped that the association and all ringers would go on and prosper. He was sure that the work of the ringer was a most useful and responsible one. He was most sorry not to be able to stay longer, but he had another engagement as chairman at a performance of 'The Messiah' near by. After a hearty vote of thanks had been passed to the local ringers and their ladies for the most excellent arrangements they had made, the business meeting was held.

The President (Mr. W. Story) intimated that the Chapter of Durham would not allow the memorial to the ringers of that diocese, who fell in the war, to be placed in the Cathedral. They would allow it to be put into the belfry, but as this was not considered a suitable place, from a ringer's point of view, proposals for placing the memorial in some other church would have to be considered.

The authorities at Newcastle had given permission for a similar memorial to the ringers of that diocese to be placed in the Cathedral there, and it was felt that perhaps all the names of the ringers of the two dioceses might be incorporated in this tablet. It was, however, decided to leave the matter for final decision at the Whit-Monday meeting, to be held at Darlington.

'The Ringing World' was next discussed, and all members urged to take a copy every week.—It was decided that all notices of meetings, etc., should in future be given through that paper only, and no circulars sent out.

Regarding the future of ringers, as proposed in the measure before the National Church Assembly, the meeting decided unanimously that a strong protest should be forwarded to the proper quarter, as it was felt most strongly that the ringer should be placed on the same footing as the choir, organist, etc.

Owing to the lamented death of Mr. G. S. Lingley, it was necessary to elect a new secretary for the Southern District, and Mr. Jackson Pallister was unanimously elected to that position.—Several new members were then elected, and the meeting closed.

Afterwards some handbell ringing was indulged in, and some of the Cramlington men gave a display of tune ringing, which was much appreciated.

Further ringing on the tower bells brought an inspiring gathering to a close. B. C. D.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION. CIRENCESTER BRANCH MEETING.

The annual meeting was held at Cirencester on Thursday, January 27th, and was attended by between 20 and 30 members and friends from Cirencester, Fairford, Poulton, Down Anupney and Minchin-hampton.

Ringings commenced at Watermoor at three o'clock, and touches were brought round of Grandsire Doubles and Triples, Stedman Triples and Bob Minor. Service was conducted by the Rev. H. A. Griffith, who gave a hearty welcome to the members.

At the business meeting, the old officers were reappointed en bloc, and four new members were elected.—Lechlade was chosen as the place for the next meeting.—The Secretary, Mr. F. J. Lewis, brought forward the claims of 'The Ringing World,' and asked the members to give it increased support.

A vote of thanks to the Rev. H. A. Griffith for conducting the service and for presiding at the meeting, was carried unanimously, and brought the business to an end.

The Parish Church tower, with its 13 bells, was then visited, and touches of Grandsire Triples, Caters and Cinques and a course of Bob Major successfully brought round, while good practice was also had in Stedman Caters.

TREBLE BOB VARIATIONS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Any attempt to break fresh ground is always to be welcomed, and Mr. Bankes James' variations of Treble Bob are quite good. But I do not think he is exactly fair to the original. I think the leads when the tenors are in the slow have a real musical value; not in themselves, but as contrasts to the other part of the course. You appreciate the music with the tenors together far more when you have these leads than you would without them. The practical proof lies in Duffield and Forward. These keep the tenors together throughout and the result is monotonous. For the same reason you will hear many ringers say that Cambridge Royal is better music than Treble Ten. It is simply that the broken music, when the big bells are below the treble, doubles the value of the regular Treble Bob music when they are above the treble.

Also, it is surely not correct to say that Worcester is a method without hobs. If you ring a lead end of Oxford in a touch of Kent that is nothing but making a hob, or rather, speaking strictly, it is making two singles which has the same result.—Yours,

J. AEMIGER TROLLOPE.

In these 720's there are no Bobs. Oxford places being substituted for Kent, at the lead ends marked Oxford.

They may also be rung the other way about by going off with Oxford, and substituting Kent places at the lead ends marked Oxford, and Oxford places at the lead ends marked Kent, the figures of the lead ends being the same as above.

These 720's were composed on July, 1920, and were rung at Alford, Cheshire, on January 27th and 30th respectively. On January 27th, 720 Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Minor (spliced): W. Sambles 1, J. SALOP ARCHIDIACONAL GUILD.

The annual meeting of the above Guild was held at St. Chad's, Shrewsbury, when the magnificent peal of twelve bells was made full use of by members from Oswestry, Ellesmere, Market Drayton, Cound, Coalbrookdale, Mains Lee, Ightfield, Hodnet, Aldesbury, Bicton, Cardington, Stanton-on-Line-Heath, St. Chad's and St. Michael's, Shrewsbury. Touches of Grandsire Cinques, Caters and Triples, Stedman Caters and Triples, Kent Treble Bob and Bob Major were rung. At the service, held in St. Aiden's Chapel, the lessons were read by the Rev. C. B. Crow (Vicar of Coalbrookdale), and the sermon preached by the Rev. T. de Q. Mears (curate of St. Chad's), there being 50 present. Tea was provided in St. Chad's Parish Room, after which the business meeting was held, the Rev. F. W. T. Greenwood, D.D., Vicar of St. Chad's, presiding, supported by the Rev. A. Faulkner, Rural Dean; the Rev. H. S. Lombard, Vicar of Cound; the Rev. F. Tennison (secretary), Messrs. C. R. Lilley, W. Saunders, Weatherby, Woodbine, F. Mole (assistant secretary). It was decided to hold the next quarterly meetings at Oswestry, Coalbrookdale and Ellesmere, and the February monthly meeting at Bicton.

The Guild this year had the biggest record in peal ringing in its annals, including the first peals of Grandsire Cinques and Kent Maximus and Stedman Caters, to secure which some of the members have had to travel many miles.

There were five lady ringers present at the meeting and the Vicar congratulated the members upon a touch of Stedman Caters rung for the Guild service, the striking having been perfect. There was one other special item in the ringing, a touch of Grandsire Cinques at St. Chad's after the meeting, in which one of the youngest ringers in England took part, J. E. Lilley (aged 13), the son of the Ringing Master. This was a 352 Grandsire Cinques by: A. Short 1, W. H. Hughes 2, G. Jones 3, G. Brown (aged 16) 4, C. R. Lilley (conductor) 5, J. E. Lilley (aged 13) 6, B. Dixon 7, W. Wase 8, E. V. Rodenhurst 9, W. Weatherby 10, W. Saunders 11, A. Bayley 12.

DEVONSHIRE GUILD.
MID-DEVON BRANCH PROGRESS.

Picturesque Dartmouth was the place chosen for the annual meeting of the Mid-Devon Branch of the above Guild, which took place on Saturday, January 29th. Great progress has been made in half-pull ringing in Devonshire during the past twelve months, and there was a very representative gathering, ringers being present from Cockington, Dawlish, Paignton, Plymouth and Torquay, together with the local members. The bells of St. Saviour's and St. Clement's, Town-stall, by the kind permission of the Vicar, were available, and some very creditable touches of Triples and Major were accomplished.

Tea was partaken of at Messrs. Watts' Refreshment Rooms, and upwards of 30 members sat down to an excellent repast.

At the subsequent meeting, the chief business transacted was the election of officers for the ensuing year.—The President (Mr. F. Gover) and the Hon. Secretary (Mr. W. C. Wakley) having intimated their desire to resign from office owing to pressure of business, Mr. Hy. Wilkes (Dartmouth) and Mr. J. Hole (Paignton) were unanimously elected in their stead.

The next quarterly meeting was provisionally fixed to take place at St. Mary Church on April 9th.

The Rev. E. S. Powell, hon. secretary of the Guild in moving a vote of thanks to the retiring officers, spoke eulogistically of the able way in which they had fulfilled their office, as was shown by the excellent progress made.

Further votes of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and to Mr. Hy. Wilkes for the excellent arrangements made, brought the meeting to a close.

Everyone agreed that the meeting had been a great success, which proved the newly-organised system of working the Guild to be most satisfactory.

OFF TO AUSTRALIA.

Portsmouth has lost its oldest and one of its most active ringers, in the person of Mr. Matthew Ellsmore, who, by the time this is published, will be on his voyage to Sydney, Australia. This is not his first trip, he having previously journeyed to New Zealand, but his one regret is that he is not being accompanied by three other ringers, so that 'double-handed' ringing can be indulged in. On Saturday, January 22nd, he rang the third in an attempt for Holt's 10-part peal of Grandsire Triples, on the fine-toned peal at St. Thomas', Portsmouth, but after 24 hours' excellent ringing (vouched for by outside listeners) it was brought to a sudden end in the 7th part, by the treble rope breaking. Not discouraged at this reverse, he visited St. Mary's, Portsea, on the following Monday evening, and took a rope in each of the following methods: Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob and Kent Treble Bob Major. His last touch in England and his most memorable one, was a beautifully-struck 224 Double Norwich Court Bob Major: M. Ellsmore 1, F. A. Burnett 2, E. Reynolds 3, J. D. Harris 4, Capt. Russell, R.E. 5, E. J. Hawling, junr. 6, F. W. Rogers 7, E. J. Harding, senr. (conductor), 8. This was also the first touch in the method in the borough of Portsmouth by resident ringers. Miss E. M. Burnett rang the 2nd to the Treble Bob, her father standing out: the rest of the band being as above.

Mr. Ellsmore is a Cumberland Youth, besides being a member of several provincial associations, and his early ringing career was spent in and around Hertfordshire. He has 82 peals to his credit up to now in all the standard methods, and also Superlative Surprise Major, his last one being at Havant, Hants, in December last. Although he will be greatly missed at both the Portsmouth towers, it is hoped he will carry the art to his Colonial home and benefit the ringers in Sydney. He is in his 71st year. F. W. R.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting of the N.-E. Division was held at Langham on January 29th, when the bells at Higham and Stratford St. Mary were also available. A short service was held in church, and an excellent address given by the Vicar (the Rev. C. J. Ward). Mrs. Featherstone presided at the organ. Tea was provided at the Gun Inn, Dedham, by Mr. W. Sterry, a local ringer. The Vicar presided over a gathering of 25 members, representing 11 towers.

At the business meeting following, the officers were re-elected, viz.: Mr. W. J. Nevard (Great Bentley), Master, and Mr. H. T. Prie (Colchester), secretary. Messrs. C. Green, G. Lilley and S. Featherstone, of Langham, and H. Warno, of Gt. Horkesley, were duly elected ringing members. Considerable discussion then ensued as to the probable position of ringers generally under the proposed scheme now before the National Assembly of the Church of England, and a resolution was carried, that the petition of the Standing Committee of the Central Council of the Church Bell Ringers of England be supported, and that it was desired that ringers should still continue to be under the control of the incumbent. The secretary was instructed to forward the motion to Canon Baker.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Rev. C. J. Ward for his address and for the use of bells; also to Mr. A. J. Smith for assisting in making necessary arrangements.

Mistley was proposed for next meeting, if the bells are available.

EFFORT TO HELP WESTBURY BELLS FUNDS.

The monthly meeting of the Manchester Branch was held at Brookfield Church, Gorton, on Feb. 12th, some 20 members being present. Mr. James Shaw, of Hyde, was voted to the chair, and the Branch Secretary read out an appeal for Westbury Bells Restoration Fund. In discussing the matter, it was pointed out by members what they were doing at their own towers, but it was decided that the branch secretary should write to the various towers in the branch to see what they could do in the matter.

Ashton Parish Church was selected for the next meeting on March 5th, and a vote of thanks was accorded to the church authorities, to the local ringers for having the bells ready, and to the chairman for presiding.

The bells were kept going in touches of Stedman, Plain Bob and Grandsire, and some of the younger members received good practice in the various methods.

ROCHDALE BRANCH.

Thirty-one members were present at the meeting of this Branch, held on Saturday, at Todmorden Parish Church, the towers represented being Todmorden Parish and Unitarian Churches, Milnrow, Newhey, Middleton, Hamer, Balderstone, Crosstones, Heptonstall and Mytholmroyd. Touches of Stedman and Grandsire Triples, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob and Plain Bob Major were rung. The lady ringers from Crosstones were present, and showed great improvement in their ringing. Two of these ladies were made performing members of the association.

At the business meeting, presided over by Mr. E. Schofield, East Crompton was chosen for the next meeting, on Saturday, March 12th, and it is hoped there will be a good attendance of members.

After Mr. T. Robertshaw (of Heptonstall) had been made a non-resident member of the Association, the Branch Secretary (Mr. T. K. Driver) read an appeal from Westbury, where the ringers are in urgent need of funds for their bells. This was received very favourably, and it was agreed that each member should report to his own tower on the matter.

A resolution was then passed, that the performance of Mr. W. Crabtree in conducting the four standard methods should be put on record, as it is believed this is the first time it has been done by a member of the Rochdale Branch.

The meeting concluded with a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the tower and bells, and to the local ringers for having everything in readiness.—A vote of thanks was also accorded to Mr. E. Schofield for presiding.

PRESTON BRANCH PRACTICE MEETING.

A gathering of the Preston Branch was held at Walton-le-Dale on Saturday last, and was very successful. Ringing was started at 3.30, and kept up till 8.30, except during an hour's interval for tea. No business meeting was held, as it is the custom of the branch to hold a practice meeting alternately with a business meeting, the idea being to give more time for ringing. The methods rung during the afternoon were: Plain Bob, Canterbury Pleasure, College Single, Oxford, Kent and Woodbine Treble Bob, Cambridge Surprise, and, for the first time, London Surprise. It is a great pity that the bells (which are the oldest ring in Lancashire by the Whitechapel Foundry, and date from 1760) are very much out of tune: The church stands on a hill which overlooks the valley of the Ribble for miles in each direction, and the writer has seen no better place for a ring of eight or ten. Perhaps some day it will come.

SIX-BELL METHODS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I was very pleased to see Mr. King's letter in your issue of January 14th with reference to the naming of six-bell methods. I have kept a record of these, and I find there are several names to some of the methods in the Central Council's publication, so I give particulars. Perhaps Mr. King can correct them: No. 24, page 7. This is shown in Stedman's Campanologia dated 1677 as 'Nottingham Single,' now known as Single Court. No. 3, page 8. Rung at Bourne, Lines, April 16th, 1910, as Grandsire Treble Bob, known later as Duke of Norfolk. No. 5, page 9. Rochester also London Treble Bob. No. 6, page 9. Morning Star, also Cumberland Exercise. No. 8, page 9. Islington, also College Exercise. No. 15, page 11, has three names: Coventry, January 9th, 1910; Sandiacre, Oct. 20th, 1911, and given out later as Trinity Treble Bob rung at Anston. Fourth's Place Delights, No. 20, page 13, College Bob the 4th. Known as Bocking Treble Bob by A. Huckson, of Baintree. No. 21, page 19, Norwich Delight; Mr. Snowdon gives this as College Bob the 4th.

I think it would be best for the Exercise at large if these names were corrected so that conductors can give them their proper designation when rung in peals.—Yours faithfully,

F. BLOOD.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

The annual meeting of the Reading Branch was held on February 5th. Excellent touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Treble Bob and Double Norwich Major, were rung on the bells at St. Giles' Church, and the service which followed was well attended. A splendid address was given by the Master, (the Rev. C. W. O. Jankyn), explanatory of the World's Service Exhibition to be held at Reading, Feb. 11th to Feb. 20th.

Tea was served at the Rising Sun Coffee House, where the business meeting was afterwards held. The chair was taken by Mr. W. Pole-Routh, supported by the Master of the Guild, Canon Coleridge, and the Rev. F. W. Lane. In all, 52 members were present, including several ladies.

The balance sheet and auditors' report, showing a credit of £5 9s. 10d., was adopted unanimously.—The Hon. Secretary's report showed a steady progress at all the towers in union, and gave special praise to St. Giles', Reading, and St. Mary's, Purley.—The Tower Foremen gave a short report, which bore out the secretary's statement that a steady progress was being made.

All the retiring officers were re-elected, with the exception of Mr. A. Osborne, who withdrew from the general committee in favour of Mr. Appleby, of Henley.—At the meeting, the Chairman made an earnest appeal for increased support for 'The Ringing World,' pointing out what a great loss it would be for the Exercise if it ceased publication, and with what pride he himself saw his name in print 50 years ago, as having rung his first peal.

The usual vote of thanks to the clergy for the service, was passed, and a few songs, with Miss D. Hoppood as accompanist, brought one more successful meeting of the Reading Branch to a close.

CENTRAL NORTHAMPTONSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

KETTERING DISTRICT'S SUCCESSFUL YEAR.

A quarterly meeting of the Kettering District was held at Broughton on a recent Saturday, 58 ringers being present from Burton, Barton, Cransley, Geddington, Isham, Oringsbury, Pytchley, Bothwell, Desborough, Weekley, Warkton, and the local tower. The Rector, the Rev. — Poddmore, conducted the service, the special preacher being the Rector of Cransley, who gave a most excellent address.

The President of the Association, the Rev. E. J. Atkins, presided at the tea and meeting, supported by the clergy named above, and the Rev. Hopper, of Weekley, the treasurer and general secretary.—Rothwell was chosen for the next meeting, early after Easter.—The whole of the Broughton band, and one lady ringer from Weekley joined the association.

The District Secretary gave a summary of the year's doings, which showed that two honorary, four out-county and 27 ringing members had joined, including three new bands, while Weekley, Warkton, Weldon and Stoke Albany rejoined. There were seven honorary and 106 ringing members on the books, which was considered very satisfactory.

Ringers were urged to take more interest in 'The Ringing World,' and so make it a success.

The President proposed a vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells, to the ladies for providing tea, and to the local ringers.—The Rector, in replying, said how pleased he was to see such a good number present, and was glad that his ringers were joining the association, despite the rather bad go of the bells.—A move was again made to the heltry, where Stedman, Grandsire and Plain Bob were rung.

WARWICKSHIRE GUILD.

SECRETARY'S RESIGNATION.

A quarterly meeting of the above Guild was held at Bedworth on Saturday, January 15th, members attending from Ailesley, Birmingham, Nuneaton, Stoke-in-Coventry, and Stoke Golding. Touches in various methods were rung during the afternoon. The business meeting was held in the Schools. Apologies were read from the president (Canon Back) and Canon Brans.

At this meeting, the Ringing Master and the hon. secretary (Mr. J. H. White) tendered their resignations: Mr. A. Wilkerson was elected hon. secretary; and the Ringing Master, after some slight persuasion, consented to take office again.

The next meeting was arranged for Stratford-on-Avon; failing there Warwick was chosen.—Three new ringing members were elected.

After a vote of thanks to the retiring secretary, and to the Rector for the use of the bells, the tower was again visited. The methods rung during the day were Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major, Oxford Treble Bob, Duffield, Superlative, Cambridge and Bristol Surprise Major.

BURSLEM CHURCHWARDEN'S DEATH.

On Tuesday, Feb. 8th, at St. John's Church, Burslem Staffs, a 720 of Woodbine Treble Bob was rung, with the bells half-muffled, as a last token of respect and esteem to the late churchwarden, Mr. John Jones, whose interment took place in the Burslem Cemetery on the same day. Although Mr. Jones was not a ringer himself, he always proved himself to be a friend of the ringers at Burslem, and his death will be keenly felt by all at St. John's Church. The ringers taking part in this touch were: J. Walley 1, A. Lees 2, J. Walker 3, J. Hurd 4, T. Hurd (conductor) 5, W. Deane 6.

BATH AND WELLS ASSOCIATION. LICHESTER DEANERY BRANCH.

A successful meeting of members of the Lichester Deanery Branch of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association, together with three members of the Taunton Deanery Branch, was held at Ilminster on Saturday, Feb. 5th. Over thirty sat down to a tea prepared by the lady members of the choir. Touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, and a touch of Plain Bob Major were rung before service, which was conducted by the President of the Branch (the Rev. G. W. Saunders), Vicar of Martock, who gave a most interesting address on the history of the Ilminster bells. He also asked the ringers to remember in their prayers the Rev. Preb. James Street, late Vicar of Ilminster, who was lying seriously ill in a nursing home at Weston-super-Mare.—The Vicar-elect, the Rev. J. N. Boughton, was present in the congregation.

The service was followed by a tea in the North Street Schools. At the annual meeting of the branch, the Rev. G. W. Saunders was unanimously elected president for the ensuing year, and Mr. F. Farrant, of Martock, was elected hon. secretary.

It was unanimously resolved to adopt the recommendation of the annual meeting of the association held at Minehead in July last, and appoint a Ringing Master for the branch, whose duty would be to take charge of the ringing at the branch meetings and see that all have an opportunity of ringing, and that no one band of ringers monopolises the bells for an undue length of time.—Mr. D. G. Taylor, who is the hon. secretary of the Crowkerne Deanery Branch, was elected to fill this post for the coming year, as he was the most regular attendant at these meetings.

A vote of thanks to the president for his address, to Mr. G. H. Fowler Sharpe, the organist, for presiding at the organ, and to the ladies for preparing the tea and waiting on the party, closed the meeting.

It was gratifying to find the Vicar-designate present at the service and tea, though he had to leave before the meeting, and the ringers have every confidence in a continuance of that good feeling that has existed for the past twenty-two years between the late Vicar and themselves.

The ringers then adjourned to the tower, where the bells were kept going in further touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, and also two touches of Kent Treble Bob Major, in which three of the Ilminster hand took part. Six of the more advanced of this company have been studying Kent Minor, and were pleased at having an opportunity of ringing it with the members from Taunton, including the association secretary (Mr. E. E. Burgess), and Messrs. P. Merson and James Hunt, hon. secretary and Ringing Master respectively, of the Taunton Deanery Branch. The striking in most of the touches was good, and showed the young Ilminster ringers what to aim at.

NORTH NOTTS ASSOCIATION.

The first quarterly meeting of the year was held at Shireoaks on Saturday, January 22nd. The tower possesses a nice ring of six bells in good going order, and a commodious ringing chamber. The following towers were represented: Anston, Barlboro', Harthill, West Retford, Ordsall, Worksop and Shireoaks, in addition to members from kindred associations at Chesterfield, Wortley, All Saints', Sheffield and Tuxton. The methods rung were Plain Bob, Violet, Duke of York, Ordsall Delight, Kent and Oxford and London Surprise, the new method, Ordsall Delight, being the first on the bells.

Tea-time brought a brief disappointment. It was the old, old story. Upwards of 35 ringers turned up, but only seven had sent in their names, and Mr. Hargreaves, the tower keeper, had cancelled the order with the caterer. Other arrangements, however, were speedily made by the wives and daughters of the Shireoaks ringers, Messrs. Hargreaves and Hall, and after a little delay the inner man was well supplied, and everything passed off successfully. A debt of gratitude is owing to those good people for the excellent and prompt manner in which they dealt with the situation, and also for having the bells in readiness and in good going order, and their willingness to take a rope with the visitors who arrived with incomplete bands.

In the unavoidable absence of the Vicar, Mr. Hargreaves occupied the chair at the business meeting, and a vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar for the use of the bells.—The next meeting, the annual, will be held at East Retford in May.

EIGHTY-SIX 720's IN 1920.

Those who took part were: W. Miller 79, E. Smith 69, W. Theobald 61, W. Richés 57, G. Dawson 51, A. Prior 50, J. Moule 46, G. L. Joyce 26, G. Hayden 20, H. P. Avey 18, W. Doran 12, B. Thompson 8, H. Tarble 5, E. Wightman 4, G. A. Black 3, E. Wigg 3, J. Horwood 2, J. Marks 1, A. L. Bennett 1. The conductors were: W. Miller 84, G. Dawson 8, A. Prior 7, J. Moule 5, E. Wightman 1, G. Hayden 1.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The London County Association, the third of the great Metropolitan societies, is coming much into prominence again, and the past year's work, reviewed at the annual meeting the other day, shows that it is once more taking the place in the campanological world that it occupied in years gone by when societies were not so numerous as they are to-day. Founded originally as a link between the College Youths and the Cumberlands, whose rivalries in the preceding years had led to some big ringing feats, the society has had a career of nearly a century, and has admirably served its purpose. It has always been an unwritten law that a member of either the College Youths or Cumberlands ceases to be a member of the one society as soon as he joins the other. In those early days there were not the numerous neighbouring organisations that there now are, and the consequence was those old pioneers were unable to ring peals together under the auspices of any common society. St. James's Society, formed in 1823, was the outcome of an attempt to surmount this difficulty, and the leading members of the generations of ringers that have since passed through the London bell-fries have met on the common ground which this organisation provided. With the growth of ringing the society expanded its sphere, and, much to the regret of some lovers of old tradition, changed its title.

But the society has most certainly justified its wider territorial name. It has carried its activities into a much larger circle of towers; it has drawn in ringers who are not even members of one of the two older societies, and it has shown its capacity and enterprise by organising upon the lines of the larger modern provincial ringing societies, by decentralising into branches and holding periodical district meetings. All this is a sign of virility, but we are not quite sure that in the process of expansion the Association is not, to some extent, losing its tradition. It is still open to be made the meeting-ground of the College Youths and Cumberlands, but its purpose now goes much beyond this. No one, however, will quarrel with the wider scope which the Association now adopts, and, in the hands of a body of energetic officials, it is more than justifying its existence. Like its progenitors, it has now well established headquarters. St. Clement Danes is the parent church, and the society is exceedingly fortunate to find a Rector so deeply interested in its welfare as the Rev. W. Pennington Bickford. The future of the London County Association is promising. There is a large field of work open to it, and it might well turn its attention to getting regular ringing at more of the churches which lie within the inner London area, and using its influence to get restored some of those rings which at present hang in a state of sad disrepair.

The Milton-next-Gravesend, Kent, ringers inaugurated and carried out a highly successful whist drive and dance to raise funds for new bell ropes, and the effort resulted in a splendid balance of £13 ls. 6d. The prizes and refreshments were kindly given by the ringers and friends, and the leader, in the absence of the customary 'hobs,' conducted the affairs with the whistle. New ropes have been obtained, and it is whispered that the next move is to 'go' for two new bells to complete the octave.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

A most interesting anniversary fell on Wednesday, for it was on February 23rd, 1783, that, according to 'The Clavis,' the first peal of Cambridge Surprise was rung. This was at St. Giles-in-the-Fields by the Ancient Society of College Youths (there were two societies of College Youths at that time), and was 'deemed the greatest performance ever achieved in the Campanistanean Art, as so intricate a method was never practised by any other sett of men whatever.'

'Indeed,' says this ancient record, 'the same people (except one) did ring a peal in this same method and at the same place on Sunday, January 30th, 1780, they being then London Youths, but as this was rung with the tenors together it proved false on the new discoveries which happened about this time, and was the cause of their ringing another peal.'

It may be added that the composition rung in 1753 had the tenors parted in some courses. It was left to Charles Middleton to find a peal of Cambridge Surprise with the tenors together throughout.

Henry Johnson, whose memory will be honoured by the gathering at Birmingham to-morrow, was born on February 23th, 1809, and forty years ago on Monday next his 72nd birthday was celebrated by a record peal of 9,238 Stedman Cinques at St. Martin's, which the old gentleman composed and took part in. Mr. John Buffery is the only survivor of that band.

To-morrow is the anniversary of a peal of 10,000 Bob Major rung at St. Mary's, Shrewsbury, in the year 1777, and March 1st is the anniversary of two long peals of Grandsire Caters at Painswick; 8,064 in the year 1734, and 10,080 a year later.

The Cambridge University Guild is one of the oldest of the modern ringing associations, and on February 5th the 42nd anniversary of the foundation of the Guild was celebrated by a peal of Bob Major rung on handbells.

Last week the question was asked as to the first peal of Surprise Minor in which two ladies took part. The information now comes to hand that this was achieved by the Misses Steel, of Bedford, who took part in such a peal at Willington, Beds, on February 21st, 1914, when Miss Dorothy Steel rang the treble, and Miss Evelyn Steel the 3rd. On September 18, 1915, at the same church, both rang bob bells to a peal comprising 720 each of Stamford, Lancashire, Durham, York, Wells, London and Cambridge Surprise Minor. Both peals were rung for the Bedfordshire Association.

An ex-service men's peal has been rung at Norbury, Cheshire, and five out of the six ringers were local men. Of the original band at this tower in 1914 (including learners) seven served in H.M. Forces, and one, Herbert Williamson, made the supreme sacrifice. Of those seven, four are now back in their old places, the other two having fallen off. As, however, one other late member of the forces has joined, there are now five ex-service men as regular ringers.

The bells at the Royal Exchange, a peal of 13 cast by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, were opened on Wednesday of last week by the Lady Mayoress, and the wonderful tones of these new bells, the first in the City of London to be tuned on the Simpson principle, has been widely commented on.

The carillon, with a tenor of two tons, and weighing seven-tons altogether, plays twenty-one different tunes; but some surprise has been expressed that the Chimes Committee have not had included any Welsh airs, those at present on the barrel being English, Scotch and Irish.

Messrs. Gillett and Johnston have received many congratulations upon the splendid result of their work, the new peal having restored to the City a feature of its daily life, which appears to have been much missed in recent years by those whose occupation takes them to 'the hub of the universe.'

His many friends will learn with much regret of the serious illness of Mr. Raymond J. Wilkins, a member at St. Stephen's, Bristol, at which church also he is a member of the Church Council. The good wishes of the Exercise for his speedy recovery will go out to him. He has been greatly missed in the belfry for the last seven weeks.

The claim to the first peal of Major on the bells at All Saints', Daresbury, Cheshire, made in the footnote to a peal published last week cannot be sustained. The bells were restored by Messrs. John Warner and Sons. They were dedicated at matins on Sunday, Feb. 15th, 1914, and a peal of Bob Major, conducted by Mr. E. H. Lewis, was rung for evensong the same day.

The temporary address of Mr. A. H. Winch (of Leatherhead) is 1. Cliff Street, Whitby, Yorks.

The best ringers sometimes fail, and it is the glorious uncertainty which partly makes peal ringing such an attraction. Last Saturday week, at Southwark, the Kent County Association nearly took its first peal of Cambridge Maximus, but an otherwise splendid performance went wrong in the last lead, and the bells stopped about 20 changes short of a peal after 4 hours 8 mins.

We much regret to record the death of Mr. T. Suart, of Dalton-in-Furness, who passed away on Monday of last week.

OLDEST BELL RINGER DEAD.THE PASSING OF MR. JOHN HEATHORN.

At the advanced age of 97 years, Mr. John Heathorn, England's oldest bell ringer, passed away at Abbot's Hospital, Guildford, last week. Born on January 11th, 1824, Mr. Heathorn learnt to ring just 70 years ago, taking his first lessons in handling a bell at St. Mary's Church, Guildford, where there are six bells. At that time (1851) there was very little change ringing in the neighbourhood, but the company got along well with Grandsire Doubles until they broke up in the early '70's. Mr. Heathorn then went to Holy Trinity Church, and was instrumental in getting the bells rung regularly for Sunday service for some years. The bells, however, were sadly in need of the attention of a bell hanger, and when Messrs. Taylor and Co. put in the eight bells at St. Nicolas' Church in 1879, Mr. Heathorn threw in his lot with a band formed there. He was the only change ringer among them, and progress was very slow; indeed it was nearly ten years before they succeeded in ringing their first 168 of Grandsire. This was in January, 1889, and on May 27th in the same year, Mr. Heathorn, at the age of 65, rang his first peal. From that time onward Mr. Heathorn took part in occasional peals, and altogether rang 23, viz., Grandsire Triples 13, Grandsire Caters 1, Union Triples 1, Bob Triples 3, Bob Major 4, Oxford Bob Triples 1. Mr. Heathorn's last peal was on October 1st, 1902, although he made an unsuccessful attempt for another on his 84th birthday. Born in the reign of George IV. Mr. Heathorn rang for the Coronation of George V., and even had a pull after he had passed his 90th birthday. From August, 1897, Mr. Heathorn was an inmate of Abbot's Hospital, Guildford's ancient almshouse, close under the bells of Holy Trinity Church, whose ringing gave him much delight in the evening of his days. Only in January last a handbell peal, in honour of his birthday, was rung at Abbot's Hospital.

TREBLE BOB VARIATIONS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—While thanking Mr. Trollope for his appreciation of my two variations of Treble Bob, I find myself unable to agree with any of his arguments. We all know how pleasant it is to enjoy good health after a severe illness; but surely no one would expose himself willingly to infection with the object of obtaining that pleasure. If Mr. Trollope's suggestion is to be carried to its logical conclusion, the conductor should introduce some crashing discords into every concert, with the object of making his audience appreciate the good music that came between them; but his orchestra would soon be playing to empty benches if he did so.

I grant that Duffield and Forward are horribly monotonous; but the monotony comes from the lack of variety in the work of the method; not from the music. If it were so, then Double Norwich would share their fate.

Cambridge Royal is better music than Treble Ten, simply because it contains nothing like the two leads in which the tenors are in the slow in the latter.

Mr. Trollope seems to have entirely misunderstood my allusion to 'Worcester.' I was not trying to frame definitions for a bob, but only pointing out that the absence of the three-pull dodge that comes at the bob in the ordinary method tended to monotony.

Having had fair experience in both these methods, I venture to say that no one will find them monotonous, but far more interesting than the parent method.—Yours,
E. BANKES JAMES.

MIXTURE WHICH IS A CENTURY OLD.

A Yorkshire ringer writes to us as follows: 'This hybrid Treble Bob, of which so much is being made, was produced by Hudson, of Sheffield, a hundred years ago. He called it "Hudson's New Light," an Oxford Plain lead being used to keep the tenors out of the slow. Tell them quite gently to ring Forward if they want a dodging method with slow work, or send them a lead of London or Cambridge.'

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting of the Eastern Division was held at St. Clement's, Hastings, on Saturday, Feb. 5th, when members representing the following to wets, were present: Battle, Brighton, Bexhill (St. Peter's), Eastbourne (St. Saviour's), Heathfield, Hastings (Christ Church, Blacklands), and Salehurst.

Ringing was indulged in during the afternoon at St. Clement's, followed by tea, which was provided at 'The Restaurant,' High Street.

At the business meeting, Mr. W. Franks, of Battle occupied the chair, and two new members were elected (Mr. E. T. Baber and Mr. Jack Sharp) of St. Saviour's, Eastbourne.

Mr. G. W. Stokes was re-elected hon. secretary, and Messrs. W. Franks, J. Livermore and G. H. Howse were re-elected to serve on the Central Committee.

Bexhill was the place decided upon for the next meeting. The Chairman made an earnest appeal for increased support for 'The Ringing World.' He pointed out that it was the only paper published in the interests of change ringing, and asked the members to support it wholeheartedly, and take their copy each week, it being the only sure way to make the paper a success.—Mr. A. Piper, of Eastbourne, also supported the appeal.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.SUCCESSFUL ANNUAL MEETING.

Once again the London County Association has to record a most successful annual general meeting held on February 12th at St. Clement Danes, Strand. Owing to the large number of ringers that attended, it was found impossible for all to have a pull on the 'beautiful bells of St. Clement's.' The association's form of service was used, conducted by the hon. Chaplain, the Rev. W. Pennington Bickford, M.A., assisted by Canon J. H. Ellison, M.A., Rector of St. Michael's, Cornhill; the Rev. E. C. Bedford, M.A., Rector of St. Andrew's, Holborn; the Rev. J. A. Mayo, Rector of St. Mary Matfelon, Whitechapel; the Rev. R. Mayne Young, M.A., Rector of St. George-the-Martyr, Southwark, and the Rev. A. G. B. West, M.A., Rector of St. Dunstan's-in-the-East, some 76 members being present. The lessons were read by the Rev. E. C. Bedford and Mr. R. A. Daniell, and an interesting address was given by Canon J. H. Ellison. Commencing with a short account of the meeting of the National Assembly, he urged ringers to make friends with the Parochial Church Councils that they might be recognised as churchworkers by the Councils, which had come to stop. Preaching from I Corinthians xii., xiii. and xiv., the speaker applied the words of St. Paul to the work of ringers. Ringers, he said, were peculiarly gifted, and only one person in three was actually gifted for ringing. Punctuality and method particularly were required, and each worker should, if possible, do only a little, but take infinite pains over that little. Everyone who was doing a good work should work for God, which would make them give their best to the work. Ringing was a work that was being done for the whole of the community, but few understood the higher branches of change ringing. Parochial Church Councils should be used to educate the people in these matters, and ringers should get elected to the Councils in order to carry this out.

Those who aspired to religious work, the preacher added, should be religious. If they had love in their bellfries, everything else would follow: loyalty to their fellow members, and a sense of responsibility that they might do the work with an unselfish and generous spirit.

At the conclusion of the service, a move was made to the Parish House, Clare Market, where a most satisfying meal had been provided by the Hon. Chaplain and his wife, the tastefully decorated tables speaking of the thoughtfulness of Mrs. Pennington Bickford, who personally arranged them.

The business meeting followed, the Master (Mr. T. H. Taffender) presiding.—Six new members were elected, including Mrs. Pennington Bickford as an honorary member.

Mr. E. A. Young, as junior auditor, read the balance sheet, which shows an increase in the funds of £11 7s. on the year's working. It was decided to purchase 25 War Savings Certificates.

The Hon. Secretary's report, which was received with approval, showed that 38 new members were elected during 1920, and gave some interesting figures on the past year's peal ringing. Twenty-five peals had been rung, 20 on tower bells, and 5 on handbells, 75 members taking part in them. Eight members had rung their first peal, 26 their first in various methods, two their first with an inside bell, and one his first away from the tenor. It was interesting to note that one member, who was elected in January, 1920, took part in 15 peals, and scored his first of Grandsire Caters, Stedman Caters and Cinques, Kent Treble Bob Royal and Cambridge Surprise Major on tower bells, and Stedman Caters on handbells.

The election of officers aroused considerable interest, the following being successful: Master, Mr. T. H. Taffender; hon. general secretary, Mr. A. D. Barker; hon. general treasurer, Mr. W. G. Matthews; senior steward, Mr. W. H. Pickett; junior steward, Mr. F. W. H. Sergison; trustees, Mr. R. A. Daniell and Mr. E. A. Young; Central Council representatives, Mr. T. H. Taffender and Mr. E. A. Young.

The positions of Master, junior steward and Central Council representatives were contested, but to no purpose, the opposition being badly left in the minority.

Touches on handbells concluded a most enjoyable meeting.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Liverpool Branch was held on Saturday, Feb. 12th, at St. Mary's, Grassendale, members attending from St. Nicholas' and St. Francis' (Liverpool), Farnworth, Garston, Huyton, and local company. Tea was kindly provided by the Vicar (the Rev. H. Jobling), who presided over the business meeting, at which three new members were elected, and St. Luke's, Liverpool, was chosen for the next place of meetings.—A vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar for the use of bells, and also for the tea.—The Vicar, in replying, welcomed the members to the church, and hoped that they would not be long in coming again.—The methods rung during the evening were Plain Bob, Oxford Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, and Cambridge Surprise Minor.

CUMBERLAND YOUTHS' DINNER.

Owing to unforeseen circumstances it has been found necessary to postpone the annual dinner and concert of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths to April 2nd. The arrangements made for the previous date will stand for the revised date.

WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.GUILDFORD DISTRICT SECRETARY'S RESIGNATION.

A quarterly meeting of the Guildford District of the Winchester Diocesan Guild was held at Haslemere on Saturday, Feb. 12th, 45 members being present. Towers represented were Aldershot, Farnham, Chiddingfold, St. Nicolas' and Holy Trinity, Guildford, Portsmouth, and the local company; the Rev. E. Banks James also being present. The service was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. — Wragge, and an address was given by the Rev. E. W. Carpenter. Tea was followed by the business meeting, at which the chair was taken by the Rev. E. W. Carpenter. One compounding and three new members were elected.

Mr. J. J. Jones then informed the company that, owing to failing eyesight, he was compelled to resign the secretaryship which he has held since the opening of the district, and he gave some interesting accounts of his early days, when the district was started, and the sorrow he felt of having to take the step he was taking.

His resignation was accepted with regret by all, and it was decided to call a representative meeting of the district to consider the situation.

A vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells concluded the meeting.

A SIX-BELL 'STUNT.'

On Saturday afternoon, Feb. 12th, six stalwart men (one of them being a lady) left Reading for a short journey down the Thames Valley. At Goring they were met by Mr. J. Bower, who did the conducting as far as Strouley, where the light peal of six were raised, and a 720 of Oxford Treble Bob lost in the last lead through the indisposition (to ring) of one of the band. However, a 720 of Bob Minor was finished by: J. Waine 1, R. T. Hibbert 2, Miss S. Davis 3, J. Smith 4, J. Bower 5, Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn 6. Then over the river to Goring, where the 720 Oxford Treble Bob was finished: H. Simmonds 1, R. T. Hibbert 2, Miss S. Davis 3, A. Wiggins 4, W. Hibbert 5, Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn 6. It was on the cards to go right away to South Stoke, but the lady said 'No, it is tea-time,' and rather than hurt her feelings we allowed her to take the place of honour and pour out 'the cup that cheers.' Then to South Stoke, and a 720 of Kent Treble Bob Minor was rung in good style: H. Simmonds 1, R. T. Hibbert 2, Miss S. Davis 3, J. Smith 4, A. Wiggins 5, W. Hibbert 6. These are a pleasing peal of six, a treble having been added and the bells rebung in metal frame by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank as a way memorial; and, needless to say, it is a pleasure to ring there. Several old friends had turned up by this time, and Plain Bob, Oxford Bob, Stedman and Grandsire were enjoyed by all and sundry. The writer wishes to thank Mr. J. Bower and other Goring ringers for their kindness and hospitality. H.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.LEWISHAM DISTRICT MEETING.

The quarterly meeting of the Lewisham District was held at Dartford recently. Touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Treble Bob, Double Norwich, Cambridge Surprise and London Surprise Major were accomplished. Service was well attended, and an address was given by the Rev. Canon L. Savill (Vicar), the prayers being read by the Rev. D. R. A. Williams (curate). Tea followed in the Church Hall, kindly provided by the Vicar, to which about 50 sat down, the Vicar and curate being present; also Messrs. C. H. Steilman and W. L. Parry (churchwardens). A good staff of ringers' wives and friends were present to wait on the company.—At the conclusion of the tea, a vote of thanks, carried by acclamation, was accorded the ladies for their kindness, to which one of them briefly replied.

The business meeting followed, the Vicar presiding.—Mr. R. Brett, of Newdigate, Surrey, was elected a non-resident life member, and six practising members were elected.—Erith (St. John the Baptist) was selected as the place for the meeting in April.

Mr. W. J. Jeffries (district representative) read his report of the Central Committee meeting.—This was adopted, and a hearty vote of thanks accorded to him.

A suggestion was then put forward with regard to making Dartford a ring of ten, and after a little explanation, the Vicar and Mr. L. Parry promised to see what could be done.

Mr. W. Hewett then put forward a suggestion with regard to 'The Ringing World,' and after discussion, the District Secretary informed the meeting that he believed it was settled to raise the price of the paper. On a show of hands it was found that nearly all took the paper.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Vicar for the use of the bells, his address, and the tea.—This was carried with applause, and in reply the Vicar thanked the meeting, and said it had been a very great pleasure to entertain them.—A hearty vote of thanks was also passed to the churchwardens for their presence, to which Mr. W. L. Parry responded.—This concluded the business, and the members again visited the tower for more ringing.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.STROUD BRANCH'S SUCCESSFUL YEAR.

The annual meeting of the Stroud and District Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association was held at Painswick on Saturday, Feb. 5th. Thirty members from the towers in the branch, and from Gloucester, Dursley and Witcombe attended. Some good ringing was done during the afternoon with Grandsire Triples, Caters, and Cinques and Bob Royal. A ringers' service was afterwards held, and the association's form was used. The Vicar officiated, and an excellent address on the law of liberty was given by the Rev. A. M. Coode (a brother ringer), which was much appreciated.

After the service, by the kind invitation of the Vicar and Mrs. Verey, all were entertained to tea at the Vicarage. The annual business meeting followed, at which the Vicar presided.

The Branch Secretary (Mr. W. Hale) presented the accounts, which showed that the working expenses of the branch for 1920 had been £2 7s. 2d., and the sum of £4 8s. 10d. had been paid to the treasurer of the association. Eleven ringing meetings had been held at different towers, and there were 69 performing and 4 honorary members who had paid their subscriptions. Three new members had been elected, and 11 peals had been rung in the branch during the year, including the record peal of Grandsire Cinques at Painswick of 15,001 changes.

The Rev. W. J. Clay (Vicar of Bisley) was re-elected president, and the retiring officers and branch committee were re-elected en bloc, and heartily thanked for their services.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the local Press and 'The Ringing World' for publishing the reports of the meetings and peals rung in the different towers; also to the clergy, churchwardens and friends at the diocesan churches for the use of the bells and kind help to the Diocesan Association.—A hearty vote of thanks was also accorded to the Rev. C. H. and Mrs. Verey for the use of the bells and for their hospitality, also to the Rev. A. M. Coode, for his practical address, and all who had helped to make the meeting so enjoyable.

The tower was again visited, and the bells kept merrily going to Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major and Grandsire Caters till 9 p.m., when the bells were lowered in peal.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.S. and W. DISTRICT SECRETARY RETIRES.

The annual meeting of the S. and W. District of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild was held at Isleworth on Saturday, February 5th. The attendance was very good, about 80 members being present. The bells were kept going during the afternoon, and after the business meeting, to many methods, and some good ringing was heard. The service was conducted by the Vicar, and the organist and choir gave their assistance.

The gathering for tea overtaxed the accommodation of the 'London Apprentices,' and many had to be content with a 'stand up' meal. At the business meeting the chair was taken by Mr. Edgley (churchwarden), who, with the Vicar, had kindly given the tea.

The balance sheet was presented and adopted, subject to audit, and showed a deficit on the year's working of 1s. 8d., which Mr. W. H. Fussell kindly wiped off by a donation.

Many new members were elected, and the officers for 1921 were elected as follows: Master, Mr. C. S. Bird; treasurer, Mr. S. Carter; hon. secretary, Mr. W. H. Hollier; representatives on Central Committee, Messrs. Chandler, Harding and Holloway.

The meeting passed a vote of thanks to the retiring hon. secretary (Mr. W. H. Oram) for his services.

The usual votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar, wardens, organist and choir, and local ringers, for their help in making such a successful meeting.

BEQUEST FOR BELL RINGING.

By the death of Mr. Robert Marslow, J.P., of Ludlow, the Hereford Guild has lost one of its best supporters, who took a particularly keen interest in the Guild almost from its formation. For a number of years he was one of its representatives on the Central Council, had served as one of the managing committee of the Guild for a long time, and at his death he was hon. auditor. Some twenty years or so ago he took a more active part in bell ringing, and on several occasions he entertained the members to tea when the annual festivals were held in his neighbourhood. He had rung one or two peals.

By his will he bequeathed to the Rector and churchwardens of St. Lawrence's, Ludlow, £200, in trust, the income to go to the Ludlow Branch of the Hereford Diocesan Guild to encourage the science of bell ringing.

The annual gathering of the Berks and Bucks Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild is proposed to take place at Old Windsor, on Easter Monday, March 28th. A good day's programme is being prepared, and several adjoining rings of eight will be available. The Hon. Secretary advises ringers to 'get that new cycle tyre ready and watch "The Ringing World."'

A Page for Sunday Service Ringers.

Recognising that the first and essential duty of a ringer is service to the Church by utilising his art to call the public to worship, we are taking the earliest opportunity, now that the paper is enlarged, to make special provision for this phase of the work in the belfry.

There are many thousands of ringers whose interest lies almost solely in this Sunday duty, and who only occasionally indulge in a peal. Their performances, therefore, do not often find their way into print, and, especially in the period through which we have just passed, the publication of their touches on account of the limitation in the size of this journal, have been almost eliminated, not through any fault of ours, but by sheer force of circumstances.

These ringers, however, have a claim to greater recognition, and we hope to meet it by making this page a permanent feature, so that preference to those reports which reach us not later than the Tuesday morning following their performance on the preceding Sunday. We cannot, of course, definitely promise to publish everything that is sent to us, for it may happen that we may be overwhelmed with 'copy' of this kind; but, so far as there is conformity to the above suggestions, we will do our best.

HIGHEST IDEALS IN RINGING.

A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

It is with great pleasure that I learn that in future the Editor intends to introduce into the 'Ringing World' a special page each week having reference to Sunday ringing for Church services. Such ringing deserves hearty encouragement for many reasons. To employ the music of the bells for the purpose of drawing worshippers to God's House is the highest of the ideals connected with ringing. It shows that ringers do really put first the honour of God, and not their own glorification or the pleasure which they take in their exercise.

It emphasises the fact that ringers are Church-workers, and carry out a real and beautiful ministry entrusted to them. More than that, it presents bell-ringing to the world in general in its most attractive, as well as its most sacred and useful form. I believe that everyone, unless he be a bitter and prejudiced opponent of all religion, loves to hear on Sundays 'the sound of the Church-going bells.' They have a message to the listener even at a distance; they have a call to prayer which he may not obey, but cannot refuse to hear; they have a voice which reaches to inmost heart and soul. By all means, then, let us encourage and promote the best of ringing for Sunday services. And what better can there be than good change-ringing in well-struck touches? everyone joining in harmony with his brother-ringers, and filled with the true spirit of the work in which he is taking a part.

A. H. F. BOUGHHEY

some, at any rate, of the best touches may be placed on record.

But we desire, also, that this page shall provide something more than a mere collection of touches rung, and we shall publish a series of short messages to ringers from their clerical colleagues of the belfry, which we believe will prove an acceptable addition to our 'Sunday Service Ringers' Page.' Several of the well-known ringing clergy have already promised to contribute, and others, we hope, will follow. The first of this series appears to-day, and in it the Rev. A. H. F. Boughhey, President of the Central Council, talks upon the highest ideals in ringing. Next week's message will be by Canon Coleridge.

Another direction in which we hope to make this page useful as well as interesting, is by the publication of touches in various methods of lengths which should prove suitable for service ringing purposes. Many of these touches are being got together from well-known composers, and the aim will be to give what is musical, and, sometimes, something of the beaten track. If these touches cannot be utilised on the Sunday following their publication, conductors may like to keep them for service at some future date.

With regard to the publication of Sunday Service ringing performances, we must ask our readers to use some discrimination in what they send us. The touches which we should prefer to publish would be those which are rung for special occasions, or which mark some interesting advance in the art by the band or some members of it. After these we shall publish quarter-peals on eight bells and 720's on smaller numbers as far as space permits, and we shall give markedly well throughout. She is the first lady to figure in a quarter in the Ashford tower, and the first lady member of the Romney Marsh Guild to score a quarter.

NEWCASTLE CATHEDRAL GUILD. UNVEILING CEREMONY AND DINNER.

An 'Armistice' peal tablet and another commemorating a peace peal, rung at Newcastle Cathedral, were unveiled in the Cathedral belfry on January 27th by Sir Arthur Sutherland, who was Lord Mayor of the City at the time the peals were rung—the first on Nov. 11th, 1918 (Stedman Cinques, the only 12-bell peal rung in the United Kingdom that day), and the second on July 21st, 1919 (Stedman Cinques).

Mr. C. L. Routledge (Ringing Master) welcomed Sir Arthur, who made an interesting speech on bells, and unveiled the oak tablets.

After a dedicatory prayer by Canon Newsom, Mr. W. Story, president of the Northumberland and Durham Association, moved a vote of thanks to Sir Arthur, which was seconded by the Vicar.—Ald. Robinson, in support, recalled the fact that Sir Arthur's father was sheriff when the new peal was installed.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, a short touch was rung, and Mr. George Renwick, M.P., in a few genial words, wished the Cathedral ringers every success.

Subsequently the Guild held their annual dinner in the Collingwood Restaurant. Mr. C. L. Routledge presided, supported by the Vicar of Newcastle (Canon Newsom, M.A.), Alderman Robinson and Mr. E. W. Lidderdale (churchwardens), Rev. E. D. Clark, Mr. W. Story (president of the Durham and Newcastle Association), Mr. E. E. Ferry and Mr. Ben Dixon (joint secretaries of the Diocesan Guild) and Mr. R. Thompson (senior verger of the Cathedral). An excellent repast was served.

After the toast of 'The King' had been honoured, the toast of the Vicar was submitted and replied to by Canon Newsom in a most encouraging speech. He complimented the ringers upon their fine work in the Cathedral belfry, and, referring to Sir Arthur Sutherland's remarks at the unveiling, that in olden days 'the bells were thought to drive evil spirits away,' said that undoubtedly when the merry peal of the Cathedral was ringing it drove away the evil spirits of present-day life—passion, greed, discontent, and all that tended to make people unhappy, and in their place the joyful sounds of the bells helped them to think of all that was good and best in life. The bells had their message to the city, and he knew how Newcastle people loved the old Cathedral, and, not least, its bells.

Alderman Robinson replied for the wardens, and said how deeply they were indebted to the Guild for their services, and how greatly they appreciated the splendid way in which the bells were rung. He supported the Vicar in the promise that they (the Vicar and wardens) should provide the annual dinner of the Guild next year. He had taken a deep interest in the ringing of the bells in his 39 years in office as churchwarden, and he considered the Guild's ringing the finest he had known on the Cathedral bells.

The President of the Durham and Newcastle Association (Mr. W. Story) made a strong appeal on behalf of 'The Ringing World,' and stated that not only should it be in every belfry, but that every ringer should be a reader and interest others. He asked all present to help to that end. It was a great joy to him to look up the old numbers of 'The Ringing World' and see the peals of the past.

Mr. Routledge, Ringing Master, supported Mr. Story in his appeal. The Guild were also complimented on the artistic addition to the belfry in the two peal boards unveiled that evening, commemorating the great historic events of the war, the armistice and the signing of the peace treaty, and the Newcastle belfry bids fair to be one of the finest furnished with the many great and historic peals that have been recorded.

The sympathy of the gathering was extended to Mr. Alfred Dalton, one of the Guild members, in his illness which had prevented his taking part in ringing for some time, and the hope was expressed that he would soon be restored to health again.

The harmony of the evening was contributed to by Alderman Robinson, Messrs. Ben Dixon, E. Ferry, and friends, and members of the Guild rang touches on the handbells. A most enjoyable evening was spent.

HEREFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

The annual meeting of the Prestoign and Leominster District was held at the Priory Church, Leominster, on January 29th, when over 30 members attended and enjoyed ringing on the fine peal of ten. Service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. R. Gillanders, M.C.), and was followed by tea and business meeting, at which the Vicar presided.

The District Secretary (Mr. A. Talbot) read a short report of the year's work, which showed that the district had a balance in hand of £3 4s. 6d., and a membership of 79.—The balance sheet was passed as very satisfactory.—It was proposed to hold the next meeting at Aymestry on April 30th.—Mr. C. Edwards, who proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar for presiding, and for the use of the bells, congratulated the district on the progress made.

After the meeting members returned to the tower, and touches of Grandsire Doubles, Triples and Calers and Bob Major were rung.

NORWICH AND IPSWICH ASSOCIATION.

SUFFOLK BRANCH AND THE CHURCH COUNCILS' POWERS

The third general meeting of the Suffolk Branch of the Norwich and Ipswich Association of Change Ringers was held at Leiston. The bells of the Parish Church were open to the members all day, and well-struck touches were rung in a great many methods. The Rev. E. M. Girling presided at the business meeting, and was supported by the Rev. H. Drake (Ufford), Messrs. F. Evans (Branch Secretary), F. C. Lambert, G. Wilson, and C. E. Fisher (District Secretaries). The election of Mr. Wm. Rose as secretary for the Eye district was confirmed, and the Rev. Girling was elected an honorary member of the Association.

The Rev. H. Drake explained Clause 6, Section III. of the Church Council (Powers), and said that no doubt the bell ringers there mentioned were those appointed to toll the bells for special services and funerals. It would be well to have this clearly defined, and suggested that the members present should pass a resolution such as that passed at Diss at the Norfolk Branch meeting.

Mr. E. Evans referred to the pleasant relationship existing under the present system between the clergy and ringers, and as change ringers were, generally speaking, voluntary workers, Canon Baker's letter pointing out the danger of their being 'appointed' came as a surprise to most of them, and he moved that the general secretary's resolution be adopted, viz.: 'That this Association deprecates the inclusion of bell ringers in Clause 6, Section III. of the Church Council (Powers) Bill, and is of opinion that the words "bell ringers" should be omitted from this, as it considers it detrimental to the best interests of bell ringers and the art of change ringing to subject the ringers to any authority other than that of their parish priests.'

Mr. F. C. Lambert seconded, and the motion was carried.

It was decided to hold the next meeting of the branch at Ipswich on Easter Monday.

A vote of thanks was passed to the Rev. E. M. Girling for presiding, and for granting the use of the bells.

CENTRAL NORTHANTS ASSOCIATION.
NORTHAMPTON DISTRICT.

A quarterly meeting was held at Ecton on February 5th, when about 30 members were present from Weston Favell, Cogenhoe, Brafield, Wylby, Northampton, Moulton, and the local tower. Evensong was conducted by the Rector (Canon Jepson), who gave the ringers a hearty welcome to Ecton. After service the Rector called attention to the beautiful photo album containing the photos of all the 88 men of Ecton, who served in the army during the great war. The novelty of this album is that it is bound in oak, which was grown at Ecton. There is also in the belfry a tablet of beaten copper on which are the names of the local ringers (five in number), who made the supreme sacrifice in the great war.

After tea, in the absence of the Rector, Mr. Law presided at the business meeting, and took the opportunity of thanking the members for the presentation they had made him. He also urged the members to support 'The Ringing World.'

Old Duston was chosen for the next quarterly meeting, and Hardingstone for a special meeting on the 9th April.

HENRY JOHNSON.

To the long series of successful functions which have been associated with the Henry Johnson Commemoration another has to be added. The gathering of last Saturday at Birmingham has never been surpassed, either in numbers or enthusiasm, and each year seems to bring increased interest in the event and extend its popularity among a wider circle of ringers. This commemoration fulfils a double purpose. Its first object is to keep green the memory of that great yet humble man, whose services to ringing are never likely to be fully realised, but who left his mark upon the art as indelibly as did men like Annable and Holt. Henry Johnson was one of a succession of Birmingham men whose researches served to place ringing on the sound foundations upon which later authors have successfully built and which have shaped the development of the science in a manner of which few present-day ringers are cognisant. As a pioneer in composition Henry Johnson achieved a position attained by only masters of the art, and his name will live as long as change-ringing endures. It is well, then, that honour should be done to his memory; but behind the present commemorations there is another feeling. The dwindling band of men who had the personal acquaintance of Johnson carry in mind, above all other recollections, the charm of this departed veteran's personality, his gentility of nature, his humility of heart. These characteristics will ever be retained in memory by those who knew Henry Johnson, and these annual gatherings serve the great purpose of handing on to coming generations of ringers, to whom Johnson would otherwise be only a name, the spirit which animated this grand old man, who placed truth, honour, steadfastness and perseverance before all else.

The second purpose of the convivial proceedings also deserves to be emphasised. The event draws together ringers from the four corners of England, and the renewal of old acquaintances and the making of new friendships between those whose lives otherwise lay widely apart, are a happy feature of these gatherings and make for an extension of that brotherhood among ringers upon which we as a fraternity so much pride ourselves. Henry Johnson is thus, if we may be permitted to say so, continuing to render a valuable service to the Exercise even though he has gone from us. In commemorating his life, those who are following after him are spreading a fellowship which can have only the happiest results. Anything which tends in this direction deserves the most cordial support, and that the opportunity which St. Martin's Guild annually provides is welcomed by the Exercise is proved by the large number of ringers who every year assemble in the Midland metropolis to participate in the commemoration.

A LIGHT PEAL OF SIX.

The dedication of a new peal of six bells at the Parish Church of the village of Wistaston, Cheshire, by the Bishop of Chester, took place on Saturday, February 19th. The bells replace a peal of four, which were in a very unsafe condition, and were recast with sufficient new metal to make a new tenor and treble. They are the product of the Croydon Foundry, and are quite up to the standard which that firm is famous for. Hung in an iron and steel frame on steel girders they give every satisfaction; the tone is excellent, and would please the most critical ear. With the largest bell only 6 cwt. 2 lbs., they are the lightest peal the firm have ever turned out.

The ringing and opening of the new peal was in the hands of the local ringers and the Crewe Society. Several touches were rung in the four standard methods, and included the first 720 on the bells, Kent Treble Bob Minor being the method chosen. It was rung by the following band: Harry Overton 1, James H. Riding 2, Harry F. Holding 3, George H. Crawley 4, Albert Crawley 5, Richard T. Holding (conductor) 6.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.

The annual meeting of the East Elloe Branch of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild was held at Spalding on Feb. 5th. The bells of the Parish Church, St. Paul's, Fulney, and Pinchbeck, were available for the day, and a fair amount of ringing was done. A service was held in the Lady Chapel of the Parish Church, when an address was given by the Vicar (the Rev. Basil Gordon Nicholas), who spoke of the ancient history of bells and of the larger bells in Europe. A party of 48 sat down to tea, provided by Mr. Barkor. At the business meeting which followed, all the officers were re-elected, viz., the Rev. F. F. Wayet, president; Mr. G. Ladd, hon. secretary, and Mr. R. Mackman, hon. treasurer. The fund of the Guild is in a satisfactory condition, and it was proposed to give £5 towards providing two chairs-a-bang to attend the annual meeting at Lincoln in April.

Mr. Mackman gave a short address, comparing the condition of bells and bell ringers 45 years ago with the present time. At that time there were only one or two peals ringable within twelve miles of Spalding, and it was very difficult to get a six-bell team in the neighbourhood. But now all the peals except one had been restored, and some augmented to eight, while there was one new peal of 10, one new one of 8 and one of 6, and three peals had been augmented from 5 to 6.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Gosberton, and to have four meetings of the branch in the year instead of three.

HUDSON'S 'NEW LIGHT.'

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I was much interested by the communication sent to you by 'A Yorkshire Ringer,' and should be very much obliged if he would send me a copy of Hudson's figures and the way he used the Oxford lead. Did he use it only to shorten the course in one place, and retain the Treble Bob bob, or did he use it in the place of a Bob? I am much obliged to our Yorkshire friend for mentioning it, for, as Jasper Snowdon said long since, these old records are apt to get lost sight of, unless they are put in print; and all Hudson's work that is left to us is so valuable that we cannot afford to let any of it be lost.—Yours faithfully,

Seafeld Park, Fareham, Hants.

E. BANKES JAMES.

LITLINGTON BELLS AUGMENTED.

On Monday evening, Feb. 21st, a new treble was dedicated at Litlington by the Vicar of Guilden Morden, and after the dedication service the Royston ringers rang a 720 of Kent Treble Bob Minor, which was well struck: A. Gilbert 1, C. Goldthorpe 2, W. B. Manning 3, W. L. Darlow 4, S. E. Roberts 5, R. G. King (conductor) 6. Mr. A. Bowell, of Ipswich, recently rehung the old peal of five, and has now added a new treble, and the 'go' of the six is excellent, everybody being well pleased with the ring.

The Vicar entertained the ringers to supper after the ringing, and his kindness was very much appreciated. It is gratifying to state that since the five were rehung, a local band has learned call changes, and it will not be very long before they will be able to get on to change ringing, as they are very keen to learn.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

The monthly meeting of the Devizes Branch was held at Warminster on February 5th, and was attended by ringers from Trowbridge, Hilperton, Westbury and Warminster. Ringing commenced at three o'clock, and service was later conducted by the Rev. Canon Jacob. The business meeting was held at the Magnet, after tea, when the secretary received £1 from the Trowbridge ringers, and 10s. from Mr. J. Harding, an unattached ringing member from Urchfont, towards the Westbury Bells Restoration Fund.

The Chairman, in his remarks, urged all ringers in the branch to support 'The Ringing World' in its new venture, pointing out that it was the only means the ringers had of keeping in touch with one and another.—A hearty vote of thanks to Canon Jacob for the use of the bells concluded the business. The ringers then returned to the church for further ringing.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The bells of Fenshurst, Kent, were augmented to eight just a quarter of a century ago, but not until last Saturday did a local band ring a peal on them. We hope more will follow from the ringers of this picturesque Kentish village.

The number of 720's rung during 1920 at Little Munden was 69, in fourteen methods.

Mr. Ted Horrox, the 'father' of the College Youths, celebrated his 83rd birthday on Monday. He rang at St. Paul's Cathedral on Sunday, and received the congratulations of the band. He hopes to ring a peal of Stedman Cinques in celebration of the event at St. Saviour's Cathedral, Southwark, to-morrow.

At the opening of Banstead (Surrey) bells, on March 19th, it is intended to introduce the method, which is adopted widely in the North of England upon such occasions, of giving special facilities to those ringers who attend with complete bands, instead of relying entirely upon scratch eights made up in the belfry. All ringers will be welcome at the opening, and all will be given the opportunity of ringing, but it is hoped to secure the best striking by securing the presence of bands who are in the habit of ringing together.

The brothers Bailey, of Leiston, have added to their family campanological laurels, by ringing the first peal of Stedman Caters 'in hand' by five brothers.

The two new trebles at Fulbourn, Cambs, raising the peal to an octave, are to be dedicated on March 12th. The new bells are the gift of Mr. B. Moore, who has been churchwarden since 1887.

Upon Tuesday next falls the anniversary of that wonderful peal of Grandsire Caters rung at St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich, in the year 1737, which for excellence of its ringing, Harmonious changes and ye number of them, was certainly superior to anything of its kind ever done in the world; and to Remove all doubt of the truth of the performance several ingenious Ringers were abroad the whole time, with proper rules to prove the certainty of ye same.

This peal, 12,603 (the previous best having apparently been 10,080 in 1735 at Painswick) was rung in 8 hrs. 15 mins., and was 'perfectly compleated to the entire satisfaction, surprise and amazement of thousands of hearers.' The tenor was rung by two men, the first 8,000 changes by one of them and the remainder of the peal by the other.

The first peal of Caters was rung about 20 years before at St. Bride's, Fleet Street.

While ringing was in progress at St. Philip's Cathedral, Birmingham, on Saturday, in connection with the Henry Johnson Commemoration, the clapper of the tenor broke. The first recorded peal by St. Martin's Youths was rung at St. Philip's in 1755, but there has been no peal in this tower for 18 years on account of the 'go' of the bells. Perhaps something will now be done.

The latest report that reaches us about Mr. R. J. Wilkins, of Bristol, is that, although still very ill, his condition shows a slight improvement.

The peal of Superlative at Houghton, Lancs, was rung in 2 hrs. 49 mins., and not 3-49 as published last week.

The 'stars' will sometimes get into the wrong places. We do not mean the celestial orbs, but the marks by which we are able to distinguish first pealers and the like. Last week we made it appear that the Kent Treble Bob Maximus at Shoreditch was Mr. Edgar Wightman's first peal of Treble Twelve when it wasn't. The intimation applied to the ringer of the 9th, Mr. Fred Wilford, of Northampton.

It is interesting to note a peal rung by a local band at Warnham, Sussex. It is some time since a peal by Warnham men has been recorded, but there were days which some will remember when, perhaps, more peals were rung at Warnham than in any other belfry.

It used to be said that one man out of every three in Warnham had learned to ring. Peals before breakfast were not unknown there, and, in more recent years, a band who aspired to fame found no objection raised when they sought permission to attempt four Surprise peals in a day at this church. Long peals up to 13,440 have been rung there, and one attempt at least for a twenty thousand has been made. And the church stands right in the village. They are bell lovers, the good people at Warnham.

WYCOMBE RINGER'S BEREAVEMENT.

Many ringing friends will regret to hear of the loss sustained by Mr. J. W. Wilkins, of High Wycombe, Bucks, by the death of his wife, who passed peacefully away on Feb. 5th. The deceased lady was known by a number of ringers, not only in the immediate district in which she lived, but amongst those she met when accompanying her husband in his many ringing excursions.

Her remains were laid to rest on Feb. 10th, amidst many tokens of respect, but that which appealed to the sorrowing husband and son was the beautifully struck muffled touch in her memory, performed by the High Wycombe Society on the bells of the parish church she so loved to hear.

* HENRY JOHNSON ' COMMEMORATION

GREAT GATHERING AT BIRMINGHAM.

The 33rd annual 'Henry Johnson' Commemoration Dinner, organised by St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham, was held at Birmingham on Saturday last, and was a highly successful function, the attendance being quite equal to last year's record. The event brought together ringers from many parts of the country, and during the afternoon there was ringing both on the twelve bells at St. Martin's Church and the ten at St. Philip's Cathedral. The dinner took place at the Imperial Hotel, and a company, numbering 180, sat down to a splendidly served repast. The chair was taken by Canon E. Grose Hodge, M.A., Rector of Birmingham, who was supported by Alderman J. S. Pritchett, Presiding Ringing Master; Sir Edward Malins, Messrs. J. J. Kendall and F. W. Blake (churchwardens of St. Martin's), Mr. A. Paddon Smith (Hon. Secretary of St. Martin's Guild), and Mrs. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. H. Mason, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Goldsmith, Mr. C. F. Johnston (of the Croydon Foundry), Mr. Pryce Taylor (Loughborough Foundry). Among those also present were: Messrs. W. Kent, J. H. Shepherd and J. Carter (vice-presidents of the Guild), Mr. A. Walker (Deputy Ringing Master) and Mrs. Walker, Mr. T. Russam and Mr. C. Dickens (Trustees), Mrs. Russam, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Groves, Miss S. Pigott (President of the Ladies' Guild), Mr. A. E. Parsons (Master of the Worcestershire Association), Mr. C. Dean (Hon. Secretary, Surrey Association), Mr. A. Wilkerson (Hon. Secretary, Warwickshire Guild), Mr. H. Knight (Hon. Secretary, Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford), Messrs. W. R. Small (Tipton), B. Gough (Coseley), W. T. Pates (Cheltenham), J. Paget (Derby), Councillor and Mrs. Trippier (Eccles), Messrs. R. F. Deal (Manchester), H. Broughton (Leicester), H. Argyle and T. Chapman (Nuneaton), A. C. Crawley (Crewe), J. Jutson and Miss Jutson (Peterborough), Mr. R. Richardson (Surfleet), Mr. and Mrs. F. Wilford (Northampton), Mr. T. Salter (Kidderminster), Mr. J. E. Sykes (Huddersfield), W. Wetherby (Shrewsbury), R. Billingshurst (Loughborough), and ringers, including several ladies, from a large number of towers in the Birmingham district.

The dinner arrangements had been made by the Hon. Secretary (Mr. A. Paddon Smith), whose indefatigable efforts resulted in a completely enjoyable evening. As in previous years a feature of the proceedings was the musical programme, for which the St. Martin's Quartette (Messrs. Hale, Chapman, Bayliss and Gorman, members of St. Martin's Choir) kindly gave their services, and their quartettes, duets and songs gave great delight to the company. Their presence was again an indication of the happy relations which exist at St. Martin's between the ringers and the other officials of the church. The quartette sang grace before and after dinner, and in the course of the evening contributed the items, sung unaccompanied, 'On the Banks of Allun Water,' 'Jenks' Vegetable Compound,' 'Sleep, Gentle Lady,' 'Ye eyes of Azure,' etc., while Messrs. Chapman and Gorman sang the duet, 'Tenor and Baritone,' and Messrs. Chapman and Hale, contributed songs. Mr. A. S. Gorman, A.R.C.O., was at the piano. No such gathering would, of course, be complete without the hand-bells, and the company were delighted with the tune ringing of Messrs. Walker, Miller and Hunt, and a course of Stedman Cinques rung by Messrs. Russam, Walker, Groves, Swann, Smallwood and Morris.

The printed programme will be cherished by those who were present as a charming souvenir of the evening, for it contained a portrait of Henry Johnson and a wonderful collection of most apt quotations, both in the menu and toast list, which Mr. Secretary Smith must have spent a vast amount of time in getting together.

When the cloth had been cleared, the Chairman gave the toast of 'The King,' which was enthusiastically honoured.

Apologies for absence were announced from the Bishop of Birmingham, the Dean of Norwich, Mr. A. Hughes, Mr. F. E. Dawe and Mr. J. Jagger.

CHANGING TIMES.

Sir Edward Malins proposed 'Church and State,' and referred to the times of anxiety and perplexity through which the nation and the Church had recently passed, and to the changes which were taking place. They looked forward with hope that as a result of these changes good would prevail, and that all that was low and degrading would become a thing of the past. Not since the time of Henry VIII. had there been such changes in the Church as they were now passing through. The State had set up a National Assembly, with wide discretionary powers, for the control of the Church. Among the chief of these had been the setting up of Parochial Councils, which would have control over the affairs of the churches in a democratic degree undreamt of in the past. To these changes they would have to accommodate themselves, and they must take advantage of them as they were presented to them. Sir Edward spoke of some of the difficulties yet to be solved, and concluded by referring to the alliance between the Church and State, a union which had given the nation strength, and which had brought divine guidance into their national as well as into their personal life.

The Chairman, whose name was coupled with the toast, first touched upon the splendid opportunities which lay before the men and women of to-day, and went on to express his gratitude to St. Martin's Guild for once again inviting him to preside over that gathering. There was, he added, a sort of propriety about it, because, while they as bell ringers spoke that marvellous language of which he was so woefully ignorant, he was supreme in the belfry. He had absolute control of the belfry and all the people therein. He could if he chose, sit in the belfry, lock the door and stay there all by himself (laughter), and if he liked, shake his fist at any churchwarden who desired to come in (laughter). He had supreme right over the belfry, the bells and the bell ropes, and, if he chose to ring all the bells himself, he could do so (laughter). That was really the legal position, and they might yet see the spectacle of the Rector in St. Martin's belfry threatening the churchwardens (laughter). He was not sure there might not be reprisals, and he expected it would take the form of the churchwardens locking up every pew in the church when the Rector was going to preach. They could not lock the church door, but if he (the Rector) asserted his independence in the belfry, his churchwardens could lock up the pews. This locking of the pews was once carried out at a Cambridge Church, where a famous preacher and his churchwardens were unable to agree, and for eleven years they had the extraordinary spectacle of this truly great man preaching in a church in which there was not a single person in the pews, and not a single inch of the remainder of the church which was not occupied by those who desired to hear him. The Rector went on to say he always felt there was a very real link between the clergy and the bell ringers. While they in Birmingham had one of the best peals of bells in the country, he was sure they had quite the best bell ringers (applause). They had a noble church, a noble peal of bells, and some truly dear friends to ring them (applause).

THE VIRTUE OF TRUSTWORTHINESS.

Mr. A. E. Parsons submitted the toast of the evening, 'The Memory of the late Henry Johnson.' They had met again, he said, to pay a silent tribute to and to honour the memory of Henry Johnson. For more than 30 years honoured members of the Exercise had on similar occasions given personal testimony to the many sterling qualities and virtues which Mr. Henry Johnson possessed, as well as to his wonderful gifts as a composer and a ringer. Very much had been said; in fact, it would almost seem that the mention of his name for 30 years or more would create an atmosphere of monotony in the programme! But was that the case? He thought not. Rather was the mention of his name as a refreshing breeze to them on a hot summer's day. They were always enthusiastic when they heard his name mentioned, and thought of what he had been and what he had done for bell ringing and bell ringers. He (the speaker) could not attempt to add anything to what had already been said on those occasions, but would content himself with recalling one of Henry Johnson's many virtues, and that was his trustworthiness. Birmingham was regarded as the home and nursery of Stedman; certainly that was so from the commencement of the 19th century. In those early days such men as Lales, Cooper, Day and Thurstans, together with Hudson, of Sheffield, and Tobbs, of Leeds, were striving to bring into form and symmetry the method of Stedman Triples, so that some standard form of composition might be set up. From about 1828 to 1846 there was a spirit of rivalry among these men, and it was on the 18th of May in the latter year that Henry Johnson conducted for the first time on St. Martin's bells Thurstans' four-part peal of Stedman Triples as they had it to-day. That composition was in possession of Henry Johnson for months before he called it, and when they remembered the keenness and rivalry that existed, when they recollected that at any time one of these other composers might have produced the very peal which was in Johnson's possession, it showed what implicit confidence and trust Thurstans placed in Henry Johnson. For this one virtue alone he deserved that his memory should be honoured. Let them think of all that he had done for their art, endeavour to emulate his character, and, so far as they were gifted, follow in his footsteps.

The company stood a few moments in silence to honour the toast, and by a show of hands it was ascertained that there were 21 ringers present who had personally known Mr. Johnson.

ALDERMAN PRITCHETT'S REVIEW.

Alderman Pritchett then submitted 'Continued Prosperity to the St. Martin's Guild,' and gave a review of the year. Since their last meeting, he said, they had lost, by death, their old friend, William Carrod, of Bishop Ryders, an old member and keen supporter of the Guild. He was happy to say a muffled peal was rung to his memory, and no one's memory better deserved a muffled peal. Mr. J. Corrigan, after bravely serving his country throughout the war and losing an eye, came home to meet his death by accident. In him they had lost a very good ringer and excellent striker. Albert Little, of Wolverhampton, was another who had gone from them, and, although he was not a member of the Guild, he felt he must refer to the death of Mr. John Smith, of Netherton, who was for many years hon. secretary of the Worcestershire Association. He was an excellent secretary, and an excellent ringer. He (the speaker) had rung many peals with him, and there was one he would like to mention, a peal of Treble Ten at Dudley 20 or 25 years ago. It so happened that Mr. Smith was conducting and Mr. John Carter was ringing the 2nd, and the 2nd had lost its clapper. The bell was voiceless throughout the peal, but the amusing thing was that, while they were ringing, John Smith shouted to John Carter, 'Strike your bell a little closer' (laughter). However, they got through the peal all right, and it was duly recorded in the peal book of the association. Another dear old friend that he, for one, would greatly miss, and at whose expense he had made many feeble jokes, was Mr. Jimmy Jones. They would remember how he used to twit him about his family of 13 children and 47 grandchildren who used to gather round his table at Christmas time in a room 12ft. square and drink his health with musical honours (laughter). But he was a good man, whom they all liked. He was rough and uneducated in a way, but he was one of England's best, a good ringer, an honest and faithful servant of the firm for whom he worked so many years. He was a man always ready and willing to do what he could to help ringers and to promote the art of ringing. They respected his memory.

THE ORIGIN OF THE JOHNSON DINNER.

Proceeding, Alderman Pritchett congratulated those 21 ringers present who knew Henry Johnson, and who were privileged to live to that day, and to share in the hope expressed by the Chairman that they might all meet again on another anniversary. Most of their vice-presidents were there, but Mr. Godden was unfortunately absent, for the second time only since those dinners were inaugurated over thirty years ago. He was indisposed, but not seriously, and they wished him a speedy recovery. Of those who were present, he must refer first to John Buffery, the 'father' of the Guild. He had been a member of the Guild longer than anyone else living, and forty years ago took part in the famous peal of 9238 Stedman Cinques, with Henry Johnson. He ran the 8th in that peal, and he did not seem to get much older. They congratulated him upon his long life, his good health, and upon his services to the cause of change ringing. He had also to congratulate that veteran, Mr. William Rock Small, upon his presence. As they knew, he celebrated his 81st birthday the other day, and in a letter which he had received from him he spoke of that as probably the last time he would be amongst them. But Mr. Small was always somewhat of a pessimist, and he (the speaker) hoped that prophecy would be falsified, and that Mr. Small would be with them on similar occasions for many more years yet (applause). Mr. Small mentioned in his letter something in which he was sure that gathering would be interested, namely, that he took part in the peal that was the origin of the Johnson Dinner. On Feb. 28th, 1882, at Birmingham, St. Martin's Guild rang a peal of Stedman Cinques (5014 changes), at St. Martin's Church, composed by Henry Johnson, and conducted by Charles Hattersley. Of the ringers in that peal there were fortunately three survivors, Mr. Rock Small, Mr. Buffery and Mr. Henry Johnson, junr. After the peal there was a supper at the Dog and Partridge. He (Ald. Pritchett) had no doubt it was an enjoyable supper, as enjoyable in its way as that gathering had been. According to Mr. Small, it was the foundation and origin of that annual dinner. Great things grew out of small ones, and that supper of twelve ringers and a few friends had now grown into a banquet of 180 ringers, not only from Birmingham, but from all parts of England (applause).

