THE FUTURE TREND IN RINGING.

It has been usual in the first issue of this paper in the new year to devote this column to a survey of the general position of our art, as revealed by the records of the past twelve months, and the promise of the future. Since 1918, at any rate, there has ever been cause for optimism at the prospect of each coming year, and not only have these expressions been fully justified by events, but the Art and the Exercise have gained ground at an even greater pace than could have been anticipated. The year that has just closed has been no exception. Bell restorations and augmentations have been carried out at a highly satisfactory rate; ringing organisations have maintained or increased their membership, the standard of method ringing is steadily rising, and, surveyed as a whole, the year 1923 produced a gratifying advance all along the line, not the least marked feature being the evidence forthcoming in many directions of an increasing recognition in high ecclesiastical quarters of the status of ringers.

Leaving out of consideration the progress which has been revealed by the peal performances—although these are an important factor as showing, we think, an increased competence in the art which must, perforce, be reflected in the Sunday ringing—the future holds out every promise that as time goes on the office of the bell-ringer will become more and more securely established as a recognised service in the ministry of the Church and a definite part of Church organisation. This is what our ringing associations have been striving for for the last fifty years, and never were they nearer to the achievement of their desire than at the present time. Speaking generally, they have raised the type, both socially and intellectually, of the bell ringer, and not only have they long since removed former grounds of reproach, but they have brought events to a turn when not only do the clergy look up to ringers as a useful and essential adjunct to their body of church workers, but some among the Bishops are beginning to seek out our associations and bring them within the fold of diocesan organisation in something more than name.

And towards this end, we believe, events will march more rapidly than in the past. Ringers there are, of course, who would be content to remain, if they could, independent of any official connection with the Church; who would be satisfied as long as they had access to the bells for their own pleasure, giving in return their time to Sunday ringing. This view of a ringer's relation to the Church is, however, a disappearing one, and those who seriously contemplate the future of ringing must rejoice that it is so, for we believe that if ever danger from the outside threatens curtailment in the practice of our art, it is less likely to be successful if ringers are established as a definite and officially recognised part of Church organisation, than if our associations can be pointed to as societies existing merely to further the pleasures and facilitate the ambitions of those who ring the bells as a pastime and not as a part of the service of the Church.

SURPRISE METHODS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—In the recent correspondence on the above there are several points which require an explanation. I will endeavour to state them briefly:—

(1) Why didn't Mr. Carter take up this stand when Bristol first saw daylight and not wait till one association has rung 100 peals of it?

(2) Neither Mr. Craven nor Mr. James have yet proved that dodging 7-8 up is the same as dodging 7-8 down.

(3) The fact of the treble turning round when doing her whole pull behind seems to prove that she moves out of one dodging place into another.

(4) Why does Mr. Craven use an internal place in some of his methods when the treble leads and none when she is behind? Surely if one end is dead so is the other.

In conclusion, let me say that I am fully aware of the popularity of Bristol, one hears nothing but praise of it. Still my sympathies are with Mr. Carter who, though rather late in the day, points out that a lot of these 'Surprise' Methods do not fulfil the conditions laid down.—Yours faithfully,
'PLAIN RINGER.'

LLANDAFF & MONMOUTH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.INTERESTING PRESENTATIONS.

The annual meeting took place at Newport on Boxing Day, when a large gathering from both dioceses attended. The bells of both churches, All Saints and St. Woolos, were available before and after the meeting, and full advantage was taken of them. Service was held in All Saints' Church, the Vicar (the Rev. W. Williams, M.A.), officiating. Then followed tea in All Saints' Mission Rooms, which had been generously provided. At the conclusion of the tea, the Vicar announced that, before the business meeting commenced, there were one or two pleasing functions to be carried out, and called upon Mr. Evan Davies, the first Master of the Association, to come forward and perform the first.

Mr. Davies said how pleased he was to have the honour, in the name of and on behalf of the members of the Association, of asking Mr. J. W. Jones to accept a token of regard for services rendered during the past 21 years as hon. secretary. The gift took the form of a gold watch and chain, suitably inscribed. Mr. Davies read a letter from the Rev. Connop L. Price, regretting his inability to attend owing to engagements, and remarking that the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocese would ever owe Mr. Jones a debt of deep gratitude for what he had done in regard to bells and the promoting of change ringing.

Mr. Jones, who was very cordially received, said how grateful he was for the affection and goodwill shown him by the presentation.

Mrs. Jones was then presented with a silver cake stand for the help and encouragement which she had always given her husband in everything pertaining to ringing.

Mr. F. Atwell next made a presentation to Mr. Evan Davies, of Caerleon, who is about to leave the neighbourhood for his old home at Carmarthen, after serving 43 years as a schoolmaster as Caerleon. It was Mr. Davies who brought change ringing into that part of the country, and brought about the restoration of Caerleon bells by getting five old ones recast and augmented to a ring of eight. He taught everyone there to handle a bell, and the first peal was rung on the bells by all 'first pealers,' including the hon. secretary. The presentation took the form of a record of all peals rung by the Caerleon Society bound in book form, which also include the peals of the Llandaff and the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association. An umbrella was also presented to him.

The business meeting was then proceeded with, the Vicar in the chair.

The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows: Mr. J. Aldridge, Llandaff Cathedral, Master; Mr. J. W. Jones, hon. secretary; Mr. F. Atwell and Mr. C. Greedy, auditors; Mr. J. W. Jones and Mr. W. Bolton, representatives to the Central Council. Instructors' reports were received showing good progress at Abergavenny, formerly a call change tower.

The next annual meeting was fixed for December 26th at St. John's, Cardiff.

The next quarterly meetings will be held at Llanishen and Machen, respectively.

Quite a number of new members were elected, and on the proposition of Mr. Bolton, it was decided that a sub-committee, eight in number, be appointed to co-operate with the hon. secretary, and the following were chosen: Mr. Pitman, Aberavon; Mr. Cooke, Caerphilly; Mr. Taylor, Merthyr; Mr. Bolton, Cardiff; Mr. Phillips, Newport; Mr. Thompson, Chepstow; Mr. S. Jones, Caerleon; and Mr. Rackham, Abergavenny.

WELL-KNOWN SUSSEX RINGER'S DEATH.

The Crawley band has suffered yet another loss by the death of Mr. Alfred Douglas Mills, a well-known Sussex ringer. The deceased had been leader of the local band for over 20 years, and his death on Thursday, December 13th, at the age of 57 years, came as a shock to the many who knew him, despite the fact that he had been in indifferent health for some time owing to internal troubles. He was laid to rest at Crawley on Tuesday, December 18th, and a quarter-peal was rung at the Parish Church, with the bells fully muffled.

Born at Capel, Surrey, Mr. Mills was a member of the band that made history in six bell ringing many years ago in this little village with the Jordan family. Afterwards he left Capel to reside at Crawley, and became one of the band under Mr. J. Parker. He took part in the 9,312 Superlative Surprise Major, the then record length, in 1894. Half of this band have now passed away. The deceased kept no record of the peals he rang, but they must have exceeded the century, several of them being six bell peals in a variety of methods. This loss will be greatly felt.—R.I.P.

A peal of London Surprise at Feering on Saturday was specially arranged to enable W. Arnold to ring his first of London 'inside' before the close of the year, thereby enabling him to obtain his first in four methods in four months, viz., Cambridge, Superlative, Double Norwich and London. Great credit is due to him for the way in which he rang throughout the peal.

Mrs. H. Baker, of Frittenden, Kent, rang her first peal on October 21st, 1922. She scored three peals in 1922, and 'bagged' a dozen during 1923, making a total of fifteen in less than fifteen months from the date of her first peal. It will be interesting to know if this constitutes a record for a lady ringer.

On Christmas Eve, Mr. Sergt. J. Bennett and Mr. H. E. Audsley, who had spent a week-end peal ringing together, each rang his fiftieth peal for 1923, the former at Borden and the latter at Rainham.

A meeting of the Devizes branch of the Salisbury Guild will be held at Bradford-on-Avon to-morrow (Saturday), January 5th.

The meeting of the Wigan branch of the Lancashire Association, which was to have been held at Standish to-morrow has been postponed to January 12th, when Canon Elsee will unveil a peal board.

The annual meeting of the Royal Cumberland Youths has been fixed for February 9th at St. Martin-in-the-Fields.

Last Saturday a peal was rung at Ashted, Surrey, to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the reopening of the bells. The bells were recast in 1873, and hung in an oak frame by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, and are still in wonderful going order—a great credit to the founders. Two of the ringers in the peal, Messrs. John Wyatt and George Sayer, were members of the local band when the bells were opened on December 31st, 1873. Altogether a notable record.

With two men on the tenor, a peal has been rung at St. James' Church, Bermondsey, after a lapse of more than ten years. The young enthusiasts who have added another tower to their 'collection' are to be congratulated upon their keenness, but to drag a notoriously bad going ring of bells through a peal is scarcely the way in which to get them restored to proper ringing condition. We hope, however, it may prove otherwise at Bermondsey.

One hundred and forty years ago to-day a peal of 14,480 Bob Major was rung at St. Paul's, Oldham, in 8 hrs. 24 mins. A goodly performance for those days when, although long lengths were not unknown, bells did not always go so nicely as they do in these present years of grace.

Grandsire Major has gone altogether out of fashion, but our forefathers, limited in their choice of methods, were rather partial to it, and not a few long lengths were rung. A round eight thousand was scored at St. John's, Deritend, by St. Martin's Youths, on January 4th, 1794.

A peal, claimed as the first true peal of Norwich Court Bob in London, was rung at Bethnal Green on January 7th, 1788.

On January 6th, 1851, a peal of 7,524 Stedman Cinques was rung at Cripplegate.

The death of Henry Johnson took place on January 7th, 1890. Among other famous ringers whose death anniversary falls this week are James Barham, January 4th, 1818; Tom Reynolds, January 5th, 1912; Alfred W. Grimes, January 5th, 1917.

We are pleased to state that Mr. Walter Farley, who recently underwent an operation in Bristol Royal Infirmary, is going on very satisfactorily, and hopes to be taken home to Wells about January 7th.

GRANDSIRE ON SIXTEEN.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Referring to the interesting account of the 7,200 Kent Treble Bob Maximus rung at St. Martin's, Birmingham, in 1820, published in this week's 'Ringing World,' the following footnote to the peal in the peal book of Mr. Samuel Lawrence may be of added interest:—

DEATH OF MR. JAMES W. WASHBROOK. ONE OF THE GREATEST RINGERS OF ALL TIME.

The Exercise will learn with deep regret of the death, under tragically sudden circumstances, on Christmas Day, of Mr. J. W. Washbrook, of Manchester. Mr. Washbrook carried on a dairy business, and while out on his round on Christmas morning was seized with sudden illness, and died before medical aid could reach him.

James William Washbrook was one of the greatest ringers which the Exercise has ever known, and in the opinion of many, he was, in his prime, a man who in all round ability as ringer, conductor and composer, has never been excelled. Born at Oxford on July 27th, 1864, he was attracted to ringing when quite a boy, and rang his first peal in 1880. His extraordinary ability quickly began to make itself manifest, and in a few short years the Exercise recognised that it had in him a born genius. First within the ranks of the Oxford Diocesan Guild and then far outside it, James W. Washbrook was looked upon as the coming man, and quickly did he justify the early opinions formed of his skill.

As a ringer he has never been excelled, and some of his performances stand, even to-day, unrivalled, as they did five-and-twenty years ago. Whatever views may have been held upon the 17,024 Double Norwich Major, which he composed and conducted in 1899 at Kidlington, this much may, we think, be said. As a physical feat, Mr. Washbrook's performance in ringing an indifferently going 23 cwt. tenor for eleven hours and a quarter in such a method as Double Norwich Major is still unequalled. Longer lengths and longer times have since been rung, but for endurance the ringing of Kidlington tenor to that peal is a feat which has yet to be beaten.

But in the fifteen years before this, Mr. Washbrook's had been the guiding hand which had made much ringing history. Ringing in the Oxford Guild flourished as it never had before, and so great was his enthusiasm and the demand for his help, that in one year he rang no fewer than 121 peals—an achievement previously unheard of, and, we believe, only once since surpassed. Many record lengths were rung, the great year being 1888. On January 29th of that year he rang in 10,080 Double Norwich Major at Appleton; on February 5th, 12,041 Stedman Caters; and on April 11th, 13,265 Grandsire Caters on the same bells. Then, on the last day of the year, 13,054 Stedman Caters having meantime been rung at Cheltenham, he again took a band to Appleton and rang 15,041 Stedman Caters in 9 hrs. 16 mins. In 1892 he called 12,096 Double Norwich Major at Boyne Hill, Maidenhead, in an attempt for the extent with the tenors together. In this peal the ringer of the third was taken ill, and Mr. Washbrook not only kept the man in position while ringing his own bell faultlessly, but called the bells home true, at the shorter length. In 1896 he secured the then record peal of London Surprise (11,328) at Drayton, where in one day previously he had called a peal each of Double Norwich, Superlative and Cambridge—a remarkable achievement in those times. Among the big bell performances which he accomplished, probably the most outstanding was his ringing of the tenor at Wells Cathedral, a nearly three-ton bell, which he turned in to 5,000 of Treble Bob Royal, but there were numerous other cases where, upon dilapidated rings, he would succeed, by skill, coupled with a huge reserve of stamina—he was a man of extraordinary reach and muscles of whipcord—in bringing off a 'forlorn hope.' In 1899 Mr. Washbrook, to the great loss to ringing in England, removed to Arklow, Co. Wicklow, where he was engaged to train a band of ringers, and remained a considerable number of years. Although he was here severely limited in the scope of his ringing he yet made more history by being the first to ring two tower bells to a peal. He rang the third and fourth through more than one five thousand, and in calling a peal of Stedman Triples from these two bells, each of them over seven cwt., he achieved a feat unprecedented and still unsurpassed.

When he returned from Ireland, Mr. Washbrook took up his residence in Manchester, and in and around that district he gave valuable aid in forwarding the cause of ringing. He was a special friend to learners, and at Miles Platting especially, he will, for that reason, be greatly missed. Unfortunately Mr. Washbrook kept no exact record of his peals, which must have numbered well on toward a thousand. While in Lancashire he rang 86, in addition to others which he took part in in Cheshire, and in the Stoke district. The greater number, however, was rung with the Oxford Guild, and we hope that some means may be found of compiling the record of this truly great ringer.

While he was one of the giants of the belfry, Mr. Washbrook was also a wizard with figures. No matter how intricate the method, he was master of its theory as well as of its practice, and one has only to peruse his letters to the ringing Press of a quarter of a century and more ago to realise the depth of his knowledge. His peals of Stedman alone, mark him as one among the leaders of composition. But as with most men of genius, he had his lapses, due, perhaps, to an over confidence which sometimes comes to great men. But whatever the faults of his otherwise strikingly brilliant ringing career, James William Washbrook was among the greatest, if not the greatest of all ringers of all time.

Personally he was one of the most affable of men, with quiet manner. In the belfry he was without excitement, but always clear headed, confident and determined. He had a large family, and it was only natural that some of his boys should also become ringers. But he had a heavy blow in the war, in which three of his sons died fighting.

On the Saturday before his death Mr. Washbrook presided at a meeting of the Lancashire Association, and afterwards sent messages to several of his London friends—he was a member of the College Youths—by one who was present. Heartfelt sympathy will go out to Mrs. Washbrook and her family in the sad and unexpected loss which they have sustained. James W. Washbrook has gone from us, but he will never be forgotten by those who knew him, and who were helped by his skill and advice.

The funeral took place on Saturday. On Friday evening the body was carried into St. Mark's Church, where it remained until the next day. Here it was that the first part of the service was held, the prayers being read by the Vicar, while the Rev. Canon Elsee (President of the Lancashire Association) gave an address. The cortege then went on to Philip's Park Cemetery, where the interment took place. Four policemen ringers, of the Manchester Town Hall company, acted as bearers, and about 40 ringers took part in the funeral procession, most of the local towers being represented, while the vice-president of the Lancashire Association, and committeemen from Bolton and Walkden, were also present. The committal service was taken by the Vicar of St. Mark's and Canon Elsee, and at the close a course of Grandsire Caters was rung over the open grave by Messrs. J. Shaw 1-2, A. Barnes 3-4, S. Wood 5-6, F. Page 7-8, H. Chapman 9-10. Afterwards the bells at St. John's, Miles Platting, were rung muffled as a token of respect to one who was highly esteemed there and in many other districts.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION. WESTERN DIVISION.

A quarterly meeting of the Western Division was held at Shoreham on Saturday, December 22nd, twenty-four members attending from Heene, Henfield, West Tarring, Steyning, West Grinstead, Brighton, and members of the local band, together with Mr. F. W. Rogers (Portsea). Touches in methods from Grandsire to Cambridge Surprise were practised during the afternoon. At 5 o'clock the company adjourned to Street's Restaurant for tea, where they were met by the Rev. J. F. G. Glossop, Vicar of Shoreham, and the Rev. M. H. O. Brime, curate.

At the business meeting, the Vicar kindly took the chair, and the following new members were elected: The Rev. J. F. G. Glossop (hon. member), Major Hughes D'Aeth (Master of the Salisbury Guild), Arthur Gatland and John Paice, of Heene, and the whole of the West Tarring band.

Owing to the fact that it was not possible to hold the September quarterly meeting, it was proposed to hold another meeting next month at West Tarring.

Votes of thanks were accorded the Rev. J. F. G. Glossop for presiding and granting the use of the bells, the Vicar replying.

The members then attended a short service, at which an address was given by the Vicar. The tower was afterwards again visited, but owing to illness in the vicinity further ringing had to be abandoned, late arrivals not getting a change for a pull.

THE LONGEST SURPRISE ROYAL PEAL.FINE PERFORMANCE AT WALTHAMSTOW.

The attempt by members of the Middlesex County Association for the 10.440 Cambridge Surprise Royal at Walthamstow on Boxing Day was, we are pleased to state, entirely successful, the peal being accomplished in 6 hrs. 55 mins. There was a great deal of high-class ringing in the peal, as might be expected from such a band, which contained some 'old campaigners.'

The peal consisted of the 29 courses composed by the Rev. H. Law James, and is by far the longest length rung in a Surprise method on ten bells. It was a very fine performance, and congratulations will go out to the band who have thus made a new departure in long peal ringing.

Although the 29 courses contain the extent in the method with the four big bells fixed, longer lengths can be got by moving the 7th, and, if a tower is available, it may not be long before this performance at Walthamstow is challenged. At any rate, there is scope for any enterprising band to go one better in regard to length. In the quality of the ringing they will find it very difficult to excel the performance of Boxing Day.

CHUDLEIGH BELLS DEDICATED.ANOTHER RING OF EIGHT FOR SOUTH DEVON.

On the Thursday before Christmas the Bishop of Exeter dedicated the restored and augmented peal at Chudleigh, Devon. Originally there was a peal of six cast in 1781 by the Penningtons; they are now one of the finest peals of eight at their weight in the county. The two trebles have been given, one by Mr. John Whiteway, the churchwarden, and the other by Mrs. Oldham, in memory of her husband, Mr. Ernest Haslope Oldham, who died in 1917, and their son, John Haslope Oldham, who was killed in Flanders in 1915.

In addition three of the old bells have been recast, and the whole ring tuned on the five-tone principle. The tenor is 12 cwt. 2 qr. 23 lb. in F. The bells are hung in a massive all-steel frame, and the parishioners are delighted with their new acquisition. Messrs. Gillett and Johnston have carried out the work in a manner that has given the greatest satisfaction, and it is pleasing to state that the whole cost of the restoration, some £700, was raised before the dedication. The ceremony was attended by a large congregation.

A ringers' festival has been arranged to take place at Chudleigh on Saturday, January 19th, to which all ringers are cordially invited.

DEATH OF MR. G. BYOLIN.LOSS TO SHREWSBURY RINGING.

It is with deep regret we have to announce the death of Mr. Geo. Byolin, which occurred somewhat tragically, on Monday, December 17th. Mr. Byolin, who was 70 years of age, and lived in Abbey Foregate, walked to Castle Fields on Monday morning, and was suddenly taken ill in Severn Street. He was removed to a house close by and given stimulants, but died within a few minutes from heart failure.

Mr. Byolin was well known to a large number of public representatives in the county, since formerly for many years he filled the post of caretaker at the Shirehall, where his close attention to duty and his courtesy won for him universal respect. He retired about eight years ago. He was also known in other spheres, being an accomplished performer on the bass cello. He was a member of Shrewsbury Orchestral Society, and of the old Shropshire Artillery Band for many years. He was also an enthusiastic bell ringer at St. Alkmund's and other churches, and was tower keeper for several years at St. Alkmund's. He it was who revived change ringing in Shrewsbury in the year 1895, it having been 31 years since a peal was rung in the town prior to that date. All his peals were Grand-sire. He rang one at Wem, four at St. Alkmund's and two at St. Chad's, making seven in all, of which he conducted six. His last peal was at St. Alkmund's, which he conducted, on May 1st, 1910, rung muffled to the memory of H.M. King Edward VII. It was Mr. Byolin who started the ringing of Stedman Triples at Shrewsbury, but he never scored a peal in this method, although he made several attempts. He was a safe ringer and conductor, and an excellent striker. It was only on Sunday evening, December 16th, at St. Chad's, he called his last touch of Stedman Triples, a 252, and on December 9th, on his 70th birthday, he called a 1,381 Stedman Caters, the ringers being G. Byolin (conductor) 1, J. Griffiths 2, W. B. Kynaston 3, J. E. Lilley 4, R. Pole 5, A. Short 6, G. Jones 7, D. J. Boucher 8, C. R. Lilley 9, J. Evan 10.

The deceased did not commence to ring Double Norwich until he was turned 69, but was quite at home with it. He took part in June last in a quarter-peal of Stedman Cinques, the first for over a century by a local company at Shrewsbury. Mr. Byolin has done a lot of spade work, as ringers in the county are few and far between.

Mr. Byolin was a ringer at St. Chad's Church for over 50 years with the Union Society. He was born in St. Chad's parish. His place will be hard to fill at St. Chad's belfry. He was an officer of the Guild, and was proud to see a move made in the advanced methods. A floral wreath was sent by his comrades of St. Chad's Society.

DEDICATION OF THE RING OF SIX AT ORSTON.AN INTERESTING CHURCH AND BELLS.

On Saturday, December 8th, the Dean of Lincoln dedicated the new ring of six bells at Orston, Nottinghamshire. At the invitation of the Vicar, the Rev. C. J. Sturton—himself a keen ringer—some 60 to 70 members of the Nottingham District of the Midland Counties Association attended the ceremony, the public tea in the Village Hall, and the concert which followed. A special band, organised by Mr. W. E. White (of Cotgrave) rang the bells at the actual dedication, and again immediately after the service, whilst all visiting ringers had an opportunity of taking part in the many touches of Minor that were subsequently rung. The ringers present included Messrs. A. Coppock (district vice-president), W. E. White, W. White, A. Palmer, A. Mackears, T. Squires, H. Cloxton, F. Blood (district hon. secretary), W. A. Janes (secretary of the North Notts Association), and Mr. C. F. Johnston (of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon), the towers of Beeston, Bottesford, Bulwell, Long Bennington, Cotgrave, Radcliffe-on-Trent, Greasley, Southwell, St. Peter's, Nottingham, Old Basford, etc., being represented.

The service was conducted by the Vicar, assisted by the Rural Dean, the Rev. A. D. Hill (East Bridgford)—another ringing clergyman—H. R. Hutt (Bingham), H. A. Kerridge (Scarrington), J. E. Ferris (Car Colston) and E. J. Dawson (Whetton).

In his address, the Dean reminded the congregation that bells were a Christian discovery, and that bell ringing, as we know it, is entirely an English institution. Belgium had its carillons, but there was nothing like our change ringing in any other country. The ringers should feel that from the moment that the bells begin to ring the service starts. He hoped that they would in the future encourage the younger generation to realise all that this memorial stood for; they would be ungrateful indeed if they did not go away from that service feeling that they had done something by the provision of these additional bells and the restoration of the old ones to bind the memory of those who fell in the war with their continual worship and thanks to God for their preservation.

The concert which followed the tea was almost entirely provided by ringers of the district—Messrs. A. Coppock, W. C. Hunt, W. Taylor and W. White—and was much appreciated by the villagers and visitors.

The Vicar (the Rev. C. J. Sturton) took the opportunity of expressing his delight with the work of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, who had already three other excellent examples of their work in that neighbourhood. He wished to compliment Mr. Johnston, who was present, on the way the bells had been hung, and the way in which they had been tuned. He felt that all the ringers present that day agreed with him that for their weight the new ring of six could not be surpassed either in 'tone' or 'go.'

Of the old four bells, the tenor has been recast and increased in weight, two new trebles added, and the whole hung with new ball bearings, iron headstocks and fittings in a new massive steel and cast-iron frame. The tenor now weighs 9½ cwt., and the inscriptions run as follows:—

- No. 1.—Gillett and Johnston, Croydon, 1923.
- No. 2.—1914-1918. In memory of those who fell I call to prayer and praise. 1923. Gillett and Johnston, Croydon.
- No. 3.—God save the Church, 1621.
- No. 4.—God save the Church, our Queene and Realm, and send us peace in Christ. Amen. 1599.
- No. 5.—God save His Church. I. Moltby, W. Brousom, Churchwardens, 1730.
- No. 6.—All men who hear my mournful sound, repent before you lie in ground. Recast Gillett and Johnston, Croydon, 1923.

In view of the historical interest of the church itself, the following description by the Vicar is appended.

The Church of St. Mary, Orston, is a very interesting structure, built of rubble, in narrow courses, and comprises nave with clerestory, north and south aisles, south porch, chancel and western tower. The south aisle and the chancel were restored during the years 1886-1890, and the nave and north aisle during the years 1912-1914, the reopening by the Bishop of Southwell taking place in May of the latter year. The Rev. Edward Trollope, F.S.A., writing in 1864, says of this church, 'Evidently neglected for many years its ruin was absolutely threatened by the removal of its ancient tower which served to consolidate the whole fabric, and the erection of the smaller substitute mars the external beauty of this old church.' The tower rebuilt of ashlar in the year 1766, is inscribed Jno. Kettleborough, Thos. Taylor, 1766. Originally there were four bells, cast in the old field foundry at Nottingham. The tenor has been for many years cracked, and has now been recast with about 1½ cwt. of added metal, and the whole peal has been rehung with the addition of two trebles in a new iron frame by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon.

On the ancient fourth bell under the word 'our' is a bas-relief portrait of our Saviour in profile, taken from a medallion made in Florence in the year 1460, and does not appear on any other known bell.

WEST WYCOMBE BELLS. LOCAL FAMILY'S GENEROSITY.

As already briefly recorded, the restored and augmented peal of bells at West Wycombe Church were dedicated by the Bishop of Buckingham at a service which was largely attended. The bells had been rehung in a new frame and two trebles added to complete the octave. Hitherto the tower had contained only six bells, dating back a considerable number of years, and for quite a long time these have been in need of rehanging. This work at last became imperative and a Church Restoration Committee being formed three years ago and working hard ever since has been the means of it being accomplished without debt. In this purpose they were joined by the descendants of the late Mr. Charles Hodsdon, a former resident of West Wycombe village, who wished to honour his memory by some definite contribution to the equipment of the Parish Church. It was thus arranged that they should supply two new bells to complete the peal of eight, and the Restoration Committee, to justify this gift, then set itself out to provide a new frame to rehang the whole of the bells. Up till the time of the dedication the donors of the bells had remained anonymous and it was with great pleasure that the public learned, when the names were disclosed, that the gift was associated with such an old West Wycombe family. The new bells bear the following inscription: 'In memory of Charles Hodsdon; born 1809; died 1891.'

The first part of the dedication service was held in the church, after which the Bishop, accompanied by the Vicar of the parish (the Rev. W. Upton Wooler), the curate (the Rev. C. M. Rae), Messrs. J. Webb and W. A. Day (churchwardens), with the choir and bell ringers, Mr. and Mrs. W. Hodsdon, Mrs. Blanchard, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Taplin, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Butler, Mrs. H. G. Butler, Mrs. Booth, Mr. C. A. Butler, Mrs. L. Pitcher, Misses N. and E. Hodsdon, Mrs. Youens, Mrs. L. Hodsdon, and others, mounted to the belfry. Here the new bells and bell frame were dedicated by the Bishop, Mr. Day (people's warden) handing his lordship the ropes which he gave to the Vicar with a solemn charge that the bells should be used for no other purpose than that for which they were dedicated. Before returning to the nave, a few rounds were rung on the bells by the West Wycombe ringers, assisted by friends, and immediately afterwards a short address was given by the Bishop. As the congregation were leaving the church four courses of Stedman Triples was rung on the bells by the ringers; this being followed by several other touches later in the evening.

After the service the members of the Restoration Committee, and others, were entertained to tea in the Memorial Hall.

Mr. Day outlined the work which had been done to achieve the result which had been reached that day, and referred to the generous assistance which had been given by Mr. A. E. Taplin and the family of the late Mr. Hodsdon.

The financial statement showed that £216 11s. 6d. had been raised by various efforts, and to this was added £137 0s. 6d. from the donors in respect of new bells, inscription and memorial tablet, making a total of £253 12s. Out of this £481 8s. 5d. had been expended on repairs to the church tower, church loft, and work in the churchyard, and there was due for payment £269 10s. 6d. for reframing and rehanging bells, and £137 0s. 6d. for the new bells and tablet. To meet this sum of £406 11s. they had £472 3s. 7d. in hand (aplaus).

After other speeches had been made, the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, Master of the Diocesan Guild, said although he had travelled from Yorkshire that day, and had arrived too late for the service in church, he was, however, in time to hear the bells rung. He considered West Wycombe had now two very nice new bells, completing a fine peal. He had tried all the bells singly, and they went very well indeed. He was also pleased with the way the work had been done, and he was sure the frame would last a good deal longer than the life of the youngest person present that day. The whole thing was a credit to Mr. White and Messrs. Mears. He congratulated the parish on having such a peal of bells, and hoped they would soon have a good band of change ringers to ring them (applause).

The company were afterwards entertained by handbells ringers from High Wycombe and the West Wycombe Glee Party.

A memorial tablet placed in the belfry comprises a brass plate with the following inscription: 'To the Glory of God and in memory of Charles Hodsdon of this parish; born 1809, died 1891. Two bells to complete a peal of eight bells were presented in 1923 by his children and grandchildren.'

A large paper book of churchwardens' accounts between the years 1656 and 1789 contains many curious entries. Among miscellaneous memoranda at one end, including a page of names of 'Persons ye are to repayr ye Ch. Wall,' is the following quaint agreement for the repair of the Church Clock. 'January ye 31 : 1721. A contract of a bargain made for the Clok mending and repairing for the Eus of the Town of Orston betwixt Jorg East of Guntrap and James Wickam and William Marshall being Church Wardens for the town of Orston for keeping the Cloking Repare this fore said Jorg East is to have Three shillings a yere a loud him by the Town of Orston I say to be Cap in repare by me so long as I leve. George East.'

The old clock has been replaced by a new one, the gift of Mr. A. Prince, of The Villa, Orston, in memory of the men of Orston, both living and dead, who fought in the Great War. On a small brass tablet at the base of the tower within the church is inscribed:—

'Orston Church Clock presented by John A. Price.'

'In remembrance of life given and a thankoffering for life preserved 1914-1918.'

There is also a beautiful tablet of alabaster on the wall of the south aisle subscribed for by the parishioners recording the names of the men of Orston who fell in the Great War.

THE EXAMPLE OF THE PIONEERS.

The passing from the ranks of the Exercise of Mr. James W. Washbrook is another reminder of the gaps which the inexorable hand of Death is making in the ranks of those to whom ringing owed so much for the work they put in from 30 to 40 years ago. That was a time when the Exercise, as we know it to-day, was in the making. Prior to the 'eighties,' there was very little organisation, and skilled change ringers were to be found in comparatively few centres. An effort was afoot to raise the status of the ringer, for the belfry was not then looked upon as the most desirable place for young men to frequent. It was about this period that the county and diocesan associations were being formed, and the Exercise was in what may be called a transition stage. While keen reformers were turning their energies to organisation, a number of enthusiasts arose who laid the foundations which made possible the later progress of the art. The zeal of some of these men in the face of difficulties gave an impetus to ringing, which gathered force as the years passed on, and left a permanent impression on the Exercise.

In those days a great deal rested upon the efforts of a few, for the practice of change-ringing was carried on within very confined limits. Few country parishes had a peal band of their own; in some counties scientific change-ringing was hardly known, while means of intercommunication were generally poor, and the corresponding opportunities of carrying on educational work full of difficulty. It was into this condition of things that the late Mr. J. W. Washbrook came in 1880. Highly gifted as ringer, composer and conductor, endowed with a plentiful store of physical strength and energy, he helped to set what might almost be called a new standard of ringing. He made peal-ringing look a comparatively easy task, and conducting a simple problem. Long peals lost some of their stupendous difficulty and his leadership gave a new zest to the ringing of record lengths. Men regarded his genius with admiration and sought to emulate him as far as lay in their power. In this way his example was an encouragement to others, and by this means, as well as by personal assistance which he gave to scores, if not to hundreds, of ringers, he served his day and generation, and he certainly did his share in raising the level of method ringing. The obstacles to progress in those days were much greater than confront the ringer of to-day, and it is for us to make the best use of the conditions as we now find them, and in our turn do the best we can to improve the art, raise the standard of ringing and the status of the ringer so that we, too, can hand it on better than we found it. If we are all imbued with the spirit which marked these old pioneers we shall not be without success.

ONLY LADY BELL RINGER IN SYDNEY.AN AUSTRALIAN PEAL TO BE INCREASED TO EIGHT.

Interest has been aroused in Sydney, New South Wales, by a newspaper interview with Mrs. T. C. Lumley, the only woman bell ringer in Sydney, where she recently helped in the ringing for the anniversary of St. Mark's, Darling Point. Mrs. Lumley, whose maiden name was Gregory, belonged to a ringing family. She went to Twyford, Berks, from her home at Wantage, some two years before the war, as a teacher in the local schools, and soon afterwards her parents went to Twyford to live. When the war came, and most of the local ringers joined up, a ladies' band was formed, with Mrs. Lumley among them. They were soon able to ring Grandsire Doubles and Triples, under the instruction of Mr. G. Dentry.

Mrs. Lumley was no doubt gifted for the work, and soon became a very efficient ringer and a good striker. She remained a ringer at Twyford till after the war, when she married an Australian soldier, who in time returned to Australia. Her longest length was a quarter-peal, and she thought much of that performance.

Her father is a ringer at Twyford Church, and she has uncles and cousins who are ringers of Wantage, Berks.

Mrs. Lumley is also a good musician, having gained several diplomas for pianoforte playing, and has taken further honours in Australia.

Speaking of ringing to the uninitiated Sydney reporter, Mrs. Lumley said: 'It's not at all difficult once you learn the method of changes, and how to handle the rope so that it doesn't strangle you if you let go, and if you get the knack of balancing the bell. It's all in that knack of handling the bell, I think, and it looks much harder than it really is. Though many of the women who took up bell ringing during the war in England couldn't master the changes in the various methods.'

The old ringers taught the young ringers in English town and village, added Mrs. Lumley, and at Wantage, Berks—the birthplace of Mrs. Lumley—eight members of her family rang the bells of the town. "I was made a member of the Ladies' Guild of Change Ringers in 1916," said Mrs. Lumley, "and during the war a band of eight women kept going all the bells in Twyford. There was nobody else to do it—the men were at the front—and it would never have done to cease the pealing of the bells."

'With the aid of diagrams and rows of figures,' the reporter goes on, 'Mrs. Lumley tried to tell the uninitiated how the bells were rung. How the treble went hunting, and third came to second's place, and four and five dodged. "It is a mystery which can only be cleared by watching the bell ringers at work," said the expert, "and perhaps you'll be able to do that soon, for two more bells are to be added to St. Mark's belfry."'

SURPRISE METHODS.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—As your correspondent 'Plain Ringer' uses my name freely in connection with this subject, I beg of you permission to reply to him through your columns. 'Bristol' Surprise was discovered, published and rung in 1899 or before, as near as I know from memory. The Legitimate Methods Committee came into being at the Central Council meeting, held at Norwich in May, 1899. The original members elected were the Rev. H. L. James, Messrs. H. Dains, J. Carter, J. A. Trollope and A. Craven. I think I am perfectly correct in saying that 'Bristol' Surprise was the chief object the committee had in their eye, along with 'Superlative Surprise,' during their work, and the principles of these two methods form the basis of the final definition, which in substance means: That a Surprise method must contain one or two internal places, at each cross section of the treble bell's path outwards and inwards. The cross sections referred to are as treble passes 2—3, 4—5 and 6—7. The whole pull at lead and behind, as treble turns from one position to its reverse, is not termed a 'cross section,' in the same meaning as the three internal positions.

Now, what puzzles me is why has Mr. Carter taken this course 20 years after the time he should have protested? And again, why are the other members of the committee silent?

Your correspondent asks, 'Why do I use an internal place at the treble's whole pull at lead in some of my methods and not in others?' I will answer this question by asking another: 'Why ringers do not ring "London" without making 2nd's place at treble's whole pull at lead, and also why they do not ring "Superlative" without both 2nd's and 7th's place being made when the treble is at lead and behind, when you can ring Double Norwich either with or without these places?' Well, my reasons are the same. I might say in conclusion that 2nd's and 7th's places made when treble leads and lays whole pull behind are not internal places in the same meaning as 3rd, 4th, 5th and 6th places.—Yours truly,

ARTHUR CRAVEN.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Referring in the column recently to the first peal at St. Paul's Cathedral in 1881, we said we believed that Mr. Ted Horrex was the sole survivor of that band. We are glad to hear that there is yet another not only alive, but still in the active ranks of ringers. This is Mr. W. Tanner, who rang the 8th in the peal. Mr. Tanner rings for Sunday service at Stepney, with which church he has been connected for over 56 years.

For the first time since 1907 a peal has been rung at Durham Cathedral. This was a peal of Double Norwich on New Year's Day. For about sixteen years the bells were closed on account of the condition of the tower, which was repaired, and the bells rebung last year.

If Messrs. G. F. Adley and F. Clinkard will tell us where the service touches which they respectively conducted were rung, we shall be pleased to publish them.

Several ringers rang over 50 peals in 1923. Who rang most? Mr. Ernest Morris, of Leicester, scored 66.

We are close upon the bicentenary of the first peal of Cinques on record, which was performed at St. Bride's, Fleet Street. The actual date when this peal was rung seems a little uncertain from the records left to us. In his history of Grandsire Cinques the late Mr. Jasper Snowdon quotes a peal board which gives the date as Tuesday, January 10th, 1724, but in an introductory note Mr. Snowdon refers to it as Tuesday, January 19th, 1724-5.

But whether the two hundredth anniversary falls this year or next, and probably examination of the College Youths' old peal book would help to elucidate the point, the event is one which ought to be fittingly celebrated. Nothing less than a peal at St. Bride's itself would be fully appropriate to the occasion.

The old tablet in St. Bride's belfry records the peal as follows: On Tuesday, the 10th of January, 1724, the Society of College Youths rung completely a peal of 5,060 Grandsire Cinques, being ye first that ever was done. Ye persons that performed the same were as follows: Wm. Woodruff 1, Benjn. Annable 2, Edward Chadwell 3, Jno. Ward 4, Jno. Pearson 5, Robt. Catlin 6, Robt. Carter 7, Wm. Thompson 8, Wm. Jackson 9, P. Merrygarths 10, Math. East 11, Thos. Rowland 12. Abraham Goodwin, Aaron Jex, Churchwardens.

On January 15th, 1771, a peal of 6,720 Norwich Court Bob was rung at St. Michael's Coslany, Norwich, by the Norwich Scholars, and on January 13th, 1772, 6,048 Imperial the Third was rung at the same church.

The first peal of London Surprise in the City of London was rung twenty-five years ago next Monday by St. Peter's Society, Brighton.

Forty years ago next Thursday the first peal by the Winchester Guild was rung. This was at Soberton, Hants, and was also Mr. George Williams' first peal.

The first peal of Forward Maximus was rung at St. Martin's, Birmingham, on January 13th, 1903.

With reference to our paragraph concerning 'single-handed' peals at Bow, Cheapside, and the remark that many peals of Stedman Cinques have been called off the tenor since Mr. F. E. Dawe called the first at St. Bride's, a correspondent suggests that the actual number of ringers who have done this is comparatively small, probably not more than half a dozen.

There was once a man at Wolverhampton who, although he was not a change ringer, yet was able to call Stedman from the tenor. A rather remarkable achievement.

In reply to an inquiry made through this column last week, Mrs. F. I. Hairs rang 19 peals within the first 12 months, and 28 within the first 15 months from the date of ringing her first peal, including one peal of 8,099 of Grandsire Caters.

A copy of 'Christmas Bells,' verses set to music which is based upon the first six changes of Bob Minor has been sent us. The author is Mr. S. Lloyd Harvey, of Radstock, and the composer, Mr. G. Hamblin, of Radstock. There is a novelty in the air which will doubtless interest ringers.

A unique performance is recorded in our peal columns this week. A handbell peal of Doubles has been rung at Brewood, Staffs, by two ringers only, each ringing three bells!

A SERVICE MANUAL.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—From time to time I receive inquiries for forms of service for various occasions in connection with bells and ringers, and particularly for the little book, entitled 'A Manual for Ringers,' which was published by S.P.C.K. for the Oxford Diocesan Guild about ten years ago, and has for some time been out of print.

I am anxious to make it known that this book has been reprinted, and can now be obtained from S.P.C.K., Northumberland Avenue, W.C., at the price of fourpence (post free, fourpence halfpenny), or through a bookseller. This manual meets most requirements. Will clergy and those holding office in ringers' associations kindly take notice?—Yours truly,

CYRIL W. O. JENKYN.

Broadlands, Caversham

A SOUTH WALES PIONEER.FOUNDER OF THE LLANDAFF DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A pioneer of change ringing in the Llandaff Diocese, and founder of the Llandaff Diocesan Association, Mr. Evan Davies, as already reported, has just retired from his position of Master of Caerleon Endowed School, after 43 years' service, and is removing to Carmarthen. Mr. Davies, many years ago, taught a band at Caerleon, including Mr. J. W. Jones, who, for a quarter of a century, has been the enthusiastic secretary of the diocesan association. This band made excellent progress, and rang peals of Grandsire, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Major. Out of this start sprang the Llandaff Association, with Mr. Evans as the inspiration.

MR. EVAN DAVIES.

A native of Carmarthen, Mr. Davies went to Caerleon in February, 1881, as assistant master, after leaving Carmarthen Training College, and was appointed headmaster in 1885. He has been identified with the public life of the ancient city ever since, and will be greatly missed when he returns to enjoy his retirement in his native town. A keen Churchman, Mr. Davies was for many years choirmaster of St. Cadoc's Church.

Mr. Davies is an authority on Welsh history, and an ardent antiquarian. The Monmouthshire Antiquaries Society could have found no one more fit to take charge of their Caerleon Museum, which was greatly benefited from his studies. Mr. Davies was prominent in the movement which resulted in a jubilee clock being placed in the old church tower in 1887, and it is characteristic of his conscientiousness and public spirit that he has himself regularly wound the clock, and repaired it when necessary, ever since without recognition of any kind.

The staff and scholars of the school have presented Mr. Davies with a barometer and reading glass, and the old boys of the school entertained him at dinner, and presented him with an illuminated address and a cheque as a mark of their deep esteem for him.

A BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION.

To mark the 50th birthday of Mr. Walter White, on January 2nd, an attempt was made at Cotgrave for a peal of Minor in seven methods, the ringers standing as follows: D. Burton 1, H. Squires 2, Rev. C. J. Sturton 3, W. E. White 4, T. Squires 5, Walter White (conductor) 6. Unfortunately this came to grief early in a 720 of Double Oxford, after a 720 each of Oxford and Kent Treble Bob had been rung. Afterwards a date touch 1924 in Plain Bob, Single and Double Court was rung, W. E. White treble and D. Burton 4th, the others as before. The band, with the addition of the other Cotgrave ringers and friends, then sat down to a capital dinner, afterwards spending the remainder of the evening with music, song and games. The company thank Mr. and Mrs. Walter White for their hospitality, and extend to them their best birthday wishes.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD.INAUGURAL MEETING.

The new Guild for the Diocese of Peterborough was successfully launched at a largely attended meeting at Wellingborough on Saturday, although several clergy were kept away on account of the clashing of the event with the enthronement of the Bishop of Winchester. It was the new Bishop of Winchester, who, while Bishop of Peterborough, instigated the formation of the new Diocesan Guild. Either to the ringing organisations in the diocese have consisted of the Central Northants, the Peterborough and District, the Towcester and District, and the Oundle and District Associations, while a small portion of the area of the Midland Counties Association is also included in the diocese.

The proceedings on Saturday afternoon began with a service in the Parish Church, the Vicar of Wellingborough (the Rev. R. G. W. Smeaton) preaching, taking his text from 1 Cor. xii. 36. He first recalled that Church Guilds belonged to the earliest part of their national history, and were much older than the hanging and the ringing of church bells. Though the guilds could be divided into two classes—religious and social—everyone was based on religious principles, the love of God and the love of man. He recalled that in that Parish Church at one time were three Guilds—the Guild of the Rood Loft, the Guild of the Holy Name, and the Guild of St. Katherine. If the Guild they were inaugurating that day was to be a success it must be true to the principles of some of their ancient guilds, and make for brotherhood, loving kindness, and sympathy between its members, and love for the Holy Church. There must be real personal religion on the part of its members.

THE GUILD INAUGURATED.

The company then adjourned to the Granville Hotel, where, after tea, the business meeting was held, the Rev. J. P. Frend, of Collingtree, presiding, supported by the Rev. H. L. Hopper (Weekley), the Rev. L. S. Clark (Polebrook), the Rev. E. J. Atkins (Isham), Mr. D. J. Nichols (Kettering), Mr. W. Wilson (Isham), and Mr. Barber.

Mr. Nichols (the secretary pro tem.) announced that the Bishop of Leicester and the Archdeacon of Oakham, who were attending the Bishop of Winchester's enthronement, had expressed their interest in the formation of the Guild.

The Chairman said the Bishop of Leicester, in a letter to him, said he would take the earliest opportunity of informing the new Bishop of the Guild. It was most important, added the Chairman, that it should be a success. At the commencement, the Guild would consist of seven branches, comprising the five districts of the Central Northants Association, each working as a separate branch, and the Peterborough and District and the Oundle and District Association forming the other two. At present the branches that had become attached to the Guild numbered about 220 members.

A resolution formally bringing the Guild into being was moved by the Rev. E. J. Atkins, seconded by Mr. Millward (Northampton).

The Dean of Peterborough, a cordial supporter of the Guild, was elected president, on the motion of the Rev. J. P. Frend, seconded by Mr. Barber. For the office of Master Mr. Nichols moved the name of Mr. F. Wilford, which, having been seconded by Mr. Rogers (Northampton), was carried with unanimity. Mr. W. Wilson was chosen treasurer, Mr. Nichols secretary, and Mr. Millward auditor.

It was decided that the next meeting of the Guild be at Peterborough on Whit Monday. It was also intimated that the branch associations would hold their meetings for the election of officers and representatives on the Central Committee as soon as possible.

The Rev. H. L. Hopper (who was in the chair in the closing part of the meeting) moved a vote of thanks to the Vicar of Wellingborough for allowing the service in the church, and for the use of the bells by the visiting ringers. — This was seconded by Mr. Barber, who was singled out for the work he had undertaken in connection with the meeting at Wellingborough.

A YOUNG BAND'S PROGRESS.

On Monday evening, December 31st, previous to the watch-night service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,250 changes) was rung half-muffled in 57 minutes at St. Mary's, Ealing, by A. J. Moore 1, J. E. Churchill 2, A. M. Stacey 3, G. W. Stevens 4, J. H. Hunnisett 5, A. H. Fulwell 6, F. W. Goodfellow (conductor) 7, C. G. Cooper 8. This quarter-peal was the 38th rung at this tower in 1923. Of these, 35 were for Sunday service, including Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Major. This splendid record is mainly due to the efforts of Mr. Lionel H. Page, who, together with Mr. J. H. Hunnisett, taught the present band change ringing. The former has now unfortunately left the district.

The bells of St. Mary's are not of the best going, and this with the fact that ten of the band are under the age of 20, the herculean nature of the task may be realised. The ringers greatly regret the loss of Mr. Page's services, and hope to show their appreciation in a more tangible form.

The New Year was commenced in a hopeful manner, a quarter-peal of Bob Major being rung for both morning and evening services. Both were conducted by F. W. Goodfellow.

NEW PEAL OF EIGHT BELLS AT BRADFORD-ON-AVON.AN ACQUISITION IN SALISBURY DIOCESE.

On Thursday afternoon, Dec. 27th (St. John the Evangelist's Day), a service, unique in the history of the town, was held at Christ Church, Bradford-on-Avon, when the new peal of eight bells, presented to the parish by Brig-General G. L. Palmer, C.B., T.D., and Mrs. Palmer, in proud and loving memory of Allen L. Palmer, Michael George L. Palmer and Felix Charles Hubert Hanbury-Tracy (their two sons and son-in-law), was dedicated to the glory of God, and to the use of the parish of Christ Church, by the Dean of Salisbury (Dr. Burn). In addition to the peal, the Westminster chimes have been attached to the clock, and this will prove a great musical improvement upon the old 'single bell,' which, in addition to calling people to the services, was used by the clock for striking the quarters and hours.

The church was full some time before the service began, and a good number of the clergy from the neighbouring towns and villages were in the procession. After the dedication intercessory prayers were offered, followed by a short opening peal on the bells, the band consisting of past and present ringers from the Parish Church: J. Andrews 1, H. E. Moore 2, J. Stafford 3, S. J. Hector 4, F. Wheeler 5, H. Ewence 6, C. Warwick 7, F. Hayes 8. The honour of conducting the opening touch was entrusted to Mr. James Andrews, a veteran ringer of 81, who for half a century officiated as captain of the Parish Church ringers. The Dean's address, based upon Psalm cxxxi. 3, was concluded by his reciting Tennyson's poem of the bells, 'Ring out the false, ring in the true.'—The hymn, 'God of the living,' was sung, and the inspiring words of the 'Hallelujah Chorus' brought an impressive service to a close.

The visiting ringers then ascended the tower, and the first touch of Stedman Triples was brought round in good style, conducted by Mr. S. J. Hector. Touches of Double Norwich, Treble Bob and Bob Major, Stedman and Grandsire Triples, were rung during the afternoon and evening.

The bells, which are of beautiful tone, were installed by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of the Croydon Bell Foundry. They are hung in an all-steel frame, with modern fittings, and run in ball bearings. The tenor weighs 12 cwt. 7 lb., and bears the following inscription:—

'AD GLORIAM DE ET IN MEMORIAM ALLENI ET MICHAELIS PALMER ET FELICIS HANBURY TRACY, MCMXXIII.—Gillett and Johnston, Croydon, 1923.'

About 30 ringers had been invited to attend, those present including Messrs. E. Bishop, C. Gardner, of Swindon; Mr. L. A. Wilson, of Wootton Bassett; Messrs. W. A. Cave and Knight, of Bristol; Messrs. G. H. Archard, H. Taylor, of Melksham; Mr. A. Harrison, of London; Mr. E. F. White, of Warminster; Messrs. W. Hart, F. Brown, of Westbury; Mr. Stokes, of Holt; Messrs. S. J. Hector, J. Andrews, C. Andrews, N. Andrews, J. Francis, W. Baxter, W. Loud, of Trowbridge; Messrs. T. F. King, F. Rich, Cousins, and Prince, of Bath; Messrs. S. Hillier, F. Green, of Devizes, and others. Mr. Cyril F. Johnston was present on behalf of the firm, and took part in a good deal of the ringing.

The visitors were very kindly entertained to dinner at the Castle Hotel by Brig-General and Mrs. Palmer.

HARWICH RINGERS' DINNER.

On Monday, December 31st, St. Nicolas Guild, Harwich, had their annual dinner at the Hanover Square Dining Rooms, about 25 ringers and friends sitting down to an excellent repast. The Rev. A. E. Mills, R.D., president of the Guild, was in the chair, and Councillor T. H. Bernard, who is also a local ringer, was vice-chairman. After dinner, a musical programme was enjoyed, songs being rendered by Miss Hookley, Miss Bernard, Messrs. Tyrell, Garnett and Taylor. Tunes on the handbells by Messrs. G. Thompson, C. Ellis, F. Ramplin, E. Scarfe, J. Scarfe and A. Alderton were much appreciated.

The Vice-Chairman proposed the toast of 'The Vicar and Churchwardens,' and referred to the improvements which had been effected in the church.—The Rev. A. E. Mills, responding, said a vast amount of money had been spent on the church, and the bulk of it had come from the people of Harwich. They had not the wealth in Harwich that there was in the industrial centres, but he had never met people who were so ready to find the money when it was required for the upkeep of the church. He had never met churchwardens who were more devoted to their work, and in the Parochial Church Council and other workers in the church he had a most loyal body of helpers.

The Chairman, in proposing the toast of 'The Ringers,' said that he was very grateful for the work which they did, and thanked them very much. They called the people to church, and sent their message to those who were not able to come.

Mr. C. J. Ellis, hon. secretary of the Guild, replied, and said that if they did not ring some of the more difficult methods, those that they did ring were rung well. He thought that much progress would be made during the new year. They had a young band of ringers who were getting on well both with the tower and handbells, and he thanked the Vicar very much for the kind things he had said, also for the interest that he and the churchwardens took in ringing, and the ringers. 'Auld Lang Syne' and the National Anthem brought a most enjoyable evening to a close.

NORTH NOTTS ASSOCIATION.

A most enjoyable afternoon's ringing took place at East and West Retford on Boxing Day. The peals of six and 10 bells were at the disposal of ringers throughout the afternoon and evening by the kind permission of the Rev. C. Bailey and Rev. J. E. Summers. Ringers were present from Anston, Tickhill, Gainsborough, Misterton, Worksop, Ordsall and East Retford, whilst members from kindred associations were present from Wath-on-Dearne and Wigan, and Mr. A. H. Winch, of Leatherhead, Surrey, whom all ringers were glad to meet. Ringing on six bells consisted of Kent Treble Bob, Double Stedman, Minor and Cambridge Surprise; and on eight and ten bells, Grandsire Triples and Caters, Stedman Triples and Caters, Bob Major and Royal, and Kent Treble Bob Major and Royal and Double Norwich.

In the early morning, a number of ringers from Gainsborough visited Worksop with the intention of attempting a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major at the Parish Church (by permission of Canon d'Arcy), but owing to the unavoidable absence of the writer of these lines and a substitute not being forthcoming, the hope had to be abandoned, and a 720 of Oxford Treble Bob Minor rung. The conducting during the day was done by A. H. Winch, H. Morgan and H. Haigh. The ringers desire to thank the three incumbents for the use of the bells during the day.

THE SILENCE OF BOCKING BELLS.

Last Friday's issue of 'The Essex Chronicle,' contained a letter from Mr. A. Shuffelebotham explaining, in answer to an inquiry in the preceding week, why Bocking bells were not rung on Christmas Day. Mr. Shuffelebotham says:—

'I joined the Bocking band of ringers about 17 years ago, and continued with them until the break-up three years ago, due mostly to the old ones dying out. In 1914 we had ten ringers, and six of these have passed away. During the time that I was a member of this band, we started ten or twelve learners, but for various reasons they gradually fell away. An attempt was made in November, 1922, to restart the company. Four of these learners came back, and with the four old ones left and the assistance of several ringers from Braintree we began to practise, and continued up to March, 1923, and were about to restart ringing for Sunday services when along came the meeting of the Essex Association of Change Ringers (March 3rd), with the announcement that they were there that day to restart the peal! I told the rest of the band of my intention to stand aside and let the officials carry on. What is the result? With the exception of visitors, the bells have not been rung since!'

'In your issues of March 9th and December 28th we are referred to as professionals. This I consider a most unjust statement to make and publish. We gave our services, and did not get anything like enough to cover our expenses. The question of payment, however, has nothing to do with the break-up of the Bocking band.'

PROPOSED NEW RING OF EIGHT CRICKHOWELL'S EFFORT TO RAISE FUNDS.

A big effort is being made to raise the funds necessary to restore the bells at St. Edmund's Church, Crickhowell, Breconshire, and to increase the ring to a complete octave. The tower contains a peal of five, but for a great number of years they have not been rung, on account of two being badly cracked. The estimated cost of the work is £700, towards which there was a sum of £55 in hand, and a promise of £50 had been received towards a new tenor, conditional on the whole amount required being raised within a year.

The parishioners have entered wholeheartedly into the scheme which is to form a war memorial, and the first united effort took the form of a 'Forest of Trees.' Four large trees were placed in Clarence Hall by Mr. J. E. Edwards, agent to the Duke of Beaufort, and around these were arranged stalls, etc. All the attractions of a successful bazaar were to be found, and the outcome has been that practically half the amount required has been assured.

As long ago as 1884 a parish meeting set up a committee to provide a peal of eight bells, but the scheme never materialised.

RINGING ANCESTORS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In Belfry Gossip a few weeks ago you asked the question, 'We wonder how many ringers of to-day can claim to have ancestors who were ringers nearly 200 years ago?'

I claim to be one of these, but unfortunately cannot find any MS. or any records, but in the belfry at Ashford, Kent (my old home, there are four tablets dating from 1770 to 1820 recording peals of Plain Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Major, in which my great-grandfather, John Steddy, took part, and some of which he conducted. He lived at a village, Hinxhill, three miles from Ashford, and one night a week would walk to Hythe, nine miles each way, to practise, and in the winter would take a lantern. On several occasions he walked to London and back, 55 miles each way, for peal ringing, but I could never find out if they were successful. In those days, of course, there was no other means but to walk. What would the youth of to-day think?

Whilst in the North he accomplished his first 720's in London and Cambridge Surprise and Oxford Treble Bob Minor all 'inside,' as well as many other touches. On Wednesday, December 12th, he was presented with a silver-mounted umbrella, subscribed for by some of his ringing friends in Darlington. The presentation was made in the belfry of Holy Trinity Church by Mr. Porter, who, in a few well-chosen words, referred to Mr. Burden's qualities as a gentleman, and as a ringer, and spoke of the assistance he had rendered to Darlington, and to this tower in particular, in the way of ringing.—Mr. Burden suitably replied.

A BICENTENARY.

A rare anniversary in ringing annals occurs to-morrow, when we reach the bicentenary of what was the first peal of Cinques ever rung, and probably the first peal on twelve bells. On January 19th, 1724, a band of College Youths rang a peal of Grandsire Cinques at the church of St. Bride, in London City, and that peal stands out as a landmark in ringing history. Let us, if we can, go back in imagination to those days two hundred years ago, and try to realise the triumph of those twelve men, who set up a wider limit, by expanding the scope of ringing. In 1724 St. Bride's was not merely the only ring of twelve bells in London, but in the whole of England there were certainly not more than two other peals of similar number, York, and, possibly, Cirencester. A ring of twelve was, therefore, in itself something almost unique, whilst peal ringing, even on eight bells, had only just been introduced. It was less than ten years before that the very first peal of all was rung at Norwich, and we think it doubtful if a dozen peals in all had been accomplished by the time this first 5,000 on twelve was rung.

The application of method ringing to this number may, we think, be attributed to the initiative and genius of Benjamin Annable, and while, he may have been fortunate in having round him extraordinarily capable men for those early days, when we take all the circumstances into account the performance was a really great as well as a memorable one. These men must have been among the most skilled of their time to have adapted themselves to the previously unheard-of practice of Grandsire Cinques. Their success in a new field was no passing phase. It set a fashion, or, perhaps, more correctly a new standard. It seems to have led to a certain amount of rivalry among the London churches, for in 1726 a peal of twelve was cast for St. Martin's-in-the-Fields; in 1729 a similar number was installed at St. Michael's, Cornhill, and in 1735 came the still bigger peal, the ring of twelve at Southwark. And with the additional facilities came the increased rivalry between the ancient London Societies, all of which had its effect upon the progress of ringing through the years which have followed. Twelve-bell method ringing would, of course, have come sooner or later, even without Benjamin Annable, but whether he gave the lead or not, to-morrow is an anniversary of very special interest to ringers. Despite the limitations which modern industry puts upon peal ringing at St. Bride's, we could have hoped that a special opportunity might be given to celebrate the event; and if it cannot take place to-morrow—well, some time in this bicentenary year a peal of Grandsire Cinques by the College Youths at St. Bride's ought to be possible.

SURPRISE METHODS.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In reference to Mr. Craven's reply, will you please allow me to trespass still further on your valuable space? Taking his last paragraph first, I think he has either misunderstood my question or misconstrued it. I will make it plainer, 'Why does he use 2nd's (an internal place) in Palatine and not 7th's?' Mr. Craven recently said that the treble's whole pull behind was a 'dead end.' If this is correct so must the 'whole pull' on the lead be dead. His question re London and Superlative is beside the point, and I was under the impression that the Double Norwich which he describes went by the name of Double Oxford. However, the information in regard to the Legitimate Methods Committee does away with the need for any further argument, and I thank for him it. If the majority of that committee decided as Mr. Craven states, then every one ought honourably to accept that decision.—Yours truly,

PLAIN RINGER.

GLOUCESTER & BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.CHELTENHAM AND DISTRICT ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Cheltenham and District Branch was held at Tewkesbury on Saturday, when, by the kind invitation of the Vicar (the Rev. E. F. Smith), the fine peal of ten at the Abbey were available, and were made good use of. A short service was held, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. A. D. Pennington), giving an interesting address. A move was then made to the Parish Room, where the Vicar had provided a bounteous tea.

The business meeting was held immediately afterwards, presided over by the branch chairman (Mr. J. F. Ballinger), and supported by the Rev. E. F. Smith, the Rev. A. D. Pennington, and about 50 members from Alderton, Ashchurch, Beckford, Leckhampton, Swindon, Dumbleton, Twining, Leigh, Prestbury, Tredington, Charlton Kings, London, and the local tower.

The Chairman gave a short resume of the year's work, and the Secretary read his report, stating that the past year had been a very successful one, thus proving the need for such an organisation in that the northern part of the diocese.

The statement of accounts was then passed, and it was decided to hold over a small balance. The following officers were unanimously elected: Chairman, Rev. A. D. Pennington (Alderton); representative, C. W. Dyson (Leigh); hon. secretary, W. Yeend (Swindon).

Mr. Pennington extended an offer for the next meeting, to be held at his church, and this was gladly accepted, the date to be some time in May.—Twelve new members were elected, including one life member.—Several letters of apology were read.

A motion was passed, and will be brought up at the general annual meeting, that Rule III. be altered to read: 'The annual general meeting of the association be held either in the Diocese of Gloucester or Bristol.'

A resolution conveying the best thanks of the branch was passed to Mr. Len Harrison for his great assistance given to the Alderton band.—On the proposition of Mr. W. Devereux, a very hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Rev. E. F. Smith for conducting the service in the Abbey, for the use of the bells, and for the splendid tea.—The Vicar, in responding, said how very glad he was to welcome the branch to the Abbey, and trusted that they would pay another visit at no distant date.—Votes of thanks were also accorded to the Rev. A. D. Pennington for his every-ready support, the lady helpers, and also to the retiring chairman (Mr. J. F. Ballinger).—This concluded the business meeting, and the tower was again visited, the bells being kept going until 9 o'clock.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Mr. W. T. Cockerill has very kindly examined the College Youths ancient peal book, and informs us that the first peal of Grandsire Cinques was rung at St. Bride's, Fleet Street, on January 19th, 1724, thus settling definitely the fact that to-morrow (Saturday) is the two hundredth anniversary. Mr. W. H. Fussell, in an article on another page, adds some interesting information on this subject.

A peal of 'Garthing's Trebles' was rung at St. Margaret's, Lynn, on January 20th, 1740. On January 20th, 1777, the Cumberland Youths scored a 6,240 Treble Bob Royal at Shoreditch.

One of the first peals of Stedman Triples 'in hand,' which, we believe, William Cooter claimed to be the first true peal, was rung on January 20th, 1854.

The first peal of Norwich Maximus was rung on Jan. 20th, 1817.

On January 21st, 1788, a peal of 6,600 Bob Maximus was rung on the bells of Great St. Mary's Church, Cambridge.

A peal described as 'Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Triples' was rung at Shifnal on January 23rd, 1844.

In the handbell peal of Doubles at Leicester on December 24th, there were six six-scores of Stedman, 16 of Plain Bob and 20 of Grandsire.

The peals at Gaywood and Dersingham were rung on Boxing Day, and not on December 27th, as recorded.

With reference to the inquiry as to the greatest number of peals rung by a lady within the first fifteen months of her first peal, the peals by Mrs. H. Baker, of Frittenden, were all on church bells. Has any lady done better than this in the tower?

A fitting compliment was paid to a veteran ringer at Carshalton, Surrey, last week, when a peal was rung to celebrate the 73rd birthday of Mr. C. W. Gordon, who learned to ring in this tower over fifty years ago, and is the only survivor of the band which rang at the opening of the bells in the neighbouring tower of Beddington in 1869. He has been a member of the Beddington band ever since. A birthday peal of Stedman Caters at this tower on January 5th was unfortunately lost after 1½ hours' ringing.

Members of the Hinckley District of the Midland Counties Association are asked to note that the annual meeting, announced for to-morrow (January 19th) is unavoidably postponed until the 26th.

A correspondent desires to know the date of the last peal rung at Shrawley Church, Worcestershire. Perhaps one of the ringers can supply the information.

FIRST PEAL BY THE WINCHESTER GUILD.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In 'Belfry Gossip' in your last issue you mention that Thursday, Jan. 17th, is the 40th anniversary of the first peal by the Winchester Guild, and which was rung at Soberton, Hants. The first peal by members of the Winchester Guild was rung at St. Nicolas', Guildford, on December 27th, 1881, two years before the one you mention. It may be interesting at this date to recall the names of those taking part in the peal, copied from the peal board in St. Nicolas' belfry. The peal was Holt's six-part of Union Triples (5,040 changes), and was rung in three hours and twelve minutes: J. Haseman 1, H. Boxall, senr., 2, G. Sayer 3, H. Boxall, junr., 4, W. Marks 5, C. Boxall 6, S. Brooker 7, C. Dudley 8. Conducted by S. Brooker.—Faithfully yours,

EDWARD RADDON,

Hon. Secretary, Guildford District of the Winchester Guild.

[Our 'Belfry Gossip' paragraph last week should have added the words, 'in Hampshire,' to the record—a slight omission which makes all the difference. Mr. George Williams has also called attention to this slip, and points out the contrast between the peal ringing of those days and the present, as illustrated by the fact that over two years elapsed between the first and second peals of the Winchester Guild.—Ed. 'R.W.']

FALSE COMPOSITIONS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—The peal of Cambridge Maximus, published in your issue of December 28th, is false, as the second and fourth courses repeat. I should have written before, but the error is so visible I thought the author would have discovered it and corrected it himself.—Yours, etc.,
W. PYE.

A FALSE PEAL OF GRANDSIRE.

Sir,—In the Kent County Association report for 1923, page 87, the figures of a peal of Grandsire Triples appear, described as a 'Variation of J. W. Moorhouse's five-part, rung at Wye on May 6th last.' This competition is false. The third bob in the second part and the four following leads repeating with the last course of the peal, which comes home with two Holt's Singles.

We, unfortunately, rang the same composition at Erith on January 7th, conducted by F. J. Cullum, junr., during the ringing of which its falseness was discovered.

Bristol United Guilds' Annual Dinner.

SUCCESSFUL GATHERING IN THE 'CITY OF BELLS.'

An extremely pleasant evening was spent by the company, numbering about 130, who attended the third annual dinner of the Bristol United Guilds, at the Grand Hotel, Bristol, on Saturday evening. These gatherings arose out of a suggestion that there should be in other corners of England some counterpart to the annual dinners held in London and Birmingham, and, so well have the ringers in the western city entered into the spirit of the undertaking, that the gathering already ranks among the principal social events of the Exercise. The Bristol ringers have united most whole-heartedly in carrying the project to a successful issue, and the visitors who were present last Saturday were impressed with the warmth of their reception and the cordiality displayed. Bristol is a veritable city of bells, and within a very limited radius has one peal of twelve, and three of ten, something like ten rings of eight and about half a dozen of six. A number of those peals were employed on Saturday afternoon, and touches in a variety of methods were enjoyed.

The gathering at the Grand Hotel sat down under the genial chairmanship of the Rev. T. C. Fowler, who is chairman of the United Guilds for the year. The guest of the evening was the Ven. Archdeacon of Swindon, others supporting the chairman being Mrs. and Miss Fowler, the Rev. M. Paterson (Vicar of St. Stephen's), Mr. C. Spurrier (churchwarden of St. Thomas's) and Mrs. Spurrier, the Rev. F. L. Edwards (hon. secretary, Salisbury Diocesan Guild), Mr. C. D. Heginbotham (Devizes), the Rev. E. J. Phillips (Vicar of Coal-pit Heath), Mr. D. A. Cameron (Oban), Mr. H. H. Wynn (Bristol), and Mr. H. T. Howell. Mr. F. G. Leaker was the vice-chairman, and the Bristol Societies represented were St. George's, St. Philip's, Clifton, St. James's, St. Thomas's, St. Michael's, St. Luke's, St. Stephen's, etc., many of the ringers being accompanied by their wives. Among those also present were the Rev. R. H. Whitford, the Rev. F. D. N. Wynne, the Rev. Percival Gay, Mrs. R. J. Wilkins (President of the Ladies' Guild), Mr. J. W. Jones (hon. secretary, Llandaff and Monmouth Association), Mr. A. Walker (Ringing Master, St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham), Mr. J. Thomas (representing Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, London), Mr. S. R. Roper (Craydon Foundry), Mr. C. H. Jennings (Wyke Regis), Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Goldsmith (Woking), Mr. J. B. Tyler (London), Mr. A. E. Norman (Birmingham), Mr. J. W. Pemberton (Erdington), Mr. C. J. Gardiner (Swindon), Messrs. A. Prince and T. F. King (Bath), and other ringers from Chew Magna, Mangotsfield, Doultling, Leigh-on-Mendip, Henbury, Olveston, Thornbury, Evercreech, Portishead, Brislington, Keynsham, etc. The excellent arrangements had been made by an enthusiastic committee, consisting of the Chairman and Vice-Chairman, Mr. P. C. Williams (hon. treasurer), Mr. Edgar Guise (hon. secretary), Miss E. Smith, and Messrs. W. A. Cave, L. Gowing, H. T. Howell and J. G. Jeffries (stewards), W. Braven, E. J. Brown, J. A. Burford, J. Gould, J. R. Jones, W. Stafford and H. Way. Apologies for absence were received from the Rev. M. E. Thorold (vice-president of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association), the Rev. C. C. Parker (Master) and Mr. E. E. Burgess (hon. secretary, Bath and Wells Diocesan Association), Messrs. J. Hunt (Taunton), W. A. Lewis (Berkeley), W. Yeend (Cheltenham), G. Stacey (Minehead), L. Gowing and W. Knight (Bristol), and A. Wright (Painswick).

A PRESENTATION.

As soon as the loyal toast had been honoured, an interesting presentation was made. Mr. J. Gould had very generously provided a silver bell pendant for the chairman's chain of office, and a bell, which, he said, might be used 'to keep the meetings in order.' He had felt that the chain looked rather bare, and being impressed with the energetic way in which the committee set about making that gathering an annual affair, he had decided to present them with a pendant for the chain, which he asked the secretary to accept, together with the bell, for the use of the United Guilds (applause).

Both pendant and bell were inscribed with the words, 'Chairman, Bristol United Guilds of Change Ringers, founded 1921,' and were supplied by Mr. G. Stacey, of Minehead.

Mr. E. Guise accepted the gifts from Mr. Gould, and handed them on to the chairman, to hold as long as he held office.

The Chairman said he greatly appreciated Mr. Gould's kind thought, and desired to thank him on behalf of Bristol United Guilds. Proceeding, the Chairman said bells played a very great part in the life of the Christian, and he went on to enumerate the occasions upon which bells were employed to mark the events of human life. 'The bells,' he said, 'rejoiced with Christians when they rejoiced, and they sobbed with them in sorrow. He was very proud indeed to belong to Bristol United Guilds of Bell Ringers (applause).

Mr. W. A. Cave proposed the toast of 'The Church,' which, he said, they as ringers, loved. No one, he thought, could speak to this toast at the present time without referring to the bombshell recently sprung upon them by the Archbishop of Canterbury in connection with the subject of reunion with Rome. Mr. Cave quoted at length from the sermon of a Bath clergyman, with whom he said he was in total agreement, in which the secret conference which had been going on was condemned as having for its avowed aim the undoing of the work of the Reformation. It would not be reunion with Rome, it would be the extinction of the Church of England by absorption. Proceeding, Mr. Cave said that during the last few years, the Church had made great strides with regard to organisation. Church Councils had been instituted, and it was to these they must look for the future strengthening of the church. He urged that the duties now discharged by the Vestry should be incorporated in those of the Parochial Councils.

The Archdeacon of Swindon, who replied to the toast, said that while it would be improper for him to pretend to stand champion for the Archbishop, he thought, perhaps, he ought not to be quite silent with regard to the criticism which had been launched by Mr. Cave. Once the idea had possessed people's minds that it would be well if all Christians were of one united body, it was obvious that anybody, who had the responsibility of carrying that idea to some conclusion, should explore every possible avenue, and it would be quite impossible to explore all the avenues if they left out of consideration and denied the right or propriety of the exploration of unity with the Latin Church. It was quite possible when these explorations had been made that they would find that the time of reunion was not yet, but he did not think they ought, as Churchmen, to assume that the Archbishop, or anyone else, had acted dishonestly or out of harmony with the necessities of the situation in saying that when all Christian bodies were being approached, that any particular one, for the purposes of inquiry and exploration, should be left out.

RINGERS AS CO-OPERATORS.

Continuing, the Archdeacon thanked the United Guilds for the honour they had done him in inviting him as the guest of the evening, and went on to speak of the ringer as a co-operator in the work of the Church, and as a contributor to the romance of life. Ringers, he said, made the Church heard as no one else could. From ancient times they had been the broadcasters of the invitation of the Church to the worship of Almighty God. The voice of the Church, as it was magnified by the ringer, made itself heard far beyond the range of the voice of the most stentorian clergyman, or the reach of the vocal skill of the choir. They (the clergy) regarded the ringers as splendid co-operators in the work of the Church, who acted as heralds of that great institution, which had no more loyal servants and no more faithful upholders than the ringers who occupied the English belfries. Turning to the position of ringers as contributors to the romance of English life, he said the sound of bells, stirred the imagination of the people in town and country, as probably nothing else did. Having passed in rapid review the place taken by bells in poetry, the Archdeacon said, so far as the clergy were concerned, they recognised how greatly the ringers helped them. He prayed that God's richest blessing would wait upon them and upon their work: might they each one: 'Ring out the false, ring in the true,' and for everyone of them 'Ring out the darkness of the land, ring in the Christ that is to be' (applause).

A CONTRAST.

Mr. C. D. Heginbotham, in an interesting speech, submitted 'The Gloucester and Bristol Association.' Having referred to historical and other associations between Bristol and his own town of Devizes, the speaker contrasted the position of ringers and ringing when he first became connected with it thirty years ago, and the present day. In 1893, he said, the various Guilds were in existence, but were not so much subdivided as they were to-day into smaller and more workable branches. He hoped this sub-division would go on until it was possible to hold a meeting once a year in every tower covered by a branch area. In 1893 secondary education was in its infancy: to-day, as one result of it, they had a wider field to choose from when selecting young fellows likely to make good change ringers. In 1893 one often came across bells, the 'go' of which was very bad, and belfries which were very dirty and untidy. To-day so much had been done in the way of reknanging and renewing bells that it was the exception rather than the rule to come across a bad ring. He could only recollect one among the many towers in which he rang last year. In 1893 they experienced one difficulty which they experienced to-day, when trying to progress in campanology, and that was the difficulty of the elder men without sufficient ambition or energy to study new methods, or even method ringing. That was a serious problem, because these old men were often of sterling character, although they acted as a drag on the wheel of progress. In 1893 he could remember a great stir being made by the appearance on the scene of a lady-ringer, Miss Alice White, of Basingstoke. To-day they had hundreds of lady ringers up and down the country. It was the ladies, very largely, they had to thank for beautifying and purifying the belfries and the improved manners and increased chivalry among the male ringers (applause). In 1893 the squire and the parsons, at least in the county parishes, still ruled local affairs. To-day the squire was not, the parson still is, but they found him often with two or three churches to look after instead of one, and in some instances with about the same numerical congregation in all three, that he formerly had in one. One sometimes wondered who would occupy the belfries thirty years hence, when many of them there that night had 'passed on.' What, for instance, would be the ladies' opinion of bell ringers at a time when, perhaps, they (the ladies) might be in a majority in the belfries? Would it be anything like the opinion of the school girl who wrote in an essay: 'Man is what woman has to marry. He smokes, drinks, swears and never goes to church. Both sprang from apes, but woman sprang farthest' (laughter). In conclusion, Mr. Heginbotham expressed his gratitude to those ringers in the city of Bristol and in Somerset, Wiltshire, and the Isle of Wight, who made his tour of inquiry into ringing conditions last year such a thoroughly enjoyable one.

THE FIRST PEAL OF CINQUES.

SOME FACTS ABOUT ST. BRIDE'S BELLS AND BENJAMIN ANNABLE.

The true date of the first Grandsire Cinques is Tuesday, January 19th, 1724; no time was given by the Ancient Society of College Youths in 20 of the first 21 peals booked up in Volume No. 1 of their Records, as it was not the custom to do so in those early days of peal ringing.

It is most interesting to note that Annable, who rang the second in this performance, conducted 17 of the first 21 peals referred to.

The ten bells were cast in 1710, and the trebles in 1719 by Rudhall, of Gloucester. Annable was born near this church in 1702 (died 1756), and it is very probable that he saw the ring of ten bells (as a boy eight years old) when they were landed from the Thames and hauled to the steeple of St. Bride's Church, thus becoming interested, at an early age, in an art in which he was so soon to become a Master.

Joining the College Youths in 1721, when only 19 years of age, he composed and conducted the second performance by the society, Grandsire Caters, at St. Magnus-the-Martyr only a month after the Cinques; and within a year following composed and conducted Bob Major, Royal and Maximus in succession at St. Bride's.

The trebles were given to the parish by the efforts of the College Youths and the London Scholars, who erected tablets in the belfry recording some of their achievements.

The latter society recorded a peal on St. Bride's bells in the year 1717, but the board was lost or destroyed during repairs in 1796.

W. H. FUSSELL.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The first meeting of the year for the South and West District was held with success at Chiswick on Saturday last. Several touches were rung before the service, which was conducted by the Rev. C. H. Sangster, with Miss Dora G. Feltham, a lady ringer from Hillingdon, at the organ.

Tea was served in the Church Hall by Mr. Thurley (churchwarden), with the Rev. C. H. Sangster in the chair, supported by Mr. T. Beadle (vice-president), the Ringing Master, and the hon. secretary, a muster of 37 sitting down to a substantial repast.

At the business which followed, it was decided to hold the annual meeting at Isleworth in February, and Feltham was selected for the March meeting.

The usual vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar and churchwardens for allowing the use of the bells and Parish Hall; to the Rev. C. H. Sangster for conducting the service and presiding at the meeting; to the organist, and all who helped to make the meeting a success. Handbell ringing was indulged in by several members afterwards.

Messrs. W. Welling, F. Middleton, A. Cross and R. Wood, four great enthusiasts, faced the boisterous winds and cycled from Old Windsor. They 'came in at the death,' although out of breath, and enjoyed a good tea. The tower was again visited, and methods up to Superlative and Cambridge were practised. Among the visitors were Mr. J. W. Moorhouse from Leeds, and Mr. W. Hart, of Brighton. Five lady ringers took part, viz., the Misses P. Moss, D. Feltham, G. Baker (Hillingdon), M. Chamberlain and C. Santen (Chiswick). Before the close the number of ringers present increased to 48, and a pleasant and enjoyable time was spent.

FINE-TONED PEAL OF 8 FOR BIRMINGHAM.

DEDICATION OF NEW RING AT BISHOP RYDER'S CHURCH.

For some time past the peal of eight bells at Bishop Ryder's Church have been silent owing to their unsafe condition. The parish is a poor one, and it seemed almost a hopeless task to collect sufficient money to get the bells rehung, but through the munificence of an old parishioner, Councillor R. R. Gelling, the peal which were not a very musical octave have not only been rehung, but have also been recast. This highly gratifying result has really been brought about at the instigation of Mr. James George, the Ringing Master, who must be very proud of the outcome of his efforts to get a good peal of bells at this church.

The new peal was dedicated at the evening service on Sunday, Dec. 30th, by the Ven. Archdeacon Hopton, of Birmingham. The bells were rung round a few times during the service by James George 1, Albert T. Scrivens 2, Albert E. Norman 3, Thomas Russam 4, Percy O. Ladin 5, Oliver G. Norman 6, Albert Walker 7, Samuel Coley 8; and after the service, a well-struck 504 Stedman Triples was rung on them by the following band: Albert E. Norman 1, Thomas Russam 2, Albert T. Scrivens 3, James George (conductor) 4, John Neal 5, Oliver G. Norman 6, Albert Walker 7, Samuel Coley 8.

On Saturday, January 5th, the tower was open to visitors, and a goodly number of ringers attended from neighbouring places within a radius of 20 miles. The bells were kept going from 2.30 till 4.30, their tone and 'go' being greatly admired. Tea was kindly provided by the church authorities in the Schoolroom, when a party of 60 sat down. Afterwards, the Vicar (the Rev. Canon G. E. Badger) remarked how happy he was that the bells were now put in order, and that they had such a fine peal. He could hardly find words in which to thank Councillor Gelling for his magnificent gift to the church, and he felt sure they would be a great blessing to the parish.

Councillor Gelling, who was received with applause, on rising to reply, said that for some time past he had had it in mind to put up a memorial in memory of his uncle and aunt. The bells certainly had not entered his mind, but when Mr. George approached him and suggested that this would be an excellent memorial, and at the same time supply a great need in the parish, he decided to do it. He first agreed to have the bells rehung, but after they had been taken to the foundry at Loughborough and their defects in tone pointed out to him, he decided to do the job thoroughly, and have them melted up and recast (applause). In conclusion, he remarked how happy he was to be of service in this way, and hoped that his gift would prove a blessing to the church and parish (applause).

Alderman J. S. Pritchett, Presiding Ringing Master of the St. Martin's Guild, in a few well-chosen remarks, said how happy he was to be with them that afternoon. It took his mind back a long time, for by a strange coincidence it was just 50 years since he rang his first peal at Bishop Ryder's Church, and he wondered if he would have an opportunity of ringing another this year to celebrate it.

Mr. Thomas Russam also said that he had very happy recollections of Bishop Ryder's, he having attended the schools over fifty years ago, and rung his first peal on the bells 48 years ago.

Mr. James George, who has been Ringing Master at Bishop Ryder's Church for some years, said he had long wished for a good peal of bells at this church, and now that this wish was fulfilled he was very happy about it, and felt sure that in time a good band of ringers would be attached there (applause). He knew he could rely on the St. Martin's Guild giving him all the assistance possible (hear, hear).

A vote of thanks to the Vicar and Councillor Gelling, and to all those responsible for the arrangements, was proposed by Alderman J. S. Pritchett, and was carried with applause. This concluded the proceedings. After a course of Stedman Cinques and some tunes had been rung on the handbells, a return was made to the tower for further ringing.

Great praise is due to Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, for the splendid 'go' and 'tone' of the bells. The tenor, which is 12 cwt. 3 qr. 24 lb. in F sharp, bears the following inscription:—

'To the Glory of God and in memory of George and Mary Stephens. These bells were recast and rehung by their nephew, Robert Raisbeck Gelling, 1923. Canon G. E. Badger, Vicar; James George, Ringing Master.'

THE PEAL AT ST. JAMES', BERMONDSEY.

'W. G.' writes: 'In your "Belfry Gossip" column you speak about trying to get the bells at St. James', Bermondsey, restored to proper ringing condition. I beg to inform you that the financial state of the parish is so bad that they cannot even supply us with a new set of ropes which we have been trying to get for the last year. The peal was rung on our own ropes. The ages of the tenor men were 18 and 21 respectively.'

Saunders was present, and afterwards took part in 448 Superlative.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.THE NEW BELLS AT BRADFORD-ON-AVON.

The first monthly meeting for 1924 of the Devizes branch was held at Christ Church, Bradford-on-Avon on Saturday, January 5th, in order to welcome into the branch area the new peal of eight bells presented to the parish by General and Mrs. G. L. Palmer, the bells having been dedicated by the Dean of Salisbury on December 27th. Ringing commenced at 3 o'clock, and later the Guild service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. Wyndham Noel). A complimentary tea was provided in the Christ Church Schools, to which 83 sat down. Among those present were General Palmer and his two grandsons, the Vicar (the Rev. Wyndham Noel) and the two churchwardens, the Rev. W. H. M. Clarke (Vicar of Holy Trinity), the Rev. J. F. Alexander (Vicar of South Wrexall), Mr. Cyril F. Johnston (of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, the firm that cast and hung the bells), and ringing representatives from 14 towers in the branch area, as well as from a considerable number of places outside the branch, including Midsomer Norton, Bath, Bristol, Newport (Mon.), Wyke Regis, Salisbury, Swindon, Frome, Twerton-on-Avon, Batheaston, and Swainswick.

After tea, the Vicar and churchwardens gave a very hearty welcome to all present.—The Branch Chairman (Mr. C. D. Heginbotham) said if that meeting might be taken as an omen, from the branch point of view, the year certainly looked like being a prosperous one.—Mr. S. J. Hector (Branch Ringing Master) spoke a few words on the bells. He considered the Christ Church parish had a beautiful peal of bells, perfect in every way, thanks to General and Mrs. Palmer, and to Messrs. Gillett and Johnston. A peal of Grandsire Triples was rung on them two days before, in which he (Mr. Hector) took part, and he had no fault whatever to find with anything.

Mr. C. H. Jennings, hon. secretary, Dorchester Branch, and Mr. J. W. Jones, of Newport, also said a few words.

Mr. Johnston was heartily thanked for so kindly giving the tea, and in replying, expressed gratification at the remarks made concerning the work of his firm.

Twelve new members were elected (nine being from Christ Church), also several hon. members, including General Palmer. This concluded the meeting. The bells, which are of beautiful tone, were soon sending forth their music again. Some good touches of Major, Stedman and Grandsire Triples were rung during the afternoon and evening.

THE WARWICKSHIRE GUILD.SPECIAL MEETING AT COLESHILL.

Saturday, January 5th, was a red-letter day in the history of ringing at Colehill, when upwards of 30 members of the Warwickshire Guild assembled at the invitation of the local society (and in the words of the Vicar) 'to give the new Trebles, in conjunction with the old six, a good shaking up.' The new bells had been dedicated on New Year's Eve at the midnight service, and on the augmented peal the entry of the New Year was welcomed by the local band. For the special meeting members were present from Allesley, Birmingham, Burton-on-Trent, Chittons Coton, Coventry, Derby, Erdington, Loughborough, Nuneaton, Solihull, Sutton Coldfield, Stoke, together with the local band, the party including several ladies.

Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, with their usual skill, have made an excellent splice of the bells, and have hung the new trebles in ball bearings. The bells having been raised in peal, the opening touch was one of Stedman Triples, conducted by the district secretary, Mr. Bernard Wittchell. The band stood as follows: B. W. Wittchell 1, Miss Gladys Dodds 2, J. Oldham 3, T. W. Chapman 4, H. Argyle 5, A. Wilkerson 6, F. W. Clayton 7, J. F. Clarke 8. A large company assembled in the tower during this touch, and, shortly after, a disappointing incident occurred. The ringer of the 2nd in some Kent Treble Bob unfortunately missed the sally, with the result the stay broke, and the accident caused some delay in the ringing.

Tea was provided in the Assembly Room at the Swan Hotel, presided over by the Vicar (the Archdeacon of Aston), supported by Mr. Fifield, the donor of the bells, to whom the members are grateful for his kind hospitality.

The Vicar said how pleased he was to see so many present, and although he thought they had done all that was required in completing the octave, he learned from the secretary that the old six required rehanging.

Mr. Fifield endorsed the Vicar's remarks, and said he was pleased to do what he had done in giving the two trebles. He was an old ringer himself, and his son was now a ringer at the old church, which was always first in his thoughts. He was thankful God had prospered him, and he knew of no better way of showing his thankfulness, than giving something back in the form of the bells, to call the parishioners to His worship.

Mr. A. Roberts, Ringing Master, and Mr. A. Wilkerson, hon. general secretary, congratulated the village of Colehill on having a peal of eight, and hoped the day was not far distant when the parishioners generally would follow the example of Mr. Fifield and put the old six in peal ringing order worthy of the grand old church.

The methods rung during the afternoon and evening included Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Kent Treble Bob Major, Cambridge and Bristol Surprise.

SERVICE RINGING AND PROGRESS.

From time to time some piece of information comes to hand which provides a striking example of what many bands up and down the country are doing, often out of the limelight which peal ringing brings. Serving the Church first, as all ringers should, and most do, it is a gratifying thought that in hundreds of churches the bells are rung for two services every Sunday throughout the year. It is this regular and conscientious discharge of duty which is the greatest factor in obtaining for ringers that recognition which they are now rapidly gaining for themselves from the Church authorities. There are some towers where the bells have never failed for years to play their part in connection with the Sunday services, the war period not excepted. A good deal of the future of ringing is, we believe, locked up with the fidelity of the ringers to their responsibilities on Sundays, for if ever the right to peal ringing is challenged from the outside, the weight of the Church's backing can only be invoked on behalf of this practice if ringers in their turn have been loyal in their service to the Church.

But beyond this, the desire of ringers to give of their best for service ringing is one of the greatest incentives not only to improved striking, but to advance in method ringing. A keen service ringer usually makes a reliable man for any other occasion, and, given the opportunity, will make headway in the art. Moreover, the man who is unpunctual or irregular in his service ringing is usually the unreliable one when peals are in question; he is the careless man at the rope end, or the missing individual when a band meets 'one short.' And this brings us to the records to which we specially wish to direct attention. A fortnight ago we gave details of the year's doings of the Leytonstone band, who rang during 1923 no fewer than 101 extents on six bells, in nearly forty methods. In this issue the records appear of two other six-bell bands, viz., the men at Norbury, Cheshire, whose prowess with spliced extents are too well known to need eulogy here, and the band at Anston, who, though less heard of, have to their credit a performance of which they may well be proud, having rung 60 720's during the year in no fewer than 54 different methods. That is a great achievement. In each case it has been the desire for good service ringing that has induced these bands to go forward as they have done, and a large proportion of these extents have been rung on Sundays. Of course, there are many other instances of bands who, in their respective ways, can show a record of consistent good work, but what we want to emphasise is that it is generally those who are keenest in their Sunday ringing who make the best progress, whether it is as individuals or as a band.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.

NORTHERN BRANCH.

The annual meeting of the Gainsborough District of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild was held at Gainsborough on Saturday, January 12th, and was fairly well attended by ringers from Stow, Brigg, Messingham, Bigby and Ordsall, in addition to the local company. The bells of the Parish Church were kept going during the afternoon and evening to the methods of Grandsire, St. Clement's, and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Treble Bob, Little Bob, St. Clement's Double Norwich, Duffield and Superlative Surprise Major. Even-song was said at 4 p.m., and an excellent tea was afterwards provided in the Parish Church Institute. This was followed by the business meeting, at which the Rev. C. A. Greensmith presided in the place of the Vicar (Canon Standon), who was unavoidably absent. An apology of absence was received from Canon Hicks, of Messingham, also from Mr. E. Haigh, of Worksop.

The following new members were elected: Miss Hiley, Miss F. Mathews, Miss C. Howitt, Miss P. Baker and Miss D. Sutton, all of Gainsborough. One honorary member (Mr. W. E. Morris), of Gainsborough, was elected, and the election of Mr. C. A. Smythe, of Stow, was confirmed.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Canon Standon; secretary, Mr. H. Morgan; representative on the Northern Branch Committee, Mr. E. Dawber; Ringing Master, Mr. H. Morgan.

Votes of thanks to the Vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells, the Rev. C. A. Greensmith for presiding at the meeting, and Mr. and Mrs. T. Wheipon and family for the able way in which they had attended to the wants of those at the tea-table, were unanimously passed.

The Rev. C. A. Greensmith replied, and also asked the secretary to convey the goodwill and greeting of the meeting to Mr. F. S. W. Butler, secretary of the Northern Branch, who was unable to attend the meeting owing to illness.

A letter was read regarding a proposal made at the Kirton Lindsey meeting last year, with reference to the annual report of the Guild. It was resolved to leave the matter in the hands of the members of the Northern Branch Committee.

The following were the places selected for the district meetings during the ensuing year: Blyton, April 12th; Stow, May; Broughton, June; Haxey, July; Redbourne, August; Corringham, September; Brigg, October. The dates of all, with the exception of the first, were left to the discretion of the district secretary.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Those readers who do not receive their copy of 'The Ringing World' at the accustomed time this week must 'blame the strike.' The Doncaster and District Society has now 205 members, 20 new members having been elected during the year 1923, and four having died.

The centenary peal at Wrentham, Suffolk, to commemorate the one hundredth anniversary of the 7,030 of Doubles rung on January 3rd, 1824, was unfortunately lost. A peal in ten Minor methods was attempted, but came to grief first through the conductor's error, and a second time through one of the ringers starting on the wrong method, in a change from one to another. However, a peal in seven methods was rung on January 12th.

At Elmore, Gloucestershire, the bells have been rehung by Messrs. Taylor and Co., who have installed a new iron frame. The bells now run on roller bearings, and the tenor has been recast, with about two cwt. of metal added. Mr. Churchwarden Meek defrayed the cost of the tenor in remembrance of his parents.

The Ladies' Guild has the honour of being the first with the subscriptions now due to the Central Council.

Mr. John Carter has now sufficiently recovered to be able to get about and perform small journeys with the aid of a stick. He is busy working on an improvement connected with the bells rung by his machine.

On February 25th, 1842, two long peals were rung. At Painswick 8,105 Stedman Caters was brought round, and at Stroud 8,081 Grandsire Caters. By a coincidence both turned out to be false.

A peal of 10,080 Double Norwich Major was rung in 5 hrs. 58 minutes at Appleton on January 28th, 1888, by the Oxford Guild. This was the prelude of a struggle for Double Norwich records, which culminated in the 17,104 at South Wigston in 1904.

The first peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus in London was rung by the College Youths at Cornhill on January 28th, 1911.

Henry Haley died at Bethnal Green on January 29th, 1886, aged 66 years.

We are asked to state that the meeting of the Western District of the Hereford County Association at King's Langley has been postponed to February 2nd, and the meeting of the Ilchester Deanery Branch of the Bath and Wells Association to February 9th.

An attempt for a muffled peal in memory of the late Mr. G. Cleal was made at St. Martin's, Leicester, on Thursday last. It came to grief after two hours' excellent ringing.

DEATH OF MR. S. E. JOYCE.

COLLEGE YOUTHS' YOUNGEST MASTER.

After a long period of ill-health and suffering, patiently borne, Mr. Samuel E. Joyce, a member of St. Paul's Cathedral company, passed to his rest on January 9th, and the College Youths lose another of its most esteemed members, and St. Paul's band a valued and respected colleague.

Mr. Joyce, who was born on March 21st, 1868, learned to handle a bell at St. Mary's, Whitechapel, under the tuition of Mr. E. Wallace, who introduced him to some of the leading members of the Exercise at Bethnal Green. He became an apt pupil to Mr. James Pettit, and rang his first peal, Grandsire Triples, on Feb. 10th, 1885, at St. Mary's, Stratford, E. On his 17th birthday he rang a peal of Stedman at the same church. In 1886 he rang his first peal of Stedman Cinques at Cripplegate, in which the late Sir Arthur Heywood also took part. Although a complete list of his peals is not available, Mr. Joyce rang in many fine performances at St. Matthew's, Bethnal Green, St. Dunstan's-in-the-East, All Hallows', Barking; St. George's-in-the-East, St. Paul's, Shadwell; St. Dunstan's, Stepney and Cinques and Maximus at various city churches. In all he proved himself to be one of the greatest adepts at excellent striking. At St. Paul's Cathedral he took part in Treble Bob Maximus on Nov. 28th, 1896, and Stedman Cinques on Nov. 23rd, 1918. He also rang a peal of Grandsire Triples on handbells with Messrs. Winney, Barkus and Wise.

In 1898 he migrated to South Africa, and shortly after his return, in 1900, he was elected a member of the St. Paul's Cathedral band, and so continued up to the time of his illness.

At the age of 19, Mr. Joyce was elected Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths, the youngest member to be elected to that office.

Like his tutor, Mr. James Pettit, Mr. Joyce was one of nature's gentlemen.

At the interment on January 12th. at Woodgrange Cemetery, Forest Gate, a course of Stedman Triples, preceded and followed by three threes of slow rounds, was rung by Messrs. H. Langdon, C. F. Winney, T. Langdon and E. G. Fenn. Messrs. Rushton and Grimwood were also present at the funeral. On January 15th, a peal of Stedman Triples was rung half-muffled at St. Mary's, Whitechapel, conducted by Mr. T. H. Taffender, and on the 19th, at St. Paul's Cathedral, the 'whole pull and stand' was rung to his memory by his sorrowing colleagues of the Cathedral band.

GEORGE CLEAL, OF LEICESTER. AN APPRECIATION.

A man's history is written in his deeds. He is not a plaything of Fate, although Shakespeare puts into the mouth of Hamlet: 'There's a divinity that shapes our ends, rough-hew them how we will.' Such a dictum is at best a philosophical survey when the tale of life is told. To some at times, it does seem more than co-incidental when, in the crises of nations, the hour and the man arrive simultaneously. Nevertheless, history records proof to the contrary. Witness the fall of great men, and the decadent Rome and the Empires of the East. Napoleon, as he viewed the horizon of Europe exclaimed: 'I go to my destiny.' He did, but not to the one he envisaged. Of a truth a man carves his own destiny, and his footprints are imperishable. Omar, the Persian, believed it:—

The moving finger writes, and having writ
Moves on. Not all your piety or wit
Can lure it back or cancel half a line,
Or all your tears wash out one word of it.

No. A man carves out the path he chooses to his destiny. He may use or misuse the talents with which he is endowed. He may turn to the right hand or to the left. Given the ability—and the opportunity—if he but endure to the end, he can rise and shine like a star in the firmament of his choice, and in so doing win a place in the hearts of his fellows and his memory will not fade. He is not the puppet of an inexorable predestination. If he were, it follows that whatever, is, is best, and thus no man need fear his fate at the hands of the Judge on the Day of the Great Assize.

In the world of ringing there are those who use their small talent to the best advantage. They are satisfied to play their part on the stage of life, and the lack of larger talent entails to them a greater perseverance. They pass on, and their name is Legion. There are others, who from the outset rise in the ranks, and find no difficulty in the solution of the hardest problems. Such a one we call a genius. To him, change ringing is an open book, and he turns from page to page, until 'Fini' puts an end to a brilliant life story. Such a one was George Cleal, who as was briefly announced last week, passed away on January 10th.

Born at Tewkesbury in 1861, we find him at the age of fifteen ringing the treble to his first peal at the famous Abbey. In that band was Mr. C. D. P. Davies—afterwards 'Reverend'—the wizard of Grandsire Triples. In the early eighties, ringing was at a low ebb in the Worcester district, and here the subject of our pen-picture found his opportunity. He got a few kindred spirits around him, and rang and called the first handbell peal in the county. Later, joining the College Youths in London, he rang in the company of the 'old timers,' most of whom have preceded him to the land of shadows. Stedman Triples was rung at Tottenham under the guidance of the grand old man of St. Paul's, the late James Pettit.

In 1888 George Cleal settled in Leicester, and from that date can be ascribed a large proportion of the ringing success in the city. Handbell ringing was his forte, and as we turn back the pages methinks we see him seated in the magic circle, attempting to call Holt's Original from an inside pair. His pale determined face comes up before me as in answer to a query, he says: 'Aye, I can call it—if we can ring it.' And call it he did in December, 1891, after many failures. Of that band, only his bosom friend, S. Cotton, remains.

From that time onward, many peals were rung 'in hand' and on tower bells, and in 1894 Stedman Triples on handbells was achieved. About that period there was a discussion in the 'Bell News' regarding the silent peal of Stedman rung in London in the fifties, and the idea grew that it was possible to add to that solitary, though supreme, achievement. February 13th, 1896, saw the consummation of those hopes before three umpires, while still another was added in 1898. The following year a peal of Stedman Caters (conducted) was rung. At that time no silent peal on ten bells had ever been accomplished, but the same band secured 5,010 in 2 hrs. 49 minutes on October 8th, 1900.

