MESSES. JARROLD & SONS have pleasure in announcing the early publication by subscription of this most interesting and important work. It will contain an account of all the Church Bells in Buckinghamshire, with everything relating to their history, and can be discovered. Full accounts of all the Foundry-men, and hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County, including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where a large number of Church bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. One of the was undertaken at the instigation of the late F. C. F. Robinson, Esq., author of "Survey Bells and Lods" and "The Church Bells of Kent," "Herts," etc.; and the fact that the interest had the benefit of the kind assistance and advice of the well-known campanologist may be mentioned as some guarantee of accuracy and value of the present work. Mr. Spalding wrote the edition that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting study," and he proposed this edition in a subsequent issue. The "Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 80 pages, and be handsomely illustrated with 200-page plates of medallions, and foundry marks, etc. Lists of Bells still existing in the County, and numerous figures of them being recited, will be included in the text. The 2nd Edition is limited, and will be offered to subscribers before the day of publication.
The 1st Edition, Royal 4to, is limited to 100 copies, and will be published at 2s. The price will be 2s. 6d. per copy, and offices should be sent to the publishers, Messrs. Jarrold & Sons, Publishers, Norwich, and 2, Finsbury Square, London E.C.

THE OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

The spring meeting of this Guild was held at Reading on Saturday, April 18, when the towers of St. Mary's, St. Giles', and St. Peter's, Caversham, were thrown open to the members, and a very enjoyable and profitable time was spent. Three courses of Stedman Triples were rung at St. Giles' and St. Mary's Churches, in addition to three courses of Grandsire Triples at the latter place. Later in the afternoon a touch of Stedman Caters was rung for service, which was held at five o'clock at St. Lawrence's, the preacher being the Ven. Archdeacon Pott. The Vicar, the Rev. J. M. Guilding, conducted the service, and the Master of the Guild (the Rev. F. E. Robinson) read the lesson.

Archdeacon Pott took for his text Exodus xxxi. 2, "See, I have called by name Bezaleel the son of Uri, the son of Hur, of the tribe of Judah; and I have filled him with the spirit of God, in wisdom, and in understanding, and in knowledge, and in all manner of workmanship." In the course of his sermon the Archdeacon said they were sometimes apt to forget that the various gifts of skill and workmanship were just as much God's gifts as they were what they called spiritual gifts and spiritual powers. Things which belonged to the common order of life and entered into the work of the six days of the week were quite as much God's service as was the direct worship of the Almighty on Sundays. Let them apply the thought to the object for which they were gathered there that day. That there was an anniversary of their bell-ringing guild, and he for one considered it a good sign of the present day that such guilds should be formed. Peopled talk a good deal, not without reason, of the evil there was in the days in which we live; but it was not a good thing for a person to be always dwelling on the worst side of things. There were evil signs no doubt, but there were good signs, too; and the inclination in the present day to form guilds, brotherhoods and unions, was, he thought, a good sign, and their guild was one of them; shewing men they had a common work, that no one liveth to himself or dieth to himself. He augured good things from that ringing guild of theirs. He saw himself the great improvement that sprang from it. He had had a large experience of parochial life, and he remembered the time when the bellry of a parish was one of the greatest possible difficulties with which clergymen had to deal. It was difficult to keep the bellringers under rule, and keep them from breaking out into what was really irreverence and profanity whilst engaged in their work. A great deal of that had passed, and he did indeed believe that those who had taken up the work as a duty and a pleasure, had learnt that there had been a great change for the better, and that the future of their brotherhood must depend a great deal upon its being founded upon a belief in God's service. The Church-worker, of whom they had so many now-a-days in their parishes, was a part of the Church just as much as the clergyman, and should be animated by the same spirit as the clergyman in his higher work. It was good to remember always that the ringing gallery of a church was just as much a part of God's house as the chancel, and the ringing of bells was just as much God's service as that which followed after. He had been told by those who understood ringing that change-ringing was one of the most excellent disciplines which a man could undergo. Gifts of character, such, for example, as patience, method, care and perseverance, were greatly needed in their craft, and they should also have that great gift of reverence, and the realisation that the art they were cultivating was not for themselves but for God.

At the close of the service the members, numbering about 40, proceeded to the "British Workman," where they had tea. The Master presided, and among those present were the Rev. R. H. Hart Davis (hon. secretary and treasurer), vicar of Dunsden, and the Rev. E. Broome (Hurst), and Messrs. J. Ford (Sonning), A. W. Pike (Caversham), W. Newell, F. W. Hopgood, J. Potter, — Ambrose, H. Tucker, J. Tucker, C. Giles, and — Holden (Reading), J. C. Truss, sen. and jun., A. H. Cocks, W. E. Yates (Great Marlow), E. Elburn (Amersham), T. Houlton and W. Houlton (Wokingham, St. Paul's), J. Pether, J. Sawyer (Hagbourne), W. H. Insell (Slough), R. Flaxman (Farnham Royal), W. Robbins (Henley), M. Steer (Hawley). Fisher and Cox (Shinfield), A. Thomas (Harwell), &c.

The Chairman expressed the pleasure it gave him to see such a good gathering, and said he was glad that most of them went to the church and heard the practical and excellent remarks of Archdeacon Pott. He hoped that all present would determine to do better than they had done before. Having remarked upon the usefulness and object of holding those quarterly meetings, he referred to this year's annual meeting, which he said they proposed holding at Bletchley. There was no reason to doubt that the locality was well chosen, because although it was a long distance off, there were special reasons for going there. Proceeding, he said he had had the pleasure of ringing with most of them, and he hoped to do so again. Although he was better versed with eight or ten bells, yet he was able to manage to ring with six, and he should be pleased to ring with them at any time, if they would honour him with an invitation. Whilst alluding to the peals that had been rung by their members at Goring and Farnham, he referred in passing to the memorable performance in Yorkshire in 1816. He next remarked upon the great loss the ringing world had recently sustained in the death of Mr. G. Newson, who was formerly a member of their Guild, and was one of their most competent members. Many of them had rung with him, and had always found him a very pleasing man. As he was known so well and so much respected in the ringing world, it would be a very appropriate thing if a vote of condolence to his widow and children were passed by their Society. He trusted that the Guild would agree with him in this idea of his. Respecting the work of the Guild, he thought that their present state and prospect was very good indeed. In point of number they stood very well, their Guild being among the foremost of all the associations in the country. Last year they were second in regard to points in all England, and that he considered was very creditable. One of the most prominent associations in the Kingdom was the Sussex County Association. He hoped the members of their Guild would continue to do right good ringing for the glory of God and the service of His Church.

On the motion of Mr. Thomas, a vote of condolence with the Manchester District in the loss they had sustained by the death of Mr. John Thorp the eminent treble bob composer having been passed,

The Rev. R. H. Hart-Davis (the secretary) said he had but little to add to what had already been said by the chairman. Having expressed regret at the absence of the Rev. G. F. Coleridge, he alluded to the present position of their Guild, and said he hoped that their membership would number 1,200 at the annual meeting. It was however impossible to state anything definitely then: he could tell them how many members had joined, but he could not state what the leakage had been during the past six months. So far, this year they had made seventy members. That spoke very well for that quarter of the year. Shiplake had joined them, as also had Stanton Harcourt. They had rung thirteen peals, one of London Surprise, and two of Superlative Surprise. With regard to their peal-book, he might say that perhaps was a little unsatisfactory, as he had not sold so many copies as he should have liked. He had only sold just over a hundred out of the 300 printed. Their finances were in a very satisfactory state, the balance in hand being a little higher at present than it had ever been in their most flourishing days. He would like to express once more the gratitude of all the members to their venerable Master, who worked so hard amongst them.

On the motion of Mr. Newell, seconded by Mr. Pether, a hearty vote of thanks was also accorded Archdeacon Pott for his address; to the Rev. J. M. Guilding for the use of the church; and to the organist of St. Lawrence and choir.

Mr. Yates then moved that a vote of thanks be also given to the clergy and churchwardens of St. Giles', St. Mary's, and St. Peter's Caversham, for kindly allowing the ringers the use of the belfries.

Mr. Truss seconded, and the motion was carried unanimously.

The thanks of the members were also accorded to the secretary (Rev. R. H. Hart-Davis), who suitably responded.

The company then broke up, a number of the members again visiting the towers of St. Mary and St. Lawrence, and ringing further touches.

At a meeting of the Committee of the Guild at The Great Western hotel, it was decided that the date of the annual meeting and festival at Bletchley be July 20th.

The report for 1895, which had been printed and circulated, stated that the chief event of the year had been the publication of 520 peals rung by members of the Guild between its foundation in 1881, and its festival at Chipping Norton on July 16th, 1894. The year 1895 had witnessed no flagging in any part of the Guild's work. Their membership had gone up from 1,115 to 1,150, and the proportion of probationers to change-ringers was still a diminishing quantity. There had also been a gain in the tale of towers in union, which were now eighty-six, as against eighty-four in 1894. They had lost Cropredy and Dorchester, but had enrolled Cuddington, East Hendred, Charlbury, and Enstone. Shiplake would join with the new year. The branches, as a whole, had maintained their ground, but to Chipping Norton the greatest praise was due. It was encouraging to see the good results of holding the Guild Festival there in 1894, in the subsequent energy of the chairman, the Rev. H. Barter, and of the hon. secretary, Mr. J. F. Barlow. The branch now had six towers in union instead of three, and its members had grown from thirty-seven to eighty-two. The Annual Festival was held at Wokingham, where the Guild met with a hearty welcome, and the arrangements for the service in the parish church, the business meeting in the Town Hall, and the dinner in a large tent, were, perhaps among the most successful of any hitherto carried out. Of the general Guild meetings, that in the spring at Henley was an immediate success, which had, unfortunately, not been followed by the return of Henley into union. As to the finance, it might be considered satisfactory that there was a balance in hand of £33 2s. 11d., notwithstanding the unusually heavy expenses of the annual festival, and also that £5 had been paid to the publisher on account of the peal-book.

THE HEAVY WOOLLEN DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

The last monthly meeting of the above was held at Thornhill, on Saturday, April 25th, members being present from Brighthouse, Lindley, Dewsbury, Earlsheaton, and Thornhill. The meeting took place to transact business at The Alma inn. Mr. F. Scholefield, President, occupied the chair. After the minutes had been read, Mr. F. Prince proposed, and Mr. J. Hardcastle seconded, that the entrance to the 6-bell contest be 1s. 6d. each company. Mr. M. Garforth proposed, and Mr. F. Prince seconded, that the practice close on May 17th. A vote of condolence was passed towards the widow of the late Mr. George Newson. After other business was transacted, the meeting closed, the remainder of the evening being spent as usual in ringing.

THE DEVONSHIRE GUILD.—PLYMOUTH BRANCH.

On Thursday, April 16th, the annual meeting of this branch took place in the belfry of Charles Church, Mr. J. J. Marshall, C.C., in the chair. Apologies were received from the President (Rev. N. Vickers) W. Banister, Esq., and others for non-attendance. After the usual routine business, the chairman in a witty and neat speech, presented Mr. Taylor, the leader of the band, on behalf of the members, with a handsome gold Albert and bell pendant, suitably engraved, as a recognition of the efforts he has put forth for the last twenty years, to teach and advance the cause of change-ringing.

THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.—LIVERPOOL DIOCESAN BRANCH.

A most successful meeting of the above branch took place at Walton Parish Church, on Saturday, April 11th. Members attended from Aughton, Garston, Huyton, Liverpool, Southport; also the local company. The tower was open for ringing at 4 o'clock, and at 6.15 the members sat down to tea in the Old Girls' Schoolroom. Shortly after 7 o'clock, the business meeting was held. Owing to the unavoidable absence of the Rector, the Rev. R. Phillips presided. In his opening remarks, he said how pleased he was to meet those present, and gave the Association a hearty welcome to Walton. He also congratulated them on the excellent work which was going on throughout the diocese, and hoped that what they did would be done to the honour and glory of God. In his experience of choirs and ringers, he always found that ringers worked more harmoniously than choirs, and the clergy had not near so much trouble with the ringers as with the choir. They seemed to be more united, and consequently got on better. Although he was not a ringer, he once went into a belfry and pulled a bell, but never no more, as he found out that a certain amount of skill and knowledge was required before attempting anything of the kind. He also spoke of the good feeling that existed between the clergy and ringers at Walton, and he hoped it would continue. In his opinion bellringers ought to be paid for their services, and he was glad to say such was the case at Walton. The tea that had been provided that day, had been done at the expense of the Rev. Canon Leigh, and he knew from experience, that gentleman was most liberal and sympathetic in his manner. The rev. gentleman then read the following interesting anecdote:—"In the church tower of the little town of Grosslaswitz, in the north of Germany, hangs a bell, and on it is engraved its history, surmounted by a bas-relief, representing a six-eared stalk of corn, and the date, October 15th, 1729. This is the story of the bell:—At the beginning of the last century the only church bell at Grosslaswitz was so small that its tones were not sufficient to penetrate to the ends of the village. A second bell was badly wanted, but the village was poor, and where was the money to come from? Every one offered to give what he could, but the united offerings did not amount to nearly enough for the purchase. One Sunday, when the Schoolmaster, Gottfried Hayn, was going to church, he noticed growing out of the churchyard wall a flourishing green stalk of corn, the seed of which must have been dropped by a passing bird. The idea suddenly struck him that perhaps this one stalk of corn could be made the means of procuring the second bell they wanted so much. He waited till the corn was ripe, and then he plucked the six ears on it and sowed them in his own garden. The next year he gathered the little crop thus produced, and sowed it again, till at last he had not enough room in his garden for the crop, and so he divided it among a certain number of farmers, who went on sowing the ears until, in the eighth year, the crop was so large that when it was put together and sold, they found that they had enough money to buy a beautiful bell, with its story and its birthday engraved upon it, and a cast of the corn-stalk to which it owed its existence." The rev. gentleman then went on to say:—Coming nearer home and looking at Walton bells, I am sure it is a pleasure to hear the voice of the grand "Old Tenor," speaking from its pulpit in the upper air, and I should like that bell to make a speech on this occasion:—

Good ringers all, both great and small,
Just give me your attention;
There's many things I'd like to say,
But one or two I'll mention.

Full many a year, have I hung here,
And swung up in this steeple;
They use me most of all the bells,
To gather in the people.

There's Wilson, C; he's fond of me,
I know it very well;
He often comes and views me,
The good old Tenor Bell.

I have a rhyme around my waist,
To you I must it tell;
And then you'll know like other folk,
What's on the Tenor Bell:

"I to the Church the living call,
And to the grave do summon all."
So now kind friends, with these remarks,
I'll bid you all farewell;
And don't forget when next you meet,
Old Walton Tenor Bell.

The rev. gentleman in conclusion urged upon the ringers to be true churchmen, so that by their example they would be a pattern to others.

The minutes of the previous meeting held in Liverpool were read and confirmed. Two new members were elected, and it was decided to hold the next meeting at Aughton, on Saturday, May 9th. Should it be impossible to get the use of this tower, the meeting will then take place at Wootton, but due notice will be given in "THE BELL NEWS."

Mr. H. Coley, the newly appointed Secretary for this branch, met with a hearty reception, and was spoken of very highly by one or two that were present.

It is earnestly desired that members will make a special effort to attend the monthly meetings, and gain knowledge of methods that are not rung in their own towers, so by that means they will be able to introduce them at home.

The Association are now issuing to eight bellringers diagrams and rules for ringing four Standard Methods, and thanks are due to Messrs. Halliwell, Shepherd, and Wreaks, for their untiring efforts in this respect. Our advice is—look up the rules, attend the meetings, and bring your subscriptions with you.

Votes of thanks to the Chairman for presiding, also to the Rev. Canon Leigh, for the way in which he had entertained them that afternoon, and to the local company for their excellent arrangements, both in and out of the tower, brought a very pleasant meeting to a close.

Change-ringing was freely indulged in during the afternoon and evening, and the visitors departed highly pleased with the day's proceedings.

STOKE ARCHIDIACONAL ASSOCIATION.

The monthly meeting of this Association was held at Wolstanton on Saturday, May 2nd. Ringing commenced at 3.30, and the bells were kept going till six o'clock, when they adjourned to the schools, and forty sat down to an excellent tea. The vicar (Rev. H. E. Butler), occupied the chair, and there were ringers representing the following towers: Bucknall, Hanley, Kidsgrove, Leek, Longton, Newcastle, Stoke, Tunstall, Wolstanton, Crewe, and Market Drayton. After tea the chairman welcomed the ringers to Wolstanton, and said it gave him great pleasure to be with them again. He could see many old faces, and also many new faces. He hoped that they would be spared many years to see one another at these meetings, and that the Association may keep on increasing and prospering. They as ringers were church-workers, and a great deal depended on them, in fact he did not know what they at Wolstanton would do without their ringers. The belfry was part of the church, and ought to be made as though it were. The vicar and churchwardens had just lately added to the comforts of their belfry by putting a little skirting with panels, and a little linoleum, which had been done because of this Association. He hoped that other churches which had not the requirements nor the comforts for the ringers would soon do the same. He said that their ringers had just had a meeting and drawn up fresh rules, by which the ringers were doing more ringing than they had done before. He said that they had been talking to Mr. Twigg, the Hon. Secretary, and he had told him that they had unveiled a peal-board at Bucknall lately. He said that he did not know what a peal-board was, but from what he could understand it was a board indicating the time, the number of changes, and the ringers' names, of a peal of Treble Bob Major or some other wonderful feat, and he hoped that when the next meeting was held at Wolstanton, that there would be a peal-board in their belfry.

Mr. Twigg (Bucknall), proposed a vote of thanks to the ringers for the excellent tea they had provided, and as regards the peal-board the chairman had mentioned, he should be very pleased himself to see one in the Wolstanton tower. The ringers had plenty of peals to choose from, and he hoped the day was not far distant when they would have a peal-board.

Mr. G. Woods (Longton) seconded.

Mr. W. Miller, in responding, said that they had done as other towers had done, and they at Wolstanton were not going to show the cold shoulder. As to the alterations in the tower it only shewed that the vicar had a good memory, as their alterations had been mentioned some time back. He and another of the ringers went on Tuesday last to get permission for the bells and the use of the schools. The vicar with his usual readiness granted, and also said could we not have the flooring and the walls put in a better condition? He (Mr. Miller) said that he thought so, but he did not think there would be time against Saturday. The vicar said that he thought so, and with that he took the matter in hand, and of course it had been done. Now in former years Leek, then Stoke, followed by Newcastle, and lastly by Wolstanton, these towers have been made places of comfort to the ringers. He hoped that the other towers in the district would soon be renovated. If the ringers would mention the requirements of the belfry to the clergy and churchwardens, he had no doubt that as they saw their way clear, they would try and do their best for the ringers' comfort. He thought the clergy and churchwardens did not know what was really wanted in the belfry until it was pointed out to them.

A vote of thanks was then passed to the chairman for his presence that evening.

The ringers then adjourned to the tower and rang touches of Grandsire, Stedman, Bob Triples, and Treble Bob Major until about nine o'clock.

CHRIST CHURCH GUILD, NORTH SHIELDS.

The members of this Guild held their first outing on Easter Tuesday, the place selected being Tanfield. Leaving home about 11 a.m., they journeyed to Newcastle, where a change of trains had to be made. Rowlands Gill was reached about one o'clock, and a stiff walk of three miles brought them into Tanfield, the church being about the first building they came to, where one of the local ringers was on the look-out. The belfry was at once visited, and the bells were raised. Being one short for Triples, a 360 Bob Minor was rung. By this time a Tanfield ringer turned up, and kindly offered to take the tenor. A start was at once made for a peal of Grandsire Triples, but after ringing 1490 changes it came to grief. After a touch of Bob Triples an adjournment was made for refreshments, which were kindly provided by the local ringers at The Peacock inn. After the table was cleared, two courses of Triples were rung by four of the visitors on the handbells. A very happy evening was spent in company with the local ringers, home being reached shortly after eleven o'clock. The visitors tender their best thanks through the medium of "THE BELL NEWS," to the vicar for the use of the bells, and to Mr. W. Brewis, Local Secretary, for his able arrangements and entertainments.

THE ST. JAMES'S SOCIETY, ANSTON, YORKS.

RINGERS' WEDDING.—On Easter Tuesday, April 7th, at the parish church, on the occasion of the marriage of Robert Smith and Lilian Hudson Foulds, 720 each of Violet, Kent and Merchants' Return, also touches of Oxford, Duke of York, City Delight, Killamarsh and Anston Pleasure. J. Foulds, 1; H. Turner, 2; H. Stenton, 3; J. Marshall, 4; S. Smith, 5; C. Fowler (conductor), 6. The ringers were entertained to tea and supper, ample justice being done to both, no mis-calls being made, all coming round when the course was done. After the cloth was removed games and part songs were kept up till the small hours of the morning.

Mr. Stenton asked Mr. Smith to accept a teapot, engraved, as a present from the ringers as a token of their appreciation, wishing that both he and Mrs. Smith would long be spared to use it.

THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

ENJOYABLE MEETING OF THE FYLDE BRANCH.

There is nothing which tends to make the wheels of this work-a-day world run more smoothly than by combining duty with pleasure. At least, such is the notion of many members of the Fylde branch of the Lancashire Association, who met at Poulton-le-Fylde on a recent Saturday, it being the quarterly meeting. The Lytham ringers journeyed thither in hired carriages, the route comprising some capital rural scenery; the Kirkham men did likewise; whilst some of the Blackpool contingent "pedalled" the distance. Arriving at the ancient town they immediately went to the belfry of the parish church, but, unfortunately, owing to the bad repair of some parts of the belfry, nothing in the way of ringing was done. The members partook of tea at The King's Arms hotel, and after doing ample justice to the excellent fare provided, the business of the meeting was transacted. The chair was taken by Mr. Cookson, of Kirkham, who, in the course of a short address, commented upon the manner in which they had come to Poulton, and remarked that it was the right thing to turn it into an outing, and he hoped to see it continued.

The Secretary, Mr. J. Fell, apologised for the absence of the Rev. T. H. Guest, the esteemed Vicar of Poulton; the district committee-man, Mr. Mather, Higher Walton; and the Rev. R. Halstead, of Lytham. Speaking of the work during the past year, he said he thought it was desirable to have a representative out of each tower to form a committee for the furtherance of change-ringing. Although the branch had been established nearly five years he thought the ringing was far superior, and a larger variety of methods was practised to what was previous to the formation of the branch. If they thought such a committee required he would be pleased to nominate one belonging to the belfry of St. John's church, Lytham. He had pleasure in telling them that the President of the Lancashire Association had been appointed to a church in Bolton, at which there was a peal of eight bells. He was sure they would all wish him success in his new sphere of duty, especially now that he could take a practical part in the belfry. He was also glad to say that the respected vicar of St. John's church (Rev. G. Smart), was daily improving after his severe illness at Bath.

The report was received as read. Five new members were elected. The subject of a Ringing Master to conduct the quarterly meetings was next discussed, and on the proposition of Mr. Kirby (Kirkham), seconded by Mr. W. Bamber (Lytham), the honour was conferred on Mr. R. Clitheroe, of Blackpool, who expressed his willingness to accept the post.

The next meeting will be held at Lytham, when the three belfries will be at the liberty of the members.

A vote of thanks to the chairman brought the meeting to a close. The proceedings throughout were of a most enjoyable nature, the drives adding much charm to what would otherwise have been dull had the members travelled by rail.

THE KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

LEWISHAM DISTRICT.—A very successful quarterly meeting of this district was held at Greenwich on Saturday, April 18th, and was attended by members from Bromley, Crayford, Woolwich, Erith, Lewisham, Chislehurst, Hayes, Lee, London, etc. Tea was served in the schoolroom, the arrangements being kindly made by Miss Airey, of Greenwich. The Rev. T. E. Teignmouth Shore (who has been appointed domestic chaplain to the Bishop of Rochester) tendered his resignation as Secretary to the district. The following resolution was carried unanimously: "That this meeting desires to record its high appreciation of the services rendered by the Hon. Secretary of the district, the Rev. T. E. Teignmouth-Shore, congratulates him upon the important appointment recently conferred upon him, and heartily wishes him God-speed in his new sphere of labour."

Mr. W. Bedwell, of Lewisham, was elected District Secretary. Chislehurst was the place selected to hold the next quarterly meeting, which will take place on July 18th. Votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells, and to Miss Airey for arranging the tea. All communications respecting this district should be addressed to the Hon. Secretary, Grace Villa, Albacore Crescent, Lewisham.

THE ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.—SUDBURY ARCHIDIACONAL BRANCH.

A meeting of this branch of the Ely Diocesan Association was held at Sudbury on Easter Monday, and was well attended by members from the following places: Sudbury, Bury St. Edmunds, Rougham, Horringer, Fornham, Lavenham, Monks Eleigh, Preston, Hitcham, Glemsford, and Long Melford. The towers of all three churches were open all day to the members. Ringing began at St. Gregory's by a mixed band of the Association, who rang a well-struck peal of 5088 Kent Treble Bob, which was duly reported in its proper place. Touches of Grand-sire Triples, Bob Major, Treble Bob, and Double Norwich were also rung during the day, the most notable being a touch of five courses of Double Norwich, rang at St. Peter's, by F. Tolliday, 1; W. Howell, jun., 2; Z. Slater, 3; W. Howell, sen., 4; W. Bacon, 5; A. Scott, 6; S. Slater, 7; C. Sillitoe (conductor), 8. At two o'clock an adjournment was made to The Green Dragon, where a capital dinner was well served up by Host Viall, forty-three sitting down to the tables. The Rev. E. J. Teesdale, Rougham, General Secretary and Treasurer, occupied the chair, being supported by the Rev. B. S. Fryer (Rector of SS. Peter and Gregory), Rev. E. S. King (curate), Rev. C. J. Stower (Vicar of All Saints), the vice-chair being occupied by the Rev. W. H. Parker (St. Mary's, Bury St. Edmunds.)

The business meeting was held directly after dinner. A number of honorary and performing members were elected. An invitation was received from the Rector of Long Melford for the Association to hold its next meeting there.

Mr. C. Sillitoe proposed that the invitation be accepted with thanks, and that steps be taken to have the neighbouring towers of Glemsford and Stanstead placed at the disposal of members.

Mr. A. Symonds seconded the proposition, which was carried unanimously.

Mr. S. Slater said he had no hesitation in saying that the Rectors of Glemsford and Stanstead would willingly place the bells at the disposal of the members.

On the motion of Mr. C. Sillitoe, seconded by Mr. A. Ambrose, it was resolved that the next meeting be held on the first Saturday in June.

Mr. A. Osborne proposed, and Mr. Sewell seconded, that a hearty vote of thanks be accorded to the Revs. B. S. Fryer and C. J. Stower for granting the use of the bells for the day.

Both gentlemen suitably acknowledged the compliment, expressing the pleasure it had afforded them to meet the members of the Association, and to place the bells of their respective churches at their disposal. They looked upon bellringers as church-officers, and had much enjoyed the ringing that day, the latter gentleman specially complimenting the band who rang the peal at St. Gregory's. It was most excellent ringing.

A hearty vote of thanks to the chairman and vice-chairman concluded the proceedings, the members dispersing to the various towers for some more ringing.

CHAS. SILLITOE, District Sec.

REPTON, DERBYSHIRE.

On Wednesday, April 15th, the ringers of St. Mark's, Winshill, journeyed to Repton, at the invitation of the St. Wystan's church ringers, to try for a 720 on their bells, which have just been rehung by the well-known founders, Messrs. Taylor and Sons, Loughborough. On arriving they were met by Mr. W. Bamford, the captain, who gave them a hearty welcome. They at once made for the tower and rang 720 Bob Minor, in 27 mins. J. Plummer, 1; W. Shepherd, 2; J. Morley, 3; G. Wright, 4; J. Woodward (conductor), 5; F. Shepherd, 6. Also three 6: scores of Grandsire Doubles, in which Mr. Bamford, of Repton, and W. Plummer, of Winshill, took part. The "go" of the bells reflects great credit on the founders, and universal pleasure was expressed upon hearing their mellow chime once more. The above 720 was the first rung since they were rehung. The visitors wish to thank the Vicar, the Rev. G. Woodyatt, for the use of the bells; also Mr. Bamford, for having everything ready.

A CORRECTION.—In the report of the outing to Thirsk, the weight of the tenor should have been 19 cwt. not 11 cwt. as printed.

THE NORTH LINCOLNSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting was held at Lincoln on Saturday, April 25th. Ringers turned up from all parts of the county, and there were also some visitors from outside.

Tea was provided in the Oddfellows' Hall, to which 130 sat down.

A business meeting was held afterwards at which, in the absence of the Dean, Canon Andrews, of Claxby, presided. The Chairman was supported by the Bishop of Lincoln, Rev. G. F. Wilgress, Rev. Reginald Bond (Hon. Sec. of the Association), Mr. F. F. Linley (Gainsborough), and others. Letters were read from Rev. A. N. Claye (Vicar of Brigg), and Mr. S. F. Hood, of Nettleton Hall, expressing their regret at not being able to attend.

The Report showed that the balance in hand had been slightly increased during the year; also that there were more members on the books than there were a year ago: the numbers now being, 46 honorary members, 126 efficient, 108 probationary, and 47 non-resident life-members, making a total of 325, as against 316 last year. The Dean was unanimously elected President of the Association again for the coming year. The remaining officers were re-elected. The meeting then proceeded to elect representatives to serve on the Central Council during the next three years. During the past three years this office has been held by Mr. F. F. Linley, of Gainsborough, and Mr. Norman E. Snow, of Sleaford. Mr. Linley was re-elected without opposition. In the place of Mr. Snow, the names of Mr. Geo. Chester, and Mr. Gabriel Lindoff, both of Lincoln, were proposed. On a show of hands being made, Mr. Chester was found to have the most supporters, and was therefore declared to be elected. Forty-four new members of the Association were elected; amongst them the Rev. Canon Bramley, Precentor of the Cathedral, as an honorary member.

The Bishop then gave the meeting a most helpful address, in which he said he had the greatest pleasure in speaking to the Church bell-ringers, because he regarded them as fellow-workers—fellow-workers in promoting the glory of God in bringing men nearer to God, and bringing men nearer to each other in Him. There was music in church bells that could be got in no other way, though at first there might seem discord and want of system, yet really there was a strange, sweet, lingering charm all its own, an underlying harmony in a higher sphere. A most valuable work was being done by the bells and bell-ringers. We are liable to be too formal, too stiff in our religion; more heart, more love is wanted. In this matter music does much, and so choirs, by their rendering of church music, have done great service in lifting up the thoughts and minds of the congregations, for music could reach where the sermon would not; men were won round by it, by its system and its charm, where arguments are of no avail, and so were encouraged and put in heart. And so with the music of the church bells, lifting men up to a higher sphere. The ringers were doing a great work in bringing hearts round again, where men would run away from the parson they had to listen to the church bells. So he and they were fellow-workers, doing the same work, and he heartily thanked them for their work. It was quite right they should be bright, pleasant-looking people, such as he saw around him. Many great things grew up silently, unnoticed until they were actually come. Such for instance were the railway men; they had gradually grown up to be a great body of men; having a great power and a great influence for good, and he rejoiced to see them. So, too, with the gradual growth of choirs during the past fifty years, by degrees training up a great body of sound, true church people, a great power in our village. So, too, there had been a gradual growth in the belfries. Time was when the parson would say "I've got the church and the choirs into order, but as to the belfry, there are some things I don't like there, people don't like to be pushed too far, it is best not to interfere, not to enquire too closely there." But now it is quite different, a work has steadily been going on, lifting up a great body of men in the ringers, taking away a great reproach and a great hindrance; so that now they did a great work, calling to men, "come and join us if you like the look of us, if you like the sound of us." "I," said the Bishop, "because I like the look of you and the sound of you, am glad to join you, am with you heart and soul, my fellow-workers."

Mr. Heyhoe proposed that the next meeting in October be held at Grimsby; Mr. Lindoff seconded, and the motion was carried unanimously.

A letter was read from Mr. Snowdon, President of the Yorkshire Association, who was to have addressed the meeting, expressing his regret that an unusual press of business detained him from coming. A letter was also read from Miss Venables, thanking the Association for the message of sympathy with her family on the death of her father, the late Precentor.

Vote of thanks to the Bishop for his address; to Canon Andrews for presiding; and to the Incumbents of the various churches for the use of the bells, concluded the meeting.

Touches in various methods were rung during the course of the afternoon and evening on the bells at the Cathedral, St. Peter-at-Arches, St. Peter-at-Gowts, and St. Bctolph's.

THE ANCIENT SOCIETY OF COLLEGE YOUTHS.

On Friday evening last, May 5st, several members of the above Society met at "The Grosvenor Arms," Stepney, after ringing on the bells of the Parish Church in honour of the seventy-second anniversary birthday of the much respected and veteran ringer and host, Thomas Powell. The names of those taking part in this very pleasant relaxation were Messrs. James Pettit, E. Horrex, C. F. Winney, W. D. Smith, H. Springall, S. Hayes, E. Hall, A. Coles, J. Waghorn, jun., E. Barkus, and S. E. Joyce.

Mr. Thomas Powell will always be remembered by any of those who have had the good fortune to meet him, both as a ringer, and a man. His behaviour is of sterling quality. He is one of those whose nature makes it a pleasure to be in his company, and as steeplekeeper of Waltham Abbey he won, and deserved, the respect of every ringer. It is very pleasing to know that at the patriarchal age of seventy-two, he is fairly well and hearty, able to ring on the church bells, also to take part in double-handed performances, as he did on this occasion, to the tune of Stedman Triples and Grandsire Cinques. In replying to the expressions of the company present, wishing him many years yet wherein to pursue his favorite pastime, Mr. Powell stated that he was very pleased to meet his friends that evening, and he never felt happier than when in the company of ringers. The retiring unobtrusiveness of this relic of a fast disappearing class of ringer has such a fascinating influence upon those who are anyway sensitive of what good fellowship means, that one cannot help thinking what a different place this world of ours to-day would be if such a class was more abundantly and generously placed, both as regards our little ringing worlds, and analogous societies. Before closing, I am sure there are many ringers in England, to whom Mr. Powell is well-known, who would have been pleased to be present, but as force of circumstances has to be reckoned with, they will join with these last lines, wishing him health in his declining years, and many more happy returns of May 1st, and to live as he always has:

"Like a good old English gentleman,
"One of the olden time."

HUGGLESCOTE CHURCH, LEICESTERSHIRE.

A clock with three 6 ft. dials, and striking hours on a large bell, has been erected in the above church by John Smith and Sons, Derby, and was formally started on the 9th ult. by the donor, Mrs. Wills.

CHELTENHAM, GLOUCESTERSHIRE.

A large clock is to be placed in the tower of Cheltenham Training College, as a memorial to the late Rev. Principal Chamney. The committee have commissioned John Smith and Sons, Derby, to carry out the work.

We are sorry to hear that Mr. J. M. Hayes has met with a serious accident. Particulars are not yet to hand, but we hear that he is lying at the West London Hospital with several ribs fractured.

STOKE-ON-TRENT ARCHIDIACONAL ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting of this Association was held at Leek on Easter Monday, April 6th. The attendance at the meeting was not very good, owing no doubt to the various other attractions of the day. The following towers were represented: Bucknall, Cheddleton, Hanley, Kingsley, Leek, Newcastle, Stoke, and Wolstanton. Ringing commenced about eleven o'clock with a touch of Grandsire Triples, and at twelve o'clock a service was held in the parish church, the prayers being read by the Rev. C. B. Maude (vicar), and a practical sermon was preached by the Rev. J. W. Alston, vicar of Cobridge and hon. clerical secretary and treasurer of the Association. After the service the members adjourned to the National Schools, where an excellent dinner was partaken of. The cloth having been removed, the annual meeting was held, the Rev. J. W. Alston presiding. The minutes of the last meeting having been read and passed, the Annual Report was presented by the Hon. lay Secretary (Mr. W. Twigg), which shewed an increased balance in favour of the society.

After the meeting the members again made their way to the tower, where ringing was indulged in until six o'clock, at which hour they again made their way to the schools, where a substantial tea, provided by the ringers of Leek, was awaiting them, and to which ample justice was done.

A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the vicar of Leek for so kindly placing the church and bells at their disposal, and also for the use of the schoolroom.

The rev. gentleman in responding said he was very pleased to welcome the members of the Association to Leek, and to do what he could to further the interests of the society.

A vote of thanks was passed to Mr. T. Turner and his fellow-ringers for the way in which they had provided for the comforts of the members.

Votes of thanks were also passed to the Hon. Secretaries (who were again elected), for their past services. Ringing was indulged in until nine o'clock. During the day touches of Grandsire, Stedman, and Bob Triples, Kent Treble Bob, and Plain Bob Major, and a 720 of Woodbine Treble Bob Minor was rung.

SOMERTON, OXON.

On the 16th of April last a sixth bell was added to the tower of St. James' church, Soberton, and was dedicated by the Lord Bishop of Reading, who subsequently gave a most impressive address on the subject of church bells. The day was a very wet one, but the church was crowded nevertheless. Last year the Rector of the parish, the Rev. G. E. Barnes, restored the church tower, and this year had the five valuable old bells entirely re-bung. These bells bear the following dates: 1635, 1635, 1646, 1670, 1707, and were cast by Henry Bagley, of Chacombe, near Banbury. The new bell bears the inscription:—

"Venite Exultemus Domino," 200 years 5 bells have here been rung,
To make a Peal I now the sixth am hung.

After the service the bells were opened by the Appleton ringers with a 720 of Grandsire Minor. S. White, 1; F. White, 2; H. Walters, 3; Rev. F. E. Robinson (Master of the Oxford Guild), 4; R. White, 5; H. Tubbs, 6. Conducted by F. White. Subsequently the Appleton ringers gave an entertainment with handbells in the rectory barn, by special request.

THE SURREY ASSOCIATION.

A Quarterly Meeting of the above was held at Streatham, on Easter Monday, April 6th, and was well attended, members being present from Betchworth, Benhilton, Beddington, Cheam, Croydon, Epsom, Kingston, London, and Mitcham, together with the local company, making a total of nearly sixty. Unfortunately the bells of Immanuel church were not available until 4.30, owing to a temperance meeting being held close by, some members arriving at 3.0 p.m. being disappointed at the delay. However, the six bells at the parish church were made good use of in the afternoon, and various methods were rung at both churches in the evening.

At the business meeting after tea, which was held in the schoolroom, kindly lent by the rector, Dr. A. B. Carpenter occupied the chair. On the proposition of the Hon. Sec. a hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Rev. Canon Nicholl and the Rev. Canon Streatfield for granting permission for the use of the bells. The death of Mr. G. Foster, jun., late of Mitcham, was announced as having occurred since the last meeting. The local company rang the usual whole pull and stand, with muffled touches on the day of the funeral. Two ringing members and two probationers were elected, also three members, whose proposition had taken place in towers, had their election duly ratified at this meeting. Five peals were announced as having been rung during the previous three months, and a 5040 in seven different Minor methods. It was carried that these be entered in the Association peal-book. Some discussion took place as to the votes of the representatives at the Central Council meeting on the six-bell question, a proposition being made and seconded that the votes be in favour of the same. After some remarks by the chairman and Mr. Burkin, an amendment—"That the two representatives of the Association vote against the proposition on the agenda of the Central Council, re the six-bell question, was carried by twenty-six for eight against.

Mr. Brooker gave notice that at the next meeting he would move "That in future, performances on six bells be not entered in the peal-book."

The next quarterly meeting was decided by a large majority to be held at Epsom (Christ Church) early in July. A vote of thanks to the chairman concluded the meeting.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT AMALGAMATED SOCIETY.

The usual monthly ringing meeting of this society was held at Rothwell on Saturday, April 25th. The peal band was the first arrival, and found a disappointment awaiting them, viz., an interment at four o'clock. However a touch of Kent Treble Bob Major was rung, followed by Minor ringing in Violet, Kent, and Duke of York. The business meeting was held at The White Swan inn, the new President, Mr. J. W. T. Holgate (Bramley), presiding. The minutes of the previous ringing and committee meetings were passed as read. The place of the next meeting was fixed to be held at Addingham, near Ilkley, on Saturday, May 16th. The society's representative, Mr. Tom Lockwood, was called upon to give his views on the various topics dealt with by the Central Council. The chairman followed with a few remarks, and moved a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Lockwood for his three years' assiduous duties to the society. A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the vicar, churchwardens, and local company for the use of the bells and other arrangements. Tower ringing was again commenced by the local band, who are taking the first opportunity of securing a peal-board offered by the society for ringing methods not previously recorded. The first part of a peal of College Exercise Major, 1120 changes, was creditably rung, and much enjoyed by all. Courses on the handbells followed, and at nine o'clock members began to disperse, having thoroughly enjoyed their visit.

Central Council Notices.

COMMITTEE ON RAILWAY FARES.

The Committee have to report that the Railway Companies have again refused to grant additional facilities for ringers when travelling. After the resolution passed at the Brighton meeting, a letter was sent to the Secretary of the Railway Clearing House, naming a deputation of twelve gentlemen who were ready to attend the meeting of Railway Superintendents on April 21st, and asking at what time they would be admitted. The reply of the Secretary was a reference to his letter read by the Rev. H. A. Cockey at the Central Council meeting, in which he stated that no deputation would be required to attend their meeting.

A letter has been received from the Superintendent of the Great Northern Line, which will probably be followed by others to the same effect from the other companies, stating that "The question of issuing tickets at reduced fares to parties of less than eight bellringers was again carefully considered at a conference of Railway Superintendents a few days since, when it was decided to be undesirable to make any alteration in the existing regulation."

THE CHURCH OF ST. MARY, FARNHAM ROYAL, BUCKS.

THE PARISH CHURCH OF ST. MARY, FARNHAM ROYAL, BUCKS.

As a compliment to our brethren who are six-bell ringers, we have selected for our first pen-and-ink sketch the parish church of St. Mary, Farnham Royal, at which that notable composer—MR. JOSEPH J. PARKER—is the presiding genius. The parish of Farnham Royal is about three miles from the nearest railway station—Slough, on the Great Western Railway, about twenty-one miles from Paddington terminus. It is situated in the midst of a lovely country, within speaking distance of those renowned woodlands known as "Burnham Beeches," whose fame is both near and far. The village itself is of a quiet and most unassuming character; and being the distance above-mentioned from that point of civilisation which is represented by a line of railway, the sojourner within its pale is apt to imagine that he has at last reached a kind of dreamland where the dolce far niente can be enjoyed to the very full. Burnham Beeches is a grand hunting ground for artists of all kinds, both of foreign and domestic growth. The constant visits thereto of these gentlemen of the brush has been the means of enlivening to some extent the village of Farnham, for they have led to the running of a service of "'busses," right through the village, all the way to "the Beeches." It is not to be wondered at, perhaps, that the good folk of Farnham look upon such facilities for travel with mixed feelings. But if vehicular advantages must be had, the rough has to be taken with the smooth, and it is said that there is too much of the former for the peace of the quiet villagers.

It is on the Sabbath—in the morn—when the delights and charms of the village are at their best. Then the place seems accurately to fulfil the description of the day of rest portrayed by the poet:—

How still the morning of the hallow'd day!
Mute is the voice of rural labour,
Hush'd the ploughboy's whistle and the milkmaid's song.
Sounds the most faint attract the ear.

We are sorry that space prevents us from giving these lines in their completeness.

The church of Farnham Royal is a modern structure, and for a village church is very neat and commodious. As all know, it has a ring of six bells, upon which has lately been rung their first 5000. Our friend Joseph and his compatriots are severely regular in their attendance upon ringing for Divine Worship, and there is also no complaint about non-attendance of the ringers at that service to which they have previously invited the congregation. Various efforts have been made by Mr. Parker to get his ring of bells augmented to eight, but unfortunately without success. One would imagine that being so near to Windsor Castle, and the village enjoying in its name a truly royal appendage, such a small matter as two additional bells would be soon got over. Hitherto, as we have said, attempts in this direction have not been met with favour. "Try again" is a very good maxim, and perhaps those concerned will not be behindhand in taking the hint.

The edifice of which we give a sketch, is situate some short distance from what may be termed the village proper, the only building near being the National School-room. Admission to the belfry is from the inside, through the principal entrance to the church, the staircase being on the left of the worshippers as they pass into the nave. This can be seen by the engraving. The ringing-chamber is a pleasant and roomy apartment, and though somewhat close to the bells, there is no excess of sound, at any rate none sufficient to make the ringer uncomfortable. The ringing visitor here is made most welcome, all the locals vieing with each in making a brother-string feel at home. He can be accommodated with almost every six-bell method known, and when these are exhausted, friend Joseph is able to oblige him if he requires something new in this way. The living of Farnham Royal is a rectory, in the patronage of Eton College.

CURRENT TOPICS.

The account of the annual meeting of the Hertfordshire Association is a page and nearly another half of most interesting reading. First, as was right and proper, there was Divine Service in the grand old Abbey, where an address was delivered to the ringers present by the Ven. Archdeacon of St. Albans; then a tea at the Town Hall, to which fifty sat down, the Mayor of the city presiding. Then the business meeting at which the indefatigable secretary read a very cheering report, and placed before his hearers the position, prospects, and hopes of the Association. If this Association has not done much in the way of peal-ringing during the past year, it shows a great deal in the way of cohesion. It appears a close, well-knit, and compact body, and this splendid condition of things is beyond doubt owing to the exertions of the officers of the Association. If peal-ringing will augment the satisfaction of the members, I wish them a good blow-out of it during the year.

The excursion to Bedale, a little place in Yorkshire, was disappointing, because the visitors did not bring back a peal with them, which was of course their great desire, and this, too, in spite of the "Brown's Mixture" with which they anointed the gudgeons. Whatever is this compound? I have heard of Prince's Mixture, but I think that was an invention of the celebrated Lundy Foote, but this is not for bell-gudgeons. "Brown's Mixture!" Who was Brown, and from where does he or did he hail? We shall soon be hearing of Smith's Delight, Robinson's Elixir (no pun intended), and Jones's Cordial.

Ah! the presentation to a worthy member of the College Youths recalls vividly to my mind a somewhat similar ceremony, in which my old and lamented friend, George Newson, was the recipient. How the time flies. It seems but the other week since this latter event happened. How strongly does the idea come to us that our life is only a brief pilgrimage. A few more years and we shall be gone too, all of us who will read these lines. I am afraid that most of us shirk such thoughts as these.

Well after all it is not good to be misanthropical. [That's a long word, but a correct one, I hope.] Our Maker did not place us here to be miserable, but to be happy; to make the best of the life that now is, in fact. Therefore, while we can't help feeling a little low when death is busy among those whom we have loved, and honored, it does not become us to dwell too much on such themes.

The Editor has received the following letter:—

A CORRECTION.—SIR,—Kindly inform "Plain Speaker" that the first and only peal, "all by clergymen," one of Stedman Triples, was rung at Drayton, October 2nd, 1884. The seven working bells of Holt's Original were rung by clergymen at Prestbury, October 14th, 1886, a most worthy Cheltonian layman ringing the tenor. These are the only clerical peals to date.—I am, yours truly, F. E. ROBINSON.

I am much obliged to the reverend gentleman for setting me right. There is this advantage in having Mr. Robinson's correction, viz.: the young members of the Exercise now possess information they have not had before with regard to clerical peals. And the incident also shows that no less a person than the Master of the Oxford Guild enjoys reading my "topics."

The Secretary or the Committee of the Midland Counties Association has found it necessary to perform the operation known as "putting the foot down" upon laggard correspondents. Those who now fail, either from forgetfulness or anything else, will smart in their pockets for their indifference, or whatever name it goes by. That such a notice is at all necessary, seems to detract from the qualifications of ringers as men of business. The truth seems to be that ringing, and all that appertains to it, is made too much of the fag-end of our existence. It is pushed too far into the background, and until we practice greater spirit, until in short, our interest becomes practically absorbed in the pursuit, I am afraid we shall always deserve the charge that we are apathetic.

May I again record a hope that the various advertisements by ringers in want of situations are taken notice of. It is not in the power of a great many of us, perhaps, to give employment to those in need of it, but we can be taking observations now and then, and be on the lookout when a job is likely to be "moving." The state of the labour market is shewing an improvement, and those who honour me by reading these lines may hear of something in the way of employment to be had. May I ask such as these to peruse the "situations wanted" column, so as to be ready with a recommendation if it should fall into their hands. Several of these advertisers, I am pleased to hear, have found good situations through the medium of "our" paper.

I hear we commence another volume of "THE BELL NEWS" this week—volume fifteen. That's a good period of time—the same number of years. I hope the same amount of usefulness will accompany the paper during the next fifteen years, and that like old wine it will improve with age. This it will be sure to do, I am confident.

PLAIN SPEAKER.

THE NORTH NOTTS. ASSOCIATION.

The Quarterly Meeting of this Association was held at East Markham, near Tuxford, on Easter Monday, April 6th. The day being fine, there was a large attendance of members and friends, making this meeting the most successful in point of numbers that has been held for some time. The bells at East Markham church were augmented from four to six a short time since by Messrs. Taylor, of Loughborough, the weight of the tenor being 10½ cwt. The "go" of the bells is all that can be desired, and the ringing-chamber roomy and convenient, a fact which no doubt attracted members to this meeting. The neighbouring tower of Tuxford was also open to members of the Association, and a good many touches were rung at both places in the course of the day. This being the first meeting held at East Markham since the tower was added to the Association, Mr. Coulshaw, one of the churchwardens, most hospitably entertained all the ringers at tea at his own expense, whilst Mr. Crawford, his brother churchwarden, Mrs. Crawford, Mrs. Harrison, and other friends did all in their power to give the members a hearty welcome. In the absence of the rector, owing to ill-health, the business meeting which took place before tea, was presided over by the Rev. J. D. Cannon, formerly curate of the parish, and there were also present the Rev. B. Darley, Hon. Secretary, and about forty members. Hearty votes of thanks were unanimously accorded to the rector and churchwardens of East Markham and Tuxford for the use of the bells in their respective towers; to Mr. Coulshaw for his generous entertainment of the members; and to the Rev. J. D. Cannon for kindly presiding. Several 720s were rung during the day, reports of which will appear next week.

THOMAS BLACKBOURN,

CHURCH BELL HANGER, AND TUNER. SALISBURY, WILTSHIRE.

THOMAS BLACKBOURN is a practical Ringer, and having had considerable experience in Church Bell hanging and tuning, with confidence solicits the patronage of the Clergy, Churchwardens and Ringers generally.

T. B. has devoted a great deal of attention to the fixing of Clock Hammers, used for striking the hours and quarters on Church Bells. These are sometimes placed in awkward and dangerous positions, even by Church Clock Makers.

T. BLACKBOURN'S experience enables him to affix these hammers, with their accompanying levers in a most accurate manner, preventing any danger to the bell frame or clock. He will be glad to advise on clocks as well as bells.

The Ellacombe Chime Hammers fixed. Sole Fixer of Selby's Apparatus for Silent practice. Handbells supplied. Bells weighed in the tower at a small cost.

A PEAL OF 362,880 GRANDSIRE CATERS, 6d.
Contains the full extent of changes on nine bells. Forwarded Post Free, on receipt of 7d By James Hewett, 16, Chapel Row, Gosport.

The Bell News & Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, MAY 9, 1896.

THIS week "THE BELL NEWS" enters upon another year of its existence. We have completed the fourteenth volume of the weekly issue, and commence, with strong hopes and prospects, upon the fifteenth.

For the first time a new volume is commenced with an heading on the first of its news pages. This we have done so that when the yearly volumes are bound, a more appropriate beginning to each will appear on the first page. A feature upon which we shall be glad to hear the opinion of our friends is indexes. When we formerly published a yearly index, not an occasion passed without hearing from many quarters that they were not required; that they made this journal look more like a magazine than a newspaper; and other similar objections. On the other hand, we had less than a dozen advocates for their continuance. But the subject has come to the front once more, and owing to the representations made during the past three months, we have determined to re-commence them, and in due course we shall therefore issue an index,

Another feature we intend to introduce into our paper, is sketches, not only of churches interesting to ringers, but pictures of other subjects, having a close and important affinity with the ringing Art. The nature of these particulars will be made plain in due course. Occasionally, as the necessity arises, we shall add another four pages to the paper without increasing the price of publication; this will be done in order to avoid the collection of arrears of reports sent for insertion. Now and then we shall issue a double number, but these numbers will in the future contain two or more illustrations; and this feature will, we hope and believe, commend itself to our readers. On the 30th inst. we shall issue a Portrait Number. This will contain a portrait group of the performers of the silent peal of Stedman Triples at Leicester, with the referees in attendance.

WORK FOR THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

SIR,—The Central Council would render good service to the science of bell-ringing if it found some way of diffusing an elementary knowledge of the Art amongst the general public. At present only in localities where the Art has been maintained at a high standard for generations do the inhabitants have even a crude idea of what this Art consists of. Everything relating to it is regarded as mysterious, and its nomenclature as something clean outside the mental capacity of an ordinary mortal who has not gone through some strange process of initiation, and hence what has become the motto of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association, Ars incognita contemnitur, is only too generally appropriate. This certainly need not be. An elementary description, which was well to the point, concise, and historically interesting, if inserted in encyclopedias and the like publications, and perhaps in the Church of England Year-Book, would do a great deal to enlighten the general public on rudiments of the Art, and it need scarcely be added that a correspondingly increased general interest in its music and exercise could not fail to result in the long run. Our Central Council is undoubtedly the proper body to see that this is done.

NOTES FROM OBSERVATION.

I must congratulate the Yorkshiremen on their recent six-bell achievement, but oh! that "Kent Variation." My good Yorkshiremen, wake up and mix it a little.

G. F. A. hit you very hard a few weeks ago, but never mind, perhaps the next annual report will be more acceptable to that gentleman.

Now I feel convinced in my own mind you are quite capable of giving us a bit of "Oxford," and one or two evening's careful study out of the tower would put you right. Will you try it?

You Lancashiremen can also take the hint.

So the first peal of Canterbury Pleasure Triples has been scored in Wales. Go on, my ancient Britons! and let us hear of you scoring the first peal of Major also.

* * *

A week or two ago I attended a meeting in connection with one of our big Associations. Among the veterans I came across "Old Jack," and right glad I was to see him. When I heard him speak, his voice seemed weak and not so strong as when I knew him first. Ah Jack, you are not as young as you used to be, but I hope you will be spared to handle the strings for many years to come.

I also saw "Bob-Caller Tom," and little "Curly." They looked remarkably well, and were as eager as any of the younger ones to have a pull. Eh Tom, in days gone by I always felt the peal was safe when you were calling the "Roberts."

After the business meeting, I wended my way towards the tower, but before I arrived the bells were in motion. I stood and listened, and must confess was overjoyed with what I heard—regular striking and clear, open leads. I was curious to know who had been pulling the ropes, and upon enquiry found out the performers were two men and the remainder youths; but they would put to shame many of you older ringers who pride yourselves on knowing how to handle a bell.

Well Joseph, I am glad you have scored a 5000 on your peal of six; I know it has been your ambition for a long time, and I heartily congratulate you.

But Joe, it's only in four methods; how do you account for it? Never mind, it's all the same. If it had been in seven or fourteen, it could'n't have appeared in the "peal column." Don't you know according to recent "rules and regulations" it only comes under the heading of a "performance"?

Oh! shame upon you Central Council to ignore our six-bell ringers. I say shame, thrice shame upon you.

I'll be bound if it was put to the test; that very few of you could boast of having accomplished a 5000 in a variety of methods. And yet you are the judges of this important question. With all respect to you gentlemen as a collective body, I say you are not the men to pronounce judgment in this matter.

What's wanted is a fair representation of six-bell ringers—men who have rung a variety of methods—to enable the question to be fairly discussed.

Don't think, gentlemen, the decision you have arrived at has settled the question. No, the six-bell ringers of England will be a thorn in your side, and if they can't get justice in Parliament, then the only course left open is to agitate and go in for Home Rule.

Obituary.

SAMSON BURTON.

It is with feelings of the deepest sympathy that we have to record the death of Samson Burton, of Nottingham, which took place at his house, 17, Haydn Road, Sherwood, on Wednesday, the 29th April, and was buried in Carrington Churchyard, on Saturday, May 2nd. The deceased rang his first peal, which was one of Grandsire Caters, at St. Mary's, Nottingham, on March 18th, 1870, and took part in several peals before the formation of the Midland Counties Association of Change-ringers (of which he was one of the first members), since which time he has taken part in thirteen peals of Grandsire Triples and Caters, Stedman Triples and Caters, and Treble Bob Major. He was in the first peal of Grandsire Caters rung by the Midland Counties Association, at St. Margaret's, Leicester, and his last peal was one of Stedman Caters, at Loughborough. He was also a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, and rang a peal of Stedman Triples with them, we believe, at All Saints, Fulham. He had had a very severe and long illness, extending close upon two years, and for the last 12 months had not been able to do any work. He often expressed his most sincere thanks to the Exercise generally for the noble response made by them on his behalf last August. He was borne to the grave by four of his fellow ringers, viz.:—Messrs. S. Wilkins, E. H. Holroyd, W. Flinders, and H. Wooding, and in addition to these we noticed also Messrs. G. Middleton, E. Robinson, W. E. White, H. W. Abbott, E. Hughes, A. Archer, S. Simpkin, etc. The coffin bore the inscription:—"Samson Burton, died April 29th, 1896, aged 57 years." At All Saints' church, after the funeral, a touch of Grandsire Triples was rung with the bells half-muffled, by Messrs. S. Wilkins, 1; E. Robinson, 2; S. Simpkin, 3; H. Wooding, 4; E. W. Holroyd, 5; J. Hickman, 6; R. Gee, 7; W. Flinders, tenor. The ringers could only get permission for half an hour's ringing, or otherwise an attempt would have been made for a peal. May he be at rest, will be the wish of every ringer who knew Sam. Burton, for wherever he went his genial disposition made him beloved by every one.

WILLIAM CHARLES GEORGE.

On Sunday, April 5th, the above died suddenly at his own residence in Cromford Road, Ripley, Derbyshire, shortly after leaving choir practice. He was a native of Norfolk, but for over 40 years had been a member of All Saints' Choir, Ripley. He was in his 80th year. On Sunday, April 12th, at All Saints' Church, Ripley, was rung with the bells deeply muffled, three 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles. T. Allen, 1; W. Houlby, 2; B. Fletcher, 3; F. H. Kay (conductor), 4; W. Wigginton, 5. An attempt was made for 720 of Doubles, but after ringing 580, it was lost through a rope breaking. T. Allen, 1; G. Brown, 2; B. Fletcher, 3; W. Houlby, 4; F. H. Kay (conductor), 5. On Monday evening, 720 Grandsire and Manchester Doubles:—*T. Allen, 1; W. Houlby, 2; B. Fletcher, 3; †F. H. Kay (conductor), 4; W. Wigginton, 5; with bells half-muffled. *First 720. †First 720 as conductor. The funeral took place in the General Cemetery, when a large concourse of people assembled to witness the mournful ceremony, and to pay a last tribute of respect to the memory of the deceased, who was highly respected, not only as a churchman, but by all who had the pleasure of his acquaintance. A flag, hoisted half-mast high, was to be seen floating from the tower of All Saints' church. Several muffled peals were rung on the bells of All Saints' church during the day, and the Vicar at both morning and evening services alluded in suitable terms to the excellent services rendered in connection with the church by the deceased.

The above composition has the 5th and 6th bells exclusively and equally behind the 9th bell, and the least number of calls, forty-nine, any peal in this method ever has or will contain. First rung at All Saints, West Ham, on February 22nd, 1896, by the Essex Association, conducted by H. Randall.

1,3. 23456 at hand

This composition is the first rung with its qualities, in a limited number of changes, viz.: the 5th and 6th equally and exclusively behind the 9th bell, and the best arrangement by which this result will be obtained for ever. First rung at St. Sepulchre's church, Snow Hill, London, January 11th, 1896, by the Royal Society of Cumberland Youths, conducted by its author.

Twice repeated.

This is a peal I have had for several years, but don't know if it has been rung.

Repeated.

This latter is the first peal published on the plan, and is thought to be the first ever obtained in two equal parts without the 2nd being in 6ths place at the course-ends. It is noteworthy that 6th place honours are equally divided between the 3rd, 4th, 5th and 6th bells in this composition.

4	3	2	5	6			S

These twelve courses repeated, omitting the call at M, complete the peal.

This peal has the 6th twenty-four times wrong and right, in the least possible number of changes without parting the tenors. If the bobs braced are omitted in one part it will reduce the peal to 5168. First rung at Armley, Yorks, on March 31st, 1896, on handbells, in 2 hrs. 37 mins., conducted by Harry Williams.

BRITISH WORKMAN'S & GENERAL ASSURANCE COMPANY, LIMITED.

Established in Birmingham in 1866, as the BRITISH WORKMAN'S LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY.

London: City Offices, 2, West Street, Finsbury Pavement, E.C.

Chief Offices: Broad Street Corner, Birmingham.

HENRY PORT, Managing Director.
S. J. PORT, Secretary.

ORDINARY AND INDUSTRIAL ASSURANCE.

THE ORDINARY DEPARTMENT.—This department is rapidly growing in importance, and its development—which is well assured—largely contributes to the success of the Company. The directors are taking steps for the further advancement of this department.

INDUSTRIAL DEPARTMENT.—Under the system at present prevailing among Industrial Life Offices, the weekly collections involve much expense, which must necessarily be added to the normal premium rates, and thus Life Assurance becomes exceedingly heavy to those classes who can least afford the extra cost. The directors have completed arrangements by which they hope to obviate this evil, and have prepared a set of tables under which the Industrial classes may assure £10, £20, £30, or £40, either with or without profits, and at rates approximating to those usual in the Ordinary department of Life Offices generally. The premiums may be paid yearly, half-yearly, or quarterly at the option of the policy-holders. Hitherto, no equal opportunities have been offered to assurers of small sums, and the new departure ought to make a complete revolution in this branch of the business, to the obvious advantage of policy-holders.

REVOLUTION IN METHODS.

WHAT The British Workman's is proposing to do is to combine the two to some extent, and to give to industrial policy-holders the opportunity of assuring for £10, £20, £30, or £40, with or without profits, and with yearly, half-yearly, or quarterly premiums. Nothing of this kind, we believe, has been done before, and should this new scheme prove successful, as it certainly ought, it may effect something very like a revolution in industrial assurance. In the past, the classes which have been unable to afford an insurance large enough to come under the head of an Ordinary policy have been compelled to pay rates relatively far higher for the small assurance that they could afford. This scheme enables persons of small means to insure for small sums on the best terms, and should prove immediately popular. At age twenty a premium of one penny a week assures £8 6s. at death, whereas a quarterly payment of one shilling and a penny, precisely the same rate, assures £10. It may be assumed that the public will not be long in finding this out, and when it is once clearly understood that quarterly premiums for such small amounts are accepted, an increasing disposition to prefer this method to the usual weekly payments may fairly be expected.—Insurance Observer, 17th January, 1896.

M.A., Ch. Ch., Oxford; F.Z.S., F.R.G.S., Great Marlow,
Bucks. With many illustrations.
MESSRS. JARROLD & SONS have pleasure in announcing the
early publication by subscription of this most interesting and important work. It will contain an account of all the Church Bell in Buckinghamshire, with everything relating to their history that can be discovered. Full accounts of all the Foundries whose bells
hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. The work was undertaken at the instigation of the late J. C. L. Stahlischmidt Esq., author of "Surrey Bells and Local Bell-founders," "The Church Bells of Kent," "Herts," etc.; and the fact that the author
had the benefit of the kind assistance and advice of this well-known campanologist may be mentioned as some guarantee of the scope and nature of the present work. Mr. Stahlischmidt wrote the author,
that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting county," and he repeated this opinion in a subsequent letter. The
"Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 500 pages to be handsomely illustrated with 24 full-page plates of mediaeval letter-
ings, founders' marks, etc., found on Bells still existing in the County and numerous figures—some of them being peculiar to Bucks—will be inserted in the text. The 8vo. Edition is limited to 350 copies, and will be offered to subscribers before the day of publication at 5s. nett. The Larger Edition, Royal 4to, is limited to 80 copies, and will be subscribed at 42s. The prices will be raised on the day
of issue should any copies remain unsold.

CHURCH IMPROVEMENTS AT LOWICK, NORTHANTS.

DEDICATION BY THE DEAN OF PETERBOROUGH.

Passers by on the high road from Thrapston to Brigstock cannot help noticing the exceedingly beautiful tower of St. Peter's, Lowick. Its thorough state of repair, its architectural features, its many pinnacles and vanes, are all peculiar characteristics of this ancient pile. Church towers in Northamptonshire, like those of Lincolnshire, are, generally speaking, surmounted by broach spires. But not so with Lowick. The tower is remarkably elegant, being crowned with twelve pinnacles, with octagonal lantern tower springing from within the main tower, and supported by flying buttresses. At Fotheringhay there is a similar structure, and with this exception there is no other tower of like design in the country. It is a perfect architectural piece of work, complete in design, therefore unlike many other towers to which spires have been subsequently added. The church, a handsome edifice in Later English and Perpendicular styles, was restored in 1887. Since that time many improvements have been carried out through the energy of the rector, the Rev. J. S. Watson. In 1894 the ead and wood work were made good in the lantern; in 1895 the pinnacles were renovated with new stone, and the damage done by the recent gale rectified. The latter improvements comprise the strengthening of the bell frames with iron, the re-arranging and re-hanging of the bells, and the addition of a new treble. This work has been carried out by Messrs. Taylor, of Loughborough. The total amount spent in improvements is £250, and it is satisfactory to note that, not including the offertory at the dedication service, only £20 remain to be raised. A word about the interior of the church may be interesting. The windows of the north aisle contain some brilliant specimens of fourteenth century glass. It is supposed these designs formerly constituted a large window in the first church, and have been preserved in their present position. There were originally about forty figures, but only fifteen remain. In the south chapel there is a splendid monument of of richly carved alabaster. This is to the memory of Charles Sackville, fifth Duke of Dorset, and others are enclosed by an ornamental screen.

The dedication of the new bell took place at a special service held yesterday, at which the Very Rev. the Dean of Peterborough (Dr. Ingram) officiated. The service was fully choral, and led by the surpliced choir, with Mr. Worthington at the organ. The church was beautifully decorated. At five minutes to three the old five bells were rung, and shortly after the choir and clergy came out from the west end. The clergy present were the Dean of Peterborough, the Revs. F. Hodgson, F. Lawson, W. Croome, G. Edmonds, W. Dennett, J. Watson, and H. Ingram. The act of dedication was performed by the Dean, who stood beneath the western arch and offered prayers, ultimately declaring the bell now dedicated and set apart to the service of Almighty God. Seven strokes were given on the new bell, after which the clergy and choir proceeded to their places singing "Onward Christian Soldiers." The proper Psalms xlvii., xcvi., were appropriately chanted. The first lesson was read by the Rev. F. Hodgson, and the second by the Rev. F. Lawson. Simper's Easter anthem—"Hallelujah, Christ is risen," was creditably rendered. The hymn before the sermon was "Angel voices."

The Dean chose as his text Psalm xcv. 8. The use of bells in connection with the worship of Almighty God was, he said, at least as old as the time of Moses. In the early Church of Christ there was no opportunity for using bells, for in the early ages of the Church's history, when she was passing through so much persecution, the services were conducted in secret so as to avoid persecution. For the use of bells as a means of gathering people together for public worship they were indebted to a bishop of the fifth century—St. Paulinus, bishop of Nola, Campana, in Italy. It was at the place where he was bishop that bells were formerly called Nola or Campana. It was truly remarkable how large an influence bells used in connection with the public worship of God had upon Christendom. It was to the bells they owed a good deal—the tapering spires, the magnificent and lordly towers, and the lovely belfries. All these things, which were the beauties of English landscape, were due to the bells, because towers were built for the bells, and not the bells for the towers. The idea of the sound of church bells had always been two-fold. Their voice was as the voice of God sending forth a message to His people, and also the voice of man praising God in terms of thanksgiving, prayer, and praise. So the bells had dotted the whole country with beautiful spires and towers which beautified and adorned the landscape of every Christian land. How wonderfully great the influence of bells had been on the outward aspect of Christendom! How they seemed to enter into the life of the nation. They were heard ringing out national joy, and they were heard tolling mournfully in times of national depression. They also saw how the bells entered into the social life of a parish. First of all the bells rang out their merry peals in times of parish festivity and festival; ringing too the happy marriage peal when man and woman were united in the bonds of holy matrimony. At other times they solemnly tolled when a loved one was called to rest, speaking with muffled voice, and echoing tones of sorrow as the soul was called away. Bells not only entered into the social life of the parish, but in the spiritual and religious life as well. The merry chiming of the bells marked every Sunday as it came round as being holy to the Lord. It was the voice of the bells which called parishioners to early service, matins, and evensong—to prayer, praise and thanksgiving, and to receive God's gifts of Grace. What were the bells of the parish to be to them; that peal with its one new voice added that day? He knew well how great an interest they had taken in beautifying their ancient church. This proved how grateful they were for the many blessings they and their forefathers received in that parish church. They had done their best, and their gathering together that day in so large a number testified to the earnestness, zeal, and devotion they had brought to bear upon the work of beautifying their parish church, in setting right the damage done some time ago, re-setting the old bells, and adding a new one. What was to be the effect of the bells on their lives? He besought them to let them speak God's message to their souls, reminding them how rapidly time was passing, and of that day when the self-same bells would ring out the passing of their souls from all that was mortal, to the great hereafter.

The hymn, "Holy off'rings rich and rare," was then sung, during which the offertory on behalf of the improvement fund was taken.

A public tea, largely attended, was held in a building appropriately decorated, and kindly lent by Mr. Agutter. The ringers are all competent men, who, by visiting neighbouring towers, have greatly improved in the method of change-ringing. Their names are Messrs. Swan, Dunkley, Jacques, Guest, Harris, and E. Curtis. Several touches of Grandsire Doubles were rung during the afternoon.

TEIGNMOUTH, DEVON.

A large chiming clock with three dials is to be erected upon West Teignmouth church tower by John Smith and Sons, Derby, who also made the clock upon the East Teignmouth church a few years ago.

THE SALOP GUILD.

UNVEILING OF A PEAL TABLET.—An interesting ceremony took place in St. Chad's belfry on Easter Monday, at a meeting of the above Guild. A tablet to commemorate the ringing of a peal of Grandsire Triples, on February 11th, 1896, was unveiled by Mr. W. Adams, churchwarden of St. Chad's, in the presence of the clergy and the other churchwardens of the church. Mr. Adams explained that it was the first peal of Triples rung on the bells by a local band for many years, and complimented the ringers on their success. He added that the churchwardens of St. Chad's were anxious to give every encouragement they could, both to the St. Chad's ringers and to the Guild generally, and a practical proof was at once given of their good wishes by all becoming bon. members of the Guild.

Mr. Adams' remarks were much appreciated by the ringing members of the Guild and were received with cheers.

The following is a copy of the tablet:—

"On Thursday, February 11th, 1896, eight members of the Shrewsbury Guild of Change-Ringers ascended this tower and rang on the front eight bells a peal of Grandsire Triples, 5040 changes, in 2 hours and 59 minutes, containing 194 bobs and 46 singles. A. Bennett, 1; G. J. Taylor, 2; G. Burrows, 3; T. Burd, 4; W. J. Taylor, 5; A. H. Espley, 6; G. Byolin, 7; A. W. Davies, 8. Conducted by G. Byolin. The above peal was rung on the 63rd birthday of Mr. T. Burd, his brother-ringers wishing him many happy returns of the day."

MARTLEY, WORCESTERSHIRE.

Easter Monday found W. H. Barber and W. Short, of Clent, and T. Elcox, of Areley Kings, at the above place, by the kind invitation of the Vicar, the Rev. J. F. Hastings, to attempt a 5040, but owing to one of the band (J. Barber) being unable to attend it was necessary to find a treble man, which being done the following touches were rung: 360 Canterbury Pleasure, 360 College Single. H. Humpherson, 1; F. Rowley, 2; W. Short, (conductor), 3; T. Elcox, 4; W. H. Barber, 5; Rev. J. F. Hastings, 6. A 720 of Bob Minor, conducted by W. H. Barber, this being the first 720 by the treble and 2nd men. The visitors were afterwards entertained to dinner by the Vicar, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all. A move was again made to the tower and 2520 changes were rung in the following methods: 720 College Single, 720 Oxford Bob, 720 Canterbury, and 360 Bob Minor, in 1 hr. 25 mins, the ringers standing as above. The handbells were then brought into use, Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Bob Major being indulged in by the Rev. J. F. Hastings, W. H. Barber, W. Short and F. Rowley. Great credit is due to H. Humpherson and F. Rowley, it being their first attempt at Minor. The visitors wish to thank the local band for meeting them on this occasion.

GAINSBOROUGH, LINCOLNSHIRE.

THE NORTH LINCOLNSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

On Tuesday, April 21st, at the parish church, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples in 50 mins. E. Credland (first quarter-peal), 1; W. Bust, 2; W. Tinker, 3; Rev. R. Bond, 4; J. Ladd, 5; H. Kirton, 6; F. Butler (conductor), 7; G. Wilson, 8. Composed by H. W. Wilde, and taken from "THE BELL NEWS" of April 23rd, 1892. Rung as a farewell to the Rev. R. Bond, who is leaving the parish for St. Mary-le-Wigford, Lincoln, the ringers wishing him success in his new sphere.

Mr. J. C. Tinker on behalf of the Gainsborough branch of the above Association, then presented him with a marble time-piece. On Wednesday, May 6th, on the occasion of the opening of the Fanny Marshall Memorial Institute by the Bishop of Lincoln, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples in 47 mins., with J. C. Tinker, 4; the rest standing as above. Composed by J. A. Brown, of Bilston, Staffordshire, and conducted by H. W. Kirton, being his first quarter-peal in the method as conductor.

THE PEAL "APPENDIX, 1895," PRINTED BY the Central Council Committee, may be obtained post free, with the Report on Calls, on application to the Hon. Secretary, Rev. H. Earle Bulwer, Stanhoe Rectory, King's Lynn, enclosing 7½d. in stamps.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.—EASTERN DIVISION.

The members of the above held a meeting at Battle on Saturday, April 18th, when a fair number of members were present. Various touches were rung on the church bells, and a special choral service was held in the parish church at a quarter to five o'clock, evensong being intoned by the Rev. W. Crompton, and the letters and special prayers read by the Dean. The members then adjourned to The George hotel, where tea was partaken of, after which the Dean presided over the business meeting, being supported by the Rev. W. Crompton.

The Dean, having cordially welcomed the visitors to Battle, proceeded to say that it was such Associations as that which had made bell-ringing what it was. Much interest was being taken in it, and in consequence, greater proficiency was attained. That was a great point, but, from his view of the matter, it was the least of the advantages of an Association of that kind. It had had the effect of totally changing what had been the condition of belfries in the olden days. Such doings as were then common would now be regarded as incredible. Smoking and drinking, for instance, in what must certainly be regarded as a part of God's House. The bellringer of old greatly resembled the sign post, which pointed out the road, but never followed it. He often rang the people to church, which he never entered. But there was now a change, due in a great measure to such Associations as theirs. For that reason he personally did what he could for the Association, for he considered that the matters to which he had referred were far more important than change-ringing, although he would not not speak slightly of that. The great thing they had to aim at was the honour and glory of God. He would like to have a regular service drawn up with the sanction of the Bishop, for use on all occasions such as had occurred that day.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the Secretary and confirmed, and new ringing members and one honorary member (Mr. W. Austin, of Battle), were elected. Messrs. Luck, Mathis, and Brant, were nominated to serve on the Committee for the Eastern Division.

Mr. Hyland suggested that it should be brought before the Executive that it would be a good plan to provide boards on which to record peals by branches of the Association.

The matter was discussed, and

The secretary stated that it would probably have to be restricted to the first peal on account of the expenses. It was a matter to be dealt with by the general committee.

Mr. Saker then proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Dean for presiding, and for the cordial welcome he had given the members of the Association, and also for the special service they had attended. With reference to the wish of the Dean that a special service should be drawn up, the matter had been before the Central Council, but they preferred to leave it to the discretion of the vicars of the various parishes visited by the Association. He also thanked those members who had come from a long distance.

Mr. Franks seconded, and the motion having been carried, the Dean appropriately responded.

On the motion of Mr. Hyland, seconded by the Dean, a vote of thanks was accorded to Mr. Saker for his services, Mr. Wagstaff also being thanked for his excellent catering.

The members then returned to the belfry, and ringing was resumed until 9.30.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

OFFICIAL MINUTES.

The Sixth Annual Meeting of the Council was held in the Pavilion, at Brighton, on Tuesday, April 7th, the President, Mr. Percival Heywood, in the chair. Of representative members forty were present out of seventy-seven, representing twenty-two out of thirty-one societies; and of Honorary members two out of eight. The minutes of the meeting of 1895 were read by the Hon. Secretary and confirmed.

The Hon. Secretary presented the accounts for the past year, which shewed an initial balance of £41 6s. 2½d.; subscriptions received £8 12s. 6d.; sale of Peal Appendix £4 2s. 6d.; total £54 1s. 2½d.; Expenditure, Printing £10 17s. 0d.; Postages, 12s. 7½d.: total £11 9s. 7½d.; balance in hand £42 11s. 7d.

On the motion of Mr. W. D. Smith, seconded by the Rev. G. F. Coleridge, the accounts were passed.

Mr. Tom Lockwood was elected an Hon. Member, to sit next year, on the motion of Mr. R. S. Story, seconded by Mr. F. G. Newman.

The Rev. H. A. Cockey presented the Report of the Committee on Rail Fares; action upon which was subsequently taken in connection with a motion made by Mr. Attree.

The Hon. Secretary moved, and Mr. J. Griffin seconded, the adoption of the Preliminary Report of the Committee on Technical Terms. With an amendment to clause 5, substituting the phrase "plain course" for "rounds," this was agreed to.

Mr. G. F. Attree presented the report of the Committee on Peal Values. The experimental adoption of the Schedule of points, recommended by the Committee, was moved by the Rev. F. E. Robinson, seconded by the Rev. E. W. Carpenter, and agreed to.

The Rev. F. E. Robinson proposed, and the Rev. G. F. Coleridge seconded, and it was carried, that "Any length over 5000 should be valued at an increasing ratio."

Mr. G. F. Attree proposed, the Rev. M. Kelly seconded, and it was carried, "That the Annual Meeting be in future held at Whitsuntide, instead of in Easter week."

Mr. B. Foskett read a paper and moved, on behalf of Mr. H. Dains, who was unavoidably absent, "That it is desirable to augment the members of the Committee for the classification of peals, in order that, as far as possible, each method may be dealt with by a separate member of the Committee; that to ensure uniformity of procedure it is desirable that the whole committee should be under the guidance of a chairman, and that it be an instruction to the enlarged Committee to furnish to the Council a definition of the points constituting 'original authorship,' and of those which determine 'variation.'" This was seconded by Mr. G. Williams.

The President moved an amendment to appoint a small committee consisting of the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, Dr. Carpenter, Mr. H. Dains, and the Hon. Secretary, to find suitable persons to undertake the collection, examination, and arrangement of compositions, each to deal with one method. This, with the addition of the latter part of the original motion, was accepted by Messrs. Foskett and Williams, and agreed to.

Mr. Tom Lockwood moved to add a rider to the definition of a peal on six bells: "It shall be sufficient to constitute a peal on six bells, if, the full 720 changes in any one method having been rung, the 5040 changes are completed by half-extents, or 360 changes, no two half-extents to be rung in the same method." Mr. W. Walmsley seconded.

The Rev. E. W. Carpenter moved, as an amendment, "That all records of peals be classified, and performances on the various numbers of bells kept distinct." Seconded by Mr. J. Parker, and lost. The original motion was also lost by a majority of twenty-two to nine.

Mr. C. E. D. Boutflower moved, and the Rev. H. A. Cockey seconded, "That is desirable that at all quarterly and district meetings of any Association or Guild of Church Bell Ringers, as well as at their annual meetings, arrangements should be made, wherever possible, for holding a short service in the parish church, at which the Incumbent should be asked to address the ringers present." An amendment moved by the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, and seconded by the Hon. Secretary, "That the Council views with satisfaction the increase in the number of services held in connection with ringers' meetings," was withdrawn in favour of one suggested by the President, seconded by Mr. R. T. Holding, accepted by Mr. Boutflower, and adopted, "That it is desirable, wherever convenient, at all important ringing meetings of church bell ringers that arrangements should be made for holding a short service in the church."

Mr. G. F. Attree moved, and the Rev. F. J. O. Helmore seconded, and it was carried, "that a deputation wait upon the Railway Clearing House Committee on the subject of cheap fares for ringers."

The Hon. Secretary moved, and Mr. S. Reeves seconded, and it was carried, "that Mr. G. F. Attree's name should be added to the former Committee on Railway Fares, and that the Committee have power to select the deputation."

Mr. G. F. Attree proposed, and the Rev. C. D. P. Davies

seconded, "that it is desirable, when members are elected otherwise than at recognised Association meetings, that some uniform regulation relating thereto should be adopted by all ringing societies; and that the following be suggested by the Council to the Societies:—that it shall be permissible for any band of ringers to elect one member in the tower prior to starting for a peal, provided, before the attempt is made, either the proposer or seconder shall have received the candidate's subscription, and notified to the Secretary of the Association his name and address." The motion was lost by 15 to 13.

The President made an offer to draw up a Report for presentation to the Council on the titles to be applied to Thurstan's compositions in Stedman Triples, which was cordially accepted.

The discussion on the claims of the Burton, or Thackrah's, variation of Cambridge Surprise to be considered as the Standard method, was deferred, the President undertaking to publish a statement of the case in the meantime.

A vote of thanks to Mr. Attree for his hospitality to the members of the Council was proposed by the President, seconded by the Hon. Secretary, and carried with acclamation. Votes of thanks to the President and Hon. Secretary concluded the meeting.

THE LIVERPOOL DIOCESAN GUILD.

ANNUAL MEETING.—The annual meeting of the Guild was held on Saturday, April 25th, at Christ Church, Southport. After several touches had been rung on the bells, they were chimed for service. The prayers were read by the Rev. W. T. Bulpit, and an able and impassioned sermon was preached by the Rev. Canon Honeyburne, who chose for his text Jeremiah vi., 17, "Hearken to the sound of the trumpet." He called attention to the many passages in Scripture in which reference was made to the trumpet, and to the various occasions upon which it was employed. It was interesting to note how, as the nations became Christianised and more highly civilized, and the churches and cathedrals which were the glory of this and other lands, raised on high their towers and spires, the bells gradually took the place of the trumpet. The curfew tolled the knell of parting day, the tocsin sounded an alarm in time of war or fire, the wedding bells gave forth a joyful peal, and the passing bell with solemn sound spoke of the parting of a soul, in addition to the ordinary use of the bell to gather the congregation together to worship God. We should not therefore be going beyond the spirit of the text if we read it "Hearken to the sound of the bell." It sounds an alarm, reminding us that we are surrounded by enemies, the world, the flesh, and the devil, and summoning us to fight the good fight. It speaks, too, of holy joy and gladness, as it gathers the people to hear the glad tidings of great joy, and it speaks of holy readiness for service, for as of old the trumpet sounded "over the burnt offering," so should the bell remind the worshippers of the need of personal dedication to the service of the Lord. The speaker closed by asking the members of the guild to bear in mind the thoughts which were thus suggested by the "sound of the bell."

A collation meanwhile had been prepared at Mr. Fisher's dining hall, and to this the members repaired. Among the honorary members present were Messrs. W. L. Hutton, Aughton; J. Martin, Bootle; R. Musker, Sefton; W. T. Coates, Liverpool; —, Lea, Ormskirk; A. E. Smith, H. Smith, Liverpool; J. Short, Bootle; and Mrs. Bulpit, Mrs. Hartnell, and Mrs. Martin.

After the repast the Rev. W. T. Bulpit was called to the chair, and, on the proposition of Mr. W. L. Hutton, Canon Honeyburne was elected president, with acclamation. The rev. gentleman responded in a vigorous and pithy speech, promising also an annual reception to the guild.

Mr. Martin then produced the accounts, showing favourable balances, viz.: General fund, £5; benevolent fund, with the collection of the day, £10.

On the motion of Mr. W. Bentham these were passed, and a number of new members, including Mr. R. Armistead, the respected warden of Christ Church, were proposed and accepted.

Mr. Ascroft, of Croston, proposed a vote of thanks to the officers of the guild for their services during the past year, and this was cordially carried.

After discussion, it was arranged for the committee to make grants from the benevolent fund at their discretion. Mr. Martin was then elected treasurer, and the Rev. W. Bulpit and Mr. W. Bentham co-secretaries.

Mr. Coates then delivered an address on the antiquity and make of bells.

Afterwards, on the motion of Mr. W. L. Hutton, a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the chairman for his many and great services to the guild. This was seconded by Mr. Martin, and carried.

BUSHEY.—THE HERTFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

On Thursday, April 30th, an attempt was made to ring Holt's Original peal of Grandsire Triples, but unfortunately came to grief after two hours and twenty minutes' ringing. W. Thorne, 1; A. J. Pate, 2; W. Lightfoot, 3; E. P. Debenham, 4; W. J. Oakley, 5; W. H. L. Buckingham, 6; E. E. Huntley (conductor), 7; F. Smith, 8. The band then adjourned to the Manor House, by kind invitation of Mr. Harford (churchwarden), and were met by the Rev. T. H. Kynaston (Rector), Mr. W. Smith (churchwarden), and other friends. A splendid spread awaited them in the billiard room, to which ample justice was done, and after a few songs and cigars a most enjoyable evening concluded with a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Harford for his generosity.

THE NORTH NOTTS. ASSOCIATION.

On a recent Saturday, the Rev. B. Darley, Secretary of the above Association entertained the Committee members at the picturesque little village of Harthill. They were met at the Kiveton Park railway station by one of the local ringers, and escorted thither by conveyance. On arrival they were introduced to the Rector and head gardener, who very courteously showed them through the beautiful gardens and greenhouses. At 6.15 p.m. an adjournment was made to The Beehive inn, where Hostess Storey had prepared a capital spread in the shape of a good meat tea, to satisfy the cravings of the inner man. The cloth having been drawn the business meeting followed, viz.: to make arrangements for the annual meeting to be held at Retford on Whit-Monday, particulars of which appears in its proper place. At the conclusion of business Mr. Haigh rose and proposed that a hearty vote of thanks be accorded the Rev. B. Darley for presiding, and also for the excellent repast the rev. gentleman had so generously provided. He was pleased to know that the clergy and ringers in North Notts. were in touch with each other, and their meeting that day had been most enjoyable and harmonious, a good deal of business had been transacted, and the committee were greatly indebted to the rev. gentleman for his kindness and generosity.

M. S. Smith (Anston) seconded, and the same was carried unanimously.

The Rev. B. Darley, in replying to the vote of thanks, said it was a pleasure to meet the committee, his only regret was there being so few present. That was probably on account of the long distance. However, he hoped if he was re-elected Secretary to invite them on a similar occasion next year, when his desire would be to meet a larger number.

Permission for a pull on the bells was kindly granted by the Rector, and the committee were sorry the rev. gentleman could not take part on account of a business engagement. A 720 of Violet Treble Bob was rung in 26 mins., and is believed to be the first 720 in which all committee members have taken part. J. White, 1; H. Haigh, 2; G. Barrowcliffe, 3; T. Smith, 4; S. Smith (conductor), 5; D. Russon, 6. The bells were then lowered in peal, and the ringers taken by conveyance from Harthill to Kiveton Park to catch the 9.40 train home.

HUNTINGFIELD, SUFFOLK.

