THE COMING COUNCIL MEETING.

The agenda for the Central Council meeting on Whitsun Tuesday promises to provide the members with a fairly full day's work, if one may judge by the time which has been occupied over the business in former years. The meeting in the Metropolis is the first of the triennial period, and there is consequently some additional business to be transacted in the shape of the election of officers, committees, etc., which does not occur in the two succeeding years. The rest of the general business follows the customary lines, but it is to the new motions to be proposed that the outside ringer will turn with most interest.

Precedence is taken this year by the subject of the nomenclature of methods, and no fewer than three separate notices upon this matter have been sent in, but doubtless some arrangement will be come to whereby the question can be disposed of under one motion. Without question it is the desire of a large number of ringers, as indicated by the resolutions passed recently at several association annual meetings, that there shall be a revision of the present ill-fitting names applied to many methods, and the majority of the Council will doubtless be prepared to see that some amendment is made. What remains, then, will be to find the best method of acting upon the expressed desire of the Exercise, and from the three resolutions it ought to be possible to find an acceptable scheme, concerning which it may be noted that two of the motions specifically set out to legislate for the future as well as remedy the mistakes of the past.

Of the other resolutions to be proposed, that requiring a qualified umpire for all handbell peals recognised by the Council, may well find general acceptance, but whether it will please all those who ring handbell peals is another matter. An umpire is already usual, but there is a growing tendency to ring peals 'in hand' without such an official if one is not available. It might create some feeling of hardship if a band is to be prevented from ringing an 'officially recognised' peal because a qualified umpire is not present, and a difficulty likely to arise will be found in deciding whether the 'umpire' is qualified or not according to the proposed rule. It is quite certain that the Analysis Committee, acting merely on the published report, could not adjudicate in every case upon the umpire's qualifications, and if his (or her) ability is challenged, who is going to decide? The proposal is just one of those which, in theory, commend themselves to ringers generally, but which, in practice, are by no means certain to be effective. It opens the door to quibbles and dissensions, and yet, on the face of it, there is nothing in the resolution to which any handbell peal ringer could take exception.

SURREY ASSOCIATION.

A very successful meeting of the Southern District was held at Godstone on Saturday, May 3rd, when the following towers were represented: Bletchingley, Croydon, Horley, Limpsfield, Chart, Merstham, Nutfield, Reigate, Streatham, and the local band. Ringing took place during the afternoon, and the Rector (the Rev. G. E. G. Hoare) unveiled a beautiful peal board recording the first peal rung on the bells. This board is the gift of Mr. W. Beeson, senr., and he was congratulated and thanked by all present on the excellent workmanship he put into the board. Afterwards a short touch of Grandsire Triples was rung, conducted by Mr. W. Beeson, senr.

A short service, with address, was held in the church, and tea was then partaken of at Broad's Tea Rooms.—The Rector (the Rev. G. E. G. Hoare) presided at the meeting, at which it was resolved to hold the next meeting at Limpsfield Parish Church. It was also decided that the quarterly peal be attempted at Godstone.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector for the use of the bells, his address at the service, also for unveiling the peal board and presiding at the meeting.—In reply, the Rector said he hoped he would have the pleasure of seeing them all again at Godstone at an early date.—The meeting then terminated, and members adjourned to the tower for further ringing, the methods being Grandsire Triples, Stedman Triples, Bob Major, and Oxford and Kent Treble Bob Major.

WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.GUILDFORD DISTRICT.

A district meeting was held at Shere on Saturday, May 10th. The attendance was not so good as it usually is at Shere, owing, no doubt, to the weather, which prevented many from cycling. The bells were available during the afternoon and evening. A short service was held in the church, conducted by the Rector (the Rev. Sir Paget Bowman, Bart.), who also gave an address. Tea was provided at the White Horse Hotel, the Rector presiding.

After tea, a short business meeting was held, Mr. A. C. Hazelden occupying the chair, in the absence of the Rector, who had another engagement.—The Ringing Master gave a summary of the ringing done in the district during the quarter, and the usual vote of thanks was passed to the Rector for the use of the church and bells, also to Miss Craddock for presiding at the organ.

CARTER MAJOR.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The method published on page 285 of 'The Ringing World' of May 2nd, 1924, under the name of 'Carter Major' was composed and published by James Pagett in September, 1896, under the name of Kidderminster 'Premier' Major, and afterwards reintroduced by the same gentleman in the 'Bell News,' July 16th, 1898, under the more suitable name of 'Kidderminster Major.'

The only difference I find is that a 'bob' in Kidderminster Major is made on the three back bells, and in Carter Major it is made on the three front bells, but the method is not new.—Yours truly, 78, Church Street, Lavenham. STEDMAN H. SYMONDS.

HISTORICAL.To the Editor.

Sir,—Having occasion to enquire into the history of the Surprise methods, so far as it is known, I am reading some articles by the late Mr. William Snowdon, published in the 'Bell News' in the end of 1912 and during part of 1913, and am at a loss to discover the interpretation of the initials, 'J. D.: C. M.'—See 'Bell News' issue of December, 1912, p. 512. They evidently apply to the 'London Scholars Campanologia,' of which I possess no copy, and not being much of an historian myself, I cannot remember, if I ever knew it, to what they refer. If any reader of the 'Ringing World' can kindly supply the interpretation I shall be very grateful.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The new ring of bells at Bridport, Dorset, which were dedicated last evening, and are open for ringing to-day, have been cast by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. The tenor is 21 cwt. in E flat, and the bells are hung in two tiers.

Yesterday was the anniversary of the only peal ever rung on the sea, and of the first Surprise peal in Wales. Both were rung on May 29th, 1901, the former while crossing from Dublin to Holyhead, and the latter at Bangor.

A peal of 10,075 Grandsire Cinques was rung at Aslinton-under-Lyne on May 29th, 1896. The time was 6 hours 55 mins.

A peal of 5,000 Union Bob Royal was rung by the College Youths at St. Sepulchre's, Snow Hill, on May 30th, 1741. Only one previous peal of Treble Ten had been rung, as far as is known, and this was by the Eastern Scholars on the same bells, in the preceding month. Some doubt was cast upon the first of the two performances by the following lines appended to the peal board of the second.

'When merit's justly due, a little praise then serveth;

A good peal needs no frame, it had one none deserveth.'

The first peal of new Cumberland Surprise was rung at Burton-on-Trent on May 31st, 1886.

June 1st is the anniversary of the 14,031 Stedman Caters rung on handbells at Guildford in 1912.

The first twelve bell peal in Birmingham—Grandsire Cinques—was rung on June 3rd, 1773.

One hundred and ten years ago next Wednesday the bells of St. Nicholas' Church, Liverpool, were opened, the same day being the anniversary of the opening of 'the new peal of ten bells,' at Bow, Cheapside.

BROADCASTING STEDMAN CINQUES.

SUCCESS OF BIRMINGHAM EXPERIMENT.

The experiment of broadcasting the ringing of church bells on Sunday evening at Birmingham was in every way a success. It was distinctly heard in all parts of the country, and would probably have had a much larger audience had the announcement of the ringing, as well as of the service which followed it, been made in the usual way through the broadcasting programme.

The ringing, which consisted of two courses of Stedman Cinques, was done by St. Martin's Sunday Service band, and reports from various parts of the country, where ringers were listening in, show that the ringing was perfect.

The ringers have received congratulations from many quarters, and one who heard it at Bristol picked out the first course end. Ringers at Derby, Burton, Coventry, Macclesfield, Coggleshall (Essex), Ellesmere (Salop), Sittingbourne (Kent), and other places have written to say how much they enjoyed the experience. The following were the two musical courses (250 changes) that were rung, the time occupied being exactly a quarter of an hour.

31245678x90 1, 6S, 7, 19S.

1234567890x 12, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19.

The band was T. Russam 1, A. Walker 2, T. H. Reeves 3, A. E. Norman 4, J. E. Groves 5, M. J. Morris 6, W. Kent 7, A. P. Smith 8, E. Mansell 9, G. F. Yendall 10, J. Neal 11, W. T. Froggatt 12.

Mr. T. R. Butler, of Ellesmere, writes: 'Several of us ringers here have just had an opportunity of listening to the two courses of Stedman Cinques rung at Birmingham, and are very satisfied and pleased with the result. It would be splendid if it could be arranged for ringing to be transmitted by wireless fairly often in the future, thus affording an opportunity for ringers in such country places as these (many of whom have never heard 12 bells) of hearing some first-class ringing occasionally.'

From Macclesfield, Mr. Walmsley writes: 'The broadcasted Stedman Cinques was a decided success. Every bell heard distinctly, and I compliment the St. Martin's band on their striking. It was simply lovely—magnificent.'

Mr. J. W. Unwin, of Canterbury Cathedral company, living at Tunstall, Sittingbourne, says: 'It might interest some of your readers to know that the Stedman Cinques broadcasted from St. Martin's, Birmingham, on Sunday evening, was distinctly heard at Tunstall, Sittingbourne, on a 4-valve set belonging to Mr. Harry Harding, of Tunstall. I was "listening in," and thoroughly enjoyed it. The striking was perfect throughout the touch. Afterwards the whole service was heard quite clearly.'

WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

A meeting of the Yorktown district was held at Weybridge on Saturday, when the following towers were represented: Bagshot, Crawley, Chertsey, Egham, Ockham, Old Windsor, Walton-on-Thames, Worplesdon, Weybridge and Yorktown. The methods rung before and after the meeting ranged from Grandsire Triples to Double Norwich. The Rector (the Rev. E. Tritton) conducted the Guild's service, and gave a short address. The Rev. G. R. M. Ellwood, of Chertsey, presided over the business meeting.

LITERATURE AND PRESS COMMITTEE.

The following report of the Literature and Press Committee will be presented to the Central Committee on Whitsun Tuesday:—

There have been various criticisms of bells and ringing in the public Press during the past year, mainly due to peal ringing. The record performance of Stedman Cinques at Southwark, called forth a torrent of verbiage from writers (who were nowhere in the vicinity) who overlooked the fact that the peal was rung on a holiday—Whit Monday—when business was suspended, and the annoyance, if any, almost nil.

The 'Evening News,' in a leaderette headed 'Too much bell,' commented as follows: 'Bells are delightful when their music reaches you faintly across the meadow on summer evenings, but the London bell ringers who rang 12,675 changes in 9 hours and 48 minutes at Southwark to make a world's record—Oh! these world's records—what are we to say about them? A reasonable amount of bell ringing is not hurtful, but nearly Ten Hours of it! And all for what? If the ringers were writing these few lines they might have much to say in their defence. On the other hand, if these few lines were being written by residents near bell ringing orgies, they would be much livelier reading.'

Your committee will not quarrel with this. There will always be a percentage of people who will criticise anything under the sun. On the other hand, the opening of the Loughborough carillon in July last year, afforded an opportunity to the Press, and the result was a booming advertisement for bells, descriptive and pictorial, such as the Exercise had not seen hitherto. Although carillon playing is outside the sphere of change ringing, the occasion linked up everything in the matter of bells to our advantage.

Again, when the Bournville carillon was reopened on May 3rd, the recitals of the Carillonneur of Bruges were broadcasted by the British Broadcasting Co., and there is little doubt that by these means, recruits to the army of bell lovers were made from the ranks of students of wireless. The 'Morning Post'—always well disposed towards us—gave half a column to a eulogy of the art.

Antipathy has been shown elsewhere. In September, an attempt was made in the 'Ludlow Advertiser' to suppress change ringing at the Parish Church. The following is an excerpt:—

'Bells are to call people to church only, and should be used solely for that purpose. The public cares not whether Cambridge Surprise or rounds are rung—and rightly, too—but bell ringing outside of worship is a nuisance anywhere . . .'

As the letters bore the signature of a B.A. of Oxford University, the local society of ringers appealed to your committee to reply on their behalf. This was done, with the result that the opposition retired discomfited. The help given in this case alone would appear to justify the existence of this committee.

A 'Ringers' Strike' in Dorset provided copy for the Press early in the year, and furnished a jest for 'Punch.' The local Press gave a fairly accurate account of the matter, and recorded in a subsequent issue the settlement of the dispute, through the timely intervention of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild.

'STRIKES AND LOCK-OUTS.'

To the Editor.

Sir,—I read your leading article on 'Strikes' and 'Lock-outs' in your issue of May 16th, with great interest. The side of the question brought out in your able discussion of the subject is exactly what had presented itself to my mind. Any satisfactory arrangement must necessarily place restraint on arbitrary action on the part of the incumbent as well as on that of the ringers. This is a delicate point requiring very careful consideration. As there was no time left for debate at the Salisbury meeting, the only course was to postpone the matter till another year.

I think that the solution of the difficulty is to be found in the dual capacity of the Bishop as head of the clergy and patron of the Guild.—Yours truly,

F. LI. EDWARDS.

Kington Magna Rectory.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The annual general meeting was held at Hastings on Saturday, May 17th, the towers of Christ Church, St. Leonard's; All Saints', Hastings; and Christ Church, Blacklands, being open for ringing. A short service was held at Christ Church, Blacklands, the Vicar (the Rev. G. R. Thornton) giving an excellent address, after which those present (between 50 and 60 in number) adjourned to the Schoolroom, where a splendid tea had been prepared, and at the conclusion, the Vicar announced that although the advertised price was 1/6 per head, 1/- only would be charged, and what remained over the actual cost would be given to the funds of the association. This was due to the Vicar and a few lady friends undertaking the catering and waiting themselves.

The business meeting followed, the Vicar of Christ Church, Blacklands, being voted to the chair, on the proposition of the Master (Mr. J. Thornton Rickman), who also read a letter from the Rev. Cecil H. Clarke (hon. general secretary), stating his inability to be present.—Mr. A. D. Stone (hon. secretary, Central Division) was, therefore, nominated to act as secretary to the meeting.

On the minutes being read, it was stated that nothing had been done in the matter of taking a postcard poll in reference to a proposition, 'that every member should pay 2/- per annum, irrespective of other moneys paid on their behalf.'—The meeting decided that no further action be taken in the matter.

The following new members were elected: Fred Heaton, Eastbourne; Herbert Parkin and Frank Coates, Christ Church, Blacklands; and the election of Messrs. Cecil Ebberson and John D. Matthews was confirmed. The Vicar of Christ Church, Blacklands, was made a life member.

The report and balance sheet, showing a balance of over £85, was approved and adopted; also the peals' secretary's analysis.

The vice-presidents, Master and hon. treasurer were re-elected. Mr. A. D. Stone was elected hon. general secretary, a motion being passed thanking the late hon. general secretary for his services.

Mr. F. Bennett was re-elected peals' secretary, and Messrs. W. C. Hart and W. Markwell were elected as auditors.

A motion was then carried, 'that half railway fares (maximum 1/-) be paid to resident members attending divisional meetings.'

Brighton, Chichester and Southover (Lewes), were the places suggested for the next annual general meeting, Chichester being decided upon.

Reference was made to the death of Mr. Sydney Saker, for some years hon. secretary of Eastern Division, and the secretary was directed to place on the minutes an expression of the loss the association had sustained through his death, and to send a message of condolence to the family.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar for his helpful address at the service, and also to the ladies, whose kind hospitality did so much to make the meeting a success.

The following towers were represented: Battle, Brighton (St. Peter's and St. Nicholas'), Eastbourne (St. Saviour's), Heene, Heathfield, Henfield, Lewes (Southover), and Shoreham; and there were also a number of unaffiliated members present.

The ringing ranged from Grandsire to Surprise methods.

WARWICKSHIRE GUILD.

A very pleasant afternoon was spent by members of the Guild at Whitnash on Saturday, May 17th, when ringers attended from Chlvers Coton, Exhall, Leamington, Nuneaton, Solihull, Stoke, Warwick, and the local band, several ladies being among those present.—The Rector (the Rev. E. W. Bryan) gave the members a hearty welcome, and, with Mrs. Bryan, provided tea in the Vicarage Garden, which was very much enjoyed.—The Ringing Master (Mr. A. Roberts) moved a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector and Mrs. Bryan for the use of the bells and providing tea.—The Hon. Secretary (Mr. A. Wilkerson), in seconding, said he was pleased to see the local company present, and hoped they would soon become members of the Guild.

Before the party left, the Rector expressed the pleasure the visit of the Guild had given him, and hoped to see them again before long.

The methods rung during the afternoon and evening included Grandsire, Stedman and Plain Bob Doubles, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, Double Court, Double Oxford and Bob Minor.

THE LATE MR. W. J. ALLEN.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Will you please allow me space in your valuable paper gratefully to acknowledge, on behalf of my committee, the sum of £25 9s. 9d., collected on behalf of the widow and family of the late Mr. W. J. Allen, of Northampton?

Mrs. Allen desires, through 'The Ringing World,' to thank all kind friends who helped her in her sad bereavement. With best thanks to all.—Yours faithfully,

F. WILFORD,

Hon. Secretary to the Fund.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.THE MEMORIAL BELLS FUND.

The annual meeting at Lincoln on April 26th (Fair Saturday) took place in most unfavourable circumstances. Rain storms throughout the day, and the lack of railway excursion facilities in some districts, resulted in a smaller attendance this year than is usual. The bells at the Cathedral (8), St. Peter-at-Arches (8), St. Peter-at-Gowts (6), and St. Botolph's (6), were made good use of during the afternoon, the towers being closed in time to allow the ringers to gather at the Cathedral at 4.30 for evensong.

Tea was provided in the Co-operative Hall at 5.30, and was followed by the usual business meeting, at which Mr. F. F. Linley presided. All the officers were re-elected, namely, the Dean of Lincoln, president; the Rev. H. Law James, Master; Mr. F. F. Linley, treasurer; and Mr. F. W. Stokes, secretary.

The balance sheet and report was passed as printed.—The Chairman drew attention to the enlargement of the report by the addition of the names of the officers of each branch, and of the honorary members. He regretted that for financial reasons it was not possible to print the report as in pre-war days. Alluding to the Cathedral Bells Memorial Fund, Mr. Linley drew attention to the fact that, approximately, £115 is still required before the additional four bells can be installed in the Cathedral tower, and stated that the general view of the Northern branch is that two bells (to make a peal of ten) should be added now, leaving the other two to be put in when funds permitted.—Mr. S. Proctor, on behalf of the Southern branch, strongly supported this view, and, on a vote being taken, the meeting expressed agreement. The matter will be taken up by the Guild Committee at as early a date as practicable.

The Rev. H. Law James, the Rev. H. T. Parry, Mr. George Chester, and Mr. Rupert Richardson were elected to represent the Guild on the Central Council. In this connection the nomenclature of the Minor methods came in for a good deal of adverse criticism, and great amusement was caused by the quotation by one of the speakers of the names of various vegetables, fruits and flowers, which might possibly come into use if the present system were continued.

The following motion, proposed by Mr. C. McGuinness, and seconded by Mr. J. T. Brown, very well represents the feeling of the meeting: 'That this meeting considers that the nomenclature adopted for the various Minor methods is in many cases ridiculous, and asks the Guild representatives on the Central Council to do their best to advocate a revision.'

Reference must be made to the absence from the meeting of Mr. C. W. P. Clifton, of Lincoln, through illness. Mr. Clifton is one of the oldest members of the Guild, and has been a great worker for its good. He has been especially enthusiastic about the proposed augmentation of the Cathedral bells, and the Chairman mentioned incidentally that in this cause he had raised a larger sum of money than any other single member of the Guild.—The meeting passed a unanimous vote of sympathy with Mrs. Clifton in the illness of her husband.

The various towers were open for further ringing until nine o'clock. At the Cathedral a rather unusual incident occurred, the rope of the 2nd bell breaking in the middle of a good course of London Surprise, necessitating a short pause for repairs. It is encouraging to note year by year an increasing interest in the higher methods, both on six and eight bells. Peals of Cambridge and Superlative Surprise have already been rung by the Guild, and it is hoped that at no very distant date a peal of London will be accomplished by resident members.

EASTERN BRANCH.

The quarterly meeting of the Eastern Branch was held at Stickney on Saturday, May 24th. Although this was only a five-bell tower, a very pleasant and successful meeting was held. Ringers were present from Boston, Butterwick, Frampton, Freiston, Surfleet, Wrangle, and the local band, who are expert five-bell ringers. A short service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. J. de Vitre). The address was given by the Vicar of Stickford (the Rev. H. F. Shenton), who took as his text, 'Speak unto the children of Israel that they go forward.'

Tea was partaken of at the Rose and Crown Inn, after which the usual business meeting was held, the President (the Rev. J. R. Trotter) being in the chair. The place chosen for the summer meeting was Halton Holgate, near Spilsby. It is hoped that more members will endeavour to be present, especially as this is a district where possibly new members may be procured. The bells here were reported to be in very fair order.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Rector for conducting the service, and for the use of the bells, and also to the Vicar of Stickford for his interesting and inspiring address.

After the meeting the tower was again visited, and various six-scores, including Stedman and Carter, were successfully brought round.

SPliced SURPRISE MAJOR.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I sincerely congratulate Mr. J. W. Parker on obtaining such a remarkable peal of Spliced Surprise Major, and also the band on ringing the peal. It is only those who have gone into the proof who can realise the amount of work and care required before such a peal can be produced.

I have recently been at work on this proof, and up to the present I have the following composition, which should also be of interest, as it contains 340 7-8's, this number being much in excess of the number obtainable in a peal of 5,000 of Superlative or Cambridge Major separately.—Yours sincerely,

A. J. PITMAN.

5,056 SPliced SUPERLATIVE & CAMBRIDGE MAJOR.

Repeat the last four courses three times. There are two leads of Cambridge in each course, the 2nd and 6th in the long courses, and 2nd and 3rd in the courses with calls 'Before,' the other leads being Superlative. This composition must be rung in the spliced form, as shown, as it will not run true to Superlative or Cambridge only. Composed May 11th, 1924.

SIXTY YEARS A RINGER.
PRESENTATIONS AT BEESTON.

There was an interesting ceremony at Beeston (Notts) Church on Monday, May 12th, when Mr. William Clifford was congratulated on attaining his golden wedding, and completing 60 years' service as a ringer at the church. The assembly in the belfry included the Vicar (the Rev. L. N. Phillips), wardens, past wardens, sidesmen, and many visitors.

The proceedings opened with the ringing of Cambridge and London Surprise, after which the eight oldest ringing members rang 60 Stedman Triples in honour of Mr. Clifford's 60 years' service: L. Price 1, W. Clifford, senr., 2, W. Clifford 3, A. Lowe 4, J. C. Dicken 5, F. S. Price (conductor) 6, E. J. Boot 7, P. Price 8.

Mr. H. A. Price (parish warden) mentioned that there were only three bells in the tower in 1860, and in an interesting speech traced the gradual augmentation to eight. He congratulated Mr. Clifford on his remarkable ringing achievements.

The Vicar, on behalf of the church officials and members of the congregation, then handed to Mr. Clifford a substantial cheque and inscribed ebony walking stick, and to Mrs. Clifford an inscribed umbrella.—The Vicar commented on the general ignorance prevailing on the subject of bell ringing, and reminded those present that Mr. Clifford must have spent an enormous amount of time attending to the bells.—After congratulatory speeches by Mr. A. Nicholson (Vicar's warden), Mr. J. Bostock and Mr. C. Mason, J.P. (ex-wardens), the company were amused by some reminiscences of Mr. Peter Burton, an old Beeston ringer, who rang in the first 120 changes on the old peal of six. He caused laughter by his description of how, when a piece dropped out of a bell during ringing, all the ringers tried to get through the door together.

Responding, Mr. Clifford thanked the company, and stated he had done his work because he loved the church, the parish in which he was born, and the bells.

Mr. F. S. Price pointed out that bell ringing consisted of something more than mere rope-pulling, and stated that considerable mental effort is required. Mr. Clifford had taken up Surprise ringing since his 60th birthday, and had rung peals of Norfolk, Superlative and Cambridge Surprise, and soon hoped to score London, for which attempts had already been made. As Mr. Clifford was 75 years of age, the company would realise these were no mean feats. He concluded by proposing a vote of thanks to the Vicar for making the presentation, and parishioners for their attendance.—Mr. A. Lowe seconded, and the motion was carried.—The visitors' book was signed by all present before dispersing.

On Saturday, May 17th, a peal of London Surprise was attempted at the church, but, unfortunately, lost after ringing half the peal in 1 hour 30 minutes.

AN APPRECIATION BY ONE OF HIS 'BOYS.'

Mr. Barnett's 600 peals represent 43 years of ringing, 35 of which he has spent at Crayford, at which tower and the Parish Church, Erith, it can be safely said he has called more first peals for youngsters than any other ringer living. A ringer who rang his first peal at Crayford over 30 years ago, remarking on this fact to the writer the other day, said, 'If ringing is going to have any effect on getting a man to heaven it will be old Teddy Barnett's efforts for youngsters that will get him there long before the man who has rung 1,000 peals.'

Of his 106 peals of Grandsire Triples quite 75 per cent. have some special feature, such as somebody's first peal or first as conductor, or have been rung in helping a struggling hand.

How many ringers owe their first peal of Double Norwich to him? The late Samuel Slater, in some verses published at the time he rang in the 13,440 at Romford, truly said:—

Edwin Barnett rang the second, and did his equal part,

For Double Norwich Court is rooted in his heart.

The writer can remember as a small boy many now well-known ringers coming to Crayford to learn to ring Double Norwich, among them, Mr. J. E. Davis, and his cousin, Mr. H. N. Davis, who often came from Camberwell twice on a Sunday for this purpose.

As a conductor no man ever starts for a peal with a greater knowledge of his composition than Mr. Barnett, and his knowledge of the in and out of course of course ends is to the writer almost uncanny. Of the 120 he can tell the instant he hears any one of them, whether it is in or out of course.

He also has that rare gift among ringers of being able to 'take off' anything from outside the tower. On one occasion he took off a peal of Stedman Triples which Mr. J. H. Cheesman was calling, a new composition by Mr. Lindoff, and when he had finished he gave him both the figures and the calling.

Mr. Barnett has also rung considerably over 100 peals on two different peals of bells. I do not know how many it is now, but at the time he rang his 500th peal in 1917 he had rung exactly 100 at Crayford, and 114 at the Parish Church, Erith.

THE COUNCIL'S MEAGRE REVENUE.

Last week we referred briefly in this column to some of the resolutions which are to come before the Central Council next Tuesday. A motion which is likely to find divided opinion is that which, in effect, would remove the rule by which the Council meets every third year in London. It has been the practice of the Council, ever since its foundation, to hold the first meeting of each triennial period—at which the officers for the succeeding three years are elected—in the Metropolis, and it must be admitted that, hitherto, this has proved very satisfactory. The London meetings are, we believe, the best attended, on the average, and there are obvious reasons why this is so. The mover of the alteration of the rule will have to adduce some strong reasons for departing from the now well-established custom, if he is to carry his point.

But the resolution may serve another purpose. If it calls attention to the necessity for a general overhaul of the rules of the Council it will not have been in vain, whatever may be its ultimate fate. The rules need some revision to bring them into line with the Council's present methods of procedure, and the 'decisions' might well be revised in various respects, in the light of modern knowledge. This is a subject to which, perhaps, the Standing Committee will turn their attention, and when they do so, would it not be well if consideration were given to the question of increasing the affiliation fee?

At present the various societies pay a nominal sum of half a crown for each representative, the maximum number being four. Upon this meagre income the Council has to meet not only the cost of the annual gathering, but all its other undertakings, such as printing the collections of peals and methods. In due time some of this expenditure is recouped by the sale of publications, but progress has often been delayed in the printing of important works by the lack of sufficient capital. The low contribution originally fixed was settled at a time when the Council was seeking the support of the associations, which might have been frightened away from a new and untried body if the fee had been made too high. But the Council has now an established and well-defined position in the scheme of things campanological, and it might render much more practical service to the Exercise if it had larger funds at its disposal. Half a guinea per member ought not to be too high a fee to impose, and with this increased revenue the Council would be able to move much more rapidly in providing for ringers such material as would encourage a higher standard of ringing in methods and compositions, and in other directions as well.

FORTHCOMING RINGERS' WEDDING

A marriage has been arranged between Miss Hilda F. Willson, of Leicester, and Mr. L. William Jacques (late of Olney), now of Mansfield. The prospective bride and bridegroom have rung many peals together, both accomplishing their first of Cambridge and London Surprise at the same time. Miss Hilda was the first of her sex to accomplish two peals in a day (Stedman Caters and Double Norwich), which she did at the age of 14, and has repeated it in Surprise peals more than once since that time. The bridegroom-to-be has also called peals of Superlative and Cambridge peals. The ceremony is fixed for July 19th at St. John-the-Divine, Leicester, the pair being active members of the Midland Counties Association.

DEATH OF A GRAPPENHALL RINGER.

EXPIRED WHILE TOLLING FUNERAL BELL.

The death occurred suddenly, on Monday, May 19th, of Mr. J. Mainwaring, a member of the Grappenhall, Cheshire, band. Mr. Mainwaring was in the act of tolling the bell for a funeral, when he was seen to fall to the ground, but before medical aid could be summoned he had passed away.

Mr. Mainwaring had been a ringer for 51 years, and sexton for 30 years. He was a member of the Chester Diocesan Guild for 29 years. His peals number 20, being as follows: Seven Minor methods 2, seven Treble Bob 13, ten Treble Bob 1 (7,200), seven Surprise 1, Grandsire Triples 2, Kent Treble Bob Major 1. He also took part in 648 complete Minor extents.

Mr. Mainwaring rang in the first peals at Grappenhall, Stretton, Davenham, Frodsham, St. Helen's, and Warburton.

The funeral took place on Thursday, May 22nd, the Rev. C. A. Clements officiating. The bells were rung deeply muffled in the evening by the local band, touches of Bob Major and Kent Treble Bob Major being brought round.

A REET GOOD WREATH.

The following bit of conversation overheard at a recent ringing meeting is too good to be overlooked. Apparently the discussion was on method names.

First voice: Well, the names will look all right if rung in a wedding peal.

Second voice: Aye, and if th' bells are half-muffled, it will mak' a reet good wreath.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD (NORTHERN BRANCH).

PROPOSED NEW DISTRICT.

The half-yearly meeting was held at Sleaford on Saturday, May 24th, when about fifty members and friends were present. Included in the towers represented were Bigby, Blankney, Branston, Gainsborough, Grimsby (St. Andrew's), Hale Magna, Heckington, Lincoln (Cathedral, St. Peter-at-Arches, St. Peter-at-Gowts), and the local company. From the Elloe Deaneries Branch were the Rev. H. Law James (Guild Ringing Master), Mr. G. Ladd (hon. secretary), and Mr. J. T. Brown, Spalding. The bells of St. Denys' were available during the afternoon and evening, and kept going in various methods. A service was held in the Parish Church at 4.30 p.m., and exceedingly well attended. The Rev. Dr. Mortimer officiated. Taking for his text, Colossians iii. 17, he gave a very impressive and most instructive address, which was greatly appreciated by the members. Mr. N. E. Snow presided at the organ. Subsequently an excellent tea was provided at the Church Room, and followed by the business meeting, at which Mr. F. F. Linley (President) took the chair, supported by the Rev. H. T. Parry (president of the Grimsby district), and members of the committee. Apologies for absence were read from the Rev. Canon Hicks and the Rev. R. Bond.

The annual report and balance sheet for 1923, also the secretary's report for the past twelve months, were submitted to the meeting. The draft rules, which have been drawn up for adoption at the next annual general meeting were considered.

Mr. C. H. Baker intimated that he intended giving notice of amendment in respect to rules 5 (a) and 6 (a). This was as follows: Rule 5 (a). The annual meeting shall be held at the headquarters of each district in turn in the month of May, etc. Rule 6 (a). A half-yearly meeting shall be held in the month of September, etc. By this means the members would be able to adopt and pass the report and balance sheet soon after receiving the same.

Three new members, Messrs. P. H. Skipworth, W. A. Gray and H. Hanson, all of Brigg, were duly elected.

The formation of a new district, with Sleaford as headquarters, was next considered, and after some discussion it was proposed by Mr. F. F. Linley, and seconded by Mr. H. Torr, that Mr. N. E. Snow be asked to act provisionally as president, and Messrs. W. Dickinson and W. H. Wood, provisionally as joint secretaries: also that they be requested to call a meeting of the ringers in Sleaford and the neighbourhood for the purpose of forming such a district. On these gentlemen signifying their consent, the proposition was carried.

There being no other nomination, Stow was selected as the place for the next half-yearly meeting.

Mr. Baker, in drawing the attention of the members to an article recently published in 'The Ringing World,' respecting strikes and lock-outs amongst bell ringers, said he would like to know the opinion of the Rev. H. Law James upon it. Mr. James stated that he had a short time ago received a letter from an incumbent in the Northern Branch concerning his ringers who, through trouble over money matters, had withdrawn from the tower. In his reply he gave the incumbent to understand that he did not agree with ringers being paid for their services.

Votes of thanks to the Rev. Dr. Mortimer for taking the service, Mr. N. E. Snow for presiding at the organ, the church authorities for the use of the bells, Mr. W. Dickinson for making the necessary arrangements, the caterers for the excellent tea provided, the sexton, and all others who had helped to make the meeting such a success, also Mr. F. F. Linley for acting as chairman, were unanimously carried.

The bells were lowered about 9 p.m., and a very pleasant meeting brought to a close.

NORTON, STAFFS.—On Mondays, May 19th and 26th, 720 each of Coldstream and Lincoln Surprise, respectively. First 720 of the latter method by all: W. Corfield 1, J. W. Walker 2, F. Triner 3, W. C. Lawrence 4, J. E. Wheeldon (conductor) 5, J. Walley 6.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A successful meeting of the Hunts Branch was held at Eynesbury. About 30 ringers were present, the places represented being Eynesbury (6), St. Neots (3), Ramsey (2), Long Stanton (3), Luton (2), Trumpington (2), Great Staughton, Somersham, Chatteris, Dunstable, Barnet and Renton.

A well-attended service was held in Eynesbury Parish Church, at which the Rector gave an eloquent address, in which he pleaded for the use of church bells for purely devotional purposes as well as the ordinary ringing for services, mentioning that the Angelus and the Sanctus bell were in use in his parish.

Tea was served in the Parish Room. a commodious and well-lighted building, after which the usual business meeting was held, with the Rector in the chair.

It was resolved that the next meeting should be held at Godmanchester, subject to the consent of the authorities.

The meeting ended with hearty votes of thanks to the Rector of Eynesbury for his address and welcome, to the incumbents of the three churches for the use of the bells, and to the ladies for their help in serving an excellent tea.

During the afternoon and evening several touches were brought round on the six bells of Eynesbury, and the fine new eight at St. Neots, but rain prevented the ringers from getting to Eaton Soton, the six bells of which were kindly placed at their disposal by the incumbent.

EDINBURGH CATHEDRAL JUBILEE.

At the Cathedral Church of St. Mary, Edinburgh, on May 21st, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung in 56 mins., by F. Veitch 1, Miss A. I. Whitson 2, W. C. S. Heathcote (conductor) 3, W. B. Sampson 4, H. Mann 5, A. G. Collinson 6, W. Marshall 7, J. Marshall 8. This was rung in commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary of the laying of the foundation stone in the Cathedral in 1874, and was the first quarter-peal by the ringers of 1st and 7th. Mr. Collinson is approaching his 50th year as a ringer.

The tenor at Edinburgh Cathedral is 42½ ct., and the heaviest bell in Scotland.

RESULT OF AN APPEAL.

The amount received in response to the appeal on behalf of Mr. T. Hammond, senr., was £18 9s., after deducting expenses for postage, writing material, etc. The sum of £17 15s. was handed to Mr. Hammond, who would like to thank his fellow members of the Exercise, and others, for their generosity towards him.

NONCONFORMISTS' EFFORTS FOR BELL RESTORATION.

The Vicar of Norbury, Cheshire, the Rev. A. J. Humphries, preached twice at the Hazel Grove Congregational Church on Sunday in aid of the fund that the officers and members have decided to raise towards the restoration of one of the bells at the Parish Church. The idea is that the Nonconformist Churches should combine in this effort on behalf of a bell to be dedicated to them. The Wesleyan Church is not, according to a decision recently come to, joining in as a united body, but members will at their discretion give of their own free will. The Vicar's subject was 'The bells on the horse's feet, from the Prophet Zechariah. He spoke of the effect church bells have on the minds and hearts of the people, and of the like effects produced by the sight of church steeples. The Vicar's historical matter was most interesting. He said some of the bells in Norbury tower were cast in 1617, and placed in Disley Church, whence they were removed some years afterwards to Norbury. There were three links attaching together Disley Church and Norbury. One was the bells; another was the organ originally placed in Norbury Church, which came from Disley; and the third was that the Leghs and Lyme were patrons of both churches. The Vicar's sympathy towards the Nonconformist churches and their organisations was marked throughout his two visits.

The collections amounted to £8 10s.

MUFFLED RINGING AT SHEFFIELD.

On Wednesday evening, May 14th, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,280 changes, from Brook's Variation) was rung at All Saints' Church, Sheffield, with the bells half-muffled, by members of All Saints' and the Cathedral Societies: A. W. Gledstone 1, J. Thorpe 2, J. W. Smithson 3, F. Shackleton 4, T. W. Chown 5, W. Stubble 6, F. Willey (conductor) 7, E. F. Rippon 8. This was rung as a last tribute of respect to Mr. Joseph H. Taylor and Mrs. S. Seed.

Mr. Taylor was a chorister at All Saints' Church, and all through his life had taken a deep interest in its welfare. He died suddenly, after an operation, on May 10th, at the early age of 39 years.

Mrs. Seed was, in her earlier years, a zealous worker in the Sunday Schools and church. Her husband, Mr. Sam Seed, was a member of All Saints' ringing society for many years, and the sympathy of a large circle of friends will go out to him in his great bereavement.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

We regret to announce the death of William P. Cooper, Leicester's 'grand old man,' which occurred suddenly on Friday last at Wyggestone Hospital. He was 86 years of age, and had rung many peals at St. Margaret's and elsewhere. He was buried on Tuesday.

Thirty-two years ago to-day the 16,608 Oxford Treble Bob Major was rung at Debenham, Suffolk, in 10 hours 32 minutes.

To-morrow is the anniversary of the 16,800 Kent Treble Bob Major rung by the Chester Guild at Mottram-in-Longdendale in 9 hours 40 minutes. This peal was rung in 1906.

On June 9th, 1850, the first peal in America was rung. This was at Christ Church, Philadelphia, when H. W. Haley, J. Hewett and W. Lobb were on a handbell ringing visit to the United States. A band was got together with difficulty, but Holt's ten-part was successfully accomplished. R. Dodd, a one-legged man, rang the tenor for 2½ hours, and was then relieved by J. Davey, who finished the peal, which was called by Haley.

Believed to be the first rung out of London, a peal of 5,040 Grand-sire Maximus was rung at Birmingham on June 12th, 1815.

Visitors to London in connection with the Central Council meeting are asked to note that a change has been made in the times of ringing on Whit Sunday, owing to services at St. Martin's. Ringing at this church will be at 4.45 p.m., and at Shoreditch at 10 a.m.

BELL RINGING BROADCAST FROM BIRMINGHAM.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—May I, through your valuable medium, thank all those ringers in different parts of the country who have written to Mr. Walker and myself re the Stedman Cinques broadcast from St. Martin's, Birmingham, on Sunday, May 25th, for their expressions of appreciation.

We have heard from places as far afield as Bristol, Macclesfield, Leicester, Liverpool, Derby, Burton-on-Trent, Beeston, Frodsham, Coventry, etc., and according to these reports the experiment was undoubtedly a success.

Great credit is due to the British Broadcasting Co. for the trouble they took to ensure success on this, the first occasion on which real change ringing has been broadcast.

I should be very glad indeed if anyone at a distance from Birmingham who was 'listening in' to the ringing and service, and who has not already written, would kindly drop me a postcard to say how it 'came over' in their district.—Yours faithfully,

A. PADDON SMITH.

11, Albert Road, Handsworth, Birmingham.
May 27th, 1924.

The following extract is from 'Wireless Notes' in the 'Birmingham Gazette,' dated 26th May, 1924:—

'The 5IT engineers, the bell ringers of St. Martin's Church, the Rector of Birmingham (Canon Grose Hodge), the choristers, the organist, the congregation, last night merited the thanks and congratulations of Midland listeners-in. I doubt whether as successful a broadcast of a striking church service has ever been achieved.'

'At 6 p.m. there was a slight earnest of what was in store in the short test of the change ringing and the organ interlude that then took place. Then at 7.45 the bells came crashing through magnificently, and at 8 o'clock the organ took up the opening voluntary.'

'The whole of the service was perfectly plain and distinct. It was easy to imagine oneself in the rear of the famous old church, one seemed to lose nothing of the spirit of the service, and at the same time had much of the atmosphere.'

'The music had that some clarified sound that one invariably associates with church services, and the voice of the Rector intoning the responses was an ideal voice for radio. The voice of the reader of the lessons was equally excellent, and then came the glorious singing of the psalm, and a fine rendering of the anthem.'

'The special address of the Rector was easily the best broadcast religious address for some time, and it seemed that there was no moment in this particular broadcast that could have been bettered in any way, and there was provided a real demonstration of the untold value of the broadcasting of a church service when that service is as suitable for broadcasting as that happened to be.'

'Probably one wonders why it should have been so good. Previous church broadcasts have been good, but that from St. Martin's transcended them all. Probably the reason was that Canon Grose Hodge made the fullest use of his opportunities.'

'The broadcast was interesting from the fact that for this occasion the 5IT engineers employed two microphones for the purpose—one being installed in the belfry, and the other in the church. On no previous outside broadcast has more than one microphone been used.'

NEW BELLS AT BRIDPORT.

A FINE RING OF EIGHT.

The Bishop of Salisbury dedicated, on Thursday evening of last week (Ascension Day), a very fine peal of eight bells which have been provided for their parish church by the people of Bridport, the little market town, which lies picturesquely in a valley of the Dorset hills, and within sight of the sea. A wonderful spirit of unanimity and co-operation among the parishioners has marked the carrying out of this work, which, first mooted in 1912, and postponed on account of the war, has been carried to completion in a manner which must give satisfaction to all concerned. The moving spirit in the scheme has been Mr. W. S. B. Northover, who is both churchwarden and ringer. He has acted as treasurer of the fund, and so wholeheartedly and successfully has he worked that a month ago the committee were able to announce that no further funds were required—a very uncommon position of affairs when a restoration is carried out by public subscription. Mr. Northover, however, has had peculiar gratification in undertaking the part he has played, for it was his father who, in 1887, was chiefly responsible for raising the money by which, in commemoration of Queen Victoria's jubilee, two trebles were added to make the former peal of six into a complete octave, and five of the old bells were recast.

The six bells, which had been in the tower since 1843, and the added trebles, formed, however, a poor ring of eight, while at the rehanging in 1887 an experimental frame was put in which failed to come up to expectations, being too slight to carry the weight of metal. Ringing for any length of time was out of the question, and only two peals were rung upon them—one on the day the bells were opened, May 5th, 1887, and one on King George's Coronation Day.

THE CHURCH OF ST. MARY, BRIDPORT.

The present restoration made a clean sweep of the whole of the old work. Bells, frame and fittings, were cleared right out. The new frame is a splendid piece of engineering work. The central tower stands over four open arches, and thus has a tendency to roll whenever the bells are rung, but the seven heavy steel girders which now form a double foundation are so arranged and built into the walls as to tie the tower in each direction. The frame itself is in two tiers, the upper portion being secured not only to the bottom frame, but directly to the steel joists by means of 6in. by 6in. angle girders which run from top to bottom of the construction. The bells hanging in the upper frame are the 2nd, 3rd and 5th, and although the tower is not of large proportions, ample space has been left all round the frame and girders so that every part is easily accessible for future painting.

As to the bells themselves, they are a very beautiful peal. The tenor is 21 cwt. 72 lb. in E flat, and the total weight of the ring 83 cwt. 95 lb. They are a worthy product from the Whitechapel Foundry, full, resonant, not over-clappered, and harmonically tuned on Messrs. Mears and Stainbank's own system. The fittings and framework have been entirely renewed. The cast-iron headstocks were specially designed, and the bells run on British-made ball bearings of heavy type. The clappers are fitted with lubricators, and the rollers for the ropes run on ball bearings fitted with lubricators.

The inscriptions on the bells give their history, but it may be interesting to point out that the oldest bell in the ring of five which existed prior to 1843, was the fourth, which bore the date 1630, and, although no name or initials were on the bell, the figures and ornamentation were the same as used by Thomas Pennington, a founder of that period, whose name appears on bells in this locality cast about the same time.

Next in point of age was the treble, dated 1681, and was most likely cast by Thomas Purdue, a flourishing founder of that period.

Then came the third, a bell dated 1727, and, although it bore no name, it was probably a Purdue bell, cast by a son of the above-mentioned Thomas.

Then came the second, dated 1764, and bearing the name of T. Bayley, of Bridgewater. This man was by trade a clock maker, and a relative by marriage of a Mr. Street, a watch and clock maker of Bridport. Sometimes jointly, sometimes separately, their names appear on a few bells in the West of England, but their bells were of inferior tone, compared with other founders' work.

The fifth or tenor was a fine bell, dated 1784, and cast by T. Purdue, a grandson of the man who cast the treble.

These old founders were mostly itinerant workmen, erecting their furnaces and casting bells wherever they obtained orders. This was on account of the difficulties of cartage over the roads of that period.

At the augmentation in 1887 the second bell was given by the women of Bridport, and this bell has now been recast by them, no fewer than 254 subscribing to it. Four hundred and twenty Sunday School teachers and scholars, past and present, have defrayed the cost of recasting the third, while the ringers themselves, out of their own private funds, recast the fourth. The particulars of the new bells are as follow:—

Treble 6 cwt. 2 lb. 'To the Glory of God.' Two bells were added and the peal completed in the jubilee year of the reign of Queen Victoria A.D. 1887. E. J. L. B. Henslowe, Rector; S. Whetham, J. W. Hartgill, Churchwardens. Recast 1924 in memory of Edward Humphreys, killed in action 1915.

Tenor 21 cwt. 72 lb. The gift of John Grancell and Joan his wife. 'Sing Praise to God.' A.D. 1734. Recast A.D. 1843. R. Tucker, C. S. Knight, Churchwardens. Recast A.D. 1887. Recast A.D. 1924. In memory of F. J. Balson, C.W., 1914—1915, by Sarah, his wife. J. W. Coulter, Rector; W. S. B. Northover, E. Clarke, Churchwardens.

Despite a heavy downpour of rain, the spacious church was filled for the dedication service, which included special prayers, psalms and lessons. The Bishop dedicated the bells while standing beneath the tower, and he also dedicated a new clock which has been presented to the church by Mr. J. G. Dunn. He also dedicated a memorial, in the form of a brass tablet, to the late Mr. James Gale, who was for 64 years a member of the choir, a bell ringer and a devout Churchman. The bells were then heard for the first time. Rung in rounds by the local company, they signalled the supreme moment in the fulfilment of the work, and announced to the population outside the church the completion of the act of dedication. The Bishop's address was based on the words, 'Nevertheless I tell you the truth, it is expedient for you that I go away,' and he dwelt upon the significance to Christians of Christ's Ascension. Referring to the ceremony which had just taken place, he said the parishioners of Bridport had shown to a wonderful extent the truth of the saying that unity makes strength. He touched upon the versatility of bells as instruments reflecting the emotions of the people, whether of joy or sorrow, and said that his sojourn in Australia had taught him what a binding link the bells of England were with those of her sons who had left her shores. He urged the bell ringers to magnify their office, to realise that they were the representatives of the whole life of the place, the exponents of the spirit of the place. Let them, therefore, first be reverent, standing on the Christian side of life and maintaining the Christian colour of life. He urged upon them perseverance, and to be always recruiting new members, so that their bell ringing troop might always be maintained. Let them remember the example of James Gale's life in that parish, both as a choirman and as a bell ringer—a kind of citizenship that did count for something from generation to generation.

After the service the mellow tones of the bells were again heard, the first ringing being done by the local band, and a touch of Grand-sire Triples afterwards rung, with the aid of some of the visitors present, Mr. T. Hervey Beams being conductor.

Friday was an 'open' day, and the bells were rung at intervals from 7.30 a.m. till 8 p.m. At a gathering at the Rectory in the afternoon (held in connection with the Bishop's official visitation), the Rector, on behalf of the Bell Restoration Committee, presented to Messrs. Mears and Stainbank's foreman (Mr. Jesse Tyler) a handsome silver cigarette case, suitably inscribed, in recognition of the splendid way in which he had carried out the work.

Mr. Tyler expressed his thanks for the unexpected gift.

The Rector then publicly handed to Mr. A. A. Hughes (head of the firm of Mears and Stainbank) the cheque for the contract, and thanked him for the way in which the ancient Whitechapel firm had carried out the work.

Mr. Hughes said the restoration which they had carried out at Bridport was one of the happiest in his experience. He could only hope that every piece of work that the old Whitechapel Foundry carried out would be done under similarly happy conditions. He had made many friends in Bridport during the six months he had known the town, and he hoped to see more of them in the future.

Subsequently in the tower Mr. Northover was thanked for his part in the success of the restoration scheme, and ringing was continued until late in the evening. All the ringers who tried the bells were loud in their praises of both tone and 'go,' while among the public there were general expressions of pleasure at the quality of the bells.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Rossendale Branch was held at Christ Church, Bacup, on Saturday, and was well attended, members being present from Christ Church and St. Saviour's, Bacup. Waterfoot, Rawten-shall, Helmshore and Ramshotton, in addition to visiting members from Heptonstall, Burnley and Todmorden, including two lady members, viz., Mrs. Crabtree and Miss Bell. Touches of Grandsire, Bob Major, Kent, Oxford, Stedman and Double Norwich were rung during the afternoon and evening.—The Vicar presided at the meeting, and extended a hearty invitation to the association to come again.—Four new members were elected.

The usual vote of thanks to the Rector and wardens for the use of the bells, to the ringers for having all in order, and to the Vicar for presiding, brought to a close one of the best meetings held in Rossendale Branch for a long time.

The next meeting will be held at Bury Parish Church on Saturday, July 12th.

HEREFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

On Saturday, May 24th, the Clifford District of the Hereford Diocesan Guild held its second meeting at Whitney-on-Wye (the previous one having been held in September, 1923), when some 30 ringers were present during the afternoon and evening, and enjoyed touches in various methods, including A. J. Pitman's 240 of Grandsire Doubles, which was rung for service, at which the Vicar officiated, using the Guild's form. Members of the choir were also present, and sang the Magnificat to a special setting, Miss Lewis presiding at the organ. This was a feature greatly appreciated by the ringers. The Vicar gave a short but very appropriate address.

Afterwards the visitors were invited to tea in the Women's Club, where a splendid repast had been provided by the Vicar and his wife. A short business meeting followed, the Vicar presiding. — Norton Canon was chosen for the next quarterly meeting, some time in July.

Mr. Hyett said it gave him very great pleasure to propose that the six members of the local band become probationary members of the Guild.—Mr. Randle said he should like to add to that number five probationers and one ringer from Norton Canon tower. These were received with applause.—A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Rev. L. W. Richings for his address and his hospitality; also to Mrs. Richings for her kind assistance, to Miss Lewis for presiding at the organ, to the members of the choir, and to the ladies for their help at the tables.—The Vicar, in responding, said it gave him very great pleasure to have the Guild there that evening, and the same cordial welcome would be theirs on any future occasion. As no society could get along without youngsters, it must be a very healthy sign for the Guild to see so many young ringers present that day.—The ringers then returned to the tower, and kept the bells in motion until 9 o'clock. Members were present from Glasbury, Clifford, Eardisley, Almeley, Bredwardine, Letton, Staunton-on-Wye, Norton Canon, and the local tower.

THE NAMING OF METHODS.

By J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

There is a general opinion abroad, that the band who ring the first peal in a method are the proper people to name it. One hears talk of the 'rights' of the band, and the 'rule' of the Exercise in this matter. Now, it is most convenient that methods should have names, and since someone must give them, I know not why the first band should not do it as well as another. But when it comes to 'rules' and 'rights' in the matter, that is altogether another story.

The Ancients knew of no such rule. How the first methods got their names it would, I think, be hard to say. Some grew up for this reason and some for that, as names have a way of doing. It was not because the Mancroft men so willed it, that Double Norwich got its name. They called it Court Bob Major, believing it to be the proper eight bell extension of Court Bob Minor. Outsiders called it Norwich Court, thereby saying, in so many words, that it was not really Court Bob, but only what the Norwich men thought was it.

The modern rule, if rule as yet it is, has been heard of only in the last few years. It originated with one who, if not still a young man, would I fancy be much put out if you were to hint that he is not still in the prime of life; one to whom the Exercise owes many good things connected with methods, I mean the Rev. E. Bankes James. Once upon a time he said to such as were concerned, 'Here is a good method, fit for any band to ring, and the band that rings it, shall have the honour of giving it a name.' Which they did.

If the Exercise has had any rule at all, it is that the man who first produced a method had the right to name it—the man who, as the Ancients said, 'first found it out,' or, as the Moderns say, 'composed it,' or, as Henry Dains used to say 'made it.' It was a nice, compact, logical theory, and ran something like this: 'Mr. Jones sat down with pencil and paper and made a method, much as he might sit down (or stand, if so minded) and make a table. When he had finished what he had made was his own property to do with as he chose, to put in the waste paper basket (assuming he possessed one) or to ring (if he could get a hand to help him) or to publish (if the Editor pleased) or to name. His rights were those of a creative artist over his creation; the same rights that Shakespeare had in 'Hamlet,' or Milton had in 'Paradise Lost.' Just the same, for there was no legal copyright in any case; and different only in this, that while Milton got twenty pounds for 'Paradise Lost,' I have not yet come across anyone rich enough to give twenty pence for the best of methods (a real pity when I consider the very fine assortment of methods I have by me). That was the theory. So the 'Clavis' people named Superlative, what they proudly proclaimed as 'our own.' So Shipway named his 'Principle.' So Sottansall named a half-dozen or so methods I have forgotten. So Hubbard named 'Yorkshire Court.' So Heywood named 'Duffield.' So Henry Dains named 'Barnsbury,' and others. So Mr. Carter named 'Forward,' and so on.

But during these last few years we have found out something about method construction. Methods have ceased to be artistic creations, and developed (or degenerated—please yourself) into expressions of mathematical law. You work out a formula, and your methods come by the bushel. As if one set up a sausage machine, and, turning the handle, sausages come to your heart's content. Where they used to get methods singly and with much thought, we can get them by dozens. Dozens did I say? By hundreds! Nay, if you don't tie yourself down to eight or ten bells, but go into the higher numbers, you can have them by thousands; aye, and millions. And if you really do want to know something about methods you must go into the higher numbers, up to twenty bells, say, which will give you plenty of elbow room and space to turn yourself about in. If you go much further you will find, I fear, that your stationery bill will go up.

Well, all this must upset the old ideas of the relation between method and composer. If I were a father, I think I could remember, and reasonably well look after a couple or so of sons.

But when it comes to such family as Ahab had, seventy of them, why, the case is altered. You cannot expect a man to own and maintain rights in hundreds and thousands of methods. It can't be done. Am I, every time a new method appears, to go through a mass of figures to find out whether it is there or no, in extenso, in skeleton, or in formula, explicitly or implicitly, directly or in variation? The gods forbid!

Besides, if a man gets harmless pleasure in thinking he is the first to write down a certain set of figures, who am I to dash his joy? He may have all my rights and privileges in the matter and welcome. After all, they are a precious poor and scanty lot. For a long time the old theory of authorship has been wearing thin. It was well enough when methods were few, and those seeking them fewer still. But now, when many men for many years, have been working at them, who can say who was the first that actually discovered any particular method? Wherefore men said he who first published a method is the owner. And pray what does he own? He has got no solid, sordid, mercenary rights in the shape of royalties for performance. You don't put his name on your peal boards as you do the composers of peals. He cannot claim the certain credit for being the first who had the method. And now you are depriving him of the right to name the method.

Let us, however, not dispise these retail dealers in methods. They have their uses. Many a really good method would be forgotten, overlooked in the very mass of its relations and friends, if it were not that some men still painfully work out methods row by row. But the retailer must not think he holds the old position that Annable and Reeves and Porter and Shipway held. No, nor yet the position that Sir Arthur Heywood and Henry Dains held, or the position that he himself held in his youth, assuming that he dates from, say, the Diamond Jubilee, or earlier. We have altered all that. Did you ask who the 'we' are? I shall not tell you. Find out for yourself if you want to know. Only it does not include Mr. — or Mr. —. They, as everyone can see, are still under the old thrallidom. Nor Mr. —. He has just brains enough to write down figures and no eyes to see anything further. Moreover, he will tell you he does not agree with you, and that everybody has a right to his own opinions. That stamps him at once as hopeless and a reprobate. Don't argue with him. Let him alone in his blindness.

There is one unflinching test that you can apply. If anyone tells you that he is the composer, owner, author, or 'only begetter' of any method soever, then be sure that he knows nothing whatever of method construction. Do I make myself clear? I say not that his knowledge is limited or defective or rudimentary, but that he has got none at all; he knows nothing about it. Do please, Mr. Editor, impress this on your readers. I would get you to put it in big black capitals, only I hate the sight of them in a printed page. The man who says he is the author of any method knows nothing whatever about method construction. Have you got it? So we will proceed further.

Well, as the old rule has gone, it does not matter much who names new methods, provided the job is done properly. But there's the rub. Do you think it is an easy task. Good, simple soul, it is the hardest of jobs. It takes a keen ear for words as words, and a lively sense of the fitness of things—qualities you will not pick up at every street corner. And do not think it matters much whether a method is named properly or not. Its future depends on its name more than you wot of. I could show how this is true about men's names. How Benjamin must be a bit of a sneak, and Tom rather given to bullying; or at any rate how they ought to be, if they are not. But I have not the time, and besides it has been done before, and if I passed it off as my own, some kind friend would be sure to bowl me out.

The trouble we are in over the names of the Six Bell Methods is due entirely to the neglect of duty and cowardice on the part of the Method Committee, which in this connection means Mr. Law James and myself. Twice we failed lamentably. Once, when we sent out our book without names, we said it was so that the bands who rang the methods could name them. Really we did not know what methods had already been named and what not. Just think what hot water we should have got into had we called a method 'Wapping,' which had previously been rung as 'Shadwell.' And, secondly, when the time came that the naming had to be done, we handed the job over to the Analysis Committee. They were clamouring for it to be done. Very well. Let them get on with it themselves. And a pretty mess they have made of it. Oh, I know their scheme was a thorough one, their intentions excellent. But the result is an Awful Example. And here a word to you that think the thing so easy and simple. If these men with all their knowledge and experience could go so far astray, what hope is there for you to keep the straight path? Have you considered how fine a line divides complete success from utter failure? If you don't want to take refuge in the stodgy and commonplace, you must balance yourself, as it were, on a razor's edge. There is our familiar Grandsire Triples; a good dignified name with just that suggestion of the method's history which a really first-class name should have. But alter it just a bit. Call it Grandfather Triples, and you turn it into a thing for laughter.

Then there was a method, an excellent method, they rang a year or two ago in Kent as 'Victory Major.' That is the sort of thing these misguided persons did when they called a part of the unoffending county of Sussex, 'Peacehaven.' Change but one letter of the methods name, call it Victoria Major, and you have got almost as good a title as you want.

My strong advice is avoid adjectives as names. You may make a brilliant success, you are far more likely to make an abject failure. New Bob is a confusion of utter impotence. Superlative, taking all things into consideration, is a great success. But Premier? No, that won't do. It (quite and absolutely without the intention of the band that rang it) suggests a lie. For how can a method be premier which is but a second-hand variation of a much better method?

Sottanstill has some bad names, but as the methods are dead and done for, let their dishonoured corpses rest in peace. 'Princess

Mary' is bad (I mean the method's title; I have all due respect for royalty).

No, if you would be safe keep yourself to the names of towns and villages. But you must not think you are out of the wood yet. Place-names vary in an extraordinary degree. What mischievous imp prompted people to call a good method 'Pudsey Surprise'? Are there no good names in all the broad acres of Yorkshire that they must needs light on just that one? I know they will tell me that they had good and sufficient reasons for what they did. I believe them fully, but it does not make the name a good one. Now, when I for certain reasons published the method years ago, I called it Chichester Surprise. Judge which of the two is the better. And some years ago a couple of methods were rung, one as Reddish Major, the other as Leek Major. It sounds like one of Mr. Beeston's visits to Covent Garden, but they are the names of towns. Anyhow, they ought not to be used as names of methods, for ringers owe something to the Exercise at large. The Exercise owns the methods if anyone does; and what man of taste would willingly ring Pudsey or Leek or Reddish?

Use some sense of proportion in your names. Don't give the names of counties and cities to methods no one will want to ring. Fortunately the Exercise has been on the whole happily served in this respect. London is the name of the first of all methods. Cambridge and Oxford and Norwich and Bristol and Kent are the names of methods people will always ring. So let it be. There are plenty of fine names among the towns and villages of England to choose from. Such as Marlborough and Sandringham, and Beverley, and such like. What we want is the quality that Harry Hotspur demanded in his wife's swear words, a good 'mouth-filling' name.

'YORKSHIRE GLORY.'

Dear Sir,—I write, on this occasion, in the town and county in which dwells the record for 'the naming of methods.' No county has had a 'hand' in christening methods (in the past) to the extent that Yorkshire has, and Yorkshire still possesses the record for six-bell ringing, 15,120 in 21 extents. Well may we say of this record, 'Nemo me impune lacessit.' Of a truth we can say the same where our right to christen our methods is concerned. Your leading article this week deals with the agenda for the coming Council meeting, and the most prominent item seems to be the nomenclature of methods. I should like to point out to all concerned that the Council is unable to determine what or what not we shall christen our methods—the Council is the power which can suggest that only 'topographical' names should be used. In that they are in order, but beyond that they cannot go. Ringers, in their own way, preach the service of a Great Creator, and they proclaim from His steeples the greatness of His works, and call all and sundry to bow the knee to His shrine.

Among our ranks there are many who take exception to the various floral names applied to six-bell methods: Geranium, Bluebell, Primrose, Hyacinth, Foxglove, Violet, Woodbine and Snowdrop. I should just like to ask those who quibble about nomenclature if there is in the whole of the universe any more potent symbol of the might of the Almighty, whose praises we fling far and wide from our steeples, than the beautiful creation we find on the lawns of old England, viz., the Snowdrop, or the Violet which we find in our hedgerows. Let us be consistent in our worship.

There is no doubt that 'topographical' names are the most suitable; they pin the method to the place where it was first rung; but who is to deny our right to call a method 'Topographical Minor' (Delight or otherwise), that embraces all places! The Council is our advisory body, not our dictatorial body. This universe has thrown off the didactic stage, and is now able to think a little for itself, and we are waiting for our Council to give us a lead in these matters; not for it to thunder down at us an edict as to what we shall have to do. Canute told the sea, 'Thus far and no further shalt thou go,' but it 'was rude and wet his feet.' We shall do the same.

What is required is the revision of the names for Minor methods. Those which were christened years before the Council took the matter in hand must retain their names. Those who gave them these names have as much right to christen those methods as those who would rename them now. The only thing wrong is that enough evidence was not taken at the 'rechristening' job; too much haste was used, due regard was not paid to prior claims, chaos is the result.

Yorkshire has a great respect for the Council, and the good work it has done, but—it has a far greater respect for the pioneers of six-bell ringing who christened such methods as Snowdrop and Primrose. Their sponsors went to their rest decades ago, but their work still lives. Like the things of beauty after which they christened their strings of figures, they reappear as hardy annuals, and will live for ever, so will our right to bestow the name we think most fitting on the work we have had a hand in foisting on to the hapless Exercise.

Those who grumble should have gotten a move on, and done it before we did, for honestly, sir, on perusing your columns I find that the biggest grouseers are those who have named the least methods. Trinity and Easter Sundays may not suit the Euphoniacs—well and good. Let them get a move on, and ring and christen all the eight-bell methods, then we shall not offend them. Neither shall we fiddle while Rome burns. Names are of small import to the welfare of the Exercise compared with the 'register of compositions'—or the history of the art, compiled to date in book form. The 'expressed desire of the Exercise' is not in the mouth of the one person who voices a subject at the Council meeting. That the hon. member for Blankshire expresses the opinions of the Blankshire electorate has long been an exploded theory. You send 'em in with a blue flag, and their first speech is red (and read) to the last splash.

The motion before the Council re 'umpires for handbell peals' is good. We can, any of us, ring a peal 'in hand' in the Smithy, if it please us. We ring it because it tickles our fancy, but no peal should be counted in an association report unless the Umpire has passed an 'exam.' on taking off course ends. Peals without such umpires are not worth the paper they are printed on. Ring 'em, as many as you like, but do not expect to get them printed at the expense of the Guild as a whole when only 'four' had any fun out of it.

Motion No 15 ought never to have been inserted on the agenda. Our 'Scientists' should have done that years ago—made their work like that which Caesar required—above suspicion. That in itself is more important than a paltry name. Why should Stedman stand, and names of other men be erased? Grandsire, as a name, is meaningless, not even topographical, much less euphonic, but to ringers who have rung it it signifies a lot. Leave Stedman alone; let Shipway be—we shall call it so if we wish. Carter's principal is what we wish it to be, and leave Billy 'Woodcock's Victory' in the Minor Collection, and get work done this year—not fritter away yet one more good Whitsun Tuesday. And rechristen the undersigned, an' it lies in your power, my Merrie Gentlemen.

SAMIWELL PEPPERY.

WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

PORTSMOUTH DISTRICT'S SUCCESSFUL MEETING AT PRIVETT.

A well-attended meeting of the Portsmouth district was held at Privett on Saturday last, when over 40 ringers were present. The fine weather brought the members from Alton, Bishop's Waltham, Curdridge, Fareham, Farnham, North Stoneham, Portsmouth (St. Mary's and St. Thomas'), Swanmore, Shedfield, Wickham, and Winchester. Among those present were Mr. G. Williams (Master), Mr. G. Pullinger (general secretary), Mr. J. S. Goldsmith (Woking), and the Rev. E. Banks James.

A very enjoyable service was held in the church at 5 o'clock, at which the Vicar of Privett (the Rev. A. E. Edge), in a well-chosen address extended a welcome to the Guild on that and future occasions. Tea was served in the Schoolrooms, where about twenty more than the expected number had to partake of the food provided. It is a pity that members cannot inform the secretary of their intention of coming so that the necessary arrangements can be made. However, as it was a fine day the weather had to take the blame.

The Vicar presided over the business meeting which followed. Several new members and probationary members were elected, and the election of Mr. G. Norgate, of Privett, was confirmed by those present.

It was unanimously decided to hold the next quarterly meeting at Titchfield, the date to be left open: due notice, however, will be given in 'The Ringing World.'

A hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and also to the steepkeeper and organist for their services, concluded the business meeting.

The members then adjourned to the tower, where further ringing was indulged in. The methods rung included Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob and Kent Treble Bob Major, Cambridge, London, and Berkeley Surprise Major.

RINGERS AS CHURCHWARDENS.

At Whitwick, Leicester, three members of the Whitwick Church Society of Change Ringers have in recent years held the office of churchwarden, viz.:—

(1) Mr. S. W. West, retired from that office three years ago, having served two terms, altogether 13 years, in addition to having held almost every other office a layman can hold in the church.

(2) Mr. R. P. Roulston was appointed Vicar's warden last year, and has just retired owing to ill-health.

(3) Mr. J. Walton was elected people's warden this year.

May I ask, does this constitute a record? It will be interesting to have your readers' views. Mr. Roulston is also a lay reader, chorister, and superintendent of the Sunday School.—Yours truly,

STORER W. WEST.

DEVON GUILD'S JUBILEE.

Among the gatherings of ringers held on Monday, one stands out as of special interest—the Devon Guild festival at Exeter, which, in addition to being the annual meeting, celebrated the jubilee of the society. In the past the Devon Guild has not loomed large in the eye of the Exercise, and it may be a surprise to many to know that it was one of the very first of the modern ringing organisations which were established to cover county or diocesan areas. These new associations have been conducted on a different principle to the old societies, which were general in their character, like the College Youths, or centred on one tower like the former St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham. They opened up a new era, in ringing organisation, for their special purpose was to draw together the towers within a specified area the territory embraced being generally of county or diocesan limit. They grew out of the desire, which arose half a century ago among men who sought to improve the art of ringing and the standing of the Exercise, to provide a means of encouraging ringing and of placing it upon a higher plane than it had hitherto occupied, not only as a science, but also in the opinion of the public, for in those days there were many things associated with ringing which now would not be tolerated for a moment by the ringers themselves.

Those who founded the Devon Guild in the year 1874 were among the pioneers in this work, and the example which was thus set was quickly followed in other counties and dioceses. The idea of ringers' associations 'caught on,' and in the ten or fifteen years which followed the formation of the Devon Guild, similar organisations sprang up throughout the country. There are, happily, still in the active ranks of ringers a few men who helped to establish the Devon Guild fifty years ago, and it must have been to them a matter not merely of gratification, but of real rejoicing, to witness the splendid gathering of men of Devon in the old cathedral city on Monday to celebrate the completion of the first half-hundred years of work. What this work has been, its trials, its disappointments, as well as its successes, only those who have laboured in the task can know. For years the ringers in the county did not take kindly either to the Guild or to the art of change ringing, but steadfast perseverance has at length had its reward, and while Devon cannot even yet boast of a standard of change ringing such as has been achieved in some other counties, the ringers themselves have reached a realisation of the advantages of co-operation which the Guild offers, its objects are appreciated and its membership is growing in a most satisfactory way. Devon is geographically a difficult county to organise, and this has been one of the handicaps of the past. The new spirit and enterprise which has been manifested in the management in recent years has, however, overcome many of the obstacles, and it now only needs the sympathetic co-operation of those clergy who are not already giving their help to bring within the Guild the towers which still, for one reason or another, hold aloof. The Devon Guild made a landmark fifty years ago; its jubilee forms another in the history of the Exercise.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

SOUTH-EASTERN DIVISION.

A quarterly meeting was held at Rettendon on Saturday, May 24th. The bells were kept going during the afternoon, and service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. Norman). Tea was kindly provided by Mrs. Meeson at Rettendon Place, about 25 members sitting down, representing Broomfield, Chelmsford, Maldon, Writtle, and the local company.

At the business meeting, Messrs. Cyril Frost and Joseph Theohald, of Rettendon, and G. Cooper, of Chelmsford, were elected members.

Galleywood was chosen for the annual district meeting in September, and it was left for the Master and secretary to arrange a by-meeting at Ford End.

Mr. F. W. Edwards proposed a vote of thanks to the Rector for the service and the use of the bells, also to Mrs. Meeson for providing such an excellent tea. — Touches were afterwards rung on the handbells, and the tower was again visited, the methods rung including Cambridge Surprise.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

GETTING TO WORK IN NORTH DORSET.

The first meeting of this newly-formed North Dorset Branch was held at Shaftesbury on Saturday, May 24th. Fifty members were present, representing twelve different towers, with a few visitors from Somerset branches.

A service was held at Holy Trinity Church, at which the Rector (the Rev. W. F. Aldous) gave the address.

After tea a business meeting was held, at which four clerical hon. members and two clerical ringing members, and the ringers of Motcombe, were elected members of the Guild.

The bells in the following towers were rung by members of the Guild, Holy Trinity and St. Peter's, Shaftesbury; Motcombe, Fortwell Magna and Compton Abbas.

NORTH NOTTS ASSOCIATION.

A SATISFACTORY YEAR.

The 37th annual general meeting was held at East Retford on Saturday, May 31st. Owing to the unsettled and showery weather, and other district meetings, the attendance was smaller than usual; nevertheless a keen and enthusiastic number turned up on wheel and aud on foot from the following places: Anston, Shireoaks, Barlborough, Norton Cuckney, Treeton, Sheffield Cathedral, Southwell Cathedral, Rotherham, Gainsborough, Collingham, Ossington, West Retford and Ordsall, Harworth, Sutton-on-Trent, Lanton, and Worksop. A great variety of methods was rung on the six and ten-bell peals, which were placed at the disposal of ringers by the three incumbents, including Kent, Oxford and Violet Treble Bob, and Cambridge Surprise on six bells, Grandsire Triples and Caters, Stedman Triples and Caters, and Kent Treble Bob Major on the eight and ten bells.

Divine service was held in the Ladies Chapel of the Parish Church, and a most inspiring address was given by the Vicar (the Rev. C. Bailey, who was 'bright, brief, and brotherly.' In the course of his remarks, he assured the members of a most hearty welcome to East Retford. He described the art of change ringing as one of a most interesting character, and was gratified to know that its exponents now realised their true position and that of their art as a branch of church work.

Tea was served at Cook's Cafe, Carolgate, to upwards of 35 members and friends.

The usual business meeting followed, presided over by the Rev. C. Bailey, supported by the hon. secretary (Mr. H. Haigh), and others. The annual report was passed as printed.—It was unanimously agreed that the next district meeting be held at Gamston on Saturday, June 21st. The ring of five bells had been recently rehung and retuned and a new treble bell added as a war memorial to make a ring of six, and the ringers, including Mr. Herbert Smith, of Gamston House, had all promised to join the association after the reopening of the bells on June 7th, when the dedication would be performed by the Lord Bishop of Southwell, and a band of ringers chosen by the hon. secretary.

The vice-presidents were re-elected en bloc. Mr. H. Haigh was re-elected hon. secretary, and Mr. Horace Weaver, of Worksop, was elected assistant hon. secretary, in the place of Mr. D. A. Piercy (resigned).

The following were duly elected members: Mr. Herbert Smith, of Gamston House, and six ringers for the Gamston tower, Messrs. R. Ashforth, G. Brown, W. Rich, H. Morris, C. Carnall and C. Ashforth; John Wand, Ordsall; James Wallhead, Collingham.

The hon. secretary has only missed one district meeting since 1909, and it was unanimously agreed that in future his travelling expenses should be paid.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the three incumbents of the town for the use of the bells during the day, and to the Rev. Charles Bailey for his most interesting address, and also for presiding over the tea and meeting; to the tea makers, and also to those who had helped to make the meeting a success.—The Rev. C. Bailey briefly replied. — Further ringing was indulged in at the towers until 8.30 p.m.

The membership roll up to the end of the year contains the names of 19 vice-presidents, 220 performing, probationary, unattached, and non-resident life members, whilst the balance in the bank amounted to £22 19s. 9d., or a gain on the year's working of 9s. 2d.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The spring meeting of the Tonbridge District was held at Kiln-down on Saturday, May 24th, and was attended by members from Hawkhurst, Horsmonden, Lamberhurst, Frittenden, Penshurst, Tunbridge Wells, and the local band.—The Vicar (Rev. H. B. Langton) conducted the usual service, and also gave an excellent address. The organist (Mr. J. A. Ager) presided at the organ, and the choir was present, as was also Capt. A. W. J. Cecil (Vicar's warden).

Tea, partaken of at the Globe and Rainbow Hotel, was followed by the business meeting, the Vicar presiding, supported by Capt. Cecil.—Seven new members were elected.

Mention was made that the bells at Brechley Church were being recast and rehung, and the view was expressed that the association would welcome the Brechley ringers into the association with the object of teaching them the art of change ringing.

Hearty votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and for conducting the service and presiding at the meeting, to the organist, and his assistant and choir for their services, to Mr. F. Pattenden, captain of the local band, for making the arrangements, and to Captain Cecil for his attendance.

Ringings in various Minor methods, including Cambridge Surprise, took place in the afternoon and evening.

A HINT TO DEVON CLERGY.

A meeting of the Mid-Devon branch of the Devon Guild, held at Stoke Gabriel, was attended by ringers from Cockington, Collaton, Paignton, Torquay and Buckfastleigh. Grandsire and Stedman Doubles were rung, and a short and enjoyable service was held, at which the Vicar gave an address.

At the business meeting a vote of condolence was passed to the widow of the late Mr. S. Hines, who was a member of the branch.

Dartington and Totnes were decided on for the next meeting.

The Rev. L. W. Browne, of Collaton, said that was the first branch meeting he had the pleasure of attending, and was delighted to know that there was a service connected with the meetings of the Guild. He thought it brought the ringers in closer touch with the Church, and so helped to raise the status of the ringers. He believed, years ago, the ringers had not been looked upon as part of the Church workers. He regretted that he was the only clergyman present, and thought the clergy ought to join with the ringers more and attend those meetings, and so help to set up a closer connection between the Church and the ringers (applause).

Mr. H. Hole (hon. secretary) proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar, the organist and choir for the beautiful service, which one and all very much appreciated.—The Vicar replied, remarking that he was proud of their beautiful bells, and was always pleased to welcome different bands of ringers to the parish.—Mr. Lawrence was also thanked for his kindness.

Further ringing followed the meeting.

'METHODS BY THE BUSHEL.'

To the Editor.

Sir,—In the earliest days of civilisation there were probably very few arbitrary laws on any subject, but as time progressed the clever men and women of their day foisted on their hapless brethren many arbitrary laws in religion, science, etc., and these dogmatists did not hesitate to execute by burning, etc., anyone who opposed their dictums.

Thank goodness we are not quite as savage as our forefathers, but unfortunately we still have dogmatists on any and every subject under the sun, and the science of change ringing is not exempt.

In the early days of change ringing there were no arbitrary definitions; and although some of the arbitrary definitions of later years are quite good in themselves, in the matter of method construction they have been a curse instead of a blessing, and have obscured the truth instead of revealing it.

Certain people tell us to-day, that they and they only, possess the secret of method construction, and I challenge the great little WE, mentioned in Mr. Trollope's article, to prove the construction of London Surprise Minor and Major by their particular formula.

If they are unable to do this their formula is imperfect, because it is quite easy to prove the construction of London Surprise Minor and Major, and to demonstrate that they are one and the same method.

I submit that a formula which will produce certain classes of 'methods by the bushel,' but which will not explain the construction of every method, principle and system, is not complete; in fact, such a formula is only one more arbitrary definition.—Yours faithfully,

GEORGE BAKER.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION.

The quarterly meeting of the Bristol Branch of the above Association was held at Marshfield on Saturday, May 24th. A small charabanc conveyed a party from Bristol, including the Rev. T. E. Fowler (vice-president) and Mr. E. Guise (hon. secretary). At Marshfield Mr. E. Lewis met the ringers, and the bells were raised in peal, and a touch of Stedman Triples brought round, followed by Grandsire and Double Norwich, in which Miss N. G. Williams, of Bath, and Mr. T. Lambeth, of Chippenham, took part. Service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. L. O. Asplin), and the Rev. T. E. Fowler read the lesson. An excellent tea had been arranged by Mr. and Mrs. Lewis at their residence, and was followed by the meeting. About 20 members were present, including Mr. J. T. Dyke, of Midsomer Norton. Mr. Pryce Taylor, of Loughborough, was made a life member; Mr. Norman Driver, associate member; Messrs. A. Nash, S. Lewis and E. Tyler, performing members. The following belfry elections were also confirmed: Messrs. F. G. May, S. Phillips and J. Richmond.

The next monthly meetings were fixed for Bitton on Saturday, June 21st, and Dyrham on Saturday, July 19th, the next quarterly meeting to be held at Coalpit Heath, the date not being fixed.

Mr. H. T. Howell moved that a letter of sympathy be sent to the Rev. F. Rogers, of Warmley, who has had a long illness.

A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and for officiating at the service, to the organist and organ blower; also to Mr. and Mrs. Lewis for kindly arranging the excellent tea.

The tower was afterwards visited and several touches rung, concluding with a course of Cambridge Major.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.WESTERN DISTRICT.

A meeting of the above district was held on Saturday, May 31st, at Northchurch. The bells, hung anti-clockwise, were utilised afternoon and evening by a company representing Hemel Hempstead, King's Langley, Berkhamstead, Watford, Oxhey, and the local tower, the methods rung being Grandsire Doubles, Plain Bob, Kent, Oxford Bob, Double Oxford, Single and Double Court.

A short service was held, conducted by the Rector (the Rev. R. H. Pepe), who cordially invited all to partake of tea with him in the Church Room.

After tea, the Rector presided at a short meeting, when the election of two new members was confirmed. (Elected previous to a peal at Leighton Buzzard.)

Apsley was chosen for the next meeting on July 19th.—A vote of sympathy was passed to one of the local ringers on his recent sad bereavement, the Vicar undertaking to convey the same to him.—A vote of thanks was cordially accorded to the Rector for his hospitality, etc.—This concluded the meeting, the ringers adjourning to the tower for further ringing.

Ringers at the Western end of Herts would benefit by the advice, 'Look out for the next Northchurch meeting!'

HEREFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.VETERANS RING TOGETHER AT BENNINGTON.

A most enjoyable meeting of the Eastern District was held on Saturday week at the historical and old-world village of Bennington. A warm welcome from the Rector (the Rev. W. E. Mills) awaited all who came, and a tea was generously provided by him in the Parochial Hall, to which 29 sat down, representing thirteen towers—not a bad record when it is remembered that Bennington lies four miles from the nearest station.

The business meeting was held under the presidency of the Rector, and a very hearty vote of thanks was accorded him for his generosity, and for the welcome once again extended.

Touches in various methods were brought round, and good practice obtained, Cambridge Surprise being the highest attained. A most interesting event took place in connection with the ringing. Mr. S. Page and Mr. L. Chapman, aged 75 and 78 respectively, rang a course of Double Norwich side by side on the 4th and 5th as they stood in a peal in the year 1873. They also took part in a course of Treble Bob Major.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

A most enjoyable afternoon and evening were spent at Shepshed on Saturday, May 31st. The church, standing very high above the village, which can be seen for many miles around, was visited by some 30 members from various towers, including Hugglescote, Ibstock, Loughborough, Kegworth, Kingston-on-Soar, Whitwick, and the local ringers.

The Vicar (the Rev. D. E. K. Llewelyn, B.A.) gave a most helpful address, and afterwards presided at the business meeting. Both he and the churchwarden (Mr. Merriman) were made hon. members of the association.

Stanford-on-Soar was chosen for the next meeting on Saturday, July 5th.

After the meeting a presentation was made to Mr. W. Johnson upon retiring from his post as captain of the Shepshed ringers, after 41 years' regular service. He was presented with a handsome gold watch as a token of respect and appreciation for his valuable services.—A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar for the use of the bells and his most appropriate sermon.

The ringers then visited the tower again, and some well-tapped touches of Stedman, Grandsire and Bob Major were brought round.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

When cycling home to West End, Southampton, from the Winchester Guild meeting at Privett on Saturday week, Mr. George Williams met with a bad accident. He was run into by another cyclist, thrown from his machine, and badly bruised and shaken. His machine was smashed. Mr. Williams had to have medical attention, and for a time was confined to bed.

Mrs. Frank Hairs, who has accomplished many noteworthy performances, including that of being the first lady to ring a pair of handbells to a Surprise peal, has now scored a peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus, being again the first lady to achieve this distinction.

The peal of Grandsire Doubles, the first on the new bells at Seaford, Sussex, should be credited to the Sussex County Association.

The new peal of six bells at Thurlaston, Leicestershire, by the Loughborough Foundry, is to be dedicated by the Bishop of Leicester on Thursday next.

Ringers in the old days did not get their peals without effort. The first peal on the bells at Ashbourne, Derbyshire, was rung on June 13th, 1821. The method was Grandsire, conducted by G. Dickisson, and it was rung by men from Nottingham, who had to walk the 27 miles each way. There was a free fight in the churchyard with the Ashbourne ringers after the peal.

The first peal of Stedman Caters 'on handbells retained in hand' was rung on June 15th, 1851, at the Osborn Arms, Heneage Street, London, by John Cox, George Ferris, William Cooter, Matt. Wood, and James Dwight.

Eighty years ago next Wednesday Jasper Snowden was born at Ilkley, Leeds.

The first peal at Lincoln Cathedral—Kent Treble Bob Major—was rung on June 15th, 1886, conducted by F. E. Dawe.

A peal of 5,080 Treble Bob Royal was rung at Shoreditch on June 16th, 1816, in which William Shipway, and William Booth, of Sheffield (the late Mr. C. H. Hattersley's grandfather) took part, and which was called by George Gross.

As we reminded our readers last week, Friday was the 32nd anniversary of the 16,608 Oxford Treble Bob at Debenham. On Saturday a commemorative peal was rung in the same method at Debenham, in which the four survivors of the former record took part, viz., Messrs. Wm. G. Crickmer, David Collins, Robert Brundle and Fred Tillet. They are not so young as they were, but they still enjoy a good peal.

Mr. C. F. Winney writes: It was interesting to note that Miss H. F. Willson was the first lady to ring two peals in one day, but as a matter of history, Miss Margaret H. Nicholls (now Mrs. Shurtleff), of Boston, U.S.A., rang two handbell peals on August 17th, 1902 (Sunday) They were Stedman Triples and Holt's Original, umpired by Joseph Barry and Dr. A. H. Nicholls.

The eight bells at Bletchley, Bucks, are being removed from the tower this week. They are going to the Loughborough Foundry to be tuned, and when they are returned will be hung in a new frame with all modern fittings.

Mr. H. Fairclough, Master of Chester Diocesan Guild, who, with his wife, visited London for the Central Council meeting, found all the hotels full, and consequently had to sleep for two nights in their motor-car!

STOWMARKET RINGER'S DEATH.

The Stowmarket company have lost another of their members in the person of Mr. W. D. Welham, who died after an operation in the East Suffolk Hospital, at the age of 62 years. Deceased had rung at Stowmarket for over 40 years, and had taken part in about 14 peals for the Norwich Association.

The funeral took place on Thursday, June 5th, at Stowmarket Cemetery. Although the company were unable to ring on that day, they sent a floral tribute, and on Saturday evening last rang, at the Parish Church, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes), with the bells half-muffled to the memory of their deceased comrade: W. Souter (conductor) 1, G. Waltham 2, C. Alderton 3, S. Sparrow 4, F. Allard 5, E. Davey 6, A. Grimwood 7, H. Copeland 8.

'DOUBLE-HANDED' TOWER BELL RINGING.

Mr. E. Hims, of Bicester, on Sunday evening, rang two tower bells at his parish church to a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples. The quarter-peal had been arranged for Mr. Hims' birthday, and, one man failing to turn up, Mr. Hims rang the 2nd and 3rd, and called the touch, which occupied 45 mins.: J. Evans 1, E. Hims (conductor) 2 and 3, W. Scarrott 4, B. Cox 5, F. A. Clifton 6, P. Neale 7, T. Clifton 8.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

A SUMMARY OF TUESDAY'S MEETING.

The first session of the twelfth Council was held on Tuesday in the Jerusalem Chamber of Westminster Abbey. There was an attendance of nearly ninety members from all parts of the country, who were welcomed by the Dean (Bishop Ryle).

Canon G. F. Coleridge was re-elected president, Mr. E. Alex. Young hon. secretary and treasurer, and the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn hon. librarian.

An interesting feature of the proceedings was the presentation to the Rev. C. D. P. Davies of a silver cup, suitably inscribed, in recognition of his long and valuable services to the Council as hon. secretary and treasurer from 1902 to 1921.

The statement of accounts showed that the Council's receipts during the year were £13 from affiliation fees, and 24 9s. 4d. interest on stock. The expenditure amounted to £31 10s. 10d., including the £20 voted last year for the Roll of Honour, and £2 5s. 8d. loss on the sale of publications.

The Librarian laid before the Council the completed Roll of Honour of ringers who fell in the war. The work was executed by Mr. Cousins, of Cambridge, and is a most beautifully illuminated volume containing 1,071 names. Bound in royal blue leather it has been described by an authority at the British Museum as one of the finest pieces of modern illumination ever shown. With the consent of the Dean it is to be placed in the library of St. Paul's Cathedral.

The retiring hon. members, with the exception of Mr. R. A. Daniel, were re-elected, and the names of Mr. E. A. Young and Mr. J. Griffin added.

The Standing Committee were re-elected with the exception of Mr. Daniel and Mr. A. E. Parsons, and with the addition of Alderman J. S. Pritchett and Messrs. A. A. Hughes, Cyril F. Johnston and Pryce Taylor.

The Peal Collection and Literature and Press Committees were re-elected, Mr. A. Paddon Smith being added to the latter.

The Methods Committee was also re-elected. The Rev. E. W. Carpenter retired from the Peals Analysis Committee, and Miss E. K. Parker was elected to fill the vacancy.

The Towers and Belfries Committee was re-elected, with the addition of Mr. H. Fairclough, and a resolution was passed, on the motion of Canon Baker, seconded by the Rev. H. Drake, 'that the Council strongly urge that each Diocesan Advisory Committee should include at least one member having expert knowledge of bells, bell hanging and change ringing, and that this resolution be communicated to the secretary of each Advisory Committee, and to the secretaries of the Diocesan Conferences.'

The Records Committee was re-elected, as was also the Science Museum Exhibit Committee.

Except in the cases of the Literature and Press Committee and the Peals Analysis Committee, which reports had already been published in our columns, verbal reports of the committees' work were presented.

The three resolutions on the agenda dealing with the nomenclature of methods were dealt with in one motion, moved by Mr. G. P. Burton, who moved, 'To call attention to the nomenclature of methods and to move the appointment of a Nomenclature Committee: (1) To review existing method nomenclature; (2) to prepare suitable topographical names for the future; and (3) to formulate a plan for the application of such names.'

The resolution was divided, and after discussion the first part to the end of (1) was carried by 34 votes to 29.

An amendment to clauses (2) and (3), to read '(2) to suggest a suitable system of nomenclature for the future,' was moved by the Rev. F. L. Edwards, and carried nem. dis. A motion postponing the appointment of the committee until the next Council meeting, moved by Ald. Pritchett, was defeated by 35 votes to 32.

The following committee was then appointed: Mr. G. P. Burton, Rev. H. Drake, Messrs. A. D. Barker, T. H. Beams and A. L. Coleman.

Mr. T. H. Taffender moved 'that this Council only recognise as peals upon handbells, those that have been umpired, and that the qualification of an umpire shall be that of being able to ring the method and check each call as made. — The motion was defeated, only two voting in favour of it, it being pointed out that the rules of the Council already provide that an umpire shall be provided where practicable.

Mr. T. H. Beams proposed a motion to omit from Rule 6 the words 'but that the meeting following the triennial election be always in London.' On being put, however, it was lost by a large majority.

The Council adopted a motion by Mr. J. Hunt that it be an instruction to the Methods Committee when revising the Collection of Minor Methods to include instructions as to how the bobs in these methods should be made.

On the recommendation of the Standing Committee, the Council adopted Chester as the place of the next annual meeting.

It was resolved that the Standing Committee be given power to approve and publish the card of suggestions for the care of bells, which had been drawn up by the hon. secretary.

On the motion of Canon Elsee, the Council commended to the support the ringing associations the proposal to erect in a suitable place in Oxford a memorial to the late Mr. James W. Washbrook.

Notice of a revision of the definition relating to peals on eight bells and upwards, so as to include peals in spliced methods, was given by Mr. W. A. Cave, and in connection with the ringing of a peal comprising fourteen 360's of Minor, to which attention was called by the Rev. H. Law James, the President mentioned that the Standing Committee proposed to take in hand the general revision of the rules and decisions of the Council.

A vote of thanks was passed to the Dean for the use of the historic chamber for the meeting, and the business proceedings terminated with a vote of thanks to the President.

A fuller report of the Council meeting will appear in our next and following issues.

In the evening ringing took place at Westminster Abbey, St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, and other churches, and later, members and friends gathered at the Bedford Head Hotel, where an enjoyable evening was spent.

A DATE TOUCH.

Clements 2, F. Bowtell 3, J. Webb 4, W. Flitton 5, A. G. Lilley 6. Rung in honour of the wedding of J. Lloyd Brown, of Lawstone House, Stockton-on-Tees, to Miss G. R. Bowen, eldest daughter of Mr. G. ST. GILES' SOCIETY, READING.

On Saturday, June 7th, members of the above society, and a few friends, numbering 18, visited Hagbourne and Blewbury. Journeying by charabanc and leaving Reading at 2 p.m., after a most enjoyable ride through the beautiful scenery of Berkshire, Hagbourne was reached at 3.30. They were met by an old and esteemed 'brother string,' Mr. T. East, who had the bells ready for use. Some very good touches of Stedman Triples, Bob Major, Oxford Treble Bob Major and Grandsire Triples were rung, and a move was then made to 'The Fleur De Lys,' where a capital tea had been prepared. Taking to the motor coach again, the journey was resumed to Blewbury, with its fine old church and noble peal of eight bells. Here again some splendid ringing was enjoyed. Mr. James, the local foreman, having all ready for the visitors on arrival. Adjournment to the Lion Inn, the party were met by several of the local ringers, and a musical evening was indulged in. No band of ringers could be made more welcome than were the Reading men by the Blewbury band. Reading was reached at 10.30 p.m., all having enjoyed the trip immensely. Through the medium of 'The Ringing World,' the visitors desire to convey their best thanks to all who helped to make the afternoon such a success. The conducting during the day was shared between Mr. E. Humphrey, Mr. W. Simmonds, L. T. Osborne and A. W. Osborne.

PEALS OF MINOR.

To the Editor.

Sir, — I am tempted to ask if the Committees of the Central Council act upon the resolutions of the Council. In your last issue you published the report of a peal, rung at Hanley Castle, which was made up of fourteen 360's. While I admire those who can ring a peal involving all these different methods, this form of peal ringing should be ruled out of court, according to the Central Council's decision of some twelve or fourteen years ago. This laid it down 'that a peal of Minor should consist of at least seven true and complete 720's, but that the 5,040 may be extended by the addition of one touch of less than 720 changes with or without extra 720's.' Now, what does this imply if it is not peals of Minor made up of 360's should no longer be rung?

No one, of course, can prevent a company ringing fourteen, or forty half-extents, if they so wish; but the Council, if they would have their recommendations acted upon, should not countenance such performances. Yet what do they do? Their committee includes these peals in the analysis, and there appear to be two such shown in the analysis published on May 23rd, one rung for the Hereford Guild and one for the Norfolk Guild. Let the Council be consistent, and either rescind their resolution relating to what should constitute a peal of Minor, or else treat these five thousands as 'performances' and not as peals.—Yours, etc.,

GUILD OF DEVONSHIRE RINGERS.

JUBILEE FESTIVAL AT EXETER.

The Jubilee Festival of the Guild of Devonshire ringers was celebrated at Exeter on Monday, when about 300 members belonging to the various branches in the county attended a special service in the nave of Exeter Cathedral, and subsequently a dinner and a business meeting at Dellars' Cafe.

A prominent figure at the gathering was the octogenarian ringer, the Rev. Maitland Kelly, who has now resigned the presidency of the Guild, a position he has held since 1896, when he succeeded the late Col. C. A. W. Troyte, of Huntsham, who was the first president on the formation of the Guild in 1874.

THE REV. MAITLAND KELLY, THE RETIRING PRESIDENT.

An interesting feature of the day was the ringing of the touch of St. Petrock's Church, which is the lightest peal in the city, by three of the oldest members of the Guild and three of the youngest. The seniors were the Rev. Maitland Kelly (the President of the Devon Guild), the Rev. Canon Coleridge, of Crowthorn, Berks, President of the Central Council, who is also a Devonshire man, and Mr. J. Moss, who for 57 years has been connected with the Exeter Cathedral Band. They were joined by three boys who are being trained at Sowton, a village near Exeter, by Mr. G. Betts.

Another notable feature in the day's programme was the visit of a ladies' band from St. Stephen's, Bristol, and a full Cinques band of Bristol ringers, who rang at the Cathedral. Touches were also rung at the City churches of St. David, St. Thomas and St. Sidwell.

At the meeting a list of original members of the Devonshire Guild was presented. It consisted of the following names: Revs. H. T. Ellacombe, Rector of Clyst St. George, who was vice-president in 1874; J. L. Fulford, Vicar of Woodbury; John L. L. Fulford, curate at Woodbury, who was secretary in 1874; R. Medley Fulford, Exeter, in whose office was held the first meeting of the Guild; W. F. Gore, Feniton Court, Honiton; Messrs. W. B. Fulford, who was treasurer in 1874; R. C. Merson, Tiverton; S. Mardon, Broadclyst; J. C. Palmer, East Budleigh; J. Sharland, Lympstone; A. Southey, Exeter; Col. C. A. W. Troyte, of Huntsham, who was president from 1874 to 1896; Mr. W. Banister, of Devonport, a vice-president; the Rev. C. S. Bere, of Uplowman, vice-president; the Rev. Maitland Kelly, June 15th, 1874, who was president from 1896 to 1924. In addition to the above names there were elected in 1874, on the same day as their president, the Rev. Arthur Du Boulay Hill, assistant at Winchester College and of East Bridgford, who is still a life member; and Mr. Henry Payne, of Huntsham. On December 28th, 1874, were elected the Rev. Canon Coleridge and Mr. W. J. Southwood, of Exeter, the last named being now the secretary of the Exeter district branch.

THE EARLY DAYS.

At the special service in the nave of the Cathedral the sermon was preached by the Rev. Canon Coleridge from Ephesians vi., part of the 18th verse: 'With all perseverance.' It was, he said, the Jubilee of the Devonshire Guild, and it was right and fitting that they should meet together in that glorious Mother Church of the Diocese, because they must always remember that church bellringers took an equal part with the choir and the clergy in the service of God. He would ask them to carry their minds back to 60 years ago, ten years before the formation of the Guild. What at that time was known of church bell-ringing—real ringing—in that county? It was left for all men to read on a tablet erected in the church at Kelly. The inscription ran as follows: 'Be it remembered that on Saturday, January 21st, 1865, three six scores Grandsire Triples were rung in this church, being the greatest number of changes ever rung in Devon by men of the county.' Very much about the same time the practice of change ringing was undertaken at Huntsham, because he had in his possession the first edition of a book which was the outcome of the early struggles of the ringers of that place, and which was dated 1869. At the same time change ringing was known in H.M. Dockyard at Devonport. Mr. William Banister, who had been in Woolwich Arsenal, was in charge. He cast two trebles there and hung them himself, and change ringing began. Change ringing was also known about that time at Penzance and Uplowman. As far as he could gather these were the only places where change ringing was cultivated in this part of the country. It was true that change ringing might have been heard here, but it was by foreign bands. For example, soon after Prince Consort died, the Rev. H. T. Ellacombe, of Clyst St. George, had bells cast and put up in memory of the Prince, but they were opened by Bristol men, who came down and rang Minor and six-scores of Stedman and Grandsire Doubles. In the early history of change ringing in the county certain names naturally came to the memory, first and foremost being the Rev. H. T. Ellacombe, the great modern purifier of church bellfries. Next to him came Charles Arthur Williams Troyte, of Huntsham, and next to him, William Banister. Then there were Col. Trelawney; their retiring president, the Rev. Maitland Kelly; the family of the Fulfords; Dr. Symons, of Penzance; Richard Merson, of Uplowman; Mr. Tucker and Mr. Chave, and later the brothers Shepherd, of Exeter. At the outset the Guild had many difficulties. The old round of ringers of the country made a dead set against the new methods. Much good had been done by the ringing tours in Devon and Cornwall, and men of the old school had come long distances anxious to learn everything. Schools had been even held in the churchyards, and explanations given to these men relative to the beauties of change ringing. Change ringing was being welcomed, but it would only be welcomed more and more the greater they persevered in their art. In spite of all difficulties, both within and without the tower, they found that the motto: 'Perseverance conquers everything' held true. He reminded them that certain responsibilities attached to the name of ringer, and he asked them to remember the meaning of the letters which formed the word, viz.: R stood for regularity in attendance; I, industry in the cultivation of the art; N, neat in the handling of the rope; G, for Guild; E, example in manners, conversation and dealings of life; R., for religion.

After the service the members were photographed at the west end of the Cathedral.

VENERABLE PRESIDENT RETIRES.

At the dinner at Dellars' Cafe, the President of the Guild, the Rev. Maitland Kelly, presided. In the course of his speech on the history of the Guild, he said there was not a single member of the 14 who were enrolled at the first meeting now living. He spoke of the difficulties they first had to encounter in Devon, not only from the old ringers, but from the general public, who were not at all sympathetic. The county had its peculiar difficulties in promoting change ringing owing to the small centres of population, and to the paucity of instructors available to go into the remote parts. Owing to advancing age, he felt that the time had come when he must retire from the position he had held for so many years. The office of presidency ought to be filled by a younger man. He had no fear for the future. He thanked them sincerely for the many kindnesses he had received from them, and his interest in change ringing would be in no way diminished (applause). He urged them never to neglect their Sunday ringing, and advised them to make change ringing the best they could produce.

At this stage the Rev. H. L. Piggott, vice-president, took over the conduct of the meeting.

The Hon. Secretary (Rev. E. S. Powell, of Holbeaton) announced that the Exminster bells would be rededicated on Saturday, June 21st. He also gave a list, already mentioned above, of the original members of the Guild.

Col. Acland Troyte, in proposing a vote of thanks to the Dean and Chapter and to Canon Coleridge, said he was glad to be present, because his father happened to be first president of the Guild, and did so much to encourage ringing in Devon. The inaugural meeting of the Guild, according to the records at Huntsham, was held in June, 1874. Eight members of the Huntsham band attended the meeting. Of those only two, Messrs. Payne and Tucker, were still living. It had been a great encouragement to the Guild to be able to hold its Jubilee Festival in the Cathedral, the Mother Church of the Diocese, and to have an opportunity of ringing the Cathedral bells which were unique in this country. He wished more clergy would become acting members of the Guild and take part in the ringing, as it would help them to realise they were as much servants of the Church as were the choir, and that ringing was done for the service of the Church and not for the ringers' own amusement (applause).

The Very Rev. Dean of Exeter (Dr. Gamble), in reply, said he had noticed a growing interest being taken in bells and in ringing in all parts of Devon. He assured them that the Dean and Chapter would always be glad to do everything they could for the Devonshire Guild of Ringers (applause).

EXETER'S SILENT BELLS.

Canon Coleridge, who also responded, proposed a vote of thanks to the retiring president, whose services to bell ringing he highly extolled. The Canon regretted that the towers of St. John's and St. Edmund's, Exeter, were silent. He was told that they were in a disgraceful condition. It was a crying shame to a city like Exeter that such a thing should be allowed to happen, and he suggested that something should be done to have the bells rehung and reopened.

The resolution was carried by acclamation.

The Rev. Maitland Kelly, in reply, promised to render whatever assistance he could to the younger men. As he left the chair the rev. gentleman was loudly cheered.

In order to signalise his fifty years' service to the Guild, Mr. W. J. Southwood, secretary of the Exeter area, presented the Guild with a 'Coronn' typewriter. The gift was acknowledged with gratitude by the Chairman, on behalf of the members.

On the motion of Mr. Southwood, seconded by Mr. E. W. Marsh (Plymouth), the Rev. E. S. Powell, who had been secretary of the Guild for many years, was unanimously elected to succeed the Rev. Maitland Kelly in the presidency.

The Rev. E. S. Powell acknowledged the compliment.

On the motion of the Rev. F. Carter (Calverleigh), seconded by Mr. J. H. Godfrey, of Ottery, the Rev. E. V. Cox, Vicar of Littleham-cum-Exmouth, was unanimously elected general secretary.

On the motion of Mr. H. J. Hole (Paignton), seconded by Mr. A. H. Hayward (Combe Martin), Mr. T. G. Bartlett (Exeter) was re-elected hon. treasurer.

Vice-presidents were re-elected, with the addition of the Rev. Maitland Kelly and the Rev. G. E. F. Molyneux (Silverton).

A vote of condolence with the family of Mr. Doble, a Taunton ringer, was passed in silence.

On the motion of Mr. Marsh, it was decided that any member totally incapacitated from ringing may be transferred by the general committee to the life members' list on the recommendation of his band.

Plymouth was selected for the place of meeting next year.

The following were elected as hon. members' representatives on the committee: Rev. H. B. Clark, W. E. Cox and H. W. Millett, and Messrs. H. B. Kindersley and A. S. Hutchison.

The Revs. Maitland Kelly and E. S. Powell and Mr. A. W. Scarle were elected on the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers.

CONSOLIDATING THE GROUND.

The report of the General Committee contained the following:—

During the past year there has not been any such considerable increase of Affiliated Bands as was recorded in the 1922 report. This was indeed hardly to be expected, nor was it perhaps even desirable. A certain breathing space was needed to consolidate the ground won. It must never be forgotten that one of the primary objects of the Guild is the advance of change ringing. If this purpose be allowed to drop into the background its character will be completely changed, so that mere numerical increase might easily prove disastrous. On this account you committee have the greatest pleasure in recording a steady, and indeed considerable, issue of change-ringing certificates throughout the year. In the case of more than one band labelled 'associate' twelve months ago all the members are now qualified change-ringers. This is matter for real congratulation and rejoicing.

The Cathedral Cinques practice has passed through somewhat difficult times, owing to repeated alterations of the day and times, for which the ringers themselves had no responsibility. Now that the Dean and Chapter have kindly assigned the second Saturday evening in the month for the practice, these meetings have taken, it is hoped, a new lease of life. An innovation which has been made at the Cathedral consists in a monthly invitation to the members of one or other of the City eight-bell towers to ring there on Sunday morning, the Cathedral ringers assisting to complete the band when needed. This privilege has been highly appreciated by those willing to take part.

During the year there were rung nine peals of Grandsire, two Caters, six Triples and one doubles.

During the past year the expenditure of the Guild exceeded the receipts by £11 18s. 2d., and, moreover, the difficulties of the treasurer in meeting current expenditure is seriously increased by the failure of local branches to forward their affiliation fees during the first month of the year. In some instances these returns are a full year late. Your committee hopes that this hint will bring about real improvement in this respect.

THE LATE MR. WM. P. COOPER.

LEICESTER'S 'G.O.M.' OF RINGING.

As briefly announced in our last issue, there passed to his rest on Friday, May 30th, Mr. William Porter Cooper, who had reached the advanced age of 86. He was one of the few remaining original members of the Midland Counties Association, having joined it at its formation in 1883, but he was a ringer of long standing even then.

Although he had not rung a large number of peals, his performances were good ones, and in his early days a peal was an 'event' in a ringer's life, long talked of and practised for, not as is so often now the case, an everyday occurrence. He rang his first peal on the tenor at St. Margaret's, Leicester, as far back as 1868, being then in the prime of health and strength, when it was stated no man could ring this bell to a peal, owing to its bad going. Subsequently he took part in the first peals of Grandsire and Stedman Caters rung by the M.C.A., and the other peals included the usual standard methods of his day.

From the death of his brother Stephen in February, 1905, until the war period he held the office of president of the Leicester branch of the M.C.A., and was for 47 years the vergier of St. Leonard's Church. He was much respected by all who knew him as an upright, honest Christian gentleman.

He was buried on Tuesday, June 3rd, and a course of Grandsire Caters rung over the grave by E. Whitehead 1—2, J. Morris 3—4, W. Willson 5—6, H. Needham 7—8, A. Cattell 9—10. A wreath was sent by Leicester ringers, and half-muffled ringing took place at St. Margaret's, St. Saviour's, and St. Martin's Churches.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

On Saturday, May 24th, a meeting of the Luton district was held at Leighton Buzzard, and in spite of a very showery afternoon, between 20 and 30 members were present during the afternoon and evening, from Luton, Dunstable, Barton-le-Clay, Woburn, Linslade, and Tring, and a good muster of local men. A welcome visitor was Mr. P. J. Johnson, hon. secretary of the Yorkshire Association.

The bells were utilised during the afternoon and evening in a number of methods, including Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major, Double Norwich, Superlative and Cambridge Surprise Major, Grandsire and Stedman Caters, and Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Royal. The visitors were very pleased to note the progress of some of the young members of the local band.

A short business meeting was held after tea, presided over by Mr. A. King, President of the Branch, supported by Canon Baker, President of the Association.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Aspley Guise in the last week in July, and, it is hoped, the summer meeting at Barton-le-Clay. After the meeting the tower was again visited.

BEDFORD DISTRICT.

A meeting was held at Thurleigh on Saturday, May 24th. A fair number turned up, notwithstanding the unsettled weather. The chair was taken by Mr. H. L. Harlow (late district secretary), and five new members were elected. Sharnbrook was chosen for the next meeting-place.—A vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar for the use of the bells.

TRUMPINGTON RINGERS' TRIP.

On Saturday, May 24th, the ringers of Trumpington Parish Church (Cams) paid a very enjoyable visit to Littlebury, and they were accompanied by the Vicar (the Rev. A. C. Moule), and Messrs. W. J. and F. Kempton. Mr. W. B. Kempton is the oldest member of the Society of Cambridge Youths. Several years ago he undertook the uphill task of teaching the art of ringing to a band of recruits at Trumpington, and the work has since been carried on by Mr. F. Kempton.

The visitors were met by some of the local band, and ringing took place both before and after tea. Later on the five cyclists departed for Ickleton, where they were met by some of the local band—a kindness which was much appreciated—leaving the remainder of the party at Littlebury until the bus arrived.

All the band feel very grateful to their own Vicar for planning such a very pleasant outing, to the Vicars of Littlebury and Ickleton for granting permission to ring, and to the local bands for having everything ready.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the South and West district was held at St. Mary's, Ealing, on May 17th. Service was conducted by the Rev. C. J. Sharp (Vicar), with Mrs. Sharp presiding at the organ. After service the ringers were entertained to tea in the Church Hall by the Vicar and Mrs. Sharp, with Miss Sharp and other ladies in attendance.

At the business meeting, the vice-president occupied the chair, and a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar and Mrs. Sharp for their kind hospitality, which was much appreciated by all present, for conducting the service and presiding at the organ, respectively, and to the ladies for their assistance. The Vicar acknowledged the thanks, and welcomed the association to his parish. He also wished to thank his ringers and all who assisted them with the Sunday service ringing.

A vote of thanks was accorded to Messrs. J. H. Hunnisett and Fred Goodfellow, of the local band. — Ruislip was selected for the June meeting, and Denham for July. Handbell ringing was indulged in, after which the tower was again visited, and in spite of the 'go' of the bells a most pleasant and enjoyable evening was spent.