STEADY PROGRESS.

Alderman Pritchett went on to say he was happy to note that St. Martin's Guild was making steady progress. The members were turning up to practice in increasing numbers. There had not been any notable peals rung during the year, except, perhaps, the handbell peal of Stedman Cinques rung by members of the Guild who were also College Youths, and he understood that that was a sort of acknowledgment of the very handsome present of a peal of handbells which was received from Mr. Hughes, of the College Youths. He would also like to mention that the other day a course of Cambridge Surprise Maximus was rung on St. Martin's bells, and he would like to suggest that the third Tuesday in every month should be set apart for ringing in the higher methods such as this. He hoped those who went to ring the ordinary methods would not object, but would be sufficiently self-denying in order that the Guild might sometimes deviate from the ordinary run of Stedman and ring higher methods. He hoped the suggestion would be taken in good part and favourably considered at the next meeting of the society. Alderman Pritchett went on to say that during the year there had been a change in the deputy mastership, Mr. Walker having taken the place of Mr. Groves. They were greatly indebted to Mr. Groves for his services extending over ten years, and so far as he was concerned it was a case of 'how happy could he be with either.' Two more excellent deputies it was impossible to imagine, and they were working together with the same brotherly feeling of concord and harmony as they did when their places were reversed (applause). Alderman Pritchett coupled with the toast the name of the Hon. Secretary, Mr. Paddon Smith, than whom he said, they could not possibly have a better secretary (applause). What a labour it was to organise that gathering. No-one had done it but Mr. Godden and Mr. Smith, and they alone knew what it meant. He did not know how many hundreds of letters Mr. Smith had to write and the troubles and disappointments he had to put up with, but the result was always perfection. Nothing could be more perfect than that menu and toast list with its mottoes. How on earth Mr

Smith found a fresh set every year, and each set more excellent than the previous one, he (the speaker) could not imagine (applause). It always gave them pleasure to drink to that toast, but that pleasure was increased by being able to couple with it the toast of the health of their most excellent secretary (applause).

The other toasts were 'Kindred Ringing Societies,' 'The Ringing World,' and 'The Chairman,' and a report of the speeches will be given in our next issue.

A NEW SOCIETY FORMED FOR DONCASTER AND DISTRICT.

A meeting of Doncaster and District ringers took place on Saturday, February 28th, at St. George's, Doncaster, the towers represented being Doncaster, Arksey, Sprothorough, Conisbrough, Adwick-le-Street, Tickhill, Thorne and Haxey.

After a few short touches in various methods had been rung, Mr. Woodhouse, of Arksey, presided over the meeting, the object of which was to form a Doncaster and District Society of Change Ringers. — The Chairman said the object of the society, if formed, would be the federation of isolated bands of ringers, and the encouragement of the art of scientific change ringing by frequent meetings for combined practice. He said there were plenty of nice peals of bells in the district, and it was a pity that more change ringing was not done on them.

Mr. Halksworth (Doncaster) expressed pleasure at seeing such a representative gathering of ringers of the district. There were three of four district societies in South Yorkshire, the nearest, best and oldest being the Sheffield and District, and Doncaster was included in its area. But with railway fares what they were very few members went to their meetings from the Doncaster district, and to overcome this difficulty he thought the best plan would be to form a Doncaster and District Society.

Mr. Holmes (Doncaster) proposed that a society be formed, and said it would supply a long-felt want. — Mr. G. Clark, Arksey, seconded, and the resolution was carried unanimously.

The following officers were then elected: Secretary, Mr. Harold Walker; treasurer, Mr. Woodhouse; Ringing Master, Mr. G. Clark.

It is proposed to ask the Ven. Archdeacon Sandford to be president. The next meeting will be held at Sprothorough on March 19th.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD. STOCKPORT BRANCH ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting, held at St. Mary's, Stockport, on Saturday, Feb. 19th, was very well attended, between sixty and seventy members and friends being present. The bells, a peal of ten, were employed in the afternoon and evening in touches of Caters, Major and Triples.

The Guild form of service was conducted in the church by the Rector (the Rev. C. A. Calthrop), a splendid address being given by the hon. secretary (the Rev. A. T. Beeton). Tea was served in the Schoolroom, followed by the business meeting, with the Rector in the chair.—The Hon. Secretary read his report, which showed a steady progress. Five peals had been rung, viz., three of Major and two of Minor. Reference was made to the good progress made by the Denton and Norbury towers, and it was hoped this would be an incentive to others in the matter of method ringing. Five meetings had been held during the past year, with an average attendance of fifty-five; 197 members were on the roll, and the credit balance of £8 was very encouraging.—The report was unanimously adopted, and thanks accorded to the hon. secretary for his trouble.

The printing and publishing of an annual report and balance sheet had been discontinued since 1915, and the question was raised whether the practice should be recommenced. Though the proposal received favour, yet the probable cost led to the matter being deferred until the next meeting.

All the retiring officers were re-elected, with the exception of the chairman (the Rev. F. C. L. Hamilton), who had expressed his wish to resign on account of increased parochial responsibilities. He had occupied the office since 1904. Mr. J. H. Jackson, of Disley, was unanimously elected in his stead.—The Rector then vacated the chair, and called upon the new chairman to take charge of the proceedings.

Mobberley was fixed as the place for the next meeting, to be held on Saturday, May 7th, 1921.

The Hon. Secretary made a strong appeal for a greater practical interest in 'The Ringing World.' Many others spoke in support of this, and it was hoped ere long the ringers' paper would be one to be proud of.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Rector for permitting the meeting to be held, for the use of the bells, and for his services, and to all those who assisted in making the proceedings run so smoothly.

Ringing was again resumed, but not for long, on account of the close proximity of the market, and Saturday is market day.

A Page for Sunday Service Ringers.

It is gratifying to find how this page for Sunday Service Ringers has been welcomed. Letters expressing appreciation of the introduction of this feature have reached us from many parts of the country, and we hope it will prove what we are setting out to make it—interesting and useful. It is the first time in ringing journalism that special provision has been made for Sunday Service ringers, who, after all, form the vast majority of the Exercise, and whose work, as we said last week, is the most important part of ringing.

It was unfortunate that of the touches we gave last week two should be false, but happily, in short lengths, little harm is done even if they have been rung. Shipway's 1064 of Grandsire Triples runs false at the handstroke of the half-way single with the handstroke of part end 54256, as, of course, does the handstroke of the last single with that of the corresponding lead in the second half. The touch runs out true without the extra single at 546. Curious it is that Snowdon should have overlooked this when he reproduced this touch from Shipway. The 976 of Double Norwich is also false. There is a flaw that we ought to have noticed, and we hear that the composer passed a very uncomfortable week-end. But he will be forgiven, as we hope we may be for publishing it. This week's touches should be vouched for by the names beneath them, and should be useful.

THE MINISTRY OF THE WORD.

CANON COLERIDGE ON THE LESSONS OF WORLD SERVICE EXHIBITION.

Returning from a great World Service Exhibition in a neighbouring town, many thoughts kept surging up, as we contemplated the labour and organisation needed to bring such a stupendous effort to completion. It was a call to every man to realise that no matter in how humble a position he might be, he was a part of the great human family, dependent upon others for his daily bread and sustenance, and bound to learn how he may best live—not for selfish ends, but for the good of the whole community.

Representing the 'Heavenly Jerusalem,' we were taught by what we saw and heard in its streets and courts, of the need for service in all its varied aspects, in the ministry of the word, in education, in the alleviation of suffering, in industry, in social welfare, etc.

In the very centre of the Court devoted to 'The Ministry of the Word,' hung a church bell, complete with all fittings. It was a happy thought which placed it there. It taught visitors, day after day, in their thousands, that the Ministry of the Word was exercised not merely by human voice, but also by the voice of our church bells. What a responsibility, then, rests on all who ring them. If the parish priest in the pulpit be a Minister of the Word, so, too, is the ringer in the tower. He causes the same message to go forth with a louder, and it may be, a more insistent and effective voice.

Ringers: 'Walk worthy of your vocation.' Doing your service, Sunday by Sunday, heartily as unto the Lord, you are fulfilling His purpose—you are taking your true parts in 'The Ministry of the Word.'

G. F. COLERIDGE.

HEREFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

The Northern District held a quarterly meeting at Knebworth on Saturday, 5th February. Ringers assembled from Royston, Barley, Woburn Sands, Hitchin, and the local tower.—The Rector conducted a service, and gave a most interesting address, reminding bell ringers that they as churchworkers called the devout to church, and that it was not their own efforts alone that produced all this, but God working in them, in the same way as Christ worked in the lad when he gave up his only meal containing two barley loaves and two small fishes to feed the multitude.

Tea was provided in the hall by the Rector, followed by the meeting, over which the Rector presided.—Three new life members were elected, and the Rector was elected an honorary member.

It was decided to hold the next quarterly meeting at Barkway, in May.—Reference was made to the announcement that the National Assembly had decided that the Church Councils were not to have the power granted them to appoint or dismiss bell ringers.—This met with hearty approval, and a vote of thanks was passed to the President of the Central Council and to Canon Baker for the valuable assistance rendered to the Exercise at large.

The Secretary referred those present to 'The Ringing World,' the only newspaper devoted to the Exercise. Through the expense of production it had become impossible for the proprietors to continue the paper at 2d., and they asked 3d. a copy, promising an enlarged paper with much wider scope to enable attention being given to a variety of subjects. The speaker pleaded for those who now take the paper to kindly continue to do so, and those who do not take it, so as, for the sake of a few coppers, not to let the paper die out.—A vote of thanks to the Rector for taking the service, also for the tea, together with Mrs. Rainey and her band of helpers who so admirably catered, terminated the meeting.

BARNSELY AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

The monthly meeting was held at Ponistone, on Feb. 12th. The visitors included Mr. W. Haigh (Worksop) and Mr. E. Fowler (Anston), while members were present from Barnsley, Crofton, Darfield, Wath, Hoylandswaine, Wortley and Felkirk. After ringing in the afternoon, a short meeting was held in the belfry, at which Mr Charles Fowler, of Anston, and Mr. Rowland Grimes, Felkirk, were elected members of the association.—A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells. Ringing was then resumed and continued to 9.15 p.m., making a popular meeting, which was highly appreciated by all concerned.

CAERPHILLY, GLAM.—Llandaff Association.—On Tuesday, Feb. 22nd, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1260 changes), in 46 mins.: E. Dare 1, W. Pike 2, D. Stephens 3, F. Boucher 4, A. Addicott 5, G. Cooke 6, H. Broughton (conductor) 7, T. Love 8. Rung with the bells half-muffled as a tribute to the late Capt. Sawyer, R.N., who was interred at St. Martin's Churchyard on Feb. 21st.

CHARLES CHURCH, PLYMOUTH.—Devonshire Guild.—On Monday, Feb. 21st, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: C. G. W. A. Cooke, R.N., 1, W. Randle (conductor) 2, Major C. F. Jerram, D.S.O., R.M.L.I., 3, W. CENTRAL COUNCIL ELECTIONS.

The approach of Easter and the notification of numerous meetings is a reminder that Easter Monday and the succeeding weeks up to Whitsun bring with them the majority of the annual gatherings of the various county and diocesan associations. There is always special interest in these general meetings, and this year there is the promise of them being more successful than ever, for most of the ringing organisations have got back to something like pre-war level with the added zest which has come through the interregnum forced by the war. This year, too, the triennial elections of representatives upon the Central Council take place, and we hope to see some keen competition for the seats which are vacant. In some associations in the past sufficient importance has not been attached to representation upon the Council; but apart, perhaps, from the office of President or Master, election to the Central Council ought to be looked upon as the highest honour that a society can confer on a member, for, as we have so many times pointed out, the Council can, if its members are so minded, do much for the benefit of the Exercise. Some of the apathy which has stolen over the central body in the past may be traced to a half-hearted representation in some quarters, which has resulted in elected members failing to show initiative in bringing forward topics for discussion, and even to attend at all.

It should be the duty of every association to elect upon the Council the very ablest of its members—men who are capable not only of enjoying the pleasant reunion which the annual meeting provides, but of bringing ideas and practical suggestions into the work of the Council. The Exercise must have a central body to co-ordinate its affairs, but that body must be a capable one, and it rests with the associations to make it so. Until that responsibility is fully realised the Council cannot be expected to reach its highest utility, and associations ought not to complain that the Council is wanting in performance if they in the first place fail to elect upon it their best men. Further than this, the Council could be made a far more useful body if the associations were to send up to them for discussion subjects of general interest to the Exercise. Very rare, indeed, is it that proposals for the consideration of the Council are sent up from outside, as those who elect representatives leave everything to emanate from inside. One has only to refer to the great Friendly Societies' methods of providing business for their annual conferences to obtain an admirable plan upon which to work, and the various ringing organisations would find that the Central Council could be made a much more useful body if they themselves provided work for the Council and sent their best men to carry it out.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting of the Tonbridge District was held at Sevenoaks on Saturday, Feb. 5th, and was attended by upwards of 50 ringers, including several members of the Lewisham District. The methods rung ranged from Grandsire to Superlative. At the usual service the association's form was used. The prayers were read by the Rev. Knight (curate), and the Rev. Harrison (who is temporarily in charge of the parish) gave an excellent address. After tea, at the Lime Tree Hotel, the business meeting was held in the Parish Room, and in the unavoidable absence of the Rev. Harrison, the Rev. F. L. Schrieber (Vicar of Shipbourne) was voted to the chair.

The District Secretary (Mr. W. Latter) read his annual report, which showed that in point of numbers the district was in a flourishing condition; in fact, nearly up to the highest mark ever reached in pre-war years. Forty-five new members had been elected, including a new band at Staplehurst, which had been reorganised, and had been receiving instruction in change ringing. Three new hon. members were elected during the year, and the District Secretary appealed to the members to do their utmost to obtain more hon. members. Four district meetings were held at Tunbridge Wells, Edenbridge, East Peckham and Staplehurst, and were all well attended. At the three last-named places the members were kindly entertained to tea by the Revs. F. W. Edwards, C. E. Ryley and C. W. Bourne respectively.—The District Secretary made an earnest appeal to the members for subscriptions to the Association War Memorial, remarking that during the past year he had not received anything for this fund from the hands, and suggested that the local secretaries should make a collection in the various towers as soon as possible, so that the committee could decide on a fitting memorial to the sixty members who had made the supreme sacrifice. He also strongly appealed for increased support for 'The Ringing World,' remarking that it would be little short of a calamity to ringers if the paper ceased, as it was the only journal devoted entirely to ringers and ringing.

Mr. W. Latter was unanimously re-elected to the office of district secretary; Mr. G. Edwards (Penshurst) was re-elected district representative; and Mr. F. White (Tunbridge Wells) was also elected a member of the Central Committee.

It was decided that meetings should be held in the coming year at Hadlow, Hawkhurst, Penshurst and Tonbridge.—Votes of thanks were passed to the Rev. F. L. Schrieber for presiding, to the Rev. Harrison for the use of the bells and for his excellent address, to the Rev. Knight and Mr. Soyer (organist) and the vergier for their assistance at the service.

The District Secretary proposed that a special vote of thanks be accorded to Mr. H. J. Ford, the local secretary, for making arrangements for the meeting, and also for his perseverance in obtaining consent to hold a meeting at Sevenoaks. The tower had been closed to the association for some reason, and it was entirely due to Mr. Ford's efforts that these restrictions had been removed.—The motion was carried.

Mr. Ford, in replying, said that he was fully repaid for any trouble he had taken by having such a splendid meeting. He hoped they would have another meeting at Sevenoaks before long.

CUMBERLAND ASSOCIATION.

The quarterly meeting of the Cumberland Association was held at Aspatria on Saturday, Feb. 19th, when about 25 members were present from Aspatria, Bridekirk, Cockermouth, Carlisle, Hensingham, and Egremont.—The meeting was presided over by Mr. A. W. Brighton, of London, who was supported by the hon. secretary (Mr. J. J. Wallis), of Carlisle.

The arrangements were completed for the contest, which is to be held on Easter Monday at Hensingham, when Mr. J. H. Banks, of Manchester, will be the adjudicator.

It was also decided that in future notices of meetings would be advertised through 'The Ringing World,' and it was recommended that at least one copy should be taken by each belfry.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and to Mr. Brighton for presiding.

A vote of sympathy was passed to the relatives of Mr. J. Newton, who was interred the previous day. Mr. Newton was a very old ringer, and had been connected with the association for over 25 years.

After the meeting, ringing took place at St. Kentigern's, the bells being muffled, as a token of respect to Mr. Newton. Some very good practice was had, however, in Bob Major and Minor, Kent Treble Bob Major and Minor, and Grandsire Triples, Mr. Brighton taking a rope in the latter. Some had their first courses of Kent and Bob Major. The conducting was shared by Messrs. Wallis and W. T. Holmes.

SALOP ARCHIDIACONAL GUILD.

On Saturday week, a meeting was held at Bicton, when a beautiful day brought together a good attendance from several towers. Good practice was secured in a number of methods, and afterwards tea was provided at the Temperance Hotel. At the meeting which followed, it was decided to hold the next gathering at Wroxeter. Amongst the methods rung after tea were Oxford Treble Bob, Double Court, Kent Treble Bob and Stedman, and the proceedings concluded with 720 Grandsire Triples on handbells by four distinguished members of the Guild.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

A very successful meeting of the Northern Division of the Essex Association was held at Kelvedon on February 26th, when upwards of 50 members were present. A short service was held in the Parish Church, the Rev. E. F. Hay officiating. An excellent address was given by Canon Russell, of Dedham.

The tea and meeting followed in the Infant Schoolroom. Mr. C. H. Howard (Master of the Association) presided, supported by the Rev. H. T. W. Dyre (hon. secretary), and Mr. B. Itedgwell (hon. district secretary).—Fifteen new members were elected.

A vote of condolence was passed with the District Master on the death of his father.

The Hon. Secretary thanked the Vicar for his generosity in providing the bountiful tea, and for his hearty welcome to the Association.—The Master complimented the Vicar and his bell warden, Mr. W. T. Elliott, upon the rehangings of the noble and melodious ring of six, which are now in excellent ringing order. The work has been carried out very successfully by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.

It was decided to hold meetings at Stebbing, in April, and at Earl's Colne in June.

Touches of Minor in Surprise and other methods were rung, and some ringers who went to Coggeshall brought round touches on the excellent ring of eight in that tower.

SOUTH-EASTERN DIVISION.

The quarterly meeting of the South-Eastern Division was held at Galleywood on Saturday last. The bells were kept going throughout the afternoon and evening in various methods, including Double Norwich. Service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. J. H. Keen) Tea was afterwards served at the Bear Hotel, followed by the business meeting, the Rector presiding.

The Rector and Mr. J. O. Thomson (Mayor of Chelmsford) were elected honorary members. Messrs. F. Rainbird, E. Rajobird and F. Wyatt, of Bentley, and Messrs. Harrington and Wright, of Fryerning, were elected members, and Messrs. F. Lodge (Galleywood), F. Smith (Broomfield) and S. E. Edwards (Boreham), were elected probationary members.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at South Wold, or failing that at Shenfield, in May.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Rector for the use of the bells. About 30 members were present, representing Boreham, Broomfield, Bentley, Chelmsford, Maldon, Springfield, Writtle, and the local company.

DEATH OF A PONTEFRACT RINGER.

The death took place, at a Leeds nursing home, on Feb. 23rd, of Mr. Thomas M. Barker, the popular conductor of the All Saints' company, Pontefract. The deceased had been ill about a fortnight, but it was not realised that anything very serious was the matter with him until Monday, the 21st, and, a specialist being called in, he was taken to Leeds for an immediate operation, which was performed on the 22nd, but despite all efforts Mr. Barker passed away late the following night. He was 36 years of age, and leaves a widow and one child.

Deceased had been connected with All Saints' tower, where he learnt to ring, for over 21 years, and joined the Yorkshire Association in 1900, being on the committee for the Eastern Division, and, until recently, Ringing Master. He had rung 45 peals, a good number of which were Stedman Triples, in which he was a capable conductor. He was also churchwarden at the time of his death, and had held office as sidesman for a number of years. He was also a keen C.E.M.S. man; indeed it is safe to say there was no movement afoot for the church's welfare but had an enthusiastic supporter in Mr. Barker.

His remains were laid to rest on Monday, Feb. 28th, the first part of the service being held at the church, which was filled to overflowing with relatives and sympathisers anxious to pay a last tribute. Ringers were present from Leeds, Horbury, York and Selby, in addition to the local men. A 504 of Stedman was rung, muffled, on All Saints' bells as the cortege was approaching the church, and a course of Grandsire Caters was rung on the handbells at the grave-side, after the committal service, by W. Pearson, P. J. Johnson, J. H. Lenton, J. Carter and H. Walters.

The bells of the Parish Church, where the deceased was a welcome and frequent visitor, were also rung, muffled, after the interment, most of the visitors taking part. The clergy officiating were the Vicar, the Rev. A. G. Shipley, the Rev. T. H. V. Hartley, curate, and the Rev. Canon Hore, of York, a former Vicar of All Saints', and among the wreaths was one, in form of a bell, from 'his brother Ringers.'

In course of his sermon on the following Sunday evening, the Vicar (the Rev. A. G. Shipley), who was much moved, as were also many of the congregation, said they mourned the loss of a true friend. The belfry knew him, the church knew him, the communion table knew him. He was ever ready to answer the call of duty, and he would be sorely missed at that church—the church for which he had a great affection.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Ancient rivalries which existed among ringers nearly 200 years ago are recalled by anniversaries which fall in next week. The London Scholars, who, in the early eighteenth century must have been a very capable society, rang the first peal of Grandsire Cinques on the bells of St. Martin's-in-the-Fields on March 14th, 1727. This was 6006.

On the following day the College Youths, who, it is surmised, had been kept out of the tower until the London Scholars had rung the first peal on the bells, rang a longer peal in the same method, viz., 6314, which was conducted by Annable. Robert Catlin, London's leading bell founder of that day, also took part in the peal. In each of the peals mentioned two men rang the tenor.

The first peal by the Eastern Scholars, an old London Society, whose peal book is in the British Museum, was rung on March 13th, 1733. This was '5040 Grandsire Tribbles' at St. Dunstan's-in-the-East.

The anniversary of a more recent 'first peal' occurs next Thursday, for it was on March 17th, thirty years ago, that the first peal of Duffield Maximus was rung. This was at St. Martin's, Birmingham.

A meeting at Knebworth was reported in our last issue under the heading of the Hereford Association. It should, of course, have been the Hertford County Association.

The first peal rung by the College Youths on the bells at Willesden is particularly interesting from the fact that the Ancient Society opened the bells as a peal of six, 130 years ago. Incidentally it was the 100th tower in which Mr. John Thomas had rung a peal.

It is difficult to know at what age a child can learn to ring. We have marvelled from time to time at the precocity of some of the young folks, but Mr. P. Laffin's little son must be nearly the juvenile limit. Reared in the atmosphere of Birmingham ringing, this lad, who is now only eight years of age, could ring 5-6 to Plain Bob and Treble Bob on handbells when only seven.

At the ages of 10 and 12 years respectively, E. Rainbird and F. Rainbird, of Bentley, who were elected members of the Galleywood meeting of the Essex Association on Saturday, can both ring a six-score on an inside bell. They are believed to be the youngest members in the Essex Association, and great credit is due to them.

Mr. H. Middleton, of Norton, near Evesham, is lying in Evesham Cottage Hospital, having recently undergone an operation for an internal complaint. We are glad to say he is going on as satisfactorily as can be expected. Mr. Middleton was a member of the band who rang the record peal of 11,111 Stedman Cinques, at St. Martin's, Birmingham, and his many friends will wish him a speedy recovery.

C. J. Matthews, son of the Master of the Cumberlands, rang a peal of Stedman Cinques on Saturday at his first attempt. This is only his second peal on tower bells, his first having been Treble Twelve. Another unique performance by the coming generation of London ringers.

At Ipswich, where the first peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus was rung, another peal in the same method was scored last Saturday, with the bells muffled in memory of the late Bishop of St. Edmundsbury and Ipswich.

'It is never too late to mend,' is the motto of the Windsor Parish Church band. After 120 years of call changes by local ringers, the present company have introduced change ringing, and last Sunday scored their first quarter-peal. It is good to hear of this progress in the Royal and Ancient Borough.

Mr. R. J. Wilkins, of Bristol, continues slowly to improve.

Mr. Cornelius Charge, of Fulham, whose name is well known as a composer, left England for Greyling, New Zealand, yesterday. The good wishes of the Exercise will go with him.

After 17 years' service as hon. secretary of the Furness and Lake District Branch of the Lancashire Association, Mr. W. Robinson has resigned office.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

FURNESS AND LAKE DISTRICT BRANCH.

The half-yearly meeting was held at Silverdale on Saturday last, but there was a very poor attendance, only three towers being represented, viz., Barrow, Broughton and Dalton. Two 720's of Bob Minor and touches of Bob Minor and Treble Bob were rung during the afternoon. Tea was provided at the Ambrose Restaurant, where the meeting was presided over by Mr. Burrows.—Kirkby was selected for a ringing meeting in June, and Hawkshead for the half-yearly meeting in September.

Mr. W. Robinson, the hon. secretary, tendered his resignation, which was received with sincere regret, for he has carried out the duties most successfully since the branch was formed 17 years ago.—Mr. W. T. Clark, Broughton-in-Furness, was appointed secretary until the next half-yearly meeting.

A hearty vote of thanks was given to the donors of the tea, and to the Vicar for his kind permission to ring. The Broughton and Ambleside ringers had to leave by an early train, and ringing was afterwards curtailed, owing to a request from the school room adjoining the church, where a concert was in progress.

BEDWELLY BELLS.

ANOTHER OCTAVE FOR MONMOUTHSHIRE.

The towers of Llandaff Diocese are being gradually enriched by the addition of new bells, and another octave was completed on Thursday of last week, when two new trebles were dedicated at the Parish Church of St. Sannan, Bedwelly, Monmouthshire. The old ring of six, with a tenor of about 15 cwt., has been rehung in entirely new fittings, the cost having been defrayed by parishioners and friends. The new bells are the gift of Mr. Christopher Pond, of Blackwood, and a marble tablet erected in the tower wall in the church, records this munificent act in the following words: 'The two treble bells in this tower were given by Christopher Pond, to the Glory of God and to complete the octave, the first treble in loving memory of his beloved wife, C. J. Pond, A.D. 1920. R. W. Roberts, Rector and Rural Dean; E. Edwards, P. L. Lloyd, Churchwardens.'

The work has been carried out by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, with characteristic excellence, the 'splice' being pronounced by all who have heard the bells as remarkably fine, while the 'go' of the whole peal is perfect.

The dedication was performed by the Archdeacon of Monmouth, in the presence of a crowded congregation, the parishioners having shown the utmost interest in the restoration of their bells. The ringing was carried out by a selected band of the association, and the brief opening touch rung in the course of the ceremony was followed later by touches in the four standard methods.

LINK WITH 18th CENTURY RINGERS.

The funeral of Mr. John Heathorn, whose death has been recorded in 'The Ringing World,' took place at Guildford on Feb. 22nd, in the presence of a large gathering. In addition to the family mourners there were present representatives of the Winchester Diocesan Guild and of the Governors of the Hospital of the Blessed Trinity, of which institution Mr. Heathorn had been a brother from 1897 until his death. He was also a member of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths.

The first part of the burial service took place in Holy Trinity Church, and the final offices at the graveside were taken by the Rev. J. C. Sharp. Immediately after the Blessing four ringers stepped forward, and with handbells, gave the ringers' beautiful and moving farewell, a course of Grandsire, perfectly rung. Later, at St. Nicolas' Church, where Mr. Heathorn did most of his ringing, a half-muffled quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters were rung by: E. Etheridge 1, T. W. Radford 2, C. Hazelden 3, G. Nicholls 4, A. H. Pulling (conductor) 5, E. Raddon 6, G. Tomsett 7, W. W. Thorne 8, S. Radford 9, E. G. Death 10.

To say that the death of Mr. Heathorn removes from our midst the last living link with the old school of ringers who rang in Guildford and Godalming in the 18th century, may appear an extravagant use of language, yet so great was Mr. Heathorn's age, that he actually did know many of them personally. It was wonderfully interesting to hear the old gentleman converse, as he sometimes would, of men whose names now live only in peal records. It was one of the tragedies of Mr. Heathorn's early life as a ringer that, clever as the old ringers were, they did not pass on their skill to others, with the result that for 80 years there was very little change ringing in Guildford, and Mr. John Heathorn did not get a chance as a change ringer until 1885, when he rang his first peal, well past the prime of his life.

PRESENTATION TO JOHN CARTER.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD'S RECOGNITION OF HIS SERVICES.

Mr. John Carter, whose name has so long been associated with Birmingham, has taken up his residence in London, and at the Johnson Commemoration Dinner, on Saturday week, opportunity was taken to acknowledge his services to ringing, and to St. Martin's Guild in particular, by the presentation of an illuminated address. The presentation was made by Alderman J. S. Pritchett, Presiding Ringing Master of the Guild, who said that Mr. Carter, having made a fortune with his picture house in the Isle of Man, had migrated to London, and was now living in Park Lane (laughter). The Guild had taken the opportunity of his removal from Birmingham, which, of course, they deeply regretted, to put into writing an expression of their esteem and affection for him, and their sense of the value of his unique services to the art of change ringing. Ald Pritchett then read the address, which was beautifully illuminated and handsomely framed, as follows:—

To JOHN CARTER, Esq.—The members of the St. Martin's Guild of Church Bell Ringers for the Diocese of Birmingham beg you to accept this illuminated address on your departure from the city of your adoption, to take up your residence in London, as a mark of the goodwill and esteem in which you have been held for so many years.

They desire also to express their sincere appreciation of the untiring devotion which you have always shown to the interests of the art of change ringing, and to the prosperity of the Guild and the welfare of its members.

Your departure from their midst is a matter of great regret, but they will ever remember with feelings of gratitude your valued services, and beg to tender you their warmest wishes for your future welfare and happiness.

(Signed) JOHN S. PRITCHETT, Presiding Ringing Master.

ALBERT WALKER, Deputy Ringing Master.

A. PADDON SMITH, Hon. Sec. and Treasurer.

February 26th, 1921.

Ald. Pritchett added that had there been room it would have been signed, he was sure, by hundreds of his fellow-ringers and well-wishers, but they united with those who had signed it in the most sincere expression of their good wishes to Mr. Carter that he would enjoy his mansion for many years, that he would embark in no further speculation with the risk of losing his fortune (laughter and applause), that he would come to see them at least once a year for many years to come, and that he would enjoy good health and great happiness (loud applause).

Mr. Carter, who was taken completely by surprise, thanked the Guild very much for their gift which, he said, it was a great honour to receive. He should do his duty and come to that dinner every year as long as he possibly could (applause).

STILL YOUNG AT 83.

MR. EDWIN HORREX'S BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION.

The veteran of the College Youths, who has just celebrated his 83rd birthday anniversary, does not yet intend to retire from peal ringing. Mr. Horrex, to celebrate the occasion, was anxious to ring another peal of Stedman Cinques, and eleven of his old friends gathered round him at Southwark Cathedral on Saturday last to help him to carry out his 'threat.' Unfortunately, however, a special address in the Cathedral, which had not been advertised, prevented the hand gaining access to the tower until 6.30. By the time the bells were 'up' it was 6.45, and as it would have meant ringing on until about 10.45, if successful, it was decided that this hour was too late to keep bells going, and might result in complaints. A splendidly struck quarter-peal (1323 changes), was, however, rung in 62 minutes, the band standing as follows: Edwin Horrex 1, Richard T. Hibbert 2, William D. Smith 3, Thomas Faulkner 4, Challis F. Winney 5, Herbert Langdon (conductor) 6, Henry G. Miles 7, Albert A. Hughes 8, Thomas Langdon 9, William E. Garrard 10, Charles S. Burden 11, Walter E. Prime 12. The two oldest members of the band, it will be noticed, rang next to each other, viz., on the treble and tenor. Mr. Horrex rang with his usual skill and precision, his striking being an example of what good striking ought to be.

A pleasant hour was afterwards spent in the veteran's company, the band being reinforced by other friends, who all heartily congratulated Mr. Horrex, and wished him 'many happy returns of the day.'

A peal of Stedman Cinques at Southwark is a four hour matter, and it is, therefore, all the more remarkable that a man of 83 years should be strong enough in health to make such an attempt. A start for the peal is to be made to-morrow.

THE JOHNSON DINNER.

THE GUILD AND THE CHURCH OFFICIALS.

In responding to the toast of 'Continued Prosperity to the St. Martin's Guild,' Mr. A. Paddon Smith, the Hon. Secretary, said it was always a very great pleasure to organise that function. There was some trouble in it, but when he looked round that room and saw that the great majority of those present were not entirely miserable (laughter), he felt to some extent rewarded. It was also an agreeable position to be in to be secretary of a Guild like St. Martin's Guild, for they were closely in touch with all the officers and people belonging to the Church, and especially with the man to whom the belfry belonged (applause). They had present that evening, as showing how closely they were in touch with the officials of St. Martin's, the Rector of Birmingham, who was, of course, Rector of St. Martin's, they had both the churchwardens, and they had also members of the choir. The fact that they had business men as churchwardens was, he thought, one reason why they always had such tip-top Rectors at St. Martin's (applause). They had a magnificent ring of bells—perhaps the finest at any Parish Church in England (applause); they had the finest organist and choir in Birmingham, and they had a band of ringers—well, they wanted to see the next lot that could beat them (laughter and applause).

Mr. Albert Walker (Deputy Ringing Master) submitted 'Kindred Ringing Societies,' and extended a hearty greeting to those members of other ringing organisations who were present. He thought it would be a great advantage if they could have more of those dinners, so that they could mix in such a happy way more often (applause). About a dozen kindred societies were represented there that evening, including the Surrey Association, by Mr. Johnson and Mr. Dean; the Lancashire Association, by several members headed by Councillor Trippier, whom they took the opportunity of congratulating upon his attaining to municipal rank; the Worcestershire Association, represented by Mr. Albert Parsons, the Master, who always made the members of St. Martin's Guild so welcome at his house once a year for an annual peal; the Staffordshire Guild, represented by Mr. Herbert Knight, the hon. secretary; the Chester Guild, represented by Mr. Crawley, and two or three others from Crewe; the Midland Counties Association, which was strongly represented; the Lincoln Guild by Mr. Rupert Richardson, the Dudley Guild by Mr. Harry Mason; the Gloucester and Bristol Association by Mr. W. T. Pales, of Cheltenham, and the Ladies' Guild by Miss Pigott (the President), and several other ladies. The Yorkshire Association was represented by Mr. J. Sykes; the Peterborough Association by that talented young lady, Miss Jutson, and her father; the Warwickshire Guild by Mr. Harry Argyle; Mr. Wilkerson, the hon. secretary, and Mr. Chapman; the Central Northants Association by Mr. Fred Wilford. They missed one or two faces, among them Mr. R. J. Wilkins, of Bristol, and also his wife, Mr. Wilkins was in a nursing home, and seriously ill, and they all wished him a speedy recovery (hear, hear). They also missed the presence of representatives of the College Youths and particularly their old friend, Mr. Ted Horrex. They were pleased, continued Mr. Walker, to see representatives of the bell founders with them, and while Mr. Albert Hughes, of the Whitechapel Bell Foundry, regretted he could not be present, they had there that evening Mr. Cyril Johnston, of the Croydon Foundry, and Mr. Pryce Taylor, of the Loughborough Foundry. He could inform these gentlemen that there was any amount of work to be done. For instance, while ringing was in progress at the Cathedral that afternoon the clapper of the tenor came out, so there was some 'soiling and heeling' to be done there (laughter and applause).

Mr. Cyril Johnston, who replied to the toast, said the visitors had all enjoyed their evening very much, and they felt that the St. Martin's Guild Dinner in memory of Henry Johnson was the best 'show' that ringers in this country put up in the year (applause). Mr. Johnston added that he would like to mention as a matter of interest that a few days before he had had a conversation with the King at an industrial exhibition where his firm had an exhibit. The King was specially brought round to look at some bells and a big clock connected with them. The King showed great interest in them, and inquired about the tuning of the bells and many other points in which he appeared to be greatly interested. He (Mr. Johnston) mentioned this, because he knew that ringers were interested in the little things as well as the big ones that happened in the bell world (applause).

A SUGGESTION TO BELL FOUNDERS.

Mr. Paddon Smith proposed the toast of 'The Ringing World,' the importance of which to the Exercise, he said, could not be overstated. Without a journal it would be almost impossible for the associations to carry on, secretaries would find their labours increased to an enormous extent, and ringers would find more than half their interest in ringing gone. It was, therefore, a disgrace that the Editor had been left to carry on the paper without adequate support from the Exercise, and should be called upon to give the labour and maintain the paper at a loss. He sincerely trusted that every ringer would become an individual subscriber, and thus assist in the effort that was being made to make the journal a paying proposition. There was also a suggestion he would like to make to the bell founders and others who relied for the whole or part of their business upon bells. If 'The Ringing World' were to stop, ringing would be so badly hit that, while he would not say the art would die out, much of the interest in it would be lost, and bell founders would find their business seriously declining. It was only by the existence of keen and enthusiastic ringers that bell restorations and augmentations were brought about, and if that keenness and enthusiasm waned it would be a bad thing for the founders. It was, therefore, a matter of vital importance to the founders to see that 'The Ringing World' was continued, and while he knew nothing of what they, as advertisers, were paying for space, he felt that, whatever it was, they should, as a means of assisting to maintain interest in ringing, and thereby increasing their business, double the price they were paying for their advertisements. He put this forward as a suggestion, which he hoped the bell founders would seriously consider (hear, hear).

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith briefly acknowledged the toast, and expressed thanks for the more than cordial welcome which he always received in Birmingham, and for the excellent support which he knew the ringers in that area gave to 'The Ringing World.'

Ald. Pritchett, on behalf of the Guild, most cordially thanked the quartet for their service on that occasion (applause). He knew that the pleasure they all had of listening to the quartet was reciprocated by them, and that they always looked forward to coming. Nevertheless, the members were greatly indebted to them (applause). Proceeding, Ald. Pritchett proposed 'The Health of the Chairman,' and tendered their thanks to Canon Grose Hodge. He mentioned incidentally that the Rector of Birmingham was, in his day, President of the Cambridge Union—a position which many notable men had occupied. And not only had Canon Hodge been president, but his son also had been President of the Union—a record which was seldom equalled (applause). They thanked the Rector for his genial presence, and for the genial manner in which he had conducted the proceedings, and they fervently hoped he would be there to preside over them for many years to come (applause).

The toast was drunk with musical honours, and felicitously acknowledged by the Rector.

This concluded the speeches, and the interesting and enjoyable evening came to a conclusion with the National Anthem.

LADIES' GUILD.

NEW NORTHANTS BRANCH.

The first meeting of the newly-formed Northamptonshire Branch of the Ladies' Guild was held at Irthlingborough on Saturday week, and attended by upwards of 50 ringers, including a goodly number of gentlemen. Owing to the much-regretted illness of the Rev. Walter Frift, the Rector, no service took place, but an excellent tea was partaken of in the Church Schools. The company unanimously accorded hearty thanks to the anonymous donor of the repast, also to Mr. W. Perkins for making all the arrangements.

The Hon. Mrs. Frift presided over the business meeting which followed: Miss C. Heppburn, of Isham (hon. secretary) and other officers also being present. Peterborough, Bedford, Desborough, Geddington and Isham—as well as Irthlingborough—were among the places represented.—Eight new ringing members were elected, namely, the Misses D. and M. Newman, H. and W. Tyler, of Irthlingborough; Miss K. Moore, of Weekley; the Misses P. Hare and A. Parkins, of Peterborough; and Miss L. Law, of Weston Favell.

A vacancy having occurred on the Local Committee, Miss D. Newman was elected. It was agreed to hold the next meeting at Thrapston.

Mrs. Frift was cordially thanked for taking the chair, and the meeting expressed similar gratitude to the ladies who had prepared and served the tea.

During the afternoon and evening various methods were rung on the beautiful peal of eight: Cambridge Surprise Major, Double Norwich, Superlative, Bob Major, Grandsire Triples, Stedman Triples, Kent Treble Bob and Minor.

DEATH OF MR. T. SUART.

The St. Mary's Society, Dalton-in-Furness, have lost one of their oldest members, in Mr. T. Suart, who has been a regular ringer at the Parish Church for 32 years. He was one of the mainstays of the society, and his loss is deplored by all the band. He had rung in nearly all the towers in the Furness district, and also in a few belfries in the south of the county. He was a member of the Lancashire Association for over 30 years, and he had rung over a thousand 720's of Minor in various methods, and many quarter peals of Triples and Major with the writer. The last occasion upon which he rang was on October 10th, 1920, in a 640 of Bob Major. He was taken ill soon after, and passed away on February 14th, at the age of 53 years. The interment took place on the 17th. During the time the cortege was on its way to the church, a 672 Bob Major was rung at the Parish Church, with the bells half-muffled: T. R. Jackson 1, G. Jackson 2, Miss Gilchrist 3, T. Watson 4, J. Huddleston 5, W. H. Dennison 6, J. Usher (St. James', Barrow) 7, J. Burrows (conductor) 8. Previous to ringing a vote of condolence was passed by the ringers to Mrs. Suart and family.

A Page for Sunday Service Ringers.

What is the record for Sunday Service ringing? Or, perhaps, we ought to say, what are the records? for there must be a variety of interesting records in this most important work. For instance, the Little Munden (lierts) company, a village six-bell band, rang, prior to the war, twice every Sunday for service for fifteen years without a break. Are there any other bands that can beat this performance, and what, we wonder, is the best individual record?

We shall welcome interesting paragraphs, apart from touches, relating to Sunday service ringing for publication on this page.

THE RINGER'S OFFICE.

CANON BAKER ON SERVICE RINGING.

Church bell ringers have much cause for gratification in the position that is now assigned to them. Not so long ago they were often looked upon as a necessary evil to be tolerated but not respected. A great change has now come upon the scene, as was evidenced by the recent vote in the National Assembly, when it was decided that ringers as well as organists should continue to be appointed by the incumbent, and not be handed over to the Parochial Church Councils. It was as gratifying as unexpected to hear the cries of 'Agreed, agreed,' when one was trying to enlarge on the idea that the ringer should be treated on the same footing as the organist. There should be something significant to us in that decision. For it was remarked of the organist that he is a kind of 'spiritual person.' His duties are related to the worship of the church; he is, in a sense, a minister of the sanctuary. And ringers are now recognised as holding an equivalent office in the church. So ringing for service demands the care and devotion which that recognition entails. It is up to us to show that the confidence reposed in us is not misplaced, by giving of our best in the invitation to worship, and by taking our part ourselves in that worship to which we call others. It is most opportune that at this time the Editor should call attention to this branch of our work, and proffer assistance to it in the publication of suitable touches. I do not doubt that the effort will be successful, and heartily wish it God-speed.

W. W. C. BAKER.

BELLS AND BELL HANGING.

There still appears to remain in the minds of the officials of the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings, views, with regard to bells and bell hanging, which have long since been discarded by authorities who have made a special study of the subject. From time to time the Society returns to the attack upon modern methods of bell tuning and bell hanging, and a letter upon the subject, which we reprint in another column, appeared in the last issue of the 'Church Times.' Ringers have no quarrel with the Society in their efforts to preserve for future generations towers and bells which are relics of ancient days, but there is no reason why in this effort the Society should attempt to foist upon an uninstructed public ideas which in some cases are as antique as the objects of their attention. It detracts from the value of the really useful information which the Society desire to pass on to those responsible for bells and towers.

For instance, the statement that wooden bell frames are better than those of iron or steel is an idea exploded long ago, and the letter referred to, upon analysis, gives as the only reason in support of the claim, that wood is better for the sound of the bells, for, it would be observed, the writer says that 'apart from the question of sound, it is admitted that steel cages can be made which will be the cause of as little danger to an ancient tower as those of teak or oak.' Of course they can; and so can those of iron. It is a question of construction, for a badly constructed wooden frame will do just as much damage to a tower as a badly constructed iron one. The claim that wood is better for the sound of the bells has never been substantiated, and there is no more objection to iron on this score than there can be to the heavy castings in a modern grand piano. But if this is the net sum of the objections to putting in iron frames, what of the objections to wood which are not enumerated in the letter? It is true there are many fine wooden frames still in existence, but they are the exception. Wood frames shrink and warp, the external face perishes, tenons become hopelessly loose, and in course of time, without continuous attention, these frames become a much greater danger to an old tower than any properly constructed iron or steel frame would do in the same period.

If the views of the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings predominated, especially with regard to bell frames, many fine old peals of bells would hang idle in their towers, neglected and useless, and finally unable to fulfil the purpose for which the pious people of a bygone age had provided them. There are other points in the letter referred to which could be refuted, such as the statement that the re-hanging of bells with bolts through the crown after the canons have been cut off, is 'nearly always the cause of damage,' but space forbids doing more than calling attention to the point of the letter, which is to induce church authorities to seek the advice of the Society, which, we presume, the public are expected to believe is 'authoritative and disinterested.' Here, we think, is an opportunity for the Central Council's Press and Towers and Belfries Committees to collaborate in some useful educational work.

CHRISTLETON RINGER'S DEATH.

We much regret to record the death of Mr. James V. Wright, which took place at his residence, Roadside, Christleton, Cheshire, on Sunday, February 8th, 1921, after an illness of only two weeks' duration, at the early age of 44 years. He leaves a wife and two little children, and mother, to mourn their loss. He was towerkeeper and conductor at the church, and at the funeral six of his fellow ringers acted as bearers, while Mr. Wm. Mayers, late conductor at the church, was in charge of the bells. There was a large number of mourners, and the church was filled by a congregation which assembled to show the high esteem in which he was held in the village and district. The deceased was identified with nearly all the activities of the church and village. Messrs. E. Channell, J. Morgan, H. W. Wilde, Ed. Harrison, Wm. Pierce, A. Harrison, S. Jones, Geo. Jones and R. Sperring, representing the Cathedral and St. Mary's, Handbridge, St. Mary's-within-the-Wall, Eockeston, Pulford and Waverton, were among those present. Deceased had rung 86 peals of Minor (in 3 and 4 methods), Grandsire Triples, Stedman Triples, Union Triples, Oxford Bob Triples, Double Oxford Bob Triples, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob Major, Bob Major, Single Oxford Major, Double Oxford Major, Double Bob Major, Duffield Major, Double Norwich Major, Bob Royal and Kent Royal, and had conducted peals of Grandsire and Kent Major.

DEATH OF MR. A. J. PERKINS.

The death took place on January 20th of Mr. Acland J. Perkins, of Wallington, who had been a ringer at St. Mary's, Beddington, for over 10 years, but who before going to Beddington was steeple keeper at Romford, where most of his career was spent. The end came, after a long illness, from consumption, following lead poisoning, which deceased contracted while working at his trade of compositor.

The funeral took place on Thursday, January 27th, at Bandon Hill Cemetery, and was attended by Mr. J. D. Drewett (Master), representing the Surrey Association; Mr. T. H. Taffender (Master), and Mr. A. D. Barker (Secretary of the London County Association), and several local ringers. A course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells at the graveside by: T. H. Taffender 1—2, A. Clark 3—4, A. D. Barker 5—6, R. Whittington 7—8. The bells at Beddington were rung half-muffled on the Sunday after the death and a peal of Grandsire Triples after the funeral was unhappily lost owing to a miss-call. Mr. Perkins had rung many peals in his younger days, but his greatest work to the Exercise was the part he took in the development of the band at Romford, which included the Brothers Pys. During the last few years, Mr. Perkins had done little or no peal ringing, but found greater pleasure in ringing quarter-peals for Sunday services. He was a member of the Surrey and London County Associations and of the Ancient Society of College Youths, and formerly of the Essex Association.

HUDSON'S NEW LIGHT ON TREBLE BOB MAJOR
 MODERN IDEAS ANTICIPATED BY A HUNDRED YEARS.

The Yorkshire correspondent who called attention to the fact that the variations of Kent Treble Bob, such as Worcester (in which, to keep the tenors out of the slow, Oxford places are made when the tenors are before) were known to Hudson, of Sheffield, a century ago, sends us the following extract from Hudson's MS.:

To ring the course in the Kent system (which contains 8,000 changes) every time the tenor is coursing the treble down (to go in bell before) instead of making a fourth's and third's and down it must only make a third's and up, at the same lead end the 7th will pass the tenor in a fourth's place, and it must likewise make a third's and up which will keep the tenors together, and they will come home every 5 leads, the bell passing the treble in a 2nd's place will make a 4th over the tenor, and the bell leaving before a 4th over the 7th and down.

For a 5 lead course.

REHANGING REQUIRED.

After the induction service of the Rector of Staplehurst, Kent, the Rev. J. S. Clementson, on Saturday, March 5th, nine members of the Kent County Association made an attempt for J. J. Parker's 12-part peal of Grandsire Triples as a welcome to the new incumbent, but after ringing 3,934 changes in good style in 2 hours 20 mins., the conductor was obliged to call 'stand,' owing to the bad 'go' of the tenor bell, which badly needs rehangng. Great credit is due to Messrs. C. E. and P. G. Pope for their determined, though unsuccessful, attempt to keep the tenor going. It is worth mentioning that Holt's ten-part was lost a month before through the same cause. This was the longest length by A. Farrance, H. Head, J. Head and C. E. and P. G. Pope, who, together with the conductor (W. Wenban) belong to the Staplehurst band. It is hoped to get the tenor and 7th bells both rehung in the very near future.

LADIES' GUILD.

The quarterly meeting of the Western District was held at the Parish Church, Portishead, on Saturday, March 5th. Only a small number of members attended, but they enjoyed and appreciated the warm welcome and kindness of the Portishead band. The service was conducted by the Rev. H. S. Briggs, who gave a very helpful address, based upon the principle that 'union is strength.' Miss Orchard spared time from her duties to act as organist, and Miss Gillingham had made arrangements for the excellent tea at the White Cot Dairy. To each of them the best thanks of the members is tendered. During the evening eight ladies took part in a touch of 168 Grandsire Triples. It is hoped to arrange for the June meeting to be held at Thornbury.

A YOUNG BAND'S PROGRESS.

The youthful band, under the tuition of Mr. A. T. Scrivens, at St. John's, Deritend, Birmingham, is making capital progress, and three of them recently scored their first quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles: W. C. Scrivens (first quarter-peal on tower bells) 1, H. J. Fitter 2, F. W. Walker (first quarter-peal) 3, G. E. Martin (first quarter) 4, A. T. Scrivens (conductor) 5, C. A. Jones (first quarter) 6. A quarter-peal has also been rung on handbells, at 89, Dolman Street: D. Norman 1, W. C. Scrivens 2, A. E. Norman 3-4, A. T. Scrivens (conductor) 5-6. First quarter-peal on handbells by all.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

To-day is an interesting anniversary to us, for it was exactly ten years ago that the first issue of 'The Ringing World' appeared.

In the possession of that wonderful gift for 'tapping' changes, Mr. Arthur T. Morris, of Harwich, excels any other living man. His performances of peals of Grandsire Triples, Plain Bob and Treble Bob Major follow one another in rapid succession.

For skill he promises to rival the great Elijah Roberts, but whether he will ever be tempted to rival him in the powers of endurance remains to be seen. At the Derby Arms, Whitechapel, Liverpool, on March 23rd, 1837, Elijah Roberts tapped a 19,440 Treble Bob Maximus, commencing at 19 minutes to four in the morning, and finishing at four minutes past five in the afternoon—13 hours 23 minutes. The physical strength and mental ability and stamina required for such a task must be stupendous.

When are we likely to have another peal rung at New College, Oxford? It is many years since a peal was rung on the ten bells there. It is interesting to note that the anniversary of one of the earliest peals in the tower will occur next Tuesday, for on March 22nd, 1734, 6378 Grandsire Caters was rung there.

The famous ten bells of St. Margaret's, Leicester, are now at the Loughboro' foundry, and will be rehung in an iron frame for 12. It is intended, if funds permit, to recast the whole peal, the total cost of which would be upwards of £2,000. It was on these bells that 10,080 Caters was rung in 1777, after the same band had broken down at 5,000 on the same day. The record states that 'within half an hour they began again!'

St. Mary's, Nottingham, where the single-handed peal of Major was rung, as recorded last week, beat the Leicester peal, on March 3rd, 1778, with 10,260 Grandsire Caters. The tenor is reputed 35 cwt., but is most likely about 32. W. Doubleday Crofts, Attorney, composed and conducted the peal, and his gravestone is in St. Mary's Churchyard.

The recent reference in this column to a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major rung at St. Giles-in-the-Fields, in 1783, by the College Youths, leads a correspondent to point out that a peal board in the belfry at that church states that the Royal Cumberland Society rang the 'first true peal of Cambridge Surprise Major on the bells in this tower,' on Saturday, January 30th, 1892, in 3 hours and 9 mins. The composition was C. Middleton's, and the conductor the late George Newson. Presumably they had some reason for believing the 1783 peal to be false. C. H. Martin, B. Foskett and F. Pitstow remain of the band that took part in the peal nearly 30 years ago.

Mr. E. Raddon, who succeeds Mr. J. J. Jones as hon. secretary of the Guildford District of the Winchester Guild, has been a member of the Guild for the past 23 years, during most of which time he has been associated with St. Nicolas tower, Guildford.

The kind of record to be proud of is that of Mr. W. Watts, of Hayward's Heath, Sussex, and formerly of Stansted. His 200 peals include thirteen different Major methods, five Triple methods and peals in seven plain, seven Treble Bob and seven Surprise Minor methods, and he has conducted peals in most of them. If ringers generally emulated this example there would be much more variety, and, we think, still greater interest in ringing.

The Midland Counties Association has no fewer than 145 honorary members, and it is largely due to that fact that the association is in the healthy financial position that it now is. The ringing members number 742.

At St. Werburgh's, Bristol, a tablet has been unveiled in the belfry commemorating the safe return of the six men of the tower who served overseas in the European war. They were the Rev. C. C. Griffiths, C.F., M.C.; A. G. Adams, R.G.A.; H. W. Greenland, M.G.C.; R. Pike, 4th Gloucesters; A. J. True, R.G.A.; M. L. Ford, 4th Gloucesters. Representatives from a number of the Bristol towers were present at the unveiling ceremony, including the Master of the Gloucester and Bristol Association (Mr. W. A. Cave).

'In your issue of February 25th,' writes Mr. T. Houghton, Parish Clerk of Daresbury, 'it is stated that a peal of Bob Major was rung for evensong on the day of the opening of the bells of All Saints' Church, Daresbury. This peal contained 5,008 changes only. The Chester band is, therefore, the first to ring a 5,040 upon the bells.' This is, we think, rather splitting hairs. The claim in our issue of the 18th was that the 5,040 was 'the first peal of Major on the bells,' which could not obviously hold good, when a 5,008, equally recognised as a peal, had previously been rung.

On the resignation of Mr. Herbert Sheppard, after 11 years' service, Mr. Fred Colclough, of 1, Earl Street, Bilston, Staffs, has been appointed secretary of the Dudley and District Guild, and all correspondence in future should be addressed to him.

It is hoped that members and friends who propose to attend the Cumberland's Dinner on April 2nd will make application for tickets not later than 30th March.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

As Good Friday falls in next week, 'The Ringing World' will be published a day earlier than usual.

Correspondents are particularly requested to note that everything intended for insertion must reach the Editorial Office, 63, Commercial Road, Woking, not later than Monday.

TOUCHES OF STEDMAN TRIPLES.

ANY LENGTH FOR SERVICE.

The title may be misunderstood if it is not explained. It is meant to suggest the question to conductors, 'Can you call any length for service? How many can call any number of courses of Stedman Triples, and at the same time know the course or part ends?' Undoubtedly there are some who are marvels in this direction; their minds are stored with numerous touches, which they never forget. Others are even talented enough to compose and bring round true touches of any length while ringing. These are, however, the very few. The average conductor has a very limited range of touches fixed in his mind, and generally looks others up as required. This often results in being unready when an emergency arises. Sometimes an attempt for a quarter-peal is being made, the conductor is prepared for this, but if a breakdown occurs shortly after the start, he is probably at a loss. He cannot remember a touch less than a quarter-peal and long enough to occupy the remaining time. As a consequence, two shorter touches are usually rung. The same thing occurs with shorter lengths. Say, a 756 is being attempted and fails early; the conductor does not know a 672 or a 588, and has to call a 504.

The object of this article is to enable every conductor to remember the calling of any number of courses, from a quarter-peal downwards, without any appreciable effort of memory. To enable them to do this, they only need, say, three simple callings, of one, two and three courses, all producing the same course or part end, and capable of being interchanged without affecting the truth of the touch.

To illustrate this, the course with bobs at 3, 4, 5, 6, 12, 13, may be taken first. Readers will have noticed in the first Sunday Service page, a touch of 672, based mainly on this course. To the majority it would appear as a 672, and nothing more. In reality it is one of a series of touches, all produced in the same way from the above calling. The bobs 3, 4, 5, 6, 12, 13, give, without alteration a five course touch. The course ends of this block are the same as the part ends of Thurstans' quarter-peal, and read from the fourth row of the six are:—

- 23451
- 34512
- 45123
- 51234

Note that the cyclical order of rounds is preserved throughout, rendering the figures easy to remember. If the bobs at 5, 6, are omitted, it causes a shunt into a similar block, the course ends of which are reversed rounds, as follows:—

- 54321
- 43215
- 32154
- 21543
- 15432

The whole of these five bear what may be termed a two-part relationship to 12345. The result is that as soon as the two bobs at 5, 6 are omitted, the calling may be repeated from any course end up to the fifth, and the bells will come round. This gives a series of touches. In even numbers of courses, ranging from two to ten, and both course ends and calling may be remembered without effort.

To prevent misunderstanding, these touches may be again stated thus:—

- A=3, 4, 5, 6, 12, 13.
- O=3, 4, 12, 13.

then—	O	repeated equals two courses.
	OA	" " four courses.
	OAA	" " six courses.
	OAAA	" " eight courses.
	OAAAA	" " ten courses.

It is not necessary that the O should come first, it may come at any desired course. In four courses and upwards the O at the second course gives 4-6 dodging together behind in both parts.

This plan of producing even numbers of courses may be further extended by the use of different courses as a basis, with an extra or omit. Thus, 3, 4, 5, 6, may be used as A, with 3, 4, as O; or 5, 8, 7, 8 as A, with 5, 6 as O; or 5, 6, 7, 8, 12, 13 as A, with 7, 8, 12, 13 as O. Again, lovers of odd-bob touches may use the following: 2, 4, 6, 12, 14 as A, with 2, 4, 6, 7, 8, 12, 14 as O. It must be remembered, however, that these last named as compared with the first course 3, 4, 5, 6, 12, 13, change the course ends and music completely.

This plan does not cover all the ground, and the conductor is called upon for a slightly greater effort of memory before his repertoire is complete. To obtain the odd and even numbers of courses still required, it is necessary to memorise the calling of two other blocks, the whole three being set out as follows:—

342516	536421	246351
3, 4, 5, 6, 12, 13	7, 8, 12, 13	12, 13
	342516	536421
	5, 6, 12, 13	3, 4, 12, 13
		5, 6, 12, 13

All four times repeated.

These three blocks A, B and C, each represent a five-part touch, and their parts are interchangeable without affecting the truth of the touch; that is to say, any part or parts may consist of one course, as in A, two as in B, or three courses as in C, at the will of the conductor. Thus, without anything further, the conductor has touches of from 5 to 15 courses fixed in his mind. Some of these lengths can be got in more ways than one, without taking into account that they permit of considerable variation by transposition. As a matter of fact, the conductor has in these three blocks alone the means of improvising a great number of touches.

The method which requires the least mental effort is to take A as the basis up to 9 courses. Then, if 6 courses are required, one part is rung as in B; if 7 courses, two parts as in B; and so on up to 9 courses. For 10 courses and upwards B is the basis; for 11 ring one part as in C; two parts as in C for 12; and so on up to 14.

It should be noted that Thurstans' quarter-peal may not be substituted for C, as, with it, false rows cannot be avoided.

The manner in which and to what extent the idea can be further applied to this and other methods is too big a question to be dealt with in the present article, but if the plan appeals to the majority of those who call our service touches, and they make known their needs, it will be an incentive to composers to enlarge and no doubt improve upon the idea as here presented. JOSEPH W. PARKER.

CHURCH BELLS AND BELL HANGING.
SOCIETY FOR THE PROTECTION OF ANCIENT BUILDINGS ON THE WARPETH.

In the last issue of the 'Church Times' the following letter appeared, signed by Mr. A. K. POWYS, secretary of the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings:—

The fact that certain rings of bells are not strictly in tune, according to modern musical theories, has often been made the reason for recasting fine rings of bells which had better have been left alone. For instance, the late Canon Simpson claimed that every bell should have certain concordant harmonies perfectly in tune with the main tone. Some of our finest bells fail to satisfy this test, while among those that do are many that are by no means satisfactory. Let bells stand on their merits. If they are good and pleasing, let them alone. Much can be done by cleaning off corrosion, and careful tuning. The splendid tenor bells of St. Paul's Cathedral, Westminster Abbey, Southwark and the Imperial Institute, do not possess Canon Simpson's requirements, but they are eminently satisfactory.

Many bells are cracked through having been rehung by bolts passed through holes in the crown, after the canons have been cut off, so as to increase the ringing leverages by raising the centre of gravity. Ringers constantly ask for this to be done. But it is vandalism in the case of an ancient bell, and nearly always the cause of damage.

Bells should not be recast without opinions being obtained from authoritative and disinterested sources, where historic and aesthetic, as well as purely change ringing considerations, have weight.

It is the considered opinion of the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings that teak or oak frames are better than those of iron or steel. They are better for sound. They are generally heavier, but have more resilience, and for this reason transmit strains more gently to their bearing points. They do not require repainting, and are not subject to damage by lightning. Moreover, there are some very valuable and even beautiful mediæval frames still in existence in more remote churches, which ought by no means to be destroyed.

Apart from the question of sound it is admitted that steel cages can be made which will be the cause of as little danger to an ancient tower as those of teak or oak. Ancient tower walls are more often shattered by badly hung bells than by settlements due to faulty foundations, and from this point of view the essential qualities of a well-constructed cage of either timber or metal are:—(1) That the cage itself must be an independent structure, scientifically put together, so as to neutralise, as far as may be, the live forces set up by the swinging bells; and (2) that the cage should be securely fixed to the foundation platform without any other connexion to the tower; and (3) that the foundation platform should bear as evenly as possible on all the walls of the tower, being horizontally braced in itself.

What is really vital is that an architect of real and known experience in dealing with old churches, as well as the ringers and bell founders, should be consulted as to the planning and arrangement of the bell frame. There are many technical questions of first-rate importance that space will not allow of being dealt with here.

The necessary advice on such questions will gladly be afforded by the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings, while these and other bodies from whom like help can be obtained, among them the diocesan advisory committees lately formed in so many dioceses.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.RINGING AND FINANCIAL PROGRESS.

The annual report and statement of accounts which is to be placed before the members of the Midland Counties Association at their annual meeting on Easter Monday shows that the organisation is not only making excellent progress, but is in a flourishing financial position. This, says the report, is due largely (a) to the generous support of old and new honorary members, to whom we extend our hearty thanks, (b) to the almost universal membership of all ringers in the district covered by the association, which is highly appreciated, and (c) to economies effected by your committee. Although we have no desire to build up a large reserve fund, we have thought it desirable to save a considerable outlay by postponing until next year the usual tabulated List of Performances by the association, when, it is hoped, the cost of a combined full report will not be such a formidable item as it would be at present.

Turning to the ringing side of the association, the report proceeds: 'We are very pleased with the progress made during the year under review, the re-appearance of Surprise peals being a most welcome feature. Superlative, Cambridge and Norfolk totalled nine Surprise peals, but the year's work culminated in a peal of London Surprise at Chesterfield on Boxing Day. These facts deserve the highest commendation, and recall the time when the M.C.A. was the pioneer in Surprise ringing. With the young blood making itself manifest we confidently look to the future. The committee are also glad to see the peals rung on the lower number of bells, 5 and 6. While congratulating those—mostly young beginners—who are just commencing their ringing career, we would impress upon them the necessity of progression. To ring a peal of Grandsire Doubles is creditable and deserves encouragement, but if the learner goes no further and only cares to keep on by repeating the same thing, it is to be deplored.'

The committee note with pleasure that companies generally are now ringing less common methods than before, and although some have not yet secured peals, there are many companies we feel confident will shortly add further laurels to the records of the association. It is also very pleasing to note the number of "first peals" by young members.

The total number of peals rung during the year was 91.

The year began with a balance in hand of £49 13s. 3d.; subscriptions from hon. members brought in £29 8s.; from ringing members, 243 14s. 6d., and from new life members £1 17s. 6d. Receipts from other sources amounted to £33 11s. 6d. The expenditure was £77 13s. 8d., leaving a balance in hand of £80 11s. 1d.

NOTTINGHAM DISTRICT.

A very successful meeting of the Nottingham District was held at Ilkeston on Saturday, Feb. 28, about 40 members being present from Beeston, Botchesford, Bulwell, Balderton, Cotgrave, Daybrook, Derby, Duffield, Eastwood, Long Eaton, Nottingham and Ripley, as well as the members of the local band. Touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Kent Treble Bob, Plain Bob, Double Norwich, and a plain course of Cambridge Surprise Major, were successfully brought round.

At the business meeting, the Vice-President of the district (Mr. A. Coppock) presided, supported by the Rev. Bell, Vicar of Ilkeston, who welcomed the ringers to Ilkeston.

It was proposed by Mr. W. E. White, seconded by Mr. T. H. Kirkby, that the president, hon. treasurer and hon. secretary of the association be nominated for re-election en bloc.

There were three nominations for delegates for the Central Council to go forward for election at Easter, viz., Mr. E. C. Gobey, Mr. T. H. Kirkby, Mr. A. Coppock.

It was decided that the next meeting be held at Sutton-in-Ashfield on April 2nd.—A hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and to Mr. E. C. Gobey for the arrangements, was accorded on the motion of Mr. A. Coppock, to which the Vicar and Mr. Gobey suitably replied.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

The monthly meeting of the Manchester Branch was held at Ashton Parish Church on Saturday last. Twenty-two ringers were present. Mr. T. Wilde, of Hyde, was voted to the chair. He gave a hearty welcome to the visiting ringers, and said what a pleasure it was to come to Ashton to have a pull on the twelve bells.—Mr. A. Goringe, of Lewes, Sussex, was elected a non-resident member.—St. John's, Miles Platting, was selected for the next meeting on Saturday, April 2nd, this being the 9th anniversary of the opening of the bells at that tower.

The methods rung during the day were Plain Bob, Grandsire, Stedman and Treble Bob.—Votes of thanks to the church authorities, to the local ringers for having everything ready, and to the chairman, brought the meeting to a close.

The time of the peal of Kent in the Gonville Variation, rung on January 17th, 1921, at Cambridge, and published in 'The Ringing World' for February 11th, was 2 hours 37 minutes.

NEW BELLS AT FULBOURN.MEMORIAL TREBLES DEDICATED.

Last Saturday afternoon, at Fulbourn, Cambs, the two trebles which have been added to the peal of six were dedicated by the Rural Dean. It had been arranged that the Rev. A. H. F. Boughey, President of the Central Council, should perform the ceremony, but he was unfortunately prevented from doing so by illness.

The two bells are the gift of Mr. Reuben Moore, who has been churchwarden at this church since 1887, and were given in memory of the men from the parish who lost their lives in the great war. The work of hanging the bells has been carried out by Messrs. Day and Son, of Eye, Suffolk.

During the singing of the hymn, 'O God, our help in ages past,' the clergy, choir, and churchwardens proceeded to the belfry, and at the conclusion of the hymn, the two bells were dedicated. A course of Bob Major was then rung by E. Webb 1, J. Page 2, B. D. Buttress 3, Miss Shorter 4, A. E. Austin 5, W. H. J. Hooton 6, G. Bridge 7, A. G. Rivers 8, the congregation meanwhile singing the hymn, 'For all the Saints.' A very interesting and inspiring address was afterwards given by the Rural Dean, the service concluding with the hymn, 'Hark, hark, my soul.'

A short touch was then rung by the local band, after which the ringers and choir adjourned to the Assembly Room and partook of tea, generously provided by the Rector. A touch of Bob Royal was rung on handbells by H. G. Benson 1—2, Miss K. Jutson 3—4, R. Richardson 5—6, W. H. J. Hooton 7—8, M. C. G. Hooton 9—10, which was greatly appreciated, to judge by the applause that was given. This was followed by a course of Grandsire Caters, and a touch of Kent Royal.

Ringing on the tower bells was carried on to a late hour in various methods, from Grandsire Doubles to Cambridge Surprise Major. Further ringing also took place on the handbells, including Double Norwich Major, Double Bob Major, Kent Major, Kent Major, Bob Royal, Little Bob Royal, and Kent Royal. About 40 ringers were present, in addition to the local men.

DEATH OF MR. HORACE W. ABBOTT, LOUGHBOROUGH.

A ringer of the old Nottingham School, in the person of Mr. H. W. Abbott, passed to his rest a few weeks ago. For thirty years a member of the Midland Counties Association, he rang in his day with the veterans of Notts and Derby, who have preceded him to the land of shadows. He took part in the last peal rung at All Saints', Nottingham, over twenty years ago, and in 1893 rang beside the writer in an attempt for Sottanstall's 12,000 of Treble Bob. On that occasion—the late John W. Taylor, of Loughborough, was conductor—the peal was lost, after 10,400 had been rung in 6 hours 10 minutes. In the attempt, the late John Howe, of Derby; Ed. Robinson, of Nottingham; A. Millis and J. Buttery, all took part, and all are gone to dust. His ambition was to ring in a long length, and later on he accomplished his desire by ringing 7,001 of Caters at Loughborough, where he had come to reside, and 10,176 Treble Bob at South Wigston. He was one of the umpires in the 17,104 Double Norwich, at the latter place in 1904, being always willing to oblige.

The writer of this memoir places to the memory of the deceased a sincere friendship of many years, and the deepest regret at the breaking of the earthly tie. He was always a careful striker, and once in a peal could be depended on to 'stick it.' Advancing age brought internal ailments, and heart weakness compelled his peal ringing to cease. He had been a representative on the Loughborough All Saints' Church Council for a considerable number of years, and his demise breaks another link in the chain of the old order and the new.

In all, he had rung 56 peals for the Midland Counties Association. The writer recalls many pleasant recollections of his anxiety for the well-being of his fellow ringers. On the occasion of the Loughborough long peal, the deceased waited at the foot of the belfry from the eleventh hour till the coming-round at 12 hours 18 minutes, with a bag of ready-peeled oranges. He was the first man in the belfry, and was thrusting the fruit into the hands of every ringer! God bless the soul of Horace Abbott.—R.I.P. W. W.

AN ACTIVE SUFFOLK SOCIETY.

The Halesworth and Chediston Society have been entertained to supper by numerous friends, and following this the annual meeting was held, at which it was reported that four peals had been rung during the past year, the Sunday service ringing had been well maintained at both churches, Halesworth tower had been restored and new ropes provided.

The Rector (the Rev. H. C. Nowbery), who is president, expressed his appreciation of the ringers' regular attendance on Sundays, and the interest they took in that part of church work. He moved a vote of thanks to those who had subscribed to that evening's entertainment, and especially to Miss Stanford for collecting the funds.

All the officers were re-elected; Mr. S. Swan was elected an additional vice-president; Mr. E. F. Sewter an hon. member; and Mr. A. Peck, M.M., a member of the Chediston band.

Handbell ringing, recitations, etc., filled up the remainder of a most enjoyable evening.

A Page for Sunday Service Ringers.

The touch of Stedman Triples, which we published on the first of these Sunday Service pages, has led to a very valuable contribution on the improvisation of service touches of Stedman Triples by Mr. Joseph W. Parker, of Sunderland. Conductors, we are sure, will welcome the article which appears on another page, for it supplies just that information upon the construction of touches which many conductors, budding and otherwise, have been wanting.

The special point about the quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples by the Rev. E. W. Carpenter, given below, is the simplicity of the calling by the bells 'before,' as these follow in regular order round the tower, only broken (of necessity) by two doubles in each part, viz.:

4 (with/a double), 5 (with a double) 6, 7, 2, 3, 4, 5.
 6 " 7 " 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7.
 2 " 3 " 4, 5, 6, 7, 2, 3.

MAN'S NECESSITY.

BY THE MASTER OF THE OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

In St. John vi. 35, we read the words of Jesus Christ: 'I am the Bread of Life.' It is one of the great pronouncements. All life is one, since it emanates from His spirit the Lord and Giver of Life. But it is of different orders, as in the case of the rock, the plant, the lower animals and man. Each of these is dependent on its respective bread for its life under the Providence of God.

For the full and complete life of man, Jesus Christ is the necessity or the bread. Man is God-like, and therefore, he cannot live by the bread of any lower order, but by the bread as it comes to man in Jesus Christ, who, being the Incarnate Word, is the minister to man of 'every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God.'

All that is wrong with the world now, shows the necessity for the bread, which is Christ. He must become as much part of our lives as the bread we eat, that we may get from Him the true idea of what God is like, that we may be rooted in His principles as being the only workable basis of conduct between man and man, and that we may always have within us an image of the Christ that we may become like unto.

And to make all this real to us He gave us the Sacrament of the bread and wine.

RINGERS' WEDDING.

An interesting and pretty little wedding took place on Saturday, February 5th, at the Erdington Parish Church, the contracting parties being Mr. William John Meers, Ringing Master of the Erdington Parish Church Society, and a member of St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham, and Mrs. Agnes E. Martin, honorary member of the Ladies' Guild. The Rev. S. E. P. Needham, one of the assistant clergy, officiated. The bride, who was charmingly attired in a dress of fawn silk taffeta, with a hat to match, and carried a bouquet of red tulips, was attended by Mrs. J. Preston, hon. member of the Ladies' Guild; Miss E. W. Salter, hon. secretary of the Ladies' Guild, Midland section, and Miss G. M. Ander-ton. The bride was given away by Mr. Jonathan Preston, hon. secretary of the Erdington Parish Church Society, an old and esteemed friend of the bridegroom. A large number of friends were present at the service, including the father and mother of the bridegroom, ringers of the Parish Church and their wives, etc.

After the ceremony various touches were rung on the bells, while the guests were departing, and afterwards rang a full peal of Sted-man Triples, which will be recorded in the usual place, to celebrate the occasion.

The reception was held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. Preston, Erdington, who had kindly placed it at the disposal of the happy couple, and a numerous gathering was there to welcome them, the party being joined by the ringers in the evening. An excellent repast was served, to which ample justice was done, and during the remainder of the evening various selections on the handbells and songs were enjoyed, Mr. W. B. Preston acting as accompanist. The health of the bride and bridegroom was proposed by Mr. J. Preston, in happy terms, and was heartily drunk with musical honours.—The bridegroom responded to the toast, and very cordially thanked Mr. and Mrs. Preston for their kindness for making all the preparations for the day, and for placing their home at the disposal of his wife and himself.—Mr. Preston responded, saying that it gave them great pleasure to be able to make the day as pleasant as possible, and that they liked to make all ringers happy and welcome when they came to Erdington.

PRESERVATION OF TOWERS & BELLS.

In the letter of the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings which we reproduced last week, there are two things upon which the society dwells with emphasis. The first is a plea for the preservation of old bells. With this, all ringers will agree in principle, but it is seldom one finds more than one, or at any rate two, really old bells in a tower when augmentation or restoration takes place, and these are seldom bells of any quality in point of sound. Usually to retain them in a ring would be to spoil the whole, and the best way of preserving such bells is to take them out of the ring altogether and place them elsewhere in the Church for safe keeping, where they can be admired for their antiquity by future generations. In many cases, of course, the old bells have to be sacrificed towards the cost of the new, and it would be an act of practical utility on the part of the society if in these cases it provided the necessary funds to save these ancient bells.

The second point of the society's letter is the question of bell frames in which, as we pointed out last week, they give it as their considered opinion that teak or oak are better than iron or steel. The question of wood being better for sound is an empty theory which has never been proved in connection with a bell frame, and seeing that when a bell is struck by the clapper, the sound bow is well above the frame, it will be seen that the material of which the latter is made is most unlikely to have the slightest effect. But the question of sound is of little importance compared with the safety of the tower. One advantage which is urged by the society is that a wooden frame has more resilience, and for this reason transmits strains more gently to the bearing points. Now, if resilience means anything in this connection, it means springiness in the movement of the frame, and it has been proved by scientific experiment that when a bell swings in a spring frame the cumulative effect is a much heavier thrust or blow on the tower caused by the synchronising of the period of the spring in the frame and the period of the force due to the swinging of the bell. It has also been scientifically proved that the more rigid the frame and the more solidly its base is fixed so as to tie the tower walls, the less is the strain on the walls and the less the power of disintegration. The natural shrinkage of wood, the warping which must almost inevitably take place, and the consequent loosening of tenons, in course of time turn a wooden frame into a battering ram such as no well-constructed iron frame could ever become, and we should like to see these facts made as widely known to Church authorities as the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings has endeavoured to make its own questionable ideas. This could be done through the Central Council who could also offer to any needing advice the services of their Towers and Belfries Committee.

DUDLEY AND DISTRICT GUILD.

HON. SECRETARY'S RESIGNATION.

The annual meeting of the Dudley and District Guild was held at St. Thomas' Church, Dudley, on Saturday, March 5th, when upwards of seventy members attended. There was ringing in the afternoon, and service was conducted by the President of the Guild, the Rev. A. H. Phelps, M.A., R.D. (Vicar of Dudley), who also gave an eloquent and interesting address. Afterwards an adjournment was made to the Schoolroom, where a bountiful tea was provided. Among those present were: Rev. A. H. Phelps, Mr. J. Mc D. Tait (people's warden) and Mr. J. Bayliss, and the following towers, among others, were represented: Bilston, Bradley, Brierley Hill, Coseley, Dudley, Birmingham, Handsworth, Sedgley, Stourbridge, Oldbury, Old Hill, Oldswinford, Kingswinford, Wood Green, Wednesbury, Tipton, Smethwick, Harborne, etc.

At the business meeting which followed, the President occupied the chair.—Mr. H. Mason, on behalf of those present, congratulated the president upon the honour which had recently been conferred upon him, by his appointment as Rural Dean of Dudley. He congratulated Mr. W. R. Small upon entering his 82nd year, and Miss S. Pigott upon regaining her health, after his illness.—These congratulations were unanimously endorsed.

The President expressed the pleasure it gave him, on behalf of himself, the wardens and Church Council, to again extend a hearty welcome to the Guild to Dudley.—Mr. Tait also welcomed the members to the church.—Apologies for absence were received from Mr. Arthur Spittle, Councillor H. Wilkes and Mr. A. Greenfield.

The Secretary (Mr. H. Sheppard) presented the annual report and balance sheet which were duly passed.

The officers were then elected as follows: President, the Rev. A. H. Phelps; vice-presidents, the Rt. Hon. Sir Arthur G. Boscawen, P.C., Rev. Canon Marriott (Vicar of Netherton), Rev. J. A. Price (Vicar of Coseley), Messrs. Arthur Spittle, Harry Mason, Councillor H. Wilkes, J. W. Naylor and J. Mc D. Tait; Ringing Master, Mr. John Goodman, junr. (Dudley).

Mr. Fred Colclough was elected hon. secretary, in the place of Mr. Herbert Sheppard, who has resigned, after eleven years' work.—A special vote of thanks was accorded him for his services and support.

Mr. B. Gough was elected hon. treasurer; Mr. A. E. Law and Mr. F. Evans, auditors; and Mr. W. R. Small as representative to the Central Council.

It was proposed to hold the next meeting at Kinver, subject to the usual consent being obtained.