During the past fifty years, ringing of the Church bells in this parish was an unknown occurrence, but on Sunday last the spell was broken by the bells ringing a joyful peal before the afternoon service, the opening touch of 720 Changes, consisting of Grandsire, April Day, and Old Doubles, being performed by five members of the Halesworth company (associated with the Norwich Diocesan Association); ringers also being present and taking part before and after service from Heveningham, Bramfield, Cratfield, Henfield, Huntingfield, and Wissett. The whole peal, consisting of five bells (one of which has recently been re-cast), has been re-hung on a new oak frame and with new fittings throughout. The Rector (Rev. R. S. Turner), preached a very eloquent and appropriate sermon to a fairly large congregation, in the early portion of which he expressed his satisfaction at the way in which the work had been executed; he also referred to the changes that had been made in the Churches during the present century in order to make the services brighter and more cheerful by removing those things that were gloomy, and re-placing them with those that were beautiful and better fitted to occupy a position in the Church of God. Their own Church, he was pleased to state, was not behind in this respect; they had a beautiful (almost unique) decorated roof, the work of the late Rector's wife (Mrs. Holland), the old deal box seats had given place to modern benches; the Church had recently been fitted with new heating arrangements, and on that day they had to offer up thankfulness for the gift of the bells, more especially as the congregation had not been asked to contribute towards their renovation, the entire expense having been borne by the Patron, the Rev. T. D. Turner. The preacher reminded the congregation that although they were favoured in this respect, he was desirous of impressing upon them there were others who were not in such a position, and for the assistance of those he solicited their offerings at that service, on behalf of the Norwich Diocesan Fund.

CURRENT TOPICS.

The Oxford Guild spring meeting held at Reading was another of the many successes the Guild has scored. The Venerable Archdeacon of Berks. preached to the ringers in the church of St. Lawrence, and his address was very practical, not having too many allusions to the state of things which, in a former age, is said to have obtained in belfries. If all we hear sometimes be true, ringers of a past age must have been strange fellows, certainly.

Is it well to be continually harping on this theme? There are very few sermons preached wherein we are not told that the ringers in the time of—say, the Georges—were awful reprobates. Perhaps so. Yet I suppose it will be admitted there were exceptions—some were good. In the same period, all clergymen were not pluralists. They did not all hold a bishopric, and a deanery, and a fat living simultaneously. Nor did they all go foxhunting, or racing, or gaming. No. There were many good men among them. Let us be charitable about the past.

For we may be safely assured that whatever evil existed in former years exists now. Human nature is human nature still. Offences are not so apparent, perhaps, but they exist. We lay the flattering unction to our souls that we are better than our forefathers. Our forefathers got drunk, cursed and swore vehemently, like the British army was said to do in Flanders. But if lying, envy, hatred, malice, and all uncharitableness had a better innings in any time gone by than they have now, then that particular period is entitled to the medal.

To another subject: and here I will insert the contents of a post-card I have received. Thus:—

Young Robert Minor would like to call "Plain Speaker's" attention to the error the Editor has made in the insertion of the ringing at Bury, Lancashire, Rossendale Branch: first half Reeves', second half Holt's ten-part. This was a "performance" according to the C.C. Let's have fair rations all round. Surely the C.C. will not tolerate this as a peal. If so why not call the first half of a 720 with singles, and the second with bobs.

I am very much obliged to Robert Minor, but he's found a mare's nest. If the first half of Holt's peal, and the last half of Reeves's makes one true peal, what on earth is the matter with it? This is supposed to be a true peal. The C.C. will "tolerate it as a peal," and so will everyone else. There would not be anything wrong in calling a 720 the way this correspondent mentions, supposing it could be produced true. The distribution of the calls in a peal is nothing, if the changes are produced that is everything.

Among the published items last week, the reports of the various gatherings in all parts of the country were very pleasant reading. I notice the Ely Diocesan Guild is beginning to look up. With the activity of our Sudbury friends, and the energy of Charley Sillitoe, we have great hopes. There are some capital bells in this diocese, and they want waking up. It would almost seem that in parts of this and the neighbouring diocese of Peterborough, churchmen had not shaken off the ineptitude of the Georgian era. If church bells are allowed to go to wreck, ringers will go too, and when the bells are all gone to pot, and Divine Service is not able to be announced in the usual way,—the Church's hours are indeed numbered. Just fancy all the churches in a town with their bells quiet on a Sunday morning! Not only would a most important feature of civilization be missing; but look at the puzzle! "How delightful! what religious equality would there be!" says Mr. Howler. Ah! but the hour has not yet come, Mr. Howler.

Well—and how is the commencement of the new volume of our paper thought of? There is more to follow, and don't be surprised if some of these days you see thirty-two pages in a double number of "THE BELL NEWS." I shouldn't be.

Everybody will be sorry to hear of Mr. J. M. Hayes' accident. To have several ribs fractured is the other side of a joke. John's friends will be eagerly on the look-out for news concerning him; news of good import. There's more long peals to ring yet, John. How about the 12,000 at Bury?

We have got to know the celebrated "Brown," of "mixture" notoriety. My readers will recollect I asked a question about him last week. If they will refer to a touch rung at Stockton-on-Tees in this number they will find all about it. Mr. Brown is a member of the local band, and he has invented a compound, by no means deleterious, for the lubrication of bells. The profane call it "Brown's Mixture." I am glad this has been cleared up, because though not a nervous individual, the word "mixture" haunted me unpleasantly for the past few days.

That was a capital letter from Mr. Clarkson last week. The idea is just the thing, but unfortunately the work of getting publications other than this paper to deal with bells and ringing is too great. The book mentioned by Mr. Clarkson is not of the least value to the ringing Art. It just gives a few dry statistics and that's all. I never saw the book referred to yet in this paper.

If the Council could see their way clear to "diffuse" the "elementary knowledge" spoken of, it would be well. But how about the process of "diffusion." I am inclined to think the Council has had enough of publications for the present. There's a lot of the Council's "efforts" still on hand, I hear. And in last week's paper the secretary of the Oxford Guild stated that the peal-book of that Guild did not sell according to reasonable expectation—out of 500 printed, only about 100 sold. Our literature has always been a drug in the market, with the exception, perhaps, of this paper, when it contains the gossip of

PLAIN SPEAKER.

THE ST. STEPHEN'S GUILD, BRISTOL.

On Tuesday, April 21st, the annual meeting of the above Guild was held. The books shewed that there is a balance in hand of £5 17s. 0d. after all expenses are paid. The President, Rev. C. H. Joberns, M.A., the Treasurer, Mr. C. E. Boutflower, and the Committee were re-elected. Mr. W. A. Cave was elected Secretary in place of Mr. H. Pring, who resigned. A vote of thanks to the late Secretary was carried unanimously. Afterwards on the tower bells touches of Stedman Caters and Treble Bob Major were rung by the members.

THOMAS BLACKBOURN,
CHURCH BELL HANGER, AND TUNER.
SALISBURY, WILTSHIRE.

THOMAS BLACKBOURN is a practical Ringer, and having had considerable experience in Church Bell hanging and tuning, with confidence solicits the patronage of the Clergy, Churchwardens and Ringers generally.

T. B. has devoted a great deal of attention to the fixing of Clock Hammers, used for striking the hours and quarters on Church Bells. These are sometimes placed in awkward and dangerous positions, even by Church Clock Makers.

T. BLACKBOURN'S experience enables him to affix these hammers, with their accompanying levers in a most accurate manner, preventing any danger to the bell frame or clock. He will be glad to advise on clocks as well as bells.

The Ellacombe Chime Hammers fixed. Sole Fixer of Selby's Apparatus for Silent practice. Handbells supplied. Bells weighed in the tower at a small cost.

A PEAL OF 362,880 GRANDSIRE CATERS, 6d.
Contains the full entire of changes on nine bells. Forwarded Post Free, on receipt of 7d By James Hewitt, 16, Chape Row, Gosport.

The Bell News & Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, MAY 16, 1896.

THE Central Council of Church Bell Ringers have completed their session, and on another page the official minutes will be found recorded. There is nothing particular calling for any lengthy comment on the Council's proceedings last Easter Tuesday. The six-bell controversy created an immense commotion previous to the meeting, but it soon disappeared. That we have seen the end of it, however, is not to be supposed for one moment. The subject has brought to the front prejudices which will not be allayed in a moment. We are not able to see what hardship is suffered or what dignity is lost by the six-bell ringer because his seven 700s do not receive the soubriquet of "peal." It is a matter of sentiment, of course.

We incline strongly to the opinion that 5000s on six bells should not be recorded in peal fashion unless seven methods at least are employed. The present arrangement is not immediately jeopardised by this statement—we merely mention it so that opinions on the subject may be formed, leading to future improvement. Such a record as forty-two 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles, even though they be all called differently, cannot be held to logically demand a place among performances like seven variations of Treble Bob. The great difficulty is to draw a hard-and-fast line without giving offence, or offending the susceptibilities of those immediately concerned. This difficulty remains; for the present we do not think it advisable to make any attempts at its removal.

We have been requested, by various readers, to allow the headline upon the first page of news-matter to remain there throughout the volume. Though we had intended otherwise, we cannot refrain from consenting to so many requests of the kind.

SOCIETY FOR THE ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD.

The spring quarterly meeting was held at Walsall on Saturday, April 25th. About forty ringers were present, and during the afternoon the usual amount of ringing was indulged in. At the short service held at 5 o'clock, there was a good attendance of members, and a hearty service concluded with a very able and useful address by the Rev. W. Swayne, vicar of Walsall.

After a short committee meeting, an adjournment was made to the Coffee House, where tea had been ordered and indeed prepared. But the members on arrival found that another band of hungry folk had come before them, and being by some mistake allowed access to the meal prepared, had lost no time in putting the greater part out of reach of those for whom it was intended. This caused inconvenience and delay, but in the end tea was provided, and appetites satisfied.

The annual meeting will be held at Lichfield on Saturday, June 27th.

To the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS AND RINGERS' RECORD."

COMPOSITIONS AND THEIR QUALITIES.

SIR,—In last week's issue appeared two peals of "Grandsire Caters" by Mr. John Rogers, of London. In pointing out the qualities of these compositions he claims for "all eternity" to have produced in peal 5057 a peal containing the least number of calls in this method, and for No. 5003, "the best arrangement by which this result will be obtained for ever." This appears to me to be going to the very extreme of claim. Now, how can a peal composed on this plan contain any startling qualities, when by twenty-two calls on 8-9 cuts away twenty-two of the most musical titmums changes, and twenty-four calls on 7-8 eliminate twenty-four 8-9s, or natural course-ends? I do not say it in ill-feeling, but peals composed on the old bare plan simply ruins the qualities. There are numbers of peals written with no calls on either 8-9 or 9-7-8, which preserve all the titmums changes, as well as the 8-9 and 9-7-8, and have the 5th and 6th twenty-four times behind the 9th. I would ask Mr. Rogers to write out in full the 1st and 13th courses of peal 5057, and the 12th and 13th of the 5003, when he will find that in both peals there are repetitions of changes.

JOHN CARTER.

TWO FALSE PEALS.

SIR,—I feel sorry to point out that both the peals of Caters by Mr. John Rogers, of London, in last week's "BELL NEWS" are false, and I feel sorrier for the unfortunate bands who rang them, as both peals might (if what their author claims for them holds good) have extinguished the chances of any other peal in the market. The first peal is false in the 1st and 13th courses, but may be made true by cutting out the 8-9 in the first course and shifting the single. The second peal is unpardonable, the author of it actually calling it and not observing the four calls in succession in 12th and 13th courses which produces fatal consequences at the handstroke of the single. When a composer of any standing claims that his peals will beat any previous and in fact "lick creation," I should consider it the best policy to make sure the goods he is purveying are sound, for it is very tempting to others to see what holes they can pick in him so to speak; which, if successful, makes the aforesaid record-breaker feel it incumbent upon him to "take his signboard in," and retire from the figure business into blank oblivion, what time the false peal ringers think of their sore hands and call down blessings (sic) on the head of the unfortunate composer. I know Mr. Rogers will take this in the spirit in which it is written, I have had similar experience, so know how ringers feel when they discover that their record peal is "a wrong 'un." The moral of all this is that it is obviously unwise of even the best men to nurse their compositions for the empty glory of ringing them for the first time. I would say in conclusion that had I known Mr. Rogers' address I would have preferred to have written him privately.

Church Street, Leicester.

WILLIAM WILLSON.

A DOUBTFUL POINT.

SIR,—In the report of the meeting of the North Lincolnshire Association it states "Mr. Linley was re-elected without opposition." This statement I beg to contradict. Four were proposed: Mr. Linley, Mr. Chester, Mr. Snow, and myself. Only Mr. Chester's and my name were put before the meeting. How Mr. Linley was returned, and Mr. Snow thrown out I fail to see.

MESSRS. JARROLD & SONS have pleasure in announcing the early publication by subscription of this most interesting and important work. It will contain an account of all the Church Bell
in Buckinghamshire, with everything relating to their history that can be discovered. Full accounts of all the Founders whose bells
hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County
including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. The work was undertaken at the instigation of the late J. C. L. Stahl Schmidt Esq., author of "Surrey Bells and London Bell-founders," "The Church Bells of Kent," "Herts," etc.; and the fact that the author
had the benefit of the kind assistance and advice of this well-known
campanologist may be mentioned as some guarantee of the scope and nature of the present work. Mr. Stahl Schmidt wrote the author,
that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting county," and he repeated this opinion in a subsequent letter. The
"Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 600 pages to be handsomely illustrated with 24 full-page plates of mediæval letter-
ings, founders' marks, etc., found on Bells still existing in the County
and numerous figures—some of them being peculiar to Bucks—will be inserted in the text. The 8vo. Edition is limited to 350 copies, and will be offered to subscribers before the day of publication at 25s. nett. The Larger Edition, Royal 4to, is limited to 80 copies, and will be subscribed at 42s. The prices will be raised on the day
of issue should any copies remain unsold.

THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

The half-yearly meeting of this Association was held on Saturday, May 2nd, at Burnley. The bells of the parish church and those of Holy Trinity were available for ringing during the afternoon and evening. A very good number of members were present from Bolton, Blackburn, Rochdale, Heywood, Ramsbottom, Newchurch, Bacup, Padiham, etc. An excellent tea was partaken of in Holy Trinity Schools, where the meeting was subsequently held under the presidency of the Rev. H. J. Elsee, M.A., and supporting him were the Revs. C. A. Clements and A. Blackburn (curates of Holy Trinity, Burnley), Messrs. Redford, Jackson and Slater, officers of the Association.

The Chairman, in a few well-chosen remarks on the work of the Association, reverted to the rules and diagrams recently issued, and said he hoped they would be found beneficial to the members. It had been suggested that as the six-bell methods were not provided for a further edition should be issued, which the committee hoped would be ready for distribution with the next report.

The Rev. A. Blackburn, on behalf of the Vicar, accorded a hearty welcome to the members.

The Rev. C. A. Clements gave a short resume of the proceedings of the meeting of the Central Council.

The following motion was next submitted: "That this meeting desires to offer its heartiest congratulations to the Rev. H. J. Elsee, M.A., President, on his preferment to the living of St. George's, Bolton, and further rejoices in the fact that his promotion has taken place within the limits of the county palatine, thereby assuring their Association of his assistance, which he has so willingly given on all occasions, to the advancement of the interests of this Association."

Mr. H. W. Jackson (Bolton), in proposing the motion, said that he supposed he had been asked to undertake that duty on the ground of his being one of the oldest members. He was indeed pleased that he had been preferred to a church where he had a good peal of bells.

Mr. Millett (Heywood), seconded.

Mr. Slater (Blackburn), supported, and spoke of the excellent work and abilities of the President.

One of the wardens also addressed the meeting, and complimented the Association on the general character of its work.

THE HEAVY WOOLLEN DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

The last monthly meeting was held at Armitage Bridge on Saturday, May 16th, members being present from Earlsheaton, Dewsbury, Mirfield, Batley, Batley Carr, Ossett, Kirkheaton, Lindley, Brighouse, Thornhill, Almondbury, and other places. The chairman (Mr. F. Scholefield), proposed a vote of condolence towards the widow and family of the late W. Barraclough, of Mirfield. After the minutes of the last meeting had been passed, it was agreed that at the six-bell contest on Whit Monday, the draw should take place at 9.30 and start at 10 a.m., and also that a 6-score be rung before the test piece. The case of the Liversedge company was not entertained. Other business having been got through, the meeting closed.

A peal of ten bells is being cast for Ewerby church, near Sleaford, the tenor of which will weigh 20 cwt. The cost will be borne by Earl Winchilsea and members of his family, who have already subscribed large sums for the restoration of the interior of this fine old edifice.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

On Saturday, May 9th, the usual quarterly meeting of this Association was held at Cheddar. In this district very little is done in the way of ringing beyond Churchyard Bob, with the exception of course of the neighbouring town of Wells. The proceedings commenced with the service in the parish church, which all the members present at the meeting attended. The short form of service compiled by the Association was used, and was followed by a short address from the Vicar (the Rev. Prebendary Coleman) who unfortunately was unable to take any further part in the proceedings owing to being unwell. After the service the usual business was held in the parish hall, which was presided over by the Master (Mr. C. E. D. Boutflower) who apologised for the unavoidable absence of the Hon. Secretary, Mr. H. W. Tomkins. Twenty-one new members were enrolled, and it was decided to leave the date of the annual meeting to the Master and Secretary, but the opinion was expressed that the August Bank Holiday would be the most convenient day. The meeting will be held at Taunton. There was not a large attendance of members, and it is to be regretted that a larger number of the change-ringers from the parishes nearer Bristol did not attend. The following parishes were represented: St. Mary's Taunton, Portishead, Wells, Dundry, Abbots Leigh, and Huntspill.

ST. SIDWELL'S SOCIETY, EXETER.

The Annual Meeting of this society was held in the belfry on Tuesday, May 12th. The rector (Rev. S. W. E. Bird), presided, and there were also present Harry Hems, Esq. (vice-president), Messrs. F. Davey, W. Drake, F. Shepherd, C. Carter, E. Sergeant, J. Martin, J. Turner, and B. Mundy. The Secretary's report having been read, which showed the society to be still in a good position both as regards ringing and number of members, the Treasurer reported a good balance in hand. The following were the officers elected for the ensuing year: President—Rev. S. W. E. Bird; Ringing Master—Mr. Frank Davey; Treasurer and Secretary—Mr. B. Mundy. Attention was called to the fact of the new ceiling to the belfry, the gift of Mr. Harry Hems, in fulfilment of a promise to the Rev. G. F. Coleridge, when the rev. gentleman last paid Devon a visit with a talented band. The thanks of the Society were heartily given to Mr. Hems, who is always willing and ready to assist the society. The new ceiling is a plastered one, and makes a fine improvement. The holes in the ceiling for the ropes have also been altered, the iron rings having been replaced by stout leather ones. The belfry has also been re-colored and painted by the members, and altogether things look much more comfortable.

LONG PEAL ATTEMPTS.

On Whit-Monday, May 25th, all being well, eight members of the Bedfordshire Association will attempt a long peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major, 13,888 changes, at Higham Ferrers, Northants, starting at 10.30 a.m.

On Whit-Tuesday, all being well, eight members of the Midland Counties' Association will attempt a 13,440 of Grandsire Major at Prestwold church, starting about 9 a.m.

On Whit-Friday, May 29th, twelve members of the Ashton-under-Lyne society intend to attempt a long peal of Grand re Cinques, starting at 6 a.m.

FESTIVITIES AT EXETER.

A very pleasing and happy meeting of ringers and friends took place at The Butler's Arms hotel on Saturday, May 3rd, by the invitation of Mr. Sydney Herbert (city councillor), to celebrate his wedding with Miss White of Crediton. A first-class dinner was served to about forty. Mr. W. C. Marsh occupied the chair, and the vice-chairs were filled by Messrs. H. Smith and Ferris Shepherd. Among those present were Messrs. B. Land (churchwarden), R. J. Mills, B. Mundy, J. Davey, T. Townsend, E. Shepherd, A. W. Searle, W. Drake, W. Richardson, A. Lovell, — Marchent, J. Moss, T. Mudge, C. Carter, etc. The good things having been done justice to, the Chairman submitted "The Queen," which, all being loyal ringers, was heartily responded to. A couple of songs was then given by members of the St. Sidwell's choir, after which the chairman submitted the toast of the evening, "The Bride and Bridegroom." Mr. Marsh alluded to the very kind and pleasant way in which Mr. Herbert was connected with ringers; as vice-president of both St. Sidwell's and St. Edmund's Societies, and on behalf of all he wished him and his wife a long and happy life. The toast was given with musical honours, and a few minutes elapsed before the cheers died away so as to allow Mr. Herbert to reply.

Mr. Herbert, in reply, expressed his thanks for the hearty way in which his health, together with his wife's, had been received. Referring to the fact that he was the original promoter of adding two new trebles to St. Sidwell's church, he had now added another "belle" to the parish, and expressed a hope that this was one of many such meetings.

Mr. B. Mundy, on behalf of the St. Sidwell's Society, then presented Mr. Herbert with a framed illuminated address, together with a travelling bag, as a small token of the members' good wishes to him and his wife.

Mr. Herbert suitably returned thanks, and the remainder of the evening was spent in a very pleasant way. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert were the recipients of many handsome presents including a very nice inlaid and mounted waiter from the St. Edmund's Society.

B. MUNDY.

SHEFFIELD.—THE YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

On Thursday, May 7th, at All Saints' church, eight members of the above Association rang 2520 Stedman Triples (Brook's Variation), in 1 hr. 30 mins. J. Rowley, 1; W. H. Bower, 2; W. Smithson, 3; J. Dixon, 4; E. F. Rippon, 5; T. Sylvester, 6; F. Willey (conductor), 7; J. M. Fitzclarke, 8. Tenor 15 cwt.

The above was rung as a two-fold event, as a farewell compliment to the Rev. H. J. Shaw, who is leaving All Saints' church, and is appointed by the Fellows of his old university to the living of Earl Stonham, Suffolk. Mr. Shaw on this day was the recipient of a cheque from his congregation to purchase a horse and trap, together with a framed photograph of the Church Council. The silver plate attached to the latter bears the following inscription:

"Presented to the Rev. H. J. Shaw, M.A., along with a horse and trap by the officials, congregation, and friends of All Saints' church, Sheffield, as a mark of their esteem, and as a memento of his twelve years' work as vicar, on his preferment to the rectory of Earl Stonham, Suffolk.—May 7th, 1896."

Mr. Shaw had already been the recipient of a handsome stationery cabinet from the Sunday School teachers; a mahogany case of best cutlery from the choir; and four volumes of Dr. Ebenezer Prout's work on the theory of music from the ringers.

It was also rung as a birthday compliment to the conductor, the ringers wishing him many happy returns of the day, and future successes with his calling.

BRISTOL.

A meeting of the Gloucester and Bristol Association was held on Monday, May 4th, at the church of St. Mary Redcliffe. There was a good attendance of ringers, and amongst the touches rung was a 557 Grandsire Caters. C. H. Gordon, 1; H. Pring, 2; C. Horton, 3; F. Gooding, 4; H. Howell, 5; W. Porch, 6; W. Cave, 7; W. Emery, 8; H. Porch, 9; C. Fluck, 10. C. Fluck hails from Birmingham. Also 305 of Grandsire Caters.

BURY ST. EDMUND'S, SUFFOLK.

The peal rang on the bells of St. Mary's church, Bury, on Saturday, May 2nd, was the first of its kind rung in this town, and campanologists speak of the performance as being unusual and highly creditable. The peal rung on Saturday is described as a "Treble Bob Major," and Mr. Samuel Slater, of Glemsford, an authority on bell ringing, writes that "although the bells of St. Mary's were cast a peal of eight in the year 1734, only three other peals have been accomplished on these bells, viz.: on Saturday, March 5th, 1779, when 6,040 changes on Bob Major were rung in 3 hrs. and 40 mins. On Tuesday, April 16th, 1799, a peal of Grandsire Triples, 5040 changes, was rung in 3 hrs. and 15 mins. Both peals were rung by a Bury company. On Monday, April 5th, 1858, a band of the Royal Cumberland Youths rung upon St. Mary's bells, Bury, a peal of Grandsire Triples, 5040 changes, in 3 hrs. and 10 mins. This band consisted of five men from London, and three resident members of Bury, viz.: W. Farrants, Henry Partridge, and John Cornish, the latter of whom is still alive."—Bury and Norwich Post, May 5th, 1896.

This peal is considered by some to be the finest ring of eight, in Suffolk, and it is a pity that change-ringing is so seldom heard on it. It will be remembered that it was in February, of last year that the first 5000 of Royal was completed on the ring of ten in the Norman tower of St. James's, when the following remarks appeared in the "Bury and Norwich Post," of February 26th, 1895:—

"The tenor to this grand and flowing peal weighed 30 cwt., and the peal was rung in the key of D. Several attempts have been made to ring a peal on the ten bells, but that rung on Saturday was the first of its character rung in Bury. The bells in the Norman Tower were all cast by Osborne, of Downham, Norfolk, in 1785. In the year 1835, an attempt was made by a local company to ring a peal of Bob Royal, but this was lost through miscalling in the last course after ringing 3 hrs. and 30 mins. In the year 1785 the Norwich Scholars rang 3 hrs. 35 mins., and then lost the peal in the last course. The following year ten of the Society of Cumberlands, from London, rang 2 hrs. and 40 mins. and then lost the peal. In the year 1886 eight of the Ipswich company with two of the Bury company attempted a peal, which was lost after ringing 2 hrs. 20 mins."

Perhaps under the stimulating influences of the Ely Diocesan Association, we shall hear more of these grand rings in the future.

ST. EDMUND'S SOCIETY, EXETER.

On Monday evening, April 27th, some members of this society met and rang a 504 of Grandsire Triples as a wedding touch to Mr. Sydney Herbert, who is Vice-President of the society, and who was married that day at Holy Cross church, Crediton. J. Lock, 1; F. Davey (conductor), 2; J. Coombes, 3; A. W. Searle, 4; J. Moss, 5; H. Swift, 6; W. Richardson, 7; C. Newcombe, 8. This is the first 500 of Triples by Messrs. Lock, Coombes, and Newcombe, and the striking was very creditable. C. Newcombe hails from Harberton, near Tiverton, and has only very recently joined the Guild.

On Saturday, May 9th, a very pleasant afternoon was spent at Poltimore, the seat of the Right Hon. Lord Poltimore, where there is a nice ring of six, tenor about 11 cwt. The church is dedicated to St. Mary. Proceeding by the way of Old Stoke road, the walk being very fine, everything around looking grand, wild flowers being in abundance, and everything seemed to help to make a nice holiday. On arriving at the tower several 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles were rung, each called differently, and some call changes were rung with the local men, but it was found that nature wanted to be relieved after the walk and ringing, so steps were made for The Poltimore Arms at Pinhoe, and the inner man was refreshed, and spirits were again raised, so that the walk again home was much appreciated. The ringers wish to thank the rector (Rev. Francis Sterry), for his kindness in placing the bells at their disposal; also to Mr. Lawrence, the foreman, who had got everything ready for them. The band were as follows: Messrs. Coombes, Cater, Richardson, Goss, Webber, Lock, Newcombe, Burrington, Davey, and Townsend.

LLANGOLLEN, NORTH WALES.

An interesting meeting took place in the belfry of the parish church on Wednesday evening, May 13th, when Mr. R. A. Horspool was the recipient of a pair of very handsome bronze ornaments, presented to him by his brother-ringers on the occasion of his marriage. Mr. Horspool having been one of their number for a good many years, this was considered an excellent opportunity of shewing their regard for him and appreciation of his services. The presentation was made by the vicar in appropriate words, and Mr. Horspool warmly returned thanks for the beautiful present. Suitable addresses were also given by the Rev. H. E. Thomas, and by Mr. J. W. Davies on behalf of the ringers, one and all being united in sincerely wishing Mr. and Mrs. Horspool long life and happiness and every prosperity. The inscription on the ornaments was as follows:

"Presented to Mr. R. A. Horspool by his fellow bell-ringers on the occasion of his marriage, April 22nd, 1896."

After the meeting, touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples were rung on the bells with good striking.

THE LATE GEORGE NEWSON.

SIR,—The following members of the Royal Cumberland Society form the committee for placing a suitable Memorial over the last resting-place of their departed friend in Hampstead Cemetery, and appeal to ringers and friends for subscriptions to aid the object in view. These will be duly acknowledged in "THE BELL NEWS" from time to time.

HARROGATE, YORKSHIRE.

RINGERS' BIRTHDAY.—On April 14th, at 6.30 p.m., the local members of the Yorkshire Association met at St. Mary's church and rung several touches of Kent Treble Bob in honour of J. Benson attaining his majority. Afterwards, by kind invitation of J. Benson an adjournment was made to The West End tavern, where they were joined by a few friends, and sat down to a well prepared supper. After the usual loyal toasts had been given Mr. Ireland proposed "The Health of Mr. J. Benson," to which he replied with a few suitable words. Afterwards Mr. Brown proposed a vote of thanks to the host and hostess for the manner they had looked after the catering, to which the host replied. The rest of the evening was spent in singing and handbell ringing, "Auld Lang Syne" bringing a most enjoyable evening to a close.

Correspondence.

While allowing the utmost freedom for the expression of opinion, it must never be considered that we are in any way bound to statements made by correspondents.

A MISFORTUNE.

SIR,—Since publishing the muffled peal of Bob Major rung here on April 15th, I have now received a letter from Mr. J. E. Burton, Norwich, to say the peal is false. He published it in "THE BELL NEWS," May 13th, 1893, and it was announced in the same paper on June 3rd, as false. This must have escaped our leader, Mr. Taylor's notice. We are very sorry for having sent the peal to you, but when you think of the chagrin we are bearing with, I feel certain our apologies are not needed.

W. H. MARSH,

18, Armada Terrace, Plymouth.

Hon. Branch Sec.

P.S.—Couldn't the Council grapple with the question of not publishing peals until proven.

COMPOSITIONS AND THEIR QUALITIES.

SIR,—I can only describe the cause of my putting you to the trouble and expense of inserting the two compositions, each with one change repeated, as sheer absentmindedness, as I know the effect of singles in long courses. A friend was good enough to inform me that something was wrong with both of them some days before the contradiction in your paper of May 16th, but I had not noticed the defects till then. Of course I soon found them, and am glad Messrs. Carter and Willson wrote you, as they might have been used. In your correspondence column of July 27th, 1895, a peal of mine, 5075, in 49 calls, appears, which must now take the place of the wrong one sent as the first with limited calls. I also find a statement that I gave the peal to H. Randall, and am pleased to know that is the one they rung, so the Essex men are all right. I cannot say the same for the Cumberlands' peal, as I called the wrong one. In "THE BELL NEWS" correspondence column of August 24th, 1895, it states that a 5003 peal of mine with the same qualities as the wrong one was in existence, and had been published. I think your readers will find that statement correct, and that peal has not been rung. As both peals were circulated in 1894, I could not have selfishly kept them to myself, and unless either of them are contradicted I do not feel justified in taking my signboard down, as I have other record peals to put out before I turn up business. I thank Mr. Carter for his temperate criticism, and can only say I quite agree with his remarks, but 'tis not a musical nor eternity question, as other peals I believe can be got with similar qualities, mine are only first. I also thank Mr. Willson for his lively criticism and am glad he had not my address, as I think when a person has publicly put a peal out he should take the consequence. I can assure that gentleman I had ample notice of the defective peals to pretend I found out the defects without getting a hint, as others have done. I am glad I shall not lose these simple records by acting the same again, but I think I deserve to sign for the future.

ROGERS, J.

CENTRAL COUNCIL'S DEFINITION OF A PEAL ON SIX BELLS.

SIR,—Being a constant reader of this valuable paper I cannot let their decision pass without a few remarks. If we cannot claim a peal by ringing seven 720s on six, how can a peal be claimed on eight by only ringing 5000, seeing that it is only an eighth part of one. Why not call this a "performance," as there is no more claim for the word "peal" than the seven 720s. If 720 constitutes a peal on six, why not let the full extent of changes be rung upon any number of bells before the word "peal" be applied? Let us hope as another year comes round that we may have more equal balance given to the six-bell ringers, as it is our turn now to speak, or we shall have our rights taken from us. Let those have honour where honour is due.

C. F. (A THOROUGH SIX-BELL RINGER).

CURRENT TOPICS.

When ringers take up their paper on Saturday afternoons, I suppose the first thing they look for (after they have read this page), is the record of peals. This having been done to the reader's satisfaction (or otherwise), then the next to attract the eye and also the imagination, will be the various reports of meetings, outings, and so forth. But if an heading is discovered which indicates the furnishing of new bells, or the re-furbishing of old ones, or that interesting proceeding know as an "opening," I am of opinion that the attention is at once arrested, and the account of such read from beginning to end with much concern.

On opening the paper last week, the first thing seen, on the first page, was an account of church improvements at a place called Lowick, in the county of Northampton, and in which we were told that "passers by on the high road from Thrapston to Brigstock cannot help noticing the exceedingly beautiful tower of St. Peter's, Lowick. Its thorough state of repair, its architectural features, its many pinnacles and vanes, are all peculiar characteristics of this ancient pile." This was very good to begin with, and the interest was sustained by that which followed. "The tower of Lowick is remarkably elegant, being crowned with twelve pinnacles, with octagonal lantern tower springing from within the main tower, and supported by flying buttresses. At Fotheringhay there is a similar structure, and with this exception there is no other tower of like design in the country." And so on, and so on: information enjoyable to churchmen of every degree, especially those of an architectural (or should I say ecclesiological?) turn of mind.

The Very Reverend the Dean of Peterborough officiated here at the special service of dedication of one new bell. ("From small beginnings great effects arise.") There were passages in the Dean's sermon which ought to make us all feel proud. I cannot help quoting one or two of them:—

"It was truly remarkable how large an influence bells used in connection with the public worship of God had upon Christendom. It was to the bells they owed a good deal—the tapering spires, the magnificent and lordly towers, and the lovely belfries. All these things, which were the beauties of English landscape, were due to the bells, because towers were built for the bells, and not the bells for the towers. . . . So the bells had dotted the whole country with beautiful spires and towers which beautified and adorned the landscape of every Christian land. How wonderfully great the influence of bells had been on the outward aspect of Christendom! How they seemed to enter into the life of the nation. . . . Bells not only entered into the social life of the parish, but in the spiritual and religious life as well. The merry chiming of the bells marked every Sunday as it came round as being holy to the Lord. It was the voice of the bells which called parishioners to early service, matins, and evensong—to prayer, praise and thanksgiving, and to receive God's gifts of Grace. What were the bells of the parish to be to them; that peal with its one new voice added that day?"

Very nice all this. And nothing whatever in his address had the good Dean to say about ringers of an antediluvian age.

A correspondent writes asking me to furnish him with some information anent the second paragraph of my last week's notes. I greatly regret that I cannot oblige him.

Mud of all kinds is a bad thing to stir (vide proverb), and I don't want to be the one to "agitate the communicator." [This is part of another proverb—vide Captain Cuttle.]

My readers will be glad to hear that John Murray Hayes is getting on as well as can be expected. I am told however that he will not be able to attend the Annual Meeting of the Essex Association next Monday at Chelmsford.

This intimation at once reminds me that next Monday is Whit-Monday, and that that particular Guild to which I have the honour to belong does not hold a meeting on that day. Yet it seems a very favorable day for an assemblage of ringers, especially in the country, far from the madding crowd of tripsters, and away from merry-go-rounds, swing-boats, cocoa-nut tournaments, aunt sallies, and the like. I think the authorities of all ringers' guilds should try to provide a holiday for their members at Whitsuntide, not necessarily for everlasting ringing on the day, but for social intercourse and mutual enjoyment.

Two more false peals! How thankful those people ought to be who have not "gone into" composition. It seems to me that if you compose a peal, and it is proved true, you offend the susceptibilities of somebody; and if it is false look out for squalls, especially if, in a weak moment, you should laud it to the skies as being unapproachable by any man or woman under the sun.

PLAIN SPEAKER.

WALTON-ON-THE-HILL, LANCASHIRE.

An unusual event took place in Walton on Monday, May 11th, it being the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. H. Ashmore. Quite a stir was caused in the neighbourhood by the ringing of the church bells, which were rang morning and evening by local ringers to celebrate the event. Mr. Ashmore was married at St. James' church, Toxteth Park, Liverpool, on May 11th, 1846, and for the past twenty-five years has been connected with Walton parish church, having lived in Walton and the immediate neighbourhood most of that period, and having rendered valuable services to the church both as sidesman and chorister. About forty-four years ago Mr. Ashmore occasionally rang the curfew and chimed for service at Banbury parish church, Oxfordshire, and was foreman for a short time at Mr. Samuelson's, agricultural implement maker. Although not a change-ringer, Mr. Ashmore is greatly interested in bells, and on more than one occasion has kindly entertained ringers in connection with Walton church. A number of friends called on Mr. and Mrs. Ashmore during the evening to offer their congratulations and to wish them every happiness and prosperity for the remainder of their days, among others being five children, fifteen grand-children, and three sons-in-law.

The following ringers assembled shortly after 6 a.m. and rang on the bells a 720 of Plain Bob Minor (in two parts, and containing eight bobs and twenty-two singles) in 26 mins. H. Percival, 1; J. W. Bell, 2; C. E. Wilson (composer and conductor), 3; A. Savage, 4; H. H. Barker, 5; H. Harrison, 6. During the evening the following rang 720 Plain Bob Minor (eighteen bobs and two singles) in 26 mins. F. Musker, 1; C. E. Wilson (conductor), 2; H. Harrison, 3; A. Savage, 4; H. H. Barker, 5; T. Johnson, 6.

"Tis fifty years ago to-day,
Since you joined hand in hand;
But now you're journeying down the hill,
Unto the Promised Land;
May God protect and guide you,
And blessings rich bestow;
Until you meet in heaven above,
Where joys eternal flow."

THOMAS BLACKBOURN,

CHURCH BELL HANGER, AND TUNER. SALISBURY, WILTSHIRE.

THOMAS BLACKBOURN is a practical Ringer, and having had considerable experience in Church Bell hanging and tuning, with confidence solicits the patronage of the Clergy, Churchwardens and Ringers generally.

T.B. has devoted a great deal of attention to the fixing of Clock Hammers, used for striking the hours and quarters on Church Bells. These are sometimes placed in awkward and dangerous positions, even by Church Clock Makers.

T. BLACKBOURN's experience enables him to affix these hammers, with their accompanying levers in a most accurate manner, preventing any danger to the bell frame or clock. He will be glad to advise on clocks as well as bells.

The Ellacombe Chime Hammers fixed. Sole Fixer of Selby's Apparatus for Silent practice. Handbells supplied. Bells weighed in the tower at a small cost.

The Bell News & Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, MAY 23, 1896.

We believe it will be conceded that whenever any special effort has to be made on behalf of our necessitous brethren, the columns of this paper have been opened in its aid, ungrudgingly and unsparingly. It will also be allowed that other projects, especially those having for their object the bestowal of honour upon a worthy member of the Exercise, have always met with that support which the resources of a journal like ours has at its command. Then it will be considered in harmony and complete unison with our traditions if we advocate the claims, upon every section of the Exercise, and to posterity, of such a man as the late GEORGE NEWSON.

Upon another page will be found the first list of subscriptions towards a fund which is now being raised to perpetuate the memory of this ringer and composer, who was a distinguished ornament not only to the societies of which he was a member, but to the Exercise at large. The direction which such memorial is at present intended to take, is, we believe, the erection of an appropriate record on the spot under which the remains of the deceased now rest. Perhaps it is not wrong to suppose that no sumptuous or costly tomb is intended—for such would be quite inconsistent with the plain and unostentatious character of GEORGE NEWSON. A good monument, not too ornate, nor at the same time remarkable for plainness, cut from the most imperishable of material, is what we imagine the committee desire to erect. There ought to be a quick, prompt, and liberal response to this movement, from every quarter of the globe where change-ringing is known. And we expect such will be the case. But there is a danger to be avoided even in such a movement as this. It may be thought that if only a plain substantial memorial is intended, there will be no reason for a heavy subscription list. Let us point out a great objection to this belief. A great man among us is gone, and we shall honour and endeavour to keep green his memory. But a very important fact must not be lost sight of. While we fulfil our duty to the dead, the living should not certainly be forgotten. Our friend NEWSON has left a bereaved one whose position claims all our sympathies. It is not departing out of the way to suggest that the sum received over and above the cost of the proposed memorial, may be handed to Mrs. NEWSON. We are not sure, but we think the committee hope to carry out such intention. It is therefore necessary that subscriptions should continue to flow in, and we hardly need express the hope that some alacrity will be shown towards the two objects which we believe the committee have in view.

PORTRAIT NUMBER.—Next week, according to our promise, we shall issue a group portrait of the company who rang the silent peal of Stedman Triples in hand, at Leicester. A splendid picture has been secured, very suitable for framing.

INGHAMSHIRE. By ALFRED HENEAGE COCKS.
M.A., Ch. Ch., Oxford; F.Z.S., F.R.G.S., Great Marlow,
Bucks. With many Illustrations.

MESSRS. JARROLD & SONS have pleasure in announcing the
early publication by subscription of this most interesting and important work. It will contain an account of all the Church Bell
in Buckinghamshire, with everything relating to their history that can be discovered. Full accounts of all the Founders whose bells
hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County
including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. The work was undertaken at the instigation of the late J. C. L. Stahlschmidt Esq., author of "Surrey Bells and Loo Bell-founders," "The Church Bells of Kent," "Herts," etc.; and the fact that the author
had the benefit of the kind assistance and advice of this well-known
campanologist may be mentioned as some guarantee of the scope and nature of the present work. Mr. Stahlschmidt wrote the author,
that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting county," and he repeated this opinion in a subsequent letter. The
"Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 600 pages to be handsomely illustrated with 24 full-page plates of mediaeval letter-
ings, founders' marks, etc., found on Bells still existing in the County
and numerous figures—some of them being peculiar to Bucks—will be inserted in the text. The 5vo. Edition is limited to 350 copies, and will be offered to subscribers before the day of publication at 25s. nett. The Larger Edition, Royal 4to, is limited to 80 copies, and will be subscribed at 42s. The prices will be raised on the day
of issue should any copies remain unsold.

THE SILENT PEAL OF STEDMAN TRIPLES IN HAND AT LEICESTER.

[Vide Portrait Group.]

In fulfilment of announcement we publish this week a group portrait of the company who rang the above peal on Thursday, February 13th last.

The following are brief notices of the performers, with a list of their doings :—

SAMUEL COTTON—1-2.

Born at Worcester in 1866, clicker by trade. Started ringing career in 1885, but not being very robust did not attempt peal-ringing much, his forte being handbell ringing, in which he accomplished his first peal, viz., Grandsire Triples, in 1887. In the same year he rang his first tower-bell peal in the same method at Malvern. First peal of Caters at Bromsgrove in 1889. Came to Leicester in 1890, and joined the Midland Counties' Association, since when he has rung some twenty-eight peals, many of which are on handbells, notably ringing 1-2 in first handbell peal (Grandsire Triples) in Leicester in 1892; ringing and conducting the only two peals of Union Triples on handbells by the Association; and ringing in the first and second conducted peals of Stedman Triples on handbells by the Association. He is a member of the Worcestershire Association, noted as a very safe ringer, good striker, and excellent conductor, with a happy knack of quietly correcting the erring one before the mistake has gone too far. ### GEORGE CLEAL—3-4.

Born at Tewkesbury in 1861. Shoe laster by trade. Started to pull a bell in his 11th year; rang the treble to the first peal (Grandsire Triples) by the Tewkesbury Society in January, 1877. In 1878 he left for Worcester, and was there some nine years, during which he formed the St. Helen's Society, and conducted that Society's first peal, viz., Grandsire Triples. He rang 3-4 and conducted the first handbell peal ever rung in Worcester, in 1887. In 1884 he visited London and rang two peals with the College Youths. He conducted the first peal (Grandsire Triples) on the bells of Malvern Abbey church in 1887, soon after which he left for Leicester, where he joined the Midland Counties' Association. Here, in 1891, he rang 5-6 and conducted the first handbell peal in Leicester (Holt's Original); also in 1894 rang 3-4 and conducted first peal of Stedman Triples on handbells by the Association. He is noted as a very safe ringer and skilful conductor, in whom all have the greatest confidence. A member of the Midland Counties' Association, Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, and the Ancient Society of College Youths. List of peals :—

JOHN O. LANCASHIRE—5-6.

Born at Hermitage, in Berks, in 1865. He is an architect's assistant, and has lived in Leicester and the vicinity since 1870. He started to ring a bell at a very early age, but he had no opportunity to learn change-ringing till 1889, when he was taken in hand by Mr. Alfred Millis, of Leicester. He joined the Midland Counties' Association and rang his first peal, viz., Grandsire Triples at St. Saviour's, Leicester, in 1890. He has rung some twenty-seven peals. He was local Secretary for the Leicester district of the Midland Counties' Association for some three years, and on the retirement of Mr. Joseph Griffin in 1893, was elected Hon. Secretary of the Association, and which post he still holds, and most efficiently fills.

Mr. Lancashire has, during his connection with ringing, shown a degree of interest in the advancement of the Art, which is highly commendable, and worthy of imitation. Not only his colleagues in the peal we are dealing with, but every ringer in Leicester, and in fact all included within the radius of the Midland Counties' Association, bear testimony to his efforts in the cause. He is the moving spirit among our Leicester friends, and he spares no time or trouble in assisting to carry any proposed undertaking to a successful termination. To such co-operation as his must be attributed, in a very great measure, the present favorable aspect of ringing affairs in Leicester and its neighbourhood. List of peals :—

JOHN BUTTERY—7-8.

Born at Leicester in 1851; clicker by trade. His first recollection of ringing a bell was on the occasion of the wedding of the Prince of Wales in 1863. His first peal (Grandsire Triples), was at Loughborough, in 1869. He rang 3-4 in a 2520 on handbells by a Leicester band in 1874. He conducted his first peal (Grandsire Triples), at St. Mary's, Leicester, in 1872. He called the first peal of Stedman Triples ever rung in Leicester, viz., at St. Mark's, in 1880, also the first peals of Grandsire and Stedman Caters by the Midland Counties' Association, of which Society he has been a member since 1883. His longest peal is a 9120 of Kent Treble Bob Major, at Quorndon. He rang 3-4 in the first handbell peal (Holt's Original) ever rung in Leicester, in 1891; he also rang 7-8 and conducted a peal of Stedman Triples on handbells, in 1894. On the decease of the old Leicester ringer (Edward Biggs) most of the conducting fell to his share. He is noted as an excellent heavy bell ringer and conductor, though always ready to give way to younger and more ambitious men. List of peals.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

THE FROME GUILD.—On Thursday, May 7th, through the kindness of the Vicar, the Rev. M. A. Matthew, the ringers of St. Michael's, Buckland Dinham, viz.: F. Prescott, J. Witchell, S. Brownjohn, J. Fricker, H. Beachem, T. Luxton, W. Prescott, E. C. Fricker, members of the above Association, had a most enjoyable outing to Bishops Lydeard, to have a pull on the beautiful peal of eight there. On starting from Buckland a great disappointment awaited the party, for the news was brought that the Vicar was too unwell to accompany them. After a pleasant drive to Frome station they were soon on their way to Taunton by the G.W.R., which was reached at 10.30. Another five miles drive by brake brought them to their destination. They were met at the church by the churchwardens, sexton, and several local ringers, besides numerous villagers, who were assembled ready to welcome the Rev. M. A. Wathen, who, by the way, was formerly Vicar of Bishops Lydeard for eight years, and was much beloved by all, as was evident on Thursday. Great regret was shewn at his non-appearance, and many wishes were expressed for his speedy recovery. After raising the bells, which are a very nice-toned peal of eight, some Doubles were rung on the back six, but the bad "go" of them prevented much being done. The ringers were then invited to a luncheon, provided by the churchwardens of the parish, to which ample justice was done. Now bidding the good folks of Lydeard good-bye, they were soon on their way to Taunton, where they found the genial captain of St. James, Mr. Maddock, awaiting them. Here some more Doubles were rung, and the "go" of the bells as well as the condition of the belfry was everything that could be desired. Train time was now fast approaching, so after a hurried tea and a few minutes' chat with Mr. Maddock, the party had to say good-bye, and Frome was reached at 9.30, everyone being thoroughly pleased with their outing. The ringers wish, through the medium of this paper, to thank the churchwardens of Lydeard for the luncheon and use of the bells, and the sexton and ringers there for having everything in readiness; the company of St. James', Taunton; and lastly their own Vicar, for such a treat, the whole expense being borne by him.

THE PEAL "APPENDIX, 1895," PRINTED BY the Central Council Committee, may be obtained post free, with the Report on Calls, on application to the Hon. Secretary, Rev. H. Earle Bulwer, Stanhoe Rectory, King's Lynn, enclosing 7½d. in stamps.

STOKE ARCHIDIACONAL ASSOCIATION.

BUCKNALL (Staffordshire).—On Sunday evening, April 26th, after the usual service, a peal-board was unveiled in the belfry of St. Mary's church, Bucknall, by D. Roberts, Esq., of West View House, Bucknall, in the presence of a large number of the congregation. The proceedings were opened by Mr. W. Twigg, the leader of the ringers, who, in a few concise remarks, explained the object of the erection of the board and the system of change-ringing. He then called upon Mr. Roberts to unveil the board. In doing so, Mr. Roberts remarked that the board he was about to unveil, had been placed on the walls of that tower as a memento of a peal of 5040 changes rung on the bells of that church, on January 22nd, 1895. He thought that when they considered that the bells of that church were the youngest in the district, it reflected great credit on their ringers that they had succeeded in a peal which he understood consisted of some of the most difficult methods in the art of change-ringing, and which was the first peal in those methods that had been rung in the district. He then proceeded to unveil the board which is of oak, and contains the following in gilt letters:

"St. Mary's Association of Change-ringers.—Bucknall.—On Tuesday, January 22nd, 1895, a peal of 5040 changes, in seven different Surprise Minor methods was rung on these bells, in 2 hrs. and 52 mins., being 720 changes in each of the following, viz.: London, Wells, Durham, York, Lichfield, Superlative and Cambridge. D. Preston, 1; J. E. Wheeldon, 2; R. W. Twigg, 3; C. Preston, 4; W. Wheeldon, 5; W. Twigg (conductor), 6. This is the first peal in Surprise Methods ever rang in North Staffordshire. G. T. Birch, rector; J. Fenton and F. Stockton, churchwardens; G. Hobbs, tower-keeper."

A vote of thanks was proposed to Mr. Roberts by Mr. J. Fenton, rector's warden, seconded by Mr. J. Twigg, senior member of the choir. The proceedings closed by ringing 240 of Kent Treble Bob. On Wednesday evening, May 6th, the ringers were entertained to supper by Mr. and Mrs. Roberts, at their residence, West View House, Bucknall, and after doing ample justice to the good things provided for them, a pleasant hour was spent in social games, and a little handbell ringing. At the close of the evening, a hearty vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. W. Twigg, seconded by Mr. J. E. Wheeldon, and supported by Mr. G. Hobbs, to Mr. and Mrs. Roberts for the kind way in which they had entertained the company.

THE KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

TONBRIDGE DISTRICT.—A meeting of this district was held at Goudhurst on Wednesday, May 6th, and was attended by twenty-one members from Brenchley, Horsmonden, Lamberhurst, Tunbridge Wells, Tonbridge, and Speldhurst. The heavy going of the bells was against any long touches being rung, but a good practice in Grandsire Triples, etc., was afforded to the six-bell ringers present, who very seldom have an opportunity to ring on eight bells. The business meeting was held at The Bricklayers' Arms. Mr. W. Steed (Tonbridge) was voted to the chair. The minutes of the annual meeting were read and confirmed. Six full members and one probationer were elected, and it was decided to hold the next district meeting at Chiddingstone on Wednesday, October 14th. Votes of thanks to the chairman and the vicar for the use of the bells, and to the local ringers for having everything in readiness, and to Mr. J. Beach, of Horsmonden, for kindly making the arrangements, concluded the business.

THE CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

MACCLESFIELD BRANCH.—A meeting of this branch was held at Poynton on Saturday, May 16th, only eleven members putting in an appearance, some being engaged in cricket, and others engaged elsewhere. Tea was partaken of in the school, and several touches of Bob and Grandsire Doubles and Minor were rung on the tower bells; also a 720 of Bob Minor. W. Ingham, 1; A. Lomas, 2; J. Gratrix, 3; W. Steel, 4; W. Walmsley (conductor), 5; J. Norbury, 6. Ingham hails from Sutton; Lomas from Gawsworth; Gratrix from Swinton; the rest belong to Macclesfield.

THE NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A quarterly meeting was held at Framlingham, on Thursday, 21st May. Among the thirty-four members and friends who attended, were representatives of the following companies: Framlingham, Creetingham, Bedfield, East Soham, Laxfield, Eye, Fressingfield, Cratfield, Haleworth, Leiston, Saxmundham, Woodbridge, Otley, Pulham and St. Cross. The Rev. Dr. Raven, President of the Association, took the chair at the dinner, which was served at The Crown and Anchor, at 1.30, being supported by the Rev. J. H. Pilkington, rector of Framlingham, and district secretary, F. G. Ling, Esq., of Framlingham, Rev. E. S. Finch, of Laxfield, Rev. R. L. James, curate of Leiston, and the hon. secretary. The district secretaries of Woodbridge and Redenhall, Messrs. J. Fosdike and F. R. Borrett were, with Mr. W. Taylor, of Leiston, also present. The president gave to the members an account of the history of Framlingham bells, and called upon the hon. secretary for his usual statement upon the affairs of the Association. The hon. secretary, apologising for the delay in issuing the Annual Report, said it was now in the hands of those present, and would be fully distributed in the course of a very few days. From it, it would be seen that, in spite of the difficulties and drawbacks incidental to the times, the Association was maintaining its numerical strength: and he was glad to say the progress was being made in method-ringing, a peal of Superlative Surprise having been accomplished after much perseverance by the Redenhall ringers, and peals of Double Norwich having been also recently scored in the immediate neighbourhood, viz.: at Helmingham and Framdsen, other companies also being engaged with the method. A welcome restoration had taken place at Huntingfield, and they were about to welcome to the Association the young company of learners at that place, as well as a fully qualified company at Quidenham. A restoration was also about to be commenced at Southwold, which it was hoped would lead to the formation of a company there in union with the Association, and also to the sub-division of the Halesworth district. An unusual number of deaths had recently occurred of Association members, and special mention was made of the great regret felt at the loss of the Rev. Charles Ward, vicar of S. Nicholas, Ipswich; there had also been taken away Messrs. Degee and Sand, both of Ipswich; Mr. James Cullum, of Fundenham, and the veteran Mr. Ben. Smith, formerly conductor of the Redenhall company. The meeting then proceeded to the election of two non-resident life members, six honorary and fifteen performing members, and fourteen probationers.

The next meeting will be the annual one, at Norwich, in September, it having been decided to drop the usual general meeting in the summer, and to replace it by district meetings in as many districts as possible.

DUDLEY, WORCESTERSHIRE.

On Saturday last, as will be found among our records, a peal of Grandsire Royal was obtained at the parish church of St. Thomas, Dudley, under somewhat happy circumstances, being rung as a compliment to the Vicar of Dudley—the Rev. A. G. Maitland—and Mrs. Maitland, on the anniversary of their marriage. As soon as the peal was completed, a messenger arrived at the belfry with an invitation to the company from Mrs. Maitland, to come and partake of refreshment at the Vicarage. Such invitation was under the circumstances not only gladly welcomed, but very readily accepted. After a good repast, the vicar congratulated the company upon their success in ringing the peal, and thanked them for the compliment they had paid to Mrs. Maitland and himself, remarking "had they known a peal was to be attempted that day for them a more substantial repast would have been provided." He (the Vicar) took that opportunity to ask them to drink the health of their captain, Mr. S. Spittle, and his new wife, hoping they may live for many years in happiness and peace.

Mr. Spittle suitably responded, and proposed the health of Mr. and Mrs. Maitland, which was heartily received.

The vicar very feelingly and suitably responded.

The ringers left very much pleased with the reception accorded them by the Vicar and Mrs. Maitland.

COMPOSITIONS AND THEIR QUALITIES.

SIR,—I was surprised on reading Rogers, J. letter under the above heading in your last issue, to find he has again tried to impose upon your readers, also that he can find no other course out of his folly than to refer your readers to my composition published in this paper, July 13th, 1895. Having I think clearly proved that this composition was in circulation early in 1893, with my name attached, which was according to his own words in his last letter, quite twelve months before him. I beg to inform him that his slang in your issue of August 24th, 1895, has in no way established his claim, and that I in no way intend to give it or its variations up to him, and I appeal to the Exercise to give credit to whom it is due. I should have thought the least he could have done was to apologise to the unfortunate ringers who took part in these peals, for his unpardonable errors, for after having it pointed out to him that the peal he called at St. Sepulchre's, London, October 20th, 1894, proved false at the single handstroke, he again makes the same mistake with the next two ever-lick-creation peals, he attaches his name to, and allows it to be rung. It is quite an accident he's admitted that the peal on January 11th, 1896, was the wrong one that he called, and I am sorry to say that is not the first wrong one you've called, Rogers J. Perhaps his explanation of the West Ham peal might satisfy the Exercise and the Essex Association, but with me its hardly good enough. I fancy I heard the same tale before, it's getting stale. However, if this get up is accepted, I trust the Essex Association will erase his name and substitute that of the original author. I am sure ringers generally will await the publication of his other ever but never record peal with great anxiety, and I would advise him to undo his locker, put his numbers up, or he might have sign board pulled down, ere he gets time to retire from the figuring world. I hope the above will be sufficient to enlighten Rogers, J. that the peals he claims are not his, for I do not care to carry on correspondence with one who has proved himself an untruthful ringer.

SIR,—Before your numerous readers see this letter, the original copy of the 5057 of Grandsire Caters rung at West Ham, and what was given me above twelve months ago (see "THE BELL NEWS" July 26th, 1895), by our old friend Rogers, will have been examined at the Annual Meeting of the Essex Association, and I trust will turn out correct, as we are going to have a board to record the performance.

THE DEFINITION OF A "PEAL."

SIR,—The authority of the Central Council is great, but should not be strained too far. It can hardly decide at present what a "Peal" ought to be, but perhaps it may be able to ascertain what a peal always has been. Let a committee of the Council collect the evidence of peal boards and peal books, excluding recent entries which may have been influenced by the present controversy. Probably, a suitable definition might be established in this way by an overwhelming majority of facts. If not, the Council could use the evidence in attempting to arrive at a final decision.

WITH THE KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION,

I am quite sure that no ringer could desire a more enjoyable holiday than that which I spent from May 2nd to 11th, with various members of the Kent County Association.

Of course it will be understood that for me to say this, I must not only have been fortunate in the companies with which I was associated, but also much indebted to those who kindly organised the bands upon each occasion, and therefore I cannot let this opportunity pass without especially thanking Mr. Wm. Bedwell, of Lewisham, and Mr. H. N. Davis, of London, for the excellent arrangements made. The first meeting took place in the excellent and well appointed ringing-chamber of St. Mary's, Lewisham, on May 2nd, where a novel peal of Kent Treble Bob Major was successfully brought round in 3 hrs. and 18 mins. The novelty of the peal consisted in the fact that each of the band bore the same christian name, and is believed to be the first peal in the method ever rung under such circumstances. On the following day I found my way to the tower of St. John's, Vassal Road, Brixton, where I took part in an 1152 of Kent Treble Bob Major, rang for evening service and where I met Mr. J. George, of Rugby, who rang the tenor.

On Monday, May 4th, being a ringing day at Greenwich, I took part in ringing several touches, through the kind introduction of Mr. W. R. Thornton, upon the ring of ten at St. Alphage, after which the Royal Observatory was visited and a walk through the fine park enjoyed.

On the following Tuesday, I again visited Lewisham, where an attempt was made for a peal of Bob Major, which unfortunately came to grief at the end of the lead after the half-way single.

On Thursday, May 7th, an attempt was made for a peal of Bob Major, at the tower of St. Peter, Walworth, which also came to grief after half-an-hour's ringing, and it was not considered advisable to start again, owing to the tenor "going" heavily. On the next day, Crayford was the place of meeting, where a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major was successfully brought round in 2 hrs. and 55 mins. In the churchyard is a stone erected to the memory of a former parish clerk, which bears an amusing epitaph. A very hurried "good-bye" was said here, to catch the train.

On Saturday afternoon, at 5 o'clock, saw a good muster in the admirable ringing room of All Saints, Fulham, where Mr. Driver had everything in perfect order, and where a peal of Bob Royal was brought round in 3 hrs. and 27 mins. The peal was listened to by some ringing friends outside the tower, who afterwards came into the ringing room, and congratulated the band upon the successful accomplishment of a well-struck peal.

On the following Monday, the place of meeting was Woolwich in the neat ringing room of St. Mary's, and where a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major was brought round in 3 hrs. and 7 mins. and which completed six attempts, four of which we successfully brought round, and which will be recorded in their proper place.

I desire to tender through the medium of "THE BELL NEWS," my most sincere thanks to all those gentlemen who so kindly met me (too numerous to name individually) on the various occasions. Also to the respective incumbents, the Rev. S. Bickersteth, of Lewisham, the Rev. J. W. Horseley, of Walworth, the Rev. J. P. Alcock, of Crayford, the Rev. W. Muriel, of Fulham, and the Rev. C. E. Escreet, of Woolwich, for their kindness in granting the use of the bells at the towers visited, and to the various steeple-keepers, Mr. W. Bedwell, of Lewisham, Mr. F. Perrin, of Walworth, Mr. G. Conyard, of Crayford, Mr. J. W. Driver, of Fulham and Mr. H. G. Hill, of Woolwich, for their kindness in having everything in readiness, and which contributed much towards making my holiday so thoroughly successful and enjoyable.

W. TAYLOR.

A REMARKABLE RECORD.—Edmund Chandler, of Fressingfield, aged 85, took part for the fifty-ninth time consecutively in ringing for the Queen's Birthday this year. His grandson, bearing the same name, now in the 63rd Field Battery, Newcastle-on-Tyne, is a member of the Norwich Diocesan Association.—J. J. RAVEN, Fressingfield Vicarage.

THE SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

The annual festival of the above Guild was held at Dorchester on Monday, May 11, when many bands of ringers availed themselves of this opportunity of combining business with pleasure. At Dorchester, the fine peal of eight in St. Peter's church was placed at the disposal of members who might wish to ring. A very bright and hearty service was held in the parish church above named at 12 noon, which was well attended by the ringers. An impressive sermon was preached by the Rev. W. Everingham, who pointed out the requirements necessary in men who had undertaken the work of church bell-ringing, especially recommending that the qualities of punctuality and patience should be observed. After service, the annual business meeting was held, under the presidency of the Rev. M. Hankey, who referred to the loss the Guild had sustained through the death of the Marquis of Bath and Mr. Mackey, of Trowbridge. The election of officers took place as follows:—Master, Rev. A. D. Hill (Downton); hon. treasurer, Mr. W. Pinckney (Salisbury); hon. secretaries, Mr. Thomas Blackburn (general secretary, Salisbury), Rev. C. W. Hony (Secretary for Wilts, Bishop's Cannings); Rev. F. H. Fisher (secretary for Dorset, Cranborne); Mr. A. Grist (Bournemouth) and Capt. H. Wiltshire (Coombe Bissett), assistant secretaries; special committee, Rev. E. G. Bond, Rev. J. D. Morrice, Messrs. F. Rigden, J. R. Jerram, S. Macey, J. Judd and A. Smith; instructors in change-ringing, Messrs. T. Blackburn, W. S. Wise (Salisbury), and H. White (Dorchester); inspector of belfries, Mr. J. R. Jerram (Salisbury). In proposing the re-election of the Rev. A. D. Hill as Master, the Rev. J. D. Morrice said Mr. Hill was the life of the Guild, and he should like to propose that a message should be sent to him from the Guild expressing their regret that he was not able to be with them through illness. This was carried. After the election of officers the company adjourned to The King's Arms, where an excellent dinner was served, the Mayor of Dorchester presiding. Over 100 members sat down to the dinner. The usual loyal and other toasts having been proposed and responded to, the members dispersed to the various towers of churches that had been allotted to them by the secretary, which, through the kindness of the respective rectors and churchwardens, had been placed for the day at the disposal of the Guild. During the afternoon an excellent quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at St. Peter's church. A. Grist, 1; G. White, 2; G. Williams, 3; G. Preston (conductor), 4; W. McCaffrey, 5; W. Bastable, 6; T. Blackburn, 7; C. Hunt, 8. It was felt that the thanks of all members were due to Mr. T. Blackburn, the indefatigable general secretary, for having so successfully arranged the meeting, one of the most enjoyable that has been held for many years. Hopes are expressed that during the coming year many new bands of ringers may join the Guild.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT AMALGAMATED SOCIETY.

A special ringing meeting of this society was held at Addingham on Saturday, May 16th, and was only moderately attended. The following towers were represented: Armley, Bramley, Calverley, Holbeck (R.C.), Rothwell, Guiseley, Ilkley, Kilnwick, and the local company. Ringing commenced with nineteen leads of Violet, followed by touches of Oxford and Violet. Afterwards a pleasant stroll about the churchyard was indulged in, and snap shots of the interior and exterior were taken by the President with a group of ringers and friends. The business meeting was held at The Crown hotel, and was of a formal character. The vicar (Rev. J. W. Hall), and churchwardens, were heartily thanked for the use of the bells, etc., and especially the local ringers for their bounteous supply of refreshments. Handbells were rung for some time, when time was announced "Leeds way." The local company together with their Kilnwick friends, again visited the tower for more ringing, which was kept going till the iron horse called at Addingham station for the visitors, when they reluctantly turned their backs on this pleasantly situated village on the banks of the beautiful Wharfe.

CURRENT TOPICS.

A very good holiday season, my brethren; so far as the weather was concerned. Plenty of sun; just enough of the delightful cooling breeze to temper Old Sol's rays, and no wet; by this I mean that our old friend Jupiter Pluvius didn't show up anywhere. On the whole, Whitsuntide has been a pleasurable time for all; and the grand festival of our Sunday School days has been once more of the old-fashioned sort, making some of us feel young again, I hope, in the recollection of those Whit-Monday Sunday School tea tournaments, which in our youth we looked forward to so anxiously, and so lovingly.

I am very much afraid that in these clever (?) days the Sunday School treat is losing its ground. If it is, the reason is obvious. Many parents, of both sexes, don't fall in with Sunday School. They object (sic) to Sunday School. But ask them the reason of their objections, and then you will see what flexible, ductile, putty-minded (if I may so express myself) persons, many parents now are. They will tell you that the poor dears want to have some fresh air on the Sunday; they are obliged to send them to school all the week, else the pains and penalties in the shape of fines for non-attendance await them; and so then, as a mother remarked to me, "we let the poor children do as they like on Sunday." Very kind of them, isn't it?

But this "letting them do as they like" is a poor excuse. It's one word for the children and two for the parents. The fact is that in most instances the children would be glad to go to school if they could be got ready to go; or even made to go; or if they had been accustomed to go. If young children are allowed to do as they like, at restraint of any kind they rebel. And the parents who allow them to do as they like—these flabby, india-rubber, putty-like sort of parents I mean—don't know how to regulate them. They are quite ignorant of the mode in which children should be brought up; they let them have their own way; they fail in controlling them as they ought to do; they "spare the rod and spoil the child;" and what is the consequence? Look at some of the rising generation, as it is called. Fast boys, having no more sense or stability of mind than those whose natural duty it is to be their preceptors in life: and fast girls, to whom the word "modesty" is as Greek.

If the Sunday School was appreciated; if many parents had the common sense to appreciate its invaluable benefits; their girls and boys would come to be better men and women. The fault lies with the parents. And the credit is also with them when they act rightly. I wish it to be understood that by the term "Sunday School" I include those belonging to every Christian denomination.

Some who read these lines will probably say—"Surely you don't advocate dear little children being compelled to undergo the awful hardship of attendance at school on Sundays, after being at school all the week!" To this I say—"children are not at school all the week, but only five hours out of each twenty-four." And children who have been brought up correctly do not look upon the Sunday School otherwise than as a pleasure. It is a capital training-ground, the Sunday School. My experience of it harbours the desire to have my days over again. One word more to those whom it may concern. The attendance at Sunday School gives respectability to your children, and forms and develops their character in a proper mould. We hear a lot in these days about the commodity called "cant." The greatest cant, the greatest hypocrisy, the ne plus ultra of humbug, is that prate which many parents utter nowadays in disparagement of the attempts to impart to their children the elements of Christianity. The prod of conscience has been felt before now through the agency of a child's knowledge gained from the teachings of Christianity at a Sunday School.

The season of Whitsuntide—veritably a Church's season—has led me to disburden my mind upon what is becoming a very important subject. I will now turn to something else. One important feature last week was the leading article dealing with the proposal to erect a memorial to my old friend George Newson. This topic has been too ably treated for me to say much about it. The encouragement of such projects as memorials to departed ringers has been one of the cardinal principles of "THE BELL NEWS." If the back volumes are searched, many references to the subject will be found, and strong advocacy of such memorials are not infrequent. One particular statement I remember, which to the rising generation of ringers may be new. The article I allude to relates that in the ringing-chamber of a village not far from Worcester hangs a round tablet with the following upon it:—

"In memory of STEPHEN WHITE."

Then the date of decease, and the following distich:—

"Stephen White with time was even, Stephen beat time, and time beat Stephen."

Stephen, it is said was the beater of time in the organ loft (or he would perhaps be now called the choir-master) and he was also supposed to be the beater of time in the belfry; a sort of treble man, and general foreman of the ringers; their beater perhaps, when they needed it.

There is a deal of humour in this simple epitaph. In the days of old, people sometimes used to write their own epitaphs (the practice may not be quite dead yet), and the compilers of many of them were possessed of a remarkable fund of humour; now and then their humours were spiteful, and also very wicked. A well-known agricultural journal, enjoying an immense circulation, published some years ago a great many of these quaint inscriptions, the majority of which were very amusing. If they did not sometimes approach indelicacy, I should be tempted to jot a few down from memory for the perusal of my readers. But they would not be allowed to appear in this paper. So, like other ideas, I must abandon this one, totally.

This is the golden age, it would seem, of testimonials, presents, and the like, vide last Saturday's paper. These little ceremonies clear away the cobwebs of ill-will, distrust, and a hundred other wretched evils. I must not forget that grand old churchman, Mr. Harry Hems, of Exeter, who has just given a new ceiling to the ringing-chamber of St. Sidwell's, Exeter, at which church he is one of the wardens. I have known Mr. Hems many years, and hope to hear of him many years more.

PLAIN SPEAKER.

THOMAS BLACKBOURN,
CHURCH BELL HANGER, AND TUNER.
SALISBURY, WILTSHIRE.

THOMAS BLACKBOURN is a practical Ringer, and having had considerable experience in Church Bell hanging and tuning, with confidence solicits the patronage of the Clergy, Churchwardens and Ringers generally.

T. B. has devoted a great deal of attention to the fixing of Clock Hammers, used for striking the hours and quarters on Church Bells. These are sometimes placed in awkward and dangerous positions, even by Church Clock Makers.

T. BLACKBOURN's experience enables him to affix these hammers, with their accompanying levers in a most accurate manner, preventing any danger to the bell frame or clock. He will be glad to advise on clocks as well as bells.

The Ellacombe Chime Hammers fixed. Sole Fixer of Selby's Apparatus for Silent practice. Handbells supplied. Bells weighed in the tower at a small cost.

A PEAL OF 362,880 GRANDSIRE CATERS, 6d.
Contains the full extent of changes on nine bells. Forwarded Post Free, on receipt of 7d By James Mewett, 15, Chape Row, Gosport.

The Bell News & Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, MAY 30, 1896.

THE account of the proceedings at the Annual Festival of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild gives rise to some hope that it has entered upon a new era, which may, and we hope will, lead to the enlargement of its operations, and the extension of Church bell-ringing through those counties which comprise the Diocese. Hitherto we have had to regret the want of interest shewn by the greater part of those concerned, but now it appears that a turn for the best is in prospect, and those gentlemen who have striven so hard to awaken an enthusiasm in Church bells, will soon be repaid for the steady and continued exertions they have made to such an end. Very soon after this Guild was established, an impression was created in the minds of many persons competent to form opinions, that it would advance very rapidly, and soon enjoy a high position among Associations of a like nature. This belief doubtless arose from the rapidity of progress made by a few of its members, who came promptly to the front, and achieved a series of performances which, owing to the short period of their novitiate, was described as wonderful. Unfortunately this progress was confined to these gentlemen, through whose efforts must be attributed the rescue of the Guild from total effacement. The list of members has always been respectable in point of numbers, and the clergy apparently seem well disposed to co-operate. But if our recollection serves us aright, some of these latter have at times been fond of airing their own theories at the various meetings, but their expressed views were not met with favour by many whose ringing customs were likely to be endangered by their acceptance. We think there was a period when the organization tottered on the brink of destruction, only saved therefrom by the diplomacy of the worthy Master—the Rev. A. D. HILL—and the gentlemen above alluded to.

Now the hopes of all who are concerned in ringing extension is that the Guild has seen its worse days. We cordially join in such hopes. Ringers of the diocese should be taught to feel that unless they give the Guild their unstinted and unqualified support, they can never be reckoned as any moral force in the ringing world. Every ringer worthy of the name desires, in these days, a recognition by Church people that he is an important Church official, but the best way to obtain such acknowledgement or recognition is to become identified with a ringing Guild. We hope our brethren of the counties of Wilts and Dorset will attend to this fact, and interest themselves in the work of that body which has been brought into existence exclusively for their benefit and advantage; to become not only members of the Guild, but work with might and main to extend its usefulness to all quarters of the diocese.

WOODCHESTER, GLOUCESTERSHIRE.

With the kind permission of the Woodchester society, six ringers visited this charming village on Sunday, May 17th. The visitors were met at the parish church by the local band, amongst whom was an enthusiastic veteran, Mr. G. Latham, who subsequently called a 720 of Grandsire from the 5th with all the zest of youth. Doubles only were indulged in, owing to the treble man (W. Dean) being unable to accompany the party. First—three 6-scores of Plain Bob, then five of Stedman, afterwards 720 of Grandsire, in which three of the home men took part. After the bells had been lowered, refreshments were provided by host Latham, of The Ten Bells, who shewed great skill with the hammer on a grand peal of sixteen handbells. The visitors were Messrs. Prout (2), East, Condict, Savage, and Smith.

INGHAMSHIRE. By ALFRED HENEAGE COCKS.
M.A., Ch. Ch., Oxford; F.Z.S., F.R.G.S., Great Marlow,
Bucks. With many Illustrations.

Messrs. JARROLD & SONS have pleasure in announcing the
early publication by subscription of this most interesting and important work. It will contain an account of all the Church Bell
in Buckinghamshire, with everything relating to their history that can be discovered. Full accounts of all the Founders whose bells
hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County
including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. The work was undertaken at the instigation of the late J. C. L. Stahlischmidt Esq., author of "Surrey Bells and Local Bell-founders," "The Church Bells of Kent," "Herts," etc., and the fact that the author
had the benefit of the kind assistance and advice of this well-known
campanologist may be mentioned as some guarantee of the scope and nature of the present work. Mr. Stahlischmidt wrote the author,
that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting country," and he repeated this opinion in a subsequent letter. The
"Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 600 pages to be handsomely illustrated with 24 full-page plates of mediaeval letter-
ings, founders' marks, etc., found on Bells still existing in the County
and numerous figures—some of them being peculiar to Bucks—will be inserted in the text. The 8vo. Edition is limited to 300 copies, and will be offered to subscribers before the day of publication at 5s. nett. The Larger Edition, Royal 4to, is limited to 80 copies, and will be subscribed at 4s. The prices will be raised on the day of issue should any copies remain unsold.

[VOL. XV.]

THE ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

This association held its annual meeting at Chelmsford on Whit-Monday, when, although the attendance was not so large as upon some former occasions, there was nevertheless a good muster of members. The towers of the surrounding churches were open, and ringing was commenced early in the morning at several. At St. Mary's it was however rather late before even the bells were raised. A sufficient number of members arriving shortly before the time fixed for the service, a start was made in Grandsire Caters.

A special service was as usual held at St. Mary's at 11.30. A new form of service specially arranged for ringers, and which has received the approval of the Lord Bishop of the Diocese, was used. The first portion of the service was recited by the Rev. G. E. G. Hoare, one of the assistant priests at Chelmsford. The lesson was read by the Rev. H. T. W. Eyre, assistant sec. of the association; and the address, founded upon the first and fifth verses of the 150th Psalm, was given by the Archdeacon of Essex. There were also present, unrobed, the Bishop of Colchester, and the Rev. H. H. Henson, of St. Mary's Hospital-chapel, Ilford.

The business meeting was held in the boys' schoolroom, the assistant sec. presiding. The president, vice-presidents, committee, hon. sec. and treasurer, assistant sec., and the peal committee were re-elected.

Mr. S. Hayes suggested that, with a view of economy, only three representatives to the Central Council should be elected, more especially as the association did not generally send the whole of the representatives, owing to expense, when held a distance from London, and moved a resolution that only three be elected.

This having been seconded, Mr. B. Keeble advocated that the association should have its full number of representatives, and leave the hon. sec. to arrange who should attend when the meetings were held out of London. Next year it would be in London, and therefore the expense would not be heavy for the whole four to attend.

An amendment to elect four was adopted, and the four previous representatives elected. One life member, one hon. member, eighteen ringing, and six probationers were elected.

The annual report was submitted.

On the proposition of Mr. Keeble, seconded by Mr. Pitstow, it was resolved to record on the minutes the deep regret of the association at the cause of the absence of the hon. sec., and that the association trusted Mr. Papillon might shortly return home, fully restored to health, and thus be again enabled to take an active part in the work of the association. It was also resolved, in recognition of past services to the association, to elect Mr. Papillon a life member.

Mr. C. Howard, of Braintree, moved an alteration of rule 3, so as to enable non-resident ringers to become, after election, upon payment of 5s., life members, to remain on the books of the association so long as they resided outside the county, but not to vote or hold any official position. After some discussion, the proposal was adopted, and it was understood that the present non-resident members would have the option of remaining annual subscribers of 1s., or becoming life members by the payment of 5s.

A question having been raised respecting a peal of Grandsire Caters rung at West Ham, composed by Mr. J. Rogers, concerning which some correspondence has appeared, Mr. H. Randall, the conductor, said he was prepared to submit the figures of the peal as rung to the inspection of the peal committee, as he was confident that the peal rung was correct. The suggestion was adopted.

The meeting closed with votes of thanks to the Rector of Chelmsford, who, the assistant sec. announced, was unable to be present through having to seek rest after over-work; to the clergy of the surrounding towers, and the assistant sec. A capital dinner, to which 89 sat down, was afterwards served.

THE DEVONSHIRE GUILD.

The annual meeting took place at Withycombe Raleigh (Exmouth), on Whitsun-Monday. There was a large gathering of members, 87 in all being present at the tea and meeting, which was held by the kind invitation of the Rev. G. F. De Pewtron, in the vicarage garden. The following bands were represented: Exeter—St. Sidwell's, St. Edmund's, St. David's; Plymouth and Devonport, Clyst St. George, Axminster, Ottery St. Mary, Huntsham, Tiverton, Monkleigh, and Withycombe.

The Rev. Maitland Kelly, in the absence of the vice-president, presided, and was supported by the Revs. G. F. De Pewtron, R. Gibbs, G. Molineux, C. Hawkes, W. S. Willett, F. C. De Guereu, Esq., Messrs. Ferris Shepherd, E. Shepherd, B. Mundy, E. Munday, H. Payne, etc., and in presenting the report of the committee, he alluded first to the sad loss which the Guild had sustained in the death of its esteemed President. Colonel Troyte was one of the originators of the Guild, and at its first meeting on March 21st, 1874, was elected President, a position which he had ably filled ever since. It is well-known how keen an interest he took in the promotion of change-ringing, and how much he had done to forward its cause in Devon and elsewhere. During the last few years he had not been able, owing to failing health, to take the same practical part in ringing as was his wont in former years, but it will be remembered by those members present at Tiverton in 1893, how warmly he spoke of the science, and how pleased he seemed once again to meet, and to have a pull with his brother-ringers. His memory will not easily fade out of the ringing world, and will ever be held sacred by the members of the Devonshire Guild.

In presenting the report, the hon. sec. pointed out the increase in members at the last committee meeting, over thirty names being added to the list, and to-day he had to propose three fresh bands who wished to join. The increase in members however meant increase in responsibility, and he hoped every member would endeavour to carry out the object for which the Guild was formed, viz., "The promotion of a reverent feeling among church-bell ringers for their sacred office; belfry reform, and the cultivation of change-ringing." The number of peals of 5000 changes and upwards was in excess of former years, and this was caused partly by the visit of the Rev. G. F. Coleridge's band in October last. Altogether, he must congratulate the Guild on its present position, and hope that if they all worked together heartily, that a sphere of still greater usefulness was in store for it.

In the place of Colonel Troyte, C. Pearson, Esq., was unanimously elected President; and the other officers were re-elected. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Rev. G. F. De Pewtron and the Withycombe band for the kind welcome given to the Guild.

After the meeting, an adjournment was made to the church, where a short and hearty service was held, with an address by the Vicar.

During the day, the bands rang at various towers in Exeter, Withycombe, Sowton, Clyst St. George, Powderham, and Kenton.

THE SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The Annual Meeting was held at Brighton on Whit-Monday. The Bells of St. Peter and St. Nicholas were set going about 10 a.m. At 12 noon a short special service was held in St. Nicholas church. The vicar (Rev. C. W. Bond), kindly made all arrangements, and took the service. The Rev. C. D. P. Davies read the lesson, and the Secretary of the Association (Rev. J. W. G. Loder-Cother), gave a short but effective address, the Rev. J. H. MacDermott presiding at the organ. At 1 p.m. some seventy sat down to luncheon at the Royal Pavilion, under the chairmanship of the Mayor, Alderman J. G. Blaker. After full justice had been done to the excellent fare provided, the chairman gave the ringers toast of "Church and Queen." This being done, Mr. G. Attree, the Master of the Association, proposed a hearty vote of thanks to his worship for presiding.

The Hon. Secretary having seconded, it was accorded with acclamation.

The Mayor in reply gave the ringers a hearty welcome to Brighton, and expressed the pleasure which all must experience at the success of the ringers in producing such excellent music on the bells. He wished them all success, and specially congratulated the Association on having such an excellent and enthusiastic Master as his friend Mr. Attree, whose health he proposed.

The Master briefly thanked the Mayor, who then retired to attend another engagement.

The business meeting then commenced by the Master giving a resume of the year's work, pointing to the increased balance in hand from £5 to £9, and to the position of the Association as being again the highest in the country so far as value of peals was concerned, and expressed the hope that the number of peals would also be increased during the year. He also referred to the unfortunate withdrawal by the Railway Company of the cheap tickets as being hurtful to the Association and injurious to the company. He mentioned that one record was established being a record of all England, that a band to which he belonged scored six Surprise peals out of eight attempted in four Surprise methods.

On the motion of the Hon. Secretary, seconded by the Rev. C. W. Bond, the new Bishop was elected President.

With hearty acknowledgment of his indispensable services to the Association, the Hon. Secretary moved, and the Rev. C. D. P. Davies seconded, that Mr. Attree be re-elected Master, which was carried with applause.

The Hon. Secretary was re-elected with expressions of pleasure on the proposition of Mr. F. B. Tompkins, seconded by the Master.

At the instigation of the Rev. J. H. MacDermott, Mr. G. Williams, of Brighton, and Mr. S. Saker, of Hastings, were re-elected as Divisional Secretaries, Mr. F. B. Tompkins as Hon. Treasurer, and Messrs. Fuller and Tyler as Auditors.

Various new members were elected, the Association now numbering 570 members.

The Report and Balance-Sheet were duly read and adopted. The following motions were carried: 1.—That the Annual Meeting be in future held on Easter Monday. 2.—That the boundary lines of the Division be altered so as to give a more even distribution of towers. 3.—That it be permissible to elect one member in a tower, provided that the fact be posted to the Hon. Secretary before the peal is commenced. The Committee were duly elected, and the representatives on the Central Council: The Master; the Rev. C. D. P. Davies; Mr. J. Parker, and Mr. S. Saker.

The challenge bell has for the fifth successive year been handed to the St. Peter's band, Brighton.

Marriage.

BOUTFLOWER—GOODWYN.—On Tuesday, June 2nd, at All Saints' church, Battersea Park, London, by the Rev. Halsall Segar, vicar of Grove, Berks., cousin of the bridegroom, assisted by the Rev. Gerald Harcourt, vicar, Charles Edward Douglas Boutflower, of Bristol, Solicitor (Master of the Gloucester and Bristol and the Bath and Wells Diocesan Associations,) to Alice Mary, eldest daughter of the late Samuel Allen Goodwyn, formerly of Leiston Hall, Suffolk.

PRESENTATION TO A BELL-RINGER AT NORTHALLERTON.

Recently an interesting presentation took place at The Buck Hotel, Northallerton, when Mr. Charles Denton Smith was presented with a handsome silver-mounted briar pipe in morocco case, and a handsome tobacco pouch filled with tobacco, by his brother-ringers of All Saints' church, on his leaving Northallerton for York.

Mr. James Barnett, captain of the bell-ringers, said they had met that evening to present Mr. Smith with a small testimonial to show their appreciation of the valuable services he had rendered them for some years past. He was certain it was not the value of the articles that the recipient would look at, but the good wishes which accompanied the present. Mr. Smith had always taken a great interest in the bell-ringers and had worked hard on their behalf, and they regretted that he was leaving. It afforded him much pleasure in asking his acceptance of a silver-mounted pipe and tobacco pouch filled with tobacco in the hope that he would remember when he smoked his pipe the many pleasant associations and hours he had spent with them in the belfry.

Mr. R. Shuttleworth addressed a few remarks and said that Mr. Smith had been the means of getting the belfry seated. For nine years he had worked hard for their interest.

Mr. Albert Barker said he was pleased to see nearly all the old bell-ringers present. As a sidesman he had taken great interest in the bell-ringers and therefore they wished Mr. Smith God-speed in his future career at York.

Mr. C. D. Smith replied in appropriate terms and said the pipe and other articles would remind him of many pleasant hours he had spent amongst them in the belfry of All Saints' church. He could assure them that he valued their presents not from their intrinsic worth but as a token of their good will. He had been connected with that belfry for about nine years and had tried to improve the bells; he found them in a very bad state and had succeeded in making them ringable. His wish was that the ringers were better supported, and that they all might have health to ring many peals, including Grandsire Triples.

The following is an extract from the minutes of the Ancient Vestry of Northallerton, held on the 7th April, 1896:—

"Resolved—That a vote of thanks be awarded to Mr. C. D. Smith, acknowledging his devoted attention to the Bells and Belfry of the Parish Church for several years past.

(Signed) J. BARMBY, Chairman."

LEEDS AND DISTRICT AMALGAMATED SOCIETY.

The usual ringing meeting of the society was held on Saturday, May 30th, at Tong. Thirty members and friends were present from Rothwell, Leeds, Armley, Pudsey, Bingley, Bradford, Horbury, Bramley, Holbeck (R.C.), Headingley, and the local company. The peal announced was successfully accomplished, particulars of which appear in another column. Then followed more tower practice by mixed companies with touches in the more intricate methods. The business meeting was held at the licensed premises of Mr. Joseph Aston, the President, Mr. J. W. T. Holgate, presided. The minutes of the previous meeting was passed as read. Votes of thanks were passed to the vicar, wardens, and the local company for the use of the bells. Handbell ringing was the next order, and courses of Grandsire Royal, Caters, Major, and Triples, Bob Major, etc., were rung till 10 o'clock. Altogether a most pleasant afternoon and evening was spent, the weather being all that could be desired, and the cosy little village and surrounding district being exceptionally rich in verdure at this time of the year, and amply repays any one a visit. The song of the cuckoo was a rather novel welcome to the visitors, and was much appreciated.