THE FIRST TRUE PEAL OF CAMBRIDGE.

To the Editor.

Sir,—In your issue of February 22nd, quite recently to hand, a paragraph under the head of 'Belfry Gossip' states:—

To-morrow is the anniversary of a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major rung at St. Giles-in-the-Fields, London, on February 23rd, 1783.

The 'Clavis' gives the figures of this peal. It is very false.

Nothing is more likely than that the band who first rang Mr. Middleton's peal of Cambridge, rang, at the same time, the first true peal ever rung of Cambridge Surprise Major.—Yours, etc.,

JAMES S. WILDE.

ROCHESTER CATHEDRAL SOCIETY.AN EMPIRE DAY PEAL.

On Saturday, May 17th, the Cathedral Bell Ringers and Cathedral Choirmen and boys were entertained to tea by Alderman and Mrs. C. Willis, at their home, The Moorings, Borstal Road, Rochester. After a most excellent tea, a vote of thanks was proposed by Minor Canon Johnson, on behalf of the choir and bell ringers, who pointed out that this annual meeting was arranged, 'lest we forget.' The two new bells were provided by the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. Willis, in memory of their son, Lieut. Willis, R.A.F., who fell in the war.—This was seconded by Mr. W. Haigh, the leader of the ringers.—Ald. and Mrs. Willis feelingly replied. Afterwards a game of bowls and a stroll through the beautiful garden brought a pleasant afternoon to a close.

It was arranged to attempt a peal of Stedman Caters on the following Saturday, Empire Day, with the Dean's permission. A start was made at 5.20, and the peal brought round in 3 hrs. 25 mins. Recently electric light was installed in the belfry, and this was the first peal attempt under much improved conditions. All went well until the last three courses were reached, when the electric light went out, the assistant organist having switched it off at the main. Thanks to the Daylight Saving Bill, however, the band were able to bring the peal to a successful conclusion in semi-darkness.

On Sunday morning the ringers were heartily complimented by the Dean of Rochester and Canon Newbolt, of St. Paul's Cathedral, on the excellent peal.

Jeayes, M.A.), who expressed his thanks to the ringers.

POOLSTOCK, LANCs.—On Saturday, May 3rd, an attempt for Parker's peal of Cambridge Surprise Major was made at the Church of St. James, Poolstock, near Wigan, and was lost in the 19th course, after 2½ hours' good ringing, owing to a change course: P. W. Cave 1, T. Hammond 2, J. Wilkinson 3, C. S. Benwell 4, T. W. Gilmour 5, G. R. Newton (conductor) 6, J. Martin 7, E. Counce 8.

A REPRESENTATIVE COUNCIL.

The surmise that the Central Council, when they met in London on Whitsun Tuesday, would have a full day's business before them, proved correct, for the deliberations lasted until nearly half-past five in the afternoon, and, what is more, none of the time was frittered away, as it has been frequently in years past, in discussing trivialities. As a matter of fact, the meeting proved one of the most interesting that has been held for a long time. We must postpone until subsequent issues comment upon many of the topics that came under debate, and confine ourselves at this moment to one or two items of a general nature.

The meeting was extremely well attended, and a perusal of the names of the societies represented will show that, with one or two exceptions, every association of importance sent its delegates. The most conspicuous absence was the Sussex County Association, which, for some years, has declined to appoint representatives. It is regrettable that this association, which has in the past figured so prominently in ringing matters, should persistently refuse to join in with the other associations in the country in this matter. This year a lot of 'new blood' has been infused into the Council, and it can be said, without any reflection upon the composition of the Council in the past, that it has probably never been more representative of all phases of the Exercise than it is today. Practical ringers of established repute are included by the dozen, many of the best brains in the realm of composition and the theory of the science are included; the technical side is represented by the best engineering skill which is available to ringers; architectural, building, antiquarian and legal knowledge is to be found among the members; and, not least important, there are, in addition, large numbers who have had long experience in the management of associations. In comparison with the composition of some Councils in years gone by, this Council is, we venture to say, a body far more representative of the interests of ringing and ringers, and if any association holds aloof merely on the score of what has happened in the past it is doing itself and the Exercise a disservice.

One very pleasing feature of last week's meeting was the presentation to the Rev. Charles D. P. Davies, who, for nearly twenty years, with so much painstaking labour, devotion and ability, filled the offices of hon. secretary and treasurer. It was three years ago that Mr. Davies resigned, but the meeting this year, occurring again in London, was considered the most fitting at which to make this special acknowledgment of his services. Apart from his connection with the Council, Mr. Davies has rendered

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

THE ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual general meeting was held on Whitson Monday, at Sevenoaks. Never before during its forty-four years' existence has the association had a general gathering there; and for that reason alone it was imagined that a record attendance might be possible. The natural beauties of the place and its surroundings might have proved an additional attraction; and the weather was tolerably fine, though a trifle more sunshine would have been appreciated. It was somewhat disappointing, therefore, to find that less than a tenth of the practising members of the county, that is, about eighty or so, put in an appearance.

The programme usual on those occasions was observed: Committee meeting at 11.15; service at noon; and luncheon at 1.15. The towers open for ringing were: Sevenoaks (8), Westerham (8), Shoreham (8), Brasted (6), Seal (6), and Seal Chart (6).

At the service the association's form was used, the prayers being read by the hon. secretary, and the lesson by the Rev. A. W. Habersohn, assistant curate. The address was given by the Rector (the Rev. W. E. Gilliat) from the text, Col. iii. 23: ' whatsoever ye do, do it heartily (from the soul), as unto the Lord.' Three hymns were sung, 'When God of old came down from Heaven,' 'Come, gracious Spirit, heavenly dove,' and the special ringers' hymn, 'Unchanging God, who livest, Enthroned in realms above.' The organ was played by the Rev. G. C. E. Ryley, M.A., Mus.Bac., Vicar of East Peckham, with his accustomed taste and skill. The collection was devoted to the Benevolent Fund.

The luncheon took place in the grounds of the Lime Tree Hotel, in a covered sort of alley, which would have sheltered the company from rain or sun, had there been any, but afforded no protection from wind. Fortunately, however, there was not more than a gentle breeze, which would have been more pleasant, if it had been a trifle warmer. Through the modesty of the Rector, the hon. secretary was called upon to preside, being supported by the Revs. W. E. Gilliat, A. W. Habersohn, G. C. E. Ryley, Mrs. Gatehouse (a life member and practical ringer), the district secretaries, Messrs. Tribe, Buesden, Groombridge, Sone, Mitchell and Latner, and other members of the committee. After the usual toasts, 'The King,' and 'Archbishop and Clergy,' with thanks to the preacher, to which the Rector responded, the hon. secretary read his report, which, with the statement of accounts, was adopted, on the proposition of Mr. F. Mitchell, seconded by Mr. F. White (Tonbridge Wells).

Mr. Stead (Tonbridge) proposed the election of officers, vice-presidents (other than ex-officio), secretary, treasurer, auditor and committee.—This was seconded by Mr. E. Hadlow (Gravesend), and carried.

The company then adjourned, some to ring, others, mainly the older contingent, to enjoy the beauty and quiet of the Rectory garden, which, by the kindness of Mr. Gilliat, was open to ringers throughout the day. There is not much connection between lawn tennis and change ringing; but while the church bells were being rung (not 'ringing,' mind you, as ordinary journalists will persist in putting it), it was pleasant to sit and watch a tennis match between the Rector and his curate, the former an old Varsity and International football blue, whose fifty years have not yet robbed him of his youthful agility and suppleness. The writer has no record of the kind or amount of ringing that was done during the day; but it would be safe to say that touches were brought round in most of the methods generally practised at the present time.

DEATH OF MR. JOSEPH BLISS, HIGH WYCOMBE

The High Wycombe belfry has sustained the loss of a valued supporter, by the death of Mr. Joseph Bliss, who passed away on Sunday, June 8th, at the age of 70 years. The deceased had always taken an interest in the welfare of the local ringers, and any appeal made on behalf of the tower met with a sympathetic response. Two tablets in the belfry were presented by Mr. Bliss, including one recording a peal of Stedman Cinques by the Royal Cumberlands. A truly typical English gentleman, his passing will cause a deal of sorrow to many other branches of Christian work.

On the day of the funeral the heavy eight bells of the Parish Church were rung half-muffled, Thurstan's quarter-peal of Stedman being rung in 50 mins.: Fred Hayes (conductor) 1, George Hinton 2, Ralph Coles 3, Sidney T. Goodchild 4, George White 5, P.S. Cecil E. Smith 6, Edward R. Coles 7, William H. Plumridge 8.

PASSING OF AN OLD RINGER.

At the Parish Church, Bishop's Stortford, Herts. on Thursday, June 12th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) was rung, with the bells half-muffled: H. M. White 1, F. Bird 2, H. J. Tucker (conductor) 3, H. Dew 4, H. Champness 5, W. W. Tucker 6, W. T. Prior 7, C. Ridgewell 8. This was rung as a last tribute of respect to the late Mr. William Rickett, aged 76, who was a ringer at the above church for over 50 years.

BAGSHOT, SURREY.—At the Church of St. Anne's, on Empire Day. Also for the jubilee of H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught's Dukedom, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples, in 48 mins.: W. Welling 1, W. Henley 2, E. Haynes 3, R. Hawkins 4, G. Bull 5, M. Norman 6, F. Nye (conductor) 7, H. Hunt 8. Rung after an unsuccessful attempt for a peal of Stedman.

HEREFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

The annual festival was held at Hereford on Whit Monday, June 9th. At 12.15, a service was held in the Cathedral, when about 100 ringers were present. The Rev. S. Cornish Watkins preached an excellent sermon from Ps. xix. 3. Dinner was served at the Booth Hall, where 76 sat down, 25 towers being represented. Some excellent speeches were made.

The following facts were mentioned in the annual report: Ringing members had increased from 605 to 690; towers from 76-84; 146 probationers had been enrolled during 1923. The hon. members had increased from 79 to 114, and their subscriptions from £25 to £36. Fifty-two peals had been rung. The balances of the districts stood at £48, and the Central Fund at £70.

At the business meeting, held after the dinner, the Master (Mr. J. G. Buchanan) resigned the office, which he had held since 1891, and Mr. C. Edwards was unanimously appointed in his place.

The Rev. H. S. T. Richardson and Mr. J. G. Buchanan were elected vice-presidents; Mr. J. Beavan (Bridstow), Rev. F. W. Worsley, Rev. Prebendary C. E. Warner, Mr. S. T. Rackham (Abergavenny) were added to the committee. The Rev. G. W. Turner was re-elected hon. secretary.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

The quarterly meeting of the Cheltenham and District branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association was held at Alderton on May 31st. About fifty ringers were present, representing a dozen towers. After service the delegates were entertained to tea in the Village Hall by the Rector (the Rev. A. D. Pennington). Being chairman of the branch for this year, the Rector took the chair at the business meeting which followed, and was supported by the secretary (Mr. W. Yeend).

An appeal from the Winchcombe tower for an instructor was answered by Mr. Harrison, of Toddington, kindly consenting to undertake the duty, the Rector remarking that he had no doubt Mr. Harrison would be as successful as he had been with the Toddington band.

A hearty vote of thanks to the Rector for his address and kind reception concluded the business. A heavy thunderstorm prevented a move to the tower except in the case of a few daring spirits, but a piano and some lady helpers present, suggested dancing to beguile the time. No doubt the energetic secretary was stiff for days.

BARNSELY DISTRICT CONTEST.WATH WINS THE NEW CUP.

On Saturday, June 14th, a large number of ringers and friends visited the village of Hoylandswaine, the chief attraction being a challenge cup contest inaugurated by the local company for competition by the Barnsley and District Association. Seven bands entered, viz., Ecclesfield, Wortley, Rawmarsh, Wath, Cawthorne, Sandal and Horbury. The test was 720 Minor, in any method or variation. Three bands failed to go through. The remaining four were judged and placed by Mr. Lambert, Bolsover, the faults being as follow: Wath, 256; Ecclesfield, 268; Sandal, 290; Rawmarsh, 414. During an interval tea was served in the Day School, the number present being much greater than expected, but all were welcomed with a smile by the ringers' wives, who had been responsible for all cooking and other preparations.

The Vicar (the Rev. J. Hewitson) kindly took the chair at the close of the contest. Wath were declared the winners, and received from the chairman the cup to hold for one year. Each member of the band received a silver medal, with gold centre, their names being: Treble, W. Bramham; 2, H. Chamberlin; 3, A. Gill; 4, A. Nash (conductor); 5, R. J. Ricketts; tenor, A. Panther.—The conductor thanked the chairman, and, with pardonable pride, said that Wath's effort to retain the cup for another year would be great and strong.—Mr. L. Wilkinson, of the local company, proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar and the many generous subscribers who had made the contest possible.

The President of the Association (Mr. R. Thickett) proposed a vote of thanks to the local company, and all who had joined in paying such a compliment to the society. He trusted great good would result from such high-souled action.—The Vicar briefly replied, and expressed the hope that everyone had enjoyed themselves.

OFF TO CANADA.

At Selby Abbey, on a recent Sunday, being the last Sunday prior to two members of the band emigrating to Canada, namely, Arthur Cryer and Charles Woodard, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters was rung by C. Woodard 1, R. Fenton 2, W. A. Hall 3, H. S. Morley 4, A. Cryer 5, E. Storr 6, F. Cryer 7, G. Fenton 8, H. Fairlam (conductor) 9, T. Morgan 10. First quarter of Caters for ringers of 1st and 2nd. 'Good luck and godspeed' is the wish of the Selby Abbey ringers to Messrs. Woodward and Cryer, who were presented with a cigarette case and tobacco pouch, respectively.

A peal in another new Surprise method, of which Mr. Gabriel Lindoff is the author, has been rung by the Leiston band. It is on the extending lead principle, and has been named 'Rochester.' The figures will be published in due course, but we have a hazy notion that a method known as Rochester Surprise was rung many years ago. If that is so, perhaps some of our readers will be able to give us the information. But we may be mistaken.

A peal tablet at St. Peter-at-Arches, Lincoln, records a peal of 'Catharans Tripples' rung there on June 20th, 1756. This is believed to be Garthorn's peal of Grandsire Triples, the first Grandsire composition that was rung. It was called at Lincoln by John Foster, who some years before had called the same composition at Coddensham, Suffolk, where, apparently, he was a member of Theodore Ecclestone's band.

The second anniversary of the only peal rung on fourteen bells—Stedman Sextuples on handbells at Birmingham—occurs on Tuesday next.

The Midland Counties Association rang their first peal on June 23rd, 1882.

A man, named George Bones, committed suicide last week by jumping from the tower of Wormingford Church, near Colchester.

On Whit Sunday, Mr. Charles Gordon, of Beddington, Surrey, who has been ill for the last five years with asthma and heart trouble, succeeded in ringing a touch of Grandsire Triples on the 4th. Mr. Gordon, who is 73 years of age, took part in the first ringing on the bells, which was on Whit Monday, 55 years ago, and is the sole survivor of that band.

Will Mr. Lewis W. Wiffen, of Braintree, Essex, send his address to Mr. A. C. Wright, Strathallan, Darley Dale, Derbyshire?

Will the gentleman, who was handed the wrong umbrella, from the cloakroom of the Bedford Head, on the night of the Central Council meeting, kindly send same to Mr. T. Faulkner, 94, St. Awdrys Road, Barking, Essex? He will receive his own per return in exchange.

The many friends of Mr. John Prickett, late of Chesham, will be pleased to hear that he has been appointed head ringer of St. Mary's, Durban, South Africa, where he and his son Ewart have done good work since their arrival. The loss to St. Mary's, Chesham, has truly been the gain of St. Mary's, Durban.

Pressure on our space necessitates holding over the reports of several meetings and a number of peals.

METHOD NOMENCLATURE.

To the Editor.

Sir,—We read with interest your report of the Council held on Tuesday, and note that there were nearly 90 members present; further, we read that the numbers voting one way or another on the matter of method nomenclature were 63 and 67 on the two resolutions respectively. Presumably the remainder present had gone to sleep, or had attended the Council to have an excuse for Wembley; the real reason, of course, being that they were not interested in whether the names were revised or not.

We all know the apathy that is prevalent at all meetings where voting is necessary, and we deplore the fact that it is possible for a minority to foist their opinions upon the majority because of this; we realise this may be looked at from the opposition's point of view in this particular instance, and we quite agree that the narrow margin of gain must be particularly galling, when nearly one-third of the representatives fail to vote either for or against.

We look for those 'sheep' in general meetings, but should have thought that the 'cream' of the associations sent to the Council would have produced representatives capable of holding opinions upon all matters. However, thirty of the 'brains' of the associations evidently thought it not worth the while of the energy required, to cast a vote for or against the upsetting of last year's work in this matter.

We note Mr. Trollope's remarks, and quite agree that the ringers have no right to claim a name for a method—surely the man who 'discovers' a thing has a right to do as he pleases, but while we are touching upon the subject from this angle, we fear that the committee just appointed will have a fairly rough time in the future, if they are going to lay down some rule for the naming of Minor and Major methods. The experts appear to be unable to agree as to what is a correct extension of a method.

Would it not be possible for the Council to try to arrange a meeting of the authorities upon method construction, where they might sit round a table and work out a suitable scheme, whereby can be determined what is a proper extension—thus to work for the betterment of ringing generally.

We must remember that A is not of necessity wrong, because B, C and D do not agree with him!—Yours faithfully,

GEORGE DAWSON.

S. John Baptist Association, Leytonstone.

P.S.—May we acknowledge all the suggestions and help that have been accorded us, in our endeavour to revise the Minor names?

ELECTION OF PRESIDENT.

The proceedings having been opened with prayer, Mr. E. A. Young temporarily took the chair for the election of president, and stated that only one nomination had been received, namely, that of Canon Coleridge. He was proposed by the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, and seconded by the Rev. H. Law James, and he (the speaker), therefore, had to declare Canon Coleridge elected for the ensuing three years (applause).

Canon Coleridge, on taking the chair, reminded the Council that the work of the Council was a young man's game. In three years' time he would be in his 70th year, and they would have to elect someone else. He had tried to do what he could as president, and he felt it the greatest honour of his ringing career to occupy that position. He would do what he could during the next three years. Meanwhile he had to thank the Council for the confidence reposed in him, and he would do his utmost in order that that confidence should not be misplaced (applause).

The President said the only nomination for hon. secretary and treasurer was Mr. E. A. Young, and he, therefore, declared him elected. Mr. Young acknowledging the election.

On the motion of Canon Baker, seconded by the Rev. C. E. Matthews, the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn was re-elected hon. librarian, and he and Mr. Young were thanked for their services.

Apologies for absence were received from the Rev. A. H. F. Boughey, Rev. H. S. T. Richardson, Messrs. R. B. Chambers, E. H. Lewis, G. Chester, C. Edwards, H. W. Wilde, C. E. Borrett, G. Boland, D. J. Nichols and G. Williams, and Mrs. N. Edwards.

LATE SECRETARY'S SERVICES, ACKNOWLEDGED.

The President said the next business was a very pleasant one, and one which did not often occur in the Council. It was to ask their late secretary, the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, who had served them so faithfully for something like nineteen years, to accept at their hands a slight token of their appreciation for all that he did as their treasurer and secretary from 1902 to 1921. The gift took the form of a cup, which was inscribed:

'CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS.

'Presented to the Rev. Charles Douglas Percy Davies, M.A., in grateful recognition of his valuable services as secretary and treasurer during the long period of nearly 20 years.'

The President then asked Mr. Davies to accept the gift with their most grateful and hearty thanks and appreciation for the most meritorious services he rendered to the Council, not only as secretary, but in many other capacities. He was always ready to do what he could for them, and he would still do so in the future, although he was no longer secretary. In the name of the Council he asked Mr. Davies to receive the cup as a token of their deep appreciation of all he had done for them, and of their esteem for his character (applause).

The Rev. C. D. P. Davies said he did not know how to thank the Council enough for that very touching token of their regard. It was a most beautiful cup, and all he could say was that the little he was able to do for the Council was done with the utmost pleasure and readiness, and if he was able during that period to contribute to the stability of the Council, to its standing in the Exercise, and to its usefulness, he was amply rewarded without any present. Their recognition of his services touched him extremely. The form which the present had taken was one which he could not possibly have wished otherwise. A cup like that was a possession for ever; not only would it be a great joy to him to see during the remainder of his life, but it was a thing which would go down to his children and their children's children. It would be a standing memorial of the Council's feeling and their kindness towards him. He thanked them from the bottom of his heart, and the cup would remind him for the rest of his life of the Council's appreciation of the very little he was able to do (applause).

The accounts having been audited by the Standing Committee, were presented by the treasurer. The year began with a balance in hand of £76 18s. 7d. Affiliation fees (including 15s. arrears) amounted to £13, and £4 9s. 4d. was received from interest on stock. The expenditure, which included £2 5s. 8d. loss on the sale of publications and £20 for the ringers' Roll of Honour, amounted to £31 10s. 10d., leaving a balance of £62 17s. 1d.—The accounts were adopted, on the motion of the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, seconded by the Rev. H. Law James.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT.

The Hon. Librarian read the following report for 1923-24: The number of publications sold during the year ending April 30th, 1924, is 285, as against 315 in the previous twelve months. It should be said that of this number 37 were copies of the report of the conference with S.P.A.B. It has cost the Council £2 5s. 8d. to sell these books. The sum of 9s. has come in from the 'on sale or return' source, as against £1 8s. 7d. a year ago, but a sum of 11s. 9d. came to hand after my accounts were made up, while one of the four agents for sales has not yet sent a return. The publications 'Rules for a local company' and 'On the Preservation of Bells' are out of print, and there is, perhaps, a little more than one year's supply of 'Legitimate (Regular) Minor Methods.' It is surely a matter of wonder and regret that there is not more demand for the 'Glossary,' especially as a book to give to one outside the Exercise who is asking for some general enlightenment on our art. Last August I was approached by Mr. Flitton, of the Suffolk Guild, with an offer to insert an advertisement in their annual report free of charge. This I accepted with thanks. This was followed up last February with an invitation to advertise in the 1924 report at the reduced charge of 5s. for a half-page. I replied that I would bring the matter before the Council, and accordingly I now do so.

Corrigenda of Collections of Peals.—I was instructed at the last Council meeting to proceed with this work, and to publish results when they could be obtained. These, so far as they concern Collection No. 2, have appeared in the 'Ringing World,' and slips of the same have been printed off: while those concerning Collection No. 1, are now in the hands of the Editor. In this Collection it was not thought worth while to prove the peals of Triples, but only those of Caters and Cinques. With regard to Collection No. 3, I am informed by the Rev. H. S. T. Richardson that this presents peculiar difficulties, and, therefore, the results are delayed. Besides Mr. Richardson, the following have assisted or are assisting in the work of proving and correcting, Revs. H. L. James, E. S. Powell, and Messrs. J. A. Trollope and H. W. Wilde.

Roll of Honour.—This is now completed, and is here for your inspection. Within certain limits you left me a free hand as to carrying it out, and I trust I have not abused this freedom. The Council may remember that it had a very generous offer from Mr. T. Wilson, of Blackburn, to write the names free of charge, if we would find someone to do the work of ornamenting and binding. Shortly after our last meeting, I received a request from Mr. Cousins, an engrosser, of Cambridge, through a member of the Council, to be allowed to tender for carrying out the whole work. Finding that his total estimate was only a little in excess of the sum voted by the Council, and that his specimen work was extremely good, I consulted with the President, and we agreed that we could not do better than entrust Mr. Cousins with the whole work. It must be acknowledged that he has given us a most worthy memorial of our loved and honoured dead. When the Council voted the sum of £20 towards recording these names, it was suggested that a few pounds more could if necessary be provided by private subscription. I am presenting no account for such things as postal or advertising charges, for although the task of compiling this roll has been a hard one, I have felt it an honour to do it. The total cost is £23 14s., and I have this confidence in my brother members that before the Council separates there will be no debt upon the Roll of Honour.

The Librarian added that the Roll contained the names of 1,071 ringers.

A BEAUTIFUL RECORD.

The President remarked that it was due from him to say how deeply the Council was indebted to the Librarian for his work in connection with the Roll. He had spent not merely hours and hours, but weeks and weeks, in trying to get everything as accurate as possible. The work had been almost superhuman, and they had before them that day the most beautiful album. He would like to add that it was taken to an art expert at South Kensington, who said it was the most beautiful example of modern writing and illumination and ornamentation which had ever come into the museum.

With regard to the disposal of the volume, the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn said he had a 'brain wave' with regard to it, for it occurred to him that a most suitable place to keep it would be in the library at St. Paul's Cathedral. He, therefore, wrote to the Dean on the subject, and the Dean had consented. He (the Librarian, therefore, moved that the Memorial Book be placed in the library at St. Paul's Cathedral, on the understanding that it be open to the inspection of those who visited the Cathedral and wished to examine it, until such time as the Council determined.—Canon Baker seconded.

Some discussion ensued as to the exact terms on which the volume should be placed in the library, and eventually it was unanimously agreed that it should be deposited on permanent loan, and should be produced on all such occasions as it might be demanded by the Council through the hon. librarian.

It may here be added that the volume, bound in royal blue leather, was open to the inspection of members, whose admiration of the work of Mr. Cousins was unbounded. The title page of the Roll is a copy of the King's Scroll:—

They whom this work commemorates were numbered amongst those who, at the call of King and Country, left all that was dear to them, endured hardness, faced danger, and finally passed out of the sight of men by the path of duty and self-sacrifice, giving up their own lives that others might live in freedom. The whole book is a positive work of art, but this page is a really glorious specimen of the illuminator's craft.

With regard to the distribution of the Corrigenda of the Council's Peal Collection, the Librarian suggested that the slips, when completed, should be sent to applicants who forwarded a penny stamp (a halfpenny for postage and a halfpenny towards the cost). It would be notified in 'The Ringing World' when these slips would be ready.—This was agreed to, as was also the proposal that the Council was unable to pay for advertising its publications in association reports, Canon Elsee suggesting that associations might be willing to insert such a notice without charge.

HONORARY MEMBERS.

The following hon. members retired by rotation: Messrs. J. Carter, R. A. Daniel, Rev. C. D. P. Davies, Messrs. J. S. Pritchett, J. A. Trollope and J. H. B. Hesse.

These were re-elected with the exception of Mr. Daniel, and with the addition of Mr. Joseph Griffin, of Burton, and the hon. secretary (Mr. E. A. Young).

The Standing Committee were elected as follows: Canon Coleridge, Canon Elsee, Revs. C. W. O. Jenkyn, H. Law James, C. D. P. Davies, Messrs. W. T. Cockerill, J. Griffin, E. H. Lewis and E. A. Young (re-elected), and J. S. Pritchett, A. A. Hughes, Cyril F. Johnston, and Pryce Taylor (added).

A large number of new members were introduced to and welcomed by the President.

At this stage, the Dean of Westminster (Bishop Ryle) visited the meeting, and extended a hearty welcome to the members.

The President thanked the Dean for his welcome, and also for placing the Jerusalem Chamber at the disposal of the Council. The Council felt they were indeed highly honoured in being allowed to meet in that historic chamber, where on many occasions during the centuries the light and learning of the Church of England had assembled.

The reports of committees were next received by the Council. For the Peal Collection Committee, Mr. J. A. Trollope reported that the work of the committee during the past year had been in connection with the corrigenda.—The committee was re-elected as follows: Rev. H. S. T. Richardson, Messrs. J. A. Trollope, H. W. Wilde, J. W. Parker and Miss E. K. Parker; and the Rev. E. S. Powell was added.

The Literature and Press Committee's report, which has already appeared in 'The Ringing World,' was adopted, and the committee re-elected as follows, with the addition of Mr. A. Paddon Smith: Revs. C. E. Matthews, A. T. Beeston, F. Ll. Edwards, Messrs. G. P. Burton and W. Willson.

The Rev. H. Law James reported for the Methods Committee. He said the Council would remember that two years ago the committee was instructed to print a selection of the Collection of Plain Major Methods. He was sorry to say Mr. Lewis had still got the manuscript. He (Mr. James) had been writing to him vigorously, but had got no reply. Mr. Lewis was a very busy man, who seemed to be in a position not only of national, but of international importance. They did not want to hurry him, but while he could not say they would have the collection in print by the next meeting, he hoped they would do so.

The committee, consisting of the Rev. H. Law James, and Messrs. E. H. Lewis and J. A. Trollope, were re-elected.

The adoption of the report of the Peals Analysis Committee, already published, was moved by the Rev. E. W. Carpenter, and seconded by the Rev. A. T. Beeston, the former remarking that in the past year he had had to leave the greater part of the work to his colleagues.

The President said the analysis was a perfect monument of zeal and erudition. What the Exercise owed to the gentlemen who undertook this vast responsibility no words of his could express, but they thanked them very much for their labours (applause).

The report was adopted, but on the proposal for the re-election of the committee, the Rev. E. W. Carpenter said he had reluctantly to retire. He had had fifteen or sixteen years of the work, and now he found that his sight was failing, and it was really necessary that he should give up. He hoped members would take the hint of the President, that they wanted young blood. They still had Mr. Beeston and Mr. Parker, who were so excellent at the work, and Mr. Williams, who was always so helpful in any reference that was sent to him. They could carry on if the Council could induce some younger member, who could be broken into the work, to give them assistance.

The President said they heard with great regret Mr. Carpenter's decision to retire, but they must allow for age.

The Rev. C. E. Matthews appealed to some of the younger members to come forward and take the place of the senior members.

Eventually the Rev. A. T. Beeston, and Messrs. J. W. Parker and G. Williams were re-elected, and Miss E. K. Parker added to the committee.

METHOD PRODUCTION.

To the Editor.

Sir,—It must be confessed that all scientists have to plead guilty to Mr. Baker's charge of arbitrariness. They assume (and I acknowledge it is an enormous assumption) that 2 and 2 make 4. However, most people are willing to accept the fact that it is so, and, moreover, they do not as a rule trouble themselves to worry whether this statement is an arbitrary law or not.

All mathematics depends upon belief that it is true, and once that is accepted the rest follows of necessity. Incidentally there have actually been produced (as Mr. Trollope says) by strictly logical reasoning a series of formulae by whose means all known methods and thousands of unknown ones can be turned out as mechanically as sausages are discharged from a sausage machine, and these formulae provide for the methods' extension to higher numbers by every conceivable means.

That these formulae lead to a different inference as to the relationship between London Surprise Minor and Major, from that which finds favour with Mr. Baker is unfortunate—for the formulae or for Mr. Baker.

Your readers will, of course, understand that I make no suggestion as to his theories being arbitrary. If they were so he could never fall into the weakness of reasoning, shown by the pot in its conversation with the kettle.—Yours, etc.,

E. S. POWELL.

The many friends of Mr. Sam Thomas will regret to learn that he is now dangerously ill with pneumonia, and is an inmate of Ward 86, Lodge Moor Hospital, Sheffield. His condition is critical, but hopes are entertained that a strong constitution will enable him to pull through safely.

THE ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

ANNUAL GATHERING AT CHELMSFORD.

The members of the Essex Association assembled in large numbers at Chelmsford on Whit Monday for their 48th annual meeting, which proved a great success, and again justified the choice of the Cathedral town as the popular rendezvous for Essex ringers. In the morning the twelve bells of the Cathedral were rung by several bands from different parts of the county. There was a break in the ringing for the annual service, at which the association form was used, together with special hymns. The Cathedral Precentor officiated, and Mr. E. H. Howard (Braintree), Master of the Association, read the lesson.

The Bishop of Chelmsford (Dr. Guy Warman) was the preacher, and expressed his pleasure at being able to address the representative bell ringers from the Diocese. The ringing of church bells to some people might appear a matter of very small moment, but all down the history of the church in our land it had been part of the ministry of the Church of God. The ringers and himself each in their particular function were serving in the church—they were fellow servants. The Bishop said he was afraid if he had to ring bells—which he had had to do once or twice in livings he had held—he would do it very badly, and possibly if the ringers had to preach a sermon they would do it almost as badly. Each had their particular task, and he was certainly not contemptuous of the ringers. If a service was worth doing at all it was worth doing properly, and the ringers had recognised that by banding themselves together in an association to make their particular piece of service as effective as it could be. Why were church bells rung; why did the association exist, and what was the compelling motive? There were no church bells in the day of the Master, but He suffered the common experience of life, and had something to say about every piece of work. The method and pattern behind His work was the pattern for to-day. Ringers enjoyed their service, and one could only feel sorry for people who had so misconceived life that they had no enjoyment in it. Ringers took pleasure in their work, but it was quite voluntary, and they could stop ringing the church bells to-morrow if they wished. The ringers, of their own sweet wills, rang for service, and the duty of life was sweetened by the thought of love. He asked the ringers to go back to their task, feeling that a happy compulsion rested upon them to do their task as well as it could be done in the service of the church of the Lord Jesus Christ. He wanted bell ringing to be put at the highest; not merely an interest, but a service, and happy service was the road to the Kingdom. The cheery music of the bells was a witness that love was service.

VILLAGE DIFFICULTIES.

The annual business meeting followed at the Vestry Hall, where the Bishop of Chelmsford presided over a crowded attendance, representative of all parts of the Diocese. The 85 members present included the Rev. H. T. W. Eyre, ex-hon. secretary to the association; Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Deal, Messrs. Thomas and G. W. Faulkner, L. W. Wiffen, W. H. Theobald, W. Lincoln, W. J. Nevard, P. Timson, F. Dench, E. J. Butler, G. R. Pye, and many other distinguished ringers.

The Master presented his report as follows: It is gratifying to record, year after year, the continued success of our association and its work. The past year has been no exception to the general rule. Although now forty-five years since its foundation—and recognising all the good work accomplished in the way of belfry improvements, the extension of the art of change ringing, the raising of the status of ringers as church workers, and increased interest of the clergy—still much remains to be done. The difficulty of maintaining regular bands in the villages increases. Our efforts in future should be especially directed to giving assistance to isolated towers by more frequent visits from those who have the advantage of belonging to flourishing bands of competent exponents of the Exercise.

Financially we are in a very healthy state. The income is £60 12s. 8d., against £58 2s. 4d. in the previous year. The expenditure shows a decrease of £12 6s. 4d., which enables us to replace in the reserve fund £10 of the £25 12s. which was taken in 1921 to meet the cost of the War Memorial, leaving a balance in hand on the general account of £29 2s. 11d. Our reserve now totals £79 1s. 5d. The membership stands at 1,037, an increase of 48 on the year—and exceeding the record in 1921 by 16. During the year, the ring of six at Arkesden has been repaired, and various minor improvements have been carried out in several towers. An order has been placed to recast and rehang, in an iron frame, the unmusical ring of eight at Great Baddow, and it is hoped the new bells will be dedicated and reopened in the autumn.

Forty-five peals have been rung during the year, namely: Cambridge Sunrise Maximus, 1; Stedman Cinques, 1; Treble Bob Royal, 1; Stedman Caters, 1; Grandsire Caters, 1; London Surprise Major, 5; Cambridge, 6; Superlative, 3; Double Norwich Major, 6; Treble Bob, 7; Bob Major, 2; Grandsire Triples, 2; various minor methods, 9. Twenty-two acted as conductors.

The death of the Bishop of Chelmsford, Dr. Watts-Ditchfield, our president, was a great loss to the association. He took an immense interest in our work; his presence at our annual gatherings served as an inspiration, and his frequent messages thrilled us with fresh zeal. The late Bishop's influence in our association will long be felt. In ringing members we have lost Mr. Arthur Edwards, of Boreham; Mr. A. T. Morris, of Harwich; Mr. A. G. Clarke, of Broomfield, and Mr. A. B. Peak, of Maldon.

Our new president, Dr. Guy Warman, the Lord Bishop of the Diocese, is already keenly interested in the association. He very readily consented to accept the office, and we confidently look forward to increased usefulness under his presidency. The district officers and auditors have maintained the work of the association at its present high level, and I tender them, in your name, our sincere thanks for their continued efforts.

On the proposition of Mr. E. J. Butler, the report and accounts were adopted.

BISHOP AND RINGERS.

The Bishop of Chelmsford said he wanted to tell the ringers how glad he was to be with them that day, and how he appreciated their ringing as he moved from place to place in the diocese. On going to a parish he heard the bells ringing, and knew the tremendous efforts the ringers made to perform that duty. He was grateful for the services of the ringers rendered everywhere. If the diocese was to become one big family it had to be realised that the Bishop, bell ringers, and others, were all part of the work. In the last 50 years the story of bell ringing was one of wonderful advance. Fifty years ago, before the Essex Association was formed, there were scandals and difficulties connected with bell ringers, and he very much doubted if a Bishop would have been welcomed to their meeting, for bell ringers and the rest of the church were not on the best of terms with one another. Now they were a happy band of brothers and sisters in these enlightened days, working together in a great cause. He wished the ringers more power to their elbows in the work they were going to do (applause).

Mr. Ellis, Harwich, proposed, and Mr. G. Pye, Romford, seconded, the re-election of Mr. C. H. Howard as Master, and spoke of the capable way he had carried out the duties.—The motion was carried unanimously, and Mr. Howard, in returning thanks, also thanked the Bishop of Chelmsford for his helpful address, and for the ready way in which he consented to become President of the Essex Association. The newly-elected Master then took the chair, and the Bishop left the meeting.

Mr. F. J. Pittsow, Saffron Walden, was re-elected hon. secretary, and all the officers were re-appointed. It was decided that the general committee should consist of all the officers, and not less than five members to be elected from the meeting. The following three, the Rev. H. T. W. Eyre, Messrs. W. Lincoln and T. Faulkner, were elected, and two seats were left vacant.

Mr. Faulkner suggested in view of the excellent balance which the society holds, that those members who had attained 70 years of age should be relieved from paying subscriptions in future, and should be retained as free members.—This suggestion was endorsed by the Master, who stated that the matter should be brought forward at the next annual meeting. Three new members were elected—Messrs. W. H. Smith (Felsted), H. Skitchley and W. Staines (Saffron Walden).

THE DIOCESAN ADVISORY BOARD.

The Master reported that he had been elected a member of the Chelmsford Diocesan Advisory Board, which was a recognition of ringing in the diocese. All matters connected with improvements and alterations in churches, including the rehang of bells, came before this body. Since he had been a member, each time he had sat on the Board, there had been something connected with bells. On several occasions there were recommendations by gentlemen—some interested in the antiquity of bells rather than their practical use—and he had been able to get some modifications in the recommendations of the Advisory Board. At Great Baddow he was able to put forward the suggestion that the new bells should be rehung on one level, and the bells were recast instead of being re-tuned. It was impossible to get the Great Baddow bells in tune until they were recast. The Master said he wanted it recorded that a representative of the Essex Association of Change Ringers' had been elected a member of the Diocesan Advisory Board, as such Boards had been set up all over the country, and it would be useful in future to have it known that the recognition had been given to ringers in Chelmsford Diocese.

Mr. T. Faulkner asked what was the attitude of the Essex Association towards six bell ringing and the nomenclature of Minor methods. He said floral and other names were being given to the methods.—The Hon. Secretary read a resolution from St. John Baptist Association, Leytonstone, stating that steps should be taken by six bell bands to enforce a decision regarding the nomenclature of legitimate Minor methods at the coming meeting of the Central Council.—The Master said he had no hesitation in supporting that proposal, as he felt that the names of methods should stand, and not be changed. In some cases floral names were being used, and in one case a method was renamed twice in about a year. He promised support to the Leytonstone resolution. — This concluded the meeting.

In the afternoon and evening, the following bells were rung:—Cathedral (12), Writtle (8), Widford (8), Galleywood (8), Great Waltham (8), Springfield (6), Broomfield (6), Boreham (8). There were some excellent touches of Cambridge Surprise Royal, Stedman Cinques, Treble Bob Royal, London, Cambridge and Superlative Surprise Major, Double Norwich Major and Stedman Triples.

CANON PAPILLON'S GOOD WISHES.

The Master received a letter, which he read to the members, from the Rev. Canon Papillon, the first Master of the Association, sending his good wishes, and stating he was glad to find many old friends still going strong in the Essex Association, including the present Master, and Messrs. Nevard, P. Pitstow, W. H. Judd, T. Faulkner, G. A. Black, H. J. Tucker, etc. He wished the Essex ringers a pleasant and successful meeting, and the association continued prosperity.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A quarterly meeting of the Eastern Division was held at Heathfield on Whit Monday, June 9th. Members were present from Brightling, Burwash, Chiddingfold, Eastbourne (St. Mary's and St. Saviour's), Hastings (Christ Church, Blacklands), Southover, Lewes, Mayfield, Pevensy, Waldron, and Westham, together with members of the local band. Ringing in the standard methods was indulged in at intervals during the afternoon and evening, and a short service was held, at which the ringers were addressed by the Vicar (the Rev. H. Grahame-Clarke).

About 30 members sat down to tea, which was provided at the Star Inn.—At the business meeting which followed, the Vicar occupied the chair.—Ringmer and Waldron were proposed for the next meeting, in September, and on being put to the vote the former was decided upon.

Mr. G. Penfold proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar (the Rev. Grahame-Clarke) for his warm welcome to the association members, for the use of the bells, and for presiding at the meeting.—The Vicar responded.—This terminated the meeting, the members returned to the tower, and kept the bells going until 8 p.m.

NORFOLK GUILD.

A general meeting of the Norfolk Guild was held at Lowestoft on Whit Monday. By kind permission of the Rev. E. C. Morgan (Rector of Lowestoft) the ring of eight bells at the Parish Church of St. Margaret's were placed at the disposal of the members.

Luncheon was served at the Crown Hotel, the Rector of Lowestoft being in the chair, supported by the Rev. W. C. Pearson, the Rev. R. Bulstrode, Mr. Lancelot F. Orde, and the following members of the committee: Messrs. C. E. Borrett, F. W. Naunton, C. S. Tuthill, F. C. Lambert, J. Souter, and the general secretary (Mr. Arthur L. Coleman). Representatives were present from the Norwich, Great Yarmouth and Lothingland districts.—The Secretary announced that the president (the Dean of Norwich) had written to him apologising for his absence from the meeting.

At the business meeting, Messrs. Hubert Ernest Duffield, William Baldry and Austin Head were elected members of the Guild.—The Secretary moved a vote of thanks to the Rector of Lowestoft for presiding over the meeting, and also for the use of the bells.—The Rev. E. C. Morgan acknowledged the vote, and expressed the pleasure he had had in presiding.

The Secretary announced that the August Bank Holiday meeting would be held at North Elmham.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A special meeting was held at West Hartlepool on May 10th, having been originally fixed for Easter Monday. The committee, however, recognising this was a fixed date for the Cleveland and North Yorkshire Association's meeting, and not wishing to clash with their date, fixed it for a subsequent Saturday. By kind permission of the Vicars of the three churches, the bells were at the disposal of the ringers, and touches were brought round in Bob Minor and Major, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, and Stedman Caters, Kent, Double Norwich, Cambridge and London Surprise Major.

An excellent tea was propovided by local ladies, under the able guidance of Miss Stephenson, and the company numbered 25.

The President occupied the chair, and there were ringers present from St. Ignatius, Sunderland; Holy Trinity, Darlington; Newcastle Cathedral; St. George's, Jesmond; Whitley Bay, and the local towers.

Three new members were elected, and the President proposed a very hearty vote of thanks to the Vicars of the three churches for kindly placing their bells at the ringers' disposal, and to the ladies for making such excellent arrangements for tea.—Afterwards there was further ringing.

RINGERS AND ADVISORY BOARDS.

One of the most important steps which the Central Council have for a long time taken was to pass a resolution at their meeting on Whitsun Tuesday urging that on all diocesan advisory boards, there should be a person who has expert knowledge of bells, bell hanging and change ringing, and in order that it may be brought to the notice of the proper authorities, a copy is to be sent to the secretaries of all Diocesan Conferences and Advisory Boards. In this way the resolution will come under official notice, but it will behove the associations throughout the country to keep an eye upon this matter, and to see that no stone is left unturned to secure the carrying out of the Council's recommendation.

The importance of this matter to ringers is just this. Advisory boards are a comparatively new departure in diocesan organisation. All matters concerning church improvements for which a faculty is required come under their review, and the influence which they exercise in settling such questions as the manner in which a peal of bells should be restored is paramount. These committees set about their work with the very best of intentions, but it is only in rare cases at present that their members include anyone with knowledge of the requirements of ringers. The antiquarian side is well protected, and the imperfect knowledge from the engineering point of view—we use this phrase deliberately—which those who are asked for advice on antiquarian questions usually possess, is often such as to jeopardise the possibility of successfully restoring a peal of bells. Under existing conditions in a majority of the advisory boards, however, the opinions of these persons are accepted without question, because there is no representative who can, with authoritative knowledge, place before the advisory bodies the ringers' view and give advice which might materially affect a decision. Then, too, there is the general necessity of guarding the ringers' interests where alterations, not, perhaps, connected directly with the bells are contemplated, such as the case referred to by Canon Baker, in which the installation of a new organ cut off half the belfry and made it practically impossible to ring the bells—a matter which never occurred to the advisory board in question.

Thus it will be seen that it is very necessary that the interests of ringers and ringing should be represented on the advisory boards. In some few cases, notably in the dioceses of Winchester, Manchester and Chelmsford, the ringers are represented, and every association should see that, as soon as possible, the diocesan board in its area, has at least one member who can speak with knowledge on matters that closely affect the belfry. The Council's resolution will bring the subject to the notice of the appointing authorities; the associations must see that the appointments are not shelved. The matter is of really vital interest and importance to all ringing organisations, and we trust that, attention having been drawn to it, associations will give it their serious consideration.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the South-Western Division of the Essex Association was held at Loughton on Saturday, May 10th, when 30 members attended. Tea was partaken of in the Church Hall, followed by the meeting, the Rector (the Rev. N. Maitland), who was elected an hon. member, presiding. It was decided to hold the next quarterly meeting at Hornchurch, and three new ringing members were elected.

The Master proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells and the hall for the tea and meeting; to the ladies for providing the tea, and to Mr. J. Rann for making the necessary arrangements, which helped to make the meeting a success.

A meeting of the Northern District of the Essex Association was held at Stisted on Saturday week. At a short service at the Parish Church the Rev. O. E. Lea Winter, Rector of Bradwell-by-Braintree, officiated, and gave a helpful address. Miss Law was at the organ, and the lesson was read by Mr. C. H. Howard, Master of the Association. Tea followed at the Institute, 30 members being present from Braintree, Chelmsford, Dunmow, Earls Colne, Greenstead Green, Maldon, Rayne, and Stisted, including Mr. L. Wiffen, District Master, and Mr. W. H. Dyson, district secretary. Mrs. Lee Winter greatly helped in the arrangements. Thanks were accorded the preacher and the church authorities. During the evening there was tune ringing on the handbells by local ringers, and in the tower touches were rung of Bob Minor, Grandsire Doubles, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, Double Court, Cambridge and London Surprise. All those who took part in this tour, wish to thank through the 'Ringing World,' the various clergy, churchwardens, steepkeepers, etc., for the use of the bells, and for having everything in readiness, and more especially Mr. G. H. Cross, of Norwich, through whose untiring efforts in arranging towers, etc., the success of the tour is due.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD.

The first annual meeting of the newly-formed Peterborough Diocesan Guild was held on Whitsun Monday at the Cathedral city. The following bellfries were represented: Peterborough, Oundle, Benefield, Northampton, Wellingborough, Kettering, Watford, Husbands Bosworth, Wollaston, Finedon, Irthlingborough, Isham, Geddington, Warkton, Weekley, Broughton, Cranford, Burton Latimer, Pitsford and Thrapston.

The service in the Cathedral was largely attended. The Rev. J. P. Friend, of Collingtree, intoned the service, and the lesson was read by the Dean.

The Bishop, in a brief address, welcomed the members of the Guild, and said it was indeed good to see so many present. He was sure that those who knew the Cathedral well would be impressed with the change that had taken place by the opening up of the whole church. Their noble Cathedral was one of the most glorious in the country, and now that they had an uninterrupted view from East to West, was more wonderful than ever. He was thankful that the association for bell ringers had been formed, and that it had attained such strength within a short time. He believed that the association had a real work to do, and hoped it would be a real help to members by way of inspiration and fellowship. Personally he had cause for gratitude as he saw them that morning, for he thought of the kindly welcomes he had received from the bells of different parishes as he had made his first visits during the past few months. He could assure them that those welcomes had given him real pleasure indeed; as he had drawn near to a village or town, and heard the bells, the sound had meant a great deal indeed to him. Their church bells were one of the great features of their land, what would England be without her church bells? When their fellow-churchmen came home after being abroad for some years, one of the things they looked forward to was hearing the church bells on a Sunday; they did not hear them in so many countries abroad. Their bells called people to worship God, let the ringers think of that invitation when they gave it, and let it be their call in God's name. On occasions their bells told of the joy God would have His children know, even in the passing bell there was besides the note of sadness the note of joy. He was gradually learning his duties as a Bishop—some of them were privileges, and one of the latter was to be allowed in the name of the Diocese and Church to thank people. He thanked them very much for the part they took as bell ringers in the work of the church, their work was important. He appealed to them to have a high sense of their vocation as bell ringers, and to prove themselves worthy of their calling.

The service was followed by luncheon at Neaverson's Cafe. The Bishop presided, and was supported by the Dean (President of the Guild), the Rev. F. E. Channer, Northampton; the Rev. J. P. Friend, Collingtree (President of the Northampton Branch); the Rev. R. C. Thursfield, Cranford (President, Kettering Branch); the Rev. John White, Pitsford; the Rev. E. J. Atkins, Isham; Rev. H. L. Hopper, Weekley (Treasurer, Kettering Branch); Mr. F. Wilford, Northampton (Master of the Guild); Mr. D. J. Nicholls, Kettering (Guild secretary); Mr. Wilson, Isham (Guild treasurer); Miss C. Hepburn, Isham (secretary, Ladies' Guild); and the following branch secretaries: Messrs. T. Tebbutt, Northampton; F. Barber, Wellingborough; R. G. Black, Kettering, and F. Rawlinson, Peterborough.

After lunch, the Master of the Guild proposed thanks to the Bishop for the Cathedral service, and for the excellent address he had given.

The Rev. R. C. Thursfield seconded, and said he was very glad that the first annual meeting of their newly-constituted Guild should have been held at Peterborough. They were pleased to have the Bishop with them, and gave him a hearty welcome. The service had been an inspiration to all of them, and they greatly appreciated the privilege of holding it in the Cathedral (hear, hear). As ringers they had a high ideal, and he could assure the Bishop that of the many church workers in the Diocese, he had none more whole-hearted, loyal and thorough in their work than the members of that Guild. They worked not only for proficiency in bell ringing, but perfection in change ringing, they had already reached a high level of proficiency.

The Bishop briefly returned thanks on behalf of the Dean and himself.

THE BUSINESS MEETING.

In the afternoon the business meeting of the Guild was held in the Knights' Chamber. The Dean presided, and expressed thanks for his election as President at the inaugural meeting. He wished the Cathedral could offer them something more in the way of bells, but, as they knew, they were simply overwhelmed with requisitions from the architect for important structural repairs which must be seen to before they could think of rehanging bells. But he still kept the hope at the back of his mind that some day there might once more be in the Cathedral a peal of bells worthy of the Diocese, the Church, and their Association.

Apologies for absence were read from the Rev. J. S. Clark (Polebrook), and the Rev. F. H. Lacey, Twywell.

The rules drawn up by the committee were adopted.

The following officers elected at the inauguration in January were re-elected: President, the Dean of Peterborough; Master, Mr. F. Wilford, Northampton; treasurer, Mr. W. T. Wilson, Isham; secretary, Mr. D. J. Nicholls, Kettering; auditor, Mr. S. F. Millward, Northampton. Delegates to the Central Council were appointed as follows: The Rev. L. S. Clark, Polebrook; Mr. J. J. Jutson, Peterborough; and the Master and secretary.

It was decided to make a grant of three guineas to Yelvertoft from the Belfry Repair Fund.—The Sec. explained that this fund was started in 1917 by the Central Northants Association, and £57 was collected. Among the grants made was one to Peterborough Cathedral, and the Central Northants Association handed over the balance of £32 to the Guild.

Mr. F. Wilford, the Master of the Guild, moved a vote of thanks to the Dean for his interest in the association, and this was heartily carried.—In response, the Dean said the bell ringers had a definite ministry in the church—to summon fellow Christians to worship and prayer.

Mr. Nicholls expressed thanks to the Rev. J. P. Friend for having drawn up the Guild's form of service, which, as the Bishop had said in the morning, was really beautiful and inspiring.

It was decided to hold the next annual meeting at Northampton.

The bells of the Parish Church and St. Mary's, Peterborough, Woodston and Whittlesey, were at the service of the visitors, and touches in various methods were rung during the day.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

A quarterly meeting of the above association was held at Staveley on Saturday week. A service was held, at which an interesting address was given by the Rector (Canon Molineux). This was followed by a tea in the Rectory Barn, a good number of ringers attending.

Ald. R. B. Chambers (President) was in the chair, and he was supported by Mrs. Chambers, Canon Molineux, Dr. J. Court, the Churchwardens, Mosses, Freeby and Wallace (Derby), Blood (Nottingham), Saddington (Loughborough), A. C. Wright (Darley Dale), hon. secretary, and many others. A letter of apology was received from Mr. W. Willson (Leicester), hon. treasurer.

At the meeting which followed, a good number of hon. and ringing members were elected, and a vote of thanks was accorded to Canon Molineux and the local committee.

Ringings took place during the afternoon and evening.

The next meeting will take place at Hinckley, in September.

THE FALSE PEALS AT WYE AND ERITH.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In reply to Mr. Billenness's letter, my son, F. J. Cullum, junr., is at present in Buenos Ayres. When he called the false peal he was just home from New York. It was my first false peal, also my son, Lionel Cullum's, first peal on the treble. Through sickness I was unable to take part in the next peal of Grandsire Triples, which my son called for his brother. I believe Mr. Barnett has got more young ringers through their first peal than any man in Kent, and if Mr. Billenness wants to see his name in print why does he not ring peals of Grandsire Triples instead of writing letters?—Yours faithfully,
F. J. CULLUM, Senr.

Sir,—Being one of the three 'first peal' men at Wye, I should like to say something in answer to Mr. Billenness's letter of the 16th as to how far Mr. Parkes has subsequently devoted his attention to conducting Grandsire Triples for ringers needing a peal in this method. The peal at Wye was not proved false until nearly two years after it was rung. During that time we had practised and rung peals in somewhat higher methods. Mr. Parkes has since offered to conduct another peal of Grandsire for us, but, wanting something better, we have refused his offer. We have not got many conductors in the Ashford district who have tried lately to arrange a peal, and if it were not for Mr. Parkes our peals would be few and far between. I wish him every success in conducting higher methods. I have rung with Mr. Billenness on several occasions, and hope to have the same pleasure again. I am quite aware of his sympathy with beginners, and I know he does his best to teach them change ringing, but I have known good ringers who (when I have tried to conduct a touch of Stedman and missed a dodge) have set their bell and told me to learn the method before trying to conduct it.—Yours truly, 104, New Street, Ashford.
E. W. POWELL.

Dear Sir,—Surely it is time your correspondent let the subject cease.

As regards Mr. Parkes' peals of Grandsire, I think Mr. Billenness's enquiry is rather pertinent. Mr. Parkes is now doing a lot in the Ashford district in getting ringers out of the Grandsire rut. My advice to Mr. Billenness would be, 'Go thou and do likewise,' and his peal statistics would then compare more favourably with Mr. Parkes' record.—Yours truly,

A MEMBER OF THE ASHFORD DISTRICT.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The peal ringing tour season has arrived, and a party, consisting largely of Kentish men (or is it men of Kent?) has had a very successful trip in East Anglia. They scored ten peals on eight, ten and twelve bells; and five attempts 'went west,' three of them over half-way, and one right on the end.

To-day is the 301st anniversary of Saffron Walden's 'Great Ringing Day,' and there will doubtless be the customary large gathering of ringers to join in the celebration.

Mr. John B. Woolley, Master of the Cambridge University Guild, has gained a first class in the Natural Sciences Tripos, Part 1.

'A Yorkshire party of ten' were more fortunate in securing 'quarters' in London, at Whitsuntide, than Mr. Fairclough, Master of the Chester Diocesan Guild, and would have been pleased to accommodate him had they been aware of his dilemma.

It is not often that a good composition of Treble Bob by a well-known composer has to wait forty years before it is rung, yet one such by Mr. Arthur Knights, composed on June 24th, 1884, was rung for the first time last Saturday, at Congleton.

The first peal of London Surprise rung by the Winchester Guild for ten years was achieved on Saturday at Privett, Hants. The company were much impressed by the really wonderful way in which Mr. George Pullinger, who lost an arm in the war, rang and struck his bell throughout the peal. His striking was just as good in the last half-hour as in the first. Mr. Pullinger is joint hon. secretary of the Winchester Guild.

The first peal of Grandsire Cinques 'in hand' was rung at Birmingham on July 2nd, 1886.

Henry Dains was born on June 28th, 1837.

THE CONSTRUCTION OF METHODS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The Rev. E. S. Powell's reply is no answer to my challenge. I challenged the great little WE, which consists of himself and Mr. Trollope, to prove the construction of London Surprise (Minor and Major) by their particular formula.

Are they able to do this? If not, why not?

My theory of method construction has been known to the Exercise for many years, but perhaps you will kindly allow me to repeat it as follows: All methods, principles and systems, are produced by making shunts in the primary principles.

When it is understood, once a method has been produced, that you cannot take away a single place or add a single place without altering the character of the method, then it will be understood that every place counts.

On these lines, the construction of every method, principle and system, can be proved, but before I trouble you with any figures to support my assertions, allow me once more to challenge the great little WE to prove the construction of London Surprise (Minor and Major) and Stedman's Principle by their particular formula.—Yours faithfully,

GEORGE BAKER.

RINGER IN SERIOUS MOTOR ACCIDENT.

The many friends of Mr. George A. Smith, of Tunstall, Staffs., will be sorry to hear that he met with a serious accident while returning by charabanc from Buxton on Thursday, June 19th. He had rung for a wedding at Congleton Church, and went with the party to Buxton. On the return journey a halt was called (to cool the engines) at the pretty village of Endon. Mr. Smith was passing round the vehicle, when a motor-bicycle, with pillion rider, going at high speed, ran straight over him. The 'pillion' lady was badly hurt, the motorist lies unconscious with a fractured skull, but Mr. Smith escaped with his life, his suit torn to ribbons, and a mass of cuts and bruises, too numerous to count. The writer thought him one huge wound and bruise combined, but found him still smiling.

SUSSEX ASSOCIATION AND THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

To the Editor.

Sir,—The reference in your leading article last week to the abstention of the Sussex Association from participation in the work of the Central Council, leads me to ask if it is not the practice of the Council to exclude from its peals analysis, except under the designation of 'Independent Societies,' in which the performances of the small fry are lumped together, the performances of those organisations not directly affiliated? I have a recollection of this having been done in the past, and it would be a great pity if the records of the Sussex Association were even temporarily to disappear from a table in which they have often occupied an honoured place.

On the wider aspects of the absence of such an association as the Sussex County from membership of the Council I will not now say anything, though much might be said.—Yours, etc.,

A COUNCIL MEMBER.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

RINGERS' REPRESENTATION ON ADVISORY BOARDS.

The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn reported that the Towers and Belfries Committee had not met during the year, there having been no occasion to call them together, but Mr. Lewis had been doing his best, as a member of the committee, to get a sort of round table conference especially to meet Mr. Eales, who was on the Advisory Committee of many dioceses, and was a person of great influence, to whom Mr. Lewis could teach a great deal (laughter). At present, however, it had not been possible to arrange this meeting, as Mr. Lewis had been dashing about on business, not only all over England, but almost all over the world.

The Rev. H. Drake said in his Archdeaconry, the Archdeacon, who was on one of the committees of the Church Assembly, intended to make a dead set against iron frames in belfries, and was going to require, before any bells were restored or anything done to any bells, that there must be a faculty issued. All schemes would be referred to the Advisory Committee, which in turn would refer the matter to the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings, and, he believed, to Mr. Eales. It seemed to him there was to be a dead set against bells being hung as ringers would like to have them hung, but to have them hung more as antiquarian objects. He thought, therefore, the Council ought to ask the Towers and Belfries Committee to consider the question whether it was necessary that a faculty should be obtained before bells were restored.

A member: Yes, it must be.

The Rev. H. Drake said personally he did not think so. He thought it was contrary to canon law, but it was a matter for the committee to consider whether steps could not be taken to have the views of ringers put forward more forcibly than at the present time.

Canon Elsee said from what he knew of the Advisory Committee in Manchester they were only too anxious to have expert opinion. When he mentioned the question of bells at the Diocesan Conference they promptly put him on the committee (hear, hear). He thought the real point was that in each diocese, the diocesan or county association should approach the authorities who had to do with the appointment of the committee, and ask that expert opinion upon bells should be represented on the Advisory Committee of the diocese. He thought in most cases that some provision could be made for it to be represented.

The Rev. C. E. Matthews said a faculty must by law always be obtained for the removal of any bells or restoration work in a belfry. He happened to be a member of the Advisory Council for granting faculties in the Winchester Diocese, and the granting of faculties remained with the Chancellor of the Diocese. They had done him the honour of putting him on in connection with bells and belfries, and he only wished they could have had a greater expert than he was, but they had been very much helped by Major Hesse. He thought there were others all over the country who might, as Canon Elsee had suggested, be co-opted on these committees for that particular work. As to the question between iron frames and wood, his committee were perfectly willing to listen to recommendations put before them.

Mr. C. H. Howard said he was asked to join the Diocesan Board for the diocese of Chelmsford. His board were quite willing to listen to any recommendation to get bells hung according to the wishes of the parishioners and bell ringers. He thought it was the duty of every association to see that it was properly represented on these Advisory Boards.

Canon Baker suggested that a resolution should be passed by the Council that it was necessary, in the interests of bell ringers, that their views should be represented on advisory boards. He thought it would have great weight. He had occasion at his Diocesan Conference to make an onslaught on their Advisory Committee who had approved a scheme at one church for putting in a new organ in such a manner that they had taken away half the belfry, so that it was practically impossible to ring the bells at all. The secretary of the Advisory Committee afterwards came to him and told him that, as a matter of fact, the question of the bells never entered into their minds at all. They never thought about the unfortunate ringers. He (Canon Baker) thought if the secretary of each association would write to the Advisory Committee in his diocese and point out that a resolution had been passed by that Council, it might have much weight (hear, hear).

After further discussion upon the form of the motion, the following resolution was proposed by Canon Baker, seconded by the Rev. H. Drake, and unanimously carried, 'that the Council strongly urge that each Diocesan Advisory Committee should include at least one member having expert knowledge of bells, bell hanging and change ringing, and that this resolution be communicated to the secretary of each Advisory Committee, and to the secretaries of the Diocesan Conferences.'

The Towers and Belfries Committee was re-elected, with the addition of Mr. H. Fairclough, who, the President pointed out, was Master of the Chester Guild, and a builder and contractor. His knowledge would be useful to the committee, upon which that branch of expert knowledge was not represented.

LOST IN THE POST.

The Rev. A. T. Beeston said a report for the Records Committee had been drawn up, and circulated to the committee, but he was sorry to say it appeared to have been lost in the post. When it did come to hand it would be published in 'The Ringing World.'

The committee, comprising the Rev. A. T. Beeston, the Rev. H. Law James and Mr. T. Hervey Beams, were re-elected.

MR. JOHN CARTER'S RINGING MACHINE.

The Hon. Secretary reported, on behalf of the Science Museum Exhibit Committee. He said that since the last report, Mr. Cave had very kindly, as agreed, printed at his own cost the figures of certain methods for the purposes of the exhibit, and he (Mr. Young) had completed the colouring of the diagrams. Mrs. Snowden had kindly given two copies of the diagrams of 'Standard Methods' for the purpose of further illustration. Since last year, the Museum itself had been radically altered. The gallery in which they were to have exhibited had been taken over by the War Museum, and the new galleries which were to have been completed early in the year were not yet ready. When they were, the Council would be allotted a space in them. As the Council knew, a model of a ring of six bells had been presented, but the central feature would be Mr. Carter's machine, which was to be deposited there as soon as it was ready. Continuing, Mr. Young said the question which had been passing through Mr. Carter's mind was, what should happen to the machine? He wished to deposit it at Kensington, because the late Sir Arthur Heywood expressed a wish that it should be placed there, but Mr. Carter thought that if it was put there it might never be used. Mr. Carter wondered whether he could so leave it that, after he was gone, the Council would become trustees of that machine. He (Mr. Young) thought this would be a good thing if it could be arranged, because the Council would then have an overview of it throughout the years.

Replying to the President, Mr. J. S. Pritchett expressed the opinion that the Council, not being a corporate body, could not act legally as a trustee, but there could be no objection to Mr. Carter appointing as trustees, say, the President of the Council and such two other members as the Council might from time to time select.

In the course of subsequent discussion, several members urged that something should be done by Mr. Carter to ensure that a knowledge of the working of the machine should be secured. There was a grave risk that in course of time the machine would become unintelligible, and would, as the Rev. C. D. P. Davies put it, remain under a glass case, as something very wonderful which no one knew how to work.

The Rev. C. D. P. Davies also pointed out that from correspondence he had had with the Museum authorities it appeared that they wanted to have the machine for purposes other than those for which ringers would see it used. The Museum authorities' main object was to have it there because it contained many mechanical dodges which might be found useful if adopted for other machines. He did not say that was not a laudable purpose, but it was not their purpose.

Major Hesse said they ought to make it clear that the machine was not to be taken to pieces for the purpose of parts being copied for other machines. If taken to pieces it might never be properly put together again.

Mr. A. Paddon Smith said if Mr. Carter's machine could be used for advancing mechanical knowledge, he thought it would be an excellent use for it. Mr. Carter had no patents in it, and if it contained clever ideas, let the country have the advantage of them. The machine could be taken to pieces and the parts numbered, and there would then be no difficulty in reassembling them.

Mr. Young said Mr. Carter seemed to have foreseen that at some time it would be necessary to throw light on the machine, and had set out in book form a description of it with photographs and diagrams. If the machine were the property of trustees they might make it a condition that it should not be tampered with, because it was primarily a machine for ringing changes mechanically. He took it that it was the feeling of the meeting that the Council would accept Mr. Carter's offer to act as or to appoint trustees, in which case he thought Mr. Carter would act on those lines.

Mr. P. J. Johnson said no mention had been made of the point as to whether, if they put the machine in the museum, anyone would have a practical opportunity of seeing the machine in operation. He thought the machine should be placed on loan, with the same right to take it out as they proposed in regard to the Memorial Book in St. Paul's Cathedral Library.

Mr. Milne agreed that this should be clearly stated in the conditions.

Mr. Young's report was adopted, and the committee was reappointed as follows: Revs. C. D. P. Davies and E. Rankes James, Messrs. E. H. Lewis, A. A. Hughes, C. F. Johnston, P. Taylor and E. A. Young.

After the lunch adjournment, the Hon. Secretary reported on the progress made in the preparation of a card of instruction as to the care and use of bells which it is proposed to issue to churches where there are bells. He pointed out that there had been some divergence of opinion between himself and the Rev. H. Drake (who had offered to bear part of the cost of printing), and Mr. Drake, having stated his view, the matter was adjourned until later in the afternoon, when it was resolved to leave the matter to the Standing Committee.

THE NAMING OF METHODS.

There were three motions on the agenda with regard to method nomenclature, and by agreement the question was discussed upon the following, moved by Mr. G. P. Burton: 'To call attention to the nomenclature of methods and to move the appointment of a Nomenclature Committee: (1) to review existing method nomenclature; (2) to prepare suitable topographical names for the future; and (3) to formulate a plan for the application of such names.'

Mr. Burton said he would take as his text the heading of a leading article which appeared in 'The Ringing World,' 'Names that must be changed,' and he hoped that the Council would accept it as an axiom and would ensure that, in the future, the Exercise would go the right way with names. In regard to unsuitable names, Minor, although the chief offender, was by no means alone in this respect. Botanical names must go. As an illustration of what was unsuitable, Mr. Burton quoted the names of methods rung in a peal by his own association thirty years ago, such as 'Jolly Dick,' 'St. Simon,' 'Antelope,' 'Morning Star,' 'Evening Star,' and 'Little Bob.' To-day they had arrived at the perfection of this absurdity. The Leytonstone Association, who had moved in this matter, wished to see such names as Shamrock, Fuchsia, Geranium, Bluebell, Hyacinth, Daffodil, etc., removed. In selecting titles, first preference, he submitted, should be given to topographical names, but he thought the Council might, with great caution, consider the propriety of giving some latitude in technical and personal names. Proceeding, Mr. Burton urged that the unsuitable names should be changed because they were against good taste, were inartistic, and certainly unscientific. He briefly touched upon the appearance of names in the past, mentioning that Grandsire, one of the oldest and easily the most ridiculous of names, appeared in Stedman's work in 1668, and seemed to have been accepted as inevitable by the authors of 'The Clavis' in 1778. Other names in the same work were irreproachable place names. Shipway and Snowdon left things much as they found them. The Council began to take a hand in naming methods in 1897, when, it would be remembered, they settled the momentous question of 'New' Cambridge Surprise. The chief mistake since then seemed to have been that they had done nothing, for, between the position taken up by the Methods Committee and that of the Analysis Committee they had fallen between two stools. How did this state of affairs arise? It had arisen simply because the Council had been content to let things develop on their own lines, and to do nothing. His proposal now was that an entirely new committee should be formed, and that the duties of that committee should be to review the whole existing method nomenclature, and make recommendations for the revision of unsuitable names to the Council. Secondly, that they should prepare a selection of suitable topographical names to which nomenclature should be limited in the future: that was to say, that when a band rang a new method they would no longer be allowed to pick and choose any name which suited their fancy—that was how they had arrived at the present absurdities. When a new method was rung it would be reported that the band wished to name it, and they would be given names they could choose from. A name would not be thrust down their throats, but they would have a choice, which, when arrived at, would last for all time. The third duty of the committee would be to formulate a plan for the application of such names. He appealed to the Council not to let things stand as they were. They had got to this pass: they were told that they did nothing. People, perhaps, did not study the many things they had done, or value the work that was done by the committees of the Council, but there was an opening for the accusation if they did not move in current things crying out for reform. He did not see how they could go back from that meeting without having taken some step in that reform. He begged the Council to lend a hand; and appoint a committee who could get to work on the right road: get them out of the difficulty in which they found themselves, and save them in the future from the ridicule which they had had in the past.

At this point a suggestion was approved to deal separately with the three points in Mr. Burton's resolution, and the Rev. H. Drake seconded the motion, so far as it related to the appointment of a committee 'to review existing method nomenclature.' He said the resolution which he had promised to second, on behalf of the Leytonstone band, was one proposing that as a temporary measure only the numbers given in the Council's 'Collection of Minor Methods' should be used, and not the names. Proceeding, he said the reason why it seemed to him they should have a special committee for the purpose was that it was something quite different from anything else that ringers were concerned with. They were not concerned, as a rule, with words, but with things, with science, with mathematics, or with the engineering part of ringing. None of these had anything much to do with the right choice of words. They wanted a committee not necessarily of men who were good ringers or who knew about the management of bells, but who had a good knowledge of words, and were able to understand the different shades of meaning, to understand and appreciate not only whether a word was a good word, appropriate to its purpose, but also whether a word would sound well, and was one which would be used with pleasure by ringers afterwards.

M.C.A. MEN'S 'SURPRISE' TOUR.

Whitsun Eve found a band of the Midland Counties Association at Grimsby intent on ringing four Surprise peals during the week-end. At St. James' Church, the first peal of Surprise in Grimsby was rung, whilst the 'Sergeant Major' marched anxiously up and down outside the tower. A convivial evening with the local men was spent, and arrangements made for Sunday service ringing. A good course of London on St. James' bells for morning service augured well for the other peal attempts. Sunday afternoon found the party at Barton-on-Humber, where a good peal of Superlative, the first of Surprise on the bells, was rung without incident. After a satisfying tea, a walk down to the water was taken, where, among derelict barges, the inevitable handbells were produced, and much ringing of sorts done upon them. Further tower bell ringing with the local men brought train time, and more handbell ringing. Was there only a minute or two to spare before the train came in, out came the handbells in an attempt for the elusive course of Duffield Major. Arrived at Grimsby the band was met by the indefatigable Mr. H. Rushby, who acted as escort to billets, for some of the party were still uncertain of the whereabouts of their lodgings.

Monday morning found the aforesaid gentleman walking round to the various houses in which the party were staying, in order to give them their railway tickets, which he had purchased at party rates, before 7 a.m. A train journey to New Holland, a boat trip across the Humber, and a further train ride to Beverley, brought the ringers to the venue for the Cambridge Royal attempt at St. Mary's. A service delayed the start, but the peal came up, the first of Surprise on the bells, and believed to be the first of Cambridge Royal in the county since the one rung at Wakefield many years ago. A belated dinner was then eaten, and tracks made for the station. Owing to the late start, the band was unable to get to Holy Trinity, Hull, where it had been intended to attempt Stedman Caters with some of the Grimsby men. However, Mr. Rushby, guide and counsellor, had gone ahead, without food, to get another peal of bells. He succeeded in obtaining the use of All Saints' bells for Superlative, but a course or so showed the impracticability of scoring here, as the bells went so badly. On this attempt proving abortive, the handbell owner made his way to the boat, and was in bed when the rest of the ringers reached home.

On Tuesday morning, London was the method at St. Andrew's. Here the band met short, the two elusive members of the company having, apparently, failed to find the church. However, Mr. Budd, of Grimsby, kindly left his business to ring the treble, and the Sergeant-Major was pressed into the band. London would not go very well here until the S.-M. had expressed his opinion of the band in no measured terms. Then there was some downright good striking for about an hour, when the bells were stopped owing to a change course, and time did not permit of another attempt. Two of the band then went to Cleethorpes, another went home to dinner, while the remainder went elsewhere.

Such measure of success as attended the efforts of the band was undoubtedly due to Mr. H. Rushby, who made all arrangements for the lodging of the visitors—no small problem—and for the use of the bells at the various churches, and who must have walked dozens of miles in making the visit a success.

NORTHELEACH, GLOS.—On Sunday, May 11th, at the Church of St. Peter and Paul, for evening service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes), in 45 minutes: W. Turrey 1, J. Mustoe 2, R. Westmacott 3, W. Clayton 4, D. Hills 5, C. Westmacott 6, J. C. Acok (first as conductor) 7, J. Cook 8. First quarter by all except the conductor and ringer of the 4th. First quarter in the method by the local band.

STOURBRIDGE.—On Sunday, May 11th, at St. Thomas' Church, for evening service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) was rung in 48 mins.: E. Turner 1, G. H. Pagett 2, H. Amphlett 3, W. Smith 4, B. Dunn 5, C. Wm. Cooper 6, A. E. Whatmore (conductor) 7, G. Grazier 8. Rung as a birthday compliment to Messrs. Geo. H. Pagett and B. Dunn, both of whom are choristers and ringers. Mr. Pagett has served 50 years as a chorister and 48 years as a ringer.

THE PASSING OF AN 'ELDER BROTHER.'

AN IMPRESSIVE SCENE AT ILKESTON.

It is with unfeigned regret that we record the death of Mr. Joseph Henry Iliffe, of Ilkeston. The deceased ringer had been failing in health for five or six months past, and only those who were closely associated with him realised how ill he was, for practically the whole of the time he was confined to his room. Of late, those of his friends who visited him, could perceive that he was gradually sinking. On Whit Sunday his condition gave his relatives and friends cause for grave anxiety, and on Tuesday, June 10th, he passed peacefully away—a victim to pernicious anæmia—at his residence, 6, Burns Street, Ilkeston.

The flag on the Parish Church floated at half-mast from that time until after the interment on Saturday in the Ilkeston Park Cemetery.

Ringers, military and St. John Ambulance units combined to pay a last tribute to deceased, who had been associated with the Old Volunteers (Derby Regt.), in which he qualified for the long service medal, and retired with the rank of Col.-Sergeant. For over a decade he was a member of St. John Ambulance Corps, and at the time of his death held the rank of sergeant in that corps.

For thirty-five years he did true and faithful service as a ringer at the Parish Church of St. Mary, and for many years past had held the office of foreman.

Deceased was an official at Manners' No. 2 Colliery, and until failing health compelled him to retire he captained the Manners' No. 2 rescue team.

The funeral service, held in the Parish Church, was fully choral, the Vicar (the Rev. A. W. Bell, M.A.) intoned the service, the lesson was read by the Rev. P. A. Sharp, curate. The hymns, 'Rock of Ages' and 'Abide with me,' were sung.

The Vicar, in an address, spoke of the sterling qualities of the deceased, pointing out that the deceased had lived not a long life, but a full life, in the service of his God, his King, and his fellow-men. Mr. Gates (organist) effectively played the Dead March in 'Saul,' the mourners and congregation standing meanwhile.

The route to the cemetery was lined with reverent spectators, and there was a large concourse at the burial ground. The cortege was headed by the Borough, Ambulance and the British Legion Bands, representing the ambulance and military. The coffin, of polished oak, with cast brass appointments—the latter in the shape of a Patée cross—the breastplate raised on a purple mount, bore the following incised inscription: 'Joseph Henry Iliffe, died June 10th, 1924, aged 53 years. At rest.'

The casket was enshrouded in the Union Jack, on the top of which rested deceased's cap and belt of the Ambulance Corps, and a wreath from his sorrowing widow and two sons. The firing party which preceded the coffin with reversed arms, was provided by G Company 5th Bttn. S.F., in charge of Sergt. Davis and Capt. F. G. Robinson.

Immediately in front of the coffin walked his old companions of the bellry, the churchwardens, Messrs J. E. Cox and H. Simpson, and the Vicar of Ilkeston.

The family mourners followed, and in the rear came members of the Church Council, sidesmen, ringers from neighbouring towers, British Legion, Old Volunteers, and a very large muster of members of the St. John Ambulance Brigade, under the command of Supt. H. H. Tatham, and bringing up the rear representatives of the officials and men of the Manners' No. 2 Colliery. The funeral arrangements were ably carried out by Mr. Harry Beardsley, undertaker, one of the St. Mary's ringers.

The coffin was borne by four of the oldest ringers, namely, Messrs. H. Fletcher, A. T. Baker, H. Harrison and E. C. Gobey. At the graveside the Vicar officiated, and the final rites concluded, four of deceased's colleagues rang a course of Grandsire Triples over the open grave on handbells: J. F. George 1—2, E. C. Gobey 3—4, H. Harrison 5—6 and C. J. Baker 7—8. The firing party discharged three volleys, Drummer J. Stamford supplying the drum effects between each, and Bugler A. Chadwick sounded the 'Last Post.'

The bells of St. Mary's rang out to announce to the township that the last sad rites were over, the 'whole pull and stand' being rung 53 times, with the bells fully muffled, except the tenor, which was open at the back stroke. Touches of Stedman and Grandsire Triples were rung afterwards, as no attempt could be made for a peal owing to the tower overlooking the market, and it being market day.

The double muffle was retained for Matins on Trinity Sunday, and for evensong the ringing was done with the bells half-muffled.

The floral tributes were numerous, including beautiful wreaths from St. Mary's Church officers, choir and ringers' committees, his brother ringers, officers, N.C.O.s and men of the Ambulance Corps, officers, N.C.O.s and men of G Company Nolts and Derbys, British Legion, Old Comrades, colliery officials and workmen, etc.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

THE INCREASED SUBSCRIPTION.

The quarterly meeting of the Southern Division was held at Ecclesfield on Saturday, June 21st, and a fairly good number of members and friends were present, the towers represented being Wath, Norton, Bolsterstone, Wortley, Headingley, Doncaster, Arksey, Chesterfield, Rawmarsh, Rotherham, All Saints' and St. Maries', and the Cathedral, Sheffield.

A splendid tea was provided by the local company in the Gaiety Memorial Hall, to which upwards of 30 sat down, and which was very much enjoyed.

The business meeting was held immediately after tea, when the secretary of the Yorkshire Association, Mr. P. J. Johnson, 'dropped in on a surprise visit.'

He was voted to the chair, and gave a lucid explanation as to the reasons which lead to the decision to increase the yearly subscription to 2s., this to include a copy of the annual report free of charge.

At the close, the Chairman offered to answer any questions, but none were forthcoming.—One new member, Mr. J. W. Sykes, of Dore, was elected.

The annual dinner of the association having been fixed for Sept. 13th, at York, it was decided to bring the next quarterly meeting forward into August, and an invitation being received from Conisborough, it was decided that this be accepted, the meeting to be held on August 16th.

The meeting heard with great regret of the very serious illness of Mr. G. Bolland and Mr. S. Thomas, both stalwarts of the Yorkshire Association, and hopes were expressed on all sides for their speedy recovery.

Votes of thanks to the Vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells, and to the local company and their ladies for the very kind welcome, were carried, and replied to by Mr. G. Lewis.

Before dispersing, the gathering was entertained to a course of Stedman Cinques and a course of Grandsire Caters on the handbells, a most delightful ending to a very good meeting.

EASTERN DISTRICT SUMMER MEETING.

The summer meeting was held at Sherburn-in-Elmet on Whit Monday, by kind permission of the Vicar (the Rev. P. Bone, M.A.). Fortunately the weather behaved very kindly, thus adding to the enjoyment of those who were present in this ideal country spot, and the bells, a peal of eight (tenor 18½ cwt.), were rung to the various standard methods throughout the day.

A full choral service was held in the afternoon, the preacher being the Rev. J. E. Crabtree, Vicar of Kirkby Wharf, an old ringer. His main theme was the virtue of faithfulness as being a test of character, and the address was listened to with great pleasure.

An excellent tea was afterwards provided gratuitously by the parishioners in the Church Hall, to which some 40 members and friends sat down. At the conclusion, the Vicar announced that he had a very pleasant duty to perform, to make a presentation to Mr. George Thornton, who celebrates his 50th year as a ringer at Sherburn, and who is also verger, parish clerk and sexton. The gifts consisted of a handsome clock, which strikes the quarters and hours, and subscribed for by the parishioners as a mark of esteem and goodwill. Also a ringers' pendant, suitably inscribed, the gift of his grand-daughter, Annie E. Carter, and Treasury notes.

Mr. Thornton, or 'George,' as he is more popularly known, on rising to respond, was greeted with vociferous applause, and in a few well-chosen remarks, expressed thanks for the very beautiful presents, of which he had been the recipient.

At the business meeting, the chair was taken by the Vicar.—On the motion of Mr. F. W. Dale (Hull), and seconded by Mr. F. Cryer (Selby), Eastington was chosen as the place for the autumn meeting.

The usual votes of thanks were passed to the clergy for the use of the bells, service and address, the choir and organist; the ladies, who very kindly provided and served the tea; and the local ringers for their very excellent arrangements.

A pleasing feature of the gathering was the attendance of visitors from the other districts, who rang a well-struck course of Stedman Triples on handbells, in which Miss O. L. Lumley took part. Train time brought another enjoyable meeting to a close.

ST. CLEMENT'S YOUTHS.

On Saturday, May 31st, St. Clement's Youths, the society established at St. Clement Danes-in-the-Strand, held their annual outing, the members and their friends paying a visit to Brighton. The party numbered some thirty persons of all ages, and of course, included the St. Clement's 'Maidens' as well as 'Youths,' and though London was left in cloud and rain, everything was sunshine for several happy hours at Brighton.

On arrival, most of the party proceeded to St. Peter's Church, the bells of which had been kindly placed at their disposal, and with the help of two of the local exponents some good ringing was enjoyed. It was felt that St. Peter's was to be congratulated upon its fine ring of ten, and also its beautiful ringing room, which all admired. A visit was next made to St. Nicholas' an interesting old church, with many links with the past. Its bells, however, are thoroughly modern, with, of course, all the latest improvements. Having been kindly given the use of the bells, the party was welcomed by several local ringers and members of the Sussex Association, who joined them in bringing round a few well-struck 'touches.'

A strictly kept time-table and programme has been prepared by the indefatigable hon. secretary, Mr. Sergisson, and this now prescribed a journey to Portslade, to visit the 'Lonie' Home. The Rector of St. Clement Danes, and his wife, Mrs. Louie Pennington-Bickford, were awaiting the arrival of the party, and extended to all a hearty welcome. Then followed an invitation to be seated at the tables which were well spread with all that could please hungry holidaymakers. Later, some walked through the extensive grounds, others rang handbells on the lawn or inspected the home, and got a first-hand knowledge of the fine work being done there in providing a holiday home for many of the children of London's poor, a work into which Mrs. Pennington-Bickford throws herself wholeheartedly. Some of these children, now on holiday and just returned either from the downs or the seashore, were much interested in the handbell ringers, as was also one of the nightingales in the adjoining copse, and though none of the party knew the words of his song, it was probably a promise to try a repeat of the 'tittums' or to give a snatch of the 'Odd-Boh' on his return to Africa, next Fall.

The 'schedule' time having come, and incidentally the usual downpour, all were soon en route for Brighton, and the evening express to London. On arrival at Victoria Station, all felt that a memorable day had been spent, and though then parting they were yet united in a joint feeling of thanks to their host and hostess and to the officers, for their several parts in making the day so enjoyable.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

NORTH BUCKS BRANCH.

The annual meeting of the North Bucks Branch was held at Newport Pagnell on Saturday, June 7th, when about 60 members attended, representing Bletchley, Beachampton, Chicheley, Emberton, Penny Stratford, Maids Moreton, Milton Keynes, Newton Longville, North Crawley, Olney, Shenley, Stoke Goldington, Stony Stratford, and the local ringers. The bells, a splendid peal of eight, were set going from 2 p.m. At the service the address was given by the Master (the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn), in the absence of the Rev. Mildmay, who had been asked to preach. Tea had been arranged in the Parish Room by the local ringers and their wives, etc., which was much enjoyed, especially by those who had cycled a distance through very unsettled weather.

The President of the Branch (the Rev. L. Moxen) presided at the business meeting, when the secretary read the balance sheet, which showed the branch to be in a very healthy condition, with a balance of £20 14s. 9d. in hand.—The Rev. L. Moxen was again re-elected president, and Mr. W. Sear secretary and treasurer.

The Master (the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn) and Mr. Wright (treasurer of the Guild) spoke on matters relating to both the general working and the financial position of the Guild. Various discussions took place, that of chief importance being upon the best means of getting more honorary members.

The usual votes of thanks were recorded to all those who had assisted to make the meeting a success, and also to the secretary for his good work in connection with the branch.

The methods rung during the afternoon were Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob, Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise Major.

WEDDING BELLS.

At St. Martin's Church, Desford, Leicester, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles, in 50 mins.: L. Jordan 1, F. Mears 2, C. Pettit (conductor) 3, D. Wood 4, J. Taylor 5, W. Sargerson 6. Rung in honour of the marriage of Mr. S. Wheat to Miss Esther Mears, sister to the ringer of the second.

LEYTONSTONE SOCIETY IN HERTS VILLAGESA TWO DAYS' TOUR.

On May 24th and 25th, the St. John-the-Baptist's Society, Leytonstone, company, held their annual outing, the excursion this year being to the lovely villages of Hertfordshire, and, with the assistance of Mr. W. H. Lawrence, of Little Munden, a right good time was spent. Fifteen complete 720's were rung in the two days. Breakfast over, Widford was the first place of call, where hangs a handy ring of six, which were soon going to 'Surfleet.' A good 720 of York was rung, and a splendid welcome was received from the Vicar (the Rev. L. S. Milford). The journey was continued by motor charabanc to Much Hadham. Here Cambridge came to grief, but a good 720 of Chester was rung. At Standon, the next place of call, a very musical peal of six was found, 720 each of Ipswich and Beverley being well struck. At Braughing, the inner-man again needed attention, and Mrs. Denton, of the Brown Bear, had an excellent dinner ready.

This over, Mr. Theobald, in a neat little speech, asked the Master (Mr. W. Miller) to present the secretary (Mr. G. Dawson) with a bell ringers' pendant in gold, suitably inscribed, in recognition of his past services. The Master spoke of Mr. Dawson's capabilities as a ringer, but his chief asset, he said, was his skill in arranging the outings. For the past 18 years the splendid arrangements he had made had always ensured them being a great success.—After Mr. Dawson had responded and thanked the members for their present, Mr. T. Faulkner, on behalf of the visitors, thanked the Leytonstone company for their kind invitations to the outings.—This was seconded by Mr. W. J. Nevard.

A move was then made to the Parish Church, where, on the historical peal of eight, Stedman Triples, Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise Major were rung. The journey being resumed, a musical peal of six was found at Ardeley, where 720 each of London and Old Lincoln were rung.

Great Munden was the next stop, and the party were met by the Rev. T. Langdon (himself a ringer). Here 720 Newcastle and 360 Cambridge were rung. The last call for Saturday was Little Munden, where the party were met by Mr. Lawrence, who regretted not being able to spend the whole day with them. Mrs. Lawrence had a splendid tea awaiting the visitors, and this was greatly appreciated by the whole company. This over, 720 Lincoln, No. 16, an' Durham, were rung, with touches of Cambridge and Munden Surprise, with the local men taking part. A pleasant ride then brought the party to the Bull Hotel, where three of the members had to leave and return to London, much to the regret of the rest of the party. Touches of Grandsire Triples and Bob Major on the hand-bells brought supper time and bed.

On Sunday, as usual, the visitors were early astir, and the peal of six at Watton were set going about 7 o'clock, 720 each of Norwich and Wells Surprise being rung before breakfast. Datchworth was visited for 11 o'clock service, but misfortune befel the ringing, Canterbury and Cambridge being lost in the last course.

After dinner, the motor took them to Aston, where Canterbury and Cambridge were successfully rung. A further drive brought them to the old-world village of Bennington (of Squire Proctor fame), and on the melodious little peal of eight, Grandsire Triples, Double Norwich, Stedman and Cambridge Surprise Major were in turn brought round, the Vicar and Mr. Page (the last surviving member of Squire Proctor's band) taking part. Back to Watton to tea, and a 720 of Cambridge for the evening service, brought the very successful ringing tour to an end.

The visitors wish to thank all the clergy for so readily granting permission to ring, and for meeting and giving the visitors a warm welcome; the local ringers (especially Mr. W. H. Lawrence) for meeting them and extending to them that hearty welcome, which it is so great a pleasure to receive, and which will leave a lasting memory of the two days spent in the villages of Herts. Those who took part in the 720's were P. H. Avey 6, G. Dawson 10 (conducted 2), T. Faulkner 6, G. Hayden 5, A. Hardy 3, A. Prior 9 (conducted 2), F. W. Richardson 4, E. D. Smith 10, W. Theobald 11, W. Miller 9 (conductor 7), J. Moule 5 (conducted 2), W. J. Nevard 7 (conducted 2).

THE LADIES' GUILD.

A quarterly meeting of the Southern District was held at Worplesdon on Saturday, June 14th. During the afternoon various touches were brought round. The Rector (the Rev. Bruce) conducted the Guild service, and preached an interesting sermon.

The ladies and their friends were then invited to a splendid tea in the Rectory garden.

At the business meeting, Miss Wiseman, of Worplesdon, was elected a member. More ringing was then indulged in till 8 p.m. Ringers were present from Aldershot, Guildford, Shere, Sandhurst, and the local tower. The ladies would like to take this opportunity of again thanking the Rector and Mrs. Bruce for their kind welcome.

METHOD NAMES.

There was strong opposition at the Central Council meeting to the proposal to change the unsuitable names which have been given to methods, but, as our readers have been already informed, a decision to take action was eventually carried by a small majority. A special Committee has been appointed, and they will be expected to bring up recommendations which will accord with what, we are sure, is the opinion of most ringers outside the Council, namely, that for the future the names which are to be given to methods are such as will give dignity to the science. Into the general question of method nomenclature there is no need for us to again enter at this moment, except to point out that, while a good deal was made of the question of tradition, this is a two-edged weapon, and as much argument could be found in history for changing names and methods, as for retaining them.

At the moment, however, we desire to turn our attention chiefly to the remarks of the Rev. E. W. Carpenter, who was chairman of the Analysis Committee, responsible for the names to which exception has been taken. Mr. Carpenter took strong objection to some of our editorial remarks upon this subject, and were we to let his statement remain unchallenged it might leave the impression that we admit his impeachment. If the Analysis Committee is unrepentant—so, too, are we. But what did Mr. Carpenter's statement come down to in fact? That we had unfairly stated that the Committee threatened to resign if their report was not accepted as it stood, and that we said the report was 'foisted' on the Exercise. A member of the Committee said at the Salisbury meeting, when it was proposed to refer the report back: 'We either wish this report to go through or the matter placed in the hands of some other Committee.' If that is not threatening to throw up the job, we should like to know what is. Moreover, that the Council took this view is revealed by the fact that one gentleman, speaking immediately after this statement had been made, said members might refrain from voting for an amendment to refer the matter back, 'because the Committee have threatened to resign. This impression was never contradicted, and, we think, there is ample evidence that we did not go one word beyond the truth in what we wrote. The only other criticism which was made of our comments was the use of the word 'foist.' The palming off of these names on the Exercise by a threat to resign, resulting in the Council accepting the report 'willy nilly' justified this description, and while it is furthest from our wish to hurt anybody's feelings, there has been no exaggeration of language on our part.

When the Analysis Committee had this matter in hand they had a fine opportunity to give a lead to the Exercise in the choice of method names, but in a section in which they already found such titles as Oxford, Kent and Rochester, as well as others of a like character more recently introduced, they went into horticulture. From first to last the Committee have not told the Exercise the reason for this step. There has been ample opportunity, but they have remained silent. We can only imagine it was a whim, but having once committed themselves, fancied it would be infra dig. to go back upon their choice. It is hardly likely there would have been so much said had they, while leaving old names alone, found something more suitable for the unnamed methods, but, by their selection, they went out of the way to accentuate the absurd nomenclature which permeates ringing, and it was time someone had something to say in the matter.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

BEDFORD DISTRICT.

A meeting of the above was held at Sharnbrook on Saturday, June 21st, when members were present from Bedford, Kempston, Turvey, Clapham, Threllegh, Harrold, Biddenham, Higham Ferrers, Roston, Emberton, Weckley, Great Staughton, and the local company. The bells were raised about 3 p.m., and a good touch of Woodbine Treble Bob was brought round. These bells were dedicated on Whit Sunday by the Bishop of St. Albans, after having been overhauled by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of the Croydon foundry.

Tea was served at the Swan-with-two-Necks Inn, when the members were the guests of Mr. Cyril Johnston.

At the business meeting, with Mr. C. W. Clarke in the chair, Cople was chosen for the next meeting, on Saturday, July 19th, of which notice will appear in 'The Ringing World.'

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the donor of the tea, and to the Vicar for the use of the bells, with which everyone was delighted. The ringers afterwards visited the tower again, and London, York and Cambridge Surprise were brought round. Five of the bells have been recast and hung in ball bearings, and entirely new fittings have been provided. Great credit is due to the Croydon firm for the work they have done.

TWO MORE BELLS FOR BRIDSTOW.

Messrs. Mears and Stainbank have been given the order for two additional bells to complete the octave at Bridstow, Herefordshire. This tower is well known as possessing an enterprising band of Minor ringers who have rung methods from Plain Bob to London Surprise, and regularly ring Surprise for services. The metal for a new treble is being given by ringers only. The Bridstow band have subscribed handsomely, and they are being helped by ringers from each tower in the Ross district, as well as other ringers, only about £3 still remaining to be raised. The new bells are to be ready early in September.

BELL DEDICATION AT WELLINGTON.A NEW TREBLE.

From the fine old embattled Norman tower of their parish church, the people of Wellington, near Hereford, will henceforward have the pleasure of listening to 'the music of a peal of six bells. Up till now there have been only five, and the sixth just added has been provided out of a sum of £300, the gift of an anonymous donor, who, it may be said, resides in the parish.

The additional treble was dedicated on Sunday at evensong by Preb. E. B. Bartleet, Vicar of Much Wenlock, in the presence of a large congregation. After the second lesson, a procession was formed at the entrance to the chancel, consisting of the bell ringers, the churchwardens, sidesmen, and the clergy, those taking part being Preb. Bartleet, the Rev. C. P. Lee (Vicar of the parish), Mr. F. G. Morton and Mr. E. Ballinger (wardens), Mr. Arthur Jay, Mr. Thomas Stokes, Mr. J. Prince, Mr. George Cousins, Mr. J. Jordan, Mr. Alfred Parker (sidesmen and ringers), and Mr. C. Edwards (Diocesan Ringing Master).

Headed by a surpliced chorister carrying the processional cross, they proceeded by the central aisle to the base of the tower, which is open to view from the church proper. Here they ranged themselves in a circle round the hanging bell ropes, and Preb. Bartleet conducted a short but impressive ceremony of dedication, beginning with the singing of the hymn, 'The sacred bells of England,' one of several beautiful compositions in the Hereford Diocesan Guild of Bell Ringers' service. This was sung to the well-known tune inseparable from the hymn, 'The Church's one foundation.' Dedicationary prayers were offered by Preb. Bartleet.

Then, for the first time, the new bell sent forth its message o'er the village, in a few 'rounds' rung by Mr. Charles Edwards, of Brampton, Madley, the Ringing Master of the Hereford Diocesan Guild, and secretary of the Hereford District, whose great services to this uplifting art in the diocese unquestionably entitled him to the honour. As the last note of the new bell died away, the solemn music of the Nunc Dimittis, played by Mrs. Lee on the organ, stole through the church, and ordinary evensong proceeded with a sermon by Preb. Bartleet, based on the text, 'All the saints salute you, chiefly they that are of Caesar's household.'

The new bell weighs just over 5½ cwt., and in merry peals rung after the service the improvement in the compass of the 'tower' was very noticeable.

NEWBURY RINGERS' OUTING.

On Saturday, June 21st, St. Nicholas' ringers, with ringers from Beeton, Brightwalton and Thatcham, had their annual outing, and made an excursion by charabanc. East Hagbourne was the first stop, and was reached after a delightful ride over the Berkshire Downs. This fine peal of eight was soon set going to Grandsire Triples, and after an hour's ringing the party left for Drayton, passing through the cherry orchard country. The bells at Drayton were raised in peal, and after an hour's good ringing the band left for Appleton, where they were met by Mr. G. Holifield, who had kindly arranged for dinner at the 'Thatched Tavern.' Afterwards the visitors were met at the tower by the brothers White, and Mr. Holifield, junr. The celebrated peal of ten were soon tapping off Grandsire Caters, thanks to the help of Appleton ringers. Then taking to the motor coach again, the journey was resumed to Backland, where another 45 minutes' good ringing was done. Wantage was next on the programme, and here the party were met by Mr. Gregory, the foreman. The bells were raised in peal, some very good touches of Grandsire Triples were rung, and the bells were lowered for service. After an excellent tea at the Swan Inn, and a look round Wantage, the party left for East Ilsley, an hour's ringing on this light peal of eight bringing the day's ringing to a close. Then, after supper at the Star Inn, a move was made for home, which was reached at 11.30 p.m., all tired, but happy, and having spent a most enjoyable day. The conducting during the day was done by Messrs. S. Quintin and H. W. Curtis with two short touches called by 'Willie.' Next morning, for ringing at 7.30 a.m., there was a full muster. Through the medium of the 'Ringing World,' the visitors desire to convey their best thanks to all who helped to make the day such a success.

THE MISSING BELL.To the Editor.

Can you information give me—
Information wanted quickly—
Of a meeting of some delegates
To the Central Council meeting,
Held in the small town of London,
Where these men had all foregathered,
Representatives of ringers,
Of the very cream of ringers,
Men whose reputations gave them
Positions over all their brethren?

It is whispered in this village
That these men whose heads were bursting,
Bulging out with facts and figures
Of the 'Slow and quick' in Stedman,
Met one night up in a belfry
At a church in dear old London,
Named, I do believe, St. Martin's,
Where there is a ring of twelve bells,
Twelve bells filled with sweetest music.
There 'tis said, in all their glory,
Fresh from splendid Council meeting,
These great experts then foregathered
Full of vim to show their prowess,
Now that they could ring these twelve bells
Even better than their brethren.

So they doffed their coats and whatnots,
Gathered in their hands the sallies
To produce the sweetest music
Known to all the assembled ringers
As the music culled from twelve bells,
Cinques, with tenor standing steady.
Off they went, their ears did listen
Long to rounds that sounded sweet.
But, alas! 'tis said in sorrow,
No one called the word 'Go Cinques.'
Each man bashful as his neighbour,
So the word was never uttered.

'What a shame!' said one poor listener,
'We have missed the rarest treat
Because,' said he, 'you see, the fourth bell
Has no man upon the sally,
And to ring quite all the changes
With this bell left out,' said he,
'Would have been a feat worth hearing
And their faces good to see.'

Said another member, smiling,
'Have they any ears at all?'

Is this true, Oh, Mr. Editor?
Tell us quickly, if you can,
That it's only a wee rumour
Spoken by a jealous man.
These men's ears could not be putty,
They must function now and then,
And that no one missed the absence
Of the fourth bell from the rounds
Is a rumour.

Tell us quickly, Mr. Editor,
All the truth about this tale,
For it causes ribald laughter
'Mongst the men

CUMBERLAND ASSOCIATION.

The quarterly meeting was held at St. John's Church, Hensingham, on Saturday, when members were present from Arlecdon, Bridekirk, Cockermouth, Cleator Moor, Egremont, and the local company. Previous to the meeting a service was held in the Church, in the course of which the Vicar (the Rev. E. Freeman) unveiled a peal board, recording a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major, rung muffled in memory of members of the association who fell in the great war, and whose names are inscribed on the board.

The meeting was held in the vestry, presided over by the Vicar, and supported by the hon. secretary (Mr. W. T. Holmes).

The next meeting will be held at Bridekirk on September 27th. Numerous touches were rung during the afternoon and evening.

DEATH OF MR. SAM THOMAS.

We deeply regret to record the death of Mr. Sam Thomas, of Sheffield, who succumbed on Tuesday of last week to the attack of pneumonia, from which, as previously mentioned, he was suffering.

Mr. Thomas, who was 54 years of age, was a typical Yorkshireman, who came of ringing stock, and by his death the Exercise in the North of England has lost one of its most capable exponents. Born at Wath-on-Dearne, where his father was clerk and sexton at the Parish Church, Sam Thomas began to ring at an early age. His first connection with the Belfry began in this way. Sam was in the choir, and during a dispute between the ringers and the church authorities the choir boys used to jangle the bells for the service. The treble was Sam's bell, and at this time he was not nine years old. On one occasion he pulled at the bell until it set, and then it had to remain until his courage came back sufficiently to touch the thing again. That was the beginning of an interesting ringing career.

Mr. Thomas could ring a few six-bell methods before he left his native village, taking part in these performances with his father, grandfather, and an uncle. In the autumn of 1888 he came to Sheffield to the Botanical Gardens, and joined the Parish Church company in November, 1889, ringing his first peal (Grandsire Caters) on the 30th of the same month, the peal being conducted by Mr. C. H. Hattersley. He rang his first peal of Stedman Caters in 1890, and Double Norwich and Superlative in 1892, the latter being the first Surprise peal by the Yorkshire Association.

On going to live further out of Sheffield in 1896, Mr. Thomas joined the Ranmore company, and at that church, with a local band, five of whom had never started for a peal before, called his first peal, one of Bob Major, on Diamond Jubilee Day. The band, under Mr. Thomas's tuition, made steady progress, and eventually reached the 'Surprise' stage. But his interests were by no means limited to his own tower. On the formation of the Sheffield Junior Amalgamated Society in January, 1890, he was elected treasurer. The society was enlarged to the Sheffield District Society in 1898 for the purpose of holding monthly practices in the higher methods. Mr. Thomas was elected President of the Old East Derbyshire Society in 1901, and on the amalgamation of the two societies in 1903 was elected to a similar office, while in 1909 he was appointed trustee. Since then he filled for several years the office of secretary.

Mr. Thomas has always been an enterprising ringer, and was a leader of Surprise ringing in Yorkshire. At a monthly meeting, held at Chesterfield early in 1901, the first practice of Yorkshire Surprise took place, and a few of the faithful, although scattered over an area of some thirty miles, resolved to meet for special practices, and the result was the first peal on February 5th, 1903, followed by the first peal of Peterborough Surprise in April, 1904. In view of the present discussion about names it is not out of place to recall that there is an interesting story attached to the naming of Peterborough. It came to the band unnamed, and, as, after ringing Yorkshire, Mr. Thomas counselled ringing another method before attempting London, the new method was looked upon as a kind of half-way stage, and jocularly dubbed Peterborough—half-way between York and London. London Surprise was scored on December 9th, 1905, Double Norwich Royal followed in 1906, and Bristol Surprise was rung in May, 1911. Throughout the whole of these performances Mr. Thomas was entrusted with arranging the meetings, and put in charge of the conducting. Progress was by no means easy; discouraging failures and other obstacles had to be surmounted, but Mr. Thomas's determined spirit backed by a loyal and enthusiastic band, triumphed. Mr. Thomas composed and conducted the first peal of Original Major ever rung, and other methods were added later. He was, although not a prolific composer, a very capable one, and has peals of Treble Bob, Superlative, Peterborough and Double Norwich Caters.

Mr. Thomas did his share of spadework among beginners, and when the new peal of bells was put in at Dore in 1909 he was entrusted with the formation of a new band to whom he acted as instructor. This took all his spare time for a couple of years, and his services were recognised by the presentation to him of some solid silver table ware.

Since the war business claims have kept Mr. Thomas from following the art as much as formerly, and his name appeared in peals only very occasionally, but his heart was still in ringing. He was a fine type of man, as punctilious in his ringing as in all the affairs of life, he endeared himself to a large circle of friends, by whom his death will be severely felt.

To the bereaved relatives the full sympathy of the Exercise will be extended.

A WILLIAM PEAL.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Will any ringer wishing to take part in a William peal of London, probably in August or September, kindly let me know as soon as possible. The peal most probably will be attempted in the Metropolis, but if desired can be arranged at Feering, Essex.—Yours truly,
WILLIAM KEEBLE.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

A successful meeting of the Northern District was held at Foxearth on Saturday, June 28th, when members were present from Lavenham, Foxearth, Cavendish, Belchamp Walter, Melford, Pentlow, Tooting, and Braintree.

A service was held in the beautiful Church of St. Peter and St. Paul, conducted by the Rector (the Rev. G. H. Bassett), who also gave a very helpful address upon the words, 'Members one of another.' He gave the ringers a very hearty welcome, and dwelt upon the principle of co-operation as applied to change ringing.

After the service the ringers sat down to tea in the Clubroom, the District Master being in the chair, supported by the Rector; Mr. D. Ward, churchwarden; Mr. C. H. Howard, Master of the Association; and the district secretary.

At the subsequent meeting, the following ringing members were elected: Mr. F. Webb, Braintree; Messrs. W. F. Parbury and H. Brockwell, Foxearth. Hon. members: The Rev. R. W. Croft, Vicar of Kelvedon, and Mr. D. Ward, of Foxearth. Life member: Mr. H. Richold.

A vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells, and to the organist and choir for their services, was proposed by Mr. C. H. Howard, Master of the Association, and seconded by the district secretary, Mr. W. H. Dyson, and carried unanimously.

It was decided to hold the annual meeting at Feering, in October, and a bi-meeting at Rayne, about the end of August, subject to the consent of the authorities.

During the day the following methods were rung on the bells: Bob Minor, Oxford, Kent, Stedman, Double, Norwich.

WORCESTERSHIRE AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Northern branch was held at Upper Arley on Saturday, June 21st, when a representative gathering attended. At the service, the Vicar (the Rev. S. H. S. Spooner) officiated, and gave a very interesting address on the bells.

The business meeting which followed was held in the Village Schools, owing to the wet weather, a previous invitation of the Vicar to hold the meeting on his lawn having to be abandoned.

The Vicar, on taking the chair, thanked the branch for their presence, and gave them a hearty welcome, on behalf of himself and his church officials.

It was decided to accept the invitation of the Rowley Regis company to hold the next meeting at their church in September.—The Vicar was elected an honorary member of the association, and a very hearty vote of thanks was accorded him for arranging the service, for his appropriate address, and for presiding at the meeting. Among those present were Messrs. A. E. Parsons (Old Hill), R. Mathews (Association Ringing Master), W. B. Cartwright (Ringing Master, Northern Branch, Selly Oak), A. J. Skelding (secretary, Northern Branch), T. J. Salter and J. Woodberry (Kidderminster), J. Price (Old Hill), W. Farrow and Miss Farrow (Smethwick), W. Cooper (Stourbridge), W. Cooper (Wordsley), J. Bass (Wollaston), J. Lloyd (Brierley Hill) and A. Marton (Birkenhead).

The Secretary tenders many thanks to Mr. W. Steward, of the local company, for the very efficient manner in which he carried out the catering arrangements under very trying conditions. A few touches of Cambridge, London and York Surprise brought a pleasant meeting to a close.

WARWICKSHIRE GUILD.

The June monthly meeting of the Guild was held at Bulkington on Saturday, June 21st. About 30 ringers were present from Allesley, Birmingham, Coventry, Exhall, Chilvers Coton, Nuneaton, Shilton, Southam and Stoke, together with the local band. Ringing commenced about 4 p.m., some delay having been caused by a funeral being in progress at the appointed time.

Tea was provided in the Schoolroom, at which the Vicar (the Rev. G. S. Brewer) presided.

After tea an opportunity was afforded the members to hear the new peal of handbells recently purchased by the local company, touches of Stedman Triples and Bob Major being successfully rung.

Ringing was indulged in after tea on the tower bells, the methods successfully brought round including Grandsire Doubles, Bob Minor, Double Stedman Slow Course, Kent Treble Bob, Double Oxford, Cambridge and London Surprise. The falling of the bells in peal brought a very pleasant and successful gathering to a close.

GAINSBOROUGH RINGERS AT LOUGHBOROUGH.