At the close of the meeting, a hearty vote of thanks was passed to the president for his kindness in conducting the service, for his able and inspiring address, for presiding at the meeting, and for the use of the Schoolroom, tower and bells; to the organist (Mr. Cutler) for the musical part of the service; to the donors of the tea; to the ladies presiding at the tables, and those who had prepared and served the tea; and to Mr. Churchwarden Tait for his presence and support.—It was regretted that the Vicar's warden was not present with Mrs. Naylor, owing to an oversight as to the date of the meeting, as they fully intended being present.

The Vicar closed the proceedings with prayer, after which some of the members returned to the belfry and kept the bells merrily going till nearly nine p.m. The ringing was appreciated by the townspeople and visitors, after the long silence of the bells, owing to the unsafe condition of the spire.

OXFORD GUILD AT BRAY.

BIG GATHERING OF BERKS AND BUCKS RINGERS.

Berks and Bucks ringers from 15 towers met at Bray, on Saturday, in response to an invitation generously offered to their neighbours by the local society, when the mighty ring of six bells were put through their facings by expert and novice in various methods during the afternoon and evening. Choral service was conducted by the Vicar, who was assisted by the Rev. H. J. Wilson (Rector of Hitcham). Beginning his address without text, the Vicar simply stated: 'I am a ringer, speaking to church ringers. I wish to tell you what a special part you have to perform for Christian worship when carrying out the Sunday duty of the belfry. . . . The actual ringing is a real part of the service—the organist's music for the singing, the attendance at the altar, and minister's prayers, and all who attend to give their help are part of the same. . . . It is just as possible for ringers to worship by the pealing of bells as those who minister by other duties in the church.'

After referring to the important decisions made by members of the National Assembly last February, which were decidedly to the advantage of the ringer as a voluntary church worker, the speaker reminded his hearers that ringers are ministers of the church, and in their daily life, apart from their associations with tower and bells, should live up to an ideal, even if one came short of the standard attempted; and he asked them to help the ministers by their prayers and their work.

At the tea tables the 'home team' made gracious attendance upon their guests, the Vicar presiding over a comfortable party of 55—those who had taken a pull in Minor with the tenor, passing favourable comments upon their 'first cup.' Afterwards harmony reigned supreme.—Mr. Arthur Martin and his two sons, of Boyne Hill, gave a nice selection of tunes upon handbells (four each retained in hand). The boys also proved their cleverness by a course of Triples, double-handed, and were deservedly applauded.

Mr. W. P. Routh (chairman of Reading Branch) supported by Mr. Fowler (Cookham), paid a compliment to the ringers and the Vicar of Bray, with thanks for their hospitality. It was not the first time they had done so, and Mr. Routh hoped this sociable disposition would spread to other parts of the diocese.—The motion was accorded musical honours, the Rev. W. S. Riddlesdell and Mr. J. N. Beale replying. A double-handed course of Grandsize Caters followed by Messrs. Consey, Martin, Williamson, Mayne and Welling.

The Hon. Secretary (Mr. W. H. Fussell), after thanking the Vicar for organising the service, and the use of the bells, made a few remarks concerning the welfare of the branch—such as prompt subscriptions, regular practices, the division of the branch, the annual meeting on Easter Monday, and the Diocesan Committee meeting at Reading on April 2nd.

At this stage there were several impatient hands eager to assert their prowess as 'big bell' men, and the belfry was again visited, the old tenor having to suffer Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, etc., but, when the bells were lowered in peal his 'home-note' seemed to say, 'Next man, please!' thus reminding us that a young man's glory is his strength.

USEFUL PRACTICE MEETING.

A very successful combined practice meeting was held on Saturday week at Wendover. The Master (the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn), Mr. J. H. Shepherd, of Swindon, and 25 ringing members were present, representing the parishes of Amersham, Chalfont St. Giles, Wendover, Farnham Royal, Fulmer, Tring, and Iver Heath. The musical ring of six bells (tenor 14 cwt.) were found to be in good going order, and touches of Kent Treble Bob, Oxford Bob, and Bob Minor, Grandsize and Stedman Doubles were rung. A pleasing feature of the meeting was the capable manner in which the eleven-year-old son of Mr. J. Redrup, of Amersham, rang the treble in a touch of Bob Minor, having had his first lessons in ringing only last September.

EASTER VISITORS IN LONDON.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir.—On Easter Sunday, the great festival of our Church, there will be the usual difficulty to man our towers, as our clergy are properly anxious we should. Many of us Londoners take advantage of the holiday to go away. May I remind our 'country cousins' of our too silent towers, and assure them, as visitors, that they would be most welcome in our belfries to help us fill the vacant places.—Yours faithfully, 'TEMPLE BAR.'

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION. ROCHDALE BRANCH SUCCESSFUL MEETING.

The monthly meeting of the Rochdale Branch, held on Saturday week at East Crompton, proved a more than usually interesting and successful gathering. Twenty-six members were present from East Crompton, Todmorden Parish Church and Unitarian; Milnrow, Newhey, Oldham, Glodwick, Middleton, Crossstones, Ashton St. Peter's, and Miles Platting. Touches of Kent and Oxford and Plain Bob Minor and Grandsire Doubles were rung in the afternoon.

The business meeting was presided over by the Vicar (the Rev. T. A. Walton), who gave the branch a hearty welcome. The Chairman, in a humorous vein, went on to remark that at one of his late parishes, in looking through the accounts of the church, he had noticed the bells had required a great amount of oil, but evidently on one occasion, in forgetfulness, they had given the 'show' away, as the entry read 'Ale is.' (laughter). Of course this was in 'ye olden days.' The ringers of to-day thought far more of the art and various methods of ringing, than of indulging in liquid refreshments frequently. Formerly, the ringers at that church had the habit of leaving the church before service commenced, but he was delighted to find this did not happen at East Crompton (applause).

It was decided that the next monthly meeting should take place at Balderstone, on Saturday, April 9th.

The members were very pleased to have their Branch Chairman, Mr. Samuel Stott, with them once more, after his recent illness.—Nine new members of the branch were elected from East Crompton, and prior to the conclusion of the gathering a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar for the use of the tower and bells, and also to the local ringers for having everything in readiness.

Ringing was afterwards resumed.

LIVERPOOL DIOCESAN GUILD.

A meeting of this branch was held at St. Luke's, Liverpool, when members from St. Nicholas' and St. Francis, Liverpool, Huyton, Grassendale, Walton, Garston, Bootle, Birkenhead and Oxtou, were present. Ringing commenced with touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Kent Treble Bob, and was followed by service in church, conducted by the Rev. A. J. Mardouald, who gave an address.

At the business meeting, the Rev. E. C. Collier presided, and three new members were elected.—Bootle was chosen for next place of meeting.—A letter from the Rev. H. J. Elsee was read with regard to the Wigan branch, and it was proposed to hold a joint meeting in May to settle upon a dividing line for the two branches.—A vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar for the use of the bells; also to the Rev. E. C. Collier for presiding. Owing to the breaking of a bell wheel no further ringing could be done.

LOSS OF TOWERS TO PRESTON BRANCH.

A meeting of the Preston Branch was held at Houghton on Saturday last, but owing to the very wet weather there was not as good a muster as usual. Ringing commenced with a 720 of Kent Treble Bob Major, followed by a fine touch of Stedman Triples, one young member making his first attempt at the method with a very good result. The business meeting was held under the chairmanship of Mr. J. T. Miller, of Leyland.—Brindle in April and Croston in June were chosen for the next two meetings.

Considerable discussion also took place over the loss of three towers to the new Wigan Branch of the Association.

The question of an annual social gathering was left over for a more representative meeting, and the proceedings terminated with a vote of thanks to the Vicar and wardens for the use of the bells.

For the score or so of members who braved the elements it was a very pleasant gathering, and, in addition to the two methods named, touches of Bob Major, Grandsire Triples, Cambridge Minor and Bob Minor were also rung during the afternoon.

SURPRISE PRACTICE AT BURSLEM.

On Tuesday, March 8th, a party of ringers from Norton visited St. John's Church, Burslem, for a combined practice, and a very pleasant and enjoyable evening was spent. The ringing started with a 720 of Kent Treble Bob (with 15 hobs) successfully brought round by: R. Welsby 1, A. Lees 2, L. Pennington 3, J. Walker 4, J. Walley 5, W. P. Deane (conductor) 6. The rest of the evening was spent on Cambridge Surprise. The touch of Kent was the first for all except the tenor ringer. The Burslem ringers wish to thank the Norton ringers for the kindness they are showing to the Burslem men in visiting Norton to instruct them in ringing Surprise methods. In addition to the ringers mentioned above, the following also took part during the evening: T. Hilditch, T. Hurd, W. Bourne and G. Greenhill.

DEPTFORD, KENT.—At the Church of St. John the Evangelist, on Monday, March 14th, a quarter-peat of Grandsire Triples, in 43 mins.; A. C. V. Gasson (St. Giles', Camberwell) 1, C. J. E. Gasson (St. Giles', Camberwell), first-quarter peal, 2. F. B. Crowder 3, G. Simmonds 4, W. J. Jeffries 5, R. Wood 6, T. A. Easterby (conductor) 7, R. Fosdike 8.

DEATH OF MR. A. C. VALENTINE.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD LOSES A WELL-KNOWN RINGER.

The death of Mr. Albert Cecil Valentine, of Stony Stratford, took place at 112, High Street, Stony Stratford, on Thursday, March 10th, after a short and painful illness. On Tuesday, March 1st, he was compelled to leave his work, and immediately took to his bed. On the following Friday pneumonia set in, and on Saturday his condition was so critical that his relatives were summoned. However, he lingered on to the following Thursday morning. The deceased was only 37 years of age, and leaves a widow. He was a very enthusiastic ringer, and had rung 102 peals in all the standard methods. As a conductor of peals in many powers he had considerable experience, and his loss is keenly felt in the North Bucks Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild.

On Sunday, March 13th, the bells of the Parish Church were rung, muffled, for morning and evening services.

The funeral took place on Monday, March 14th, the Rev. H. Last and the Rev. Greaves officiating. The hymn, 'Peace, perfect peace,' was sung, and Mr. W. Toms played 'O Rest in the Lord.' The wealth of floral tributes was evidence of the esteem in which Mr. Valentine was held by many friends and organisations in the locality. He was by trade a fitter and turner, and had been in the employment of Messrs. McCorquodale for twelve years.

The 'whole pull and stand' was rung 37 times after the funeral. After this a 720 Plain Bob Minor was rung by: J. Sear (Linslade) 1, E. Yates 2, H. Edwards (Calverton) 3, H. Sear (Bletchley) 4, T. C. Tomkins (conductor) 5, E. Lambert 6.

At the Parish Church, Wicken, Northants, on Monday, March 14th, 720 Grandsire Doubles and 360 Oxford Bob Minor were rung by: T. Read, L. Smith, T. Roberts, F. Case, H. Birdsey G. Cooper and A. J. Green, with the bells half-muffled, as a last token of respect to the late Mr. Cecil A. Valentine, whose last peal, one of Surprise Minor, was rung on these bells.

WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

PORTSMOUTH DISTRICT PRACTICE MEETING.

A well-attended combined practice for the Portsmouth District was held on Saturday, March 12th, at the six-bell towers of Shedfield and Wickham. The former tower was the first visited, and some of the 'locals' were assisted through some 120's Grandsire Doubles and touches of Bob Minor. Reinforcements then began to arrive, and the following methods were rung: Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Minor, and also a course of Cambridge Surprise Minor: J. W. Russell 1, J. D. Harris 2, D. C. Williams, F.R.C.O., 3, F. W. Rogers 4, E. J. Harding, senr., 5, G. Williams 6. About 4.15, the Rector (the Rev. E. S. Utterton), an honorary member of the Guild, visited the tower, and, after congratulating the ringers on their ringing, invited them to tea in the Rectory. This was gladly accepted, and the Rector was afterwards thanked for his hospitality. A move was next made to the neighbouring tower of Wickham. Here the ringers were met by the Rev. E. Bankes James and the Rev. E. H. Duke (Rector of Wickham), who is also a ringer. A full evening was spent in the belfry, during the course of which all the above-named methods were rung, as well as touches of Oxford Bob Minor and Worcester Treble Bob Minor, the latter the first in the method on the bells.

During the afternoon and evening members attended from Lee-on-Solent, North Stoneham, Portsea, Portsmouth, Shedfield, Southampton, Titchfield and Wickham.

DONCASTER AND DISTRICT SOCIETY.

SUCCESSFUL FIRST MEETING.

The first meeting of this newly-formed society was held at Sprotborough, on Saturday last. Between 40 and 50 ringers were present, representing Arksey, Adwick-le-Street, Bentley, Barnsley, Conisbrough, Doncaster, Hatfield, Hanoy, Rawmarsh, Sprotborough, Tickhill, Thorne, Rotherham, Treeton and Wortley. Touches of Bob Minor, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, Stedman and Grandsire Doubles were rung during the afternoon and evening. A short service was held, at which the Rev. S. E. Smith (Rector of Sprotborough) gave an address: An excellent tea was partaken of in the School Room, and was followed by a business meeting, over which the Rev. S. E. Smith presided.—A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector for the use of the bells, and for his presence at the meeting, and also to the local band for such an excellent tea.—Ringing was continued until a late hour, and concluded with a well-struck 720 Oxford Treble Bob Minor by the local band.

This is the first meeting of the kind which has ever been held at Sprotborough. The peal of six bells, with a tenor of 9 cwt., have done service for 150 years, having been cast in 1771 by Pack and Chapman, of London.

SLOUGH.—At St. Mary's Parish Church, on Saturday, March 5th, for the induction of the Rev. A. G. P. Baines, M.A., as Rector of Slough, a quarter-peat of Oxford Bob Triples, in 47 mins.; G. T. Leader 1, T. S. Smith 2, W. H. Fussell 3, A. W. Bateman 4, G. W. Bedford 5, W. Henley 6, F. T. Hooper (conductor) 7, A. Perryman 8. The Lord Bishop of the Diocese officiated, and the tenor bell was chimed on the admittance of the Rector.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.SUCCESSFUL MEETING AT CUBITT TOWN.

The North and East district met at Christ Church, Cubitt Town, Poplar, on Saturday, March 5th, and a very pleasant afternoon was spent by some 35 members. The eight bells were set going soon after three o'clock, and ringing continued until 5 o'clock, when a short service was held, at which an address was given by the Vicar (the Rev. J. H. Hardy), whose discourse on the origin of bells was much appreciated. Tea was served in the Schoolroom close by, followed by the business meeting.—Five new members were elected, and Edmon-ton chosen as the place of the next district meeting.

The Hon. Secretary (Mr. C. T. Coles) mentioned that the Central Committee had met a few days previously, and had fixed the date of the annual general meeting as April 16th, instead of on the Saturday after Easter. That meeting would be held at St. Leonard's Church, Shoreditch. The committee had also decided to issue the annual report, and in spite of the still increasing cost of same, to have a copy printed for each member.

The Chairman (Mr. F. A. Milne, J.P.), proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for his address at the service, and for the use of the bells.—This was seconded by the Hon. Secretary, and carried.—The Rev. J. H. Hardy acknowledged same with a few words of welcome to the association, and thanks to the local ringers for their good services to the church.

After a few courses of Stedman Caters, Stedman Cinques and Double Norwich Court Bob Major had been rung on handbells, the tower was again visited, and most of the Standard methods from Grandsire Triples to Bristol Surprise Major were practised until 9 o'clock, when an end came to a very pleasant meeting.

MR. W. WATTS' 200 PEALS.

Seven Minor Methods, rung 7 (conducted 2); seven Treble Bob Methods, 13 (12); seven Surprise Methods, 17 (16); Grandsire Triples, 2 (1); Penning's Triples, 1 (1); Stansted Triples, 2 (2); Grandsire Caters, 5; Stedman Triples, 29 (13); Oxford Bob Triples, 2; Stedman Caters, 3; Bob Major, 8 (2); Bob Royal, 1; Canterbury Pleasure Major, 1 (1); Double Oxford Bob Major, 1 (1); Duffield Major, 1 (1); Double Norwich Court Bob Major, 16 (6); Kent Treble Bob Major, 12 (5); Oxford Treble Bob Major, 7 (2); Kent Treble Bob Royal, 3; Superlative Surprise Major, 31 (11); Cambridge Surprise Major, 16 (12); New Cambridge Surprise Major, 13 (6); London Surprise Major, 3 (3); Bristol Surprise Major, 2 (2); New Cumberland Surprise Major, 3 (3); total rung, 200; conducted, 102.

Rung in 24 different towers in five counties.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.NORTH BUCKS BRANCH.

The quarterly meeting of the North Bucks Branch was held at Twyford, on Saturday, March 5th, when a fairly representative gathering attended, despite the fact that the tower lies rather wide of the beaten track, and has to be reached by conveyance, or on 'wheel.' The following towers were represented: Bletchley, Beachampton, Calverton, Maids Moreton, Linslade, Pabbury, Stony Stratford, and Simpson, as well as the local ringers, and Mr. J. H. Shepherd, of Swindon. Service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. J. Pearson), who had just previously changed livings with the Rev. Greaves, the latter having gone to the Isle of Wight. The address given by the Rector was much appreciated, especially his remarks concerning the organisation of the North Bucks Branch. After service, tea was partaken of in the School, having been arranged by the ringers' wives, and much credit was due to them for the way in which it had been provided at rather short notice. The usual business was transacted.

The Secretary expressed his thanks for the way the members had accepted the resolution passed at the previous meeting, as to advertising in 'The Ringing World' instead of sending individually to each tower. It showed that the towers were taking the paper, and he hoped the method would continue, as it was a saving in secretarial work.

The usual vote of thanks was passed to the Rector for his assistance in making the meeting a success, and to this he suitably responded.

A further visit to the tower for ringing was then made, the methods rung being Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, Double Court and Cambridge Surprise Minor.

VETERAN KENT RINGER DEAD.

The Kent County Association has lost one of its original members, by the death, on Feb. 20th, of George Finn, who passed away at the advanced age of 77 years. He had been a member of the Brabourne band since 1876, having previous to that belonged to Mersham. He was known not so much for his peal ringing, as for his good striking and willingness to help others in the art. In former years he assisted in rehanging various peals about the county. He was buried at Brabourne on February 24th, and followed to his last resting-place by, in addition to the family, ringing and other friends. The bells of St. Mary's were rung, half-muffled, on that date, and also before and after service on the following Sunday.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The publication of local performances has now been brought up to date, and we trust conductors responsible for sending in reports will in future do so immediately after peals have been rung, so that we may keep abreast of them. Those who ring peals on Saturdays should send in their reports to reach this office not later than the following Monday.

The same remark applies to meetings. If secretaries will send in brief reports to reach our office on Monday or first post Tuesday we will do our best to find room for them in the following Friday's issue.

On Sunday falls the anniversary of one of those great feats which characterised the rivalries of the College Youths and the Cumberlands in the latter part of the eighteenth century. This particular peal was 12,000 of Treble Bob Royal rung at Shoreditch on March 27th, 1784, by the Cumberland Youths, and was the culminating performance in the competition between the two societies. This Treble Ten record stood for over a century, and the wording of the tablet in the belfry is interesting.

Saturday, March 27th, 1784, the Society of Cumberland Youths rang in this steeple a compleat peal, consisting of 12,000 changes of Treble Bob Royal, with 60 courses, and was performed in 9 hrs. and 5 mins. The length of time and the masterly manner in which it was rung will remain a surviving honour to the performers. It is allowed by all competent judges in the noble art to be the greatest performance ever done on ten bells. The performers were: Geo. Gross 1, James Barnard 2, Francis May 3, Thos. Reeves 4, Isaiah Bray 5, James Patrick 6, Wm. East 7, Abraham Smith 8, Malachi Cannon 9, Allen Grant 10. Composed and called by George Gross, sen.

John Tichborne, a prominent Cumberland at that time, wrote the following lines on the peal, which are still preserved:—

Come, ringers all, and view this church, within the steeple door
Twelve thousand Oxford Treble Bob was rung in eighty-four,
In hours nine and minutes five, the Cumberlands did compleat,
And on the twenty-seventh day of March, the College Youths they beat.

Success unto the Cumberlands wherever they do go.

That they may always have success to beat their haughty foe!

The peal, which this performance eclipsed, was 11,080 by the College Youths on the same bells on May 19th, 1777.

Another anniversary which Sunday next provides, is that of 10,000 Grandsire Caters at New College, Oxford, on March 27th, 1815.

At Warsop, Notts, where there is a proposal to augment the existing four bells to eight, there is a change ringing band who practise 29 variations of four-bell ringing. We are asked whether any other band with only four bells can ring more methods than this.

After all, Mr. Ted Horrex was not able to take part in the peal in honour of his 83rd birthday. Influenza, which is no respecter of person, got him in its grip, and the veteran had to submit to the inevitable. The indisposition, however, was not serious.

The event was duly celebrated by a peal, twelve members of the Ancient Society bringing round 5,019 Stedman Cinques at Southwark. The ringer of the tenor was Mr. Walter Prime, who is 67 years of age, and from the form he showed is evidently still in his prime. At any rate, he demonstrated that a heavy tenor is not necessarily a young man's job. But Walter Prime was famous years ago at the back end.

And, by the way, although he is no novice, Bert Langdon's performance in putting the 11th through the peal in 3 hrs. 50 mins. was by no means a bad achievement.

In this column last week, reference was made to the weight of St. Mary's tenor bell at Nottingham. The original weight was 34 cwt 2 qrs. 8 lbs., but owing to the removal of the canons, she is slightly less now.

The figures of the peal of 10,260 Grandsire Caters rung in that tower in 1778 are still in existence, but the fact that they are not in W. D. Croft's handwriting makes it rather doubtful if he did compose the peal. Tradition says that both the Leicester and Nottingham peals were the work of a Leicester man.

Last week's reference to St. Margaret's, Leicester, has led a correspondent to send us the following extract from the 'Leicester Journal' of Friday, June 20th, 1806: 'The amateurs of the art of change ringing must regret that the musical bells of St. Margaret's are no longer engaged in that science. The society, it is said, plead the pressure of the times, and cannot afford to sacrifice theirs, without a little assistance; as a small subscription would be sufficient to defray the expenses attendant on those meetings. It is hoped the inhabitants will contribute to remove the impediment, and once more give a tone to that rational and interesting amusement.'

Mr. H. Middleton, of Norton, near Evesham, who recently underwent an operation in Evesham Cottage Hospital has now left that institution, and his many ringing friends will be glad to know he is on a fair way to recovery, although it will be some time before he will be able to resume his active life.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.THE PROPOSED AMALGAMATION WITH CLEVELAND.

The annual meeting of the Northern Division of Yorkshire Association was held at Saliburn on March 12th. The bells of Emmanuel Church, by the kind permission of Archdeacon Lindsay, were available from 2 p.m., but owing to the stay of the treble being broken early in the afternoon, little ringing was done until after tea. Service was conducted by Archdeacon Lindsay, who gave an appropriate address.

Tea was followed by a business meeting, at which the Rev. C. C. Marshall, President of the Yorkshire Association, presided.—The Rev. E. Drage, M.A., Vicar of Pickering, was unanimously re-elected vice-president, the District Committee and the representatives upon the General Committee were also elected.

The Secretary reported that no further progress had been made in the attempted amalgamation of the Cleveland and North Yorkshire and the Yorkshire Associations, but a further resolution was passed, to be placed before the Cleveland and North Yorkshire Association at their annual meeting at Whitsuntide, and it is hoped some definite steps will then be taken to bring about a satisfactory settlement of the subject.

A vote of thanks to Archdeacon Lindsay for the use of the bells, concluded the meeting.

During the evening the visitors enjoyed several touches of Grandsire, Kent, Plain Bob, etc., and though, owing to inconvenient train service, the meeting was not a very big one, the ringers present had a very happy time together, and will look forward to the next meeting, which, it is hoped, will be held at Whitty.

SOUTHERN DIVISION ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Southern District was held at the Cathedral, Sheffield, on Saturday, March 12th, and was very well attended, upwards of sixty members and friends being present from Sheffield Cathedral, All Saints', St. Maries' and Rannoor; Bolsterstone, Norton, Arksey, Ecclesfield, Dore, Doncaster, Conisborough Rotherham, Chesterfield, Eckington and Derby. The touches during the afternoon included Stedman Caters, Bob Royal, Treble Bob Royal, and a touch of Stedman Cinques for the service, at which the Ven. Archdeacon of Sheffield (the Rev. Leslie Carr, M.A.), officiated in the Cathedral, and gave a most impressive address. He welcomed the members of the association to the Cathedral Church, and trusted their visit would be blessed. He prayed that the members would be more assiduous in their duties, and give to Him who had been our help and guide through all this dreadful war the best of their talent. The preacher urged his hearers to think seriously of the great work they were doing for the Master's cause, as co-workers in the ministry of the church, for the furtherance of Christianity and the spread of the Gospel.

In the unavoidable absence of Mr. T. Hanforth, Mr. J. W. Peace admirably presided at the organ, and again brought out, by his wonderful skill, the great reputation of this instrument, which is claimed to be one of the best in South Yorkshire.

A most excellent tea was served in the Wolstenholme Hall by the ladies of the St. Peter's Society of Ringers, under the efficient management of Mr. Colne Harrison.

At the business meeting which followed, the vice-president (Mr. Frank Willey) was in the chair. Fourteen new members were admitted to the Association from Rawmarsh, 8; Arksey, 1; Norton, 1; Bolsterstone, 1; Sheffield Cathedral, 2; and Chesterfield, 1.

Mr. F. Willey was again unanimously elected vice-president for the forthcoming three years, and heartily thanked for his past valuable services, and in acknowledging the compliment, urged all present to put forward renewed efforts, and to give of their best as they had been urged to do by the Archdeacon in his address that afternoon.

Mr. C. H. Charlesworth (Bolsterstone) was elected to serve on the committee for the next three years, together with the retiring members, Mr. G. Lewis (Ecclesfield), and Mr. G. Clarke (Arksey), who were re-elected.—Messrs. G. Holmes and G. Lewis were appointed on the General Committee.

A very pressing invitation was put forward by Mr. G. Halksworth (the Ringing Master) to hold the next meeting in June at Doncaster.—This was seconded by Mr. W. Biggin (Norton), and on being put to the vote, was carried without dissent.

A vote of thanks was passed to the Archdeacon for his splendid address, also to the organist for his services, on the motion of the Chairman, seconded by Mr. G. Halksworth.

The Rev. J. Amiens (Chesterfield) proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the local company, and also to the ladies who had waited upon the company.—This was seconded by the Rev. B. E. Sheppard, a fine recruit fresh from Cambridge, and now on the Cathedral clerical staff.

This concluded the business, and some of the members wended their way back to church, and kept the bells going until nine o'clock. Others who had come further afield had to make tracks for home all too early and were very loth to leave such an interesting gathering.

LONG STANTON.—On March 14th, a quarter-peat of Doubles, in 45 mins., being two six-scores of Stedman, three of Plain Bob, and 5½ of Grandsire: L. A. Cook 1, F. J. Cook 2, Rev. H. B. Woolley 3, G. Crisp 4, C. W. Cook (conductor) 5. Also 360 Double Court, by the above, with the addition of W. Hawkes (treble).

BELLS AND FRAMES.THREE CONTROVERSIAL POINTS.To the Editor.*

Dear Sir,—Your article last week in which you refer to bell frames and also bell tuning, emboldens me to offer a few comments. I regret that they are somewhat controversial, but on the other hand many may, on reflection, think that there is something in the points I endeavour to make.

These are three modern ideas which are generally accepted at their statement value, viz., that it is bad to wedge up frames to tower walls; that iron are infinitely superior to timber frames; that Simpson's method is the last word in bell tuning. Your article indeed admits to the two latter, and some correspondence in support of the first appeared recently in your columns.

I beg to be allowed to make the statement, that though there is an underlying truth in all three, I am certain that each can be met with a direct negative. I firmly hold this view now, after having been formerly of a different opinion, I am supported, too, by several of my ringing friends. The following points are purposely put with brevity:

- (1) That if the tower be a strong one, the frame is the better for being wedged up, but with judgment, of course.
- (2) That a properly designed hardwood frame is to be preferred to iron. It is equally strong and rigid, and by very far the more durable.
- (3) That any material tuning on Simpson's principle is offensive to a musical ear; inasmuch as it substitutes a brassy and nasal value for that beautiful liquid and harp-like tone which is the characteristic of a good English bell.—I am, yours faithfully,
E. ALEXANDER YOUNG.

PROPOSED PEAL OF EIGHT FOR WARSOP.

The bells of Warsop Parish Church are shortly to be augmented. The existing four bells were recast and rehung in an iron frame by Messrs. Taylor and Co., and reopened on April 27th, 1913. Provision was then made for more bells, but unfortunately the war intervened, and the proposal was temporarily abandoned.

A committee has now been formed to carry a scheme into operation. It is desired to put a new tenor (weight 10½ cwt.) and three trebles, to complete the octave, in the key of G.

The church is situated on a hill, and the tower, which is over 1,000 years old, can be seen, and the bells heard for miles. The ringers, now seven in number, are all members of the North Notts Association, and there are three honorary members. Change ringing is indulged in as far as four bells will permit, and 29 variations of the 24 changes are rung. The tower band are indebted to Mr. E. Morris, of Leicester, who arranged most of these methods.

DEATH OF A HERTS VETERAN.

It is with deep regret we have to announce the death of Mr. Thomas Webb of Baldoock, Herts, who passed away at his residence, 11, Orchard Road, after a long illness, on Saturday, March 12th, at the advanced age of 85 years. Deceased had been a ringer at the Parish Church for nearly half a century, previous to which he was a ringer at Cottered, where he used to reside. He has not been able to take part in the ringing for the last ten years owing to ill-health.

The deceased had been a member of the Hertfordshire Association since its formation in 1884, and had taken part in three peals of Grandsire Triples, and one peal of Bob Major, the last peal he rang being Grandsire Triples in 1906, on his seventy-first birthday.

The funeral took place on the following Wednesday, the service being conducted by the Rev. Graham Dilley. Among the beautiful floral tributes was one in the form of a bell from his brother ringers. In the evening, Grandsire and Stedman Doubles and Kent Treble Bob Minor were rung, the bells being muffled as a token of respect.

OXFORD SOCIETY.PROGRESS OF ST. EBBE'S BRANCH.

The past year has been a very successful one for the St. Ebbe's Branch, and must indeed be a record for the society. They have rung 110 complete 720's in fifteen different methods, viz., seven Surprise methods and eight plain, viz.: London Surprise, 9; Superlative Surprise, 6; Cambridge Surprise, 20; York Surprise, 2; Chichester Surprise, 2; Durham Surprise, 2; Worcester Surprise, 3; Canterbury Pleasure, 3; Double Oxford, 2; Kent Treble Bob, 15; Oxford Treble Bob, 14; Oxford Single Bob, 5; College Single, 7; Plain Bob, 16; and Double Court, 1. These were rung in nine different towers, but 70 720's were rung at St. Ebbe's. Since this company was formed in July, 1919, they have not missed a single Sunday for services ringing. The ringers taking part were: F. T. Clinkard, 107 720's; F. Beckett, 98; P. Taylor, 93; W. Harris, 93; W. H. B. Wilkins, 93; C. Colas, 64. Other visitors who took part were: G. Stone, H. Miles, T. Payne, H. Tolley, A. Browning, and W. Smith and W. Jeffreys.

THANET.—On March 10th, at St. Lawrence Church, Thanet, 504 Grandsire Triples: H. Foster (first 500) 1, S. G. Twyman 2, L. Twyman 3, W. J. Jarman (conductor) 4, W. G. Birch 5, A. E. Jarman 6, J. Blythman 7, J. Jarman 8.

HELP WANTED.

ST. MARY MAGDALENE, STOCKBURY, KENT.

This very poor parish, with a population of 450, mostly agricultural labourers, has to raise £156 for repair of five bells. About £35 has, so far, been raised from the parish and neighbourhood; £50 has to be taken from a fund specially needed for other work in the church; and at least £70 is still required. Will readers of 'The Ringing World' help us to raise this sum? Donations should be sent to the Rev. H. T. Young, Stockbury Vicarage, near Sittingbourne.

BARNSELY AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting was held at St. Mary's, Barnsley, when members from Darfield, Wath, Felkirk, Wortley, etc., were present, with several local members.

The balance sheet was presented, and showed that after paying expenses the amount standing to the credit of the society is £7 9s. 2d.—This was considered satisfactory.—Mr. Normington, Cherry Tree Farm, Felkirk, was elected president; the treasurer, Mr. A. Panther (Wath), and secretary, Mr. C. D. Potter, were re-elected.—A general discussion followed on the question of the society being essentially for Minor ringing, and, a vote being taken, it proved that the meeting was in favour of this principle being given first preference.

The Secretary was instructed to write the Editor of 'The Ringing World,' stating that the society approve of the price of the paper being raised, so that the journal may continue in the interests of ringers and ringing.

A vote of thanks to Rector and churchwardens was passed, and Penistone was selected for the next meeting, on Saturday, Feb. 12th.

NORWICH AND IPSWICH ASSOCIATION.

A most successful practice meeting of the Woodbridge District was held at Wickham Market on Saturday, March 5th, when members, numbering about 25, attended from Aldeburgh, Blaxhall, Creetingham, Debenham, Grundisburgh, Hasketon, Leiston, Kelsale, Uford, and the local tower. The bells (6), which were placed at the disposal of members by the Rev. C. P. Heywood, were kept going throughout the afternoon and evening in various Minor methods, ranging from Plain Bob to Cambridge Surprise.

The Vicar very generously provided tea for the ringers, which was much enjoyed and appreciated. Pettistree tower was also visited, and the meeting was one of the most successful ever held in the district.—It was decided to hold the next meeting at Blaxhall, the District Secretary to make necessary arrangements.

MUFFLED BELLS.

DEATH OF THE BISHOP OF ST. EDMUNDSBURY AND IPSWICH.

Much muffled ringing was done throughout Suffolk as a last tribute of respect to the late Lord Bishop of St. Edmundsbury and Ipswich. Chief among this was the peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus at St. Mary-le-Tower, Ipswich.

Among the touches were the following:—

SUDBURY.—On Saturday evening, March 5th, 700 changes of Grandsire Triples, with the bells half-muffled, and two short touches of Grandsire Triples for morning service on Mar. 6th. The ringers taking part were: G. Dixon, C. Clark, M. Silvester, S. Howell, W. Heard, A. Scott, D. Elliott (conductor); G. Tatum, A. Maxim.

DEBENHAM, SUFFOLK.—On Friday evening, March 4th, at the Parish Church, on the occasion of the Bishop's funeral, 864 Double Norwich Major, with the bells half-muffled: J. Hammond 1, S. Rowe 2, P. Woods 3, W. Groom 4, T. H. Chappell 5, G. Rowe 6, W. C. Rumsey (conductor) 7, E. F. Grimes 8.—On Sunday, March 6th, for morning service (with clappers muffled), 400 Double Norwich Major: E. E. DEATH OF A TENTERDEN RINGER.

We deeply regret to record the loss of John J. Manktelow, for many years secretary of St. Mildred's band of ringers, Tenterden. He was also a sidesman at the church, and a member of the Kent County Association. He had only rung about ten peals, but was always ready and willing to do his part for the Sunday Service ringing, and upon any other occasion when the bells were required. He had been in failing health for three or four years past, and latterly epileptic fits developed to which eventually he succumbed. The funeral took place at St. Mildred's Church on Friday, March 11th, when his brother ringers rang the bells, muffled, before the service, and after the interment, while in the evening several courses of Grandsire Triples were rung by: L. Beale, E. Burgess, E. Parsons, G. Sims, H. Baker, W. Savage, C. Tribe, O. Hodges. The deceased was 45 years of age, and leaves a wife and four sons to mourn their loss, and they have the heartfelt sympathy of the ringers, who will miss him very much.

A Page for Sunday Service Ringers.

Our message this week is from the Lord Bishop of Sheffield, who has shown himself so keenly interested in the welfare of ringers. As Suffragan Bishop of Lewes he identified himself with the work of the Sussex Association, and since his promotion to Sheffield has in many ways shown how closely he follows the work of the ringing organisations in his populous diocese. In the midst of manifold duties, the Bishop has kindly found time to contribute an Easter message to the Sunday Service Ringers' page.

Among the individual 'long service' records which are worthy of mention are two from High Ercall, Salop. Mr. Thomas Breeze has rung the tenor at that church regularly twice every Sunday for 33 years, being absent only when illness necessitated. Mr. R. Hughes has been 'leader' at the belfry for practically the same length of time.

A correspondent has asked us the meaning of 1, 4th and 5th over the calling of a touch of Treble Bob on this page. '1' is to call the tenor into the slow; 4th to call the tenor to make the bob, and 5th to call the tenor in 5-6 up, which, of course, is the Wrong lead, if there be no bob.

AN EASTER MESSAGE

BY THE LORD BISHOP OF SHEFFIELD.

On no Sunday in the whole year are the church bells so full of hope and joy as on Easter Day. You can almost hear in their music as it peals from the old church tower the glorious pean of the Resurrection, 'Jesus Christ is risen to-day.' On that day, more than any other, the Christians who hear them flock to the Sacred Feast in the House of God. Young and old they answer to the cry of the bells, 'Come, for all things are now ready.' The Risen Christ, the Saviour of the World, will be there, longing to meet His children, and enter into Communion with them. The sound of the bells not only bears witness to Christ's triumph in the past, His presence at the moment, and to the 'far-off divine event, to which the whole creation moves.' It provides a renewal of humanity here, if only we will rise to newness of life.

Ring out old shapes of foul disease,
Ring out the narrowing lust of gold;
Ring out the thousand wars of old,
Ring in the thousand years of peace.
Ring out the darkness of the land,
Ring in the Christ which is to be.

Think on these things, ye that ring the bells on Easter Day, and you will ring better than you have ever done before.

LEONARD H. SHEFFIELD.

A PRACTICAL MEMORIAL SCHEME.

Most of the ringing associations have settled upon the form of memorial to their members who fell in the War, and in several cases the scheme has been carried through to a successful issue. In other instances the proposals are formulated and are awaiting the completion of the necessary funds. One or two more are not quite decided upon the form in which to perpetuate the memory of those comrades who made the supreme sacrifice; but a decision has just been come to by the Hereford Diocesan Guild, who have, at the suggestion of their Ringing Master, adopted a very practical scheme. They intend to recast the tenor at All Saints' Church, Hereford, a thirty-hundredweight bell, which has been cracked and silent for more than fifty years.

To carry out this proposal a sum of one hundred pounds has got to be raised, but there is every reason to believe that this amount will be forthcoming, if only because of the enthusiasm which is certain to be put into the project by Mr. Charles Edwards, Hon. Secretary and Treasurer of the Fund, who has, during the last two or three years, done so much to awaken interest in ringing in the towers of Herefordshire. It is to Mr. Edwards that the initiation of the scheme is due, and he has already secured the generous help of a lady in the city who will bear the cost of the re-hanging and restoration of the whole peal if the ringers raise the £100 necessary for recasting the tenor. Mr. Edwards appeals to ringers both inside and outside the Hereford Guild to assist by subscriptions, and we have no doubt that many will readily respond. It is, of course, up to the members of the Diocesan Guild to rally to the support of the proposal, which will restore to them one of the finest peals of eight in the Diocese. With the revived interest for ringing which has recently been created in the Guild, there should be a generous response, and with the help from outside, there ought to be little difficulty in achieving the object aimed at.

Recently there have been numerous appeals made for help in raising funds for bell restorations, and we feel that Church authorities have a right to look to ringers, who enjoy the use of bells, for assistance in cases of need. Some associations have special funds devoted to this purpose, but they are usually very limited in extent. We should like to see this method of practical help further extended among ringing societies, and a useful sum could be provided by an annual voluntary levy among members, without imposing any severe tax. A donation given officially from an association to deserving and approved cases of restoration would demonstrate to Church authorities that ringers are willing to share the cost of putting bells in order as well as sharing in the enjoyment of them when restoration has been carried out.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

A very successful and instructive meeting of the North-Western Division was held at St. Mary-the-Virgin's Church, Harlow, on Saturday, March 19th, about 30 members being present from Harlow Common, Edmonton, Great Munden, Hunsdon, Bishop's Stortford, Stansted, Saffron Walden, Cambridge, Stapleford, Newmarket, Chelmsford, Brockley, Roydon, Nazeing; also the local company. Touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Kent Treble Bob, Plain Bob, Double Norwich and Superlative Surprise Major were successfully brought round. The thanks of the meeting are due to Mr. W. Hobbs, of Harlow, for kindly arranging tea in the Parish Room at such short notice.

At the business meeting which followed, the District Master (Mr. F. Pitstow) presided, supported by the General Secretary and late Secretary of the Ely Diocesan Association (Mr. A. E. Austin and Mr. T. R. Dennis). Several new members were elected, including Miss V. Shorter and Mr. R. Lathbury as life members.

It was decided that the next meeting be held at Wenden.

The Rev. W. Errington, of Hunsdon, suggested that his neighbouring towers should organise periodical meetings to help each other.

A hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells was accorded, on the motion of Mr. F. Pitstow.

During the ringing, the Vicar (the Rev. J. L. Wilkinson) came into the belfry and congratulated the ringers on the beautiful ringing he had heard, and informed the secretary he would like to become a member of the association.

HINTS FOR BEGINNERS.

FIRST STEPS IN THE ART.

As an old contributor to these columns, I desire at the beginning of these notes to express the pleasure it gives me once again to have the opportunity, afforded by the enlargement of the paper, to do something, however small, to help along the campanological road those who are taking their first steps. First steps are always difficult, and the early obstacles that are often encountered by those who desire to pursue our art sometimes prove so insuperable that the beginner, feeling that the task is beyond his capacity, either gives up ringing, or remains content to be a call change ringer or a tenorman. Then, too, there are young bands eager to make progress, but who, without the help of an instructor find themselves 'bunkered' at some difficult spot, when with just a little external aid they might go ahead rapidly and achieve success and reap the pleasure which this brings. These are primarily the people that I am enjoined by the Editor particularly to write for, and I will endeavour to do my best to help them.

These articles are not intended to be a text-book on change ringing, but just a series of chats to assist the beginner by putting into simple language hints that will help him solve the many problems that invariably face those who attempt change ringing on scientific principles. Neither will these chats run quite like a serial story, for not everybody who is likely to gain any small amount of knowledge from my feeble pen, is at this moment tackling a subject about which they have absolutely no knowledge whatever. While there will be a kind of main current of instruction for the absolute novice, there will be digressions for the benefit of others who have already made a beginning with change ringing, and for whom something more than the purely elementary is required. And on this point let me say that I invite any ringers who are seeking help in the art to write to me of their difficulties, and, if I can assist them, I shall welcome the opportunity.

It is hardly necessary for me to say, perhaps, that the essence of all ringing is good striking. I would far rather hear well-struck rounds than badly struck changes, and the first step of every aspirant in the art should be the perfect mastery of his (or her) bell. Change ringing requires a good eye, for we have to depend upon what is known as 'ropesight,' in order that the bells may be placed in the right order, but it also requires a good ear so that one may know whether one's bell is being struck in exactly the right position to ensure an even 'beat' with the rest. 'Sight' and 'ear' may not and probably will not come to one immediately, but both may be attained, and I would impress upon the beginner that he may start to acquire the latter as soon as he can ring a bell in rounds. To get a rhythmic beat the bells need to be struck so that the spaces which separate them are equal, the only variation being that there should be a slightly longer space after all the bells have completed a whole pull. In other words, the bells ring two rounds, one at handstroke (when the bells are pulled by the sally), and one at backstroke (when they are pulled by the rope end), in even time, but between the blow of the tenor at backstroke and the lead of the treble at handstroke there should be a slight pause, equal to about the space of another bell or a little more. The sequence would, therefore, run like this—

It is only by adopting this plan that a 'beat,' which is the essence of accurate striking, can be obtained and maintained, and to those who desire to become good change ringers (and by this I mean those who wish their bell ringing, as distinct from their method ringing, to be good) I would say 'don't attempt change ringing until you have absolutely mastered this fundamental requirement.'

Having mastered good round ringing, the next step is to acquire the ability to strike a bell well in changes; and change ringing requires, generally speaking, moving one's bell into a fresh position at each pull. Some bells have to move one place 'up,' that is, further away from lead and others one place down, that is, nearer to lead. Obviously this means changing the 'time' of one's pull, compared with that which is required in rounds, the bell having to be 'held up' slightly each time it goes a step further from lead, and pulled in somewhat quicker as it goes a step down towards lead. Good practice in this may be got by ringing at every handstroke the change 21436587, and at every backstroke 12345678. This may be varied by the treble leading and the tenor covering in order to maintain a better beat, thereby causing the handstroke change to be 13254768, while the backstroke is, again, rounds. This practice enables a ringer to get the 'feel' of his bell in changes, and, if good striking is attained, it is an important step towards securing good ringing when half-pull methods are adopted.

The next stage in progress can be taken by learning what is known as plain hunting. The general principle involved in change ringing is that as many bells as possible move in each 'change,' or 'row.' If we have six bells there are three pairs which can change. Starting from rounds, 123456, we then have 214365. But if we change the three pairs again we come back to the rounds from which we started. To avoid this we change the two middle pairs on the second occasion, leaving 2 to strike one more blow at lead and 5 to lie one more blow behind and producing the change 241635. This procedure of changing alternately all three pairs, and then the two middle pairs can be followed six times, and if that is done we get the rows of changes shown at the side. If you will examine these figures you will notice, taking the treble as an example, that at each pull you 'hold up' over all the bells in turn, which takes you one place further from lead each time until you reach the last place of all. Then you turn round, and, putting in one more blow, go down by the same regular steps that you went up, getting one place nearer lead each time, and striking over the bells in the same order in going down as you did in going up. After having taken all the bells one at a time, the treble is at last back again at lead, and, when it has completed a whole pull the bells come round. This is termed plain hunting, and all the bells in the example go through exactly the same process, except that they start at different points, some beginning by hunting up and others by hunting down.

CONDUCTOR.

YORKSHIRE SURPRISE.

A MUSICAL AND INTERESTING METHOD.

Yorkshire Surprise, the first peal of which in Royal was rung at Chesterfield on January 29th, was composed by Mr. Arthur Craven in 1898, but few peals of it have been rung, although the method deserves a wider attention than it received.

All peals of Superlative without reverse courses will run to Yorkshire Major, while there are no false course ends to Royal or Maximus if the tenors are kept together. This gives the method an advantage over Cambridge, as it is possible to have the 6th the extent 'home.'

STEDMAN TRIPLES BY ODD BOB.
A TRIP INTO THE REALM OF FIGURES.

Come with me, away from all this jarring tumult. Come into Fairy Land—even into the Fairy Land of Stedman, where the methods cease from troubling and the Lead Ends are at rest.

But I must first warn you that I do not offer to give you a map of that mystic land, but only to act the humble part of a guide and lead you along the trackway that I have followed as a holiday task.

We must start from the 'Brushwood Pile' of solid fact which has been collected in the past; but do not let that damp your ardour. We will visit strange places—aye, and even reach the Lily Lake—the Lily Lake where the Islands slide, and—who knows?—perhaps also make our way along the 'Thirty mile fide' to its very last milestone, the one on which is inscribed the mystic motto, 'This is all,' and where all the peals come round.

But we must come back to the Brushwood Pile, from which we will take all the Plain Courses of Stedman.

Now I know that the experts say that there are no plain courses of Stedman, and, theoretically they are right, maybe. But who cares? This is Stedman Triples we are dealing with. The same old Stedman that we have known and rung and sworn by all our lives, aye, and maybe, sworn at too, when things went awkward in the slow. And we are going to ring it still and ever call it Stedman. So let us get back to our plain courses.

Here they are. Three hundred and sixty in all, and a nice little pile to handle. Fortunately, however, they arrange themselves nicely into six groups with sixty in each, as follows:—

- I. 1 2 3 4 5 6 3 8 9 10 11 5 13 14
- II. 10 11 4 5 7 5 6 8 14 10 11 12 13 14
- III. 10 11 5 7 12 7 5 13 14 10 2 3 8 14
- IV. 1 2 6 6 6 3 12 13 9 1 2 6 13 9
- V. 10 2 7 12 3 12 7 8 14 1 2 7 8 9
- VI. 1 11 12 3 4 4 4 8 9 1 11 4 8 9

I. is the skeleton of Hudson's famous sixty courses. Notice the repetition of the 3 and 5. It is by substituting 7 and 12 in their places respectively that all the twin bob peals have been composed. I call them the Baby Q sets, and they are equally ready to do their work in any other course where a 3 or a 5 appears.

The other five courses are so cross that, as far as I know, no one has yet been able to bring them to reason. But by a judicious use of bobs and singles, other courses have been produced which are available for peal construction.

Of all these the following is the most useful that I have tried:—
1—10, 2, 3, 6—11, 12, 3, 4—5, 6—13, 9—14.

These I call Mr. Carter's courses, as I believe that he was the first to produce them. Incidentally I may mention that I found them quite independently, and had already put them together into my twenty part peal, before I learnt that he had been over the same ground before.

2314567 14 Notice the repetition of the 3. The Baby Q sets
3426175 1 will, therefore, work. In the specimen course I — 3461275 10 have introduced a 7 for a 3 when the seventh bell is 4137652 2 in the slow, and by this bobbing we have thirty — 4176352 7 true touches of two courses each, and all called — 1643752 8 alike.
— 1637452 11 Now attention, please, for we are going off the 6715324 12 old road. Let us examine the five sixes in which 6752143 3 the seventh does her slow work.
7264531 4 You see that they come from two different plain
— 7245631 5 courses, 12, 3, 4, being in VI., and 5, 6 in II. If 2573416 6 we call a bob as the seventh comes in we shall — 2534716 13 have a 4 instead of a 12, and then leaving out the 5421367 9 bob in the middle of the slow work we shall return
— 5413267 14 to our original place as:—4, 5, 7, 5, 6. There are two 5's here. The Baby Q sets will remove the first, and it now reads:—4—12—7, 5, 6. Write them side by side and compare them thus:—

1637452	—	11	1637452	—	11
6715324	—	12	—	6714352	—	4
6752143	—	3	—	6743152	—	12
—	7245631	—	5	7315624	—	5

What do you notice? That all the rows are different! No! no! not that. A boy scout would not have given so soft an answer. Look at 6. She is in the slow with 7 at all the sixes whose characters we have changed.

Hence it follows that if I make this alteration in the calling every time that I find the 6th in the same position (2nd's place) at an 11. All the 4's with the 6th in the slow, which were in the third row, will move to the first, while all the 12's will drop into the second row.

And what has happened to the third row of the changed part? Instead of a 3, we now have a 7 with the sixth in the slow.

But 3 and 7 are always willing to oblige. The Baby Q sets will change one into another at a moment's notice. We have only to look for 3671452, where the 7th is in quick, and its nine brethren with 3 in the same place, and we shall get rid of the ten 7's that repeat and put back the ten 3's that we have dropped. By this process we change the form, and the number of the thirty true round blocks that we had, but the resulting touches are as true as were the original thirty.

This I call a Giant Q set, and it deserves its name, for it alters 26 courses instead of 4 as the Baby Q sets do.

There are six Giant Q sets in all—one for each of the working bells. Let us use the one that we have already examined, with the sixth in the slow.

Oh, here we are, I told you so. Here we are at the Lily Lake, where the Islands slide. Four and twenty Islands! Four and twenty round blocks, all ready to slide, and the Baby Q sets still ready to push them about.

Let us try how we can push them into one long line to form the thirty mile ride—the peal that we are seeking to put together.

But first let us notice their nature. A and B are five-part touches and have been so shaped by the Giant Q set. There are two other five-part touches like them, which can be produced by transposing 2 with 3 and 4 with 1 at the course end.

This gives us four round blocks containing twenty courses. C, D and F are as they were, and all the other courses can be had by transposing them from the course ends of A. So we have four five-course touches and twenty-two part touches.

Now set the Baby Q sets to work, and all will soon be done. First of all I notice a bad blot in A. There is a six bob set. However, the Baby Q sets can soon deal with that; we will leave out the first two of the set. This allows the sixth to go on up behind, and we find ourselves in column D, and by leaving out the two corresponding bobs there we shall be able to return again. The two places are marked P in the courses. We have now introduced two 3's instead of two 7's; these must be found and bobbed out. They come up in C and E, and I have marked them B to show that two bobs must be introduced at these two rows.

Making these alterations every time that we come into these positions we find that the whole twenty-two round blocks affected gather themselves together and become two long five-part round blocks each called alike.

And the whole peal is now in four round blocks: These two five-parts, and the two shown in B. Remains to put them together.

Turning to B, we find that of the two 3's in each course only one can be replaced by a 7. The other is involved in the Giant Q set and must not be changed.

Alter, then, the calling of the following Baby Q sets.

The extras will join one of the two B's on to one of the long parts, and the omits will join the two long parts together. Thus the peal is in two parts, and an obliging S at 11 in the first course will join the two together. Let me give a table of course ends of the callings used, and by lettering them we shall save much space in writing it out.

GATESHEAD PARISH CHURCH RINGERS.

The annual meeting of this ancient Corporation was held in the belfry on March 9th, the Rector (the Rev. H. S. Stephenson) presiding. It was decided to raise a levy among the members towards a war memorial for fallen comrades in the Durham and Newcastle Association.

Mr. J. Stuart, of 24, Lincoln Street, Gateshead, who has been a ringer for 40 years, was unanimously re-elected captain, and Mr. E. S. Kell, hon. secretary.

In accordance with the spirit of the times, it was decided to open the belfry to ladies. Mr. Stuart would be very glad to hear of churchmen or churchwomen who would like to learn the ancient craft of ringing. The present peal of bells dates from 1788, and replaced an older one.

BARNSELY AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

The March meeting of the above was held at Sandal, near Wakefield, and attracted a goodly number of members. Good ringing prevailed, there being plain methods for beginners, while many more intricate variations, dear to the hearts of Minor ringers, were tried and brought round. One member who had travelled 40 miles, in the hope of ringing Sandal Exercise at Sandal, was able to place 720 of this method to his credit.

The following towers were represented: Anston, Barnsley, Darfield, Cropton, Wragby, Wakefield (Cathedral), Pontefract, Horbury, Wath, Sandal, etc. At a brief business meeting, held in the tower, several members were elected.—Felkirk was selected for the next meeting, to be held on April 9th.—A hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar (the Rev. A. A. Davies), churchwardens and local ringers for the use of the bells, terminated the meeting.

EDENHAM VICAR'S DEATH.

We regret to announce the death of the Rev. Arthur Howard Galton, M.A., for 17 years Vicar of Edenham, Lincs, who died in London on February 20th, after a serious operation performed three weeks previously.

After cremation, the remains were taken to Edenham, and interred in the village churchyard on Feb. 24th. The service in the old church was attended by the choir and ringers, and by most of his parishioners, for the deceased gentleman was a friend to all. A lover of bells, the late Vicar was an honorary member of the Southern Branch of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild, and his place as incumbent will be hard to fill.

After the interment, the bells were rung half-muffled to 720 Oxford Treble Bob, and a touch of Single Court by T. L. Bainbridge, J. Osborne, W. Mills, G. Mills, H. Cunnington, A. Holmes, A. Sneath. The bells were also rung muffled for the service on the following Sunday morning.

STANTON-BY-DALE, DERBYSHIRE.—On Tuesday, March 8th, 720 Bob Minor: W. Bower 1, H. Fawcett 2, F. A. Tansley 3, E. Scattergood 4, H. Door 5, E. G. Gobey 6. First 720 by the treble and 5th ringers.—On Saturday, March 12th, 720 Kent Treble Bob Minor: H. Harrison 1, J. F. George 2, E. C. Gobey 3, E. Scattergood 4, H. Door (first 720 of Kent) 5, F. A. Tansley 6. Also 240 of Oxford, and a course of Cambridge Minor conducted by E. G. Gobey.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

In accordance with our promise that, as soon as we had wiped off the arrears of peal reports, we would introduce new features, so this week we are pleased to open up a new series of articles for beginners by an old contributor. By these articles we hope to cater for those who are struggling in the early stages of the art.

We invite beginners to let us help them with their ringing difficulties. Any suggestions as to points upon which help will be valued will be dealt with by 'Conductor' as far as is possible.

The anniversaries of the deaths of two famous Cumberlands occur next week. Twenty-five years ago next Thursday George Newson joined the great majority, and the gap which his death caused has not even yet been filled. It is five years next Wednesday since Henry Dains passed away, and it is interesting to recall that the 18th of this month will see the 27th anniversary of the long peal of Double Norwich, 13,440, rung in 8 hrs. 16 mins., at Romford, in 1894, in which these two men took part.

The first peal of Treble Bob Royal was rung on April 7th, 1741—one hundred and eighty years ago. This was at St. Sepulchre's, Snow Hill, and was one of the noteworthy achievements of the Eastern Scholars.

April 7th is also the anniversary of another wonderful peal—or part of it: for it was on April 7th and 8th, in the year 1761, that James Barham and the men of Leeds, Kent, rang the famous 40,320 Bob Major in 27 hours. Barham was the conductor, and thirteen men are said to have taken part in the peal. Barham, who died in 1818, at the age of 95 years, is said to have rung 112 peals—an extraordinary record for those early days.

New youthful records continue to be set up, and following upon the performance of one young London ringer who scored Stedman Cinques as his first peal, and of another whose first two tower bell peals were Treble Twelve and Stedman Cinques, comes the achievement of Geoffrey Gammon, who at thirteen years of age begins his peals with Stedman Caters on handbells overnight and Stedman Triples on tower bells next day! It does not look as if we need fear for the future of the art in the Metropolis.

In connection with the handbell peal, it is worthy of note that Mr. John Carter, who was one of the umpires, recorded the calls and course-ends of the peal as they came up, without recourse to the manuscript, and he pronounced the peal a good performance.

The time of the peal at Framlingham on February 16th was 5 hrs. 7 mins., and not 3 hrs. 17 mins. as published.

The total of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association Memorial Fund given in our last issue should have read £290 3s. 4d., not £300 3s. 4d.

J. R. Mackman, of Worcester prison, wishes to receive communications from ringing members of prison staff with a view of arranging for a prison service peal.

Can this record be beaten? Mr. W. Clifford, senr., of Beeston, rang his first peal of Kent Major on April 3rd, 1909, in celebration of his 60th birthday. Since then the following 'first in the method' peals have been rung by him all on working bells: Stedman Triples in May, 1909; Oxford Treble Bob, November, 1910; Double Norwich, March, 1911; Superlative Surprise, March, 1912; Norfolk Surprise, February, 1914. The war then intervened, but since the return of the men, he has mastered Cambridge Surprise, although the peal has not materialised yet, and to-day, at the age of 72, we find him tackling London Surprise with all the energy and enthusiasm of a youth. Another curious record at the time the Norfolk Surprise peal was rung, was that it constituted another member of the company's seventh peal, rung in seven different methods.

DEATH OF MR. WILLIAM DORAN.

VETERAN CUMBERLAND PASSES AWAY.

Death has removed one of the oldest members of the Royal Cumberland Youths, in the person of Mr. William Doran, of West Ham. Mr. Doran was well known among London ringers, and in days gone by took part in a considerable number of peals. Although associated with the West Ham tower, he was also a member of the Leytonstone band from its formation in 1898, and will be much missed from the practices of this active company, with whom Mr. Doran had rung a large number of 720's in Surprise and other methods. A tragic feature of Mr. Doran's death is that it took place almost at the same time as that of his wife, and the couple, united in death as in life, were buried together last Friday week.

Mr. William Miller, the respected Ringing Master of St. John the Baptist's Society, Leytonstone, has also sustained a severe bereavement by the death of his wife, whose funeral took place on Monday of last week. After the service the 'whole Pull and stand' was rung in her memory by the local men, with the assistance of Mr. E. J. Butler, and the same evening a deeply muffled peal of Minor was attempted as a last mark of respect to Mrs. Miller and the late Mr. and Mrs. Doran. The peal came to grief near the end of the fifth 720, after two hours' ringing, and when 720's of Lincoln, Ipswich, London and Wells Surprise had been successfully rung. The band was: W. Riches 1, G. Dawson 2, A. Prior 3, E. Smith 4, J. Moule (conductor) 5, W. Theobald 6.

BELLS AND BELL HANGING.

A REPLY TO THE S.P.A.B.

The following letter has been sent to the 'Church Times,' in reply to the letter on bells and bell hanging, which appeared in that journal from the Secretary of the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings:—

'Sir,—It may be true that bells have been recast in order to fulfil the 5-tone principle of the late Canon Simpson that were better bells before the recasting, and some good old bells that were not far off being correct to this principle have been so-called tuned to the Simpson principle, and made far worse than they were. The Simpson principle is, all the same, the most musical, and certainly the one to go in for in the writer's opinion; but it must be done properly and give the true octave hum note, the other harmonics being the 3rd and the 5th.

'Granted that the tenor bells in London that Mr. Powys speaks of are fine, which they are; they would be finer if they were tuned on the Simpson principle. The tenor at the Imperial Institute was cast by a noted founder, and weighs 38½ cwt., and is not Simpson tuned; the tenor bell at Waltham Abbey is the same weight within a pound or two, and by the same founder, and is Simpson tuned; and, in the writer's opinion, is by far the better bell. The present bells at the Royal Exchange are Simpson tuned, the old ones were not; could there be any comparison?

'Mr. Powys speaks of certain concordant harmonics perfectly in tune; does he not mean harmonics? Harmony, I think, is the blending of one or more notes, and are not harmonics the components of the whole resultant tone?

'As regards the hanging of bells in iron frames, has Mr. Powys ever come across an instance where an iron frame has done damage to the tower? The writer has come in contact with damage done by wooden frames. A properly constructed iron frame supports the tower; by the fact of the supporting girders being anchored in the walls and cross braced, one wall cannot move without the other, thus making the tower and frame one unit. A wooden frame does not do this.

'I should like to know why an iron frame affects the tone; my own experience leads me to think an iron frame improves it. Mr. Powys further says that wood frames are generally heavier; some of the very old frames certainly would be heavier than some so-called metal frames that I have come across, but a modern wood frame would be lighter than a modern metal frame to carry the same weight bells, providing the latter was of proper calibre.

'No one is keener to preserve ancient buildings than the writer, and the way to preserve our grand old English towers, in the writer's opinion, is to hang the bells in metal frames, bolted direct to steel girders anchored in the walls and cross braced wherever you can get them in. But this work must be done by a competent firm.'

J. H. B. HESSE.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I do not know what claim Mr. Alexander Young has to write with regard to the engineering or musical side of bells. One can only imagine that his letter is written solely with the view of having the three modern ideas which are generally accepted at their statement value clearly proved all over again. The more emphasis laid on them, the better!

Now, Sir, you have dealt very clearly indeed with point (2) in your leading article this week, and point (1) has been emphatically brought out in correspondence a few weeks ago. With regard to the question of Simpson tuning, may I give the opinion of two of my friends, one a professional singer, the other a most accomplished pianist, who know nothing whatever of bells or bell ringing except the result outside the tower. One said of the bells of St. Stephen's, Clapham Park: 'We love to hear the bells at St. Stephen's; they are the most beautiful bells we have ever heard.' The other told me of the bells of St. Peter's, Tunbridge Wells, that they were the loveliest toned bells she had ever heard. And both these peals are tuned on the principle which your correspondent alleges to be offensive to the musical ear!

Further comment seems unnecessary.

A LINK WITH SQUIRE PROCTOR.

One of the few remaining links with the famous Bennington band, associated with Squire Proctor, has passed away, in the person of Mr. Charles Shambrook. This company were among the pioneers of Surprise ringing, and in addition to the Standard methods they rang London Surprise fifty years ago. Few connected with that band remain to-day, and Charles Shambrook, who had lived many years near the old church, was laid to rest under the sound of the bells he loved so well. The bells were rung muffled after the funeral, two of the deceased's old comrades taking part in the farewell touches.

PRESENTATION AT SOWERBY.

On Saturday, March 19th, a well-attended meeting was held at Sowerby, and touches in a variety of methods were rung during the afternoon. After the transaction of routine business, Mr. H. Barker made a presentation to Mr. W. Crabtree, who has achieved the distinction of conducting peals in all the Standard methods. The gift was also in recognition of his help and the interest he has shown in cultivating the art of change ringing. — Mr. Crabtree suitably responded, and gave young ringers much encouraging advice.

A nice touch of Kent Treble Bob and another in a Surprise method concluded a very interesting meeting.—The Vicar (the Rev. R. Marie) kindly entertained the visiting ringers to tea.

BANSTEAD BELLS.

ONE OF SURREY'S FINEST PEALS.

Rehung in an iron and steel frame of new design, which provides a wonderful rigidity, the bells of Banstead, Surrey, have been returned on the Simpson principle, and are now claimed to be one of the best rings of eight in Surrey. Banstead has possessed bells for centuries. In the returns of church property made in the reign of Edward VI. there were 'V belles in the steeple.' These bells were recast at various times, and probably from 1638, at least there have been in the tower, six bells, augmented to eight in 1892. The most interesting of the existing bells is one (the 6th) cast by Robert Mot, and inscribed 'Robertus mot me fecit 1585.' Bryan Eldridge, of Chertsey, cast the present 3rd in 1638, and inscribed the bell, 'Gloria Deo in Excelis,' and William Eldridge, his successor, cast the tenor in 1661. 'William Carter made me 1615,' is the inscription on the 4th, while the 7th is a bell cast by subscription in the year 1756, and is by Lester and Pack. The two trebles were added by John Warner in 1892. There has been a wonderful transformation in the sound of the bells since they passed through the Croydon Foundry, and at the reopening on Saturday week the ringers present, who assembled from numerous towers in Surrey, London and Hampshire, warmly praised the work of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston. Capt. F. E. D. Acland has been largely responsible for getting the work done, and the parish is greatly indebted to him for having secured such an improved peal.

The re-dedication service was conducted by the Rev. Canon Hunter, Rural Dean of Leatherhead, who, after the opening hymn, explained, from the chancel steps, how bells came to be used in the Church, directing attention to the fact that, as early as the fifth century, they were in use in Italy. He reminded his hearers of the Old Testament description of the priest's vestments on which were sewn little golden bells, which rang as he went into the Sanctuary, letting the people know that a service was about to commence. He was of opinion that bells should be used much more, at, for example, times of birth, baptism, death and burial, and particularly at the time of the consecration of the sacred elements in the Lord's Own Service, in order to let the people unable to attend the service know what was taking place, so that they could be present in spirit, if not in person. Addressing the ringers, he spoke of the sacredness of their office, and expressed the hope that they would each and all carry out the work with reverence and godly fear. He was himself a member of the Surrey Association of Change Ringers, and always felt proud of the splendid spirit of brotherhood which existed amongst ringers, and especially amongst change ringers.

The following were then formally admitted members of the All Saints' Banstead Bell Ringers' Guild: Capt. F. E. D. Acland, Messrs. J. Hobson, W. C. Goddard, J. Martin, F. G. Woodiss, H. A. Matthews, B. E. G. Farley, R. I. George, W. H. Hounsham and W. Low.

Canon Hunter, with the Vicar, the Rev. A. W. Hopkinson, and the members of the Guild, then proceeded to the belfry, where Capt. Acland gave a short history of the bells. Canon Hunter re-dedicated them, and a touch of Grand sire Triples, consisting of 504 changes, was rung by the following: F. G. Woodiss, Banstead, 1; Major J. H. B. Hesse, Haslemere, 2; Charles Dean, Croydon, 3; W. H. Joiner, Mitcham, 4; J. B. Williamson, Ventnor, 5; A. J. Trappitt, Beddington, 6; Arthur Dean, Leatherhead, 7; R. I. George, Banstead, 8. This touch, conducted by Mr. Arthur Dean, was faultlessly rung.

The Vicar, the Rev. A. W. Hopkinson (International football and hockey player) gave a hearty welcome to all the visitors, and expressed appreciation of the honour all these ringers had done to Banstead by coming to assist at the re-opening of their bells. He could not refrain from referring to the part played by Captain Acland in the carrying out of this scheme. Unfortunately he (the Vicar) was not musical, and the whole scheme and its consummation had rested on Captain Acland's shoulders. There were three experts in the room, and he proposed to call on them to say a few words—Captain Acland about 'Ideals,' Mr. Johnston about 'Means,' and Major Hesse about 'Methods.'

Captain Acland is a cousin of Charles Acland Troyte, to whom so many ringers are indebted for their first insight into change-ringing through his excellent book. The latter's brother, Captain John Acland, the ex-president of the Salisbury Guild, who is now over 80 years of age, was unfortunately prevented from attending, but a letter of congratulation from him was read by Captain Acland, who quoted many sound maxims which the veteran had sent as a message to the meeting. Captain Acland went on to express his pride in the bells and his thanks for the hearty co-operation of Mr. F. Woodiss, who is training the new band, and concluded by saying that he could not thank Mr. Johnston enough for the efficiency of the work and the generosity with which he had treated them throughout the transaction.

Mr. Cyril Johnston followed by suggesting that the means were a matter more for the churchwardens than for him. He told how he had found the local men diligently practising rounds on the previous Monday, and thanked them and the band which rang the first touch for having opened the bells in a manner worthy of a good peal. His staff and he felt special interest in any Surrey bell scheme, as they were Surrey men themselves; and it was encouraging to find that Surrey people did not have to go outside their own county to find a foundry able to give them the best that could be done.

Major J. H. B. Hesse followed with the Vicar's 'thirdly and lastly brethren,' and expressed his gratification at the tone and go of the bells.

The last and most graceful act was relegated to Mr. J. D. Drewett, Master of the Surrey Association, who proposed a vote of thanks to Mrs. Acland for her generous hospitality, and to the ladies who assisted her.

Ringing was then continued till the hands of the clock were nearly at nine, and was remarkable for the excellence of the striking throughout. Seasoned 'first-nighters' voted the Banstead opening as one of the best they had attended.

The tower is somewhat difficult from the point of view of sound, and it speaks well for the founders' ingenuity in so arranging the work as to ensure success within and within. The bells are in the key of E flat, and are tuned on the true 5-tone Simpson principle, and the blending of the harmonies of individual bells and of the 8 bells together is perfect and almost organ-like in effect. Many ringers present considered this to be the finest work the Croydon foundry has produced. The bells are hung on ball-bearings in a rigid steel frame, and the treble stay will bear witness to their good going. The tenor weighs 21 cwt., and is fitted with Major Hesse's spring clapper.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

ANNUAL MEETING AT DEPTFORD.

The annual meeting of the Kent County Association was held at St. Nicholas, Deptford, on Easter Monday. Several causes combined to make the attendance very poor. The day was rather cold and cheerless, and, after the rain in the morning, the streets of Deptford looked particularly driab and dreary; not at all as it was in the days of Elizabeth, a land of green lanes and orchards, when England's Navy anchored almost beneath the shadow of the church tower. One of the speakers at the dinner insisted that Deptford, as belonging to Kent (in spite of the London County Council) was a part of the 'Garden of England.' The Chairman understood him to have said 'Garden of Eden,' and, in responding to the toast of the Archbishop and Clergy, with special thanks to the Preacher, expressed unwillingness to depreciate the locality in which it was his lot to live and work, but a friend of his, so far from regarding Deptford as part of the Garden of Eden, described it as 'a hell of a place.' The cost also of railway travelling no doubt kept many away, so that less than 60 members put in an appearance.

The bells at Lewisham, St. John's, Deptford, Woolwich and Greenwich were open for ringing, besides St. Nicholas. The usual programme was carried out.

A most inspiring service was held, the Assistant Curate (Rev. J. W. Wilkinson) reading the prayers, and the Vicar (Rev. T. W. Pittman) giving the address. The organist of the church attended and some of the choir to lead the singing. In the course of the service the hymns 'Jesus lives,' 'Ye servants of the Lord' and 'For all the saints' were sung.

A collection for the Association War Memorial was made during the last hymn.

The dinner was held in the Gymnasium of the Albury Institute, quite close to St. Nicholas, and the business meeting, which followed, was for the most part purely formal, except for the reading of the secretary's report and the contested election of Central Council representatives. Seven candidates had been nominated, but the voting went strongly in favour of those who had been elected three years ago, viz.: Messrs. Barnett, Cheesman, Groombridge and Canon Helmore.

The report and balance sheet showed that, with the exception of the War Memorial, every department of the Association's work was flourishing, and an earnest appeal was made on behalf of the 'Ringing World.' 'With such a large membership as we now possess (over 1,000 practising members resident in the county), Kent,' added the report, 'ought to be able to give valuable help to insure the due sustentation of the ringers' paper. . . . The world would not come to an end, perhaps, if the "Ringing World" were forced to put up its shutters; but for ringers it would be little short of a catastrophic disaster.'

HELP WANTED.

ST. MARY MAGDALENE, STOCKBURY, KENT.

This very poor parish, with a population of 450, mostly agricultural labourers, has to raise £155 for repair of five bells. About £35 has, so far, been raised from the parish and neighbourhood; £50 has to be taken from a fund specially needed for other work in the church; and at least £70 is still required. Will readers of 'The Ringing World' help us to raise this sum? Donations should be sent to the Rev. H. T. Young, Stockbury Vicarage, near Sittingbourne.

VISITORS TO LONDON.

To the Editor.

Sir,—On behalf of the 'Country Cousins' of Temple Bar (of whom I am one), may I ask him to supply a list of churches in or around the Metropolis, where help is needed on such occasions, so that we shall know where to make for, otherwise we might walk about for a month or two without being able to give the required help, and at the same time add to our list of churches at which we have had a pull. It is too late for Easter, but what about future festivals?
Chelmsford. H. W. KIRTON.

A Page for Sunday Service Ringers.

After the restraint imposed by the season of Lent the bells from hundreds of churches pealed out their Easter message on Sunday with a sound of new-found joy. Many scores of touches worthy of record were rung, but they must be sent to us promptly if they are to appear.

There is a melancholy interest in the composition of a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples given below. It was picked out in the trenches in Flanders by the late A. P. Wakley.

SUNDAY OBSERVANCE.

BY THE REV. CANON PAPILLON.

'Remember that thou keep holy the Sabbath Day'—keep holy; i.e., hallow it; regard it, and let others see that you regard it, as a day set apart for rest and refreshment, spiritual and bodily; a day different from others, and to be observed as such. That is the principle of Sunday observance, as stated in the opening words of the Fourth Commandment; and that principle still holds good, however much its application varies in detail with changing circumstances or ideas. The commandment was first given to men in times very different from ours; and some of its details have long been out of date. But that does not affect the principle, nor our duty as Christians of seeing that it is kept: our duty especially, who live amid a reaction from over strict Sabbatarianism in the past leading, as we all see, to dangerous laxity and disregard of Sunday. Keep the Sunday: in spirit always, by making it different from other days; by avoiding unnecessary work or pleasure; by taking opportunities for worship provided in church or chapel; by a change of dress, or any other outward indication, however trivial; by a quiet family walk with wife or children. Ringers especially, who have now won recognition as Church workers, no longer among the 'black sheep' of a parish, see that you deserve your recognition and live up to it. Remember that you keep holy the Sabbath Day!

EASTER MEETINGS.

The Easter meetings were this year of a very gratifying kind. For the most part they were attended by almost record numbers, and in the few cases where the gatherings failed to come up to expectations in point of attendance they certainly provided satisfactory evidence that the work of the past year has been one of steady advance all along the line. And, after all, while a big gathering at an annual meeting is an excellent indication of the vitality of a society, it is the progress spread over the whole year which forms the chief testimony as to whether an association is a really live one. In the case of the Hertford County Association, both the large attendance at the festival and the splendid progress which the Hon. Secretary was able to report testify to the growing enthusiasm and the uninterrupted advance which is being made in this well managed society. It is most interesting to notice how individual bands are forging ahead, and the promise of the future of the association is most encouraging. The Kent Association, holding its meeting in one corner of the county, failed to attract as large a gathering as usual, but the report of the Hon. Secretary showed what splendid work had been done during the year.

It was only to be expected that at many of the Easter meetings reference should be made to the new Parochial Church Councils. Thanks to the prompt warning given by Canon Baker, which roused the Exercise to action, and the unexpected intervention of Lord Phillimore, the proposed severance of the ties between ringers and incumbents was removed from the Councils (Powers) Bill, but the fact that the ringers are to remain under the control of the clergy, as they have been through the past centuries, does not remove the desirability of their being represented upon the Church Councils. The ringers are a not unimportant body of Church workers, and they should do their best at every church to see that they have representation upon the new Church authority, if only for the reason that some clergy, desiring voluntarily to place the management of everything connected with the personnel of the Church in the hands of the Council, or, at any rate, to consult it in all things, may be inclined to act, with regard to the ringers and ringing, upon the suggestions of the new authority. In such cases it is essential that the ringers' views should be heard, and therefore the warning uttered by numerous recent speakers, that ringers should see that they are placed upon the parochial electoral roll, and that one at least of their number in each parish is nominated for a seat on the Council, is not entirely unnecessary. Ringers are, for the most part, a slow-moving body, but here is a matter which seriously concerns them, and they should realise their responsibilities and act up to them.

ANCIENT LONDON BELLS RESTORED.THE PEAL AT ST. ANDREW'S, HOLBORN.

The famous bells of St. Andrew's, Holborn, were reopened, after thorough restoration, on Sunday morning, and, in the opinion of those competent to judge, now form one of the noblest peals in London. The ceremony was incorporated in the morning service, which was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. Edwin Bedford, M.A. The sermon was preached by the Rector of St. Clement Danes (the Rev. W. Pennington-Bickford, M.A.). After the reading of the second lesson, the clergy, preceded by the choir, proceeded to the west end of the church, where the dedicatory prayers were read, followed by a short touch on the bells by eight members of the London County Association, under the leadership of the Master (Mr. T. H. Taffender). — The Rector, in his address, reviewed in a most interesting manner the history of bells, the growth of change ringing, and the increase of bell restoration work, remarking upon the great work and reforms carried out all over the country by the Change Ringing Associations. He mentioned that St. Andrew's had especial interest for him as the neighbouring parish, and especially owing to the many points in common between the two churches. The restoration of the two buildings was carried out under the supervision of the same architect, Sir Christopher Wren, their previous organs were built by the same man, their Communion tables were of similar design, and each tower possessed a Sanctus bell cast by Robert Mot, of the Whitechapel Foundry, the one at St. Clement's dated 1588, and that at St. Andrew's, 1587. Lastly, both rings of bells had been restored by the same eminent firm.

At the conclusion of the service, the bells were rung to various methods, including Grandsire, Stedman and Treble Bob.

The bells are a peal of eight (tenor 27 cwt.) in the key of C sharp, and were cast at the Whitechapel Foundry in 1731. They were a recast of a former ring, and it is known that bells were rung in this tower to celebrate the victory of Agincourt.

When the existing bells were hung in 1731, they were put back into the old framework, which was altered and rebuilt to accommodate the recast ring. When the present restoration was taken in hand by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, the tenor and 5th were found to be cracked in the crown, and the old framework in too poor a condition to satisfactorily carry the bells. The tenor and 5th have now been recast, the other bells cleaned of all corrosion, and the whole ring tuned and rehung with entirely new fittings and framework. The bells are hung with iron headstocks, and the bearings are of new grease retaining type. The framework is a massive cast iron structure, mounted on a foundation of steel girders, the foundation being amply cross braced to form one unit, and the whole frame is perfectly rigid. The 'go' was very favourably commented upon, and the tone of the bells, after their cleaning and tuning, was considered to be exceptionally fine, especially the recast tenor, and many who were present were of the opinion that the bells constituted the finest eight in London.

Arrangements are being made to have the bells regularly rung for Sunday services.

NORWICH AND IPSWICH ASSOCIATION.SUFFOLK BRANCH'S SUCCESSFUL YEAR.