The way was now clear for the piece-de-resistance, viz., silent Stedman Cinques, which it may be said, still stands the only performance of its kind on record. Many half-peals were rung for practice, which extended over three years, but the hour arrived for the attempt in due course. On that occasion the peal should have been rung at the first attempt, but the ringer of the tenors (11, 12) now deceased, forgot himself at the last bob.

For three hours and twenty minutes each man had sat like a statue. Not by a look or the holding up of a blow would anyone give the slightest hint that we were in the homing course. Umpires had laid down their figures as a foregone conclusion, when Clink! Clink! and every man put down his pair of bells in consternation. No words were wasted in anger. George Cleal was not built that way. His face grew a shade paler, his lips more compressed as he pulled out his old pipe and coolly said, 'It's time I had a smoke.'

The peal was rung the following week, and stands to-day—a monument.

We turn another page. Leicester has possessed two rings of ten bells for a century and a half. That of St. Martin's, now the Pro-Cathedral, was for years held up by the church authorities as regards peal ringing. No peal of 5,000 changes was rung during Queen Victoria's long reign. In the nineties George Cleal became attached to the tower, and speedily made his influence felt by gathering around him all the available material. In January, 1901, he took his colts out for their first peal to Stanford, where he called a peal of Grandsire Triples, one of his own compositions. Of that band, Mr. F. H. Dexter is the outstanding feature. The company grew and practised at St. Martin's, where on August 9th, 1902, at the delayed Coronation of Edward VII., the deceased called the first peal of Grandsire Caters on the bells, and this was followed on the centenary of Trafalgar with 5,010 Stedman Caters.

What the St. Martin's company has since achieved is common knowledge. To George Cleal belongs the credit of the pioneer—the one who 'blazed the trail' and made progress possible. He was the 'Father' of the band, and his progeny do him honour. To such men, numbers of peals count as nothing and self-advertisement finds no place. He would at all times obliterate himself for another's advancement, would either ring or stand out as best to him would seem. We would give his advice willingly to any who desired it, and the writer can bear witness.

Not for him the limelight or fulsome flattery—poor substitutes for ability. He believed that merit would always win through sooner or later. As a conductor he invariably chose a composition—when not his own—with something out of the ordinary. On one occasion, an odd-bob multiple bob and single peal of Stedman Triples was called at the first attempt, though the figures only left the composer's hands a few hours before the peal, and drew public admiration from Mr. John Carter by its intricacy.

In argument, his cold and logical reasoning was never disturbed, but he was never dogmatic. Next to ringing he loved a discussion that led to a conclusion.

Of late, when the 'knocking on the door' of his heart warned him that all was not well, he would sit quietly during the ringing, satisfied that his mantle had fallen on worthy shoulders. The end came with dramatic suddenness. Brought home from his employment, he passed away within a few hours.

And now the last scene of all. A bleak cemetery on a wintry day. The coffin covered with its floral emblems is borne to its resting-place in the lap of mother earth. The final prayers are uttered, and as the mourners stand aside, brother ringers take their stand around the grave and the sound of Grandsire Caters on handbells is heard, the last honours to one whose hands will hold them no more. Then the actors leave the stage, the curtain is rung down, and—'the rest is silence.'

I hold it truth with him who sings
To one clear harp in divers tones,
That one may rise on stepping stones
Of their dead selves to higher things.

EDINBURGH SURPRISE.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Please allow me a small space of your valuable paper to reply to Mr. Craven on Edinburgh Surprise.

We wish to thank him for his congratulations. He states, however, that the method is not new, as we used Peterborough Surprise front work, and Bristol Surprise back work. We should like to know if Peterborough has been rung with a whole turn in it, also if Bristol Surprise has been rung with a triple snap in 7-8, and a three pull dodge in 5-6. Perhaps Mr. Craven will be kind enough to reply to these two questions and satisfy us on the subject.—Yours truly,

C. T. BAILEY,
on behalf of St. Margaret's Society, Leiston.

'EDINBURGH' ENTITLED TO ITS OWN NAME.

Dear Sir,—Does Mr. Craven intend people to take him seriously when he refers to 'Edinburgh'? If he does, why publish method No. 2?

I would remind him that it has equal right with Superlative to have a name of its own.

I would also remind him that the peals of Royal (14 courses) with 6th extent belong to me, they were all rung about thirty years ago for the first time. I note one was rung for the first Yorkshire Royal, another as Princess Mary, another (I presume) published this week, New Cambridge. I would also be obliged if he would cease claiming my 7,616 two-part Treble Bob.—Yours faithfully,

G. LINDOFF.

ST. MARY-LE-TOWER SOCIETY, IPSWICH.

The annual meeting of the above society was held on Tuesday, January 8th, when the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Master, Mr. F. William Tillet; Deputy Master, Mr. E. Hobart Smith; treasurer, Mr. Charles J. Sedgley; steward and steeplekeeper, Mr. Frederick J. Tillet; auditors, Messrs. R. H. Brundle and W. P. Garrett; secretary, Mr. George E. Symonds, 23, Chevallier Street, Ipswich.

BRISTOL UNITED GUILDS' ANNUAL DINNER.

A DIFFERENT TYPE OF ORGANISATION WANTED.

Mr. Edgar Guise, the hon. secretary, responded to the toast of 'The Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association,' proposed by Mr. Heginbotham. They had reached, he said, what might be called the second stage of their existence, when they wanted a different type of organisation to that which sufficed when the association was founded in 1887. The war stopped their efforts with regard to organisation, and they were compelled to carry on in haphazard way. Over three hundred members served in the war, and 20 per cent. of them lost their lives. This, of course, seriously depleted their ranks, but although their membership was now approximately 850, he did not think the welfare of the association was what it should be. He put this down to three things. The first was that they should get better support from the clergy than they did. They had some very kind honorary members, some associates and a few performing members among the clergy, but when they considered they had approximately 200 towers with peals of bells in the dioceses of Gloucester and Bristol, he did not think the numbers were sufficient. Moreover, when they made an appeal for an affiliation fee of 2s. 6d., the highest income they received from that source was 24 10s., which represented less than forty towers. Their subscription fee had been 1s. 6d. per member from the inauguration of the association, and the committee had done all they could by way of economising in order that this subscription should not be increased. Another point was, he would like to see more members attending the annual meeting. The third point was that he thought they would make more progress from the ringing point of view if they dispensed with some of the branch meetings and held monthly meetings for combined practice, and thus got down to the spadework which was one of the objects of the association. He believed further sub-division of some of their districts was necessary. At any rate, the Bristol Branch, as at present constituted, was almost unworkable, and he thought they would benefit to a considerable extent by the division of that branch. In conclusion, Mr. Guise said he found the ringers in the Gloucester and Bristol Association were jolly good fellows; they had that reputation all over the country, and he hoped would always have it (applause).

KINDRED SOCIETIES.

The Rev. R. H. Whitford proposed 'Kindred Guilds,' and welcomed among them, members of the College Youths, St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham, Salisbury Guild, Bath and Wells Association, Surrey Association, Llandaff and Monmouth Association, the Ladies' Guild, and others. This idea of their ringing guilds, he said, spoke to them of a sort of great fraternity among men who were interested in the work of the Church. He had never worked in a parish where there were bells, but whenever he went into any tower he had always been most cordially welcomed. In a belfry, ringers spoke quite freely, and one often heard a perfectly frank opinion of what others thought of them (laughter). He hoped the power of the Guilds would continue to go out far and wide. There was a great deal to be done in regard to campanology in the West of England, and west of a line drawn from Bristol through Taunton to Exeter there was scope for great work.

The Rev. F. Ll. Edwards first responded, and referred to the days when the Rev. R. H. Whitford and he were at Cambridge together, and to the handbell peals in which they took part. Mr. Edwards dwelt upon the fraternal spirit which existed among change ringers throughout the kingdom, and to the way in which ringers in advanced methods were always ready to give up some of their time to ringing easier methods when they had among them visitors less advanced than themselves. It was a great pleasure and a great experience, especially to those who lived in rural districts, to be able to meet ringers in such centres as Bristol, both in the belfry and round the festive board.

Mr. J. W. Jones, who also replied, said he was only voicing the feelings of his own society and the other societies throughout the length and breadth of the land, when he said they looked up with pride and respect to the Gloucester and Bristol Association. He considered they were second to none. Only a short time ago they were delighted to read of a peal of Stedman Triples at St. Stephen's, non-conducted. An association that had eight members that could do that was in a very proud and high position, and when they remembered that they were not drawing men from the whole area of the association, but that everyone of the band belonged to the city of Bristol it added to the merit of the performance (applause). The county of Gloucester had long held a high position, and had a great reputation in ringing, for many of the great performances of the past had been accomplished at Painswick, in the days of William Estcourt. Whether it was in Painswick, or Gloucester or Bristol, there were no ringers who were more anxious to get a man on than the ringers of that association, or who would do more to enable a ringer to get his first peal or 'touch.' He knew many men who had come to Bristol or Gloucester for their first peal in a method, and he knew of no body of men who offered better hospitality to ringers than the members of that association (applause).

The Rev. E. J. Phillips proposed 'The Press' in a facetious speech, the toast being acknowledged by the Editor of 'The Ringing World.' The concluding toast was that of 'The Artists,' which was submitted by Mr. Gould, who thanked the performers for their splendid entertainment.

A great feature of the evening was the musical programme, which, thanks largely to the efforts of Mr. W. S. Emery, provided a most lightful entertainment, the majority of those taking part being professional artistes. The songs of Miss Audrey Stinchcombe (medallist) and Miss Connie Morgan (triple gold medallist), and of Mr. Lloyd Williams and Mr. Herbert V. Spiller, were given in the most talented style, and, as with the splendid monologues and recitations contributed by Miss Dorothy Hill and Mr. W. D. Moncrieff, were loudly encored. 'Cello solos by the Rev. P. Gay were exquisitely played, and Mr. Marriott Edgar, a comedian from the Prince's Theatre, delighted the company with song and story; Mr. C. D. Heginbotham sang a topical song on the progress of the ringer, entitled 'Go on,' and a selection on handbells was given by Mr. E. J. Brown and four ladies. A course of Stedman Caters was also rung on handbells by Messrs. A. E. Norman, J. Thomas, A. Walker, E. J. Brown and W. A. Cave, but unfortunately time prevented the completion of the musical programme, and a song by Mrs. Frank Howell had to be omitted. The enjoyable proceedings came to an end at eleven o'clock, with 'Auld Lang Syne.'

DONCASTER & DISTRICT SOCIETY.

The annual meeting of the Doncaster and District Society was held at St. George's, Doncaster, on Saturday last. Sixty members were present, and the towers represented were: Arksey, Adwick-le-Street, Barnsley, Gainsborough, Conisborough, Sprotborough, Thorne, Hatfield, Tickhill, Pontefract, Rawmarsh, Fishlake, Doncaster and Wortley. During the afternoon, touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major, Treble-Bob Major and Double Norwich Court Bob Major were rung. A short service was held in the Forman Chapel, the ringers' special form of service being used. An address was given by the President of the Society (the Ven. Archdeacon Sandford, M.A., Vicar of Doncaster). Taking as his text, 'Work your work betimes, and in His time He will give you your reward' (Ecclesiasticus ii. 30), the reverend gentleman preached an eloquent sermon. He welcomed the Society to St. George's, and said how pleased he was to be able to speak to the visitors. He spoke at length about the work of the ringers, and how the call of the bells went out, with a louder voice than anything else, to the whole of the 50,000 people who lived within hearing distance of the bells. Continuing, he referred to the difficulties of the art of change ringing, and said that although he had been a ringing member of the Yorkshire Association for the last forty years, he had never mastered the art, and had, therefore, a great admiration for all those who had. Just as education tended to bring out and develop that which is already in the mind, so the practice of the art of change ringing brought out and developed faculties and qualities which would otherwise remain undeveloped and dormant.

After the service, an excellent 'knife and fork' tea was partaken of in the Memorial Hall. The business meeting followed. Mr. G. Halksworth, vice-president, took the chair, and he was supported by Mr. H. Woodhouse (hon. treasurer), Mr. Harold Walker (hon. secretary), and Mr. C. D. Potter (hon. secretary of the Barnsley and District Society).

The secretary's annual report and balance sheet were passed as very satisfactory.—The hon. secretary was re-elected to serve another three years, and was heartily thanked for his past services.—Adwick-le-Street was selected as the next place of meeting in February.

The business having been satisfactorily disposed of, the proceedings concluded with an entertainment given by 'The Keynotes.' This party of talented artistes added further to their fine reputation as Doncaster's premier concert party. Their programme was packed with good things, in the way of music, mirth, melody, and burlesque. Solos were sung by Grace Bowerman (soprano) and Lawrie Harrison (baritone), and instrumental solos were given by Mabel Dewhirst (violinist) and Anne Harrison (pianist). The humour was supplied by Kathleen Jackson (comediennes), who is also well known among the towers of South Yorkshire as an expert campanologist, Billy Scofield (humorist), and Chris. Thornton (comedian).

The party was very well received, and encores were frequently demanded. The more serious items of the programme showed that the party has a taste for really good music, and the way in which the items were interpreted reflects great credit upon the performers.

Mr. H. Woodhouse proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the artistes for their splendid entertainment, and said that to attempt to pick out any one item from the programme for special mention was impossible, because they were all excellent, and left nothing to be desired.—Mr. Lawrie Harrison replied on behalf of 'The Keynotes' Auld Lang Syne and the National Anthem—brought to a close a very pleasant meeting and social gathering, enjoyed alike by ringers and their wives.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD, BIRMINGHAM.HENRY JOHNSON'S RINGING PAPERS.

The annual meeting of the St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham was held at the St. Martin's Hotel, City, on Tuesday, January 15th, the Presiding Ringing Master (Alderman J. S. Pritchett, M.A.) being in the chair. The bells of St. Martin's were available, and were made good use of for an hour and a half before the meeting, many members from outlying towers taking the opportunity of a pull on the twelve.

The Chairman mentioned that the Guild had lost an excellent member, and everyone a good comrade, by the death, at a comparatively early age, of Mr. James L. Wells. Mr. Wells had won and deserved the respect of every ringer with whom he came in contact. He was a splendid type of man, and no one ever had an ill-word to say of him. He had for many years been a member of the Sunday Service band at St. Martin's Church, and would be greatly missed. His wife pre-deceased him a few years ago, and it was greatly to his credit, the Chairman added, that he had made provision for his two children, and had left them so that with the kindness of his relatives they would be well looked after in the future.—All present stood up a few moments in silence as a last tribute of respect to his memory.

The election of officers then took place, and the President (the Lord Bishop of Birmingham) and Vice-Presidents having been re-elected en bloc, the Secretary (Mr. A. Paddon Smith) proposed the re-election of Mr. Alderman Pritchett as Presiding Ringing Master. He said it was unnecessary to eulogise the services of their chairman, they were well known to everyone, and he was certain they would not dream of proposing anyone else for that office so long as Mr. Pritchett would allow himself to be re-elected.—This was seconded by Mr. A. Walker, and carried with acclamation.

On rising to reply, the chairman received quite an ovation. He thanked the members for his re-election, but said that he must warn them that he was 69 years of age on January 8th last, and in addition to the weight of years, he still felt the effects of a recent accident which he had sustained during the frosty weather. However, his will to serve remained, and if they would accept him with all his shortcomings he would be proud to occupy the office for another year at any rate.

Mr. Albert Walker was unanimously re-elected as Deputy Ringing Master, and in thanking the members, took the opportunity of giving a short report of the Guild's activities during the past twelve months.

Messrs. Thomas Russam and Charles Dickens were re-elected trustees, and Mr. Jonathan Preston was elected as an auditor in place of the late Mr. J. L. Wells; the senior auditor, Mr. T. H. Reeves; and the honorary secretary being also re-elected.

The balance sheet for the year 1923 was duly adopted, and the Secretary reported that the dinner committee had been able to secure the Connaught Room at the Imperial Hotel for the Henry Johnson Dinner, which would be held on Saturday, March 1st next.

News was conveyed to the meeting by Mr. Walter Bryant that the oldest member of the Guild (in membership), Mr. John Buffery, was lying seriously ill, and the secretary was requested to write him a letter of sympathy on behalf of the members. Mr. John Carter is also still on the sick list, and the members wished their sympathy and best wishes conveyed to him.

The thanks of the Guild were expressed to Mr. Tom Russam for his efforts in obtaining certain old ringing books and papers from Mr. Henry Johnson, who had very kindly consented to these documents, many of which had been compiled and collected by his illustrious father, being handed over to the Guild, and to remain their property.

In addition to these books, etc., Mr. Russam had also been fortunate enough to secure a unique and valuable record of the first peal of Kent Treble Bob Maximus ever rung, this being a 7,200 rung at St. Martin's in 1820. The unique wording of this record was noted in the 'Ringing World' of December 28th last.

As the Guild has now a very interesting and valuable collection of books and other property, it was considered advisable that a librarian should be appointed, to make a list or catalogue of the various items, and a willing and enthusiastic recruit to the ranks, in the person of Mr. W. T. Froggatt, was elected, and kindly consented to undertake this work.

The next business meeting will be held at Aston in April.

REV. MAITLAND KELLY STILL RINGING.

Although past the age of fourscore years, the Rev. Maitland Kelly, who has done so much for ringing in Devon, is still keenly interested, and able to take his place at the rope end. On Thursday of last week at St. Mary's Church, Kelly, he took part in a 720 Bob Minor. This performance is one which was achieved only after much patient endeavour, and it was the first 720 by all except Mr. Kelly and the conductor. It was rung by John Boucher 1, Rev. Maitland Kelly 2, George Fitze 3, Henry Boucher 4, Rev. E. S. Powell (conductor) 5, Abel Johns 6. All are members of the South-Western Branch of the Devon Guild.

RESTORATION OF HALWILL BELLS.TRANSFORMATION IN A DEVON BELFRY.

For four or five years the bells of Halwill Church, Devon, have lain neglected on the floor. Now, as the result of several efforts, realising between £400 and £500, they have been rehung.

The restoration entailed unhooking the bells, removing the old cage, floors, and the roof of the tower, and rebuilding of the tower walls in the bell chamber, which had been very badly cut away to get the bells in on one level. New oak floors have been put in, and a new lead flat roof placed on the tower. A new combination cage for six bells has been fixed in two tiers. The bottom one is for the two tenors, and is supported by three steel girders and an oak floor. The top tier, which is built for four bells, rests on the offsets of the tower walls, and is supported in the centre by a steel girder. The bells have been rehung with entirely new fittings of the newest type. The erection of the bell cage and the rehanging of the five bells have been carried out by Messrs. T. Doble and Son, of Taunton, to the satisfaction of the restoration committee. At the rededication service on January 3rd, at which many ringers were present, the 'go' of the bells was said to be excellent.

The dedication was performed by the Archdeacon of Plymouth (the Ven. E. F. Newman), who traced the use of bells in England for the purpose of calling people to worship from early times to the present day. He expressed regret at the falling into disuse of the passing bell, and pleaded for its reintroduction. 'I should like to feel that when I pass away the prayers of the village are being offered on my behalf,' he said.

Following the service, at which one of the hymns sung was that composed by the Rev. G. D. Melhuish, Rector of Ashwater, 'Ring the bells with gladness,' there was a luncheon, the Rector (the Rev. F. G. Powell) presiding.

The Rev. K. A. Lake, Vicar of Heavitree, a former Rector of Halwill, referred to the fact that it was 22 years ago that day that he first came to the parish. At that time the tower was full of rubbish, of which he had three cartloads removed. They had not, however, then contemplated any enterprise on such a scale as that which had been accomplished.

The Rev. Maitland Kelly, president of the Devon Guild of Ringers, said the addition of a sixth bell to the existing peal of five was badly needed. He had seen many five-bell towers converted into six-bell towers during the past few years.

During the afternoon six scores of Grandsire were rung by members of the Devon Guild, and other ringers were present from Okehampton, Black Torrington, Germansweck, North Tamerton, Broadwoodwiger, Hatherleigh, Pyworthy, Thornbury, and Bratton Clovelly.

Prior to a festive evensong, at which the Rev. K. A. Lake officiated, there was a public tea.

Still further funds are needed to complete the restoration of the exterior of the tower.

DEATH OF A GLOUCESTERSHIRE OCTOGENARIAN.

The death of Mr. Mark Owen, of Stonehouse, one of Gloucestershire's oldest campanologists, took place at Sanfield House, Ebbey, the residence of his daughter, on Old Year's night. The deceased was 84 years of age, and was greatly respected by the ringers of a wide district around Stonehouse. He had been associated with Stonehouse for the past 66 years, and until quite recently was able to take his stand in the belfry, although having to walk two miles to do so. During his long life he had rung in many of the county towers, and on his 80th birthday took part in a peal of 5,040 changes of Woodchester.

The writer of these lines, having known the deceased for a great number of years, can pay tribute to his uprightness of character and his love of ringing, as well as his encouragement of young ringers.

The funeral took place at Stonehouse Parish Church on Saturday, January 5th, the service being conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. L. Dawson). The deceased's favourite hymn, 'Jesu, Lover of my Soul,' was sung in the church. The interment took place in a grave only a few yards from the tower, the deceased being laid to rest with his wife, who died twenty years ago. Messrs. T. and W. Price, E. T. Freedy and F. Smith, four of his fellow-ringers, acted as bearers, and ringers were present from the following towers: Stonehouse, Painswick, Stroud, Woodchester, Horsley, Minchinhampton, Leonard Stanley and Haresfield. At the graveside, Messrs. T. Wright, W. Rylan, A. Wright and F. Cole rang a touch of 86 Grandsire Triples, this being one change for each year of deceased's life. The 'whole pull and stand' was then rung on the tower bells. With the assistance of another ringer, the five men who rang with deceased in his last 5,040, rang the first 120 changes immediately after the whole pull and stand had been completed. On Sunday the bells were again rung muffled.

MR. BENJAMIN ANNABLE.To the Editor.

Sir,—Your correspondent, Mr. W. H. Fussell, in his account of Annable, omits to mention that he was buried under the tower of St. Bride's. He died on February 1st, 1756. The following account appeared in a newspaper at the time:—

A few nights ago was buried under the tower of St. Bride's, Mr. Benjamin Annabel, the best ringer that was ever known in the world. Till his time, ringing was only called an art but from the strength of his great Genius he married it to the Mathematics, and 'tis now a science. This man of figures and ringing was like a Newton in philosophy, a Ratchell in physic, a Hardwick in wisdom and law, a Handel in music, a Shakespeare in writing, and a Garrick in acting. O rare Ben!—Yours, J. R. JERRAM.

RINGERS AND THE CENTRAL COUNCIL

An announcement in another column reminds members of the Central Council that notice of any motion to be brought before the next Council meeting must be received by the Secretary not later than April 26th. We hope however, that the intimation will not be looked upon by the Exercise as concerning merely the members of the Council. The Council is the representative body of the ringers of this country, and if the fullest use is to be made of it, then the ringers themselves should see that the Council is provided with a business agenda which will not only open up topics of interest to the Exercise, but lead to the improvement and advancement of ringing.

This is a view which we have often urged, but it is really extraordinary how little of the Council's business is initiated through the associations which send representatives to the meetings. Although the majority of ringers agree that the existence of a body like the Central Council is essential to the interests of ringing, they do very little of themselves to help to increase the Council's usefulness. It is true that any decision which the Council may arrive at cannot have legislative effect, and that in that respect its resolutions lack authority, but ringers must from time to time come across little points in the theory or practice of ringing which are of general interest, and which it would be of advantage to ventilate or upon which it is desirable to get uniformity of action.

The Central Council is the body for this purpose, and much fuller use should be made of it than is now the rule. It is true that the machinery which exists for bringing the ordinary ringer into touch with the Council is of a very uncertain kind; indeed the only occasion when the members of some associations are asked to take any interest in the Council is once in three years, when the representatives have to be elected. A tightening up of the links between the ringers and the Council is badly needed, and will have to come before the rank and file of the Exercise can be expected to take much serious interest in the Council's affairs. One step in the right direction has been the action of some associations in making it part of their rules that the Council's decisions shall be accepted as binding. But up to the present only a small minority of the affiliated bodies have gone to this length, which is the very least step that can be taken before the Council can be treated as in a real sense the governing authority on ringing matters. We should much like to see ringers as a whole taking a far deeper and livelier interest in the affairs of the Council, and we think they would begin to do this if the associations, as we have often suggested, would sometimes deal with general ringing topics and pass them on to the Council for discussion, and for action, if necessary.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION. WESTERN DIVISION.

A successful meeting of the Western Division was held at Tarring on Saturday last. Despite the rail strike, which no doubt kept some members away, the following towers were represented: Angmering, Hove, Brighton, Shoreham, Heene, Shipley, West Grinstead, and the local band. During the afternoon the following methods were rung: Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Cambridge, Carlisle and London Surprise Minor.

About 30 sat down to a substantial tea, provided by the Rector (the Rev. Charles Lee) in the Schoolroom. Afterwards the Rector, who presided, gave some interesting facts about the church and the bell foundry which existed in West Tarring some 300 years ago.

It was proposed to hold the next meeting at Horsham in March, if convenient.—Votes of thanks were accorded the Rector for granting the use of the bells, and for providing the excellent tea; also to the ladies who had helped.

A short service was held in the church, and an address was given by the Rector, Major Hughes D'Aeth being at the organ.

The members then proceeded once more to the belfry.

Owing to the railway difficulties the meeting broke up earlier than usual, the members proceeding on their homeward journey at 7.30.

West Tarring, where the meeting was held, has a most interesting history. Thomas-a-Becket's palace is in the vicinity of the church, and there are some ancient fig gardens, some of the trees in which, are said to have been planted by the martyred Bishop. The church itself contains some remarkable mosaic work and other objects of interest.

DEATH OF MRS. GEORGE BOLLAND.

Our many readers who are personally acquainted with Mr. George Bolland, of Tong (Yorks), will hear with regret of the death of his wife on Christmas Day.

Mrs. Bolland was the daughter of Mr. Edwd. Webster (a former ringer at Tong for 48 years), and was married to Mr. Bolland in 1875. After an active and strenuous career as a farmer's wife, Mrs. Bolland, with her husband, had retired to enjoy the eventide in more leisurely pursuits.

The funeral at Tong on December 29th was attended by many of Mr. Bolland's ringing friends, the Vicar (the Rev. A. G. Seymour, M.A.), and the Rev. C. C. Marshall, President of the Yorks Association, officiating.

A short touch upon the handbells at the graveside was rung by Messrs. Cotterell, Jos. Thackray, P. J. Johnson and W. Barton.

WORCESTERSHIRE AND DISTRICTS ASSOCIATION.

The quarterly meeting of the Northern Branch of the Worcestershire Districts Association was held at Smethwick Old Church, on Saturday, January 19th. The proceedings opened with a service in church, at which there was a good attendance, and a splendid address was given by the Rev. F. J. Boston. Tea, which was kindly provided by the Vicar (the Rev. Canon G. Astbury), was served in the Parish Room.

The business meeting followed, at which the Rev. F. J. Boston (curate) presided, supported by Messrs. A. E. Parsons, W. B. Cartwright (Ringing Master), G. N. Cockin, T. J. Salter and A. J. Skelding (branch secretary). Representatives were present from Kidderminster, Selly Oak, King's Norton, Northfield, Stourbridge, Old Hill, Rowley Regis, Wollaston, Wordsley, Oldswinford and Smethwick.

The Chairman welcomed the association, on behalf of Canon Astbury, who was too ill to be present.

The Rowley Regis ringers gave the association a cordial invitation to hold their next meeting at Rowley Regis.

Mr. T. J. Salter proposed that the next meeting be held at Upper Arley, and the Rowley Regis ringers were asked if their kind invitation would stand for the September meeting. To this they agreed, and the best thanks of the meeting were given to them.

Several new members were elected, including the chairman as an honorary member.—Mr. A. E. Parsons proposed a very hearty vote of thanks to Canon Astbury for providing the tea and for the use of the bells; to the chairman for his splendid address and for presiding at the meeting; to the organist and to the ladies who had waited upon the party.—Mr. Cartwright seconded the motion, which was carried unanimously, and the Rev. F. J. Boston briefly replied.

Touches of Grandsire and Stedman were rung before the service, and after the meeting, Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise were rung.

GRAMOPHONE RECORDS OF CHANGE RINGING.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Can you, or any of your readers, inform me if it is possible to obtain any good gramophone records of change ringing on tower bells? As a resident abroad, thousands of miles from the welcome sound of peal ringing, I should much like to possess such records, and shall, therefore, be very grateful for any information which will assist me towards doing so.—Yours, etc.,

BELL ROPES. MUFFLES, &c.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

'Rung with the bells half-muffled as a last farewell to an old comrade and friend, George Cleal, gentleman,' runs the footnote to a peal at St. Martin's, Leicester. Nothing more eloquently expressive has ever been added to a peal report.

Those who like fresh Severn salmon and green peas are requested to keep July 28th open, as on this evening the usual 'salmon and green pea' supper will take place at Lydney, with a charabanc drive through the Forest of Dean and a visit to several churches with rings of bells, on the day following. Those wishing to be present should advise Mr. J. W. Davies, 5, Railway Terrace, Lydney, or Mr. J. W. Jones, 29, Barrack Hill, Newport, Mon., at an early date.

Mr. Theodore E. Slater, who has an interesting collection of ringing matters, sends us the following extract of what he believes to be the first record of Double Norwich Major rung 'double-handed' on handbells: 'Yarmouth.—On Tuesday, Feb. 1st, 1848, a true and complete touch containing 1,680 changes of Double Norwich Court was rung upon handbells by the under-mentioned persons: Thomas Fox 1—2, Frederick Watering 3—4, James Brennan 5—6, Charles Payne 7—8. Conducted by Charles Payne.'

Mr. Slater adds that the next account that he has of the method being rung double-handed is on February 7th, 1885, when 336 of the method was rung by Zachariah Slater 1—2, Fred Paul Adams 3—4, Fredk. Pitstow (Saffron Walden) 5—6, Samuel Slater 7—8 and conductor, at John Slater's house, Glemsford. Mr. Slater believes the Cambridge University Guild were the next to ring the method double-handed. In 1879, with the help of the late Mr. Nathan Pitstow and Mr. Fred Pitstow, a 1,008 was rung at Glemsford, but six men took part in it.

On February 2nd, 1891, Harrison's 10,176 Kent Treble Bob was rung at Warnham, Sussex, in 5 hours 53 mins.

A peal of 10,032 Grandsire Major was rung at Walsall on Feb. 4th, 1861, in 6 hrs. 18 mins.

February 5th is the anniversary of two peals of over twelve thousand in length. In 1783, 12,672 Bob Major was rung at Bromley in 7 hrs. 48 mins. In 1888, 12,401 Stedman Caters at Appleton in 7 hrs. 26 mins.

The first peal of Superlative Surprise Major was rung at St. Giles', Norwich, on February 6th, 1835, and Feb. 6th is also the anniversary of the first peal of London Surprise on handbells, which was rung at Romford in 1904—just twenty years ago.

Cambridge University Guild was founded forty-five years ago next Monday.

We have 'Princess Mary' Surprise Royal, and now we learn from the report of a date touch rung at Calverley on Sunday that there is a 'Prince Albert' Major!

Congratulations and good wishes will go out to the veteran London ringer, Mr. Joseph Waghorn, senr., who celebrated his 81st birthday on Saturday by taking part in a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major at Barking.

It should have been stated, in connection with the report of the Bristol United Guilds' dinner, that Mr. Charles Reed, I.S.M., and Mrs. William Sowden kindly gave their services as accompanists. The Guild was fortunate in having the assistance of these two accomplished musicians. Mr. Reed is conductor of the Cecilian Choral Society, while Mrs. Sowden has been a consistently kind friend to the Guild at their socials and dinners.

The cause of the postponement of the meeting of the Ilchester Deanery of the Bath and Wells Association was a sudden and distressing case of illness close to the church. The meeting is further postponed to February 23rd.

Reports of the successful Devon Guild meeting at Chudleigh and the Middlesex Association meeting at Southgate are unavoidably held over until next week.

NEW PEAL AT TETTENHALL, STAFFORDSHIRE. DEDICATION OF RING OF EIGHT.

On Sunday morning, January 13th, the new peal of bells at Tettenhall, Staffs. were dedicated by the Bishop of Lichfield. The bells have been recast, the tenor being 14½ cwt., and the whole peal of eight weighing 57 cwt. 3 qr. 13 lb. They have been hung in a new steel frame with the latest type of fittings by Messrs. Gillott and Johnston, of Croydon. They were rung at the dedication, and after the morning service by the local band, and visiting ringers from Wolverhampton, Birmingham, West Bromwich, Bradley, Coventry, etc., rang touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Double Norwich Major, etc. The 'go' and tone of the bells gave all the ringers the greatest satisfaction.

Tettenhall Church has now one of the nicest rings of eight, and the local ringers are to be congratulated on having such an octave, and should soon be ringing peals on them.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.A BRIDGE BETWEEN RINGERS AND BISHOP.

A meeting of the Liverpool Branch was held at St. Nicholas' Church, Liverpool, on Saturday, January 19th. The towers represented were: Bootle, Walton, Grasseendale, Carston, Halewood, Farnworth, Woolton, Rainhill, Wigan, Halsall, Tuebrook and Liverpool, and visitors were present from Preston and Birkenhead. A short service was held, at which Canon Elsee and Archdeacon Howson read the lessons, and the Bishop gave a short address, on the subject of 'team work' among the members. The Bishop said he believed bells were first used not to call people to worship, but to frighten devils away. If that were true, it afforded an interesting and significant example of the way in which God would take something that man had provided from an unworthy or foolish motive, purify it of its superstition and fear, and hand it back to man to carry it on for worthier ends and in a nobler spirit. Bell ringing was, perhaps, the most perfect example of team work. Each ringer was required to sink himself into the corporate unity of the fellowship of which he formed a part, and to exercise humility and discipline as well as skill.

'I do not suppose,' continued Dr. David, 'there is anything we want more in the world to-day than good team work. All our troubles are due in the long run to some failure of men to work together. Somewhere in the chain is someone who asserts himself, who holds out for some treatment which he thinks he ought to get, and if he does not get it he does not care what happens to the work. That is the cause of our failure in industry and politics and in many other secular occupations. It is one of the hopes of the new age—a hope which is not yet extinguished—that little by little men will feel the folly of this failure. After all, success in this matter is in our power. We can steadily set our faces towards co-operation as the great method of public and social life, instead of competition.'

Fellowship, he added, was needed also in the Church. He had a great hope that slowly they might be working their way towards a state of things in which each group that went to make up the variety of the Church—using the word in its widest sense—would think not merely of its own rights and privileges, but of the piece of work it was given to do in the great work which God shared among all groups and individuals within His Church. He believed that, with the exception of some parts of America, it was in England alone that bells were rung round in full swing and regular changes. Was it too fanciful to hope from that that one of the things which England would teach the world was the great duty of team work, of labour in fellowship, and of co-operation instead of self-assertive competition?

At the business meeting, held in the Institute, Canon Elsee presided, supported by the Bishop and Archdeacon Howson. The chairman explained the chief business of the meeting was to appoint someone in church work to be a bridge between the ringers and Bishop. After some discussion, it was resolved that Archdeacon Howson be elected deacon.

It was also decided that the Bishop's attention be drawn to the fact that the bells of St. Peter's Church were now lying in the porch of St. Michael's, and asking his lordship to endeavour to induce the authorities to get them put in the tower for ringing.

The methods rung were Grandsire and Stedman Caters, Treble Twelve, and a course of Cambridge Surprise Major.

RADCLIFFE'S RECAST BELLS.

The monthly meeting of the Manchester branch was held at Radcliffe on Saturday, January 19th, at the invitation of the local company. Visitors were present from Hyde, Glossop, and the other neighbouring branches. The bells, recast by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, are fitted with ball bearings, and are hung in a massive iron frame. The tone of them is everything that could be desired, and the smoothness of running reflects great credit on the founders, everyone being highly pleased with them. Touches were rung in various methods till five o'clock, when ringers and friends, to the number of seventy-four, partook of tea, kindly provided by the local ringers, and served up in capital style by their wives and friends.

The business meeting which followed was presided over by Mr. H. Makin (churchwarden), and supported by Mr. J. Anderton (churchwarden).—The Chairman, in a witty speech, gave a hearty welcome to the visitors. Having heard numerous opinions about the bells, he had no hesitation in saying that for their weight (tenor 15 cwt. in T) Radcliffe had one of the finest peals in the county, and he congratulated Mr. Pryce Taylor, who was present, on the manner in which their firm had carried out the contract.

A vote of sympathy with the widow and family of the late Mr. J. W. Washbrook was passed, by the members standing in silence.

Pendlebury was selected for the next place of meeting on Saturday, Feb. 16th.—Mr. J. Howarth, of Worsley; Mr. Pryce Taylor, Mr. H. Makin and Mr. J. Anderton were elected to the association.

Votes of thanks to the church officials, to the local band for providing the tea, and to the ladies for waiting on the tables, were carried unanimously, and the tower was again visited.

WARWICKSHIRE GUILD.SUCCESSFUL QUARTERLY MEETING AT CHILVERS COTON.

After a lapse of nearly eight years, a quarterly meeting of the Warwickshire Guild was held at Chilvers Coton on Saturday, Jan. 19th, and proved eminently successful. Nearly 40 members were present from Allesley, Bulkington, Coventry, Exhall, Higham, Nuncaton, Rugby, Stoke, together with the local band, who are now making rapid strides, especially the Vicar's daughter (Miss Gladys Dodds), to whom nothing came amiss, whether it was Grandsire Triples or London Surprise Major. This young lady has made wonderful progress during the past few months. Ringing started shortly after 3 p.m. on these splendid bells, which were kept going at intervals until 4.30 p.m., when the Guild's special service was held, the Vicar (Canon M. A. Dodds) officiating, and also giving an interesting and inspiring address. A very pleasing feature of the service, and one not always met with on these occasions, was that the Vicar's son, Mr. Norman Dodds, presided at the organ and efficiently accompanied the hymns and the chant to the special psalm, the Vicar being in the unique position of having a son that can play the organ and a daughter who can ring the bells.

After the service, the company adjourned to the Schoolroom, where they were entertained to tea by the Coton friends, the arrangements being in the capable hands of Mrs. E. Moreton, with the assistance of several ladies, including Mrs. F. Ashmore, Mrs. J. Morton and Miss Hill.

The business meeting followed, and in the unavoidable absence of the president, Canon Dodds occupied the chair, supported by the Ringing Master (Mr. A. Roberts).—Mr. F. E. Pervin moved: 'That in view of the financial year ending on December 31st instead of June 30th, as previously, it is desirable to alter the date of the annual meeting from July to April.'—Mr. F. Perrons seconded, and after some discussion, the motion was declared carried unanimously.

Southam was proposed for the next quarterly meeting, in April, and there being no other nomination, Southam was selected.

It was pointed out that the usual date would fall on the Saturday before Easter: it was, therefore, decided to hold the meeting on the following Saturday, viz., April 26th.

Two new non-resident and five ordinary ringing members were duly elected.—A hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, for officiating at the service and giving the address, was moved by Mr. H. Argyle, senr., in an interesting speech, and the motion was also extended to include the organist. The vote, which was seconded by Mr. H. O. White, was carried with acclamation.

The Ringing Master moved that a hearty vote of thanks be accorded to the Coton friends for their generosity in providing tea, especially to Mrs. E. Moreton and the ladies who had given their assistance at the tables.—Canon Dodds seconded, and needless to say, this was also carried unanimously.

Before closing the meeting, Mr. E. Stone mentioned that the Bulkington bells were now undergoing restoration, and he was pleased to hear that an effort was being made to complete the octave. He thought the members present might like to contribute something towards that object.—The hon. secretary and Mr. F. J. Hinde, a Bulkington ringer, having spoken, it was suggested a collection be taken in the room, and this resulted in the sum of £2 being contributed.

After some admirable handbell ringing, the historic old tower, mentioned in some of George Eliot's works, was again visited, and ringing continued until 8 p.m., during which time the methods successfully brought round included Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major, Double Norwich, Kent Treble Bob, Duffield, London, Bristol, Cambridge and Superlative Surprise.

DEATH OF A STOKE-ON-TRENT RINGER.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. Wm. Grice, which occurred suddenly, from heart disease, on Wednesday, January 16th, at his home, Garner Street, Hanley, Stoke-on-Trent. The deceased, who was 69 years of age, had resided in the Potteries for many years, and had been one of the Stoke Parish Church ringers for about 10 years, having previously been a ringer at Long Eaton (Derbyshire). The Rector of Stoke conducted the funeral at Harts Hill Cemetery, on Monday, January 21st. There were a number of ringers present, and the following rang a course of Grandsire Triples over the grave: E. Landon (Stoke) 1—2, S. Churton (Stoke) 3—4, C. Morley (Newcastle-under-Lyme) 5—6, C. H. Page (Stoke) 7—8. Later the bells at Stoke Parish Church were rung half-muffled.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

A successful meeting of the Bedford District was held at Elstow on Saturday last, when members were present from Bedford, Kempston, Biddenham, Clapham, Thurlough, Roxton, Sandy, Turvey, and the local company. Tea was served at the Red Lion Inn, after which the business meeting was held. Mr. W. Stapleton being in the chair.—A vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and Milton Ernest was chosen for the next meeting.—The arrangements were successfully carried out by Miss E. Steel.

THE MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.BELL RESTORATION FUND GRANTS.

A quarterly meeting of the Midland Counties Association took place on Saturday, January 12th, at Ilkeston, when quite a large number of ringers gathered together from both sides of the Trent. Derby, Notts, Darley, Mansfield, Burton, Loughborough, and Leicester were all represented, as were many districts in the surrounding neighbourhood. The bells of the Parish Church, a merry ring of eight, with a tenor of 18 cwt., were kept going to most of the principal methods from Grandsire to London, and many learners had their opportunity for a fresh experience. Tea was provided in the Parish Room, when 50 showed their appreciation of the good things provided.

Previously to this, the committee had sat and transacted their business, chief of which was a grant to the bell restoration fund of Thurlaston, and a decision to substitute a dinner for a tea at the annual meeting, the details to be left to the Nottingham branch of the Association.

In the matter of future grants to bell funds, it was arranged that applications should be referred to the local branch concerned for their opinions thereon before the general committee make their decision.

The general meeting followed the tea, which was attended by the Rev. P. A. Sharpe (curate) and the churchwardens (Messrs. Cox and Simpson). In the absence of the President (Ald. R. B. Chambers, J.P.), the Rev. R. F. Wilkinson, of Mansfield, who is a ringing member, was voted to the chair.—The election of new members showed an addition of 28, viz., 4 honorary, 2 life, and 22 ringing members.

Messrs. W. Wallace and C. Draper were unanimously elected auditors for the accounts, which, the hon. treasurer hinted, were again in a flourishing condition.

A vote of thanks to the clergy for the use of the bells, and to the local society for their catering was carried with acclamation, and replied to by the Rev. P. A. Sharpe, who eulogised the association as a splendid piece of church work. This view was endorsed by the churchwardens, who said that they were pleased to be present at such a gathering.—On the vote of thanks being passed to the Rev. R. F. Wilkinson, the Chairman expressed the wish of all present that the president would soon recover from his indisposition and be back among them again in his accustomed place.

The bells of the tower were again called into requisition after the meeting, and it was agreed that the Ilkeston meeting was an unqualified success, and that thanks were due to Messrs. Gobeys and company for the fact.

The annual meeting will take place at Nottingham on Easter Monday.

LEICESTER DISTRICT MEETING.

The Leicester district of the Midland Counties Association held their annual meeting on Saturday, January 19th, at St. Saviour's Church, and good use was made of the bells during the afternoon. At the business meeting, Mr. J. Harris was elected to the chair.—The Chairman briefly outlined the career of the late vice-president, Mr. G. Cleal, and the meeting stood in silence as a last token of respect.—Two members were re-elected, and the general officers were nominated for re-election: Ald. R. B. Chambers, J.P., president; Mr. W. Willson, hon. treasurer; Mr. A. C. Wright, hon. secretary.

Mr. J. A. Harris was elected local vice-president.—Mr. H. E. Norman said that owing to private business ties he would prefer not to stand for re-election. Mr. R. F. Elkington, George Street, Anstey, was, therefore, elected local hon. secretary.—Mr. J. E. Clarke and Mr. W. H. Clarke were elected on the local committee.

Mr. W. H. Clarke proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. Norman for his services during the four years he had acted as hon. secretary, and this was carried.

A resolution was passed, suggesting that the dates of general meetings be fixed at the annual meeting at Easter, to enable local committees to fix their quarterly meetings previous to those dates, so that any local business could be more quickly dealt with by the general committee.

Votes of thanks to the Vicar for use of the bells, and mine host for the use of the clubroom, concluded the business.

The 170 years' old cup handbells were then brought into use, and during the evening W. P. Whitehead ('Titch,' of Holt's Original fame), tapped a course of Major.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

The annual meeting of the Council will be held on June 10th (Whit Tuesday) next, at Westminster. Full particulars of the meeting will be published later. Notice of any proposed motion should be sent before April 26th.

Secretaries please note that the annual subscription is now due, together with the names and addresses of representatives, and should be sent to the honorary secretary, Mr. E. Alexr. Young, of 155, Rushey Green, Catford, S.E.6.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.CATHEDRAL BELLS RINGING AGAIN.

The annual meeting of the Chester Branch of the Chester Diocesan Guild was held at Chester Cathedral on Saturday, January 19th. The members attended evensong in the Cathedral, and then made their way to the recently restored refectory for tea, where they were met by the Lord Bishop (who presided over the tea-table), the Dean, and the Precentor. After an excellent repast had been partaken of, his lordship said how pleased he was to welcome the Guild members to the ancient Cathedral, and wished them every success in their excellent work as church officers. It afforded him much pleasure to hear the Cathedral bells rung again as they were intended to be rung (loud applause).

The business meeting was held in the parlour, when the chair was taken by the Very Rev. F. S. M. Bennett (Dean of Chester and chairman of the branch), supported by Mr. H. A. Heywood.

The arrangement of meetings for this year was announced, and a lengthy discussion on finance took place.

The meeting closed with a hearty vote of thanks to the Cathedral authorities for their very kind and hospitable reception.

The eight bells (tenor 33 cwt.) were rung before service, and again in the evening, some fifty ringers being present. The occasion was somewhat unique, as, until a few weeks ago, this deep-toned ring have not been 'pealed' for some four years, owing to a large crack having appeared in one of the tower buttresses. However, this has now been repaired, and the bells will in future be rung as heretofore.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.

The annual meeting of the Eastern Branch was held at Frampton on Saturday, January 19th, and was well attended, considering the unfavourable condition of the weather earlier in the day. Ringers were present from Benington, Boston, Butterwick, Freiston, Kirton, Stickney, Wrangle, and the local tower of Frampton. Visitors were present from Spalding, Surfleet, and Pinchbeck, in the Elloe Deaneries Branch. A short service, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. R. G. McClelland), was held. At the conclusion of the service, a peal board was unveiled and dedicated by the Vicar. Tea was partaken of at the Church House, to which about 30 sat down.

The business meeting followed, the President (the Rev. J. R. Trotter) occupying the chair.—The president (the Rev. J. R. Trotter), vice-presidents, and the hon. secretary and treasurer (Mr. J. Phillips) were all unanimously re-elected. To the list of vice-presidents was added the name of the Rector of Stickney.

Stickney was unanimously selected as the place for the Spring meeting, which it was decided to hold in May owing to Easter falling late this year, and in order not to be too near the annual meeting of the Guild at Lincoln on Lincoln Fair Saturday.

A hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for conducting the service and for the use of the bells concluded the business.

The tower was again visited, and various five and six-bell methods were rung.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.SOUTHERN DISTRICT OFFICERS.

The annual meeting of the Southern District of the London County Association was held at St. George-the-Martyr, Southwark, on Saturday, Mr. H. Mance (the Master) presiding. The balance sheet was passed, and Mr. H. Mance was unanimously re-elected Master of the district for the ensuing year.—It was regretted that Mr. F. W. Goodfellow was desirous of relinquishing his position as honorary secretary. He was, however, asked to reconsider his resignation, but as he could not see his way to alter his decision, there was no alternative but to elect a successor.—Mr. Essery proposed Mr. Mitchell for the vacant position, which was seconded by Mr. W. Taffender, and carried.—Messrs. Wood and Essery were again re-elected honorary treasurer and steward respectively. — The usual hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the retiring officers, who had carried out their duties so effectively during the past year, and this vote of appreciation was duly acknowledged by those concerned.

The members also desire to tender their most sincere and grateful thanks to the clergy for their assistance in placing the tower and meeting-room at their disposal.

SOCIETY FOR THE ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD.

A quarterly meeting was held at Wood Green on Saturday week, when upwards of 40 members and friends attended. The bells were set going at 3 o'clock, and during the afternoon and evening touches in the standard methods were successfully rung. A short service was held in church, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. G. A. Stokes), who also gave a helpful address. A good tea was provided in the Institute by members of the local band and their wives.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Vicar for his address, and the use of the bells, etc., and to the ladies who helped at the tables.—The Vicar suitably responded.

Handbells were brought into use, when several courses of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Doubles were brought round.

The next meeting is provisionally arranged to take place at Tipton on May 3rd.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD. SONNING DEANERY BRANCH.

The annual general meeting of the Sonning Deanery Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild was held at Wokingham on Saturday, January 12th. Proceedings commenced with a service in All Saints' Church, with a sermon by the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, Master of the Guild. There was a large attendance at the church. The Rector (the Rev. B. Long) officiated, and Mr. R. Benning was at the organ.

The service concluded, a move was made to the Church House for tea. The hall was well filled, and the arrangements were most capably managed by Mrs. F. Pigott, Mrs. Chapman, Miss Swainson, Mrs. Long, and a large number of lady helpers. Supt. Goddard, Mr. J. C. Hammond, and the Rev. B. M. Niblett assisted at the tables. The clergy present were the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn (Master of the Guild), the Rev. R. H. Hart Davis (chairman, Sonning branch), Canon G. E. Coleridge (Rural Dean), Canon R. P. Newhouse, the Rev. P. H. Ditchfield, the Rev. B. Long, the Rev. B. M. Niblett; also there were present Mr. R. T. Hibbert (Guild sec.), Mr. F. Dentry (hon. secretary and treasurer, Sonning Deanery branch), and some 80 or 90 members of the Guild from all parts of the Deanery.

The business meeting followed, the Rev. R. H. Hart Davis in the chair.

The Rural Dean paid a graceful tribute of thanks to Mrs. Pigott and the ladies who had so kindly and efficiently undertaken the tea and the waiting at the tables. On his call, three hearty cheers were given to the ladies, Mrs. Pigott briefly responding.

The Hon. Treasurer (Mr. F. Dentry) presented the balance sheet. He said £15 ls. 4d. was the balance in hand, some £2 more than that of last year.—The balance sheet was adopted, with expressions of satisfaction.

The Hon. Secretary, before presenting his report, said he had received letters of apology for absence from the Rev. J. C. F. Wimberley (Hurst), the Rev. J. A. Anderson (Arborfield); also a very nice letter from their late and respected hon. secretary, the Rev. E. E. Broome, who wished to be kindly remembered to all (applause).—Mr. Dentry, on behalf of the Sonning Branch, heartily welcomed the new Guild treasurer (Mr. A. J. Wright), present that night for the first time (applause).

The Guild all knew of his valuable work, and he was one of their trustees, and he thanked the Rev. R. H. Hart Davis, their late Guild treasurer, who now found it advisable to retire after so many years, first as Guild secretary, then as Guild treasurer, knowing that his counsel and experience would be still at their service (applause).

The secretary's report related that good work had been done in the towers. If they kept the members interested, the peal list would grow bigger. Membership in 1923 stood at 173, a decrease of nine on the previous year; hon. members stood at about the same, and they welcomed the Rev. A. G. Parham (Easthampstead) as a new hon. member. The late Mr. W. Howard Palmer's decease removed a liberal subscriber to their funds. Ringing members showed a larger decrease than did the hon. members. But one peal appeared to have been rung during the year—at St. Paul's, Wokingham, in the early part of the year. The combined practices had shown great variation in attendances. The report concluded with a reference to the new Guild rules, and with thanks to the foremen of towers and the combined practice committee; the tea committee; and to the Rev. B. Long for his ready help and counsel in helping on the work of the Guild.—The report was adopted.

The election of officers followed, and the Rev. R. H. Hart Davis said the time had come for him to resign his position as their chairman. He was now simply a trustee, and he felt they should have a chairman who had been for years connected with the Guild, and who lived in their close neighbourhood, and who was a peal ringer. He proceeded to propose that the Rural Dean (Canon Coleridge) be their chairman.—Mr. Moth seconded, and the nomination was carried unanimously, the Rural Dean then, amidst applause, taking the chairman's seat, and saying he would do his best to help the Deanery Branch in every way.

The retiring chairman was heartily thanked for his kind services for so many years.—Mr. Hart Davis expressed his thanks, and wished the new chairman many years in the chair.

Mr. F. Dentry was cordially thanked for his services, and was unanimously re-elected hon. secretary and treasurer, on the proposition of Mr. Paice, seconded by Mr. Wright.

The foremen of towers were again re-elected to form the committee of the branch.—Messrs. J. Moth, G. J. Wright, J. Rance and W. J. Brooks, were re-elected as the branch representatives to the Guild General Committee. Messrs. J. Moth, J. White, W. J. Brooks, V. Darvill, J. Rance, W. J. Paice and J. Wadhams, were elected as committee for combined practices.

A discussion took place as to combined practices, some members urging that 6 o'clock to 9 p.m. was too late; others that many members could not leave their work for a 3 till 6 p.m. practice. Misses Walker and V. Robinson, Messrs. Moth, Paice, Rance, and others, took part in the debate, and the question was left for the committee concerned to arrange matters in the best advantage.

The Master of the Guild, in a brief address, referred to the new Guild rules, which were intended to make the younger and keener members feel more at home in the Guild.—The Master also referred to the heavy cost of printing the annual Guild report, and discussion ensued as to whether it were not better to charge for the report rather than make a present of it to each tower. Another way would be to print the peal list separately and charge for it.

Mr. Wright, Guild treasurer, expressed his pleasure at being present at that fine meeting, and spoke upon Guild finance. The Guild held nothing in hand but its war-time investments. He urged the endeavour to increase the number of honorary members.

Mr. Hibbert also spoke as to the heavy cost of printing the Guild report. One suggestion was that the band which rang a peal should pay a 'booking' fee.—Eventually a proposition by Mr. Moth, 'That the report, after this year, contain the peals and be sold at a price to the members of the Guild,' was carried nem. con. as a recommendation to the Guild Committee.—The Chairman made a strong appeal to members to take 'The Ringing World' as an incentive to further endeavour and by way of keeping in touch with the wider sphere of ringing matters.—Mr. Dentry, referring to the retirement of the Rev. R. H. Hart Davis from their chairmanship, suggested some permanent title of honour he accorded him, such as 'President' or Master of the Branch. Their new chairman, Canon Coleridge, was the Prime Minister of the ringing world, being President of the Central Council—the Ringers' Parliament.

Both in his sermon and in his address at the general meeting, the Master made feeling allusion to the recent decease of one of the older ringers, connected at one time with their Deanery, Mr. James Washbrook.

BARNSELEY & DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of this association was held at Barnsley on Saturday, January 12th, the following towers being represented: Badsoworth, Barnsley, Darfield, Ecclesfield, Horbury, Hoylandswaine, Ilkley, Wortley and Wath. The bells were ringing early in the afternoon in various methods, and a short service was held, followed by a brief address. As the Rector was not able to be present at this service the senior curate (the Rev. W. B. Chapman) officiated. At tea, in the Parish Room, about 36 ringers were present, and, in addition, several visitors, amongst the company being the Rev. J. R. King (Vicar of Hoylandswaine), the Rev. Woolley (curate of Wombourne), both ringers and members, Mr. Sutherland (churchwarden of St. Mary's), Mrs. Sunderland, and others.

After tea, a course of Grandsire Caters was rung on handbells, and a hearty vote of thanks was passed, on the motion of the president (Mr. W. Reynier), seconded by Mr. W. Lewis, to the clergy and churchwardens, for the use of the bells and parish room, for the service, etc., and to Mrs. Hone, and the local ringers, for their assistance.—This was replied to by the Rev. F. E. Hone (Rector) and Mr. Sunderland (churchwarden), in very happy terms of appreciation and welcome, both speakers expressing good wishes for the prosperity of the association.

The business meeting followed, Mr. W. Reynier being in the chair. Several new members were elected. As the accounts for the past year were not quite complete they were referred to the next meeting.

A letter was read from Darfield Bell Restoration Committee asking for assistance for this object, as the bells needed urgent attention. This letter was sympathetically received, but it was thought by the majority that the object would be best served by direct application to each tower.

The officials for the ensuing year were next elected. Mr. W. Reynier, retiring president, was unanimously elected vice-president; Mr. Thickett (Horbury) was elected president; the treasurer (Mr. A. Panther) and the secretary, Mr. C. D. Potter, were re-elected.

Mr. Thickett proposed a vote of thanks to the retiring chairman, which was carried with acclamation. Sandal is the tower for the next meeting in February.

SILVER WEDDING PEAL AND PRESENTATION.

The peal of Kent Treble Bob Major at Shipley, Yorks, was rung in honour of the silver wedding of Mr. Thos. B. Kendall and Mrs. Kendall, who were married at Ecclesfield Church on December 26th, 1898. The ringers and a few other friends were entertained to tea at the Co-operative Cafe at Shipley by Mr. and Mrs. Kendall after the peal. After tea, Mr. McKell was asked to present to Mr. Kendall a travelling bag, and to Mrs. Kendall a shopping satchel and rose bowl on behalf of the churchwardens at Shipley, the ringers of the district, and a few friends. This Mr. McKell did in a short and happy speech, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Kendall good health on the remainder of life's journey, and expressing a hope that they would reach their golden wedding.—Mr. Kendall briefly responded, thanking all for their good wishes and kindness. A pleasant afternoon and evening were spent.

THE LATE MR. JAMES L. WELLS, BIRMINGHAM.

As briefly reported in a previous issue, the death occurred at his residence, Saltley, Birmingham, of Mr. James L. Wells, a prominent member of the St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham, and one of the Sunday Service ringers at St. Martin's Church. Jim, as he was affectionately called, was born in Swindon 45 years ago, and on leaving school was apprenticed to coach body building, a trade he followed to the last. He was well known as an exceptionally fine workman.

It was at Swindon that he started change ringing, and he rang several peals with the Salisbury Guild, one of which at Chippenham, Wilts, he conducted. Later he went to reside in Loughborough, and rang peals with the Midlands Counties Association. In 1907 he migrated to Birmingham, and became a regular attendant at St. Martin's Guild meetings, serving as an officer of the Guild, with which he rang most of his peals on 8, 10 and 12 bells. As a ringer he was second to none in handling a light or heavy bell, and was a sure and safe man in a peal whatever the method. He sustained a heavy blow when his wife died from consumption, in 1914, leaving him with two young children. But his love of home served him well, for although he later fell a victim to the dread disease himself, he was able to give his children a good education, and to provide means for their future with his relatives at Swindon. Mr. Wells was buried by the side of his wife at Loughborough. Members of All Saints' company of ringers acted as bearers, and representatives of Swindon, Loughborough and Birmingham ringing companies were present. A muffled peal of Stedman Cinques was rung to his memory at Birmingham, after the funeral, and there was also muffled ringing at Loughborough in the evening. Mr. Wells was a member of the following societies: Salisbury Diocesan Guild; Midlands Counties Association; St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham; Warwickshire Guild, and Staffordshire Archdeaconry Societies, and he rang about 60 peals, comprising Grandsire Triples and Caters, Stedman Triples, Caters and Cinques, Treble Bob Royal and Maximus, Bob Major, Superlative Surprise Major, Handsworth Royal, Erin Cinques, Cambridge Surprise Major, Royal and Maximus. May he rest in peace. A. W.

HEREFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

LUDLOW AND CHURCH STRETTON DISTRICT.

The annual meeting of this district was held at Stokesay on Saturday, January 19th. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m., and later the Guild service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. A. M. Winter), who had kindly made arrangements with the organist (Miss La Touche) to make the service as musical as possible, much to the enjoyment of the thirty members present. The Vicar's address was very appropriate and intently followed.

Tea was partaken of in the Old Schoolroom at Stokesay.—The Vicar presided, and before the business meeting read an interesting account of the bells of Moscow.

The report and balance sheet, duly audited by Mr. A. Chester, were read, and unanimously approved.

The Secretary then reviewed the progress made during the year 1923. He stated that five towers had joined the Guild, viz., Bitterley, Bromfield, Church Stretton, Tenbury and Wistanstow; that the hon. members had increased from 10 to 25; ringing members from 11 to 38; and probationers from 1 to 18. Five meetings had been held within 13 months. Each had been very successful, and this happy state of affairs was largely due to the whole-hearted support of the clergy, and to their encouragement and help in every possible way. A special programme had been prepared in September in regard to quarterly meetings and combined practices for the year 1924, and a copy handed to each tower secretary to be hung in the respective belfries for the members' guidance. It was noticed that ringing in the district had improved during the past year, and peals of Grandsire Doubles had been rung on three occasions, five Bromfield and six Stokesay members having obtained their first success in this respect. More pleasing still was the fact that methods other than Grandsire were now being attempted, and some good touches of Bob Minor and Stedman Doubles were rung during the afternoon and evening.

Two probationers from Stokesay were duly elected, and on the proposition of Mr. Bott, seconded by Mr. Boughey, the following officers were re-elected: District Ringing Master (the Rev. H. S. T. Richardson), Assistant Ringing Master (Mr. W. R. Nash); and district hon. secretary (Mr. P. Lane).

The members were pleased to see several visitors from other towers, who are always welcome at these meetings.

A vote of sympathy was passed (with the members standing) to the Diocesan Master (Mr. J. G. Buchanan) on the sad loss of his wife who had recently passed away.

The District Ringing Master thanked the Vicar for his cordial welcome, the organist for the delightful music, and the local ringers for having all in readiness.

The handbells were brought into use during the evening, and a good course of Grandsire Caters was rung by the following Bromfield ringers: M. W. Bott 1—2, A. R. Harrison 3—4, P. Lane 5—6, Geo. Randle 7—8, J. Hardwick 9—10.

THE DEVON GUILD.

Among the counties of England, ringers are apt to look upon Devon as one of the most backward from the change ringing standpoint, and, admittedly, with its lack of cross country travelling facilities, it is a considerable way behind some others that could be mentioned. But even in Devon things are altering. When a festival will bring together a gathering of close upon 220 ringers, as was the case at Chudleigh the other day, it is convincing proof that Devon has, at any rate, begun to move with the times. In the past, change ringing has flourished only in isolated spots in the county, Exeter and Plymouth being the two outstanding centres. Men of tireless energy, like the Rev. Maitland Kelly and Mr. E. Shepherd, have laboured for years in the interests of the art, just as William Banister and Acland Troyt sought to implant it. Although their efforts met with but scant reward for many years, there is evidence to-day that their work was not in vain, and with the impetus given by enthusiasts like Mr. W. J. Southwood, of Exeter, and the Rev. E. S. Powell, the general secretary of the Guild, change ringing is gaining a hold in 'glorious Devon' such as the old pioneers must almost have despaired to see. It is true that Devon has been noted for its good ringing, and that nowhere in the country could finer 'rising and falling' be heard than in some of its towers, but it has needed much perseverance and steadfast endeavour to induce the bands of round ringers to take up the art. Such a gathering as that at Chudleigh, which was attended by a large number of men who have as yet no close acquaintance with change ringing, is likely to have far-reaching effects. It clears away prejudice and opens up a new interest, and both ringers and the Guild are likely to benefit.

Although it does not figure so prominently before the Exercise as some of the other ringing organisations, the Devon Guild, despite the difficulties with which it is faced, is being worked upon a very practical basis, and is giving really valuable aid in various directions apart from its efforts to promote change ringing. For instance, it has found a useful sphere of work in helping Parochial Church Councils and Clergy with advice before placing their orders for augmentations or restorations, and one of the leading officials, being a practical builder, has been able frequently to save a lot of imperfect work being done to the later regret of Church authorities. Indeed, these services of 'inspectorship' are placed at the disposal of any parish, whether the tower is affiliated to the Guild or not, and it is easy to realise that this is a department of usefulness which is bound to react to the advantage of the Guild and of ringing in the county generally. Devon has moved slowly in the art, but the foundations are being well and truly laid.

SERVICE RINGER FOR 57 YEARS.

On Sunday, February 3rd, at St. Andrew's Church, Farnham, Surrey, for morning service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes), in 50 mins.: S. Meadows 1, G. Upshall 2, H. Kemp 3, H. Prior 4, E. Clapshaw 5, T. Upshall 6, R. Hasted (conductor) 7, A. E. King 8. This was rung as a compliment to Mr. E. Clapshaw (ringer of the 5th), the respected captain of the band, on attaining his 79th birthday. Mr. Clapshaw has been a member of this band of ringers for 57 years, during which period he has been a regular service ringer. For evening service, 447 Grandsire Triples: H. Knott 1, S. Meadows 2, H. Kemp 3, H. Prior 4, G. Upshall 5, T. Upshall (conductor) 6, R. Hasted 7, A. E. King 8.

GLOUCESTER & BRISTOL ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting of the Bristol Branch of the above association was held on Saturday, January 26th, at St. Phillips's and Jacob's, Bristol. The bells were available during the afternoon, and good use was made of them. Service was held in the church, the Vicar (the Rev. M. E. Thorold), vice-president of the association, officiating.

Tea was served in the Schoolroom, about 45 members being present. At the business meeting which followed, the Rev. E. J. Philips presided.

The hon. secretary (Mr. P. C. Williams) gave a brief report of the year's work, which showed that twelve meetings had been held, with an average attendance of 29. Winterbourne had had its bells rehung, and two honorary and seven performing members elected from the tower. In all 35 new members were added to the branch during the year.

The balance sheet showed a balance of £12 11s. 4d. on the year's working. This was considered very satisfactory, and was adopted.

The Rev. E. J. Philips congratulated the branch on the successful year, and also the committee on the success of the dinner. He added that, as it was difficult for him to attend some of the meetings he had a proposition to make, and that was that they should elect a new chairman, in Mr. J. Gould, of Henbury.—This was carried unanimously.—The secretary was again re-elected, and Mr. J. G. Jefferies, of Mangotsfield, was elected representative on the management committee.

Ten new members were elected, and the quarterly meetings fixed as follows: Filton and Horfield on Feb. 16th; Marchfield on May 3rd; Coalpit Heath in August; and Emmanuel, Clifton, in November, the dates being left for the secretary to fix. The next annual meeting is to be fixed at the November meeting. The Rev. Canon Wilson, of St. Nicholas, has kindly granted the use of his bells for a United Guilds' practice on the first Tuesday in the month.

Some discussion took place re the grouping of towers, to give the country districts more help, and it was left to the committee to arrange a scheme and bring it before the next meeting.

The Rev. T. C. Fowler proposed a very hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar (the Rev. M. E. Thorold) for the use of the bells and officiating at the service; also to the organist and choir boys, and to the ladies for kindly looking after the tea (applause).—The Rev. M. E. Thorold, in replying, said it was a great pleasure to them to welcome the ringers to St. Philip's.

The bells were again rung until 9 p.m.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.NORTHERN BRANCH.

The annual meeting of the Grimsby District was held at Grimsby, on Saturday, January 26th, and was well attended, despite the railway strike. Members were present from Burton Stather, Bigby, and the local ringers of St. James' and St. Andrew's. Touches of Kent and Bob Major and Stedman Triples were rung in the afternoon. Service in St. James' Church was conducted by the Rev. E. V. Clapton, M.A., Mr. H. Bushby, also a ringer, presiding at the organ. After service, the visiting ringers inspected the war memorial chapel, and were delighted at the lovely oak work, especially the lectern. Tea was served at the Church House, 23 members sitting down.—At the meeting which followed, the Rev. H. T. Parry was re-elected vice-president of the branch; Mr. H. Mingay was elected district secretary, Mr. W. H. Heyhoe resigning. Mr. C. Taylor was elected on the general committee; Mr. A. Hoodlass was re-elected Ringing Master, and Mr. R. S. Long, Deputy Master.—Four new members were elected, and the Vicar of Burton Stather as honorary member.

Places and dates of meetings for the ensuing year were arranged as follows: Ulceby, May 17th; Bigby, June 14th; Burton Stather, July 12th; Louth, August 9th; Barrow and Barton-on-Humber, October 25th.

The usual votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar (the Rev. Canon Markham) for the use of the bells; also the Rev. E. V. Clapton for conducting the service, Mr. H. Rusby for presiding at the organ, and the caterer for providing such a good tea.

The Vice-President spoke of the resignation of Mr. W. H. Heyhoe, and said how sorry he was that he had retired. He had been a great help to himself and ringers at large, but he hoped that Mr. Heyhoe would still be amongst them for many years to come.—Mr. Heyhoe, in replying, said he was not so young as he used to be, and he thought a younger man with more energy would be better for the work.

Ringling took place again till service time. Burton Stather members, with some of the local ringers, afterwards made their way to St. Andrew's, where touches of Stedman and Grandsire Doubles were greatly enjoyed. They are a rising band of young and old members, and are very anxious to master the art. After getting seated in their 'Rolls Royce' (ten of them) handbells came out, and so ended a very pleasant meeting.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

In the 'Exeter Diocesan Gazette' some very pertinent remarks appear upon church bells in the diocese, urging the ringing of those that are now silent, and making an appeal for the carrying out of restorations by skilled firms instead of entrusting such work to incompetent persons, merely because the cost at the outset appears to be smaller.

This article is from the trenchant pen of the Rev. E. S. Powell, general hon. secretary of the Devon Guild, and it might serve a still wider purpose if it could be passed on to other diocesan journals.

Matters connected with the preservation and restoration of bells have been given some prominence recently in some of the diocesan official papers, and the more that can be done in this direction the better, for there is still much educational work to be done among clergy and church authorities.

Here's an offer! Don't all speak at once. At Prittlewell there is a set of bell ropes (spliced but quite sound) to be had for the asking. We know there are towers where new ropes cannot be obtained because the church has no funds. Here is an opportunity to obtain a set. The only cost will be the carriage. Applications should be sent to Mr. W. H. Judd, Alexandra Street, Southend-on-Sea.

Mr. Wooding Starmer, the well-known authority on bell music, commenced on Wednesday a series of six weekly lectures on the subject of bells, at the Medical Theatre of the University of Birmingham. These lectures are free.

Members of the North Wales Association propose to attempt a peal of 10,400 Kent Treble Bob Major at Buckley, Flintshire, on Saturday, starting at 2.30 p.m.

The Ladies' Guild are holding their annual meeting this year at Bristol in July, and preliminary inquiries are already, we understand, being made. Needless to say, a warm welcome will be extended to all visitors.

The College Youths, on Feb. 9th, 1777, rang a peal of 5,232 Treble Bob Maximus at St. Bride's, Fleet Street.

The longest length of Treble Bob Major composed and rung up to that time was rung at Oldham on Feb. 12th, 1821. This was a 14,016, which occupied 7 hours 26 mins., and was composed by W. Eversfield.

On February 14th, 1731, a 7,018 Grandsire Cinques was rung at St. Michael's, Cornhill, and Feb. 14th is also the anniversary of the greatest number of changes rung on twelve bells, viz., the 13,001 Grandsire Cinques at Painswick in 1920.

Bristol Youths, of 1791, rang their first peal—'Grandsire Trebles'—at All Saints' Church on Feb. 14th, 1791.

PROPOSED MEMORIAL TO MR. J. W. WASHBROOK.

There is a suggestion afoot in Lancashire to erect a memorial to the late Mr. James W. Washbrook, and it is thought that, as he was so well known throughout the country, other associations might like to join in the proposal.

No definite scheme has yet been decided upon, but it is thought that a headstone at the grave would be a suitable form for the memorial to take. It could not well take the shape of a tablet in any church, as Mr. Washbrook did not attach himself to any particular tower, but went where he thought his services were most needed. His own parish does not possess a peal of bells.

FALSE COMPOSITION OF GRANDSIRE TRIPLES.

THE 'PEALS' AT ERITH AND WYE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Having read Mr. E. Barnett's letter in your issue of the 18th Jan., I feel that a few sentences are necessary from me on the question of the false peal of Grandsire Triples attempted at Erith, and which false composition was rung at Wye, Kent, in 1922.

I must confess that the false composition, viz.: 'A variation of one of Mr. J. W. Moorhouse's five-part peals' would not have been rung at all had I not handed it on to Mr. H. Parkes, who called it at Wye. At the time I gave it to him, I had no idea of its falseness, neither had I any knowledge of its inaccuracy until I perused Mr. Barnett's letter.

I very much regret having handed over a false composition, and as I rendered assistance in compiling the figures, I beg of Messrs. Barnett, Cullum and Co., and the company who rang at Wye, to accept my sympathy and apology, and, at the same time, I feel that I can rely on their forgiving hearts.—Yours truly,

GEO. BILLENNESS.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD. EFFORT TO BREAK DOWN ISOLATION.

By kind permission of the Vicar (the Rev. A. T. Segger) the first meeting of the Wellingborough branch of the newly-formed Peterborough Diocesan Guild was held at Earls Barton on Saturday, Jan. 26th, members being present from Finedon, Irthlingborough, Higham Ferrers, Wollaston, Easton Maudit, Bozeat, Castle Ashby, Wellingborough, Wilby, Northampton, Yardley-Hastings, Mears Ashby, Broughton, and Harlestone, with the local ringers. The bells were kept going during the afternoon and evening to various methods, including Stedman and Grandsire Doubles, Plain Bob, Woodbine, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, and Cambridge Surprise Minor.

A short service was held in the church, with its quaint old Saxon tower, conducted by the Vicar, who gave a very interesting address on words taken from Numbers xxix., in which he pointed out that all down the ages some means or other had always been used for calling people to prayer and worship, trumpets being mentioned many times in the Old Testament, and following these, cymbals were used. The bells of to-day were the lineal descendants of these instruments, and he hoped that all present at that gathering would realise their great responsibility in this work.

The party then adjourned to the Schoolroom, where, through the generosity of the Vicar, a splendid tea was provided, the 54 members present thoroughly appreciating the kindly hospitality.

The business meeting followed, and the Secretary (Mr. F. Barber) said how pleased he was to see so many present, not only because of the important business to be done, but also to greet the present Vicar of Earls Barton. He proposed that the Vicar be asked to take the chair at their meeting.—This was carried with acclamation, and the Vicar said he would do all he could to help forward the work of the Guild.

The Secretary referred to the tragically sudden death of the Vicar of Easton Maudit, who had been an hon. member of the Central Northants Association for many years.

The report and balance sheet for the past year were then presented and adopted, and were considered most satisfactory.

Before proceeding to the election of officers, the secretary gave a short survey of what took place at the general meeting, held at Wellingborough on January 5th, when it was decided to form the Diocesan Guild. He hoped all would do their best to support the Guild, and that Towcester and District, and Brackley I. Deanery, who complained of their isolation, would see their way to join. The very idea of the formation of this Guild was to break down this isolation and knit all in one great body of ringers for the Diocese of Peterborough.

The following officers were elected: President, Ven. Archdeacon Greaves; secretary and treasurer, Mr. F. Barber; representatives on Central Committee, Messrs. G. Basford and W. Perkins.

It was decided to hold a special meeting at Wollaston on March 1st, and the next quarterly meeting at Bozeat on May 3rd.

The Vicar of Earls Barton was elected an hon. member, and seven ringing members were elected.—Apologies were received from Archdeacon Greaves, the Rev. J. F. Griffiths, Mr. Owen Parker, and Mr. F. Wilford, the Ringing Master of the Guild. Amongst those present were the Rev. C. F. Westacott and the Rev. D. C. McVarish.

Votes of thanks were heartily accorded to the Vicar for the use of the bells and for his interesting address, also for his kindness in providing the tea.—Thanks were also expressed to the local ringers and their wives for kindly attending to the wants of those present.

Touces and selections on the handbells were then given by the Irthlingborough ringers, and this brought a most enjoyable and successful gathering to a close.

WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD. WINCHESTER DISTRICT.

A quarterly meeting of the Winchester district was held at Alton on Saturday, by kind permission of the Vicar (the Rev. R. S. Elvin). The peal of eight were available during the afternoon and evening, and kept going to touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob, Double Norwich, Kent Treble Bob and Superlative Surprise Major. Tea was provided at the Mikado Restaurant. The Vicar was in the chair, being supported by Mr. E. P. Duffield, Mr. G. Pullinger (assistant general secretary), Mr. W. Andrews (captain, Winchester Cathedral), and members from North Stoneham, Winchester, Farnham, Bramley, Portsea, Ringwood, Reading, and the local hand.

Mr. Andrews moved a vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and for presiding at tea.—The Vicar, in reply, said it gave him great pleasure to welcome the members to Alton, on this or any other occasion, and he hoped they would come again.

Mr. G. Williams was unable to be present, he being away at Chichester.

The thanks of the district are due to Mr. Perry for having everything ready, also for his arrangements made for tea.

The next meeting will be held at Sheffield English on May 3rd, due notice of which will be given in 'The Ringing World.'

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

TONBRIDGE DISTRICT SECRETARY'S LONG SERVICE.

The annual meeting of the Tonbridge district was held at St. Peter's, Tunbridge Wells, on Saturday, January 26th, and was attended by members from Chiddingstone, Cowden, Edenbridge, Horsmonden, Lamberhurst, Leigh, Penshurst, Sevenoaks, Tonbridge, and the local members. The usual service was held, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. H. Lynden Potter), assisted by the Rev. H. Miller (curate). Mr. Archer (organist) presided at the organ, and the choir also was present, the service being very hearty throughout. The Association form of service was used, and the Vicar gave a short address.

The members then adjourned to the Parish Room, where an excellent tea was awaiting them, splendidly served by several ladies of the parish.

The general meeting followed, the Vicar presiding, supported by the Revs. H. Miller, F. L. Schriber (Vicar of Shipbourne), G. T. Weston (Vicar of Leigh), Mr. B. R. Collins (Vicar's warden), Mr. C. F. Catt (people's warden) was unavoidably prevented from attending.

The District Secretary (Mr. W. Latter) read his annual report, in which he congratulated the members on the prosperity of the district. Four meetings had been held, and were all well attended. In enumerating the peals rung in the district, mention was made of two peals of Grandsire Triples rung at Marden. For the first time in the history of the district three lady ringers took part in the one rung on March 10th, and on May 19th they went one better with four lady ringers taking part, two of them being members of the district, viz., Miss D. Orlebar (Tunbridge Wells), who rang in both peals, and Miss E. Tomlinson (of Speldhurst). The hope was expressed that before long a peal would be rung in the district by a band consisting entirely of lady ringers.

The district secretary and representatives were re-elected, with the thanks of the members for past services.—The District Secretary, in replying, thanked the members for their renewed confidence, and mentioned that this was his 30th year of office.—Mr. F. White and Mr. G. Edwards also returned thanks for their re-election.

Six new members were elected, three being lady ringers.—It was decided that meetings should be held as follows: Spring meeting at Kildown; summer meeting at Benenden; autumn meeting at Chiddingstone; and the next annual meeting at Tonbridge.

The District Secretary announced with regret the loss, by death, of the Rev. H. Smith-Marriott, Rector of Horsmonden, who had been a life member for many years. He also reported that the peal of eight bells at Benenden had been rehung by Mr. A. Bowell, of Ipswich, and mentioned that Mr. W. H. Lambert (who has for many years been the sole member of the association at that tower) was, with the assistance of his sons, responsible for raising £30 towards the funds, by handbell ringing.

The usual votes of thanks to all who had rendered services for the successful meeting were passed, to which the Vicar replied, and the members repaired to the tower for further ringing.

ROCHESTER DISTRICT.

A quarterly meeting of the Rochester District was held at Frindsbury on Saturday, January 26th, and in spite of the railway strike a good number attended. The association service was held in the church, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. A. S. Jose). One of the local ringers, Mr. E. A. G. Allen, officiating at the organ, and the choir boys, also attended to brighten the service. The Vicar gave an address, remarking on the work done by ringers of to-day, and comparing them with ringers of long ago. He spoke in glowing terms of the hand who called others to church, and then set the example by attending themselves.

Tea followed in the Parish Hall, at which 42 sat down, and for the business meeting the Vicar presided, supported by the district representatives (Messrs. W. Haigh and W. Spice), and the district secretary (Mr. F. M. Mitchell). The tower at Higham was brought into union; and one hon. member and sixteen practising members were elected.

On the proposition of the district secretary, and to promote an interest in the association in the Isle of Sheppey, it was decided to hold the next meeting at Queenborough on April 26th. In the event of that tower not being available Eastchurch is to be applied for.

Mr. W. H. Harper (Swanscombe) proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar, who, in responding, said how pleased he was to see the young members attending the meetings. That was what was wanted, as someone had to take the place of the 'grey heads' as they went.

Members attended from various towers in the district, and methods up to Superlative were rung during the day.

WILLIAM DOUBLEDAY CROFTS MEMORIAL DINNER. INTERESTING GATHERING AT NOTTINGHAM.

The William Doubleday Crofts memorial dinner—the second of the series—was held at the Albert Hotel, Nottingham, on Saturday evening, January 26th, when a company of 81 members and friends of the Midland Counties Association sat down. Ald. R. B. Chambers, B.A., J.P., of Derby, president of the M.C.A., was to have presided, but was prevented from attending by indisposition, and the Rev. R. F. Wilkinson (curate of St. Peter's, Mansfield) was voted to the chair. He was supported by the following clergy and officers of the association: Messrs. A. Coppock, local vice-president; Archdeacon Conybeare, the Rev. H. P. Hale, Vicar of St. Peter's; Mr. W. Willson (Leicester), hon. treasurer of the association; Mr. Pryce Taylor (Loughborough), Councillor A. B. Moss (Chilwell), Messrs. W. E. White (Cotgrave), F. Blood (local hon. secretary), W. A. Jones (secretary, Dinner Committee), G. Goodship (Dinner Committee), the Rev. J. S. Galloway (Greasley), the Rev. P. A. Sharpe (curate of Ilkeston), Messrs. C. Draper, A. H. Ward, A. Braines (Derby), other visitors from Leicester, and a large number of the local district members. After dinner, the Chairman proposed the loyal toast. Letters of apology were read from the Bishop, Mr. Cyril Johnston (Croydon Bell Foundry), the esteemed president (Ald. R. B. Chambers), with whom a vote of condolence was passed, etc.

Mr. A. Coppock, in an interesting speech, said the object of the dinner was to keep fresh the memory of one of the most educated ringers of 150 years ago—Mr. William Doubleday Crofts, who was a ringer at St. Mary's Church during the 18th century—and also to have a sociable evening together once every year. He gave a short account of Mr. Crofts' work, which proved him to be a very remarkable ringer.

A course of Stedman Caters was then rung on handbells by A. H. Ward 1—2, E. G. Shepherd 3—4, Wm. Willson 5—6, A. Braines 7—8, C. Draper 9—10. — Councillor A. B. Moss proposed the toast of 'Church and State,' to which the Archdeacon responded in a characteristically forceful speech, in the course of which he congratulated the ringers upon their loyalty to the State and to the Church.

The Chairman then gave the toast of the Midland Counties Association, and greatly amused the company by his entertaining references to ringing and ringers.

RIVALRY BETWEEN LEICESTER AND NOTTINGHAM.

Mr. Wm. Willson, hon. treasurer of the association, replied, and spoke of the honour he felt in being invited to be amongst the Nottingham ringers that night, and of the good work the association was doing for the church and ringers in general. He also gave a short history of the friendly rivalry that used to exist between the Leicester and Nottingham ringers many years ago. He said there was a competition between those ringers as to who should ring a certain peal first for a peal of handbells, and it was pleasing to know that good old Nottingham won. The only regret was that these same handbells were now missing, but it was the hope of the Nottingham men to get them once more returned to their proper home. If this should come to the notice of the present owner it was hoped he would help the Nottingham men in their endeavour.

The bell founders' toast was given by the Rev. J. S. Galloway (Greasley), who, in a witty speech, said how much the Church and ringers owed to the bell founders.—Mr. Pryce Taylor, of Loughborough, in replying, thanked the proposer for his words in praise of the bell founders, who, he said, always strived to do the best work for the Church and ringers.

A vote of thanks to the chairman and the artistes who provided the entertainment was unanimously passed.

The musical part of the programme was provided by the Welbeck Glee Quartette, the Ilkeston handbell band, and Mr. W. C. Hunt (saxophone), Mr. Walter Taylor acting as accompanist.

ROMNEY MARSH GUILD.

A SUCCESSFUL YEAR.

The 21st annual meeting of the above Guild was held at Appledore on Saturday, January 19th, and was an undoubted success. About 35 members attended, representing most of the towers in the district. During the afternoon a peal board, presented by Mr. G. Johnson, and recording his fiftieth peal, was unveiled by Mrs. Scutt, and dedicated by the Vicar (the Rev. A. O. Scutt).

A service was held in the Church, Brother Capeling presiding at the organ, and the Vicar officiating.

Tea was served at the Swan Inn, the Vicar presiding. At the business meeting which followed, both the Master (Mr. C. W. Everett) and the hon. secretary (Mr. H. Balcomb) were unanimously re-elected.

The Hon. Secretary then read his annual report, which showed a very successful year's working, both in progress and finance. Eleven monthly meetings and the annual outing took place during the year, and were generally well attended. The outing was the most successful which had been held. On the financial side he showed a balance in hand of nearly £4 on the year's working, while the total membership was 86.

Several complimentary speeches were made and replied to, and then the members settled down to a very pleasant social.

'EDINBURGH SURPRISE.'

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Kindly allow me space to answer Mr. C. F. Bailey's questions and defend myself against Mr. Lindoff's accusations.

My objections to 'Edinburgh' were plainly stated, and are as follows: It is an unfortunate course to take, with the object of producing a new method, to select two perfect double methods and splice half of each together by introducing two sets of adjoining places in 1—2, which is degrading to both the methods employed. If Mr. Bailey is satisfied because the arrangement produces a whole pull at lead and a triple snap behind, I don't mind in the least. My reason for publishing No. 1 and 2 methods was to show that two methods can be connected without any detrimental effect. No. 1 is half Lancashire and half Yorkshire, and No. 2 half Bristol. I have several others which are like Bristol, clear of the blemish of adjoining place-making, which is my ideal.

Regarding Mr. Lindoff's allusion to a 5,040 Yorkshire Royal, that composition was by Mr. Sam Thomas. The 5,040 Princess Mary Royal I published was arranged from a peal of Superlative I have had for 29 years, and consists of four blocks of three hobs Wrong, each connected with two, making up courses with the 5th in 6th's place. Now I am surprised at Mr. Lindoff, even if he did produce this before me, making a claim for strict originality. Benjamin Annable might have done, but certainly nobody in our generation.

Regarding Mr. Lindoff's allusion to a 7,616 Treble Bob. This peal, along with five others, is undoubtedly mine. What I want to know is, when did it occur to Mr. Lindoff that they were his? I challenge him to give proof of date of his producing the same. I will do likewise, and I suggest, sir, that we each send our case to you, and that you act as judge. This is perfectly fair to both parties. Will Mr. Lindoff agree?—Yours truly,

ARTHUR CRAVEN.

BRISTOL UNITED GUILDS.

At the Bristol United Guilds meeting, Mr. F. G. Leaker was elected chairman for the 1925 dinner, and in acknowledging the compliment, said he felt it was a great honour not only to himself, but to the St. Thomas' Guild.

Mr. William Knight was elected vice-chairman, and will in turn succeed the chairman for the following dinner in 1926.—It was unanimously resolved that Mr. Williams should be re-elected after his satisfactory balance sheet.

A silver bell is to be added to the chain of office each year bearing the chairman's name and year of office.

There is a probability that the interesting Bristol Union Youths jug may be on view at the next dinner.

A social is being arranged for the end of March, and this time it will be held on a Saturday (details will be announced in our notice columns shortly).

The retiring chairman stated that the 1924 dinner was a great success, and he felt highly honoured to have been chairman for that most successful occasion.

A Bristol United Guilds' peal has been arranged for February 21st, 1924, at St. Nicholas' Church.

PRESENTATION AT DEPTFORD.

MR. G. H. DAYNES' QUADRUPLE OFFICES.

On Wednesday evening, January 30th, a pleasant little ceremony took place in the belfry of St. Nicholas', Deptford, previous to an attempt for a peal, which unfortunately was unsuccessful.—Mr. R. D. Marshall, on behalf of the local ringers and a few friends from Surrey and London who were unable to be present, asked the Vicar (the Rev. T. W. Pitman) and Mrs. Pitman to present to Mr. G. H. Daynes a solid gold bell pendant, a silver-mounted amber stemmed pipe, and a tobacco pouch. The pendant, which was beautifully engraved on the front 'The Kent County Association of Change Ringers' and on the back, 'Presented to Mr. G. H. Daynes, January, 1924, 14 years' service as tower keeper of St. Nicholas', Deptford.'

The Rev. T. W. Pitman, in a few brief words, remarked how much Mr. Daynes' services in the belfry and in the church were appreciated.—Mr. R. D. Marshall, in endorsing the Vicar's remarks, said how much Mr. Daynes was appreciated by all who came into contact with him, and he trusted Mr. Daynes would accept the small gifts in the spirit which they were given.

Mr. Daynes, in reply, said he had been taken completely by surprise. He thanked everybody for their kindness, but added that he did not know what he had done to deserve it.—Mrs. Daynes was also present. Mr. Daynes now holds four offices at the church, viz., captain of the ringers, tower keeper, churchwarden, and chorister.

The pendant was the work of Mr. G. Stacey, of Minehead, Somerset.

RINGERS' FESTIVAL AT CHUDLEIGH.BIG DEVON GATHERING.

Over 200 ringers from all parts of Devon, including a ladies' band from Exeter, joined in a ringers' festival at Chudleigh on Saturday, January 19th. The bells, which have been augmented to eight, were recently dedicated, and as no opportunity could then be given for ringers to try them, Mr. W. J. Southwood, secretary for the Devonshire Guild (Exeter branch), organised this festival, which proved a great success.

The bells were kept going from 2 o'clock to 9 p.m., and all expressed their admiration as the way Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon, had carried out the work, both the 'go' and tone of the bells being perfect.

The towers represented were Chudleigh, Moretonhampstead, Paignton, Kenn, Christow, St. David's, St. Thomas's and St. Sidwell's, Exeter; Heavitree, Topsham, Littlehampston, Honiton Clys. Sowton, Bradninch, Whitestone, Kenton, Collaton St. Mary, Highweek, Ideford, Kingsteignton, Alphonston and Newton Abbot.

In the afternoon the quarterly meeting of the Mid-Devon branch of the Devon Guild was held in the School, presided over by Mr. H. W. Wilkes (Dartmouth).—Mr. H. J. Hole (hon. sec.) presented a report, in which reference was made to the work done during the quarter, particularly at Collaton and Cockington.

Mr. Wilkes and Mr. Hole were re-elected chairman and hon. secretary respectively, and Stoke Gabriel was selected for the next meeting, which is to be held on May 3rd.

A vote of thanks was accorded to Mr. W. J. Southwood, of Exeter, for his splendid efforts on behalf of the Mid-Devon branch, and Mr. Southwood, in replying, said he was pleased to do whatever he could to promote scientific bell ringing. He produced a plan of the many churches, of which Exeter is the centre, and suggested that by dividing the parishes into sections, one could help the other without having to go far away. Help could always be obtained from Exeter.

The ringers were entertained to tea by Mr. Cyril Johnston, head of the Croydon foundry, the Rev. G. H. Mallett, Vicar of Chudleigh, thanking him on behalf of all present. Mr. Johnston's health was accorded musical honours.

A concert was given in the Schoolroom to entertain the visitors whilst awaiting their turn to ring, and was very much appreciated, the following taking part: Miss Nancy Perry, Mrs. Cooper, Mr. Roland Durden, Major Weeks, and Mr. Holcombe. Mr. J. J. Hall, F.R.A.S., gave a chat on 'Chimes and Carillons.' Touches were also rung on handbells.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.NORTH AND EAST DISTRICT ANNUAL MEETING.

The bells at Southgate again proved an attraction, when on Saturday, January 19th, the above association met at that place for the annual meeting of the North and East District. In spite of the unsettled weather, well over 40 members attended and enjoyed some good ringing in various methods, including Grandsire and Stedman Caters, Treble Ten and Cambridge Royal. A service was held at 5.15 p.m., conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. C. F. Peplow), and a very interesting address was given by the Rev. R. de G. Hampson. Tea was served at 'The Cherry Tree,' and was followed by the business meeting.

The balance sheet, which showed a credit on the year's working of £2 2s. 9d., was passed, subject to audit.

Eight new members were admitted, and the whole of the retiring officers were re-elected as follows: Master, Mr. G. B. Lucas; treasurer, Mr. F. A. Milne, J.P.; hon. secretary, Mr. C. T. Coles; assistant hon. secretary, Mr. W. J. Kemp; auditors, Messrs. J. E. Miller and W. Pickworth; representatives on Central Committee, Messrs. R. E. G. Geare, W. H. Oram, and S. Wade.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at St. Saviour's, Waltham-slow, the exact date being left to the hon. secretary.

A discussion arose on a proposal made by Mr. J. Parker, that next year's district annual meeting should be held at Edmonton.—This was eventually agreed to, and the members are assured of a very pleasant meeting.

Hearty thanks were accorded the Vicar for the use of the bells; the Rev. R. de G. Hampson for his address at the service; the organist for his valuable assistance; and Mr. J. E. Miller and the local ringers for their usual cordial welcome.—The Rev. R. de G. Hampson made a brief but happy reply, and the business meeting then terminated.

Considerable use was afterwards made of the bells, some excellent ringing including a well-struck course of Middlesex Surprise Royal, which was described by several who heard this method for the first time as a very musical composition.

BELLS OF STEEL.

A meeting of the Eastern District of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association was held at Jarrow on Saturday, January 26th, and, although handicapped by the railway strike, there was a good attendance. After ringing at Christ Church (8 bells) several members proceeded by motor-bus to Hebburn Presbyterian Church. Here they were welcomed by one of the elders and three or four ringers, and after inspecting the beautiful church, the peal of six steel bells (tenor 19 cwt.) were rung in various methods. The local ringers were very interested in seeing scientific change ringing for the first time, and it is hoped that they will take it up.

After tea at the Ben Lomond Hotel, Jarrow, a short meeting was held. Mr. W. Story presided, and was supported by the Rev. E. M. Williams, Rector of Christ Church; the Rev. T. H. Lilburn, Vicar of St. Peter's; Mr. A. M. Hall, Mr. J. W. Parker, and others.—The Secretary read a letter from the district vice-president, Mr. R. Parkinson, regretting inability to attend, and a vote of thanks was passed to the clergy and also the minister and deacons of Hebburn Presbyterian Church.—The Rev. T. H. Lilburn replied in a very helpful speech.

The next meeting was arranged to be held at Sunderland on May 3rd.

HIGH WYCOMBE RINGERS.WITHDRAWAL FROM OXFORD GUILD CONFIRMED.

The annual meeting of the High Wycombe belfry was held at the Vicarage on Monday, January 28th. The Rev. F. M. Molyneux, M.B.E., presided over the meeting, 13 members being present, with the Rev. J. F. S. Glynn, B.A., and the Rev. L. B. Bell, M.A.

Among other business transacted was the confirmation of a previous resolution to withdraw the tower from affiliation with the Oxford Diocesan Guild as a protest against the continuity of the Guild's festival at Oxford.

The number of attendances at Sunday and practice ringing totalled 1,454.

The officers were all re-elected with thanks for their services, as follows: President, the Vicar; foreman, Mr. Ralph Coles; deputy, Mr. Edward Markham; hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr. George Twitcheen.

At the invitation of the president, a first-class supper was enjoyed, and after the meal the rest of the evening was spent in harmony, hearty thanks being accorded to the Vicar for his generosity.

BRAINTREE RINGER AND VERGER.DEATH OF MR. L. W. WIFFEN.

The Essex Association has lost a valued member by the death of Mr. Lewis William Wiffen, of Braintree, who for the past ten years has been verger at St. Michael's Church. The deceased, who was 65 years of age, had not had good health for a long time. He was taken suddenly ill on completing his work in church on Christmas Day, and passed away on January 18th. Conscientious and painstaking in the performance of his duties, he will be much missed by the worshippers at St. Michael's, among whom he was held in much esteem. His father, the late Mr. Walter William Wiffen, was verger before him for many years, and, like his son, was interested in bell ringing. Deceased had been a member of the Essex Association for 35 years, and was one of St. Michael's Guild of Ringers all the time he was in Braintree. His eldest son, Mr. Lewis Walter Wiffen, is the present Master of the Northern Division of the Essex Association; and another son, Mr. George Wiffen, is also a local ringer. A native of Stambourne, deceased was a blacksmith at Colne Engaine before coming to Braintree. He leaves a widow, four sons, and three daughters.

The funeral took place on Wednesday, January 23rd, the Vicar (the Rev. D. B. Barclay), assisted by the curate (the Rev. R. Williams), officiating. During the service at St. Michael's, the hymns, 'Rock of Ages' and 'Now the labourer's task is o'er,' were sung, and at the close the organist, Miss Williams, played a funeral march. The burial took place at the Cemetery. The mourners were the widow; Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Wiffen and Messrs. George and Albert Wiffen, sons and daughter-in-law; Mr. and Mrs. Green, Colchester, and Miss Wiffen, son-in-law and daughters; Mrs. Playle, sister; and Mr. G. Wiffen, Ilford, brother-in-law. Among those who attended were Messrs. G. T. Bartram, J.P., C.A.; C. H. Howard, J.P., Master of the Essex Association; W. H. Dyson, F. J. Weaver, M.A., J. F. Blanden, churchwardens. Floral tributes were received from the churchwardens and Church Council of St. Michael's, and the members of St. Michael's Guild of Ringers. As a mark of respect to the deceased the flag at the church was flown at half-mast. In the evening 768 Kent Treble Bob Major was rung upon the bells with the clappers half-muffled by the following members of the St. Michael's Guild: F. Webb 1, Miss E. Pottitt 2, W. J. Sadler 3, C. H. Howard (conductor) 4, W. H. Dyson 5, H. E. Hammond 6, F. Ely 7, H. J. Collins 8.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.NOTTINGHAM DISTRICT.

The annual meeting of the Nottingham district was held at St. Mary's Church, Nottingham, on Saturday, January 26th, about 60 ringers being present from Beeston, Breaston, Colgrave, Orston, Sawley, Greasley, Old Basford, South Normanton, Mansfield, Sutton-in-Ashfield, with visitors from Derby, Grantham, and other places. Touches in various methods were rung until 4.25, when the company adjourned to the grave of the late Mr. Wm. Doubleday Crofts, and the following rang a course of Grandsire Triples: W. E. White 1-2, A. H. Ward (Derby) 3-4, A. Coppock 5-6, E. C. Gobey (Ilkeston) 7-8. The ringers then attended a short service in the church, conducted by the Rev. B. Vaughan (curate). A short address was given by Archdeacon Conybeare. Mr. W. Taylor, of Greasley, presided at the organ.

The annual meeting followed, in the large vestry, kindly lent by Canon Fields.—Mr. A. Coppock presided, and the secretary presented his report on the year's working. This showed that the district had increased in all department. Hon. members had increased from 19 to 21; ringing members from 151 to 163; cash from £12 8s. 6d. to nearly £30. Thirty new ringing members joined, but owing to two towers and several other members lapsing the net increase was down to twelve members. It was pleasing to note, the Secretary added, that several old members had returned, and two new towers had become affiliated during the year. It was also a pleasure to report the first peal of London Surprise Major rung in Nottingham, and the band was congratulated upon its success. Three old members have passed away during the year, viz., Mr. W. Spencer (Bulwell), Mr. Bryan Dent (East Bridgford) and Mr. S. Wesley, who had rung 210 peals for the association, and had been head ringer and chorister at Lenton Parish Church for about 36 years.—The report was unanimously adopted. The following officers were re-elected: Vice-president, Mr. A. Coppock; secretary, Mr. F. Blood; committee, Mr. W. E. White, Mr. W. A. James.

Old Basford was chosen for the next meeting, on February 23rd.—Two old members rejoined (Messrs. A. Lambert and J. Oldham), and four new members, one from Breaston and three from Mansfield, were elected, as well as the Rev. J. S. Galloway (Vicar of Greasley) as an hon. member.—A very hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Rev. Canon Field for granting the use of the bells, and to the Rev. B. Vaughan for arranging and taking the service.

The next business was the unveiling of a peal board to record the first peal of London Surprise Major rung in the city, at St. Peter's Church, where the members had assembled. Ald. Chambers, B.A., J.P., the president of the M.C.A., was to have performed the ceremony, but owing to indisposition was unable to attend. Archdeacon Conybeare was, therefore, asked to take his place. Mr. A. Coppock, the conductor of the peal, and who had given the peal board, invited the Archdeacon to unveil and dedicate the board.—Archdeacon Conybeare congratulated those who rang in the peal, and after removing the covering from the board, offered up the dedicatory prayer. In place of the tower bells the handbells were brought into use, owing to the tower being so close to the business part of the city.—A vote of thanks to the donor of the board and to the Archdeacon was unanimously carried, and the members then adjourned to the Albert Hotel for the memorial dinner to the late Mr. W. D. Crofts.