The fourth annual outing of the Gainsborough Parish Church Ringers took place on Whit-Monday. On previous occasions the places visited have been within the limits of the North of Lincolnshire. This year it was decided to take a longer journey to Loughborough and Newark. The party started soon after 7 a.m., the route mapped out being via Checker House Crossing, Lime Tree Avenue, Edwinstowe, Rufford and Nottingham. Amidst some very fine scenery, especially in the vicinity of the Dukeries, the party rode merrily and steadily along, reaching their destination at 11.30. They were met by Mr. H. F. Stubbs (manager at Messrs. John Taylor and Co.'s Bell Foundry), and some of the local ringers, who conducted them to the Parish Church, the consent of the Rector (the Rev. Canon Briggs) having been obtained for the use of the bells. During the ringing, Mr. J. Flint, Bolsover, joined the visitors. Afterwards the bell foundry was visited. Mr. Pryce Taylor (who, to the regret of the ringers, was unable to meet them owing to being at the Central Council meeting) had kindly granted an inspection of the works and the use of the foundry bells. The visitors were met by Mr. Smith, who escorted them round the moulding department and minutely explained the intricacies of bell founding, and most willingly answered many questions put to him respecting bell casting. Mr. Stubbs then took the party round the fitting shop, and afterwards entertained them with several tunes on the carillon in the foundry, which were very much appreciated. After ringing a few touches on the foundry bells the visitors next made their way to the park for the purpose of hearing the war memorial carillon. During the afternoon a recital was given by M. Antoon Brees, deputy carillonneur, Antwerp Cathedral, the party thus having an opportunity of hearing the tone and beauty of this famous carillon.

At 4.15 p.m. a start was made for Newark, where an excellent tea awaited them. Afterwards, by the kind permission of the Vicar (the Rev. Dr. Walker) the ten bells at the Parish Church were at the disposal of the ringers for about an hour, and at 8.40 the charabanc was once again brought into requisition, and home was reached about 10.15 p.m. The best thanks of all are due to the incumbents of Loughborough and Newark for the use of the bells; Mr. Pryce Taylor for so kindly granting permission to inspect the works, the use of the bells, and also making other necessary arrangements; Messrs. Stubbs and Smith for their very kind welcome and courtesy; the local ringers who met them at the two churches; the caterers for the excellent tea provided, and any others who helped to make the outing so pleasant and enjoyable.

CLEVELAND AND NORTH YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting was held at Middlesbrough and Stockton on Whit Monday, when members attended from Stockton, Ripon, Saltburn, Darlington, Thirsk, West Hartlepool, Skelton, and the local company. A committee meeting was held in the Middlesbrough Church House, when several business items were brought forward for the general meeting, and the meetings were arranged for the year as follows: September meeting, Richmond; Easter, Masham; annual meeting, 1925, Ripon. A short service was held in the Parish Church, Middlesbrough, conducted by the President (the Rev. A. Simpson), the address being given by the Rev. J. C. C. Kemm, Vicar of Ormesby, who, in the absence of Canon Lawson, Vicar of Middlesbrough (who is seriously ill), gave the association a most hearty welcome to Middlesbrough. By holding such services as these, said the preacher, they were doing a great deal of good, and as change-ringers they were looked upon as church workers, and they held out a helping hand to others who perhaps did not attend church as regularly as the ringers themselves.

Dinner was provided at the Bucks Clifton Hotel, and was presided over by the President, supported by the Rev. J. C. C. Kemm, Vice-President J. W. Passman, and the secretary.

After dinner the loyal toast was honoured, and a hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Rev. J. C. C. Kemm for his address; to the Vicar and wardens for the use of the bells; also Mr. Cole for officiating at the organ.—A resolution was passed that a letter of sympathy be sent to Canon Lawson, wishing him speedy recovery.

The secretary's report was read, in which several items of interest were reported. He urged the members to take a more active part in ringing matters, and get up to the pre-war standard again. He hoped they would practise higher methods, and make ringing more interesting to their own towers. The Sunday Service ringing scheme had been completed, and it was now up to the ringers to make it a success.

The retiring officials were re-elected for the next twelve months.

The ringers then adjourned to the ten-bell tower at Stockton until 5.30, when they were invited by the President and Mrs. Simpson to join them at tea in Holy Trinity Church Room, and their hospitality was much appreciated. The handbells were brought into use for an hour, and then the ringers returned to the church to ring Double Norwich Major, Grandsire and Stedman Caters, and Kent Treble Bob Royal, which ended a most enjoyable day.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Mr. R. White, of Appleton, has just carried out repairs to the bell fittings at Caversham.

It will be noticed that the annual commemoration dinner of the Yorkshire Association is to be held at York on September 20th, instead of on Sept. 13th, as at first announced.

Will those who propose attending the salmon and green pea supper at Lydney on Saturday, July 26th (to start at 6 p.m.), kindly send their names as early as possible to either of the following: J. W. Davies, 5, Railway Terrace, Lydney; J. W. Jones, 29, Barrack Hill, Newport, Mon.; or J. Austin, 38, Lyson's Avenue, Gloucester.

The Oxford Guild Festival on July 26th is to be held at Reading instead of at Oxford, owing to the large number of American visitors who are being entertained by the Colleges.

To-morrow is the 36th anniversary of the first occasion on which Mr. J. J. Parker's one-part peal of Grandsire Triples was rung, viz., at St. Alban's, Rochdale, in 1888.

One hundred years ago next Wednesday John Pennington, bell founder, of Stoke Climsland, died. He was the last representative of a line of founders which began with Thomas and John Buir-dan at Exeter (1601-1624).

James Barham, of Leeds, Kent rang his last peal on July 8th, 1817. He was then 91 years of age.

'The whole peal of Grandsire Triples, 5,040 changes,' was rung at St. Lawrence, Reading, on July 8th, 1734.

John Holt took part in a peal of Double Bob Major at St. Margaret's, Westminster on July 8th, 1750.

It was here, on July 7th, in 1751, that the Union Scholars first rang Holt's Original, which Holt called from manuscript.

CHURCH BELLS AND THEIR PURPOSE.

The following article appeared on Saturday in 'The Times' Educational Supplement, and is another welcome evidence of the growing realisation of the place which bells occupy in our public life:—

'Signs of movement in the south-west tower of Lincoln Cathedral have made it necessary to stop the ringing of the Cathedral bells. Many will miss them who were, perhaps, scarcely conscious of them while they were regularly active. We become accustomed to all sounds, whether they were welcome or unwelcome when first we heard them, and just as the distress once caused by the noises of a factory or a railway station is lessened by time, so the first sharp pleasure which comes with the music of chiming or of running water is blunted by long enjoyment.

'Many a don in Oxford and many a canon in other Cathedral cities has grown deaf to the song of his own steeples and can no longer share the freshman's magic or the traveller's stilled amazement. Not until some accident temporarily deprives him of it does he become aware of the value of his possession. Then the air, emptied of bells, seems suddenly harsh and cold. Noises of the modern world are robbed of their ancient compensation. The rumble of wheels rises to an angry thunder; horns and petrol engines and street-cries become an aggressive tyranny. The city seems not to be the same city, to have lost, not charm only, but an establishment in the past, a part of its spirit and authority.

'It matters nothing that the bells themselves may be modern; the idea which raised them to their high place, which gave them the world as their audience, and invested their speech with a significance that no other music so simple can possess is an idea which could not have had its origin in our own times. Nor does it matter at all that church bells should preside over a city, full and turbulent, or should swing in a Cathedral tower. In the country they have the same properties of peace and healing. They do not need a crowd to hear them, for magnificence is no essential part of their strength. They accord with all their circumstances, plain or splendid, enriching what is spiritual in them, purifying what is of the world.

'If they toll amid trees, the trees, acquiring a new dignity, mourn with them; if they ring in joy across sunlit meadows, the meadows lighten to their rejoicing; if they peal suddenly above the trappings and decorations of a fashionable wedding, none who is not obsessed by a desire to see or be seen can fail to observe the airy satire or to wonder if the bells be not laughing at what their ringers would have them celebrate. But bells are seldom cruel, save when they are misused. If, as has too often happened, they are made to proclaim some shameful triumph, then indeed they have their ring of scorn for those who can hear it among the crackling of bonfires and cheers of partisans. These are bells abused; but let them be used after their purpose and design, and their music is among the earliest pleasures of children, who set their songs to it, and among the longest and clearest memories of old age.'

AN UNREPENTANT COMMITTEE.

The Rev. E. W. Carpenter was the first to oppose the proposal for the renaming of methods. He said the question had arisen because the Analysis Committee got into hot water over what they did in naming the methods, but he would like to say first of all that the committee was entirely unrepentant. They did a very difficult job to the best of their power, and they did not see anything at all to sneer at in using the names of the beautiful works of God for these methods. They felt that the whole thing was entirely a matter of taste. As they had read the 'Ringing World' for some time past they had some examples of taste. He did not say a word about anonymous contributors, even those who tried to be funny, neither did they take much account of what he might call Mr. Burton's violence, because they knew him (laughter). When he had something to say he said it with all the emphasis he could. But the committee did feel that they had not been quite rightly treated by 'The Ringing World' itself. He was very unwilling to say anything of the sort, because he felt what a great deal 'The Ringing World' did for the Exercise (hear, hear). He felt they owed a great debt to it (hear, hear). At the same time he thought 'The Ringing World' owed a certain debt, which, perhaps, had not always been realised, of setting an example to the Exercise. He did not think the comments which 'The Ringing World' made in its leading articles on this subject had been quite fair, and to some of the expressions used he took great exception. In commenting on the meeting at Salisbury—which he regretted he was prevented from attending—'The Ringing World' talked about a threat to resign on the part of the committee, and then, later on, spoke of foisting upon the Exercise something or other. It was a very good word to use, because it sounded nice, or nasty, but surely there was no case of foisting anything upon the Exercise when the report was accepted by the Council at Salisbury. As far as the committee were concerned, they ceased to have anything more to do with it officially, though the Council, of course, could do as they pleased with it. The committee did their best, and he was sure everybody present did not understand the amount of work that was involved. Mr. Beeston was at it, he might almost say, night and day for years. From what had been said the idea might be gained that the committee just sat down and rushed off in about five minutes the suggested names, and that was all. First of all, they went into the whole matter of those methods that had more than one name in actual use. That was the trouble the late Mr. King found. It was difficult to know, from the name, what method it was that was being rung, and so the committee, with much labour, found out what was the earliest name that was actually in existence for a method. They also found, incidentally, that the Methods Committee had made a mistake here and there.

The Rev. H. Law James: I admit two mistakes—in fact, I have found a third.

The Rev. E. W. Carpenter, continuing, said Mr. Trollope, in the interesting letter which appeared in the preceding week's issue of 'The Ringing World,' pointed out, in effect, that the Methods Committee realised that the job was one which they would not undertake. In reading that letter one could not help thinking Mr. Trollope must have felt inclined to write down, 'Fools rush in where angels fear to tread.' He might think the committee were fools, but they did not rush in. It was put upon them, and they did their best, and were entirely unrepentant. He quite conceived that they had done what some people did not like. He did not know if they would have liked it called 'Picture Palace Surprise,' or 'Whisky and Soda Delight' (laughter), but they went to another source, and he was not at all ashamed of it, although some people seemed to sneer at the beautiful things they saw around them. No doubt some members of the Council might think they could do the job easier, although angels feared to take it on. The only thing he could say was 'Let them.' There was one other thing he would like to say and that was, how did they propose that these names should be enforced by the Council? How were they going to get the Yorkshiremen to give up ringing Woodbine and Violet? They had rung them for some couple of hundred years, and what was good enough for their fathers and grandfathers and great-grandfathers was good enough for them, and he did not think they would get them to alter. With regard to the other flower names, a peal had recently been rung in which these names had been used and adopted by ringers of the first 720. If the Council were going to have a committee, let them consider what the committee were going to do, and whether they were going to be able to do anything useful. It was the late Mr. King's wish to know what it was that was being rung, so that the committee might, in the analysis, give the right value to the performance, and that seemed to him to be the only thing that mattered. People outside they could ignore; their own idea of names was that ringers ring 'Treble Bob Majors,' and, having said that, they thought they knew all about change ringing. By all means let the Council appoint their committee if they liked and try it. Personally he did not think they would do much good.

'PARSON'S RUIN'

Mr. J. S. Pritchett said the mover of the resolution seemed very much in earnest, but he must confess he (Mr. Burton) had left him somewhat cold. He could not realise quite the importance of the subject. He happened the other day, quite by accident and not by design, to go into the American bar at Wembley, and he looked on the list of some fifty drinks all with most peculiar names, such as 'Parson's Ruin' (laughter) and 'Bishop's Joy' (laughter). He was told the Bishops drank the former and the parsons the latter (renewed laughter), but he was also told that both drinks were equally nice. The ringing would sound just as sweet, whether they called a method Violet, or Daisy, or Woodbine, or any other name. They called their daughters 'Daisy,' and 'Lily' and 'Violet,' and a name that was good enough for a girl, was it not good enough for a method? ('No,' and laughter). He did not think they were likely to get any good by trying to enforce names. Names were something which they could not enforce by law, they must trust to public opinion. With regard to methods, it was a matter of taste. They were at liberty to approve of the names as they thought fit, but whether they approved of a name or not they would not be deterred from ringing a method if they thought it worth being rung. If a man brought out a new method, why should he not name it what he liked? Some of the names were of great antiquity, and when he first became interested in change ringing he used to think they were pretty names, and wondered what Violet and Woodbine were like. They never struck him as being at all improper. The grievance, if there was one, was very minute, and was not worth dealing with by appointing a committee to choose names. He hoped the resolution would not be pressed, or that the Council would not take any action with regard to it.

ANOTHER COMMITTEE NOT WANTED.

Mr. J. A. Trollope said he was not particularly against flower names. That was not the thing which the Methods Committee found fault with. What they objected to at Salisbury was the alteration of the names they had already published. Mr. Carpenter had said the job was put on to the Analysis Committee. It really belonged to the Methods Committee, so far as the six-bell methods were concerned. They issued the 'Collection,' and they ought to have named the methods. If they had done so it would have saved a good deal of trouble. On behalf of the Methods Committee he opposed most strongly any further committee for this purpose. In about twelve months' time a new edition of the Collection would have to be published, and the whole thing revised. He supposed the Council would expect the Methods Committee to revise the book, and, in doing so, it was only natural that the names should be revised, too. Mr. Carpenter told them they could not go to a man and say, 'You must call a method such a name.' They couldn't, but the 'Collection' had become a standard work for the Exercise; future generations would take up that book, and would forget what other people had done years before, so that they now really had an opportunity to put new names to the methods, if necessary. That was why they wanted to be careful to have good names. He had not much to say against flower names, but they were not quite suitable. The best thing that could be said for them was that they were well in the traditions of the Exercise. Some flower names were good and some were not; some place names were good and some were not, and some adjectives were good and some were not. The question of taste in a matter of this kind was a thing which they could not teach people. If they got a special committee, what were they going to do? They would not get any better men than the Analysis Committee. It was, however, the Method Committee's job, but they did not particularly want it.

AN OLD TRADITION.

The Rev. H. Law James said with regard to these names, he had to thank the Analysis Committee for correcting two mistakes he made in the names in the Collection. The methods in this Collection were his, and although the Collection was sent round to the committee and they passed it, if the author had the right to name the methods he had the personal right to do so, but he did not think he had. Mr. Trollope, in his letter, took that point of view, and also stated that his (the speaker's) brother put out Bristol without a name, and was under the impression that it was the Rev. E. B. James's idea. It was, however, an old tradition of the Exercise, and the reason he (the speaker) objected to naming the Minor and Major Methods was that he objected to interfering with the old traditions of the Exercise. He had in his possession a book printed in 1753, in which the method they knew as Oxford Treble Bob was called Union Bob, and if they went to the old records of the College Youths and Cumberlands, they would find the peals called Union Bob, because the Union Scholars rang the first peal in the method in 1718. The Union Scholars named the method because it was the custom of the Exercise to do so. The Council told the Methods Committee to put in the names of the Major Methods in the Collection which they were to print. Mr. Carpenter said it was a hard job to name methods, and he granted that it was. He wished the Council would allow him to cross out all his names and publish the Major Methods with the names printed over the methods which had been rung, leaving the rest blank, so that those who rang them could name them. The question of names was a matter of taste, and the only complaint he had against the Analysis Committee was that they wanted to publish the old College Single, as they pleased to call it, as a single method. Going carefully through the old methods they found that in the old days a single method was a method with places above the treble; a reverse method had the places below the treble; and a double method, places made on either side of the treble. According to that idea, Cambridge Surprise was a double method, but actually it wasn't. They had gone on since then, and they could not go back, but the Analysis Committee wanted them to do so. The method with places in 3rd's was College Bob, but the committee made a mistake in calling it College Single Reverse. Then, too, there was Canterbury Pleasure, which they called Reverse, whereas it was the old method which was 'Reverse.' The two errors which he made in the original publication were in regard to Stedman Slow Course and London Bob. There was one other mistake printed originally, and that was No. 25 of the 3rd's Place Delight Methods, which was printed as Evening Star. He believed this was Carlisle Delight. It was one of the seven old methods known as Surprise Methods, but this one was not Surprise. The Collection would soon want revising, and he hoped the Council would leave it to the Methods Committee to bring it up to date. He was quite sure if the Analysis Committee had not intervened, these mistakes would have reappeared in the reprint.

THE MOTION CARRIED.

Mr. C. T. Coles said he had no technical knowledge of this subject, but from what he gathered there was considerable confusion with regard to the names of certain of these Minor Methods. From the statements made to him by the Leytonstone company, they found that some of these methods were duplicated in the names, and they did not know which was correct. He gathered from Mr. Carpenter that the Analysis Committee was prepared to let this matter go back to another committee. Last year at Salisbury the Council were rather faced with a threat of resignation from the Analysis Committee. Despite what Mr. Carpenter said he was still of that opinion, and a considerable number of the Council also formed that opinion. It was satisfactory to know they were mistaken. It would be well that this matter should go to a committee with a view to getting some order out of this chaotic state of affairs.

Mr. J. Hunt said he was instructed by the Bath and Wells Association to support this resolution. He quoted several instances where fresh names had been given by ringers to methods which had already been rung and named.

Mr. A. D. Barker said during the last fifteen years he had noted in a copy of the Collection of Minor Methods the names given to the different methods from time to time. To one method, eight different names had been given. He had the dates of four of them: they were in different years, and were named by different companies in different parts of the country. Many of the methods had several names. He thought they should appoint a fresh committee to go into the matter, and give them instructions as to what they were to do. They might then get something done—they could not do any worse (laughter). They did not want to hold up the ringing Exercise to ridicule; they were laughed at enough now. What would the public think if they heard they had been ringing 'Geranium' and 'Fuchsia'! There were much more suitable names which could be easily found.

Mr. J. Parker thought that those who rang the methods should name them. A new committee would be in the same difficulty as the old.

Mr. Burton, replying to the discussion, said if they did nothing that day, it would be a great opportunity missed. They wanted no more absurdities among the names. The new committee could collaborate with the Methods Committee. There was no reason why they should not try to alter the unsuitable names of the past, and in any event let them lay some foundation on which to carry on in the future. A great opportunity would be missed if they did nothing.

On being put to the vote, the President declared the motion carried by 34 votes to 29.

Mr. Burton then moved the second part of the motion, that the committee 'prepare suitable topographical names for the future.'

Mr. T. H. Beams seconded.

Canon Baker suggested that it would be better to leave the committee with a free hand, and not tie them to any one kind of name. He voted for setting up the committee, but he was not prepared to tie them to topographical names. — Mr. F. W. Hopgood supported this view.

Mr. J. S. Pritchett appealed to the Council not to pass anything more; it would only make it worse to pass the second part of the motion.

The Rev. F. L. Edwards suggested that, instead of the second part of the motion and the third part, which read 'to formulate a plan for the application of such names' they should substitute 'to suggest a suitable system of nomenclature for the future.'

The Rev. H. Law James said he was prepared to second that.—This was accepted by the Council without dissent.

On the appointment of the committee, it was agreed that it should consist of five members, but some difficulty was experienced in getting members to serve.—A motion by Mr. J. S. Pritchett, that the appointment of the committee be postponed, was defeated by 35 votes to 32.

Eventually the following were appointed on the committee: Mr. G. P. Burlon, the Rev. H. Drake, Messrs. A. D. Barker, T. H. Beams and A. L. Coleman.

A VETERAN SUFFOLK RINGER.

DEATH OF MR. J. M. BUTTON.

By the death of Mr. J. M. Button, at Leiston on June 18th, at the venerable age of 86 years, the bell ringing community loses one of its oldest and most enthusiastic members. Born at Rendham in 1838, Mr. Button came to Leiston in 1859, and resided there up to the time of his death. For 52 years he was employed by Messrs. Richard Garrett and Sons, Ltd., in Leiston Works.

In those early days ringing was at a very low ebb in the neighbourhood. Leiston only had a five-bell peal, but with four others Mr. Button formed a company, and good progress was made, several methods being mastered. In 1883 ringing had to be discontinued owing to the bad state of the bells, and the question of their restoration was seriously considered by the then Rector and churchwardens. About this time, however, Mr. Richard Garrett died, and as a memorial to him his brothers augmented the peal to eight, adding two trebles and a tenor, the third being recast.

With the assistance of several Kelsale ringers, an eight-bell company was formed, but for several years not much headway was made, Rob Triples and Major being the extent of the method ringing. Mr. Button was 65 years of age when he rang his first peal of Double Norwich. Altogether he has rung 47 peals, these including Bob Triples, Bob Major, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob and Double Norwich, and the treble to Superlative and Cambridge. He also took part in the first peal of Superlative on Leiston bells.

One might say that some hundreds of present-day ringers owe their skill to the tuition of Mr. Button. He was always proud of the fact that he always had a good company of ringers for the Sunday services, this being his main object in teaching them to ring. One of his foremost pupils was Mr. Gabriel Lindoff, a name famed in the ringing world. Mr. Button's three sons were also taught ringing, but only one has followed it up. Mr. Button was held in the highest respect by the members of the Norwich Association and the Suffolk Guild of Ringers. Words cannot express how much he has done for ringing, particularly in the Leiston district. For many years he was Master of the Leiston company, and also steeplekeeper, and only once during 50 years did he miss going round with the handbells at Christmas. His last two important peals were on Jan. 1st, 1913, when the Leiston band rang a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major to celebrate Mr. and Mrs. Button's golden wedding, Mr. Button, despite his age of more than 75, being able to ring the treble. His last touch was on Peace Celebration Day in 1919, when at the age of 82 he rang a course of Bob Major on his favourite bell, the 7th. Mr. Button was no doubt the oldest ringer in Suffolk, and was a member of the St. Margaret's (Leiston) band of ringers for over 50 years.

During his life Mr. Button interested himself in many other ways. He was one of the pioneers of the Co-operative movement in Leiston, and his value to this society can be gauged from the fact that for 42 years he was an active member of the committee.

The local branch of Oddfellows also claimed a large share of his activity, his membership extending over 65 years.

The funeral, which took place at St. Margaret's Church, Leiston, was attended by a large and sympathetic gathering, and the deceased was borne to his last resting-place by members of the local ringing company. During the service, the Rector of Leiston (the Rev. F. W. Morgan-Jones, M.A.) made an eloquent and touching reference to the part paid by the deceased in local history.

RINGSTEAD, NORTHANTS.—On Sunday, June 29th, previous to the service, held in conjunction with the unveiling of a memorial to those from the village who fell in the war, 720 Kent Treble Bob Minor, with the bells deeply muffled: A. Baxter 1, A. Bellamy 2, W. Gilbert 3, J. Ball 4, J. Hudson 5, F. Ball (conductor) 6. After the ceremony, with the bells open, 720 Bob Minor: F. Ball 1, A. Baxter 2, W. Gilbert (conductor) 3, J. Ball 4, J. Hudson 5, A. Bellamy 6.

DEATH OF A COALBROOKDALE RINGER.

The death took place on June 22nd, at Wolverhampton General Hospital, from septic poisoning, following an operation for appendicitis, of Mr. John Johnston, a member of the Coalbrookdale band of ringers. Deceased, familiarly known as 'Jack,' was in his 32nd year, and was employed at Coalbrookdale Ironworks. He was a very willing member of the Coalbrookdale belfry, and usually rang the tenor, often making up the band when short handed. He will be greatly missed by his fellow ringers, by whom he was held in great esteem.

The funeral took place at Broseley Cemetery, on Wednesday afternoon, June 25th, and was attended by a large company of his workmates and friends, including several of his fellow ringers, and a contingent of Oddfellows, of which Order he was a member. Beautiful wreaths were sent, including one in the shape of a bell from the Coalbrookdale ringers. As a token of respect and sympathy Broseley Church bells were rung half-muffled by members of the Broseley band, assisted by Coalbrookdale ringers, several 120's of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles being rung. Immediately after the interment a course of Grandsire Caters on handbells (kindly lent by the Broseley company) was rung over the open grave by Bert Rixom 1-2, W. Wase 3-4, W. Lago 5-6, W. Saunders 7-8, Alf. Bayley 9-10. The flag on Coalbrookdale Church was at half-mast during the afternoon of the funeral, and in the evening a well-struck quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung half-muffled in 48 mins., by Alf. Bayley 1, R. Evans 2, J. Henley 3, W. Lago 4, R. Jones 5, W. Saunders 6, L. Hewitt (conductor) 7, W. Wase 8. Other touches were rung, in which other members of the band took part.

Mr. Johnson rang one peal, the tenor behind to Stedman Triples. He was always pleased whenever he could get quarter-peals arranged for Sunday evenings, although he had a good two miles to walk from his home at Broseley Wood, and was always one of the first to arrive. He was a member of the Hereford and Salop Guilds. He leaves a widow and six children, with whom the deepest sympathy is felt. R.I.P.

THROUGH DERBYSHIRE DALES.

On Saturday, June 14th, the bell ringers of Old Basford Church, with their wives and sweethearts, numbering twenty-two, had an enjoyable charabanc ride to Buxton. The party left Old Basford in 'Ikanopit,' at 8 a.m., and journeyed through Eastwood, Ripley, and at 9.30 reached Whistlandwell, where a 'scrumptious' breakfast had been ordered at Holmesford Cottage. This was attacked very heartily, for the ride in the fresh morning air had given the members keen appetites. From here, the party rode through the beautifully hilly and wooded country to Buxton. The scenery along the entire route was wonderfully picturesque, and full of surprises. At each turn in the road were sighted waterfalls, precipitous rocks, narrow valleys, and numerous streams. On reaching Buxton the ringers proceeded to the pretty village church of Burbage, where permission to ring had been granted. Touches of Stedman and Grandsire Doubles were rung on the six bells. The members wish, through the medium of 'The Ringing World,' to convey their best thanks to the Vicar (the Rev. J. Hewitson) for the use of the bells, the 'go' being excellent. The party then mounted 'Ikanopit' again, and rode up to the 'Cat and Fiddle,' which is 1,690 ft. above sea-level. This was a stiff uphill climb along a very winding road. From the top a beautiful view of the surrounding country was obtained, and Buxton was seen to be 'down in the valley below.'

When the scenery had been thoroughly enjoyed, the charabanc proceeded down a steep and winding road, and reached the entrance to Goyls Valley. After much questioning as to the safety of the road the driver was persuaded to risk it. This was done at a very steady and careful pace, as the road appeared to be just a ledge cut out of the mountain side, and only just wide enough for one vehicle. The whole view was wonderful and majestic, and the ladies of the party were somewhat timid and awed at the dizzy heights. At last the vehicle reached the entrance to the grounds of Errwood Hall, through which permission had been previously obtained to go. This was indeed a great privilege, as rhododendrons and azaleas of every possible hue were in full bloom. Ferns, too, of numerous varieties, hidden away in natural grottoes; lovely waterfalls made music with the birds, and little bridges spanned the winding stream at various intervals. All were loath to leave this delightful spot.

From here the party drove back to Buxton, and arrived at the Railway Hotel for dinner at 4.30. Then, after an hour's sight-seeing in Buxton the happy crowd again mounted 'Ikanopit,' and set off for home by way of Bakewell, passed the old English home of Haddon Hall, through Darley Dale to the Matlocks. Though somewhat tired, they thoroughly enjoyed the beautiful views of thickly wooded hills, which seemed to close in on every side. From the Matlocks, the journey was made through Ripley, Eastwood and Kimberley, and terminated at Old Basford at 10 p.m., everybody having enjoyed the trip immensely. The one great regret was that the Ringing Master, Mr. G. R. Goodship, and his wife, and the wives of two other ardent members of the company, were unable to join the excursion.

BRISTOL RINGERS VISIT EXETER.

On Whit Monday, a party of Bristol ringers, with their wives and sweethearts, to the number of 28, paid a visit to Exeter, leaving at 7 a.m. by motor coach. From Bedminster Down, a fine view of Clifton and the Suspension Bridge was obtained. Passing by Dundry Hill (765 ft.), with its noble church tower, we were well into Somerset, and passing the charming Mendip Hills. Mention must be made of some of the places we passed through, and of the magnificent towers, which are the glory of Somerset. Wrington (19 bells) stood out boldly. We passed the conspicuous landmark of Brent Knoll, and went on through Highbridge, Bridgwater and North Pethererton, with its fine Perpendicular tower. Then we obtained a fine view of Taunton Dean, and again we were charmed by the fine towers of Taunton, especially St. Mary Magdalen, one of the finest Perpendicular edifices in the country. Passing through Wellington we 'dodged' across the borders of glorious Devon, and made our first stop at Cullompton, where lunch baskets were soon got out, and having refreshed ourselves we made tracks for the church, a really fine one in the late Perpendicular style, with a striking red sandstone pinnacled tower dating from 1548. The bells were soon off to the tune of Stedman Caters, followed by Cambridge Royal. No time was lost, however, and we were soon again on the road to Exeter, passing through typical Devon pastoral scenery. On reaching the 'Ever Faithful' city, we were joined by other Bristol ringers who had gone by train, and proceeded to the Cathedral, where we met the men of Devon who were celebrating the jubilee of their Guild. Mr. Davey escorted the visitors to the tower, and the magnificent peal of twelve were raised, and some fine touches of Stedman Cinques brought round. Messrs. J. Burford and W. A. Cave conducting in turn. The bells were lowered in peal, and other churches were visited, the last (and meeting-place) being St. Sidwell's, where some fine touches were rung. A snap shot was taken of the party, and saying 'good-bye' to our Exeter friends, we took the road again to Ottery St. Mary, where there is one of the finest churches in the county, possessing two transeptal towers. Here some touches of Stedman Triples, Cambridge and London Surprise Major were brought round; this was the last ringing of the day. Tea was afterwards partaken of, not forgetting the Devonshire cream. The return journey to Bristol was resumed through Honiton, Chard and Ilminster. The scenery on this route was greatly admired, especially the part where Dorset touches Devon, the two famous heights, Pilsdon Pen (the highest hill in Dorset) and Lewsdon Hill, looming up in the background of sylvan scenery, and making a lovely picture. Continuing the journey through Martock and Somerton, a refreshing stop was made at Glastonbury, and then on through Wells, Bristol being reached about midnight. On the long journey we sampled 'Lucky Jim's' 'home-made,' and 'Ole Bill' was in evidence in his jazz custom. Mr. W. A. Cave made all the necessary arrangements, for which he has the best thanks of the party. H. J.

STOCKTON LOSES VALUED CONDUCTOR.

We regret to record the death of Mr. T. Stephenson, the veteran conductor, of the Stockton-on-Tees band of ringers, at the age of 64 years.

Mr. Stephenson had the misfortune to have a thumb burnt whilst following his employment as a riveter in a local shipyard in December last. Septic poisoning set in, and his death took place at the Stockton and Thornaby Hospital on the 10th June.

The interment took place at the Durham Road Cemetery on Saturday, June 14th, with every sign of regret and sympathy for those left behind.

Mr. Stephenson was a well-known figure in the ringing circles of the North of England, and was amongst the pioneers of both the northern ringing associations, doing a tremendous amount of spade work. One could almost say he was a ringer from his cradle to his grave.

Being a pupil of the late Mr. G. J. Clarkson, he would have nothing but the best. A regular attendant, he was always to be found at the heavy end. Endued with the 'patience of Job' with learners, his place will be difficult to fill; his familiar form, that genial smile, and that happy 'That is all,' greatly missed. W. N.

VETERAN DEVON RINGER'S DEATH.

As already briefly recorded, Mr. Henry Payne, of Plymouth, one of the oldest members of the Devon Guild, passed away in his sleep on Whitsun Tuesday. Mr. Payne was elected to the Guild in the first year of its existence, being a member of the Huntsham band under the late Col. C. A. W. Troyte. He had rung 12 peals for the Guild, and this, considering his opportunities, must be considered a creditable record. After leaving Huntsham he resided for several years at Ide, where the funeral took place. The Vicar of Ide officiated, and the Devon Guild was represented by Messrs. T. B. Bartlett, F. J. Davey, F. Gardner, T. Laver, J. Moss and J. C. Oke. They rang the bells muffled to Grandsire and Stedman Doubles. The wreaths included tributes from the Guild of Devonshire ringers, and Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. Acland Troyte.

ROMNEY MARSH GUILD PROGRESSING.

The Romney Marsh and District Guild held a meeting at Wye on Saturday last, June 28th. The attendance was good, and the ringing quite up to the usual standard. Touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Major were brought round, and after a preliminary practice a plain course of Double Norwich was accomplished, which goes to show the Guild is alive and progressive. Tea was partaken of at the Bakery, opposite the church.—At the business meeting held afterwards, it was resolved that the next meeting be held at Hothfield on Saturday, July 26th, and the annual outing on Saturday, August 2nd.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

The annual meeting of the East Berks and South Bucks Branch was held at Boyne Hill, Maidenhead, on Saturday last, some forty members, representing fifteen towers, being present. Touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob, Cambridge and Superlative Surprise Major were rung.

In the absence of Mr. A. J. Harman, Mrs. A. D. Barker acted as secretary for the meeting.

The election of six new members was confirmed, and nine more were elected.

A new secretary was appointed, and it is expected that the meetings of the branch will be a little more frequent than in the past.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar for the use of the bells and Parish Hall, and to the Rev. W. S. Riddlesdell for ably presiding over so difficult a meeting.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The Northern Division held its summer meeting at Knebworth on Saturday, June 14th. The little Gothic church stands almost in the centre of the park, within easy distances of the mansion, the seat of the Lytton family. The chancel arch, which is Norman, still bears its consecration crosses in a very perfect condition. For the last 30 years Knebworth has been a noted church for peal ringing. The late Bishop Jones, when Rector of the parish, presented the two trebles augmenting the ring to a peal of eight bells, with tenor 12½ cwt., and making the tower a popular field for the campanologist. The little village was 'en fete' on Saturday for the annual fair.

Service for the ringers was conducted by the Rev. Thomas, and tea was served in a picnic fashion in the park. This was followed by the meeting, at which Mr. J. Have, of Hitchin, was elected chairman.—One new member and an honorary member were elected, and votes of thanks returned to the Rev. Thomas for the use of the bells, for conducting the service, and for his address; also to the organist and to the chairman for presiding.

A return was made to the tower, where some good touches in the standard methods and Superlative Surprise were brought home. Ringers were present from Graveley, Royston, Hitchin, Dunstable, Kimpton, Tring, Hatfield, Luton, Harpenden and Hornsey.

UMPIRES FOR HANDBELL PEALS.

Among the motions discussed by the Central Council, that relating to the compulsory requirements of a qualified umpire for handbell peals found least support. As we pointed out when the agenda first appeared, this is a matter which bristles with practical difficulties, and the Council, by defeating the proposal, decided that the present provision in the rules, to the effect that an umpire should be present when practicable, meets the need. Two principal points were taken by those who spoke against the motion. These were that the imposition of the suggested condition would inflict a great handicap upon bands in isolated handbell centres, who might have no qualified umpire available, and would thus be debarred from having recognised any peals which they might ring; and the second was that any question as to the accuracy of a peal, must be left to the honesty of the conductor and the band.

In this respect, unquestionably there can be no distinction drawn between handbell and tower bell peals. Unless a band is out deliberately to cheat, there is no more likelihood of an un-umpired peal 'in hand' being claimed, when in fact it was not rung, than there would be of a tower bell peal being claimed under the same circumstances. Short of the church bells actually stopping there is probably not one peal in a hundred—one is almost tempted to say one in a thousand—of which anyone outside the tower could vouch the truth. We trust to the honour of the ringers of tower bells, and the same must be done in the case of handbells—unless severe and unwarranted restrictions are to be placed upon them. The umpiring of handbell peals appears to be a survival of days when these performances were so unusual that rival ringers were wont to disbelieve in such achievements; but in these days handbell peals are so much a part of ordinary practice that no one has any shadow of doubt about their accomplishment.

There is, however, one view which we should like to put forward, and that is that where a peal is 'umpired,' it should be by a ringer who really knows what is going on. We have heard of cases where the 'umpire' has been a tenorman who knew nothing of the method rung, and his 'ticking off' of bobs was merely to make a mark against each successive bob change, when a call was made, without knowing whether the bells were right or wrong. By no stretch of imagination can this be called umpiring, and a peal report would be just as well authenticated without the name of such an umpire as with it. In view of the reaffirmation of the Council's existing regulations, would it not be as well if handbell ringers in future recorded with their peals the names only of umpires, and omitted references to ordinary witnesses who have no knowledge of what is being rung, and could only vouch for the length of time the bells were kept going? A proper umpire, or nothing, seems to us to be the present authorised position, for only an umpire can have any effective standing in this matter.

A FALSE PEAL.

Upon looking through the figures of the peal in the Kent County report for 1924, page 96, composed by Frederick A. Holden, and rung at Rochester Cathedral, I find it is false.

I deeply regret to have to bring this to notice, seeing that such an able band took part therein, it being the first peal on the bells, Mr. W. Haigh's 150th peal, and first peal on ten bells by two of the party. I am enclosing figures which I think will prove what I have said.

The 13th six of the 'starting' course is 'slow,' and repeats with the 10th six following the 20th course end 413562978, which is a 'quick' six. Therefore, 'hand' and 'back' strokes repeat.

LOUIS HEAD, Maidstone, Kent.

LADIES' GUILD.

Members of the Midland district of the Ladies' Guild visited St. Michael's, Lichfield, on Saturday last, but owing to the Staffordshire Association holding their annual meeting on the same date, there was only a poor muster. Most of the ladies took advantage of the opportunity to ring at the Cathedral and St. Mary's, and also spent a good time at St. Michael's. Although it was not possible to hold the usual special service, the service at the Cathedral was attended instead.

The only business was to decide the place of next meeting, Broms-grove being chosen. The date will probably be the third Saturday in September.

STEDMAN CINQUES AT EXETER.

FIRST PEAL ON CATHEDRAL BELLS.

The first peal of Cinques on the famous bells of Exeter Cathedral has been rung, and those to whom fell the opportunity of taking part count it a privilege to have been associated with the performance. By the kindness of the Dean and Chapter, and with the ready acquiescence of the Cathedral ringers, who generously put aside any claim they may have had to the first peal on the bells, a band organised by Mr. Albert Walker, Ringing Master of St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham, met in the 'faithful city' on Saturday for 'the great adventure.' They came from a wide area, and the earliest arrivals found themselves in the county of cream and cider on Friday evening. At intervals through Saturday came additions to the party, some of them rolling up in their Rolls Royces, having crossed the wilds of Exmoor. The main contingent, however, arrived by train, and the 'general assembly' took place in the Cathedral Close.

Cathedral ringers were there to welcome their visitors, and the Rev. Maitland Kelly had travelled many miles to be present on this occasion, and greet the men who had come so far in the hope of accomplishing so much. Of all the kindnesses meted out during the week-end this was the most touching.

It was a glorious afternoon when the party gathered beneath the shadow of the grand old pile, and old friends met once more. Some of them had been there twenty years before, but had gone empty away. Among them were the organiser and conductor, the Guild secretary (no longer a lean and callow youth), and Arthur Pegler, who made the long journey from Bangor, in North Wales, to the scene of past defeats.

There was not a great deal of time lost in preliminaries, but most of the visitors took the opportunity to inspect the great peal and massive frame, which is a triumph of the skill of the bell hanger. By 4.30 the bells were away into Stedman Cinques, with two hefty men—accomplices in crime, they were afterwards described—on the tenor. Course after course went by without a hitch. The big bells rolled up into the tittums, parted, and rolled up again, while the tenor boomed out its big, deep note, marking with precision the end of every change. The turning course came and went, and nine courses afterwards the bells ran home in the handstroke position, and completed a peal of which everyone felt proud. In fact, so smoothly did it go that there is no incident in it to be recorded, except that the funny side of things would, somehow, intrude itself, upon occasion—and if you don't believe it, ask the ringer of the ninth.

The bells had hardly stopped before local ringers were in the tower congratulating the band, not merely upon their success, but upon the splendid striking which had characterised the peal from beginning to end. Afterwards, of course, there was much to talk about, and in a crowded hour and a crowded room at the Globe Hotel, the peal, the ringers, the conductor and everyone else was toasted—and some were 'grilled.'

Mr. Walker took the opportunity to thank the Exeter ringers for their kindness. Mr. Laver, Mr. Davy and Mr. Southwood expressed the pleasure of the Devon men at receiving a visit from St. Martin's Guild, and congratulated them upon their success. The fact that the occasion happened to be the birthday of one of the ladies among the visitors led to congratulations of another nature, and 'musical honours' marked the toast of her health. There were several other impromptu speeches, and so jovial was the party that the host found a difficulty in getting his guests to depart. It was a merry—and hungry—party that gathered round the supper table elsewhere a little later, and it was after midnight when the company sought their beds—at least, not all, for a 1.50 a.m. train claimed one of the party.

Next morning there was ringing at St. Sidwell's, and then came the separation. The train contingent made their way to the railway station, Mr. Pegler to begin a journey that would occupy him about 17 hours. Two of the motorists turned their faces northward and another eastward, leaving the Conductor, Mrs. Conductor and their son to spend a week 'aroving in glorious Devon.' The eastbound 'bus,' with its two passengers, ticked off the miles in right good fashion, over rolling downs, along winding roads, through rich country, and quaint villages, climbing hills from which the most glorious views were obtained, then down again into the valleys. A stop at Salisbury to renew acquaintance with the beautiful Cathedral, then away once more over good—and bad—main roads until the office of 'The Ringing World' was reached, after a journey of nearly 160 miles covered in—well, the exact time doesn't matter, in case this should fall into the hands of the police. The police, and, others, may, however, be interested in the fact that the peal was rung in 4 hrs. 10 mins., and from that they may, perhaps, calculate the pace of the car.

It is worthy of note that between them the band travelled considerably over 4,000 miles to ring this peal.

In these days of fine rings of bells, one has to be careful in making comparisons, but few who have heard them will quarrel with the statement that the bells of Exeter Cathedral are one of the finest rings, if not the finest ring in the country. In age they are a mixed lot, but in the skilful hands of Messrs. Taylor and Co. they are one of the most glorious peals to which anyone could listen, crowned as they are by that great tenor, 'Grandisson,' which turns the scale at 72 cwt. 2 qr.—the largest pealable bell in the world, and whose size was necessitated by the fact that it had to cover what experts look upon as probably the finest bell in England, 'Stafford,' the eleventh in the present ring. This wonderful bell was cast by Purdew in 1676, and Purdew it was who provided some of the other bells, notably the present 6th and 9th in 1676, and the 8th in 1693. John Pennington cast the 5th in 1658 and Evans, of Chepstow, the tenth in 1729. The fourth is a bell dating from 1616, and, of the rest, Taylor recast the tenor and 7th in 1902, when the great restoration of the bells took place, recast the 3rd in 1915, and added two trebles in 1923. There is an additional 6th in the tower (cast by Thos. Pennington in 1630), which helps to make it possible to get no less than four peals of six, three of eight, two of ten, and one of twelve out of the combination. They hang in the massive Norman tower, on the south side of the Cathedral, and beneath them is a ringing chamber which is a model of what such a place should be.

The Bishop of Winchester, as president, and the following other officers were re-elected: Vice-president, the Rev. C. E. Matthews; Master, Mr. George Williams (North Stoneham); secretary, Mr. G. Pullinger (Southampton); treasurer, the Rev. N. C. Woods (Winchester); recorder of peals, Mr. F. W. Rogers (Portsmouth); auditor, Mr. G. Smith (Twyford).

The secretarial duties had previously been discharged by Messrs. G. Williams and G. Pullinger as joint officers, but Mr. Williams resigned, and Mr. Pullinger agreed to accept the sole appointment.

The Rev. C. E. Matthews reported having visited the towers of Ockley (Surrey), Brockenhurst and Freshwater (Isle of Wight). At Ockley he had reported on the condition of the bells, and recommended that restoration work should be carried out by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, of Whitechapel. At Brockenhurst a very light peal of six was put in by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, the tenor being 4½ cwt. The tenor bell at West Horsley would have to be recast, being badly cracked.

The question of the division of the diocese and possible changes in regard to the constitution of the Guild, which it is anticipated must necessarily follow, was raised, but in view of the fact that the Bill is at present before the House of Lords, who have adjourned discussion on it until July 15th, it was felt that the matter could not be usefully discussed.

WILLIAM RAYNER'S MEMORIAL.

The Chairman referred to the matter of the restoration of the grave of William Rayner at Arreton, Isle of Wight, who, researches show was a member of the Carisbrooke and Newport Union Society of Youths (Union of Youths), formed in 1770, and who appears to have been the pioneer of change ringing in the Diocese of Winchester. Rayner, it is understood, was born in the Guildford district. His tomb bears the inscription:—

Skilled in the mastery of the pleasing bell
Which few can know and fewer still reveal:
Whether with lowly bells or bell sublime
To speed a moment to the truth of time.
Time so oft truly beat at length o'ercame,
Yet shall this tribute long preserve his name.

An estimate, the Chairman reported, has been obtained from a Newport monumental mason to carry out the restoration for £14, and the consent of the authorities concerned has been obtained. It was recommended by the Central Committee that morning that subscriptions should be invited from members of the Guild, and that out of their general fund a donation of two guineas should be made. He did not think they should allow the tomb of such an interesting old ringer to remain in the dilapidated condition it was now in, and he was sure they would authorise the sub-committee, of which he was a member, to carry out the proposed work.

The meeting confirmed the recommendation of the Central Committee, and authorised the work being begun when £10 has been subscribed. The Chairman remarked that it was proposed to invite subscriptions from all interested through 'The Ringing World.'

A vote of thanks was recorded to Mr. Williams, one of the joint hon. secretaries last year.

It was decided that the sympathy of the Guild should be conveyed to the Rev. W. E. Colchester (formerly hon. secretary and treasurer), who has undergone two severe operations. It is hoped that he is now progressing satisfactorily, but it is feared that it will be a long time before he is able to ring again.

THE WORK OF THE PAST YEAR.

The secretaries' report for the past year stated: The Master was asked to inspect and give his opinion on the state of the two supposed very ancient bells and fittings at Chilworth Church, and it is gratifying to know that his recommendations were adopted. The vice-president has made inspection, on behalf of the Diocesan Faculties Advisory Committee, of the belfries at Leatherhead (10) Farnborough (6), Brockenhurst, Niton and Chilworth, and faculties have been granted for restoration work in these towers.

Hursley, augmented from six to eight by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, and Haslemere (eight), all recast by Messrs. Taylor and Co., have been opened during the year, in addition to minor restorations, etc., and it is hoped that St. Michael's, Southampton, restoration of the spire and bells will be completed this year, as well as St. Nicholas, Leatherhead. The latter was practically the pioneer tower in change ringing in the early days of the Guild.

Peals were arranged by the Newport band at Newport and Carisbrooke on May 15th and 16th, to commemorate the memory of William Rayner, whose death occurred on May 15th, 1823; both peals were conducted by the Master. William Rayner was a great ringing enthusiast of that day, as the valuable old historical books (now the property of the Newport band) will testify, and are well worth a perusal by any visitor to the tower, if only to look at the beautiful copperplate writing of those old records.

Good progress has been made in the Surprise Methods during the year, and the Portsmouth and Southampton neighbourhood can boast of between 20 and 30 ringers who are now ringing Superlative, Cambridge and London Surprise. It is also very encouraging to see Guildford friends again ringing these methods: may other members hurry up and do likewise, as the more methods one learns the better will be the striking.

The St. Peter's, Bournemouth, band, with the assistance of the Master, scored a peal of Grandsire Triples during the year, and should now make good progress in Stedman. The Alton band also scored their first peal of Stedman.

Although a progressive movement has been shown, it is a matter for much regret that there are a considerable number of towers of five bells and upwards in the diocese where change ringing is not practised, and which are not affiliated to any ringing organisation, and it is to be hoped that many of these towers will be looked up in the near future for the purpose of educating the ringers to the advantage of belonging to the Guild.

Many of the members attended a service in Farnham Parish Church, at which the Rector (the Rev. J. M. C. Crum) gave an address.

Tea was served in the Church House, where it was announced that the offertory taken at the service for the Rayner Restoration Fund amounted to £1 7s. 1½d.

During the day numerous touches in a variety of methods were rung on the Parish Church bells, and some of the ringers also visited outlying towers.

HEREFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

A very successful meeting was held at Bromfield on June 21st, when Canon Chesshire once again welcomed the ringers of the Ludlow and Church Stretton district most heartily, and provided bowls and croquet on the lawn for their amusement.

Some good ringing was obtained both on hand and tower bells, after which service was held in church, and was much enjoyed. Mr. Brayshaw (organist) and the full choir kindly attended. The Vicar surprised the members by his intimate knowledge of the Guild report for 1924, the subject of his address being Guild rule, No. 2, viz.: 'Its objects are (1) to recognise the true position of ringers as church officers; (2) to cultivate the art of change ringing; and (3) to promote due order in the belfry.'

Mrs. Chesshire generously provided tea in the Vicarage gardens. About 40 sat down, and included amongst them were the Rev. H. S. T. Richardson (Hopesay), the Rev. La Touche (Wistanstow), the Rev. Dutton (Knighton), also Mr. Wm. Saunders, of Coalbrookdale. The Master of the Guild (Mr. Chas. Edwards) also came over from Madley on his motor-cycle, but was held up at Leominster by a thunderstorm, and arrived about 6.30 p.m.

The Vicar remained with his guests during the whole afternoon and evening, and several times visited the belfry. He is, however, often to be found in the tower giving encouragement and help to his own ringers, who continue to display enthusiasm and good progress.

The Rev. H. S. T. Richardson occupied the chair at the business meeting.—The Secretary stated that Leintwardine tower had promised to join the Guild, and that four honorary and ten ringing members would in all probability be added to their number very shortly.

Heartly votes of thanks were accorded Canon and Mrs. Chesshire for their many kindnesses, to Mr. Brayshaw for his delightful services at the organ, and to the choir for their very welcome assistance with the singing.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The first performance of Holt's Original, which was called by Holt himself at St. Margaret's, Westminster, on Sunday, July 7th, 1751, has been fittingly celebrated by an anniversary peal rung at the same church last Friday. James Davis rang the treble in 1751; James E. Davis rang the same bell to the peal in 1924!

A 'Charles' name peal was rung last Saturday by members of the Suffolk Guild—a peal of Superlative. It was not, however, the first Surprise name peal ever rung, as the Johns scored a peal of London over twenty years ago, and afterwards rang a peal of Superlative.

Thirteen is not altogether an unlucky number, for the thirteen men who met at Exeter on Saturday scored the first peal of Cinques on the Cathedral bells.

The 'Western Morning News' on Monday referred to the 'considerable feat' which involved 'from 10,000 to 30,000 changes.' Whew! Such a peal would have required more than thirteen men, even if they were all James Georges. Those who took part were quite content that it stopped short at 5,017.

Mr. E. H. Lewis has been re-elected as President of the West of Scotland Iron and Steel Institute for another period of two years.

Mr. Fred G. Woodies, the genial steeplekeeper, of Banstead, Surrey, has met with a nasty cycle accident, having been thrown from his machine by riding into a dog. He now lies in Sutton Cottage Hospital suffering from a broken collar-bone and concussion.

The first peal of Erin Caters was rung at North Shields on July 12th, 1909.

On Thursday, July 15th, 1830, a peal of 5,000 New Treble Bob Royal was rung at Leeds.

The peal of Stedman Caters rung at St. Margaret's, Leicester, on handbells, on Tuesday, June 24th, 1924, was composed by W. Hyde Inglesant, and conducted by Harold J. Poole.

NORTH NOTTS ASSOCIATION.

The fourth meeting of the year was held at Gamston on Saturday, June 28th. There was a good attendance of ringers from Barborough, Treeton, Shircocks, Workop, Norton Cuckney, North Wheatley, Ordsall, West Retford, Laneham, Sutton-on-Trent, Ossington, Gainsborough, Southwell Cathedral, and the local company. Unique as a war memorial in this district is that at St. Peter's, Gamston, a pleasant village on the east bank of the River Idle. The memorial takes the form of a new treble bell, which was added to the five previously in the tower, and a tablet in memory of the seven men who lost their lives in the war. The tenor is 8 cwt. 1 qr. 18 lb. in A, and the new treble is 3 cwt. 1 qr. 18 lb. in F. The bells were rung during the afternoon and evening to the methods of Plain Bob, Oxford, Kent, Duke of York, Woodbine, Sandall, Cambridge Surprise and Stedman Doubles. The meeting coincided with a garden fete and sale of work in the grounds of Gamston House, the proceeds, which were in aid of the bell fund and restoration of the parish church, being £170.

A hearty welcome was extended to the ringers by Mr. Herbert Smith, of Gamston House, and one of the most interesting and pleasing items of the day was the handbell ringing, which was enjoyed by a large assembly in the grounds, and also in the house. The performers were Messrs. F. S. W. Butler, J. F. Bartram, H. Morgan (Gainsborough), and J. S. Milner (Southwell Cathedral). Several courses of Grandsire Triples were rung.

The business meeting was held under a shady tree, until rain came down, when the party adjourned to the house. The meeting was presided over by Mr. Smith, who willingly joined the association as vice-president and life member.

The next meeting will be held at Sutton-on-Trent, on August Bank Holiday, and will be announced in 'The Ringing World.' Sports and gala and a cricket match will be held, the proceeds devoted to the church restoration and bell fund, and a good attendance is desired.

Mr. J. S. Milner (Southwell Cathedral) was elected non-resident life member.—Mr. H. Revill (Ordsall) was appointed to give the Gamston ringers thirteen lessons during the year, one-half of the cost to be defrayed by the ringers, and the other half by the association.

Tea was served in a large tent, and a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to Mr. Herbert Smith, on the proposition of Mr. H. Haigh (hon. secretary), seconded by Mr. C. H. Baker, of Gainsborough, for his generosity to the ringers, and for all he had done to bring about the restoration of Gamston bells.—This was carried with acclamation.—Mr. Smith, in reply, thanked the ringers for coming such long distances to help to make the garden fete a success, and said the chief credit for the restoration of the bells lay with one of the members of the association, who was present with them that day, and who was the principal mover in getting the work done. There was 'nothing doing' until he stirred things up twelve months ago: now a sum of £400 had been raised, and the bells put in order.

Further handbell ringing and also touches on tower bells brought 'the end of a perfect day,' and the bells were lowered in peal.

Dancing and games were indulged in until 10 p.m.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

UMPIRES FOR HANDBELL PEALS.

The next resolution considered by the Council was one of which Mr. T. H. Taffender had given notice: 'That this Council only recognise as peals upon handbells those that have been umpired, and that the qualification of an umpire shall be that of being able to ring the method and check each call as made.'

Mr. Taffender said this was a matter brought forward by his association (the London County), and some of the present-day handbell ringers thought the existing decision of the Council was not satisfactory. In Rules and Decisions it was laid down that, where practicable, there should be an umpire for a handbell peal. For some years past they had seen handbell peals, 'witnessed' and 'attested' and 'umpired,' and in many instances there had been no umpire whatever. In his opinion there should be an umpire present on every occasion. Anyone could come and listen to a peal when it was rung on tower bells, but the conditions were different in regard to handbell peals. With regard to the qualification of an umpire, that could be easily settled, because when a name was put down as umpire, other people would know if he could ring a method or not, and whether he was a proper person for the purpose. Seventy-five per cent. of those put down as umpires were not qualified persons, and did not know the method being rung, or how to check the course-ends. He did not say that peals were 'cooked,' but he felt strongly that they should have qualified umpires. It had been asked why four persons living in a small village should be prevented from ringing a handbell peal for want of an umpire, but he considered they should not be allowed to until they had educated another person to observe the bells and check each call as made.

Mr. James George seconded. He thought it was very necessary to have a qualified umpire.

The Rev. E. W. Carpenter said if the Council passed this resolution it would be necessary to have an official list of referees, if referees were to be of any use.

A QUESTION OF HONOUR.

Mr. C. T. Coles said this was a matter in which the Council wanted to be very careful. The Rules and Decisions of the Council laid it down that where practicable there should be an umpire, and it seemed to him that that covered the ground sufficiently. Whether it was handbell ringing or tower bell ringing, they had to depend on the honour of the ringers. Even in tower bell peals listeners could not say whether the bells were right all the time, and they had to depend on the conductor and the ringers. The same applied to handbells. If it was a matter of getting qualified men, the mere fact that a man could ring a method did not necessarily qualify him to be a competent umpire. There were men who could ring peals without making a mistake who probably could not tell you where a course end was. This question rested on the honour of the ringers concerned (hear, hear). In the case put forward by the proposer of people in a village ringing a handbell peal, his view was that if they were so dishonourable that they would publish a bad peal, then it was possible that an umpire, who would be a friend of the band, would be equally dishonourable, and pass the peal. He opposed the resolution, not on the ground that he objected to an umpire for a handbell peal, but because he thought the Council's existing decision was quite strong enough.

Mr. J. Parker said he supported the view put forward by Mr. Coles. He was not a handbell ringer, therefore he had no axe to grind. He had heard a good many handbell peals, and had been asked to umpire them, but he had never yet seen a set of handbell ringers try to cook a peal. He did not think an umpire was necessary at all. If they had an umpire, let him have no figures, but put them down as they were rung. How often could a handbell band pick up an umpire that could do that? Some years ago the Council spent an afternoon thrashing out this question, and they came to the decision that they had in the Council's rules to-day. He objected to hampering handbell ringers because they could not get an umpire.

Mr. P. J. Johnson said he could not see where they were going to draw the line between handbell and tower bell peals. He remembered a recent discussion in which the band themselves disagreed as to whether 432 or 234 came up in a peal. London ringers had not the difficulties provincial ringers had in this matter of umpires, for where they had a large number of ringers available it was a much easier matter to get an umpire. His own experience was that if this had been insisted on in his part of the world, handbell ringing would have become extinct. They had four men—two of them came nearly seven miles each week for it—and they could not get anybody to umpire the peals at all; they would not come to do it. They had to rely to a certain extent upon the calibre of the men who were ringing in the peal, and they should encourage a high standard of striking and morality among men. Sometimes one found among the senior ringers a spirit that ought not to be cultivated in a tower. If an older ringer made a mistake he should immediately own to it instead of trying to drop it on to a less fortunate younger member (applause). If they did this they would raise the tone of the whole science. If a man was a conductor and not a bob caller he knew whether the bells were wrong before an umpire did. He (the speaker) would if he were calling a peal. They must leave it to the honour of the men.

Mr. A. H. Pulling said the question of umpires was a farce, pure and simple. He would sooner see a peal without an umpire than with one, unless he knew the umpire knew absolutely all about it. He had known men described as umpires who could no more umpire a peal than could a chair. Ticking off course ends was not umpiring a peal. To umpire a peal properly a man ought to be able to tell in the middle of a course if the bells were right or wrong. The London men did not know the difficulties of country ringers. Personally he had never yet called an exceptional composition without an umpire—but he had had an umpire and not just a tenor ringer, a man who could not only check each call, but know at any time whether the bells were right or wrong. If they carried the resolution, who was going to appoint the umpires? Were the associations to appoint these men, or were the Central Council, and who was to pay their expenses? Would Mr. Taffender come from London to umpire a peal? He (the speaker) could see a 'shift' in handbell ringing long before any umpire. Personally he did not mind if the motion were carried or not. If they could get an umpire they would have one, and, if not, they would ring without one.

The Rev. F. L. Edwards said when he and his band started handbell ringing there was no one else in the county of Dorset, except, perhaps, Mr. Beams, who was 40 miles away, who could have umpired the peal of College Single Minor, for which five of them practised.

The President said he would like to read an extract from a letter from the Rev. A. H. F. Boughey, who was very expert in handbell ringing. Mr. Boughey said he hoped the motion before the Council to make umpires a necessity for handbell peals might not be carried. He was quite in favour of having an umpire where a capable one could be got, but very often it was impossible to get one, in which case he thought it was right to trust to the honour of the conductor and the ringers (hear, hear). That was practically done in tower bell peals, which were scored as a matter of course, even when there had been no listener within hearing who knew anything about change ringing. When the Cambridge University Guild began, they had to employ and pay professional ringers from the town company to umpire for them, and many times even this was impossible. They were then forced to ring without an umpire, or not to ring at all. He thought, if the motion were carried it would tend to prevent handbell ringing, a step which he should deprecate and deplore.

When the motion was put only two voted for it, and it was defeated by an overwhelming majority.

THE VENUE OF COUNCIL MEETINGS.

Mr. T. H. Beams moved 'to alter Rule of the Council, No. 6, by omitting "but that the meeting following the Triennial Election be always in London." He said the view he held was that it would be better if the option was given to the Council for the first meeting of every new Council to be held elsewhere than in London. There was something to be said for and against it. Thirty-three years ago, when the Council was formed, London was the most 'get-atable' place in the whole country, but they could not say the same to-day. With additional cross-country services on main lines it was no more 'get-atable' than Birmingham, or Leeds or Manchester, or any of the other big centres. Years ago, London was undoubtedly the chief ringing centre in the country, and although it was still a great ringing centre, it was not now by any means the only great ringing centre. There were other centres up and down the country which could claim to be equal, not in numbers, but in proficiency with London ringing. Then if they took the pro rata population, London was getting more than its share of meetings. On this basis, roughly, London ought to have a meeting about once in five years, rather than once in three. Finally, London was so vast that there was not that close feeling among the delegates before and after the meeting that there was in the provinces. The provincial meetings, to many people, were far more homely. If they would refer to the rule as he proposed it should be amended, they would notice that it did not prevent the triennial meeting being held in London, if the Council so desired. If, every third year, they decided that the next meeting should be in London they could do so, but the alteration of rule would give them the opportunity of going elsewhere if they wished it.

The Rev. F. L. Edwards seconded.

Canon Baker pointed out that one objection to the alteration was that the Council was only elected every three years and it was hardly in order for a Council, which was going to 'die' to decide where the new Council should meet. He hoped the present rule would stand: it had served very well and met the need.

There was no further discussion, and the motion on being put was lost by a large majority.

THE NORFOLK RINGING WEEK.

A SUCCESSFUL TOUR.

By W. H. F.

Would you like to 'pull 'em' for a week in the county of 'broad' acres? Was the kind inquiry of a well-known Kent ringer last May, to which the writer's answer was a ready 'Aye'—even across the waters broad. In due course the list of towers was received. Here they are: Lowestoft, Pulham Market, Wymondham, Yarmouth, Pulham St. Mary, Loddon, Salle, Alburgh, Dereham, Saxlingham, Bungay, Marsham, Norwich, North Elmham and Aylsham.

I made the journey from Bucks to Liverpool Street, E.C., on a fortunate Friday in June—the 13th—and there had the pleasure of meeting Messrs. Cheeseman, Shade, Daynes, Bennett and Audsley, from Kent, and Mr. Steere, of Guildford. Together we travelled to Norwich by the 5.18 p.m.—three hours' express—per G.E. Rly. Mr. Harry Parkes, with his motor-cycle, went down by road, thus completing our octave of 'whole timers' who were taking on a fairly heavy task; far more so than I bargained for on promising to go.

Headquarters at The Orford Arms Hotel made a good centre for casual ringers to visit us, and, for those who were forced to sleep out, to come in and discuss the daily trips—trips of another nature than those of the ringer, and, I may add, some of the more urgent points were only settled after closing time. Mr. G. H. Cross met us on arrival, and we were here joined by Mr. J. George (late of Rugby), and at once made our way to supper, regretting the absence of Mr. W. Nevard, of Bentley, whose duty as churchwarden prevented his coming.

The housing problem is quite as urgent in Norfolk as in other districts throughout the country, and the risk of sleeping in the 'open air' was met by taking train daily to our respective destinations and returning to Norwich. Departure each morning was about 8 a.m., excepting on Sunday. Our tower for that day at Salle, being remote, we engaged a motor-car and push cycles for the afternoon. On the last day, after booking at Thorpe Station, we were informed of a breakdown on the line, and, returning the tickets, we succeeded in catching a road car to Aylsham and Marsham.

Early rising was a great success, no one missed their breakfast or the train during the week, and this speaks well for our hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Hart, another pair of the right sort, whose kind attention and reasonable charges were fully acknowledged.

Under the title of 'Kent Ringers' we were made welcome at each tower, a representative local ringer being usually waiting to greet us with the keys, and, in most cases, the bells had been 'raised' ready for us to start.

Apprehension as to the fillet hole, part of the bell ropes was ill-founded, we 'lugged' away to our hearts' content at some 136 ropes, and all our 'pulling' couldn't part 'em. The fact deserves mentioning for the credit of the respective steeplekeepers. Another feature of this tour was the absence of interruptions. We had neither to wait for a funeral nor a wedding, were undisturbed by any organist's wild practice in imitation of the 'loud cymbals' in B flat.

Seven reverend gentlemen during our round were able personally to receive the 'Kent Party,' to offer them welcome to Norfolk, and we greatly appreciated this courtesy, in addition to the privilege of ringing the bells willingly granted in every case, and at some trouble to fit in the visit to suit rail facilities. The Vicar of Loddon came to the rescue of Fakenham—the original fixture—where sad illness rendered a change necessary. Of the attempts, the peal columns show ten scored, an average of two out of three. The performers—who may be termed a 'scratch team'—and of whom there were two or three who ought to be pensioned off by the Central Council—are well satisfied with their 'bag,' and no doubt have returned home truly thankful for that health and strength—and the blisters—which have enabled them to fill it. Mr. Parkes, with his cycle, was a useful man, and with Mr. Cheeseman on the pillion seat, usually got to the tower first, preparing for the rest of the band. No one could answer the conundrum concerning these two: 'Why was the conductor like a can of new milk?' The answer is: 'After a good spin both would be Cheese, man!' And how the Dickens they found their way among the by-roads is a wonder, when they had left their dear little Steere behind.

The motor map showed us that it was quite possible to see California, Kimberley, or Philadelphia in East Anglia, but as they possessed no pieces of bell metal we did not include them in our list. Good roads over long stretches of level country make this district an excellent one for a cycle tour.

It must not be presumed because we rang 20,000 of Double Norwich that the Kent ringers visited the Diocese to show Norwich men how to ring Double Norwich, the selection of this method (for various local reasons) may be taken as a compliment to this ancient city of change ringing, which was described by a former Bishop of Norwich as being in the 16th century, mostly composed of beer-houses and churches.

On Monday afternoon we had an hour or two to spare, and some viewed the Cathedral with its five bells, tenor 19 cwt., unringable; others the museum, where there is a beautiful 14th century bell and some fine old engravings giving prospects of the city and its many towers and spires. Steere and I wandered over many roads to find St. John de Sepulchre. We had seen three towers when we met John Cheeseman looking sadly tired, and covered with dust and whitening. He had just come out of the tower we were then making for, which happened to be St. John-the-Baptist—one or two broken ropes, dust and rubbish everywhere, not the ghost of a peal to be seen—after some three miles of searching. But this was the trial before victory, the victory of Cross who called Cambridge Surprise; let us hope with the spirit of Charles Middleton hovering round, taking off his own course ends of the peal.

Failure No. 1 occurred on Tuesday at Pulham Market, half-way through Pitstow's Stadman Triples in the morning. There was some speed in the ringing, and the room was H-O-T. Many of us thought the week's results would mean a 'possible,' and were, therefore, disappointed at a simple ending to their peal visions. This gave us leisure to chat with several of the old band 70 years of age and over who rang a peal here recently—Mr. C. Bayley and Mr. Robt. Whiting, a sturdy character of 75, full of 'go,' who joined us at the next tower, and rang a course of Superlative Surprise, after the peal No. 6.

Robert Whiting is a Redenhall man, and has rung with John Ringer, a Norwich Scholar. He remembers the good old days in the district when Moore, Holmes and Mackenzie, flourished as bell founders, and in the ringing room. His grandfather rang a peal at Redenhall in 1828, and he expects to make a record by scoring one a century later on the same bells.

One doesn't visit Pulham without seeing the King's Head, kept by Mr. and Mrs. C. Brice (Mr. Brice is now working at Chester). There we had an old English hot dinner previously, and tea after the peal, well served by Mrs. Brice. We were away early to meet the Norwich boys at our hotel, where a chat and smoke followed till 'bedtime,' usually denoted by 'invisible hands' when away from home.

Wednesday was our fatal day, even the bells seemed to resent men ringing all the week and violating early closing day. After ringing half of Pitstow's peal of Stadman, we quietly returned to Homersfield Station (1½ miles), where time had to be occupied until the train was due for Bungay. The landlord of the Dove did his best to provide for eight hungry visitors, who, on hearing that Myra had just taken a cake out of the oven, clamoured for it like a bevy of schoolboys—and got it; although the cook said it was hot, and would give us pain under the pinafore.

At Bungay a similar spell of Norwich Major ended the peals for the day. The Vicar had kindly wished us success, but did not observe the gaze of wonder we bestowed on the heavy ropes—amateur made—with 6 feet sallies of long yellow and black worsted. When raising the bells it was found the third would not respond one way to a heavy stroke, and in putting our strong man—Audsley—on it the attempt was made subject to his generous efforts. Perhaps the sight of the ringers' jug in the corner of the belfry disturbed our near places, as the hot sun streamed through the large west window upon the men on the tenors. They are a fine old ring of bells—tenor over a ton weight—and the belfry has one or two old peal boards showing Samuel Thurston had been there, with the two Hurrys from Norwich.

The aforementioned jug has three handles, is made of glazed stoneware, stands 2ft. high, and engraved with potter's writing:—

A gift to the Society of Change Ringers of St. Mary's, Bungay, by Thos. Hurry, Norwich.

The Hurrys carried on a bell hanging business in Princes Street, Norwich, for some years, and had a remarkable run of work in and around the city, Thomas eventually becoming a well-to-do man. They rung Bungay bells in 1826, took part in a 5,600 of Oxford Treble Bob Major (3 hrs. 24 mins.) on November 11th, 1826, which was conducted by Samuel Thurston from the tenor. It may be inferred that Hurry was so satisfied with his bell hanging and ringing at Bungay that he purposely had the ringers' jug made and presented to Bungay for their New Year's dinner, January, 1827. I trust Norfolk men will observe the date, and keep up the centenary—with the jug on the dinner-table—in a right royal fashion.

Returning earlier than we anticipated to Norwich, opportunity was given us to have a ring with the Norwich men at St. Giles Coslany, and here touches of Stadman, Cambridge and London, were rung. This tower is in line with the nave and chancel, with a large arch to the nave and a very fine west window that takes up two sides of the ringing room. The other two sides have each three large peal boards which take up all the wall space, and have a number of interesting past performances recorded on them, including the so-called first peal of Stadman in the city. The Mancroft company had already rung a peal in the method which was condemned on the evidence of an interested party, because the 'tenor' blows had been counted and found short of the 5,040. The Manroft men came down to Coslany tower and threw at the west window to break their rivals down, but friends and neighbours stepped in, and after a sort of free fight the rude visitors were dispersed.

THE LATE MR. SAM THOMAS.

IMPRESSIVE FUNERAL AT SHEFFIELD.

The totally unexpected death of Mr. Sam Thomas, after a week or so of illness, which suddenly struck him down when apparently in vigorous health, came as a great shock to all who knew him, and to some, the first intimation of anything amiss was the notification of the funeral arrangements. These facts to some extent prevented a larger attendance on Saturday, June 28th, though the gathering was large enough to show the great regard in which the late Mr. Thomas was held. Between 60 and 70 ringers attended the funeral, in addition to many other friends.

In the long history of change ringing in the district, few more simple, and at the same time, more impressive funerals can have been known than that which accompanied the passing of Sam Thomas at the Cemetery of Intake. As the last change of a well-struck course of Grandsire Caters—rung on the handbells over the open grave—died away: as the last line of Toplady's immortal hymn, 'Rise to all eternity,' sung with faltering voices, drifted into a scarcely audible Amen; and with the concluding words of the beautiful address by the Rev. J. R. Lee Nicholls still in mind, hardly one among those present could admit to a steady voice or a clear eye.

The cortege, with the chief mourners, bearers, and a number of ringing friends, met at the deceased's residence, at 36, Thomas Street, about 1.30 p.m., and arriving at Intake shortly after 2 p.m. was met by a large gathering of ringing associates from Bolsover, Bradford, Derby, Dore, Chesterfield, Doncaster, Ecclesfield, Eckington, Norton, Rawmarsh, Rotherham, Sheffield (Cathedral, St. Maries (R.C.), Ranmoor, All Saints, Pitsmoor, and Handsworth), and other places.

The burial service was conducted by the Vicar of Ranmoor (the Rev. J. R. Lee Nicholls, M.A.), who, in the Cemetery Chapel, gave a most touching address.

The Vicar recalled how, a little over a year since, at Ranmoor, when the Bishop of Sheffield (who would have been present then but for a previous engagement) had just concluded a presentation on behalf of the Sheffield District Society to 'him who is in all our thoughts'—he—usually so ready of speech—in replying—found his heart too full for words. 'And that,' added the Vicar, 'is how I find myself now.'

A telling reference to Mr. Thomas's great abilities—a man endowed with a wonderful memory, a mathematical mind which, given the opportunity, might have carried him far in this life, great will power and tenacity, and a power of drawing men to him, he was with it all a religious man. As a boy he had sung in the choir of his native church at Wath, and often had the Vicar, in the pulpit at Ranmoor, heard from the ringers' seat close by, his strong voice joining in the singing. After a feeling reference to his last illness, the preacher urged his hearers to rise above all the sadness and sorrow of the present; not for a moment to wish him back from the glories that are his, but to remember him as he was—strong and capable, and to think of him when ringing forth their changes; as he is, in Paradise, their silent listener.

The coffin was borne from the chapel to the graveside by six of his ringing friends—Messrs. J. E. Lewis Cockey (Dore), Charles Haynes (Ranmoor), Robert Harrison (St. Maries), William Biggin (Norton), and Leonard Charlesworth and John Thorpe (Cathedral).

After the committal and Benediction, the Vicar asked those present to join in Mr. Thomas's favourite hymn, 'Jesus, Lover of my soul'; and this was followed by a well-struck plain course of Grandsire Caters by Messrs. John Thorpe 1–2, George Lewis 3–4, Robert Harrison 5–6, Arthur Knights 7–8, and William Bugar 9–10.

There were a number of beautiful wreaths, including one from the officers and members of the Sheffield District Society; St. John's, Ranmoor; St. Andrew's, Derby; and the Landsdown Sick Society.

Amongst those present were: Yorkshire Association: Messrs. Frank Willey (vice-president), J. Cotterill and Hardcastle (Bradford), and Colin Harrison (Sheffield). Sheffield District Society: Messrs. George Lewis (president) and Fred Watkinson (late president), Messrs. Arthur Knights, John Holman, John Flint and George Hawksworth (vice-presidents), Mr. Thos. Wm. Chown (secretary), Mr. J. E. Lewis Cockey (treasurer), and Mr. Charles Haynes (trustee). All the Sheffield towers were fully represented, among those from the Cathedral being Messrs. S. Palmer, A. Craven, J. Thorpe and W. Bugar. From Ranmoor: W. S. Plant and J. Osguthorpe. From Rotherham: Colin Ryder. Norton: W. Biggin and T. Lee. Eckington: P. Jervis, etc.

Apologies for absence were received from the Rev. A. T. Beeston (New Mills), Messrs. H. Haigh (Worksop), A. C. Wright (Darley Dale), A. Ward (Derby), F. Hill (Butterley), J. Paget (Derby), C. D. Potter (Barnsley), J. Rew, and many others.

During the evening the bells of most of the churches in the district were rung half-muffled, and at Ranmoor, a representative band, consisting of Messrs. John Holman (Cathedral) treble, George Hawksworth (Doncaster) 2, George Lewis (conductor, Ecclesfield) 3, Robert Harrison (St. Maries) 4, J. A. Lewis Cockey (Dore) 5, Chas. Haynes (Ranmoor) 6, William Biggin (Norton) 7, and Walter Allwood (Chesterfield) tenor, attempted a peal of Bob Major, which, after two attempts and a total of over three hours' ringing, came to grief owing to the 7th rope slipping the wheel.

And so we leave him—for the present; hardly yet able to realise that he is gone—all that is mortal of him, on the lonely, bleak and wind-swept slopes of Intake, far away from the bells he loved so much. The man himself—still rugged, masterful, humorous, kindly, godfearing—the silent listener—

'Not spilt like water on the ground,
Not wrapt in dreamless sleep profound,
Not left to lie like fallen tree,
Not dead—but living unto Thee.'

FALSE PEALS IN KENT.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I regret that, owing to pressure of business, it has been utterly impossible for me ere this, to reply to the three letters directed at me in your issue of the 27th ultimo.

The correspondence on the Wye question has nothing whatever to do with any other method than Grandsire Triples, therefore the remarks from the 'Member of the Ashford District' alluding to other methods, are entirely out of order. However, I do not propose to place his somewhat sarcastic, and, I am afraid, spiteful sentences aside without answer. I am perfectly aware of what has been done, and what is being done, in the Ashford district; but I would point out to him that I have been and am participating in a method (not a plain one or Treble Bob or Stedman), and things are progressing very favourably. This shows I do not devote my sole attention to Grandsire Triples, but, together with others, am advancing to higher methods, while at the same time not overlooking those who must of necessity ring a peal of Grandsire Triples for their first peal.

As Mr. Parkes has not, to my knowledge, conducted a peal of Grandsire Triples, does it not show that he is out to conduct higher methods and ignore those ringers needing a peal of Grandsire as their first peal? I am, therefore, still of the opinion that he had no pity (as expressed in his letter to the 'Ringing World') with the first pealers at Wye, but probably rejoiced so that he could strike the peal off his own peal list. It seems that the 'Member of the Ashford District' and Mr. Powell have the same ideas as Mr. Parkes on the subject of ringing, but I prefer to stick to the Kent Association recommendation, viz.: 'To cultivate and encourage the good old English art of change ringing,' which means not only cultivate in higher methods, but also attend to the requirements of those who need a leg up in the lowly methods. Under the circumstances I have done my duty in accordance with the primary object of my association, and the man who hides his name, or anyone else, cannot truthfully deny this statement.

I have carefully perused Mr. Powell's letter. The last paragraph of Mr. Powell's letter, whomever it concerns, has nothing to do with the subject of this correspondence. I can truthfully say that I have never objected to him conducting, and as regards setting a bell, I am not given to that course, unless it is a case of necessity.

I have read Mr. Cullum's letter with interest, and note his reference to his son. Mr. Cullum, junr., however, replied to my first letter when he could have accepted my apology. Mr. Cullum, senr., refers to Mr. E. Barnett, senr. The ideas of Mr. Barnett appear to be identical with mine. Mr. Barnett believes in high and low methods, advancing and assisting beginners as well, which is precisely the campaign I pursue. I quite agree with Mr. Cullum respecting the accomplishments of Mr. Barnett in the matter of first pealmen, and as regards myself and Grandsire Triples, I have always done and am at the present day, doing my utmost for ringers in this direction.—Yours truly,

GEORGE BILLENNESS.

'FIFTY-EIGHT NOT OUT.'

(Contributed.)

Yes, it's a tidy record for one to make; there may be others to beat it, but you don't meet them every day. No, I don't mean cricket. I mean 'years,' as a bell ringer in one tower. This is Mr. James Moss's record at Exeter Cathedral, where he joined on June 27th, 1866, ringing rounds and changes that required bandstands for the ringers' guidance. To mark the completion of his 58 years' service his colleagues of the above tower on Saturday, June 28th, presented him with a gold bell pendant, with an address recording the fact, as a slight appreciation of his ability as a good ringer for such a long period. His record has been over 70 peals of 5,040 changes, and considering he is down West, where peal ringing is a luxury, and even at that must not be indulged in too often, speaks well for him and his keenness in half-pull ringing, because it takes something to convert a round prize ringer into a good scientific change ringer, but Mr. J. Moss is one of the best.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION. NORTHERN DIVISION.

The annual meeting of the Northern Division of the Yorkshire Association was held at Scarborough on Saturday, June 21st. By kind permission of the Rev. J. W. Capron, Vicar of Scarborough, the bells of St. Mary's Church, a beautiful peal of eight, were available for ringing throughout the afternoon and evening. From the point of view of numbers, the meeting was not a great success, the chief towers represented being Selby, Beverley, Holbeck, Saltburn and Pickering. It is principally owing to the large and scattered area covered by this division of the association that these meetings are so irregularly attended, and it is hoped in the near future to form some plans to enable the work of the association to be more effective in this district.

A short service was held, and the Rev. G. Davies, in the absence of the Vicar, addressed the ringers. A business meeting followed tea, and whilst regretting the absence of the vice-president (the Rev. E. Drage, Vicar of Pickering), the ringers greatly appreciated the readiness with which the Rev. G. Davies took the chair.

According to the rules of the association, the vice-president retired from office this year, and the ringers present had great pleasure in unanimously re-electing the Rev. E. Drage to be vice-president for the ensuing three years.

The following committee were also elected: Mr. Addison, of Thoruaby; Mr. Stott, of Thirsk; and Mr. Sinclair, of Thornaby. Mr. Addison was also re-elected to represent the Northern Division on the general committee.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Pickering on Saturday, October 4th. The date has been put a fortnight earlier, as it was thought this might make it possible for more ringers to attend. Further particulars of the meeting will be announced later, but the secretary would ask ringers to make a special note of this date, and to make a special effort to attend.

The meeting concluded with a vote of thanks to the Vicar of Scarborough for the use of the bells, to the Rev. G. Davies for his kindness in conducting the service and presiding at the meeting, and to the local ringers for the effective arrangements made for the visiting ringers.

ROCHESTER SURPRISE.

Dear Sir,—I heartily congratulate the Leiston band on ringing the new Rochester Surprise. I have been trying to get a band to ring this method for quite a long time, and would have called it Bradford Surprise. It was given to me on August 18th, 1923, by A. Craven.
—Yours,
JNO. PLINT.

THE COUNCIL'S RULES.

In this issue appears the concluding portion of the report of the long day's business of the Central Council, and it will be seen that among the variety of subjects which came up at the end of the meeting were one or two which emphasised the point we made some weeks ago, that the Council's Rules, and with them the Definitions which they have from time to time laid down, required overhauling in the light of modern experience and practice. That this view impressed itself upon the Standing Committee was shown by the fact that, towards the close of the proceedings, the President said the Committee recognised that alterations were necessary, and asked the Council to give instructions for this revision to be carried out.

In this connection one of the matters which revealed itself was that, in dealing with the performances for the year, the Peals Analysis Committee had ignored the Council's definitions of a peal and included everything which was claimed under that heading. Not that the Analysis was any more or less valuable for that, and, if they considered the matter very closely, the Committee probably found themselves somewhat in a quandary. Strictly to interpret the definitions of what constitutes a peal would have ruled out all spliced peals of Major, although there is nothing to prevent the inclusion of spliced peals of Minor. Inasmuch as the spliced Major peals are rung without a repetition of changes, it would be ridiculous to exclude the Major and admit the Minor, because the present obsolete definition says that a peal on seven bells and upwards shall consist of five thousand changes 'in any one method.'

On the other hand, the admission to the Analyses of performances made up of fourteen separate 360's of Minor is to countenance as peals, something which the Council, some years ago, set itself out to discourage. We do not suggest that the Committee are exactly blameworthy, but we think where the Council have passed a resolution designed to raise the standard of peal ringing, their Committees should do nothing which is likely to have an opposite effect. Bands who are capable of ringing a multiplicity of Minor methods ought to have no difficulty in mastering the method of ringing 'spliced' extents, and while we admire the ability of men who can put fourteen different methods into one five thousand, yet these performances are not to be compared in value as 'peals' with those in which a similar number of methods are rung in seven true 720's. We hope that the last peals of Minor have been rung in which any row occurs more than seven

The following peals were rung during a week's holiday in Kent, and through the medium of 'The Ringing World,' Messrs. L. C. Wightman and G. H. Cross desire to thank the various clergy for the use of the bells; also the steeplekeepers, etc., for having everything in readiness. They also thank C.-S.-M. James Bennett, R.M., for making the necessary arrangements, and making the holiday such a success. Their best thanks are also due to the many ringers who took part in the ringing, especially to Messrs. J. H. Cheesman and Herbert Audsley, for their many kindnesses.

SWANSEA & BRECON DIOCESAN GUILD.PROPOSED COMPETITION.

The first annual meeting of the recently formed Guild for the Diocese of Swansea and Brecon was held at Brecon on Saturday, July 5th, the towers of St. Mary's, Brecon (eight bells), Llanfagan (eight bells) and Talgarth (six bells) being open for ringing. The following towers were represented: Brecon, Llanelli, Talgarth, Sketty, Gorseinon, Builth Wells, Llangatlock, Swansea and Glasbury. A short service was held in the Cathedral at 3 p.m., when the Lord Bishop gave an excellent address. The Master of the Guild (the Rev. T. R. J. Jones) intoned the service, and the Sub-Dean (Canon E. A. T. Roberts) read the lesson. The company afterwards adjourned to Ely Tower (the Lord Bishop's residence), where a splendid tea had been prepared.

The business meeting followed, the Lord Bishop presiding.

The rules of the Guild, which were drawn up by the Guild's Committee, were read and adopted. The Bishop was re-elected as president, and the vice-presidents were also re-elected, with the addition of the Rev. R. M. Cole-Hamilton, Llangatlock.

The Master desired to be relieved of his duties owing to pressure of other work, and Mr. S. T. Rackham, Llanelli, was elected in his stead. The hon. secretary (Mr. W. R. Howells) and the hon. treasurer (Mr. Charles Powell) were re-elected, and the committee elected were Messrs. W. T. Hargest (Brecon), W. H. Bicknell (Builth Wells), C. Powell (Llangatlock), W. D. Griffiths (Talgarth), C. Morse (Sketty), D. J. Williams (Gorseinon), J. P. Hyett (Glasbury), E. Stith (Port Talbot), Rev. T. R. J. Jones (Brecon), and J. Hammond (Neath).—The Hon. Treasurer presented the accounts, showing a small balance in hand, and this was considered satisfactory.

It was resolved that the next annual meeting be held at Sketty.

Mr. J. Hammond (Neath) was elected a district instructor for the southern end of the Diocese, he being responsible for arranging quarterly meetings for that district, and the hon. secretary was asked to arrange quarterly meetings for the northern districts.

In future advertisements of all meetings are to be inserted in 'The Ringing World,' the Hon. Secretary remarking that this had not been possible in the past owing to the large amount of money having to be spent in printing and postage to enable the Guild to be placed on a proper footing.

Mr. J. P. Hyett was admitted a life member.

As soon as the committee has procured a shield it was resolved that a competition be established to encourage and improve the standard of ringing in the Guild.

Mr. D. J. Lewis (Cadoxton) proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Lord Bishop for entertaining the company to tea.—This was carried.

The success which attended the meeting speaks well for the future of the Guild. During the day the methods rung were Stedman, Grandsire, Kent, Double Norwich, and Plain Bob.

THE NORFOLK TOUR

Many of the churches about East Anglia are very much alike—built of flint stone walling, with stone dressings, bands, and reinforcements, and consisting of chancel, nave and lofty battlemented tower, in one straight alignment, two aisles and a south porch. The ringing room is usually on the ground floor (approached through the porch) with a large arch opening to the nave. At Salle, Bungay, Elham, Marsham, Aylsham and Coslany, a ringers' gallery has been added (probably when the bells were increased) without detriment to the architecture of the interior of the church.

Several of the peals we rang upon, possessed one or two 14th and 15th century bells. If the Society of Antiquarians wish to live up to their reputation a good work could be done by preserving these old bells as examples of the English bell founders' art. A few years hence the Canon Simpson fiend will come along, and these fine old instruments of national importance will disappear in the melting-pot. Antiquarians spend days poring over a crumbling stone, yet there are valuable castings in use for centuries (and still intact) frequently broken up through the persuasive musical eloquence of the modern bell founders.

Readers will be telling me to get on with the tour, so I will resume. Thursday was a heavy day, and the heat rather trying, with two good tenors to tackle. However, we completed two good performances. Elham (which has an history older than Norwich) and Wymondham—locally pronounced Windham. The mid-day meal was served at the King's Head, a name bestowed on many of the inns of the county. Brother Shade asked leave to stand out of the latter peal, but he came up the long stairs to the belfry, and wistfully looked round the room like a grand old veteran, only awaiting the signal. Supper was decided upon (after 7 hours' fasting) before leaving the town, and by the aid of local hands procured, and enjoyed so much, that the last train to Norwich almost went without the party.

Seeing a train coming into the station everybody rushed for it, and got in, excepting the Slough coach—it proved to be the 10 o'clock London mail, late. I thought about a bed in the town, when another train, true to scheduled time, came along, and I reached headquarters at Norwich as soon as the others, the Great George having reported himself during the evening, after having been absent since the Yarmouth peal. The campanile of Wymondham may be classed as one of the three most important ones in the county. It is very high and massive, with a large ringing room, well appointed, and a heavy ring of eight that go well—some of Day's best work—and two men of Kent have turned the tenor (25½ cwt.) into Major, viz., Messrs. Daynes and Bennett.

Change of venue led to a change of conveyance, so to Loddon we went by motor-car, a pretty 10-mile round of table-land. The church is a beautiful 14th century building in Perpendicular style of architecture, with several interesting features—an early iron-bound alms box, an ancient font, and the lock on the porch door 1710, and a painting of the founder of the church and his wife (original) mounted on the south aisle wall. As soon as the peal was over the return bus was due for Trowse Station, where we booked by rail for Dereham, a large market town, where the square was filled with stalls and people. The proprietor of Ashwell's Restaurant was instructed to buy up one of the stalls of dried haddock, and he soon had a combined lunch and tea ready by 5 p.m.

Stedman lasted nearly 2½ hours at the parish church, when the men and the bells got out. These bells are a good old heavy octave—many of them striking falsely—and in need of overhauling by a bell hanger, and this attempt proved to be the most strenuous effort—without reward—during the week. There are several old peal boards of large proportions, one recording Major in 1750.

The church is cruciform in plan, the central tower not safe enough to allow peal ringing, so the authorities wisely decided about a century ago to erect a separate tower—and put the heavy bells in it. The pathway to the church separates the new tower from it, and a very massive structure it is, of similar proportions to Beccles. The position of the tower in relation to the church is the same as at Chichester, Ledbury and Beccles, quite a coincidence since no regulation has been laid down in the distant past for determining the site.

At Marsham we were received by the Vicar—formerly of Maidstone—and saw the name of William Eversfield (of Gravesend) on an old peal board in the belfry, so that the Kent men were at once at home, but the Kent Treble Bob Major of 2 hrs. 50 mins. run failed to come 'home,' and the band felt more disappointment at this loss than either of the others. This parish was the birthplace of Thomas Greenwood, who progressed from an old six-bell country team till 1842, when two trebles were added. A huge tablet records several good performances, showing rapid progress in eight-bell work, including 10,080 Oxford Treble Bob Major in 1844, composed by Eversfield, and conducted by Greenwood. A daughter of Greenwood, who was a good handbell ringer, died rather more than a year ago (over 90 years of age), and she gave the photograph of her father—taken about the time he called the long peal—to Mr. Moy.

Greenwood was a few years older than C. Middleton, who was also a native of Marsham, and the two, in their young days, worked on a farm at 7s. 6d. per week. Tradition says that they frequently figured on the back of a shovel with a piece of chalk, in the dinner-hour, and all their labour was quickly wiped out when the manure carts came to be filled.

Greenwood on one occasion walked to London and back, with only a few shillings in his pocket. Seeing a wedding crowd at one of the big churches in the city he went to look in, and found his way up to the belfry. The local 'serouffe' were short-handed, and he was asked if he could ring, and did so, receiving ten shillings for his share—the easiest money I ever earned—as he often said afterwards. He subscribed 1s. per week out of his scanty wages to help to purchase a set of handbells (12), which was effected in 1833; they had much to do with the progress of the band in the next ten years, the bells being somewhere in the district to-day.

John Warne, Esq., of Bulwick Hall, was churchwarden of Aylsham for some years, and a practical ringer, taking part in several 5,000's with the Marsham and Aylsham ringers, and one with Thurston. He gave employment on his estate for a while to Greenwood and Middleton, and he appears to have been a gentleman of means, who possessed a love for English bell ringing, and endeavoured to uphold it in the same generous manner, as did Squire Proctor, of Bennington, and Squire Powell, of Quex Park.

The ringers of Aylsham have used but one house—the Cross Keys—for the past hundred years, so we accordingly patronised it when we visited the town, and had a cold lunch prepared by the man in advance. At the church we were met by the Vicar, and Mr. Moy and Mr. Coleman, the hon. secretary of the Norfolk Guild, and we found a musical light running peal of bells, with a well-ordered, roomy belfry. Our 15th attempt was rattled off in good peal-tapping style, and we left rather hurriedly to catch the last train home at 3 p.m. Arriving at Norwich safely, we were just in time to again enjoy one of those suppers of fresh Yarmouth fish, cooked to a nicety at a cosy place discovered by our naval 'searchlight.'

Seated in a comfortable room at our hotel, for the last time, we were able to spend a couple of hours in quiet conversation concerning what we had done, and I discovered that most of it related to what had not been done, but many little kindnesses that had helped to make the tour an enjoyable one were recalled, such as the hard work of Mr. Cross, and the kind co-operation of Mr. Coleman and the various clergymen; the good wishes of Mr. Nevard 'to ring the lot,' with a Treasury note to drink his health; the thanks of the company to the conductor for his patience with errors, and on one occasion a real brotherly lecture followed by congratulations to the organiser on his promotion to the rank of Company Sergt.-Major. The peal barometer was still rising (like the thermometer), the latest readings, approximately, in the shade—1,282 by Isaac, of Greenwich, and 792 by Rugby George. What would Samuel Lawrence, of Shifnal, or James Barham, of Leeds, if they were alive to-day, say to men like Pye or Williams with over 1,000 up?

The longest day, like the longest lane, has an ending; the break-up of our touring party began at midnight, and ended at Liverpool Street at noon on Sunday—after a 6 a.m. breakfast and nearly five hours in one of the East Coast Sunday expresses to London, that made one long to get home and tell mother all about it.

BATH & WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.THE ANNUAL MEETING.

There was a large gathering of ringers at Taunton on July 5th, when the annual meeting of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association was held. Representatives were present from Taunton St. Mary's, St. James's, Wilton, Bishop's Hull, North Curry, Stogumber, Milverton, Chipstable, Worle, Bridgwater, Burnham, West Pennard, Ilminster, Chew Magna, Midsomer Norton, Yeovil, Street, Minehead, Drayton, St. Saviour's, Bath, Weston (Bath), Bristol, Grenton and Newport (Mon.). Following the meeting, tea was partaken of in the Schoolroom, and the annual service was then held in the Parish Church, at which an earnest address was given by the Rev. S. W. Payne, curate of St. Mary's.

The business meeting was held in the St. Mary's Churchroom, Mr. D. G. Taylor, of Ilminster, being elected to the chair, in the unavoidable absence of the Master, the Rev. C. G. Parker, of Corston Rectory, Bristol.

MEMBERSHIP INCREASED: FINANCES SOUND.

The Chairman read the Master's report for the year ending June 1st, which stated that he (the Master) was glad to be able to say that the condition of the Association was satisfactory. 'The membership has increased, and there are more than an hundred additional performing members, and financially, as the balance sheet shows, we are in a sound position. At the meeting of the committee it was decided by a majority not to alter the present rule as to the amount and disposal of funds for local expenses. While sympathising with those branches who find the amount allowed hardly sufficient, it is, perhaps, a wise decision not to alter a rule of this kind at the present time, when we are just succeeding in putting the finances of the Association on a satisfactory basis. I am sure the other decision of the committee, to provide every member with a copy of the annual report, will be accepted with general approval. I should like here to refer to what I said last year, and to again suggest that the report should also be sent either to the incumbent, or the Church Council, or a churchwarden where the tower is affiliated to the Association. I do this because the affiliation fees are by no means what they ought to be, and there must be many parishes who fail to pay them. I am glad that I was able to attend the meeting of the Central Council in London. You will see that the points which your representatives were asked to support were both carried: (1) A committee was appointed for reviewing the present system of naming methods; (2) Mr. Hunt's resolution for clearer instruction in showing how bobs are made in various Minor methods published in "Legitimate Methods," and which he brought forward very forcibly, was also agreed to. It was further resolved to send a letter to the authorities of every Diocese suggesting that where there is an Advisory Committee for dealing with the granting of faculties, one of its members should be an expert on bells and change ringing, etc. I should hope that such members would be chosen from the association connected with the Diocese. I notice that there are not so many peals this year as last, but there is a slight increase in the number of methods. Special mention must be made of the Cambridge Surprise Minor, rung at Wilton on January 20th, 1923. It was the first peal of Surprise by all except the conductor, Mr. Hunt, and all were local men: they deserve hearty congratulation.'

The number of towers is 139. Members—Hon. members, 100; performing members, 1,196; non-resident members, 11; life members, 161; unattached, 43—total, 1,511. Twenty-six peals were rung, as follows: Stedman Cinques, 1; Stedman Caters, 1; Stedman Triples, 3; Kent Treble Bob Major, 1; Bob Major, 2; Grandsire Triples, 5; Cambridge Surprise Minor, 1; Minor in two methods, 2; Bob Minor, 4; Doubles in three methods, 2; Grandsire Doubles, 4; making a total of 26.

The Master expressed the hope 'that our Association will maintain and strengthen the firm position which it holds at the present time, and continue to be in the future, as in the past, a useful servant of the church in this diocese.'

The Chairman said he considered the report very satisfactory, and the distributing of the annual reports to all the members was a step in the right direction. It would certainly add to the expenditure, but time warranted this being done. They should get back to the old ways.

Mr. Cave, of Bristol, endorsed the Chairman's remarks.

OFFICERS REAPPOINTED.

The treasurer (Mr. E. E. Burgess) then presented his report, which showed a balance in hand of £124 19s. 3d. The receipts, which included hon. members' subscription £2 15s., affiliation fees £8 14s., and local secretaries' balances £45 5s. 9d., amounted to £165 16s. 5d., and expenditure £40 17s. 2d., including printing, stationery, reports, etc., £20 17s. 8d., and costs of meetings £64s. 4d.

The local secretaries' account, also presented by Mr. Burgess, showed a balance in hand of £55 9s. 9d., the receipts totalling £74 4s. 6d., and the expenditure £18 14s. 9d.

The Chairman commented on the increase in the balance on last year, despite the fact that reports were a necessary item, and that they had to be distributed to the whole Association.

On the motion of the Chairman, seconded by Mr. Hunt, ten guineas was granted as an honorarium to the secretary.

The vice-presidents—the Ven. the Archdeacon of Wells, the Ven. the Archdeacon of Bath, the Ven. the Archdeacon of Taunton, the Rev. Preb. S. A. Boyd, Bath, and the Rev. J. E. W. Honnywill, Leigh-on-Mendip—were re-elected, and the Rev. Preb. C. E. L. Corfield was added to the list.

The Chairman, in proposing the re-election of the Rev. C. O. Parker as Master, said now that they had a good man at the head of affairs they were loath to let him go.—Mr. Burge seconded, and Mr. J. Maddock said that when the Master retired it would be as well if they appointed a ringing master instead of a clergyman. What they really wanted was a clergyman-ringing master.—The re-appointment of the Master was carried with acclamation.

Mr. Burgess was re-elected secretary and treasurer, and in replying, said he had occupied the position for 19 years, and he thought perhaps it would be advisable to introduce some fresh and younger member. He, however, agreed to accept the position.

Mr. D. G. Taylor was reappointed auditor, and thanked for his valuable services.

It was decided that the quarterly meetings should be held at Chewton Mendip in September, Keynsham in December, and Milborne Port in April.

Mr. J. Hunt, of Taunton, a representative upon the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers, commented briefly on the Central Council meeting which was held in London recently, and was thanked for his remarks.

NO PEAL BOARD.

Mr. J. Burge put forward a suggestion by Mr. A. Walker, of St. Martin's, Birmingham, who was unavoidably prevented from being present that afternoon, that a peal board be erected in St. Mary's bell chamber to commemorate the first peal of Stedman Cinques which was rung in the diocese.

Mr. Dyke said he was not in favour of the association spending money for this suggestion; this peal was rung by a band of ringers, not one of whom resided in the diocese. Had it been rung by ringers in the diocese he would have certainly supported the suggestion, but he did not think they were doing the right thing in spending money for people to ring peals from outside the diocese.

Mr. Coles said he considered this was not a matter for the association to spend money on. First peals had been rung on many occasions at various places, but never before had the association been asked to pay for a peal board.

One of the members of the Gloucester and Bristol Association referred to in the discussion, who was present, said they were very pleased to come to Taunton, and they were greatly indebted for the use of the tower.—Mr. J. Maddock said those ringers who generally rang first peals did not want peal boards erected for them; he thought they were very pleased at being able to ring a first peal.—Mr. Burge accordingly withdrew his suggestion, and the matter ended.

The Chairman voiced the thanks of the meeting to the Vicars of St. Mary's, St. James' and St. George's, Wilton, for kindly placing the towers of the respective churches at the disposal of the change ringers that day, and to the Vicar of St. Mary's for the use of the church for the service.

The meeting concluded with a vote of thanks to the Chairman for presiding, on the motion of Mr. Hunt.

EXMINSTER BELLS RESTORED.

The bells of Exminster, Devon, have been retuned and rehung by Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, and on July 5th were rededicated by the Rural Dean, the Rev. B. C. Bennett. The work has cost about £400, and all but a sum of £40 has been raised. The bells are a peal of six, dating from 1758, and now form a delightful ring. At the dedication service the bells were opened by the local ringers: Messrs. Manley, J. Way, J. Edwards, F. Counter, E. Holman and S. Burridge. Afterwards the bells were rung by hands from neighbouring towers, who were loud in their praise of the work done by the bell hangers. The Devon Guild of Ringers was represented by Messrs. W. J. Southwood (hon. secretary of the Exeter Branch), Glass (Heavitree) and Gardner (St. David's).

W. H. SMITH & SON'S EMPLOYEES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I wonder if there are a sufficient number of change ringers in the employ of Messrs. W. H. Smith and Sons to make up a band for a peal? I will be pleased to hear from any with a view to fixing one up in London on the occasion of a certain event.—Yours truly,

H. FERGUSON.

AN EARLY PEAL COMMEMORATED.TABLET UNVEILED AT GRANTHAM.

A tablet has been erected at Grantham Parish Church to commemorate the peal rung there in 1775 by the Sherwood Youths, shortly after the ring had been augmented from eight to ten.

The tablet reads as follows:—

'On Tuesday, September 19th, 1775, was rung in this steeple the first peal on the ten bells, being 5,130 changes of Grandsire Caters. It was accomplished by members of the Society of Sherwood Youths from Nottingham and Newark, viz.: J. Smith, treble; Rd. Norton, second; Rd. Peat, third; Jas. Wilkinson, fourth; Jn. Mason, fifth; Robt. Metherringham, sixth; John Fettiplace, seventh; Francis Draper, eighth; Wm. Doubleday Crofts and Wm. Bradley, ninth; Jas. Coppock, Samuel Stevenson, and Thomas Gray, tenor. Time, 3 hrs. 40 mins. The "bobs" were called by Wm. D. Crofts. "Labor omnia vincit." The Rev. Rd. Easton being Vicar of the parish.'

At a joint meeting of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild and the Midland Counties Association (Nottingham district), the tablet was unveiled on Saturday, June 28th, by Mr. Albert Coppock, the vice-president of the Midland Counties Association, and there were present the Vicar of Grantham (the Rev. Canon B. Hancock), Mr. F. Blood, hon. secretary of the Midland Counties Association; Mr. W. E. White and W. A. James, members of the committee; the Rev. C. J. Sturton, Rector of Orton; Miss Ida Thompson, of St. Mary's, Nottingham; and ringers from Ilkeston, Bulwell, Cotgrave, Bottesford, Worksop, Beeston, Hough-on-the-Hill, St. Peter at Arches, Lincoln: St. Peter at Gout's, Lincoln, and Grantham.

In an address Mr. Coppock referred to the work of Mr. Wm. D. Crofts, a Nottingham solicitor, who conducted that first peal nearly 150 years ago. He said Crofts was a pioneer in bell ringing, and lived in a time when there were no books on the subject to consult. The work he did was mainly constructive, and the manuscripts he had left behind were really wonderful. He rang about 30 peals, 23 or 24 of which he conducted himself, and evidently was the star of the Nottingham team. It was fitting that they should pay tribute to the memory of Crofts, who in bell ringing did wonders. There was one name on the tablet that gave him pleasure to see, and that was that of James Coppock, his great grandfather.

In proposing a vote of thanks to the Grantham bell ringers, Mr. F. Blood said their idea was to keep green the memory of that remarkable man, William D. Crofts.

Prior to the unveiling ceremony, a touch of Grandsire Caters was rung, and after tea touches in various methods were brought round.

PEAL BOARD DEDICATED AT BRENTWOOD.

An enjoyable time was experienced at Brentwood by the ringers who met there on Saturday, July 5th, on the occasion of the dedication of a peal board recording the first peal rung by the Sunday Service ringers attached to that church. Representatives attended from Barking, Bentley, Chelmsford, Harlow Common, Ingatestone, Leyton, Leytonstone, Prittlewell, Romford, Waltham and Writtle, while apologies were received from Messrs. C. H. Howard and A. Prior (Master and District Master of the Essex Association), W. Theobald, G. R. Pye, and others. Touches were rung in Grandsire, Stedman, Bob Major, Kent, Double Norwich and Superlative. After a substantial tea had been enjoyed, with touches on the handbells, the service was held in the church, which was tastefully decorated for its patronal festival. The Vicar (the Rev. E. Lee) officiated, while the Rev. S. E. Collins, F.R.C.O., presided at the organ.

After the office of the association, the Vicar dedicated the peal board at the altar, and afterwards committed it to the custody of the ringers to be placed in the tower as a record of what had been done, and as an incentive to further progress. He gave an impressive address, emphasising that the work of all church officials was equally important, and the necessity of our lives being in accordance, so that while proclaiming the message of the church to the outside world they also recognised the duties and opportunities of being active church workers.

At the conclusion of the service, a move was again made to the tower, where the ringers who took part in the peal, rang a short touch. Ringing continued till about 8.30. The visitors commented on the fine tone of the tenor, which has been greatly enhanced by the adoption of Messrs. Mears and Stainbank's rubber buffers.

A REVIVAL IN CAMBRIDGE.

Twelve bell practice in Cambridge is being revived, and on Monday, June 30th, at Great St. Mary's Church, two plain courses of Grandsire Cinques and a course of Bob Royal were rung by Y. Green, H. Hayzell, E. G. Hibbins, A. Chenery, W. Ibbett, W. Smith, J. Taylor, T. Dennis, J. Newington, G. Rivers, W. Welch and P. Taylor.

This is the first twelve bell practice in Cambridge for a considerable number of years, and these two courses were rung at the first attempt. The ringers, with the exception of G. Rivers, were all residents in Cambridge.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Mr. A. H. Keighley, of 18, Merrick Square, London, S.E.1, was elected hon. general secretary of the London County Association at the meeting held on Monday of last week, Mr. J. Bullock having resigned.

In view of the discussion which has arisen in the Oxford Guild in the past with regard to the venue of the annual meeting, it is interesting to note from the agenda for next week's meeting, that the committee have discussed the meeting-place for 1925, and upon a division Oxford received 13 votes, Reading 11 and Slough 2. Since that meeting, circumstances have caused the transfer of this year's festival from Oxford to Reading.

One of the proposals to be brought before the meeting is that in future the general secretary be a paid officer at a salary of £20 per annum. This is recommended by the general committee.

The opening peal on the twelve bells at St. Chad's Shrewsbury, was rung on July 18th, 1798. This was a peal of Grandsire Cinques by the Ancient Society of College Youths, and was called by Thomas Blakemore. The renowned Samuel Lawrence rang the eleventh.

The first peal rung by a band of ladies was accomplished on July 20th, 1912, at Christ Church, Cubitt Town.

Next Monday is the first anniversary of the 17,280 Kent Treble Bob Major rung in ten hours, at Over, Cheshire.

The peal at Ufford on July 5th, was not the first 'Charles' peal, after all. The first was a peal of Grandsire Triples at St. Stephen's, Bristol, rung on November 13th, 1895, by the following Charleses: Horton, Millard, Langdon, Gordon, Goodenough, Bell (conductor), Tomkins and Winstone. The Rector was Charles Joberns, and the wardens, Charles Hill and Charles Cochrane.

In the peal of London Surprise, rung at Woolwich on June 21st, the name of the ringer of the 4th was Fred Hopper.

THE PEAL AT EXETER.

GUILD'S DOUBLE CENTURY.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Please allow me to congratulate the band on the performance at Exeter, and at the same time point out a happy coincidence.

I keep an unofficial record and analysis of the peals rung by St. Martin's Guild, and when booking the two peals published in Friday's 'Ringing World,' I discovered that the Exeter peal was the 200th peal of Stedman Cinques by the Guild since its amalgamation in 1889. The first 100 was completed in 1916, having taken 28 years to ring, as compared with the second, which was accomplished in eight.

I give the list, which may be of interest:—

At St. Martin's, 116; at Wolverhampton, 3; at West Bromwich, 5; at Bristol, 1; at Exeter, 1; at Painswick, 1; at Sheffield, 1; at Shrewsbury, 1; at Southwark, 1; on handbells, 70.—Yours truly,

GEORGE F. SWANN.