The first annual meeting of the Suffolk Branch of the Norwich and Ipswich Association was held at Ipswich on Easter Monday. Dinner was served at Day's Restaurant, followed by a business meeting, presided over by the Rev. Canon H. A. Douglas-Hamilton (Vicar of St. Mary-le-Tower), who was supported by the Rev. W. Pearson (Henley), Rev. H. Drake (Ufford), Rev. W. H. Lilley (Bramford), Rev. C. A. Barnes (St. Matthew's, Ipswich), Mr. E. F. Hollamby, Mr. J. Mott, (Ringing Master), Mr. E. Evans (Branch Secretary), Messrs. F. C. Lambert, C. E. Fisher and Wm. Rose (District Secretaries), etc.

The Secretary reported that since the adoption of the branch schema by the Association, general meetings had been held at Henley, Woodbridge and Leiston. Meetings for practice had been held at 24 towers. Since the last general meeting the brothers Bailey, of Leiston, had added to their long list of performances double-handed peals of Stedman Caters, the first by five brothers in any Association. The Company at St. Mary-le-Tower, Ipswich, had rung a peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal and one of Maximus, thus being the first in post war as pre-war to score a peal in this method on 12 bells, and they were now looking forward to scoring a peal of Double Norwich Maximus. The Association closed the year 1920 with a membership of 990, and a total of 178 peals, of which number Suffolk could claim 111. It was a matter for congratulation that the proposed inclusion of bell ringers in Clause 6, Section 3, of the Parochial Church Councils (Powers) Bill was not carried, and that they were still under the control of clergy in charge of parishes, who alone could withhold permission for the bells to be rung.

The retiring officers were elected en bloc: the Revs. Hamilton, Barnes, Lilley and Powell, with Mr. E. F. Hollamby, were elected honorary members, and Messrs. Ward, Berry, Botwright, Smith, Ling, Field, Lee and Thompson ringing members.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.CENTRAL DIVISION AND THE ASSOCIATION'S FINANCES.

Despite the inclement weather prevailing on Easter Monday, the annual meeting of the Central Division of the Sussex Association at Burgess Hill was well attended by a fairly representative gathering. The musical ring of eight was kept going during the afternoon and evening in methods ranging from Grandsire Triples to London Surprise. A bright service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. E. B. Jameson, M.A.), who, choosing as his text, Numbers x. 7, 'When the congregation is to be gathered together, ye shall blow,' recalled the use of the silver trumpet for assembling the children of Israel, which office was performed solely by the priest as being one of a very high order. So, too, was the office of the church bell ringer to-day. The preacher emphasised the need for ringing the bells for Divine service in a frame of mind suited to the occasion; and pointed out the far-reaching effects of this branch of church service.

After a collection in aid of the Benevolent Fund, the organist gave a brief, but greatly appreciated, recital on the fine-toned instrument, of which the church is justly proud.

Tea, generously provided by those interested in the ringing locally, was served in the Parish Hall, and was enjoyed by a company of some forty persons, the Vicar presiding, supported by Mr. J. Emerson, the churchwarden. Addressing the gathering at the conclusion of the meal, the Vicar said he was desirous of expressing his appreciation of the honour which he felt the association had given to his parish in holding the annual meeting of the Central Division there. He sincerely hoped it would encourage the local band (sadly depleted by the war) to push on to greater things, and that they would have the pleasure of again welcoming the association at Burgess Hill.

A vote of thanks to the Vicar for his kindness in granting the use of the bells and conducting the service, and to the churchwarden for his kindness in arranging tea, was passed with acclamation.

At the business meeting which followed, the chair was taken by the Master (Mr. J. T. Rickman), supported by the Rev. Cecil H. Clarke, of Chiddingly.—Messrs. Geo. Masters and Alfred Gander, of Hurstpierpoint, were elected new members. The election of the following members was then confirmed: Messrs. P. J. Spice, Bromley, Kent; A. J. Trapitt, Wallington, Surrey; A. Mason, West Croydon. The following officers were re-elected: Mr. A. D. Stone (hon. secretary), and Messrs. R. J. Dawe, E. C. Merritt and Wm. Watts (committee).

A statement of the division's accounts was then read by the secretary, showing the receipts £27 0s. 10d., and expenditure £12 10s. 4d. The balance (£14 10s. 6d.) had been paid over to the general hon. treasurer, together with £1 9s. 9d. for the Benevolent Fund.

The last item of the agenda was the consideration of the financial position of the association.—After lengthy discussion, Mr. Markwell (Henfield) proposed: 'That no increase should be made in the amount of subscription, but that the paying of expenses for district meetings should be discontinued henceforth.'—Mr. E. Bish (Ditchling) seconded, and the motion was carried nem. con. The meeting also considered that the opinion of all members on this vital question should be sought and raised at the annual meeting.

Ringing in the tower was then resumed until eight o'clock, when the bells were lowered in peal. The following towers were represented: Aldrington, Brighton (St. Peter's), Cuckfield, Chiddingly, Ditchling, Hurstpierpoint, Lindfield, Lewes, Shoreham, and the local branch.

WESTERN DIVISION MEETING.

A quarterly meeting of the Western Division was held at Shoreham on Saturday last, 23 members being present from Brighton, Heene, Steyning, Henfield, Seaford, Pulborough, Billingshurst, Kirdford and the local band. The methods practised ranged from Grandsire Double to London Surprise Major. The members attended a service, at which an address was given by the Rev. Holmes Gore, Vicar of Shoreham. An excellent tea was kindly provided by the Vicar at Mr. Street's restaurant. At the meeting which followed the Vicar took the chair, and was elected an hon. member. Mr. Kitchener, of Kirdford, and Mr. Griffiths, of Hove, were elected active members. Mr. A. W. Groves was re-elected hon. secretary, Messrs. Norris, Statham and Doick were appointed on the committee.—It was decided to hold the next meeting at Kirdford on June 18th.

A discussion took place as to raising the annual subscription by 50 per cent., and on the motion of Mr. H. Statham, the secretary was asked to circularise each tower to find out through the local secretaries the views of each member, so that the matter can be settled at the general meeting to be held at Brighton on May 1st next.

On the motion of Mr. E. C. Merritt, a hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Vicar for presiding, for the use of the bells, and also for providing the excellent tea.

The Rev. Holmes Gore having suitably responded, a move was again made to the belfry and the bells kept going till 9 p.m., every one agreeing it had been an excellent meeting.

HINTS FOR BEGINNERS.

It is just as well that those who are starting into change ringing with my notes as a guide should have time to digest what I have to say and put into practice the suggestions I have to make. To give them ample opportunity, therefore, to get off the mark, as it were, I will turn my attention this week to one or two subjects which have been raised by correspondents, whose letters the Editor has passed on to me. One writer, speaking of the highly instructive article by Mr. J. W. Parker which appeared recently, suggests that more attention should be given to touches of Stedman Triples containing odd bobs and touches which contain singles. He remarks that there are many ringers who, when a single is called, have symptoms of what the late Master of the Oxford Guild used to term 'single fever,' simply because touches of Stedman Triples containing singles are so seldom rung.

There is a good deal of truth in this last remark. I can remember occasions when at Association meetings Stedman Triples has been rung, but the touch has come to grief by the call of a single, which has left those concerned absolutely floundering. I also recall an incident in the early days of my ringing when, on approaching the half-peal, the Conductor gave the warning, 'Look out for the single.' Nothing, I should imagine, could be more calculated to upset a band than this—at any rate, it put all of us into a fluster, and it only needed the single itself to put an end to our peal.

Now, for those who get nervous over singles, a bit of practice is the best remedy, and for this purpose it is not necessary to have specially composed touches. There is quite a simple way of getting this practice, and although it does not follow that the touches will all be true, that is a matter of little importance in this case. If, instead of any pair of bobs in a touch, the conductor will call a brace of singles, he will give his ringers experience in this feature of the method, and his touches will run round at the same length as if all bobs were called. The reason, of course, is simple, a single reverses the bells dodging in 6-7 (in Triples) and another single at the next six-end puts them back into their original coursing order.

As to the singles themselves, they are not really very difficult, even for a beginner in the method. The only bell that does strange work is the one dodging in 6-7 down. He makes a whole-pull in 6th's, at back and hand stroke over the bell making 5th's, and dodges up, with the bell he had previously been dodging down with. For the rest, the bell dodging in 4-5 up makes 5th's and dodges in 4-5 down as at a bob, and the bell in 6-7 up lies a whole pull behind and dodges in 6-7 down as at a plain six. The difficulty most beginners experience is in knowing whether they are quick or slow after a single. As a matter of fact, a single does not affect the way you go into the front work. If you would have been a quick bell without the single you will be a quick bell with it; and if you would have been a slow bell without it you will be a slow bell with it—exactly as if a pair of bobs had been called.

This is the letter which I have received from another correspondent: 'I have read your "Hints for Beginners" in "The Ringing World" with great interest, and particularly where you invite ringers, who are in any difficulty to write to you and seek your help. I will state exactly my position, and then you will know how great are my difficulties. Our parish war memorial is to be in the form of a peal of eight tubular bells, to be hung in one of our parish church turrets, and I am ambitious enough to want to ring these bells, and to make a good job of it. (The bells arrived yesterday and are to be fixed very soon.) I have taken the "Ringing World" for a few weeks, and have visited two bellfries, etc., and chatted with a few bell ringers, but I am still quite at sea with such terms as "Bob Major," "Grandsire Triples," etc., neither can I read the "useful touches for service ringers." I don't know what the letters "W," "B" and "H" mean. Of course, the ringing of our bells is to be a "one-man job," and I want to do it well. I am looking forward eagerly to the time when I can ring our bells, and picture myself ringing changes, tunes, etc. There seems to be endless possibilities in ringing a peal of eight bells, all to oneself.'

I do not want to discourage my friend, but I may as well tell him here and now, that, unless he is an Elijah Roberts or an Arthur Morris, what he seeks, 'can't be done.' First, you cannot 'ring' tubular bells; you can only chime them. Then, there is no royal road to a knowledge of change ringing, and what he desires to achieve or tubular bells can only be attained by years of study and practice. I would suggest to him that he should, as a start, get hold of a few musical changes for chiming, and devote his energies with the tubes to tune playing. But he is enthusiastic, and should not let his enthusiasm be wasted entirely on chiming tubular bells, which are no more like the real thing than a barrel organ is like a piano. He should join a change ringing band in his own neighbourhood and avail himself of the practices there in order first to learn to handle a bell and afterwards to study the art. He would get guidance from his comrades in the belfry, and text books and these notes would help him along. All in good time he would know the meaning of Bob Major and Grandsire Triples, and the precise interpretation of 'W,' 'B' and 'H.' But whatever happens to the tubular bells, this enthusiast ought not to be lost to the Exercise, and, as he desires to remain anonymous, I can only urge him to make the first approach to a neighbouring hand.

The Cumberland Youths held their annual dinner on Saturday, and the gathering was most successful and enjoyable. Mr. J. D. Matthews, the Master, presided, and there was a company of about 70. A report of the proceedings will appear in our next issue.

Next Tuesday is the twelfth anniversary of the record lower bell peal, the 18027 Stedman Caters at Loughborough in 12 hrs. 18 mins., on Easter Monday, April 12th, 1909.

The East Berks and South Bucks Association of Ringers began with two towers in 1877—Boyne Hill and Farnham Royal—and were connected up by Burnham, about midway between the two. There are some four or 5 original members still living, including its first president, Canon Drummond.

The wife of the present branch president is the daughter of the first secretary, the late Rev. F. S. Marshall, Rector of Farnham Royal, whose son is now Vicar of Fulham.

The Oxford Diocesan Guild War Memorial Fund stands at about £250, and £76 is needed. Nine towers of the East Berks and South Bucks Branch have so far responded to the call for funds—all the Bucks with the exception of two. Buck up, the Berks.

Forty years on! It's a long time, but Messrs. William Burgar and J. A. Dixon, of Sheffield, must have had a thrill of satisfaction in taking part, each on the same bell as in 1881, in a peal at Ranmoor to celebrate the 40th anniversary of 'the first on the bells.' We hope they will be able to take part in a jubilee peal.

But interesting as is this performance, Mr. T. Miles, who rang his first peal at the Parish Church, Epsom, on April 23rd, 1889, when the band comprised four fathers and four sons, has gone one better than the Sheffield's men's achievement, by ringing in the first peal on the new ring of ten at his parish church 52 years later. He is very hale despite his 72 years, and finished perfectly fresh.

Another 'game' youngster who hopes to be ringing peals at the age of 100, has just demonstrated how much vitality a man can have at 67½. Leaving Birmingham at 11.25 a.m. on Saturday, he rung the 10th to a peal of Treble Twelve at Waltham Abbey, Essex, in the evening; caught the midnight train from London, lost an hour on the way owing to summer-time, reached Birmingham at 4.15 a.m., and put in a full day's service ringing on Sunday. We need scarcely add that this enthusiast was Mr. James George.

The first peal of College Single Major in Derbyshire was rung on Easter Monday, at Dore, as a memorial peal to the late Mr. David Brearley.

Mr. H. Middleton, of Norton, who was one of the band that put up the Stedman Cinques record of 11,111 changes, is, we are pleased to say, now out of hospital, and progressing favourably after his serious illness.

James E. Lilley, son of C. R. of that ilk, has rung his first peal at the age of 13 years. He is the youngest ringer to ring a peal for the Salop Guild, and in the Diocese of Hereford. The band are anxious to know if he is the youngest member of the Exercise to ring a peal. There have certainly been younger ringers of peals on handbells, and, we believe, also on church bells. No doubt some of our readers can furnish us with exact particulars.

It is not always the peal which scores the highest number of points that is the most meritorious. There is much credit in the performance of the band at Great Staughton, Hunts, recorded this week. It is only a peal of Grandsire Doubles, but it was the first peal by all the band and the first attempt, and in addition was the first peal on the bells. No matter what heights these men attain to in the future, they are never likely to ring a sweeter peal than this.

SURREY ASSOCIATION.

A successful meeting of the Central District was held on Easter Monday at Streatham. Ringing was enjoyed at the Churches of St. Leonard and Immanuel during the afternoon and evening, the methods ranging from Grandsire Triples to Cambridge Surprise. Service was attended by the members at Immanuel Church, and included an inspiring and instructive address by the Vicar.

The usual business meeting was held in the Mission Room close by, and was presided over by the Master (Mr. J. D. Drewett), supported by the Vicar and his warden, who both responded to the vote of thanks, proposed by the Master.—It was decided to hold the next meeting at Banstead, in July.—One honorary and three ringing members were elected.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.A RECORD ATTENDANCE AT ANNUAL MEETING.

Leicester was the rendezvous for the annual meeting of the Midland Counties Association on Easter Monday, and visitors poured into the city from an early hour. As St. Martin's bells (10) were appropriated by their company for peal ringing, members of the association made their way to other towers, where no restriction existed. St. Saviour's, St. John-the-Divine, St. Mark's and St. Peter's, Belgrave, were all available, and were soon occupied. Being near to the Midland Railway Station, the bells of St. John's were in great requisition, everything from Grandsire to London Surprise and Bristol being on the bill of fare. Although the M.C.A. embraces four counties, ringers came from as far as Lincoln, London, Birmingham, and at one time quite a queue was waiting to get 'into possession.' However, all were eventually served, the holiday spirit was in the air, and the music of the bells was appreciated by a holiday public. The afternoon found the new hall-room of the 'Bell Hotel' crowded for tea. About 150 had sent in their names, but 193 turned up, which number constitutes a record for an annual meeting of the M.C.A.

Nearly all the local clergy honoured the meeting by their presence, including the Ven. Archdeacon Macnutt, of St. Martin's; the Rev. S. White, M.A., Vicar of St. John's; the Rev. F. C. Payne, M.A., St. Margaret's; the Rev. W. S. Warren, of St. Mary's; the Rev. J. Disney, M.A., Belgrave, and others.

The general meeting immediately followed, the President, Ald. R. B. Chambers, J.P., occupying the post of honour, supported by Mrs. Chambers, the clergy, and officers of the association. Apologies were received from the Bishop of Peterborough, the Mayor of Leicester, and others.

The President congratulated the members on the record financial year just concluded, and recorded in the report, which, with the statement of accounts, was adopted nem. con. Reference was made to St. Margaret's peal of ten bells now in Loughborough foundry awaiting rehanging, and possibly recasting, and an appeal being made for help by the chairman, and supported by the Vicar of St. Margaret's, it was decided to take up a retiring collection. The bells of St. Mary's (8), also condemned, were mentioned, and it is hoped these may speedily be overhauled and rehanged. The estimated cost of £600 is, however, prohibitive at the present moment.

The voting for four delegates to the Central Council then took place, and while the counting was being carried out, a humorous speech by the Archdeacon filled the bill. The result of the polling was later declared by the chairman as returning officer, viz.: Mr. W. Willson, Leicester, 85; Ald. R. B. Chambers, Derby, 83; Mr. P. Taylor, Loughborough, 59; Mr. J. Griffin, Burton, 50.

There were eleven 'starters' for the 'Central Council Stakes,' and among the 'also rans' were Messrs. Dexter, Morris, Gobey, Chapman, Coppock, White and Kirkby. The elected members returned thanks, and the rest of the business was of a formal nature, and the members returned to the towers for ringing until 8 p.m. Subsequently they re-assembled at the Bell Hotel for a smoking concert, organised by the local branch. It may be mentioned in passing, that the president kindly defrayed the expense of the room for the 'smoker,' a fact greatly appreciated by the members. Some of the Leicester Amateur Musical and Dramatic Society kindly gave their services, assisted by some talented members of the M.C.A., viz.: Mr. A. Coppock (baritone), Mr. J. Jackson (humorist), Mr. T. H. Hardy (basso), Miss Winnie Willson (soprano), Mr. Humphreys (comic), and others. Mr. T. H. Hardy, A.V.C.M., was the pianist. Among the various items of interest was course of Stedman Cinques in hand by W. Willson 1-2, S. Cotton 3-4, G. Cleal 5-6, Albert Walker (Birmingham) 7-8, A. Norman (Birmingham) 9-10, J. George 11-12. Ten o'clock came all too soon, but it was undoubtedly a meeting to be proud of, and a huge success, the local committee feeling that their labours were not in vain.

Forty-two new members were elected, including His Grace the Duke of Argyll. The next meetings will be as follows: Duffield in June. Hinckley in September. Basford-Bulwell in January next, while the annual meeting in 1922 is booked for Burton-on-Trent.

LLANDAFF DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A quarterly meeting of the Llandaff Diocesan Association was held at Monmouth on Easter Monday, when a goodly number of ringers attended from towers throughout the diocese. The bells, a ring of 8, by Rudhall, with tenor about 20 cwt., were available all day, and good use was made of them, touches in a variety of methods being rung. It was the first occasion upon which ladies had taken part in ringing on the bells, and consequently the locals were very interested in seeing the two Rumney ladies taking part in Triples.

The business meeting in the afternoon was presided over by Y. Evan Davies, of Caerleon, in the unavoidable absence of the Vicar.

Tea, very kindly provided by the local church authorities, was partaken of at the Dorothy Cafe. Considering the isolated position of Monmouth, which is situated at the extreme end of the diocese, the meeting ranks as one of the best.

The next meeting will be held at Pontypridd, to be followed with one at Magor.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.GREAT ADVANCE IN 1920.

In accordance with the practice that has now prevailed for a good many years, the annual festival of the Hertford County Association took place at St. Albans on Easter Monday. The gathering was as popular as ever, one speaker remarking at the meeting that it was one of the best in the country.

Canon Parnell (Vicar of Abbot's Langley) preached at a special service held in connection with the festival at the Cathedral. At the conclusion of the service, a party of bell ringers, comprising Messrs. H. and W. Hodgetts, F. W. Brinklow, H. Eden, Challis, F. Winney and Maurice Hibbert rang a course of Stedman Cinques in the choir of the Cathedral. It was an excellent performance, the beauty of tone of the bells and the precision of the striking were a revelation to many ringers, and especially to other members of the congregation.

An excellent tea was provided at the Abbey Institute by Messrs. Slater, of St. Albans, and was partaken of by a party of about 100. Mr. W. H. L. Buckingham presided, and amongst others present were: The Dean of St. Albans, Canon Parnell, the Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt Drake, the Rev. G. M. Edmonds, Messrs. E. N. Wix, L. Head, J. Prewett, E. P. Debenham (hon. treasurer) and G. W. Cartmel (hon. secretary). There were also representatives from St. Albans, Harpenden, Luton, King's Langley, Bushey, Hertford, North Mymms, Berkhamsted, Hemel Hempstead, Tring, Ware, Hatfield, Edmonton, Fulham, Southgate, Barlow, Little Munden, Oxhey, and various other places.

The President (Mr. W. H. L. Buckingham) presided at the annual meeting, and in opening the proceedings, remarked on the number of ringers present, and said how pleased he was to see so many familiar faces, mentioning especially Mr. C. F. Winney.

The following were elected members: Messrs. Cecil Edwards, C. Siggers, H. Wilds (Great Munden), F. Dollimore, J. W. Lane (King's Langley), F. Peters (St. Albans), F. Nash, R. Tyler (North Mymms), A. R. Elkins (Aston Clinton), on the proposition of the Hon. Secretary, seconded by Mr. Debenham. Mr. E. N. Wix, of St. Albans, became an honorary member.

The Hon. Treasurer moved the adoption of the accounts, which showed a balance in hand of £10 8s. 5d., and £15 15s. 9d., held by the Society in 5 per cent. war stock. The subscriptions for ringing, honorary, and life members, amounted to £30 17s.—Mr. F. Smith seconded, and the accounts were accepted.

THE YEARS' WORK.

The Hon. Secretary, in his report, said: The conditions of ringing throughout the county show great advance, and one notices not only the increased number of men who ring advanced methods, but also the progress almost every band has made since our last annual gathering. Approximately our membership is 521. Thirty-five peals have been rung during the year, and including the omission of a Minor peal from my last report, rung at Great Wymondley, makes a total of 56. They have been rung in 24 different towers by 128 different ringers, including one lady. Thirteen have rung their first peal, and many others have rung their first in a variety of methods. The peals comprise: London Surprise 1, Erin Triples 1, Stedman Caters 1, Stedman Triples 5, Grandsire Triples 6, Bob Major 1, Kent Treble Bob Major 1, Oxford Treble Bob Major 2, Superlative Surprise 2, Forward Major (first by the Association, and first in the county) 1, Minor 1, Doubles 3. Speaking of individual performances, one notices the first peal of Erin Triples rung by the association, by the Bushey Society. When we consider that the peal contained 360 bobs and 98 singles, 458 calls altogether, some praise is due to the conductor, Mr. Maurice Hibbert, and I am sure we compliment him upon the achievement, also upon ringing his hundredth peal. The Hitchin band, assisted by Great Wymondley, have made considerable advance, and they have added to their credit a peal of Oxford Treble Bob Major, the first peal by ex-service men resident in the county. It was the first peal in the method by all, the first peal they had rung upon eight bells, and the first by all in the method. Twenty years ago the Hitchin band could only ring one method, to-day it is competent to ring six, and some are attacking Superlative. Another commendable feature of this band is they have set out to ring a quarter-peal once a month for Sunday service. You will also notice the excellent progress made by the Great Wymondley band, several having rung peals. The Royston Society have also scored their first peal, at the third attempt, and other records I am informed are to follow. Instruction is being given to St. Ippoly's band, and it is hoped to introduce change ringing at Offley, when the rehanging of the bells is completed. Baldock bells are in the bellhanger's hands, and when finished we shall again hear from them. There is a 'hum' in the whole of the Northern District, and we congratulate those who are forging ahead. At Hertford and St. Albans, Stedman Caters are now rung, and, I trust, that during the year both the All Saints' and St. Peter's bands will ring a local peal in this method. It can be done, and I hope our president will have the honour of calling the first local peal of Stedman Caters in St. Albans. King's Langley have rung their first quarter-peal of Hertford County Association.—Continued.

Grandsire Triples, which spells a peal in 1921 if I mistake not, and Hemel Hempstead and Tring have accomplished some creditable performances. The Cathedral Society, on the authority of its conductor, can now ring 24 different methods, and although no eight bell peals have been rung by the band during the year in the city, they have visions ahead. Our five and six bell towers have been going ahead, as testified by the peal list. The Luton band has also forged ahead, and now ring Superlative for both morning and evening services. The Harpenden band has made splendid progress, and is now capable of ringing creditably some of the higher methods. It is difficult to particularise on the accomplishments of the various bands, and although I have singled out a few for special reference, I realise that every band is doing its level best to advance the cause for which our association was established. Much has been written about the future of 'The Ringing World,' and we heartily congratulate the Editor upon his forward movement, not only of increasing its pages, but adding several new features. I appeal with confidence to our members that they will strongly support the venture, and use every endeavour to raise the circulation. The Sunday Service page is a capital addition.

RINGERS AT PAROCHIAL COUNCILS.

Lord Phillimore's argument for the ringers, quite unexpected, at the National Assembly, was sufficient to secure the alteration in the Act, foreshadowed by Canon Baker's amendment, and we can now breathe freely again. The ringers of the land prefer to trust the clergy, whom they know as their friends, than run risks with unknown Parochial Church Councillors, however good their credentials. The whole exercise are grateful to Canon Baker for pointing out the defect and bringing it to the notice of the Central Council through the medium of the 'Ringing World.' Every ringer who is eligible should see that his or her name is inscribed upon the Electoral Roll of the Parish Church Councils, and that also he has his representative on the Committee. The National Assembly Act is the layman's franchise, a measure conceived with high motives, and it rests with us whether we make or mar its efficiency. Since our last gathering we have lost by death: Messrs. Henry Lewis, of St. Albans, and Oliver Twist, of Walthamstow. Mr. Lewis joined the Association at its inception, and retained an enthusiastic interest in everything pertaining to its success. He was twice elected president, which was an honour he fully appreciated. He was a singularly happy man, especially when associated with ringers, and he loved to tell at this meeting his ringing yarns, which many of us still remember. He lived a straight life, and rung a true course, and the many happy friendships that linked him with this Association were to him a precious heritage. Mr. Oliver Twist had also been called to his rest. He had been a member for many years, and seldom missed our annual meeting. He was passionately fond of ringing, and the Walthamstow Society will sorely miss him. To his sorrowing wife and family we extend heartfelt sympathy. Two other St. Albans ringers, stalwarts in the early days, have also heard the ringers' call, 'this is all.' I refer to Messrs. A. Godman and Thomas Waller. Both in their day and generation did good service in fostering change ringing, when ringers were few, but retired from active ringing some years back. We gratefully acknowledge all that they did for the cause. Mr. Thomas Conley, of St. Albans, still puts in a most regular attendance in the belfry, and although the sunshine of nearly 85 summers has smiled upon his fortunes, he is still young enough to ring over a thousand of Grandsire Caters, a feat he accomplished a fortnight ago.

DIVISION OF WESTERN DISTRICT.

I would remind you that there are still a few towers in the county where change ringing is not practised. If a cycling or other party could visit some of these towers during the summer months definite results might follow. As regards the districts, the committee discussed the question at its last meeting, and came to the unanimous conclusion that it would be advisable to further split the Western District into two, the Watford to comprise Watford, Oxhey, Rickmansworth, Bushey, Aldenham, Elstree, Abbots Langley and Langleybury, and the new Western district King's Langley, Berkhamstead, Tring, Hemel Hempstead, Northchurch, Apsley End, Great Gaddesden. Mr. F. J. Reeves, of Tring, a man keenly alive to the interests of change ringing, is prepared to undertake the secretarial duties, so success is assured from the beginning. The committee felt that the excessive railway fares in this neighbourhood interfered seriously with attendance at district meetings, and the method suggested will give our Western friends an opportunity of meeting more frequently with neighbouring bands. The district secretaries still continue their effective work. Mr. H. Eden (Western Division) has arranged two meetings at Watford; also meetings at Tring and Hemel Hempstead. Mr. F. R. Bacon has managed to fix up six meetings, at five of which he has persuaded the respective vicars to have a short service with address. This is most encouraging, and is well worthy of imitation, when possible, in other divisions. Mr. W. H. Lawrence has had three meetings at Broxbourne, Bennington and Edmonton, the last being held by invitation of the Edmonton Band. I would here acknowledge the Association's indebtedness to the Edmonton Band for their great kindness in providing tea and giving the members such a hearty welcome. This band has been associated with us for many years, and we feel that this kindly act is evidence of the true fellowship that exists among ringers of to-day. Mr. W. Nash, for St. Albans Division, has been busy in arranging quarterly meetings at Hatfield, North Myms, Wheathampstead and Sandridge. At district meetings we are nearly always strongly supported by our non-resident members, distance seeming only to accentuate their enthusiasm. The estimate of their services at these gatherings cannot be adequately expressed; but we are all very grateful to them. To the district secretaries I would offer the thanks of the Association for their unstinted labours. I would emphasise the importance of district meetings, and urge the members' attendance when possible. The success of the society depends upon these well organised gatherings. The social element increases enthusiasm, and many young ringers receive an impetus to attempt greater things. I am sure you heartily join with me in thanking them for all they have done. And I would not forget the secretaries of the various towers who collect and forward the annual subscriptions.

THANKS.

Thanks were also given in the report to the Rev. Canon Mills, Rev. W. H. T. N. Rainey and Mr. Fowler, who had kindly provided teas at district meetings; to Mr. J. Prewett, who had again audited the accounts; to Mr. Livermore, the librarian; to the ringers of the course of Stedman Cinques at the service; and to the incumbents for the use of the bells, not only at that annual meeting, but at all other times, whether for practice, peals, or district meetings; also to the honorary members for their monetary support, including the Bishop of St. Albans, who had become a life member.

'To-day,' concluded Mr. Cartmel, 'our Association stands in a high state of efficiency, and I do not remember any year that I have seen such a forward movement in evidence. Upon us individually rests the responsibility that our membership means increased efficiency in our ringing, both in striking and method, so that we may still go forward. But that efficiency will be minimised unless we realise the true position of our high calling. We are called not only to this branch of church work here below, but we are called to be fellow workers with God in the extension of His Kingdom. May everyone here to-day realise that insistent call, and place their services upon the highest plane, so that in the daily round and the common task we may, as each Sabbath comes round, join not only in the ringing in the tower, but in the worship and singing in the pew.'

The report was adopted on the motion of the Rev. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake, seconded by Mr. Barnes (Reddish).

The election of officers was as follows: President, Mr. W. H. L. Buckingham; hon. treasurer, Mr. E. P. Debenham; hon. secretary, Mr. G. W. Cartmel; representative on Central Council, Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake; hon. auditor, Mr. J. Prewett; hon. librarian, Mr. E. J. Livermore; hon. district secretaries, northern division, Mr. F. R. Bacon; eastern, Mr. W. H. Lawrence; Watford, Mr. H. Eden; western, Mr. F. J. Reeves; St. Albans, Mr. W. Nash.

Thanks were accorded Canon Parnell for his excellent address, and to the Dean and the Vicars of St. Peter's, St. Michael's and St. Stephen's, for the use of the bells.

The Secretary desires to express his indebtedness to those who attended the meeting and contributed to its success either by helping weaker members to ring some advanced method for the first time, by attending the service in such strong force, or by providing the jolly good fellowship so evident at the tea and meeting. Thanks also are tendered to the various steeplekeepers.

WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.SUCCESSFUL MEETING OF THE ISLAND BRANCH.

The first meeting of the newly-formed Isle of Wight district took place at Shanklin on Easter Monday, where 22 members and visitors had a very enjoyable day's ringings. The first part of the proceedings was an attempt for Holt's ten-part peal, by: G. Williams (North Stoneham), conductor 1, W. Chambers 2, W. Johnson 3, W. Scott, junr., 4, J. B. Williamson 5, F. W. Rogers 6, E. J. Harding, junr., 7, E. J. Harding, senr., 8. After 1½ hours' excellent ringing this unfortunately came to grief owing to a shift course just before the half peal end. Touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Kent Treble Bob Major, also rounds, were afterwards indulged in.

Tea, at the invitation of the Shanklin band, was heartily enjoyed at 4 p.m. The business meeting followed, at which it was proposed to invite the Bishop of Southampton to become the first president of the district.—The Rev. M. A. Bere, Vicar of St. Saviour's, was elected a vice-president, and it was proposed to ask the Vicars of Ryde, Brading, Newport, Carisbrooke & Whitwell, also to become vice-presidents.

Each tower was left to elect its own representative to the Central Committee, with Mr. W. Upton district secretary.

It is hoped to have the next meeting at Carisbrooke (if the bells are back in time from the founders), and another on August Bank Holiday at Freshwater.

Votes of thanks to the Rev. M. A. Bere for the use of the bells, the Shanklin ringers for their hospitality, and to Mr. Geo. Williams, the Master of the Winchester Diocesan Guild, for his interest, help and attendance, concluded a very successful meeting.

THE SPIRIT OF UNSELFISHNESS.

By the REV. C. D. P. DAVIES.

It seems to me that our change ringing is peculiarly adapted to inculcate one or two lessons which are sadly in need of being taken to heart in these critical and dangerous days. These lessons are those of the need of unselfishness and of the interdependence of classes and individuals. Take the lesson of unselfishness. What change ringer is there worthy of his calling who would for any other than a very urgent reason absent himself from a practice or from ringing for a church service, knowing that his absence will or even might cause the company to meet one 'short'? No. He makes a point, even at occasional serious inconvenience to himself, to be at his post. Let us take this to ourselves as a principle to be carried out not only in ringing, but in all the affairs of our life—the principle, that is, of carrying out to the full, whatever our duty or whatever we have undertaken to do even at the cost of inconvenience and self-sacrifice. Let us not disappoint either God or our fellow-men.

Then, next, there is the lesson of interdependence. In change ringing each has his place, and each has to do his work in that place. Some work seems greater and better than some of the other work. One rings an inside bell, another rings the treble, and another only rings the tenor behind. But all are necessary, and the important point is not the nature of the work, but the way in which it is done. So in the Church, and so in the body politic, there are different kinds of work, and different classes, and if one of these fails or rebels the whole is thrown out of joint. The lesson therefore that our ringing in this respect helps us to learn is that we cannot live or work for ourselves alone, that we must consider our relation to all the others, and to do our work, whatever it may be, with an eye to the good of all, and to cultivate by every means in our power a spirit of heartiness, earnestness and unselfishness.

NORTH WALES ASSOCIATION.

There are, happily, few of the large territorial organisations among ringers who are in the unfortunate position of having to face a serious falling away of members such as the North Wales Association has experienced. We are not in possession of the full facts, but at the annual meeting it was reported that the Rhyl band had intimated their intention of seceding, and the District Master expressed regret at the general loss of membership. The area covered by the Association must, manifestly, be difficult to organise on account of its geographical character and the distance separating the majority of the towers; but taking the loss of membership in conjunction with the fact that not a single peal was rung last year, it would seem that there must be something lacking in enthusiasm among the affiliated bands. One must not jump to any hasty conclusions in a matter of this kind, and it must not be assumed that the fault lies at the door of the executive. The comparatively small number of towers with peals of bells in North Wales are widely spread and the means of intercommunication are nothing to be compared with those which exist in the areas of the majority of associations, so that 'missionary' work, which under other conditions has proved such an invaluable help in bringing in new bands and maintaining the interest of old members, cannot be so easily organised or carried out.

Everyone, and the officials of the North Wales Association most of all, must regret the falling away among the members of this organisation, for it must inevitably react upon the interests of ringing as a whole. This lack of enthusiasm leads to loss in two directions. In the first place the art itself suffers in the district concerned, and change ringing gradually dies out, leaving the bells merely to be chimed or, as a peal, entirely silent. In the second place the bells themselves, a valuable part of the church property, suffer from neglect; for if there are no ringers to use them they hang away out of sight and forgotten by all else, and neglect and dilapidation overtake them. There is, therefore, we feel, a duty not merely upon the Association, but upon the clergy whose churches possess bells, to take up this matter seriously, and endeavour to revive the flagging interest. At such a moment the circular issued by the Central Council, calling the attention of the Church dignitaries and clergy to the desirability of encouraging change ringing in their towers, comes most opportunely for the North Wales Association, and should make a useful introduction to an intensive campaign throughout the counties in the north of the Principality which might be carried on through the influence of the clergy. We hope a determined effort will be made to bring back old members and gain new ones.

IS THE COMMITTEE TOO LARGE?

A well-attended meeting of the Manchester Branch was held at Miles Platting on Saturday week. Ringers were present from Moor-side, Hyde, Ashton, Oldham and Tunstall. Mr. J. W. Washbrook was voted to the chair, and gave the visiting ringers a hearty welcome to the tower. Three new members (Mr. G. H. Barlow, of Manchester Town Hall; Mr. R. B. Wilson and Mr. W. H. Owens, of Manchester Cathedral), were elected, and Radcliffe was selected for the next meeting on April 30th.

A resolution was read from the Rossendale Branch that the Branch were of opinion that there are too many members on the Committee of Management, and suggesting that one from every Branch was quite sufficient, with the president, vice-president, hon. secretaries and hon. treasurer, to carry on the management of the association.—After some discussion, it was agreed to let the matter stand over for further discussion at other meetings.

A vote of thanks to the church authorities, also to the local ringers, was passed, and their captain suitably responded.

A vote of thanks to the chairman brought the meeting to a close.

Further ringing in the standard methods, in which some of the visitors found it difficult to handle these easy-going bells, ended a successful meeting.

THE NEW WIGAN BRANCH.

A successful meeting of the Wigan Branch was held at Standish Parish Church on Saturday week. There was a good attendance of members, together with friends from Bolton Branch, who are doing their best to help forward the new branch. The bells were kept going merrily from 3.45 p.m. until 9 p.m., with the exception of the time taken up at the meeting.

The Rector of Standish (the Rev. C. W. N. Hutton) took the chair at the meeting, which was held in the belfry.—The Secretary reported that he had received letters from Preston Branch and Liverpool Branch, and it was decided to hold a joint meeting, between Liverpool and Wigan Branches, at Aughton some time in May, when the boundary on the Liverpool side of Wigan Branch could be formed.

A vote of thanks to the Rector, wardens and ringers of Standish, was carried, and the Rector, in reply, welcomed the new branch, and also thanked the local ringers for their services in the past year.

As this was the first meeting of the Wigan Branch since its inauguration at St. James's, Poolstock, Wigan, in March last, it was very gratifying for all concerned to see the good attendance, and the hope is expressed that the next meeting will see more towers represented.

'THE BEST LAID SCHEMES'

'One of the Boys,' writes with regard to the peal of Cambridge Surprise Major at the Loughborough bell foundry on Saturday week, that this was the result of an attempt to set up a new record by a first pealer, who in this case was Mr. Pryce Taylor, of the Bell Foundry. The band were out for Cambridge and Superlative on the same afternoon, but Cambridge had to be the first. 'So,' says our correspondent, 'away we got with Cambridge, and had 2½ hours' good ringing. Then a most unholy mix put paid to any attempt for creating the new record, and this with only 500 changes to ring. We all felt very sad about it, especially the culprit—no, it was not the would-be first pealer, neither was it Uncle Sam and George, who unfortunately could not or would not stand in the two attempts. But after a good tea and the arrival of the spare parts we put our tails up again, determined to rescue what we could from the wreck, the boys ringing, and Uncle Sam and George doing the umpire business. In 2 hours and 50 minutes after "Go Cambridge," rounds came up beautifully, and the peal having materialised, the rest of the evening was spent, as only ringers can do, with Mr. Taylor as host. But we are still very sad about the new record that did not come off.'

AN ILMINSTER PEAL.

A peal of Bob Major at Ilminster on April 2nd was rung in honour of the induction of the Rev. J. N. Boughton, and it also served as a birthday compliment to Mr. T. Doble, who reached the age of 70 on the previous day. To him the band extend their greetings, and they also offer sincere congratulations to Mr. D. J. Taylor, the esteemed captain of the local band, on his election as people's warden at the recent vestry meeting. Mr. Taylor has done a lot of spade work in ringing in his district, and his election will give pleasure to all his ringing friends. Tea was kindly provided after the peal, and was much appreciated, as were the services of the two kind ladies who attended to the wants of the company. The Rev. J. N. Boughton looked in upon the party, and congratulated the band on the good peal they had rung, and also thanked them for ringing it in his honour.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

HON. SECRETARY'S RESIGNATION.

The annual meeting of the Bedfordshire Association was held at Bedford on Easter Monday, and resulted in an exceedingly pleasant and enjoyable gathering. Ringing began shortly before 10 a.m., and the bells of St. Paul's and St. Peter's, Bedford, Cardington and Elsbow Churches were all utilised throughout the day. A service was held in St. Paul's Church at noon, and the members and visiting friends were delighted to receive an address from the President of the Association (Canon W. W. C. Baker). The Vicar (Canon Speck) kindly conducted the service. Luncheon was followed by the business meeting, at which apologies for absence were received from Mr. A. King (vice-president), the Revs. Canon Speck, J. E. Gilbert, G. C. Rolfe, J. J. Atkins, F. W. Kingston, Canon C. W. Browning and Mr. H. Thody. The President occupied the chair, and was supported by Miss Evelyn Steel, Mr. E. Ransom, Mr. E. P. Duffield (hon. secretary), Mr. H. L. Harlow and Mr. A. E. Sharman (hon. district secretaries). Those present also included Mr. F. Hopper (President, Central Northants Association), Mr. J. A. Trollope (London), and many Northants friends. Nearly fifty members attended. The officers were all re-elected, with the exception of the hon. secretary.—Mr. Duffield said he regretted very much that he was obliged to give up the post, which he had been pleased to hold.—Mr. A. E. Sharman was elected to fill the vacancy.—Mr. Duffield, in replying to a hearty vote of thanks, urged the members to support the new hon. secretary in his work, and drew the attention of the members to the need for support from more honorary members.

The past year's accounts showed a loss of about £4. It was decided to send two representatives to the Central Council instead of one as hitherto, and the President and Hon. Secretary were elected.—One non-resident and one performing member were elected, and discussion followed on the advisability of holding the usual summer meeting on August Bank Holiday. It was, however, thought that it would be better to hold it as usual, about the end of June. Turvey being chosen as the venue, while Bedford was again selected for the annual meeting of 1922.—The peal booking fee was then discussed, and it was decided to alter Rule 9, by making the fee 3d. instead of 1d. per member.

Mention was made of the very good work done on the Central Council and the National Church Assembly by the President, and Canon Baker, in replying, gave an account of what he did on behalf of ringers at the recent National Church Assembly.

The usual votes of thanks to the President for presiding, and the clergy for the use of bells, and of the Church Lads' Brigade Drill Hall for the luncheon and meeting, brought the proceedings to a close.

THE NORWICH AND IPSWICH ASSOCIATION.

A general meeting of the Norwich Branch of the Association for the Diocese of Norwich and Archdeaconry of Suffolk was held at Fakenham on Easter Monday. The members were kindly granted by the Rev. W. Irwin (Rector) the use of the fine ring of eight bells in the Parish Church tower. The President of the Association (the Very Rev. the Dean of Norwich) presided at the dinner, and was supported by the Rector of Fakenham, Mr. C. S. Tuthill (Master of the Fakenham company), and the following members of the committee: Mr. F. Knights, Mr. J. A. Godfrey, Mr. J. Souter, Mr. A. L. Coleman (general and branch secretary), and representatives from Fakenham, Diss, Hovingham, Reepham, Shropham, Shouldham, Norwich, Gaywood, Marsham, etc.

The general business meeting was held in the Church Hall Rooms, the President being in the chair, and 26 members being present.

The Secretary (Mr. A. L. Coleman) read a list of nine nominations for membership. The President, on putting these before the meeting, declared them duly elected, and announced that three members had re-joined the association.

The Secretary moved: 'That members on re-joining the association shall pay a fee of one shilling, together with the subscription for the then current year, and that the motion shall come up for confirmation at the general meeting of the branches to be held at Lowestoft on Whit-Monday, May 16th, 1921.'—The motion, on being put to the meeting, was carried unanimously.

The Dean of Norwich moved, and Mr. A. L. Coleman seconded, a vote of thanks to the Rector of Fakenham for the use of the bells, and this was carried unanimously.—The Rector (the Rev. W. Irwin), in reply, spoke of the pleasure that it had given him to welcome the association to the town.—Mr. A. L. Coleman moved, and the Rev. W. Irwin seconded, a vote of thanks to Mr. C. S. Tuthill for the very kind assistance rendered in making the arrangements for the meeting, and this was also carried unanimously. This terminated the business, and the members then adjourned to the belfry for ringing.

The Dean of Norwich and the Secretary had the pleasure of inspecting the well-kept ringing records of the Fakenham company, and were pleased and gratified to see such a fine record of the regular ringing for Sunday services, as well as on special occasions, thereby upholding the ideal use of church bells and the ringers' work as office holders in the church.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

We often refer to the enthusiasm of some of the younger generation of ringers, but there are those among the 'veterans' who are equally as keen. Before many present-day peal ringers were born, 'George Williams' was a name to conjure with in ringing. Yet last Saturday we find him, accompanied by his namesake, cycling from Southampton to Salisbury and back (23½ miles each way), and sandwiching a peal of Stedman in between!

Dear old Ted Horrex has had the satisfaction of ringing a birthday peal this year after all. Robbed of the opportunity at Southwark Cathedral on his natal day owing to an unexpected service, cheated out of it on the following Saturday by the common enemy 'Flu,' he scored at length on Easter Monday, when he took part in a peal at Clapham Park. A man who can ring a peal of Stedman Triples after passing his 83rd birthday is something to marvel at.

Ten years ago next Sunday the record length of Treble Twelve was rung at Ashton-under-Lyne. This was 12,240 of Kent, composed and conducted by that pillar of Lancashire ringing, Mr. Samuel Wood. The peal was rung in 8 hours 31 minutes, and was a crowning performance in the career of Mr. James George, who though 57 years of age at the time, rang the 27 cwt. tenor in great form.

It is interesting to note that the previous record in the method had stood for more than 77 years. It was put up at that church of many long peals—Painswick, and comprised 10,224 changes, rung in 6 hrs. 50 mins. The peal was composed and conducted by a ringer very famous in his day, William Estcourt, and was unopposed by another well-known performer, Mr. Daniel Wood, of Norwich.

The 17th of April is the anniversary of one of the older Treble Twelve records, 7,200 New Treble Bob Maximus having been rung at St. Martin's, Birmingham, on that day in 1820 supplanting a 7,104 rung by the Cumberland Youths eighteen years before. Thomas Thurstans rang the tenor in the Birmingham peal.

Speaking of Painswick and Norwich, recalls the fact that there was rivalry between these places nearly two hundred years ago. A tablet in the Gloucestershire tower records the fact that in the progressively long lengths of Grandsire Caters rung in the first half of the eighteenth century, a peal of 12,006 changes was performed in 7 hrs. 55 mins., on April 18th, 1737.

When this was done the hand, we think, could hardly have been aware of the fact that, less than six weeks before, 12,693 had been rung at St. Peter Mancroft, and they must have been a little disappointed when they did get to hear of it—if they ever did.

'Bells and Bell Ringing' was the subject of a lecture by Mr. Robert Holloway, conductor of the St. Mary's, Acton, band, at the Adult School on Friday evening. The lecture, which dealt with the history of bells, their uses and manufacture, and with the elements of change ringing, was illustrated by handbell ringing by Messrs. Rootes, Fardon, Brown and Wincote, and working models kindly lent by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.

'Conductor's' third article on 'Hints for Beginners' is unavoidably held over until our next issue.

The tenor at All Saints', Hereford, which it is hoped to recast as a memorial to the ringers of the Diocesan Guild who fell in the war, is a bell of 18 cwt., and not 30 cwt. as stated in error in a recent issue. Those who have not yet subscribed should send their contributions to the hon. secretary of the fund, Mr. C. Edwards, Great Brampton, Madley, Hereford.

We have not yet got the exact age of the youngest ringer of a peal on tower bells. It appears to be just a question of months. The young men who think they can claim the present record need not be bashful, but should send along the particulars of their earliest performance, for the Exercise will be interested to know who is really entitled to the honour.

Beccles tenor is 25 cwt. 1 qr. 25 lbs., not 30 cwt., as published last week.

AMONG THE BELLS.

A SECOND EDITION.

The limited number of the first edition of 'Among the Bells' is now sold out. In the second edition, part III. (pp. 65 to 96) has been reprinted. As the copper blocks were commandeered during the war, these 30 pages are reproduced without the pictures, which appeared in the original. This is recorded in an additional preface, together with some account of the memorials erected in the author's memory. Delay in delivery has been caused by trade difficulties, but these have at length been overcome, and the 'second edition' is now on sale as advertised.

BELLS AND BELL HANGING.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Mr. Young, in his letter in your issue of the 25th March, states that if a tower be a strong one the frame is better for being wedged up to the walls. It may be better for the frame, but it is not so for the tower, no matter how good a tower it is. The insertion of wedges—no matter how carefully done—has the tendency to push the walls outwards away from the frame, but I agree that less harm will be done to a tower by a wedged frame, than by a frame that is free all the way round and butters the walls at every swing of the bells.

The following points have been put to me: What is the difference between a good solid wood frame in a tower that is wedged to the walls all the way round than a modern iron frame erected on steel girders and supports taken from the top of the frame to the tower walls? The difference, in my opinion, is this: you have a rigid mass in the iron frame that is sufficiently cross braced in the foundation, and is, therefore, made one unit. By carrying members from the top of the frame into the masonry, such as in the case of the 'H' frame, providing these extensions from the top of the frame are properly anchored to the tower walls, (the tower wall is supported by the frame, and you have no force pushing outwards in the same way as you do in the wedged wood frame. A low-sided frame is not tied to the walls at the top. Sir Arthur Heywood was very keen, where a girder was anchored into the wall, to have an extension bolt to go right through the wall with a large nut and plate on the outside, this plate and nut, of course, to be kept below the masonry and then covered in. By this means the tendency was to hold the wall up to the frame.

Mr. Young states that a properly designed hard wood frame is, in his opinion, preferable to iron. No matter how well a wood frame is built, there is always shrinkage of timber, and, as years go on it is sure to get loose, which means movement, and, unless this movement is at once cured by the frame being continually tightened up, trouble is bound to arise. With the iron frame, the only thing that is required, is to keep it painted.

If wood was preferable for frame work, where it is absolutely necessary to keep bearings in alignment, as it is in bell frames, it would have been used in many jobs in engineering where cast iron and steel have superseded wood.

As regards Mr. Young's third point, that is a matter of opinion.—
Yours truly,
The Lodge, Haslemere.

RINGERS' WAR MEMORIALS.TABLET UNVEILED AT GUILDFORD.

An interesting ceremony took place at Guildford on a recent Saturday, the occasion being the dedication of a memorial tablet to two members of the Holy Trinity Society, who gave their lives for their country in the recent war. The proceedings opened with a 504 Stedman Triples, with bells half-muffled by the Revs. C. W. O. Jenkyn and E. B. James, and six members of the Holy Trinity Society. The Rector then conducted a short form of service, and unveiled the tablet, which is of alabaster, bearing the inscription:—

To the proud memory of Albert Victor Burdock, Robert William Melville, ringers of this tower, who gave their lives in the Great War, 1914-1918; in grateful remembrance of whose sacrifice this tablet is erected by the members of the Holy Trinity Society of Change Ringers.

After the dedication, a short memorial service was held in the beautiful chapel of the Queen's, R.W.S. Regt., when an address was given by the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, who spoke of the striking similarity in both age and ideals of the Winchester and Oxford Diocesan Guilds. They should remember, he said, when they uncovered a memorial, as they had that day, that it must not be with the idea that they had done all they ought to have done. The memorial should be a reminder of what had been done, of a real Christian life that had been given, and an example to those who remained to live in their time a truly godly Christian life. It reminded them also that those who were commemorated were, indeed, living, and had now an actual part in what was done, though that part was not now transacted through the medium of a body.

After the service, those present, numbering about 45, proceeded to the Parish Hall, where tea had been prepared, after which handbells were enjoyed, till, at the conclusion of the daily evensong, the bells at Holy Trinity and St. Nicolas Churches were available for ringing.

In addition to a full attendance of Guildford ringers there were present the Revs. Sir John Herschell (hon. secretary of the Winchester Guild), E. Bankes James, C. W. O. Jenkyn, Canon Kirwan, Rector of Holy Trinity; Mr. J. W. Wilkins, High Wycombe; and representative ringers from Worplesdon, Cranleigh, Chiddingfold Haslemere, Witley and Dorking.

There was also unveiled, without ceremony, a tablet of alabaster recording the first peal of Guildford Surprise Major, which was rung by the society in 1913, to commemorate the 150th anniversary of the dedication of the church, which fact is duly recorded, and which forms the only permanent record which the building contains of that event.

NORTH WALES ASSOCIATION.LOSS OF MEMBERS.

The annual meeting of the North Wales Association took place at Bangor on Easter Monday, a fairly large and representative gathering of about 60 being present from Wrexham, Llansgollen, Buckley, Portmadoc, etc. The visitors were welcomed by the local ringers, and the bells were kept going merrily to the tune of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Treble Bob Major. A well-attended service was held at St. David's, Glanada, conducted by the Rev. T. Lewis Jones, Vicar and President of the Association. The Rev. Morgan Jones gave a most eloquent and interesting address, which was much appreciated by the members.

The business meeting followed, and was held in the Schoolroom.—The President occupied the chair, and the retiring officers were re-elected en bloc, viz.: Rev. T. Lewis Jones, M.A. (President), Mr. A. E. Pegler (Master), Mr. E. H. Jones (Buckley), secretary, and Mr. Rowlands (Wrexham), treasurer.—The President, in thanking the members for their confidence in him, said that he had been President of the Association since its formation, and that so long as he was able, he would continue to further the interests of ringers and the association (cheers). He considered the bell ringers to be the most important branch of church workers. His experience was that if a Sunday School teacher or a chorister left he was always able to find a substitute from somewhere to fill up the gap. But if a ringer left or was ill, it was much more difficult, and often an impossibility to fill the vacancy.

The date of the annual meeting was changed from Easter to Whit-Monday, on a proposition from Buckley; an amendment by Mr. A. J. Hughes, to adhere to the old date, being defeated by one vote.

After a re-vote, Portmadoc was selected, by three votes, for the next half-yearly meeting, subject to the usual consent.

The Secretary read a postcard from the Rhyl Secretary, informing him that the Rhyl ringers were withdrawing from the Association.—After various comments, Mr. A. J. Hughes was appointed a delegate to visit the Rhyl ringers, and endeavour to get them back to the Association if possible.

Mr. W. T. Pegler (district secretary for Bangor) remarked that it was a pity that so many towers had dropped out of the Association.

The balance sheet was presented, and showed a balance on the right side. No peals had been rung during the year for the Association, and no report had been printed owing to the low state of the funds.—Several new members and probationers were elected, and the Rev. Morgan Jones was elected an hon. member.

The President emphasised the necessity for the election of more hon. members, and also proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Rev. Morgan Jones for his very appropriate and excellent address.—The Rev. Morgan Jones said it gave him great pleasure to become an hon. member, and thanked the president for proposing him, and the members for electing him.

The bells were utilised again while the tea was being laid, and subsequently about 60 sat down to a splendid repast, kindly provided by the Vicar, Mrs. Jones, and the ringers' wives, etc., who were ably assisted by several prominent church workers.—The usual votes of thanks to the Vicar and Mrs. Jones, and the other ladies concerned, were accorded. After further ringing, the visitors gradually dispersed, and everyone vouched that, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, which was a bit of 'real Wild Wales,' a most happy and enjoyable day had been spent.

SHEFFIELD AND DISTRICT SOCIETY.

A successful meeting of the Sheffield District and Old East Derbyshire Society was held at Worksop on Easter Monday, when upwards of 60 members attended from Anston, Rotherham, the Cathedral, All Saints', St. Marie's, Sheffield; Treston, Ecclesfield, Rawmarsh, Handsworth, Chesterfield, Norton Cuckney, Laneham, Gainsborough and Worksop, including a goodly number of lady ringers. The methods rung during the day were: Bob Minor, Violet and Oxford Treble Bob, Bob Major, Grandsire Triples, Stedman Triples, Kent Treble Bob Major and Double Norwich. Upwards of 60 sat down in the Priory Gatehouse to tea, presided over by the Rev. Canon D'Arcy, and supported by Mrs. D'Arcy, the Rev. F. E. Franks, the Rev. Amiens, of Chesterfield; Messrs. Sam Thomas (hon. secretary), H. Haigh, ex-Sergt. W. H. Johnson, V.C., and J. Weaver, sidesmen.—Canon D'Arcy extended a cordial welcome to the members of the association, and said he was glad to see them at Worksop.

Touches of Grandsire Caters and Triples were rung on the handbells by mixed bands, which included Miss Winifred Hague, of Rotherham; the Rev. F. E. Franks gave selections on the piano and a few songs and recitations, and was heartily applauded.

Mr. Harrison, of Sheffield, moved, and Mr. Thomas seconded, that the best thanks be accorded to Messdames Haigh, Hardwick and Johnson, and all the Worksop ringers for providing tea, and a similar vote of thanks was passed to the Rev. Canon D'Arcy for presiding over the meeting and for the use of the bells.

ROYAL CUMBERLAND YOUTHS. ENJOYABLE GATHERING.

The annual dinner of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths at the Old Bell Restaurant, Holborn, on April 2nd, was attended by a company of about 70, and proved a very enjoyable gathering. The chair was taken by the Master, Mr. J. D. Matthews, who was supported by the Rev. A. Taylor, Rector of St. Bride's; the Rev. K. Palmer, D.S.O., M.C., of St. Martin-in-the-Fields; Mr. R. Warner (trustee), Mr. J. W. Cornford (hon. secretary), and Mr. E. A. Young (London County Association). Among the company were the other officials of the Society, the veteran, Mr. Ben. Foskett (hon. treasurer), Mr. F. Smith (senior steward), Mr. A. N. Hardy (junior steward), and Mr. E. Chapman, who is a trustee and 'father' of the society. The visitors included Mr. John Carter (late of Birmingham), Mr. Jefferies (Bristol), Mr. William Willson, Mr. J. Harris, Mr. A. Brainley and Mr. A. Gelsthorpe (Leicester), while the members of the society in and around the Metropolis were well represented.

After an excellent repast, the toast of 'The King' was honoured, on the call of 'The Chairman,' and Mr. R. Warner submitted 'The Church.' He referred to the close connection between the clergy and ringers to-day, and remarked upon the great advance that had been made in this respect in recent years. They could not, he said, have any better example of that close fellowship and good feeling than the fact that that society had received permission from the authorities at St. Martin-in-the-Fields to erect a memorial to their fallen members in St. Martin's Church (hear, hear).

The Rev. R. Palmer, who responded, expressed regret that indisposition had kept Canon Isaacs from the gathering. Referring to the proposed memorial, he congratulated the society on the design, and hoped they would be successful before long in raising the necessary funds so that they might soon see the memorial in its place. There was just a danger that as time went on they might begin, somehow, to forget what these men went through for the sake of a great cause. He hoped, more than he could express in words, that they would not allow their memory to fade (hear, hear), and that the great cause these men were prepared to die for, they, in their turn, would be prepared to live for (applause). Continuing, the speaker said that in his first parish they had a bell dated 1297, and he could only suppose, if bells were hung in their English parish churches in the 15th century, that there were bell ringers in those days, and that there would have been a pretty close connection between the parsons of that day and those who ring the bells. If that were so, then the office of bell ringer was, next to that of parish clerk, about the oldest institution in our English church affairs; certainly it was older than the office of churchwarden. After urging that it was more than ever essential in these days that those who loved the Church should stand loyally by her, the speaker went on to say that there was a very large public that appreciated the ringing that was done by the society at St. Martin's, and he concluded by appealing to every churchman and churchwoman to assist in making the new corporate life of the church, which was to be developed through the machinery set up by the Enabling Act, a reality.

THE FUTURE OF RINGERS.

The toast of 'The Royal Society of Cumberland Youths' was proposed by the Rev. A. Taylor in a fluent speech. He said he was glad to find the society perpetuated the ideal of youth. There was something about ringing which preserved their juvenility, and he believed it was due to going up the belfry stairs (laughter). When he saw the extraordinary skill with which members of the ringing fraternity nipped up his stairs at St. Bride's, he believed the Exercise was a preservative of life (laughter). Mr. Matthews had told him a great deal about the society. He (the speaker) was not worrying about its past history, but he was concerned about its present life and its future possibilities. It was a very good thing for them to have a fellowship. It would be quite possible to have independent groups of people to ring the bells, but it wanted something more than that if they were to have real success in their calling, and make it something more than merely a performance of a regular duty. That fellowship of theirs, which stretched out even across the waters, was symbolical of the tie of kinship that bound them together all over the world. He did not know how ringers would be affected in the future by the new Enabling Act. Up to the present he supposed it was by the happy agreement of churchwardens and incumbents that it had been settled when the bells should be rung and by whom they should be rung. Now, if the churchwardens were having their liberties curtailed and the clergy were to be put under restraint of the Church Councils, they might find themselves in this predicament, that unless the bell ringing fraternity got on the right side of the Church Council they would be out of the game (laughter). He recommended them, therefore, to take good care to get on to the roll of electors, and to get from the roll on to the Council. Then they would be able to dictate their own terms—if they could square the parson (laughter). But, seriously, there was a real call just now for a greater spirit of co-operation between the laity and the clergy in this land of ours. Men should go into this matter more seriously than they have hitherto approached it, and should back up the Church. Unless they did so they were likely to have stagnation where they ought to be progressive. This applied not only to bell ringers, but to every other section of the laity. Continuing, the speaker said he felt the city had got its call as well as the populations outside, and the churches in the city, though threatened in some directions, had got a mission before them, in which religious life was revived. People were inclined to realise now that religion was not a matter which began on Sunday morning when they got up and finished on Sunday night when they went to bed, but was a thing that went right through the week. Concluding, the Rector of St. Bride's said he was delighted to have the Society of Cumberland Youths associated with his church, but every time they came to ring his bells he had to take his life in his hands (laughter). The people who lived beside the bells got it 'in the neck' (laughter)—they did not put it so elegantly to him (laughter)—but he explained to them as best he could that he must keep the bells oiled (laughter), that he tried to choose harmless times for the ringing, and that he had a good lot of ringers to ring them (applause).

THE INSPIRATION OF THE PAST.

Mr. A. J. Neale, who responded for the society, regretted that the Cumberlands were not able to arrange more practices than they did, but in this they were more handicapped than the College Youths. He would like, he said, to see more young men come into ringing than there were, for ringing was one of the finest things a man could take up. He was pleased to see the clergy were assisting them much more than they used to do, but he would like to think that there were still more of them taking an active part in ringing. The efforts of every society should be directed to drawing in the younger elements, for if they did not do this they would fail altogether in the years to come.

Mr. F. Smith proposed 'Kindred Ringing Societies,' and welcomed those who had come to join them at that feast.

Mr. Wm. Willson, who first replied, said the deeds of their predecessors in that society in the brave days of old had inspired many men to great things. When he was a young ringer he used to delight to read of Anable, Holt and Reeves, of the marvellous performances of those days, and of 'ye men who called ye bobbes' (laughter). The time came when he himself 'called the bobbes,' but the realisation did not satisfy him so much as the anticipation (laughter). He had seven times rung over 10,000 changes, and he attributed a great deal of his ambition in that direction to the inspiration he got from the old records of the Cumberlands and the College Youths (applause).

Mr. E. A. Young also responded, and spoke of the value of such social gatherings as that at which they were assembled. It was sometimes an uphill fight to resuscitate functions that had been allowed to die out, but he hoped the Cumberlands would persevere. Looking through the old minutes of the St. James's Society, he found, though they did not say a great deal, that they did say one thing every year: 'That the company do hold its annual feast.' And a little later he found the record that the society did hold its feast at such and such an inn at Putney, or the Crown and Dragon at Fulham. He would like to make a pilgrimage and find those old inns, and think of the feasts which their forefathers used to enjoy. He liked these feasts because of the meetings which they provided for old friends and when they could see the young ones coming along who would take their places at those tables when they were gone. By all means let them keep up those gatherings (applause).

The remaining toast was that of 'The Chairman,' proposed by Mr. W. Theobald, and acknowledged by Mr. Matthews.

Thanks to the efforts of the Hon. Secretary (Mr. J. W. Cornford) there was a most enjoyable musical programme of more than average merit. An overture was contributed by Mrs. Cornford, who played the accompaniments. Some delightful songs were sung by Miss H. Kersley; Mr. G. Thatcher, and Mr. H. Stripe gave humorous items. Mr. Cornford also contributed a song, and banjo and mandoline solos were rendered by Mr. G. Blackburn. The programme would have been incomplete without the handbells, and a capital course of Grandsire Caters was rung by Messrs. A. J. Neale, J. D. Matthews, F. Smith, W. Willson and T. Newman.

SALOP ARCHIDIACONAL GUILD.

On Saturday, March 19th, a monthly meeting was held at Wroxeter, once a Roman city, but now a village. The gathering was well attended, some 21 putting in an appearance from Couwd, Coalbrookdale, St. Chads, Shrewsbury, Ropington, and Wroxeter. Tea was served in the Parish Room, and presided over by the Vicar (the Rev. W. O. Hobbs), who gave the members a hearty welcome; 720's of Bob Minor and Grandsire Minor, Grandsire Doubles and Stedman Doubles were rung, and a fine 720 of Kent Treble Bob, by: A. Bayley 1, J. E. Lilley 2, W. Wace 3, G. Jones 4, C. R. Lilley (conductor) 5, W. Saunders 6.

A Page for Sunday Service Ringers.

The bells at St. Philip's Cathedral, Birmingham, are now open for Sunday service ringing. They have been silent for years on these occasions, but by the efforts of St. Martin's Guild, this reproach has now been removed. Ringing took place on Sunday evenings, March 20th and 27th, and the bells will be rung as often as possible. There will be ringing next Sunday at 5.30 p.m., and visitors may rely upon a band meeting for service on every third Sunday in the month at this hour. The Cathedral authorities welcome the new step, and have provided new ropes.

EXCELSIOR.

By the REV. W. C. PEARSON.

I remember in my earlier days one of my Vicars telling me that when he was in his first curacy he went on one occasion to see the old year rung out. Arrived at the church, he found the ringers sitting round the altar with their hats on, pipes in their mouths, and mugs of beer in front of them. Such a thing could not happen now, for ringers of the present day would be horrified at such profanity, but it is an instance of the low ebb to which ringers had then sunk. Now all is changed. The influence of Associations and Guilds, together with personal religious feeling and self-respect, have combined to raise the tone amongst ringers to its present high level, and there is much—very much—to be thankful for. But let us not rest therewith content. 'Like a mighty army moves the Church of God,' and we as members of it must move onward too if we would not go back, for in the spiritual world, as in the natural, there is no such thing as remaining stationary. We love our bells, we love our peal ringing, but let us ever keep to the forefront the purpose for which bells were placed in the tower, viz., to call worshippers to the House of Prayer, and when we have done our duty in the belfry above, let us not neglect our part in that higher duty in the church below. We need all the help we can obtain to keep us in the Homing course throughout this life, but we know that we have a Conductor upon whom we can ever rely, to keep us right, and bring us Home at the last, if only we will listen for and obey His calls. He has said, 'When thine eye is single thy whole body also is full of light.' And we know how and where to obtain that Heavenly Food for the strengthening and refreshing of our souls, which will be our mainstay and support in all dangers, and carry us through all temptations. In the past few years we have passed through a time of much tribulation which has sorely depleted our ranks; but now the war is over, peace has come, and re-organisation and reform are on the wing. Let us then go forward thankfully, perseveringly, hopefully, taking as the motto of our lives as well as of our ringing the word 'Excelsior.'

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.SUCCESSFUL MEETING AT SCARBOROUGH.

A general meeting of the Yorkshire Association was held at Scarborough on Easter Monday, members from all parts of the county, to the number of about sixty, taking advantage of the holiday to visit this delightful old seaside town. Ringing on the peal of eight at St. Mary's Church was indulged in, in the various Standard methods, throughout the day.

A meeting of the general committee was held in the afternoon, with the President (the Rev. C. C. Marshall) in the chair. This was followed by the general meeting, at which it was decided that the September meeting shall, if possible, be held at Sheffield, and, failing Sheffield, that Rotherham be approached to make arrangements for that meeting.

Votes of thanks to the Vicar and churchwardens of Scarborough, and the local company for their kindly arrangements, were responded to by Mr. H. Fergusson, who extended a hearty welcome to the visitors.

A short service was conducted by the Rev. D. W. Maelagan at St. Mary's Church, after which the visitors were entertained to a hountiful tea, train time bringing a most pleasant day's meeting to an end all too soon.

WESTERN DISTRICT MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Western District was held at Keighley, when over 70 members and friends attended, representing 14 towers. During the afternoon and evening, the fine melodious peal of eight at the Parish Church was rung in different methods. Tea was partaken of in the Schools, and at the meeting which followed, Mr. G. Bolland president, supported by the Rector of Keighley (the Rev. E. T. C. Hunter). With regard to the tower for the June meeting, the Secretary said he had received a personal invitation from Thornhill, and this on being put to the meeting was accepted.

Mr. Bolland was unanimously re-elected vice-president, and Messrs. Hopwood, of Bolton; Dransfield, of Earlsheaton; and Smith, of Leeds Parish Church, were elected to serve on the District Committee for the ensuing three years. Mr. Hopwood was chosen to serve on the Central Committee for the same period.

Seventeen new members were elected.

Mr. Lawson proposed, and Mr. Kell seconded, a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells and schoolrooms, and the Rector, in replying, expressed his pleasure at that, his first opportunity of addressing a bell ringers' meeting. He said he much appreciated the good work they were doing, and made special mention of his own ringers. Proceeding, he gave a brief history of bells and their uses, and said bells brought a lot of joy and pleasure into life. It made all the difference to Sunday if the bells were rung regularly. He remarked that it was six years since the Association had a meeting at Keighley, and he gave them a hearty invitation to come again in the near future.

A vote of thanks to the local company and ladies who served the tea was responded to by Mr. Bob Jennison.

BELL RESTORATION FUNDS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I have read with interest your article in April 1st issue re the desirability of raising funds for bell restoration by members of ringing societies. At the annual meeting of the Midland Counties Association held at Leicester at Easter, I was asked to bring before the members the question of rebanging and recasting of the bells of St. Margaret's Church, Leicester. These bells are now at the works of Messrs. John Taylor and Co., and it is estimated that a sum of £2,285 is needed to put them in good order. We have no funds from which to make a grant for such a purpose, and all we could do was to have a collection in the room, which only resulted in a small sum being obtained for so desirable an object.

It appears to me that every parish possessing a peal of bells should have a bell repair fund, to go towards any necessary outlay for keeping the bells in good order, but in addition to this, it would be a great help if the local association could have a fund to assist in the restoration of any bells requiring a large expenditure within its area, the cost of which should not depend entirely on parochial efforts. It seems that this would be a suitable matter for discussion at the next meeting of the Central Council.—Yours faithfully,

Littlelover House,
Derby.

R. B. CHAMBERS,
President. M.C.A.

THE LATE MR. W. DORAN.

The late Mr. William Doran, whose death we recently announced was for more than forty years steeplekeeper at West Ham. He passed away at the age of 76 years. It appears that he slipped at the bottom of the belfry steps, was picked up in a state of collapse, and assisted home, where he died a few days later. His wife was ill at the time, and Mr. Doran's death hastened her end, which came, at the age of 77, only three days after that of her husband.

A very long and interesting biography of William Doran's life among the bells, his peals and excursions might be written,' says a correspondent. 'He was an exceedingly simple, honest and modest character, never departing after his long residence in London from his original East Anglian tongue or manner. Never well-to-do, he was always ready, according to his means, to assist where needed. Those who knew him will never forget his readiness to help the art, by his constant attendance at meetings and his devotion to all connected with the science of ringing.'

On Saturday, March 19th, the day following the funeral, the 'whole pull and stand' was rung in the deceased's beloved steeple by: H. Flanders 1, E. Wightman (conductor) 2, W. Riches 3, F. G. Newman 4, J. Scholea 5, E. Smith 6, J. Waghorn 7, A. J. Barnes 8, G. Hayden 9, G. Potter 10. Pouches of Stedman and Bob Major followed, in which, in addition to the above, G. Carter and F. Bacon took part.

IN MEMORIAM.

And what if thou hast passed away, Friend William,
Unnoticed by the crowd? We Cumberlands
And others mourn for thy departure,
No more thy fragile form and welcome face
Shall meet us on the belfry's sacred floor,
To ply with feverish brain our subtle art,
Sequences of sounds, that move in mystic rhyme
Those West Ham bells, wherein thou tookest delight,
Will still ring on, and those who fill thy place
May scan the records of thy modest fame.
Nay, hadst thou rung a thousand peals or more,
Oblivion o'ertakes the highest deeds of men,
So take thy rest, for neither scorn nor praise shall now
Disturb thine ears in silence ever laid.

THE COMING COUNCIL MEETING.

The notice which appears in another column reminds us of the near approach of the Central Council Meeting, which this year should prove of a very interesting character. Not least in importance in the business will be the choice of a successor to the present Hon. Secretary, who has definitely announced his intention of resigning. So much depends upon the holder of this office that there is not likely to be great competition for it, and whoever the choice of the Council falls upon, will find it no easy task to follow in the footsteps of the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, whose services to the Council and the cause of ringing have been invaluable. As the meeting in London is the one at which the triennial elections take place, there will be much business on the agenda, but we hope there will be room for discussion on subjects beyond the routine affairs of the Council.

One suggestion, as a subject for the Council to consider, has reached us this week from a North Bucks ringer. It is that there should be published annually under the authority of the Council, a handbook and directory, which should contain, among other things, a calendar giving the dates of the principal meetings of the various associations and a list of churches with particulars as to the bells and ringing. This is not a new idea, although we are not sure that the Council has ever taken up the suggestion officially. The important question, however, is the financial one, and in view of the fact that nearly every association publishes this information so far as it relates to its own towers in its annual report, it is doubtful whether there would be sufficient demand to make such an undertaking a paying proposition. Here, however, is an instance where the Council, as we have so often urged, might be provided with a matter for consideration from outside. If 'North Bucks' would get his Guild to send up a recommendation and induce his own representatives on the Council to introduce the subject, he would be taking the initiative in a policy that has too long been lacking in the relations between the Associations and the Council.

Another proposal which has been made, but which, if it is to be acted upon, cannot be left open for discussion at the Council meeting itself, is one which we think will be likely to meet with approval of the members. It is that when the Council adjourns at the luncheon hour, the members should walk in procession from the Church House to the Cenotaph and deposit there a wreath to the memory of fallen ringers, and that a selected band should ring a course on handbells round the monument. This suggestion strikes us as being one of those things which must appeal to every ringer and, as the Council happens to be meeting in London this year, a fitting opportunity

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.
ROCHESTER DISTRICT MEETING.

What was considered as the most successful meeting of recent years in this district was held at Frindsbury on Saturday week, and was largely attended. Among the visitors was Mr. J. Waghorn, of West Ham, who informed some of the ringers that his father was married at this church 108 years ago—a record of which he was justly proud. Until the end of last year the Church of All Saints, Frindsbury, possessed only five bells. By a big effort three more were obtained, and two of the old ones recast, and now a fine peal of eight are hung in a steel frame, the work having been successfully carried out by Mr. A. Bowell, of Ipswich.

At the meeting, methods from Grandsire to Cambridge and Superlative were rung. The Association form of service was conducted by the Rev. A. P. Pascoe, M.A., Vicar, a ringing member of the association, and the district representative, Mr. E. A. G. Allen, presided at the organ. At the close, a collection for the Kent Ringers' War Memorial realised £1 0s. 2d.

Tea, generously provided by the Vicar, was partaken of in the Parish Hall, and 46 sat down to the sumptuous spread. The Vicar presided at the business meeting which followed, supported by the District Representatives (Messrs. E. A. G. Allen and W. Spice).—The Chairman welcomed the visitors to Frindsbury, and recounted some of his early reminiscences of ringers. He said the church owed much to the various associations for uplifting the standard of ringing and ringers, and gave his opinion that to-day no finer body of men existed. When the district were tired of visiting other towers he would again be pleased to welcome and entertain them if they chose to come (applause).

Sixteen new members were elected, and, after spirited voting, Rodmersham was selected for the next meeting to be held on June 4th.

On behalf of the district, the District Secretary (Mr. F. Mitchell) offered their congratulations to Mr. W. Harper, the leader of the Swanscombe band, on his election to the post of People's church-warden.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Mr. W. Hugh proposed a very hearty vote of thanks to the chairman for the use of the bells, for conducting the service, and for his liberality in supplying such an excellent tea; and to the ladies who had rendered such excellent service.—This was seconded by Mr. Harper, and carried with loud applause.—The Vicar briefly responded.

Fourteen towers in the district were represented at the meeting, in addition to other visiting ringers.

SOCIETY FOR THE ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD.

A successful quarterly meeting was held at Sedgley on Saturday week, when the following towers were represented: Bilston, Brewood, Cannock, Cosely, Erdington, Dudley, Netherton, Oldbury, Sedgley, Selly Oak, Stoke-in-Coventry, Walsall, Wednesbury, West Bromwich, Willenhall, Woollaston, Wolverhampton, Wombourne and Wordsley. The bells were made good use of, and touches rung of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Double Norwich and Kent Treble Bob Major; also a course each of Superlative, Cambridge, Bristol and London Surprise. A short service was held in church; and a helpful address given by the Rev. Dr. Swindell, Vicar. A capital tea was provided in the Schoolroom, to which 50 sat down.—A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Vicar for the address, and the use of bells, etc., to the organist for his kindly help, and to the ladies for preparing and serving tea.—The Vicar replied in a humorous vein.—Then followed a course of Grandsire Caters and a touch of Stedman Triples on the handbells, and tunes upon the same instruments, four in hand, were given by Messrs. R. Matthews, S. Grove and A. Davies, which gave much pleasure to the company.

The next meeting—annual—is provisionally arranged to take place on June 18th, at Lichfield.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The Vicar of St. Mary's, Ealing, gave an invitation to the members of the Middlesex County Association to take tea with him and ring on the bells of the Parish Church on Saturday afternoon, April 9th. Forty-one members—including the District Master (Mr. C. S. Bird, of Heston), and the Misses Williams, Chandler, and Baker, of Hillingdon, accepted the invitation, the following towers being represented:—Acton, Chertsey, Christ Church, Ealing; Fulham, Greenwich, Heston, Hillingdon, Isleworth, Norwood Green, Willesden, St. Giles-in-the-Fields, St. Stephen's and St. Mary's, Ealing.—A service was held in the Parish Church, when the Vicar (the Rev. C. J. Sharp, M.A.) and the Rev. F. I. L. Rees were present.—The Vicar gave a very instructive address, and during the service some well-known hymns were heartily sung, Mr. W. Lawrence (one of the ringers) presiding at the organ.

The tea, which was served in the Church Room, was much enjoyed, both Mrs. and the Misses Sharp kindly assisting.—At the conclusion of the tea business was discussed, and Sunbury was selected as the place for the next meeting.—The Hon. Secretary (Mr. W. H. Hollier) made reference to some important financial matters, and his action was highly approved by every member present.—Handbell ringing was afterwards done on Mr. J. A. Trollope's sweet-toned bells.

HINTS FOR BEGINNERS.

Having explained what constitutes plain hunting, let us see how the beginner should set about learning to pilot a bell through this piece of straightforward work. There is 'hunting up' and 'hunting down,' the former being the passage of the bell from the lead to the place farthest from lead, i.e., 6th's place when there are six bells; 3th's place when there are eight, and so on. 'Hunting down' is the opposite process, and when a bell turns from hunting up to hunting down it has to strike two blows, or a whole pull in the same place, which is termed 'lying a whole pull behind.'

Hunting up is perhaps easier for a beginner than hunting down, for, at the outset, the bells are easier to find. When hunting up, a simple rule is followed, viz., strike next after the bell that strikes after you this time. In other words, if you are ringing the treble and you start into changes, your first blow will be after the 2nd, which, in rounds, follows you. When striking after the 2nd you must look for the bell that is striking after you, and if the first change has been 214365, the 4th will be the next bell to strike over, when the change will be 241635. Then you have the 6th as the next bell in the change 426135, and afterwards the 5th, in 462513, and the 3rd in 645231. That completes the hunting up, for the treble has reached the last place.