STONE, STAFFORDSHIRE.

A large clock with three dials 8 ft. dials chiming the Cambridge quarters and striking the hour, has been erected at the parish church by John Smith and Sons, Derby, whose design had been approved by Lord Grimthorpe. It is fitted with all the latest improvements.

BIRMINGHAM &amp; DISTRICT AMALGAMATED SOCIETY.

On Whit-Monday, May 25th, six members of the above started from Snow Hill, Birmingham, at 4.30 a.m., bound for the ancient town of Chepstow, in Monmouthshire, passing on the way through the lovely valley of the Wye, one of the most delightful pieces of scenery in the British Islands.

Arriving at Chepstow about 9 o'clock, they were met by the local band of ringers, together with Messrs. Prickett, sen. and jun., of whom Mr. Prickett, jun. has gained fame in Birmingham as a ringer, but now resides in Chepstow. Under the friendly guidance of Mr. Prickett, the band proceeded to recuperate their energies after their long ride, and to refresh the inner man; after which they viewed some of the romantic scenery of the district, including the fine old castle, while awaiting the arrival of Mr. Rock Small, who was to come by a later train. On his arrival a move was made towards the church of St. Mary, with its fine peal of eight bells, and a touch or two of Darlaston Bob Triples with some of the local band standing in, were rung to get rope-sight, as the bells are hung left-handed. At 11.30 an attempt was made for a peal of Darlaston Bob Triples, which went merrily along until 2.41, when the conductor called out "this is all." The ringers who were in the church (which is open to the belfry), cheered one of the best rung peals they had ever heard. A report of the peal will be found in its proper place.

The next item on the programme was to steer straight for Mr. Prickett's house, where a capital spread was in readiness, to which ample justice was done. The handbells were then brought into requisition, and a touch of Grandsire Triples was rung. A journey was then made to the river, and a delightful excursion on the Wye was made in Mr. Prickett's boat. The time passed pleasantly and quickly away, and on returning tea was provided.

Prior to departing, Mr. Carter on behalf of the band tendered their best thanks for Mr. Prickett's kind and courteous entertainment, and as this was the first time he had the pleasure of seeing Mrs. Prickett, he begged to proffer their best wishes for their long life and happiness.

The return journey was now undertaken, the train leaving at 7.45, all arriving safely at Birmingham at 2 a.m. The band desire to thank Mr. Morley, the tower-keeper, for the excellent manner in which they were received, the "go" of the bells and the good order they are kept in deserve every praise. Thanks are also due to the vicar (Rev. E. J. Hensley), for the ready permission to use the bells, his kind remarks concerning the peal-board, and his wish that the time would not be far distant when the band would visit Chepstow again.

THE OLD EAST DERBYSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

The second annual competition for a silver cup of the value of £10, took place at Norton church on Whit-Tuesday, when six companies competed, being two less than the previous year. The draw took place at The New Inn at 11.30. The church being situated three miles from the nearest railway station, prevented the different bands from having much practice, therefore the ringing was not of the best, in fact nothing to compare with the last contest. The local band rang in fine style until 6 minutes from home, when one of them becoming excited, lost his place, which cost the company above ninety faults before the end came. The judges, Messrs. Thomas Dixon (Sheffield), and Squire Mitchell (Batley), by the kind permission of the vicar (Rev. G. H. Hall), sat in the vicarage. The result was declared by the Secretary to be as follows: Winners of the cup—Staveley, 214 faults; 2nd—Norton, 279 faults, including 50 given for ringing at home; 3rd—Eckington, 4th—Anston; 5th—Shireoaks; Treeton came to grief after ringing seven minutes. This makes the second time Staveley has carried off the cup. Votes of thanks were passed to the judges for their services, and to the vicar for his hospitality, and the use of the bells. The secretary will shortly call a meeting to select the method for next year's business, hoping by so doing each band will have ample time to practice and make themselves perfect, by making more frequent visits to the tower where they decide to ring the contest. We trust that next year will bring more members to our Association, and more subscribers to our paper—"THE BELL NEWS."

LARGE TOWER CLOCK AT SHEFFIELD NEW TOWN HALL.

The above clock, which is one of the finest in the kingdom, was set going on Wednesday last, on what is hoped to be a long and prosperous career. In many respects it is like the large clock in Lincoln Cathedral, and by the same makers, viz., Messrs. W. Potts and Sons, Clock Manufacturers, of Leeds and Newcastle-on-Tyne, only at Lincoln there are no outside dials, whereas at Sheffield there are four illuminated dials of skeleton cast iron, 8ft. 6in. in diameter, glazed with the white opal glass for illumination, with gas fittings and reflectors behind the dials, and there is also an automatic gas apparatus for turning on and off the gas according to the season of the year. The clock is constructed on the solid horizontal cast iron bed, all in one piece, from the solid, the top surface and bottom being planed perfectly flat, the frame being 7ft. 6in. long, 2ft. 6in. wide, and 18ft. deep. All the bushes or bearings are of gun-metal, screwed into the frame, so that each or any wheel may be removed separately without interfering with the others. The escapement is the double three-legged gravity by Lord Grimthorpe, with two seconds compensation pendulum attached, composed of zinc and iron tubes and steel rod through the centre and cylindrical shaped bob of cast iron. There are two index dials, one showing the seconds and the other the minutes, the main wheel of the hour part being 22 in. diameter, with ten steel-cams attached. The quarter main wheel is 20 in. diameter, with five rings of cams attached, and the going part main wheel 20 in. diameter with maintaining power attached to keep the clock going during the time of winding up. There is also discharging apparatus for striking with greater accuracy, but it is a great pity that a first-class clock like the above, with all the necessary mechanism for striking the hours and quarter-chimes correctly, should be laid idle in the tower because there are no bells in the tower for it to strike upon, and thus depriving the bulk of the ratepayers from knowing the time except they live in close proximity to the Town Hall, which the majority will be unable to do, and be obliged to listen to the shrieks of whistle and horrid buzzers, which might be done away with if the clock struck on proper bells, as is generally the case in all towns, small and great.

THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

LIVERPOOL BRANCH.—The usual monthly meeting was held at Christ Church, Aughton, on Saturday, May 9th, and was attended by members from Liverpool and Southport; also the local company. Mr. J. Aspinwall presided. The minutes of the previous meeting having been read and passed, it was proposed that the next meeting be held on Huyton on Saturday, June 6th. Three new members were elected. Votes of thanks were passed to Mr. C. Sharples for having everything in readiness; also to the chairman for presiding. Methods rung during the day—Grandsire, Plain Bob, and Treble Bob.

THE ST. PETER MANCROFT SOCIETY, NORWICH.

The Annual Dinner of this Society was held at The Eagle, St. Gregory's, on Whit-Monday. About twenty-eight sat down to a capital repast, Mr. F. Knights fully maintaining his fine reputation as a caterer. The Master (Mr. G. Howchin), occupied the chair, and was supported by Mr. J. Souter (Diss), Mr. J. Woods (Quidenham), and all the local company. The usual loyal toasts were proposed, the proceedings being also enlivened by tune-ringing by Messrs. Knights and son, and Warnes. St. Peter Mancroft, St. Giles and St. Gregory's bells were open during the day, and greatly contributed to the enjoyment of the members.

THE PEAL "APPENDIX, 1895," PRINTED BY the Central Council Committee, may be obtained post free, with the Report on Calls, on application to the Hon Secretary, Rev. H. Earle Bulwer, Stanhoe Rectory, King's Lynn, enclosing 7½d. in stamps.

THE DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of this association was held at Hexham on Whit-Monday, and was well attended.

The members began to arrive as early as nine o'clock, and at once proceeding to the Abbey, made their presence known; the first touch rung being 224 Bob Major. At noon the committee met at The White Hart hotel, after which, at 1 o'clock, the party, to the number of 35, sat down to dinner, when an excellent repast was served up by the hostess—Miss Patterson.

The chair was occupied by Mr. R. S. Story (the president of the association), who was supported by the Rev. J. W. Swift and the honorary secretary—Mr. Thos. Hudson. Mr. Lees, one of the vice-presidents, was in the vice-chair.

After dinner, the chairman, in proposing "The Queen," remarked that as Her Majesty had on the day previous attained her 77th year, the toast should have more than ordinary attention, and he hoped that they would give expression to the loyalty of the association. The toast was received by the whole company singing "God Save the Queen."

Before submitting the toast of "The Bishops and Clergy of both Dioceses," the chairman referred to a letter which the secretary had received from the Bishop of Newcastle, wherein his lordship expresses his pleasure in his becoming a patron and subscriber to the association, and his regret that his absence from the Diocese will prevent his preaching the sermon on the occasion of the annual meeting of the association.

A letter was also read from the Dean of Durham, wherein he expressed his best wishes for the Guild's enjoyment of their day at Hexham.

The toast was then given, coupled with the name of the Rev. J. W. Swift, of Bishopwearmouth.

Mr. Swift, in acknowledging the compliment, thanked them for the kind way in which they had spoken of the clergy and their relation to the bell-ringers. He believed that the ringers were valuable workers with them for the one aim, and workers who filled an important function in the church. He thought that the bells were a part of the fabric of the church that too often was neglected, but the existence of an association like this really showed that the subject of bell-ringing was receiving more attention than ever it did in the past. In conclusion, he wished the association every prosperity, and expressed a hope that it would long continue to do its good work.

A course of Grandsire Caters was then rung on the handbells by R. C. Hudson, Wm. Holmes, E. Wallis, F. Lees, and F. J. Harrison.

The secretary then informed the meeting that the fund organized for the purpose of erecting a memorial in Jarrow church, to the late Mr. Andison, one of the victims of the Jarrow tragedy, had already exceeded £15.

The meeting then proceeded to the election of new members. These included the Rev. Dr. Nowell and the ringers of Newburn, twelve in number.

Allusion was made to a resolution of the committee to the effect that some of the towers which had been hitherto somewhat neglected, should be visited by bands selected from the members. Mr. Holmes was thereupon asked to arrange the bands for these visits.

A hearty vote of thanks was then accorded the authorities of Hexham Abbey and Corbridge church for the use of the bells. The company then dispersed, some returning to the Abbey, where some excellent ringing was done. Most of the members visited the charming village of Corbridge, and found the place all alive with visitors, many of whom were on wheels. The bells here, on account of their small size and great length of rope, proved a little troublesome to the ringers. Nevertheless a 720 of Oxford Treble Bob was brought round in good style, thus ending a very pleasant outing.

NOTICE TO VISITORS TO YORK.—The ringers of the Minster bells will be pleased to receive and accommodate any ringers who may visit the city on June 17th, 18th, and 19th, and wish for a touch. Meet at the south entrance at 12.15 each day, and 5.30 on the 17th and 18th.—W. H. HOWARD, Secretary, 43, Trinity Lane, York.

Obituary.

REV. THOMAS GREGORY SMART.

It is with unfeigned regret that we announce the death of the Rev. Thomas Gregory Smart, vicar of St. John's church, Lytham, which took place on Friday, May 29th, at Bath. Acting under doctor's orders, the rev. gentleman left Lytham on the 24th of February last, but at the time it was little thought that he would never return, inasmuch as he took part in the services at St. John's church on the day previous to his departure. The deceased gentleman was a descendant by direct male line of a most distinguished and illustrious family, his line of descent going back through a long list of brilliant men to Caradoc Vraic-Vras, the founder of the dynasty of the princes between the Wye and the Severn. He was the third son of Mr. John Newton Smart, who was second son of John Smart, of Trehwitt House, Northumberland, and Deputy Lieutenant of that county. He took his B.A. degree at Cambridge in 1849, and his M.A. in 1856. He was ordained a deacon of the Church of England in 1856, and in 1858 was ordained priest by the Bishop of London. In 1865 he came to Lytham as curate to the Rev. William Henry Self, M.A., and on the removal of the last-named gentleman, the living was presented to the Rev. T. G. Smart, who was collated to it in 1870. In life he was a man of many parts. He enjoyed the respect and esteem of all with whom he came into contact; his benevolence was known far and near, and many of the poor will sadly mourn his demise. He was an earnest advocate of the temperance cause, and established the first branch of the Church of England Temperance Society in Lytham. His efforts to cultivate the taste for art, music, and natural history were also well-known, and as an outcome of his musical abilities, he was largely instrumental in establishing the Lytham Choral Society, which, during the sixteen years of its career, has given splendid performances of such masterpieces as "Elijah," "The Messiah," and "The Creation." He was a life member of the Fylde branch of the Lancashire Association, and was the means of getting a ring of six bells for the tower of St. John's church in the year 1875. Although he never took part in the ringing of a peal, the objects of the association at all times received his warmest support, and his consideration for the comfort of any body of ringers who visited the church was highly appreciated. The local ringers testify to the fact that they have lost a dear friend. When the sad news reached Lytham, a deeply-muffled peal was at once rung, and every day since has the mournful task been repeated, the methods adopted being Grandsire Minor, Plain Bob Minor, and College Single Minor. At the places of worship on Sunday, May 31st, stirring allusion was made to the sorrowful event. The funeral took place on Wednesday, June 3rd, at New Barnet, near London. The deceased gentleman was a bachelor, and on the day of his death, attained his 69th year.

Correspondence.

While allowing the utmost freedom for the expression of opinion, it must never be considered that we are in any way bound to statements made by correspondents.

To the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS AND RINGERS' RECORD."

"PEALS" AND "PERFORMANCES."

SIR,—After all the discussion and correspondence that has passed quite recently with regard to the Six-Bell question one would think that it would be quite a recognised fact (for the present at any rate) that a 5040 in Minor methods should come under the heading of "Performances," and not "Peals." Possibly Messrs. Cotton, Lancashire, and Buttery had overlooked this fact when they sent in their list of peals to "THE BELL NEWS." Surely it is hardly fair to six-bell ringers in general for the above men and others that have also appeared in the same way to include their six-bell performances in their private list of peals, and then when attending the Central Council to vote against them being called peals. Do unto all men as you would they should do unto you is the policy of FREDK. T. SPENCE.

CURRENT TOPICS.

That was a splendid memento of the Silent Peal which accompanied last week's paper, and the short synopsis following each ringer's name just to the point, and no more. It is not given to all to attain such celebrity; we cannot all be ringers of Stedman Triples double-handed. Perfection in such work is pronounced to be a gift, with which only a few, comparatively speaking, are said to be favored. I believe it. There are some of our best men, skilled in every other branch of the Art, who, so far as we have heard, can't ring a touch of the simplest methods double-handed. Then when such feats as this are accomplished, it is quite right that they should receive more than ordinary comment. This has been satisfactorily done.

In reading the short sketches of each ringer, my attention was attracted to the business three of them—Messrs. Cotton, Cleal, and Buttery—follow. I am not able to accurately define the technical terms indicating their calling, but I may safely state that they are employed at something in the leather way. Well, many of my readers will recollect the old story they read when at school, which runs something to this effect: Artificers of various kinds had been called into consultation to give their advice upon the defences of their town, then likely to be besieged. They gave their opinions—the mason said that stone would be the best material; the carpenter advocated wood, and so on. At last the currier was called in, and he said that the opinions previously given by his brother artificers were all very well in their way, "but," added he, "take my word, gentlemen, there's nothing like leather." Many of my readers will remember this story, or fable.

What nonsense! some may be inclined to say. "Shocking bad taste," others no doubt will remark. Let us see. Some sense is required even to talk nonsense. Some years ago a conversation was going on in a well-known churchyard in the county of Norfolk relative to the talents of a bob-caller, who was rightly said to be able to ring and call peals in any method known. The ringer in question happening to walk by at the time, drew forth the remark from one of the company that his appearance and manner did not give the beholder any idea that he possessed the talents ascribed to him. This was concurred in generally, but followed by this remark: "He is a shoemaker by trade, and you will find that the majority of shoemakers are thinking men." This opinion, given by a gentleman of great influence in the county, was agreed to by all present. I am not going to mention names—but I will just say that the ringer in question, and the gentleman who made the observation (en passant—both gentlemen) still live.

A well-known figure in ringing circles in the above-named county was the late Mr. Benjamin Smith, at one time the hope of the whole of Norfolk (Norwich perhaps excepted) as a bob-caller. William Harrison, of Mottram, was, as is well known, a masterly composer. Both these were shoemakers. The same calling was followed by the celebrated Noonan, who composed the very first peal of Stedman Triples, now unfortunately lost both to sight and memory. Many more celebrated living men among our brethren could be mentioned who are constantly shoeing

Her Majesty's lieges. Truly the saying, "there is nothing like leather," is not so very far out after all; and the taste of my allusions to the trade of the Leicester gentlemen is not so very bad. What say you, my old friends John and Joseph?

Another feature of this peal was that two of the ringers are natives of towns where the Church of England is much en evidence [to appropriate a quotation]. Mr. Cleal is a native of Tewkesbury—where is the grand historical Abbey of that ilk. He is in good company: the Rev. Charles D. P. Davies is a Tewkesbury man. Mr. Cotton is a native of Worcester—a citizen of no mean city. He is not the first ringer this city has contributed to the Exercise.

"Good Old Vicar!" This was the ejaculation of each member of the Buckland Dinham Branch of the Frome Guild on the 7th of last month. We read that these ringers had a most enjoyable outing to Bishops Lydeard. When they got there they rang the church bells, of course, but it must be presumed the striking was rough, because the bells "went" bad. Here the party were invited by the churchwardens to a luncheon, to which it is averred the usual "ample" justice was accorded. Good old Churchwardens! Then on to Taunton, where was found a genial captain, who had the control of a ring of bells, the condition of which was A 1. Good old Captain! Then back home to Buckland Dinham. [By the way what a heap of double-barrelled names there are to the towns of Somersetshire.] Arrived home the company pass an impromptu vote of thanks to their worthy Vicar, amid vociferous applause, for his kindness, for the whole expenses of the outing were borne by him. Again—"Good Old Vicar!" And with reason may they say it.

Such clergymen as the Vicar of this Somersetshire town, are, I am glad to observe, not getting scarcer. They are increasing wonderfully. May their shadow never become less. It is not so much the actual hospitality given in such cases, but the kindly thought which suggests it. It shows that ringers are not left out in the cold like they used to be; that their work and organisation is valued; and that their position in the Church is recognised to be as important as any, next to the clergy themselves. But then there are incumbents who regard ringers equally favorable, who are not able from various causes to be given to such hospitality. We should give these reverend gentlemen every credit for their good intentions towards us, and try to make them feel that we do so. We must not in these days expect too much. The incomes of the clergy are very often no great shakes. They have a deal to do with what income they get; the calls upon their pocket are more frequent than we are aware of. An idea obtains in some places that unless the Vicar shells out pretty liberally for the ringers' outing, it shows meanness. This is wrong. We may depend upon it that the fact in the majority of cases is the reverse. A Vicar may think that as he cannot afford to do what he would like to do, the best thing to avoid misrepresentation is to leave the subject alone. Thinking men will agree with him.

PLAIN SPEAKER.

THOMAS BLACKBOURN, CHURCH BELL HANGER, AND TUNER. SALISBURY, WILTSHIRE.

THOMAS BLACKBOURN is a practical Ringer, and having had considerable experience in Church Bell hanging and tuning, with confidence solicits the patronage of the Clergy, Churchwardens and Ringers generally.

T. B. has devoted a great deal of attention to the fixing of Clock Hammers, used for striking the hours and quarters on Church Bells. These are sometimes placed in awkward and dangerous positions, even by Church Clock Makers.

T. BLACKBOURN'S experience enables him to affix these hammers, with their accompanying levers in a most accurate manner, preventing any danger to the bell frame or clock. He will be glad to advise on clocks as well as bells.

The Ellacombe Chime Hammers fixed. Sole Fixer of Selby's Apparatus for Silent practice. Handbells supplied. Bells weighed in the tower at a small cost.

The Bell News & Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, JUNE 6, 1896.

WE are told that an impression has lately arisen in certain quarters to the effect that our attitude on the six-bell question has not met with unqualified approval. Though every effort may be strenuously made to obtain the sanction and approbation of our readers, it would be the height of folly to imagine for one second that it was possible to please all, or gain every one's approval for the comments which from time to time appear on this page. Whoever fancies such a thing possible must certainly be a simpleton, and practically unacquainted with the rudimentary elements even, of that elastic and mysterious compound known as human nature. Nevertheless, we are always anxious to remove impressions which appear groundless, and to give the most ready explanations when any doubts or difficulties of comprehension arise.

If there be any of our friends who feel that we are actuated by any hostility or opposition towards six-bell ringers we entreat them to disabuse their minds at once of such sentiments, because there is not the faintest reason for them. We claim to belong to the ranks of six-bell ringers ourselves, and our early teachings and connexions in the Art give us as strong a claim as any one. If the present arrangement of publishing "peals" and "performances" is not satisfactory to those concerned, we have no desire to perpetuate it in the teeth of opposition. But it is well-known we are not singular in looking upon this arrangement as the best possible: still as just stated, we have no desire to continue it if it is gall and wormwood to our brethren. But what other form of record shall be adopted? There are numerous opinions to consider even if we immediately consented to make any alteration and the adoption of any one of these, would give great dissatisfaction to those holding the others. Then what machinery is there in existence, what instrumentality can we use to effect a change which shall stand some chance of being acceptable? If the Central Council—the only body competent to adjudicate upon such a matter—fails to give satisfaction to those concerned, there is nothing left but to use all efforts towards altering the representation, and work hard to return to the Council men who will support different views. But in the meantime let us not be accused of hostility towards an important section of the Exercise, because we remain loyal to the only legislative ringing body we have.

THE CHURCH BELLS OF BUCK-INGHAMSHIRE. By ALFRED HENEAGE COCKES.
M.A., Ch. Ch., Oxford; F.Z.S., F.R.G.S., Great Marlow,
Bucks. With many Illustrations.

MESSRS. JARROLD & SONS have pleasure in announcing the
early publication by subscription of this most interesting and important work. It will contain an account of all the Church Bell
in Buckinghamshire, with everything relating to their history that can be discovered. Full accounts of all the Founders whose bells
hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County
including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. The work was undertaken at the instigation of the late J. C. L. Stahlischmidt Esq., author of "Surrey Bells and London Bell-founders," "The Church Bells of Kent," "Herts," etc., and the fact that the author
had the benefit of the kind assistance and advice of this well-known
campanologist may be mentioned as some guarantee of the scope and nature of the present work. Mr. Stahlischmidt wrote the author,
that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting country," and he repeated this opinion in a subsequent letter. The
"Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 600 pages to be handsomely illustrated with 24 full-page plates of mediaeval letter-
ings, founders' marks, etc., found on Bells still existing in the County
and numerous figures—some of them being peculiar to Bucks—will be inserted in the text. The 2vo. Edition is limited to 350 copies, and will be offered to subscribers before the day of publication at 25s. nett. The Larger Edition, Royal 4to, is limited to 80 copies, and will be subscribed at 42s. The prices will be raised on the day
of issue should any copies remain unsold.

RE-OPENING OF INCREASED PEAL AT SHERE, SURREY.

The above heading comprehends but a small portion of the work of restoration recently completed in the ancient church of St. James' the Great. Structural repairs to the fabric had long been required, the roofs and shingling of the spire being in a very unsound state. Internally the sacred edifice required several adaptations to modern requirements. It has taken about a year to finish the entire work. The chancel has been thoroughly re-furnished with oak choir stalls and altar rails: and a new two-manual organ, by Kirkland, has been generously provided by Miss E. E. Locke-King. A beautiful brass altar cross was the gift of another lady. New vestries have been added to the north-west corner of the nave, and the choir has been surpliced. The font has been moved to what is believed to have been its original position, and the seats in the nave have been lowered. A new heating apparatus has been supplied, and other minor additions and improvements have also been much appreciated.

In August, 1894, some members of the Society for the Preservation of Ancient Buildings visited the church, and after making many careful observations prepared a lengthy report, which they courteously presented to the rector, Rev. F. C. Hill. Space does not permit the writer of these lines to enter into details of their report; but that portion of it which dealt with the bells, bell-frame, and ringing-chamber, resulted in some difference of opinion. The tenor bell, weighing 15 cwt. 10 lbs. and cast in 1712, was badly cracked from the cannons to the waist. The frame was in a dangerous condition, and rocked three inches from north to south whenever the 5th bell was raised. The mortice and tenor joints in some instances had completely perished, and two firms had condemned the frame as past repair. The aforesaid society recommended the retention of this frame. For some ninety years the six bells had been rung from the floor of the nave, but it was evident that before that time the ropes had been handled on the floor above. This floor, which was in a very unsound condition, has been thoroughly renewed; and after several lengthy discussions the Restoration Committee decided that it would be better to have a new bell-frame than to attempt to patch up the old one. They passed a resolution that as many of the old timbers should be worked into the new frame as possible. Accordingly many of the braces of the new frame are composed of old stuff. Miss J. A. Fraser, of Netley Park, Shere, then generously offered two treble bells, in memory of the departed members of her family. These were cast on October 31st last, by Messrs. Mears & Stainbank, and weigh 5 cwt. 1 qr. 16 lbs., and 5 cwt. 3 qrs. 9 lbs. respectively. Their notes are E and D sharp. The tenor bell was also recast last year, by the same well-known firm, who supplied the new frame. The recast tenor weighs 15 cwt. 2 qrs. 2 lbs. The society above-named had stated in their report that the bells could not be rung from the floor in the tower, the length of rope being insufficient. This statement has been proved to be incorrect, and all those who pulled the bells from the level of the nave floor find that their labours have been reduced to a minimum. Those who took part in the first peal on May 30th, found the "go" of the bells all that could be desired, and the entire work reflects much credit on the well-known Whitechapel firm. Mr. W. S. Weatherley, of Cockspur Street, W., was the architect, and has carried out the restoration work in a most creditable manner. Messrs. King, of Abinger, were the contractors for the work on the fabric, which has cost about £2,500, including belfry repairs, &c. On April 23rd last, the Lord Bishop of Winchester formally dedicated the new and restored work. Some fifteen clergy from the neighbourhood were present at the special service at 3.15 p.m., including the Ven. the Archdeacon of Surrey, who read the second lesson, Ephesians ii. 4 to end. The first lesson was read by the Rev. Canon Dundas, rector of Albury. The rector of Shere said evensong to the end of the third collect. The Bishop used a special form of service which had been drawn up for the occasion. The prayers did not particularise the various offerings to the church, but referred generally to the work as a whole. The proper psalms were cxxii. and cxxxii.; the anthem was by V. Richardson, and hymns 242 and 379 A and M. were respectively sung as processional and recessional. The Bishop gave a short address from the chancel steps. The offertories during the day amounted to £376 4s. 1d. There had been a celebration of the Holy Communion at 11 a.m. At the conclusion of the Dedication Service the Rev. F. C. Hill entertained the clergy and others at the rectory; and the local band of ringers with some members of the Winchester Diocesan Guild, including the Master, Rev. R. C. M. Harvey, and the hon. sec., Rev. C. E. Matthews, had tea together at the White Horse, Shere. Subsequently the attempted opening peal came to grief after 2 hrs. and 20 mins. ringing. This was successfully brought round on Saturday May 30th, and the particulars have duly appeared in "THE BELL NEWS." The parishioners of Shere are to be congratulated on the possession of a very musical peal of bells, and much interest was evinced in the change-ringing.

THE NORTH NOTTS. ASSOCIATION.

The ninth annual meeting of this Association was held at Retford on Whit-Monday. The towers of East and West Retford and Ordsall were open all day by the kind permission of the Incumbent of each parish, but there was only a poor attendance of members, owing principally to the hot weather and other attractions elsewhere. However, the ringing was very good, especially a 504 of Grandsire Triples for the afternoon service, and a 720 of Kent Treble Bob Minor, conducted respectively by H. Haigh and R. Beeston. The following towers were represented: Anston, Blythe, Bawtry, Everton, Misson, Harthill, East Markham, East and West Retford, and Ordsall. At 2.30 p.m. Divine Service was held at East Retford church. There was a surpliced choir under the conductorship of H. C. Andrews, Esq., organist. The Vicar, the Rev. Canon Ebsworth, gave an appropriate address from Psalm cxxv. 2.

The rev. gentleman, in the course of an eloquent discourse, based the chief of his observations on the pleasures and pastimes of the present generation. He pointed out that he had no sympathy whatever with people who took away the lives of dumb animals and birds for mere sake of killing, but when carried on for the purpose of supplying people with necessary food, he would not then bring it under his condemnation. In Eastern countries, he said, if the people were given a general holiday, they would invariably spend the day in idleness, but in western countries, and England especially, he was very glad to say that the opposite was just the case. The people put into their recreation a great deal of energy, and this energy constituted a vital part of their pleasure. Another salient point he would urge upon people was the taking of their pastime with their companions, whenever possible, and also if possible their minds and bodies should be exercised; rather than cessation of work, he would have change of work. He pointed out that bell-ringing was a form of recreation that brought all these salient points into view and into operation. In change-ringing we were obliged to have our companions, and it was also an excellent bodily exercise. If any one doubted his words let him have three or four hours on the tenor bell, and his opinion would be greatly altered. It also required concentration of mind, without which good ringing was an impossibility, and was therefore a good substitute for the ordinary work of a man. In conclusion he pointed out that ringing should be brought to the highest possible perfection by attention to work in the belfry, and so doing their very best to the service of God in the very necessary and important part of our church.

After service, the usual business meeting was held in the parish room, presided over by Canon Ebsworth, and supported by the Rev. W. C. Ridding and Rev. H. T. Slodden, vicar of Worksop, the latter gentleman kindly acting as secretary in the unavoidable absence of the Rev. B. Darley, vicar of Harthill. The minutes of the last annual meeting and quarterly meeting at East Markham were read and confirmed. The balance-sheet for the year ending December 31st, 1885, showed a sum of a little over £5 in hand, but during the year a grant of £5 had been granted to East Markham Bell Fund, and £2 paid for instruction to probationers. For the selection of officers, the president, vice-presidents, treasurer, secretary, and working committee were all re-elected, and as a mark of esteem, the re-election of the indefatigable hon. sec., Rev. B. Darley, was the sign for great applause. Seven new members were duly enrolled, four from East Retford, and three from Blythe. Mr. H. Warburton proposed, and Mr. R. Beeston seconded, that the next annual meeting be held at East Retford, in 1897. The proposer pointed out that it was the most central place, and there were three towers at the disposal of the ringers, whereas at Worksop and the villages there was only one tower available, and if it was held at Retford it would avoid inconvenience, and give every member the privilege of having a pull. This was unanimously carried.

Mr. H. Warburton also proposed, and Mr. T. Smith seconded, that the annual meetings in future be held on Easter Monday instead of Whit-Monday, on account of so many attractions elsewhere on that day.

Mr. Haigh proposed, and Mr. Beeston seconded, that the next quarterly meeting be held at at Everton or Bawtry, on Saturday, August 22nd.

Mr. Haigh also moved, and Mr. Beeston seconded, that the working committee, with the assistance of the Rev. B. Darley, the Secretary, be empowered to revise the Association rules, and present the same to the members at the third quarterly meeting, or prior to the annual meeting for confirmation. This was also unanimously carried.

Hearty votes of thanks to the Incumbents for the use of the bells, to the Rev. Canon Ebsworth for presiding, for the use of the parish room and his appropriate address, and also to the Revs. W. C. Ridding and H. T. Slodden for their presence, brought the meeting to a close. The ringers and choir afterwards adjourned to The Turk's Head, Grove Street, where Host and Hostess Redcliffe had a knife and fork tea in readiness, catered for in the best style, and to which ample justice was done. After tea bands were selected to ring at all three towers at the same time, and some interesting methods were rung, viz.: Grandsire Triples, Kent Treble Bob Major, Violet, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob Minor, and a pleasant day's ringing, although marred by a poor attendance, was brought to a close by 8.30 in the evening.

THE OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.—CHIPPING NORTON DEANERY BRANCH.

Recently the spring meeting of the above branch of the Diocesan Guild was held at St. Michael and All Angels, Great Tew, where there is fine ring of eight bells, which have lately had a good sum spent on their improvement. Owing probably to the fact that the pretty little village of Great Tew is somewhat difficult of access to any of the ringers in the district, being a good way from some of the parishes, there was not so large a muster as had been anticipated.

The Chipping Norton members, with the Rev. H. Barter, president of the branch; and the Rev. F. E. Robinson, Master of the Diocesan Guild; and the hon. secretary, Mr. J. F. Barlow, left the town about a quarter to two, and had a pleasant drive to Great Tew, where they were welcomed by the Rev. J. P. Malleson, vicar, and being the first to arrive, were at once conducted to the belfry. A commencement was made under the leadership of the Master, but owing to the heavy weight of the bells, which most of the ringers present were not accustomed to, no touch was successfully scored beyond a 6-score of Grandsire Doubles immediately before the service.

In addition to the Chipping Norton members, there were also present representatives from Enstone, Great Tew, and Slipton, and Mr. J. W. Arkell, a member of the Worcestershire Association. After upwards of an hour's practice, the members assembled for Divine Service, which was conducted by the vicar, assisted by the Revs. H. Barter and F. E. Robinson, the latter of whom gave an interesting and appropriate address, taking as his text, 1 Peter, iv. 10: "As every man hath received the gift, even so minister the same one to another, as good stewards of the manifold grace of God." The musical portion of the service was conducted by Miss Ingram, the organist. In addition to the clergy above-mentioned there were also present in the body of the church the Revs. G. A. Littledale (Chipping Norton), A. W. B. Marshall (Heythrop), W. W. N. Barker (Enstone), R. O. Williams (Chipping Norton), and J. B. Jerwood (Little Tew). The Master of the Guild, in some remarks upon the above text, said he thought the words were very suitable for those gathered together that day, speaking as they did of a gift and the way it ought to be used. The primary essential in a bell was that it must be perfectly sound. If there was a flaw in the bell it would soon become cracked and therefore useless. In the same way if they wished to do their duty as Christian men, that quality of soundness was also essential. Then the act of ringing suggested that to do it properly there must be a putting forth of strength. No matter how small the bell might be there must be some exertion, and in case of a large bell, considerable strength was required. Likewise, in their daily life they should use their strength in all matters, great and small, and not go about their work in a lazy indolent fashion. Whatever they found to do, they should do it with all their might. The qualities of perseverance and energy were above all things necessary to the bell-ringer. Some took up the practice, and could not continue. But, as in the Christian life, it was to him who "endureth to the end" that the promise would be fulfilled. A beautiful thought for them whilst ringing was that the bell looked twice heavenwards for once to earth, and this might serve as an example to guide their conduct. Another thought was suggested by the Stedman Method of change-ringing. In that method the principle was that of three in one. Three of the bells were always connected together in the change, and each bell in its turn became one with the three, and then came out and became separate again. That was a simple way to bring to their minds that they ought continually to have recourse in prayer to God, the Three in One.

After the service a short business meeting of the committee was held in the vicarage, and then the whole party, numbering forty, proceeded to the schoolroom, where a meat tea had been provided by Mr. Clack, of The Falkland Arms. The repast concluded.

The president (Rev. H. Barter) rose and congratulated the members on the success of the meeting, saying he was very glad to see and meet them that day.

Mr. Barlow said Charlbury had been mentioned for the annual meeting. At present the bells might not be quite suitably hung, but Mr. West had promised the ropes should be altered, and it was thought it would be a very good thing to have the meeting there. This was agreed to.

The president said he had been asked to inform the members that the annual meeting of the Diocesan Guild was to be held at Bletchley on the 20th July. Parties of ten and upwards would be able to get there by railway at a fare and a quarter. He hoped some more of the towers in the deanery would join the Guild, and urged upon members to do what they could towards inducing others to join. Members had the advantage of receiving instruction in any of the towers affiliated to the Guild at only about a quarter of the cost, part being defrayed by the Guild and part by the branch to which they belonged.

Mr. Barlow gave the following names as intending probationary members, all from Enstone, with Mr. J. H. Blacklock, of Great Tew, as an honorary member, viz., Philip Bishop, Edward Akers, Percy Pearce, and William Hawtin. The Rev. J. P. Malleson proposed their election, saying he was very glad to see Enstone coming on so well, and the motion was seconded by the Rev. W. W. N. Barker, and carried.

The vicar said he had the pleasing duty to thank the Master of the Guild for his great kindness in being with them that day, and also for preaching to them such an excellent sermon. In respect to a matter which had been complained of, Mr. Malleson remarked that he was pleased to say that their bells were always "let down" on Sunday evenings, not kept "up" as heretofore.

He had been rather grieved that day that a complaint had heard of the Great Tew bells, but probably the bells being considerably heavier than those their visitors were accustomed to might make the difference. He had great pleasure in offering the thanks of the meeting to the Rev. F. E. Robinson.

The Master thanked them very much for the way in which they honoured his name. He had had the honour of presiding over the Guild since its formation, and he must congratulate the vicar and ringers of Great Tew on possessing such a fine peal of bells, especially in such a small village.

The Rev. H. Barter proposed that the thanks of the meeting be accorded to Mr. Malleson for allowing them to meet there. Everything had been well prepared for them, and if some fault had been found with the bells it was not that they wished to complain, but simply because they had to keep before them an ideal of perfection in every tower in the Guild.

The Vicar, in returning thanks, said he had had very little to do with the arrangements, all the trouble connected with which had been undertaken by their invaluable secretary, Mr. Barlow. There was a project, as yet only in the bud, to form a new branch in the district, to be called the Deddington branch. He added that now, when they had got such a nice connection with the Chipping Norton branch, he would not take any initiative in forming such a branch, to which Great Tew would belong, but he considered he ought to mention that such a project might in time be consummated.

The Rev. A. W. B. Marshall proposed a vote of thanks to the president of the branch. Mr. Barter briefly returned thanks, and then called for three cheers for Mr. Barlow, who he said took all the work off his hands, and thoroughly deserved all the thanks they could give him. This brought the proceedings to a conclusion, so far as the Chipping Norton contingent was concerned. The remainder of the company adjourned to the church tower, and also to the parish room, where some hand-bells had been provided.

ESSENDON, HERTS.

On Saturday, May 2nd, the local ringers were met at the church by Messrs. Shepherd (2), Rumney and Hollingsworth, of Hatfield, and the bells were raised and some 120s of Doubles were rung. On the arrival of Mr. H. G. Rowe, an attempt was made to ring a 720 Grandsire Minor, but it came to grief after ringing 600 changes. C. Clarke (first attempt), 1; A. Shepherd, 2; W. Rumney, 3; J. Shepherd, 4; J. Hollingsworth, 5; H. G. Rowe (composer and conductor), 6. An adjournment was then made to The Crest where some capital tunes were played, and also 168 Grandsire Triples. J. Shepherd, 1-2; H. G. Rowe (conductor), 3-4; A. Shepherd, 5-6; J. Hollingsworth, 7-8. On Sunday, May 3rd, the Bengoe society visited the above place and rang 720 Bob Minor in 21 mins. J. Pomfret, 1; T. Barker, 2; D. Bennett, 3; J. Pomfret, 4; W. Parcel, 5; H. G. Rowe (conductor), 6. This is the first 720 rang on the bells since 1769, and was rung at the first attempt. Also 360 Grandsire Minor. C. Clarke, 1; the rest as before. On Saturday, May 16th, with the kind permission of the vicar, the Rev. W. Clarke, five from Bengoe, with Mr. Rowe, of Hertford, journeyed by the 5.40 train from Hertford to Cole Green, when a pleasant half-hour's walk brought them to the church. Here they were met by Mr. Clarke, secretary of the local company, who had provided a capital tea for them. After attending to the wants of the inner man, and thanking Mr. Clarke for his kindness, a move was made for the tower. The bells were raised, and all was ready. "Go" was called at 7 o'clock, and all went well until 9.45, when the welcome words "this is all" brought to a close the first peal ever rung on the bells. On leaving the tower they were congratulated on the excellent striking. (An account of the peal will be found in "THE BELL NEWS" for May 23rd). The ringers then returned home, arriving there at 12.30, after walking a distance of five miles, very much pleased with the afternoon's outing. They all are very sorry that Mr. Rowe has left Hertford, he being a most excellent ringer, especially in peal-ringing, as it is through him that the Bengoe society has attained its old position. As a conductor he can be relied upon, and where he has been he has won the highest respect from all who have had any connection with him. Mr. Rowe now resides at Hatfield. J. P.

THE SOUTH AND WEST MIDDLESEX GUILD.

The second annual meeting of the above Guild was held at Isleworth on Whit-Monday.

The bells of All Saints were set going about 12.0 a.m., touches in the Standard methods being rung by different bands until 3 p.m. when all adjourned, about thirty in number, to the vicarage, where a meat tea had been provided, to which justice was done.

The business meeting was then commenced, the President, the Rev. H. G. Bird, being in the chair.

The minutes of the last meeting having been read and carried, Mr. T. Waterman (Christ Church, Ealing), proposed a vote of thanks to the Master (Mr. J. Basden), for his services during the past year, which was carried with applause.

Mr. J. Basden in a few well-chosen words thanked the members for the very gratifying way in which they had acknowledged his efforts, and hoped he would always retain their confidence.

Mr. A. H. Taber proposed a vote of thanks to the secretary for his services, which was seconded by Mr. F. Goddard. The secretary (Mr. E. J. Walsom), in responding, said, he was resigning the secretaryship as he found he was unable to give the time necessary to the work. He thanked them one and all, and hoped his successor would be accorded the same courtesy which had been shown to him.

A vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. J. Basden to the Rev. T. F. Bigg, for the use of the bells, and also for his attendance at the tea.

The Rev. T. F. Bigg, in responding, thanked them for their attendance, and hoped he would again have the pleasure of meeting them.

The President (Rev. H. G. Bird), in his address to the ringers, said that the number gathered there was not so large as he should like to see, but he knew many on a holiday such as this migrated to different parts of the country. He thought on the whole they could congratulate themselves.

Mr. J. Basden was re-elected Master, on the proposition of the Rev. H. G. Bird, President. Carried unanimously. Mr. H. F. G. Luck was proposed as secretary and treasurer by Mr. J. Basden, seconded by Mr. W. Nickless, which was carried. Messrs. J. Basden and A. H. Taber were appointed instructors to the Guild. President—The Rev. H. G. Bird, St. Andrews Vicarage, Hillingdon. Vice-Presidents were elected with the addition of Rev. C. M. Harvey, vicar of St. John's, Hillingdon, and Rev. T. F. Bigg, vicar of All Saints, Isleworth. The following were elected on the committee for the years 1896-7: The Rev. W. E. Oliver, LL.D., vicar of Ealing; The Rev. T. F. Bigg, vicar of All Saints, Isleworth; F. Saunders, Esq., Harmondsworth; J. Blondell, Harmondsworth; F. Boniface, Harmondsworth; T. Beadle and A. Scott, Isleworth; A. H. Taber and E. J. Walsom, St. Mary's, Ealing; A. T. Dampier and J. Peddle, St. Andrew's, Hillingdon; J. W. Odell and J. J. Pratt, St. John's, Hillingdon; T. S. Carter and C. Edwards, Heston; W. J. Nickless and T. Waterman, Christ Church, Ealing.

The balance-sheet having been read and adopted, the secretary read two letters which he had received from the secretary of the Middlesex Association respecting the Amalgamation of the Guild with their Association, as pointed out in the letters, the main object being to form a strong County Association. The matter was discussed at some length, it being ultimately agreed to form a committee of five from different towers, and arrange with the secretary of the Middlesex Association, if agreeable to them, to appoint a similar committee, who could meet and discuss the matter. The following are the names of those appointed, and the towers represented: Mr. T. Beadle (Isleworth), J. J. Pratt (St. John's, Hillingdon), Rev. H. G. Bird (St. Andrew's, Hillingdon), E. J. Walsom (St. Mary's, Ealing), T. S. Carter (Heston). This concluded the business meeting. At 5 p.m. a short service was held at All Saints church. The vicar (Rev. T. F. Bigg) kindly made all arrangements. The president, Rev. H. G. Bird, read the opening part of the service, the Rev. T. F. Bigg preaching the sermon. The bells were again set going after the service was over, several touches being rung in different methods for about an hour.

THE PEAL "APPENDIX, 1895," PRINTED BY the Central Council Committee, may be obtained post free, with the Report on Calls, on application to the Hon. Secretary, Rev. H. Earle Bulwer, Stanhoe Rectory, King's Lynn, enclosing 7½d. in stamps.

Ringers' Outings.

TADCASTER, YORKSHIRE. — The Ripon Cathedral ringers received an invitation some time ago to visit Tadcaster, so four of them, availing themselves of Whit-Monday, made up their minds to go. They arrived at Tadcaster station about 10 a.m., where they were met by one of the local company, and a young man from Somerset, who has found employment there. These two conducted the visitors to a place where they could get some light refreshments, and where arrangements were made for the supplying of the inner man. The order was then given to make tracks for the belfry, where, after the bells had been raised in peal, a start was made for 720 of Plain Bob Minor, which was rung in 28 mins. W. Pick, 1; J. Baines, 2; J. Summerhayes, 3; J. Metcalfe, 4; G. Metcalfe, 5; T. Metcalfe (conductor), 6. At this time another ringer, from Boroughbridge, had turned up, which made the party up as arranged. Some short touches of Bob Minor were indulged in till the time arrived for refreshments, when ample justice was done to the good things provided for them, and this was followed by a few courses of Grandsire Triples on the handbells. They then thought it best to be going back to the belfry, and were just going to start for another 720 of Bob Minor, when a man with a blue coat, known as the sergeant of the police force, popped into the belfry. Well, of course, they were beginning to think that ringing was done for the day, but it turned out quite differently, as one of the local ringers being in the belfry at the time, introduced the sergeant to them, and told them that he used to be one of the Wakefield Cathedral ringers. Of course, when they found he was in the swing, this altered matters, and the next order was a 720 of Kent Treble Bob Minor. G. Cooke, 1; J. Baines, 2; W. Pick, 3; J. Metcalfe, 4; T. Metcalfe, 5; Sergeant Hollis (conductor), 6. Afterwards, a few short touches of Bob Minor, and three 6-scores of Grandsire Doubles. W. Pick, 1; G. Cooke, 2; J. Summerhayes, 3; T. Metcalfe (conductor), 4; G. Metcalfe, 5; J. Lancaster, 6. This brought to an end a very pleasant day's ringing. The visitors wish, through the medium of "THE BELL NEWS," to thank the Vicar and Churchwardens for the use of the bells, and Mr. G. Metcalfe, one of the local ringers, for the kindness shewn by him in assisting them, and looking after their needful wants.

SHEFFIELD, YORKSHIRE. — On Whit-Tuesday, the members of the Junior Amalgamated society and friends held their annual festival and outing, the places selected being the historical villages of Bakewell and Haddon. We started from The Sportsman in good time, with a first-class leader in the person of Mr. J. Lloyd, better-known as "Good Old Shakey." The Cross Scythes was reached in due course, and there the handbells made their first appearance, which added much to the enjoyment of the other passengers and cyclists on the road passing along the Derbyshire Moors, which at this point stretch out as far as the eye can see, and are a sight to behold and never forget. Arriving at our destination, we were met by Mr. R. Smith, the steeple-keeper, who had everything in readiness. The bells were raised in peal, after which a touch of Grandsire Triples was rung. W. Midgley, 1; W. Gardiner, 2; R. Harrison, 3; J. Eavensou, 4; F. Jones, 5; J. Dixon, 6; F. Willey, 7; J. Lloyd, 8. Afterwards, courses of Grandsire and Bob Major were rung upon the handbells in the tower, many of the villagers paying us a visit on account of hearing the bells rung in changes. A course of Treble Bob brought the ringing to a close at this place. A hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Smith for having everything in readiness was proposed, and carried nem. con. An invitation from Mr. G. Morris, the verger, to view the church, was accepted, he taking us, and detailing out to us the items of interest; one, an Old Saxon Ritual Cross, dating back over 1000 years. An altar tomb of Sir G. Vernon and his two wives was also seen. This gentleman having no heir his estate passed into the Manners family, 1650. The next item of interest was the tomb of Sir S. Wensley, who was mortally wounded at Shrewsbury, fighting for the house of Lancaster. The vicar, the Rev. B. T. Billing, M.A., entering the church, I was introduced by the verger to him, and he made many enquiries as to our mode of recreation, and sincerely thanked us for our visit, and I, in the name of the company, thanked him for the use of the bells. After refreshing the inner man, our next move was to the once famous Haddon Hall, now very much in ruins, for it is over 200 years since it was occupied. Rambling along the banks of the Wye, we came to it in due time, and after paying our mite, we were taken in hand by a lady guide, who took us first to the Chapel, some part of which dates back over 800 years; afterwards to the kitchen and dining room, showing us the baronial table and the minstrels' gallery. There is in this part of the hall a handcuff fastened to the wall, and those who refused to drink a certain quantity of wine at dinner, had their right arm fastened up in this place, and the wine poured down their sleeve. Passing along the corridors we were shown tapestry over 400 years old, representing hunting scenes, and Æsop's fables. The bed that Queen Elizabeth occupied when she was at Haddon; the cradle of the first Earl of Rutland, and many other pieces of antique furniture and carving were shown us, and lastly the door through which it is supposed Dorothy Vernon eloped with John Manners. Time was drawing to a close, and we had to make tracks for that place which comes as a welcome to all as the shades of night or early morning fall round us. Home was reached about 10 o'clock, everything passing off remarkably well, except for a nasty Scotch mist, which we passed through as we drove over the moors home; but the system had been well fortified before with Scotch Dew of another sort.

THE SPELDHURST SOCIETY (Kent). — On Whit-Monday and Tuesday nine members of the parish church society, through the kindness of Miss Leny and Mr. and Mrs. Shouldham, journeyed to Yeovil. Arriving there they partook of lunch, and then went to the parish church, where there is a splendid peal of ten, and rung some Grandsire. A start was then made for Norton, calling on the way at Montacute and having a pull there. On arriving at Norton they had tea and afterwards rung 720 Bob Minor, and with the local band several 6-scores of Doubles, which finished the ringing for the night. On Tuesday they were up and an early start was made for another 720, which was successfully brought round, and more touches were rung with some of the local band. After dinner they started for Crewkerne, where there is a splendid peal of eight, and were soon tapping off some more Triples. After thanking Mr. and Mrs. Shouldham, they started for home at 4.50, reaching Tunbridge Wells at 11.30, having much enjoyed their holiday.

NEWBURN, NORTHUMBERLAND. — On Whit-Tuesday, the ringers of St. Paul's, Whitley, journeyed to this place to have a ring on the fine peal of six at St. Michael's church. Arriving at their destination, they ascended the tower and rang a short touch of Double Oxford Bob. After inspecting the numerous inscriptions of this ancient edifice, the following rung 720 Double Oxford Bob. E. Keen, 1; J. Hern, 2; J. Barber, 3; H. Ross, 4; T. Teasdale, 5; T. T. Gofton (conductor), 6. Their next place of meeting was The Newburn hotel, where a capital tea was awaiting them, prepared by Host Foster. After partaking of the various good things, they rung some short touches in the following methods: Oxford Bob, Oxford Treble Bob, Kent Treble Bob, and 720 Oxford Treble Bob, the following taking part: T. Gofton, W. Frazer, E. Keen, W. Thomson, T. Teasdale, J. Hern, J. Barber, and H. Ross. The ringers take this opportunity of thanking the Vicar for the use of the bells, the Newburn ringers for having everything in readiness, and Mr. Richardson for making all the arrangements, and the way he entertained them.

SWANSEA, GLAMORGANSHIRE.

On Tuesday, May 19th, at the church of St. Mary, on the occasion of Lord Windsor laying the foundation or memorial stone of the New Church, several touches of Grandsire Triples were rung before and after the stone-laying, including a well-struck 504. J. Browning, 1; J. Hoare (conductor), 2; F. Curtis, 3; G. Searle, 4; E. Searle, 5; W. Rees, 6; H. West, 7; H. Sampson, 8. Our correspondent adds:—"I expect this will be the last you will hear from us on the old bells, at any rate in the present tower."

CURRENT TOPICS.

Let me first tender my thanks to those gentlemen who have taken the trouble to send me such cheering and complimentary letters during the past few days. To some I have replied through the post; others will have letters in a post or two; and the rest, who have made the most affectionate (I use the word advisedly) enquiries, I will reply to in the next paragraph.

Let it be understood I do not object in the least to receive letters from any of my readers upon any matter. In fact, I court correspondence. Nothing like an interchange of opinion; no, nothing. Never let any reader think he is guilty of a breach of etiquette by addressing himself personally to me. The "hope-I-don't-intrude" feeling need not be entertained for one moment where I am concerned. This also applies, I am sure, to every member of the "B. N." staff.

In a former page I asked a question about those talented gentlemen whose names or noms de plume we formerly used to see. One of my correspondents, also, wants to know where they are. I think I was guilty of what is called a pious fraud when I asked what had become of these gentlemen. I knew perfectly well where they were. They are all alive, and—so far as I know—kicking. And they are all with the "B. N." still, the whole of them, and will appear again when wanted. This completes my answers to questions this week.

That was a very nice excursion the other day from smoky Birmingham to the beautiful neighbourhood of Chepstow and the Wye Valley. How the "Birmingham Amalgamateds" must have enjoyed themselves amid such delicious surroundings. If they ever thought of having an "outing" to the Riviera, such an idea is now dispelled. Their Switzerland is Wales, and no wonder at it. Let me tell those who are, like the celebrated Dr. Syntax, in search of the picturesque, not to think of leaving the country for this purpose. It has been said over and over again that there are to be found within the British Islands as lovely spots as can be found anywhere. "What is one man's meat is another man's poison" is a trite saying; and in the selection of a spot wherein to enjoy relaxation, opinion, of course, rules the question. But to those who have not been to Chepstow, Ross, and the neighbourhood, I say—go. The train service is brass-mounted, and registered A 1 at Lloyds. There is ringing to be had all the way.

While speaking of this neighbourhood I may mention the fact that I have received a letter this morning from a friend at Swansea. He says:—

"SIR,—I hope you will pardon me for trespassing on your valuable time, but as I read your comments in 'THE BELL NEWS' from week to week I thought you might interest some of your readers with the information I am sending you in one of our local papers respecting church extension in Swansea. You are no doubt perfectly aware that Swansea is one of the warmest places, or at least it has been, for Disestablishment of the Church in Wales, until last General Election when, we returned a Conservative in the name of Sir J. T. D. Llewellyn. You will be able to gather a good deal of interesting matter from the paper that many of your readers will be interested in, as so many different ones have paid us a visit in times gone by in the old church, and I am sure it will be a surprise to many to learn that the old church is almost down and the new nave almost up. Thanking you kindly, and hoping to see some comment at your earliest convenience."

The newspaper referred to has been handed in, and I have to tell my worthy correspondent that it will be dealt with next week, with thanks, and hopes of hearing from him again.

Another wedding! this time the Master of the Gloucester and Bristol and Bath and Wells Associations. "Many happy returns!" No; that won't do. Well—"the compliments of the season!" And that's hardly right. Well—much joy and happiness to the newly-married pair. Mr. Boutflower will not be less a bell-ringer because he has taken to himself a wife. All the west-country people know this. Let us all drink to the health of our worthy Master and his bride.

Mr. W. H. Howard, of York, has issued a proper kind of notice. It is really an invitation to any ringers who may be visiting the archiepiscopal city on the 17th and two following days. The Minster ringers will be pleased to receive and accommodate all visiting friends who would like a touch on the bells, etc. This is the way to go on; I mean the issuing of such invitations as this. How different from years ago. Whoever visits my York friends will not fall out with their reception. I speak from experience. There is a respectable inn-keeper in York, who is a good heavy-bell ringer, and he will be happy to do his best to make all visitors feel at home. [Book this.] I think I shall be there once more on one of the above days. A holiday is undoubtedly wanted to recuperate the exhausted nature of

PLAIN SPEAKER.

THE CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

NORTHWICH BRANCH.—The members of this branch held a meeting at the pleasant little village of Little Peover on Saturday, May 23rd, and received a hearty welcome from the ringers, who have this year joined the Guild. The vicar (Rev. A. Guest), occupied the chair. On the proposition of the chairman, a vote of condolence was passed, sympathising with the Rev. Richard Greenall, the Hon. Secretary of the Guild, in the great loss that he had sustained by the death of Mrs. Greenall, the chairman very kindly undertaking to forward the same on to the Hon. Secretary. Other business matters followed, and at the conclusion the branch secretary brought to the chairman's notice the bad condition of his bells, which all want rehanging, and probably a new frame.

The vicar was well pleased to receive this information, and promised at once to bring the matter under the notice of the churchwardens. The usual votes of thanks concluded the meeting. Ringing was indulged in during the afternoon and evening, and notwithstanding the bad order the bells were in, the visitors managed to ring a 720 of Bob Minor. S. Johnson, 1; W. Sutton, 2; R. Chantler, 3; A. Johnson, 4; J. Bell, 5; S. Foster, 6. Conducted by S. Johnson. All the above hail from Witton, Northwich.

If the gentleman who wrote for a copy of "Duffield," giving an address which was read as:—"L. Chamberlain, Railway Cottage, Trinity, Ipswich," will apply again, writing clearly, the copy, returned by the Post Office endorsed "not known," shall be re-forwarded.

THOMAS BLACKBOURN,

CHURCH BELL HANGER, AND TUNER. SALISBURY, WILTSHIRE.

THOMAS BLACKBOURN is a practical Ringer, and having had considerable experience in Church Bell hanging and tuning, with confidence solicits the patronage of the Clergy, Churchwardens and Ringers generally.

T. B. has devoted a great deal of attention to the fixing of Clock Hammers, used for striking the hours and quarters on Church Bells. These are sometimes placed in awkward and dangerous positions, even by Church Clock Makers.

T. BLACKBOURN's experience enables him to affix these hammers, with their accompanying levers in a most accurate manner, preventing any danger to the bell frame or clock. He will be glad to advise on clocks as well as bells.

The Ellacombe Chime Hammers fixed. Sole Fixer of Selby's Apparatus for Silent practice. Handbells supplied. Bells weighed in the tower at a small cost.

A PEAL OF 362,880 GRANDSIRE CATERS, 6d.
Contains the full extent of changes on nine bells. Forwarded Post Free, on receipt of 7d By James Hewitt, 16, Chape Row, Gosport.

The Bell News & Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, JUNE 13, 1896.

Our readers are no doubt aware of the existence of a body known as The Society for the Preservation of Ancient Buildings, an organisation having for its object that which its title indicates. That it is doing useful and necessary work within the sphere of its own operations we may readily believe. History teems with instances where invaluable relics belonging to past ages have met with destruction through ignorance and vandalism; and lovers of Art in every shape must rejoice to know that there is a body in existence which jealously guards our grand and interesting monuments of the past from the hand of the iconoclast.

From a report which appears on our first page, we are however led to think that the society in question has no objection to enlarge its field of operations. In reporting upon the Church of St. James, Shere, Surrey, it would appear that very little escaped the eagle glances of those members of the society who visited the church. Such a document as this report was beyond doubt vastly interesting, and practical in the highest degree. But these gentlemen overdid it, from our point of view. They actually recommended that the old bell-frame—which swayed about dangerously from north to south when one bell only was being rung—should not be interfered with! From the sublime to the ridiculous is but one step, we are told. Most of us know pretty well what sort of a thing an old bell-frame is, and we should be very loth to speak of it as "a thing of beauty and a joy for ever."

If the above-mentioned society had recommended that the frame should in a reverent manner be entirely removed, and preserved, we could have respected such recommendation. But even then sentiment would be carried too far. If the timber of an old bell-frame can be worked up for some purpose connected with the Church, it ought to be sufficient. This has more than once been done with very good effect. But to preserve such a piece of work as an old frame, and thus jeopardise a ring of bells, or limit their use, is a piece of sentiment which we think will meet with very little sympathy.

NORTON FITZWARREN, SOMERSETSHIRE.

RE-OPENING OF BELLS.—These bells were re-opened on Saturday, May 23rd, after undergoing extensive repairs to the bell-frame and fittings. Notwithstanding that during the incumbency of the present rector various improvements in the church have been carried out, money for the above object was readily subscribed, and by Saturday the whole of the funds required had been raised. The bell-frame has been strengthened with new parts, and the whole vertically bolted together, with additional angle irons to the tenor pit. The canons have been removed from the 5th and tenor bells, and all with the exception of the treble have been quarter-turned and rebung with entirely new fittings. To celebrate the re-opening, the rector (the Rev. W. Prowse Hewett), entertained a large company of the parishioners to luncheon in the schoolroom. The re-opening touch was a 120 of Grandsire Doubles by the Norton ringers. There was a goodly muster of ringers from Taunton (St. Mary and St. James), Bishop's Hull, Stogumber, Bagborough, and Old Cleeve. It is pleasing to know that the whole of the Norton ringers have presented themselves for membership in the Diocesan Association.

Review.

THE PEAL-BOOK OF THE OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.—It must be admitted that in the publication of this volume the Oxford Guild has made a very wise, if new, departure from the previous order of things. It is practically what it purports to be, viz.: "A Record of Five Hundred and Twenty Peals rung by the Oxford Diocesan Guild; with an Appendix, containing Figures of Peals, Weights of Tenors, etc." We see the real object of publication mentioned in the Preface, which imparts the information that the Original Peal-Book of the Guild has been filled long ago, and instead of perpetuating the issue of such bulky volumes, which as a rule are inaccessible to the majority of the members, it has been thought best to publish, from time to time, in a book of convenient size like the one under consideration, a record of peals achieved by the Guild. This Peal-Book is therefore what may be considered the first instalment, the forerunner, in fact, of similar epitomes.

This publication is really a novelty. It is the first of its kind ever launched. Some may sigh for the abolition of those ponderous tomes, whose appearance is in many cases the reverse of tasteful, and whose contents do not always satisfy a grammarian.

The peal-records are of course given in chronological order, and in that style which has made the peal-records of "THE BELL NEWS" so popular. There is almost a total absence of unnecessary footnotes, and a brevity of description which we should like to see more frequently imitated.

Following the peal-records is an analysis of the peals, then methods and so forth, with a reference to the page on which they are to be found. There is also a list of the conductors, in alphabetical order; a table of Church Towers at which peals have been achieved; and a valuable appendix containing the figures of the compositions rung. The whole comprises a very handy, well-printed little volume, worthy of possession by every member of the Guild, at least. At present, the sale of the work is much below expectation. This fact need not surprise any one, as it belongs to the natural order of things campanological. We have heard of men who, with the industry of enthusiastic antiquaries, are always on the look-out for bell-literature of every conceivable description; men who ransack dark corners of old book-stores for even a leaflet which has the faintest connection with bells or ringing; and will hug to their hearts the smallest fragment they can lay hold of which has the most infinitesimal reference to bells. Would that ringers in general could become permeated with some of this enthusiasm. Truly it is very lowering to our dignity as Church Bell Ringers to be constantly told that literature having a special connection with ringing, and with nothing else, is not supported as it ought to be by those for whom it is brought into being. The members of the Oxford Diocesan Guild have now a very good opportunity to remove this reproach from themselves. The peal-book we are referring to has been compiled at a cost of much toil and trouble by those who undertook the work as a labour of love. The expenses attendant upon its production is, we should imagine, something very considerable. It is the bounden duty of members of the Guild to see that this peal-book shall go forth, not only throughout the diocese of Oxford, but into other districts, especially where the Art of ringing may be struggling to maintain a foothold. The price per copy is small enough. To Secretaries of other Guilds a perusal of the work may lead them to consider whether their own present mode of booking peals is the most satisfactory.

THE KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.—ANNUAL MEETING AT HEADCORN.

The Annual Meeting of the above Association was held at Headcorn, on Saturday, June 6th. The attendance of members was not so great as in recent years, mainly owing to the conduct of the railway companies in withdrawing the privilege of reduced fares. It had been decided to hold the meeting this year at Maidstone, but as the ring of ten at All Saints was not in good going order, another place had to be selected almost at the last minute. The towers at Staplehurst (8), Frittenden (8), Biddenden (8), Pluckley (6), and Ulcombe (6), were also open to the members, but none were sufficiently energetic to go four miles to have a pull at the heavy ring at Biddenden, nor was Pluckley patronised. Some good ringing in the standard methods was executed at Headcorn and Frittenden. A party of twenty from Rochester and Gillingham, who came over by road, visited Ulcombe on the return journey.

A meeting of the Central Committee was held as usual at 11.30 a.m.

The annual service was held at the church, at 12.30, the prayers being read by the Rev. F. J. O. Helmore, hon. sec., and the lessons (1 Chronicles, v. and Revelation i. 1-9), by the Rev. A. C. Scott, vicar of Headcorn. The canticles were sung to chants, and two hymns, Nos. 166 (A. and M.), "All people that on earth," and 274, "Through the night of doubt and sorrow," one before and one after the address, which was given by the Rev. T. W. Carr, Rector of Barming, who has been an hon. member since the foundation of the Association. The preacher selected three texts, viz.: Psalm xix. 4: "Their sound is gone out into all lands, and their words unto the ends of the earth;" Psalm lxxviii. 12, "The Lord gave the word: great was the company of those who published it;" and 1 Cor. xii. 4—"There are diversities of operations, but the same spirit." After a few introductory remarks appropriate to Trinity-tide, and an interesting reference to his own neighbourhood, being called "Three Bell Valley," he proceeded by means of these three texts to compare the work of the ringers and even of the bells themselves with that of missionaries and preachers of the gospel. The main lesson adduced was that every man, each ringer, should strive to do his own work in the best possible manner, but with humility and due consideration for his fellows, and for others' who were not perhaps so expert as himself. The service was fairly attended, though many members did not arrive at Headcorn till dinner time. It is to be hoped that this lateness was mainly due to the train-service. For the first time at these annual services a collection was made in aid of the Association's Special Fund for belfry repairs. Judging by the amount collected 15s. 6d. the experiment met with approval.

The dinner was held in the Headcorn Board Schools. Mr. Jones, of The George, Tunbridge, who catered so admirably for the Association two years ago, came down to assist his sister-in-law, Mrs. Jones, of The King's Arms, Headcorn, so the proverbial three courses came round all right. The vicar presided, and was supported by W. Mercer, Esq., Dr. Warren and Mr. Deer (churchwarden), the Revs. T. W. Carr (Barming), A. L. Brine (Bearsted), J. Dixon, Esq. (Rodmersham), and the hon. sec. After the usual toasts had been duly honoured and responded to, the annual business meeting was held. From the secretary's report it appeared that the Association could still count its total as over 700, though there was a deplorable diminution in the hon. members. Four new bands had joined, viz.: Greenwich, Hythe, Charing and Shorne, and the hope was expressed that shortly there would be four more in union. Only one band had left, viz.: S. Peter's, Thanet. Twelve district meetings had been held in 1895, one at a five-bell tower in the Rochester district, an experiment to be highly commended. The annual meeting was held at Faversham. Several cases of re-hanging were noticed, viz.: Bethersden, Edenbridge (two trebles added), Lee, Penshurst and Whitstable. The bells at Wye, after re-hanging, were reported as not pealable. The number of peals rung in 1895 was fifty-three; but none called for any special mention. The Balance Sheet shewed that there had been an excess of expenditure over receipts of £4. The report concluded with a protest against the recent action of the railway companies in depriving ringers of privileges allowed to such people as golf-players and anglers. Ringers would be more than human if they were not more than ever tempted to avail themselves of the cheap Sunday fares in the summer. But it is a trite saying—"Railway Companies have no conscience!" The Report and Balance-Sheet were passed on the proposition of Mr. Sullivan (Rochester), and seconded by Mr. W. Hadlow (Harrietsham).

The Hon. Sec. mentioned the amount of the offertory at the service, and the fact that the committee had made a grant of one guinea to the bell-fund of St. Margaret's, Rochester. He then proposed alterations in two of the rules, affecting non-resident life members, recommended by the committee last December. First, it was proposed to define more clearly the qualification for non-resident life-membership. For five years the wording of the rule had been "Persons residing out of the county may become life-members," &c.; and evidently the intention had been understood, as no one residing just on the border of the county had claimed admission as non-resident until quite recently, though there were several members of this kind who were annual subscribers. The committee wished to offer their non-resident members such hospitality as the funds would allow if they happened to attend any Annual, General or District Meeting, and to insert the peals they rang gratis; but it was clearly impossible to do so if a number of persons living close to the county claimed non-resident life-membership; and that was what the strictly literal interpretation of the rule rendered them liable to. It was therefore proposed to amend the rule by substituting for "out of the county" the words "at a distance of ten miles from the county."

Secondly, it was proposed to alter the last sentence of Rule xi., an alteration rendered necessary by the harsh action of the Railway Companies, to "No travelling allowances will be made to non-resident life-members." These amendments, if passed, would apply to the current year, as that had been the invariable custom in the conduct of the Association business. The hon. sec. declined to offer himself for re-election should the meeting refuse to rectify the recommendations of the committee.

This led to a long and rather animated discussion, in which Mr. Bedwell (Lewisham), H. N. Davis (Camberwell), W. Haigh (Gillingham), Rev. A. L. Brine, and others took part. Eventually the amendments were carried by forty-four to seven.

The re-election officers was then proceeded with, and after a vote of thanks to the vicar for presiding, and to the School Board for the use of the room, the members dispersed to enjoy themselves in the ways usual on these occasions. The election of Representatives on the Central Council was omitted by an oversight, but as only four were nominated, they may be regarded as elected without opposition, viz.: W. Haigh (Gillingham), F. W. Thornton (Greenwich), Revs. E. W. Carpenter and F. J. O. Helmore (hon. sec.)

THE CENTRAL NORTHAMPTONSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting of this Association was held in Northampton, on Whit-Monday, May 25th, and was the most successful held since the formation of the Association. By special permission the bells of the churches of St. Giles, St. Peter, St. Sepulchre, and St. Edmund were at liberty for ringing from half-past nine o'clock till half-past seven in the evening, and this permission was largely taken advantage of, ringers being present from Desborough, Earls Barton, Finedon, Great Doddington, Higham Ferrers, Irchester, Irthlingborough, Kettering, Mears Ashby, Northampton, Raunds, Wellingborough, Wilby, Wootton, Wootton, and Yardly Hastings. Flags were flying from each of the church towers. At one o'clock service was held in All Saints' church, where there was a good congregation. Amongst those present were the Ven. Archdeacon Lightfoot (Archdeacon of Oakham), President; the Rev. A. S. Lindsay, Cranford, Vice-President; the Rev. J. Dun, Higham Ferrers, Treasurer; the Rev. Canon Hull, R.D., the Rev. E. N. Tom, the Rev. H. C. Holmes, Northampton; the Rev. E. C. Channer, Ravenshorpe; the Rev. H. Bryan, Stoke Golding; the Rev. St. George Coldwell, Wilby; the Rev. W. S. Parker, Rothwell; Mr. J. Barry, J.P., Mr. W. Tomes, Mr. W. Beardsmore, Mr. E. Allen, Wilby, etc., etc. The service commenced with the singing of the hymn, "O God of Hosts, the mighty Lord," the place of the choir being taken by the young ladies from Mrs. Brook Sampson's school, on the Market Square. The prayers were read by the Rev. H. C. Holmes, curate of St. Sepulchre's. The selected psalms were the 149th and 150th, and the lesson was read by the Rev. E. C. Channer. The hymn before the sermon was "Gracious Spirit, Holy Ghost." An admirable sermon was preached by the Rev. Canon Hull, who took for his text part of the 24th verse of the 30th chapter of the 1st book of Samuel—"As his part is that goeth down to the battle, so shall his part be that tarrieth by the stuff; they shall part alike." The concluding hymn was "Pleasant are Thy Courts above," and the Benediction was pronounced by the Rev. E. C. Channer.

At two o'clock luncheon was partaken of in the Lower Assembly Room at the Town Hall, the catering for which was entrusted to Mr. and Mrs. Whitlock, of The Stag's Head hotel, Abington Street, and admirably carried out. The Ven. Archdeacon Lightfoot presided, and the company numbered over one hundred.

Dinner over, the statement of accounts was read by the Rev. J. Dun, the Treasurer, and showed that at the end of July last there was a balance in favour of the Association of £16 17s. 6d. The report of the Secretary (Mr. E. J. Dennes) showed that the receipts for the past year had been £17 6s., and the expenditure £14 13s. 7d., leaving a balance in hand of £2 12s. 5d.

Mr. Armstrong, of Irthlingborough; the Rev. W. S. Parker, Rothwell; and the Rev. A. J. Miller, R.D., Wootton; Mr. J. Barry, J.P., and Mr. W. Beardsmore, Northampton, were elected hon. members of the Association. Several new ringing members were also elected from Northampton, Wootton, Rothwell, Wellingborough, Finedon, Raunds, Irthlingborough, and Kettering, and also one out-county member.

Mr. W. Tomes spoke of the pleasure it gave him to see the good work being done by the Association, and extended an invitation to the members to hold their next annual meeting in Northampton.

This was seconded by Mr. Smith (St. Peter's), and unanimously accepted. Wootton was chosen for the holding of the next quarterly meeting at the end of August. The offer of an anonymous friend to provide a peal-book for the Association was graciously accepted.

A vote of thanks was passed to all who had assisted in promoting the success of the meeting in Northampton, and this was acknowledged in excellent terms by Mr. J. Barry, J.P. Votes of thanks to the different officers terminated the proceedings.

S. Edmund's bells (a bright octave by Taylor, tenor 18cwt.) were the gift of Mr. Tomes twelve years ago. They were found to go well. The ringing room is commodious, being as large as that at St. Paul's Cathedral, and all above and below clean and orderly, creditable alike to the foreman, Mr. White, and the steeple-keeper, Mr. Mackay.

St. Sepulchre's ring of six of various dates—1739, 1681, 1857; 1681, 1805, 1733, tenor about 18 cwt.—were generally condemned. nothing short of complete re-hanging will be satisfactory. Ringers were gratified to learn that an estimate for this work and the addition of two trebles has already been obtained from a well-known firm of bell-founders. It is to be hoped the ringing room may at the same time be improved. At present the clock stands in the middle, and the ringers are too near the bells. The sexton, Mr. Hanson, did his best to make the visitors welcome.

St. Peter's are a sweet eight, all of Rudhall's casting in the year 1734 (tradition says cast at Kettering. Maybe at the foundry of the Eayre family.) The tenor would probably weigh about 14 cwt. They were repaired a few years ago by a local engineering firm. In the belfry is a beautifully engrossed and illuminated copy of the dates and inscriptions of the bells, suitably framed. The sexton, Mr. Smith, takes a pride in his church, and the belfry (the ropes fall to the pavement) is tidy and church-like.

The grandest ring of bells in the town and the county, is that at St. Giles. There is no other peal of ten in Northamptonshire. Two trebles were added (the gift of the Holding family) last year, when the bells were re-hung in iron frames by Taylor of Loughborough. The eight old bells bear date 1783, and were cast by Arnold. The tenor is stated to weigh 25 cwt. The ringing room is large and has recently been much improved by match-boarding, the work being mainly done by Mr. Hall and others of the ringers. The quarter-chimes here striking on all ten bells are most musical. The foreman, Mr. Stewart, and the ringers of St. Giles are to be congratulated on the excellent condition this tower, with its bells, clock and chimes, is now in. Mr. Manning, the sexton, was elected a member of the Association.

The bells of the church of All Saints, where the service was held, could not be obtained for ringing. They are an eight from the Whitechapel Foundry, London, 1782. They are not in good order.

The hon. secretary begs to thank the ringers connected with all the Northampton belfries for the warm welcome given to the Association on Whit-Monday, and for the assistance so kindly given to him in preparing for, and at the meeting. He also desires to tender his sincere thanks to all members for the large attendance at the service at All Saints' church, for the good feeling prevalent, and the good ringing during the day, which consisted of touches of Doubles, Minor, Triples, Major, Caters, and Royal.

Head-quarters were at The Stag's Head hotel, where a large room was reserved for ringers, and several peals of handbells, belonging to Raunds, Finedon, and Wellingborough, were made good use of. Host Maule, of The Blue Anchor, a local campanologist, also made members heartily welcome later in the evening, and produced a peal of musical handbells for their amusement.

Amongst the visitors present at the meeting were Mr. Clarke of Bedford, and Mr. Barrow, of Long Eaton. The latter was elected an "Out of County" member.

A NEW DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

A meeting, to consider the desirability of forming a new association for the district within a radius of about ten miles from Sowerby Bridge, Yorks., was held in the Church Schools, Heptonstall, on Saturday, June 6th, and was attended by about twenty ringers, representing various towers in the district, with Mr. F. P. Powell in the chair. It was decided to form such an Association, entitled "The Halifax and District Association of Change-Ringers," with an annual subscription of one shilling (for the present), payable at the next meeting. On the recommendation of several ringers present, it was resolved to demand no length qualification for membership, as this would deter several bands at present learning from entering. It was then decided, after some discussion, to hold four meetings in each year, such meetings not to clash with those of the Yorkshire Association.

On the motion of the chairman, it was resolved that the committee consist of the President, two Vice-Presidents, Treasurer, the Secretary, and one representative from each tower in membership; the election of the other officers was postponed, but Mr. F. P. Powell was elected Hon. Sec.; the committee to be chosen by the respective towers before the next meeting.

On the kind invitation of the Sowerby band, it was decided to hold the next meeting there on July 4th. A vote of thanks to the Sowerby band and to the chairman concluded the business. Touches of Grandsire, Kent, Oxford, and Woodbine were afterwards rung by mixed bands.

THE PEAL "APPENDIX, 1895," PRINTED BY the Central Council Committee, may be obtained post free, with the Report on Calls, on application to the Hon. Secretary, Rev. H. Earle Bulwer, Stanhoe Rectory, King's Lynn, enclosing 7½d. in stamps.

BARTON-UNDER-NEEDWOOD, STAFFORDSHIRE.

The parish church of St. James has recently undergone extensive alterations and repairs, and these were dedicated on a recent Wednesday afternoon. For a considerable time it was evident that it would be necessary to make a great effort to put the sacred edifice in an efficient state, but the elements brought things to a climax, and the old adage "'Tis an ill wind that blows nobody any good" was verified. It was during the storm of wind on Sunday, March 24th of last year, that one of the pinnacles of the tower was blown down, and others together with the parapet were injured. In the following week another of the pinnacles and the clock were struck, and the fall of the stones did much damage to a part of the parapet on the south side of the nave and the lead roof of the nave and the south aisle, but the damage actually done was covered by insurance. On examination it was found necessary to rebuild the whole of the tower parapet, and also re-point the tower and replace loose and damaged stones. The Church Council therefore issued an appeal for the necessary funds, at the same time stating that if a further amount could be raised, there was other work which should be done. Within a very short time so much money was subscribed, that the Council felt justified in undertaking the thorough outside repair of the church. Much of the battlements on the other parts of the church have been taken down and rebuilt, and all decayed and loose stones have been replaced. The mullions of the clerestory windows have been restored; the east end of the chancel has been thoroughly repaired, and the decayed lead on the roof and the wall plates have been renewed; an ashlar of stone has taken the place of the untidy cement outside the south chancel aisle; the bells, which were in a very bad condition, have been rehung and fitted, and the second bell which was cracked has been recast; new gates have been erected at the north-west entrance of the churchyard, and a lightning conductor placed on the tower. Inside the church the ringers' gallery has been enlarged, and a light iron rail takes the place of the wooden front, which hid part of the west window, and the hot water apparatus has been extended into the chancel. New choir stalls and gas fittings have been placed in the chancel, the pulpit has been moved to a better place in the nave; in fact the whole of the interior has been thoroughly cleaned. The whole cost has been borne by public subscription, but a considerable deficiency remains, as it was found impossible to estimate for much of the work, and the Council thought it best to do all that was necessary thoroughly, and trust to friends coming forward to help to pay off the debt. In addition to these works Miss J. Arden has given two treble bells to complete the peal of eight, added battlements to the north and south aisles, and replaced with stone the cement work outside the north chancel aisle. The bells bear the following inscription: "Given by Anna Jane Arden to the church of St. James, Barton-under-Needwood, and by her dedicated to the service of God, 1896." Mr. J. Reid Walker has given a clock with Cambridge quarter-chimes, made by Messrs. Smith and Sons, of Derby, in memory of his late steward, Mr. Jones. Mr. E. M. Earle has given a new porch for the south-east entrance, and the Earle family have filled the contiguous window with stained glass by Messrs. Westlake and Laver, of London, in memory of Mr. and Mrs. Earle, the subject being "Praise." Mr. Sharpe has given encaustic tile pavements for the north and south entrance; Lord Burton has replaced the plain chancel arch with one more fitting the church, and has panelled the chancel. The two new bells and the second were cast by Mears and Stainbank, of Whitechapel, London. At the dedication service there was a very large congregation, which included all the chief residents of the district. In addition to the Bishop (Dr. Legge), there were present the vicar (Rev. W. H. Fairclough), the Rev. Trevor-Parkins, Canon Feilden, and the Rev. F. H. Beaven (chaplains to his lordship), the Revs. A. Wakefield, H. Jevons, H. Metcalfe, E. Harker, A. Lowe, and a large number of clergy were seated in the church. Shortened evensong was used, the Rev. Trevor-Parkins, the vicar, and the Rev. Canon Feilden taking part in the service. Dedication prayers were introduced, the Bishop in turn proceeding to the bells, the clock, the west window, the south porch, and the choir stalls. Dr. Legge preached the sermon, taking for his text the words from Exodus xxix., v. 35: "The children of Israel brought a willing offering unto the Lord, every man and woman, whose heart made them willing to bring for all manner of work which the Lord had commanded to be made by the hand of Moses."

Besides the new trebles, the old second had been recast by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, and the whole ring re-hung with new wheels, stocks and fittings by the same firm. The duty of ringing for the dedication services was entrusted to the St. Paul's society, Burton-on-Trent, and the following members of that society took part in the ringing during the afternoon. Messrs. W. Wakley, A. Wakley, H. Wakley, E. I. Stone, T. Holmes, G. Robinson, G. Pitt, J. Benstead, G. P. Burton, L. Bullock and R. M. Joyce.

Prior to the Dedication the old six (tenor 15 cwt. in F.) only were rung, and at the conclusion of this service, the trebles were raised and the complete octave heard for the first time. A very favourable opinion, afterwards amply confirmed, was from the first expressed as to the quality of the new bells and their fittings, the "splice" being a most excellent one, and the "go" of the front bells everything that could be desired. Unfortunately the back bells, the 7th and tenor particularly, went very heavily, and in consequence a fairly long touch of even Stedman Triples was found a somewhat arduous task, and a good touch of Major almost an impossibility: but in spite of that drawback, everything went off very satisfactorily, and the ringers were heartily thanked by the churchwardens for the treat their ringing had afforded the congregation and inhabitants generally. The ringing-chamber is a fair-sized one, the circle good, and when the back bells have been put right, the good people of Barton will possess one of the prettiest rings of eight to be found in this part of the Midlands, and one of which they will have every reason to be proud.

THE ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION (ARCHDEACONRY OF SUDBURY BRANCH.)

A district meeting was held at Long Melford, on Saturday, June 6th. The meeting was well-attended, members being present from the following places: Sudbury, Bury St. Edmunds, Farnham, Horringer, Rougham, Hitcham, Preston, Lavenham, Glemsford, Stanstead and Melford. The towers of Melford (8), Glemsford (6), and Stanstead (6), were open for ringing. Two conveyances were engaged to convey members to and from the two latter places. An account of the touches rung during the day will be found in another column. Tea was provided at The Lion hotel. The rector of Long Melford, Rev. J. St. John Topham, presided, supported by Rev. E. J. Teesdale (Rougham), gen. sec., Mr. C. Sillitoe (Sudbury) district sec. Messrs. A. H. Osborne, S. Slater, W. Howell, &c., thirty-seven in all being present. The business meeting was held directly after tea. Before commencing the business, the chairman in a few well-chosen sentences, welcomed the Association to Melford, adding that it gave him great pleasure to be amongst them that day. As a mark of welcome to the Association he begged to be allowed to defray the expenses of the tea they had partaken of. The Rev. E. J. Teesdale in the name of the Association thanked the chairman for his liberality. The next business was the election of members. Some were elected from Rougham, Cavendish, and Stanstead. Mr. Teesdale said the next meeting would be the annual one, which would be held at Cambridge, on August Bank holiday. He would endeavour to obtain the use of the bells of the Roman Catholic Cathedral on that day.

Mr. Osborne proposed that Certificates of Membership be procured. Mr. Sillitoe seconded the proposition. After some conversation on the subject, it was decided to leave it till the annual meeting.

Mr. Osborne proposed that a peal-book be furnished, for the entry of peals rung by the Association. Mr. S. Slater seconded.

Mr. Sillitoe asked whether it was proposed that the book be for the whole Association, or only for their own branch.

Mr. Slater proposed that it should be for the whole Association.

Mr. Sillitoe said he would propose as amendment, "That a book be purchased for the entry of peals rung by the Sudbury Archdiaconal branch only." Mr. H. Smith (Lavenham) seconded. On being put to the meeting the amendment was carried by 28 votes to 6. A vote of thanks to the rectors of Glemsford and Stanstead for kindly granting the use of their bells, also to the chairman for presiding, was carried unanimously.

THE WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

A meeting of this society was held at Farnham, Surrey, on Monday, June 1st, at 2.45 p.m. By the kind permission of the Rev. C. H. Simpkinson, the tower was open from 12.0 till 1.30, and from 3.30 onwards. The principal business was the election of members, and the choice of a date for the annual festival to be held at Dorking.

The members of Committee present included Rev. F. Whyley, Vicar of Alton, Hants.; Messrs. F. A. Barnett, Farnham; A. Grist, Bournemouth; J. Harper, Portsea; H. White, Basingstoke; A. E. Tomlins, Gosport; J. W. Whiting, Fareham; M. Steer, Hawley.

In the absence of the Master, the Hon. Sec., Rev. C. E. Matthews, presided. The Rev. M. E. Hoets, Vicar of Twyford, was elected an hon. member, and thirty-one performing members were also enrolled; Mr. White proposing, and Mr. Whiting seconding the names in a block. Two new bands are thus included, Ampport, near Andover, and Ewhurst, Surrey.

Some discussion then ensued as to the date of the Annual Meeting, and it was finally carried nem. con. that Monday, July 13th, be the date. Questions were asked concerning the precise duties of the provisionally-appointed district secretaries, and these were referred to the annual meeting, when the Hon. Sec. would bring forward a specification of duties, etc. It was hoped that the temporary appointment of these district secretaries would be confirmed on July 13th.

Mr. Grist wished to know whether the custom of sending notices of meetings to the various bands had been dropped.

The Secretary said he had relied upon the circulation of "BELL NEWS" amongst all the members, and that he thought his notices in that paper would be sufficient.

The Rev. F. Whyley said there might be bands who did not see "BELL NEWS" regularly, and he proposed a motion, which was seconded by Mr. White, and carried, to the effect that notices be sent round to all representatives of bands.

Several expressions of regret were made concerning the Barnett Memorial Fund, the total sum collected being considered inadequate.

The Hon. Sec. said he had done all he could to draw members' attention to the matter, and fully shared the opinion of the meeting.

Mr. F. A. Barnett expressed his thanks to all those members who had contributed to his brother's memorial.

The Secretary reported that the Rev. Canon Utterton, Vicar of Leatherhead, had kindly promised to preach the annual sermon at Dorking. A small meeting will be held at Guildford towards the end of June to draw up the programme of the Festival.

A vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the vestry, proposed by Mr. Whiting, and seconded by Mr. Tomlins, concluded the meeting.

The members then ascended the belfry stairs, and rung 336 Grandsire Triples; and subsequently a 504 in the same method. M. Steer, 1; Rev. F. Whyley, 2; H. White (conductor), 3; J. Harper, 4; A. E. Tomlins, 5; F. A. Barnett, 6; W. Whiting, 7; Rev. C. E. Matthews, 8. All present were very pleased with the "go" of the whole peal. The 3rd has just been recast by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, in memory of the late Mr. J. H. Barnett, for twenty-five years foreman of ringers at Farnham. Two or three other bells have been quarter-turned, and the local band duly tested these repairs by ringing a peal on April 22nd last. Tenor 21 cwt.

ST. PETER'S SOCIETY, CAVERSHAM.

In the peal column this week will be seen a record of a peal of Stedman Triples. This peal, which was rung in true Caversham style, was arranged as a birthday peal for Mr. A. W. Pike, who on that day attained the age of twenty-four years, and of course received the usual congratulations and good wishes from his brother-strings, the more hearty, perhaps, after so excellent a peal. After the peal a move was made to a place of rest and refreshment, and it is an undisputable fact that a glass or two of the good "nut brown" found its way with great celerity down the throats of the non-teetotal members of the band. The band also heartily congratulated Mr. J. F. Tarrant, whose business prevents his being able to attempt many peals, on scoring such a good one. Messrs. Tarrant and Pike generously offered to place a tablet in the tower to commemorate the peal, a proposition which, needless to say, received the approbation of all present. As remarked during the evening by one of the boys—"It was also rung as a welcome home to 'Old Tom,'" that personage however not being in the slightest degree related to "unsweetened" or Hollands. After the usual pleasant chat anent what we have done, and what we will do, the meeting was adjourned, each man going his way quite satisfied with himself and all his friends.

MORTIMER, BERKS.

Sunday, June 14th, will long be remembered by the inhabitants of this peaceful village; for was there not going to be dedicated to the service of God the new vestry, organ, and above all, dear to the heart of every Britisher, a beautiful new peal of bells?

Proceedings commenced at 10 o'clock, when the special band of ringers from Reading, under the leadership of Mr. W. Newell, rang 1078 Grandsire Triples and 168 Stedman. Morning service was at 11 o'clock, being fully choral, the choir being augmented for the day by a few of the men from St. Laurence's, Reading. At their proper times the vestry, organ, and bells were dedicated by the Bishop of Reading, the opening of the bells being signalled by the ringing of a short touch of Grandsire Triples. At one o'clock dinner was served in the schoolroom at the vicarage, a beautiful repast being spread. With Father Newell in the chair, needless to say everyone was thoroughly looked after. At 2.20 the ringers were once more in the belfry, this time to attempt a peal of Grandsire Triples. J. Carter's twelve-part was selected, and after 2 hours 57 minutes' ringing, despite the tremendous heat, a beautiful peal had been accomplished. The ringers once more adjourned to the vicarage, this time to partake of much needed tea. Congratulations were showered on them, everyone met expressing their delight at the afternoon's performance. Groups of villagers were to be seen all over the village, talking in animated strains of the day's proceedings.

We are glad to say that the Mortimer ringers have joined the Oxford Diocesan Guild, and under the able tuition of the father of Reading change-ringers, let us hope to soon hear of change-ringing in a spot where but little has previously been heard. The bells are a sweet-toned ring, tenor 11½ cwt. in F sharp. They were supplied by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, and with the bells splendidly hung, again supply a good specimen of the bell-founders' craft.

The ringers of the St. Laurence's Society who opened the bells were C. Giles, 1; J. Potter, 2; H. Tucker, 3; A. W. Pike, 4; F. Hopgood, 5; C. Chapman, 6; W. Newell, 7; A. Watmore, 8.

THE NORTH NOTTS. ASSOCIATION.

ORDSALL.—On Tuesday, May 11th, 720 Bob Minor, in 25 mins. A. B. Crawford, 1; W. Skelton, 2; H. Lambert, 3; C. Crawford (conductor), 4; R. Potter, 5; J. White, 6. This 720 was especially arranged for Mr. Crawford, churchwarden of East Markham, who paid a visit to Ordsall with his twelve years' old son, Arthur Benjamin Crawford, for the purpose of getting him through a 720 on his birthday. The first attempt was unsuccessful after twenty minutes' good ringing, but the second venture had the desired effect, the bells falling into rounds in the time recorded above. Since the East Markham bells have been rehung, and two new trebles added, Mr. Crawford has devoted much time, and taken great pains in teaching the ringers of that village the intricacies of change-ringing, and the greatest credit is due to his son, whose success is recorded above, for the steady manner in which he piloted his bell through the performance. The ringers afterwards enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. Crawford, at The Plough inn, where the health of his promising son was heartily drunk. They wish him every success in the Art of change-ringing, and also many happy returns of the day.

THE SOCIETY OF ROYAL CUMBERLAND YOUTHS.

On Friday, June 5th, Mr. W. Nudds was elected senior steward in place of G. Turl, jun.

CURRENT TOPICS.

I think the weather of the past few days is of that kind which the quidnuncs call "tropical." That word must certainly mean something very hot. It is really too hot to write; and my barometer—one of the Admiral Fitzroy class—is having a fine old game to itself. It is as solid as a brick wall, and shows no sign of yielding. The mercury has risen to the top of the tube, and there it remains to tantalize one. Its immovability is so provoking that I have frequently been inclined to throw something at it—the inkstand has been lifted once or twice, only some one has come in, and such a denouement has been prevented. I am tired of taking observations about degrees of heat; bare thoughts of the thermometer induce profuse perspiration. My gardener tells me—Tuesday, the 16th inst.—that the market value just now of a copious shower of rain is one guinea sterling per pint. And I believe him.

Yet this is the time when visits are made by ringers to fresh places, in some cases to towers whose bells go like houses; bells and fittings quite innocent of a bell-hanger's existence, with their adjuncts to match. You all know the kind of article I am alluding to. Old bells in very very old frames; wheels with a circumference awful to behold; stocks as heavy as the bells they bear; ropes with sallies as thick as a man's body, more or less; these are some of the delights ringers meet with while "enjoying" their outings. Sometimes a noble tower is seen, perhaps 150 feet in height or thereabouts, the bells hung as close to the top as can be, but the ringers placed on the ground floor. I have seen a ringing-chamber which necessitated a previous study in mathematics to be able to effect an entrance, without hardly a ray of daylight, and near enough to the bells to induce one to forego the delights of bob-calling. But these things are passing away, and in time to come, will have vanished altogether. Future generations will only be able to talk of such things as having been at one time in existence.

The outing reports this week were interesting. The Ripon Cathedral company went to Tadcaster, where they had the pleasure of meeting a young man from the country, so they tell us. Then just as they were going to start for a 700 of six-in, a sergeant of police put in an appearance, which affrighted them all. But he proved a welcome intruder, for he rang the tenor and called the 720.

The Junior Society of Sheffield had quite an antiquarian turn out; the historical relics which the members had the privilege of inspecting will give them food for meditation for a while. The Speldhurst (Kent) society went to old-fashioned Yeovil (in Somerset), ringing on the fine ring of ten bells there, and at other churches in the neighbourhood. The Newburn (Northumberland) society went to Whitley, and enjoyed themselves in antiquarian researches also as well as in change-ringing.

It is with pleasure I see that things are looking up in the modern Athens—as the city of Edinburgh is called. The Cathedral society there have actually rung a date touch at a place called "Alloa." Scotsmen have never been enthusiastic about bell-ringing. Let us hope a change is coming over them, and that they will be able to enjoy more pleasure in the practice of Church bell ringing than they can in any other pursuit. Some readers will be curious to know what has happened to the Sandies at last; and who has been waking them up. Why it's that terrible fellow Routledge, who hails from somewhere in Northumberland. No danger of bells lying idle wherever he is about. If there are no ringers in any district where he should happen to be located for the time, he is bound to make some. He is a wonderfully clever fellow in the ringers' laboratory, having solved the philosopher's stone question years ago. But these Northumberland men are for ever on the qui vive.

I have been asked to allude to a letter which has reached the office—the contents of which are not at all pleasing. For some time past the executive of the Worcestershire Association has not been in cordial relationship with a leading dignitary of the diocese, viz.: the Venerable the Archdeacon of Worcester. This is a very great pity. The Archdeacon was formerly vicar of Pershore in the above county, and the tower of the Abbey there is said to contain the best ring of eight bells in the world. Now he is incumbent of Alvechurch, in the same county, where there are bells also. Of course the object the Association officers have in view is to bring these towers into union, but it would appear that the Archdeacon, if not actually opposing such an idea, lends not the least aid towards it. The Association desired to hold a meeting at Alvechurch, and asked the Archdeacon to preside, but after some time had elapsed, he replied that some other place had better be selected.

If the Archdeacon has a grievance in connection with the Association, would it not be better to have it removed? Perhaps only a trifling explanation of some sort is needed, for I do not suppose for one moment that he has any feeling antagonistic to the Association. As one who has known him in another sphere, let me make an earnest appeal to him to end the present condition of affairs, and give again to the Association the benefit of his kind countenance and support.

PLAIN SPEAKER.

THE HEAVY WOOLLEN DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

The third annual six-bell competition took place on Whit-Monday at St. Paul's church, Armitage Bridge, when several companies took part. The test piece was a 720 of Oxford Treble Bob Minor. The day being fine, and the village being picturesque, a large assembly of ringers were present to listen. The prizes were as follows: 1st—Six fourteen day clocks; 2nd—Six carvers and steel; 3rd—Six electro-plated teapots; 4th—Six jam stands. The result was as follows:

	Faults	Prizes
Tong ...	498
Huddersfield ...	Rung out.
Kirkheaton ...	316	3rd
Almondbury ...	182	1st
Lindley ...	617
Ossett ...	463	4th
Batley Carr ...	198	2nd
Batley ...	481
Thornhill ...	660

Mr. Charles Hollands (Barnsley), and Mr. Benjamin Woodhead (Armitage Bridge), officiated as judges, and gave general satisfaction.

THOMAS BLACKBOURN, CHURCH BELL HANGER, AND TUNER. SALISBURY, WILTSHIRE.

THOMAS BLACKBOURN is a practical Ringer, and having had considerable experience in Church Bell hanging and tuning, with confidence solicits the patronage of the Clergy, Churchwardens and Ringers generally.

T. B. has devoted a great deal of attention to the fixing of Clock Hammers used for striking the hours and quarters on Church Bells. These are sometime placed in awkward and dangerous positions, even by Church Clock Makers.

T. BLACKBOURN's experience enables him to affix these hammers, with their accompanying levers in a most accurate manner, preventing any danger to the bell frame or clock. He will be glad to advise on clocks as well as bells.

The Ellacombe Chime Hammers fixed. Sole Fixer of Selby's Apparatus for Silent practice. Handbells supplied. Bells weighed in the tower at a small cost.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

FALLEN.—No, he is still to be seen among the members of the society. Advancing age must be considered.

INQUISITIVE.—We would rather not be interrogated on this matter. The statement is made upon the most incompetent authority. The conductor of the peal, when sending the report, knew better than to make the assertion.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF AUTHORSHIP.—Mr. F. Dench, of Crawley, Sussex, writes to say that he has discovered that the peal of 5088 of Superlative, published last week, was composed several years ago by Mr. G. Lindoff, and in consequence, he (Mr. Dench) relinquishes all claim to it.

ADDRESS WANTED.—Mr. Arthur Hubbard, formerly of Tottenham.

CHANGE OF ADDRESS.—The address of R. T. Hibbert is 6, Great Knollys street, Reading.

INGHAMSHIRE. By ALFRED HENRAGE COCKS.
M.A., Ch. Ch., Oxford; F.Z.S., F.R.G.S., Great Marlow,
Bucks. With many Illustrations.

MESSRS. JARROLD & SONS have pleasure in announcing the
early publication by subscription of this most interesting and important work. It will contain an account of all the Church Bell
in Buckinghamshire, with everything relating to their history that can be discovered. Full accounts of all the Founders whose bells
hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County
including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. The work was undertaken at the instigation of the late J. C. L. Stahl Schmidt Esq., author of "Surrey Bells and Lost Bell-founders." "The Church Bells of Kent," "Herts," etc.; and the fact that the author
had the benefit of the kind assistance and advice of this well-known
campanologist may be mentioned as some guarantee of the scope and nature of the present work. Mr. Stahl Schmidt wrote the author,
that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting county," and he repeated this opinion in a subsequent letter. The
"Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 600 pages to be handsomely illustrated with 24 full-page plates of mediaeval letter-
ings, founders' marks, etc., found on bells still existing in the County
and numerous figures—some of them being peculiar to Bucks—will be inserted in the text. The 8vo. Edition is limited to 350 copies, and will be offered to subscribers before the day of publication at 2s. nett. The Larger Edition, Royal 4to, is limited to 80 copies, and will be subscribed at 4s. The price will be raised on the day
of issue should any copies remain unsold.

THE YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.]

"Bolsterstone! Where's Bolsterstone?" That has been a frequent query lately, and not having visited that place previously my only answer was obtained by means of a search amongst railway guides, which located it somewhere between Penistone and Sheffield. To that place, however, I started on the morning of Saturday, the 13th instant, to join with the other members of the Association in the general meeting which was to be held there that day. After sundry changes, and more or less quick running (principally the latter) over one company's rails and another, I finally emerged from the carriage at a place bearing the most appropriate name of Deepcar. The first glance around fully impressed one with this fitness of things, for on every side appeared high hills with precipitous sides, towering high in the heavens; while the station itself seemed to have been dug out of a steep hillside in a hurry, for right above loomed huge masses of rock which appeared to be only waiting a favorable opportunity to come crashing down upon anything or anybody that might unfortunately happen to be in their way. Glancing across the lines, I espied the smiling face of David Brearley, and as quick as my somewhat stiff limbs would permit I was over the bridge, and once again having a good hearty handshake with my friend. Greetings over, he imparted to me the welcome intelligence that a trap was outside ready to convey us to our journey's end. Then we set off in the rear of two powerful horses, a short distance still lower down, and then commenced an up-hill piece of business that I fancy I shan't forget in a hurry. I have never had the pleasure of mounting the Alps, or scaling the Matterhorn (I think that's what they call the sugarloaf mountain, pardon my ignorance of geography), but I have been up the hill from Deepcar to Bolsterstone, which amounts to pretty much the same thing. Imagine two miles at an angle of about 45 degrees, and when you get to the top find yourself 1000 feet above the level of the sea, and then you have got hold of the situation. Notwithstanding, the ride was as pleasant as it was slow (you couldn't very well expect horses to gallop up the gable end of a house); we passed smart and well-built cottages (stone, mind you, not bilious-inspiring brick), then an ivy-covered farmhouse, with a lovely garden in front; then well-kept farmsteads, with here and there a quarry or a brick kiln to vary the scene. Higher and higher we went, and miles on miles of the adjacent country were spread out like one magnificent panorama before us, till we reached Bolsterstone. Here we found a typical old English village, quiet, clean, and with that air of contentment and total absence of excitement or bustle which you can't find anywhere else. One church; one school; one primitive-looking post-office where you could purchase either Her Most Gracious Majesty's counterfeit, covered at the back with vegetable gum, or a pound of tea, or a stick of toffy, or—well, anything almost that they had in stock. There was, of course, one "pub" (and only one); one village pump; one set of "stocks" (which appeared to have been in lack of employment for a considerable time); in fact, it was a real pleasant little spot, and I soon forgot the mountainous situation, and the sight of two horses struggling up the hill-side no longer troubled me.

Soon the bells were going, a sweet-toned ring of eight (I believe) by Taylor, and walking round the tower I found a smart well-appointed ringing chamber on the level of the churchyard, where a mixed band were getting through some Treble Bob. I then had a walk to the schools, which were large, and considerably superior to anything one might have expected to find in so quiet a place. In the large room long tables were already loaded with edibles for tea, the sight of which made me begin to wish five o'clock wasn't so far off. But it arrived at length, and with a numerous company, amongst which was the genial vicar, the Rev. W. R. Wilson, I had a right good tea, which effectively disposed of the big appetite I had contracted during the pleasant afternoon.

After tea, of course, came business, the first item of which was a cordial vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells and school, and no less for his welcome presence with them at tea, which, I need hardly say, was carried "with acclamation"—very much so. In replying, the Vicar gave one of the most interesting speeches I have had the pleasure of listening to for some time. He told us of the antiquity of Bolsterstone, of its castle, and other relics of feudal ages still in existence in the neighbourhood; of the old barn-like structure which formerly did duty for a church; of the time when the manor of Bolsterstone was richer and more important than the adjoining manor of Sheffield (which rather, I fancy, made some of the "blades" open their eyes considerably). I regret now that I did not get the worthy Vicar's speech in extenso, which would have made this report worth reading.

After this Mr. W. Snowdon, president, read the minutes of the preceding meeting, which were unanimously adopted; and in accordance with amended rule 7, declared the next meeting to be held at Bradford. He then announced the result of the voting upon the following motion:—Proposed by T. Lockwood, seconded by W. Snowdon—"That Rule VII. be altered so as to make the Annual General Meeting fall on the third Saturday in January, and the other meetings on the third Saturdays in May and September; and to further alter all other rules to bring relative dates into order," which was 147 for, and 49 against. Two motions, of which notice had been given, were proposed by W. Snowdon and seconded by B. T. Copley:—(1) To add to Rule II., "A Church dignitary of the rank of Archdeacon and upwards, when enrolled as a honorary member, on payment of not less than ros. 6d., shall be placed on a list of patrons of the Association; and (2) Rule III., line 3, strike out "nine" and insert "twelve." (N.B.—The existing Committee to fill up two vacancies, and leave the other for the next election, after which four members will retire annually, and unanimously adopted.

Mr. C. H. Hattersley then proposed, and "Brother Tom" seconded, a cordial vote of thanks to the Bolsterstone Branch for its kind hospitality, and the ladies for their valuable assistance, which was adopted amid cheers, and acknowledged by Mr. D. Brearley, a vote of thanks to the Chairman concluding the business.

We then adjourned into the open air, and soon the bells were going to the tune of Stedman Triples. But I found it necessary to retrace my steps towards Deepcar, if I intended reaching home again that week, so I regretfully turned my back for the first time in my life on Bolsterstone, and as I got lower and lower down the hill, the sweet sound of the bells grew fainter and fainter; but I had in place of that the recollection of a pleasant afternoon, a hearty welcome, and a good business meeting. Floreat Bolsterstoniensis!

SWANSEA PARISH CHURCH.

The foundation-stone of a new parish church for Swansea has just been laid by Lord Windsor, the Lord-Lieutenant of the County. An immense concourse of people witnessed the ceremony, which was carried out amid the good wishes and hearty plaudits of the whole of the townspeople. A great number of the local clergy were present. We hear that the bells will be made worthy of the new church; let us hope that the good people of Swansea consider their town worthy of a ring of ten or twelve. There is not one ring of twelve in the Principality; let Swansea strive to possess the first.

CAVENDISH, SUFFOLK.

In the month of October, 1895, a meeting was called in the Church Room of Cavendish, of the members of the old company of ringers, and of the young company then about to be formed. The rector (Rev. J. R. Wilson), presided, and it was decided to form a young company and to let the old one remain as it was. It was further decided to engage the services of Samuel Slater, of Glemsford, to instruct the young band, consisting of eight in number, at the same time Mr. George Maxim, one of the old band, promising to come and assist whenever he could. Mr. Albert Ives, also one of the old band, came in later, and rendered some very good help. From the month of October Mr. Slater commenced to attend and give lessons on the Art of Change-Ringing on the handbells in the Church Room, and on the evening of Wednesday, January 15th, 1894, the first one of this young band scored his first 720 of Bob Minor. Z. Slater, 1-2; G. Maxim (aged 73, and first 720 on handbells), 3; H. Evans (first 720), 4; S. Slater (conductor), 5-6. On Wednesday, February 26th, in the belfry of Cavendish church, a second 720 of Bob Minor was rung on the handbells. A. Ives, 1; S. Slater (conductor), 2; B. Pettit (first 720), 3; H. Evans, 4; G. Maxim, 5; P. Newman (first 720), 6. On Wednesday evening, March 4th, in the Church Room, a third 720 of Bob Minor was rung. S. Slater (conductor), 1; A. Page (first 720), 2; B. Pettit, 3; A. Ives, 4; G. Maxim, 5; P. Newman, 6. On Wednesday, April 20th, at the residence of Mr. John Slater, Glemsford, a 720 Bob Minor. S. Slater (conductor), 1-2; B. Pettit, 3; H. Evans, 4; H. Perkins (first 720), 5; P. Newman, 6. During these series of handbell practices, church bell practice was going on, and on Tuesday, May 10th, the first 720 of Bob Minor was rung on the church bells of Cavendish. W. Underwood (first on either church or handbells), 1; G. Maxim, 2; S. Slater (conductor), 3; H. Evans (first on church bells), 4; H. Perkins (first on church bells), 5; P. Newman (first on church bells), 6. On Monday, June 1st, a 720 of Bob Minor. S. Slater (conductor), 1; A. Ives, 2; W. Purdy (first 720 on either church or handbells), 3; G. Maxim, 4; H. Perkins, 5; P. Newman, 6. Rung on the eighteenth birthday of W. Purdy, his brother-ringers wishing him many happy returns. On Tuesday, June 9th, 720 Bob Minor. S. Slater (conductor), 1; A. Ives, 2; B. Pettit (first 720 on church bells), 3; H. Evans, 4; H. Perkins, 5; G. Maxim, 6.

EAST DERBYSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

The quarterly meeting of above association was held at Ault Hucknall, on Saturday, June 13th, members being present from the following towers:—Ault Hucknall, Heath, South Normanton Tibshelf, North Wingfield, and Ripley.

The meeting was held in the open air, underneath a beautiful sycamore tree, the weather being very hot, this was very much pleasanter than in the schoolroom. The vicar, Rev. F. Broadhurst, was unanimously voted to the chair, and the minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

The next meeting was arranged for Wingerworth (should the health of the aged Rector permit), and in case of not being able to secure Wingerworth, Ripley is appointed as next place of meeting. The best thanks of the meeting are due to the local secretary (Mr. Twiggs), for providing refreshments, there being no population in the immediate neighbourhood of the church. The Vicar kindly escorted as many as wished round the interior of the beautiful old church, the Saxon and Norman work being much admired. After a very pleasant afternoon the bells were lowered about 8 p.m., one and all having enjoyed themselves.

THE MIDLAND COUNTIES' ASSOCIATION.

BURTON-ON-TRENT (Staffordshire).—On Saturday, June 20th, at the parish church, several touches were rung with the bells muffled as a mark of respect to the late Mrs. J. R. Morris, Mayoress of Burton-on-Trent, who was interred in Burton cemetery on that day, and who was greatly beloved and esteemed by the whole of the inhabitants of the borough. The ringers were W. J. Smith, P. Wright, W. Roberts, T. Smith, R. Logie, J. Walker, J. Hicklin, J. Carvell, and J. Jaggar.

THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

MANCHESTER BRANCH.—A monthly meeting of the above was held at Pendlebury on Saturday, June 20th, when there was a good muster of members present from the following places, viz., Manchester, Worsley, Walkden, Swinton, Pendleton, Flixton, Didsbury, and Gorton, beside the local company. Some good ringing was indulged in during the evening in the following methods: Grandsire and Stedman Triples, and Grandsire and Treble Bob Major. At the business meeting held later, and presided over by Mr. F. Derbyshire (vice-president), it was decided to hold the next meeting at Walkden, on Saturday, July 18th, one new member being added to the list. It was then proposed by R. Ridyard, and seconded by H. Chapman, that the branch secretary write a letter of condolence to the widow of the late Thomas Smith, a member of the Pendleton company and an associate, the members present expressing deep sympathy with the widow in her great and sudden bereavement, as her late husband died of pneumonia after a brief but painful illness of six days' duration. The usual votes of thanks being accorded to the clergy and churchwarden, completed the business.

Obituary.

JOHN SALTHOUSE.

Again it is our painful duty to record the death of another member of the Fylde branch of the Lancashire Association, in the person of Mr. John Salthouse, of Westby Street, Lytham, which took place on Friday, June 19th, at the comparatively early age of thirty-six, the cause of death being an internal complaint. Deceased was for a lengthy period a ringer at St. John's church, and rung his last 720 on Christmas Day. Since then he has only taken his place in the belfry on a few occasions. The local ringers sadly deplore his loss, as he was both a steady and reliable man. At the church of St. John the Divine, on Sunday, half-muffled peals were rung, and before the interment, which took place on Monday afternoon, a fully-muffled peal was rung as a last tribute of respect to their departed brother. A beautiful floral wreath was sent from the ringers of St. John's, all of whom were present at the funeral, together with a number of the workmen on the Clifton Estate, where deceased had followed his occupation as a joiner. He leaves a widow and four children to mourn his loss. D.

THOMAS SMITH.

It is with the utmost regret that we have to record the painful illness and sudden death of our esteemed brother-ringer, Thomas Smith, which took place at his residence, 3, Armitage street, Pendleton, on Saturday, June 20th, 1896, at the age of 35 years. He was a native of Pendleton, and had been a ringer at St. Thomas's church for the past five years, ringing his first peal there, which was one of Grandsire Triples, on February 3rd, 1893. Although his was so short a ringing career, he took part in eight peals:—Grandsire Triples, 1; Stedman Triples, 3; Kent Treble Bob Major, 4; Total 8. He was a member of the Lancashire Association and Ashton-under-Lyne Society. A good, steady ringer, whose ability and capacity would undoubtedly have placed him one of the foremost in the Exercise had his life been spared. His place will be hard to fill, and his loss will be keenly felt by those who knew him best. Touches of Stedman Triples were rung with the bells half-muffled for both services on Sunday, and the whole pull and stand deeply muffled on Tuesday, the 23rd inst., whilst his remains were being borne into the church by members of the Sunday School Class to which he belonged. The service in the church was conducted by the curate, the Rev. W. H. Warrington, M.A., and concluded at the graveside by the vicar, the Rev. J. E. Gull, M.A. The deceased was carried to his last resting place by the ringers, who rang a course of Grandsire Triples over the grave; and in the evening, 5088 Kent Treble Bob Major, and account of which will be found in its proper place.

QUIDENHAM (Norfolk).—On Tuesday, June 9th, at the church of St. Andrew, 720 Bob Minor. W. Hensley, 1; J. Sage, 2; G. Haylett, 3; R. Haylett, 4; W. Killington, 5; J. Woods (conductor), 6. On Sunday, June 14th, for Divine Service, 240 Bob Doubles. J. Woods, 1; J. Tite, 2; R. Haylett, 3; A. Mann, 4; J. Woods (conductor), 5. And 216 Plain Bob Minor. W. Hensley, 1; J. Woods, 2; J. Tite, 3; R. Haylett, 4; A. Mann, 5; J. Woods (conductor), 6. And for evening service, 720 Bob Minor. W. Hensley, 1; J. Sage, 2; G. Haylett, 3; R. Haylett, 4; W. Killington, 5; J. Tite, 6. J. Woods conducted.

Ringers' Outings.

THE ST. NICOLAS' SOCIETY, PEVENSEY, SUSSEX.—The members of this Society had their annual outing on June 4th. The place chosen was Rye, and a start was made in beautiful weather at 8.20 a.m. On arriving at Rye lunch was the first order, with the inevitable cucumber as big as a "sallie." Needless to say several rounds were scored from this, the merest novice acquitting himself as well as the old stagers. A move was then made to the photographer's, who was evidently pleased with our visit, but whether from a pecuniary point of view, or from our handsome appearance, your readers must decide for themselves. As the "picters" have not yet arrived we are afraid the machine was not able to distil such a vast amount of good looks, and has broken down. The church was the next object of interest. It is a remarkably fine building and well worth a visit. Here we were met by a gentleman who showed us round, and then took us to see the bells—a fine ring of eight. Unfortunately they are in a bad state, and have been condemned as unsafe by two firms of bell-hangers, so much to our disappointment we could not have a pull. After a stroll round the town, which abounds in quaint old houses and ancient monuments, telling of its former prosperity, we returned to our hotel for dinner. An excellent spread had been prepared, to which we did ample justice. After dinner a "surprise method" was in store, for the genial captain of the band—Mr. Brant—was presented with a pipe and pouch and a copy of "Snowdon's Standard Methods," and hopes were expressed that he might enjoy many whiffs from the pipe and rings from the book. It was remarked during the presentation that though ringers some times get angry and speak out rather shrilly like the treble, yet after all they are good sound tenors at bottom, giving out a sonorous tone as a man should. Mr. Brant was knocked all of a heap, but responded, thanking the members for their kindness, and expressing the hope that "Standard Methods" was a hint that in future new methods would be attempted, a course he has long advocated. A brake was then engaged and a drive out in the country brought us to the village of Iden. The church was visited and the bells raised, but owing to the bad go of them only a few 6-scores of Doubles could be completed. The Rev. J. Bates met us and received us very courteously, showing us all the points of interest in the church, and subsequently joining us at tea. On returning to Rye, as no ringing was possible, we took train to Hastings, and went on the pier, where we heard the Mohawk Minstrels. As a thunderstorm appeared to be coming up we had to make tracks for the railway station sooner than we intended, and luckily we did so, for it rained cats and dogs soon after our arrival there. We reached home at eleven o'clock, after a pleasant day, although a disappointing one so far as ringing was concerned. P.

THE ST. ALPHEGE COMPANY, CANTERBURY.—The annual outing of this company took place on Monday, June 15th, when Deal and Walmer were visited. The members, with the rector, first assembled at Mr. Collis's studio, where they were photographed in a group. They next returned to Orange Street, where a brake was awaiting them. They were here joined by the Rev. F. J. O. Helmore, Messrs. Saxby and Groom (sidesmen), and a few friends. A halt was made at Ash, and the opportunity taken of ringing some touches on the church bells. The party were met by the vicar of Ash, who very kindly pointed out the chief points of interest in the church. On re-starting, the party had a very pleasant drive through Sandwich to Upper Deal, where they were met by the local band of ringers, and a pleasant hour was spent in ringing there. In the afternoon and evening Walmer was visited, where some touches were rung on the new bells there. Dinner and tea was provided at The Beach House hotel, and was served up in first-rate style. The return journey was made at eight o'clock, and all reached home safely, having thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

THE FROME SOCIETY.—On Saturday, June 13th, the members of this society had their annual outing, the places selected for visiting being North Bradley and Trowbridge. A start was made at 2.25 p.m. and after a pleasant drive in a well-horsed brake, North Bradley was reached. Here the party were met by Mr. W. McCaffrey, the well-known captain of the Trowbridge company, and several touches of Grandsire Doubles were well-struck on the ring of six bells at this village. One 400 was rung as follows: F. McCaffrey, 1; H. Scammell, 2; C. Summers, 3; W. McCaffrey, 4; J. Rebbeck (conductor), 5; W. Bishop, 6. A 244 was also rung, conducted by F. Rebbeck. Another short drive took the party on to Trowbridge, where they first recuperated their energies by partaking of tea at The Magnet dining-rooms. The visitors then proceeded to the parish church, where they were met by several members of the Salisbury Guild, and several touches of Grandsire Triples were rung, the striking being excellent. All were pleased to welcome the genial face of Mr. W. Alley (Trowbridge), the veteran ringer of this part of the country, and after congratulations (this being the seventy-sixth anniversary of his birthday), he was easily persuaded to ring the treble and conduct a 168 of Triples. A 420 of Triples was also rung. F. McCaffrey, 1; W. Bishop, 2; W. McCaffrey, 3; J. Hayward, 4; E. Fricker, 5; J. Willshire, 6; J. Rebbeck (conductor), 7; A. Langford, 8. The weather throughout the day was typical of summer, and added greatly to the enjoyment of the whole proceedings as well as of the return journey, which concluded a most pleasant and successful outing.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD, BIRMINGHAM.—On Saturday afternoon, June 20th, six members of this Guild, at the kind invitation of Mr. John Heatley, tower-keeper, paid a visit to the ancient old church of Kenilworth, where there is fine ring of six bells, tenor about 17 cwt., cast in the year 1500. It was intended to start for a 5040, but owing to a funeral, time would not permit. A start was made at 4.30, and 720 College and Canterbury Pleasure Doubles were rung. Afterwards a quarter-peal, 1260 changes, was rung in the following methods: 360 Stedman Doubles, 540 Grandsire Doubles, and 360 Canterbury Pleasure Doubles. T. Reynolds, 1; W. Short (conductor), 2; W. Hancock, 3; W. H. Barber, 4; F. Clayton, 5; W. Painter, 6. On the bells being lowered, the party were generously entertained to a sumptuous knife and fork tea by the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Heatley and Mr. W. Painter, of Birmingham, formerly of Kenilworth. After tea the handbells were introduced, and tunes rung; also courses of Stedman and Grandsire Triples and Bob Major, to the great delight of all the friends present. After being regaled by two of Mr. Heatley's gentleman friends with cigars and whisky, the party returned to Birmingham at 9.30, loud in praise of their afternoon trip.

THE SOUNDS OF BELLS IN CONTACT WITH LIQUIDS.—Every one knows that a glass gives a graver sound on being struck when containing water than when empty. The relations of this class of phenomena have been studied by M. Montigny, who got eleven bells belonging to the chime of an old clock, and compared their tones when merely filled with liquids, or when immersed in liquids, with those they gave in air. He tried different liquids, viz., water, alcohol, ether, and sulphide of carbon. He found that, however the liquid was applied, the sound given in contact with it was always graver than the natural; that the lowering of tone was more marked the denser the liquid (thus it was less with ether than with sulphide of carbon); also more marked, whatever the liquid, when the bell was completely immersed than when it was merely filled; and that, with either mode of application, the lowering was greater for grave than for acute notes. The additional fact that the lowering of tone when a bell is merely filled with a liquid and that which occurs when, being empty, it is immersed in the liquid up to its lip, are exactly the same, shows that the alteration is due to the influence which that part of the liquid in contact with the metal has on the vibrations of the latter (not to the metal and liquid forming a vibrating whole). Further, the compressibility of the liquid is a factor in the result. Water is both less compressible and more dense than alcohol and ether, and it lowers the tone more. The result is also affected by the form of the bell and the elasticity and density of its substance. It is obvious, lastly, that a chime which presents a perfect gamut in air no longer does so when in contact with liquid.

The above eight courses twice repeated, with single added at 1 in the last course of the third part, produces:—

2	3	5	4	6	I	4	6
4	3	6	2	5	-	-	-
3	6	4	2	5	-	-	-

6	3	2	4	5	-	-	-
4	2	3	6	5	-	-	-
2	3	4	6	5	-	-	-

These seven courses twice repeated, adding a single at 1 in the last course of the last part, complete the peal. Has the 4th, 5th, and 6th only in 6ths place at the course-ends.

First rung by the College Youths and the Essex Association, at St. Saviour's, Walthamstow, on November 2nd, 1895, conducted by John Murray Hayes, being the first peal of Double Norwich ever rung in Walthamstow.

HANDSWORTH (Staffordshire).—On June 16th, at the parish church, was married John White, son of John White, Contractor, of Handsworth, to Edith Rose, daughter of David Rose, Butcher, late Chairman of Handsworth Local Board. A 720 Grandsire Minor was rung to celebrate the occasion.

CURRENT TOPICS.

"Railway companies have no conscience." We are told in the report of the Kent Association meeting that this is "a trite saying." I look in the dictionary for the word "trite," and find the following meanings: "rubbed," "worn-out," "stale," "threadbare," "common," etc., etc. Whether railway companies are devoid of consciences or not, they behave very funnily sometimes. The Kent Secretary's report indignantly concluded with "a protest against the recent action of the railway companies in depriving ringers of privileges allowed to such people as golf-players and anglers."

The fact is, the companies are getting apathetic. It is some consolation to know that ringers are not the only people who suffer from this complaint. Railway companies are a very unconcerned, stoical, indifferent sort of people. They are insensible to almost everything but dividends. Six per cent. has a tendency to drive them mad. Men of Kent, have your revenge. Boycott them; send them all to Coventry; and combine with other of the travelling public in mutual offence and defence. Advocate the use of cycles; you could form a company for their manufacture, perhaps, for about three times per week a new cycle company is started. There may be a lull in this trade when the screw is put on, i.e., the tax so often threatened, but not yet come to pass. But it is within speaking distance now.

As I greedily devour the contents of our paper week by week, of course the handbell coupon arrangement did not escape my observation. I was a little surprised, because no hint of it had even reached me. I have thought well to talk the matter over with those concerned, and I may in consequence be able to throw a little more light upon the subject than is already shewn. Every reader who wishes to have a good Christmas-box next December in the shape of a peal of twelve new handbells, must save up as many of these coupons as he can. They should be cut out of the paper week by week, and carefully put by. Then when the time arrives, affix your name and address to each of them (if not already done), make a note of their number, and send them to the office, carefully sealed up, addressed and endorsed as directed. The lucky individual's name will appear the following week, and he can then select the bells of any founder he pleases. When this is known the bells will be ordered without a moment's delay, and the founder will deliver them free of cost.

When this matter is thought out, it will be admitted that it is not an ungenerous offer. "A new peal of twelve handbells to be given away!" That is what it really is. It may strike some of you that to counteract the probability of equal numbers of coupons being sent up by some, that occasionally two copies of the paper may be bought; only now and then, of course. I am empowered to make the following known: Should a double number or a portrait number appear, the coupons of such times will be double ones, and count as two. Well, brother-ringers, let us all try and make this new feature a success; perhaps the next half something better may be offered, but this is not bad for a beginning. Young members, who are standing still for handbells, now's your time. Show that you can enter into a new idea quite as well and with as much gusto as golfists, anglers, and the like. Don't be told of your apathy and indifference any more. The Reviewer of the Oxford Peal-book the other week said that apathy was "the natural order of things campanological." Let us now show that this is an illogical, cynical, and incorrect observation.

A very nice opening at the peaceful village of Mortimer, Berkshire, the other day. A new vestry, a new organ, and new ring of bells, all opened at once! The occasion was worthy of a peal. It would be a great pity to have such a place forgotten after so good a beginning; and Father Newell intends that change-ringing shall flourish and abound therein, for he is going to teach the young ideas how to shoot. Mind they have "THE BELL NEWS" regularly, Mr. Newell. This hint I hear is superfluous in your case. If the Mortimer scholars want handbells, which they are sure to do, they can now see how to get them easily and cheaply.

A report has come into my hands which brings to memory the substance of a very old song. This report says that a sexton of a country village church has just built himself a new house. The material used for the flooring of back-kitchen, wash-house, etc., are old tombstones from the neighbouring churchyard. "To what base uses do we all come." The old song I have just referred to relates that a certain village baker, being anxious to refloor his oven, negotiated a deal with the sexton for some old tombstones. These were used accordingly for the bottom of the oven, and considering where they hailed from, answered the purpose very well indeed. But when the next batch of bread was delivered to the baker's customers, they were horrified to see at the bottom of the loaves copies (in reverse) of parts of the old epitaphs. One loaf had on it "I shall rise again;" another "In memory of," and so forth. [The Editor assures me he has heard this song given at a ringers' festivity.] This was a great oversight on the part of the baker. It would be curious to know whether the sexton who has partly floored his new house with old tombstones had taken the precaution which the baker didn't. Perhaps if he sees this he will tell us about it himself.

There is a ringing friend of mine who is excessively fond of children, especially those of the masculine gender. A habit he has is that of asking these youngers what they are going to be when they get older. The answers of the young hopefuls are sometimes comic. The son of one celebrated ringer states his intention to be a foxhunter; another would like to be a policeman; another a butcher; another a beefeater; a fifth a clerk of the weather; while another stoutly declares he shall be a Member of Parliament. Perhaps as the ideas of these young swells develope, they may undergo a transformation. We all hope they may have this paper put into their hands early, so that whatever their calling in life, they may be led to improve the traditions (and the conditions) of our Art. They will very likely refer back to old volumes, and affectionately and reverently peruse the effusions of

THOMAS BLACKBOURN,
CHURCH BELL HANGER, AND TUNER.
SALISBURY, WILTSHIRE.

THOMAS BLACKBOURN is a practical Ringer, and having had considerable experience in Church Bell hanging and tuning, with confidence solicits the patronage of the Clergy, Churchwardens and Ringers generally.

T. B. has devoted a great deal of attention to the fixing of Clock Hammers used for striking the hours and quarters on Church Bells. These are sometimes placed in awkward and dangerous positions, even by Church Clock Makers.

T. BLACKBOURN's experience enables him to affix these hammers, with their accompanying levers in a most accurate manner, preventing any danger to the bell frame or clock. He will be glad to advise on clocks as well as bells.

The Ellacombe Chime Hammers fixed. Sole Fixer of Selby's Apparatus for Silent practice. Handbells supplied. Bells weighed in the tower at a small cost.

A PEAL OF 362,880 GRANDSIRE CATERS, 6d.
Contains the full extent of changes on nine bells. Forwarded Post Free, on receipt of 7d By James Hewett, 15, Chape Row, Gosport.

The Bell News & Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, JUNE 27, 1896.

It has more than once been suggested to ringing companies that in order to promote the Art of Ringing, and to extend its practice, they should, when considering the spot at which to hold their annual festivity, select a place where ringing is at a very low ebb, or where its patronage and existence does not obtain, and where also its advantages to the Church may be absolutely unknown. To follow out such a suggestion literally requires, as everyone must be aware, no inconsiderable self-denial. Visits to churches where change-ringing is unknown, generally involve a maximum of labour with a minimum of pleasure, so far as ringing is concerned. Yet it is the fact that intrepid members of ringing societies have been found to accept the suggestion, and have thus effected valuable and lasting changes for the better in many places. Though the idea that the visitation of places benighted, so far as ringing is concerned, is meritorious, may not always be entertained, it is pleasing to learn that it has met with no small degree of accord.

This day, Saturday, that organization of the Birmingham

Exercise over which Mr. JOHN CARTER is the presiding genius, intends to visit Leamington, a fashionable inland resort two miles distant from the ancient county town of Warwick. At Leamington there are no bells worthy of the name—a ring of six in a wooden box, and though hung for ringing in the usual manner, the conditions of the place are the reverse of inviting. Bells are also in evidence at the Romish Church, but nothing appears to be done with them. At Warwick there are ten bells, the wrong way of the circle, and a peal of eight. If we except a short period during which a change-ringer resided in Leamington, no half-pull company has ever existed within the district, so far as we know. A celebrated Coventry ringer—the late lamented JOSEPH BICKERTON—at one time was verger of St. Mary's, Warwick, the noble tower of which church has ten bells, but his efforts at instruction were nullified through what we believe was sheer stupidity, with a modicum of indifference—on the part of those whom he endeavoured to teach. Half-pull ringing has in fact never taken firm root; of this our records will be sufficient proof.

The Birmingham Amalgamated Society hold their annual dinner to-day at a place called "Edmonscote," or "Emscote," where there appears to be eight bells; though at one time mere gongs, or saucers, had to suffice. This place is midway between the two towns above mentioned, and we cannot but hope that the visit of our Birmingham brethren will be the means of establishing the practice of the Art in the district. To this end perhaps they will excuse us suggesting that their energies may be directed; they will afterwards have the immense satisfaction of knowing that their visit has not only been a pleasure to themselves, but of great utility in enlarging the borders of Church bell ringing.

ST. MARY'S, PRITTLEWELL, ESSEX.

Two trebles having been added to the old six in this tower, by Mears and Stainbank, the dedication and opening of the same will take place on the 30th inst. Dedication 4.30; Evensong, 7.30; preacher, Ven. W. J. Lawrance, M.A., Archdeacon of St. Albans. Change-ringers will be heartily welcomed by the local company. If further information is required, please address W. H. Judd, 6 Alexandra Street, Southend-on-Sea.

BARTON-UNDER-NEEDWOOD, STAFFORDSHIRE.

On Saturday afternoon, June 20th, seven members of the Lichfield society drove to this picturesque village, where they were met by Mr. T. Meredith, the object of the visit being to attempt a peal of Grandsire Triples on the bells of the parish church, which have recently been augmented from six to eight by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, of the Whitechapel Foundry. After partaking of light refreshment, a move was made to the belfry. The ropes, sliders, etc. being inspected, and the bearings well greased, the bells were raised in peal, and at 4.13 "go" was called. All went well until 7.9, when the welcome "that's all" announced the completion of the first peal on the bells. On descending the tower the ringers were met by Mr. Churchwarden Sharpe and a goodly number of villagers, who congratulated them on accomplishing the peal in such an excellent manner. Mr. Sharpe (ever thoughtful), had kindly ordered a substantial tea at The Shoulder of Mutton inn, to which he invited the ringers. Tea being over, the handbells were brought into requisition, and an hour or so spent with the Barton ringers and friends. At 9.30 the band started for Lichfield, which was safely reached at 10.50, every one having thoroughly enjoyed the outing. The ringers wish through the medium of "THE BELL NEWS" to thank the vicar (Rev. W. H. H. Fairclough), and churchwardens, for so readily granting them the use of the bells, and for the kindness and hospitality extended to them both on this and a former visit.

THE CHURCH BELLS OF BUCK-
INGHAMSHIRE. By ALFRED HENEGAGE COCKS.
M.A., Ch. Ch., Oxford; F.Z.S., F.R.G.S., Great Marlow,
Bucks. With many Illustrations.

MESSRS. JARROLD & SONS have pleasure in announcing the
early publication by subscription of this most interesting and important work. It will contain an account of all the Church Bell
in Buckinghamshire, with everything relating to their history that can be discovered. Full accounts of all the Founders whose bells
hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County
including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. The work was undertaken at the instigation of the late J. C. L. Stahl Schmidt, Esq., author of "Surrey Bells and London Bell-founders," "The Church Bells of Kent," "Herts," etc.; and the fact that the author
had the benefit of the kind assistance and advice of this well-known
campanologist may be mentioned as some guarantee of the scope and nature of the present work. Mr. Stahl Schmidt wrote the author,
that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting county," and he repeated this opinion in a subsequent letter. The
"Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 600 pages to be handsomely illustrated with 24 full-page plates of mediaeval letter-
ings, founders' marks, etc., found on Bells still existing in the County
and numerous figures—some of them being peculiar to Bucks—will be inserted in the text. The 8vo. Edition is limited to 350 copies, and will be offered to subscribers before the day of publication at 21s. nett. The Larger Edition, Royal 4to, is limited to 80 copies, and will be subscribed at 42s. The prices will be raised on the day

RUGBY, WARWICKSHIRE.—DEDICATION OF THE NEW TOWER AND BELLS.

The religious services which constituted the final ceremony of the completion of the beautiful Parish Church of this town were held on Thursday afternoon, June 18th. Twenty years have elapsed since the old church was demolished and the present structure begun, but this is a short time in the life of a church, and, says a local paper, when we recollect the years which passed during the construction of some of our more famous ecclesiastical structures, we may well feel satisfied that so many of us have had the privilege of seeing the commencement and the completion of one of the most beautiful religious edifices which has been reared in this diocese since the Reformation.

Nothing could have been more gratifying than the hearty manner in which the Rev. J. Murray threw himself into the movement after his induction to the living in May, 1875; and the fact that within the next few years the work was begun and completed at a cost of upwards of £20,000 was, in no small degree, due to his energy and the liberality of himself and his late wife. On Wednesday, October 29th, 1879, the restored church was duly consecrated by the late Dr. Phillpotts, Bishop of Worcester.

There still remained to complete the church the erection of a tower and spire over the north transept, and vestries on the south side of the chancel, which were included in the architect's design. The nucleus of a fund for this purpose was obtained, but there the matter rested for some years, and the Rector, who knew how arduous had been the work of raising subscriptions for what had been done, had almost given up the hope of seeing the completion effected in his lifetime. But Rugby is rich in benefactions. Every part of the town has its memorial of the generosity and large-heartedness of former residents, and amongst these the name of the late Mr. George Charles Benn will now and always be given a honoured place. The announcement made in September, 1894, that Mr. Benn had placed £10,000 in the bank to the credit of the Rector and churchwardens, for the purpose of building the proposed tower and spire, and giving to the town a new peal of eight bells, was particularly gratifying to many residents. Church people received the intelligence with something approaching enthusiasm and delight, and other inhabitants who are not attached to the Anglican Church, but who, nevertheless, are ready to welcome anything that tends to improve the beauty of the town, heard the news with approval. Unfortunately, the generous donor did not live to see his munificent desires carried out in their entirety.

The new bells are eight in number, in D., tenor 25 cwt., and were cast and hung by Mears and Stainbank. The old bells are still in their places in the old tower, so that the church of St. Andrew has now the distinction, unique, we believe, in England, of having two peals in its towers. In 1711 the five bells in the old tower were brought to Rugby from the foundry of Joseph Smith, of Edgbaston. They succeeded four older bells, of which the tenor was cracked. They have done good service in their day, and for old association's sake we are glad that they are still to occupy their old home, and that their sound will still be heard at times. The new bells are hung in the bell-chamber, 90 feet above the ground, in a frame of English oak. An Ellacombe chiming apparatus has also been fixed in the belfry. Each bell bears an appropriate inscription.

The services of the day commenced with a choral celebration of the Holy Communion at 7.30 a.m., at which Dykes' music in F was used. After the Sanctus, the Benedictus was sung, and the Agnus Dei followed the prayer of consecration. Both of these were used in the church that day for the first time. The celebrant was the Rev. C. P. Shepherd, and the hymns sung were Nos. 397, 316, and 223. There were 55 communicants, and the alms, for the parish schools enlargement fund amounted to nearly £5.

At 11.0 a.m. there were morning prayers, when no music was used.

The dedicatory service took place at 3.0 o'clock, and was very simple, but impressive. It commenced with the hymn, No. 292, "Praise the Lord, ye heavens adore Him." Then followed proper psalms for the day, and special dedicatory prayers. The psalms were efficiently rendered by the combined choirs of the parish and Holy Trinity churches—about 70 voices in all—to chants composed respectively by Savage, Lee, and Humphreys. The initial part of the service was conducted by the Rev. C. P. Shepherd, and the other clergy in robes included the rector (Rev. J. Murray), and the Revs. A. Ingham, S. C. Ward, and H. Ll. Arnould. As the hymn, "O praise ye the Lord," No. 308, was being sung, the clergy proceeded to the basement of the tower, where a rope, in communication with the tenor, was hung from the belfry above. After delivering another prayer, with reference to the bells, the rev. gentleman, pulling the rope, gave several strokes upon the bell, and the clergy returned to the chancel. The whole peal was then chimed by Mr. James George for some minutes, the congregation remaining standing meanwhile. Canon Hutchinson afterwards delivered an address.

Other prayers were then offered by the Rector, the hymn, "Lift the strains of high thanksgiving," was sung, and the Rector pronounced the blessing. A suitable benediction was afterwards given in the vestry, having special reference to that part of the building. While the congregation were leaving the church, Mr. G. H. Hidden, the organist, played a march upon a theme by Handel, and composed by Guilman.

At the end of the service the bells were formally inaugurated by a band of ringers, obtained by Mr. James George, the ringing master of the Rugby Change-Ringers' Association, who was entrusted with all the arrangements for the ringing of the new bells during the day. The band consisted of Messrs. S. Reeves (West Bromwich), B. Witchell (Birmingham), J. O. Lancashire and G. Cleal (Leicester), T. W. Chapman and H. Argyle (Nuneaton), A. Roberts (Gloucester), and J. George (Rugby). They rang touches of Stedman and Grandsire Triples, conducted by Mr. George, and of Treble Bob Major, conducted by Mr. Witchell.

After the service, the rector entertained a few of Canon Hutchinson's old friends at tea, and in the meantime the churchwardens (Messrs. R. Over and A. J. Lawrence), were displaying similar hospitality at the Town Hall, where the organists and choirmen, ringers, and church-workers, numbering in all about 50, sat down to a nice repast, served by Mrs. Hobley.

Mr. Over said he regretted the fact that the generous donor of the tower and bells had passed away before the completion of the work, and said they could not enter into the proceedings of that day with the same light heart and joyousness they should have felt had Mr. Benn been spared. He was sure his name would long live as that of a great benefactor to the town of Rugby.

After tea, Messrs. Lancashire, Chapman, Cleal, Witchell, and George rang upon handbells, a course of Grandsire Caters, and a touch of Grandsire Triples. From 6.0 o'clock till the time for the evening service the new bells were again used, and the first touches of call-changes were rung by local ringers. Members of Mr. George's band then accomplished some more touches, in which they were joined by the Rev. H. J. Elsee, and Messrs. C. J. B. Cooke, H. Tarver (Bilton), and Allwood (Nuneaton). Among the other local ringers who had a pull were Messrs. J. Coales, Clarke, Scotton, F. Betts, Cockerill (Dunchurch), Coleman, W. Shepherd, etc.

At 8.0 o'clock in the evening the last service of the day commenced, and at its conclusion the change-ringers again took the ropes, and among other touches a 504 of Grandsire Triples, composed and conducted by Mr. George, was rung, and a very successful inauguration was brought to a close shortly after ten o'clock. This being the first time change-ringing of this kind has been heard in Rugby, the bells were listened to with more than usual interest. To hear them to advantage it was necessary to go some little distance away from the tower, as the sound was rather overpowering when one stood close to it. To obviate this the churchwardens have under consideration a suggestion to provide shutters for the louvres of the bell-chamber, which will prevent any annoyance to residents in the immediate neighbourhood, and give the effect of distance to the ringing, while it will not prevent the sound from travelling far away. The day being rather warm, the ringers were not long in discovering that means for ventilating the belfry had been overlooked, or at any rate were very inadequate, and consequently their work was rendered more exhausting. And yet it struck visitors that the interior of the belfry, with its bare brick walls, has a cold and severely plain appearance.

THE HEREFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

On Wednesday, June 17th, this Guild held the first of its two Festivals at Colwall. At 11.30 Matins was sung by the Rev. G. M. Custance and his curate, the Rev. T. Birks, and the sermon was preached by the Rev. R. Horton, Vicar of Dymock. The service was bright and hearty, the hymns used were 395, 547, 292 and 303 and 277 A. & M. The preacher took for his text Zechariah xiv. 20. After service a few touches of Triples were rung on the peal of eight. Dinner was served in a tent on the rectory tennis ground, and about sixty-five members sat down to an excellent spread. Mr. E. Corder, of New Court, Colwall, was in the chair. The toasts were as follows: "Church and Queen," "The Guild, Master, Secretary and Treasurer," "The preacher for the day," "The Rev. G. M. Custance, Founder of the Guild," and "The Chairman."

The Rev. G. M. Custance remarked that it was a happy circumstance that the Guild should hold its Festival at Colwall, just when Mrs. Broadbent and her sons had presented the tower with two new trebles (cast by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, and which the ringers would notice were an excellent splice) and when the parishioners and other friends had put the other six bells in perfect repair. After dinner the ringers repaired to Colwall tower, and those of Coddington, Mathon and Cradley. Tea was kindly provided by the clergy of each parish. There were ringers from Colwall, Ross, Foy, Witherington, Lugwardine, Coddington and Cradley. It was a great disappointment that Mr. Groves, Guild Instructor, could not be present, or Mr. C. Leighton of Mathon either. The Colwall ringers were specially glad to welcome to the festival as a fellow-guildsman, Mr. Thomas Greenell, of Colwall, and the well tried tenor-man of Malvern Abbey tower. Ringing was kept on until nine p.m. It was a very bright and happy day.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT AMALGAMATED SOCIETY.

The June Meeting of this Society was held on Saturday, June 27th, at the church of Chad's, Far Headingley. Over a couple of dozen members attended from Pudsey, Tong, Bramley, Leeds, Holbeck (R.C.), Rothwell, St. Michael's Headingley, Wakefield and Armley, together with the local company. The peal attempt announced in notice was abandoned. The "go" of the bells was found to be indifferent. However, just after 3 p.m. ringing commenced with Bob Major, followed by Kent Treble Bob, Grandsire Triples and some Minor methods. The business meeting was next opened at The New Inn, the President presiding. The minutes of the previous meeting were passed as read. A resolution was next submitted and carried unanimously "That the Society continue to send a representative to the Central Council." The usual votes of thanks for use of bells, and to the local ringers for making arrangements were passed. Handbell ringing commenced with a well-struck touch of Grandsire Triples by Messrs. Thackray, Hargreaves, Mars and Moorhouse, followed with Bob Major, etc. Arrangements for attempts for peals during the next month were completed, and thus ended another most pleasant afternoon's outing to this attractive part of Leeds.

THE HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A District Meeting of this Association was held on Saturday, June 27th, at Aldenham, and the opinion expressed by the company of ringers present was that the gathering was a thoroughly enjoyable one. Previous to tea touches of Stedman Triples, Grandsire Triples and Bob Major were rung on the bells, and upon descending the tower a course of Grandsire Caters was rung double-handed on the handbells, in the churchyard, the effect of which was sweet. "Are you ready" being called, the courses upon the tea table were brought round rather slowly, probably owing to the excellent catering of our brother-string. Host Jones, assisted in no small degree by the beautiful surroundings. The business meeting followed, which was held, owing to atmospheric discomfortures, in the churchyard, among the tombs. Mr. Henry Lewis was voted to the chair, and there were also present: Messrs. E. P. Debenham, Hon. Sec., G. W. Cartmel, assistant Hon. Sec., W. H. L. Buckingham, J. Porter, A. Hallett, J. Earwicker, E. Whish, F. Monk, W. H. Buckingham, S. Barnes (St. Albans), H. G. Rowe (Hertford), J. R. Haworth (London), J. Waghorn (Tottenham), W. Hewitt, W. Bennett (Aldenham), G. Lazzell, F. Edwards, W. G. Whitehead, F. Smith (Bushey), etc., etc.

The Chairman called upon the Secretary to read the minutes, which were confirmed. Mr. Cartmel reported the steps which had been taken with regard to the certificate of membership, and after giving a detailed description of the drawing, Mr. Haworth proposed, and Mr. Buckingham seconded, that the arrangements be left entirely in the hands of the hon. secretaries.

Mr. Rowe proposed that the certificate be charged at the rate of sixpence each, and upon Mr. Hewitt seconding the motion, it was agreed to.

Mr. Cartmel proposed that the next district meeting be held at Berkhamsted, and the motion being seconded by Mr. Walter Buckingham, it was carried.

The Secretary was instructed to make arrangements for holding a meeting at Bishops Stortford in August.

The Rev. Canon Wigram, President of the Association, wrote apologising for absence from the meeting, owing to la grippe, which has necessitated his absence from home.

Mr. Boniface, of Epsom, was elected a ringing member of the Association, and Mr. H. E. Hansell, of St. Albans, an hon. member.

The customary vote of thanks concluded the business, and the bells were again set in motion.

LAVENHAM, SUFFOLK.

The eighty-fifth anniversary of this grand octave was held on Saturday, June 20th. There were ringers present from the following towers: Coggeshall, Haverhill, Hitcham, Kelvedon, Long Melford, Preston and Sudbury. The ringing during the day was well-struck, the first touch being one of 1008 Grandsire Triples, by the local company, followed by 784 Bob Major, with Mr. H. Sewell, of Hitcham, taking part, being his longest touch in the method. Other touches of Kent Treble Bob Major and Double Norwich Court was also rung by visitors from Coggeshall, Kelvedon, and Sudbury.

At one p.m. thirteen sat down to roast beef and pickles at the usual meeting house, The Cock Inn. After the removal of the cloth the handbells were soon going to Treble Bob Major and Grandsire Triples. The only regret was that time was flying too fast for the visitors, who had enjoyed themselves very much, and said they were leaving behind them the grandest ring of eight bells they had yet heard. The last ringing in the evening was a short touch of Bob Major, to oblige Mr. Avis, of Haverhill, and Mr. John Boby, the oldest ringer in the town, who is in his 81st year, and a wish was expressed that he would live to be present at many more Lavenham ringing anniversaries.

THE PEAL "APPENDIX, 1895," PRINTED BY the Central Council Committee, may be obtained post free, with the Report on Calls, on application to the Hon. Secretary, Rev. H. Earle Bulwer, Stanhoe Rectory, King's Lynn, enclosing 7½d. in stamps.

THE BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

A very successful quarterly meeting was held on Saturday, June 27th, at Dunstable, attended by members from Bedford, Biddenham, Elstow, Woburn, Aspley, and Milton Bryant. Dunstable parish church contains a splendid ring of eight bells, recently restored and rehung by Messrs. Taylor's firm, and the tone and go of them is all that can be desired. During the afternoon and evening some well-struck touches were rung in the following methods: Stedman and Grandsire Triples, Oxford Treble Bob Major, and Kent Treble Bob Major and Plain Bob Major. Canon Macaulay very kindly provided tea for the visitors with a plentiful supply of strawberries, which, needless to say being a very warm day were highly appreciated.

Between twenty and thirty sat down to tea, after which the business meeting was held presided over by the Rev. Canon Macaulay, there being two new members elected, one from Woburn, and Mr. Percy Howard, who has lately gone out to the Cape, wished to be proposed as an outside member. The Rev. W. W. C. Baker, Hon. Sec., proposed that the next meeting be held at Husbome Crawley and Aspley, seconded by Mr. Chas. Herbert, Woburn, and carried unanimously. The Rev. W. W. C. Baker also proposed a vote of thanks to the Rev. Canon and Mrs. Macaulay for so kindly providing tea, and also for the use of the bells, which was carried with acclamation. The Rev. Canon said how very pleased he was to welcome the Association to Dunstable, and that the bells would be available to the members at any time by giving a day's notice. This closed a very pleasant meeting. The conducting was divided between Messrs. C. W. Clarke, H. Sharpe, and Cyril Herbert.

THE HEAVY WOOLLEN DISTRICT ASSOCIATION, YORKSHIRE.

The half-yearly meeting of the above was held on Saturday, June 20th, at Mirfield. The meeting for business was held at The Dusty Miller, but was only attended by about a score of members from Dewsbury, Lindley, Brighouse, Batley Carr, Kirkheaton, Almondbury, and Mirfield. The president, Mr. F. Schofield, occupied the chair. Very little business was done with the exception of a few motions to alter the rules of the Society. The greater part of the evening was spent in ringing.

The casting of the great bell in Cincinnati, with its weight of fifteen tons, makes a comparison of other great bells of the world most interesting. It is exceeded in size by eleven others. Six of the largest bells in the world are in Russia. The Czar Kolokol of Moscow, cast in 1734, weighs 220 tons. It was broken in a fire and is now used as the roof of a chapel. The largest in actual use is also in Moscow, and weighs 128 tons. Three others in the same city weigh sixteen tons each. Novgorod has a bell weighing thirty tons. The Buddhist temple at Kioto, Japan, since 1633 has used a bell of 82 tons. For 400 years a 62-ton bell has been used at Pekin. Olmutz and Vienna have each a 17-ton bell. The new Kaiserglocke at Cologne Cathedral weighs 25 tons. The above comprise all that exceed the Cincinnati bell in size, although one at Sens equals it exactly. The sweetest toned bell is said to be that of Erfurt, which weighs 13 tons. Big Ben, the cracked bell of Westminster, weighs 14 tons. All of the larger bells are struck by hammers; that at Cincinnati is swung, and is so delicately poised that two men set it ringing. The sound can be heard for 10 miles.—New-castle Journal.

Correspondence.

While allowing the utmost freedom for the expression of opinion, it must never be considered that we are in any way bound to statements made by correspondents.

TREBLE BOB COMPOSITIONS.

SIR,—Please let me heartily congratulate Mr. Arthur Craven upon the attainment of the peals (5120) with 4th, 5th, and 6th exclusively in 6ths place, as published in your last issue; many had attempted the task, but the honour remained. But I cannot say the same to Mr. G. Lindoff for his 5024, given in the same paper, and am vexed to find a man of his ability using such a means to an end, as I do not consider it fair either to himself or your readers, that a composition should be published in that form. It is many years since compositions in this method were given by bob changes; but when this was fashionable, the whole of them were given, and not a part, to suit the will of the author.

HENRY DAINS.

MINOR AT CALVERLEY, YORKSHIRE.

SIR,—I saw in your issue of June 20th, an account of a 5040 having been rung at Calverley on the 13th of June, and the correspondent wishes to know if a 5040 on six bells had ever been rung previously. I have rung several; the last on the old six in the year 1859, the year previous to the bells being recast and augmented to eight in 1860. The following is a list of 5040s:—College Treble, Tulip, Primrose, Ringers' Delight, College Pleasure, Arnold's Victory, and City Delight. The ringers were R. Page, 1; J. Holgate, 2; J. Dawson, 3; J. Thompson, 4; J. Cordingley, 5; Wm. Gray, 6; four of whom are living. We also rung a peal, in 1886, of London Treble Bob; in 1887, a peal of Rose of England; and in 1888, one of Prince Albert. The above were rung by the Calverley parish church ringers, and conducted by Morcambe (late of Calverley, Yorks.) JOHN CORDINGLEY.

THE MATTHEW LONG MEMORIAL FUND.

SIR,—I sincerely thank all those gentlemen who so kindly helped me to place a suitable Memorial over the grave of our late conductor, Matthew Long, of the Great Yarmouth company.

THE MIDLAND COUNTIES' ASSOCIATION.

A Quarterly Meeting was held at Burton-on-Trent, on Saturday, June 20th, members attending from Derby, Nottingham, Leicester, Duffield, Ashby, Nuneaton, etc. Touches in various methods at the churches of St. Modwen's and St. Paul's occupied the afternoon, and at five o'clock some thirty-five members sat down to a capital meat tea at St. Paul's Institute. It was regrettable that the meeting was so sparsely attended, but the day was an inconvenient one for out of town members, there being no excursions. A later date was however impossible, owing to structural alterations at St. Paul's. In the unavoidable absence of the President, the Rev. E. G. Harker was voted to the chair, and to commence the business of the meeting the Hon. Secretary read the minutes, which were signed, as also was the name of one new life member who was admitted. With regard to the election of delegates to the Central Council Messrs. Pritchett and Jaggar were appointed scrutineers to collect and examine the voting papers, the former on the proposition of Mr. Griffin, seconded by Mr. Hickman, the latter on the motion of Mr. Willson, seconded by Mr. Anthony. Three places were proposed as the rendezvous for the next quarterly meeting, viz.: Derby, on the proposition of Mr. Thornley, seconded by Mr. White; Chesterfield, on the proposition of Mr. Bradley, seconded by Mr. White; Ashby, on the proposition of Mr. Griffin, seconded by Mr. Taylor. Ashby was eventually carried.

The Hon. Secretary stated that ten peals had been rung during the past quarter, viz.: Grandsire Triples at Sheepshed, Grandsire Caters and Double Norwich Court Bob Major at Loughborough, Stedman Caters and Bob Major at Duffield, Forward Royal at Birmingham, Darlaston Bob Triples at Long Eaton and Chepstow, Bob Triples on handbells at Derby, and Bob Minor at Stanford. The Scrutineers then declared that the following four gentlemen had been elected delegates to the Central Council, viz.: Mr. Heywood, Mr. W. Wakley, Mr. J. W. Taylor, jun., and Mr. Griffin.

Mr. W. Willson proposed a vote of thanks to the clergy for the use of the bells, and to the chairman for presiding.

Mr. Griffin seconded, and at the same time thanked the meeting for his re-election as a delegate.

The Rev. E. G. Harker, in responding, said he was always pleased to welcome church workers at Burton, and further said that their presence there shewed that they were determined to do all they could to help forward God's work.

A vote of thanks to the scrutineers for their services was proposed by the Hon. Secretary, and seconded by the Hon. Treasurer, and carried unanimously.

Mr. J. S. Pritchett responded, and this concluded the business of the meeting. Members then adjourned to ring final touches on tower and handbells, and so finished an enjoyable afternoon.

THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

LIVERPOOL BRANCH.—The usual monthly meeting was held at St. Michael's church, Huyton, on Saturday, June 6th. Ringing commenced shortly after four o'clock, and was kept up at intervals until 8.30. At 6.30 the business meeting was held, presided over by Mr. Rimmer.

The Chairman, in his remarks, said he was pleased to meet those present, and hoped that every one connected with the Association would do their utmost to further the interests of it.

The minutes of the previous meeting held at Aughton having been read and passed, it was then proposed that the next meeting be held at Woolton, on Saturday, July 4th. Votes of thanks were passed to Mr. Rimmer for presiding, also for having everything in readiness.

THE LOSS OF "THE DRUMMOND CASTLE."—Mr. Fredk. Eales, a former ringer of Guisborough parish church, Yorkshire, who went out to Johannesburg with other Cleveland miners some years ago, was, with his wife and child, lost in the wreck of this vessel.

Ringers' Outings.

THE CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.—NORTHWICH BRANCH.—On Saturday, June 13th, Messrs. Foster (2), Johnson (2), Chantler, Bell, Sutton, and Parker, all hailing from Wotton, Northwich, and members of this branch, had a pleasant outing. Leaving Northwich at noon, we essayed to break new ground, so journeyed through the pleasant Cheshire lanes by waggonette to the clean and pretty village of Tarporley. Here we only stayed to make arrangements for tea. On our return journey, the curate-in-charge, the Rev. F. Smith, however relieved our minds as to this, he undertaking to do the needful. Arriving at Bunbury a move was at once made to the tower, and soon the grand peal of eight bells were in full swing, touches of Grandsire Triples, Bob Major, and Bob Minor being rung, H. Warwood, a local ringer, very ably covered in the Grandsire Triples. The weather being somewhat hot and sultry, a peal was not attempted. After a stay of about two hours we again embarked and made our way to Tarporley, and did justice to the tea provided by mine host of The Swan inn. After tea a vote of thanks was accorded to the donor of the tea, and then a move was made to the tower, and a touch of Bob Minor was rung, being the second touch rung on these bells. Several other touches followed, and then a move was made to the waggonette. Touches on the handbells filled in the intervals during the afternoon and evening. Before parting, votes of thanks were passed to the respective vicars for the use of the bells.

THE ST. ALBANS CATHEDRAL SOCIETY.—The members of this society had their annual four days' outing on Saturday, Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday, June 20th, 21st, 22nd, and 23rd, Southsea and neighbourhood being selected for the trip. On Sunday Kingston church was visited both morning and evening, the ringers doing duty at the ropes at both services. On Monday a visit was paid to the Isle of Wight, a pleasant hour or two being spent at Shanklin, the beautiful cool air of the Chine being greatly enjoyed on such a hot day. On Tuesday the visitors went over Portsmouth dockyard, the various features of the shipping trade being of great interest. The excursionists arrived home about 11 p.m. on Tuesday evening, much pleased with the outing.

A VISIT TO YORK.—On Thursday, June 18th, in response to Mr. W. H. Howard's invitation in "THE BELL NEWS," Mr. Hollis and Mr. G. Metcalf, of Tadcaster, decided upon having an outing to York. A horse and trap having been secured, a start was made from Tadcaster at 10.30, and including a halt at "The Old Halfway House," the distance was covered, and the city reached in about an hour, the journey being much enjoyed, the weather and country around being charming. Having stabled their steed for the day, they proceeded to the Minster, where the ringers were found waiting. A move was at once made to the ringing-chamber, and touches of Grandsire Cinques, Stedman Cinques, and three leads of Treble Bob Maximus were rung. T. Haigh, 1; A. Fearnley, 2; T. Neill, 3; J. Thompson, 4; F. Earnshaw, 5; R. Thompson, 6; G. Worth, 7; J. T. Hollis, 8; A. Haigh, 9; T. Hodgson, 10; W. Morrell, 11; W. H. Howard and J. Cundall, 12. Tenor 54 cwt. After a stroll in the city, and refreshments partaken of, 5.30 found them in the tower again, when Grandsire Cinques and Treble Bob Maximus were rung, Mr. Hollis trying his hand at the 11th and tenor respectively. Emerging from the south door of the Minster the ringers were met by their old friend Mr. George Breed, of the Lowther hotel, at whose house the remainder of the evening was spent in a very enjoyable manner, the handbells being brought into use, Mr. Metcalf (Tadcaster) ringing 7-8 in Grandsire Triples. At 11 o'clock the homeward journey was commenced, and Tadcaster reached about midnight, after having enjoyed a most pleasant outing, thanks to Mr. Howard and the York Minster ringers for the opportunity thus afforded them. By-the-by it should be mentioned that no little speculation was going on at one time as to who two certain gentlemen were who seemed to be taking stock of everything, the ringers especially. It was generally believed that one or the other was "Plain Speaker" who had turned up, but Mr. Hollis at once recognised that one was his old friend Mr. Harry Williams, of Farnley Hall, and the other turned out to be Mr. C. D. Smith, of Northallerton, whom all were pleased to meet with. J. H.

CURRENT TOPICS.

Very interesting particulars in last Saturday's paper anent the meeting of the Yorkshire Association at Bolsterstone. What a queer name for a place—"Bolsterstone." A stone for a bolster would not mean the most pleasant thing in life, and yet I expect something of this sort has happened, in the dark ages, to give such a name to the village. I was rather astonished that "our own correspondent" did not give us a dissertation upon the origin of the word "Bolster-stone!" Really it has a rather comic look about it. But there are a lot of uncommon names in Yorkshire; uncommon places, uncommon people, and it is a well-known fact that the ringers are decidedly out of the common. This very report of the Yorkshire meeting appeared to vary a little from former reports. "Our own" seemed to be in what is called "a comic vein," his communication was light and racy, there was a pleasant airy flavour about it which provoked the reader to—not laughter exactly, but kept him in good humour with himself as he read. That's the secret of writing for the press—keep your readers in good humour and they will look for you every week with pleasure. "Floreat Bolsterstoniensis!"

What a nice pastoral affair was the meeting of the East Derbyshire Association. The weather being very hot, it took place in the open air, under a beautiful sycamore tree. I don't at all doubt the statement that a meeting in such a spot was more pleasant than one in a warm schoolroom. We know the pleasures of sylvan beauty, and to throw ourselves on a generous greensward, sheltered from Sol's rays by the branches and umbrageous foliage of a noble tree, is very gratifying indeed. Especially when we are able in such a situation to burn that plant known as "the fragrant weed," or to partake of the contents of the loving cup as it is handed around. But there is sometimes a drawback even to these arcadian delights. A caterpillar or some other nondescript denizen of the insect world is apt at an interesting moment to commence a voyage of discovery, and precipitate himself from above into the beaker of grateful liquor just as one is about to quaff. The best of grassy knolls, too, have inhabitants of a base and virulent kind, whose vagaries add not to the enjoyment of the hour. I am not a naturalist.

Two more of our brethren gone to their rest. I verily detest seeing that line "Obituary" in the paper. It must be there, of course, but it always gives me a pang. Who among us has not lost a veritable brother among ringers? One with whom perhaps we lived on terms of mutual attachment, if I may so express myself. The wrench is very hard sometimes, we know, but I think there are no other circumstances which are so powerful in leading us to reflect that our time too must come, and that it is incumbent upon us to make every effort to shear our last enemy of every vestige of triumph.

The "outings" still continue. The Pevensey society went to Rye, where, says the writer of the account, they had lunch, the biggest viand thereat being "the inevitable cucumber as big as a sallie." I feel convinced this succulent remained uneaten, as it was rather too much even for Pevensey ringers. The ancestor of this inevitable cucumber came over with the Conqueror, and led to that impaired digestion from which it is well-known the monarch suffered. It was a fit of dyspepsia which caused him to ride his war-horse so negligently, and to receive injuries which ended his life, poor man. Beware then, my brethren, of "the inevitable cucumber." You certainly have advantages which were denied to the Norman king, viz.: the whole College of Surgeons to consult, and a host of specifics, remedial or otherwise, which did not flourish in his day, or if they did, were not advertised in the daily papers to any great extent. I thought of suggesting that an "inevitable cucumber" contest should succeed the present handbell arrangement, but the great Norman's fate led me to think of the awful responsibility which would lay at my front door were I to propose such a thing.

The members of this society, so the account goes, sat, or stood, for their photographs. The terrible dread which the writer seemed to labour under, on account of the feared incapacity of the photographer's camera to sustain such a heavy freight of graceful and symmetrical visages, will I hope not be realised. When the pictures (sic) have arrived, should I be favored with a spare copy, I will use my utmost influence among my friends who are members of the hanging committee.

This company had also a pleasant little ceremony. They "Surprised" their captain by making him a present of a pipe and pouch, and hoped he would enjoy many "whiffs" from the pipe. The pouch was of course filled with the necessary article for the said whiffs. Should any one ever think of bestowing a similar compliment upon me, I would beg them to remember that my particular vanity in the shape of "the weed" is Wills' Old Virginia. Please have it packed in tinfoil to prevent depreciation.

Here I intended to cease for this week, but some information which I gleaned while at the office lures me on. First I have seen a picture, executed, I believe, by a clergyman, which is to appear shortly in this paper. I must not be guilty of a breach of confidence in saying any more about this. Next week I may again refer to it. Then I have also seen the report of a touch from Mr. Morris, of Bangor, and the last line of that gentleman's communication is the most original phrase I have recently met with. I believe it took the Editor's breath away—temporarily, of course—when he first read it. This touch I am assured will appear next week, and so any further reference to it can keep until then. It is only the last line of it which I am referring to; and when you read it in the next number—you who are thinking men—will be sure to utter a cry of satisfaction and relief.

PLAIN SPEAKER.

RINGERS' WEDDING AT TAMWORTH.

On Monday, June 22nd, Mr. J. W. Timms, only son of the late Mr. J. W. Timms, of Kettlebrook, to Miss C. J. Everitt, second daughter of Mr. W. Everitt, of Kettlebrook. The ringers met and rang a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples. J. Windridge, 1; A. Young, 2; W. Chapman, 3; C. Chapman, 4; J. George, 5; W. Lago, 6; J. Pratt (conductor), 7; J. H. Chapman, 8. After which the whole of the company adjourned to the house of the bride, where they were entertained to a substantial repast, when the handbells were brought into play and a pleasant evening ended at a very late hour. On Saturday evening, June 27th, when the happy pair returned from their honeymoon, another quarter-peal was rung.

The Bell News & Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, JULY 4, 1896.

THE neat village of Colwall lies just within the county of Hereford, and nestles under the shadow of the famed Malvern Hills. The Rector is the Rev. GEORGE MUSGRAVE CUSTANCE, M.A., a true lover of Church bells, and a ringer himself to boot. The rev. gentleman has undoubted claims on posterity in being the founder of the Hereford Diocesan Guild. Not merely its founder, it may with truth be affirmed. Through many years of trial he nobly sustained the cause he had at heart, viz.: the establishment upon a firm foundation of a Ringers' organization for the diocese in which he and his family have for so many years been known and honoured. Those who have attempted the same thing in a purely agricultural district will know what difficulties there are to be surmounted; but it may with safety be said that before he handed over the duties of Secretary of the Guild to other hands, these difficulties had been removed.

On the 17th of last month the Hereford Guild held a festival at Colwall. As the Rector himself remarked, it was a happy circumstance that the gathering was held on that occasion, when some pious parishioners had augmented the ring to eight bells and put the old six bells in perfect repair. The occasion was a most gratifying one, and we heartily congratulate the Rector upon it. This augmentation, combined with the harmonious festival, is a fit requital for the services Mr. CUSTANCE has rendered to the Art. We are sure every individual member of the Hereford Guild will join us in sincerely hoping that the worthy Rector of Colwall will continue his efforts in the cause, and that he may live to take part in many Guild festivals, not only in Colwall, but throughout the Diocese, and in which he may feel as much pleasure as he did at the one just held in his own parish.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

On Saturday, June 20th, seven members of the above paid a visit to Houghton-le-Spring, with a view to forward the objects of the Association, with regard to change-ringing. The energetic secretary (Mr. Hudson), arrived first from Sunderland, and was joined by R. S. Story (Newcastle), Harrison (Jarrow), Keen (North Shields), Mears and Anderson, who had walked over from Chester-le-Street, and Liddle who came on his bicycle from Newcastle.

The rector (Rev. A. M. Norman), received Messrs. Story and Hudson very kindly, and invited the visitors and the three local ringers, who had by this time joined the party, to tea, after which he accompanied them to the belfry.

The ringers here are not members of the Association so far, but from the good account given of them by the rector, their attention to the excellent belfry rules, which hang in the loft, and the orderly condition of the ringing-chamber, there is evidently no need for reform as far as these items are concerned. A great part of the secret of this state of things lies in the fact that the rector or his curate visits the belfry each Sunday morning, and opens the day's duties with prayer. It is to be wished that more clergy in the two dioceses would take such a kindly and proper interest in their ringers, when there is no doubt a similar harmony and order would result.

The only room for improvement is with regard to the style of ringing, call-changes being the rule, but it is hoped that with the assistance of one or two members of the Association, change-ringing may be introduced. The bells, which are a peal of six, tenor about 12 cwt., require a little overhauling by a competent bell-hanger. A 720 Kent Treble Minor was rung by J. Anderson, 1; H. Lindsay, 2; R. S. Story, 3; T. Hudson, 4; A. Mears, 5; F. Harrison (conductor), 6. After this an adjournment was made to the rectory, where an excellent tea was partaken of, and the rector conducted the party over his large and charming garden. No one but an expert botanist could do justice to this wonderful garden, which would appear to contain every kind of flower that can bloom in England, and in every variation. Here a delightful half-hour was spent; the rector pointing out innumerable curiosities, one in particular being a thornless thorn, planted by Bernard Gilpin, whose tomb he had also shown, amongst interesting details in the church. After a course of Grandsire Triples on the handbells on the lawn, 360 Bob Minor was rung for Divine Service. H. Lindsay, 1; J. Anderson, 2; T. Hudson, 3; — Liddle, 4; A. Mears, 5; F. Harrison (conductor), 6. Some of the ringers attended service, after which 720 Oxford Treble Bob Minor was rung. J. Anderson, 1; H. Lindsay, 2; T. Hudson, 3; R. S. Story, 4; A. Mears, 5; F. Harrison (conductor), 6. And 120 Bob Doubles, with a local ringer, Mr. J. Spears, on the treble, and Mr. Liddle on the tenor. And 120 Stedman Doubles, with Mr. Liddle ringing the 4th, completed the ringing, which had been of a very good quality.

The visiting ringers tender their very heartiest thanks to the rector for his kindness and hospitality, and to the local ringers for the way in which they received them. They hope to repay them by assisting them to overcome the difficulties which must be met with in taking up change-ringing.

The Essex Association.—There will be a district meeting of the association on Bank Holiday, August 3rd. A brake will leave Clacton station at 12.30 p.m., for St. Osyth. Sir J. Johnson has most kindly allowed the members to view the priory grounds, free of charge. The tower (6 bells), will be at the disposal of the association. We shall next visit Thorington (5 bells), and arrive at Great Bentley in time for a ring; where the tea and business meeting will be held. Members will be able to return home from Great Bentley station. Further particulars about cheap tickets will be announced later on. A charge of 1s. will be levied upon each member towards the expense of the brake. Notice must be given to me, not later than Thursday, July 30th, of members intending to be present. The towers of Great Bromley, Little Bentley, and Thorpe-le-Soken will also be at the disposal of members.

HENRY T. W. EYRE, Assistant Sec.
Great Totham Vicarage, Witham.

Notice.—The Secretary of the St. Michael's Juniors and the local secretary for the Gloucester District of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, is Mr. John Austin, Bentham villa, Conduit street, Gloucester.

NOTE TO THE PEAL AT COLWALL, HEREFORDSHIRE.—The six bells in this tower have lately been rehung, and two small ones added to complete the octave, by Mears and Stainbank. The work has been done through the instrumentality of the Rector, the Rev. G. M. Custance, who is himself a change-ringer, and who determined to have the first peal rung as soon as possible. The rector set himself the task of finding the band, and Saturday, June 27th, was fixed upon for the first, and we are pleased to say successful attempt. The rector heard the first quarter-peal, when he had to leave by train, only to be followed by a telegram, to say the peal was rung. Mr. Wall hails from Ross, Williams from Eastnor, Layton from Mathon, Knowles from Hanley Castle, J. E. Groves from Wolverhampton, the rest belong to the local band. The bells are now a handy little ring of eight, and form another addition to the very few ringable peals of that number in Herefordshire.

Compositions.

All compositions sent for insertion must be accompanied by a fee of Sixpence. If proof of a touch or peal be desired One Shilling additional must accompany such request.

THE CHURCH BELLS OF BUCK-
INGHAMSHIRE. By ALFRED HENEGGE COCKS,
M.A., Ch. Ch., Oxford; F.Z.S., F.R.G.S., Great Marlow,
Bucks. With many Illustrations.

MESSRS. JARROLD & SONS have pleasure in announcing the
early publication by subscription of this most interesting and important work. It will contain an account of all the Church Bell
in Buckinghamshire, with everything relating to their history that can be discovered. Full accounts of all the Founders whose bells
hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County
including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. The work was undertaken at the instigation of the late J. C. L. Stahl Schmidt Esq., author of "Surrey Bells and London Bell-founders." "The Church Bells of Kent," "Herts," etc., and the fact that the author
had the benefit of the kind assistance and advice of this well-known
campanologist may be mentioned as some guarantee of the scope and nature of the present work. Mr. Stahl Schmidt wrote the author,
that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting county," and he repeated this opinion in a subsequent letter. The
"Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 600 pages to be handsomely illustrated with 24 full-page plates of mediaeval letter-
ings, founders' marks, etc., found on Bells still existing in the County
and numerous figures—some of them being peculiar to Bucks—will be inserted in the text. The 8vo. Edition is limited to 350 copies, and will be offered to subscribers before the day of publication at 2s. net. The Larger Edition, Royal 4to, is limited to 80 copies, and will be subscribed at 4s. The prices will be raised on the day
of issue should any copies remain unsold.

GREAT RINGING-DAY AT SAFFRON WALDEN.

THE 273rd ANNIVERSARY.

The annual festival in connection with the Saffron Walden St. Mary's company took place on Saturday, June 27th, and proved among the most successful gatherings for some years past. Great interest has been manifested in bell-ringing in this town, and many new names have been added to the list of ringers, not the least satisfactory event in connection therewith being the fact that Mr. Edward Taylor has taken the responsible position of Master of the Society.

Some of the visitors arrived in the town on Friday night, and others by early trains on Saturday, from London and other places.

The customary service took place at the parish church at 12.30. The Rev. Raymond P. Pelly, vicar of the parish, read the prayers of the daily morning service. The special Psalms were the 148th and 150th, the lesson being from Corinthians i. xiv.

The Rev. Maitland Kelly, vicar of Ottery St. Mary, Devon, preached from the words, "Let everything that hath breath praise the Lord; praise ye the Lord." Psalm cl., 6.