AN OWNER WANTED.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—About three or four years ago a certain Mr. Groot (or some other name very similar) visited the belfry of Uxbridge. While he was there he dropped his walking stick down the clock-weight case. He was promised that, if it were recovered he should have it back. The stick has now been regained, but the owner's address has been lost. As, however, he mentioned that he was a member of the London County Association, I have been asked to endeavour to trace him. I shall be glad if you can help me, by inserting this letter.—Yours faithfully,

4, Pene Street, Chelsea, S.W.3.

C. F. MITCHELL.

WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

A very enjoyable and successful meeting of the Isle of Wight district was held at Freshwater on Saturday, July 12th, when, favoured by fine weather, a good attendance was recorded. Ringing was with some difficulty indulged in from 2.30 till 4.30, the bad going of the tenor somewhat disturbing those who tried to turn her in. At the service an interesting address was given by the Rev. H. E. E. Coombes on 'Essentials in bells, ringing and ringers: Time, tune and tone.' Afterwards a bountiful tea was partaken of in the parish hall, kindly provided by the Rector, who had the very kind assistance of his churchwardens and their wives. At the conclusion, the Rev. J. C. Orr (Whitwell) proposed the hearty thanks of those present to the Rector for his address, his hospitality, and to the ladies for their kind attendance to the ringers' wants at table.

The business meeting followed, at which two probationers and one full member were elected.

A meeting at Arreton on Saturday July 26th, was arranged, subject to the consent of the Vicar of that parish, when it is hoped to make a good start off with the proposed fund for restoring the grave of that pioneer of island ringing, William Rayner.

More ringing terminated a very enjoyable meeting indeed.

THE MINOR METHOD COLLECTION.

Mr. J. Hunt moved, 'That the Council consider the advisability of publishing instructions showing how bobs are made in various Minor methods published in "Legitimate Methods."' He pointed out that it was a great handicap to the uninitiated to have the Collection of Minor methods without any indication of how the bobs are made. A man who learned to ring a new method must know how to make the bobs, just as well as how to ring the plain leads, and in omitting the bob work from the book the committee had failed to give the ringers all the help they might have given them.

Mr. Pulling seconded, and remarked that most six bell ringers, taking up the 'Collection' to learn a new method, had no idea how to make the bob, or what to do afterwards. The bobs ought to have been shown in the first instance.

Mr. Trollope pointed out that the book was going to be revised directly. The present stock would be exhausted in about twelve months' time, and all these points would be taken into consideration in preparing a new edition.

The motion was carried, it being understood that it would be given effect to when a fresh edition was published.

CHESTER NEXT YEAR.

The President said the Standing Committee had, as usual, considered the rota of meetings. Of two different places, one was an invitation from the Hereford Diocesan Guild to meet at Hereford. They would esteem it a great honour if the Council decided to visit Hereford. The committee, however, bearing in mind the great pressure that had been exercised year after year on behalf of Chester, thought it advisable to recommend that Chester should be the place to meet next Whitsun. Although they would not fix the following year's meeting until next year, the committee thought, to make things shipshape, Ipswich would be a set-off against the more north-westerly place.

The Rev. C. D. P. Davies proposed that Chester be selected for next year. It was, he said, a most interesting place to go to.—Mr. T. H. Beams seconded, and the motion was unanimously carried.

Mr. Elwell (hon. secretary of the Chester Guild) said they were very pleased to know the Council had decided to visit Chester, and they would do the best they could to make them comfortable.

PEALS OF MINOR.

The Rev. H. Law James drew attention to the recent record of a performance of Minor, consisting of fourteen 360's. He believed the definitions of the Council at present in force laid it down that if they wanted to ring fourteen methods, they must ring seven 720's, so he did not think it should appear in the Analysis.

Mr. Trollope said the present definitions were rather obsolete.

The Rev. H. Law James gave notice that he would place a motion on the agenda for next year.

The Rev. E. W. Carpenter said peals such as that referred to were included in the Analysis, but without extra points.

THE LATE MR. J. W. WASHBROOK.

Canon Elsee said members would have seen in 'The Ringing World' a few weeks ago that attention was called to the proposal that some memorial should be put up to that great ringer whom they had lost since the last meeting of the Council—Mr. J. W. Washbrook. All the older members would remember Mr. Washbrook at one of the very earliest, if not the first, meetings of the Council, and it was in the early days of the Council that he was at the height of his fame. Then, his name was a household word among ringers. He died a few months ago in Lancashire, and was buried in one of the Manchester cemeteries. There had been some talk among Lancashire ringers of finding a place for a memorial to him in their own county. On the other hand, in the days of Mr. Washbrook's greater ringing fame, he was an Oxfordshire man, and those who knew him then would always associate him more with Oxfordshire than Lancashire. Between his residence in those two counties he was for a time in Ireland. He would like to suggest that ringers should start a scheme for placing some memorial to Mr. Washbrook in a suitable place, and, in his opinion, that should be, if possible, in Oxford itself. He believed the Oxford Diocesan Guild had approached the Dean of Christ Church, asking whether a tablet might be put in the cloisters of Christ Church Cathedral, near the one which commemorated the Rev. F. E. Robinson. If that were possible, then, speaking for Lancashire ringers, or for some of them at all events, he would like to say they would support the Oxford Guild in that memorial. Many of them would like to see some worthy memorial to one who was, in his way, the greatest ringer of their time (hear, hear), and he for one felt that the most appropriate place where such a memorial could be set, would be in Oxford itself and in the cloisters of Christ Church. He would like to move that, if the Oxford Diocesan Guild was going to issue an appeal for subscriptions to a memorial to Mr. Washbrook, other ringers throughout the country should be invited to support it as their share in the memorial.

The Rev. F. L. Edwards, as one who had early and great memories of Mr. Washbrook in his greatest days as a ringer at Oxford, supported the proposal.

The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn said the Oxford Guild were waiting for two things. First of all, the matter was coming before the annual meeting on July 26th, and then, of course, the money would have to come in from the various ringers who would like to contribute. As soon as they had settled the matter at their Guild meeting they would begin on the scheme, and he took it the best way would be to send out an invitation to contribute. If the Council carried this motion the Oxford Guild could then say that the Council commended it to other Guilds.

The following motion was thereupon carried, 'That this Council considers that steps should be taken to place a tablet to the memory of the late Mr. J. W. Washbrook in the city of Oxford, and commends this scheme to the Guilds and associations with which he was specially connected.'

METHOD SPLICING.

The President said that at the last Council meeting at Salisbury they were, owing to lack of time, rather hard on Mr. Cave, who desired to say something about spliced methods. He thought, therefore, they should now give Mr. Cave an opportunity.

Mr. Cave said the question that he had in mind was in relation to the definition of a peal on eight, ten and twelve bells, which provided that a peal on these numbers should be rung in any one method. He thought they should consider whether these four words, 'in any one method' should not be wiped out. They recognised now that splicing had come to stay, and those words ought to be deleted from the rules of the Council. He therefore gave notice that he would move this at the next meeting.

The President said that two or three things which had cropped up had shown that some of the rules required revising. The matter came before the Standing Committee, who recognised that alterations were necessary, and that the rules should be brought into proper shape in accordance with fresh resolutions. It was suggested that the Council might give instructions to the Standing Committee to revise the rules and bring them before the Council at the next meeting.

The Rev. H. Law James said that would cover the two points mentioned by himself and Mr. Cave.

Mr. Carpenter said the Analysis Committee had ignored the words mentioned by Mr. Cave, as they had had peals of mixed Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, and of other eight-bell methods while now they had that wonderful production by Mr. J. W. Parker of a peal of Superlative and Cambridge, mixed. The Analysis Committee wanted to know what they were to do.

It was understood that the Standing Committee would bring up revised rules for consideration at the next meeting.

NO CHEAP TICKETS.

Mr. J. S. Pritchett said a member of the Council wrote to him suggesting that an endeavour should be made to get cheap railway tickets for representatives coming to the Council meetings. He knew, however, that railway companies would not consider special facilities for any number less than 200, so he was not able to go any further into the matter, although it would be a grand thing if they could get return tickets at a single fare. Years ago there was a certain committee, of which their friend Mr. Cockey was head, which tried to do everything possible on behalf of ringers to secure for them the same facilities as were given to fishermen and golfers, but it was all unavailing. If that Council grew to such an extent that they could guarantee 200 members attending they might then hope to get cheap tickets.

THANKS.

The President moved a vote of thanks to the Dean for the use of the historic chamber for the meeting, and said the Council were highly honoured in being allowed to meet there.

The motion was unanimously carried, and the meeting terminated with a vote of thanks to those who had made arrangements for the entertainment of visiting members, and to the President for presiding.

Subsequently some stayed to listen to a deeply interesting sketch of the history of the ancient chamber, given by Canon Perkins, while others went up into the lofty old tower of the Abbey and enjoyed touches on the fine peal of eight bells.

Later in the evening a large company met at the Bedford Head, and enjoyed an hour or two of social intercourse, with songs, instrumental music, and handbell ringing, the performances of the members of Mr. J. D. Matthews' family being much appreciated. This part of the proceedings was presided over by Mr. E. Alex. Young, who was supported by the President of the Council and the Masters of the College Youths and Royal Cumberlands (Messrs. R. T. Hibbert and J. D. Matthews). During the evening, the tankard presented to the Rev. C. D. P. Davies was filled and passed round as a 'loving cup.' The evening was a most enjoyable one.

DEDICATION OF NEW TREBLES AT CHULMLEIGH.

BISHOP OF CREDITON AND RINGING.

An octave at last! This phrase epitomised the thoughts of the Chulmleigh Church bell ringers on Wednesday, June 18th, for the hope had long been cherished that it would one day be found possible to add the necessary two bells to the existing peal of six. This happy result has now been achieved through the generosity of leading local residents, who have given the two new bells. One of them is the gift of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Martin, of Colleton House, Chulmleigh, and the other was given by Mr. T. Sanders. The new bells were dedicated by the Lord Bishop of Crediton to the memory of men with local associations who fought or made the supreme sacrifice in the great war. The work of hanging the bells has been efficiently carried out by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon, who have produced two splendid trebles that blend remarkably well with the old peal. The public-spirited and thoughtful action of the donors of the bells is highly appreciated in the neighbourhood, and the ready response made to the appeal for subscriptions is also recognised. In this connection the highest possible praise is due to the general committee responsible for the effort, consisting of the Rev. M. W. Murray (Rector), Messrs. W. P. Martin, T. Sanders, J. Mair, J. Tripe, J. Sanders, C. Thorne, W. and T. Pennington, W. Gillis, T. H. Harrison, A. J. Stocker, L. Newton, F. Coates, and Peek, while Messrs. H. G. Jennings, and M. Paddon, in their able discharge of the joint hon. secretarial duties won universal approval. A ladies' committee, which rendered help in a variety of ways (particularly in providing much needed refreshment on the actual day for which all had been preparing), consisted of Mesdames Murray, Pennington, Partridge, Paddon, Newton, Jennings, Coates and Thorne, and the Misses Vickery and Beer.

The two new treble bells, which give the notes E flat and D respectively, and are of the respective weights of 8 cwt. 3 qr. and 7 cwt. 1 qr. 22 lb., are inscribed: 'In memory of old comrades, N. D. Hussars, who fought in the war, 1914-1918. Given by Thomas Sanders, Chulmleigh, 1924,' and 'To the Glory of God, in memory of the men of Chulmleigh who fell in the great war, 1914 to 1918. Presented by W. P. Martin and M. C. Martin, Colleton, April, 1924.' The new bells are hung in a new iron frame, with iron headstocks, etc. The original six bells date from 1718, and the weight of the tenor is 28 cwt.

The day was a memorable one in the history of Chulmleigh Church, and the consummation of the object long held in view was a matter of evident pride with the local ringers.

THE DEDICATION.

The celebration of the event began with a choral service in the parish church, attended by, in addition to the donors and other parishioners, about 100 ringers from Exeter and from surrounding parishes. The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. M. W. Murray), the Rev. M. D. Buckingham, R.D. (Vicar of Burrington), reading the lesson (1 Chronicles xvix. 9 to 14), and during the singing of the hymn, 'We love the place, O God,' the Bishop of Crediton, clergy, donors of bells, churchwardens (Messrs. J. Tripe, A. J. Stocker and R. Page), and sidesmen (Messrs. Gillis and Peek), proceeded in procession to the west end of the church below the belfry, where his Lordship pronounced the dedicatory prayer. Other hymns sung were 'When morning gilds the skies,' 'Three in One and One in Three,' and 'Holy Father, in Thy mercy.' Mr. J. Elliott presided at the organ.

In the course of his sermon, the Bishop of Crediton observed that they had met there that morning to dedicate two new treble bells added to their present beautiful peal. For a long time there had been a desire to increase their bells to eight to make the octave, for an octave was the sweeter, the truer music, and those two additional bells would make a wonderful, beautiful peal and ring in their church tower. By assembling there they showed their sympathy with what had been done in their parish church. Everywhere people showed a live interest in the church bells, for bells appealed to many hearts in so many ways. These additional bells also brought their responsibilities, for they meant that there must be more care, more real devotion to the work, and that the practice of ringing must be of a more regular order. For ringers did not ring the bells to please themselves, but in order to enter into the church life of a parish, and to remember that they should take their part equally with all the other workers for God—the choir, the Sunday School teachers, and others. They were all one body, and should unite together with a desire to do their best for the glory of God.

Following the service, touches were rung on the bells by the Chulmleigh ringers and visitors. Bands of ringers were present from Exeter, Thelbridge, West Worlington, Lapford, Chittlehampton, Zeal Monachorum, High Bickington, Chawleigh, Winkleigh and Bondleigh. The Chulmleigh ringers were Messrs. M. Paddon, W. T. and P. Pennington, H. and P. Newton, F. Coates, H. G. Jennings, and C. Thorne.

THE LUNCHEON.

A large number sat down at the luncheon, provided in a marquee in the Davy Park by the members of the Ladies' Committee. The chair was occupied by the Rector, who was accompanied by Mrs. Murray, and supported by Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Martin, Mr. T. Sanders, the Rev. M. D. Buckingham, R.D., and members of the committee, together with Messrs. E. Shepherd and W. J. Southwood (chairman and hon. secretary respectively of the Devon Guild of Ringers), who had given expert advice to the committee throughout.

After the loyal toast, 'The Donors of the New Bells' was given by the Rector.

Mr. W. Pennington, also speaking to the toast, remarked that some years ago the Bishop of Crediton spoke to him in their vestry of the high reputation held by Chulmleigh Church bells and tower, but suggested they should secure two more bells. He (the speaker) had helped to promote two efforts in this direction. To his deep and abiding satisfaction this second effort had succeeded, and they now had a peal of bells which would ever be to them a source of joy and pride (loud applause).

Mr. W. P. Martin, in reply, said it had been a great pleasure to his wife and himself, and to Mr. Sanders, to give the bells (applause). Great credit belonged to the people of Chulmleigh, and in that connection he wished to say that the ladies—as always at Chulmleigh—came to the front nobly and readily (applause). If they wanted anything done at Chulmleigh they must go to the ladies (applause). He was very pleased that they had such an excellent set of bells. He knew very little of bell ringing, but the Bishop of Crediton had been anxious they should add to their number, and he felt they had now a set of bells and of ringers equal to any similar place in the country (applause). Proceeding, he proposed the 'Health of the Bishop of Crediton,' who was much beloved in the county, and especially in North Devon. His Lordship's heart had been in the effort to secure the extra two bells, and he had done much to push it forward. They were very grateful to him for his interest (applause).

Mr. T. Sanders, also replying and associating himself with the toast, said he was a citizen of Chulmleigh, and to be a citizen of that parish in its fullest sense was to belong to no mean 'city' (applause). It gave him very great pleasure to be able to do anything for their beautiful old church, which he had known all his life, and always attended. The tower of that ancient building seemed to him to be symbolical of stability, and in these days of great changes it was nice to feel they had something that was steadfast and true. Concluding, Mr. Sanders highly eulogised the energetic efforts of those who had acted as collectors, and expressed thanks to the Bishop of Crediton for his inspiring interest in the movement (applause).

WHEN THE BISHOP LEARNED TO RING.

The Bishop of Crediton, cordially received, said it was a real joy to him to be present to witness the accomplishment of what they had for some years desired to carry out, and to see how happy and united they all were in the effort, and what good feeling and good spirit prevailed about their bells, which would contribute largely to the beauty of the music that came from their tower. He could recall, 60 years ago, that he used to visit belfries to take a little part in the ringing and learn how to ring a bell, and he remembered, when he was inducted to the living of Chittlehampton, how the ringers were afraid, when the bells were set up, that he was going to have some accident with them. But he had learned previously how to pull a bell safely, and how to ring in connection with a peal. The belfries in those days were not looked after in the same way as at the present time; they were not treated with the same reverence and care. The Bishop mentioned an instance that occurred in Buckinghamshire when the ringers rang the bells to celebrate a certain horse winning a race, and the Vicar of the parish had to speak to the ringers on the point, and went on to say that the bells were not for secular purposes, but to be rung for what was highest and best. There had lately been great improvement in the tone and ring of the bells and in the methods of ringing, which were far more beautiful than they were 60 years ago. He hoped the improvement would continue, and if Chulmleigh ringers would progress along the lines of learning to ring scientifically—that was, using their brains as well as their muscles—they would do much better and take much more interest in ringing than they could by round ringing only. Time was needed to be devoted to the preparation for such high-class ringing, but it could be done, and much improvement could be brought about in North Devon by studying change ringing. He wished the ringers of the Deanery all prosperity, and assured them that the interest he had shown in bell ringing during the past half-century was unabated (applause).

The toasts of 'The Subscribers' and 'The Ladies' having been honoured, Mr. H. G. Jennings, in felicitous terms, gave 'The Visitors,' and Mr. Johnston, of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, in reply, said he could not but wonder whether Mr. Pennington, a keen campanologist, was not descended from a famous bell founder of that name, examples of whose work were to be seen in neighbouring towers.

Mr. W. P. Martin proposed 'The Health of Messrs. Shepherd and Southwood,' the two Exeter ringers who had given them the benefit of their wide experience and judicious advice.—Mr. Shepherd, in reply, said he was very pleased with that day's match—the 'match' of the bells and their tone. It was a perfect peal. It had often been said that bells could not be matched unless they were taken out of the tower, but the experience of Chulmleigh—acting upon his advice—had, happily, been to the contrary. They had a beautiful tower, and one of the best peals in the county.

Mr. W. J. Southwood, after 50 years of ringing, spoke highly of its value as a healthy exercise. He mentioned, in connection with change ringing, that they could ring 5,040 changes on their bells with the tenor standing behind, so there was plenty of scope for mental as well as physical exercise. He also advocated ringing for ladies.

Tea was partaken of, and various amusements were provided.

HALIFAX ASSOCIATION.

A SIX BELL CONTEST.

On Saturday, July 5th, the Halifax and District Association held their annual meeting, and had a six bell contest at the village church of Crofton. It had previously been arranged that the length of changes should be 720, any method, but owing to the large entry, the length had to be shortened somewhat. A committee meeting was held in one of the rooms attached to the fine mansion of Col. Lyle, who had most generously offered the association every facility possible for their comfort and convenience. In the absence of the president, Mr. W. Idle (Batley) was voted to the chair. It was unanimously agreed that the length of each touch be 600 changes, any method.

Ringing was commenced by three o'clock, with the draw having taken place just previously. The draw was as follows: 1, Holmfirth (Oxford Treble Bob); 2, Sandal (Oxford); 3, Stainland (Kent Treble Bob); 4, Kirkburton (Oxford); 5, Thornhill (Oxford); 6, Batley (Oxford); 7, Birstall (Kent); 8, Liversedge (Oxford); 9, New Mill (Huddersfield) (Oxford).

During the afternoon a large number of the ringers took the opportunity of surveying the pretty surroundings. The church is situated on a hill. On entering, one sees a very fine memorial in the form of a lychgate to the men who passed away during the war. It is a fine piece of work which has been done solely by the men of Crofton. The whole of the woodwork from which it is built was taken out of the belfry prior to having the bells rehung.

Proceeding through the churchyard, there is a very fine monument in memory of some of the Wilson family, who reside at Crofton Hall.

An excellent tea was provided in the room of Col. Lyle, to which 100 ringers and friends sat down. Ringing was brought to a close at nearly nine o'clock.

The annual meeting was then proceeded with, Mr. W. Idle again occupying the chair. The balance sheet was adopted. — Hearly thanks were accorded the Rector of Crofton, the Rev. H. Brownrigg, who informed the meeting in reply to the vote of thanks, that he was ordained at All Souls' Church, Halifax, about 1891. He said that the ringing which had taken place during the afternoon would be an inspiration to the Crofton ringers to make a special effort to reach the high standard that the ringing had reached that day. The Rector informed the meeting that it was through the generosity of the late Lieutenant David Lyle, of the Royal Scots, that they were able to have six bells at Crofton. They had previously had three. The date of one of the bells in the tower could not be traced, but one they traced back to the days of the Stuarts.

The meeting thanked Colonel Lyle for the use of the room and grounds.

The following officers were elected: Mr. J. Hardcastle (Bradford), president; Mr. F. Salmons (Halifax), treasurer; and Mr. L. Hargreaves (Halifax), secretary.

The judges, Mr. J. Bradley (Bradford), Mr. F. Schofield (Huddersfield), with Mr. C. E. Carrington (Halifax), marker, then gave their decision as follows:—

No. 1, rung out; 2, 178 faults, 30 penalties, total 208; 3, 364, 20, 334; 4, 115, 10, 125; 5, 240, 10, 250; 6, 102, 10, 112; 7, 277, 10, 287; 8, 126, 10, 136; 9, 142, 0, 142.

Batley, No. 6, were then declared winners of the cup.

The Rector presented the cup to Mr. S. Gibson, the Batley conductor, and Mr. Gibson returned thanks.

It was the first time Stainland lads had entered the contest, and considering that they do not average more than 18 years of age they gave a very good display.

A vote of thanks to judges and chairman closed one of the best contests, and most pleasant gatherings held by the association.

WEDDING OF MR. PERCIVAL W. CAVE.

Radiant July sunshine shed its rich and golden rays upon the wedding at St. Thomas' (City) Church, Bristol, on Saturday last, of Mr. Percival William Cave, B.Sc., of Liverpool (son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Cave, of Bristol), and Miss Annie McNeil Docker, of Bristol, and it was the wish of the large congregation (which included many ringers) that the glorious sunshine may be an augury of a life of unclouded happiness.

The bridegroom and his best man, Mr. Arthur Wilkins (well known also in ringing circles) arrived early. The surprised choir awaited the coming of the bridal party at the entrance to the church. The Vicar, the Rev. M. Paterson, B.A. (one of the best of ringers' friends), officiated, and as the bride, leaning on the arm of her father, proceeded up the aisle, the hymn, 'The voice that breathed o'er Eden,' was sung. The bride looked radiantly happy in a simple, pretty bridal gown of maroon silk, and was accompanied by three bridesmaids, Miss Dorothy Cave (sister of the bridegroom), Miss Lizzie Docker (sister of the bride), and little Miss Norah Docker (niece), who wore charming frocks of apricot silk. They carried lovely bouquets, comprising roses, sweet peas and ferns. The hymn, 'Love Divine,' and the 67th Psalm were sung in the course of the service, and during the signing of the registers, the organist (Mr. H. Chambers) played Mendelssohn's Wedding March, and a band of ringers representing the different towers of Bristol rang out a merry peal, and fired the bells.

As the wedding party left the church they were showered with confetti, and, a happy coincidence, members of the Ladies' Guild, who had assembled for their annual meeting, and were setting forth for a tour in a motor coach, also joined in the fray, and gave their best wishes.

The reception was afterwards held at the bride's home, and later in the afternoon the bride and bridegroom left by steamer for Hfrcombe, where the honeymoon is to be spent. They have been the recipients of many handsome and useful presents.

His many ringing friends from far and near, join in wishing Mr. Percy Cave and his bride every happiness and prosperity.

ST. MARY ABBOT'S GUILD.
ENTERTAINED AT WIMBORNE.

An invitation from Sir James and Lady Brooks to spend a day with them at Wimborne was taken advantage of on Saturday, July 5th, when 14 of the Guild met at Waterloo, accompanied by the chaplain (the Rev. S. A. Spackman), and journeyed by the 7.30 a.m. train. At Salisbury they were joined by Mrs. Wilkins, of Bristol, and arrived at Wimborne about 11 a.m., when they were met by Sir James Brooks, who piloted them to his residence, and light refreshments were at once partaken of and much appreciated after the long journey. This over, the visitors were at liberty to roam at will—a stroll round the beautiful grounds and touches on handbells were enjoyed until dinner-time, when the Vicar of Wimborne (the Rev. A. L. Keith) joined the company. The spread was a most generous one, and Sir James and Lady Brooks must have had at least a hazy knowledge of ringers' appetites, for waistcoats needed slightly easing. After the Vicar of Wimborne had given a warm welcome, a move was made to the Minster, where there is a beautiful peal, after a ringer's own heart, and these bells were soon going to Stedman Caters and Treble Ten, in which the party were joined by the Rev. Carew Cox, who slipped over from his vicarage to have a touch with the Guild. Mr. Hart—ringer and guide—showed the visitors the wonderful library (where all the books are chained), and other items of interest. The adornments of the Minster are too numerous to mention, and to be thoroughly enjoyed and understood would require a longer stay. On returning to Sir James' residence tea was waiting, after which the Rev. Spackman thanked Sir James and Lady Brooks for their kind hospitality, and Mr. Garrard spoke in support. — Mr. Bennett also said it was indeed real and generous recognition of ringers as churchworkers in the magnificent way they had been treated that day.—Sir James Brooks, in reply, said how pleased he and Lady Brooks were to have them there as their guests. At 6.45 'time' was called, and the visitors returned to the station, accompanied by Sir James and Lady Brooks, to whom the ringers were greatly indebted for the right good time they had. Their best thanks are also due to the Vicar of Wimborne (the Rev. A. L. Keith) and Mr. Hart for their help in making the outing such a jolly one.

PAID OFFICERS.

The Oxford Diocesan Guild, at their annual meeting to-morrow, will be recommended to make a new departure in regard to the general secretary, namely, that in future he be a paid officer. If this should be carried it will be, as far as recollection serves us, the first paid appointment of its kind among the leading associations, although there are a few instances in which each year an honorarium has been voted to the secretary. There is no doubt that the secretarial work of a large association like the Oxford Guild is very considerable, and, properly carried out, involves the sacrifice of a large amount of time. Associations have not always found it easy, when a vacancy has occurred, to find a man of sufficient ability, enthusiasm and knowledge, who has the requisite leisure to give to an office of this kind, but the Oxford Guild has been fortunate in the past, and the present occupant of the post has discharged his duties not only efficiently, but with a keenness that could be copied with advantage in some other areas.

As we have indicated, however, the principle of a paid officer is a novel step in ringing affairs, and we are not sure that it will appeal to every association. The provision of a salary for the secretary would be a considerable drain on the funds of many of the poorer associations, who already have a struggle to pay their way. The financial difficulty would be an effective deterrent in these cases, but there are other instances where such a proposal would not prove acceptable on the ground that members prefer that work of this kind should be purely honorary in nature. On the other hand, there are certain advantages which are obtained when a man is paid for the work he does. Schemes for improving the organisation of a society, for instance, can be launched without that feeling of hesitation which sometimes enters when it is realised that the proposals will put extra labour upon someone who is already giving up a good deal of his own time in the interests of others.

What is really essential, if the conversion of an honorary into a paid post is to justify itself, is that the official should be adequately remunerated for the work expected of him. Unless that is done, it is better that the limited recognition should be given by way of honorarium. We do not doubt that all these points have been taken into consideration by the Oxford Guild committee, and it will be interesting to see how the general body of members view the proposal. It is such an entirely new departure in ringing affairs that its adoption, if decided upon, may, in the future, be quoted as a precedent. This is not the first occasion upon which the Oxford Guild has led the way, and, if a paid secretary is now appointed, the experiment will doubtless be watched with interest by many outside the ranks of the Guild itself.

Rung with half-muffled clappers as a tribute to the memory of the late Mr. Sam Thomas, who was interred at Intake on the Saturday week previously. He was a much valued member of the above societies; for many years was leader and conductor of the band at Ranmoor, and was for some time connected with the Cathedral company.

The composition is considered his best work. It contains the 6th the extent in 5th's place, and the 4th, 5th and 6th the extent in 8th's place, in the minimum number of courses. It was the second peal to be discovered with these qualities.

Ringers of 1st, 3rd and 6th belong to Cathedral band; 2nd, 4th and 8th to St. Marie's, R.C.; 5th and 7th to Ranmoor.

RINGERS' OUTING.

ST. ALBANS CATHEDRAL RINGERS.

On Saturday, July 12th, the St. Albans Cathedral ringers had their annual outing. The clerk of the weather considerably switched on an extra amount of sunshine, but tempered it with a nice breeze. The party included the Cathedral ringers (one unfortunately prevented from appearing by a family bereavement), and representatives from St. Peter's and St. Stephen's, together with one whose ringing address is the real artilleryman's motto, 'Ubique.'

A pleasant ride through delightful country brought the party to Knobworth (a last minute change owing to illness at Hitchin, the original first part of call). The energetic ones trudged it across the park, the lazy ones commandeered the charabanc to take them nearer the church. Arrived here, Stedman Triples and Double Norwich filled the programme on a fine peal of bells, famous in ringing history as the place of the 12,000 of Bristol Surprise Major. The journey was then continued to Bedford, where an excellent lunch was partaken of at the Silver Grill Restaurant. Hunger appeased and thirst quenched, the party rambled round this delightful town, the riverside claiming most of them. Four very energetic souls indulged in boating exercise, and left the Ouse with regrets 'to ooze' in St. Paul's bellry at 1.45. Having tested the strength of two Kodaks, the party (having been welcomed by Mr. Harlow tackled Stedman Caters and Treble Ten. The former failed to come round, and the latter would not go at all. So Bob Royal was rung. A course of Double Norwich completed the ringing on this fine peal.

At Woburn, the next stop, Messrs. Herbert were awaiting the visitors. Many were the comments passed on this fine structure, but time pressed, and the fine peal called. The splendid ringing chamber, perfect circle, etc., at once met with approval, and after a touch of Stedman, loud was the praise of this delightful ring. Superlative and Double Norwich followed, one of the visitors expressing his determination to pay another visit at an early date to enjoy—he hopes—three hours of music. A course of Grandsire Cinques on the handbells completed the ringing here. All were loath to leave this beautiful spot, but Leighton Buzzard called another pleasing ride, crossing Watling Street en route, and brought the party to the border town an hour behind scheduled time. Ten was partaken of at the 'Ewe and Lamb,' and then the church was visited, where Mr. J. Nicholls had been patiently waiting for 1½ hours. Feeling hungry and thirsty he left Mr. F. Vickers, of Linslade, to welcome the excursionists. As time was short only Grandsire Caters and Hob Major were attempted. Loading up once more, a move was made towards Dunstable, which was reached at three minutes to eight. There, Mr. A. Sharman and two of his confreres were waiting. Visitors and locals rolled off Stedman, Double Norwich and Bob Major, and the contented party then made tracks for home. When Harpenden Common was reached the bus was pulled up, as some had a desire to search for 'wild raspberries,' and to take a little nourishment. A course of Bob Royal and a titum course of Grandsire Caters on handbells finished up the ringing, and eventually St. Albans was reached, after a very enjoyable day. Two poor souls had now five miles to cycle home, in opposite directions. One was 'fortunate' enough to get a puncture, but it was near home, so 'All's well, etc.,' and the other returned quite safely.

The conducting of the day was shared between Messrs. H. Goodenough, W. H. L. Buckingham (the veteran, and chairman of the party), and the terror of tenors, W. Ayre.

The very grateful thanks of all who undertook the journey are tendered to the incumbents of the respective churches visited, the local ringers for their welcome, the caterers for their ample preparations and attentions, and last, but not least, to Mr. W. Little, the secretary, who made all arrangements.

ALDEBURGH RINGERS' 120-MILE TRIP.

A journey of 120 miles, covering about a fourth of the area of Suffolk, was made when the ringing company of SS. Peter and Paul's Church, Aldeburgh, had their annual outing on June 28th. A start was made shortly after 7 a.m., and the day proved ideal for such a trip. Framlingham, the first stop, was soon reached, and after a few good touches, Harry Hall, a local ringer got 'aboard,' and remained one of the party throughout the day. Nice touches, including Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, Grandsire and Bob Major, were rung at Framsden, Debenham and Stowmarket. Canon Goldsmith, Vicar of the Cathedral Church, and late Vicar of Aldeburgh, met the company at Bury St. Edmunds, where he had arranged an excellent lunch at the Three Kings. After a substantial meal, the towers of St. James' and St. Mary's were visited. Several local ringers met the party, and these grand old peals were rung to some good touches. A. R. Moore, from the St. James' Society, then accompanied the visitors to Lavenham, where they were met by the Brothers Poulson, who had everything in readiness, and touches of Stedman, Double Norwich and Treble Bob were rung. A course of Bob Royal was also brought round on handbells before mounting the charabanc for Hadleigh. Here tea was the first thought, after which several methods were rung, including London Surprise. St. Margaret's, Ipswich, was reached about 7.30 p.m., and from thence the party journeyed to Helmingham, the last halt of the day. Good touches of Cambridge Surprise and Stedman Triples brought the enjoyable day to a fitting conclusion, and home was reached soon after 11 p.m. The very best thanks of all are due to the incumbents and ringers of the various parishes for helping to make the day such a grand success.

MANGOTSFIELD GUILD.

The annual outing of the Mangotsfield Guild was held on Saturday, July 5th, when an enjoyable trip into Somerset was much enjoyed. The party, numbering 28, made their first stop at Banwell, where the peal of six were set going to Grandsire Doubles, Stedman Doubles and Plain Bob. Winscombe was the next call, where the party were met by Mr. Hancock, the steepickeeper. The eight bells were raised in peal, and touches of Grandsire, Stedman and Bob Major were successfully brought round. Lunch followed, and the journey was then resumed to Bridgwater, where Mr. W. Hancock was waiting at St. Mary's with everything in readiness. The fine peal of eight was raised in peal, and touches of Grandsire, Stedman and Bob Major rung. The party went on to Burnham-on-Sea for tea, and then, met at the church by Mr. Chamberlain, rang touches of Stedman, Bob Major and Kent Treble Bob on the bells. The conducting during the day was done by Mr. J. Jefferies and Mr. H. Howell. Mangotsfield was reached shortly before midnight, after a most enjoyable day.

The Guild wish to take this opportunity of thanking the incumbents of the different churches for the use of the bells; also those who had everything ready and helped to make a very pleasant day.

A HUNDRED-MILE TRIP.

The ringers of St. James' Church, Taunton, covered about 100 miles, and rang at nine towers in three counties on the occasion of their annual outing on June 28th. In addition to a charabanc load, Mr. D. G. Taylor (Ilminster) placed his car at the party's disposal, driving himself with three more, the whole party numbering 21. The towers visited during the day were South Petherton, Crewkerne, West Coker, East Coker, Yeovil, Sherborne Abbey, Dorchester, Bridport, and Axminster, embracing Somerset, Dorset, and Devon. All the above towers possess peals of eight bells, excepting Yeovil, which has a fine peal of ten, the tenor weighing 43 cwt. Sherborne Abbey claims the heaviest peal of eight bells hung for ringing in the British Isles, the tenor being 48 cwt., and forming a grand ring, which told a noble tale in the good course of Bob Major. Some excellent ringing was accomplished during the day, including Grandsire Triples and Grandsire Caters at Yeovil, and Stedman Triples and Bob Major, and rounds for the younger members of the party. Dinner was partaken of at Sherborne, and tea at Bridport. The ringers wish to express their gratitude to the respective incumbents for granting permission to ring, to the tower keepers for having everything in readiness, and to the various ringers who met them during the day. Most excellent arrangements were made by Mr. W. Cording (secretary) and Mr. W. J. Tarr (treasurer), whose efforts were much appreciated for creating a real red-letter day in ringers' outings. Taunton was safely reached at 10.45 p.m.

BANBURY RINGERS' PROGRESS.

The Banbury ringers held their second annual outing on June 24th, and enjoyed perfect weather. They motored to Oxford, thence to Dorchester-on-Thames, where they arrived at 10 a.m. Short touches of Grandsire Triples and a course of Stedman were brought round on the bells, and then they proceeded to Wallingford. The party were here met and welcomed by the Rector (the Rev. H. P. Bowen). Grandsire was again rung, and a touch of 336 brought round, Mr. Fred Naish, of the local band, standing in. The party then left for Blewbury, where an excellent dinner was served at the Red Lion Hotel, and afterwards at the tower a quarter-peal was attempted, conducted by R. Rice, but unfortunately came to grief in the last course. The next tower was East Hagbourne, and following this Abingdon was reached about 5 p.m., where the company sat down to an excellent tea, provided by Mrs. Hathaway. They were afterwards met at the church by Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Lock, and several of the local company, all of whom added much to the pleasure of the visitors by assisting them with their first course of Caters. Appleton was the next call, where Mr. R. White and other members of Appleton band were awaiting them. Here Grandsire was again the method, and with the assistance of the local men a touch of three courses was successfully brought round. This concluded the ringing, and the visitors left for Kidlington, where they were due at 9.30 for supper, during which Mr. Tandy proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. R. R. Lewis for the trouble he had taken in arranging the outing.—Mr. Lewis having responded, a start was made for Banbury, which was safely reached about 11 p.m.

In concluding this report of a very successful trip, it is interesting to note that until two years ago change ringing was unknown at Banbury, and that at the present time there is a very enthusiastic band who have mastered the Grandsire method. Nearly all have rung peals of Grandsire Triples; four of the band have rung their first quarter of Stedman, and during the above outing six of them their first course of Caters. This has been achieved by the persistent efforts of Mr. M. Smith, to whom much credit is due.

The Banbury ringers wish to take this opportunity of thanking those of the local companies who so kindly attended at the different towers, and, by so doing, added much to the pleasure and success of the day.

VISIT TO CROYDON FOUNDRY.

The St. Nicholas' Society, Guildford, had their annual outing on Saturday, July 12th, when they visited Croydon, and were shown over Messrs. Gillett and Johnston's bell foundry. The inspection proved to be most interesting, and among the features of special note was the new carillon for New York. After ringing at St. Peter's, the party had tea, and then proceeded to Leatherhead, where ringing took place. The company wish to thank all those who helped to make the outing a success, especially Mr. C. Johnston and Mr. C. Dean (Croydon), and the Vicars of St. Peter's, Croydon, and SS. Mary and Nicholas, Leatherhead, for the use of their respective bells.

ST. MARY'S, ACTON, SOCIETY.

Meeting at Ealing, Broadway, fourteen members and friends of St. Mary's (Acton) Guild, visited West Wycombe to enjoy a ring on the new eight hung in an oak frame. To reach this church, which stands on a high eminence, a little mountaineering has to be done. Services are only held during the summer; in the winter they are held in a church called 'The Church Loft,' down in the village. After enjoying some Stedman Triples, Bob Major and Kent Treble Bob Major, a visit was made to the 'Ball,' perched on a pedestal. The steps up to the ball from the top of the tower form part of the pedestal, and it is a somewhat exciting experience to go up those steps and enter. The ball holds twelve people, sitting round a table. This is a most unusual feature for a church.

Afterwards a move was made to High Wycombe, where an excellent tea was thoroughly enjoyed, the weather being very hot. Afterwards a stroll through the beautiful Hughenden Park took the party to the church where Messrs. Goodchild and Boreham met and welcomed the visitors, and took part in some Stedman Triples and Kent Treble and Plain Bob Major. The best thanks of the company are tendered to the Vicars of West Wycombe and Hughenden, and to all those who helped to make the visit so successful.

A DERBY DAY.

The ringers of St. Thomas's, South Wigston, spent a most enjoyable day on Saturday, June 30th, when they had their annual outing. The first part of the programme comprised a visit to Loughborough, and the famous bell foundry of Messrs. J. Taylor and Co. The inspection of the works proved most interesting, and afterwards ringing on the foundry bells was enjoyed. After refreshing the inner man, the journey was continued to Derby, where the visitors tried the bells both at All Saints' and St. Alkmund's, and were joined by several Derby ringers. After tea touches were rung on the bells at St. Andrew's and St. Peter's, and a social hour followed. It was nearly Sunday morning before the party arrived again, safe and sound, at South Wigston. The ringers wish to express their great thanks to those who helped to make the outing a complete success.

THORNHAM EXCURSION.

The Thornham Magna company of ringers held their annual outing on Saturday, June 28th. The party numbering 14 started at 7 a.m., Debenham being the first call, then on to Framsdon, Helmingham, Grundisburgh, Woodbridge, and Saxmundham, where an old friend, Mr. F. Watling, had arranged for dinner. The party then went on to Leiston, Kelsale, Wenhamston and Halesworth, where Mr. F. Lambert had provided tea and made the visitors very welcome. After tea a ring on the bells with some of the local company and C. F. Bailey, from Leiston, took place, and on leaving all thanked Mr. Lambert for his kindness. Cratfield with a fine peal of six bells was next visited, the last call being at Laxfield, where there is a good peal of six bells. The methods rung on the eight bells were Bob Major, Kent Oxford, and Double Norwich Major, and on the six bells Plain Bob, Oxford, Kent and Cambridge Surprise Minor. The conductors were E. F. Poppy and G. Cattermole, and the party consisted of E. Youngs, A. J. Berry, C. Nunn, P. Steggalls, F. Hayward, B. Chilvers, D. Whiting, J. Betts, H. Moss, G. Kemp and G. Blaxall. The ringers wish to thank all the clergy for so readily granting permission to ring, and for meeting them and giving them a warm welcome; they also desire to thank all who made the outing so enjoyable.

BRAINTREE RINGERS VISIT SUFFOLK.

The members of the St. Michael's Guild, Braintree, held their annual outing on Saturday, July 12th. Favoured with glorious summer weather, and accompanied by their wives, the party, 14 strong, motored first to Long Melford, Suffolk, via Halstead and Sudbury, where some time was spent examining this grand East Anglian church. Unfortunately, however, the bells were under repair, and no ringing could be done. The visitors then made for Lavenham, and after ringing a few touches upon this renowned ring of bells, went on to Stowmarket, and after trying the fine ring there for about an hour, adjourned to the Fox Hotel for lunch, at the close of which a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to Mr. C. H. Howard, Master of the Essex Association (who was one of the party), for the care and trouble he had taken in arranging this enjoyable outing.

The excursionists then continued the journey through delightful East Suffolk lanes to Coddanham, where they found the bells ready for them, a handy little ring of eight, with the circle of ropes so close together that the ringers almost touched each other when ringing. Several touches were rung, and then the party made for Ipswich to ring on the fine bells of St. Margaret's. Here they found a band ready to start for a peal, but they gave way to the visitors to try the bells, and various touches concluded the ringing for the day, the methods having included Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, Cambridge, Double Norwich, Stedman and Grandsire. After tea the party dispersed to view the town; others to repose in the park to listen to the peal of Double Norwich then well on its way, and to admire the splendid striking of the bells. The journey home was made via Colchester, through the beautiful Constable scenery, and all were pleased with the events of the day. Thanks are accorded to the various clergy and those in charge of the different towers for their kindness in allowing the use of the bells, and having everything in readiness for the ringing.

A SOUTH WALES' OUTING.

St. Martin's Guild, Caerphilly, held their annual outing on June 28th, when they visited Burnham-on-Sea, four ringers from Bedwas, Mon., joining the company. The journey was made via Cardiff and Weston-super-Mare, a call being made at East Brent, where Mr. Cook awaited the visitors, and the peal of six bells was set going to Stedman and Grandsire Doubles, and also a touch of Plain Bob and Kent Minor. The ride was then continued to Burnham, where they were met by Mr. Chamberlain. Touches of Stedman Triples were rung, and after dinner there was further ringing with three of the local men, several touches of Stedman, Grandsire Triples, and one touch each of Plain Bob and Kent Major being brought round. A start was then made for home, which was reached about 10 p.m., after a most enjoyable day's outing. The best thanks are due to incumbents for the use of their respective bells, and also Mr. Cooke and Mr. Chamberlain for having everything in readiness.

TRIP INTO SUFFOLK.

The Maldon ringers held their annual outing on Saturday, June 21st, when, accompanied by their wives, they travelled by charabanc via Braintree, Halstead and Sudbury, to Bury St. Edmunds, halting at Long Melford, to visit the beautiful old church, which was much admired. No ringing could be done here, however, as the bells are in the hands of the bell hangers. Bury was reached just after 11 o'clock, and ringing was soon started at the Norman tower, also at St. Mary's Church, the visitors being assisted by some of the local ringers. After a look round the churches and town a start was made for Lavenham, where the annual ringing festival was in progress. The next call was at Sudbury, where they enjoyed about an hour's ringing at All Saints' Church, and home was reached at 10.30, after an enjoyable day, which included a run of about 90 miles. The party wish, through 'The Ringing World,' to thank the clergy for the use of the bells, and the steeplekeepers for meeting them and getting the bells ready.

STANDISH RINGERS' OUTING.

The annual outing of the Standish Parish Church ringers, who were accompanied by their wives, took place on Whit Monday, when they travelled by charabanc to Blackpool. After a pleasant run to Penwortham a halt was made, and, wending their way to the church, the ringers indulged in touches of Stedman Doubles, Kent and Plain Bob Minor on the bells. Then followed a good run to Lytham, where an hour's ringing included Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Kent and Plain Bob Major. The party then adjourned to the Commercial Cafe, and sat down to a splendid luncheon. Afterwards, another short run brought them to St. Anne's, where touches of Grandsire and Stedman were brought round. Blackpool, with all its attractions, was soon afterwards reached, and some pleasant hours spent. The homeward journey was made via Kirkham, and Standish was reached at 12.15, after a most enjoyable day. The band take this opportunity of thanking the local ringers who met and made the party welcome to their towers; also to the incumbents of the three churches visited for kindly granting permission to ring on their respective bells.

CRITICS CRITICISED.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I read with interest the account of the meeting of the wise ones which you have published in your most recent issues. I have often heard of 'bulls'—papal and otherwise, but I never realised what the real old Irish perpetration 'o' that ilk 'was till I read the account of their most recent deliberation: to wit—when one hon. member for somewhere did opine that you, Sir, had not treated the committee quite rightly (meaning, of course, as they thought they ought to be treated), and that you owed a certain debt to the Exercise in setting an example. Now, Sir, I maintain, whether you like it or not, that you have always striven to show us examples galore. It is the Exercise who do not rise to the occasion. Your leaders have been only the truth and to the point every time. They have been more than fair.

What is the use of you deciding on a day's fishing every Friday: going out week by week ground baiting the pitch, if the fickle trout won't rise?

In my very short memory I have read leading article after leading article which has been fairness personified. You have told nothing but the truth, and barely that. Had you hit straight and full from the shoulder those who think you had not been fair, etc., would have been gasping for breath without the legs to stand on to tell you you were not fair.

This meeting has shown that the Council have a wish to 'put up the goods,' and a special committee has been appointed to deal with names of six-bell methods (I don't see the names of any six-bell ringers on it, by the way). Now—that committee has got about the toughest job they ever struck in their lives. What's in a name?—they'll soon know. Leek to Leek people is the equivalent of heaven.

Pudsey, to those who dwell there, is but another rendering of 'Home, sweet home.' Piddletrenthide (five bells, Diocese of Salisbury) has a perfect right to bestow its name on a method as good as Geranium (which is the more euphonious?) Ye gods, what a job to be appointed to! I am obliged to agree with Hon. Member Pritchett. Like him I am left somewhat cold. No good (only further schism) will come by enforcing nomenclature. 'Tis not the name of the method we fling far and wide from our sleepies, 'tis the good striking that counts to a benign (?) public. When the great B.P. heard some ringing broadcast from St. Martin's famous steeple, did they trouble about the euphonistics of the very meaningless (to them) words 'Stedman Cinques'? No, 'twas the cadence of the striking—and that's that!

Ringers are in an unfortunate position as regards their music: we cannot call it by its first line, like a song or hymn, or So-and-So's seventh Sonata, though a lot I have heard was ragtime.

Mr. Trollope is a man I am inclined to agree with on many points: no man has a right to ownership of facts. A man has the honour of being the first to point out to his confreres that So-and-So is a fact; he has benefited posterity by pointing these things out, and has added another step to the ladder of progress: that's all. What many ringers object to is not the altering of names by two committees. It is the altering of old names and their subsequent duplication and confusion; and what is more—they object to the waste of time on names when much else of import is shelved (or ignored). That register of compositions and the 'Historianship' does not take shape, as yet, Mr. Editor. Keep on with those good leading articles, they'll at least do good, as an alarm clock. They provoke criticism, which is good. The more criticism the Council provoke the more work they will know they have done.—Yours sincerely,

ONCE A BEGINNER.

WORCESTERSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

A very successful meeting was held at St. Peter's, Droitwich, on Saturday, July 12th. The branch was fairly well represented, though holidays and hay making kept several members away. The Vicar conducted a shortened service, taken from the association's form, at which he spoke a few homely and encouraging words, which were very appropriate, as several young ringers were present.

After a splendid tea, kindly provided by the Vicar and Mrs. Longland, which was partaken of under a shady tree on the Vicarage lawn, the business meeting was held, at which the Mayor of Droitwich attended, and he and the Vicar became hon. members.

The quarterly peal is to be attempted at St. Peter's, with Mr. G. Green, one of the local ringers, as conductor.

The Rector of Madresfield invited the branch to hold the next meeting at Madresfield, and this was accepted.

The usual votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar of St. Peter's, also to all who had helped to make the visitors comfortable. The Ringing Master kept the bells going, all taking a part, the methods ranging from Grandsire and Stedman Doubles to London and York Surprise.

The church contains a very good peal of six, which go well, and it is pleasing to be able to say that there is an enthusiastic band of ringers with a helpful Vicar, which is a healthy sign of success.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Ashford District was held at Stone (Isle of Oxney) on Saturday last. The attendance was not very numerous, but made up in quality what was lacking in quantity, and some good touches were brought round in Stedman and Grandsire Doubles, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Minor, and Plain and Oxford Bob Minor. Tea was served at the Crown Inn, at the invitation of Mr. C. W. Player, leader of the local ringers, about 15 sitting down.

At the business meeting held after, Mr. Irvine, of Rye, was elected a non-resident life member, and a meeting was arranged for the practice of Double Norwich at Appledore on August 16th.

A very hearty vote of thanks was accorded to Mr. C. W. Player for his generous hospitality in providing the tea, and for presiding at both tea and meeting.—This was carried with musical honours.

The towers represented were Ashford, Appledore, New Romney, Idon, Canterbury, Mersham, Tenterden, and the local band.

BARNESLEY AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

A meeting was held at Kirkthorpe, near Wakefield, on Saturday, July 12th. About 30 members attended from Crofton, Darfield, Horbury Sandal, Royston, Wath, Pontefract, Horbury, Rotherham, and the local company. The bells were freely rung from early in the afternoon until 8.30, in a variety of methods, and good striking was well maintained.

After tea a short business meeting was held, when sympathy was expressed to the secretary, who was unable to be present owing to severe illness, and hopes were expressed for a speedy recovery.

A hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for his personal interest in the gathering, also the local company for all arrangements so well and truly made, was accorded.—The Vicar replied in very happy terms of welcome and appreciation of the association, and with a further invitation for another visit in the near future.

Seven members of the local company were made members of the association, and Royston was decided upon for the next place of meeting, to be held on Saturday, August 9th.

CINQUES AT EXETER CATHEDRAL.

On April 26th, for practice, at Exeter Cathedral, a touch of 1,055 Grandsire Cinques was rung by the following members of the Cathedral band: J. Oke 1, F. J. Davey (cond.) 2, T. Laver 3, T. Bartlett 4, A. Searle 5, W. Lethbridge 6, J. Sandover 7, F. Gardner 8, F. Murphy 9, C. Class 10, G. Betts 11, A. Mitchell and J. Harris 12 (72 cwt.).

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

The Whit Monday meeting was held at Consett in most favourable weather conditions.

At the committee meeting it transpired that the date fixed for the summer meeting at Barnard Castle on July 26th was the date of the Darlington show. By a curious coincidence the last meeting at Barnard Castle fell on the same date as the Darlington show, and suffered in consequence. It was, therefore, decided to alter the date of the Barnard Castle meeting to August 9th. It was also decided to hold a special or extra meeting at Wylam on Saturday, September 20th, 1924, when it is hoped there will be a good attendance.

Dinner was served at the Railway Hotel at 1 o'clock, when 21 sat down, the president, Mr. C. Todd, presiding, and being supported by the Rev. W. C. D. Fedden, Vicar of Consett (the other Vicars were prevented from attending through weddings, funerals, school treats, etc.), Messrs. E. Ferry, secretary, A. M. Hall, treasurer, and others.—The President proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicars of the various churches for kindly placing their bells at the disposal of the members.—The Vicar of Consett responded, and said he was very pleased to have the bells rung, and would be pleased to grant the use of them on any other occasion.

All the bells in the neighbourhood were at the disposal of the ringers by the kind permission of the respective Vicars, viz., two peals of eight and two peals of six. They were kept going to the tune of Grandsire Doubles and Triples, Stedman Triples, Bob and Kent Minor and Major. The journey home by train was most enjoyable, only twenty-two in a compartment, and, it being a nice warm night, no travelling rugs were required. The president and vice-president for the Southern district missed this treat by travelling by motor-cycle and side-car.

DARLINGTON RINGERS AT HEIGHINGTON.

On Friday evening, July 18th, a party of ringers, representing Holy Trinity, Darlington, accompanied by Messrs. F. Johnson and W. Lister, of St. John's, Darlington, and Mr. W. H. Porter, visited Heighington, a pretty little village five miles distant. The old Norman tower contains six nice-toned bells (tenor 15½ cwt.), of which three date back to the days prior to the Reformation. Ringing is performed on the ground floor, the ropes falling round the font, the belfry door opening direct into the churchyard. Fine weather prevailing, an enjoyable evening was spent, touches of Kent, Oxford, London and Cambridge Minor, and Stedman Doubles being successfully brought round, and the bells were finally lowered at 9.30 p.m.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

In the Rowley Regis Parish Church Magazine there is a 'Bell Ringers' Corner,' in which the doings of the local band are chronicled. This is an example which might be copied in other places, so that the parishioners might learn something of what the ringers are doing.

A peal of 6,000 Double Oxford Bob was rung at St. Giles', Norwich, on July 26th, 1832, conducted by Samuel Thurston.

The first peal in Ireland was rung at Waterford Cathedral on July 27th, 1872.

William Shipway arrived in London on July 29th, 1785, and joined the Junior Society of Cumberlands.

This event, in itself, is perhaps of no special significance, but it probably had an influence on the future of ringing, for it is unlikely that Shipway would have done so much to further the art of ringing, by researches and the publication of his 'Campanologia' had he remained in his native city of Bath, where, he writes, there was 'a respectable and able band of ringers, yet the art did not improve so rapidly as he wished.'

Had the late Mr. James W. Washbrook lived until Sunday next he would have been 60 years of age.

'W. H. C.' should write direct to the bell founders concerned.

Home from Australia on a visit, Mr. James Adams took part in a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major at Mottram with the Ashton-under-Lyne Society on Saturday.

The peal rung at Twerton-on-Avon, Bath, on July 8th, should have been credited in our report to the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association, and not to the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, as published.

Ringers friends of Mr. C. D. Heginbotham, of Devizes, chairman of the Devizes branch of the Salisbury Guild, will be pleased to know that the steady improvement in his health has been maintained during the past week.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION. THE TAUNTON PEAL TABLET SUGGESTION.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—May I say a word or two with reference to the paragraph headed 'No Peal Board,' which appeared in the report of the annual meeting of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association in your last issue. Owing to my unavoidable absence from the meeting, I asked Mr. J. Burge to put forward the suggestion that the association be asked to erect a tablet in St. Mary's ringing chamber, Taunton, recording the first peal on twelve bells (Stedman Cinques), rung there by the association, May 26th, 1923. I would like to remind the various speakers that this peal was not only rung for, but by men who have been members of the association for some years, and who, at the request of the local authorities, were privileged to open these bells when they were dedicated as twelve. The fact that eleven out of the twelve who rang the peal live practically in Somerset viz., Bristol, and the 12th man (myself) was a resident in the diocese for some years, is now a frequent visitor, and has been a member of the association for nearly thirty years (having commenced his ringing career at Taunton in 1898) entitles this first peal to be considered representative of the Bath and Wells Association, and not, as some speakers suggest, rung by an outside band. This and previous years' annual reports will show the usefulness of these members to the Bath and Wells Association, as witness the report for the year ending December, 1923, when only 26 peals were rung. These included, but evidently not worthy of mention in the Master's report, Stedman Cinques (the first peal on twelve bells for the association) at Taunton, May, 1923; Stedman Triples at Corston, Bath, May, 1923; Stedman Caters at Wells Cathedral, August, 1923; and Stedman Triples at Edmonton, November, 1923, which is clear indication of the interest these so-called outside members take in the association, and who claim to have its interests and welfare, independent of peal ringing, just as much at heart as those who live in the diocese.—Yours truly, Birmingham, July 21st, 1924.

ALBERT WALKER.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A happy meeting was held by the Southern District of the above Society at St. Margaret's, Lee, Lewisham, on Saturday last. The tower was opened at four o'clock, and ringing commenced soon after with a few touches of Stedman, etc. At 5.30 a move was made to the small Kingswood Hall, close by, where the company sat down to a glorious tea supplied at a small cost by the Rector. A meeting followed, at which routine business was transacted, and the ringers expressed their sincere thanks for the use of the bells, and also for the sumptuous tea.—The curate replied on behalf of the Rector and the ringers, and said they were pleased to make the association welcome, and should be glad to see them again.

After tea the ringers returned to the tower, when the touches included Kent Treble Bob and Cambridge Surprise Major.

After tower bell ringing had concluded, a few members of the company made use of the fine peal of handbells that are in the belfry, and this brought to a close a fine meeting.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION. ACTIVITY IN SOUTH WALES.

A quarterly meeting was held at Machen on Saturday last, and was exceedingly well attended. The Rector (the Rev. A. G. A. Picton) was at the tower early in the afternoon to welcome the visitors on arrival, and remained with the ringers until all had dispersed in the evening. The bells, a good going ring of eight, were kept employed during the afternoon. A committee meeting was held at 4 o'clock, and was followed by a service in the Parish Church, conducted by the Rector.

Immediately after the service tea was partaken of in the Church Room, very kindly provided by one of the very best friends of the ringers and church, namely, Mrs. Newton Wade, whose husband did so much several years ago to bring about the rehanging of the bells, and the completion of the octave.

Tea over, the business meeting was held. Mention was made of rehangers and augmentations, but there was nothing definite to propose since the last meeting. In one case it was resolved that the hon. secretary should try personally to interview the incumbent, where there is a good deal of the money in hand, and endeavour to find out the cause of the scheme not being proceeded with.

The representatives to the Central Council gave their report of the proceedings, for which they were thanked.

It was decided to hold the next Monmouth quarterly meeting at Mathern, the next Glamorgan meeting being already fixed at Bonvilston.

Application was made by one of the Skenfrith ringers to the association to try and give some instruction or introduce change ringing there. It was pointed out that as Skenfrith was several miles away from any railway station without any bus service, or any means of getting there—being in the remote northern end of the county—it is almost impossible for instruction to be given. It was eventually decided, after a few had volunteered, that at least half a dozen ringers should specially visit the tower on the first Saturday in September with a view to doing all that is possible to introduce change ringing.

The Rector then announced that he was reorganising his band of ringers as, of late, some of the older members had got slack. Young blood was now being introduced, and a little later on he would be glad of the association's help in instruction.

Many new members were made, and after the usual vote of thanks the meeting closed.

The bells were afterwards rung in various methods, bringing to a close a most enjoyable and successful meeting.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

On Saturday, July 12th, a dozen members of the Northern Division met at Great Wymondley from Tring, Hitchin, Letchworth, Welwyn, Kimpton, together with the local band. Service, with an address, was conducted by the Rev. C. E. Thomas, and was followed by tea and meeting at the Green Man.

Mr. G. T. Croft was unanimously voted to the chair, and it was agreed to hold the next meeting at Royston in September as usual.

The customary votes of thanks were returned to the clergy, organist and chairman.—A return was then made to the tower for more ringing. During the afternoon and evening Stedman Doubles, Bob Minor, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, Woodbine and Cambridge Surprise were brought home.

Wymondley is looked upon as a centre for six bell ringing in the district, and some of the county ringers and conductors (including Mr. G. T. Croft, the chairman), first handled a bell in this tower.

WESTERN DISTRICT.

The July meeting of the Western district was held at Apsley End, but another meeting in an adjacent district somewhat spoiled the attendance. Members were present from Tring, Borkhamstead, Hemel Hempstead, King's Langley, and the local tower, the methods rung being Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Grandsire Minor, Plain Bob, Oxford Bob, Single Court, and Kent Treble Bob. Unfortunately, the Vicar was unable to be present, so no service was held.

At the meeting which followed tea, Mr. H. Cutler (Apsley) was elected to the chair. One ringing member (King's Langley) and two probationers (Apsley) were duly elected.—Tring was chosen for the next meeting—on September 20th (adjacent towers and secretaries please note)—and it is hoped a large number will be present.

Votes of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, the local members for having everything in readiness, and the chairman for his services, both before and during the meeting, concluded the business. Further ringing then took place until 8 p.m.

PULFORD, CHESHIRE.—On Saturday, July 12th, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (Thurstan's), in 48 mins.: T. Butler, senr. (conductor), 1, A. Allen 2 T. R. Butler 3, P. Cross 4, G. H. Edwards 5, F. Evans 6, R. T. Evans 7, W. Higginson, senr., 8.

THE LADIES' GUILD. ENTERTAINED AT BRISTOL.

The annual general meeting of the Guild, held at Bristol on July 12th, was without doubt the most successful which has yet been held. This was due to the efforts of the Bristol United Guilds, who did all that was possible to make the visiting members enjoy their stay.

Members who were able to get to Bristol in the morning were met at St. Thomas's Church by representatives of the Bristol United Guilds, and were taken by charabanc round some of the beauty spots of Bristol, including Clifton Suspension Bridge and the Avon Gorge. In the afternoon ringing took place at St. Mary Redcliffe and St. Thomas's Churches. The service was held at the latter church, and was conducted by the Vicar, who gave a most helpful address.

The Guild members and their friends were the guests of the Bristol United Guilds at tea, to which about 50 sat down, including the Vicar, churchwarden and organist. The arrangements had been carried out admirably, and the Bristol ringers excelled themselves as waiters.

Before the business meeting commenced, Mr. Leaker, chairman of the United Guilds, welcomed the Guild to Bristol, and took the opportunity of congratulating the members who had taken part in the first peal of Stedman Triples. He also spoke of the pleasure felt by Bristol ringers that one of their number should have been elected president of the Ladies' Guild, and on behalf of the United Guilds, he asked Mrs. Wilkins to accept a small token to mark the occasion.

This took the form of a bell brooch, suitably inscribed. The presentation came as a great surprise to the president, and the secretary of the Guild replied on her behalf, and thanked Mr. Leaker and his fellow members for their kind thought. She also thanked the Vicar for conducting the service, the churchwardens, organist, and choirboys, for their assistance; and last, but by no means least, she expressed the Guild's grateful thanks to the members of the United Guilds for their wonderful welcome and tea.

Mrs. Groves, of Birmingham, seconded the votes of thanks.

Mr. Guise, secretary of the United Guilds, also welcomed the members, and spoke of the unity existing amongst ringers at Bristol.—The Vicar also responded.

At the business meeting the chair was taken by the president, Mrs. R. J. Wilkins. Two honorary members were elected. Mrs. A. Pulling, of Guildford, was elected president for the year, and Reading was chosen for the next annual meeting.—The hon. secretary was re-elected.

The accounts were submitted subject to audit, and accepted, showing a small deficit on the year's working.

It was decided to alter the subscription year to bring it in line with the accounts, by making subscriptions due on July 1st instead of October 1st. This means subscriptions ordinarily becoming due next October are now due. In view of the expense, it was decided that no reports should be issued this year.

Ringing afterwards took place at St. Stephen's Church. Several of the visitors who were unable to take part in the charabanc trip on Saturday were given the pleasure of a motor drive on Sunday, over the same ground, accompanied by Messrs. Cave, Knight and Wilkins, and they wish to tender their best thanks to these gentlemen.

A SUNDAY MEETING.

On Sunday afternoon, July 13th, a party of ringers, numbering about 14, and representing Ellesmere, Market Drayton, Hodnet and Stanton, met at Moreton Corbet tower, Salop, and rang touches in various methods on the beautiful peal of six bells. Short touches were the order of the day, to let everyone have a pull, including the local ringers, who turned up in full force to welcome the visitors. The methods rung were Grandsire, Plain Bob, Canterbury Pleasure, St. Simon's and Stedman Doubles; also Plain Bob, Grandsire and Kent Treble Bob Minor. Some of the party also rang at Stanton for the evening service.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.

At a Gainsborough district meeting, held at Broughton on Saturday, July 5th, there was a good attendance of members from Gainsborough, Scotter, Bigby, Brigg, Burton Stather, in addition to the local company.

The peal of five bells at St. Mary's were available and kept going to the standard methods in the afternoon and evening.

A short service was held, followed by tea.

At the business meeting, the following new members from Broughton were elected: The Rev. H. A. Herbert, Vicar of Broughton; Mr. H. Nixon, churchwarden, as honorary members; Messrs. W. Brumpton, F. Laming, E. Wass, R. Bell and R. Brumpton, as ringing members.

Afterwards some members went to Appleby to ring on the peal of six.

ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD SOCIETY.

The annual gathering of members and friends of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford, was held at Lichfield on July 5th, and proved to be a great success. Permission to use the bells at the Cathedral had been obtained, and this, no doubt, was responsible in a great measure for the additional numbers present over last year. Evensong at the Cathedral was well attended. Tea was provided at Lloyd's Restaurant, and was followed by the general meeting.

Mr. Alderman Pritchett was unanimously voted to the chair. Apologies for absence were received from the Rev. W. Solly (West Bromwich), Mr. W. Evans (auditor), and Mr. Wm. Rock Small. The chairman was able to inform the meeting that Mr. Small's health had improved, and that he was able to get out for short walks (applause).

The report and statement of accounts were read and approved, the latter showing an increased balance in hand. The list of peals rung during the year is as follows: Grandsire Doubles (on handbells), 1; on tower bells, 2; Triples, 9; Caters, 1; Stedman Doubles (on handbells), 1; Triples, 12; Caters, 1; Cinques, 5; Plain Bob Minor, 1; Major, 3; Royal, 1; Double Norwich C.B. Major, 1; Cambridge Surprise Major, 2; London Surprise Major, 2; total, 42.

The officers were re-elected en bloc.

Places chosen for the coming meetings are Penkridge in September; Tettenhall in January; Shenstone in April; and Lichfield (annual) in June. By a happy coincidence, the Ladies' Guild (Midland branch) were holding their meeting at St. Michael's on the same day, and the two parties were thus able to join forces, both in the towers and at the tea tables—the total numbering over a hundred.

MEMORIAL BELL AT GAMSTON. DEDICATION BY BISHOP OF SOUTHWELL.

The Bishop of Southwell visited Gamston on Saturday, June 7th, for the purpose of dedicating the memorial bell, and the unveiling of the tablet placed in St. Peter's Church in memory of the seven men of the village who lost their lives in the great war. The bell is inscribed, 'Lest we forget, 1914-1918.' The following are the inscriptions on four of the bells:—

1. Thomas Hollis, Duke of Newcastle.
2. William Ibberson, William Perkin, W.C., 1721.
3. Do as you would be done by.
4. Daniel Hedderley cast us all in 1721.

There is no inscription on the fifth bell.

For many years the 'go' of the peal of five bells had been very bad, owing to the swaying of the old timbers which supported them; and the bells did not come up to the ideas of modern tuning. Sufficient money not being forthcoming to have the whole recast, early this year the tower was cleared, a new steel frame put in, and all the five bells retuned, and a new treble added to make a ring of six. The cost incurred amounted to £393, and with the laying of a new floor and making a ringing chamber, the alterations brought the total to £470. The whole work of rehanging and adding the new treble was entrusted to Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough. The retuning and the easy 'go' of the bells leave nothing to be desired. During the afternoon, when the bells were opened, a Gamston lady rang one of the bells with perfect ease; the work reflects the highest credit on the well-known arm of bell-hangers.

In the absence, through illness, of the Vicar (the Rev. G. Postlewaite), the Rural Dean, the Rev. C. Bailey, of East Retford, conducted the dedication service, and the clergy present included the Rev. J. S. G. Bailey (Sturton) and the Rev. W. G. Roach (Elkesly), who read the lessons; A. Ball, Askham; and W. V. Tunks, curate of Ordsall. After the second lesson, the Bishop and clergy, together with the churchwardens, proceeded to the vestry in the tower, where the Bishop unveiled the memorial tablet, which bears the following inscription: 'To the Glory of God and in honoured memory of the following men of Gamston who laid down their lives in the great war, 1914-1918, a treble bell has been hung in this tower. H. Borwick, H. Orwin, J. Carnall, J. Slater, S. Holand, H. W. Steads, A. Swannack. "Greater love hath no man than this."'

The 'Last Post' was sounded in church by Ex-Scoutmaster W. H. Briggs and Scoutmaster H. Cooke, 6th Retford Troop, and the reveille in the church porch.

Then followed the dedication of the new bell, and after prayers by the Bishop, a short touch was rung by a band, selected by the hon. secretary of the North Notts Association, from Retford, Ordsall, Treeton, Anston, Gainsborough and Worksop.

The Bishop devoted his address to the subject of 'witness-bearing.' Mrs. Postlewaite was at the organ, and played at the close of the service, 'O rest in the Lord.'

The bells were rung in the following methods until 7 p.m., when they were lowered in peal: Plain Bob, Stedman, Kent and Oxford. The ringers were entertained to tea by Mr. Herbert Smith, of Gamston House, and a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to him for his hospitality, which included the use of a motor-car in conveying the ringers to and from Gamston.

LIVERPOOL'S NEW CATHEDRAL.

The dedication of the completed portion of the new Cathedral at Liverpool was carried out on Saturday with great ceremony and reverence, in the presence of the King and Queen.

The bells of St. Nicholas Church, the Municipal Buildings and Walton-on-the-Hill were rung during the day in celebration of the event. In addition to the local ringers, Messrs. H. Chapman, of Manchester, and Butler, of Ellesmere, took part in the ringing.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

The monthly meeting of the Rochdale branch was held at the Unitarian Church, Todmorden on July 5th, members being present from Rochdale, Milnrow, Burnley, Heptonstall, Mytholmroyd and Todmorden. Touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, also Kent and Oxford Treble Bob were brought round. Double Norwich was also attempted.

The business meeting was presided over by Miss R. A. Bell.—It was resolved to hold the next meeting at Hamer on Saturday, August 2nd.—A vote of thanks to the Vicar and wardens for the use of the tower and bells, and also to the local ringers for having everything in readiness, was then passed, after which a vote of thanks to Miss Bell for the able manner in which she had presided, brought the meeting to a close.

This was the first Rochdale branch meeting at which a lady ringer has occupied the chair.

CHESHIRE RINGERS IN WALES.

What is hoped will be the forerunner of many similar jaunts took place on Saturday, July 5th, when a party of Wirral (Cheshire) ringers made an excursion into 'Wild Wales.' Just prior to starting from Birkenhead in the early morning we were approached by a damsel in distress, who had just missed her party (bound for the same destination as ourselves), and who invoked our good offices to try and overtake them. Bursting with generosity and chivalry we invited her to 'jump in and we'll do our best!' A run was made to Capenhurst, where we were joined by the hon. secretary of the Chester Diocesan Guild (Mr. E. W. Elwell). After a snapshot had been taken the ride started in real earnest, and after a delightful run through some splendid scenery, Rhyl was reached shortly after 11 o'clock, and the above-mentioned damsel was restored to her friends. A move was at once made to St. Thomas' Church, where the beautiful ring of eight were soon set going to touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Kent Treble Bob Major, in which the visitors were joined by Mr. A. J. Hughes (President of the North Wales Association). An adjournment was then made for lunch, and after the wants of the inner man had been satisfied, some of the more agile (?) members of the party sampled the thrills of the better-skelter, etc. By the way, one member of the party must have remarkable powers of attraction, as he tendered a 10s. note for an article and received 18s. change! Of course, he rectified the error!!

The beautiful marble church at Bodelwyddan was the next objective. This is a really wonderful church, marble of various kinds being extensively used in its interior construction, whilst the exterior is of limestone, and the gracefully slender spire stands out as a prominent landmark for miles around. Here again, coats were soon off, and touches of Grandsire Triples, Plain Bob Major and Minor were brought round, whilst a course of Double Norwich was attempted, but not with the best results. Perhaps it was the fault of the bells—perhaps not! The clerk of the weather, who, up to now, had been extremely kind to the band of adventurers, now decided to show what he could do if he tried, and sent down some 'delightfully refreshing' showers. Tea at Ruthin was followed by a visit to St. Peter's Church. Here we came across a delightful example of local 'repairs.' After ringing the bells up the ringer of the fourth could not set his bell at 'hand,' whilst at 'back' she went almost over. Oh, Francis! what have you been doing? On going to investigate, however, it was found that a new stay had been put on the wrong way about! Whilst this was being remedied the handbells were got out, and afterwards a touch of Grandsire Triples was rung. Cambridge Minor on the back six was next attempted, but the tenor was found to 'go' so badly that Oxford, Kent and Woodbine on the front six were decided upon. The striking was certainly an improvement, but the less said about the 'musical' effect the better! From Ruthin a start was made for home, with just a couple of stops to replenish the 'engine' with oil, and thus ended a most enjoyable day. Special thanks are due to the various Vicars for the use of the bells; to Mr. A. J. Hughes for his kindness in making arrangements for the ringing; and last, but by no means least, to Mr. T. A. Rogers, of Wallasey, for his generous duties in organising and carrying out all the arrangements for the outing.

W. J. B.

WESTMINSTER ABBEY GUILD.

The members of the Westminster Abbey Guild, after consulting maps, ways and means, etc., decided this year to spend their annual week-end outing in Gloucestershire, or rather a part of that beautiful county. With the kind assistance of Mr. W. T. Pates, the well-known Cheltenham conductor (of whom more hereafter), the Belle Vue Hotel, Cheltenham, was settled as headquarters, and the party, correctly fathered by Messrs. Oxborough and Newton, left Paddington at 7.30 on Saturday morning, July 12th. Messrs. G. H. Phillott and W. T. Pates welcomed the band at the Parish Church tower, and touches of Stedman Cinques were rung, conducted by Mr. H. R. Pasmore. After lunch, a motor bus was chartered for Tewkesbury. Unfortunately the Vicar was confined to his bed, and although he readily gave permission for ringing, it was impossible to find the keys in time, so the beauties of the famous Abbey and town were enjoyed. After tea, the bells at Cheltenham Parish Church were again utilised until 8.30, after which a social evening was spent at the Belle Vue, the party including Messrs. Phillott and Pates, Messrs. J. Austin and Harris, of Gloucester, and Davis, of Lydney.

After supper, the three latter friends were elected members of that 'honourable and ancient' order, the 'Tom-Tits,' the election being performed by the Grand Primo of the Order, Mr. John W. Golding, arrayed in his robes of office, supported by Deputy Primo Hughes, and Western representative, W. T. Pates. The new members were strictly enjoined to preserve inviolate the secrets of the order, and were greatly affected by the impressiveness of the ceremony. The election was followed by the Grand Primo conferring on the Western representative, the order of the Yellow Hat, in recognition of his services.

Further orders of merit are under consideration, and mighty fine did Master Golding look in his robes. However, 'sufficient for the day is the evil thereof' (vide Shakespeare or Robbie Burns, I know not which), and so to bed for early rising on Sunday. Rumours were current at breakfast of mysterious happenings and rites in the G.P.'s room, but Rumour being a fictitious jade, we pass it by.

The glorious morning was somewhat married by a sad occurrence, to wit, the arrest of the Western representative by order of the G.P., the duty being mournfully but manfully carried out by Sergt. Clark and Brother Macdonald. The prisoner being released on probation, the tower was ascended, and three courses of Stedman Cinques were very nicely tapped. The bells are certainly a very fine peal of twelve for the weight (tenor 22 cwt.), and every bell is heard beautifully.

At 12.30, preceding lunch, the merits of the local waters were discussed, and after lunch a trip was made to Painswick, where, as is well known, hangs a remarkably fine peal of twelve (tenor 26 cwt., the back ten by Rudhall, and the trebles by Mears). These bells are not tuned on modern scientific lines, but it would be hard to imagine a finer peal for the weight.

The drive from Cheltenham to Painswick is a most beautiful one, and the range of views really wonderful.

After tea, at headquarters, came the sad clearing up, and bidding farewell to our genial friend and guide, Mr. Pates, Y.H. The journey home was quiet, for were we not rather tired with our exertions, but our irrepressible G.P. with great brain power, invented a new mechanical device, which may one day become famous. So was spent one of the most enjoyable and successful outings of the Guild.

AJAX.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Bedford District was held at Cople on Saturday last. A few earnest members were present (including Miss K. Willars, of Trumpington, Cambs), but it is hoped that more members will try and attend these meetings to make them a real success. One prominent figure was missed on this occasion, in the person of Mr. P. Inskip, who unfortunately met with an accident rather more than a week ago, and now lies in Bedford County Hospital with a fractured thigh. All the members wish him a speedy recovery.

At the business meeting, Mr. W. Stapleton being in the chair, it was proposed to hold the next meeting at Kimbolton and Keysoe at the end of August. The date and time will be announced in 'The Ringing World.'

SUDDEN DEATH OF MR. THOMAS BANCROFT.

On Tuesday, July 8th, the funeral took place at the Keighley Cemetery of Mr. Thomas Bancroft. Four of the Parish Church ringers acted as bearers, and after the committal a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells over the open grave by J. Edmondson, R. W. Jennison, H. Thorpe and A. Jackson. Afterwards a touch of Grandsire Triples was rung on the tower bells, with deeply muffled clappers.

The news of the death of Mr. Bancroft came as a shock to his friends in Keighley, who were expecting him on his holidays, but instead received a telegram to say he had died suddenly.

FIRST QUARTER-PEAL IN NATAL.

On Monday, July 1st, in honour of the Natal centenary, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles, with 6-8 covering, was rung in 49 minutes at St. Mary's Church, Greyville, Durban: Miss Daisy Clarkson 1, W. H. Royston (late Milton-next-Gravesend) 2, John Prickett (late Chepstow, Mon.), conductor, 3, Harold Howard 4, Thomas Nash 5, T. Ewart Prickett (late Chepstow, Mon.) 6, Chas. Clarkson 8. This is the first quarter-peal in Natal, the first on the bells, and the first by the ringers of the 1st, 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th.

FIFTY-THREE YEARS A RINGER.

An interesting presentation took place at the Rectory at Winterbourne, Glos., last week, when the Rev. E. J. Burroughs, on behalf of the ringers, handed to Mr. S. C. Blisp, on the occasion of his 70th birthday, a silver-mounted walking stick, inscribed 'S. C. Blisp, from the fellow-ringers, July 15th, 1924.'—The Rector wished Mr. Blisp good health for many years to come.

The bells at the Parish Church were rung during the evening, Mr. S. C. Blisp taking part in the ringing. Mr. Blisp has been a ringer for 53 years.

FALSE PEAL OF STEDMAN CATERS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I wish to offer my sincere regret to the band of worthy brother strings who took part with me in ringing a false peal at Rochester Cathedral in September, 1923. The composition was compiled in 1906, and luckily has not been rung before or since. The Rochester Sunday band can now claim their recent peal of Stedman Caters as the first on the bells. I further wish to apologise to the reverend hon. secretary of the K.C.A. for publishing a false peal in his report.—Yours truly,

F. A. HOLDEN.

Cranwell, July 14th, 1924.

Steel (York) 6, H. Walker (Doncaster, conductor) 7, H. Gibson 8. The quarter-peal was rung to commemorate the anniversary of the restoration of the church, also as a coming-of-age compliment to Miss D. Ferguson, youngest daughter of the 2nd ringer. Mr. H. Ferguson is the father of change ringing in Scarborough. In honour of the same events an attempt was made for Grove's Variation of Parker's Twelve Part Peal of Grandsire Triples, on the following evening. Unfortunately, after two hours' ringing, it was thought advisable to let the bells run home at the end of the eighth part, owing to the excessive heat and the very heavy 'go' of the tenor and one or two other bells. OXFORD GUILD AFFAIRS.

There was a very businesslike air about the transaction of the affairs of the Oxford Diocesan Guild at the annual meeting on Saturday. There were several matters of considerable importance on the agenda, the most contentious being, in view of past discord on the subject, the venue of next year's festival. The claims of Buckinghamshire were put forward, and, having regard to the ultimate voting, it is by no means certain that that county would not have secured a majority had it been possible to go to High Wycombe, but, as we pointed out when the secession of this tower was threatened, the mere fact of its withdrawal from the Guild made it impossible that this Bucks centre should be chosen. High Wycombe, therefore, robbed itself of very probable selection by its action, for the little town of Beaconsfield, proposed as an alternative, was only defeated by four votes out of the 72 cast between it and Oxford. A referendum motion was defeated, for the view was taken that with those who attended the meeting should rest the fixing of the next venue—and that is a difficult argument to contest.

Although several other matters of importance to the Guild were decided, they were passed without dissent, showing that there is behind the Guild a strong body of united opinion. Even a motion that the branches shall be charged in future for the copies of the report required by their respective members was unchallenged. In some other associations this would hardly have been the case, despite the reasonableness of the claim that branch balances should be called to the aid of the central fund. In the Oxford Guild the branches may retain up to one half of the subscriptions of members, and the consequence has been that, while the printing of a report on the present lines would soon have swallowed up the reserves of the general fund, the branches have accumulated substantial amounts for which they have no pressing use. The proposal which was adopted on Saturday is one which other associations may be tempted to try, where their branches have funds that will enable them to do so.

The appointment of a paid secretary was another matter which met with no opposition. We were not quite correct when we said last week that this proposal was a new departure. We wrote from recollection, but the Master pointed out that the principle was in operation in the Oxford Guild before the war, and was only suspended when the claims of those dark days put a temporary end, or nearly so, to the work of the association. However, in their present secretary the Guild has

ESTIMATES SUBMITTED FOR NEW OR REPAIR WORK

WARWICKSHIRE GUILD. SUBSCRIPTION TO BE INCREASED.

The annual meeting of the Warwickshire Guild at Nuneaton, on Saturday week, was one of the most successful in the history of the society. Ringing commenced at St. Nicholas' Church about 3 p.m., and at 4.30 the Guild's special service was taken in church by the Vicar, assisted by Canon Dodds. The Archdeacon gave the address. Upwards of 60 ringers were present from various parts of the county, including a number of ladies.

At the conclusion of the service tea was provided on the Vicarage Lawn, by the kind invitation of the Vicar, with the assistance of several ladies, including the wives of the Nuneaton ringers.

The business meeting took place immediately after tea, presided over by the Archdeacon, at which the hon. general secretary, Mr. A. Wilkerson, read a report of the Guild's activities during the past year and presented the balance sheet, both of which were duly passed.

The Hon. General Secretary, in his report, stated that quarterly meetings were held at Stoke-in-Coventry, Chilvers Coton and Southam. Meetings had also been held at Monks Kirby, Exhall, Bulkington, Whitnash and Coleshill. Two special meetings were held, at Coleshill in January, and Bulkington in March. At Coleshill the members were specially invited to hear the two new trebles installed there by the generosity of Mr. Fifield, making the peal into one of eight. At Bulkington the four original bells had been overhauled, two of them recast, and the peal augmented to six by Messrs. Taylor and Co. The Guild was specially invited to open them on March 15th, when the dedication was performed by the Lord Bishop of Coventry. Upwards of fifty ringers were present, and it was a red-letter day for the village. All the meetings had been very well attended with the exception of Southam. At the meeting at Chilvers Coton a collection was taken on behalf of the Bulkington Bell Fund, and resulted in £2 being sent to that object. It was also resolved at this meeting to alter the date of the annual meeting from July to April. During the year sixteen new members had been elected—three honorary members, four non-resident, and nine ordinary ringing members. The honorary members were the Archdeacon of Aston and Vicar of Coleshill, the Rev. J. H. Richards, the Rev. R. L. B. Oliver, Vicar of Monks Kirby; and the Rev. Frank Melville, Vicar of Exhall. Twenty-five peals had been rung, against nineteen last year, twenty-one on tower bells and four on handbells, and including the first peal of Bristol for the Guild, rung by the Stoke band, the first peal of Bob Major 'in hand,' and the first peal of Cambridge Minor, with seven different callings. The first peal of New Cambridge Surprise for the Guild had also been rung. The peals comprised: Grandsire Triples, 1; Stedman Triples, 5; Double Norwich, 1; Superlative, 1; Cambridge Surprise, 1; Bristol Surprise, 5; London Surprise, 1; Minor in five methods, 2; Minor in seven methods, 1; Stedman Caters in hand, 2; Bob Major in hand, 2; Cambridge Surprise Minor, 2; and New Cambridge Surprise, 1. The accounts showed a balance in hand of £5 7s. 5d., as compared with £10 4s. 5d. a year ago.

AN UNSUCCESSFUL INNOVATION.

The innovation of asking members to contribute 6d. towards the cost of printing the report had not been successful. Out of 200 printed less than 100 had been sold. In view of this, the only alternative when another report was issued would be to raise the subscription to 2s.

The secretary added that he very much regretted the president (the Ven. Archdeacon of Warwick) had been compelled to resign the office after a period of nine years, but he was pleased to announce that, if it be the members' pleasure, the Vicar of Nuneaton (the Rev. J. L. White) would accept the office.

The new arrangement for monthly meetings had not been a success, and the secretary suggested a return to the original arrangement. Messrs. H. Argyle and A. Roberts, the representatives on the Central Council, both attended the Council meeting on Whit Tuesday in London, and to them their thanks were due. Thanks were also due to the hon. district secretaries, Messrs. F. G. Ashbourne, T. W. Chapman, J. B. Fenton, F. E. Perrin and B. W. Mitchell for their work in that direction.

It remained to thank all other officers and members for their support and work during the past year, also the clergy who had placed their towers and bells at the disposal of the association, both for peals and meetings, particularly the incumbents and friends at Bulkington, Coleshill, Stoke, Chilvers Coton, and Whitnash, for their kind hospitality when the meetings were held in these respective places, and last, but not least, to the Vicar of Nuneaton for his kind invitation to tea that day.

The accounts showed a balance in hand of £5 7s. 5d., as compared with £10 4s. 5d. a year ago.

The election of officers for the ensuing year then took place. The Vicar of Nuneaton (the Rev. J. L. White) was unanimously elected president, in place of the Archdeacon of Warwick.

Mr. T. W. Chapman (Nuneaton) was elected Ringing Master, in place of Mr. A. Roberts, Coventry, resigned, and the rest of the officers were re-elected. The Archdeacon was unanimously elected a vice-president, and Mr. A. Roberts' name was added to the committee, in place of Mr. James George, Birmingham.

A discussion took place respecting the printed report, and eventually the Vicar of Monks Kirby moved a resolution that a report be printed yearly, and the subscription be increased to 2s., commencing January, 1925, this being seconded and carried by a large majority.

PRESENTATION TO RETIRING PRESIDENT.

Following the election of officers, a very pleasing little ceremony took place, when Mr. H. Argyle, the senior member of the committee present, asked the Archdeacon's acceptance of a suit case, suitably engraved, from the ringing members of the Guild, as a small token of their respect, appreciation of his services, and many acts of kindness during his nine years of office.

Mr. A. Wilkerson endorsed Mr. Argyle's remarks, and said the amount for the suit case was over-subscribed, and the committee decided to purchase a pair of silver candlesticks, which he asked Miss Gladys Dodds to present to Mrs. Back.

Both the Archdeacon and Mrs. Back were taken by surprise, and both very heartily thanked the ringers for the kindly thought which prompted their action, and for the beautiful and useful presents.

Votes of thanks were heartily accorded the Vicar for the use of the bells, and for arranging with the organist and choir boys to assist at the service; also for his generosity in providing tea to the clergy who assisted at the service; the Archdeacon for his address, and to the ladies who kindly gave their assistance at the tea tables.

The tower was again visited, and ringing continued until about 8 p.m., during which time the touches included Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major, Double Norwich, London, Bristol, Cambridge and New Cambridge Surprise, after which a pleasant hour was spent with the handbells.

Permission had been obtained to use Chilvers Coton bells, but owing to illness near the church this had to be reluctantly withdrawn.

PROPOSED MEMORIAL TO MR. J. W. WASHBROOK. SUGGESTED BELLS FOR AN OXFORD CHURCH.

At the annual meeting of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, on Saturday last, Canon G. F. Coleridge brought forward a motion, which had previously been before the Guild Committee, and recommended for adoption, 'That the Oxford Guild take the necessary steps to erect a memorial to the late Mr. J. W. Washbrook in Oxford, and that subscriptions be invited from all Associations, Guilds and Ringing Societies, and from personal friends.' Canon Coleridge said there were probably very few who knew Mr. Washbrook better than he did, but he did not think it was necessary for him, on that occasion, to dilate on Mr. Washbrook's activities, his personal character, or anything else in his career as a ringer, because the preacher that morning had dwelt at length upon it. Everything they had heard from him, he (the speaker) could re-echo. They all knew what a great man Mr. Washbrook was, and they all knew it was a desire of a great many ringers that a suitable memorial should be erected to him in Oxford. He said 'in Oxford,' because originally it was suggested by him that it should be at St. Thomas', where Mr. Washbrook lived in the earlier part of his life, and where he was a boy at school. Afterwards they found out that it might be possible to erect the memorial in the cloisters at Oxford, close to the memorial to the late Master, the Rev. F. E. Robinson. Since then they heard that there was no proper space in the tower of St. Thomas's, and that the only place there for it was in the belfry. That would be most unsatisfactory, as it would not be seen by anybody except the local ringers. They had also been told that it would not be possible to get permission from the Dean and Chapter to place the memorial in the cloisters of the Cathedral. There was now a proposal that two further bells should be added to the peal at St. Ebbe's Church, Oxford, and inquiries had been made as to whether the Guild would take that up as a memorial to Mr. Washbrook. He had thought it over, and had come to the conclusion that if sufficient money was forthcoming and the necessary permission could be obtained, no fitter memorial could be placed to the memory of Mr. Washbrook than by adding two treble bells to St. Ebbe's. He therefore moved: 'That a memorial be erected to the late Mr. Washbrook in Oxford, and that subscriptions be invited from all Associations, Guilds and Ringing Societies, and from personal friends.'

Mr. Hibbert seconded the resolution, that a memorial should be erected to one who was 'one of the dearest men in the world.' He was a man, said Mr. Hibbert, whose company you never left without knowing more than when you met him. He was a man without an atom of conceit, and he could do anything it was possible to do with a church bell or a pair of handbells. As to his moral character it was above suspicion in all ways, and if he (Mr. Hibbert) could help on the completion of this peal of eight at Oxford in any way, they Oxford was the place, because Mr. Washbrook was not associated with summated (applause).

Mr. T. Trollope suggested that if the memorial was placed at St. Ebbe's it would be rather buried, and he suggested the possibility of having the memorial placed in the Carfax tower. If it were recorded on the wall outside it would call the attention of thousands of people, not only to the fact that there were two memorial bells there, but that they had such a splendid man who had done such splendid work for bell ringing. As an amendment, he would like to propose that the memorial, if feasible, should be placed in Carfax tower.

The Master said the whole ringing world was looking at Oxford as the place where the memorial should be set up. Was the Guild in favour of that? The Lancashire Association, among whose members Mr. Washbrook spent the later years of his life, had said they felt Oxford was the place, because Mr. Washbrook was not associated with any particular church in Manchester.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION'S SUPPORT.

The Secretary read a letter from the Lancashire Association, in which it was stated that the Association had considered the question of erecting a memorial to Mr. Washbrook, and that they desired to know whether the Oxford Guild was doing anything in the matter. Their first suggestion had been that something should be placed on the grave, and that was favoured by the family, but the cemetery where Mr. Washbrook was buried was twenty minutes' walk from the nearest peal of bells, and the members were afraid that a memorial there would soon be forgotten. Mr. Washbrook was never a member of a tower in Manchester, and Pendleton and Miles Platting were the belfries with which he was chiefly associated. There were no bells at his own parish church. It was, therefore, suggested that the Oxford Guild and the Central Council should be written to to see if they would make the memorial a national one. Whatever the Oxford Guild did, they could depend upon the Lancashire Association giving them their fullest support.

The resolution that the memorial should be in Oxford was then put to the meeting, and carried.

It was decided that the scheme be left in the hands of a committee, consisting of the Master, the hon. treasurer, the secretary, Canon Coleridge, Messrs. A. D. Cullum, H. Miles and W. H. Wilkins (St. Ebbe's).

In asking for suggestions which the committee might consider, the Master said he was quite sure that a scheme to increase to eight one of the many rings of six bells in the city of Oxford would find favour with other ringers throughout the country. The cost of adding the two bells at St. Ebbe's would be approximately £100. Out of this about £14 had already been subscribed in the parish, and if this scheme were adopted the Church Authorities would see about getting more.

The Rev. F. Ll. Edwards said that for a good many years there had been a demand for two more bells at St. Giles', Oxford, and he was under the impression the pits were already there. With all due respect to St. Ebbe's, they were tiny little bells, the tenor being only about 5 cwt., and it was a place which was very much buried. He, therefore, thought it would be very much better if they could put the memorial at St. Giles', where, it might be, the bells would form a more worthy memorial.

The Secretary said he thought Mr. Edwards had forgotten his Oxford. St. Ebbe's was described as being buried, but the ringers there could ring when they liked, and this church had been a school for ringers. St. Giles' was at the gates of the Radcliffe Infirmary, and if they put the bells there the clappers would have to be tied, and spikes put through the wheels. St. Ebbe's was a far more appropriate place, and if Mr. Washbrook knew what the Guild was doing, he (Mr. Hibbert) was sure he would like to know that the bells were being put where they could be rung.

This concluded the discussion on the matter, and the scheme is now in the hands of the special committee.

THE HEREFORD GUILD.

A MEETING AT COALBROOKDALE.

The quarterly meeting of the Bridgnorth district of the Hereford Diocesan Guild, held at Coalbrookdale on July 19th, was a great success, between forty and fifty ringers attending from Bridgnorth (St. Leonard's and St. Mary's), Broseley, Wellington, Little Wenlock, Walsall, Willey and Malinslee. Ringing commenced at 2.30, and the Rev. Preb. C. B. Crowe gave the visitors a most hearty welcome to the tower. The Rector of Little Wenlock and the Vicar of Wellington were present. Everybody was pleased to see Mr. Charles Edwards, the Ringing Master of the Guild, at Coalbrookdale, this being his first trip to the north section of the diocese. He spoke very highly of the very fine ring of eight bells by Messrs. Mears (tenor 20 cwt. in E, and cast in 1852), and said Coalbrookdale ought to feel proud to possess such a ring of bells. He also congratulated the ringers on the striking throughout. He added that he had often been chaffed and told that that end of the Guild could hold its own, and he admitted that he found it to be quite correct. Mr. Edwards stayed the night at Coalbrookdale, and took part in some very good ringing for Sunday morning service, leaving for Hereford on his motor-cycle in the afternoon. Unfortunately the weather was none too good for his 50 miles' journey. One thing is quite certain, he is very careful with his 'New Departure.' His greatest adventure on Saturday was to get 'fish-hooked' in a dogrose bush overhanging the Corredale Road, and it was an old one at that. He could not hide the fact, as the bush had branded his cheek. But, perhaps, this was not so bad as the experience of two members returning from the annual meeting on the '8-horse Twin Enfield.' In the Corredale, the pillion rider performed an acrobatic feat, and some of the bags, top coats, pants, etc., have not been seen since. Accidents will, however, happen to the most careful. But to resume, it was also a pleasure to have Mr. John Overton at the meeting. It was only natural that he should appeal to the ringers to listen to the striking, also to show them how to ring the treble. He has always been an advocate and ringer of the highest standard.

A very nice service was held in church, the Rev. Preb. C. B. Crowe officiating, and giving a fine address. The Rev. A. C. Howell, Rector of Little Wenlock, read the lesson; Mr. William D. Wase, one of the local ringers, played at the organ, in fine style for the hymns, psalms, chants, etc. 'Billy,' as he is best known, is very modest and too shy sometimes even to let you know that he is the first 'local' to ring a peal of Double Norwich. But that has given the local men a longing to get another move on.

After the service, tracks were made for Trinity Hall for tea, and the business meeting followed, presided over by the Rev. Preb. Crowe. Mr. Herbert Hughes and Mr. Fred Johnson (churchwardens) were also present. One new member was elected, and the chairman again said how delighted he was to welcome the Guild to Coalbrookdale, knowing full well that with his loyal and clever local ringers they would be sure of a really good time.

The Rev. A. C. Howell moved a vote of thanks to the Vicar. The meeting over a return was made to the tower for further ringing. Several of the Broseley men had their first pull on eight, ringing Grandsire Doubles with 4-6-8 covering. They gave a good account of themselves, and are on the right track. They also enjoyed watching the higher methods being rung.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION. VISIT TO THE 'OLD HOME.'

An enjoyable meeting of the North and East District of the Middlesex County Association was held at Hendon on Saturday, July 26th, when some 36 members and friends braved the elements to visit the home of the old Middlesex Association, the forerunner in this district of the present organisation. For many years the bells have been almost silent, it having been far from a pleasure to ring them, but they have recently been rebung by the Whitechapel Foundry with excellent results, and it is to be hoped that the Hendon band will soon be, as in the old days, amongst the leading six-bell ringers in the county. Owing to the unfortunate circumstance that the Vicar (the Rev. S. Chettoe) is seriously ill in a nursing home, the usual service had to be dispensed with.

Tea was served in the Church House, and was followed by the business meeting, the chair being taken by Mr. F. A. Milne, president. Amongst the business transacted was a vote of congratulation to the band of ladies who 'made history' at Old Windsor on May 10th by ringing the first peal of Stedman Triples in which mere man did not take part. This the hon. secretary was instructed to forward to Miss Parker, who so ably conducted the peal.

The next meeting of the district was arranged to be held at Stanmore on September 20th, whilst the hon. secretary announced that a joint meeting with the Essex Association was being held at Waltham Abbey on August 23rd. This, the hon. secretary stated, was not a meeting for business purposes, but for united practice with a neighbouring association, and he hoped it would be the forerunner of many such gatherings.

A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar for the use of the bells, coupled with the sincere regrets of the members at his serious illness, and best wishes for a speedy recovery.

Thanks were also given to Mr. C. H. Martin and the local ringers for arranging everything to the satisfaction of the visitors. A large variety of methods were rung during the afternoon, there being opportunity given to all present to indulge in their fancy, whether it was Grandsire Doubles, Stedman Doubles, or Bob Minor, or something more advanced, such as Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, Double Court, Double Oxford, or Beverley, York, Cambridge, Wells, or London Surprise.

WIGTOFT LINGS.—At the Church of SS. Peter and Paul, on Saturday, July 12th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles, in 49 mins.: W. Young 1, W. E. Clarke 2, F. Dewey 3, G. Coleman 4, J. Young (conductor) 5.

THE LATE COUNCIL MEETING.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—There are two matters about which I should be glad if I may say a word.

The request that the Council should pay for the advertisement of their publications in our report, was an unauthorised one made in error by the printer. The matter was never discussed by the Suffolk Guild, and personally I think every association ought to freely advertise these publications whenever they can: it is one of the things that we exist for.

If I gave the impression that my Archdeacon is opposed to iron frames, I ought not to have done so. I think he told me that he has an open mind in the matter. But it was in consequence of some remarks of his, that I gathered that there is a movement in the Church Assembly, and in the Committee for the Preservation of Churches, to oppose the use of iron for bell frames in churches.

ISLE OF WIGHT RINGER'S WEDDING.

A marriage was celebrated at St. Thomas' Church, Newport, on Thursday, July 24th, between Miss May Young and Mr. Walter Scott, junr., both of Newport. The ceremony was performed by the Vicar of St. John's, and during the afternoon a peal of Bob Major was rung upon tower bells by comrades of the bridegroom, who is one of the local band.

A reception at the Masonic Hall followed, the wedding guests making a large gathering, which enjoyed hospitality with the usual wedding festivities, including handbells and dancing till 10 p.m. Wedges of wedding cake and bumpers of port enabled the company heartily to wish the bride and bridegroom every happiness. The happy pair left at six o'clock for Southsea for the honeymoon.

CANON BAKER'S DEPARTURE.

At Dunstable, Beds, on Tuesday, July 22nd, a quarter-peal (1,280 changes) of Double Norwich Court Bob Major, in 48 mins.: B. F. Calcott (longest touch of Major) 1, Canon W. W. C. Baker 2, A. V. Good 3, C. Rollings 4, C. E. King 5, G. Heley 6, A. G. Matthews 7, A. E. Sharman (conductor) 8. This touch was rung on Canon Baker's last practice night as Rector of Dunstable.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The Ringers' Roll of Honour, compiled by the Central Council, which is a most beautifully executed volume, has now been deposited in the Library at St. Paul's Cathedral.

At a meeting of the College Youths, a resolution was unanimously adopted congratulating the band who rang the peal at Exeter Cathedral recently.

The Birmingham twelve-bell week has been fixed for September 22nd to 27th inclusive, and four towers have so far been secured.

The opening of the ring of twelve bells at the Waterloo Tower, Quex Park, Kent, took place on August 4th, 1819. There was a great fête in connection with the event, and London Societies provided the men to do the opening ringing, Wm. Shipway being among those who took part.

The first peal of Grandsire Royal was rung at Painswick on August 6th, 1815. There had previously been a peal rung at Aston by St. Martin's Youths, Birmingham, but this turned out to be false.

A 'silent' peal of Stedman Triples was rung at Drayton on August 7th, 1899.

THE TAUNTON PEAL TABLET SUGGESTION.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—As one of those who spoke against this suggestion, I did so for several reasons. When the peal was arranged it was intended to ring it for the Gloucester and Bristol Association, see footnote to peal. My little experience has been, if you are fortunate enough to secure a coveted tower and bag a peal, you go away satisfied. Mr. Walker and I took part on October 3rd, 1896, in the first peal on ten bells by the association (Grandsire Caters) at St. Mary's, Taunton, and all the band were Sunday Service ringers at this church. This, in my humble opinion, was progress from a ringing point of view inside any association. The association did not provide a tablet; neither have they been asked to erect one for the firsts of Stedman Triples and Caters, Bob Major and Royal, Kent Major, and some notable performances on six bells by the Norton band in years gone by. All the above were accomplished by local hands. Some may not agree with me, but from a progressive standpoint, a peal of Stedman Cinques by a band of experts from outside cannot be compared with a West Country (local) peal of Stedman Triples, or even Caters. One cannot expect to get an annual report full of peals, seeing that transport facilities are so poor. If anyone gets out to an outlying tower in the evening he cannot get back by train after about 7 p.m. So, if by any chance visiting ringers come along and satisfy a certain desire, it gives the annual report a little more dignity sometimes, which we locals cannot supply.—Yours truly,

Taunton.

STEDMAN TRIPLES AT DUNSTABLE.

To the Editor.

Sir,—With reference to the peal of Stedman Triples at Dunstable on June 3rd last, and published in your issue of June 13th, the footnote of which states 'First peal of Stedman on the bells by an entirely local band.' As one of the ringers, Mr. C. Rollings, was then and is still a member of the Luton band, the remark is incorrect, and the conductor has been notified to this effect, and requested to withdraw same through the columns of your valuable paper. As he has not done so the members of the Luton band wish me to point this error out.

SUFFOLK GUILD.

REQUEST FOR A GENERAL MEETING.

A very successful meeting of the Saxmundham District was held at Leiston on Saturday, July 19th, when members from twelve towers attended. The ringing included touches in methods ranging from Plain Bob to London Surprise Major. A short service was held, at which the Rector (the Rev. F. W. Morgan Jones) gave a brief and much appreciated address on the use of church bells. After the service an adjournment was made to the Junior Council Schools, where the ladies had prepared a sumptuous repast. After the removal of the cloth, smokes were handed round, and a short business meeting was held.

Two honorary members and four performing members were elected. A discussion took place as to a general meeting of the Guild, and it was decided that a recommendation be sent to the general secretary that a meeting be held at Woodbridge at as early a date as can be arranged.

Reference was made to the death of Mr. J. Button, for over fifty years Master of the Leiston company, and the members stood in silence, as a mark of respect.

Mr. F. Watling (Saxmundham) and Mr. C. F. Bailey (Leiston) thanked the Rector and the ladies for their untiring efforts to make the meeting a success.

Afterwards other touches on the tower bells brought to a conclusion one of the most successful meetings held in the district.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

THE ANNUAL FESTIVAL.

There was a large gathering of ringers at Reading on Saturday on the occasion of the annual festival of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. The venue had been changed from Oxford on account of the clashing of a visit of a large number of Americans to the University city. The day's proceedings began with a service at St. Lawrence's Church, which was well attended, and was conducted by the Master (the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn). Special hymns were used, and the singing was most hearty. The preacher was the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards (hon. secretary of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild), who based his sermon on St. Paul's words to the Corinthians, 'Ever follow that which is good.' This text, he said, applied in a special degree to those who happened to hold any office in the service of the church, and as ringers they should have a high standard of churchmanship, a high standard of conduct, and a high standard of ringing. As Christians they owed a general duty of obedience to their Christian profession, and to the rules laid down by the Church for their guidance. Part of that duty was regular worship. It was their privilege as ringers to call God's people to the House of Prayer, and it obviously should be the regular habit of ringers to take part in that worship. It was their duty to join in worship not merely because they were ringers, but because they were Churchmen, and, therefore, when they were away from home on Sunday, as on occasion they might be, in order to ring at other belfries, they should make a point of joining in the act of worship in at least one of the churches where they were privileged to ring the bells. In maintaining a high standard of conduct, the first essential was a high standard of obedience to the moral law. There could be found no class of the community which could show a better record of morality than the ringers of this country, and they should be careful to maintain that record. As church officers they should take a lead among their fellow-men in maintaining temperance, fidelity and truth in all things; they should take a strong stand on the old-fashioned simple virtues that had made our nation great, and by which alone that greatness could be preserved. They should, as ringers, maintain a high sense of truth and honour, and such a standard in their own specific activities as they were proud and thankful to say were the well established traditions of the fraternity. It would be fresh in the minds of many of them how a point on this subject was discussed at the recent meeting of the Central Council in connection with umpires for handbell peals, and the Council almost unanimously decided that the best safeguard they could have against any fraudulent attempt to set up claims to unworthy performances, was to trust to the sense of honour prevailing among ringers. Another way of maintaining this standard was in keeping faith with their colleagues, and being always in their place, and punctual. They wanted these principles carried out in their dealings with their fellow-men so that ringers could be looked upon as men to be always trusted, and whose word was in very truth their bond.

THE LATE MR. J. W. WASHBROOK.

Then, continued the preacher, they wanted in a special sense a high standard of ringing. The Oxford Guild was rich in examples of ringing of a high standard. He could not pass over that occasion without paying a tribute to the memory of one whose sudden passing sent a shock to the hearts of very many ringers throughout the length and breadth of the land. To those who knew Oxford thirty years ago the name which would be most closely linked with it was that of one of the most eminent ringers of all time—James William Washbrook. Although his activities as a ringer were distributed over a wide field in the British Isles, it was in the period of his association with the Oxford Guild and during his residence at Oxford that those great achievements of his were performed, and that he won his title to undying fame as a very prince among ringers. For long years he was instructor and conductor to his Guild, and carried on a magnificent work in promoting the art of ringing. He was a man of splendid physical development, and quite exceptional intellect, with a wonderful power of concentration; a man who was frankly and simply conscious of his pre-eminent position, but entirely free from any tendency to boast of his own powers and achievements, and withal generously appreciative of the attainments and merits of others. He was ready to encourage youthful aspiration and assist an earnest beginner in his efforts. Those who knew him, and who had the privilege of being associated with him in the pursuance of our art, would fain pay their tribute of admiration and affection, and they might well take an example from that man and apply it to the principle of their text, 'Ever follow that which is good.' The preacher emphasised the importance of giving the best in service ringing, and to take as example in maintaining a high standard of ringing that of the late Mr. Washbrook.

THE BUSINESS MEETING.

After the service dinner was served at the Central Cafe, where the Master presided, supported by the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards, Mrs. Jenkyn, Mrs. Norris, Miss Norris, Miss Robinson, the Rev. Canon G. F. Coleridge, the Rev. R. H. Hart Davis, the Rev. H. J. Mumford (Rector of St. Lawrence), Mr. R. T. Hibbert (secretary), Mr. W. Hibbert, Mr. A. J. Wright (hon. treasurer), etc.

Nearly 100 sat down to lunch, and there were 120 present at the business meeting from the following towers: Abingdon, Appleton, Aldermaston, Benson, Bradfield, Burnham, Boyne Hill, Caversham, Cookham, Chipping Norton, Crowthorne, Drayton, Fulmer, Hitcham, Henley-on-Thames, Hughenden, High Wycombe, Harwell, Hagbourne, Hendred, Headington, Isley, Iwer, Long Crendon, Mortimer, Maple-durham, Newbury, Oxford (St. Ebbe's and University Society), Pangbourne, Reading (St. Lawrence, St. Mary and St. Giles), Stoke Poges, Sulham, Stevenage, Wallingford, West Wycombe and Wokingham.

After the repast, the Master proposed a vote of thanks to the preacher, the Rector of St. Lawrence, and the organist, and this was acknowledged by the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards and the Rev. H. J. Mumford.