It is well that the beginner should notice in hunting up that when he has once struck over a bell, he will not strike over that one again while going in the same direction. Thus, by each change, one bell is eliminated, and there is, therefore, one less to look for, which helps to simplify things. When you have struck over the 2nd in the first change, you need not trouble further about that bell until you have completed your hunting up. In the same way, having struck over the 4th in the second change, ignore that bell as well as the 2nd until you come to hunting down.

As I have already indicated, hunting down is not always found to be so easy as hunting up, for while one may lay down as a simple rule, the reverse of that for hunting up, viz., strike in the next change, in front of the bell that goes before you in this change, this cannot be applied so easily in practice, because to get good striking you must know the bell you have to strike after. One of the best ways for the beginner to adopt is the process of elimination, which applies as much to hunting down as to hunting in the opposite direction. Having followed a bell once, he will not follow that bell again until he has reached the lead. If you look at the figures of the plain hunting course given above you will notice that when the treble has completed the hunting up, it has reached 6th's place, where it lies a whole pull, but that whole pull is over two different bells. At both hand and back strokes, however, the ringer will have seen all the other five bells pull in front of him. At the back stroke he pulls after the 2nd, and when he begins hunting down, he eliminates the 2nd and looks for the last of the other four. He finds it in this case to be the 4th, so that in the next change he ignores the 4th as well as the 2nd and looks for the last of the other three. In the same way he takes first the 6th and then the 5th in the two next changes till he finds himself with only one bell left, which is the 3rd, and, having struck after this bell, he has to lead a whole pull, when this plain hunting course comes round.

We have dealt above with the actual work of the troble, but, except that one has to begin in a different place, exactly the same remarks apply to all the rest of the bells. Thus, the 3rd, already in 3rd's place in rounds, begins by going up into 4th's place, after the 4th, and then into 5th's over the 6th, which struck after the 3rd in the first change. In the case of the 4th the work begins by hunting down instead of up. While ringing in rounds there are three bells in front of the 4th, and when a start is made into changes the 3rd is eliminated, and the ringer looks only for the last of the two others in front of it (which would be the treble), and then for the remaining one, which must, of course, be the 2nd.

This explanation is put into quite simple language to enable the most elementary student to understand, and I hope that those who are beginning change ringing will be able to apply it when in the belfry. I have dealt with plain hunting on six bells, but plain hunting on any number can be accomplished by the application of the same rules, and the correspondent who asks me to give him and his band a helping hand with Grandsire Doubles can begin with the practice of plain hunting as here explained, except that he will have one bell less. There is one thing, however, worth remembering, and that is that while the whole pull behind on an even number of bells is at handstroke and backstroke, on an odd number of bells it is the reverse way, at backstroke and handstroke. If, in my correspondent's tower there are six bells he can practise the plain hunting course on both five and six. When ringing it on five the tenor will, of course, be used to 'cover' the others, and will be the bell off which the rest will always lead. When ringing on six, the ringer at lead must look for the last bell each time, and his backstroke lead will be off a different bell to his handstroke lead. Let me just add this, throughout all the practice let the aim be not only to learn to ring by method, but also to strike the bells well, for, remember, there is a large audience outside who are compelled to hear your efforts. BELFRY GOSSIP.

The analysis of peals rung in 1920, compiled by the Committee of the Central Council, will be published next week.

Mr. George F. Swann, of Birmingham, has completed the performance of conducting a peal each of Stedman Triples, Caters and Cinques 'in hand' from every pair of bells. This is an achievement which few can claim to have accomplished. We believe, speaking without 'the book,' that it has been done only by two ringers, Messrs. W. Pye and H. Langdon, although it is not possible to be quite certain on points like these on the spur of the moment.

A band of enthusiasts have established themselves at St. Nicholas' Church, Arundel (eight bells), and are making steady progress. The band, entirely novices, except two who are teaching the learners, is just advancing over that stage when call changes usually terminate interest, and now that 120 Grandsire Doubles has been mastered further advancement is eagerly looked forward to, and the young band is anxious to get on with Minor, and so gradually climb the ladder. We wish them every success, and hope to learn of their joining the Sussex Association in the near future. The company consists of nine ringers.

There is, we believe, at Arundel a somewhat unusual feature about the church, the chancel being bricked off from the nave on account of some former disagreement between the House of Norfolk and the church authorities. Thus, part of the same building is used by the Established Church, and part belongs to the Catholic Church. The bells, a peal of eight, were the gift of the Duke and Duchess of Norfolk in 1835.

To-day is the anniversary of one of the famous long peals, viz., the 15,227 Grandsire Caters, rung on Easter Monday, April 22nd, 1839, at Cheltenham, in 9 hours 43 minutes. Some of the best known men of thirty years ago were in that peal, which was rung by F. Musty 1, G. H. Phillott 2 S. Heeves 3, H. Roberts 4, F. E. Ward 5, C. H. Hattersley 6, J. Plant 7, W. T. Pates (conductor) 8, T. Reynolds 9, A. W. Humphris 10. Cheltenham now has twelve bells, and W. T. Pates is still there as leader.

The first 'family' handbell peal was rung on April 22nd, 1895, seven 720's of Bob Minor at Otley, Suffolk, by Miss Constance Meadows (aged 14) 1-2, Frederick E. W. Meadows (aged 15), conductor, 3-4, Sidney R. W. Meadows (aged 18) 5-6. Miss Meadows was the second lady to ring a peal, Mrs. George Williams having been the first.

Fifty-three years ago next Wednesday, viz., on April 27th, 1868, the College Youths rang the then longest length of Treble Bob Major, 15,840 in 9 hours 12 minutes, at Bethnal Green. One of that band, then a strapping young fellow not long since arrived in London from Ipswich, is still active amongst us—Mr. Ted Horrex. The remainder have passed to their rest, but their memory is with us still: Henry Halcy, William Cooter, James Pettitt, Henry Booth, R. Hopkins, Matt. Wood and Murray Hayes.

The same day is the anniversary of another great performance by the College Youths, accomplished seven years earlier at Cornhill, 8,560 Stedman Cinques, in 6 hours 41 mins. Haley and Matt. Wood were in that peal also, in which Jimmy Dwight rang the tenor single-handed.

When speaking of ringers well advanced in age, we must not overlook the fact that there is a youth up at Mansfield, Notts, who rang his first peal of Stedman Triples in August, 1910, at the age of 83 years, and rang it in first-class style.

The bells of East Shilton, Leicestershire, are at the Loughborough Foundry being recast and augmented to a peal of eight. It was owing to this fact that a muffled peal to the memory of the late Vicar of East Shilton was rung at the neighbouring tower of Kirkby Mallory.

The Northern District of the London County Association, at the meeting at South Hackney, added four new members, and decided to hold the next meeting at St. Andrew's, Holborn, if permission can be obtained, on May 21st. This should be a great attraction.

It will interest many readers to know that Mr. R. Newton, of America (late of Manchester), left a U.S. dollar note to be presented to each successive ringer who rang the Manchester Town Hall tenor in a peal single-handed. On Saturday, April 9th, an attempt was made to gain the prize by a certain worthy Mancunian, but after a truly splendid effort, lasting 3 hours 10 minutes, it was decided to make another attempt later.

April 27th will be the 20th anniversary of the first occasion on which three Surprise peals were rung in a day by one band. These peals were rung in three different counties by the St. Stephen's Branch of the College Youths, with three different conductors, viz., at Old Windsor, Berks, London Surprise, conducted by J. N. Oxborrow; at Wraysbury, Bucks, Superlative Surprise, conducted by C. T. P. Brice; at Staines, Middlesex, Cambridge Surprise, conducted by H. R. Newton. The three peals contained 15,200 changes, and occupied eight hours 52 minutes: a really good day's work, and a record at that time.

WORCESTERSHIRE AND DISTRICTS ASSOCIATION.DEDICATION OF WAR MEMORIAL WINDOW.

The annual meeting of the Worcestershire and Districts Association, at Worcester on Easter Monday, was better attended than in previous years, and will be always remembered as the day on which the memorial to those members who fell in the war was unveiled. At the general meeting in the Cathedral Chapter House, the President, the Very Rev. W. Moore Ede, D.D., Dean, took the chair, and welcomed the association to Worcester, commenting on the number of lady members present.

The report and balance sheet contained two points which were noticed, firstly, that the number of performing members had increased to 442; and secondly, owing to the great increase in the cost of printing, etc., there had been a loss on the year's working of about £20.

A vote of thanks was passed to Mr. E. J. Dowler for his services as secretary of the Northern Branch since its formation, and a vote of sympathy was accorded the family of the late Mr. John Smith, who was secretary of the association for 22 years, and who did a tremendous amount of work in its formation.

Mr. W. Page was selected as conductor of the annual peal, and Worcester was again chosen for the next annual meeting.

The Treasurer of the Memorial Fund, Mr. A. E. Parsons, announced that the cost of the memorial window was £165, that he had received that amount, and that it would be unveiled that day free of debt. The number of subscribers to this fund was 449, and the fact that all the money was in hand to pay for it gave much pleasure to everyone.—A very hearty vote of thanks was passed to the treasurer for his services in this matter. The roll of honour, which is to take the form of three cast bronze plates affixed to the sill of the memorial window, bearing the names of those who served, was left in the hands of the Dean, Mr. Parsons and the secretary.

An application for a grant towards the rehanging of the bells at Cradley Church was received, and from the Belfry Repairs Fund a subscription of £2 was made for this purpose.—Mr. W. Page most kindly offered to defray the cost of some new copies of the association's form of service.

The whole of the officers were re-elected, with the exception of the Master, Mr. A. E. Parsons, who wished to retire, and Mr. W. Page was elected to this office. Mr. Parsons has been a most able and enthusiastic Master for several years. He received a most sincere vote of thanks, and was elected a vice-president.—The meeting concluded with thanks to the Dean and those who had allowed their bells to be used.

Some few years ago the Dean and Chapter decided to allow the windows in the cloisters, which previously were all unglazed, to be used for the purpose of memorial windows, and adopted the excellent idea of using the upper lights to illustrate the history of the Cathedral. The design of each one has, therefore, to be left to them. The window put in by the association depicts the period from about 1215 to 1225, and includes the figures of Bishops Blois and Cantelupe, Henry III. and Simon de Montfort; one of the lights showing the procession at the dedication of the Cathedral on June 7th, 1218, passing the ancient belfry, an independent building containing five bells. Contrary to the Chapter's usual rule, a slight distinction has been allowed in this case, and in two of the small upper lights, designs of bells hung for ringing have been introduced. This, with a festoon of small bells along the top of the lower lights, makes it quite distinctive as 'The Bellingrings' Window.' In the centre of the lower lights are the names of the members who gave their lives.

At the unveiling and dedication service there were present the Dean, who unveiled the memorial; the Rev. Canon Wilson, who performed the dedication; the Revs. Barrington Baker (Precentor), and T. C. de la Hay (Minor Canon and Warden of the Cathedral ringers), together with the Cathedral choir.—The Dean, in his address, commented upon the fellowship among ringers, and remarked that they were not backward in offering themselves for the defence of freedom and for England.—At the conclusion of the ceremony the members accompanied the clergy and choir to the service in the Cathedral, at which the Dean preached.

The text chosen by the Dean as applicable to the memorial window and which is inserted at the head of the description of the period of history illustrated, is as follows: 'The sound of the bells shall be heard when he goeth into the holy place before the Lord.' May it always be so.

Thanks to the kindness of the Dean, the tea was served in the vaulted hall of the Deanery, which was originally the Bishop's Palace. The record number of 125 members was present. Throughout the morning and evening the bells of the city were kept going in methods ranging from Doubles to Cambridge Surprise Royal.

A peal rung at St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich, on April 12th, is recorded as the first true peal of Stedman Caters rung in the city by an entirely local company. This reads strangely, but is nevertheless roused for by our correspondent, who says that a peal of 5295 was rung at St. Andrew's in 1842, conducted by Henry Hubbard, but the composition was afterwards discovered to be false.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.NOTICE.

The first session of the Eleventh Council (29th annual meeting) will be held in the Chamber of the Upper House of Convocation at the Church House, Dean's Yard, Westminster, at eleven o'clock precisely in the forenoon, on Whitsun Tuesday, May 17th, 1921. The Council will sit till 1 p.m., when the meeting will be adjourned till 2.30, from which hour the Council will sit, if necessary, until 5.30 p.m. Entrance will be by DEAN'S YARD ONLY.

In view of the fact that the time for the meeting is fast drawing near, may I earnestly request that all remaining affiliation fees, together with names and full addresses of representative members not as yet sent to me, may be sent at the very earliest possible moment. At the time of writing, fees from the following Guilds and Associations have not reached me, viz., College Youths, Birmingham, Cleveland, Lincoln, North Wales, Peterborough, Surrey, Towcester, Worcester, Yorkshire.

A list of agenda will be forwarded for publication in 'The Ringing World' on April 29th.

Deane Rectory, Overton, Hants. CHARLES D. P. DAVIES.

CUMBERLAND ASSOCIATION.RINGING CONTEST REVIVED.

The ringing contest of the Cumberland Association was revived on Easter Monday, at Hensingham, four teams competing for the shield, viz.: St. Bridge's, Bridekirk; St. Stephen's, Carlisle; St. Mary's, Egremont; and All Saints' Cocker-mouth, the last named having held the shield since the last contest in 1914. Bridekirk rang 720 Bob Minor in 27½ minutes, with 156 faults; Carlisle rang 720 Kent Treble Bob Minor in 25½ minutes, with 215 faults; Egremont had bad luck, as their attempt was interrupted by someone coming in the belfry whilst the ringing was in progress. They rang Bob Major for 19 minutes, and had about another course to go when the bells were brought to a stand. Up to then the faults numbered 150, which was a creditable performance, seeing they are a band of young ringers. Cocker-mouth rang 720 Kent Treble Bob Minor in 29 minutes, with 224 faults. Bridekirk was, therefore, awarded the shield for the ensuing year, and great credit is due to this band, as it was the first time they had rung in a contest, having only taken up change ringing a short while.

A meeting was afterwards held in the vestry, at which the Rev. E. Freeman, M.A., presided.—Votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and the Schoolroom, where a tea was afterwards held; also to Mr. Banks for coming again to judge.

The next meeting will be on July 2nd, at Crosthwaite, when it is hoped to have a good attendance.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Nottingham District was held at Sutton-in-Ashfield on Saturday, April 2nd, members being present from Arksey, Beeston, Bulwell, Cougrave, Daybrook, Dorby, Ilkeston, Nottingham, Mansfield Woodhouse, Radcliffe-on-Trent, and the members of the local tower. Two of the latter were made members of the M.C.A. The band is under the able tuition of Mr. S. Bettison, of Mansfield Woodhouse, and it is hoped it will not be long before they are all eligible to become members of the M.C.A. Ringing was indulged in during the day, the methods ranging from Stedman Doubles to Cambridge Surprise Minor. The bells, which are practically a new ring, were put in as a war memorial last year by the well-known Loughborough firm, Messrs. John Taylor and Co., to whom great credit must be given for the perfect 'go' and tone of the bells.

At the business meeting, Mr. E. C. Goby presided, in the absence of the vice-president.—It was decided to hold the next meeting at Bottesford, on Saturday, April 23rd.—A hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells and to the local band for the arrangements was proposed by the secretary, and seconded by Mr. W. Spencer.

A monthly meeting of the Hinckley District was held at Hinckley on Saturday week, and was well attended by members from Burbage, Croft, Colon, Earl Shilton, Nuneaton, Spoke Golding, Stoney Stanton, South Wigston, and the local tower. Touches in standard methods were rung on the tower bells.

The business meeting was held at the ringers' meeting room, Mr. C. H. Webb, vice-president, presiding.—Nuneaton was unanimously selected for the next meeting, on Saturday, May 7th.—A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar for the use of the bells.—Tunes on handbells by Messrs. C. H. Webb and H. Briggs, accompanied by Mr. J. W. Reynolds on the piano, songs by Messrs. W. Humphreys, H. Fullylove, S. Coe, J. W. Reynolds, brought a successful meeting to a close.

NEW EIGHT IN HANTS.

Another eight bell tower is being added to the Winchester Guild, Bishopstoke, Hants, being now in possession of an octave soon to be ready for ringing. The first 720 (Bob Minor) on the front six, which are already hung, was rung on Friday by: A. Wilson 1, E. Aliffe 2, G. Pullinger 3, O. H. Giles 4, G. Grant 5, W. T. Tucker (conductor) 6. It was the first 720 by A. Wilson and E. Aliffe. The 7th and tenor bells arrived the same day from the foundry of Messrs. Llewellyns and James, of Bristol, who are carrying out the work.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

SUGGESTED DIVISION OF E. BERKS AND S. BUCKS BRANCH.

Over 80 members attended the annual meeting of the East Berks and South Bucks Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild on Easter Monday. The towers represented included the Curlew Tower and Parish Church, Windsor; Chalfont St. Peter, Crowthorne, Farnham Royal, Hughenden, Hitcham, Binfield, Burnham, Penn, Staines, Caversham, Hillingdon, Slough, Stoke Poges, Old Windsor, Fulham, Ealing, Beaconsfield, High Wycombe, Maidenhead, Boyne Hill, Bray, Marlow, Warfield, etc.

The proceedings began at St. Mary's, Slough, at 10 a.m., where touches were rung before the early birds proceeded to Clewer, where there was more ringing. Finally all gathered at St. Peter's, Old Windsor, where touches were rung in several methods before and after service. This latter was conducted by the Rev. Cyril Jenkyn, M.C. (Master of the Guild). The lesson was read by the Rev. J. R. Napier, Vicar of Old Windsor, and a most direct and telling sermon was preached by Canon Coleridge, of Crowthorne, from the text, 'Make a chain.' The preacher remarked that this might seem a strange text to a congregation of bell ringers, although they would have no misconception if the word 'rope' was substituted, as every ringer knew what a rope was for. The Canon then proceeded to show how each church worker was a link in the chain which joined the Church throughout the ages, and dwelling upon the old adage that the 'strength of the chain is in the weakest link,' he asked them to consider their individual position. Were they strong links or weak? Enumerating the qualities which went towards the forging of a strong link, the preacher said that every ringer should be a regular communicant, punctual in arriving at the belfry, assiduous in learning and carrying out his duties.

Choirboys were in attendance, and Miss Feltham, of Hillingdon, officiated as organist.

At the conclusion of the service, the whole party walked to the Tapestry Hall, where an excellent tea was provided. Sir William Carter, of Windsor, presided, and was supported by the Rev. J. R. Napier and Captain W. Legge (Vicar and churchwarden of Old Windsor Church), Canon Coleridge, Revs. C. W. O. Jenkyn and W. S. Riddlesdell (Bray), Mr. C. A. Bennett (Beaconsfield), Mr. W. P. Routh (Reading), and Mr. W. H. Fussell (secretary). Amongst those present were: Messrs. J. J. Parker (Farnham Royal), W. C. Parker (Staines), G. Higgs (Warfield), R. A. Farndon (London), A. D. Cullum (Caversham), A. D. Barker (Slough), Miss N. G. Williams (Hillingdon), Messrs. W. Henley (Stoke Poges), J. W. Driver (Fulham), C. Farr and J. Harman (Windsor), W. Lawrence (Ealing), and R. T. Hibbert (Caversham) (Diocesan Secretary).

The balance sheet for 1920 was presented by the Chairman. This showed: Receipts, £53 4s.; expenditure, £36 4s., leaving a balance in hand of £17, which the Chairman remarked he considered very satisfactory (applause), and he congratulated Mr. Fussell on his successful management of the branch finances.

The election of officers next occupied the attention of the meeting, the Bishop of Buckingham being unanimously elected chairman, and Mr. W. H. Fussell secretary and treasurer. With regard to the office of vice-chairman, Mr. Fussell reported that he had received a letter from the Rev. E. M. Blackie, of Windsor, who asked to be relieved from that office owing to ever increasing duties, which left him but little time.—Mr. A. Martin proposed the Vicar of Bray, the Rev. W. S. Riddlesdell who was unanimously elected, and in a brief speech accepted the office.

The whole committee of 1920, comprising Messrs. G. Alder (Burnham), J. Blackmore (Beaconsfield), J. Borham (High Wycombe), R. Buckland (Beaconsfield), J. L. Kirk (Maidenhead), G. T. Leader (Slough), G. Martin (Boyne Hill), T. S. Smith (Windsor), J. C. Truss (Marlow), G. Twitchen (High Wycombe), W. Welling (Old Windsor), and G. White (Wycombe) was re-elected en bloc.

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

Mr. Fussell, in presenting his report, remarked that they had passed through a troublesome year. Everybody had been feeling a current from the Church Enabling Act. He supposed no branch of Church workers felt the onus more than ringers. It was proposed to destroy centuries of association between vicar and ringers. Referring to the February meeting in London, he was glad to tell them that there was no cause for uneasiness. The old order remained, and ringers would carry on their work with only one head, the Vicar. If control of the bells had gone to the parochial councils, friction as to times of ringing, etc., must inevitably have arisen, and their whole association must have crumbled away. It was now definitely settled that ringers were in the hands of the Vicar, and not under the parochial council. The questions had adversely affected their branch, in that on December 1st last 30 honorary members and towers had failed to pay their subscriptions owing to the uncertainty. During the year he had to thank Mr. C. A. Bennett, of Beaconsfield, the Rev. W. G. Riddlesdell, of Bray, the Wycombe ringers, the Cookham ringers and the Chalfont ringers, for generously entertaining members of the branch. Hitcham (10-12 ringers) and Bellow towers had joined the branch, and their present strength was 34 towers, over 400 members, 50 hon. members and 87 non-resident members—all expert ringers—from London and other centres. He thought this a very fine record. He was sorry to say that Mr. Edwin Lucas, of Slough, had ended his days during the year, and there had been one or two removals. Their president had been created a Bishop. It was possible he would be unable to continue as president owing to increased duties, but he would put the proposition before him as the unanimous wish of the meeting (applause). Referring to the area covered by the branch, the speaker said that it was too wide, and they would have to consider the advisability of its being cut up. They were unable to cope with remote towers, and few men beyond Beaconsfield and beyond Warfield were able to attend their meetings. They could not expect men to travel across wide areas to practices. With regard to finance, he was trying to conserve funds, so as to have a balance in hand of £20, which he thought should be considered the minimum. He asked the committee to look up subscribers interested in bells, and finally he thanked them all for the patience with which they had received his sometimes hasty correspondence and pleadings (applause).

Mr. C. A. Bennett then proposed votes of thanks to the Vicar of Old Windsor, to Miss Feltham for her services as organist, and to Mr. J. Gutteridge, the steeplekeeper. Referring to the use of the bells, the speaker remarked that there were two classes of people—those who liked bells, and those who didn't. It was difficult to deal with a Vicar who disliked bells, but he thought it was always possible to interest him with the idea of the valuable example of co-operation as distinct from competition, which bell ringing entailed. He contended that the resources of the world were best developed by co-operation, and their Guild offered opportunities of co-operation which were badly needed.

The Rev. J. R. Napier, in acknowledgment, stated that he was most pleased and honoured at their choice of Old Windsor tower, and he was delighted to put the bells at their disposal. He was an honorary member of their association, but as a ringer he had an unfortunate beginning owing to a bell being upside down (laughter). He pulled the rope, and—well, that was the end of his bell ringing career (renewed laughter). All the same, he felt that England would never be the same without her bells, and he would be glad to see the Guild again at any time.

The Master of the Guild (the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, M.C.) gave a brief address, in which he congratulated the chairman, Sir William Carter, on recently celebrating his golden wedding (applause). He was sorry that Lady Carter was unable to be present. The speaker then dealt with the pleasures and advantages of these branch meetings, and complimented their excellent secretary on his indefatigable efforts. Referring to the area covered by the branch, he suggested that this matter be delegated to the committee for full discussion and a report at their next meeting. He had the welfare of the branch at heart, and was anxious that the work should not prove too much for the secretary. In the course of his sermon, Canon Coleridge had remarked that in 40 years the Guild had only had two masters and three secretaries. He wished to add that in that time they had only had one Canon Coleridge, and there was no one like him (applause).

Mr. Bennett proposed that the committee be instructed to consider the question of dividing the branch into two and report at the next annual meeting.

Mr. Barker suggested that it would be better to leave the branch as it is with the old title, and form sub-divisions instead of making two new branches.

Mr. Fussell stated his personal views of the matter. Owing to the huge district, he was unable to get about enough, and could not visit enough towers. The title, 'East Berks and South Bucks' was not a guild title, as it was in existence before the Guild was formed. If the branch was divided, the title need not be lost. The two secretaries could work in unison, and they would have the added advantage of two committees, with the prospect of remote towers receiving due attention.

Various arguments were put forward for and against, and the matter was finally referred to the committee for consideration, with the recommendation that a special general meeting be called during the summer months to decide the question.

A vote of thanks to the chairman concluded the meeting.

The ringing during the day included a course each of Cambridge at Slough, Sunbury and Old Windsor, and London at Windsor.

An excellent photograph of the party was taken at Old Windsor, and copies may be had post free 4d. each from the secretary.

INFORMATION WANTED.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Could any of your readers furnish me with any information concerning a peal of Grandsire Caters, rung at St. Clement Danes London, half-muffled, for the late Lord Beaconsfield and conducted by the late John Cox? I have been asked to make this inquiry by an old Cumberland Youth, Mr. G. Flavell, who rang in the peal, and who would like to know if there are any more surviving members of the band.—Yours faithfully,

WILLIAM J. ATLEN.

DUTY AND PRIVILEGE.

BY THE LATE MASTER OF THE GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION.

I had rather be a door-keeper in the house of my God than to dwell in the tents of ungodliness' (Ps. lxxxiv. 11).

The Psalmist sets the humblest office about the House of God before anything that the 'tents of ungodliness' can offer; and if the office of a door-keeper, much more the ancient and honourable office of the Ringer. For what is his duty and privilege? It is, first and foremost, to invite others to the House of Prayer, and he does it officially, as an office-bearer in the Church. Let us rise to the dignity of our calling. 'Prayer pulls the rope below, and the great Bell rings above in the ears of God.' So said the great Nonconformist preacher, C. H. Spurgeon. Ringing has its manifold lessons. We expect to hear the Bell sound when we pull the rope; with equal certainty we may expect prayer to be answered. No two Bells in the Tower have the same note, but when all are rung, the result is ever-changing melody; so the praises of a united congregation rise in ever-changing melody before the Throne of God. You are disappointed when you meet 'one short' for the method you wished to ring; is not our Master disappointed when His congregation meets 'one short' for worship? Never let it be said that the 'one short' was an office-bearer of the Church.

MICHAEL E. THOROLD.

THE GRANTA VARIATION OF TREBLE BOB.

This variation was given in 'The Ringing World' very recently. Amongst its other advantages the method has a clean proof scale, which enables to ring a peal to be rung with the sixth 12 full courses at home.

The bob before is made as below. The quick return of the bell that makes the bob into the slow is interesting.

A meeting of the Eastern District was held on Saturday week at Barkway, when the bells were kindly placed at the disposal of the ringers by the Rev. H. Stubbs. In spite of the somewhat inclement weather and restricted railway facilities, twenty-one members attended from Barley, Royston, Sawston, Great Munden, Little Munden, Anstey, Peterboro', Newmarket, Melbourne, Cambridge, and the local band. The nice peal of eight, with tenor of 17 cwt., were kept going, and much useful practice was enjoyed.—At the tea and business meeting Miss V. Shorter presided, and one new member was elected, viz., Mr. H. Whitby (Barkway).—A vote of thanks to the Vicar for the welcome extended was unanimously carried.—Ringing in various methods was kept up until 9 p.m.

THE PEALS OF 1920.

The peals analysis for the year 1920, compiled by the Committee of the Central Council, appears in this issue, and is again full of interest, for compressed into the compact tables and the concise report of the Committee is a wealth of detail which covers a twelvemonth's activities of the peal ringers. A study of the principal table reveals many features of a satisfactory nature and encouraging to those who are watching for the recovery of the art after the years of war. First of all we have the fact that the number of peals rung in the year was 423 more than in 1919, which is an increase of something like 40 per cent. The average point value of the peals has not increased, but there is one view from which it may be argued that this is not a matter for regret. A detailed comparison of the figures with 1919 shows that there was a hundred per cent. increase in the number of Surprise peals rung, the total being 128 in 1920 against 64 in the preceding year. That being the case, there must have been a large increase in the number of peals in the simpler methods, and it is only logical to assume that this indicates many ringers taking their first steps in peal ringing. There are very few instances indeed where peals of any particular class showed a drop last year; but one of the most noteworthy is Stedman Caters on tower bells, which fell from 47 to 37, although this is exactly compensated for by a rise of ten in the number on handbells. Possibly, some of the falling off is accounted for by the increase in the number of peals of Cambridge Royal. Compared with 1919, the peals in 1920 on twelve bells were 46 against 33; on ten bells 156 against 116, on eight bells 905 against 680, on six bells 270 against 162, on five bells 94 against 57.

Among individual Associations we find Norwich and Ipswich, who rang most peals (79) in 1919, again rang most in 1920—exactly 100 more, with 2490 points against 1089. Kent, who were third in total number in 1919, were second with 114 peals in 1920. In total number of points Norwich and Ipswich is also first for last year and the Middlesex Association is second, their 65 peals having produced 1696 points. In point value for peals, Durham and Newcastle, helped by their handbell peals of London Surprise, have a fine average of 33 points for each of the 21 peals rung. This is a much higher average than any Association gained in the previous year, when the College Youths had the best average with 26.54 for 24 peals rung. With three times as many peals, however, Middlesex is second with an average of 26, which must be looked upon as a very high standard, for out of their 65 peals, 22 were rung in plain or treble bob methods.

tion with no fewer than 179 peals in the year is an achievement which merits attention, and shows a rapid revival throughout this big area. Norwich and Ipswich have for some years enjoyed the reputation of ringing the greatest number of peals, and this indicates that they have in their ranks a very considerable proportion of men of peal ringing ability, for, except at Leiston, there is no prolific peal scoring band at any one tower. One other thing cannot be passed over without mention, and that is the labours of the Peals Analysis Committee. Its work is growing heavier, but the task is discharged with the same accuracy and care as has always marked its efforts, and not only the Council but also the Exercise ought to be deeply grateful to the Committee.

REPORT OF THE ANALYSIS COMMITTEE.

The Analysis of peals rung in 1920 shows a substantial increase in the total, which was only three less than the total of 1913. It is still a long way (888 peals) behind the record of 1913, but it was not to be expected that that huge figure should so soon be reached once more.

Of the 1,471 peals, 1,301 were rung on tower bells, and 170 on handbells. Our instructions from the Council are to arrange the Associations in alphabetical order (cf. 'Ringing World,' Vol. xiv., p. 241, and Vol. xv., p. 315), and we accordingly present the Analysis in that form.

The Norwich and Ipswich Diocesan Association has the largest number, both of peals and points, viz., 179 and 2,490. Of these peals, 153 were rung on tower bells, and 26 on handbells. The only other Association to reach a total of three figures is the Kent County Association, 114, all on tower bells. The second-highest number of points belongs to the Middlesex Association, 1,696, 56 peals on tower and 9 on handbells. The Winchester Diocesan Guild rang the greatest number of handbell peals, 32, 21 of these being Grandsire Triples.

New Methods and new arrangements of old Methods give evidence of a 'forward movement' amongst ringers. Little St. Lawrence Major is an example of the first, and of the second we find two peals of Little Bob and Plain Bob Major spliced together, one on tower bells and one on handbells, and Kent and Oxford Treble Bob spliced on the particular plan to which has been given the name of 'Worcester,' of which we say more below.

There are still instances of extraordinary dilatoriness in reporting peals, one, e.g., rung on January 14th, was not published till May 7th! With the welcome enlargement of 'The Ringing World,' there can be no further excuse for this. It is not too much to ask that those who send reports of peals should see that any errors, either their own or the printer's, be immediately corrected. One ringer, for example, allowed a peal, described as 'Stedman Triples—Holt's Original,' to be uncorrected, and his excuse was—'Printer's error, not mine.' We would point out that, by not correcting the error, he made it his own. Among other evidently incorrect statements, we find a peal of Minor, which is said to consist of 'two 520's of St. Clement's and two 520's of Plain Bob.' This can hardly be a 'printer's error.' One peal was published as rung at Brighton by the Surrey County Association, which we strongly suspect should belong to the Sussex County Association, but no correction has been made by the conductor or by either of the Associations, and, therefore, it is included in the Surrey peals. When the Analysis was completed, two more peals were published on March 18th; one, a peal of Grand-sire Doubles, 'first peal of Doubles by all except the conductor,' whose name was not given, rung as long as September 18th; the other, a peal of Treble Bob Minor with two conductors, rung on November 27th. It is to be hoped that those responsible are not so dilatory in their business as in this matter. In accordance with the Council's instructions, these Peals are not included in the Analysis.

Our Chairman's letter to 'The Ringing World' of January 14th has given rise to the suggestion that the Analysis Committee should deal with the question of the names to be given to peals in two or more already named Methods spliced together, such as the so-called 'Worcester Treble Bob Major.' The letter, of course, only referred to the names given to Minor Methods, several of which have been rung under two or more names, and the Committee hope to receive the help of Minor ringers in the matter. The other question seems to be out of the province of the Committee, but it is one with which the Council or the Methods Committee might be asked to deal. With regard to 'Worcester,' the name is already given to a Minor Method, and the Committee think it would be better to keep to the nomenclature, already to be found in Soltanwall (pp. 583 and 588), and Snowdon's 'Treble Bob,' p. 18.

The number of ringers taking part in their first peal was 490, including several ladies, and lads of the age of 11 and upwards; first with a bob bell, 51; away from tenor, 12; first as conductor, 53, of which 4 were on handbells, one of these conductors being only 13 years old.

There was a very great increase in 'first peals on the bells,' the total being 81, including 22 since re-hanging or augmentation, 57 of these being on 5 or 6 bells; a welcome evidence that six bell ringers especially are extending the knowledge of the Exercise in new directions.

First peal by local band, 10, including one by all railwaymen, and one by a Cathedral band. First on Handbells, 29; first on Tower bells, 11; Peace peals, 30; Muffled peals (including those in connection with the war), 68; Dedication of War Memorials, 19; Wedding Peals, 50, including 4 Golden Weddings, one of these being that of the Chairman of the Analysis Committee (to whom his colleagues here offer congratulations and good wishes); Welcome and Farewell peals, 32; Centenary peals, 5; Tercentenary peals, 2; 1,000th anniversary of the freeing of Leicester from the Danes, and a 1,251st Dedication Anniversary; Church Festivals, 12, including one peal of 8 Georges on St. George's Day; first Archbishop of Wales, Bishop's Jubilee, Consecration and Enthronement, and new Incumbent produced 20 peals; Empire Day, 7; Harvest Thanksgiving, 3; Royal Birthdays, etc., 6; peals by ex-Service men, 4.

Ringers' ages continue to extend both upwards and downwards. We find them ringing peals at the ages of 11, 12, 13 (one conducting), 14, etc., up to 74, 77, 81 and 82! If boys begin at 11, and go on to the age of Messrs. Small and Hofrex, what will be their total peal record? The latter rang a peal of Treble Bob Maximus on his 82nd birthday. Most of us find two arms none too many in a peal; Cpl. H. Churchill, whose right arm was entirely shot away on the Somme, rang a peal of Minor in 4 Methods at Belton, Rutland, striking it perfectly throughout.

Other peals of special interest were: One by four married couples, Grandsire Triples at Epsom; a peal of Maximus on handbells by six brothers, and Double Norwich and Superlative Surprise Major on tower bells by eight brothers at Leiston.

A PROTEST.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I desire to point out, and protest against, an extraordinary mis-statement in your 'Belfry Gossip' column of yesterday's issue. Speaking of Arundel Parish Church, you say that 'part of the same building is used by the Established Church and part belongs to the Catholic Church.' By the latter title I am afraid you mean the Roman Church which always likes to call itself the Catholic Church. But it is deplorable that we of the Church of England who believe our own church to be just as much part of the Catholic Church as the Church of Rome, should by such statements as this, aid and abet the Roman Church in her extravagant claims. As a matter of fact I believe the part used for Roman services is the private property of the Dukes of Norfolk, and, therefore, does not belong to the Roman Church as such.—Yours faithfully,
W. R. INGHAM.

DEATH OF MR. FERRIS SHEPHERD.

ONE OF DEVON'S PIONEERS.

The death of Mr. Ferris Shepherd, senior, took place at Hersham, Surrey, on Friday last. For some time past he had been a great sufferer from asthma, and during the past winter his strength gave way. During the two last months he was obliged to keep to his bed, and slowly, but surely, in spite of a good constitution and careful nursing, his strength ebbed away.

During his illness, which he bore with great patience, he maintained a cheerful spirit, and displayed quiet endurance to the end.

Mr. Ferris Shepherd came from a good old family of ringers, well known throughout Devon and the West of England. Born on April 30th, 1857, he commenced ringing early in life, and his first peal was a peal of Grandsire Triples at St. Sidwell's, Exeter, in which he rang the 4th. Change ringing in Devonshire was practically unknown in those days, and the attitude towards half-pull ringers and ringing was very hostile in many places. This opposition continued for many years, but step by step, by sheer hard work and by the influence of the Devon Guild, a small number of workers, of whom Mr. Shepherd was one, gradually made change ringing more widely known. In 1884, Mr. Shepherd conducted a peal, in which his three brothers also took part. In 1887 he conducted the first peal in Dorset, and shortly after the eight at St. Sidwell's, Exeter, was increased to ten, he conducted the first peal of Caters ever rung in Devonshire. The first peals of Grandsire Caters and Stedman Triples in Taunton were conducted by him.

From 1879 to 1904, Mr. Shepherd rang nearly 70 peals in the West of England, mostly for the Devon Guild. Of these he conducted over 30, and when one comes to weigh these facts—scattered districts, the few change ringers, the opposition to half-pull ringing, and other difficulties—such a record is very worthy of a ringer who spent the best part of 25 years in teaching bands the art of change ringing throughout a county such as Devon. On October 6th, 1902, Mr. Shepherd took part in the first peal on the bells of Exeter Cathedral, and when he left Exeter for Ireland in 1904, he was presented with a beautiful address, together with a handsome gold chain and pendant by the Devon Guild.

From 1904 to 1909, Mr. Shepherd was resident at Arklow, Ireland, and during his stay there rang a number of peals, mostly at Arklow, with Mr. J. W. Washbrook. For the last twelve years deceased lived at Hersham, Surrey, and, together with his sons, took up tune ringing, in addition to the other branches of the art. Always cheerful in disposition, his delight was to train young hands, and many a band owe their early steps in ringing to his untiring energy. His total number of peals was 113, including three handbell peals, one of which was rung by himself and his three sons. Just over twelve months ago he ran his last quarter-peal, the band comprising four Woodrow's and four Shepherd's. He had long desired to ring a quarter-peal with Mrs. W. Shepherd, wife of one of his sons, and this event practically brought his ringing life to a close. The funeral took place on Wednesday, at Hersham.

CLEVELAND AND NORTH YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

The Easter meeting was held at Whitby on Bank Holiday, there being a good attendance of members from Robin Hood's Bay, Whitby, Saltburn, Middlesbrough, and Darlington (St. John's). The bells, a peal of ten, were kept going throughout the day in touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major, Kent Treble Bob, and Double Norwich Major, Grandsire and Stedman Caters and Kent Royal. The striking was generally very good, and several ringers took part in methods that they only get the opportunity of ringing on these rare occasions. Dinner was provided at the Pier Cafe, and presided over by the Rev. C. R. Hone (Rector of Whitby), supported by Vice-Presidents G. F. Alexander (Robin Hood's Bay) and J. M. Fassman (Middlesbrough), and the secretary (Mr. T. Metcalfe).

After the loyal toast, the Rector welcomed the Association to Whitby, and spoke very highly of these meetings in bringing ringers together. Although he did not understand very much about change ringing, he had paid various visits to the belfry, and was very much taken up by the enthusiasm of his own ringers and the welcome he received. He eulogised the work which his ringers did, and specially mentioned their attendance at the church services, which he hoped the ringers generally did not forget.

Mr. G. F. Alexander, in proposing a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector of Whitby for presiding over the meeting, and also for the use of the bells, said the clergy should take a greater interest in church bell ringing than they usually did, so that the ringers themselves would come more into touch with the clergy.—The motion was seconded by Mr. J. M. Fassman, who said that a good many of the clergy never took the slightest interest in ringing.—This vote having been carried by acclamation, the Rector responded, expressing the hope that the Association would not be long before it paid Whitby another visit.

Several new members were elected, including the Rector of Whitby as an honorary member.

CARISBROOKE BELLS.

ROYAL BELL CASTING.

The Croydon Foundry has been honoured by another royal visit. On Friday last the Princess Beatrice, who is Governor of the Isle of Wight, visited Messrs. Gillett and Johnston's establishment to witness the casting of the new peal for Carisbrooke Church. The Princess was naturally much interested in the proceedings, which were explained to her by Mr. Cyril Johnston, and she also inspected the work in connection with bells and clocks going on in other parts of the factory.

The original bells at Carisbrooke were cast in 1770, and the old inscriptions have been reproduced, including the following:—

Musick is medicine to the mind,
To honour both of God and King
Our voices shall in consort ring.
In wedlock bands all ye who join,
With hands your hearts unite;
So shall our tuneful tongues combine
To laud the nuptial rite.
Our voices shall with joyful sound
Make hills and valleys echo round.

A new inscription which is being added reads:—

Thanks be to God, who giveth us the victory.

A model bell was cast from the metal of the old Carisbrooke peal, and presented to the Princess, who also heard tunes played on the fine new peal of ten for Rochester Cathedral, which were standing mouth upwards on the foundry floor.

DEVONSHIRE GUILD.

THE DATE OF THE ANNUAL MEETING.

The quarterly meeting of the Exeter branch of the Devon Guild was held at Exmouth on Saturday, April 9th. It opened with a service in the Church of All Saints, at Withycombe, the Rev. G. E. Davies (Exeter) giving an address. Ten was subsequently provided in the All Saints' Institute, by the kindness of Mrs. R. B. Ponsford and other ladies.

Mr. E. Shepherd presided over the quarterly meeting, and among those present were Mr. W. J. Southwood (secretary and treasurer), Mr. J. C. Oke (assistant secretary), the Revs. G. E. Davies, J. E. B. Ball (Littleham), and F. H. Franklin (Withycombe), Messrs. S. Hull and R. B. Ponsford (churchwardens), and about 33 members of the Exeter and district branch.

It was decided to suspend the next quarterly meeting in July, and to hold the annual assembly on Saturday, November 26th, at Heavitree.

The Devon Guild annual meeting has been fixed to take place at Torquay on Whit-Monday, and in view of the Prince of Wales' visit to Exeter on that date an expression of opinion was asked for the general secretary as to the advisability of holding the meeting on that day or on the previous Saturday afternoon.

A suggestion was thrown out that Torquay might be asked to give up the meeting in favour of Exeter on the occasion. This led up to an interesting discussion. One speaker suggested that if the ringers met at Exeter the four towers could be opened up and the bells rung in honour of the Prince's visit. Whether this would be in keeping with the unveiling of a County War Memorial to the fallen was questioned, and a member considered that the ringing of a knell would more suitably mark the occasion. It was eventually agreed, on a vote being taken, to adhere to the holding of the meeting at Torquay.

Votes of thanks were extended to the clergy and to the ladies for providing tea, and to Mr. Skinner for making the arrangements.—Replying to a similar compliment for presiding, the Chairman remarked that ringing, like everything else, if they wanted to push things forward, must have help from the younger generation.

NORTH-EAST BRANCH.

It was only right that the claims of Cullompton to have one of the quarterly meetings of the North-East Branch of the Devon Guild held there should have received recognition, seeing that less than a year ago the bells were rehung and augmented to ten by Messrs. Taylor and Son, and are the only ring of ten within the area of the activities of the branch. The meeting was held on April 2nd, and the attendance numbered 38, including Mr. E. Shepherd, who kindly superintended the ringing in the absence of the hon. secretary, through indisposition, and other ringers from Exeter. A service was held in the fine old Parish Church, and a very interesting and practical sermon was preached by the Vicar (the Rev. R. N. F. Phillips).

After tea, the Vicar was thanked for conducting the service, and regret was expressed that he was so soon leaving the neighbourhood. Reference was also made to his work in connection with the bells and to the impetus he had given to the introduction of change ringing in Cullompton.—Mr. Elsworthy (Halberton) was heartily thanked for his help in instructing the local band, members of which showed how they had profited thereby.—Ten local ringers were elected members of the Guild.—A vote of thanks was passed to the ladies for the excellent manner in which they had arranged the tea, and general regret was expressed at the unavoidable absence of the hon. secretary (the Rev. E. V. Cox). It is hoped to hold the next meeting at Hintsam, probably in July.

WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.
PORTSMOUTH DISTRICT.

A comparatively well-attended meeting was held at Petersfield on Saturday week, when, despite the threatened railway strike, members attended from Alverstoke, Havant, Curdridge, Petersfield, Portsmouth and Portsea, visitors from Maidstone and Liss, and also the Ringing Master, Mr. George Williams (North Stoneham). Ringing began with Grandsire Doubles and Bob Minor, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob and Double Norwich Major and Cambridge Surprise Major followed. An excellent tea was served in the Church Hall, to which over 20 ringers sat down. At the business meeting which followed, Mr. G. Williams was voted to the chair, in the absence of the Vicar. One performing member, one honorary member, and one compounding member were admitted, and it was decided that the next quarterly meeting should be held at Soberton on July 16th.—A vote of thanks to the Vicar of Petersfield for the use of the bells was passed, after which further ringing took place.

A meeting of the Guildford District was held at Puttenham on Saturday, April 9th, and was attended by ringers from Aldershot, Cranleigh, Godalming, Guildford (two towers), Haslemere, Shere, Seale, Worplesdon, as well as the local company. The Rector, the Rev. Canon Cooke, Yarborough, officiated at the service, and tea was served in the old Schoolroom, the Rector presiding. Eight new members were elected, and a hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Rector for the use of the bells, for his excellent address, and for presiding at the meeting. During the afternoon and evening touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob were brought round on the church bells.

CHURCHKIRK, LANCs.—On Sunday evening, April 24th, 720 Bob Minor: W. Hindle 1, W. Aarons (1st 720) 2, F. Hollins 3, A. Chadwick 4, L. Rostron 5, L. J. Williams (conductor) 6.

FULBOURN, CAMBS.—Ely Diocesan Association.—On Sunday, April 24th, for evening service, at the Church of St. Vigors and All Saints, a quarter-peal of Bob Major, in 50 mins.: E. Webb 1, J. Page 2, C. Hall 3, J. Giddens 4, C. E. Patten 5, A. Page 6, G. Bridge 7, B. D. Buttress (conductor) 8.

OPENING PEAL ON NEW SHEFFIELD BELLS.

When the war memorial peal of eight bells, by Taylor and Co., of Handsworth, Sheffield, was opened last December by an ex-service band it was arranged that at the first convenient opportunity this band should ring the first peal on them, and this was successfully accomplished on Saturday week, when at the first attempt a well-struck peal of 5,036 changes of Bob Major (already recorded) was brought round in 3 hrs. 2 mins.

The bells are a fine-toned peal tuned on the Simpson principle, and the steady striking brought the beautiful harmonies well into evidence, causing much pleasure to many listeners belonging to the parish, who were round about, and several of whom came up the tower at the conclusion of the peal to express their gratification.

It is of interest to note that the third bell, presented by the Handsworth Girls' Club, was rung by a lady, Miss W. M. Hague, so that at the opening of the bells she took this bell, although unaware at the time of its association.

After the peal, the band, in company with Mr. Watkinson, late of the Cathedral, who is training the Handsworth ringers, were most hospitably entertained by the Rector of Handsworth, and Mrs. Baker, who expressed the pleasure they felt in now possessing such an excellent peal of bells, and in hearing them put to such good use. After tea, some of the band entertained those present with some well-struck touches on the handbells, Grandsire Cafers, Duffield and Plain Bob Major, Stedman and Grandsire Triples being successfully brought round.

The band, through the medium of 'The Ringing World,' would like to express their hearty appreciation of the kindness of the Rector and Mrs. Baker in entertaining them so hospitably, and in showing so much interest in all their doings, and to Mr. Watkinson and the local ringers for making all the necessary arrangements for the peal.

GRIMSBY.—On Sunday, April 24th, at St. Andrew's Church, for morning service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples, in 41 mins.: W. E. Meffen 1, F. Overton 2, S. Bromfield 3, J. B. Budd (conductor) 4, F. Metcalfe 5, R. S. Long 6, E. Brown 7, J. W. Seamer 8. For evening service, a quarter-peal of Double Norwich Major, in 44 mins.: F. Overton 1, H. Mingay 2, S. Bromfield 3, J. B. Budd 4, A. W. Long 5, R. S. Long 6, F. Metcalfe 7, J. W. Seamer (conductor) 8. First quarter of Double Norwich by all and in Grimsby. All the above are Sunday Service ringers at this church.

PRESENTATION TO MR. EDWIN HORREX.

At the meeting of the Ancient Society of College Youths, on Tuesday evening, April 19th, held at the Coffee Pot, the worthy and respected 'father' of the College Youths, Mr. Ted Horrex, was presented with an enlarged photograph, suitably inscribed and framed, together with a sum of money.

The photograph was taken by Mr. F. Ball, a member of the society, on Mr. Horrex's 83rd birthday, the inscription reading as follows: 'Presented to Mr. Edwin Horrex by the members of the Ancient Society of College Youths, with their hearty congratulations, upon his having rung a peal of Stedman Triples on Easter Monday, 1921, at the age of 83.'

The presentation was made by Mr. T. Faulkner, acting chairman, who, in a brief but appropriate speech, assured Mr. Horrex that the society were very proud of him, and further expressed the wish that he might be spared long to remain their 'father'. The photograph would ever remind him of the happy times spent among them, and the real affection in which he was held by the society and the whole of the ringing fraternity generally.

The 'Grand Old Man' briefly responded, thanking the members for their kindness, and Mr. Ball for taking the photograph.

Postcards of Mr. Horrex can be obtained from Mr. T. Ball, 9, Galveston Road, East Putney, at 5d. each, post free, or enlarged and mounted, 3s. 6d., post 1s. 3d.

AN APPEAL.

To the Editor.

Sir,—The many ringing friends of Mr. W. S. Wise will regret to hear that he has been laid up for twelve months, and is now confined to his bed with no hope of recovery. His long illness has resulted in bringing him into very low circumstances, and I should welcome for his assistance any subscriptions, however small, forwarded either to me, or to Mr. W. Wise, 19, Cromwell Road, West Croydon, direct, which will be duly acknowledged. ARTHUR MASON, 99, Northcote Road, West Croydon.

LADIES' GUILD.

A very enjoyable meeting of the Southern District was held on Saturday week at Farnham, about 40 ringers and their friends being present. The Guild service was conducted by the Rev. J. M. O. Crum, Rector of Farnham, who gave an extremely interesting address. After tea, a short business meeting was held, when three members were elected, and Hershaw was chosen for the next meeting in June. The Rector had, at his own suggestion, kindly obtained permission for the ringers to visit the castle and grounds, and under his able guidance the majority of the ringers spent a very pleasant hour. Ringing was afterwards resumed. The following towers were represented: Aldershot, Bagshot, Binsted, Cranleigh, Farnham, Farnborough and Guildford.

RINGING FOR ETERNITY.

By the Rev. H. DRAKE.

Sir Oliver Lodge tells us that his son Raymond, from the other world, said that the vicious are sent to a place which is 'not hell exactly,' where 'they gravitate together, but get so bored.' To which a theologian has retorted, 'One might venture to say that it is exactly hell.' It is not necessary to believe in these revelations in order to learn a lesson from them.

Ringers can get a better idea of the infinity of God than most people. We know that we can only understand our Art by strictly limiting it. We begin with changes on a very few bells, and never go beyond those on twelve. Yet we know that there are an infinite number of changes, which are quite beyond our power to conceive, and yet (like everything else) are held in being by God, the Absolute and Infinite. We can imagine how much more glorious and beautiful the changes on sixteen bells would be either to listen to or to ring, than any we now use. We can imagine all the uninteresting changes in the one octave rendered attractive by what is missing being added in the other octave; or we can imagine new principles by which all uninteresting changes are eliminated. And all this is only a step out of our reach. What are the possibilities of Infinity?

On the other hand, how unending may be the tedium of dulness. Think of 'Plain Changes' on 16 bells; or of a parody of Stedman in which all the bells behind make places instead of dodging. Or imagine men who know about the best there is of change ringing, and are capable of appreciating it, deliberately spending all their lives in discussing the possibilities of changes on four bells only. Would they not 'feel so bored' and have made their own bell?

There is nothing that can prepare a ringer's heart for the worshipping of the God of order and of change, like the harmony of well-struck changes, leading to their fore-ordained end in a musical order. But if after having thus received 'boldness to enter into the holiest,' he turns away and 'neglects so great salvation,' has he not in similar manner made his own bell? Nay, but we will 'draw near with a true heart in full assurance of faith,' and hear those things 'which it is not lawful for a man to utter.'

CENTRAL COUNCIL BUSINESS.

A perusal of the agenda of the Central Council shows that there is a full day's work for the members when they meet in London on Whitsun Tuesday. There is more than sufficient preliminary and routine business to occupy the Council until well past the luncheon interval, especially if the members, as they are sometimes inclined to do when they enter fresh upon a meeting, spend their time in discussing trivialities. There are no less than seven committee reports to be considered, as well as the election of officers and of eight committees to take place, and there are, in addition, motions of some importance set down for debate. In dealing with the early business, therefore, the members will be well advised to have an eye upon what is still before them, and we hope the Council will take the opportunity also, of officially visiting the Cenotaph and depositing a wreath there in memory of the one thousand ringers who fell in the war, as has been suggested in these columns.

Of the three motions already down in the agenda for discussion, there are two which we think will commend themselves wholly to the Council; we refer to that suggesting the setting up in every Diocese of a recognised authority to give advice on matters concerning church bells, and that which calls attention to the need for a Ringing Defence Committee. With regard to the former, some few associations already have, we believe, a 'committee of advice,' although we are not quite sure that their function has been exactly what is intended by the resolution now to come before the Council. In principle the proposal has everything to commend it, but to make it successful in practice, if carried out, the Associations who appoint the Committees will have to exercise the greatest care in their selection. In this matter the best ringer, or the most popular member, may not necessarily be the best adviser on a technical subject of this kind, and incompetent advice would be worse than none at all.

To the recent proposal to put ringers under the jurisdiction of the Parochial Church Councils, as well as sporadic attempts made in various districts to get Church bells silenced, may be attributed, we presume, the suggestion for a Ringing Defence Committee, and that there is need for such a body in the ringing organisation seems fairly obvious. One of the objects of the Council itself was, we believe, to look after the interests of ringing in this as well as in other respects, and there is no doubt that a small, alert committee, prepared to grapple at a moment's notice with any threatened attack upon the position of ringers or ringing would be a great advantage. We hope that the Committee, if appointed, will include at least one member with legal knowledge and experience appointed from within the Council, or co-opted from without.

EASTERN DISTRICT.

The quarterly meeting of the Eastern District was held at Beverley, on Saturday, April 23rd. Beverley is a quaint little town, set in a level land at the southern edge of the Yorkshire Wolds; a town of red roofs and gables, cobble-paved streets, and old-world quietude. It possesses two magnificent churches, which contain two very fine organs, and, what is more interesting to these pages, two splendid peals of ten bells. In spite of the inclement weather and the railway restrictions, a fairly large number of members were present, representing towers at Hull, Goole, Selby, Howden, Sutton, Market Weighton, Scunthorpe (Lines), Barrow-on-Humber (Lines), and Elland (W.R.).

The Minster bells were rung to various methods in the afternoon, and service was held in the choir. The clergy taking part were the Rev. Canon Nolloth, D.D. (Vicar), the Rev. W. E. Wigfall, M.A., and the Rev. E. J. Barry, M.A. (curates), while the Rev. E. Hope, M.A. (Vicar of St. Mary's), was the preacher. His sermon was based on the last two verses of the 150th Psalm, 'Praise Him upon the well-tuned cymbals; praise Him upon the loud cymbals. Let everything that hath breath praise the Lord.' In an able address, he said that men were suffering in their social and industrial life to-day, because they had lost the sense of gratitude of God. Instead of lifting up their hearts in thanks and praise to God for all He had given them—life and health and all things—men were looking upon one another with envious and covetous eyes. There was no harmony between men, because they did not fulfil their proper functions in offering their praise to God. They needed to be in harmony with themselves just the same as each bell in the peal was in tune with itself, as well as being in tune with the rest of the peal. They wanted to get back to that spirit of fellowship and harmony with one another, that would bring joy once more into their lives.—The service concluded with a fine voluntary by Mr. J. Camidge (organist), which was greatly appreciated, the large and powerful organ being heard to great advantage.

Tea was afterwards served in the Minster Parish Room, to which a company of 50 did full justice, and this was followed by the business meeting, at which Mr. A. E. West (Sutton) presided.

Mr. A. Madeley (Hull) moved that the best thanks of the division be accorded to the Rev. Canon Nolloth for his many years of valuable interest and service in connection with the Association and change ringing, and said that ringers throughout the county sincerely regretted that the time had arrived when the Canon found it necessary to enter into retirement. Mr. Madeley also read letters from the Rev. C. C. Marshall and Mr. P. J. Johnson, president and general secretary of the Yorkshire Association, which referred in high terms to Canon Nolloth's great interest in bells and bell ringing.—Mr. W. Gibson (Beverley) seconded, and Mr. F. Cryer (Selby) supported the motion, which was carried with applause.

Canon Nolloth feelingly acknowledged the resolution, and said his severance with the parish, the Minster, and the bells, would be a great wrench to him. He, however, thought it better to retire now when things were in good order.

A vote of condolence was passed with the relatives of the late Mr. Thomas M. Barker, 'All Saints', Pontefract, and recently Ringing Master.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar of St. Mary's for his able address at the service, and, at his request, he was elected an honorary member of the Association.—Three new members were elected: Mr. F. Carrick (Sutton), Mr. A. Walker, Junr., and Mr. W. H. Hawley (Pontefract).

The next meeting was fixed to be held at Howden in July.

The visitors then adjourned to St. Mary's tower, where several touches were rung in various methods.

BARNSELY & DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

The monthly meeting was held at St. Peter's Church, Felkirk, near Barnsley, when ringers were present from Darfield, Wath, Sandal, Hoylandswaine, South Kirby, Royston, Crofton, and Wortley. Ringing took place during the afternoon, and tea was provided by the Ladies' Working Party in the old school in the churchyard. About 80 guests were present, and after the first sitting some of the ringers gave a few short touches on the handbells, while others resumed at the tower, where touches of London Scholars' Pleasure, Kent, Oxford and Bob Minor, and other methods, were rung. The business meeting was presided over by Mr. C. Normington, and two new members were elected.—A short address was given by Mr. Raynor, of Sandal, on the art of change ringing, and a few words followed from two of the lady workers.—A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the ladies for such an enjoyable tea; also to the Vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells.

A short service was held in the church, conducted by the Rev. Richardson, of Cudworth, who gave an interesting address. Ringers then returned to the tower, and ringing continued until 9 p.m., the gathering having been very enjoyable.

HINTS FOR BEGINNERS.THE EASIEST WAY TO CALL PEALS OF GRANDSIRE.

Among the correspondents who have written to ask me to help them is one who inquires which is the easiest way to call a peal of Grandsire Triples. A good deal, of course, depends upon the capabilities of the conductor and the amount of previous practice he has had in calling touches. Given ample practice in touch calling, a peal ought really to present few difficulties, and yet it is almost inevitably the case that the beginner at peal calling finds the task a big one. It is, I suppose, because of the added importance of the occasion, and the greater responsibility involved, not only by the longer length that is to be attempted and the extra mental strain, but by reason of the fact that an error near the finish may render valueless, perhaps, three hours' efforts of eight men, while there is with some people just that touch of excitement to be contended with which comes when they are put to any real test. These influences combine to make the calling of a peal no easy undertaking for the beginner, and, simple as it may be for the old hand, I for one do not belittle the job of 'first as conductor,' even if it is only a peal of Doubles. Indeed, the correct counting of the six-scores rung in a peal of this kind, where every 'part end' is the same, is a thing which in itself requires no mean mental effort.

When it comes to calling peals, then any method by which the young conductor can be certain of his ground as he proceeds, is of great advantage. In my view the easiest course for a beginner to pursue is to select a peal with as simple a calling as possible, learn by heart the places in which the observation bell will come at each call, and then ring the observation bell. There may be some conductors who may not agree with me in this, but my opinion is that this method (for beginners) is the safest as well as the easiest. If one calls by the bells 'before'—and I have in mind Holt's ten-part, to which beginners are so partial, and which has one bell seven times before in each part—there is a danger, unless one takes special precautions by making check observations, of error in the number of times this bell is bobbed 'before.' But if the conductor is ringing the observation bell he has only his own position to look for, and not that of two other bells, which would be necessary if depending on the other system.

With regard to the selection of a peal, the one divided into the largest number of parts is usually the easiest to remember, generally because there are fewer calls to memorise. One of the best peals for the beginner is Parker's twelve-part, for, while there are more calls in the 420 changes comprising each part of this peal than there are in the 504 changes of one part of Holt's ten-part, there is only one form of calling to remember, whereas in Holt's there is a different calling (reckoned by the order of the places in which the observation bell falls at the bobs) for each half. Some ringers, of course, have a more retentive memory than others, and would be able to tackle at the first attempt something more involved than either Holt's or Parker's peal, but as I have been asked for the easiest way, I have tried to answer my correspondent from that view only.

While on the subject of conducting, I will deal with the inquiry of another correspondent, who asks: 'Suppose I wish to conduct a touch from any bell excepting tenors and treble, and use calls as if ringing the tenor, would the touch come into rounds by continuing ringing till the call-bell was at home, or would there be a danger of the tenors coming up the wrong way or the other bells being mis-placed? The bells in mind are a peal of eight, and the methods rung Plain Bob, Grandsire, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob.' A simple answer to this question would be 'Sometimes,' but I am afraid such a reply would not be of much assistance to my correspondent. Often the substitution of some other bell for the observation bell will result in the touch coming round right enough, but in Major it will in most cases part the tenors and upset all the music, while there is just another little trick that may be played upon the unwary beginner. Take Bob Major as an example. There is a familiar touch of 224 (two courses) got by calling the tenor W and H twice. Suppose you attempt to get this touch by substituting, say, the 2nd as the observation bell, you will find that before the bells run round you will have rung three courses, and that you will have had repetition. The proper length can be got by beginning the calling at a Home, but the coursing order of the big bells and the music is turned topsy-turvy. Then with Grandsire Triples; it is not always possible to change the observation bell. Suppose you want to call a touch in which the 7th is the observation bell and no call brings it into the hunt, you cannot substitute the 2nd for the 7th, can you? And even if the observation bell does go into the hunt, you could not use the 2nd as a substitute unless you begin the calling in a different place, making the first call that which brings the observation out of the hunt.

These are only some of the difficulties which present themselves when one desires to substitute one bell for another, and use the same calling. If my correspondent desires to ring some bell other than the observation bell, I should recommend him to practise calling by transposition; but that, of course, is a different matter, and one which I will deal with at some future date.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

When we wrote last week that we had some recollection of a son of Mr. J. W. Washbrook having rung a tower bell peal at an earlier age than eleven years, we were not very wide of the mark. Walter Washbrook rang his first peal (Grandsire) at 10 years and 3 months; James W., junr., his first (Grandsire) at 10 years and 6 months; and Harry Washbrook his first (Stedman) at 11 years. Jas. W. Washbrook, junr. (Mr. Washbrook's only surviving son), conducted Holt's ten-part at the age of 12 years.

This, we think, will settle the controversy as to the youngest ringer of a tower bell peal, but it does not in any way detract from the merit of the performance of those other young men who have rung peals at an early age. In addition to those whom we have already mentioned, Mr. John T. Kentish rang his first tower bell peal at the age of 13, in September, 1891, on the treble, and a few weeks later rang an inside bell to Grandsire Triples. The two sons of Mr. A. W. Osborne, of Reading, also began early. Horace rang his first peal at 12 years 6 months, and Leonard when barely 12 years of age.

Mr. Bert Langdon informs us that he has not, as we thought he had, conducted a peal of Stedman Triples, Caters and Cinques 'in hand' from every pair of bells; but he informs us that Mr. G. N. Price, late of Oxhey, has done so. He also reminds us of the interesting fact that Mr. Harry R. Pasmore has called peals on hand-bells in Grandsire, Stedman, Plain and Treble Bob on 8, 10 and 12 bells, and in addition conducted the first Surprise peal rung 'double-handed,' viz., Superlative.

The old peal of six at Mangolfield, Gloucester, with tenor 10½ cwt., have been recast into a peal of eight by Messrs. Warner and Sons, and will be reopened on Saturday, May 14th.

The fact that the strike has restricted the train service, and consequently keeps some ringers at home when they would like to be sharing in a peal, has not damped the spirits of the humorist, who, having to decline an invitation on account of the trains, wrote as follows:—

The 12.24 is too early—the 2.52 doesn't run, Things now point only too plainly to the fact, I'm unable to come.

Many thanks for your kind invitation

To a tower where I've not had a pull.

May you score all the same

As I beg to remain,

Respectfully yours, 'Barney's Bull.'

'We do not feel that the bell ringer has such a close spiritual affinity with the clergyman as the organist.'—The Dean of Manchester.

Mr. W. Page, of Worcester, writes that his name should have been included in the Peals Analysis among the list of conductors of seven peals in 1920.

A meeting was held recently at Lavenham, and ringers representing many towers in West Suffolk were present. After a discussion it was proposed and carried that a new association should be formed and called the Suffolk County Association.

LLANDAFF DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A quarterly meeting was held at Pontypridd on Saturday, April 24th, when a large muster put in an appearance. The bells, a light musical ring by Taylor and Co., were kept busy during the afternoon. Service was held in the Parish Church, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. W. Watkins Edwards), who gave a most useful and able address. Tea followed in Morgan's Restaurant, and it is interesting to note that although himself a Nonconformist, Mr. Morgan presented the ring of bells to the parish church. Owing to a larger number attending than was expected, the catering arrangements were somewhat taxed, and tea had to be served by relay.

The business meeting followed, and progress was reported from various towers. Quite a large number of new members were elected. The next Glamorgan quarterly meeting is to be held at Penarth, which follows the Monmouth quarterly meeting fixed for Magor.

Following the meeting, good use was made of the bells during the evening.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

The Blackburn Branch of the Lancashire Association held a meeting on Saturday, April 23rd, at Oswaldtwistle, and over 40 members were present from Blackburn (Parish Church and St. Michael's), Burnley, Darwen, Chorley, Standish, Rawtenstall, Accrington, Church Kirk, and the local company. The bells were kept going from 2 p.m. till 9 o'clock, with a brief interval for tea and meeting. The touches brought round included Plain Bob, Kent, Double Norwich and Superlative Major, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, and Plain Bob, Kent, College Exercise and Coventry and Loudon Surprise Minor.

The Rev. J. Walling presided at the tea and meeting, and Clitheroe was chosen for the next meeting.—The usual votes of thanks to the clergy and wardens, and also the local ringers for giving the ringers a hearty welcome, brought the meeting to a close.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

The First Session of the Eleventh Council (29th annual meeting) will be held in the Upper House of Convocation, at the Church House, Westminster, on Whitsun Tuesday, 17th May, 1921, at 11 a.m. precisely.

The morning sitting will be adjourned from 1 p.m. till 2.30, from which hour the Council will sit, if necessary, until 5.30 p.m.

The Standing Committee will meet previously at 9.45 a.m. in the same room.

The entrance will be from Dean's Yard only.

A LATE MOTION.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I have sent the following resolution to the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, but unfortunately it arrived a day late for the agenda of the Central Council: 'That this meeting recommend all Guilds and Associations to hold their annual meeting within three months previous to the Central Council meeting on Whit-Tuesday.'

I hope the members will allow me, if there is time, to bring it forward under No. 13 on the agenda, as I consider it is the greatest drawback to the Exercise that Associations taking an interest in the Council should hold their annual meetings either months before or after the Council meeting.—Yours, etc.,

A. H. PULLING.

COLLEGE YOUTHS' INVITATION.

Sir,—May I direct attention to the kind invitation to members of the Central Council and their friends issued by the Ancient Society of College Youths, and to be found in their notice on p. 245 of your last number? In view of this kindness on their part, and remembering the exceedingly pleasant evening that most of us spent with them on a former occasion, I am making no other arrangements for the evening in question.—Yours,

CHARLES D. P. DAVIES.

THE LATE MR. FERRIS SHEPHERD.

The funeral of the late Mr. Ferris Shepherd, whose death we recorded last week, took place at Hersham, Surrey, on April 27th. The service was conducted by the Vicar, and the lesson was read by Canon G. F. Coleridge. The mourners included the widow, Messrs. Ferris and William Shepherd (sons), Mrs. F. and Mrs. W. Shepherd (daughters-in-law), Mr. Edwin Shepherd, of Exeter (brother), and Mrs. Searle (sister-in-law). The Hersham ringers were also present, and rang the handbells over the grave after the committal. Afterwards the church bells were rung muffled.

Mr. W. Shepherd writes: 'Allow me, through the medium of your paper, to express my thanks to all those ringers and friends who so kindly wrote expressing sympathy with us in our sorrow. I am unable to reply individually to all who wrote, and I feel sure they will accept these few words of thanks.'

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

ANNUAL MEETING AT ST. LEONARD'S, SHOREDITCH.

After all the hopes and fears of the preceding week, it was a great relief to the members of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild to find the 'line was clear' for them to get to Shoreditch on Saturday, April 16th, for their annual general meeting. A pull in good company on a very fine peal of twelve bells tempted many to the Church of St. Leonard and quite a number rang their first touch of Cinques or Maximus during the afternoon and evening. Others, not so ambitious, made their way to St. Botolph's, Bishopsgate, where several touches of Triples and Major were rung, and although the business of an annual meeting, held on a Saturday afternoon, does not as a rule leave much time for ringing, nobody was disappointed in getting a pull at one or both of the churches.

The service at 5 p.m. was conducted by the Rev. R. H. Thompson, curate of Leonard's, and a very forceful sermon was preached by the Rev. A. Taylor, Vicar of St. Bride's, Fleet Street. The text was taken from St. John x. 11, 'I am the Good Shepherd.'

Following the service, tea was served in the Church Room, after which the business meeting was held. The annual report, which was presented by the hon. secretary (Mr. C. T. Coles), was adopted as satisfactory. It showed that during 1920 there were three honorary and 93 ringing members elected, including entirely new bands at St. Mary's, Ealing, and St. Giles-in-the-Fields. Several members were lost by death and other causes, leaving the present membership at the number of 741. The peals rung during the year numbered 85, and 130 members took part in them. Eight members rang their first peals, and two their first as conductors. A large number rang their first peals in new methods, including two in Stedman Cinques, two in London, three in Bristol, two in Cambridge Royal, eight in Treble Ten, etc. Master R. A. Farden rang his first peal at the age of 16, a peal of Stedman Cinques.

The balance sheet was passed as quite satisfactory, showing a credit balance of £12 19s. 8d., without taking into account a further sum of 25 voted by the S. and W. district as a special contribution.

The following were elected officers of the society for the ensuing year: President, Mr. A. T. King, I.S.O.; vice-presidents, Mr. F. A. Milne, J.P., and Mr. T. Beadle; Master, Mr. W. Pye; hon. treasurer, Mr. F. A. Milne, J.P.; hon. secretaries, Messrs. C. T. Coles and W. H. Hollier.

Four representatives to the Central Council were elected, as follows: Messrs. W. Lawrence, W. Pye, J. R. Sharman and C. T. Coles.

Sincere and hearty votes of thanks were accorded to all who had contributed towards the success of the meeting, viz., to the Rev. F. E. Birch, Vicar of Shoreditch, who was unfortunately prevented by illness from being present, and to the Rev. Hudson Shaw (Bishopsgate), for the use of the bells at their respective churches; to the Rev. W. Taylor, Vicar of St. Bride's, Fleet Street, for his very interesting address; to the Rev. R. H. Thompson for conducting the service; to Mr. T. Walker, churchwarden at St. Botolph's, Bishopsgate, for the excellent arrangements made at that church for ringing; to Mr. Bradley for great assistance rendered at Shoreditch; and to the several ladies who had attended to the wants of the members at tea.—Mr. Walker, in acknowledging the vote on behalf of his Rector and himself, expressed his pleasure at being present, and hoped that those who had visited Bishopsgate had enjoyed the ringing.

During the evening, a bob course of Stedman Cinques was rung on handbells, brought by Mr. J. Rayner, of St. Andrew's, Holborn, by Miss E. K. Parker, Messrs. J. Thomas, G. E. Pye, W. Pye, W. Hewett and E. Sanders, whilst several touches of Stedman Triples and Caters, and Double Norwich Court Bob Major, were rung by the handbell enthusiasts from Edmonton and Southgate.

A CELEBRATION AT CLUN.

St. George's Day was celebrated at Clun, Salop, by a peal of Grand-sire Triples; it only needed a team of all Georges to fourfold its features. The parish church is dedicated to St. George, and the church authorities gladly entered into the proposal of Mr. Wm. Mead, the churchwarden, to have a 'joy peal.' This was successfully rung, with slow striking, but sure bob calling, 'Ye hobbes' being the composition of Mr. J. J. Parker, a Buckinghamshire author. The Rev. H. S. T. Richardson was elected a member of the Hereford Guild and Clun Society, and welcomed to the district, this being his first peal essayed since pre-war days. Mr. Talbot, who cycled 40 miles over Welsh mountainous roads, got home again after midnight. Mr. John Clark, of Ross, was prevented joining the team through illness at the last hour, and so Major could not be attempted as intended. The Sunday special services were organised in honour of our patron saint, the preacher both morning and evening being the Rev. S. Dugdale, M.A. (who was born on St. George's Day), and the famous modern St. George's hymn was sung; the words of which are by Boufflower—a name familiar to Gloucester ringers—and set to music by Dr. Lloyd, of Eton, Bucks.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY.HON. SECRETARY'S RETIREMENT.

The annual meeting of the Leeds and District Amalgamated Society was held at St. Matthew's, Holbeck, on Saturday, April 30th. Members of the following towers were present: Armley, Burley, Leeds Parish Church, Headingley St. Chad's, and Holbeck. Touches of Stedman and Double Norwich were rung in the evening. The meeting was held in the Parochial Hall, the President, Mr. J. Peacock, being in the chair.—A hearty vote of thanks was unanimously passed to the retiring secretary, Mr. W. Gage, who, on responding, said he had only been absent from two meetings during his four years of office. As there had been no nomination of a secretary at the Armley meeting, and the efforts to induce the retiring secretary to retain office were unavailing, Mr. Cooper, of Holbeck, proposed Mr. Malcolm Moorhouse, who was elected unanimously.

A vote of thanks to the Vicar and churchwardens, and the local company, terminated the meeting.

BATH & WELLS ASSOCIATION.THE WAR MEMORIAL.

A quarterly meeting of this Association was held at Wiveliscombe, when six towers were represented by about 20 members. The fact that the declaration of the poll at the by-election for the division was to be announced no doubt affected the attendance. A short service was held in the Parish Church, at which (in the absence of the Vicar) the Master, the Rev. C. C. Parker, officiated.

The business meeting was held in the bellry, the Rev. C. C. Parker presiding.

Mr. Taylor, Ilminster, asked how much had been given towards the memorial, and the Secretary replied that the amount in hand was £77 7s. 6d. towards the net cost of £85. Several towers had not responded, and it was decided to write them again, and if necessary make a second appeal to all the towers in the Association.

Attention was also called to the leading article in 'The Ringing World' with regard to representation on Church Councils, calling upon ringers at churches where there were peals of bells to see that they nominated one or more of their members on their Parish Church Council.

The Master announced that the annual meeting would be held at Bath on July 2nd, and that the Bishop of Bath and Wells would dedicate the memorial at the service.—Mr. Parker was asked to draw up a form of service for the occasion.

Three honorary members and seventeen performing members and probationers were elected, and a hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Rev. H. McCleerick for the use of the church, for the service, and the use of the bells.

This concluded the business, and tea was then partaken of. During the afternoon and evening the bells were made good use of, Grand-sire and Stedman Triples and Bob and Treble Bob Major being rung.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.NEWBURY BRANCH TO HOLD PRACTICE MEETINGS.

The quarterly meeting of the Newbury Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild was held at Chieveley on Saturday, April 16th. There was a good attendance of 50 from the various towers of the branch, together with the Master, the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, and Mr. R. T. Hibbert, secretary of the Guild. The bells were kept going in touches of Kent Treble Bob, Bob Minor and Grand-sire Doubles. Service was conducted by the Rev. Atlee, Rector of Chieveley, and an address was given by the Rev. Thorpe, secretary of the branch. Tea was partaken of at the Parish Room, and was followed by a short business meeting.—It was proposed that there should be combined practices in the branch. The suggestion was upheld by the Master and Secretary, and it is hoped that the foremen of the different towers will back up Mr. E. R. Robey, who was elected secretary, and make the scheme a success.

A vote of thanks was passed to the Rev. Atlee for making all arrangements for tea, etc.

Afterwards there was further ringing, and on the whole the meeting was a great success. The summer meeting will be held at Bucklebury on June 11th.

AN APPEAL.To the Editor.

Sir.—The many ringing friends of Mr. W. S. Wise will regret to hear that he has been laid up for twelve months, and is now confined to his bed with no hope of recovery. His long illness has resulted in bringing him into very low circumstances, and I should welcome for his assistance any subscriptions, however small, forwarded either to me, or to Mr. W. Wise, 19, Cromwell Road, West Croydon, direct, which will be duly acknowledged. ARTHUR MASON.

99, Northcote Road, West Croydon.

WARWICKSHIRE GUILD.PROPOSAL TO APPOINT DISTRICT SECRETARIES.

The quarterly meeting of the Warwickshire Guild was held at Warwick, on Saturday, April 16th. The bells of St. Mary's (10) and Emscote (8) were open for ringing during the afternoon and evening, and were made good use of. The Guild's service was held in St. Mary's Church, at which the Vicar (Canon Llewellyn-Wood) officiated. Tea was partaken of at the Dale Temperance Hotel, after which the business meeting was held, presided over by the President of the Guild (Canon H. C. A. Back, M.A.). Members were present from Allesley, Coventry, Berkswell, Nuneaton, Stoke, Solihull, Knowle and Warwick.

The report of the committee appointed to consider the printing of a report to cover the Guild's work from 1915 was presented, and after some discussion it was decided to issue a report, the printing of which was not to exceed the cost of £14.

The President, in the course of a few remarks, welcomed the new hon. secretary (Mr. A. Wilkerson), and hoped he would continue in the office for many years.—Mr. Wilkerson pointed out that those members who were present at the last meeting would remember he only took over the duties until the annual meeting at Rugby in July, but if the members wished him to remain in office, he hoped they would seriously turn the matter over in their minds in the meantime, for, personally, he felt it utterly impossible to do the work efficiently single-handed. He did not wish to speak disparagingly of any previous officers of the Guild, for the years of war had hindered any progress, but he was amazed to find in the county upwards of 70 towers with five bells and upwards not affiliated to the Guild. He appealed to the members for their earnest consideration of the appointment of three or four district secretaries at the annual meeting.

The bells of St. Mary were again utilised after the meeting until 8.50 p.m., the methods rung including Stedman and Grand-sire Caters, Kent Royal, Double Norwich Major, Bob Major, Bristol Surprise, Grand-sire and Stedman Triples.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Vicar of St. Mary's for the use of the bells and officiating at the service, a similar compliment being paid to the Vicar of Emscote.