OXFORD GUILD DISSENSION.

It must be a matter of regret to the majority of the members of the Oxford Diocesan Guild to read that the twelve-bell band at High Wycombe have confirmed their previous decision to withdraw from the organisation. The action that has been taken may be only the result of 'domestic' differences, but the principle is one of much wider importance. When the Wycombe Company first resolved upon severing their connection with the Guild, as a protest against the action of the general meeting in persisting in holding the annual festival at Oxford, we urged that the step was undemocratic, and, instead of having the desired effect, merely prevented the Wycombe band from bringing about, by constitutional methods, the change they so much desire. The secretary explained in our columns the efforts that had been made, without result, to influence the Guild in the direction of moving the venue of the festival, and he added that, these measures having failed, something more drastic had become necessary.

Well, 'drastic' action has been taken, but is it likely to succeed in its object? We think not. We believe that a much more effective method would have been a resolution at the next annual meeting calling for a referendum on the subject. Such a motion, in view of the known feeling, could not well have been refused, and a vote of the members throughout the Guild would have settled definitely this vexed question. But the Wycombe belfry, by its withdrawal from the Guild, has put itself out of court, and this, we think, is a great pity, both from the Guild's and Wycombe's point of view. It is regrettable, too, because it removes the one live twelve-bell company in the Guild, and also for the influence which the action may have on other companies in the same district.

We do not know what, if any, efforts have been made in the last few months to prevent the complete breach at Wycombe, but if, as seems to be the case from the letter of a correspondent in this issue, the whole district of East Berks and South Bucks, once the most active and probably the best organised branch of the Guild, has been neglected, the policy of 'drift' will soon lead to further dissatisfaction and dissensions. This is hardly characteristic of the Oxford Guild, and is perhaps indicative of the trouble that is under the surface in that part of the diocese. It cannot be too late, even yet, to save the situation in Buckinghamshire, but in this, as in other things, delays are dangerous. We still say we do not think the Wycombe branch exhausted every means of getting a full expression of feeling on the subject about which they feel aggrieved, but, unless there have been negotiations concerning which nothing has been made public, it can hardly be said that the Guild officials have handled the matter as one would have expected them to do. Moreover, the situation will not be improved by the lack of action by those responsible for the branch organisation, of which our correspondent complains. Perhaps the feeling which exists in the branch is not even now fully realised in other parts of the Guild.

WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

A good meeting of the Yorktown District was held at Pirbright on Saturday last, when, despite a damp day, members and friends were present from Bagshot, Camberley, Chertsey, Godalming, Worplesdon, and the local band. Ringing commenced shortly after 3 p.m., and at the service the Rev. G. R. M. Eliwood (of Chertsey) assisted the Vicar, the Rev. A. Neild.

Tea was served at the Parish Hall, followed by the business meeting, the Vicar presiding. One new member was elected, and a hearty vote of thanks was given to the Vicar for the use of the bells, for giving such an excellent address, and for presiding at the tea and meeting.—The Rev. A. Neild, in replying, said he hoped the next meeting at Pirbright would not be far off.—The tower was again visited, and various methods rung.

It is interesting to note that in Pirbright Churchyard the great explorer, Sir Henry M. Stanley, is buried, and a huge and rugged piece of rock marks his resting-place.

A LETTER FROM OVERSEAS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Once again I have to thank you for the regular sending of 'The Ringing World,' which always comes, even when other mail gets delayed. This must be a special dispensation of Providence for the benefit of 'exiled' ringers who have voluntarily severed themselves from the art they love so well. A great deal of Christmas mail was delayed this season at New York, and came in about Jan. 8th and 9th, but 'The Ringing World' came in as usual; indeed it rarely varies more than two or three days.

I have just been reading with astonishment the account of the peal in 35 spliced methods at Norbury, and cannot help regarding this as an extraordinary performance. Difficult methods require a lot of concentration to ring them successfully, but in the case of this latest record, one would think that some new mental attitude, akin to extreme alertness combined with concentration, is required, as a new method comes up so quickly that the ordinary dour effort of mental control over the sight and hearing that ringers possess would constantly change to a new phase.

Since I left England there has been a distinct rise in the standard of methods rung. What was confined to isolated spots seems to be pretty general all over the country. One can only hope that the standard of striking is also being maintained; it could scarcely be raised, anyway, in a great many places, although I have been in towers where they did not pay the attention to striking that should have been paid to it.

But the old school of ringers in the Norwich Association, such as rang the septuagenarian peal at Pulham, although few tried to get above Treble Bob, could ring what they knew until even the tenor on the slow seemed a virtue, so regular did they strike the bells.

John Brady, the old blind ringer at Debenham, who died in 1917, told me that when the 16,608 was rung there in 1892, he never missed a change of it, and the striking was so regular that after some hours the actual notes of the bells seem to fade in his brain, and became almost like a succession of dull knocks. He claimed that only the utmost unflinching spacing of the knocks could produce this, and remarked that it could be done on a piano if persisted in, the bell at the handstroke lead being the last to retain its note, on account of the open lead.

One can only hope that, even if the above effect is not exactly desirable, the efforts being made to ring more and more complicated methods, will yet leave time for the study of the true beauty of bells—regular striking. Notes without rhythm do not constitute music.

It seems hopeless to try to raise an interest for bells here. St. James' Cathedral were considering a war memorial, either of bells or in stone, and decided on the stone one. The organist, Dr. Ham, told me he used to be a secretary for a society of ringers somewhere in the West of England. He tried to get interest going for bells, but failed. 'They have nine large bells in the tower, eight of them fixed 'dead,' the tenor hung 'balanced,' on the clumsiest set of fittings I ever saw. She might be two tons in weight, the keynote is C. Not bad tone, cast in New York in 1865. Mr. C. F. White, who used to hang bells for Messrs. Warner, tells me that it is lucky the tenor is balanced, for they toll her by slowly rolling her upside down, and she stands on two iron brackets which wobble, even with this smooth movement. The brackets just stand on two beams, being about 6 feet high, so you can guess the result if this bell was hung at shoulder level. The wheel reminds me of one of those old water mill wheels in England, and is immense. It is made of planks.

One would think that a glance in this tower would convince the authorities that improvements could easily be made, but they are not considering it.

Mr. C. F. White, who has a set of 25 handbells, is keeping in touch with a few friends who live near enough to him to meet once a week. They practise tunes mainly, not much change ringing, I believe. For myself, I live too far away to go very often.

Wishing 'The Ringing World' every success, and the fraternity a happy New Year, I am, yours faithfully,
PETER LAFLIN.

BISHOP DEDICATES PEAL BOARD.

On Sunday, January 13th, Bishop Shaw visited Monks Rishborough, and, at a special service in the Parish Church, dedicated a peal tablet, recording the first peal rung on the fine old six bells in St. Dunstan's tower, viz., 5,040 changes of Bob Minor on June 2nd, 1923.

The tablet, a very neat one of English oak, with gold lettering, was the gift of a well known church lady, Miss Dore, formerly principal of the Abbey Schools, High Wycombe, and who, with the Bishop, was mainly the means of High Wycombe having its peal augmented to twelve.

The Bishop gave an address after the dedication, explaining the reason such tablets were placed in the belfries, as the result of the ringers' keenness in church work, and, therefore, giving their best in service to God.

Both before and after the ceremony, the bells were rung in Bob Doubles by the local band, assisted by J. W. Wilkins, of High Wycombe, who conducted; also G. Seymour, of Bledlow.

BRISTOL RINGER'S SILVER WEDDING.

Mr. R. J. Drew, a valued and earnest worker at Christ Church with St. Ewen's, Bristol, celebrated his silver wedding on January 22nd. For something approaching 20 years he has been in charge of the tower, which contains a peal of ten bells (tenor 20 cwt.), on which peals from Grandsire to London Surprise have been rung. In the belfry is a board recording a long peal of Grandsire Caters rung many years ago. In this tower, on Tuesday, the 22nd ult., the young band, with a few leading lights of other days, met to ring a touch (630 changes) of Grandsire Triples in honour of the event. The following took part: R. Gilbert 1, F. G. May 2, D. Barnard 3, F. J. Jewell 4, J. Davis 5, J. Richmond 6, G. T. Daltry (conductor) 7, W. Noble 8. Other ringing followed, giving the younger ringers a chance on the ten bells.

A very cordial invitation was extended to those who took part in the ringing to Mr. and Mrs. Drew's residence in Queen Square, where provision had been made to entertain the party, numbering about twenty, who sat down to an enjoyable collation. — Mr. Drew afterwards said how very pleased he was to have a few of his old friends with him that evening, together with the young men who were doing their best to carry on the ringing at Christ Church. He added that with all the failures and successes he had experienced he had no regrets in regard to his married life. His wife and himself had pulled together, and that day found them with their four children happy in the knowledge that things might have been a good deal worse for them.—Congratulations were extended to Mr. and Mrs. Drew on having reached their silver wedding day, and it was hoped that the next 25 years (if they were spared) would be as happy as those they had already experienced. Very hearty thanks were also offered to Mr. and Mrs. Drew for so kindly entertaining the party, Mr. J. Davis voicing the feelings of the ringers to the donor of the feast. He dwelt upon the fact that very cordial relations existed between Mr. Drew and himself and other workers of Christ Church, of which Mr. Drew was one of the most prominent.

The rest of the evening was spent in talking over old times, songs by members of the party, and selections by Miss Drew on the piano, while the host brought down the house very appropriately by singing his favourite, 'My Old Dutch.' The happy gathering broke up at midnight.

Many useful articles of silver have been presented to Mr. and Mrs. Drew by friends, who valued their work and friendship.

PATTISHALL'S VETERAN SEXTON.

At Pattishall Church, Northants, on Feb. 2nd, an attempt for a peal of Bob Minor was specially arranged as a birthday compliment to the sexton (Mr. T. Birch), but unfortunately came to grief, after two hours' good striking, owing to the treble casting the rope. The following members of the Towcester and District Association took part: G. Mansfield 1, J. Wilfred Sharp (conductor) 2, J. W. Haynes 3, A. Booth 4, A. Mansfield 5, J. M. Gray 6. Several attempts recently made for a peal on these bells have come to grief owing to the bad going of the tenor. An oiling apparatus has now been fixed, and seems to be successful, for at the end of the two hours' ringing there were 'no complaints.'

Mr. Birch has been a ringer for about 62 years, and is also the oldest member of the Towcester Association. After the ringing, the band and several friends were very kindly entertained by Mr. G. E. Groom to an excellent meat tea at the 'Malt Shovel.'—Mr. Groom, in proposing the health of Mr. Birch, said, on behalf of the churchwardens, how proud they felt in having such an efficient sexton as Mr. Birch, for although he had attained his 78th birthday he was always punctual at the belfry for all services, and when there was no ringing he would do his bit by chiming four bells without any assistance. He hoped the time would soon come when a band of ringers would be formed in Pattishall, and get the lovely peal of bells going much oftener.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded Mr. Groom for the excellent tea he had provided. Several courses of various Minor methods were rung on the handbells, and brought a very pleasant and enjoyable evening to a close.

THE LADIES' GUILD.

The Midland district of the Ladies' Guild held their quarterly meeting at St. Peter's, Harbourn, on Saturday, January 19th. The attendance was not so good as usual, owing to the weather, and threatened railway strike, but members were present from Smethwick, Solihull, Evesham and Netherton. The ladies had some good practice with the local ringers and the gentlemen visitors.—There was no service owing to the Vicar (Canon Pettit) being away.

The local ringers entertained the visitors to tea. Mrs. H. Grovenor and other ladies had everything ready, and a most enjoyable time was spent. After tea the business meeting was held, at which Miss M. E. Tomlinson, of Kent, was elected member of the Guild, and a hearty vote of thanks was proposed to Mr. H. Grovenor and his fellow ringers for their kindness.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

From time to time the footnote to a peal reveals the return to the ranks of peal ringers of someone whose name has been absent for a long period. We wonder whether there has been a longer lapse of time between two peals by one man than in the case of Mr. Joseph Hawkes, who on Saturday rang a peal at Chalford, Gloucester, his last peal previously having been rung in 1889—thirty-five years ago!

The longest peal in Wales was rung on Saturday, when 10,400 Kent Treble Bob Major was successfully brought round in 6 hrs. 5 mins., at Rhyl, by the North Wales Association. It had been intended to attempt the peal at Buckley, but serious illness near the church prevented this, and the Rector of Rhyl very kindly, at short notice, permitted the attempt to be made at his church.

In our leading article last week we mentioned the names of some of the men who have rendered so much faithful service in the cause of change ringing in Devon. There is another who should have been included, and that is Mr. W. H. Marsh, who has for many years carried on invaluable spudwork in the Plymouth district.

Last year the Lancashire Association had a total of 1,410 members, made up of 83 honorary life members, 18 honorary, 196 non-resident, and 1,113 performing members. Fifty-one members rang their first peal, and 165 their first in a fresh method.

On Shrove Tuesday, 1826, which was February 7th, an unusual performance was accomplished at Bingley, Yorks. 'Three touches of twelve twelve-scores each, without a breakdown or a false change,' making a total of 8,640 changes, was rung in 36 methods. For those days this was a remarkable achievement.

The last survivor of the band was James Lilley, who lived until 1879, having been a ringer at Bingley for 17 years, and afterwards at Shipley for over 40 years.

To-day is the 99th anniversary of a peal of 9,999 Grandsire Major rung at Oldham on February 15th, 1825.

A peal of 14,224 Bob Major was rung in 8 hours 45 mins. at Aston on February 16th, 1789, by St. Martin's Youths. Probably they thought at the time that it was the longest length in the method, and did not know of the 15,120 rung at Westham in 1737, or the 14,480 at Oldham in 1784. Presumably, however, they were not long in hearing of these greater lengths, for they secured the Bob Major laurels by ringing 15,369 in the year 1793. And that is still, we believe, the longest length in the method.

The twelve bells of Christ Church, Spitalfields, were destroyed by fire on February 17th, 1836. This provides one of the few cases in which a peal of 12, once installed, has been reduced in number. Spitalfields has had only eight bells ever since.

February 18th is the anniversary of a peal of 10,000 Oxford Treble Bob Royal rung at Shoreditch by the College Youths in the year 1777.

It was on February 18th, 1822, that the Huddersfield company rang the first peal of 'New' Cambridge Surprise Major.

The Oxford University Guild was founded on February 20th, 1872.

On February 21st, 1874, 8,864 Kent Treble Bob Major was rung at St. Peter's, Ashton-under-Lyne.

The first peal of Surprise Major in Liverpool was rung last week, Cambridge being the method. It was a matter of regret to the company that Messrs. Gilmour and Wilkinson, who were in previous attempts, were, for unavoidable reasons, unable to take part.

'EDINBURGH SURPRISE.'

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In reply to Mr. Craven's letter, we do not want to know about his No. 1 and No. 2 methods. We desire an answer to the two questions asked. If we are to believe that a triple snap is a whole turn, and that the back work of Edinburgh is Bristol, then London Surprise is only Bob Major, hunt and dodge.—Yours truly,

C. F. BAILEY.

A UNIQUE SERVICE.

A Change Ringers Association once enjoyed a unique church service. Such a one the ancient chancel had doubtless never echoed, nor had it seen its stalls so filled. The time was strictly limited, 12.30 till 1.

One voice impelled us to our knees, clanging the little iron gates behind us, leading us without an instant's pause for 30 minutes, then playing us out with an original carol based on the inscriptions of the priest's own parish bells. Hymns and collects clearly and swiftly followed each other. The address began with the prologue to Longfellow's Golden Legend, taking us to the spire of Strasburg Cathedral, in a night of storm, and Lucifer with the powers of the air trying to tear down the cross. The sounding bells, with angels in legions, repel the Outcast of Heaven and all his efforts. Lucifer cries 'Baffled, baffled, leave this labour unto Time, the great Destroyer.' Alas! Satan has found already a destroyer; he has banned the word God from the schools of France, and in fearful climax Moscow re-echoes the edicts of Paris.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

MEMORIAL TO THE LATE MR. CHARLES JACKSON.

The annual meeting of the Yorkshire Association was held on Saturday, January 26th, at Hull, the headquarters for the day being the fine old Church of the Holy Trinity. By an unfortunate coincidence, the national railway strike precluded many intending visitors from attending the meeting, the result being a very disappointing attendance numerically, but the proceedings were marked by an enthusiasm, which one would naturally expect, in a district that was for so long the scene of the labours of one to whom the association owed much in its early days, the late Mr. Charles Jackson.

The audit was held in the choir school immediately beside the church in the early afternoon, while enthusiasts in the neighbouring tower made liberal use of the splendid peal of ten bells, to the consternation of the stallholders in the adjoining market square. Divine service was held in Holy Trinity Church at 4 p.m., when an eloquent sermon was preached by the Rev. A. E. Smallwood, M.A., Vicar of All Saints', Hull.

Immediately prior to the service, an interesting ceremony took place in the tower of Holy Trinity, when the president (the Rev. C. C. Marshall), at the invitation of Mr. Mayfield, the senior churchwarden, unveiled a memorial board, placed there by the many friends of the late Mr. Charles Jackson. After the introductory prayers and prayers of dedication, the President paid an earnest tribute to the labours, on behalf of the Yorkshire Association, of the late Mr. Jackson, who was for many years a steward and trustee of the association, and who was largely responsible for the rapid spread of change ringing in the East Riding of Yorkshire. The association was under a great debt of gratitude to such men, and the speaker urged his hearers to emulate the example set them by Mr. Jackson, who during his lifetime was a most able and zealous ringer, and also a regular attendant and member at the church where he rang.

Speaking from the text, 'Come unto Me, and I will give you rest,' the preacher pointed out that ringers were engaged in work that gave a constant invitation to men to associate themselves with the work of our Saviour, for the uplifting of all mankind. Never was the need greater than it was to-day, to urge mankind to turn their minds from the sordid things of this world, and to devote their attention to spiritual and uplifting influences. Bells asked all mankind to be at peace with God, and God wanted to come to men in the Blessed Sacrament. In conclusion, the congregation were urged to do their best as ringers, and aspire to be at their best spiritually, in order to serve as an example to their brothers, who may be less familiar with the offices of the church.

PROPOSED ALTERATIONS TO RULES.

Tea was served in the adjoining choir school, when some 45 members took advantage of the hospitality of their Hull friends. At the business meeting, which followed in the same building, the president (the Rev. C. C. Marshall) occupied the chair, and was supported by the principal officers of the association. Letters of apology were received from the Rev. E. Drage and from Mr. G. B. Bolland.

The Rev. C. C. Marshall was unanimously re-elected as president of the association for the ensuing three years.

The adoption of the balance sheet was moved, in an interesting speech, by Mr. E. S. Field, seconded by Mr. F. W. Dale, while the report of the committee was adopted, on the motion of Mr. A. Sellars, and seconded by Mr. W. Johnson.

The President gave notice of motion, on behalf of the general committee, to delete Rule 8 and to alter Rule 2 to read: 'The subscription for each ringing member shall be 2/6 for the first year, and 2/- for each subsequent year, this subscription entitling such members to a free copy of the annual report for the current year. All life members who were members prior to and including 1885, shall be entitled to an annual report at a charge of 6d. per copy.'

Notice was also given to alter Rule 3 by the addition of the following clause: 'The committee shall also have power to appoint an hon. secretary for peals who shall have a seat on the committee, and retire annually.'

A vote of thanks to the various clergy and wardens for kindly granting the use of their bells for the day, and to the authorities of Holy Trinity for the arrangements for the annual service, was responded to by Mr. Mayfield, the senior warden of Holy Trinity Church, who assured the association of a hearty welcome when they decide to visit Hull again.

A vote of thanks to the local company for their kind arrangements, and to the ladies who waited at the tea tables, was responded to by Mr. J. Howell.

The secretary was instructed to send a letter of condolence to Mr. G. B. Bolland in his bereavement by the death of Mrs. Bolland. Great regret was expressed at Mr. Bolland being unable to be present owing to illness, and it is hoped that he may soon be restored to health again.

Train time brought a most enjoyable meeting to an end, leaving with the visitors memories of a most hearty welcome, and a desire to visit such pleasant quarters again at the earliest opportunity.

FATAL ACCIDENT IN A BELFRY.

BELL HANGER'S FALL AT WHALLEY.

While engaged in taking down the bells at the old Church at Whalley (Lancs), on Thursday of last week, Richard Burton, employed by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, fell through the trap-door to the church floor, some 20 feet below. He sustained a fractured skull, and died on the following morning in Blackburn Infirmary. The deceased, who was 40 years of age, lived at 8, Warner Lane, Church Gate, Loughborough, and was unmarried.

The sad story of the accident was told at an inquest held by the Blackburn Coroner on Friday last, when evidence of identification was given by the deceased's sister, who said her brother went to work at Whalley on January 21st.

Thomas Dexter, said he and the deceased went to Whalley to take down the bells at the old parish church. To facilitate working they opened a trap-door in the ringing-room. They went in and out several times. When they descended from the belfry to the ringing-room to complete their work it was dark. They carried lighted candles.

When witness was reaching for his coat he heard a scratching noise, and, looking round, saw his companion disappearing through the trap-door. He fell 20 to 25 feet to the floor of the church.

Other evidence showed that the deceased sustained a fracture of the base of the skull. He was removed to Blackburn Infirmary, but died next morning.

Answering the Coroner, Mr. Dexter said there was a distance of 3½ feet between the wall and the edge of the trap-door. Deceased apparently forgot the door was open.

The Coroner, recording a verdict of 'Accidental death,' said it was a sad, unfortunate affair.

The bells were to go to Loughborough for restoration. Burton had been employed by Messrs. Taylor and Co. for the past 20 years, and this is the first fatal accident in the history of the firm.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

PROPOSED RING OF TEN FOR DARTFORD.

A quarterly meeting of the Lewisham District was held at Dartford on Saturday, February 9th, when about 50 ringers attended. The bells were available from 3 p.m., and were kept going in various methods from Grandsire Triples to London Surprise during the afternoon and evening.

The Association service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. Canon Savill), who gave a very interesting and helpful address. One of the ringers, Mr. W. E. Pitman (Canterbury), presided at the organ.

The members adjourned to the Church Rooms, and an excellent tea, kindly supplied by the Rev. Canon Savill, was partaken of by about 40 members. Several ladies of the parish kindly superintended this function, at which the Vicar presided. After tea five members rang a course of Bob Royal on handbells.

The business meeting was then held, the Vicar presiding, supported by the district representatives (Messrs. W. J. Jeffries and I. Emery), and the district secretary (Mr. T. Groombridge).—Six new members were elected, and Beckenham was chosen as the place for the next meeting.

Mention of the serious illness of the wife of an old ringer (Mr. J. Law), of Lewisham, aroused expression of sympathy from the meeting, and on the proposition of the District Secretary, a collection was made, which resulted in the sum of £1 17s. being placed at the disposal of Mr. Law in his trouble.

Some discussion took place on the prospects of augmenting the ring of eight bells to one of ten, the intention to try to accomplish this being announced by the secretary of the local band (Mr. J. Wheedon).

The District Secretary proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, for conducting the service, presiding at the meeting, and for his generosity in providing the tea; to the ladies who helped; and to the organist.—The Vicar suitably responded, and this concluded the meeting, the members returning to the tower for further ringing.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

TYNESIDE DISTRICT.

A successful meeting of Tyneside District was held at Whitley Bay on February 2nd, members attending from Darlington, Gosforth, Gateshead and Newcastle. After tea, served in the Parish Hall, the Vice-President (Mr. J. E. R. Keene) proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells and the hall, and voiced the regret of himself and fellow-ringers at the departure of the Vicar from the parish, which takes place at the end of the month.

The motion having been carried with acclamation, the Vicar (the Rev. F. L. Cattel, B.D.) said no thanks were due to him, but rather to the ringers themselves who had conferred an honour on the parish by coming to ring the bells. He touched on the good feeling existing between himself and the local ringers, and expressed the hope that he would hear a peal some Saturday afternoon before he left.

Tea over, the ringers returned to the tower, when touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Cambridge and London Surprise Major were brought round. Altogether nearly 4,000 changes were rung.

GRAFTON UNDERWOOD'S BELLS. DEDICATION OF A NORTHAMPTONSHIRE RING.

A ring of five bells in the beautiful old Church of St. James, in the little Northamptonshire village of Grafton Underwood, were dedicated on Feb. 5th by the Bishop of Leicester (Dr. Norman Lang). The robed clergy in attendance were the Rector (the Rev. C. E. Hopkins), the Rev. A. H. D. McCheane (Minor Canon of St. Paul's Cathedral), who intoned the service, the Rev. R. C. Thurstfield (President of the Kettering branch of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild), and the Rev. F. H. Glaister. Immediately following the dedication a well-struck 120 of Grandsire Doubles was rung by M. Hobbs 1, G. Black 2, R. G. Black 3, C. W. Bird 4, C. Moore 5.

The Bishop preached an eloquent and very instructive sermon, relating to the history and uses of bells in the church from the earliest times. Mention was made of a bell at Cold Ashby, Northamptonshire, bearing the date 1517.

After service more ringing was heard, and for the evening service 360 Grandsire and 240 Bob Doubles, and 120 of Stedman Doubles by F. Wilford (Master of the Peterborough Guild) 1, M. Hobbs 2, C. W. Bird 3, R. W. Lawrence 4, R. G. Black 5.

The Rev. R. C. Thurstfield preached an excellent sermon, and in conclusion brought to the notice of the Rector and ringers of Grafton Underwood the good that might be done if they would associate themselves to the Kettering branch of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, who would do all they could to encourage and assist the local band to become efficient in change ringing.

The bells were an old peal of four, cast by Bagley in 1682, of which the tenor and treble have been recast, and the second and third quarter turned. A new treble has been added, and a frame provided for a sixth bell to be added at some future date. The whole peal has been rehung in an iron frame.

The weight of bells is: Treble 3 cwt.; 2nd 3 cwt. 3 qr.; 3rd, 4 cwt.; 4th, 4 cwt. 3 qr.; tenor 7 cwt. 1 qr. They are a bright musical peal, and run on ball bearings. The work was very satisfactorily carried out by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., Loughborough.

The total estimated cost is £325, and the people of Grafton Underwood are to be congratulated on the fact that practically the whole of the money has already been raised in the village. It shows the enthusiasm they have put into the work.

It is to be hoped that the ringers will show the same amount of enthusiasm so that very soon they will have a band who will be able to ring regularly for services and for practice.

ROYAL SOCIETY OF CUMBERLAND YOUTHS.

A very successful and enjoyable general meeting was held at St. Martin-in-the-Fields on Saturday. The bells were kept going in various methods up to six o'clock, after which followed a sumptuous tea provided by the Vicar.

The meeting was held in the Church Room, the Master (Mr. J. D. Matthews) presiding. The balance sheet showed the very satisfactory balance of £25 17s., an increase of £4 12s. 6d. over 1922.

During the year sixteen peals were rung, and 13 new members joined the society.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Master, J. D. Matthews; hon. secretary, J. W. Cornford; treasurer, B. Foskett; senior steward, C. Matthews; junior steward, T. Bevan; trustees, A. Hardy and F. Smith; Central Council representatives, Messrs. J. D. Matthews, J. Parker, F. Smith and J. W. Cornford.

The meeting closed with a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar and churchwardens for their kind hospitality.

THE EMPIRE EXHIBITION.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In view of the forthcoming Empire Exhibition at Wembley, it is to be hoped that our bell founders will not be behindhand in exhibiting specimens of their art; if not by a complete ring, perhaps by a single bell, if only in miniature. There will be present many thousands of visitors from countries where bell ringing, as we know it, has never been heard of, and an exhibit would interest our Colonial friends in English bell ringing, which might in time bear fruit by increasing rings of bells in the Colonies. It is to be hoped that the various London Societies will draw up a list of practice nights at the principal towers in and around the city, so that visiting ringers from the provinces may avail themselves of what may be to many, a once in a lifetime chance, a pull in our great capital.—Yours faithfully,
E. JENKINS.

DEATH OF A NEWHEY RINGER.

In memory of Mr. Tom Smith, a ringer at St. Thomas's Church, Newhey, Lancashire, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung with the bells deeply muffled for evening service on Sunday, Feb. 3rd: L. Fielding 1, R. Thompson 2, J. Wood 3, J. Fitton (first quarter-peal) 4, J. Meadowcroft (conductor) 5, A. Cooper (first quarter-peal) 6, C. A. Smith 7, S. S. Fitton 8. Mr. Tom Smith died on January 29th, and was buried at St. James's Church, Milnrow, on Saturday, February 2nd.

THE OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Many members of the East Berks and South Bucks branch are asking what is happening to this once lively and energetic section of the Guild? For the last twelve months it seems to have gone to sleep or died. One doesn't seem to be able to get into touch with the secretary by letter. The committee has usually met before Christmas; up till now no meeting. Many towers were passive resisters in 1922; many others will follow suit if something is not done at once.—Yours faithfully,

A SUPPORTER OF THE GUILD.

LONG ASHTON RINGER'S DEATH.

The death has occurred of Mr. Harry Bridle, of Yanleigh Lane, Long Ashton, Bristol. The deceased had resided in Long Ashton for many years, and the knowledge that he had passed away, after a short illness, was a shock to many who knew him. He interested himself in the village life, being a member of the Village Club Committee, and was at one time on the committee of the Horticultural Society. For nine years he had been a sidesman at the church, while for 30 years he had been a ringer.

There was a large attendance at the funeral, at which the Vicar officiated, and the choir attended. Wreaths were sent by the Vicar and churchwardens, the ringers, village club, and cricket club.

The deceased had rung six peals for the Bath and Wells, and two or three for the Gloucester and Bristol Association.

After the funeral, touches of Stedman and Grandsire Triples were rung, the following taking part: Mrs. E. Wilkins, the Rev. R. H. Whitford, Messrs. Abraham, Cave, Green, Leaker (Bristol). King (Bath), in addition to the local men, six of whom also acted as bearers.

SUCCESS AT CONSETT.

Messrs. A. M. Hall, A. S. Hillier, and W. H. Barker, again visited Consett on February 9th, and came away fully pleased with the progress made by the ringers at Consett Church. There was no mistaking the determination of the local men, who had been making every effort to master the method of Grandsire Triples since the previous visit of the Newcastle Guild.

The peal rung on the 9th February at the second attempt, was accomplished, with few blemishes, in 3 hrs. 11 mins. The help of Mr. Fred Sheraton, of Chester-le-Street, was much appreciated. Although this was his first peal in the method, he is an experienced change ringer in other methods.

We are glad to hear of the praiseworthy efforts being made by the Rev. A. W. Lister, vice-president of the Western District, who is arranging a peal at St. Aidan's Church, Blackhill, shortly. He is rallying round him a very willing band of ringers, and, not being afraid to do his bit, we trust his efforts will meet with every success.

The indefatigable Mr. W. W. Sinclair, Ringing Master of St. Aidan's, Blackhill, whose opinions on ringing peals are greatly appreciated, was a listener at the Consett peal, and the company were glad to get his warm approval of their efforts.

Prior to the peal, the Vicar (the Rev. W. C. D. Fedden) gladly welcomed the band, and thanked the Newcastle Guild for their kindness in making the second journey to help his ringers to become masters in the art of change ringing.

The local band very kindly entertained the party to a good tea, which was greatly relished. Eventually the company broke up at 8.30, after a most enjoyable and successful day's outing.

GLOUCESTER & BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION. WOTTON-UNDER-EDGE BRANCH.

The annual meeting was held at Dursley on Saturday, January 26th. The attendance was not up to the average, owing no doubt to the very inclement weather. It was not possible to use Dursley bells, owing to a case of illness close to the church, but the bells of Upper Cam were at the disposal of the members.

Mr. Albert Burcombe (chairman) presided at the business meeting.

The report, presented by Mr. W. A. Lewis (hon. secretary), showed that during the year eleven meetings had been held, with an average attendance of fifteen. Five new members had been elected. In dealing with the balance sheet, the Secretary stated that many members had not paid their subscriptions. Had all subscriptions been paid, the financial position would have compared favourably with last year. At present they had a balance of £3 7s. 6d.

Mr. Burcombe was re-elected chairman.—In returning thanks, he said he would continue to do his best for the branch. He urged members to attend the meetings, the main object of which was to encourage change ringing in local towers. It was very disappointing when meetings were held at various towers to find local ringers conspicuous by their absence.

Mr. W. Dyer was elected vice-chairman, and Mr. H. W. Fussell as representative on the Management Committee.

The Hon. Secretary asked to be relieved of the secretarial duties. He had not, he pointed out, lost interest in the work, but he thought a change would be beneficial all round. As no volunteer for the vacancy was forthcoming, it was decided that Mr. Lewis should continue until the next meeting, at which it was hoped there would be a larger attendance.

Two new members were elected from Wotton-under-Edge, viz., Messrs. L. Hopkins and R. Bond.

It was agreed that the next two meetings should be held at Stone (February) and Coaley (March).

Hearty thanks were extended to the Rector (the Rev. Dr. C. C. Mills) for his kindness in providing tea, the members expressing sympathy with him in his indisposition.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A very successful meeting of the Western District of the Hertford County Association was held at King's Langley on Feb. 12th, ringers attending from Hemel Hempstead, Berkhamstead, Tring, Bushey, Pinner, Ealing, Watford, Oxhey, St. Albans, and the local tower. The bells were utilised afternoon and evening for Grand-sire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Double Norwich and Superlative, several of the local band ringing their first course and touch of Stedman. Service was held at 4.45 p.m., when a very appropriate address was given by the Vicar, who took the text, 'Let your light so shine before men,' etc., and transposed it into 'Let your bells so sound before men,' etc.

Tea followed in the Church Room, kindly provided by the Vicar and the local ringers. With unanimous approval, the Vicar was asked to preside at the business meeting which followed, and at which four new members were elected, one each from Hemel Hempstead, Watford, King's Langley and S. Ealing.

Northchurch was chosen for the next place of meeting, on April 12th, but an extra meeting was fixed for Great Gaddesdon (a 5-bell tower) on March 15th.

A very hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the donors of the tea, and the Vicar for the use of the bells, to which the Vicar suitably responded. The ladies also received grateful thanks for their attendance on the 'mere men' at tea.

After courses of Stedman Triples, Grandsire Triples and Bob Major on the handbells, the company adjourned to the tower for further ringing.

GRAMOPHONE RECORDS OF CHANGE RINGING.

To the Editor.

Sir, — For the benefit of Mr. J. M. Poyntz, of Hotel Royal, Bangkok, Siam, I should like to say that we here at Anston had three leads of changes on tower bells recorded, also the falling of the bells over 20 years ago. I cannot state at the moment if the records are still in existence, as it is years since I heard them.—Yours truly,

HY. STENTON.

DEDICATION OF PEAL BOARD AT MELTON.

An interesting event took place at Melton Mowbray on a recent Saturday. Two years ago a peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal was rung on the bells to commemorate a royal visit to Melton in connection with the opening of the War Memorial Hospital. A board giving full details of the event has been placed in the belfry by the generosity of Mrs. Blakeney, wife of the Rector. In the absence of the Rector, through illness, the dedicatory prayers were said by the curate, who afterwards, at the request of Mrs. Blakeney, unveiled the board. The latter is a magnificent piece of work, and is quite worthy of the place it occupies in Leicestershire's finest church. On behalf of the ringers, Mr. R. H. Bartram heartily thanked the donor for her beautiful gift: Mr. F. H. Dexter seconding. A peal of Stedman Caters then followed, a special feature of which was the reappearance of Mr. J. Oldham as a peal ringer after twelve months' absence.

ACCIDENTS IN THE BELFRY.

The story, which we published last week, of the sad fatality in the belfry at Whalley, where an employe of the Loughborough Foundry met his death by falling through the open hatchway in the ringing room to the floor of the church, will have been read with deep regret not only by those who knew the victim, Mr. Richard Burton, who for twenty years had been employed by Messrs. Taylor & Co., but by all connected with the Exercise. Happily, a fatality in connection with the restoration of bells is an exceedingly rare occurrence. We have no recollection of a previous one in recent years, and this is the first in the long history of the famous Loughborough firm. It does, however, go to prove a fact which is often overlooked, that there are risks and dangers in the bell-hanger's task. In this instance a moment's absent-mindedness cost the man his life.

The distressing accident is a reminder, too, of the risks which are sometimes run by ringers, and especially by those who make themselves responsible for looking after the bells. Oftentimes these risks are taken unnecessarily. It is no unusual thing for a steeplekeeper to grease the bells while they are up, and we have known men who have gone in the dark among raised bells to turn the clapper of one which has gone up the wrong way. To do either of these things is, to say the least, inviting trouble. To grope one's way in darkness over the narrow frame, with protruding bolts on which to trip, with yawning pits on either side, and bells ready to fly off from the stay at the least pull, is an extremely dangerous practice, and yet it is often done with immunity by ringers that they make light of it and laugh at the misgivings of the timorous. Some of the things which steeplekeepers will do among the bells is, to put it mildly, absolutely tempting Providence.

In view of the risks which are necessary, however, when something has to be done among the bells in an emergency, such as turning a clapper, or mending a rope near the wheel, it is only right that the ringers should be safeguarded as far as possible by the church authorities. Proper lighting facilities should be provided not only in the ringing chamber and on the staircases—many of which are so steep as to be dangerous and on which a false step might lead to a serious fall—but up among the bells themselves. In many belfries now electric light and gas is fitted, but it is astonishing in what a small proportion one finds any artificial light on the stairs, and in still fewer is the means of illumination carried right up to the bell chamber. And yet, as a simple safeguard to life and limb, this is one of the first necessities. Ringers have a right to demand this protection, but at the same time, we think there are many who take unnecessary risks among the bells.

ENGLISH BELL-TUNING.

In the second of his course of lectures at Birmingham on 'Campanology,' given last week, Mr. Wooding Starmer said there was no place in the world where bells had been so well tuned during the last twenty-five years as in England. Nevertheless most of the existing old bells were very defective in tone, which was not to be wondered at considering the primitive methods of tuning.

Unfortunately, in England, principally through the requirements of change ringing, the bell shape had been shortened to afford easier ringing, thereby sending up the hum note and upsetting the bell's harmonic tones. The hum note should be a perfect octave below, and the nominal a perfect octave above the strike note. Tubular bells, he said, were simply a parody for bells. They did not give the proper presentation of the bell tone.

A TRANSFORMATION.

WHAT CAME OF JOINING THE HEREFORD DIOCESAN GUILD?

The following from the Hereford 'Diocesan Leaflet' illustrates the changes which ringing associations have effected in many of the belfries of the country. The writer says:—

It must be thirty or forty years ago that I went over to preach for a friend on a Sunday evening in December. We were having tea when a bell began to chime. 'Ah, they are to ring to-night,' my friend said. 'Do they often ring for service?' 'No, very seldom. But it is getting near Christmas and the men are thinking of the collection.' 'May I go and look at the bells.' 'Certainly, if you like. I have never been up the tower, I will call the clerk.' So I set off with the clerk to the church. We began to climb the steps. They were littered with sticks, so that I gladly followed St. Paul's advice—'See that ye walk circumspectly.' The belfry door was loose on its hinges and opened with difficulty. There was no carpet. The floor was covered with sticks and bird droppings. The ropes were knotted. Instead of a lamp, a candle was fastened by its own grease to a ledge. 'May I raise the treble?' 'Certainly.' 'What makes it go so hard?' 'Oh! it always goes a bit stiff.' 'Is it ever oiled?' 'Not that I know of.' 'May I see the bells?' With great difficulty I mounted the steps, climbing over old jackdaws' nests till I reached the bell chamber. On opening the door there was a wild rush of wings as birds of all sorts made their escape. The whole place was filthy with birds' dung. The bell frame was wedged to the walls. When I came down I found six ringers in dirty boots and working clothes. They rang very badly and paid a visit to a barrel of cider in the corner every few minutes. After service I asked the Vicar if he was satisfied with his ringers. 'No!' he answered. 'But what can I do?'

In 1886 the Diocesan Guild of Bell Ringers was formed. It has helped to answer his question.

One day this year I went to stay with my old friend again. In the course of conversation he said, 'You must come and see our tower and belfry. It will surprise you.' And it did. Clean steps, belfry walls whitewashed, floor covered with matting, new ropes. A tablet on the wall recording a peal that had been rung, with room for further peals. I handled a bell, it went sweetly. Up above, the bells had been washed, the netting repaired, the frames made good. But what struck me most was the men themselves. They came into the belfry clean, well-dressed, ready to attend the service. They were steady, tidy, intelligent men, a credit to their parish and their church. They raised the bells with beautiful striking, rang some 120 changes, and after lowering the bells attended the service. I said to my friend, 'How did all this come about?' He said, 'We joined the Hereford Diocesan Guild of Bell Ringers. The Ringing Master is Mr. C. Edwards, Great Brampton, Madley. He gave us no peace till we had got things put in order. We got the bells and belfry put to rights. The congregation kindly pay the men's subscription to the Guild, 1/6 each. What we want now is more hon. members (subscription 5/), because then we know we have friends who take an interest in the Guild.'

The annual meeting of the Council will be held on June 10th (Whit Tuesday) next, at Westminster. Full particulars of the meeting will be published later. Notice of any proposed motion should be sent before April 26th.

Secretaries please note that the annual subscription is now due, together with the names and addresses of representatives, and should be sent to the honorary secretary, Mr. E. Alexr. Young, of 155, Rushey Green, Catford, S.E.6.

EDINBURGH SURPRISE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Mr. Craven objects to Edinburgh being called a new method, simply because it does not come up to his idea of perfection; or, in other words, 'He would have made a better job of it himself.' But I fail to see how better or worse affects the question. Take Grandsire, Oxford Bob, Union and St. Clements Triples, to say nothing of Double Oxford Bob and Double Norwich, or Cambridge and Superlative Major, and others too numerous to mention. How is it that each has a name of its own?

I have rung at least one peal on six bells, which Mr. Craven called, in which Oxford and Kent were counted two different methods. How does that fit in with his present attitude?

Regarding my 5040 Royal, did it never occur to Mr. Craven that what is original enough for himself and others to put their names to, when they thought they were first in the field with them, are original enough for me who has the prior claim?

The 7616's Treble Bob were published by me in 'The Ringing World' in a straightforward manner, together with a table showing how to obtain them. This was about eight years ago. They will also be found in the C.C. Collection. My authorship of them has never been questioned. A few months ago, it came to my knowledge that Mr. Craven was passing them round under his name, even though one gentleman pointed out to him that they had been previously published by me.

Now he wishes to toss me for them. Why not add the few coppers I have in my pocket! The claim would be just as good.

Possibly he wishes to clear the way for the publication of his 'Sottanstillisation' of Harrison's 8896, which is being passed round also.—Yours faithfully,

G. LINDOFF.

DEATH OF MR. GEORGE E. TURNER.

On Saturday, February 9th, was laid to rest in Kersal Churchyard, near Manchester, the late Mr. G. E. Turner, for a number of years a ringer at Pendleton, and, previous to that, at Manchester Cathedral. He has rung 167 peals for the Lancashire Association, taking part in the first peal of Superlative Surprise and Cambridge Surprise rung in the county, also the first peal of Oxford Treble Bob for the association. He had also rung a few peals outside the county, so that his total was nearly 200.

The deceased joined the Lancashire Association in 1884, and there remains only about a dozen older members than he was. He was in his 62nd year, and had been ailing for some time, the end coming about four days after a 'stroke.'

Owing to short notice only a few ringers were present at the funeral. The handbells were rung round the grave, after the committal. The ringers afterwards adjourned to Pendleton, where a quarter-peal of Stedman was rung by S. Wood 1, G. H. Shaker 2, J. Lowe 3, W. E. Clark 4, S. Greenhalgh 5, W. H. Shaker 6, A. F. Bailey (conductor) 7, A. Trippier 8. Afterwards 448 Kent Treble Bob was rung, with Greenhalgh and R. Davies taking part, and S. Wood conducting.

LAVENHAM RINGERS' LOSS.

On Friday, January 18th, the funeral took place of Mrs. C. Symonds, wife of Mr. A. Symonds, of Lavenham, who passed peacefully away on Sunday, the 13th, at the age of 67 years. The service was held in the Church of SS. Peter and Paul, the Rector (the Rev. Lenox-Conyngham) officiating.

The coffin was borne to the cemetery by Messrs. F. and W. R. J. Poulson, F. Parker and W. R. Faiers, four members of the Lavenham ringing company, of which Mr. A. Symonds has been captain and instructor for over 34 years. Deceased could rightly be called a 'mother of ringers,' as two sons, F. G. Symonds and Stedman H. Symonds, are well-known ringers, and another son, Snowdon, and two daughters, Minnie and Bell, are handbell ringers, whilst Maurice, a grandson, is also well versed in the art. Deceased, who leaves a sorrowing husband and six children to mourn their loss, was highly esteemed by many ringers in the district in which she lived.

At her death, the noted tenor, with muffled clapper, was tolled 51 whole pulls by W. R. J. Poulson.

On Friday evening there was rung, with deeply muffled clappers, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples by W. R. J. Poulson (conductor) 4, F. Turner 2, F. Locks 3, F. A. Poulson 4, F. P. Mortlock 5, L. Poulson 6, W. R. Faiers 7, T. W. Garrard 8.

THE EMPIRE EXHIBITION.

SUGGESTED PEAL OF BELLS AT WEMBLEY.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—With reference to the letter published last week from Mr. E. Jenkins, in my opinion, if a handy ring of eight could be put up by one of our leading bell founders, and arrangements made for bands visiting the exhibition to enter their names on a fixture card so that they could ring a peal or touches occasionally, it would be the best means of educating the public in campanology and furthering interest in the art. I suggest that the ringers should stand where they and the bells could be seen ringing at the same time.

As bell ringing is a purely English art, I think the sentimental uses of the exhibition would be considerably enhanced by Mr. Jenkins' suggestion being adopted, and I am ready to subscribe two guineas towards the cost, if the undertaking is too big for any of our bell founders to put up for purely advertisement purposes.—Yours faithfully,

HARRY FAIRCLOUGH.

THE PROPOSED MEMORIAL TO MR. WASHBROOK.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I beg to make a suggestion with regard to the memorial to the late Mr. J. W. Washbrook. I think the most fitting place for a memorial tablet would be in the parish where he was born and at the church where he began his ringing.

It would be extremely interesting to the Exercise, if the Central Council could compile a complete collection of his many and varied compositions, and if secretaries of associations and guilds would collaborate in getting together a complete record of his peals.—Yours faithfully,

W. BROWN.

AFTER TWENTY YEARS.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION RETURN TO PRESCOT.

A meeting of the Liverpool Branch was held at Prescott on Saturday, February 9th, when members attended from Liverpool, Graesendale, Garston, Ramhill, Childwall, and the local company. A short service was held, at which the Vicar (the Rev. J. Lovett) gave an address. Tea was kindly provided in the Schoolroom, after which the business meeting was held, with the Vicar in the chair.

An appeal was made to the local ringers to join the association.

Bootle was chosen for the next place of meeting, and a vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar for the use of the bells, it being pointed out that it was owing to complaints that no meetings had been held in Prescott for over twenty years.

In replying, the Vicar hoped that the association would visit Prescott again, as the complaints had been removed.

Methods rung during the day were Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob, Superlative and Cambridge Surprise Major.

BATH AND WELLS ASSOCIATION.

AXBRIDGE DEANERY BRANCH.

The annual meeting of the Axbridge Deanery Branch was held at Weston-super-Mare on Saturday, February 2nd, about 40 members being present, representing Banwell, Burnham-on-Sea, Churchill, Cheddar, Lympsham, Uphill, Kewstoke, Bridgewater, Taunton, Worle, Winscombe and Weston-super-Mare. Service was held in the Parish Church, conducted by the Rev. H. M. Treen (curate), who gave an excellent address.

The tea and business meeting were held at Glass's Restaurant, Regent Street.—The president (the Rev. Prebendary Lambrick) opened the meeting by proposing a vote of sympathy to the relatives of the late Mr. Joseph Stobbins, who passed away almost suddenly the day before, the motion being carried by the members rising in their places.

Two new honorary members were elected, viz., the Rev. Prebendary Palmer, Vicar of Cheddar, and Mr. J. Glass, of Weston-super-Mare.—Four new performing members were elected, and Winscombe, Worle and Banwell were in turn proposed for next meeting. On being put to the vote Worle was selected.

The hon. secretary presented the balance sheet, which showed a balance of £9 8s. 6d. in hand.—This was adopted, and all the officers were re-elected.

A discussion arose as to the proposal alteration of a rule, and a slight alteration was favoured.

A vote of thanks was accorded the Rector (Prebendary Norton-Thompson) and the Rev. H. M. Treen for the use of the bells; the service, and for the excellent address which the latter had given.

The bells were rung, half-muffled, to Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob and Treble Bob, in token of respect to the late Mr. Joseph Stobbins, who had been a member of this association, and captain of the Weston-super-Mare ringers for many years.

MR. WILLIAM STORY'S BUSINESS JUBILEE. NEWCASTLE RINGER'S LONG SERVICE.

The peal of Stedman Cinques recorded in this week's issue at Newcastle Cathedral was a celebration of Mr. William Story's 50th year of active service in the Quayside life of Newcastle-on-Tyne. The peal was specially composed by Mr. Joseph Parker, of Sunderland, 5,050 changes doubly commemorating the jubilee. The peal is generally in 6 course blocks, with the 6th 22 courses in 5th's place, and 16 courses in 6th's. The courses were rung 26 in the tittums position and 12 in the home, with an extended starting course to produce the required number.

Mr. Story entered the service of the Bedlington Coal Company on February 14th, 1874, and as the local papers describe it—'he was the best valentine they ever had,' for he has been with them ever since, and is now secretary and fitter to the firm.

Not many years will elapse till he celebrates his jubilee as a ringer, starting as he did, in 1880 at St. John's Church, Newcastle, being one of the pioneers of change ringing in this district, and having preserved his enthusiasm to this day. He has just finished three years as President of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association, and still does his 'whack' in association visiting, missionary work and peal ringing.

His peal list is considerably over 250, ranging from Minor to Maximus, and the whole association is proud of his record, especially his confreres in the Newcastle Cathedral Guild.

The Yorkshire Association holds the record of two brothers acting as its president for a long number of years, but in the Durham and Newcastle Association it is nearly equalled; for Mr. Story's brother (Mr. Robert Spencer Story) held that position for 22 years, and Mr. W. Story for three, and if the members had had their own way he would have been elected for another long period, and thus capped the Yorkshire record. But he was more anxious for a younger man to carry on the good work, and with his usual firm and assured policy he stood down.

Time only, of course, can tell whether his policy is sound, but in his place the association is presided over by a young and enthusiastic president, and the association is 'going very strong.' The members of the 'Durham and Newcastle' wish Mr. Story long life and happiness, and trust that he will not only celebrate his jubilee in the belfry, but live to see a long and vigorous retirement from his business life, the jubilee of which has been so joyfully celebrated.

A peal was also rung at Tanfield on Saturday.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Ringers desiring to record some noteworthy performance in the belfry are frequently at a loss as to where they can obtain designs and estimates for peal boards. Messrs. Southwood, of Exeter, lay themselves out to cater for all requirements of this description, and can supply tablets for peal records or memorials in oak, metal or stone. Designs and prices are submitted free, and ringers will do well to send their inquiries to this firm when contemplating any form of tablet for the belfry.

A peal of Grandsire Cinques at Painswick on Saturday, composed and conducted by Mr. Albert Wright, the Master of the Ancient Society of Painswick Youths, which was founded in 1686, was in celebration of a double event. It commemorated the longest peal ever rung on twelve bells, the 13,001 Grandsire Cinques on February 14th, 1920, and the 8,448 Stedman Cinques on February 16th, 1858, both at this famous Gloucestershire church.

The conductor of Saturday's peal was also the composer and conductor of the thirteen thousand, and he forms an interesting link with the peal of 1858, for he is the son of the ringer of the 11th in the 8,448, and, in composing the commemoration peal, he finished with 48 changes.

Nine of the band that rang the 13,001 were in the peal on Saturday.

The first peal of Bristol Surprise was rung on February 22nd, 1901, at Brighton.

To-morrow is the centenary of a peal of '5,040 Grandsire Tripples' rung at St. Andrew's, Norwich.

To-morrow is also the anniversary of a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major rung at St. Giles-in-the-Fields, London, on Feb. 23rd, 1783.

The 'Clavis' records that it was rung by the Ancient Society of College Youths, and was 'deemed the greatest performance ever achieved in the Campanistean Art, as so intricate a method was never practised by any other set of men whatever; indeed the same people (except one) did ring a peal in this same method, and at the same place on Sunday, January 30th, 1780, they being then London Youths: but as this was rung with the tenors together it proved false on the new discoveries which happened about this time, and was the cause of their ringing another peal.'

The first peal of Double Norwich on handbells was rung by the Cambridge University Guild at Cambridge on Feb. 23rd, 1891.

On Feb. 25th, 1777, 10,080 Grandsire Caters was rung at Leicester, and the same length of Bob Major was rung on the following day at St. Mary's, Shrewsbury.

It was also on February 26th, 1777, that a peal of 5,040 Bob Royal was rung on handbells at Abingdon, Berks, and claimed to be the first peal rung 'double-handed.'

February 28th is the anniversary of 10,260 Grandsire Caters rung at St. Mary's, Nottingham, in 1778, and of 9,238 Stedman Cinques at Birmingham in 1881.

Henry Johnson was born on February 28th, 1809, and the whole Exercise will join in congratulations to Mr. Ted Horrex who, born on the last day of February, 1838, celebrates his 86th birthday next Thursday.

The peal of Cambridge Surprise Major on the back eight at Southwark, the record of which we publish this week, is the heaviest 'job' that has been done in this method. Mr. H. R. Newton has now rung the tenor of the heaviest rings of bells on which Superlative, Cambridge and London Surprise Major have been rung. He rang Southwark tenor (50 cwt.) to Superlative on February 27th, 1904 (before the bells were rehung), and Bow tenor (53 cwt.) to London Surprise on January 14th, 1910.

The paragraph in this column announcing bell ropes for disposal at Prittlewell resulted, we are told, in quite a lot of applications. Enough ropes were provided for two towers. Perhaps there are other bands who have discarded but still useful ropes, which could be disposed of upon similar terms, to do a good turn to some poor parish. If so, we shall be pleased to make the necessary announcement.

Some Sussex ringers have a dislike to putting footnotes to peals, but we think we are correct in saying that the peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major rung at Brighton last week is the first in the county and by the Association, and adds yet another to the many Surprise methods of which have been rung in St. Peter's tower. In some cases the reluctance to blow one's own trumpet is a laudable thing, but there are times when, for the sake of historical record, some note to a peal is really desirable.

In the 'Lent Races,' lately concluded at Cambridge, Mr. J. B. Woolley, of Long Stanton, rowed 'bow' in the Jesus College First Boat, which retained its place at the Head of the River.

EARLY DAYS OF THE ST. JAMES' SOCIETY.

INTERESTING FACTS FROM THE PAST.

By E. ALEX. YOUNG.

To-morrow the London County Association celebrates, by a dinner at 'The Bell,' Holborn, the tooth anniversary of the founding of the St. James' Society, under which name it was known until some 30 years ago. A centenary is a noteworthy 'milestone' in the history of any Society, and a few particulars of the earlier days of this ringing organisation will be interesting.

The lapse of a century seems to have cast a mist over what happened in 1824. Tradition, which as a rule is remarkably true, says that in that year members of the 'College Youths' and the 'Cumberland Youths' agreed to found an auxiliary society. It was to meet at St. James', Clerkenwell, and under the name of 'St. James' Youths' the members were to meet and ring peals together, which they could not otherwise do on account of the well-known rule, common to both of the older societies, viz., that members cannot belong to both.

There remained from these early days a Master's silver badge, with the date February, 1824. (It is unfortunately now lost.) There is also the copy peal book, the fly-leaf of which states that the society was re-established in 1827. There is nothing to tell us why. But it is interesting to observe that whilst no peals had been rung so far, No. 1, a peal of Grandsire Triples, was at once accomplished at St. Stephen's, Coleman Street. This was on April 2nd, 1827, conducted by W. Atherton, and followed by another in a few months, at the same place, conducted by Thomas Tolladay. From this time the society never looked back. Peals Nos. 11 and 12 were both rung on the same day in 1829, and both were conducted by Tolladay, who, indeed, rang in almost every peal from the first, until his death in 1843.

These peals possibly throw some light upon the early 'rift in the lute,' for it is noticeable that not one was rung at St. James' itself until 1831. But a peal was rung at Christ Church, Blackfriars, in March, 1829, and the early rule books state that the society shifted to Blackfriars after ringing 'many years' at St. James'.

If one may judge by the earliest remaining name book, which fortunately gives the addresses as well, it is quite possible to judge that in 1829-30 the 'headquarters' were at Blackfriars, when almost a dozen joined from that neighbourhood. The book referred to happens to have the earliest minute of the society, viz., 'May 17th, 1830. Unanimously agreed by all present that a vote of thanks be given to Mr. Tewson for his presenting the society with this book.' As Mr. Tewson's name comes almost last, it appears that the society mustered 55 members, the names being entered up in good 'copperplate,' and probably copied from the original first book, now lost.

These names are: J. Collinson, J. Platt, N. B. White, T. Welch, J. Mason, G. Williams, sen., W. Hollworthy, G. Williams, A. Cullaford, G. Smith, W. Adams, S. Thomas, Tysall, J. Ellis, Wornell, J. Coleman, T. Tolladay, S. Collins, W. Tolladay, E. Griffiths, T. Wilkie, W. Sawyer, T. Hunter, J. Garlon, T. Pollatt, C. Beakley, F. Matthew, G. Venning, W. Showell, J. Harper, E. Anstow, T. Manners, J. Jagers, H. Lane, W. Keeley, J. Bondyard, J. Menday, J. Marsden, C. Brown, W. Hill, F. Lansdell, E. Lansdell, P. Symondson, R. Best, W. Dunn, C. Clay, J. Bulgen, W. Graham, B. Tewson, Mills, S. Peaton.

An inspection of the name books of the two senior societies would show how far they joined together.

The next name book and that still in use was presented by Mr. Ebbells, secretary in 1837. It is boldly headed, 'Society of St. James' Youths.' The first pence and minute book remaining opens in 1838, C. Gorzee being Master, so that the early masters are unknown. Mr. Tolladay is now referred to as 'the Beadle.' Mr. G. Stockham, of St. Clements, appears in 1840, and in September, 1841, appears the entry 'first night at St. Clements.'

The subsequent history is still in the recollection of the older members.

AN INQUIRY.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In the issue of 'The Ringing World' for Feb. 8th, there appears amongst the Sunday Service touches the report of a quarter-peal rung at Pinley, Berks, consisting of 900 Plain Bob, and 360 Kent Treble Bob, with a footnote showing that three of the performers have now rung their 'First spliced quarter-peal.'

As the methods employed belong to two different classes, I cannot see where the splicing is effected: perhaps Mr. E. Tigwell will kindly publish the figures, and oblige.

T. B. MINOR.

THE CRITICISMS OF 'CRITICUS.'

SOME POINTS WORTH THINKING OVER.

Round the festive board to-morrow, members of 'The London County Association, late the St. James' Society,' will gather to celebrate the centenary of their organisation. Many of us who will not be present will join with those who are in wishing prosperity to the association on this auspicious occasion. In its first days, I believe, the St. James' Society was formed as a common meeting ground for College Youths and Cumberlands, whose code of rivalry prevented a man being a member of both societies at the same time—a rule still adhered to. In still earlier days, they were, I imagine, not even on speaking terms, but later, when some of the 'old uns' died off, and other men came upon the scene, they got the idea that the other fellows were not so bad after all, and that even in the rival society there were men worth ringing a peal with. So they put their heads together (metaphorically), and the St. James' Society was the result, and College Youths and Cumberlands dwelt happily together ever after in the neutral camp. At least, that is the idea I have always had about the St. James' Society.

In my view—but you, reader, must not attach too much importance to it, for I generally find myself in a minority, sometimes of one—I think it is a great pity that the old name was ever changed. 'The London County Association' may be a more resounding title, it may, to those who do not know the history, appear a more comprehensive name, but to me, who love old things and old traditions, it is not half so nice as 'The St. James' Society.' After all, what was the matter with this old title? The College Youths are no less important because they have retained a name which they took nearly three hundred years ago from College Hill; the Cumberlands are in no measure circumscribed by sticking to the name they adopted from the victor of Culloden. And the St. James' Society could have been as rich in members and spread their net as widely without adopting a territorial limit, even if it be that of the county of London. But despite the sub-title I fear that in time to come, the tradition of the old society will be lost.

I am always greatly pleased when I see some article in one of the influential daily papers throwing some light upon ringing, as an art and a science. But what a lot of rubbish gets printed from time to time! Fancy a 'captain of ringers' writing, in an article on safety in the belfry, such 'tosh' as this, when referring to the need for proper lighting: 'A nervous ringer may grasp the sally tightly in a futile effort to stop the swing, in which case he would be carried aloft, and probably killed, should his head strike the ceiling. It is obvious that at such a moment a good light should exist. In a bright light, one of his companions would be able to see clearly how to strike his hands off the rope, and so avert disaster.' If we are really to educate the public, it is a pity we cannot have a censor of articles on bells. I imagine the Editor of our own journal would be the man to run his blue pencil over this kind of stuff, before it is passed on for the consumption of the public.

It is very gratifying to read that something is to be done to provide a memorial to the late James W. Washbrook. He ranks among a very rare class in the Exercise; in fact, in some respects he was almost unique. I always looked upon Jim Washbrook as a 'national possession,' so far as ringing was concerned, for in his performances as a whole he could not be assigned to any society, while as a composer his work takes its place among the foremost in the land. Is it out of place, therefore, to suggest that the organisation of a memorial should be undertaken by the Central Council, as representing the whole body of ringers? They could bring together representatives of every ringing organisation, in a way which an individual association might find it difficult to do, and a memorial worthy of the man and the Exercise which he adorned would probably be forthcoming. I suppose the Council is hardly likely to act in a matter of this kind without a request, and here is a chance for the Lancashire Association, in whose area he spent the last years of his life.

Once again the old trouble has cropped up of the authorship of compositions and methods. The Secretary of the Council has given an invitation to members to send in notices of motion, and I hope some member will see that the agenda for Whitsun includes a resolution to establish what has been frequently urged in this paper, a reference file of all methods and compositions. To make a complete collection of the methods would not be a formidable task; to collect a file of all compositions would provide someone with considerable occupation. But without doubt both are seriously needed, or the labours of some of our pioneers will in time be lost in the claims of new authors, who, having no means of ascertaining what has been obtained before, will pass on to posterity their own work as original. And in this connection, why cannot the Council set up a kind of judicial committee to settle such points as Mr. Arthur Craven raised the other day? When two people claim the same thing, a committee to sift the facts could settle all questions of this kind to the satisfaction of the bulk of the Exercise.

CRITICUS.

THE OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD. HIGH WYCOMBE AND THE GUILD.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—We have read with much interest your leading article of last week, in which you gave a judicial summing-up of the case—Wycombe Belfry and the Oxford Guild.

May we again reiterate, for the benefit of readers not cognisant of the whole facts, that for two years all constitutional methods, such as you advocate in your article, were tried, including a request for a referendum. These were 'turned down,' and from some quarters treated with ridicule.

We have no wish to dictate, but we feel that the resolutions from the largest and most important branch of the Guild should have received more sympathetic consideration.

To be brief: Let a rule be made: 'That the annual festival be held alternately in the three Archdeaconries,' and then, so far as the Wycombe company are concerned, we think we can promise a 'return to the fold.'—Yours truly,

GEORGE TWITCHEN,
Hon. Sec., Wycombe Belfry.

A COMPARISON.

Dear Sir,—Some few years ago I remember attending an annual general meeting of the Oxford Guild, when it was held at different places such as the Wycombe people wish to continue, and I should like to say the attendance was no greater than we get at our half-yearly branch meeting, consequently every one could have a ring if they so liked, but compare that with the number we get at Oxford, about 200, and the accommodation for ringing with High Wycombe, with one twelve bell tower. There is no comparison!

I should like to call your attention to the Rule XIII., which says: 'A general meeting shall be held . . . for united practice in change ringing.' How, then, can a town such as High Wycombe offer any facilities for united practice with only one twelve bell tower, for, perhaps, upwards of 200 members, and the majority of them six and eight bell men. The surrounding district of High Wycombe does not lend itself to easy access for travelling to outside towers.

In Oxford we have something like nine six-bell towers, one eight-bell, two ten-bell, and one twelve-bell tower, to say nothing of another seven towers within easy cycle distance of the town, motor buses also run to these villages. These seven towers range from six to ten bells, and are open for ringing. Please compare this with High Wycombe, always bearing in mind the words of Rule XIII. I have quoted.

The Guild is built up entirely of branches, these branches hold their annual meetings; also half-yearly meetings which the Master and Secretary invariably attend. These meetings, I contend, carry on the propaganda work quite as well as the festival meeting did when it travelled about.

Now, with regard to a referendum which I consider very unfair, because you will have a lot of members voting who have never been to an annual festival or who never intend to. If they want a say in the matter, then let them come to the annual festival, or if that is not possible then instruct the representatives of their branch how to vote.

If you see fit to publish this letter, and there should be any criticism, I wish it to be known that I shall not answer it, as I do not intend to get involved in a controversial subject.—Yours truly,

THIRTY YEARS A MEMBER.

ANOTHER SUGGESTION.

Sir,—May I be allowed to make a suggestion with reference to the difference of opinion, which, if allowed to go on, will do untold harm to the Guild. Each branch of the Guild has its representatives. A meeting of the branch should be called, and the question put to the vote. The branch representatives, irrespective of their own opinions on the subject, should vote on what their branch decides at the next committee meeting of the Guild. The committee would then have the true feeling of the Guild, and would recommend accordingly.—Yours truly,

E. M. THORP.

Bucklebury Vicarage, Reading.

READING BRANCH.

The annual meeting of the Reading branch, which appears to be growing more enjoyable each year, was held at Reading on Saturday last. A ringers' meeting without ringing would be something of an anomaly, so, naturally, the proceedings commenced with an hour's 'pulling' at both St. Mary's and St. Giles' Churches, after which, a service was held at the latter. This was well attended, and an inspiring address was given by the Rev. Canon G. F. Coleridge (Rector of Crowthorne). The Canon, himself a ringer of wide reputation, and the popular President of the Central Council, traced the reasons for the ringing of bells, incidentally referring to three states of man—birth, marriage and death.

The party then betook themselves to the Central Café, where a substantial meat tea was served. When 'stand' was 'called' for the grace after meat, 'every man was in perfect strength,' and quite ready for the work of the evening.

The business part of the programme was ably 'conducted' by Mr. W. Polc-Routh. There is no need to 'hunt' for a better chairman, and so the meeting thought, for he was unanimously elected chairman for the ensuing year, with Mr. A. W. Pike as vice-chairman, Mr. F. W. Hopgood secretary, and Messrs. Foster and Wiggins as auditors. Messrs. Appebee, Swain and MacMunn were elected to serve on the General Committee of the Guild.

The business concluded with reports from the various towers in the branch, and the 'band' of 88 then settled down to enjoy the excellent entertainment which had been arranged. Mrs. Woods most kindly acted as accompanist, and her efforts, which contributed in no small measure to the success of the musical programme, were greatly appreciated by those present.

The officers of the Guild present included the Master (Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn), the secretary (Mr. R. T. Hibbert) and the treasurer (Mr. A. J. Wright).

PLAIN BOB.

THE ESSEX ASSOCIATION. NORTHERN DIVISION AT HALSTEAD.

A meeting of the Northern Division was held at Halstead on Saturday, February 16th, when 26 members were present from Maldon, Halstead, Earls Colne, Sible Hedingham, Black Notley, Great Yeldham, Wormingford, Greenstead Green, Stebbing, Dunmow, Braintree, and the Rev. R. Routh, Castle Camps. A short service was held in the Parish Church. The Vicar (Rev. H. J. Curling) gave an instructive address, taking for his text, 'Do all to the glory of God.'

Tea and meeting followed. Mr. C. E. Howard, J.P., Master of the association, presided, supported by the Vicar and Mr. W. H. Dyson (honorary district secretary). Seventeen new members were elected from Halstead (8), Yeldham (3), Earls Colne (1), Kelvedon (2), Feering (1) and Pentlow (2), and the Vicar joined as an honorary member.

It was decided to hold the next quarterly meeting at Foxearth in June, and a bye-meeting at Stisted in April or May.

A vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar for the use of the bells and for his excellent address, and to the organist and choir for their attendance.

The bells have been recently overhauled by Mr. Day, of Eye, and are now in excellent ringing order, and the newly-formed band are making good progress in the art.

Some excellent ringing was accomplished on the tower bells in the following methods: Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob, Treble Bob and Double Norwich Major, Cambridge and Superlative Surprise and courses of Grandsire Caters and Triples on the handbells.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD. SOUTHERN BRANCH.

The annual meeting of the Southern Branch was held at Grantham on Saturday, February 16th, when about 30 members and visitors attended, the towers represented being Surfleet, Bottesford, Folkingham, Lincoln, Hough-on-the-Hill, Nottingham, Worksop, Pinchbeck, Grantham. The bells, a good peal of 10 (tenor 37 cwt.), were rung to Grandsire and Stedman Caters, Treble Bob Royal and various Triple and Major methods. Tea was provided at the Globe Hotel, where about 25 partook of a splendid meal.

The business meeting followed, when the Guild Master (Rev. H. Law James) presided, supported by Rev. J. C. Sturton and Mr. S. Proctor (hon. secretary).

All the branch officers were re-elected, and a short discussion regarding the Guild War Memorial took place, the Chairman stating that he hoped it would be put in hand shortly.

The next meeting was fixed for Folkingham in April if the bells are ready by that time. A new treble is being added at this church to make a ring of six, and, if the work is not completed, the alternative place of Market Deeping was decided on.

The Honorary Secretary made an appeal to members to send notice of their intention to attend meetings, as, without an intimation, it was difficult to arrange tea. In this case six sent in names and about 30 attended.

A hearty vote of thanks was passed to Canon Hancock for use of bells, and to Rev. H. Law James for taking the chair. A welcome visitor was Mr. H. Haigh, of Worksop. The tower was visited after tea, and the bells kept going until nearly 9 p.m., when a very pleasant and successful meeting was brought to a close.

A most pleasing feature about this meeting was that all four branches of the Guild were represented.

STOKE ARCHIDIACONAL ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Stoke Archidiaconal Association was held on February 9th at Hanley Parish Church. A short service was held, at which the Rector (the Rev. H. A. Tamplin) gave an address on 'Good work.' A company, numbering 59, sat down to tea, at which the Rector presided, and there were also present the Rev. Beavan, Mr. Stanway (churchwarden) and Mr. S. Cardell (Ringing Master).

After tea, ringing certificates were presented to the following new members: Messrs. Millington, Corner, Sargeant and Eardley (Hanley), and Whitfield and Gater (Burslem).—A vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells was proposed by Mr. Churton (Stoke), and seconded by Mr. Page (Stoke). The ladies were thanked by Mr. Whieldon (Milton) and Mr. Hurd (Burslem).

The ten bells were utilised during the day, and in the evening touches of Grandsire Caters, Stedman Caters and Kent Treble Bob Royal were rung: also rounds and call changes for those not yet initiated into the art and mystery of change ringing.

A 'COMING-OF-AGE' CELEBRATION.

Miss Dorothy Saunders, daughter of Mr. William Saunders, of Coalbrookdale, celebrated her 21st birthday on January 5th, and in honour of the event, a very fine peal of Stedman Triples was rung on the 'Dale' bells. Born not more than a hundred yards from the Coalbrookdale bells, her home has always been well within a quarter of a mile of the church, to which she has always been very much attached. Although she has never learnt the art of ringing, she has always been very popular with the local ringers and visitors. From a child she has been fond of art work, which accounts for the really fine collection of pictures which she has done from time to time, chiefly in water-colours and black and white. In the year 1921, at Coalbrookdale Secondary School, she passed the Oxford Senior Examination, and since then has entered the teaching profession. After the peal, the ringers were invited to Institution House, where they were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. W. Saunders to a substantial tea, the remainder of the evening being spent in harmony. In this also the Coalbrookdale ringers gave a good account of themselves. There were tunes on handbells, some first-class double-handed change ringing, piano and violin solos, songs, duets and recitations, and midnight arrived all too soon. Miss Saunders was the recipient of many congratulations and presents.

THE FALSE PEAL OF GRANDSIRE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I think Mr. G. Billenness, according to his letter published in your issue of the 8th inst., must have misread Mr. Barnett's letter pointing out the falseness of J. W. Moorhouse's 5-part Variation, when he says 'attempted' at Erith. It was not until, unfortunately, the peal was rung that its falseness was discovered. —Yours faithfully,

F. J. CULLUM, Junr.

AN INTERESTING CELEBRATION.

The centenary dinner in London on Saturday was an interesting event, for many reasons, chief of which was, of course, the fact that it was a centenary celebration. Few of our ringing associations have yet reached their jubilee, and, of the older societies, those who have joined the centenarian ranks are extremely limited in numbers. Chief among them are the College Youths, the Royal Cumberlands and the St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham, while among the minor organisations are St. Stephen's Guild, Bristol, the Saffron Walden Society, and the Painswick Youths. The London County Association thus enters quite a small circle, and it reaches a new dignity upon which the Exercise at large will congratulate it.

As was natural in the circumstances, Saturday's proceedings provided a good deal of speechmaking, but the speeches were interesting because they were for the most part historical review or personal reminiscences, and therefore worth listening to. Speakers who have to rely upon generalities are not always welcome, but there is nothing so entertaining to a ringer as to listen to the tales of other days from those who have been in actual contact with past masters of the art, or to have passed on to him some bits of ringing history which have come down like a tradition and which help to make that 'atmosphere' in the Exercise which is so characteristic of it and yet so difficult to define.

A noteworthy incident was the presentation of a new badge of office for the Master. Modern ringing organisations do not indulge in this kind of regalia, but it is a part of the tradition of the old Societies that their Master should be the wearer of an emblem of authority. The first badge of St. James's Society, which many ringers still remember, was one of the few pieces of evidence of the date of the formation of the Society and on account of its historical associations it was regrettable that it should be lost. It has been replaced, however, by a badge of very handsome design and workmanship, thanks to the generosity of Mr. E. A. Young, and while some may lightly treat the sentiment that prompts the wearing of regalia, most people will agree that it adds dignity to the office of the wearer.

There were two points made in the speeches which are worthy of special attention. One is the emphasis laid by the Master upon the condition of many of the bells and belfries in the Metropolis—a matter upon which we made comment about three months ago. The other, the scheme which Mr. F. E. Dawe proposes to lay before the Church authorities of Bow, for the conversion of that famous belfry into something more commensurate with the dignity of the Church and the position it occupies in connection with ringing. While the complaint of the Master was in general terms and the remedy of Mr. Dawe relates to a specific case, there is a theme in common between them, and if the present state of affairs can only be faced with tact and energy, we are convinced that something might in the end be done. But it must be by united action. Jealousies and suspicion between the societies concerned would be fatal to any project, which, unless frank and whole-hearted co-operation is possible, would be doomed to a premature death.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Bedford District was held at Bletsoe on Saturday. The meeting had been arranged to be held at Milton Ernest, but owing to a sudden death near the church, it had to be cancelled. It was regretted that there was not sufficient time to notify all the members of this, but a fair number turned up from Bedford, Kempston, Biddenham, Clapham, Tempsford, Cople, Turvey and Dunstable. Miss E. Steele was voted to the chair at the business meeting, at which one new member was elected, and Bromham chosen for the next meeting, to be held on Saturday, March 22nd.

The Rector was thanked for the use of the bells, and also the towerkeeper for having them ready.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

SOUTH AND WEST DISTRICT.

The annual meeting of the South and West District was held at Isleworth on Saturday, February 16th. Standard methods were practised before service and after the business meeting. The service was conducted by the Rev. W. J. Summerfield, assisted by the Rev. H. F. Smith, who gave an interesting address on bells.

After service, the Rev. Dr. H. M. Relton (Vicar) and the churchwardens entertained the members to tea, Mr. H. Edgeley presiding, supported by the Rev. H. F. Smith and Mr. T. Beadle (vice-president).

At the business meeting which followed, the Hon. Secretary read the report of the year, which has been a successful one. Twelve meetings had been held, with an average attendance of 40, while 30 ringing and two honorary members were elected during the year, and there was a balance of 17s. 5d. to the good.

All officers were re-elected for the ensuing year.

A vote was accorded to the Vicar and churchwardens for their kind hospitality, which was appreciated by all: to the Rev. W. J. Summerfield and the Rev. H. F. Smith, and the organist.

A vote of thanks was also given to Mr. T. Beadle, and to Messrs. J. A. Trollope and E. J. Walsom (auditors), and all the retiring officers.

This concluded the business, and the tower was again visited, when the bells were soon pealing forth London Surprise, etc.

HEREFORD DIOCESAN GUILD. HEREFORD DISTRICT'S FINE PROGRESS.

The annual meeting of the Hereford district was held at Hereford on Saturday, February 9th. This meeting is becoming more popular year by year owing to the rapid strides that are now being made by the Guild. St. Nicholas' bells (6) and All Saints' (8) were available during the afternoon, and well-struck touches of Doubles and Minor were rung at St. Nicholas', and various Triples and Major methods at All Saints'. Service at All Saints' was attended by 72 ringers. The Guild form was used, and a short but inspiring address was given by the Rev. S. Easton, curate of All Saints'. Mr. S. T. Rackham (Gilwern) presided at the organ. Tea at the Spread Eagle Hotel resembled an annual meeting of the whole Guild, so many districts being represented. Mr. J. G. Buchanan (Master of the Guild) presided, supported by the Rev. G. W. Turner (general secretary), the Rev. S. Easton, the Rev. A. Middleton, Allensmore, the Rev. J. Dent, Holm Lacy, the District Secretary and Ringing Master (Mr. G. Edwards), Mr. A. Gwynne (assistant secretary), Mr. Walter Taylor (District Ringing Master). Towers represented were Cathedral, All Saints', St. Nicholas', Holmer, Burghill, Lugwardine, Wallington, Sutton, Stoke Edith, Tarrington, Hampton Bishop, Fawnhope, Mordiford, Holm Lacy, Ross, Kingstone, Allensmore, Madley, Llanelly, Bedwelty, Kington, Staunton-on-Arrow, Clifford, Much Dewchurch, Bodenham, and other towers.

The district area is covered by a radius of seven miles from the city, and practically every tower is now in union.—The District Secretary, after reading the minutes of the previous meeting, produced the balance sheet for the year, which showed the balance in hand from 1922 as £3 6s. 10d. Total receipts for the year 1923 were £27 12s., including the subscriptions of 34 honorary members (an increase of four), and 182 ringing members (an increase of 54). The expenses were £10 16s. 9d. Half of total receipts went to general fund, leaving a balance in hand of £5 15s. 11d.

Mr. Buchanan moved that the balance sheet be accepted, and Mr. J. J. Jones seconded.

Mr. Buchanan complimented the district upon its extraordinary progress in every way, both financially, and the excellent progress by its members, remarking that a few years ago such a position in the Hereford Guild was undreamt of.

The Secretary reported that the progress of the Hereford district was most gratifying to him and all concerned. It proved the result of their loyalty and perseverance.

Apologies were read from various clergy, who were unable to be present, with expressions of good wishes for the meeting and the welfare of the Guild.

Mr. C. Edwards was again unanimously re-elected district secretary. He consented to act in that capacity for another year, but, as he explained, they were all aware that in addition to being their secretary for the district he had also to fill the office of Ringing Master for the whole of the Guild. This involved a great amount of his time, and in addition he found the burden greater every year. He began to feel that he should be compelled to go much steadier in the future unless the Guild would come to his help, as he felt he could not go on riding a push 'bike' between three and four thousand miles every year. He hoped the matter would have the consideration of the members. The Hereford district was well looked after, but the other districts required his help a great deal oftener than it was possible for him to reach them.

Mr. A. Gwynne was re-elected assistant secretary, and Mr. Walter Taylor, District Ringing Master. Their re-election, and the election of Mr. Taysome as Assistant Master, was carried with applause.—Four new honorary members and seven ringing members were elected.

The quarterly meetings of the district are to be: Eaton Bishop first Saturday in May; Much Dewchurch, August; Burghill, November; and annual meeting at Hereford, February; combined practices, first Saturday in March, Stoke Edith; April, Bodenham.

Mr. J. G. Buchanan proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. Edwards for the great work he had done on behalf of the Guild. He could only say it was a wonderful work.—The Rev. G. W. Turner seconded, paying Mr. Edwards a great tribute for what he had done and was doing for the Guild. It was largely through his great influence that had brought the Guild into such a prominent position, and not only were his services sought after amongst ringers, but he was a great help to the clergy in getting their bells put in order, and giving them such valuable advice.

Mr. H. Taylor proposed, Mr. J. Hyett seconded, a resolution that the question of providing Mr. Edwards with a motor-bicycle, so as to save him as much as possible, should be brought forward at the next committee meeting of the Guild.—The Rev. G. W. Turner expressed his approval by saying he had had the same idea in his mind for some time, and would see that it was on the agenda.—The motion was carried with applause.

The company then dispersed, some to their homes, and the energetic to the Cathedral tower, where some good practice was put in at Stedman and Grand sire Caters.

Followed by his father, a steeplejack, Thomas Kidney, aged 5, climbed 120ft. up the steeple of a Scarborough church. He then stood on an 18in. plank and watched his father at work.

We learn that the St. Martin's Guild has been fortunate enough to again secure the magnificent cedar-panelled Connaught Room of the Imperial Hotel for the Henry Johnson Commemoration Dinner, which will be held to-morrow.

We also understand that the St. Martin's Quartette will be present, and the programme will be up to the high standard for which this admirable function has become famous throughout the Exercise.

Pushing a cycle up the steep gradients of the Herefordshire roads at all hours of the night after a day's work is not conducive to old age. Therefore, members of the Diocesan Guild are thinking of buying a small motor-cycle for their Ringing Master's use.

Strange thing about the lost badge of the old St. James's Society! No one knows where it went to, but didn't Mr. E. A. Young (who has presented a very handsome new emblem) rather give the game away when he said that when he saw the badge he was so interested in it that he 'devoured' it? Perhaps it was indigestion that gave him the dream he related to the amusement of the company last Saturday.

The restoration of the peal of ten at Leatherhead, Surrey, is well in hand. The frame is already in, and the bells will be ready in about a month.

The attention of our readers is directed to the advertisement for Peal Tablets on page 143 of this issue.

On Monday, February 25th, 1889, 35 years ago, was rung the longest peal in the method 10,272 Grandsire Major, at Rowley Regis, Staffs., in 6 hours 5 mins., conducted by John Carter.

Painswick Youths, who are among the 'centenarians'—in fact, they are travelling rapidly towards their third hundredth—put up two good performances on March 1st in the long ago. In 1734 they rang 8,064 Grandsire Caters, and exactly a year later brought off a 10,080 in the same method.

Thirty-five years ago to-morrow the Warnham (Sussex) band rang 13,440 Canterbury Pleasure Major. They were not satisfied with this, and not long after had a 'cut' at 20,160, but unfortunately this did not materialise, otherwise the Major record would not stand where it does to-day.

Ted Horrex, 86 yesterday, rang in a peal of 8,448 Kent Treble Bob Major at Bethnal Green, on March 3rd, 1866—fifty-eight years ago!

On March 5th, 1743, 6,720 Oxford Treble Bob Major was rung in 4 hours 21 minutes at Harrietsham, Kent.

March 6th is the anniversary of a peal of 7,392 Kent Treble Bob Maximus rung in Oldham in 1832.

Our paragraph last week referring to a double-handed peal of Bob Royal at Abingdon in 1777, prompts a correspondent to raise the question whether this can be authentic, a peal of Oxford Treble Bob Major at Sheffield in 1811, having been claimed as the first handbell peal on record.

We should be glad to have any particulars of the Abingdon peal, if they are in existence. All the information we have is an extract from a journal of March 1st, 1777, which runs as follows:—

'Perhaps there never was three such capital performances in ye art of ringing ever before rung on ye same day as was rung on Feb. 26th, 1777, for besides the 10,080 Caters at St. Margaret's, Leicester, and 10,080 Major at Shrewsbury, there was rung at Abingdon, in Berkshire, a peal of 5,040 Bob Royal on ten handbells by five persons, it being the first peal on handbells in ye kingdom, and is thought to exceed a course of Treble Bob Twelve in rung by ye College Youths in London.'

In the first place it would be interesting to know what enterprising journal collected this information and published it within three days of the happenings in places so far apart as Leicester, Shrewsbury and Appleton. There were no railways or telegraphs, aeroplanes or wireless in those days!

Members of the Ladies' Guild attempted a peal of Stedman Triples at Old Windsor on Saturday week. After ringing about three-quarters of hour and getting out, they adjourned for tea, and then made another start, when they rang about an hour and a quarter. We wish them better luck next time.

Mr. James E. Groves has just completed the restoration of the bells at Preston-on-Stour, Gloucestershire, where a new iron frame has been installed and the bells hung in new fittings, including ball bearings.

The ring of ten at Lichfield Cathedral is also being overhauled by Mr. Groves.

The long and enthusiastic service of Mr. G. Stacey, of Minehead, as hon. secretary of the Dunster Deanery Branch of the Bath and Wells Association, was recognised on Saturday week, when presentations were made to him at the annual branch meeting.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION. SUGGESTED SPLITTING UP OF DIVISIONS.

The annual meeting of the Eastern Division was held at Hailsham on Saturday, February 16th. Altogether 16 towers were represented, viz.: Brighton (St. Peter's and St. Nicholas'), Eastbourne (All Saints' and St. Saviour's), Pevensey, Westham, Mayfield, Christ Church, St. Leonard's, Battle, Lewes, Hellingy, Chiddingly, Christ Church, Blacklands, Bexhill, Heathfield, together with the members of Hailsham band. Methods were practised from Grandsire to Cambridge Surprise Major.

At the usual service, the Vicar (the Rev. J. Case), who is a ringer himself, gave an eloquent address. Tea was provided at the Crown Hotel, to which 45 members sat down. The business meeting was presided over by the Master of the Association (Mr. J. Thornton Rickman).

The following new ringing members were elected: Messrs. J. Bennett, R. Balcomb, F. Bryant, E. Curd, G. Farr, A. Frampton, G. Hodson, S. Irving, T. Lay, K. Pattenden, C. Price, W. Skinner, all of St. Mary's, Rye; and Mr. J. B. Pellow, unattached member, Eastbourne. The election of Mr. and Mrs. H. Baker, of Frittenden, Kent, as non-resident life members, was also confirmed.

The election of officers was then proceeded with. Mr. G. W. Stokes was re-elected as hon. secretary, and in thanking the company for his re-election, stated that the division had made very fair progress, and that the financial position had improved, the balance on the year's working being £17 8s. 9d. He had hoped to report better progress with regard to affiliated towers. At present only 18 out of 36 towers in the division were connected with the association. He considered that the division was too large to be properly worked, and suggested as a remedy that other branches should be created.

The retiring members of the committee, Messrs. G. H. Howse, W. Franks and A. R. Miles, were unanimously re-elected.—Mr. Howse, in reply, said he had noted the remarks of the hon. secretary with reference to opening up of fresh branches, and suggested 'that the matter be placed before the general committee at their next meeting.'—This was put to the meeting, and carried.

The place for the next meeting was then discussed.—Heathfield was proposed by Mr. Miles; Waldron by Mr. Hobden; and Salehurst by Mr. Kennett.—On being put to the vote, Heathfield was decided upon.

The Chairman proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and for his excellent address at the service. He also thanked the organist for his services, and the local ringers for their welcome.

Mr. Blackman, the secretary of the local ringers, responded, and stated how pleased they had been to welcome the association that day.

The usual vote of thanks to the chairman terminated the meeting.

EPSOM RINGER'S DEATH.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. Alfred Edward Bassett, who passed away on Sunday, February 17th, after a long illness, at the age of 70 years. Deceased had been a member of the Epsom Parish Church company for nearly 40 years, was a member of the Surrey Association and the Winchester Diocesan Guild, and had rung about 60 peals. His last peal was at Christ Church, Epsom, on January 8th, 1916 (muffled for soldiers fallen in the war). A muffled peal which is recorded elsewhere was rung on the Parish Church bells, Epsom, on the occasion of the funeral.

CENTENARY OF LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

ONE HUNDREDTH BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION. INTERESTING SPEECHES AND A PRESENTATION.

The one hundredth anniversary of the foundation of the St. James's Society, now the London County Association, was celebrated in London on Saturday by a dinner at the Old Bell Restaurant, Holborn. The gathering numbered about 90, and a very enjoyable evening was spent, representatives of the two other old London Societies, the College Youths and Royal Cumberlands, together with members of many provincial societies being present to support the members of the association. In the afternoon there was ringing at St. Bride's Church, Fleet Street, and when the company gathered round the festive board, they were presided over by the Master (Mr. T. H. Taffender), and joined by the Rector of Bow (the Rev. S. Gordon Ponsonby), who supported the chairman, and the Rev. W. Pennington Bickford (Rector of St. Clement Danes, and chaplain of the society), who occupied the vice-chair, and who was accompanied by Mrs. Pennington Bickford. Among those at the head of the table were Mrs. Taffender, Mr. F. E. Dawe, Mr. C. F. Winney, Mr. J. D. Matthews (Master of the Royal Cumberland Youths), Mr. J. Carter, Mr. W. H. Fussell (Slough), and Mr. W. A. Cave (Bristol). The vice-chairman was supported by Mr. E. A. Young (one of the trustees of the society, and hon. secretary of the Central Council), Mrs. Young, Mr. J. George (trustee), Mr. J. Bullock (hon. secretary), etc. There were numerous ladies in the company.

LONDON'S DORMANT BELLS.

After an excellent dinner, the Master first submitted the loyal toast, and then proposed 'The Church.' In doing so he referred to the condition of many of the London towers. There were a large number of peals of bells, he said, lying dormant, not merely in the city, but also in South London. Some had not been rung for many years. When they approached the authorities, asking them to put the bells and bellfries in order, they were usually met with the reply there were no funds to do it with. Suggestions had been made for the co-operation of the London ringing societies, but he did not know if anything could be done. Church authorities looked after the fabric, and they attended to the organ, but they forgot the bells. Moreover, they seldom saw much of the clergy in the west end of the church. The same applied very largely to the wardens. One warden he spoke to told him he knew nothing about the tower, and had never been in it. That was one of the places where the bells were out of order. Perhaps if they could keep 'digging' at the authorities they might get something done, and perhaps the associations might approach people who had money to do something to help in the matter (applause).

The toast, having been cordially honoured, was responded to by the Rector of Bow, who remarked that the first connection between those who ministered in holy things and bells went back to the days when the priests in the temple had a string of bells around their garments. He was very glad he had not to carry the twelve bells of Bow around the bottom of his cassock (laughter). Having traced the early history of bells, he referred to the occasions when they were associated with our private and public life. Bells, he said, were heralds of peace, and he hoped the bells might bring peace to the distracted Continent to-day. He was sure the ringers were doing their best in their own way, by the harmony created in their own towers and the good fellowship which existed between themselves, to bring peace, for peace in the world must depend upon peace between individuals, and upon the friendly relationship that existed among them all (applause).

A course of Stedman Cinques was rung on handbells by Messrs. J. D. Matthews, C. F. Winney, E. J. King, J. R. Gammon, T. W. Taffender and W. A. Cave.

THE FIRST RINGERS' GUILD.

The Rev. W. Pennington Bickford submitted the toast of 'The London County Association.' They had to go back a long way in history, he said, to find the first ringing Guild. He believed it was in the time of Edward the Confessor. There was a ringing guild in existence then, and he should not be surprised if the ringers at that time were not laymen at all, but the clergy. There was an order in the church that the ringing should be done by the priests, and that they alone were to ring for the services. Thus they found that in the early days the clergy had a lot to do with ringing. He was very pleased to hear what the Master had said about the desirability of seeing the clergy more often in the west end of the church. If the clergy knew more about ringing and the ringers more about the clergy there would be a better relationship in the towers (hear, hear). If the clergy were seen more often in the west end of the church, the ringers would be found more often in the east end (hear, hear). Proceeding, the speaker said that about the year 1603 they heard of ringers being called by a different name. They were called Scholars, and various societies sprang up with the name of Scholars. There were the Scholars of Cheapside, a ringing Guild founded in the year

1603. Following that there were other scholars at Gloucester, Cambridge, Warwick, and other places. Coming down to 1715 they had the Union of Scholars, which existed for about 50 years. Then they had the London Scholars, and out of that one of the great London Societies was evolved. Before that, however, their oldest London ringing society, the Ancient Society of College Youths, was founded, in the year 1637, and took its name from the fact that their headquarters were at St. Martin's in the City, on College Hill. He believed the London Scholars were founded about 1702, and out of that grew the Royal Cumberland Youths. The London Scholars were ringing at Shoreditch when the Duke of Cumberland returned from a campaign. He heard the bells ringing, and he so appreciated them that he permitted the society to take the title of the Royal Cumberland Youths, and he presented them with a beautiful chain of office and medallion, which the society had to this day, and which the Master ought to have been wearing that night (laughter and applause). Coming next to 1824, they reached the beginning of the St. James's Society. No one seemed to know much about its origin except that they had a record that it was formed in 1824 at St. James's, Clerkenwell. But there seemed to have been some trouble at St. James's; whether it was the fault of the ringers, or the fault of the rector, or the fault of the bells, he could not say, but there was not much ringing after 1824, until they came to 1827. The St. James's Society was then re-established, and the society rang some peals at different places, but not at St. James's, Clerkenwell. The first record he had of St. James's, Clerkenwell, was in 1831, but on looking at one of the tablets in his own tower that morning, he found they rang a peal there in 1829. About that year the society moved to Christ Church, Blackfriars, where they rang for some years. They removed their headquarters to St. Clement Danes in 1841, and had remained there ever since (hear, hear). They formed themselves into a territorial society, and called it the London County Association in 1903, and in 1911 they took another step and formed themselves into districts. In 1913, Mr. Taffender was elected Master of the Association, and in that same year, he (the speaker) found himself compelled to stop the ringing of St. Clement Danes bells, because the frame was unsafe. Then the war broke out, and it was not until the year 1918 that he was able to undertake the restoration of the bells. With the help of a lot of friends in the neighbourhood he got the necessary funds together in about three months. The bells were put into a new frame, and on Peace Day, the bells were set going by Queen Alexandra, and their Master was one of those who took part on that historic occasion. In closing, the Vice-Chairman referred to the peal rung in 1843 at St. Clements in memory of Tolladay, who was buried at St. Clements; also to the fact that the peal was made into ten in 1844, and that on Easter Monday, 1845, the St. James's Society rang the first peal on the ten bells. He hoped the bells would be rung by the society for many years to come (applause), and especially when their old friend, Mr. Winney, brought his bride to St. Clement Danes (loud laughter). He was sure there would be great competition to get into the band on that historic occasion (laughter and applause).

THE LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION'S NEW BADGE.

On the back of the badge is the following inscription: 'The centre star is a close reproduction of the original badge of the St. James's Society, which was unfortunately lost about 1898. It is incorporated in this new Master's badge, designed and presented to the London County Association of Change Ringers by Mr. E. Alexr. Young, on the occasion of the Centennial Celebration, February, 1924.'

It was made by Messrs. Chapple and Mantell, of New Bond St. W.

A NEW BADGE.

An interesting presentation was made to the society at this stage. Mr. E. A. Young had designed and had made a handsome silver badge of office, to be worn by the Master. Mr. Young said he first went to St. Clement Danes in the '80's, and he never thought then that he would ever become a ringer. But on one of his visits he was asked to become a member of that society, and to this day he was glad that he joined. It was not long before they elected him secretary. In those days the Master wore a fine badge, which was dated 1824. Being an architect and fond of archaeology, he devoured that badge. That badge was one of the first things which the Society possessed, and so was the hammer which the chairman was using that night. Bob Haworth, who was a staunch supporter of the society, had told him that the hammer was in use when he joined, and when he was rapped down as duly elected it was by that hammer in the year 1839 or 1840. In the course of time they had the misfortune to lose the badge. They often wondered where it had gone, and if anyone had it in his pocket now they would be glad to know where it was (laughter). It was his great pleasure to hand to the Master another badge to take the place of the one that was lost (applause). He had designed it himself, and as far as he could remember the central star was of the same size and treated in the same way as in the original. He thought it was appropriate that they should have a bell in the design, and as they had been connected with St. Clement's for nearly the whole century, he thought they should also have an anchor. In panels were the initials of the two old London Societies, and there were also the dates 1824-1924, and the fine rolling title of the 'London County Association of Change Ringers' in big letters. The old ribbon was a red one, but he thought they would forgive him for not putting red alone on the new badge. The College Youths' ribbon was blue and the Cumberlands' red. He had united the colours, and provided a ribbon of blue and red, blue for the College Youths, and red for the Cumberlands; might they ever unite in supporting the London County Association, and might the members of the London County Association ever support the older societies, because he felt that in them all they had the three premier London Societies (applause).

Mr. Young then fastened the badge round the neck of the Master, amid loud applause. He remarked that he knew Mr. Taffender would wear it with dignity, because his heart was in the society. The badge would carry him back to the men who had gone before, and be an incentive to carry on the traditions of those old days (applause).

The Master, in responding to the toast, and thanking Mr. Young for his handsome gift to the society, said his only regret was that Mr. R. A. Daniel was unable to be present that evening. Some of the older members would remember how Mr. Daniel worked to get their society into a better organised condition, and to establish them as a territorial body. A good deal of jealousy had existed with regard to them, and while they remained as a link between the two old societies, they were doing the work of an association in London. In such circumstances they felt they could not exist under the name of the St. James's Society, which was connected with a church where there was very little ringing done, and where the bells were out of order. So they renamed themselves, and where, 25 years ago, they used to have little meetings of eight or nine members, they now met in dozens. He hoped that gathering, large as it was, would be the smallest of its kind. He hoped it would increase and bring together many more London and provincial ringers in the heart of the Empire. Mr. Young's offer of a badge came as a great surprise to them at their annual meeting. Some twenty years ago Mr. Daniel was keen on getting a new badge, but the matter did not mature. This gift was one of the finest things that had ever been done for the association; it certainly placed them on a higher pedestal, and he thanked Mr. Young very heartily for it (applause).

The Vice-Chairman said it would be an appropriate act on their part to remember those ringers who fell in the war, and to whom they erected a monument in the tower of St. Clement Danes a fortnight ago. Seventeen of their members fell in the war, and he asked those present to stand and drink a silent toast to the memory of these men.

The company rose and drank the toast in silence.

A BIG SCHEME.

Mr. F. E. Dawe submitted 'The Ancient Society of College Youths, the Royal Cumberland Youths and Kindred Societies.' He referred to some of the wonderful old men of the past, notably Johnson, Hailey and Cox. He went on to say that the College Youths, in their existence of nearly 300 years had achieved some marvellous peals, and they continued to do so, for last Whitsun Monday they rang that marvellous long peal of Stedman Cinques, a peal which would never have been dreamed of forty years ago. With regard to the betterment of belfries, they had largely to thank the kindly influence of some of their clergy. Some of their best ringers were clergymen, but they also had clergymen whose ringing was very much like their writing—almost unintelligible (laughter). They also had another class of clergyman, who did not know much about ringing, or even about bells. He once met a clergyman who did not know how many bells were in his tower, although he knew there were several (laughter). About twenty years ago, he (the speaker) became acquainted with the then Rector of Bow, and he brought forward a pet project of his. He had a scheme, which he knew could be carried out, to raise £3,000 to bring about a drastic change at Bow, Chapside, to make it the finest belfry in the world. He put his scheme in a letter, which was written with a great deal of trouble, and contained a lot of particulars. It was brought before the then Vestry and considered, but he never had such a dose of 'cold water' in his life (laughter). They would have nothing to do with the scheme. A short time ago he met the present Rector, who was interested in their branch of church work, and wanted to hear as much as he could about ringers and about bells. He was delighted he (the Rev. S. G. Ponsonby) was with them that night, because he (the speaker) was going to take the opportunity of re-writing that letter (applause). He knew that in Mr. Gordon Ponsonby they had a good friend at court (applause). In conclusion, Mr. Dawe paid high compliment to Mr. Challis Winney, to the Master of the Cumberland Youths, and to Mr. Fussell, whose names he coupled with the toast.

FAMOUS NORWICH PEAL TO BE REHUNG.

The bells of St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich, are to be rehung by Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough. A sitting of the Norwich Consistory Court was held last week, when Mr. Chancellor North had before him the application for the granting of the necessary faculty.

The Vicar and the churchwardens propose to rehang the bells and to repair or replace, as may be necessary, the framework. The cost will be defrayed by Mrs. Clark, in memory of her father, Mr. A. R. Chamberlin, who was for many years a churchwarden of the parish, and who did repairs to the bells some forty years ago.