The business meeting was then held, and the Master presented his report for the year 1923, in the course of which he stated: There appears to be in certain quarters a misapprehension as to the method of ordering Guild affairs. They are ordered, not by any individual, nor by any one branch, but by members assembled in general meeting. At this meeting the Guild committee presents its report, which contains the opinion of the committee on matters which it has considered. This acts as a guide to the general meeting in arriving at its decisions, but is in no way binding unless it is then and there adopted. If a branch desires to see certain measures carried out, it should notify the general secretary accordingly, and should instruct its representatives on the Guild Committee to bring these points forward at the committee meeting (held alternately at Reading and Oxford), which it is expected they should attend. Of course a matter may be brought forward at the general meeting which has not come before the committee, by giving proper notice, but it is always better for the committee to discuss a matter before it goes to the general meeting. With regard to a referendum, this can only be ordered by a general meeting, and would not naturally be resorted to unless the voting on some important matter were so close as to appear to demand it. I have attended meetings of all the different branches. The outstanding feature has been the good feeling which exists. It is quite the exception to find it otherwise. It is very gratifying to note the revival of change ringing at Banbury. Congratulation to Mr. Maurice Smith for this. I have given advice on rehanging at Chaddleworth, Lower Heyford, Kingham, Milton Keynes, Stoke Poges, Great Tew, and Wing. Restoration work has been carried out at Beedon, Brightwalton, Peasemore, Stony Stratford, Wootton, and West Wycombe. In all these cases additions have been made to the number of the bells. The Rev. R. H. Hart Davis has resigned the treasurer-ship of the Guild, and the chairmanship of the Sonning Deanery branch. He feels very strongly that he should give way to younger men. He has held both offices almost since their commencement, and for some time was also Guild hon. secretary. He retires thanked and honoured by the whole Guild, and glad to know that in each case a worthy successor has been forthcoming. We are fortunate in securing one so keen and experienced as Mr. A. J. Wright, of Reading, to be our hon. treasurer, while Canon Coleridge adds to the many duties which he so faithfully discharges that of chairman of the branch of his own deanery. Mr. G. Martin, of Boyne Hill, and Mr. P. Wilson (branch secretary), of Warborough, have been seriously ill. We congratulate them both on their recovery. It was announced at the festival that Mr. W. Newell, of Reading, had retired from all ringing, and indeed from all active work, owing to failing health. The news was received with much sorrow. He has done a wonderful work spread over many years. At the end of the year came the sad news of the sudden death of Mr. J. W. Washbrook, of Manchester, and formerly of Oxford. It is impossible here to pay a sufficient tribute to one so great in every way, so gifted, so lovable. The fact that it is some twenty years since he lived amongst us does not diminish the debt of gratitude the Guild owes to him. May he rest in peace. Once again I would acknowledge on behalf of the Guild all the good work that has been done by the hon. treasurer (past and present) and by the hon. secretary.

The Master added that he made a reference at the close of his report to the serious illness of Mr. W. Newell, who had since passed from them. He would like to take that opportunity at their first annual meeting after his death, to show they were still mindful of him, and the great services he rendered to that Guild. He would like also that their secretary should send a letter to Mrs. Newell, telling her that they thought of him with affection and respect.

This was agreed to, and the members stood in silence for a few moments.

GUILD FINANCES.

The treasurer's and secretary's reports were taken as read. The treasurer's report was as follows: The statement of accounts for 1923 show a balance of £64 11s. 1d., as compared with £51 1s. 7d. brought forward last year. The increase is largely accounted for by the arrears brought forward, which amount to £19 16s. 7d. The expenditure is practically the same. The net cost of each member is one shilling and twopence, and as the Guild only received ninepence there is a net loss of fivepence per member. The deficiency is made up by (1) hon. members' subscriptions, and (2) subscriptions to the general Guild, which amounted to £1 11s., as compared with £1 17s. 10d. in 1904. The subscriptions from the branches amount to £67 9s. 6d., being £12 6s. 4d. less than last year. Seven branches have increased their membership, and six show a decrease. Only eight branches paid their subscriptions before December 31st. I suggest that Rule 3 (for local branches) should be amended by altering 'December 31st' to 'before the annual festival.' It is impossible for me to close the accounts at the end of the year unless I receive the subscriptions some time beforehand. It will be necessary to provide £80 before the end of the year, and I only have £64 in hand. I very much regret that there will be no funds for restoration grants this year beyond £10 passed at the annual meeting. The pressing need is a considerable increase in the number of hon. members. I feel sure that this might be accomplished if all members would make a special effort in that direction. In order to arrive at the true financial position I have inserted in the statement of accounts the balances in the hands of ten branches, which amount to £96 1s. 10d. Three have not sent me balance sheets. The committee will consider various suggestions for placing the Guild finance on a sound basis, and I hope that the proposals which will be brought forward will receive careful attention at the annual meeting. I should like to add my appreciation of the services rendered by the late treasurer. It is just 20 years since the whole question of the position of the Guild was considered, and the suggestions Mr. Hart Davis then made are responsible for the present sound financial position. I am anxious to get into personal touch with all the members, and so far I have had the pleasure of visiting five branches. I am hoping to visit the others in the near future.

TOWERS STANDING ALOOF.

The secretary's report was as follows: Another year has gone and left its marks upon our Guild in various ways. I have again been able to visit all the branches with one exception, and again must honestly say that the feeling of brotherhood is very fine, and the branches generally are very much alive. It is of no use mincing matters, so I must say that I cannot give actual figures as to membership, owing to the unsatisfactory condition of things in the East Berks and South Bucks branch, where although we know that some towers are loyal and have paid subscriptions as in the past, others are standing aloof. This also applies to a great many individual members. These conditions have been brought about by the decision of the general meeting to again hold the annual festival at Oxford, and while our rules read as at present those members who make the journey to Oxford (or wherever the festival may be held) will always have the right to select the place for the next year. It is a source of worry to the officers of the Guild, but what can be done? No one branch can be allowed to flout the wishes of the other twelve branches. Therefore, in this report I have left the returns of the E. B. and S. B. branch very much as before, but must have something more tangible to work on next year. The Ringing Exercise had a most severe loss this year by the death of James W. Washbrook, who died quite suddenly at Christmas time. He had for some years been living at Manchester. To the younger members of this Guild Washbrook was only a name heard spoken of by older ringers, or seen on tablets in a great many bellries, but to men of my own age he was an outstanding man as a ringer and conductor, an unassuming, lovable man. Our peal record is rather remarkable for one thing, and that is the absence of 'Surprise' peals. Good progress has, however, been made in 'chango ringing,' which is a fact to be pleased about. A goodly number of young members have rung their first peals, and a great number have rung first peals in other methods than Grandsire. Let me here again remind ringers that peals are of no value or satisfaction to the ringers, or to the listening public, unless well struck. I must again tender my thanks to branch secretaries and others who have given me help, and heartily thank friends all over the diocese for the welcome and pleasant hours I have enjoyed wherever I have had occasion to visit. With a sincere wish that 'an oiled feather' may be found during the next year to smooth all friction and cement the real Guild feeling.

HINT TO OXFORD ADVISORY COMMITTEE.

The re-election of the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, as Master, was agreed to with acclamation, Mr. A. J. Wright was re-elected hon. treasurer, and Mr. R. T. Hibbert secretary. The twelve elected members of the committee were appointed as follows: Messrs. J. J. Parker, J. F. Barlow, G. Cudwell, G. Holfield, E. Humphrey, A. D. Cullum, J. Evans, W. Hibbert, senr., J. W. Wilkins, R. White, H. Sear, and F. Webb, and on the suggestion of Mr. Cullum it was resolved that the names should be printed in the report in the order of seniority as determined by years of service on the committee.

Canon Coleridge gave a resume of the proceedings of the Central Council, upon which, in addition to being president, he is a representative of the Oxford Guild. In dealing with the resolution passed by the Council recommending that in all cases Diocesan Advisory Boards should include at least one member with expert knowledge of bells and ringing, he pointed out that the Oxford Diocesan Advisory Board had no such member. Miss Norris, who was present that day, and who was hoping to become a member of their Guild, might bring this matter before her father, Canon Norris, who was chairman of the Advisory Committee of the Diocese of Oxford, and impress upon him with all the force of which she was capable, the great advisability of putting on a man well acquainted with the circumstances of bells and towers generally (hear, hear). At present, although they had on the board experts representing a great many departments of church work, their particular department was not recognised.

Canon Coleridge was warmly thanked for his report.

NEXT YEAR'S MEETING.

The meeting then came to the consideration of a number of recommendations made by the General Committee. The first had reference to the annual festival in 1925. Mr. Cullum moved that the recommendation of the committee that the festival be held at Oxford be adopted.

Mr. Wilkins proposed as an amendment that it be held at High Wycombe.

A member inquired whether it would be in order to hold the meeting at High Wycombe, that tower having, he understood, withdrawn from the Guild.

Mr. Wilkins said he was sorry if this point stood in the way of visiting Wycombe. He thought the Guild ought to visit the county of Bucks, because it was owing to the fact that the annual festival of the Guild was never held in that county that High Wycombe had withdrawn from the Guild. They all regretted the exclusion of High Wycombe, because the High Wycombe tower had always been a useful acquisition to the Guild. Not all the members of the tower were in favour of withdrawing, but the decision was directly due to the fact that Bucks was not recognised as one of the places for holding the annual festival of the Guild.

The Master said High Wycombe was out of court, so far as the next annual meeting was concerned. By withdrawing from the Guild they had practically said they did not wish the Guild to come.

Mr. Wilkins thereupon proposed that the festival in 1925 should be held at Beaconsfield.—This was seconded by Mr. Berry.

On being put to the vote, 38 voted for Oxford, and 34 for Beaconsfield.

The Master said the voting was very close, and if it was the wish of the meeting that the matter should go to a referendum, that was the time to propose it. He wanted the members to understand what a referendum would mean. The secretary would send a notice to every tower, asking the secretary to state how many members in his tower voted for Oxford and how many for Beaconsfield.

The taking of a referendum having been proposed and seconded, Mr. Cudwell opposed it. Many towers, he said, were never represented at the annual meeting, and why should they have a voice in settling where the festival was to be held?

The Master said it was quite true that those who went to the meeting should be considered and consulted, and not those who stayed away, wherever the meeting was held.

The motion on being put, was lost, and Oxford declared carried for the year 1925.

The proposal to erect a memorial to the late Mr. J. W. Washbrook will be found reported under a separate heading.

The Hon. Treasurer moved 'That the annual report be printed as at present, but that each branch secretary shall inform the general secretary in January in each year the number his branch requires, and that they shall be charged to the branch at 6d. per copy.' Mr. Wright said they were spending twenty pounds more than their income, and if that went on they would soon swallow up their reserve fund. If this resolution was carried it would just make up that £20, and keep them in a fair state, from a financial point of view. The balances held by the various branches was about £100, and they could, if they chose, pay this 6d. out of the branch funds without touching the general fund. If the branches liked to sell the reports to the members they could do so. It seemed to him that as the branches had been in existence long enough to create these balances they might come to the assistance of the Guild in this matter.—The resolution was carried nam. con.

Mr. Wright next moved a formal resolution, requiring branch secretaries to remit to the treasurer the contributions of the branch before the annual meeting, instead of, as at present, by December 31st, and also that in future cheques should be signed by the treasurer, and either the Master or one of the trustees.—Both recommendations were adopted, without discussion.

SECRETARY'S SALARY.

The Master then moved 'That the general secretary be a paid officer at a salary of £20 per annum.' He said they all enjoyed very much the leading articles which appeared in 'The Ringing World,' and he had read the one that week with much interest, but he thought the Editor was under a misapprehension. This was not a new venture. When he (the Master) joined the Guild twenty years ago they had Mr. Hart Davis as secretary and treasurer, and an assistant secretary, Mr. Pike, who was paid £20 per year. Mr. Reeves succeeded Mr. Pike, and received the salary. When Mr. Hart Davis retired from the secretaryship and remained as treasurer, Mr. Reeves carried on as secretary of the Guild, and was paid £20 a year. When the war came, and many of them were scattered, including Mr. Reeves and himself, Mr. Hibbert came into the breach and offered to carry on. He very magnanimously refused to accept anything as salary, and said he would try to do without anything, but after a time he found he was glad to accept an honorarium, and they had given him that honorarium for two or three years. Now Mr. Hibbert felt it was no longer a question of an honorarium. The demands on his time were such that he felt he must be paid. He (the Master) knew the time which Mr. Hibbert gave up to the work of the Guild, to do the things which the members required him to do. There was a great demand, too, on the time of the branch secretaries, and he would like to see a recognition made in every branch for the time which the secretary expended on the work of the branch, but he was speaking now of a salary for the secretary of the Guild. What he proposed was that in future the payment to the secretary should be regarded as a standing charge on the Guild funds.

Mr. A. E. Reeves, in seconding, said Mr. Pike received no salary. He (the speaker) was the first to receive a salary. He assured the members, from his own experience, that in spending this money they were not wasting a penny.

Mr. Wilkins supported the motion, remarking that a labourer was worthy of his hire. Twenty pounds was certainly a very small sum for the work the secretary had to perform.

The motion was then put, and carried.

Mr. Hibbert, in thanking the members, said the question was not brought forward because he had any greed for filthy lucre (laughter). He had done the work for three years, and heavy demands were made upon the secretary.

The meeting then confirmed the election of 152 new members. The secretary pointed out that 22 of these were the transfer of probationers to full membership. He would be glad to see the time when this transfer was wiped out, and then they would know how many new members they were making each year.

The Rev. J. T. Mumford and Miss Norris, daughter of the Rural Dean of Reading, were elected hon. members of the Guild, and the meeting terminated with a vote of thanks to the Master for presiding.

After the meeting the members dispersed to ring on the bells in the various towers in Reading and adjoining places, a number going to Caversham and Wokingham.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

CENTRAL DIVISION AT SEAFORD.

A meeting of the Central Division was held at Seaford on Saturday, July 19th, about thirty being present. After the bells had been inspected by those who arrived early, ringing commenced about three o'clock. A short service was later held in church, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. E. H. Phillips, M.A.), and was followed by tea, provided in a very generous manner by the Vicar and churchwardens. At the business meeting the items on the agenda were of the usual routine nature, and the following new members were elected: A. J. Inkpen (Burgess Hill), G. H. Shaker (St. Nicholas', Brighton).

The Master (Mr. J. T. Rickman) then congratulated the Vicar of Seaford and the churchwarden (Mr. Fisher) on the success of their efforts in connection with the new bells, which have resulted in the acquisition of the present fine peal, and proposed the usual vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and the service, and his inspiring address, coupling with this an acknowledgment to the kind hosts, whose hospitality added so much to the enjoyment of the day.

This being put to the meeting, was carried with acclamation, and suitable replies by the Vicar and Mr. Fisher brought the proceedings to a conclusion.

The tower was again visited until about 7.30, when the bells were lowered.

The ringing throughout the day was very good, the methods rung including Superlative, Cambridge, Bristol and London.

The following towers were represented: Brighton (St. Peter's and St. Nicholas'), Burgess Hill, Eastbourne (St. Saviour's), Henfield, Lindfield, Shoreham, Southover (Lewes), Seaford, Uckfield. A number of independent members were also present.

AN AUGMENTED CORNISH PEAL.

The bells at St. Anthony-in-Meneage, near Manacann, Cornwall, which have been recast and augmented by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon, will be dedicated by the Bishop of Truro on Wednesday, August 6th, about 7.30 p.m. Ringers are invited.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

A most enjoyable afternoon was spent on Saturday at the typical old-time English Church of Lockington, noted for its magnificent oak carving and architecture, dating back from 16th to 17th century. The church possesses a nice ring of six bells, upon which some good touches of Bob Minor, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob were brought round. The ringers then journeyed to Disworth, which is about three miles away, and were there met by the local men. This beautiful ring of six, which has just recently been installed by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, were soon pealing forth Kent Treble Bob, Bob Minor and Grandsire Doubles.

The bells were then lowered in peal, when it was found that the bus had had a 'shift course in the last part,' and the ringers had to employ 'Shanks' pony' to get back to Loughborough.

DERBY DISTRICT.

A meeting of the Derby district was held at Youlgrave on Saturday, July 26th, about thirty members being present from Derby, Duffield, Ripley, Darley Dale, Bakewell, etc. Most of the visitors journeyed from Bakewell, via Haddon Hall, and reached Youlgrave at 3.30 p.m. Youlgrave is somewhat out of the way for a ringers' meeting, but possesses a fine peal of eight bells by Mears and Stainbank (tenor 26 cwt.), and to hear their music in well-struck changes rolling over the beautiful hills and valleys of the Peak is worth making the journey. The methods rung included Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Kent Treble Bob, Double Norwich, Cambridge and London.

After tea, the business meeting was held in the belfry, and, after several places had been proposed for the August meeting, Duffield was eventually selected.

On the return journey Bakewell tower was visited, where hangs a peal of eight, also by Mears and Stainbank (tenor about 17 cwt.). This is a very ancient church standing on the side of a hill overlooking the town and valley, through which runs the River Wye, and from the churchyard a splendid view of the surrounding country is obtained.

Touches in various methods were rung, one and all being quite satisfied with the finish of a most enjoyable afternoon and evening. Incidentally it may be stated that it was the best meeting held by the Derby district during the year.

A vote of thanks was accorded to the clergy for the use of the bells, and to the local ringers for arranging the various details connected with the meeting.

NOTTINGHAM DISTRICT ENTERTAINED.

At the kind invitation of the Rev. C. J. Sturton, a ringing member of the above association, the July meeting was held at Orston on Saturday, July 26th. The bells, a very musical peal of six, were dedicated last December, having been rehung and two new bells added as a war memorial. The bells were kept going in various methods until during the afternoon, when the visitors adjourned to the Vicarage lawn, where tea had been provided, and to which 50 ringers and friends sat down, representing the following towers: Beeston, Bulwell, Bottesford, Cotgrave, Bingham, Radcliffe, Balderton, Radcliffe-on-Trent, Shelford, St. Peter's and St. Mary's, Nottingham, and visitors from Surfleet, Hough-on-the-Hill. The local officers present included Mr. A. Coppock (vice-president), F. Blood (hon. local secretary), Mr. W. E. White (committee).

At the business meeting, held on the lawn, the Vice-President thanked the Rev. C. J. Sturton for kindly inviting the members there that day.—Mr. White proposed Cotgrave as the place for the next meeting, having that morning received from the new Vicar an invitation to the association to visit Cotgrave.—Mr. G. West proposed Eastwood, but, on being put to the meeting, Cotgrave was selected, the meeting to be held on the 23rd or 30th August.

One new member was elected, and a vote of thanks to the Rev. C. J. Sturton was proposed by Mr. W. E. White for kindly entertaining the ringers. He suggested that a collection be made to help clear off the debt on the Bell Repair Fund, and the sum of £1 17s. was collected.—The Rev. Sturton, in replying, thanked those present, and spoke of the pleasure it gave him and the ladies to welcome them there that day, and also for the magnificent collection to help them clear off the debt.—This concluded the meeting.

Some remained to play bowls on the lawn, while others returned to the tower, and kept the bells going in various methods until 8 o'clock, when one of the best meetings held by this branch was brought to a close.

RINGERS' WEDDING AT LEICESTER.

MR. L. W. JACQUES—MISS HILDA F. WILLSON.

On Saturday, July 19th, the marriage of the above two change-ringers took place at St. John-the-Divine, Leicester. The ceremony was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. S. White, M.A.), and the weather was everything that could be desired. The bridesmaids were the younger sisters of the bride—Misses Muriel and Winifred Willson, who were dressed in mauve shantung, and carried sheaves of red roses. The bride was in white, with a sheaf of white roses. Mr. T. Riley, a ringer, of Bolsover, was best man, while the father of the bride (Mr. William Willson) gave her away. St. John's Society of Ringers gave their services, and as the happy couple returned down the aisle the bells crashed out their congratulations, as did Mendelssohn's Wedding March from the organ. The newly wedded pair left at mid-day for the Isle of Wight, where the honeymoon is being spent, after which they will return to reside at Mansfield Woodhouse, Notts.

In the evening the rest of the company, augmented by the ringers, were entertained to supper, after which a merry party kept the ball rolling until Auld Lang Syne at midnight brought a perfect day to a close. Numbers of congratulations and best wishes from ringers near and far have been showered upon the happy pair, who have done some service for the Midland Counties Association. Among the many presents was a set of carvers from St. John's Society.

RINGERS' OUTINGS.

A FIRST OUTING.

On Saturday, July 19th, the Ratby (Leicester) ringers had their first outing, the destination being Matlock, the party also including the Vicar (the Rev. F. T. Ingle), Mr. W. Ball (Vicar's warden), the ringers' wives, and a few friends. The route via Loughborough, Derby and Duffield, has a number of interesting churches, and the scenery from Duffield onward, cannot be surpassed anywhere. The writer may be a little biased, being a native of the 'Strongith' arm' county. The bus, a fine local one, did the journey both ways in great style. Of course, a 'pull' was in the programme, and Matlock bells not being available, Mr. Fox, of Wirksworth, very kindly obtained permission for ringing at that church. Most of the ladies stayed the day in Matlock, the Cromford-Wirksworth bus accommodation being limited. The trip up Cromford Hill was made in what looked like a very primitive vehicle, but even our 'motor expert' was surprised at the way she mounted the steep gradient. The church at Wirksworth is a grand cathedral-like edifice, only the aforementioned biased views and the editor's blue pencil, deterring the writer from a 'long touch.' It was a first attempt on eight for several of the band, and, as one said afterwards, it was the first time he had seen eight ropes hanging in a belfry. The few courses of Grandsire Triples and one of Bob Major were very creditably performed. The striking could not have been so very bad, as one member of the party was soothed to slumber in a corner of the belfry! Tea at Matlock brought time for departure. The expressed wish of 'Take us again next week!' was quite enough to show the day had been enjoyed, the only regret being that the captain of the company was unable to go with the party owing to an accident while at work. The company wish to thank all who helped to make the trip a success, especially Messrs. W. Fox and B. and T. H. Grestorax, of Wirksworth.

WESTON-SUPER-MARE RINGERS' TRIP.

The ringers of St. John's Parish Church, Weston-super-Mare, with Mr. Jesse Marcho (clerk), and other friends, making a party of about twenty, had their annual outing on Thursday, July 17th, journeying by charabanc to Shepton Mallet, Evercecech, Ilminster and Curry Rivel. The seashiders left at 8 a.m. (the weather being far from bright), and proceeded via Banwell and Sandford to Burrington Combe (far-famed as the birthplace of that beautiful hymn, 'Rock of Ages'), the 'cleft' being passed about 9 a.m. The landscape was greatly admired as we moved onwards, leaving Charterhouse and Priddy to the right, and Chewton Mendip on the left, whilst a magnificent view was obtained just before entering the famous old cathedral town of Wells. After a short stay here, the journey was continued to Shepton Mallet, the 'campans' being welcomed by Mr. W. Richards, the genial skipper of the band, at the Church of St. Peter and St. Paul, who kindly conducted the Westonians over the sacred edifice, and afterwards to the belfry, where several touches of Grandsire Triples were rung, some good striking taking place on these very tuneful bells (tenor 25 cwt.). The church dates back to the Saxon and Norman period, and holds many interesting features, particularly the 350 roof panels which were greatly admired. Mr. Richards was warmly thanked for his courtesy, after which the company left Shepton for the pretty village of Evercecech, where they were cordially welcomed by the Vicar (the Rev. E. B. Williams (who was upwards of ten years curate at St. John's Church, Weston-super-Mare, prior to his taking the incumbency of Evercecech about two years ago). At the Vicarage, the visitors were invited to luncheon, to which all did full justice, the musical members of the 'team' subsequently rendering songs and pianoforte items, which were much appreciated. The Vicar then accompanied the Westonians to the church, which is a fine building (of the 12th century), and appears to be in a good state of preservation, holding a nice 'ring' of eight bells (tenor 24 cwt.). Incidentally, Mr. Jesse Marcho, one of the party, was baptized here in 1844. The bells were soon moving, and some good touches of Triples rung. The Vicar was heartily thanked, prior to a move being made for Ilminster, which was reached via the villages of Castle Cary, Sparkford, Ilchester and South Petherton, exactly to scheduled time, viz., 4 p.m., in a downpour of rain, but notwithstanding this, they were in good spirits, the more so when they espied Mr. David Taylor (the genial leader of the Ilminster team) eagerly waving a welcome as he stood at the entrance to the grand old church of St. Mary-the-Virgin, which contains one of the finest peals of eight in the country, their timbre and sonorous quality of tone being excellent. The weight of the tenor is 22 cwt. 3 qr. 9 lb., and the bells were relung in 1902. Here again many touches were rung for upwards of an hour, after which the seashiders visited the Meadowale Cafe, where a splendid tea was served them, during which reminiscences were exchanged between Mr. Taylor and the Westonians — the 'ropes' being the principal topic. The journey was then pursued to the pretty village of Curry River, where the ringers were welcomed by Mr. W. Proles at the Parish Church. Here the 'metal' seemed to respond remarkably well (tenor 19 cwt.), although not of such rich timbre and tone as those at Ilminster (the writer's opinion). Curry River was left at 7.45 p.m., the rain having ceased, and the boys were soon covering the historically famous Sedgemoor plain, where in the year 1685, the fate of Monmouth was finally decided by his defeat at the hands of the Royalist troops at the Battle of Sedgemoor. No doubt many of the ringers conjured by visions of the strife which had taken place over 200 years ago as they crossed the moor. Anyway, all admired the miles of waving corn and straight furrows to be seen on either side of the historic road which took them through the villages of Othery, Middlezoy and Westonzoyland, until Bridgwater was reached at 8.30 p.m., when the company sat down to dinner at one of the hotels, after which the homeward journey was begun, and Weston-super-Mare reached at 10.30 p.m., everyone having thoroughly enjoyed the outing.

The Westonians desire heartily to thank the Vicars of the various places visited for the use of the 'ropes,' and everyone concerned who contributed to their comfort and pleasure during the trip.

THE PROPOSED WASHBROOK MEMORIAL.

There will shortly be issued to the Exercise an appeal for funds to raise a memorial to the late Mr. James William Washbrook. The matter has already been before the Lancashire Association and the Central Council, and it has now been discussed by the Oxford Diocesan Guild, to which, as the association with which Mr. Washbrook was most intimately connected in the days of his greatest fame, is entrusted the formation of a suitable scheme. As reported in our last issue, a committee has been appointed to deal with the matter, and, from the general expressions of opinion, it would seem probable that the proposal most likely to commend itself is the addition of two trebles to the present ring of six bells at St. Ebbe's Church, Oxford. At the moment, however, the committee are tied to nothing, except that the memorial, whatever its shape, shall be erected in Oxford. That it should be in the form of two bells added to a tower which, as was pointed out, has long been a school of change ringing in this important centre, is a most practical one, and one which, as the Oxford Guild secretary not inaptly remarked, would commend itself to Mr. Washbrook could he but know.

The appeal is already assured of the backing of the Central Council and the Lancashire Association, and is to be made a national one, for James W. Washbrook was, in a sense, a national possession. In his greatest days he was the outstanding figure in the Exercise. His all-round abilities at the height of his career were unequalled in any other one person, and while, after removing to Ireland, he played a much less prominent part on the ringing stage, those who had known him still retained a feeling of admiration for his consummate skill as a ringer, conductor, composer and instructor; and those who had enjoyed his friendship cherish the memory of one who was a most amiable companion, unspoiled by his many great successes. His return to England led him to renew to some extent his activity in the belfry, but he devoted his time and talents chiefly to instructional work, for he was ever ready to help beginners and to share with them his great store of knowledge.

Now that he has gone from us—removed with tragic suddenness—it is fitting that his memory should be preserved. The older generation of ringers will need no bidding to respond to the appeal which is to be made—they will feel it an honour to be allowed to subscribe. To them James W. Washbrook was a living personality. To many of the younger generation, however, he was but a name. Nevertheless we imagine they will desire to take their share in commemorating one of the greatest men the Exercise has ever seen. Whatever form the memorial eventually takes we have no doubt it will be one worthy of Mr. Washbrook's great career as a ringer, and if it is the provision of bells at St. Ebbe's, or at some other of Oxford's many churches, we can imagine no fitter way of showing respect and affection for the memory of a man of remarkable attainments.

CAMBRIDGE and SUPERLATIVE SURPRISE MAJOR SPLICED*To the Editor.*

Dear Sir,—I have obtained the following peal of Spliced Surprise Major, which will be found to contain some interesting features. It consists of 4,128 Cambridge and 928 Superlative, as shown, this being of interest, as there is such a scarcity of peals of Cambridge Major with tenors together, the spliced leads adding interest to the ringing. There is no change of method at a bob. The composition also has 25 Cambridge and 10 Superlative course ends. The bracketed leads may be rung Cambridge.

ESTIMATES SUBMITTED FOR NEW OR REPAIR WORK

RINGING REMINISCENCES.

BY THE REV. CANON PAPILLON,

FORMERLY VICAR OF WRITTLE, ESSEX, AND MASTER OF THE ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

It was in the year 1884 that, at 43 years of age, I first learned to handle a bell in the tower of New College, Oxford, and was initiated into previously unknown mysteries of the ringer's art, in which I have ever since been interested, though I began too late in life to attain excellence. After 15 years' residence as Tutor, I had just been appointed by the College to the Vicarage of Writtle in Essex, where I found a fine ring of bells in good order, but few ringers and little or no change-ringing; and if this was to be remedied, it was better to know something about it myself. So I got one of the heads of our domestic staff in College, Mr. J. Field, an expert ringer, to teach me the elements of bell management in the tower with the clappers lashed, and in the next Long Vacation I got him to stay for a fortnight in the parish initiating myself and some younger men who were willing to learn into the mysteries of change-ringing.

Mr. Field was not only an expert ringer, but a very capable instructor, and a man of the highest character. A few months afterwards we became ambitious of ringing a peal, and he came to call it for us. It was 'Holt's' peal, and shortly after the half-way single, to our dismay, the conductor called 'Stand!' and explained that two bells had shifted, thus spoiling the peal. 'I could have called them into place again,' he said to me afterwards, 'and finished the peal; but it would not have been a true peal, nor an honest thing to do.' I have since had reason to fear that not every instructor of a young band, anxious for his own credit and theirs to get them through their first peal, where there was no chance of detection, would have resisted the temptation, and I have always honoured him for it.

Ringling was not looked on with favour by the College authorities, and in term time the tower was closed to change-ringers. Nor even in vacations was it easy to get leave to ring upon the bells. The late Rev. F. E. Robinson had a story of how, in the middle of one Long Vacation, being in Oxford with a band of ringers, he called upon the then Warden of New College to ask permission for the use of the tower. The Warden was polite, but unsympathetic, and declined to give permission without the consent of the Fellows, whose next meeting (he said) would be in October. 'But, Mr. Warden,' pleaded Mr. Robinson, 'the men are all here and ready to ring to-day.' The Warden, however, was obdurate, and they had to be content with his offer to bring their request before the next College meeting!

There was, so far as I knew, no University, Society or Guild at Oxford in those days to encourage change-ringing among the undergraduates. In that respect Cambridge has fared better—chiefly because for many years there has been among the resident Dons so keen a change-ringer as the Rev. A. H. E. Boughey, for a short time President of the Central Council in succession to Sir Arthur Heywood. Mr. Boughey was—and, I gather, still is—a tower of strength to our cause in Cambridge.

My early reminiscences do not include much connection with great lights of the Exercise. I took up ringing, as I have explained, for the sake of my own parish. I never became proficient enough to be invited to take part in special peals, nor could I have spared time in a busy life to be frequently away from home. So I very seldom foregathered with eminent ringers. I was piloted through my first peal of Grandsire Triples at Writtle and of Grandsire Caters at Chelmsford by the late George Newson, a most able, courteous and helpful ringer; through a plain course of Grandsire Cinques by the very capable band of St. Mary le Tower at Ipswich, among whom it was difficult to go wrong; and, similarly, through a short touch on the bells of St. Paul's Cathedral. I gratefully recall the kindness of these expert ringers towards a very 'lame duck'—a good example to less eminent ringers elsewhere, who, though competent themselves, have neither patience nor inclination for helping beginners. Most of us, I suppose, have come across such men.

Of clerical ringers in Essex, where I began, there were very few; of clerical sympathy very little. The only clerical ringer in my own neighbourhood was the late Rev. H. A. Cockey, a host in himself in the belfry and a genial companion, who was secretary of the recently formed Essex Association. He was my junior in years, and only an assistant curate while I was Vicar of an important parish. But in the belfry, where we all find our own level, he was an expert, I a novice; and he kindly and tactfully gave me various hints, for which I always felt grateful. Of clerical sympathy, one instance may suffice. Later on, when I had succeeded Mr. Cockey as secretary, and then Master, of the Essex Association, I felt it my duty to intercede with the Rector of a very important tower, then in possession of a body of paid ringers, who kept change-ringing at arm's length, that he should give facilities for our members to have access to that tower and should encourage change-ringing among his own band. He politely but firmly declined, adding that he did not see what ringing had to do with church work! Yet he was a very influential clergyman, who became Archdeacon and finally Suffragan Bishop of the diocese. Things are happily different now. Archdeacons and Bishops smile upon us, and make genial speeches at our social gatherings. But those who in the past have blamed the parochial clergy for not doing more to encourage ringers and ringing have not, perhaps, made allowance for the discouraging influence of diocesan headquarters.

The Central Council, of which I was a member for some years as the representative of an association, and afterwards as an elected member, gave me welcome opportunities of intercourse (however transitory) with many notable ringers, such as the President himself, Sir Arthur Heywood, conspicuous alike as ringer, organiser, administrator and host; my old friend and school fellow at Marlborough, Maitland Kelly, still alive and vigorous on his ancestral estate in Devon; the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, accomplished both in the science and art of change-ringing, and no mean astronomer; the genial bulk of the present President, and others too many to record. It was in this, rather than in its actual discussions or decisions, that the Council had a value for myself. Its value for the Exercise at large I do not profess to estimate, except so far as this—that I believe some such central representative body to be a real necessity and to deserve more interest and respect than it has yet received from ringing associations throughout the country.

To the Central Council I owe my acquaintance with that outstanding figure in the ringing world, the late Rev. F. E. Robinson. Of his unequalled ringing career, and his lasting services to the cause, and therein to the Church which he served faithfully, I need say nothing here. They are still, I trust, matter of common knowledge and respect.

Through him I also became acquainted with an even more accomplished ringer, the late Mr. James Washbrook. In 1889 Mr. Robinson, on his way to a ringing tour in the Eastern Counties with Washbrook and the Rev. J. F. Hastings, spent a night with me in Essex, taking part with local ringers in a peal of Grandsire Caters at Chelmsford and one of Bob Major at Writtle—the latter remarkable as being the first in that humble method rung by Mr. Robinson himself! Washbrook conducted both, in masterly fashion. Mr. Robinson told me afterwards that our conductor had probably composed the peal of Bob Major as he went along, but I did not verify this from Washbrook himself.

When Mr. Robinson was collecting his peal-ringing record, he did me the honour of asking me to assist him with its publication under the title 'Among the Bells.' He has gone from us, and his ringing career may be forgotten, as his contemporaries pass away. But that record of it, I hope, will still find a place in ringing libraries, as a mine of information about the bells in most of the principal cathedral and church towers in the kingdom, and a record of progress under the inspiration of one man who knew what he wanted, and was determined to get it. There was nothing timid or wobbly about Mr. Robinson as a reformer and propagandist.

The Essex Association, in those early days, had not yet firmly established itself, and had less than half its present membership; nor had we many ringers in the first flight. Saffron Walden, with its venerable ringing society, was the chief local ringing centre, its reputation being worthily upheld by the Pilstow family. At Waltham Abbey, Walthamstow, Barking and Romford there was also a good deal of ringing activity; but the proximity of these places to London gave their ringers more congenial company than our country towers offered, and much of their best ringing was done for the College Youths or Cumberlands or other Metropolitan societies. Some of our members were at one time inclined to grumble that the Pye brothers, whose reputation as ringers became deservedly high, did not contribute more to the credit of the Essex Association. But to me it always seemed that its reputation depended less upon sensational performances by 'star' ringers than on quiet work done in the country parishes to spread knowledge of the ringer's art and encourage beginners. We need occasional performances by accomplished experts as a standard of perfection for church bell ringing, just as cathedral music sets a standard for village choirs. But such performances should be regarded as exceptional. To this day, as I glance through the weekly peal record in the 'Ringing World,' it gives me more satisfaction as a sign of progress to read of first peals of Grandsire Triples or Bob Major by local bands, than of many peals in Surprise Methods by the 'big-wigs' of the Exercise. This may be heresy, for which I shall be condemned; but

'He that's convinced against his will
Is of the same opinion still.'

In one respect I have seen no reason to change my first impression of forty years ago, that it is well worth while for any parish clergyman who finds himself in charge of a good ring of bells, to encourage change-ringing by any means in his power, and by his own constant presence in the belfry. In a country parish—I know nothing about towns—the belfry may be an admirable school of discipline for punctuality, perseverance, steadiness, good temper and sobriety. Once get a band of ringers up to a certain point of skill in ringing and ambitious of making progress, and you have for them (and incidentally for others) an antidote to the public-house and constant tipping that fuddles so many who stop short of actual drunkenness; for no man can hold his own in change-ringing if eye and brain are clouded, or hand unsteady, by too much beer. It is not the least pleasant of my ringing reminiscences that only once, during many years in which I took part in the ringing on Sundays and practice nights, did one of our ringers come intoxicated to the belfry.

That, perhaps, may seem to be a very small mercy, scarcely worth mention. But I have a really pleasant recollection, from my own point of view, of the relation between ringers and the church. We had no rules aimed at securing attendance—such rules, in my experience, can never be enforced. But we did not have the scandal of men habitually walking away from church as soon as they had rung the bells for Divine service; nor did we have the friction between clergy and ringers of which, as Master of the County Association, I used to hear from clergy asking for advice in difficulties with their ringers. The majority of ours were more or less regular communicants, and on Easter morning it was good to see them present in church after meeting of their own accord to ring for the early service. Those to whom this means little or nothing must make allowance for my point of view, which was that of a parish clergyman who became a ringer, not for his own amusement, but for the sake of his church and parish.

Not that everything was always plain sailing. I have less pleasant recollections of the annoyance caused by irregularity, unpunctuality and deficient sense of the duty of keeping appointments, which at one time nearly drove me to 'chuck' ringing altogether. I was a busy man of regular habits. I had no time to waste in waiting about for men who did not care how much inconvenience they caused to others by turning up very late or perhaps not at all. Even now, when I read that some band has had to ring a different method or on fewer bells through 'meeting one short' for the peal that they meant to ring, I feel indignation with the defaulter. But I think and hope that there is now less shameless disregard of others' convenience and of the moral duty to keep appointments, than there was forty years ago.

In one respect less progress seems to have been made than might have been expected, viz., in propaganda work for diffusing knowledge of ringing and the ringer's art. The ignorance of the general public is still colossal: scarcely less so that of the journalists who profess to instruct us on every subject under the sun. When I was a member of the much-derided and sadly ineffective 'Literature Committee' of the Central Council, I had visions of its getting into touch with the Press all over England, and so helping to enlighten the dark places of ignorance; but nothing came of such dreams. I had, however, one opportunity in connection with the 'Times,' to which I was for some years an outside contributor, not on the regular staff. Now and then the editor, instead of asking me to write upon a subject named by him, would say, 'Can you find yourself a subject?' and thus occurred the chance, in September, 1899, of getting a leading article on church bells published in the 'Times.' It was afterwards reproduced, with some correspondence arising out of it, in Sir Arthur Hepwood's 'Bell Towers and Bell Hanging' (1914), a book that one could wish were better known to church architects, no less than to bishops, clergy and churchwardens, and all who are responsible for the use made and the care taken of our church bells.

Let me end these random recollections with one personal anecdote. Some years ago, on a visit to the parish of Adderbury in Oxfordshire, where there is a fine church built by William of Wykeham, the founder and architect of New College, Oxford, the then Vicar took me into the belfry, and gave me permission to try one of the bells. I raised one of the lighter bells, and had pulled her off two or three times, when he said, 'Why, that's the fire bell!' and hurried out to warn people that it was a false alarm. A volunteer fire brigade had lately been started in the parish, the members of which were anxious to justify their existence; and the Vicar was barely in time to prevent the men leaving work, and hurrying to the appointed rendezvous. That story, I believe, is still told in the neighbourhood.

I was asked for personal reminiscences, which are of necessity egotistical. But I may be forgiven for dwelling too much upon matters that have been of great interest to me for half a lifetime, and in which I have tried to be of service to others.

THE RINGERS' WAR MEMORIAL BOOK.

DEPOSITED IN ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL LIBRARY.

As was briefly mentioned in our last issue, the handsome volume, containing the names, regiment and association of the 1,100 ringers who fell in the war, has now been deposited in the Library at St. Paul's Cathedral. In order that ringers may know the conditions under which the book will remain in the library, we give below the correspondence between the Central Council's Librarian and Dean Inge.

The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn wrote:—

'Dear Mr. Deans,—

“Church Bell Ringers' Memorial Book.”

'At the meeting of the Central Council of Bell Ringers on Whitsun Tuesday, I informed the Council of our having corresponded on the matter, and I made the proposition that the Memorial Book should be entrusted to the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's Cathedral for custody in the Library, with the proviso that it should be on view to any visitor who might ask to see it. A further proviso was suggested, namely, that the Council should have the right to take the Book out from time to time on making proper application to the Cathedral Authorities. With this proviso my proposition was carried unanimously and heartily.

'I should like to make it clear that it would seldom be more than once in the year that the Book would be asked for, and that would be the occasion of the annual meeting of the Council, when ringers are present who represent all parts of the country.

'I would also like to suggest that the application be recognised by the Dean and Chapter, if coming from either the President, Secretary, or Librarian of the Council, that the Book be always personally called for and returned, and that a receipt for the same be left with the Custodian when the Book is delivered over, and handed back when it is returned.

'It was left with me to make satisfactory arrangements with you with regard to the Book, so I shall be very glad if you will let me know if there is anything in the foregoing to which you take exception, or if there is any further suggestion you would like to make.

'There are one or two slight corrections to be made in the Book, so it may be a few weeks before it is ready to hand over to you.

'For your information I give the name of the President and Secretary of the Council:

'President: Rev. Canon G. F. Coleridge, Crowthorne Vicarage, Berks.

'Secretary: E. A. Young, Esq., 155, Rushey Green, Catford, S.E.6.'

Writing from St. Paul's Deanery, Dean Inge replied: 'We are quite willing to accept the conditions about the Bell Ringers' Memorial Book.'

SHOULD OFFICIALS BE PAID?

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Anent your leading article on the above, it is pleasant to note you do not condemn the proposal for payment to officials. There is much to be said in its favour; many ideas are introduced by individual talent that do not receive the appreciation by the general bodies of members; at least, frequently, credit is not passed to those to whom it is due.

There is much pioneering work done that does not meet with a response in the shape of thanks. It is invariably something or somebody that is responsible for a well-managed organisation. Not only are the actual duties performed a labour of love, but much time and hard thinking, not to mention the sacrifice he makes when a day is set apart for festivities, are required.

Is not the secretaryship, to this we might add the office of treasurer, equivalent to the position of a Managing Director, where a few individuals have more or less to look to for the well-being of their organisation?

The basis of payment should be made in accordance with the position of the association, such as you suggest. Very largely it depends upon the wealth and funds at their disposal. Certainly, a large organisation should be qualified to deal liberally with their officers. In the event of small units let there be a small honorarium according to their limits.

The writer has never aspired to any official position, or ever been approached to offer his name for election, so that he has no axe to grind.

If carried into effect the suggestion, I believe, might induce others to take up a position, especially if the office is permitted to lapse at the expiration of three years, either for re-election, or should the officer desire to retire. At the present he is often reluctant to take that step where he has quite good reasons to ask for his release, which proves that he has his heart in the right place.

Every year brings its increased burdens; let us, therefore, recognise these efforts by a reward that is long overdue.

MIDLANDER.

AN ISLAND RINGER.

THE LATE WILLIAM RAYNER, OF NEWPORT, ISLE OF WIGHT.
By W. H. FUSSELL.

'Skilled in the Mystery of the pleasing Peal,'
'Which few can know and fewer still reveal.'

Born near Newport in 1750, this remarkable man possessed a deep love for church bells and bell ringing during the whole of his life, and it is only within the last few years that any details have come to light showing all that William Rayner did for the art of change ringing in Hampshire more than a century ago. My first news of him came with the purchase of a book for ninnence, at a London second-hand shop, 'The Isle of Wight,' by W. H. Davenport Adams, 1884, wherein was a view of Arreton Church, and a copy of the verse engraved upon a brass plate rivetted to the Rayner's tomb. This purchase was made before the war, and my first opportunity of making researches into his past only began in 1921, since which date an astonishing amount of matter has been collected by Newport ringers on suggestions which I was fortunately able to offer them.

The Rayners appear to have been a well-to-do family in Arreton, as testified by the many costly tombstones (of what appears to be an extinct race locally) now standing in the N.W. corner of the churchyard. The son William, the subject of this contribution, began his art probably by watching the ringers of Arreton tower (where they ring on the ground floor often with an open west door) when a boy, and then pulling one of the five bells. He was early put to a trade, as was customary in those days, and served a long apprenticeship at Newport, where he followed his beat with the local ringers of Newport and Carisbrooke whilst still in his teens. Here he made the acquaintance of Samuel Waggett, the 'father' of change ringing, on the island, and the first man to call a peal with a band of islanders in 1774, which turned out to be untrue, and was scored again correctly in 1777. Rayner probably heard both performances, and at the age of 17 years was spurred on to emulate the old hand, soon mastering Minor, Triples and Major at the respective towers.

FOUNDATION OF THE UNION SOCIETY.

Guy Fawkes' ringing, November 5th, 1770, was an eventful day in Newport, when, no doubt, the meeting for the morrow was discussed in the belfry. At this meeting on November 6th, the first official business domgs of the United Society of Newport and Carisbrooke took place, and we now find Rayner's name conspicuous in the old official records so recently recovered. As some account of the history of this society will have to follow, I propose only to touch upon Rayner's share in it now, but I may here say that the ringing fever of the islandman had been brought up to blood heat by the College Youths peal (No. 139) of Bob Major, at Carisbrooke, Oct. 1st, 1770, conducted by George Meakins only a few weeks prior to this first meeting.

William Rayner presented to the Union Society three leather bound volumes for peal records, which were lost, stayed or stolen, for some 80 to 90 years after his death, and quite forgotten. They are well worth examining to-day, if only for the quaint notes attached to the entries, and for the beautiful penmanship.

No. 1 volume, January 30th, 1771, to December 26th, 1788. — The copy peal book.

No. 3, Nov. 6th, 1770, to July 15th, 1808.—Society records.

Rayner was an original subscriber to, and helped to found a handbell club, November 6th, 1770, the peal of twelve handbells being on the island to-day, but their whereabouts is unknown. There were twelve members, originally, governed by a severe set of rules, but by January 4th, 1805, only three survived, including Rayner, who, as early as 1771, took part in the first double-handed course of Caters and 'Sinks' ever rung on the island.

Marrying young, and eventually settling down to the business of a turner and wood worker, his shop and residence in St. James' Street was pointed out to me by the late Mr. Pinhorne, and here the whole family, it may be assumed, ended their days. Like Barham, of Leeds, and Lawrence, of Shifnal, two noted English ringers of about the same period, Rayner left no surviving children to whom to hand on his books and panors, and who would appreciate and preserved them for posterity. This misfortune makes one wonder what has become of James Washbrook's manuscripts since Mrs. Washbrook's recent death. Is anyone looking after them un Manchester way?

A CURIOUS CONTRIBUTION.

As a church bell ringer, a burgess of the borough, and tradesman, Rayner was present at the public meeting held on April 19th, 1808, to consider the addition of two new trebles for Newport Parish Church. The proposal was carried unanimously, and the meeting wisely decided not to destroy the four old bells, 1674-5, from the ancient Chertsey bell foundry. In a printed list of subscribers (preserved in the church) it is shown that the eight ringers gave a guinea each—William Rayner, and his son Joseph, then 18 years of age, giving the same amount. The former also promised, for some curious reason we may never know, to contribute a halfpenny a day for 22 years—£16 14s. 7d., which accumulation was duly paid over to the bells' fund. At the time of the promise, 22 years added to the age of the father and son would make their respective ages 80 and 40 years, had they been spared.

Newport church bells were looked upon and valued greatly as public property by the Mayor and Corporation, who aided the scheme by personal help, and a grant from the borough funds; and generous donations were bestowed by the late Prince Consort and Queen Victoria to complete the octave.

The Union Society celebrated its existence in July, 1791, by a coming-of-age and a three days' owing to the Mainland, to take part in the opening of the celebrated ring of eight at Romsey Abbey on the 18th July. Going on the 17th, and returning on the 19th, they had ringing on the way at Holyrood Church, Southampton, and I am wondering where they put up for two nights. At the Abbey they rang a fine touch of Grandsire Triples (504), conducted by Wm. Rayner, with John 'Leyford' (a Londoner, named Lyford) on the 7th. On this occasion the College Youths rang a peal of Oxford Treble Bob Major, conducted by Blakemore, and being the first peal on the bells. It was listened to by a goodly number of ringers from all parts of the country. This three days' outing to Romsey Abbey was repeated by the Union Society on 1st June, 1801, when the company went to compete for a splendid cup presented by the town for the best 'peal' ringing. It was a handsome piece of plate, reputed to be silver, and was awarded to the island team, who rang 4,680 changes of Bob Major in 3 hrs. 2 mins. They intended to ring a 5,040, but by the 'misfortune of a rope breaking,' only 360 changes short, the peal was lost (tenor 25 cwt.).

THE HISTORY OF THE CUP.

The cup was kept at the house of John Keddie, at the sign of the Red Lion in the Market Place, Newport, for some years, and was well used at practices by the handbell club, and on 'feast nights.' One of the team that won it made a suitable stand to place it on, when not in use, with eight pieces of different kind of wood cleverly let into and spaced around the base with the name of a ringer carved upon each piece, thus considerably adding to the value of the trophy.

This prize cup business was usually treated as a mystery, and of the present-day ringers scarcely anyone credited that it ever existed. Having spent a pleasant morning with Mr. Moody—one of the old school, who resides a few miles out of the town—a twelvemonth ago, I was able to get some further particulars. Mr. Moody, foreman of Newport tower for many years, was connected with that belfry for 55 years, and retired (owing to his living so far away) during the war. The last known of the Romsey cup was that it had got into the possession of Mr. Mew-Langton, sometime Mayor of the town, a well-known brewer, possibly through his ownership of the meeting-house where the cup was stored, or as chairman of the ringers' annual dinner. At his death it passed into the hands of his sister, who married a Mr. Catt and went to live at Brighton, and it is quite possible the cup is there to-day. Should this reach the eye of any descendants of the above-named family, I trust they will follow generously the kind example of the Countess of Portsmouth, who returned to Newport in 1921, one of the peal books referred to (No. 1) which had then been discovered among the volumes of the late Earl's library, he having purchased it with several others many years ago. Mr. Moody, in his younger days, asked Mr. Mew-Langton for a photograph of the cup, and also tried to interest the then Vicar in having it returned to the Newport company, but nothing came of the proposals.

'Whether with little Bells or Bell sublime,'

'To split a Moment to the truth of Time.'

Of the numerous trips to distant towers, including the Lymington opening, 1786, it is unnecessary to go into now. That Rayner was the leading spirit is evident by the records and his conducting. How his ringing ended we can never know, for the last pages of the records have been sadly mutilated. Under date 22nd May, 1808, we find him on the 4th bell to a half-peal of Grandsire Triples at Newport, conducted by Mr. Wood.

On the south side of Rayner's tomb at Arreton, on the oval raised panel of stone, is carved this mournful eulogy on the loss of his son—in words peculiar to the period—which, even to-day will be read by all church bell ringers with a pang of regret for the sorrowing father, who himself died the following year, aged 73 years.

'A Youth of Superior Attainments, who yielded, after a short conflict, like the tender bud to the vernal blast, his immortal spirit into the hands of his Creator in the 23rd year of his age, leaving his disconsolate parents to lament the early departure of an only affectionate and dutiful son, his friends an amiable and instructive companion and the public a valuable member of society.'

RAYNER'S UNSPARING LABOURS.

Had the son lived to carry on the work of his father there is no knowing how great would have been the advancement of method ringing in the island. This dual loss must have been a heavy blow to the Union Society, who appear to have broken up soon afterwards, and the handbells, the prize cup, the peal books and the ringers' chair were all scattered and lost for half a century. I am of opinion that Rayner's tomb was erected during his lifetime—at his son's death—his own name being added a year later. Four children and the wife are in the same vault. The brass plate has been added after the death of Wm. Rayner by his fellow members of the Union Society, who were careful to see that their 'tribute' should long preserve his fame, as it has done, when the stone is now longer readable.

For upwards of 50 years Rayner spared neither his time nor his purse in promoting the quaint old English art of change ringing; he endeavoured by means of the club (private) and the society outings and records to maintain the good character of the men of the belfry, a character which has been variously assailed from the pulpit by modern clergymen, who conveniently ignore the dissipated habits of the more educated and wealthy man of that period.

'Time so oft truly beat, at length o'ereame,'

'Yet shall this Tribute long preserve his Name.'

This account does not pretend to be complete, and if some courteous reader can send me any information or reference to old prints or newspapers of interest, to the ringers on the island, such matter will be included in historical sketch of the Union Society to follow this article.

It is gratifying to know that William Rayner was not quite forgotten, and ringers all over England were glad to see recorded in the columns of the 'Ringing World,' a peal rung at Newport, by kind consent of the authorities, on May 23rd, 1923, in memory of this veteran, conducted by Mr. George Williams, of Southampton. Visiting ringers also during the same week rang handbells at the graveside at Arreton, accompanied by Mr. Alexander Young, the hon. secretary of the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers for the British Isles, so that the centenary of his death was fittingly observed.

To the Isle of Wight belongs a distinction worth noting here. It is the home of the oldest and youngest formation of church ringers in the Diocese of Winchester, viz., the Union Society of Newport and Carisbrooke, 1770, and (after an interval of 150 years) the Isle of Wight Branch of the Diocesan Guild, which is now trying to raise funds for restoring Rayner's tomb owing to its dilapidated condition.

AFTER 20 YEARS' SILENCE.

REOPENING OF A RING OF SIX AT LONG COMPTON, WARWICKSHIRE.

On Saturday afternoon, August 1st, the pretty little village of Long Compton was enlivened by the bells, which had been unringable for over 20 years, but have now been rehung in steel headstocks and quarter-turned, and the 3rd and 5th bells, which were badly cracked, have been recast. The work of rehanging and recasting was carried out by Mr. Thos. Bond, of the Burford foundry, to whom much credit is due for the capable way in which he has done the work.

At the invitation of the Rector (the Rev. W. Manton), the honour of opening the bells was given to Ilmington band of the Four Shires Guild; 'midst a belfry full of interested onlookers, many who had never seen a bell rung, or heard these bells ring, these veterans raised the bells faultlessly, and without setting, went into changes, ringing several six-scores of Grandsire Doubles. Various touches were rung during the afternoon. Afterwards the ringers were entertained by the Rector, who expressed his great pleasure of hearing his bells ringing in peal for the first time. After tea further ringing was indulged in.

The bells are a nice ring of six, with a 13 cwt. tenor, and bears the following inscriptions:—

Treble.—James Walker, Anthony Rowlin, 1652, R.K.

2nd.—Thomas Sheppard, Richard Buller, C.W., I.K., 1652.

3rd.—Henry Bagley made me, 1731. James Tapin, Benefactor. Recast by Bond and Son, Burford.

4th.—John Fowler and William Taylor, C.W., William and J. Taylor, Founders, Oxford, 1823.

5th.—Anthony Newman. John Walker, Churchwardens. James Tapin, Benefactor, 1731, H.B. Recast by Bond and Son, Burford.

RE-DEDICATION OF BELLS

AT BRIGSTOCK, NORTHANTS.

Saturday, July 26th, was a notable day in the history of that fine old church, St. Andrew's, Brigstock, the ring of five bells being re-dedicated by the Archdeacon of Oakham, the Ven. A. J. Greaves. The well-attended service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. A. C. Hooper), assisted by the Rev. C. G. Hodgson, R.D., of Aldwincle, and the Rev. F. H. Lang, of Twywell.

Immediately following the dedication 120 of Grandsire Doubles was rung by Messrs. R. C. Loveday and J. M. Nickerson (Thrapston), A. Smart (Woollaston), R. G. Black (Geddington), and F. Wilford (Northampton).

After the service, the tower was open for ringing, and representatives from various towers took part in the ringing.

The bells have been rehung in a new oak frame, which was made at Brigstock by Messrs. Braybrook Bros., builders, under the instruction of Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, who rehung, quarter-turned and tuned all the bells.

The 'go' of the bells leaves nothing to be desired.

The inscriptions of the bells is as follows:—

WINCHESTER GUILD.

WILLIAM RAYNER'S TOMB.

A special meeting of the Isle of Wight district was held at Arreton on Saturday last. The old Norman tower contains a ring of five bells, which are badly in need of attention from a bell hanger.

The meeting was the outcome of a recent decision by the Guild to raise funds to repair the tomb of William Rayner, which is situated in the north-west corner of the churchyard, and is in a very bad state of decay.

The sub-committee, comprising the Rev. C. E. Matthews, and Messrs. Barton, Upton, Williams and Pullinger, were present, together with the Rev. Orr, Dr. Williamson and Messrs. W. H. Fussell, F. Rogers, W. R. Ward, and ringers from many of the island towers.

The service was conducted by the Rector of Arreton, and the Rev. C. E. Matthews gave an address. The service touch was a six-score of Grandsire by the following: W. Upton 1, G. Williams 2, G. Pullinger 3, W. H. Fussell 4, A. R. Ward 5.

A course of Grandsire Triples on handbells was rung around the tomb by the following: W. H. Fussell 1—2, B. Williamson 3—4, G. Williams 5—6, H. Barton 7—8.

At the business meeting it was decided to remove the iron railings which are at present around the tomb, and to have it rebuilt on a concrete foundation. The work is estimated to cost about £16 to £20.

A subscription list has been opened, and the committee appeal for funds. This appeal is made not only to members of the Winchester Guild, but to ringers generally, as the position that the Exercise enjoys to-day is due in a great measure to pioneers of the type of William Rayner, and there is a duty to do to his memory, as embodied in the last line of the verse on the tomb, 'Yet shall this tribute long preserve his name.'

Mr. W. H. Fussell has written a very interesting account of the history of William Rayner (who was the pioneer of change ringing in the Diocese of Winchester, and who died 17/v./1823) after a great deal of time spent in searching old records, and this will be published in the 'Ringing World' in the near future.

The following subscriptions are acknowledged: Winchester Diocesan Guild, £2 2s.; collection at Farnham, £1 7s. 1½d.; Rev. C. E. Matthews, £1 1s.; Dr. Bruce Williamson, 10s.; Mr. G. Pullinger, 10s.; Mr. B. Barton, 5s.; Mr. F. Rogers, 5s.; Mr. W. Upton, 5s.; Rev. Coombes, 2s. 6d.; Rev. Orr, 2s. 6d.; Mr. W. H. Fussell, 2s. 6d.; Mr. H. A. Phillips, 2s. 6d.; Mr. W. Scott, senr., 2s. 6d.; Mr. Bailey, 2s.; Mr. H. Roberts, 2s.; Mr. Snow, 2s.; Mr. A. R. Ward, 2s.; total, £7 5s. 7½d.

Subscriptions should be sent to G. Pullinger, Upham, Southampton, and will be acknowledged in the 'Ringing World.'

TEN BELL TOWERS.

BEDDINGTON'S JUBILEE.

By CHARLES W. GORDON.

Tuesday, July 1st last was the 55th anniversary of the dedication and opening of the back eight of the present peal of ten bells at St. Mary's Church, Beddington, Surrey. The church, which dates from the 14th century, consists of chancel, nave, north and south aisles, and an embattled tower at the west end, containing formerly a ringing peal of five, which were cast in a field close to the church. A restoration took place in 1831, when the five bells were cleared out and a chime of three fixed.

THE TOWER OF ST. MARY'S CHURCH, BEDDINGTON.

When the late Canon Bridges took possession of the living he had a complete restoration of the church carried out, including the installation of a new peal of bells. The tenor was cast in 1867, it being originally intended for Woburn, Beds, and the largest bell of the old three was retained, and six new bells added in 1869. Two trebles were added in 1877, forming the present ten. The tenor is 20 cwt 1 qr. 14 lb. in E flat.

The inscriptions on the bells are as follows:—

Treble and 2nd.—Mears and Stainbank, London, Founders, 1877.

On waist 'Te Deum Laudamus.'

3rd, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th & 8th.—Mears and Stainbank, London, Founders, 1869.

On waist 'Te Deum Laudamus.'

8th.—T. Mears of London, fecit, 1831.

Cut in on waist x SIT x NOMEN x DOMINI x BENEDICTUM x Tenor.—Mears and Stainbank, London, Founders, 1867.

Cut in on waist x VIVOS x VOCO x MORTUOS x PLANGO x

St. Mary's Society was formed at the opening of the bells, and has continued uninterruptedly to the present day.

There has been a great number of peals rung on the bells (triples, Caters, Major and Royal), including the 7,777 Stedman Caters in 1913, which was conducted by Mr. Francis E. Dawe.

To celebrate the 55th anniversary of the opening (July 1st, 1869) a peal of Grandsire Triples was, as already recorded, rung on July 1st last.

In connection with the above information supplied by Mr. Gordon, it is interesting to note that he is the only survivor of the band that opened the bells fifty years ago.

In Stahlenschmidt's 'Church Bells of Surrey,' which was published in 1884, and is the standard history of the church bells of that county, the information concerning Beddington bells is meagre: 'A peal of ten bells by Mears, stated to be dated 1868; access to belfry refused.'

In the church inventory of the reign of Edward VI. there is the entry:

Item a sacris bell.

Item v belles in the steeple.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION OF CHANGE RINGERS.LEWISHAM DISTRICT.

The quarterly meeting of the above was held at Chislehurst on Saturday, July 26th. The bells were raised at 3 p.m., and were kept going throughout the afternoon and evening.

Service, with an address by the Rector (the Rev. Canon J. E. Dawson), was held in the church. This was followed by a splendid tea in the Village Hall, kindly supplied by the Rector and churchwardens.

The business meeting followed, the Rector presiding. Five new members were elected, and the election of two members previous to peals confirmed. SS. Peter and Paul, Bromley, was chosen as the place of next meeting.

The district representative on the general committee (Mr. W. J. Jeffries) read a report of the committee meeting held at Sevenoaks on Whit Monday.—This was adopted.

Mr. W. J. Jeffries then proposed a vote of thanks to the Rector for his address and presiding at the meeting, the Rector and churchwardens for their generosity in supplying the tea, and to the organist for his services—this was carried with applause.—The Rector and Mr. Evan Edwards (churchwarden) responded.

The members then returned to the tower for further ringing. This concluded an enjoyable and successful meeting.

MIDDLESEX ASSOCIATION IN BUCKS.

On Saturday, July 19th, a meeting of the South and West District was held at Denham, with its beautiful surroundings, and the fine peal of eight bells (tenor 24 cwt.). Messrs. Cecil Mayne and R. Turner, and others from Bucks, there enjoyed the scenery in the old churchyard, and rang touches on the handbells while awaiting the arrival of the main contingent. The Ringing Master's order for the day was 'short touches,' and thus were fulfilled. At 3.20 the bells were pealing forth Stedman Triples, and scarcely had they ceased when the Rev. H. C. Carter arrived, and offered, on behalf of the Rector (who was on holiday) and himself, a most hearty welcome to the association. He said that while listening to the ringing of the bells he was reminded of the days, previous to his sailing to a foreign land, where he had spent 15 years without being able to hear the music he had heard there that day.

Following the clergy's welcome, Mr. W. H. Fussell, as a Bucks man, welcomed the visitors, and likewise thanked them for the great service he considered they were rendering by visiting Denham, and he would be pleased to welcome them to his church further in Bucks should they at any time make it convenient to go there.

The hon. secretary accepted, and likewise acknowledged, on behalf of the association, the warm welcome that had been given, but as Mr. Mayne was the instigator of the meeting, the thanks were due to him, as it was pleasure to the association to be allowed to pay the visit.

Touches of Kent Treble Bob and Double Norwich preceded tea, in the hostess's garden, beside the old village stream, and 38 sat down.

A ringers' service was afterwards held, conducted by the Rev. E. C. Carter (Rector-in-charge), with Miss D. G. Feltham presiding at the organ. The preacher's address on the ministry of the ringers, and the message of the bells, was listened to with great interest. Further ringing followed, Cambridge and London Surprise being practised, after which a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector (the Rev. H. G. Battiscombe), the Rev. H. C. Carter, the organist, Messrs. W. H. Fussell and C. Mayne, and the local ringers. The Ringing Master, and all ringing members and friends who had helped to make the Denham meeting such a success.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The first peal of Double Norwich in Wales was rung at Rhyi on August 15th, 1883.

On August 12th, 1776, a peal of 6,012 Grandsire Caters was rung at Leicester.

Among the peals rung by John Holt was a 5,040 Bob Triples at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields on August 8th, 1749, in which year he was Master of the Union Scholars.

The peal of Stedman Triples Mr. T. H. T. Hender called on Whit Monday, June 9th, at Shiplake, Oxon, was his 200th peal as conductor, and also his 100th peal of Stedman Triples he had conducted.

Hampshire is to have a ringing week in September (about 8th to 13th), Mr. George Pullinger having kindly volunteered to fix up towers, etc. The Ringing Master of the Winchester Diocesan Guild will be glad to hear from members and friends who would like to take part in the tour.

The peal of Stedman Caters at Stephen's, Bristol, was rung as a wedding compliment to (1) the son of W. A. Cave (July 12th), (2) son of J. A. Burford (July 12th), (3) daughter of J. Gould (August 2nd), and (4) the organist of St. Stephen's, Mr. Rowland S. Shiles (July 22nd). After such an epidemic of marriages at St. Stephen's, the question naturally asked is, 'Who'll be the next?' but there is no prize for a correct answer. Owing to an accident to his foot, which is now well on the way to recovery, Mr. Burford was unable to take part.

RINGERS' OUTINGS.

NOTTINGHAM RINGERS' LONG TRIP.

On Saturday, July 12th, ringers of St. Peter's, Nottingham, and friends, had their annual outing, in delightful weather. The party, numbering 26 in all, left at 8.30 a.m. by charabanc, for Loughborough, where they were shown round the bell foundry of Messrs. Taylor and Co. The inspection proved to be most interesting, and among the features of special note was a new bell, for Bristol University, weighing 12 tons, the second largest to be made by the firm. The ringers then visited the foundry tower, on Mr. P. Taylor's invitation to raise the ten in peal. Touches of Grandsire Caters, Stedman Triples and Bob Major, were rung. The party then headed for Melton Mowbray, a wayside halt being called while skirting Charnwood Forest. At Melton Mowbray luncheon was partaken at the Fox Hotel, and afterwards the handbells were again brought into use. It was a great disappointment to all that they had to leave without visiting the tower, but owing to flying time, and the distance before them, this was found necessary. After a run through glorious country, the tall spire of Grantham was sighted at four o'clock. After climbing the countless steps to the ringing chamber, the ringers set the bells going to Grandsire and Stedman Caters and Kent Royal. Tea was served at the Angel and Royal Hotel, where Mr. Cobin welcomed Mr. Proctor, of the local band; also Mr. Coppock, vice-president of the M.C.A., and expressed his satisfaction at the smooth working of the excellent arrangements made by Mr. G. West. The beautiful Parish Church at Bottisford was the final calling place, when the Lincoln men were met, and touches of Stedman Triples and a course of London Surprise finished the ringing of a most enjoyable day, Nottingham being reached at 11 p.m. The ringers wish to thank all the clergy for so readily granting permission to ring, the ringers, who gave them so warm a welcome, and Messrs. Taylor and Co. for the most enjoyable visit to the foundry, as well as their own secretary, Mr. G. West, for making the outing so enjoyable.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

OUTING OF THE EVERCREECH RINGERS.

On Saturday, July 19th, the Evercreech ringers, wives and friends, went to Bournemouth by charabanc for their annual outing. The party was under the leadership of the captain, Mr. R. Whitehead, and the Vicar (the Rev. E. B. Ll. Williams) also accompanied the party. The first halt was at Blandford. The ringers made their way to the belfry of the beautiful parish church.—The Vicar of Blandford, a keen lover of bells, visited the tower, and commended the ringers on their splendid manipulation of the bells.

After an hour's pull, which was much appreciated by all the townsfolk, the journey was continued. Bournemouth Pier was reached at mid-day. Arriving at Swanage lunch was enjoyed, after which the belfry was visited, where the visitors received a hearty welcome from the Vicar of Swanage, and a member of the ringing band. The 'go' of these bells was perfect, and a good ring of Grandsire Triples was thoroughly enjoyed.

On the return journey tea was served at Bournemouth, and home was reached about 10.30 p.m., after a thoroughly enjoyable outing.

DEBENHAM MEN'S TRIP.

The Debenham ringers spent an interesting and enjoyable day among the towers of South Norfolk on July 14th. Leaving home at 7.15 a.m., the first call was made at Diss, where touches of Cambridge Double Norwich and Stedman Triples were brought round. Mr. John Souter joined the party here, and took part in most of the ringing during the day. Kenninghall was reached at 10 o'clock, and courses of Yorkshire, Superlative and Norfolk Surprise were tapped off. Quidenham was the next place visited, and Double Norwich and Superlative the methods rung. At Wymondham, Mr. Peggall was waiting to welcome the band. The fine old Abbey Church was much admired, and some good touches rung on the splendid peal of eight that hang in the lofty tower. Mr. Peggall joined the visitors at dinner, after which a move was made for Saxlingham. Alburgh was also on the list, touches of Double Norwich, Treble Bob and Duffield being rung at these two places. The party then proceeded to Pulham St. Mary, where Mr. Souter had to take leave of them in order to catch a train for Diss. Tea was obtained at the King's Head Inn, and afterwards Stedman Triples and Yorkshire were rung on the church bells. Pulham Market was then visited, when Cambridge, Yorkshire and Stedman were the methods rung here, and home was reached at 10.45. The visitors wish to thank the various incumbents and those local men who met them and helped to make the outing a success.

HALESWORTH AND CHEDISTON RINGERS' SOCIETY.

On Monday, July 28th, the members of the above society had their annual outing. Starting from Halesworth at 9 a.m., by charabanc, the party made their first call at Wrentham, where several touches were rung on the six bells. The Rector (the Rev. F. R. Bonsey) and Mr. E. Chatten joined the ringers. St. Margaret's, Lowestoft, was reached about 11.30, and here Mr. R. T. Woodley, the Lowestoft instructor, with Mr. A. Walker, of Pontefract, Yorks, received the visitors. Ringing was indulged in on this musical new peal of eight until 1.30, when a capital lunch was partaken of at the Crown Hotel. —A hearty vote of thanks was here accorded to all the clergy, tower keepers and ringing friends, who helped to make the outing a success. —Mr. Woodley responded, and expressed his pleasure in meeting them in Lowestoft, and assured them of a hearty welcome whenever they came to St. Margaret's. Accompanied by their Yorkshire friend, Somerleyton tower was next visited, and several touches were brought round on this pretty peal of six, in which the veteran Somerleyton ringer, Mr. J. Orford, took part. Tea was partaken of at Beccles. Mr. E. Goate, the conductor of the Beccles company, met the party at the church, and an hour's ringing on this beautiful peal of ten, with several members of the local band, was enjoyed. The kindness of the Beccles ringers in giving up their practice night for the visitors was much appreciated. —Mr. A. Harwin, of Gospel Oak, and Highgate, London, who was present, congratulated them on their excellent ringing.

During the day the following methods were rung: Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, and Bob Minor. Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Kent Treble Bob Major, and Grandsire Caters. Home was reached at 9.30, one and all having spent a most enjoyable day.

LYDNEY SALMON SUPPER.

AN ENJOYABLE WEEK-END.

The annual salmon and green pea supper, held on Saturday last at Lydney, proved, as usual, a very pleasant and social gathering. Ringers from Berkeley, Cardiff, Gloucester, Lydney, Newport, Ruardean and St. Briavels put in an appearance. The bells of the Parish Church were available during the afternoon, and good use made of them until 6 o'clock, when a move was made to headquarters, the Queen's Head Hotel, where fresh Severn salmon and home-grown green peas were in evidence galore.

Following the supper, the best thanks of the company were accorded to the organisers, and to the hotel proprietor and his good wife for the excellent repast. Then followed a social evening, consisting of songs, handbell ringing, etc., and when time arrived to get to bed all were instructed to be punctual in the morning at nine o'clock for a drive through the Forest of Dean to St. Briavels Church, where hangs a good ring of eight, on which touches of Stedman and Grandsire Triples were rung for the 11 a.m. service.

The hospitality of Mr. Coates, the local enthusiast, was then much enjoyed, he having arranged early lunch at the local hotel. The drive was then continued to Newland Church, known as the Cathedral of the Forest of Dean, where hangs a heavy ring of six. Permission to ring having been obtained from the genial Vicar, who accompanied the ringers to the ringing chamber, the bells were raised, touches rung, and the bells lowered in peal. Congratulations were showered on the visitors by the locals, who had not heard their bells rung in changes for some time.

A return was then made for Lydney, through the charming forest, and for evening service touches were rung, including a 672 of Triples.

The weather was delightful until the close of the week-end, when the usual downpour reappeared. It is hoped to repeat the arrangements next year.

BECCELES RINGERS' TOUR.

On Saturday, July 26th, the Beccles ringers, with friends from Bungay and Loddon, held their annual outing. Journeying by motor charabanc to Keeppham and Salle, they were met by Mr. W. Duncan, who had the bells ready for them. After touches at both towers, a short run brought them to Aylsham, where dinner awaited them at the Black Boys Hotel. After dinner more ringing was done at Marsham and Aylsham, and then a long run brought the party to Great Yarmouth, where, after a tea, they were met at St. Nicholas' Church by Mr. D. Hayward, who had the bells ready for them, and some good ringing was done. The best thanks of the ringers are due to Messrs. Duncan and Hayward for making arrangements, and the incumbents of the various churches for the use of the bells.

VISIT TO MANY TOWERS.

On Saturday, July 5th, the Wrentham company had their annual outing by motor-cars. A start was made about 8.15 a.m. for Kelsale, where Mr. Fenton Thompson met the party, and touches of Bob Major and Treble Bob Major was rung. A move was then made for Earl Soham. Here Mr. W. G. Crickmer welcomed the visitors, and touches of Oxford Treble Bob, Cambridge and Norwich Surprise were rung.

After lunch, at the Falcon Inn, Framsdon was visited, and the steeplekeeper being away from home with the belfry key, the Rector kindly fetched a ladder from the Rectory, and the belfry was reached by getting over the tower screen. Touches of Treble Bob Major and Bob Major were successfully brought round. The next stopping-place was Otley, where Double Oxford and Double Court were rung. A move was then made for Hasketon, and Woodbine and Oxford Treble Bob were tapped off. As the party were loading up, Mr. H. Burch arrived, but only just had time to shake hands with some of his old friends whom he had not seen for years. At the Lion at Ufford dinner was served, and Mrs. Ward was thanked for the excellent way in which she had catered for the party. Ringing at Ufford tower had to be omitted from the programme, owing to a wedding being in progress, and a peal attempt fixed to take place immediately after by a mixed band of 'Charles.' The party, therefore, made for Pettistree, where they were joined by Mr. F. Fisher, who took part in a touch of Cambridge, and accompanied them to Wickham Market, where touches of Oxford Treble Bob, Kent and Norwich Surprise were brought round. At Benhall, Oxford Treble Bob and Double Court were rung, and tea was partaken of at Saxmundham. Mr. F. Watling arrived on the scene, and accompanied the party to Sweffling, taking part there in touches of Kent, Double Court, and Cambridge. The next and last place of call was Rendham, and here touches of Kent and Oxford Treble Bob were brought round. The party then made for home, which was reached at 9.30 p.m., after a most enjoyable day. The ringers wish to thank, through 'The Ringing World,' all the Rectors for the use of their respective bells, Mr. C. E. Fisher, and Mr. F. Watling for their help in the arrangements, and especially the Rector of Wrentham (the Rev. F. R. Bonsey); Mr. W. C. Walker and Mr. E. Mortimer for the use of their cars, the two former gentlemen accompanying the party, and acting as chauffeurs; Mr. A. E. Austin, of Cambridge, being on holiday at Lowestoft, also had the pleasure of joining the party.

HARWICH RINGERS' EXCURSION.

On the occasion of the annual outing of the St. Nicholas' Guild, Harwich, on July 19th, a visit was paid to Lavenham, and Hadleigh, Suffolk. The party, numbering 20, had a splendid ride via Bergholt, Ipswich and Hadleigh, and Lavenham was reached at 4.15 p.m. On arrival the visitors were met by Mr. A. Symonds, who had everything in readiness for ringing on the splendid peal of eight, which were soon set going to Kent Treble Bob Major, Grandsire Triples and Stedman Triples, with the assistance of the local band. A little difficulty was experienced owing to the ropes running the opposite way. The fine church was inspected before resuming the journey to Hadleigh, where a capital meat tea was awaiting the party at the King's Head Hotel. Selections on the handbells by the tune ringing team and a course of Grandsire Triples, double-handed, were then very much appreciated, and afterwards the company adjourned to the tower of St. Mary's Church, and touches of Kent Treble Bob, Plain Bob and Grandsire Triples were brought round on this fine peal of eight. The return was made via Bergholt, Manningtree and Great Oakley, Harwich being reached at 11.15, the company having spent a most enjoyable time. The ringers wish, through the medium of the 'Ringing World,' to thank the respective incumbents for the use of the bells, and Mr. Read (Hadleigh) and Mr. A. Symonds (Lavenham) for having the bells in readiness, and all others who assisted to make the trip a success.

PLAIN MAJOR METHODS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Those bands who, having accomplished the Double Norwich stage, are looking for something slightly more difficult, before attempting Surprise Methods, will, I believe, find the following method both musical and interesting.

Bobs and Singles are made on the three back bells, as in Double Norwich, and I enclose herewith a 5,040 in the method.—Yours truly, WILLIAM E. BASON.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Biggleswade District was held at Roxton and Great Barford on Saturday, July 26th. The attendance at Roxton was very small. After tea the small company journeyed to Great Barford, being joined by two more Bedford ringers, and one from Turvey, and several of the local company. The bells were got going, and a touch of Stedman Doubles was rung. During the afternoon and evening, though the company was small, some good touches were rung, viz., Grandsire, Plain Bob, St. Simon's, New Doubles and Stedman Doubles. It was proposed to hold the next meeting at Biggleswade on Saturday, August 16th, when the secretary wishes all towers in the district to be represented. Any unpleasantness which has arisen at the conduct of the opening of Tempsford bells can then be explained, and amicably settled, for the sake of the association. A good meeting is hoped for.

THE 700th ARTICLE.

With this issue 'The Ringing World' completes another 'century.' This is our seven hundredth number, and it is not without some gratification that, despite the vicissitudes of the past—difficulties not of our own making, but above and beyond our control—we look back upon the fact that we have been able, uninterruptedly, to continue this journal in the interests of the art of ringing. It is also a pleasure to us that, from the first number to the present, the articles upon this page have been written by one pen, and, if we may be allowed to say so, with one persistent aim—ever to encourage a higher standard of ringing and to elevate the art. Our hope is that in this we have not been altogether unsuccessful, but the task is not an easy one. Let us say in the friendliest way that ringers are difficult people to move. This is not only due to the fact that in matters relating to ringing they are collectively an extremely conservative body, but there is among them, in the mass, an extraordinary apathy. Only those who have tried to stir up an interest in any particular phase of ringing can fully realise how deeply seated this apathy is. In all that has appeared in these articles it has been our aim to get ringers to think and talk about the matters we have discussed. Whether or not they have agreed with the views we have put forward is of no real consequence, indeed, disagreement is usually more productive of interest than is unanimity of opinion. We often wish that our readers would discuss more freely in our columns—which are open to their use in reason—the various matters which are from time to time treated on this page. But there again the demon of apathy is constantly to be found.

It is always a matter of gratification when we see that subjects which have been ventilated here are debated at a meeting of ringers in some part of the country. That is an indication of interest, and anything which fosters interest is all to the good. It is often difficult, we know, for ringers to find anything more than the merest routine business to transact at their meetings, but a little time occasionally given to the discussion of matters suggested outside would lead to a development of ideas and eventually to progress. Except when they gather for their annual general business, ringers are too prone to look upon meetings as social affairs at which business should be swept aside as quickly as possible. This is really a mistake, for district meetings form the most suitable occasions for testing the feeling of members, and we are surprised that more advantage is not taken of this means of ventilating matters which might be of considerable advantage if they were submitted and discussed throughout an association in

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

LUTON DISTRICT.

A meeting of this district was held at Aspley Guise on Saturday, August 9th, and proved very enjoyable, members being present from Bedford, Luton, Cranfield, Woburn, Houghton Regis, Dunstable, and the local tower, and a visitor from Preston, Lancs, calling in the evening while motor-cycling in the district, whom the members were very pleased to meet. The bells, a light peal of six, were kept busy during the afternoon and evening in a variety of methods, Stedman Doubles, Bob Minor, Double Court, Oxford, Woodbine and Kent Treble Bob, Cambridge and London Surprise being rung.

By the kindness of the Vicar, tea was partaken of in a room adjoining the Vicarage. After tea a short business meeting was held, presided over by Mr. A. King, president of the branch.

Westoning was selected for the next meeting, on September 20th. This will be the first meeting to be held there, and it is hoped members will keep this date open.

Hearty votes of thanks were accorded the Vicar for the use of the room and bells, and Mr. W. Chibnall for making arrangements for tea. The tower was again visited until 8 p.m.

THE NORFOLK GUILD OF RINGERS FOR THE DIOCESE OF NORWICH.

A general meeting of the Norfolk Guild was held at North Elmham on Bank Holiday Monday, August 4th. By kind permission of the Rev. E. H. Townsend (Vicar of North Elmham) the ring of eight bells at the Parish Church of St. Mary were placed at the disposal of the members. Luncheon was served at the George and Dragon. Mr. George P. Burton (Norwich) presided, in the absence of the president, supported by the Rev. J. W. Lea (locum tenens at North Elmham), Mr. Geo. Mace (churchwarden), Messrs. Arthur L. Coleman (secretary), W. J. Howson (district secretary), and representatives from Aylsham, Fakenham, Norwich, North Elmham, Wymondham, Gressenhall, King's Lynn. The business meeting followed.—The Secretary (Mr. A. L. Coleman) delivered a message of regret from the president (the Dean of Norwich) at his inability to attend the meeting that day, wishing the Guild a pleasant and successful meeting.—The minutes of the previous general meeting were read and confirmed.—On the motion, moved by the General Secretary, the following members were elected: The Rev. Joseph P. Quigly (Vicar of Happisburgh), hon. member; Mr. George Mace, North Elmham, hon. member; Mr. Cecil Wm. Steward, Gressenhall, performing member; Mr. George Stephen Steward, Gressenhall, performing member; also the following belfry elections were confirmed as life members (non-resident): Miss Kitty Willers, Trumpington, Cambs.; Messrs. Herbert E. Audsley, Crayford, Kent; George W. Steere, Broadford, Surrey; Harry Parkes, Mersham, Kent; Fred Blood, Nottingham.—The Secretary announced that the rehanging of the bells at St. Peter Mancroft in a new iron frame would not be completed much before Christmas, and that being so he had been in consultation with the President (the Dean of Norwich) with respect to the rendezvous for the annual meeting of the Guild. Under the circumstances of St. Peter Mancroft bells not being available, it was decided to hold the annual general meeting of the Guild at Great Yarmouth on Thursday, October 9th, in the Chapter House of St. Nicholas' Church, when the preacher would be the Rev. Canon R. A. Aitken, Vicar of Great Yarmouth.—The Secretary (Mr. A. L. Coleman) stated that 4,000 peals had been rung by the Guild since its formation, on April 4th, 1877, which stands as a record amongst the associations and Guilds of England. The first peal was rung at St. Mary's Church, Redenhall, Norfolk, on Tuesday, November 6th, 1877, the method being 5,152 changes of Superlative Surprise Major, and the 4,000th peal was rung at the Church of All Saints, Shipdham, Norfolk, on Sunday, July 27th, 1924, 5,050 changes of Bob Minor. A summary of peals appears on another page.—A vote of thanks was moved by the chairman to the Vicar and churchwardens of North Elmham.—The Rev. J. W. Lee and Mr. George Mace responded.—Mr. A. L. Coleman moved a vote of thanks to Mr. W. J. Howson (district secretary) for his services and kind assistance in the arrangements for the general meeting that day.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The quarterly meeting of the Rochester District was held at Swanscombe on Saturday, July 26th, over 40 members attending. The belfry was opened at 2 o'clock, when some of the members met to ring for a wedding, and the bells were going until 5 p.m., when the association form of service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. Campbell Ward), Mrs. Ward accompanying on the organ. The Rector gave an interesting address on Church Bells, from which it was learned that he knew more on that subject than many ringers. The Rector and Mrs. Ward had invited the members to partake of tea on his beautiful lawn, but the weather ruled otherwise, and the Parish Room had to be requisitioned. Needless to say, their hospitality was much enjoyed.

After a course of Grandsire Caters on handbells, the Rector presided over the business meeting, which was short, sharp and sweet.—Two new members were elected, and three non-resident life members.—Chatham was chosen for the annual district meeting, on the last Saturday in October.—The District Secretary congratulated, on behalf of the district, the Rochester Cathedral band on their local peal of Stedman Caters, which proved to be the first true peal on the new bells, as the previous peal had turned out a false composition. Mr. W. Haigh offered the district's hearty thanks to the Rev. Campbell Ward and Mrs. Ward for their many kindnesses to them during the afternoon and evening, which was loudly applauded.—The Rector said he was always pleased to welcome them to Swanscombe and he much regretted that they could not enjoy tea on the lawn, but next time they must choose better weather. After a touch on the handbells the tower was again visited, and during the ringing all methods were tried up to Cambridge and Superlative, and the ringing at this meeting was highly creditable.

BRISTOL.—On Tuesday, Aug. 5th, at the Church of SS. Philip and Jacob, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes): Mrs. E. J. Brown 1, Mrs. R. J. Williams 2, Miss N. Williams (Bath) 3, Miss A. Brown (conductor) 4, I. Long 5, E. J. Brown 6, H. T. Howell 7, F. J. Porch 8.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD. DEDICATION OF A NEW TREBLE BELL.

On Sunday, August 3rd, a service of dedication was held at 3 p.m., when the Right Rev. Bishop Shaw, D.D., Archdeacon of Oxford, was present, and officiated. After the second lesson, the act of dedication was performed by the Bishop at the foot of the tower in the chancel, the rope of the new bell being presented by Mr. W. Evetts, junr., with the usual request. On the conclusion of the dedicatory sentences, the new bell was committed to the care of the Rector (the Rev. G. Perry-Gore), late of St. Mary's, Oldham.—Bishop Shaw brought the service to a close with a most inspiring address, taking for his text, Psalm 150, verse 5, 'Praise Him upon the well tuned cymbals; praise Him upon the loud cymbals.'

Despite the steady downpour of rain the village church was filled for the occasion, several clergy from the district being present, including the Rural Dean (the Rev. F. R. Marriott), and the Rev. Cyril W. O. Jenkyn, Master of the Oxford Guild.

Before the service, touches of Stedman and Grandsire Doubles were rung (the first on the bells) by the following (120 Stedman): Walter Judge 1, Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn 2, W. Stone 3, William Judge 4, R. White 5, 120 Grandsire: William Judge 1, J. Keyte 2, J. H. Sheppard 3, R. White 4, Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn 5.

After the dedication of the new bell, the local band rang the first opening rounds. At the conclusion of the service, a 720 of Plain Bob (the first on the bells) was rung by R. White (Appleton) 1, J. Keyte (Charlbury) 2, J. H. Sheppard (Swindon) 3, Walter Judge (Kidlington) 4, W. Judge (Tackley), conductor, 5, W. Stone (Oxford) 6.

For evening service, touches of Stedman and Grandsire were rung by Walter Judge 1, V. R. Hickman 2, William Judge 3, W. Stone 4, R. White 5, A. Whitlock 6.

The following towers were represented: St. Giles, Oxford, Swindon, Kidlington, Burford, Spilsbury, Wootton (Oxon), Eynsham, Barton and Piddington.

The 'go' of the bells was excellent, and reflected great credit to Mr. R. White, of Appleton, to whom the work of rehanging and strengthening the old frame (about 400 years old) had been entrusted.

The new treble bears the inscription: 'Tackley folk gave me, 1924. R. Perry-Gore, Rector. W. Evetts, junr., and E. F. Evetts, Churchwardens,' and was cast by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, and proved a grand splice, the pitch being exact. The old bells are inscribed as follows:—

2nd bell.—Cast by J. Warner and Co., 1859.
3rd bell.—1689, no inscription or founder's name.
4th bell.—Recast by J. Warner and Co., 1859.
5th bell.—1664. Compton Reid, Knight and Baronet.
Tenor bell.—1664. Compton Reid, Knight and Baronet.
The last two appear to have been presented by Compton Reid, at that date, of Shipton-under-Wychwood.

NORTH NOTTS ASSOCIATION. MEETING AT SUTTON-ON-TRENT.

Beautiful weather favoured this meeting on August Bank Holiday, and ringers assembled from places far and wide to test the 'go' of the new bells installed in the tower two years ago, and which are reported to be the best ring of six in North Notts. The meeting was held to help the sports and gala committee to clear off the debt on the bells, and upwards of £110 was raised, the attendance at the sports and gala being the largest of the three previously held.

The bells were at the disposal of ringers from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., and ringers hailed from Barlborough, Gamston, Retford, Ordsall, Norton Cuckney, Worksop, Southwell Cathedral, Bolsover, Bottesford, Sutton-in-Ashfield, Gainborough, North Collingham, Surfleet, and the local company. The visitors included Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Richardson and Flight-Serjt. Holden, R.A.F., of Cranwell, and the lady ringers.

During the day, the following methods were rung: Plain Bob, Oxford Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Cambridge Surprise and Stedman Doubles. A word of praise is due to Mr. J. Semper, of Ossington, for the pains he has taken to teach the Sutton-on-Trent band the art of change ringing during the last four months, including two ladies who can now ring 360 changes.

Tea was served at 4 p.m., and a large number of ringers and friends sat down to partake of the good things provided by the lady workers of the church. The business meeting followed, presided over by Mr. J. H. Clayton, of Collingham, the Vicar, who sent an apology, being busy on the sports ground.

The following new members were elected: Mr. Wilson Allen, of Sutton-in-Ashfield; Mr. William Marshall, Sutton-on-Trent; Mr. Kenneth Orgar, of East Retford.—There being no reply from Laxton re the September meeting, it was decided to hold the next meeting at Misson, in September, same to be advertised in 'The Ringing World.'—A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar (the Rev. G. H. C. Bartley) for the use of the bells and schoolroom, and to all the visiting ringers, who on the sports and gala ground and in the ringing chamber had helped to make the fête and gala a success. This brought the meeting to a close, and further ringing was indulged in until 8.15 p.m.

The two trebles were bought by public subscription, and hung in February, 1726. They weigh 3 cwt. 3 qr. 21 lb., and 4 cwt. respectively.

The following is a copy of the tablets in the belfry:—

A remarkable peal was rung by the eight persons as under, called the quarter-peal of OXFORD TREBLE BOB, all eight in, or the UNION BOB, consisting of 10,080 changes, which they rung in 6 hrs. 28 mins., on the 1st day of April, Anno 1727. The peal contains 5,040 Triple Changes, 2 Doubles only excepted, and is allowed by all judges of the art to be the most ingenious peal that till now has ever been composed. The Bobs were

Monday, December 18th, 1815, 5,040 changes of that intricate method called NORWICH COURT BOB were rung in 3 hours and 20 minutes, in this steeple, without the misplacing of a bell or the repetition of a single change. The peal was conducted by Mr. Robt. Chesnutt, with his accustomed precision, and the bold and regular striking reflects great credit on the ringers. After which a short length of that ingenious and harmonious peal, Stedman Triples, was rung by the same company, and performed by the following persons:—

JNO. CLARKE Treble	ROBT. CHESNUTT 5
WILLM. MANN 2	THOS. BORELL 6
JNO. GIDDENS 3	SAML. HAVERS 7

The utmost regularity being retained from beginning to ending, which included an interval of 3 hours and 45 minutes. It was composed and expertly conducted by Mr. Samuel Thurston, and rung by the under-mentioned persons:—

RINGERS' OUTINGS.

A FIRST OUTING.

On August Bank Holiday, the ringers of St. Lawrence's, Reading, had their first outing, the day being spent in London. The party consisted of thirteen ringers, including two ladies, accompanied by the Vicar (the Rev. J. T. Mumford). Arriving at Paddington at 9 a.m., the party at once made tracks to St. Clement Danes, in the Strand, a church built by Wren, and attended by Dr. Johnson. An hour's ringing on the beautiful peal was much enjoyed, and they left to the strains of 'Oranges and Lemons' played upon the chimes. No time was lost in getting to St. Mary Abbots, Kensington, where Mr. Garrard and other Kensington ringers were awaiting them, and the fine peal of ten were soon going to Stedman and Grandsire Caters, etc. The band dispersed for the afternoon to see the sights of London, some of the band having never been to London before. Among the places visited were the Abbey, the Cenotaph, St. Paul's and Southwark Cathedrals, the National Gallery, Mansion House, etc. All turned up again punctually for tea, and afterwards adjourned to the neighbouring tower of St. Botolph's, where Mr. James Davis was in readiness, and an hour's good ringing in various methods—standard and otherwise—was put in on the musical ring of eight. That finished the ringing for the day, and the party made their way to the London Coliseum for the last item in the day's programme. The midnight train from Paddington was caught, and the party, tired but happy, reached Reading just before 1 a.m. The first outing was voted a huge success by everybody, and it is to be hoped that it will be followed by a good many more equally as enjoyable. The methods rung during the day were Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Caters, Plain Bob, Kent and Double Norwich Major. The band would like to take this opportunity to thank the Vicars of the several churches for allowing the use of the bells; to the steeplekeepers for having everything in readiness, and to Mr. Garrard for his help in making the arrangements.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

On Wednesday, July 23rd, the ringers of St. Peter's, Sible Hedingham, for their annual outing went a round of towers in the Ipswich district. Going via Sudbury, the first call was at Assington, a nice peal of six, touches of Treble Bob and Cambridge being rung. The next stop was made at Hadleigh, and the fine ring of eight were made use of for touches of Grandsire and Stedman and Bob Major. Dinner was partaken of at Ipswich, and afterwards St. Margaret's tower was visited. There the ringers had a good ring. None of the other towers were visited as the bells went so well at St. Margaret's. Touches of Major Treble Bob and Stedman were rung, and then on to Stratford St. Mary, where a nice ring of six for Treble Bob were found. After tea, at Colchester, St. Peter's tower on North Hill was visited, and touches were rung for the 7.30 service, with touches of Major and Stedman. An enjoyable day's ringing was spent, and the band would like to thank the steeplekeepers at Assington, Hadleigh, etc., for making the arrangements for the bells.

STANMORE, MIDDLESEX.

The Stanmore ringers held their first outing on Saturday, June 28th, and travelled by charabanc to St. Albans, calling at St. Stephen's, a six-bell tower. Dunstable Priory Church was the next stop, the ringers being met by Mr. A. Sharman. The bells were set going to Grandsire Triples. The Rev. Canon Baker visited the tower, and gave them a hearty welcome. After tea the party journeyed to Luton, where they were met by Mr. Goodenough, and once again Grandsire Triples were set doing on these beautiful old bells. Harpenden was next visited, Mr. Day welcoming the party. After ringing some Triples, one of the ringers rang his first course of Stedman Doubles on the back six. All the ringers wish to express their thanks to the Vicars of Dunstable, Luton, Harpenden, and St. Stephen's and St. Albans for their respective bells, and also to those who helped to make the outing such a great success.

LINSLADE BUCKS.

On Saturday, August 9th, the Linslade ringers held their annual outing, journeying by motor to Swanbourne, where the handy ring of six were soon going to Bob Minor and Grandsire Doubles. Then on through Winslow and Whitchurch to Aylesbury, the county town of Bucks, where a stop was made for tea. After tea a move was made for Wendover, where several of the local ringers welcomed the visitors. The bells were raised in peal, and some good touches of Doubles and Minor were rung. Going on through Halton Camp (R.A.F.) and Tring, the party arrived at Ivinghoe, and were lucky enough to find the foreman ringer standing outside the church. After obtaining permission for a pull the tower was visited for the first time by members of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. The best thanks of the ringers are due to the Vicars of the towers visited, and to the foremen for making all arrangements.

TUNBRIDGE WELLS.

The St. Peter's, Tunbridge Wells, ringers held their annual outing on August Bank Holiday, accompanied by wives and sisters, and also three of the Lambert family of Horsmonden.

After leaving Tunbridge Wells the first stop was Mayfield, where a touch of Stedman Triples was rung. A course of Superlative was attempted, but came to grief. The next stopping-place was Heathfield, where more Stedman Triples were rung, and a course of Superlative. Thence to Buxted, where Stedman and Kent were brought home. The next stop was Uckfield, and the methods rung were Stedman, Grandsire, Double Norwich and Superlative. Thence to Lewes, where an excellent lunch waited. In the afternoon the belfry of Southover was visited. Here they were met by some of the local ringers, and with their help courses of Grandsire and Stedman Caters and Plain Bob and Kent Royal were rung, several of the visitors ringing on ten bells for the first time. Superlative and Oxford Treble Bob Major were also rung. A move was then made for East Grinstead. After a welcome tea, at the Church Institute, the grand peal of eight were set going to Stedman, Double Norwich and Superlative, and afterwards lowered in peal. The next stop was Withyham, Stedman and Superlative being the methods. Tunbridge Wells was reached at 9.30, after a very pleasant day, which reflected the greatest credit on the secretary and organiser, Mr. W. Latter. This outing makes a record for the Tunbridge Wells band in the diversity of methods rung. It is desired, through the medium of 'The Ringing World,' to thank the incumbents of the various churches for the permission to ring, and the steeplekeepers and local ringers for their kindness in having everything ready.

ROMNEY MARSH GUILD.

The members of the Romney Marsh Guild held their annual outing on Saturday, August 2nd. The first contingent from Stone was picked up at 6.45 a.m., Appledore at 7, Tenterden 7.20, reaching the first tower, Withyham, at 9.30. These are a nice handy ring of eight, and an hour's ringing was much enjoyed. The Rector met the party, and extended a hearty welcome. A lovely ride over Ashdown Forest brought them to Rotherfield, where the Ashford contingent was met. Here was a very good peal, and several touches were brought round. After lunch, at Mayfield, an hour's ringing was indulged in, Mr. A. Miles, the sexton having a pull. Uckfield was the next stop, and here the party were met by Mr. J. Hart. Several touches were rung on this handy little ring. They next moved on to Heathfield, and were soon enjoying a substantial tea provided by the hostess of the Rose Inn, and the wants were well attended to by one of the local lady ringers, Mrs. Barrow, to whom best thanks are due. After tea, a good hour's ringing on this fine peal, both in 'go' and tone, and then the order 'all aboard' for the last tower on the day's list, viz., Salehurst. Here they were met by Mr. W. H. Head, and some good ringing enjoyed in the standard methods. This concluded the ringing for the day. There were about 50 in the party, of whom nearly half were lady ringers, wives, etc. The unanimous opinion of all present seemed to be that they had come to the end of a perfect day.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The correct version of the inscription on the tomb of William Rayner at Arreton, Isle of Wight, is as follows:—

Skilled in the mystery of the pleasing peal,
Which few can know and fewer still reveal.
Whether with little bells, or bell sublime,
To split a moment to the truth of time.
Time so oft truly beat at length o'ercame,
Yet shall this tribute long preserve his name.

The first peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus was rung at Ipswich on August 15th, 1908.

On the now silent bells of St. Michael's, Coventry, a peal of 5,000 Oxford Treble Bob Royal was rung on Monday, August 17th, 1812.

Mr. J. Watson, member of the Lancashire Association (Blackburn Branch), rang his 100th peal on August 7th, 1924. Details of peals: Minor Methods, 6; Bob Major, 6; Grandsire Triples, 30; Stedman Triples, 19; Stedman Caters, 3; Kent Treble Bob Major, 19; Kent Treble Bob Royal, 4; Granta Treble Bob Major, 1; Oxford Treble Bob Major, 1; Double Norwich Major, 8; Superlative Surprise Major, 1; Palatine Surprise Major, 1; London Surprise Major, 1; total, 100. RINGERS' WEDDINGS.

A very pretty wedding took place on Saturday, August 2nd, at the Church of St. Mary, Shirehampton, near Bristol. The bride was Miss Elsie J., eldest daughter of Mr. Joseph Gould (Past Master of the Bristol United Guild, chairman of the Bristol branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Association, and captain of the Henbury ringers), of Shirehampton, and the bridegroom Mr. Ernest D. Collier, an esteemed member of the Henbury Parish Church bell ringers. The church was packed to overcrowding, the bride having been a well-known church worker. She was given away by her father, and wore a gown of cream schappe de chine, with veil and orange blossom, and carried a bouquet of a sheaf of lilies. She was attended by four bridesmaids, Misses Minnie, Laura and Dolly Gould (bride's sisters), and Marie Covington (cousin), and two wore pale heliotrope, with pale pink carnations, and two wore cream schappe silk, with pale mauve sweet peas. The page boys, Allen Clark and Kenneth Godfrey, were dressed in cream schappe silk. The bridegroom was attended as best man by Mr. Wm. Gould. The ceremony was performed by the Vicar (the Rev. C. W. Dixon, M.A.), and the organist played Mendelssohn's Wedding March. After the ceremony the bride and bridegroom had to run the gauntlet, and they were met at the gateway of the bride's house by a band of ringers from Bristol, Henbury and Westbury-on-Trym, who rang the handbells (there being no peal at the church at Shirehampton). The reception was held at the bride's house, where all relatives, ringers and guests were received. Later in the afternoon the bride and bridegroom left for the Cheddar Valley, where the honeymoon is being spent. The bride's going-away dress was of grey crepe de chine, with hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Collier were the recipients of about sixty presents. A peal of Stedman Caters was successfully brought round at St. Stephen's, Bristol, the same afternoon, in honour of the event.

On Saturday, August 2nd, at St. Francis' Church (R.C.), Holbeck, Leeds, the marriage of Mr. Thomas McHale to Miss Mary Marlett took place. The ceremony was conducted by the Very Rev. Canon McAuliffe. The bridegroom's brother was best man. The bride was given away by her father, Mr. George Marlett. As the happy couple came down the aisle the bells rang out their congratulations, and concluded with a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples. The company were afterwards entertained at the residence of the bride and bridegroom, and the best wishes of those present were conveyed to the bridal pair.

ELMDON (ESSEX) CHURCH BELLS.

The peal of six bells at the Parish Church here, during the last few weeks, been rehung and all new fittings added, and put in perfect ringing order by Mr. A. Bowell, of Ipswich. The work was tested by ringers from towers in the district on Friday evening of last week, when various touches were rung, and a 720 of Oxford Treble Bob by the following: F. Bowtell 1, R. Clements 2, H. Welham 3, P. Webb 4, R. G. King 5, A. Bowell (conductor) 6. One and all were highly pleased with the 'go' of the bells.

EXMINSTER'S BELLS.

A band of visitors from Exeter recently paid a visit to Exminster, where a pull on the fine peal of six bells, which have just been rehung by Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, with new fittings and frame, was greatly enjoyed. Stedman, Plain Bob and Grandsire were the methods indulged in, and the 'go' of the bells was found to be perfect, and all that could be desired. It is hoped the local band will soon join the Devon Guild, and get the assistance of some of the visitors to help them to learn method ringing now their bells go so beautifully. With the addition of two trebles these bells would make a splendid peal of eight, and it is hoped means will soon be found for putting them there. Mr. F. Gardner made the necessary arrangements for the visit, while Messrs. Laver and Davey acted as conductors.

ANNUAL CARILLON PERFORMANCE AT CATTISTOCK.

The pretty little village of Cattistock was on Thursday invaded by large crowds who had come from all over Dorset and the neighbouring counties to hear the music performed on the bells in the tower of the Parish Church by Monsieur Kamel Lefevre (assistant carillonneur to Monsieur Jos. Denyn), of Malines Cathedral. The programme was as follows: Prelude; 'God bless the Prince of Wales' (Brinsley Richards); 'The Sunshine of your Smile' (Lilian Ray); 'Sally in our Alley' (17th century); 'March of the Men of Harlech' (A.D. 1468); 'Yn nyffryn clwyd' (The Missing Boat); 'In an Old-fashioned Town' (W. H. Squire); and 'Red, White and Blue' (Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean); Rondo (1st Sonata); old Flemish songs—'Het Visschertje' (The little fisherman); 'De Minnehode' (Love Messenger); and 'Naar Oostland willen wij rijden' (To Eastland we will go) (old emigrants' song); 'The Flemish Lion' (K. Miry) and 'La Brabanconne'; 'God Save the King.'

PROPOSED WASHBROOK MEMORIAL.

To the Editor.

Sir,—It would seem folly to augment such a light peal as St. Ebbe's, Oxford, to eight, with a tenor of only 5 cwt. Perhaps some of your readers may not be aware that the experiment has already been tried and found unsatisfactory.

The history of these bells briefly is as follows: In 1790 the present light peal of six, cast by John Briant, of Hertford, was put up in place of an old peal of three. In 1803 two trebles were added, the gift of Mr. Baker and Mr. Searsbrook; but being so light and small the result was not satisfactory; and so somewhere about fifty years ago they were taken down and utilised for a district church. This being the case, it would be a waste of money to repeat the experiment. Could not a peal of eight be hung at St. Peter-le-Bailly? I believe there is still only the single bell cast by Robert Wells of Aldbourne, in 1792, in the tower, together with a small call-bell. The inscription on the large bell is as follows:—

'With seven more I hope soon to be
For ages joined in harmony.'

The Rev. W. C. Lukis, writing in 1857, remarks: 'This very reasonable wish has not yet been realised,' nor does it appear to have been realised even now. Here is a chance for doing some useful work.—Yours, etc.,
J. R. JERRAM.

RINGING AT OXFORD.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I find that I was mistaken in supposing that there was no University Society at Oxford during the time of my residence at New College. I had never heard of it, but that was not sufficient reason for implying that it did not exist.

As a matter of fact (so a correspondent informs me) the society had, on Feb. 8th, 1882, celebrated its 10th anniversary by ringing its first peal entirely by members. Some of those who took part in the peal are no doubt still surviving, and I owe them an apology for my ignorance of their services to University ringing.—Yours faithfully,
T. L. PAPILLON.

PLAIN MAJOR METHODS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The method published last week by W. E. Bason is Dublin Duplex, and has been rung by, I believe, the Whitley Bay band, Mr. G. Lindoff being the author, who gave it to me about 1909. Any peal of Treble Bob Major will run true, repeated with two singles.—Yours truly,
W. KEEBLE.

DOUBLE FAKENHAM COURT BOB MAJOR.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The method in last Friday's 'Ringing World' as, as Mr. Bason says, a good method. But I must point out that it has previously been published many times, that it is in the forthcoming Central Council book of Major Methods, and that it already has a name. It bears exactly the same relationship to Bristol Surprise that Double Norwich does to Norfolk Surprise. To avoid disappointment, composers should know that the Method Committee's collection includes every possible Major method with a Plain Hunting Treble; and that the more limited group which includes this method has been worked out in formula on all numbers to infinity.—Yours,
J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

METHOD AUTHORSHIP.

The letters which appeared in our last issue go not only to prove that Double Fakenham Court Bob is not a new method, but also to show that there is no scope for authors of plain methods in these days. The fact that every possible Major method with a plain hunt has either been actually figured out or obtained in formula, should save those who enter freshly upon the very fascinating study of method construction from wasting their energies in search of something new. Casual discovery can, in future, bring no laurels to the aspiring author who restricts his investigations to this class of method; indeed there seems little opportunity for getting upon conventional lines anything new that is really worth ringing on eight bells. There are still a number of good methods in existence which have not yet been rung, and now that experts are constantly engaged in working out all possible systematic permutations upon a mathematical basis, the ringers who set out to compile a method by the laborious stages, by which composers of old carried out their task, are almost certain to find that theirs is a case of love's labour lost.

At present there are a good many enthusiasts who spend much of their leisure in delving into this very attractive phase of the art, and as the fruits of labour go to the first in the field, there may still be some rewards awaiting those who seek out the more complicated methods. But those who are devoting their time and talent to this form of composition—or ought we to say authorship?—are in a position of much uncertainty. They cannot know whether anyone else has a prior claim to what they have discovered, and it is high time something was done to put this matter on a better basis. We have constantly urged the setting up of a register of methods, as well as of compositions, by the Central Council; and until this is done ringers will continue to waste their energies and suffer disappointments in their endeavours to get new methods, simply because there is practically no means of ascertaining whether or not the figures which they have evolved have already been produced by someone else. A register of methods would be nothing like so stupendous a task as a register of peal compositions, and the Council might turn their attention to it at once. It may be urged that in time this task will be accomplished by the Methods Committee, but their rate of progress is inevitably slow, because their labours are devoted to exhausting the whole of the possible methods in the various classes. What is wanted at the moment, is that all existing methods should be filed with the Council, so that a man may ascertain at once whether or not his figures really belong to him or to an earlier author, and to secure to the legitimate composer the rights which are his.

THE NAMING OF METHODS.

A SUGGESTION FOR THE COMMITTEE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—There has lately been a discussion in 'The Ringing World' about the naming of methods. I want to put forward a suggestion which I hope the committee will seriously consider.