LADIES' MEETING AT WEST BROMWICH.

The Parish Church of All Saints, formerly St. Clement's, West Bromwich, is an old and interesting church. The church was given to the Convent of Worcester by Henry I., and afterwards granted by that house to the priory of Sandwell, and was rebuilt by the new possessors in the Decorated period. It appears to have been repaired, and the east end rebuilt about 1619, and again repaired in 1677, but in the years 1785-6 the fabric was almost wholly taken down and rebuilt (the chancel and some other small portions excepted) in the style of that period. The upper part of the tower was renewed in 1824; in 1872 the church was thoroughly restored in the Decorated style, the plan of the old church pulled down in 1786, being adhered to as closely as possible. It now consists of chancel with south aisle, nave with south aisle and sacristy, organ chamber, south porch and an embattled western tower with pinnacles, containing clock and eight bells, the tenor being about 18 cwt., and the bells having recently been recast by Messrs. Taylor of Loughborough.

It was at this place that the Ladies' Guild (Midland section) held their quarterly meeting on April 16th, with a good attendance, considering the uncertainty of a strike. Visitors came from Erdington, Handsworth, Smeethwick, Solihull, Coseley, Darlaston, and included, of course, members of the local band. The bells were utilised in various methods, with the aid of the gentlemen present, during the afternoon. Service was held, at which the Guild's form was used, the organist and choir being present. The service was taken by the Rev. M. M. Connor, M.A., Vicar and Rural Dean, and the lesson was read by Mr. J. Preston, secretary of Erdington ringers. The Vicar gave an interesting address, welcoming the Guild to West Bromwich.

After service, the ringers adjourned to the School for tea, kindly provided by the local company. The Vicar again came on the scene, and said how delighted he was to have the Guild at his church, and hoped that some day there would be a band of lady ringers at All Saints.—Mrs. Groves replied on behalf of the ladies present, thanking the Vicar for allowing them the privilege of coming to ring, and for his fine address. She also thanked the organist and choir for their services.

After the repast the usual business meeting was held, when it was decided not to hold the June quarterly meeting in view of the annual meeting of the Guild being held at Erdington, when it is hoped a good number will be present.

On returning to the church, the Vicar showed the party round the old building, and pointed out and explained all the remarkable features of the place, much to the interest of his hearers. The bells were again rung up to 9 o'clock, when the ringers and friends departed for home, after a most enjoyable afternoon, thanks to the local band, who made all arrangements.

A Page for Sunday Service Ringers.

It is quite certain that some of the touches which appear on this page will have been composed by others besides those whose names appear under them. It happens so with peals, much more likely is it, therefore, that it will occur with short lengths. Mr. F. W. Thornton, of Greenwich, now points out that the quarter-peal over the name of Mr. H. G. Miles which appeared last week was composed and rung upwards of 30 years ago by Mr. I. G. Shade.

It is interesting to note that the touch by the late Henry Johnson, published last week, the touches by J. J. B. Lates this week, and others by the same authors, which we hope to publish in the near future, have been in the possession of Mr. Bernard Witkell for many years, and so far as he is aware have never been either rung or published.

TO HONOUR THE LORD'S DAY.

By the HON. SECRETARY OF THE SALISBURY GUILD.

It should be a source of inspiration to us ringers in our Sunday work to realise its true purpose and significance. It is not the function of the bells on Sunday just to serve as an elaborate form of clock for notifying the time of service—misguided opponents of ringing sometimes argue on that supposition that bells are superfluous in these days, when most people have watches and clocks. Nor is it the main object of the bells to sound the call to prayer, and to remind men of the duty of worship—much as that reminder is needed. But the primary purpose of our Sunday ringing is to do honour to the Lord's Day. In the 'Table of all the Feasts to be observed in the Church of England' our Prayer Book places first 'All Sundays in the year.' The Christian Day of Rest and Worship must always be a Feast, just because it is the weekly memorial of our Blessed Lord's Resurrection, and as such should be celebrated alike with reverence and with gladness. It is the sacred privilege of us ringers to honour the Lord's Day with the hallowed music of the bells, and to enhance with their solemn harmony the dignity of Sunday worship. The joyous strains that we send forth from our belfries strike the keynote of that worship: 'This is the day which the Lord hath made: we will rejoice and be glad in it.'

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

A humorous correspondent sends us the following account of a meeting of the Chester Guild at Market Drayton on Saturday, April 16th, when about 20 ringers foregathered to arouse the interest of the neighbourhood in the art.

"One cycling member," he writes, "stated he had had a 'non-stop' run; but he was either a 'T.T.' or addicted to 'terminological inexactitudes'!" Two other riders from the same district experienced great delay in the first few miles; in fact, no progress seems to have been made until after 2.30 p.m.; but why this should be so appears shrouded in mystery!"

Ringling commenced about 4 o'clock, and touches of Grandsire, Plain Bob, Treble Bob, Stedman and Double Norwich were rung. Master Lilley (who recently got his first peal) showed that 13 years of age is not too early to begin change ringing. One active youth (presumably a relation of Tarzan) on finding the tenor difficult to pull off swarmed up the rope to investigate. However, on nearing the ceiling he discovered that the hole was not big enough to admit the rope and himself, so returned to earth, and tried more effective, if less spectacular, methods.

A most acceptable tea was provided by somebody who wishes to remain anonymous. At the tea-table the Vicar proved that even the learned are liable to fail at times, for he made a sad mess of the table cloth! The reverend gentleman stated with regret, that it would be the last time he would be able to welcome the Guild, as he was shortly going abroad. He tried to sell the ringers an ancient mechanical organ, but failed to find any bidders, and will most likely take the pipes to South Africa, separately, so as to start a 'jazz choir' among the natives! A sound scheme, certainly!

After tea, ringing was resumed, and unfortunately, a fine touch of Kent Treble Bob Major was brought to a premature close, owing to some misunderstanding by the conductor about the time the 'shops' shut! The bells were lowered in peal about 9 p.m., only one incident occurring. Two members apparently could not decide who was doing the job, as they appeared to take turns at the rope. The bell (being unused to two masters) retaliated by neatly removing a piece of skin from the hand of one, and slapping the other in the face.

On adjourning to a 'friend's' house, the ringers had a most cordial reception, and were pressed to receive a little liquid nourishment at the expense of a native of the town. They modestly accepted the kind offer, but their elation was somewhat damped by learning that the town had scored an important success in the world of football, and had reached the conclusion that the bells had been rung to celebrate the event.

A party of cyclists were observed to leave the town in fine style (after 10 p.m.). One of them, to judge from the movements of his rear light, was attempting to 'loop-the-loop,' make 'figure eights,' and do various other 'stunts.' He unfortunately 'nose-dived' rather suddenly, and crashed badly. The machine was undamaged, and he explained that he had dismounted to attend to his lamps. Later he took a wrong turning to the right, and might have been going yet, had not the sight of a huge sheet of water so demoralised him that his lamps went out again. He was positive he had seen no water on his way to the meeting. It is a matter of conjecture what became of the other cyclist, as he has not been heard of since, and must be regretfully reported missing. The last few miles homeward were marred by a heavy snowstorm, but the foresight of Guild members in general, and one in particular, was evidenced by the fact that he arrived home in a whirl of snow, with his mackintosh securely fastened—to his bicycle!

DEBATABLE PROPOSALS.

Last week we referred to two of the motions which are to come before the Central Council next Tuesday, and which, we think, are likely to meet with approval in principle. It is not so certain that the two other resolutions—one already on the agenda and one which may be brought forward by sanction—will commend themselves so readily to the approval of the members. The first of these proposals is that the Analysis Committee be asked to arrange, if possible, that each peal be credited to the Association in whose territory it is rung. Without going into the question as to whether this would be an advisable course or not, one can foresee difficulties in the way of the practical application of such a proposal. The most obvious are the obstacles that arise in areas covered by more than one Society, and the trouble that may arise through the men who ring the peal not being members of the Society in whose area they are ringing. Suppose, for instance, a peal is rung at St. Andrew's, Holborn, to whom should it be credited—to the College Youths, the Cumberlands, the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild, or the London County Association? Or again, if a band from Birmingham pay a visit to Norwich, and none of them happen to be members of the Norwich and Ipswich Association, is the peal to be counted as a Norwich peal? We do not know what the Council will say, but, subject to the enlargement of the idea by the proposer, the suggestion on the face of it scarcely seems practicable.

The proposal which Mr. Pulling hopes to have the opportunity of bringing forward, is framed with the object of inducing all associations to hold their annual meetings within the space of three months before the meeting of the Council. We think Mr. Pulling will have to advance some strong arguments if he is to persuade the Council to interfere with the internal arrangements of the individual associations. At present, each association fixes its annual meeting to suit the convenience of its members and not the convenience of the Council; and while anything that would increase interest in the doings of the Council would be all to the good, there are, in some cases, local circumstances which would prevent the adoption of a date just prior to Whitsun. Then, too, there are some associations so little concerned in the doings of the Council, that the Council is seldom if ever mentioned at their meetings except when triennial election of representatives takes place. Associations such as these would not be in the least concerned to make a change. If Mr. Pullen could, by his motion, galvanise wider interest in the Council among the Associations, he would serve the Exercise a good turn, and we hope, when he comes to move his resolution, that he will have some useful advice to give on this point.

DEATH OF MR. WALTER WISE.

It is with regret that we have to announce the death of Mr. Walter S. Wise, at Croydon, on Thursday, May 5th, after a lingering illness.

It will be remembered that an appeal was made in our last two issues for assistance for Mr. Wise, on account of the straitened circumstances in which his long illness had placed him. Any assistance which the Exercise can give to the widow, who is sadly in need of it, will be welcomed by Mr. Arthur Mason, 99, Northcote Road, West Croydon.

RECORDS COMMITTEE: REPORT, 1921.

The resolution of the Council authorising the work of this Committee is as follows:—

'That the Central Council compile and keep up to date an official list of the first Peal and longest Peal in each Method, and on each number of bells.'

Your committee have noted the suggestion that 'progressive lengths' should be included in the list, and also the approval of the suggestion by the author of the resolution, and have accordingly ventured so far to extend the terms of reference.

Very early in our efforts we were faced with the difficulty of insufficiency of sources of information. Many such are only to be found in the British Museum, and were out of reach. Similarly so were the private records of the Ringing Societies and Associations. We hoped for an adequate response to the appeal for claims to first performances made in 'The Ringing World' last June, but were disappointed. Our joint possessions of the old books afforded us only limited assistance. We felt it to be necessary to search through the files of 'Church Bells' and 'Campanology,' but were quite at a loss to know where to find either, nor had either of us a complete set of the 'Bell News.' Under such circumstances we felt it would be advisable to confine the field of search to modern times. Two facts contributed in leading us to this decision; first, a reference made by the author of the resolution to the satisfactory character of the similar work of the late Mr. Jasper W. Snowdon in connection with the Standard Methods; and, second, an expression of his opinion that 'the main thing now is to catch the newer records before they are lost, and hunt up the older ones later.'

We have accordingly made the time reached in Mr. Snowdon's records our general starting-point. Even though limited, the inquiry has proved to be such as to make it impossible in the time available to collect and include all the details required. We have not been able, e.g., to deal with the handbell performances as thoroughly as we wished—the information now submitted pertains principally to greater lengths. We have not ventured even to touch Minor and Doubles peals. Perhaps it is better we have not. For we have felt the difficulty of deciding how to deal with them; or whether it is possible to deal with them at all.

Generally speaking, it may be understood that each performance in the list carries the claim to be the 'first' or 'greatest.' Respecting some, the claim is qualified by such expressions as 'supposed to be,' or 'believed to be,' or 'on record.'

We have considered it to be outside our province to settle—even if it were possible—conflicting claims to 'first' performances. In cases where such conflict exists we have included both performances.

Difficulties connected with nomenclature have presented themselves. We have concluded that Double Oxford Hob and Double Oxford Court Bob are identical.

For the present we submit the results of our efforts in tabular form. But when the list is brought up-to-date each method on each number of bells will require a separate page. Each record performance in the method could be entered as in the present list. We think it advisable that a plain lead of the method should also be included, and the suggestion has also passed between us that the composition of each peal should be entered as well. Whether the inclusion of these details comes within the Council's view of the 'official list' we are uncertain. An expression of opinion would be helpful.

Our work represents a careful search through between 30 and 40 volumes of 'Bell News,' and several of 'The Ringing World.' Obviously it is too much even to hope that what we now submit is correct in all respects. Yet to be of real value it should be. We suggest, therefore, the advisability of publishing the list with an invitation to the Exercise to examine it and point out the errors.

We venture to bespeak the co-operation of the Exercise in the continuance of the work. Your committee would find it of great advantage to be in possession of the Council's authority to appeal in its name to each Association to authorise its secretary to furnish information respecting its claims to first and greatest performances. For the work of your committee, and most likely for other purposes, the addition of a complete set, as far as possible, of the annual reports of all Associations and Guilds, to the Council's library, would be of great value and assistance. We also ask the Council to consider the advisability of including in the committee someone residing within easy reach of the British Museum, to undertake that part of the work which can only be done there.

We conclude our report with a grateful acknowledgment of the kindness of those gentlemen who responded to the appeal for information made last June, and of those who by gift and loan of volumes of 'Bell News,' alone made it possible for us to obtain the greater portion of the particulars we now submit.

ST. CLEMENT DANES VESTRY FOR USE OF MEMBERS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Apparently delegates to the Central Council who may be in London on Monday, will be left to their own devices. I shall be pleased, therefore, to allow them to use the choir vestry of St. Clement Danes, Strand, as a place of call or rest. An attendant will be on duty from 12 to 6, and messages may be left with him if desired.—Yours truly,

W. PENNINGTON BICKFORD.

P.S.—There will be ringing on Whit-Sunday morning for service, and visitors will be welcomed.

RINGING ARRANGEMENTS.

Visitors to London will be welcome on Tuesday evening at the College Youths' customary practice at St. Paul's Cathedral at 8 p.m., and afterwards at the meeting at 'The Coffee Pot.'

Westminster Abbey bells, through the efforts of the London County Association, will be open from 5 to 6 p.m., and there will be ringing at St. Clement Danes after the unveiling ceremony.

THE FREEMASONS' PEAL

TABLET TO BE UNVEILED.

The first peal by Freemasons, which was rung at St. Clement Danes, Strand, by ten members of the Craft, who were also College Youths, on December 4th, 1919, to celebrate the conclusion of the war, is to be fittingly recorded in the church by a marble tablet. The unveiling ceremony is to take place at 6 p.m. next Tuesday (after the Central Council meeting), and will be performed by Alderman J. S. Pritchett, of Birmingham, who holds the highest rank in Freemasonry which it is possible to attain to in England. The Bishop of Willesden, himself a very prominent Freemason, will give a short address, and it is expected that there will be a large number of ringers and Freemasons present. Tickets may be had on application to the Rector (the Rev. W. Pennington Bickford), The Anchorage, St. Clement Danes, Strand, W.C. 2, or to Mr. G. R. Fardon, 143, Percy Road, Shepherd's Bush, W.

Mr. Fardon, who was the composer and conductor of the peal, has already been presented with a very beautiful testimonial by the members of the Warrant Officers' Lodge, to which he belongs, in recognition of his efforts in connection with this unique peal.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The prolonged strike, with the restrictions of travelling facilities, is causing the postponement of association meetings. As announced last week, the Winchester Guild annual meeting, and the Norwich and Ipswich meeting at Lowestoft are postponed, and to these have now to be added the Essex Association annual meeting, which had been fixed for Walthamstow next Monday; and the Whit-Monday meeting of the Durham and Newcastle Association, which was to have been held at Darlington.

The Society of Royal Cumberland Youths will hold their summer meeting at Waltham Abbey on the 9th July.

We hear that Mr. John Carter has returned to Douglas, Isle of Man, for the summer.

Mr. R. J. Wilkins, of Bristol, does not, we regret to learn, make the satisfactory progress towards recovery that his friends would wish.

Anything which adds to variety is to be welcomed. At Lamberhurst, last Tuesday week, a peal of Minor in seven different methods was rung. Each of the ringers called a 720, and then, in order to equalise the honours, each called one-sixth part of the final 720 of Plain Bob.

Last Wednesday was the anniversary of the record length of 14,111 London Surprise Major rung at King's Norton in 1903.

On May 15th, 1837, which was Whitsun Monday, the St. James Society rang 12,036 Grandsire Caters at All Saints', Fulham, in 7 hrs. 50 mins., and the peal was recorded on a tablet in the belfry as 'the greatest amount of changes ever performed by ten men only.' And this was after ringing over 9,000 changes on a previous date. Unfortunately for the record breakers, they were not aware that 20 years before the Painswick Youths had rung 12,312 Titium Grandsire Caters single-handed.

Next Thursday will be the anniversary of the 11,080 Kent Treble Bob Royal, rung in 8 hrs. 2 mins., at Shoreditch, by the College Youths in the far-off days of 1777.

Considerable progress in change ringing, says the Hon. Secretary of the Salisbury Guild in his annual report, has been made during the year, especially at Devizes and in North and East Dorset, where combined practices were arranged, chiefly in six-bell towers during the summer. Good ringing was obtained in the standard Minor methods, and local ringers were in most cases piloted through their first course of Grandsire.

Next Wednesday, May 18th, is the anniversary of the peal of 16,608 Kent Treble Bob Major, rung at Mottram-in-Loudendale, Cheshire, in 1883. It was conducted by Samuel Wood, who only on Saturday last rang a peal at Manchester Town Hall, where the tenor is 52 cwt. The Mottram peal still remains the record length in the method.

Members of the Ladies' Guild are asked to note that Saturday, July 2nd, 1921, has been fixed for their annual meeting at Erdington, Birmingham, when a good attendance is requested.

The new 7th and tenor bells at Bishopstoke, Hants, will be dedicated to-morrow (Saturday) by the Bishop of Southampton. The tenor is 9½ cwt, in F sharp.

Mr. Tom Salter, of Kidderminster, who fractured a rib, has, we are glad to say, now recovered from the accident.

The Salisbury Diocese has just one hundred towers affiliated to it, and it is interesting to note that the condition of the bells, given in the annual report, is either 'good' or 'excellent' in no fewer than 82 cases.

Mr. Robt. Holloway, of Acton belfry, performed upon the tubular bells in Robert Planquett's opera, 'Les Cloches de Corneville,' at Ealing, April 30th.

AN ANCIENT RINGING BOOK.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir.—I have twice come across a small very old book which contains a pretty full description of ringing, giving several methods pricked out and much quaint instruction on the art. It contains also treatises on fowling, shooting (archery), fishing, bowling and billiards, and other recreations. The copy I saw last week had about one-third missing at the beginning, including the title-page, out of 202 pages.

Can anyone tell me the title and date of this book? I fancy it is called 'Recreations,' and must be of the 17th century. It mentions the College Youths in the article on ringing, which is about 40 pages, evidently written by an expert.—Yours, etc.,

JAMES F. HASTINGS.

WHICH IS THE OLDEST BELL?

To the Editor.

Dear Sir.—I have been asked which is the oldest bell in Great Britain? The bell of the Town Hall, Llantwit Major, Glamorganshire, is believed to have been cast in the year A.D. 40, as a memorial to a Roman soldier whose name is engraved thereon. Can you tell me if this is correct?—Yours,

HENRY S. ELIAS.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD, BIRMINGHAM.HENRY JOHNSON'S TOMBSTONE TO BE RENOVATED.

The first quarterly meeting for the year of the St. Martin's Guild of the Diocese of Birmingham was held at Aston on Saturday, April 30th, and, as is usual when meetings are held at this favourite tower, was well attended. The 15th century tower of Aston Church has been a happy hunting-ground for ringers for considerably more than a hundred years, as its ancient records tell, and several old St. Martin's 'Youths' lie at rest in the beautiful old churchyard, including the immortal Henry Johnson. Thomas Reynolds and James Jones are also buried here, the latter having passed away only a few months ago, while the former, who at the time of his death had rung more peals of Stedman Cinques than any other man, was rung to his last sleep in 1912. One feels it is always a duty, when at Aston, to visit the graves of these 'Youths,' and to spare a moment from the bustle of the present to survey the past and what has been. And it is not always a sad duty, for someone is almost certain to recall an anecdote or two which, instead of tending to tears, lead on to laughter, and we have a feeling that our old friends would rather have it that way if they knew—which, perhaps, they do. On Saturday, then, it was agreed that the lettering on Henry Johnson's tombstone ought to be re-gilt or blacked in, as may be advised by an expert, and it was decided that it should be done. The inscription, which is deeply incised, reads as follows:—

This Stone is erected by the Ringers of England
HENRY JOHNSON,

To whose ability and perseverance the Art of Change Ringing is widely indebted.

Born at Lichfield, Feb. 28th, 1809, died at Aston, Jan. 7th, 1890.

'Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do
Do it with thy might.'

The stone itself is in an excellent state of preservation, quite as good as when it was erected, but the atmosphere of Aston has seriously affected the gilding of the letters, which is not to be wondered at. It would affect anything. It reeks of the smell of all sorts of things that are manufactured, and some that are fried—with chips. Of the manufactured things, beer is perhaps the predominant note, Aston being a sort of imitation Burton-on-Trent, having almost as many breweries, but, thank goodness, not nearly so many level crossings!

One of the said breweries is right next to the Vicarage garden, and the Vicar, the Rev. Canon Cole, remarked that if anyone present did not happen to be a teetotaler he had only to take a walk round his garden, when he would, by taking long sniffs, be able to fill himself without going to a 'house,' and that it would be cheaper, too. It was said that several members went for a stroll in the pleasure, but found it rather 'mild.' The writer of these notes reminded Canon Cole that this condition of things was quite in accordance with tradition, as there were several men in the room who remembered when the two churchwardens were brewer and maltster respectively.

Tea was provided in the Vicarage Rooms (not in the garden), the wardens, Messrs. Phillips and Poole very generously defraying the cost.

At the business meeting which followed, Mr. Alderman Pritchett proposed a very hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of his bells, room and garden, to the wardens for so kindly providing tea, and to the ladies for waiting at table.

In reply, Canon Cole said how pleased he was to welcome the St. Martin's Guild to his tower. He appreciated very much the work that his ringers did Sunday by Sunday, and he wished them to know that though they were out of sight, they were recognised as doing a good Christian work. He hoped the Guild would make their visit an annual one.

Mr. Churchwarden Phillips replied for himself and his co-warden, who was unfortunately prevented by illness from being present. He said nothing gave him more pleasure than to listen to the bells, and he was quite sure that the majority of people liked them. Bells had the faculty of taking one back in thought to things long since gone by, and he was certain ringing must be a very fascinating and, in his opinion, a noble hobby. He seconded the Vicar's wish that this might be made an annual event. He would like to become an honorary member of the Guild, and he would answer for his co-warden also (cheers).

Mr. Godden having intimated his desire not to be re-elected as representative on the Central Council, the Chairman proposed that a cordial vote of thanks be accorded to him for his long and most useful services to the Guild, formerly as secretary and lately as Central Council representative. This was carried with acclamation, and Mr. A. Paddon Smith was elected to the vacant office.

After the meeting members went their various ways, some to the tower, where many methods were touched upon, others to the hercynian-forementioned garden to take the air, others elsewhere, where tales of olden deeds were told and retold. As for the writer, he was engaged in trying to picture the surroundings of Aston Church and Aston Hall as they looked only a little over a century ago, and found it a mighty difficult proposition. In April, 1818, the Hall and 1,539 acres of the estate, together with a herd of 150 fine deer, were disposed of, so says the chronicler. And the acres and the deer have been replaced by teeming humanity with all its sniffs, smells, strikes, lock-outs, motor chaps-a-bances, smoking chimneys, and all the other 'advantages' of civilisation.

But the grand old church and the stately Elizabethan Hall still remain to remind us of the days of Aston's departed glory, when royalty, in the person of King Charles I., could be entertained there, and the ringers of those far-off days doubtless gave him a right royal welcome, albeit they would not be members of the St. Martin's Guild.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.DORCHESTER BRANCH AT WYKE REGIS.

A successful quarterly meeting of the Dorchester Branch was held on Saturday, April 30th, at Wyke Regis, when the following towers were represented: Buckhorn Weston, Charminster (including two lady ringers), Dorchester, Fordington, Swanage, Upwey, West Lulworth, Wool, and Wyke Regis. Good practice was made in Grandsire Triples during the afternoon, and the special Guild form of service was held in the church, at which the Rector, the Rev. E. de B. Thurston, assisted by the Rev. D'Arcy Collins, officiated. The Rector gave an admirable address on the words, 'Whatever thy hand findeth to do do it with all thy might,' and dwelt on the use of the bells in Divine service. The service was attended by the full choir, and Mr. A. B. Russ (organist) presided at the organ. Tea was served in the Memorial Hall, and 55 ringers and friends sat down. Excellent arrangements had been made by the Women's Union.

The business meeting followed, and in the absence of the chairman of the district (Mr. R. N. Dawes), Major Hughes D'Aeth (Master of the Guild) presided. He was supported by the Revs. E. de B. Thurston, D. A. Collins and — Phillips (Charminster), Miss Barclay, Miss Thurston and Mr. W. P. Rose (churchwarden). Several apologies for non-attendance were read, including one from Mr. Martin Stewart (late Master of the Guild), who had met with an accident the previous day by falling off a ladder and through a window.

Messrs. E. T. Griffin and R. G. Maunder, of Yeovil, were elected life members of the Guild, and seven ringing members were also elected. For the next meeting Puddletown and Upwey were the competitors, the former being chosen, after the chairman had given his casting vote.—Votes of thanks were accorded to the Rector for conducting the service, for the use of the bells, and to the local band for their hospitality; also to the churchwarden for the use of the hall, to the organist and choir, and the Women's Union.—The Master, in proposing the vote of thanks to the Rector, gave an excellent address, and referred particularly to the ringing of the 'Peace' bell on Fridays at noon, to the memory of those that made the supreme sacrifice in the great war.—The Rector, in reply, heartily welcomed the Guild to his parish, and the captain of the local band (Mr. Alf. Rose) hoped they would all come again shortly.

Mr. Wiffen inquired if it was possible to get Sherborne Abbey band to again join the Guild, and the Master promised to do his best to get them to affiliate.

Further ringing took place in the evening, several members of the six-bell towers making good practice with Grandsire Triples, under the conductorship of Mr. Wiffen.

Wyke Regis is the mother church of Weymouth. It is a fine structure of considerable antiquity. It is Perpendicular in style, the oldest portions, the aisle arcades, being of the 15th century. It is exceedingly well placed, its tower being a prominent object for some distance, especially seawards. Several members ascended to the top to view the fine panorama that is to be seen from there, one member remarking it was worth while coming the 35 miles to witness that alone. To the south was to be noticed Portland Bill, and part of the grand fleet riding at anchor in the harbour, with the late German dry dock, the largest in the world. St. Aldhelm's Head, Weymouth Bay (the Naples of England), West Bay, and the Dorset and Devon cliffs, were also visible, while northwards the Dorset Downs, with Blackdown Hill and Admiral Hardy's Monument, loomed up, and this lovely scenery was greatly enjoyed by the visitors.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the N.-E. Division was held at Mistley on Saturday, April 30th. Service was conducted by the Rector, assisted by the curate. Tea was served at the Church Institute, and was followed by the business meeting, at which Mr. W. J. Nevard, District Master, presided, supported by the Rector, and the hon. secretary (Mr. H. T. Pye, Colchester). Mr. Frederick Bowell, of Ipswich, was elected a non-resident life member of the association, and Messrs. A. Honeywood and C. W. Beacroft, of Mistley, ringing members.—The Master made an appeal for the Finchingfield Reliance Fund, and the sum of £21 was subscribed.—Great Bentley was proposed as the place of the next meeting.—A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Rector for the use of the bells, etc., and to the ladies for assisting at tea. Touches on handbells and tunes by Mr. Bowell and his son were afterwards rung. On the tower bells touches of Bob Minor, Double Court, Double Oxford, Oxford and Kent and Cambridge Surprise were brought round by members from Ardleigh, Colchester, Great Horkeley, Great Bentley, Great Bromley, Ipswich, Langham, Tendring, Thorrington, etc.

PEAL REPORTS.EXPLANATION OF AN ERROR.

An elucidation of one of the errors that crept into a peal report last year, and was referred to in the Analysis Committee's report in our issue of April 29th, comes from Mr. H. Hoare, of New Fletton. The committee remark: 'Among other evidently incorrect statements, we find a peal of Minor which is said to consist of "two 520's of St. Clement's, and two 520's of Plain Bob." "I feel sure," says Mr. Hoare, "that this refers to a peal that I conducted at Woodston, Peterborough, on August 30th, 1920, the report of which I sent to "The Ringing World." This was published exactly as I sent it, with one exception, the word "two" was used instead of the figure "2." In my report I said: "A peal of Minor, 5,040 changes, etc., consisting of 2,520 changes of St. Clement's Bob and 2,520 changes of Plain Bob." It appeared as two 520's, etc. I called the rest of the band's attention to its not being published as I sent it, and we were under the impression it was a misprint, and I left it at that. That is where I made a mistake. I might say that was the second peal that I had conducted, and, as we are not old hands, and do not ring peals once a week, I make this apology for a mistake.' Mr. Hoare adds that the peal was a good one, and owing to the very bad gas that we were getting at that time, it was a credit to the band for getting through it successfully.

Thus, once more the printer must take the blame. The thing that we wonder at most is not that mistakes creep in, but that there are not a great many more. In the case of the peal at Woodston the copy was written as Mr. Hoare explains, but there are very many instances when there would be every excuse for error.

We would suggest to correspondents that when writing out reports of peals for publication they should do so with a copy of 'The Ringing World' before them, so that they can see exactly the particulars that should be given, and the form in which they should appear. This would often save the omission of essential details.

WESTBURY BELLS.A GREAT RESTORATION SCHEME.

A scheme to make the bells of the Parish Church of All Saints, Westbury, Wilts, one of the finest rings of eight in the country has been adopted by the parishioners. It had been decided to rehang the old six, recasting two of the bells and adding two new trebles. The bells were sent to the Loughborough Foundry, but it was found by Messrs. Taylor and Co. that the bells were so much out of tune that it would be impossible to make a satisfactory job without recasting the whole six, and they submitted two schemes, viz.: (a) To recast the old six bells plus two new trebles to a weight of approximately 125 cwt. Tenor 34 cwt. 'C' Natural; (b) The same with the exception, weight approximately 110 cwt. Tenor 30 cwt. Key 'C' sharp or 'D.'

The firm's original report and estimate did not embody such drastic restoration, but merely suggested that only two of the six bells needed recasting. Fortunately, or unfortunately, or perhaps both, they found that no bell was true or capable of being made of true harmonics in its present condition. A deputation was, therefore, sent to the foundry, consisting of: Rev. F. Ll. Edwards, hon. secretary of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild; Mr. J. W. Washbrook, of Manchester; and Mr. E. H. Arnold, hon. secretary of the Restoration Fund, the object being to go into the matter on the spot, to see if such drastic action as recommended by the firm was absolutely necessary, and, if so, to report as to which of the two schemes that were put forward was the more suitable in all respects. The deputation visited the works on April 6th, and duly submitted their report to a subsequent meeting of the parishioners.

This report stated: After close scrutiny and careful consideration we beg to submit to your committee the following report on Westbury bells: (1) We are satisfied that no satisfactory result could be obtained without recasting the six old bells, and we recommend that all the six be recast and tuned on modern principles; (2) if there be any serious difficulty in raising the sum required for the more costly scheme, the committee need have no hesitation in accepting that for a ring of 8 with tenor 30 cwt. in C, or even D; it would make a fine and very musical peal, and a handy weight for ringing; (3) at the same time such a ring would not occupy any position of pre-eminence in the neighbourhood, whereas a tenor of 34 cwt. in C would possess a grandeur and a depth of tone that would tend to render Westbury bells famous throughout the South-West of England; (4) also there may be a desire at some future date to augment the 8 bells to 10. In that case it would be a great advantage to have the heavier tenor in 'C.' Though this point may appear somewhat remote and problematical, we suggest that the committee will be well advised to take it into consideration.

The parishioners adopted the larger scheme, and Westbury should shortly be the proud possessor of one of the finest peals of eight in the country.

A sum of £300 is still needed to complete the work, and an earnest appeal is made to all ringers for help, so that the bells may be opened free of debt. Mr. E. H. Arnold, of 4, Church Terrace, Westbury, is the hon. secretary.

NORWICH & IPSWICH ASSOCIATION.MR. A. J. NAUNTON'S RETIREMENT.

A meeting of the Southwold District was held at Wrentham, on Saturday, May 7th, members being present from Aldeburgh, Knodishall, Leiston, Stoven, Beccles, Barham, Kessingland, and the local company. Various touches were rung throughout the afternoon and evening, the methods ranging from Bob Minor to Cambridge Surprise; and, on handbells, touches of Bob Major, Treble Bob Major, Bob Royal and Grandsire Caters. The business meeting was held in the Church School Room, the chair being taken by the Rector (the Rev. E. R. Yerburgh, M.A.), supported by Mr. A. J. Naunton (hon. district secretary).—The Chairman said the chief business was to elect a new district secretary, owing to the resignation of Mr. Naunton on account of his advanced age. Mr. Naunton had held the office for 25 years, ever since the formation of the district. The Chairman read a letter from the general secretary of the association, Mr. A. L. Coleman, expressing the great regret of the general committee of the association to hear of his resignation on account of his great age, and also conveying the appreciation and thanks of the association for the services Mr. Naunton has rendered for so many years, with their best wishes for his future welfare and happiness in the eventide of life.—Mr. Naunton, in returning thanks, said although he was resigning from the office of secretary, he was not giving up ringing, and his interest in the association, etc., would still continue.—Mr. Sharman proposed that Mr. F. W. Naunton be elected secretary.—This was seconded by Mr. E. Bailey, and carried unanimously.—Mr. A. J. Lincoln proposed a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Naunton for his services during the last 25 years as district secretary.—This was seconded by Mr. Goate, and carried unanimously.

Mr. John Ford, of Brampton, was elected as a performing member to the association, and a vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector for the use of the bells and for presiding at the meeting.

A hope was expressed that Mr. Naunton might be spared to see his old peal of bells increased to eight. It is hoped to start a scheme for this purpose in the near future.

Mr. Naunton celebrates his 77th birthday on Saturday, May 14th, when his many ringing friends will wish him many happy returns.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.SUBSCRIPTIONS AND COMMITTEE DISCUSSED.

The monthly meeting of the Manchester Branch was held at Radcliffe on April 30th, when 21 ringers were present.—The Vicar (the Rev. J. Bamber) gave a hearty welcome to the visitors, and told some humorous anecdotes about ringers he had met in different parts of the country.

Mr. J. H. Banks, the ringing secretary, referred to the difficulties of carrying on the association at the present rate of subscription, and also suggested that a committee of about nine members was large enough to do the work of the association.—After discussion, it was decided to leave the matter over for future meetings.

Christ Church, Barlow Moor, was selected for the next meeting, on Saturday, May 28th.—Votes of thanks to the Vicar for presiding and allowing the use of the bells, also to the local ringers for having everything in readiness, closed the meeting. Ringing was indulged in in the standard methods during the afternoon and evening.

DONCASTER & DISTRICT SOCIETY.

A meeting of this society was held at Hatfield on Saturday, April 30th. In spite of restricted train services there was a good attendance of members, upwards of 50 being present, representing 12 towers. The bells, a peal of eight, with a 20 cwt. tenor, were kept going all the afternoon and evening, touches of Grandsire, Stedman, Bob Major and Treble Bob being rung in good style. Tea was served in the Schoolroom, and was presided over by the Vicar (the Rev. F. M. Brookes). At the business meeting which followed, a resolution was carried, that in future notices of meetings shall be published in 'The Ringing World' only, and the hope was expressed that all members would support the ringers' paper by each buying a copy every week.—The Vicar of Arksey (the Rev. A. Rhys-James) proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar of Hatfield for the use of the bells, and also to the local band and ladies for making arrangements for the meeting and providing such an excellent tea.—Before ringing was resumed a short service was held in church, at which the Vicar of Hatfield gave an interesting and instructive address.

CENTRAL NORTHANTS ASSOCIATION.

A special meeting of the Northampton District was held at Hardingstone on Saturday week, when 35 members attended from Northampton, Weston Favell, Kingsthorpe, Cogenhoe, Collingtree, Wootton, Ecton, and the local ringers, together with the vice-president (the Rev. J. P. Friend, Rector of Collingtree), the Rev. Canon Dodson (Rector of Wootton), Rev. Arthur Kitchin (Vicar of Hardingstone), Mr. Fred Hopper, Mr. Fred Wilford, and Mr. Tom Law. Touches in several methods, including Grandsire, Stedman and Bob Doubles, were rung during the afternoon. Evensong was conducted by the Rev. A. Kitchin, who gave the ringers a hearty welcome to Hardingstone, and a collection for the Belfry Repair Fund amounted to 7s. 7½d.—The next meeting will be held at Old Duston early in June.

THE VOICE OF THE LEADER.

'I am the Good Shepherd,' St. John x. 11.

The relation of God to His children is portrayed in that of the shepherd to his sheep. Communities of mankind are thus described without any disparagement to the individuals of which each community is composed. Communities are in dire need of leadership, and the idea of leadership runs through the parable of the Good Shepherd. The parable is a type of the world. So long as there is harmony everything works smoothly; but this cannot be if either leadership or followers are at fault. To-day the difficulties through which the industrial world is passing, and the apparent confusion which has resulted from them, has been accentuated by the defects in the qualities of the leaders: different voices have spoken to different groups, and misunderstandings have arisen in consequence—and the groups have lost touch. The two qualities of good leadership are honesty of purpose and fidelity to the end, and this is where the message of the bells comes in. They speak not only to individuals, but to the whole community gathered up in a corporate life. In them we seem to hear the voice of the Good Shepherd, the one great and true leader of men who lived and died for men and never led men astray. He spoke in the Sermon on the Mount, in His death upon the Cross, and in His resurrection, not only to individual men, but to all men gathered together in a corporate brotherhood. Have we given Christ the same obedience as other leaders? Are our leaders guided by His principles? Have they the interests of their followers at heart? Are they ready if need be to die for them? Eternal love is the key. Until we learn to love one another, we shall never learn to live with one another in peace. The bells, to those who can hear the message, are the voice of Him who was the leader of men. What kind of followers are we? How far do we strive to follow His example? Are our hearts with Him? Is our purpose honest? If not, our service is merely a cold and formal; we do not hear the Shepherd's voice, we are not the true followers He would have us be.

THE REV. A. TAYLOR, St. Bride's,
(Preaching at the meeting of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild.)

SOEWBY & DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

A well-attended meeting of the Sowerby and District Association was held at Sowerby (Yorks) on Saturday, April 16th. T. Marsden) for the use of the bells, and to the ladies for officiating at the tea-table.—The Vicar, in reply, remarked that when next the meeting was held at Sowerby he hoped to know more about ringing. There is reason to believe the Vicar will then be one of the Sowerby band. Before returning to the tower four of the Todmorden ringers rang well-struck touches of Grandsire Triples and Grandsire Major on handbells, after which Mr. Mitton gave a few selections of tunes. On returning to the tower touches of Oxford, Kent, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Woodbine, and Plain Bob were rung, three ladies standing in the latter. This is the first occasion on which ladies have rung on Sowerby bells, which have been in the tower 140 years.

The towers represented were: Todmorden Parish Church, Todmorden Unitarian, Cross Stones (ladies' band), Mytholmroyd, Heptonstall and Sowerby.

SUFFOLK'S NEW ASSOCIATION.

Our readers will have noted with interest a brief paragraph with reference to the formation of a Suffolk Association. It is a departure of more than passing significance, for it means the setting up of a county organisation in an area already absorbed in two other Associations. East Suffolk forms part of the territory of the old diocese of Norwich and, although now ecclesiastically separated, remains with the old association which, to meet the altered conditions, enlarged its name to the Norwich and Ipswich Association. West Suffolk, comprising the Archdeaconry of Sudbury, formerly formed part of the diocese of Ely, and the towers in that area were affiliated to the Ely Diocesan Association, which, when the rearrangement of the dioceses took place, extended its name to the Ely and St. Edmundsbury Association. In that way the two existing organisations sought to keep under their respective wings the districts which they had formerly covered, although the dioceses which they were originally founded to include had each been severed.

At the time the changes took place there was a movement to set up a separate ringing organisation for Suffolk, and although it was hoped by the officials in the associations concerned that their efforts to preserve the unity of their towers had been successful, it is now apparent that Suffolk ringers were not entirely satisfied. Whether the new association has been established to supplement the work of the existing ones, or whether it is a real attempt to break away the Suffolk towers from both, we are not in a position to say. Ever since 1914 the desire in some of the towers for a county association has been making itself heard, and the movement is strongest in West Suffolk, where it has been thought that the existing organisation was not as sufficiently effective to promote the art as a county association would be. One objection was that there was only one annual meeting in three years within the reach of the West Suffolk members, the other two being in the counties of Cambridge and Huntingdon—an admittedly fair arrangement under the prevailing conditions. It is felt that with a county association a much keener interest will be stirred up. What the future development of this new movement is to be remains to be seen, and it is for the Suffolk ringers themselves to decide. If it is to supplement the work of the existing societies it will be welcomed by all; if it is intended to build up its membership by secessions from the old organisations, it will not be looked upon with an approving eye by the ringers of the other societies over the borders. But the Suffolk Association is an accomplished fact. It would, therefore, be in the interests of good feeling among the ringers of East Anglia, if its position could be quickly and satisfactorily defined.

BELLS AND BELL HANGING.

BELL TONES.
 To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—As the question of tuning has again come to the fore, may I draw attention to a point that has not, I think, been mentioned in correspondence on this subject? If any two notes of vibrational frequency m and n respectively, are sounded together, resultant tones of vibrations (m x u) and (m--n) are obtained. The latter only concerns us here. Now, if n is a fifth above m, the resultant (m--n) is an octave below n. Organ builders make use of this, as, by coupling 16ft. C with the G above 32ft., C appears; and this coupling can be carried through the bottom octave on the pedals when a complete 32ft. stop is impossible. Now apply this to a bell with fundamental (say) C. In both the old and the Simpson tuning the fifth above G is brought out, and the resultant (m--n) will, therefore, be C, an octave below the fundamental. In the Simpson tuning this will be in unison with the octave hum-note C; but it will be a tone distant from the 7th hum-note D of the old tuning. We shall, therefore, have hum-note D and resultant C, a tone apart, sounding together, which must produce discord. As a further point, surely the fact that bells tuned on the old system are quite impossible in a carillon is ample proof that something is amiss with them.—Yours faithfully,
 J. BRUCE WILLIAMSON.

IRON v. WOOD FRAMES—' SIMPSON ' PRINCIPLE.

To the Editor.

Sir,—With regard to the question of wedging frames to tower walls, I quite agree that, if the masonry is sound and substantial, and the wedges be driven in hard and fast, it is not likely that any harm will ensue. No one in days gone by protested more against wedging frames to walls than the late Rev. H. J. Ellacombe; yet even he gave his sanction to it some years before his death, under the conditions above mentioned. But, of course, frames ought to be in such a condition as not to need such a practice.

As to metal versus wood for frames, there is something to be said on both sides. No doubt a metal frame fixed to iron girders built into the walls would secure the most perfect rigidity, and serve to brace the tower together as well. It is also much easier to secure firmness and solidity, and get bearings perfectly true with a metal frame than a wooden one. But suppose a metal frame is neglected, and allowed to rust for want of paint—especially in a town where there is chemical action caused by smoke and wet combined—what sort of condition will such a frame be in, say, 50 or 60 years hence? Properly seasoned oak frames are certainly more durable in such cases. I know that it is often difficult to secure properly seasoned timber. But in an oak frame mortices should never be pinned. The diagonal braces being morticed into the top and bottom timbers not more than two or three inches, the whole should be secured by stout iron bolts passing through them from bottom to top, with nuts on the top timbers which can be tightened from time to time as the frame gives or shrinks; all corners being stiffened with plates or dog-ties. I know that such a frame will require attention in the way of screwing up for at least ten years after its erection. Nevertheless I should prefer it; though I may be old-fashioned in my notions.

As to tuning bells on the ' Simpson ' principle, this may be all very well for carillons used for tune playing only, but it is certainly unnecessary for bells used for Peal ringing. I know several ringers, who have rung peals on bells so tuned, who say that the sounds of the bells seem to run one into another, producing a most dismal howl all through the peal. Under any circumstances, I cannot too strongly condemn the practice of some bell founders, who persuade church authorities to go to the expense of having good old bells recast simply because they cannot be tuned in this way.—Yours, etc.,
 Clerical Library, Salisbury. J. R. JERRAM.

BATH & WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Ilchester Deanery Branch was held at West Coker on Saturday, May 7th. The Rector (the Rev. L. R. Cotter) conducted the service, and gave an interesting address on the history of the Coker bells. He also reminded the ringers they must consider their work not only as a hobby, or recreation, but as a dignified and important church work. The bells were heard by people who did not attend places of worship, and who apparently had no use for religion, and they must surely mean something to them and set them thinking.

About 30 sat down to tea in the Schoolroom, from Yeovil, West Coker, South Peltherton, Martock and Stoke-under-Ham.—A short business meeting followed, presided over by the Rector.—South Peltherton was chosen for the next meeting.—The Rev. H. J. Davies, Vicar of Stoke-under-Ham, proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. Cotter for his address, the use of the bells, etc.—The organist and the ladies who arranged the tea were also thanked for their services.

The methods practised during the afternoon and evening were Grandsire, Stedman and Plain Bob.

The Stoke and some of the Martock members visited Preston Plucknett tower on their way home, and the privilege of a pull on this nice little ring of six was much appreciated by them.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD. STOCKPORT BRANCH MEETING.

The second meeting of the year was held at Mobberley on Saturday, May 7th, and in spite of the railway restrictions and unsettled conditions generally, it was truly a good gathering, about fifty members and friends being present. The service in the church was conducted by the Rev. A. T. Beeson (hon. secretary of the Guild), who gave a very able address. Tea was served in the Schoolroom, where a splendid repast was provided.—The business meeting followed, with Mr. J. H. Jackson in the chair.

The Hon. Secretary presented estimates for the printing of a summary branch report, which ranged from £5 to £7, but as the funds would not permit, it was decided not to print a report this year.—The Hon. Secretary then gave notice of the annual festival, to be held at Chester on Saturday, July 23rd; and expressed a wish that all who could, would attend; also that the Guild annual report would be printed and published as last year, i.e., on the basis of the least number of copies required per tower.

Out of the seven new members elected, six are members of the Rostherne company, this being indeed a gratifying incident, the other was a lady member.—Rostherne was fixed as the place for the next meeting, on Saturday, June 18th.

A vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector (the Rev. G. C. Dicker, M.A.), for permitting the meeting to be held, and for the use of the bells, to which he made a humorous reply.

The church, dedicated to St. Wilfrid, is of considerable antiquity, having been built in the 13th century; it is an edifice of stone, in the Early English and Perpendicular style, its windows exhibit the remains of very old inscriptions, and in the church are many memorials to the 'forefathers of the hamlet.' The nave and chancel are separated by a carved oak screen, bearing an inscription and the date 1500. The embattled western tower was erected in 1533 by Sir John Talbot, and contains a clock and a ring of six bells (tenor 150 cwt.). The ringing chamber is peculiar, owing to the fact that its floor has two levels, one some three or four feet lower than the other, and on this stand the ringers of 4, 5 and 6; the other three standing on the higher level.

The bells were well used throughout the day, ringing commencing at 10 a.m., with an attempt for a peal which had to be abandoned half-way through the fourth 720 owing to the bad 'go' of the tenor.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION. LEWISHAM DISTRICT MEETING.

The quarterly meeting of the Lewisham District was held at Erith (St. John the Baptist's), on Saturday, April 23rd. The bells of this church and the bells of Christ Church were available, and a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples was rung at the latter tower by special request, the occasion being the anniversary of the birthday of the late Canon W. W. Boulden (donor of the tower and bells), the band being: T. Groombridge, senr. (conductor), 1, T. Groombridge, junr., 2, A. H. Palmer 3, C. Brown 4, R. Morgan 5, G. Bates 6, H. Audsley 7, J. McLaren 8. Touches in other methods followed, but as is often the case, two towers for one meeting was not a success. There was not so large a gathering at the service as was anticipated, due undoubtedly to the storm, but between thirty and forty were present, and a very fitting address was delivered by the Rev. W. F. Cobb (Vicar), who gave the members a very hearty welcome, and said it was a pleasant coincidence they should be meeting there on St. George's Day.

Tea followed in the West Street Schools, kindly provided by the Vicar, and some Erith ladies, the Vicar being present, also the Rev. G. H. B. Coleridge (Vicar of Christ Church).

The business meeting followed, with the Vicar in the chair. The Vicar of Christ Church was elected an hon. member, and in thanking the members, said he hoped soon to become a practising member as well (applause). Four practising members were elected, and Eynsford was selected for the next meeting in July.—Mr. W. J. Jefferies read his report of the committee meeting, which was accepted.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Vicar for the use of bells, his address, and for presiding; the Vicar and ladies for the tea, the organist and choir, and the ladies who had waited upon the party, and to the Rev. G. H. B. Coleridge for the use of his bells.

A collection on behalf of Mr. G. Hayes (Swanscombe), who is in a very bad state of health, realised £1 10s.

An interim meeting of the Ashford District was held at Appledore on Saturday last. About 25 members attended, representing Ashford, Mersham, Stone-in-Oxney, Biddenden, Iden and Tenterden. The visitors included Mr. Castle and friend from Elham, and Mr. L. Mannering from Maidstone. Some good ringing was done in four standard methods, with a course of Oxford Treble Bob being included.—The Rector (the Rev. A. O. Scutt), an hon. member of the association, presided at the meeting following tea.—A proposition was carried to hold a combined practice at Wye next month for Stedman, Treble Bob and Double Norwich, and a notice of which will appear in due course.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A very pleasant meeting of the N. and E. District was held at Edmonton on Saturday, May 7th, and although the greatly reduced travelling facilities undoubtedly affected the attendance, over 30 members came during the afternoon and evening to enjoy some good ringing on a very nice peal of bells. A short service was held, at which the Vicar (the Rev. R. O. Evill) gave a hearty welcome to the association. Ringing, he said, was a service to God, and in His name he thanked the ringers for their great services to the church. He exhorted them to be worthy of their work, and not to neglect that to which they, by their ringing, invited others.

Tea was served in the Church House, an excellent meal being partaken of. The business meeting followed, the chair being taken by the Vicar.—Three new members were elected, and the place of the next meeting decided upon.

A vote of condolence to the relatives of the late Mr. Ferris Shepherd and Mr. Walter Wise was passed, by the members standing in silence for a few moments.

A hearty vote of thanks was unanimously passed to the Vicar for his address at the service, for presiding at the meeting, and for the use of the bells; to Messrs. J. Parker and G. Paice, and the local ringers for the excellent arrangements made; to the ladies who had attended to the wants of the members at tea; and to Mr. Crusha (the organist), who had added considerably to the harmony of the proceedings at the service.

The Vicar acknowledged the vote of thanks, expressing his great pleasure at meeting the society, and wishing the ringers every success.—Mr. J. Parker and Mr. Crusha also replied to the vote of thanks passed to them.

Considerable use was made of the bells during the afternoon and evening, the methods rung ranging from Grandsire to London, including four Surprise methods, whilst a very musical peal of handbells, brought by Mr. W. Hazell, were kept going for some time to Stedman Cinques and Caters, and Double Norwich Court Bob Major.

S. and W. MEETING AT NORWOOD GREEN.

The thirty-four members and friends of the South and West District of the Middlesex Association who visited Norwood Green on Saturday, May 7th, were entertained to tea by the Rector, the Rev. J. T. Parker, M.A., when they spent a very enjoyable time. The six sweet-toned bells were kept going until tea-time. There was no service arranged, as the Rector expressed a wish to address the company after the tea. In the course of his remarks, he said how pleased he was to find that so keen a spirit was shown by all the church workers at Norwood Green, for although, perhaps, the choir in the churches generally moved in the light more than the ringers, the latter did their part as well, and he fully appreciated their efforts. It was twenty years ago when he made a start to learn ringing, but an unfortunate accident prevented him from making progress in the art, and then shortly afterwards he went on a journey of 13,000 miles to Rockhampton, on the Fitzroy River, in Central Queensland.

At the meeting, the Rector was elected an hon. member, and the District Master (Mr. C. S. Bird) proposed a vote of thanks to the Rector for presiding, and to Mrs. Parker and the ladies for their kind attention at the tea-tables; he also included Mr. W. Emmett and the local ringers, who had made things so pleasant.

Later in the evening some of the ringers went on to Heston, where they rang several methods, including Double Norwich, Superlative and Cambridge Surprise. Seventeen towers were represented at the meeting, the more distant being: Swindon, Staines, Croydon, Chertsey and Willesden. The energetic hon. secretary (Mr. W. H. Hollier) was present, looking after the welfare of one and all, and it was a decided addition to have the pleasant company of lady ringers.

DEATH OF A BRIDGEND RINGER.

It is with regret we have to record the death of ex-Corporal William J. Smith, R.E., of Bridgend, Glam. (late of Ovelston, near Bristol), who passed away at his residence on May 9th, after a long and patiently borne illness, contracted through service in France, where he served for four years with 215 A. T. Company R.E.'s, with whom he did much good work. He was once mentioned in despatches by Field-Marshal Sir Douglas Haig (7th April, 1918), for gallant and distinguished services in the field.

He leaves a widow and four children to mourn their loss, and he will be greatly missed in the belfry, and by all who knew him. He was an excellent ringer, and always in his place for Sunday service ringing. He rang several peals for the Llandaff Association, but unfortunately kept no record. The funeral, which took place at the local cemetery on the 12th inst., was a very impressive one, and was accorded full military honours. The members of the Welsh Legion of ex-Servicemen were present in good numbers, as were the local ringers, who acted as bearers. The floral tributes were many, including a lovely wreath from the ex-Service members, and one in the shape of a bell from his brother ringers. A muffled peal of Grandsire Triples was rung to his memory the same evening, and is recorded in its proper place.

LORD BEACONSFIELD'S FUNERAL PEAL.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In reply to Mr. W. J. Allen's letter asking for information for Mr. Flavell regarding the late Lord Beaconsfield's funeral peal it may not be uninteresting to many members of the Exercise if the report of the peal on 'Church Bells' of that period were published. Mr. Flavell will no doubt be pleased to know that at least one other member of the band is still very much alive. I allude to Mr. C. F. Winney, who, judging by the peal reports we see from time to time, must be following the art with as much enthusiasm as he did forty years ago.—Yours faithfully,

GEORGE R. NEWTON.

Extract from 'Church Bells,' April 30th, 1881:—

Funeral peal for the Earl of Beaconsfield.—On Tuesday, the 26th inst., by permission of the Rector (the Rev. J. Lindsay) and churchwardens (Messrs. Stewart and Wigg), of St. Clement Danes, Strand, London, ten members of St. James's Society rang a funeral peal of 5,005 changes of Grand sire Caters, occupying 3 hours 28 mins., in memory of the Earl of Beaconsfield, the bells being half-muffled, and rung during the time the funeral took place: J. Cox 1, R. Jameson 2, J. R. Haworth 3, C. F. Winney 4, W. Weatherstone 5, R. French 6, G. Banks 7, F. Margetson 8, G. Flavell 9, E. Albone 10. Tenor 24 cwt. The peal in four parts, 4, 3, 5, 6 (only), behind the 9th, was composed and conducted by Mr. Cox, being his first peal since his accident last June.

AN ANCIENT BOOK.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In answer to the letter in your last issue from the Rev. James F. Hastings, of Martley Rectory, Worcester, I have a book of which the title page and date are as follows: 'The school of recreation or a guide to the most ingenious exercises of hunting, riding, racing, fireworks, military discipline, the science of defence, hawking, tennis, bowling, ringing, singing, cock fighting, fowling, angling, by R. H., London: Printed for A. Bettesworth at the Red Lion, in Paternoster Row, 1732.'

The book contains a page of illustrations, which represent hunting, cock fighting, bowling, angling and archery, and also a kind of billiard table. It mentions the College Youths in the ringing article and some of the names given to the ringing methods are: Morning exercise, Grand sire Bob, a cure for melancholy, London Nightingale, College Bob, Evening Delight, the Wild Goose Chase Triples, etc.—Yours truly,

W. W. THORNE.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

The April meeting of the Rochdale Branch took place on Saturday week at Balderstone Parish Church, and 25 representatives were present from Balderstone, Heywood, Todmorden Parish and Unitarians, Milnrow, Glodwich, Oldham, Middleton, Harmer, Crossstones and East Crompton. Touches of Kent Treble and Plain Bob Major, Oxford Minor and Grand sire Triples were rung, but owing to the death of Mr. F. Stansfield, of Balderstone, the bells were deeply muffled.

Mr. Samuel Stott presided over the business proceedings, and it was decided to hold the next meeting at Heywood, on Saturday, May 14th.—A resolution of condolence with the widow and family of the late Mr. F. Stansfield was passed.—A vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and to the local ringers for having everything in readiness for the meeting, was accorded.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A district meeting was held at Cheshunt, on April 23rd, when forty members and friends attended from Broxbourne, Edmonton, Stratford, Walthamstow, Leytounstone, Brockley, Hornsey, Dartford, Croydon, Thundridge, Great and Little Munden, besides the members of the Cheshunt band, who turned up in full strength. The business meeting was held after tea, the Rev. A. R. Davies (curate) presiding, supported by the Rev. C. Mayne, principal of Cheshunt Theological College, and the Rev. B. H. T. Drake, Vicar of Thundridge. Several of the students of the Theological College, who are becoming interested in the art, were also present.

Service was held in the church, the address being given by the Rev. A. R. Davies, in the absence of the Vicar, who was away on holiday.—Some very good ringing was accomplished in methods from Grand sire to London Surprise, and the meeting was very enjoyable.

HINTS FOR BEGINNERS.

BUILDING UP THE PLAIN COURSE.

In this article I want to carry my friends who are just beginning the art, a stage further in their change ringing instruction, and help them to build up what we know as the plain course. On page 223 I attempted to explain plain hunting, and gave what is known as the Plain hunting course on six bells. From that, it was obvious that without some process of changing the bells other than by plain hunting, it would not be possible to ring the extent of the changes that are to be had on six—indeed, it would not be possible to do so upon any number above three. As I have already explained, that in order to get the plain hunting course on six, the bells are changed alternately three pairs and two pairs at a time, the bell going first and last when the three pairs are changed, remaining in the same positions while the two internal pairs change. I repeat the figures at the side for convenience of reference. We have seen that at the end of 12 changes, by the method mentioned, the bells come round, but an examination of the example will show how it is possible to prevent the rounds occurring and to produce fresh changes, while still adhering to the general principle of changing first three pairs and then two pairs. In order to get our 132546 we changed three pairs, and, therefore, we have in the next row to change two pairs only. Instead, however, of changing the middle pairs, we change the two last pairs, leaving the 3rd to strike a whole pull over the treble. This whole pull is called 'making a place,' and this term is applied to any whole pull by a bell in one position, except when at lead or behind. In this case, and usually when a bell makes a single place of this description, it results in changing the direction in which the bell has to travel. The 3rd it was on its way up when it reached 2nd's place, but, remaining there a whole pull, causes its direction to be reversed, and instead of going up it goes down, which in this instance involves leading at the next change.

It is this 'place,' as it is called, which enables the bells to carry on with a new block of changes, but before we proceed further we must notice how the other bells are affected. The 2nd was on its way down to lead, but it cannot get there because the 3rd, having stopped to make the place over the treble, gets in the way, and, in consequence, the 2nd has to go one step back before advancing again. This is called 'dodging,' and all the bells, except the treble and the bells in 2nd's place, are involved in this process. You will notice that the 5th on its way up gets as far as 4th's, when it has to take a step back into 3rd's, and in doing so it is said to 'dodge with the 2nd,' the 2nd being in 3-4 down and the 5th in 3-4 up, because those are the two places in which the 3rd and 4th would strike if the bells were ringing in rounds. In the same way, the 4th, having laid its whole pull behind, has started to hunt down, but, stopped from going into fourth's place by the dodge of the 2nd, it has to step back instead into 6th's, before it hunts down to lead. This is termed dodging in 5-6 down. The corresponding dodge in 5-6 up is made by the 6th, which, on reaching 5th's, takes a step back into 5th's before laying its whole pull.

The treble, it should be observed, is unaffected by any of these vagaries of progress, and follows a straight course up and down through all the sections, or, as they are technically known, 'leads' of the course. Each time the treble lead, a different bell makes the 2nd's place, where the rest dodge, and, when each in turn has made 2nd's, the bells come round. This is at the end of 60 changes, and constitutes our 'plain course.' Now, I wonder if my readers, who are beginners, could write out these 60 changes? I advise them to try. It will help them more than all the explanations I can give.

My advice to young change ringing bands to keep open leads in ringing, has brought the following from a Lancashire ringer: 'Only yesterday I heard some very disparaging remarks passed with regard to an initial attempt made by a band who tried it for morning service ringing, and who were congratulating themselves on good progress they had made, when one of the regular band who had unavoidably been absent and had heard their attempt, advised them not to attempt it again if they valued their reputation as a band for good ringing and striking. Personally, I would much rather have open leads, but the majority in the tower where I ring prefer to ring otherwise, and as the effect when one rings open leads and the others don't, is worse than all doing the same, then I have to fall in with the majority. I've heard all kinds of arguments advanced against open leads, but the chief appears to be that the striking is broken up.'

I am quite prepared to agree with my correspondent that if some of the band ring open leads and some do not, the result must be a horrible hash, but I am also convinced the best change ringing is got with open leads. Without them the bells go on in an intricate medley of sound—no beginning, no ending, no rhythm. I am not going to enter upon a defence of open leads in ringing; it needs none. I have heard and taken part in some very excellent peals, with I am proud to say, some of the finest ringers in the country, and ringing of the standard to which I refer never would and never could be attained without open leads. If my correspondent can induce his band to persevere with the practice of open leads they will find that there is no comparison in the effect of their ringing. Why, all the musical combinations of the bells are valueless unless there is something to mark the end of the changes, the tenors may as well be always dodging together in the middle as at home, and there can be no object in keeping the 2nd out of 6th's place in Major methods, or of keeping the big bells together, when they come behind in Royal or Maximus.

Quite a number of inquiries from those in search of information have reached me, and I will reply to them in due course. Any beginner who is in difficulties with ringing and thinks that I may be able to help should write to me, and I will do my best to assist him.

CONDUCTOR.

NORTH NOTTS ASSOCIATION. A SUCCESSFUL YEAR.

The 33rd annual meeting of this association was held at Retford on Saturday, May 7th. As usual, the towers of East Retford (10 bells), West Retford (6) and Ordsall (6) were available throughout the afternoon and evening, and, needless to add, the visitors were not slow to take advantage of the opportunity thus afforded them for practice. A hearty invitation was given to members of kindred associations, which were represented by ringers from Barlborough, Blyth, East Markham, Laneham, Gainsborough, Mislerton, Harthill, Norton Cuckney, East Retford, West Retford, Ordsall and Worksop. The principal methods rung during the day were Grandsire, Stedman, Bob Major, Kent Treble Bob Major and Forward Major, and on the six bells, Oxford and Kent, Plain Bob and Single Court. Tea was served at Howard's Cafe, and at this nearly 40 members assembled, including two lady ringers.

The general meeting that followed was presided over by the Rector of West Retford (the Rev. G. E. Summers), who, in the course of a short address, said ringing was a real bit of work for the Church of Christ. He had an admiration for those who pulled the ropes. In the absence of the Vicar of East Retford and the Rector of Ordsall, he gave the visitors a most hearty welcome to the old borough town.

The officers, secretary, treasurer, president, vice-presidents and patrons were all re-elected for the ensuing year, and Mr. D. A. Piercy, of Ordsall, was elected as assistant secretary.—The following new elections took place: Vice-presidents, Rev. J. T. Mumford, Vicar of Norton Cuckney; Rev. W. E. Moss, Rector of Warsop; and Mr. John Dearman, of Warsop. Performing members: East Retford, 12; Warsop, 3; Barlborough, 2; Gainsborough, 4; West Retford, 2; Ordsall, 1, making a total of 27.—The next quarterly meeting will be held at Misson, in July.

At the conclusion of the business, the Rev. G. E. Summers referred to the admirable way in which the accounts had been presented, to the splendid progress that had been made, and to the new members the secretary had induced to join during the year. The financial part of the business was excellent, and was largely, if not entirely, due to the excellent work of Mr. H. Haigh. It was very encouraging to learn that the younger members were so keen and enthusiastic.—Mr. Haigh, in reply, said he had held the office of secretary for nine years, and intimated he would resign at the end of the present year. He felt sure there were others competent and willing to do the work.

Mr. Walter Ayre, Gainsborough, a member of the Lincolnshire Association, congratulated the association on its progress, numerically and financially, remarking that our association with so wide an area had done better than North Notts.

A letter was read by the secretary from Mr. T. R. Flint, of Warsop, who stated that he would be thankful when the industrial crisis were over so that he could get to work on their bell scheme, augmenting the 4 to a peal of 8.

The Hon. Secretary, in presenting the annual report for the year ending December 31st, 1920, said it might be regarded on the whole as satisfactory. There had been a slight increase in the membership to the end of last quarter, which contained the names of 15 vice-presidents, and 131 performing members, non-resident and probationers. The year had been a good one as regarded the variety and quality of the performances accomplished, and it was very gratifying to record that the once silent bells of East and West Retford were now rung regularly for Sunday service and practice. Combined practice by the three towers in the borough might bring about that efficiency that prevailed 20 years ago. The list of new members for 1920 included the Rev. G. E. Summers, Rector of West Retford; the Rev. J. D. Griffiths, Barlborough, and the whole company of Barlborough ringers, who had just recently rung two 5040's in Minor Methods on their own bells, and also at Norton Cuckney, the first 5,000 in the methods on the bells by the association. This company had worked assiduously to make change ringing since the augmentation of their bells from 5 to 6, and the association tendered their hearty congratulations on the achievement. There were still a few towers in North Notts where change ringing was not practised.—If a cycling or other party could visit some of these towers during the summer months good results might follow. The association was in a high state of efficiency, every member had paid up his contribution (there being no arrears), and the balance sheet for the year displayed a surplus of £23 ls. 7d., a gain of 17s. 9d. on the year's working. During the years of his secretaryship he did not remember any year in which he had seen the younger members so keen and enthusiastic.

Thanks were accorded the incumbents of the three towers for the use of the bells, and to the secretary for his splendid services during the year.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

On May 2nd, 1891, the Solihull band started on new lines, and the story of their early experiences, before the bells were rehung and made into a ring of 10, is very interesting. The only one of this band who now rings is Mr. G. A. Martineau, who was instrumental in starting the band, and getting the bells rehung.

Concerning this period is an amusing story of a certain Midland ringer who came over expressly to show the locals how to obtain 120 Grandsire Doubles with Bobs only. He struggled gamely, but 'natural laws' proved too much for him, though it is doubtful whether, to this day, he is absolutely convinced!

Mr. Martineau, who has just completed his 30 years of ringing at Solihull, is still an active member of the band, holding the position of Ringing Master.

One of the earliest peals rung in the magnificent tower of St. Michael's, Coventry, where, alas! there are now no bells to ring, was a peal of 5,220 'Tittom Bob Royal' on May 20th, 1780, by St. Martin's Youths.

Next Sunday will be the 22nd anniversary of the 17,024 Double Norwich Major at Kidlington, rung in 11 hrs. 12 mins.

Among the earliest of provincial ringing societies was the Sherwood Youths, Nottingham, who rang a peal of Grandsire Triples at Gainsborough on May 24th, 1768, which in that year was Whitsun Tuesday. The peal board recording the performance emphasises the fact that the composition was a true one by italicising the word true in the phrase, 'Mr. Holt's true whole peal.'

The 5,120 Double Norwich recorded last week as having been rung at Diss, was rung at St. Peter's, Palgrave, where the tenor is 8 cwt. Our correspondent apologises for his 'silly mistake.'

WEDDING BELLS.

At St. Mary's, Bletchingley, on Saturday, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) was rung to celebrate the wedding of Mr. C. V. Risbridger, a ringer at the Parish Church: G. Kirby 1, L. P. Goodwin 2, S. J. Coppard 3, A. Wood 4, A. Cheesman 5, W. Cheesman 6, F. W. Rice (conductor) 7, W. J. Wilson 8.

READING PEAL BOARDS.

On Friday, May 6th, a very interesting ceremony was performed in the belfry of St. Giles' Church, the Vicar (the Rev. F. J. C. Gillmor) unveiling two peal tablets recording a peal of Bob Major and a peal of Double Norwich, rung by the members of St. Giles' Society.

—The Vicar congratulated those who rang in the peals, and also regretted the absence of the conductor of both peals, Mr. A. W. Osborne, who was unable to be present. Some good touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major and Double Norwich and Superlative Surprise were then rung, conducted by Mr. R. N. Runham.

ROCHESTER CATHEDRAL BELLS.

The bells of Rochester Cathedral, which have been recast, augmented to ten and rehung by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon, were dedicated at an impressive ceremony on Saturday afternoon, when Alderman Charles Willis, on behalf of himself and other donors, formally asked Dean Storrs to accept them.

Alderman Willis placed in the Dean's hands a rope suspended from the belfry, and in this way was the signal given to the bell ringers, who broke silence by ringing half-muffled for one minute. The Bishop of Rochester, Dr. Hamner, preached.

MEMORIAL TO THE LATE MR. HENRY WHITE.

The unveiling of the brass tablet to the memory of the late Mr. Henry White will be performed by the Rev. C. E. Matthews, President of the Winchester Diocesan Guild, in St. Michael's Church, Basingstoke, on Saturday, May 28th. The ceremony is fixed for four o'clock, after which the Basingstoke ringers will be pleased to meet all ringing friends at tea in the Rectory garden. Both towers will be open for ringing during the evening. The Basingstoke band earnestly hope that many old friends of Mr. White, and especially the officials and committee of the Winchester Guild, will find it convenient to attend, in which case will they kindly notify Mr. F. P. Wyeth, New Street, Basingstoke, before Tuesday, May 24th?

ANNIVERSARY PEAL FAILS.

On Saturday, May 7th, a peal of Bob Major was attempted at Wem, Shropshire, on the 23rd anniversary of the opening peal on the bells, viz., May 7th, 1898, but the peal had to be given up after about half an hour's ringing, as Master J. E. Lilley found the 'go' of the second bell more than he could cope with. His father, however, took it in hand, and with Mr. G. Cowley (local) on the tenor, a 1,008 of Grandsire Triples was brought round: H. Bagley (longest touch) 1, C. R. Lilley (conductor) 2, F. A. Barnett 3, A. Short 4, S. Snelson 5, R. Pole 6, E. V. Rodenhurst 7, G. Cowley 8.

After the meeting had been opened with prayer, the Hon. Secretary said the Council would bear with great regret that the President (the Rev. A. H. F. Boughey) was unable to attend the meeting, as he was suffering from neuritis, and he was sure the Council would share his (Mr. Davies') grief that they would have to proceed to the election of another President. He felt it would be no kindness to Mr. Boughey to re-elect him, and they must proceed to the election of a new President.

On the motion of Mr. W. T. Cockerill, seconded by Canon Baker, Canon Coleridge was unanimously elected President for the ensuing three years. A vote of sympathy with the Rev. A. H. F. Boughey and of sincere thanks to him for his services was passed.

The Rev. C. D. P. Davies having intimated his intention of resigning, Mr. E. Alexander Young, of the London County Association, had been nominated, and was duly elected to the office. Mr. Davies was most cordially thanked for his long and valuable services.

Arising out of the minutes, Mr. Davies said with regard to the action taken by the Council on the subject of the demolition of London churches, and their recommendation that towers containing rings of bells should be spared as much as possible, the only reply he had received was an anonymous one, stating that the Bishop's Commission went out of existence last summer.

Mr. Davies also stated that the interview which he and Mr. Young had had with the authorities of the Science section of South Kensington Museum with regard to having an exhibit on bells and ringing, had been a very satisfactory one.

Apologies for absence were received from Canon Papillon, Rev. J. Drake, Rev. H. S. T. Richardson, Rev. F. J. O. Helmore, Rev. T. Lewis Jones, Miss Gillingham, Messrs. H. Argyle, G. Bolland, John Carter, T. R. Dennis, C. Edwards, H. Haigh, C. H. Howard, E. H. Lewis, T. Metcalfe, W. Parker, J. W. Seamer, W. R. Small and R. Warner.

The financial statement presented by the treasurer, and audited by the Standing Committee, showed receipts from affiliation fees £12 10s. interest £3 6s. 2d., and sale of publications £23 17s. 9d., which, with a balance in hand of £63 15s. 7d., made a total of £83 11s. 6d. The expenditure had been books and stationery 13s. 5d., notices and printing £9 17s. 3d., postage and expenses £1 5s. 4d., leaving a balance of £71 15s. 6d.

The statement of accounts was adopted.

The Librarian's report showed that the net receipts from the sale of publications had been £3 17s. 9d., against £16 13s. 2d. in the previous year, the number of books sold being 419, compared with 780 in the previous year.

The Council decided to continue to advertise its publications, and also to continue to send out their publications at the advertised price post free.

Rev. C. D. P. Davies, Rev. Canon Papillon, Messrs. J. Carter, R. A. Daniell, J. S. Pritchett, J. A. Trollope, were re-elected hon. members for the next three years, and Mr. A. T. King and Mr. J. H. B. Hesse were added.

The Standing Committee, consisting of Rev. A. H. F. Boughey, Rev. C. D. P. Davies, Canon G. F. Coleridge, Canon H. J. Elsee, Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, Rev. H. Law James, Messrs. W. T. Cockerill, A. Daniell, J. Griffin, A. T. King, E. H. Lewis and A. E. Parsons, were elected, and the new Hon. Secretary (Mr. Young) was added.

The Peal Collection Committee were re-elected, viz., Rev. H. S. T. Richardson, J. A. Trollope, H. W. Wilde and J. W. Parker, and Miss E. K. Parker, who had typed the collection of Treble Bob Peals, and was heartily thanked for her work, was added to the committee.

The Literature and Press Committee: Rev. A. T. Beeston, Rev. C. E. Matthews and Mr. R. A. Daniell were re-appointed, and Mr. G. E. Burton was added.

The Legitimate Methods Committee: Rev. H. L. James, and Messrs. J. A. Trollope and E. H. Lewis were re-elected, Mr. James reporting that the work of the committee was now held up until the Council had funds to publish the methods already prepared.

The Peaks Analysis Committee's report, already published in 'The Ringing World,' was adopted, and Mr. A. T. King, Rev. E. W. Carpenter, Rev. A. T. Beeston and Mr. G. Williams were re-elected. It was decided that the names claimed for all unnamed methods in the Minor Methods Collection should be sent in to the Librarian within six months, after which the committee should proceed to name the remainder.

The Towers and Belfries Committee were re-elected as follows:—Rev. C. D. P. Davies, Messrs. E. H. Lewis, J. H. B. Hesse and E. A. Young, Major Hesse reporting three cases in which he had been called in to give advice during the year.

The Bells of Belgium Committee, consisting of Canon H. J. Elsee, Rev. H. S. T. Richardson and Mr. E. H. Lewis, was allowed to lapse, on the suggestion of Canon Elsee, as in his opinion—which the Council endorsed—the time had gone by when the committee could do anything effective.

The Records Committee, comprising the Rev. A. T. Beeston, Rev. H. Law James and Mr. T. H. Beams, was re-elected, Mr. Trollope and Mr. Daniell volunteering to give the committee assistance in their museum work, in response to an appeal for help in this direction.

The committee, whose report was published in our last issue, was authorised to carry on their work, commencing with Triples for the time being; also to approach the associations, in the name of the Council, to obtain particulars of the longest lengths rung by them. They were also authorised to include in the statistics the figures of the methods and the composition of the peals where possible.

The following motion was on the agenda: 'That the Analysis Committee be asked to arrange, if possible, that each peal be credited to the Association in whose territory it is rung.' In the absence of the Rev. H. Drake, who had given notice of the motion, the Rev. C. D. P. Davies moved it pro forma, and Mr. Trollope similarly seconded, but it was defeated practically without discussion.

The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn proposed the following resolution:—'That in every Diocese there should be a recognised authority to give advice on matters concerning Church Bells, and that it is hoped that each Guild and Association will take steps to provide such authority.'—The Rev. M. Kelly seconded, and the motion was carried.

Mr. W. Willson proposed that a committee for ringing defence be formed of five persons, or more, as may be expedient whose duty shall be to watch the interests of ringing companies, and reply to any attack in the Press or otherwise when required to do so.—The Rev. F. L. Edwards seconded, and after discussion, which showed a sharp division of opinion, the motion was carried by 23 votes to 27; and by a further resolution the work was put into the hands of the Literature and Press Committee, to which the proposer and seconder were added.

The Council decided to meet next year at Lincoln.

Mr. A. H. Pulling's motion, recommending all associations to hold their annual meetings within three months previous to the Council meeting, was discussed, but withdrawn.

Another late notice of motion had been given by Alderman Chambers, of Derby, suggesting the formation of a Bell Restoration Fund in every association.—Alderman Chambers was not present to move the resolution, and it was, therefore, allowed to lie on the table.

A vote of thanks to the President concluded the meeting.

Afterwards most of the members attended the service and unveiling ceremony at St. Clement Danes, and went on to St. Paul's, and afterwards to the College Youths meeting at 'The Coffee Pot.'

There was also ringing at Westminster Abbey and St. Clement Danes.

AT THE UNKNOWN WARRIOR'S GRAVE.IMPRESSIVE AND MEMORABLE CEREMONY.

A brief but unique ceremony took place in connection with the meeting of the Central Council in London on Tuesday. The idea put forward in 'The Ringing World' that the Council should officially place a wreath at the Cenotaph in memory of the one thousand ringers who fell in the war, was sympathetically taken up by the Rev. A. H. Boughcy (then president), but it was felt it would be more convenient to place the wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Warrior in Westminster Abbey. The Dean of Westminster (Dr. Kyle) readily fell in with the proposal, and when the Council adjourned for lunch they proceeded to the Abbey, where, round the honoured spot the members ranged themselves while the Dean conducted a brief service, in which there was a pause for silent prayer for the dead. After the Collects, the new President of the Council (Canon Coleridge) placed the wreath on the grave. Then, for the first time in all its long history the ancient Abbey heard within its walls the sound of handbells. It was the ringers' farewell to their dead, that unique but telling tribute which marks the passing of a kindred soul. A course of Stedman Caters was rung while the audience stood in silence, and the sound of the bells spread out through the great spaces of the old Abbey, and came back in echoes from the great pillars. The course was rung by ex-Service men: J. Thomas, R.A.F., 1-2; T. H. Haffender, R.N.V.R., 3-4; W. Willson, R.A.F., 5-6; A. H. Pulling, R.G.A., 7-8; W. A. Cave, U.E., 9-10. The ceremony was brief, but impressive and memorable. There was a considerable number of the general public present, and not the least interested of the onlookers were a number of Japanese sailors, who were being conducted round the Abbey.

A SWINDON MEMORIAL.DEDICATION BY THE BISHOP OF BRISTOL.

A very handsome tablet has been erected in Swindon Parish Church Belfry to commemorate the peal rung on November 23rd, 1918, to celebrate the great victory of the Allies. The memorial was dedicated by the Bishop of Bristol. Previously Field-Marshal Lord Methuen had unveiled, and the Bishop had dedicated, before a crowded congregation, a magnificent memorial erected in the church in honour of those heroes who had given their lives for their country. The names of the fallen are inscribed alphabetically on the tablet, and includes that of John H. Odey, a highly-respected and deeply regretted member of the Guild. Although he had not accomplished many peals, he was a capable ringer, and in addition to the four standard methods, was proficient in Double Norwich, Superlative and Cambridge.