Mr. J. A. Beattie, one of the churchwardens, said the work would be done by a large and experienced firm, Messrs. John Taylor, of Loughborough.

The Chancellor: As you know, the rehousing of bells is a thing which has to be carefully watched because of the tower?

Mr. Beattie: There is a special committee on which an architect, Mr. John Burton, is serving. There are thirteen bells. The frame is of timber, and it is proposed that the bells should be removed and the frame examined carefully by an outside expert. If in good, sound condition the frame will be retained; if not, the question will be considered of replacing it with an iron frame.

The Chancellor: You have to be careful to see that the frame is not attached to the walls of the tower.

Mr. Beattie: That has been considered.

The Chancellor: The matter will come up again at the next Court in about a month's time. If there is no effective opposition a faculty will be granted.

Mr. Beattie: In order to meet the wishes of the donor we should like the work to be completed before St. Peter's Day, June 29th.

The Chancellor: Surely there is plenty of time.

Mr. Beattie: But the bells have to be taken to Loughborough, and there is a great deal of work to be done. They are heavy bells. We have taken the opinion of the firm on the subject, and they say they ought to begin at once.

The Chancellor: You say you have a committee on which Mr. John Burton sits?

Mr. Beattie: Yes, and we have had a full Church Council, who are alive to the great necessity of seeing that there is nothing done that can injure the tower. We are proud of our tower and bells.

The Chancellor: Everyone in Norwich is. I grant special leave for the work to begin, subject to the understanding that if effective opposition is made at the next Court you will place things in statu.

RINGER'S JUBILEE PEAL.

LEATHERHEAD VETERAN'S CELEBRATION.

On Saturday, February 16th, five of the Leatherhead company, assisted by two friends from Ashted and one from Dorking, rang a peal of Grandsire Triples at Christ Church, Epsom. This was arranged for Mr. Edward Hull, Leatherhead's oldest ringer, to commemorate the jubilee of his first peal which was rung at Leatherhead on February 10th, 1874. The old gentleman rang with confidence throughout the peal, and was heartily congratulated at its conclusion.

MR. EDWARD HULL.

It would have been more satisfactory to have rung the peal at Leatherhead, but that, of course, was impossible, as the bells are at present in the hands of the bell hangers.

Mr. Hull is the only active ringer remaining of that peal band of 1874. In fact, there is only one other survivor, Mr. T. Graizer, who has been bedridden for several years.

Appended is an extract from 'Church Bells' of Feb. 21st, 1874:— 'Change ringing at Leatherhead, Surrey.—On Tuesday, Feb. 16th, seven members of the Leatherhead Society of Change Ringers, assisted by W. Sayer, of Ashted, rang at their Parish Church, Mr. J. Holt's ten-part of Grandsire Triples, in 2 hrs. and 59 minutes. The ringers were stationed in the following order: E. Hull (his first peal) 1, H. T. Lipscombe (his first peal, 16 years of age) 2, T. Graizer 3, W. Marks 4, W. Sayer (his first peal) 5, T. Gadd 6, S. Brooker 7, W. Templeman (his first peal) 8. Conducted by S. Brooker.'

Mr. Hull was born in October, 1855, at Leatherhead, and has been connected with the Parish Church nearly all his life. As a boy he was a chorister, and he started ringing in 1872, ringing his first peal in 1874. Later in 1874 he went to Andover, and remained there till 1878, when he returned to Leatherhead, where he has resided ever since. There was no change ringing at Andover in those days, so he did no more peal ringing until he returned to Leatherhead.

He has kept no list of peals, but he has rung 36 for the Surrey Association, and probably as many more for the Winchester Guild, and other independent societies. He is now the 'father' of the ringers at Leatherhead, and in his time has done a good deal of spade-work in teaching youngsters to ring. Unfortunately, like many other older men, he has given a lot of time and trouble with very little result. He is a coachsmith by trade, and is still working. He is not to be considered an 'old' man, as he only lost his mother about a month ago.

WEDDING OF PORTISHEAD RINGERS.

The marriage took place at Portishead Parish Church, on Saturday last, of Miss Mabel C. N. Jukes, youngest daughter of the Rev. H. W. and Mrs. Jukes, of Portishead Rectory, to Mr. Charles O. Grieves, younger son of Dr. J. P. and the late Mrs. Grieves, of Portishead. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. S. Briggs (brother-in-law of the bride), assisted by the Rev. W. N. Kempe.

The wedding was of particular interest to the Portishead ringers, as the bride and bridegroom were members of the local company. Miss Jukes commenced ringing in 1914, and was a regular Sunday ringer until December, 1922. She has rung two peals of Grandsire Triples for the Ladies' Guild, both taking place in her own tower. She did valuable work during the war as a member of the V.A.D. at Portishead and Exeter Hospitals.

Mr. Grieves also served in the war, when he lost his left arm. He commenced ringing in 1921, and has been most regular in his attendances in the belfry, also acting as secretary to the band for the past two years.

Among the very numerous presents was a silver bell inkpot from the Portishead ringers, and a peal was rung by the local band to celebrate the event.

SUNDAY SERVICE TOUCHES.

THE BIRMINGHAM COMMEMORATION.

Another Henry Johnson Commemoration Dinner has come and gone, and the gathering which took place in Birmingham on Saturday will leave many pleasant memories with those who were privileged to be present. It is astonishing to find what an attraction this event proves year after year to ringers all over the country, for it draws visitors from the four corners of the kingdom. The reason is to be found not in one factor alone. Henry Johnson, to borrow the expression used recently by a correspondent concerning the late Mr. Washbrook, was, from a ringing point of view, a national possession, and his memory is cherished not merely by the fast diminishing circle of ringers who knew him in the flesh, but by men throughout the Exercise who realise not only his sterling qualities, but the services he rendered to the art in days when men, if they would gain knowledge, had to dig and delve for themselves in the virgin mysteries. No one was more diligent than Henry Johnson, no one more ready to impart to others the results of his labours. He did a great work for ringing, and this annual gathering is a periodical reminder to the present, as it will be to coming generations, of what the Exercise owes to him.

But it cannot be said that ringers would assemble every year in such large numbers and from such distances for the purpose only of honouring the memory of one of the greatest figures that ever adorned the art. A wonderful spirit manifests itself in this annual event, and the welcome which visitors receive on this occasion in Birmingham makes it a social gathering unexcelled in the ringing year. It is largely this which makes the dinner and the other proceedings which go with it such a great attraction. Birmingham is, as it has been for nearly a century and a half, one of the principal centres of ringing in the country. It has great traditions, traditions which Johnson did much to maintain and to pass on to succeeding generations. It has also produced other famous men in ringing, but there has never been a time, perhaps, when the midland city has been able to boast of so many ringers of such high capabilities as the present generation has produced. Harmony of feeling, keenness and skill are combined to place Birmingham without question in the very forefront of ringing, and in the hands of men of this type the future is safe. It is the position which Birmingham holds in the Exercise that adds to the prestige and importance of the Johnson gathering, and we think it may be fairly said that it was the example of this gathering and that of the College Youths in London which very largely induced Bristol,

BOSTON GUILD, MASSACHUSETTS.

MUFFLED RINGING.

To the Editor.

Sir,—It gives me great pleasure to have something to write about for the information of your numerous readers and our many friends.

As the world knows, our late President, Woodrow Wilson, died and was buried on February 6th, in Washington (district of Columbia), in the State of Virginia. The Boston Guild of Change Ringers met at the Church of the Advent, Boston, and rang two 120 Grandsire Doubles, with Mrs. M. A. Shurtleff taking part, and also a 720 Plain Bob Minor, with the bells deeply muffled, except the tenor, which was open one side: Alex. Matthews 1, P. J. Alfrey 2, Wm. Bashford 3, Joseph Goodhead 4, Richard Newton 5, Anthony (Tony) R. Price (conductor) 6. Mr. Price hails from King's Lynn, England, and is a recent addition to our band, which has been made weak through removals.

The Boston Guild wish to record as their mite towards the ringing records that were no doubt rung all over the British Empire wherever change ringing is known, the above 720 of Bob Minor to the memory of the greatest change ringer on tower bells that was ever known, James W. Washbrook, of Manchester, England, who was a very pleasant, good-natured, helpful 'father' to hundreds of learners in the art. To conductors his advice and opinions were always free and clear, and to the point. He will be missed.

We also rang the bells half-muffled at Perkins' Institute for the Blind, Watertown, Mass., U.S.A., on Sunday, Feb. 10th, in his memory. Several touches of Grandsire Triples were rung with Mrs. M. A. Shurtleff and Mr. Warren S. Sturges, of Groton School, taking part. Wishing the best of luck to 'The Ringing World,' to yourself, and my old friends in and around Manchester.—Yours very sincerely,

RICHARD NEWTON (late of Manchester).

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

DERBY DISTRICT.

A monthly meeting of the Derby district was held at Alvaston on Saturday, February 23rd, about 20 members being present from All Saints', St. Luke's, St. Andrew's, and St. Alkmund's Churches, Derby, and members of the local company, also the treasurer of the association, Mr. W. Willson, of Leicester.

The majority were young ringers anxious to gain further knowledge in the art of change ringing, and, aided by a few of the older members, they should keep up the traditions of the Midland Counties Association.

Touches were rung in various methods, and on the whole the striking was very good. This was the first monthly meeting held in the district for several years, and it is hoped to carry them on, but to be a success it is very desirable that they should be well attended.

The next meeting was fixed for March 29th, at Ashbourne, if the bells can be obtained.—A vote of thanks was accorded the Vicar (the Rev. W. Webb) for the use of the bells, and to the local ringers for their support.

THE CENTENARY OF LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

Mr. C. F. Winney, on behalf of the Ancient Society of College Youths, first responded. He remarked that he joined the St. James's Society in 1879, and he rang in a peal at St. Clement Danes for the bi-centenary of the peal of eight bells. He was proud to be a College Youth, and he was also proud to see the Master of the London County Association wearing such a lovely silver badge. He remembered the old one, but, unfortunately, when they changed their headquarters, it got lost in transit (laughter). Mr. Dawe had referred to men like Johnson, Cox and Haley, but they had such men to-day. They had one of them with them that evening, Mr. John Carter (applause), who was one of the cleverest and most original men the Exercise had ever known (applause).

Mr. J. D. Matthews next replied. He said he would like on behalf of his own society, the Royal Cumberland Youths, and, if he might, on behalf of the College Youths, to welcome the London County Association into the ranks of the centenarians (applause). The College Youths and Cumberlands had been the only two in London until that day, but they were pleased to see the London County Association join their ranks. They would not catch the two older societies, who had too long a start (laughter), but they had reached what he might call their 'majority.' They had the representative of another centenarian society with them that evening in Mr. Cave, of the St. Stephen's Guild, Bristol. He sometimes spent some of his leisure in looking through the old ringing papers, and it was surprising to notice the advance in ringing in the last 40 years, or even 30 or 25 years. A quarter of a century ago Surprise ringing was unknown in Bristol, but since then they had rung most of the methods worth mentioning, up to Cambridge Surprise Maximus. It showed what a different class of men were coming into the ringing world. The outstanding men in days gone by were exceptions. Where they found them in ones in the time of Johnson, Haley and Cox, they could find scores to-day of similar ability. They did not, however, stand out so much, because there were so many of them.

Mr. W. H. Fussell responded for the Provincial Societies, and first paid a compliment to the Ladies' Guild. They had, he said, no territory and no church as headquarters, they could not even claim a parson (laughter). They were scattered up and down the country, silent, persevering members of the Church of England, in their simple hobby doing a great work among the ladies of the country, and forming the nucleus of little bands. The associations appreciated the work they did. He regretted the Master of the College Youths, who was also secretary of the Oxford Guild, could not be present that night, but he was carrying on a great work. They, however, had with them that evening members of the Essex Association, the Kent Association, the Sussex Association, the Gloucester and Bristol Association, the Winchester Guild, and other societies. Proceeding, Mr. Fussell referred to the ringers overseas, in South Africa, Australia, New Zealand, Toronto, Vancouver and Boston. There was to be an Imperial Exhibition this year, and it had been suggested that among the exhibits there should be a peal of bells. He thought this was very desirable. There was no doubt bells would take their share in future centuries in the work of the church abroad. In the mushroom cities which had sprung up in the Colonies, they had not got towers of sufficient stability to carry peals of bells, but in time to come these buildings would be replaced by English-like solid towers, and then would be the time when English bells would be rung in the Colonies, as they were in this country to-day. They remembered the ringers overseas that night, and sent them their greetings and kind regards. There were ringers in Auckland, and he would like to mention one who died and was buried there. He was the first man to ring a peal in the four corners of Great Britain—William Greenleaf, who rang a peal in England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales before anyone else. He lies buried in Auckland, and he (Mr. Fussell) regretted that there were no bells to ring over him. Continuing, Mr. Fussell said that society might almost be called the Tolladay Society. Tolladay, although first and foremost a College Youth, largely built up that society, and while carrying on a boat building business, rang many peals in the Thames-side towers. William Atherton, who called the first peal for that society, was a Cumberland, and only rang two peals for the St. James's Society, because he had all his work cut out to keep the Cumberlands in the high position they had attained. Of the two, however, Tolladay was the man they most associated with the St. James's Society. He died in 1864, very shortly after ringing his last peal at Waterloo. He was a loss to the Exercise, for he was an affable and good man, with a great deal of tact in dealing with a young band. Mr. Fussell also referred to the two other societies, not previously mentioned, the Junior College Youths and the Junior Cumberlands, who eventually became merged in the seniors, and said the foundation of the St. James's Society was a splendid idea, to enable members of the rival societies to ring together. He hoped the traditions of the past would long be upheld, and that success would attend the future of the London County Association (applause).

The Master read messages sending good wishes to the gathering from the Lavenham ringers and Mr. F. C. Lambert.

Mr. E. A. Young proposed 'The Visitors,' and Mr. W. A. Cave responded, remarking that it was always a great delight to him to meet and ring with London ringers.

During the evening, Mr. J. Bullock sang three excellent songs, and tunes on handbells by Messrs. Truss, Hawkins and Green were so highly appreciated that there was a double encore. A most enjoyable evening concluded with 'Auld Lang Syne.'

BENEDICTION OF THE BELLS.

SOMERSET VILLAGE CEREMONY.

The interesting ceremony of blessing the bells was performed at Huish Champflower, Somerset, on Sunday, Feb. 17th, when the Benediction was pronounced upon the rehung five bells in St. Peter's tower. Eventually, a treble, given by Miss Shaw, is to be added, but owing to the illness of the donor, and also to the inability through illness of the Bishop of Taunton to be present, the placing of this bell in the company of the others is deferred to a later date. As the Bishop intimated on a previous occasion, when he was at Huish Champflower, he would like to have the privilege of being the first to ring the new bell.

The service took place in the afternoon, and the church was full to overflowing. About 50 ringers were present from Huish Champflower, Wiveliscombe, Minehead, Milverton, Fitzhead, Chipstable, Skilgate, Clatworthy, Kingsbrompton, and Huntsham. Mr. G. Stacey (hon. secretary of the Dunster Deanery branch of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association of Change Ringers) and Mr. W. Hoyle (Ringing Master of the branch), from Minehead, were among those present.

The Rev. P. W. P. Hancock (Rector) conducted the service, and an address was given by P. R. Maynard.

The Benediction collects for the rehung bells were said by the Rector, and the congregation then stood for a few moments while the local ringers rang a short peal, and demonstrated the harmony of the bells which had been for so long silent.

After the service the visiting ringers were entertained to tea by the Rector. The local ringers and their wives waited on the guests, and after tea Mr. Stacey, on behalf of the visitors, expressed their appreciation of the Rector's kindness in providing tea, also of Mr. and Mrs. Baker in lending the room, and of the local ringers and their wives who had waited upon them.

During the evening the bells were rung by mixed bands, and although there was some little disappointment that the peal of six was not ready yet for them to try their hand upon, they were very pleased with the trial of the five that have been rehung.

The bells which at present form a peal of five, but will soon be augmented to six, are of various dates and founders. The treble is by Bilbie, of Culmington, 1790; the 2nd by Pannell, Culmington, 1820; 3rd by Norton, Exeter, undated, but about 1540; 4th and 5th by Bailey, Bridgwater, 1763, the tenor being 11 cwt. The frame, which is of stout, locally grown English oak, was made and fixed by Mr. Jack Tont, a local carpenter, on five heavy steel joists, these having been covered with concrete to prevent rust. The bells have been turned, tuned, fitted with new headstock, wheels, ball bearings, huffered clappers, and hung by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, Mr. J. Tyler having been in charge of the work, and, needless to say, everything done has given the greatest satisfaction.

THE LEANING TOWER OF BRISTOL.

In connection with the peal rung at Temple Church, Bristol, it is interesting to note that it is nearly 30 years since any peal was rung or attempted there, and Mr. Pring, who rang in Saturday's peal, was in the previous one, in 1895.

The tower of Temple Church leans. It is some 6ft. out of perpendicular, and it is on record that at least one ringer would not take part in a quarter-peal there when he saw the tower. 'I don't like the look of that, I'm off,' he said, and away he went. But another 'Alf' turned up and took his place.

NORFOLK GUILD.

On Saturday, February 23rd, a district meeting of the above Guild was held at Aylsham, some twenty members attending from Aylsham, Fakenham, North Elmham, North Walsham, Hoxingham, Norwich and Reepham. During the afternoon and evening the following methods were rung: Bob Major and Royal, Treble Bob Major and Royal, Grandsire Caters, Stedman Triples and Caters, and Superlative. At the conclusion everybody agreed that, in spite of the bad weather, a very enjoyable meeting had been held.

SWANMORE, HANTS.—At St. Barnabas' Church, on Wednesday, February 20th, for practice, 720 of Kent Treble Bob Minor: W. Allen (first 720 Treble Bob) 1. R. Linter (first 720) 2. A. Millard 3. E. Jacobs 4. H. Ainsley (first 720) 5. W. Linter (conductor) 6.

WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD. PROPOSED ALTERATIONS TO RULES.

A very successful meeting of the Portsmouth District was held at Curdridge on Saturday last, when 40 ringers were present. Altogether 15 towers were represented, viz.: Alverstoke, Bishop's Waltham, Bishopstoke, Curdridge, Fareham, Gosport, North Stoneham, Portsmouth (St. Mary's and St. Thomas'), Ringwood, Southampton, Swanmore, Shedfield, Wickham and Winchester. Among those present were Mr. G. Williams (Master), Mr. G. Pullinger (general secretary), and the Rev. E. Bankes James (Seaford Park).

A service was held in the church, the Vicar (the Rev. W. Slater) conducting the service, and also addressing the members. Tea was provided in the Parish Institute, where a highly substantial repast was served. The tower was again visited until 7 p.m., at which hour the business meeting was held in the belfry. The following new members were elected: Messrs. F. Pritchard, S. Bath, E. Groundsell, W. Linter, A. Marsh and L. Davis, all of Bishops Waltham.

The following alterations to certain rules, as suggested by the Central Committee, were then placed before the members:—

- (1) That Rule VI. be altered to read: That a general meeting of the Guild shall be held each year on a Saturday, and that it be held every third year in Winchester, and that the places for the next two annual meetings shall be decided at that meeting.
- (2) That the words: 'Peal Recorder and Hon. Auditor' be inserted in Rule VI., after the word 'Secretary.'
- (3) That the second section of Rule X. be deleted.
- (4) That the words: 'or Ringing Press' be inserted in Rule XV. after the words 'Recorder of Peals.'
- (5) That Rule XVII. be deleted.
- (6) To decide what 'Due Notice' shall mean as in Rule XVIII.

It was proposed by Mr. C. J. Fray, and seconded by Mr. W. Knight, that these proposed alterations be adopted, the members present showing unanimous approval.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Privett on May 31st, due notice of which will appear in 'The Ringing World.'

A vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and Mr. A. Mears for kindly arranging the tea and having everything in readiness, concluded the business meeting.

Altogether it proved to be a very enjoyable and well-attended meeting. The methods rung included Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob and Double Norwich Major, Cambridge, London and Bristol Surprise.

EDINBURGH SURPRISE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Mr. Lindoff is right when he states that I object to 'Edinburgh' being termed a new method. It is certainly new to those persons who have not seen it before. I have known it quite a long time, and Mr. Geo. Lewis, of Sheffield, presented it to me last May or June, asking my opinion of it, which I gave him candidly. Now, I ask what would he be likely to say if I was to tell an opposite tale in the present case. That is precisely my position in regard to 'Edinburgh' Surprise. I have said what I think, and I have nothing more to add.

Regarding the 5,040 Surprise Royal, I can only reply as follows: When I constructed the 14 necessary courses I selected quite the most simple arrangement I could imagine, for the very reason that I knew there was nothing original in so short a span. I was under the impression that Yorkshire Royal and Princess Mary Royal were the first two Surprise methods rung on ten bells that would allow the 6th the full extent home, so Mr. Lindoff, if he has produced these self same figures, must have applied them to a plain method, in which case my figures would be repeated with a single called mid-way and end. Mr. Lindoff would have a prior claim to me if this is the case.

Regarding the two-part extent of Treble Bob Major, 7,616 two peals, and others ranging down to 5,056, I produced them in August, 1899. I also sent them to the late Tom Lockwood for inclusion in C.C. Collection. We also rang the 5,056 at Mansfield on June 15th, 1901. I arranged my table of course ends from the natural course ends of Tom Lockwood's 7,488. I can quite understand Mr. Lindoff talking about tossing me for them, and adding the few coppers in his pocket. I should not agree if he were to add the gold and silver.

The last paragraph in Mr. Lindoff's letter does him no credit, and can do me no harm, when I inform your readers that I possess two 29 course peals of 8,896, and that I produced them in 1900, while exploring the possibility of an even greater length. They are both distinct compositions compared with Wm. Harrison's peal, but does it appear as though I was anxious to publish them when I have already had them 24 years? Mr. Lindoff would do well to reorganise his secret service department, as it has been misleading him.

I am heartily sorry that my comments on 'Edinburgh' have so upset my old colleague: had I thought what would have come of it I should have wished that someone else would have undertaken the task.—Yours truly,

ARTHUR CRAVEN.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

We understand an important bell augmentation is likely shortly to take place in Manchester.

A great improvement has just been effected in the belfry of St. Martin's, Birmingham, where the rough walls round the upper part of the ringing chamber have been encased with woodwork, painted white and varnished. It puts a finish to what was already a well-appointed belfry.

The meeting of the Grappenhall Branch of the Chester Guild at Runcorn to-morrow has been cancelled.

Shrove Tuesday seems to have been a favourite day with Nottingham ringers in W. D. Croft's time for peals, and one of these pre-lent performances was a 7,040 Oxford Treble Bob on Shrove Tuesday morning, 15th February, 1774. The time was 5 hours, 1 minute, and the peal was called by W. D. Crofts.

Congratulations to the band of the Kent County Association, who, at Dartford on Saturday, rang a 'non-conducted' peal of Stedman Triples. The noteworthiness of the performance is enhanced by the fact that one of the ringers was a lady, the first to take part in a non-conducted peal. Not only is great credit due to Mrs. Deal for the excellent way she rang through the peal, but merit is added to her achievement by the fact that she has never yet called a bob in the method.

The peal of Bob Major at St. Margaret's, Leicester (recorded elsewhere), is the first in the method on the new bells. The only previous peal of Bob Major at this church was Annable's 5,040, called by Thos. Gibson on April 4th, 1807, 'the parties being all wool-combers.'

On March 7th, 1819, 10,080 Bob Major was rung at Great Baddow, and still stands as the record in the method for Essex.

At Norwich, on March 8th, 1737, a peal of 12,603 Grandsire Caters was rung at St. Peter Maucroft, Norwich, in 8 hrs. 15 mins.

A 10,047 Stedman Caters was rung at Aston on the same day in 1859.

One hundred and forty years ago next Monday the College Youths rang a 7,008 Oxford Treble Box Maximus at Southwark.

This was twenty-six years after the first peal of Oxford Treble Twelve, rung by the same society on the same bells on March 12th, 1758.

The Bedfordshire Association was founded on March 13th, 1882.

On Tuesday, March 7th, 1843, at St. Peter's Church, Sheffield, 'a true and complete peal of Hudson's New Light, containing 5,600 changes,' in 3 hours and 46 mins. It was composed and conducted by William Hudson, senr., and is recorded as the first peal in this method ever rung. This method is now called Spliced Treble Bob.

A gentleman wishes to thank the ladies at the Aldershot meeting last Saturday who so kindly provided him with cakes for his Sunday tea.

LADIES' GUILD.

The quarterly meeting of the Western District was held at Bath on Saturday. The bells of St. Mary's, Bathwick, were available at 3 p.m., and the members enjoyed a good pull, through the kindness of Mr. F. Rich (the local secretary), who came with some of his colleagues to help with the heavy bells.

A beautiful service was conducted by the Rector of Bathwick, the Rev. H. F. Napier, Mrs. Napier kindly presiding at the organ.

Tea was served at Taylor's Restaurant, and was followed by a business meeting, Mrs. Edwards, of Portishead, presiding.

It was notified that the next quarterly meeting was to be abandoned owing to the general meeting of the Guild being held in Bristol this summer.

It was proposed to hold a practice at Coalpit Heath in May, and the annual meeting at Evercreech in September.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Rev. H. F. Napier and Mrs. Napier, the Rev. G. C. Williamson for the use of the bells of St. Michael's, and the Bath ringers for their great help.

The members then visited St. Michael's tower, where touches in Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Bob Major were rung till 8.30 p.m., when a very happy meeting was brought to a close.

'AN EXPLANATION.

Mr. E. Tigwell writes, in reply to the inquiry by 'T.B. Minor,' that the description applied to the quarter-peal rung at Purley, Berks, was sent through a misunderstanding on the part of the ringer who forwarded the report. Instead of the footnote reading 'first spliced quarter-peal,' it should have read 'first quarter-peal in two methods.'

The Henry Johnson Commemoration Dinner.

BIG GATHERING AT BIRMINGHAM.

A company, numbering over 160, assembled on Saturday at the Imperial Hotel, Birmingham, on the occasion of the 36th annual Henry Johnson Commemoration Dinner, held under the auspices of the St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham. The event again proved most enjoyable, and drew together visitors from many parts of the country as well as a representative gathering from in and around Birmingham. During the afternoon there was ringing at St. Martin's, the Cathedral, and Bishop Ryder's Church, and at each tower, despite the wintry conditions which prevailed, a considerable number of ringers enjoyed touches. In the regrettable absence of the Rector of Birmingham (Canon E. Grose Hodge), who was the victim of an attack of influenza, Alderman J. S. Pritchett, the Presiding Ringing Master of the Guild, occupied the chair at the dinner. Among those also present were Messrs. J. J. Kendall and F. W. Blake (churchwardens of St. Martin's), Councillor C. H. Clutterbuck, Canon Badger (Vicar of Bishop Ryder's), Councillor Gilling (donor of the bells of Bishop Ryder's), the Rev. F. Li. Edwards (hon. secretary of the Salisbury Guild), Lieut.-Col. the Rev. F. J. Cheverton (Rowley Regis), Mr. A. Paddon Smith (hon. secretary) and Mrs. Smith, Mr. A. Walker (Deputy Ringing Master) and Mrs. Walker, Mr. T. Russam (vice-president) and Mrs. Russam, Messrs. W. Kent and J. H. Shepherd (vice-presidents), C. Dickens (trustee), J. Preston and T. H. Reeves (auditors), Pryce Taylor (Loughborough), H. Mason (Clent), A. E. Parsons (Old Hill), W. H. Fussell (Slough), Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Goldsmith (Woking), Mrs. Wilkins (Bristol), president of the Ladies' Guild, Mr. P. J. Johnson (Leeds), hon. secretary, Yorkshire Association; Mr. J. Rowbotham (London), Mr. and Mrs. A. Trippier (Manchester), Messrs. S. F. Palmer and W. Bugar (Sheffield), Mr. and Mrs. F. Smallwood and Mr. J. Paget (Derby), Messrs. F. Perchus and O. J. Hunt (Coventry), T. Salter (Kidderminster), W. Walmsley (Macclesfield), W. Knight and J. Burford (Bristol), W. Griffin (Walsall), H. Broughton (Leicester), S. R. Roper (Croydon Foundry), A. Coppock (Nottingham), W. H. J. Hooton (Nuneaton), Chandler and Fenton (Rugby), W. Saunders (Coalbrookdale), T. King (Bath), W. Mead (Clun), Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Groves, Mr. J. George, Mr. J. Oldham (Loughborough), Mr. Elijah White, who has been for fifty years a service ringer at Halesowen, etc.

After an excellent dinner, a lengthy programme of speeches and music was entered upon, and the large company spent a happy evening. Apologies for absence were received from Mr. A. A. Hughes (London), detained by illness at home; Mr. John Carter, who was too unwell to attend; Mr. E. Woodhall (West Bromwich), Mr. W. J. Nevard (Great Bentley), and the Vicar and churchwardens of Aston. Mr. W. T. Cockerill, hon. secretary of the Ancient Society of College Youths, sent a telegram of good wishes.

CAUSE FOR THOUGHT AND REFLECTION.

The toast of 'The King' having been honoured, Mr. A. E. Parsons submitted 'The Church and State.' He referred to the changing times through which we are passing, and said that with regard to the Church there was cause for solemn thought and reflection. What was happening? They read that the dignitaries of the Church were countenancing conversations with the Church of Rome on the question of re-union. He would like to ask how those authorities could square their present attitude with their allegiance to the 39 articles of the Church of England, particularly the 22nd. They had a few persons in the Church who were doubting the authority of God's word, and even cutting out what they did not choose to read in their churches. Was that compatible with their allegiance to Article 4? These were things that made the laity think, and no doubt the laity would speak if these things went on (hear, hear). If some of our forefathers were to come back now, he added, they would wonder if they were entering the right buildings or not. Instead of listening to services which were creating a spiritual atmosphere, some of the places were almost compatible with a fancy dress ball at the East end. He sincerely hoped the Church dignitaries would pause before they took such drastic steps as those which they were at present contemplating. He also hoped with all his heart they would never get back to pre-reformation days, which were really unthinkable.

The Rev. F. Li. Edwards, who first responded, said they lived in days in which the Church had need of the loyal support of the country at large, and when not only the whole nation but the Empire stood very greatly in need of the consolidating and elevating support of the Church. Those leaders of politics in the world who set their minds entirely upon projects of material aggrandisement and material prosperity had had their fling during the greater part of the last ten years, and no one could claim that they were to be congratulated upon the result. It appeared to him that the only way to find material peace and prosperity was by laying greater insistence on spiritual principles for which the Church stood. One of the Bishops had been advocating a separation of the Church and State in this country. Whether or not beneficial results would ensue from such a revolution in their position was a matter no one could foresee, but one thing was quite certain, that it would introduce a serious breach in the historic continuity of the relations of the sacred and secular aspects of our national life.

Lieut.-Colonel the Rev. F. J. Cheverton also responded to the toast, remarking that he had sometimes been almost glad that the ladies burnt down Rowley Regis Church. The re-building had been a great joy to him, because it had brought him into touch with that splendid fellowship which was personified in that gathering. But for that event he would not have had the opportunity of coming into touch with many whom he could already call friends, and the equally splendid spirit of fellowship which he had discovered (applause). He thought it was appropriate that in this toast the Church should come before the State, because the Church came into existence long before the State. Before the State came into existence, the Church stood not only for the religious faith of the land, but for something more than that. It stood for the whole life of the land; it stood for art; it stood, doubtless, for bell ringing; it stood for education, and it stood for the drama; in fact, it stood for the sum of national life. But as the national life developed, more particularly in the last two or three centuries, it became incumbent on the Church to pass on some of its duties. He admitted that it was partly forced upon them by the fact that the Church, in a way, failed to rise to its noble opportunity and occasion, and that a decadence set in, but a great deal of the work of the State was originally the work of the Church, and they should not forget the splendid legacy she had passed on to them. Dealing with the attitude of the Church to the State and the State to the Church, the speaker said they were passing from the days when the State showed hostility to the Church, such as they saw in the Welsh Disestablishment Bill. Social progress was being built up on Christian foundations, and the politicians to-day recognised that in dealing with human affairs they could not go beyond the moral conscience of the people. They looked to the Church to uplift the moral tone and moral standards of the people so that they could then come in and legislate up to the outlook of the people. He believed that if the Prime Minister (Mr. MacDonald) were there that night he would tell them, as representing the Church, that they need no longer look askance at each other, but that they were to go hand in hand, and that the more they had the welfare of the nation at heart the more they would help each other on. He was an optimist, and he believed they had great days before them, and had nothing to despair about in the Church or in the State.

HENRY JOHNSON AND HIS CONTEMPORARIES.

Mr. W. H. Fussell was entrusted with the toast of 'The Memory of the late Henry Johnson.' He said he was not that evening going to praise him as a man, straightforward and honest, as a very able conductor, or to speak about the qualities or musical properties which he had placed in a column of figures, because he felt that other speakers in the past, who were more in touch with him in his lifetime, had already done so in a very able manner. His (the speaker's) first visit to Birmingham in the year 1883 was a successful one, for he rang a peal at St. Chad's, and it was after they came from the belfry on that occasion that he first met Mr. Johnson. The portrait on their programme that night was an excellent one, and depicted Mr. Johnson as he was about the time referred to, when he was about 74 years of age. He had the privilege of meeting him twice after that. As most of them knew, Henry Johnson was born on February 28th, 1829, and his death occurred in 1890, when he was 61 years of age. He took unto himself two wives, and he had a family of eight children, and although he died in 1890, Henry Johnson lived to-day (hear, hear). Mr. Johnson's ringing days were spent in company with Cooper and Day, Roberts, Macdonald and Hopkins, all good men, who no doubt encouraged him to follow out the practice of his forefathers, and he did that to no mean extent. Hopkins was a close friend of Johnson, and bequeathed to him a little peal book which had since been handed to the custody of St. Martin's Guild. Hopkins was born in 1800, and died in 1862. He defended Johnson on several matters when he was attacked by his competitors in the field of composition: for instance, in a controversy over Stedman Triples and a controversy with Lates over Bob Triples. Another who was a friend of Johnson was Joseph Riley, of Gloucester. He was a member of the Royal Cumberland Youths, and was also very proud of the old St. Martin's Society, coming to Birmingham and conducting several peals for it. Riley's peal book had also come into the possession of that society. Johnson called his first peal as conductor in 1832. This was Grandsire Triples at Aston, and it happened to be his 23rd birthday, but the peal was rung with the muffles on as a mourning peal for Joshua Short. In 1841 he called his first peal of Stedman Caters at Aston, and in 1846 the famous peal of Stedman Triples for the second time. He also called a peal at St. Martin's for the famous John Cox, of London, who came to Birmingham on a visit, and it would have been very interesting could they know what was said between these two about certain facts in ringing. In 1846, he rang two peals in three days, which was a most unusual thing in those days, and in 1848 he rang in 12 peals in a year, which was a wonderful performance, although in these days a band will go on tour and ring as many in a week. In 1851 an interesting event occurred. That society made up seven men, who visited the Great Exhibition in Hyde Park, and then met three members of the Royal Cumberland Youths at St. Clement Danes, where they rang a peal of Grandsire Caters, conducted by Henry Haley. The year 1873 was noted for the visit of Charles Hattersley, of Sheffield, to Birmingham, and was the beginning of some interesting exchanges between the two men, both through the post and by personal interviews on more than one occasion. Johnson's immediate predecessors in the realm of conducting in Birmingham were Elijah Roberts, the peal tapper, who afterwards committed suicide, John Lates, Henry Cooper, Joe Powell and Thomas Day. These men handed on the traditions, Johnson took them up, and in his turn left a great tradition to those who came after him. It was in Johnson's day that Stedman was started in earnest, and became in the Birmingham district the most popular method; indeed, the reputation of St. Martin's Guild for Stedman to-day might be traced back to the days of Johnson, and from 1830 the name of Henry Johnson, of Birmingham, became a household word in many a ringer's home, long before any ringing papers were issued. What ringing news there was, was published in 'Bell's Life' and 'The Era,' and in these papers appeared many matters of great interest in which Johnson's name figured. He frequently took up some challenge to assert what Birmingham had done, and to show that others claims had already been superseded. Birmingham, said the speaker, seemed to have been favoured in getting news from the old stage coaches. Being the centre of England, a number of through coaches from all parts came into the town. Elijah Roberts was himself on a coach, and doubtless Birmingham ringers knew what was going on elsewhere sooner than anyone else. Henry Johnson at the time of his death had two sons, both of whom were living to-day, and both of whom became ringers. One was with them that night (applause). Continuing, the speaker said the present harmonious relations among ringers in Birmingham did not always exist. Forty years ago there were several societies, and all had their own ideas of what was right and proper. There was the Union Society of St. Martin's and St. Philip's, the Helt Society of Aston, the Birmingham and District Association, founded by John Carter, and others, some of whom he saw present that night. Each body was jealous of its position and achievements, but there was a happy spirit of brotherhood existing among the ringers of Birmingham to-day. Henry Johnson lived to a ripe old age, and he must have been proud of the position of matters when he breathed his last, leaving behind him a wonderful record in the way of conducting and a collection of compositions in several methods that may be found to-day in the modern works on change ringing. In 1888 a new Guild was formed for Birmingham in which the old societies united, and eventually became St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham. He hoped they would continue to prosper, and to carry on their work as Churchmen. They had met that night as the result of the birth of Henry Johnson, to honour, as a Guild, a fine old English gentleman.

The toast was drunk in solemn silence, and then followed a perfect touch of three leads of Treble Bob on 14 handbells, by seven members of St. Martin's Guild, an exhibition of ringing, which, the Chairman pointed out, could not be heard anywhere else in the world. It was rung by T. Russam, A. Walker, P. O. Ladin, G. F. Swann, J. E. Groves, A. E. Norman and M. J. Morris. The completion of the touch was greeted with tremendous applause.

A REVIEW.

The Chairman next said he was both proud and happy in being once more with them and having the honour of proposing 'Continued Prosperity to the St. Martin's Guild.' He invited them, as was his custom, to first pay a passing thought to those who had passed away from them during the year. The hand of death had dealt lightly with the Guild in 1923, for they had lost only one Birmingham and one country member. The Birmingham member, as they all knew, was Mr. James L. Wells, a most valued and valuable member, one of the Sunday band of St. Martin's, whose heart and soul was in ringing, and whose ringing was looked upon by him as a solemn duty in connection with that Church. They mourned him. The other was perhaps the most famous ringer of his time, certainly the most accomplished ringer that ever lived, so far as both the composition of peals and the actual ringing of them was concerned. He referred to Mr. James W. Washbrook. No man rang peals more rapidly than he did, and on more than one occasion he rang two bells himself in the same peal. His fame as a virtuoso in ringing could never be surpassed. Continuing, the speaker said they had also, fortunately, a small sick list comprising dear old friends. There was Mr. Rock Small, from whom he had received a letter saying he was afraid he would never be able to leave his house again, and would be extremely pleased if old friends passing that way would call upon him. Then there was Mr. John Carter. They deeply deplored his absence and his illness, and they hoped he would be spared for many years yet. There was Mr. John Buffery, whose illness they all regretted. It was fifty years ago since he came to see him (the speaker) at Oxford, and mistook the extra strong ale for soda water (laughter), with the result that they were unable to ring at Magdalen College in the afternoon as they had intended to do (laughter). They were all sorry that Mr. Buffery was absent from that gathering, and hoped he would recover from his illness to some extent (hear, hear). Looking round, he was very glad to see nearly all the old faces present among them again, men that he used to ring with 30, 40, and even 50 years ago. Joe Johnson, a son of the famous Henry Johnson, who had never missed one of those gatherings, was with them again, and there was also Mr. Tom Russam, with his good lady, Mr. William Kent, Mr. Bernard Witchell, and the three brothers Dickens, all of them connected with the Guild for many years, and he hoped would still be long connected with it (applause). Proceeding, the Chairman said St. Martin's Guild had not done badly during the past year. They had rung 26 tower bell peals and 13 peals on handbells, which was three more than the previous year, although it did not come up to the record number of the year before, which was about 45. Out of the tower bell peals, nine were peals on twelve bells at St. Martin's Church, and the remarkable part of it was that to ring those nine peals they made only nine attempts (applause). The most noteworthy of the peals was that to celebrate Mr. James George's 70th birthday. It was noteworthy for the occasion on which it was rung, and also for the fact that had it not been for Mr. George's birthday it would have been rung for Mr. and Mrs. Albert Walker's silver wedding. Mr. Walker very generously gave way to Mr. George, and they could only hope that as a recompense a splendid peal would be rung for the golden wedding (applause). Another reason that prevented a silver wedding peal being rung was that Mr. Wells died, and the next opportunity for ringing a peal was devoted to ringing a muffled peal in his memory. During the past year an attempt had been made to revive Cambridge Maximus. A course was rung the other evening, and it was hoped that during the coming year another peal might be rung. He would like the clergy present, added the Chairman, to know that the members of the Guild rang regularly every Sunday morning at St. Martin's Church for service, and also gave their services once a month at the Cathedral, and occasionally at other churches in the city. They were a most devoted band of ringers, and were deeply sensible of the dignity and importance of their position as church bell ringers. They were honoured that night by the presence of the Vicar of Bishop Ryder's Church and his churchwarden, Councillor Gilling. They heartily congratulated them upon the rehanging of the bells at that church, the bells being the generous gift of Councillor Gilling. They were a very beautiful peal, and a great addition to the ringing facilities in the city. In concluding, Alderman Pritchett said he would like to thank his deputy, Mr. Walker, for his great services to the Guild during the past year, for his services as conductor and for his services as organiser, with Mr. Smith, of the most successful social gatherings which they had held from time to time. Mr. Walker also had attended ringing dinners in London, Sheffield and Bristol as the representative of that Guild. He had difficulty in finding words properly to express their acknowledgments to Mr. Paddon Smith for all he had done for the Guild as hon. secretary. He believed he had said at least twelve times that he had excelled himself. A man could not excel himself more than twelve times (laughter), and he had reached perfection many years ago. He did not know what they would do without him. Mr. Smith sometimes complained of the burden of his office. He (the speaker) could only assure him that their gratitude was as deep and sincere as his labours were strenuous and burdensome, and that must be his reward (applause).

The toast was heartily received, and Mr. Smith's health was drunk with rousing musical honours.

THE HANDBELL PEAL AT TAUNTON.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The handbell peal of Grandsire Doubles rung at Taunton on February 24th ult. was P. H. Sparks' first peal as conductor; in fact, he had only rung one peal (Grandsire Doubles) before. The peal was the result of these three young ringers' perseverance, and they are to be congratulated on their very good performance.

An error, through me, was inserted in the footnote, which stated that it was the first peal on handbells by a resident band in the diocese. This is not correct, two peals having been rung previously, one at Carhampton on April 22nd, 1914, and one at Midsomer Norton on December 5th, 1914. With sincere apologies to both these bands,—Yours faithfully,

J. HUNT.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION. PRESENTATION TO DUNSTER DEANERY SECRETARY.

At the annual meeting of the Dunster Deanery Branch of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association, on Saturday week, the long services rendered by Mr. G. Stacey, of Minehead, as hon. secretary of the branch, were recognised by a presentation. The meeting was largely attended by ringers from Stogumber, St. Audries, Dulverton, Minehead, Old Cleve, Selworthy, Porlock, Timberscombe, Dunster, Wooton Courtenay, Chipstable, Monksilver, St. Decuman's and Carhampton, and there were also visiting ringers from Swindon and Milverton. The Association's form of service was conducted by the Rev. T. S. Dawson, Vicar of Carhampton, and President of the Association, and an address was given by Preb. A. C. Harman (Rector of Old Cleve). Tea was served in the Village Hall, the Vicar presiding. Afterwards the Rev. H. G. McTaggart expressed the thanks of the members to the ladies who, under Mrs. Dawson, had served the tea, and to the organist.

At the business meeting, Mr. Stacey presented a report on the year's working of the branch, which showed that it had been a successful year. Although they had not recorded any peal ringing, the progress of change ringing had been marked, especially at Timberscombe, Wooton Courtenay, Porlock, Old Cleve, and Carhampton, and those bands were to be congratulated. Four meetings had been held, which had been well attended. The balance sheet showed a balance of £1 13s. 8d. in hand, after sending £6 16s. 4d. to the general secretary. Eighteen working members and two honorary members had been added, this making the working members 127, and five unattached, and eight honorary members, but not all were paid up.

The Rev. T. S. Dawson was re-elected chairman, and Mr. Stacey hon. secretary. Mr. W. Hoyle (Minehead) was re-elected Ringing Master, and Mr. H. A. Phillips (Timberscombe) was re-appointed to the Central Committee. The following new members were elected: Rev. W. J. Ludlow (Dulverton), Messrs. P. Bond, F. Norman, W. Newbery and W. H. James.

Prebendary Reeder, at the request of the chairman, then made the presentation to Mr. Stacey, the gifts consisting of a fitted attache case and two pairs of gauntlet gloves for motor cycling, one for summer, and the other for winter. Prebendary Reeder said he thought that the clergy owed a great debt of gratitude to all the ringers who helped them so much in their work. Perhaps nothing had improved the whole tone of ringing and the atmosphere of the bellfries more than the formation of ringing associations. They had certainly worked a wonderful change. One remembered stories of the old days when things which were far from satisfactory went on in some of the bellfries, but that state of things had altogether come to an end now. A very high ideal was now aimed at, and in most cases reached, in the majority of bellfries throughout the land, and this, he thought, was owing very largely to the result of the working of the associations all over the country. No association was any good, however, unless there was a mainspring driving it and working it, and, of course, in every case the mainspring was the secretary and treasurer. The president did something—he was always a figurehead—but the bulk of the work was done by the secretary, and, therefore, the association generally and also the clergy owed a very great debt of gratitude to the secretaries for the work they did. When he (the speaker) came to that deanery, Mr. Stacey was filling, and filling excellently, the office of secretary, but he (the speaker) had heard a little bit about the history of the association in earlier days still. He was told that it flourished, and then, owing probably to slackness on somebody's part, it got into rather low water and became ineffective. Then Mr. Tomkins, of Williton, was elected secretary, and he (Mr. Reeder) was told he did yeoman service and raised the association to a very high pitch. Then, twenty-one years ago, the association most wisely elected in Mr. Tomkins' place Mr. Geo. Stacey, and he had not only carried on the work which Mr. Tomkins began, but continued to raise the association to the state of efficiency which it occupied at present. His twenty-one years had been years of great activity. He had never lost his zeal, his energy, or his tact, and it showed what a very wonderful man Mr. Stacey was. He was tactful and courageous, because he did not mind speaking out his mind. He did not mince matters in the least, and that was a very valuable quality in a secretary who had brought the association up to that pitch. The members of the association had recognised the truth of everything that he (Mr. Reeder) had said with regard to Mr. Stacey's work; they appreciated what he had done, and valued his services, and it had come into the minds of some of them to give him a tangible proof of the respect in which they held him and of their esteem for the work he had done, and he (the speaker) had been asked to come there that afternoon to make a presentation to Mr. Stacey, to which they had all contributed.

Mr. Stacey, who was taken by surprise, remarked, in returning thanks, that he had heard of things being kept dark before (laughter), and if ever anyone was surprised it was himself (laughter). He could not think what they had been about in never letting him know that they wanted to give him something. It was very good of them all, and he was most grateful to all the members who had contributed towards these beautiful presents, which he did not deserve—(Voices: Yes, you do). He would treasure them up and always remember when he looked at these gifts the happy days that they had spent together. Again he thanked them all very much indeed for their kindness (warm applause).

The Chairman said there was still a balance in hand, and suggested that Mr. Stacey would like to have something which he could hang up in his home to serve as a reminder of their appreciation of him, and he read the following draft of an address which it was resolved to have illuminated and framed: 'The Bath and Wells Diocesan Association of Change Ringers.—Dunster Deanery Branch.—We, members of the above deanery, desire to express our appreciation of the very efficient and valuable services of Mr. George Stacey as hon. secretary to the deanery for the past 22 years, and ask him to accept the accompanying gift as a token of our esteem and respect.'

The names of the towers and of the honorary and unattached members subscribing will be added.

A letter paying a warm tribute to Mr. Stacey's work was read from the Rev. G. L. Fitzmaurice, of Brompton Ralph, formerly President of the Association, and votes of thanks were accorded to Mr. Farmer, of Carhampton, for organising the presentation, and to the Vicar of Carhampton for the use of the church and bells, and his hospitality in providing tea; and to Preb. Harman for his address at the service.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Dulverton.

During the day ringing took place at Carhampton, and also at Dunster.

ILCHESTER DEANERY BRANCH.

The annual meeting of the Ilchester Deanery Branch was held at Martock on Saturday, February 23rd, the following towers being represented: Ilminster, Langport, Stoke-under-Ham, Yeovil and Martock. There were also present Mr. G. Stacey and Mr. W. Hoyle, of Minehead, secretary and Ringing Master respectively of Dunster Deanery Branch. The Rev. G. W. Saunders, Vicar of Martock, and President of the Branch, conducted the service, and gave an excellent address.

The annual meeting was held after tea in the Church House, the president being in the chair.

The Hon. Secretary (Mr. F. Farrant) read a report of the year's work and a financial statement, which were adopted by the meeting.

The officers were re-elected as follows: The Rev. G. W. Saunders, president; Mr. F. Farrant, secretary; Mr. D. G. Taylor, Ringing Master.

The Hon. Secretary asked that Mr. J. E. Baker, of Yeovil, should take his place as the representative of the branch on the general committee, and this was agreed to.

One new member was elected, and East Coker chosen for the next meeting.

Mrs. Grimshaw, as usual, had provided an excellent tea, and a hearty vote of thanks was accorded her and her helpers, Mrs. A. E. Warner and Mrs. F. Farrant. Miss Hayne was thanked for playing the organ at the service.

The Secretary referred to the presence of Mr. Stacey, who had been 21 years secretary of the Dunster Deanery Branch, and congratulated him on the fact that his long service had recently been recognised by his branch with some valuable presents.—Mr. D. G. Taylor added a few words of praise for the good work done by Mr. Stacey in the interest of change ringing.—Mr. Stacey suitably replied, and took the opportunity of thanking the Vicar for his address.

The bells were made good use of during the day, the methods rung being Grandsire, Stedman and Plain Bob.

NORTH NOTTS ASSOCIATION.

MEETING AT SHIREOAKS.

A very successful meeting of the North Notts Association was held at Shireoaks on Saturday week. The village derived its name from the ancient oak that stood for many centuries on the spot where the three counties of Notts, Yorks and Derbyshire converge. A fine thriving oak occupies the site of the original tree, which is not remembered by any person now living. The constabulary, which comprises about 800 acres of land, is the property of the Duke of Newcastle, who is also lord of the manor.

The London and North-Eastern Railway, the Chesterfield Canal and River Ryton each intersect the chapelry. Here are some extensive coal mines, which were commenced in June, 1859. They now reach a depth of 515 yards, and almost all the inhabitants of the village are employed here. It was at this most interesting little spot, where the peal of six bells was installed by Taylor in the church of St. Luke (built by the Duke of Newcastle in 1863), that 32 members of the association assembled for their first meeting of the year. The ringers came from Anston, Barlborough, Ordsall, Tickhill, East and West Retford, Blyth, Shireoaks and Worksop, and included two ladies. The organist of the Priory Church, Worksop (Mr. S. Mayes) was also present. Touches in the following methods were brought round: Plain Bob, Double Court, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Violet, Killmarsh, Arnold's Victory, Cambridge and London Surprise, the only little drawback being that the treble bells require the attention of a bell hanger.

Tea was served in excellent style by Host and Hostess Loose, and presided over by Mr. F. Hargreaves, of Shireoaks, in the unavoidable absence of the Vicar, who sent a letter of apology.

The next meeting will be held at North Cottingham, near Newark, on Easter Monday, where a new peal of six bells has recently been installed by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston.

The meeting concluded with a hearty vote of thanks to the chairman, the host and hostess, and to the Vicar of Shireoaks for the use of the bells.—Mr. Hargreaves briefly replied, giving a hearty welcome to all who had attended the meeting.

Further ringing took place, and the bells were lowered in peal at 8.20 p.m. H. H.

THE SURREY ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Western District was held at Chertsey on Saturday, February 23rd, when members attended from Thames Ditton, Walton, East Molesey, Holy Trinity, Guildford, Old Windsor, Mitcham, Weybridge, and the local company. The bells were raised shortly after 3 p.m., and various methods were rung during the afternoon.

At the business which followed tea, nine new members were elected, and Hersham was chosen for the next meeting.

A suggestion was made that the district should hold an all-day meeting on Whit-Monday, visiting, if possible, the following towers: Witley, Chiddingfold and Haslemere, the necessary arrangements being left to the secretary.

A vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and for the churchroom where the tea was held, also to the steeple-keeper for having everything in readiness.

The tower was again visited, further ringing taking place until 8.30 p.m.

A JOINT MEETING.

A combined meeting of the Kent County Association and the Romney Marsh Guild was held at Ashford. In addition, arrangements had been made for ringing in the afternoon at Willesborough, but owing to two weddings and a funeral very little ringing could be done there. Service was held in the Parish Church, Ashford, the Vicar (the Rev. T. K. Sopwith) officiating, and Mr. W. E. Pitman (Mus. Bac.) presiding at the organ. Afterwards about 30 sat down to tea, the Vicar presiding.

A short business meeting was held, when the secretary gave his report of the past year, which showed the district to be in a progressive state, both numerically and financially.

A bye-meeting was proposed to be held at Headcorn in April. The Romney Marsh Guild resolved to hold their next meeting at Benenden on March 22nd.

A vote of thanks to the Vicar and to Mr. W. E. Pitman was passed, and the tower was again visited, some good touches being brought round in the four standard methods.

HORNSEY, MIDDLESEX.—On Monday, Feb. 25th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes), in 50 mins.: W. Blee 1, T. Langdon 2, J. G. Nash 3, H. Blee 4, C. H. Ross (conductor) 5.

WARMELY, BRISTOL.—On Saturday, March 1st, 720 Kent Treble Bob: *C. Harding 1, C. Harnell 2, A. Maggs 3, G. Wiltshire 4, T. James 5, J. G. Jefferies (conductor) 6. * First 720 of Treble Bob.

DEATH OF MR. WILLIAM NEWELL. 'FATHER' OF READING RINGERS.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. William Newell, of Reading, one of the oldest ringers in the country. Mr. Newell was 85 years of age, having been born on November 8th, 1838. He had been connected with ringing for over 70 years, and in his day had taught a large number of beginners. He passed away on Thursday of last week.

RINGER'S GOLDEN WEDDING.

The golden wedding took place on March 2nd of Mr. Samuel Coley, and Mrs. Coley, of Birmingham, and they were the recipients of many good wishes. Mr. Coley has been a service ringer at Bishop Ryder's Church for many years, and special touches were rung at this church and at Birmingham Cathedral on Sunday in celebration of the event.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD. STOCKPORT BRANCH.

The annual meeting of the Stockport Branch was held at Stockport (St. George) on Saturday, Feb. 23rd. The day, happily, was a glorious one, and tempted out some who are wont to hibernate, and, needless to say, as a result the attendance was good. Service in church was conducted by the Rev. A. T. Beeston, and addressed by the Ven. Archdeacon Thorpe on 'Christian religion and public worship.' It is well known, he said, that the music of the bells is often heard, but seldom heeded by many, yet it never fails to find some hearts which it exhilarates and some which it softens. The Archdeacon brought his homily to a close by an anecdote on the softening of one man's heart.

Through the pressure of work, Archdeacon Thorpe was unable to be present at the festive board, but heartily welcomed the visitors, and hoped they would enjoy the good things spread before them. His hopes were fulfilled.

At the business meeting, the Branch Chairman (Mr. J. H. Jackson) expressed, on behalf of the members, hearty congratulations to the Rev. A. T. Beeston upon his recent marriage.—The remarks were endorsed by many present.—On rising to reply, the 'benedict' appeared to be in a dilemma, for, never having been married before, he did not know what to say. However, he managed to get through it with no little jocularity.

The hon. secretary presented his report for the past year. Generally speaking, he said, there was an absence of such a measure of interest and activity as would be naturally expected from such a large branch; and, except in an isolated case, the quality of the performances was low, as was also the membership. Five meetings had been held during the year, with an average attendance of 45. This, to a certain point, was encouraging, but could be improved upon. After all financial claims had been met there was a balance on the right side, some £3 less than the preceding year. It was regretted that there are a number of subscriptions outstanding, and it is hoped these will soon be forthcoming.

After the adoption of the report, the election of officers was proceeded with. Mr. J. H. Jackson (Disley) was unanimously re-elected to the chair. The Rev. A. T. Beeston requested to be relieved of the hon. secretaryship, but said he would remain hon. treasurer. Mr. J. P. Fidler (Hazel Grove) was appointed hon. secretary to the branch. All the other officers were re-elected.

After much discussion, it was decided to fix the place and date of the next four meetings, the same to be printed on a card, subject to a confirmation appearing in 'The Ringing World' previous to each meeting.

There was also much discussion regarding the printing of the Guild's annual report.—Mr. E. W. Elwell (hon. secretary to the Guild) being present at this meeting, summarised the feelings of the committee on this matter, and also stated that, where a tower was in union with the Guild, the Parochial Church Council of that church was to be asked to give an affiliation fee to the Guild. This was a practical suggestion, and one which it is hoped church councillors would support. It is understood that the scheme has the approval of the Lord Bishop of Chester, and he has promised, through the medium of the 'Diocesan Gazette,' to make mention of the importance of the Guild having a sound financial footing.

Following the election of four new members, the usual votes of thanks concluded the meeting, and further ringing took place.

A MEMORIAL PEAL BOARD.

In the fine old Church of Frampton, Lincs, a board was dedicated on Saturday week recording a peal of Bob Minor rung on June 23rd, 1923, with the bells half-muffled, after the funeral of Mr. H. Taylor, who had been a ringer for 20 years, and had been conductor in the tower for ten years. The board, of English oak, with gold lettering, was the gift of the late Mr. Taylor's two sisters, and was dedicated by the Vicar (the Rev. R. G. MacClelland).

NAMES THAT MUST BE CHANGED.

A move from outside the Central Council is being made in regard to the absurd nomenclature now employed in some sections of the Minor methods. The company at St. John the Baptist's Church, Leytonstone, one of the most accomplished six-bell bands in the country, has passed a resolution, which we publish on another page, urging Minor ringers to get this matter brought up and dealt with at the next Council meeting by bringing pressure to bear upon the representatives of their respective Associations. Our views upon the ridiculous names given by the Council's Committee to certain of the methods in the Collection are well known to, and are, we believe, very widely shared by our readers. The Committee's report, when it came before the meeting last year, was challenged upon the question whether the Committee had any authority to change existing names, and when the threat was made that the Committee would resign unless their report was adopted, the opposition subsided, and the portion of the report under which horticultural names were incorporated into a mathematical science, was accepted almost without protest.

The point is sometimes overlooked that a Committee's decisions are always subservient to the will of the Council, but with a pistol held at its head the Council at Salisbury, in effect, reversed the positions. Into the renaming of some of the old methods, which is really a matter of technical and historical detail, there is no need for us here to enter. But the giving of titles to hitherto unnamed methods involved only the exercise of common sense.

Efforts in these days should be directed to elevating the art, not only in our own eyes, but in the opinion of the public. We pride ourselves on the improvement in the status of ringers and ringing, and we ought at all costs to avoid anything that is likely to make us ludicrous in the eyes of intelligent men. Sooner or later the Council will have to eliminate the absurd names which now burden the art, and the sooner the better. The action of the Leytonstone ringers is a step towards bringing the question to a head, if only other six-bell companies will give the resolution their support. There is yet time to ensure that the subject is reopened at Whitsun by a notice placed on the Council agenda calling for a revision of the names, and in the interests of the Exercise we hope that floral nomenclature, and some of the other grotesque titles, will thereafter be a thing of the past. Although it is to Minor methods that these names have been given, it is by no means a question affecting six-bell ringers only. It is a matter of principle affecting the whole Exercise, but it

BRIERLEY HILL RINGER'S DEATH.

The band at Brierley Hill, Staffs, have lost a devoted member and valued colleague by the death of Mr. Alfred Whatmore, which occurred at his home on the 20th ult., after an illness of about a week at the age of 73 years. The deceased was a native of Brierley Hill. He had been in business as a fruiterer, etc., in High Street for many years. In his early life he became a chorister at the Parish Church, where he served two years under the late Rev. Franklin some 60 years ago. From that time he had been connected with the church as a chorister and bell ringer until his death. He was elected on the first committee of the Worcestershire and Adjoining Districts' Association, by which body he was held in high esteem. Deceased was not a keen peal ringer, having rung only nine in all, but he did a great deal of valuable work in training young ringers. The funeral took place on Tuesday week at the Parish Church, Rev. H. W. Jones, R.D. (Rector), officiating. The Rev. T. N. Hulme and Canon M. S. Newland, R.D., Vicar of St. Thomas's, Stourbridge, also attended the service, which was choral. The hymn, 'Abide with me,' was sung, the choir chanted the 90th Psalm, the organist, Mr. T. Williams, played the 'Dead March,' and hymn, 'On the resurrection morning,' concluded the service inside the church. The bearers were bell ringers—Messrs. W. Potter, W. Masters, H. Holden, J. Lloyd, W. Shuter, and T. Williams. Two plain courses of Grandsire Doubles were rung at the graveside: E. Perks 1-2, J. Bass 3-4, J. Lloyd 5-6. Beautiful floral tributes were sent, including one from the bell ringers at the Parish Church. After the service (owing to illness near the church), the ringers journeyed to Wellaston Church, and, by kind permission of the Vicar, several touches were rung on the bells (half-muffled), including 720 Plain Bob Minor: H. Holden 1, W. Potter 2, T. Williams 3, J. Bass 4, J. Lloyd 5, C. E. Perkins (conductor) 6.—720 Cambridge Surprise Minor: C. E. Perkins 1, W. Potter 2, J. Bass 3, R. Mathews (conductor) 4, W. Bratherton 5, J. Lloyd 6.—720 London Surprise Minor: W. Bratherton 1, H. Cooper 2, J. Bass 3, W. Cooper 4, R. Mathews 5, J. Lloyd 6.

The toast of 'Continued Prosperity to St. Martin's Guild,' which Alderman J. S. Pritchett, the chairman, proposed, was responded to by Mr. A. Paddon Smith, the hon. secretary, who told several stories which put the company into a merry mood. In thanking the members for having drunk his health so heartily in connection with the toast of their ancient Guild, he said it was the fifteenth and not the twelfth time, as their chairman had remarked. It was the only recompense he wanted, and when one saw a room full of happy people such as that, what other recompense could he want? The most excellent relations existed throughout the Guild, and at St. Martin's they were particularly happy. Their Rector was deeply sorry he could not be with them that night. He would not have missed that gathering for worlds could he have helped it, but he was unfortunately in bed with influenza. He had written a letter in which he said that he considered that dinner to be one of the most important gatherings of Churchmen held in Birmingham. That was rather a nice compliment to pay them. They had both churchwardens with them that night. They were both very grey, but none of it whatever was due to worry with the ringers (laughter). The Guild was the only organisation connected with the churches in Birmingham, that never had to go to the churchwardens to ask for funds to carry on. They subscribed to their own funds, and carried on their own work entirely independent of offertories and subscriptions from outside; indeed, they subscribed to other funds for which appeals were made (hear, hear). He was not saying this to blow their own trumpet, but it was useful, with clergy in the room, that they should know what ringers could do and did do (applause). If the loyalty and enthusiasm of the members of the Guild continued in the future as in the past they would be able to hand on the traditions of the Guild not only in as good a condition as they were handed to them, but even better. He would like to think that years hence their successors would look back to these days and thank them for carrying on (applause).

Rising again, Mr. Paddon Smith submitted the toast of 'The Visitors' in a happy speech of welcome, and this was responded to by Mr. Percy Johnson, hon. secretary of the Yorkshire Association. He felt, he said, that one was doing honour, not merely to the great names that had been associated with Birmingham St. Martin's Guild, but doing honour to one's own society by coming there to pay one's tribute to men who had been second to none in the whole history of change ringing. On behalf of the visitors, and of his own society in particular, he offered the sincerest fraternal greetings to the Guild. Long might it flourish. He also hoped that those whose names one became so familiar with, who were members of St. Martin's Guild, might long enjoy their prowess and add lustre to the traditions that had been passed down to them by bygone generations of ringers. It was a great pleasure to the visitors to be able to add their little tribute to the honour of the men who had gone before, and he hoped they might be able to come for many years to enjoy the company they were so pleased to meet at that gathering (applause).

Mr. Albert Walker proposed the toast of 'The Ringing World.' He recalled the previous papers that had dealt with ringing matters, including 'Bell's Life,' 'Church Bells,' 'Bell News,' 'Campanology,' and 'The Bell Ringer,' all of which were now extinct. Ringers, he said, ought to be very grateful that they still had a paper published in their interests. They had to depend on 'The Ringing World' for all their news, and they only had to imagine what it would be like without a paper devoted to ringing to realise the value which 'The Ringing World' was to the Exercise. When other papers dealt with ringing news it was generally inaccurate or misleading, and ringers would be 'lost' without a paper of their own. He, therefore, appealed to all ringers to do all they could to support 'The Ringing World,' and to extend its circulation by getting more subscribers. He congratulated the Editor upon the way he conducted the paper, and coupled his name with the toast.

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, who responded, referred to the increasing notice which bells and ringing were now receiving in the daily and county press of the country, and remarked that this notice might have a great influence on the general public. It was, therefore, necessary that the Press should be educated on the right lines, from the ringers' point of view, and there seemed to be scope for much good work in this direction by the Central Council.

Councillor Clutterbuck proposed 'The Health of the Chairman,' and alluded to the fine work which Alderman Pritchett was doing on the City Council of Birmingham, as well as in many other capacities.

Alderman Pritchett, in responding, said he only occupied that position on account of the absence of the Rector, who they all hoped would have a speedy recovery. Continuing, the Chairman said he could not expect to be present at that gathering many more times, but as long as he was able he should come (applause). There was no gathering in the whole year—and he attended a good many—where he felt more thoroughly happy than he did at the annual

Henry Johnson Dinner (applause). It was extremely pleasant to see his old friends round him, and he trusted they would meet on many similar occasions. He wished them all happiness and prosperity in 1924 (applause).

This concluded the speech-making, and the proceedings concluded with 'Auld Lang Syne.'

The musical programme was mainly sustained by the St. Martin's Quartette (Messrs. Hale, Chapman, Bayliss and Gorman), who were most heartily thanked for their gratuitous services by the chairman. Their concerted pieces were 'Here's life and health to England's King,' 'All things love thee,' and 'There's music in the air,' and the admirable way in which these pieces were sung, coupled with the fine blending of the voices, provided a great treat. Members of the quartette also contributed individual items. Mr. Leonard Chapman sang 'Nirvana,' Mr. William Hale 'The Open Road,' and Mr. William Gorman 'The Admiral's Broom,' all of which were greatly appreciated. In addition, Mr. Albert Cockpock, of Nottingham, gave a splendid rendering of the baritone solo, 'Maire, my girl,' for which he was warmly applauded. Mr. E. J. Woodhall was the accompanist. Tunes on handbells were rung by parties of the St. Martin's Guild, and the enjoyable evening passed all too quickly.

A number of visitors stayed over the week-end in Birmingham, and rang at St. Martin's, the Cathedral, Bishop Ryder's and St. Chad's, on Sunday.

On Tuesday, at St. Martin's, 1,248 Kent Treble Bob Maximus, specially arranged for the Rev. F. L. Edwards, was rung by H. Spencer 1, A. E. Norman 2, T. Russam 3, Rev. F. L. Edwards 4, P. O. Laffin 5, M. J. Morris 6, G. Walker 7, J. Pemberton 8, A. P. Smith 9, G. F. Yendall 10, A. Walker (conductor) 11, J. Neal 12.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

EASTERN DISTRICT AT PONTEFRAC.

The annual meeting of the Eastern District was held at Pontefract on Saturday, March 1st, but was only poorly attended, the wintry conditions which prevailed keeping many members away. The peal of eight at All Saints' Church was made good use of during the afternoon, by kind consent of the Vicar (the Rev. A. G. Shipley, M.A.), while the fine peal of ten at the Parish Church of St. Giles was available for an hour after tea, by courtesy of the Vicar of Pontefract (the Rev. J. Young, M.A.).

A shortened form of evensong was held in All Saints' Church, the sermon being preached by the Rev. A. G. Shipley, who took his text from Acts i. 25, 'That ye may take part in this ministry.' The reverend gentleman said the office of a ringer was a high one, and a necessary one, and their lives should correspond to the nobility of the bells. The bells of his parish would always be at the service of the association, and he was glad to see the ringers come that afternoon to renew friendships and spend a happy time. He enlisted the sympathy of ringers with that parish, which had recently been under great trial. There was, however, hope for a brighter future.

Tea was afterwards provided by a local ringer, Mr. Bernard Moody, at his cafe, and some 24 members sat down, representing Bailsworth, Kingston-on-Hull, Selby, Sherburn-in-Elmet, Tadcaster, Thorne, Wortley, York, and the local towers.

The business meeting followed, the Vicar of Pontefract being in the chair. Letters of apology for absence were received from Mr. A. E. West (vice-president) and Mr. H. Fairlam (Ringing Master), also a fraternal message from Mr. C. D. Porter, hon. secretary of the Barnsley and District Society.

A kind invitation was received from Sherburn-in-Elmet, to hold the next quarterly meeting there in June, and this was gratefully accepted.

The retiring officials, Mr. A. E. West (Sutton-on-Hull), vice-president, and the three committeemen, Messrs. G. T. Miller (Hull), W. Gibson (Beverley) and J. Drake (Goole) were unanimously re-elected.

Six new members were made from All Saints', Pontefract, Messrs. P. Dyson, G. Dyson, W. Tate, R. Ponsoby, V. Applegate, and R. Atkinson.

Votes of thanks to the clergy for the use of the bells, and to the Vicar of All Saints' for his excellent address at the service, was responded to by the Vicar of Pontefract, who is also a ringer and a member of the association. He said the vote was superfluous, as they were only too glad to have ringers, and considered it a duty to help the association in every possible way.—The local company was also thanked for their excellent arrangements, Mr. A. Walker, senior, replying on their behalf.

This concluded the business, and members adjourned to the two towers for further ringing, thus bringing to a close another delightful and happy meeting.

TAUNTON.—At St. George's (Wilton), on March 3rd, 720 York Surprise Minor: W. Coles 1, A. Wyatt 2, A. W. Hayward 3, G. Coles 4, P. Merson 5, J. Hunt (conductor) 6. First 720 in the method by all. Rung as a compliment, on her 11th birthday, to the daughter of J. Hunt.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.

An instructive and enjoyable district meeting was held on Saturday, March 1st, at Fulbeck. It had been arranged to take place at Leadenham, but unfortunately the bells were not available owing to illness near the church. Ringers were present from Lincoln, Branston, Leadenham, and the local company. During the afternoon and evening, touches in the following methods were rung: Grandsire Doubles, Plain Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Stedman Doubles, and Cambridge Surprise Minor. Upon arriving for tea, a pleasant surprise awaited the visitors, for several members from Great Hale and Heckington, who were having a tour, had found the tearoom, and were busy attending to 'the inner man.'

The business meeting was presided over by Mr. G. Chester, of Lincoln. Three new members were elected, and it was decided to hold the next meeting, to be held at Ruskington, on June 21st.

The usual vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells, to the local ringers for the necessary arrangements, and to the caterers for providing tea, was passed.

Further ringing then took place, and brought to a close another enjoyable meeting.

GRAMOPHONE BELL RECORDS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—In reply to a recent query, I beg to say that a record of the plain course of Bob Minor on the bells at Immanuel Church, Oswaldtwistle, Lancashire, was taken on a wax barrel about 1900.

To ascertain if the full plain course could be taken on one record we first timed the machine whilst it travelled across the barrel, then rang a plain course, taking the exact time occupied, after which it was found that the above was possible.

Two impressions were taken, the first in the bell chamber, which did not prove a success, owing, I believe, to the noise being too great. The second impression was taken the same night, and the machine placed in the clock chamber about twelve feet below the bells. This impression proved a success, and the record was used several times at concerts given at the Church School and other places locally.

The gramophone was owned by Mr. Robert Sharples, one time a ringer at the above-mentioned church.

I do not know what became of the gramophone or record, as Mr. Sharples sold the gramophone shortly afterwards.—Faithfully yours,
JOHN BENTLEY.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

The pre-Lent meeting was held on Saturday, March 1st, at Winlaton. Owing to a funeral no ringing was indulged in until 3.30, after which hour the bells were kept going in various methods until tea was served at the Crown and Cannon Hotel at 5 o'clock, when 19 sat down.

A committee meeting had previously been held, presided over by the president (Mr. C. Todd). There was very little business to dispose of.

Mr. Hall brought forward a scheme for 'roping in' more honorary members, and so help the funds of the association. After discussion and a few alterations, it was decided to go on with the scheme. A circular is to be printed, and sent out to likely 'victims.'

At the business meeting five new members from Heighington, seven from Whickham, and one from St. Ignatius, Sunderland, who was elected in the belfry previous to starting for a peal, came up for confirmation, and four new honorary members were also elected (17 in all).

The association is glad to welcome the Winlaton band back to the fold.

A course of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Bob Major on handbells brought a very successful meeting to a close. An adjournment was then made to the tower for more ringing.

The towers of Newcastle Cathedral; St. John's and St. George's, Gosforth; Gateshead, St. Ignatius, Sunderland; Winlaton, Tanfield and Whitley Bay were represented.

DEATH OF MRS. MARKHAM.

Many of the old friends of the late Sir Arthur Heywood will regret to hear of the death of his eldest daughter, Mrs. Markham, which occurred at Manchester on February 25th, after a short illness.

The funeral took place at Denstone, Staffordshire, on Feb. 29th.

Mrs. Markham (better known to ringers as Miss Muriel Heywood) was for many years a member of the Midland Counties Association. Thirty years ago she was an accomplished handbell ringer, and used to take part in ringing touches of Stedman Triples, Caters and Cinques, along with her father and two younger sisters.

This is the second death among the late Sir Arthur's children, his youngest son, Capt. Arthur Percival Heywood, after being severely wounded, died in France, Sept. 28th, 1918.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

'The Ringing World' completed thirteen years of publication with our last issue.

A new Surprise Royal method was rung on Saturday at St. Martin's, Leicester, and has been named by the ringers after their own city. The figures appear on another page.

The first peal at St. Martin-in-the-Fields was rung on March 14th, 1727, by the London Scholars. This was a peal of 6,006 Grandsire Cinques. On the following day the College Youths had access to the bells, and rang a yet longer peal, viz., 6,314 Grandsire Cinques.

At Christ Church, Bristol, a 10,133 Grandsire Caters was rung in 5 hrs. 54 mins., on March 14th, 1837.

Thirty years ago to-morrow a peal of 6,720 Bob Major was brought round on handbells at Norwich.

On March 16th, 1778, a 6,240 Treble Bob Maximus was rung at St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich.

On the same day, in 1767, 10,080 Bob Major was rung at Debenham in 6 hrs. 1 min.

The first peal of Violet Treble Bob Major was accomplished at St. Peter's, Huddersfield, on March 16th, 1865.

A peal of Duffield Maximus was rung for the first time on March 17th, 1891, at St. Martin's, Birmingham.

Before starting for the peal at Bow Church, Cheapside, on Saturday last, a nice Gothic tablet was erected in the ringing chamber, the gift of Mr. Frank Dawe, recording the peal of Stedman Cinques accomplished on December 8th last.

At the finish of the peal there last Saturday, the rope of the 9th became 'unmended' whilst the bell was being lowered. Truly a close shave.

The ring of six at Much Dewchurch, Hereford, is being rehung in new fittings and ball bearings by Mr. J. E. Groves, of Birmingham, who is also adding a treble bell at Wellington, Hereford.

Ringers seeking employment in the building or motor trades should communicate with Mr. A. Trippier, The Glen, Eccles, Manchester.

THE NOMENCLATURE OF METHODS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I am directed to inform you of the following resolution, which was passed at the annual general meeting of the St. John Baptist Association, Leytonstone, on the 3rd March, 1924:—

That members of this association feel that steps should be taken by six-bell bands, to enforce a decision regarding the Nomenclature of Legitimate Minor Methods, at the coming meeting of the Central Council, and that the secretaries of those associations to which its members belong, be asked to place before their next meetings the following, viz.: To the effect that steps be taken by the C.C. representatives of such associations to do all in their power to enforce a sensible decision in this matter, and strongly to oppose the shelving of the question for another year. Also that the Editor of 'The Ringing World' be asked to publish this resolution, in the hope of co-operative action by other six-bell companies who may be interested.

Yours faithfully,

GEO. DAWSON,
Hon. Secretary.

DEVON GUILD.

The quarterly meeting of the Exeter Branch of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers was held on Saturday, March 1st, at Alphington. An enjoyable service was conducted in the Parish Church by the Rev. B. C. Bennett (Rector), who prior to the service gave an interesting outline of the many historical parts of the church. The tea and meeting were subsequently held in the Institute. Among those present were Mr. E. Shepherd (chairman of the branch), Mr. W. J. Southwood (hon. secretary and treasurer), Mr. J. C. Oke (assistant secretary), the Rev. E. V. Cox, the Rector, and 66 members, representing the following bands: St. Sidwell's, St. David's, Heavitree, Thorverton, Topsham, Newton St. Cyres, Littleham, Withycombe Raleigh, Sowton, Christow, Alphington, and Kenn. Sympathetic reference was made to the death of the Rev. F. Jones (Rector of St. Sidwell's).

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Christow on Saturday, September 20th. Eight new members were elected, including one honorary member. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Rector, the verger, and the ladies for presiding at the tea tables. Courses of Grandsire Triples were rung on the handbells by Messrs. W. Drake, F. J. Davey, E. Shepherd, and G. Betts.

After the meeting a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung on the bells at St. Thomas's: W. J. Southwood 1. E. Shepherd 2. W. Drake 3. J. C. Oke 4. A. Monkley 5. E. Sargent 6. W. Richardson 7. J. Harris 8.

THE LATE MR. WILLIAM NEWELL.

CLOSE OF A LONG RINGING CAREER.

As briefly recorded in our last issue, Mr. William Newell, of Reading, 'father' of the Reading ringers, passed away on Thursday, February 28th.

Mr. Newell was born in the little village of Brightwell, and came from the home of his father, a blacksmith, to seek fortune in Reading when still a boy. He was engaged by a former well-known licensed victualler, the late Mr. Henry Russell, of Broad Street, and after a few years he became confidential clerk to Mr. Gosling, of the Britannia Brewery, on Caversham Road. Later he went to the Mitre, West Street, where, for a quarter of a century, he prospered as brewer and licensee, retiring into private life about 27 years ago.

It was as a musician, vocalist, and campanologist that he found his wider sphere. He was a 'puller and hauler' of bells as a boy in his native village, and so far as the Reading district is concerned, it may be said that pulling and hauling comprised the whole of the local campanological exercise before Mr. Newell assisted to impart the intricacies of the art to the ringers. With the aid of such experts from Oxford as the late Charles Hounslow he introduced ringing on a higher plane, and from that time—about 1868—Mr. Newell worked as an enthusiastic teacher of campanology until a few months ago.

As an amateur musician Mr. Newell was also extremely competent and popular. He joined the old 'Reading Saxhorn Band,' which played in the Forbury during the middle years of the last century. Gifted with a pleasant tenor voice, he joined the choir of St. Mary's, Castle Street, Reading, being a chorister for 45 years. Latterly he had attended Greyfriars' Church.

Being appointed to the captaincy of St. Mary's belfry, Mr. Newell held the post for a number of years, retiring in 1870. He then organised, in imitation of the once famous 'Poland Street Hand Bell Ringers,' known throughout Europe, a band of vocalists and campanologists who enjoyed considerable popularity in Reading and the district around. They took the title of 'The Royal Berks Handbell Ringers.' Some years later he was offered the post of towerwarden of St. Laurence's, and being unable to resist the fascination of that rich peal of ten, he reverted to his first love, and remained there as conductor and teacher for 44 years.

Unfortunately there is no record of the peals which Mr. Newell rang, but he had scored a considerable number. As a lad he took part in muffled ringing for the death of the great Duke of Wellington.

A widow and a son, the Rev. E. Newell, Baptist pastor of St. Austell, Cornwall, are left to mourn their loss. An elder son, Mr. Will Newell, junr., died twenty years ago while engaged in mission work in Peru.

There was a large congregation at Greyfriars' Church, Reading, on Monday afternoon of last week, when the funeral took place. Many local ringers attended, and the three clergymen who officiated, were Rev. Canon G. F. Coleridge (Crowthorne), President of the Central Council; the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, M.C. (Caversham), Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild; and the Rev. R. H. Hart Davis (Caversham), formerly hon. secretary and treasurer of the Oxford Guild. There were many beautiful wreaths, including a magnificent floral bell, which lay upon the coffin in the church—a token of love from the family. The hymn, 'The sands of time are sinking fast' was sung, Mr. S. E. Marsh at the organ playing 'O rest in the Lord' at the close. The interment was at the cemetery.

The chief mourners were Mrs. W. Newell (widow), the Rev. Ernest J. S. Newell (son), Mrs. W. H. Newell (daughter-in-law), Miss Grace H. Newell, Miss Ruth Newell (grand-daughters), Mrs. Poore (sister), Mrs. G. Bullock (sisters-in-law), Goring, Mrs. Ernest Bullock, Mr. S. Bullock, Mrs. H. Smallbone, Goring, Mrs. Hewett, Mr. George Hamblin (brother-in-law), Plumstead, Mrs. Taylor (niece), Wallington, Mrs. Pearson (niece), Herne Hill, Miss Winter (Streatham), Mr. and Mrs. W. Butler (Wallingford), Mr. W. Phillips (Brockham), Mrs. Napper (Didcot), and Mrs. Slyfield (Bracknell). Among the many wreaths were tributes from St. Laurence ringers, and the Reading Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild.

At the conclusion of the service, a course of Grandsire Triples was rung at the graveside by four of the deceased's old ringing friends, Messrs. H. Egby, F. W. Hopgood, R. T. Hight and J. R. Mackman, and in the evening St. Laurence's bells were rung to muffled touches.

Mr. Newell had a number of interesting experiences during his long campanological career, some of which furnished the material for many a good story. Here is one: One Sunday night, many years ago, the parish clerk of St. Laurence's, Mr. George Foxell, found a black bag in a cupboard under the tower. Handled, it rattled mysteriously. At this time there was fear of dynamite plots. The parish clerk suspected the bag of harbouring an infernal machine, and told the Vicar, then the Rev. J. M. Guilding. Neither dared touch it, so called in a policeman. He refused to take risks and held solemn council with a colleague. They favoured leaving the bag where it had been found. 'Don't do that!' begged the Vicar, 'it may blow up the church.' Eventually they picked it up with a broom handle and gingerly bore the rattling thing to the police office. The officer-in-charge would not have it opened indoors, so it was removed to the yard. With a long iron bar the bag was forced open, and lo! out rolled a jangling set of handbells. They were Mr. Newell's.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

The annual meeting of the Council will be held on June 10th (Whit Tuesday) next, at Westminster. Full particulars of the meeting will be published later. Notice of any proposed motion should be sent before April 28th.

Secretaries please note that the annual subscription is now due, together with the names and addresses of representatives, and should be sent to the honorary secretary, Mr. E. Alexr. Young, of 155, Rushey Green, Catford, S.E.6.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

MEETING AT WALTHAMSTOW.

A meeting of the North and East District of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild was held at St. Saviour's, Walthamstow, on Saturday, and although the attendance was not up to the usual average in point of numbers, the quality of the ringing in no way suffered; some excellent touches in methods ranging from Grandsire Triples to London and Bristol Surprise Major being rung.

It was intended to hold a service at 5 p.m., but the Vicar asked to be excused owing to extreme pressure of work. He, however, found a few spare minutes during tea-time to give the ringers present a welcome to Walthamstow. After a very nice tea had been disposed of, a short business meeting was held, at which ten new members were elected.

It was announced that the annual general meeting of the association was to be held at Fulham on Saturday, April 26th, whilst St. Mary Magdalene, Enfield, was chosen for the next meeting of the district on the second or third Saturday in May.

The hearty thanks of the members were given to the Rev. G. H. Siddans for the use of the bells; to Mr. Bignell and friends for preparing such an excellent tea; and to Mr. H. A. Edwards for arrangements made.

Afterwards some good touches of Stedman Caters, Oxford Treble Bob and Cambridge Surprise Royal were rung at St. Mary's, Walthamstow, on a now famous peal of bells, which are a credit to the towerkeeper, 'Jimmy' Adams, who is never happier than when he is looking after their welfare. It has been said that if all towerkeepers were of his kind, bell hangers would go 'broke,' and we can quite believe it.

SURPRISE ROYAL COMPOSITIONS.

TREBLE BOB 14-IN.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Whilst I am not fully competent to judge the claims put forward by Mr. Craven and Mr. Lindoff regarding the 14 courses of Surprise Royal, containing the 6th the extent at home, I would like to point out that the reports of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild for the years 1902-3 and 1903-4 contain the figures of three compositions of New Cambridge Surprise Royal containing the qualities mentioned, and which are all stated to have been composed by Mr. Lindoff. All three compositions were rung at the Church of St. Magnus-the-Martyr, London Bridge. I enclose the figures of these peals, with the dates on which they were rung.

One is always glad to notice anything done out of the ordinary, and the three leads of Treble Bob 14 rung on handbells at Birmingham recently undoubtedly deserved all the applause it got. But the chairman was in error in saying that such a performance could not be heard anywhere else in the world. As a matter of fact, a similar touch was rung last year by seven members of the Middlesex Association at 53a. Old Town, Clapham, S.W.—Yours faithfully,

C. T. COLES.

Rung at St. Martin's, Leicester, March 8th, 1924, conducted by Harold J. Poole.

DEATH OF MR. J. FAULKNER, NETHERTON.

The death occurred on February 27th, of Mr. Joseph Faulkner, of Netherton, for the past four years leader of the band at St. Andrew's Church, and for many years well known and highly respected throughout the Exercise in the Midlands. The deceased, who was 55 years of age, was a member of the Worcestershire Association and Staffordshire Association. His loss will be greatly felt. Mr. Faulkner was a native of Witney (Oxon), where his mother still lives at the age of 96 years. Deceased leaves a widow and two sons to mourn their loss.

The funeral took place on Sunday week, and a large number of ringers attended to pay their last tribute of respect. At the graveside a course of Grand sire Triples was rung by J. Screen, J. Jaggar, A. Rowley and R. Hall, and afterwards muffled touches were rung on the bells of the Parish Church, where deceased, in addition to being a ringer, was also a sidesman.

LADIES' GUILD.

A quarterly meeting of the Southern District was held at Aldershot on Saturday, March 1st. Ringing commenced soon after three o'clock, and the bells were kept going in various methods until 4.30, when the service was held. The Rev. W. Drury gave a very interesting address on the Minarets of the East. Tea was served in the Vicarage Room, where the Vicar (the Rev. E. Garth Ireland) welcomed the visitors.

The business meeting was then held, and Miss Wise, of Old Woking, was elected a member, and Worplesdon chosen for the next meeting, in June.

The following towers were represented: Aldershot, Chertsey, Farnham, Guildford, Reading, Sandhurst, Shore and Worplesdon.

REV. H. A. COCKEY'S WIDOW.DEATH AT BATHEASTON.

Ringers in the dioceses of Gloucester and Bristol, and in Essex, will regret to learn of the death, which took place on Monday week at Batheaston of Mrs. Frances Anne Cockey, widow of the Rev. H. A. Cockey, formerly Vicar of St. Anne's, Oldland, Bristol. Mrs. Cockey was the fourth daughter of the late Canon Henry Nicholson Ellacombe, who for more than 50 years was Vicar of Bitton, Bristol. After her husband's death at Christmas, 1916, she went to reside at Batheaston. Last summer she was taken ill and never fully recovered from a serious operation which followed. Mrs. Cockey leaves three sons and one daughter. The eldest son, Mr. Charles Cockey, is a District Commissioner on the Gold Coast, and arrived home on leave about a month ago. Another son, Mr. Leonard Cockey, is at the Air Force Staff College at Andover, and the two younger children, Miss Freda and Mr. Geoffrey Cockey, lived with their mother.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A successful meeting of the Northern Division was held at Baldock on Saturday, Feb. 16th. Ringers were present from Barley, Cambridge, Hatfield, Hitchin, Graveley, Kington, Little Mundesley, Royston, and the Baldock band. A short impressive service in the Chapel was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. C. W. Alington), who gave an instructive address on 'Inscriptions on bells.'

Tea was followed by the meeting, at which the Rector was heartily voted to the chair.

The Rector was unanimously elected an honorary member, and seven ordinary members were also elected. Knebworth was selected for the summer meeting, to be held in June.

On the proposition of Mr. W. Lawrence, seconded by Mr. J. Cawdell, a hearty vote of thanks was given the Rector for presiding, and further thanks from the secretary for the use of the bells, for conducting the service, and for presiding at the organ.—The party then returned to the church for further practice.

Baldock possesses a fine 14th century spacious church of flint and Portland stone; it stands on the site of a former church, with a lofty embattled western tower, with spire containing eight musical bells; some of them are ancient. The second and third are dated 1650, the first and fourth 1685, and the fifth 1742, the latter being recast in 1898.

The peal boards contain the names of some eminent ringers, including the Revs. Coleridge, Wigram and Robinson. There is a remarkably fine rood screen dating from 1480, extending across the whole width of the nave and aisles. The chancel and chapels are in the Perpendicular style.

PRESENTATION AT LLANDAFF CATHEDRAL.

In the belfry at Llandaff Cathedral on February 12th, a presentation was made to Mr. John H. Aldridge (late captain and secretary) of an association certificate, suitably framed and inscribed: 'Presented to Mr. J. H. Aldridge by the members of the Llandaff Cathedral Bell Ringers as a mark of appreciation of his 27 years' service, and to record his appointment of vergier to the Cathedral and his Mastership of the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association of Change Ringers, 12th January, 1924.'

Mr. Sidney Dawe, in presenting the gift, expressed the gratitude of the ringers to Mr. Aldridge for his valuable services, and said that although his duties entailed his resignation as a member of the band, a cordial invitation to the tower was extended to him whenever he has time at his disposal.

Mr. J. W. Jones (Newport), the association secretary, spoke of the sterling qualities of Mr. Aldridge as a ringer, and said it gave him great pleasure to attend that evening.

Mr. Aldridge, in acknowledging the gift, thanked the ringers for their kindness, and said he would certainly avail himself of the invitation to the tower. His happy associations with the ringers would live in his memory.

The visitors included Mr. Fred Chamberlain and Mr. G. Large, of St. John's, Cardiff. Touches of Bob Royal and Stedman were indulged in, and an enjoyable evening was spent.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD. BIG MEETING AT DEVIZES.

A quarterly meeting of the Devizes Branch was held at Devizes on Saturday, March 1st. The bells of St. John's, St. Mary's and St. James's were available for ringing during the afternoon and evening. The usual Guild service was held in St. John's Church, conducted by the Rector (the Rev. A. H. T. Clarke). A hountiful tea was provided in St. John's Parish Room, to which 74 sat down. The tea was kindly given by the late hon. secretary and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. H. Brownlee-West, as this date, March 1st, was the eve of the 57th anniversary of their wedding day. Among those present at the service and tea were Mr. H. Brownlee-West and Miss West (to the regret of everyone present, Mrs. Brownlee-West was unable to attend, owing to a slight attack of bronchitis), Rev. A. H. T. Clarke, Rev. Canon F. Phipps, Rev. H. C. B. Lethbridge, Rev. R. S. B. Proby (Rector of Hilpertion), Mr. J. J. Slade (churchwarden, St. John's), Mr. H. H. Baker (organist, St. John's), and ringing representatives from Trowbridge, Bradford-on-Avon (Christ Church and Holy Trinity), Warminster, Bratton, Erlestoke, Market Lavington, Hilpertion, Patney, Rowde, Erchfont, Keevil, Bromham, Holt, Midsomer Norton, Croydon, Devizes (St. John's, St. Mary's and St. James's), Southbroom.

After tea, the Branch Chairman (Mr. C. D. Heginbotham) gave the ringers a hearty welcome to Devizes. Mr. Heginbotham briefly spoke of the position the branch held in the Salisbury Guild, and attributed much of this success achieved to the solid groundwork laid by Mr. Brownlee-West during the nine years he was branch secretary.

One new life ringing member and five ringing members were elected, and the next three meetings were fixed as follows: At Steeple Ashton in April; West Lavington in May; and Warminster in June.

The Rev. R. S. B. Proby, of Hilpertion, having made a few interesting remarks, Mr. S. J. Hector, Ringing Master, gave the younger ringers some useful advice.

Mr. Brownlee-West thanked those present for their good wishes for Mrs. Brownlee-West and himself, and assured them all it was a very great pleasure to him to see them again.—The Rector of Devizes made an amusing speech, and the hearty singing of Auld Lang Syne brought a very pleasant meeting to a close.

The ringers then returned to the towers for more ringing. Touches of Bob Major, Stedman and Grandsire Triples and Doubles, Little Bob and Plain Bob Minor were rung during the afternoon and evening.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

NORTH BUCKS BRANCH AND ANNUAL FESTIVAL.

A quarterly meeting of the North Bucks Branch was held at Stony Stratford on March 1st, when a fairly representative gathering attended, representing the following towers: Bletchley, Beachampton, Calverton, Penny Stratford, Newport Pagnell, Old Bladwell, Shenley, and the local ringers. After service, tea was provided in the Parish Room by the Rector (the Rev. H. Last). The usual business meeting followed.—The Secretary (Mr. W. Sear) said he thought it would be an opportune time to discuss the question of the annual festival being held at Oxford every year. He said he regretted to see the somewhat drastic measures that had been taken in the other part of the county, together with the controversy that was existing, which was not good for the future welfare of the Oxford Guild. He hoped that some amicable settlement would be arrived at satisfactory to all members. He wished to be quite open on the matter, but he thought they had to review the position from how the North Bucks Branch looked upon the place of meeting for the annual festival. To reach Oxford meant travelling a distance of about 30 miles, which distance would not be exceeded by many other parts of the Guild. If, however, it was decided to take the annual festival to South Bucks or Bucks travelling difficulties would deprive them of the privilege of attending each year. In putting forward the proposition that the festival still be held at Oxford, it was not a selfish proposal, but one that he thought was a right one, to enable North Bucks to keep in touch with the Oxford Guild each year instead of possibly only one year in three.

A vote was taken, and it was unanimously decided to support the motion that the annual festival be held at Oxford.

The usual votes of thanks were expressed to those who had made the necessary arrangements, and suitably responded to.

A further visit to the tower brought an enjoyable meeting to a close. The methods rung during the afternoon and evening were Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major and Double Norwich.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION. CANTERBURY DISTRICT.

The annual meeting of the Canterbury District was held at St. Stephen's, Hackington, Canterbury, on Saturday, March 1st. This meeting is becoming more popular every year, owing to the rapid strides in change ringing which are being made by the different hands in the district, and the interest which is being shown by the clergy of various parishes, who are beginning to recognise ringers as a most important body of church workers. The bells of St. Stephen's were available throughout the afternoon and evening, and the Cathedral from 7 until 8 o'clock, well struck touches of Grandsire Stedman, Treble Bob and Bob Major being rung. At Divine service the Association form was used, and an address given by the Rector (the Rev. C. Stonehouse), his subject being 'Bell ringers as church workers, and their responsibilities as such.' Mr. Basil Cockersell presided at the organ.

Tea was held in the Church Room, provided by Mr. F. Wilson. The Rector presided, supported by the hon. general secretary (the Rev. F. J. O. Helmore), Mr. C. Sanderson (churchwarden), the district secretary (Mr. E. G. Buesden), and representatives (Messrs. Brett and Millway), also Miss R. Thomas, of Mersham. Towers represented were Canterbury, Dover, Lyminge, Elham, Littlebourne, Wickhambreux, Wingham, St. Nicholas-at-Wade, St. Lawrence, Folkestone, Brabourne and Mersham.

Mr. E. G. Buesden was again re-elected district secretary, on the proposition of Mr. Castle (Elham), seconded by Mr. E. Highwood. Mr. C. Millway and Mr. C. Brett were re-elected representatives.—Meetings were arranged as follows: Summer meeting, in June, Wingham; July, St. Nicholas-at-Wade; autumn, St. Lawrence; annual (1925), Canterbury.

The following towers were added to the association list: Wingham, Chillham, Lyminge and St. Nicholas-at-Wade. The following hon. members were accepted: The Rev. George Kennedy Allen Bell, the new Dean of Canterbury; Rev. H. E. Trimner (St. Nicholas'), and Mr. C. J. Elgar (Wingham). Four members of Birchington, 14 of St. Nicholas-at-Wade, three of Goodnestone, one of Wingham and two from Lyminge, were elected full members of the association.

Mr. Millway proposed a very hearty vote of thanks to the Rector and churchwardens for the use of the bells, and a hearty vote of thanks was also accorded to Mr. B. Cockersell, who so ably presided at the organ.

AN ANCIENT BELL.

A VENERABLE SUSSEX POSSESSION.

Lewes, the county town of Sussex, contains some very ancient churches, in which are to be found several pre-Reformation bells. Probably the oldest bell of all, however, of which the town can boast, is not now hung in a church, and has found a home in the market tower. This bell, known locally as 'Old Gabriel,' has a long history, and hangs in lonely state, rung only on 'great' occasions, the last being the declaration of peace and the marriage of Princess Mary. But formerly this ancient bell hung in the tower of the vanished Church of S. Nicholas, which was situated on the north side of the High Street. This was subsequent to the year 1319. The church fell into so dilapidated a condition that it was popularly known as the 'Broken Church'; but it remained in existence until 1761. The bell occupied the upper part of the tower; the lower part was used as a blacksmith's shop.

In the Town Book of 1690 is an entry which states that an agreement was entered into with Thomas Barrett, of Lewes, 'an eminent clock maker,' by which he was to have twenty shillings for mending the clock 'to be paid to him as soon as he hath mended him Also he is to have four pounds paid to him yearly for ringing the bell at four in the morning and eight at night.' From this it is to be gathered that 'Old Gabriel' was used as the curfew bell of Lewes.

Little or nothing is known of the history of the bell for another hundred years, but in 1760 it announced the death of George II. After that date it was silent until 1791, when a public subscription was opened for the purpose of erecting a tower in which to place the old clock and bell. In less than a month the sum of £500 was received, of which amount Mr. William Plummer, of Gilstone Park, Hertfordshire (the first M.P. for Lewes), subscribed £300, and the Hon. Henry Pelham, M.P. (Lewes), and Mr. Thomas Kemp (the founder of Kemp Town, Brighton) each £100.

About the same time (September, 1791) Lord Hampden, of Glynde, conveyed a plot of land to the town of Lewes for the purposes of a market and to provide a site for the tower in which the clock and town bell were to be housed. In the following April complaint was made that the tower could not be completed on account of the difficulty in obtaining bricks, the kilns for ten miles round Lewes being occupied in providing bricks for other buildings in the town and neighbourhood. The difficulty was overcome in a few months, and in October, 1792, Old Gabriel was safely hung in the new tower, where he soon after proudly proclaimed his own exaltation and excellence in tones not to be equalled by any bells of more modern foundries.

Until the rehanging no record seems to have been made of the weight of the bell. Before it was placed in its new home the weight was taken and found to be 17 cwt. 3 quarters 2½ lb. Its value, from the silver it contained, says a chronicler, was estimated at two shillings the pound.

For some reason not known the old town clock was not re-erected in the tower, as was originally intended, but was sold with the old market house and the public whipping post for £23. The loss of the old timekeeper of Lewes was deplored by the inhabitants of the town, who declared that the new clock was 'not of sufficient use, even to tell the hour of the day, for Old Gabriel is so closely environed that at some points he can scarcely be heard beyond the eaves of the neighbouring garrets.'

Little is known of the history of the 'Broken Church' of St. Nicholas, the tower of which was Old Gabriel's original home, but in the 34th year of Elizabeth (1592) the Queen granted among other hereditaments in Sussex (and other counties) to William Tipper and Robert Dawe, of London, gentlemen, to hold of the manor of East Greenwich in free and common socage 'All that the late chapel or church of S. Nicholas decayed and ruined, commonly called the "Broken Church," now converted into a tenement situate and lying in the town of Lewes in the county of Sussex, at the annual rent of 8d.' 'Old Gabriel's' historian in the Sussex Archaeological Society's 'Collection,' adds that the constables of the borough appear to have had possession of this site before the grant to Tipper and Dawe, for in the Town Book in 1571 it is stated that 'this year the Constables and Fellowships leased for twenty-one years a piece of waste ground with the walls of the "Broken Church" at the yearly rent of three shillings and fourpence towards the defrayment of the town charges. After the year 1592 the "Broken Church" seems to have been held by the borough officials.'

Lewes possesses one peal of ringable bells, the ten at Southover, and it is interesting to note that there is to-day prominently connected with them a Robert Dawe.