I wonder how many of us realise that bellringing is the one popular mediæval church ceremony that has survived to us without any break at all. It is true that in the 17th century Puritans raved against it as being one of the deadly sins, but, as all of us know who have had any experience in the ringing chamber, bellringers are not easily broken of their habits, so that when all the popular plays, processions, holidays, music and ceremony were stopped, the ringers, safely out of the way in their bellries, continued to ring and steadily to improve their art.

Now had they, in the Middle Ages, reached the stage of method ringing, the ringers would, as a matter of course, have named their methods after the Christian saints. My suggestion is that we should recognise that we are practising a mediæval Christian art, and do as they would in naming our methods in future after the saints. Is not there a mediæval jocularly about such a name as St. Peter's Surprise or St. Catharine's Delight, most suitable for our 'merry bells'?

RINGING IN BOSTON, U.S.A.

VISIT OF MR. CHARLES WILLSHIRE.

Mr. Charles Willshire, of Montreal, and formerly of Guildford, Surrey, writes:—

Having decided to take a short vacation in New York, I thought I would return via Boston, and I therefore wrote to Mr. R. Newton, asking him if he could arrange some ringing for me on Sunday, August 3rd. He replied almost by return, saying how pleased he would be to see me, and that he had arranged some ringing for me at the Perkin's Institute for the Blind on Sunday afternoon and also in the evening for service at the Church of the Advent. On arriving at the first-mentioned place, I was given a hearty welcome by all, including Mr. and Mrs. Newton and Mrs. Shurtleff. The bells were soon going, and a touch of 168 Grandsire Triples was rung by the following: Anthony R. Price treble, Charles Willshire, sen., 2, Mrs. Shurtleff 3, Philip J. Allfrey 4, William Bashford 5, James F. Laker 6, Richard Newton (conductor) 7, Joseph Goodhead tenor. Afterwards we attempted a 700 of Kent Treble Bob Major, but it was unfortunately lost after ringing 600 changes.

Time being up, the bells were lowered, and, by the kind invitation of Mrs. Shurtleff, we all adjourned for tea, after which the handbells were brought out, but by the time a course had been rung, we had to go to the church, where a touch of 572 Grandsire Triples was rung by: Richard Newton treble, Philip J. Allfrey 2, Charles Willshire, sen. (conductor), 3, Mrs. Shurtleff 4, William Bashford 5, James F. Laker 6, Anthony R. Price 7, Joseph Goodhead tenor. The striking, on the whole, was very good.

After ringing and a chat about the old country, I had to take my leave, owing to a previous arrangement to meet a travelling companion, but not until I had promised Mr. and Mrs. Newton to visit them on the following evening. Accordingly I met him as he was leaving business, and enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Newton, after which the former took us for a trip in his motor-car, visiting Ingham, where there is a peal of bells in a campanile entirely separated from the church, but we were unable to get in to see them. We then proceeded through beautiful scenery over the Blue Mountains, and returned to Boston after a ride of 35 miles. After an hour spent with them we had to say 'Good-bye,' and thus ended one of the most pleasant days I had spent for a long time. I wish, through the medium of this paper, to thank all those who met me, and especially Mrs. Shurtleff and Mr. and Mrs. Newton for making my visit such a pleasant one.

AUTHORSHIP OF METHODS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Mr. Keeble says that Mr. G. Lindoff is the author of the method given in your issue of August 8th. Now I should be the last man to belittle Mr. Lindoff's work as a composer, but to say that anybody is the 'author' of that method is, to one who knows anything about the matter, simply ridiculous. Further, even according to popular standards, the method is not Mr. Lindoff's. It was published in the 'Bell News' as far back as 1899.—Yours truly,

J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

A FALSE PEAL.

W. BARTON,

The meeting of the Northern Division of the Hertford County Association, arranged for Barley to-morrow, has been postponed.

The Annual Report of the Hertford County Association has just been circulated. The membership for the current year consists of 392 attached to 48 bands, 19 unattached, 86 non-resident life, 40 non-resident ordinary and 49 honorary, a total of 586.

Details of the peals rung in the two years 1922 and 1923 appear in this year's Report of the Chester Diocesan Guild, which has just been issued. The report of the committee will be found on another page.

An interesting feature of the list of Norfolk Guild peals in our last issue was the fact that peals of Oxford Treble Bob Major far outnumber those in the Kent variation. We wonder whether any other association can claim to have rung more peals of Oxford Major than of Kent!

The old peal of six bells at the ancient church of Whalley have been recast and augmented by the addition of a new treble and tenor (22 cwt.) by Messrs. Taylor and Co. The dedication service will take place to-day (Friday) at 1.30 p.m. It is expected that a branch meeting of the Lancashire Association will be held at Whalley shortly.

Next Tuesday is the anniversary of the first peal of Grandsire Triples, which was rung at St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich, on August 28th, 1718. It was composed by John Garthorn, 'who, with long Study and Practice, have perfectly discovered those Intricate methods which were hidden from the eyes of all the ringers in England.'

'A REMARKABLE MAN OF LITCHURCH, DERBY.'

To the Editor.

Sir,—The account of the first peal of Caters at Litchurch, Derby, in your last issue, brought to my mind the following verses I have had by me for some years, and which bear the above title. Who this 'remarkable man' was I have no idea, but perhaps our Derby friends can tell us.—Yours truly,

ERNEST MORRIS.

Leicester.

A wonderful man at Litchurch dwells,
Who is very fond of ringing bells;
If you would like to know his name,
A Trent-side village bears the same.

At eight o'clock on Sunday morn,
When men are sleepy, tired and worn;
A thrilling sound runs through the brain,
Telling the old man's at work again.

With jacket off, and rope in hand,
Under the bell he takes his stand;
To have a pull just at his ease,
With no one but himself to please.

And when he's done, off home he goes,
Thinking nought of friends or foes;
He finds the breakfast table set,
And does his duty, you may bet.

LLANDAFF. — At the Cathedral on Wednesday, August 13th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters (1,259 changes, composed by Cornelius Charge) was rung with the bells half-muffled, as a token of respect to the late Mrs. Buckley, wife of the Venerable Archdeacon J. R. Buckley, Vicar of Llandaff: R. Bailey 1, F. J. Bailey 2, C. O. Hobbs 3, G. Large 4, S. Dawe 5, L. Wright 6, J. W. Jones 7, E. Coombes 8, W. Bolton (conductor) 9, E. Coles 10.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.ANNUAL FESTIVAL AT MACCLESFIELD.*PRESENTATION TO THE REV. A. T. BEESTON.

The Chester Diocesan Guild held its annual meeting at Macclesfield on August Bank Holiday, when over seventy members were present for the business meeting, and more joined the company during the afternoon. The proceedings commenced with a service in the Parish Church at 10.50 a.m., conducted by the Vicar (Rev. H. E. Stevens), at which Canon H. J. Elsee (President of the Lancashire Association) preached the sermon.

At the business meeting afterwards the Master presented the Rev. A. T. Beeston, secretary of the Guild from 1907-1923, with an easy chair, that may, perhaps, best be described as 'commodiously soporific,' and, in lieu of the traditional 'purse of gold,' a cheque for £20. To this gift nearly every member of the Guild had subscribed, and the chair bears on a silver plate the inscription: 'Presented to Rev. A. T. Beeston, honorary secretary of the Chester Diocesan Guild of Church Bell Ringers from 1907-1923, by the members of the Guild. Macclesfield. 4th August, 1924.'

The Rev. A. T. Beeston, in acknowledging the gift, said that he regarded it to some extent as a judgment passed on him. Evidently his service to the Guild had been satisfactory. He had seen it grow from very small beginnings, and the present members of the Guild must go on trying to improve it.—Mr. J. P. Fidler also spoke, and gave those present the slogan, 'Copy Mr. Beeston.' He felt they could not do better.

The Master (Mr. H. Fairclough), the treasurer (Rev. A. T. Beeston), the secretary (Mr. E. W. Elwell) and the auditors (Messrs. H. and W. Jackson) were all re-elected for the ensuing year.

It was decided that, with a view to economy, in future the composition of peals rung should not be included in the report.

A long discussion took place on the advisability of holding the annual meeting in future on Easter Monday. It was pointed out that in some parts of the diocese August Bank Holiday is not a recognised industrial holiday. On the other hand, there were felt to be practical difficulties in getting the annual report ready for the earlier date. It was eventually decided to make the change, and, after 1924, the Guild's year will end at Michaelmas to make this possible.

After the meeting those present had an excellent lunch at the Victory Cafe in Well Street, and then adjourned for united practice in the art at the various towers.

The Vicar of Macclesfield entertained the ringers to tea at the Vicarage, and so made a delightful close to a very good meeting.

In the annual report it was stated: The year has been one of difficulty from a monetary point of view. It cannot be too clearly understood by members of the Guild that, under our present system of working, by which subscriptions are paid at various times throughout the year, the Guild income does not come into the hands of our treasurer from the branch secretaries till the beginning of the year following. It is therefore necessary that we should carry forward at the end of the year a large cash balance to meet current expenses, until revenue again flows in at the end of the period. The balance is, then, more apparent than real. At the end of 1922 we had £17 7s. 5d. in hand, out of which had to be paid all expenses till the 1923 subscriptions were paid in at the end of the year. That is why, with £17 in hand, the committee found themselves unable to print a report costing £40, without drawing on their capital, a step which they did not feel justified in taking. By careful economy, however, the balance was increased to £45 13s. 7d. by the end of the year, and this allows us more latitude in the future. The committee met early in February, 1924, to consider what additional steps they could take to improve our financial position. An appeal was sent out to Parochial Church Councils asking them to vote us half a guinea each, and this appeal has already met with a certain amount of success. The effect, however, will not be felt till next year, as we are unable to bring the results into the 1923 account.

For the third year in succession we have had to face a declining membership, but there are now signs that this contraction is slowing up, and the branch secretaries, who are alive to the position, are beginning to make headway. The most hopeful sign is that, while last year subscriptions in arrears numbered 117, this year they are only 78. Six towers have lapsed, but two others have come into union.

The number of our members is: Honorary life members 5, honorary members 58, ringing and probationary members 587, non-resident life members 169, total 819. Towers in union 75, out of union 26.

Last year we were congratulating ourselves on a record in peal ringing, and the progress that was so marked then has continued at an equal rate during the year under review, no less than 80 peals having been rung by 127 members of the Guild, among whom are the large number of twenty first pealers. Six members have conducted their first peals and 57 have rung their first peals in new methods. Mr. G. R. Jones has rung in 35 peals, while of the 32 that Mr. R. Sperring has taken part in he has conducted 22. The Guild has also established two records during the year. The record length of 17,280 Treble Bob was rung at Over on July 21st, in ten hours, and the Norbury band have succeeded in ringing spliced peals in 29, 30 and 35 methods.

The committee have decided to print the report again this year in its old form, and to include in it the peals rung in 1922. While the financial position still remained acute, it is felt that the absence of our report last year has caused us to lose a certain amount of ground, which it is very desirable should be retrieved as soon as possible. On many occasions this year again the Master has been present at branch meetings and has very much encouraged us. Mr. Beeston visited some of the branches in the spring, and the new secretary has tried during the latter part of the year to get to know some of the members of the Guild. The branch secretaries and other officials have again worked willingly for their branches' good, and our best thanks are due to them. The only other important matter is that the Guild offers its hearty congratulations to the Rev. A. T. Beeston, and wishes him very many years of happy married life.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

The summer meeting was held at Barnard Castle on Saturday, August 9th. The bells of the Parish Church were kept going in various methods during the afternoon and evening, while ringing also took place at Staindrop Parish Church in the morning and at Cotherstone Church in the evening. At the latter place only a plain course of Bob Minor was brought round on account of the shocking condition of the bells. One of the locals kindly suggested that the visitors should ring the changes written on the blackboard: 'lead off the tenor and change to the next row of figures when the conductor stamps on the floor' were his instructions. This method was too intricate, so the ringers didn't follow his advice.

Tea was served at the Royal Restaurant, where 26 sat down, Mr. Todd (the President) presiding, supported by the general secretary, one vice-president and three district secretaries.

The Tanfield branch arrived in style with 'Tin Elizabeth,' by whose aid the journey from Barnard Castle to Cotherstone and back was made.

The following towers were represented: Darlington, St. John's and Holy Trinity; Shildon, Bishop Auckland, Sunderland, St. Ignatius, Tanfield, Newcastle Cathedral, St. George's, Jesmond, Staindrop and the local band. The last train saw those away who were not motor-ing.

The next meeting will be held at Wylam on September 20th.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.SOUTHERN DIVISION MEETING.

The quarterly meeting of the Southern Division was held at Conisborough on Saturday, August 16th, when a fairly good number of members were present, the towers represented being Doncaster, Ecclesfield, Wath, Rawmarsh, Tickhill, St. Marys, All Saints and the Cathedral, Sheffield; Rotherham, Wortley, Arksey, Killamarsh, Norton, Horbury and Pontefract. Upwards of 30 sat down to an excellent tea, provided by the local company in the Church School.

The business meeting followed, the chair being taken by the Vicar of Conisborough (the Rev. W. A. Strawbridge), who gave the association a very hearty welcome to his church.

Mr. F. Wilby (vice-president) moved that a letter of condolence be sent to the relatives of the late Mr. S. Thomas, of Sheffield, and this was carried by those present standing in silence.

Two new members were elected, viz., N. Fisher, of Dore, and C. Timpon, of Tickhill.

Subject to the bells at Rotherham Parish Church being ready, it was decided to hold the next meeting there, failing which Eastwood was selected, the meeting to be held on December 20th.

Votes of thanks to the Vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells and the school and to the local company for the excellent tea and arrangements were carried, and replied to by the Vicar.

Some very good ringing took place, the methods being Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob and Treble Bob, Double Norwich, Little Bob and Original Major.

THE PEAL AT STAFFORD.

The band wish to tender their thanks to the authorities for the use of this splendid peal of bells, and wish to place on record their appreciation of the kindly welcome accorded them by the curate, the bright and well ordered state of the fine ringing chamber, and the splendid 'go' of the bells, and, after the peal, the hearty invitation to 'come again.'

It was the first peal on ten bells by the treble ringer, of Royal by the 2nd ringer, the first time the 3rd ringer had rung on ten bells, the first peal on ten by the 4th ringer and the 5th ringer, the first of Kent Royal by the 7th ringer, the 50th peal by the 8th ringer, the first peal on ten bells by the 9th ringer, and the first peal of Royal by the Stoke Archidiaconal Association. Is it the first peal of Royal on the bells, also?

A DATE TOUCH

THE WASHBROOK MEMORIAL.

To the Editor.

Sir,—As the memorial to the late J. W. Washbrook is a matter of national interest to ringers, it is well that the questions arising in connection with it should be fully discussed.

At the annual meeting of the Oxford Guild it was decided that a memorial should be erected in Oxford, and the further suggestion that it take the form of two bells to augment a ring of six to eight met with general approval.

It will be agreed on all hands that such a memorial will be of a most suitable character, and it will naturally be accompanied by some sort of inscriptive tablet recording its object.

The next question that presents itself is, in which tower the two new bells should be placed. Three were named at the Oxford Guild meeting, St. Ebbe's, Carfax and St. Giles'. The proposal showing real vision was that made by Mr. Trollope. An inscription placed on an outer wall at Carfax Corner recording the augmentation of the bells to eight in memory of Mr. Washbrook would hold an unrivalled position as a witness to posterity of his great work in the cause of change ringing. On the other hand, an obvious objection is that Carfax bells are, to the best of my belief, municipal property, and used only on civic occasions. They are not to be heard week by week in the ordinary course of Sunday ringing, nor is any regular practice held at that tower. There is indeed no reason why the tower should not be open for practice once or twice a week, as is the case with Manchester Town Hall, but the ringers would always be at the mercy of the civic authorities, and a few unfriendly rate-payers might at any time make trouble. Another argument against Carfax is, that it is preferable to place the bells in a church tower, where their presence will tend to the maintenance of an efficient band of ringers to serve the church.

For the immediate requirements of change-ringing in Oxford it is probable that the addition of two trebles at St. Ebbe's would be of the greatest practical utility. This church is at the moment the principal centre of change-ringing, and, as Mr. Hibbert aptly pointed out, the ringers there are in the happy position of being able to ring when they like. But the question must be asked, 'How far would the augmentation of St. Ebbe's bells fulfil the main purpose, namely, that of a perpetual memorial to the late Mr. Washbrook?' It must be admitted that, so far as the public at large are concerned, it would be entirely ineffective. Only the congregation of this quaint little church and ringers visiting the belfry would know anything about the memorial. Even an inscription on the outside of St. Ebbe's tower would be seen by comparatively few people. Nor would the audible witness of the bells at all adequately serve the purpose in view. Shut in by buildings on every side, the diminutive bells at St. Ebbe's are heard but a very short distance, and their sound naturally fails to convey anything of that sense of grandeur and dignity, which should characterise a worthy memorial to so great a man.

Whether my memory served me right or not, when I expressed my belief that St. Giles' tower contained the pits ready for two more bells, it certainly does carry six massive bells, which, by the addition of two trebles, are capable of being made into a sonorous ring of eight, which would be well heard all over Oxford, and would constitute a fine, dignified memorial to the greatest ringer of his day. In raising the objection that owing to their position bells placed in this tower would be little used, Mr. Hibbert gently hinted that 'the Rev. Llewellyn Edwards had forgotten his Oxford.' Although, like the President of the Central Council, I find my undergraduate days receding into the background, I venture the assertion that in this instance my memory of Oxford is more accurate than Mr. Hibbert's own.

In those days St. Giles' was the only church in Oxford in which the bells were regularly rung three times every Sunday, besides a practice on Wednesday evening, and one never heard of any complaint being raised at the Radcliffe Infirmary. Further, in the printed rules hanging on the belfry wall it was stated, that in addition to the appointed hours of ringing the bells might 'also be rung on the festivals of the church and their eves.' Thus it was open to the ringers to hold an additional practice on the eve of any saint's day, if they so wished, and to ring on Holy Days as well as Sundays. Indeed, few hands of ringers would expect or desire more facilities for ringing than those prevailing at St. Giles'. And if a more active use of the bells than of late did evoke any complaints from the infirmary or elsewhere, the simple expedient of shutters, such as those in use at Clifton and Caversham, would effectually obviate the difficulty. In fact, the tone of the bells would be improved, from the standpoint of the listener outside, by some such modification of the outlet for sound, while one of the best ways to disarm hostility would be to give the assurance that after the augmentation of the bells to an octave their sound would be less heard than before.

'Some letter,' Mr. Editor, but I submit that the points of view thus fully, and, I trust, fairly set forth are worthy of consideration by the Exercise at large.—Yours truly,

F. LI. EDWARDS.

THE MUSINGS OF 'CRITICUS.'

HOLIDAY DREAMS.

This is the month when folk are mostly in a holiday mood. They may not always be lucky enough to have a holiday, but the holiday feeling is there right enough. I happen to be fortunate enough to be one of those able to steal away for a few days 'far from the madding crowd,' and when one finds oneself on a sandy shore with little but cliffs and placid sea to look at, one cannot help becoming contemplative. In these circumstances it is natural that a ringer's thoughts should turn to matters campanological, and in my day dreams I have successfully worked out a scheme for reforming all things relating to ringing that are in need of reformation. There are a score of things which I would do, such as excluding from the records all bad peals—although a friend of mine, who is not too particular about striking, sometimes tells me that there are no bad peals, only that some are better than others. Then, I would make the Central Council award peal points, not for method, but for merit. I know that in my scheme of things this would involve the appointment of official umpires for all peals, and it may have its difficulties, but little questions like that the Analysis Committee may well be left to work out for themselves. Another thing that needs looking into is the possibility of gingering up some of our associations. This may mean putting dynamite under most of the members, which is more than a one man job, but I could mention one or two societies who really need it badly. But I need go no further. When one wakes, and sits up and faces facts, one realises the futility of trying to attempt anything in the nature of reformation in ringing. We are a queer old lot we ringers, and one doubts if even an earthquake would quicken our pace or change our methods (by methods I do not mean the things we ring, but the things we do).

After all, is not ringing, for the most part, a 'holiday' job, except perhaps for those who set out to ring anything from fourteen to twenty peals in a week? Englishmen, it is said, take their pleasures sadly, and ringers generally, to my way of thinking, take their peal ringing too seriously. I sometimes wonder, what do mere peals matter; isn't it—apart from our Sunday duties—the social side of our ringing which leaves the most lasting impressions? I retain the pleasantest memories of many a little 'do,' in which I have shared, when we have been out for a peal, but whether our ringing on those occasions was successful or not, I have not now the slightest recollection. The memory of the happy social intercourse remains, the ringing, good bad or indifferent, has faded. But there are some men I know who, making peal ringing more or less a 'business,' live a life full of regrets for the peals they have lost! Ah no! They lose the best in ringing when they do this.

The interesting historical contribution published a fortnight ago in 'The Ringing World' is another reminder that among the things we lack as an Exercise is a real historical record. Scraps from the story of the past are to be found in all sorts of places, but nothing has ever been done to bring these things together in one collective whole. There is a fine chance here for some enthusiast, and the longer the job is left the harder will be the task. I believe it was the Literature Committee of the Central Council that was to have done a lot in this direction—at any rate much was expected of it; but this part of its work—the raison d'être of its inception—fizzled out miserably after several years' ineffectual endeavour to ascertain what, exactly, the principal member of the committee had done. Now, the committee seems to have changed its functions, and we hear nothing of the bibliography, or whatever it was, that was being undertaken. But that is no reason why a fresh effort should not be made to collect and collate the historical records of the Exercise, so that something like an authentic account of the ringers of the past, and their performances, may be made available for future generations. The way in which old records have, from time to time, disappeared, is a warning. As the years go by others may similarly be lost, and every endeavour should be made to prevent this. A work of this kind would be a big undertaking, but it would be well worth while. I should like to see the Central Council take this in hand straight away, and, if necessary, appoint some salaried person to do it—it is almost too much to expect such a labour to be undertaken voluntarily.

Up to the present all the Council's work has been done by honorary officials, purely for the love of the thing, but the time is coming, I believe, when our Parliament will have to take a bigger outlook, and, in order to tackle some of the tasks to which it might well put its hand—tasks which, indeed, it ought to undertake—will have to make some sort of recompense for the work done. It is obviously becoming increasingly difficult to find men who can give up their time to do the work of the Council, for much of it, in fact one may say most of it, is done in the privacy of the study and the home, and as the Council takes up some fresh subject or phase of work in connection with the art, so it finds that men with the necessary leisure are increasingly hard to discover. The Council will, in my opinion, eventually be forced into paying for some of the services which will be required, and this will necessitate bigger funds. As 'The Ringing World' pointed out, in a recent article, the only means of obtaining these funds at present is by increasing the subscription demanded in respect of each representative. A paltry half-a-crown per annum from about eighty members or so is a meagre revenue for a central body, and now that the rules of the Council are, as we read, to be revised, this would be a very appropriate time to increase the contribution. I wonder if the Standing Committee will have the courage to recommend it? To tell the truth, 'I ha' ma doots.'

Now that a memorial for the late Mr. J. W. Washbrook has been decided upon, I should like to add my own expression of hope that the scheme will be taken up as a thoroughly national one. A great deal has already been written and said about Jim Washbrook's wonderful capabilities as a ringer, and those who actually knew him in his prime will always tell you he has had no superior in all round ability. My first recollection of Washbrook was when I was quite a green hand at ringing, somewhere in the Grandsire Doubles stage. Washbrook and others were touring in our district, and they came to our tower for a peal of Major. Our lumpy-going tenor had never before been turned in to a peal—our local tenorman, who used to take about twenty minutes over the three hours to ring her behind to Triples, was of opinion that she was too big to be rung to Major. She weighed about a ton, and we believed the tenorman. We all assembled at the tower to worship at the shrine of these super-peal ringers, who were to attempt the seemingly impossible, and we peeped through the window while the ringing was in progress to see how the tenor ringer, which was Washbrook, was getting on. The bells were going so fast, he must surely be quickly exhausting himself! But when they ran into rounds in just three hours, and Washbrook, to our amazement, came out of the tower looking as fresh as paint, our tenorman went straight home, while we youngsters stared in open-mouthed wonder at this Hercules who had accomplished such a feat.

SURPRISE METHODS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Seeing by the latest performance of the Leiston ringers that Mr. Lindoff has once more struck the same seam as myself, allow me to state that I discovered Rochester Surprise, along with several more of the same family, in May, 1923. They have been well circulated in our Northern Counties. The Rev. A. T. Beeston has had possession of them for twelve months. The remainder of them are as under.—Yours truly,

ARTHUR CRAVEN.

RINGERS' OUTINGS.

THE ST. GILES' SOCIETY, READING.

On Saturday, August 16th, members and friends of the above, numbering 20, journeyed to Old Windsor, leaving Reading by motor coach at 2 p.m. Arrived at Old Windsor, they were met by Mr. J. Gutteridge. The bells were soon raised, and some really capital touches of Stedman Triples, Bob Major, Oxford Treble Bob and Double Norwich were rung, the striking being almost perfect, Mr. W. Welling taking a rope with the visitors. The journey was continued to Windsor, where a capital tea was prepared by Mr. J. Wilson at the Ship Hotel. Afterwards the usual votes of thanks were accorded, and a move was made to the Parish Church, where Mr. T. Smith was awaiting the visitors' arrival, and conducted the party to the tower. Here again some splendid ringing was indulged in. Returning to The Ship a social hour was spent, songs being sung by Messrs. A. Harding, H. Egby, G. Essex, A. Jeffery, and last, but not least, Mr. H. Simmonds. Reading was reached on the return journey at 10.45 p.m. Through the medium of 'The Ringing World,' the ringers desire to convey their thanks to Mr. W. Welling, Mr. J. Gutteridge and Mr. T. Smith for their kindness in securing permission to use the bells, and thus adding so much to the pleasure of the outing, which was a most enjoyable one.

HAWKHURST RINGERS' EXCURSION.

The first outing of the Hawkhurst (Kent) company took place on the second Wednesday in August. Starting in a charabanc shortly before eight o'clock in the morning, the party travelled to Tonbridge. Mr. W. Steed had kindly obtained permission for them to ring at the Church of SS. Peter and Paul, and Mr. Aylward conducted them to the tower. About three-quarters of an hour was occupied in ringing these delightful bells, after which the excursionists went on to Sevenoaks, where Mr. H. J. Ford had kindly made arrangements for ringing to take place. A member of the local band met the party, who thoroughly enjoyed ringing on Sevenoaks' splendid eight. A very nice lunch was served at the Sevenoaks Services' Club. Early in the afternoon the party assembled at Wrotham Church, being welcomed by the Vicar (Rev. A. P. Pascoe), Mr. G. Barham and another local ringer. The peal of eight at this tower were a pleasure to ring on, as also were the bells at the next stopping place, West Malling, where Mr. J. W. Leonard and Mr. Sloman greeted the party. Tea was partaken of at Aylesford, followed by ringing at Aylesford Church. On the return journey a short stop was made at Staplehurst, Mr. J. W. Head having made arrangements for the company to ring there, and Mr. and Mrs. H. Baker (Frittenden) and Mr. T. E. Sone welcomed the party. The outstanding feature of the outing was that the band never broke down in their ringing at any of the churches visited. The company may be criticised for ringing Grandsire Triples all day, but when it is announced that about 5,500 changes were rung, including quarter-peals at Sevenoaks, Wrotham and Aylesford, with most satisfactory striking at all the places, it is obvious that the day's record is highly creditable to a village like Hawkhurst, situated as it is, on the outskirts of Kent, and consequently obtaining little outside assistance in training change-ringers. Three of the company (Messrs. G. Talbot, V. Penfold and S. Saxby) were unable to join the party. The change-ringers who went were: Messrs. G. Billenness, F. Chapman, O. Waghorn, J. Blake, H. M. Batchup, W. A. Penfold, J. G. Powell and F. Pattenden. The last-named ringer belongs to Kiln-down, and kindly came to assist, in order to fill one of the places of the unavoidable absences. A Hawkhurst lady (Miss E. Field) journeyed with the party, and rang in all the churches visited. The outing was very successful in every respect. Wherever they went the company found the hand of friendship extended to them. They heartily thank the clergy and persons at the various churches for arranging their visit, and those who so kindly met them at the different places.

GREEN'S NORTON BAND'S FIRST OUTING.

On August Bank Holiday the ringers of St. Bartholomew's Church, Green's Norton, with their wives and friends, had their first outing. The trip was made by charabanc, and at Twycroft Mr. and Mrs. J. Wilfred Sharp and Mr. W. Hammond joined the party. At Northampton Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hopper were picked up, and at Weston Favell Mr. Tom Law also 'joined up.' At Earls Barton Mr. Fred Jones, of the local band, met the visitors, and gave them a cordial welcome. Short touches of Plain Bob, Oxford Single and Kent Treble Bob were rung, and the fine old church was admired by all, a good many of the party not having had the pleasure of visiting Earls Barton before. The charabanc ('Black Lizzie') was then given 'one round, rapid,' and landed the party very quickly at Wollaston, where Mr. Amos Smart and another member of the local band extended a hearty welcome. The bells here were soon going to Double Court and Double Oxford. The long draught upset some, but everyone was well pleased with the very musical peal of six.

According to programme, the next halt was to be at Great Addington at 12 mid-day, but as the wedding of Miss L. Wilkinson and Mr. C. Wilkins from Green's Norton was to be solemnised at 2 p.m., with the Rev. H. Hoskin, R.D., Rector of Green's Norton, officiating, the company were specially asked to be at Addington about the time of the ceremony. The bride's father had at one time been one of the local band at Green's Norton, and, under the circumstances, the visitors felt it a duty to try and meet the request. To kill time they took things easy, and made a short stay at Irthingborough, arriving at Addington just before 2 p.m., when, to their surprise, they found a band of ringers waiting to ring as the happy couple left the church. The visitors were rather disappointed, especially as they had had to leave out Ringstead, owing to being behind the fixed time. Travelling on to Woodford, they found another wedding couple just leaving church, and, no ringers being on parade, they were in clover. The Rector gave the party a hearty welcome, and remarked what a grand idea it was to spend a Bank Holiday by going from tower to tower and cheering people up by ringing the bells. He said the local band were out on holiday, and asked the visitors to carry on as they wished. The bells were soon going to Plain Bob, Oxford Treble Bob and Cambridge. The next stop was at Sudborough, where they were met by Mr. Walter Height, one of the local band. The fact that the treble was minus the stay was no detriment to the ringing, and some well struck 120s of St. Simon's and Bob Doubles were brought round. At the Vane Arms an excellent tea was ready. The Reading Room was also at the party's disposal. At Lowick the visitors were heartily welcomed by Mr. Richard Dunkley, and Oxford Treble Bob and Plain Bob were rung. After looking round the lovely church the company made their way to Islip, where they arrived too late for ringing. The return journey was made via Wellingborough and Northampton. Home was reached about 11 p.m., and everyone was so well satisfied with the first outing that it was proposed at once to make an annual event of it. The party wish, through 'The Ringing World,' to thank all clergy for so willingly granting permission to ring and members of local bands for having everything in readiness, thus making the day's outing such a success.

AN OXFORDSHIRE TRIP.

On Saturday, August 16th, the ringers of St. Mary's Church, Witney, Oxon, accompanied by friends from Eynsham, Southleigh and Duckington, spent most enjoyable afternoon. Visiting Buckland, the party were met (in the absence of the Vicar) by a gentleman, who, after showing them the various objects of interest, conducted them to the tower, where a few touches of Grandsire Triples were rung. Faringdon was then visited, where the party were met by the local ringers. The bells were raised in peal, and the Rev. E. B. Lock accorded the ringers a hearty welcome. Several touches of Grandsire Triples were rung, and, after looking round the church, the party moved on to Clanfield. After partaking of an excellent tea, provided by Mr. and Mrs. Bryant, of the Plough Inn, they were received at the church by the Vicar (Rev. W. Bryant). The church contains a merry little peal of bells, which were raised in peal. Several touches of Grandsire Triples were rung, which were much appreciated by friends present. The next tower visited was Bampton, which contains a beautiful peal of eight bells, upon which several touches of Grandsire Triples (including 504) were rung.

The newly-appointed Vicar (the Rev. Gegg) and his wife ascended the tower, and gave the ringers a hearty welcome. Witney was reached about ten o'clock, after a most enjoyable afternoon. The ringers wish to thank the Vicars of the various churches for the use of the bells, and also all those who helped to make the outing a success.

ST. STEPHEN'S GUILD, BRISTOL.

On August Bank Holiday the members of the above Guild, with friends, held their annual outing. The party, numbering 28, included their old friend, Mr. J. W. Jones, of Newport.

A start was made at 7 a.m. by charabanc, in very doubtful weather, through the beautiful county of Somerset, the first halt being called at Yeovil, where, on the very fine peal of ten (tenor 45 cwt.) touches of Stedman Caters and Cambridge Royal were indulged in. The tone of these bells was greatly admired, and the 'go' of them was perfect. At Beaminster, the next stop, the church was visited, and touches of Stedman Triples and Cambridge Major were rung. The party then left for Bridport, where an excellent dinner awaited them at the Wessex Hotel. After dinner the party divided, the ladies proceeding by charabanc to West Bay for the sea breeze, and the ringers to the church, where this very pleasing peal was soon going to Stedman Triples and London Surprise Major. The party was joined by Mr. T. Hervey Beams, who would not be satisfied until a band was made up for his tower at Bradpole, where there is a very nice light peal of eight, and touches of Stedman were rung. The ringers then returned to West Bay to join the main party for tea, after which the return journey was begun. With a short stop at Evercech, Bristol was reached at 10.30 p.m., after a most enjoyable outing. The weather, which had been threatening at first, remained delightfully fine almost the whole day, and it was not until the last few miles that it was necessary to cover up. The beautiful scenery of Somerset and Dorset through which the journey was made was greatly admired.

The Guild wish to thank, through the columns of 'The Ringing World,' the Vicars of the various churches for the use of their bells, the steeple keepers for their kindness in having the bells ready, and all those gentlemen who helped in making the outing so enjoyable.

TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD.

A Guild about which the Exercise hears very little is that for the Truro Diocese. A copy of its report, covering the years 1915—1924, has, however, just come into our hands, and it is gratifying to know that 'there are signs of a great revival of interest in the bells and fresh opportunities for the work of the Guild are opening out.' From the details which the report contains, it is quite obvious that the Guild has a great task before it to live up to one, at least, of its objects—the cultivation of change ringing. The Guild offers many inducements in its rules for the encouragement of the art, but the number of change ringers throughout the county is apparently not more than about one-tenth of the total number of members.

Only those who have attempted to promote the art of ringing in a county such as Cornwall is, with few means of intercommunication and many scattered and isolated towers, with a body of men many of whom are openly averse to the introduction of half-pull methods, and with a widespread apathy among the clergy, can have any conception of the almost heart-breaking struggle which faces the handful of workers who have the knowledge and opportunity to carry on the crusade. The adjoining county of Devon was in similar plight not so many years ago, but constant effort on the part of a few undaunted spirits has worked wonders, and doubtless what Devon has done the diocese of Truro can do in the process of time.

May we offer the suggestion to the Guild that they should follow the example of nearly all the other societies which cover large areas, and divide their organisation into districts? Devon did this a few years ago, with really wonderful results, and the experience of every large Association is that the district system of encouraging interest and promoting change ringing is the most effective of all. It is true that the Truro Guild holds occasional 'minor festivals,' but they seem to be all in the west of the county, where the real moving spirit is Dr. Symons, to whose efforts, almost entirely, change ringing in that part of Cornwall exists to-day. The members of the Truro Guild, even though they are largely cut off from outside assistance, would find much mutual help and encouragement if they could attend frequent district meetings—meetings which for their own benefit are brought more or less to their own door as it were. There is a lot to be done in Cornwall, and we look forward to a gradual improvement in the position. It is uphill work and the pioneers are few, but we feel sure that the establishment of self-contained and self-supporting branches, in place of a centralised management, with, perhaps, only one general meeting in a year, would lead to a new enthusiasm, which, in the end, would not only benefit the Guild itself, but serve in larger measure the objects for which the Guild exists.

RINGERS' OUTINGS.

MILTON-NEXT-GRAVESEND, KENT.

Kent has been justly named 'The Garden of England,' and only those who have been privileged to travel through this county can appreciate its glorious beauty. The above ringers and their wives, with friends from Gravesend, Northfleet, Cobham and Swanscombe, started off at 8 a.m. by charabanc on Saturday, August 2nd, down through the Weald of Kent into Rye, Sussex. The first stop was at Mereworth, where the peal of six were tried in methods up to London Surprise. On the peal of eight at Hawkhurst Stedman was tried (not too successfully), and touches of Kent Major and Grandsire brought round. From Hawkhurst to Rye, Kent was seen at its best, and judging from the show of apples and hops en route, we should not be short of cider and beer this year. Dinner was waiting at the Railway Hotel, Rye, to which full justice was done. The bells at this church, which, by the way, is a grand structure, and noted for the clock pendulum swinging in the church, have been receiving the attention of Messrs. Taylor, and they had completed the job so that permission had been granted to ring, which was taken advantage of with Kent, Stedman and Grandsire. The homeward journey was by way by Tenterden and Biddenden to Smarden, where the peal of six was tried in methods up to Cambridge. After tea, at the Royal Oak, Bearsted, the final ringing of the day was at the Church of Holy Cross, where, after touches in various methods, a 720 London Surprise was rung in true Milton style by F. A. Mitchell, H. Argent, J. Burles, F. M. Mitchell (conductor), L. Beckett and G. Morrad. The ringers would like, through the 'Ringing World,' to thank the friends who met them at the various towers, and to the clergy for the use of the bells. All were delighted with the outing, and were as one in saying, 'For lovely scenery, give us Kent.'

IN WORCESTERSHIRE AND HEREFORDSHIRE.

The annual outing of the Edgbaston ringers took the form of an excursion into Worcestershire and Herefordshire. Starting from Selly Oak, they were favoured with a pleasant morning, and, on reaching Worcester, took the Ledbury-Bromyard road. A halt was called at Knightsbridge, where the 'guide,' Mr. W. Ranford, joined the party. The secluded Herefordshire village of Winterbourne provided the first ringing, and Suckley was the next call. At lunch, at the Nelson Inn, the visitors were joined by the Rector of Suckley, who extended a hearty welcome. In the afternoon the company enjoyed a pleasant run through beautiful country to Mathon, and then turned back to Cradley, ringing taking place at both towers. The concluding ringing was at Malvern Link, where touches of the eight bells gave great pleasure. Leaving Mr. Ranford at Worcester, with many thanks for his kindly services, the run to Selly Oak was completed at 11 p.m., after a delightful day's outing. The party wish to thank Mr. Ranford for his assistance, and also all who helped in various ways to make the outing a success.

CHESHIRE RINGERS VISIT STAFFORDSHIRE.

On Saturday, August 16th, the ringers of All Saints' Church, Lawton, Cheshire, accompanied by friends and relations, numbering 31, spent a most enjoyable afternoon. Travelling by charabanc, in very doubtful weather, the party were met at Brewod by Mr. Perry and Mr. Hunt, who conducted them to the tower. The bells were raised in peal, and touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples were rung, and all were loud in their praise of this lovely ring of bells. Going on to Cannock the party were met by Mr. T. Benton, and after an excellent tea the belfry was visited, and touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples were again rung. These bells, which have recently been rehung and made into a peal of eight go splendidly, and all were reluctant to leave. The return journey was begun about 8 o'clock, and home was reached about eleven. The party wish, through 'The Ringing World,' to thank the clergy for granting permission to ring, and members of the local bands for having everything in readiness.

RINGER'S GOLDEN WEDDING CELEBRATION. YORKSHIRE VETERAN HONOURED.

On Saturday last the ringers of Armitage Bridge Church, Yorks, met to celebrate the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Senior, the former better known to all the West Riding ringers as 'Bonny thro' t' Armitage Bridge.'

Mr. Senior was born at Kirkheaton, a neighbouring village, but he went to Armitage Bridge when quite a lad. He was soon attracted to the church, and learned to ring there, and has remained firm at his post ever since.

He has worked all his life for the old-established and well-known firm of William Brooke and Sons, was married at the parish church, and has always lived within a stone's throw of the tower he loves so well, his reason being (so he says) to see that nobody steals the bells.

Four years ago he was presented with a gold watch and chain by a few ringing friends, on completing 50 years as a ringer at Armitage Bridge Church.

After the local company had rung a short 'Golden Wedding' touch, the ringers from Meltham, Almondbury and Huddersfield, joined in the celebration. Then all adjourned to tea, which was served at the Fleece, where the host (Mr. Hirst) had spread a capital meal. Vocal and other musical items and handbell ringing followed, and were much enjoyed by all the company.

Congratulations had hardly ceased to flow when 'Time' was called, and brought the rejoicings to a close, but 'Bonny' promised to try to be present when the diamond jubilee was due, and asked all there at the party to join him then, when he hoped time would not pass as quickly as it had done that afternoon.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Biggleswade District was held at Biggleswade on Saturday, August 16th, and was a great success. Members and friends were present from Sandy, Clifton, Everton, Roxton, Bedford, Turvey, Woburn, Hitchin, Luton, Baldock, Royston, Cambridge, Long Stanton, and the local company. There were 26 present at tea at the White Horse. At the business meeting, the Rev. R. Copeman, of Cambridge, was in the chair. It was proposed to hold the next meeting at Arksey on September 13th.

A vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells brought the business meeting to a close. The tower was again visited, and the bells were kept going till 8 o'clock. Some good touches were rung, including Superlative Surprise, Stedman Triples, Grandsire Triples, Kent, Double Norwich and Plain Bob Major.

ESSEX RINGER'S DEATH.

We regret to record the death of Mr. Walter John Sadler, which took place on Sunday, Aug. 17th, at the early age of 46 years. The deceased had been in indifferent health for some time, and underwent an operation early in the year. When away from home recruiting his health, he had a relapse from which he never recovered. He had been a regular service ringer at Braintree for many years, and had rung peals in most of the standard methods up to London Surprise. He had a keen sense of appreciation for punctuality, was never known to break an appointment without some very urgent cause, and was very highly respected by a large circle of friends outside the ringing fraternity, for his honesty of purpose and upright character.

The funeral took place at Braintree on Saturday, the Rev. G. P. Basset Kerry, M.A., Vicar and Rural Dean, officiating. Among those present, in addition to the mourners, were Messrs. C. H. Howard (Master of the Essex Association), L. W. Wiffen and W. H. Dyson (District Master and secretary, respectively), H. E. Hammond, W. H. Hammond, G. Melbourne, F. Ely, Geo. Wiffen and F. Webb. Among the many floral tributes were a cross from the St. Michael's Guild of Ringers, and a wreath from Braintree Branch of the British Legion, of which deceased was a member. A widow and four children are left to mourn their loss, and with them much sympathy is felt, as well as with the deceased's father, Mr. John Sadler, who has been a ringer at Coggeshall for over 40 years.

Immediately after the funeral a long touch of Treble Bob Major was rung, with the bells half-muffled, and in the evening 928 Cambridge Surprise Major was rung by a representative band of the Essex Association: Geo. Wiffen 1, C. H. Howard 2, W. Keeble (conductor) 3, W. J. Nevard 4, L. W. Wiffen 5, W. Arnold 6, W. Elliot 7, A. Saunders 8.

'DOUBLE HANDED' ON TOWER BELLS.

Very few ringers can manage two tower bells at a time, the late Mr. J. W. Washbrook having been the greatest exponent of this kind of performance. Others who have proved their ability in change ringing have been Messrs. J. E. Groves, J. Thomas and W. Lawrence. Now we have to record a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples at Measham, Leicestershire, in which two bells were rung by one man. This was accomplished on Wednesday, August 20th, the band being J. Pagett (Derby) 1 and 2, G. Verrey 3, M. Swinfield (conductor) 4, T. Meredith 5, E. Beadsmore 6, J. H. Swinfield 7, L. Bradwell 8.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The bells at Great Budworth, Cheshire, were cast by Rudhall in 1733. It has remained for a Lancashire Association band in this year of grace 1924, to ring the first peal on them. Many attempts have been made on them in the past, but never before has a peal been successful. The bells have recently been rehung in ball bearings by Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough.

The first ten-bell peal in Scotland was Grandsire Caters, rung at St. Mary's Cathedral, Edinburgh, on August 31st, 1886.

The record handbell peal, 19,738 Stedman Caters, rung in 9 hours 32 minutes at Guildford, commenced on August 31st, 1912, and concluded, after midnight, on September 1st.

A band of Cumberland Youths rang the first peal in a railway train a year ago—August 31st, 1923.

The first peal in Salisbury was rung at St. Martin's Church on September 3rd, 1887.

The ringer of the 7th in the peal of Stedman Caters at Brighton on August 4th was Charles H. Page, and not Henry Page, as reported.

Mr. J. S. Pritchett, the Presiding Ringing Master of St. Martin's Guild, who is Recorder of Lincoln, will sit as Deputy Stipendiary Magistrate in Birmingham all through September.

Many times have Birmingham ringers sat under the genial chairmanship of the alderman, and no doubt with the above announcement before them they are likely to be on their very best behaviour during next month. It would be embarrassing for the Deputy Stipendiary if any of them should come before him in his official capacity, but the result might be even more embarrassing for the other party. Verb. sap.

By the way, it would not be a bad opportunity for some crank to test in the court, by way of summons for a 'public nuisance,' the ringing of St. Martin's bells, with, say, Albert Walker and Alfred Paddon Smith as defendants, coupled, perhaps, with the Rector of Birmingham and his churchwardens. We should dearly like to hear the arguments, and the judgment.

NAMING OF METHODS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Mr. Benson's suggestion that methods be named after the Christian saints is a good one.

As change ringing is a purely English art, he would we may suppose, restrict his choice to English saints in the main. A little discretion would have to be used, as there might not be much enthusiasm in the Exercise for naming the four standard methods after the Four Evangelists, for example.

There are plenty of good names with noble associations, such as St. Alban, St. Chad, St. Cuthbert, St. Hilda, St. Audrey, etc., not excluding the well-known St. Peter, St. Catherine, etc., as Mr. Benson has suggested.

This would also give our peal ringers valid reasons for ringing peals, if they were attempted on or about the Saint's day after which method was named. At present some of the reasons given, such as 'a birthday compliment to the ringer of the 3rd, and also to Miss Smith, the verger's daughter,' though polite, sound rather thin.—Yours faithfully,

E. CORNER.

HEREFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

AN ANNIVERSARY MEETING AT NORTON CANON.

A very pleasant and successful meeting of the Clifford District was held at Norton Canon on Saturday, August 16th, the bells, a ring of five, by Rudhall, 1759, were rehung twenty years ago, and there were twenty ringers present on the occasion of the anniversary, Clifford, Eardisley, Lyonshall, Almeley, Kinnersley, Letton, Bredwardine and the local tower being represented. The bells were raised about 4 p.m., and at 5 o'clock the Vicar (the Rev. E. G. T. Simey) conducted the Guild's service in church, and gave a very helpful address. Afterwards all were cordially invited to tea at the Rectory.

The Vicar presided at the business meeting, which was of short duration.—Almeley was chosen for the next meeting, October 18th being the provisional date. Two probationers and one hon. member were duly elected, and two probationers were presented with the Guild's certificate.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Vicar, Mrs. Simey and Mrs. Ward for their kindness in providing such an excellent tea, and looking after the ringers' wants at the table.—The Vicar suitably responded, and the ringers then adjourned to the tower for further ringing, a very pleasant gathering terminating at 9 p.m.

THE CALAMITY BELL.

The following story is now going the round of the papers (it has appeared in more than one): The verger of a little old country church was showing a party of visitors round. They ascended the belfry. 'Now, this 'ere bell,' said the verger proudly—'a bit remarkable this bell is. It is only rung on the occasion of a visit from the lord bishop, a fire, a flood, or any other such calamity!'

RINGING IN CORNWALL. TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD REPORT.

In a report covering the years 1915 to 1924, the committee of the Truro Diocesan Guild say that so many of the ringers were on active service in the war, and so many laid down their lives for their country, that the tradition in the towers was almost broken. Now, however, there are signs of a great revival of interest in the bells, and fresh opportunities for the work of the Guild are opening out. The reports from the affiliated towers and the lists of members of the Guild give great encouragement. Several peals of bells in the county have been restored and enlarged, and others have been taken in hand. And as the principles of the Guild spread, the value of the ringer and the honour of his office and the increase of his skill will grow. There are several towers which have taken in hand the highest form of bell ringing, the peculiarly English art of scientific changes. The Ringing Master (Dr. Symons) will endeavour to get instructors where they are invited.

The Guild, adds the report, gives silver medals to members who qualify in scientific change ringing as well as certificates of merit for round ringing and call changes, and it is to be hoped that there will be more entries for these distinctions than in former years. There are now 42 affiliated towers, and some 450 members of the Guild, of which the new Bishop is patron. The Guild sets itself against prize ringing, on the ground that the church bells should not be rung for money prizes, and that its certificates of proficiency for individual members of the bands are more likely to raise the standard of ringing than a competition as to efficiency of a band as a whole.

Individual tower reports are appended, and some of them make interesting reading, although there are a number who have 'nothing to report.'

At St. Mary's Cathedral, Truro, the bells are rung regularly before morning and evening services on Sundays, and on any other special occasions. Recently the 'Guild Evening' was restarted, and Kea and Kenwyn ringers then join the Cathedral band. 'We soon hope to be able to ring Triples,' is the comment.

Cardynham.—The ringing is punctual and regular. Half-pull changes would be attempted if there were some local centre in instruction.

Gulval.—Members turn up exceedingly well for Sunday Service ringing; they look upon it as a duty. Practically every Sunday touches, either of Grandsire Triples, Grandsire Minor, Bob Minor or Grandsire Doubles, are brought round. At present, under Dr. Symons' tuition, we are working up Stedman.

Camherne.—We have nine ringers who are regular attendants at ringing and Divine service. Though there are only nine ringers we seldom ring less than eight bells for service; wet or shine they are in their places.

Madron.—Of our ringers, all with the exception of two, have won their medals for change ringing. These two have their certificates for proficiency in round ringing. The only method is Grandsire Doubles. Four of our younger ringers—medalists—have gone to America, and we feel their loss very much.

Stoke Climsland.—We have a splendid band of 20 ringers. Unfortunately No. 7 bells needs recasting owing to an accident a few months ago.

Other extracts could be quoted, but enough have been given to show the work which is being carried on in the diocese—and some of the difficulties.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION. BLACKBURN BRANCH ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Blackburn Branch of the Lancashire Association, followed by a most successful social, was held at Blackburn on Saturday. The bells of the Parish Church, Holy Trinity, and St. Michael's, were kept busy during the afternoon, and over 100 ringers and friends sat down to an excellent tea, provided by the ladies of the Parish Church. After tea, Mr. J. R. Taylor, of Penwortham (vice-president, Lances Association) presided at the business meeting, when the following officials were appointed: secretary, Mr. J. Watson (who has just completed 18 years' service in this office); committeeman, Mr. R. Hartley, of Burnley. Both appointments are for two years. It was also decided to nominate for the respective positions of the Lancashire Association, the Rev. Canon Elsee, M.A., president; Mr. William H. Shaker, general secretary; Mr. H. W. Jackson, treasurer.

The best thanks of the meeting were accorded to the Vicar of Blackburn (the Rev. J. Sinker), the Vicar of Holy Trinity (the Rev. G. Stewart Perry), and the Vicar of St. Michael's (the Rev. E. Hanson) for the use of the bells, and to the ringers at the various churches for their kindly welcome, also to the ladies who took charge of the tea, and to Mr. J. R. Taylor for presiding.

The rest of the evening was spent in a social and dance. Ringers were present from Clitheroe, Whalley, Colne, Burnley, Rishton, Church Kirk, Oswaldtwistle, Standish, Brindle, Horchton, Chorley, Leyland, Penwortham, Preston, Whittle, Bolton, Deane, Walkden and Blackburn.

ESSEX AND MIDDLESEX ASSOCIATIONS. SUCCESSFUL JOINT MEETING AT WALTHAM ABBEY.

A joint meeting of the adjoining districts of the above associations was held at Waltham Abbey on Saturday last, and was pronounced, by all who attended, as a great success. Upwards of sixty members of one or both of the associations were present at some time or other during the afternoon, and some good practice was obtained in Grandsire Caters and Cinques, Stedman Caters and Cinques, Treble Twelve, and Cambridge Royal. Several ringers rang their first touches on ten or twelve, and efforts were made to give all an opportunity of ringing what they desired.

Tea was served in the Cock Hotel, some 50 ringers sitting down to a good meal. Mr. W. H. Theobald (district hon. secretary, Essex Association) presided, and was supported by several officers of both societies, including Mr. F. J. Pittsow (general secretary, Essex), Mr. W. Pye (Master, Middlesex), Mr. W. Pickworth (vice-president, Middlesex), Mr. G. B. Lucas (District Master, Middlesex), and Mr. C. T. Coles (district hon. secretary, Middlesex).—The Chairman welcomed the visitors from the neighbouring county, and said he hoped the meeting would be an annual one. He read a letter from Mr. C. H. Howard (Master, Essex), apologising for his unavoidable absence, and expressing his entire agreement with the idea of a joint meeting, which he hoped would have good results.—Mr. Coles responded, on behalf of the Middlesex Association, and said he would do his best to give their Essex friends a good welcome if they were able to hold such a meeting as this in Middlesex next year. It was very gratifying to see such a large gathering, which proved that the meeting was a popular one. There was no reason at all why societies should not fraternise, for they were not rivals, but were all animated with the one idea, that of furthering the art of change ringing.

Mr. Fred J. Pittsow also expressed his sympathies with the objects of the meeting, and after a vote of thanks to the Waltham Abbey ringers had been moved and passed, the ringers adjourned to the tower for further ringing, or to the pleasant glades of Epping Forest to listen to the sound of a very fine peal of bells.

It is to be regretted that the absence of the Vicar (the Rev. F. B. Johnston), on holiday, made it impossible for a service to be held, but the thanks of all are due to him for alloying the bells to be rung, and making such a meeting a possibility.

DEATH OF MR. CHARLES SCOTT, DONCASTER

It is our sad duty to record the death of one of Doncaster's oldest bell ringers, in the person of Mr. Charles Scott, who, after a painful illness, was called home by the Divine Conductor on August 26th, at the age of 60 years. For 28 years he had done his duty, as a Sunday service ringer, faithfully and well, only being absent from his place in the belfry when reasons of health demanded that he should be. He was a real churchworker in every sense of the word.

As a ringer he was one of the best, and to use a ringing expression, he always 'rang a good hell.' Peal ringing did not appeal to him much, and he only rang two peals of 5,040 changes, being content to do his duty as a service ringer. The first peal was one of Grandsire Triples, which was rung in 1897, on the bells of St. George's. The second was also rung at St. George's, and was a peal of Stedman Triples, in 1906. He was chairman of the St. George's Society, a member of the Doncaster and District Society, and was formerly a life member of the Yorkshire Association. He was held in the highest esteem by all who knew him.

The funeral took place on Saturday, and was attended by his fellow ringers, and also by his workmates from the Plant Works. Archdeacon Sandford conducted the service. Afterwards the bells were rung with half-muffled clappers; a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples being rung in 48 minutes as a last token of respect. Deepest sympathy and condolence are extended to the bereaved widow and son.

'THE REMARKABLE MAN OF LITCHURCH.'

To the Editor.

Sir,—The remarkable man of Litchurch, Derby, was the late Mr. Shardlow, who was the tower keeper at St. Andrew's. He used to pride himself that he had the best kept belfry in England, and it certainly was the best I had ever seen, and I've been in a good many.

One little anecdote is worth recalling. The first meeting ever called to form an association for Derby and district was got together first of all by Mr. Richard Redgate, and was held in the school at St. Andrew's. (I believe this was somewhat late in 1881; the association was eventually founded on April 10th, 1882.)

After the meeting was closed, permission was obtained from the Vicar to have a ring on the fine peal of eight. We had not got far in a touch of Stedman Triples when up came Mr. Shardlow, white with rage, into the centre of the belfry. Then, eyeing each one round, he jumped at one, pulled his bell down, then another, and another. All being confusion, he got quite exhausted, and sat down in the belfry window on the late Mr. J. Withersley's top hat, which he squashed. Anyway, he was got round after a lot of fuss, and was afterwards a much-respected member of the M.C.A.—Yours, etc., Oldbury.

JOHN JAGGAR.

JAMES GEORGE—800 NOT OUT.

Born Eighteen Fifty-Three,
Still feeling young,
Rung his Eight Hundredth Peal,
Still going strong.

(With apologies to the proprietors of a famous 'food'.)

It does not seem long ago, indeed it is not very long ago, since we announced in these columns Mr. George's 700th peal, and now he has perpetrated his 800th, which will be found recorded in its proper place.

Where he will stop goodness only knows, but his is a most remarkable record for a man who did not start until he was 36 years of age. He is almost a Peter Pan—we say 'almost' advisedly, for while Peter refused to grow up, James George has certainly grown up, but he refuses to grow old. Maybe some day he will even grow old, for he shows some signs of maturity, and occasionally evinces a disposition to settle down, or perhaps to give thought to the best way of spending life. Yes, there is undoubtedly some hope for him yet.

In the meantime he goes merrily along, scoring peal after peal, never caring the least bit where or what he may be asked to ring.

It doesn't matter a jot to him whether it be the treble of the lightest eight, or the Great Bell of Bow, he takes them in his stride and passes on to the next job. And he doesn't look the least little bit like it either. He has no fierce mien, protruding jaw, huge shoulders or bulging biceps, but is just a kindly looking man of medium build, with benign countenance, and a benevolent expression. But he can deliver the goods, and seriously, we doubt whether there is or has been any man of his age who so positively enjoys a heavy job.

Why he does it is best known to himself, and the writer of these presents has frequently pointed out to him that he has no one to blame but himself. He usually says, 'Well, someone has got to ring the big ones, and I like it.' There you are!

One might have thought that as he neared the '70' mark he would have slackened off a little, but did he? Here are some of the odd jobs he has brought off since he rang his 700th peal:—

Between the age of 68 and 69:

Two peals of London Surprise Major with a working bell.

The treble at Lye to peal of Stedman Triples (tenor 3½ cwt.).

The tenor at St. Martin's, Birmingham, to peal of Stedman Cinques (36 cwt.).

The tenor of Great Yarmouth to peal of Treble Twelve (tenor 30 cwt. 1 qr. 21 lbs.).

The 8th at Exeter Cathedral to peal of Stedman Cinques (tenor 72 cwt. 2 qrs. 2 lbs.).

It will be noted that on his 70th birthday he rang the 11th in the Bull Ring to a peal of Stedman Cinques, and he rang it well, taking great care to put it in its place all the time. It is very doubtful whether there are many other men who would be able to celebrate their 70th birthday in this manner, and he ought to be grateful to his forbears for endowing him with such a robust constitution.

In conclusion, we may add that Mr. George's energies are not solely confined to peal ringing. He is Ringing Master at Bishop Ryder's Church in Birmingham, where he rings on Sundays, and where he is endeavouring to get together a band.

To him, too, more than to any other person, with the single exception of the man who paid the bill (Councillor Gelling) is due the credit for the fact that Bishop Ryder's tower contains now a beautiful new peal of eight by Taylor, put in as a memorial. It is peculiarly appropriate, therefore, that Mr. George's 800th peal should have been rung on these bells, and for such an auspicious occasion.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.HINCKLEY DISTRICT.

A meeting of the Hinckley District was held at Sharnford on Saturday, and was well attended by members from Broughton, Astley, Croft, Desford, Hinckley, Monks Kirby, Peckleton, Ratby, Sapcote, Stoney Stanton, Thurlleston and Sharnford. Touches rung on tower bells included Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob and Canterbury Doubles, Bob Minor, Double Court, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Minor, the bells being made good use of until 8 p.m.

The business meeting was presided over by Mr. C. H. Briggs, owing to the vice-president (Mr. C. H. Webb) having to leave early.—Two new ringing members were admitted to the association, viz., Thomas Preston, of Kirkby Mallory, and G. Wright, of Thurlaston.—Barwell was selected for the next place of meeting, and a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector for the use of the bells.

JUBILEE OF ST. MARIE'S BELLS, SHEFFIELD. INTERESTING PRESENTATIONS.

On August 20th, 1874, Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, of White-chapel fame, installed in the above tower a very fine peal of eight bells in the key of 'D,' with a tenor of 25½ cwt. This peal was preceded by eight steel bells, made by Messrs. Naylor, Vickers and Co., Sheffield, who specified that if they were not considered suitable, they should be returned to their works at Millsands, Sheffield. From the reports of those who heard this peal, it is not to be wondered that the authorities concerned unanimously agreed not to pay for the bells, with the result that the founders took them away, and eventually sold them to the church authorities at Mossley, Birmingham, and it is thought that after a time the latter people were so sick of the terrible noise these bells made that they eventually despatched them to Blackpool. The late Duke of Norfolk then made a handsome offer; if the congregation of St. Marie's would find half of the amount to purchase a peal of bells worthy of their church, he would give the remainder. The money required was soon forthcoming, and, as previously stated, the present peal was duly installed.

At that time, Mr. James A. Dixon was a member of the company, and in due course became steeple keeper. He thus completed his 50 years' service during the same year as the bells celebrate their 'jubilee.'

On Wednesday, August 20th, a peal of Grandsire Triples was attempted in recognition of the dual event, but after an hour and ten minutes' excellent ringing, unfortunately came to grief.

The Very Rev. Canon Dolan, with his usual thoughtful generosity, had a treat in store for Mr. Dixon, for immediately the ringing had finished, he invited the members of the company to the Presbytery, where he presented a cheque to the veteran ringer, on behalf of the congregation and himself, in recognition of the faithful services rendered by Mr. Dixon. It is also very pleasing to recall the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Barnasconie, the first couple to be married at St. Marie's after the installation of the bells, and who are thus celebrating their 'jubilee' of married life, for in appreciation of the triple event, i.e., the 'jubilee' of the bells, Mr. Dixon's services and their own wedding, they also made a very acceptable present to Mr. Dixon.

The present company at St. Marie's, desiring to do their bit also, held a dinner on Friday last at the Talbot Hotel, Sheffield, Mr. Dixon being the guest of honour. The Rev. Canon Dolan, Father Bradley, and the old ringing friends of Mr. Dixon, were also invited, a party of 17 sitting down to an excellent repast.

During the course of the evening, a gold pendant, in the shape of a bell, suitably inscribed, was presented to the guest of honour, on behalf of the company at St. Marie's, as a token of their appreciation of the long association Mr. Dixon has held with that tower.

Handbell ringing (both tunes and changes) and general jollification brought 'turning out' time all too soon.

A short time ago, one of the present members of St. Marie's had the misfortune to suffer bereavement by the loss of his mother, and in order to commemorate her memory, Mr. Hurst, her son, presented to the church a set of 19 handbells which the Canon has had augmented to a peal of 30 in E flat, size 21. To make the gift more worthy Mr. Hurst also had a very fine oak cabinet made in which to keep the bells, these being hung in terrace style on the back of the cabinet, whilst on the front are two inscription plates, one recording the gift of the original 19 bells, and the other the augmentation to 30. The handbells are also the product of Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.

On Sunday last, the Canon, assisted by other priests, ascended the tower and gave his blessing to the bells and cabinet, and accepted them from Mr. Hurst as the property of the church.

After suitable remarks had been made by the donor, the Canon said how pleased he was to accept such an appropriate gift, and he would be glad to avail himself of the services of the company for any social event where the handbells could be brought into use.

The cabinet in question is of plain oak with glass panels, and beautifully made in ecclesiastical style, and in addition to its utility for preserving the bells, makes a fine ornament for the tower, which everyone connected with the church greatly appreciates.

KINGSBRIDGE BELLS.

The peal of eight bells at St. Edmund's, Kingsbridge, are being restored and rehung on patent adjustable bearings, with new steel gudgeons and modern fittings, by Messrs. W. Aggett and Sons, of the Bell Works, Chagford, Devon, who have also received orders for the complete restoration of the peal of five bells at Thornbury Church, N. Devon. These bells are to be removed, and the old frames, beams and fittings cleared out of the tower. Now steel joints are to be erected, carrying a massive self-supporting iron bell frame. The bells are to have new headstocks and fittings, and will be hung on the most modern principles.

WHALLEY BELLS AUGMENTED. A NEW TREBLE AND TENOR.

The bells at the fine old Church of Whalley, Lancashire, have been increased to eight, and were rededicated on Saturday last. The ceremony, attended by a crowded congregation, was performed by the Rector (the Rev. E. W. Wallis), and after the dedicatory prayers the local company rang a few rounds. The address was given by the Rev. J. Newman (Rector of Church Kirk).

Immediately after the service, the local company again rang a short touch, and then the tower was open to visitors, and many ringers enjoyed the magnificent peal. The Oswaldtwistle company, along with the Bolton company, ringing touches of Bob Major, Double Norwich and Superlative Surprise.

The six old bells have been rehung in a new iron frame. The new bells are a tenor (22 cwt.) given by a lady in memory of her husband and son, and a treble given by subscription, in memory of the fallen in the great war. The work has been carried out by the Loughborough foundry, and great credit is due to Messrs. Taylor and Co. for the 'go' of the ring.

The Blackburn Branch intends to hold their branch meeting at Whalley the Saturday previous to the Lancashire Association meeting at Oldham.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

A district meeting of the Essex Association was held at Rayne on Saturday, August 23rd. Despite the stormy weather, 25 were present from Hull, Great Bentley, Kevedon, Rayne, Maldon (St. Mary), Braintree, Great Dunmow, Broomfield, Great Bardfield, Feering, Stebbing and Earls Colne. The District Master (Mr. L. W. Wiffen) presided.—Four new members from Rayne and two from Braintree were elected, and Mr. J. Malyan, of St. Albans, was elected a life non-resident member.

Regret was expressed at the absence of Mr. W. H. Dyson owing to the very serious illness of his wife.

A vote of condolence was passed with the father and widow of the late Mr. W. J. Sadler.

Mr. C. H. Howard (Master of the association) proposed a vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells, and to Mr. A. Redgwell and ladies in making arrangements for the tea.—Mr. Redgwell suitably replied.

The next meeting is to be held at Feering on All Saints' Day, Nov. 1st.

Touches of Grandsire Caters and Bob Royal were rung upon the handbells, and Cambridge, Double Court and Treble Bob on the tower bells.

PLAIN MAJOR METHODS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Mr. Trollope, in your last issue, states it is ridiculous to say that Dublin Duplex belongs to Mr. Lindoff. That I will leave your readers to judge for themselves. Will Mr. Trollope tell us who is the 'author,' if Mr. Lindoff is not, and why a claim was not made to the method when it was first rung, as I am under the impression no such claim was ever previously made? Will the band who rang the peal of Dublin Duplex tell us where they received the method from, and when the peal was rung? If memory is not at fault, I believe it was conducted by W. H. Barber.—Yours truly,
W. KEEBLE.

DEATH OF A NORFOLK VETERAN.

The funeral took place at Alburgh, Norfolk, on Wednesday of last week, of Mr. Edward Smith, an old and esteemed member of the Norfolk Guild, who passed away in his 81st year. The deceased was conductor of the Redenhall company for a considerable period, and rang in the first peal of the Norwich Diocesan Association. Altogether he rang 79 association peals as well as several before its formation.

A half-muffled peal was rung at Alburgh after the funeral.

A HALF-PEAL.

At Tenby, on Thursday, August 21st, to celebrate the birth of a second son to Princess Mary and Viscount Lascelles, a half-peal of Grandsire Triples (2,520 changes), in 1 hour and 34 minutes, the first half of Holt's Ten-part: W. Richards 1, R. H. Jenkins 2, G. Jenkins 3, W. Jenkins 4, J. John 5, H. Jenkins 6, D. C. Williams (conductor) 7, J. Williams 8.

LECHLADE, GLOS.—At St. Lawrence Church, for Sunday morning service, August 24th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes), in 45 mins.: F. Pudwell 1, J. Hope (conductor) 2, D. K. C. Birt (Surrey County Association) 3, P. Kirby 4, A. King 5, J. H. Mata (Archdeaconry of Stafford first quarter-peal) 6.

WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD. PORTSMOUTH DISTRICT.

The quarterly meeting of the Portsmouth District was held at Titchfield on Saturday last, when, despite the unsettled weather, members were present from Alverstoke, Curdridge, North Stoneham, Portsmouth (St. Mary's and St. Thomas'), Ringwood, Titchfield, and Wickham. The company also included Messrs. G. Williams (Master), G. Pullinger (Guild secretary), and C. W. Ridgway, of Abbots Langley (Herts).

A short service was held, at which the curate (the Rev. F. R. Chambers) officiated, in the absence of the Vicar. About 20 sat down to an excellent meal, followed by the usual business meeting, which was mostly of a routine nature.

Mr. W. Tato (representative) gave an account of the Central Committee's doings at Winchester in July last.

Mr. G. Pullinger (general secretary), in reply to a question concerning the restoration of William Rayner's tomb in Arretton Churchyard (I.O.W.), said that he proposed sending subscription cards to all towers affiliated to the Guild, and he hoped all would contribute.

It was decided to hold the annual district meeting at St. Mary's, Portsmouth, on November 15th next, due notice of which will be given in 'The Ringing World.'

Votes of thanks to the Vicar, curate and also to the local company for having everything in readiness, concluded the business meeting.

During the afternoon and evening the bells were kept going to Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Cambridge and London Surprise Minor.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The August meeting of the South and West District was held at St. Peter's, Staines, on Saturday week, when nearly 40 ringers, representing 18 towers, attended. The bells were set going to Stedman, and several other methods were practised before service, which was conducted by the Rev. Huxley Williams. Afterwards the ringers were entertained to an excellent tea by the Vicar (the Rev. F. G. Marriott). The Rev. H. Williams presided over the business meeting, which followed, and was supported by the vice-president and hon. secretary, the Ringing Master being away on holiday on this occasion.

Three new members were elected, viz., Stafford H. Green, of Tunbridge Wells, Kent; W. J. G. Brown, of Raxfield, Suffolk; and F. J. Fowler, of Cookham, Berks.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar for his kind hospitality, which was very much appreciated; to the Rev. H. Williams for conducting the service and presiding at the meeting; to the organist; to the Misses W. Griffin and D. M. Gundry for preparing tea; and to Messrs. W. C. Parker and G. Walsley, of the local band.

The tower was again visited, when Cambridge and Superlative, and other methods, were rung. The bells at St. Mary's Church were also open during the evening, and a vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar for allowing the visitors the use of them, and to Messrs. S. Greenwood and W. E. Butler, of St. Mary's band.

The meeting was a very pleasant and successful one.

The September meeting to be held at Sunbury; October at Twickenham; November at St. John's, Hillingdon, particulars of which will appear in 'The Ringing World.'

DEVON GUILD.

A quarterly meeting of the Mid-Devon Branch was held at Dartington and Totnes, and ringers were present from London, Exeter, Buckfastleigh, Dartmouth, Collaton, Paignton and Christow. Ringing commenced at Dartington about 3 p.m., and some well-struck touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles were brought round.

A short service was held in the church, at which the Rector (the Rev. J. S. Martin) officiated, and the Rev. L. W. Browne (Collaton) gave a very appropriate address.

Tea was partaken of at Clarke's Temperance Hotel, Totnes.

At the subsequent business meeting, Mr. W. H. Wilkes occupied the chair. The place and date of the next meeting were discussed, and ultimately Ipplepen, with Littlehempstone, were decided on.

Mr. E. Shepherd urged the branch to stick to their work. He was glad to see some young blood present, because it was a good sign, but he regretted the number was not larger, and said 'Don't despair.' He could remember attending an annual meeting of the Devon Guild when only 17 were present, all told. Last Whit Monday, at the annual meeting of the Guild, over 300 were present, which was a clear proof that 'scientific ringing' was spreading.

The Chairman then gave 'The Visitors,' and Mr. J. W. Golding, one of the Westminster Abbey ringers, replied, and said he had rung in Devon before, but had not had the pleasure of attending a meeting. He thought if more help was forthcoming from those who were further advanced in campanology the branch would soon make rapid progress.

Votes of thanks were proposed to the Vicar of Totnes for the use of the bells, and the Rector of Dartington for the use of bells and the service.

Further ringing was continued on the Totnes bells till 8.30 p.m.

THE SUFFOLK TOUR. ELEVEN PEALS RUNG.

The 'week' in Suffolk which terminated on August 9th was a most successful one, eleven peals, as already recorded, having been rung. The party were to meet at St. Margaret's, Ipswich, at 3.30 p.m. on Saturday, the 2nd, but the majority were delayed by the holiday traffic, and a start was not made until an hour later, with two Ipswich men to make up the band. Word came up, however, soon after, that the Essex men had arrived, and the Ipswich ringers at once said 'Stop, and let them ring.' Restarting, the first peal of the tour, Cambridge Surprise, was brought round. The usual rush after tea and bus separated the company, but the motorists met at the rendezvous, and then came a hurried drive of 19 miles, which had to be covered before lighting-up time, one of the riders having copied the example of the foolish virgins.

Sunday at Debenham resulted in a peal of Superlative, during the ringing of which Josiah arrived and introduced himself. After the peal the band met round Mrs. Collins' table. She must be quite used to getting tea for ringers.

On Monday the Alton representative had a busy time transporting ringers to Eye in reliefs, and lost his gloves in the process, but he helped to add Cambridge to the bag. Mr. Day kindly took most of the band to Diss in his car for which they were very grateful. Superlative was rung here. The striking for the first twenty minutes was not what it ought to have been, so the bells were stopped. After a move over and a fatherly talk a good peal was rung, though the Norfolk man wished all the rest of the week that it had been five minutes longer.

The towers for Tuesday were Framsdon and Helmingham, and again a 'double' was scored. At the former church Messrs. Wilson and Rumsey met the visitors. The key had to be obtained from the Rector, and also a ladder wherewith to climb into the belfry. His Kent friends would be surprised to see how the veteran can climb, when there is a peal on the board. At Helmingham, Mr. Last was to have been in the peal, but stood out to allow an earlier start to be made. The writer wondered why the Suffolk men were shy of the 7th, but found out after the ringing started. After the peal a lady in the church was making inquiries about the ringing, and on being told what the method was, caused great amusement by exclaiming, 'What, Stedman Triplets!' The Kent veteran made his five miles' walk to the spot where the caravan rested for the night, in company with a member who set a leg-aching pace, and it is said he arrived home disgusted and anxious to borrow a pair of slippers which, in a previous peal attempt, had been somewhat conspicuous.

Another 'double' came off on Wednesday. At Worlingworth, with two of the brothers Bailey and J. G. Rumsey, a London band was secured, and everyone was well pleased with the result. At Framlingham, Superlative came to grief, after an hour's ringing, through a broken rope, but tea was hurried on while the rope was being spliced, and another start was made, with the most fortunate of endings. The last hour had given some of the band an uncomfortable feeling, for the fifth and sixth men could see right through the tenor rope every time it went up at backstroke. But it held until, after the peal, the bell was pulled off to be lowered, when it broke. It was a narrow escape!

Only one peal had been arranged for Thursday. This was at Bury St. Edmunds, and Stedman Caters was decided on for the fine peal of bells in the Norman tower. The first quarter was rung quite well, and then the conductor had an argument with himself over the bells at the single, and 'stand' was called, but after dinner the peal was safely rung.

Great things were expected on Friday from the visit to Leiston and Ufford, but 'blessed are they who expect nothing.' London would not 'go' at Leiston, and an hour's ringing put 'paid' to the attempt. It was thereupon decided to cut out Ufford and make another start at Leiston, but a broken rope two and a half courses from home settled the question of a peal that day. There was then nothing left but to enjoy tea and a talk about what had been done. It was the only blank day of the week.

Saturday's programme meant an early start for everyone, for Lavenham and Hadleigh were to be visited. Mr. Poppy and the veteran were to be picked up at Ipswich at 8.30 a.m. The former was there, but the Kent man, knowing the reputation of Lavenham bells, went for a shave. However, the tower was safely reached, but this is no place to put on record what the motorists said about the roads. The veteran wanted Double Norwich, and after the two back-end men had tossed to see who should ring the tenor, 'go' was called. With a musical method and composition, the band quickly realised the beauty of this famous bell.

At Hadleigh, where the excursion concluded, two of the Ipswich men joined in the ringing. After all the trouble Mr. Rumsey had expended on the tour, it was only a well-deserved compliment to ring his favourite method, Superlative, at his birthplace, and a really good peal was rung to finish a very successful week.

The visitors feel they cannot adequately express their thanks for the many kindnesses they received from their friends in Suffolk and over the border. Special thanks are due to Mr. Rumsey, of Debenham, for making all arrangements.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.APPEAL FOR THORNE BELLS' RESTORATION.

The quarterly meeting of the Eastern District of the Yorkshire Association was held at Eastrington on Saturday, August 16th, when representatives were present from York, Selby, Hull, Goole, Thorne, Market Weighton, Sherburn-in-Elmet, Howden and Hemingbrough. A choral service was held in the Parish Church of St. Michael, and in the course of his address, the Vicar (the Rev. W. P. Hains) extended a hearty welcome to the association, this being the first occasion that a meeting had been held in the village. The art of change ringing, he said, was one which required no little skill and practice, but he would like to impress those present with the real object for which church bells were rung. They were to call people to the worship of God. The bell ringers should surely be the first to set an example in this respect, and yet there were many ringers who seldom, if ever, attended a church service. He would like to suggest that the association make a move towards impressing upon its members the importance of their realising the real object of their art.

An excellent tea was afterwards provided, and served by ladies of the parish in the Parochial Hall, to which some 40 members sat down.

At the business meeting, which followed, Mr. J. H. Howell, of Hull, occupied the chair, in the absence of the vice-president (Mr. A. E. West, Sutton). Two new members were elected: Mr. H. Howell (Hull) and Mr. J. Bradley, junr., of Sherburn-in-Elmet.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Goole, in December.

An appeal was made by the Thorne ringers with the view to the different towers in the district, subscribing towards the restoration of the Thorne bells, which have been in a dilapidated state for a considerable period. An estimate has been given for recasting and re-hanging by Messrs. Taylor and Co. at a cost of £467, and of that amount, £244 has already been promised. The members present agreed to convey the appeal to their respective towers.

Votes of thanks were accorded the Vicar, choir, and organist, the ladies who provided and served the tea, and the local ringers for their efficient arrangements during the day.

DEATH OF A MIDDLESBROUGH RINGER.

Middlesbrough has lost a valued member of the Parish Church company by the death of Mr. John William Passman, who passed to his rest on August 5th. He was connected with the church nearly all his life, and took a keen interest in all its affairs. He was a ringer for many years, and took part in the work of the Sunday School. He will be much missed from the tower, and his place will be difficult to fill.

The funeral took place at Middlesbrough Cemetery on August 7th, and on Tuesday of last week a muffled peal of Kent Treble Bob rung.

GUILD MEMBERSHIP.

With some of the views put forward by a correspondent in another column on the subject of the membership of Guilds, there may be many who will agree. The point which he raises is, briefly, this: As ringing associations are now recognised as bodies of church workers, ought they to exclude from full membership any ringer, whatever his qualifications, if he desires to join? At the present time there are a number of associations which differentiate between those who are change-ringers and those who are not, but there are few who exclude a man because he is not a change-ringer. Where both are admitted and differentiation is made between round ringers and change-ringers, it is usually by way of defining the former as 'probationers,' who pay a smaller subscription and have no voting power.

That is the general position as it stands at the moment, but the conditions vary with each association. That all ringers should, if possible, be embraced, is a principle which, if we admit that all ringing is to be accounted as service to the Church and all ringers as church workers, cannot be denied, and it is a principle towards which we must inevitably move, if our ultimate object is to be that full recognition by the Church authorities for which there has been years of patient striving. But we have to recognise the constitution of our associations as it at present exists. There are many of them, like the Lancashire, the Midland Counties, the Hertford and the Sussex, which deliberately take the title of 'Association of Change Ringers,' and we must conclude that the association was intended to be what its name implies, an organisation of change-ringers. Some open the door to round ringers by admitting them as probationers, but it was not for the benefit of round ringers that they were formed. Other associations, like the Devon and the Hereford, have not prefixed 'change' to the word 'ringers' in their title. It may be, in some cases, that such a limitation was impossible by the circumstances of the case, for, in the areas which they cover, change-ringers were very much in a minority.

Is it possible to place all the associations on one basis; that they shall admit all who can ring a church bell and who desire to be admitted, without restriction as to qualification? Doubtless when the constitution of many of the associations was drafted, full membership was accorded only to change-ringers as a direct inducement to the non-change-ringers to learn; and that is a strong argument in favour of keeping the status quo in the organisations covering those districts where change-ringers predominate. But the promotion of the art of change ringing, while an essential point in the objects of the ringing associations, is not the only one. Such objects as 'the observation of good and peaceable behaviour in the belfries of our churches,' and 'to obtain full recognition of the ringer's office as essentially a branch of the Church's work,' as, for instance, the M.C.A. Report puts it, are matters which affect every ringer, whether he knows anything of change ringing or not. It is likely to be difficult to get collective action on a matter of this kind, but it should be worth the discussion of associations, and eventually of the attention of the Central Council, who could give a lead on the subject, if nothing more.

WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

On Saturday, August 23rd, a good meeting of the Yorktown district was held at Yateley. The following towers were represented: Bagshot, Bramley, Chertsey, Finchampstead, Leng Cross, Oatlands Park, Sandhurst, Wokingham, Worplesdon, Yorktown and Yateley. Various methods were rung from 3 p.m. till 4.30, when the members attended the Guild service, conducted by the Rev. A. J. Howell. Tea, arranged by Mr. S. J. Riddell, was served at the Parish Hall.

At the business meeting the Vicar occupied the chair, and was accorded a hearty vote of thanks for the use of the bells, and for presiding. The tower was then again visited, and further ringing enjoyed.

WINCHESTER DISTRICT.

A quarterly meeting of the Winchester District was held at Twyford on Saturday last, by kind permission of the Vicar (the Rev. H. S. Morris). Tea was provided in the Parish Hall by Mr. L. R. Walker, of the local band, and was presided over by the Vicar, supported by Mr. Geo. Williams (Master of the Guild), Mr. Geo. Pullinger (general secretary), and members from North Stoneham, Curdridge, Ringwood, and the local band. After tea a short meeting was held, at which three probationers were elected from Twyford.

It was resolved to hold a special meeting at Lockerley on Saturday, Sept. 27th.—A vote of thanks to the Vicar of Twyford for presiding and for the use of the bells was then accorded.

Owslebury bells, a ring of six, were available to members in the afternoon, thanks to the Rev. Briggs, and Grandsire Doubles and Bob Minor were rung. At Twyford in the evening, Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Bob Major were tapped off. Messrs. Cheater and Collins cycled 40 miles from Ringwood to attend this meeting.

The annual meeting will be held at Winchester on Saturday, Nov. 1st, due notice will be given in 'The Ringing World.'

ROAMING IN DEVON.

SMALL PEAL 'BAG,' BUT A DELIGHTFUL WEEK.

Some time ago a few members of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford decided to spend their holiday by roaming in Devon, making Exeter their headquarters. They met at Wolverhampton Station at 10 a.m. on August 2nd, the party consisting of Messrs. E. V. Rodenhurst (Hodnet), S. L. Hayward (Wellington), W. D. Wase (Coalbrookdale), J. Perry (Brewood), B. Gough (Coseley), W. Bayliss (Bradley), W. Powell (Walsall), C. Wallater (Willenhall), and H. Knight, E. F. Mitchell and J. Bradney (Wolverhampton), the last named being 'the policeman.' It had been arranged to pick up A. J. Hughes, of Rhyll, at Birmingham, but upon arrival there no trace of him could be found among the crowd of holiday makers on the station. However, he managed to roll out of the train at Exeter. The journey down was enlivened by handbell ringing, Mr. Hayward having very kindly brought his handbells with him, but no amount of ringing could entice friend Hughes from his hiding-place—probably he had a good seat and wished to retain it.

A surprise awaited the party at Exeter, for upon arrival they were met by Messrs. J. Screen and Reeves, of West Bromwich, who were on their way to Paignton, and had motored down, starting in the wee hours of the morning, and breaking their journey at Exeter for the night. Accommodation for the whole party had been secured at the Franklin Hotel, where, upon arrival, the visitors found the organiser of the tour, the Rev. E. V. Cox, awaiting them, and who gave them a very hearty welcome. Unfortunately he could not spend any time at all with the party, but gave them their marching orders on a neatly typed sheet, which contained the list of churches, where he had arranged for ringing to take place, and also the route, and bus and train times. At the hotel, also, was found the last member of the party, Mr. J. T. Dyke, who had already taken up his residence, having arrived earlier in the afternoon.

During tea-time the well-known local ringer, Mr. E. Shepherd, found the company, and he also gave them a very warm welcome, and afterwards piloted the party round the city, and pointed out the various historic buildings, etc.

At St. Sidwell's, on Sunday, touches of Stedman and Grandsire Caters were rung for morning service, and after the ringing the 'Shepherd' again piloted the flock round other parts of the city, finishing up in one of the pleasure parks, where the photographer brought his camera into use. Rain set in during dinner-time, and the party remained indoors until 4 p.m., when a move was made to the Cathedral, where permission had been given for half-hour's ringing. Here the visitors were met by Mr. Davey, who very kindly secured a ten minutes' extension of time. Mr. Davey led the party up the winding staircase, and some were not sorry when the top step was reached. The fine view of Exeter from the Cathedral roof was marred by the wet afternoon. At the Cathedral the visitors were joined by Mr. W. Wakley, of Dawlish, late of Burton. Needless to say, no time was lost in getting the bells up, and the following had the pleasure of ringing a course of Grandsire Cinques on these magnificent bells: J. L. Hayward, W. G. Wakley, W. D. Wase, J. Perry, E. F. Mitchell, C. Wallater, A. J. Hughes, J. T. Dyke, W. Powell, B. Gough, H. Knight, and E. V. Rodenhurst, and J. Davey (tenor). After this a few rounds and queens were rung for the benefit of the other members of the party. An inspection of the bells followed, and these were greatly admired, after which Mr. Davey took the party to St. David's, where they had the pleasure of ringing a course of Double Norwich and a touch of Stedman Triples for evening service. Mr. Davey very kindly acted as pilot for the remainder of the evening.

The peal ringing programme began on Monday at Sowton, where, upon the arrival of the visitors, the tower keeper was waiting, and conducted them to the belfry. Here was found a nice ring of eight bells, but the ringing chamber is somewhat cramped for room. After raising the bells in peal a start was made for Double Norwich, but after one hour's good ringing it came to grief, owing to an omitted bob. After consulting watches it was found there was time for another attempt before the bus again claimed attention. A start was then made for Stedman Triples at a pace which certainly was exhilarating if not comfortable, and, although not the same conductor, an omitted bob brought this attempt to an end also, after 50 minutes' sharp ringing. A course of Bob Major and a touch of Grandsire, in which the tower keeper took part, brought the ringing to a close.

While the ringing had been going on, other members of the party had the pleasure of inspecting the Vicarage gardens, where the Vicar warmly welcomed them. A stroll along the narrow Devonshire lanes brought the party to the main road again, and they had some time to wait for the bus. Some of the members tried their skill at skittles, but the prize (a pig) did not come their way. In the afternoon an attempt was made for Stedman Caters at St. Sidwell's, Exeter, but unfortunately after 2 hours 25 minutes' ringing, 'stand' was called, the turning course having proved the obstacle. This concluded the ringing for the day, and tracks were made to headquarters.

Tuesday morning's task was at Cullompton, where there is a very fine peal of ten bells recently hung. After the usual preliminaries, 'go, Stedman Caters,' was called, but again disappointment was in store, for after 2 hours and 35 minutes of excellent ringing the attempt came to an abrupt end. What really happened no one seemed to know, but a general mix up followed, which ended by 'stand' being called. Owing to a funeral a further attempt could not be made. A hot luncheon was partaken of at the White Hart Hotel, after which Tiverton was the objective, where there is an excellent peal of eight (tenor about 25 cwt.). As a peal attempt here had been denied for very good reasons, touches of Double Norwich, Plain and Treble Bob Major and Stedman Triples were rung.

Wednesday morning's order gave a little more leisure time, and the party joined the 10.15 bus to Moreton Hampstead. The scenery en route was beautiful, and very much admired. Upon arrival at the destination, the visitors were met by Mr. Wakley, who had arranged to spend the day with them. The bells were soon raised, and a start was made for Double Norwich, and all went well for 1 hour and 20 minutes, when this attempt also failed. The ringers began to wonder what was the matter with them, and whether the number of the party, which was 13, had anything to do with it, or whether the Devon climate was exercising some undue influence. However, nothing daunted, the same band started off again this time into Bob Major, and had the satisfaction of securing the first peal of the tour in 3 hours and 11 minutes. It also happened to the first peal of Major on the bells. Upon leaving the belfry the band received the congratulations of the other members. They also found that Mr. Shepherd had arrived during the ringing. The return journey in the evening was made in an open charabanc, which made it possible to view more of the lovely scenery en route. Arriving on the outskirts of the city about 8.30 p.m., a halt was made at St. Thomas' Church, where it happened to be practice night. Here the local ringers very kindly placed the bells at the visitors' disposal for the rest of the evening, when touches of Stedman Triples were rung. Regret was expressed that some misunderstanding had arisen at this church, as the party had been expected at 3 o'clock, although it was not on their programme.

On Thursday morning, at Withcombe Raleigh, a well-struck peal of Stedman Triples was rung in 2 hours 55 minutes. Just after the start for the peal the other members of the party received a surprise visit from Mr. A. P. Smith, of Birmingham, who had motored over from Budleigh Salterton, where he was spending his holidays. Dinner was partaken of at Thorne's Hotel, during which it was suggested that as Dame Fortune had smiled upon them at last, the ringers should return to Exeter earlier than arranged and endeavour to obtain permission to make another attempt for Stedman Caters at St. Sidwell's. After spending an hour by the sea they returned to Exeter, but unfortunately permission to make another attempt to St. Sidwell's could not be granted. Mr. Shepherd, however, very kindly obtained permission to have a ring at Alphington, where touches of Oxford Bob, Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Double Norwich Major were rung. Mr. Wakley and Mr. Shepherd were the guests of the visitors that night at supper, and a very pleasant evening was spent together.

Crediton, with its beautiful and historic church, which contains some very valuable relics, and possessing an extraordinary fine ring of eight bells (tenor about 28 cwt.), was planned for Friday morning, where the Rector gave the visitors a great welcome, and also very kindly piloted them round the church, giving a short account of its history, and pointing out the various relics and valuable possession. The bells having then been raised, a start was made for Stedman Triples, when, sad to relate, owing to the beautiful tone of the bells and the splendid music they were pealing forth, one of the band forgot what he was doing, and the end came after 1 hour 15 minutes' practically perfect ringing. For some time after one could hear in one's mind the beautiful tone of the bells, and the perfect beat rolling onwards. The 'policeman' had been very quiet for two days, having contracted a chill, but he was able to get to Crediton in time to hear this noble ring of bells. Hurried refreshments were partaken of, after which Mr. J. T. Dyke took his departure for home. Honiton Cyst was the afternoon's order, so thither the party wended their way in an overloaded bus. Arrived at the destination, a start was made for Bob Major, but one hour sufficed in the heat, the band being more or less drowsy, with the result that the treble ceased to be a plain hunt bell, and the end came. After the ringing, the Rector's wife very kindly invited the visitors to tea, and a very pleasant time was spent. Before leaving, a hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Rector and his wife for their warm welcome and hospitality.

Saturday's programme was Thorveton, if required, and as the peal bag was very light eight of the party boarded the 8.15 train, and arrived there about 9 o'clock. The bells were soon set going to Stedman Triples, and a good peal was scored in 2 hours 55 minutes. Tracks had then to be made to the station to catch the 12.30 train back to Exeter.

The holiday was now at an end, and very little time left to pack up and catch the required trains. The Rhyll and Salopian members, together with the 'policeman' and his friend, left by the 2.18 train, while three more Staffordshire lads returned at 3.30. The other three members of the party (lucky bounders) left in different directions to spend the remainder of their holidays elsewhere.

Before concluding the account of this trip, the roamers desire to express their sincere thanks and gratitude to the Rev. E. V. Cox, who so very kindly arranged such an enjoyable programme, to Mr. E. Shepherd for the very kind 'shepherd' that he proved during the whole of the visit, to Mr. Davey for his efforts, to all the incumbents for the permission to ring at the various churches, and for the very warm welcome they extended on each occasion, and last, but not least, to all those tower keepers who had everything in readiness for the visitors when they arrived. Although the peal bag was light, they left Devon with no disappointments, for one and all had spent a most enjoyable time together, having received a very warm welcome wherever they went.

The ringing on each occasion had been of a very high standard, and the very many congratulations received on the excellent striking more than compensated for the loss of peals. Not an evening was passed but the handbells were brought into use, and many surprising methods were rung; in fact, had was a secondary consideration when handbells were about. This is believed to be the first tour organised by the Stafford Archdeaconry Society, and the place chosen was an ideal one. May it not be the last. They bid adieu to Devon, cherishing many happy thoughts and the faces of many new friends, also memories that will linger for many years. J. P.

BURSLEM AND NORTON RINGERS' OUTING.

On Saturday, August 30th, the ringers at Burslem and Norton held an outing, and visited Ecclestone and Mayfield, travelling by motor through the beautiful countryside. On arrival at Ecclestone they were met by Mr. Udale, and soon set the bells going to Oxford and Cambridge, all being loud in their praise of this lovely ring of bells. Going on to Mayfield, where they first partook of an excellent tea, they were met at the church by the Vicar, and a few of the local men, who gave them a hearty welcome. Touches of Oxford and Kent and 720 of Violet Treble Bob were rung in fine style. These bells are a fine ring of six, and go very well, and everyone expressed the wish to pay them another visit in the near future. The return journey was begun at 8.30, and home was reached about 11 p.m. The party, through 'The Ringing World,' wish to thank the clergy for granting the use of the bells, and also the tower keepers for having everything in readiness.

RINGERS' OUTINGS.

CANTERBURY CATHEDRAL BAND.

Canterbury Cathedral ringers visited Margate and Quex Park for their annual outing. The party numbered 14, and at the Waterloo tower rang touches of Grandsire and Stedman Caters, and afterwards inspected the wonderful big game collection of Major P. H. G. Powell-Colton, of Quex Park. The party then motored back to Margate for tea, and subsequently visited St. John's Church, where they found the bells in good order, and rang some touches of Grandsire Triples, Stedman Triples and Double Norwich. The outing proved most enjoyable, the more so because Minor Canon F. J. O. Helmore (president of the ringers) accompanied the party. Thanks are due to Mr. G. Wiltshier, of Birchington, who made the arrangements for Quex Park, and to Mr. A. Saxby, of Margate, who arranged for the tea and the ringing at St. John's Church.

ST. MARY'S, STAFFORD.

The second annual outing of St. Mary's, Stafford, ringers took place on Saturday, August 16th, when Loughboro' and Leicester were visited. A start was made at 7.15 by motor coach, the foundry at Loughboro' being reached at 9.45. From that time the day was full of interest. Mr. Stubbs (of Messrs. Taylor's) conducted the party round the works, and he and the foreman spared no pains to explain every detail connected with bell founding. The visitors were not in time to see the enormous 12-ton bell cast, but they saw it being tuned, and also where it was 'hatched out.' Afterwards the foundry peal of ten was placed at their disposal. The small bells take some handling, so that the ringers were perhaps fortunate in bringing round Stedman and Grandsire Triples. Next they visited the carillon tower, but the pleasure of hearing and seeing these bells had to be left for another day. The next stage (Leicester) was reached in time for dinner. Afterwards St. Martin's Church (ten bells) was first visited, and then the ringers went on to St. Margaret's (12). These are a very fine peal, the tone and 'go' being perfect. Messrs. Morris and Whitehead welcomed the visitors, and considerably strengthened the band. After tea another move was made to St. Martin's, the party being further reinforced by Messrs. Dexter and Elkington. Subsequently a very enjoyable day concluded with handbells and tunes on the English concertina, etc. The society would like to take this opportunity of thanking Messrs. Taylor and Co. for their great kindness; the incumbents for the use of the respective bells; the Leicester ringers for their kindly welcome; and last, but not least, Mr. S. Burton, who had made all arrangements on the spot.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

On Saturday the 'evil' spell cast about Major attempts at Uttoxeter, Staffs, was broken, and a peal of Kent Treble Bob was rung on this grand peal of eight. There have been various attempts made by different bands in the past, but all without success. Perhaps the luck has now been changed.

Apropos of one attempt, it is related that a band from Manchester had a tour in the neighbourhood, and had got 'Toxeter marked for the star turn—a 'mustn't-be-lost' tit-bit. On their return a certain Mancunian of jovial (not to say Monkish, were he tansured and cowed) mien, was asked if they had a good time and a full programme. 'Yes,' quoth he, 'extra good.'

And how about the 'Toxeter job; you got him?' 'No,' was the reply. 'Oh dear, how did you lose it?' The jovial one led his interrogator on one side and said, 'Look here, if you must know, the — tower fell down.' On Saturday last, however, no such calamity happened, and a grand peal was rung.

The energetic hon. treasurer of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Guild (Mr. A. M. Hall) is organising a campaign to improve the finances of the association, by a direct appeal for honorary members.

Mr. William Rock Small writes to say that the first peal of Major rung at Bishop Ryder's Church, Birmingham, was on April 1st, 1872, when a band, all born at Wednesbury, rang a 5,040 Bob Major, composed by Sottanstell. It was conducted by Thomas Foster, and Mr. Small is the last survivor of the band.

Mr. Small, by the way, is in very indifferent health, and cannot leave his home. He will be very pleased to see any ringers who can call upon him at 244, Whitehall Road, Great Bridge, Tipton. He will be 85 years of age on November 5th next.

On Sunday, Sept. 6th, 1897, a peal of Bobb Major Royal was rung at St. Michael's, Coventry, in 4 hours 23 minutes, by the Society of Coventry Youths. A board recording the peal is, we believe, stowed away in the crypt. 'The unknown art despised by the ignorant' is the comment added beneath the record.

When, by the way, will Coventry people replace their bells in a suitable steeple? For years now they have hung 'dead'—the bells, not the people—in the octagon, and can be chimed only. To place them in the present beautiful tower seems out of the question, and there appears little prospect of any scheme for once more making the bells a 'ringing' peal being considered—at any rate, in this generation.

John Holt took part in a peal of Bob Triples at St. George's, Southwark, on September 9th, 1750.

The Crowfield Society rang '5,040 Gathrine Triples' (Garthorn's peal of Grandsire), at Coddham, Suffolk, on Sept. 10th, 1741. The treble was rung by Theodore Eccleston, the squire of Coddham, who had given the bells, and also the ring at Stonham Aspell.

The first peal of Double Norwich in Cheshire was rung on Sept. 11th, 1844, at Christleton. It was a 5,376 by John Lates, and had the 6th 24 times right, and 24 times wrong.

A correspondent suggests it is time that some of the towers in the Winchester district should 'wake up.' A district meeting of the Winchester Guild was held last Saturday at a tower three miles from the Cathedral city, but only one company, in addition to the local band, was represented out of the 13 or so towers in the district. There were visitors from neighbouring districts, two enthusiasts cycling just on 40 miles, but Winchester itself, only three miles away, was unrepresented!

By the Rector's order, all applications for the bells or ringing at the Church of St. Dunstan-in-the-East must be made to Mr. T. H. Taffender, 10, Northlands Street, Camberwell, S.E.

Another set of bell ropes to be given away! We have been asked to say that Christ Church, Blacklands, Hastings, Sussex, have a set of eight bell ropes to give to a tower with a ring of eight bells. The ropes are of 45 feet length, and are suitable for a peal, with a tenor about 20 to 25 cwt. Applications will be considered only from a voluntary band of ringers who are in need of ropes, and should be sent to Mr. J. Livermore, 2, Hughenden Road, Hastings, Sussex.

Leiston, and not Friston, is the place where the peal of London, published last week, was rung.

'Some time ago,' writes 'Sim Pull,' a contributor to your valuable paper, 'explained the reason for "tired" bells. I would that he gave us the formula for tired ringers. I do not mean physically, but mentally tired. One sees in the peal reports men who ring perhaps three peals a week, and then, like the song of the soldier, they do not die, they fade away. Could anything be gained by either re-hanging with ball bearings or quarter turning and Simpson tuning?'

Mr. E. Hims, of Bicester, is another ringer who has rung two church bells to a touch. His name should have been included with those given last week in the paragraph on 'double-handed' tower bell ringing.

BARLBOROUGH.—On Sunday, August 24th, for evening service, at St. James' Church, in 26 minutes. 720 Duke of York Treble Bob: L. Hibbard 1, H. Hibbard (first in the method and first attempt) 2, P. Morris 3, R. Reece 4, W. Sturman 5, P. Hibbard (conductor) 6.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION. DEDICATION OF NEW BELLS AT BOURN.

The Church of SS. Mary and Helena, Bourn, a small village, about nine miles west of Cambridge, now possesses what is considered by many to be the finest peal of eight bells in the county outside of Cambridge. A new steel frame has been provided, the six old bells rehung, and two new trebles added, the whole of the work having been splendidly carried out by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough. The two trebles were given by the Rev. Canon G. H. Kidout, M.A., St. Alban's, Ferreiras, Johannesburg, South Africa, in memory of his parents.

The dedication of the bells took place at a service held on Saturday afternoon, the ceremony being performed by the Right Rev. Bishop Price, D.D., Archdeacon of Ely. During the service the bells were rung in rounds by the local ringers, and immediately after the conclusion of the service a touch of Kent Treble Bob Major was rung by York Green (Cambridge) 1, Ernest G. Hibbins (Cambridge) 2, Percy Webb (Ickleton) 3, Herbert Fields (St. Neots) 4, Christopher Woolley (Longstanton) 5, Basil D. Buttress (Fulbourn) 6, T. Reginald Dennis (Cambridge) 7, Alfred G. Rivers (Dry Drayton), conductor, 8. Afterwards touches of Grandsire Triples, Stedman Triples, Bob Major, Kent Treble Bob Major, Double Norwich, and Cambridge Surprise, were rung by various visiting ringers.

At five o'clock the ringers had tea in the school, presided over by Bishop Price. This was followed by a meeting of the Ely Diocesan Association, the Bishop being in the chair. Fen Ditton was decided upon as the place for the next meeting.

Mr. A. G. Rivers pointed out that there had been occasions when visiting bands of ringers had come into the Ely Diocese and rung peals there, but that such peals had not been rung for the Ely Diocesan Association. He considered that it was only right and fair that a peal should be credited to the Association of the Diocese in which it was rung. He proposed, and Mr. T. R. Dennis seconded, that the general secretary should write to all incumbents in the Diocese asking them, when they were approached by a visiting band of ringers for the use of bells for a peal, to inform such ringers that the peal should be rung for the Ely Diocesan Association.

After some discussion Bishop Price mentioned that the 'Diocesan Gazette' had a large circulation in the Diocese, and he suggested that instead of writing to the incumbents it might be better to put the matter in the 'Gazette.' The Bishop's suggestion was agreed to.

Votes of thanks were passed to Bishop Price for presiding, to the Vicar (the Rev. J. W. Joyce) for the use of the bells, and to the ladies for their services in arranging tea. — The Bishop, in reply thanked the ringers for their vote of thanks; he was glad to get into touch with the association, and hoped to be able to get into closer touch in the future. — The Vicar thanked the ringers for coming, and also responded on behalf of the ladies.

The weather was rather unsettled, but about 40 ringers were present during the afternoon and evening, including Mr. Pryce Taylor and Mr. J. Saddington, Loughborough.

On the following day (Sunday) the first peal, Kent Treble Bob Major, was rung on the bells.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

STOCKPORT BRANCH AND MINOR METHOD NAMES.

The third quarterly meeting of the branch for the year was held at New Mills on Saturday last, and, despite the unsettled state of the weather, was fairly well attended, some thirty members and friends being present. The Rev. J. L. Knowles, Vicar, conducted the service, and gave a most helpful address. The assistance of the organist and choir to lead the singing was very much appreciated. Through the kindness of Mrs. A. T. Beeston, the visitors were entertained to tea in St. James's Schoolroom, instead of on the lawn at Watford 'Castle.' After a very cordial vote of thanks to Mrs. Beeston, a collection for the branch funds realised £1 3s. 2½d.

Under the able chairmanship of Mr. J. H. Jackson the business of the evening was transacted. A report on the Guild's annual festival was given, and, arising out of this, much discussion took place on the names of Minor methods.

In view of the fact that it is chiefly due to the activities of the members of this branch that Minor method ringing has reached the standard it has, and that they have first rung and named a large number of methods, which names have not been given haphazard, but with a view to assisting the Analysis Committee in their work, the secretary was instructed to forward to the hon. secretary of the Central Council a copy of the following resolution: 'It is the opinion of this branch, that the existing names of Minor methods should stand as at present.'

No new ringing members were elected, but on the proposal of Mr. E. W. Elwell (Guild secretary) Mrs. A. T. Beeston was elected a hon. member. — The usual votes of thanks terminated the meeting.

Further ringing took place on the tower bells, and a number of members took the opportunity of visiting Watford Lodge to see 'the chair.'

SURREY ASSOCIATION.

THE ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Surrey Association was held at Kingston-on-Thames on Saturday last, about 30 members attending from the various towers. Ringing commenced soon after 3 o'clock, and at 4.30 the members adjourned to All Saints' Mission Room, where tea was taken. The business meeting followed, presided over by the Rev. Gibson. — The Secretary presented the annual report for 1923, and the accounts were passed.

Sympathetic allusion was made to the Master of the Association (Mr. J. D. Drewett), his continued illness giving great concern to the ringers, and the hope was expressed that he would soon be able to attend the meetings with his former good health.

The meeting for next year was fixed to take place in January, and hope was expressed that secretaries of towers would make their returns so that the report could be got out more promptly. It was also suggested that conductors of peals rung in the last week or so of the year should send a report of such peals to the secretaries.

The officers of the association were re-elected as before, namely: Master, Mr. James D. Drewett, J.P.; treasurer, Mr. C. F. Johnston; hon. secretary, Mr. Charles Dean; assistant hon. secretary, Mr. Chas. Reading; central district secretary, Mr. A. J. Trappitt; southern district secretary, Mr. Henry Ewins; western district secretary, Miss Nora E. Shorter; representatives on the Central Council, Messrs. Dean and Johnston.

A vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and to the Rev. Gibson for presiding at the meeting, concluded the proceedings, and the members then attended evensong at the Parish Church, the service being conducted by the Rev. A. R. F. Hyslop, who afterwards showed the ringers the improvements which had been made in the church, more especially in the renovated chapel, the expense of which has been borne by the East Surrey Regiment.

The Secretary expressed the appreciation of the members to the Vicar for his kindness, and the members concluded an enjoyable afternoon by ringing various touches on tower bells, including Stedman and Grandsire Caters, Treble Bob Royal and Cambridge Surprise Major.

THE MEMBERSHIP OF GUILDS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Your leading article this week prompts me to pass my no doubt unacceptable opinion, even as you have done, on the abilities and membership of our various Guilds, the Truro Guild in particular. You note that about 'one-tenth' of the total membership are change ringers. What of it? Have the other nine-tenths not got a right to membership of a Guild whose primary object is the fostering of the art of change ringing? Of course they have! And when our Bishops have looked into the facts of the case they will say, 'We will have a word in the formation of these Guild rules; you shall place no criterion of fitness on the price of membership; every wight who pulls a bell to call people to worship shall be eligible for membership, or else—our patronage will cease.'

I dare, Mr. Editor, say now to the austere few who govern each association that the time has come to change their names to Diocesan Guilds: associate themselves not only by name, but by nature, with their Bishop, and follow out in every way the teaching of our Master, 'Suffer little children to come unto Me, and forbid them not.' Our Master meant, not those of scanty years only, but those of every walk of life who were in need of enlightenment, and there it stands. I would ask you, sir, why should A, who cannot ring 120 Grandsire Doubles, be shut out from membership of his Bishop's Guild, and B elected because he can? Certainly not, sir, let all who call the faithful to worship join our Guilds, and let our Bishops see that our Guilds are serving the purpose they blazon from their rules—the forwarding of the art. If they become real 'change ringers,' the peal records will show their abilities. But—do away with the senseless qualification for membership; let all who call folk to worship join our Guilds, leave none out in the cold, obey our Master's edict in this as in all other matters.

I have the temerity to predict that my 'passing of opinions' will emulate the old adage re coming events; it will be the shadow before them. Too much stress is laid on this fitness for membership. Let us be broad-minded and embrace each one who sends out a call to worship, whether he rings on three bells or twelve; if he prefer call changes it matters not. Our Master laid down no rules as to the legitimacy of methods. He told His followers that 'those who gathered' together would He receive. Let our pompous Guilds do likewise. —Yours faithfully, ONCE A BEGINNER.

Our correspondent has misconstrued the intention of our article. If he will read it again, he will see we made no suggestion that those who are not change ringers should be excluded from an association. The statement which he quotes, that apparently not more than about one-tenth of the members of the Truro Guild are change ringers, was given to show that the organisation has a big task before it in cultivating change ringing.—Ed., 'R.W.')

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

A MEETING AT COTGRAVE.

The Nottingham District of the Midland Counties Association had an extremely pleasant meeting at Cotgrave on Saturday. Far from the madding crowd, the village is snugly situated on the borders of the Nottinghamshire Wolds. As visitors approach, the church spire is silhouetted against the sky, and the bells are going to a merry tune. There had been, some time before, a jangling of the bells, when an indifferent attempt at hymn playing had been made, and this had led to a controversy on bells and ringers appearing in the local press. Ringing had been described by one correspondent as an 'autocratic calling,' but the critics' letters appeared to emanate from those quite uninterested in the church. There is evidence, however, that good ringing, like good music, receives a large percentage of approbation. The Kent Treble Bob sounded well as the church was reached. 'They would make just a splendid octave,' says a colleague, and he is right. It is a consummation devoutly wished.