Immediately after the service in the church, the Bishop, preceded by his cross bearer, ascended to the ringing chamber, where had assembled to meet him, the Rev. C. A. Mayall, Vicar, the curates, churchwardens, ringers, and many interested members of the congregation.—Major Fitzroy Fleydell Goddard, the Vicar's warden, and Lord of the Manor, unveiled the tablet, and the Bishop, having dedicated it, gave a short and appropriate address to the ringers, and intimated that he took it to be a great honour to be invited into the belfry to dedicate the handsome tablet. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bishop were introduced to the Bishop, who shook hands with all the ringers, including several promising youngsters, who are making excellent progress, under the able tuition of that capable and enthusiastic ringer, Mr. Charles J. Gardiner. The tablet is of white Sicilian marble, with black marble base, and was designed, made and generously presented by Mr. Herbert W. Bishop, and the grateful thanks of the Swindon Parish Church Guild are due to him for his beautiful and valuable gift, which will form a lasting memorial that will probably endure so long as the church stands. Incidentally, it may be mentioned that this was the donor's first peal. Previous to and after the service, some first-class touches of Stedman Triples and Double Norwich Major were rung, conducted by Mr. J. H. Shepherd. Lord Methuen, who was the guest of Major Goddard, was very much impressed by the excellence of the ringing.

WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.REV. SIR JOHN HERSCHEL TO RESIGN SECRETARYSHIP.

We are asked to state that at the annual meeting of the Winchester Diocesan Guild, on July 4th, at Winchester, the Secretary, the Rev. Sir J. C. W. Herschel, Bart., will resign office owing to pressure of other duties. This announcement is made beforehand, in order that members may be ready with nominations for his successor. Members are also reminded that it saves much time and avoids uncertainties to make sure beforehand that anyone who is proposed is willing to serve, if elected, and that it is desirable that one of the clergy should hold the office.

CENTRAL COUNCIL'S NEW SECRETARY.

MR. ERNEST ALEXANDER YOUNG, A.R.I.B.A.

the new Secretary of the Council, was born at Southampton in 1885. Educated at the Hampden Gurney Schools, W., he was articled to the late W. I. Sans, A.R.I.B.A., in 1881. As an architect and surveyor he commenced in private practice in 1904. In 1911 Mr. Young became a district surveyor under the London Building Acts, and this responsible position he now holds, being district surveyor for Lewisham East and Woolwich (Town). Mr. Young has been well known in London as a public lecturer on matters relative to architecture and building. He joined the Royal Institute of British Architects in 1891, after passing the Institute examinations.

Mr. Young's interest in church bells was first awakened by listening to the Holyrood and St. Michael's bells as they sounded across the Bay, when he was a boy at Blechynden (now Southampton West). It was not, however, until 1885 that he became acquainted with some of the St. Clement Danes ringers, being at that time engaged in surveying and measuring the steeple of that church. A few years after he took up ringing, and in January, 1891, joined the St. James's Society, and a few years later the 'College Youths.' Of the former (now the London County Association) Mr. Young has always been a strong supporter, and was honorary secretary for several years. He is one of the trustees, and represents it on the Central Council, where he has been for several years a member of the Tower and Belfries Committee. With others, he assisted the late Sir Arthur Heywood in writing his book, entitled 'Bell Towers and Bell Hanging.' Mr. Young has devoted considerable attention to the movement of bell towers during ringing, and is one of a committee approved by the R.I.B.A. to investigate and report upon this somewhat obscure question.

Mr. Young designed the present certificate of the London County Association, but has the strange distinction of having never yet rung a peal, although he has made several attempts.

Dobbins 6, I. Williams 7, H. Warrie 8. First quarter-peal by ringers of the treble, second, fourth and tenor. 'LOOK UP.'

Before starting for a peal on a heavy ring of bells some years ago, I remember the conductor saying to one of the band, 'When you are ringing, don't look on the floor, look up.' The conductor knew the man he was addressing, and knew his failing as a ringer. But is this not also a piece of advice which we may all take to heart, whether we are ringing or not? The man who is continually looking down is not the man who will achieve success. Success comes to those who keep their eyes on the goal in front of them: who, when climbing the hill, keep their eyes towards the summit. We cannot hope to achieve mundane things unless we look up; much less can we hope to achieve higher things unless we do likewise. However hurried and burdened our life here may be, we must not forget that there is a hereafter, and that the future depends very much upon our actions and attitude now. The attributes which go to make for success in our art, are those which go to make for success in our lives—patience, perseverance, concentration, harmony. We cannot ring well unless we look up, we cannot live well unless we also look up, for help, for comfort and for grace.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

Considering that the train service was practically 'washed out,' the attendance at the Derby District meeting at Darley Dale on Saturday may be considered very satisfactory, members being present from Leicester, Derby, Ripley, Chesterfield and Rotherham. Courses or touches were rung in Grandsire, St. Clement's, Erin and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Little Bob, Forward, Duffield, Oxford Treble Bob, Double Norwich and Superlative Major.

DERBY PEAL BOARDS UNVEILED.

At St. Alkmund's Church, Derby, on Saturday, April 23rd, a special meeting of the Derby District was held for the purpose of unveiling two peal boards beautifully lettered in gold leaf, recording two peals of Grandsire Triples, one rung as a farewell peal to the Rev. A. E. Hunt on leaving to take up duty at Ockbrook, and to record his 17 years' service as Vicar of St. Alkmund's Parish; the other as a welcome to the Rev. J. S. Wilding, his successor. About 40 were present, including several ladies, the Rev. A. E. Hunt (Ockbrook), the Rev. J. S. Wilding (Vicar), the Rev. W. G. Couch (curate), the Rev. Wilkinson (Mansfield), Alderman Chambers, President M.C.A.; Mr. Plant (churchwarden) and Mr. Potts (ex-warden), and ringers from Burton, Breadsall, Duffield, Ilkeston, Long Eaton and Derby.

The Rev. A. E. Hunt remarked how pleased he was to be present at such a gathering, and congratulated the ringers on their achievement. To be successful in ringing these peals it was not only necessary, he said, for the bells to be in perfect tune and work in harmony with each other, but that the ringers themselves should also work in harmony, realising at the same time that they were church workers, and that their office was as important as any other branch of work in the church.

Alderman Chambers, in performing the unveiling ceremony, expressed his pleasure in being present on such an occasion, and spoke of the good work done by the late Vicar during his 17 years in the parish. He wished him every success in his present sphere, and congratulated the ringers upon placing two such beautiful boards in the belfry.—The Rev. A. E. Hunt then dedicated the boards with a short prayer, after which the Vicar proposed a vote of thanks to the ladies and gentlemen for their attendance. He was supported by Mr. Haywood, on behalf of the ringers, and the Vicar then closed the meeting with prayer.

Ringling was afterwards indulged in, touches of Grandsire, Duffield, Treble Bob, Cambridge and London being rung.

HOW HARLINGTON LOST A BELL.QUAINT RECORD OF ANCIENT LAW SUIT.

The Rev. H. Wilson, of Harlington, Middlesex, sends us the following interesting extract from his 'Parish Magazine':—

'It is rather an old story—nearly four centuries old—but has never appeared in print, and I have only just heard it from Mr. George L. Harrison, who has been doing research work at the Record Office, and came across it amongst some early Chancery Proceedings. In a letter, dated February 26th, 1921, he most kindly sent me an exact copy of the document, which is of considerable length and most quaintly worded. I found it so interesting that I pass on the story, in brief form, to the readers of the "Parish Magazine." It is written in Old English, as will be seen from the few extracts given.

'It appears that at that distant date, when Henry VIII. was King, something went wrong with one of the Harlington Church Bells, "weying eight hundred pounds weyght"; it got cracked or injured in some way, and "the churchwardens of the said parysshe Churche delyvered it by th' assent of the hole parochyans unto one John fford cityzeyn and bell founder of London, to the purpose and intent that the said John fford should nowe caste and make the seyd bell to agree in the treble note and sound to foure other bells in the same parysshe then yett hanging." fford undertook to fetch the bell, recast and return it within eight weeks, for the sum of £3 6s. 8d. The Churchwardens, however, omitted to get a receipt for the bell when it was carried off. fford at once melted down the old bell, but died a few weeks later, before the other bell was cast, and then the trouble began. His widow denied responsibility, and shortly after married again, when her new husband also said he had no responsibility. The Churchwardens—Roger Soler and John Mold—together with the Patron of the living, Gregory Lovell (whose effigy in brass is in the Church) bombarded them with applications and demands to carry out the verbal agreement. Counter charges were made, and each side abused the other in unmeasured terms. The cause was brought before Sir Thomas Dudley, Keeper of the Great Seal. We don't know for certain the end of the story—his decision has not been found—but it looks as if the "power Parochyans" of Harlington were done out of their bell.

The document, like most early ones, is undated, but Sir Thomas Audley was Lord Chancellor from 1532 to 1544, so it must have been between those dates that the suit came before the Court of Chancery. Harlington Rectory.

H. WILSON.

THE COUNCIL.

The Central Council had a really memorable day in London on Whitsun Tuesday. The meeting itself was more interesting than usual, but there were other events which served specially to mark the day. Chief among these was the visit to Westminster Abbey, where, by the willing co-operation of the Dean, a brief but unforgettable service was held at the grave of the unknown warrior, upon whose tomb the President of the Council laid a wreath in the name of the ringers of England. Then there was the impressive service which many attended at St. Clement Danes, when the Freemasons' peal tablet was unveiled and dedicated. In addition, members were privileged to ring at Westminster Abbey, St. Paul's Cathedral and St. Clement's, the whole proceedings making up a day of varied activity and remarkable interest.

The principal feature of the meeting of the Council was the change that was made both in President and Secretary. The former office, held for three years by the Rev. A. H. F. Boughey, whose geniality and ability had endeared him to all the members, had necessarily to be filled by a new occupant by reason of the fact that Mr. Boughey's health rendered it inadvisable that he should undertake another term; and the election of Canon Coleridge—one of the original members of the Council—was not only a well-deserved compliment, but a wise selection, for the Canon has behind him an unexcelled experience of the Council's work, is an admirable chairman with a thorough grasp of business, and, as everyone knows who has met him, an inborn humour so valuable to one who has to preside over any assembly.

It was rather strange that the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, who postponed his resignation of the office of Secretary and Treasurer three years ago in order to avoid a double change of officers at one time, should, after all, have found himself going out of harness with the President. Mr. Davies is another of the early members of the Council. He has served that body, as Canon Coleridge said, magnificently for twenty years, and, much as his retirement from the post may be regretted, no one will deny his claim to be relieved of the duties of the office. It is difficult to speak in adequate terms of Mr. Davies' services both to the Exercise and to the Council. From the broader point of view of the art itself, much of our present exact knowledge of the Grandsire and Stedman methods is due to his researches, while as the executive officer of the Council he has brought to bear a keen intellect, a wide knowledge of the art and a great enthusiasm for the work. His departure from office, although, happily, not from the Council, marks, in a certain sense, a parting of the ways, and his successor, Mr. E. A. Young, in whom the Council has every confidence, will have no easy task in carrying on an office which has long been so well filled.

Several changes in the personnel of the new Council were to be noted, and, with the gradual introduction of new blood, including more active and fewer ornamental members of the Exercise, we look forward to a renewed and more active life for the central body of our organisation.

ELY DIOCESAN GUILD.

A very successful meeting was held at Peterborough on Whit-Monday, when ringers were present from Cambridge, Long Stanton, Dry Drayton, Cottenham, Newmarket, Barley, Thetford, and the local bands. The bells of St. Mary's, St. John's and Woodston were kept merrily going all day, and handbells were also rung both on the journey, which was by charabanc, and in St. Mary's Schoolroom.—A hearty vote of thanks was given by the Rev. H. B. Woolley to Mr. and Mrs. Jutson and Mr. and Mrs. Rawlinson for the splendid lunch and tea, and it is interesting to know that the proceeds are to be given to the Peterborough War Memorial.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The Northern District held a meeting on Saturday, May 21st, at St. Andrew's, Holborn, where the bells have recently been rehung by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. Touches of Grandsire Triples, Stedman and Kent Treble Bob were rung during the afternoon, and a short service was held. The address by the Rector was much appreciated, as also was the special bell hymn written by the Rector himself.

After tea, the business meeting followed, the chair being taken by the Rector. Mr. E. Roberts, of Kentish Town, was elected a member, and St. Mary's, Willesden, will, if available, be the place for the next meeting in July.

Very hearty thanks were accorded to the Rector for his thoughtfulness and help, the steeplekeeper for having everything in good order, and the lady and gentleman who were responsible for the catering for tea.

Ringling was resumed, and kept merrily going for the rest of the evening. It is pleasing to see a big increase in the attendance at the District meetings, and it is to be hoped this evidence of interest will continue.

THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION COMMITTEE.

BRANCHES FAVOUR REDUCTION IN NUMBERS.

On Saturday, May 14th, the members of the Rochdale Branch of the Lancashire Association held their monthly meeting at Moorside, Oldham, the towers represented being Moorside, Oldham, Glodwick, Middleton, Ashton St. Peter's, Ashton Parish, Miles Platting, Pendleton and East Crompton. Touches of Stedman and Grandsire Triples, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob were rung during the afternoon and evening, and at the usual business meeting, presided over by Mr. Sam Stott, it was decided that next month's meeting should take place on June 11th, at Heywood. The following resolution, received from the Rossendale Branch, was fully discussed, and it was decided to support it: 'That this branch is of opinion that there are too many on the Committee of Management, and they suggest that one from every branch is quite sufficient, with the President, Vice-President, Hon. Secretaries and Hon. Treasurer, to carry on the management of the association.

To alter rule 9 to read: "The Management shall consist of the President, Vice-President, Hon. Secretaries, Hon. Treasurer and the Secretary from each Branch." Also to include a proviso, if the Secretary cannot attend Committee Meeting on the date fixed, he appoint some member of his branch to act as his Deputy for that day. This is to curtail expenses.

The meeting concluded with a resolution of thanks to the chairman for presiding; also to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and to the local ringers for having everything in readiness.

NEW TOWER & BELLS AT DURBAN.

OPENING OF A SOUTH AFRICAN PEAL.

The art of change ringing, which was spread, precariously perhaps but nevertheless certainly, to Australia and Canada, will it is hoped take root in South Africa as the result of a new tower and bells erected at Durban, Natal, and another peal which it is hoped soon to have in ringing order in the same city. The new tower has been added to St. Mary's Church as a memorial to those who fell in the Great War, and the peal of ten bells, with a tenor of 18 cwt. 25 lbs., were cast at the Loughborough foundry by Messrs. Taylor and Co. The total weight of the peal is 80 cwt., and each bell is given a commemorative name and date, as follows:—

- Treble.—The Old Contemptibles. 1914.
- 2. Botha. S.W. Africa. 1915.
- 3. Edith Cavell. 1915.
- 4. Smuts. B. Africa. 1916.
- 5. Jellicoe. Jutland. 1916.
- 6. Kitchener. 1916.
- 7. Delville Wood. 1916.
- 8. Allenby. Jerusalem. 1918.
- 9. Haig. Armistice. 1918.
- Tenor.—Foch. Peace. June, 1919.

The bells were shipped to South Africa, and the hanging was carried out under the superintendence of Canon Ridout and Mr. F. Simpson (Ringing Master), who is, by the way, an old Yorkshire ringer.

Some time previous to the hanging of the bells, a Guild of ringers was formed, under the tuition of Mr. Simpson, and with the help of a set of handbells, the gift of Canon Ridout, a start was made. A plan course of Bob Major was rendered possible by several parties of enthusiastic beginners, assisted by three old ringers.

The ceremony of blessing the tower and bells took place on March 20th, and the new ringers were able to accomplish a few call changes.

St. Mary's is the only church in South Africa with a ring of ten bells; in fact, the only tower with bells that are rung, though there is a church in Capetown where a peal is hung. Mr. Fred J. Cole, who sends us the above details, says he has not touched a rope for 21 years, and, indeed, never expected to make seconds, turn treble from behind, etc., again; 'but,' he adds, 'we are all very keen and shall not rest until we see a peal, although it may be in one of the plain methods, recorded in "The Ringing World." I feel, as an old change ringer, that a start has now been made, and, with the advent of another peal of eight at St. Paul's, Durban (ready for ringing shortly), change ringing out here may develop as an art hitherto unknown in South Africa.'

With this wish, all ringers in the old country will, we are sure, associate themselves.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

HEAVY LOSS ON YEAR'S WORKING.

The annual meeting of the Sussex County Association was held at Brighton on Saturday, May 7th, when 60 members attended from Brighton, Balcombe, Battle, Bexhill, Burgess Hill, Chiddingly, Crawley, Eastbourne, Hastings, Heathfield, Heane, Henfield, Arundel, Rotherfield, Seaford, Shoreham, Lewes, Uckfield, etc. Service was held at St. Peter's Church, at which an address was given by the Rev. Cecil H. Clarke (Vicar of Chiddingly).

The business meeting followed in St. Peter's Parish Room, at which the Master (Mr. J. T. Rickman) presided. The bands at Arundel, Iton and Fittleworth were elected members, and the towers affiliated to the association. Several new members were also elected. The accounts were presented by the hon. treasurer (Mr. Ellman Brown). These showed a deficit on the year's working of about £35. A discussion took place on the financial question, and it was agreed to make no increase in the subscription of members, but to do away with the allowance for railway fares and teas at meetings for one year. It was decided to hold meetings as frequently as possible, and to pay the year's deficit out of P.O. Savings Bank account.

The president and vice-presidents were re-elected. Mr. J. T. Rickman, M.A., was re-elected Master, and the other officers were appointed as follows: Hon. treasurer, Mr. Ellman Brown; hon. secretary, Rev. C. H. Clarke (vicar of Chiddingly); hon. auditors, Messrs. O. C. Sippets and Yorks Bramble; hon. peal secretary, Mr. H. Stalham.

A cordial vote of thanks was accorded to Mr. H. R. Butcher, who had been hon. secretary for the past four years.

It was decided to hold the next annual meeting at Brighton.

A sub-committee was formed to deal with the proposed revision of rules.

The Warner Challenge Bell this year was won by St. Peter's Brighton.

A vote of thanks was accorded the Vicars of St. Peter's, and St. Nicholas' for the use of the bells and parish room, and after the meeting ringing was continued at both churches throughout the evening.

DITCHINGHAM, NORFOLK.—On April 9th, a date touch was rung at St. Mary's, in 1 hr. 13 mins. by members from Ditchingham and Bungay: H. Barrell 1, G. F. Woods 2, F. Sayer 3, F. Beckett 4, H. Fairhead 5, Alfred Williams (conductor) 6.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The inscription attached to the wreath deposited by the Central Council on the grave of the Unknown Warrior in Westminster Abbey, was: 'A token of deep respect from the Church Bell Ringers of England.'

Out of the 40 associations affiliated to the Central Council, 29 were represented at last week's meeting by 61 members. Ten out of 15 honorary members were present. Considering the difficulties of travel the attendance was excellent, there being members present from places as far away as Newcastle, Lancashire, Yorkshire, Cheshire, Lincolnshire, Worcestershire, Monmouthshire and Devonshire. The Rev. H. Law James cycled the 100 miles from Surfleet to London.

A new appellation has been found for Mr. James George. He has been known as 'of Rugby' and 'of Birmingham,' he is now 'of England,' and some humorist dubbed him 'King George.'

It arose in this way. The President of the Central Council asked the members to give their names and the association they represented, before making a speech, and gave as an example, 'Coleridge, Oxford Guild.' When Mr. George rose to speak he omitted this preliminary, and was chaffingly pulled up by the President, who asked: 'Name?' 'George, England,' came the prompt reply, amid much laughter.

To-morrow is the anniversary of the first peal of Stedman Caters ever rung. This was on May 28th, 1787, at St. John's, Horsleydown, where a tablet records the performance which was composed and conducted by Mr. John Reeves.

That was the first peal of Stedman Caters on land. The following day, May 29th, is the twentieth anniversary of the first peal on the sea—a peal of Stedman Caters 'in hand' on the ss. Cambria between Dublin and Holyhead.

To-morrow is the anniversary, also of the record peal of Bristol Surprise, 15,264, rung in 9 hrs. 49 mins., at Hornchurch, Essex, by the Middlesex Association, on Whit-Monday, 1912. In the same year, on June 1st, the 14,031 Stedman Caters was rung on handbells at Guildford, as a preliminary to the record of 19,738 rung three months later by the same band.

One of the very earliest peals of Treble Ten, under the name of Union Bob Royal, was rung 180 years ago next Monday. This was a peal of 5,000 by the College Youths on May 30th, 1741, at St. Sepulchre's, Snow Hill.

The total number of peals rung by the Norwich and Ipswich Association up to the end of 1921 was 3,424. That, we believe, is the association record.

The number of bands ringing Cambridge Maximus is gradually widening, and the company at St. Martin's, Birmingham, have now added a peal to their records. The first peal of Cambridge Maximus was rung by the Norwich Association at Ipswich on August 15th, 1908. Since then about a dozen peals have in all, been rung, by the Norwich Association, the College Youths, the Middlesex Association, the Gloucester and Bristol Association, the Essex Association, and now St. Martin's Guild.

At the Western District of the Ladies' Guild an intermediate meeting for practice was held at Clapton-in-Gordano on Wednesday evening, May 18th. There was a fair attendance, and an enjoyable time was spent.

The numbers of members of the Norwich and Ipswich Association is 1,014; the highest total having been 1,156, in 1913.

Mr. William Pye, who has some of the most remarkable records in his peal book has now achieved another wonderful performance, by reaching his one thousandth peal as conductor. Up to the present only four men have reached four figures in peal ringing—to have conducted a thousand peals, therefore is a record that is likely to stand for a long time, for there can be no one else within hundreds of this total. Of the 1,000 peals which Mr. Pye has called, 647 have been for the Middlesex Association, for whom he has rung 801 peals.

Of all the bands in England few are more happily placed than that at Leiston, Suffolk, where the nucleus is formed by that wonderful family of Baileys, who have among the brothers eight or ten Surprise ringers. It is remarkable that there should be so many good ringers in one family, but what is more gratifying is the enterprise which they show. They have now added Yorkshire Surprise to their list, and have rung the first peal in the method for the Norwich and Ipswich Association.

By calling this peal of Yorkshire Surprise from the 6th in his native tower at Leiston, Mr. C. F. Bailey has achieved the unique performance of conducting a different Surprise method from every bell in the tower, viz., Superlative, treble; Cambridge, 2nd; New Cambridge, 3rd; Bristol, 4th; Suffolk, 5th; Yorkshire, 6th; Guildford, 7th; London, tenor. In this, we believe, Mr. Bailey has set up a new record.

The men who can claim to have rung a hundred peals in one tower are few and far between, but Mr. R. J. Dawe, who for more than thirty years has been an active peal ringer in Sussex, has achieved this distinction of the bells where he learned to ring—Southover, Lewes. Mr. A. J. Turner has also rung more than a hundred peals on these bells, he and Mr. Dawe having started their ringing career about the same time in this tower.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

ELECTION OF NEW OFFICERS.

As already reported in our last issue, the Central Council met for their annual meeting in London on Tuesday in last week. Greatly to the regret of the members, the Rev. A. H. F. Boughey (President) was unable to be present, the Hon. Sec. (the Rev. C. D. P. Davies), who temporarily took the chair, informing the Council that he had been suffering from neuritis, and had been ordered by the doctor to take complete rest. That, he said, really left the Council with no alternative but to proceed with the election of a new President. They could not have had a better Chairman and better President than Mr. Boughey, and the Council would, he was sure, join with him in keen regret that Mr. Boughey was not able to continue in office. He felt very strongly, however, that it would be no kindness to Mr. Boughey, as things were, to re-elect him. Therefore, they must proceed to the election of another President.

Mr. W. T. Cockerill proposed Canon G. F. Coleridge.

Canon W. W. Baker, in seconding, said they must all have heard with great regret that Mr. Boughey was unable to continue in office, and those who were members of the Cambridge University Guild would hear it with a deeper sense of regret. But, having to find a successor to Mr. Boughey, they could not find a better one than Canon Coleridge (hear, hear). If he were elected he would fill the chair—there was no doubt about that (laughter)—and he would fill it also with dignity, competence, and to the satisfaction of the Council (applause).

Canon Coleridge said he hoped another candidate would be proposed ('No, no'). He did feel that the times in which they lived were times for young men. That was the twenty-ninth time he had attended a meeting of the Council, and, although he could say he knew something of the work of the Council, they knew there was a new tide of life coming on among the younger members of the Exercise. A boy in an essay once said, the best fossils were found in theological museums (laughter). Therefore, although they might be content to put up with an old fossil, who had passed the age which Sir Arthur Heywood said ought to be the limit of any man's exercise of the office—he was three years older than Sir Arthur was at the time he said that—he begged they would consider that youth ought to be served, and he trusted somebody else would be proposed as President.

The election was unanimously carried, and the Hon. Secretary, in announcing it, said what a keen pleasure it was to him that his dear friend of 45 years' standing had been elected.

THE HON. SECRETARY'S RESIGNATION.

Canon Coleridge was warmly applauded on taking the chair, and remarked that while the position was the last thing he desired to aspire to, his 29 years' experience of the Council might be of some service to the newer members of the Council. All he could promise was that he would act firmly and impartially, and carry on the business of the Council to the best of his very unworthy ability. Continuing, the President said their next duty was to elect a new hon. secretary and treasurer. They all extremely regretted that Mr. Davies, who had served them so faithfully and so loyally, and, he might add, so magnificently for many years, could no longer carry on the duties, and felt impelled, after many warnings and threatenings, to resign. What the Council owed him for all he had done during the many years he had held the post no words of his (the President's) could rightly estimate, and he thought the many ringers present who had had experience of secretarial work would agree that he spoke the absolute truth (applause). Mr. Davies had been a truly magnificent secretary, and he desired to propose a very hearty vote of thanks from the Council to Mr. Davies for his eminent services (applause).

The motion was carried by acclamation, and the Rev. C. D. P. Davies said he was deeply touched by what the President had said. He could assure them, as he had told them on the many occasions when they had re-elected him, that the work had been a work of great pleasure to him. The only thing was that he was nearly twenty years older than when he was first elected, and he had had to come to the conclusion that it was rather harder work than he could continue. He also felt that the time had come when somebody a little younger than himself should enter upon it, someone more of the age of the men with whom he would have to deal, for he was getting now one of the older men. The way they had received Mr. Coleridge's remarks touched him deeply, and he felt that he was amply repaid for any trouble he had taken. Only one nomination had been received for his successor.

The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn said he had great pleasure in proposing the name of Mr. E. Alexander Young as successor to Mr. Davies. Mr. Young was a layman who was in good report in the Exercise at large. He lived in London, and had the advantage of the assistance of an office. He was interested, and had been for some time, in the work of the Council, and in matters connected with church bells. He had expressed his willingness to take the post if elected, and he (the speaker) had great pleasure in submitting his name to the Council.

The Rev. C. D. P. Davies seconded. He said he had just lately been thrown in contact with Mr. Young in connection with the Council's endeavour to get an exhibit in the Science and Art Museum at South Kensington, and he must say he did not think a better man for the office could be found than Mr. Young.

As no one else had been nominated, the President declared Mr. Young duly elected as hon. secretary and treasurer.

Mr. Young, in accepting office, said he would do all he could for the Council, although he felt there were better men in London more fitted to hold the post, but since he had been so unanimously and splendidly elected he could only return them his thanks (applause).

On the motion of the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, seconded by the Rev. E. W. Carpenter, the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn was re-elected Hon. Librarian.

Canon H. J. Elsee proposed that the Council send a message to the retiring President, and moved that the Council's heartfelt sympathy be sent to Mr. Boughey in his illness, with an expression of their hope that he may be soon restored to health, and of their sincere thanks for his great services during the past three years.

This motion was immediately carried, and ordered to be entered on the minutes.

THE THREATENED CITY CHURCHES.

The Rev. C. D. P. Davies said, in accordance with the resolution of the Council passed at Northampton, he wrote to the Commission appointed by the Bishop of London with regard to City benefices, urging that the towers containing bells should be spared as much as possible. Not receiving a reply he wrote again some months later, and on 15th April received a communication stating that the existence of the Commission came to an end last summer. The retention of the towers and bells was a legal feature of the report. The letter was not signed.

Mr. T. Faulkner said he believed it was a fact that the Bishop was appointing a new commission, so that if the churches had not been pardoned they had been deprived.

THE PROPOSED SCIENTIFIC EXHIBIT.

The Rev. C. D. P. Davies said the Council would recollect that at the last meeting Mr. Young brought forward a motion that they should approach the authorities of the Science Museum at South Kensington with regard to having an exhibit of bell models and other things connected with ringing at the Museum. As a result of that Mr. Young and he had an interview with the museum authorities, which was very satisfactory. The gentleman who saw them was most friendly and most interested in the question, and he (Mr. Davies) thought in all probability something would be done.

Mr. Young said the reason why nothing could be done immediately was on account of the conditions under which the museum was being run for the time being. Some of the galleries were still being used by Government departments, and there was very little money for extension work.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT.

After the adoption of the balance sheet, the details of which were given in our last issue, the Librarian presented his report. He said the amount realised by the sale of publications was £12 2s., but the expenditure, including a full year's advertising, was £3 4s. 3d. The Council would recollect that at the meeting a year ago he prepared them for a big fall in the amount which would be realised, and things had turned out as he anticipated. In the year ending April 30th, 1920, they cleared £18 13s. 2d., while as the result of sales during the twelve months just completed, he had only been able to hand over to the treasurer £3 17s. 9d. There were several causes for this very considerable drop. A year ago they were reaping the first results of advertising and of pushing the sales. Many ringers had been made aware for the first time of the real existence of Central Council publications, both through 'The Ringing World' and through the agency of those gentlemen who took parcels on sale or return, for the benefit of the associations they represented. Many companies were also receiving after the war, and required help in the way of such literature. In these respects it was an abnormal year, and it was not surprising that 780 books were sold, as against 419 in the last twelve months. There were also some causes on the expenditure side. Postal rates were now considerably higher, and the books were sent post free just the same as before. They had had also to meet the cost of twelve months' advertising instead of only nine, and he regretted to say that the Editor of 'The Ringing World' had informed him that he could no longer accept the advertisement at the same rate, but that there must be an additional charge of £2 12s. per annum. The Council were indebted to the officials of the various ringing societies, to the number of seven, who had assisted in the sales by taking parcels on sale or return and thereby contributed £2 9s. 9d. to the total receipts.

Mr. Jenkyn asked the Council's sanction to the additional cost of advertising. Having got these books, he said it was the wish of the Council that they should be disseminated as soon as possible. Since they advertised the sales had gone up considerably. At the same time he did feel that it was something for the Council to consider, to assist in keeping the ringing paper going. That was one of the jobs that the Council ought to have very near its heart (hear, hear), because, if there was no ringing paper for the Exercise, there was no real link of fellowship, and if they had to sink the lot of their profits he should consider the money well spent (hear, hear). On the other hand, if they did not advertise they risked nothing. He would simply wait at home until orders came in, but they would not be nearly so numerous, and while he might, perhaps, be able to show a greater balance at the end of the year, he did not think they would have done so much good with their stock-in-trade.

It was resolved to continue to advertise the publications in 'The Ringing World' at the increased terms, and a motion by the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards, seconded by Major Hughes D'Aeth, that in future the postage charges should be added when books were sold, was defeated.

THE NEW LIBRARY.

The Librarian then reported on the formation of the Library. He had received, he said, the results of the research work of Mr. R. A. Daniell and the Rev. C. E. Matthews into bell bibliography, and from the Rev. A. H. F. Boughey, the following books, many of which were the property of the late Sir A. P. Heywood: 'Among the Bells,' 'Bell Hanging,' 'Duffield,' 'Stedman,' 'Treble Bob' (i. and ii.), 'Grand-sire,' 'Double Norwich,' 'Ellacombe's 'Register of Bells' (incomplete), Powell's 'Stedman Triples,' and 19 volumes of 'Bell News'. Other books belonging to the late Sir A. Heywood, had been received through the Rev. H. Law James, viz.: Two copies of 'Clavis,' 'Hubbard,' 'Treble Bob' (ii.), 'Bannister on Change Ringing,' 'Campanologia,' the MSS. of Sir Arthur Heywood, and two wooden models. There were ten years, 1901 to 1911, of which the library possessed no record of the Exercise, and he would be glad if someone would be kind enough to let the Council have the 'Bell News' for those years.

Mr. W. Willson offered volumes of 'Church Bells' for 1870 and 1871, and Mr. R. Narborough four volumes of 'Bell News' for years in the period mentioned by the librarian. The donors were thanked for their kind offers.

THE COLLECTION OF TREBLE BOB PEALS.

After the election of hon. members, Mr. H. W. Wilde reported, on behalf of the Peal Collection Committee. The Rev. H. S. T. Richardson, he said, had been proceeding with the proof of the peals of Treble Bob with the tenors parted. That work was not yet completed, but there was little else to do.

The Rev. C. D. P. Davies said some exceedingly important work had been done during the year, for which he was sure the Council would return their sincere gratitude to Miss Parker. She had typed the whole collection of Treble Bob peals. The work was most beautifully done, and had taken her a great deal of time and trouble.

The President said there were 160 pages of peals, and the whole formed a most invaluable record of the peals. He proposed a hearty vote of thanks to Miss Parker for her kindness, and for all the labour and care which she had bestowed on the work. There were four volumes of the peals, and they would be in the keeping of the librarian, from whom they could be obtained by any ringer desirous of consulting them.

The vote of thanks was carried, and at the suggestion of Alderman Pritchett it was agreed that an inscription should be placed in the books recording the work of Miss Parker.

Miss Parker said it had been a great pleasure to her to be of some help to the Council, and if she could help them in any way in the future she would be only too glad (applause).

The committee, consisting of Rev. H. S. T. Richardson, Messrs. J. A. Trollope, H. W. Wilde and J. W. Parker were re-elected, and, at the suggestion of Mr. J. Griffen, Miss Parker was added to the committee.

LITERATURE AND PRESS COMMITTEE.

The Rev. C. E. Matthews reported for the Literature and Press Committee. He said the instructions given them last year were rather vague. He had consulted a Press Cutting Agency with regard to supplying cuttings of the kind, which he thought would be of service to the committee, but the agency declined to undertake it. He thought the Council should make up its mind whether it was going on with the issue of the list of publications. It would not, perhaps, be very saleable amongst ringers, it was more a book for study or for reference.

With regard to the duties of the committee, involving the reply to mis-statements in the Press, several members gave amusing instances of newspaper ignorance of ringing matters, and expressed the view that it would be useless to attempt to correct these discrepancies. Mr. Burton urged that the committee should be continued, and the President said he felt there was a most important work for the committee to do, and he hoped the Council would consent to its re-appointment.

The committee was thereupon re-appointed, Mr. Burton being added in place of Canon Papillon.

REV. A. H. F. BOUGHEY'S RETIREMENT.

EX-PRESIDENT'S THANKS TO THE COUNCIL.

The following letter of thanks from the late President of the Central Council (the Rev. A. H. F. Boughey) has been received by Canon Coleridge:—

My dear Coleridge,—Please accept my thanks for your very kind telegram on Tuesday, and convey them, if you can, to all the members of the Central Council. I was deeply grieved at being unable to attend the meeting at Westminster. I should have liked to express to the Council in person my gratitude for their more than generous appreciation of the little I have been able to do. Pray assure them that I shall still be delighted to do whatever lies in my power for the Council, and for the cause of ringing in general. I am particularly glad that you have been chosen to succeed me as President. I am confident that under your chairmanship the Council will have a prosperous and pleasant time. Believe me to remain, with all good wishes.—Yours most sincerely,
Trinity College, Cambridge,
May 20th, 1921.

A. H. F. BOUGHEY.

While ringers will join with the members of the Council in their regret at the cause which has led to Mr. Boughey's retirement from the office of President, which he filled so successfully, they will unite in congratulating him upon having recently successfully achieved his 200th peal; and this will especially be the case with members of the Cambridge University Guild of Change Ringers, whose President he has been for the past 42 years.

Mr. Boughey is one whose life is occupied with many duties and activities, and, considering the multiplicity of calls upon his time, his record is indeed a remarkable one. It would be difficult to over-estimate the value of the services he has rendered to the Cambridge University Guild, and to the Exercise in general, as those who have met him personally and felt the influence of his energetic and kindly nature will be glad to admit.

It is worthy of record that the method rung in Mr. Boughey's 200th peal was Double Norwich, and that he rang in the first peal in this method ever rung 'in hand' on February 23rd, 1891.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A quarterly meeting of the Bristol Branch was held at Henbury, on Saturday, May 21st. The fine peal of eight bells was rung to Grand-sire and Stedman before the service, at which the Rev. C. P. Way officiated. Tea was served in the Church House, and was followed by the meeting, at which 26 members were present, representing ten towers. Six performing members were elected, and the places selected for the next three monthly meetings were Brislington, Pyham and Olveston, while the next quarterly meeting is to be held in September at Mangotsfield.

Mr. W. A. Cave (Master) gave a very interesting account of the Central Council meeting, and the Gloucester and Bristol Association are very fortunate in having such an able representative.

Votes of thanks were passed to Messrs. Mears and Stainbank for the excellent splices they have made of the memorial bells at Berkeley; also to Mr. B. Guise, general secretary, and Mr. W. A. Cave for the excellent manner in which the scheme had been carried out.

A vote of thanks to the Rev. C. P. Way for the use of the bells and officiating at the service was passed. A touch of Cambridge Surprise was attempted, but came to grief owing to the breaking of the 2nd rope. Some of the party went on to Westbury, where Grandsire and Plain Bob were rung, and this terminated a very pleasant afternoon.

CENTRAL NORTHANTS ASSOCIATION. PRESENTATION TO MR. FRED WILFORD.

The annual meeting of the above association was held at Northampton on Whit-Monday, May 16th.

Service was held in All Saints' Church at noon, the president of the association (the Rev. E. J. Atkins, of Isham) being the preacher. Luncheon was afterwards served at the Peacock Hotel, about 50 sitting down, the attendance being rather poor, owing to the restricted train service.

The President occupied the chair, and was supported by the Rev. E. C. Channer (who was president of the association for many years), the Rev. H. E. Fitzherbert, Thrapston; the Rev. J. C. Hichens, Guilsborough (vice-president); the Rev. J. White, Pitsford; Mr. W. T. Wilson, treasurer; Messrs. W. Perkins, S. J. Lawrence, G. Turner, and W. Batt, district secretaries; and Mr. D. J. Nichols, general sec.

At the business meeting, the President gave a very warm welcome to the Rev. E. C. Channer, and called upon him to make a presentation to Mr. F. Wilford, in recognition of his services as general secretary for many years.

The Rev. E. C. Channer, in the course of a very interesting speech, said it was 30 years since he became a member of the association, and he knew the value of the work Mr. Wilford had done for the association during his 13 years as general secretary. He had very great pleasure in asking Mr. Wilford, on behalf of the members of the association, to accept an upholstered arm-chair.

Mr. Wilford, in acknowledging the gift, said how much he appreciated the kind words Mr. Channer had spoken. He had always tried to do his duty to the association, and the work had always been a real pleasure to him. He thanked the members of the association for the beautiful chair.

The Rev. H. E. Fitzherbert was elected president for the ensuing year, and took the chair. Mr. W. T. Wilson and Mr. D. J. Nichols were re-elected hon. treasurer and hon. secretary respectively.

The Treasurer read the statement of accounts for the past year, which showed a loss on the year's working of £6 3s. 10d.

The General Secretary, in his report, stated that 45 peals had been rung in the following methods: Grandsire Triples, 2; Stedman Triples, 7; Stedman Caters, 1; Bob Major, 3; Bob Royal, 1; Double Norwich Major, 7; Superlative Surprise, 6; Minor in one method, 1; in three methods, 1; in six methods, 1; in seven methods, 6; in eight methods, 2; Doubles, 5. On handbells: Bob Major, 1; Grandsire Triples, 1.

A grant of 23 3s. was voted to the Kettering Bell Fund, from the Belfry Repair Fund, and it was decided to hold the next meeting in Northampton.

The General Secretary moved a resolution that the whole of rule 22, with regard to the booking of peals, be deleted, and the following be inserted: 'That the general secretary keep a copy of the annual report each year (which shall be bound, at the discretion of the committee), to preserve a record of the work of the association, and peals rung.'

The Secretary reported that he had obtained a copy of the annual report for each year since the formation of the association, and these contained a complete record of all the peals rung.—The resolution was carried.

Mr. H. Clarke, of Kingsthorpe, thanked the members of the association, on behalf of his own family and of others who had lost a son in the war, for placing a memorial tablet in All Saints' Church to their memory.

The President moved a vote of thanks to the clergy of Northampton for placing their bells at the disposal of the members. Touches in a variety of methods were brought round during the day by mixed companies at the various churches.

Much sympathy will be felt for Mr. C. W. Bird, a farmer, of Kettering, who, on returning from the meeting, found that during his absence his stackyard had been burnt out.

ON THE WORCESTERSHIRE BORDER.

A small party of Worcestershire ringers made a Whit-Monday excursion to the southern borders of the county, and in the course of their wanderings found what they consider one of the finest peals of six in the county, at Eldersfield, a ring by Abram Rudhall, with a tenor of 21 cwt. There were ringers here, too, in days gone by for two peals boards, containing practically the same names, rang 5040's in 1842, in 2 hrs. 37 mins., and in 1865, in 2 hrs. 8 mins. (sic). Grandsire Doubles and Bob Minor were rung here, as, in the afternoon, they had been rung at Chaceley (another peal by Rudhall with two bells on the first level and four above). In the morning, a 5040 of Minor was rung at Longdon, one of the band having walked 12 miles to take part, and fill a breach caused by one of the selected having been taken ill on the previous day.

LYTCHETT MINSTER.—At the Parish Church, on Monday, May 9th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes), half-muffled in 58 mins.: H. McCallum 1, G. Wills 2, W. Allen (conductor) 3, P. Wills 4, S. Purchase 5, B. Brown 6. Rung as a mark of respect to the late Bishop of Salisbury. First quarter by ringers of treble and tenor.

WORK OF THE COMMITTEES.

The work of the Committees of the Central Council is by no means the least important part of the doings of that body. But for the labours of the Peals Analysis Committee, any serious comparison of the results achieved by the various associations would be out of the question, and much of the interest in the peals would be lost. The task of that Committee is both laborious and continuous, and the Exercise owes the members a deep debt of gratitude. The work of the Peal Collection and Methods Committees involves the exercise of great pains and diligence, although, perhaps, not such constant application as is required from the Analyses Committee. Nevertheless, their task is one of importance, and, when completed, will be of interest and great value to the Exercise. The Collection of Treble Bob Peals has been placed in the Library, and is available for the use of any ringer who desires it. It loses some of its value at present from the fact that the printing of it is necessarily held up on account of cost, but now that this collection is temporarily, at any rate, out of the way, the Council might well consider whether they cannot publish for the benefit of the Exercise the collection of methods which is the product of many years of labour of the Methods Committee.

As far as it has gone, the work is complete, and for several reasons it is a pity that it should not reach the hands of ringers. It would be a big step forward in enabling eight-bell ringers to extend the methods which they can practise; it would, to a large extent, settle all future disputes as to methods, about the authorship of which questions constantly crop up, for all the possible regular plain methods are included, and such a collection, in the hands of an enterprising band, is bound to increase interest in the practice of the art. The question of 'ownership' will in future disappear if we accept the dictum laid down by Mr. Trollope to the Council. He argues that there is no such thing as ownership of a method, or a composition for that matter, and a good many ringers will agree with him, for a method or a peal is simply the result of the application of a mathematical formula which is already in existence. There is no reason why the person who first gives the product of his investigations to the public should not put his name to it, but it is no more his personal property than is the fact that twice two are four. This argument may come as rather a rude shock to some composers, but they will find it difficult to disprove. Turning to the practical question of the publication of the Committee's work, so far as it has gone, the Council might well adopt the suggestion put forward in this column last year, and publish the Collection in parts, thus to some extent easing the strain on their exchequer by reaping a portion of the revenue from one part before embarking on the next. It would enable the Exercise more gradually to absorb the new methods, and would make it easier for the average ringer to acquire the Collection, while the Council would have the satisfaction of turning the Committee's work to good use.

DEVONSHIRE GUILD.

OFFICIAL INSTRUCTORS ABOLISHED.

Considering the extremely attenuated railway service, an excellent attendance of 50 was present at the annual general meeting of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers, at Torquay on Whit-Monday. General regret was expressed at the absence of the President (the Rev. M. Kelly), who found at the last minute, after he had made all his arrangements, that it would be impossible for him to get to London from Torquay in time for the Central Council meeting.

Ringers were present from Exeter, Bampton, Sidmouth, Holbeton, Plymouth, Paignton, Cockington, Dartmouth, Ottery St. Mary, Topsham, Buckfastleigh, Christow, and Buckorell.

During the morning a service was conducted at St. Luke's Church by the Rev. J. W. Metcalfe, and later there was ringing at Babba-combe, St. Marychurch, Upton, Torre, and Cockington, the methods being Stedman and Grandsire.

Mr. E. Shepherd (Exeter) presided at the annual meeting, when the formation of local branches was stated by the general committee to be the outstanding feature of the past year. It was satisfactory to know that peal ringing was reviving, especially in the Exeter district.

Exeter local branch reported that three new hands had affiliated during the year. Inquiries were being received from several intending associate hands, with a view to instruction in change ringing.

Reports from the various districts showed general progress, including the instruction of the smaller bodies in the higher methods of the art.

With one exception, the six branches showed a balance in hand, the total amount being just over £88.

The officials were elected as follows: President, Rev. Maitland Kelly; vice-president and chairman, Rev. H. L. Pigot; hon. treasurer, Mr. T. G. Bartlett (Exeter); hon. secretary, Rev. E. S. Powell (Holbeton); hon. members' representatives, Revs. H. B. Clark, W. E. Cox, H. W. Millett, M. Shaw, and Mr. H. B. Kindersley; representatives on the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers: Rev. M. Kelly, Rev. E. S. Powell, and Mr. A. W. Searle.

The next annual meeting will be held at Ilfracombe.

One important alteration was made in the rules, the official Guild instructors being abolished. In past years these instructors who were sent about by the Guild to hands wishing to learn change ringing have done splendid service for the advancement of the art; but recent developments, and in particular the formation of local branches, have relieved the general committee from the responsibility in most cases of furnishing instructors; and, in fact, a good many capable teachers of change ringing who have been doing excellent service in various parts of the county of Devonshire have been placed in rather an invidious position, beside the official instructors.

In addition to members resident in Devon, there were ringers attending the meeting from Bristol and Swindon. A great deal of the bitter opposition to change ringing has been broken down by the war, the bands of young ringers, who have seen something of the world, naturally being imbued with somewhat higher ambitions than their seniors; but there remains, even to an increased extent the difficulty of inter-communication and the consequent heavy expense of bringing together learners and teachers. This progress at the best must always be a slow business in a county such as Devon, with its widely scattered villages, separated by almost impassable roads and but few railway connections.

THE NEW SUFFOLK ASSOCIATION.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

On Whit-Monday, a meeting of the newly-formed Suffolk County Association was held at Bury St. Edmunds, when 40 visitors attended from Bickleton, Clare, Earl Soham, Horringer, Palgrave, Long Melford, Ixworth, Thornham Magna, Coggeshall, Croydon, Tharston, Kelvedon, Great Horkeley, and Great Yeldham, as well as the local companies of the Cathedral Church of St. James and St. Mary's. The business meeting was held in the Abbot Anselm Institute. The Rev. Canon R. F. Wilson, M.A., Vicar, presided, and accorded a very hearty welcome to the visitors.

The Chairman temporarily accepted the presidency of the association pending the appointment of the new Bishop.—The Archdeacon of Sudbury (the Ven. G. Hodges, M.A.) and the Archdeacon of Suffolk (the Ven. J. G. R. Darling, M.A.) were appointed vice-presidents.—Mr. A. Symonds was elected general secretary and treasurer.

It was agreed that each resident ringer on joining the association should pay an entrance fee of 2s. 6d., and subscribe 2s. annually, due on the 1st of January in each year; non-resident life members, 5s.; hon. members, 5s. entrance, and 2s. 6d. annually. The following companies were elected: St. James's and St. Mary's, Bury St. Edmunds; Lavenham (St. Peter's and St. Gregory's), Sudbury, Great Barton, Ixworth, Horringer, and Little Waldingfield. The committee was elected as follows: A. Moore (Bury St. Edmunds), G. Moore (Clare), E. Ambrose (Long Melford), G. Tatum (Sudbury), E. Jenkins (Earl Soham), H. Foulger (Great Barton), Rev. H. Drake (Ufford), S. H. Symonds (Lavenham). Mr. S. H. Symonds was appointed the Ringing Master of the Association.

Two propositions for the next meeting were Stowmarket and Sudbury on August Bank Holiday, and Sudbury was chosen.

The Chairman was then thanked for presiding, and for placing the Cathedral bells at the disposal of the ringers.

The Vicar of St. Mary's was also thanked for the use of the bells at that church.—The Chairman thanked the meeting for electing him temporary president, and hoped they would soon have a new Bishop to be the President of the new association.

Mr. A. Symonds thanked the ringers for electing him as secretary, and promised to do his best for them in the future.

The Chairman asked everyone present to do his best to get as many hon members of the association as possible.

The Hon. Secretary wishes, through 'The Ringing World,' to thank the Cathedral ringers for their help, and the visitors for their attendance.

POSITION OF THE ELY ASSOCIATION.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In order to define the position of the Ely Association, in relation to the new Suffolk Association, I should like to say that at the annual meeting of the Ely and St. Edmundsbury Association, Mr. Symonds, of Lavenham, announced the decision of the Suffolk ringers to form a separate association.—The Rev. H. B. Woolley expressed his regret at this, but at the same time conveyed the best wishes of the Ely Association for the success of the Suffolk Association. The title of the Ely and St. Edmundsbury Association was altered to 'The Ely Diocesan Association.'—Yours truly,

V. SHORTER, Hon. General Secretary.

EASTERN DIVISION MEETING.

A quarterly meeting of the Eastern Division was held at St. Peter's, Bexhill, on Saturday, May 28th. Members attended from Battle, Bexhill, Christ Church, Blacklands, Christ Church St. Leonard's, Eastbourne (St. Saviour's and St. Mary's), Pevensey. Mr. G. H. Howse, unattached member of Eastbourne, was also present. Good practice was had in Grandsire, Plain Bob, Treble Bob and Stedman, and double-handed ringing upon the handbells during the afternoon and evening. A short service was held in the church, conducted by the Rector (the Rev. H. W. Maycock, M.A.), who gave a very appropriate address.

A most excellent tea was provided by the kindness of the Rector and churchwardens at the Bell Hotel, and was followed by the usual business meeting, the Rector occupying the chair, supported by the churchwarden (Mr. C. P. King).

Westham, where the bells have recently been recast, was elected as an affiliated tower.

It was proposed by Mr. Smith, and seconded by Mr. Howse, that in view of the financial state of the society, and also the increased cost of postage, the notice to towers of meetings by postcard be discontinued. After some discussion, this was put to the meeting and carried.

It was also resolved that in future the only notice of meetings will be that appearing in 'The Ringing World,' and members are asked to note this.

The place for the next quarterly meeting was discussed, Mayfield being proposed by Mr. Pankhurst, and Battle by Mr. Franks.—On being put to the vote, Battle was decided upon.

The Hon. Secretary, Mr. G. W. Stokes, proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector and churchwardens for the use of the bells, and also for the very bountiful tea which had been provided. This was supported by Mr. W. D. Smith, who spoke in felicitous terms of the good effected by such meetings, and the freemasonry that as a rule predominated amongst ringers generally. These meetings, he continued, cemented good fellowship not only among ringers themselves, but was also productive of an excellent understanding between them and the incumbent and churchwardens of the churches concerned.

In acknowledging the vote of thanks, the Rector thanked the company, on behalf of the churchwardens and himself, saying what a pleasure it was to them to welcome the visitors. He expressed the hope that more frequent visits of a similar nature would be made in future.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Among the anniversaries which fall next week are the following: June 5th, 1911, 13,440 Bob Major on handbells, at Pudsey, in 7 hrs. 7 mins.; June 6th, 1892, 16,608 Oxford Treble Bob Major at Debenham, in 10 hrs. 32 mins.; June 8th, 1906, 16,800 Kent Treble Bob, at Mottram, in Longdendale, in 9 hrs. 40 mins.; June 9th, 1850, 5,048 Grandsire Triples, at Christ Church, Philadelphia. This last was the first peal rung on the American Continent. It was conducted by Henry Haley.

Of the amount required for the Oxford Diocesan Guild War Memorial, £76, just over £50 has been subscribed from hon. members, and approximately one-third of the towers in union. It is intended, if all's well, to unveil the memorial tablet in the cloisters of Christ Church Cathedral, Oxford, on the occasion of the annual festival, to be held at Oxford on Saturday, July 23rd. It is earnestly hoped by the Memorial Committee that the memorial will be quite free of debt by that date. Therefore, 'buck up,' ye men of the Oxford Guild who have not yet subscribed.

The ringer of the 8th in the peal of Grandsire Cinques at Shore-ditch, on May 21st, was Harry Sear, not Lea, as printed.

The summer meeting of the Berks and Bucks branch of the Oxford Guild is to be held at Beaconsfield on Saturday, June 25th.

The London County Association hope to attempt a peal of Stedman Cinques at Southwark Cathedral to commemorate the opening of Southwark Bridge on Monday next.

The ringers at Pirbright Parish Church, Surrey, have presented Mr. H. J. Chaffey, of Longcross, with a travelling clock, in recognition of his services as instructor to the band in change ringing.

NEW BELLS AT MANGOTSFIELD.

DEDICATION BY BISHOP CLIFFORD.

The bells at Mangotsfield, Gloucestershire, have been augmented from six to eight, by the recasting of the old peal and the addition of two new trebles. The tower has been strengthened, and the bells hung in a 'Warner' patent steel frame, specially adapted for use in weak bell-towers, by Messrs. John Warner and Sons, of Spitalfields Bell Foundry, whose work has received the highest commendation from those who have heard the new bells. The tenor of the new peal is about 10 cwt., and the whole ring weighs over two tons. The cost of the scheme, including the strengthening of the tower and the restoration of the interior, has been about £1,500, and the Vicar announced at the dedication, which took place on May 14th, that owing to the generosity of a lady whose name was well known in the parish, it was possible to pay the contractors in full that day for the work done. He explained, however, that there was still a sum of £50 owing to the architect, and about £300 was required for work still to be done to the exterior of the tower, spire and parapet, and that the collection would be devoted to that purpose.

There was a crowded congregation at the special service, which included the Lord Mayor of Bristol and the Lady Mayoress, and Mr. Robert Warner, of the Spitalfields Bell Foundry. The church has been skilfully and tastefully decorated, and presented an appearance in keeping with the Whitsuntide Festival. The service, which was fully choral, was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. F. R. H. Crews, and the other clergy present were the Rev. C. C. Griffiths, the Rev. B. M. Bankes, the Rev. T. Rogers, and the Rev. M. E. Thorold (late Master of the Gloucester and Bristol Association). The service commenced with the processional hymn, 'All people that on earth do dwell.' The procession of the choir and clergy which was formed outside the church entered by the west door. The office of dedication preceded that of evensong, the Vicar, as the representative of the church, thankfully acknowledging the receipt of the bells, and formally placing them under the care and guardianship of the churchwardens. Bishop Clifford then read the prayers of dedication. This was followed by the ringing of a short touch, and some idea of the excellent quality and tone of the bells was obtained.—The Vicar, on behalf of the parish, said how grateful they were for the good work done in the tower of the church by the bell foundry and the builders, and asked the representatives of the firms to come to the chancel steps and receive payment, remarking: 'In God's house they have worked, and in God's house they should be paid.' Evensong was then proceeded with. The special psalms were the 138th and the 150th, the first lesson was read by the Lord Mayor of Bristol, and the second lesson by his secretary (Mr. Reed). The hymns sung were 'When morning gilds the skies' and 'Lift the strain of high thanksgiving,' and Bishop Clifford gave an impressive address, based upon Exodus xxxix 25: 'They made bells of pure gold.' After the service, the bells were rung, and there was tea in the schoolroom, followed by a programme of sports for the school children in the new recreation field. A large gathering of ringers was present from all parts, and much enjoyable ringing was indulged in.

The following members of the Gloucester and Bristol Association rang at the dedication service, and took part in the opening touch: Miss Annie Brown, St. Philip's, Bristol; Mr. W. A. Cave (Master of the Association), St. Stephen's, Bristol; Mr. O. Walton, St. James', Bristol; Mr. S. Abrahams, St. Thomas', Bristol; Mr. H. T. Howell, St. George, Bristol; Mr. F. K. Howell, Thornbury; Mr. C. Harnell, Wormley; and Mr. E. Palmer, Mangotsfield.

THE OWNERSHIP OF METHODS.

The Rev. H. Law James, reporting for the Methods Committee, said they were in the same position as last year—they were waiting until there were funds in hand to print. When this was done they could go on, but until then there was nothing more to be done.

Mr. J. A. Trollope, referring to new methods, said there was really no such thing as a new method. They had all been worked out, and nobody had the slightest chance of getting anything that had not been got before. Moreover, there was no such thing as ownership of methods, but if a band wanted to ring a method—it was open to anybody to work out a method independently, although it would not be new—that band was entitled, provided the method had not been previously rung, to call it what they liked, and nobody had a right to challenge it. The only exception to that was, he thought, in the case of the old methods which had been in the standard ringing books. If anybody wished, for instance, to ring a peal of 'New Bob Major,' or which a peal had not been rung, they were not entitled to call it by any other name. There was no such thing as making a new method, and no such thing as ownership of a method.

Mr. T. Faulkner: What about Stedman?

Mr. Trollope said Stedman did not lay claim to the method. He simply gave the result of his investigations—what he had done and what other people had done. The man who composed a song put something into it himself and to some extent; therefore, he was its creator, but the man who composed a peal was not the creator at all, he was simply the discoverer of the result of certain laws.

Mr. Willson asked if the committee were a tribunal to decide what a legitimate method was or what a variation of a method was? He did not see how some of these quack variations called Treble Bob could be Treble Bob when the treble was pulled all over the place. Let them call it James's Mixture if they liked (laughter), but he objected to calling it Treble Bob. 'The Glossary' said Treble Bob was the name given to methods with a peculiar path of the treble. In one variation he saw the other week the treble was in the slow, and he objected to any man, whether he was Tom, Dick, Harry or James (laughter), having the right to distort any method and claim the original name for it.

Mr. Trollope said as far as the word 'legitimate' was concerned they decided to drop that name altogether, but so far as those variations were concerned they were legitimate—legitimate, he meant in the general sense and not the technical—variations of Treble Bob peals. It was a tendency to get back to the original style of the time of Stedman, when, in the first instance, a peal was the method and the composition together. A peal was so many changes, and the idea of a certain exact bob and single, such as we have at present, was a later and arbitrary introduction. Mr. Bankes James had got back towards the original idea, and he did not think they could find any fault with that, as far as the principle of Treble Bob was concerned.

The Rev. H. Law James said he had rung a peal of Major and a peal of Royal in the Granta variation, and, while he had made up his mind he was not going to ring another peal of Treble Bob, because of the row in the middle of the course, he was quite willing to ring as many peals of Granta as he could get the chance of ringing. They had music from beginning to end, and, after all, that was what they had to consider.

The committee, comprising the Rev. H. Law James, Mr. J. A. Trollope and Mr. E. H. Lewis, was re-appointed.

WHAT IS 'WORCESTER TREBLE BOB'?

The adoption of the Peals Analysis Committee's report, which has been published in these columns, was moved by the Rev. E. W. Carpenter, who urged ringers, when sending reports of peals for publication, to be careful of their accuracy, and when errors did appear to correct them at once. With reference to the claim of Mr. W. Page made in 'The Ringing World' to have conducted seven peals, the committee did not wish to deny it, but the committee could find only four peals published with his name as conductor. Mr. Carpenter added that in two or three peals published lately a method had been described as 'Extreme.' None of the committee knew what 'Extreme' meant, and would like to be informed. He always understood 'Extreme' was a call, but apparently there was a method called 'Extreme.' There were a number of methods, continued Mr. Carpenter, that had the same name, as, for instance, Cambridge Treble Bob, Cambridge Delight and Cambridge Surprise. So far as the analysis was concerned they had decided that when a method was mentioned as Cambridge, without any further distinction, they would give it the lowest value in points, as they could not conclude that it was Cambridge Surprise if it was simply called Cambridge. That was another reason why conductors should see that the reports of peals were absolutely correct.

The Rev. H. Law James said several people had rung peals of what they were pleased to call Worcester Treble Bob. He would like to see a plain course of Worcester Treble Bob. He called it simply spliced Oxford and Kent.

The Rev. E. W. Carpenter: You agree with the Analysis Committee, then?

The Rev. H. Law James: I do. A method must have a plain course and the plain course of Worcester is either Oxford or Kent, it can't be both.

The report, which was seconded by the Rev. O. W. O. Jenkyn, was adopted, and on the motion of the President, the committee were accorded a hearty vote of thanks for their work.

METHODS TO BE NAMED.

The Rev. A. T. Beeston asked the Council to give the committee authority to name the methods in the Collection of Regular Methods, which were at present unnamed.

Several members urged the necessity for this being done, and Mr. A. T. King said this would be putting entirely new duties on the committee. One of their present difficulties was that the same method, particularly in Minor ringing, was often rung under several different names. If the committee had to search back into the past and find out what the original names were they would not get through much work in a single year. He thought, therefore, it was only possible for the committee to deal with what were already unnamed. With those that were gone before, what were they to do? There was another point about peals rung in 720's, in which, perhaps, four methods were rung dovetailed together. They might ring a peal in nineteen or twenty methods like this, and it paid, so far as points were concerned; but, while it might be very clever, he did not see why ringing a number of methods spliced together should count for more than a peal rung in the fair and square way.

The Rev. H. Law James said he thought six weeks should be given to anybody to send in the name of any method from the Council's Collection, which they had rung, to the honorary librarian, and at the end of six weeks the members of the Analysis Committee should be at liberty to name those not then named.

Mr. J. A. Trollope said he would second this if the time were made six months instead of six weeks, for, he added, 'you know what ringers are' (laughter).

The Rev. H. Law James agreed to this suggestion, and the Rev. A. T. Beeston suggested that in order to facilitate the matter each association secretary should be asked to bring the matter before his members, for there were many men who were skilful ringers who knew little about the proceedings of the Council.

The motion was carried, and the committee, consisting of the Revs. E. W. Carpenter and A. T. Beeston, and Messrs. A. T. King and G. Williams, was re-appointed.

Mr. T. Faulkner asked what the committee were doing with reference to the peals that were being tapped week by week. Were the committee taking them into account, and were they going into the analysis?

The Rev. E. W. Carpenter: The analysis that we make up is an analysis of the peals rung.

TOWERS AND BELFRIES.

Major J. H. B. Hesse said there was no formal report from the Towers and Belfries Committee, but during the past year he had been asked three times to inspect towers. In one where a tower was split right down a partial restoration took place. At Banstead there was a complete restoration, the bells being recast and rehung. At St. Andrew's, Holborn, as a result of his inspection, a new frame was put in.

The President: A very satisfactory bit of work. The committee (the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, Messrs. E. H. Lewis, J. H. B. Hesse, and E. A. Young) was re-elected.

A letter from the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings was read, and referred to the Towers and Belfries Committee.

A COMMITTEE GOES OUT OF EXISTENCE.

Canon Elsee, a member of the Bells of Belgium Committee, said he thought the time for doing anything effective in the matter of supplying a bell or carillon to Belgium to replace bells lost in the war had gone past. When the committee was appointed they were under some misapprehension as to what had happened to the bells in Belgium. They were then in the middle of the war, and were under the impression that most of the bells in Belgium had been taken away and melted down. Later they had some grounds for thinking the damage done to the bells was very much less than they had expected, and at the last meeting Mr. Lewis informed them that he hoped to be able to get authentic information of what had happened there. He (Canon Elsee) gathered that there had not been anything like the damage done to the bells that they had thought was the case, and there was no special reason for raising a fund to help the Belgians in this way. His suggestion, therefore, was that the committee should be allowed to go out of existence.

The President said he entirely agreed with this, and he did not think the present was a time for appealing to ringers for subscriptions. The course suggested was approved, and the committee was not re-appointed.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.WAR MEMORIAL BELLS DEDICATED.

The annual meeting of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, at Berkeley, Gloucester, on Whit-Monday, was held with a record attendance, and will stand out as the most conspicuous meeting of the association. The association's memorial to fallen ringers, viz., the two additional bells cast and hung by Messrs. Meares and Stainbank, were dedicated at the service, which preceded the business meeting. The service was opened with the hymn, 'Who are these like stars appearing,' after which the clergy, choir and officials proceeded to the tower, where the hon. secretary and hon. treasurer handed to the Very Rev. the Dean of Bristol the ropes of the two new bells, the Master requesting the Dean to dedicate the new bells to the glory of God, and in loving memory of the members who gave their lives in the Great War.

The Dean thereupon dedicated the bells, and following prayers and the hymn, 'O Heavenly Jerusalem,' an address was given by the Dean, the service concluding with the hymn, 'For all the Saints.' At the dedication ceremony, the bells were rung 'whole pull and stand' 30 times by the following: W. A. Cave (Master), treble; Edgar Guse (hon. secretary), 2; F. K. Howell (hon. treasurer), 3; W. Yeend (Cheltenham), 4; H. T. Howell (Bristol), 5; F. Hussell (Wotton), 6; A. W. Seviour (Peal Secretary), 7; A. Buscombe (Wotton), 8; J. Williams (North Forest), 9; E. E. Davis (Gloucester) 10. The local ringers opened the ringing after service.

Dinner having been served at the Berkeley Arms Hotel, the business meeting was held, and the Vicar of Berkeley said how proud Berkeley parishioners were that they should have been chosen as the receivers of the memorial bells.—Mr. Lewis (Cirencester) proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar of Berkeley (the Rev. H. C. Armour) for his kindness to the association, both for accepting memorial, and for his hospitality, which was always shown to ringers.

The Master (Mr. W. A. Cave) referred to the progress made by the association during the past year, to the memorial to the late Rev. H. A. Cockey, and to the satisfactory state of the War Memorial Fund, and concluded with a sympathetic reference to the serious illness of Mr. R. J. Wilkias.—A vote of sympathy was passed with Mr. and Mrs. Wilkias.

The balance sheet was adopted, and Mr. W. Hale, of Painswick, was elected a vice-president. This honour was also later conferred upon the past Master, the Rev. M. E. Thorold and the Rev. T. C. Fowler.—Mr. H. T. Howell (Bristol) was elected Master, and Mr. E. Guise and Mr. F. K. Howell were re-elected hon. secretary and hon. treasurer respectively.

Mr. Geo. Condict, junr., was appointed hon. peal secretary, and Mr. W. A. Cave as Central Council representative.

The fund for the War Memorial was not completely subscribed, but Mr. J. Tyler, after conferring with the secretary as to how much was needed apart from promises outstanding, kindly agreed to remove the deficit by giving the remainder as a further donation. This enabled the meeting to declare the fund closed, and provided a very happy and unexpected completion of the scheme.

It was resolved to issue reports this year, although at an enormously advanced price on pre-war days.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Very Rev. the Dean of Bristol, and all who assisted at the service, and the ringers then proceeded to the tower to test the new bells, of which everyone expressed the opinion that the splice and hanging were alike superb. The party then had tea, from which time onward charabanes and all other types of vehicles gradually reduced the numbers, and a very successful and happy meeting terminated.

DEATH OF AN OLD DARFIELD RINGER.

We regret to record the death of Mr. William Woodcock, of Darfield, near Barnsley, who passed away on May 20th, at the age of 84 years, after a brief illness. The deceased took up ringing at the early age of nine years, and was keenly interested in the art up to the time of his death. He was an accomplished peal ringer and composer, also a very able conductor. He rang in two peals of 5,040 changes as recently as the month of April. The very last method he rang was his latest composition. He was always ready to give a helping hand to young ringers.

An interesting biography of the Woodcock family could be written, for Mr. Wm. Woodcock's father and grandfather were ringers before him, their connection with the art covering a period of upwards of a hundred years.

The interment took place at the Parish Church, Darfield, on May 24th, deceased's fellow ringers acting as bearers. Many ringers attended from towers in the neighbourhood. A plain course of Oxford Treble Bob Minor was rung on handbells at the graveside, after the service. Afterwards a 720 of Violet Treble Bob was rung in the tower, with the bells deeply muffled, conducted by Mr. Woodcock's closest friend, Mr. C. Walsh.

Owing to the Darfield bells being unfit for peal ringing, a peal of 5,040 changes, with the bells half-muffled, was rung at Wath-on-Donne on the following day.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.THE ANNUAL MEETING.

Owing to the lamented death of the Bishop of Salisbury, the arrangements announced for the annual festival of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild at Marlborough had to be cancelled at the last moment. The day appointed for the festival was, in fact, the very day of the Bishop's funeral. It was hurriedly arranged to hold the annual meeting in Salisbury on that date, so that ringers attending would have the opportunity of paying their tribute of respect to one, who during his comparatively short tenure of the See had proved himself the best of friends.

At the burial, the Guild was represented by the Master (Major Hugh D'Aeth), the hon. secretary (Rev. F. Ll. Edwards), and a number of members, and muffled touches were rung on the bells of St. Thomas' Church.

The annual meeting was subsequently held in the Church House. The Master opened the proceedings by referring, in feeling terms, to the sad loss sustained by the Diocese, and paid an eloquent tribute to the saintly character and sympathetic spirit of the late Bishop.—A vote of sincere condolence with the family so sorely bereaved was carried, by all standing in respectful silence.

The officers of the Guild were re-elected, the Dean's name being added to the list of vice-presidents.

It was resolved to draw up a short office for use in belfries, and authority was given to the Master and Secretary to organise a ringing festival in the early autumn, if circumstances should prove favourable.

On the subject of finance being brought up for discussion, it was unanimously decided to increase the subscription for ringing members to 1s. 6d.—A special vote of thanks was passed to the Wimborne Branch for having wiped out an adverse balance in the previous year by a handsome donation to the general fund of the Guild, to which the Rev. C. A. Phillips, hon. secretary of that branch, replied, in a few appropriate words.

After the meeting, touches of Grandsire and Stedman were rung half-muffled on the bells of St. Martin's Church, and muffled bells were rung throughout the whole Diocese in the evening, in many cases also on the Sunday before and at the time of the funeral.

While the Diocese of Salisbury, and indeed the whole Church of England, mourns the loss in Bishop Ridgeway of a truly great and good man, who simply exhausted his physical powers in untiring devotion to the duties of his sacred office, the ringers of the Diocese have special cause to lament his death. To them he was from the first a true and warm-hearted friend. He delighted in the sound of the bells, and entered with enthusiasm into the activities of the Guild. Only last year he shook hands with some 300 ringers after entertaining them all to tea, and exchanged a few friendly words with each one. The Bishop's deeply impressive sermon at the Guild service on that occasion will ever remain a cherished memory in the minds of those who were privileged to hear it.

It was during the last year of the late Bishop's tenure of the historic See of Sarum that the use of the peace bell was restored in many parishes of the Diocese, and the revival of this ancient custom will constitute an enduring memorial of his eventful episcopate.

BARNSELY & DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

The May meeting of this association was held at Cawthorne, a veritable garden village, placed on the verge of a beautiful valley. Houses and the venerable church rise amongst trees which create a beautiful and attractive scene. Members were present from Barnsley, Darfield, Crofton, Sandal, Wath, Hoyland-Swaine, Royston, Felkirk, South Kirby, Darton, and the local company.

A business meeting was held in the tower, at which the Rev. G. V. Cotton kindly occupied the chair. Eleven new members were elected.—Mr. Rayner (Sandal) proposed, and the President (Mr. C. Normington) seconded, a hearty thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and to the local ringers for the preparations made.—The Vicar suitably replied, and assured the meeting, also the local members, that as a young clergyman it was his most earnest wish to be tolerant on all matters concerning the bells and ringers, and on any future occasion that the bells were required he would be pleased to welcome the association.

South Kirby was selected for the next meeting.

DONCASTER & DISTRICT SOCIETY.

A successful meeting of the Doncaster and District Society was held at Adwick-le-Street on Saturday last. There were about 40 members present, representing twelve towers. Touches of Bob Minor, Violet, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Minor, Grandsire, and Stedman Doubles, were rung during the afternoon and evening. Tea, which was served in the Institute, was presided over by the Rev. A. E. B. Wade, Vicar of Bentley, who was present with his ringers. After tea, hearty votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar of Bentley for presiding, to the Rector of Adwick for the use of the bells, and to the local band for providing the tea.—Tukhill was fixed for the next place of meeting.

ROCHESTER CATHEDRAL BELLS.FINE NEW PEAL OF TEN DEDICATED.

As already briefly recorded, Rochester Cathedral bells, recast, increased to ten, and rebung in modern fittings, were dedicated on Saturday before Whitsun. The two new bells are the gift of Ald. and Mrs. Chas. Willis, in memory of their son, Second-Lieut. George White Willis, R.A.F., who was killed in France, Jan. 4th, 1919. The old bells were recast by friends in memory of the late Dean Lane, Archdeacon S. Cheetham, Mr. Bertram Luard-Selby and others associated with the Cathedral, with the exception of the Dean Hole bell, the expense of the recasting of which was borne by the officers and men of U.S.S. Pittsburg in memory of their visit to Chatham last year. The work was carried out by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon, who have made a splendid job of the undertaking. The bells are hung on iron headstocks, with ball bearings, and are tuned on the Simpson principle. The old total weight of the bells has been redistributed so that the recast tenor weighs 30 cwt. 0 qr. 12lb., as against 26½ cwt. before, thus giving a still more sonorous effect to the whole peal. The total weight of the peal is approximately 119 cwt. 2 qr. 16 lb. The note of the tenor is D.

In addition to the trebles mentioned above, the eight recast bells have been provided as follows:—

No. 3, by U.S.S. Pittsburg, in memory of 1920.

No. 4, given by Mrs. Hobson and family in memory of Frederick Wade Hobson, died May 25th, 1913; and Eliza Keyworth Hobson, died Sept. 18th, 1914.

No. 5, as a gift from the Cathedral ringers.

No. 6, given by old choristers and friends in members of Harold Albert Brand and Charles Walter Edwards, Cathedral choristers, who fell in the Great War.

No. 7, given by Mrs. Luard-Selby and members of the family in memory of Bertram Luard-Selby, Cathedral organist and choirmaster, died Dec. 26th, 1918.

No. 8, given by Lord Northbourne and family in memory of Ernald Lane, D.D., Dean, died Jan. 16th, 1913.

No. 9, given by Mrs. Cheetham in memory of Samuel Cheetham, D.D., Archdeacon and Canon, died July 19th, 1908.

No. 10, given by the Dean and Mrs. Storrs and members of the family in memory of Francis Edmund Storrs, R.N.V.R., son of the Dean, died Nov. 10th, 1918 (eve of the Armistice).

The dedication of the bells was attended by a large and representative congregation, including representatives of the families in whose memory the bells have been hung, the civil and naval authorities and clergy from all parts of the diocese, those present including Lord Northbourne, the Countess of Darnley, the Commander-in-Chief at Chatham (Admiral Sir Hugh Evan-Thomas), and Lady Thomas, Commodore G. W. Vivian, a representative of the United States Navy, and the Mayors of Rochester and Gillingham.

The first part of the service took place in the choir. Evensong was followed to the end of the Third Collect with the exception that Psalm 145 was substituted for the ordinary psalms of the day, and then the clergy, choir and congregation proceeded to the nave, the processional hymn being 'We love the place, O God.' The Dean took up a position on the choir steps under the central tower, and Ald. Chas. Willis addressed him in the following terms: 'Mr. Dean, in virtue of your office we request you to dedicate to the glory of God and the use of the Cathedral, this peal of bells now newly hung.'

After a prayer, the Dean dedicated the bells to the glory of God, to the benefit of His Holy Church, and in memory of those whose names are thereupon inscribed.

The bells rang out for a minute, and in the course of the prayers which followed, there was mentioned Geo. White Willis, Fredk. Wade Hobson, Eliza Keyworth Hobson, Harold Alb. Brand, Chas. Walter Edwards, Bertram Luard-Selby, Ernald Lane, Samuel Cheetham and Francis Edmund Storrs.

The hymn, 'Ring forth, Holy Bells,' was sung, and after an interesting address by the Bishop, in the course of which he referred at length to the history of Rochester Cathedral bells, came the hymn, 'Lifted safe within the tower.' The Bishop said the concluding prayers and pronounced the Blessing, after which the National Anthem was sung, and the hymn, 'For all the Saints,' as a recessional.

A WEAK POINT.

The various motions which were discussed by the Central Council resulted very much as we anticipated would be the case. The proposal that the Analysis Committee should be asked to arrange, if possible, that each peal be credited to the association in whose territory it is rung, was made very short work of and dismissed as undesirable and impracticable without a single word being said in its favour. On the other hand, there was complete accord on the next motion, that in every diocese there should be a recognised authority to give advice on matters concerning church bells.

Obviously, it is important that there should be someone in each area competent to give advice to Church authorities who contemplate restorations or augmentations. The difficulty which, we are afraid, may occur in some dioceses is to find a man in whom the authorities will be able to place full confidence. The associations who adopt the Council's suggestion will note that the idea is not the appointment of a committee, but of an individual, for their area, and that individual, if the scheme is not to do more harm than good, must be more than merely an experienced ringer. If the right men are secured—and they are to be found—it will be an admirable thing; but unless the right men can be obtained, it will be better left alone, for they might do more harm than good.

In connection with the passing of this resolution there came to light what, we think, is a curious attitude on the part of the Council. The Council has always been anxious—and rightly, too—not to do anything which will infringe upon the rights of the individual associations. Moreover, it is recognised that they cannot enforce any of their decisions, but why they should hesitate officially to convey their recommendations to the various affiliated bodies is beyond comprehension. It is left to the members of the Council to inform their associations as to what has been done. This has always seemed to us to be a mistaken view. If the Council makes a recommendation, why should it not be sent officially through the Secretary to all affiliated organisations? To leave it to the members to disseminate the information is, in many cases, to render the resolutions abortive, because there is no official or direct machinery to convey the proposals to those associations which are unrepresented at the meeting. This year there were eleven affiliated bodies who had no representative present. Where do they stand under this arrangement? If the Council have confidence in their own decisions, they should officially communicate them to the associations. This has always been a weak point in the constitution of the Council, and will, we hope, be altered.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

THE NEW WESTERN DISTRICT.

The first quarterly meeting of the newly-formed Western District of the Hertford Association was held at King's Langley on May 21st, and proved a successful and a very enjoyable gathering. Members and friends were present from Berkhamsted, Tring, Hemel Hempstead, Whitwell (Isle of Wight), and the local company. A short service was held, at which the Vicar gave an address. After a look round the Vicarage garden, the visitors sat down to tea in the Churchroom, generously provided by the Vicar and churchwarden.

At the business meeting, with the Vicar in the chair, three new members were elected, and Tring was chosen for the next place of meeting, in July.—The Vicar said how pleased he was to welcome the ringers to King's Langley, and hoped now that the district was split up more frequent visits would be made.—Votes of thanks were unanimously passed to the Vicar for providing the tea and presiding, and for his address and the use of the bells; and also to the ladies for so kindly attending to the ringers' wants at the tea-table.

The bells were kept going in various methods during the afternoon and evening.

WEST COUNTRY BELL RESTORATIONS.