In the course of his sermon he said they had met that morning for the express purpose of asking the blessing of God upon a particular part of their Church work—to ask His blessing and the acceptance of the work of their Ringing Society during the past year; also to ask Him to bless their efforts during the coming twelve months. Surely that was a really definite part of Church work; a fact, he thought, that was becoming more and more recognised by the majority of the people. Surely it was essentially a work for God, for ringing was definitely praise; a praising of Him "on the loud, well-tuned cymbals." It was precisely the same as the singing by the choir in the church; they praised God with their lips, both choir and worshippers; but it was proved that in their ringing they praised God accordingly as it was written in the Psalms. Ringing was indeed praise, and those who took part should ever remember that they praised wherever and whatever they rang. The thought that they were making an offering to God was one that would help them in the continuation of that work. They praised upon the cymbals on the festivals of their Church—on the festival of their Lord's resurrection, and on the Lord's Day. And that day they must remember that if they were to make an offering, they could not do it without making some sacrifice. No offering was acceptable to God without self-sacrifice. Let them think of that, and say that they would praise God with the loud cymbals, and that would entail self-sacrifice. In one way their sacrifice would be even greater than that of the choir, inasmuch as they all knew that in ringing they were solely dependent upon each other, and that was how it was that the absence of one man was sufficient to spoil their ringing on Sunday. A man might be tempted to stop away because it was not convenient for him to go, or he had something else he wanted to do. That man should say to himself, "I have undertaken this ministry for God and I must sacrifice myself; I know that if I stop away the ringing will be spoiled. I will make an effort to go, even at great sacrifice to myself." That was the principle of their lives; to take trouble and pains in connection with their work, and that would entail patience and forbearance. It was for those with great skill to help others on, so that the best sacrifice might be offered to God. They must bring their best thoughts to bear in their change-ringing. They should also have another thought, viz., that it was the best that could be done; they had used their skill to the best of their ability. With those beautiful bells they tried to make a distinct offering to God. They knew it was the custom in many belfries for a short office of prayer to be said before the bells were rung, so that it might be that the bells were definitely consecrated to Him, and the more that custom prevailed, the better. One word more, not only should the ringers be reminded that ringing was praise, but those under whose care choirs and ringing the bells were placed. He thought the clergy and churchwardens were sometimes apt to forget that. They had a beautiful church, and their belfry was as well cared for as the part of the church they were then in. It was a part of his duty to go from parish to parish and inspect different churches. He not only went into the church, but into the belfry and ringing-chamber, and he regretted the fact that he frequently found that although the church was in beautiful order, the belfry and ringing-chamber were neglected. He thought a great change was coming over them. Without doubt the bells were consecrated to God for His use and His praise, and which also required the thought and consideration that was bestowed upon the other parts of the building. That was the thought he wanted to leave with them—to praise God in all they did in their work, and the ministry they had undertaken. A ringer was a minister in his soul. They must praise God not only in the belfry as ringers, but in their general life, and they would then uphold their office; people would recognise them in the position they held; and they would be carrying out the spirit of their office in praising God loudly upon the cymbals.

The service closed with the singing of the hymn:—

"When morning gilds the skies."

The annual dinner took place at the ringers' quarters, The King's Arms, at two o'clock, when a bountiful and well-served repast was placed upon the tables by Mr. and Mrs. Perry. The Master of the St. Mary's company (Mr. Edward Taylor), presided, and was supported by the Mayor (Mr. J. Gilling), the Revs. Maitland Kelly and W. E. Drinkwater, and Mr. H. Stear (churchwarden). Mr. N. J. Pitstow occupied the vice-chair.

At the conclusion of the meal, the chairman said the toast list would be short, as they were not there to make long speeches, but to ring. He had pleasure in proposing the health of "The Queen." If all went well next year, they would be looking forward to such a demonstration throughout the country that had never been equalled, and he would safely say that the bellringers of Saffron Walden would not be in the background.

The Chairman next proposed the health of the Mayor. Saffron Walden was a small town, but it was a borough, and an ancient one. He should have considered himself a poor specimen of an Englishman if he had not asked them there that day. There were two or three things of which they were justly proud. They were somewhat jealous of their good institutions, and when they looked back to that old Charter long years ago in the early time, they ought to be careful how they supported them; one of which was a company of change-ringers, and which existed 273 years, he believed without a break. The Mayor was a most consistent supporter of bell-ringing, and he came there that afternoon because he wished to support those ancient institutions.

The Mayor, in responding, said he was much obliged to Mr. Taylor for proposing his health, and to the company for the kind manner in which they had responded to the toast. As their chairman had said, he was a supporter of their grand old institutions, and so long as he had the honour of being Mayor of that town, he should try to uphold those institutions. It seemed to him a marvel that an institution should have been kept up so long, and, as they were told, without a break. He thought bell-ringing was an institution all must uphold; indeed, he considered that bell-ringing came next to the church. It was always a pleasure to him to listen to their peal of bells, which was a good one. He heartily thanked them for their good wishes toward him.

The Chairman said he had a message of regret from the vicar, who was unable to be present on account of a funeral. He desired him (the chairman) to convey his hearty good wishes to the meeting. He was pleased to see one of their churchwardens present, and Mr. Leverett, their other churchwarden, was unable to be with them. In the vicar and churchwardens they had found hearty support. In proposing the health of "The Visitors" he would like to express their thanks to their brother-ringers who had come from South Devon and other long distances, to take part in their festival that day. Referring to the Rev. Maitland Kelly, that gentleman (he said) had rung with them in the belfry that morning early, and also on the previous night. He thought all who heard his sermon that morning must have benefited by it. He did not think he should ever go up in the belfry again without thinking of his words. He hoped on many other occasions they would welcome him, and see him in the tower.

The Rev. Maitland Kelly, in replying, said it was a pleasure to him to have the opportunity to say a few words. He could not feel too grateful for the hearty reception that had been given him. He had no idea that he was coming to such a festival as that in which he had shared that day, and his pleasure had been greatly increased by the visit to their beautiful town, with its splendid church and belfry. When one went into such a belfry as that, he could not fail to see that ringers and belfry were well patronised. He hoped they would go on in the same good way as they had in past years. They had one of the most accomplished band of ringers in England, as it should rightly be in such a belfry and such a church. He hoped that if ever the Walden ringers were in Devon, they would be able to give them as hearty a welcome as had been accorded the visitors that day.

The Chairman also, in eulogistic terms, submitted the toast of "The Vicar and Churchwardens."

Mr. Stear said he thanked them most cordially for the toast. It was a pleasure to them (the churchwardens) to know that they all worked so well together, and he saw no reason why it should not continue so. They were proud of their church and their bells; as they were also of their museum and reading-room. He was pleased to see so many ringers present from all parts, who had honoured them with their ringing.

The Vice-Chairman said he thought there was one toast they must honour, and that was the health of their worthy Master, Mr. Edward Taylor. He hoped they should see him filling that capacity for many years.

The chairman in acknowledging the compliment, said that when he first put his hand to the rope in 1859, he did not think he should stand there that day at the head of that table. After so long a lapse of time he was again brought in contact with bell-ringing, and he must say that it had added a new pleasure to his life. It was a fine exercise. He fully endorsed all that had been said, and the hope expressed that he would be Master for many years. Anything that he could do in the interest of bell-ringing, either in that town or anywhere else, they could look to him to do, and to the best of his ability. There were many who did not look upon bell-ringing as an un-mixed blessing, but he could say that since he had had anything to do with it, he had done all in his power, and he had been supported by the ringers. They did not wish to annoy their fellow-townsmen with their ringing, and did not do so willingly. If, in case of sickness, or any other good reason, they were asked not to ring, they would do their best to meet the case.

This concluded the dinner proceedings. During the afternoon a band of ringers journeyed to Radwinter, and by kind permission of the Rev. J. W. F. Bullock, rang upon the bells of the parish church.

Several touches were rung upon the Walden bells at frequent intervals during the day in the following methods: Grandsire Triples, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob Major, Double Norwich Court Bob Major, Superlative Surprise, and Stedman Triples. In the evening a large company again met at the King's Arms, and an exhibition of handbell ringing was given. The day throughout proved a most successful and enjoyable one. About twenty of the visitors stayed over Sunday, and took part in the ringing for service during the day.

THE ANCIENT SOCIETY OF COLLEGE YOUTHS.

A most enjoyable day was spent on Saturday, the 4th inst., by the following members of this Society at the kind invitation of Miss Macalpine-Leny:—Messrs. Pettit, Cooter, Wood, Haworth, Horrex, Burkin, Winney, Newton, Garrard, Springall, Prime, Hughes, O'Meara, and Cockerill. The party left Cannon Street by the 7.40 a.m. train in reserved compartments, and reached Tunbridge Wells about 9.30, where we were met by Miss Macalpine-Leny, Mr. McKinnon, the Rev. F. J. O. Helmore, and Master Lachlan McKinnon. After a walk through the old promenade, "The Pantiles," which carries one back to the time when the Merry Monarch and his Court visited the spa in its earliest days, the party was driven in a well-equipped brake by that fearless "Jehu" Mr. Walter Clark, to Groombridge Place. Through the generous hospitality of Mrs. Streatfield and the Misses Saint, the old house was thoroughly inspected and its ancient features greatly admired. Beautiful oak panelling covers the interior walls, and the fire grates date back to the early part of the 16th century. The garden is a great curiosity, being kept in much the same style as would have been seen in 1596. The moat also remains. Perhaps the most interesting piece of history connected with this old edifice is that the Duke of Orleans was kept a prisoner here for twenty-five years by Sir Richard Waller, his captor at Agincourt, 1415.

After an excellent breakfast in the grand old dining room, a touch of Stedman Triples, and a course each of Bob Major, Stedman Caters, and Grandsire Cinques were rung on the handbells, in the presence of the ladies of the house and their servants.

Mr. Burkin, the Master, thanked Mrs. Streatfield and her sisters for the reception they had given us, and we then drove on to Ashurst Park, the residence of G. H. Field, Esq. A walk through the beautiful grounds and garden was another addition to the day's enjoyment, and will not be easily forgotten. Our next halt was at Penshurst, the home of the noble Sidney's, now owned by Lord de L'Isle. Luncheon under the trees in the park was the first item, and permission having been obtained to see the place, we passed through the old gateway tower, dated 1585, and found ourselves in the old banqueting hall, where are preserved the oaken tables at which have sat such men as Sir Philip and Algernon Sidney, Ben Johnson, and Waller; such women as Saccharissa and the Countess of Pembroke. The gallery, Queen Elizabeth's room, and the tapestry room all contain pictures and curios of priceless worth, a full description of which would require volumes.

Leaving this lovely spot we continued our drive, and arrived at Bentham Hill. We were here most hospitably entertained to tea on the lawn by Mrs. Robert Pott and her daughter, who very kindly conducted us through the conservatory and gardens, the latter, a perfect mass of roses. Touches on the handbells were rung on the lawn, and after returning our hearty thanks to Mrs. and Miss Pott, we started for Speldhurst. A short but beautiful drive brought us to Southborough, where a cricket match on the Green was in progress, and a little later, to Speldhurst. Being assured that the bull was in safe bounds, we walked through the glebe and entered the rectory garden at 7.15. After such a long day, a good wash was most refreshing, and this put us into right trim, to do justice to the ample dinner provided in the rectory dining-room, where we were joined by the rector and Mr. Still, the veteran local ringer. A course of Treble Bob Major and two touches of Stedman Triples were rung on the tower bells, some of the local ringers, who had kindly got everything ready, taking part.

Remounting the break with our full complement at 9.15 p.m. we parted with the local ringers amidst cheers that made the welkin ring, and reached Tunbridge Wells in time to catch the 9.55 train. After thanking our kind benefactress and Mrs. McKinnon for the excellent outing which they had given us, and saying good-bye, we were whisked up to London Bridge and Cannon Street in true South Eastern style. #### THE NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

SAXMUNDHAM DISTRICT.—The twenty-fifth quarterly district meeting was held on Saturday, July 4th. The meeting was announced to be held at Aldeburgh, but in consequence of a case of illness near the church, the permission granted for the use of the bells was necessarily withdrawn, and the meeting was held at Leiston, the suddenness of the alteration being doubtless answerable for the somewhat limited attendance at the meeting. After a few short touches on Leiston church bells, the business meeting was held, presided over by Mr. John Button, who called upon the Secretary, Mr. H. J. Button, to read the minutes of the last meeting, which were confirmed and signed by the chairman. The secretary read a letter from the Rev. H. Thompson, vicar of Aldeburgh, expressing his great regret at his being compelled to ask that the meeting should be held elsewhere on this occasion, and the circumstance causing it. The rev. gentleman would gladly welcome the members at their next meeting, and which he hoped would be held at Aldeburgh. The Rev. R. H. L. James expressed himself in sympathy with Mr. Thompson in his position. It was unanimously decided to hold the next meeting at Aldeburgh on Saturday, September 5th. One peal had been rung since the last meeting, viz., a 5024 of Bob Major at Leiston. A cordial vote of thanks was passed to the rector of Leiston—the Rev. B. W. Raven—for the use of the bells, and to the secretary for his services, which closed the business of the meeting.

PRITTLEWELL CHURCH BELLS.—DEDICATION SERVICES.

On Tuesday, June 30th, two new bells were dedicated at St. Mary's church, Prittlewell, Essex. They have recently been placed in the tower to complete the octave, and were supplied by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. The Guild of St. Mary provided the smaller bell, which was dedicated to St. Mary, the larger one being dedicated to St. John. The bells cost about £90, and the restoration of the tower, which has been recently carried out, has involved an expenditure of about £100, of which £25 has yet to be found. A short service was conducted in the church by the Vicar (the Rev. T. O. Reay), who read the proper prayers for the occasion, and then rang each of the new bells. After the service, tea was served in the Vicarage garden, and later in the evening a large congregation assembled in the church for service. The sermon was preached by the Ven. Archdeacon of St. Albans, who took for his text the words, "Lift up your hands in the sanctuary, and bless the Lord." It was a common thing, he said, for oriental worshippers to lift their arms; and it seemed to him that the words were not inappropriate on an occasion like this, when they were dedicating bells to the honour and glory of God, and when they recollected the necessary action of every bell-ringer when he pulled the bells. He lifted up his hands in the sanctuary! The ringing of bells was an act of worship. They would have noticed how little mention there was in the Bible of bells, and in no case was there any mention of bells such as they were accustomed to hear. Bells were first used in France about the year 550, but they could not find any reliable account of the use of bells in England until about 680. In their Cathedral, from which he had just come, there was a pretty story of a man who sold some sheep in order to purchase bells for the Abbey, and two bells were bought. The man used to go up the hill opposite the Abbey and say, "Hark! how sweetly my lambs do bleat!" They would remember how varied had been the use of bells; sometimes, how sinister! They called the people together for the horrible massacre of 1282 and for that of the Huguenots in 1571. Happily, however, bells were used, not on cruel occasions only, but upon various occasions of interest, as upon a victory. There was also a great sanctity always attached to bells; and yet the bellfries were too often the refuge of the idle and dissolute of the parish. It was the present century which restored bells to their proper usage. Only good church worshippers should ring bells. That evening, as they came to church, they heard eight bells beautifully rung. They could not have been rung with six men, but the whole number had to be there to ensure time and order. The ringers must give their whole heart to the work, must give way to one another, and must be in time. A member of the choir might be away without being greatly missed, but the bells could not be rung unless the whole of the ringers were there. He reminded them that the offertory would be devoted to the fund for restoring their most beautiful church tower.

THE BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

Eight members of the above hailing from Minehead, rang 720 of Bob Minor (being the first in the method on the bells), and 120 Stedman Doubles on the bells of St. Decuman's church, Watchet, on the occasion of the addition of a new treble to the old ring of five. The new bell, cast by Messrs. Taylor, of Loughborough, is in splendid tune with the rest, and makes a very nice ring of six, tenor 18½ cwt. The ringers were as follows: Rev. J. U. Todd, 1; G. Atkins, 2; J. Lydden, 3; J. Pugsley, 4; Rev. H. C. Courtney, 5; H. Moore (conductor), 6. The Stedman was conducted by the Rev. J. U. Todd.

Ringers' Outings.

THE HEADCORN SOCIETY (Kent).—On Wednesday, May 20th, the members of the above held their fourth annual outing, Wye and Ashford being the places selected this year; the South Eastern Railway Company having granted them cheap tickets at a fare-and-a-quarter. Starting from Headcorn by the 12.26 train, they were soon on the way to Ashford, eleven miles distant, and inspecting the fine old church of St. Mary. Then catching the 2.20 train, a four miles journey this time, and Wye, their destination, was reached, and permission having been previously obtained, they found their way to the fine old church of SS. Gregory and Martin, and were agreeably surprised to find one of the captain's old friend's at the church, Mr. Thomas Post, of long peal fame, he ringing the tenor through 13440 Bob Major, at Hythe, fifty years' ago, but one arm being a bit queer, he could not manage to have a pull with them, so they soon set to work and raised the back six in peal, and then rung some good rounds and a few call-changes on this, one of the most musical rings of eight in the county, tenor 51 inches diameter, and weighing 24 cwt. in E flat, and have just been rehung by J. Warner and Sons, who have recast the 2nd and 3rd, making a capital job altogether. Time now arriving for them to leave, they lowered the back six in peal, Mr. Pemble of The Swan inn, a Wye ringer, taking the tenor. They were then off back to Ashford, and the back six were soon raised in peal, and a few short touches on the eight, and a pull with some of their Ashford friends, which included a 6-score of Bob Doubles, by four Ashford and four Headcorn men, with 7-6-8 covering; tenor 51 ins. in diameter, weight 24 cwt. in E flat. The bells were then lowered in peal, the train was again taken at 8.20, reaching Headcorn at 8.40, all being well pleased with the outing. The following were the company:—P. Hodgkin (captain), G. Foord (secretary), W. Foord, W. Page, A. Kedwell, S. Batt, A. Turk, R. Morgan, E. Blackman, and G. Lindridge, and J. Tipper of the old company.

THE BIRMINGHAM AMALGAMATED SOCIETY.—The members of this society held their annual outing at Leamington on Saturday, June 27th. There being two routes to choose from, some preferred to travel by London and North-Western Railway, and some by Great Western Railway, and after an hour's pleasant ride, the clean and handsome town was reached. After an interval of sight-seeing, a short ride on the tram brought the party to Emscote, about mid-way between Leamington and Warwick. Refreshments were there indulged in, and a move made towards the tower with its eight musical bells. The sounds of Grandsire Triples were soon floating over the meadows, where were located some of the ringers taking off the course-ends. After some touches of Stedman Triples and Forward Major, the party adjourned to The Portobello hotel, alongside the river Avon, and a good spread was soon dispatched. Boating, sight-seeing, and a liberal use of the handbells filled the time up pleasantly until the hour of departure from Birmingham, which was safely reached after a most agreeable afternoon. The ringers wish to tender their best thanks to the vicar and churchwardens for their kind permission to use the bells; and Mr. J. Penfold, tower-keeper, for having everything in such first-rate order.

A COMPLETE SET OF 49 HANDBELLS FOR
Sale.—Four Octaves, chromatic scale, best quality, quite as good as new. The tenor, G weighs 4 lbs. 7 ozs. And a special box made for them.—Apply to E. Wyatt Esq., 47, Greycoat Gardens, London, S.W.

THE BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

The annual tea and meeting were held as usual on Easter Monday at the Allhallows schoolroom, Bedford. The Mayor (Mr. F. A. Blaydes) presided, and was supported by Mr. E. G. Elger (vice-chairman), the Revs. Lambert Woodard (Vicar of St. Paul's); Ven. Archdeacon Michell, Canon Haddock, W. W. C. Baker (Hon. Sec.), S. W. Goldsmith, W. Hart Smith (rural dean), and A. C. Downer, Messrs. E. Ransom, I. Hills, T. Bull, and Herbert (Woburn). Previous to this a service was held in St. Paul's church, when the Ven. Archdeacon Michell preached from 2nd Thessalonians iii. 6—"Mark them which walk disorderly." The Rev. S. W. Goldsmith monotoned the service, while Mr. Long, organist of All Saints, Queen's Park, presided at the organ. The hymns sung were 131, 134, and 273. During the day ringing was done at St. Paul's, St. Mary's, and St. Peter's. After due justice had been done to the meat tea, which was provided by Mr. Alfred Mann,

The Mayor said it gave him very great pleasure to welcome them to Bedford, and he congratulated them on having had such a pleasant day. He should not anticipate the report, for their energetic Secretary would read that shortly, but would say that on each occasion when they had visited Bedford—since 1881—they had treated them to some good bellringing, and he hoped the next time they came they would have a peal of bells more worthy of their skill than they had had in the past. Some progress had recently been made by that Society in raising interest in the restoration and repair of church bells, and the bells at Kempston and Dunstable both had been restored since the last annual meeting. He had read the account of the work at Dunstable, and must say that it was a very great credit to the Society that they should ring straight off a peal of 5040 changes, practically on an untried peal and without a pause. He thought that showed the Society was doing a good work. At the present time they were trying to put the bells of St. Paul's in order, and he hoped they would succeed in doing so. They all knew how hard it was to gather in the money, but everything had to be done with an effort. Their churchwarden, Mr. T. Bull, was very quickly gathering in the necessary funds to enable them to place the bells in proper repair, and he hoped before another week or so they would be able to report that they had sufficient money to enable them to sign a contract. Briefly speaking, the scheme which they contemplated with regard to the bells was to re-cast the tenor, which as they knew was one of the poorest bells of the peal, add two new bells, and put the others in tune. It would no doubt necessitate a change in key, but when the work was completed he thought they would have a peal of bells worthy of Bedford and worthy of the best of their skill, and to the best of his belief it would be the only ten-bell peal in Bedfordshire. He was sorry to say they had lost two vice-presidents, who had taken warm interest in the proceedings of the Society; one, the Rev. Canon Brereton, had gone to another world, while the other, the Vicar of Elstow, the Rev. J. Copner, had gone to reside in another county. The work they were doing must no doubt help them in their life, for there was nothing like method to enable a man to go through life successfully. Some people said they did not like church bells, but he hoped there were not many of them, and for his part he wished he could handle them properly. He could not imagine anyone not liking to hear the church bells, for this was a bell-ringing country, and the bells reminded them of their duties as Christians—to assemble in the house of prayer to render thanks to the Almighty. On other occasions they sounded the voice of praise and thanksgiving on the celebration of any great public event, and he felt sure that the music of church bells was a kind of music which must appeal to the heart of every loyal and patriotic Englishman, and it would be a sorrowful day for England should it ever happen that the bells of their churches should be silenced. That day he hoped would never come, but on the contrary with such societies as theirs he thought there was every prospect of a greater love for the music of church bells being inculcated among the general public, and the more they interested themselves in that work the greater would be the number of loyal and devout supporters of the church in the country. In conclusion his Worship said next Easter he hoped to hear a peal which had not been heard in Bedfordshire before.

The report was then read by the Hon. Sec., and Mr. Elger presented the financial statement, which showed that the balance last year was £28 3s. 5½d., but now it had increased to £32 11s. 7½d. This, he said, showed that the Society was in a very flourishing condition, and he would suggest that, seeing they were in that condition, they should make a grant of £2 towards the new bells of St. Paul's.

The Mayor pointed out to Mr. Elger that that would hardly come within the province of that meeting, but it should be submitted to the committee.

The matter then dropped, and on the proposition of Mr. Ransom, seconded by Mr. Herbert, both reports were adopted.

The Rev. W. W. C. Baker, in proposing Canon Haddock and Mr. Bull as Vice-Presidents in place of the late Canon Brereton and the Rev. J. Copner, said they had been supporters of the Society for years, and he should like to see them in that place of honour.

This having been carried with applause,

Canon Haddock, in thanking the company for the honour they had done him, spoke of the encouragement which had been given to the ringers at Clapham.

Mr. Bull then responded, saying he took a great interest in the welfare of the Society and tried to promote its objects. He added that since last Monday he had collected £50 towards the restoration of St. Paul's bells, and another £50 had been promised.

The Chairman, in proposing the re-election of Mr. Elger as hon. treasurer, said there was no greater supporter of the cause in the county than Mr. Elger.

The Rev. A. C. Downer seconded, and it was carried.

Mr. Elger, in responding, said they hoped to have the proposed peal of St. Paul's in about three months' time.

The hon. secs., Rev. W. W. C. Baker and Mr. I. Hills, were re-elected, as were Messrs. T. Bull and H. Thody as auditors.

Several new members, both performing and honorary, were admitted, and the meeting terminated with votes of thanks to the Mayor, the Vicar of St. Paul's, and the Archdeacon.

[The above report only reached us last week.—Ed.]

THE CHELTENHAM AND DISTRICT GUILD.

The above Society held their annual dinner on Saturday, June 27th last, at The Royal hotel, Cheltenham. The Rev. A. de Cartaret took the chair in the unavoidable absence of the rector of Cheltenham. The usual loyal and other toasts having been duly honoured, the evening was spent in handbell ringing and singing. A very enjoyable time was spent, and it was unanimously thought that this meeting was one of the most successful ever held by the Guild. About twenty-seven members and friends were present. The Master is Mr. F. E. Ward, and the Secretary Mr. A. W. Humphris, to whom great credit and thanks are due for the way in which he has conducted the business of the Guild since its formation some few years ago.

THE OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

On Saturday afternoon, June 20th, several members of the East Berks and South Bucks branch of the above Guild had a most enjoyable outing, the majority hailing from Boyne Hill, the Revs. A. H. Drummond and R. P. Newhouse being of the party. Farnham Royal was the first place visited, where Doubles and Minor was indulged in. After refreshing themselves with tea the party journeyed on to Chalfont St. Peter's, accompanied by Messrs. Clarke, Flaxman, and Parker. The bells here were also found in capital going order, and a 720 each of Plain Bob and Grandsire Minor was rung. T. Price, 1; J. J. Parker (conductor), 2; R. Flaxman, 3; F. Bissley, 4; C. Clarke, 5; G. Martin, 6. The next touch was rung by G. Martin, 1; H. Neighbour, 2; J. Edridge, 3; J. Parker, 4; J. J. Parker (conductor), 5; C. Clarke, 6. This was the first 720 by two of the younger members of the party, who no doubt were highly pleased with their afternoon's outing.

THE PEAL "APPENDIX, 1895," PRINTED BY the Central Council Committee, may be obtained post free, with the Report on Calls, on application to the Hon. Secretary, Rev. H. Earle Bulwer, Stanhoe Rectory, King's Lynn, enclosing 7½d. in stamps.

CURRENT TOPICS.

The all-prevailing topic at the present moment is the weather. The first ejaculation on meeting anyone is: "Very hot, isn't it? Should like to see some rain." And the general reply is—"Yes; a good storm would be acceptable just now, and please the gardeners." When I went to school we used to have a song upon the months, wherein it was said that "Hot July brings cooling showers."

This is quite correct, and I look anxiously from early morn till dewy eve for these said showers. I presume most of us are suffering from the same kind of anxiety.

Next to your anxiety concerning the weather, your expectation, or impatience, has been in full swing about what I said relative to the last line of a touch sent by Mr. Morris, of Bangor. In its proper place this touch will be found reported, and I have asked the young compositor, if there is no law to the contrary, to put it in somewhat larger type, so that among the multifarious items to be found in this paper, this one may not be missed.

The following note has been handed to me:—

"Sir,—I would like to draw your attention to a few facts about Bolton. Within a four miles' radius from Bolton town hall are seven peals of eight bells, and one of six. On these bells nothing is rung but Grandsire. I hope there is a better prospect now that the Rev. H. J. Elsee is coming to reside in Bolton."

This is matter for the fraternity of Bolton to ponder over. I believe it will be generally acknowledged that Grandsire is a splendid method—nothing better than Grandsire Caters—but then my friends of Bolton, you know we can have a great deal too much of a good thing even.

At the meeting at York on the 18th ult., so I read, it was thought by the company that I was present. I here give the quotation:—

"By-the-by it should be mentioned that no little speculation was going on at one time as to who two certain gentlemen were who seemed to be taking stock of everything, the ringers especially. It was generally believed that one or the other was 'Plain Speaker' who had turned up."

No; I could not so gratify myself upon that occasion. If I had been there, the company would soon have known it, for I should have announced myself immediately. But I shall make a visit to the grand old city some day. Only I shall not come suddenly or quietly, or without due preparation. I shall apprise my very old friend the host of the Lowther Hotel by telegram, from King's Cross, that I am on the way. That will just give him time to get ready my apartment in his establishment, and sufficient also to meet me at York railway station with the Lord Mayor and Corporation, accompanied by a brass band or two.

There are many members of ringing associations who constantly have in view the precepts impressed upon them from time to time with regard to the extension of change-ringing. This fact is well shown by the visit paid, on the 20th ult., by members of the Durham and Newcastle Association, to Houghton-le-Spring. These gentlemen journeyed thereto solely with a view to forward the Art, and extend the borders of their Association. From the report of this visit it would appear that some good will result from it. The conditions of the place tend to such a result, viz.: an orderly and neat ringing chamber; excellent rules; the interest taken in the work of the belfry by the Rector, etc.

Here we are told that each Sunday morning either the Rector or Curate attends in the ringing-chamber, and opens the day's duties with prayer. This is the right way of beginning the week, and if more incumbents did the like, it would be better for all of us. It is their bounden duty to attend to affairs of the belfry as much or more than many other matters they concern themselves in. I speak with all due respect for the clergy of our Church, but it must be granted that many things which they take up with does not suit their calling near so much as belfry concerns would. We are thankful for their countenance and co-operation in our work, and I shall not be wrong in saying that, as a rule, we make them believe that their presence is highly appreciated among us.

But it is the fact, unhappily, that clergymen are sometimes found whose interference in the belfry is a drawback and an hindrance to progress. They are what is termed "fussy," and full of fads which don't suit ringing arrangements. Their minds run in one particular groove, and when they take up a notion, they adhere to it with the most remarkable perseverance and obstinacy. We have heard of good intelligent ringers being so much upset by such pigheadedness, that they have retired from the belfry altogether, not only from the disappointment they have experienced themselves, but from the poignant regret which they have felt at the vagaries of their vicar. Such cases as these give a tangible proof that those coming within the scope of these remarks have made an egregious mistake in entering the ministry at all; they have entirely selected the wrong vocation.

What a grand corps is the body of ringing clergy. Take a survey along the line. From the veteran of Drayton down to the last recruit, what an excellent body are they. And how us laymen, old and young, hang to them. Our ringing clergy know not what an amount of good has been done, socially and economically, by their connection with bell-ringing. Just ask yourselves, fellow-ringers, what we should do without them now.

PLAIN SPEAKER.

THE OLD EAST DERBYSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

The quarterly meeting was held at Treeton, on Saturday, June 27th, Mr. W. J. Nicholson, presiding. The minutes having been read and confirmed, it was arranged to hold the next meeting at Wingfield, on Saturday, September 26th. Seven towers were drawn for the next Cup Competition, and are Dronfield, Eckington, Staveley, Killamarsh, Wingfield, Anston, and Shireoaks. Wingfield being first out was declared first for the next contest; the test piece to be 720 Duke of York. It was also discussed about giving a prize for the second band, but, on the motion of Mr. Bettison, the subject was left over until the next meeting.

Some good ringing was done during the afternoon by mixed bands, and it is a pleasing fact to see that each band tries to beat each other in striking and method ringing. The muster of ringers was not up to the usual standard. Members should strain a point to attend these meetings, the expense only being a mere trifle to the different stations in the association's radius, providing it is not left until the last week to save up. I should like to suggest that a small box be placed in the tower for each to place a copper in on Sundays, but I had better not, for fear I should give offence.

SATURDAY, JULY 11, 1896.

THE clean little Essex town of Saffron Walden has always been looked upon as a centre where ringers somewhat above the ordinary capacity of those generally to be found in small out-of-the-way provincial towns have dwelt. There are many such quiet places about the country, spots hardly to be found upon the map, where ringing of the most classical order has been practised. As we have said, one of these unobtrusive places is Saffron Walden, a quiet town in a far corner of Essex, and out of the course of the main line of railway. In the times when Double Norwich was a kind of terra incognita of the Exercise, it met with full practice here under the ægis of the late Mr. RICHARD MILLER, who called a peal of the method upon the celebrated Walden bells. No one can say that the traditions of the place have suffered in these days of degeneracy; the talent of each and every individual member of the House of PITSTOW, and the names of PENNING, JAMES, and others are sufficient warranty that ringing still hold its own therein.

The Two Hundred and Seventy-third Anniversary of the Saffron Walden Society has just been held, a report of which will be found elsewhere. This meeting may be an earnest of increased energy in the future among the Walden company. Whatever its character for enterprise, or whatever prestige it enjoys, it cannot afford to stand still. In the ringing world there is no such thing as retiring on one's laurels. We must keep moving onward. And with the noble traditions before them, our Saffron Walden friends must endeavour to advance if they wish to keep the town's repute from decay.

To the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS AND RINGERS' RECORD."

TREBLE BOB COMPOSITIONS.

SIR,—I was surprised to find Mr. Dains come forward with such mean, contemptible criticism, on my 5024 with 4th, 5th, and 6th exclusively in 6th's place at a course-end; especially when, in an attempt to obtain those results, he, himself, had resorted to such miserable tactics as placing the 3rd one course-end in 7th's place to keep it out of 6th's. This is not the first time he has tried to blacken my compositions; nor has he, in previous cases, stuck fast for false statements, backed up with pretended ignorance, to accomplish his ends. Before pulling my peal to pieces, it would have been more to his credit to have produced a better; but, seemingly, not having been able to surmount the difficulties, thinks it more easy to stand as a great judge, and from behind a few words of well-earned praise so blacken my peal, that it shall be discarded by every one. If he looks back at the previously mentioned composition, he will find that I claim nothing but the plain straightforward truth. I have departed in no way from ordinary Treble Bob calling. It is a perfect round block, tenors together throughout, 4th, 5th, and 6th only in 6th's place at a course-end. Peals with these three bells only in 6th's place throughout, I might state, are an impossibility. I am not the first who has used Homes to commence with, nor shall I be the last. I shall always use them when better results are to be obtained. It may be information to Mr. Dains that, in peals of this sort, it does not lay within a composer's power to place rounds where he would wish, he has to take them where they turn up. I am quite certain Mr. Dains would not have thrown the peal in question away. He would have been only too pleased to have produced it. I shall be very pleased to unearth any more with the same qualities, even though I have to start with 2H.

G. LINDOFF.

THE LATE GEORGE NEWSON.

SIR,—The following members of the Royal Cumberland Society form the committee for placing a suitable Memorial over the last resting-place of their departed friend in Hampstead Cemetery, and appeal to ringers and friends for subscriptions to aid the object in view. These will be duly acknowledged in "THE BELL NEWS" from time to time.

THE CHURCH BELLS OF BUCK-
INGHAMSHIRE. By ALFRED HENEAGE COCKS,
M.A., Ch. Ch., Oxford; F.Z.S., F.R.G.S., Great Marlow,
Bucks. With many Illustrations.

MESSRS. JARROLD & SONS have pleasure in announcing the
early publication by subscription of this most interesting and important work. It will contain an account of all the Church Bell
in Buckinghamshire, with everything relating to their history that can be discovered. Full accounts of all the Founders whose bells
hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County
including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. The work was undertaken at the instigation of the late J. C. L. Stahlshmidt Esq., author of "Surrey Bells and London Bell-founders," "The Church Bells of Kent," "Herts," etc.; and the fact that the author
had the benefit of the kind assistance and advice of this well-known
campanologist may be mentioned as some guarantee of the scope and nature of the present work. Mr. Stahlshmidt was the author,
that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting county," and he repeated this opinion in a subsequent letter. The
"Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 600 pages to be handsomely illustrated with 24 full-page plates of mediæval letter-
ings, founders' marks, etc., found on Bells still existing in the County
and numerous figures—some of them being peculiar to Bucks—will be inserted in the text. The 8vo. Edition is limited to 350 copies, and will be offered to subscribers before the day of publication at 2s. nett. The Larger Edition, Royal 4to, is limited to 80 copies, and will be subscribed at 4s. The prices will be raised on the day
of issue should any copies remain unsold.

ROUND ABOUT EYE.

The four and twenty miles that intervene between the city of Norwich and the quaint, old-fashioned town of Eye have on several occasions been traversed by the writer and one at least of his friends, by means of bicycles and chiefly on campanological business. It has occurred to him that a brief account of the towers in this particular district may fill up some space when the slow time in ringing causes the "copy" of "THE BELL NEWS" to fall off.

We start from Norwich on the London turnpike with, let us hope, the wind at our backs and the weather favourable, and we soon experience the prevailing characteristic of the road, viz.: as many hills in ten miles as any ordinary Christian-like road has in forty. We pass through two or three parishes void of bells, and without the glimpse of a tower except that of Newton, which stands very picturesquely at the top of a hill, till we come to Long Stratton, which may be either a small town or a large village. Here are two churches, in one of which is a peal of five, not up to much, badly out of repair, and with a call-change company.

Thence we follow the old Roman road that leads straight to the borders of Suffolk.

Should we care to go a mile or so out of our way, we might get to Fornsett, where are two churches with a peal of five and three respectively. Concerning these I heard the following tale. About the year 1828, a certain man of the name of Ringer was churchwarden at St. Peter's, where the five are, a famous ringer in his time, among whose feats was the ringing Redenhall tenor to an even 8000 of Oxford Treble Bob Major, his own composition. He had a notion to have six bells at his church, and not being able or willing to find the money to buy a new treble, he, with or without the consent of the authorities at the other church, St. Mary's, took their tenor to make him a treble. The new comer did not agree with the old bells by about half a note, but nothing daunted Mr. Ringer filed her away and brought her into tune. Some while after he died or left the parish, and the churchwardens of St. Mary's thought they would have their bell back again. But they had to get her down two or three steps, and instead of lifting her down, they rolled her down like a tub, so she went smashing down into the church and broke herself badly. To mend the matter (and the bell) her new masters drilled her and fixed plates of iron across the crack like a boiler. One can imagine better than describe the delightful sound emitted from a bell so doctored, and it will not be wondered at that the bell is not now used.

Returning to the high road we leave Pulham Market, a heavy lumbering peal of six a good bit out of tune, and come to Dickleburgh. Here we shall find five bells, very good ones I am told; but they are out of order now and can't be rung. From here a couple of miles or so bring us to the borders of Suffolk. From thence a short distance to the left and we reach Diss, a very considerable provincial town with a fine church, but which has a rather low and insignificant tower. The bells therein, however, more than counterbalance the deficiencies of their dwelling-place, for they are as good a ring of eight as can be found in the east of England, and that is saying a good deal. Their founder was a Norfolk man, Dobson of Downham, who cast some magnificent bells and also some very indifferent ones—the latter including St. Nicholas, Liverpool.

The "go" of Diss bells is all that can be wished for, and the local company will always meet visitors for a peal.

Situated just round this angle are three churches with peals very similar both in quality and weight, and as all these have usually had good companies, there has generally existed a kind of rivalry between them. They are Diss, Redenhall, and Eye.

Diss bells are, as we have said, all by Dobson (tenor 24 cwt.), and are undoubtedly the best of the three, asserting their superiority in the front bells.

Redenhall, which make a good second, are a mixed lot. The tenor is a beautiful bell, and the sixth even better; but the front bells are weak in comparison. There has always been, and is now, an excellent company of ringers here, all of whom, strange to say, live in other parishes.

Eye is the third peal, and the end of our journey. The church is a large building with a fine tower about, I should say, 110 feet high. The ringing room is large and comfortable, and the bells "go like fiddles." It could hardly be thought otherwise when we remember that Mr. Fred. Day is steeplekeeper. Visitors to this part of the country should not miss Eye. They will find a company not to be beaten for good striking, and in Mr. Day they will find a man of whom it is difficult to say in which capacity he is most to be appreciated—in his business, or ringing, or private capacity.

A little way out of Eye on the North is Broome, a little gem of a church. Situated in a park it seems to have had no end of money lavished on it, and the splendid situation and beautiful fitting, combine to make it as pretty an edifice as one wants to meet. The bells are only five in number, but they are quite in character with the rest of the church.

At the neighbouring towers of Oakley and Hoxne are peals of five, the latter are good bells but out of tune; they hang in one of the finest towers in Suffolk. Stradbroke, a little further on, has a peal of eight very similar to Eye, but out of order, as are their neighbours the octave at Horsham, which have the distinction of being one of the lightest rings of eight in England (tenor 7 ewt).

Getting further South are Thornham, Thorndon, and Occold—two peals of five and one of six—none of which I have visited; but beyond Occold is the fine peal at Debenham, which have through the 16,608 rung there on Whit-Monday, 1892, obtained a reputation as far as change-ringing is known. I need only say that the bells and fittings seem fitted for such a feat.

Turning North again we next visit Wickham-Skeith, the company of which have added two or three six-bell performances to the peal book of the Norwich Diocesan Association. Very different in go are they to the next ring, Gislegham. This is a beautiful peal of six, but sadly out of repair. We did try to ring a 720 on them, but it was too much of a job. One curious thing about Gislegham I might mention. On the board or fresco, I don't remember which, recording a 10,000 of "Grand-sire Bob" rung here some time during the latter years of the last century, beside each man's name is a symbol of his trade; thus by the treble man is an anvil to shew he was a smith, another has a gardener's spade, another a cobbler's awl, and so on, but it is rather curious that the man who followed the least athletic trade, that of shoemaking, was the one that rang the tenor. This church also contains one of the old-fashioned "three-decker" pulpits that are now very seldom met with, except in out of the way country parishes. From Gislegham we turn north and reach Burgate, a peal of five, re-hung this year, and from thence go on to Yoxley, where besides the peal of six is an object of interest in the shape of a "Sexton's Wheel," a very rare relic of pre-reformation times, and having inspected these we next find ourselves on the Norwich turnpike when we shall have visited all the towers "Round about Eye."

OSWESTRY, SHROPSHIRE.

PRESENTATION.—On Thursday, July 10th, the members of the Oswestry Parish Church Bellringers' Associations met in the belfry for the purpose of presenting their master, Mr. Griffith Whitfield, with an illuminated address and a clock. The Vicar (Rev. Cecil Hook), in making the presentation, said the first person he came in contact with when he came into Oswestry was Mr. Griffith Whitfield. Ever since then he had been connected with him in church matters, and had formed a great esteem for him, and he was sure he had won the respect and esteem of the bellringers themselves. Mr. Whitfield had in the past to exercise his authority occasionally, but he had always done it in such a way as not to hurt the feelings of others, and from the way in which the society was managed he had evidently won the co-operation of his brother bellringers, as shown by their presentation to him that evening. He had great pleasure in presenting Mr. Whitfield with the illuminated address and clock. The following is a copy of the address:—"To Griffith Whitfield, Esq.—We the undersigned members of the Oswestry Parish Church Bellringers' Association desire to place on record our appreciation of the interest you have always taken in our Society, and in each of us individually, since you became Master of the Association, over seven years ago, during which period no less than five peals have been rung. The importance of this may be gathered from the fact that the last peal previous to those rung by local ringers was in the year 1731. We beg your acceptance of the accompanying clock as a small token of the esteem in which you are held by all the members, and we trust that the bells of our old parish Church may long be rung under your mastership.—Frederick Jones, Morris J. Morris, Richard Edwards, Richard Martin, Edward Jones, Henry Jarman, David Davies, William Morris, George Davies, William Worton, John Hughes. Oswestry, July, 1896."—The address was the work of Mr. Henry Smithies (of Messrs. Longueville and Co.), and was framed by Mr. Edward Jones, Upper Brook Street. A very good photograph of Mr. Whitfield was inserted in the corner of the address by Mr. Maclardy, photographer, Oswestry. The clock was supplied by Mr. A. Lashmore, jeweller, and contained the following inscription:—"Presented to Griffith Whitfield, Esq. by his brother bellringers of Oswestry Parish Church, July, 1896." Mr. Whitfield, in reply, said the presentation came as a great surprise to him, and he felt their kindness very much. He spoke of the seven years he had been with them as seven years of real pleasure to him. All the members of the association had worked well with him during that period, and he begged to thank them most heartily for their kind presents, and also those who had taken the trouble of getting it up. Mr. Whitfield also thanked the Vicar and Wardens for their kind support and interest, and expressed his deep regret at the removal of Mr. Hook to the benefice of Leamington, where "THE BELL NEWS" had recently informed them there was only a ring of six in a wooden box.—[We hear that this structure has been removed, the bells awaiting, on the floor of the church, the building of a new habitation.—Ed.]

On the motion of Mr. Edward Jones, seconded by Mr. Henry Jarman, a vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar for presiding. The proceedings were brought to a close by the bellringers playing "Auld Lang Syne" on the handbells.

Our correspondent adds:—"In addition to the above report I should like to mention how glad I was to see the name of my dear friend Mr. Morris J. Morris (of "No apathy" fame), subscribed to the address, for it was here he started his ringing career, and great assistance he rendered in building up our young society. Having no change ringers in the town, our main source of information was obtained from Snowden and Troyte, and an occasional visit from the late Mr. R. W. Evans and Mr. Rowland, of Wrexham, and Messrs. Davies, of Llangollen. I would also like, through "THE BELL NEWS," to thank my kind friends Messrs. W. T. Pates and J. S. Wilde for their ever ready help and advice, and trust that the next time Mr. Pates comes this way we shall be able to gratify him with a bit of Stedman, which he loves so well. Permit a word or two further about Mr. Morris, and I have done. Few men have done more to encourage change ringing for church purposes than he. Rarely at liberty until 8.0 p.m., he did much here to establish our society. Hence he went to Buxton, and there soon got the local ringers to ring the extent of Treble Bob Minor instead of Sunday after Sunday grinding away at the Plain Course. For a time he visited his home at Dolgelly, and made glad the heart of his enthusiastic friend Mr. David Roberts, but from various causes success did not attend their efforts. His next move was to Bangor, where he found in the Vicar, the Rev. Lewis Jones, a kindred spirit, a new and handy ring of eight, and an intelligent band of ringers, just accomplishing the Plain Course of Grandsire Triples, and ready for the master hand of an ardent and able conductor, whose progress and successes have been duly recorded in this paper. May similar success attend his efforts with the ringers at Llandudno."

THE NORTH LINCOLNSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

LINCOLN DISTRICT.—The first meeting of this District was held at Nettleham, on Saturday last, the 11th instant, and was attended by members from Lincoln, Branton, Timberland and Wragby, together with the local members. The delightful weather, together with the inviting appearance of the churchyard and its surroundings, was not very conducive to a good muster in the close belfry, nevertheless sufficient enthusiasts were found to keep the bells swinging in the Minor methods, whilst the less ardent members were enjoying the refreshing breezes of the churchyard, and enlivening the surroundings with the handbells. A short service at 7 o'clock brought the members together, who afterwards attended the meeting at the village Institute, under the presidency of the worthy Vicar, the Rev. B. W. Hancock. In reviewing the work done since the last meeting, the local secretary drew attention to the fact that, although they could not record the success of any peals, it was gratifying to know that at Ewerby a peal of ten was being put in the tower through the generosity of Lord Winchelsea. The peal of six at Washingborough was being overhauled, and a pair of trebles added to complete the octave, and that the peal of eight at Caythorpe was receiving the bell founder's attention. The secretary reported that the Wragby Society had just recently accomplished their first peal of Minor, and that the Barton-on-Humber branch, through the energy of the local secretary, Mr. J. Robinson, and the old veteran ringer at Barton—Mr. George Willis—had sent eight honorary members' names to be proposed, and another gentleman had shewn his sympathy with the Association by giving a donation to the association funds. A special committee, consisting of Messrs. Clifton (Lincoln), Ash (Washingboro'), Stiles (Lincoln), Willey (Branton), Elkington (Timberland), Allwood (Nettleham), Lindoff (Lincoln) and Craven (Lincoln), was elected to prepare a new code of rules to be submitted to the Association's general meeting at Grimsby in October, and upon the motion of Mr. Craven it was agreed to hold district meetings at least every two months, the next meeting to be held at Branton sometime in September. A vote of thanks to the chairman concluded the meeting.

UPPINGHAM, RUTLAND.

One of the most highly esteemed residents, Mr. W. Martin Compton, died on Monday at the age of 75. He had resided at Uppingham about 50 years, and was a wine merchant. For over 40 years he was churchwarden, and it was in a great measure owing to his munificence that the various improvements in connection with the parish church have been carried out. He took great personal interest in the recent re-hanging of the peal of eight bells, and none were more pleased than he to hear their beautiful music (after long silence) on the day of their re-opening and re-dedication. His kind and hearty welcome and genuine hospitality will long be remembered by the ringers who had the privilege to take the ropes on that occasion. Mr. Compton was one of the founders of the Horticultural Society, and a vice-president of the Cricket Club. The funeral took place on Thursday.

THE PEAL "APPENDIX, 1895," PRINTED BY the Central Council Committee, may be obtained post free, with the Report on Calls, on application to the Hon. Secretary, Rev. H. Earle Bulwer, Stanhoe Rectory, King's Lynn, enclosing 7½d. in stamps.

WORCESTERSHIRE AND DISTRICTS ASSOCIATION.

On Saturday, June 27th, a Committee and Quarterly Meeting of this Association was held at Redditch, the Rev. Canon H. Newton, Vicar and Rural Dean, presiding.

A goodly number of members were present from Bromsgrove, Clent, Dudley, King's Norton, Malvern, Netherton, Old Hill, Oldbury, Pershore, Redditch, Tipton, Worcester, etc. The rev. Chairman in his opening remarks cordially welcomed the members to his centre, and hoped much good might result from their visit. He then called upon the Secretary to read the minutes of the last quarterly meeting, this being done they were confirmed.

The rev. Chairman was elected an honorary member; eight performing members from Blockley, one from Colwall, three from King's Norton, and one from Old Hill were also elected. After some little discussion about place of next meeting, upon a suggestion from the Rev. Canon Newton it was decided to hold the same at Evesham.

On the motion of Mr. J. S. Pritchett, seconded by Mr. W. R. Small, a hearty vote of thanks was accorded the rev. Chairman for presiding, also for the use of the schoolroom, tower and bells. The rev. gentleman in reply said it had been a great pleasure to him to be amongst such a class of men that afternoon, and he should be pleased to assist the Association in any way he possibly could; referring to his bells he remarked that they were not what one would wish, but the best they could get under the circumstances. He hoped all would enjoy themselves and be pleased with their visit to Redditch.

Touces of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Kent Treble Bob Major, etc., were rung on the tower bells, as were also touches in various methods on the handbells.

THE WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

The Secretary of the Southern Division of the above Guild has been paying visits to some of the six-bell towers in his district, and much good has been the result, or otherwise there would be a loss of some of the towers in the Guild. This is owing, no doubt, that where bands have dwindled down to three or four members, in these small places, change-ringing cannot make much headway, but by having these combined practices, and meeting at different towers, the thing ought to look up again. Mr. J. W. Whiting, the painstaking instructor and secretary of this division, must be heartily congratulated upon his work, for he has no doubt at some time or the other instructed or lent a helping hand to nearly every tower in his district. On Wednesday, June 24th, a meeting was arranged for Wickham, where, with the help of Mr. Whiting, and one from Shedfield, a 720 Grandsire Minor and some Doubles were rung. The next evening was to be at Shedfield, where we heard the band was leaving the Guild on account of no one seeming to take any interest in change-ringing, and like before stated, has got to a low ebb, so Mr. Whiting arrives in good time so as to have a good talk to the Vicar about the matter, with the result that he not only gave a donation himself, but said he would use his influence in obtaining others to become honorary members, and in the meantime he would see the captain of his ringers and try and rouse them up. After a move was made to the tower, where, with the help of one from Wickham, two from Swanmore, together with the local men and Mr. Whiting, they rang 720 Plain Bob and 720 Oxford Bob Minor. The next meeting was to take place at Swanmore on the following Thursday, where they likewise had transgressed by leaving the Guild, so our friend John thought he would give them a stir up, so he picked up one from Wickham, one from Shedfield, and arrived there in good time, but before commencing the attack there was some good ringing done, being 720 Oxford Bob, 720 Canterbury Pleasure, and 720 Plain Bob Minor. Afterwards a move was made for refreshments with the local ringers. In the meantime John was busily engaged in explaining the matter to them about their retiring from the Guild, saying he should only be too pleased to see them in their old position again, they one and all saying what a very pleasant evening they had spent together, both in ringing and other matters, and they would be very pleased to remain as before. The next meeting takes place at Wickham to practise Treble Bob Methods.

ONE OF HIS PUPILS.

SOUTH PETHERTON, SOMERSET.

On Thursday, June the 18th, the bells of the parish church of South Petherton were re-opened, after re-hanging, with entirely new frame, wheels, etc., by Mr. T. Blackburn, of Salisbury. Two new trebles have also been added, making a very fine ring of eight—tenor about 23 cwt. in D. The proceedings opened with a celebration of the Holy Communion, after which the clergy and choir ascended to the belfry, when the office for the dedication of the two new bells was conducted by the Vicar. At its conclusion the "Te Deum" was sung outside, on the roof of the church, and immediately afterwards a short touch of Grandsire Triples were rung on the bells, the go of which left nothing to be desired. It was intended to have started for a peal of Grandsire Triples, but the new ropes having only arrived that morning, their exceeding springiness, coupled with the very long draught, caused the band to postpone the peal to a later date. The names of the ringers are as follows: Messrs. A. E. Mills, W. Mills, E. Lush, and J. Holloway, from Wells; Messrs T. W. Radford and S. Wyatt, from Taunton; and the Rev. H. C. Courtney, from Minehead; and T. Blackburn, from Salisbury; who rang several well-struck 504's, conducted by T. W. Radford. The ringers, one and all, desire to take this opportunity of thanking the Vicar and Mrs. Lefroy for their very kind hospitality, and hope ere long to pull off a good peal on this fine and musical ring of bells.

THE SOUTH AND WEST MIDDLESEX GUILD.

The last monthly ringing meeting of this guild was held at Old Hillingdon on Saturday, June 27th, when by kind permission of the Rev. C. M. Harvey members were able to avail themselves of the excellent ring of eight in the tower of St. John the Baptist.

The weather being very fine, the attendance from the surrounding districts was fairly good, members being present from Ealing (St. Mary's and Christ Church), Heston, St. Andrew's (Hillingdon), Slough and Burnham. The "go" of the bells leave nothing to be desired, consequently some good ringing was indulged in by mixed bands conducted by Messrs. J. Basden and A. H. Taber (Ealing), and H. S. Reeves (Hillingdon), numerous touches of Grandsire Triples, Bob Major, Stedman and Oxford Bob, keeping the bells going till 9 o'clock, and making the meeting both very enjoyable and instructive.

Among those present and taking part in the ringing was the worthy president of the Guild, Rev. H. G. Bird (vicar of St. Andrew's) who has the work and the general welfare of the Guild thoroughly at heart, and is at present taking active steps in the formation of an efficient change-ringing band at that place. It is to be hoped that his well-directed efforts will in due course meet with the success they deserve.

The ringers desire through the medium of "THE BELL NEWS" to thank the Rev. C. M. Harvey for the ready manner in which he granted the use of the bells, and also the steeple-keeper for his kind attention.

The next meeting will probably be held at Harmondsworth.

THE YORK MINSTER SOCIETY.

On Saturday, July 4th, a party of members of the above society took the opportunity of an excursion train on the North Eastern Railway of visiting Harrogate and Knaresborough, and were kindly met by the ringers of both places, and accommodated with a touch of Plain Bob and a course of Kent Treble Bob on the bells of St. Mary's, Harrogate, but owing to the oscillation of the frame and other repairs needing the attention of a bell-hanger, the ringing was not so enjoyable as it might have been. After taking leave of our Harrogate friends, we took train for Knaresborough, and after partaking of refreshments, made for the parish church and rang the most of two parts of Taylor's bob-and-single peal of Grandsire Triples for practice, the "go" of the bells being all that ringers can wish for. Train time coming on too quickly, we had to say a few hasty farewell greetings, and left our kind friends behind with a promise to make another call for a peal later on in the season. We also desire to return thanks to the church authorities of each place, and the ringers for the use of the bells, and for having all in readiness for us.

Ringers' Outings.

THE OTLEY SOCIETY, YORKS.—On Saturday, July 4th, the members of this society, accompanied by their wives and a few friends, had their annual outing. Starting from Kingate at 7.30 in a waggonette by Rigton, Beckwithshaw, Knaresborough, and Harrogate, the first stop for the three-in-hand was at Rigton village. A very remote house was called at, where the visitors rang several tunes and touches on the handbells. They afterwards boarded the waggonette, and arrived at the pretty village of Beckwithshaw, where refreshments were partaken of. They then ascended the tower and rang a 720 of Bob Minor. At the conclusion of the ringing, Mr. G. Towes, secretary to the Beckwithshaw company, together with others, rang touches of Grandsire Triples, etc., which was greatly appreciated by the visitors. Later on the company drove to the ancient town of Knaresborough, where touches of Kent Treble Bob were rung, but owing to service at the church, they had to relinquish long ringing, so other and ancient places were visited by the company. From Knaresborough they made their way to Harrogate, where, thanks to the appetising effects of the drive, they did hearty justice to a capital and well-filled table of beef and ham, which was set before them by the hostess of The Golden Lion hotel, which gave every satisfaction. Tea being over, Mr. Hunt (secretary), rose and proposed a vote of thanks to the hostess for the splendid tea she had prepared. Mr. Clough in a few remarks, seconded the proposition, which was carried with musical honours, her catering being very satisfactory. After tea the company intended ringing a peal at Harrogate, but owing to the bells being out of order, they visited other places in the town, until the time came for the return journey. The visitors arrived at Otley at 10.30. all well pleased with the day's outing. The journey was enlivened by handbell ringing by Messrs. Maston, Holmes, Horner, McGowen, and Nelson, in tunes and change-ringing through the towns and villages as they passed. They wish to thank through the medium of this paper, Messrs. Towes and Brown (Harrogate), and Mr. Lunn (Knaresborough), for kindly meeting them and getting all in readiness; also the vicar and wardens for the use of the bells.

THE ST. STEPHEN'S SOCIETY, WESTMINSTER.—On Saturday, June 27th, the members of this society had their annual outing. It being the date of the Saffron Walden festival, a visit was paid to that town. Taking train at Liverpool Street station in company with several other ringing friends from various parts of London, their destination was reached by 10 a.m., the bells ringing out as if to accord them a welcome. Some of the members soon found their way to the ringing-chamber and took part in several touches, which gave them an appetite for the excellent dinner provided at headquarters. As the proceedings here have already appeared, it is needless to repeat it. Four o'clock found them aboard a conveyance bound for Radwinter, accompanied by the worthy Master of the Walden society, and the Rev. Maitland Kelly from Devonshire. After a cup of tea at The Red Lion, a move was made to the tower, and a peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major was successfully brought round. This was the first peal in the method on the bells, and was listened to by a large number of the inhabitants who had gathered round, and who heartily congratulated the band on their performance. The rest of the evening was spent in the usual social manner. Next morning saw most of them up at an early hour any on the way to view the old church at Hempstead before breakfast. A start was made soon after eleven o'clock to walk into Walden, where dinner was waiting, and to which due respect was paid after about six miles' walk. Some of the members visited the tower for a pull in the afternoon, and then after the special artist had peeped at them through his camera, farewells were said and away they went by brake to Audley End to catch the evening train to London. The members wish to thank the Rev. J. F. W. Bullock, of Radwinter, for the use of the bells, and also the brothers Pitstow and Mr. A. James, of Walden, for their kindness in helping to make the outing such a success.

THE WORSLEY SOCIETY.—On Sunday, June 28th, the members of this society visited Deane parish church, near Bolton, on the occasion of the annual sermons being preached in aid of the Church Schools, and rang the following touches for afternoon service. 1230 Double Norwich in 45 mins. J. Ridyard, 1; J. Ireland, 2; J. Ridyard, 3; J. Derbyshire, 4; J. Welsby, 5; F. Derbyshire, 6; J. Baguley, 7; R. Ridyard (conductor), 8. Also two courses of Stedman Triples, conducted by J. H. Ridyard. After service 504 Stedman Triples. J. Ridyard, 1; J. Ireland, 2; J. Ridyard, 3; G. Derbyshire, 5; J. Welsby, 6; J. Baguley, 6; R. Ridyard (conduction), 7; W. Jackson, 8. These are the first touches in these methods on these bells, which have lately been rehung and two trebles added by Messrs. Taylor, of Loughborough, and the "go" of them is all that can be desired.

THE ST. PETER'S AMALGAMATED SOCIETY, SHEFFIELD.—On Saturday, June 4th, the members of this society had their annual excursion to Bakewell and Youlgreave, Derbyshire. We had a splendid drive across the Moors, though somewhat marred by the cold winds. Arriving at Bakewell about twelve o'clock, we agreed to proceed on our journey to Youlgreave. We passed that grand old historic pile, Haddon Hall, and leaving the main road, went through a splendid wooded dell such as can only be found in Derbyshire. Arriving at Youlgreave we found somewhere to stable our little team, and then proceeded to the tower. We raised the bells in peal, and all agreed that we had found one of the finest peal of bells of their weight in England. The bells are eight in number, tenor 26 cwt., by Mears and Stainbank. Plain courses of Kent Treble Bob Major, Double Norwich and Stedman were rung. The vicar came into the tower and gave the ringers a cordial invitation to the vicarage. They then lowered the bells, and proceeded to the vicarage, where the handbells were soon going to the tune of Grandsire Caters and Bob Major. We were then taken round the gardens by the vicar, and being on the summit of the hill we had a grand view of the surrounding country. Before leaving, the vicar cordially invited us to visit Youlgreave next year, when he would be more prepared to meet us, as he did not think we were such a decent set of men. We then sat down to an excellent tea, and each one having done justice, we started on our return journey to Bakewell. We were met by Mr. R. Smith, who conducted us to the tower, and having everything in readiness, we raised the bells, and were soon ringing a touch of Stedman Triples which unfortunately came to grief. We started again and rang an excellent touch of 672 Kent Treble Bob Major. Having lowered the bells we proceeded to The Red Lion hotel, where we waited until the return journey was commenced, reaching home safely at 10.30, every one being highly satisfied with their outing. The following were the ringers of the various touches: Messrs. Lomas (2), Hattersley (2), Brearley (2), Mulligan, Woodward, Biggin, Holman, Lloyd, and Smithson. The ringers take this opportunity of thanking the vicars of Youlgreave and Bakewell for the use of the bells; and also Mr. R. Smith, of Bakewell, for having everything in readiness for us.

W. L.

China had very large bells long before the rest of the world. Two Arabs who journeyed through China in the ninth century, have delivered down to us an interesting account of the great popular justice bells, then in use throughout the whole of that country. In each town there was a bell of a large size fixed to the wall above the head of the Prince or Governor, and to it was attached a rope a mile or so in length, and laid so temptingly along the thoroughfare that the humblest sufferer from injustice seldom hesitated to tug at it without fear. As soon as the bell sounded, the Governor sent for the petitioner, and "serious business, craving quick despatch," met with instant and honest recognition. And even above the head of the Emperor himself there was such a noisy friend to the people, but he who rang it without sufficient cause—and His Celestial Majesty was often difficult to please in this particular—was switched in a very lively manner. As for the celebrated quartette of monster bells at Nankin, one is nearly twelve English feet high, with a diameter of 7½, and a circumference of 23: its metal about the edges is 7 inches thick, its weight is computed at 50,000 pounds, and its shape, but for a bulging in the middle, would be cylindrical.

CURRENT TOPICS.

There was a fear of the non-appearance of my notes this week, as a holiday among my friends near Morecambe Bay was in prospect. This has, however, been put off to a more convenient season—convenient in more senses than one, not the least being the financial prospects of the situation, which became slightly ruptured by the requirements—many of them superfluous in my opinion—of those numerous persons of the gentler sex which comprise that section of my household who call me “pater.” You don’t like to have your intentions frustrated when you have felt certain of some enjoyment; the disappointment is very great indeed, but you will all extend to me your heartfelt sympathies. I intended to have visited Lytham, where our mutual friend Mr. John Fell would have killed the fatted calf (for “calf” read “duck”) for the benefit of self and party. Instead of this I shall have to be content with a day’s outing with my ringing company, the steward of which will, it is to be hoped, secure a good supply of ducks and green peas, to which, with the inevitable cucumber, I shall do ample justice, as the saying is.

A Society which holds its Two Hundred and Seventy-Third Anniversary—without a break—is in a fair way to the holding of a few hundreds—or a few thousands—more. The Saffron Walden St. Mary’s Company appears to be in such a condition, being one of those bodies who were established in the days when we are told the evils of change-ringing came in; when the farmers and country gentlemen, booted and spurred, met to “do the dodges”—as they said—on the bells, though every bell was in “the hunnut” after all.

Fine days these. How some of you must sigh and yearn for such good old times. No scruffing arrangements to worry dissatisfied ambition; no six-bell question; no wars and rumours of wars between composers of Treble Bob; no date touches with mutilated methods; no peripatetic worrits; nor other of the many drawbacks of civilisation. But mark you, they had no “BELL NEWS,” and therefore no “Plain Speaker” to give his entertaining gossip week after week. The possession of such benefits as these surely makes the present period somewhat bearable.

Everybody—except yours truly—seems on pleasure bent. Look at what the Ancient Society of College Youths went through on Saturday, the 4th instant. Let no one, after reading this account, croak about the position and prospects of bellringing. Like the circulation of “our” paper, it is going up. We often talk of the refining influence of the other sex; I am sure the influence of those ladies named is an undoubted gain to the cause of ringing. Not only those who enjoyed their hospitality on the occasion, but by reason of it, ringers throughout the world will feel themselves one higher than before.

There is a sea-side place in Essex called Southend. I have never been there, so what I know of it is only by repute. People used to say that cleaner sea-side places could be found; the beach was said to be such a quagmire that the town merited the unwelcome soubriquet of Southend-on-the-mud. And not a ring of bells was near the place. This is now all altered. The hygienic properties of Southend are, like good going bells, everything that can be wished. The local authorities have earnestly set to work and made their town a splendid health resort.

More important still, a ring of bells, eight in number, has been placed in the tower of Prittlewell Church, a place within speaking distance almost of Southend. These bells were dedicated last month, and as there is a well-known talented ringer in residence at Southend, we may expect this end of the county will be woke up from its lethargy now by the strains of various kinds of Triples, and the echoes of “sweet Treble Bob.”

The gentleman who sent the account of the meeting of the Old East Derbyshire Association delicately and appropriately referred to a matter of some importance. These meetings are arranged not without some trouble and labour, and thus when a small attendance is visible, great disappointment is caused. On the other hand, some of us are not always in that particularly happy condition known as “flush,” and therefore when the exchequer is at a low ebb, something must go by the board. But if the suggestion which “E. J.” makes can be carried into effect, the financial difficulty would be non est. There is no necessity for further explanation, you who do not understand what I am driving at read your “BELL NEWS” carefully, and at the bottom of page 121 in last week’s number, you will see to what I refer.

PLAIN SPEAKER.

THE YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.—MEETING OF RINGERS AT BINGLEY.

For some time back, a desire has been manifest amongst the members of the Yorkshire Association located in the Valley of Aire, in the way of closer intimacy, and more frequent meeting together. This idea culminated on Saturday last by a gathering in the quaint old historic town of Bingley. The weather was all that could have been desired, and there was a fair good muster—over thirty—from Bradford, Bolton, Shipley, Grimsby, Bingley, Keighley, Skipton, Hawarth and Kildwick. They began to assemble about three o’clock, when Mr. Alfred Anderson, the genial Parish Clerk (a life member of the Association) opened the great doors of the church to allow the visitors to make an inspection of the venerable edifice, with its many ancient monuments and reminiscences. By permission of the worthy Vicar (most readily given) the bells were raised shortly after, and various methods of Minor, Triples, and Major were rung, till shortly before six o’clock, when an adjournment was made to the old justice room adjoining The Brown Cow inn, on the opposite side of the river, where substantial refreshments were served. After this, an informal meeting was held, when the idea of forming an Airedale branch of the Yorkshire Association, for the purpose of holding monthly ringing meetings, was discussed, and unanimous approval expressed with regard to the same. A communication was also read from the Gargrave Company, stating their agreement with the proposal, the members being unable to attend the meeting. After a practical discussion, it was agreed to arrange for a second meeting in a month’s time at Skipton, where it is intended to put the scheme on a permanent footing. The visitors then returned to the Parish Church, and before re-commencing ringing, were photographed together in the churchyard, immediately in front of the old ruined Grammar School, by Mr. George Whitaker, one of the Bingley members. After a short touch on handbells, the belfry was again occupied and Treble Bob resounded through the louvred windows of the old tower. During the afternoon, eight new members, forming the Kildwick Company, were booked as members of the Association by the Hon. Sec., and altogether the afternoon’s outing was most pleasant, and thoroughly enjoyed by all who took part.

THOMAS BLACKBOURN,
CHURCH BELL HANGER, AND TUNER.
SALISBURY, WILTSHIRE.

THOMAS BLACKBOURN is a practical Ringer, and having had considerable experience in Church Bell hanging and tuning, with confidence solicits the patronage of the Clergy, Churchwardens and Ringers generally.

T. B. has devoted a great deal of attention to the fixing of Clock Hammers used for striking the hours and quarters on Church Bells. These are sometime placed in awkward and dangerous positions, even by Church Clock Makers.

T. BLACKBOURN's experience enables him to affix these hammers, with their accompanying levers in a most accurate manner, preventing any danger to the bell frame or clock. He will be glad to advise on clocks as well as bells.

The Ellacombe Chime Hammers fixed. Sole Fixer of J. J. J. Apparatus for Silent practice. Handbells supplied. Bells weighed in the tower at a small cost.

All Subscriptions and Orders for papers must be sent direct to the Publisher, E. W. ALLEN, Ave Maria Lane, London.

Everything for insertion in this Journal to be addressed "The Editor of THE BELL NEWS, Walthamstow, London." Letters forwarded for publication, and performances under 5000 changes must reach us not later than Wednesday morning; and the insertion of any communication arriving later than the first Postal delivery on Thursday morning cannot be guaranteed in that week's number. When it is found impossible from want of space to insert all touches forwarded, the earlier ones will have the preference.

All communications respecting advertisements must be addressed to the office of "THE BELL NEWS," Walthamstow, London.

The Bell News &amp; Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, JULY 18, 1896.

Just as we are going to press, reports of peals have come to hand which prevents our usual editorial. We therefore utilise the attenuated space at our disposal by once more pointing out one or two conditions which are incumbent upon our correspondents. First, letters and everything except peals intended for publication must reach us not later than Wednesday morning; 2nd, we cannot answer communications direct unless accompanied by a stamped envelope; 3rd, all letters insufficiently stamped do not reach us; and lastly, it is impossible to obtain the varied information required by many of our correspondents in a day, or sometimes within a week. We are now revising our Ringers' Directory, and shall be pleased to have all changes of address which have taken place since our last Directory was compiled. We shall feel obliged to Secretaries of Guilds and Associations, and also of local bands, if they will attend to this, so as to make our Ringers' Directory as perfect as possible.

ST. MARY'S, MONMOUTH.—At this church ringing cannot be allowed until the pinnacles of the tower are thoroughly restored

LATE NOTICE.

THE ST. JAMES' SOCIETY, LONDON.

The annual meeting of this society will be held on Monday, July 27th, at the society's meeting house, The Essex Head, Essex street, Strand, when the election of officers for the ensuing year and other important business will be transacted. The present treasurer, Mr. Allbone, having given notice of retiring, a new treasurer will be elected. Members will kindly endeavour to be present.

Will Mr. E. Edridge, late of Walthamstow; R. C. Jameson, Esq., late of Noah's Ark Alley, Southwark; and Mr. H. G. Fruin, late of Bromley, kindly communicate with the Master of the St. James' Society, London, when they may hear of something to their advantage. This is the last application.

Correspondence.

While allowing the utmost freedom for the expression of opinion, it must never be considered that we are in any way bound to statements made by correspondents.

TREBLE BOB COMPOSITIONS.

SIR,—Mr. Lindoff's letter in your last is like the way he gave his composition in a previous issue, very misleading, and contains statements at variance with facts. The peal in question may be a round block or a square one; but, sir, it contains only sixteen courses, and should be given by as many course-ends, the same as ninety-nine of every hundred are given by other composers. Our friend may use as many bobs H as he chooses at starting, but he will allow me to remind him that he is one of a very small minority to adopt such an innovation. In conclusion my humble opinion is, the composition under notice contains but a shadow of the qualities claimed by its author.

INGHAMSHIRE. By ALFRED HENEAGE COCKE,
M.A., Ch. Ch., Oxford; F.Z.S., F.R.G.S., Great Marlow,
Bucks. With many Illustrations.

MESSRS. JARROLD & SONS have pleasure in announcing the
early publication by subscription of this most interesting and important work. It will contain an account of all the Church Bells
in Buckinghamshire, with everything relating to their history that can be discovered. Full accounts of all the Founders whose bells
hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County
including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church Bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. The work was undertaken at the instigation of the late J. C. L. Stahl Schmidt Esq., author of "Surrey Bells and London Bell-founders," "The Church Bells of Kent," "Herts," etc.; and the fact that the author
had the benefit of the kind assistance and advice of this well-known
campanologist may be mentioned as some guarantee of the scope and nature of the present work. Mr. Stahl Schmidt wrote the author,
that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting county," and he repeated this opinion in a subsequent letter. The
"Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 600 pages to be handsomely illustrated with 24 full-page plates of medieval letter-
ings, founders marks, etc., found on Bells still existing in the County
and numerous figures—some of them being peculiar to Bucks—will be inserted in the text. The 8vo. Edition is limited to 350 copies, and will be offered to subscribers before the day of publication at 21s. nett. The Larger Edition, Royal 4to, is limited to 80 copies, and will be subscribed at 42s. The prices will be raised on the day of issue should any copies remain unsold.

[Vol. XV.

OPENING OF A NEW PEAL OF TEN BELLS AT EWERBY, LINCOLNSHIRE.

On Sunday last, the 19th inst., a new peal of ten bells was dedicated at St. Andrew's, Ewerby. A ring of four formerly hung in the tower of the church, but through the instrumentality of the Earl of Winchilsea and Nottingham, of Haverholme Priory, near Sleaford, six new bells have been added, the old bells tuned, and the whole rehung in an iron frame, with all the latest improvements, by Messrs. Taylor & Co.

The church, which has been very recently reopened after restoration, was filled with a large congregation for Morning Prayer at 11 a.m., and the Vicar, the Rev. W. Grayson, who was preceded by the processional cross and surpliced choir to the belfry, read the Dedication Prayer, at the conclusion of which the new bells rang out merrily for the first time.

The Sleaford Society of change-ringers had been invited by Lord Winchilsea to perform the opening ceremony, and stood as follows: N. E. Snow (conductor), 1; W. Townsend, 2; A. Whitworth, 3; F. Williams, 4; T. H. Holdich, 5; E. Rowbottom, 6; C. Harwood, 7; J. E. Picker, 8; C. W. Jackson, 9; Earl of Winchilsea and Nottingham, 10. Tenor about 16 cwt.

At the conclusion of the ringing, processional hymn 215 A. & M. was sung, whilst the choir and clergy returned to the chancel, and Morning Prayer with special psalms and lessons was proceeded with. Dean Young, assistant-priest at Sleaford, preached an eloquent sermon on bells and their uses.

After service several touches were rung, including a 395 Grandsire Caters by the following: W. Townsend, 1; N. E. Snow, 2; A. Whitworth, 3; Jno. Taylor, sen., 4; E. D. Taylor, 5; E. Rowbottom, 6; C. Harwood, 7; T. H. Holdich, 8; J. W. Taylor, jun. (conductor), 9; Earl of Winchilsea, 10.

The ringers were hospitably entertained to dinner at the reading room by the Earl of Winchilsea, who presided, after which a move was again made for the tower. Various touches of Caters and Triples were rung during the afternoon to the evident appreciation of the inhabitants and visitors who assembled in large numbers to listen to the new peal. An adjournment was made for tea, after which the bells were again rung for evening service. The Ven. Archdeacon Gorton preached an interesting sermon to a crowded congregation.

Ewerby church is noted for the beauty and elegance of its lofty tower and spire, and the augmentation of the old four to ten is worthy of the church. No other church in Lincolnshire, excepting the parish church at Grantham, can boast more than eight bells.

The new bells have been cast and the whole peal hung by Messrs. Taylor & Co. of Loughborough, and it is needless to say that their tone and "go" leaves nothing to be desired; everyone being loud in their praises of the skilful way in which the old and new peal have been blended, and the harmonious effect of the whole.

The Earl of Winchilsea and Nottingham, who is known throughout the length and breadth of the land for his untiring efforts on behalf of the decaying industry of agriculture, is a most enthusiastic ringer, and took the greatest interest in the day's proceedings.

We believe we are correct in saying that a nobleman in a ringing-chamber, taking part in touches of Caters and Triples is somewhat unique, and we trust that so excellent an example may not be lost upon other members of the aristocracy.

We often wonder how anyone with his lordship's multitudinous engagements, could possibly find time to devote himself to campanological pursuits; but it is busy men who can find time for most work and most play.

We shall make further reference to these bells next week, and give the inscriptions upon them.

EDENBRIDGE, KENT.—THE KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

DEDICATION OF NEW BELLS.—The long delayed event of opening the two additional trebles, which were hung some two months ago, and now constitute a peal of eight, were together with an organ, formerly dedicated to the service and glory of God on Wednesday, July 8th. The old ring of six were hung nearly a century ago by Mears and Co., and the work of casting the new bells, together with the superintending of the necessary alterations, as the additions for the new structure, was in the hands of a London firm. The requirements wanted for the hanging of the bells, new framework, etc., were intrusted to a local firm, who from experience as practical ringers, executed their work in a most able and workmanlike manner (a striking contrast to a note in these columns as instances of local tinkering). The service was well attended by the parishioners, before which several touches were rung by the locals, and in the evening a 504 of Grandsire Triples was rung. J. Edwards, 1; R. Jenner, 2; J. Heasman, 3; J. Steddy, 4; J. Wallis, 5; T. Wallis, 6; J. Preston (conductor), 7; J. Maylon, 8. And a well-struck quarter-peal in the same method was rung in 49 mins. J. Edwards, 1; R. Jenner, 2; J. Heasman, 3; J. Steddy, 4; J. Wallis, 5; J. Preston (conductor), 6; E. Dunk (Westerham), 7; J. Maylon, 8. Afterwards with the assistance of Messrs. Dunk, Steer, and Heath, from Westerham, several touches of Kent Treble Bob Major were rung, and then concluded what it is hoped, is the beginning of a successful time for the Edenbridge ringers. It was originally intended to go for a peal, but owing to the bad running condition of some of the old bells, and the fact that they had within a week been fitted with new ropes, made such an idea almost impossible. It is worthy of note that during the present year up to June 10th the Edenbridge ringers have rung nearly thirty 720s of Minor in eight methods, and more than two-thirds were rung in Treble Bob methods.

SOCIETY FOR THE ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD.

The annual meeting of this society was held at Lichfield, on Saturday, June 27th. Unfortunately two neighbouring associations were holding meetings on the same day, with the result that the number of ringers present was very much less than usual. It would seem to be a desirable thing for some mutual arrangement to be made, by which any such clashing of fixtures might be avoided. In spite, however, of the fact that several familiar faces were missing the meeting passed off very successfully. The sermon at Evensong in the cathedral was preached by the Rev. Prebendary Bolton, who was also present at the tea subsequently, and to whom a vote of thanks was unanimously voted. After tea the general meeting was held. The Rev. O. A. Steele, rector of St. Michael's, Lichfield, an hon. member of the society, presided. Here the usual business was transacted, and eleven new members were elected. The officers of the association were re-appointed, as were also the representatives at the Central Council, viz., Mr. S. Reeves and Mr. R. Cartwright. In acknowledging his re-election as hon. treasurer, the Rev. D. Jones took the opportunity to thank the members of the society, who some time since presented him, on the occasion of his marriage, with a handsome oak revolving library chair.

The quarterly meetings for the ensuing year were fixed for Brewood, Cannock, and Barton-under-Needwood. A vote of thanks to the chairman brought the business to a close.

THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

FYLDE BRANCH.—The usual quarterly meeting of the above was held at Lytham on Saturday, July 18th. The bells of St. Cuthbert's were kindly placed at the disposal of the members from 3 p.m. to 5.30 by the Rev. Canon Hawkins, a Life Member of this branch; St. Peter's 5 till 6 p.m., by the Rev. Canon Taylor; and St. John's bells by the Rev. R. Halstead. At the meeting, which was held in St. John's schools, J. C. Needham, Esq., presided, and apologised for the absence of the Rev. R. Halstead, who was enjoying a few days of well-earned rest. In the course of his remarks, he welcomed the association to Lytham. He said that it had given him great pleasure in listening to the bells of St. Cuthbert's church. He was sure it was a musical treat to that end of the town, and hoped the bells of St. John's would be rung, so as to give that end of the town a little cheerfulness.

The speaker then referred to the death of their beloved vicar, the Rev. T. G. Smart, a former life member of this branch. The Chairman said that all who knew him highly respected him, and he was sure they all mourned his decease. He now called on the branch secretary, Mr. J. Fell, for a few remarks.

The Secretary said since their last meeting they had two serious losses in the branch by death; one was the late vicar of St. John's, also Mr. John Salthouse. They had recently heard of all the good qualities of the late vicar, but he thought it was not necessary to repeat them here, only he might say that they of St. John's had lost a gentleman who had always studied the wants of the ringers and anything connected with the belfry. The late vicar was always pleased to grant the use of the bells to any company of ringers who wanted to have a pull on them. With regard to the late John Salthouse, he said the ringers of St. John's had missed his familiar face in the belfry. He was a credit to the Exercise; always ready to further the Art of ringing, both in tunes and changes. He could not let the fact pass, because he thought that such a person was indispensable in a belfry, and trusted that members of each belfry might be like him, punctual and practical. He then went on to say that Mr. Salthouse had rung various methods on six bells, and it was his ambition to ring a 5040 Grandsire Triples, but had not lived to perform it.

Proposed by Mr. A. E. Wilson, seconded by Mr. Bamber, that a vote of condolence be sent to Mr. Salthouse's widow and family.

Election of members being the next business, the secretary said it gave him great pleasure in proposing J. C. Needham, Esq., as a life member of the association; and G. R. Bellamy, Esq., an hon. member. Mr. Clitheroe, ringing master, seconded, and in a few remarks said that he knew Mr. Needham to have the good and welfare of ringers at heart, and trusted that in time the clergy would see that the office of the ringer was an important one. He thought that these meetings strengthened the good feeling amongst clergy and ringers alike.

The place of next meeting will be at Kirkham, in October.

Mr. A. E. Baker signified his willingness to be transferred from the Blackburn branch to the Fylde district, and the members are only too pleased to see him in this district.

Mr. Clitheroe proposed that the best thanks of the meeting be sent to the authorities for the use of their respective bells and school.

A very hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Chairman, proposed by Mr. R. Cookson, Lytham, and very ably seconded Mr. E. A. Baker.

The meeting terminated, all having enjoyed the afternoon's proceedings. The methods practised were Plain Bob, Grandsire Minor and Doubles.

CODICOTE, HERTS.

INDUCTION OF THE VICAR, AND RE-DEDICATION OF THE BELLS.—On Friday afternoon, June 27th, in the presence of a good congregation at St. Giles' church, the Rev. J. H. Dixon was inducted to the vicarage of Codicote by the Ven. Archdeacon Lawrence, of St. Albans. Evening prayer was read by the Rev. H. Jones, of Knebworth: the first lesson by the vicar, and the second by the Rev. H. Jephson, rector of Ayot St. Peter, and Rural Dean. The usual formalities being gone through, such as unlocking the door, tolling the bell, and special prayers, etc., an address was given by the Archdeacon, who said there were two important ceremonies taking place that day, the most important being the induction of the vicar. The other was the re-dedication of the bells, which was also very important. The offertory taken amounted to £11 9s., and is to be devoted to the liquidation of the £50 now remaining due. After service a merry peal was rung by the local band, after which a selected band from Hertford rang 620 Plain Bob Minor in 22 mins. J. Warner, 1; W. Cavill, 2; M. Ellsmore, 3; H. Warner, 4; J. Cavill, 5; H. G. Rowe (conductor), 6. This was the first ever rung on the bells. A capital tea was provided at The Bell inn for the visitors, the local ringers being entertained by the vicar. After tea a 720 Kent Treble Bob was rung. W. Cavill, 1; J. Warner, 2; M. Ellsmore, 3; H. Warner, 4; H. G. Rowe, 5; J. Cavill (conductor), 6. Also a 720 of Plain Bob, conducted by Mr. Rowe. The "go" of the bells are satisfactory, and the work has been carried out in an excellent manner. The noise from the bells made it difficult to hear the conductor, and it is hoped that the ropes will be carried further down. The bells are a musical peal in the key of G. Tenor 10 cwt.

THE WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

A meeting of this Guild was held at Dorking on Monday, July 13th, the gathering including the Revs. R. C. M. Harvey, vicar of Eastleigh (chairman), C. E. Matthews, Hursley, Winchester (Secretary and Treasurer), and several other clergymen. At the conclusion of the meeting a full choral service was held at the parish church for the benefit of the ringers. The service was followed by a dinner at the Town Hall, and at the completion of the repast, the different bands were told off to various churches in the neighbourhood. The Farnham and Yately bands left Dorking for Leatherhead; the Alton, Capel, Portsea, and Petersfield detachments proceeding to Ashstead, where the vicar of Alton and his two daughters, together with several of the other bands, rang a touch of Grandsire Triples, Mr. Symons acting as conductor to the Portsea party. The Bournemouth, Christchurch, Gosport, Leatherhead, and Romsey bands journeyed to Guildford. The Hambledon and Wickham men went to Capel and Ockley; the Basingstoke, Chiddingfold, Fareham, and Havant bands visited Gomshall, afterwards proceeding to Shere; the Bagshot, Ewhurst, Privett and Ryde bands remaining at Dorking. Romsey has been selected for next year's annual meeting.

CHANGES OF ADDRESS.—The address of Mr. William Holmes is 6, Pleasant row, Newcastle-on-Tyne.—The address of William H. Barber and Frederick Clayton is Masshouse farm, King's Norton, Worcestershire.—Mr. A. Symonds has removed to 41, Market place, Lavenham, Suffolk.—Mr. H. G. Rowe writes to say that he is now living at 16, Hillingdon Road, Uxbridge, Middlesex.

We have already intimated that our Ringers' Directory is undergoing revision, and that we shall feel obliged by all ringers notifying to us their present address. This Directory is of course a private m.s. volume, but its value to the Exercise ought not to be disregarded. We are frequently asked for ringers' addresses, and a book of this description is therefore useful. It is very important to have all the names of the Secretaries and leaders of companies entered.

THE KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

LEWISHAM DISTRICT.—A Quarterly Meeting was held at Chislehurst on Saturday last, July 18th, there being a very large attendance, thoroughly representative of this most flourishing district. The usual business meeting took place in the parish schools, Mr. Frederick W. Thornton, of Greenwich, being unanimously voted to the chair. Preliminaries having been rapidly disposed of, St. Mary's, Lewisham, was by a large majority selected as the place for the Annual Meeting of the district on Saturday, October 17th.

The vexed question affecting the interests of non-resident life members, which was productive of much heated argument at the Annual General Meeting in June last, was again brought forward in the form of a personal explanation by the energetic and popular hon. sec., Mr. William Bedwell, who, in a pithy and exhaustive speech, detailed his action upon that occasion. This led to a very animated debate, interspersed by several indignant protests against the method adopted at the General Meeting of "rushing matters through without sufficient notice." The speeches of Messrs. H. N. Davis, T. Groombridge, H. Barton and J. George (Rugby) were listened to with much interest, and one facetious member proposed a resolution recommending the formation of a new association for North and West Kent. This the chairman declined to accept, as being entirely out of order, remarking that to adopt such a policy would be "simply suicidal." Eventually the following resolution was proposed by Mr. W. Berry, seconded by Mr. W. Weatherstone, and carried with acclamation, viz.:—"This meeting desires to record its unabated confidence in Mr. Wm. Bedwell, and thanks him for the able manner in which he defended the interests of the Lewisham district on the occasion of the Annual General Meeting of the association." Mr. Bedwell, with great feeling, briefly expressed his gratitude.

A further resolution (drafted by the chairman at the request of the members) was thereupon moved by Mr. T. Groombridge (Chislehurst), seconded by Mr. G. Conyard (Crayford), and unanimously agreed to, copies being ordered to be forwarded to the hon. secretary, Rev. F. J. O. Helmore, and each of the district secretaries, with a view to some concerted action being taken at a future date. The resolution is as follows:—"This meeting is strongly of opinion that no alteration in rules should be made unless at least one month's notice is publicly given, and further, should not take effect until passed by the members assembled in Annual General Meeting."