Many scores of ringers responded to the hearty invitation by the new Rector (the Rev. A. Chaplin), and greetings were extended to the visitors by Messrs. White and the local stalwarts. Many touches were brought round prior to the service, which was conducted by the Rector, assisted by the Rev. C. J. Sturton. Mr. Walter White ably presided at the organ, and the address was given by the Rev. A. Chaplin, who based a masterful sermon on Haggai ii. 9. At the close of the enjoyable service the visitors were conducted to the Rectory, where they received an individual welcome, and found a bountiful tea awaiting them. The Rector's hospitality and the kindness of the ladies who waited upon the guests were much appreciated.

Mr. A. Coppock (vice-president of the district) presided over the business meeting which followed, at which there were present members from St. Peter's and St. Mary's, Nottingham; Beeston, Bulwell, Bottesford, Basford, Barton, Radcliffe, Orston, Greasley, etc., as well as the Cotgrave ringers.

It was resolved to hold the next meeting at Sawley: Greasley being defeated by one vote.

The vice-president thanked the Rector for his kind invitation to Cotgrave, and the Rev. A. Chaplin, in reply, spoke of the value of such meetings to the organisation and the excellent training which they afforded the younger element. He thanked the ringers for their response to his invitation, and expressed pleasure at making their acquaintance.

Mr. Coppock had an interesting story to tell the members. He told them of a dream he had once had, in which he had seen a man, whom he had never met in his lifetime. This man was short of stature and broad of build. He had, in a sense, made a mental note of his cut and colour, but beyond this, he thought nothing further of it. But one day, with Mr. F. Blood (the secretary), he visited the Castle Museum in Nottingham, quite ignorant of the fact that there was anything on view that could be associated with bell ringing. There, however, was a portrait of the man he had seen in his dream: the portrait of none other than the great William Doubleday Crofts, the celebrated old Nottingham ringer. Mr. Coppock hopes to have some further interesting statements to make at a later date.

Before the close of the meeting a discussion took place on the lackadaisical methods of some ringers in not keeping abreast of the times. If ringers supported their own paper, they would see what others were doing, and would find that it conduced to a healthy organisation and to sociability.

The meeting having closed, some went back to the tower bells, others enjoyed handbell ringing, and the Rector introduced the remainder to various games on the lawn, including bowls, bumble-puppy and clock golf. It was interesting to watch Mr. John Hobbs trying conclusions in clock golf with 'Happy Tommy' from Bulwell; and later on there should be some amusing pictures to be seen of certain of the visitors, photographed astride the strange looking, but artificial, and therefore harmless animals, which were found in the gardens.

It is pleasing to put on record that the Rev. A. Chaplin permitted himself to be elected an honorary member of the Midland Counties Association.

Under the rapidly approaching canopy of night the visitors took their departure from Cotgrave with recollections of a most enjoyable visit, and with the thought that the weather had been most friendly for the occasion.

Mr. F. M. MITCHELL'S 100 PEALS.

Doubles, rung 1: Minor, 1 method, 2 (conducted 2); Minor, 2 methods, 1 (1); Minor, 3 methods, 1 (1); Minor, 4 methods, 4 (3); Minor, 5 methods, 4 (4); Minor, 6 methods, 3 (1); Minor, 7 methods, 19 (15); Minor, 10 methods, 1 (1); Grandsire Triples, 2 (1); Stedman Triples, 11; Plain Bob Major, 1 (1); Double Norwich Major, 13; Victory Major, 1; Kent Treble Bob Major, 19 (9); Oxford Treble Bob Major, 2 (1); Granta Treble Bob Major, 1; Cambridge Surprise Major, 5; Superlative Surprise Major, 2; Stedman Caters, 4; Plain Bob Royal, 1; Kent Treble Bob Royal, 2; total, 100 (conducted 40). Rung in 34 towers, in five counties, for five associations, with 140 ringers.

REHANGING AT GREAT TEW.

It is proposed to rehang the fine ring of eight at Great Tew, Oxon, as they are at present quite unringable.

A large sum of money has been raised, but still about £300 is needed, as the amount required for the work is over £1,000.

The church is a very old and most beautiful one, with a fine tower situated in about as picturesque a village as can well be imagined.

The bells are well worthy of the church, tower and village. The founder and date of the treble are unknown, but the 5th was recast in 1842 by W. and J. Taylor, of Oxford. The remainder are all by Rudhall: the 3rd by John, and the others by Abraham. The tenor is a grand bell of about 23 or 24 cwt. Probably the last peal rung upon them was in 1893, viz., 5,040 Stedman Triples, composed and conducted by J. W. Washbrook.

SUFFOLK GUILD.

CLOCKING OF BELLS: ARCHDEACON'S INTENTION.

This Guild held the first of its quarterly meetings at Woodbridge on Saturday, August 23rd. There was a good representative attendance of ringers from all over the east of the county. The Ven. Archdeacon Darling (vice-president) was in the chair.

The question of 'clocking' of bells (i.e., the tying a cord round the clapper for ease in ringing) having been discussed, the Chairman said he would get the matter brought before the Archdeacons and Rural Deans in the Diocese, in order that they might inquire in their visitations whether the bell or bells were clocked, and see that such a dangerous practice be stopped. This offer was gratefully accepted.

It was decided to hold the next meetings at Eye on September 20th, and at Lavenham on October 4th.

Mr. Stedman Symonds, of Lavenham, was elected assistant secretary pro tem.

Touches in a number of different methods were rung both at Woodbridge and at Ufford. It was remarked that it was a pity that so fine a ring of bells as those at Woodbridge are not heard to better advantage. They were all cast by Osborn at the end of the eighteenth century, and are an unrivalled instance of the work of that able Master of his craft. If rehung in a more secure position in a lower part of the tower, they would be better heard everywhere, and not be so noisy in the neighbourhood of the church. Also, in a place the size of Woodbridge, proper efforts should be made to form a permanent band of change ringers.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE ASSOCIATION.

ENCOURAGING MEETING AT SIX-BELL TOWER.

A district meeting of the West Tyne division was held at Newton Hall on Saturday, when nearly 40 ringers, representing Newcastle Cathedral, St. George's, Jesmond; All Saints', Gosforth; Whitley Bay, Chester-le-Street, Newburn, and Winton towers, attended, also members of the local band.

The ring of six bells were set going early to Stedman Doubles. Bob Minor, London Court, Kent Treble Bob, Cambridge Surprise and several other methods were practised, conducted by Messrs. Giffons, J. E. R. Keen, E. Lowery, J. Symm, and J. Bird.

At the interval the ringers were entertained to an excellent tea kindly provided by the Vicar, and the members of the local band, who were ably assisted by their lady friends.

The Vicar (Canon Nicholson), who presided, cordially welcomed so many ringers, and was especially pleased with the ringing on the handbells kindly provided by the Whitley Bay contingent.

Hearty votes of thanks proposed by the late president of the association (Mr. W. Story), and seconded by Mr. A. Payne, were accorded to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and to Mr. Symm and the ladies for their kind hospitality, which was much appreciated.

The Vicar very kindly escorted a party round the Vicarage and its beautiful gardens, where there were to be seen red rambler roses in great profusion. Before the close one of the local members kindly took a photograph of the party. The outing altogether was most enjoyable, and a very successful one.

The meeting was supported by Mr. E. E. Ferry, hon. secretary, and Mr. A. M. Hall, hon. treasurer of the association, and the opinion was expressed on all sides that such gatherings at six-bell towers in other districts would considerably help to remove the feeling that the smaller towers were ignored by the association. As evidence of what can be done, this splendid meeting has proved, beyond question, that the association can achieve something when the officers make their minds up to do it. It was noticed that the towers of Wylam, Hexham, Corbridge and Allendale were not represented.

It is hoped the local secretary will now be encouraged to get some good ringing in his division in the future, also more meetings, the latter to be duly announced in 'The Ringing World.' They are sure to receive plenty of support from their other brethren.

The last meeting of the association prior to the general meeting in October, is at Wylam-on-Tyne on Sept. 20th, where all members are cordially invited, and it is hoped there will be a good response.

It was interesting to hear that one of the party of three who courageously set out on foot to walk home was more than rewarded for his daring.

THE WASHBROOK MEMORIAL.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Having read the letter from the Rev. Ll. Edwards in your issue of August 22nd, I feel I should like to add a few words to the very practical and useful suggestions therein outlined. Although I am ready to agree that the idea of facility for change ringing practice is an important feature, I think we must not lose sight of the fact that the 'Washbrook Memorial' point of view should have by far the greater consideration.

I have been acquainted with St. Giles' tower (though not a member of the band) for some considerable time, and have never heard of any complaint being raised by the Radcliffe Infirmary against the ringing, and should feel rather inclined to think that the inmates of the infirmary would be more pleased at hearing the bells than wishing to complain of them.

The Rev. Ll. Edwards is quite right in stating that the tower contains pits for two trebles, and one could not wish for a better ring of six, which, with the addition of two trebles, would undoubtedly constitute a memorial worthy of so great a ringer as the late Mr. J. W. Washbrook.

In conclusion, I would beg to say that the suggestions contained in the Rev. Ll. Edwards' letter have the unanimous approval of a fair number of Oxford ringers.—Yours faithfully,

WALTER F. JUDGE.

ST. MICHAEL COSLANY, NORWICH.

To the Editor.

Sir,—In the article contributed by Mr. J. R. Jerram to your issue of the 15th inst. under the heading, 'Ancient Norwich Bells,' there is a serious omission as regards the peal tablets in the belfry of St. Michael Coslany, as no mention is made of the three following peals recorded on two tablets:—

TABLET, No. IV.—This Tablet was erected by the Churchwardens and a few Gentlemen of the Parish to commemorate a Great Performance of Oxford Treble Bob, rung in this steeple on the 18th November, 1824. This great Task, containing 8,448 changes, was perfectly completed in the space of 5 hours and 18 minutes, without the Bells being misplaced or changes alike, and for Bold and regular Striking, the harmonious changes and the Number of them must be allowed by all Impartial Judges to be a performance if ever equalled, never to be excelled on eight bells. The Peal was conducted by Samuel Thurston, with his usual Ability and Precision, and will long stand a Master Piece untouched by the lovers of the Ancient and Ingenious (sic) science of Ringing.

TABLET, No. VI.—May 5th, 1843, was rung in this Steeple 5,120 changes of Oxford Treble Bob Major, in 3 hours and 6 minutes. Composed by H. Hubbard.

Robt. Cole	4th	Robt. Palgrave	Tenor

Conducted by C. Middleton.

J. A. Gorell, J. Howes, Churchwardens.

Mr. Jerram gives details only of tablets of Nos. I., II., III., and V., taking them in chronological order. There are six tablets in all, recording seven performances. Furthermore, the two peals last quoted in the article, viz., 5,280 Oxford Treble Bob Major, July 21st, 1832, and 5,248 Oxford Treble Bob Major, June 10th, 1834, are NOT recorded on tablets in the belfry of St. Michael's.

The tablet No. I. starts off: 'Whereas by Publick Contribution two smaller bells were hung up in this Steeple, making therein a Peal of Eight, on the 5th day of February, Anno 1725. Mr. Charles Harwood and Mr. James Cobb, Churchwardens,' and then continues as Mr. Jerram's article. (The date is old style.)

Tablets Nos. I., II., and III. are surmounted by a bell raised. While all the inscriptions are still perfectly legible, yet the boards would be all the better for a coat of varnish after a very careful cleaning.

May I also point out the following typographical errors in the text of Mr. Jerram's article:—

- (a) The name of the treble ringer, peals (1) and (2) is Richard Barnham.
- (b) In peal (2) omit the word 'ever' in last line of column.
- (c) In peal (3) the tenor ringer should be 'Jno. Trowse.'
- (d) Peal (5) should read 'that intricate method of Norwich Court,' and the word 'extensive' should be followed by 'science.'
- (e) In peal (6) the last line of the column should read 'Double Method of NORWICH Court Bob.'

Yours very truly,

G. P. BURTON.

Bracondale, Norwich.

PLAIN MAJOR METHODS.

An interesting letter by Mr. J. A. Trollope upon the construction of plain Major Methods will be given in our next issue.

DUBLIN COMPLEX.

Dear Sir,—In answer to Mr. Keeble, re Dublin Complex. The peal was rung on September 27th, 1913. I have no idea as to the date on which I received it from Mr. Lindou.

We rang it with 4th's place bobs, and I think it is the only Plain Major method yet rung with lengthening leads.

The 6th's place bob is more suitable to this method, as it cuts out the repetition work of the bells in 5678.—Yours sincerely,

W. H. BARBER.

A MUCH PUBLISHED METHOD.

Dear Sir,—I regret occupying your valuable space and time, in publishing the method under the name of 'Double Fakenham Court Bob Major' in your issue of August 8th, 1924. At the time, I was not aware it had previously been rung or published, but in addition to the instances pointed out by Messrs. Keeble and Trollope, I can now find the same method, row for row, in the 'Ringing World' of March 21st, 1913, under the name of 'Netherton Complex Major,' by Mr. Alfred Davies, so altogether it has had quite a good advertisement.

I am unable to trace 'Dublin Duplex' in print, but can find 'Dublin Complex' by Mr. G. Lindoff in the 'Ringing World,' October 3rd, 1913, the latter being first rung at Gosforth, conducted by Mr. W. H. Barber.—Yours truly,

WILLIAM E. BASON.

A QUIET WEEK AT SURFLEET.

AND SEVEN HANDBELL PEALS.

Saturday, August 23rd, saw the arrival at Spalding of the people of 'luggage' fame, but, to their surprise, no 'rubber bus' awaited them, instead style and finish was the order. Sunday afternoon welcomed the remainder by a 'refreshing' shower for the last 'three miles,' but as they were well protected, nothing resulted. This year there were two additions to the party, but as yet they have not mastered the art of ringing. Tea-time was a real family gathering, with the mere males in minority, only 3 to 15.

Monday morning, Rupert 'rolled home' his favourite, Pritchard's 5,056, which gave great satisfaction, as this was Mrs. Hairs' 150th peal. The afternoon was taken easy, and in the evening, Treble Bob was essayed, and a good peal resulted—the conductor's first of Treble Bob 'in hand,' and Rupert's 100th peal on handbells.

Tuesday morning was spent in Spalding, where the ladies went shopping, and the gentlemen visited the pig and poultry markets, later adjoining to the Club for billiards, etc. In the afternoon the new house was christened with Groves' Variation, and then the family gathering once more sported themselves round the table. The evening was passed with songs, recitations, pianoforte solos, etc., the younger element causing an early retirement. Wednesday was a blank day—Stedman Triples being lost after 45 minutes' good ringing. In the early evening two of the members tried 'picking' hand-tied oat sheaves, and found it good for neither wind nor limb.

The orders for next morning were, 'Be ready for a peal at 8 a.m.'—which meant moving weary limbs for an early breakfast. A clean start, peal and finish and Bob Major again rolled home, leaving time, as we imagined, to get the two Rotherham ladies to Spalding to catch the 11.9 Parkstone to Liverpool express.

Gents! Be warned—don't let the ladies look up trains. It went at 10.30!

Friday morning another peal of Bob Major was safely piloted home, and in the evening, Frank, after much persuasion, had the satisfaction of completing his first peal as conductor.

Saturday should have been an excursion day to Skegness, but evidently we had upset the Clerk of the weather, for he severely frowned on us. However, we had to go, so came back as soon as possible. The afternoon, being decidedly more cheerful as regards weather, was spent roaming round selecting various articles to be 'sneaked' into 'trunks,' and making preparations for long Sunday journeys, but the week was completed by another peal of 'Robert,' with F. I. H. in charge.

All good things come to an end, and all were up early next morning to ensure an early start for home. As of yore, the luggage had somehow managed to increase, but all was safely stowed away—the party moving off with regrets at the end of a quiet but happy week.

Friend Rupert and his worthy spouse cannot receive too many thanks for their manifold kindnesses at all times.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Bedford District was held on Saturday last, at Kimbolton and Keysoe. A goodly number were present, though the weather was very stormy. Most of the members did the journey on bicycles, but two or three were rather more fortunate, being taken in Miss Steele's beautiful car, and feeling safe with her at the wheel. At the business meeting, Mr. A. Robinson presiding, it was proposed to hold the next meeting at Biddenham, notice of which will appear in 'The Ringing World.'

WARWICKSHIRE GUILD.

A highly successful meeting was held at Solihull on Saturday, Aug. 23rd, when, despite the inclement weather, a good muster of members was present. The holiday season accounted for the absence of several of the regular attendants at these meetings, including Messrs. T. Chapman and A. Wilkerson, the Master and secretary, respectively, but amongst the welcome visitors was Mr. A. E. Parsons, of the Worcester and Districts Association.

A bountiful tea was provided, through the generosity of Mr. G. A. Martineau, to which full justice was done, and the thanks of the Guild are due to him for his kindly action. The fine peal of ten bells was made full use of during the afternoon and evening, the methods rung including Grandsire and Stedman Caters, Kent Treble Bob Royal, Double Norwich, and Cambridge and London Surprise Major. Fortunately the weather improved during the evening, thus enabling the cyclist section to journey homeward in some degree of comfort.

The next meeting of the Guild will be held at Monks Kirby, in September, due notice of which will be given, and a record attendance is requested and anticipated.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

A successful meeting of the East Berks and South Bucks Branch was held on Saturday last at Stoke Poges and Farnham Royal. The following towers were represented: Beaconsfield, Burnham, Caversham, Fulmer, Farnham Royal, Hitcham, Chalfont St. Giles, Windsor, Old Windsor, Slough, Stoke Poges, Waltham St. Lawrence, Reading (St. Lawrence) and Maidenhead. Touches in various methods up to Cambridge Surprise were rung, but although London was attempted, only the Minor was accomplished. The members were honoured by a visit from the Rev. E. V. Cox, of the Devon Guild, who was staying in the neighbourhood, whilst Canon Barnett extended a hospitable invitation to the branch to visit Stoke Poges again.

SUPERLATIVE SURPRISE IN NORWICH.

The peal of Superlative Surprise rung last week at St. John de Sepulchre's Church, Norwich, was the first in the method rung by a Norwich band since the peal at St. Giles' Church, 1835. This peal was claimed as the first true peal of Superlative, as will be seen from the following record on a peal board in St. Giles' tower.

ST. GILES', NORWICH.

On Feb. 6th, 1835, was rung in this steeple 5,376 changes of that intricate method, Superlative Surprise; this great achievement was perfectly completed (at the first attempt), in 3 hours and 16 minutes, and was rung by the following persons:—

JOSHUA HURRY Treble	ROBERT BURRELL 5
ELIJAH MASON 2	JAMES TRUMAN 6
FREDK. WATERING 3	CHARLES PAYNE 7
HENRY HUBBARD 4	SAMUEL THURSTON 10

Composed by W. SHIPWAY.

Conducted by S. THURSTON.

Third peal ever rung in the method, the first one known to be false, and composition of second not known, the ringers mentioned above claimed their peal to be the first true one rung.

SURPRISE METHODS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I was interested in Mr. Arthur Craven's letter in your issue of August 22nd, and his examples of Surprise Methods; it set me wondering whether his discoveries followed upon reasoning similar to my own, when thirty years ago I worked out the following, as to which I am curious to know whether anyone claims to have since discovered it.

When a bell strikes in the same place in two successive changes I call it a stationary bell; the figures in the margin show the sequence of pairs of stationary bells, and it is by varying that sequence that so-called methods are evolved. It will be observed that in the lead given above stationary bells occur only in alternate pairs of changes, so that each pair of changes are alternately in and out of course. If you mark the stationary bells in Superlative Surprise you will find that this method has the same structure, differing from the above only in the sequence of stationary pairs. So far as I know these are the only two methods having this characteristic that will run a full course. I consider them to be perfect methods in the sense that they are formed with a minimum of stationary pairs. In my view, Cambridge is not a perfect method, as two pairs of stationary bells occur in two successive changes twice in the same lead. In all of the four methods given by Mr. Craven it will be found that pairs of stationary bells occur in three successive changes, so that, instead of in course and out of course changes occurring always in pairs, they occur sometimes alternately, while as before the number of stationary places is not a minimum, and consequently those methods are theoretically imperfect. Moreover, unless the method is a perfect one in my sense of the word, the difficulty of peal composition is greatly increased as, for instance, in Cambridge, where only one peal (with its variations) has ever been composed with tenors together!

I have only to add, that if one is content with an imperfect method one can 'discover' an almost infinite number by employing one or both of the deviations from perfection I have mentioned, i.e., by having two pairs of stationary bells in two successive changes, or by having stationary bells in three or more successive changes. It was by observing that Superlative was a perfect method in the sense I have explained that I was led to inquire whether it was possible to obtain other perfect methods and succeed in discovering the one I have given, which, however, is inferior to Superlative in that the latter is a double method, while mine is not. I would add that Double Norwich is the only perfect plain method so far as I am aware.—Yours faithfully,

J. S. PRITCHETT.

BELLTHORPE.

Dear Sir,—I have received a letter from Mr. Geo. Baker informing me that he produced the figures of 'New London' Surprise on Oct. 5th, 1921. In that case Mr. Baker has the prior claim to authorship, as my date was April, 1923. Mr. Baker named the method 'Bellthorpe.' I congratulate Mr. Baker, for the method is exceptional, and affords scope for compositions containing the 6th's 18 times home with the 4th 6 times in 7th's place.—Yours truly,

ARTHUR CRAVEN.

AN ELY DECISION.

An interesting point was raised at the meeting of the Ely Diocesan Association at Bourn, and recorded in our last issue. It was the decision to endeavour to ensure that peals rung by bands of ringers visiting the Diocese should be rung for the Ely Association. The decision, at the suggestion of the Archdeacon, is to be published in the 'Diocesan Gazette'—an excellent way of bringing before the clergy any matters of general importance in connection with bells and ringing which might with advantage be more often resorted to by associations. The idea behind the Ely proposal is, it would seem, to get the incumbents to make it a condition of the use of their bells that the peal shall be an Ely Association peal. The idea may be good in principle, although even that is debatable, but we think the Ely Association will find that in practice it will be impossible of attainment, unless, at least, the rules are altered. What is to happen if a band of, say, eight non-members visit Cambridgeshire—as has been the case in the past—and are desirous of ringing a peal? Who is to elect them as members of the Ely Association. Obviously they cannot elect themselves, and if the decision of the Association is to be made effective, it may result in putting an unpleasant barrier in the way of visitors ringing peals in the area of the Association, and might conceivably cause friction.

The question, in a much modified form, was discussed at the Central Council meeting last year. It was merely that 'first or record peals should, if possible, be rung for a society within the limits of that society's area,' but even this was held to be impracticable, and one member described it as 'unnecessary, unreasonable, unworkable and unintelligible.' What then could be said of a decision which would have the effect of applying practically the same principle to all peals? As a rule, when one or two individuals visit a tower in the area of some association other than their own, they join the local association, if they desire to ring a peal, not only because the majority of the band are members, but because it is felt to be, in a sense, an obligation. So, too, would a complete band, if it were possible, but in a case where the non-members outnumber the members there is, as far as we know, no provision for the minority to elect the majority.

We are quite sure the Ely Association has no desire to act in a dog-in-the-manger spirit, nor to set up unnecessary barriers to visiting ringers ringing peals in their area, but the resolution passed at Bourn strikes a note which seems discordant. Even the argument that the difficulty of election could be got over by submitting the names at some meeting of the Association previous to the peal attempt would not necessarily always meet the case, and we imagine the Association will find it desirable to review this resolution. If it could be shown that the principle was a reasonably workable one, there would be less argument against it, but if it should prove to be, as we believe it is, a decision which cannot effectively be put into practice, it is better left alone.

CLAPTON-IN-GORDANO RINGERS' TOUR.

A band of change ringers from the tiny village of Clapton, near Bristol, with a few friends, including Mr. Herbert Jas. Collier, of Flixton, Manchester, met together at the Batch, Clapton, in the sunshine on Saturday, August 30th. And how that sunshine was enjoyed, after the many wet days, and even a semi-wet morning. Then, at the quarter-past one o'clock, two motor-cars picked up the happy party, and off they set on a most enjoyable trip. Gliding along the Gordano Valley, they turned off at Clevedon, but an involuntary stoppage at Yatton to change a wheel (for these motor-cars have a nasty habit of 'striking' sometimes) delayed them for half an hour. During this halt some of the party spent an interesting time looking over the beautiful church. Off once again, they headed for Wrington, where Mr. F. Nipper awaited them, and accorded a genial welcome. Of course, the bells were soon swinging, and Grandsire Triples were heard booming from the belfry tower. The bells went well, too.

En route to Blagdon, the lake looked very picturesque, but being already half an hour behind, no stopping could be allowed to drink in all the beauty. At Blagdon, where they have a splendid ring of eight, the bells were quickly raised, and sent into the tune of Grandsire. And how sweetly they echoed over the expansive waters of the Blagdon Lake! Boarding the cars again, and driving straight away over the Mendips (and what balmy fresh air there is on these hills!), the mystic tints of the heather soon gave place to the steep cliffs of the Cheddar Gorge. The caves were explored by some of the party, and others explored the belfry (of course they did). But everybody explored the restaurant, and justice was done to a good tea. However, the bells did not go as well as they might, but in front of the Rectory the ringers gave a good touch on the handbells, and the much admired Cheddar was then hidden adieu.

Axbridge was the next tower visited, but the bells were under repair, and through the delay at the start of the run, it was decided not to call at Winscombe, it being too late to ring. So, homeward bound, all agreed that they had had a real good treat, and all were highly delighted at the programme of events.

THE LUCK O' THE BILLS.

THE STORY OF A PEAL OF LONDON—AND OTHER MATTERS.

One of the 'Jacks' of the Exercise was good enough to help the 'Williams' recently by inserting a short notice in 'The Ringing World' announcing the intention of Mr. Keeble to raise a band of Bills to ring, if possible, a peal of London Surprise Major. The day and place selected for the attempt having been notified to eight willing Wills, a muster was effected at Feering, Essex, but unfortunately one was not able 'to get.' Mr. Rogers, of Northampton, on his journey to Liverpool Street, E.C., was so delayed that he could not reach Feering in time, and had to send a 'wire' with apologies. However, a peal in the method was quite successful on Saturday, August 30th, as duly reported in these columns, the absentee's place being ably filled up by 'Walter,' one of the local team, so that 'all's well that ends well,' or should it be 'Wal'?

The company were kindly entertained to tea, at the hotel adjoining the tower, by the local men, the actual date coinciding with the 63rd birthday of Mr. Wm. Elliott, of Kelvedon. After the performance we were able to discuss many matters of horticultural interest, such as Sweet William—the William pear—with thoughts of other Williams of the bell rope, who have, in the past, done yeoman service for the art. Both young Bill Nevard and his old friend Elliott, became anxious to change some of their Treasury Notes—real Treasury Bills—that the party might 'wet their whistles,' whilst the engine whistle of passing trains reminded those staying over Sunday, that the Miller of the Lee, and Beeson-on-Thames would be short-winded if they caught their train up to town. Little Willie Gofton all the way from Monksheaton, was as wide awake as ever, when rounds came up, although he travelled all night for the peal, which he makes his 'dozen' in this method in a list of 27 at 18 years of age.

Those who stayed over Sunday rang Cambridge Minor for evening service at Kelvedon Church, after attempting a double-handed peal of Bob Major lasting 1 hour 43 mins. (W. H. Fussell 1—2, W. J. Nevard 3—4, W. Keeble (conductor) 5—6, and W. Gofton 7—8), at the residence of Mr. Elliott in Church Street.

INTERESTING KELVEDON HISTORY.

Amongst matters of local interest to readers of 'The Ringing World' may be mentioned: Miles Gray, the famous early 17th century bell founder, who cast Kelvedon's original ring of five (tenor 21 cwt.), in 1608, and Feering, also five, in 1624—300 years ago—and the bells are there to-day full of music.

Felix Hall, a fine mansion and estate, where the boy Keeble began his career as a gardener and seedsman before spending years of his manhood at Leytonstone.

Braxted, the resting-place of William Nevard, grandfather of our Bill, laid to rest in 1872, in his 82nd year.

Coggeshall, a noted six-bell tower, where early Victorian bell ringers met on Saturday, a practice still kept up when the bells were increased to eight. At this church a crowd of 40 to 50 people assembled to hear the first peal of Major rung upon them—5,184 of Kent Treble Bob on 25th June, 1888, conducted by Sillitoe, with Nevard on the tenor. Bets were freely made that one man would never 'do the tenor,' but the peal was well finished, also a beefsteak supper afterwards at the Woolpack. David Elliott was the man who ordered this feed, unknown to the band, and he lies in Kelvedon Churchyard, his headstone, having a carved bell upon it, recording his death on August 7th, 1898, aged 72 years.

The Rev. G. P. Bennett was Vicar of Kelvedon when the church (and bells) was restored in 1877: his son, H. Curtiss Bennett, afterwards K.C., and H. Temperley Hicks, were churchwardens. At the opening of the extended burial ground, Mr. H. C. Bennett remarked, 'Who will be the first to occupy the new churchyard, I wonder?' Readers will remember the sudden end of the late H. Curtiss Bennett—a Metropolitan magistrate, of well-known leniency—who was the very one to be buried there soon after the opening ceremony.

Joseph Elliott, brother of the above David, was a chorister and bell ringer for over 60 years at Kelvedon, and the recipient of a presentation in March, 1903. He died at 77 years of age, and left behind good representatives of the Elliott ringing family, in Wm. Elliott, whose birthday we celebrated, and a grandson.

Charles Elliott, brother of David and Joseph, who died in Australia over 80 years of age, was a very strong man, and a fine ringer in his day. He went to Australia when the gold rush was going on, and made, lost and remade, a small fortune. When living near Bury St. Edmunds, he became possessed of a MS. book, written with a quill pen about 1835-5. Most of the matter consists of extracts from 'Shipway' and 'The Clavis.' From Charles the book was handed to David, and, with a number of letters, it passed on to William's keeping, and here are two extracts, in Charles own handwriting: 'St. Peter's, Norwich, in 1778: 6,240 Ox: T: B. Maximus' (in 5 parts), conducted by Thomas Barton' (with the figures as rung for the first time). A list of peals of bells in the county of Suffolk, roughly 100 years ago: 'Four of ten, 20 of eight, and 55 of six.'

The three brothers frequently corresponded on ringing matters, and the closing of one of Charles' letters to Joseph reads: 'I hope you will write soon and tell me what you think of all I have sent you, and tell me if you will come this summer.—Your affectionate brother, Charles. Good-morning, it is nearly one o'clock.' W. H. F.

ST. MICHAEL COSLANY, NORWICH.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I am very much obliged to Mr. G. P. Burton for his corrections and further information about the peal boards in the belfry of St. Michael Coslany.

My information, as far as the peal boards are concerned, was obtained from old records published in 'Church Bells' fifty years ago. I was fully aware that they were not complete; and, judging from other records obtained from the same source, I thought it possible that some of the names of the ringers might have been wrongly transcribed.

From Mr. Burton's additions and corrections I shall now be able to put my notes on Norfolk bells right as far as St. Michael's is concerned.—Yours truly,
J. R. JERRAM.

CLEOBURY MORTIMER BELLS.

A RESTORATION SCHEME.

Strenuous efforts are being made in the little town of Cleobury Mortimer to raise funds for the restoration of the Parish Church bells. It is estimated that about £400 will be needed, and a recent garden fete resulted in a sum of about £100 being realised.

The church has been standing in its present position for about 750 years, the date of the old tower—a fine example of late Norman times—being somewhere between 1160 and 1195. Recently the bells were inspected, and the report as to their condition was alarming. The bells, six in number, have been in existence since 1757, and in that year they were recast by Rudhall, of Gloucester. The date of their first casting is unknown. The inscriptions are: 1, 'Hark to our melody'; 2, 'Abel Rudhall cast us all'; 3, 'Peace and good neighbourhood'; 4, 'J. Atwood, Vicar'; 5, 'Richard Dorset, Will Oseland, ch. war.'; and 6, 'I to the church the living call, and to the grave do summon all.'

At a recent inspection of the bells, Mr. C. Edwards (Ringing Master to the Hereford Diocesan Guild) reported that the original timbers were all decayed and must be renewed, that the bells had never been quarter-turned since 1757, and that the clappers had worn the bells so much that they were liable to crack at any time. He further reported that some of the timber swayed and endangered the safety of the tower. He suggested that steel girders should take the place of timber, and that there should be a new bell frame, and new fittings to the bells.

CHESTER GUILD RINGERS' TRIP.

On Saturday, August 23rd, a few members of the Chester branch of the Chester Diocesan Guild, viz., Messrs. H. W. Wilde, J. Morgan, W. Thomas, A. E. Richards, G. Jones, and J. W. Clarke, had a most enjoyable ringing tour in the Wirral. Chester was left shortly after nine in the morning in pouring rain, and a few miles along the road the cars had to plough through a foot of water for a considerable distance, to the discomfort of the occupants! However, Neston was reached in due course, and a well-struck 720 of Oxford Treble Bob was brought round on the back six. The tower here has been much improved by raising the ringing floor, which before was on the ground level. Thurstaston was visited next, and 120 each of Stedman, Grandsire and Bob Doubles was rung on the light ring of five. A move was then made to West Kirby, where 720 of Kent was rung on the back six. At Wallasey, touches of Oxford and Kent Spliced and Cambridge Surprise were rung on the heavy ring of six at the church of St. Nicholas.

The next item on the programme was dinner, and then, accompanied by two friends, Liscard was reached, and touches of Bob Major and Stedman Triples were enjoyed. At Bidston, a touch of Double Oxford Minor was rung. Here the 'circle' of ropes is nearly reduced to a straight line, as the ringing chamber is on the ground floor, and the organ is built across the front of it. The beautiful ring of six at Rock Ferry was next visited, and touches of Oxford Bob and Plain Bob brought round, after which a move was made to Port Sunlight. On this fine-toned ring, touches of Oxford and Kent Major and Grandsire Triples were rung, and afterwards tea was partaken of. The final halting place was Capenhurst, where Mr. E. W. Elwell, Guild secretary, joined in the ringing of Cambridge Surprise Minor, Double Bob and Plain Bob. Chester was reached again about 9.30 p.m., after a most happy day. The band are very grateful to the Rectors and tower keepers of the many towers visited for their kind help, and to the friends who 'made up' at various places. This kind of 'outing' was certainly found worthy of repetition.

ARCHDEACON'S HELP.To the Editor.

Sir,—In two of the reports of meetings which appeared in your last issue there were recorded certain actions which must have given gratification to many of your readers, as they did to me.

The first was in connection with the Ely Diocesan Association meeting at Bourn, where, at the suggestion of the Archdeacon of Ely, it was resolved to issue a request to the clergy of the diocese through the agency of the official 'Diocesan Gazette.' Whether this particular request is well-advised or not is of no concern in this letter. What I am glad to see is that the Archdeacon invited the association to reach the clergy through the official diocesan organ, and that the suggestion was accepted. I am convinced that much good work in the cause of bells, ringing, and ringing organisations, could be achieved by the use of this channel of imparting information to the non-ringing clergy, and I would suggest to the officials of all our Guilds and Associations that they should make use of these publications, which are to be found in every diocese.

The second point was the action taken at the Suffolk Guild meeting, where Archdeacon Darling, who presided, undertook to bring before the other Archdeacons and the Rural Deans of the Diocese the dangers of 'clocking,' so that they may inquire, in their visitations, to what extent this dangerous practice is in operation, and see that it is stopped. A personal action of this kind will go a great deal further than any number of letters from association secretaries, whom incumbents may look upon as interfering busy-bodies, because it will come with the force of authority of a 'superior officer.' The letter of an association secretary can be dropped into the waste paper basket and ignored; but an Archdeacon cannot be treated in exactly the same way. I look upon this action in Suffolk as one of great importance, and I hope it may not be long before similar steps can be taken in every other diocese in the country.—Yours truly,

Dear Sir,—In your issue of to-day (page 565) there is a statement to the effect that Oatlands Park tower was represented at the Yorktown District meeting of the Winchester Guild held at Yateley on August 23rd last. The Oatlands Park ringers do not belong to the Winchester Guild, neither do they wish themselves, nor the tower, to be represented at any meetings of this Guild.—Yours faithfully,

W. SHEPHERD.

BRIDGEND RINGERS IN GLOUCESTERSHIRE
CHARABANC TRIP OF 180 MILES.

On Wednesday, August 27th, the Bridgend ringers, together with a few friends, journeyed by charabanc to Gloucester, Painswick and Cheltenham. Leaving home at 7.30 a.m., the first stop was at Lydney, where the party were met by Mr. W. J. Davis, who showed them round the church, and then to the ringing chamber, where the bells were up in readiness. There is a much longer draught here than at Bridgend and unfortunately the ringing was not of the best. The party then adjourned to the Ringers' Coffee House, where a pleasant half-hour was spent with a few of the local campanologists. Proceeding to Gloucester, a splendid dinner awaited the visitors at the Gresham Restaurant. Dinner over, the party scattered for a while, some having a look round the venerable Cathedral, the others going to various places of interest. Boarding the charabanc again, Painswick was the next stop, and here Mr. Albert Wright was awaiting them. It was not long before the bells were going up in peal. The ringing here on these famous bells was much enjoyed. Several good touches of Grandsire Triples were successfully brought round on the back eight, and a few rounds rung on the full peal, this being the first time that several of the band had rung on twelve bells. All were delighted with this lovely peal, and had time permitted they would have liked to stay much longer. Bidding adieu to their new friends, Painswick was left a good deal after scheduled time, and, after a lovely drive, Cheltenham was reached about 5.30. After tea at the Criterion Restaurant the party were conducted to the Parish Church by Mr. W. T. Pates. Short touches were the order here, and several were successfully brought round. While ringing was in progress the ladies with the party amused themselves in the town, and indeed it was thought at one time that the town crier would be needed to round them up. However, they all put in an appearance eventually, but were very loath to leave this lovely town. Mr. J. Austin had kindly made arrangements for the party to ring in Gloucester on the return journey, but to the disappointment of all this had to be abandoned, time flying all too quickly, and there being a long journey in front of the party. As it was Bridgend was not reached until the early hours of Thursday morning, the excursionists having covered something like 180 miles. Tired, but happy, everyone was satisfied that this was one of the best outings the Guild has ever had. The band take this opportunity of thanking the various incumbents for the use of the bells, also all those gentlemen who helped to make the outing such a success.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

A handsome peal board of Gothic design has been placed in the belfry of Winchester Cathedral to record the first peal of Stedman Cinques rung on the bells, and the first twelve-bell peal in Hampshire. The peal was rung on Sept. 8th, 1923.

In a footnote to a recent peal at Oswestry, Salop, reference was made to a peal rung there by the Anacreontic Society in 1785. Local researches have failed to bring to light any further information about this society, beyond the one peal, recorded on a board in the tower, as follows: 'March 3rd, 1785, Holt's peal of Grandsire Tripples, containing 5,040 changes, was rung by the Anacreontic Society in 3 hrs. 15 mins.: Owen Owen treble, Wm. Evans 2, J. Williams 3, Jno. Price 4, Robt. Salter 5, B. caller; Thos. Price 6, Baln. Lloyd 7, Jno. Howell tenor.' We are indebted to Mr. W. B. Kynaston for this information.

The attention of readers is drawn to the annual Commemoration Dinner to Jasper Whitfield Snowden and past officers of the Yorkshire Association, which will be held this year, on September 20th, at the Windmill Hotel, Blossom Street, York, when the chair will be taken by the Dean of York (Very Rev. Dr. W. Foxley Norris, D.D.), at 5.45 p.m. prompt.

The York company are sparing no effort to make the dinner a record gathering, and have arranged an excellent programme of handbell ringing and music in the evening, and all who can do so are urged to pay a visit to this venerable old city, with its many charms. Tickets can be had at 5/6 per head, and all applications for same must reach Mr. G. Horner, 16 Clifton Green, York, not later than first post on Tuesday next. A special announcement for visitors staying overnight will be found in the notice columns.

The ringers of Manchester have lost a great friend in Dean McCormick, who was ever willing to encourage the ringers in their work. A great leader of men, and one to whom all looked up, he has left the work of restoring the Cathedral to others. Would it not be timely to suggest that the present ring of ten bells at the Cathedral might be made into twelve in memory of the late Dean?

There was a disappointment in store for the start of the 'Hampshire Week' last Saturday. There was to have been an attempt for Stedman Cinqes at Winchester Cathedral to open the programme, but at the last minute—and too late to communicate with all the ringers, we believe—it had to be abandoned owing to the eleventh having to go into the bell hanger's hands. We hope those who arrived on the scene found consolation at North Steneham.

'Mislaide, in the neighbourhood of Lewes, Sussex, a five-seater motor-car, by well-known American maker. Owner will be glad to hear from the proprietor of the garage where he left it on Saturday night, as the address is unknown to him. Write ———.'

But happily it is not necessary to complete the advertisement, as a long search on Sunday morning led to the discovery of the elusive Elizabeth. Ringers, however, should be more careful where they leave their belongings.

The first peal of Superlative in Wales was rung at Llangollen on September 13th, 1907, conducted by the late Bertram Prewitt.

Charles Middleton, composer of the peal of Cambridge Surprise Major, died on Sept. 14th, 1886.

The first peal by the Society of St. Martin's Youths, Birmingham, the lineal descendant, of which is the present St. Martin's Guild, was rung at St. Philip's, Birmingham, on Monday, Sept. 16th, 1755. This was a peal of Bob Major.

Next Wednesday is the anniversary of the peal of 11,328 London Surprise Major, the then record length, rung at Drayton by the Oxford Diocesan Guild, in 1896.

Among the numerous ringers who have visited Liverpool recently, there is none who has proved more interesting to Liverpool ringers than Mr. Joseph Waghorn, senr. In spite of his advanced age—he is in his 82nd year—he is as 'game' and fit for a peal as many a much younger man.

During his visit to Liverpool he took part in two unsuccessful attempts, each of over one hour's duration, and it was through no fault of his the peals were lost. The ringers hope to try again with him at no distant date.

Incidentally, the primary reason of his visit to Liverpool was to see its new Cathedral. Mr. Waghorn has now the satisfaction and distinction of having seen all the Cathedrals of England. May he live long.

As announced in our last issue, two new trebles to complete a light peal of eight (tenor 9 cwt.), at Bridstow, Herefordshire, will be dedicated by the Bishop of Hereford on Saturday, September 13th. All ringers are welcomed. Bridstow is 1½ miles from Ross. The work is being carried out by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.

METHODS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—If Mr. Keeble will look at my letter again he will see that I did not write 'it is ridiculous to say that Dublin Duplex belongs to Mr. Lindoff,' but that 'to say that anyone is the "author" of that method is, to one who knows anything about the matter, simply ridiculous.' And, further, as sufficient evidence that it was known long before Mr. Lindoff published it, I pointed out that it was printed in 'The Bell News' as far back as 1899. The exact date is October 21st, and Mr. Keeble, or anyone else who has a file of 'The Bell News,' can easily verify this statement.

But it will be much more interesting, if, instead of wrangling about authorship, real or imaginary, I explain what the method really is.

First, I want you to examine a course of Bob Major, preferably by ringing it in the tower.

It is founded, you will see, on the Hunting Course of sixteen changes, in which all the bells plain hunt, and which we call the Plain Principle. In this Hunting Course the Coursing Order of the bells is the same throughout, and is 312468753, etc.

At the lead end, second's place is made, and directly this is done the Coursing Order is 132468751, etc. What has happened is that the Coursing Order of the Working (or Extreme) bells is the same as before, but the Treble has made a step by changing positions with the third.

At the next lead end second's is again made, and now the treble changes positions in coursing order with the fifth.

Write out the coursing orders of the seven leads, and you get

1324687513
5324687153
5324681753
5324618753
5324168753

What has happened is that the Treble has successively changed positions in coursing order with each of the working bells, until by completing the cyclical movement it returns to its original position, and the bells run round.

This cyclical movement of the Treble through the coursing order of the working bells is what we call a 'Constructional Shunt,' and is the foundation law of method construction.

You will see it consists of a definite number of similar steps, each one of which is made by changing positions with the bell coursing next before it. Each step by itself will produce a lead end, which is to the previous lead end as 3527486 is to 2345678.

If instead of making second's place you make seventh's when the treble is behind you get exactly the same results. We call either of these an Extreme Constructional Shunt.

The simplest group of methods will be that constructed by

1. The Extreme with the treble before.
2. The Extreme with the treble behind.
3. The Extreme with the treble before, and also that with the treble behind.

The lead ends of the first two will be 3527486; of the third 3527486, transposed by itself, equals 5738264.

The next Constructional Shunt is made as follows: The bell which is coursing next before the treble makes any one internal place, crosses the treble's path, immediately makes another place and follows up behind the treble.

0 1 3 0
0 3 1 0

The result is exactly the same as with the Extremes. The treble has changed positions in coursing order with the bell next before it. If you make this Shunt once only in a lead the lead end will be 3527486, as with the Extremes.

This kind of Shunt we call a Court Shunt. A Court Shunt can be made at either hand-stroke or back-stroke. The first we call a P. Court Shunt, the second an R. Court Shunt. A P. Court Shunt, will, by itself, as you will find, cause one bell to lie still at lead or behind for four blows, otherwise the effect is exactly the same as the R. Court Shunts or the Extremes. Here is an example of each.

42638175	42638175

75816342
57183824
51738264

On eight bells there are two positions in which you can make an R. Court Shunt with the treble going up, viz., 4th's and 3rd's, and 6th's and 5th's. And three positions in which you can make a P. Court Shunt, viz., 3rd's and 2nd's; 5th's and 4th's, and 7th's and 6th's. But wherever you make any one the effect is always the same. There are also the corresponding positions with the treble going down.

When you have got these facts, you work out all the combinations of the Shunts, and you get the full extent of the methods on this plan.

But that is not all.

On any number of bells from four upwards there are two positions, and two only in which you can make Extremes, but since with a greater number of bells the path of the treble is increased, the number of positions in which you can make Court Shunts is increased also.

With four bells there is one Court Shunt possible, thus:

On five bells there are two positions, on six bells there are three positions; on seven bells four positions, and so on in regular order. Thus you have only got to prepare a formula in the form of a mathematical progression to get the whole of the methods on this plan to infinity. And each of these has four variations.

1. Without Extremes.
2. With Extreme at Treble's lead.
3. With Extreme with Treble behind.
4. With both Extremes.

If you count the number of Shunts in the lead you have got the lead end. Thus, four Court Shunts and two Extremes, is a total of six Shunts, transpose 2345678 by 3527486 six times and you have the lead end.

And now for the method in question. It is constructed by two R. Court Shunts, i.e., 4th's and 3rd; and 6th's and 5th's (this by itself is Double Norwich), and one P. Court Shunt between them.

These three Shunts are with the treble going up, and the corresponding ones are made with the treble going down. You have thus six Shunts in each lead, and the lead end is, therefore, 4263857.

Now, if you add one Extreme that will make seven Shunts in all. But seven Shunts will complete the treble's cyclical path through the coursing order of the working bells, and, therefore, the bells will come round at the lead end. Adding two Extremes will make eight Shunts, and 12345678 transposed by 3527486 eight times equals 3527486, which is the lead end.

Just one word about the name of the method. It has had at least four (if not more), but since it has been rung the name under which it was rung must stand. But with this qualification Mr. Keeble says it was rung as Dublin Duplex. My recollection (which may be at fault) is that it was Dublin Complex. Whether it was one or the other the second word must go. Duplex means either double or nothing at all. If it does mean double then double is the right word and no other. And Complex won't do either. In construction the method is the very reverse of Complex. And though it is not the easiest of methods to ring, 'Complex' would be one of the last words to describe the work. The real name of the method is Dublin Court Bob. To be strictly accurate it should be Double Dublin Court Bob, but the combination of syllables is very awkward to the ear.—Yours truly,

J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

MEMBERSHIP OF GUILDS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—What you and your contributor 'Once a Beginner' say is quite true. I have had the experience of being secretary for Dorset, in the Salisbury Guild, when we had not a change ringing band in the county, and if we had not enrolled as many round ringers as we could, we never should have had such bands. And now I am secretary in a county where there are so many change ringers, that they are quite sufficient to make a Guild, and, to tell the truth, do not see what use it is to have round ringers in the Guild.

In both cases what we have done is to mark those who are change ringers with a star in the list, but to reckon round ringers just as much members as change ringers. Also in the Suffolk Guild, we are now arranging to have a certificate, which will not be a mere certificate of membership, but a certificate of proficiency, and will be available to mark different stages in a ringer's career, and will be something always to look forward to.

It seems strange that there should be any opposition to round ringers being members, when they bring in both numbers and income, but there is a fear that they may become so numerous as to outnumber change ringers, and cause the Guild to be run for their own benefit. This is never likely to take place. Round ringers are not so keen as a rule as to be very willing to join the Guild at all. They will always be few in number; and if by some change of character they were to join in large numbers, the change ringers would always be the most intelligent and active members, and be those who would keep affairs in their own hands.

Again, if round ringers are not to be members, how are such bands ever to become change ringers? Apparently only by the accident of a change ringer happening to go and live in such a place. That means centuries before one can get a chance of making them all change ringers. But if one has them already as members, it will not be many years before there is change ringing in every tower.

THE CASE OF THE M.C.A.

Dear Sir,—Kindly allow me a small space to refer to your leader, 'Guild Membership.' I quite approve of what was said, but you mention the 'Midland Counties Association,' amongst others. I wish to say it is quite easy for any 'ringer' to become a member of this association. If you turn to the rules of the association you will find that anyone may be proposed a member, if able to ring the treble or tenor bell to 120 changes on tower bells. Now, is it not an easy matter for a man who can ring 'rounds' (and strike it) to be able to ring the tenor to 120 changes with a few minutes' practice?—Yours,

C. H. WEBB.

Vice-President M.C.A., Hinckley District.

ANCIENT BELLS AND TOWERS.

CENTRAL COUNCIL AND S.P.A.B.'s REPORT CIRCULATED.

According to a recent issue of 'The Times,' the Central Committee for the Protection of Churches have circulated the memorandum on church bells agreed some two years ago between the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings and the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers.

A letter accompanying the circular covers the ground which has already been dealt with. It emphasises 'most strongly the danger that may accrue to our ancient church towers by the addition of more bells, unless they are hung under skilled advice. Ancient towers were not built to contain the more recent type of heavy bell used for change ringing. The great majority of mediæval bells were not only fewer and lighter than those of a later period, but it is highly doubtful if they were ever swung round as in change ringing. It is only now that we are beginning to see the effect of a large number of additions of heavy ringing bells, improperly hung and of unsuitably designed frames, placed in ancient towers, especially in the 19th century. Those concerned with ringing should bear in mind that, while some ancient towers can stand such additions, there are many which cannot.'

The committee 'suggest that diocesan committees should not advise the granting of faculties for repairs to bells without a definite understanding whether or not tuning according to the Simpson or five-tone method is proposed: that no Simpson tuning should be advised on bells dating from before 1700, and only under special circumstances on bells dating from before 1800.' No opinion is expressed on the desirability of tuning new bells according to the Simpson method, though it is pointed out that technical opinion is by no means agreed as to its merits.

The letter adds that the committee express serious concern at 'information received as to the condition of certain ancient towers in the country which are of priceless artistic and architectural value. It is not without reason that they would urge upon diocesan committees the desirability of inspecting and watching towers and the need of obtaining reports by competent architects in as many cases as possible.'

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

WESTERN DIVISION.

A well-attended meeting of the Western Division was held at Lymminster on Saturday last, when over 30 members and friends were present from the following towers: Angmering, Arundel, Pulborough, Heene, Shoreham, Warnham and West Tarring, and members of the local band. The bells were kept going in the standard methods till 5 o'clock, when the company wended their way to the church rooms, where they were met by the Rev. Tickner Edwards (curate-in-charge), who had kindly provided an excellent tea.

At the business meeting which followed, with the curate presiding, the following new members were elected: Messrs. H. Charman, J. Charman, W. Yates and W. Stanford, of Warnham; H. Thorpe, West Tarring; T. Wells, C. Wolven, P. Carpenter, Rosie Carpenter, C. Jeffery, and the Rev. Tickner Edwards, of Lymminster; Messrs. H. Russell and R. Welch, Heene; and the whole of the Arundel band.

After a lengthy discussion it was proposed to hold the next meeting at Heene, in November.

A vote of thanks was accorded the Rev. Tickner Edwards for presiding, for granting the use of the bells, and also for providing the excellent tea, and to Mr. Cheal for making the necessary arrangements for the meeting.

The company then proceeded to Arundel by motor-bus and charabanc, and some very good touches of Stedman and Grandsire Triples, Plain Bob and Double Norwich, were rung to conclude a very enjoyable half-day. These bells, which are some of the best in the county, are sadly in need of overhauling, which would make it much easier for the young hand just starting change ringing at this church.

WORCESTERSHIRE AND DISTRICTS ASSOCIATION.

THE ROWLEY REGIS BELL FUND.

On Saturday, August 23rd, the quarterly meeting of the Southern Branch was held at Offenham, when, despite the unsettled weather, there was a good attendance. Service was held in the Parish Church, at which the Vicar (the Rev. G. H. B. Greening) officiated, and gave an original and inspiring address. A collection taken on behalf of the Rowley Regis Bell Restoration Fund realised 11s. 6d.

Tea, provided through the generosity of the Vicar, was partaken of in the Schools, and he presided at the business meeting which followed. Several new members were elected, and it was decided to hold the next meeting at Bretforton.

Owing to the condition and indifferent 'go' of the Offenham bells, it was decided to attempt the quarterly peal at Bretforton, with Mr. J. Hall as conductor.

As for several meetings, the branch committee have taken upon themselves to arrange for a collection on behalf of the Rowley Regis Bell Restoration Fund, it was thought that the wish of the members should now be ascertained, and, after discussion, it was unanimously decided to continue the collections until such time as the members saw fit to reopen the subject, or, alternately, while no local towers were in need of financial assistance.

On the proposition of Mr. C. A. Binyon, a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar and all who had assisted in making the meeting such a success.—This was carried with applause, the Vicar briefly replying.

Although the bells are badly in need of attention from a bell hanger, they were utilised throughout the afternoon and evening, methods up to Treble Bob and Double Oxford being rung.

FAIRFORD RINGERS VISIT OXFORDSHIRE TOWERS.

On Saturday, Sept. 6th, the ringers of St. Mary's, Fairford, Glos., with Mr. W. C. Cuss and Mr. W. Cook, had their annual outing, and made an excursion by car through Oxfordshire. Clonfield was the first stop, where they were met by the Rev. William Brvant, the Vicar, who gave them a hearty welcome. A quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples, taken from J. J. Parker's twelve-part, was scored in 45 mins. Going on to Witney they were met by Mr. J. Monk, and other local ringers, and another quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung. Then the band left for Charlbury, where Mr. J. Keyte (foreman) had kindly arranged dinner at the Royal Oak Temperance Hotel afterwards on this peal of six, touches of Old Doubles, Canterbury, Grandsire and St. Dunstan's Doubles were tapped off. At Chipping Norton the party was welcomed by several of the ringers, and on a beautiful ring of eight another quarter-peal of Triples was scored. Mr. A. S. Newman (foreman) had kindly arranged tea at the Restaurant, after which the visitors proceeded to Shinton-under-Wychwood, where they were met by the Vicar (the Rev. E. C. Freeman) and several ringers who gave them a hearty welcome. Another quarter-peal of Triples was attempted, but failed through a shift. Taking car again, Burford was soon reached, and another quarter-peal of Triples scored, this being the last ringing of the day. This was the first quarter-peal for most of the ringers with the bells going the reverse way. Home was reached by 10.45, after a most enjoyable day. Through the medium of 'The Ringing World,' the visitors desire to convey their best thanks to all who helped to make the day such a success.

DUBLIN COMPLEX MAJOR.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—There appears to be a mistaken idea with regard to the method published on the 8th ult. It is not Dublin Complex, nor does it belong to me. It was first published by the Rev. E. B. James. I am sorry I did not see this sooner, but, being away on holidays, had not noticed it.—Yours faithfully,

G. LINDOFF.

Sir,—I do not wish to appear as a correspondent, but the figures of the Major, Royal and Maximus of Dublin Complex appeared in 'The Bell Ringer' issue for May 1st, 1907, together with a good composition in each instance under G. Lindoff's name. It was published with a 4th's place bob.—Yours,

A. H. WINCH.

LASSITUDE ET LASSITUDISSIMUS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Your 'Belfry Gossip' contains an inquiry re tired ringers. Now, there are varying degrees of tiredness among ringers. Shall we deal with a few of them? First, there is the ringer who is so tired that he wants his peals left at his door with the milk and the morning paper. Just send him along for a course of my special Kruschen Salts, and a peal or two with Uncle. I always put a chair alongside of 'em to keep 'em from falling out of bed when in slow, and I tell 'em not to bother looking at the clock, I will call 'em when it is time to go home, and if they show signs of dozing off too soundly I (just casually, of course) inquire for what time they would like the alarm set to go off!

Then there is the ringer who is so tired that he swears his own local Guild is no use, and suggests forming a new one. Well, sir, just tell them that good ringers make good Guilds; a good Guild is spoilt by men who are too idle to work their Guild up to the top of the tree. Men, real men I mean, make Guilds what they should be; lazy men make some Guilds what they unfortunately are. Lazy men who won't go to meetings; and, if they do go, are too lazy to interest themselves in Guild welfare; are responsible for the election of Ringing Masters, committeemen, etc., who have got no ability to Command or Organise (capitals, please, sir).

Let us not forget that in ringing, as in all else, as soon as Jack is as good as his master, the master must get a move on to keep his mastership. If he doesn't, he must be removed or the canker sets in. Personality, ability to command, born leadership, is the sure and only cure for lazy ringers. If you don't possess these—abdicate in favour of those who do.—Yours very sincerely,

CHANTICLER.

THE BELLS OF BOURN.

Previous to the present restoration at Bourn, Cambridgeshire, the peal was one of six bells, recast at St. Neots by Robert Taylor in 1807, the 5th of the six being recast by John Taylor and Co. in 1882. The whole peal has been hung in a new cast-iron framework on steel supporting girders, with Messrs. Taylor's latest type of fittings. The weight of the tenor is 14½ cwt., note F.

TANFIELD RINGERS' OUTING.

On Saturday, August 9th, the members of the Tanfield Branch of the Durham and Newcastle Association held their annual outing, the venue being Barnard Castle. Leaving the church at 9 a.m., the party wended their way through some beautiful scenery, and the first halt was made at Staindrop, where there is a nice toned peal of six, but the bells are sadly in need of rehanging. Nevertheless the visitors enjoyed their stay. They went on to 'Barney,' where a meeting was being held, and some good ringing was enjoyed at the fine old church. After spending a good day the party left 'Barney' at 9 p.m., and all went well till within 14 miles from home, when the bus got a puncture, so that the destination was not reached until the early hours of the morning, everyone declaring they had never spent a better day.

A RINGER'S THANKS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I have just spent two very pleasant weeks in Liverpool, and as I was prevented from attending the last meeting that was arranged to meet some ringing friends from Manchester, I wish, through this medium, to thank most sincerely Mr. G. R. Newton and all his ringing friends in Liverpool for their great kindness to me in taking so much trouble to arrange for peals and ringing at so many towers in and around the city, as I know from personal experience these things cannot be arranged without a great deal of trouble and personal inconvenience. I appreciate them at their true value, and hope we may all be spared to meet again on some future occasion.

BACK TO THE BELFRY.

This week marks the close of 'summer time,' and with the putting back of the clock there will be a material shortening of the evening period of daylight, and consequently a limitation of the opportunities of outdoor recreation. During summer many towers suspend their practices, on account of the claims which outdoor pursuits make upon members of the belfry, but this change over from 'summer' to normal time should, in all such instances, witness an immediate resumption of work in the belfry. This is the best period at which to enlist new blood; for with a full winter ahead there is more than time to teach a beginner to handle a bell; there is space enough in which to make a method ringer of him, before the summer pastimes once more call him away from the tower and loosen his interest. Any time, it may be argued, is a good time to get hold of a promising recruit for ringing. That is true, but there are times which are better than others, and these days of early autumn and the first of the dark evenings are certainly the best. Therefore we would counsel those who have bands which are weak in numbers to start right away to recruit their strength from the best material they can obtain, out of the congregation and the choir.

It is, however, not merely with beginners, that the present offers the brightest opportunities. There are bands who will be starting afresh, after the summer's suspension, and others who, by putting their hearts into it anew, could make substantial progress before the winter ends. In these respects there is great scope for our ringing associations to give help, if only they would really set about the task. It is true that many ringers lack enterprise, and it is often said that these deserve to get on only so far as they help themselves. But we do not look at it quite in this light. There are, of course, some who are not only helpless, but hopeless; and it is of no use to waste time in endeavouring to rouse in them enthusiasm for ringing. There are, however, many others who, with the least encouragement, would well repay any effort made to help them, and we should like to see far more extensive efforts made to assist struggling bands.

Why should instruction cease when a band reaches the Grandsire Doubles or Bob Minor stage—as it often does where instructors are sent out? Why should not such ringers be coached by a competent man until they have got a grasp of the more complicated methods? A teacher of music does not leave his pupil to get on alone when he can play his first simple air; and why should ringing instruction stop when a band has learned hardly the rudiments of ringing? The practice is really absurd when you come to think of it. What our associations ought to do is to formulate much more extensive schemes of instruction than any of them at present put into operation, and they might also do a great deal more in the way of organising regular interchange of visits between the ringers of neighbouring towers, which should take place not once or twice in a year, but more or less every week. If such a scheme should be asking too much of the district secretaries there ought to be little difficulty in putting this special work in the hands of a capable man in each centre, and the more centres there are, within limits, the better. Much progress might be made by this means, which would not only benefit the ringers, but react to the advantage of the association.

ST. PETER MANCROFT BELL FRAME.OLD TIMBERS DECAYED.

St. Peter Mancroft Parish Magazine for August contains the following with regard to the bell frame at this famous Norwich Church. The bells, as our readers know, are already in the hands of Messrs. Taylor and Co. for rehangings.

'For some time past it has been known that the condition of the bell frame and bell fittings was far from satisfactory, and several of the larger bells had been going almost too badly to be rung. From time to time small fragments of decayed wood have fallen in the ringing room. The bell frame was showing considerable movement when the bells were being rung, and it was thought that this movement was attributable in part to the condition of the frame itself, and in part to the failure of the main beams which carried the frame.

'On removing the bells it was found that the joints of the bell frame were loose, and, what was worse, that some of the timbers were in too bad a state to allow of their further service.

'The bell frame was accordingly taken to pieces and the under beams, which supported it, were examined. It was found that there were three sets of beams. The upper ones, presumably of 1775, were fairly sound, but the second set of much older beams was in very bad order, and some beams badly rotted. These beams had at some time (probably because the ends had decayed) been wedged up from the bottom set of beams—those which are visible from the church. The result of this was that nearly all the weight of the bells came ultimately on to the lower set of ceiling beams, and of these it was found that several were in very poor condition and the ends much decayed.

'The lower beams, forming the ceiling visible from the church, will not be removed. They will be repaired and made perfectly safe. The bells in future will be carried on new beams of steel, and quite independent of the old oak beams, which will henceforward be relieved of any duty except that of carrying themselves and the wood flooring laid on them.

'The work will need considerable time, but when it is done we shall have the satisfaction of knowing that everything in the tower is sound and in good order, and that the strain of the bells is more evenly distributed on the tower walls, which will henceforward be much less likely to be injured by the ringing of our heavy peal of bells.'

METHOD CONSTRUCTION.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I have no fault to find with Mr. Trollope's letter in your last issue, his explanation of the construction of Double Dublin Court Bob Major is quite correct, but the letter serves to remind me that my challenge to himself and the Rev. E. S. Powell has never been replied to by either gentleman.

I have stated before, and I repeat the statement, that the construction of every method, principles and system, can be proved, and I shall be much obliged to either of the above gentlemen if they will prove the construction of the two following methods by their particular formula.

The first half lead is London Surprise Major, the second half lead is a variation of London Surprise Major obtained by shifting two places only indicated thus —

21354768	21354768
12537486	12537486
21573846	21573846
25178364	25178364
52713846	52318746
52178364	52137864
25713846	25318746
52731486	52381476
57234168	53284167
75321486	35821476
73524168	38524167
37254618	83542617
32745681	85324671
23476518	58236417
24367581	52863471
42637851	25683741

In London Surprise we all know the lead head is 14263857. In the variation here given the lead head is 15738264.

Will either gentleman explain how it happens that with exactly the same number of interior places, and an equal number of bells shifted in each method, the lead head in one is 14263857 produced by six or more constructional shunts, and in the other is 15738264 produced by two or more constructional shunts?

I shall await with interest for their reply.—Yours faithfully,
GEORGE BAKER.

SNOWDON COMMEMORATION PEAL.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—When the 'Snowdon Dinner' was held at Leeds there was some sort of understanding that there ought to be a peal at-tempt by men who had, at some time, taken part in a peal in company with Mr. Jasper W. Snowdon. For a while the proposal appeared to be maturing, as if everything was arranged except the date —

Though we are none of us two years younger, I think such a band could be got together. I need not say that, beside being an interesting peal, it would be a well-deserved tribute to the memory of a very charming man. Now, just let's see what can be done!—Yours truly,
J. McKELL.

OATLANDS TOWER AND WINCHESTER GUILDTo the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In reply to Mr. W. Shepherd's letter in your last issue, I should like to say that Oatlands Park tower was represented at the Yorktown district meeting, held at Yateley, by a young and enthusiastic member of the Guild, who is also a member of the St. Mary's Guild, Oatlands Park. His presence at our meeting represented the tower. If at any time any members of the St. Mary's Guild wish to join in our meetings, and wish to belong to the Winchester Diocesan Guild (Yorktown district), with the view of progressing in the art of change ringing, let them do so, and no obstacle should be put in their way.

I am very glad to state that the ringing in the district is improving, especially among the younger members.—Yours faithfully,

J. B. HESSEY,

Hon. Dis. Sec.

OVER 50 YEARS A RINGER.

The death occurred, on Friday, Sept. 5th, at his residence, Town End, Ormskirk, Lancashire, of Mr. James Sholicar, a veteran ringer of the Parish Church. Mr. Sholicar commenced his ringing career in 1873, and was for many years prominent as an exponent of Grand-sire ringing in South-West Lancashire, both as a composer and conductor.

The funeral took place on Monday, Sept. 8th, at Ormskirk Parish Church. In addition to the family mourners, there were amongst those present Messrs. W. Gibbons, J. Marsh and W. Rimmer, from Christ Church, Anghton; Mr. Edward Caunce, Liverpool; and Messrs. James Pilkington, Alfred Halton, and James R. Park, of the local company. Amongst the many beautiful floral tributes was one from the Ormskirk ringers, and one from his employers and fellow-workmen. During the evening a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (composed by the deceased) was rung with the bells half-muffled as a last tribute of respect to his memory by the following: John Pilkington 1, Ernest Fyles 2, James Pilkington 3, William Pilkington 4, John Gardner 5, James R. Park (conductor) 6, Alfred Halton 7, William Draper 8.

CARDIFF RINGERS' EXCURSION.

The ringers of St. John's Church, Cardiff, held their annual outing on Saturday, August 23rd, when they were accompanied by some of their wives, and by ringing friends from Llandaff, Penarth and Pentre. The party of twenty set out by charabanc via Newport, Usk and Raglan to Monmouth, where it was hoped to have had a pull on the bells, but owing to the steeple being under repair ringing is suspended for the time being. After a short stay the journey was continued to Ross, Herefordshire, where, on arrival, they were met by Mr. John Clark. After dinner, at the Carlton Cafe, a move was made to the tower, and an hour's ringing of Plain Bob, Stedman and Grandsire on this beautiful peal of eight was much enjoyed. An hour was also spent in sight-seeing. The journey was then continued to Ruardean, Glos, Mr. Clark accompanying the party, who were met on arrival by several of the local ringers. The bells, a fine ring of eight, were soon going to Stedman and Grandsire, several touches being brought round. A move to Chepstow was next made, and shortly after leaving Ruardean, Mr. Clark took leave of the party to return to Ross. The drive was continued through the heart of the Forest of Dean, via Parkend, Whitecroft and Lydney, to Chepstow, by which time everyone was ready for tea, after which a visit was made to the tower. The visitors were welcomed by the curate and some of the local ringers, and the bells were soon going to Stedman and Grandsire Triples. The party arrived back at Cardiff at 10.45 p.m., all having thoroughly enjoyed themselves, the drive, views, ringing and catering, each contributing to make the outing a great success. The party wish to take this opportunity of thanking the Vicars of the towers visited for permission to ring; the steeplekeepers for having everything ready, and the excellent 'go' of the bells; and Mr. Clark, Ross, who kindly arranged for the ringing at Ross and Ruardean.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

On Sept. 19th, 1775, a peal was rung on the new peal of ten bells at Grantham. This was a 5,130 Grandsire Caters, and occupied 3 hours 40 minutes. It took thirteen men to ring the peal, ten being from Nottingham and three from Newark. There were two men on the 9th, and three on the tenor, and the peal was called by W. D. Crofts.

Matt. Wood, of Bethnal Green was born on Sept. 22nd, 1826.

The first peal of Double Norwich Caters was rung at St. Stephen's, Bristol, on Sept. 22nd, 1894.

What is believed to have been the first 'peal' of Stedman Doubles was rung at Chesterton on Sept. 25th, 1873.

The bells at Braughing, Herts, were opened with a peal of Triples on Sept. 25th, 1745.

The many friends of Mr. C. D. Heginbotham (chairman of the Devises branch of the Salisbury Guild) will be pleased to know that his second operation for peritonitis was most successful. Mr. Heginbotham is now making excellent progress.

The peal at Clifton, Bristol, was rung with the bells half-muffled in memory of the son of the conductor of the Clifton Society (Mr. R. Clark), who died on September 3rd, and was buried on the 8th. Before his illness, Gilbert, who was 12 years of age, often came to the tower with his father on the practice night.

A correspondent suggests that a Jasper Snowden commemorative peal, by a band who had rung a peal with that great pioneer of change ringing, might be arranged, in connection with the annual dinner.

The proposal was first made two years ago at Leeds but has not yet matured. It is too late, probably, to do anything in this direction in connection with to-morrow's gathering at York, but—well, perhaps next year.

THE 12-BELL WEEK.

Peal ringing weeks are becoming more and more a feature of the summer months, but that which begins next Monday at Leicester is quite a fresh departure, inasmuch as the tour is confined to twelve-bell peals. Birmingham is to be the centre, but it is somewhat of a far cry from Leicester to Cirencester, where the 'week' terminates. The following is the programme:—

Monday, Sept. 22nd: Leicester, 2.30 p.m.

Tuesday, Sept. 23rd: Birmingham, 4.30 p.m.

Wednesday, Sept. 24th: West Bromwich, 3 p.m.

Thursday, Sept. 25th: Wolverhampton, 1 p.m.

Friday, Sept. 26th: Painswick, 12 noon.

Saturday, Sept. 27th: Cirencester, 10.30 a.m.

A social evening has been arranged to take place at St. Martin's Hotel, Birmingham, on Thursday, Sept. 25th.

ST. MARY-LE-TOWER SOCIETY, IPSWICH.

The annual outing of the above Society took place on Saturday last. A party of twenty ringers left by motor coach at 6 a.m. for Thetford. After breakfast several touches were rung on the eight bells at SS. Peter and Andrew's Church. The next call was SS. Andrew and Patrick's, Elvedon, where Lord Iveagh has built a grand tower, with eight highly tuned bells, a short distance from the church. After looking round the well-kept park, etc., the company were en route for Mildenhall, along a road, straight as far as the eye could see, passing a splendid war memorial over 100ft. high. Upon arriving, shifts were formed so that ringing, light refreshments and lunch could be in operation simultaneously. Mine host from the Black Horse, Dry Drayton, now joined the party, and continued till the bitter end(ed). The eight bells at St. Andrew's, Mildenhall, are from several foundries, the tenor being about 17 cwt. The ten bells at St. John the Baptist, Soham, Cambs, were the next objective, and Stedman Caters, Double Norwich Royal, were rung. A tablet here records 5,280 Oxford Treble Bob on November 20th, 1899, by three brothers Tebbit and their sons.

One of the visitors wished to photograph the party, and thought it advisable to do so before dinner to ensure getting them in the camera. After a substantial meal, the next call was made at Newmarket (no tips heard), part of the company ringing on the eight at All Saints, whilst others rang on the six at St. Mary's (tenor 21 cwt.). The latter are a grand peal, and deserve two good trebles to complete the octave.

On the return journey a halt was made at Stowmarket to renew old acquaintances and for handbell ringing, Ipswich being reached at 11 p.m., after a most successful and enjoyable outing. The methods rung were: London and Cambridge Surprise, Double Norwich, Stedman, Treble Bob, Plain Bob, Grandsire, also Double Court Minor.

The society wish to thank the incumbents and steeplekeepers for their co-operation.

THE TOURING SEASON.

BY CRITICUS.

The season of ringing tours is upon us; indeed, this year it seems to have been upon us for quite a long time. I never remember having read of so many organised 'weeks' as there have been this long-drawn-out autumn—or should I have said spring? Summer is certainly not the term to apply, for that is a season of the year no longer vouchsafed to the people of these islands. At least, it comes and goes in a mere flash. Last year, the weather experts tell us, it happened on a Wednesday afternoon, about 4.30; this year we are still waiting for it, and the Press photographers are kept constantly on duty in readiness to snap it when it passes. Certainly those who have been out on ringing 'weeks' have not been on summer tours, but there you have one of the advantages of ringing. You are not dependent on the weather. If the weather is bad it may be unpleasant to get from one tower to another; but, once in a belfry, rain or shine makes no difference to the ringing. There is no need for delays or abandonments because the pitch is waterlogged or frost bound, no postponement for fog or snow. Once at the tower there is nothing to prevent the ringers getting down to the job; and that is where ringing scores over nearly every other pastime. And the public—what of them? They do not have to pay any charge for admission or take out any license to 'listen in'; they get it free, gratis, absolutely for nothing—whether they like it or not.

Of course, we pride ourselves that our art is a purely English one; and as a consequence the public really love it. There are some few individuals who may say they don't, but then they are usually the type of people who are anti-everything. But, on the whole, English people are fond of their bells, especially those who are fortunate enough to live close to the towers, where all the beauties—and other things—of the ringing permeate the air and float around them by the hour, without let or hindrance. Why, therefore, should we ringers concern ourselves about the noisy cacklings of a vocal minority? So let us go merrily on; and broadcast our music from the turrets.

I am afraid, however, I have rambled somewhat from the subject which I intended to write about, namely, ringing tours. Now, there are tours and tours. There is the tour that begins at 2 o'clock, and, taking in two towers, a tea, in which 'the course ends come up in perfect order,' and two (or more) stops to cool and oil the engine, ends about 10 p.m. There is the tour which begins about the time that the milkman calls in the morning, with additional towers, meals and oiling points, and concludes about midnight. There is the tour which extends over the week-end, and includes a peal or two, according to luck, and there is the grand tour, which, under present custom, extends to a week—a week, by the way, that usually includes two Saturdays and as many Sundays. Shortly we shall probably find these super-tours lengthening out to a fortnight, or maybe, a month. Such a departure would not be altogether surprising, because there are some ringers who seem to be able to 'manage' more than one week for this form of holiday. There's I.G.S., for instance. I am not quite sure how many times this year he has run away from Greenwich to gather more laurels for his wreath which now comprises leaves enough to make an imposing bush, let alone a crown for his brow. It's nearly fourteen hundred now, isn't it? You go so fast that I seem to have lost count. Then there is the historian of the Exercise, to whom time seems of little moment when ringing tours are to be had, and one or two others, including the Company Sergt.-Major, R.M., who seem able to fit themselves into any old arrangement which will shape itself into a ringing expedition.

Usually we find that these peal ringing excursions, though covering a lot of towers, are confined to a comparatively small area—perhaps half a county, but one is now about to take place, if it is not already in progress when these notes appear, in which nearly half the country is to be covered. The 'twelve bell week' is a big order, for you cannot find enough twelve bell rings in any one centre to give you a full week's ringing—unless you go to London, where there are certain obstacles in the way of any one society 'getting in.' No, this twelve-bell week must almost of necessity be spread over a wider field, and it departs considerably from the conditions under which most tours are carried out. Perhaps it is the precursor of 'tours de luxe,' arranged by Thomas Cook. Will the time come when we shall see an advertisement in 'The Ringing World' something on these lines: 'Grand Ringing Tours, by luxuriously equipped motor coaches; first-class hotels; all the best bells; peals personally conducted and guaranteed. Inclusive fees, including tips and steeples—' What a fine opportunity this would present! If Cook's cannot take it on, someone else might. Think it over, Mr. Fussell. There is plenty of time to get going by next year.

Mention of that great little man of Greenwich, who not long since gave up work to go in for ringing, leads me to say that to me he has always been somewhat of a marvel. He hasn't altered a lot since I first met him, something like thirty years ago. His hair may be a little thinner, as it is a little whiter, but his energy is as great as ever. He is not a 'hefty' chap, but he must be all wire. I don't know if anyone knows quite how old he is—he may be a hundred for all I can tell you—and I don't suppose even he could say exactly how many peals he has rung—without consulting his secretary. I believe this official has had to work overtime this year in his endeavour to keep the record going, and even he may not be quite up to the minute. There isn't a lot of limelight about the doings of this little man either—the ringer, I refer to, not the secretary. In fact, all his actions are carried on in the Shade, and if his name appears a good deal in print it is because a peal record would not be complete with only seven names. With him, the peal's the thing, and I believe he would go to the North Pole—or the other place—if there was half a chance of ringing one there.

Then there's that other young fellow, who is now well in the running for a four-figure total. When a man is past 70, and has still a couple of hundred peals to ring to get up to this record, one would not, in the ordinary way, give much for his chances. But George, of England—not King, or Saint or Lloyd—but just plain James—has wonderful possibilities. We are told he gets younger every day, and it seems to me the only fear is that he may get back to the boyhood stage, and then into the cradle again, which would put him out of the running for some of his customary big jobs. But if he can only keep in trousers, instead of getting into swaddling clothes, all records will go by the board before he is finished—if he keeps going long enough. His record is an extraordinary one, not so much for the number of peals he has rung, but for the 'jobs' he has done. There is one little matter, however, in which I would suggest he might save himself some trouble, and you, Mr. Editor, some space. When next that list appears, there is no need to tell us all the associations the Birmingham Wonder belongs to; it would be much easier and quicker to give us a list of those which he hasn't joined. Also, Mr. George must have had wide experience among ringers all over the country. Could he not add interest to the record of his peals by telling us something about the men he has rung with? His opinions of some of these would be well worth reading. It was this latter point which prompted a friend of mine (no, I will not tell you the perpetrator of the deed) to pen the following lines, which he passed on to me with the hope that I would 'use my influence with the Editor,' etc.:

We all have heard the story of a man of great renown,
Who, though he's now past seventy, rings the biggest bells in town.
He travels o'er the country, to north, south, east and west,
And where'er there is a giant's task you see him at his best.
To look upon his record makes me feel with envy green,
For 'gainst his wondrous list of peals my own looks very 'lean.'
They say that down the ages like Methuselah he'll roam,
And hopes that for a thousand years he'll hear the peals roll home.

But if for every hundred we're to have the tale retold,
When he reaches his obituary 'twill then be rather old.
As none of us can manage to ring peals upon our own,
May I suggest we have a change of dressing for this bone,
And when we read the record, which appears just now and then,
We may know some of the story of those other useful men,
Who have helped to make the picture which is painted for our view —

Who have to ring the other bells; the men like me and you.

My only comment on the above is that the author (or should it be 'composer'?) need not have dragged me into it as a sort of afterthought, or an 'also ran.' I don't in the least mind coming in last, but, having written publicly about Mr. James George I shiver to think what Mr. James George might say if he expressed his personal and private opinion of

SWANSEA AND BRECON GUILD.

The Southern branch of the Swansea and Brecon Guild held its first quarterly meeting at Gorseinon on Saturday, Sept. 6th, when a very enjoyable afternoon and evening was spent. The bells, a nice ring of eight, were kept going from 3.30 p.m. to 5 o'clock, when the Vicar (the Rev. Thomas) conducted a short service in St. Catherine's Church. After service the ringers were entertained to an excellent tea, provided by the Vicar, who cordially welcomed the ringers, and said he was especially pleased to see such a good muster.

The Rev. J. R. Thomas, Vicar of Llanstephan, Carmarthen, also addressed the ringers, giving them a hearty invitation to visit Llanstephan in the future.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar for so kindly giving the use of the bells and entertaining the ringers to tea; also to the ladies who had assisted at the tables.

The towers represented were Gorseinon, Morriston, Neath, Cadoxton, and Aberavon and Llanstephan. The ringers of Llanstephan were admitted to the Guild en bloc. There were also two hon. members and two ringing members elected.

It was decided to hold the next quarterly meeting at Neath.

The ringers afterwards visited the tower again, and the bells were kept going to Bob Doubles Bob Major, Stedman and Grandsire Triples till well after 8 o'clock.

OLD PEAL BOARDS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I read with interest the contribution by Mr. G. P. Burton in your recent issue re the Peal Boards at Coslany, and agree with him that it is a matter for regret that these things should 'require' attention. We can't do too much to preserve to posterity such priceless relics which, in many cases, have been the only means we have had of piecing history together. I have long been of the opinion that all these ancient boards should be a standing charge on the belfry repairs fund of the association, in whose area they exist. Were a small grant made perhaps the church would do the rest. Re the board stowed in the crypt at Coventry, the note on the board is all too significant in that case anyhow.—Yours faithfully,
ONCE A BEGINNER.

TAUNTON RINGERS' OUTING.

On Saturday, Sept. 6th, St. Mary's Guild, Taunton, had a tour in Devon. They went first to Ottery St. Mary, via Blagdon Hill and Honiton. The very nice ring of eight bells was soon set going to Stedman Triples and Bob Major, and some well-struck touches were soon brought round. Having had a look round this very fine old parish church, tracks were made across country to Bradninch, where another good peal of eight bells was found. Stedman Triples were also rung here, and the Vicar congratulated the band on their excellent striking. They next visited Cullompton, with its fine ring of ten bells, and here Stedman Cateters were rung, some good touches were brought round, and the bells lowered in peal. After tea, at Paul's Restaurant, a move was made to Tiverton, where there is one of the best peals in Devon, quite new, and tuned on the five-tone principle by Messrs. Taylor and Co. Some very good Stedman Triples and Bob Major were brought round, with some of the local men standing in. The homeward journey was completed about 10.30 p.m., after a thoroughly enjoyable day's outing. The ringers wish to thank all the Vicars and those who so kindly met them at the various towers.

YOUNG BAND'S PROGRESS.

The ringers of Sutton-on-Trent, who includes two ladies, have been working very assiduously under the tuition of Mr. J. Semper, of Ossington, since last February, to ring their first 720 changes on the new bells, and succeeded in doing so on Wednesday, Sept. 10th: N. Moxon 1, L. Pierrpoint 2, Miss Grace Burchall 3, Miss Kate Burchall 4, H. Haigh (Worksop) 5, J. Semper (conductor) 6.

Great credit is due to all the band. The ladies have not missed a practice, and their punctuality is worthy of emulation by all beginners.

WEDDING BELLS.

On Saturday, August 30th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) was rung in 45 minutes, at Paignton Parish Church: F. Allwood 1, S. W. Ward 2, A. L. Bennett 3, T. S. Collings 4, J. S. Collings 5, F. T. Gover 6, W. B. Cartwright (conductor) 7, H. J. Hole 8, to celebrate a wedding. Ringers of 3rd and 7th hail from Buckfastleigh and Birmingham, respectively. Arrangements had been made for a peal, but one of the band failed to turn up, and under the circumstances only a quarter could be attempted.

The wedding took place at Whittle-le-Woods, Lancs, on Saturday, Sept. 6th, of Mr. Adam Blogg, one of the ringers at St. John's Church, the bride being Miss Beatrice Cooper. In honour of the event, a touch of 1,008 Stedman Triples: E. B. Coxhead 1, F. Blackledge 2, W. Sharples 3, J. H. Gartside 4, A. Hartley 5, C. Salisbury 6, W. Lancaster (conductor) 7, Alfred Blogg 8.

At the Parish Church, Swindon, Wilts, on Thursday, Sept. 11th, on the occasion of the wedding of Miss Norah Christine Skurray, daughter of Mr. E. C. Skurray, J.P., M.B.E., and of Mrs. Skurray, of West Lodge, Swindon, and Mr. Joseph L. McElhew, Victoria Road, Swindon, son of the late Mr. J. SPLICED CAMBRIDGE AND SUPERLATIVE.

By A. J. PITMAN.

Seeing that there is such a dearth of peals of Cambridge Surprise Major with tenors together, I have composed the enclosed peals, in which the ringing is chiefly Cambridge, and they should provide further scope for those able to ring both methods. They will be found to consist of 37 and 40 courses, respectively.

The figures to the right of the course-ends indicate the leads of those courses which must be rung Superlative. All the other leads to be rung Cambridge.

Thus the 5024 has 27, and the 5408 27 leads, which are to be rung as Superlative. There is no change of method at a bob. These compositions and the 5056 previously published are the first in Cambridge and Superlative Major to contain more than thirty courses.

SURPRISE METHODS.To the Editor.

Dear Sir, — Re the Surprise Method published in 'The Ringing World' by Mr. J. S. Pritchett, who asks if anyone else had discovered it, I may say that I have had the method for some years, but certainly not 30, neither can I say if it has been previously published. I herewith give another of the same group; this may possibly have been published before.—Yours faithfully,

E. A. RIDGWAY.

RINGING COMPETITIONS.

'Prize ringing' has to a very considerable degree gone the way of most of the things supposed to be characteristic of the belfry in 'the bad old days.' There are very few instances of a survival of this phase of ringing, although we are not certain that it can be said that it is absolutely extinct. With the rise of the Associations, which have as one of their principal objects, 'belfry reform,' an influence was exerted which has almost, if not entirely, got rid of the old practice, with the abuses which accompanied it, and the Exercise has been all the better for it.

That, however, does not by any means exclude consideration of the proposal put forward by a correspondent this week, that ringing contests should be revived. We are not quite sure that 'revived' is the correct term, for in the North of England there are already in existence in one or two societies periodical competitions, in which it is considered an honour to win the trophy offered for the best ringing performance of the day. These contests take place in church towers, with the full consent of the incumbents, and in their conduct there appears nothing to which exception can be taken. The object of these competitions is to improve the quality of the striking among the bands belonging to the association, and it must be admitted that nothing conduces to perfection so much as friendly rivalry in an effort to excel. As our correspondent points out, there are competitions for choirs, and a competition for ringers, properly conducted, can be no more harmful.

In our view, everything would depend upon the spirit in which such a competition was run. If it were organised and carried out purely as an incentive to ringers to improve in their ringing, and to test their skill by comparison with others, little exception could be taken to a much wider adoption of these contests. It may seem a heresy to put forward such a view, but if rivalry is encouraged in peal ringing among associations by the allocation of points for these performances, there is not much to be said against offering a reward to the band which, on a given date, can ring the best-struck touch. At any rate, the views put forward by our correspondent are worth consideration, and need not be hastily rejected because in past days the association of 'prize' ringing with the churches led to proceedings which were by no means creditable. We can see very little that would be objectionable, for instance, in a dozen bands, each ringing a touch in a highly commendable style and the awarding of a medal to each of the company adjudged to have accomplished the best performance. On the other hand, it is quite certain that the practice that would necessarily take place before either team competed would permanently improve the quality of the ringing in every one of those twelve towers. And if that could be done—as it could be—without introducing any of the vices which we are told accompanied the old prize ringing events, the Exercise would gain by it and the Church and the public would benefit by the higher standard of ringing which would be attained.

HIGH WYCOMBE RINGERS' TRIP.

On Saturday, Sept. 13th, members of the High Wycombe belfry spent a very pleasant afternoon and evening, on the occasion of their annual outing. The party left by the mid-day train, the first tower to be visited being Shiplake. After leaving the station, a walk of about a mile through typical rural scenery brought them to the church, and the bells were soon on the move, some good touches being enjoyed. After about an hour, steps were turned towards the station, with the intention of training to Henley, but a charabanc appearing on the road it was at once 'commandeered,' and once aboard, the party were so comfortable that there was no 'slight course' till the famous town of Henley was reached. On arrival here, the first item was 'a rattling good ten' at Mr. Hawker's restaurant, the meal being well served, and much enjoyed. At the church all was in readiness for ringing, and some of the local men, as well as the visitors, kept the bells on the go for pretty well a couple of hours. 'By the 6.45 for Wargrave' was the concluding item, and this renowned tower and church held the attention of the party till half-past eight, when with 'pipes in full blast, and cigarettes aglow,' they sauntered to the quiet little station to catch the 8.45 for home, which was reached in good time, after an enjoyable and interesting outing. The ringers wish to tender their sincere thanks to the Vicars and foremen of the towers for their kindness.

THE ELY 'RESOLUTION.'

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—As one of the members of the Ely Diocesan Association who was present at the Bourn meeting, I feel a few words are necessary in reply to your unjust criticism in your 'leader' of the 12th, also to the letter of 'Once a Beginner' for trying to label certain members of the Ely Association 'Dogs in the manger.' The resolution requesting bands of visiting ringers to credit peals they ring to the Ely Association was intended as a friendly hint to such bands that such an association as the Ely does exist. To refuse outside bands the use of towers, under the area of the 'Ely,' never entered the minds of one of those present; also I am quite sure no such feeling exists amongst the whole of its members. I do not pay much regard to anyone who writes and finishes a letter without his or her name. 'Once a Beginner,' however, begins by criticising our resolution. Then goes on to ask other Guilds to do the very thing he criticises us for. We are quite intelligent enough to know that after all it is the incumbents who are in sole command.—Yours faithfully,

E. G. HIBBINS.

[It is quite easy for our correspondent to say our criticism is 'unjust.' Will he point out, however, wherein it is unjust in view of the report of the meeting as supplied to us? The resolution to be conveyed to incumbents requested that they should inform visiting ringers that the peal to be attempted 'should be rung for the Ely Diocesan Association.' That is a form of command, and our article, while expressly indicating our view that the Ely Association had no desire to put obstacles in the way of visiting ringers, merely pointed out the practical difficulties of carrying out the resolution—difficulties which, we venture now to say, were not fully realised by all those who voted for the motion. If, as our correspondent states, the resolution was intended merely as a friendly hint, then it was rather unfortunately framed, and unless this qualification of the terms is conveyed to the incumbents, through whose agency it is hoped to make the resolution effective, it is quite certain that in some cases the interpretation will be different to that which, according to Mr. Hibbins, was intended by the meeting. Therefore, rather than regretting what we said, we think we may emphasise the point which we made that 'the Association will find it desirable to review this resolution.'—Ed. 'R.W.')

VALUELESS PEAL POINTS?

Sir,—The Ely Association's resolution at Bourn, concerning peals rung in their area, leads me again to wonder what minute value, if any, can be assigned to the points given for peals in the annual peal analysis.

It seems reasonable to assume that the points were meant to be an index to the standard of ringing in the area occupied by each association; yet it is possible for a band of ringers on tour from all parts of the country to ring many Surprise peals for the association in whose area they are touring, thereby scoring many points for that association, although they may be in no way actively connected with that association beyond having paid a life subscription. Thus the points cannot give anything but a false idea of the standard of ringing in that area.

The Ely Association's idea may be that its peal book shall be a record of all peals rung in its area. Excellent, but still the peal points will give an erroneous idea of the efficiency of the resident members of the Ely Association.

The resolution seems to show that there is dissatisfaction with the present state of affairs, and surely the first thing to do is to abolish the peal points—they are as obsolete as the beltry beer jug. Then, perhaps, it would be possible for each association to keep a record of all peals rung in its area, but only to take credit for peals rung by bands whose members are all either resident in, or natives of, the district covered by that association.

'MEDICUS VECTENSIS.'

THE HAMPSHIRE WEEK.

'Ye hand for worke, ye heade for wytte,
'Ye hearts for worshippes part.'

This county ringing holiday was a sort of 'go-as-you-please' this year, and those who held a rope when 'go' was called were more pleased than those who did not. Twelve peals were arranged, half of which were successfully 'rounded,' the other half going 'West'—Southampton West. Mr. George Pullinger, who has more 'pull' in one arm than most people have with two, kindly obtained the necessary permission and help of the respective clergymen and steeple-keepers for the use of the towers and bells on behalf of the visitors, who greatly appreciated, and desire me to express their gratitude and thanks for the favours bestowed. There being no hitch to mar the daily task, no tale of woe can be related, and a happy, comfortable holiday was enjoyed by all, with headquarters at Swaythling the whole of the time. Several men were old 'campaigners,' and the activities of the late Rev. F. E. Robinson and the Oxford lad he 'brought out' (J. W. Washbrook), were gone over again, in our conversations, with the same zest as ever. Some arrived a day late, and others left a day or so before the week's close, but, by carefully revising the daily roll call we managed to find a 'spare part' at each tower visited, which raised the question of 'standing out.'

The unfortunate bell hanger who came to rehang Winchester Cathedral 11th bell was 'blessed,' as his coming meant hasty postponement of Stedman Cinques, planned to start this tour on Saturday, Sept. 6th. However, we spliced Superlative Major into the gap at North Stoneham, and discussed future attempts at 'The Fleming Arms' before going to our additional billets at 'The Mason's Arms' and 'Kennard's,' because one house could not manage us all.

Sunday morning, a 'gathering of the Clans' at North Stoneham Church, with introductions to the local band, enabled several methods to be performed for the morning service, and a vacant pew in the nave to be filled by ringing visitors. Southampton was visited after dinner by tram car, and touches rung for the children's service at 3 o'clock, and again for evensong at St. Mary's. We were discovered on the pier by flower sellers, and enjoyed a pier concert in the afternoon, thus patronising the local collecting fund for the hospital. One piece of band music employed a set of tubular bells, with good effect, and another brought in the Westminster chimes—euphonium solo—and one gentleman in the audience, a stranger, much interested in our 'jollity,' courteously mentioned, prophet-like, the name of the coming winner of the St. Ledger on Wednesday—'Salmon Trout.' On the day of the race we had boiled cod-fish for lunch, and our host's daughter, by drawing 'S.T.' won the 'sweepstake,' which a dozen of our party made up.

A motor-bus was hired for Monday to drive us to Sherfield English and East Tytherley, a picturesque drive through Hampshire forest country. Both peals of eight are by Taylor, of Loughborough, with good tuning and banging, and the loss of the peal attempt at the former tower was due to war's ravages upon the constitution of one of our men. It was the first 'attempt' on the bells—all other peals hitherto at Sherfield having proved successful. How the landlady of the village inn, 'The Axe,' was disturbed in her needlework by the request for a 'dinner for twelve' in an hour or so should be noted. She placed boiled ham and greens—a Berkshire dish—upon the table in prompt time, and we found that her husband lived near Twyford for years in connection with the Garth Hunt. How the ghost of Richard Gifford—1598—paraded the nave during a musical touch of Major at Tytherley, wearing the original helmet and visor, created wonder for the ringer concerned. Our way homeward was broken at Lockerley (six bells), with two old bells preserved in the porch, and again at Dunsbury for tea and handbells, before Romsey and Swaythling were reached.

The two days following were peal-less, but full of interest, Hursley and Stoneham on Tuesday, and Southampton on Wednesday. Men not ringing in the attempt for Stedman at St. Mary's obtained permission to see over the mighty liner 'Mauretania' lying at the Docks, by careful use of a silver-lined cigarette card. This day we were augmented by the arrival of Messrs. Pulling, Scott and Upton, which just about compensated us for the loss of our portly shepherd.

On Thursday the bus proprietor failed us, his 'wire' coming after the birds had flown. Three motor-cycles and two sidecars were brought out by the owners, and, fully loaded with eight men for Diben, the remainder took tram and steamboat across the estuary to Hythe pier, and walked to the church, leaving a weighty legacy in the cars to let the pealmen know of their visit. We all dined at 'The Fleming,' at two o'clock, on leg o' mutton served 'à la Gifford.' Bishopstoke in the afternoon was reached via Eastleigh, by train and walk, and we had tea with Mr. Nevard on the way back, and gave Keith Hart a welcome. All were attracted to the Fleming later on to ring handbells and gossip till eleven o'clock. Regarding the latter, our Birmingham hero amused the company by revelations of his trivings through the crowded streets of the city, where he is well known to the police.

By previous ordering we were granted cheap travelling tickets as a picnic party on Friday to and from Christchurch. There being just a dozen of us for the Royal at the Priory, two went on to Bournemouth to look round, and rejoined us later. One of our number—like one of the twelve apostles—failed his comrades, preferring to use his 'director's pass' to taking a share in the picnic. At the finish of the Treble Ten we were informed of the vain attempts of an infuriated resident, newly come to the town, to break into the belfry, and it seemed at one time as if the Ringing Master of the Guild would be 'pitched into' by him. Time did not permit of any physical argument, with our dinner waiting for an hour, and the car for Ringwood ready for us. We said good-bye to George Preston, and hoped the Church Council would pay the court fines—and if the case was too serious—he wouldn't get more than 14 days' hard. Here we sent off flying to the station Messrs. Parkes, Shade and 'Birmingham,' whose peal 'calls' in London and Quex Park had to be met on the morrow, according to promise.

At Ringwood a good peal of Major was rung, without spare time for sight-seeing, or even a call for refreshments. The local band congratulated us, and mentioned that the organist had been trying to get into the belfry to us, with a view to our 'stopping' whilst the three or four choir-boys had a practice. As the door was locked, we had, instead, half an hour's organ recital below the ringing-room, which is in a central tower, but this was like water on a duck's back to our band.

The winding road amidst creeks and waterways between Ringwood and Christchurch would not suit an amateur motor driver, and so we did not make the journey so quickly in the rain and darkness as it was hoped. When alighting at the entrance door of the station the Swaythling train pulled in to the platform, and we hastily changed our seats, reaching headquarters with 1½ hours to the good, or, like the handbells, 'in hand.' Would the end of the week furnish two doubles in the last two days? If 'yes,' then amends would be made for the 48 hours and four failures.

Saturday, our final day, was bright and summerlike. The ride by road through Botley was enjoyed, our fleet of sidecars again conveying the party to the church—Curdrige this time—where Stedman was accomplished. The only peals scored in this tower hitherto (15) have all been conducted by Mr. G. Williams. Even the bells seem to know him. On this occasion, however, Mr. Hart broke the magic spell as conductor, by rattling off Thurstan's bobs with the regularity of a 'pulsometer.' Curdrige are a fine octave of bells (tenor 26 cwt.), sister peal to Ryde, by Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, but neither equal the newer peal at Southampton (tenor 23 cwt.), by same founders, beautifully tuned upon their modified system. At North Stoneham in the afternoon London Surprise for the third time of asking lasted twenty minutes only, although half the band had rung three peals in 24 hours in the same method some twenty years ago. Various touches followed, with other friends joining in, and the last touch of all, with the glass to the lips—'here's to our next happy outing amongst the dear old Churches of Motherland.'

NORTH WALES ASSOCIATION.

INCREASED CONTRIBUTIONS.

Two meetings of this association have been held this year. The annual meeting was held at Rhyl on Whit Monday, when members were present from Rhyl, Bangor, Portmadoc, Wrexham, Gresford and Buckley. The balance sheet showed a balance in hand of 26 6s. 1d., and the secretary reported that during the past year six peals had been rung by the association, which showed a slight improvement on the previous few years. The retiring president, master, treasurer and secretary were re-elected, and a hearty vote of thanks was passed to them for their work during the year.—Three new members and one life member were admitted into the association.—It was decided to hold the next meeting at Hawarden on Saturday, Sept. 6th, 1924, but as this day was not convenient, it was postponed until the following Saturday, Sept. 13th, when members attended from Rhyl, Wrexham, Hawarden, Bangor, Gresford and Buckley, and the Rev. C. F. Lyttleton, Rector of Hawarden, was in the chair.

It was decided to raise the members' annual subscription from 1s. to 2s., and the life members' fee from 2s. 6d. to 3s. 6d. The object of this is to provide funds to pay the Master's expenses to visit various towers to teach and encourage the art of change ringing.

A motion was brought forward to alter the date of the annual meeting from Whit Monday to Easter Monday each year, but it was decided to leave the question over until the next meeting, which was fixed for Whit Monday, 1925, at Portmadoc.

The members were entertained to tea at both meetings by the home ringers, and touches in various methods were rung during the day.

INFORMATION WANTED.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Could any reader tell me how to fix up a silent practice apparatus for six bells, and the cost of such an apparatus, not including the small bells to be fixed in ringing room: or give an address where it can be got?

NOVICE.

DUNSTABLE PRIORY CHURCH RINGERS' OUTING.

On Saturday, Sept. 6th, the Dunstable company held their annual outing, when Northamptonshire was the venue. Accompanied by the Rev. H. H. Fauvel (curate-in-charge), and Messrs. C. C. S. Benning and P. W. Ashwell (churchwardens), the party, 15 in number, left Dunstable at 8 a.m. by charabanc for Higham Ferrers, via Bedford, where Canon Baker was taken aboard. Higham Ferrers was reached as the clock was striking 10. Mr. G. Randall met the visitors, and escorted them to the church, where the magnificent ring of bells (tenor 22 cwt.) was raised in peal. The opening touch of 252 Stedman, followed by 320 of Double Norwich, was a good send-off for the day's ringing. A good course of Superlative Surprise with Mr. Martin, one of the local ringers standing in, concluded the ringing at this tower. After the church had been inspected, and some of the camera men had taken several snap shots, the 'bus' was again boarded for Finedon, where the party were welcomed on arrival by the Ven. Archdeacon Greaves (Rector). Another fine peal of bells, with a tenor 22 cwt., was found. After raising the bells in peal, and a touch of Bob Major and Double Norwich rung, Erin Triples was attempted, but wouldn't go at all. Mr. G. Basford joined in the ringing at this tower. Kettering was the next stop, where at the Cross Keys Cafe a sumptuous hot dinner was awaiting the party. After full justice had been done, the parish church was visited, and awaiting the visitors were Messrs. Sawfoot, Payne and Black, of the local band. Grandsire and Stedman Caters and a course of Kent Treble Bob Royal were rung, some of the younger members ringing their first course of Royal. Rothwell was the next place on the programme, Messrs. Sawfoot and Black also making the journey. Mr. A. York was awaiting the visitors' arrival. The bells are a magnificent peal (tenor 21 cwt.), and were considered by most to be the gem of the trip. Stedman Triples, Superlative Surprise, and 560 Double Norwich, with Mr. A. York taking part, were successfully brought round. Most of the visitors also took the opportunity of visiting the ancient bone crypt at this church. Tea was then partaken of before making the last call, which was at Burton Latimer. Mr. G. Lines and other members of the local band welcomed the visitors. The bells here were quite a contrast to the heavy rings which had been tackled earlier in the day, the tenor (10½ cwt.) being lately rehung in ball bearings by Messrs. Taylor and Co. The 'official' tenorman would not tackle this light and easy-going ring, so the amusing spectacle was witnessed of one of the little-bell men 'drumming' Stedman Triples, Superlative Surprise was also rung here. The Vicar (the Rev. R. Lethbridge) visited the belfry, and extended a hearty welcome to the party. This concluded the day's ringing, and preparations were made for the return, Dunstable being reached at 10.30, after one of the most enjoyable days it was possible to imagine. Good bells, a hearty welcome at every tower, good fellowship, and good ringing, all helped to make the day memorable. The visitors desire to express, through 'The Ringing World,' their best thanks to the clergy of the various churches visited for so readily granting permission to ring, also to all the local ringers who met them, and the hearty welcome extended to them; and, lastly, to their own church authorities for making such a pleasant day's outing possible.

LEICESTERSHIRE OUTING.

On Saturday, Sept. 13th, the ringers of All Saints' Church, with friends, to the number of twenty, had an outing which they hope to make an annual event. The venue was Rothwell, the place of many bones, and although on pleasure bent, the art of campanology was not overlooked, as arrangements had been made by the energetic secretary and captain, Mr. W. J. Brewin, for ringing at Desborough en route, and also at Rothwell. Journeying by charabanc, the party passed through some of the most beautiful scenery in the Midlands. Touches were successfully brought round of Wigston Major, Double Norwich, Stedman and Grandsire Triples at both churches. The 'go' of the bells at Desborough was excellent, but those at Rothwell required careful management. Tea was well served at the Cosy Tearooms, Rothwell, and afterwards the party became split for a time, some visiting Kettering to view the beautiful park given by Earl Winstead to the inhabitants. Home was eventually reached about 11 p.m., and the ringers take this opportunity of thanking the clergy for the use of the bells, and Mr. Wells, of Rothwell, for making the afternoon an enjoyable one.

STOKE-ON-TRENT RINGERS' VISIT TO LIVERPOOL.

On Saturday, Sept. 6th, the ringers from Stoke-on-Trent held their annual outing, and visited Liverpool and New Brighton. Travelling by train from Stoke they arrived at Liverpool about 10.30, and paid a visit to the new Cathedral. After dinner and a look round the city, the party took the ferry to New Brighton, where a very enjoyable afternoon was spent. The ringers would have liked to ring at Wallasey, but owing to a peal attempt this was impossible. The return journey was made from New Brighton about 8.45 p.m., and Stoke was reached soon after midnight, after a very enjoyable outing.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The peal rung at East Tytherley, Hants, recalls the fact that just twenty-five years ago, while another ringing tour was in progress, three Surprise peals in a day were almost accomplished on the bells at this picturesque church.

Cambridge Surprise was rung in the morning, Superlative in the afternoon, and a big slice of London in the evening. It was because one of the band got a whole pull out and would not be convinced he was wrong, that the third peal was lost.

There have probably been as many ringing tours in Hampshire as in any county in the kingdom.

The peal of Stedman Triples rung at the Loughborough Bell Foundry on Sept. 11th was Heywood's Variation, and was rung in 2 hrs. 40 mins., not 2 hrs. 14 mins., as printed.

The peal rung at Colerne, Wilts, on Sept. 10th, was the first on the bells since they were overhauled by the local ringers, previous to which they were in a dangerous state.

Visitors to Stanmore should note that the practice night, advertised in the report of the Middlesex Association on Mondays, has now been altered to Thursday, from 7 to 9 p.m.

Two new bells were to be dedicated by the Bishop of Crediton at Ipplepen, Devon, yesterday.

The Exeter Branch of the Devon Guild is inaugurating a winter series of social gatherings. The first is to take place on October 11th, and a ringing clergyman is to preside. Four others have also promised to take their turn in the chair.

William Shipway was born in Bath on Sept. 29th, 1760. He learnt his ringing there, his first access to the belfry being gained through the fact that he was apprenticed to a Mr. Handcock, a cabinet maker, who was appointed sexton of the abbey.

The first peal of Bristol Surprise on handbells was rung at Romford on October 1st, 1907.

On October 1st, 1793, a peal of 15,360 Bob Major was rung at Aston, conducted by Joshua Short.

St. Lawrence's Church, Thanet, is to be a ten-bell tower in the near future. The order for two new trebles has been placed with Messrs. Mears and Stainbank (whose work in this tower bears the best recommendation for at least a century), the cost being £230. The bells are to be completed by Armistice Day, November 11th. One is to be inscribed 'Peace' and the other 'Remembrance.' The augmentation will be greatly appreciated by ringers in that corner of Kent.

THE SNOWDON COMMEMORATION DINNER.

The Dean of York presided at the Snowdon Commemoration dinner, held at the Windmill Hotel, York, on Saturday last. The company numbered over 130, and included many visitors from outside the county of York. The gathering was a most successful one, and we hope to give a full report of the proceedings in our next issue.

DEATH OF THE REV. W. E. COLCHESTER.

FORMER SECRETARY OF THE WINCHESTER GUILD.

We regret to record the death of the Rev. W. E. Colchester, Rector of Alresford, Hants, which took place on Sept. 12th, after a long and painful illness. Mr. Colchester was for a time general secretary, and afterwards hon. treasurer, and for many years an enthusiastic member of the Winchester Diocesan Guild. He was the author of a very valuable work, entitled 'Hampshire Church Bells,' which was published in 1920, and while he was Rector of St. Maurice, Winchester, he had the old ring of five bells rebung and made into a ring of six, as a memorial to the men of that parish who fell in the war. He was also largely instrumental in getting the Cathedral bells increased to twelve.

At the funeral, which took place at Alresford on Sept. 15th, the Winchester Guild was represented by Mr. W. Andrews and Mr. G. Pullinger (the Rev. C. E. Matthews, vice-president, and Mr. G. Williams, Master, were unavoidably absent). Amongst the many beautiful floral tributes was a wreath from the Winchester Diocesan Guild of Ringers.

The 7th and 8th bells at Alresford require rehangings, and it has been suggested that an appropriate way of commemorating the Rev. W. E. Colchester's incumbency would be to rehang these two bells and to overhaul the others.

SHALL WE REVIVE PRIZE RINGING?

By W. W.

Steady now! Easy with the brickbats, there's no need for a rough house. I merely ask the question, and the reader, gentle or otherwise, had better think twice before he answers it. Probably no other cult contains so much smug hypocrisy and cant as the art of ringing. Now you have it in the neck. There was a time when paid ringers were called 'scruffers,' probably because they scooped up all the filthy lucre they could get their hands on. What an unholy lot of fellows! Let us give thanks that we are not like them. Selah! Ringers nowadays always refuse remuneration — or nearly always (so I hear).

Those were the decadent days of ringing, and yet somehow, history deponeth that some of the greatest achievements took place in those terrible times.

Again, ringers used to frequent places known as public-houses, now abbreviated to the first syllable. How shocking! Yet I remember once at the opening of a new ring of bells, how the Bishop, clergy, Mayor and Corporation, were entertained at the principal hotel of the place, where the loyal toasts, 'Church and State,' and a lot more, were drunk in honour of the event. The ringers not being invited, made their way to another place, designated by the vulgar, a 'pub,' and did likewise. How demoralising! Yet the liquid nourishment was the same. At least, if any difference, the ringers had it (so I hear). Ahem!