BELLS, CARILLONS, CLOCK S.

THE PROGRESS OF SURPRISE ROYAL

Gradually by the ingenuity of composers and the enterprise of individual bands, the scope of ringing is being extended, and to the limited class of Surprise Royal methods, in which peals have been accomplished, we now have to add 'Leicester,' which has just been produced and rung for the first time in the city from which it takes its name. Writing from memory, we believe that the total number of Surprise Royal methods which have been rung is only nine. Ten-bell Surprise methods were first practised about a hundred years ago at Huddersfield and Wakefield, and then, so far as any history is preserved to us, there came a long break, during which this class of ringing was entirely neglected, for we have to come down to the year 1898 before we find Surprise Royal ringing taken up again, a peal of Cambridge Ten at Cheltenham setting the modern fashion.

The 'Clavis,' in which was published the methods of London, Cambridge and Superlative Surprise Major, stopped in the section on Royal methods at Oxford Treble Bob, with the remark, 'we here take leave of changes on ten bells entirely, as no practitioner can expect us to launch into so much extravagance as to give cramp for Surprise peals on so great a number, there being so very little probability of their being practised.' Authors who could invent a method like Superlative would no doubt have had the ability to provide ten-bell extensions, indeed they refer to rules by which they may be produced from Minor, but it is quite certain that in those days the actual practice of ten-bell Surprise methods was looked upon as beyond the capability of ringers.

When Shipway came on the scene he produced, 'for the speculation of the curious,' Superlative Surprise Royal, and included it in his 'Art of Ringing.' But he had a greater foresight as to the future of ringing than had the authors of the 'Clavis' for he added, 'if at any time there should be found a set of ingenious men, bold enough to attempt such difficult methods on ten or twelve bells, I have no doubt that they would be enabled to produce, if desired, more than is here inserted.' Shipway's prophecy very soon came true, for what he put forward as a possibility in 1816 became a reality within six years, for Cambridge Royal was rung in 1822.

Modern knowledge has enabled composers to provide the Exercise with many more and better methods than the two to which the pioneers of a century ago confined their attention, but comparatively few bands are to be found who practise Surprise ringing on ten bells. The difficulties in the way of ringing these advanced methods, are, of course, very great. A ringer has to be above average ability to be accounted 'safe' when taking part in a peal of Surprise Royal, and it is not easy to get a whole band of men up to this level. At the same time, we think there might be a wider practice of ten-bell Surprise methods than at present obtains, and the example of bands like that at Leicester will, we hope, be emulated in many ten-bell towers.

THE CRITICISMS OF CRITICUS.

OUR CONTRIBUTOR DISCUSSES A VARIETY OF TOPICS.

At last someone seems to be trying to get a move on, but I am not quite sure which way they are going to move, or how far they propose to move. With all my doubts, however, I read with pleasure that the Leytonstone ringers want to get something done about the Minor method names, and I assume that, having taken the initiative they will see that the subject is properly brought before the Central Council. As their resolution speaks of enforcing a 'sensible decision,' I imagine I am right in supposing that they want to get rid of the 'nonsense' from method nomenclature. Personally I should have liked to see their resolution a little more definitely worded, for—horrible thought—suppose they don't mean what I and others, think they mean! But, there, what else can they have in mind except those charming titles like Geranium Treble Bob, Easter Sunday Morning Pleasure and Turkish Delight? For the two latter, I am aware, the Council's Committee are not the sponsors, but they are the 'fathers' of something equally ridiculous, and as the pointed leading article in last week's issue, commented, these are names that must be changed.

But why did the Leytonstone Association make their appeal only to six-bell bands. In my opinion, which may not count for much, the whole Exercise ought to be up in arms against this style of thing. Everyone realised that 'Wait and see,' as applied to a very select method was only the author's little joke, and the name disappeared when the first peal was rung, but some of those Minor methods, by the art of propagation, can be grown into Major plants, which by intensive culture might reach Royal dimensions even if they do not touch the Maximus of development; and when this is possible—well, eight, ten and twelve bell ringers are equally concerned with the subject, for have we not seen in the past how desperately earnest our experts are to fix the name of the infant upon a method throughout all the stages of its extension? Had it not been for the attitude the committee took up last year many people would almost have imagined they were trying to introduce a spirit of humour into their task of finding titles for the unnamed. But they were serious, dead serious, and in equally serious vein this subject has got to be tackled at the first opportunity.

The suggestion that a peal of bells should be provided at the British Empire Exhibition, in order to interest overseas visitors in these instruments, and incidentally, I suppose, in the art of ringing, is quite a good one, but surely the suggestion has come rather late in the day. Moreover, I imagine, that even if a peal could be erected, there would be few facilities for ringing on them. I have no knowledge as to whether either of our firms of founders is to be represented by an exhibit, but to put up a peal in ringable condition would now be almost out of the question. Such a scheme would have needed planning long ago. If it were to be of use, from a campanological point of view, arrangements would have been necessary for a daily display of ringing, but, facing the thing squarely, one has to admit that the likelihood of the exhibition authorities permitting this, except perhaps to the extent of a very few minutes, is most unlikely. To think that any Tom, Dick or Harry and his band would have access to the bells is out of all question. But discussion of the possibility of ringable bells at the Wembley Exhibition is, I fancy, quite useless at this time of day. One can recall, however, that a ring of bells (hung in a wooden staging for chiming only) was used at the Festival of Empire at the Crystal Palace in 1911, and an octave, with frame and fittings complete, figured in the great exhibition in London in 1881. If I remember aright the former bells are now at Oatlands Church, Surrey, and the latter were purchased for some country church in Sussex.

Having been an occasional visitor to the tower of St. Peter's, Brighton—and how many hundreds of ringers have found their way to this splendidly appointed belfry, I wonder?—I was interested to read of the peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major rung a week or two ago, and the 'Belfry Gossip' note in connection therewith. The panels which adorn the walls in St. Peter's, contain records of many 'firsts in the method' in the county, and some commemorating the 'first ever.' Bristol Surprise was rung there for the first time, and, I fancy, Gloucester, Norfolk and Oxford Surprise, as well as one, which never seems to be heard of in these days, and, of which, I believe, Henry Dains was the proud author, Champion Surprise. I have been told that about two courses of this—or was it three?—made a peal. But maybe my informant was pulling my leg! Perhaps it was the wearying length of the course that caused weariness to the ringers, and so the method has slipped into the limbo of forgotten things. But those who remember ringing matters of twenty-five to thirty years ago will recall the great achievements by St. Peter's Society, for those were the days when a peal in a new method was really a memorable performance.

The competition among ringers in London for the use of the twelve-bell towers has always been pretty keen, but things must almost have reached a climax when we hear of one tower booked up for twelve months ahead! There are eight rings of twelve in London, but the facilities at six of them are now greatly curtailed. Peals at St. Paul's Cathedral are few and far between; indeed, an average of one peal in about eight or ten years seems to be the limit, although, of course, there are other attempts, but in any case the bells are the sacred preserve of the Ancient Society. St. Bride's, Fleet Street, is a 'closed' tower so far as peals are concerned, and I think it may be said that, temporarily at any rate, Cornhill is the same. St. Martin's and Shoreditch appear to be available only very occasionally, and then 'for Cumberlanis only,' while Cripplegate, which used to offer opportunities for all and sundry, within reason, seems now to be 'on the shelf.' Bow and Southwark are all that remain, and I trust that the scramble for these bells between the active London Societies may not end in 'putting up the shutters.' Peals were overdone at Cornhill—and the inevitable happened. Sympathetic as the authorities at Cheapside and Southwark may be, there is danger in too much peal ringing in towers such as these, although it is, perhaps, useless to counsel restraint.

Two hundred years ago two peals in a couple of days at St. Martin-in-the-Fields may have been quite all right, but two peals in a month on any one of these big rings of bells in the heart of a great city may, in this twentieth century, eventually bring down a ban on the whole category of peal ringing. Individual bands may be quite reasonable in their demands, but it is the concentrated energies of several societies which cause the trouble. And then there is another phase. With practically only two twelve bell towers available, there is poor chance for anyone, outside the specially favoured companies, getting a twelve-bell peal in London, and if we go on at this rate we may expect Southwark and Bow to be booked up to eternity by the select circles who have the ear of the authorities. The end is hardly likely to be to the general advantage of ringing. What I would suggest is that the authorities should refuse to receive applications for the bells more than three months ahead, and that when received should be dealt with with due regard to the use of the bells which the society has previously had.

Prittlewell ringers set an excellent example the other day in giving away to needy towers two sets of disused but serviceable ropes. I have not yet seen any response to the hint thrown out in the column of 'Belfry Gossip' that other bands with superfluous ropes might follow the example of the Prittlewell men. As a rule, bell ropes are generally pretty well (this is not a pun, so save your half-bricks and mated eggs for someone else, please, gentle reader) worn out by the time they are discarded, for ropes are often one of the last things which church authorities seem to think are needed in the belfry. However, there are some towers more fortunately placed and ropes are forthcoming upon demand. It may be that the action taken by Prittlewell had not occurred to these other happy bands, but doubtless they will bear it in mind in future.

I have not held up the example of Prittlewell for nothing. I am proposing to apply for the next set of ropes that is to be given away, if, in the meantime, I am successful in finding some tower which has a peal of bells to dispose of, merely for the cost of carriage. I know a parish church, where the belfry equipment consists of one bell (cracked), and if any wealthy place is thinking of disposing of its present ring of bells in order to provide a new one, this little parish will be glad to receive them, and no inquiries will be made as to whether they are Simpson tuned or otherwise. I hardly expect to be embarrassed with offers, but if any are forthcoming—well, a letter addressed to me, c/o the Editor, is certain to reach me. And, by-the-by, if someone will turn out their old bells, I know of another tower where it might be possible to turn out some of the old Bills, if anybody wants them. For forty years they have rung the 'old ten,' and they 'don't want any of this 'ere other scientific stuff.' 'Old ten's always been rung in this tower, an' it's good enough for we,' they say. Now who wants a ready-made band in exchange for some ready-made bells?

* Call tenor 5th's B 7th's H.

Yours truly,

GEORGE E. SYMONDS.

HONI SOIT QUI MAL Y PENSE.

'PEPPERY' ACKNOWLEDGES HIS COAT OF ARMS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I must ask you to accept my thanks, nay, I should say, almost futile efforts to express my gratitude, to you for the trouble you have taken in forwarding to me the package from the 'College of Herald's' containing my apparently numerous heraldic devices, coats of arms, etc. I really was touched to see with what tender solicitude and meticulous care my, unfortunately unknown, admirer had executed this glorious work of art. When I did point out to Goode Mistress Peppery that only an artist of merit, used only to truly great work, had been engaged on this, which was, no doubt, his triumph, I was abased when ye goode Dame did opine that great work was his forte, such as painting the stripes in bacon or the wrinkles on pantomime elephants. But, there, 'twas ever thus. This virtue, like all others, must be its own reward. So I hastened to assure her that he has one consolation, if such it be—he has the unstinted thanks and praise of the recipient of his munificence, and I did adjure ye best of that ilk:—

An ye love me, beste of Spouses, call me early on the day;
Saint Maturin would pull my wishbone at his feast down Hillsborough way.

First—Potage au rusty anchors; Entrees garnie de five tone peals, Poisson? Whelks au Peppers Roti; joint a slice of good cow heel.
Washed well down with vin de nut brown, then we'll know how sublime it feels,

To be entertained by witty Maturin with epigrams on rubber heels.
Shall I want my silken doublet? No, nor yet a velvet snod;
Trim my sackcloth robe with cockles, see to it my staff's well shod,
Caparison my noble charger!! No—unchain my rubber bus;
Pilgrims travel meek and lowly and Hallam folk don't like a fuss,
To what Saint do I pay homage? No—'tis not Saint Barleycorn;
Tho' I might just quaff one horn of bitter, as guerdon of a pilgrim worn,

And I'll not want Granfer's hautboy for music on the festal morn;
I'll play 'the Deil amang the Cutlers' on my little inkfille horn,

Friar Pistor'll shrive me—he loves such music;

I've made my will and spiked my guns;

Bequeathed to thee, O patient Editor,

Is all that's left: when morning comes

You'll find shipwrecked 'neath Maturin's table,

My merrie thought amid the crumbs.

Your grateful Thane, 'PEPPERY.'

A RIDDLE.

The following quaint verses, headed 'A Riddle,' appear in the peal book of John New, who was an active ringer in Surrey a hundred years ago:—

Bred in the Womb of Mother Earth,
Unseen by Mortal Eyes,
All nature ripens to the birth
And then I upwards rise.

I take a Run, on Earth below,
Can Stand, yet have no feet;
I take a Round you cannot go
And then I mount my height.

When tow'ring aloft I fly,
And beat the gentle air;
Protected from th' inclement sky,
Yet all its storms can bear.

When Mortals are involv'd in Ills
I Sing with mournful voice;
If Mirth their Hearts with Gladness fills
I celebrate their joys.

I like the glorious sun above,
Who rounds the Globe with light,
In Motion circular do move,
Have beams, tho' not so bright.

I headstrong and unruly Grow,
If left into my Will,
Which often proves my Overthrow
And sometimes other's Skill.

I, like the Moon in Clouded Air,
Around i' the dark do ran;
Like her, my Movements regular,
Like her, am given to change.

And as the lark, with warbling throat
Ascends upon the Wing,
So I lift up my Cheerful Note,
And as I Mount, I Sing.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

It has now been finally arranged for the Central Council to have the use of the historic Jerusalem Chamber at Westminster Abbey for its meeting on Whit Tuesday next.

Mr. E. Alexr. Young, hon. secretary of the Central Council, has been incapacitated for nearly a month, suffering from bronchitis, following influenza. We are glad to be able to state, however, that he has now much improved.

There is a quaint footnote to a peal of Grandsire Triples, rung by the Union Youths of Newport, Isle of Wight, on March 20th, 1774, viz.: 'The first ever rung in the Isle of Wight. In this peal there is a repeat, though it runs the extent.'

Any ringers, especially handbell ringers, who are in or near Toronto, Canada, are invited to get into touch with Mr. C. F. White, Birch Cliff, P.O., near Toronto.

It is hoped, in a few weeks, to rehang the five bells at Tackley, Oxfordshire, and add a new treble.

Mr. C. Sharples, hon. secretary of the Fylde Branch of the Lancashire Association, will be pleased to arrange peal attempts in the Blackpool district for visitors during the Easter holidays. Mr. Sharples' address is 3, Rutland Gate, Blackpool.

One hundred and ninety years to-morrow a peal of 6,876 Grandsire Caters was rung at New College, Oxford, where on March 27th, 1815, 10,008 in the same method was rung.

The Royal Cumberland Youths rung a peal of 7,104 Treble Bob Maximus in 5 hrs. 30 mins. at Southwark on March 22nd, 1802.

On March 23rd, 1837, Elijah Roberts 'tapped' his famous peal of 19,440.

A peal of 6,048 Albion Surprise was rung at Liversedge on March 24th, 1837.

A record which stood for 130 years was set up on March 27th, 1784, when the Royal Cumberland Youths rang 12,000 Treble Bob Royal at Shoreditch. This peal was not unsurpassed until the year 1914, when a band at Ashton-under-Lyne rang a longer length by 2,000 changes.

The rivalry which existed between the Cumberland Youths and College Youths, in those far-off days, is exemplified by the following lines, written by one John Tichborne, and preserved in the Osborne MSS. in the British Museum:

'Come ringers all, and view this church, within the steeple-door,
Twelve thousand Oxford Treble Bob was rung in eighty-four,
In hours nine and minutes five, the Cumberlands did compleat,
And on the twenty-seventh day of March the College Youths they beat.

Success unto the Cumberlands wherever they do go,
That they may always have success to beat their haughty foe!

Another interesting anniversary that occurs on March 27th is that of the first peal of Superlative Surprise Royal, which, composed by Joseph Tebbs, of Leeds, was rung at Wakefield, Yorks, in 1826, 'nobly conducted by Mr. William Woodhead.'

The peal at Wyrardisbury, Bucks, on Feb. 23rd was R. A. Fardon's first peal of Double Norwich, and not W. E. Judd's. The ringer of the 5th was James R. Mackman.

His many friends throughout the Exerciss will learn with regret that Mr. William Rock Small, of Tipton, the 'Black Country' veteran, is seriously ill. Mr. Small has reached the advanced age of 84 years.

'Real Double Twelve In' was a method which the College Youths practised a good deal a hundred and forty years ago. In fact, they rang two peals in three days in 1784. The first of these was 5,160 at St. Bride's on March 24th, and 6,048 at St. Saviour's, Southwark, on March 26th. The peal at St. Bride's is recorded as 'the first true peal ever rung in the above method on any number of bells.'

An old and respected member of the Lancashire Association has passed away, in the person of Mr. James Allred, of Tyldesley. For 45 years he gave faithful service at the Parish Church as ringer and conductor.

Members of the Devon Guild will learn with regret of the illness of Mr. Harry Payne, of Huntsham, and will wish him a speedy recovery. Mr. Payne was one of the first members of the Guild, and did a lot of spadework with Colonel Troyte.

Mr. E. C. Gobey writes to point out that the Ilkeston Variation of Spliced Treble Bob is not the same as Hudson's 'New Light.'

At the meeting of the Canterbury District of the Kent Association the vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells, etc., was proposed by Mr. W. E. Pitman, Mus.Bac., and not by Mr. Millway, as mentioned in the report. Mr. F. G. Brett was elected district representative.

Mr. A. Symonds desires to return heartfelt thanks for all the kind expressions of sympathy shown him in his recent bereavement.

ST. PETER MANCROFT BELLS.

RESTORATION OF FAMOUS PEAL.

The accompanying picture shows the removal of the bells of St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich, which are to undergo rehanging by Messrs. Taylor & Co., of Loughborough. The restoration of an historic ring is always a noteworthy event, and is of especial interest in the case of this fine old Norwich peal. The photograph was taken last week by Mr. G. P. Burton. In the foreground are the 9th (marked with a cross) and 10th bells, while the 11th is seen in the background beyond and beneath the suspended tenor. The smaller bell to the right of the 11th is the 5th of the ring of 12.

REMOVING THE BELLS FROM THE TOWER.

The bells of St. Peter Mancroft have a wonderful history, and a remarkable interest for ringers. It was here that the first true peal of Triples was rung on May 2nd, 1715.

Here was rung by the ringers call'd Norwich Scholars that most incomparable Peal called Grandsire Bob Triples, it being the 3d whole Peal that they have rung, but the first whole peal that ever was rung to the truth by any ringers whatever.

This was followed by the first peal of Grandsire Triples, in and the first peal of Stedman Triples on October 25th, 1731. During this time there were eight bells in the steeple. Originally, in the fifteenth century there were five, increased to six in 1602, by a treble cast by William Brend, a Norwich Bell Founder. In 1675-6 they were made into an octave.

'In 1736 this ring was made a peal of ten by an addition of two bells subscrib'd for by Gentlemen in ye Parish,' says an old record, and in the following year, on March 8th to be exact, a peal of Grandsire Calers was rung 'which for excellency of its ringing, Harmonious changes, and ye number of them was certainly superior to anything of its kind ever done in the World; an to Remove all doubt of the truth of the performance several ingenious Ringers were abroad the whole time with proper rules to prove if certainty of ye same. Thus was this great peal perfectly completed, to the entire satisfaction, surprise and amazement of thousands of hearers in the space of 8 hours 15 minutes. The number of changes were 12,600, rung by nine men belonging to the steeple; the tenor singly by a young ringer 8,000, then a second rang her to the end of the peal. The persons names and the bells they rung were as follows: Tho Melchior treble, Wm. Pettingall 2, John Gardiner 3, Tho Barrett 4, Robert Crane 5, Wm. Porter 6, Tho Blofield 7, Edwd. Crane 8, Christ. Booty 9, James Jerom, Robt. Liddaman tenor.'

Nearly forty years later it was decided to replace the old bells by a new peal of twelve, and the present ring was the result, the tenor having been recast in 1814. On March 16th, 1778, a peal of 6,240 Treble Bob Maximus, in 5 hrs. 22 mins., and among subsequent famous peals was a peal of Norwich Court Bob Maximus in 1817, and 7,126 Stedman Cinques in 5 hrs. 17 mins. In this latter peal, conducted by James Truman, Charles Middleton and Henry Hubbard, took part.

Samuel Thurston, who did so much to make and maintain Norwich as one of the chief centres of ringing, had died three years before, and his memorial is to be seen on the wall to the left of the accompanying photograph. The memorial is inscribed as follows:—

THIS STONE IS ERECTED

ON THE 9TH OF JANUARY, 1841,

IN THE 52ND YEAR OF HIS AGE.

Samuel Thurston was born in Norwich in 1789, and rang his first peal (Bob Major) at St. Giles', in 1813. He joined the St. Peter Mancroft Society in 1814. In 1817 he rang in a peal of Norwich Court Bob Maximus, and in 1825 was presented with a silver gilt jewel by the 'United Ringers of St. Peter Mancroft for his eminent services in composing the peal of Norwich Court Twelve-In, and ringing the tenor in Superior Style.' Thurston conducted the first peal of London Surprise Major ever rung. This was at St. Andrew's, Norwich, in the year 1835.

SURPRISE ROYAL COMPOSITIONS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In view of the compositions sent you, per Mr. C. T. Coles, composed by Mr. Lindoff, I would like to say that the peals of Princess Mary and New Cambridge, rung at St. Martin's last year, and reported as having been composed by Mr. Craven, should have been published as being composed by Mr. Lindoff, unless, of course, Mr. Craven can claim publication earlier than 1903, as the compositions we ran are the same as those given by Mr. Coles. Will the hon. secretary Midland Counties Association kindly note? — Yours truly,

J. H. DEXTER.

BARNSELY AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

FORTHCOMING SIX-BELL CONTEST.

The monthly meeting was held at South Kirby on Saturday, Mar. 8th. Ringers were present from Barnsley, Crofton, Badsworth, Hoylandswaine, Horbury, Darfield, Royston, Felkirk, Sandal, Wath, Wragby, together with members of the local band. The bells were ringing early in the afternoon in many Minor methods, with good results. As tea-time approached batches of eight in number adjourned to the Rose and Crown, when Host and Hostess Tait provided for all in turn and good style. They also placed rooms apart for the meeting, singing and handbell ringing. Mr. Thickett (president) occupied the chair at the business meeting, and expressed great pleasure in having such a good number round him.

The chief items for discussion were the forthcoming cup contest for six-bell Ringers at Hoylandswaine; this event is likely to be very interesting. Six companies have entered, and several more are probable, while several names of repute were given as likely judges, etc. Darfield bells, it was mentioned, are soon to come under the hands of a reputed firm for restoration.

Crofton was selected for the next place of meeting, which will be jointly held with the Doncaster and District Association on the second Saturday in April.

A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar, churchwardens, and local ringers.

THE BELLS OF ST. MARGARET, LYNN.

By J. R. Jerram.

The number of bells at St. Margaret's, Lynn, previous in 1663 is uncertain; but Mr. L'Estrange, in his Church Bells of Norfolk, 1874, says: 'Mackerell tells us that the great bell was called the Margaret, and was for her curious sound one of the finest, and might be heard (the wind favouring, as I have been assur'd) full ten miles distant. Others has likewise their distinct names, as the Trinity, the St. Thomas, &c., so christened, I suppose, as was usual before the Reformation. But the biggest and least of these was purposely broken, and with some addition cast into others, to make a Ring of Eight, which was effected in the year 1663, as they remain to this day.'

He also tells us that the 4th bell was new cast in 1627 by Draper, of Thetford, yet in 1673 the two great bells were called the Margaret and Thomas, as appears from the churchwardens' account for that year.

In 1766 these bells were recast into a new peal of eight by Lester and Pack, of the Whitechapel Foundry, who also recast the bells of St. Nicholas into a peal of eight at the same time.

The present peal at St. Margaret's consists of ten bells, tenor 55½ in diameter, 30 cwt. The two trebles are 'Jubilee' bells, added in 1887 to Lester and Pack's peal of eight. The inscriptions are as follows:—

- Treble.* ALBERT. THIS BELL WAS GIVEN BY ME, EMMA RODWELL BURKITT, MAYORESS, IN HONOUR OF QUEEN VICTORIA'S JUBILEE, JUNE 20, 1887. R. DALE, VICAR; WILLIAM BURKITT, CHARLES AYRE, CHURCHWARDENS; MEARS & STAINBANK, FOUNDERS, LONDON.
- Second.* VICTORIA. THIS BELL WAS GIVEN BY ME, WILLIAM BURKITT, MAYOR, IN HONOUR OF QUEEN VICTORIA'S JUBILEE, JUNE 20, 1887. (Names of vicar, churchwardens, and founders, as on the treble.)
- Third.* PEACE AND GOOD NEIGHBOURHOOD. LESTER & PACK, OF LONDON, FECIT, 1766.
- Fourth.* MUSIC IS MEDICINE TO THE MIND. LESTER & PACK, OF LONDON, FECIT, 1766.
- Fifth.* OUR VOICES SHALL WITH JOYFUL SOUND MAKE HILLS AND VALLEYS ECHO ROUND. LESTER & PACK, OF LONDON, FECIT, 1766.
- Sixth.* LESTER & PACK, OF LONDON, FECIT, 1766.
- Seventh.* HONOUR BOTH TO GOD AND KING OUR VOICES SHALL IN CONSORT RING. LESTER & PACK, OF LONDON, FECIT, 1766.
- Eight.* YE RINGERS ALL THAT PRIZE YOUR HEALTH AND HAPPINESS, BE SOBER, MERRY, WISE, AND YOU'LL THE SAME POSSESS. RECAST, E. G. A. WINTER, VICAR; W. BURKITT, C. M. AYRE, CHURCHWARDENS; MEARS & STAINBANK, FOUNDERS, LONDON. 1893.
- Ninth.* RICHARD MARSHALL AND CHARLES CRUSOE, CHURCHWARDENS, THOS. OSBORN, FOUNDER, DOWNHAM, NORFOLK, 1800.
- Tenor.* JOHN MATHER LEET, CH: WARDEN, LESTER & PACK, OF LONDON, FECIT, 1766.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

SOME OF ITS INCONSISTENCIES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I read with interest your leading article of March 14th, and agree with every line of it. Our Parliament is by no means consistent in its work. The naming of the six bell methods, bad as it was, is only one of the points that will have to be rectified as soon as possible. At least half the methods published had been named years ago, and many are still rung under their original titles. The board recording the 15,120 in Wath tower bears names of 21 methods, some of which have been renamed. That board is proof of publication or copyright. Other boards were in existence at Horbury and other Yorkshire towers more than fifty years ago. I have a manuscript book thirty years old, with about 150 six-bell methods in it, all of which had been rung and named.

Then there is the question of Treble Bob composition to be gone into thoroughly. Some years ago the Council, I believe, decided that peals of Kent with 6th's place bobs were not to be countenanced, and at least one large association decided not to publish these peals in their report on that account. Now we have peals of Treble Bob as a regular thing in which two kinds of calls are made. Call them spliced if you like, the result is the same. If you ring Kent with 6th's place bobs it is out of court, but if you call it Kent and Norwich spliced you can do it with impunity. Kent, rung with what are known as 'treble extremes,' viz., with treble, making 6th's and dodging 5-6 down, while bells behind treble dodge, is out of court, and cannot be thought of in the best circles, but if you ring Plain Bob and let the treble do the 'extreme' trick each lead in 4th's, you can call it Little Bob and put it in court and be proud of it.

The Council, through their committee, gave us gracious permission to scramble for these collection of six-bell methods and rename them as we liked. Had we chosen to take a broader view of this privilege, and taken a dislike to the name of Stedman, and someone had published a peal of it as St. Benet's Triples or 'The Cambridge Principle,' who was to say us nay? It is admitted that the Council's committees have done a marvellous amount of very tedious work in their scant leisure moments, and that it is an honorary position, but all the honour goes to those who have the honour to carry out to the last jot the duties for which they allowed themselves to be elected. No one should allow himself to be elected on the Council unless he intends to carry out the duties, and a member elected on a committee should do his utmost to fulfil his duties, or retire. The Exercise has long ago passed the happy childhood in which it played at ringing when the idea of a Council was first conceived. It is now a serious proposition; and its affairs must receive serious and businesslike treatment if it is to be the respected and prominent branch of church work that it is our aim to make it. It is oftentimes said that the Church has need of all her sons; the Exercise needs hers as well, and the sons she should give to the Council should be those who intend to hand it on letter perfect as a going concern. Let us wash out chaos, leave out the door slamming, and write up 'Business only meant.'—Yours sincerely,

ONCE A BEGINNER.

BELL RINGERS' SERMONS.

The Coalbrookdale Ringers' sermons, which, as will be seen from a notice elsewhere, are to be delivered next Sunday, have been preached annually for nearly thirty years. The offertories throughout the day are devoted to the ringers' funds, and are in place of the old custom of 'passing round the hat' at Christmas. The parish enters warmly into the events of the day, when there are special preachers, and in the afternoon a musical service. Visiting ringers will be welcome.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE ASSOCIATION. SOUTHERN DISTRICT

A meeting of the Southern District was held at Hurworth-on-Tees on Saturday last, and was very successful; the bells (tenor 17½ cwt.) being kept going throughout the afternoon and evening to London and Cambridge Surprise, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Double Court and Bob Minor, and Stedman Doubles. Tea was followed by the meeting, presided over by the district vice-president (Mr. G. W. Park), and Shildon was decided upon for the next meeting on a date to be arranged between the President and the District Secretary (Mr. A. Hunter).

Sympathetic reference was made to the untimely death of Mr. Pullinson, a ringer at Bishop Auckland, and, on the motion of Mr. W. Kingdon, it was resolved to write a letter of condolence to his widow, in her loss.

A vote of thanks to the Vicar (the Rev. Faber) for the use of the bells concluded the business, and a return was made to the tower.

This is the third meeting of this district to be held this year, the two previous being at Stockton-on-Tees on January 2nd, and at Heighington on February 16th, both of which were well attended, about 20 members taking part at Stockton in Stedman Triples and Caters, Grandsire Triples and Caters, Double Norwich, Plain Bob and Kent Major, and 16 members at Heighington taking part in London and Cambridge Surprise Minor, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Plain Bob Minor, Grandsire and Stedman Doubles.

THE NORFOLK GUILD.

A general meeting of the Guild was held at Diss on Saturday afternoon, March 8th. By kind permission of the Rectors, the ring of eight at St. Mary's Church, Diss, and the ring of eight at St. Peter's Church, Palgrave, were placed at the disposal of the members during the afternoon and evening, and some well-struck touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Treble Bob, Double Norwich, Superlative and Cambridge Surprise Major were brought round. Tea was served at the King's Head Hotel, and was followed by the general business meeting, at which in the absence of the President (the Dean of Norwich), the Rev. R. L. Whytehead (Rector of Diss) presided.

The chairman was supported by Mr. S. Wilson, Mr. S. G. Hind, the general secretary (Mr. Arthur L. Coleman), Messrs. W. Ireland, G. H. Cross, G. T. Peggall (district secretaries), and representatives from Diss, Dickleburgh, Fakenham, Great Yarmouth, Norwich, Palgrave, Laxfield, Thornham Magna, Stoke Ash, Wymondham.

The secretary submitted nominations for election, including those for confirmation, four new honorary members, viz., the Rev. J. Pole Simeon, Rector of Fakenham; the Rev. Ralph Layard Whytehead, Rector of Diss; Dr. Arthur H. Vaughan, of Diss; Mr. Sidney George Hind, of Diss; and four new performing members, viz.: Bertie William Marsh (North Elmham), Bertie E. Bassingthwaite, and Cecil G. Kerrison (Wymondham), Albert Boast (Wissett).

It was resolved that the Bank Holiday general meetings of the Guild be held as follows: Easter Monday at King's Lynn; Whit Monday at Lowestoft; August Bank Holiday at North Elmham.

A vote of thanks was accorded to the Rev. R. L. Whytehead for presiding, and for the use of the bells of the Parish Church of Diss, and also to the Rev. B. M. Downton for the use of the bells of the Parish Church of Palgrave. — The Rector kindly acknowledged the vote, and expressed the pleasure he had had in presiding over the proceedings.

This brought a most enjoyable meeting to a close, the whole proceedings being of a very genial character.

THE FALSE PEAL AT ERITH.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I carefully perused Mr. P. J. Cullum's, junr.'s letter in your issue of the 22nd ultimo, relative to the above, and I have also looked up Mr. Barnett's letter published by you in the previous month.

It is quite evident that I was in error when I described the above as an 'attempt' only at Erith, as Mr. Barnett certainly uses words to the effect that the company assembled at Erith rang the false composition. I thank Mr. Cullum for pointing this out to me, and in replying to him, it gives me again an opportunity of expressing my apology, with even greater emphasis than in my first letter, to the parties who rang the false composition at Erith and Wye, and the figures of which I had not the slightest idea contained any repetition.

Although I cannot be regarded as the sole producer of the composition, yet I alone should tender this public apology, owing to the fact that I happened to be the only person who could make public property of what proved to be a false variation.

To employ a business phrase, 'I have met my liability' by apologising, and I now await the usual method of acknowledgment, viz.: 'Received with thanks,' from representatives on behalf of both aggrieved parties.—Yours truly,

GEO. BILLENNESS.

DUDLEY AND DISTRICT GUILD.

A SUCCESSFUL YEAR.

The annual meeting of the above Guild was held at Dudley on Saturday week, the weather being all that could be desired. The ten bells were available during the afternoon, and the service was conducted by the President of the Guild, the Rev. Canon A. H. Phelps, R.D. (Vicar of Dudley), who also gave an eloquent and interesting address. At the close of the service an adjournment was made to the Schoolroom, where a bountiful tea was in readiness, Mrs. Phelps, Mrs. H. Watson and Miss Bagott kindly presiding at the tables, at which upwards of seventy members sat down, representing the following towers in union with the Guild: Bilston, Bradley, Coseley, Dudley, Sedgley, Tipton, Old Hill, Smethwick, Rowley Regis, Kingswinford, West Bromwich, Netherton, Wood Green, Wednesbury, Birmingham, etc. The business meeting followed, at which the chair was taken by the Rev. A. H. Phelps, who gave a right cordial welcome to the members to Dudley on behalf of himself, the churchwardens, and the Parochial Church Council. Apologies for inability to be present were announced from Messrs. J. W. Naylor, H. Watson (churchwardens), J. Bayliss, W. A. Pugh, H. W. Wilde, H. Mason, and others.

The Hon. Secretary, before reading his annual report, referred in very feeling terms to the loss the Guild had sustained by the death of Mr. Councillor Herbert Wilkes, who had been an honorary member and vice-president for a great number of years. He was a strong and devoted churchman, and Christian gentleman. The secretary also referred to the death of Mr. A. E. Whatmore, of the Brierley Hill band, and Mr. Joseph Faulkner, of the Netherton band.—A vote of sympathy and condolence to their respective families was passed, by the members standing in silence; also to the Brierley Hill and Netherton bands for the great loss they had sustained by the death of their former ringing comrades.

The Hon. Secretary presented a report which showed an improvement in the work of the Guild during the past year. One outstanding feature was the joining of the Guild by the Rowley Regis and Kingswinford bands. An increase of new membership on the previous year was noticed. Both the honorary and performing members kept up to the average, and there was a balance in hand from all sources of £6 2s. 11d. A donation of £2 2s. had been given to the Dudley Parish Church Renovation Fund, and 10s. 6d. to the Rowley Regis Belfry Fund.

The election of officers then took place, including president, the Rev. Canon Phelps; vice-presidents, the Rev. C. H. Barker, Vicar of Swindon, near Dudley, Messrs. C. E. Lloyd (M.P. for Dudley), F. R. McDowell, J. W. Naylor, H. Watson (wardens), J. McDougall Tait, Harry Mason and Arthur Spittle, Mr. J. P. Bill being elected to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. Councillor Herbert Wilkes. Mr. John Goodman, junr. (Dudley), was elected Ringing Master, and the hon. secretary, Mr. Herbert Sheppard, was unanimously re-elected. Mr. S. J. Hughes was elected treasurer, and representative on the Central Council. Messrs. F. Evans and T. H. Justice were appointed auditors.

On the proposition of the secretary, it was decided to ask for the usual permission to hold the next meeting at the beautiful country village of Penn, near Wolverhampton, the date and arrangements to be left with the secretary.

Several new members were added to the roll.

At the close of the meeting, a hearty vote of thanks, proposed by Mr. Arthur Spittle, seconded by Mr. B. Gough, was passed to the president for his warm welcome, also for his kindness in conducting the service in church and for his eloquent address; also for the use of the tower and bells, to Mr. J. P. Bill, the secretary of the managers, for the use of the Schoolroom for the tea and meeting, to the ladies for presiding at the tables, and those who had prepared and served the tea and looked after the comfort of those present. It is also desired to offer sincere thanks to the donors of the tea, the funds for which were provided by subscriptions collected by the hon. secretary from members of the Dudley Parish Church, who are all staunch supporters of the Guild.

Votes of thanks were also passed to the officers for their past services, and the President briefly replied on behalf of all concerned, mentioning how sorry he was that the organ had gone wrong during the last week, and regretting that the bells were in such a bad state. They were, however, having the serious attention of the Parochial Council, and something would have to be done in the matter. He then closed, what was declared one of the best and successful meetings during the past few years, with prayer.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

A most successful meeting of the Loughborough District was held at Hugglescote on Saturday, March 8th. The church, though modern, possesses a magnificent tower with a beautiful peal of eight bells. Touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major and Minor, were rung by members from various parts, including Ashby-de-la-Zouch, Shepshed, Loughborough, and the local tower.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Whitwick on Saturday, April 26th.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

SOUTHERN DIVISION AGAINST INCREASED SUBSCRIPTIONS.

The annual meeting of the Southern Division was held at the Church of St. Marie, Sheffield, on Saturday last. The bells were open from 2 to 7 p.m., and a good number of ringers visited the tower during the afternoon and evening.

The business meeting was held at the Talbot Hotel, and, the room previously engaged being not quite large enough, the billiard-rooms was kindly placed at the disposal of the association—an offer which was very much appreciated. Between 30 and 40 members and friends were present, the towers represented being the Cathedral, All Saints', St. Marie's, Handsworth, Rannoor, Bolsterstone, Wath, Arksey, Doncaster, Wortley, Ecclesfield, and Rotherham, also out-county members from Norton and Staveley.

The vice-president (Mr. F. Willey) presided.—Mr. F. Mortimer, of Ecclesfield, and Mr. H. Mortimore, of Rawmarsh, were elected members of the association.

An invitation was given to hold the next meeting at Ecclesfield on June 21st, and this was accepted.

Mr. F. Willey was re-elected vice-president for the next three years, as were also the retiring committee: Messrs. J. H. Charlesworth (Bolsterstone), G. Clark (Arksey) and G. Lewis (Ecclesfield). The last named is also on the general committee.

The proposal from the annual meeting at Hull, re increase of subscriptions, was very keenly criticised, the feeling being that such a course would result in a great number of members lapsing from the association, and the secretary was instructed to write all towers in the Southern Division and get their opinion on the matter. The meeting itself was entirely against any increase, it being felt that the present subscription of 1/6 was quite enough in comparison with other associations, and as much as many could afford to pay.

Votes of thanks to the St. Marie's company for the excellent arrangements made were heartily carried, and acknowledged by Mr. C. Harrison of that company.

HALESOWEN RINGER'S RETIREMENT.

There was an interesting gathering at Halesowen (Worcester) recently, when Mr. Elijah White, who has just retired from the local band after 49 years' service, received a present of a wallet containing over £28 subscribed for by residents in the parish. The Rector (the Rev. H. C. A. Colville) presided, and the large company present included many prominent parishioners, Messrs. G. N. Cockin, M. Hackett and W. Webb, and others of the local band, and Mr. A. E. Parsons (Old Hill), and Mr. W. B. Cartwright (Ringing Master of the Northern Branch, Worcestershire Association).

The Rector said that was a pleasant and yet, in a sense, a sad meeting, because they were saying 'good-bye' to active service of one who had been a great worker and helper in the parish. Mr. White was not content to be a bell ringer only; he also had long associations with the Sunday School and choir, and they all wished him long life and happiness in his retirement.

After other tributes had been paid to Mr. White, Mrs. Hornfray (a well-known lady worker in the parish) handed to Mr. White the wallet, and in doing so thanked him for all he had done, and the example he had set, and said the parishioners hoped he would be spared to them for many years to come (applause).

Mr. White, in some well-chosen words, suitably responded.

Heartily thanks were voted to the organisers; also to the Halesowen handbell ringers, who gave selections during the evening.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.NORTHERN DIVISION.

By kind permission of Archdeacon Lindsey a quarterly meeting of the Northern Division of the Yorkshire Association was held at Saltburn on Saturday, March 1st. The attendance was adversely affected by the wintry weather, and only the immediate towers of Thornaby, Middlesboro', Skelton and Scarborough were represented. The visiting ringers, however, made good use of the fine peal of eight bells, and during the afternoon and evening several touches of Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Major, Sedman Triples and Double Norwich were enjoyed. In the absence of the vice-chairman, the Rev. E. Drage, M.A., Mr. J. H. Blakiston, of Middlesboro', presided at the business meeting. —Regret was expressed at the unavoidable absence of the secretary and the Pickering ringers. A week of continued snowstorms made it impossible to travel by road from Pickering to Saltburn, and the train service was equally inconvenient.

At the invitation of the Scarborough band it was decided to hold the annual meeting at St. Mary's Church, Scarborough, on Saturday, June 21st. This is an ideal arrangement for a summer meeting, and the Northern committee of the Yorkshire Association trust that many towers will make a note of this date, and wherever possible try to fix up their annual ringing excursion to Scarborough for the occasion. The meeting concluded with a vote of thanks to Archdeacon Lindsey for his kindness to the ringers, as well as for his helpful and inspiring address, and to Mr. Peck and the local ringers for the genial hospitality extended to the visiting ringers.

GRAMOPHONE BELL RECORDS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Reverting to the correspondence in relation to the above, the writer would like to point out that he took a record on a wax cylinder in or about the year 1895, on an Edison phonograph, very much to the fore at that time. A touch could not be accomplished, so a course of Bob Minor was tried, and apparently with success.

I fear, however, your correspondent is under a misapprehension when he states 'a gramophone record' in or about the year he mentions. The process of taking a record on a gramophone was not in existence, and I do not think it is possible to-day, it being generally recognised that to take a record on a gramophone is a secret process. I believe the Columbia firm manufactured the phonograph under licence in the year above mentioned.

I still hold that record, and I believe, in the absence of bruises and scratches it might still be of interest to 'listen in,' and when a phonograph is available I shall have the pleasure of producing the record (a course of Bob Minor on bells which will be nameless for the time being) at some ringers' meeting. At the time of reproducing the record it met with appreciation, and a record was taken of handbell ringing. This, and the foregoing, have received compliments from noted ringers in the years now past. It is generally acknowledged that gramophones have had none other than flat discs.

When the cobwebs, etc., have made their departure, I hope to report its behaviour through the medium of your useful journal. Meanwhile, I shall remain a youth as in EIGHTEEN NINETY-FIVE.

NOMENCLATURE—PAST AND FUTURE.

It will be seen from a letter which we publish this week that the Leytonstone Association are determined to see that something is done at the forthcoming Central Council meeting to bring about, if possible, an alteration in the inappropriate names that have been applied to Minor methods by the Analysis Committee. They submit for the consideration of the Exercise, and particularly those Associations which they have directly approached, alternative suggestions with a view to action when the Council meet at Whitsun. What actual course is taken, depends upon the views of the members, but, put broadly, the desire is to rid methods of names which make the art of ringing look ludicrous in the eyes of the public—names which merely perpetuate and emphasize a type of nomenclature which has often in the past led to the finger of ridicule being pointed at ringers and ringing.

The course pursued by the Leytonstone company, by proffering alternative resolutions, may serve to stir up discussion; but we hope that before the agenda of the Council is closed, some very definite resolution will be framed and entered. This resolution, we think, ought not merely to cover the revision of the names now existing, but should lay down some guidance for the future. In dealing with existing names, it has to be remembered that it is not only the floral titles to which exception is taken. There are numerous others which, in the interests of common sense, ought to be changed. In our view there ought to be no hesitation in wiping out at the same time some of the old names, which, although we may have got accustomed to them by usage, are none the less absurd. Perhaps this is asking too much, for it would strike at some of the old established titles, but we must remember that the twentieth century has put ringing on a totally different plane to that which it occupied fifty years ago. As to the future, the Council could well lay down a rule not to recognise names of methods unless they came within certain categories, which categories could always be enlarged in the future if the times and the necessities demanded it.

When last year the committee's report came up for confirmation, there was a misconception, for it was declared carried before members, who wished to discuss it, realised what had happened. The President, however, allowed a discussion to take place. This turned at once on the Committee's action in renaming methods already named, and, having led to a deadlock, a motion to proceed to the next business was carried by a small majority. In this way those who wished to challenge the other phase of the Committee's action, that of introducing appropriate new

SAMUEL THURSTON.

HISTORY OF CELEBRATED NORWICH RINGER.

Our reference last week to the bells of St. Peter Mancroft and Samuel Thurston, has brought from Mr. T. E. Slater, of Glensford, Suffolk, a copy of an article, compiled by the late Mr. Samuel Slater, upon this famous old Norwich ringer, and some points from this biography will, we are sure, be of interest to our readers.

'This great and illustrious person,' says the article, 'was the son of a Mr. Frank Thurston. He was born at Norwich in the parish of St. Martin-at-Oak, on February 19th, 1789, and was baptised on the 27th of the same month. He was brought up to the trade of a stonemason; and for many years was the mason employed at Norwich Cathedral. We may regard him as being during his lifetime the very bone and sinew of ringing in connection with the Society of Norwich Scholars. At what time he commenced to ring I do not know, but the first mention of his name in connection with the Art is on Saturday, July 1st, 1809, when he tapped upon the handbells belonging to the Norwich Scholars at the New Theatre, in Norwich, plain courses of Bob Triples, Bob Major, Bob Major Reverse, Double Bob Major, and Grandsire Bob Caters. This was at the time considered the greatest performance ever completed by one person in the world.

'On October 22nd, 1809, Mr. Thurston rang his first peal, viz.: 5,040 of Bob Major, at St. Giles's, Norwich. This was conducted by Mr. Jeffry Kelf, and was in fact the first peal by the whole of the band. The record goes on to state that Mr. Chesnutt, who was then conductor of the Norwich Scholars, had composed a new peal, and it was called "The Royal Jubilee," and was rung on the following Wednesday evening by the St. Peter's company, that being the Jubilee day of George III., but what this new peal was I have never been able to discover. Soon after this peal was rung, Mr. Thurston took unto himself a wife, as the following record from the marriage-register of the church of St. Martin-at-Palace shows: "Samuel Thurston, bachelor, to Marianne Coleman, spinster, both of this parish, married January 14th, 1810." The Norwich Scholars once had a John Coleman among them, who died in 1835. Perhaps it was one of his family that Thurston married. The house in which Thurston lived is (in 1897) still standing, being nearly opposite the east end of the church of St. Martin-at-Palace, the second house to the north of The Cupid and Bow public-house.

'Thurston's second peal—a 6,000 of Bob Major—was rung at Bungay in Suffolk, with the Bungay company. We gather that he had not yet become a member of the Norwich Scholars, although he had been elected into the College Youths in 1813. By this time Thurston had become such an accomplished ringer that he, in the local papers, challenged Mr. Chesnutt (the then leader of the St. Peter Mancroft company) to ring with him for £100! This led to a controversy in the papers. After all, I don't think this challenge was accepted, various suggestions were made by the parties, but a satisfactory settlement could not be attained. Soon after this, however, Thurston became a Norwich Scholar, as on Friday, April 29th, 1814, I find his name recorded as one of St. Peter's company. On this it states "that he struck on his musical peal of eight bells at The Eight Ringers, in Norwich, three full courses of Bob Major, with the 6th, 7th and 8th making bobs, and containing 336 musical changes, which he nobly brought round in 14 minutes, being the greatest performance in the Art in the British Dominions."

'Thurston's first peal with the Norwich Scholars was when they visited Suffolk to attend the grand opening of the Helmingham bells in 1816, when on the third day of the opening they rang the first peal on the new bells—5,376 of Oxford Treble Bob Major, with 6ths place bobs: the Norwich Scholars for several years practised that method with 6ths place bobs, and had previously rung a long length at home on that plan. After this Helmingham peal, Mr. Thurston seems to have been the most noted man that Norwich had had, as it was he that composed, and rang St. Peter's tenor to, the very remarkable peal of Norwich Court Bob Maximus, for the prowess of which the Norwich Scholars presented him with an elegant silver-gilt jewel, having annexed to it this inscription:—

"Presented to Mr. S. Thurston, July 4th, 1825, by the United Ringers of St. Peter Mancroft, for his eminent Services in Composing the peal of Norwich Court Twelve In, and ringing the tenor in a Superior Style."

'Thurston's next peal was 5,264 of Bob Major at Aylsham, and is the first peal in which he figured as conductor; and in the same year and on the same bells he rang his next peal—Bob Triples (Holt's 6-part). This was followed up by seven 720's of Bob Minor, at Loddon, in 1818, each being called differently. About the year 1819 we find him officiating as a bell hanger, and having hung the bells at Blofield and Westead, and I believe also at Paston and Weston.

'A very interesting painting of Samuel Thurston is or was in the possession of a daughter of his, a Mrs. Finlaw, of Macclesfield. The painting illustrates Mr. Thurston standing in the belfry with a rope in one hand and a MS. in the other, the latter being inscribed—"The Art of Change Ringing." It was presented to Thurston by the St. Peter Mancroft Society "for his valuable aid in Composing, Ringing, and Conducting a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples on handbells, the first ever rung double-handed." This was rung on February 22nd, 1822. Thurston made a stone tablet for this performance, and placed it in St. Peter's belfry. The presentation of the portrait took place on Saturday, August 3rd, in the same year. The address written underneath it is dated 1822, and I believe the painting is in a cork frame. Mrs. Finlaw has said that her father used to take ringers to his house to instruct them on the handbells: and for some time before he died, while bedridden, and his house being conveniently situated for the purpose, he could hear most of the ringing which took place by sitting up in bed and using an ear-horn.

'In 1823 Thurston rang 5-6, with six other ringers, in a peal of Bob Major at an inn in the parish of St. George's Colegate; this he followed up by ringing the tenor to Reeve's 6,400 of Oxford Treble Bob Major at Hingham; his next peal was a 5,088 in the same method, at St. Andrew's, Norwich, being the first peal on the bells.

'Among other peals which followed were Reeve's extent of Treble Bob with the tenors together—8,448 changes—at St. Michael Coslany, and the record states "that the band after the peal was rung were agreeably surprised by an excellent dinner being provided for them by one of the churchwardens, at The Barleycorn, where they spent the evening with much conviviality." His next performance was a half-peal of Stedman Triples, composed by the late J. P. Powell, Esq., of which the following is the record: "On Monday, January 3rd, 1825, was rung by eight youths called Norwich Scholars on St. Andrew's musical peal of eight bells, as a first attempt, 2,520 changes, or half-peal, of Stedman Triples, with only two bobs together. This beautiful peal had long been the study of the most scientific ringers, but without success, till the persevering industry and consummate skill of J. P. Powell, Esq., of Thanet, Kent, brought it to perfection, and it is allowed by the best judges in the Art to be the most ingenious peal for the number of changes in Stedman Triples that was ever composed. The peal was conducted by Mr. Samuel Thurston, of this city, and rung by the following persons: William Mann, treble; George Homes, 2; Frederick Watring, 3; John Hornegold, 4; Joshua Hurry, 5; Thomas Hurry, 6; Samuel Thurston, 7; John Coleman, tenor."

'His next peal was the first peal rung in hand by four of the Norwich Scholars. This was considered a grand performance, and was witnessed by three of the same society. His next was Reeve's peal from "The Clavis," rung at Bungay on the Saturday morning after the bells had been tuned by Mr. Benjamin Oldring, of Kelsale, who rang the treble, and so far as I know this was the only peal he (Mr. Oldring) ever rang. The next was a peal of Oxford Treble Bob Royal in which the tenor of St. Peter Mancroft was rung by Thomas Hurry, this being the first time it was rung single-handed in a peal.

'In the year 1829 Thurston left Norwich for London, but he returned to Norwich the following year, and remained with the Norwich Scholars until the time of his death. Three peals were rung with the Ancient Society of College Youths, of which Thurston was elected a member in the year 1813, and as he had not rung any peals with this society until 1829, we gather that he was at work there at the time of ringing these peals, as they were all rung in a period of about six weeks. His next noteworthy performance is the ringing of a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples. This was rung on handbells by four of the Norwich Scholars, was composed and conducted by Thurston, and no doubt was the same quarter-peal that he called in the year 1822, and later four of the Norwich Scholars rang the celebrated half-peal of Stedman Triples, by J. P. Powell, Esq. This was at the time considered an unparalleled feat in handbell ringing, being the first half-peal that was rung two in hand in this method. Thurston made a stone tablet to record this feat, and placed it in the belfry of St. Peter Mancroft, where it still remains. His next peal stood for many years as the greatest length rung in the method of Double Norwich Court Bob Major. This was a grand performance, and was composed and conducted by Thurston. His next performance was a long touch of Stedman Cinques in an attempt for a peal in that method at St. Peter Mancroft, when the Norwich Scholars rang 4,885 changes, the bells being brought home a course too soon owing to some error on the part of Thurston, who was conducting. Then followed a peal of Oxford Treble Bob, one of Henry Hubbard's compositions, concluded by the composer, and containing the 120 course-rnds, being the first with these properties ever rung in the city of Norwich.

'Next was a peal of Double Oxford Bob Major, the composition of Wm. Shipway. It was conducted by Thurston, and was the first peal ever rung in this method and the longest for a great many years after. Then came the first peal that was rung upon the new ring of bells at Diss. A tablet in the steeple records this peal, on which the conductor, Mr. Thurston, is described as "that eminent great bell ringer of Norwich." One of Thurston's greatest peals followed, viz., Superlative Surprise—5,376 changes—an abridgment of Mr. Wm. Shipway's 30-course peal, and was in fact the first ever accomplished in Norwich. The record there states that the extreme intricacy of this composition is such as places it at the highest point of practical attainment in the extensive science of ringing. Moreover this celebrated peal was rung at the first attempt, and in a superior style. These circumstances add much to the credit of the company, having a tendency to show the highest degree of perfection they have attained in this Art.

Then came London Surprise—the top of the tree—being the first peal in the method ever rung in England. The record is interesting, as it runs thus: "We had the pleasure of hearing from our scientific ringers 5,280 changes of that intricate composition London Surprise. This peal has been attempted by many of the most learned of the Science, but relinquished on account of its complexity; but in the hands of our Norwich ringers that obstacle soon vanished, and in 3 hrs. 25 mins. a perfect peal was completed, thus showing what perseverance, combined industry and knowledge can obtain. The peal was conducted by Mr. Samuel Thurston." Thurston rang only three peals after this, the last being Sledman Triples, which he conducted.

Thurston, who was about 5ft. 8in. in height, and a very stout man, said to weigh 17 stones, died suddenly, on January 9th, 1841, at the age of 52 years. An obituary notice at the time stated: "Mr. Samuel Thurston was for more than 30 years one of St. Peter Mancroft ringers. As a practical ringer and theorist combined, the art has lost one of its brightest ornaments, but though dead, the tablets erected in different parishes throughout the city and county will yet live to record his fame as a ringer, and those who best knew him can testify that the best ringers our city can boast of are indebted to this great artist in the profession for the knowledge they possess in the art of ringing, Norwich being able to compete with any band of ringers in the United Kingdom."

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A successful meeting of the Southern District of the London County Association was held on Saturday, March 15th, at St. Paul's, Hammersmith. There was some good ringing done, and touches varying from Grandsire Triples and Plain Bob Major to Cambridge and Superlative Surprise Major were brought round; Stedman, as usual, being the favourite.

A service was held, and after tea Mr. H. Mance (District Master) presided over the business meeting, and suggested a few towers in the South-west District, where meetings might be held. This resulted in an invitation from Mr. J. Herbert, who thought there would be no difficulty in securing Putney for the next meeting, if it were applied for.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar (the Rev. G. N. Walsh) for allowing the use of the tower and the bells, and to Mr. R. Mackrill for his assistance.

The meeting arranged in the Western District of Hertfordshire for April 12th has been postponed until after Easter.

The committee of the Hereford Diocesan Guild have unanimously resolved to provide a motor-cycle for the Ringing Master, Mr. C. Edwards, to help him in his efforts to reach outlying towers where his assistance will be of great value. The Hereford Guild is the first to make such a provision for one of its officers.

The first peal by Kent men only was rung at Wye on March 29th, 1736. This was a peal of Grandsire Triples. The old peal tablet, in giving the names of the ringers, records that it was 'ye first set that ever rang it in the county, without the assistance of Londoners or others.'

Two men rang the tenor to this peal, but two and a half years later another peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at Wye, by eight men, but the band there must have changed considerably, as only two of those who took part in the first peal were in the second.

On April 1st, 1777, the College Youths rang a 6,000 Treble Bob Maximus at St. Saviour's, Southwark, in 4 hrs. 58 mins.

One of the first long peals of Treble Bob with the tenors parted was rung at St. Michael's, Coslany, Norwich, on April 1st, 1727, and some well-known Norwich names appear in connection with it.

The tablet records that 'a remarkable peal was rung by the eight persons as under, called the Quarter-peal of Oxford Treble Bob all eight in, or the Union Bob, consisting of 10,080 changes, which they rung in 6 hrs. 28 mins. on the 1st day of April, Anno 1727. There was no change alike or bell out of course. Performed by Richard Barnham 1, Thomas Melchior 2, John Harvey 3, John Webster 4, Thomas Gardiner 5, Thomas Barret 6, Edward Crane 7, Robert Crane tenor.'

Despite the statement that 'there was no change alike,' Snowden, in his 'History of Treble Bob,' expresses doubt whether the peal was true, unless the composition was, as suggested by Hubbard, the peal with sixth's place bobs at the part-ends, and given in Shipway's work.

In the peal at Hillington, recorded last week, the name of the ringer of the 7th was John L. Bacon. The initials of the finger of the 2nd are N. G.

The peal rung at Winchester on March 8th should be credited to the Winchester Diocesan Guild.

The peal at Pulford, on March 15th, was John W. Davies' 50th peal, Edward Harrison's 60th peal, and Thomas R. Butler's first peal in the method.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

The annual meeting of the Council will be held on June 10th (Whit Tuesday) next, at Westminster. Full particulars of the meeting will be published later. Notice of any proposed motion should be sent before April 26th.

Secretaries please note that the annual subscription is now due, together with the names and addresses of representatives, and should be sent to the honorary secretary, Mr. E. Alexr. Young, of 155, Rushey Green, Catford, S.E.8.

The following Associations have paid: Ladies, Dudley and District, Llandaff and Monmouth, Norfolk, Suffolk, Salop, Winchester, Hertford County, Kent County, London County, Salisbury.

Attention of members of the various committees is invited to the Standing Order of the Council that they should get into touch with their Convenor or Chairman, or appoint one, in order to prepare a report in due time for presentation at the Council's Annual Meeting.

AN INTERESTING CENTENARY.

On Monday of last week a peal of Stedman Triples was rung by the College Youths at St. Mary's, Whitechapel, to celebrate the centenary of a peal rung by the society at the same church on March 16th, 1824.

There is a board in the tower recording the old peal as follows:—

SPLICING OF ODD-BELL METHODS.

A NEW DEPARTURE FOR TRIPLES, CATERS & CINQUES

By JOSEPH W. PARKER.

Observant readers who scan the peal columns of 'The Ringing World' will be aware of a remarkable fact, viz., that there are but two methods on odd numbers. Certainly other methods exist, but the weekly record shows that for practical purposes only Grandsire and Stedman are recognised.

Let anyone who does not believe this keep an eye on the peals of Cinques, Caters and Triples in future, and it will be seen that the appearance of any other method is so rare as to prove the statement. Perhaps once in three or four months some unorthodox band shocks the Exercise by ringing one of Court Bob, or it may be Erin, or even the despised Plain Bob Triples, and one wonders if it is the beginning of a new era. But no, it is only a breakaway in a misguided interval, and the band invariably returns to the well-worn path.

This slavish following in the rut leads one to wonder as to the cause. Why do bands who can ring Grandsire fight shy of the other published plain methods? Are they afraid of losing a peal or two? Again, do bands that ring Stedman well, think plain methods beneath their talents? If so, are they anxious for something more interesting and more difficult to ring, or is their ambition limited to scoring peals in one method?

These questions, in a different form, have been put before, and the answers have done little to show the reason for this odd state of things. One can imagine ringers of Stedman saying, give us something better, and we will ring it. But what is something better?

Taking Triples first, all the possible legitimate plain methods are in the Central Council's publication, and it may be taken as true that all the regular systems to be obtained have appeared in the Press at some time or other. If, then, there is a desire for something more than Grandsire and Stedman, it is clear that these do not satisfy the need. What is there left to put forward that will lend variation to the ringing on odd numbers? If it is added interest, coupled with greater difficulty that is needed, it is to be found in three methods, Stedman, Erin and Quick-six, in combination. Quick-six Triples, it will be remembered, was described in 'The Ringing World' of September 8th, 1922.

Its drawback is a monotonous front work, which consists of a long succession of thirds and lead, and this detracts from the interest of the method. However, by combining Stedman and Erin, or Erin and Quick-six, an unlimited number of remarkable extents of Triples can be obtained. There are spliced peals of Erin and Stedman to be obtained, with triple changes throughout, by means of Stedman bobs only, and never two together. These are difficult to conduct and to ring, and if this difficulty is too great for ringers to surmount, then spliced Erin and Quick-six may be rung by simpler means than calling changes of method.

It is not my intention to give any figures or peals for Triples, as unless there is a call for such it is useless to fill the pages of 'The Ringing World' with matter which interests for the moment and is then forgotten. Moreover, figures convey very little at a glance, and it is better, therefore, to show certain forms of spliced sixes by skeleton diagrams. Each of the two which follow represents a block of Erin and Quick-six arranged in such a way that it is perfectly symmetrical. As a matter of fact it may be regarded and learnt as a method, and would be quite regular if the division heads and ends were in proper coursing order.

The blocks contain 210 rows, and the work is shown in the diagrams in the next column.

These diagrams certainly look tempting, but the writer claims no credit for the interesting work they contain. They exist as true blocks and are discovered; it is for ringers to say whether they are worth ringing or not. There are some who will delight in pricking out the 210 changes from the diagrams, and in finding the 24 true blocks of each which comprise the extent. These blocks may be joined, first by varying the nature of a six and adding a bob; or, secondly, by ordinary Stedman Singles, or by both combined. All these have the effect of altering the work of every bell, and enormously increase the difficulty of calling and ringing, and to such an extent that the purpose in view, of ringing by method, is lost.

The simpler way is to use Holt's Singles as in Quick-six Triples, which give a direct shunt from block to block, and give remarkably simple peals in eight parts. The writer has no love for this form of call, but it is the only direct shunt, and if by its means Triples can be made more varied and interesting, the Exercise is justified in using it. Should any band or bands desire, after trying the course, to attempt a peal, the figures can be published or sent direct.

Coming to Caters and Cinques, there are not the difficulties in getting new methods which are met with in Triples, and if the Exercise showed any desire to break away from the thrall of Stedman and Grandsire, composers would soon provide the means.

Let ringers come forward and state briefly and clearly what they want. Are they content with the present odd condition of things, or do they desire to practise something different? This would help to clear away the composers' difficulty of not knowing what will meet the popular desire.

To give something fresh in Caters and Cinques, peals of spliced Erin and Stedman are chosen. These are obtained by changing the method only, and contain no calls whatever. It will be noticed that the peal of Cinques is brought home at backstroke, for to bring it round at hand would need a single, and the object of the peals is to have the double dodging undisturbed throughout. Peals can be obtained with the Tittum position to the last course, if desired.

The two compositions will be found on the next page, and should any ambitious band attempt to ring either, the writer wishes them success.

FIFTY YEARS A RINGER.

DEATH OF MR. ROBERT BUCKLEY, OF MILNROW.

The death has occurred at Milnrow, Lancs, of Mr. Robert Buckley, one of the ringers at St. James's Parish Church for over half a century. Mr. Buckley had not been in good health for some time, but he was only confined to bed for about a fortnight, and passed away on March 12th, at the age of 71 years. Of a quiet and unassuming disposition, Mr. Buckley was well known and highly respected in the district. He completed 50 years' service as a bell ringer at St. James's, Milnrow, along with Mr. John Fitton, about twelve months ago. A Conservative in politics, he was made a life member of the Milnrow Conservative Club about two years ago, and for over 20 years he was the treasurer of the Milnrow branch of the Rochdale District Conservative Sick and Burial Society. He leaves a widow, three sons, and two daughters to mourn their loss.

The funeral took place on Monday week, at St. James's Church. A service was conducted at the house by the Rev. E. Elliot (the Vicar), who also officiated in the church and at the graveside. In addition to the family mourners there were among those present Councillors R. S. Schofield and G. J. Ashworth and Mr. J. W. Lord (churchwardens) and Mr. J. E. Hirst, representing St. James's Church, Milnrow; Mr. F. Stook, representing the Milnrow branch of the Rochdale District Conservative Sick and Burial Society; and Mr. J. Roys, representing the Milnrow Conservative Club. The following ringers at St. James's Church acted as bearers: Messrs. J. Fitton, J. H. C. Massey, C. Bennett, S. Dunn, A. Buckley, J. Butterworth, J. Shaw, S. Hamer, and W. Staff. After the interment, and again in the evening, the bells were rung with muffled clappers. Many beautiful floral tributes were sent, amongst them being a wreath from 'The bell ringers at St. James's Church, Milnrow.'

An attempt for a muffled peal on Saturday came to grief, after two hours' ringing.

ILLNESS OF MR. C. W. P. CLIFTON.

We regret to state that Mr. C. W. P. Clifton, of Seoror Street, Lincoln, has had a long and serious illness. He went to bed with septic rheumatism on December 22nd, and was not able to get out of bed until March 12th. He hopes to be able to get out of doors in a week or so, and has arranged to go to the Royal Bath Hospital at Harrogate early in April for a month, after which he intends to go to the convalescent home at Redditch for three or four weeks. His many friends will wish him an early and complete recovery.

NOMENCLATURE OF MINOR METHODS. ALTERNATIVE PROPOSITIONS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—It is with diffidence that we trespass upon your space, but the gentle rebuke administered in your leading article, which the framing of our resolution merited, together with correspondence we have received, has urged upon us the necessity of altering our views.

Originally we had thought that our resolution as it stood, would have caused discussion, and that proper resolutions would have been framed by associations, the sense of which it was for them to decide. It seems, however, that this is wrong, and we now ask you kindly to give publicity to our request to secretaries of the following associations, to whom our original resolution was sent, that alternative propositions as under be placed before their next meetings for criticism, viz.: College Youths, Cumberlands, Essex, Middlesex, Hertford, London County, Norfolk and Suffolk:—

1. That the Central Council appoint a committee with power to delete certain names, and substitute others of towns or towers where there is a peal of six bells, the finding of the committee to be guaranteed, and a revised list of names published as 'Official' as soon as possible.
2. That the C.C. delete certain names, the numbers of the methods be published in 'The Ringing World'; extents to be rung and methods named between that date and another (to be fixed as late as is practicable in 1925). A gentleman to be appointed to receive and collate names, order of precedence to be observed—first of the date of ringing and then of notification received; names allocated to be published monthly, with a time limit after publication for dispute of claims. Methods unnamed by the date fixed in 1925 to revert to their present names.
3. That the C.C. abolish all names, and the methods officially be known by numbers only—there being no reason why, in time, 'Fourteen Surprise' should not as easily be recognised as 'London Surprise.'

It is very probable that the above propositions will meet with adverse and diverse comment; this we cannot help, and it is with diffidence that we put them forward. Nevertheless, it is certain that reluctance to lead the way will do no good, and the official apathy that has met criticism during the past year in no way helps.

We are not clear as to whether the C.C. made the names absolute at the last meeting, being unable to reconcile this fact (if it be so) with the action of the Rev. A. T. Beeston and the Norbury band of July last year. Also there is discrepancy between the list of names published and that of the Surprise Methods published previously, particularly the names of Canterbury No. 3, and Alnwick No. 2, which apparently has no bearing upon disputed claims.

Why does not a prominent official of the C.C. come forward, and state in the Press, definitely and officially, what is the position of this list of names, and thus give individuals an opportunity of thinking out the matter for themselves?

We appeal to giants of the pen (and rope) like 'W. W.', 'Once a Beginner', 'Criticus', 'Peppery', and others, to ventilate opinions upon the matter, and to stir the lethargy of individuals, Associations, and C.C. Representatives, in the endeavour to settle this question. If, after discussion, alternative propositions are placed before the meeting, the C.C. must vote one way or another, and we are quite prepared loyally to abide by any decision made.

In the meantime we do ask six-bell men in particular to kick, and kick hard, at every conceivable opportunity, to obtain satisfaction on a point which concerns them most particularly, but which, as pointed out by you, Sir, is a matter of general principle.—Yours faithfully,

GEO. DAWSON.

A BROOM WANTED.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I did read with interest the 'Criticisms of Criticus' in this week's 'Ringing World', and though I agree with him, and also the Leytonstone band, that the names of Minor methods must be revised, I can't help taking up the cudgels on the Central Council's Committee's behalf in one respect. I should never vote to change the names of the two methods, 'Trinity Sunday' and 'Easter Sunday.' Those names were given to those methods because they were rung for great church festivals, and are, in my opinion, fitting names for good methods.

All Abbey names are good, so are Cathedral names, and the names of Bishopies, but Castles, in my opinion, are not the names to apply to what are really pieces of music used in what is a part of Divine worship, especially when we think of the part some Castles have played antagonistic to our Church. As to market garden names—well, use the broom, Sir.—Yours sincerely,

ONCE A BEGINNER.

SURPRISE ROYAL.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I thank Mr. Coles for his contribution on this subject, which settles the matter completely as far as I am concerned. Mr. Lindon has the prior claim, and as Mr. Dexter points out, 'Association Secretaries, please note!'

This does not affect the composition used in the first peal of Yorkshire Surprise Royal at Chesterfield, January, 1821. This composition was by Sam Thomas, and is distinct with similar variations.—Yours truly,

ARTHUR CRAVEN.

ANCIENT BELL TO BE PRESERVED.

EASEBOURNE'S VALUABLE POSSESSION.

The restoration of the bells of the old Parish Church of St. Mary, Easebourne, Sussex, is being undertaken. At the recent Church Meeting some interesting information was given as to the church bells, the most ancient being the second with the legend 'Te Deum laudamus,' cast about 1440 A.D., by Roger Landon, of Wokingham, and No. 4 'Sancta Anna ora pro nobis,' cast at Reading by John White about 1530.

The bell founders who had been consulted wished to recast the small one, owing to its bad tone, but the opinion of archaeological experts is that it is far too valuable historically to be altered in any way. This would mean an additional cost of about £90 to replace the ancient bell in the peal with a new one, the old bell being kept for use singly at week-day services.

The treasurer, it was reported, had received payments and promises amounting to about £180. When this sum has nearly doubled the Church Council will be justified in proceeding with the work on the tower and bells, a generous offer by Major Pearson having been made which will double the amount again.

There are five bells in the tower, and in addition to the two bells above mentioned, there are two other bells by the Chertsey Founder, William Eldridge, cast in 1677.

William took over the Chertsey Foundry from his brother Bryan, who, in his will, said, 'I give and bequeath unto my loving brother, William Eldridge, of Chertsey, aforesaid, Bell-founder, all my working tools, implements, and utensils thereunto belonging, with my furnices.'

THE SIXTY COURSE ENDS OF TREBLE BOB.

A REMINISCENCE OF JASPER SNOWDON.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Allow me to congratulate Mr. Arthur Craven on his further reduction of the length of Treble Bob Major containing the 60 course ends; and, having nothing better to do at the moment I would like to give you a little reminiscence of the first reduction of this length from Reeve's 6,720, which had stood for a considerable time.

Having called a 5,024 at Gargrave on the morning of July 1st, 1882, Mr. Jasper W. Snowdon made it known that he wanted a band for that day fortnight for a peal he had just received from Mr. N. J. Pitlow, viz., a 6,624, containing the 60 course ends.

We agreed to meet at a given time at Keighley on the 15th, and the band included one of those 'happy-go-lucky' fellows who have the knack of making everyone happy about them, and against whom nobody can take offence, Mr. Ben Lightfoot, of Bingley.

We all got to Keighley in good time, but it was over three-quarters of an hour after the time agreed upon for a start, when Ben showed up in the belfry, all smiles as usual.

Mr. Snowdon addressed him somewhat vigorously with 'Nay, Ben, where have you been? Why, you were here hours ago—you were here before I was.'

By the time Mr. Snowdon had finished his question, Ben had completed his reply, 'Naa, I gat three-quarters a pund o' mait, an' I bin an' hed it fried.'

The peal went without incident, except that the 7th man so tightened up his braces that one of 'em broke the skin of his shoulder, and was stuck in it. Enjoyable, no doubt. Then, approaching the end, one of the band called the conductor's attention to the time, saying, 'I must catch the train at such a time.'

'Oh, I'm sorry,' said Mr. Snowdon, 'I'm afraid it means losing the peal.' Whether the conductor looked round or no I cannot say, but we others of the same belfry protested loudly, 'No, no, no. Go on.'

We reached land in 3 hrs. 48 mins.—then a stampede. Boots unlaced, collar and tie in one's fist, and a 'seemly display' down the main street to the station, a good quarter-mile off, and caught the train.

Again congratulating Mr. Craven.—Yours truly,
Gargrave.

BULKINGTON BELLS DEDICATED.

PROVISION FOR EXTENSION TO EIGHT.

The Lord Bishop of Coventry, on Saturday week, dedicated the bells at Bulkington, Warwickshire, where Messrs. Taylor and Co. have added two new trebles, and recast two of the old four. In addition they have installed a new frame, with pits for two more bells to complete the octave at some future date. The work has been carried out in the most admirable manner. A crowded congregation attended the dedication ceremony, and the Bishop gave an inspiring address.

The Church authorities had invited the Warwickshire Guild to attend, and so well was the invitation accepted that upwards of 50 ringers were present during the afternoon and evening. They came from Allesley, Aunsey, Berkswell, Birmingham, Chilvers Coton, Coventry, Croft, Exhall, Leicester, Loughborough, Nuneaton, Rugby, Stoke Shilton and Wolvey.

The local ringers very creditably rang the rounds immediately after the dedication, and at the conclusion of the service the first touch on the bells was a 216 Plain Bob Minor by the following: T. W. Chapman (Nuneaton) 1, O. J. Hunt (Coventry) 2, W. J. Smith (Coventry) 3, J. B. Fenton (Rugby) 4, A. Roberts (Stoke), conductor, S. A. Wilkerson (Nuneaton) 6.

The ringers were entertained to tea in the Schoolroom, during which the Bishop looked in and made a few kindly remarks. After tea the company again visited the church for more ringing, a large company of villagers watching the operations, the methods including Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Double Court, London and Cambridge Surprise. The falling of the bells in peal brought a very successful gathering to a close, and one that will be long remembered by the inhabitants.

RINGER'S WEDDING.

At Chiswick Parish Church, on Saturday, March 1st after an unsuccessful attempt for a peal of Bob Major, as a compliment to Mr. W. T. J. Dalton, captain of the local band, whose wedding took place that day, 1,260 Stedman Triples (by C. Charge) was rung: F. Goddard 1, G. Harbour 2, W. H. Wood 3, J. Herbert 4, J. A. Trollope 5, F. Goodfellow 6, W. H. Hollies (conductor) 7, F. J. Fruin 8. The ringers were afterwards entertained to tea at the Parish Hall by the bride and bridegroom, and the best wishes of the band were extended to them.

ADVICE WANTED.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—About three years ago two new bells were placed in the church tower to make a peal of eight. These two bells are almost inaudible in the ringing chamber, which is on the ground floor. Could any ringer let me know what can be done so that these bells can be heard in the ringing chamber? The two trebles are hung above the old six. I should be very pleased to get information, as the Church Council are willing to have something done.—Yours faithfully,

CHAS. E. PATER.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Bedford District was held at Bromham on Saturday, March 22nd, the members present representing many towers. After tea, the business meeting was presided over by Miss E. Steele. —A vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and to Mrs. Mortimer for kindly supplying tea, was passed.

It was decided to hold the next meeting in May, notice of which will appear in this journal.

Messrs. Taylor and Co. are to be congratulated on the excellent 'go' of the bells, which are one of the finest peals of six in the kingdom. The set of new ropes (by Nicoll) also added to the comfort of ringing, and contributed to the excellent striking which was attained.

BIGGLESWADE DISTRICT.

A very successful meeting of the Biggleswade District was held at Eaton Socon on Saturday, March 15th, ringers being present from Everton, Sandy, Roxton, Northill, Tempsford, Kempston, Dunstable, Great Staughton, Cambridge, and the local company. Tea was provided at 'Ye Old Sun,' and was followed by the business meeting, the Vicar (the Rev. H. P. Higham) presiding.

After some discussion it was proposed to hold the next meeting at Everton on April 12th.—A vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells and the local company for having them ready, was accorded, and the Vicar replied.

The tower was again visited, and the bells kept going to some good touches of Cambridge Surprise, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Woodbine and Plain Bob.

FINE WILTSHIRE PEAL.

On Sunday, March 16th, at the Church of St. Mary, Purton, Wilts, for evening service, 720 Grandshire Doubles: E. Hoare 1, Herbert Flewelling 2, Harold Flewelling 3, L. A. Wilson (cond.), 4, Maurice Tuck 5, Charles Curtis 6. This is the first change ringing on these beautiful bells which have just been rehung with all modern improvements, a treble added, and all tuned on the Simpson principle. The 'go' and tone does great credit to Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon.

Purton now possesses one of the finest peals of six in Wilts. The tenor is by Rudhall (21 cwt. in D). The fifth has been greatly improved by tuning, the only thing lacking is the other two bells to complete the octave, but it is hoped these will be added at some future date.

YOUTHFUL RINGERS.

At Aldershot, on Sunday, March 9th, for evensong, a quarter-peal of Grandshire Triples (1,260 changes), in 47 mins.: C. Denyer (aged 12), first quarter, 1, Miss B. M. Mills 2, Miss H. F. Mills 3, Miss N. Denyer (aged 14), first quarter, inside, 4, W. Denyer 5, Alb. Croucher 6, C.Q.M.S. Gilbert, R.E. (conductor) 7, Spr. R. H. B. Hammond, R.E., 8.

'A BELL RINGER WANTED.'

Under this heading, the following paragraph appeared in the 'West Herts Post' last week: 'An announcement of interest appeared in the "Ringing World" recently. The announcement was for a good change ringer to join a promising young band in the vicinity of Rickmansworth. Bell ringers have opportunities of travelling about the country, giving peals at various churches, and, among their own fraternity, bell ringers may rise to positions of eminence. Incidentally, the names of bell ringers frequently go down to posterity by reason of the tablets erected in church belfries to commemorate the ringing of a long peal.'

BICESTER.—On Monday, February 12th, a quarter-peal of Grandshire Triples (1,260 changes), in 46 mins., with the bells half-muffled, to the memory of Mr. H. Tubb, a great benefactor to the town: J. Evans 1, H. Hatfield 2, W. Scarrott 3, B. Cox 4, F. Neale 5, E. A. Clifton 6, F. Hims (conductor) 7, T. Clifton 8.—Also for evening service, March 9th, 728 in the same method: H. Hatfield 1, E. Hims (conductor) 2—3, W. Scarrott 4, B. Cox 5, E. A. Clifton 6, F. Neale 7, T. Clifton 8.

THE NEW 'DISCOVERY.'

Spliced methods have added a good deal of interest to ringing for those who have taken up this advanced practice. It has not yet been very generally adopted, but those enterprising bands who have by this means added the spice of variety—and intricacy—to their ringing, have found it a fascinating pastime. Hitherto, however, spliced method ringing has been largely confined to Minor, chiefly because investigation has been among the six-bell methods. It is true that spliced Oxford and Kent Treble Bob Major is now rung fairly frequently, and that one or two peals have been rung in which Plain Bob, Double Bob and Little Bob have been united, but these, we believe, are the limits which have been reached outside the scope of Minor.

Mr. Joseph W. Parker's article in our last issue, however, is an entirely new departure, and is, as far as we are aware, the first successful attempt to unite odd bell methods, which from their nature are extremely difficult to treat in this manner. Mr. Parker's 'discoveries'—as he prefers to term them—open up a new vista of progress in the science. Even a casual glance at the diagrams which we printed reveals what a marked advance has been achieved beyond the customary 'rut,' and we learn that combinations of Stedman and Erin, or Erin and Quick-six, provide 'an unlimited number of remarkable extents of Triples.' These composite Triples provide a new outlet for the enterprise of ringers who are capable of ringing Stedman, and will also prove a test for the capacity of the best among the Exercise. If there is any drawback to the methods which Mr. Parker published with his article, it is in the length of their course, but we doubt if this is really worth consideration; for they do not reach quite to the length of a course of Treble Bob Major.

We believe there are a considerable number of Stedman ringers who will welcome the development which Mr. Parker has introduced to the Exercise, and who will be glad to break into the new ground which he has provided. And in commending this new form of odd-bell ringing to the study of our readers, we cannot conclude without a reference to the genius of the man who has brought this thing within the realm of 'practical politics.' In his modesty Mr. Parker claims no credit for the interesting work which these composite methods contain. It may be literally true that Mr. Parker only 'discovered' the combinations which he has constructed into true peals, but the patient and persevering investigation which must have been necessary before a perfect 5040 of Triples was obtained is only equalled by the skill with which order and symmetry have been evolved out of what to the ordinary man would have appeared utter chaos. It may be that the Exercise will not quickly take to this new development in odd bell ringing, although we believe it will make an appeal to those enterprising spirits who, in the past, have been restricted by the limitations which bound them, but whether Composite Triples is rung or not, ringers with an understanding of the difficulties involved in the task, will acknowledge the skill which the 'discoverer' has shown in reaching 'a new land.'

PUDSEY SURPRISE.

METHOD PRACTISED AT LEICESTER.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—With regard to the peal of Pudsey Surprise Major rung at Bolsover on March 15th, we rang several touches of Major and two courses of Royal in this method at St. Martin's, Leicester, in 1921, and for want of a name we called it 'Loughborough,' but dropped it in preference to Princess Mary. Mr. J. Carter ultimately published it in 1922, I think, in 'The Ringing World.' Although we do not wish to claim authorship ourselves, who were undoubtedly the first to ring it, we do claim that the one who first published the method has the right to claim it as his. Therefore, this method should have been published as belonging to Mr. Carter. We also hold that the company who rang the first 5,000 of it have the right to name it as they wish, in spite of the fact that it had been rung three years ago as Loughborough, but unfortunately we never published it. The fact of it having accidentally turned out to be the reverse of Yorkshire does not alter the case at all.—Yours truly,

F. H. DEXTER.

Dear Sir,—If Mr. Arthur Craven will kindly look in 'The Ringing World' of December 28th, 1919, he will see Pudsey Surprise, No. 23.

I may add that I composed some peals to be rung in Birmingham at that time.—Yours truly,

JOHN CARTER.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

CLASHING OF DIVISIONAL MEETINGS.

The annual meeting of the Central Division of the Sussex County Association was held at East Grinstead on Saturday week. The tower was opened at 2.30, when over forty were present, and, after a brief inspection of the bells and tower, ringing commenced. At 4.15 the Vicar (the Rev. W. W. Youard) entered the ringing chamber to dedicate a tablet placed on the wall to record the ringing of a peal of Grandsire Triples on November 10th, 1923, being the first peal rung on the bells by the local branch since 1843. The following is the inscription:—

'This stone commemorates the ringing of a peal of Grandsire Triples by the local band on November 10th, 1923, in 3 hrs. 25 mins.: T. M. Potter 1, G. Hewitt 2, H. Coomber 3, J. Wren 4, G. F. Tizzard 5, N. E. Hope 6, T. Tullett 7, S. W. Chesson 8. Conducted by Jos. Wren, W. W. Youard, Vicar. Previous peal by local band, December 21st, 1843.'

Afterwards the Vicar conducted a short service in church, and gave a very interesting address, a collection being taken for the benevolent fund.

The company then proceeded to tea, which had been provided in a very generous manner, and at which the Vicar presided, supported by the Master (Mr. J. T. Rickman).

The business meeting followed, the Vicar being in the chair. The following new members were elected: H. Burton, S. Ford, E. Piper and O. Wood (Seaford); C. Stephenson (Cuckfield); P. Dadsweil (Buxted); H. J. Stoner (Balcombe), and E. J. Oliver (Coleman's Hatch). B. Collison (Tunbridge Wells) and G. Tomsett (Guildford) were also elected non-resident members.

The election of the following was confirmed: G. Faulkner (Barking, Essex), Cyril Pease (Chelmsford), W. J. Kemp (Clifton), J. E. Davis (Walworth), F. M. Mitchell (Gravesend), W. Richardson (Long Eaton, Derbyshire), A. E. Sharman (Dunstable, Beds), W. J. Nevard (Great Bentley, Essex), C. C. Mayne (Boaconsfield, Bucks), W. Mead (Clun, Salop), J. C. Truss (Marlow, Bucks). All these visited the county last autumn, and it is hoped they have pleasant memories of the time spent in Sussex.

The divisional hon. secretary (Mr. A. D. Stone) and committee of advice were re-elected, and Messrs. O. Sippotts (Crawley), J. A. Hart (Cuckfield) and J. Wren (East Grinstead) were elected as the representatives of the division on the general committee.

The secretary then made a brief statement as to the work of the division, which received the approval of the members. The work of Messrs. Mears and Stainbank at East Grinstead has given every satisfaction to the local branch, and to those who attended this meeting. The secretary of the Seaford branch sent the following report on the work carried out there by the same firm: 'Everything has been done most satisfactorily up to the present. The bells were recast, and 7 cwt. of metal added, making the tenor 13½ cwt. The bells are hung with iron heddstocks and self-aligning ball bearings in a splendid oak frame. . . . The 'go' of the bells is splendid, and in the key of F are very musical.'

The next meeting of the division will be held at this tower.

Attention was next called to the fact that this meeting and that of the Western Division had been fixed for the same day, and, after very outspoken criticism, the following resolution was passed: 'That this meeting strongly recommends the association to revert to the original pre-war plan of drawing up a programme of meetings for the year, in a businesslike manner, to prevent clashing.'

It was then proposed by the Master, and seconded by Mr. E. C. Merritt, 'that the secretary inscribe on the minutes a recognition of the loss sustained by the association in general, and the Central Division in particular, by the death of Mr. A. D. Mills, for over 20 years captain of the Crawley branch, and of Mr. F. Hounsell, who combined the offices of captain and secretary during the greater part of the last 40 years at Cuckfield. This being agreed to, the meeting closed, after the usual vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, his address at the service, and for his kindness in providing tea.

The belfry was again visited until 8 o'clock, when the bells were lowered in peal, Grandsire, Stedman, Treble Bob, Double Norwich, Superlative, Cambridge, London and Bristol being rung.

The towers represented were: Balcombe, Brighton (St. Peter's), Crawley, East Grinstead, Henfield, Hurstpierpoint and Lindfield. Messrs. White, Green and Latter, of Tunbridge Wells, was also present, as was Mr. J. H. Shepherd, Swindon.

All the local arrangements for this meeting were most satisfactorily carried out by the East Grinstead branch, to whom thanks are tendered. Further meetings of the Division will be held as follows: Seaford (June), Balcombe (August), and Hurstpierpoint (October).

WESTERN DIVISION.

The annual meeting of this division was held at Horsham on Saturday, March 22nd, 26 members and friends being present from the following towers: Billingshurst, Pulborough, Slinfold, Heene, West Tarring, Kirdford, Guildford, Shere, Warnham, Warminglid and Portsmouth, as well as members of the local band.

The standard methods were practised till five o'clock, when 'high tea' was partaken of at the Queen's Head Hotel.

At the business meeting, with Major Hughes D'Aeth presiding, the following new members were elected: Messrs. W. Sapp, E. Sapp, and F. Ford, of Kirdford; W. S. Ayling, Pulborough; L. Borer, West Tarring; S. Paice, Horsham; Wm. Hooper, Warnham; P. Wood, W. J. Wicks, Wm. Stemp, C. Cheal, J. Feist, F. Skinner, and T. Newman, of Billingshurst.

The following officers were re-elected for the ensuing year: Mr. A. W. Groves, divisional secretary; Messrs. Deick, Lindup and Challen, representatives on the general committee; Messrs. Charman, Burdfield and Burtenshaw, committees of advice.

Felpham was chosen for the next quarterly meeting.

A vote of thanks was accorded to Major Hughes D'Aeth for presiding; to the Vicar of Horsham for granting the use of the bells; and to Mr. S. Paice for making the necessary arrangements, brought the meeting to a close.

VARIETY IN RINGING. METHODS WORTH CONSIDERATION.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—It was with pleasure I read in last week's issue the remarks of Mr. J. W. Parker, anent the lack of variety in peals of Triples. It is, I think, a matter which can well be ventilated. Undoubtedly Stedman is the 'Queen' of Triple methods, but it is not all bands who can attain to this, particularly in isolated towers, where the company have to depend almost entirely on their local and often limited resources; consequently their efforts are confined to Grandsire ringing.

I see no reason why this should be. There are other methods well worth their consideration. Oxford Bob is interesting, and not at all difficult. A choice of any of the compositions of Mr. J. Carter in the method would bring out the beauties of Union.

Court Bob Triples, with its quick working and beautiful music, is well worth ringing in any tower. I feel certain that no band who took this up would have any regrets. The many compositions of Mr. J. J. Parker in all of these methods give a wide range of choice, and no company who added them to their repertoire need be despised.

The same remarks might, in some cases, apply to Major ringing. I, for one, fully realise the difficulties an isolated company have to contend with. It is (however ambitious one may feel) almost an impossibility to attain to the higher flights, so the attention is perhaps confined to Bob Major.

May I recommend to any such a trial of College Single? They would, I am sure, find their efforts well rewarded. It is a method interesting to ring, and its musical qualities leave nothing to be desired.—Yours faithfully,

Warnham, Sussex.

HEREFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

VETERAN CLERGYMAN RENEWS ACQUAINTANCE WITH BELFRY.

The first quarterly meeting for the year 1924 of the Ludlow and Church Stretton District was held at Tenbury on March 22nd, the scheduled date, March 15th, having been altered to avoid clashing with the Central Committee meeting arranged for that day at Hereford.

In the unavoidable absence of the Vicar (the Rev. E. F. Winnington Ingram), the Rev. G. Sylvester conducted the Guild service, and also delivered an appropriate address. The ringers were delighted to find his enthusiasm for ringing was still very keen, for, despite the fact that he had passed the age of threescore years and ten, he ascended the steep stairway to the belfry, and rang the third up in peal, although he had not handled a bell for some 20 years. At that period he was a member of the Surrey Association.

The welcome on this occasion was equally as cordial as in December, 1922. The Vicar once again most generously provided tea. Mrs. Bernard Ashley and her daughter very kindly assisted at the tables, having previously made perfect arrangements in regard to demand and supply. Mr. Miles also favoured the Guild with his welcome service at the organ.

The business meeting was about to commence, when the Vicar unexpectedly arrived from Stourbridge, and was warmly greeted by the assembled company, amongst whom were the following: Rev. and Mrs. Sylvester, Mr. Miles, Mr. J. P. Hyett, of Hay (who journeyed upwards of 90 miles to attend), and the District Ringing Master (the Rev. H. S. T. Richardson), together with ringers from Berrington, Bitterley, Bromfield, Ludlow, and St. Mary's, Tenbury.

The district secretary (Mr. P. Lane) read the report, and a letter from the Master of the Guild (Mr. J. G. Buchanan, of Hereford), was also read.

The Rev. Sylvester was unanimously elected as hon. member.

Hearty votes of thanks were accorded to all who had helped to make the day such an enjoyable one.

Practice in Grandsire and Bob Doubles was freely indulged in during the afternoon and evening, and for the service a well-struck 720 Bob Minor was rung by the following: M. W. Bott 1, Rev. H. S. T. Richardson (conductor) 2, P. Lane 3, Geo. Randle 4, A. R. Harrison 5, J. P. Hyett 6.

Twenty-two members managed to pack themselves into the belfry, which is a very small one.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

'A new peal of eight bells by Pack and Chapman, of White Chappel, London, and hung by Samuel Turner their Bellhanger,' was opened at Uppingham, Rutland, on March 25th, 1773. The opening peal (Holt's Ten Part) was rung on the bells on the same day by Nottingham ringers, conducted by William Doubleday Crofts.

Twenty-five years ago yesterday, members of the Kent County Association rang 15,072 Double Norwich at Erith, in 9 hrs. 24 mins.

The first known peal of Treble Bob Royal was rung on April 7th, 1741, by the Eastern Scholars, at St. Sepulchre's, Snow Hill, London. It was a 5,600 in the Oxford Variation. Some doubt was cast upon the truth of the peal by the following satirical lines, which were given on a tablet erected to record a 5,000 in the same method rung in the following May on the same bells by the College Youths:—

'When merit's justly due, a Little praise then serveth;
A good peal needs no frame,
A bad one none deserveth.'

Mr. Jasper Snowdon in his 'History of Treble Bob,' inclines to the opinion that the Eastern Scholars' peal was perhaps a 'bad' one rather than a false one.

The longest peal on record, the 40,320 Bob Major at Leeds, Kent, rung by thirteen men, was commenced on April 7th, 1761, and completed on April 8th.

On April 7th, 1801, a peal of 5,220 Court Bob Royal was rung at Shoreditch.

April 8th is the anniversary of the 12,160 Bristol Surprise Major rung at Knebworth, Herts, in 7 hrs. 18 mins., in the year 1912, by the Hertford County Association.

During the contest in connection with the Halifax and District Association at Lowmoor on Saturday, it was stated that Mr. John Garforth, of Dewsbury, had passed away on the previous day. At the subsequent meeting a vote of condolence was passed with his family, but, happily, the rumour of his death was unfounded, although Mr. Garforth is very ill.

We notice that the Yorkshire Association is to hold a meeting at Beverley on Easter Monday. As a reminder to our readers this will provide a great chance for ringers in general to visit this historical town with its two fine old churches and two magnificent peals of ten, both by Taylor. To have a pull at both churches and then take a walk on the Westwood and listen to the bells is something to be remembered, especially if 'Great John,' the Bourdon bell, of 7 tons, is being rung at the same time as the peal at the Minster. Beverley is an ideal place for a week-end, having a good motor service to the outlying districts.

It is pleasing to record another peal by a band of Freemasons. This was rung at Garston, under the auspices of the Lancashire Association, on Saturday. The first Masons' peal was rung at St. Clement Dances by the College Youths.

Two peals in one day were a great rarity 170 years ago, but John Holt took part in a peal of 5,800 Double Bob Major and a peal of 5,040 of Bob Major at Hillingdon, Middlesex, on April 9th, 1751.

SAMUEL THURSTON.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—It was with interest and pleasure that I read the article on the late Samuel Thurston, which appeared this week in 'The Ringing World.' I cannot, however, understand how it was reported that Mr. Thurston was bedridden for some time before his death. It has always been explained to me that this famous ringer died suddenly on a Sunday morning, after partaking of a heavy supper, consisting of eels, at a public-house somewhere in the neighbourhood of St. Michael at Coslany. The suddenness of Mr. Thurston's death will be understood when I state that on the morning he died a parishioner called at his house, requesting that the 'passing' bell might be rung for a relation that had died the previous night, only to be informed that Thurston was dead himself.

In your issue of 'The Ringing World,' dated 22nd May, 1914, appeared a copy of a painting which was supposed to have been of Samuel Thurston. This was, I believe, forwarded to you by Mr. G. P. Burton, both he and I are of the opinion now that this is really a painting of a Norwich musician.

I have in my possession a copy (photograph) of the painting of Thurston standing in the belfry at St. Peter Mancroft, with a rope in one hand and a MS. in the other, the latter inscribed 'The Art of Ringing Made Easy.' I am under the impression I am the only one to have such a copy in Norwich.—Yours sincerely, GEO. H. CROSS.

[There is not much doubt that Thurston died suddenly, and the statement that he was able to hear the bells by means of an ear-horn while lying bedridden would seem to be a contradiction, although this appears in the biographical details from which we took our extracts.—Ed. 'R.W.']

THE FIRST PEAL OF TREBLE TEN.

The anniversary of the first peal of Treble Bob Royal, which occurs next week, makes interesting two of the peal boards hung in the steeple of St. Sepulchre's Church, Snow Hill, London, where the Eastern Scholars achieved this first performance.

When merit's justly due a little praise than serveth,
A good peal needs no fame, a bad one none deserveth.

Probably the first 'ring' of bells which hung in St. Sepulchre's tower comprised six bells brought from St. Bartholomew's Priory at the Dissolution. They were cast by Thomas Bullesdon early in the sixteenth century.

There were 'ten tuneable bells, which made a pleasant harmony when rung in peal,' in the tower in the year 1708; but these appear to have been recast into the present peal of ten in 1739 by Samuel Knight, of the Holborn foundry, and several of them were later recast at different times at Whitechapel. The ninth bears the inscription: 'Samuel Knight cast us all and Robert Catlin made the frame and hung us all, 1739.'

The tenor at this church used to be rung on the day condemned prisoners at Newgate were executed, a bequest for the purpose have been left in 1605 by one Robert Dowe.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

NOTTINGHAM DISTRICT MEETING.

On Saturday last a meeting of the Nottingham district was held at Trowel and Stanton-by-Dale. Arrangements had been made to meet at Trowel at 2 p.m., and the Vicar (the Rev. Guest Williams) kindly allowed an hour's ringing on this unique peal of six. The bells are frightfully out of tune, but nevertheless the ringing was enjoyed by those present, if only for the novelty of hearing them. At 3 p.m. about 40 ringers and friends paid an extremely interesting visit to the Stanton Iron Works, Mr. John Branson, an official, kindly conducting the party through the various departments. The visitors were much interested in all they saw, from the large engine rooms and furnaces, where the molten iron ore was being transferred from the furnace to the sanded beds to be cast into large blocks of pig iron, to the departments where the metal was melted and cast into pipes of various sizes and lengths, and also tested to stand pressure, etc. Then the party inspected the recently added plant called the Hume Pipe Plant, from which is made a new form of concrete pipe of all sizes and lengths. The visitors spent about two hours in the works, and the tour was greatly enjoyed by all. The works are among the largest of the kind in this country.

The party then made their way to Stanton-by-Dale to the music of this musical ring of six bells, and to enjoy a bounteous tea which had been arranged for by Messrs. George and Gobey, of Ilkeston. By this time the number had increased to between 40 and 50 ringers and friends.

Mr. Albert Coppock, vice-president, presided, supported by Messrs. F. Blood (local hon. secretary), W. E. White and W. A. Janes (committee), the Rev. C. J. Sturton (Vicar of Orston), Mrs. Coppock, Mrs. E. C. Gobey and Miss Ida Thompson, etc., and representatives from the following towers: Beeston, Bulwell, Basford, Breaston, Cotgrave, Ilkeston, Daybrook, Southwell Cathedral, Greasley, St. Mary's and St. Peter's, Nottingham. A bountiful tea had been provided by the host of the Chequers Inn, to which full justice was done, and thoroughly enjoyed, after the busy afternoon.

The business meeting which followed was presided over by the vice-president.

One ringing member was elected from Greasley, and the Rev. A. P. Sharpe, of Ilkeston, as an hon. member. Mr. Sharpe is a very warm friend of the ringers.

The Vice-President proposed, and Mr. W. C. Hunt seconded, a very hearty vote of thanks to Messrs. J. F. George and E. C. Gobey, and Mr. Branson, for arranging the tour of the works, and for tea.—This being put to the meeting, was unanimously carried, Mr. Gobey replying.

Mr. W. E. White next proposed a vote of thanks to the two Vicars for kindly placing the towers at the service of the ringers during the afternoon and evening, and expressed regret that neither of those gentlemen was present with the party at tea.—Mr. W. Taylor seconded, and the motion was unanimously carried.

The place of the next meeting was then discussed.—Long Eaton was proposed by Mr. Hale, and Southwell by Mr. W. White. On being put to the meeting, Southwell received 19 votes and Long Eaton five. Southwell was, therefore, selected, and the meeting will be held on May 3rd.

This concluded the business, and the ringers adjourned to the tower, the bells being kept going in various methods until 8.30 p.m.

NOMENCLATURE OF MINOR METHODS. A SUGGESTED 'NOTICE OF MOTION.'

To the Editor.