A cordial vote of thanks was accorded the rector of Chislehurst for the use of the bells and schoolroom, and the meeting brought to a close with a similar compliment to Mr. F. W. Thornton, who throughout the proceedings presided with his usual characteristic ability, on several occasions deftly throwing oil upon the troubled waters.

Several creditable touches of Plain Bob, Grandsire, Stedman, Treble Bob, Double Norwich, and Superlative, were rung during the day.

THE GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

The Quarterly Meeting of this Association was held at Almondsbury on Saturday, July 4th, which is a charming village, but a trifle inaccessible. After a little ringing, Divine Service was held, the vicar giving a most interesting address, and subsequently the company repaired to the Memorial Institute for a meat tea, which was all that could be desired. The Honorary Secretary then presented to the Master (Mr. C. E. D. Boulflower), on behalf of the Association, an illuminated address, congratulating him on his recent marriage, and a set of twelve handbells by Mears and Stainbank. Past-Master Cockey had previously written expressing his great regret at being prevented from attending by a pressing engagement elsewhere; and late in the afternoon a pathetic telegram arrived from Past-Master Ward, of Cheltenham, saying that he had missed his train, but was byking against a furious head wind, and hoped to arrive before the proceedings were over. After the presentation, a business meeting was held, but unfortunately Mr. Ward had not appeared, and his disconsolate brother-ringers ascended the tower and tried to forget their grief among the ropes.

HALIFAX AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of this Association was held at Sowerby on Saturday, July 4th, and was attended by about fifty ringers, from Halifax, Brighouse, Lightcliffe Church, Lightcliffe Chapel, Stainland, Mytholmroyd, Lindley and Heptonstall, and by the Sowerby company. Touches of Grandsire Triples, Kent Treble Bob Major and Minor, and various Minor methods were rung by mixed bands during the day.

A Business Meeting was held in the Sunday School, Mr. J. W. Barrett, of Sowerby, in the chair, at which it was resolved to ask Mr. William Barraclough, of Halifax Parish Church, to stand as President. Messrs. F. Prince, of Brighouse, and J. Smith, of Sowerby, were elected Vice-Presidents, and Mr. J. W. Barrett, of Sowerby, Treasurer. It was decided to hold the next meeting at Brighouse, on Saturday, October 3rd.

At a Committee Meeting immediately afterwards, Messrs. F. Prince, W. J. Jones, J. Lawson and W. Sutcliffe, together with the Secretary and President (ex-officio) were appointed as a sub-Committee, to draw up a code of rules, for the approval of the next General Meeting.

The Association takes this opportunity of conveying its heartiest thanks, to the Rev. T. Hinchley, Vicar of Sowerby, for the use of the bells and school-room. F. P. P.

THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

LIVERPOOL DIOCESAN BRANCH.—The monthly meeting in connection with this branch took place at Woolton on Saturday, July 4th. Members attended from Aughton, Farnworth, Garston, Huyton, Liverpool, Southport, and also the local company. The tower was open for ringing at 4 o'clock, but owing to the wet afternoon, members did not turn up so early. The business meeting was held in the schoolroom, presided over by Canon Spooner. He remarked how pleased he was to see those present, and gave the Association a most cordial welcome to Woolton. He congratulated them on the excellent work in connection with change-ringing throughout the diocese, and hoped it would continue to flourish.

A vote of thanks to the chairman for presiding; also to the local company for having everything in readiness, brought the meeting to a close.

Canon Spooner then kindly invited those present to partake of his hospitality, and provided a first-class tea, to which ample justice was done.

The bells were afterwards rung by mixed companies, and the visitors departed highly pleased with the various proceedings that had taken place.

The next meeting will be held at Halewood on Saturday, August 1st, and it is requested that members will do their utmost to attend, and lend a helping hand to those who are not so far advanced in the Art. Members subscriptions are now overdue, and may be paid to the secretary at any of the branch meetings, or by post.

UNVEILING A PEAL-BOARD AT WEST HAM, ESSEX.

On Tuesday, June 23rd, in the presence of a large muster of ladies and gentlemen, which included the vicar, the Rev. A. Pelly; the Rev. W. E. Morrow; and W. Deacon, Esq., churchwarden, who attended to witness the ceremony performed by the vicar, who congratulated the ringers on their success in ringing a peal of Grandsire Caters, 5057 changes, on February 22nd last. He remarked that sixty-eight years was a long time since the last board was erected in the tower. The tablet is of pitch pine, with black panels, and written in gold letters, and has given every satisfaction. After ringing 395 Grandsire Caters, the ringers, sixteen in number, were invited to the vicarage grounds to partake of supper, provided by the vicar, where ample justice was done to the good things provided.

The cloth was then removed, and a vote of thanks proposed by Mr. Doran to the rev. gentleman for his kind hospitality that evening, and to the Rev. W. E. Morrow for accepting subscriptions towards the board. This was seconded by Mr. H. Randall, the retiring steeplekeeper.

The ringers then performed a course of Caters, and two or three tunes on the handbells, thus bringing a very pleasant evening to a close.

DARTON SURPRISE MINOR.—We have received numerous letters pointing out that this method is false both in construction and in the composition given. The interior working of the method has evidently not been checked by its inventor.

CURRENT TOPICS.

Would that all Church Bell Ringers were as observant as my old friend, Mr. Trollope, when they are on the road. We are all good at visiting strange towers, whether by train, cycle, river, or that well known means of locomotion called "the marrowbone stage," and "shanks' pony," but only a small quantum devote themselves to the search for the picturesque while such visits are being made. Mr. Trollope's account of his rambles is refreshing—quite. The dilapidated condition in which he found bells at some of the churches was of course to be expected. The old, old story of belfry neglect is getting tedious; it grates on the senses most mightily; and I fear that, like the poor, it will always be with us. We are obliged to the writer of such an interesting article, but for goodness' sake, Mr. Trollope, tell us what kind of a thing is a "sexton's wheel." I have heard of a sexton's spade, a sexton's searcher, and a sexton's wand—the latter being for the benefit of unruly boys in church; but what is a "sexton's wheel?" Do tell us all about it, Mr. Trollope, and pity our unhappy ignorance.

A deceased friend of mine, whose initials were "T. C.," once upon a time came in for a legacy of £500. Both of us had a friend who was a bit of a caricaturist, and when he heard of this legacy he made a very neat sketch of a man, supposed to represent "T. C.," walking along the street, when suddenly a heavy flower-pot fell from a third storey window upon his tall hat, and ruined it. Underneath the sketch was written—"T. C. has a windfall." Of course it is needless to say this lucky fellow was not a ringer.

This incident has come again to memory upon reading the notice and request issued by the Master of the London St. James's Society in last Saturday's paper. There it is emphatically stated that if three ringers—their names and addresses are fully given—will communicate with him, "they may hear of something to their advantage." What! have these lucky ringers inherited a legacy—had a windfall? Amazing! If the Master of the Society aforesaid is not a lawyer, he must be a wag. I suspect the latter. This notice will probably be repeated in the coming number, and it would not be amiss for some enterprising person to try and acquaint these three gentlemen of the probable windfall that awaits them. Such information ought to pay. I should dearly like to know the quality and quantity of the advantage these three ringers are likely to hear of. Privately, of course, and not for publication.

What a deal could be said and written upon differences and varieties of opinion among bell-ringers. Of a verity we are a funny lot. I believe in every ringing company there is to be found one, at least, who always objects to whatever is proposed. This behaviour is what the Americans call "cussedness." And the worst of it is that these "cussed" folk generally manage to create such a difficulty that movements and proposals fall through entirely. See next paragraph.

Our outing has not yet taken place. In fact, we can't agree upon the spot which shall have the benefit of our presence. Some want to go here, some there, and some prefer sharing-out. We have one or two nice, good young men, with long, curly hair on their foreheads, who pose as geniuses, and they deprecate strongly the idea of a dinner at any price—"gormandising" they call it. Their idea is to have three or four days at a quiet family retreat kept by a benevolent lady of uncertain age, who provides bed and board for people who affect Byronic garb, at a ridiculously low sum per diem or week. At this hostelry no intoxicants are allowed, not even the smallest of small beer, while tobacco is held to be a gross defilement. Though I don't greatly indulge in malt liquor, I like to have a look at it now and then; and I am an incorrigible smoker. So this famed retreat won't go down at all. What will be done I don't know.

My readers will have not forgotten my note last week re the town of Southend-on-Sea. This has provoked the following communication:—

DEAR MR. EDITOR.—Enclosed please find doggerel, perpetrated in answer to and dedicated to "Plain Speaker," re his notes on Southend last week:—

There's a corner of Essex, till lately unknown
To those who assistance could bring
To a company who, on a heavy old six,
Were contentedly learning to ring.

We used to be noted for cockles and mud,
And no poet our praises would sing;
But now we have taken away the reproach,
For we own a respectable ring.

What matter to ringers though cockles be cheap,
And excursions their thousands do bring?
"What's the use of our wasting a day at Southend, Where we shan't have a chance of a ring?"

But the execution is over at last—
On high "John" and "Mary" now swing (That's what we have christened the Trebles, you see,
To complete a most musical ring).

Now all little towns, where you've only got six,
If in "BELL NEWS" you're wanting a fling,
Get two Trebles hung as soon as you can,
And own a respectable ring.

W.H.J.

To the above I am asked to add the following extra doggerel:—

If round the east coast,
You would like to scud,
Put in at Southend,
And call upon Judd.
A ringer of fame, 288 (or)
And conductor to boot,
Understanding all methods
Right up from the root.
He'll be pleased to allay
Your thirst for a ring,
And refreshments ad lib.
In due course he'll bring.

COALEY, GLOUCESTERSHIRE.

On Friday, the 3rd July, a muffled peal was rung at the parish church, Coaley, out of respect to the late Right Honourable Lord Fitzhardinge—who was lord of the manor of the parish—and whose lamented death occurred on Monday, the 29th June, and was interred at Berkeley church on July 3rd.

After about half an hour's ringing the usual whole pull and stand sixty-nine times (the age of the deceased lord) were gone through, and the bells left up until Sunday morning, when a touch of Bob Minor and a few six-scores of Stedman also with the bells half muffled were well and steadily struck by the following—Messrs. Prout (2), C. East, G. Condict, T. Savage and W. Dean.

THOMAS BLACKBOURN,
CHURCH BELL HANGER, AND TUNER.
SALISBURY, WILTSHIRE.

THOMAS BLACKBOURN is a practical Ringer, and having had considerable experience in Church Bell hanging and tuning, with confidence solicits the patronage of the Clergy, Churchwardens and Ringers generally.

T. B. has devoted a great deal of attention to the fixing of Clock Hammers used for striking the hours and quarters on Church Bells. These are sometimes placed in awkward and dangerous positions, even by Church Clock Makers.

T. BLACKBOURN'S experience enables him to affix these hammers, with their accompanying levers in a most accurate manner, preventing any danger to the bell frame or clock. He will be glad to advise on clocks as well as bells.

The Ellacombe Chime Hammers fixed, Sole Fixers of Libby's Apparatus for Silent practice. Handbells supplied. Bells weighed in the tower at a small cost.

A PEAL OF 362,880 GRANDSIRE CATERS, 6d.
Contains the full extent of changes on nine bells. Forwarded Post Free, on receipt of 7d By James Hewett, 15, Chape Row, Gosport.

The Bell News & Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, JULY 25, 1896.

"An attractive and business-like programme," says an influential daily paper, "has been issued for the Church Congress, which is to be held at Shrewsbury in the early part of October. The organisers have a short way—such as might be envied at Westminster—of dealing with loquacity. They simply impose a time-limit on every speech. A few orators are given twenty minutes, but the rest have to round off their last periods before the clock has marked a quarter of an hour. The distinction may appear a little invidious as against those who receive the smaller allowance; but it is open to them to treat it as an implied compliment to their powers of condensation." Whether the following list of subjects to be considered at the Congress bear out the definition of "an attractive and business-like programme" is simply a matter of opinion. We think it an excellent specimen of the milk-and-water kind. The organ alluded to goes on to tell us that "one of the subjects which is to be settled is the Causes and possible Remedies of Intemperance. Another which has to be disposed of is the bearing of the Theory of Evolution upon Christian Doctrine. It does not appear whether the disputants are expected to bring forward nothing but what is absolutely novel. In that case it is not unlikely that they will find some difficulty in filling out the time. But we cannot too highly commend the enterprise of the Churchmen who have undertaken, in a single afternoon, to discuss all the proposals for the financial relief of Voluntary Schools, the establishment of Local Educational Authorities, and the protection of parental rights as to the Religious Education of their children. But the meeting will not confine itself to ecclesiastical and political topics. An opportunity for philanthropical relaxation—perhaps for a little playing to the gallery—is afforded by a paper which (need we say?) will be read by Sir ALBERT ROLLIT on the Duty of the Church in regard to the Industrial Problems of the Day, and especially on the 'morality' of strikes and lock-outs. A similar chance is given to the Bishop of Hereford in an address on International Relations in the light of the Gospel. From Armenia and Crete it may seem an abrupt transition to enter on Tendencies in Modern Society. But we may fairly look for something smart and trenchant when the Congress takes in hand the latest developments of the Newspaper, the Novel, and—this, of course—the Woman. Special attention will be devoted, we understand, to the subject of Amusements and Recreations, and some light may be thrown on the course to be pursued by the parish clergyman with regard to those balancing Christians—the cyclist who will go to church if he is permitted to leave his machine in the porch, and the votary of the river who is ready to perform the same duty if boating costume is held admissible. Such are some of the questions, grave and otherwise, that will receive the attention of the Shrewsbury Congress. But the one reserved for the last afternoon will, we fear, come home with painful force to the great bulk of the members. That is the trite yet urgent topic of the Impoverishment of the Clergy. The case cannot, perhaps, be more strongly put than by recalling the fact that many of those who, from their personal experiences, could furnish the most striking illustrations, will be unable to attend the meeting. With sinking incomes and undiminished claims, they will have to deny themselves the pleasure of a few days' intercourse with their colleagues in the Church, and to forego the advantage of taking their proper part in a great professional occasion."

And this is what The Standard calls an "attractive and business-like programme." With all deference, it appears to us the most namby-pamby affair we have seen in connection with a Church Congress for a long time. One subject only, and that the last on the programme, is of value. We did not of course expect that anything would be mooted with regard to bell-chamber reform, or the necessary and proper recognition of Church Bell Ringers as an important feature of Church economy. But such a subject would be infinitely before many of those in the programme.

TREBLE BOB COMPOSITIONS.

SIR.—Mr. Dains seemingly can bring no sensible argument forward to support his objections to my peal; I would therefore advise him to bury those objections, or at least not to try to force them down one's throat again. Of course, on the old "stone wall" system one would never think of using 2 H in starting, as they close two of the three gates to rounds. As regards my misleading peal which he mentions, I have placed it below (5472), presuming it to be the one alluded to, he having previously questioned the truth of the footnote, and at the same time stated that he had plenty on the plan. I now ask him to come forward and prove where it is misleading, and to show one of the plenty. My 5024 having been rung, I place below my second production, 5088. Before publishing the 5024, I had the pleasure of meeting one of our greatest and best-known composers, and would ask Mr. Dains to remember his words: "Well, never mind, if it does start with 2 H, it's one with the qualities long sought after."

Obituary.

JESSE HORNER.

It is with much regret that we have to record the death, on Friday, July 3rd, of the above-named ringer, of Irthlingborough, Northamptonshire, at the age of 18 years, after a long illness, the cause of death being consumption. Deceased had been a member of the Irthlingborough band since it was formed two years ago. Never being strong, he only took part in one peal, that being a peal of Bob Major, when he rang the treble; it was also his first and last attempt. Since then he has only rung a few times. The funeral took place at Irthlingborough on Monday, July 6th. After the service an attempt was made, with the bells deeply muffled, for a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major, which was lost after 30 minutes' ringing. Then touches of 432 and 744 of Double Norwich were rung.

NEWCASTLE RINGERS v. TANFIELD RINGERS.

This match was played on Saturday, July 4th, the visitors being victorious by 16 runs, having won two out of three matches played there.

The visiting team met at the White Hart restaurant at 2 o'clock, and a few minutes after the renowned "Alf" of St. John's arrived with a splendid pair of horses and wagonette, capable of carrying nine of the team, while the other two preferred the "bike" as a means of conveyance.

The weather at the commencement of the journey looked dull and cloudy, which broke out just before Tanfield was reached, the rain coming down in torrents, and drenched those who had not had the forethought to bring "mac" or "gamp" along with them. One "bikist," to save his skin being damped, got into a hedge bottom.

Tanfield was reached about 3.30, and the rain having abated, the pitch for the wicket was visited and found to be in capital condition, and only a few minutes were required to get matters ready for a start. The home team was captained by T. Brewis, while W. Holmes did honour for the visitors. The coin was spun, and the toss being won by the visitors' captain, he, preferring his team to bat first, sent Clapperton and Dall to the wicket, Brewis and Henderson being the "trudlers" for the homesters.

"Lobs" were sent down, and Henderson had captured 2 wickets for 3 runs. This looked disastrous for the visitors, but thanks to the fine batting of Dall and Hillier, a stand was made, they carrying the score to 32 before a separation was made. Another wicket was lost without any addition to the score. Lindsey and Hall then came together, and made the homesters do a little more leather-hunting, two changes in the bowling being tried before they were separated, Lowe taking the place of Henderson, 56 being the score when Brewis splendidly caught Lindsey off Lowe.

The remaining 4 wickets of the visitors only yielded 1 more run, the innings closing for 57 runs.

The weather had now turned out beautiful and fine, the home team sending T. Brewis and Henderson to the bowling of Holmes and Dall, Henderson falling a victim to Lindsey from a splendid delivery from Dall. Lowe then joined Brewis, and seemed likely to make a stand, when T. Brewis, in trying to get one through the slips, was beautifully caught by Dall. 2 down for 15. The bowling of the visitors proved too strong for the homesters, 7 more wickets falling for 9 runs.

H. Archdall then put in an appearance, and by a display of fine cricket raised the score to 41, when Tyson got into difficulties with a delivery from Holmes, and knocking the ball into the wicket, the home team having compiled 41 runs, the visitors thus winning by 16 runs.

After the tackle had been cleared off the field, the two teams made for The Peacock Inn, where a capital spread was in preparation, for which Host Johnson is noted. After a short wait someone shouted, "go"—probably "Hercules"—and the way the different courses changed! it was enough to make anyone believe that cricket was a splendid "appetizer." These courses being finished, some made an adjournment to the tower, where there is a splendid peal of eight by Warner, to try courses of a different nature, which were soon set in motion to the tune of Stedman Triples. After a short spell in that method, an amateur named Bob from the tower of St. Matthew's was tried in a course of "Bob Triples," but missing his tuft it ended in "Bob Troubles," but however, by a little coaxing, he managed to ring a plain course on the treble. A course of Kent Treble Bob was then rung, and the bells brought down in peal.

The two teams again assembled at The Peacock, when a "Pickwickian" hour was spent, toasts, songs and remarks following in quick succession, the "Bishop" being in the chair.

Nine o'clock having arrived, the visitors began to prepare for the return journey to the "canny toon," arriving there about 10.40 p.m., having had a pleasant though boisterous drive home again.

One of the wheelers not having the necessary beacon for the front of his machine, and being afraid of the everwatchful "Bob Peeler," put his bike into the wagonette and finished the journey with the others.

The visitors wish to thank the members of the Tanfield Guild for kindly arranging so splendid an outing, also the cricket club for the use of the ground and tackle.

MESSRS. JARROLD & SONS have pleasure in announcing the early publication by subscription of this most interesting and important work. It will contain an account of all the Church Bells in Buckinghamshire, with everything relating to their history that can be discovered. Full accounts of all the Foundries whose bells hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. The work was undertaken at the instigation of the late J. C. L. Stubbins Esq., author of "Surrey Bells and Loddon Bell-founders," "The Church Bells of Kent," "Herts," etc.; and the fact that the author had the benefit of the kind assistance and advice of this well-known campanologist may be mentioned as some guarantee of the scope and nature of the present work. Mr. Stubbins was one of the authors, that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting county," and he repeated this opinion in a subsequent letter. The "Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 600 pages to be handsomely illustrated with 24 full-page plates of mediaeval letterings, founders marks, etc., found on bells still existing in the County and numerous figures—quite or then being peculiar to Bucks—will be inserted in the text. The 6vo. Edition is limited to 350 copies, and will be offered to subscribers before the day of publication at 21s. nett. The Larger Edition, Royal 4to, is limited to 80 copies, and will be subscribed at 42s. The prices will be raised on the day of issue should any copies remain unsold.

THE OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

The annual festival of this Guild was held on Monday, July 20, at Bletchley. The attendance of members, despite the fine weather, was not so large as could have been desired, but the meeting was most enjoyable, thanks to the excellent arrangements of the enthusiastic Secretary, the Rev. R. H. Hart-Davis, of Dunsden, Reading, and the cordial greeting which was extended to the visitors by the Rev. W. Bennitt, the rector of Bletchley, who did all that was possible to ensure the success of the festival. The bells of the Parish Church rang joyously for about two hours during the morning, starting at half-past nine, the following being the ringers:—The Rev. F. E. Robison, of Drayton, Abingdon (Master of the Guild), and Messrs. W. Jeffrey, P. Hind, C. Hounslow, C. Exon, T. Payne, W. Smith, and J. W. Washbrook, of Oxford. A peal of Double Norwich unfortunately broke down through a change-course. Evensong was held in the church at 1 p.m. The Rector officiated, the lessons were read by the Rev. F. E. Robinson, the Master, and Rev. M. Nepean, Rural Dean of Bletchley, and the preacher was the Ven. C. F. J. Bourke, Archdeacon of Buckingham. Appropriate hymns were sung, Miss Gait being the organist. The Archdeacon founded his address on 1 Corinthians xiv. 40, "Let all things be done decently and in order." There were abuses, he said, in the Apostles' times, more especially in the Church of Corinth. St. Paul dealt with them strongly. But if he did not spare, neither did he despair. He firmly believed in the love of God, and the grave of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the fellowship of the Holy Ghost being more than a match for evil. These abuses showed themselves in connection with certain spiritual gifts, more particularly the gift of tongues. They were very largely out-poured, and their wealth tended to confusion. Each Christian wished to be foremost. "How is it?" the Apostle asked, "when ye come together, every one of you hath a psalm, hath a doctrine, hath a tongue, hath a revelation, hath an interpretation." Each was puffed up with his own importance, and the result was uproar and disorder. In applying himself to rebuke and remedy this evil, St. Paul laid down three principles of action. The use of all spiritual gifts must tend to order, to charity, to edification. For order is of God. He has laid His laws upon the seasons, the stars, and the angelic host. And order should rule in the kingdom of men. Charity also is of God. God Himself is love. And the Apostle points out that there is something higher than spiritual gifts, and that is the "more excellent way" of Christian love. And God who gives, gives that He may praise and elevate. And therefore His gifts to men serve not their purpose unless they edify the Church, purify hearts, and build up character. These three great principles should be applied to bellringing. Bellringing might be described as an art and not a gift. Of course it was an art acquired through much work, through long continued, patient practice. It was an art, he believed, in its higher branches peculiar to England—the England of the last three centuries. On the Continent, indeed, the bells are heard, but they are sweet bells, jangled, out of time and tune. So it was not only an art, but a truly national profession. Yet he should be sorry to say that bellringing was not also a gift of God. Were not all noble arts gifts of God? But the gifts of God he was speaking of required men's exertion until they were perfect. God inspired the thought of beauty, and men were to work it into shape with God's help, but by their own labour. The art of the poet, the musician, the painter, and of the architect were all gifts of God, to be used for Him. In illustration let him remind his hearers of the fine story of the great composer Haydn. When his great oratorio The Creation was being performed, and the magnificent passage "Let there be light" had been given for the first time in Vienna, amid a breathless hush of delight, in their enthusiasm the whole vast audience sprang to their feet and called aloud for Haydn. He came forward and uttered only these simple and noble words, "I did it for God: God did it through me." That was what great musical artistes like Haydn felt about their art—That it was given them by God, and they rejoiced to be allowed to use it for God. Was not it the same with bellringing? "You, said the preacher, do it for God; God does it through you." It is a gift made up of many parts; muscle, strength, endurance, quickness of eye, accuracy of ear throughout a long series of changes, fixed attention of mind amid the many subtle complications of the bells in their course. Was it not given by God? Surely bellringing was used for God when it summoned His people to their Father's House, or when it heralded with a burst of jubilation some great feast day, or when it heightened or deepened the rejoicing or the mourning of the nation, the parish, or the family, or when it, with the magic of itself, lifted them out of the rut of the present and suggested higher or purer thoughts, calling up the memory of happy homes, innocent childhood, and friends of long ago. Like every gift of God, it was to be used in the proper way. Once it was not. The older among them could remember when in a great many places bellringing was not used in the proper way, when there was little attention paid to St. Paul's three principles of order, charity, and edification. There were places where the art of change-ringing had perished, or where there was some slovenly substitute for it. There were places where church bells were looked upon merely as a source of private income to the ringer, like the instruments of a band; and the occasions upon which they performed for profit were sometimes little short of disgraceful. There were places where the behaviour of the ringers outside the belfry, and the reports of what went on inside the belfry, made the very name of a ringer a reproach. There were many places where there seemed to be no connexion at all between the ringers of the church bells and the church. It was true that noble exceptions were to be met with here and there, but such things had happened which it was not pleasant for them to remember. There was self-seeking in the ringing, and scandal associated with the work, and in many places the great gift of bell-ringing fell into ill-repute. Those who were members of that Guild had, however, banded themselves together in the name of God to rescue the great art—the great gift of bell-ringing—from neglect and dishonour, to recover for it its true position, to reclaim it back for God. It was a noble undertaking. God had blessed it already, and made it the means of much improvement in the diocese, and an encouragement to those who had long looked for reform. That day the preacher wished them good luck in the name of the Lord, and prayed that He might continue to prosper them. They should "Be strong and of good courage," steadfast in life outside, as well as skilful in ringing inside the church. Let them be loyal, and true to God, ruling themselves by the three great principles set forth by the Apostle, order, charity, edification.

After the service the visitors made their way to the School-room where the business meeting was held, under the presidency of the Master of the Guild. The Rev. R. H. Hart-Davis, secretary, explained that he had unfortunately forgotten to bring the minute book, recording the proceedings of the last annual festival, which was held at Wokingham, and a committee meeting, held on April 18, in Reading. The minutes were, under the circumstance, taken as read and adopted. The election of officers was proceeded with. On the motion of the Rev. G. F. Coleridge, seconded by Mr. J. W. Washbrook, the Master was re-elected, with thanks for his past services.—The Rev. F. E. Robinson having suitably acknowledged the compliment, referred to the secretary, who was desirous of resigning his office. Mr. Hart-Davis had been kind enough to say that he would continue his services until the end of the year. The fact was that the duties were too much for one person to carry out, and they ought to consider at the meeting they would hold in Oxford in the autumn whether the work could be sub-divided.—Mr. Washbrook suggested the name of Canon Blagden as the secretary, but that gentleman said he would not accept the office, as he was now living outside the diocese and was not in touch with it.—The Master said they had one gleam of hope, inasmuch as if Mr. Hart-Davis could obtain official assistance he would continue his office.—The Secretary said he would not be honest unless he told them that it would be almost impossible for him to continue the duties. The Committee of the Guild would meet in the autumn, and he did not think they would experience much difficulty in finding a successor.—The subject was adjourned until the meeting alluded to.

Vacancies on the committee were filled up, and Mr. A. E. Preston, of Oxford was re-elected hon. auditor.—At the instance of the secretary, Mr. George, of Rugby, was added to the list of qualified instructors in ringing. On the motion of Mr. Bradford, of Banbury, seconded by the secretary, it was resolved to hold the festival for 1897 at Banbury. It was arranged that the autumn meeting of the guild should take place in October at Witney. A number of new members were admitted and other business transacted, including a vote of £10 on account to the publisher of "The Peal Book."

Luncheon subsequently took place in a marquee in the yard of the Eight Bulls hotel. The Master presided. Among those present were the Revs. H. Barber, W. Bennitt, Canon Blagden, J. L. Challis, G. F. Coleridge, H. J. Scott, C. H. Scott, G. A. Littledale, Dr. Bradbrook; Messrs. Barlow, Bradford, Beechy, Elburn, Evans, Edwardes, C. H. Exon, Garrett, C. Hounslow, Monk, Napper (2), T. Payne, J. Pether, V. Sear, Spendlow, Tucker, Valentine, Vince, J. W. Washbrook, Webb, and W. E. Yates, representing the following towns which are in union with the guild, Amersham, Bletchley, Bloxham, Chipping Norton, Drayton (Berks), Ducklington, Englefield, Haybourne, Hughenden, Kidlington, Great Marlow, Oxford, Reading, St. Mary and St. Giles, Shipton-under-Wychwood, Stone, Stony Stratford, Witney and Wooburn.

The Master proposed "The Queen," and then cordially thanked the Rector of Bletchley for receiving the guild, the choir of the parish church and the organist for their assistance at the service, and Archdeacon Bourke for his instructive sermon. The Rev. W. Bennitt, in replying, assured the visitors of the great pleasure it had given him to receive them. He mentioned that the ringers of Bletchley church had become members of the guild, and hoped it would not be the last occasion upon which they would meet under similar circumstances. The Master proposed "Success and Prosperity to the Guild." He said they had now 1,150 members, the majority of whom were change ringers, and they were a very respectable body of men. They hoped by another year to clear off the debt they owed to the publisher of their "peal book." They found symptoms of life and activity in their institution, and at Oxford, especially, considerable energy was thrown into its work. They had lately begun a new branch for the Deddington Deanery, hoping to absorb Banbury and other places in it. The Chipping Norton branch showed pleasing signs of activity. The work of the year had been very satisfactory. He impressed upon the ringers that they should do their work for the glory of God.

The secretary re-echoed the thanks of the guild to Mr. Bennitt and to all who had contributed to the success of the festival. Their gathering that day might be comparatively a small one, but it was likely to be fruitful of great results. No fewer than eleven towers had already come into union that year, and 150 new members joined the guild. He humorously remarked that secretaries might come and go, but the master went on for ever. He proposed "The health of the Master," the sentiment being received with enthusiasm, and duly acknowledged. The company then separated.

THE SEXTON'S WHEEL.

For the benefit of Mr. "Plain Speaker," and any other reader of the "BELL NEWS" who may be interested in the matter, I now enclose a short description of the above curiosity.

The one I mentioned in my article last week, that in Yaxley church, was exhibited at the Art Exhibition of the Church Congress last year, and another example, which is in slightly better preservation, exists at the church of Stratton St. Mary which I alluded to also.

I have no knowledge of any others, and although it is likely that some are to be seen in out of the way parish churches, yet they are very scarce.

The wheel consists of two circular discs of iron, 2ft. 8ins. across, placed close together so as to revolve on a short axle. From either end of this axle comes a strip of iron, which two meet outside the circumference of the wheel to form a handle similar to the front fork of an ordinary safety bicycle. Round the circumference are marked, at regular intervals, the six Festivals sacred to the Blessed Virgin, and from each of these hangs a loose string. The use of the thing was to indicate to any pious person who wished to keep the fast of our Lady, what day in the week he should observe it. The fast lasted seven years, and affected one day in each week. The devotee would go to the sexton, pay, I presume, the customary fee, and the latter, holding the handle with one hand, with the other set the wheel in rapid motion. The applicant then snatched at the strings as they revolved, and whichever he caught determined the day of the week his fast had to be kept. What year or period this custom dates from, I cannot say, but it would, I should think, be within the century that preceded the Reformation, or say between 1450 and 1550.

Considering the arduous character of the fast, it is hardly likely that it would be much in use, and who knows how many good resolutions failed long before one year was up, to say nothing of seven.

The presence of such relics as these is an eloquent testimony to the fact that the Cathedrals and Churches of this land are almost the only link that connects us with the forgotten past; and while our glorious Cathedrals contain the dust of kings and warriors, statesmen and nobles, and are themselves the work of men whose names live in history, the old parish church away in the quiet rural village is the last resting place of thousands who, in a humble but not less certain way, did their share in the work of making the England of the present. They are dead; their names, their acts, their customs are forgotten, save that here and there some relic like a Sexton's Wheel remains; but the civilization, and public opinion, and the good and the evil of to-day, are but the sum total of the acts and lives of the men of yesterday and the day before.

J. ARMIGER TROLLOP.

THE MIDDLESEX ASSOCIATION.

A quarterly meeting of this association was held at Edgware on Saturday, July 25, there being an encouraging attendance of members from Barnet, Finchley, Hadley, Hendon, Kentish Town, Southgate and Tottenham, Mr. C. B. Lucas journeying all the way from Walthamstow, and Mr. W. H. L. Buckingham from St. Albans.

The bells at St. Margaret's church are very sweet in tone, but the "go" is indifferent to those accustomed to smoother working, though it is only right to say that as 5040 changes were rung on the bells in eight different methods by members of the association, only so recently as 1893, there is probably little more amiss with the bells than could be set right with the aid of a local carpenter and blacksmith.

In the course of the evening a business meeting was held in the schoolroom, the Rev. H. H. Phelps, vicar of the parish, kindly officiating as chairman. Apart from the usual routine business, the chief point for the consideration of the meeting was the proposed union of this association with the South and West Middlesex Guild, in order to form a strong county association. The feeling of the meeting was strongly in favour of the proposed union, and it was thought by some that a committee of five should be at once nominated to meet the committee already elected by the sister guild at their last annual meeting; but the hon. sec. stated that he would prefer that the matter should be dealt with at their own annual meeting, which would be more truly representative than a committee elected at an ordinary meeting. He did not think that the short interval need prejudice the prospect of an ultimate understanding with their friends of the South and West Middlesex Guild—indeed, the delay might be beneficial to both, if both committees were empowered to carry on the negotiations to a conclusion, as thoroughly representative bodies. He would like to add that the sister association had met them in a manner which was very encouraging, and he ventured to hope that, as a result of mutual understanding between the two committees, whether a union were ultimately established or no, there would grow up a feeling of closer regard between the members of both organisations.

On the proposition of Mr. G. B. Lucas, of Walthamstow, seconded by Mr. J. Cornell, of Finchley, it was agreed to postpone the appointment of a committee till the annual meeting in October.

Business concluded with a hearty vote of thanks to the vicar for presiding, and to the local ringers for their cordial welcome—the former, in responding, offering a few words of kindly advice as to the responsibilities of ringers as Church workers.

The members then adjourned to the belfry to ring a few final touches, until the breaking of a rope, shortly after nine o'clock, caused the pleasures of the exercise to be abruptly suspended.

The meeting, however, was very successful, and the welcome given to the association much appreciated.

Ringers' Outings.

ST. JOHN'S SOCIETY, CARDIFF.—A very delightful outing was organized by the Bell Ringers of St. John's, Cardiff, on Saturday, July 11th. A start was made from Cardiff on board the "Cambria" at 8.45 a.m., and Weston was reached about 9.30 a.m. Favoured with perfect weather we spent an enjoyable hour and half on the Parade at Weston, and proceeded by train at 11.26 a.m. to Taunton, where a capital dinner was served to the party. After dinner, short speeches were delivered by the Rev. D. H. Griffiths, Curate of St. John's, Cardiff, and Hon. Sec. of the Llandaff Diocesan Association, and by Messrs. H. G. White, W. Allen, and W. Lloyd.

The afternoon was spent in the towers of St. James' (6 bells), and St. Mary's (10 bells), where the ringers spent some hours in a way that would not commend itself, perhaps, to those who have not been initiated into the fascinating mystery of bell ringing. They dexterously manipulated the ropes, and rang a couple of touches of Grandsire Caters with business-like precision. We all—each in his own way—love what we are proficient in. On the warmest of days the rower loves his boat, the fisherman his rod, the cyclist his bicycle, so too does the ringer love his bell—hence the pleasure derived from what appears to the uninitiated to be hard labour and no play. Taunton is a fine country town, and looks well on a bright summer's day. It possesses three very fine churches with handsome, highly decorated towers. This is especially true of St. Mary Magdalene, a superb building that can boast of one of the finest towers in England. One of the most striking internal objects is the very fine ceiling of the nave, built of oak black with age, and rich in design and decoration. We can conceive no town more admirably suited for a ringer's outing. Our ringers thoroughly appreciated their trials in the two towers visited, as well as the kindness and courtesy extended to them by their brother ringers of the Taunton Towers.

THE ST. WILFRID'S SOCIETY, DAVENHAM.—At the kind invitation of the Rev. H. France-Hayhurst, vicar of Chelford, on Saturday, July 11th, a most enjoyable day was spent by this society. Leaving Davenham at 10 a.m. by waggonette, and making a short stay at Holmes Chapel, and a pleasant drive through beautifully scenery of a wooded district, arrived at Chelford at 12.30. The vicar awaiting our arrival gave us a hearty welcome. A walk round the gardens soon brought dinner-time, the long drive making all in good order to do justice to the ample dinner provided, which was partaken of on the lawn. The village being a quiet one, a move was made to the church, where the bells were soon in full swing to the tune of Grandsire Doubles and Minor. Descending the tower and a look round the pretty little church, a short walk brought them to the private cricket ground, where a match was in progress. A short stay here, and tea-time drawing near, they retraced their steps back to the vicarage, where one of the local ringers in waiting joined in at tea. Tea over, a move was made to the belfry for a 360 of Grandsire Minor. A. Booth, 1; T. Bush, 2; J. Wakefield, 3; T. Wilkinson, 4; H. Yarwood, 5; J. Ashmole (conductor), 6. Mr. W. Hine also took part in some Grandsire Doubles. Having a little time to spare, the handbells were freely used on the lawn. Prior to leaving Chelford, a hearty vote of thanks was given to the vicar and his wife for their kindness in making everything comfortable and pleasant for the visitors. The waggonette was in waiting, and they started from the vicarage with a hearty cheer for the vicar and his wife, arriving at Davenham at 9.30, all having spent a most pleasant day's outing.

THE RICHMOND SOCIETY, YORKS.—On Friday, July 17th, the members of this society, accompanied by their wives and friends (including Mr. and Mrs. Hudson, Secretary of the Durham and Newcastle Association) had their first outing. Starting from Richmond at 2 p.m. by brake, we journeyed through the beautiful wooded and romantic valley of the Swale to Grinton, whose church has been recently restored, and the bells re-hung by Messrs. Taylor. We arrived at 3.30 p.m., and proceeded to the belfry, where a 720 of Bob Minor was rung by J. T. Frenchum, R. Briscoe, T. Hudson, senr., T. Hudson, jun., T. Kirby, R. Borrows (conductor), this being the first 720 on the bells. Also 720s of Bob and Grandsire Doubles by the rest of the company. Afterwards we adjourned to a substantial tea at the Bridge Inn. The ham and eggs were delicious as the former was home fed and served on a Willow pattern dish. After the tea a vote of thanks was passed to A. Bernard Hudson, Esq., solicitor, Richmond, who kindly provided the tea; and also to Mr. Borrows for arranging the outing, which were responded to. The weather was glorious. Some of us were photographed on the tower by T. Hudson, jun. We then walked further up the valley to Reeth, where we rang touches on the handbells on the green, and afterwards returned to Grinton, where we made a second attempt for a 720, but came to grief at the half-way. Our journey back home was enlivened by the violin and melodion of Messrs. Kirby and Rushton. Thus ended a very enjoyable day. The members wish to thank the Rev. G. Walker for the use of the bells, and for having everything in readiness.

ST. JOHN'S SOCIETY, DARLINGTON.—On Saturday, July 11th, the members of this society had their annual excursion. The party, twelve in number, journeyed to Penrith, where a substantial breakfast awaited them at The Agricultural Hotel. They were then driven to Pooley Bridge, and had a trip down Lake Ullswater to Horstown and Patterdale. Afterwards they returned to Penrith and made their way to St. Andrew's church, where changes in the following methods were rung: Bob Major, Grandsire Triples, Kent Treble Bob, and Stedman Triples. The party adjourned to The Agricultural Hotel, and partook of a sumptuous dinner, arriving home at 9.30, after a pleasant day's outing.

CONCERNING NOISE.

[FROM THE ST. MARTIN'S-IN-THE-FIELDS "MONTHLY MESSENGER."]

In the columns of The Times, in which we English people are accustomed to air our grievances, many complaints have recently appeared on the subject of noise, in which our readers are very closely interested. It has been a little amusing to notice the various noises selected for criticism. Of course, we have had the never-failing organ-grinder and the German band, who make day hideous, especially in the West End and suburban districts; the newspaper boy with his horribly penetrating yell has come in for his due share of remark; the muffin-man, whom we supposed to be almost an extinct animal, gone to bear company with the antediluvian night-watchman; the unhappy yelping dog, and the unduly loquacious cocks and hens, and even, alas! alas! the Church bells, not, indeed, of St. Martin's, but of some remote suburb; all these in turn have been subject to scathing, and scornful, and indignant animadversion.

It is really strange that no one has remarked upon the midnight revels of amatory cats. We almost thought that it would have been proposed to banish these familiar sounds by Act of Parliament, and to give special powers to the police to take the offenders into custody if they could catch them; and we are inclined to feel rather hurt that the pretensions of our favourite pussie to be classed among the noisemakers should have been so slighted. An Act of Parliament for the suppression of superfluous cats would surely have had many willing supporters.

We Londoners are apt to forget that, after all, we do not stand absolutely alone, either in our dislike to noise, or in our unwilling endurance of it. Have we quite forgotten how, when we had sought the seclusion of some quiet country village, far from the madding crowd, the sleep which we courted was disturbed by the howling dogs who called to each other during the night, or drove us to distraction by wailing at the moon; or how, when these were tired out and failed to keep us from our coveted repose, it seemed that we had scarcely closed our eyes before the shrill-voiced cock proclaimed the approaching dawn beneath our very windows, and made further rest impossible. How well we remember spending a few days of an early spring in the Pyrenees mountains, and going to bed with the window half open to let in the sweet, fresh air. But, alas! close by that window was a tree, and in the tree a nightingale, and all through that night the feathered songster trilled its melodies of sound, until it had produced so great a feeling of irritation that we could have found it in our heart to wring its neck, and stop its worrying noise; but we never dreamed of writing to The Times to demand the removal of our too-melodious nightingale. Nor would it be very reasonable to find fault with noise which is inseparable from the position in which we have placed ourselves either from necessity or from choice. There are few sounds more exasperatingly piercing and distracting than that of the fog-horn, facetiously called a siren, on an Atlantic steamer. But, then, if we will go across the Atlantic we must be prepared to submit to an inconvenience which we can easily avoid by staying at home. Did you ever stand by a boiler-maker at work, or pay a visit to a Bradford cloth mill? If so, you will understand what noise is. But, then, if we wish to avoid the noise we need not choose the trade. If we do choose it, then it would be unreasonable to demand that the noise of it should be prohibited. Some such considerations need to be born in mind, when we speak of the noises of a great city. If people will live in a city like London, it would be idle to complain of the sounds which are inseparable from the position. So if we wittingly choose to fix our habitation next door to a steam-engine, which has been working noisily for many years, it would seem neither wise nor fair to call to Jupiter, or to the magistrate, to suppress a nuisance which we need not have encountered at all. This seems to be a sufficient defence of the ringing of the Church bells, for instance. Let it be admitted that the sound is well-nigh intolerable, that if very close it shuts out conversation or music, and even at a greater distance it is distracting to the mind, and positively prevents active thought. No one knows this so well as the writer, who lives close to them. But then, the Church, and the bells, and the ringing, existed before we did. For centuries they have sent out their peal far and wide. It is hardly fair, then, for the new comers to cry out against them as a nuisance, and demand that they should forthwith be silenced.

But after everything has been said in defence of noise which is necessary, and in extenuation of noise which is harmless, no one can doubt that even in London there is much that might be done and ought to be done. It is not the regular roar of the city or the continuous roll of traffic which irritate so much as the intermittent and irregular ejaculations which might easily be dispensed with. The cry of the costermonger, whose goods no one seems to want; the excited howl of the newspaper boy, who flies along with the latest news, howling as he flies—"Result of the poll," "Spesshul, Spesshul": the 'bus conductor, who takes up his position beneath our bedroom window and yells "Harchway" "Harchway," "Igit Harchway," and in a voice so strong and shrill that no human being could sleep under it; the organ-grinder, who takes his stand outside the windows of the Church whilst service is going on, so that the refrain of some popular music hall melody is heard as a not altogether harmonious accompaniment of the prayers; the midnight revellers returning from some entertainment, and making night hideous as they pass with noises which they fondly imagine to be singing; all these we would gladly spare from the noises of London. The householder is almost powerless. True that he can call in the aid of the police, or he can go out and order his disturbers to move on; but the remedy is nearly useless. For weeks we were disturbed at night by a female fiend who began just as we were safely ensconced in bed, and beneath our very window stood and sang, if singing it could be called, the refrain of "Annie Laurie." We had always thought that "Maxwellton braes were bonnie," but never to us were any braes so drear. We suppose that we might have got up out of bed and clad ourselves in a manner suitable to the occasion and gone down to remonstrate, becomingly with the fair songstress, but apart from the reluctance of leaving the bed on a cold night, we had some fears lest the lady's voice and language might have become even less sweet, if that were possible, as we endeavoured to reason and persuade. Under existing arrangements, we believe that a policeman has no right to see or hear anything unless his attention is specially directed to it and his aid invoked.

So unreasonable a regulation ought to be at once removed, and the guardian of our peace ought to be encouraged to see and to hear anything and everything which may be regarded as an offence against the quiet of a great city. Whilst amongst neighbours a little less of selfishness and a little more of toleration and consideration would go far to mitigate the annoyances which we so often inflict upon one another.

WOBURN, BEDS.

FUNERAL OF MR. GEORGE BOWDLER CLARKE, M. P. S.

All that was mortal of the late Mr. George Bowdler Clarke was laid to rest in the beautifully kept churchyard at Woburn on Saturday last, 25th July 1896, at a quarter past three, amidst every demonstration of grief and sorrow on the part of the inhabitants, as well as of the immediate relatives and friends of the deceased. By his death a vast fund of information has been lost to the neighbourhood. He served the office of parish Churchwarden for 21 years, resigning last Easter on account of failing health. It was during his wardenship that the two trebles given by Hastings, Duke of Bedford, were added to the ring, a handy little ring of eight, tenor 13 cwt. For many years he was the faithful friend of those who were endeavouring to promote the practice of scientific change-ringing in Woburn, and in troublous times he never swerved from the stand that he took in this respect. The bells of old St. Mary's rang out their muffled tones, the tenor only being open at the down stroke, as the procession wended its way thither. The rector, the Rev. H. W. Southey, officiated both at the mortuary chapel and at the grave, and at the conclusion of the solemn ceremony the bells again rang out their plaintive half-muffled and re-echoing sounds. Mr. Clarke was 68 years of age at the time of his decease, and was much respected.

"Life's race well run,
Life's work well done,
Life's crown well won,
Now cometh rest."

CURRENT TOPICS.

At last the warm weather appears to affect the performance of 5000 changes and upwards. For there were only four peals recorded last week. Such a paucity may of course not be altogether owing to the weather, but also from the reason that many peal-ringers are now taking their summer holidays, visiting places where there are no bells, the Channel Islands for instance, or the Continent, or the Mediterranean, or perhaps in Norway on a fishing tour. Our brethren will return like giants (and in these days there are giants among ringers) refreshed—and fit for any length, extent, or period.

Again new bells. A ring of ten at a place called Ewerby, in Lincolnshire, not a spot particularly well-known, geographically, but probably where great interests of the Earl of Winchelsea lie. And his lordship has become a bell-ringer. More power to him. With all respect and deference to my noble friend "on the other side," it will be allowed that the Earls of Winchelsea till now have not taken a very prominent part in public questions. One Earl of Winchelsea fought a duel with the great Duke of Wellington—a duel by the way of a most third-class character—no bloodshed, just one bang off and all was over. The present Earl is conspicuous by interesting himself on behalf of agriculture, and in a very practical manner, too. But now he has become a ringer, everything of course will be secondary to the Exercise. We shall all look for the Earl suggesting, from his place in the Upper House, the propriety of having a ring of bells erected in the Victoria Tower at the Houses of Parliament, and also founding a company of ringers from among the parliamentarians; perhaps with Sir William Harcourt and Joseph Chamberlain as bob-callers. The following M.P.'s I should suggest for an united company:—Colonel Saunderson and Mr. T. M. Healy; Sir Wilfrid Lawson and Mr. Bonsor; Ashmead-Bartlett and John Morley, among others. I must not however appear too personal. Good luck to our Earl, and I hope he'll soon ring a peal. I understand he takes "THE BELL NEWS" with him to the House, and there converses on the topics of "P. S." with his Lordship of Grimthorpe. And so he ought.

The slightly high falutin' report from the Kent Association seems to show that there is a hitch somewhere. What it is of course is only known to the wiseacres, i.e., those concerned, among whom I am not. The meeting at Lewisham abounded in enthusiasm, that is what every one likes to hear of. "No apathy here." On reading the account some may have thought there was a little too much of that process known as "back-scratching." We read of a pithy and exhaustive speech by one, and that speeches of others were listened to "with much interest." "Unabated confidence" is recorded in another, with thanks for "the able manner in which he defended the interests," etc. This gentleman, "with great feeling, expressed his gratitude." The meeting was "strongly of opinion," and so on; the chairman received a "cordial vote of thanks" as he was said "throughout the proceedings to have presided with his usual characteristic ability, on several occasions deftly throwing oil on the troubled waters." "Troubled waters," there's the rub. Was the oil of the right sort on this occasion? Then it is all correct.

I have been the recipient of several letters this week. One in particular is worthy of notice, and I here give it:—

"At the monthly meeting of the South and West Middlesex Guild at Harmondsworth last Saturday, I happened to mention I was wanting a situation, when one of our members from a distance said he wished he had known it, as their Vicar had been without a gardener for three weeks, and he thought I should have suited him. I expressed my surprise at his not seeing my advertisement in 'THE BELL NEWS,' as it had been in for three weeks, and then showed it to him. Shortly after another member turned up from the same place, and he had not noticed it, and told me the vacancy was now filled. It seems as though ringers generally do not trouble to look at the columns where ringers are wanting situations, for if they would, I venture to say we should not see so many repetitions in the columns set apart for 'Ringers wanting situations.'"

This is too bad, I think. What is the use of the Editor allowing free advertisements to ringers wanting situations if such neglect and indifference as this is to be the rule. I really don't think this would be the case with other than ringers. But the subject has been mentioned more than once before, and I will not trust myself to refer to it again.

I am nevertheless very pleased to state that one or two ringers have recently, according to their own admission, secured good situations through these advertisements. A letter shown to me this week from two ringers, conveys the writers' thanks to the Editor, assuring him at the same time that they have secured good positions through the instrumentality of "THE BELL NEWS." This will do very well, and therefore let us hear some more news of the same sort.

The cricket match between the ringers of Newcastle and Tanfield, brought forth some scientific phraseology in the description given. There were trundlers and lobs, who went leather hunting; and various other technicalities foreign to the general reader. They had a good time, though, these cricketers, and evidently made a sportive day. It is strange what a number of ringers play at cricket.

Just now there appears to be a craving among provincial ringers to locate themselves in London. Of course every one has a right to better their condition in life if they can, and take any legitimate steps to such an end. There was at one time a legend that the streets of the Metropolis were paved with the most precious metal, and therefore was easily procurable without much ado. Whatever might have been, no such fortune awaits the provincial now. London is fast becoming a place of the rubbish-shot-here description, and therefore I would strongly advise all who think of leaving their native homes to pause before doing so. I think if they can get a comfortable, if not extravagant living at home, they should be satisfied to remain there. And though plenty of ringing may be had in London to satisfy the most hungry person, the conditions of London ringing are not always of a perfect kind.

PLAIN SPEAKER.

THOMAS BLACKBOURN,

CHURCH BELL HANGER, AND TUNER.
SALISBURY, WILTSHIRE.

THOMAS BLACKBOURN is a practical Ringer, and having had considerable experience in Church Bell hanging and tuning, with confidence solicits the patronage of the Clergy, Churchwardens and Ringers generally.

T. B. has devoted a great deal of attention to the fixing of Clock Hammers used for striking the hours and quarters on Church Bells. These are sometimes placed in awkward and dangerous positions, even by Church Clock Makers.

T. BLACKBOURN's experience enables him to affix these hammers, with their accompanying levers in a most accurate manner, preventing any danger to the bell frame or clock. He will be glad to advise on clocks or bells.

The Ellacombe Chime Hammers fixed. Sole Fixers of Joby's Apparatus for Silent practice. Handbells supplied. Bells weighed in the tower at a small cost.

A PEAL OF 362,880 GRANDSIRE CATERS, 6d.
Contains the full extent of changes on nine bells. Forwarded Post Free, on receipt of 7d. By James Hewitt, 15, Chape Row, Gosport.

The Bell News &amp; Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 1, 1896.

A BELIEF has always existed that a ring of ten bells is the number which affords to a change-ringer the greatest amount of entertainment. Opinions and tastes of course differ, in this as well as everything else, but there is certainly some reason for the belief. SHIPWAY held that the practice of Grandsire Caters imparted more enjoyment than any other kind of ringing, and many among the moderns have either agreed with this dictum, or else varied it in favor of Stedman Caters. Ten-bell ringing is certainly under favorable circumstances very enjoyable, and we must confess being in favour of the sentiment which exalts it as the highest form of bell-ringing amusement.

Bell-restoration is always and ever will be needed, and it will not be disputed that many rings of ten suffer from this want. We could mention several which through want of the attention of the bell-hanger are not rung at all. We may instance the excellent ring of ten at All Saints', Maidstone, where nothing has been done for a long period. Others could be mentioned, but this will suffice. What is to be deplored is the neglect by the Church authorities to realise the value of a ring of bells of this calibre, and the responsibility which rests upon them as curators of the Church's instruments. Neglect of anything connected with the Church is to be deprecated; this applies with greater force when a valuable and costly ring of bells is concerned.

We owe our readers an apology this week for the somewhat late appearance of our journal, but we believe we shall meet with their kind forbearance, if not sympathy, when they hear that just as we were commencing to print a serious accident happened to our machinery, causing unavoidable delay. We hope to be able to announce next week the appearance of another illustrated number.

To the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS AND RINGERS' RECORD."

PARKER'S TWELVE-PART.

SIR,—Soon after my 12-part peal of Grandsire Triples appeared in "THE BELL NEWS" Mr. Carter, for some reason or other, transposed the peal, and made the 7th the observation bell. I may say that although I first composed it so, it was never my intention that it should appear in such form, seeing that the music would be bad. However, I suppose most conductors feel that they have a certain right to do this sort of thing. But the point about which I have to complain is that the transposition has been handed, so I am informed, from one to another until it is looked upon as Mr. Carter's composition. The transposition also appears in the last report of the Oxford Diocesan Guild as the property of Mr. Carter. Of course, Mr. Carter is not responsible for what appears in the Oxford Guild report; perhaps our smart monthly secretary can set the matter right. Accidents will happen, etc., etc.
J. J. PARKER.

OUR COMPOSITION PAGE.

SIR,—May I just point out that the so-called peal of Grandsire Cinques in your last issue is not a peal at all whatever its qualities may be, since the Central Council has decided that it is contrary to the rules of the method to lay two bells still at the go off.

HOLIDAY STEAMBOAT ARRANGEMENTS.

THE NEW PALACE STEAMERS, Limited, are reaping the harvest of their splendid enterprise. Their magnificent steamers La Marguerite, Royal Sovereign, and Koh-i-Noor are all being well patronised, as they deserve to be. The latter vessel makes daily trips (Friday excepted) to Clacton-on-Sea, leaving Old Swan Pier at 9.20 a.m. The Sovereign runs daily to Margate; and the popular Marguerite does daily trips from Tilbury to Margate, and on Mondays, Thursdays, and Saturdays she crosses to Boulogne. This latter trip is the finest excursion ever made from London. Trains in connection with the steamers leave Fenchurch-street in time to meet the boats at Tilbury. Season tickets are issued for all piers between London and Clacton or Ramsgate at very low rates.

THE BELLE STEAMERS, Limited, whose beautiful boats have been so popular in past seasons, have added another vessel to their fleet. The Southend Belle is the name of this latest addition, and the Company are now running daily trips (excepting Friday) from Fresh Wharf to Harwich, Ipswich, Clacton, Rosherville, and Grave-end. Trains from Victoria St. Paul's, and Fenchurch-street convey passengers to Tilbury. The fares are low and the refreshments first-class. Full particulars may be obtained at the Offices, 33, Walbrook, E.C.

THE VICTORIA STEAMBOATS, Ltd, make daily sailings from Old Swan Pier at 9.30 to Hampton Court, Kew, Kingston, and Richmond by their favourite saloon steamer Cardinal Wolsey. The success which attended these popular trips last season is fully maintained, and a more delightful trip than this it would be difficult to find. Steamers also run to Greenwich, Battersea, Kew, Hammersmith, and Wandsworth at frequent intervals.

THE PALACE STEAMERS, Lord of the Isles and Victoria are making trips to Southend and Margate, leaving Old Swan Pier at 8.55 a.m., and calling at Tilbury for passengers leaving Fenchurch-street at 9.45, daily (Fridays excepted). The fares are very reasonable, and bicycles and mail-carts are taken free of charge. The catering is excellent.

MR. EDGAR SHANDS splendid saloon steamer, Queen Elizabeth, makes daily trips (Fridays excepted) to Hampton Court, Richmond, Kew, Kingston, and Teddington, leaving London Bridge (Surrey side) at 9.45, and Old Swan Pier at 9.50. The fares are cheap, as usual, and a capital luncheon can be had on board.

Compositions.

All compositions sent for insertion must be accompanied by a fee of Sixpence. If proof of a touch or peal be desired One Shilling additional must accompany such request.

A 4-PEAL OF GRANDSIRE TRIPLES

The Rev. E. W. Carpenter writes:—

DEAR SIR,—I send a somewhat curious quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples, which I believe is new, for publication in "THE BELL NEWS." If it is not original no doubt I shall be told of it. It will be seen that the bells "before" come in the order of the ropes round the tower, the only variation being that the first call in each part is "with a double" and also the next after that. The bells before run thus:—

4*5*6 7 2 3 4 5
6*7*2 3 4 5 6 7
2*3*4 5 6 7 2 3

* With a double.

The first * being the next bell in order and an odd bell, the second * being an even bell. This should be an easy quarter peal for young conductors.

E. W. CARPENTER.

FALSE PEALS.—The two peals of Treble Bob Major by C. H. Martin, of Hendon, published last week, is false. Mr. Martin makes the fullest amende honorable by way of sincere apology.

CHANGE OF ADDRESS.—Mr. George Thompson has removed from 41, High street, Maidstone, to Sidlow Bridge, Reigate, Surrey.

The Star invited its lady readers to say on a postcard very pithily precisely what they think of Sunday morning bells. For the writer of the best card received there was a 5s. prize.

Notices.

The charge for the insertion of notices in this page is One Penny per line (six words may be reckoned to a line). Repetitions at half that rate. Notices should come to hand not later than Wednesday morning.

Members are requested where eight can come from one station to do so and get cheap fares, as the order for bands of eight is still in force. Members intending to come to tea must send me notice on or before Tuesday, August 18th.

A. OSBORNE, Hon. District Sec.
65, Clive Road, Rochester.

THE PEAL AT DEANE.—This is the first peal ever rung on these bells, and was rung in honour of the 37th birthday of the conductor. The ringers were complimented on the excellent striking throughout by the local company and also by Mr. Boardman, who was the donor of the treble. He also left them ample refreshment, for which, through the medium of this paper, they return him their best thanks, and to the clergy and local ringers for granting permission.

THE CHURCH BELLS OF BUCK-
INGHAMSHIRE. By ALFRED HENEGE COCKS.
M.A., Ch. Ch., Oxford; F.Z.S., F.K.G.S., Great Marl-
Bucks. With many Illustrations.

MESSRS. JARROLD & SONS have pleasure in announcing th early publication by subscription of this most interesting an important work. It will contain an account of all the Church Bell in Buckinghamshire, with everything relating to their history th
can be discovered. Full accounts of all the Founders whose bells
hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County
including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. The work was undertaken at the instigation of the late J. C. L. Stahlischmidt Esq., author of "Surrey Bells and London Bell-founders," "The Church Bells of Kent," "Herts," etc.; and the fact that the author
had the benefit of the kind assistance and advice of this well-known
campanologist may be mentioned as some guarantee of the scope and nature of the present work. Mr. Stahlischmidt wrote the author,
that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting country," and he repeated this opinion in a subsequent letter. The
"Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 600 pages to be handsomely illustrated with 24 full-page plates of mediæval letter-
ings, founders' marks, etc., found on bells still existing in the County

[Vol. XV.]

THE ST. JOHN'S GUILD, NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE.—A WEEK-END AT SCARBOROUGH.

A visit to this beautiful seaside resort had been long talked of by the above-named Guild, and it was unanimously resolved that they should have this year's "annual" to that place for two reasons: firstly, to attempt a peal on the bells of St. Mary's church; secondly, as a few of the Guild had never seen Scarborough, it was a chance for them to get a view of this famed resort.

Saturday saw five members of the Guild leave Newcastle by the 12.35 mid-day train, to be followed later by others who could not get away from business to accompany them; while two important members couldn't be present owing to matters which couldn't be avoided, and it was thought that this would prove disastrous in the ringing part of the outing, but fortunately this did not occur, as will be seen afterwards. Scarborough was reached at 4.5, and we were met there by Mr. H. Ferguson (a late member of the Guild who has taken his abode there), who took us to the apartments we were to occupy, which he had secured for us. Tea was found to be in readiness for us, to which we did ample justice. A visit was then made to the belfry to see what state the bells were in as regards the go of them, and they were found in a very dilapidated condition, in fact unpealable—nevertheless this was expected and prepared for. Overalls were donned by one of the band, and after two laborious hours with key-hammer, chisels and oil can, the bells were got into a pealable condition, though far from what they should be, and a bell-hanger is much needed there. To give a rough idea of the state they were in, every gudgeon in the place was loose on the stocks, while the brasses still twist about as thorough universal bearings, one gudgeon on the seventh bell was screwed up quite a quarter of an inch; and the same bell, when swinging, was rubbing the frame in three places, which had to be cut away, and every clapper was asking for a drink of oil. Hot water was then procured, and after getting a little of the grease washed off our skins, the back six were pulled up and a 240 of Treble Bob Minor was rung to test the go of the bells, and the two hours' labour was found to have done wonders.

The bells are from Taylor's foundry, cast in 1852, the treble and tenor having been exhibition bells, the other six being added to them.

They are a fine-toned ring, tenor 21½ cwt. in E flat (I should say one of that firm's best peals), and being elevated on the hill-side have a pleasing effect when rung to anyone hearing them down in the bay, which is very seldom indeed. They are chimed for Divine service by a local "invention," an apparatus made out of a wringing machine frame, having cords fastened to the clappers, and is rather a comical affair to find in any belfry.

There is a little evidence that there has been an attempt at some time or other to ring changes, but none now, the ringing of these bells only taking place by a local band, when there is a wedding, or some special occasion when it is a matter of £ s. d., and only "stoney" then, so I was informed; but never for Divine service.

To go back to the ring again. After the 240 the bells were brought down in peal, when an individual in "black cloth" entered the belfry, and the conductor thinking it was perhaps a church official, with whom he might have a word with regarding the state of the bells, put the question before him, but the answer came "No." Are your a ringer? was next asked. "Yes." Can you ring standard methods? "Rather." And this individual turned out to be Mr. Horrex, a noted College Youth.

This meeting with Mr. Horrex was fortunate for us, as we were in doubt of getting a good band after our disappointment, and Mr. Horrex was asked to stand in the band for the attempt for the appeal on Monday, which he readily consented to do, so making our band complete.

After a lengthy conversation with that "youth" on ringing topics chiefly, we adjourned to our "diggings" for the needfuls. Sunday morning saw us astir early, as Messrs. Lees, Welsh and Hudson was to arrive at 5.30, but it was a little after that before we cast eyes upon their faces.

Nine prompt saw all in the belfry to ring for service, and we soon had the bells going to the tune of Stedman Triples, two courses being rung, when the "youth" again made his appearance. Another twelve courses were tapped off in the same method, he taking part therein.

Some of our band then went to attend service, while others preferred to have a stroll on the promenade, nevertheless dinner time saw in all together again.

Evening saw us in the belfry to ring for evening service, touches of Kent and Double Norwich being rung, and the bells brought down in peal, the 7th losing its clapper when nearly down, but this was expected as there was nothing to prevent the pin from coming out, and we could not get a fastener the previous evening.

Monday morning brought the absent one to complete the band for the peal, the noted "Alf," and after partaking of an early breakfast, the belfry was again visited, and the seventh clapper replaced and made secure, bells oiled, and about an hour spent in other ways, we brought them into fairly good going order.

Now came the event of the outing, the attempt for a peal of Stedman Triples. Two preliminaries were required, and at 10.19 the conductor called "go" for the third time, and at 1.45 the ever welcome "This is all" was called, thus scoring the much coveted first peal upon the bells.

The bells were pulled down and an adjournment made to refresh the inner man, which was much needed.

There was little time to spare now as our visit was drawing to a close. The remainder of the time was spent in purchasing, and preparing for our departure. We left Scarborough at 5 p.m. and arriving in Newcastle a little after nine, having added another successful and enjoyable outing to our memories.

A great deal of thanks and praise are due to Mr. Ferguson for kindly arranging everything for us, and helping to make the outing an enjoyable one, also to Mr. Horrex for making up our band.

THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

ROSSENDALE BRANCH.—A meeting of the above was held at Newchurch, on Saturday, July 18th, and was attended by members from Bacup, Bury, Helmshore, Padiham, Rawtenstall, Waterfoot, Heywood and the local company. The bells were set going about 4.15 p.m. to the tune of Grandsire Triples. At 6.30 an adjournment was made to the school, where the meeting was held, the Rev. — Lamburn presiding in the absence of the Vicar. The minutes having been passed it was proposed to hold the next meeting at Haslingden. After a little discussion six new members were added to the list, all belonging to Bury. Votes of thanks to the Rector and Wardens for use of bells and belfry, and to the ringers for having all in readiness, and to the chairman for presiding, was proposed.

The chairman, in responding, gave the ringers a hearty welcome to Newchurch. The tower was again visited, and the bells were kept going till about 9.30, bringing a pleasant evening to a close.

THE GREAT BELL OF PEKIN.

[FROM The Globe.]

Now that the invasion of China, which threatened also the fall of Pekin, has come to an end, it is interesting to call attention to the great bell of that city, which the other day was rung to celebrate the event, proving that "peace hath her victories, no less than war."

The Emperor Yong-loh, founder of the Ming dynasty, just previous to the present one, and contemporary with Ferdinand and Isabella—in order to mark the removal of his capital from Nanking to Pekin, and at the same time to honour Buddha and win personal merit for himself in the future world, resolved to have cast at Pekin a great memorial bell. To this end he invited to his northern capital the most skilled masters in this ancient art. In due time, after divination and consulting Buddhist scholars as to the prayers to be embossed on the bell, and collecting vast quantities of different metals, constructing furnaces, models, and moulds, the work was satisfactorily accomplished, and the event celebrated by great civic and religious rejoicings. The Emperor, while not ignoring Confucianism and Taoism, was a most devout Buddhist; and his Asiatic cult, like other great systems of faith appealing to the needs, hopes, and ideals of the soul, has ever found outward expression not only in creeds, and life, but in works of art. Years before his removal to Pekin, this devout Emperor had already contributed to art and religion one of the most unique and beautiful monuments of the world—the Porcelain Pagoda of Nanking, nine storeys, or some 300 feet high, faced inside and out with glazed bricks in black, white, red, green, and yellow, with over 200 images of Buddha in gold relief, with as many bright lamps, while innumerable small bells hang from projections at each storey, giving out with every breath of heaven a peculiarly sweet and weird music to Buddha, and warding off evil spirits as well.

This monument was nineteen years in building, and possessed a spiral staircase to the top. Not only did it point its jewelled finger to the sky, but from its summit was offered a wide-spread, animated panorama of city, river, hamlet, and teeming cultivated plains. The writer saw it after it had been struck by lightning and sadly injured. During the Tai-Ping rebellion—an attempt to overthrow the present Manchu-Tartar dynasty—the rebels, who were iconoclasts as well, completed by gunpowder, in 1856, the final destruction of this wonderful work of art, which, with hundreds of similar, though inferior ones, have for ages formed such a striking feature in the landscape of the Middle Kingdom.

Though this pagoda of the southern capital has passed away, and many of its bricks are scattered throughout the world, yet the bell at Pekin is still bright and sound, and doing service. It is in many respects the finest work of art in Asia—the product of native skill—and could not be duplicated by the highest ability or resources of Western foundries. It stands 14 ft. high, 34 ft. in circumference, nearly 1 ft. in thickness, and weighs over 120,000 lbs. But what makes this bell the "chef d'œuvre" of Asia is the fact that, without a flaw or defect of any kind, it is completely covered, in relief, both inside and out, with myriads of Chinese characters, each one not an inch in size, consisting of prayers from Buddhist classics. It is one of the vagaries of Buddhism that the prayers of the faithful may be infinitely and acceptably repeated by mechanical helps, as, for instance, when written petitions are attached to revolving wheels, as the writer has often witnessed; so here, when the lips of this mighty and eloquent bell are moved by a fitting tongue, they breathe forth, in deep, sweet, prolonged, and wonderfully vibratory voice, these prayers to Buddha, and call, as well, all devotees to worship.

We are told by one of the chroniclers of those times that it was a period of supreme suspense in Pekin, among all lovers of art and religion, from Emperor down to humblest craftsman, as the day and hour approached for pouring the molten metal into that myriad-lettered matrix, and for producing Ta-Chung, the noblest bell in all the world; and, no doubt, the other day on almost equal interest was awakened, when it rang out the advent of peace, and safety to the ruling Dynasty.

The artists who successfully accomplished the moulding and casting of this great bell were not only congratulated by Buddhist ecclesiastics and their followers, but they were ennobled by the Emperor, while their work itself, amid changing creeds and dynasties, is imperishable, being as clear cut and perfect to-day as when it first came forth from the crumbling mould of sand. It is by far the largest and most finished suspended bell in the world, as those at Moscow and Mandalay are both unhung, while the former is fractured and otherwise defective. For the last 400 years, then, ever since the discovery of the New World, as also the other day, when peace was declared, the Pekin bell has been ringing on, hung by its wooden beam, and sheltered beneath the roof of a small open fane.

Being once in Pekin, the writer visited this bell temple, situated outside the northern city wall not far from the great Altar of Earth, where the young Emperor recently ploughed the soil and sacrificed to heaven at the return of the vernal equinox. The smooth-shaven and yellow-robed priest in charge of the bell received him very kindly, and allowed measurements to be taken, he, meanwhile, chanting passage after passage from classics embossed on its surface, intermingling the ejaculatory prayer, "Na-o-mi-to-fah" (O Buddha, hail!). This bell, like all the larger bells of China and Japan, was struck by a long, heavy, hardwood beam, suspended by ropes on the outside of the bell, and to prevent fracture, there is a large square hole near the top. By request, and for a small fee, the priest and his assistant swung back the huge beam, and then let it fly against the bell, but deftly arresting it on its rebound. Not like the clanging bells of Christendom was this awakener of Buddha and caller to prayer, but most rich, deep-toned, mellow, and prolonged was its voice as it came forth and floated away over walls, towers, temple-grounds, parks, imperial palaces, and the homes of the people, seeming to murmur in trembling accents—so the priests declared—the daily and universal prayer of Asia, "Na-o-mi-to-fah!"

INTERMENT OF THE REV. BERNARD E. WATKINS AT TREETON, YORKS.

The interment of the remains of the Rev. Bernard Edward Watkins of Lawkland Hall, near Clapham, Yorkshire, took place in the family vault at Treeton Church, near Rotherham, on Saturday afternoon. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends, and the sad ceremonial was performed amid many manifestations of respect for the deceased gentleman. He was patron of the living of Treeton, and from 1846 to 1877 was rector of the parish, being succeeded by his eldest son, the Rev. B. E. Watkins, who died several years ago. The incumbency was then accepted by the Rev. Herbert Springett Watkins, the second son. The service was held in the church, the officiating clergyman being the Rev. J. Courtney, vicar of Austwick, near Lancaster. The mourners were: Mrs. B. E. Watkins (widow), Mr. Robert Arundel Watkins (son), the Rev. Herbert Springett Watkins (son), Mr. Frederick Edmond Watkins (son), Mr. Alric Arthur Watkins (son), Mr. Philip Seymour Watkins (son), Mrs. Walter Jones (daughter), Mrs. George Logan (daughter), Miss Lois Blanche Watkins (daughter), Miss Margaret Ellen Watkins (daughter), Mr. J. W. Logan M.P. (son-in-law), Mr. George Logan (son-in-law), Rev. George Scott (son-in-law), Mr. W. P. Sladen, solicitor, London. There was a large congregation, among those present being the Rev. G. M. Athorpe (Morthen Hall), the Rev. W. Dale (Aston), the Rev. W. Evans (Ulley), the Rev. C. W. Hall (Whiston) the Rev. Jas. Mowatt (Handsworth), Mr. B. J. Young, J.P. (Richmond), Mr. F. J. Jones (Treeton), Dr. J. D. Kenny (Treeton), Dr. Shaw (Carlton Grange), Mr. W. R. Sorby (Orgreave Hall), Mr. F. Moody, Mr. G. Moody, Mr. J. H. Keep. As the mourners entered the sacred edifice the organist (Mr. Maurice Creswick) played "O rest in the Lord," and the hymns were "Peace, perfect peace," and "On the resurrection morn." When the mournful procession left the church the "Dead March" in "Saul" was played. At the grave side the Rev. J. Courtney again officiated, and the choir sang "Now the labourer's task is o'er." The coffin, which was of oak with brass mountings, bore the following inscription: "Bernard Edward Watkins, died July 29th, 1896, aged 74 years."

A large number of beautiful wreaths had been sent, the list including those from Mrs. Watkins (Lawkland Hall), Mrs. B. Watkins, Mr. Robt. A. Watkins, and Mrs. Mary E. Watkins, Mr. and Mrs. George Logan, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Logan, Mr.

Geo. K. Charlesworth, Mrs. Geldard (Cappleside), Mr. Alric A. Watkins, Mr. and Mrs. Shaw (Carlton Hall), Mildred, Margaret, Hope, Phillip, Gordon, Nannette, and Hugh (sons and daughters), the Rev. Herbert Springett Watkins (son), "Maud," Mr. Fred. and Miss Lois Watkins, Miss Chappell, Mr. F. J. Jones, and Miss Edith Jones, Mrs. Whittuck, Mrs. Coates, Mr. and Mrs. Jugilby, Mrs. Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. Farrar (Ingleborough), Mr. J. F. Clapham, Mr. Thomas Clarke, Mr. and Mrs. John Howson, etc.

Immediately on the conclusion of the graveside ceremony, the ringers raised the bells in peal and rang a 720 of Oxford with the bells half muffled.

On Sunday, the Rev. J. Courtney conducted the evening service, and referred to the close connection of the deceased gentleman with the parish of Treeton, which commenced in 1846.

Prior to the evening service, the ringers, all of whom belong to the Old East Derbyshire Association, paid a last tribute of respect to the rev. gentleman by ringing a date touch of 1896 changes consisting of 720 Violet, 720 Duke of York, 240 College Pleasure and 216 Cambridge Surprise. The touch was rung in 59 mins. and conducted by Wm. Lambert. Tenor 11½ cwt. J. H. Brothwell, 1; T. Whitworth, 2; S. Walker, 3; T. Sadler, 4; W. J. Nicholson, 5; Wm. Lambert (conductor), 6.

THE SURREY ASSOCIATION.

"What a pretty spot? and what a splendid view," were the remarks that were to be heard from some of the members of the above, who for the first time (July 4th) visited the tower of Christ Church, Epsom Common, by the kind permission of the vicar, the Rev. A. G. Hunter, for the purpose of united practice on the sweet-toned ring of eight. Being Saturday, opportunity was afforded to some who on other days would not be able to be present, a good meeting being the result, forty-nine sitting down to tea—

Not under the sycamore tree,
But better still,
All was goodwill,
Grass at your feet,
Plenty good to eat,
And canvas overhead,
What could be nicer.

Amongst those present were the Vicar (in the chair), Dr. Carpenter (Croydon), E. F. Cole, Esq. (London), J. J. Jones (Guildford), the secretary, assistant-secretary, and also representatives from Ashted, Betchworth, Benhilton, Beddington, Croydon, Ewell, Epsom, Guildford, Leatherhead, and Reigate.

Time pressing, the business meeting commenced directly after tea, the secretary reading the minutes of the last meeting, which were confirmed. Seven peals were announced as having been rang since the meeting on Easter Monday. These with one exception were ordered to be inserted in the peal-book, and the last peal rang at Bletchingley not to be entered until the subscription of two who took part in it are forwarded to the Secretary.

The vicar gave the members a hearty welcome to Epsom, and made some remarks respecting the advisability or otherwise of admitting strangers to a belfry on a practice night, and said he should like to hear the opinion of the members on the same.

It was stated that as a rule visitors were always welcome, such visits being conducive to the interests of ringing associations in general.

Several fresh names were handed in as candidates for membership, and after being duly proposed and seconded, were elected members, including the Rev. C. E. Matthews, Hon. Secretary of the Winchester Guild.

It was decided by a large majority to hold the next quarterly meeting at Banstead early in October.

Dr. Carpenter proposed a vote of thanks to the vicar, not only for the good reception which the Association always received when visiting Epsom, but also for his personal attendance at tea and conducting the business of the meeting, and placing the bells at the disposal of the members.

During the afternoon and evening touches in various methods were rung, including Stedman and Grandsire Triples, Kent Treble Bob Major, Plain Bob, etc.

THE ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

A District Meeting of this Association was held at Great Bentley on Monday, August 3rd, members being present from Great and Little Bentley, Braintree, Colchester, Coggeshall, Ipswich and Thorington. Most of the ringers journeyed down to Clacton-on-sea by an early train and spent the morning bathing, and drove from thence to St. Osyth, where, by kind permission of Sir John Johnson, the vicar, Rev. Potts, shewed the ringers over the beautiful priory grounds, and pointed out the most interesting features of this very ancient building, parts of which are still in excellent preservation. The church was next visited and 720 Bob Minor (16 bobs and 14 singles) was rung by the Rev. H. T. W. Eyre, 1; W. Hazell, 2; G. Andrews, 3; C. H. Howard (conductor), 4; E. Beckwith, 5; A. Bowell, 6. Journeying from thence Thorington was reached after a very pleasant drive, the church visited, and a 6-score of Stedman Doubles rung. W. Hazell, 1; C. H. Howard (conductor), 2; G. Andrews, 3; E. Beckwith, 4; A. Bowell, 5. A short drive of about two miles then brought the company to Great Bentley, the home of the ringing enthusiast, Mr. W. T. Nevard, where 360 Kent Treble Bob was rung upon the light but very musical peal which, it is hoped, will shortly be augmented to eight. W. Hazell, 1; C. H. Howard, 2; E. Beckwith, 3; A. Bowell, 4; F. L. Bumstead, 5; W. T. Nevard (conductor), 6; and a course of Cambridge Surprise. A. Bowell, 1; W. Hazell, 2; G. Andrews, 3; C. H. Howard, 4; F. L. Bumstead, 5; W. T. Nevard, 6. The ringers were then very kindly invited to an excellent tea by the Vicar, Rev. Powell, after which another visit was paid to the tower and four 6 scores of Grandsire Doubles rung by W. Hazell, 1; Rev. H. T. W. Eyre, 2; F. L. Bumstead, 3; W. T. Nevard (conductor), 4; A. Bowell, 5; Rev. F. P. H. Powell, 6; and 750 Oxford Treble Bob by W. Hazell, 1; W. T. Nevard (conductor), 2; G. A. Andrews, 3; F. L. Bumstead, 4; G. Lancaster, 5; A. Bowell, 6. On handbells a course each of Oxford Treble Bob Minor, Grandsire Triples and Grandsire Caters. F. L. Bumstead, 1-2; A. Bowell, 3-4; W. Hazell, 5-6; W. T. Nevard, 7-8; G. Andrews, 9-10.

BELLS AS TIME TELLERS.

HARVEST BELLS.

The ringing of the bell in bygone times was general as a signal to commence and to close the daily round of labour. In some of the more remote towns and villages of old England the custom lingers at the ingathering of the harvest. At Driffield, in the East Riding of Yorkshire, for an example, the harvest bell is still rang at five o'clock in the morning to arouse the labourers from their slumbers, and at seven in the evening the welcome sound of the bell intimates the time for closing work for the day.

References to this subject may sometimes be found in parish accounts and other old church documents. In the parish chest of Barrow-on-Humber, Lincolnshire, is preserved a copy of the "Office and Duty of the Parish Clerk," bearing date of 1713, and in which it states:—

"Item.—He is to ring a bell every working day morning at break of the day, and continue the ringing thereof until All Saints, and also to ring a bell every evening about the sunseting until harvest be fully ended: which bells are to begin to ring from the beginning of the harvest."

We learn from an old survey of the parish, still retained amongst the church papers, the reward given to the clerk for ringing the harvest bell. Says the document:—

"The Clarke Receiveth from Every Cottager at Easter for Ringing the Day and Night Bell in Harvest two pecks of wheat."

Barrow-on-Humber became famous for its bells, beer, and singers. And old rhyme states:—

"Barrow for ringing
And Barrow for singing,
And the Oak for good stout ale."

Situation Vacant.

I should be pleased to hear from any good Minor method ringer who is accustomed to any kind of colliery work, above or below ground, and who is willing to give his services as ringer, in return for help in obtaining employment.—Wm. J. NICHOLSON, Woodlands, Treeton, Rotherham.

Ringers' Outings.

ST. MARY'S SOCIETY, BUCKNALL.—On Saturday, July 4th, the members of this Society had their annual outing, the place selected being Uttoxeter. We started from Bucknall at 4.30 p.m., and after an hour's pleasant drive, reached Draycott, where, as a thunder storm was coming on, a halt was made until it had passed over, which it did in about half-an-hour. Another hour's drive brought us to Checkley, where arrangements having been made previously for a pull, we at once made our way to the church, and having raised the bells in peal, a 720 of London Surprise Minor was accomplished by G. Hobbs, 1; C. Preston, 2; W. Wheeldon, 3; D. Preston, 4; J. E. Wheeldon, 5; W. Twigg (conductor), 6; and 1,203 of Bob Minor, with G. Clarkson at the treble in the first and J. Preston at the treble in the second; the others as before. After lowering the bells, and thanking the Churchwarden (the Curate-in-charge being from home), we resumed our journey, arriving at the Old Star inn, Uttoxeter, about 9.15. A capital super was soon laid before us, to which we did ample justice, and then spent an hour with one or two of the local ringers. Sunday morning found us up pretty early, and after a substantial breakfast, we had a pleasant drive of five miles to Rochester, and having obtained the consent of the ringers to take their place at the bells, we rang 240 Superlative Surprise Minor for morning service, returning to Uttoxeter in time for dinner. In the afternoon we had a walk through the beautiful valley of the Dove for about two miles, to Doveridge, the seat of Lord Waterpark. Here there is a splendid old church (at which, according to local tradition, Robin Hood and Maid Marion were married), the tower of which contains a ring of five very old bells. Having obtained permission of the Rector (Canon Hamilton), we succeeded after great exertion (owing to the bad state of the bells) in ringing a 6-score of Bob Doubles, after which we wended our way back to the Old Star, and having partaken of a hurried tea, six of us mounted the belfry of Uttoxeter, where an attempt was made to ring 720 Superlative Surprise Minor on the front six, but failed. Before commencing our return journey (which we did about eight o'clock) a vote of thanks was proposed, seconded, and carried to Host Lovatt for the hearty way he had entertained and catered for us. Starting on our journey, Bucknall was safely reached at about 10.40 p.m., all having most thoroughly enjoyed themselves. We wish through the medium of "THE BELL NEWS" to thank the Rectors, Churchwardens, and Ringers of the various churches for the kind way in which they received us. W. T.

STOKE ARCHIDIACONAL ASSOCIATION—TUNSTALL BRANCH.—On Saturday, July 18th, the members of this tower, accompanied by their wives and a few friends, had their annual outing, starting from Tunstall at 1.30 in brakes, through Crewe and Nantwich to Wrenbury. After a little refreshment we ascended the tower and rang a 720 of Bob Minor in 25 mins.—A. Clark, 1; A. Cooper, 2; J. Whitmore, 3; F. Foden, 4; W. Harratt, 5; W. Rigby (conductor), 6. Then we visited the Cotton Arms and sat down to a grand tea which the ladies provided, to whom we are greatly thankful; and also to the Rector and Churchwardens for the use of the bells, and to the Ringers for their hearty welcome. R.

THE ST. GILES'S SOCIETY, READING.—On Saturday, July 18th, this promising young society held their fifth annual outing. The party, eleven in number, started from the schools in a brake at 1 o'clock, all being punctual to time—not as last year, having to wait half-an-hour for one of the members, and then when he did come explain himself by saying he could not find his flannels; but that was easily accounted for this time, for this young man has lately come over to the Benedicts, so no doubt Mrs. E. had them ready for him. Passing by Shinfield, but not ringing there, a couple of miles brought us to a very pretty village church with a ring of six, called Arborfield. Here we found the bells in good going order, and they were soon set going for a 720 of Bob Minor, but just as everything looked safe, an old blind man made his way up the steps and the 3rd man being just at the top, soon put the 720 on the shelf. The steeplekeeper (Mr. Walters) having explained who the visitor was, a 120 was rung.

Not having time for any more ringing, the order was given to "take your seats." Once more seated in the brake, a splendid drive of about eight miles brought us to the Royal Swan hotel, the head-quarters for the day. After taking a little refreshment a move was made for Hawley church, about five minutes' walk. Here we found Mr. Steer, the worthy sexton and steeplekeeper, waiting. This gentleman, I might say, has everything beautiful and clean. The ringers of St. Giles were very pleased with the church. A move was then made to the belfry which, by the bye, is on the ground floor. The bells being ready some short touches of Stedman and Grandsire were brought round; this finished the ringing for the day and a move was made to head-quarters, where we found host Dann had provided a splendid meat tea. Full justice being done to the good things provided, the company took a walk while the ladies removed the cloth and set the room ready for a little harmony, some of the Hawley and Yately ringers joining, and a few friends. Mr. Sweetzer was called on for the first song, after which a short touch of Stedman Triples was rung upon the handbells, then other songs were sung by Messrs. A. H. Evans, A. E. Reeves and A. W. Reeves, Mr. W. G. King being at the piano. Then another change occurred in the programme, Mr. A. E. Reeves, the conductor and secretary for the outing, warned us that the time had arrived to depart, and answering to his words the same as we should make a Bob if he called one, all took their seats, and a pleasant drive to Wokingham and Reading brought another very enjoyable outing to a close. The ringers wish to thank the Revs. J. Jones and J. Wyatt, the two vicars, for the use of the bells.