On Wednesday, June 1st, the peal of six bells at St. Mary's, Botusfleming (Cornwall) was reopened by the Rural Dean (the Rev. Goss), in the presence of a large congregation, which included ringers from all parts of the West of England. Some excellent ringing was accomplished, and all were highly pleased with the tone and 'go' of the bells, which have been restored by Messrs. Aggett and Sons, of Chagford.

The bells have been rehung in a massive self-supporting iron frame, on steel joists, and modern fittings, including Messrs. Aggett and Sons' patent self-adjusting bearings, and their work has given great satisfaction to the authorities.

Messrs. Aggett hope to commence shortly the restoration of the fine peals at Rockbeare, Poughill, St. Budeaux and Skilgate (near Taunton).

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.THE COLLECTING OF SUBSCRIPTIONS.

The monthly meeting of the Manchester Branch was held at Barlow Moor on Saturday, May 28th. Mr. W. Ryder, of Birch, presided, and 25 members were present, including visitors from Crewe. Worsley was selected for the next meeting, on June 25th.

After discussion, the resolution from the Rossendale Branch was referred to the next meeting.

Mr. W. W. Wolstencroft proposed, and Mr. W. H. Shuker seconded, that the leader of each tower should collect the subscriptions from his own band, and this was agreed to.

The following resolution, proposed by Mr. J. Ridyard, seconded by Mr. W. W. Wolstencroft, that the subscriptions be paid to the branch secretary at the meetings held at the Town Hall or the Cathedral, was also carried.

Votes of thanks to the church authorities and to the local ringers and the chairman closed the meeting. The methods rung during the day were: Grandsire, Plain Bob, Stedman and Treble Bob.

DUDLEY AND DISTRICT GUILD.

The quarterly meeting of the above Guild was held on Saturday, May 28th, at the picturesque village of Kinver, where the quaint old church (with a peal of eight bells recently rehung and augmented from six) is situated on a hill overlooking the village. The following towers were represented: Brierley Hill, Bilston, Coseley, Dudley, Sedgley, Tipton, Kingswinford, Smethwick, Birmingham, Handsworth, Old Hill and Oldbury. Touches in various methods were rung during the afternoon, and service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. Hooper-Slipper), who gave an excellent address. Tea was partaken of at the White Hart Hotel, and upwards of 60 sat down.

At the business meeting which followed, the Vicar presiding, it was decided to attempt the quarterly peal (Bob Major) at Kinver, and Oldswinford was selected for the next meeting.—Mr. R. Small (Tipton) proposed, and Miss Saunders (Smethwick) seconded, a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and to the local ringers for the preparation made.—The Vicar suitably responded. The tower was again visited in the evening.

SALOP ARCHIDIACONAL GUILD.

A most successful meeting was held at Cound on Saturday week, when twenty members enjoyed a delightful cycle run from different parts of Salop to get to the venue. Members were sorry to see that nothing had been done in regard to the belfry since the meeting held at Cound last year. Still, most of the visitors enjoyed the ringing there, and found themselves ready for the splendid tea that was provided for them in the School Room.

A short meeting was afterwards held, at which the Rev. B. S. Lombard presided, when it was decided to hold the next meeting at Edgmond early next month.—Mr. Lilley, in thanking the Vicar, on behalf of members, for his kindness in allowing them to hold the meeting at Cound, said the members were glad to see that he took some interest in the ringing of the bells, and expressed his opinion that something should be done to improve the belfry, as it badly needed attention, and it was a pity to let such a good set of bells lie idle.—The Vicar, in reply, said it was always a tremendous pleasure to him to have the Guild there. Mr. Lilley was always at him about the tower, and he thought that when they had finished off the debt for the heating apparatus and organ, the tower might be attended to. A short touch of Grandsire Caters was rung on handbells: L. Hewitt 1—2, W. Wace 3—4, C. R. Lilley 5—6, W. Saunders 7—8, A. Woodvine 9—10; and the ringing in the tower included 720 Bob Minor: J. E. Lilley 1, R. Pole 2, F. Mole 3, W. Wace 4, C. R. Lilley 5, W. Saunders 6; and a 720 Kent: A. Bayley 1, C. R. Lilley 2, W. Wace 3, L. Hewitt 4, A. Woodvine 5, W. Saunders 6.

FIFTY-SEVEN YEARS A RINGER.

A ringer at St. James' Church, Birch-in-Rusholme, for 57 years, Mr. W. E. Ryder, has just celebrated his 75th birthday by taking part in a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples. It was rung on Saturday on his parish church bells in 47 mins., by: J. Idle 1, W. E. Ryder 2, A. Frost 3, H. Brickill 4, F. Stoneley 5, J. H. Collier 6, R. Davies (conductor) 7, G. Whitelegg 8. It is interesting to note that Mr. Ryder 75 years ago was the first child baptized in the church.

BLOCKING UP OF LOUVRES.

To the Editor.

Would any readers of 'The Ringing World' give me the benefit of their experience as to the blocking up of louvres so as to prevent the sound of the bells in the street below becoming an annoyance, as we have to face this difficulty in reference to All Saints', Hereford? There are louvres in the bottom of the spire, in addition to those in the tower. In this matter expense is a consideration.—Yours, etc.,

Great Brampton.

DEDICATION OF TWO BELLS AT BISPHAM.

A CLAPPER INNOVATION.

The beautiful old-world Parish Church of Bispham, the mother church of Blackpool, was filled with a very large congregation on Wednesday afternoon, May 18th, when the two new memorial bells and the organ, which has just been renovated, were dedicated and 'opened.' About eleven months ago, six bells were dedicated by the Rural Dean of the Fylde, the Rev. John Sinker, Vicar of Lytham. The two trebles which were dedicated on Wednesday now complete the ring to perpetuate the memory of the Bispham men who fell in the great war, and as a thankoffering for the victory won. The tenor (weighing 10 cwt.) is inscribed: 'Thanks be to God which giveth us the victory.' The service, which was impressive and inspiring, was opened with a violin solo by Miss Adair Blackwell, accompanied on the organ by Dr. F. H. Wood, organist of Blackpool Parish Church. The Rector of Bispham (the Rev. Canon G. Leighton, M.A.) dedicated the bells, and as soon as the ceremony, which was conducted in the porch, was over, the countryside was flooded with melody from the steeple above. The ringers were: J. Jackson 1, A. Parkinson 2, B. Bradshaw 3, N. Sharples 4, R. Singleton 5, C. Sharples (conductor) 6, R. Porter 7, W. Singleton 8. An eloquent sermon was preached by the Vicar of Blackpool, the Rev. A. W. R. Little, M.A., from Exodus xviii. 33-35. The service was followed by a short organ recital by Dr. Wood.

An excellent tea was provided free to all ringers, and after tea an excellently struck quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung by John Cooper (Silsden, Yorkshire), 1, Miss Hague 2, E. Geary (Oldham) 3, A. Hague (conductor) 4, H. Woodhouse (Arksey, Doncaster) 5, C. Sharples 6, J. Smith 7, W. Wilde 8.

When the new trebles were being hung the founders (Mears and Stainbank) took out the clappers of the old six, and worked out a new invention the firm has patented. This consists of a small hole made on each side of the clapper just below where it strikes the sound bow of the bell. The hole is filled with a composition of rubber and other materials, and the filling projects slightly outside the ball of the clapper. After the bell is struck by the ball of the clapper, the composition is so gauged that it is able to hold up the clapper off the sound-bow so that the note is held out. The effect of hearing the whole eight bells with this vibration dwelling in the bell chamber is beautiful. Yet with all this music in the belfry the clear tap of each bell in the ringing chamber enables each ringer to pick out his bell, and the striking is not in the least interfered with.

YORKSHIREMEN IN KENT.

On Friday, May 14th, nine members of the Yorkshire Association left their home county for a week-end visit to Kent, under the guidance of the redoubtable 'Tommy Groombridge,' of Chislehurst. The party consisted of Messrs. F. W. Dixon, F. Salmons, P. J. Johnson, G. Naylor, A. C. Fearnley, J. Ambler, J. Broadley, J. Cotterell, and J. Hardcastle. Mr. T. Maude, of Pudsey, who was responsible for arranging the travelling facilities and other details, was as usual in his element with the party, but his task of keeping order was greatly reduced by five of the number taking their wives with them. To the great regret of all, Mr. G. B. Bolland had to abandon the trip at the last moment, owing to a serious attack of blood poisoning. Headquarters at Chislehurst was reached without mishap, and Saturday saw the party at Bromley, where a peal of Treble Bob was successfully brought round on a peal by Jannoway (tenor 19½ cwt.), in three hours 10 minutes. On Sunday, various touches were rung in the morning at Chislehurst, assisted by Mr. J. Austin, of Gloucester, who had joined up meanwhile. The bells at Chislehurst are by Warner (tenor 17 cwt., 1858), but badly need the attention of a bell hanger. St. Luke's, Bromley Common, was visited in the evening, and the peal by Taylor (15 cwt. tenor) was much appreciated in various methods. The party proceeded by motor charabanc on Monday, through some of the most beautiful scenery in Kent. At Great Wrotham, a splendid peal by the Croydon Foundry (tenor 21 cwt.) kept the visitors longer than the time-table allowed. Sevenoaks was reached after a delightful journey, and the fine peal by Mears was much enjoyed. Here the 'committee' got lost, and took another unwary member of the band to join him in his journey in a strange country. Westerham was next reached, and the party received a hearty welcome from the Rector, whose peal of bells by Mears aroused keen enjoyment among the visitors, the tone and 'go' being splendid. Tuesday saw some of the party at their official post at the Central Council meeting, while others began their homeward journey. On Wednesday, several of the party visited the Croydon Foundry, and were greatly impressed by the fine new bells for Crisbrooke, in the Isle of Wight, the wonderful clock factory, and last but not least, the carillon of twenty-five bells played by an expert. The present opportunity is taken of thanking Mr. C. E. Johnston and his sister for kindly entertaining the large party to lunch in a bountiful fashion, train time bringing the outing to an all too early end.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

It is just over thirteen years since the first 10,000 of Surprise was rung by the Lancashire Association. This was rung on May 17th, 1908, at Oswaldtwistle. Owing to the conductor, C. Sharples, only being at liberty on Wednesdays, and the rest of the band being free on Saturday afternoon, the peal was rung on a Sunday. After about 35 minutes' ringing the attempt came to grief, but it was at once decided to try again, and the longest peal of Surprise Minor (10,080 changes) in fourteen methods was rung in five hours forty-two minutes.

Ringers should note that the annual meeting of the North Bucks Branch of the Oxford Guild is to be held at Saenley to-morrow. By an error the name of the place did not appear in the ordinary notice on the two first occasions.

The annual festival of the Hereford Guild has had to be postponed on account of the further curtailment of the train service.

Seventy years ago next, Wednesday—on June 15th, 1851, to be precise, the first recorded peal of Stedman 'in hand' was rung at the Osborn Arms, Henage Street, London. This was a peal of Stedman Caters, and the last survivor of that band was Matt. Wood, who died in 1912, at the advanced age of 85 years. Although to-day peals of Stedman 'double-handed' have been made a common performance, the peal in that far-off year was a great achievement, and we can imagine the patience and perseverance with which those men must have adhered to their task. The peal was rung by: John Cox 1—2, George Ferris 3—4, William Cooter 5—6, Matt. Wood 7—8, James Dwight 9—10.

The 12th of June is the anniversary of what was believed to be the first peal of Grandsire Maximus out of London. This was rung at Birmingham in 1815.

Would any reader of 'The Ringing World' who may have a proper form of service for dedication and opening of a peal of bells kindly forward a copy to C. Edwards, Great Brampton, Madley, Herefordshire?

How welcome are ringers at some churches! There is no proper change ringing done at Somerleyton in Suffolk, but a peal was rung there the other day by a band of visitors, and when they came out of the belfry they found the following kindly note left at the belfry door for them:—

'From the Rev. Clement Willoughby Bean, Rector of Somerleyton. To the Foreman of the Bell Ringers now in the belfry of Somerleyton Church.—I wish to express the great pleasure you are giving me with your bell music, and to say how glad we shall be to welcome you here again. I would much like to speak to you and your company, but am afraid I might disturb you if I entered the belfry. My best wishes and thanks, C. W. Bean.'

J. R. Gammon, a pupil of the Master of the London County Association, has accomplished a distinguished performance by ringing a peal of Stedman Cinques on handbells to celebrate his fourteenth birthday. This, we think, must be a record.

We mentioned a fortnight ago two ringers who had each rung more than a hundred peals on the same peal of bells. Mr. E. Barnett, senr., has rung 114 peals on the bells of his own parish church at Crayford, and 122 on the bells of St. John the Baptist's Church, Erith.

A correspondent writes with regard to our recent reference to the SS. 'Cambria,' upon which the only peal on the sea was rung, that Mr. E. Mullins, of Birmingham, crossed on this boat from Dieppe to England on her last voyage before she was mined in the English Channel, on September 25th, 1915—probably the only member of the Exercise on board.

A fine new ring of eight bells has been placed in the Parish Church of Basford, Notts, in memory of the men who fell in the war. The peal was cast by Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, and the tenor is 15 cwt. in F. The bells were dedicated last Saturday.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

BREAKING NEW GROUND.

On Wednesday evening, the glorious first of June, a few members of the Salisbury Guild paid Buckland Newton a visit, with the idea of giving a helping hand to the local ringers, and also tapping a fresh district. Buckland is in the Dorchester branch, and is nine miles from the nearest railway station. It possesses a fine peal of six bells, with a tenor of 17 cwt. in E. The bells were raised in peal, and 720 Grandsire Doubles (the first on the bells) was rung by: J. T. Godwin 1, Major Hughes D'Aeth 2, W. J. Simons 3, C. H. Jennings 4, G. T. White (conductor) 5, J. W. Benger 6. This was followed by Stedman Doubles and Bob Minor. Most of the local band were piloted through their first 120, while others had their first touch of Stedman and Bob Minor. The ringers were afterwards kindly entertained to light refreshments at the Vicarage by the Rev. F. S. Field, Mrs. and Miss Field. Good work was done, and it is hoped other towers will be visited during the summer.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

THE RECORDS COMMITTEE.

The Rev. A. T. Beeston moved the adoption of the report of the Records Committee, which has already appeared in 'The Ringing World.' He said the committee had found great difficulty in obtaining information about first peals and longest lengths. As was pretty well known, a good deal of information was to be found in the British Museum. It happened, however, that each member of the committee lived a great distance from the British Museum, and it was impossible to use that information. One suggestion which the committee made was, therefore, that there should be an addition to the committee of a member living in the neighbourhood of the British Museum who could carry on the work there. When the committee was appointed they made an appeal through 'The Ringing World' for claims to the first peals in different methods and the longest performances to be sent in as soon as possible, but they received very little help from that appeal. The committee felt that if they had the authority of the Council to write in its name to the different associations asking them to authorise their secretaries to supply them with information on different points they might submit to them, it would be a great advantage. The committee did not feel that they had explored all the sources of information, and they would like the loan of 'Campanology' and of 'Church Bells' in which peals and ringing performances appeared between the years 1870 and 1880. (Offers of the loan of 'Campanology' by various members and of the ringing section of 'Church Bells' by the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, who at one time edited this portion of that journal, were at once made.) Continuing, Mr. Beeston said the committee did not know how to tackle the Minor Methods. What, for instance, was to constitute a 'first peal'? Was it to consist of six methods which had been rung long before and one which had never been included in a peal previously? Or, were they to find out what was the first peal in, say, seven plain methods, or in any higher number of methods, and likewise with the Treble Bob, 3rd and 4th's place Delights, and the Surprise methods? The committee would like the opinion of the Council on this matter. Continuing, Mr. Beeston wished to thank those who had loaned the committee copies of the ringing papers, and particularly Mr. James George, 'of England' (laughter), for his early volumes of 'Bell News' (applause), and Mr. Lucas, who generously gave them 20 vols. of 'Bell News' (applause). If it had not been for this generous gift the committee would not have been able to present to the Council the particulars now before them.

The Rev. H. Law James said the committee, in their report, raised the question of giving the figures of the peals of record length, and he personally did not think it was worth while going on collecting the records unless they could put the figures down alongside them, and he thought the Council should give them power to do so. He also emphasised the need of having a member of the committee in London who could do the work in the British Museum.

Mr. J. A. Trollope and Mr. R. A. Daniell were proposed as members to help the committee in their task, and, in expressing their willingness to do all they could to assist, decided not to become members of the committee. Mr. Daniell added that he did not think they would find many of the figures in the British Museum.

Mr. C. T. Coles moved that the committee should include in their record only those peals of Minor which were rung wholly in new methods. If they dealt with peals comprising only one new method they would never get to the end of their task, especially in view of the difficulties that had been pointed out in connection with the naming of methods.

Mr. W. Pye seconded.

Mr. Beams (a member of the committee) thought it would be sufficient if the committee devoted themselves to the records of the first peals of Minor rung in plain, Treble Bob and Surprise methods, and the lengths above 5,000. He did think that would be valuable, but he did not think they could dig any deeper into the subject.

Mr. W. A. Cave thought it would simplify matters if the committee began their records with peals on seven bells, and left out Minor altogether. He did not want six bell ringers to think they were looked down upon, but there must be a repetition of changes in peals of Minor, and if they were going to start with Minor in this record they should record the first 720, and not the first 5,040, comprising seven 720's.

Mr. T. H. Taffender seconded Mr. Cave's suggestion, which was put in the form of an amendment, but Mr. Coles withdrew his proposal. Mr. Beams suggested that the words 'for the time being' should be introduced into the motion with regard to the omission of Minor methods, and this, meeting with approval, Mr. Cave's proposal, thus amended, was carried.

The result will be that the committee will proceed with the collection of records relating to peals on seven bells, and upwards, and the records of peals of Minor will not be dealt with for the present.

The committee was given the necessary authority to approach the various associations for information in the name of the Council, and it was also resolved that, where possible, the figures of a lead of the method and of the peal should be included in the record.

Mr. Beeston handed in a bulky schedule of the records as far as they are at present compiled.

The committee's report was adopted, and the committee re-appointed.

A MOTION WITHOUT A SUPPORTER.

Having thus disposed of the reports of committees the Council turned attention to the motions on the agenda, the first of which was, 'That the Analysis Committee be asked to arrange, if possible, that each peal be credited to the Association in whose territory it is rung.'

The President said the member who was going to bring forward the motion had sent a telegram to say that he could not be there, and he (the President), therefore, proposed to pass on to the next business.

The Rev. C. D. P. Davies thought it would hardly be fair to treat the motion in that way, and as the Council might like to debate the motion, he would move it pro forma. He did not say he agreed with it; in fact, he thought he should vote against it (laughter).

Mr. T. H. Beams asked if the Council might know the name of the member who had given notice of the motion.

The President: The Rev. H. Drake.

Mr. J. A. Trollope: I will second the motion, but I shall vote against it (laughter).

The Rev. E. W. Carpenter (a member of the Analysis Committee): May I point out that the resolution says, 'if possible.' Well, it is not possible!

The resolution on being put did not find a single supporter, and was consequently declared lost.

EXPERT ADVISERS.

The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn moved: 'That in every Diocese there should be a recognised authority to give advice on matters concerning church bells, and that it is hoped that each Guild and Association will take steps to provide such authority.' He said that in his position as librarian, he received much interesting correspondence. For instance, he heard from one person who said he was appointed ringer at his parish church, where there was a new peal of tubular bells, and he applied to him (the librarian) because he understood he could supply him with a collection of peals to be rung thereon (laughter). People also wrote to him on the question of work to be done in their towers and to their bells, and wanted advice upon the subject. That advice was very difficult to give unless one paid a personal visit, and many of those who applied to him were at a very long distance, and out of his diocese altogether. If it were in his diocese they had a whole programme arranged beforehand as to what was to be done. He believed that their bell hangers were, for the most part, people who welcomed anyone who could come in and really knew something about it, who could say to a vicar or churchwardens that 'this man is not trying to swindle you when he talked about the whole box of tricks being cleared out of the tower.' But there were Guilds in whose territory there was no recognised method of dealing with applications of this kind for assistance. He felt that there was something wrong in this, and that it was because the authorities in these other dioceses did not know to whom to apply for advice outside the purely professional man. He thought it was the business of every Guild and Association to be able to inform the authorities, in need of advice, who to apply to. He did not wish to suggest any names at all, but merely to move the resolution.

The Rev. Maitland Kelly seconded. In the Devonshire Guild, he said, they had appointed someone to give advice when it was sought.

Mr. Story suggested it would be a good thing if all associations could get mention in the Diocesan Calendars, so that the attention of clergy might be drawn to the people who knew something about bells and bellfries.

Several members mentioned that in the case of their own associations this was already done, but Mr. P. J. Johnson said that what was wanted was an advisory committee set up in each of the associations, who could give expert advice in connection with bells and bell restorations.

The President said he had had some experience of advisory committees, and his experience was that in many cases they were an unmitigated nuisance (laughter). He thought they ought to steer clear of advisory committees altogether in this matter. He believed the intention of the mover of the resolution was that there should be an expert to whom those who desired advice could go. He did not think they would be right in sending any instruction to associations or guilds that they should appoint such men. The Council had always been very careful not to interfere with the working of local bodies. They could pass that resolution, and it would then be the duty of the representatives to bring the matter to the attention of their guilds. The Council should not send a resolution from that meeting.

The resolution was then put and carried.

A DEFENCE COMMITTEE.

Mr. W. Willson had given notice that he would call attention to the need for a Ringing Defence Committee, and move a resolution. He said for a long time past he had wondered why that Council, while worrying itself with abstruse questions not always to the benefit of the Exercise, had neglected one primary thing, and that was 'self-defence.' He claimed that the first plank in the platform of any organisation should be self-defence, otherwise any structure they might build up could be undermined by hostile public opinion. The active minority could always defeat the passive majority—they saw it in the political and the industrial world—and public opinion could undermine change ringing fatally if it were not carefully guarded. In the past it had been left to individuals to reply to attacks in the Press, but if a committee of that Council were formed with authority to answer hostile attacks, whether from within the Church or from without, it would be a far better policy than leaving the matter to local men. Any communication would have far greater weight if it had the name of the Council behind it. He moved that a Committee for Ringing Defence be formed of five persons, or more as may be expedient, whose duty it shall be to watch the interests of ringing companies and to reply to any attack in the Press or otherwise when required to do so. He suggested that the committee should be appointed of one member each from the North, South, East, West and Midlands, and in that way they would have a representative in easy touch with the associations in the different areas. He was not out to defend the class of company that rang on three or four nights a week and three or four times on Sundays, for they must admit that the public had some rights, but unfortunately when such companies came down they might bring others with them who were not guilty. The appointment of such a body as he suggested would enable a distinction to be made between the just and the unjust, and the Exercise would consider that the Council was giving it a backing that it had not had before.

The Rev. F. Ll. Edwards, in seconding, said the suggestion was a very practical one, and was one of the best things the Council could undertake.

Alderman Pritchett asked if it were worth while to appoint such a committee. It seemed rather like getting a sledge hammer to crack a nut. Alderman Pritchett referred to a recent correspondence which had appeared in local papers with regard to King's Norton bells which had shown that there were more letters in favour of the bells than there were against them. In the present state of the law church bells could not be suppressed except by Act of Parliament, and unless the Church authorities combined to keep ringers out of the belfry altogether. No action would lie in English law against bells being rung so long as the amount of the ringing was reasonable. There were crotchety people everywhere, and some who had a special hostility to the Church who occasionally wrote to the papers complaining, but he thought the best plan was for the Vicar or someone else to answer these complaints. It seemed to him that the duties of such a committee as was suggested would be altogether too vague, and he ventured to hope that the resolution would not be carried.

Mr. Cave said he was going to vote against the resolution, and supported the view that it was best to reply to local attacks locally.

Mr. George said the resolution seemed to him to overlap the work of the Literature and Press Committee. In connection with the King's Norton complaint, practically no notice was taken of it until at last the Vicar replied in a very nice letter, and settled the whole thing. He thought that was the best course to take. The less notice they took of complaints the better, and he thought the matter might be left to the Literature and Press Committee.

The Rev. C. E. Matthews said, on behalf of the Literature and Press Committee, they would be glad to do all they could to help.

Mr. Willson said if they ignored attacks judgment would go against them by default, and no one knew that better than Alderman Pritchett. It was a poor general who ignored the enemy until he was surrounded. He was prepared to accept the Literature and Press Committee as the committee for this purpose, and would incorporate it in his motion if that committee were willing to take it on. It was time the Council did something.

The Rev. F. Ll. Edwards said the question of answering attacks in the Press was the least important work the committee would have to do. By far the greatest danger arose out of two things, first and foremost the great ease with which the most absurd restrictions on liberty of the subject could become law, when a Bill was brought in by some crank. They might find, for instance, a clause prohibiting the ringing of church bells tacked on to the end of a Bill for the suppression of street noises. It was a common experience in these days, when Acts of Parliament were passed so hurriedly and without mature consideration, and were voted upon to the crack of the party whip, the judges discovered afterwards that things are implied in the language of the Act which no single persons who had to do with framing it ever suspected. That was one danger. Another was, and he spoke in all humility as a member of the class affected, that occasionally there was injudicious interference with the lawful practice of ringing on the part of Church authorities. In a case where an incumbent was appointed to a church who had no ear for music and no knowledge of bells, and to whom bells had no meaning, a single troublesome parishioner might succeed in silencing the bells during the whole incumbency. It was in cases such as this that the committee should be prepared to act.

The resolution, on being put to the meeting, was carried by 28 votes to 27.

On the motion of Mr. Willson, seconded by Mr. George, the Literature and Press Committee were appointed to act in the matter, and by another motion, Mr. Willson and the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards were added to the committee to bring the number up to five members, as provided by the original resolution.

WESTHAM BELLS.

RECAST PEAL DEDICATED.

Sussex ringers from Eastbourne, Brighton, Hastings, and other centres, attended the dedication of the recast ring of six bells at St. Mary's Church, Westham, on Saturday, May 14th. The bells were originally a ring of six with the tenor 8½ cwt. Four of them were badly cracked, and were held together by means of iron straps. All have been recast by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon, into a new ring of six with the tenor 10½ cwt. in G, with all new fittings added, and are hung in a new steel frame, and provided with new rope guides.

A special form of service was used at the dedication, which was conducted by the Venerable Archdeacon A. W. Upcott, Archdeacon of Hastings, assisted by the Rev. C. F. Lucas, the Vicar of Westham. Immediately after the dedication a few rounds were rung on the bells by local men, who are just learning to ring, under the direction of Mr. Penfold, of Pevensey, and subsequently a touch of Bob Minor was rung by the following: A. Gower 1, J. Sharp 2, A. C. Pankhurst 3, G. A. Howse 4, G. Penfold 5, B. Hobbs 6. Various touches were afterwards rung of Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, and other methods.

The churchwardens very generously provided a tea at the Railway Hotel for all ringers present, numbering about 30, and a vote of thanks and of congratulation to them and to the founders was passed, and duly responded to by Mr. Roods, one of the churchwardens, and by Mr. C. Dean on behalf of the bell founders.

On each of the bells is the inscription: 'Cast 1789. Recast by Gillett and Johnston, Croydon, 1921.' In addition the tenor bears the following names of local ringers who lost their lives in the war: George Burgess, Harry Burgess, Albert Hazelden, William Holden, Robert Marchant.

WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

THE MEMORIAL BELLS AT THE CATHEDRAL.

On Saturday last, a combined practice was held at St. Mary's Church, Bishopstoke, Eastleigh. By the kindness of the Rector (the Rev. S. W. Sedgwick), the bells were available during the afternoon and evening, and the methods rung were: Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob, Treble Bob, Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise Major. The Rector presided over the tea, and was supported by the Rev. W. E. Colchester (hon. treasurer of the Guild), Mr. G. Williams (Master), Mr. W. Andrews, Mr. E. J. Harding (Portsmouth district secretary), and members from North Stoneham, Southampton, Winchester, Twyford, Portsea, Curdridge, and the local band. — Mr. Andrews moved a vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells and for being present at tea, and the Rev. W. E. Colchester seconded.—The Rector, in responding, gave the Guild a hearty welcome, and said he would do his best to get the defects of the peal rectified.—Mr. Williams moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Ayliffe and Miss Ayliffe for the tea, and Mr. E. J. Harding, in seconding, included thanks to the district secretary for the arrangements made.

A sum of £50 is needed towards the two trebles for Winchester Cathedral, and it is hoped that towers which have not subscribed will do so as soon as possible.

GUILDFORD DISTRICT.

A meeting of the Guildford District was held at Shere on Saturday week, and was attended by members from Clandon, Cranleigh, Cobham, Dorking, Dunsfold, Mew, and Guildford. Service was held in the Parish Church, the Rector (the Rev. Sir Paget Bowman) officiating. Tea took place at the White Horse Hotel, about 40 sitting down. In the absence of the Rector, who apologised for not attending, Mr. J. J. Jones (late hon. secretary) presided. At the business meeting which followed, several new members were elected. The bells at Shere were rung in the afternoon and evening; also the bells at Albury, by the kind permission of the Rector (the Rev. F. M. Skene).

A Page for Sunday Service Ringers.

In giving the calling of a large number of touches, as we are doing on this page, it is almost inevitable that sometimes the same figures will appear twice over different names. Such a case has recently happened over a 1,260 Double Norwich Major. It was given first over the name of Mr. J. George, and afterwards over that of Mr. J. Hunt. Conductors should also note that the touch of Grandsire Triples by Mr. George, given last week, is false.

KEEN RINGERS SHOULD BE KEEN CHURCHMEN.

BY THE VICE-PRESIDENT OF THE WINCHESTER GUILD.

The last half-century has witnessed a most wonderful revival not only in change ringing, but in the status of the bell ringer. He is now regarded, and rightly regarded, as a church official—of equal importance with the choirman. Our belfries throughout the country should be considered as sacred as the vestry, both being parts of the consecrated edifice. It is a matter of regret—often alluded to by ringers—that the majority of the parochial clergy who have the legal custody of peals seldom enter the belfries. I cannot help feeling that they would be welcomed there, as they are in the vestry or at choir practice. If every Assistant Curate on entering his sphere of work would learn to handle a rope, and gradually make himself an efficient ringer, we should eventually possess many clergy who would understand the duties, difficulties, and the position of ringers. Much has been said from time to time concerning ringers who call people to worship, and yet who seldom worship themselves. To-day there are many, who though keen ringers in advanced methods, can hardly be called keen churchmen, for some worship only occasionally. To such as these, I would say, with all respect, 'What would become of "the noble art," if peals of bells were not rung in churches for the glory of God, not merely to provide the means for indulging in an interesting pastime?'

EX-SERVICE MEN'S PEAL.

Two ceremonies of considerable parochial and general interest were performed at Stoke Parish Church, Coventry, on Saturday, June 4th. The memorial erected in memory of Stoke men who fell in the great war was unveiled and dedicated, and the new Holy Table, oak panelling and appointments of the Sanctuary were dedicated to the memory of the late Mr. Walter Perkins, and were the gifts of his wife. A new Sanctuary carpet, presented by Miss Anslow and Mrs. H. Maddox in memory of their father, Mr. J. Anslow, was also dedicated. The war memorial consists of a porch at the entrance to the church made of oak, with a stone base and a slate tablet, on which is inscribed the names of the fallen, and the following words: 'To the memory of Stoke men who died in the Great War, 1914-19.' The unveiling ceremony was performed by Col. W. F. Wyley, D.L., J.P., and dedication by the Lord Bishop of Coventry.

Immediately after the service, the ex-Service men who had been invited to ring on this occasion rang a well-struck peal, with the bells half-muffled. Prior to the start the Bishop visited the belfry, and addressed a few kind words to the ringers, and wished them success. He said he would listen to the sweet-toned bells with pleasure as he journeyed homeward.

A DEFENCE COMMITTEE.

Although carried only by a majority of one vote, the decision of the Central Council to form a Ringing Defence Committee was, we believe, a right one. In the course of the debate the discussion rather ran off to a minor issue—that of replying to newspaper attacks upon bells—and it was only by the timely intervention of the Hon. Sec. of the Salisbury Guild that the meeting was brought back to the questions that really mattered most. To set up a central committee to reply to the sporadic attacks which appear in local newspapers in various parts of the country would have been an almost futile action, for these attacks, which may or may not have any reasonable foundation, can usually best be replied to by the incumbent of the church in question, because knowledge of the special facts are essential to an effective answer.

The important point in this matter is to have ready for action a small committee authorised to deal with any wider and general menace to ringing and ringers which might arise from Parliamentary or official civic action. Such menace might come upon us unawares at any time, and while Alderman Pritchett's legal opinion was reassuring when he said that bells could not be suppressed except by Act of Parliament, it is just the risk, as the Rev. L. Edwards pointed out, that something might slip into an Act which could be construed into a limitation of the use of bells, that presents the danger which ringers as an organised body ought to be prepared at any moment to combat.

Whether the Literature and Press Committee of the Council, which in the past has been more conspicuous for what it has not done than for what it has accomplished, was the best Committee to which the duties involved could be delegated is a matter for question. Perhaps the proposer and seconder of the resolution, who have been added to the committee, may instil more life into the committee, but we would urge that they should not sit down and wait until an attack is sprung upon them. They should prepare some kind of machinery for obtaining early information of probable attacks, and dealing with them when they do arise. It is for the Committee to decide how best this can be done, but we would suggest that one of the first steps they should take is to find some Member of Parliament who would keep a wary eye for any proposals affecting bells which might be introduced into the Legislature, just as, we feel sure, they may depend upon Canon Baker to watch ringers' interests in the National Assembly. There are one or two Associations which have Members of the Commons or of the Upper House actively interested in their ringing affairs, and the services of these could doubtless be enlisted. Then, too, we would suggest that the Committee might put themselves in possession of the strictly legal position in which ringers and bell ringing stand in relation both to the public and the Church. Such information, ready collated, would be valuable in an emergency, and might be extremely useful to pass on to incumbents who have to deal with local hostility. In any case, it would be well if the Exercise had a central authority which could supply definite knowledge on a very complicated subject whenever there was need for it. Other directions in which the Committee may begin at once to do useful work will doubtless suggest themselves to the members, but we put forward these ideas in order that ringers generally may realise that the newly appointed body need not necessarily be a 'wait and see' Committee.

THE FREEMASONS' PEAL.
CEREMONY AT ST. CLEMENT DANES.

Many ringers, including members of the Central Council, attended the service at St. Clement Danes Church in the evening after the Council meeting on Whitsun Tuesday, when the handsome marble tablet recording the first Freemasons' peal, was unveiled and dedicated. The Rector (the Rev. W. Pennington Bickford) had arranged a most beautiful musical service, and the church presented a festive appearance with the Whitsuntide decorations still in place. The Rector conducted the service, and the lesson, which was Longfellow's familiar symbol of the bell in 'The Golden Legend,' was read by Canon Coleridge.

During the singing of a hymn, the clergy and choir, accompanied the Bishop of Willesden and Alderman J. S. Pritchett, Presiding Ringing Master of St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham (one of the leading Masons of the country), to the tower, where the tablet has been erected on the staircase leading to the gallery.

Alderman Pritchett unveiled the tablet, and the dedication was performed by the Bishop, who afterwards preached an impressive sermon. The memorable service closed with the bell hymn (written by Mrs. Bickford, and set to music by the Rector), sung by the congregation kneeling.

The handsome tablet which has been given by Bro. G. R. Fardon, the composer and conductor of the peal, has the masonic emblem of compasses and square at the top, surmounting the motto 'Nisi Dominus frustra.' It records the peal of 5003 Grandsire Caters rung on Thursday, December 4th, 1919, by the Ancient Society of College Youths and the Ancient Free and Accepted Masons of England, 'as a peace peal to celebrate the conclusion of the Great War.' It was the first peal ever rung by Freemasons, and the names, with the rank and lodge of each ringer (which appeared in 'The Ringing World' at the time), are set out, the name of the Rector, who is Chaplain of St. Clement Danes Lodge, being also added.

NAMED.

At St. Thomas' Parish Church, Narbury, Cheshire, 720 of the 4th's Place Delight method (No. 5), published on page 14 of the Central Council Collection, was rung by: J. A. Milner 1, J. P. Fidler 2, Rev. A. T. Beeston (conductor) 3, F. Holt 4, J. Fernley 5, J. W. Hartley 6. This was the first 720 rung in the method, and is to be called 'Abbeyville.'

A LINCOLNSHIRE TRIP.

Pleasant recollections will remain with all those who, on Whit-Monday took part in the outing organised by the Gainsborough Parish Church Ringers' Guild. The party, which numbered 27 (including the ringers, with their wives, families and friends, also the Rev. E. V. Clapton, one of the assistant clergy, and Mr. Farndon, school-master), travelled by motor charabanc, and first made for Nettleham, via Harpswell Hill. After a most enjoyable run of about 95 minutes, during which time Fillingham Castle, Scampton and Carlton Aerodromes, Riseholme Palace, and other places of interest were observed, the party reached their destination, where the ringers had several touches on the bells, while others strolled round the village, and inspected the interesting church and institute, or had a chat with the Vicar (the Rev. S. Stamp), who was formerly one of the assistant clergy at Holy Trinity Church, Gainsborough. Leaving next for Scothorne a halt was made for lunch by the wayside. On arrival at Scothorne the party were welcomed by the Vicar's son, who, by the way, is himself a ringer and had a pull with the visitors. The church is a very nice building, and those who visited the vestry had the opportunity of inspecting some magnificent copes and vestments. Dunholme was the next place on the list, and the bells had not long been going before the Vicar (the Rev. S. Wild) put in his appearance. He gave the visitors a hearty welcome, and took part in a six-score of Doubles. The church is very pretty, and, amongst other things, contains some exceedingly fine carving, especially an oak screen at the west end, which is entirely the work of the Vicar. The fourth and last place of call on the programme was Welton. Here the Vicar (the Rev. A. Hunt) was waiting to welcome the party at the Vicarage, and announced that tea was ready. The visitors feel that they owe a very deep debt of gratitude to the Rev. and Mrs. Hunt for their kindness, and also to the captain of the Welton ringers for the excellent manner in which the necessary arrangements had been made. After tea, the Vicar took a portion of the party to places of interest in the Vicarage grounds, one being a spring of water, which, according to an old custom, had been dressed and decorated on Ascension Day. Subsequently he gave a most interesting and instructive address on the history of Welton, from the early days down to the present time. He also conducted them round the church, and they were able to inspect one of the prettiest and most interesting edifices in the county. The objects of interest are too many to be enumerated here, but one may mention the very fine window recently dedicated by the Lord Bishop of Lincoln in honour of the officers and men of the Royal Air Force who fell in the great war. Touches were rung on the bells, and the party then wended their way back to the Vicarage to commence their homeward journey, when to their very pleasant surprise they found an ample supply of refreshments and coffee awaiting them. Three hearty cheers were given for the Vicar as the party set off for Gainsborough, via Till Bridge Lane, Sturton, Stow and Willingham. The weather was everything that could be desired, and the outing a real success. Each of the four towers contains an excellent and well-going ring of six bells, and included in the day's ringing, which consisted of the standard methods, were the following: At Nettleham, 720 Bob Minor, in 25 mins.: C. H. Baker 1, J. T. Bartram 2, P. Noble 3, H. Morgan 4, J. T. Ladd (conductor) 5, W. Cooper 6. At Dunholme, 720 Kent Treble Bob Minor: F. S. W. Butler (conductor) 1, J. T. Bartram 2, H. Morgan 3, C. H. Baker 4, J. T. Ladd 5, W. Cooper 6, J. Dixon 7, A. Hewitt 8. Members of the local companies also took part in various touches with the visitors. The best thanks are due to the incumbents for the use of the bells; the Rev. and Mrs. Hunt and the captain of the Welton ringers for their very kind reception and generosity; also to all those who helped towards making the outing so pleasant and enjoyable.

A SILVER WEDDING.

A pleasing little ceremony took place at St. Martin's Coffee Room, Dorking, on the evening of Thursday, May 26th, on the occasion of the silver wedding of Mr. and Mrs. William Lynch, of Pixham, Dorking. Mr. Lynch is one of the oldest members of Dorking St. Martin's Guild of Ringers, and is deservedly held in great esteem by his fellow ringers for his unfailing amiability and readiness to help, as well as for his punctuality and regularity at practice. He is quite an indispensable member of the band. Mr. and Mrs. Lynch were entertained to tea by the Dorking ringers, and Mr. Lynch was presented with a handsome pipe and tobacco pouch, and Mrs. Lynch with a pair of silver and glass salt cellars and spoons.

The presentation was made by the Rev. George Adams, Senior Curate of St. Martin's, who, with the Rev. J. Twist and the churchwardens, were present to congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Lynch on having been spared to complete 25 years of happy married life together. It had been decided to celebrate the happy event with a peal, but the arrangements fell through at the last minute owing to unforeseen circumstances. It is hoped, however, that the peal will come off at no distant date.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A quarterly meeting of the Rochester District was held at Rodmersham, on Saturday, June 4th, and members took full advantage of the opportunity to visit this very pretty spot, the church lying at the extreme end of the district. The tower contains a ring of six, and the bells were going shortly after 3. Many methods up to Cambridge Surprise were rung, and a short service was held, conducted by the curate (the Rev. Taylor-Jones). A collection at the close for the County War Memorial realised £1.

The ringers were then conducted to the Vicarage, where the Vicar (the Rev. Hon. A. T. S. Massey), a life member of the association, had invited them to tea, which was served amid beautiful surroundings in the large hall. Forty-six ringers put in an appearance, and those who had not sent in their names were fortunate, as the Vicar, perhaps having an inner knowledge of the apathy of some ringers in this respect, had provided for nearly double the number who had intimated they would attend. Even then there was 'enough and to spare.'—The venerable Vicar, in a few words, welcomed the ringers to his parish, and reminded them that the visit that day coincided with the official birthday of H.M. the King. He said how fond he was of the bells, and urged upon all ringers to remember that their first duty was their 'Call to God.' He had not been able to be at the service, but would be pleased to make up their collection to 25s.

The Vicar presided at the meeting which followed, the only business of importance being to fix a place for the annual district meeting.—On the proposition of the District Secretary, it was unanimously resolved that Rochester Cathedral with its new ring of ten be chosen, the date in August being left for the secretary to arrange.—Mr. F. M. Mitchell proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells and the excellent tea he had provided, and to the Rev. Taylor-Jones for conducting the service, and in addition, playing the organ.—This was carried with applause, and each suitably responded. The Vicar then invited the visitors to a walk through the Vicarage grounds, which were greatly admired. The tower was again visited, and members on their homeward run were given the opportunity of having a ring on the eight at Sittingbourne, and methods from Grandshire to Cambridge Major were rung. Twelve towers in the district were represented, and there were visitors from Canterbury district.

THE DEATH OF MISS MACALPINE LENY.

A meeting of the Tonbridge District was held at Hadlow on Saturday, May 28th, and was attended by nearly 30 members. Some good practice in Grandshire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Treble Bob and Double Norwich Major was obtained. The Association Form was used at the service, and Mr. Cecil Groves (a former member of the local band) presided at the organ. There were several of the parishioners present, including one of the churchwardens.—The Vicar (the Rev. S. H. Monypenny) conducted the service, and gave a short address. The members afterwards adjourned to the King's Head for tea, which was followed by the business meeting. The Vicar presided, supported by the Rev. F. L. Schrieber (Vicar of Shipbourne).

The District Secretary said that it was with deep regret he had to announce the death of their old and esteemed friend (Miss R. MacAlpine Leny), which took place at Speldhurst Close, Sevenoaks, on April 25th. He recalled the many occasions when the members had met at Speldhurst and had partaken of Miss Leny's hospitality. Ringers were always welcome at any time at Speldhurst. The District Secretary said that as soon as he heard the news he wrote to Mrs. Mackinnon (the late Miss Leny's sister) expressing, on behalf of the members their deepest sympathy, and he read the reply which he had received.—The members, while fully endorsing the action of the district secretary, desired to pass the following resolution, viz.: 'That this meeting of the members of the Tonbridge district learn with the deepest regret of the death of their old and much esteemed friend, Miss Leny, and desire to express their deepest sympathy with her relatives.'—This was carried in silence.

Several new members were elected, and it was decided that the next meeting at Hawkhurst should be held on Saturday, July 23rd.—The District Secretary said he hoped that members would make a special effort to attend this meeting, as it was not often that a meeting could be arranged at the tower. As the church was over two miles from the railway station the best way to reach it would be to charter a motor charabanc to start from Tonbridge Station, going by way of Lamberhurst, picking up members en route. He was willing to do this provided the members assisted him, as he must have a guarantee of sufficient number to cover the cost. The meeting would be advertised in 'The Ringing World' three weeks previously, and members must notify him at least a fortnight before the date of the meeting, so that he could make the necessary arrangements. The Hawkhurst members were very anxious to have a meeting at their tower, and the association would be sure of a hearty welcome.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar for the use of the bells, for arranging the service and presiding at the meeting; to the organist and others who had assisted at the service, and to the Rev. F. L. Schrieber for his attendance. The members then adjourned to the tower, where ringing was again indulged in.

A NOTTINGHAM MEMORIAL PEAL.

DEDICATION OF BASFORD BELLS.

In the tower of the old Parish Church of St. Leodigarius, Basford, Notts, there now hangs a melodious ring of bells, eight in number, which have been installed as a memorial to the 220 gallant dead of the district who fell in the war. The bells were cast at the famous Loughborough foundry, and are tuned on Messrs. Taylor's scientific system of perfect harmonical tuning. It may be remarked that this is the first peal in the immediate vicinity of Nottingham that is so tuned on this perfected system, and the superiority of these beautiful bells over the mediocre peals which are to be heard in and around Nottingham is most marked. The three old bells which formerly hung in the tower, although possessing claims to considerable antiquity, were so false in their harmonic tones as to be distressingly unmusical in effect, and the music of the new peal will be thus more noticeable and appreciated by the parishioners. It may be mentioned in passing that these three old bells, two of which are melted down and incorporated in the new peal, were all cast in Nottingham, and the oldest bell of the three, dating probably from about 1490, was almost certainly cast by the founder, Richard Mellour, who was an Alderman and Mayor of Nottingham in the years 1499 and 1506. This oldest bell has been retained on account of its particularly interesting history, and now forms an important archeological feature of the church.

The tenor of the new ring of eight weighs about 15 cwt., note F natural, and the total weight of the bells and fittings, etc., is over 10 tons. The fittings in which the bells are hung are of modern design, and contain all the many improvements that have been introduced by Messrs. Taylor, perhaps the most important being the patent ball bearings in which the bells swing. The framework is of strong and massive construction, of cast iron on stout steel foundation, all designed with a view to the strain placed on the structure of the tower being reduced to an absolute minimum. Needless to say the work has been carried out in a manner which fully upholds the great reputation of the Loughborough firm.

The inscriptions on the bells are as follow:—

Treble.—Given by Charles Hilton Seely and Frank Evelyn Seely, 1921.

2nd.—This bell is the offering of the Sunday Schools, Bible Classes, Scouts and Guides of the Parish and their friends, 1921.

3rd.—Presented by the Adult Members of the Choir, 1921.

4th.—Presented by the Clergy, Churchwardens and Sidesmen of Basford Parish Church, 1921.

5th.—In Loving Memory of Thomas Marriott, who died 1917. Given by his children, 1921.

6th.—In Memory of William Henry Hill, M.B., C.M., who died March 17th, 1915, during the Great War, and of Arthur Robert Cox, who served in the South African War, 1899—1902, and who died April 7th, 1916.

7th.—Presented by Parishioners, Congregation and other friends of the Parish of Basford, 1921.

Tenor.—In Affectionate Remembrance of Captain William Eaton Guy Walker and Lieut. Harry Cullis Steele Walker, of the Sherwood Foresters, sons of Major and Mrs. Walker, Rock House, Old Basford, who fell in France in the Great War, 1914-1918. For God, King and country. This bell also bears the badge of the Sherwood Foresters.

The dedication took place at a largely attended service on Saturday, June 4th, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. H. T. Hayman, Chaplain of the 'Robin Hoods,' while the service was conducted (in the unavoidable absence of the Vicar, through the serious illness of his wife) by the Rev. C. W. Good, of St. Augustine's New Basford, who was a combatant officer of the regiment during the war prior to his ordination. The service was of a very impressive character, and was concluded by 'The Last Post' and 'Reveille,' followed by the National Anthem. The opening ringing at the dedication was done by members of St. Peter's band, Nottingham, viz.: W. Flinders 1, T. Kirkby 2, R. Clifford 3, G. West 4, J. Wallace 5, H. R. Cobben 6, F. C. Vickers 7, E. Hughes 8. The first touch of 564 Grandshire Triples was conducted by H. R. Cobben, the second, also Grandshire Triples by R. Clifford. The first touch of Stedman Triples, 567, was conducted by W. C. Hunt.

On the following day, for evening service, the first quarter-peal of Grandshire Triples was rung on the new bells by the Nottingham St. Peter's ringers, in 40 mins.: W. Flinders 1, T. Kirby 2, W. J. Sevier (Master and towerkeeper, Basford) 3, R. Clifford 4, G. West 5, J. Wallace 6, H. R. Cobben (conductor) 7, F. C. Vickers 8.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

A most successful meeting was held at Great Staughton on Saturday, June 11th. Members were present from Bedford, Clapham, Bromham, Turvey, Elstow, Roxton, Biggleswade, Dunstable, Higham Ferrers, Finedon, and the local company, 24 sitting down to tea.—The Vicar (the Rev. J. W. Wragg) gave the ringers a hearty welcome, and at the business meeting which followed, with Miss E. Steel in the chair, two new life members were elected, and Wootton chosen for the next meeting.—A vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells brought a very pleasant meeting to a close.

BUFFERS ON BELL CLAPPERS.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—With reference to the account in your last issue relating to the dedication of the two trebles to complete the octave at Bispham, Lancs, and more particularly to the paragraph referring to the new clapper device brought out by us, I should like to state, as this is the first time the idea has been mentioned, that the principle is not ours. The principle was originated by Mr. Weadon, sen., the much respected captain of the Dartford, Kent, Society of Ringers. Mr. Wheadon first applied the idea to the old tenor at Dartford, and was very gratified to notice the improvement in the effect. A few years later, when the bells were recast, he applied it to the back four successfully. He subsequently very kindly gave me permission to protect and adopt the idea in a slightly different form. We have used the principle in a few cases recently, and the result has been perfectly satisfactory, but any credit attaching to the idea ought to be given to Mr. Wheadon, to whom I am glad to take this opportunity of tendering my best thanks. The difference in the two methods is as follows: At Dartford the buffers are fitted to the stem of the clapper just under the ball, and in those we have fitted they are in the ball just above the striking part.—Yours faithfully,

ALBERT A. HUGHES

OLD LAVENHAM RINGER'S DEATH.

We regret to record the death of Mr. William Moore, of Lavenham, who passed away on May 28th, at the age of 75 years. Although deceased had long been a sufferer, and had undergone many operations, he had only taken to his bed a week previously. Nearly 20 years have passed since he took any part in ringing, owing to ill-health. He had rung four peals, all at Lavenham, and all on the tenor. They comprised three peals of Grandsire and one of Bob Major. The first was rung on March 3rd, 1888, and the last on November 3rd, 1894.

The interment took place on Wednesday, June 11th, and the bearers included one of his old ringing company, Mr. H. Smith, while Mr. A. Symonds and his son, Stedman, were among the mourners. The deceased leaves a widow and two sons to mourn their loss.

In the evening, after the funeral, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) was rung, with deeply muffled clappers, as a last mark of respect: M. Symonds 1, W. R. J. Poulson 2, S. H. Symonds (conductor) 3, F. Leeks 4, F. Boreham 5, W. W. J. Roper 6, L. Leeks 7, A. Symonds 8.

KINGTON MAGNA RINGERS' EXCURSION.

On Saturday, May 28th, the ringers of Kington Magna, Dorset, had an enjoyable outing to Queen Camel, Somerset. After raising and lowering the bells of their own church, a party of nine, including the Master and secretary of the Salisbury Guild, set forth by motor brake at 2.30 p.m. A halt was made at the village of Holton to investigate the possibilities of change ringing there, but as inquiry elicited the fact that the bells were only three in number, it was decided to proceed. A slight detour from the main road brought the party to the pretty village of South Cadbury, where the Rector readily gave permission to ring, and a tuneful peal of five bells were soon raised and set going to Grandsire Doubles.

The road was resumed, and after a short drive the car drew up beside the stately tower of Queen Camel, with its glorious ring of 6 bells (tenor 36 cwt. 3 qr.). The bells were raised in peal, and after a Plain Course of Grandsire some rounds and call changes gave the less advanced members of the party a chance of trying their skill. The Vicar (the Rev. G. D'Angibau) made his appearance in the belfry, and after giving the visitors a kindly welcome, showed some of them round the grand old church, with its venerable monastic traditions, while others were taking turns at the bells.

An adjournment was made to the Mildmay Arms, where an ample repast was provided by mine host and his good lady for the satisfaction of the inner-man. Fortified by this refreshment, the change ringers of the band brought round some well-struck six-scores, conducted by A. I. Dowding. About 8 p.m. the bells were rung down, and a late visit was paid to the neighbouring village of Marston Magna, where, with the Rector's kind permission, a little more ringing was done on six very melodious bells, tuned on the five-tone principle. The return journey was then commenced, home being reached about 10.30 p.m., after an expedition long to be remembered.

Before the departure from Queen Camel, Mr. Lucas, landlord of the Mildmay Arms, sprang a surprise on two of the party by producing a photograph of a well-known band of ringers at Guildford, and informing them that one of them was his step-brother, Mr. A. H. Pulling. Even the ringing world is a small world!

LONG PEAL CELEBRATED.

The 29th anniversary of the long peal of Oxford Treble Bob at Debenham, in which D. Collins and W. G. Crickmer took part, was celebrated at Worlingworth, Suffolk, on Monday, June 6th, by a 960 Oxford Treble Bob, by: W. Miller 1, H. W. Crickmer 2, E. Curtiss 3, W. G. Crickmer (conductor) 4, R. Abbott 5, E. Jinkins 6, W. Ruffells 7, H. Hall 8; and 640, with S. Collins on the tenor.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Now that the postage rates have been further increased associations will find it cheaper, as well as being, as it always has been, more effective to advertise their meetings in 'The Ringing World.'

The memorial to the late Mr. Henry White, of Basingstoke, which was unveiled and dedicated at St. Michael's Church, in the presence of a large gathering of Winchester Guild ringers, bears the following inscription: 'To the glory of God and in grateful memory of Henry White, sexton and captain of bell ringers in St. Michael's tower, 1885-1918, who laboured with untiring zeal for the improvement of bell ringing and the cultivation of the art of change ringing. Died Sept. 27th, 1918, aged 61 years.'

The peal rung at Wallasey, on June 7th, was a well deserved tribute to Mr. G. R. Rogers, who has done much for the encouragement of ringing in the district in which he resides. About 12 years ago the bells of St. Hilary's had fallen into a very dilapidated condition, so much so that to ring them constituted a danger. Mr. Rogers, besides being a large subscriber, personally made a house-to-house collection, and eventually obtained sufficient funds to have the bells rehung. Although not an ardent peal ringer, Mr. Rogers has done much 'spade-work' in the tutoring of beginners, and has endeavoured to inculcate the spirit of progress and unity amongst all those ringers with whom he is in touch.

Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, have completed the restoration of Monk's Kirby bells, and added two trebles to make the octave. The old six have been retuned, and are hung in iron frames on steel girders. The bells were dedicated on Thursday in last week by the Bishop of Coventry.

It is much hoped that when the Oxford Guild war memorial tablet is unveiled in the Cathedral cloisters on the occasion of the annual festival at Oxford, on July 23rd, it will be free of debt. Contributions should be sent to the hon. general secretary as soon as possible. Mr. Hibbert wishes to remind members that notices of motion for the business meeting must reach him by the last day of June.

Correspondents should bear in mind that matter sent for Press cannot now be forwarded by halfpenny post. The postage, when the matter is sent in an open envelope and without any form of letter, is one penny.

An appeal is being made for funds for the restoration of the bells of Bewdley Parish Church, Worcestershire. The rehanging is to be carried out by Messrs. Chas. Carr, of Smethwick, and some structural repairs are also to be carried out to the tower and belfry, the total cost being estimated at £350. Contributions will be welcomed, and should be sent to the Rector, the Rev. H. A. Moore.

Bewdley bells have a long history. There is a record of them having been rung in 1589 at the rejoicings for the wreck of the Spanish Armada, and in 1807 they were rung for the first time for the '5th of November.'

A new ring of bells was purchased in 1660, and were hung in the old chapel, built of timber, that stood on the site of the present church. In 1745 this chapel was pulled down, and the existing tower built. In 1780 the bells were recast and rehung, and there they have remained to this day, equal to some of the best in the county.

A most interesting little history of the bells of the Collegiate Church, now the Cathedral of Southwell, has been written, and published in celebration of the bicentenary of the bells.

Bells are first mentioned in this ancient foundation between the years 1050 and 1060, when there was a gift of two bells by the Archbishop of York, and at intervals through the centuries the bells are mentioned again until 1721, when Abram Rudhall, of Gloucester, recast the peal. The bells were again recast and increased to ten in 1897 by Messrs. Taylor and Co.

The history of the bells, which is full of interest, can be obtained from G. E. Padgett, printer, Southwell, post free, price 6d. Last Saturday the bicentenary was celebrated at Southwell by a visit of Midland Counties ringers.

NORWICH & IPSWICH ASSOCIATION.

On Saturday week a meeting of the Halesworth District of the Norwich and Ipswich Association was held at Wenhamston. Good touches of Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, Bob Minor, Grandsire and Stegman Doubles were rung on the musical peal of six bells at the parish church. Members were present (including one lady ringer, Mrs. Reeves) from Halesworth, Honham, Holton, Wissett, Wenhamston, Wrentham, Bramfield and Brampton. The Vicar (the Rev. W. N. Matthews, M.A.) provided tea in the old School Room for the ringers, after which a short business meeting was held. The chair was taken by Capt. A. E. Reeves, supported by Messrs. J. Larier, J. Punchard, J. Spencer, G. Easthaugh, S. Ellis, F. C. Lambert (district secretary), etc. It was decided to hold the next meeting at Cratfield in September, if the bells are available. — A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Vicar for the use of the bells and for the capital tea. Afterwards there was further ringing.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

NEXT YEAR'S MEETING.

The President said the Standing Committee had considered the place of next year's meeting. The interruption of the rota which had been followed for many years had caused a break in their programme, but the committee suggested that they should next go to Lincoln, leaving for the following year some place west of the central Midlands.

Mr. Cotterill (Yorkshire Association) gave the Council an invitation to go to Bradford.

The Rev. A. T. Beeston (Chester Diocesan Guild) proposed that the meeting should be at Chester, which had many attractions, and where it had been previously suggested they should meet. Mr. J. Geo. (hon. member) seconded.

Mr. A. E. Parsons (Worcestershire) reminded the Council that when Chester was previously suggested, Lincoln was also in the list.

On being submitted to the meeting the voting was as follows: Lincoln, 31; Bradford, 5; Chester, 19. Lincoln was, therefore, decided upon.

COUNCIL IGNORED BY ASSOCIATIONS.

The Council was then informed that two notices of motion had been received too late to be included in the agenda, but it was decided that they should be considered.

Mr. A. H. Pulling (Winchester Guild) moved: 'That this meeting recommend all Guilds and Associations to hold their annual meetings within three months previous to the Central Council meeting on Whit-Tuesday.' He proposed this, he said, as one means of endeavouring to get the general body of members of the Exercise interested in the work of the Council. At present they took not a scrap of notice of it. At many of the annual meetings not a word was spoken about the Central Council, and, if they could judge from the reports in 'The Ringing World' they simply took no notice of it. The Associations never submitted anything to the Council, but if they all had their meetings just before the Council it might be possible to get them to consider a little more of the Council's business. It was for that reason he proposed they should recommend the holding of annual meetings within the three months previous to the Council meeting. There was very little co-operation between the associations and the Council. The Council was a sort of Cabinet, 'The Ringing World' like 'The Daily Mail,' and Mr. Goldsmith like Lord Northcliffe (loud laughter). They might laugh, but if they had an Editor who was not out to do all he could to help them, but was opposed to them, he could break that Council up, and he could do it in quick time. They wanted to get the Exercise to take more interest in the Council, and although he hardly expected they would pass his resolution, he thought it was worth considering.

Mr. Cove (Gloucester and Bristol) said he would second the motion as a matter of form.

The Rev. B. H. T. Drake (Herts County) moved as an amendment, that the Secretary of the Council be charged to send all resolutions carried at the meeting to the affiliated associations. As a delegate to that Council he had ventured to bring up questions at his own association meetings, and had been met at once with the answer, 'The Central Council never so much as acknowledge us, beyond taking the 2s. 6d. from us, and never send us any information of anything they have carried, but leave us to find out from the ringing Press what is being done.' Would it not, therefore, be better and simpler if the secretary were to send the resolutions that were carried to the constituent associations in order that they might know officially what had been done?

Mr. Bibby (Chester Guild) said when he got back to his association he would be expected at their first meeting to supply the members with a report not only of the resolutions, but with minute details of what had been done.

The President said he could not accept the Rev. B. H. T. Drake's motion as an amendment. It was a matter of which notice should be given.

Alderman Pritchett (hon. member) said he gathered the object was to give publicity to the existence of the Central Council. He suggested the Standing Committee should draw up a special form of prayer for the Council to be used at association services, just as they had a prayer for Parliament (laughter).

Canon Baker (Bedfordshire Association) objected to the use of the term 'delegate' in connection with the members of that Council. He said he thought they were representatives. He would not be there if he were expected to come as a delegate in the sense of being somebody to vote as he was told. A member was elected freely, and should vote as he thought best. He objected strongly to calling themselves delegates. He also objected strongly to the suggestion that it was the business of that Council to interfere with the affairs and administration of associations. The Council had always kept most carefully off that in the past. The associations were perfectly free to manage their own business, without the interference of the Council, and for that reason he could not support the resolution, because it certainly meant interference with the way in which associations and guilds managed their own business and fixed the dates of their own meetings.

Canon Elsee (Lancashire Association) said he felt the mover of the resolution had a desire only to get the associations to take a living interest in the work of the Council, but at the same time he hoped the resolution would not be pressed. In his own association they had just discussed at considerable length whether they should change the time of their annual meeting, and after very careful consideration had come to the conclusion that they had better not change it. They had their meeting in the autumn. It was quite true that not much time was given to the affairs of the Council, because there was always a great deal of local business to be got through, but as a matter of interest he noticed that Lancashire had sent its four members and one honorary member to attend that meeting (hear, hear). He also saw two Lancashire visitors in the room as well, so that they did take some interest in the Council (hear, hear).

Mr. Pulling said he was prepared to withdraw his motion. He did not expect it would be passed, because he knew they could not interfere with the associations, but if only they could get the Exercise to wake up and look on the Council as the central body of ringing the Council would do some good.

The resolution was then withdrawn.

BELL RESTORATION FUNDS.

The other resolution of which late notice had been given was one by Alderman Chambers, of the Midland Counties Association, who had intimated his intention of moving 'that it is desirable to establish in the area of each ringing association a bell restoration fund from which grants may be made for the restoration of any rings of bells within the area when local funds were insufficient to meet the cost.'

Alderman Chambers was absent from the meeting, and the President said the Council had always refrained from interfering with the business of the local associations. He took it that practically every association had a fund of this kind, or was ready to make grants, and he did not see that that Council could give instructions.

It was agreed to allow the motion to lie on the table.

THANKS.

The Rev. H. Law James moved a vote of thanks to the President, which Canon Baker seconded, the resolution being carried with applause.

In responding, the President said he had intended moving that during his term of office there should be no votes of thanks to anybody, least of all to the President. He thanked them, however, very warmly indeed. He was afraid, if in future years they were treated to discussions on various abstruse questions, such as they had heard in the past from Mr. James and others, that he would have to call in to his assistance certain 'assessors' to direct him (laughter), because there were some things far above his head. He was simply a plain, practical ringer, but it would be his earnest endeavour to uphold the dignity of the Council as it was upheld by its founder, and in this he was sure he would have the assistance of the members (applause).

The meeting then terminated.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In reply to Mr. Edwards, wooden boards covered with waterproof felt placed immediately behind the louvres will moderate the sound of the bells. It might be found sufficient to treat the louvres in the tower in this manner first; those at the base of the spire could be blocked in the same way afterwards, if necessary.—Yours faithfully,
H. B. WOOLLEY.

Long Stanton.

Dear Sir,—I have had experience of blocking of louvres at three towers in this town. At St John's, which is a very low tower, with six bells hung on a level with the louvres, there was frequent complaint of the noise when the bells were rung. I advised having shutters fitted up to the spring of the arch. This was done as follows: The necessary wood comprised lin, tongued and grooved boards. These were nailed lightly together crossways, with two layers of thick felt between and fitted tight into the louvres. Our Vicar described the effect as like using a mute on a fiddle, or the soft pedal on a pianoforte. We get little complaint now. At St. Helen's, which is also a rather low tower, and situated in a densely populated neighbourhood, the louvres were blocked up completely with match-boarding. There are scarcely any complaints now; in fact, the noise is so toned down that the bells can scarcely be heard a street away. At All Saints' (10 bells) the louvres have been bricked up to the spring of the arches, and to my mind there is scarcely any difference.

In regard to All Saints', Hereford, as far as one can judge, without seeing the tower, I would suggest entirely blocking up the bottom louvres with boards and felt, as at St. John's, Worcester. If the noise outside is very severe use extra felt. All the music of the bells would then come out through the louvres in the spire.—Yours faithfully,
W. PAGE.

'INERTIA.'To the Editor.

Dear Sir, 'Inertia' is a term used to denote the principle or law of the material world, that all bodies are absolutely passive or indifferent to a state of rest or motion, and would continue for ever at rest, or persevere in the same uniform and rectilinear motion, unless disturbed by the action of some extrinsic force. . . . Inertia is one of the inherent properties of matter, and unceasingly recalled to our observation in every incident of life.' It appears also to be one of the inherent properties of ringers, and gives a good deal of trouble to the Analysis Committee.

Those who read the committee's report will remember the notice of a peal published as rung by the 'Surrey County Association' at Brighton, and attributed to Surrey, though probably belonging to Sussex. The committee could get no answer to a letter to the conductor about it, and the secretary of one of the associations informed a member of the committee that he had not read the report! Evidently there was need of some 'extrinsic force' to disturb the state of rest. But where is it to be found? Similarly, no further information is forthcoming as to Mr. Page's claim to have conducted seven peals, though only four were published. Perhaps he perseveres 'in the same uniform and rectilinear motion' in the matter of his claim, which our 'extrinsic force' was not sufficient to disturb.

Again, as to the meaning of 'Extreme' used as the name of a method we get no information, and shall be glad if some member of the Exercise can provide the necessary 'extrinsic force' to disturb the 'inherent property' of ringers, which renders them 'absolutely passive or indifferent,' and which is 'unceasingly recalled to our observation.'—Yours faithfully,
E. W. CARPENTER.

CLUN'S UNIQUE DISTINCTION.

On Sunday evening, June 5th, the Bishop of Hereford paid a visit to the ringing room of St. George's Church, Clun, and congratulated the ringers on their excellent ringing. He said they were doing a very important work for the church. He was not aware until that day that Clun had the distinction of having a ringing curate and a ringing warden. He did not think there was another church in his diocese that could claim the distinction.

Mr. W. Mead (warden and hon. secretary) thanked his lordship, on behalf of the ringers, and asked him to accept a copy of the history of Clun bells, which he graciously did. He said he had heard of Clun bells, and should value the history very much. He was very much interested in the fine room and its old church relics.

This was his lordship's first visit to Clun, and was for the dedication of a fine granite cross as a war memorial, and also of a beautiful carved oak sedilia, oak panelling, and the complete installation for the electric light as memorials.

YORKSHIREMEN IN KENT.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Adverting to the account of the Yorkshiremen's visit to Kent, your correspondent, P. J. J. is slightly in error. All the persons named are members of the Yorks Association, and it was the intention to include Mr. Austin in the peal had he arrived earlier.

Only four ladies accompanied their husbands.

The Committee got lost in re-visiting a former residence, whilst another member went into Sussex prospecting for new scenes to visit.—Yours faithfully,
T. MAUDE.

WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

A quarterly meeting of the Winchester District of the Guild was held at Sheffield English recently, by kind permission of the Rector, the Rev. W. T. Long. The bells were kept going during the afternoon and evening to touches of Grand-sire and Stedman Triples, Bob, Treble Bob and Double Norwich Major.

The tea and business meeting took place at the Hatchet, Mr. J. Williams (Master) being in the chair. There were ringers present from Bishopstoke, North Stoneham, Southampton, Upham Winchester, Romsey, Curdridge, and the local tower. Mr. Pryce Taylor, of the Loughborough Foundry, where the Sheffield bells were cast, was unable to attend owing to indisposition.

A collection on behalf of the late Mr. W. S. Wise amounted to £1 5s.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.MEETING AT SUNBURY.

On the south side of Sunbury runs the River Thames, and at this point there is a grass-covered and partially-wooded island, which is reached by means of ferry boats; the weir is situated at the west, and the lock at the east end.

Standing on a strong and elevated footbridge which crosses the main stream near the lock, the changes from the tower were heard to full advantage on Saturday last, when forty-three members and their friends met to have a gull on the fine-toned ring of bells at St. Mary's Church. The river was thronged with boats, and many were decorated, and with their happy and gaily-clad occupants were a pleasing sight constantly passing beneath the bridge; one party had a powerful gramophone, and, curiously enough, the piece rendered as they were passing the lock was 'Les Cloches de Corneville.'

A good tea is quite half the success of a meeting, and a pleasant interlude to the ringing. It was arranged by Mr. Alford, who was assisted by willing ladies, so all went well. The business meeting was presided over by the District Master (Mr. C. S. Bird), and a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Rev. P. Sydney for allowing the use of the bells. A discussion took place regarding the publications of the Central Council, and Mr. J. A. Trollope and Mr. W. Lawrence both spoke upon the subject. The former explained the principles set out in some of the books; and the Hon. Secretary (Mr. W. H. Hollier) suggested that a stock should be obtained on 'sale or return.'

Subject to permission being obtained the August meeting will be held at St. Peter's, Staines. Members attended from Brockley, Chertsey, Croydon, Clapham, Ealing, East Ham, Farnham Royal, Fulham, Heston, Hillingdon, Holloway, Hounslow, Isleworth, Kensington, Staines, Teddington, Whitwell and Walton-on-Thames.

A MID-WEEK MEETING.

The first of the summer mid-week meetings of the North and East District was held at Hornsey on Monday, June 6th, when nearly 30 members attended, amongst the towers represented being Southgate, Edmonton, Finchley, Willesden, Tottenham, Stamford Hill, Walthamstow, etc. Between 7 and 9 p.m. the bells were kept going continuously to Grand-sire Doubles, Plain Bob, Kent, Double Court and Double Stedman Slow Course. Not the least interesting part of the proceedings was a visit to the disused church building, including the crypt. This building has been closed since 1899, when the new and much larger church close by was opened, and is in partial ruin. The tower, which was built in 1486, is attached to the disused church, and quite apart from the handsome building in use at the present day.

A short business meeting was held in the tower, at which a vote of thanks was passed to the Rector (the Rev. B. Spink) for allowing the members the use of the bells. It was announced that the next meeting of this series would be held at Tottenham on Tuesday, July 19th, and that the next Saturday meeting was fixed for St. Andrew's, Holborn, on June 25th.

GLOSSOP RINGERS' TRIP.

The ringers connected with St. James's, Whitfield, Glossop, and their wives, had a most enjoyable trip round Derby on May 21st. Travelling in a well-appointed charabanc they journeyed through the glorious Peak district, the first stop being at Baslow, where a first-class breakfast awaited the party at the Rutland Arms. Proceeding to Matlock, two short touches of Stedman were rung before the party went on through Chatsworth Park. Arriving at Duffield Church, another half-hour's ringing was greatly enjoyed, Stedman being again the method. A band of eight good Derbyshire ringers were here waiting to start for a peal of Duffield, and the visitors left them with wishes for the best of luck. The next stop was at St. Alkmund's, Derby, where short touches of Stedman and of Kent Treble Bob were accomplished. After tea, the return journey was made by way of Ashbourne and Buxton to Glossop. An ideal day assisted to make a most successful outing, and the party tender their many thanks to the Vicars, officials and ringers of the above places for the use of the bells, and the kind reception given to them, particularly Mr. J. Lord, of Derby, for the information given which helped the excursionists to get in touch with the various places en route.

THE PEAL AT MERSHAM.

Congratulations to Miss R. Thomas on ringing her first peal at Mersham, Kent. This was her second attempt. She rang 2 hours and 3 minutes on the first occasion some few weeks ago, and was not the cause of the failure. We understand a movement is on foot to secure a peal board to record the peal. On both occasions Mr. and Mrs. Parkes, the parents of Mr. Harry Parkes, of Pattison Farm, Mersham, kindly entertained Messrs. Tribe (Tenterden) and Billenness (Hawkhurst), and these ringers wish to return their best thanks for the hospitality received. The peal was the first peal that has been rung at Mersham for some years, and the first peal rung at Mersham by all the band, with the exception of Mr. Alfred Gower.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.SUGGESTED INCREASE OF SUBSCRIPTION.

The monthly meeting of the Rockdale Branch was held on Saturday, June 11th, at Heywood Parish Church, 34 members being present from Heywood, Middleton, Oldham, Newhey, Milnrow, Totmorden Parish and Unitarians, Crosstones, East Crompton, Miles Platting, Pendleton, Hyde, Radcliffe, and Croydon. During the afternoon and evening the bells (which are a particularly fine peal) were kept going in Stedman and Grandsire Triples, Double Norwich, Kent Treble and Plain Bob Major.

The evening's meeting was presided over by the Rector (the Rev. J. H. Clarke, M.S.), and the resolution with regard to the proposed reduction of the committee of management was again discussed, but the meeting thought it would be unwise to carry out the suggestion.

A recommendation was passed that the subscription to the association should be raised from 1s. to 1s. 6d. per year.

It was decided that the next monthly meeting should be held at Leesfield, on Saturday, July 9th.—The usual vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of tower and bells, and also for presiding over the meeting and to the local band for having everything in readiness, was passed.

PRESTON BRANCH TO HAVE A 'SOCIAL.'

A well-attended meeting of the Preston Branch was held at Croston, on Saturday, June 4th. The bells, which are a handy ring of eight, by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, were well utilised from 3 to 5 o'clock. Tea was partaken of at the Grapes Hotel, and was followed by the business meeting, under the chairmanship of Mr. Taylor, of Penwortham. It was decided to make the next meeting the occasion of a charabanc outing, and visit Goosnargh and Ribchester in one afternoon. The contest for the place of the annual branch meeting was a very keen one, no less than three towers being proposed. Eventually Preston was selected.

By a large majority it was decided to have an annual social gathering, and Chorley was the place chosen, the date to be the first Saturday in December.

A deputation was appointed to interview the Vicar of St. Luke's, Preston, with regard to their proposed new bells. Unfortunately the authorities have decided to have hemispherical bells, but it is hoped, if not too late, that the deputation may succeed in getting the scheme altered.

The whole of the Croston band, nine in number, were elected members of the association, and the Rector was elected an hon. life member. The Rector of Croston is also the Bishop of Whalley, and he graced the proceedings by his presence after the meeting, moving about amongst the ringers, and chatting pleasantly to all. The standard methods were rung during the afternoon and evening, as well as Cambridge Surprise Minor.

LADIES' GUILD.

The quarterly meeting of the Western Branch was held at Thornbury on Saturday, June 11th. It was the first time the members of the Ladies' Guild have been able to visit this district, and they were given a very kind welcome by the local ringers. The service was taken by the curate of Thornbury (the Rev. — Reece), and the Rev. M. E. Thorold, of Bristol.—Mr. F. K. Howell had made all arrangements for tea, to which 37 sat down. After tea, the Vicar gave permission to any members who liked to do so to walk through his grounds, and many gladly availed themselves of the privilege.

A large number of towers were represented in the belfry—as besides the local band there were present ringers from Portishead, Clapton-in-Gordano, Mangotsfield, Olveston, Almondshury, Wickwar, Berkeley, Wotton-under-Edge, Stinchcombe, and St. Nicholas', St. Thomas's, and St. Michael's, Bristol.

The Guild hope that they may hear of some new members in this district—either performing or honorary members will be welcomed.

It is hoped to get permission to hold the next quarterly meeting at Waxall about September 17th, and also to have a practice meeting at Abbott's Leigh in July.

A 'MISSIONARY' EFFORT.

On Saturday, June 4th, ringers from Bucknall and Norton paid a visit to Brown Edge tower, the object being to revive interest in change ringing in that district. The visitors were successful in ringing a date touch in the seven following methods: London, Wells and Cambridge Surprise, Violet, Woodbine, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, in 1 hour 15 mins. 1. Trainer 1, J. W. Walker 2, W. Wheeldon 3, J. E. Wheeldon 4, W. Pradley 5, W. P. Deane (conductor) 6.

STAPLEFORD, CAMBS.—At St. Andrew's Church, on April 27th, 720 Kent Treble Bob Minor: Miss K. Willers (first 720 of Minor) 1, E. G. Hibbins (conductor) 2, A. J. Layton 3, A. E. Austin 4, R. Harvey 5, F. Nunn 6. Also 720 Plain Bob Minor: A. J. Layton 1, J. Ward 2, Miss K. Willers (first 720 of Minor with a bob bell) 3, A. E. Austin 4, E. G. Hibbins (conductor) 5, F. Nunn 6. Great credit is due to Miss Willers for the way she rang these 720's.

REAL VARIETY IN RINGING.

By the steady advance which is being made in the art and the enterprise of one or two 'explorers,' ringers to-day have a choice of methods which even within the memory of some who are still of middle age, was undreamt of. What is more, variety is being added for those who care to avail themselves of it, by such manipulation of old methods as would have made the past generation shudder. The mixing of Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, such as has been designated Worcester, and the freakish system by which such variations as Granta are produced are almost enough to make bygone ringers, such as Haley and Johnson, turn in their graves. Such adaptations of old methods may improve the music and relieve the monotony of a certain type of peals, and for this reason, perhaps, may be welcomed by some, although it has been argued by others that they reduce the musical effect by eliminating the contrasts which are obtained when the tenors are brought together after having been temporarily parted. But whatever their value, we doubt very much if such 'mongrel' arrangements will appeal very widely to the general body of ringers.

What we should prefer to see is a genuine effort made to extend ringing in a larger number of the higher methods. There are many bands efficient in the lower methods who have yet left Surprise ringing untouched, and there are many who are competent Surprise ringers who limit their practice to about four or five methods. Ringers seem to get too easily into a groove, and, having rung Superlative, Cambridge and London, with, perhaps, Bristol added, are content. There are many other Surprise methods, not all as difficult, perhaps, but certainly well nigh, if not quite, as interesting. Why is it Major bands do not seek them out and ring them? There are at least half a score of good Surprise methods, beyond those mentioned, in existence, with peals already composed, but very few bother to practise them. The Leiston band, in which the members of one family very largely predominate, is a shining example of what may be done to introduce variety into the ringing of higher methods, and it would be well if more companies would emulate them.

Some day, we suppose, the Central Council will publish a collection of Surprise methods, although at the present rate of progress many years will pass over our heads before it appears. Apart from the handicap of funds wherewith to publish such a work, the Surprise methods would, in the natural order of things, be the last of the sequence, and at present even the plain methods are pigeon-holed, while the Treble Bob methods remain to be worked out. This latter is a prodigious undertaking, for not only have the methods themselves to be set down on paper from the formulæ from which these things are obtained, but they have to be proved. Then, when it is remembered that few men are capable of the task and that fewer still have the time to devote to it, it will be seen that the collection of eight-bell Surprise methods is likely to be a thing of the very distant future. In the meantime, however, there is no reason why Surprise ringing should be limited almost entirely to the four methods named above.