Sir,—Is it not probable that, in their desire to ensure that something shall be done to secure a desirable change in the names of some of the Minor methods, the Leytonstone Association will confuse the issue by submitting alternative suggestions to a number of associations in order to ascertain their views? This course, it seems to me, is most likely to lead to divergent opinions, with the result that the framing of any resolution to put before the Central Council will be a most difficult matter. Moreover, there is little time, before the notice of motion must be sent in to the secretary, for ascertaining the views of others. What I should like to suggest to the Leytonstone Association, if they will not deem me impertinent for so doing, is that they should find a member of the Council—and no one could do it better than the Master of their own association, if he could find time to attend the meeting in London—who would hand in a notice of motion in the following terms: 'To call attention to the nomenclature employed in the Central Council's Collection of Minor methods, and to move a resolution.' This would ensure the subject getting on to the agenda, without for the moment committing the proposer to the terms of his ultimate motion, and would give more time to collect the views of other associations, and frame the resolution. It should not be overlooked that notice of motion has to be given before April 26th.

I should like to add that I agree with much that has been written in your columns with regard to the names given to some of these methods. I would suggest that only 'geographical' names should be applied. This would retain the counties, cities, towns, villages and lakes within the category, but get rid of such titles as those chosen from the garden. I realise the difficulties which would be met with, if the change went beyond the names bestowed by the Analysis Committee, but I do not know that these are insuperable. Some of those who object to altering the old names, have the idea that it would involve, in principle, an attack upon the ancient titles of Grandsire, Bob, Stedman, and the like. But I would submit that these names are in no way affected by the suggestion. They are in the same class as 'Treble Bob,' and it is only the prefix, which describes the variety of Treble Bob or Delight, or Exercise, that it is sought to change.

But if there is among ringers a general desire to retain old titles, a change of names given to methods prior to the Central Council's Committee's report need not be stressed. If we cannot alter the nomenclature of the past, let us, however, concentrate our attention on preventing lapses into absurdity in the present and the future.

The Analysis Committee at no time sought the opinion of ringers as to the type of name they should give to methods, and they can hardly claim that they had a mandate to do exactly as they pleased without criticism from the Council. During the months which have elapsed since their report was submitted, I dare say reflection has shown that their choice was not in every case a happy one, and I anticipate that, when next the Council meet, they will be ready to reconsider the whole question.—Yours truly,

H. WALLIS.

A SUGGESTED CLASSIFICATION OF NAMES.

Dear Sir,—As an old member of the Leytonstone band, may I offer a word in support of their appeal to the Exercise to revise the names of the Minor methods.

Seeing that ringing is so closely connected with church work, I would suggest that a good plan would be as follows:—

- (a) That Surprise methods be named after our Cathedral cities.
- (b) That Treble Bob methods be named after the old Abbeys.
- (c) That Plain methods be named after minsters or noted churches.

Where methods already bear a name appropriate to the above classification that name be retained.

There should be no difficulty in securing the three signatures of delegates, and to frame a motion on this or similar lines in time for the next conference.

I trust the idea may materialise.—Yours truly,

T. HERVEY BEAMS.

'THE BLACKSMITH'S MAGAT.'

Dear Sir,—I have read in your issues of recent date the various discussions on 'Names,' and can't resist just weighing up the 'for and against' of the case. After all, what's in a name? Were Goode Mistress Peppery consulted I have no doubt she would declare, after reading the evidence, that it appeared to be the makings of a 'just clarse scrap' among the many Campanians who hold opinions as to what a name should be. On paper it is merely a row of ornate hieroglyphics or something that looks as though a spider had run wet-foot over the manuscript; that all depends on the calligraphy of the gentleman addressing our good Editor. In grammar it is, I believe, a noun, as to whether it is proper, common or abstract, depends entirely on the point of view of the—shall we be grammatical, and call him the 'first person or person speaking'? He, of course, is liable, like public opinion, to change his mind. Names of great persons have fallen into disfavour. A certain city in Russia, once Petrograd, changed to Petersburg, and has been Leningrad. During the late war streets in English towns had their names changed, and, dare I whisper it? our royal family is now known as Windsor not Wettin. Names of methods may do the same. It will be impossible to suit the palate of the whole Exercise. The euphoniaics will have their line of argument, the sentimentalists theirs, the patriots have views on the subject, the clerical party have a voice in the matter. An argument was recently advanced against Lancashire on the score of euphony, the patriots had their say, and won. A certain method was called Immanuel, and a certain cleric advanced an argument against it, though I believe more than one good soul has gone to his rest with that name, and I never remember hearing that his mother had been rebuked by the parson for voicing that name at the hapless infant's baptism. I believe that after a person has once received a name a lot of legal formalities have to be gone through before that name can be changed, however foolish that name may appear, and most names have good reasons for their bestowal. And it is not the province of any committee to take away any name once it has the seal of 'copyright.' I have before me as I write a vellum book once the property of and written by one Thos. Old, in the years 1720—1784. It contains a score of methods on five bells, and after the methods Evening Contentment and the Blacksmith's Magat appears the entry: 'On Sunday, Jan. ye 4th, 1734, the bells were raised, lowered and fished (P) and sundry six-scores rung by the following'—then follow the names. Those names would furnish material for a first-class argument as to their fitness, not to mention ridicule from the Press and uninitiated B.P.; and what name has caused more ridicule in the Press than Grandsire Triples? But when all is said, the right to call one's offspring what you like is undeniable.

We have a new name now before us: Pudsey to wit; what will the euphoniaics say to that? Pudsey is a very thriving town between Leeds and Bradford (the Yorkshire, Leeds and Bradford, if you please, Mr. Editor, some folk are sticklers for precision). It stands on a hill (Pudsey, not precision) and commands a fine view of the countryside, and its really fine tower contains a ring of eight bells. Local wit says that a certain worthy habitant of tender heart did put his pig on the wall to see the band go by. There is no doubt that sentiment was the prime factor in deciding on 'Pudsey' as the name of a good method. Local wit (of sorts) and euphony were not thought of. And were there a ring of six in a certain little village on the Island of Anglesey, hard by the Menai Bridge, the ringers there would have a perfect right in law to call a method by the name of that village. Whether or not the Editor would welcome many pearls of it I dare not surmise. But in a nutshell, our Council had no right to sanction the bestowal of new names on methods already named, and they were ill advised to bestow greengrocery titles, but in all our arguments we must bear in mind that a name is only a symbol whereby one is known among one's fellows. 'Tis merely that which differentiates the one from the other.—Yours truly,

ONCE A BEGINNER.

NUMBERS OBJECTED TO.

Sir,—I quite agree with Mr. George Dawson in most of his arguments, but I must take exception to one, viz., that all names be abolished, and that methods be known by numbers only. It might answer in time, but, like the Scot, 'I hae me doots.' There are plenty of good names that can be used, either after counties or cities. All others I would sweep away, including Trinity Sunday and Easter Sunday. What is wanted is a system of naming that can be understood even by a SIMPLE SIMON.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

A well-attended meeting of the Rossendale Branch of the Lancashire Association was held at St. Nicholas', Newchurch, on Saturday, March 15th. Ringing commenced at 3.30, and was kept going until 9 o'clock with the exception of a small break for tea and meeting. The Rector of Newchurch kindly provided a 'hot pot,' which was thoroughly enjoyed, and for which he was most heartily thanked.

Five new members were admitted to the association. The touches rung during the afternoon and evening included Grandsire, Bob Major, Bob Minor, Kent, Oxford, Stedman and Double Norwich.

A vote of thanks to the church officers and to the ringers brought the meeting to a close.

Every tower in the branch was represented, besides Church Kirk and Burnley.

A RINGER FOR FORTY YEARS.

For over forty years a ringer at St. Mary's Church, Shaw, Newbury, Berks, Mr. J. Owen has recently passed away, and on Saturday evening, March 29th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes), in 48 mins., was rung with the bells half-muffled as a token of respect: T. Curtis (Beeson) 1, C. Poole (Newbury) 2, E. Crocker (Newbury) 3, S. Quintin (Newbury) 4, H. W. Curtis (conductor) 5.

BISHOP AND BULKINGTON BELLS.

A COVENTRY COMMENT.

It is refreshing after some of the extraordinary effusions relating to bells and ringing which appear in the newspapers, to read an informed and reasoned article such as that which appeared in 'The Coventry Standard' on March 22nd. The occasion for the comment was the address of the Bishop of Coventry given at the dedication of the bells at Bulkington, Warwickshire, to which we referred in our last issue. The Bishop's address was an inspiring one, and we take the liberty of reproducing here the 'Coventry Standard's' leading article on the subject.

We are very pleased to be able to report fully the admirable address which was given by the Lord Bishop of Coventry on the occasion of the dedication of the reconstructed peal of bells in Bulkington Church tower. The parishioners of Bulkington have worked hard and given generously for this object, and its completion—as far as present proposals go—is a matter upon which they are to be profoundly congratulated. One of the points made by the Bishop had relation to the continuity of the bells. Out of remote ages the present bells of Bulkington have come. There are some, possibly many, older bells than these; but they suffice as an illustration. Out of the ages which are past their music has descended to the villagers—a goodly heritage; into the ages which are come their music has been projected by the restoration as it were. Doubtless the thought occurred to some on Saturday, in the inimitable language of the poet, "And so 'twill be when we are gone. These tuneful bells will still ring on." It was an affecting point. His Lordship also dwelt on the common love of the people for bells, and the cosmopolitan character of the appeal of bells. "Around our systematic life," he said, "the bells play their part. They ring on our wedding day; they ring as our soul passes across the river to the undiscovered country; they ring here to the young when we lay our weary bodies in the dust, leaving them behind while our souls seek a fresh tent from the hand of God. In all the great moments of life, at the wedding, at the funeral of father, of mother, and of child, now filled with joy, now deep in sympathy, we hear our bells; but most of all we hear them as they speak to us of the worship of God."

His lordship, too, made some grateful references to the ringers of the bells and to bell ringers in general. He spoke of them as Christian helpers, and reminded his hearers that Bunyan himself was a ringer. There is much to be thankful for to-day in the fact that bell ringing is done more in the spirit of Bunyan himself than in the graceless spirit of so many of his contemporaries—those who gave him occasion for heart-searching in respect of his own connection with this immediate matter—and of many of the ringers of former generations. They, chiefly, were with the Church, but not of it; they sought the gratification of exhibiting their own skill and indulging in a pleasurable occupation; the thought that they were Christian helpers was a stranger to the multitude of them. Associations like the Warwickshire Guild of Bell Ringers have been responsible for much of the change. They are essentially reverent institutions; they recognise the inherent character of the work which their members do, and insist on the cultivation of a proper spirit for the doing of it. And the attitude of the clergy towards the belfry and its occupants—from Bishops downwards—has had much to do with the change, too. Dr. Yeatman-Biggs, while he was our Diocesan, spoke highly of the work of the Warwickshire Guild, and illustrated the new attitude of the clergy. "Anyone who was as old as he was," he said, "could remember how the belfry was the place where many things happened that were not seemly. It was a hidden place, where things could go on which could not go on in the open. The bell ringers were often chosen from by no means the best of men, and it used to be a kind of idea that the bell ringer did not go to church. But if bell ringers called people to church and then did not go and worship God themselves they could not be said to practise what they preached, and they would not command the same amount of respect as the men who called and then went. The Warwickshire Guild of Bell Ringers was supposed to help the ringers to live up to the standard which they proclaimed. There was no body of men that he had more sympathy for in his Diocese than that large body of men doing God's work in His Church, many of them for no money at all, but simply because they wanted to do something for Him." The present Bishop advanced a point beyond this. What Dr. Yeatman-Biggs saw in part he sees more fully—he recognises the advance which has been made in right directions even within the few years which intervene between the time of the utterances of Dr. Yeatman-Biggs and his own time—that is to-day.

Many of the clergy, as we have said, take a much greater interest in this phase of Church work. When the Rev. A. R. F. Hyslop was Rector of Stoke he suggested a movement in his own parish which might well be taken, both there and in other parishes, too. He was desirous of forming a Guild of Bell Ringers, for the uplifting of the occupation itself and of those who take part in it. Mr. Hyslop in this, as in some other matters, solicited the help of our correspondent, "Spectator in Warwickshire," who knows something of the art of ringing, and he wrote, after speaking of the fascination of the pursuit: "The boys and girls who may join the Rector's Band of Ringers at Stoke will find it so, I am sure; they will find it an occupation which will not only bring them infinite pleasure, but will teach them—if they are willing to be taught—habits of punctuality and instant precision which will be of great service in their walk of life, whatever it may be. A boy or a girl without a due sense of the value of precision will never make a bell ringer; if he or she have the quality in embryo, as it were, ringing will cultivate and encourage the growth of it, and if its lessons be truly learnt the learner's part in life will be played with a greater sense of the responsibility of the individual, not only to his immediate co-workers, but to the whole of the community." Membership of such a Guild is, as it were, the stone flung into the water, or as the radiator for wireless; it has ever-widening circles. We hope that all Churchpeople will read the Bishop's address, and that at all churches with bells the spirit of it will be fully active, and that the suggestion of Mr. Hyslop for Stoke will yet be adopted there, and at Bulkington, and that it will spread to other parishes. The little Guilds would be branches of the greater Guilds, and thus the good work would be increased and extended."

DEVON GUILD'S JUBILEE.

The Devon Guild has just celebrated its jubilee, for it was on March 21st, 1874, at a meeting in St. Paul's Schoolroom, Exeter, that the Guild was formed. Mr. W. J. Southwood, the present hon. secretary of the Exeter Branch, was one of those present at the meeting.

St. Sidwell's band, Exeter, visited Thorverton, Devon, on Saturday, March 22nd, and attempted a peal of Stedman Triples to celebrate the jubilee, but the peal came to grief after ringing 2,500 changes.

A jubilee peal was, however, rung at Sowton.

WIGAN BRANCH OF THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—May I, through the columns of 'The Ringing World,' draw the attention of the chief officials of the Lancashire Association to the demise of the above branch. The secretary resigned over a month ago, and apparently no successor has been appointed, or is in contemplation.

It seems to me that this youngest of our branches never got really on its feet, though, no doubt, the odds against it were very great. There is a large area in the Wigan, Ormskirk and Southport districts where change ringing is at a very low ebb, and where 'The Ringing World' is practically unknown. It would need a really good secretary and some equally good friends to work this district up, and perhaps headquarters will now take up the matter.—Yours faithfully,

Walton-le-Dale.

RINGING ROYAL FOR 'THREE GENERATIONS.'

Long peals are in the air, and he would be a bold man who could ring the extent of Royal; but the writer got the following notice on the 22nd: "Joe, you have got to be at Stockton on the 25th, at 6 p.m., to ring Kent Royal for three generations!!" Having lungs as big as a blacksmith's bellows he went, but was pleased to discover that the peal was really an event of importance in local ringing circles; and though a record—not a long peal—an event which seldom occurs in the great ringing centres, and is almost unknown in the Northland. It was specially arranged to enable Mr. William Newton, the genial custodian of Stockton bells, to ring a 'Three Generation' peal with his son and grandson, and (keep it dark!) he told the writer to keep in training, as he had a great-grandson coming along. The peal was a great success, in spite of the fact that some thrifty churchgoer thought that too much electricity was being used, and switched off the lights on two occasions, "just for economy's sake"? But there are such things as memories and coursing orders, and all's well that ends as well as the last course of a peal like that. Congratulations to the three generations, especially the sprightly 70-year-old veteran; congratulations to the second ringer on his first of Treble Ten; congratulations to Alf. Bacon, for it was his 'fifty' (not out); and congratulations to Tom Hensher on scoring his first Treble Ten, after attempts covering a period of 25 years. It was the first of Royal in Stockton tower for 15 years, and we hope to help Mr. Newton with the Four Generation job.

A RINGERS' 'STRIKE.'

DISPUTE WITH VICAR AT WINSHILL.

It was reported on Saturday that the ringers at Winshill, Burton-on-Trent, had resigned as a protest against the Vicar's refusal to allow them to ring muffled for two parishioners who have passed away.

Worshippers on Sunday were summoned to church as usual, however, for the Vicar, the Rev. A. H. Price, after meeting with many refusals, secured volunteers.

The dispute between the Vicar and the bell ringers has been in progress for six months. It arose from the Vicar's refusal to allow a muffled peal to be rung when a popular parishioner, who attended another church, and whose family are Nonconformist, died.

Later, the Vicar declined to allow a mourning peal for a man who had been a member of the choir for 30 years, but had recently severed his connection with it.

The men say that they resent these refusals, and are dissatisfied about the withdrawal of their old privilege to ring wedding or mourning peals for members of their families.

The strikers say they would rather do the work voluntarily (their pay is £15 a year between eight) than have to ask frequently for the Vicar's permission to ring the bells.

The Vicar declines to make a statement for publication, but it is understood that he regrets the attitude of the ringers in seeking powers to ring the bells without his permission, as the bells are his property for the time being.

WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

GUILDFORD DISTRICT MEETINGS.

A meeting of the Guildford District was held at Merrow and Clandon, on Saturday last, the attendance being very good. The bells were available from 3 p.m., and touches in various Minor and Doubles methods were brought round. A service was held in Merrow Church, conducted by the Rector (the Rev. J. Polliser David), who also gave an excellent address. The Guild form of service was used, and Miss Margaret Simmonds presided at the organ.

A capital tea was provided at the Village Hall, presided over by the Rector. After tea a short business meeting was held, at which one new member was elected.

The usual vote of thanks was passed to the Rector for the use of the church and bells, and for conducting the service, and to Miss M. Simmonds for so kindly acting as organist.

After some touches on handbells by Mr. and Mrs. Hazelden, Messrs. Radford and Melville, and Major J. H. B. Hesse, the members dispersed, some to again visit Merrow belfry, but the majority wended their way to Clandon to ring on the fine peal of six there.

A district meeting was also held recently at Haslemere, where Messrs. Taylor and Co. have lately installed a beautiful peal of eight bells which were available during afternoon and evening. The Rector (the Rev. W. Wragge) conducted the service, assisted by the Rev. O. S. Walford. A short address was given by the Rector. After tea a short business meeting was held, the Rev. O. S. Walford presiding.

The Ringing Master (Mr. A. C. Hazelden) gave a summary of the ringing performances during the quarter.

Four probationers, two full members, one honorary and one compounding member were elected.

Several touches on handbells were brought round, after which some of the members returned to the tower, where further ringing was indulged in, the ringers expressing themselves highly pleased with the tone and 'go' of the bells.

THE FALSE PEAL AT WYE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—On behalf of the company who rang the false peal at Wye, I wish to thank Mr. G. Billenness for his apology for giving me the figures of the same.

I think it a pity that it turned out false, as three of the band should have had their first peal on that day, one of whom has now not rung one, and it was also my first as conductor. For my part I now consider the matter closed.—Yours truly, HARRY PARKES.

THORVERTON.—On Tuesday, March 25th, at the Parish Church, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes), in 46 mins., as a welcome to the Vicar (the Rev. — Shaw), who had returned from a nursing home: J. H. Gill 1, W. Lethbridge 2, F. J. Milford 3, H. Pook 4, H. Corry 5, J. Ridler 6, F. J. Davey (conductor) 7, R. B. Ford 8.

CHICHESTER.—On Tuesday, March 25th, 1,344 Grandsire Triples, at the Cathedral, in 55 mins.: T. Dick 1, W. Falconer 2, J. H. Blake 3, P. Page 4, G. Marshall 5, W. Ticehurst (longest length as conductor) 6, M. Heffers 7, F. Arthur 8. This touch was arranged for Mr. P. Page, a visitor from Ashford, Kent.

WORK FOR THE COUNCIL.

While efforts are to be made to induce the Central Council to revise some of the names given to methods, we hope that at the forthcoming meeting something will also be done with regard to another matter to which we have frequently alluded, viz., the setting up of a register of peals and methods. The necessity for a file of the former is constantly present with composers who desire to claim only truly original compositions, and the importance of a register of methods is frequently being demonstrated. Only last week there was another instance brought to light. A method, the authorship of which was honestly claimed by a well-known composer, proved to have been previously worked out by another author and actually practised three years ago. Now, no one will blame Mr. Arthur Craven. He has done a tremendous amount of 'exploration' in regard to methods, and his discovery (or would it be more correct to say construction?) of Pudsey was only one of the many methods which he has obtained in perfectly independent investigation. But this does not give him the right to the method, unless it happens that his figures were of prior date to Mr. John Carter's, and only then, we presume, if they had been published or rung. The question of what constitutes 'publication' is one which is open to debate, although we are not aware that it occurs in connection with Pudsey. But Mr. Carter's claim to prior authorship does certainly emphasise once more the real need that exists for the Council to establish a reference list of all available methods. They should take as the nucleus the figures of all methods that have been rung, and then let authors submit their hitherto unpublished methods so that they may be classified and tabulated. When this is being done, any rival claims to a method could be settled by proof of date of composition, and the Council would then have the basis of a register which would be added to as the years go on, and which would remain for ever as proof of what had been obtained. All future claims would have to stand or fall upon priority of registry when once the file of existing methods had been set up. This is a work which the Council could and should take in hand at once: it would add to their sphere of usefulness and provide for the library an invaluable work of reference.

What applies to methods, applies equally to peal compositions, although it must be admitted that the multiplicity of the latter would make the task of compilation a good deal greater than that involved in dealing with the methods. But a register of peal compositions is none the less necessary, and the longer it is left the more formidable will the undertaking become. It is necessary in order that composers may know whether their work is original, and in order that those who take up this phase of the art in the future may not rob the composers of the past of the fruits of their work. We hope the Council will realise not only the importance of this particular piece of work, but also that the time to set about it is now.

PUDSEY SURPRISE

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Kindly allow me space in your valuable columns in which to reply to Mr. Carter on the above subject. I was not aware that Mr. Carter had published these same figures in your columns in December, 1919, the reason being that during the war period, and up to 1920, I was in no way connected with ringing matters, nor did I see a ringing paper for months at a time, or I should have made known my present information.

I composed Yorkshire Surprise in 1893, and published it in 'Bell News,' I think, in September, 1899. I gave my special choice to the Yorkshire variation simply because the bells turn up in Bob Major order both in front and behind; in fact, they are coursing in proper order in front when the treble leaves 3-4 up until she returns to 3-4 down, whilst in the reverse the coursing order is broken when the treble is in 5-6 up and down.

Now, in 1920 I set to work to improve both variations on ten bells, with the result that Princess Mary Royal evolved from the Pudsey variation, and one I have not published came from the Yorkshire variation, with an opposite result, Princess Mary having an unbroken Bob Major coursing order in front and behind, while its sister has it broken in front for one dodge. If Mr. Dexter cares to examine this without bias, or cares to write to me on the matter, he will soon be satisfied that I do not find reverse variations by chance. — Yours truly,

ARTHUR CRAVEN.

INDISTINCT BELLS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In reply to Mr. Patten's quest for information in your issue of Mar. 28th, pages 142 and 142 of 'Bell Towers and Bell Hanging,' by the late Sir Arthur Heywood, give him all he wants to know. In case he does not possess a copy of that book, I append the extract.

I attended a meeting of the Gloucester and Bristol Association at Cheltenham soon after their augmentation to twelve, and noticed that it had been applied to the two trebles there, and I could hear them beautifully.—Yours,

E. BARNETT, Junr.

The extract from Sir Arthur Heywood's book is as follows: 'It often happens that the sound of the lighter bells of a "ring" is drowned in the ringing chamber by the more sonorous voices of the heavy ones, more especially is this the case when small bells are "hoisted" above the big ones. This defect may be overcome by fixing wooden spouts, about three inches square, from the ceiling of the ringing chamber to the bells that are indistinctly heard. The top of the spout should open into a sound-gatherer (i.e., an open box) as near as possible to the upturned mouth of the bell when set. A slide may be arranged either at the top or bottom of the spout to reduce the opening as desired, and thus control the volume of sound sent down the tube. A superior plan to this is a funnel-shaped galvanised iron bowl inverted close over the upturned bell it is desired to hear, a separate bowl being used for each badly-heard bell; a 3 or 4-inch tube, opening into the bowl above, is curved round and brought down through the ringing chamber ceiling. . . . Zinc, as a material for these bowls and tubes, is easier to work, lighter, and may be made to occupy less room; but is not so durable as galvanised iron.'

A reply to the inquiry was sent direct to Mr. Patten by Major J. H. B. Hesse.

SPliced QUICK SIX AND ERIN TRIPLES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I sincerely congratulate Mr. Parker on his able article on Spliced Triples, and I trust this method of splicing will be taken up by the Exercise.

The two courses he has published are splendid examples of symmetry, and should be found extremely interesting to ring. For the information of those who may wish to ring Quick Six Triples at any time, I shall be glad if you will publish the following example of Quick Six Triples spliced with Erin and a peal of same.

This plan will go a little way towards relieving the monotony of the long slow work in this method, and in this peal there are no pairs of bobs and no singles as in the original form.—Yours faithfully,

A. J. PITMAN.

'IRENÆUS PISTOR' PLAYFULLY REVIEWS CURRENT TOPICS.

Well, I do declare! every time Gea. Five's errand lad brings my 'Ringing World' from the G.P.O., I bust the wrapper, and I take a bit of a glance at its contents. At times it 'mecks' me 'air stand on end, sometimes I am shocked. 'Erinstance, awhile ago we had a bit of gambling going on, and 'nobody said nowt,' even when they saw Arthur Lindoff and Gabriel Craven playin' 'pitch and toss' like good 'uns, till the 'COLES' came on the scene. He stopped the bit of a scrap when he tipped up those three bags in front of their doors. And to tell the truth it was a 'Surprise' to Gabriel Craven, but he acted just like a gentleman, when he sez, 'Here, Arthur Lindoff, teck 'em, and no more tossin', 'cos I've lost.' Now when a man goes off like that, it settles the 'argifyin', but Gabriel Craven still sticks to it that 'Tom Sammas' packed that 't'other bag of Yorkshire Royal. P'raps he did, I don't know, but I'm glad they didn't get 'pinched' for tossin'.

And then there is another old chum of mine—'Old Crit.' There's no accounting for him at times—he goes off 'so funny.' Just fancy the effrontery of him. Now I never dreamed of him starting 'Cadging,' and just imagine he wants nowt—No, no, I means he wants 'summet for nowt.' Only a peal of bells. Fancy the cheek of him—'he might get 'em'?'—?—? And he might not, because he might be locked up for taking over a medicancy business, I 'ope not.

An' then I see my old stick er peppermint's on a bit of a pilgrimage (so am I), and do yer know I kept wondering where on earth he had gotten to. Now it's clear as a pikestaff. It's the Bunions family that's put the stumbling-block in his path, and hindered this happy-go-lucky pilgrim in his progress.' Um! And when he gets to the Cutler's Feast he must be careful and not stain the Yorkshire puddin' with that black fluid which is contained within his inkhorn. However, if he has the misfortune to stain that toothsome delicacy with ink—don't worry—'cos HE's got an' excellent preparation to remove inkstains from suety dumplings, and what applies in the case of the dumpling will apply in the case of the puddin's. You just take a rubber an' erase 'em!

And now, Mister Editor, I'm not grumblin', but there's a bit of miss-print in my copy. You know where the Pilgrim sez—'Friar Pistor'll SH—VE me'—now I keep open door to oblige such Gents (specially Pilgrims), but if that missin' letter is the vowel A—it's off! I'm 'avin' nowt to do with shavin'. No, I'm running no risks. I don't wish to incite 'the beste of spouses' to send a half brick wizzin' through my winder, even if I only got a bit of a rap on the 'ed wif the soft end of half a brick. It would mean a few more stitches, and I consider my own Missis, she's got sewin' enough—an' I can't shave a 'NITE.' Axe Bill Barber! But supposin' that missin' letter turned out to be two wot's missin'—a consonant an' a vowel—it would then be SHRIVE. Yesterday I could 'ave obliged him, but he tarried so long by the wayside, till the ashes from our kitchen grate reached right up the 'chimney,' an' my Missis insisted on their removal. What could I do but fetch the 'weel-barrer' in and remove the obstruction? Aye, I am sorry he didn't come soon enough. I've got sufficient to keep sprinkling on his merry pate, till—till, ah! sufficient to berry him—of course, I couldn't have done that! No, I haven't the 'art to do such a dastardly action on my old friend. And that's that! Sir Sammiwell, you're shriven, say 5,040 aves per day.

And then there is George Dawson appealin' to giants like 'W. W.', 'Crit.', 'O. A. BEE,' and 'Peppery,' but he never said anything about 'Arry. Now, that's wot I call slightin' our 'Arry. If he's not as big and giant-like (Crosswise) as any of those other giants, well, there must be summet wrong wif my vision. He didn't axe 'Arry, but he won't be wrath. He's alright, is 'Arry. But George Wots-is-Name wanted to know from all the Giants (except 'Arry) what their views were on the—the—(now I've run agen it)—the Nomenclature of Methods—'crickey, I never thought I could get round that one—but I sed it quick.' No, no, I never dream of dabbling with nomenclature, I'm not eddicated big enough. I should get 'mixed' or pulverised to fine powder like 'Hudson's Dry Soap'—no splicing for me—No, I'm not going to dabble with splicing any more, I've been spliced once, and do you know? every time I cast one glance at Violet, my superfluous rib gives me such a clip across my dial. BIFF! I've had both me I's dotted an' blacked down to me elbows, just for saying 'Violet' once. Eh, our Nancy, she's awful jealous.

And then I've read where littler fellows than Giants have advanced good counsel and advice to our M.P.s. Take the Editor's excellent leaders, for example, it's my opinion that they (the leading articles) have 'Hit' everybody who have one grain of what's called common-sense, from Little Bob, the probationer, to Big 'Arry, of Manchester, who's an' old hand. Then O. A. B. suggests 'a Broom'—that's alright to clear away 'the rubbish'—but in face of the old adage about new brooms, pah! 'twould be useless. What's actually wanted is a good clean 'swine' from our Billy's halberd—battelaxes are far too short in the handle, The halberd would be more effective,

'twould scalp Violet, an' 'twould chop her off at the ankles. Of course, that would allow sufficient for turning up again at the bottom and top, so that she could stand up for Re-christening. But apart from Violet. Yes, and we have got a 'Labour Government,' and we want more houses and yet more houses, but that's not the question, our M.P.s only get £2000 per annum for their services, and we, the electorate, must consider that, and instruct our own representative M.P.s how to vote (beg pardon), I mean whether to vote for or against the retention of the daft, sloppy, flippy, floppy appellations which are holding the Exercise up to ridicule, and causing the fraternity to be the laughing-stock of the general public at large. I don't blame the C.C. for the naming, but sympathise with them. They are in what some people call a 'tangle,' but if they would only insist on a mandate from their own constituencies, and act on the instructions, we should soon see and hear whether the names be retained or swept away.

Assuming that the names are dropped, without some hard and fixed rule is made, the trouble will not be ended. Those remaining will cause lots of trouble. I have not the remotest idea what would be the most suitable lines to work upon if the re-christening does come about. Selecting suitable names for my children was a real trouble to me, but, I'll just confide in you stringpullers, now I have got a real large family of girls, all one height, weight, colour and age. How I overcame the difficulty, was to name 'em all alike—that settled it!—and there's not one called Violet, or even Princess Mary. A final word with our Premier.

To the 'Rt. Hon.' (Ramsey) Coleridge: Might I bring to the notice of your Right Honourableness, that one Mr. Ellis is out of employment, and p'raps you know? He's a giant of the rope. He's your man. Set him on, then the end of Violet will be swift, inglorious, and fatal! (Our Nancy always said Violet would end her career at the end of a rope). There is no necessity for any judge's summing-up as a preliminary to the final scene, and don't don the Black Cap, but with gusto say to Ellis, 'ere, chappie, just do your duty, and swing this 'ere Violet and all such. off the face of the earth.'

CIRENCESTER.—On Thursday, March 6th, at the Parish Church, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters (1,256 changes), composed by J. George: F. W. Bond 1. J. King 2. F. J. Lewis 3. F. Edwards (first quarter inside) 4. W. G. Cook 5. W. H. Hayward 6. W. C. Cuss 7. H. Lewis 8. H. C. Bond (conductor) 9. J. Hayward 10. Rung to celebrate the coming-of-age of Mr. William Chester, Master of the Abbey, Cirencester.

COMMEMORATIVE TITLES.

To the Editor.

Sir,—May I suggest that the following names be considered:—Waterford, Dundee, and Wrexham, to commemorate the first peals accomplished in Ireland, Scotland and Wales.

Peal ringing will not always be confined to the British Isles, and the following Colonial towers may be so remembered: Vancouver, Woodstock, Melbourne, where the first peals in Canada, Africa and Australia, respectively, were achieved.

As a compliment to our American cousins, Philadelphia is a good title—the town where the first peal in the United States of America was scored.—Yours truly, W. H. F.

CENTRAL NORTHANTS ASSOCIATION. THE FINAL REPORT.

The last annual report of the Central Northants Association has just been issued. The report of the hon. secretary deals with the formation of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, in which the Central Northants Association is now absorbed, and adds, 'the formation of Guild has brought about the recognition of the true position of ringers as Church officials. It is hoped that, with its wider sphere of influence, the members may become an increased source of strength to the Church.'

During the year 44 peals were scored, the same number as in the previous twelve months. Fourteen ringers rang their first peal, and 13 were awarded the association's certificate for having rung their first peal 'inside.' There were at the close of the year 61 towers in union with the association, with a total membership of 459 (an increase of nine on the year), made up of 42 honorary and 417 ringing members. The total receipts were £47 18s. 3d., and the balance on the year's working was £8 1s. 5½d. The Belfry Repairs Fund received £4 3s. 11½d., and after making grants to Desborough and Doddington of three guineas each, there is a sum of £32 19s. 8½d. remaining in the fund. Regret is expressed at the resignation of Mr. S. J. Lawrence as secretary of the Northampton District, and recognition of his valuable assistance and efficient service is placed on record, while thanks are accorded to the clergy for their interest in the association.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

A happy tribute by 'old boys' to their former headmaster was proffered on Saturday, when at Gosley Church, Staffs, eight old scholars of the Church Schools of that parish rang a peal of Grandsire Triples in honour of the 87th birthday of Mr. E. Nicholls. Mr. H. W. Wilde travelled all the way from Pulford, Cheshire, to take part, and to him fell the privilege of calling the peal.

No fewer than four anniversaries of the many 'long' peals, rung in the month of April, occur within the next week. The peal of 13,265 Grandsire Caters at Appleton in 1888 was rung on April 11th. This was by the Oxford Guild, and occupied 8 hrs. 5 mins.

The great peal at Loughborough, 18,027 Stedman Caters, in 12 hrs. 18 mins. by the Midland Counties Association, was rung on April 12th, 1909. and the 13th April, 1914, the record of 14,900 Kent Treble Bob Royal was rung in 9 hrs. 24 mins. by the Lancashire Association at Ashton-under-Lyne. Moreover, the 17th of the month is the thirteenth anniversary of the 12,240 Kent Treble Bob Maximus rung at the same tower, in 8 hrs. 35 mins.

In the year 1729, a peal of Grandsire Triples was rung in 3 hrs. 18 mins., at Kettering. Later on, on April 12th, 1731, another peal was rung, and the reason for it was recorded on a tablet in the belfry.

'Since it was asserted our first performance could not be rung in less than 3 hrs. and a half, for an experiment, and before skilled judges, on ye 12th of April, 1731, ye whole peal of 5,040 was completed at 30 changes each minute, in 2 hours and 48 minutes by the persons underwritten.' Then follow the names of the ringers, which were identical with those of the earlier peal, except for the tenorman.

A peal of 5,600 College Exercise Major was rung at Bletchingley on April 11th, 1789. On April 15th, 1813, a peal of 6,272 Treble Bob, with 6th's place bobs, was rung at St. Giles', Norwich.

The first peal of Kent Treble Bob Maximus, then described as 'New' Treble Bob, was rung at St. Martin's, Birmingham, on April 17th, 1820. This was a 7,200, rung in 5 hrs. 8 mins., and at the time, was the record length of Treble Twelve.

The first peal of Cumberland Exercise Major was rung at Birstall, Yorks, on April 16th, 1838.

A peal of 'Norwich Court Bob Ten In' was rung for the first time on April 17th, 1769, at St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich. 'It was performed in three hours and 29 minutes, without a bell being out of course; and from the harmony and regularity of its changes, filled every lover of the art of ringing with the most pleasing wonder and astonishment. This incomparable peal was invented in the year 1751 by Mr. Wm. Porter, one of the ringers belonging to St. Peter's company, and though from that time it has been annually practised, yet never was perfectly gone through with, without bells being out of course, till now; so that it may be affirmed that this is the first complete 5,040 that ever was rung in the known world.'

The old six bells at Penistone, Yorks (tenor 18 cwt.), are to be recast, relung in an iron frame with latest fittings, and augmented to eight by Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough.

Old 'Shropshire Bill' lives at the Dale,
Near a noble peal of eight good bells;
When he was ailing, we all prayed with hope,
Ho would soon be pulling at the end of the rope,
Again, and yet again.

The Ladies' Guild, at their next festival, hope to see Mr. Merrett, of Brighton, present, and to hear his famous recitation.

There is rumour of a twelve-bell 'Ringing Week' in the Birmingham district some time during the coming autumn.

A recent portrait of Mr. J. E. Sykes, of Middlesbrough, is in circulation, which shows him wearing the regalia of a Deputy Master of the English Fraternity of Bell Ringers. His peals in the four quarters of Great Britain have been achieved in less time than anyone previously.

Nine members of the St. George's Society from the remote little 'City of Clun' were present at the Johnson Dinner in Birmingham, and they constituted a London Surprise Major team.

The Parochial Church Council of the town of Slough are presenting Mr. G. T. Leader (retiring steeplekeeper) with a gold watch, as a keepsake in recognition of his voluntary work for many years. He rang in a peal for the first time at the funeral of Mr. Saml. Elliman in 1884, and the last time for Mr. James Elliman, who was buried at Slough on March 26th, 1924.

It is not generally known, writes a correspondent, that during the disturbances of last year in the City of Dublin, the well-known composer, Mr. Gabriel Lindoff, was nearly placed 'out of course.' When seeing to the tower bells he was taken for a sniper, and a clapper he had just removed from one of the bells was hit by a well-aimed bullet.

A HOME OF SUSSEX RINGING.

EARLY PERFORMANCES AT WARNHAM AND SOME OF THE STALWARTS.

The peals of College Exercise Major and Oxford Treble Bob rung recently at Warnham, will recall pleasant memories to many ringers of days spent in this pretty little Sussex village, where the bells could be rung to the heart's content. For in Warnham everyone is interested in the bells, and one remembers the days when the parishioners were as keen as the ringers for the success of a peal. Five-and-twenty years ago a peal before breakfast was not unknown, and the bells have also come round from a five thousand in the very late hours of the night. Two peals in a day have been rung here several times, and on one occasion no objection was raised to a band attempting four peals in the day. But this was only in keeping with the spirit of the villagers who were proud of their ringers' achievement when they scored a thirteen thousand, and were sad when a subsequent attempt for twenty thousand came to grief. Verily may Warnham be termed one of the homes of Sussex ringing.

The beautiful church dates back to the 12th century. The rather low tower used to contain five bells, till, at a restoration in 1842, a new treble was added, making a musical ring of six, though being of different types the striking qualities were not all that could be

Lucas family, and, welcome news, the bells were to be made into an octave. This became an accomplished fact, and needless to say, with an enthusiastic band of young ringers, and every opportunity, no time was wasted.

PEAL ENTHUSIASTS.

The first peal, one of Oxford Bob Triples, was rung on June 28th, quickly followed by one of Court Bob Triples, the first ever rung in the method. Peals of Grandsire, Union, Plain Bob and Canterbury Triples followed in rapid succession. Early in 1887 the first peal of Kent Treble Bob Major for the association was brought round, followed immediately by the first of Plain Bob Major. The close of the year 1888 found the company winners of the challenge trophy of the association, with a record of 23 peals in eight methods, including among them the first peals of Oxford Treble Bob Major, Canterbury Pleasure Major and Place Triples.

At the beginning of 1889 College Single Major was added to the list of 'First Peals,' and aspirations being turned to long lengths, 6,720 of Bob Major was reeled off, followed on March 1st by the record peal of 13,440 of Canterbury Major in 7 hrs. 45 mins., by the following: George Woodman 1, Walter Charman 2, Thomas Andrews 3, Harry Cook 4, William Short 5, Felix Knight 6, Henry Burstow 7, Henry Chandler (conductor) 8. Upwards of 30 peals were brought round during that year.

THE CHURCH OF ST. MARGARET, WARNHAM, SUSSEX.

wished. Ringing, however, held its own in those early days, and the writer well remembers the old parish clerk (who did duty for 50 years), commenting on the abilities of different ringers, and extolling the merits of 'Grandsire' and 'Oxford Single Bob.'

No records of any achievements, either written or traditional, exist until the year 1867, when a peal board in the belfry states, a peal of Oxford Bob Minor (5,040 changes) was rung, conducted by Henry Burstow, of Horsham, one of the pioneers of Sussex change ringing, who was then coming into prominence in the district.

Change ringing followed its regular groove for some years, the monthly ringing Sunday, when visitors from neighbouring towers used to meet being always looked forward to with interest. About the year 1880, a number of young recruits took up the fascinating exercise, and under the tuition of 'Old Harry' made rapid progress.

The year 1882 saw the preferment of the Rev. R. Bowcott (a name remembered by many ringers) to the living, and his coming to the parish resulted in a further fillip to ringing matters. Under his kindly interest, things were for the first time placed on an organised basis, naturally with good results.

The formation of the Sussex County Association in 1885 found in the Warnham band enthusiastic supporters, and Warnham was one of the original towers affiliated (vide the sketch of the church on the association certificate). The year 1886 ushered in another event, the thorough restoration of the church, through the munificence of the

The following year saw another first peal, Double Oxford Bob Major being added to the list, and in February, 1891, Harrison's 10,176 Kent Treble Bob was successfully brought round in 5 hrs. 53 mins.

With every opportunity, and the villagers taking a great interest, peals in various methods continued of frequent occurrence. One, perhaps, is well worth recording. A 'century' peal of Double Norwich, one of the first of its kind, on Feb. 6th, 1897. We give the names of these stalwarts, the majority of whom are still on the active list: Thomas Andrews 1, George Williams 2, Isaac G. Shade 3, Frank Bennett 4, Walter Charman 5, Frederick Rice 6, John Whiting 7, Henry Chandler 8.

The year 1897 (Diamond Jubilee) saw another important event, the whole peal being placed in the hands of Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, who so admirably carried out the work of recasting and rehanging that the tower now holds one of the best rings (at the weight) in the county.

Among others who have done yeoman service in the village tower may be mentioned: G. Charman, Thos. Hogsflesh, W. Hooker, J. Branch, W. Pelling, J. Cook, W. Stanford, most of whom are still to be found at the rope end in various towers, while other well-known names on the records in the cosy belfry include: J. Parker, E. Jordan, H. Dains, Keith Hart, J. S. Goldsmith, H. R. Newton, J. Rice, W. H. Fussell, and, of course, the evergreen 'globe trotter,' James George, who scored his first peal of Treble Bob on Warnham bells.

A hearty welcome and a rope has always been accorded any visitor. May it always be so.

THE FOUNDER OF THE FIRST WARNHAM BELLS.

As indicated above, the present bells at Warnham are a new peal, but the original five were cast by William Eldridge, of the Chertsey foundry, and were inscribed: 'GVLIELMVS ELDRIDGE me fecit, 1704,' with other initials, probably of the Rector and Churchwardens of that date. In 1842 one of this ring was recast, and an additional bell added by Messrs. Thomas Mears.

William Eldridge was probably the son of the William Eldridge mentioned in a recent issue as the founder of some of the bells at Easbourne, Sussex, for although the father lived until the year 1716, having reached the advanced age of 82, it is assumed that William, the younger, had taken over the foundry at a much earlier date. There is, however, nothing by which bells cast by the son can be distinguished from those of the father.

The story of the Eldridges as bell founders in those far-off days is an interesting one. The first of whom there is any trace is Thomas Eldridge, who in 1565 was carrying on a foundry at Wokingham, in Berkshire. No bells of his remain, but parish archives at Bray and Winkfield reveal him as a founder. Richard Eldridge, presumably his son and successor, was also of Wokingham, and numerous examples of his work, bearing dates extending from 1592 to 1623, are still in existence. This Richard Eldridge for at least twelve or thirteen years carried on a branch establishment at Horsham, from which Warnham is distant some three miles, and which in those days was a country town of some importance, with its court and its prison. The Horsham churchwarden's accounts show an annual payment by Richard Eldridge of 10s. for the rent of the 'Bell Howse,' from 1610 to 1622. Bells were cast at Horsham as early as 1593, but it is improbable that Eldridge was there in those days, and it is more than likely that he purchased this branch business from some earlier founder.

From the fact that his initials appear on no bells later than 1623, it is concluded that Richard Eldridge died in that year. Bryan Eldridge (the elder of that name) succeeded him. He was associated with his father in the business, and his name appears on bells cast before Richard's death, the earliest, at Ifield, Sussex, being dated 1618, and cast probably at Horsham. The indifference shown in those days to the spelling of names is illustrated in this instance, for Richard spelt his name 'Eldrig,' while Bryan spelt his 'Eldredge.' For some years he put his name in full on the bells he cast, but from 1631 to the end of his life he only used his initials, and the motto, 'Gloria Deo in Excelsis.'

It was Bryan Eldridge, in all probability, who transferred the seat of business from Wokingham to the hamlet-side town of Chertsey, in Surrey—the distance between the places being about fifteen miles. He probably set up his furnaces in Chertsey about the year 1619. The site cannot now be identified, but his house stood in Guildford Street. Bryan died in 1640. In his will he bequeathed to Brian, his eldest son, the 'Bell howse situate in Chirtsey with all my workinge tooles,' out of which Brian the younger had to give his sister Kathrine 'fortie pounds' and his mother a rent of three pounds per annum. This member of the family seems to have had a large business in spite of the troublous times in which he lived, and in 1648 cast an entire ring of five bells for Lingfield—an unusual thing in the days of the Civil War. This Bryan Eldridge (for thus he spelt his name) died at the end of the year 1661.

The foundry business was willed to his 'loving brother, William Eldridge,' who lived to the year 1716, but whether it was he or his son William that cast the Warnham bells cannot be satisfactorily settled. It seems probable that the foundry at Chertsey was given up in 1714; perhaps driven out of the field by the London foundries owned by Phelps and Samuel Knight. William Eldridge, the younger, migrated to West Drayton, in Middlesex, where his name appeared on some bells, which he recast, as churchwarden and bell founder. He died there in 1731.

His sister, Barbara, married a Richard Swain, and Mr. J. C. L. Stahlschmidt, in his 'Church Bells of Surrey,' says it is highly probable that Barbara was the ancestress (probably grandmother) of Thomas Swain, who succeeded Robert Catlin in the Holborn Bell Foundry. Robert Catlin, who took over this foundry on the death of Samuel Knight, was a prominent member of the College Youths. He was associated with Benjamin Annable, and among the peals in which he took part were the first recorded peal of Grandshire Cinques, which was rung at St. Bride's, Fleet Street, in 1724, and a peal of 6.3.14 in the same method (called by Annable) at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, in 1727, on the day after the London Scholars rang the first peal on the bells.

EAST CROMPTON.—At St. James' Church, on Tuesday, April 1st, a quarter-peal of Minor (1,260 changes), in 44 mins., consisting of 36 Plain Bob, 504 Oxford Treble Bob, and 720 Violet Treble Bob: G. Wild 1, S. Wareham 2, J. Ogden 3, H. Oates 4, C. Howarth 5, J. Butterworth (conductor) 6. Rung as a compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Ben Whitehead, it being their silver wedding day.

THE WEIGHTS OF THE MANCROFT BELLS. COMMUNICATED BY G. P. BURTON.

The bells of St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich, having been recently removed to the Loughborough foundry, the opportunity has occurred of taking exact weights of the individual bells. The weight of any bell he knows is always a matter of interest to the ringer, and there is added interest in the case of an historic ring, like that of Mancroft, particularly so in view of the controversy of long standing as to the weight of the tenor. Originally given as 41 cwt., that weight was accepted, without question, until 1896, when on the publication on 5th September of that year, in the 'Bell News' of a peal of Treble Bob Royal (rung on the bells on the 27th August) the weight was given as 43 cwt., a footnote appended stating that:—

'The weight of the tenor has always been recorded as 41 cwt., but letters written by the founder (the late Mr. Thos. Mears) to the churchwardens, have just come to light, in one of which, the above figures (43 cwt.) are quoted as the correct weight.'

In the columns of the 'Bell News' about that time, doubt was cast on this 'discovery,' and in the correspondence which ensued, reference was made to a story told of Thomas Hurry, who, having weighed the bell when it arrived in 1814, had declared the founder's weight incorrect. This anecdote was, without much thought, quoted to bolster up the claim for the enhanced weight, although it is evident that his (Hurry's) complaint could only have been on the score of lack of metal. It now transpires Hurry was perfectly right. But from 1896 onwards, the Mancroft tenor has been spoken of as a 43 cwt. bell.

On being shown some years ago those churchwardens' lotters in question, which are in the script of the period, and had become somewhat indistinct, I recollect expressing a doubt as to the reading of the figure taken as '3.' However that may be, the actual weight is now revealed as given below, and thus the tenor becomes once more a 41 cwt. bell.

*3rd	6	79	*6	104	31
2nd	6	48	6	71	30
*Treble	6	80	*6	89	30

It will be observed on comparing these two sets of figures, that for all practical purposes, the previously-accepted weights (ignoring the change as regards the tenor), are sufficiently near the mark. The discrepancy—an all-round diminution constant from treble to tenor—may perhaps be accounted for by the inaccuracy of the scales used, or by the inadequacy of the weighing arrangements of that day. It should also be borne in mind that since 1775, three* of the bells—the treble, third and sixth—have lost their canons, a fact which allows for at least some part of the observed difference.

Putting down these weights as above, compels attention to the clumsiness of the usual notation of 'hundredweights, quarters and pounds,' so persistently applied to bell-weights, with its unnecessary three denominations. We boldly acclaim our art as a science, and scientific change ringing is nowadays de rigueur, yet when other sciences have advanced to decimal measures, we are, as regards weights, employing the most unscientific terms. Possibly a future Central Council may find time to decree a reformation in the notation of bell-weights; meanwhile, may I plead that hundredweights, and pounds alone (as given in the above tables) without the quarters are not only amply sufficient terms, but afford a saving in time and an increase of clarity.

AN OLD LEADER.

At St. Thomas', Northaw, on March 29th, 1,440 Bob Minor was rung in 60 minutes, with the bell half-muffled, to the memory of Mr. W. Tucker, of Chewton Mendip, who was leader of this band from 1886 to 1905: J. Parker and G. Stevens 1, C. Parker 2, R. Stiles 3, I. Bryant 4, J. Roberts 5, B. McKie 6. Conducted by R. Stiles and B. McKie.

WISBECH.—On Wednesday, April 2nd, for Lenten service, 720 P.B. Minor on the back six: C. Butler (1st 720) 1, A. Cosway 2, W. Jarvis (1st 720 on inside bell) 3, J. Philips 4, R. Narborough 5, Bert Gogle (conductor) 6.

THE NAMING OF METHODS. "OPTIVO COGNOMINE."

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I make no excuse for what I am about to write on the subject of Nomenclature on this occasion; excuses are merely crutches, they make a bad pair of legs to keep anything upright on. What's in a name after all? I never expected that the heading I have used would come in handy at such an early date, but there it is—such as it is, and I again thank the kind donor for this benison with all my heart; for myself, I don't believe that, unaided, I could have thought of one half as fitting.

The Exercise seems to have lost sight of one of its real aims—progress, in this petty argument about the fitness of names. Are 'names' the only thing of import to the existence of our art? No one ever questions the conductor's name or its absurdity, or otherwise, when he has called a 720 of 'Pickled walnut and beetroot spliced,' but the name of the method gets fought over like a well-garnished hambone by a pack of hounds. If Jabez Looseemall calls a peal of 'Spliced Ynysybwl, Llynypia, Llancatach, and Machynylleth Surprise,' how many of your readers would quibble because the name of the bob caller was out of euphonious coursing order with the names of the methods, but the names of methods are squabbled over by the euphonics, the patriots, and—Uncle Tom Cobley, and all.

I contend, sir, that we are spending our time and your space by outlining rules whereby names should be apportioned to a series of figures when it would be more to the advancement of our art were we to cut out piffle, make ourselves less of a laughing-stock in the eyes of our detractors and get on with real work. What about appointing a real historian to look after things a bit? He would have a real job. What about a 'Registrar of Births' for compositions? He would need to be busy to pull things up to date in his department. If the name apportioned to a certain set of figures is of more import to posterity than the right of ownership of a set of good compositions, then it is time we left off calling ringing an art and called it a game, on a par with table tennis.

Where names are concerned we must not lose sight of the fact that there are such things as 'in law' and 'in equity,' if no man has a right to bestow a name on a method (or a piece of music) for a period longer than that which it suits the whim of the general public to know it by that name; wherein is either the law of copyright or equity in operation? It is a fact that old six-bell methods have been renamed by the permission and invitation of our Council: now what guarantee have we that a future generation of councillors will not wash out the 'brain cudgelling' we have done in renaming these methods, and give our grandsons—nay, our sons: so short is memory—the right to rename what grandpa had the impudence to arrogate to himself the right to rename? The time for the tabling of motions for our Council to consider is fast approaching, and I have not yet heard any suggestions of motions which will be of real benefit to the Exercise or even cause a public, which looks on us as harmless though noisy doddlers, with bees in our bonnets (I have let us down lightly, sir), to think that we are really serious in our aims, and that our claim to call ringing a science has a solid basis.

I suppose that, as usual, after the Council has sat we shall have the customary crop of grumblers who cannot see the use of the Council, or what good they have done, except waste their time on a series of names. How can they do good work for the Exercise if they are not supplied with some to do? So let your readers get busy thinking 'thinks' not cognominology; leave numbers to convicts and submarines, and things best out of sight; leave quarrels over names to stable lads and their Derby winners; put up real beneficial work for the Council to hand down to posterity, and let them rest assured that we shall call new methods what 'we' like when we ring them. We have been out of leading strings for long years, and we shall expect the names we give our methods to adhere to them with the tenacity of whelks to their anchors! Even as we resent the changing of names given to their methods by our forbears, so shall we expect the same consideration from our posterity. What's in a name? Not much spending power anyhow, nor much good if the holder is useless. Clothes don't make the man, the name won't make the method. Mine hasn't made me, though I append it, when of good cheer, for safety's sake.—Yours sincerely,

ONCE A BEGINNER.

Better of two evils to choose neither;
Better not break than to have to mend,
Better say nothing than nothing to the purpose.
Better take a lesson from what is round the 3rd bell at Rilston 'pepper box'; then we shall be too busy to trouble about names:

'Unconstant fickle men who love through every scene to range;
Their own example to improve have taught us bells to change,
First this; then that; then t'other leads, the fourth then holds the sway.

Then him the fifth succeeds and all come into play.
Thus so at court men thrust about, all eager in the chase;
Tussle by turning t'other out and step in to his place.'

A DOUBTFUL PEAL.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—On Saturday, the 29th ult., eight ringers, including myself, members of the Middlesex County Association, attempted a peal of Bob Major at the Church of St. Mary, South Ealing, and, taking into consideration the indifferent 'go' of this peal of bells, the ringing was good. We were successful in ringing the number of changes, but there did occur during the progress of the peal a certain blunder (explained below), which in my opinion should have made this peal void. At the conclusion, I protested strongly against the recognition of the same, and was met by one of the band with a tactless threat.

Eventually, I had a chat with the conductor, and he agreed that I was quite justified in making my protest, and said he would not 'do anything else in the matter.' This I took as final, and I was satisfied. To-day, I have discovered that the report has been sent to you for publication—not by the conductor—and in view of this, I send you this protest.

The composition we rang, concluded with three 'Homes,' the last call being a 'Single,' and the blunder occurred at the first of these calls. The change which should, of course, have been 14325678 distinctly came as 12345678. This appears almost incredible, as the bells were out of course, and in their correct positions previous to the call. The explanation is, the ringer of the 2nd, either by a pure mistake, or by dropping his bell, struck before the 2nd and 4th. What induced the ringer of the 4th to allow the 3rd to strike before him is still mystery, but I am convinced, and can honestly say that rounds were struck for this change. The error was duly rectified, and the peal brought round to the correct number of changes.

It is, of course, quite reasonable to suggest that in a peal of Triples, practically every misblow causes a repetition, but the problem is, 'Can this matter in question be admitted as a casual mistake?' I do not think it can. Although one cannot lay down any hard and fast rule, I do think it is really deplorable that a ringer has allowed this peal to be sent for publication.

I shall be very obliged if some reader would give me his views in reply, as the admittance of this is only extending the scope for similes.—Yours faithfully,

ROBT. FARDON.

PLAIN MAJOR METHODS.

In his recent article on odd-bell methods, Mr. J. W. Parker commented upon the striking lack of variety exhibited in the ringing of peals of Triples, Caters and Cinques. To a large extent this is admittedly due, in the case of Triples at any rate, to the paucity of actual methods, and Mr. Parker pointed a way to obtaining something new which would be at least as interesting and difficult as anything which has hitherto been practised. The performance last week of the first peal of Edmonton Bob Major is a reminder that there is an equal absence of variety in the peals of Major rung in plain methods. Glance through our columns week by week, and there is seldom any peal in a Plain Major method outside Plain Bob and Double Norwich Court Bob. It is strange that this should be so, for there is a far wider range in Major methods than there is among the 'legitimate' methods of Triples, yet the fact remains. What the actual figures were for 1923 we shall know when the Analysis is published, but going back to the previous year, what do we find? There were 142 peals of Double Norwich, 113 peals of Plain Bob, and for the rest — two peals of College Single and two peals of Little Bob! These figures are a striking evidence of the limitations which ringers set for themselves. These limits do not exist in reality, for there is plenty of scope in Major.

Edmonton Bob Major was one of a group of methods which we published in these columns ten years ago, founded upon combinations of Plain Bob and Court Bob, but probably the war caused the opportunities which they presented to be lost sight of. They are methods well worth ringing, and easily within the capabilities of any man who can ring Double Norwich. They afford an excellent jumping-off place for any band which desires to get away from the beaten track, and, in view of the figures we have quoted above, there is no question that the ringers of Plain Major need getting out of the rut. Many hands have the desire to make progress, but, finding Surprise ringing a little too big a jump from Double Norwich, or simple Treble Bob, content themselves with the 'standard' methods, because they imagine there is nothing else to ring. The idea is, of course, entirely wrong, and we sometimes think this word 'standard' as applied to methods, ought to be scrapped. It is certainly out of date in its present accepted use. Shortly we hope to see produced the Central Council's collection of Plain Major methods, which for various reasons has been delayed. This should give a big fillip to plain method ringing. Meantime, we can commend the methods like College Single and Edmonton Bob Major to those who have a real desire to break from present narrow limits.

STOKE ARCHIDIACONAL ASSOCIATION.

On Saturday, April 5th, about fifty representative members of the Stoke-on-Trent Archidiaconal Association visited Leek for their monthly gathering, and were hospitably entertained in Britannia Street Schools by the ringers of the Parish Church. The towers represented included Stoke-on-Trent, Burslem, Hanley, Bucknall, Uttoxeter, Crewe, Macclesfield, Walkden (Lancashire), Norton, Audley, Newcastle, Kingsley, Brownedge, etc.

The ringers assembled about 3.30, and were received by Mr. E. A. Ridgway (conductor) and other members of the local band, and the bells were promptly raised. Touches of Stedman, Grandsire, Kent and Oxford Major, Double Norwich and London Surprise followed with varying success, and the spacious character of the Leek ringing chamber was much admired. At 5.30 the whole company adjourned to the schools, where the wives of the ringers had prepared a substantial tea, for which the tower performances had secured good appetites, and the feast was thoroughly appreciated.

The Vicar, the Rev. R. M. Thompson, presided, and said how pleased he was to meet the ringers. They had, he said, to perform several duties, not the least of which was to call the people to church, though various excuses were made for staying away. There was no need for him to say much to them, but he heartily welcomed them to Leek, and hoped they would soon pay another visit. He had a duty to perform in presenting a Ringers' Certificate to Mr. Burrows, an Uttoxeter ringer, and he congratulated him on reaching proficiency. He himself had spent many happy hours in Uttoxeter when he was at Denstone College, and they had a beautiful old church. —The certificate was handed to Mr. Burrows amid hearty applause.

Mr. Churton (Stoke) proposed a vote of thanks to the Leek ringers and their wives for the excellent entertainment they had provided. He said it was always a pleasure to the society to come to Leek, and he was glad to find the young men were making progress with London Surprise and the more difficult methods. At Leek they had the right men and the right leader to get on, and they continued to progress.

Mr. Wheeldon seconded, and Mr. Hilditch (Burslem) supported. — Mr. G. Plant responded, and said they were always glad to meet their friends, and the ladies helped them very willingly.

The ringers then returned to the tower, and the bells were kept going merrily until nine o'clock.

PLAIN MAJOR METHODS.

AN INTERESTING GROUP.

The peal of Edmonton Bob Major which was rung at Willesden on Tuesday of last week is one of a group of fifteen Major methods, the construction of which was explained in an article by Mr. J. A. Trollope, which appeared in our columns on September 4th, 1914. They provide an interesting variation in the direction of plain method ringing. In the article referred to Mr. Trollope explained that the methods of this group were, in construction, the simplest that can be had with the treble as a plain hunt bell. They are based upon the four following methods:—

Reverse	Double Court	Reverse Double
Bob Major.	Bob Major.	C.B. Major.
12345678	12345678	12345678
21436587	21436587	21436587
24163857	24163857	24163857
42618375	42618375	42618375
46281735	46281735	46281357
64827153	64827153	64823175
68472513	68472513	64823715
86745231	86745231	64827351
87654321	68472531	68472531
78563412	86745213	86745213

35172846	57183624	78165432
31527488	51738264	71856342

Bob Major is constructed by making second's place when the treble leads, and the effect is to put the treble, which had been coursing between 3 and 2, between 5 and 3.

Reverse Bob Major is constructed by making seventh's when the treble is behind, and that has exactly the same effect and brings up exactly the same rows as Bob Major.

Double Court Bob Major is constructed by the bell that is coursing in front of the treble making 4th's and 3rd's, and then hunting up after her, and this has the same effect on the coursing order as 2nd's place in Bob Major, it puts the treble from between 3 and 2 to between 5 and 3. The second pair of places in the second half of the lead puts the treble from between 5 and 3 to between 7 and 5.

The places in 5-6 in Reverse Double Court Bob have the same effect as the places in 3-4 in Double Court Bob.

Thus there are six distinct operations, each of which puts the treble one position forward in coursing order; 1, 2nd's place in Bob Major; 2, 7th's of Reverse Bob Major; 3, 4th's and 3rd's of Double Court; 4, 3rd's and 4th's of Double Court; 5, 6th's and 5th's of Reverse Double Court; 6, 5th's and 6th's of Reverse Double Court. To preserve the symmetry of the method, if you use 3, you must also use 4; and if you use 5 you must also use 6.

Appended are all the possible combinations of the methods:—

A	Bob Major.
A + B	Double Bob Major.
A + B + C
A + B + C + D

A + C + D	Reddish Bob Major.

B	Reverse Bob Major.

C
C + D	Double Court Bob Major.
D	Double Norwich C.B. Major.
	Reverse Double Court Major.

Here are fifteen excellent Major methods. Some are better than others, but all are worth ringing. The following is a lead of the method and the composition of the peal of 5008 rung at Willesden; bobs and singles being the same as in Bob Major:—

NEW RING OF SIX FOR BEDFORDSHIRE.

TEMPSFORD BELLS AUGMENTED.

The village of Tempsford, Beds, is now in possession of an excellent peal of six bells, which although somewhat light, the tenor being only 9 cwt. 1 qr., are of splendid tone. Originally there were in the tower of St. Peter's Church five bells, a mixed lot of varying dates, and chiefly notable for the fact that they contained examples of the work of Newcome and Miles Gray. Newcome's bell was the old 4th, and he cast it in 1614. The treble and third were cast by Miles Gray. Another bell, the 2nd, was the work of Richard Chandler in 1703.

The augmentation to six, by the addition of a new treble, has accompanied a complete restoration of the ring, which are now hung in a new steel and iron frame with all new fittings. To turn the bells into a musical peal it was found necessary to recast the Miles Gray bells, as well as the tenor, while the other old bells have been tuned. The work was admirably carried out by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon, and the bells, which have a total weight of 30 cwt. 64 lb., were dedicated during morning service on Sunday week.

The ceremony was performed by the Bishop of St. Albans, who also preached. The bells were rung, after the dedicatory prayers, by H. L. Harlow 1, C. J. Ball 2, Miss Evelyn Steel 3, W. E. Holden 4, T. Bartram 5, G. Wells 6. These ringers also brought round 360 Bob Minor (conducted by H. L. Harlow) immediately after the service. Ringing was continued during the afternoon, and for evening service 720 Bob Minor was rung.

Appended are the notes and inscriptions of the bells:—

PUDSEY SURPRISE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Mr. Craven will see, if he looks again at my letter, it says: 'The fact of it having accidentally turned out to be the reverse of Yorkshire.' Mr. Craven was not accused of accidentally finding it so. My knowledge of construction is sufficient for even myself, 'one of the garden variety,' to get the reverse of a method without accidents or even outside information. Even so, I thank Mr. Craven for his offer, further there can be no question of bias.

Some years ago, I produced what to me seemed a very good Surprise Royal method with the idea of getting our band to ring it. They would not have it, for the reason that it would not go to Major. My attempts on the subject produced from this Royal a method that would go on eight and even numbers upward. The band practised this on eight and ten bells. Later Mr. Craven published the method our band had rejected. Its name was 'Princess Mary,' and, such is human nature, 'Pudsey' or 'Loughborough,' as we called it, was thrown overboard in favour of the lady. In this case Pudsey accidentally turned out to be the reverse of Yorkshire, for the reverse at that time was not looked for. It was simply an attempt to get a Major and Maximus out of what has now been rung as Princess Mary. If Pudsey does not belong to Mr. Carter, who claims the Princess?—Yours truly,

Leicester.

SIX-BELL METHOD NAMES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—With reference to the naming of six-bell methods, I have seen several comments on 'Easter' and 'Trinity Sunday' Delights. If all the other methods had names as fitting as these, they would have saved a lot of correspondence.

Easter and Trinity Delights have been rung regularly every year for nearly 30 years by the Anston company. Trinity Delight was thought of, written out, and the first 720 rung on Trinity Sunday. What name would be more suitable? It is No. 15 Treble Bob in the C.C. Collection. The claim to this method was made as soon as the C.C. Collection came into print. My opinion is, let those who ring the methods first give them a suitable name without interference from those who do not ring them. From a six-bell ringer, who has been for over 40 years a

SWINDON PARISH CHURCH BELLS DEDICATED A NEW PEAL OF TEN.

The Lord Bishop of Bristol on Friday last dedicated the new peal of ten bells (tenor 22 cwt. in E flat), at Swindon Parish Church.

The whole of the work of taking out the old frame and eight bells, and fitting a new frame with ten bells, was done by Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough. As the old frame was not demolished until after Christmas, 1923, the firm is to be highly commended for completing the new peal in such a short time.

A crowded congregation attended the dedication service, and the Bishop, in his address, congratulated the parishioners on such a splendid addition to the church.

At the conclusion of the service, and after rounds had been rung, the first touch on the bells was a 324 of Grandsire Caters rung by the following local ringers: H. W. Bishop 1, A. Lawrence 2, R. W. Hyner 3, W. G. Lancaster 4, G. Townsend 5, H. W. L. Wells 6, H. A. Hearl 7, C. J. Gardner 8, E. Bishop (conductor) 9, J. H. Shepherd 10.

On Sunday, April 13th, for morning service, 237 Stedman Caters was rung by J. H. Shepherd (conductor) 1, A. Lawrence 2, R. W. Hyner 3, W. G. Lancaster 4, C. J. Gardner 5, H. W. L. Wells 6, H. A. Hearl 7, W. G. Lancaster 8, E. Bishop 9, H. W. Bishop 10.

Mr. E. Bishop, the Master of the tower, was secretary to the Bell Fund, and by his wonderful energy the scheme has been a great success. The following bells were given:—

Treble by Mrs. Brown to commemorate the 50 years' service as parish clerk (1883 to 1923) of her father, William Dean.

The second by Mr. H. W. Thomas in memory of his son, Pte. W. H. Thomas, Hon. Artillery Co., who was killed in action in France in 1917.

The third by the children of the parish.

The seventh by Major and Mrs. F. P. Goddard.

The eighth by Mr. S. V. Rolleston in memory of his father and mother.

The ninth by the Freemasons of Swindon and the Province of Wiltshire in memory of Brother Dr. J. Campbell Maclean.

The tenor by the ringers of the tower.

A hearty invitation is extended to all ringers outside the area of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association to visit the tower on Easter Monday from 2 p.m.

CLAPHAM, BEDFORDSHIRE.—On Friday, March 21st. 720 Grandsire Doubles: J. Cooner 1, H. Smith 2, W. Witlock 3, R. Shimmans 4, L. Williams (first 720 as conductor) 5, F. Lowe (first 720) 6.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

To-day (April 18th) is the 30th anniversary of the 13,440 Double Norwich Major rung in 8 hours 15 minutes at Romford by the Royal Cumberland Youths.

April 18th is also the anniversary of one of the earliest long lengths of Grandsire Caters, a peal of 12,006 having been rung in 7 hours 55 minutes at Painswick in 1737. But in those days there were no ringing papers and no 'wireless,' and the Painswick men must have been unaware that less than six weeks before a peal of 12,603 had been rung at Norwich.

It was at Appleton on April 11th, 1888, that this Norwich peal was beaten by a 13,265, and then on April 22nd, 1889, a band met at Cheltenham and set up the present record for the method of 15,227 in 9 hours 43 minutes.

There were some prominent names among that band, few of whom now survive. The ringers were F. Musty, G. H. Phillott, S. Reeves, H. Roberts, F. E. Ward, C. H. Hattersley, J. Plant, W. T. Pates (conductor), T. Reynolds and A. W. Humphris.

By a coincidence the same day, April 22nd, is the anniversary of the record length of Stedman Caters, the 21,363 at Appleton, in 12 hours 25 minutes in 1922.

A peal of 8,000 Oxford Treble Bob Major was rung at Redenhall in 5 hours 9 minutes on April 23rd, 1828, and on April 24th, 1896, 10,400 Kent Treble Bob Major was rung at Shipley, Yorks.

Ringers should note that there are now twelve bells at Great St. Mary's, Cambridge, the cracked 7th having been recast, and replaced early this year. The Ely meeting on Easter Monday, writes a correspondent, will afford a good opportunity for twelve bell experts, including our old friend, 'Bob Major,' to delight the inhabitants with some good twelve-bell touches.

The Hon. Secretary of the Yorkshire Association had a pleasant experience at Birmingham last week, when, attempting a peal of Stedman Cinques on handbells for the first time, he rang 3-4 to his first twelve bell peal.

The peal at Bishop Ryder's Church, reported last week, was rung in 3 hrs. 2 mins. The donor of the bells was Mr. R. R. Gelling, not Mr. R. E. Gelling, as printed in the report.

Ringers will regret to hear that Mr. Reginald D. Marshall, of Deptford, London, has been ill for several weeks, and is now in hospital. He has to go under an operation for gastric ulcers, and will not in any circumstances do any peal ringing for some months.

TWO SURREY VETERANS.

RANG FIRST PEAL TOGETHER FIFTY-FIVE YEARS AGO.

Last week we recorded a peal rung at Ashtoad, Surrey, to commemorate the jubilee of the bells. Two of the ringers, Messrs. Thomas Miles and George Sayer, both rang at the opening of the bells fifty years ago, and their record must be almost unique, for they rang their first peal together in 1869 at Epsom Parish Church, and have been very closely united in ringing affairs ever since.

St. George's Day, which is Wednesday next, will be the 55th anniversary of that first peal together, and it was a memorable achievement from the fact that it was rung by four fathers and their eldest sons. The two veterans are the only survivors of that band, and it will be noticed, from the copy of the peal board, which we give below, that the peal was conducted by Mr. Sayer. The record is as follows:—

was rung in this steeple a true six-part Peal of Grandsire Triples containing 5040 changes, with 134 bobs and 46 singles, in 2 hours and 50 minutes, the Ringers being Four Fathers and their Four Eldest Sons, stationed as follows:—

BELL WEIGHTS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—There is one thing that Mr. G. P. Burton has omitted to mention with regard to the present weights of the individual bells at St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich, which might prove of interest.

All the bells are weighed before being tuned, and thus, I should think, is the cause of the lighter weights, not so much as the inaccuracy of the scales.

No doubt modern Simpson tuned peals, if taken down and weighed, would prove lighter than the weights which invariably hang in the belfry. The fact should not be lost sight of that in former days bells were weighed without the clappers.—Yours faithfully,

CHAS. H. KIPPIN.

FAMOUS BELLS. ST. GILES, NORWICH.

By J. R. JERRAM.

A great deal of ringing history has been made in Norwich, and the story of the bells, upon which some of the outstanding performances of the past have been achieved, is always interesting.

The original peal at St. Giles' Church consisted of three bells only, of which the present sixth and seventh are all that remain. The original tenor was in the tower until 1869, when she was cracked through tolling for a death with a clapper rope. This is much to be deplored, as she was a splendid specimen of mediæval casting, with Seventh. + Celi Regina Languentibus O, Sit Medicina (in 'black letter' with lombardic capitals. The stop is a lion's face).

Tenor. CAST BY JOHN WARNER & SONS, LONDON, 1869. (Royal Arms and 'patent' on the waist).

The original tenor beforementioned was thus inscribed:—

+ Triplex Persona Trinitas (lion's face), Nuc Gaudia Dona, (in 'black letter' with lombardic capitals highly ornamented, the letters T, N and D having a grotesque human face inserted in them).

The tenor is 43½ in. diameter, weight 14½ cwt.

The translations of the Latin inscriptions are as follow:—

5th.—'In this chamber Gabriel now sound sweetly.'
6th.—'Gabriel sent down truly brings joys of blessed Mary.'
7th.—'Queen of heaven, be thou medicine to those who are languishing.'
8th.—'Holy Trinity, three Persons (in one), now grant gifts.'

THE CHURCH OF ST. GILES NORWICH.

'black letter' inscription and highly ornamented Lombardic capitals, of which I shall have more to say further on. The present fourth is by Wm. Brend, and the fifth by Richard Brasyer; both Norwich founders. The third bell (which has no inscription) was probably cast by Gilpin, about the year 1709, the weight being given in the 'Visitation Inventory' of that year as 444 lbs. The two trebles, says the Inventory of 1740, 'were purchased in the year 1738 by a voluntary subscription of the parishioners and of other gentlemen in the City of Norwich.'

The clock-bell is first mentioned in the inventory of 1735, and in that of 1740 is said to weigh 2 cwt. The inscriptions on the peal of eight are as follows:—

Treble and Second. THO: NEWMAN MADE ME 1738.

Third. (No inscription.)

Fourth. ANNO DOMINI 1593. W.B.

Fifth. + Hac in Conclave Gabriel nuc Pange Suave (in 'black letter' with lombardic capitals), on the crown 3 shields charged with 3 bells, ermine.

Sixth. + Missus Vera Pie Gabriel Fert Leta Marie (in 'black letter' with lombardic capitals).

Mr. J. L'Estrange gives an etching of the inscription on the old tenor, in his 'Church Bells of Norfolk,' p. 174.

John Colton, by his will dated January 8th, 1457, bequeathed a piece of land containing one acre with its appurtenances in Heygham-next-Norwich to the parishioners of St. Giles', Norwich, on condition that they for ever cause the ringing called 'Curfew bell' faithfully to be observed in the said church every night. Kirkpatrick notes that the ringing was to be during 'one quarter of the ninth hour at night.' L'Estrange, writing in 1874, says: 'The bell is now rung every night, Saturdays and Sundays excepted, at eight in the winter and nine in the summer, for one quarter of an hour.'

There have been many noteworthy peal performances at St. Giles' Church, and some of them are recorded on tablets in the belfry. The oldest tablet records the death of a ringer, who, at the conclusion of a peal, the first ever rung of 'Imperial the Third,' dropped dead. It was in St. Giles' belfry that the first peal of Superlative Surprise Major was rung, and it is here, also, that there is to be found the record of the first peal of London Surprise Major, although this was actually rung at St. Andrew's Church.

The following are the copies of the tablets:—

Near to this place John Webster fell,
Beloved by all who knew him well;
The most ingenious noted Ringer,
St. Giles's Sixth Bell round did bring her.
He closed the Peal, struck well his Bell,
Ceasing the same down dead he fell.

November 17th, 1760.

This tablet refers to the ringing of a peal of IMPERIAL the THIRD on November 17th, 1760; in which John Webster rang the sixth, and fell down dead as they were 'falling' the bells after the peal. The other ringers were John Chamberlain, who rang the treble and conducted; John Dye, who rang the tenor; Christopher Lindsay, John Barton, James Watling, John Havers, and James Vines.

6,272 changes of TREBLE BOB were, on Thursday, the 15th of April, 1813, rung in this Steeple, by eight persons belonging to the Company of Ringers of the Parish of St. Peter's of Mancroft in this City, in four hours and seven minutes, without a Bell being out of course, on the repetition of a single change. The peal was conducted by Mr. Robert Chesnutt in a very ingenious manner, and for bold and regular striking, was allowed by all impartial judges to be a masterly and unrivalled performance. The Bobs were called in the Sixth Place, and not in the usual method of practising this peal. This Board was erected by the Churchwardens and Parishioners to commemorate the Display of Science and Ability in the Art of Ringing, which was performed by the following Persons:—

On Saturday, May 19th, 1827, was rung in this Steeple by a select company of Ringers, 5,376 Changes of that very ingenious and intricate Composition NORWICH DOUBLE COURT BOB. This great task on eight Bells was perfectly Completed in the space of 3 hours and 16 minutes, without the repetition of Changes, and is only the second peal in this difficult method that ever was accomplished in this City. This Peal was composed and ably Conducted by Saml. Thurston, and for bold and regular striking reflect great credit on the Company, and was rung by the following persons:—

WILLIAM MANN	First	GEORGE HAMES	Fifth
ELIJAH MASON	Second	JNO. HORNEGOLD	Sixth
JNO. GREENWOOD	Third	CHARLES PAYNE	Seventh
JNO. COLEMAN	Fourth	SAML. THURSTON	Eighth

WILLIAM CAPON, Gent

On March 9th, 1832, was rung a complete and true peal in this steeple, comprising 6,720 Changes of OXFORD TREBLE BOB, in 3 hours and 53 minutes. The production has the peculiarity of the one hundred and twenty course ends. It was composed and conducted respectively by Mr. Henry Hubbard, and rung by the following persons:—

THOMAS HERRY	Treble	SAMUEL THURSTON	Fifth
FREDERIC WATERING	Second	JAMES TRUMAN	Sixth
JOSHUA HURRY	Third	CHARLES PAYNE	Seventh
ROBERT BURRELL	Fourth	HENRY HUBBARD	Tenor

Also on July 6th, 1832, was rung an excellent peal, consisting of 6,000 changes of that intricate double method of OXFORD BOB, in the space of 3 hours and 27 minutes, conducted by Mr. Samuel Thurston, and rung by us situated in the following order:—

PECKOVER HILL	Treble	ROBERT BURRELL	Fifth
HENRY HUBBARD	Second	JAMES TRUMAN	Sixth
ELIJAH MASON	Third	CHARLES PAYNE	Seventh
FREDERIC WATERING	Fourth	SAMUEL THURSTON	Tenor

J. H. NIXON
GEORGE SEPPINGS } Churchwardens.

On February 6th, 1835, was rung in this steeple 5,376 changes of that intricate method SUPERLATIVE SURPRISE: this great achievement was perfectly completed (at the first attempt) in 3 hours and 16 minutes, and was rung by the following persons:—

JOSHUA HURRY	Treble	ROBERT BURRELL	Fifth
ELIJAH MASON	Second	JAMES TRUMAN	Sixth
FRED. WATERING	Third	CHAS. PAYNE	Seventh
HENRY HUBBARD	Fourth	SAML. THURSTON	Tenor

Also at St. Andrew's in this City, on November 17th, 1835, was rung 5,280 Changes of LONDON SURPRISE: the most difficult system in the Art of Campanologia. This almost insurmountable task was accomplished in 3 hours and 24 minutes. The bold and regular striking of both peals must ever reflect great credit on the company: they were conducted by S. Thurston, and are the first peals ever rung in the above variations.

ELIJAH MASON	Second	ROBERT BURRELL	Sixth
FREDK. WATERING	Third	CHARLES PAYNE	Seventh

On Tuesday, April 10th, 1839, was rung in this Steeple a true and complete Peal, comprising 5,040 Changes of STEDMAN'S TRIPLES, in 2 hours and 55 minutes. It contains 180 Bobs, 218 common Singles, and 22 Bob Singles. It was ably conducted by Saml. Thurston, and rung by the following persons:—

F. WATERING	Treble	C. MIDDLETON	Fifth
G. WATERING	Second	J. TRUEMAN	Sixth
S. LOVELESS	Third	S. THURSTON	Seventh
R. COLE	Fourth	F. COLLYER	Tenor

The above Peal is composed as follows: Where B stands against the change it denotes a Bob, S a single; and B S a Bob single.

'ROUNDS' IN A PEAL. THE CONDUCTOR EXPLAINS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The mistake in the peal at Ealing was limited to one change only. The handstroke row was struck perfectly correctly, but at the back stroke the ringer of the second instead of making the bob cut down below the third and fourth. I shouted at him before his bell stuck, and though the striking suffered the bells were right immediately. When we finished and Mr. Fardon made his protest, I explained what had happened, and said it was a very fine point, and the band as a whole must decide what to do in the matter. They did decide that nothing had happened which would really invalidate the peal. In this connection it must be remembered that while Mr. Fardon was positive that the bells had struck rounds, others were equally positive that they had not done so.

I am afraid Mr. Fardon misunderstood what I said to him afterwards. I did say that he was perfectly justified in making his protest, but that did not mean that I accepted his views of what happened. Quite obviously not, for if I had I should have either stopped the bells when the mistake occurred, or have said definitely when we finished that it was no peal. As a matter of fact, on a previous occasion in the same tower and calling, as it happened, the same composition I did stop the bells in the last course because the bob had not been made properly. The difference between the two cases was that in that case the bells were wrong for half a lead, and in this for not more than a single change. What I meant was that since he had doubts about the peal he was right to say so. I had in mind the fact that other members of the band seemed to think, not unnaturally, that he was exceeding his rights and making unnecessary trouble.

And I did tell him that I intended to do nothing more in the matter. But as I knew, and he knew, that the band had just decided that the peal should stand, and that not I but another would forward you the report, clearly that meant just the opposite from what he suggests. I must not complain of being misunderstood, for I, on my part, certainly thought he had decided that he had done sufficient in making his protest, and also would do nothing more.

It would be altogether unfair to others if I let the impression go abroad that the report was sent, either without my knowledge or against my wishes. For quite ordinary reasons I did not send it, but I take the same responsibility as if I had.—Yours faithfully,

J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

WHEN 'STAND' WAS CALLED.

Dear Sir,—With reference to Mr. Robert Fardon's letter in your last issue, I had the same thing happen in a peal attempt of Bob Major at Epsom, in which Mr. Fardon was taking part.

We had rung two hours, and at a certain point the bells should have come round with 5, 6 reversed, but the 5th dropped at the dodge, and rounds came up, and I immediately called stand.

I should have thought that the conductor of the Ealing peal would have done the same thing.—Yours sincerely,

CHAS. H. KIPPIN.

PEALS IN THE FOUR KINGDOMS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—With reference to your note in 'Belfry Gossip' of to-day's date, I appreciate your kindly mention of my humble achievements, but I regret to note that an error has been made as to the name of the order to which my regalia appertains. The regalia is that of a 'Past Grand Fluke of the Antient Order of Anchorites.' This gorgeous regalia was presented to me by a fellow office bearer, the 'I.P. Benisoner' to wit. As to my being the fortunate wight to ring a peal in all the four corners of the kingdom in the shortest space of time, I do not ever remember having said so myself, although I am proud of having had the honour to call a peal in England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales—a distinction, shared, I believe, by less than half a dozen, most of whom have far greater accomplishments in the art than I have. I have certainly rung a peal in the four kingdoms in less than twelve calendar months, but it must be borne in mind that I have unique opportunities of doing so. I hold, however, that a record should count from the date of ringing the first peal in the first kingdom, so I have taken thirty years to ring the four peals. However, I was very pleased when I had the pleasure of thanking friend Lindoff for allowing me to call the fourth and last peals of the series.

I have, by the way, seen that bullet scarred clapper and the bullet scars in the walls inside the ringing chamber at 'Pat's,' and walked home from practice when the music was 'great.' The only record of which I am proud, and it is, I believe, the only one I have, is the fact that I seldom cut a notch in my totem pole unless the note 'First peal' or 'First in the method' for some colt is in evidence.—Yours sincerely,

JOE DE MIDDLESBOROUGH.

THE EASTER FESTIVAL.

Easter, the greatest festival of the Church, is also the greatest festival of ringing in this country, and following upon the activities of Easter Day, Monday provided opportunities of which the majority of ringers availed themselves. As is usual, there were a great number of peal attempts, but this year no effort was made to put up any new records. Easter Monday is, however, chiefly important from the fact that it is the most popular day among ringing associations for the holding of meetings, and the delightful weather which prevailed on this occasion resulted in some of the best attendances on record. These bank holiday meetings serve an excellent purpose, because they enable practically all members to participate. Saturday or mid-week gatherings must have their limitations because business inevitably prevents one section or another from attending. But with the bank holiday festivals it is different. On these occasions there are few ringers who are prevented by business ties from attending, and, with a full day at their disposal, even those who live at a distance from the meeting place have an opportunity to be present. On Monday ringers certainly made the most of their chances, and the more important of the meetings were of a fully representative character.

While the business part of the proceedings on these occasions has, of course, considerable importance, it is not the only feature which brings ringers together. The social side has its natural attraction, for in many cases it is the one occasion during the year when old friends can meet. At the same time, it should not be overlooked that there is a duty attaching to membership. Every individual ought to feel pride and concern in the successful and capable management of his association, but he cannot complain, if he fails to take his part in the conduct of affairs. The annual meeting is the principal opportunity of discussing questions of policy and improvement, but the occasion is seldom taken advantage of by the ordinary member, who is generally content to leave all initiative to the officers. This is not always a commendable state of affairs, for active interest on the part of the members is an incentive to the executive to achieve progress, and is usually welcomed.

One gratifying feature among matters of interest this Easter has been the very considerable number of rings of bells which have been restored in time for the Church's festival. The leading founders had their hands very full to complete the work demanded of them, and this sign of activity is one of great promise. It indicates a continued desire on the part of church authorities to place their bells in order, and the number of restorations that is now taking place is most encouraging.

SOUTH AND WEST DISTRICT.

A meeting was held on April 12th, at Norwood Green, where the peal of six were rung to Bob Minor and other methods during the afternoon. A service was conducted by the Rev. Thomas Parkes (Rector), Mr. Vicars being at the organ. After service, further ringing was followed by tea, and the usual business meeting in the Church Hall. The Rector presided, supported by Mr. A. R. Macdonald, and the vice-president (Mr. T. Beadle). Although the afternoon was boisterous, 26 sat down to tea, served by Mrs. Vicars. A vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector, organist, hostess, vice-president, Mr. Macdonald and Mr. Emmett. — The Ringing Master congratulated Miss P. Moss and Miss G. Baker on ringing their first peal of Grandire Caters at Hillingdon.

Heston tower was open for ringing in the evening, when the company was greatly increased, and the bells kept going till past 9 o'clock.

A meeting was held at St. Andrew's, Hillingdon, on March 15th. Several touches were rung before service, which was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. G. H. Vincent), with the organist presiding at the organ. Tea followed service which was served in the Church Hall by Miss Phyllis Moss, assisted by her mother and sister. The Vicar presided over the tea, and welcomed the society to St. Andrew's. A vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar, the organist, and the hostess and lady helpers for their kind assistance. Handbell ringing and more ringing in the tower brought a pleasant afternoon to a close.

ROUNDS IN A PEAL.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—With reference to the peal at South Ealing, I am sorry to say Mr. Trollope is misleading. When we finished that peal, I asked Mr. Trollope to tell us if he saw the rounds struck. He replied that the 2nd bell did cut down before the 3rd and 4th, and that it was a very fine point, etc., but he did not appear disposed to answer me in a straightforward manner, so I did not press that further. Of course, now I wish I had. However, during our parley afterwards I did pursue this question, and he assured me that rounds were rung at this blunder. He will clearly remember this, for when I said I distinctly heard the change, he replied, 'I don't trust to the ear, I go by the ropes.' Therefore, I will not hesitate to suggest that had Mr. Trollope made this perfectly clear in the first place he could have avoided this correspondence.

You will, sir, I feel sure, appreciate that I should not have brought this forward on my own word alone, and therefore I resent Mr. Trollope writing as he has done.

With regard to the following statement: 'In this connection it must be remembered that while Mr. Fardon was positive that the bells had struck rounds, others were equally positive that they had not done so,' this is quite incorrect, as Mr. Trollope knows full well. One of the band said I was wrong, but when I asked him if he saw or heard the change, he replied that he had not! The remainder also did not notice it, so since that is the case, they should have paid more heed to my statement, and had Mr. Trollope said what he should have said, they would no doubt have done so.

It should also be borne in mind that three bells were involved, for the change should have been 14325678.

Now, Sir, to be candid, why should I wish to object to my own performance if I had not a substantial reason for doing so? And, suppose I am at fault, why should Mr. Trollope agree that my objection was well founded? and why is it a very fine point? There is only one obvious answer, and one you will readily conclude.—Yours faithfully,

ROBERT FARDON.

MR. J. A. GOFTON'S 200 PEALS.

By calling a peal of London Surprise on handbells, Mr. J. A. Gofton has completed his double century in which there are some interesting features, not the least of which being the coincidence that this peal was his 50th on handbells and his 50th as conductor. The peals also include 50 on the tower bells at Whitley Bay, where Mr. Gofton is one of the Sunday Service ringers. The list of his 200 peals is as follows:—

PUDSEY SURPRISE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir.—In an article in 'The Bell News' in 1915 on Cambridge Surprise, I gave the figures of the above method, not as 'mine,' but as (what it really is) a method which is got automatically as soon as you have understood the construction of Cambridge. Since this publication was several years earlier than any other claim, perhaps it will settle the ownership of the method. It does not belong to anyone.—Yours faithfully,

J. ARMJER TROLLOPE.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

OFFICIAL MINUTES OF THE 1923 MEETING.

The third Session of the eleventh Council (thirty-first meeting) was held on Tuesday, May 22nd, at 11 a.m., in the historic Chapter House at Salisbury Cathedral, by kind permission of the Dean and Chapter, sixty-two members being present.

The chair was taken by the President, Canon Coleridge, who opened the meeting with prayer. The Bishop of Salisbury, who attended with the Dean and the Archdeacon of Sarum, gave an address welcoming the Council. The President then expressed the Council's thanks for his words, and for the kindness of the Dean and Chapter in placing the Chapter House at their disposal.

The Minutes of the last meeting having been published, were taken as read, and duly confirmed and signed.

Apologies of absence were received from Mr. G. Bolland, Rev. A. H. F. Boughley, Rev. E. W. Carpenter, Messrs. J. Carter, J. H. Cheesman, W. T. Cockerill, H. Haigh, C. H. Howard, J. Hunt, P. Johnson, E. H. Lewis, W. Lawrence, J. D. Matthews, T. Metcalfe, R. Narborough, A. Paddon Smith, Rev. H. S. T. Richardson, Messrs. J. R. Sharman, W. Storey, H. W. Wilde and W. T. Wright.

The Honorary Secretary and Treasurer, Mr. E. Alexr. Young, presented the financial statement, which showed that the year began with a balance at the bank of £74 10s. 8d., and that the present balance, after the receipts and expenditure of the year had been dealt with, was £76 18s. 7d. Having been audited in detail by the Standing Committee, the statement was, on the proposal of the Rev. H. Law James, seconded by Canon Elsee, duly accepted.

The Honorary Librarian, the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, then read his statement, and referred to the loss of £2 15s. on sales of books and publications, also to the fact that there was no book for beginners. Mr. G. P. Burton called attention to some of the peals in the 'Collection of Peals' being false. Messrs. Cave, Trollope, Pulling and the Rev. H. Law James addressed the meeting, and it was agreed to have a printed slip for insertion, in reference to these false peals. On the motion of the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, seconded by Mr. T. Hervey Beams, the librarian's report was adopted. The Rev. F. J. B. Helmore was thanked for offering to present a copy of 'Campanology' to the library.

Mr. E. Bishop and Mr. J. S. Hughes (new members) were then introduced to the president.

The Honorary Librarian then gave a statement in respect to the 'Roll of Honour,' with which he had been instructed to proceed. He reported that he had written to the various secretaries, and the names for the roll now numbered about 1,100. It was for the Council to give him further instructions in the matter. After many suggestions and some discussion, it was resolved, on a motion, proposed by Mr. T. Hervey Beams, and seconded by Alderman J. S. Pritchett, that the wording of the 'King's Scroll' should be adopted as the preface, and that the names should be written in alphabetical order, followed in each case by the name of the tower and association with which the ringer had been specially connected—abbreviated where possible—and that the roll should conclude with the text, 'Their name liveth for evermore.' It was not considered essential that more than the title page should be illuminated, but that the writing should be good and of a permanent character.

It was also agreed that the roll should be bound in the best leather, and the Standing Committee, having already suggested the payment of £20, this sum, together with the whole proposal, was, on the motion of the President, carried, nem. con., and all details left in the honorary librarian's hands.

Election of Honorary Members. The retiring members were the Rev. E. W. Carpenter, Mrs. Edwards, Messrs. J. George and H. W. Wilde. These were, on the proposal of the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, seconded by Mr. T. Hervey Beams, re-elected.

Peal Collection Committee. The President read a letter which had been received from the Rev. H. S. T. Richardson. As no other member of the committee could throw any further light on the present state of its work, a hope was expressed that a definite report would be forthcoming next year. The honorary secretary was directed to ask the Rev. H. S. T. Richardson to convene a meeting of the committee to that end.

Literature and Press Committee. Mr. W. Willson read a long and interesting report, and moved its adoption, which, being seconded by the Rev. C. E. Matthews, was carried. Mr. G. P. Burton, of the committee, said that the press was now more friendly and sympathetic towards ringing.

Methods Committee. On the motion of the Rev. H. Law James, who stated that the final inspection of the collection of Plain Major methods was in the hands of Mr. E. H. Lewis, and that he, owing to exceptional pressure of business, had been unable to complete the task, it was agreed to leave the work, which was now practically ready for printing, over until next year, when also the cost of printing might be reduced.

Peals Analysis Committee. The Rev. A. T. Beeston read his report in full, and moved its adoption, which was seconded by the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, and carried. The President expressed the Council's indebtedness to the committee for the labour they had expended on the report. (See further reference to this later.)

Towers and Belfries Committee. In Mr. E. H. Lewis' absence the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn spoke as to the year's work, especially in reference to the report issued by the Joint Conference with the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings, and moved that the Council adopt the same. This being seconded by Major J. H. B. Hesse was carried. Canon H. J. Elsee expressed gratification that ancient and historic bells were receiving more care and attention under the auspices of the Council, and Major Hesse gave some interesting observations as to the advantages of ball bearings.

It was proposed by the Honorary Librarian, and seconded by Canon Baker, and carried, that the Council renounce any copyright it may have in the joint report with the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings.

The President here said that the Rev. A. T. Beeston desired to revert to a point inadvertently overlooked, viz., the report upon method nomenclature. The Rev. A. T. Beeston moved and Alderman Chambers seconded its adoption, which was declared carried, whereupon considerable difference of opinion arose, especially as to 'College Single Reverse,' Rev. H. Law James moving, and Mr. J. A. Trollope seconding, the report being referred back. Mr. J. W. Parker and the Rev. A. T. Beeston having defended their attitude and several members having spoken, the Council adjourned for lunch. On resuming after the interval, discussion proceeded, the Rev. A. T. Beeston, Mr. G. P. Burton, Rev. F. L. Edwards, Rev. E. S. Powell, Messrs. J. A. Trollope and A. F. Martin Stewart speaking. One of the various suggestions was that the point should be adjourned for another year. Ultimately upon it being pointed out that the whole discussion was somewhat irregular, inasmuch as the report had already been adopted, it was proposed by Mr. W. Willson, and seconded by Mr. J. Parker, that the Council proceed with the next business, and this was carried by 28 to 20 votes.

Records Committee. The Rev. A. T. Beeston read the report of this committee, giving the progressive lengths rung and the records of first peals since the last Council meeting. The attention of the Exercise was directed to the necessity of claiming any known or believed record performances, when publishing the same. On the motion of the President, the report was adopted by general consent. It was proposed by the Honorary Secretary, and seconded by the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, and carried, that the collection be typed and kept by the honorary librarian for circulation amongst ringers.

Science Museum Exhibit Committee. The Honorary Secretary gave a general statement as to the position, and said that the committee had had a meeting with the officers of the museum, where a case and wall space had been allotted for the purpose of the exhibit, the nucleus of which was now formed. He proposed that a sum of £10 should be spent for a series of framed diagrams. Some difference of opinion arising, the Rev. H. Law James moved, and Mr. W. Cave seconded, that a copy of 'Standard Methods' be obtained and framed. An amendment by the Rev. H. Drake, seconded by the Honorary Secretary, that both the foregoing should be provided was lost by 27 votes to 17, the original motion being then adopted. Mr. W. Cave hereupon offered to print the diagrams, for which the President expressed the thanks of the meeting.

At this point it was agreed to defer the consideration of the card of instructions until later.

City Churches. The Rev. F. L. Edwards then briefly moved his motion, 'That this Council meeting expresses the fervent hope that no sanction will be given to any further demolition of the City Churches.' This, being seconded by Major C. C. Hughes D'Aeth, was strongly opposed by Mr. J. A. Trollope, and supported by Mr. G. P. Burton, who protested against the latter's statement that most of the City Churches were worth nothing. As the motion did not relate to bell-ringing, Rev. Canon Baker said it was out of place, and he proposed the 'previous question.' Alderman J. S. Pritchett seconded the same, which was then put and carried.

First and Record Peals. The Rev. H. Drake moved: 'That this Council recommends that first or record peals should be rung for a society within the limits of that society's area.' He asked the meeting to allow it to be put in this positive form. The alteration having been agreed to, the Honorary Secretary seconded the motion pro forma. This, on being put, was lost by a large majority.

The Rev. H. Drake proposed 'That the Peals Analysis Committee be asked if they can add a column showing the ratio between the number of members and the points gained by each society.' The motion found no seconder, and therefore was declared lost.

Spliced Method Peals. The Rev. C. D. P. Davies proposed 'That in compositions of 5,000 changes or upwards on seven or more bells, it is essential that the whole composition shall be "true."' The Rev. E. S. Powell seconded the resolution, which was carried nem. con.

Care and Use of Bells. The Honorary Secretary presented a draft of rules for a proposed card of instructions on the care and use of bells, suitable for hanging in a tower. This had been based in part upon cards issued by founders. He also read a part of a set of rules propounded by the Rev. H. Drake, when it was proposed by Rev. C. D. P. Davies, and seconded by Canon H. J. Elsee, and carried, that the draft first read be the basis of the card. Rev. H. Drake kindly offered to give £5 towards the card.

The next meeting of the Council being that held in London, it was resolved to apply to the Dean of Westminster for the use of the Jerusalem Chamber, at the Abbey.

Mr. Cave gave notice of motion in respect to 'Spliced Peals.'

It was proposed by Mr. C. T. Coles, seconded by Mr. W. Willson, and carried, that the College Youths be congratulated upon their peal of Stedman Cinques at Southwark Cathedral.

The President proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Dean and Chapter for letting the Council have the use of the beautiful Chapter House, and also to the Salisbury Diocesan Guild for the very special welcome which had been extended to them at this meeting of the Council. This was carried by acclamation. The meeting closed at 4.50 with a vote of thanks to the president.

A SHREWSBURY 'JUBILEE.'

On Saturday, April 12th, a few friends of the tower warden of St. Chad's, Shrewsbury, met to attempt a peal of Kent Treble Bob Maximus in honour of Mr. C. R. Lilley's 50th birthday, which occurred on April 8th. Messrs. Chapman and Page travelled from Manchester, T. Wilde from Hyde, H. W. Wilde from Eccleston, E. Jenkins from Warrington, S. Wood from Ashton-under-Lyue, and H. C. Spencer from Erdington. The last named very kindly made the journey at the last moment to fill a gap through a serious accident befalling Mr. B. Horton. Mr. Lilley travelled to Birmingham and back, a hundred miles, to get the band completed, and best thanks are due to Mr. Albert Walker for obtaining a ringer for the vacancy. The result of the attempt was a splendid peal, which, in addition to celebrating Mr. Lilley's 'jubilee,' was also a birthday commemoration for Mr. Sam Wood, the composer of the peal, who completed his 67th year on April 7th.