THE PRESTWICH SOCIETY.—On Saturday, July 25th, the ringers of Prestwich Parish Church held their annual outing, the place selected being Southport. Starting from Prestwich at 1.50 p.m. they arrived at Southport at 3.15, when they were met by Mr. J. W. Rimmer, steeplekeeper, by whom they were escorted to the tower of Christ Church, where the back six were raised in peal, and a 720 of Bob Minor was rung in 25 mins. J. Gratrix, 1; A. Percival, 2; J. Brooks, 3; W. Stevens (conductor), 4; H. Percival, 5; J. Heywood, 6. Tenor 10 cwt. 8 lbs. They afterwards made their way to The Cyprus restaurant, where they partook of a good substantial tea, which, needless to say, all did ample justice to; after which the worthy steeplekeeper took us for a stroll round by the marine drive, where we had the pleasure of viewing the inspection of several hundred Volunteers on the parade; then we made our way back into the town and called at the Railway hotel and spent the last hour in a convivial manner. Time arriving to soon to say goodbye, we made our way to the station, which we left at 9.15 p.m., arriving at our destination at 11 p.m., all well satisfied with the outing and wish to thank, through the medium of the "THE BELL NEWS," the Clergy and the Churchwardens for the use of the bells, also the worthy steeplekeeper, Mr. J. W. Rimmer, for having everything in readiness. This was a most enjoyable outing, and not easily to be forgotten. J. G.

THE SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION (HORLEY BRANCH).—On Monday, July 20th, the Horley Branch of this Association had their annual outing, the place selected being Warnham. On arriving about 11.30 we were met at the church by Mr. Walter Charman, who conducted us to the tower, and the bells were soon set going to Grandsire and Court Bob Triples. A good dinner was then partaken of, and another move was made to the tower, where several more touches in the above methods were brought round. The bells were then lowered, and a stroll through the village brought on tea time. After a refreshing cup a start was made for home, the visitors having spent a most enjoyable day. They wish, through the medium of this paper, to thank the Vicar for the use of the bells; also Mr. Charman for having everything in readiness.

TRAINING COLLEGE, CHELTENHAM.

A large turret clock has just been erected in the college tower as a memorial to the late Principal. It strikes the hours, shows time on two dials and is fitted with all the latest improvements. The work has been carried out by John Smith & Sons, Midland Clock Works, Derby.

CURRENT TOPICS.

The Oxford Diocesan Guild have had one more of their successful festivals; this time at Bletchley. The report complains, however, that the attendance of members was not so large as could have been desired. This I should say was owing to the very fine weather prevailing of late, and as I stated last week, the absence of many ringers, who are enjoying their well-earned holidays in the Riviera—or somewhere else. The grand and well-attended festivals this Guild has always had must console “the powers” for a slight falling-off sometimes. They can well afford to be content. With over eleven hundred members, and still going up, it will be a long time before the Guild sees the least shadow of a reverse—unless it be a reverse method.

At Divine Service which was held the sermon was preached by the Archdeacon of Buckingham, from a most appropriate if well-worn text—“Let all things be done decently and in order.” The address was very practical, very, and I should think it was scarcely possible for some at least of those who heard it to come away from the church unbenefitted. There was just one discordant note, referring to what is now becoming known as “the old condition,” i.e., what ringers and ringing used to be. It is a favorite theme for a preacher, but we have had more than enough of it. If our reverend fathers would think for a moment, that if ringers have ever been known as social pariahs, or that ringing has ever been carried on under disreputable circumstances, they, the clergy, incur the odium—the whole of it. Do not we all know that at the present time there are churches to be found where the incumbent cares not a fig for the bells or ringers? Certainly. What tales we could unfold about such things.

Our friend Mr. Trollope has very kindly told us about the Sexton's Wheel. I plead my complete ignorance relative to the instrument. I never heard of such a thing before, and I'll be bound to say a good many of you are in the same street. Though Mr. Trollope has been at great pains to make us all understand it, I am afraid there are some with heads just as thick as mine, into which no amount of written description can ever be hammered. If Mr. Trollope could supply a photograph or sketch of some sort, it might be clear to us who suffer from obtuseness, and then perhaps I could get it printed in this column.

Among the outing records last week was one by the Richmond (Yorks) Society. The worthy Hon. Sec. of the Durham Association, with Mrs. Hudson and Mr. Hudson, jun., joined the party. The place visited was Grinton, which I hear is ten miles away from any station. I mean a railway station of course, not one for police. After ringing, the visitors went up to inspect the bells, and have a look round from the top of the tower. Down in the churchyard, Mr. Hudson, jun., was preparing to take a photograph of the church, and just as the company had got to the top of the tower, that gentleman was in the act of removing the cap from the lens of the camera. I have been favored with a copy of this photograph—an excellent one by the way—and there is the company in bold relief at the top of the tower. The individuals pour-trayed thought they had made a lucky hit, their appearance on the scene being quite unpremeditated, but the photographer stoutly declared that they had spoiled the picture.

May be this declaration is a mere matter of opinion, but Mr. Hudson, jun., is a skilled photographer, and therefore understands the proprieties. To my somewhat disordered vision the appearance of a body of ringers standing in line at the top of an old square tower, with a flagstaff just behind them, is suggestive of another kind of scene, only that the requirements of the present day demand more than one upright timber. May be the same idea has struck the photographer. Moral: Never be photo'd. on the roof of a tower with a flagstaff at your back.

The Middlesex Association wants to amalgamate with the South and West Middlesex Association, or else the latter wants to be merged in the former, or something of the sort. I can hardly understand the position just yet. A mix-up is easily carried out if desired. Abolish one of the titles, send all name-books and all money in hand to the survivor, and the job is done. Not quite so fast, somebody will be saying to themselves on reading this. I really don't think this amalgamation will come to pass. I am a member of one of the societies interested, and I see no unanimity or warmth shewn at the proposal. As a member I cannot give it my support. Both are doing good work; both are getting on quietly but surely; and both are happy. Amalgamate—and I shall fear the green-eyed monster. Mix-up, and farewell to peace, quietness, and contentment. My opinion only, mind you. There are wiser people than I in these Associations; but not too many of 'em. And as in other and larger bodies, there is quite enough of lofty and vain conception, not always accompanied by that article which is an opposite to ignorance.

I should like in this place to hear of something, and I am sure the majority of you will not consider me out of order. I have not my “B. N.” to refer to handy, but I think remarks were made at the last Central Council meeting about the value of “points,” and a discussion led to the statement that Mr. Attree would deal with the matter in “THE BELL NEWS.” Personally, I feel very little interest in this question, but I am asked if I can give any information (or “inflammation”—for I cannot make out the word exactly—I wish people would write plainer) upon the subject. I beg to say I cannot. Neither do I know when the gentleman intends to publish the next analysis, though I hear he has been interrogated on the subject, but is (pro tem.) dumb. Rather surprising this; as Mr. Attree is a man of many words—at the Council. Return to your labour of love, Master George; people are evidently wondering what's amiss; with bated breath your own fellow-bright-uns are wondering where you are.

The other night we met to settle—the place for our outing; and every one was in good trim; all quiescent, nothing doubting—that all objectors would be beat—who fought against a beaker; and the meeting closed at Fahrenheit; in favour of

PLAIN SPEAKER.

THOMAS BLACKBOURN,
CHURCH BELL HANGER, AND TUNER.
SALISBURY, WILTSHIRE.

THOMAS BLACKBOURN is a practical Ringer, and having had considerable experience in Church Bell hanging and tuning, with confidence solicits the patronage of the Clergy, Churchwardens and Ringers generally.

T. B. has devoted a great deal of attention to the fixing of Clock Hammers used for striking the hours and quarters on Church Bells. These are sometime placed in awkward and dangerous positions, even by Church Clock Makers.

T. BLACKBOURN's experience enables him to affix these hammers, with their accompanying levers in a most accurate manner, preventing any danger to the bell frame or clock. He will be glad to advise on clocks as well as bells.

The Ellacombe Chime Hammers fixed. Sole Fixers of Libby's Apparatus for Silent practice. Handbells supplied. Bells weighed in the tower at a small cost.

A PEAL OF 362,880 GRANDSIRE CATERS, 6d.
Contains the full extent of changes on nine bells. Forwarded Post Free, on receipt of 7d By James Hewitt, 16, Chape Row, Gosport.

The Bell News & Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 8, 1896.

THE financial dimensions of the fund for erecting a memorial to the late GEORGE NEWSON, and handing a sum over to his widow, have it would seem almost reached their summit, and though the amount subscribed may be considered respectable, it certainly will not enable the Committee to hand over to Mrs. NEWSON such an amount as we should like to have seen given to her, nor is it a sum of such magnitude as to have exhausted the benevolence of the Exercise at large. We have received no mandate or request whatever to say anything upon this subject; we allude to the movement entirely upon our own responsibility; and our opinion is that the affair has been too prolonged. Not the slightest blame whatever can be attached to the Committee for this; their anxiety - a commendable anxiety by the way—is to make the affair a complete success. They will shortly have to close the fund, but before their labours come to an end, we once more appeal to ringers all over the world to send in their subscriptions without delay, and in such volume that the desires of the Committee may be fulfilled to the very utmost at the earliest possible moment.

Correspondence.

While allowing the utmost freedom for the expression of opinion, it must never be considered that we are in any way bound to statements made by correspondents.

TREBLE BOB COMPOSITIONS.

SIR,—I have not the time nor inclination to wander with Mr. Lindoff in any circuitous route he may choose, and I must therefore ask him to stick to the point at issue and the principle involved, by the innovation he adopted in giving his 5024, in a recent issue of this paper. But I will reply to some points of his last letter, and others that suggested themselves on its perusal. Firstly, I am accused of not producing a sensible argument. My reply to this is that my friend reads my statements in the same sense as he writes his own letters, viz., in a misleading sense. Secondly, he tells us the 5024 has been rung Well, Sir, that is no reply whatever, as two wrongs do not make a right. Thirdly, he gives us a bit of the chat between himself and one of the best composers of the day, and wishes me to remember the words thus given. This, Sir, I can afford to do, as they do not contradict, but simply confirm my statement. Lastly, your correspondent has twice addressed you on the subject under notice, but in neither communication does he deny my assertion, and therefore further comment is useless.

H. DAINS.

A DOUBT.

SIR,—In your issue of Saturday, July 25th, I see recorded a quarter-peal of Kent Treble Bob Major rung at Barking on July 19th. Now Sir that ought not to have been published, for it was not rung (without they call firing Treble Bob ringing), for I heard them fire for two whole pulls. I am very sorry for those young men who had the star in front of their names, but I should advise them to discard that one and go for another.

A NOVICE.

P.S.—Great credit is due to the conductor for getting them round so soon.

DAVID PALSER.

We regret to have to record the death on Thursday, July 25th, of the above-named member of the St. Mary Redcliffe society, Bristol, at the age of sixty, after a long and painful illness. Deceased had been connected with the church of St. Mary Redcliffe for the past twenty-five years, and was secretary of the ringers' society. Although not a peal-ringer, he was always ready to take part in any ringing on practice nights or otherwise. The funeral took place on Monday, July 27th. The first part of the service was held at St. Matthew's, Kingsdown, and the rest of the service at St. Paul's, Portland Square, where deceased was interred in the family vault. Muffled touches of Triples were rung during the day at St. Matthew's, and in the evening at St. Peter's, where deceased was steeplekeeper. An attempt was made for a muffled quarter peal of Grandsire Triples, which came to grief in the last part. G. Staddon, 1; J. Richmond, 2; C. Horton, 3; P. Cames, 4; F. Gooding, 5; W. Emery, 6; H. Porch (conductor), 7; F. Porch, 8.

THE LATE GEORGE NEWSON.

SIR,—The following members of the Royal Cumberland Society form the committee for placing a suitable Memorial over the last resting place of their departed friend in Hampstead Cemetery, and appeal to ringers and friends for subscriptions to aid the object in view. These will be duly acknowledged in "THE BELL NEWS" from time to time.

65, Clive Road, Rochester.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

F. G. K. (Leeds).—Let us have your name and address, and we will procure for you the desired information.

BOB—We have pointed out many times that the idea is impossible of realisation.

HASTY—Always get a friend to look over your compositions before they leave your possession. But mind that you give trouble.

WEM (Salop).—There is no ring of 12 in the diocese, and only two of ten bells.

THE PEAL AT BREWOOD, STAFFORDSHIRE.—This is a new ring of eight, having just been placed in the tower, for which, some two years ago, £1000 was left by Mr. W. Docker, of the Deanery, Brewood. The bells contain the metal of the old six, some of which had been in the tower over 300 years. They were dedicated a few weeks ago by the Bishop of Shrewsbury, but nothing in the way of change-ringing was done until Monday, August 3rd, when a band from Wolverhampton and district rang an excellently-struck peal, at the completion of which congratulations poured in from all sides. The bells are a very fine ring from the Loughborough foundry. Hung in iron H frames with all the latest improvements, the "go" is everything that could be desired.

* * We impress upon our friends the great necessity of exercising the utmost care in preparing their compositions for insertion in this column. Notably so in peals where dashes are used to indicate the bobs at M W H and so forth. Some have lately come to hand which have been almost impossible to decipher correctly.

Compositions.

All compositions sent for insertion must be accompanied by a fee of Sixpence. If proof of a touch or peal be desired One Shilling additional must accompany such request.

THE CHURCH BELLS OF BUCK-
INGHAMSHIRE. By ALFRED HENEGE COCKS.
M.A., Ch. Ch., Oxford; F.Z.S., F.R.G.S., Great Marlow,
Bucks. With many Illustrations.

MESSRS. JARROLD & SONS have pleasure in announcing the
early publication by subscription of this most interesting and important work. It will contain an account of all the Church Bells
in Buckinghamshire, with everything relating to their history that can be discovered. Full accounts of all the Founders whose bells
hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County.
Including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. The work was undertaken at the instigation of the late J. C. L. Stahl Schmidt Esq., author of "Surrey Bells and London Bell-founders," "The Church Bells of Kent," "Herts," etc.; and the fact that the author
had the benefit of the kind assistance and advice of this well-known
campanologist may be mentioned as some guarantee of the scope and nature of the present work. Mr. Stahl Schmidt wrote the author,
that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting county," and he repeated this opinion in a subsequent letter. The Church Bells of Buckinghamshire will consist of about 500 pages to be handsomely illustrated with 24 full-page plates of mediæval letter-
ings, founders' marks, etc., found on Bells still existing in the County
and numerous figures—some of them being peculiar to Bucks—will be inserted in the text. The 8vo. Edition is limited to 350 copies, and will be offered to subscribers before the day of publication at one set. The Larger Edition, Royal 4to, is limited to 80 copies, and will be subscribed at 4s. The prices will be raised on the day
of issue should any copies remain unsold.

ANNUAL FESTIVAL AT TAUNTON.

The annual festival of this Association was held on Bank Holiday. During the morning some well-struck touches of Grandsire Triples were rung at St. Mary's by members belonging to Taunton, Wraxall, and Minehead. At one o'clock the members sat down to dinner at The George hotel, the chair being occupied by the Master of the Association, Mr. C. E. D. Boutflower, who was supported by the Rev. Prebendary Askwith, vicar of St. Mary's, Taunton; the Rev. W. Prowse Hewett, rector of Norton Fitzwarren; the Rev. H. C. Coartney, of Minehead; the Rev. J. Utten Todd, of Minehead; Mr. F. N. Quantock-Shuldham, of Norton-sub-Hamdon; and Mr. H. W. Tomkins, of Old Cleeve, hon. secretary and treasurer, and there was a company present of about fifty, the repast giving the utmost satisfaction to all.

Immediately after dinner the annual meeting of the Association was held, and the secretary announced the receipt of letters of apology for absence from the Dean of Wells, Canon Buckle, Sir A. A. Hood, Bart., M.P., Colonel Wyndham Murray, M.P., Mr. G. F. Luttrell, Prebendary Buller, and many others.

Mr. Tomkins then read the annual report, which stated that, as in 1894, progress and success had again marked the steps of the Association during the past year. It was satisfactory to be able to report a further increase in the membership, and also a decided advance by many of the members in the Art of change-ringing. Nine peals had been rung, and, thanks to the untiring efforts of their friends at Dunster and Minehead, two peals of Stedman Triples were scored for the Association during the year. Although the success on these occasions was largely due to the skill of the conductor, who was permanently resident outside the diocese, still, it was hoped and believed that in the near future they would have a Stedman conductor resident in their midst. Among their friends at Taunton it was pleasing to note that Grandsire and Plain Bob had given place to the more advanced methods, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, and that they were successful in ringing the first 5040 in Minor methods by members of the Association. The number of performing members on the books was now 320, as compared with 296 at the end of 1894. There were six life members and forty-two honorary members, as compared with four and twenty-eight at the end of 1894. There had been four successful meetings, viz., at Wiveliscombe, Yeovil, Wells, and North Curry respectively, the attendance at Wells being the largest at any meeting in connection with the Association. Their thanks were due to those members who so cordially supported them at those meetings, for, after all, the success or non-success of the Association rested with the members themselves, and where apathy existed, they would urge each member to remember this fact, and strive by all the means in his power to help on the Association in the diocese. Their finances were in a flourishing condition, and whereas the balance in hand in 1894 was £9 4s. 5d., it was at the end of 1895 £13 18s. 11d. It was believed that much of their success during the year was due to the indefatigable energy of the local secretaries, for which the Association was much indebted to them. In such a large and scattered diocese as theirs, it would be impossible for the Master or Hon. Secretary to be in touch with all the ringers in the diocese without some such medium as was afforded by the local secretaries. Their hearty thanks were due to the Lord Bishop of the Diocese for the interest taken in their work, and for the practical and helpful address he gave at the annual meeting at Wells. During the year the Association has sustained a great loss by the removal of the past Master, the Rev. C. W. H. Griffith, to another sphere of labour. It was the unanimous wish of many that he might ere long return to his old diocese to resume the work he so ably carried out in years past.

The balance-sheet was also read, showing receipts amounting to £39 10s. 11d., and a balance in hand of £13 18s. 11d.

The chairman moved the adoption of the report, which was, in his opinion, a most satisfactory one in all respects. It was satisfactory from a financial point of view, and from a numerical point of view, as both hon. members, life members, and performing members had increased in numbers. It was most satisfactory also from a scientific point of view. They had scored more peals than they did the previous year, and not only had the number of peals increased, but the scientific quality of the peals, if he might so term them, had increased as well. They had rung in the diocese two peals of Stedman Triples, but the credit for this belonged solely to the ringers in a remote part of the diocese. It was pleasing to notice that their Taunton friends had made a decided advance. They now rang the Treble Bob methods in Taunton, and he hoped they would hear a peal of Treble Bob Major before very long.

Mr. F. N. Quantock-Shuldham seconded the adoption of the report, which was agreed to.

The election of officers was next proceeded with. The Bishop of the diocese being ex-officio president, it was unnecessary to appoint any one for that position. The vice-presidents were were re-elected with the addition of Sir Greville Smythe and Lady Smythe, the chairman remarking that Sir Greville had given a subscription of five guineas and Lady Smythe two guineas.

Mr. Rowe proposed the re-election of the chairman as Master, and the Rev. J. Utten Todd, in seconding, remarked that when they had a good thing they should keep it, for he was a thorough man of business, a capital ringer, and an exceedingly good fellow.

The motion was carried with acclamation, and the chairman, in briefly responding, spoke of the pleasure it gave him to occupy the position.

Mr. J. Maddock proposed, and Mr. A. Waters seconded, the re-election of Mr. Tomkins as hon. secretary and treasurer.

The chairman supported, and remarked that if they searched the diocese over they would not get a better man for the position than Mr. Tomkins, for he came to them when they were in a hole, and he lifted them out rather successfully, and they now stood on a pretty firm foundation.

The proposition was also unanimously agreed to, and the hon. secretary responded.

On the proposition of Mr. Doble, seconded by Mr. Waters, the Master and the Rev. J. Utten Todd were re-elected representatives on the Central Council.

Thirty-five new members were elected, and it was decided to hold the next quarterly of the Association at Wraxall, near Bristol.

It was decided at the suggestion of the chairman, and on the proposition of Mr. J. Windsor, seconded by Mr. J. Maddock, that the annual meeting of the Association be for the future held between Christmas and Midsummer, instead of between Easter and September.

At three o'clock a short service was held in St. Mary's church, and an appropriate address delivered by the Rev. Prebendary Askwith, who in the course of his remarks alluded to the duty of service for God, and the different members of the church having their particular duties to perform, and said that bell-ringing formed a part of church work. He also referred to the way in which bells were used in ancient times in the church, remarking that a priest always carried a bell to invite the people to come to the house of God. In the course of time these bells were enlarged and put into the tower, and then there was a superstition that the ringing of the bells drove away thunder and lightning. They should, however, consider that the ringing of the bells was a part of the duty of the Church, and that the ringers should take their part in the service of God, and not be excluded. There was one temptation which ringers were not liable to like choirmen, for they were only heard and not seen, so that they were not likely to be proud of their performance.

After service the members were kindly entertained to tea on the vicarage lawn by the Rev. Prebendary and Mrs. Askwith.

During the evening touches of Triples and Caters were rung on the fine ring in St. Mary's tower, whilst some of the members journeyed to Wilton, Bishop's Hull and Norton Fitzwarren, and at the two latter places a 720 each of Bob Minor and Grandsire Minor respectively were rung.

THE SOUTH AND WEST MIDDLESEX GUILD.

The last monthly ringing meeting of this Guild was held at Harmondsworth on Saturday, July 25th. The attendance was good, members being present from Ealing, Acton, Heston, Isleworth, Hillingdon (St. Andrew's and St. John's), and others from unattached districts. The Ealing and Isleworth contingents journeyed down by brake, thereby enjoying a delightful drive of an hour-and-a-half duration through picturesque country, whilst others made no less enjoyable a journey by means of the much favoured "bike." Arriving at this quiet and little village, members were met by Mr. J. Blondell, of the local company, and at once made their way to the tower, and having raised the bells—a tuneful little ring by the way—a touch of Grandsire Minor was brought round. W. Foster, 1; C. Edwards, 2; Rev. H. G. Bird, 3; H. S. Reeves, 4; J. Basden (conductor), 5; H. Rowe, 6. An adjournment was then made to the Church House, where the vicar (Rev. J. C. Taylor), had kindly provided a substantial tea. The vicar having in a few well-chosen words heartily welcomed the Guild to Harmondsworth, wished the meeting every success. He then pronounced grace.

The Rev. H. G. Bird on behalf of those present thanked the vicar for the very kind manner in which he had both welcomed and entertained the Guild that afternoon.

A move was then once more made to the tower, and numerous touches of Grandsire and Plain Bob Minor, Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, conducted by Messrs. Basden, Taber, Rowe, and H. S. Rowe, were brought round. Some good practice was also obtained both in Oxford and Treble Bob Minor, the bells being kept going till about 8.30. The remainder of the evening was spent with handbells in changes and tune-playing.

The time for departure—9.30—coming round only too soon, brought to a close a most sociable and enjoyable meeting. Many thanks are due to Mr. Blondell for his kind attention throughout the meeting.

THE ST. MARY'S GUILD.—NORTON-SUB-HAMDON.

A most successful outing was organised by the above band on Tuesday, August 4th. Starting from Norton in a brake at 6.45, they drove via Crewkerne to Beaminster, where there is a splendid ring of eight, tenor about 30 cwt. After some round ringing on the full peal, several touches of Grandsire Doubles were successfully brought round on the six hindmost bells. After thanking the Rector for the use of the bells, the brake was remounted and Bridport was reached about 12.30. An excellent dinner was provided at The Greyhound hotel, after which the members went on to West Bay and enjoyed some hours by the sea. Meeting again at 4.30 for tea, they were much disappointed to find it was impossible to ring at Bridport, owing to illness near the church; however, the Rev. A. G. Edwards (their rector) had arranged for a pull at Bradpole, whence the members proceeded. After being photographed by the Rev. A. G. Edwards, the peal of six were raised, and some more Grandsire Doubles were rung. Home was reached about 10.30, after a day which all thoroughly enjoyed.

THE ELY DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

The fifth annual meeting of this Association was held on Monday, August 3rd (bank holiday), at Cambridge, and was attended by members from Bury St. Edmunds, Cambridge, Cavendish, Cottenham, Ely, Glemsford, Hemingford Grey, Debenham, Littleport, Long Melford, Newmarket, Rougham, Stretham, Sudbury, Willburton, and Norwich. Unfortunately, although the meeting may thus fairly claim to have been representative, the actual number present was much smaller than usual, this being due, doubtless, in many instances to the early harvesting operations in the district. The bells at Great St. Mary's, the Roman Catholic, and Old Chesterton churches had been kindly placed at the service of members, and during the day several good touches were rung. These included 480 Kent Treble Bob Major at Great St. Mary's in the morning (on the back eight). S. Slater (Glemsford), 1; A. Ambrose (Long Melford), 2; A. Markwell (Wilburton), 3; E. J. Ambrose (Long Melford), 4; W. Rumsey (Debenham), 5; H. Harper (Sudbury), 6; C. Sillitoe (Sudbury, conductor), 7; Geo. Taylor (Cambridge), 8. Also a course of Grandsire Caters. W. Rumsey, 1; E. J. Ambrose, 2; S. Slater, 3; A. W. Brighton (Cambridge), 4; J. Taylor (Cambridge), 5; C. Sillitoe, 6; H. Harper, 7; A. Markwell, 8; G. Taylor, 9; W. Eusdon (Cambridge), 10. In the afternoon at the Roman Catholic Church, a touch of 576 Kent Treble Bob Major was brought round, this being the first touch in the method on these bells, the go and swing of which were greatly admired by the visitors. The ringers were S. Slater, 1; E. Andrews (Cambridge), 2; A. Markwell, 3; W. Rumsey, 4; H. Harper, 5; A. H. Osborne (Bury St. Edmunds), 6; A. W. Brighton, 7; C. Sillitoe (conductor), 8. Tenor 31 cwt. A touch of Grandsire Triples was also attempted there, but was lost. At Old Chesterton, where there is a fine toned ring of five, several 120's were rung of Grandsire and Old Doubles, and also 120 of Stedman, conducted by W. Eusdon, of Cambridge.

At the business meeting the chair was occupied by the Rev. Canon Cockshott, Rector of Stretham, an honorary member of the society, the other clergy present being the Revs. E. J. Teesdale (Rougham), P. E. Curtis (Hemingford Grey), Kenelm H. Smith (Ely), and W. W. Crump (Haddenham), the Rev. A. H. F. Boughiey (Cambridge) being unfortunately prevented by a previous engagement. The Rev. E. J. Teesdale announced that as he would shortly be leaving the diocese, he must resign the offices of general secretary and treasurer, a statement received with great regret by the meeting, and a resolution expressing the hearty thanks of the Association to him for his constant energetic efforts to promote its usefulness was unanimously passed. The Rev. W. W. Crump was then elected to the vacant offices, and Mr. R. M. Croft (Wilburton), Rev. W. W. Crump, Rev. P. E. Curtis, and Mr. C. Sillitoe were respectively appointed archidiaconal secretaries for Ely, the Isle of Ely, Huntingdon, and Sudbury. After the other usual matters had been disposed of, the vexed and long standing question as to some kind of amalgamation or intercommunion between the Ely District and Ely Diocesan Associations, and the still older society in the Archdeaconry of Bedford, was brought forward by the Rev. W. W. Crump, supported by Canon Cockshott and the Rev. K. H. Smith (Secretary of the Diocesan Association); and it was eventually arranged that the various secretaries should call a joint meeting to be held at Cambridge as the most convenient centre, some time in November, when the subject shall be further discussed, and if possible decided. Former members and others interested are requested to communicate with the secretaries, who will duly publish notice of the meeting in "THE BELL NEWS."

NOTICE TO VISITORS TO RIPON.—The ringers of the cathedral will be pleased to receive and accommodate any ringers who may visit the city during the great festival to be held on August 18th, 19th, 20th, 21st, and 22nd, and wish for a touch. Meet at the west entrance each morning at 8, and on the 20th at 12 a.m., and any company that may come will be welcome to the use of the bells; or should there be part of a company arrive, the cathedral ringers will make them up any time from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., or from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. T. METCALFE, Secretary.

THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.—LIVERPOOL DIOCESAN BRANCH.

On Saturday, August 1st, the inhabitants of the pretty little village of Halewood were enlivened by the ringing of the parish church bells, it being the monthly meeting of the above Association. There was a good attendance of members, and among the veterans noticed was Mr. S. Gough, of Garston, who looked well and hearty, and it is hoped will be spared to take part in many more similar meetings of the Association.

The following towers were represented:—Aughton, Farnworth, Garston, Liverpool, Warrington, and the local company.

At the business meeting which was held, Mr. S. Gough presided in the unavoidable absence of the Rector.

The minutes of the previous meeting held at Woolton were read and confirmed. One new member was elected, and it was decided to hold the next meeting at Farnworth, on Saturday, September 5th.

A vote of thanks to the Chairman for presiding, and to the local company for having everything in readiness, brought the meeting to a close.

The ringers then adjourned to the tower, and the bells were occupied by mixed bands until late in the evening.

THE LIVERPOOL DIOCESAN GUILD.

The Quarterly Meeting of the above took place at Crosby on Saturday, August 8th, when a short service was held at St. Luke's church. The vicar (Rev. R. Love), gave an earnest and impressive address, taking for his text Exodus xxviii., v. 30. He emphasised the fact that each ringing member was a recognised officer of the Church, and that in such capacity it was incumbent on them both individually and as a body to uphold in every way possible the dignity of the office. He referred to the peculiar sanctity attached to bells in Holy Scripture, and enjoined all present to bear in mind and take for their motto the inscription on the bells referred to in Zechariah xiv., v. 20: "Holiness unto the Lord." On the invitation of the Rev. R. and Mrs. Love, and several ladies, a large party of ringers and their friends were entertained to a most inviting and substantial tea. A business meeting followed, during the course of which eleven ringing and one honorary member were enrolled.

On the motion of the Rev. W. T. Bulpit, Hon. Secretary, a hearty vote of thanks was unanimously passed both to the Rev. R. and Mrs. Love, and lady members of the congregation, who so kindly entertained the party.

After the meeting several touches were rung on the church bells.

MILVERTON, SOMERSET.

The day of Tuesday, July 21st last, was, from a ringer's point of view, a red-letter day in this parish, as it was the day of the Vicar's marriage. The beautiful ring of eight bells in the tower of St. Michael's church was kept in motion during the greater portion of the day, and so praiseworthy was the performance by the home company that a special record of it is deservedly published. Several touches of Grandsire Triples, including a quarter peal in 45 mins., was rang with much precision by T. Andrews, 1; A. Andrews, 2; R. Scott, 3; W. Andrews, 4; J. Richards, 5; W. Chapman (conductor), 6; R. Andrews, 7; C. Pulsford, 8.

IMPERIAL INSTITUTE.—In order to furnish an opportunity for the popular study of the abundant resources of the Empire, as illustrated in the Galleries of the Imperial Institute, the Directors of the British Workman's and General Assurance Company, Limited, are issuing several hundreds of invitations to a half-holiday at the Imperial Institute to-day, Saturday, 15th inst., the last day of the season of 1896. The guests are a selection from the most important industrial establishments in the Metropolis; at the expense of the Company a luncheon will be provided for them, and they will be admitted free of charge to all the galleries of the Institute, to the several exhibitions, and to the gardens, which will be brilliantly illuminated at night. A few tickets are reserved, which will be issued on application at the Company's offices, 2, West Street, Finsbury.

ALLIANCE PRINCIPLE.

By HENRY DAINS, Royal Cumberland Youths.

In the issue of this paper for July 25th, 1896, Mr. C. Smart, of Steyning, Sussex, presents its readers with a new method upon this principle, entitling it Double Steyning Major.

It is correct to say the method is new, both to Mr. Smart and readers generally, but to myself and some friends, it is several years old. It is in fact the original draft upon this principle.

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8
2 1 4 3 6 5 8 7
1 2 4 6 3 5 7 8

6 2 8 5 4 1 7 3

6 8 2 4 5 7 1 3
8 6 4 2 7 5 3 1
6 8 4 7 2 5 1 3
8 6 7 4 5 2 3 1

8 7 6 5 4 3 2 1

3 1 5 2 7 4 8 6
1 3 2 5 4 7 6 8

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8

This, then, is the plain course of which I at first intended to try and construct peals, and in this form the method lay for some time, when next I turned it up, introducing 2nds place, I found I had the first lead-end of a plain course upon Bob Major lines, and though I had discovered a first-class method, but upon examination, the proof internally gave, I discovered, 43265, 3246, and 24365 as false course-ends, against 23456, and I gave up the task, successful composition being almost hopeless.

But our friend may say he has 7ths place as well as 2nds. My reply is, that as the changes are the same throughout each, they are one and the same method (the one single, and the other double), the introduction of 7ths place being no more or less than unnecessary and useless, except as a variation.

As an illustration, let readers take a look at that beautiful method, Superlative. Cut out 7ths place from the first lead, which means cutting the long dodge in halves. The result will be the changes jump from the first to the fourth lead, and Bob Major lead-ends, for the plain course turns up. Composition will run upon the same lines, due respect being shown for 32465 and 24365, as in the original method, and any half-peal of Bob Major, wherein the bells in 5-6 at course-ends are not reversed will form a true peal in this variation. Well, what originality is there here? I don't insinuate that Mr. Smart has done this, as the original had not been published, but the fact remains, one is a variation of the other.

THE PEAL "APPENDIX, 1895," PRINTED BY the Central Council Committee, may be obtained post free, with the Report on Calls, on application to the Hon. Secretary, Rev. H. Earle Bulwer, Stanhoe Rectory, King's Lynn, enclosing 7½d. in stamps.

THE WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD AT FAREHAM AND RYDE.

As on several occasions on a Saturday previous to August Bank Holiday, several members of the above Guild met at Fareham, Hants., to attempt a peal on the bells of the parish church, but owing to some of the trains being very late on Saturday, August 1st, the band was not completed till 7.20 p.m. The ringers comprised Mr. H. White, of Basingstoke, who had arrived earlier in the day; Messrs. Williams and Bennett, of Brighton, arriving at 4.10, only a few minutes late; Mr. Gifford, who should have arrived at 3.58 not arriving till 4.40; whilst Messrs. Dains and Shade (who should have arrived at 3.58 and 4.58 respectively) did not get to Fareham till 3.30, Mr. Shade arriving at the tower at 7.20.

After tea at the house of Mr. J. W. Whiting (who in his usual hospitable manner entertained those in time for the same), a move was made for the tower, where as stated above, the eighth man did not turn up till 7.20. As may be supposed by this time an attempt for a peal was out of the question, so by way of practice 784 of Double Norwich was tapped off. Finding our worthy host had been looking up Superlative, a plain course was tried, with the result after two plain courses had been rung, a 672 in the same method was brought round, after which a pleasant hour was spent together before retiring for the night.

At 10.15 on Sunday morning found the same band at the tower to ring for Divine Service, two more courses of Superlative and a touch of Stedman being brought round. The 12.26 train brought Mr. R. S. Cherriman, who was to make up the band for Superlative at All Saints, Ryde, on the next day. A 576 of Superlative was rung for afternoon service, also touches in the same method for evening service.

A stroll round, meeting and chatting with old ringing friends, brought time for turning in for the night. 8.14 a.m. on Monday morning saw the whole band at Fareham station, where tickets were taken for Stokes Bay, en route for the Isle of Wight. After a most enjoyable trip across the Solent the church of All Saints, Ryde, was reached at 9.40. Here they were met by Mr. Salisbury, of the local band, who had everything in readiness to start for the peal. After the usual preliminary, "go" was called for Superlative at 10.11 a.m. and at 1.30 p.m. the welcome "this is all" announced the first peal of Major on the bells, also the first Surprise peal rang in the island, and the first peal of Major of any kind rang by the Guild in the island. Immediately after the peal the vicar came up in the tower and congratulated the band on their success.

Then to satisfy the wants of the inner man. The party were soon found at Whittington's restaurant seated round the table, accompanied by Mr. Salisbury and our old friend Mr. James Hewett, who had come over in time to hear the last hour of the peal. Dinner over, the company heard that the fleet was passing up the Solent, and were invited to take a look from the top of the tower. But having accomplished what they came for, no one cared to accept the journey up the tower again, and as arrangements had been made by Mr. Richards, of Swindon (who is a native of the island), for ringing at St. Thomas', Newport, they saunteringly wended their way to St. John's station, being accompanied by Mr. Richards and Mr. Jennings, the latter being conductor of the Ryde band; and also our old esteemed friend, Mr. Hewett. Arriving at Newport, the steeplekeeper, Mr. Moody, and Mr. Churchwarden King led the way to the tower, but as time was limited to 1½ hours here, only two touches were rung, one each of Stedman Triples and Bob Major. Tenor 16 cwt. 2 lbs. A marble tablet in the bellry records the opening of these bells after augmentation from six to eight, with a peal of Grandsire Triples on February 14th, 1809, by the Union Youths of this town. W. Galpin, 1; T. Osborne, 2; W. Rayner, 3; J. Whittington, 4; P. Poor, 3; J. Newbury, 6; J. Wood, 7; J. Stephens, 8. No conductor is mentioned, but it is supposed it was conducted by W. Rayner, as his name is recorded as conductor of several 720s previous to this date.

After ascending to the top of the tower for a look round, where Carisbrook Castle and church could be seen to advantage the party were kindly entertained to tea at The King's Head inn by the vicar's warden. No time had now to be lost, so after thanking their host for his hospitality and such a hearty welcome, a hasty move was made for the train, leaving Newport at 5.41 in time for the 6.25 boat from Ryde pier to the mainland. On arriving at Ryde pier they were met by Messrs. Goddard and Groves, of Salisbury, who accompanied them across in the steamer to Southsea, the trip being all the more interesting by a splendid view of the fleet which was anchored in line from Spithead. Nearly two hours had to be spent in getting from Southsea to Portsmouth town, there being no convenient train till 9 p.m. At this hour they dispersed to catch the train for the various destinations. Thus was brought to a close one of the most successful and enjoyable trips ever spent by above members of the Guild, one and all wishing through the medium of this paper to thank all those who had helped to make arrangements, and to the vicars for the use of the bells.

SIX-BELL METHODS.

SIR,—When any departure is made from any rule that has been laid down by universal custom it is always well to try and ascertain whether the change will carry with it sufficient improvement to outweigh the undoubted advantages that use and custom always attach to themselves; and for this reason the author of the six-bell methods in your issue of August 1st might well ask himself what is gained by fixing the tenor in place of the treble. I fancy he will find it a hard question to answer. Not novelty, for all methods in use can be so treated by anyone the slightest acquainted with the rules of composition. Not music, for more unmusical methods could not well be, since the 5-6 must come up wrong. Neither does it give greater facility for actual ringing, for a young ringer can usually ring the treble and not often the tenor. On all these grounds the innovation is a change for the worse, and when it is added that it goes flat in the face of all customs and rules which a couple of centuries have established, there is little indeed to be said in its favour. True composition is the discovery of improvements in methods and peals, not the multiplication of masses of figures that will never be rung.

9, Valentine Street, Norwich.

J. A. TROLLOPE.

P.S.—"Barnby Don Pleasure" will be found identical with Rochester Surprise, and the others are no doubt ancient.

SIR,—It is rather surprising to me that we have never had a comprehensive classification of six-bell methods; not that it is my intention to take such a big order single-handed. At the same time, I should like to make a few remarks in connection with the subject. Of course the collecting of the methods is the chief feature, but one of the most important items for consideration is the proving of the methods; for, having had a number of methods through my hands for proof, only a few of which were true, I have a strong suspicion that some of the old ones are not true. As an instance of this, I have had occasion lately to look rather closely into the working of "Yorkshire Court" (see Standard Methods), and "Court Bob" (see Banister). I had always been curious as to the truth of these methods, but still I did not think they were really false. However, such is the case, and the reason is that the methods do not work uniform on both sides of the lead; the first six changes being Double Oxford Bob, while the remainder is Plain. The result is that changes with the treble in 3-4 going up will repeat with 3-4 going down, as will be shewn if the following leads—156423 and 132654 are pricked out. Now, as regards the collecting, proving, and classification of the almost endless number of methods, which would be no small undertaking, I have an idea that if a number of gentlemen would take the matter in hand (each doing a portion), the thing could be accomplished. Should these remarks excite interest in the matter, I shall have pleasure in lending a hand to the undertaking, and shall be glad to communicate on the subject with anyone if they will express their willingness to co-operate, through the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS."

TREBLE BOB COMPOSITIONS.

SIR,—Mr. Dains seems in a very great hurry to escape proving his statement, which I challenged in my last. But not quite so fast; he raised the question, and, before going any further, let him prove the truth of it. "No time or inclination, etc." Such a get out won't do for me. Then he comes forward with the same old twaddle "misleading." Instead of so much talk, with that word introduced, why not prove me or my letters to be so. I thought I had spoken very plainly of Mr. Dains and his empty assertions and criticism; they are not worth the paper they were written upon. I merely laugh at them, and defy him to come forward with any sensible proof.

Ringers' Outings.

THE WINCHESTER CATHEDRAL SOCIETY.—On Saturday, July 18th, the members of this Society had their annual outing to London. Leaving the ancient capital at 8.20, a very pleasant journey was made to Waterloo, where they were met by Mr. T. F. Taffender and Mr. E. P. O'Meara. The first item on the programme was a visit to St. George the Martyr, Southwark, where a touch of Grandsire Triples was rung. A small contingent from Eastleigh joined them on descending from the tower, and a move was made over London Bridge, and through the busy city to St. Paul's cathedral, where, by the kind permission of Archdeacon Sinclair (through Mr. O'Meara) the principal parts were visited, viz.: crypt, whispering gallery and stone gallery, where a fine view of London and suburbs is obtained. The peal of twelve bells in the north west tower, and "Great Paul," were also inspected, the latter being rung at the time. They then repaired to The Blue Post hotel, Ludgate Hill, where ample justice was done to the inner man, Mr. W. H. George presiding. A few toasts followed the removal of the cloth, the chairman submitting the health of the Dean and Chapter, stating that it was mainly through them that their annual excursion proved so successful. Mr. D. Froome proposed "The Health of Mr. W. H. George, the Master of the Society," of whom he spoke in complimentary terms, and expressed a hope that he would hold his present position for many years to come. Mr. R. Hasted proposed "The Winchester Cathedral Ringers." Mr. W. H. George, in responding, thanked them for the kind manner in which they received the toast, and said he was very pleased to see such a good muster, as such gatherings as these tend to bind the friendly feelings which should exist in all societies. He also alluded to the progress that had been made during the past year, making special reference to the first performance in Hampshire of a peal of Grandsire Caters, which he had the honour of conducting, and a tablet recording the same is being prepared. He was pleased to see that they were going on well with Stedman and Major methods. After a little financial business, at which Mr. George, as secretary and treasurer, presided, receiving a hearty vote of thanks for the able manner in which he had executed his duties, a visit was made to the church of St. Clement Danes, where the party were met by Mr. Winney, who joined in a touch of Grandsire Caters, conducted by Mr. George. Thence to St. Margaret's, Westminster, and rung a touch of Stedman, conducted by Mr. Winney, followed by one of Grandsire Triples on handbells in the tower, in which Mr. George and Mr. W. C. Hasted took part. Having spent a very pleasant and enjoyable day, most of the members returned home the same evening, others remaining to spend the Sunday with relatives and friends. Through the medium of this paper the party wish to thank Mr. O'Meara for the trouble he took in showing them round; to all those who assisted in the ringing; to Mr. E. Albone of St. Clement's; and to Mr. Ward, of St. Margaret's.

THE ST. LAURENCE'S SOCIETY, READING.—On Monday, August 3rd, being bank holiday, ten members of this Society had their annual outing. There being an express excursion train to Folkestone, S.E.R., a start was made about 6.50 a.m., reaching Folkestone Central Station about 10.20. The journey was enlivened by touches of Bob Minor, Grandsire Triples, and Bob Major on handbells. A move was then made towards St. Mary's Church, and finding the worthy steeple-keeper, Mr. S. Binfield, he kindly led the way to the belfry, where touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples were rung, conducted by F. Hopwood (Reading); also a touch of Kent Treble Bob Major, conducted by F. Bailey (Greenwich). The ringers taking part were C. Giles, F. Hopgood, A. Osborne, J. Tucker, L. Rolfe, A. Watmore, W. Newell, G. Foxell, F. Tubb, W. Goseltine (Reading), S. Binfield, S. Barker (of the local band), J. Waghorn (Tottenham), F. Bailey (Greenwich). After taking leave of their friends, the party made a move to the restaurant for dinner, ample justice being done to a good spread. Dinner being over, the band dispersed to have a look at what was to be seen, meeting again at five o'clock for tea, all being satisfied with the afternoon's ramble. After tea a short walk along the harbour and sea front was enjoyed by all. The homeward journey was begun about 7.40, reaching Reading at midnight, and the handbells being brought into use helped to pass away the time, all admitting they had enjoyed a most successful day. The ringers wish to thank the Vicar for the use of the bells, also the steeple-keeper and ringing friends for making their visit an enjoyable one.

RYDE, ISLE OF WIGHT.—The annual outing of the church officials of All Saints' took place on Thursday, July 9th, the place visited being Holmbury St. Mary, of which the Vicar (the Rev. J. Shearme) was the first incumbent. The party numbered thirty-five in all, and included the Vicar, the Revs. J. Carpenter, Turner, and J. A. Labouchere, Mr. Churchwarden Riddett, J.P., also the sidesmen, choir, and the bell ringers. Ryde was quitted by the 8.55 boat. At Portsmouth Harbour reserved carriages were in waiting to convey the party to Guildford, where a change was made for Gomshall, on the South Eastern line, which was reached at 11.30. A lovely country walk, part of the way through pine woods largely carpeted with bracken and whortleberry shrubs and coloured with heather, foxglove, and willow weed, with ever and anon views of delightful distances, was taken to the destination. Luncheon was served in The Holly Bush tavern at about 2 o'clock, under the presidency of the Vicar, who was supported by churchwardens Riddett and Walton (Holmbury). The Vicar of Holmbury (the Rev. A. C. Hayes) was also present. The only toasts were those of Church and Queen, and The Vicar, the latter proposed by Mr. Riddett, who remarked on the satisfaction with which all had observed the warmth of the welcome which greeted the rev. gentleman in his old home. After lunch, the church erected by the late Mr. Street, R.A. (the architect of the law courts), in memory of his wife, was visited, the situation and the admirably arranged and handsome interior with its twelfth century Italian triptych, being much admired. The princely mansion of Mr. Waterhouse and the exquisite garden of Mr. Walton, with its splendid views, were also inspected with delight. A game of cricket filled up the time till tea. Another walk, amidst characteristic Surrey scenery, to Gomshall station closed a pleasant visit. At Guildford, on the return journey, there was an hour to spare, which passed very pleasantly in catching a glimpse of this quaint and interesting town. Some of the ringers thought they would like to have a pull on the bells of St. Nicholas Church, so Mr. J. J. Jones was quickly found, and they were soon in the belfry. Two short touches of Grandsire Triples were rung, conducted by H. Jeannings and Mr. J. J. Jones respectively. Train time drawing nigh, the party were bound to leave, much against wish, as it was practice night for the Guildford men. The train journey was then resumed, and Ryde was reached, by special boat, just after half-past 11, all having thoroughly enjoyed themselves. The ringers beg to thank Mr. Jones for his kindness. H. J.

THE ST. PAUL'S (WHITLEY) SOCIETY.—On Tuesday, July 28th, the ringers and choir of this church had their annual outing—to Barnard Castle. On arriving they were met by the steeple-keeper of St. Mary's Church, who conducted them to the belfry. Time not permitting of a 720, a short touch of Double Oxford Bob and 480 of Bob Minor with tenor behind was rung. The next item on the programme was dinner, which was served in the best of style at The Angel inn. In the afternoon Staindrop was visited, and some short touches rung there. Driving another two miles, Raby Castle, the seat of Lord Barnard, was reached, who gave permission to view his historic residence and gardens. Leaving Staindrop in the rear, the party drove round by Gainsford and Middleton, arriving at The Angel inn about 5.45. Tea over, a look round the old castle, then a walk to Deepdale, where there is some of the finest scenery in Durham to be seen. The visitors left Barnard Castle by the 9.0 p.m. train, and arrived at Whitley at 2.30 a.m. on Wednesday morning, highly pleased with their day's outing. A word of praise is due to the Rev. E. Smith for the able manner he managed the outing. The ringers also wish to thank the vicars of the churches they rang at for the use of their bells, and would advise the Vicar of St. Mary's Barnard Castle, to have the bells looked at by a bell-hanger, as they are in a rather serious condition. The company also wish to thank Lord Barnard for allowing them to visit his castle, etc.

The Bell News & Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 15, 1896.

ON more than one occasion we have strenuously advocated the claims of the Ely Diocesan Association for support and encouragement from those concerned. At one time fears were entertained that it had ceased to exist, but the courageous exertions of the Rev. KENELM H. SMITH—whom we may consider its practical founder—and a few hard working coadjutors prevented such a disaster. On another page will be found a report of a meeting of the Ely District Association—which we are told is really a branch of the original Diocesan body—and this has continued to flourish until it is now said to embrace the whole diocese exclusive of the county of Bedford, which, as every one knows, has for the past fourteen years had its own organisation, conducted by a most business-like executive, having as Honorary Secretary a clergyman who is a skilled ringer in any method, and possessing also highly-talented companies.

At the meeting held on the 3rd instant, a subject of great importance under discussion was the idea of fusing all the ringing organizations in the diocese into one central body. Whatever opinions may be held as to the value or otherwise of such an amalgamation, they ought not to militate against the proposal to consider such a question. We find that it is intended to hold a meeting in the month of November to consider the matter, and it is to be hoped that such meeting may be as thoroughly representative as possible. As we have just stated, the county of Bedford—which is included in the Ely Diocese—has its own Association, but that is no reason why its members should not take part in this discussion. It is not for one moment advocated that the Bedfordshire Association should dissolve itself, and become merged in a Diocesan Guild. Nothing of the kind. But there is nothing to prevent the members assisting in the formation of a Guild for their own diocese in any way they can. The Bedford and Woburn branches—being most complete societies, with talented ringers and expert conductors, could render good service in such a cause—a cause by the way which will not in the least violate their existence. It will only be mere courtesy for the secretaries of these and other bands in the county to effect a communication with the Secretary of the Ely Association, and thus get to know if they can co-operate with him.

Whatever comes of this movement it is a pleasure to find that the efforts made to animate the Ely Association indicate a success. The Archdeaconry of Sudbury branch must be credited with a good share towards such happy returns, and our old friend Mr. C. SILLITOE can receive some gratification from the fact that his exertions are now commencing to show fruit.

MESSRS. JARROLD & SONS have pleasure in announcing th
early publication by subscription of this most interesting an important work. It will contain an account of all the Church Bell
in Buckinghamshire, with everything relating to their history that can be discovered. Full accounts of all the Founders whose bells
hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County
including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. The work was undertaken at the instigation of the late J. C. L. Stahlschmidt Esq., author of "Surrey Bells and Loxton Bell-founders," "The Church Bells of Kent," "Herts," etc.; and the fact that the author
had the benefit of the kind assistance and advice of this well-known
campanologist may be mentioned as some guarantee of the scope and nature of the present work. Mr. Stahlschmidt wrote the author,
that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting county," and he repeated this opinion in a subsequent letter. The
"Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 600 pages to be handsomely illustrated with 24 full-page plates of mediæval letter-
ings, founders' marks, etc., found on bells still existing in the County
and numerous figures—some of them being peculiar to Bucks—will be inserted in the text. The 8vo. Edition is limited to 350 copies, and will be offered to subscribers before the day of publication at 5s. nett. The Larger Edition, Royal 4to, is limited to 80 copies, and will be subscribed at 4s. The prices will be raised on the day
of issue should any copies remain unsold.

The Bell News and Ringers' Record.

No. 750.]

[Vol. XV.]

MR. EDMUND CHANDLER, OF FRESSINGFIELD, SUFFOLK.

[Vide Portrait.]

The record of Mr. Edmund Chandler, of Fressingfield, Suffolk, a hale and hearty old ringer, whose portrait is given with this number, is a remarkable one, as will be seen from the accompanying extract from The East Anglian Daily Times of Monday, the 3rd inst :—

"A PRESENT FROM THE QUEEN."

The annual treat which was given to the National School children at Fressingfield, on Friday, was marked by an unusual circumstance. After tea in the vicarage grounds, Canon Raven brought out a beautiful portrait of Queen Victoria, at the foot of which was the following inscription: 'Presented to Edmund Chandler by Queen Victoria in recognition of his having assisted to ring the bells of Fressingfield church on every anniversary of the birth of Her Majesty since the accession. June, 1896.' The cheery and hale recipient of this gracious and kindly present was a little overcome by feeling himself the object of so much attention, but soon recovered his usual spirits. In presenting the Queen's portrait to Edmund Chandler, Canon Raven said that he had communicated the remarkable fact recorded in the inscription to one of his fellow canons, the Rev. F. A. J. Hervey, rector of Sandringham, and Chaplain to H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, and that through the kindness of Sir Dighton Probyn and Sir Arthur Bigge, the facts had been brought under Her Majesty's notice. The assemblage was greatly touched by Her Majesty's condescension, and three ringing cheers were promptly given for the Queen. Two children, three grandchildren, and one great grandchild of the old ringer were present. As he was born on February 29th, 1812, he claims to have only just come of age, having celebrated only twenty-one birthdays."

It has not fallen to Mr. Chandler to share in any glory of 5000 odd changes, the peals in which he rung by some mischance failing of their due end. But he is well-known amongst his fellows as a steady striker, and his presence is always heartily welcome. His father, also named Edmund, was a ringer, and a grandson of the same name has the same taste.

Fressingfield has a musical ring of eight bells, grown out of four in the return of 1553. The present tenor, a mediæval bell from the Norwich foundry, seems to have been the third of these four, the frame being constructed for a bell larger than the present tenor, about which a letter remains in the Tanner MSS. in the Bodleian Library. The Rural deanery of Hoxne, in which Fressingfield lies, though without a market-town or a yard of railway, contains in its twenty-five towers three rings of eight, six rings of six, and as many of five bells.

Mr. Chandler's many friends are naturally much gratified by the gracious recognition accorded by Her Majesty to his humble services. His cottage on Mill Green has received numerous visitors to see the Royal Portrait, and the portrait of himself here given is unanimously pronounced excellent.

A VISIT TO OLNEY AND NEWPORT PAGNELL, BUCKS.

On Thursday, August 6th, the ringers of the parish church, Wellingborough, accepted a long-standing invitation to visit Newport Pagnell. The drive of sixteen miles through a pretty country was thoroughly enjoyed. The party first stopped at Olney (eleven miles from Wellingborough), where, by the kindness of the vicar, the Rev. J. P. Langley, they had the privilege of ringing some 6-scores of Doubles on the bells of "the town of Cowper." They are a ring of six of the following dates:—1682, 1699, 1631, 1733, and 1682. The second bell is not dated. The tenor, a bell of considerable dignity of tone, is now said to weigh 24 cwt. That is certainly nearer its actual weight than 36 cwt. as formerly stated. Olney bells are a pleasant sounding peal. The church stands close to the river, and this adds mellowness and beauty to their music. A new church clock with quarter-chimes was put in the tower in the year 1888 at a cost of £280. The present vicar has been connected with Olney since 1834. A few years ago he published a most interesting little book entitled "Annals of Olney," being a chronicle of events of local interest from A.D. 879 up to the present day.

The Rev. C. M. Otley, vicar of Newport Pagnell, met the visitors on their arrival in that old town at one o'clock, and the churchwardens and Mr. Mitchell (steeplekeeper), likewise did their best to make them welcome. The bells, a ring of eight from the Whitechapel Foundry, London, 1749, tenor 22 cwt.), were found to go somewhat unpleasantly, and the unusually long stretch of loose rope from pavement to ceiling (without guides), prevented anything like good striking. To celebrate the Jubilee of Queen Victoria, musical chimes, playing fourteen tunes (including "God save the Queen"), were placed in the lofty tower and opened in June, 1887, being the kind gift of F. Taylor, Esq., a prominent resident. An extra bell was at the same time put up in connection with the chimes. The bells of Newport Pagnell are a good octave, but need overhauling by a competent bell-hanger. Though failing in their wish to get a satisfactory touch of Triples at the church, the visitors afterwards delighted some of the townsfolk with change-ringing and tunes on their handbells. A 548 of Grandsire Triples was particularly appreciated, being, apparently, novel music at Newport. The church of SS. Peter and Paul, with its pinnacled tower, stands, like the church at Olney, close by running water, being near where the river Ouse is joined by the Lovat.

THE ST. JAMES' SOCIETY, LONDON.

The following are the officers of this Society for the ensuing year, elected at a meeting held on the 27th ult. :—Master, Mr. E. P. O'Meara (re-elected); Senior Steward, Mr. C. F. Winney (re-elected); Junior Steward, Mr. W. Truss; Treasurer, Mr. W. Weatherstone; Secretary, Mr. R. A. Daniell, 20, Bucklersbury, E.C., to whom all communications respecting the Society should be addressed. The next meeting will be held at St. Clement Danes on the 24th instant.

THE CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

The Ninth Annual Festival of this Guild was held at Stockport, on Monday, August 3rd. The proceedings opened with service in the parish church at 11 a.m., a large number of the clergy and members of the Guild being present. The preacher was the Rev. F. E. Robinson, Vicar of Drayton (Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild), who delivered an excellently arranged instructive, earnest, and appropriate sermon, from Col. iii., 23—"Whatsoever ye do, do it heartily, as to the Lord, and not unto men." Amongst other good words he said: We must first be good Christians, then good ringers. To be good Christians we must give our whole hearts to God, seek Him with our whole heart, call on Him with our whole heart, and praise Him with our whole heart. To do this we must keep our hearts with all diligence from their own evil products, and from the attacks of Satan; our prayers must be earnest, our Communion reverent, and our endeavours unremitting. If our hearts be thus right with God we shall find in our ringing an excellent moral and Christian training in patience, brotherly love and humility. He spoke to them not only as a priest of the Church of God, but as a brother bell-ringer, and he trusted their gathering that day would stimulate them to brotherly affection, and that it would result in a firmer bond of union between them, and to efforts of improvement in the Art they all held so dear. They as bellringers had a special gift, which other men had not, and that alone should form a bond of union between them. Concentrated efforts were required to produce correct peals of changes; each one depended upon the others, and mental and muscular qualities of very high order were absolute requirements in the Art. In conclusion he urged them to bear with one another when things did not go as well as they might do, to insist on good behaviour in the belfries. The rev. gentleman interspersed his remarks from time to time with technical terms and phrases known to ringers only.

After the service the Annual Meeting was held in the Albert Hall. The Master of the Guild being absent the chair was taken by Archdeacon Gore, and amongst the company we noticed the Revs. Canon Holme, Canon Miller, Canon Symonds, Rev. H. Leigh Mallory, Rev. S. A. Boyd, Rev. G. J. Howson, Rev. H. H. Wright, Rev. — Arnold. The minutes of the last meeting were read and passed. The Treasurer's statement of accounts, shewing a balance of £62 7s. 2d. in hand, was taken as read and passed.

The Venerable Archdeacon Barber was re-elected unanimously Master of the Guild; the Rev. R. Greenall was unanimously re-elected Hon. Secretary and Treasurer; the six hon. members were re-elected unanimously on the general committee: the Rev. G. J. Howson, Rev. Canon Holme, Rev. S. A. Boyd, Rev. H. Leigh Mallory, Rev. Canon Blencoe and H.

Hatt Cook, Esq. The six ringing members were unanimously re-elected: Messrs. Bethel, R. Holding, W. Walmsley, F. Spence, J. Dillon and W. Forster. Messrs. W. Walmsley and J. Dillon were elected representatives on the Central Council. The Rev. F. E. Robinson was unanimously elected a non-resident member of the Guild.

Votes of thanks were passed with acclamation to the Rev. F. E. Robinson for his sermon; to the chairman for his services; to the rector of Stockport for the use of his church; and to the Hon. Secretary and Treasurer. The meeting then closed, and the company went off to dinner, which was waiting for them. About 190 sat down, and after the accustomed toast of "Church and Queen," the members dispersed to the church towers, which had been placed at their disposal by the kindness of the clergy. Some touches were rung on the bells of the parish church; the great attraction however was a new peal of ten bells by Mears and Stainbank, in the noble tower of the beautiful church of St. George. These bells were tried by various companies of ringers, the most noteworthy being a 305 Grand-sire Caters, in which the Rev. F. E. Robinson rang the 7th; conducted by W. Walmsley, of Macclesfield. These bells were much approved of; they are true and rich in tone, and reflect great credit on their founders. A happy and successful day was spent by all. The new church of St. George's (a sketch of which is annexed), is exactly one mile south from St. Mary's parish church, Stockport. The latter is in the centre of the town, on one side of the market, surrounded by the most ancient buildings of the neighbourhood. At one time Heaviley was a hamlet near to Stockport. It is now absorbed within the county borough of Stockport, and part and parcel of it. There is a Heaviley Ward, and representatives from it are part of the Town Council. Heaviley may be regarded as the part of Stockport where most of the aristocracy of the borough do dwell; where, in fact, they have their villa residences. The surroundings are also patronised by merchants from Manchester, six miles away. A very valuable and handy publication—"The 'Express' Guide to Stockport," gives us the following information about the new church of St. George:—

"The corner-stone of St. George's church, Heaviley, was laid with masonic honours on June 17th, 1893, by Lord Egerton of Tatton, and it was calculated that the building operations would extend over two years. The church will be one of the finest in the North of England, and the entire scheme of which it forms a part has been said to represent an expenditure of some £40,000. The actual donor, or donors, are not known by any public declaration, but it is generally supposed that the Christy family are to be credited with the munificence it involves. Mr. Wakefield Christie-Miller, J.P. (better known in Stockport as Mr. Wakefield Christy), presented the site, which is between two projected new roads opening on to the Buxton road. The church presents a cathedral appearance. It was designed by Messrs. Paley, Austin, and Paley, of Lancaster, in the transition form, decorated and perpendicular style of architecture; the masonry being executed by Messrs. Thornton, of Liverpool, who built the famous Walker Art Gallery, in that city. St. George's will seat 1040 persons, its dimensions being 180 feet long, and the width across the aisles 75 feet; the nave will be 51 feet high to the wall-plate, and the aisles 31 feet. From the ground to the top of the spire is 230 feet, a distance exceeded by only a few other churches in the North of England, and is 65 feet higher than the highest church spire in Stockport. At St. Mary's parish church the distance of the tower from the ground is 125 feet; to the top of the spire of Christ Church, Heaton Norris, is 162 ft. 3 ins.; whilst at St. Paul's, Portwood, and St. Matthews, Edgeley, the distance is 165 feet from the ground to the top of the crosses. St. George's church will include a Rectory, and it is proposed to include several schools. One of these, for infants, was opened in December, 1893. It is built in the Tudor style on the western side of the church, and abuts on Bramall lane; the building accommodates 300 children. The parish allotted to St. George's contains 6,700 persons, and is two miles long by two-and-a-half wide. The church is of course endowed."

The parish church of St. Mary, Stockport, has a ring of eight bells, but in very unringable order. At the dinner-table on the above day Major Leah expressed the hope that when the Guild next visited Stockport the members would find the condition of these bells more worthy of the stately edifice which contained them and also of the town. A local paper, the Stockport Express, publishes the following memoranda upon this meeting of the Chester Guild:—

"STOCKPORT BELLS AND CHESHIRE RINGERS.

On Saturday evening, August 1st, by consent of the trustees, and in accordance with the usual routine observed in such matters, the Stockport parish church ringers had the first pull on the new bells at St. George's church, Heaviley. Shortly after six o'clock, the front eight bells were raised in peal, and 518 Grandsire Triples were rung. Afterwards Grandsire Caters were tried; this to the uninitiated means that the whole ten bells were rung for a short time. In conclusion 336 Grandsire Caters were rung, after which the bells were lowered in peal. These proceedings may be termed the preliminary opening of St. George's bells. The ringers were stationed as follows: W. Gordon (conductor), 1; A. Gordon, 2; J. W. Bailey, 3; W. Gordon, jun., 4; A. S. Gordon, 5; J. A. Gordon, 6; A. Sidebottom, 7; J. H. Scholefield, 8.

On Monday, August 3rd, more than 200 ringers were in the town, the majority of them making for the new church; the old parish church bells, owing to their bad reputation, being nearly deserted. At 10.40, however, a company of good ringers, mostly from Northwich, under the conductorship of the Rev. F. E. Robinson, tried to ring a touch on them, but failed, after ringing about 20 mins., the tenor-man being completely exhausted. The local ringers followed by ringing 252 changes, one or two visitors being included in the band.

After dinner the last touch was rung at the parish church, consisting of 504 Stedman Triples. W. Gordon, 1; J. Shaw (Hyde), 2; Jas. Bradley (Hyde), 3; W. Walmsley (Macclesfield), 4; J. Fildes (Hyde), 5; S. Bradley (Hyde), 6; Rev. F. E. Robinson (Drayton, Berks, conductor), 7; J. H. Scholefield, 8.

The Rev. F. E. Robinson has a record of having rung 476 peals in different methods, ranging from 5000 changes and three hours' duration to more than twice those lengths, shewing he must be an enthusiast in the Art.

The bells of St. George's were kept ringing with little or no intermission until 7.30 in the evening, but strange to say with no result as regards successful accomplishments, until about 4.30 p.m., when the first 305 of Grandsire Caters was rung. A. Harding (Crewe), 1; J. R. Pritchard (Liverpool), 2; J. Gratrix (Swinton), 3; W. Walmsley (conductor), 4; W. McKinnell (Macclesfield), 5; R. T. Holding (Crewe), 6; Rev. F. E. Robinson (Drayton, Berks), 7; E. Weatherby (Market Drayton), 8; R. Ridyard (Worsley), 9; J. H. Scholefield and J. A. Gordon (Stockport), 10.

This was immediately followed by what was called by ringers the prettiest touch of the day, 700 Grandsire Triples on the largest eight bells. Ringers stationed as follows:—W. Gordon (conductor, Stockport), 1; A. Gordon (Stockport), 2; J. W. Bailey (Stockport), 3; W. Gordon, jun. (Stockport), 4; A. Sidebottom (Stockport), 5; J. A. Gordon (Stockport), 6; P. Brickell (Northenden), 7; J. H. Scholefield (Stockport), and A. Lomas (Gawsworth), 8.

Opinions differ in ringing, as in everything else; thus the most pleasing touch of the day to a non-ringer was the last one, between 7 and 7.30, consisting only of the Queen's change, tittums, and rounds, and the firing of the bells. This is contemptuously known by change-ringers as "Stoney," "Church-yard Bob," etc. A mixed band took part; the bells were then lowered and left at rest.

It is satisfactory to observe that Mr. J. H. Scholefield, our local tenor man, has been in all the most-successful touches, the severe training he has had at the parish church having stood him in good stead when endurance has been required."

THE YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

A Committee Meeting was held on Saturday, August 15th, at The Crown and Fleece inn, Leeds, Mr. William Snowdon, President, in the chair, when several new members were elected, and an amount of useful business transacted. Amongst this was the appointment of a sub-committee to deal with the forthcoming general meeting at Bradford on Saturday, September 12th. It was also decided to remind members, through "THE BELL NEWS," that the official year terminates on September 30th. All members whose subscriptions are unpaid on that date, forfeit their membership in the Association.

Correspondence.

While allowing the utmost freedom for the expression of opinion, it must never be considered that we are in any way bound to statements made by correspondents.

To the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS AND RINGERS' RECORD."

ANSWER TO MR. J. A. TROLLOPE'S LETTER.

SIR,—Kindly allow me to point out that the methods which you referred to in the last week's issue of "THE BELL NEWS" are only intended for good bands of six-bell ringers, which if rung well will sound equal to most of the Treble Minor methods, at the same time allowing the tenors to dodge singly the wrong way behind for six times through a 720. Also if rung in the Yorkshire six-bell style only trained ears can detect which way the tenors turn up, except those at the ropes. In my opinion such a class is required where the tenor ringers are backward at taking up methods, which has come under my notice more than once. I am perfectly well aware all true six-bell methods will go with a tenor hunt, but I fail to see their antiquity. If you have such compositions I shall be glad to see copies of them. More credit would be due to the band who rung a 5040 in seven or more such-like methods than Cambridge, London, and similar methods, which was first intended by yours faithfully,

J. F. MALLABY.

P.S.—To speak fair and honest, Mr. Trollope has overstepped his remarks. I have seen the old style of "Alteration of hunts," but not anything like the methods referred to, which I was aware must dodge six times wrong through a 720. I hope it may lead to something better. If such must be thrown away, a good number of the other kind must go also.—J. F. M.

PARKER'S TWELVE PART.

SIR,—I have been absent from home some time, and on my return looking through "THE BELL NEWS" of August 1st, was much surprised to find there a letter from Mr. J. J. Parker, in which he accuses me of varying his twelve-part peal by shifting the observation-bell from the 6th to the 7th. I can candidly say that the only variation I made of the peal was that which was first called by Mr. G. Lindoff, of Lincoln. (See "THE BELL NEWS," October 6th, 1891, page 235, where appears—"Carter's variation of J. J. Parker's.") This variation is on the 2nd, and has only thirty singles against thirty-eight in the original. It will be clear that I had no intention of claiming the peal, although I consider the variation an improvement. Mr. Parker also remarks that making the 7th the observation spoils the music. This I cannot understand, as a peal of Triples (5040) is to be rung, all the changes, good and bad, must be got, which is not the case in Major or Caters, etc. I have not seen the last Oxford Diocesan report, so am unable to say how it is inserted there.

Ringers' Outings.

THE WALTHAM ABBEY SOCIETY.—An enjoyable day was spent by the members and a few friends of the above society on Saturday, August 8th, when their annual outing took the form of a visit to Sawbridgeworth. The main body left the Market Place shortly after 12, in a wagonette, and proceeded, via Epping. Sawbridgeworth was reached a little before 3 o'clock, and the party were met by Mr. N. Tarling, bell-warden. The tower was at once visited and two touches of Grandsire Triples were rung, conducted by Mr. W. A. Alps and Mr. G. E. Pearce. During the ringing of these touches Mr. James Pettit, E. Wallage and E. Hall arrived from London. At 4 o'clock tea was served at The Bell and Feathers. Mr. T. Pallett, master, occupied the chair, and a good meal was served. After tea, Mr. Pallett briefly tendered the thanks of the Society to the vicar, the Rev. H. A. Lipscombe, for granting the use of the steeple, and to Mr. N. Tarling for completing the arrangements. Mr. Tarling replied, and spoke of the pleasure he had of meeting his Waltham friends. Mr. F. Carter next proposed a vote of thanks to those visitors who had joined the outing, and particularly drew attention to Messrs. Pettit, Wallage and Hall, who always took such keen interest and lent great help to the Society. Mr. Pettit replied, as also did Mr. Wallage. After tea, a course of Grandsire Caters was rung on handbells, at the close of which the company were delighted to find new arrivals on the scene, to wit, Mr. H. J. Tucker and his brother, from Bishops Stortford, and Mr. A. Deards, from Barking. The tower was again sought for, and 504 of Stedman Triples, conducted by Mr. Alps, was rung, followed by a 568 of Kent Treble Bob, conducted by Mr. H. Tucker. The remainder of the evening was then devoted to short touches of Grandsire Triples, conducted by Mr. F. Jelf. During the evening many of the party called upon Mr. George Rochester, and were indeed sorry to find him too unwell to leave his house. Mr. Rochester has always been a true friend to ringers, and so far as he is able continues to take an interest in ringing, although he is now in the autumn of life. All good wishes were tendered to him, and a hope to meet again shortly was expressed by all. A start for home was made at 7.30, and a most enjoyable ride, enlivened by courses of Grandsire Caters and tunes on handbells, terminated about 10.30 when Waltham Abbey was reached, the visitors continuing their journey to London by train.

THE OLD EAST DERBYSHIRE ASSOCIATION.—On Monday, August 10th, the Norton ringers and choir had their annual outing, the expenses for the day being kindly given by the vicar. The party left the vicarage at 8.40 in a brake, en route for Castleton, better known to many as the Dore and Chinley Valley, but ours was the overland route this time. After a pleasant 2½ hours' ride, having passed the noted Fox House and Frog in the Hedge, and having had a good peep at the grouse on the moors, which are well-stocked with fine birds, we arrived at Hathersage, a snug little village in the valley, once noted for needle-makers, the trade, now like many more local trades, being extinct. We had a look at the grave of Little John, of the Sherwood Forest, and Robin Hood fame. Little John was 9-ft. in height, and thousands of visitors measure his grave until this day, a tree at the head and foot noting the length. Having presented our card to the vicar, we soon had this merry peal of six, tenor about 16 cwt., tapping a 720 of Duke of York, which was safely brought round by G. Cotes, A. Slater, E. James, J. Atkin, W. Biggin, J. Allen (conductor). We found our friends again ready for the road, and after a pleasant ride had a halt at a village called Hope and as our hopes were for the ropes, which in a short space of time we found, the same band going in again rang 720 of Violet, tenor being called a ton, and for the weight, the bells go well. After a short refreshment we set off again for our last calling place, a distance of three miles. Castleton tower contains a peal of eight, but only having seven ringers with our party, and all the local members being at work, we resorted to the back six, a 720 of Oxford being rung, Mr. G. Goacher ringing the third, the rest as above. We then joined the choirmen at Ye Old Naggs Head, where a splendid meat tea was awaiting us, and all being in good form there was no need for a conductor, each called their own bells round. After tea we finished up with a 720 of Kent, E. James ringing the third, the rest as before. All being pleased with the day's ringing, a start was made for home. It was then the choir's time for some of their talent, and to give them credit, they kept the game alive. We have also some good talent among the ringers, and when I refer to Messrs. Atkin, Allen and Oates, our Sheffield friends will know it was a lively party. We made many calls on the homeward journey, the distance being eighteen miles, our stay at each only being brief, and the church was reached just as the clock was calling time gentlemen, 11 o'clock. I hope I shall spend a few more outings with the Norton choir and ringers. Well may they all respect their vicar, I wish that others had one like him.

MANCHESTER CATHEDRAL RINGERS AND SUNDAY EVENING VOLUNTARY EVENING CHOIR.—ANNUAL PICNIC TO LINCOLN.—On Saturday, August 8th, about thirty men (including ringers and singers) and twenty boys, assembled at London Road Station at 8.32 a.m., and entered a train which arrived at Lincoln at 11.45. On arrival a visit was at once paid to the church of St. Peter-at-Gowts, also to the Old Norman Building known as John of Gaunt's stables. Retracing our steps we proceeded up hill and various objects of interest were pointed out, including St. Mary-le-Wigford's church, with the interesting fountain. Next was inspected the West Stone Bow, which is an arch spanning the main street, over which is the Guildhall, the Jews' House of course being noticed. At length a halting place was found up the very steep hill at the Church House, which has a great reputation for social entertainment and useful work in connection with the church of the diocese and city. Here arrangements had been made for dinner, to which all did ample justice. After dinner the kindness of Mr. Goodall (the genial sec.) had arranged for us to visit the Old Palace of the Bishops of Lincoln, together with the Domestic Chapel adjoining the house, erected by the present Bishop. From these grounds many lovely views of the Minster are to be obtained. A visit was next paid to the belfry, by permission of the Canon-in-Residence, Archdeacon Kaye, under the guidance of Mr. Hirst, one of the ringers. Meanwhile the boys of the party were enjoying themselves with rowing on the river, where boats had been hired for them. After examining the beautiful west front an ascent was made to the Norman tower. The ringers then raised the bells in peal, and after ringing 540 Grandsire Triples the bells were again lowered in peal, it being nearly time for evensong. After service, Mr. Goodall, the Dean's Verger, conducted the whole party, with his accustomed courtesy, over the Cloisters, Chapter-house, Choir and Chapels. Tea was on at 5.30, to which all did ample justice. It is not possible to speak too highly of the arrangements that had been made for our entertainment and comfort, and the heartiness of the welcome accorded to us by Mr. Goodall and the ladies and gentlemen, and the officials who vied with other in ministering to our wants. I am sure that every care had been taken to make us comfortable, and that no words will be able to express our thanks to one and all who worked so heartily for our comfort, and we take thus opportunity of thanking them all for their services so kindly given. The train left at 6.45; Manchester being reached at 8.10, this bringing the most delightful day to a close, and all this was brought about by the care and thought of the Rev. — Hudson, who had the arrangements of the picnic, and to whom our best thanks are due.

THE ST. THOMAS'S SOCIETY, PENDLETON, LANCs.—On Bank Holiday, August 3rd, this company held their annual picnic, Youghreave, Derbyshire, being the place selected. Starting from Manchester Central Station at 7.30 a.m. Rowsley was reached about 9.30. The first item on the programme being breakfast, during our conversation upon this important subject, we were approached by an old lady offering her services for our requirements, with whom we decided to partake of our first meal, and in a few minutes found ourselves at a pretty little roadside cottage with gardens decorated with beautiful flowers, where we sat down to a substantial feed of ham and eggs, served up in good style by the old lady and her assistants. After losing our appetites, the next thing was—"Where is this Youghreave, and how shall we get there?" Upon being informed it was 4½ miles away, we at once engaged a vehicle, and commenced our journey, and after travelling about forty-five minutes through the beautiful scenery for which Derbyshire is noted, we arrived at our destination, where we were met by the vicar, the Rev. W. P.

Stamper, and the senior ringer, Mr. J. Rowland, who escorted us to the belfry. After raising the bells in order, we were much pleased to find a fine ring of eight, tenor 26 cwt. 3 qrs., cast by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank in 1871. The church dates back to 1807, and the tower to about 200 years earlier. The ball was opened with 288 Kent Treble Bob, and then 448 Superlative Surprise, 168 Stedman Triples, 224 Bob Major, 288 Oxford Treble Bob, and a plain course of Grandsire Triples. T. G. Downs, J. Smith, G. E. Turner, J. Winterbottom, S. Greenhalgh, J. Rogers, A. Cross, H. Chapin (conductor). We then adjourned to The George hotel for dinner for which arrangement was made previously. Having refreshed the inner man with the good things provided, we indulged in cigars, and decided upon a stroll, afterwards returning to the tower, when various touches were rung, and another visit made by the vicar who gave us an invitation to look through his gardens, which inspection was much enjoyed. We then partook of tea at The George, and drove off to Bakewell, a distance of about six miles. Arriving there and viewing this pretty little town, we departed for Manchester, arriving at Central Station at 11.45 p.m., all well satisfied with our day's outing. The ringers take this opportunity of thanking the vicar for the use of the bells, and the ringers for their company, and having everything in readiness, the go of the bells being all that could be desired.

WAKEFIELD CATHEDRAL SOCIETY.—On Bank Holiday, the annual outing of the above company took place, and proved to be a very pleasant one, the weather being all that could be desired. Our destination was Doncaster, where we arrived about 9 a.m. Mr. Armitage, one of the local company, met us at the station, and we set off for a walk as far as the famous racecourse. On our way we were joined by one or two others of the local company, and after a preliminary canter we made tracks for the fine old church, where we found the bells go very well indeed, they having been overhauled by Mr. Mallaby, of Barnby Don, to whom great credit is due. They were soon going merrily to Grandsire Triples by a mixed band, when in walked our friend from Tadcaster (Mr. J. T. Hollis), he arriving by a later train. Afterwards, touches of Bob Major, and then an adjournment took place for a course or two of Knife and Fork Major, which were brought round just in time to catch the 1.40 p.m. train for the pretty little village of Askern, accompanied by three or four of our Doncaster friends. Here we disembarked, and walked through the fields to Campsall, a distance of 1½ miles. After a slight refresher we ascended the tower where we found a light peal of eight, tenor 14 cwt. Touches of Grandsire Triples and Treble Bob were indulged in, the bells going well, but being such a small belfry, it was rather warm for the time. After the bells had been brought down, we repaired to The Old Bells, where light refreshment was partaken of, whilst a touch of Triples was rung on handbells. J. T. Hollis (conductor), 1-2; A. Scott, 3-4; J. W. Moorhouse, 5-6; J. Moorhouse, 7-8. We then turned our faces to Askern, leaving at 6.30 for Doncaster. Touches of Stedman Triples, Bob Major and Grandsire were again rung by mixed bands, after which, we repaired to The White Lion, where the genial host had tea waiting for us, and to which ample justice having been done, the rest of the evening was spent in a very convivial manner, a vote of thanks being passed to the local company for their kindness before leaving, Wakefield being reached shortly before the witching hour. We should like to take this opportunity of thanking the vicars of Doncaster and Campsall for kindly placing the bells at our disposal. T.M.

THE ST. MARY'S EASTBOURNE SOCIETY.—(Taken from the Eastbourne St. Mary's Parish Magazine.)—"Our bell-ringers had a very successful and pleasant outing to Arundel, on July 13th. A party of twenty, accompanied by the vicar, who, however, left them after breakfast, and Mr. Fielding Ottley and the Rev. Gmelin, started from the Eastbourne railway station by the 6.30 train for Brighton. Here they stopped and had breakfast and then went on to Arundel, arriving there when it was still early in the day. After an inspection of the various places of interest in the town, including the castle with its fine old keep, gateway and drawbridge, the park and the gorgeous new Roman Catholic Chapel, built and maintained by the Duke of Norfolk, a visit was paid to the parish church. There in the tower the bells and belfry were the objects of keen and critical inspection. In the belfry was found this description relating to two of them:

'The 7th and 8th bells have the arms of the Duke of Norfolk, and the high potent and Most Noble Prince Henry Charles, Duke of Norfolk, Earl Marshall and Hereditary Marshall of England, Earl of Arundel, Surrey and Norfolk, Baron Fitz-Alan, Clun and Oswaldestre and Maltravers, Knight of the Most Noble Order of the Garter.' Without much delay the bells were raised in peal, after which 420 changes Grandsire Triples were rung. J. Rollinson, 1; T. Willoughby, 2; H. Vernon, 3; C. Lewis, 4; A. E. Midmore, 5; W. Avann, 6; T. Lewis (conductor), 7; S. Lewis, 8. The party were joined at dinner by the Rev. R. Tomkins, a ringer of 40 years' standing. The afternoon was spent very pleasantly by the men on and by the river, boating, etc. A second visit was paid after tea to the belfry of the parish church, and a 504 was rung in the same method. T. Willoughby, 1; G. Balchin (Arundel), 2; H. Vernon, 3; C. Blackman (Arundel), 4; A. E. Midmore, 5; W. Avann (conductor), 6; T. Lewis, 7; S. Lewis, 8. On the conclusion of this peal a start was made for the station, homewards."

THE ST. STEPHEN'S GUILD, BRISTOL.—The annual outing of this Society took place on Monday, August 3rd (Bank holiday), the place chosen being Birmingham, and at 4.30 a.m. a party of about twenty-seven left Temple Meads Station. The journey was enlivened by touches and tunes on the handbells, arriving at New Street, Birmingham, at 8 p.m. The first item on the programme was breakfast, which was partaken of with evident relish by all at Whitehead's dining rooms. After the inner man had been satisfied we adjourned to St. Philip's to have a pull. Here we were met by some of the Birmingham ringers. Ascending the "winding stairs" we found everything in readiness, and the bells were soon going to the tune of Stedman Caters. All having had a pull, we fell the bells in peal and then prepared to move to the next towers. The party split up, some going to St. Chad's, and the remainder to Bishop Ryder's, where touches of Treble Bob, Stedman and Grandsire were indulged in. The next item was dinner, of which several courses were brought round in fine style to the satisfaction of all. After dinner a visit was paid to Aston, to view the Aston Hall and grounds, church, &c. Aston Hall is a grand old place, dated from the year 1618, and is well worth a visit. Tea having been partaken of we returned to the town to visit the Museum, Free Libraries, Art Galleries and Town Hall. Supper and handbell ringing having been indulged in, we made our way to the railway station. Leaving New Street at 11.15 p.m. we arrived at Temple Meads about 3 a.m. on Tuesday morning, everyone having thoroughly enjoyed themselves. The ringers take this opportunity to thank the clergy of the various churches for the use of the bells, and also to the local men for their welcome and having everything in readiness.

THE STOKE ARCHIDIACONAL ASSOCIATION.—A very delightful excursion was made by the bell-ringers of the parish church, Stoke-on-Trent, on Monday, August 3rd. A start was made from Stoke at 8.10 a.m., and Shrewsbury reached just before 10 a.m. Before starting to see the sights of the place, we made our way to St. Mary's, where there is a fine ring of ten. Though having previously obtained permission to ring at St. Chad's, we found we were unable to have a pull there on account of some one being very ill; but having looked up Mr. Price, the genial steeple-keeper of St. Mary's, he readily gave us permission to ring, and the bells were soon going in Grandsire and Stedman Triples on the back eight, Mr. Price taking the treble in a touch of 364 Grandsire Triples. We came down from the tower just before 1 o'clock, and then went to refresh the inner man, after which we made our way to St. Chad's (but not to ring) and were compensated somewhat by the splendid view we had from the top of the tower. Having descended, we made our way to the river, where boating was indulged in till tea time, when we made our way to the station, and had the pleasure of meeting again with Mr. Price, who saw us off by the 8 p.m. train, with the exception of two of our members who stayed till the following day. We spent a very pleasant time, and beg to tender our thanks to Mr. Price for having contributed towards our enjoyment in allowing us to ring on the peal at St. Mary's. H.P.

THE WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The Annual Meeting of this Guild was held at Dorking on Monday, July 13th. A Committee Meeting had been held at Guildford on June 27th to draw up the programme for the day, and everything passed off well. The only "damper" to the proceedings was perhaps the action of the railway companies, who could not be induced to issue cheap railway tickets as they had on previous occasions. The belfry of the parish church (St. Martin), was open from 9.30 to 10 a.m. and from 2.30 to 5.30 p.m. At 10.30 the annual meeting took place in the parish room, the Master, the Rev. R. C. M. Harvey, presiding. Amongst those present were the Revs. G. F. Coleridge, H. A. Spyers, F. Whyley, Canon Utterton, R. A. Sidebottom, C. T. P. Edwards, and A. R. Warburton, while some 140 performing members attended, including the Misses Whyley and Misses White. The minutes of the last annual meeting, and a letter from the President (J. P. Stilwell, Esq.), regretting his inability to attend, were read. The officers of the Guild then retired, in accordance with Rule ii. They were unanimously re-elected to their respective offices, and replied suitably in turn. The Standing Committee was similarly re-elected. The next matter evoked a lengthy discussion, i.e., the appointment of District Hon. Secretaries. A list of towers in seven districts was produced, as well as a rough specification of the duties of District Secretaries. This specification was carefully considered, corrected, and passed. The following were then nominated:—

DISTRICT SECRETARIES:

- No. I. WINCHESTER—REV. C. E. MATTHEWS, Hursley.
- " II. CHRISTCHURCH—MR. S. MERRITT, 59, Holdenhurst Road, Bournemouth.
- " III. PORTSMOUTH—MR. J. W. WHITING, Fareham, Hants.
- " IV. PETERSFIELD—REV. C. T. P. EDWARDS, Petersfield.
- " V. BASINGSTOKE—MR. H. WHITE, Rose Cottage, Basingstoke.
- " VI. GUILDFORD—MR. J. J. JONES, North Street, Guildford.
- " VII. DORKING—MR. E. E. DODD, 24, Church Gardens.

Several new members having been elected, the following addition to the rules was proposed by the Hon. Secretary, seconded by Mr. H. White (Basingstoke), and carried, "That regular quarterly meetings be held alternately in Surrey and Hants., for general business and united practice. Each meeting shall choose place of next meeting."

The balance sheet for 1894-5 was then passed, and the following were named as representatives of the Guild on the Central Council (four to be balloted for): Revs. R. C. M. Harvey, F. Whyley, C. E. Matthews, and Messrs. J. Hewett, G. Williams, and H. White. The final business was the choice of a place for the next Annual Meeting. On a show of hands being demanded, Romsey received 32 votes, Ryde 29, Winchester 14, Fareham 12, and Petersfield 3. Romsey was therefore selected.