This was the first peal of Kent Treble Bob Maximus in Shrewsbury. On December 26th, 1813, a peal of Oxford Treble Bob Maximus was rung there by the Union Society, called by Richard Cross, and in which the renowned Samuel Lawrence took part. No other peal of Treble Twelve had been rung on the bells until last Saturday week.

After the peal the band were entertained to a meat tea in the Masonic Lodge Room by Mr. Lilley. Five of the band stayed the week-end, and met the young band at St. Chad's on Sunday morning, touches of Stedman Cinques, and Caters, and Double Norwich Major being rung. The Cinques was the first on the bells for Sunday service. Afterwards a touch of 168 Grandsire Triples was rung with members of the junior band taking part.

MORETON CORBET BELLS RECAST.

A DELIGHTFUL RING OF SIX FROM LOUGHBOROUGH FOUNDRY.

The restoration of the bells at Moreton Corbet Church, which has been effected at a cost of over £500, was celebrated on April 9th by a service of praise, at which the Rural Dean, Prebendary the Hon. A. Parker, gave an address to a large congregation, prayers being offered by the Vicar, the Rev. E. C. Pigot. At the conclusion of the service the bells were rung by ringers from Market Drayton, Stanton, Wem and Shrewsbury, and many expressions of satisfaction were expressed by the hearers as to the delightful tone of the bells.

The bells have been recast and rehung with entirely new fittings, in new, strong and massive cast-iron framework scientifically designed so that the minimum amount of stress is placed on the structure of the tower.

The work has been carried out by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., Loughborough. There is now a perfect little peal of six bells, the tenor weighing 9 cwt. 1 qr. 3 lb., and their tone is magnificent. The inscription on the bells are as follows:—

Treble.—The Rev. G. Dicken, Minister. John Rudhall. Fect. 1808. Recast 1924.

3rd.—Andrew Corbet, Esq., Lord of this Manor, gave me 1782. Recast 1924.

4th.—Recast 1924.

5th.—John Rudhall, Gloucester. Fect. 1808. Recast 1924.

Tenor.—The gift of Andrew Corbet, Esq., Lord of this Manor. Recast 1924.

There is to be placed in the tower the following inscription:—

The bells in this tower were given by Andrew Corbet, A.D. 1782-1808, and were recast and rehung A.D. 1924, by the patron, Gerald Vincent Corbet, and by his fellow parishioners, to the glory of God and in memory of Roland James Corbet.

Sir Gerald Vincent Corbet has generously contributed £400 towards the cost of the bells.

The visiting ringers were hospitably received and entertained by the Vicar.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The tenor at St. Mary-le-Tower Church, Ipswich, cannot be rung, through faulty bearings and gudgeons; therefore, no peals may be attempted until these have been repaired. It is hoped that the order to put work in hand will be given at the next meeting of the Parochial Council.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Clifford, of Beeston, Notts, celebrated their golden wedding on Easter Monday. Mr. Clifford has been a ringer at Beeston for sixty years.

The Midland District of the Ladies' Guild will not be able to hold their meeting at Coseley, as proposed, but will meet instead at St. John's, Deritend, on May 3rd.

We understand that two notices of motion with regard to the Nomenclature of Methods have been placed on the agenda for the forthcoming meeting of the Central Council.

James Pettit, one of the stalwarts of the College Youths for two generations, was born on April 25th, 1834. He died in 1912.

Among memorable peals rung on April 27th were 8,580 Stedman Cinques by the College Youths at Cornhill in 1861, 15,840 Kent Treble Bob Major, in 9 hrs. 12 mins., by the same society at Bethnal Green in 1868, and 8,896 Kent Treble Bob Major by the Cumberland Youths at St. Anne's, Highgate, in 1876.

The Cumberlands rang 10,112 Oxford Treble Bob Major at Edmonton in 6 hrs. 24 mins., on April 28th, 1800. Last year, on this date, the Midland Counties Association rang the 12,896 Cambridge Surprise Major at Stoney Stanton.

The first peal by the Cambridge University Guild was rung on April 28th, 1890.

A peal of Grandsire Cinques was rung at Leeds Parish Church on May 1st, 1842. There is a record in the belfry which states that it was rung in 3 hrs. 43 mins. 9 secs. Few peals are timed so exactly as this.

EASTER BELLS.

Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, of the Whitechapel Foundry, completed the following restorations and additions, in order that the bells should be ready for the Easter festival:—

LEATHERHEAD.—Ten bells (tenor 19½ cwt.).—The 9th recast, the whole peal tuned and rehung in new frame and fittings.

ALL SOULS', HALEY HILL, HALIFAX.—The eight bells (tenor 25 cwt.) rehung in new frame and fittings. (This is the peal mentioned in Sottanstell's book.)

HENDON, MIDDLESEX.—Six bells (tenor 16 cwt.).—Treble, 2nd and 4th recast, the whole peal tuned and rehung in new frame and fittings.

MOORLYNCH, SOMERSET.—Six bells (tenor 18 cwt.). The 2nd, 4th and tenor recast. The peal tuned and rehung in new frame and fittings.

WITCHAMPTON, DORSET.—Five bells (tenor 10 cwt.). The peal rehung with new fittings in a new frame for six bells.

KIRKLINGTON, YORKS.—Three bells (tenor 9 cwt.). The treble and tenor recast and the peal rehung in new frame with foundation to take six bells.

HAYWARD'S HEATH, SUSSEX.—A single bell of 28½ cwt.

For the Moody Seminary, Northfield, Mass., U.S.A., a peal of eight bells (tenor 35 cwt.) has been cast. In this case, the tenor only is hung for ringing.

In addition, Messrs. Mears and Stainbank have in hand the new recast ring of eight for Bridport, Dorset; a new ring of eight for Escrick, Yorks; also the rehanging of the bells at Ware Parish Church, Herts, and Frampton-on-Severn, etc.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

A most successful meeting of the Hinckley District was held at Wolvey on Saturday, April 12th, members and friends attending from Bulkington, Croft, Coventry, Chilvers Coton, Exhall, Hinckley, Monks Kirby, Stony Stanton, Sapcote, Shilton, Wigston Parva, etc. The methods rung on tower bells included Plain Bob, Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Bob Minor, Double Court, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Minor.

The Vicar (the Rev. S. Morris) most generously provided tea in the Schools for all present, and this was followed by a business meeting, the vice-president (Mr. C. H. Webb) presiding.

The Rev. R. L. B. Oliver (Vicar of Monks Kirby) was elected an hon. member of the association, as was also the Rev. S. Morris (Vicar of Wolvey). Four ringing members were elected.

The Rev. R. L. B. Oliver invited the ringers to try the bells at Monks Kirby, and this offer was unanimously accepted.—It was decided to hold the next monthly meeting at Broughton Astley.

A most hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar of Wolvey for the use of the bells and so kindly providing tea, was carried with applause, and a similar vote was passed to the ladies for their assistance.

The tower was again visited, and afterwards there was change ringing on handbells, and tunes by Mr. C. H. Webb and his sons, which brought a pleasant meeting to a close.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

SUCCESSFUL GATHERING AT ST. ALBANS.

The 39th annual meeting of the Hertford County Association, which was held at St. Albans on Easter Monday, was one of the most successful in the history of the association.

During the day the bells at the Abbey and other churches in the city were rung, the visitors enjoying many touches. A service was held in the Abbey, and was conducted by the Rev. A. F. Robson, who also delivered an address. Tea followed in the Abbey Institute, and at the annual meeting the President, Mr. E. P. Debenham, presided, supported by the Dean of St. Albans (Dr. G. W. Blenkins), Mr. G. W. Cartmel (honorary secretary), etc.

Mr. H. E. Goodenough, of St. Albans, was elected president for the ensuing year, Mr. E. P. Debenham hon. treasurer, and Mr. G. W. Cartmel hon. secretary, whilst Major Guy M. Kindersley, M.P. for Hitchin, was elected as an honorary member.

The representative on the Central Council is again to be the Rev. H. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake. The hon. librarian, Mr. E. D. Levermore, was re-elected, and the district secretaries were appointed as follows: Messrs. P. R. Bacon (Northern), W. H. Lawrence (Eastern), C. H. Horton (Watford), W. Ayre (Western) and W. Nash (St. Albans).

Mr. Cartmel's annual report stated: This is the 39th report of our association, the 19th it has been my privilege to write, and my twentieth year as your honorary secretary. In many ways the year has been one of advancement. Thirty-two peals have been rung on tower bells and three on handbells, making a total of 34. They have been rung in 16 towers, with 20 different conductors. The tower peals comprise 4 of Superlative, 1 Cambridge, 1 London, 2 Kent Treble Bob, 2 Double Norwich, 5 Bob Major, 4 Stedman Triples, 1 Bob Triples, 3 Grandsire Triples, 1 Cambridge Surprise Minor, 5 Bob Minor and 2 in 7 minor methods.

I would congratulate Mr. Nash and his band at North Mymms on their peal of Bob Triples, in which seven rang their first peal, also the Hatfield band upon the great progress they have made during the year. The peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor by the Barley band is a record for their tower, of which they may feel justly proud: they have also recently rung a 720 of Norwich Surprise and a 720 of Oxford and Kent Treble Bob spliced, probably the first to be rung in the county. Another interesting feature has been the ringing of a peal at the Cathedral to mark the 50th anniversary of the opening of the bells.

In the Watford Division Mr. Eden reports that things have been somewhat quiet in ringing quarters around Watford. The bands at Abbots Langley, Bushey Heath and Rickmansworth have made considerable progress during the year. Thanks to the energy of Mr. Maurice Hibbert, the Bushey Heath band have rung a fairly long touch of Grandsire Triples, and the Rickmansworth members a 500 of Stedman Triples. The district meetings have not been too well attended, but they have been extremely successful, especially one held at Rickmansworth. Mr. Eden has notified me of his desire to be relieved of his duties as district secretary. A reference to the minutes recalls the fact that Mr. Eden was elected for the West Herts District on the occasion of the division of the association into three districts at the Easter meeting, 1904. Except for a brief absence, owing to the exigencies of the war, he has continued the work up till to-day. We are loath to part with one who has shown such sterling worth, and accept his resignation with many regrets. In thanking him for his many years of service, we are sure he will not only cherish happy memories of the work it has been his privilege to carry on, but will ever remember the fellowship of the ringers themselves.

Mr. Bacon reports good progress in the Northern Division, although peals have been few. The practices and service ringing have been well attended. At Baldock quite a young company has sprung up, and their progress is excellent. Graveley band have mastered Doubles, and the Hitchin band now rank among the premier societies in the county. Stevenage shows signs of progress, and we hope soon to welcome them into membership. District meetings have been held at Barkway, Great Wymondley, Royston, Knebworth, Hitchin and Baldock, with gratifying success. At the kind invitation of the secretary, it was my privilege to attend the meeting at Hitchin, and to give the address in the Parish Church. The hearty welcome that was accorded to me will ever remain reminiscent of ringers' good fellowship. I also found that a ringer's wife is sometimes connected with ringers' teas, and that in Mrs. Bacon our worthy secretary possesses not only an expert in entering, but one who by her kindly acts has been conferring benefits to the ringers personally for more than twenty years. We thank her most heartily.

In the Western Division Mr. Ayre has fully justified the confidence placed in him last year. He has arranged four meetings, with an average attendance of 17. Two others were arranged, but had to be cancelled owing to local conditions. Mention must be made of the Hemel Hempstead band, who, with assistance, have scored two peals of Bob Major. Mr. Ayre is of opinion that greater co-operation is needed between adjacent bands, to enable greater progress to be made in the district. As Mr. Ayre possesses an infectious enthusiasm, I feel sure his wishes will be carried out.

An interesting footnote to a peal in his district notifies that our friend has added to his many responsibilities, that of a parent. As the event was broadcasted into Lincolnshire, with similar peal honours, I feel sure Mr. Ayre is happy in the possession of a nucleus of a ladies' band.

Mr. W. H. Lawrence reports that Sunday service ringing has been well maintained in the Eastern Division, and definite progress has been made. Last year I commented upon the revival of the Braughing band, and it is pleasing to report that several members have since rung their first peal. A new band has also sprung up at Widford, and we welcome their membership into the association. Meetings have been held at Widford, Bennington, Hertford, Hoddesdon and Hunsdon, and from the secretary's minutes appear to have been most enjoyable functions.

Mr. Nash reports the holding of five meetings in St. Albans Division, one of which was held jointly at Kimpton and Wheathamstead, 6-bell towers. Although the attendance was not large at the latter places, it is the beginning of a good work, and I trust it will lead to further extension. The meetings at the other towers were well attended.

I would again acknowledge not only the association's great indebtedness to the district secretaries for their painstaking labours, but would add my personal tribute of thanks. Their work has been excellent, cheerful and accurate. I desire also to compliment them upon the increased number of services that have been arranged at their meetings, which has been most heartily welcomed by the various incumbents. It is now a pleasing feature at most meetings, and entirely due to their own initiative. The need has been expressed, and the committee recommended that a service paper be issued for district meetings, for optional use, and the Dean of St. Albans has kindly offered to give us his advice.

The committee met at St. Albans on March 1st, when the general welfare of the association was fully considered. One important point discussed was the clashing of district meetings, which has been raised by the Hitchin band. After full discussion, it was decided to ask the district secretaries to confer together to-day as to the fixing of provisional dates, the final arrangements being confirmed by correspondence. The secretary was also requested to insert in the annual report touches of Stedman and Grandsire Triples.

Readers of 'The Ringing World' are conversant with the discussion on the subject of the naming of methods, and in this connection I have received a resolution passed by the St. John the Baptist Association of Leytonstone, asking for co-operative action by other 6-bell companies. I would recommend that we leave the matter in the hands of our Central Council representative. I personally think that some of the names appear ridiculous, but some very weird names appear in the book which has recently been presented to us.

There has recently been presented to the association by Miss Coombe, whose father was a member of the Cathedral Society, a very old book on ringing, called "'Campanologia,' or 'The Art of Ringing Improved.' With plain and easy rules to guide the practitioner in the ringing of all kinds of changes. To this is added great variety of new peals." It was printed in London by W. Godbid for W. S., and to be sold by Langley Curtis in Goat Court, on Ludgate Hill, 1677. The book is dedicated 'To the Honoured and to his much esteemed Friends, the Members of the Society of College Youths,' by F. S., 'a constant well-wisher to the prosperity (though an unworthy member) of your Society.' I have been in communication with the secretary of the Ancient Society of College Youths, in an endeavour to trace out from their members' list more about the author and the composer of the peals, both of whom, through modesty, only gave the ringing world their initials. Mr. Cockerill informs me that during the years 1655 to 1678, a period covering the publication of the book, four members bearing the initials 'W. S.' were elected; but he thinks that the dedicatory epistle signed 'F. S.' most probably stands for Fabian Stedman. I concur.

We have lost two honorary members during the year, Mr. Shillitoe, of Hitchin, and member for many years, and Mr. J. G. Williams, of Pendley, Tring. From the active list we have lost Mr. Frank Furr, of Hitchin, a very old member of the association, whose departure reminds me that he rang the third to a peal that I conducted at Hatfield, 36 years ago.

After all the kind words I have said I should like to have one grown on behalf of the district secretaries. Subscriptions become due to-day, and should be paid as soon as possible, certainly not later than next Christmas. Please do not leave payments in abeyance within a few days of the annual meetings. We need the funds each year if we are to carry on successfully.

In conclusion, let us thank God for all the benefits He has conferred upon us as an association, and as individuals, during the year. In the pursuit of our ringing we are blessed with increased vigour, both of mind and body: it is a necessary corollary to the successful carrying out of our duties in the belfry. If we realise His sovereignty, our services will be rendered with true thankfulness, and we shall find ourselves not only offering our meed of praise in the ringing of the bells for Divine service, but we shall instinctively take our place regularly with the congregation below, and join with them in prayer, thanksgiving and praise. This should be the hallmark of every ringer. It is a rightful ambition, one worthy of imitation surely by every ringer. Let it be the ambition of every member of this association. See that ye 'walk circumspectly,' as the great Apostle puts it, from day to day. It is the solution of many difficulties which occur in our belfries. Let us never forget that our personal conduct exercises an influence in the shaping of the character, for good or bad, of the brother we meet in the belfry. So, as you return to your respective belfries, do so with a determination not only to excel in the proficiency of your art, but also endeavour to put into the fullest practice those higher qualities which belong to your calling in Christ Jesus, and worthily uphold the traditions of the association to which you belong.

BONVILSTON RINGER'S DEATH.

It is with deep regret that we have to record the death of Mr. Alfred Hannington, late of Rumney, who passed away on March 27th, at the age of 56, after only four days' illness. The deceased was a regular Sunday Service ringer for the last ten years at St. Mary's, Bonvilston. He has been also one of the sidemen, and was people's warden for the last two years. He was devoted to the work of the church, and will be much missed in the belfry, the place he loved so much. He leaves a widow, four sons and one daughter to mourn their loss. Two members of his family are very enthusiastic bell ringers.

The funeral took place on April 1st, at the Parish Church, the service being conducted by the Vicar. Eight members of the local band acted as bearers, and carried the remains to their last resting-place just under the sound of the bells. There were many floral tributes, one from the local band. After the interment the bells were rung half-muffled as a last mark of respect.

PEAL TABLES AT SELBY ABBEY.

PRESENTATION TO THE CONDUCTOR.

At Selby Abbey, on Sunday evening, April 6th, a very interesting ceremony took place in the belfry, where a peal tablet of white Sicilian marble, with black Belgian marble background, has been erected to commemorate the peal of Grandsire Caters (5,003 changes), which was rung on Wednesday, December 26th, 1923, by an entirely local band. Before evening service, the Rev. Canon Solloway, D.D. (Vicar), with the churchwardens, visited the belfry, and in the presence of the ringers and a few friends, the Vicar, after a short prayer, unveiled and dedicated the tablet, which bore the inscriptions, as follows:—

Yorkshire Association of Change Ringers. — At Selby Abbey Church, on Wednesday, December 26th, 1923, in three hours and twenty minutes, a peal of Grandsire Caters (5,003 changes) was rung by R. Fenton (treble), J. W. Hall 2, F. Cryer 3, Arthur Cryer 4, H. S. Morley 5, T. Morgan 6, G. W. P. Fenton 7, E. W. Hinton 8, H. Fairlam 9, T. Strudwick tenor. Conducted by H. Fairlam. First peal of Caters on Selby Abbey bells by a local band. T. G. Hawdon, Bruce Gray, F. Wray, W. T. Everatt, Churchwardens. Canon J. Solloway, D.D., Vicar.

The Vicar said it was interesting to know that the Selby Abbey ringers had succeeded in ringing such a peal for the first time in the history of the Abbey. He thought it was very fitting for such a record to be placed in the belfry to bear witness of the interest and enthusiasm the ringers were taking in their work. They had stuck well together, and were doing splendid work by service ringing, which was heard not only by those who attended the church, but by others outside, calling them to the house of God. Continuing, he said he had another ceremony to perform, and that was to present Mr. H. Fairlam, the conductor of the peal, on behalf of the ringers, with a gold medal in commemoration of the event as a token of appreciation of his comrades for the work done on that interesting occasion. The medal was engraved on one side with bell, headstock, wheel, and monogram 'H. F.' and on the other side, 'Presented to H. Fairlam, conductor of first local peal at Selby Abbey, 1923.'

In acknowledging the presentation, Mr. Fairlam said it was like hitting below the belt, it had come to him as a great surprise. He should value the gift very much, not only for the record which it commemorated, but for the kindness and consideration of his fellow ringers, whom he wished to thank.

Mr. F. Cryer (captain), on behalf of the ringers, thanked Canon Solloway for performing the ceremonies, the churchwardens and friends for their presence. When he commenced as a ringer at the Abbey over 40 years ago, he said, there was no change ringing done. He introduced the change ringing, and now he was pleased to say that all the band were members of the Yorkshire Association, and had succeeded in conducting and ringing a peal of Grandsire Caters. They had many difficulties in his time, because, when a probationer got in the way of ringing a bell, he would leave the town, and then they had to start again. However, he was pleased to say they had a fairly good band at present.

The tablet is a splendid piece of handicraft, and is the work of Mr. T. Strudwick, who is one of the ringers.

OLD BOOKS ON CHANGE RINGING.

SOME RARE EDITIONS.

In 1895 the late Mr. Harvey Reeves issued a reprint of Stedman's 'Tintinnalogia,' 1668, from the office of 'The Bell News.' This was produced from an original copy belonging to the late Rev. Wm. C. Lukis, of Wath Rectory, near Ripon, in Yorkshire. Some time ago I inquired of Miss Lukis what had become of this book, and she informed me that her father lent it some man who never returned it. Possibly this was the said Mr. Reeves. I shall be glad if any reader of 'The Ringing World' can give me any further information about it, or of the existence of another copy in private hands. The late Dr. Raven, in his 'Bells of England' (p. 244), says: 'The first edition of 'Tintinnalogia' was anonymous, but was registered at Stationer's Hall by 'Fabyan Stedman.'—On the other hand, the title page of Reeves' reprint says: 'Printed by W. G. for Fabian Stedman at his shop in S. Dunstan's Churchyard in Fleet Street, 1668.' Dr. Raven further says: 'In 1671 appeared the second edition "Printed for F. S., and are to be sold by Tho. Herbert at his shop under the dial of S. Dunstan's Church in Fleet Street." I shall also be glad to hear of a copy of this edition, of which the late Rev. H. T. Ellacombe says in his supplement to 'The Church Bells of Devon,' published in 1872, 'A fine copy of this edition is in the possession of W. Tite, Esq., M.P.'

Another book by Stedman styled 'Campanalogia, or the Art of Ringing improved,' was 'Printed by W. Godbid for W. S., and are to be sold by Langley Curtis in Goat Court on Ludgate Hill, 1677.'

In this same year John White published 'A rich cabinet with variety of inventions,' a portion of which contains 'Directions for Ringing the most usual peals that belong to that art.' This was 'Printed for William Whitwood at the sign of the Golden Bell in Duck Lane, near Smithfield, 1677.'

Under the title of 'Tintinnalogia, or the Art of Ringing improved,' he published the same portion on ringing in a smaller book without date, but which states on the title page, 'By J. White, Gent,' and 'Printed for G. Conyers at the Ring in Little Britain.' It also contains 'The School of Artificial Fireworks,' and 'The Art of Gardening.' Its date is believed to be about 1700, though I am inclined to think it is older than the larger publication of 1677.

'The School of Recreation,' first published in 1684 has a portion devoted to ringing; and a later edition of this book states that it was 'By R. H. London,' and was 'Printed for A. Bettesworth at the Red Lyon in Paternoster Row, 1732.' (See 'R.W.' No. 531, p. 286.)

Then follow the five editions of 'Campanalogia Improved,' by J. D. and C. M., members of the Society of London Scholars, the first, 'Printed for George Sawbridge at the three Flower-de-Luces in Little Britain, 1702'; the second, 'Printed for G. S., and sold by Henry Green at the Sun and Bible on London Bridge, 1705'; the third, 'Printed for A. Bettesworth and C. Hitch at the Red Lyon in Paternoster Row, 1733'; the fourth, 'Printed for C. Hitch and L. Hawes in Paternoster Row; and J. Hodges, near London Bridge, 1735'; and the fifth, 'Corrected by J. Monk,' and 'Printed for L. Hawes, W. Clarke and R. Collius, and S. Crowder, in Paternoster Row, 1766.'

These were followed by the 'Clavis Campanalogia,' by Jones, Reeves and Blakemore, 'Printed for the authors, and sold by T. Blakemore, No. 4, Darby Court, Piccadilly, and J. Bowtell, Cambridge, 1788.' Two subsequent editions without date were 'Printed for R. S. Kirby, Paternoster Row,' and 'Printed for Lougman, Rees, Orme and Brown, by J. Raw, Ipswich.' Both these editions appear to be from the same type, and are identical in every particular except the statements given above from the bottom of the title pages, and both have the same footnote to the last page, 'Ipswich, printed by J. Raw.' Some contemporary advertisements attached to a copy that I have of this last edition are dated December, 1819. The later works by Shipway, Hubbard, Thackral, etc., etc., are probably well known to members of the Exercise.

CENTRAL COUNCIL MEETING.

In connection with the Whitsuntide meeting of the Central Council in London, arrangements have been made by combined committees of the Ancient Society of College Youths and Royal Society of Cumberland Youths for social meetings to be held on Saturday, June 7th, at the 'Coffee Pot,' Warwick Lane, at 7.30; Sunday, June 8th, at the 'King of Denmark,' Old Bailey, at 7.30 p.m., and Tuesday, June 10th, 'Bedford Head Hotel,' Maiden Lane, W.C., 7 p.m.

Visitors to London for the holiday are advised to seek accommodation at the various hotels early owing to the congested state of London during the summer months.

LEATHERHEAD'S BELLS. BANK HOLIDAY ATTRACTION.

A happy transformation has been effected at Leatherhead, Surrey, by the tuning and rehanging of the peal of ten bells. Previously they were not an ideal ring, but a visit to the Whitechapel Foundry has resulted in a peal, which, heard from any position round the tower, are a delight to the ear. Incidentally it may be mentioned the bells are noisy in the ringing chamber, but that is a defect which can and will be remedied.

Leatherhead Church, dedicated to SS. Mary and Nicholas, stands upon the side of a hill overlooking a once sleepy old town. The main streets in these days, however, wear a very lively aspect, for through the town runs one of the highways that radiate from London, and on such a day as Monday, when all the world seemed to have taken to the open road, Leatherhead was a scene of great animation. But the church, just off the main highway, stands in a comparatively secluded spot, and although the scene all around must be strikingly different to that which prevailed when first there was a peal of bells in the old flint-faced tower, there is something peaceful and soothing in the building and its immediate surroundings, after the helter-skelter of the streets a hundred yards or so away.

In the church inventory made in the time of Edward VI. there were 'iiij belles in the steeple,' at Leatherhead; the same steeple that stands sentinel over the town to-day, for it reared its lofty head something like seven hundred years ago, a century after the church itself was built. Nothing more of the history of the bells is known until the year 1792, when there was a ring of six, on which on July 30th, a peal in seven Minor methods was rung, as the ancient board in the belfry still testifies. After this peal, a new ring of eight was put in, with a tenor of about 16 cwt., and these were placed in the tower on the 25th of August of the same year—a record of despatch which seems to make it doubtful whether they were really a new peal. If they were, it seems most unlikely that the previous ring of six were recast for the purpose.

After they got their eight bells, Leatherhead soon had a band of efficient ringers, for in 1795 'local performers' rang a 6,400 of Oxford Treble Bob Major, conducted by one Benjamin Simmonds, whose name appears on other boards as conductor more than twenty years later. In 1798 there was a 5,200 of the same method rung, and in 1808 10,080. This was on Whit Monday, and some of the present band still have unhappy recollections of the centenary peal attempt, which 'went west' through a rope slipping wheel and the bell setting up, after over three hours' ringing!

In the year 1816 T. Mears recast the whole of the bells except the third, fourth and fifth, which became the second, third and fourth in a heavier ring. These bells were supposed to have a tenor of about 21 cwt., but when put on the scale recently it was found to be 19½ cwt. In 1877 Warners recast the three bells which escaped the melting pot in 1816, and added two trebles to complete a peal of ten. The whole have now been overhauled by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, who have recast, the ninth and tuned the rest, giving them greater resonance and effecting improvements in the harmonics which put the bells in a different class.

The rehanging has been done in a new timber frame, which, constructed of teak, is carried on four principals of Indian hardwood. The bells run in ball bearings, and their 'go' is perfect.

The dedication took place at a simple service held on Thursday of last week, conducted by the Vicar. The local men rang a few rounds during the ceremony, and as the congregation left the church, a well-struck touch of 270 Grandsire Caters. Afterwards, a similar touch, a course of Treble Ten and 287 Grandsire Caters were rung.

On Monday these bells formed an attraction for a large number of ringers, who, taking advantage of the meeting of the Surrey Association, made Leatherhead their Bank Holiday Mecca. Surrey men were there, of course, in force, and London sent a contingent, but there were also ringers from much further afield, Hampshire, Sussex and Middlesex being represented. Indeed there was rather a unique meeting of old Sussex ringers, for in the belfry at one time were George Williams and Jim Frossell, 'camrades in arms' at St. Peter's, Brighton, thirty years ago; George Paice, who at that time was among the stairwells at Crawley, and another, who shall be nameless, but who enjoyed the company and the help of these good fellows all those years ago. Another 'veteran' who was present, but of whom one hears little in these days, was W. W. Thorne, who rang peals of Cinques with George Newson and the Cumberlands years before many of these present on Monday were born. Tom Beadle was there from the other end of Middlesex, and a great many more, including a good sprinkling of ladies, whose names are familiar to the readers of these columns. It is impossible to mention all, but one was pleased to see that worthy, Thomas Miles, to whose unique record of ringing, reference was made last week, taking a rope in some of the touches. Arthur Dean, of burly form and genial mien, was 'Master of Ceremonies,' and he kept the hall rolling to a purpose. The belfry, though large, was crowded throughout the afternoon, but none need have gone empty away—in the ringing sense.

The visitors joined in a service in the church, which the Vicar conducted. It was brightened by a number of hymns, and the Vicar gave a short but uplifting address. Afterwards there was a bountiful tea served in the Schoolroom, and a merry party gathered round the tables.

The Vicar presided at the business meeting, at which ten new members were elected.

The Master of the Association (Mr. J. W. Drewitt, of Mitcham), was unfortunately unable to attend, owing to ill-health, and the hon. secretary was requested to forward an expression of sympathy from the meeting.

Reference was made to the presence of Mr. George Williams (Master and joint hon. secretary of the Winchester Guild), who, with the other visitors, was most cordially welcomed.

Mr. Williams spoke of his connection with Leatherhead forty years ago, and said that it was probably from Leatherhead that change ringing spread into the Diocese of Winchester.

The meeting concluded with a vote of thanks to the Vicar and organist, and the Chairman, in reply, expressed great pleasure in meeting the association, especially now that the bells were in good order. The restoration, he said, had been carried out mainly through the efforts of the local ringers.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.

The Gainsborough district of the Northern Branch held their opening meeting of the year at Blyton, on Saturday, April 12th. There was a good attendance, members being present from Gainsborough, Stow, Messingham, Scotter, Brigg and Workop, in addition to the local ringers. The peal of five bells at St. Martin's were kept going in the methods of Grandsire, Plain Bob and Stedman, also some well-struck rounds by the beginners.

A short service was held in the church, after which an excellent tea was provided at the Schoolroom.

At the business meeting, the following new members from Blyton were elected: Rev. E. S. Letts (honorary member), Messrs. P. Redfern, J. Redfern, C. Stevenson, E. Kirkland and E. T. Letts, as ringing members.

Stow was elected for the meeting in May, the date being left open.—Mr. F. F. Linley made some very interesting remarks on bell inscriptions, to be found in the various churches near Gainsborough.

A course of both Grandsire Caters and Triples was then rung on handbells by Messrs. W. T. Cooper, F. S. W. Butler, H. Morgan, C. A. Hewitt, J. T. Bartram, of Gainsborough, after which the tower was again visited, further ringing being enjoyed until about 7.30 p.m.

DEATH OF A PETERBOROUGH RINGER.

We deeply regret to record the death of Mr. Walter Gamble Cross, of Peterborough, the sad event taking place on April 3rd, in the Peterborough Infirmary, at the age of 49 years. Mr. Cross underwent an operation on March 14th, and although it was considered serious, there were hopeful signs that it would be successful, but at the end of two weeks he had a relapse, pleurisy setting in, from which he did not recover.

Deceased was a native of Grimston, Norfolk, where he first learnt to handle a bell. He joined the Peterborough Parish Church company in 1908, and had been most regular in attendance in the belfry for service, ringing up to the time of his last illness.

He had rung twelve peals for the Peterborough and District Association, including Minor, Triples and Major, his last being Kent Treble Bob Major at Whittlesea on August 25th last year.

The funeral took place on April 8th, the first part of the service being held in the Parish Church, at which the Vicar (the Rev. A. E. Manvell) and the Rev. P. B. Spriggs (curate) officiated. The hymn, 'On the Resurrection morning,' was sung. The committal sentences were said by the Vicar at the New Cemetery, and several local ringers were present at the graveside. A course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells over the grave by V. E. Butler, T. R. Vaughan, F. T. Cooke and H. Beechey.

Muffled touches were also rung during the evening on the tower bells of St. John's and St. Mary's Churches.

Gillett and Johnston have just rehung the bells at St. Andrew's, Wells Street, W., and the first ringing on them since the completion of the work took place on Sunday, when, after evening-song, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes) was rung by A. ASSOCIATION FUNDS.

The Midland Counties Association will surely be the envy of most of the other ringing organisations, for the Hon. Treasurer, at the annual meeting on Easter Monday, was able to report that, although substantial grants had been made to bell restoration, the Association has funds to the extent of £200. There can be few ringing societies in so flourishing a financial condition as this, and the result is largely due to the successful efforts of the executive, and chiefly of the President himself, in securing such an imposing array of honorary members. The contributions received from this source form a very stable foundation for the operations of the Association, and the financial standing of the M.C.A. is an object lesson to other similar organisations.

It must be very comforting to the members, and particularly to the officials, to know that their funds are in such a satisfactory state, but some of those outside, whose balances are not so substantial and who see no present prospect of realising such a happy condition of things, may be inclined to look upon this affluence as the fox in the fable looked upon the grapes which were beyond his reach. We have heard the question asked, when association balances have been discussed, 'What is the use of hoarding up money why not spend it for the benefit of members?' True, these funds belong to the members, but it is a short-sighted policy which would dissipate a sound foundation for a fleeting pleasure for the members. It is a common practice to spend association funds upon teas or railway fares, and, so far as it goes, this is one way of encouraging ringers to attend meetings. We doubt, however, if this is the best method in which funds can be used to promote ringing, as distinct from assisting ringers.

There will probably be many dissentients from our view, but in our opinion it is the art and not the artists that ought to be first considered. Ringers, when joining an association, should ask themselves what can they put into it, rather than what can they get out of it? Yet the question is not infrequently put, 'What do we get for our two shillings?' It is a mean way of looking at things. Ringing associations are primarily founded for furthering the art, and this should be the first object of everyone who enters their ranks. The accumulation of a substantial balance is an initial step towards advancing ringing, for without funds little can be done. We have no doubt that the Midland Counties Association, when the time arrives, will utilise its financial resources with that care and regard for its future that we may expect from an organisation so well managed as it is at present. Its position is an eloquent tribute to the capable manner in which its affairs are conducted.

HERTS ASSOCIATION AT BRAUGHING.

A very enjoyable meeting was held at Braughing on Saturday last, and some good work was done to help and encourage the Braughing band, who are trying hard to revive the art which flourished in this Hertfordshire village two centuries ago. They are making substantial headway, and no fewer than eleven of the band were present at the meeting. Other members of the association were present from Royston, Hatfield, Ware, Widford, Great and Little Munden. The bells were kept going merrily all the afternoon and evening, and good practice was made in Grandsire, Stedman and Bob Triples, Treble Bob Major and Double Norwich, and it was felt that the real object of a meeting had been achieved.

DEDICATION OF BELLS AT WITHIEL, CORNWALL.

On Easter Monday, at Withiel, near Bodmin, the dedication of a peal of six bells took place, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Stanley Windsor, R.D., with the Rev. F. W. Fuller (Rector). The service was most impressive, and was attended by a crowded congregation, including ringers from many parts of Devon and Cornwall.

After the dedication, the opening peal was rung by the ringers from St. Winnow, who were followed by ringers from St. Wenn, Lanivet, St. Erme, St. Minver, Blissland, St. Mabyn, St. Tudy, Roche, St. Columb Minor, St. Issey, St. Eval, and representative ringers from other towers. The day's proceeding included a luncheon, bazaar, tea and carnival.

All were highly pleased with the efficient work executed by Messrs. W. Aggett and Sons, Bell Works, Chagford, and the ringers pronounced the 'go' to be excellent.

THE PEAL AT IDLE, YORKS.

The peal rung on April 19th, at Idle, Yorks, was in honour of the marriage of Mr. Fred Kilsham, one of the local band, to Miss R. Skinow, which took place earlier in the day. To the bride and bridegroom the band wish every happiness.

It was also the 300th peal of Mr. Joseph Broadley on tower bells only. He is the first member to ring this number for the association.

BREWOOD, STAFFORD.—On Monday, March 17th, on handbells, a quarter-peal of Stedman Doubles (1,260 changes), in 41 mins., with ten different callings: Frank Blewitt 1, Percy Bill 2, G. Terry (conductor) 3—4, J. W. Perry 5—6.

NORFOLK GUILD.METHOD NAMES: MOTION IN FAVOUR OF REVISION.

A general meeting of the Norfolk Guild was held at King's Lynn on Easter Monday. By kind permission of the Rev. J. Blackbourn the ring of ten bells at St. Margaret's, and the ring of eight at St. Nicholas', and also by the kind permission of the Rector of Gaywood, the Rev. H. S. Radcliffe, the ring of six bells at St. Faith's, were placed at the disposal of the members throughout the day.

Luncheon was served at the Globe Hotel, the President (the Dean of Norwich) being in the chair, supported by the Rev. J. Blackbourn (Vicar of St. Margaret's and St. Nicholas', King's Lynn), the Rev. H. S. Radcliffe (Rector of Gaywood, and Rural Dean of King's Lynn), Mr. G. P. Burton, Mr. W. L. Duffield, the general secretary (Mr. A. L. Coleman), and representatives from Fakenham, Gaywood, King's Lynn, Norwich, Terrington St. John, Tharston, Watlington, etc.

The business meeting was held in the Archdeacon's Court in the Church of Nicholas, the President being in the chair.

The Secretary submitted twelve nominations for membership, the last five being re-elections: Messrs. Jas. Henry Rapes, Ernest Alfred Bullock, John Robert Smith, Charles Henry Moore, George Revell, Lancelot Lawrence, Frank Stone, Stephen Daniels, Jesse Lawrence, Robert Etheridge, James Hill, Greak Shipp.—The President, on putting these nominations before the meeting, declared them duly elected.

The next item on the agenda was a motion on the nomenclature of new methods.—After a debate, in which several members took part, Mr. G. P. Burton proposed, and Mr. A. L. Coleman, seconded: 'That this meeting of the Norfolk Guild is of the opinion that only selected topographical names should be employed in future in the nomenclature of new methods; that it is advisable that the Central Council should take control of method nomenclature, and revise existing names which are unsuitable.' The motion, on being put to the meeting by the President, was carried nem. con.

A vote of thanks was accorded to the Rev. J. Blackbourn for the use of the bells of St. Margaret and St. Nicholas' Churches, and also to the Rev. H. S. Radcliffe, for the use of the bells of St. Faith's, Gaywood.—The Rev. J. Blackbourn having had to leave before the close of the proceedings to attend another meeting, the Rector of Gaywood kindly acknowledged the vote, and expressed the pleasure he had had at being present at a meeting of the Norfolk Guild.

The secretary announced that the Whit Monday meeting would be held at Lowestoft.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

To-day is the anniversary of the first peal on record, a peal of Grandsire Bob Triples at St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich, on May 2nd, 1715.

On May 5th, 1817, a peal of 12,312 Grandsire Caters was rung at Painswick in 7 hrs. 44 mins.

The first peal in Dorset (Grandsire Triples) was rung on May 5th, 1887.

In 1792, on May 7th, the peal of Grandsire Bob Maximus was rung. This was at Southwark Cathedral.

At Foxearth, Essex, a peal of 10,176 Kent Treble Bob Major was rung on May 7th, 1888.

His many friends will regret to learn that Mr. G. R. Fardon has met with a painful accident. On Easter Monday, a box on which he was standing, tipped up, and Mr. Fardon fell against another box and fractured two ribs. We wish him a speedy recovery.

There was much ringing in London on St. George's Day. In addition to the peal at the Imperial Institute, the bells at St. Paul's Cathedral and Bow Church were rung by the College Youths. The Cumberlands were ringing at St. Martin's and St. Bride's, and there was also a wonderful service at St. Clement Danes, where the bells were also rung.

Mrs. Pennington Bickford, wife of the Rector of St. Clement Danes, and who is well known to ringers, has been appointed one of the churchwardens of the famous church in the Strand.

By an unusual coincidence, each of three brothers of the Lambert family, of Horsmonden, Kent, rang his 55th peal, when seven 720's of Minor were rung on Sunday.

ROUNDS IN A PEAL.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Many ringers would, I am sure, be interested to know why a 'peal' in which rounds are accidentally struck should be worse than one in which some other less noticeable row is repeated. Neither can be true, and logically both should be placed in the same category as a peal whose composition is false in the ordinary sense.

But what would become of our peal records then?

AN INQUIRER.

BELL WEIGHTS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The letter from Mr. Chas. H. Kippin, in your issue of April 18th, touches rather a delicate question. What grounds has Mr. Kippin for the assertion that 'all the bells are weighed before being tuned'? And then his last sentence: Why need he infer that it was only 'in former days that bells were weighed without the clappers'? It has, I think, been commonly held, that in the good old days, bells were frequently weighed with the clappers. Surely it is not the practice of the best bell foundries to-day to charge otherwise than the nett weight of bell metal delivered.

I do not know to what extent the 'Mancroft' bells have been tuned. The tenor, however, has usually been described as a 'maiden' bell, and if so, would undoubtedly be all the better for a tune-up, as would likewise some of her fellows.

I am still inclined to think that the difference between the old and the new figures for the weights of the bells is sufficiently accounted for by the fact that until quite recent years foundries would not have had the scales to weigh the bells accurately.—Yours faithfully,

G. P. BURTON.

PUDSEY SURPRISE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I did not intend saying anything more on this subject, but Mr. Trollope's letter calls for an answer from me. In my letter of April 11th, I stated when I produced and published 'Yorkshire' Surprise. Kindly allow me now to further add that the first peal was rung February 14th, 1903, and also that for 17 years afterwards no other company of ringers took sufficient interest in it to score a single peal.

Does not this show the beautiful apathy shown towards it. I myself pointed out to the Legitimate Methods Committee its qualities, stating that it was what 'Cambridge' ought to have been, instead of what it is, an 'Illegitimate Method.' Little or no notice was taken of me, which is proved by the fact that within the last two years, two expert members of that committee have stated in your columns, that 'Cambridge' was the only Surprise Method which would extend perfectly to the higher numbers. Those who make that statement know nothing of 'Yorkshire' and Pudsey. Now, I ask Messrs. Trollope, Dexter and Carter, in the name of justice, Who has the right to publish the figures of Reverse Yorkshire, except its first author in 1898? who is yours truly,

ARTHUR CRAVEN.

THE YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION. MEMORABLE MEETING AT BEVERLEY.

The usual Easter Monday meeting of the Yorkshire Association was held at Beverley this year, and the hum of great bells filled the air, proclaiming to the inhabitants of the town in no unmistakable fashion, that a meeting of the Association of Change Ringers was being held. The great peal of ten in the Minster Church of St. John of Beverley, has a tenor 41 cwt. 1 qr. in C, while the peal of ten in the neighbouring Parish Church of St. Mary has a tenor of 34½ cwt. in D. Not often are ringers privileged to ring on two such peals of bells, and many visitors steered their way through their first touches on ten bells in various methods. The famous great Bourdon bell, weight 7 tons 3 qr. in G, is the same note as the sixth bell of the peal of ten in the south-west tower of the Minster, and at varying intervals during the day the great bell was swung while the peal of ten were ringing, the effect of the combination to the listening visitors being magnificent beyond description. The two churches attracted many sightseers, Mr. J. Waghorn, of London (now becoming a veteran, indeed), being among the many long-distance visitors.

A meeting of the general committee was held in the Girls' School, Minster Yard, at 2.30 p.m., and the general meeting should have immediately followed, but owing to the attractions of the Minster and St. Mary's Churches, and the bells in the towers thereof, the meeting had to be postponed until tea-time, when some 90 members sat down to a sumptuous meal.

At the business meeting the chair was taken by the President (the Rev. C. C. Marshall), who was supported by the Rev. W. H. Rigge, D.D., the Vicar of Beverley Minster, and the principal officers of the association.

The President placed before the meeting the following alteration of general rules, notice of which had been given at the annual meeting at Hull in January, and asked the opinion of the meeting whether the motion should be proceeded with at this meeting, or postponed until the September meeting of the association. After a long discussion, it was moved by Mr. F. Salmsons, and seconded by Mr. W. Middleton, that the following alteration to general rules be placed before the meeting for decision: First, to delete Rule 8 and alter Rule 2 to read, 'The subscription for each ringing member shall be 2/6 for the first year, and 2/- for each subsequent year, this subscription entitling such members to a free copy of the annual report for the current year. All members, who were members prior to and including the year 1885, shall be entitled to an annual report at a charge of sixpence.'

It was further moved by Mr. A. Sellars, and seconded by Mr. J. W. Johnson, to alter Rule 3 by the addition of the following clause: 'That the general committee shall have power to appoint an hon. secretary for peals, who shall have a seat on the general committee, and who shall retire annually.'

A vote of thanks to the Rev. Dr. Rigg and the Rev. E. Hope for kindly granting the use of the splendid peals of ten at the Minster and St. Mary's Churches, respectively, was moved by Mr. P. J. Johnson, and seconded by Mr. F. Cryer.—In responding, Dr. Rigg said that Beverley would try to maintain the tradition set by his predecessor, Canon Nolloth, in taking a great pride in the splendid bells of Beverley, and in always extending a hearty welcome to the Yorkshire Association whenever they cared to renew their acquaintance with Beverley. In concluding a most kindly welcome, Dr. Rigg consented to become an honorary member of the association.

The President extended to Mr. J. Waghorn, of London, a hearty welcome, on behalf of the association, and expressed the hope that Mr. Waghorn would be spared to attend many more meetings in Yorkshire.

Further ringing in various methods, brought a most enjoyable day to a close, train time calling a halt to a most memorable meeting.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

A meeting of the Chester Branch of the Chester Diocesan Guild was held at Waverton on Saturday, April 26th, and although the weather was somewhat stormy, the attendance was good, and the meeting was most enjoyable. The bells (6) were rung during the afternoon, when a well-struck 720 of Oxford Treble Bob was brought round. The Rector (the Rev. F. Willoughby-Jones) conducted the service, after which he invited the members to the Rectory, where an excellent repast was partaken of.

The business meeting was held after tea. The branch secretary read the balance sheet for last year, and after discussion, it was adopted.—Mr. H. W. Wilde proposed a very hearty vote of thanks to the Rector for his kindness in officiating at the service, in providing such an excellent tea, taking the chair at the meeting, and extending such a warm welcome in every way.—The vote was seconded by Mr. A. E. Richards, and carried with acclamation.—The Rector suitably replied.

After the meeting, the tower was again visited, and the bells were kept going until 8 p.m. The final touch was a spliced 720 of College Exercise and Norbury.

BELLS OF EMPIRE.

ROYAL CUMBERLANDS MEMORABLE PERFORMANCE.

A privileged band of ten members of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths celebrated the opening of the British Empire Exhibition, at Wembley by His Majesty the King on St. George's Day by a peal of Stedman Caters on the 'Alexandra' ring of bells, hung in the lofty Queen's tower at the Imperial Institute, London. These bells very seldom rung, are one of the crowning glories of this noble building, which was built to commemorate Queen Victoria's Jubilee, and intended as a binding link between the Colonies and the mother country.

There are few heavier rings of ten in the country than these bells at the Imperial Institute. The tenor is 38 cwt. 1 qr. 15 lb., and the total weight of the peal 158 cwt. 3 qr. 11 lb. Down in the streets around the Institute they tell a wonderful tale, but the ringing chamber is too close under the bells, and the noise too great for the ringers to be able fully to appreciate their tones. The bells are in some respects unique. They were the gift of an Australian lady, and were opened in May, 1893, by a band of prominent ringers selected from all parts of the country.

Each bell was named after a member of the royal family, and has cast around it, in addition, the following: 'Elizabeth M. Miller gave me; the Loughborough Taylors made me.' On the 8th is also the inscription—

'The peal, of which this bell forms one, was, by special permission of the Princess of Wales, named after Her Royal Highness.'

Hence the bells are known as the 'Alexandra Peal.' The names inscribed on the bells are: Treble, Maud; 2nd, Victoria; 3rd, Louise; 4th, George; 5th, Albert Victor; 6th, Arthur; 7th, Alfred; 8th, Alexandra; 9th, Albert Edward; tenor, Victoria, R.L., 1837-1887.

The bells are hung over 200 feet above the streets below, and the ringing chamber is reached by a climb of 273 steps, the last 123 of which are up the spiral staircase within the tower itself. From the balcony just above the bells a magnificent view of London is to be obtained on a clear day.

The peal arrangements were made by that prince of organisers, Mr. W. H. Fussell, of Slough, but it was no simple matter, for the correspondence was carried on through various Government departments, the eventual permission coming from H.M. First Commissioner of Works himself. While ringing the peal under the auspices of the Cumberland Youths, an endeavour was made to make the band representative of as wide an area as possible, and the ten men who took part represented ten counties (when one of them had been elected to the Sussex Association), viz., London, Middlesex, Kent, Surrey, Sussex, Hampshire, Bucks, Herts, Bedfordshire and Essex.

The band were met by the custodian of the tower and Mr. Challis Winney, and, having 'submitted to the camera' beneath one of the massive lions guarding the main entrance, began the long ascent to the ringing chamber, which is a spacious but bare apartment, with the bells on the next floor above. The bells were raised and, after a few preliminary rounds, ropes were adjusted, and the bells went off into changes at 3.16 p.m. The 'go' was found to be better than had been anticipated, but the sway of the tower when the bells got into certain positions gave the men on the heavy end some hard work towards the finish, and when, at seven o'clock, rounds came up once more, not only was everyone extremely pleased at the success which had attended the effort, but no one had any desire for more, and the ninth and tenor men came in for hearty congratulations upon their performance.

Afterwards the party took tea together, and were joined by Mr. Ben Foskett and other old Cumberlands, while before a final separation took place, 'the Health of the Master of the Society,' who had called the peal, and of the organiser, through whose efforts the peal had been possible, was drunk.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A quarterly meeting was held on Saturday, April 26th, at Llanishen, near Cardiff. The bells, a light ring of six, were raised about 3 o'clock, and kept going until the service, which was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. R. L. Rhys), who had the assistance of his wife at the organ. The excellent address touched on the history of bells, ringers, etc. A sumptuous tea had been very kindly provided by the Vicar and his wife in the Church Rooms, at which forty sat down.

The usual vote of thanks was passed at the business meeting which followed the tea. Several items were discussed arising from the minutes. Instructors' reports were dealt with, and also the item of 'Restoration and augmentations.'

It was decided that the next Glamorgan meeting be held at Bonvilston.

The balance sheet for the year was presented and passed, and several new members were elected.

The tower was afterwards re-visited, and the bells kept going during the evening, bringing to a close a most successful and pleasant meeting.

A DAY WITH THE MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION

By W. W.

Glorious weather heralded the annual meeting of the Midland Counties Association on Easter Monday, when all roads seemed to lead to Nottingham. Long before the town is reached, the castle, a frowning fortress of mediæval times, looms on the horizon, a silhouetted sentinel; reminiscent of the days when Robin Hood, Little John, and his rangers peered through the foliage of Sherwood Forest, mistrustful of the power that lay in the tower on the banks of the silvery Trent. Amusements other than bell ringing interested the lacemen on Monday, for the two 'soccer' teams were involved in football contests 'at home,' while a pleasure fair blared out its raucous 'music' unceasingly from morn till night. However, the bells of St. Mary's (likewise of St. Peter's) drew the attention of members more than the 'excesses' aforesaid, and both rings of ten were soon pealing out, and did their best to mitigate the din of the fair, not altogether unsuccessfully.

The committee meeting was held in the vestry of St. Mary's, when among the routine business was a resolution 'that the committee have power in special cases, to place old and indigent members on a free list of life membership.'

A grant was also made to North Wingfield for their Bell Restoration Fund. A sum of ten pounds was also allocated from the General to the Bell Repair Fund.

A ringers' service was held in the Parish Church (Pro-Cathedral) at noon, and was well attended—if we except those who stayed on to ring at St. Peter's—and to this end it might be well to close all ringing down during the time of service. The offertory, amounting to £1 18s., was added to the Repair Fund. The preacher was the Rev. R. F. Wilkinson, M.A., of Mansfield, a ringers' parson all through, and one who can ring from Plain Bob to London Surprise.

Luncheon followed at the Albert Hotel, Derby Road, those present including the President (Ald. R. B. Chambers, J.P.), Mrs. Chambers, Rev. Canon Field, M.A., Rev. H. P. Hales, M.A., Rev. R. F. Wilkinson, the general officers of the society, with 85 members, including many ladies. After an excellent four-course lunch, the loyal toast was honoured, and then the business meeting was held. Commenting on the year 1923, Ald. Chambers paid a tribute to those members who had passed 'to that bourne whence no traveller returns,' reading their names from the report of the committee, and also referred to the huge number of honorary members, whose subscriptions were a valuable source of revenue.

Mr. A. C. Wright, hon. secretary, gave a resume of the year's peal ringing, and the list of membership, while Mr. W. Willson (treasurer) pointed out that the past year was the most successful in the annals of the association. From a financial standpoint at least, the M.C.A. was undoubtedly the premier society, the capital in hand approaching £200, while grants had been made to several church bell restorations during the year.

The 'retiring officers' were not allowed to retire, Messrs. Ald. Chambers, J.P., Mr. A. C. Wright, and Mr. W. Willson, being re-elected president, secretary, and treasurer, respectively, nem. con.

For the Central Council representation, the following were declared elected: Ald. R. B. Chambers (Derby), Albert Coppock (Nottingham), Pryce Taylor (Loughborough), W. Willson (Leicester).

Votes of thanks to the Vicars for the use of the various bells were passed, and responded to by the clergy present. En passant, it is not known whether the Rev. R. F. Wilkinson can sing, but he can most certainly tell a good tale, his humorous and original remarks keeping his hearers in a roar, and were worth broadcasting.

A vote of thanks was also passed to the local committee for their tireless work of organising the meeting, the luncheon, and the 'smoking concert' to be given in the evening, Messrs. A. Coppock and F. Blood, local secretary, responding.

As the members were free to adapt themselves to any amusement they desired until the concert, the meeting dispersed, some patronising the fair, others went to Basford Church, where the eight bells were open for ringing, while the two rings of ten in Nottingham were not long idle.

In the evening, the company met again in the same room for a 'smoker' and social, under the chairmanship of Mr. W. E. White, Mr. Albert Coppock's comrades, 'The Welbeck Male Voice Quartette' providing the bill of fare, which included some exquisite renderings of part-song music, both grave and gay, especially good was the harmonised 'Annie Laurie,' and also Sullivan's 'Lost Chord.' Mr. J. Warren (alto) gave 'The Coming of a Dream,' Mr. J. Bradley (tenor) 'The Carnival,' Mr. A. Coppock 'I'll Promise You' (baritone), while the Ilkeston Handbell band rendered 'Home, Sweet Home!' A course each of Stedman Caters and Cinques was rung, also three leads of Treble Twelve.

Miss Winnie Willson sang 'Little Brown Owl' and 'Smilin' Through,' after which Mr. W. C. Hunt thrilled his audience to the marrow with an interlude on the 'Oompah'—a fearsome instrument like a hooka pipe, the bowl of which would hold at least a quart!

There is not the least doubt that Mr. 'W. C. H.' is a clever exponent on this weird contraption. [At the moment of going to press, we are informed by the 'Society for the Suppression of Mysterious Noises' that the aforesaid instrument is not an 'Oompah' but a Saxophone.] And had the piano been in tune with the instrument the result would have been a thing of beauty and a joy for the biggest part of some time. As it was, emotion was plainly visible on the rugged features of some (who strove to hide it), and when the haunting melody of 'I love me' broke on the smokeroom air strong men wept! Gulping down their sorrow in a beaker of the best 'home-brewed.' However, all's well that ends well, and the scrivener who indites these lines was unfortunately called away before the end, for time and trains wait for no man, but everyone was satisfied that the Nottingham meeting of 1924 was an unqualified success, the local committee having left no stone unturned to make their visitors enjoy themselves.

The next meetings are arranged for Stavley, Hinckley, and Long Eaton, while the next annual gathering falls to Leicester, Easter Monday, 1925.

WORCESTERSHIRE AND DISTRICTS ASSOCIATION.

RECORD ATTENDANCE AT ANNUAL MEETING.

Under ideal weather conditions the annual meeting of the Worcestershire and Districts Association was held at Worcester Cathedral on Easter Monday. Members from all parts of the diocese attended, and created almost a record attendance. All bells available at city churches were going early in the morning, and methods from Grand-sire to the Surprises were indulged in.

The President (the Dean of Worcester), who presided at the fully attended meeting in the Chapter House, again welcomed members on their annual visit to the Cathedral mother church, and said he was proud of their fidelity. The Dean announced the bold step the Chapter had taken in offering free admission to all parts of the Cathedral to visitors, excepting the tower and crypt.

The secretary, Mr. J. R. Newman, presented the report and balance sheet, which were cordially adopted. The report shows 77 peals rung in 1923, one of Stedman Caters by officers of the association, conducted by the Master, Mr. W. Page. The accounts showed over £100 on the credit side for the first time in the association's history.—Mr. T. J. Salter was thanked for a new innovation included in the report of a 'Peals Analysis and Points Table,' which it is hoped will stimulate and encourage young ringers in the days to come.

The whole of the officers were re-elected, excepting the Rev. F. C. Champion representing the honorary members on the Central Committee. Mr. Robert Matthews was elected Master, Mr. W. Page retiring; Messrs. W. Short, T. J. Salter and R. Matthews were appointed representatives to the Central Council.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded Mr. Page for his valuable work during his three years' service as Master.

A grant of £5 was voted to Selly Oak Bell Restoration Fund, and the usual votes of thanks terminated the meeting.

Members then attended the special service in the choir of the Cathedral, at which the authorised service prayers of the association were used. The service, a memorable one, will linger in the memories of those present. The solo, 'I know that my Redeemer liveth,' was beautifully sung by Master Siddington, one of the choristers. Then the choir sang the resurrection quartettes and choruses from 'Messiah,' during which the sun's rays flowed through the lofty windows of the choir and south transept, and seemed to say of a surety 'Christ is Risen.' The Cathedral organ is undergoing reconstruction and improvements, at a cost of about £5,000. The organist, Sir Ivor Atkins, accompanied the choir on a grand piano, by which the grandeur and greatness of Handel were never more exemplified in simplicity. One wondered which was the greater artist, the chorister or the great organist.

The sermon was preached by the Precentor, the Rev. Barrington Baker.

Tea was taken at the Central Restaurant, during which the Dean proposed 'Success to Worcestershire Association,' on that its 41st anniversary.—The retiring Master suitably responded.

After so long a spell of cold winds, and an almost sunless sky, Easter Monday, 1924, will long be remembered.

RINGING THE TENOR AT 80.

At Launton, Oxon, on Easter Sunday afternoon, Mr. William Foster commemorated his 80th birthday by ringing the tenor bell of the Parish Church through a 720 of Grand-sire Doubles. Mr. Foster is still very active, and continues his daily work. He can climb the long iron ladder, on the outside of the tower wall, which leads to the ringing chamber with the greatest ease. The ringers in the 720 were as follows: T. Marriott 1. H. Foster 2. F. Sharpe (conductor) 3. R. Castle 4. J. Massey 5. W. Foster 6. Mr. Foster has rung the tenor bell for over 40 years, and has been verser for the same period. He has been in Launton Church choir for 72 years.

PRESENTATION TO MR. CHALLIS F. WINNEY. RECOGNITION OF FAMOUS LONDON RINGER'S VALUABLE WORK.

At the close of the College Youths' business meeting on Tuesday of last week, the Master (Mr. R. T. Hibbert), in an appropriate and humorous speech, presented Mr. Challis F. Winney with an illuminated address and a cheque for £60, subscribed by members and friends from all parts of the country, as an appreciation of Mr. Winney's valuable work for the promotion of change ringing.

Amidst the applause of a large number of members who had met in answer to the 'special business' call, Mr. Winney, in his own characteristic style, thanked the Master, and through him everybody else who had taken part in 'this undeserved surprise,' as he called it.

Messrs. T. Faulkner, H. R. Newton, A. B. Peck, A. Walker, E. A. Young, W. Garrard, R. T. Hibbert, A. Hughes, G. N. Price, Howell, and W. T. Cockerill, the committee responsible for carrying out this scheme, desire herewith to thank most heartily all who so kindly responded to the invitation to do honour to their highly gifted and much esteemed brother ringer.

The following is the wording of the address, which is a beautiful specimen of the artistic handwork of Mr. C. Scarborough, who has for many years entered the records of peals in the society's priceless volumes.

THE ANCIENT SOCIETY OF COLLEGE YOUTHS.

Established A.D. 1637.

TO MR. CHALLIS F. WINNEY.

We, members of the Ancient Society of College Youths, and friends, desire to express our appreciation of your valuable work for this society and ringing in general, also the high standard you have always set throughout your ringing career of over forty years, and beg your acceptance of the accompanying cheque as a token of esteem and affection.

We heartily wish you many years of health and strength that we may have the benefit of your skill and ability in the art of ringing.

RICHARD T. HIBBERT,

Master.

April 22nd, 1924.

A FITTING APPRECIATION.

The recognition by the members of the Ancient Society of College Youths of the services rendered to ringing by Mr. Challis F. Winney is a fitting appreciation of one who has always stood for what is best in the practice of the art. Mr. Winney is known throughout the Exercise, for he has been, for more than forty years, actively participating in ringing, and he has been associated with some of the very finest performances. Although he is now advancing in years, Mr. Winney is no 'back number,' as witness his participation in the record lengths of Stedman Caters and Stedman Cinques rung within the last two years, and the fact that he still, upon occasion, calls Carter's Odd-Bell peal on handbells. As a Stedman ringer, Mr. Winney has no superior; indeed to the average man he appears to be a 'genius'; although he does not rank himself anything like so highly. In the belfry Mr. Winney is a stern master, and he is content with nothing but the best. Indeed, he has more than once stopped a peal on account of the striking, when most other men would have been content to let the bells go on. Challis Winney is no flatterer of men where ringing is concerned, and praise from him is praise indeed; but not a few ringers have heard from his lips some concise home truth as to their ability at the end of a rope. For all that, however, Challis Winney is among the gentlest and most kindly of men, and to know him is to respect and esteem him.

He was born at Nayland, Suffolk, on St. Patrick's Day (March 17th), 1858, the year of the great comet, he will remind you, and one wonders whether this has any relation to his genius as a ringer. Both his father and grandfather were crack six-bell ringers at Nayland. Mr. Winney came early to London, and began his ringing in a company that included John Murray Hayes, Ted Horrox, Dick French, and all the old school of College Youths. He rang his first peal at St. Gabriel's, Millicote, on Oct. 2nd, 1880—Grandsire Triples, conducted by J. M. Hayes. His first peal of Stedman Cinques was on the 18th of the same month at Southwark Cathedral, conducted by James Pettit. The first peal Mr. Winney called was Holt's Original on handbells, on March 21st, 1884, and this was umpired by John Cox, the ringers being Edwin Gibbs 1—2, F. T. Gover 3—4, C. F. Winney 5—6, G. T. McLaughlin 7—8. Before this, however, he had taken part in the then record length of Stedman Caters, the 11,111 rung at Fulham on December 8th, 1885. Among the long peals in which Mr. Winney has taken part in recent years have been the 12,160 Bristol Surprise Major at Knebworth in 1912, the 21,363 Stedman Caters at Anneton on April 22nd, 1922, and the 12,675 Stedman Cinques at Southwark last Whit Monday. Mr. Winney has been, for a great number of years, a member of St. Paul's Cathedral company, and, although he has never, purely through his own retiring nature, passed through the College Youths' chair, he is one of its most esteemed and valued members, and it was a delight to them last week to do him honour.

Mr. Winney asks us to thank all his brother ringers for their kindness, for he was taken so much by surprise that he did not adequately express his feelings, when acknowledging the gift.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting of the Ely Diocesan Association was held at Cambridge on Easter Monday. After a short service at noon in St. Mary's-the-Great, at which an address was given by the Rev. H. B. Woolley, Vicar of Long Stanton, dealing with the progress of change ringing and the more general recognition of ringers as church workers, and reminding them of their responsibilities and the need of punctuality, and other matters appropriate to the congregation composed of the Exercise, the members assembled for lunch at the Dorothy Cafe, at which the Rev. A. H. F. Boughey presided.

The business meeting followed, at which the hon. secretary read his report. During the year 16 peals had been rung on the tower bells, and nine, including one of Cambridge Court (the first by the association) and one of Double Oxford Major on handbells.

After some discussion, the meeting adopted the recommendation of the committee to postpone the printing of the report.

The officers were elected as follow: Hon. secretary and treasurer, the Rev. R. Copeman; auditor and representative on the Central Council, Mr. T. R. Dennis; district secretaries, Mr. A. E. Austin, the Rev. H. B. Woolley, Mr. H. W. Giddings and Mr. W. G. Cross.

The Secretary reported that the new Bishop of Ely had consented to be president of the association.

Votes of thanks were passed to the incumbents for permission to ring, to the Rev. H. B. Woolley for his address, and to the Rev. A. H. F. Boughey for presiding.

Ringing was carried on during the day in various methods, and all were glad that the 7th bell of the famous twelve at St. Mary's-the-Great had been recast by Messrs. Taylor since the last meeting, so that touches of Caters and Maximus were possible.

SEVENTY YEARS A RINGER.

DEATH OF MR. JOHN GARFORTH, OF DEWSBURY.

The death has taken place at Eastborough, Dewsbury, of one of Yorkshire's oldest and most respected ringers—Mr. John Garforth, who was 76 years of age. For more than 50 years he was a familiar figure among ringers, not only in the Heavy Woollen District and Spen Valley, but in many other parts of the county.

He started bell ringing at the age of six, when a friendly sexton at Dewsbury Parish Church allowed him one day to toll the funeral bell. From this moment his interest never flagged, and by the time he had reached his teens was regarded as a fully-fledged ringer. When, in 1863, a peal of bells was installed at Batley Carr Parish Church, he and five others became the first regular ringers after a short period in which members of the choir carried out the duties of ringing people to church.

After 18 months at Batley Carr Mr. Garforth became a member of Dewsbury Parish Church Ringers, where he remained for more than 30 years. The last nine or ten years of his ringing career was at St. Peter's Church, Earlsheaton, of which place he was a native. At that time he was still a ringer at St. Peter's, but attended on Sunday evenings only on account of his advanced years.

Mr. Garforth was the last of the eight ringers who rang the first peal on Dewsbury Parish Church new bells in April, 1875. For thirty years he was a member of Dewsbury Handbell Ringers, attended regularly at the annual concerts at Belle Vue, Manchester, and assisted in winning many prizes for Dewsbury.

In ordinary daily life Mr. Garforth held the splendid record of over fifty years' service as an employe of Wormalds and Walker, Ltd. He was a kind and genial soul, and the respect and admiration of those with whom he had been most closely associated was reflected at the funeral at Dewsbury Cemetery. The following belfries were represented: Dewsbury, Batley, Birstall, Earlsheaton, Mirfield, Ossett, and Horbury. There were also many from the Social Club, of which he was a member. A course of Grandsire Major was rung on handbells at the graveside by Messrs. G. H. Hardy 1—2, Albert North 3—4, Sam Gibson 5—6, and Joseph Ruddlesden 7—8. In the evening muffled touches were rung on the bells at Earlsheaton.

NEW TREBLE FOR FOLKINGHAM, Lincs.

On Easter Day, a new treble bell at Folkingham, Lincs, was heard for the first time, making a nice peal of six by Taylor & Co., Loughborough. The tenor weighs 13 cwt. Funds have been raised by public subscriptions, organised by Mr. C. T. H. Bradley.

St. Andrew's, Folkingham, has possessed a fine old peal of five for many years, the tenor, dating from 1676, by Norris, the 4th, 1761, also by Norris; the 2nd, 3rd and 5th being recast 1847 by Mears.

On Easter Day, touches of Grandsire Doubles, Bob Minor, Single Court and Oxford Treble Bob were rung by the Folkingham and Billingborough bands of ringers. The tone and 'go' of the bells were much admired.

THE FOUR SHIRES GUILD.

SUCCESSFUL MEETING AND COMPETITIONS.

The Four Shires Guild held their half-yearly meeting and competitions at Ebrington on Saturday, April 26th. Ringers were present from Campden, Moreton-in-Marsh, Ilmington, Aston-Cantlow, Wootton-Wawen, Quinton, Hampton, and the local band.

Competitions in 'rising and falling,' call changes, and method ringing took place in the afternoon, with the following results:—

Rising and Falling: Ilmington, 100 per cent.; Moreton, 100; Campden 91; Wootton-Wawen, 88; Quinton, 70; Aston-Cantlow, 20.

Call changes: Ilmington, 99; Moreton, 96; Campden, 95; Wootton-Wawen, 87; Quinton, 80; Aston-Cantlow, 45.

Method ringing: Ilmington, 100; Moreton, 100; Campden, 91; Wootton-Wawen, 90; Quinton, 50. The home band are not allowed to compete upon their own bells, but are awarded the average of the day's ringing, which was: Rising and falling, 80; call changes, 83; method ringing, 90.

A special service was held in the church at 5 p.m., when a most impressive address was given by the Rev. G. E. Hitchcock, Vicar of Campden. Afterwards about 70 ringers and friends sat down to an excellent meat tea, in the Schoolroom, which was provided by Ebrington friends.

At the close of tea a business meeting took place.—The Secretary presented his report and balance sheet for the year, and these were accepted.—The Secretary (Mr. H. Terry) was again elected to office, and Mr. H. Evans was re-elected treasurer.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Rev. W. J. Guerrier (Vicar of Ebrington) for the use of the bells; to the Vicar of Campden for his inspiring address; to the judges, Messrs. Walter Large and James Hemming, for the able way in which they carried out their difficult task; and to the ladies who assisted at the tea.

The meeting closed with the hearty singing of the National Anthem.

Some excellent selections on the handbells were given by Mr. J. Hemming and his son, and were much appreciated by all present. The tower was then again visited, and the bells were kept going till nine o'clock.

STAVELEY RINGER'S DEATH.

By the passing of Mr. Henry Mottershall, on April 8th, after an illness extending over a period of nine years, the Staveley company has lost one of its oldest members, the deceased having been connected with ringing there for over 50 years. Mr. Mottershall, who was 68 years of age, was an enthusiastic ringer in his day, and it was a source of keen regret to him that during the latter part of his life he was unable to continue his activities in the belfry. He was a member of the Yorkshire and Sheffield and Old East Derbyshire Associations, and had rung 32 peals.

The funeral took place on Saturday, April 12th, and was attended by the local company, some of whom acted as bearers. In addition there were also present Mr. T. W. Chown, of Sheffield (secretary of the Sheffield and Old East Derbyshire Association); and Messrs. P. Jervis and W. T. Palmer, members of the Eckington and Chesterfield companies, respectively. Half-muffled touches were afterwards rung, and the bells remained muffled for the following Sunday services. At the request of the relatives the handbells were not used at the graveside.

REOPENING OF CHISLEHURST BELLS.

These bells, after a silence of twelve months, were rung again on Easter Eve, Saturday, April 19th.

A service was held in the churchyard at 5 p.m., and at its conclusion the congregation entered the church, when the Rector (Canon Dawson) offered special prayers, and afterwards the bells were rung to a touch of Grandsire Triples. Touches of Stedman Triples, Bob Major, Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise were also rung until 7 p.m.

Besides the local band, visitors from Dartford, Sevenoaks, Greenwich, London and Croydon, took part in the ringing, and all spoke well of the 'go' of the bells.

The work done consisted of strengthening the frame, quarter turning the bells, and fitting the clappers with buffers. It was carried out admirably by Mr. T. Groombridge, of Crayford, Kent.

RINGERS AT MONKS KIRBY.

A most enjoyable gathering took place at Monks Kirby on Saturday, April 26th, when ringers attended from Burbage, Croft, Chilvers Coton, Exhall, Hinckley, Nuneaton, Shilton, Wolvey, Wigston Parva, Monks Kirby, etc.

The bells were kept again till about 8 o'clock in standard methods, the Vicar taking part in the ringing.

The Vicar (the Rev. R. L. B. Oliver) invited all present to the Vicarage for tea, this being a welcome surprise to visiting ringers. Afterwards, a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells, and a hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar and his wife for their kind hospitality.—The Vicar briefly responded.

Repairs Executed. Price List for New Bells on Application

A NEW METHOD.MR. JOHN CARTER'S LATEST PRODUCTION.

We have received from Mr. John Carter the following figures of a new method which he has composed. On inspection it will be seen that it has a resemblance to 'Stedman,' inasmuch as there is 'quick' and 'slow' work, and also dodging behind. The course-ends are also on the same ground as 'Stedman.'

Mr. Carter proposes giving the method his own name.

'ROUNDS' IN A PEAL.

The question whether 'rounds,' when it occurs through an accident in the ringing of a peal, should invalidate the performance, is a matter of considerable interest to the whole Exercise. Point is given to this matter, of course, from the discussion upon what recently happened at Ealing. So far as that particular peal is concerned, there seems to be a difference of opinion as to whether rounds actually did occur two courses from home, and no one but the ringers concerned are in a position to settle the point. But it does raise an important question of principle. Our correspondent, "An Inquirer," put the whole matter concisely, yet adequately, in his letter last week, when he asked why a peal in which rounds is accidentally struck should be worse than one in which some other less noticeable row is repeated, and added that neither could be true, and, logically, both should be placed in the same category as a peal whose composition is false.

In general practice, we believe, 'stand' is called when rounds unquestionably turns up, from whatever cause, before the end of the peal. Ringers, or the majority of them, do this, because 'rounds' is looked upon as the finish, and anything that is rung afterwards is in the nature of another touch. In this sense, therefore, rounds in the internal portion of a peal is treated as being in a different category to other 'accidental' changes, and there is good ground for so doing. It is quite true that, in a peal of Triples, for instance, the occurrence of rounds, through a mistake on the part of a ringer, would make the peal no more false than would any other change accidentally repeated, yet there is about 'rounds' a recognition of finality, which, in the ordinary view, brings the touch to an end.

If we refer to the 'Rules and Decisions' of the Central Council, we find that the only ruling which affects this question is the one which states 'that any shift or error in ringing (shall) be immediately corrected.' Under this decision, it is manifest that the accidental occurrence of rounds before the end of a peal is condoned so long as the mistake is at once put right, that is, that the bells are not allowed to continue in what is, really, a wrong coursing order. In view, however, of the rapid strides which are being made in peal ringing, we imagine many ringers will agree that the rule requires strengthening, or, shall we say, amplifying. At present the word 'immediately' is sometimes loosely interpreted, and to some ringers we have heard of may mean anywhere before the next course-end. That kind of acceptance of the term was never intended by the Council, and in these days, when peals are so easily attained, it would be well if the Council turned their attention to tightening up the rules. At the same time they might add an expression of opinion, if they are unable to go to the extent of laying down a decision, on the particular question of 'rounds.' They may like to say that this row, however it occurs in the body of any peal on seven bells and upwards, should invalidate the performance, or they may express the opposite view. But some opinion on the subject might well be added to the existing definitions of what constitutes a peal.

NORTH NOTTS ASSOCIATION.

MEETING AT NORTH COLLINGHAM.

Easter Monday was a memorable day in the annals of the North Notts Association, a day which had been for some time looked forward to by the inhabitants of Collingham generally, but especially by the church people and ringers in particular. Favoured with ideal weather, ringers and friends, to the number of 60, were present from East and West Retford, Ordsall, Workson, Anston, Harthill, Newark, Barborough, Tuxford, Sutton-on-Trent, the local company, and also the Rev. C. J. Sturton, Vicar of Orston. The sweet six bells, recently recast and rehung, were raised in peal at 11 a.m., and were kept going continuously throughout the day to the methods of Plain Bob, Oxford Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, London Scholars Pleasure, Duke of York, and numerous other methods, two 720's being successfully brought round, conducted by Messrs. Hibbard and Revill, respectively. During the afternoon, several members paid a visit to South Collingham Church for propaganda work, and touches of Doubles were brought round, but the bad 'go' of the bells, and the fact that they are very much out of tune, convinced the company that the attention of the bell hanger and founder was much needed, so their stay was brief. Sixty members and friends sat down to a substantial meat tea, provided by the local ringers, their wives and friends. Amongst those present were the Vicar (the Rev. R. F. Gould), Mrs. Gould, the churchwardens, and several members of the Parochial Council, the Rev. C. J. Sturton, and the assistant hon. secretary (Mr. D. A. Piercy).—The Assistant Secretary explained the unavoidable absence of the hon. secretary (Mr. H. Haigh), whose services were required at Wembley.

Three new members were duly elected, viz., the Misses Birchall and Mr. Hather from Sutton-on-Trent.

The date of the annual meeting was left in the hands of the committee, and will be advertised in the 'Ringing World.'

The Assistant Hon. Secretary proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for presiding over the tea and meeting, and for the use of the bells and schoolroom; also to the ladies and ringers for providing tea, and to everyone who had assisted in making the meeting a success.—This was carried with acclamation.

The Vicar said how very pleased he was to welcome such a large number of ringers, and paid a great compliment to them for ringing so nicely during the day. He was pleased to say the church possessed a nice ring of six bells. Up to two years ago they only had four bells in the tower, the dates being 1613, 1661, 1715 and 1779. They were in a very bad condition, cracked, and very much out of tune. Ten years ago a scheme was set on foot to have the belfry restored, but the war came along, and everything had to be suspended, but about three years ago the work was again taken up, and properly carried out at a cost of between £700 and £800. They had now a band of young ringers, which included two or three ladies, who, although they could not yet claim to have done anything very extraordinary, had done very well indeed, and had succeeded in ringing their first 720 changes on the bells. He wished specially to mention the good work done by Mr. Wallhead, their instructor, and also the hearty co-operation the ringers had given him.

THE SUFFOLK GUILD.

GREAT PROGRESS IN MEMBERSHIP.

On Easter Monday, the Suffolk Guild met for its annual meeting at Bury. The day began with a short service in the Cathedral, at which the Bishop preached. With his text, Ps. lxxxi. 2-4, he remarked that the Israelites had only little tinkling bells: we had the organ inside, and bells outside our churches: these latter were not likely to be superseded. The work of ringers was as important as that of other church workers, though it might not have received the attention in the past that it ought—perhaps owing to the ringers being out of sight. While it is well that bells should express men's extraordinary feelings, both of sorrow and of joy, ringers should always remember that they use the church bells for the worship and service of God.

At the meeting in the Abbey House afterwards, the Archdeacon of Sudbury, who presided, mentioned that this was the first meeting at Bury since the 'Great Schism.' He had great pleasure in welcoming them there, and in introducing to them the Bishop.

The Bishop (Dr. Whittingham) said how glad he was to meet them. He referred to experiences in the belfry of St. Margaret's, Leicester, to which church he was ordained. Ever since, as a boy, he had lived near a noble ring of bells, he had always felt that the ringers' art had an uplifting influence; and ringers should feel that they were not outside the church, but in it and of it. He supposed there were still a few ringers in the diocese attached to the Norwich Guild instead of theirs. Well, one could not but sympathise with all who admired Norwich; he did so himself, having got his wife from there; still, ringers as church workers in the right spirit, should help diocesan work.

Proceeding to business, the meeting accepted the report and accounts. These showed a balance in hand of £26.

The officers were all re-elected, with the addition of Mr. Hubert Day, of Eye, and Mr. Ernest Poppy, of Stoke Ash, to fill the two vacancies on the Central Council, to which the Guild, with its increased membership, was now entitled.

It was decided to hold quarterly meetings, and invitations from Lavenham and Halesworth were accepted.

The committee were instructed to start a Bell Restoration Fund, to take steps to stop 'clocking' (a pernicious way in which old church bells are still being injured), and to issue certificates, both of proficiency and of record performances.

Requests having been received both from the Leytonstone band, and from Mr. Burton, the representative of the Norwich Guild, that the Central Council should take in hand the naming of new methods, a resolution to that effect was unanimously adopted.

Sixty new members were elected. It was reported that three districts were still dormant, but members present from them said that signs of awakening interest were now appearing.

After the meeting, lunch was served at the Golden Pleece, and during the afternoon the bells at both churches were kept going; and over 70 remained to accept the Archdeacon's invitation to tea, at the Abbey House, where they were joined by Canon Goldsmith, Vicar of the Cathedral, and the Rev. Dr. Gray, Vicar of St. Mary's.

THE YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION REPORT.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I find I made two serious omissions from the report of the Easter meeting at Beverley, as no mention is made of the result of the voting on two important alterations to the general rules of the association.

The meeting carried the resolution increasing the annual subscription from 1/6 to 2/- per annum (this latter sum to include a free copy of the annual report) with only two dissentients.

The resolution: 'That the general committee shall have power to appoint an hon. secretary for peals, who shall have a seal on the general committee, and who shall retire annually,' was carried unanimously.

I most regretfully conclude that increasing years are asserting themselves, by the above omissions, and much regret having to trespass on your valuable space to publish the foregoing. Thanking you for your trouble, yours sincerely,
PERCY J. JOHNSON,
90, Blackman Lane, Leeds.

Mr. J. Wagborn writes thanking the members of the Yorkshire Association for the cordial welcome extended to him at their meeting.

ST. GEORGE'S DAY AT COLCHESTER.

At St. Peter's, Colchester, on April 23rd, in commemoration of St. George's Day, the bells were rung during the day, the touches including 688 Bob Major, 768 Kent Treble Bob, two 560's Double Norwich, 704 Oxford Treble Bob, 564 Grandsire Triples, etc. Those taking part were Messrs. F. L. Bumpstead, H. Evers, G. Rashbrook, H. T. Pye, W. J. Schofield, R. W. Stannard (local members), F. Claydon and W. Arnold (Earls Colne), D. Elliott (Assington), G. Dixon (Sudbury).

THE WARWICKSHIRE GUILD.

The April quarterly meeting was held at Southam on Saturday week. Owing to the showery day and various counter attractions, including the Cup Final, etc., and the difficulty of getting to and fro by rail, the attendance of members was somewhat below the average, and those who were present were compelled to leave early, with the result that ringing was considerably curtailed.

The Guild's special service was conducted by the Rector. The address was given by the Rev. P. W. Daimpre, Vicar of Harbury, and, being himself a ringer, his remarks were both interesting and instructive. He congratulated the Guild on the useful work it was doing for the church, and appealed to the members to become zealous missionaries in their scientific art. He was also glad to notice the high standard of ringers to-day compared with those of 30 years ago.

A substantial meal tea was provided at the Black Dog Inn, after which the business meeting was held, and, in the absence of the president, the Rector (the Rev. Osborne M. Jones) presided.

Arrangements were made in connection with the annual meeting in July, and one new ringing member elected.—Warwick was chosen for the next quarterly meeting, and Whitnash for the May monthly meeting.—Hampton-in-Arden was proposed for June, as was also Bulkington, the last named being carried.

Votes of thanks were accorded the Rector for the use of the bells and for officiating at the service, also to the Vicar of Harbury for his address.—The Rector, in replying, mentioned that some improvements in the ringing chamber were contemplated, and when completed he proposed to invite the Guild to Southam again, and to be his guests at the Vicarage, when he hoped more members would be present.

SWANSEA AND BRECON DIOCESAN GUILD.

A combined practice was held at Sketty on Saturday, April 28th, and a very enjoyable afternoon and evening were spent. Several 120's of Stedman and Grandsire Doubles were rung, as well as touches of Stedman and Grandsire Triples. This was the first meeting of the new Guild to be held in the Swansea district, and ringers turned up in good numbers, the towers represented being Brecon, Sketty, Gorseinon, Aberavon, Morriston, Neath and Cadoxton.

A very hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Vicar of Sketty for kindly providing tea for the ringers, and, in the unavoidable absence of the Vicar, Mr. C. Morse suitably responded.

TAUNTON BELL HANGER'S SUDDEN DEATH.MR. T. DOBLE DIES IN THE BELFRY.

It is with deep regret that we have to announce the sudden death of Mr. Thomas Doble, of Taunton, head of the firm of Messrs. Thomas Doble and Son, bell hangers. The firm have recently carried out an order for Lord St. Audries at Stogursey Church (of which the Vicar is the Rev. W. J. Stuart-Crumpp), which lies at no great distance from the Bristol Channel, and not many miles from what is hoped will become known as the celebrated Somerset oil fields. The work comprised strengthening the frame with tie bolts, and fitting new gudgeons and bearings for the bells. It had been arranged to test the work before Lent commenced, but owing to an epidemic of influenza prevailing in the village it was postponed until May 3rd.

Mr. T. Doble and his son, Mr. W. Doble, also Messrs. P. Merson, F. Millard, E. Priddle and J. Hunt left Taunton for this purpose in Mr. Doble's motor-car on Saturday. A run of about 22 miles brought the party to the ancient church. Having looked round the building, they ascended the tower, and inspected the work done. The bells, a peal of six, with tenor 26 cwt., were raised, and a start made for Grandsire Doubles. All went well for about 80 changes, when Mr. T. Doble, who was ringing the treble, released his rope, and fell to the floor. The bell set up, and the others set their bells and went to his assistance. Mr. W. Doble rushed off for a doctor, who arrived in about ten minutes, and confirmed the ringers' fears that Mr. Doble, senr., was beyond human aid.

Sorrowfully and with difficulty the deceased was carried down the tower stairs, and laid on a bier in the north porch of the church by the Vicar's kindness.

Much sympathy is felt for Mr. W. Doble and his three sisters, who lost their mother only last December.

A ROYAL VISIT.

On the occasion of the visit of their Majesties the King and Queen to Swindon on Monday, April 28th, 504 Stedman Triples was rung at the Parish Church by A. Lawrence 1, A. W. Bond 2, R. W. Hyner 3, H. W. Bishop 4, E. Bishop 5, W. G. Lancaster 6, C. J. Gardiner (conductor) 7, A. C. W. Smith 8. Rounds and Queens were subsequently rung on the ten bells.

During the afternoon, when the King and Queen made an inspection of the G.W.R. Works, Mr. Alfred Lawrence took his place among the 80 veterans who had put in over 50 years' service with the company, and who were inspected by their Majesties.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

At the annual Vestry meeting of the Parish of Christ Church, Dore, Sheffield, held on Easter Monday, Mr. J. E. Lewis Cockey (Ringing Master) was elected people's churchwarden for the ensuing year.

The Bournville carillon has just been enlarged from 22 to 37 bells (three full chromatic octaves) by Mr. George Cadbury, junr., in memory of his father. A new clavier, with the most up-to-date mechanism and action work, has also been added. It was opened on Thursday of last week by M. Nauwelaerts, the carillonneur, of Bruges, who gave two recitals.

The name given to Mr. John Carter's ringing machine is the 'Campanomutophone.'

For some months past the bells of Wool, Dorset, have been silent, owing to a dispute between the ringers and the church authorities over the removal of a lamp which served for the lighting of the tower. A new lamp has been provided by the Dorchester Branch of the Salisbury Guild, and the trouble has now happily ended.

To-morrow is the anniversary of two long peals rung in the far-off days of the eighteenth century. In the ancient parish church of St. Mary, Braughing, Hertfordshire, are several old peal boards, and one of them records:—

'May, the 10th, 1779, was rung by the Braughing Youths a Compleat Peal of 12,240 Bob Major which was Performed in Seven Hours and 34 Minutes by Lawrence Tottingham, treble; Thos. Whyman, 2nd; Wm. Prior, 3rd; Wm. Hoy, 4th; Geo. Beadle, 5th; Jno. Hubbard, 6th; Jas. Walker, 7th; Jos. Walker, tenor. Composed and called by James Walker. It was long each man did stand, with zeal and ardent union performed the peal.'

A peal of 10,080 in the same method had been rung about a year earlier.

The other peal, of which the anniversary occurs to-morrow, was 10,200 Treble Bob Royal rung in 7 hours 40 minutes at Shoreditch in the year 1777 by the Cumberland Youths.

On May 11th, 1903, the peal of 14,112 London Surprise Major was rung in 8 hours 40 minutes at King's Norton.

Thirty years ago next Thursday the 8,800 Superlative Surprise Major was rung in 6 hours 16 minutes, composed and conducted by Nathan J. Pitstow. The band was N. J. Pitstow, Rev. F. G. Coleridge, A. James, E. Pitstow, J. Hardy, S. Smith, R. F. Lane and J. W. Taylor, junr. It is interesting to note that it was the first peal in the method for the ringers of 5th, 6th and 7th.

At All Saints' Church, Fulham, on May 15th, 1837, a peal of 12,086 Grandsire Caters was rung 'by the young ringers of St. James' Society . . . being the greatest amount of changes ever performed by ten men only, the truth of which is attested by several of the ablest judges of the art, who witnessed the whole performance, and which can only be equalled by the same ability and persevering exertions.' The peal was rung in 7 hours 50 minutes, and was conducted by Thomas Tolladay.

The peal of Minor reported last week as rung at Liverpool on April 23rd, was rung at Childwall.

The treble ringer in the peal at Frodsham on Easter Monday was Thomas W. Gilmour, and not John W., as stated in the report.

The time of the peal of Treble Bob rung at Willesden on April 22nd was 2 hrs. 43 mins.

MR. JOHN CARTER'S RINGING MACHINE. A MARVEL OF INGENUITY.

It has been generally known in ringing circles for many years past that Mr. John Carter had invented a machine for ringing any number of changes in any method, and on any number of bells up to twelve. Mr. Carter worked and resided in Birmingham for many years previously to his recent removal to London, and many ringers in that neighbourhood had the privilege to see his machine working, as did also visitors from all parts. To all such the machine seemed a marvel of ingenuity, and one that had more than achieved its original purpose. To the inventor, however, it always seemed to fall short of that high standard of perfection to which he characteristically aimed, and additions and alterations were continually being tried. The machine, therefore, was never demonstrated beyond a 'plain course' in any method, nor was a 'touch' ever allowed to be brought round. It was saved up for a peal, or some other demonstration which should seem fitting to the inventor.

The machine, to one inspecting it for the first time, appears remarkably compact, as can be seen by the photograph. It is an assembly of mechanical contrivances of all sorts, of high finish, and to a scale of about ordinary clockwork size. The power is obtained from an electric motor within the pedestal box. Gearing from this sets up longitudinal motion in cranks and eccentrics, which in turn impel eleven rods, these transmit their motion to twelve plates moving transversely across the machine, the whole being most beautifully governed by a sort of dual control, each in two parts and allied to the hand and back strokes in ringing. The plates move backwards and forwards according to the places they are making in the method to which the machine may have been set, and, as they carry contact pins, they electrically control their several allied gongs in an adjoining bell-box. This latter is the last addition to his machine, which Mr. Carter has made despite the fact that his recent illness renders all work difficult to him. The box has twelve gongs, being those kindly given him by Messrs. Taylor and Co., who purposely cast them for the machine. According to the original plan the gongs were fixed along the top, and the brass seating for them still forms the curbs of the machine.

The machine will ring any known or likely to be known method, one of the last, that composed by the inventor, and named after himself, viz., Carter Major, was tried as its first quarter peal, as was reported last week. It was set to this method in two or three minutes, and rang it faultlessly (except when Mr. Carter at the first attempt 'called a bob' too late!).

The machine is one of the most remarkable inventions of its kind in the world, and the opportunity might be taken to quote a few words of the late Sir A. H. Wood, who, besides being a man of business, and an engineer, will always be remembered in the Exercise as a gifted exponent of ringing. He expressed his views as follows, in a letter to Mr. Carter, dated March 7th, 1897:—

'I have been thinking a good deal about your machine, and I cannot help admiring very deeply the perseverance and intellectual ability which you have brought to bear on the problem. I am lost in wonder at the ingenuity of the contrivance and the foresight with which you have covered the many requirements of such a machine if it is to be perfect. Charles Babbage's machine on which he—or rather the Government—spent £17,000 is now in King's College Museum, London.'

Well, your machine is, in a way, on the lines of Babbage's, though, of course, its purpose being different, the mechanisms are novel indeed. But it is to all intents and purposes a calculating machine for proving, either in figures or sound, the results of certain modes of dealing with permutations.

The fact that you do not stop short of the maximum number of bells, and that you cover all possible methods, makes the machine of immense interest, because there is no future development of change ringing that cannot be worked out on it. There is no doubt that if completed and made to work with accuracy, its ultimate home should be in a National Museum.'

Sir Arthur's desire will probably be fulfilled, for Mr. Carter has decided to deposit the machine in the Victoria and Albert Museum, with the proviso that it shall be demonstrated occasionally.

Mr. Carter, before parting with the machine, also decided that it should be allowed to prove itself worthy of its reputation, before a small party of ringers and friends, who should be invited to a private demonstration. This was accordingly arranged, the date, April 30th last, falling very appropriately on Mr. Carter's 70th birthday, and the place being the house of Mr. E. Alexr. Young, hon. secretary of the Central Council, at Forest Hill, London.

Invitations to be present having been sent out to the President and Standing Committee of the Council, to the leading founders and also to the officers of the associations in and around London, some twenty visitors attended, including one of the officials of the Science Department of the Museum.

Mr. Carter, commencing with plain courses of Grandsire, and Stedman Doubles, passed on to the same in Triples, and invited anyone present to call a 'touch.' This Miss Edith K. Parker did in both methods (the first on the machine). All were interested in a course of Carter Major, and agreed that it possessed musical qualities. After examples of Caters, Royal and Cinques, the machine finished very fittingly with a course of Carter Maximus.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

EFFORTS TO VITALISE WIGAN BRANCH.

A previous attempt to establish a 'live' branch of the Lancashire Association in the Wigan district having met with only indifferent success, a meeting will be held on Saturday, May 24th, at St. Peter's, Hindley, when efforts will be made to put the branch in working order. Archdeacon Howson (Deacon of the Liverpool and Wigan branches) will hold a special service for ringers during the afternoon, and will also be present at the meeting. It is hoped that all interested in the branch will make an effort to be present.

Only one or two towers in Wigan and district have shown any interest since the formation of the branch, and it is hoped that in future more towers and members will join, and that ringers will become live members instead of just paying subscriptions and doing nothing more. One man cannot work a branch as scattered as the Wigan branch is.

A NOISY RINGING CHAMBER.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Our ringing chamber is very noisy. Would any of your readers who have had experience in overcoming this grave defect advise us as to whether the following proposal is likely to be successful? We propose to fix a new floor (1-inch boards) to the underside of the beams which support the floor of the bell chamber. These beams are 15 inches deep, and the resulting space to be packed with suitable material would be about 300 cubic feet. We propose to use slag wool, and should be glad of guidance as to the quantity that would be required, and the approximate cost.

The height of the ringing chamber is about 20 feet, and the space between the joists which rest upon the beams, with thick boards above and below them, has already been filled with slag wool. Possibly this space was insufficiently packed. At any rate the noise is too great.—Yours faithfully,

A. M. L.

THE MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION. ANNUAL MEETING AT FULHAM.

The 27th annual general meeting of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild was held at Fulham on Saturday, April 26th, and was attended by between 70 and 80 members. Some excellent practice in several methods was obtained on the fine peal of ten at All Saints' Church, and on the eight at Putney, just across the Thames. Divine service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. G. K. S. Marshall), and the sermon was preached by the Rev. E. P. Gough, Vicar of Chiswick, and an honorary member of the association. In a stirring address, he urged the members not to be afraid of their religion; not to be apologetic about it; but to stand up for it; to push it; to let it enter into their daily life; for without Christianity nothing would prosper, nothing would be worth doing.

Tea was served in the hall close by. The Vicar of Fulham was unfortunately prevented from attending for more than a few minutes, during which time he gave the members a hearty welcome.—A vote of thanks was passed to him for his extreme kindness in arranging the service, and for granting the use of the bells.

BUSINESS MEETING.

Tea over, the usual business meeting was held. The chair was taken by Mr. F. A. Milne, J.P., who was supported by the Rev. E. P. Gough, Messrs. T. Beadle (vice-president), W. Pye (Master), R. Holloway and G. B. Lucas (District Masters), C. T. Coles and W. H. Hollier (hon. secretaries), and a large gathering of members from all parts of the county and elsewhere.

As the Rev. E. P. Gough had to leave early, the Chairman proposed a hearty vote of thanks to him for his excellent address, and also thanked the organist for his services.—The reverend gentleman, in reply, stated that he was very interested in bells and bell ringing, but he could not understand the methods. When he saw the rows and rows of figures he was done. He could add two and two together, but those figures were too much. He once tried to ring a bell. He succeeded so much that he broke a rope, and knocked a stay off, and his ringers thereupon said that he would be of much more use to them if he would confine his activities to presiding at their meetings, paying for their annual outing, and anything like that (laughter). He said he was glad to see that ladies took up ringing. He was sure they would be very helpful. He thanked the ringers for their services, and wished the association every success.

The report, extracts from which are given below, was taken as read, and adopted. In presenting the same, the Hon. Secretary (Mr. C. T. Coles) said he would like to draw the attention of members to the report of the conference between the Society for the Preservation of Ancient Buildings and the Central Council, which had been reprinted. This document had been described as being a very valuable one, and as it had been drawn up by experts in bell hanging and in building and architecture, it was considered to be of such use that it should be given to members. He hoped it would be read carefully and made use of, and he suggested that the attention of all their clergy should be drawn to the document.

The balance sheet was also adopted. It showed a credit balance of £20 13s. 1d., the best since the war period, against £16 17s. 11d. last year.

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED.

The whole of the retiring officers were re-elected, with the exception of the President (the Rev. F. R. Bonsey), who had resigned on accepting the living at Wrentham, Suffolk. In his stead, Mr. F. A. Milne, J.P., was elected.—In proposing his election, the Hon. Secretary (Mr. C. T. Coles) stated that it gave him great pleasure to ask the members to elect Mr. Milne as their president. He did so on behalf of the Central Committee, who had unanimously agreed to recommend this course. He was sure that Mr. Milne would do his best for the association as he had always done.—Mr. J. R. Sharman seconded, and the proposal was carried with enthusiasm.—Mr. Milne thanked the members, and stated that he had been one of those who started the old Middlesex Association, in the year 1889, which ultimately amalgamated with the S. and W. Middlesex Guild in 1897 to become the present large association.

Messrs. T. Beadle and W. Pickworth were chosen as district vice-presidents.

The new President then proposed that a hearty vote of thanks be passed to their late President (Mr. Bonsey), which was carried unanimously, and which the hon. sec. was instructed to forward to him.

Messrs. C. T. Coles, W. H. Hollier, R. Holloway and F. A. Milne were elected as representatives on the Central Council.

The Leytonstone resolution, re naming of six-bell methods, was discussed, and it was decided that the society's representatives on the Central Council should support any resolution which had for its object the settlement of this question in a sensible manner, and with sensible names for the methods concerned.

The President stated that an appeal for support had been received from the Eserick Bell Restoration Fund Committee, and he invited any member so disposed to forward their contributions to the secretary of that fund.

A vote of congratulation was moved by the President to Miss Phyllis Moss on her brilliant achievement on Whit-Monday, when she called Holt's Original as her first peal as conductor. Mr. Milne said that Miss Moss was probably the first lady ringer to call this difficult composition, and she was deserving of all praise. He also included in the vote of congratulation Miss R. Hawsworth, who rang her first peal on that occasion; and Miss G. Baker in recently ringing her first peal, one of Grandsire Caters at Hillingdon.—The vote was carried with acclamation. It was afterwards ascertained for a certainty that Miss Moss is the first lady ringer to call the 'Original.'

Southgate was chosen as the venue for the next annual general meeting.

In addition to the votes of thanks previously passed, thanks were also given to the Rev. P. Swain for the use of the bells at Putney; to Messrs. Driver and Bolton for having the bells in readiness; and to the several ladies who had so kindly waited upon the members at tea, including the Misses Baker, Goodfellow, Hawsworth and Moss.

Afterwards ringing took place at Fulham and Putney until about 9 p.m., amongst the many methods rung being Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Caters, Treble Eight and Ten, and Cambridge Major and Royal.

AN INTERESTING REPORT.

The report, mentioned above, contained the following:—

'In addition to the annual meeting, several successful meetings were held during the year, the increase in the attendances being very noticeable. Ten were held in the North and East district, four of which were at six-bell towers, two of these latter being held in mid-week. The average attendance was the excellent one of 35. In the South and West district twelve meetings were arranged, all but one taking place on a Saturday. A great improvement in the standard of ringing was noticeable at these meetings, whilst the attendance reached the fine average of 40.

Seventy-five new members were elected during the year, the North and East district admitting two honorary and 41 ringing members, whilst the South and West district obtained two and 30 respectively. The return to the Association of the band at St. George-in-the-East is a matter for congratulation, whilst we are also pleased to welcome the ringers at St. Olave's, Hart Street, to our ranks. Some of the members of the band at St. John of Jerusalem have also joined us, and we hope it will not be long before this tower is wholly affiliated. Our total membership, after allowing for losses through deaths, resignations, etc., is 712.

'The peal list for 1923 contains some very satisfactory features. Seventy-six peals were rung, and 149 members took part in them, ten of whom joined the peal ringing ranks for the first time. Those who rang their first peals in a new method or on a different number of bells numbered 88. Six of the peals were rung on handbells, including one each of Kent Treble Bob Maximus and Superlative Surprise Major. The conductors numbered 19, and of the 70 tower-bell peals, which were rung in 33 towers, 19 were rung at Willesden.

'Among the performances calling for special mention were the first peal of Erin Caters by the Association, which was rung at St. Mary's, Walthamstow, on February 10th; a peal of Grandsire Doubles, rung on the Pre-Reformation bells at St. Bartholomew the Great, on March 21st, to commemorate the 800th anniversary of the dedication of the church, this peal probably being the first ever rung on these bells; a very fine peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus, at St. Mary-le-Bow, on March 24th; and a peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor at Willesden on August 14th, which completed the quartette of Cambridge on all numbers by members of this Association. The first peal of Double Oxford Bob Major by the Association was rung at St. Mary's, Willesden, on October 9th; followed by the first of St. Clement's Bob Major, at the same church on December 18th. The peal of Superlative rung on handbells on September 26th was the 200th in that method by the Association; which also completed the century of Stedman Cinques at St. Mary-le-Bow on November 17th; and of Bristol Surprise Major at St. John-the-Baptist, Erith, on December 15th. The year's record of noteworthy performances was brought to a close by the ringing of a peal of 10.440 Cambridge Surprise Royal at St. Mary's, Walthamstow, on December 26th, this being the longest Surprise peal ever rung on ten bells.

'The quarter-peal list is a more extensive one even than that of last year; no less than 211 having been recorded. Ealing (St. Mary's) again heads the list with 38, Acton coming second with 35, and Hillingdon (St. John's) third with 22. We are, of course, aware of the difficulties at many towers in connection with the various services held on Sundays which often prevent lengthy periods of ringing, but we should very much like to see more of our churches figuring in the quarter-peal list, and more quarter-peals rung in the North and East district. The record of bell restoration work is again satisfactory. At St. Andrew's Church, Enfield, the peal of eight has been rehung with new gudgeons and bearings and the framework strengthened; whilst at the churches of St. Martin, Gospel Oak, and St. James, Prebend Square, Islington, the peals of six have each been rehung with new gudgeons and bearings, with good results. All this work has been carried out by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.'

THE PEAL AT THE IMPERIAL INSTITUTE.To the Editor.

Sir.—Congratulations to the band that rang the peal at the Imperial Institute on April 23rd. I should, however, like to point out a small error in the record of same in your paper. Mr. Frank Smith ceased to be a member of the Middlesex County Association as long ago as 1910, and I, therefore, cannot see how he can be said to have represented this society in the peal.—Yours faithfully,

G. T. COLES,

Joint Hon. Sec.

49, Wood Street, E.17.

TEN COUNTIES.

Sir.—In the report of the peal of Stedman Caters rung at the Imperial Institute on April 23rd, my attention has been called to an error which is present, viz., the ringer of the 8th is not a member of the Middlesex County Association.

May I suggest, that in order to carry out the idea of ten counties being represented, the following alteration should be made in the official record: John D. Matthews (Surrey) 1, George Williams (Hants) 2, John S. Goldsmith (Sussex) 3, William H. Fussell (Bucks) 4, John H. Cheesman (Kent) 5, William Miller (Essex) 6, Arthur E. Sharman (Beds) 7, Frank Smith (Middlesex) 8, Walter Ayre (Herts) 9, John W. Cornford (County of London) 10.—Yours fraternally,

'ONE OF THE BAND.'

RESTORATION AT TACKLEY.ADDITION TO AN OXFORDSHIRE RING.

The five bells and old frame at St. Nicholas' Church, Tackley, Oxon, are now under repairs. All the bells are to be quarter turned and fitted with new headstocks, wheels and gudgeons, etc. The old frame is being strengthened with long bolts (vertically), the joints fitted with angle plates, and all securely bolted together.

A new treble bell is being added, and will be hung above the rest in a new oak frame, by the parishioners, thereby making a fine musical ring of six bells.

The work of rehanging is in the able hands of Mr. R. White, of Appleton, and the new treble is being cast by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, of London.

It is hoped that the work will be finished in about five weeks, so that the dedication of the new treble and the opening of the new peal of six can take place on Whit Sunday.

ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD SOCIETY.VISIT TO THE 'PEPPER BOX.'

A meeting of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford was held at St. Martin's Church, Tipton, on Saturday. This tower is well known to many, both far and near, as the 'Pepper Box,' on account of its similarity in structure, and is where the 'Midland veteran,' Mr. Wm. Rock Small, has for many years been custodian. But, alas! through advancing years—84 last November—he is no longer able to climb the steps, and dare not go far from home on account of giddiness. His absence on this occasion was greatly regretted; and as he was unable to meet the members, several old friends went to see him at his home. Though feeble, he was able and pleased to show his visitors his collection of ringing matter—not least amongst which was his peal book, containing some 337 peals, with interesting notes attached to many of them. This number may not seem very great to present-day 'peal merchants,' but convenience of travel, etc., in different now from the days when W. R. S. rang his earlier peals. Though probably he has rung his last, his many friends will wish him happiness in his retirement.

The Rev. G. R. Mortimore (Vicar) conducted the service, and prior to the address, he gave the members a warm welcome.

The Parish Church Council generously provided tea in the School-room, about 50 sitting down. Among those present were the Rev. G. R. Mortimore, Mr. Jinks and Mr. Dunn (churchwardens), Mr. Alderman Pritchett, etc.—The Rev. C. H. Barker proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for his address and use of the bells, to the organist, and to the Parish Church Council for their kindness.—This was carried with applause.

DEATH OF A STAINES' RINGER.

It is with deepest regret that we have to announce the death of Mr. John H. Preston, who passed away in Staines Hospital on April 17th, at the age of 64 years, after a long illness. He will be greatly missed by the band at St. Peter's Church, Staines, of which he has been a member since 1908. He was a member of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild.

The funeral took place at Staines, on Thursday, April 24th, at which many of the deceased's fellow ringers were present. In the evening 728 Grandsire Triples was rung with half-muffled bells by members of the bands of St. Peter's, Staines, and St. Peter's, Old Windsor: G. Walmsley 1, J. Phillips 2, W. Welling 3, A. Hiscock 4, A. Cross 5, W. Sewell 6, W. C. Parker (conductor) 7, F. Smith 8.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION.ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Bedfordshire Association was held, as is usual, at Bedford on Easter Monday. Ringing took place at St. Paul's from an early hour, this fine peal of ten being kept busy until the luncheon hour arrived. The service had to be postponed owing to the Vicar of St. Paul's having an engagement which prevented him from officiating, and late notice to the hon. secretary prevented other arrangements being made.

The annual meeting followed luncheon, which was presided over by Canon W. W. C. Baker, president, supported by Mr. E. Ransom and Miss E. Steel (vice-presidents), the Rev. G. H. Shorting, Vicar of Kempston, and others; welcome visitors being Mr. F. Wilford, Master, Peterborough Diocesan Guild, and several Northants friends.

The annual report and balance sheet were passed. During the year 26 peals were rung, in most methods from Grandsire to Cambridge Surprise Major. Special mention was made of the 10-method peal at Bromham, and the 14-method peal at Emberton, rung during the year. The balance sheet disclosed a balance in hand of £29 7s. 1d., which was slightly less than the previous year, owing to several items of expenditure, which do not usually occur.

Canon Baker was re-elected president. The vice-presidents were re-elected, with the addition of Mr. Cyril Herbert in the place of the late Mr. Charles Herbert. The hon. secretary (Mr. A. E. Sharman) was re-elected, and the president and hon. secretary were elected to the Central Council for the ensuing three years.

On the president inquiring the views of the members as to there being any question they desired to be brought before the Council, Mr. P. Inskip proposed that the representatives be asked to support the Leytonstone company in the matter of the renaming of Minor methods.—An interesting discussion took place, and the matter was left in the hands of the delegates.

Miss Steel proposed that Rule 9 be deleted, and this was agreed to.—The usual votes of thanks to the incumbents for the use of the bells, and to the chairman, closed the meeting.

Further ringing took place at St. Paul's and St. Peter's Churches, methods from Grandsire Doubles to Cambridge Surprise Royal being rung during the day.

A DEVON RING RESTORED.

The bells of St. Mary's Parish Church, Black Torrington, Devon, have been undergoing repair, and have now been rededicated by the Bishop of Exeter. A fine peal of six, of exceptionally mellow tone, they were formerly hung in a wood frame, and after many years of constant use, fear was entertained as to their safety owing to the main oak beams showing signs of decay. It was decided to have them rehung, and the contract was placed with the well-known firm of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon, who have carried out the work most satisfactorily.

The church possesses a remarkably fine tower, probably built about 1500. There is no record of bells being placed in the tower until 1772, when four were hung by Pennington. In 1855 and 1856 two more were added by C. and G. Mears. These two are supposed to be 'peace bells' to celebrate the end of the Crimean war. The bells bear the following inscriptions:—

1, 2 and 3 'I. P. and Co., 1772'; 4: 'C. and G. Mears, Founders, London, 1856'; 5: 'Charles Burdon Gent, Humphrey Braund, Churchwardens, I.P., 1722'; 6: 'C. and G. Mears, Founders, London, 1855.' The treble is 27 inches in diameter. The tenor is 40 inches in diameter, and weighs 8 cwt. 3 qr. 9 lb., the total weight of the peal being 34 cwt. 1 qr. 14 lb.

There was a large congregation present for the rededication service, which was conducted by the Rector. After the 3rd Collect, the Bishop, Rector, churchwardens and choir proceeded to the belfry, where the Bishop, after the dedicatory prayers, pulled the tenor bell. His lordship afterwards gave a most appropriate address.

Over 100 partook of a public luncheon, presided over by the Bishop, and in the afternoon there was clay pigeon shooting for prizes, and skittling for a pig, kindly given by Mr. B. Coham Fleming, while the bells were constantly kept going. The first ringing on the bells was done by the home band, under Mr. E. Chapman (captain), and afterwards ringers from Sheepwash, Shebbear, Petrockstowe, Little Torrington, Bradford and Bratton Clovelly took part. All were unanimous in praising both the tone and 'go' of the bells.

THE FIRST PEAL AT BETLEY.To the Editor.

Dear Sir.—In a recent issue of 'The Ringing World' it was reported that the Stoke Association rang a peal of Minor at Betley, and claimed it as the first peal on the bells. The Crewe Society of the Chester Diocesan Guild rang a peal of Kent Treble Bob Minor (seven different 720's) at this church on Saturday, October 1st, 1910, conducted by the late Richard T. Holding, senr. We shall be pleased if you will publish the above correction.—Yours truly,

RICHARD T. HOLDING.

HAPPISBURGH'S ANCIENT BELLS.HEARD AGAIN AFTER A CENTURY'S SILENCE.

On Easter Eve, the Bishop of Norwich dedicated the bells of St. Mary's Church, Happisburgh, which till then had been silent for more than a century, except that two could be chimed for service.

The ancient Church of St. Mary, which stands on the lofty cliffs on the East Norfolk Coast, 15 miles from Cromer, is an edifice of flint in the Perpendicular style, consisting of chancel, nave, aisles, south porch, and a lofty embattled western tower 110 feet high, and, coupled with the lighthouse a few hundred yards to the southward, is a landmark to visitors and to mariners, and commands an immense area of the sea and of the countryside. Three large bells, one of them weighing 14½ cwt., hung in the tower in the middle of the 15th century (about 1450). In 1637 these were recast into five bells, giving to the tenor a weight of 12½ cwt. In the restoration, the two with their crowns broken off have been recast, and a new treble added, thus making a ring of six bells, with a weight of 11 cwt. for the tenor in G.

The second, third and fifth bells, which remain as they were, each bear the inscription:—

'John Brend made me 1637.' The others are inscribed as follows:

The new treble: 'Given by Mary Caton, 1924, in memory of Nelson's men wrecked off the Norfolk Coast, 1801.'

The fourth: 'John Brend made me 1637. Recast by H. S. Todd, in memory of his wife, Emma, who died in 1920.'

The tenor: 'Recast by R. B. Pearce, Mayor, 1924; Thomas Harris, Thomas Hasted, Churchwardens, J.B., 1637.'

To those who never turned their backs, but marched breast forward.

Never doubted clouds would break,

Never dreamed though right were worsted, wrong would triumph.
Held we fall to rise, are baffled to fight better, sleep to wake.'

On one of the pillars of the tower arch is a plate inscribed: 'The bells of St. Mary's, 1637.—To the Glory of God, and in memory of the officers and men of the Royal Navy and Mercantile Marine who made the supreme sacrifice in the Great War, 1914-1919. These bells have been restored. Easter, 1924.'

The 4th and tenor were recast and the treble cast by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, of Whitechapel, and the work of rehanging in a new frame was admirably carried out by Messrs. G. Day and Son, of Eye, Suffolk.

Mr. Arthur L. Coleman, secretary of the Norfolk Guild of Ringers, organised the ringing, and members of the Guild were recruited from Aylsham, Cromer, Norwich, Great Yarmouth, Gorleston, Mulbarton, and North Repps.

After the dedication prayers by the Bishop of Norwich, beneath the tower arch, a plain course of Bob Minor was rung by George Neale 1, Ben S. Thompson 2, Arthur H. Webber 3, Denison Hayward 4, John Moy 5, George Mayers 6. At the conclusion of the service, a touch of Bob Minor was rung with Arthur L. Coleman ringing the treble, which was followed by the first complete peal of 720 changes on the bells, the method being Oxford Treble Bob Minor: W. A. Arnott (Gorleston) 1, Arthur H. Webber (Great Yarmouth) 2, Denison Hayward (Great Yarmouth) 3, William J. Lee (Great Yarmouth) 4, Ben S. Thompson (Great Yarmouth) 5, George Mayers (conductor, St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich), 6.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.
ILCHESTER DEANERY BRANCH.

A meeting of the Ilchester Deanery Branch was held at East Coker on April 26th. The bells, a handy peal of eight, tenor about 12 cwt., were made good use of during the afternoon and evening.

The Rev. G. W. Saunders, Vicar of Martock, and president of the branch, conducted the service, assisted by the Vicar of East Coker (the Rev. Maurice R. Bailey).

About 30 ringers were present for tea and the meeting which followed in the Scouts' Hall.—The President welcomed the Rev. M. R. Bailey, who had recently come to East Coker, and thanked him for his very kind reception. He also thanked the organist and the caterer.—The Secretary (Mr. F. Tarrant) announced that Mr. Bailey had expressed a wish to become an hon. member, and he had much pleasure in proposing him.—Mr. J. Lukins, of Yeovil, was re-elected a ringing member.

The next meeting will be held at Shepton Beauchamp.

The Vicar of East Coker said he would like his tower to be affiliated and his ringers to become members of the association. They were, he said, willing to join.—The question of instruction was discussed, and an arrangement was eventually made with Mr. J. E. Baker, of Yeovil, to teach them. Mr. D. G. Taylor kindly offered to come from Ilminster as often as possible to help.—This concluded the business of the meeting.

The towers represented were Yeovil, Ilminster, Martock, and the local men.

KIRKTHORPE BELLS AUGMENTED.OPENING OF A YORKSHIRE PEAL.

Kirkthorpe is a small hamlet, pretty and antiquated, two miles east of Wakefield, on the south bank of the River Calder. It consists of a church, vicarage, hospital, almshouses, and a few cottages. There is some evidence that a peal of six bells existed at the church in 1492, but their fate is enshrouded in mystery. Two, dated 1611, are probably earlier ones recast. Another bell of great historical interest, and now the 5th in the present peal, or the 3rd originally, formerly hung in Kirkstall Abbey, near Leeds. This bell which, it is supposed, was cast in York, is inscribed in beautiful characters: 'Laurentius : Iohes : De : Berdesay : Abbas : Ao : Di : Mo. Lawrence is the name given to the bell; John de Bardsey was Abbot of Kirkstall in 1396. The fourth, or present tenor, was given by the late Mr. Gilbert Tennant, of Heath Old Hall, the former residence of Sir Edward Green, Bart., known all over the world as head of the great firm of fuel economisers, of Wakefield. Mr. Tennant's son was killed in the war, and this bell was given in his memory. Recently two new bells have been added by Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, and the whole rehung in a strong and massive iron framework, in steel girders on the latest principles. Their fittings contain all the improvements in bell hanging which Messrs. Taylor have introduced during recent years, so that even heavy bells can be rung with the greatest ease. These two new trebles contain the following inscriptions:—

Treble.—A.M.D.G.—The children's bell. Easter, 1924. J. Willoughby, Vicar; J. Milne and W. E. Melrose, wardens; John Taylor and Co., Founders, Loughborough.

Second.—A.M.D.G.—The women's bell. Easter, 1924. J. Willoughby, Vicar; J. Milne and W. E. Melrose, wardens; John Taylor and Co., Founders, Loughborough.

The dedication service took place on Saturday, April 19th, and the Sandal Magna Parish Church ringers were honoured with the invitation to reopen the bells. Some of these men have rung in the above tower for over 50 years. The fraternal side was not forgotten, and the Sandal men notified other local towers, with the result that Sandal was represented by Mr. H. Spencer (treble), W. Robinson, W. Moxon (conductor), W. Reyner, A. Kilburn and H. Robinson (tenor); Horbury tower by Mr. R. Thicket (President of the Barnsley and District Change Ringers' Association), W. Rowley and G. Hunt; Crofton by Mr. G. Stead (churchwarden) and W. Green; and Wragley tower by Mr. F. Atkinson. Needless to say, that with such an array of capable campanologists, several mixed companies were formed, and Treble Bob methods became the order of the day. The dedication service was fully choral, and was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. J. Willoughby), who gave an interesting address on 'The use of the bells in the Christian Church.'

At the close of the service, and while the congregation were dispersing, the bells pealed forth, and then the ringers, together with the prospective local band, were invited to tea in the parish room in close proximity to the church. After the ample and substantial repast had been disposed of, the Vicar made a very interesting speech. On behalf of the residents, he thanked the visitors, and referred to the prominent part which ringers played in the church life of this country. He had often enjoyed listening to the music re-echoing from local towers, and earnestly hoped they would soon have at that church a set of young men able to take their part in the campanological world. He promised to do all in his power to assist a local band, and he would be only too pleased to offer the use of the bells for a meeting of the ringers' association. Interesting discussion then followed from the practical ringers' standpoint, and various hints and suggestions were offered by Mr. W. Reyner, one of the oldest ringers of Sandal, late President of the Barnsley Association, and well known in the ringing circles; also by Mr. H. Robinson, another stalwart; Mr. R. Thicket and Mr. Moxon.

The interesting meeting then terminated with a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar, and the ladies for the repast, and further ringing took place until the visitors were reluctantly compelled to turn homewards, after a delightful outing, long to be remembered.

'STRIKES' AND 'LOCK-OUTS.'

There has recently been some prominence given in the Press to one or two so-called ringers' 'strikes'—cases in which disagreement with the incumbent has led to the ringers declining to perform their customary duties in the belfry. In any event, these disputes and the results are deplorable, but while human nature is what it is, such happenings are from time to time inevitable. Like disputes in the industrial world, they arise in a majority of cases through the inability or disinclination of one side to see the view of the other party; and sometimes merely from a state of offended dignity. A recent disagreement at Wool, in Dorsetshire, has been happily ended by the intervention of the district officials of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild; and it was probably this incident that led to a proposal being made at the annual meeting of the Guild that in future disputes no band of ringers should absent themselves from their duties until the matter has been referred to the Guild's executive. The question of the adoption of such a rule was, for want of time, deferred to the next general meeting.

For this proposed form of mediation we think there is much to be said. When ringers have a grievance against the authorities of their church it may save precipitate action and avoid a public display of feeling which, at best, can do little good to the cause of ringing, and certainly none to the Church. Such a rule, loyally accepted, would be a preventative of 'strikes,' but some further action would, we think, be necessary if 'lock-outs' are to be avoided. The proposal, as far as we understand it, would hardly be effective in cases where the ringers were shut out of the belfry by an incumbent, who felt himself aggrieved. While ringers with an inclination to 'strike' might be ready to act upon the constitution of the Guild to which they have subscribed, there is nothing to compel an incumbent to go to any court of arbitration, and, in view of his rights in the belfry, we see no steps by which it could be enforced, for an obstinate clergyman might, even if a Guild endeavoured to intervene, turn and say 'Mind your own business.'

What is wanted for the 'court of arbitration' is diocesan recognition, under which, when any dispute of the kind arises, the matter could be referred to a body which comprised not only the representatives of the Guild, but representatives of the Bishop, or perhaps the Diocesan Conference. Such a method of procedure may, or may not, be practicable; it may bristle with difficulties of an ecclesiastical and legal nature, but it appears to us that, if 'arbitration' is to be secured in all cases, some such machinery ought to be available. It is probable that it could only be done by friendly agreement, and while it would find ready acceptance from the side of the various Guilds and Associations, the sympathy of the Bishop in each diocese would go a long way towards gaining approval among the clergy. If such a course as this could be adopted, we might be saved the unedifying public squabbles between ringers and clergy which we sometimes read about in the newspapers.

ANNUAL CONTEST.

The annual competition for the 'Rawnsley' shield was held at Crosthwaite Church, on Easter Monday. Five teams entered from Bridekirk, Cockermouth, Cleator Moor, Egremont and Keswick. Egremont rang 576 Double Oxford Bob in 27 minutes, with 208 faults; Cleator Moor, Plain Bob Minor for about 20 minutes, when they broke down with 104 faults; Keswick rang 576 Kent Treble Bob Major with 251 faults, and being the home team were penalised another 20 faults. Bridekirk rang 720 Kent Treble Bob Minor in 28 minutes, with 99 faults; Cockermouth, 720 Kent Minor for 29 minutes, but in the opinion of the judge did not come round properly: faults 168.

After the contest, tea was provided in the Parish Hall, presided over by the Rev. S. Metcalf, and supported by the hon. secretary, Mr. W. T. Holmes (Cockermouth).

The judge (Mr. J. H. Banks) gave his decisions as above, and presented the shield to the winners, Bridekirk, to hold for the next twelve months.

The next quarterly meeting is to be held at Hensingham on June 29th, to unveil the board recording a peal rung in memory of members who fell in the great war.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar for the use of the bells and Parish Hall, to Mr. Metcalf for presiding, and Mr. Banks for again coming to act as judge.—Mr. Banks responded, and this brought a very successful meeting to a close.

A CARILLON AT WEMBLEY.

BELLS FROM THE CROYDON FOUNDRY.

In the Palace of Engineering at the British Empire Exhibition is installed in the clock tower of the Vickers Research Building a very fine set of carillon bells which have been lent by the War Memorial Committee, Simcoe, Ontario, Canada, and which have been cast by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon.

The bells, which will be sent to Canada when the exhibition ends, are 23 in number, covering a range of two octaves, including all but the two lower semitones. A weight driven tower clock movement chimes the Westminster quarters and strikes the hours, and after the last stroke of each hour releases the starting switch of a fully automatic electro pneumatic machine, which then plays some well-known air.

In addition, there is a hand clavier, and it is with this that the fullest beauty of the bell music is obtained, the delicate action allowing the carillonneur to play with expression as on a piano and to execute elaborate and complicated cadences with the volume of sound rising from an almost inaudible murmur to the full power of the combined carillon of bells.

This carillon, although not heavy, as to weight of bell metal when compared with some of the largest modern installations cast by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, has a remarkable sweetness and purity of tone, the notes of the bells being clear and melodious and blending with an unusually pleasing effect, the result of the perfection to which this firm have brought their method of tuning.

During the summer arrangements will be made for the leading carillonneurs of Belgium and Holland to visit Wembley and give special recitals on the carillon.

Messrs. Gillett and Johnston are engaged in completing, amongst other orders, the great carillon of 53 bells for Park Avenue Church, New York, which will be the largest in existence: also a carillon for Boston, U.S.A., as well as a carillon of 35 bells for Holland, in which connection it might be mentioned that these bells are now tuned more accurately than even the famous old carillons of the Netherlands.

WISBECH BELLS.

PEAL ATTEMPT ABANDONED.

On Saturday, May 3rd, a band of ringers from Cambridge paid a visit to Wisbech to attempt a peal on the bells of SS. Peter and Paul's Church. A rail journey of 40 miles took them into the heart of the fen district, far off the beaten track, where stands this fine church built in 1111, and splendid tower which was built in 1400 A.D., and which contains a grand ring of ten bells (tenor 21 cwt. in E. flat), the back eight by Dobson, of the Old Downham foundry, and the trebles by Mears. Inquiries revealed the fact that only one peal has ever been rung there, a peal of Stedman Triples, conducted by the late Rev. F. E. Robinson. Bob Major was the method now attempted, but after a few courses it was very evident the peal attempt would have to be abandoned owing to the bad 'go' of some of the bells, especially the 6th and tenor, so the bells were called round at 1.10 changes, the band being as follows: A. E. Austin 1, A. King 2, H. Hayzell 3, J. T. Newington 4, T. R. Dennis 5, F. Warrington 6, A. G. Rivers 7, E. G. Hibbins (conductor) 8.

After being refreshed by an excellent tea, provided by the local Ringing Master, Mr. R. Narborough, the tower was again visited, and two courses of Grandsire Caters, touches of Stedman Triples and Bob Major were rung, with two of the local ringers standing in, several of the band ringing their first touch of Caters. The band wish, through this journal, to thank Canon W. T. R. Crookham for permission to ring, also Mr. R. Narborough for having the bells ready and entertaining the band to tea. It is also hoped that this fine ring may soon be made pealable.

THE FALSE PEALS AT ERITH AND WYE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I have kept silent for several weeks over the above question in anticipation of an acceptance from Mr. E. J. Cullum, junr., of my apology. I felt bound to apologise, lest I should be guilty of the sin of negligence and omission, and I am afraid if Mr. Cullum declines to acknowledge and respect my apology, he is risking being classified in that category over this particular matter.

I am very much obliged to Mr. H. Parkes for acknowledging my apology, and thanking me on behalf of those who rang at Wye. He touches on the question of first peal men, and according to his letter, thinks it a pity that the variation turned out to be false, as three first peal men rang at Wye. I myself have always shown great sympathy towards such men as these, and this being the case, it would interest me to know how far Mr. Parkes has subsequently devoted his attention to conducting peals of Grandsire Triples for ringers needing a peal in this method to give them a start.

Statistics of his peal ringing career in this essential method will much oblige.—Yours truly,

GEO. BILLENNESS.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

MASTER CRITICISES CLERGY'S APATHY.

The Salisbury Diocesan Guild had a more than usually interesting agenda for the annual meeting which was held in the Cathedral city on Saturday week. There was a large attendance of members, and ringing took place at the various towers, the touches including Grand-size, Stedman, Plain Bob and Double Norwich.

The business meeting was held in the Church House, Salisbury, at which the Master (Major C. C. Hughes D'Aeth, now of Worthing) presided, and was supported by the hon. secretary and treasurer (the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards, Gillingham) and the hon. assistant secretary (Mr. T. Hervey Beams, Bridport).—The Chairman apologised for the absence of the President of the Guild (the Earl of Shaftesbury).

The Rev. F. Ll. Edwards, presenting the statement of accounts, said the balance in hand at the end of the previous year was £51 7s. 7½d.; the balance in hand at the end of last year was £55 10s. 7½d. Four guineas of this were grants towards the Diocesan War Memorial, so that their balance this year was actually a shilling less than it was last year. As the cost of getting out the report this year was going to be more than it was in previous years, owing to a list of those who had rung for the Guild being included, they wanted to be careful with their finances.

In his annual report, the Hon. Secretary made reference to the visit of the Central Council to Salisbury last year, and cordial thanks were extended to all those who kindly assisted with the entertainment of the guests. The report added that a secretary had now been found for the Salisbury branch, which had been without one for ten out of the past eleven years. Mr. F. W. Romaine was appointed to that post at a meeting convened last September. 'The year 1923 will also be memorable for the opening of the first ring of ten bells in the Wiltshire portion of the diocese,' continued the report. Up to 1911 there was not a single church in our diocese with more than eight bells. The augmentation of the peal at Wimborne Minster provided Dorset with the first ten-bell tower. Trowbridge has now done the same for Wiltshire, and the dedication ceremony on Easter Monday, when 300 ringers marched in procession to the church, would long be remembered. Mr. Hector, the energetic conductor at that tower, lost no time in making use of the new opportunities thus provided, and we have the satisfaction of recording the first peal of Royal in the county of Wilts. The festival was held at Marlborough, where the fine old bells of St. Mary's Church had been restored. It was heartily to be wished that in this stately old Wiltshire town the time-honoured custom of ringing the curfew, suspended during the war, might be renewed at an early date. Great activity had been displayed in the Devizes branch, where a number of peals had been rung, and the instruction of young bands in the art of change ringing had produced highly satisfactory results. A peal of Doubles rung at Corfe Mullen by a band of initiates from Wimborne Minster—first peal for five of the six—was also a healthy sign of the times. In conclusion, the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards thanked the Guild most heartily for the very generous donation granted towards the cost of repairing the ancient tower of his parish church.

In his notes for the year 1923, the Master, having alluded in congratulatory terms to the success of the meeting of the Central Council at Salisbury, said he could not fail to mention one name, the organiser and general guide, Mr. T. Hervey Beams.

CLERGY'S LACK OF INTEREST.

Major D'Aeth said it was his great sorrow that he now stood at that table having to resign the office of Master. As they knew, he had left the Diocese in which he had been more or less actively engaged in Church work for 46 years, so they might imagine what his feelings were when his chief connection with the Diocese ended. They had now got 818 members in their Guild of Ringers, with only 31 clergymen's names on the list, and four of them had no bells in their churches. That was to say that out of 115 towers that belonged to the Guild they could only get 31 clergymen to take an interest in this very important branch of Church work. That ought not to be. There would come a time when the Guilds would have to fight for their Church. 'Cannot we persuade the clergy to take a more active part in this, which we consider a very important part of Church work?' asked the Master. 'We call the congregation to come and listen to the clergyman, and if he won't come to the west end of the church, how can he expect the ringers or flock to come to the other end? I am thankful to say, that amongst the ringers we do think of our church a good deal, and that a large majority of the ringers go to church after calling the flock. It has been a disappointment to me in the Mastership of the Guild, and I trust my successor will have more success than I have had in this respect.'

He thanked the members for the kindness they had shown him wherever he had been, and he would never forget it, neither would he forget them. He thanked the hon. secretary for all his real hard work. He was a very active member of the Guild. Without Mr. Edwards he was afraid it would go very hard with the Guild (hear, hear).

Proposing a vote of thanks to Major D'Aeth for his services as Master, Mr. T. Hervey Beams said actions spoke louder than words, and he thought it should be entered on the minutes that 'we receive with regret the resignation of Major D'Aeth, and at the same time we assure him of our most hearty thanks for all he has done for the Guild' (hear, hear). He hoped Major D'Aeth would be as happy in Sussex as he had been in Dorset (hear, hear).—Major D'Aeth suitably replied, and in recognition of his services he was unanimously elected a vice-president.

NEW MASTER ELECTED.

To fill the position of Master, the Devizes branch recommended the Rev. Wilfred A. Jays, from whom Major D'Aeth produced a letter, in which he stated 'I am not a skilled ringer, and I have very grave doubts I shall ever become skilled in the art.' Mr. Jays, in his letter, added his regret that ringers left the church immediately after they had finished ringing.—The Rev. C. A. Phillips, of Bournemouth, was also nominated, but he told the conference that he was not sufficiently advanced in ringing.—The Rev. C. Carew Cox was also nominated, but he pleaded that he had too much on his hands in his own parish to attend to.—A further nomination was that of the Rev. G. H. Gundry, the vice-chairman of the North Dorset branch.—The Rev. Carew Cox, proposing Mr. Gundry, expressed his confidence that under Mr. Gundry's direction the North Dorset branch was going to be one of the liveliest in the Guild.

Finally Mr. Gundry was elected, and in thanking the members, he said he would do the best he could for the advancement of the Guild.

The Rev. F. Ll. Edwards was unanimously re-elected hon. secretary and treasurer, and Mr. Hervey Beams hon. assistant secretary. The hon. auditors—the Rev. A. D. H. Allan (Wimborne) and Mr. H. R. Hopkins (Kington Magna)—were re-elected. The Rev. C. Carew Cox, the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards, Mr. Hervey Beams, and Mr. S. J. Hector (Trowbridge) were elected by ballot as representatives on the Central Council. The committee—the appointed officers of the Guild and of the branches, the Rev. Canon Myers, the Rev. C. Wood, and Mr. J. R. Jerram—were re-appointed. Also re-elected were the following instructors in change ringing: Messrs. G. T. White (Dorchester), J. E. Willshire (Seend), S. Hillier (Devizes), T. H. Beams (Bridport), F. W. Townsend (Poole), S. J. Hector (Trowbridge), H. Taylor (Melksham), A. Hussey (Sturminster Newton), and F. Arnold (Shroton, Blandford). Mr. J. R. Jerram (Salisbury) was re-appointed inspector of belfries.

THE DIOCESAN WAR MEMORIAL SCHEME.

Dealing with the question of the Diocesan War Memorial and the Guild's contribution to it, Mr. Hervey Beams explained that at Marlborough last year this matter was referred to the General Committee of the Guild, who had fully discussed it after having seen the plans and drawings and having had an interview with the Dean of Salisbury. The original scheme of a Diocesan War Memorial, which was to provide a certain number of windows in the north aisle of the Cathedral, had been dropped. The scheme now proposed was one in which the diocese was taking a large part, and the relatives of the late Bishop Ridgeway, a former president of the Guild, were also taking a large part. It was to make one of the chapels in the south transept of the Cathedral the Chapel of St. Nicholas. The relatives of the late Bishop Ridgeway were providing the altar and the accessories, and the diocese was to provide the panelling which would separate the chapel from the next chapel and also, as he understood, from the front. The Guild of Ringers had been asked by the Dean to take their share in erecting a part of the panelling. They had allotted them a piece of oak panelling nine feet six inches high and six feet eleven inches wide. After the committee saw the Dean and viewed the spot they decided to recommend the scheme to the Guild for adoption. The approximate cost to the Guild, £200, seemed a bit heavy, but it was not heavy when one considered the amount of panelling to be done, and certainly not heavy when they remembered who were to be commemorated by it (hear, hear). He was not in a position to say how many men in the Guild gave their lives in the war, or how many died as a result of the war, but the number was larger possibly than many of the members suspected. The question was whether it was possible to get £200. He did not think the raising of £200 would be a difficult matter if the whole diocese was worked systematically. The name of the fallen ringers would be inscribed in a parchment book, called 'The Book of Remembrance,' which would be kept in the shrine they were asked to erect.

Mr. Heggibottom submitted an amendment to the scheme, proposed by the Devizes branch. The amendment was that a sum of £200 be raised for the panelling (or screen) in Salisbury Cathedral, and that such sum be raised by applying to the Parochial Church Councils for a grant of not less than 1s. per bell and 1s. per ringer in the respective parishes; and that the ringers, most of whom had already contributed to one and perhaps two memorials, be not personally canvassed for subscriptions.

The Rev. C. Carew Cox said if the memorial suggested were placed in the Cathedral it would be the finest ringers' memorial in the whole of Great Britain. He was sure Mr. Hervey Beams' scheme would be largely taken up.

The Rev. F. Ll. Edwards proposed that the resolution be modified to read that the sum of £200 be raised for the erection of panelling in the Cathedral, and that each parish in the diocese be applied to for 1s. per bell and 1s. per ringer.

In this form the motion was carried nem. con.

'STRIKES' AMONG RINGERS.

Expressing the hope that the motion would not be considered to be of a controversial nature, the Rev. Carew Cox proposed that the following be added to Rule 6:—

'In any case of difficulties arising between members of an affiliated tower and the church authorities of the parish, members of the Guild, whether paid or voluntary, shall not withhold their services on that account, but shall appeal to the Guild, either through the Chairman of the local branch, or the Master. If the incumbent of the parish so desire, a representative of the Guild may be appointed to offer advice on both sides.'

Similar rules were, he said, in operation in the Bath and Wells and other dioceses. The more the Guild was recognised as having a moral hold over its members the more easily would the difficulties be rectified. He put it to them that ringers did not join the association for their own pleasure, but purely for the purpose of helping forward the brotherhood of ringers throughout the country, and to advance their recognition as church workers. 'It is utterly contrary to the spirit in which church work should be done, especially the work of calling people to church, that there should be anything of what the Press are pleased to call strikes among ringers,' urged Mr. Carew Cox. 'That does the church no good at all, but it does give a very bad impression. It emphasises, to my mind, the absence between ringers and the church authorities of a parish of the Christian spirit of forbearance; and I take it that we as a Guild are out to intensify our brotherhood as ringers' (hear, hear).

There was no dissent, but owing to the pressure of time the Chairman suggested that they should postpone consideration until the next meeting, and this course was agreed to.

A service was afterwards held in the Cathedral, at which the Dean of Salisbury preached from the text 'O come, let us worship' (Psalm xciv. 6). The Dean said he desired, on behalf of the Chapter, to extend to the Guild a very hearty welcome to the Mother Church, and to assure them that although they had lost their bell turret, and so could not have a peal now, they took a very sincere interest in all the Guild were doing to extend the science of bell ringing and develop it in the towers of the diocese on sound lines. They sympathised with the Guild in their loss of their Master, who had done so much for the work.

An appropriate anthem, called the Bell Anthem, 'Rejoice in the Lord alway' (Purcell), was sung by the choir, and the hymn was 'Angel voices ever singing.' The collection was for the Diocesan Memorial Fund.

The Guild were afterwards entertained to tea in the Church House, and later in the evening touches were rung in the towers in the city.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

SUCCESSFUL MEETING AT ENFIELD.

One of the most successful meetings in the history of the North and East District of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild was held at St. Mary Magdalen's, Enfield, on Saturday last, when, in spite of such weather as would usually keep people indoors, over 50 members and friends attended. Several short touches—short to give everybody an opportunity of ringing—were rung in many methods from 3.30 onwards until the time of Divine service. This was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. J. Thomas), who addressed a large congregation at length on their duty as Christians and workers for God.

Tea was served in the Church Hall adjoining, and a few words of welcome were spoken by the Vicar before he had to depart; and a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to him for his address, and for the use of the bells.

At the subsequent business meeting, the president (Mr. F. A. Milne, J.P.) took the chair, and 15 new members were elected, including several of the local band, who expressed a keen desire to learn change ringing, and for whom the society is arranging some help.—Mr. C. Turner voiced their thanks to the association, giving the members present a hearty welcome to Enfield.

St. Matthew's, Upper Clapton, was chosen for the next district meeting at the end of June.

Whilst a few members paid another visit to the tower, others took a welcome opportunity of ringing at St. Andrew's Church, where the bells were available, through the kindness of the Rev. R. Howel Brown. The towerkeeper, Mr. C. Plume, very kindly met the ringers, who enjoyed several touches ranging from Grandsire Triples to Bristol Surprise on a nicely going peal, which have not long since been rung by the Whitechapel Foundry with excellent results.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The new bells at Bridport, Dorset, are to be dedicated on Ascension Day, and, as will be seen from a notice in another column, the following day will be devoted to ringing, and a cordial invitation is extended to members of the Exercise. The bells, with 22 cwt. tenor, are from the Whitechapel Foundry.

Canon W. W. C. Baker (President of the Bedfordshire Association) is shortly leaving Dunstable, having accepted the living of Southill, a village near Biggleswade. His pending departure is much regretted by the parishioners, particularly the ringers. During his stay in Dunstable, Canon Baker has seen the advance of ringing from 'Stony' to Surprise.

At the Easter vestry, held at Linslade, Bucks, Mr. A. Vickers, one of the ringers, was elected people's warden, and Mr. F. Bultruss and Mr. G. White, sidesmen, of St. Barnabas.

Mr. Samuel Wood, the veteran, of Ashton-under-Lyne, celebrated his jubilee as a peal ringer on Saturday, when he took part in a peal at Pendleton. Mr. Wood's first peal was rung at St. Peter's, Ashton-under-Lyne, on May 9th, 1874. There has been much ringing history made since then, and Mr. Sam Wood has helped to make it.

A peal at Ilminster on Saturday also celebrated a jubilee, Mr. Henry Raison, who rang the tenor, having completed 50 years of service in the tower.

A gold badge, suitably inscribed, has been presented to Mr. Raison by his brother ringers in recognition of his long service.

Another peal on Saturday was in celebration of a third ringer's jubilee in the Exercise—Mr. W. Large, who has done a great deal of spadework in and about the county of Gloucester. A peal of Grandsire Doubles at Longborough, marked his completion of fifty years of ringing.

Mention of Mr. Sam Wood's jubilee recalls the fact that it was no less than 41 years ago on Sunday next that he called the famous 16,608 Kent Treble Bob Major, at Mottrum, the peal occupying 9 hours 48 mins.

One of the long lengths of Treble Bob Royal was rung at Shore-ditch on May 19th, 1777. This was the 11,080 by the College Youths, rung in that period when there was keen rivalry with the Cumberlands for the record length in the method.

On May 20th, 1780, a 5,220 Titum Bob Royal was rung at St. Michael's, Coventry, by the St. Martin's Youths.

A peal of 5,120 Cumberland Treble Bob was rung at Edmonton by the Cumberland Youths on May 20th, 1795.

More than one record has been made on May 21st. In 1833, the 13,054 Stedman Caters was rung in 8 hours 16 mins., at Cheltenham, and on this date last year, the famous 12,675 Stedman Cinques at Southwark.

On May 21st, 1861, 10,061 Grandsire Caters was rung in 5 hours 56 mins., at Wednesbury, and on the same date, in 1873, the first peal of Grandsire Triples in Scotland, at St. Mary's, Dundee, conducted by the late Matt. Wood.

The 17,024 Double Norwich was rung at Kidlington in 11 hours 12 mins. on May 22nd, 1899.

His many friends will be pleased to learn that Mr. Reg. D. Marshall, who is at present a patient in Manor House Hospital, Golder's Green, is making satisfactory progress towards recovery. At first it was thought he was suffering from gastric ulcers, but later the cause of the trouble was diagnosed as appendicitis. The operation which was performed was entirely successful.

Readers who are intending to purchase a cycle should send their inquiries to a brother ringer, Mr. R. Lathbury, Castle Street, Cambridge, whose advertisement of ladies' and gents' cycles appears in this issue.

THE LATE MR. J. W. WASHBROOK.

PROPOSED MEMORIAL.

At the annual committee meeting of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, held at Oxford, Canon G. F. Coleridge proposed: 'That the Oxford Diocesan Guild take steps to erect a memorial to the late J. W. Washbrook in the cloisters of Christ Church Cathedral, Oxford, and that all Guilds and Associations be invited to subscribe.'—This was carried unanimously, and will doubtless be carried at the annual general business meeting, held on the day of festival, at Oxford, on July 26th.

AFTER MANY YEARS.

The first change ringing for some years at Minety, Wilts, took place on Thursday, May 8th, when several six-scores of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles were rung by F. W. Bond 1, H. Lewis 2, F. J. Lewis 3, H. C. Bond 4, F. Edwards 5.

LADIES' PEAL OF STEDMAN.

Peals by the Ladies' Guild are few and far between, but a noteworthy success was achieved on Saturday, when, for the first time, a peal of Stedman Triples was rung by eight ladies. This was achieved at St. Peter's Church, Old Windsor, and the ladies represented six towers. They made an unsuccessful attempt a few weeks ago, but, nothing daunted, they met again, and a good peal was the result. The ladies were not, of course, new to the method, but it is striking evidence of the progress being made that a company of ladies can score such a peal. Congratulations will be extended by the Exercise to the band, whose efforts, under the capable leadership of Miss Edith Parker, have thus been rewarded.

SHEFFIELD DISTRICT SOCIETY.

ADDITIONAL VICE-PRESIDENTS ELECTED.

The annual meeting of the Sheffield District and Old East Derbyshire Society was held on May 3rd, at Ranmoor, due to the fact that Chesterfield, the place originally selected, was still unavailable for ringing. A committee meeting was held in the Parish Hall, and a proposal put forward to elect two more vice-presidents, making a total of four, with a view to assisting the president in carrying out his duties. After some discussion this was carried, and the names of Mr. John Flint, of Bolsover, and Mr. George Halksworth, of Doncaster, were selected by the committee to go before the general meeting. It was also decided that a committee meeting be summoned at Sheffield in November for the revision of the rules of the society.

A short musical service was held in the church at 5 p.m., an interesting address being given by the Vicar (the Rev. J. R. Lee Nicholls), himself an accomplished change ringer.

Tea was served in the Parish Hall, immediately after which a course of Stedman Cinques was rung on the handbells, followed by the annual business meeting, at which the Vicar presided.

A report of the year's work was given by the hon. secretary, showing gratifying progress. During the year 22 peals have been rung, including the first peal of Bob Maximus in the county of Yorkshire, and one of Rutland Surprise, being the first for the association.

The officers were elected as follows: President, Mr. G. Lewis (Ecclesfield), in place of Mr. F. Watkinson, resigned; vice-presidents, Mr. A. Knights (Chesterfield), Mr. J. Holman (Sheffield Cathedral), Mr. John Flint (Bolsover), and Mr. G. Halksworth (Doncaster); hon. treasurer, Mr. J. E. Lewis Cockey (Dore); hon. secretary, Mr. T. W. Chown (Sheffield Cathedral); assistant hon. secretary, Mr. Sam Thomas (Ranmoor); hon. auditors, Mr. J. Flint (Bolsover), and Mr. G. Hollis (Chesterfield).

New members were elected in Miss Ivy Eastwood, Mr. E. Napten, of Whiston, and Mr. H. Muscroft. Votes of thanks to the Vicar, wardens, and local company, concluded the meeting. Fifty members were present during the afternoon and evening, and the methods rung ranged from Plain Bob to London Surprise.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL RINGING FACILITIES.

The following towers will be available for ringing for visitors to the Central Council Meeting:—Whit Sunday:

St. Martin-in-the-Fields (12), 9.45 a.m.
St. Clement Danes (10), 10 a.m.
St. Stephen's, Rochester Row (8), 10 a.m. and 5.30 p.m.
St. Andrew's, Holborn (8), 10 a.m.
Southwark Cathedral (12), 5.30 p.m.
Shoreditch (12), 5.30 p.m.

St. Magnus, Lower Thames Street (10), 5.30 p.m.

Whit Monday.—By kind permission of the incumbents the following towers will be available to Central Council representatives for peals: St. Clement Danes (10), Enfield (8), Edmonton, All Saints' (8). Representatives desirous of taking part in peals at Edmonton or Enfield please communicate with Mr. J. Parker, Queen Ann Place, Enfield. For St. Clement Danes write to Mr. J. W. Cornford. Applications must be received not later than May 19th.

W. T. COCKERILL (hon. secretary, College Youths), 32, Edgeley Road, Clapham.

J. W. CORNFORD (hon. secretary, Cumberlands), 7d, Morgan Mansions, Holloway, N.7.

PEALS FOR TWO SOCIETIES.

'Enquiry' writes: 'When peals are published under two Associations or Societies, do both include the peal in their records, or only the society first named?'

We believe the general practice is that, for the purposes of association records, both societies enter the peal. For the purposes of the Peals Analysis, compiled by the Central Council, the peal goes to the credit of the society first named only.

ASHTON KEYNES BELLS.

The bells at Ashton Keynes, Wilts, have recently been quarter-turned, and on Thursday, May 8th, several six-scores of Grandsire Doubles were rung on them by F. W. Bond 1, H. Lewis 2, F. J. Lewis 3, F. Edwards 4, H. C. Bond 5. Also a six-score, with F. Poole, one of the local ringers, on the treble. The bells are in good going order.

THE LATE MR. THOMAS DOBLE.

SPADE WORK IN SOMERSET.

The West Somerset coroner (Mr. Foster Barham) conducted an inquest at Stogursey on Monday week upon the late Mr. Thos. Doble, who died suddenly while ringing on the previous Saturday. Medical evidence showed that a blood vessel on the brain was ruptured, and death was caused by extensive hæmorrhage.

The funeral took place on Wednesday afternoon of last week at St. James' Cemetery, Taunton, the first part of the service being held in St. Mary's Church, where deceased had been parastan for close on 40 years. The Rev. S. W. Payne officiated, assisted by the Rev. W. H. Allen, and the full choir attended as a mark of respect to one who was a former chorister. The hymns sung were 'Pleasant are Thy courts above,' and 'The day Thou gavest, Lord, is ended.' At the close of the impressive service, the Dead March in 'Saul' was played by Mr. C. J. Revell, in the absence of Mr. H. A. Jeboult. The mourners were Misses A. and G. Doble (daughters), Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Doble (son and daughter-in-law), Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Nevill (son-in-law and daughter), and Miss Membury (cousin). A large congregation was present, including the churchwardens, and many prominent tradesmen and residents of the town. Mr. E. E. Burgess, general hon. secretary, represented the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association, and Mr. P. Merson, hon. secretary, the Taunton Deanery. The bearers were fellow ringers from St. James' Church, Messrs. W. J. Tarr, H. Basley, E. Priddle, E. E. Burgess and J. Hunt.

After the committal prayers at the cemetery, four ringers stood around the grave, and rang on a sweet-toned peal of handbells a course of Grandsire Triples: J. Maddock 1—2, J. Hunt 3—4, H. J. Poole 5—6, P. Merson 7—8. The bearers and other ringers returned to St. James' Church and rang 504 changes each of Stedman Triples (E. E. Burgess, conductor) and Grandsire Triples (J. Hunt, conductor). In the evening, St. Mary's peal of twelve was rung in rounds by ringers from Taunton and neighbourhood; also a touch of Stedman Caters, with J. Burge conductor.

Mr. Doble was amongst the first to join the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association on its formation in 1890, but several years before this he had endeavoured to promote change ringing in the county. In 1886 he conducted the first 120 of Grandsire Doubles on St. Mary's bells, and he was the leader there for a number of years. For some years past he had been an honorary member of St. James' band. His peals do not tally with his spade work in the years that are gone, for the services he rendered the association in its early days by helping young bands were invaluable, and his efforts have borne fruit. His peals number 45, including Grandsire Doubles, Triples and Caters, Stedman Triples and Bob Major. He rang his last peal in 1921. In addition to the local association, he was a member of the Devonshire Guild, Gloucester and Bristol Association, and the Ancient Society of College Youths. Many beautiful flowers were sent, including one from the C.E.M.S., and one from the ringers of St. James'.

THE OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

The annual spring meeting of the Chipping Norton Deanery branch was held on Saturday week at Chipping Norton, ringers being present from a number of towers. Some good touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples were rung. Service was held in church. The Rev. Noel Hopkins gave an eloquent address. Tea was next partaken of, when the following towers were represented: Ascott, Churchill, Chipping Norton, Chastleton, Charlbury, Enstone, and Spelsbury, with the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn (Master), Mr. R. T. Hibbert (general secretary), and Mr. A. J. Wright (treasurer) were also present. At the business meeting, the accounts were passed. Special mention was made of the loss the branch had sustained by the death of one of its oldest hon. members, the late Mr. W. Toy.—The chairman (the Rev. J. W. Palmer), the branch secretary (Mr. J. Keyte), and also the Guild representatives were all re-elected.

It was proposed to make the opening of Spelsbury bells a special meeting, and to hold the autumn meeting at Churchill.

The usual votes of thanks were accorded, and the Master of the Guild made special allusion to the leading article on the front page of that week's 'Ringing World.' He urged more ringers to support the paper, and Mr. T. Hibbert endorsed the Master's remarks.

Mr. A. J. Wright spoke on the finances of the Guild.

Ringers then made their way to the tower for further ringing, which brought a successful meeting to a close.

RINGER AS CHURCHWARDEN FOR 25 YEARS.

At Chorley (Lancashire) Parish Church, on Sunday, for morning service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) was rung in 45 mins. by J. Marsden 1, G. W. Brindle 2, R. Clayton 3, W. Blackledge 4, J. H. Gartside, junr., 5, F. Rigby (conductor) 6, G. Hewitt (first quarter-peal on a working bell) 7, H. Southworth 8. The quarter-peal was rung as a compliment to Mr. J. H. Gartside, senr., on his retirement from the office of warden after 25 years' service. He has also been associated with ringing in this tower for more than fifty years. All the above band are service ringers at the church.

BELL WEIGHTS.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—There was a misprint in my former letter to you relating to bell weights, which I neglected to correct, but will answer one of the questions in Mr. Burton's letter. The last sentence should have read: '— in former days bells were weighed WITH the clappers.' Bells are weighed before being tuned, and those are the weights given in the tower. It is hardly likely that founders have to lose metal turned out by tuning (especially nowadays). No doubt if I gave wrong information on that point, one of the founders would pull me up.

With regard to St. Peter Mancroft bells being retuned, that is no doubt a matter of opinion. Some people, of course, would like to see the canons cut off these bells.

As quite modern tenors have been weighed again when being rehung and found to be lighter, I think the 'clappers and tuning' argument will stand against 'inaccuracy of scales.'—Yours faithfully,
CHAS. H. KIPPIN.

DEATH OF FORMER SUSSEX RINGER.

Sussex ringers will hear with deep regret of the death of Mr. Sydney Saker, who for some years was hon. secretary of the Eastern Division of the Association. He had been a member of the Blacklands Guild, Hastings, for a long period, and an honorary member of the Battle Society since 1896. He rang his first peal at this historic place on Feb. 29th, 1896, and, through his instrumentality in getting some well-known ringers to that distant corner of the county, some of the Battle men, in 1898, were enabled to ring their first peal of Stedman. Two journeys were required for this peal, for the first attempt was stopped in the last 500 by the Dean, who admitted himself to the tower by his private key. Mr. Saker did a great deal to encourage ringing in East Sussex, and in conducting the affairs of the association he brought to bear a keen business instinct and a professional training, together with a genial disposition which made him beloved by all who knew him.

Mr. Saker had resided for some time at Purley, where he died on April 19th, after a painful illness, extending over several months. The funeral took place at Hastings on April 24th. The first part of the service was held at Christ Church, Blacklands, the Vicar (the Rev. G. R. Thornton) officiating. The interment was at the Borough Cemetery. The tower bells were rung fully muffled as a last mark of respect, both before and after the service, by the Blacklands ringers, under the direction of Mr. J. Livermore, the captain.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.STOCKPORT BRANCH AND THE ANNUAL FESTIVAL.

'May is, according to the old poets, the "fairest maid" of the months. It is a delightful month, inasmuch that it has the fairness and beauty of youth; it is a time of freshness and fragrance outdoors, with the countryside garbed in beautiful green—a green such as the desert traveller must often long for in his exile' (A May Magazine).

But on the occasion of a Stockport branch meeting at Mottram-in-Longendale on Saturday last there was something else the desert traveller always longs for, viz., rain; the 'fayre mayd' was having a bath. Those who braved the elements were, however, amply rewarded for their trouble. The quality of Mottram bells and their 'go' being so well known, further comment is unnecessary. Ringing opened soon after 3 p.m., with a touch of Double Norwich, and much use was made of the bells until 4.30 p.m., when a short service was held in church, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. M. Power), who gave an interesting address. Tea was served in the Parish Room, to which forty members and friends, including the Vicar, sat down. This had been kindly prepared by several ladies connected with the Parish Church.

Mr. J. H. Jackson presided over the business meeting. The question of 'general improvement' was brought up for discussion, and deferred for consideration.

A resolution supporting the motion of the Crewe branch, to have the Guild's annual festival, at present held on August Bank Holiday and the last Saturday in July, alternately, held on Easter Monday each year, was carried.

One new member was elected, and, in reply to the usual votes of thanks, the Rev. M. Power, a typical son of the Emerald Isle, expressed his pleasure in having the company of the Guild. He apologised for the state of the weather, and closed his remarks with a humorous story about the local weather, and it is doubtful whether our American cousins can beat it.

The tower was again visited, and the bells kept going until 9 p.m. Many old ringers will be glad to learn that Mr. James Adams, of Sydney, formerly of Ashton-under-Lyne, and who has only recently arrived in this country, was present on the occasion, and looking well. He is staying with his nephew, Mr. B. Thorp, Victoria Street, Ashton-under-Lyne.

DEATH OF A WOLVERHAMPTON RINGER.

It is with regret we announce the death of Mr. Thomas O'Connor, who passed away on April 25th, at the age of 47 years, and who had been connected with St. Peter's tower, Wolverhampton, for about 25 years. The deceased had been ailing of late, and was advised to go into hospital for an operation, after which pneumonia set in and the end quickly came.

The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. Fred. Stockley (Rector) at St. Peter's Church, and the committal prayers at the graveside said by the Rev. T. W. Wilkes, who at one time was clerical secretary and treasurer to the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford, of which the deceased was a member.

'Tommy' (as he was familiarly known) was of a genial disposition, and big-hearted. He will be greatly missed by all who knew him. He leaves a widow, son and three daughters to mourn their loss.

An attempt for a half-muffled peal of Grandsire Caters was made at St. Peter's on May 1st. All went well for two hours and forty minutes, when rapping on the belfry door brought about an untimely finish. Upon the door being opened, who should enter but a 'man in blue'! It appears that he had been requested by May-day demonstrators near by, to 'come to some arrangement' with the ringers, as the speakers could not be heard above the sound of the bells. When he realised the position—impressed upon him by the indignant band—he hinted that another start might be made. However, an attempt for a peal of Stedman Triples (half-muffled) was made on May 9th at St. Luke's, but this, too, did not mature, through a turn-over in the 38th course.

LAMBETH RINGERS ENTERTAIN ALDERSHOT RINGERS

On Saturday, May 3rd, the ringers from Aldershot Parish Church (St. Michael the Archangel) visited London, and were entertained by Lambeth ringers, a very pleasant time being spent. An interesting hour or two was spent in Lambeth Palace; then came tea; a move afterwards being made to the belfry, and short touches of Stedman and Grandsire Triples, and Kent Treble Bob were brought round. The Rev. F. O. T. Hawkes, Rector of Lambeth (formerly Vicar of Aldershot), joined the party, and a social at the Rectory House occupied the remainder of the evening. The visitors departed after 'Auld Lang Syne' had been sung in approved fashion.

The trip was arranged in response to an invitation by Lambeth ringers in return for hospitality last summer, when the Rev. F. O. T. Hawkes and his ringers visited Aldershot, and a cricket match was played between the members of the respective towers. A warm friendship exists between Aldershot and Lambeth ringers, and it is hoped to foster this feeling by social events on future occasions.

The Aldershot ringers (particularly the juniors) will cherish very pleasant memories of their visit to Lambeth.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

A very successful quarterly meeting of the North-Eastern district of the Essex Association was held at Langham on Saturday, April 26th, when 31 members braved the storm. Service was conducted by the Rev. Ward, who is a member of the association, and who presided at the tea, which was provided at the Gunn Inn, Dedham, Host Sterry being a member of the local company. Three new members were elected, one of them at the age of 12 years, who rang a long touch of Bob Minor from the top of a box. It was quite an unusual sight to see so small a ringer.—Mr. W. J. Nevard proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar, and Great Totham was proposed for the next quarterly meeting.

LADIES' GUILD.

The Midland District of the Ladies' Guild held their meeting at St. John's, Deritend, on Saturday, May 3rd. There was a very poor attendance, members from Solihull, Smethwick, Netherton and Handsworth only being present, but the few had a very enjoyable time, and a good practice. Unfortunately there was no service, owing to the Vicar (the Rev. J. A. Morgan) being ill. Very little business was done except to choose the place of the next meeting, St. Michael's, Greenhill, Lichfield, being selected, if permission can be obtained, on the first Saturday in July.

A vote of thanks was proposed to Mr. Neal for having everything ready, and for his help throughout the afternoon.

THE PEAL AT THE IMPERIAL INSTITUTE.To the Editor.

Sir,—When I received the invitation to ring in the above peal, I was asked to represent the county of Middlesex. Having resided in Hampstead for upwards of 25 years, I claim that I have the right to do so, certainly more than many members of the Middlesex County Association who do not even reside in the county.—Yours truly,
48, Mansfield Road, Hampstead, N.W.3. FRANK SMITH.

THE MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION. HIGH-WATER MARK.

The committee of the Midland Counties Association, in the annual report, state that the past year had been, financially, as fruitful as its preceding one, the balance sheet showing a clear gain of £38 5s. 5d. on the year's working. The association has apparently reached the high-water mark of prosperity, having a capital balance of upwards of £170. Heartiest thanks are accorded to those patrons and hon. members whose generous support has enabled the association to reach this goal. Grants to Church Bell Restoration Funds have been made to the following places: Castle Donington (£25), West Hallam (£3 3s.), Orston (£3 3s.), Belgrave (£5 5s.).

During the year 143 peals were rung for the association, and although this is a smaller total than the 149 rung during 1922, the variety and quality of methods undoubtedly show improvement. As an instance of this it may be mentioned that three quite distinct bands rang London Surprise. The great bulk of the peals have been rung in the Leicester district, as is shown by the fact that four Leicester members are credited during 1923 with totals of 59, 49, 45 and 42 M.C.A. peals each, respectively. Peals in Surprise methods increased from 30.8 per cent. to 34.2 per cent., and on eight or more bells, from 58.4 per cent. to 67.8 per cent. Three new methods were added to the peal list: Princess Mary Surprise Royal and New Cambridge Surprise Royal at Leicester, and Rutland Surprise Major at Bolsover. The membership roll on December 31st, 1923, was: Patrons and hon. members, 222; ringing members, 736; total, 958.

DISTRICT MEETINGS.

A meeting of the Derby district was held at Wirksworth on Saturday, April 26th, members being present from Derby and Duffield, together with the local company, numbering about twenty. Owing to the weather conditions a few members were deterred from making the journey. Wirksworth, situate about 13 miles from Derby, is a pretty little market town, and is the terminus of the branch line of the L. M. and S. Railway from Duffield, the latter place at one time famous in ringing history.

The eight bells of St. Mary's Church were kept going in various methods, including Kent Treble Boh Major, Plain Bob, Stedman and Grandsire Triples, and a few of the younger members secured their first touch in these methods.—At the business meeting a vote of thanks to the clergy for granting the use of the bells, and to the local ringers for making arrangements for the meeting, was carried unanimously.

It was decided that the next monthly meeting be held at Castle Donington on Saturday, May 31st.

A most enjoyable afternoon and evening was spent at the Loughborough District Meeting of the Midland Counties Association at Whitwick on Saturday, April 26th. Ringers were present from Loughborough, Shepshed, Hugglescote, Ashby-de-la-Zouch, and the local tower. Touches of Stedman Doubles and Triples and Grandsire Triples and Boh Major were brought round.

The Rector conducted the service, and gave an address.

The meeting was held in the Schoolroom, when Messrs. John Albert Walton and Wallace Burton were elected ringing members, and the Rector an honorary member.

After the meeting, the ringers enjoyed a bountiful tea given by the Rector, to whom a hearty vote of thanks were given.

STEBBING RINGERS' FESTIVAL.

The annual festival organised by the Stebbing, Essex, ringers was attended by about 60 members of the Essex Association and friends from Brainree, Felsted, Great Bardfield, Dunmow, Rayne, and Stebbing. After a service at the Parish Church, at which an address was given by the Rev. C. E. Livesey, Vicar, the company adjourned to the Parish Room, where tea was provided by local ladies. The Vicar presided, supported by Mr. C. H. Howard, Master of the Essex Association; Mr. L. Wiffen, District Master, and Mr. W. H. Dyson, hon. sec., North-Eastern district; and Messrs. J. T. Barker and Stock, churchwardens.—Mr. Howard, proposing thanks to the Vicar, and to the ladies for providing tea, commented on the kindly welcome which the ringers received, and the pleasure it gave to visit the well-kept church at Stebbing, with its stone screen, considered to be the finest in Essex. Stebbing depended solely on agriculture, and the way in which the church was cared for denoted self-sacrifice by the parishioners.

The Vicar, in reply, said the church, previous to the Reformation, was closely associated with the social life of the people, as was shown by the recreation and amusements it provided after holy days. The present year would witness the 600th anniversary of Stebbing Church, and a week's commemoration would be held in July, when the Bishops of Chelmsford and Colchester and three previous Vicars of Stebbing would take part. A pageant was being written for production on the vicarage lawn.

During the evening there were songs by Mr. M. E. Hammond, Mr. C. G. Cargill, and Mrs. Haslen, handbell ringing by Brainree and Stebbing ringers, and touches on the church bells, including London Surprise.

CLEVELAND AND NORTH YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION. SUNDAY SERVICE RINGING SCHEME DRAFTED.

A general meeting of the Cleveland and North Yorkshire Association was held at Robin Hood's Bay on Easter Monday, and as this place is not one of the best to reach either by train or road, it was a most gratifying surprise to the officials to see such a good attendance of ringers, who were present from Tadcaster, Middlesbrough, Whitby, Newcastle, Shildon, Saltburn, Stockton, Scarborough, and the local company. The bells, a beautiful peal of eight, recast and rehung in a new iron frame by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston in the early part of 1914, were set going shortly after 9 a.m., and kept going until about 7 p.m. in Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major, Kent Major, Double Norwich and Superlative Surprise Major. A short service was held in the church at noon, and dinner was provided at the Victoria Hotel, the company numbering 54. The president (the Rev. A. Simpson) was supported by the Vicar (the Rev. H. Robson, M.A.), the wardens, the vice-presidents (Mr. G. F. Alexander, Mr. J. W. Passman), and the secretary (Mr. T. Metcalfe).

The loyal toast was honoured, and the President, in proposing a vote of thanks to the Vicar for his address to the ringers, thanked him most heartily for the interest shown in ringers' work. He also thanked the wardens and the organist for officiating at the organ during the service.—The Vicar, in reply, welcomed the association to Robin Hood's Bay, and hoped that meetings like those would come round oftener. He hoped the association would not be long before they could arrange another meeting there, by which time he hoped the Vicarage, now undergoing alterations and repairs, would be completed, so that he could ask them to look round and have a cup of tea with them.

Nine new members were elected, including the Vicar of Robin Hood's Bay as an hon. member; two life members from Tadcaster; two life members from Gosforth, Newcastle-on-Tyne; and four performing yearly members.

The committee appointed at the last annual meeting, to consider and report to the next meeting the Sunday Service ringing scheme, presented their report, which it was hoped each belfry would consider, so that it could be got into working order, and adopted at the annual meeting to be held at Middlesbrough on Whit-Monday next, June 8th.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

THE CLOSING OF QUEENBOROUGH TOWER.

The half-yearly meeting of the Rochester district was held at Hartlip, on Saturday, April 26th, and owing to the threatening weather only a small number attended, apart from the local band, about 20 ringers putting in an appearance. What was lacking in numbers, however, was made up for in other ways, as the ringing was good, the service hearty and bright, the tea very enjoyable, and the business short and unanimous. Ringing commenced soon after three, and methods from Stedman Doubles to Cambridge Surprise rung. The association service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. W. H. Creaton). The organist and a full choir attended, also a few villagers. The Vicar gave an excellent ringers' address, and at the close tea was partaken of in the schoolroom adjoining, over 40 sitting down to a repast, which had been admirably catered for by lady helpers of the church.

After tea, Colonel Locke presented to the Vicar, for the church, a history of the bells at Hartlip, which gave full particulars of the first castings—and subsequent recastings—together with all inscriptions on the bells. This had been handsomely inscribed and framed, and the Vicar promised it should be hung in a prominent place in the church.

The Vicar presided at the business meeting, and was supported by Mr. Luck, churchwarden, Colonel Locke, Messrs. Haigh and Spice (district representatives), and the district secretary (Mr. F. M. Mitchell). Two new members were elected, one non-resident, who was proposed previous to a peal, and Swanscombe was unanimously chosen as the next meeting-place, in July.

The Secretary read the correspondence which had passed between the Vicar of Queenborough and himself, arising out of the proposed visit, from which it appeared that the Queenborough tower had been closed owing to three or four of the ringers not regularly attending church. The secretary had written regretting the Vicar's drastic action, and said he hoped they would soon re-form a band so that the bells might be heard again.—His action was approved of by the meeting.

Mr. F. Mitchell proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, for his address, and presiding over the meeting; to the organist and choir for their attendance, and to the ladies who had so kindly arranged the tea.—The Vicar, in responding, said how pleased they were to have a visit of the association, and remarked on the contrast of Hartlip to Queenborough. All his adult choristers were ringers, and nearly all the ringers choristers, and most regular in their attendance. He did not entirely approve of the action of the Vicar at the latter place in closing the tower; if he were not satisfied he would 'close' the ringer—not the tower.

After the meeting the tower was again visited, and Rainham bells were also available, where standard methods were rung.

THE PEALS ANALYSIS.

The labours of the Peals Analysis Committee of the Central Council for more than a year past will be found concentrated in the tables and report which we print in this issue, and will provide our readers, not only with a fund of information, but with material for much study, if they would compare what was done in peal ringing in 1923 with the results of 1922. These annual statistics, with the commentary of the report, are full of interest to the ringer who has any more than a purely selfish interest in peal ringing. They are a useful index to the progress made in the art, by individual societies as well as by the Exercise as a whole, for, while the principal duty of ringers is in connection with the services of the church, it cannot be denied that peal ringing is one of the best indications of their capabilities.

This analysis, which was originally privately published, has been officially compiled by the Central Council for many years past, and, to those gentlemen responsible for the actual work, the Exercise is greatly indebted, for the labour involved is really colossal. It is spread right over the year during which the peals are rung and through the months which follow, for the final tabulation cannot, of course, be completed until the last of the records has appeared. We doubt if any but those who have actually taken part in the work can fully realise all that is involved in the task, and it is fortunate for the Exercise that the Central Council can find men able and willing to devote so much time to this matter. And not only is it a question of giving the necessary time. Infinite pains are required in the sorting out of details, for without accuracy the analysis would be useless. The report is itself a monument to the Committee's work, and the records of the Exercise would be much less complete without it.

It is impossible here to touch on the many points of interest which are revealed in the analysis, but it is pleasing to be able to note that, reckoned in points, the peals rung show an increase in the quality of the methods. It is a singular fact that the number of peals was exactly the same as in the preceding year. The aggregate of points is, however, 31,538, against 30,362 in 1922, and the average per peal is thus increased from 16.1 to 16.736. Twelve-bell peals have increased, but there was a falling off in the number of ten-bell peals by no fewer than 36, and while Surprise peals on ten and twelve bells are down by 12, Surprise Major peals have leapt up by no fewer than 39. On the other hand, comparing the figures with those of 1922, these Surprise Major methods were rung by only 25 associations, whereas the lower number of the previous year was spread over 29 societies. This seems to be the least encouraging feature of the year's peal ringing, but in most respects the analysis fully justifies the Committee's comment that, in view of the general conditions which have prevailed, the Exercise is in a very healthy condition.

SPLICED SURPRISE MAJOR.A PEAL OF CAMBRIDGE AND SUPERLATIVE.

MR. J. W. PARKER'S REMARKABLE PRODUCTION.

Ever since the possibility of splicing methods has been realised, composers have sought to join up the Surprise Major methods, but without success; indeed it was generally considered that the false-ness which must occur would inevitably preclude any true peal in, at any rate, the old and best known methods.

But even this field of what many thought to be fruitless research has at length been conquered, and once again the Exercise owes another forward step in the practice of change ringing to the genius of Mr. Joseph W. Parker, of Sunderland, who only a few weeks ago published in our columns an article showing how peals combining Stedman and Erin Triples could be obtained in symmetrical courses.

Mr. Parker has opened up a new phase in ringing, and in obtaining a peal of Spliced Surprise Major has given not only ringers, but composers, something to think about. To get this peal he has not had to find two methods with clean proof scales, but has spliced together Cambridge and Superlative! Both methods are rung in every course; neither method is exclusively used at any particular lead, although it will be seen that Cambridge is rung mostly in the first three leads, and Superlative in the last three, and what strikes us as being remarkable is that the peal is made up of exactly the same number of changes from each method.

The peal has been rung by the Whitley Bay band, who are to be congratulated upon having added one more to their many successes, and it is quite certain that if other bands take up this advanced form of method ringing they will find in it something that will tax their capabilities, and, we imagine, add to the interest of their peals.

The leads in each course to be rung as

The leads as shown give 2528 of each method. The 4th leads may be rung in either method, but all the others must be strictly adhered to, or falseness will occur.

The composition also runs true to Superlative only, but not Cambridge.

First rung as printed above at St. Paul's Church, Whitley Bay, conducted by J. A. Gofton.

TERLING BELLS REHUNG.

The beautiful old peal of five bells in the Church of All Saints, Terling, Essex, have been rehung by Mr. Alfred Bowell, of Ipswich. The work has been admirably carried out. It was proposed to add a new treble bell to make a ring of six, and it is a great pity that funds were not forthcoming to carry out the whole work. Mr. Bowell has, however, so rehung the existing five bells that a new treble bell can be easily added, and it is hoped this will be done in the near future.

NOISY RINGING CHAMBERS.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—After our bells were recast a few years ago we had the same trouble as your correspondent, viz., too much noise; in fact, we could not hear the bobs called unless we put wadding in our ears. We have had this altered in a way I can recommend, by having a new floor put in 18 inches below the old one. The material used is 3-ply oak about 1-inch thick put together in panels about 4ft. square, and covered on top with sound proof felt about 1-inch thick. This has made a very satisfactory job, and looks well. Our tenor is 25½ cwt., and the ringing chamber is about 20ft. by 18ft. by about 18ft. high. I think that to leave the air space between the floors does more to reduce the sound than filling it up with wool.—Yours faithfully,
J. H. BFD.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.SUPPORT OF THE CLERGY.

The annual meeting of Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association was held at Swindon on May 10th. The beautiful toned peal of ten at Christ Church recently opened were available from 1 p.m. until 4 p.m., and made full use of.

The management committee meeting was held at the King's Arms Hotel in the afternoon, after which a service was held at the Parish Church, conducted by the Rev. Bodycomb, in the absence, through ill-health, of the Vicar (Canon Mayall). The address was given by the Vice-President (the Ven. the Archdeacon of Swindon), who made reference to the great and successful effort of Mr. E. Bishop in raising funds for the new bells at the Parish Church.

Tea was prepared at the King's Arms Hotel, and 72 sat down, including five clergy.

At the business meeting which followed, the balance sheet was unanimously adopted, and its completion in time for that meeting was a pleasing feature.

All the officers were re-elected, and the remaining business successfully carried through.

A vote of thanks to the Ven. Archdeacon of Swindon for attending the meeting was proposed, and carried unanimously, and in response, the Ven. Archdeacon stated that he was agreeably surprised at the remarkably businesslike way in which the association was conducted. He was very glad to have been with them that day.

Votes of thanks to the Rev. Bodycombe, the organist, Mr. E. Bishop and Mr. Hearn, concluded the business.

The next annual meeting is to be held at Tewkesbury on Easter Monday, 1925.

THE SHERWOOD YOUTHS.REVIVAL OF AN OLD SOCIETY.

An inaugural meeting of the Society of Sherwood Youths was held at the Albert Hotel, Nottingham, on Saturday evening, and attended by a number of Nottingham and district ringers. The meeting was presided over by Mr. A. Coppock, local vice-president of the M.C.A., supported by Mr. F. Blood, hon. local secretary, M.C.A., and representatives from St. Mary and St. Peter's, Nottingham; Beeston, Ilkeston and Cotgrave.

The Chairman, in opening the meeting, explained that the idea was to revive the old society in order to keep green the memory of the late William Doubleday Crofts, to provide a meeting-place for social intercourse and handbell ringing, and to encourage combined practices in the district.

On being put to the meeting, it was unanimously decided to form the society. The election of officers then resulted as follows: Master, Mr. A. Coppock; hon. secretary, Mr. F. Blood; treasurer, Mr. W. A. Jones; steward, Mr. F. W. Bailey.

The place of meeting and amount of the subscription were then considered, and suggestions made as to how the society can be made of benefit to the district.

Eventually these details were left in the hands of the committee to discuss and draft rules, etc., and report at the next meeting.

Several touches were afterwards rung upon handbells, the meeting altogether being a success. It is hoped soon to attempt a peal at St. Mary's Church, Nottingham, where the late W. D. Crofts was the leader.

THE PEAL AT THE IMPERIAL INSTITUTE.To the Editor.

Sir,—Referring to the above peal, and to Mr. Frank Smith's letter in this week's paper, his right to represent the county of Middlesex in the peal has not been questioned, and is not likely to be as far as I am concerned.

But whatever he may have been asked when he received his invitation to ring does not appear to me to matter, seeing that the official record of the peal shows him to represent the Middlesex County Association. That it was the intention that ringers in the peal should represent associations is proved by the fact that one member of the band was elected to the Sussex Association before starting for the peal (as stated on page 281 of 'The Ringing World' for May 2nd), and also because that particular ringer does not live in Sussex, and could not, therefore, represent that county.—Yours faithfully,
C. T. COLES, Joint Hon. Sec.,
Middlesex County Association.

P.S.—It would be interesting to know, quite apart from the above, if it is in order to elect a ringer to membership of an association, prior to starting for a peal for another association.

LADIES' GUILD.

An enjoyable practice of the Western District was held on Saturday at Coalpit Heath. The bells, a new ring of six by Taylor, of Loughborough, went beautifully, and touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles and Rob Minor were rung.

At the invitation of the Vicar, a party of twelve sat down to an excellent tea. Members will be notified of the arrangements for the annual meeting in July.

SECURITY OF TENURE.

To the Editor.

Sir,—The above seems better as a heading for the subject of which your excellent article on May 16th deals than 'Strikes and Lock-outs.' It not only sounds better, but it defines the point on which both ringers and clergy desire assurance.

As such an assurance is at least as much a benefit to the parish priest as to any individual ringer, I do not share your doubt as to our being able to include the clergy in such a scheme as you propose.

Supposing every association printed the following note at the end of their rules:—

SECURITY OF TENURE.—No ringer likes to feel that he may be excluded from the practice of an art to which he has devoted much time and labour. On the other hand, no parish priest would like to find that some Sunday the accustomed ringing was omitted, morning or evening.

Therefore, everyone who joins this association, ringer or clergyman, pledges himself by so doing, not to take any action which would interfere with the regularity of the ringing, until the difficulty which has arisen has been laid before their association. This last paragraph might well be repeated on each receipt form. Two results would be involved: every band would make most strenuous efforts to get all the clergy enrolled as members. At present some do not trouble about this. The result is that most clergy know little or nothing of our associations; if most of them were members few difficulties would arise.

And the associations would have to admit the clergy, whether ringers or not, for the same subscription as ringers. This would be in itself an excellent thing, and encourage the clergy to take an interest in ringing.

Will your readers, clergy and ringers, let us know what they think of this?

Ufford Rectory.

HERBERT DRAKE.

DEATH OF AN AUGHTON RINGER.

SECRETARY OF FORMER LIVERPOOL DIOCESAN GUILD.

The death of Mr. William Bentham, one of the ringers at Christ Church, Aughton, near Ormskirk, Lancashire, took place on Wednesday, May 7th, after a brief illness. Mr. Bentham, who was in his 67th year, had retired on superannuation about a year ago, with the good wishes of his employer, the L. M. and S. Railway Co. He had been a ringer at Christ Church for over 40 years, and was, in conjunction with the late Rev. W. T. Bulpitt, ringing secretary of the Liverpool Diocesan Guild, from its birth to the time of its amalgamation with the Lancashire Association. Previous to living at Aughton he had been a ringer at Wigan Parish Church, and owed his early instruction in the art to the late Mr. Jos. Prescott, of St. Peter's, Hindley. He was an excellent striker, and had conducted many peals of Grandsire Triples, as well as taking part in many peals in the other standard methods.

The funeral took place at Christ Church on Saturday, May 10th, in the presence of a large number of friends and parishioners, and also many officials, etc., of the L. M. and S. Rly. Co. Messrs. W. Fairclough, H. J. Morley, James Marsh and W. H. Gibbons, ringers at Christ Church, acted as bearers, and among the many beautiful floral tributes which covered the coffin was one in the form of a bell from his fellow ringers. Muffled touches were rung before and after the service, the local ringers being assisted by Messrs. E. Caunce (Liverpool) and H. Fyles (Halsall). An attempt for a muffled peal unfortunately came to grief, after 2 hrs. and 45 mins. ringing.

BARNESLEY AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

The monthly meeting was held at Cawthorne on Saturday, May 10th. This village is very popular for a ringers' meeting, for all around the church everything is pleasing. There was ringing during the afternoon, and a large party gathered for tea.

A short business meeting followed. The Vicar (the Rev. W. A. Woolley) was present, and offered a hearty welcome to the association, and further expressed the wish to gain knowledge that would help him to strengthen the ties of fellowship that exist between church and ringers.

The Chairman (Mr. Wm. Reyner), on behalf of the ringers, thanked the Vicar for his warm welcome and kindly interest, and suggested as a stimulus the introduction of new blood into the art. Young men from the church should be introduced to the senior members, for their example and knowledge to be copied and emulated.

Sympathy was expressed towards two members, Messrs. Fish and E. Crossland, of Cawthorne, who are seriously ill, and it was hoped that their recovery may be speedy and complete.

Mention was made of the forthcoming cup contest at Hoylandswaine, particulars of which will be given later.—A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar, churchwardens, and local company, for the excellent arrangements.

PRESENTATION AT PORTISHEAD.

At St. Peter's belfry, Portishead, on Tuesday, May 13th, the captain, Mr. W. Gillingham, had a very pleasant surprise. A few of the former ringers wished to show their appreciation to their captain, and this took the form of an illuminated address framed in oak, and a handsome silver-mounted umbrella bearing the recipient's name.

The Rev. H. S. Briggs and Mrs. Grieves presented these tokens to Mr. Gillingham, and the address read as follows: 'Presented to Mr. W. Gillingham by his former pupils of Portishead belfry as a token of their affection and gratitude towards him.—Mary E. N. Briggs, Mabel G. N. Grieves, Edith M. Harvey, Mary G. Staley, Henry S. Briggs, Charles O. Grieves.'

Mr. Briggs spoke of the pleasure it had been to them to be members of the band for a number of years, and referred to the regular ringing for every Sunday service year by year, which was maintained by Mr. Gillingham's untiring energy. He hoped the forthcoming years would be as successful as the previous ones had been.

Mr. Gillingham, in expressing thanks and great surprise, said it had been a pleasure to have such apt pupils, and he regretted they were unable to continue their valuable help. His mind went back to the time of the commencement of their eight bell ringing. The two trebles were added in 1897 entirely by the efforts of the ringers, and Mr. Nisbet had been, then as now, his faithful colleague. Mr. T. Doble hung the two new bells which came from the Loughborough foundry, and the band deeply regretted to hear of Mr. Doble's sudden death, which took place quite recently.

It might be added that two of Mr. Gillingham's pupils took part in the first ladies' peal which was rung at Cubitt Town in 1913, also that his band of ladies rang the first peal for the Ladies' Guild at Portishead in 1915, the three first mentioned on the presentation address taking part. Of these events he is very proud.

The Portishead band read with great pleasure the account of the peal of Stedman which was rung at Old Windsor on May 10th, and offer their heartiest congratulations to the eight ladies on their splendid achievement.

WORCESTERSHIRE AND DISTRICTS ASSOCIATION.

SOUTHERN BRANCH AT OVERBURY.

On Saturday, May 10th, the Southern Branch of the Worcestershire and Districts Association held the spring meeting at Overbury, and in spite of the inclement weather, and the fact that the village is only accessible by road, the attendance was well up to the average, nearly fifty members being present.

The bells were well utilised throughout the afternoon and evening in various Minor methods, and Doubles rung for the beginners. The association's special form of service was held in the Parish Church, at which the Vicar (the Rev. W. Lea) gave an interesting address, taking for his text, 1 Cor. ix. 16, 'Woe is unto me if I preach not the Gospel.' A collection, taken on behalf of the Rowley Regis Church and Bell Restoration Fund, realised 14s.

Tea, provided by the generosity of the Vicar, was partaken of in the Village Hall, and at the subsequent business meeting he presided, supported by the Revs. T. P. O'Connor (curate of Overbury), G. W. Webb (curate of Breidons Norton), J. A. B. Mercier (Rector of Kemerton), D. Fitzmaurice (Vicar of Hampton), and Messrs. J. Hemming, J. D. Johnson and J. Hall (branch officers).—It was decided, subject to the approval of the Rev. G. H. B. Greening, to hold the summer meeting at Offenham, and to attempt the quarterly peal at Overbury, with Mr. O. Attwood as conductor.

An interesting and encouraging feature of the meeting was the number of young ringers nominated for membership, no less than two honorary and fourteen performing members being elected.

On the proposition of Mr. C. A. Binyon, a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar for the use of the bells, his address, providing tea, and presiding at the meeting; and to all who had assisted in making the meeting such a success.—The reverend gentlemen present briefly replied in turn, and a selection of popular airs, and a touch of Erin Cinques on the handbells, brought a most successful and enjoyable afternoon to a close.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The Southern district of the London County Association held a splendid meeting at St. Stephen's, Clapham Park, on Saturday. The church, which is situated in a quiet secluded spot, has a fine peal of eight on which a company of over 30 enjoyed ringing during the afternoon. Tea was served in the Church Room attached to the Vicarage, and a routine business meeting followed.

At the conclusion a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Rev. G. H. Ensor (Vicar) for the use of the bells, and also for the sumptuous tea he provided. After the business a move was made to the church again, and the Vicar gave permission for an extra hour's ringing. Some good touches were accomplished, Stedman, Cambridge, and the other methods being rung. The ringers came from different parts of London, and some from outside the London area, which speaks well for the popularity of the tower, and also of the district.

ILMINSTER RINGER'S FIFTY YEARS' RINGING

An interesting function took place at Ilminster, Somerset, after the peal rung on the 10th inst., when Mr. Harry Raison was presented with a gold badge inscribed, 'Presented to Harry Raison by his brother ringers, May 10th, 1924—fifty years a ringer,' to commemorate the completion of fifty years' ringing. He commenced ringing at Puckington Church, three miles from Ilminster, half a century ago, and 32 years ago joined the Ilminster band, which was then being initiated into the art of change ringing. Of the members then constituting the company three remain to this day, and all three were in the peal, the other two were the ringers of the treble and fourth bells.

The writer took up ringing in 1898, and can vouch for the fact that Mr. Raison has been a most regular attendant at both practice and service ringing on Sundays. He has always been found at the back end, and though he has only scored three peals it has been due more to want of opportunity than lack of desire. Owing to the position of the church peal ringing is not encouraged.

After completing the peal, the party was joined by the other members of the Ilminster band, and sat down to a spread at which the presentation was made.—Mr. Raison suitably responded, and said it had come as a complete surprise to him. It had been his one idea to score a peal on the occasion.

It was suggested that the party might adjourn to Puckington, and have a pull there, as being an appropriate finish to the proceedings. Cars were chartered, and the whole party went merrily off in spite of a downpour of rain which had lasted practically the whole day. Here the conductor of the peal, Mr. J. T. Dyke (Midsomer Norton) initiated some of the company into the mysteries of Oxford Bob Minor and College Single, and touches of Plain Bob and Grandsire were also rung.

YOUNG RINGER'S 50 PEALS.

Few young ringers can claim 50 peals while still only 16 years of age, and the half-century which has been completed by Jeffery R. Gammon is an extraordinarily good record. This promising ringer was a pupil of Mr. T. H. Taffender, Master of the London County Association, and the following is the list of his peals: Grandsire Cinques 1, Bob Royal 1, Kent Treble Bob Major 5, Royal 5, Maximus 1, Stedman Triples 12, Caters 10 (including 6 on handbells), Cinques 5 (2 on handbells), Cambridge Surprise Major 7, Royal 1, London Surprise Major 2.

MR. JOHN FLINT'S 400 PEALS.

The peal of Rutland Surprise Major rung at Bolsover on Saturday, April 26th, was Mr. John Flint's 400th peal, a considerable number of which he has conducted. They have been rung in exactly 100 towers in 25 counties. The following is the list:—

BELFRY GOSSIP.

'Many happy returns' to Mr. George Williams, Master of the Winchester Diocesan Guild, who will celebrate his 67th birthday on Tuesday.

The first peal at Gainsborough was rung 'on the new peal of eight bells,' on Whit Tuesday, May 24th, 1768, 'by the Nottingham band of Sherwood Youths.' This was 'Mr. Holt's true whole peal,' and the bobs were called by J. S. Canner. There is still a board in the tower recording this peal, and beneath the record are the words, 'Labor omnia vincit.'

The first peal of Stedman Caters (albeit a false one) was rung at Horsley Down Church, London, on May 28th, 1787.

The first Surprise peal out of England—Superlative—was rung at Bray, Ireland, on May 28th, 1801.

On May 28th, 1912, the present Bristol Surprise record was set up, when the peal of 15,264 was rung by the Middlesex Association, at Hornchurch, Essex, in 9 hrs. 49 mins., conducted by Mr. W. Pye. Another 'lucky' peal has to be recorded. A 5,024 of Bob Major was rung at Stanford-on-Soar, Notts, on Saturday, and, when the bells were lowered, the 7th rope broke at the first pull.

A peal of Double Norwich Major was rung at Bolton on Friday, and was the first peal in the method by Fred P. Rigby, who rang the 2nd. This young man rang his first touch in change ringing on May 13th, 1923, and in just a year has rung six peals in six methods—and he has not yet left school. There is promising material here.

A peal was rung at Wrentham, Suffolk, on Thursday, to celebrate the 57th anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Naunton. Mr. Naunton, who is the 'father' of change ringing in that part of Suffolk, is 80 years of age, and has been a ringer at the Parish Church, Wrentham, for over 50 years. Owing, however, to ill-health he was compelled to give up ringing at the end of February. We hope, however, he may yet sufficiently recover to return to his place in the belfry.

At the Easter Vestry, at Feering, Essex, Mr. C. J. Rogers, a ringer at All Saints' Church, was elected people's warden.

As we mentioned in this column last week, it is 50 years since Mr. Sam Wood, of Ashton-under-Lyne, rang his first peal. He took part on Saturday at Macclesfield in the first twelve-bell peal in Cheshire, and it is just fifty years since his father conducted a peal in that tower.

STEDMAN CINQUES BY WIRELESS.

Special arrangements are being made to broadcast two courses of Stedman Cinques from St. Martin's, Birmingham, on Sunday. This is to be done as the prelude to a broadcast service from 8 o'clock to 8.30 p.m. The bells will be rung from 7.45 p.m., by the Sunday Service band. In previous broadcasting of this kind, bells have only been chimed, and this, it is believed, is the first time that the actual ringing of church bells has been transmitted by wireless. A microphone is to be specially fixed for the bells.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

To the Editor.

Sir,—It is high time that someone took hold of the reins in the E. Berks and S. Bucks branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. There has been nothing arranged by the branch secretary since Easter Monday, 1923.

The only gatherings have been one at Beaconsfield in 1923, arranged by Mr. J. C. Mayne, and at which a good suggestion was made for another at Farnham Royal and Stoke Poges in two months' time, but which was allowed to fall through owing to the branch secretary's shortcomings; and another at Bray on Easter Monday of this year, which was apparently arranged by the Master, and the Vicar and ringers of Bray.

When is the annual meeting to be held?

WISBECH BELLS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—In the account of the attempted peal at Wisbech in your issue of to-day I see it stated that the back eight bells are by Wm. Dobson, and the two trebles by Mears. Have the latter two bells been recast? The whole peal of ten were cast by Dobson, originally in 1823. I have the rubbings of the inscriptions at this moment before me, and find that both trebles were inscribed alike, viz., 'William Dobson, Downham, Norfolk, fecit, 1823.' I have never heard of their being recast; but, of course, this may be the case.

I have not rung in Wisbech since the 'seventies.' And, as far as I remember, when I was last in the belfry, the trebles had no ropes on them, and were never used, because it was said that they could not be heard distinctly outside.

I shall be glad of any information on the matter.—Yours, etc.,
May 16th, 1924. J. R. JERRAM.

REPORT OF THE ANALYSIS COMMITTEE
FOR THE YEAR 1923.

The anticipations of your committee, expressed in last year's report, have not been realised if the number of peals only is taken into account. A further increase was expected, but the figures show the singular fact that exactly the same number of peals have been rung as in 1922.

This does not necessarily mean lack of progress, for abnormal conditions undoubtedly exist. Business needs increased attention, and it is known that for this reason many ringers, whose names frequently appeared in the peal columns, are unable to organise or take part in so many peals. Again, peals away from home entail expense, and with unemployment so rife, the number of these must be considerably curtailed.

Taking all the circumstances into account, it may be truly said that the report shows the Exercise to be in a real live condition, and that the return of better times will mark the beginning of a great advance.

While the total number of peals is 1,885 (the same as in 1922), the tower bell peals are slightly increased, being 1,728, as against 1,716, the handbell peals with a corresponding decrease being 157 against 169; the following table showing the totals for the year:—

Caters	97	14
Major	683	65
Triples	435	38
Minor	316	8

Total	1728	157

Comparing this with the year 1922, it is seen that 12-bell peals have increased by 15, those on 10 bells have decreased by 36, Major peals are 65 more, Triples are 32 less, and Minor and Doubles have decreased by 11.

The greatest number of peals has been rung by the Kent County Association, with 155 tower bell and three handbell peals, equalling 2,329 points, while the most points have been scored by the Midland Counties Association with 3,127 for 144 peals, including four on handbells. The first named shows an increase of 39 peals, and 530 points over 1922, the Midland Counties having five peals less, but 373 points more. Two other societies have rung over 100 peals, as follows: The Norfolk Guild, 134 peals, including 15 on handbells, equalling 1,774 points; and the Lancashire Association, 125 peals, including one on handbells, and 1,979 points. Taking the first of these as the survivor of the Norwich and Ipswich Association, these are the same four societies which rang over 100 peals in 1922.

The Ancient Society of College Youths has the highest average of points per peal, with 30.83 for 40 peals, including three on handbells. The Middlesex County Association is second with an average of 27.75 for 76 peals, including six on handbells, and the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association has dropped to third's place with 25.2 for 20 peals, including four on handbells.

The most encouraging feature revealed by the analysis is the continued increase in the number of Surprise peals. Although those rung on 10 and 12 bells have decreased by 12, the Major peals of Surprise are 39 more than last year. London shows an increase of three peals, Bristol 10, Cambridge 12, Superlative 11, other methods three. The greater interest in these top class methods, giving as it does a higher average of points per peal, is sufficient to show that the Exercise is in a progressive condition.

Included in the Surprise methods rung are one each of Middlesex and Princess Mary Royal, four peals of Yorkshire, and one each of Palatine, Edinburgh, Lancashire, Rutland and Norfolk Major.

205 peals of Treble Bob have been rung, made up as follows:—Six of Kent Maximus, 24 of Kent and four of Oxford Royal, 145 of Kent, 19 of Oxford, and seven Spliced peals of Major; these figures differing but slightly from last year.

Double Norwich with 150 peals also shows very little change, but Plain Bob has increased by 20 peals to a total of 187, and Little Bob with five peals remains the same.

Coming to odd numbers, Cinques, Caters and Triples, with the exception of three peals, i.e., one of Erin Caters, and one each of Court Bob and Bob Triples, the whole of them were rung in the two standard methods, Stedman and Grandsire. These methods again run a close race for supremacy, but the fact that Stedman is now at the top with 343 peals, an increase of 11, against 297 of Grandsire, is certainly a mark of improvement.

New methods have been rung as follows: Princess Mary Surprise Royal, and Rutland, Edinburgh and Palatine Surprise Major. Little Bob Maximus has also been accomplished, and Cambridge Court Bob Major was rung for the first time on tower bells.

The outstanding peal of the year is undoubtedly the practically perfect of 12,675 of Stedman Cinques rung by the College Youths at Southwark Cathedral; following this was the record length (17,280) of Kent Treble Bob Major rung by the Chester Guild, the record length (12,896 changes) of Cambridge Surprise Major by the Midland Counties Association, and the record of Cambridge Surprise Royal (10,440 changes) by the Middlesex Association.

Other lengths over 7,000 are three peals of Kent Treble Bob Major, being 7,008, 7,488 and 9,344 changes, by the Chester Guild; 10,912 of Kent Treble Bob Major and 7,008 Cambridge Surprise Major by the Midland Counties Association, and 7,360 of Kent Major by the Stoke Association.

Apart from the number of changes, there are many other noteworthy performances, but space forbids the mention of them all in detail. Briefly, to refer to a few, we notice a spliced peal of three methods of Plain Major; Stedman Caters, being the first peal in hand by all, and first of Stedman Caters as conductor; a peal of Bob Major where two of the band had each lost an arm in the war; the first peal of Major by a police band; Grandsire Caters, being the first in the method by all and rung at the first attempt; a handbell peal by three generations of one family; and a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major, being the first in the method by all. It must also be noted that the first handbell peal in a train was rung by the Royal Cumberland Youths.

As shown by the table, six-bell ringers have fallen back a little in the number of peals. The decrease of 11 is all in Minor, Doubles being the same number as last year. Here again the decrease is compensated for by an advance in quality, and the peals include one of 10,080 by the Bedfordshire Association, and 7,200 by the Lincoln Diocesan Guild.

The Chester Diocesan Guild has given us the most remarkable performance in Minor ringing, their total including three peals of seven extents, consisting of 29, 30 and 35 methods, respectively.

The names of conductors of five peals and over are as follows, the number of handbell peals being shown in brackets:—47 peals, A. H. Pulling (23); 31 peals, W. H. J. Hooton (22); 29 peals, F. Bennett; 28 peals, J. H. Cheesman, H. J. Poole (2); 26 peals, R. Sperring; 25 peals, E. Jenkins (5); 24 peals, W. Pye (2); 22 peals, G. H. Cross (3); 19 peals, T. H. Taffender (1); 18 peals, W. R. Lilley, J. Lord, J. Potter, J. H. Riding, J. Thomas (6); 6 peals, E. M. Atkins (3), W. H. Barber (1), R. F. Elkington, J. Fernley, W. Fisher, J. Flint, T. T. Goffon (4), Bert Gogle, L. Head, E. G. Hibbins, S. T. Holt, J. D. Johnson (3), W. F. Judge, A. E. Norman (2), H. R. Pasmore, F. W. Perrens (1), W. Rogers, E. Whiting; 5 peals, W. B. Cartwright, P. Crook, F. W. Dixon, A. E. Edwards, J. A. Freeman, G. Gilbert, L. A. Goodenough, A. Greenfield, J. R. Griffin, T. Groombridge, senr., H. L. Hariow, W. H. Hewett, F. J. Lewis, H. Ludkin, W. Page, W. Poston, R. Richardson, F. Skevington.

In addition there were 34 conductors of four peals (11), 49 of three peals (12), 96 of two peals (6), and 271 of one peal (5), the remaining peal being non-conducted.

The number of lady conductors included in these figures is one more than last year, and they have increased the number of peals called by three. Miss E. K. Parker has conducted three peals, including Stedman Caters; Miss Nellie Johnson, two handbell peals, including one of Kent Royal; Miss A. Parkins (now Mrs. Richardson); and Miss Hilda F. Willson, one each. The reverend gentlemen have fallen off as conductors, there being only four, as against six last year. Three performances by young conductors may be specially mentioned, W. P. Whitehead and T. W. Taffender having called a peal each at the age of 15, and H. J. Poole conducted 28 peals, including the difficult 12,896 of Cambridge Surprise Major.

The following table compares the number of peals rung each month during the years 1922 and 1923:—

	1922	1923		1922	1923
January	120	147	July	134	80
February	181	145	August	175	134
March	124	145	September	158	147
April	162	195	October	165	192
May	137	153	November	174	153
June	120	154	December	235	240
				1885	1885

It is at once seen from this that the energy shown during the dog days of 1922 was not repeated the following year.

The number of peals rung on the Saturdays was 1,034, Sunday peals numbered 91, and Friday 79, the remaining 681 being about equally divided between the other four days. Holiday peals numbered 79, and there were also rung for the Royal Wedding 34, on Empire Day five peals, 11 for Armistice celebrations, 18 on New Year's Eve, and 26 on the Eves of and Festival days of the Church: 33 peals were in honour of royal birthdays, including four for Princess Mary's son.

The footnotes to peals tell us also that there were 687 who rang their first peal, while on 8 to 12 bells 1,089 men rang a fresh method, 175 six-bell ringers ring a method for the first time, or increasing the number of methods in a peal. Twenty-seven rang their first peal on twelve, 24 their first of Maximus, first of Cinques 13 ringers, first on 10 bells 43, of Royal 67, Caters 25, first on 8 bells 47, of Major 87, Triples 35, of Minor 78 and Doubles 42, and 28 rang their first peal on handbells.

Seventy-four joined the ranks of the conductors, and 117 conducted their first peal in the method. First peals on the bells numbered 60, and first in the method 157. There were 292 birthday peals, including those for royalty, and 17 for a coming-of-age, 20 peals of welcome, and 31 farewell peals; 47 for weddings, 21 to celebrate silver weddings, and six golden weddings; 58 anniversary, three memorial, and three for thanksgivings. Muffled peals numbered 21, and half-muffled 58. The fastest peal ever rung may also be noted.

As usual, we conclude with the number of peals rung in representative years since 1881, the grand total since the beginning of that year being 44,762:—