The Annual Service then took place in the parish church at 12.0, and was fully choral. A form of service sanctioned by the Lord Bishop of the Diocese was used for the first time. The prayers were said by the Hon. Sec., Rev. C. E. Matthews; the proper lesson, Ephesians iv. was read by the Master. The hymns used were "Ring forth, Holy Bells," "We meet before Thy Throne," and "The Sacred Bells of England." At the conclusion of the service, the blessing was pronounced by the Rev. E. A. Chichester, Vicar of Dorking and Rural Dean.

The Rev. Canon Utterton, Vicar of Leatherhead, preached from Psalm xcvi. verses 8 and 9. In the course of his very interesting sermon, he said God had always willed to be worshipped in special places, and particular forms and ways from the very first. In Eden there had been a set time and place for worship, which Cain and Abel observed, when the Sabbath had been instituted. Moses, the servant of God, and leader of the Israelites, received minute instructions concerning the furniture and fittings, as well as the services of the Tabernacle. Later on, Solomon was supplied with most carefully defined directions, with regard to the building of the Temple at Jerusalem. Every single detail, every vestment, every jewel pointed onwards, and these things were types of what was to come. The Son of God frequented this Temple at Jerusalem, and on more than one occasion He rebuked those who profaned its holy courts and degraded it—"My House shall be called the House of Prayer." Passing away from Oriental scenes, we could look more closely at home. We had found many traces of ancient edifices in this country: within the precincts of Dover Castle stood the church of St. Mary le Castra. This had been built in the fourth century, designed by some Roman Architect. Then we had our noble Cathedral at Winchester, with its historical associations, going back probably to A.D. 700. From early times places for meetings seemed to have possessed some kind of instruments for calling people together. The Mohammedan hours of prayer were sounded from the minarets of the mosques, while the Burmese and others used gongs. In A.D. 500, bells appeared to have been first used in Italy; they were part of the equipment of the Celtic Church. In A.D. 750 King Egbert commanded every priest to ring a bell when he said his office, while bells were first cast in peals early in the tenth century. Later on scientific change-ringing became an Art in this country; and many generations had loved to dwell upon the sweet sympathies, and childhood's scenes which their music had awakened, or recalled. Who could not recount glad memories of Sundays, or feelings of joy, sorrow, hope and fear as they listened to the messages of the iron tongues? They had however a message for those who sounded them. It was a high privilege to be called to take part in this work for Christ our Master, and to thus remind the careless of the uncertainty of life here. Let such as these never forget that they could not worship God by proxy. Rather let them be true to the Church of their fathers; let them fight the good fight of faith, do their best as an offering to God, seek to be perfect, and so work for Christ now that they might be known by their work and their devotion to service, in the great hereafter.

The Annual Dinner—held in the Public Hall—was well attended, and it is believed all present were satisfied with the quality as well as the quantity of the fare provided. In accordance with the usual custom no toasts were permitted, but votes of thanks were unanimously accorded to the Rev. Canon Utterton for his sermon, and to the Rev. E. A. Chichester for his kind and courteous reception of the Guild at Dorking.

The repast having been successfully "brought round," the members of the various bands dispersed to neighbouring towers for combined practice as follows: Farnham and Yateley companies to Leatherhead; Alton, Capel, Portsea, and Petersfield to Ashted; Bournemouth, Christchurch, Gosport, Leatherhead, and Romsey to Guildford (St. Nicholas); Hambledon, Twyford, and Wickham to Capel; Basingstoke, Chiddingfold, Fareham, and Havant to Shere; while members from Bagshot, Ewhurst, Privett, and Ryde remained at Dorking. The weather was in every way favorable for such a gathering, and though a trifle too warm for ringing, some good striking was heard during the course of the afternoon.

STAVELEY, DERBYSHIRE.—THE YORKSHIRE AND OLD EAST DERBYSHIRE ASSOCIATIONS.

On Saturday, August 15th, the thirtieth anniversary dinner in connection with the restoration of the Staveley parish church, took place at The Elm Tree inn, where a capital repast was served. After the cloth was removed, Mr. Crofts was voted to the chair, and supported by Mr. Madin as vice. The usual loyal and complimentary toasts were proposed, not forgetting "THE BELL NEWS." The chairman was very pleased in having the honour of presiding amongst the Staveley ringers at their annual dinner, and hoped it would not be the last for a many years to come, as he should do his best to give the greatest satisfaction to the society. He had a great pride in them by winning the Old East Derbyshire Association Cup two years in succession, and hoped they would be able to secure it a third time by good performance work in the noble Art.

On behalf of the Staveley society Mr. Madin said they were very pleased to hear such good remarks from the chairman, and that he had dined with them that evening, and also that his remarks would prove true in trying to secure it for a third time, and if spared they would try for the same in 1897.

Songs and tune-playing on the handbells, and several courses of Grandsire Triples by the local society, brought a very happy evening to a close just before eleven o'clock.

Situation Vacant.

I should be pleased to hear from any good Minor method ringer who is accustomed to any kind of colliery work, above or below ground, and who is willing to give his services as ringer, in return for help in obtaining employment.—Wm. J. NICHOLSON, Woodlands, Treton, Rotherham.

CURRENT TOPICS.

The first thing which met my vision on my entrance to the office this week was a note from an old and dear friend to the Editor, in which he said—"I am sorry to see Mr. 'Plain Speaker' out this week." Little does my old friend know who the "P. S." is. Nor is it wise to let him into the secret, because the probabilities are that the enjoyment which he at present feels in reading this page would be impaired—the murder would be out; and his exclamations of surprise at finding out the writer would surely be a prelude to the expression of an opinion that as a literary man I had deteriorated sadly. So you see the advantages of anonymity.

The absence of "Topics" last week was on account of my taking a holiday. Most of you will agree that after writing so many pages as I have during the past few weeks I was entitled to a period of relaxation. Therefore, a favorable opportunity having presented itself for the acceptance of a kind invitation tendered to me by one of my readers, I left the Metropolis on the morning of last Saturday week by G.N.R., for my destination. And though I enjoyed myself to the full, I returned home not particularly pleased, because I wished to have another week, and couldn't. Under these circumstances I'll say no more about this holiday. I am afraid I have returned a sadder and not much wiser man.

I received my copy of our paper by post last week, and mentally took stock of its contents. The number seemed to be well put together and very nicely printed. And while speaking of this, I should like to give a hint to readers, especially those who have the paper bound into yearly volumes. When you get your copies never open them hurriedly just to see how many 5040s there are among the ringing records, and don't show too great an anxiety to read this page. Place the paper down flat on a table, smooth it out flat if at all creased, then take a sharp knife and cut the edges neatly, and read it by turning over the leaves one by one in the same way you would read a book. By this means you will keep your number bright and fresh, and the volume, when bound, will look all the better for such treatment. I hope you will feel thankful to me for this valuable hint. But I don't desire a testimonial.

The Bath and Wells Diocesan Association appears to be making headway very comfortably. There was an unfortunate period of depression some time ago, but that has been satisfactorily got over, and the Association is now on the high road to success. The Executive body are to be congratulated upon their improved position, which appears to be in a great measure due to the industry and talents of the Hon. Sec., Mr. Tomkins. The members know this, I find. In these days a Secretary's duties is no sinecure, and the somewhat unwieldy shape of the Diocese I am alluding to does not tend to lighten the work.

Then there is the Ely Association—whether District or Diocesan, I can hardly understand yet. You are all well aware how this body has been repeatedly encouraged—I might say woke up—by "THE BELL NEWS." Again and again has the leader-writer either cheered, praised, or castigated the members. We thus see the good result of speaking plainly. Evidently there was latent vigour and ability in the ringers of this diocese, and the constant hammering they have had has brought them into shape. Now they thank "THE BELL NEWS" for the interest which has been shown in their welfare and improvement. And very likely they will show their gratitude and approval by supporting "THE BELL NEWS" to the utmost of their power. Before closing this paragraph I make an appeal to my old friend at Sudbury—mentioned by name in my last. I ask him to send his photo. to me. I will use whatever influence I may have to get it published. It shall be printed in the best copper-plate with gold letters.

Everything appears for the present quite rosy in the ringing world. The warfare between the Treble Bob composers appears to be approaching its end. That indefatigable composer, Joseph Parker, is ready and willing to pilot a-head a collection of six-bell methods. Mr. Dains points out what he says are the shortcomings of a method called "Double Steyning Major," a bantling of my dear friend C. Smart. The outings and pleasurable meetings are numerous, in short, the affairs of the ringing community seem "as merry as a marriage-bell."

Here for this week I must end. The paper will be a full one, I am told. As I have hardly recovered the effects of my holiday, I am not averse to curtailing my remarks this week. "Brevity is the soul of wit." The unfortunate drawback to an holiday is that you feel worse when it is over than when you commenced it. Now and then I have some doubt whether I have had a holiday at all. I conclude by asking the gentleman who wrote to me about the Ripon paragraph to kindly send me his name and address—not for publication. PLAIN SPEAKER.

ST. MARY'S CATHEDRAL SOCIETY, EDINBURGH.

On Monday, August 3rd, a meeting of this society was held for the purpose of presenting Mr. C. L. Routledge, of Newcastle-on-Tyne, with a handsome dressing-case, in recognition of his valuable services to the society. When Mr. Routledge first came to St. Mary's Cathedral, change-ringing was practically unknown, but through his untiring efforts the ringers have received a good foundation in the art, the successes of the company having been recorded in the columns of this paper from time to time. During his comparatively short residence in Edinburgh, he has led his pupils through Doubles to Triples on tower bells, and to Caters on handbells, whilst the recent date touch at Alloa speaks of the manner in which they have been instructed in the various Minor methods. In returning to Newcastle Mr. Routledge carries with him the best wishes of all with whom he has come in contact, and the members of the Cathedral society feel that they are losing not only an able instructor but a personal friend.

ST. ANNE'S CHURCH, HIGHGATE.

On Friday, August 7th, the usual whole pull and stand, followed by a touch of Kent Treble Bob, was rung with the bells muffled, as a token of respect for the late Mr. George Harvey, of the Royal Cumberland Youths and a member of the Highgate local band. The ringers were J. Hannington, B. Foskett, R. Bevan, J. Young, T. Titchener, N. Alderman, R. Nudds, and H. Watson.

THE PEAL "APPENDIX, 1895," PRINTED BY the Central Council Committee, may be obtained post free, with the Report on Calls, on application to the Hon. Secretary, Rev. H. Earle Bulwer, Stanhoe Rectory, King's Lynn, enclosing 7½d. in stamps.

THOMAS BLACKBOURN,
CHURCH BELL HANGER, AND TUNER.
SALISBURY, WILTSHIRE.

THOMAS BLACKBOURN is a practical Ringer, and having had considerable experience in Church Bell hanging and tuning, with confidence solicits the patronage of the Clergy, Churchwardens and Ringers generally.

T. B. has devoted a great deal of attention to the fixing of Clock Hammers used for striking the hours and quarters on Church Bells. These are sometime placed in awkward and dangerous positions, even by Church Clock Makers.

T. BLACKBOURN's experience enables him to affix these hammers, with their accompanying levers in a most accurate manner, preventing any danger to the bell frame or clock. He will be glad to advise on clocks as well as bells.

The Ellacombe Chime Hammers fixed. Sole Fixer of Alby's Apparatus for Silent practice. Handbells supplied. Bells weighed in the tower at a small cost.

A PEAL OF 362,880 GRANDSIRE CATERS, 6d.

The Bell News & Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 22, 1896.

It is very satisfactory to find that what may without invidiousness be termed the junior Ringing Associations are rapidly getting out of their chrysalis state, and taking high rank among their elder brethren. We have only to refer to the recent accounts of the meetings of several of these bodies to substantiate the assertion. The Ely Association, which we alluded to last week; the Bath and Wells, which has not only surmounted its initial difficulties, but is making very rapid progress indeed; and the Chester Diocesan Guild, an account of whose proceedings at Stockport we print in this number, afford grounds for the highest gratification to those who eagerly hope and anxiously await the extension and popularity of the Art of Change-Ringing. The meeting of the Winchester Guild also, a report of which may be seen elsewhere, indicates, with no uncertain sound, progress and extension. The reasons for such revivals may be owing to various causes, but it will hardly be questioned that improved and more effective administration and management has something to do with it. The majority of Church Bell Ringers are now found out to be men somewhat above that low ideal, intellectually speaking, they were formerly supposed to be. Collectively, they are found not possessed of those low grovelling instincts which in some period of the dark ages they were so regarded. Men of refinement and culture have found out this fact: they have not hesitated therefore to address themselves to the ringing community with the idea of co-operating with ringers in their work, of sharing their responsibilities as prominent and valuable Church officials, and employing their talents for their benefit and advantage. There was a time though, when a change-ringer who belonged to a comparatively higher social grade than that of a working operative, was looked upon as a prodigy—as a phenomenon worthy of taking a long journey to behold. Now the case is altered. Our present leaders would certainly feel uncomfortable under such circumstances. They would strongly object to hero-worship in any shape or form. The intelligent and well-mannered ringer knows how to behave to his social superior, whether in the belfry or out of it.

The gradual change, then, in ringing concerns, is on the side of improvement, as vast as it is secure. What assistance "THE BELL NEWS" has effected towards this amelioration of the ringers' position and prospects may safely be left to the decision of its readers and supporters during the period of nearly two decades. We believe the thinking portion of the Exercise is of opinion that our journal has been an important factor in the cause of Ringing and its concomitants. It is said that several ringing organisations owe their existence to its advocacy; that "THE BELL NEWS" has been the chief agency in many movements looked upon by ringers as highly commendable; that no worthy object sought to be attained has been without our cordial help; that we have been instrumental in inducing many augmentations of bells which have been effected within the period of our existence. If all this is true, our readers will not deny us the feelings of honest pride and satisfaction at the retrospect. Our path in the future is clear. And that is to proceed on the same lines as heretofore, with a decided inclination towards any improvement which can become permanent. Our fellow ringers—no matter in what position in life they are—will always receive the utmost attention at our hands to any request they may prefer.

"THE BELL NEWS" of this day (August 22nd) consists of twenty pages, accompanied by a portrait of a very old and worthy member of the Exercise. The Rev. Canon RAVEN, D.D., President of the Norwich Association, has generously supplied us with this portrait and the account of the old gentleman also. Canon RAVEN kindly promises other interesting memoranda for this paper. We should like to announce to provincial ringers visiting London who wish to have some ringing during their stay, that if we receive timely notice we will make satisfactory arrangements for them for that purpose. But there is no difficulty in obtaining plenty of ringing in the Metropolis. The officers of the four great ringing societies are renowned, and always have been, for their courtesy to country ringers, and applications made to any of them would certainly be satisfactory. The same may be said of all the principal members of these societies, and also of the various steeple-keepers in London and its suburbs. No monopoly whatever is possessed by any ringer or ringers in procuring the means of ringing for visitors to London.

THE NEWSON MEMORIAL.

NOTICE.—Intending subscribers will please forward at once, as but one other list will be issued. Any gentlemen having subscribed to this fund, and their subscription having not been acknowledged, will please communicate with the Honorary Secretary, and the matter will have prompt attention. The Chairman is at present on tour, and when he returns (we hope thoroughly reinvigorated by the change), another committee meeting will be held, probably about the 28th instant, when a balance-sheet will be drawn for publication, and matters brought to a close.

147, Barnsbury Road, N. HENRY DAINS, Hon. Sec.

THE YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.—AIREDALE BRANCH.

The second meeting of this newly-formed society was held at Skipton on Saturday, August 15th. Shortly after two o'clock ringing commenced at the parish church, and subsequent trains brought contingents of members from various places. During an interval in ringing, a short business meeting was held, when meetings for the year were arranged as follows: Kildwick, September 26th; Keighley, October 24th; Saltaire, November 14th; Shipley, December 12th. It was also unanimously resolved to forward to the Editor of "THE BELL NEWS" an expression of their appreciation of his efforts on behalf of change-ringing, and of their desire to extend the circulation of his valuable paper.

Ringings were then resumed, which continued till about nine o'clock, bringing a pleasant gathering to a close.

MR. JOHN CARTER'S TWO HUNDRED PEALS.

The schedule below shows the number of peals in each method in which Mr. J. Carter has taken part, including twenty-nine handbell peals from Triples to Cinques; and also two peals of Stedman Triples at Burton, one of which was rung in perfect silence and without sign or motion on the part of the ringers; and the other was an all-conducted peal, each ringer calling three courses in his turn. Mr. Carter has also had the misfortune to ring in four peals which compositions have afterwards turned out to be false, and are therefore not included in the list below.

A VISIT TO GUISBOROUGH, YORKSHIRE.

On Saturday, August 1st, Messrs. Blakiston, Passman, Rudd, McFarlane, Hall, and Carter, of Middlesbrough, and Mr. Newton, of Stockton, paid a visit to Guisborough, where they rang 720 each of Kent and Plain Bob Minor; Messrs. Haswell and Cotterill (local men), taking a rope in the Bob Minor, this being the first 720 by Mr. Cotterill, and the first as conductor by Mr. Haswell. During the afternoon, the visitors were kindly entertained to tea by the local men, who, by the way, are to be congratulated on the improvement made in the Art since our last visit two years ago. After ringing another 120 of Minor, with Messrs. J. Metcalfe and W. G. Haswell, the bells were let down in peal, and a visit paid to the rectory, where each ringer was welcomed by a hearty handshake by the Vicar; here the handbells were brought into requisition, and courses of Triples, Plain Bob, and Kent Treble Bob Major were rung. After which the visitors and local men who had accompanied us were served with refreshments. A start was then made for home, thus ending a pleasant afternoon's outing. The visitors wish to thank (through "THE BELL NEWS") the Rev. J. H. Morgan and the Guisborough ringers for doing so much towards making our visit a success.

THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

ROSSENDALE BRANCH.—A meeting of this branch was held at Haslingden on Saturday, August 8th, and was attended by members from Bacup, Bury, Helmshore, Padiham, Ramsbottom, Rawtenstall, Waterfoot, and the local company. The meeting was held in the belfry, Mr. J. Smith in the chair. The minutes of the last meeting being passed, it was decided to hold the next meeting at Waterfoot. After a little discussion, Mr. J. H. Banks (Helmshore), was elected Branch Secretary, and Messrs. Z. Lord (Bacup), and J. B. Taylor (Waterfoot), were nominated Committee-men for two years, and seven more members were enrolled, five from Haslingden, and two from Rawtenstall. Votes of thanks were given to the retiring officers, and also to the vicar for the use of the bells and belfry; to the ringers for having all in readiness, and to the chairman for presiding. Touches of Grandsire Triples, Bob Major, Kent Treble Bob Minor, College Single, and Bob Minor were rung, and the bells were kept going till about 9.30, bringing a pleasant evening to a close.

THE EAST LINCOLNSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

A Quarterly Meeting of this Association was held at Friskney on Saturday, July 25th, when members from Boston, Skirbeck, Friskney, and Butterworth, with the local ringers, comprising twenty-five, sat down to a meat tea. A short service was held in St. James' church, conducted by the Rev. J. P. Cheales, in the absence of the Rev. S. Staffurth, vicar, who was away on his holidays. After tea the business meeting was held, presided over by the Rev. J. P. Cheales, the vice-chair being occupied by Master H. Staffurth. The next place of meeting was left to the Committee. Several 6-scores of Plain Bob and Grandsire were rung by mixed companies at the parish church. Tenor about 20 cwt. Several of the members journeyed on bicycles to Benington, and rang several touches of Bob Minor on the pretty little ring of six, in which the Rev. J. P. Cheales and Master H. Staffurth took part.

THE LATE GEORGE EDWARD HARVEY.

On Friday evening, August 14th, at the usual practice, some members of the Royal Cumberlands rang the usual whole pull and stand as a mark of respect to the above-named ringer. The performers were Messrs. Baron, Foskett, Pitts, Dains, Swain, Meads, Griggs, Bevan, Dench, Stubbs, Parker, Jacob. Conducted by W. Baron. Messrs. Dench and Parker formerly belonged to Crawley, Sussex. Poor Harvey had been a good and constant member for something like thirty years; a regular attendant for many years of the time, and always ready to oblige a friend when called upon. His name will be found in records of Cinques on Stedman's Principle, being a good ringer and striker in the three methods upon any number of bells. He was a native of Newton Abbot, Devonshire, and was born in the year 1838, and was therefore in his fifty-eighth year at the time of his decease. This took place on Saturday, August 1st, and the remains were interred on the following Wednesday in Finchley cemetery, London, N. The last time we met him was at the society's meeting-house, and he was then in the pink of health. The cause of death, I am told, was a slight sunstroke while at his work as a builder's foreman. This was followed by typhoid fever. By trade or profession our mutual friend was a carpenter. Aye, Sir, an expert carpenter in the highest branch of the craft, being second to none in the science of handrailing. He would pride himself in preparing a rail for a continued stairs, containing not the ordinary flyer and half space landing class only, but, Sir, those technically known as jib landings, quarter space landings, either oblique or acute angled, and so nicely worked out that not a heading joint would require easing upon the works, and more, he would get the wreaths out of stuff, wells, of half-an-inch thicker than the ordinary, used for the straight portions of the work, providing he had the setting out, and allowed to put in the easings to the plan of the stairs under treatment.

The late and lamented G. Newson and our friend under notice worked together for several years in the latter part of the sixties and the early part of the seventies. Many ringing friends would have attended the funeral, but it was not generally known in the Exercise. A good friend and true man has gone to rest.

* * It is impossible to guarantee the appearance of touches in the current number. They will be taken in order of date as far as possible, and in the future efforts will be especially made to prevent their undue postponement. If they come to our office early there is greater chance of their appearance.

MEN AND MANNERS.

Hi Hi! Ho Ho!! and likewise Ha Ha!!!—Room for the new scribe. The old Firm! The old Firm!! After sixteen years of uphill struggles for the recognition of ringing, we are very much alive, notwithstanding the masks and faces of those pseudo friends who vainly imagine it is easy to put salt on our tails! So beat the drum, boy, and sing Hi! Hi!! and likewise Ho! Ho!! what time "THE BELL NEWS" wagon wends its way over the stones of ingratitude. A few stars, Mr. Printer—thanks—the new scribe is introduced. JINGLE salutes you.

Is it the hot weather that is handicapping the peals, or is it idleness alias apathy? I know it pulls one about to turn big tenors in to the tune of Major, Royal or Maximus, but surely it is not too hot to ring them behind. Some extraordinary peals have been accomplished during the summer months, and we have only to hark back and we shall feel slightly ashamed to back out of a 5000 when we think of men who, having more pluck than strength, have stood from six to ten hours on the hottest days of summer, and we frequently get warmer weather in May, June and July than we do in August. It was in May, 1777, when the College Youths and the Cumberlands were racing neck and neck for the premier position of long peal ringers. The last-named Society got ahead on May 10th with 10,200 Treble Ten, but the College Youths—ever like the weasel—nine days later smashed their opponents' record with 11,080 in the same method, although seven years later the Cumberlands gave the College boys a knock from which they have never recovered, by ringing 12,000. It was also in May that the two long peals of Grandsire Caters, 12,096 and 12,312 were rung; and in June that the famous Debenham peal of 16,608 was brought to a successful issue. More recently we have Sam Wood's long peal of Cinques: and by the way, Samuel, why not secure the Treble Twelve record also. Verb. sap.

What a hurry and bustle there has been in the Houses of Parliament lately. From the scarlet-robed superior individuals who sleep on the benches of the Upper House (when it sits long enough) to the cheeky parvenu in the Lower, treading on everyone's corns in his anxiety for fame and the desire to let off his little squib, one goal has been in view—the recess. Holidays are all right, particularly when they are paid for, and we men of the people cannot help calling to mind some of the successful candidates' "pledges." For myself I always took the "old age pensions" bait with an extra large pinch of salt, but it is not humorous to see grey-haired men seeking the refuge of a workhouse, to die like a rabbit in a hole, and that is the average look-out for working men of to-day. Among ringers some there are who get into hospitals, and some there are who don't. The don'ts are in the majority, and it takes a lot of influence to get in then—in some hospitals. I have in my mind's eye one or two ringers who have been candidates for these charities, but some favoured individual with more "influence" has invariably got in. I think it is time that a scheme for "Ringers' and Church Officials' Almshouses" could be discussed beneficially at the Church Congress, but while so much red tape is in evidence, we ringers must sit down as small pertaters.

Those who take upon themselves the office of giving advice on social questions should at least try and understand something about the subject in hand, whether they occupy an eminent social position or not. "The Bishop of Manchester in presenting the prizes at Rossall College told the boys that he heard working men clamouring for an eight-hour day, and a pension from work at sixty-five years of age. He was more than sixty-five, but he did not get a pension or exemption from work. His hours were not eight a day, but nearer fourteen. When an old man like him had to work like that he asked them not to expect a lazy time."

* * * *

One scarcely knows how to begin to answer the charge. His Lordship views the situation from his own elevated seat. If a man has worked from youth to sixty-five years of age (and not many reach that figure), it is time, in my opinion, for him to retire and give someone else a chance. There is a vast difference between working through life with a hand-to-mouth existence and of one of comparative affluence. If his Lordship's income had been about £11 per week instead of what it is, it is highly probable that he would have weighed his words well before using that word lazy. To men advancing age brings no honour, but the contrary; to him the Bishop's lazy time has no attraction; it is thrust on him as soon as he shews a gray hair. But enough; I have no doubt that by this time the Bishop will have discovered that being like other mortals, he has for once spoken thoughtlessly.

* * * *

On reading the foregoing, don't let any one imagine that I am a Radical, or opponent of Church and State, or anything else that is bad. I am a Churchman to the spinal marrow; a bell-ringer—(one of yourselves), and a sidesman at my parish church, which is a noted edifice in an important Midland town, having a ring of ten bells, with an historical interest second to none in the kingdom.

* * * *

Once more the ice-bell story comes to hand. I have heard it (the story, not the bell) about once a year for a long while. The newspapers fill in with this after the sea-serpent and big gooseberry jokes have fallen through. This time it is at Shopi, in Japan, a queer shopi should imagine. Ah! would you? No pun meant. Well, at this shop or shopi there is a wonderful cavern containing immense quantities of ice which never melt away. In one place huge icicles depending from the roof, have formed upon the floor beneath—through the slow dripping of water—about a score of great hollow cylinders, some of which are five feet in height, looking exactly like inverted bells. When struck they give forth tones from a gong-like bass to shrill treble. I won't guarantee the above, though it is quite possible, but had we a similar freak of nature in England the eagle-eyed company promoter would have marked it for his own, and boomed it for all it was worth in less time than it takes to tell the tale.

JINGLE.

ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL CLOCK.—When the new clock at St. Paul's Cathedral was erected about three years ago, the dials had their central parts filled with white glass for illumination at night. This white glass has been found to make the dials less distinct by day, and also not to be in architectural harmony with the Cathedral. Instructions have therefore been given to the makers, Messrs. John Smith and Sons, of Derby, to fit in new dark central parts to the dials. It may be mentioned that the total diameter of the dials is about 17 feet, and the central parts are 10 feet in diameter. When this work is done, the dials will have the same appearance they had before the new clock was fixed.

HANDBELLS.—For Sale a Chromatic set of 19 Bells from C, size 15 to F sharp, size 5, in perfect order, 10 of the set (including the 5 largest bells) quite new. £4 15s. net cash. W. A. CLARK, The Goldthorns, Trafalgar-road, Moseley Birmingham.

MESSRS. JARROLD & SONS have pleasure in announcing the
early publication by subscription of this most interesting and important work. It will contain an account of all the Church Bells
in Buckinghamshire, with everything relating to their history that can be discovered. Full accounts of all the Founders whose bells
hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County
including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. The work was undertaken at the instigation of the late J. C. L. Stahl Schmidt Esq., author of "Surrey Bells and London Bell-founders," "The Church Bells of Kent," "Herts," etc.; and the fact that the author
had the benefit of the kind assistance and advice of this well-known
campanologist may be mentioned as some guarantee of the scope and nature of the present work. Mr. Stahl Schmidt wrote the author,
that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting country," and he repeated this opinion in a subsequent letter. The
"Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 600 pages to be handsomely illustrated with 24 full-page plates of mediæval letter-
ings, founders' marks, etc., found on Bells still existing in the County and numerous figures—some of them being peculiar to Bucks—with
be inserted in the text. The 2vo. Edition is limited to 350 copies, and will be offered to subscribers before the day of publication at 21s. nett. The Larger Edition, Royal 4to, is limited to 80 copies, and will be subscribed at 42s. The prices will be raised on the day
of issue should any copies remain unsold.

The Bell News and Ringers' Record.

No. 751.]

SATURDAY, AUGUST 29, 1896.

[Vol. XV.]

THE PARISH CHURCH OF ST. PETER, DRAYTON, BERKS.

We have much pleasure in presenting the readers of "THE BELL NEWS" with a pen-and-ink sketch of the parish church of St. Peter, Drayton, Berkshire.

The present church consists of a nave and north aisle of 15th century work, separated by a chaste arcade, a modern chancel and organ-chamber, a small transept on the south side which is the only part of the original 13th century church remaining, and an embattled tower at the west end. The chancel was rebuilt about twenty-five years since, the original 13th century window being replaced in it as well as the old Norman arch over the priests door. In the transept is an interesting collection of alabaster figures representing events in our Lord's life. There is also a 13th century piscina, and an aumbry with the original oak door and lock.

The old five bells (some of them being cracked), were recast into a ring of six in 1871, and were augmented to eight in 1880, with tenor 9½ cwt. in G. Over 100 peals have been rung on them, the most notable of which are the first University peal, rang on February 2nd, 1882; the only clerical peal, rang on October 4th, 1884, both of them Stedman Triples; and a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major, Superlative Surprise Major, and Double Norwich, all rung on the same day, August 6th, 1888.

The church of St. Peter, Drayton, possesses a great interest among Church Bell Ringers all over the world by reason of the fact that the Reverend FRANCIS EDWARD ROBINSON, M.A., of Exeter College, Oxon., and Master of the Oxford Guild of Change-Ringers, is Vicar, being collated to the benefice in the year 1878. Mr. Robinson, it is needless to say, is known to every living ringer, either personally or by repute. He has rung nearly 500 peals, some of them in the most difficult methods and of the greatest lengths, and many of these he has himself conducted. The rev. gentleman is one of the most popular of the ringing clergy, and has been a hearty supporter of this paper from its first number. He is still in the prime of health and vigour, and as likely as he is willing to ring a few more hundreds of peals.

The net value of the benefice of Drayton is only £132 and house, a leanness of income now unfortunately becoming the rule among the clergy. Mr. Robinson's portrait was published with this paper about three years ago.

MEN AND MANNERS.

Eh? What? Yes. I have heard that this column caused sundry feelings last week. Friends accustomed to reading between the lines glued their noses on to the first paragraph, and as they gradually "diskivvered" something sat up and chortled like kangaroos. Friends of the other sort experienced a cold sensation crawl up their spines, and which is sure to be worth a guinea a box.

* * * *

I want to say a word here on the duty of the ringer. I went into a belfry one day in the holiday, and being away from home asked for a "BELL NEWS." To my surprise I was told "the treble-man had not done with it yet, as he had it at home!" and I found out that one "BELL NEWS" did duty for all the band. It may be economical, it may answer its purpose by being read by all, but I ask you—is it honest? The position of running a newspaper in the sole interest of the ringing fraternity is far from that of a sinecure, and it is surely no hardship to spend one penny in "our own paper." Masters of companies would be doing us and themselves good by obtaining a copy of "THE BELL NEWS" for any member of his band who does not take it, and also, if you are not saving them for binding, kindly give your soiled copies to some five or six-bell tower where "THE BELL NEWS" has not penetrated. It has been a strong incentive to scores of ringers of this generation, who, seeing their names in print, acquire a certain amount of vanity which is pardonable, providing their zeal and the desire to excel increases as they gain experience.

* * * *

Every Englishman was glad that the "Cricket Strike" ended in time to allow a first-class eleven to enter the field to do battle for the mother country. It is well, too, that the English team secured the victory, for had it been otherwise, there is no doubt there would have been plenty of suspicious charges and underhand accusations levelled against the "strikers," but "all's well that ends well." Nevertheless, it has shewn up the caste between professionals and amateurs. There is a deal of hero-worship among cricketers, and in the field members of the team are apparently on an equal footing; but just wait till the luncheon bell rings, and you will see where the blue blood shews itself. The professionals' "luncheon" wants very little preparation, neither does he require a liveried waiter to serve up the viands. You will see him munching his bread and cheese in any corner of the ground, while the amateurs dine in the pavilion, from which they make entry and exit through a special gate, through which no pro. can pass. Happily, we in the ringing world are pretty nearly exempt from such snobbery, and the amateurs of our hobby are gentlemen who are glad to fraternize with us. And the feeling is reciprocated; for in these days there is a difference between a rich man and a gentleman; the latter makes his presence felt, and those below in the social scale look up to him with profound respect, whereas the man of brass can be easily identified by the quantity he carries on his face.

What's this? "A peal of London Surprise on an entirely new plan! part of an 11,328, which is the extent in this method." Has friend Washbrook got his second wind? Methinks I see a dark look on the faces of the Burton men, for it is only to be expected that the Oxonian star will go for the extent. But be absolutely sure, J. W. W., it is the extent possible, for there is a certain magician living at a place called Lincoln, whose favourite pastime is spent in giving record peals the noble order of the knock. I can guess how you felt over the 7200 of Saperlative at Southgate, the result of which must have immensely tickled the ringers in the borough of Barleycorn. I don't think the Londoners quite forgave the Burton men for ringing the first peal of London at Fulham; it seemed too much like "bearding the lion in his den." With the exception of our lamented friend George Newson, no one has taken up the gauntlet, although there are men in the Metropolis capable of ringing anything, either in hand or on the tower bells. Now, Mr. Winney, let us hear from you with Stedman Caters or Cinques in hand. You know where to find your men, and in fact where to find silent peal men as well.

The Grappenhall branch of the Chester Guild is to be commended for its perseverance. Seven Treble Bob methods is not such an easy feat as some would have us believe. It won't be long before we see a Surprise method rung by Messrs. Spence and Co. In reference to the apparently defunct six-bell question it would be perhaps worth while to consider the advisability of taking a plebiscite of the Exercise, through the different Associations; for up to the present the delegates have acted with an entirely free hand, with the exception of one or two north country societies. The Yorkshire resolution ought in common fairness to be balloted on by every society affiliated to the Council, and the result should rest on the total vote and not on the delegates. Do not misunderstand me, it is possible for a minority of delegates to represent the opinion of the majority of voters, and vice versa; and it sometimes follows that representatives may produce the contrary result when acting on instructions from their constituents. For instance, one delegate per hundred members is allowed up to four. Now, in some societies there are 800, 900, or 1000 members, and we will, for the sake of argument, take three large and three small societies. The first-named may vote 500 for the resolution against 400, a total of 1500 to 1200, and on the present system the twelve delegates would vote "aye." The small societies may vote 250 "against," to 100 "for," and the nine delegates would vote "no." The twelve would win against the nine, and yet by adding the totals up together we should find the apparent minority actually held a majority. This is one of the eccentricities of the ballot, but the question is certainly ripe for settlement in no uncertain manner in justice to all concerned.

The reason is, because the delegateship is limited to four, and a society of say 800 like the Lancashire Association only send four, which is not proportionate. I don't say that a delegate should always even be instructed, but in a matter like the six-bell controversy they ought certainly to lay the question before their members and let them take the final responsibility. There is nothing new to be stated for either side. In my opinion some of the six-bell performances completely eclipse some of the peals, and as one who has rung 5000s on all numbers of bells from Doubles to Cinques, I think a seven-method peal requires more ringing than anything in the four Standard methods. Furthermore, how shall we condemn a performance of say 5400 changes, if the band decides to ring seven 720s and finish with a 360, making eight methods. If the ruling of the Council obtains, the peal must not be acknowledged, and yet the first seven 720s would be strictly in accordance with the requirements. Would the 5040 stand as the peal, or should the whole 5400 rank? Members of the Central Council would be wise in arguing out this vexed problem, which has become a "hardy annual." With this out of the way, the Council will become a power for good in the ringing world, and meanwhile let members of different Associations turn up at the Quarterly and Annual Meetings, and not leave it to about 10 per cent. to run the business. The bigger the meeting the better the officers like it, even if they sometimes get criticised; at least such is the opinion of

ANOTHER OLD VETERAN.

A correspondent from Calne, Wilts, sends the following :—

"In your issue of August 22nd, you give an interesting account of the recognition of an old bell-ringer, and I think your readers may like to know of another such character, living in the old town of Calne, in North Wilts. William Seager was born May 22nd, 1815, has lived in the same cottage as his father, who was killed when following his occupation of quarryman when William was a boy. William succeeded his father as ringer in the beautiful parish church, and as quarryman, and has rung regularly since the age of 15 till 2½ years ago. On the Queen's coming of age—her accession—her marriage—on the birth of her children—and on each of her birthdays and her Jubilee. Also the welcoming in of every New Year. He has also assisted in the hanging of bells in various churches in many parts of the country. For 2½ years he has been confined to one small room, having entirely lost all power of the lower limbs, and almost his only pleasure in life is recounting his experiences as bell-ringer and hanger. Till lately he has been a constant subscriber and reader of "THE BELL NEWS," and a member of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild. He tells with pride of a visit from Bishop Wordsworth to his sick room and who called him one of his oldest church workers. He is dutifully tended by a daughter and her husband and helped by a son to the best of their power. I have known him all my life."

If any of our readers should feel inclined to drop a line to the old man, his address is "Quemeford, Calne;" or Mr. S. Griffin, of New Road, Calne, would be pleased to answer any question concerning him.

THE CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

NORTHWICH BRANCH.—The members of this branch held a meeting at Davenham on Saturday, August 15th. The rector (Rev. T. W. France-Hayhurst) occupied the chair, and warmly welcomed the ringers to Davenham. The minutes of the last meeting were read and passed, and other unimportant business matters were discussed. A vote of thanks to the chairman for presiding and for the excellent tea which was partaken of in the Parish Room, closed the meeting. Ringing was indulged in during the afternoon and evening. Two 720s of Bob Minor were rung by members all hailing from Northwich. First 720. S. Johnson, 1; S. Forster, 2; G. Johnson, 3; A. Johnson, 4; J. Bell, 5; W. Forster, 6. Second 720. S. Johnson, 1; W. Sutton, 2; G. Johnson, 3; S. Forster, 4; J. Bell, 5; A. Johnson, 6.

PITTINGTON CHURCH, NEAR DURHAM.

The above, which is one of the oldest churches in the kingdom, and visited by many antiquarians and others from all parts of the country to see the beautiful stone carving in the interior, has got a valuable improvement added in the shape of a public clock, which shows the time upon one large external dial facing the highway, and strikes the hours upon one of the three bells in the tower, the work having been carried out by Messrs. W. Potts and Sons, Clock Manufacturers of Leeds and Newcastle-on-Tyne, from instructions received by them from Messrs. Hicks and Charlwood, architects, Newcastle-on-Tyne. We understand the clock was presented by a lady friend to the village church.

BELL HOUSES.

Scattered up and down England are to be seen these quaint habitations for bells, sometimes enshrining a company of four or five. They are to be distinguished from the incomplete towers, which, sometimes from failure of means, or other adverse cause, stopped short at the first floor, and were then capped by wood-work covered with thatch or tiles.

In such cases ringing can well be carried on by those whose ears can stand plenty of noise. But the bell-house presents difficulties which can be overcome only by a rare union of perseverance and skill. Something perhaps might be done by digging a convenient pit in the vicinity of the bell-house, and turning the ropes over pulleys. The recommendation must be taken at its extremely limited value.

The readers of "THE BELL NEWS" are here presented with the view of the bell-house at East Bergholt, Suffolk, a familiar object to those who know the sweet valley of the Stour, immortalized by the painter Constable. We are indebted to Messrs. Jarrold, of Norwich, the publishers of Dr. Raven's Church Bells of Suffolk, for the use of the block, No. 28 in that work.

The building stands on a brick foundation, rising about a foot out of the ground, on which are laid timbers which receive the upright studs which mainly form the sides. The five bells, which are described as being beautifully in tune, have neither wheels nor ropes, but are swung from the stock. The treble, which like the present third, was by Richard Bowler, 1601, was recast by Warner in 1887, and bears jubilee coins. The second bears stamps of the fifteenth-century founder, Henry Jordan, the 4th is by Christopher Hodson (who made Great Tom of Oxford, 1688, and the tenor by Stephens of Bracondale, 1727. There is also a small Priest's bell by Richard Bowler, 1591.

THE ANCIENT SOCIETY OF COLLEGE YOUTHS.

On Thursday, August 20th, at St. Matthew's church, Bethnal Green, the usual muffled peal was rung for an old parochial ringer, viz., George Cecil. He had been associated with the church for more than sixty years, having rung at the Queen's Coronation and Accession, and was eighty years of age when he died. M. A. Wood, 1; A. Barkus, 2; J. Bonney, 3; J. Comb, 4; E. Wallage, 5; W. Prime, 6; J. West, 7; J. Scholes, 8. Followed by a 504 of Grandsire Triples,

Ringers' Outings.

THE SINGLETON (NEAR POULTON-LE-FYLDE, LANCASHIRE) SOCIETY.—A most pleasant outing was organised by the ringers of Singleton church, on Saturday, August 8th. Starting from Singleton at 12.30 p.m. in brakes, Poulton was reached at 1.10, where the party alighted and stabled their horses for a time. Here a visit was paid to St. Chad's church, and the ringers spent an enjoyable hour in having a pull, the bells having been placed at their disposal by the vicar (the Rev. F. H. Guest.) Only a short method was rung, which had been taught them by the Kirkham ringers (members of the Fylde branch of the Lancashire Association), but the ringing on the whole was thoroughly good, the bells being apparently in fine order. C. Porter (conductor), 1; J. Richardson, 2; J. Ronson, 3; W. H. Mapps, 4; Harold Walton, 5; J. Howard, 6. Second course; C. Porter, 1; T. Haslem, 2; J. Ronson, 3; W. Mapp, 4; H. Walton, 5; E. J. Clarke, 6. After the bells had been lowered, the journey was resumed, and the party reached Blackpool in good time, where a most enjoyable afternoon was spent, the return journey being made soon after ten o'clock.

THE HOLY TRINITY COMPANY, SUNDERLAND.—The first annual outing of this company took place on Monday, August 3rd, when they visited Northallerton, where they were courteously received by J. Barnett, one of the local band. After partaking of some light refreshments they next visited the belfry, where a 504 Grandsire Triples was rung. T. Nanson, 1; W. Smallwood, 2; T. Naisby, 3; T. Ditchburn, 4; H. C. Mayne, 5; R. Miller, 6; J. Naisby (conductor), 7; F. Brass, 8. H. C. Mayne hails from Bishop Auckland, and the rest belong to the Holy Trinity band. After a short stroll round the village, we made our way to Johnston's Temperance Rooms for dinner, where an excellent spread had been prepared, to which we did ample justice. Dinner over, we walked round the outskirts of the village, and after visiting the chief places of interest, we wended our way back to the belfry and rung a 360 of Plain Bob Minor. Then the bells were brought down. We were generously entertained to tea by Mr. and Mrs. Barnett, to whom many thanks are due for their kindness. Then to the station and reaching Sunderland about 9 p.m., having fully enjoyed ourselves on our first outing.

THE HARROGATE SOCIETY'S OUTING.—At 1.30 on Saturday the 15th instant, the ringers of St. Mary's church, and a few friends met at the Borough Vaults, where a wagonette, with Mr. Wynn on the box, was waiting to convey them to Aldborough, where they arrived about four o'clock, after a very pleasant drive. A move was soon made to the church, where they were shown the various things of interest within its walls, after which those members on ringing bent, set the bells moving to the tune of Plain Bob Major, of which 216 changes were rung. J. Benson, 1; H. Dickinson, 2; H. Robinson, 3; F. Durdy, 4; A. Atkinson, 5; W. Turner (conductor), 6; and a touch of Kent Treble Bob Minor was tried by J. Benson, 1; H. Robinson, 2; H. Dickinson, 3; F. Durdy, 4; H. Brown, 5; W. Turner (conductor), 6; but it came to grief a course from home. After lowering the bells the whole party journeyed on to The Grantham Arms hotel, Boroughbridge, where a capital knife and fork tea was partaken of, everyone seeming to enjoy the knife and fork changes as a variation to the changes with the bells. After justice had been done to the good things provided, a move was made to Boroughbridge church, where the bells were raised in peal, and a few touches of Bob Minor and Kent Treble Bob Minor were attempted by H. Brown, H. Dickinson, J. Ireland, F. Durdy, H. Robinson, J. Benson, J. Mann and A. Atkinson. After which a pleasant journey home brought one of the most enjoyable outings to a close. The thanks of the members are tendered to the vicars and churchwardens of Aldborough and Boroughbridge, for the use of the bells; also to Mr. and Mrs. Lister, of the Grantham Hotel, and Messrs. Brown and Wynn for the excellent arrangements they made for the comfort and enjoyment of the party.

THE ST. NICHOLAS SOCIETY, EAST DEREHAM, NORFOLK.—On Tuesday, August 18th, this Society held its annual outing, the place chosen being Ely, Cambs., where they arrived about 10 o'clock, the journey being enlivened by touches on the handbells. We were met at the station by Mr. A. Pilgrim, one of the local company, who accompanied us to the tower of St. Mary's, where several touches were rung, the bells being a nice ring of eight, tenor 19 cwt. The next move was to the cathedral; this fine building, which is 517 feet in length, contains some splendid tombs in memory of Bishops Allen, Woodford, Sparks, and Alcock, and Canon Selwyn. The splendid pulpit, altar, chapels, windows and the choir stalls, with the massive organ above, were greatly admired. The last resting place of Withburga, daughter of Annus, Queen of East Anglia, whose remains the monks of Ely stole from the parish church-yard of East Dereham, A.D. 974, was also pointed out, though no tomb marks the spot. The tower, which is 215 feet high, was also ascended. We then adjourned for dinner, Mr. Leggett taking the chair as usual. Dinner over, St. Mary's was again visited, and a peal of Bob Major was attempted, but after ringing about 4000 changes in 2 hrs. and 33 mins. it came to grief, owing to the indisposition of the treble ringer. S. Back, 1; F. W. Adcock, 2; A. Pilgrim (Ely), 3; J. W. Marjoram, 4; F. G. Burleigh (conductor), 5; J. Wells, 6; A. Markwell (Wilburton), 7; S. F. Burleigh, 8. The journey home was then made. The company wish through this paper to thank Mr. Pilgrim and Mr. Markwell and the local company for the hearty reception given them. F.G.B.

SIX-BELL METHODS.

SIR,—With your permission I should like to make a few remarks concerning Mr. Mallaby's answer to Mr. Trollope. He says the methods he published are only intended for good bands of six-bell ringers. If Mr. Mallaby will take the trouble to look through the various Treble Bob variations on six bells, he will find all his methods are included. It is not anything new to use the tenor for the treble work, nor is it anything very beautiful. It may perhaps be convenient if you happen to have a treble man who would like to perform his part with a tenor bell, and could not otherwise work the method thus to show his prowess. Then our friend says it is good rung in Yorkshire style, whether the tenors turn up wrong or not. Well, so much for Yorkshire style. And then again he speaks of trained ears; can a man ring properly without them? But there is still another opinion he gives us. He says more credit is due to a band who rang a 5040 of seven or more such methods than Cambridge, London, and similar methods. Does he mean Major? if he does let me inform him, as one that has done both, that there is not. You cannot class six-bell ringing with eight-bell ringing; there is not the intricacy in the former as you would find in the latter; there is nothing like the amount of puzzling positions. There are heaps of ringers who can ring anything on six, that even with the same amount of practice on eight would not be safe for a peal, nor would they ever strike their bells accurately in the 5-6 work. I am speaking from experience in this matter. Then again, where does the intricacy come in on six, we speak of ringing so many different methods; this is what it amounts to. You arrange to go for a 5040 of Treble Bob or Surprise on six, and you fix your variations, and you invariably find that in the finish you have legally accomplished about two or three methods, the others are reverses or something of that sort, such for instance as Cambridge and Superlative. Then I suppose you would say there is the difficulty, ringing two such methods are apt to upset you. You would fancy you were ringing one when you ought to be ringing the other. That is carelessness; such an argument as that would not prove you were ringing two distinct methods, nor would it be any trouble to a man who minded his work; he would be simply ringing the same method twice, only backwards.

J. W. WASHBROOK.

PARKER'S TWELVE-PART PEAL.

SIR,—A variation of Parker's twelve-part peal with 7th the observation, was rang at Wolverhampton on March 13th, 1895, transposed by yours truly,

JAMES E. GROVES.
East Place, Retreat Street, Wolverhampton.

LONDON.—On Monday, August 24th, at the residence of Mr. A. Hughes, 2520 Grandsire Triples (taken from Taylor's Bob-and-Single peal) in 1 hr. 24 mins. W. Cooter, 1-2; A. Barkus (conductor), 3-4; M. A. Wood, 5-6; A. Hughes, 7-8.

CURRENT TOPICS.

What ho there! Two Richmonds in the field? A facetious acquaintance said to me this week.—Well, we had PICKWICK and SAM WELLER already on the staff; now we have JINGLE; is JOB TROTTER to follow? I at once rebuked my friend for his gross irreverence. He thought he was in for an appreciated joke, but I put on my spectacles, and then withered him by a look. He won't be facetious again just yet. I might as well give a caution here to those who think it easy to enjoy a little cheap—but feeble—wit. Don't play with tools having sharp edges, else the probability is that you may get lacerated. "THE BELL NEWS" staff, whether literary or non-literary, are not to be played with, I can tell you. We are open-hearted, agreeable, festive people, fond of all our readers and supporters, given to hospitality so far as we are able, anxious to make as many new friends as we can, but still loving our old ones more and more; but we demur to languid frivolity. A little honest humour is another thing; but let us have no objectionable personalities.

The new adjunct to the staff seems to know his book, and appears to be one of those who have a preference for being in what is called "the thick of it." He evidently is all there. As a fact, I assure those who do me the honor of reading my weekly (not weakly) lucubrations, that our new fellow-labourer in the cause I have never seen, therefore I can speak about him more easily. His sketches harbours the idea that he ever carries about with him that munition of war called a "shillelagh," ready to twirl it at the first opportunity. I don't say that he is a "tread-on-the-tail-of-my-coat" sort of person, but I cannot help suggesting that it will be sensible for all of us to regard his sartorial continuations with respect, and endeavour to keep on his blind side, if he has one. Nineteenthly, my brethren—as they say on the marshes—I am glad to assure you that our friend "JINGLE" has an immensely favourable opinion of yours truly, therefore he deserves your kind regards, if only for my sake.

I hope he will be inclined to take on some of the work palmed upon me. You who think how nice it is to be an Editor, or a "sub.," just come and have a look at the private correspondence. If the Foreign Secretary has as much, he is an underpaid individual. Here a man is screwed to the desk or table for eight hours—rather more sometimes—at a stretch, answering questions. He always has to reply to correspondents good-humouredly and courteously. I don't think I could keep it up. Now and then a correspondent says—"Perhaps 'Plain Speaker' will give me the desired information." Yes; I will when I can. But let me tell intending correspondents, that I object to put myself to any inconvenience when the information required does not apply in some way to ringing. If you want to know anything about natural history, or Jupiter's belt, or the missing link, or the market price of treacle, write to The Times. And don't ask impertinent questions. These sort of enquiries I shall after this week ask to hand over to "JINGLE."

I did not request the favour of making pertinent inquiries only, without reason. Here is a recent sample:—

"Dear Mr. PLAIN SPEAKER.—Hearing certain rumours, I should like to ask you privately if it is truth that the Editors of 'THE BELL NEWS' are practical ringers."

This is only half the question. The other half is to follow—impertinence repeated. I tell my correspondent that the word "privately" is entirely absent from my vocabulary. My answer to this is—The Editor and all his fellow-laborers in the good old cause of "THE BELL NEWS" are not mere ringers only. I don't think there is one of them but myself who has not composed and called peals. I have rung peals, but not lately, because physical causes prevent. The "rumours," whether certain or uncertain, can go and hang for all I care. The next question is:—

"Would you also tell me if 'THE BELL NEWS' office is a Trades' Union Office, whether the compositors employed therein are paid the wages required by the London Trades Union."

Now I had a good mind to publish this correspondent's name and address, but the chief wouldn't consent. I ask those of my friends in whose sight I have found favour to express by letter to me, not for publication, their disgust and abhorrence of such inquisitorial—well, cheek. My answer to this part of the question has not been gained without enquiry, because I am not a printer, and know nothing of these matters. "THE BELL NEWS" office is on the list of respectable and fair offices issued by the London Trades Union of printers; the proprietors of our paper pay the wages required by such Trades Union to the very full, and in some cases actually more. Let not this correspondent enquire of me again upon anything. I have done with him.

Now to something agreeable. What do you all think of the profile of good old Edmund Chandler last week. I thought it an excellent portrait, because I had seen the original photograph at the office. When the number was distributed to the members of my society, it created quite a furore. One rather noisy but good-humoured ringer, who hails from the far end of Suffolk, was quite enthusiastic about it. "Bless his old picter," he cried; and "Well, blow me tight; I wonder how many rabbits the old chap's killed in his lifetime?"

I noticed the report of the meeting at Airedale of the Yorkshire Association. You done a good stroke of business on that occasion, brother Yorkshiremen. Just what anyone would have, under existing circumstances, have expected. The meeting resolved to "use their utmost efforts to extend the circulation of this valuable paper." Such efforts will I am sure be successful. "THE BELL NEWS" each week contains matter not only for profit, but for correction and reproof; and at the same time gives us, each in our turn, opportunities for giving vent to that grand characteristic of Englishmen—a good grumble. This last feature is worth the money twice over.

So the St. Mary's company at the modern Athens have in a practical manner expressed their sense of the efforts of my dear friend C. L. Routledge. Now my N.B. friends, you have got on well in the science, but don't halt. Keep moving. You have started on a long journey, the end of which you'll never reach. But the progress is pleasing, and the farther you go the better you will like it. There will be many difficulties to get over, but these will give zest and piquancy to the undertaking. At the same time don't forget that you will be looked upon as the pioneers of the Art in Scotland, and the Exercise will expect to hear of your crusade for its extension, and the number of your proselytes.

PLAIN SPEAKER.

THOMAS BLACKBOURN,
CHURCH BELL HANGER, AND TUNER.
SALISBURY, WILTSHIRE.

THOMAS BLACKBOURN is a practical Ringer, and having had considerable experience in Church Bell hanging and tuning, with confidence solicits the patronage of the Clergy, Churchwardens and Ringers generally.

T. B. has devoted a great deal of attention to the fixing of Clock Hammers used for striking the hours and quarters on Church Bells. These are sometime placed in awkward and dangerous positions, even by Church Clock Makers.

T. BLACKBOURN'S experience enables him to affix these hammers, with their accompanying levers in a most accurate manner, preventing any danger to the bell frame or clock. He will be glad to advise on clocks as well as bells.

The Ellacombe Chime Hammers fixed. Sole Fixer of Salisbury's Apparatus for Silent practice. Handbells supplied. Bells weighed in the tower at a small cost.

A PEAL OF 362,880 GRANDSIRE CATERS, 6d.
Contains the full extent of changes on nine bells. Forwarded Post Free, on receipt of 7d By James Hewett, 16, Chape Row, Gosport.

The Bell News & Ringers' Record.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 29, 1896.

THAT complaint which has been termed "ringers' apathy" never has been known to put in an appearance when peal-ringing is concerned. No matter how callous a ringer may be with regard to other matters, he is known to be vastly interested in the performances of 5000 changes and upwards. It may be objected that this is not as it ought to be, but the fact certainly remains, palpable and conclusive. In all probability there are among our readers those who never look beyond the peal-records; who never cut open their copies in the manner recommended last week by our popular contributor; with a perusal of "the peals" their interest ceases. It is no one's duty perhaps to object to this. It may with accuracy be said that a reader who has secured his weekly copy and paid for it, is at perfect liberty to do what he pleases with it—to put it in the fire without reading it at all if he likes. No one will question his right for one moment. But the philosophy—or want of it—of such a course will not be commended. In London we often see people rush towards a newspaper depot with feverish anxiety. Hardly have they secured the object of their desires, when the news sheet is nervously opened at the point where one particular column may be scanned, which apprises the reader of the latest betting and state of the odds. That is all he wishes to know, and then the newspaper, which may bear a very high character among press organs, and contain reviews and articles by men of great intelligence, is discarded as of no more use.

We do not want to compare the anxiety of a ringer eager to see the peal-records with that unhealthy excitement suffered by a betting-man. But there is a similar failure of interest, beyond the one prominent thing. And it is an admitted evil. We would like to see ringers more "many-sided" than they are; more "all-round" men in concerns of the Exercise. Peal-ringing should not be the beginning and ending of everything. Ringers will ever maintain its importance, and act rightly in so doing. Our contention is merely that some interest should be centred upon other questions as well—questions of moment to our very existence as Church officials.

TOUCH CORRECTION.—In the report of the quarter-peal of Stedman Triples, rung at Long Eaton, which appeared last week, the name of the ringer of the 3rd should have been R. Hickton.

* * It is impossible to guarantee the appearance of touches in the current number. They will be taken in order of date as far as possible, and in the future efforts will be especially made to prevent their undue postponement. If they come to our office early there is greater chance of their appearance.

Cricket.

RODMERSHAM, KENT.

The first cricket match between the Rodmersham Society and the local cricket club was played on Saturday, August 15th, and resulted in a victory for the bob-makers by forty-seven runs. An excellent game was witnessed, the club batting first making sixty-six. The ringers' start was disastrous, but upon Messrs. Dixon and Sellen becoming associated the rot was stopped, and the result was a certainty. The former played stylish cricket for his not out innings of fifty, and the latter player gave an exhibition of rapid scoring, compiling thirty-one of his forty-two in fifteen minutes. The veteran J. G. Grensted also batted well.

After the game the teams sat down to an excellent spread provided by Mr. and Mrs. Day, to which the combatants, as usual, did full justice. Mr. J. Dixon and Mr. J. G. Grensted were in the chair and vice-chair respectively. Upon the removal of the cloth the usual loyal toasts were honored, and harmony became the order of the evening, songs being contributed by the majority present. Mr. J. Dixon submitted the toast of "Our Opponents," which was well received, musical honors being accorded. Mr. P. W. Wall (captain) responded. Then followed the toast of the evening, "Success to the Rodmersham Change-Ringing Society," which was given by Mr. P. W. Wall, who testified to the good work done in the parish by the ringers, and the splendid ringing they were all delighted to listen to. The Hon. Sec. acknowledged, thanking Mr. Wall for his kindly references to the excellence of their striking. The health of Mr. Henry Wood (late treasurer) was then given by Mr. C. Millway, who referred to the painstaking way in which he had worked for the Society. He, the speaker, thought it good of Mr. Wood to take the trouble to come down from London specially for the supper, and he would ask them to shew their appreciation of Mr. Wood's services by drinking his health and wishing him every success. Musical honors were accorded.

Mr. Wood, in reply, thanked the members for the kind and cordial manner in which the toast of his health had been given and received. He was glad to hear they had won the cricket match so handsomely, and with regard to what he had done for the Society, he could only say it was a pleasure to him to do what he was able, but he would venture to remind them that one could not ring the lot. He hoped they would keep up their practices, and thus retain the position they could now claim, that of being the best six bell band in the county. He also hoped they would try and obtain another pair of bells to bring the peal up to the octave, they would then have a good opportunity to become a first class Major band.

Other toasts were those of Rev. W. J. Mellor, late Vicar (given by Mr. S. Beach), and Rev. T. C. Boughton Leigh (given by Mr. H. Wood). A vote of thanks was unanimously accorded Mr. and Mrs. Day for the excellent arrangements made for the supper.

The company dispersed just before midnight, after singing "Auld Lang Syne."

INGHAMSHIRE. By ALFRED HENEGE COCKS.
M.A., Ch. Ch., Oxford; F.Z.S., F.R.G.S., Great Marlow,
Bucks. With many Illustrations.

MESSRS. JARROLD & SONS have pleasure in announcing the
early publication by subscription of this most interesting and important work. It will contain an account of all the Church Bells in Buckinghamshire, with everything relating to their history, and can be discovered. Full accounts of all the Founders whose bells
hang in the various towers will be given, special reference being made to the Bell-founders whose works were located in the County
including the Wokingham and Reading Foundries, where so large a number of Church bells in Buckinghamshire were cast. The work was undertaken at the instigation of the late J. C. L. Stahl Schmidt, Esq., author of "Surrey Bells and London Bell-founders," "The Church Bells of Kent," "Herts," etc., and the fact that the author
had the benefit of the kind assistance and advice of this well-known
campanologist may be mentioned as some guarantee of the scope and nature of the present work. Mr. Stahl Schmidt wrote the author,
that in his opinion "Bucks will make a particularly interesting county," and he repeated this opinion in a subsequent letter. The
"Church Bells of Buckinghamshire" will consist of about 600 pages to be handsomely illustrated with 24 full-page plates of mediæval letter-
ings, founders' marks, etc., found on Bells still existing in the County
and numerous figures—some of them being peculiar to Bucks—will be inserted in the text. The 8vo. Edition is limited to 350 copies, and will be offered to subscribers before the day of publication at 25s. nett. The Larger Edition, Royal 4to, is limited to 50 copies, and will be subscribed at 45s. The prices will be raised on the day
of issue should any copies remain unsold.

THE PARISH CHURCH OF ST. JOHN THE BAPTIST, CRAWLEY, SUSSEX.

The parish church of Crawley is a very ancient and interesting building. As early as 1100 A.D. there appears to have been a small church here, probably with a wooden tower and short spire. About the year 1450 a great alteration was made. The church was heightened and enlarged, a chancel was added, and a massive tower built. The roof of the church is of old carved oak, and curiously enough a roof almost exactly similar is still to be found in an old house not far from the church. For some years the church passed through a period of degradation and neglect; the tower was used as a common day school, and in the year 1879 the whole fabric except the tower was found to be in a dilapidated condition. About that year more than £4000 was expended in putting the church and churchyard into first-rate order. A north aisle and colonnade was added, a new chancel built, and the whole of the chancel fitted with carved oak, most of it the work of the present Rector, the Rev. J. B. LENNARD. In the year 1880 a ring of eight bells was placed in the tower, the founders being Gillett and Bland, of Croydon. Since that time the Crawley Society have rung upwards of fifty peals in all the well-known methods, including Stedman Triples, Double Norwich Court Bob Major, Superlative Surprise, Cambridge Surprise, Cumberland Surprise and London Surprise: also the first peal of Alliance Major ever rung, as well as the first peal of New Cumberland Surprise Major ever rung in the county of Sussex. In this tower also was rung on December 26th, 1894, the longest peal of Superlative Surprise Major, consisting of 9312 changes. All these peals were recorded among the usual records in this paper.

Our very neat picture of Crawley church, though somewhat reduced, will be most interesting to readers as being the work of the present Rector, the Rev. J. B. LENNARD, M.A., himself a ringer. We have intentionally printed this separately, because it has been thought that many of our friends would be likely to preserve it either by a frame, or in a prominent place in their portfolios of "BELL NEWS" illustrations. The interest in the picture will be accentuated by the knowledge of the artist.

LEA GREEN, NEAR MATLOCK.

A new 8-day turret clock and bell has just been erected by Messrs. W. Potts and Sons, of Leeds and Newcastle-on-Tyne, clock manufacturers, at the residence of J. B. Marsden Smedley, Esq., J.P., which is great boon to the inhabitants of that locality, the bell being heard at a great distance. The time is shown upon two external dials, and the clock has got the compensation pendulum attached for variations of temperature, and all the latest improvements inserted.

STRATFIELD MORTIMER, BERKS.

RE-OPENING OF THE CHURCH OF ST. JOHN THE EVANGELIST.

The re-opening of this church took place on Sunday, August 23rd, by the Bishop of Reading. The church formerly consisted of a nave, chancel, low tower, and north porch only, but it has been considerably more than doubled in size so as to meet the growing need of the parish, at the sole expense of Mr. R. Benyon, of Englefield Park, lord of the Manor of Mortimer. A new chancel, 26 feet 6 inches by 30 feet 9 inches, a semi-circular apsidal baptistry at the west end of the old nave, now forming a south aisle; a new nave, 25 feet 6 inches by 49 feet, and a new western tower containing a ring of six finely toned bells, tenor 8 cwt. in A, the "go" of the bells being all that could be desired. The ringing on the above occasion was entrusted to six members from the lower church, viz., H. Cox, T. Neville, K. Mason, H. Burson, W. Jerrom, and A. Pye, who rang some good Grandsire Doubles, etc. The bells were cast by Mears and Stainbank. There are now two altars; the high altar is of oak, arcaded and richly carved, and over it is a large triptych, also of oak, carved, painted, and gilt, measuring over all 18 feet 6 inches, and 6½ feet high, containing in the centre the Adoration of the Magi, and Shepherds, treated as one subject; and on the shutters forming the wings, the Annunciation, the Presentation in the Temple, the Flight into Egypt, and our Lord among the doctors, with the arms of the Archdiocese of Canterbury and the diocese of Oxford in the upper portion, the whole painted with reverent care by Mr. N. H. J. Westlake, F.S.A. Above this is a window of five lights, with detached marble shafts tied to the wall window with moulded armulets, and carrying the inner order of arches. This is filled with the Crucifixion, with SS. Mary and John, David and Isaiah in the upper tier. In the lower tier the four Evangelists writing their Gospels; and in the centre, under the Crucifixion, the Agnus Dei and the four rivers of Eden, the work of Mr. C. E. Kempe, and the gift of Mr. and Mrs. J. Herbert Fellowes, of Mortimer Lodge. Mr. S. Westlake has also painted, as a reredos, over the side altar, the "Supper at Emmaus." These paintings are on gold grounds, richly raised and diapered, within moulded and carved oak frames, tracery, and cusping, and are full of detail and colour decoration, from the designs of the architect. There is a handsome rood screen of oak, arranged on a double plane of shafts and traceries, and varied detail carried on a septum wall of stone, with gates of wrought iron and copper. The lectern, stalls, litany desk, and pulpit are also of English oak, the latter shafted, linen panelled, and carried on a base of red Corsehill stone, with steps of the same material. The whole of the work has been admirably done by Messrs. Wheeler Brothers, Builders, Reading, from the designs and drawings of Mr. E. Swinfen Harris, F.R.I.B.A., of London and Stony Stratford.

GORING, OXON.

On Bank Holiday, August 3rd, the wedding took place between Mr. Waring and Miss Dunn (an Assistant School Mistress at the National school). The ringers decided to ring, although in doing so, some had to put aside other enjoyments; but as Mr. Waring is one of the choristers, and Miss Dunn having been at the school ten years, the ringing could not be omitted, and so all the older members of the band rang a 720 of Bob Minor. And in the evening, 720 Oxford Treble Bob Minor was rung, the striking being perfect, and after a little more ringing, the bells were lowered. J. Carter, 1; C. Tidbury, 2; W. Aldridge, 3; J. Bower, 4; J. Alexander, 5; G. Wilson (conductor), 6. The wedding party left the village by a later train than the ringers had expected.

MUSINGS

BY AN OLD CONTRIBUTOR.

I was very much pleased with "THE BELL NEWS" the week before last. During the seventeen years of its existence I do not remember to have seen any other single number from which I have derived so much pleasure in its perusal, not even excepting those that have contained within its columns one, and sometimes more than one, of my own crude efforts.

Being the Adam of "Ringers' Outings," I was especially pleased to see the growth and virility of my numerous progeny. Being but a very youthful College Youth at that time, I felt very diffident, having produced my bantling, as to whether it would find sufficient favour in the eyes of so august a personage as an Editor, as to be thought worthy of the honours of print. I therefore suggested to my two fellow "outers," both of whom were "Ancient" College Youths, one alas! now no more, that the lucubration should be sent to "THE BELL NEWS" by one or both of themselves as being names likely to carry weight with the potentate alluded to. Both, however, for various reasons declined to do so, and with a becomingly, as I thought, modest and deprecatory note, I posted the MS.

I was gratified a post or two later by receiving an appreciative letter from the Ogre, thanking me, and saying that it was the very thing he was hankering for. The small seed thus sown has, happily, been succeeded by a very prolific and fruitful crop.

Moral.—If you have got anything that may possibly be of interest to other members of the Exercise, beyond your own immediate sphere, send it on to "THE BELL NEWS."

Though having visited a very large portion of the attainable parts of the world—I bar the North and South Poles—I have seen but little of my native land. I have, however, for long had a great desire to see Oxford, so on a recent Thursday took advantage of the splendid facilities offered by the G.W.R. Co., had a half day off the tread-mill, and at the modest expenditure of three shillings, was enabled to spend about seven hours wandering among the beauties of the historic seat of learning. Unfortunately, a sudden business engagement prevented a friend from joining me as pre-arranged, so I performed my pilgrimage solus.

It is not for me to attempt to describe those beauties of Oxford which are of course familiar to hundreds of my readers and is moreover far beyond my modest powers of description to do so. I can only express my very vivid pleasure and delight at all I saw, and the courtesy received from the several attendants, gate-keepers, and others whom I encountered.

My pleasure however, at the very full and interesting number of "THE BELL NEWS" I have alluded to was somewhat clashed when I saw that I had missed, by one day only, hearing the peal of Stedman Caters rung on Christ Church Cathedral bells on Wednesday; the pleasures of my visit would have been greatly enhanced had the two events happened to coincide.

I am sure the portrait of Mr. Edmund Chandler, the old Norfolk ringer, was received with interest and satisfaction for more reasons than one. Although the old gentleman is not an exponent of the higher branches of our Art, his great age and handsome presence, coupled with the fact of the kindly recognition of Her Majesty the Queen, renders him a very worthy member to receive the honours of our gallery.

Another notable point is that, I hear, this issue inaugurates a new departure, i.e., the portrait number without, as hitherto, any extra charge. Heretofore the double price has been a matter of financial necessity, the cost of production hardly being recouped by the extra charge; but "THE BELL NEWS," moving with the times, has, at very considerable outlay, so improved its machinery, as to enable these beautiful portraits to be produced at home. In my humble opinion, the result fully justifies the expenditure, and also reflects much credit upon those members of the staff of our paper who are more directly responsible for the manipulation of the new machinery.

It may be permitted an outsider to hope that the enterprise of the proprietors will meet with due reward by a corresponding increase of circulation.

I am glad to see "Plain Speaker" is again en evidence. His absence one week created a suspicion that his work was done. More power to his elbow, and may his—moral—shadow never grow less, though I think his physical shadow might be lessened, with some comfort to himself and advantage to his tailor.

The jinglings of "Jingle" fall very pleasant upon the ear, his first "touches" are, I think, very musical ones, evidently his own composition, and showing much merit for first performances. I hope he has plenty more such in store.

I am disappointed at the somewhat meagre dimensions of the George Newson Memorial Fund. I had anticipated that it would have been a "record."

The little woodcuts of Stockport Church and East Bergholt bell-house I also hail as a happy departure. I trust we may have many like them. Such small mementoes are as salt to the meat, increases, so to speak, the local flavour wonderfully. We all love our own, and shall look forward to our weekly banquet with increased zest, hoping that our own individual appetite may be tickled at the next spread.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT AMALGAMATED SOCIETY.

The monthly ringing meeting of this society was held on Saturday, August 29th, at Drighlington, and was fairly-well attended by members and ringing friends from Rothwell, Wakefield, Tong, Armley, Bramley, Bradford, Leeds, Holbeck, Horbury, Coggeshall (Essex), Headingley, St. Michael's, and the local company. Tower-bell ringing was indulged in in the following methods: Bob Major, Treble Bob, Grandsire Triples, and Killamarsh (Minor); during the last the tenor-rope broke, and stopped further ringing on tower bells. On adjourning to The Spotted Cow the usual vote of thanks to the Vicar, wardens, and local company for the use of the bells, etc., was proposed by J. Whitaker, seconded by J. Naylor, and passed. Armley was announced as the place for the September meeting. The remainder of the evening was spent in handbell ringing. Any members (six-bell ringers), wishing to join in a peal next meeting-day, the 26th inst., are invited to forward their names and methods desirous of ringing, to the secretary, at their earliest convenience.

THE SNOWDON MEMORIAL WINDOW.

The bells in the canopy are shown swinging in almost every position, and their tongues, ropes, and wheels all carefully drawn in their correct places. Three transverse views of bells are given in the base, showing them "at rest," and when on the point of "setting" at "hand and back-stroke." A special endeavour has been made to correctly represent everything now in use in change-ringing, including even the "stays" and "sliders."

Across the three lights run Gothic scrolls bearing the words—"O Praise God in His Holiness"—"Praise Him in the sound of the trumpet"—"Praise Him on the Strings and Pipe"—"Praise Him on the Loud Cymbals." The position of the concluding verse of the psalm—"Let everything that hath breath praise the Lord,"—brings the eye to the group of angels who form the leading feature of the window. These are portrayed offering praise on trumpet, strings, and pipe, the central figure carrying the last-named text. In the upper part of the middle light the heavens are shown opening, and permitting the sacrifice of praise to ascend, whilst hovering above is the emblem of the Holy Spirit sanctifying the offering.

As already stated, this group of angels forms the leading subject of the Window from the ordinary point of view, but the various details of the "loud cymbals" carry the mind further, and give a double interest to the whole. The colouring is rich, and, with the quiet northern light, very effective.

The dedication brass, which is of solid bell metal, is strongly embedded in the stonework at the foot of the window, as shown on the engraving.

THE "JASPER SNOWDON" MEMORIAL WINDOW.

We have much pleasure in giving our readers a view of this window, erected by the change-ringers of England in Ilkley Church, in memory of the late JASPER WHITFIELD SNOWDON. If we find that a request is being made for copies of this picture on suitable paper for framing we shall be pleased to comply with such desire. A brief description of the details of this work of Art will be found on the opposite page,

Ringers' Outings.

THE MIDDLESBROUGH BRANCH OF THE DURHAM AND NEW-CASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.—Having promised to Ripon friends so far back as last year to look them up again soon, six members of the Middlesbrough branch of this association took advantage of the race-week holidays, and on Wednesday, August 19th, left Middlesbrough by excursion, reaching Ye Ancient City shortly after 11 a.m. Making at once for the Cathedral of SS. Peter and Wiltred, where it was expected to meet the local men, we found a band from Thorne, near Doncaster, in possession. On looking round, we found that the Thorne contingent were in full force, but were told several of their number were only novices in the Art. We, however, tried to raise sufficient for a course of Royal, which, after one or two attempts, had to be abandoned. Here another individual turned up, who, after looking on sometime, asked if we rang Stedman, saying that he came from Oxford, and, on being asked if he belonged to the well-known Diocesan Guild, replied in the affirmative. We thought we'd found a prize-packet, and as the men from Thorne did not seem inclined to prolong their stay, we solicited the last-comer to take a rope in Stedman, one of the Thorne men kindly volunteering to put the tenor in for us. Our latest arrival however began to excuse himself rather freely, which seemed strange after inspiring us with his peal-ringing exploits, and began to talk of "Stoney" being very nice. He at last consented to try a course on handbells, which soon convinced us he was not a ringer. As matters stood, it was useless remaining any longer in the tower with only seven men and a dummy. After getting into the Market place, this entertaining young fellow would have us sup with him, and of course, not thinking him so bad after all, consented, and finding a suitable place, refreshments were ordered and served, when, behold, our Oxford youth was heard to exclaim in a surprised tone, "What a fool I am, I've got no money, changed my trousers, left my purse!" Matters were now looking serious, our fellows began thinking that they were being had, but rather than have any unseemly behaviour, one of our band came to Mr. Welcher's rescue, and forthwith dispensed with him, who before going was very profuse in his apologies and promises to make it his duty to look us up in the afternoon and amend matters, but the sponge-cake and new-milk-reared young bantling didn't. Things were not going over rosy, so after losing our Thorne friend (who no doubt would have some spicy news for his companions) we consoled ourselves by having a jolly good tuck-out, and afterwards took seats by wagonette for Fountains Abbey. Here we were well repaid for our journey, although the weather was anything but sunshine. It would be interesting to note that the good people of Ripon had seized the opportunity afforded them by the commencement of the sixtieth year of the reign of our Gracious Queen Victoria and the synchronising with that event of the completion of the one thousandth and tenth year which has passed since the City was founded, the event being indeed a sort of procession of the ages from the time of the first Roman invasion to the Victorian era. This was a most brilliant and imposing sight, and somewhat allayed our depressed feelings. Bye-and-bye we came across our Ripon friends, and after making up a band for a 5000 of Major, were fain to drag ourselves away from such scenes as the Curtal Friar and Robin Hood, living whist, and hosts of other old English games about to be re-enacted, and had no sooner began to retrace our steps towards Ripon when a very heavy shower compelled us to seek shelter, and so incessant did it rain, that when we did get back we found time would not permit us attempting a peal. We however brought round a fairly well struck 1024 of Kent Treble Bob Major, and afterwards tried a touch of Stedman which unfortunately was lost near the end. The bells were then lowered, and after having tea, the rest of the evening was spent in a convivial manner, and in viewing the city which was gaily illuminated, whilst some of our younger members were busy tripping the light fantastic to the strains of a military band. Although our outing was rather disappointing from a ringing point of view, yet taking everything into consideration, the time passed only too quickly. The visitors wish to thank Messrs. Metcalfe and Pick for making arrangements; also the Dean for kindly allowing them to ring. B.

KETTERING, NORTH HANTS.—The ringers of this parish church had their annual outing on Saturday, August 29th, the rendezvous being Leicester. The party, ten in number, met at the station at 8 a.m. with the exception of one, who, in true ringers' style, had to do a "trot" to catch the train at 8.18. They reached their destination about 9.15., where they were considerably met by Mr. Stephen Cooper, on behalf of the Leicester ringers. Eleven o'clock found the party at St. George's church, where there is a peal of six, which were soon set going to the tunes of Treble Bob and Stedman. Their attention was then turned to courses of a different nature, which were rattled off in good style at Mr. Cooper's restaurant, in High street. From there they wended their way to St. Saviour's, a splendid peal of eight; tenor about 26 cwt., where they were met by Messrs. Cleal, Willson, Buttery and Cotton. Stedman Triples, Treble Bob Major and Plain Bob Major, occupied the time till five o'clock, at which time the party set out for St. Margaret's, where Caters was the order. The evening was spent in conviviality with the local ringers, handbells being the chief amusement. Touches were rung in different methods, the most noteworthy of which was a course of Stedman Doubles with Mr. Cleal ringing 1, 2, 3 and 4. The company wish to thank the local ringers for making such perfect arrangements for their outing, and trust that it will not be the last spent with such genial companions.

THE ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY, KILDWICK-ON-CRAVEN, YORKS.—The members of this Society had their annual outing on Monday, August 10th. Along with a few friends, they started from home about six a.m., going by Keighley and Oxenthorpe, where a short stay was made for luncheon. Thence a drive forward to Hebden Bridge, all being charmed by the grand scenery en route, another slight stay was had here and some handbell ringing was done. Thence we drove forward to Todmorden, where we stayed about two hours for dinner, and by permission of the ringers of the church, a 720 of Violet Minor was rung on the back six. W. Mosley, 1; S. Tillotson, 2; J. Boddy (conductor), 3; C. Brown, 4; C. Holmes, 5; J. Hill, 6. Then driving forward to Burnley, we stayed for another bait for the horses, and had our tea; leaving on our homeward journey about 8 p.m., by Nelson and Colne. We arrived home about 11.30 p.m., and gave a short course on the handbells, and then dispersed, all thoroughly well pleased with our day's outing. S.T.

THE ALL SAINTS SOCIETY, FULHAM.—The members of this society had a most successful outing on Saturday, August 29th, Great Marlow being the place selected. A start was made from Paddington at 9.15, arriving at Great Marlow punctually at 10.40. The party, twelve in number, were met at the station by Mr. W. Yates, who conducted them to the tower, where the bells were soon set going to touches of Stedman and Grandsire Triples, Plain Bob and Treble Bob Major. After an hour's ramble through Quarry Wood, a move was made to The Jolly Brewers, where host J. C. Truss had provided an excellent dinner. Afterwards Mr. J. Driver in a few chosen words, proposed the health of the President of the All Saints' society (Rev. W. C. Muriel), who with his usual generosity had provided funds for the dinner, the proposal meeting with a hearty response. Ringing and boating, etc., occupied the afternoon, and after tea a good touch of Stedman Triples was rung as a wind up, and the bells were then lowered in peal. The evening was devoted to harmony, Miss Truss presiding at the piano. Some good songs were well rendered. A vote of thanks to the vicar of Marlow for the use of the bells, and to Messrs. Yates, Truss (2), and Cox for their efforts for the comfort of the party, was proposed by Mr. Elson, seconded by Mr. Green, and carried unanimously. Mr. A. W. Truss responded. The proceedings were brought to a termination by the singing of "Auld Lang Syne," the members arriving in London at 10.40.

THE PEAL "APPENDIX, 1895," PRINTED BY the Central Council Committee, may be obtained post free, with the Report on Calls, on application to the Hon. Secretary, Rev. H. Earle Bulwer, Stanhoe Rectory, King's Lynn, enclosing 7½d. in stamps.

HANDBELLS.—For Sale a Chromatic set of 19 Bells from C, size 15 to F sharp, size 5, in perfect order, 10 of the set (including the 5 largest bells) quite new, £4 15s. net cash. W. A. CLARK, The Goldthorpe, Trafalgar-road, Moseley, Birmingham.

CURRENT TOPICS.

"Bell Houses!" The name seems strange, but I suppose it is quite correct. The authority is enough to assure us of that. We are all obliged to the Rev. Dr. Raven for letting these nice little pictures appear, accompanied by such pleasant descriptive matter. Some of you wonder how they can ring the bells in such a place. The "performances" at East Bergholt I believe beggars description. They ring the bells, not with ropes from Bermondsey or elsewhere, but with "handles," a sort of half-grindstone operation, I suppose. They have to stand, or sit, upon the frame of the bells. The method they ring is known to outsiders as "East Bergholt Agony."

"Why it's Parson Robinson's church!" says one ringer to another just before ringing for service last Sunday morning at a village church. "Ever bin there, Joe, then?" "Bin there, yes; rung a peal of Stidman there. Fine old gentleman he is too—and knows something." "What do you think of the picture of the church, Joe?" "Nobby," replied the other. "How they gets it into the paper beats me hollow. But there it's out of our line; they fellows brown to it in London." Here we had to commence ringing, so I heard no more.

A friend asks that the following may be placed in this column:—

"The ringers of the Cathedral will be pleased to receive and accommodate any ringers who may visit this city during the festival held here on the 18th, 19th, 20th, and 21st, and wish for a touch. Meet at the west entrance at 8, and on the 20th at 12, and any company that may come will be welcome to the use of the bells; or should part of a company arrive, the cathedral ringers will make them up any time from 11 a.m. till 5 p.m., or from 6 till 9 p.m.' Such was the invitation given in a recent number of this paper from our Ripon brothers. I think it sounds as if brotherly love and ringing enthusiasm has a place amongst them, and no doubt any ringers visiting them would find it so—something different from what myself and a brother string experienced once, namely, on visiting a country town where is a splendid ring of twelve, and never having a chance for a pull on that number, thought it would be a treat indeed; and hearing that there would be some ringing at a certain time, made our way to the tower. On arriving in the belfry, we found one or two waiting. So after having inspected the bells and belfry, we waited patiently for what should come next; eventually, five or six turned up, all looking suspiciously at us as if we had come for the ropes. We still waited, and at last enough arrived—enough for them evidently! for they didn't seem to care for more than ten, not a word being spoken to ask us as to whether we should like a pull on twelve, which our fingers itched for. However, after having a few touches of Caters, and one or two of them setting their bell from some unknown cause, we were asked if we should like to ring, which of course we were very pleased to do, but not a word about twelve could we hear. Would that the spirit of the Ripon ringers prevailed in the country more than it does, and especially amongst those to whom we paid this visit."

Says the Daily Telegraph:—"Big Ben, it seems, has in no sense broken down. Messrs. E. Dent & Co. explain that the hammer connections in the belfry, which are exposed to the weather and have suffered therefrom, are under repair, and this causes an interruption of the striking. 'At present,' they add, 'we are dealing with the hour part, and the work on this will be completed in a few days, after which we shall take the quarters in hand. The clock has been showing the time continuously. The hours, silent now, will be heard again shortly, and then for another period the chimes will be silent. After this all will go on again as usual.' "

I should like to inform the writer of the foregoing paragraph, and all whom it may concern, that he is laboring under a vulgar but common mistake. "Big Ben" is not a clock, it is a bell—the hour bell at the Houses of Parliament. The bell was so named after Sir Benjamin Hall, First Commissioner of Works at the time.

PLAIN SPEAKER.

Correspondence.

While allowing the utmost freedom for the expression of opinion, it must never be considered that we are in any way bound to statements made by correspondents.

SIX-BELL METHODS.

SIR,—Will you kindly allow me space in this week's paper to say that I shall be very pleased to assist our worthy friend, Mr. J. J. Parker, in collecting up six-bell methods. I have nearly two hundred methods on six bells which I have collected, and hope to be able to publish them all before the close of the year, for the benefit of composers of new methods and six-bell ringers.

H. G. ROWE.

5, Foundry Terrace, Uxbridge.

SIR,—I notice in Mr. J. W. Washbrook's letter for August 29th that he states there are heaps of ringers who can ring anything on six bells, that even with the same amount of practice on eight would not be safe for a peal. Now I call this a slur on the six-bell ringers' talent. I am not a paid professional ringer, never professing to know more than others, but at the same time there are scores of six-bell men that could, if trained, like our friend J. W., and no doubt with less practice, strike and ring any method. Eight-bell ringers must not run away with the idea that because they are born with a silver spoon in their mouth that six-bell ringers are a lot of commonplace beings; if we are short of two bells, we are none the less short as regards ringing brains. Money makes the mare to go, likewise the bells.

E. J.

SIR,—Kindly allow me to inform my friends that I was not referring to eight-bell ringing; knowing the difference between the two, otherwise I should have distinguished it. I always acknowledge eight-bell ringing more interesting than six.

J. F. MALLABY.

A REQUEST.

SIR,—All communications intended for the society of St. Mary the Great, Cambridge, should be addressed to the society, as a notice in last week's "BELL NEWS" seems very misleading. Mr. Brighton is not a member of our society.

J. TAYLOR, Secretary.

A QUERY.

SIR,—The writer is one of a band of twelve ringers at East Crompton Church, Shaw, near Oldham, where there is a beautiful ring of six bells. We have consequently two sets who ring on alternate Sundays. The senior, or first set, have rung continuously together without change for over sixteen years (three have been here over twenty years). The object of my writing is to ask if this constitutes a record, and if not, what complete set or band of ringers can claim to have rung together without change or loss for so long together. If you yourself cannot answer this, will you kindly publish this letter, so that we may see if such has been exceeded. We may not have done a great deal in this time, but we claim to be able to ring a peal of seven methods and to strike as well as any ringers (on our own bells); but what is more, we have all learned to know each other and to respect each other. There is not one of us, whatever his station, but would greatly regret anything happening which would take him from those pleasant practices and Sunday ringings which have been such a source of satisfaction to us all. If we fail to establish a record of time, we hope to establish one in the harmony of our working together.

DUFFIELD, DERBYSHIRE.

There will be a garden party at Duffield Bank, near Derby, on Saturday, September 26th, from 2 to 5 o'clock, to which Mr. PERCIVAL HEYWOOD begs to invite ringers who are members of recognised societies. The bells of the parish church will be available from 2 till 9 o'clock.