In the days of prize ringing, the church belfry was made a rendezvous for 'sport.'

I have an hazy impression that peals of 5,040 and upwards, also records, are also brought off at the same place, and is there any man with an ounce of honesty prepared to say that such are done for the glory of God? So much for the facts that cannot be refuted, and which should be well digested before we hold up our hands in (pious) horror at the suggestion at the head of this article.

The Victorian age has much to its credit, but it cannot be denied that it was rampant with Chadbandism. The line of demarcation between classes and masses was sharply defined. The petty delinquencies of the latter were exaggerated by the former, especially in our art. Times have changed, and we to-day are inclined to take a wider view of men and manners. In all spheres emulation is applauded, and few will deny that with a goal set before us, the end nearly always justifies the means. The painter now able to write R.A. after his name, had to live in the early days by his 'pot-boilers' until the day dawned when his ambition was achieved, for to be 'hung on the line' not only meant honour, but fortune. In music, Eisteddfod, and competitive festival, has always produced the desired results, as Sir Henry Wood and Landon Ronald could bear witness. In fact, in every sphere where competition has obtained, the process of elimination has borne fruit.

The King himself is patron of the Brass Band contest, and would anyone care to say that such competition is demoralising?

Let us come to ringing. I dare say my readers have noticed that at ringers' meetings, as a rule, the striking is not exactly superlative. The reason is not far to seek. If there are eight or ten bells, those who have hitherto rung only on six, see that here is a chance too good to be missed. No one can blame them, for what good is an association if it does not provide something otherwise unobtainable? Quite so. One passenger is all very well, but when the bus is overloaded with them the result is obvious, and no one is satisfied. The public ear is not considered in the least as it should be, and as I am convinced it will have to be considered sooner or later, for clanging is not music. I will anticipate the retort that everyone must have a chance if he wishes to improve. Again, quite so: but that is not any reason why a better way should not be tried. The accomplishment of a peal in the higher methods is not always a criterion of ability. A famous carillonneur recently said, 'I would sooner hear you ringers ring good rounds than bad changes.' A hard saying to those of us who feed on figures, but nevertheless the view is a correct one, for many learners jump into changes before they can ring rounds fit to be heard. Whatever may be urged against prize ringing in the old days, it cannot be denied that wherever it obtained—in Yorkshire especially—they could ring like clockwork.

I am induced to this line of thought from the fact that the public love emulation and the fighting spirit. Given a competitive festival (better name than prize ringing), nothing but good would accrue. As a rough outline, I would allow each band to choose its own method, each band to be a recognised company of a tower; and the verdict to rest on the striking alone. The company ringing 168 of Grandsire Triles faultlessly would beat a jangled touch of London Surprise, and I think rightly so. There should be no test piece, on the ground that it might shut out some whose ability was limited to certain methods.

I do not propose here to give anything but a general outline. I do not suggest what the prize should be. It might be a cup, or a bell, a sum of money in the winning companies or their fund, or take the form of a dinner to the winners, or anything that conveys satisfaction to the fortunate bands. One thing is certain. The ideal would be perfection in striking. A day or half-day could be set aside for the competition, and it would bring pleasure not only to the contestants, but to the listeners outside. To those who ask, 'Who will provide the funds?' I answer: 'I do not know, it might be a useful expense on the part of the respective associations that approve, to find the means.'

I would like to have other views, hostile or not, as I have an impression that more than one patron of the Exercise would be pleased to put up the trophies or funds for the purpose.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

SPREADING THE ART.

A quarterly meeting was held at Matherne, near Chepstow, on Saturday last, but owing to the very wet afternoon was not so well attended as is generally the case. The bells, a ring of six, by Evans, were rehung by Messrs. Taylor well over 30 years ago in a iron frame, and still go like the proverbial fiddles. Service was held at 4.30, fully choral, with a surpliced choir, and conducted by the Vicar (Rev. W. H. Williams), who gave an excellent address. Tea, which had been very generously provided, immediately followed in a building, close to the church, which is part of the old palace, in which, prior to Llandaff, the Bishops made their home. Four of them are buried in the Parish Church.

Tea over, the business meeting followed, at which a report was made on the instructional visit to Skenfrith. It was gratifying to learn that at this tower where call changes prevail, it has been decided to practise half-pull ringing. An instructor was discovered, and it is hoped one more tower will be added to the change ringing list shortly.

It was also reported that at Usk, where the bells have been idle for years, a band has been got together, and are now ringing for the Sunday services. It was a surprise to find on arrival at Matherne that a young band has been got together, and are now practising half-pull ringing, and all were unanimously elected as members of the association.

The usual votes of thanks closed the meeting.

Invitation was then extended and accepted for a walk through the very beautifully laid-out grounds and gardens of the Old Palace now occupied by Colonel McNab. Then followed more ringing, which included the four standard methods, which brought to a close a most enjoyable afternoon and evening regardless of the very wet weather.

The next meeting is at Bonvilston, near Cardiff, on October 11th.

WARWICKSHIRE GUILD.

PEAL RINGING AT MONKS KIRBY.

The last of the monthly meetings for the year took place at Monks Kirby on Saturday, and in spite of the unpropitious weather, was attended by upwards of 30 ringers, including several ladies. Bulkington, Chilvers Coton, Coventry, Exhall, Marton, Nuneaton, Rugby, Southam, Stoke, Wolvey, and the local band, were represented.

The Vicar (the Rev. R. L. B. Oliver) and Mrs. Oliver kindly provided tea, at the conclusion of which Mr. T. W. Chapman (Ringing Master), on behalf of the members present, cordially thanked both for their kindness in so doing.—The Vicar, in reply, said how pleased Mrs. Oliver and himself were to welcome the Guild. They would have liked to see more present, but no doubt the very wet afternoon kept some away. He also said he very much regretted to have to refuse the bells on several occasions recently for peals. Complaints had been received that too much peal ringing had been going on, and although he himself loved to hear the bells rung, he did not wish the bells to become unpopular, and, therefore, he had reluctantly stipulated that attempts for peals must in future be limited to once a month.

The Vicar himself is an enthusiast, and is teaching a band to become change ringers. They meet once a week at the Vicarage for handbell practice and once in the tower. He also took part in the ringing on Saturday. The methods rung during the afternoon and evening included Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob, Double Norwich, Kent, Cambridge and Sumerlative Surprise.

The next quarterly meeting is at Warwick on October 18th.

A DATE TOUCH.

On Saturday, September 20th, six members of the Norton-le-Moors branch of the Stoke-on-Trent Association visited the Cheddleton, Staffs, and were successful in ringing a date touch (1,924 changes), in 1 hour and 10 minutes, comprising 360 each of London, Wells and Cambridge Surprise, 240 each of Duke of York, Woodhine and Violet, and 124 of Kent: H. Wibberley 1, J. W. Walker 2, F. Triner 3, W. P. Deane 4, J. E. Wheelodon (conductor) 5, J. Walley 6. The ringers wish to thank the Vicar (the Rev. W. G. Burgess) for kindly allowing them the use of the bells, and Mr. T. Willsaw for having everything in readiness.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

SUGGESTED FURTHER DECENTRALISATION.

The second quarterly meeting of the above was held at Hinckley, Leicestershire, on Saturday, September 13th. Hinckley is famous in the Midlands for several things. Inter alia, it is the home of the notorious Tin Hat, though since 1914 more men have worn a tin hat than ever before, and to some purpose. Hinckleyites would not care to claim the origin of the army type, for theirs was of a highly respectable shape—to wit—the stovepipe style. Anyway, Hinckley and Tin Hat Town are synonymous terms.

Also the local postman-bellringer is a celebrity worth knowing. He spends his days in his retirement seeking out comic songs with which to bombard ringers' meetings, and his nights in awaiting a message from Mars. The constellations, planets, stars, Jupiter, Venus, and all their family, are to him an open book, and any stargazing student can gain a lot of information and be bored stiff free of any charge.

Jupiter Pluvius must have been at home on Saturday week, for a good soaking was in waiting for the 40 to 50 members who turned up to ring at St. Mary's, but the pelting rain had no effect once inside the belfry, where most methods from Grandsire to London and Bristol were rung. Tea was served in the Parish Room, well catered for by the local branch, after which the general meeting took place. In the absence of the president (Ald. R. B. Chambers, J.P.), and the hon. secretary (Mr. A. C. Wright), the chair was taken by the Rev. R. F. Wilkinson, M.A., of Mansfield, supported by the curate (the Rev. G. H. Harrison, Messrs. Pryce Taylor, A. Coppock, and the hon. treasurer (Mr. W. Willson). Apologies for the absence of the president and secretary were made.

It was agreed to place on the list of free members, the names of four Nottingham veterans. This is a happy departure, providing as it does, free membership for life, for old and indigent ringers who in days gone by have given of their best.

Messrs. Coppock and Taylor, delegates to the Central Council, gave a resume of the Westminster meeting, the former saying that he was not very much impressed with his first meeting, far too much levity being allowed. (Thank goodness, there are no Clydesiders!)

The election of new members again produced a big list, 34 fresh adherents being added to the M.C.A., now approaching its thousand.

Votes of thanks to the clergy and the local committee were carried with acclamation, the Rev. G. H. Harrison responding.

It may be here mentioned that a feeling exists, and was discussed in committee, that the time was ripe for decentralisation, i.e., that each district should assume local autonomy of its funds, with a capitation fee to the central body. This system obtains in several other associations with success, but the situations are not parallel. It should be borne in mind that a large percentage of the revenue of the M.C.A. comes from honorary members' subscriptions, and chiefly from one or two counties, moreover, these may not be permanent. In the opinion of the writer, if decentralisation comes, it should be on the condition that at first, at least, all honorary subscriptions should go to a central fund, local control remaining over ringing members only. These comments are made at this juncture in order that no measure may be sprung on the members without full and careful consideration.

The remainder of the evening was spent at a neighbouring hostelry yepte Ye White Hart, where handbell ringing and song filled the bill—also the audience until the time of departure, and as Samuel Pepys always ended up his diary—'so to bed.' W. W.

FIFTY YEARS A RINGER.

PRESENTATION AT CRANLEIGH.

Mr. William Charman, of Yew Tree Cottage, Cranleigh Common, has been a bell ringer at the Parish Church, Cranleigh, Surrey, for half a century, and to mark this interesting record he was the recipient of a presentation on Wednesday, Sept. 17th.

The gift was an appropriate one—a silver inkstand in the form of a bell—and with it was a framed list of the subscribers, neatly done by Mr. R. W. Whittington, the organiser of the fund, whose service as a bell ringer also extends over fifty years. Inscribed on the bell were the words: 'Presented to Mr. W. Charman by the Rector, churchwardens, and ringers on the completion of 50 years' service ringing, and 30 years as leader, 1874-1924. S. Nicolas, Cranleigh.' Ex-churchwardens and other church officers also subscribed.

The presentation took place in the church tower, and the gifts were handed to the recipient by the Rev. Philip Cunningham (Rector), who made suitable reference to the services Mr. Charman had rendered. Mr. Charman, who was obviously taken by surprise, returned thanks for the gifts.

Mr. Charman's father was a ringer, and his brother and two sons still perform these services. Mr. Whittington, who organised the fund, and his wife were the first married couple to take part in a peal on tower bells.

DEVON GUILD.

SUCCESSFUL VILLAGE MEETING.

A quarterly meeting of the Exeter Branch of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers was held at Christow on Saturday. Service was conducted in the Parish Church by the Rev. Bassett Pike, who extended a very hearty welcome to the Guild. After service a move was made to the Y.M.C.A. Hut, where an excellent tea was provided by the ringers and their wives, and a few friends.

The meeting that followed was well attended. Those present included Messrs. E. Shepherd (chairman of the branch), W. J. Southwood (hon. secretary), J. C. Oke (assistant secretary), the Rev. E. V. Cox (hon. secretary of the Guild), Mr. T. Barlett (hon. treasurer of the Guild), the Rev. Bassett Pike, the Rev. F. Knight, and about 80 members representing the following bands: St. Sidwell's, St. David's, St. Thomas', St. Petrock's, Heavitree, Exminster, Upton Pyne, Topsham, Withycombe, Littleham, Newton St. Cyres, Crediton, Christow.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Rector for conducting the service, the organist for playing, and the ringers of Christow and their wives and friends for providing tea.

It was decided to hold a supplementary meeting at Woodbury, on Saturday, November 1st, and to have fraternal meetings monthly, at the Franklin Hall, Exeter, these meetings to be in the nature of social gatherings, with chats on bells and bell ringing generally.

Several new members were elected, including two life members.

Ringing was indulged in at Christow, Ashton, Bridford, Dunsford, Trusham, and Ide.

Christow is nearly ten miles from Exeter, and it was a bold venture to expect a large meeting in a small, outlandish village, but the optimism of the Guild officials was fully justified, for there was an attendance of nearly 90 at the church service. This in itself caused some surprise to the Rector and the local friends. To find men so keenly interested in Divine worship fully demonstrated the fact that the Guild does inculcate some very lofty ideals, besides mere rope pulling.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A pleasant meeting of the North and East District of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild was held at Stanmore on Saturday last, when some 30 members attended. Ringing commenced shortly after 3 p.m., and continued until 5.30 p.m., touches in several methods, ranging from Grandsire Triples to Bristol Surprise, being rung. Unfortunately the absence of the Rector, on holiday, prevented the usual service being held.

After a very nice tea had been enjoyed, the business meeting was held. The hon. secretary (Mr. C. T. Coles) apologised for the non-attendance of the president (Mr. F. A. Milne), through illness, and of the Master (Mr. G. B. Lucas), on holiday. Mr. W. Pickworth, in the absence of the former, took the chair.

Five new members all of the local band, were elected, and the hon. secretary congratulated the Stanmore ringers, who were fortunate in having the able assistance of Mr. F. Edwards, of Bushey, on the progress they were making.

Tottenham was chosen as the place for the next meeting, on Nov. 1st, whilst it was announced that a practice meeting was being held at Hornsey on Monday, Sept. 29th.

A vote of thanks was passed to the Rector (the Rev. S. F. L. Bernays) for the use of the bells, and to Mr. Heading and Mr. Hughes, of the local band, for the excellent arrangements made.—Mr. Hughes briefly replied, with a welcome to the association, and stated that they were looking forward at Stanmore to ringing their first peal at no distant date. He also mentioned that visiting ringers, who were always welcome, should note that the practice night was now Thursday from 7 to 9 p.m.

Afterwards the bells were kept going until nearly 9 o'clock, whilst several of the company paid a visit to Harrow Weald where they were met by Mr. J. Furness, and rang touches of Cambridge Surprise, Double Court, Kent, and Plain Bob Minor.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

A quarterly meeting was held on Saturday at Great Totham, 25 members being present from 11 parishes. Owing to a breakdown on the National Bus Service the secretary, and others, were stranded for two hours, and were unable to reach their destination till after the service at 4.30 p.m.

The Vicar presided at the tea at the Bull Inn. Thanks were accorded to the Vicar and all who had assisted, the Hon. Secretary voicing the opinion of the visitors as to the pretty little churchyard. He thought it to be the neatest and best-kept churchyard in the diocese.—Nine new members were elected, and Great Bentley was selected for the next place of meeting.

METHOD 'CONSTRUCTION.'

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—There is usually little profit in a conversation in which the speakers make use of different languages which they do not both understand. Mr. Baker is fond of using the expression—prove the construction. What does he mean by it? Or does it mean anything at all? I confess I have not myself the faintest idea. According to my understanding of English, you can prove a theorem; my dictionary describes construction as the act of building or of devising and forming. Where is the connection?

If Mr. Baker will only leave his sheets of figures alone for a short time and do a little real thinking, so as to clear up in his own mind what it is he wishes to convey to others, we may hope for progress; without it we shall never get any further.

Moreover, in his first sentence he expresses his agreement with Mr. Trollope's letter of September 12th. In the question he puts at the end of the letter he tells us in so many words that he has failed to grasp the meaning of a single sentence of that letter.

At the same time he has done more than he knew. For members of the old school of empirical constructionists who proclaim that the place is the method, he has set a pretty problem in his examples of two methods, apparently closely allied, but perhaps as far apart as the Poles in their actual construction.—Yours faithfully,

Holbeton, Devon.

E. S. POWELL.

A NEW TERM SUGGESTED.

Sir,—One must thank Mr. Trollope for his interesting letter, and especially for his clear explanation of a 'Constructional Shunt.'

At the same time one may be permitted to raise an objection to so clumsy a term, and to wonder how it got its name. It is not the same as the 'Shunt' in the Glossary, and though there is a connection in the meaning of the two terms, the connection has nothing to do with the meaning one usually attaches to the word 'Shunt.'

Shunts are not things which usually bring you back to where you start from, even if you take all there are—up to infinity.

Might I suggest the word 'Lift' instead?

Then the construction of a method, if treble-dominated, would be, perhaps, as follows (I speak subject to correction):—

First, a 'Hunt,' which might be either Single or 'Twin': Plain or Dodging (for the latter, the old word for Dodge, viz., Bob, is used).

Second, the Hunt receives a cyclical 'Lift.' A Lift may be 'Forward' or 'Backward': 'Extreme,' or 'Court' (i.e., internal): P (odd) or R (even).

Third, the 'Work' of the other 'Working' bells. This may be 'Consequential' on the 'Lift' (as the dodge of the two bells behind at the third's place in Grandsire Doubles—they cannot do anything else), or 'Independent' or 'Varied.'

Then there would be three kinds of 'Lift':—

First, the 'Constructional Lift,' which we have just considered.

Second, the 'Method Lift,' caused by a call.

Third, the 'Composition Lift,' caused by the cut-out, or insertion of a block of changes.

Nothing has been said about 'Hunting Backward' or the 'Pivot Bell,' as no clear definition of these terms has been given to the Exercise.

Mr. Trollope is undoubtedly correct in what he says about Duplex and Complex. Duplex means that a thing is double, with a further complication or fold. Complex means with several complications or folds. Anything which is merely Double should never be called Duplex. 'Twin' also is not merely Double, it means that two things are not only a similar pair, but that they fit in with one another so as to be almost as one.

LONDON RINGERS AT COOKHAM.

On Saturday, Sept. 13th, the St. Giles-in-the-Fields Guild held their annual outing, the members and their friends paying a visit to Cookham-on-Thames. The party numbered 15, and although London was left in a good deal of cloud, there were bright intervals at Cookham.

On arrival, the party proceeded to the church (Holy Trinity), the bells of which had been kindly placed at their disposal. Ringing was enjoyed for the greater part of four hours. The 'going' was excellent, and these beautiful bells are probably so well known to ringers that more need not be said about them. A good spread awaited the party at the King's Arms, which was much enjoyed. More ringing, boating, light refreshments and a 'sing-song' concluded the very happy afternoon's programme. All were grateful to Dr. Batchelor and Mr. Fowler for their kind welcome and arrangements for the enjoyment of the visitors.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

WESTERN DISTRICT.

As last year, the September meeting of the Western district struck a bad day, but, unlike the previous meeting, the attendance was much better than anticipated, ringers being present from Hinckley (Leicestershire), Maldon (Essex), Linslade (Bucks), King's Langley, Hemel Hempstead, Berkhamsted, and the local tower. The bells were early pealing forth Grandsire and Stedman Triples, followed by Plain Bob, Treble Bob and Forward Major. A short service was held at 5 p.m., when the Rev. S. Meade gave a very straightforward address on 'Bells and Ringers.'

After the inner man had been satisfied, a business meeting followed, at which the Rev. S. Meade kindly presided.—Two new members (one a lady) were elected from King's Langley, and that tower was chosen as the place of next meeting, some time in November, to suit the local conditions.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar for the use of the bells, the Rev. S. Meade for his able address, the organist for her kind services, and Mr. Reeve for his good offices.

The Secretary wished the Berkhamsted friends to 'pass on' the advice given in the address, then he was sure their bells would not long remain in the condition they now are.

The general secretary paid a flying visit during the meeting, but could not stay, as he wasn't his own 'shover.' Better luck next time.

After further ringing, the bells were lowered in peal, and the ringers wended their way homewards, one or two having ten miles to cycle through the rain.

LADIES' GUILD.

MIDLAND DISTRICT OFFICIALS.

The annual meeting of the Midland District of the Ladies' Guild was held at Bromsgrove on Saturday, Sept. 13th, when there was a good attendance in spite of the rain. Members were present from Smethwick, Cleat, Evesham and Handsworth.

The local ringers had the bells going when the visitors arrived, and helped the ladies to keep them going the whole of the afternoon.

The Guild form of service was used, the Vicar (the Rev. T. C. de la Haye) officiating. After service, ample justice was done to a splendid tea kindly provided by the Vicar, and Mrs. de la Haye, who, with other ladies, attended to the wants of the visitors. A party of 25 sat down, and a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar and the ladies, also to the local ringers.

No new ringing members were elected, but one hon. member, Mrs. Price, of Old Hill, was elected. Mrs. Groves wished to retire from the secretaryship, but was re-elected, as were all the members of the committee except Mrs. White, of Coventry. Miss Dodds, of Chilvers Coton, being appointed in Mrs. White's place.

In accordance with the resolution passed at the annual meeting at Bristol, it was decided to have the annual branch meeting in June instead of September.

THE WASHBROOK MEMORIAL.

To the Editor.

Sir,—On the subject of the Washbrook Memorial bells, I should like to enter a very earnest plea in favour of St. Ebbe's tower being chosen. In the first place, St. Ebbe's is the one really 'live' tower in Oxford. All its members are enthusiastic and progressive ringers, who are regular and punctual both at Sunday ringing and at week-day practice. Careful record is kept of their successful 720's, which include peals in many different methods, and often amount to more than 80 in a year—many more than all the other ringers in Oxford together can claim. No other tower in Oxford ever attempts such a peal as a 5,040, consisting of seven Surprise Minor methods, and St. Ebbe's is always the best represented tower whenever there is ringing on a larger number of bells. Of course, these ringers could not be expected to desert their own Parish Church on Sundays for the purpose of ringing elsewhere on eight bells. Now, I am sure I am not alone in my conviction that if the late Mr. Washbrook himself could have the ordering of the matter he would have the bells placed where they would be of most use to the ringers, and there could be only one choice.

My second point is in answer to Mr. Judge's statement that a fair number of ringers in Oxford are in favour of St. Giles' as the most suitable tower for the memorial. I am quite sure that if the opinions of the really active ringers of Oxford were recorded the balance would weigh heavily in favour of St. Ebbe's. A very large proportion of the ringers of Oxford have 'passed out' through St. Ebbe's, and they, including one of the most prominent of St. Giles' own ringers, remain loyal to the tower to which they owe so much.—

Yours faithfully,

W. G. COLLETT.

RESTORATIONS IN DEVON.

The peal of eight bells at St. Edmund's Church, Kingsbridge, Devon, have been under restoration by Messrs. W. Aggett and Son, of Chagford. The bells have been rehung on the firm's patent adjustable bearings, and entirely new fittings have been installed. Recently a test was made, and the ringers were well satisfied with the improvements carried out.

The fine peal of eight at St. Mary's, Lifton, have been removed, prior to rehanging by the same firm, as are the peal of five at Cornbury, North Devon. The latter are to be rehung in a massive iron frame, on steel joists, and equipped with modern fittings.

SURPRISE METHODS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I was not surprised to find the method given by me in 'The Ringing World' of the 5th inst. has been independently worked out by my old friend, John Carter, and by Mr. E. A. Ridgway. The former gentleman published it in 'The Ringing World' of December 26th, 1919, together with several other Surprise Variations worked out on the same principle as that used by myself. I think if Mr. Ridgway will refer to Mr. Carter's article he will find his method amongst the others.—I am, yours faithfully,
Birmingham. J. S. PRITCHETT.

OATLANDS TOWER AND WINCHESTER GUILD.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Mr. Hessey's letter in your last issue is misleading. The writer of the report of the Yateley meeting used the word 'represented,' and now Mr. Hessey seeks to imply a different meaning to the word. My last letter made it quite clear that the Oatlands tower and ringers are outside the Winchester Guild, and no Guild can reasonably claim representation on the lines that Mr. Hessey suggests.

I agree with Mr. Hessey that the Winchester Guild should not put obstacles in the way, and, speaking for myself, I shall be very pleased to rejoin again when they are removed. I have no desire to appear in print, and my only object was to ensure correctness in future reports.—Yours faithfully,
W. SHEPHERD.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The Southern district of the London County Association held a business meeting at the Church of SS. Peter and Paul, Mitcham, on Saturday. The tower was opened at 4 o'clock, but ringing was late in starting. After a few touches, a move was made for tea, after which the usual business was transacted. There was some good ringing after tea, and among the methods rung were Cambridge Surprise, Double Norwich, Kent Treble Bob and Stedman. The evening finished with a nice touch of Stedman. It was the wish of the ringers that a hearty vote of thanks be accorded to the Rector for the use of the bells.

PRESENTATION AT UPHILL.

Prior to the ringing of the bells at the old church on Sunday, Sept. 14th, an interesting presentation was made to Mr. H. T. Hawkins, who has been a member of the Uphill ringing company for upwards of seven years, but who will shortly be moving to Wrington to reside.—Mr. G. R. Masters, on behalf of the ringers, in handing the gift (a safety razor and all accessories in handsome leather case) to the recipient, expressed the regret they all felt at his impending departure, and thanked him heartily for his past services at the tower, and in the interest of campanology. They could not allow him to go, he said, without marking their appreciation in a practical manner, and asked his acceptance of that gift just as a small token of their esteem and respect, also of their gratitude for his regular services. In conclusion, he wished Mr. Hawkins every happiness for the future, and invited him to visit his old friends whenever he could do so, especially at Christmas for the annual dinner.—Messrs. E. Parker and W. Popham (members of the Weston-super-Mare Parish Church company) were also present for the purpose of extending their good wishes to the recipient, and during the afternoon took part in several touches of Grandsire.

Mr. Hawkins, in replying, thanked Mr. F. Stuckey for his kind thought, and feelingly remarked that he was very sorry to have to break his long connection with the ringers of Uphill. He heartily thanked them for the very useful present that he had just received, which would tend to remind him of the happy times they had spent together. He hoped to visit them from time to time.

After several other members had spoken in similar terms, ringing was carried on for about an hour.

DUDLEY AND DISTRICT GUILD.

The quarterly meeting of this Guild was held on Sunday, Sept. 6th, in ideal weather, at Hagley, where the bells (eight) of the Parish Church of St. John-the-Baptist were placed at the disposal of the members from 3 o'clock. The Guild's beautiful service was said in church, and was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. R. Burns), who also gave a very interesting and helpful address. The business meeting took place in the vestry, under the chairmanship of the Rector, who gave the members a hearty welcome to Hagley, and said he hoped that they would pay another visit on some future occasion.

Other business of a routine character having been disposed of, a vote of thanks, on the proposition of Mr. Ben Gough, and seconded by Mr. J. Price, was accorded to the Rector for his permission to hold the meeting at Hagley, also for his kindness in conducting the service, and his eloquent address, for the use of the tower and bells. Thanks were also given to Mr. Fred Molineux for making the necessary arrangements. Some of the members afterwards returned to the belfry for a little more ringing, while others strolled round the beautiful country until the time arrived for departure to their several homes.

The quarterly peal is to be attempted at Hagley, and the arrangements were left in the hands of the Ringing Master. It was also proposed to hold the next quarterly meeting at Old Hill, subject to the usual permission being obtained.

SHOULD PEAL POINTS BE ABOLISHED?

The letter which appeared in our last issue from 'Medicus Vectensis' reopens the question of the allocation of points for peals in the Central Council's Analysis. His allegation that they are obsolete as an indication of the standard of ringing in an association is certainly one which bears much truth, while, as an index to the relative value and merits of the performances which they profess to appraise, they are as useless as they can well be. The manner in which points are allotted is on a more or less rough and ready estimate of the difficulty which a method is supposed to present to the ringers, and no allowance is made for any of the other numerous factors which enter into the merits of a peal. As has so often been pointed out, there are many features in a peal which affect its merit, yet none, save the simplicity or complexity of a method, is considered in allocating points; so that the best that can be said of the system is that it is a half-measure for indicating the standard which an Association, by the combined efforts of its resident and visiting members, has reached. It is no real test of the progress which is being made.

That the Council itself has lost, at any rate, some of its faith in the value of its point scheme is evidenced by the fact that for some years now its Analysis has been published with the Associations given in alphabetical order, instead of, as was formerly the practice, in point order. This may have been done partly to eliminate the competitive idea, but it was principally because the members recognise that the points indicate very little that is of value by comparison with all that they ignore in connection with peal ringing. The question is whether the points are worth retaining at all. Their inclusion in the Analysis adds greatly to the work of those responsible for compiling the tables, and their omission would greatly lighten the burden of this heavy task. If they are to be retained, they ought to take account of many other factors in regard to the peals that are rung—that is, if they are to be any real indication of the comparative worth of the performances. We venture to suggest that the time has now arrived when the Central Council should review the whole position, and either make the peal points serve a useful purpose by drawing up a scheme much wider in its scope so as to embrace the principal features that go to the merit of a performance, or else drop them altogether. To widen the scope would probably involve a labour that would not be justified by results; to drop them would save the Analysis Committee endless work and grieve nobody. But to leave the point system where it is serves little purpose, and may even, as our correspondent points out, give a false idea of the standard of ringing in any area.

SUCCESSFUL MEETING AT KINGTON MAGNA.

A well-attended meeting of the North Dorset Branch was held at Kington Magna on Saturday, Sept. 13th. In spite of persistent rain, some 50 ringers, gathered from over an extensive area, took part in the proceedings. The five musical bells, with pre-Reformation tenor, were raised in peal about 3 p.m., and were kept in active use during the afternoon and evening.

At 4.45 p.m. a congregation, numbering about 70, took part in the Guild service, which was fully choral, and was sung to the accompaniment of violin, violoncello, tenor horn, organ and handbells. The office was intoned by the Rector, and the lesson read by the Rev. J. D. Vincent, of Gillingham. The anthem, 'Awake, awake, put on thy strength' (Leaning), was effectively rendered by the choir and orchestra.

The pulpit was occupied by the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, who founded a most practical and apposite address on the text, 'Endure hardness, as a good soldier of Jesus Christ.' Emphasising the general absence of 'hardness' and steadfast adherence to principle in these lax and undisciplined days, the preacher pointed out how in various ways the duties of a ringer call for the exercise of self-discipline in a marked degree, and exhorted his hearers to render their service to the church in a spirit of ready obedience to the Apostle's precept.

After service, a large company sat down to tea at the School. At the business meeting, which followed, the Rev. F. L. Edwards took the chair. The branch secretary (the Rev. R. E. P. Gorringe) read the minutes of the last meeting, and subsequently announced that the next meeting would be arranged at Sherborne. Two new members were elected.

Proposing a vote of thanks to the preacher for his admirable address, Mr. A. F. Martin Stewart remarked that, while he had known Mr. Davies for many years as a leading light of the Central Council, that afternoon was the first time that he had had the pleasure of ringing with him.—Mr. Davies, in his reply, modestly disclaimed the description of his connection with the Council as that of a 'leading light,' and went on to say that it always gave him great pleasure to find himself among ringers. He congratulated the North Dorset Branch on such a fine gathering.

A vote of thanks to the Rector was carried, and suitably acknowledged, and the proceedings terminated with changes and tunes on handbells.

The following towers affiliated to the branch were represented at the meeting: Buckhorn Weston, Kington Magna, Zeals, Stourton, Manston, Shroton, Shaftesbury, Okeford Fitzpaine, Hazelbury, and Bryan. Ringers were also present from Gillingham, Poole, Wimborne, Templecombe, Deane, and Goring-on-Thames. Several well-struck six-scores of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles were brought round on the bells.

BRIDSTOW'S NEW BELLS.

TREBLES DEDICATED BY BISHOP OF HEREFORD.

On Saturday, Sept. 13th, the Bishop of Hereford dedicated two new trebles to complete the octave at Bridstow. Unfortunately, the date chosen turned out to be one of the wettest days in this wet year, but in spite of this a good number of parishioners attended the service, together with over 40 ringers, including Mr. C. Edwards (Guild Master), Mr. J. Austin (Gloucester), Mr. and Mrs. R. Richardson (Surfleet), Mr. J. G. Jefferies (Mangotsfield), Mr. C. J. Partridge (Sutton-in-Ashfield), and ringers from Hereford, Ruardean, Ross, and the surrounding towers.

The surpliced clergy present, in addition to the Bishop, were the Rev. H. E. H. Probyn (Vicar), the Dean of Gibraltar (the Very Rev. James Cropper), brother-in-law of the Vicar, and the Rev. G. W. Turner (Guild secretary), who carried the pastoral staff. The service commenced with the hymn, 'When morning gilds the skies,' sung to a tune composed by the organist of Bridstow, Mr. H. Byolin (who was away on holiday), followed by the prayers of evensong, intoned by the Vicar, and Psalm 150. The special lesson was read by the Dean of Gibraltar, and this was followed by the Magnificat and Creed. After this the surpliced choir and clergy, accompanied by the Bishop and churchwardens, proceeded to the tower, where the ropes of the two new bells were presented by Mr. F. Armitage and Mr. W. Poston to the Bishop, with the request that he should dedicate the bells 'to the glory of God, and the use of this church.'

The Bishop dedicated the bells by reciting three special prayers, afterwards handing the ropes to the Vicar, saying, 'Receive these bells as a sacred trust, etc.' A few rounds were then rung, after which the choir and clergy returned to the nave, and special prayers were recited by the Rev. G. W. Turner.

The Bishop, in the course of an appropriate address, dwelt upon the uses of bells in times past, the market bell, the gleaming bell, the curfew bell, how bells were used for national rejoicings, marriages, and for muffled peals, and concluded by saying that these bells should be a call to the men and women of the parish to assemble themselves together for the worship of God, and that their ringing should be of great assistance in that respect.

The service concluded with the hymn, 'Angel voices ever singing,' and the Benediction, pronounced by the Bishop.

Immediately after the conclusion of the service, 168 Grandsire Triples were rung by R. E. Summers 1, W. T. Poston 2, W. Poston (conductor) 3, A. E. Gwynne 4, J. J. Bevan 5, J. G. Jefferies 6, W. Bishop 7, A. T. Poulton 8. Further touches of Grandsire, Stedman, Bob Major, and a course of Kent Treble Bob Major followed, with rounds for beginners, everyone present having a pull. A meat tea was provided in the Parish Room by the Vicar, to which 46 sat down. The thanks of those present to the Vicar for his hospitality were voiced by Mr. C. Edwards, who congratulated Bridstow on the success of its undertaking, and remarked that he should expect great things from the Bridstow band in the future.—The Vicar welcomed those present: thanked the ringers for their great help in carrying out the scheme; incidentally touched upon the rumour that the youngest ringer in England was present, in the person of Miss Richardson, of Surfleet; and invited those present to enter their names in a visitors' book. Further ringing followed after tea.

It was the general opinion that Messrs. Mears and Stainbank had effected as good a 'splice' as could be expected under the circumstances. The old tenor, a pre-Reformation bell dating from about 1480, and just a few pounds under 9 cwt., seemed determined that day to assert its superiority, but with experiments since made she has now shown an inclination to settle down and live in harmony with her new companions.

The small bells in half bearings had some terrors for those ringers who had never made an acquaintance with these 'new-fangled ideas,' but it was observed that the 'men of weight,' as well as friend Austin, of Gloucester, managed them best. The gentleman from Surfleet, who owned the 'rubber bus,' seemed very happy indeed ringing the second, and sitting on the window ledge at the same time.

For service on the Sunday morning the local band, assisted by Messrs. Jefferies and Partridge, rang a touch of Grandsire, two courses of Bob Major, and a course of Kent Treble Bob Major.

A RINGERS' MECCA.

ROTHERHAM RINGERS VISIT LOUGHBOROUGH.

On Saturday, Sept. 13th, the Rotherham Parish Church company held their annual outing, when they visited Loughborough. A start was made at 7.20, by charabanc, and after a short ride, a halt was called to pick up two men from Treeton, and then, after a good trip, Loughborough was reached at 10 o'clock. The foundry was the piece de resistance of the day, and this proved very interesting, as some of the Rotherham bells were seen in their new guise. A move was then made to the foundry campanile, there to try conclusions with the peal of ten. These proved a fairly tough proposition, but by perseverance and no broken stays, some fairly decent ringing was indulged in. Then a move was made to the Parish Church for a ring on the peal there, but owing to a time limit and a host of visitors, nothing much in the way of ringing was done; still, there was sufficient to enable everyone to admire the tone and 'go' of the bells, and to wish that the peal for Rotherham, when finished, may be as good, if not better.

A start was made on the homeward journey at 4.30, arrangements having been made to call at Mansfield on the way. Here, after a good tea, the party were met by Mr. Bettinson, who had everything in readiness in the belfry, and some time was spent in touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain and Kent Treble Bob Major. The homeward journey was completed at 11 p.m. The company desire to express their thanks to the incumbents and churchwardens of the churches visited for the use of the bells, and to all who helped to make the day a great success.

KING'S NORTON RINGERS AT THE FOUNDRY.

On Saturday, Sept. 13th, the above ringers had their annual outing. Leaving King's Norton at 8 a.m., accompanied by Churchwardens Moore, Lyon and Boffey, and the esteemed chairman of the bells committee, Mr. Frank Yates, they were soon at the Big House, Baker Street, to pick up the St. Martin's contingent. The delay here was rather prolonged, owing to the serious indisposition of one of the party. Passing through the Three Spires City, a stop was made at Monks Kirby, and the bells were soon going to Grandsire, Stedman and Cambridge. This grand peal was very much admired, also the 'go' of them. After light refreshment, the party made for Leicester, and arrived just in time to hear some good Treble Bob by the Northants men at St. Margaret's. Ascending the tower, the King's Norton men soon had this grand peal, by Taylors, going to Grandsire and Stedman Caters and Cambridge Major, the striking again being very satisfactory. An adjournment was then made to the Victoria Hotel, where full justice was done to a good hot spread. After brief speeches by Messrs. Yates, Moore, Lyon and Walker, thanking those responsible for arranging the outing, tracks were made for Loughborough. Boarding the charabancs, the company were surprised to find two of the younger members missing, so the main party had to depart without them, leaving the writer and his Leicester brother to find them. This they eventually did, and ascertained that the missing ones had done their best to 'twist' a marine store dealer, and had come off second-best. Taking the first bus to Loughborough, they arrived just in time to have a look round the foundry and see recast bells, and observe the antics which experienced ringers can cut on a light peal of ten. The visitors were kindly provided with a substantial meat tea by Messrs. Taylor and Co., at the Fearon Hall, the party being presided over by the Vicar of Loughborough, in the absence of Mr. D. Taylor, who was unavoidably away on business. Afterwards, at the Parish Church, well-struck Grandsire and Stedman Caters brought the ringing to a close, and the journey home was commenced, King's Norton being reached about 10.30 p.m., after a most enjoyable, though wet day. Through 'The Ringing World,' the visitors desire to thank Messrs. Taylor and Co. for their generous hospitality, and the various Vicars and towerkeepers for granting them permission to ring. P. O. L.

PETERBOROUGH GUILD.

A pleasant afternoon's outing took place on Saturday, Sept. 13th, when ringers and their relatives of the Kettering, Wellingborough, and Northampton branches of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild paid a visit to Loughborough. Messrs. Taylor and Co. kindly allowed the visitors to make a tour of the foundry during the afternoon and evening, and the visit was very interesting to all. Ringing was also indulged in on the foundry peal and at the Church of All Saints. The new carillon was also heard for a short period in the afternoon. Another pleasing feature was the finding of other contingents of ringers there from Rotherham and Birmingham. Messrs. Taylor and Co. generously provided tea for the whole of the visitors, who numbered upwards of 200. — The Rev. G. W. Briggs (Rector of All Saints) extended a hearty welcome to everyone, and expressed regret that Messrs. Taylor were not able to be with them. — The Rev. J. P. Frend, president of the Northants, and the Rev. R. C. Thurstfield, president of the Kettering branches of the Peterborough Guild, briefly responded for the clergy. — Mr. Moore, Mr. A. Walker, and

Mr. F. Wilford, Master of the Peterborough Guild, responded for the laity. — A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to Messrs. Taylor for their kind hospitality, and to everyone who assisted to make the outing such a success.

A PARTY FROM IRTHLINGBOROUGH.

On Saturday, Sept. 13th, the Irtlingborough ringers and their friends, had their annual outing, and this year (the Peterborough Diocesan Guild having decided to pay a visit to Loughborough to hear the carillon, and by the kind invitation of Messrs. J. Taylor and Co. to inspect the bell foundry) they decided to make it their 'day,' and to include a call at St. Margaret's, Leicester. It had been arranged to start at 8 a.m., by charabanc, and it was very obvious it was not practice night, for every man was present on time, and a start was at once made. After a call had been made at Finedon for other ringing friends, the party, to the number of 36, settled down very comfortably for the run, to Market Harborough, where a stop was to have been made to cool the engine, and to 'oil' the bearings, but as it was not ten o'clock no 'oil' was available; so the halt was postponed until Oadby was reached. After a stay of about half an hour, during which a course of Stedman Caters was rung on the handbells, the conductor took his place beside the man at the wheel (as he knew where St. Margaret's, Leicester, was), and another move was made. All went well until the well-known clock tower was reached, and then, whether the conductor called a 'bob' in the wrong place is not known, but there was a change of course, and in a very few minutes the party arrived at St. Mark's instead of St. Margaret's. However, under the kindly direction of a policeman, matters were soon put right, and the visitors arrived at the fine old church of St. Margaret, where Mr. Josiah Morris was present to receive the party. The magnificent peal of twelve bells were soon raised, and rounds and call changes, under the direction of Mr. Ernest Morris (who had by this time arrived), were the first order, as several of the party had not previously had the opportunity of ringing on twelve. Afterwards, a well-struck course of Bristol Surprise Major was rung, followed by a touch of Stedman Triples, also a course of Double Norwich on the front eight, and three leads of Treble Ten. Everyone enjoyed the privilege of ringing on this beautiful peal. It was very interesting at this stage to meet and exchange greetings with the members of the Birmingham and King's Norton companies, who were met again later in the day at Loughborough.

After luncheon at the Co-operative Hall, Mr. Perkins proposed a very hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Ernest Morris for the arrangements he had made, and to all the ringers, also to the Vicar of St. Margaret's for the use of the bells. — Mr. Barber, who seconded, said they were all delighted with the beautiful tone and 'go' of the bells, and he specially mentioned the kindly welcome extended to them by Mr. Josiah Morris. — The vote of thanks was replied to by Mr. E. Morris.

The journey was then resumed to Loughborough, and Messrs. Taylor's Foundry, where, meeting other branches of the Peterborough Guild, the party proceeded to inspect the foundry, and most interesting it was, too, particularly the large bell recently cast for Bristol University, weighing about 11 tons, and the third largest bell in the country. Having finished the tour of the works, some made their way to the Parish Church, and its fine peal of ten. Various methods were attempted, and everyone was pleased with the tone and 'go' of the bells. Others stayed at the foundry campanile to have a ring. The party next proceeded to the carillon situated in the park. Here, however, some members were disappointed at the results, as the bells were not heard to best advantage, but there is no doubt that when the full tone of the whole carillon is poured forth the effect must be very fine. Returning to Fearon Hall, the visitors found a splendid tea, very kindly provided by Messrs. Taylor and Co., awaiting the now large party of about 200, and the generous hospitality of the firm was much appreciated. After the tea some of the party again visited the church tower, and others the foundry campanile for further ringing, before leaving for home. The return journey was commenced at 7.30, and with a short call at the now famous 'Greyhound,' where there was harmony, selections, and touches on the handbells, home was safely reached, the party breaking up after joining hands in 'Auld Lang Syne.' Best thanks are due to all those who in any way helped to make the outing such a success. F. B.

A HALF-PEAL.

At Putney, on Wednesday, Sept. 17th, after an attempt for a peal of Bob Major, a half-peal of the same method was rung by C. Moody 1, H. G. Owen 2, C. J. Choct 3, S. S. Brown 4, W. H. Worsley 5, J. S. Hawkins 6, E. C. Russell 7, J. Herbert (conductor) 8. Time, 1 hour 30 minutes. This was rung as a birthday compliment to the genial Master of the local band, Mr. Tom Bolton, as, unfortunately, there was not time to ring the peal at the second attempt. The ringers afterwards adjourned to a near-by hostelry, where the usual good wishes were conveyed to Mr. Bolton, who suitably responded.

FIRST PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD PEAL.BOARD UNVEILED AT DESBOROUGH.

On Saturday, Sept. 20th, a peal board erected in Desborough Church belfry was unveiled by the Rev. R. C. Thursfield, of Cranford, the president of the Kettering branch of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild. It records the first peal rung for the Guild, and the first peal of Major on the bells, which was a 5,056 of Bob Major, composed by John E. Burton, and rung on February 9th, 1924, in 3 hours and ten minutes by B. O. Soden (Northampton) 1, M. Hobbs (Barton Seagrave) 2, F. Rollings (Weston Favell) 3, R. G. Black (Geddington) 4, A. Manning (Market Harborough) 5, T. Law (Weston Favell) 6, S. Burditt (Desborough) 7, H. Baxter (Broughton) 8, conducted by H. Baxter.

At the service, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. C. Cole-Hamilton), the Guild form was used. During the singing of the last hymn an adjournment was made to the belfry, where the Rev. R. C. Thursfield unveiled the board, and the Vicar offered the dedicatory prayers.

Thanks to an anonymous donor, an excellent tea was partaken of in the school, and afterwards Mr. Fred Wilford (Master of the Guild) congratulated the band, and tendered best thanks to the Rev. Cole-Hamilton for the use of the bells, and for allowing the board to be put up.

A vote of thanks was also passed to the Rev. R. C. Thursfield for unveiling the board, and for the splendid way in which he was helping the Guild.

Thanks were accorded to the donor of the tea and to Mr. S. Burditt, and the ladies who arranged the tea.

Methods up to Cambridge and Superlative Surprise were rung on the bells by ringers from Northampton, Market Harborough, Weston Favell, Cranford, Weekley, Geddington, Isham, Broughton, Rothwell, and the local band.

It is worthy of note that of the eight ringers in the peal five of them came from five-bell towers.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Bedford District was held at Biddenham on Saturday, 27th September. A good number were present, but owing to illness near the church the tower bells were not rung after tea, so the handbells were brought into use.

At the business meeting (Mr. W. Stapleton presiding), one new member was elected, and Milton Ernest was chosen for the next meeting, to be held on Saturday November 1st, the time to be notified later in 'The Ringing World.' It is hoped that a special effort will be made by all members to attend this meeting.

ST. MICHAEL-AT-COSLANY. NORWICH.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—After having set out to correct Mr. Jerram's account of the peal tablets at St. Michael-at-Coslany ('R.W.' 15th August, page 552), I find that the further information I sent you 'R.W.' 5th Sept., page 571) itself needs amendment, or, to be precise, amplification.

Tablet IV. is obviously incomplete without the performers' names, which, together with the last three lines on the board, were omitted from my copy:—

'Elijah Mason 1, George Hames 2, John Greenwood 3, John Coleman 4, John Cooper 5, Joseph Lubbock 6, Thomas Burrell 7, Samuel Thurston 8. William Hanks, Esq., George Coleby, Esq., Churchwardens. Perseverance overcometh Great Difficulties.'

I am extremely sorry, that as a result, this corrigenda becomes a piecemeal arrangement, for which I would ask your readers' pardon, not to mention this further demand on your space.

It has, likewise, been pointed out to me, that I failed to notify the two following (additional) typographical errors in the text of the original article, page 522:—

Peals 3 and 4.—The ringer of the 7th and 6th bells respectively, should be James Vines.

Peal 5 should read Wm. Hanks, Esq., Mayor, etc.

The numbers refer to the numerical order as given in Mr. Jerram's article. The name of James Vines appears, also, I might mention, on the peal tablet at St. Peter Mancroft, Grandsire Cinques, 1775.

In the belfry of St. Michael-at-Coslany, there is, in addition to the tablets, a framed printed record of the peal of Oxford Treble Bob, 1727, the text of which follows that tablet, to all intents and purposes, verbatim. This print, which is contemporary with the tablet, was discovered in the church some few years ago by a former churchwarden—the late Mr. Sturgess. It bears, at the head, an engraved device of the St. Peter Mancroft Society, a point which may be of some importance, seeing that it connects the ringers of that peal definitely with St. Peter Mancroft.

It has, I think, been held that at that period, St. Michael-at-Coslany and St. Peter Mancroft had each its individual band of ringers, and that St. Peter's did not ring at St. Michael's. This heading (of the St. Peter Mancroft Society) seems to show that such was not the case in 1727, although in 1731, we have the two rival bands in bitter newspaper controversy over the first 'peal' of Stedman Triples, which each was claiming.—Yours very truly.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Some comparative figures have just been published with regard to ringers in the West of England, compiled from the Church Official Year Book and Association reports. The Diocese of Bath and Wells is credited with 2,564 ringers, and of this number 1,239 are claimed as members of the diocesan association. In Somerset there are 301 towers with five or more bells, 141 of which are affiliated.

The Diocese of Salisbury has 1,948 ringers, with 804 in the Guild. There are 263 towers with five or more bells, and 110 of these are affiliated.

The following are the percentages of affiliated towers and ringers: Bath and Wells, 45.6 towers, 48.3 ringers; Salisbury Guild, 41.8 towers, 41.2 ringers. Devon Guild, 12.1 towers, 14.2 ringers.

For the sake of accuracy, we are asked to state that the name of the ringer in the Hampshire tour was Edmund J. Hobbs, and not Ernest J., as published.

The many friends of Mr. Frederick Wells, of Glemsford, Suffolk, will be grieved to hear that he is very feeble in health, and is now unable to recognise even his most intimate friends.

The handbell peal of Minor rung at Lavenham, on Thursday, Sept. 11th, and published in 'The Ringing World,' Sept. 20th, should be credited to the Suffolk Guild, and not the Norfolk Guild.

Three sons and a grandson of Mr. F. Cullum rang in a peal of Stedman Triples at St. John-the-Baptist's Church, Erit, on Saturday, to celebrate the 93rd birthday of the veteran, who has been a ringer at this church for over 50 years.

The first Surprise peal in Scotland was rung on Saturday, when the accomplished Whitley Bay (Northumberland) band scored a peal of London at St. Cuthbert's, Edinburgh.

The Dean of York, who presided at this year's Snowdon Dinner, has been a practical ringer since he was quite a small boy.

Since the bells at North Stoneham, Hants, were augmented to eight 15 years ago, exactly one hundred peals have been rung on them, viz.: Grandsire Triples 5, Stedman 20, Bob Major 18, Kent Treble Bob Major 14, Double Norwich 32, Superlative Surprise 5, Cambridge Surprise 6.

Like the increase in the number of bells, the building up of the eight bell band at this church has been almost entirely due to the efforts of Mr. George Williams.

It was twenty-five years ago last Saturday that the first peal of Stedman Caters was rung in Hampshire (at Winchester Cathedral), and twenty-two years ago next Monday that the first peal was rung at Exeter Cathedral. Mr. Williams conducted both these.

The first 'silent' peal of Kent Treble Bob Major on record was rung at Liversedge, Yorks, on October 3rd, 1863.

On October 6th, 1788, a peal of 6,024 Stedman Cinques, 'the first on record,' was rung by the College Youths at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, London.

William Booth, one of Sheffield's ringing stalwarts of a century ago, died on October 6th, 1849. He was born in 1783, and was Charles Henry Hattersley's grandfather.

A correspondent informs us that at the meeting of the Southmolton Deanery (Somerset) ringers on October 25th, a silver cup is to be given for the best ringing performance. There is, he says, no half-pull ringing in this district, yet they get an average attendance of over fifty members annually.

Reports of the dedication of new bells at Old Cleeve, meetings of the Worcestershire and Surrey Associations, and numerous outings, and letters to the Editor, are unavoidably held over.

METHOD CONSTRUCTION.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I will not comment on the tone of Mr. Powell's reply to Mr. Baker, but hope, if he deigns to answer me, to receive something more satisfactory, and to be let down more lightly.

There are, apparently, at least two schools of thought on this question, one being, according to Mr. Powell, the unscientific old fogies who say the places are the method, the other is composed of a mixed lot of old and young who think they have progressed far beyond that stage, and speak with some disdain of the 'stick-fasts.' My own conclusions, up to now lead me to back up the old school, but I am anxious for knowledge.

Mr. Powell, or any of the advanced school, can do a great deal towards advancing my education by examining closely the two methods published by Mr. Baker and answering the following question: Which part of the work of either method, whether it is called dodging, snapping, or a reversal of hunting direction, is not caused by a place or places?—Yours sincerely,

JOSEPH W. PARKER.

THE SNOWDON COMMEMORATION DINNER. SPLENDID GATHERING AT YORK.

The old city of York was the meeting-place of a large body of ringers on Saturday, Sept. 20th, on the occasion of the third annual dinner 'to the memory of the late Jasper Whitfield Snowdon and past officers of the Yorkshire Association.' London, Birmingham, Newcastle-on-Tyne—to mention three places only outside the county—sent representatives; whilst the bulk of the gathering was made up of Yorkshire Association members from the various towns in the three Ridings. Sheffield sent a strong party, who arrived quite early, and this band had the peal of twelve bells at the Minster going soon after morning service, these being available from 11 to 12.15. The Newcastle men went on from York to Selby, in the morning to try for a peal on the Abbey bells, but after an hour's ringing something went wrong, and the attempt failed—the band being back in York in time for dinner. The bells at the Minster were again available from 2 to 4 in the afternoon, as also were the peals of six at St. Mary's, Bishophill, and St. Philip and St. James's, Clifton.

At 5.45 p.m. the gathering of ringers, to the number of 133, assembled at the Windmill Hotel, Blossom Street, for the dinner. The Very Rev. the Dean of York (Dr. W. Foxley Norris) presided, and he was supported by the Rev. Canon Solloway (Selby), the Rev. C. C. Marshall (president of the Yorkshire Association, Leeds), Mr. F. E. Dawe (London), Mr. A. Walker (Birmingham), Mr. Cyril Johnston (Croydon), Mr. A. Knights (Chesterfield), Mr. F. Willey (Sheffield), Mr. P. J. Johnson (general secretary, Yorkshire Association, Leeds), Col. Otley (York Minster Chamberlain), and the local committee, Messrs. T. F. Earnshaw (treasurer), G. Horner (secretary), A. C. Fearnley, H. Imeson and G. Worth.

After the dinner (which was most admirably served under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Handsley, of the Windmill Hotel), had received that attention which tradition says ringers—and especially Yorkshire ringers—are capable of paying, the Dean proposed the loyal toast, 'The King,' which was enthusiastically honoured.

CLERGY AND RINGERS.

Mr. F. Willey proposed 'The Church and the State,' and said that they felt gratified with the results that had been achieved by the Yorkshire Association in the past two years. They, as ringers, should take a very firm and determined stand for a more generous support of the Church, and he urged them to help forward the work in more ways than they perhaps did in the belfry. He thought they would agree with him that nobody could visit the ancient city of York and look at the Minster without a spirit of awe as they stood under the shadow of its walls and thought of the men who tried to ring out the religion and the teaching of Christ for all. Mr. Willey said he had no fear in saying that some clergy did not even know their own ringers. How many clergy visited the belfry? If they visited such gatherings as that they would find a spirit of conviviality and of comradeship. He trusted that the Church would go on with its steady work. The ringers wanted to see the Church make progress, and they did not want any altering of the Prayer Book. They wanted a plain thing put before them, without any dogmas or pacifist teachings, because that was not true religion. He trusted that those at the head of affairs would see they proceeded in the right direction.

The Dean of York, replying to the toast, offered a hearty welcome to the association on behalf of the ancient city of York. He liked to hear the sound of bells, but only when they were rung by men who knew how to ring—he could tell the difference when he lived so close to bells as he did. He wished to echo the spirit of what Mr. Willey said about the Church. He was no pessimist in regard to either the Church or the State, and had no sympathy with pessimistic views. He did not believe in those who were constantly questioning whether the Church had the same hold upon the people as centuries ago. He did not believe that the Church of England ever had a stronger hold upon the people of this country than it had to-day. Neither did he believe religion ever had a stronger hold—essential religion, real religion—than it had to-day. Those things were easy to say and very difficult to prove, but personally he had not much fear about the Church. It was active, vigorous, as strong as ever and going ahead in really important matters, perhaps more rapidly and more strongly than it had done before in our generation. They were strongly led by the Archbishops of Canterbury and York, and the Church was rallying to their lead.

What about the State? Plenty of croakers thought that when the present Government went into office the end of everything was about to come. It had not come, and it was extraordinary how men, when they got into high office and had heavy responsibility, found how a steadying influence came over them. We got gradually better results from men when they got into those positions than, perhaps, we were accustomed to expect when they first took office. Our duty was to support the Government in everything it did which was right and for the good government of the people, and to check it the moment when something was not right and proper. The general common sense of English people, he thought, would take up that attitude and prevent this or any other Government from doing any real harm. Personally, he was not anxious about the Church or the State. Proceeding to speak of bell ringing, the Dean said his first lessons in ringing were started when he was quite a small boy. He had had steeples with good bells, and now, of course, he had splendid bells at York Minster. He never heard better ringing than in the first old parish of his in Yorkshire, in the neighbourhood of Huddersfield, and it had always been his standard of what good bell ringing should be. That was largely due to the efforts of the Yorkshire Association, and they developed a good deal under the association's policy. They, as ringers, were not only in his judgment, trained musicians and essential elements in the organisation of the Church, but he always had maintained, and always would, that the singers in the choir and the ringers in the steeple had a ministry, and that they had a duty to perform with the people and with the Church just as the clergy had. He agreed with the remarks about the clergy and ringers. There should be closer contact; and they should support one another as much as possible.

JASPER SNOWDON.

The chief toast of the evening, that of 'The late Jasper Whitfield Snowdon and past officers of the Yorkshire Association,' was entrusted to Mr. F. E. Dawe (London), who, in a really brilliant and eloquent speech, paid tribute to the memory of his old friend. After first thanking the Yorkshire Association for honouring him, by placing him in that position, he asked for a show of hands by the company of all those who personally knew the late Jasper Snowdon. Eleven hands were held up. 'Ah!' exclaimed the speaker, 'Jasper has been dead 39 years, and time is rapidly thinning those who knew him.' He then went on to trace the career of the great Yorkshire campanologist, showing how enthusiastic he was as a ringer, the part he took in the formation of the Yorkshire Association, of which he was president until his death; also of his writings on the subject of bell ringing and his introduction of coloured diagrams showing the working of the bells; and finished a brilliant appreciation of the late master by relating the tragic circumstances connected with his death. Mr. Dawe then recalled other stalwarts connected with the Yorkshire Association—Mr. Charles Henry Hattersley (of Sheffield), Mr. William Horner Howard (of York), a vice-president of the association for 25 years; Mr. William Snowdon, who followed his brother in the presidency; Mr. Charles Jackson (of Hull); and Mr. Breed (of York), a famous heavy bell ringer—all of whom Mr. Dawe knew personally, and to whose memory he paid rare tribute. The speaker wound up an eloquent and highly interesting address, by again thanking the association for giving him the opportunity of being present.

At this stage of the proceedings, the Dean of York had to leave to fulfil another engagement, but before doing so, Mr. T. F. Earnshaw (president of the York Minster Society) proposed a vote of thanks to the Dean for his presence that evening, and said how willingly he had acquiesced when approached as to his taking the chair on that occasion. During the course of his remarks, Mr. Earnshaw hinted that certain work was about to be undertaken that would improve the condition of the peal at the Minster—information which was heard with satisfaction by all concerned.

The Dean, in reply to the vote of thanks, mentioned that he had been amongst the bells at the Minster, accompanied by the clerk of works, and that in course of time certain improvements would be carried out. He thanked the company for the reception they had given him, and spoke of the pleasure it had been to him to meet such a representative body of ringers.

On the departure of the Dean, the chair was taken by the Rev. Canon Solloway, Vicar of Selby.

YORKSHIREMEN'S TRADITIONAL HOSPITALITY.

The toast of 'Kindred Ringing Societies' was submitted by Mr. P. J. Johnson, who extended a hearty welcome on behalf of the Yorkshire Association to the visitors gathered from the Ancient Society of College Youths, the Surrey Association, the Midland Counties Association, the Durham and Newcastle Association, the London County Association, the Birmingham St. Martin's Guild, and other associations, and conveyed to the gathering the sincere regret of Mr. J. Rowbotham, of London, and Mr. J. S. Pritchett, of Birmingham, at their inability to be with them to do honour to their old acquaintance, the late J. W. Snowdon.

In replying to the toast, Mr. A. Walker, of Birmingham, related a legal complication with another distinguished member of the Exercise, which proved highly diverting to the company, and an earnest wish was expressed that, in case of necessity, a surety could be found for Mr. Walker, so that he would be at liberty for the projected 'twelve bell week.'

Mr. C. F. Johnston also replied, and expressed his pleasure and satisfaction at the cordial reception accorded to the visitors, and wished the association every success in its future activities.

The next toast 'The continued prosperity of the Yorkshire Association,' was proposed by the Rev. C. C. Marshall, who conveyed to the meeting the sincere regret of their old friend, Mr. George Bolland, of Tong, who was absent through illness. The speaker pleaded for the continuance of the old tradition of hospitality for which the county was noted, and stated that, in his opinion, the Yorkshire Association owed much of its success to the famous teas with which visitors were received in pre-war days at the association meeting.

Mr. Marshall also announced that Bradford Cathedral ringers had invited the association to visit Bradford for the annual meeting, and as he (the speaker) had information that Bradford intended to make the meeting a high-water mark in the annals of the association all members were urged to visit Bradford on the occasion of the meeting.

This toast was enthusiastically honoured, after which Mr. F. E. Dawe took the opportunity of proposing 'The Ringing World.' In an interesting speech, Mr. Dawe traced the history of the ringing press, through its many vicissitudes, and pointed out the great debt that the Exercise was under to the Editor of 'The Ringing World' for keeping the paper going throughout the difficult days of the war, and urged that all ringers should do their utmost to give a more generous support to the paper than was its present lot, and further stated that, provided the paper was taken even by one in every six ringers, it would be possible to give a much better paper than at present.

Train time here compelled the second chairman to leave, the Rev. C. C. Marshall officiating in that capacity for the rest of the evening.

Mr. Albert Walker paid an eloquent tribute to the York quartette, whose magnificent singing had added so considerably to the success of the dinner, this leading the company rashly to attempt musical honours for the entertainers. Time brought, all too soon, an end to a most enjoyable evening, in which the splendid handbell ringing by the Sheffield Cathedral ringers, and the excellence of the programme, will leave a vivid impression on the memories of all present. Acting in his presidential capacity, the Rev. C. C. Marshall duly saw all his charges housed for the night, but was not equally successful in seeing all the 25 visitors who had stayed, on the following morning.

So ended a most enjoyable and memorable gathering, train time on the Sunday finally dispersing the visitors to their various destinations. This opportunity is taken to thank the clergy of York, who kindly granted the use of their bells for the day, and so materially added to the success of the occasion, and also to thank the York Minster ringers for the energy with which they entered into all the arrangements, and for the hearty welcome extended to all who visited York.

PAINSWICK'S ANCIENT SOCIETY. CELEBRATION OF THE 238TH ANNIVERSARY.

On Saturday, Sept. 20th, the Ancient Society of Painswick Youths celebrated their 238th anniversary. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m., with touches of Grandsire Triples, Caters, Cinques and Stedman Caters. Later, about 40 sat down to an excellent meat tea at the Institute, presided over by the Vicar (the Rev. C. H. Vicary), who, at the conclusion of the repast, extended a hearty welcome to the company.—Mr. Evans, of Gloucester, one of the visitors, acknowledged the welcome of the Vicar, and said he had much pleasure of restoring to the society one of Shipway's books on campanology, dated 1816, with Mr. W. Estcourt's name in it.

Mr. Albert Wright, Master of the Painswick Youths, accepted the book with considerable pleasure, as he was one of an unbroken line of ringers belonging to Mr. W. Estcourt's famous band. He said they had two of their clergy with them, but he thought they were unaware that they also had two Bishops, namely, the 'Bishop of Swindon' and the 'Bishop of Wandsworth,' and he proposed that these two Bishops should be made members of the Painswick Youths, namely, Mr. Ernest Bishop and Mr. Herbert Bishop.—Their 'lordships,' in acknowledging the compliment, thanked the Youths for the honour that had been done them by making them members of the society.

Mr. M. E. Ireland expressed the pleasure it afforded him again to be with them once more on the occasion of the celebration of their anniversary, and referred to the interest he had taken of recent years in the Painswick bells and ringers. The latter were essentially a united body, for change ringing could not be properly carried through unless the ringers were in accord one with the other. He drew from that a lesson of unity for the general community, and went on to speak in terms of deserved praise for Mr. Wright and his brother ringers at Painswick.

A few courses of Triples on the handbells brought these proceedings to a close, and the tower was again visited, when touches of Grandsire Triples, Caters, Cinques, Stedman Triples and Caters and Bob Major were rung. On Sunday, the 'Feast Day,' ringing was carried on at 10 a.m., 2 p.m. and 5 o'clock, for the services, with touches of Grandsire Triples, Caters, Cinques, Stedman Caters and Cinques, there being a great number of ringing visitors.

THE 'TWELVE-BELL' WEEK.

The result of last week's ringing tour to half a dozen twelve-bell towers was very gratifying. All the peals were rung, except at Wolverhampton, on Thursday, where a rope broke after an hour and a half. The successes were at Leicester, Birmingham, West Bromwich, Painswick and Cirencester, a peal of Stedman Cinques being rung at each tower.

Further details will appear next week, but we have been requested to express the thanks of the ringers to the 50 or so clergy, ringers and steepkeepers, whose united help and kindly co-operation enabled St. Martin's Guild to accomplish so much.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD. NORTHERN BRANCH MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Northern Branch was held at Lincoln on Saturday, and was well attended by members from various towers. Mr. F. Wilford, Master of the Central Northamptonshire Association, was also present. The bells of St. Peter-at-Arches, St. Peter-at-Gowts, St. Botolph's, and Washingborough, were at the disposal of the members, and a service was held in St. Peter-at-Arches Church, a good number being present. The Rev. R. Bond (Rector) officiated, and a very appropriate address was delivered by the Rev. Canon Townroe, Vicar of St. Peter-at-Gowts. An excellent tea was provided at the Co-operative Cafe, 85 members and friends sitting down.

The business meeting followed, at which Mr. F. E. Linley presided, supported by members of the committee, also the Rev. H. T. Parry, vice-president of the Grimsby district, and the Rev. A. Hunt, Welton. Apologies of absence were read from the Dean of Lincoln, and the Rev. H. C. Frith, Elsham.

The whole of the officers were re-elected en bloc. As the formation of a new district at Sleaford had not met with the success anticipated, it was decided to let the matter stand over for the time being.

The secretary's report from May 1st to September 20th inclusive was submitted to the meeting, and approved by the members.

The following new members were elected: Mr. Douglas Hewitt, Welton; Miss E. Cade and Mr. Geo. Cade, Scotherne; Mr. G. Smith, Ewerby; and Mr. W. J. Cleaver, Blankney.

With regard to the new rules, certain alterations, suggested by the committee, were brought forward, and carried. Other amendments were then considered, and after discussion, were also carried.

As the amendment of rules 4 and 5 necessitate the reversing of the annual and half-yearly meetings, it was agreed to hold the next half-yearly meeting at Stow in the autumn of 1925, the fixing of the date being left in the hands of the general secretary, and the members of the Stow company.

Mr. G. Chester read a letter which he had received from Mr. C. W. P. Clifton, who is recuperating his health at Woodhall Spa. It was very gratifying to learn that he hopes to return to Lincoln a better and stronger man.

The usual votes of thanks were unanimously carried, and brought the business meeting to a close.

DEATH OF MAJOR LIGHTOWLERS. TAUNTON RINGERS LOSE A FRIEND.

Major J. R. F. Lightowers passed away at his residence, Wellington Road, Taunton, on Tuesday, Sept. 16th, at the age of 73 years. The deceased gentleman, who took a leading part in the scheme to increase the bells at St. Mary's Church to twelve, was first commissioned in the army on August 10th, 1889, and attained the rank of Major on April 1st, 1904. He retired from the Royal Artillery, in which he had been serving, on October 14th, 1904. The deceased went through the South African war, and received the Queen's medal with clasp, and the King's medal with two clasps.

He was a staunch Churchman, and served ten years as churchwarden at St. Mary's Church from 1913 to 1923, being the senior of three wardens from 1918 onward. He identified himself very prominently with the important work in connection with the installation of the new frame and the augmentation of St. Mary's peal to twelve, and the reinstating of the carillon (there being 15 bells in all in the tower). He presided at all committee meetings, and took a most active part in collecting the necessary funds.

The deceased was laid to rest on Saturday, Sept. 20th, the funeral being carried out with military honours. His efforts will be ever remembered with gratitude by the ringers for his work in connection with the only peal of twelve bells in the diocese.

To perpetuate his memory, and as a token of respect, a peal of Grandsire Triples was rung on St. James's bells after the funeral.

COLNE ENGAGE, ESSEX.—On Saturday, Sept. 20th, at St. Andrew's Church, 720 Double Court: G. Wiffen 1, J. Turner 2, F. Ridgewell 3, E. Wiffen 4, J. French (conductor) 5, L. W. Wiffen 6. Also 720 Cambridge Surprise Minor: E. Wiffen 1, F. Claydon 2, J. Turner 3, G. Wiffen 4, L. W. Wiffen (conductor) 5, A. Saunders 6.

THE ELY (?) 'RESOLUTION.'To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In fairness to the Ely Diocesan Association the following two points should be made quite clear:—

(1) The 'resolution' was not a resolution of the Ely Diocesan Association at all, but was brought forward at a district meeting, and is now referred back to the association for discussion, if necessary, at its annual meeting.

(2) Among the causes underlying this resolution not the least potent is the fact that the Ely Diocesan Association has undoubtedly suffered considerably by the ringing, within its area, of peals for other associations, by ringers, the majority of whom are members of the Ely Association. This is particularly the case in one part of Cambridgeshire, where the great majority of peals rung in the last five years have been rung, chiefly by local ringers, under the name of another diocese. This is altogether different from the case of 'ringers on tour' contemplated by your correspondent, 'Medicus Vectensis'.—

Yours faithfully,
Long Stanton.

RINGING COMPETITIONS.
EFFECT IN THE FOUR SHIRES GUILD.To the Editor.*

Dear Sir,—I was very pleased indeed to read the interesting articles in this week's 'Ringing World,' re ringing competitions and prize ringing. 'W. W.' invites opinions on the subject, may I venture to give mine? In the area covered by the 'Four Shires Guild,' on the borders of Warwickshire, Worcestershire, Oxfordshire and Gloucestershire, change ringing was unknown till the formation of our little Guild. In October, 1909, a few bold spirits, led by that veteran ringer, Walter Large, met and decided to form a Guild, and to hold ringing competitions, twice yearly, to encourage the art in a district where the only ringing done was a few rounds, and, perhaps, half a dozen call changes. At the competitions, which were the result of this meeting, the teams were allowed five minutes to raise the bells, five minutes round ringing, five minutes call changes, and if there was a band which could ring a six-score, they rang it, and five minutes were allowed to lower the bells. The maximum number of points allowed for each event was 100, and every bad blow, or clash of two bells together, meant a point deducted from the 100. The tower which gained the most points was declared the winner, and awarded a handsome certificate of merit. Many of these may now be seen hanging in the belfries in the district. As the years rolled by, competition grew very keen, and one by one the towers took up method ringing, so that they could gain more points, and eventually round ringing was cut out of the competition. The bands could ring a six-score in any method they liked, the points being awarded for the striking alone. No money or personal prizes were given at these competitions.

In 1920, the Guild decided to purchase a 'challenge shield' at a cost of £20, to be put up for competition, and this was awarded to the band which gained the most points on the year's ringing. This acted as a great stimulant to the ringing in the district, the bands straining every nerve to obtain this coveted trophy, and at the last competition held, the present holders, who a few years ago were a poor struggling 5-bell band, ringing only rounds and a few call changes, obtained the grand total of 299 points out of a possible 300, while their runners-up gained 296 points.

I think this will prove that where competitions are carried out in the proper manner, they are a help to ringing.

We are holding our next competition on October 25th at Quinton, near Stratford-on-Avon, and we shall be very pleased to welcome anyone who would like to see how the competition is carried out. The home team is not allowed to compete on their own bells, but are allowed the average points on the day's ringing.—Yours faithfully, Tunmington.

HORACE TERRY.

MASHAM'S NEGLECTED BELLS.

The Cleveland and North Yorkshire Association met for the autumn meeting at Masham on Sept. 13th, but ringing on these very musical bells was found to be anything but a joy. The condition of the bells is described by one member as 'disgraceful,' and the opinion was expressed that unless a bell hanger is soon called in there may be a serious accident. The neglected state of the bells is in marked contrast to the rest of the church, where no pains are spared to maintain the fabric and its contents. But the dilapidated condition of the bells, being out of sight, is, alas, conveniently out of mind. It is sincerely hoped the church authorities at Masham will awake to their responsibilities in regard to the bells, and have them put into reasonable order.

Ringers were present at the meeting from Thirsk, Northallerton, Darlington (St. John's), Ripon, Sharow, Tanfield, Wath, Stockton-on-Tees and Middlesbrough.

'WIGSTON MAJOR.'To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In your last issue it was stated the above method was rung by a Leicestershire band. No mention was made as to where the ringers came from. I should like to see the figures of 'Wigston Major,' and learn who is its composer. Perhaps Mr. W. J. Brewin (as mentioned last week) or one other of the band will kindly oblige.—Yours,

'METHODS.'

LADIES' GUILD.

The quarterly meeting of the Western District was held at Evercreech, Somerset, on Saturday. The weather was glorious, and the attendance good. The towers represented were Bristol, Bath, Paulton, Clapton-in-Gordano, Burnham, Ditchet and Evercreech. The members were heartily welcomed by the local ringers, and touches in various methods were rung during the afternoon and evening. At tea, the Vicar (the Rev. E. B. Ll. Williams) extended a very hearty welcome to all the visitors, and gave a short address.

The business meeting followed, and three new members were elected.—Notice was given that the yearly meeting would in future be held in June instead of September, the year ending on the 30th June.

The next meeting will be held at Bristol, either on the 6th or 13th December.

Service was held in the beautiful church, which had been tastefully decorated for the harvest festival.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the vicar, organist, and to the ladies who had prepared tea.

Before leaving, the visitors said that they had thoroughly enjoyed their first visit to Evercreech.

NEWCASTLE CATHEDRAL GUILD.

The annual trip of the Newcastle Cathedral Guild took place on the 20th and 21st September. Unfortunately, the full company could not take part, owing to business and other calls. Leaving Newcastle at 7.35 a.m., York was reached shortly before 10 a.m., where Mr. G. A. Pickering (who had travelled all the previous day and night from County Kerry, Ireland), Mr. F. E. Dawe, London, and Mr. T. Haigh, York, joined the company, which then journeyed on to Selby. Here the Abbey bells were at their disposal for a peal attempt, Mr. H. Fairlamb, a local ringer, kindly taking the vacant rope. After a few preliminaries a start was made for Stedman Caters, W. H. Barber calling one of his usual 'twisters.' Unfortunately, the attempt came to a climax owing to a member missing his sally, after ringing 55 minutes, a change course resulting. Back to York, where the main attraction was 'The Snowdon Dinner.' Sunday was spent quietly, at the Minster, and exploring York in the afternoon, under the guidance of Mr. T. Haigh, and in the genial company of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. A. Walker, and others. After tea, the party were 'seen off the premises' at 6.43 by 'Brum,' Leeds and Rotherham friends. Home was reached shortly after 9 p.m., all having thoroughly enjoyed themselves. The writer takes this opportunity of thanking all who helped to make the trip a pleasure; Dr. Selloway for the use of the Abbey bells; Mr. Horner, of York, for arranging accommodation; Mr. Cryer, of Selby; and, last, but not least, Mr. P. J. Johnson, who did big things for the visitors.

LOUGHBOROUGH RINGERS' OUTING.

The ringers of All Saints' Church, Loughborough, held their annual outing on Saturday, Sept. 20th, when some twelve members assembled outside the Parish Church, waiting patiently for the 'tin lizzie' to arrive. At 1.40 the party were in 'high jinks,' en route for Earl Shilton, and an hour soon elapsed, when the tower was sighted, standing very high above the village. The ringers were met by Mr. Harry Webb, who had everything in readiness, and this new peal of eight by Messrs. Taylor and Co. were soon pealing forth Stedman. Bob Major, also Grandsire. The party were joined by Mr. John Oldham and Mr. Billinghamurst, and after about an hour's ringing proceeded to Thurlaston, where they partook of an excellent meat tea, for arranging which the secretary, Mr. Horace Stubbs, was suitably thanked. Regret was expressed at the absence of Mr. Pryce Taylor, who, however, left a reminder that he was with them in spirit if not in the flesh. After tea the party were met by Messrs. White, of Thurlaston, who again had everything ready in the belfry for the visitors, and standard methods were indulged in on this musical peal of six. After an hour or two's ringing the company had the pleasure of hearing Mr. Harry Webb's handbell quartette party, who tapped off in fine style a number of well-known airs. Further handbell and tower bell ringing was enjoyed until 9 o'clock, when the return journey was made. Although the day was wet, it was nevertheless enjoyable. The company wish to kindly thank those who helped to make the outing so successful; not least the Vicars of the various churches for the use of their respective bells.

SUNDAY SERVICE TOUCHES.

ROTHWELL BELLS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The report of the Leicestershire outing, which appeared in last week's issue of 'The Ringing World' is rather misleading. The writer, in commenting on the 'go' of the bells at Desborough, says they were excellent, with which I quite agree, but he goes on to say, 'But those at Rothwell require careful management.' This rather implies that all is not well with the 'go' of the bells.

May I say that every ringer in this district is always glad of the opportunity to ring on these beautiful bells, and are loud in their praise of the ease with which they can be rung, owing to the very great care the Vicar (the Rev. J. A. M. Morley) and the Rothwell ringers give to them.

The report goes on to say that some of the party went on to Kettering to view the beautiful park given by Earl Winstead to the inhabitants. I beg to say the park (which is a private one) was laid out, and made by Alderman C. Wicksteed, J.P., C.C., who very kindly allows the public free use of it.—Yours faithfully,

DAVID J. NICHOLS.

PRESENTATIONS TO A RINGER.

There was a happy little gathering of choirmen, bell ringers and parishioners in the Parish Room at Clun, Shropshire, on Monday evening, Sept. 15th, when Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Watkins were presented with a notecase, containing £11 11s. 6d., on the occasion of their silver wedding.

The Vicar presided, and the presentation was made by the Rev. H. J. Scott, who, in a few well-chosen words, conveyed the hearty congratulations and cordial wishes of the donors, and Mr. Watkins suitably expressed his acknowledgment.

Mr. Watkins, who is a native of Clun, has been employed most of his life at the business carried on at No. 1, Market Place, and for the long period of forty-five years has been a member of the parish church choir, and also a bell ringer since 1914, when the church tower and bells were restored, and his services have been much appreciated. The bells were rung during the evening to celebrate the event.

Included among other numerous gifts was a set of solid silver teaspoons, suitably inscribed, from Mr. W. Mead, his employer, and Mrs. Mead.

A FIRST PEAL COMMEMORATED.

A MANSFIELD PERFORMANCE OF 150 YEARS AGO.

To commemorate the first peal at Mansfield, Notts, which was rung a hundred and fifty years ago, a peal of Oxford Treble Bob Major was rung there on Saturday, the method being the same as in the first performance.

This first peal was rung on Monday morning, the 26th September, 1774, and consisted of 5,280 Oxford Treble Bob Major in 3 hours and 35 minutes, by the following persons: R. Peat 1, J. Wilkinson 2, R. Metheringham 3, W. Bradley 4, J. Mason 5, J. Fettiplace 6, F. Draper 7, William D. Crofts (composer and conductor) 8.

The Rev. R. F. Wilkinson, who took part last Saturday, was particularly keen on ringing the same bell as his namesake, although, of course, there is no relationship. Several suggestions were made for emulation of the previous performance, one being that the Nottingham men should walk home. This, however, was respectfully declined. The band cordially thank Mr. Wilkinson for the sumptuous tea provided after the peal. He makes a 'tin-top' host, and may feel interested to know that his namesake was the only 'first peal in the method' in the original band.

FARNHAM RINGERS' OUTING.

The members of St. Andrew's band, Farnham, Surrey, with their wives, had their annual outing on Saturday, Sept. 6th, when, accompanied by Mr. Cleaves (the vergier) and Mr. Smith (organ blower), and his wife, they journeyed by charabanc to Southsea.

Leaving Farnham at 7.45 a.m., a halt was made at Privett for a pull on the beautiful peal of bells at Holy Trinity Church, permission having been given previously by the Vicar (the Rev. A. E. Edge). After a couple of touches of Grandsire Triples, the visiting party were greeted, and warmly welcomed, outside the church, by the Vicar, who was thanked for the use of the bells. After this the journey was continued through the Meon Valley, in beautiful weather, amid lovely scenery, which was thoroughly enjoyed. On arrival at Southsea (Clarence Pier) the company dispersed, some enjoying a trip on the water to the Isle of Wight and some to Southampton and Gosport, the rest making their own pleasures, and sight-seeing in Southsea and Portsmouth. The return journey was commenced at 6.45 p.m., through Petersfield and Bordon Camp, but unfortunately the weather had changed, and it was raining heavily for nearly the whole of the journey. However Farnham was again reached at 9.20 p.m., everyone having thoroughly enjoyed the outing in spite of the elements.

WALTHAMSTOW RINGERS IN KENT.

On Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 13th and 14th, members of the St. Saviour's Society, Walthamstow, favoured by excellent weather, had a most enjoyable outing to Edenbridge. When those of the band who had to come after mid-day had arrived, a quick visit to the tower was made, and a touch of 210 Grandsire Triples, conducted by E. D. Lillywhite, was rung before dinner. After dinner, at headquarters (the King and Queen Hotel), the band proceeded by car to Penshurst, where they were met by Mr. G. Edwards, who had everything in readiness, and over an hour's good ringing, including touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, and Kent Treble Bob and Bob Major, was thoroughly enjoyed on the lovely peal of bells. In the evening, at Edenbridge, with several members of the local band joining in good touches of Double Norwich, Kent Treble Bob Major, Grandsire and Stedman were brought round. Later, an hour of music, and handbells, at headquarters, brought the evening to a close. For Sunday morning service, a fine quarter-peal of Stedman Triples was rung in 43 mins.: J. Heasman 1, H. A. Edwards 2, E. Leigh 3, C. A. Hughes 4, D. Vincent 5, E. Collinson 6, W. Steed (conductor) 7, E. D. Lillywhite 8. A long and somewhat fruitless walk in search of apples, nuts and blackberries, filled in the afternoon, and then, after tea, and ringing for evening service, it was time to say 'good-bye.' The band wish to take this opportunity of thanking the Vicars of Edenbridge and Penshurst for allowing them the use of the bells, and Mr. G. Edwards, of Penshurst, and Mr. J. Heasman, and Mr. Steddy, of Edenbridge, for all they did to make the outing such a success.

CLERGY AND RINGERS.

The relationship between clergy and ringers is not always as intimate as it ought to be, and there is not always between them the sympathy that is necessary to full understanding and successful co-operation. From time to time we hear of the serious neglect of a belfry and its valuable contents by the incumbent; such an instance as was, for example, brought to light in our last issue in connection with the meeting of the Cleveland and North Yorkshire Association at Masham. If our correspondent's description (not fully published) of the condition of the bells in this tower was only half true, then it warrants action by the Association in carrying the matter beyond the local church authorities, and calling the attention of the Archdeacon and the Bishop to a state of affairs which would not, for a moment, be permitted in any other part of the church. Ringing associations are now recognised in most dioceses as official bodies, and they ought to have a status which would enable them to bring before the diocesan authorities any glaring instances of neglect in a church belfry which come to their notice.

Such cases as that at Masham usually arise from the fact that no one interested in the welfare of the church ever troubles to visit the belfry or the ringers, and often, as a corollary, the ringers are seldom or never seen in the church. And thus a mismanaged "west end" leads to a growing neglect on both sides. At the York dinner recently the same point was emphasised when an appeal was made for a more generous support of ringers by the clergy, and a more generous support of the Church by the ringers. Although we have progressed a long way in the last thirty years, there is still much room for more extended mutual co-operation on the lines thus suggested; and if a greater number of clergy could be brought to see the value of taking a real interest in their ringers, they would find their recompense in an even more devoted support than they already receive from a body of men who now give their time and talents to the work of the church without, perhaps, the slightest acknowledgment.

There are some clergy, of course, who never will be interested in their ringers. They would be as content to have one bell chimed for service as to hear the whole peal rung. Indeed, it is not too much to say that they treat their ringers with studied discouragement. A case in which a clerical writer in the public press has recently done his best to show the inhabitants of his city how much nicer it is to be without bells than with them has just been brought to our notice. Writing in "The Eastern Daily Press," Canon Meyrick, of Norwich, says of St. Peter Mancroft peal, "We are glad that for a time the bells are silent." He qualifies his statement by adding that they will welcome the bells back with great rejoicing, but still, for the sake of those "wonderfully patient people" in the neighbourhood of the church—well, "we are glad" of the silence. He adds that "the number of peals which will be rung annually on the rehung bells will be very strictly limited." Canon Meyrick is Vicar of St. Peter Mancroft, and it is surprising, to say the least, to hear that he is glad of the silence of his bells—one of the most famous peals in the country. And his declarations are hardly encouraging to the ringers.

SURREY ASSOCIATION.

A most enjoyable meeting of the Central District was held at Bantled on Saturday week, when over 30 members and friends, taking advantage of a fine afternoon, were present. The fine peal of bells was much appreciated. A short service was conducted by the Vicar, and was brightened by the assistance of the organist and choir. Thirty-six members sat down to tea at the Institute, and the usual business meeting which followed was presided over by Mr. George Huggett, in the absence, through illness, of the Master, Mr. J. D. Drewitt.

It was decided to hold an extra meeting on November 29th, at Wimbledon, and the next quarterly meeting at Croydon in January. Ringing was continued until 9 o'clock, good practice being obtained in all the standard methods from Grandsire to London Surprise.

SUSSEX ASSOCIATION.

EASTERN DIVISION MEETING AT RINGMER.

A quarterly meeting of the Eastern Division was held at Ringmer on Saturday, Sept. 27th, when members representing the following towers were present: Brighton (St. Peter's and St. Nicholas'), South-over, Lewes; St. Saviour's, Eastbourne; Christ Church, St. Leonards, and Waldron, together with members of the local band. A service was held in the church, at which the Vicar (the Rev. G. R. Leefe) officiated, and gave an appropriate address, which was much appreciated.

Tea was served in the Parish Room, and between 20 and 30 were present. The usual meeting followed, the Rev. G. R. Leefe presiding. The election of Mr. P. J. Johnson and Mr. W. H. J. Hooton, as non-resident life members, was confirmed.—After a short discussion it was decided to hold the next quarterly meeting at Eastbourne.

Mr. W. D. Smith proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and for his eloquent address at the service. He also thanked the organist for his services.—This was supported by the hon. secretary, who expressed the wish that Ringmer would again join the association.

The Vicar, in response, said how pleased he was to be able to welcome the association members to Ringmer, and stated that he wished it was possible to make the visits more frequent.—This terminated the meeting, and the members returned to the tower, and kept the bells going in methods ranging from Grandsire to Superlative until 8 p.m.

ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD SOCIETY.

A quarterly meeting of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford was held at Penkridge, and a fair muster of members and friends were in attendance. A short service was held in church, conducted by the Rev. J. H. Kempson (Vicar), and an inspiring address delivered by the Rev. F. W. Jones, Vicar of St. John's Stafford. The Rev. C. H. Barker presided at the organ.

Tea was laid at the Littleton Arms Hotel, and between 40 and 50 partook of the good things provided.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Rev. J. H. Kempson for the use of the bells, etc.; the Rev. F. W. Jones for the address; the Rev. C. H. Barker for his help on the organ; and last, but not least, to the towerkeeper (Mr. J. Plant).

Touches in the standard methods were rung upon the bells during the afternoon and evening.

The next meeting is arranged to take place at Tettenhall on January 10th.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Major J. H. B. Hesse rang his 300th peal at Chiddingfold on Saturday. These peals consist of Doubles, Minor, Triples, Major, Caters, Royal, Cinques and Maximus, and three of Grandsire Triples on handbells. They have been rung in 99 different towers in 15 counties, and for 19 different associations.

It will be a matter of interest to all past and present members of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association to know that all the peals rung up to the end of 1922 are now actually written up in the peal books, which it is proposed to have on view at the annual dinner of the Bristol United Ringing Guilds on January 10th, 1925. In future they will be kept right up to date; this being made possible by the 'peal tax,' introduced about five years ago, viz., a contribution of 2d. by each member of the band ringing a peal.

The credit of introducing an affiliation fee for towers also belongs to this association, having been introduced about a year previous to the peal tax.

To our notice of the death of the Rev. W. E. Colchester, A.K.C., formerly hon. secretary of the Winchester Diocesan Guild, in the issue of the 26th September, may be added the fact that on the occasion of the dedication of the ring of six at St. Maurice, Winchester, by the late Venerable Archdeacon Fearon, in Oct., 1919, Mr. Colchester, we believe, established a record, i.e., he as Rector, conducted the first 720 of Plain Bob Minor on the bells, and this was his first attempt as conductor in the method. This was also the first 720 by the local band. It would be interesting to know if this is actually a record.

The bells at Petworth, Sussex, are to be reopened on Sunday. It recalls the 'good old days' when one reads that two men were required to ring an 18 cwt. tenor behind to a peal of Doubles, as was the case at Potterne, Wilts, last week. Is it not time the authorities called in a bell hanger?

F. H. Whittle, a promising young ringer, only son of Mr. Harry Whittle, of Stamford-on-Sear, has joined the Royal Navy, and is stationed at Portsmouth.

The ringer of the 3rd in the peal at Worsley (Lancashire Association), on Sept. 20th, was James Howarth. It was the first peal by the ringers of the 3rd and 4th, and not by the treble ringer.

The peal of Grandsire Triples at Lavenham on Saturday, Sept. 20th, and published in 'The Ringing World' on Oct. 3rd, was rung in 3 hours and 8 minutes, and not 3 hours and 18 minutes.

One hundred and seventy years ago next Sunday Holt's ten-part was rung for the first time. Although Holt was a Union Scholar, and afterwards a College Youth, it was the Cumberlands who first rang the peal, and they scored it at St. Leonard's, Shoreditch. It was not until 1771 that the College Youths rang a peal of Grandsire Triples.

Samuel Wood and Francis Wood rang the fifth and sixth, respectively, in the first performance of the ten-part. Francis Wood, who died suddenly about 1780, left a family of eight boys and two girls, and one of the former, who was then ten years old, afterwards became the father of the late Mr. Matt. Wood, of Bethnal Green. The family were of Huguenot extraction, their original name being Debois, which was anglicised to Wood. They came to England at the time of the persecution, and brought their silk weaving industry with them.

A peal of 7,020 Stedman Caters, composed and conducted by Henry Johnson, was rung at Aston, on October 14th, 1850.

The longest peal of Grandsire Major rung on handbells was composed and conducted by Mr. John Carter, and rung on October 16th, 1883, by the Birmingham Amalgamated Society. The ringers were T. Russam, J. Carter, T. Miller and J. W. Cottle.

On Oct. 16th, 1820, a peal of 6,030 Grandsire Caters was rung at Wakefield.

Two peals of Little Albion Treble Bob Major were rung before that at Willesden on Sept. 23rd. The first was a 5,040 at Pulford on Oct. 24th, 1913, composed by H. W. Wilde, and conducted by E. H. Lewis; and the second, a 5,008 at Eccleston, Cheshire, on Dec. 13th, 1913, composed and conducted by H. W. Wilde.

The copy of Shipway's 'Campanologia,' containing William Estcourt's signature, which was returned to the Ancient Society of Painewick Youths at their Feast, as reported last week, was handed over by Mr. E. Evans, on behalf of Mr. E. Pemberlon, of Ipswich, who was unable to undertake so long a journey.

His many friends, particularly those at York, who were anxious as to his future, will be glad to learn that bail will not, after all, be required for Mr. Albert Walker. He appeared before the Birmingham Deputy Stipendiary in due course, and was let off with the modest fine of five shillings.

By the way, it should be mentioned that it was not for causing any annoyance to the public with St. Martin's bells, but for an erring son, who rode his bicycle round the wrong side of a street refuge. But boys will be boys, and fathers must pay. The Ringing Master, however, will not miss any practices—nor any sleep—on account of this breach of the law.

The South Molton Deanery, where a ringing competition is to be held on the 25th, is in Devon, and not Somerset, as stated in our last issue.

THE WASHBROOK MEMORIAL. ST. EBBE'S OR ST. GILES?

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Please forgive me encroaching on the space in your valuable paper, but I feel I must have a word to say in reply to Mr. Collett in your issue of Sept. 26th.

To put forward the plea that St. Ebbe's is the most suitable tower because its members are enthusiastic, punctual and regular at Sunday ringing and week-day practice, seems to me rather weak. Most of the other Oxford towers are just as regular both for Sunday service and weekday practice. St. Giles stands on the same footing. It has, at the present time, an efficient band of change ringers. Its bells are rung regularly for service and practice. Its belfry is ever open to all classes of ringers. It has played a very important part in promoting the art of ringing amongst members of the University, and it has maintained a change ringing band through all its 32 years' connection with the Oxford Diocesan Guild.

But all this is no argument as to which is the most suitable tower. The memorial to the late Mr. Washbrook must be one of dignity as well as usefulness; one of which all ringers can be proud. St. Giles is a fine old church standing in a large open space. Its massive tower raised in the 13th century contains an excellent ring of six in F sharp (tenor 15 cwt. approx.). They can be heard all over the city. They were all rehung in a stout oak frame in 1906 with pits for eight. There is every facility for change ringing, as its past history testifies, and by placing the two new bells in the places waiting for them, the committee entrusted with this difficult task, will receive the gratitude of present and future generations of ringers, and will also have the satisfaction of knowing they did their job thoroughly, and to the best all-round advantage.

In conclusion, please permit me to say that the points herein mentioned in favour of St. Giles, have the support of a large number of Oxford ringers, as I could show by names and addresses if space would permit.—Yours faithfully,

St. Giles' tower.

V. BENNETT.

METHOD MAKING.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I am sorry Mr. Parker dislikes the tone of my letter. The last thing I desire is to be rude, but experience has taught me that in these matters unless one hits straight from the shoulder one is completely misunderstood. An instance in point is afforded by Mr. Trollope's recent letter. Mr. Parker is mistaken in supposing that I regard the older school of experimentalists as unscientific; my criticism of them, on the contrary, is that they slavishly follow the mechanical methods of the Victorian natural scientists. The discovery of radium and the like has revealed the inadequacy of the system under which we were brought up.

Mr. Parker's use of the word 'cause' is particularly interesting in this connection. It is a word about which there has probably raged more controversy in theological and philosophical circles than any other word in the English language. Let us try to come to some agreement as to what we mean exactly by the term. Suppose it is found that in our experience some one event always accompanies or follows another, then the first event may be said to be the cause of the other. That does not imply that there is any necessary suggestion of active agency; indeed, sometimes either event may be regarded as the cause or as the effect, according to the angle from which the question is approached. To take Mr. Parker's instance: I agree that in the sense in which I have used the word 'cause' the place causes the dodge, but I hold that it could equally well be argued conversely that the place is caused by the insertion or omission of a dodge. If this be so, surely it disposes of the theory that the place has any function of active agency. It is merely an invariable accompanying phenomenon. And I hold that we are justified in claiming that to find what I would describe as the active or actuating cause, we must seek further afield.

It is here that my difficulty arises. I confess that to the best of my belief it is beyond all expectation that a demonstration can be given of the truth of the more modern theory which will satisfy those who do not wish to be convinced or perhaps who cannot make a venture of faith. But I believe that the younger generation now growing up is out of patience with the older school of scientists with their mechanical and materialistic outlook. A theory which affords a logical and reasonable explanation of method construction and in laying down general principles provides in every individual instance for the particular is, perhaps, worthy of serious consideration, even if its truth can only be shown by the circumstance that it does in fact meet the case. The placemaking theory cannot from its very nature do this. By hypothesis every method stands alone, and has no constructional relationship with any other method.

May I add one word dealing directly with the instance supplied by Mr. Baker? The dilemma in my mind did not apply to those who are content to cling to the place and nothing but the place. If I understand his position aright, Mr. Parker belongs to this group. But the majority of the experts have abandoned part of the pass. Most of those who have studied London Surprise Major have come to regard it as compounded largely of plain backward hunting on the bells below the treble. Now, in the second method put forward by Mr. Baker I think it will be agreed that this feature has disappeared. Here, then, are two methods which on any placemaking theory are closely allied, but at the same time differ fundamentally in their essential characteristics.—Yours faithfully,

E. S. POWELL.

METHOD CONSTRUCTION.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—It may be fresh news to the Rev. E. S. Powell to learn that proving the construction of a method is practically the same as proving a peal composition; it will not be fresh news to Mr. Trollope, as this fact has been demonstrated to him.

There are very few practical ringers who do not know that the first lead of a method contains all the place-making, the remaining leads being but repetitions.

To prove the construction of any method all that is necessary is a table of the result of every possible SINGLE shunt that can be made in the Primary Principles or in the Treble Bob Principle; it is then only a matter of a few minutes for anyone who knows anything of transposition to prove the construction of any method, principle, or system from the table.

Just as bobs at M.W.H. all have their part in forming the C. End 65432, so also every single shunt has its part in forming a method.

London Surprise and the Variation of London Surprise, published in 'The Ringing World' of 19th September, each contain 22 single shunts, and the result of each shunt made separately in the Treble Bob Principle is here given:—

London.	Variation.
(1) 12537486	12537486
(2) 12537486	12537486
(3) 12547386*	*12347685
(4) 14325678	14325678
(5) 16325478	16325478
(6) 18325476	18325476
(7) 18325476	18325476
(8) 17325486*	*12385476
(9) 15327486	15327486
(10) 15327486	15327486
(11) 12357486	12357486
(12) 12537486	12537486
(13) 12537486	12537486
(14) 12547386*	*12347685
(15) 12547683	12547683
(16) 12547683	12547683
(17) 12547638	12547638
(18) 12543678	12543678
(19) 17325486*	*12385476
(20) 15327486	15327486
(21) 15327486	15327486
(22) 13527486	13527486

Anyone who examines the two columns will see that every shunt except the 3rd, 8th, 14th and 19th, is the same in each method, and these four alterations make the difference between the lead-heads of London 14263857 and Variation 15738264.

In the Variation the 3rd and 19th shunts are orthodox 6th's place bobs, instead of 4th's, as in London, and the 8th and 14th shunts are orthodox 3rd's place bobs instead of 5th's, as in London, consequently there are only eight less bells shifted in Variation than in London, and yet the great little WE would tell us that the Variation consists of two or more constructional shunts, and London six or more constructional shunts!

Once more I challenge the two gentlemen to prove the construction of London and Variation by their particular formula, or, failing that, to try and disprove anything that I have written above.—Yours faithfully,

GEORGE BAKER.

P.S.—Anyone who cares to take the trouble of transposing the fundamental row by the shunts of each method in their consecutive order will be able to prove what I have written for themselves.—G.B.

YORKSHIRE VETERAN'S DEATH.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. Joseph Nowell, who passed away at the advanced age of 80 years, at his residence, West Laithe, Heptonstall, on Wednesday, Sept. 24th. Mr. Nowell commenced ringing in 1873, and was a regular ringer at the Heptonstall Parish Church for 50 years.

The funeral took place on Saturday, Sept. 27th, at the Parish Church. As the cortege left the house, the 'whole pull and stand' was rung, with the bells deeply muffled.

Members of the Oddfellows Society, of which Mr. Nowell was a member, were the bearers to the church, and his fellow-ringers from the church to the graveside.

After the funeral, and at the services on the Sunday, various methods were rung, with muffled bells, as a last tribute of respect to his memory by the following: W. Spencer 1, A. Ingham 2, L. Bates 3, T. Robertshaw 4, J. Robertshaw 5, L. Greenwood 6, F. Robertshaw (conductor) 7, J. A. Robertshaw 8.

NEW PEAL OF EIGHT IN SOMERSET.

VALUABLE ADDITION TO DUNSTER DEANERY.

At Old Cleve, Somerset, two trebles have been added to the existing peal of six to make a ring of eight, and they were dedicated by the Bishop of Bath and Wells on Tuesday, Sept. 23rd. One of the new bells (the treble) has been given by the parish, and bears the inscription, 'Parochia dedit dono.' The 2nd is the generous gift of Mr. G. S. Lysaigh, and is inscribed 'Gerald Stuart Lysaigh—Chapel Cleve—dedit dono.' Each bell also bears the names of the Rector (the Rev. A. C. Harman) and the churchwardens (Messrs. G. S. Lysaigh and T. C. Gooding), the date and the name of the founders. Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough. The original six bells by the same founders, were placed in the tower in 1885, by the Misses Annie and Susan Halliday, in memory of their mother. Before that time there were three bells, one cast in 1633, or earlier, one probably pre-Reformation, and one cast in 1722. These bells, with the remains of another broken one, of a total weight of 33½ cwt., were used in casting the new six in 1885. The work of hanging the two trebles was satisfactorily carried out by Mr. John Sully, of Zinch.

Ringers from Minehead, Dunster, Timberscombe, Withycombe, Carhampton and Bridgwater, as well as the local band, were present at the dedication ceremony, which was also attended, despite a wet night, by a big congregation. Grandsire Doubles on the old six bells summoned the people to the service. The Bishop and clergy, choir and churchwardens, entered the church during the singing of the processional hymn, 'We love the place, O God.' The Rev. E. Parry Liddon (Vicar of Minehead) acted as Bishop's chaplain, and other supplied clergy present were Preb. A. C. Harman (Rector of Old Cleve), Preb. W. T. Reeder (Rural Dean and Vicar of Dunster), Revs. W. Burgess (St. Decuman's), T. S. Dawson (Carhampton), G. W. Govan (Withycombe), C. C. Sharpe (Nettlecombe), and C. H. Shaw (Leighland). The Rev. C. C. Parker, of Corston Rectory, near Bristol, Master of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association of Change Ringers, was to have been present, but he was unfortunately taken ill in the church porch, and had to return to the Rectory, where he was staying.

During the singing of the Psalm, 'I was glad when they said unto me: We will go into the house of the Lord,' the Bishop, clergy and churchwardens proceeded to the tower, and here the churchwardens, each taking a rope of the new bells, asked the Bishop to dedicate them, whereupon the Bishop pronounced his desire to 'solemnly set apart and dedicate these bells to the glory of God and to the use of this church, separate from all profane and unhallowed uses,' and then committed the bells to the trust of the Rector. Subsequently the Rector chimed the bells, and they were then raised by two of the ringers, after which a few rounds were rung on all the eight bells. The dedicatory proceedings were followed by the singing of the hymn, 'Lifted high within the steeple, all our bells are set on high,' and prayers by the Bishop, in which he invoked heavenly benediction on the bells.

RINGERS' OFFICE IN CHURCH LIFE.

The Bishop preached an eloquent and appropriate sermon. At the outset he expressed the pleasure he felt at being present in that old church on such an occasion and to rejoice with their Rector and all the parishioners in the completion of this godly work and the spirit of enterprise which it implied, and also to thank one servant of God in that parish into whose heart God had put it generously to bestow such a gift on His house. From the text (Isaiah lxii. 6), 'I have set watchmen upon thy walls, O Jerusalem, which shall never hold their peace day nor night,' the Bishop then passed to the theme of his address—'the Lord's remembrancers'—for such, he said, were the watchmen, who, from the walls of Jerusalem, described the hosts of the people of Israel returning from their captivity in the arid plains of Babylon, and lifted up their voices for that Israel was come back to Zion and the Lord's covenant was fulfilled. Church bells and their agents, the ringers, continued the Bishop, were like the watchmen on the walls. They were the Lord's remembrancers summoning God to be mindful of man and man to approach God in reverence, and the ringers' office was a great one in church life. No great event in individual or national life took place without the Lord's remembrancers. 'As I stand in a belfry,' said the Bishop, 'I always feel a sense of awe. Bells seem to me to epitomise life. They are the remembrancers of individual life. They ring for birth, for joy when a man is born into the world. They greet merrily youth and maid as they quit the church man and wife, and they speed them on their way. And they utter their deep slow solemn notes to tell of the passing of a spirit from the world. Remembrancers, too, in church life, the bells celebrate our great Christian festivals. Bells are almost human in their appeal to worship, and the sound of the bells on a still summer day bring back memories of Sundays in the home of childhood, of days gone by. Bells and their memories tear out our very heart strings, and bells are remembrancers of public life. In national life they play their full part. Each great event their mellow tongue tells forth: they are the people's common expression, whether of joy or of sorrow. The anniversary of an historic date, the death of some great one, a victory of arms, a settlement of peace, all these are proclaimed alike from the belfry tower. 'May the bells,' concluded the Bishop, 'as the Lord's remembrancers, peal out over the vales and combs, the moor and sea, the great fact bringing home to your hearts that God is behind and in and over all life, to call you to remember Him, lest you forget, lest you forget.'

During the hymn, 'Angel voices ever singing,' a collection was taken for expenses yet to be met in connection with the hanging of the bells, there being a balance outstanding, the Rector mentioned, of about £10. The Bishop subsequently pronounced the Blessing, and the service closed with the singing of the recessional, 'Saviour, blessed Saviour.'

While the congregation left the church, those whose interest inclined to ringing went back to the tower, where the bells were again set in motion by alternate bands of ringers. Among those who took a turn were the Rev. W. M. K. Warren, of Charlynch Rectory, and Mr. A. E. Coles, of Bridgwater. They rang first a 504 of Grandsire Triples, from 'Holt's Original,' conducted by Mr. T. Elliott, of Dunster, and afterwards Stedman Triples and Bob Major, and the opinion generally was expressed that the addition of the new bells had made 'a very good splice.'

A meeting of the Dunster Deanery branch of the Bath and Wells Association is to be held on October 11th, when the Rector has invited them to hold a formal 'opening' of the bells.

WORCESTERSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

NORTHERN BRANCH AT ROWLEY REGIS.

The quarterly meeting of the Northern branch was held at St. Giles' Parish Church of Rowley Regis, on Saturday, Sept. 20th, and was attended by members from the following towers: Bromsgrove, Dudley, Kidderminster, Stourbridge, Swinford, Brierley Hill, King's Norton, Harborne, Northfield, Smethwick, Sedgley, Tipton, Oldbury, Cradley, Wollaston, Wolverley, Lye and Selly Oak. The bells were available from 3 o'clock, and were kept going in various methods until the service, which was conducted by the Vicar, Lieut.-Col. (retired) the Rev. F. J. Cheverton, and the Association form of service was used. Mr. D. Wright (clerk to the Rowley Regis Urban District Council) read the lesson. The Vicar gave a very appropriate address on bells and their use from ancient times. The organ was splendidly played by a young member of the Oldbury company. Immediately following the service, tea was served in the Church Room, about 90 members and friends sitting down.

The business meeting followed. The Vicar presided, supported by Mr. W. B. Cartwright (Ringing Master, Northern branch), Mr. R. Matthews (Ringing Master, Worcestershire Association), Mr. T. J. Salter (C.C. representative), and Mr. A. J. Skelding (branch secretary and treasurer). Among the visitors were Mr. B. Witcomb, of the Warwickshire Guild, and Mr. J. E. Jones and Mr. W. Froggatt, of St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham. Apologies were received from Dr. Beasley, Rev. T. C. de la Hay, Mr. J. Hemming (secretary, Southern branch), Mr. W. Short, Mr. H. Sheppard (hon. secretary, Dudley and District Guild), and Mr. A. E. Parsons.—In his letter of apology, Mr. A. E. Parsons suggested that a collection be taken on behalf of the Rowley Regis Church rebuilding fund.—This was unanimously agreed to, and realised the handsome sum of £1 16s. 8d.

The Ringing Master for the branch, Mr. W. B. Cartwright (Solly Oak), was re-elected, as was also Mr. A. J. Skelding, branch secretary and treasurer, and a hearty vote of thanks was accorded them for their good work.

The entirely new companies of Oldbury Church and Lye Church were elected as performing members of the association, and received a cordial welcome.—Mr. J. Price, of Old Hill, was elected representative of the branch on the Central Committee.—It was decided, with the Vicar's permission, to attempt the quarterly peal at Rowley Regis, the peal to be a local company effort, with Mr. A. Timmins to conduct.

Cradley was chosen for the next quarterly meeting, to take place on the third Saturday in January, 1925.

On the proposition of Mr. W. B. Cartwright, seconded by Mr. R. Matthews, supported by Messrs. T. J. Salter and J. Price, the best thanks of the meeting were given to the Vicar for arranging his service, his splendid address, and for presiding at the meeting.—Votes of thanks were also accorded to Mr. T. Clarke and his band of ringers for providing the magnificent tea, and to the ladies who had so kindly looked after the needs of the members.

The Vicar, in reply, said it was the first meeting of bell ringers that he had ever presided over, and it gave him the greatest pleasure to have their association at Rowley Regis. He thanked them very heartily for their collection and other assistance that had been given to get their bells restored. He then gave a very graphic description of the bells from the time they were originally cast in 1648 until the new peal was recently installed in the new tower by Mr. J. E. Groves.

Mr. D. Wright also gave an interesting historical survey of Rowley Regis Church, and expressed the pleasure of the Church Council at the Association's visit.

Returning to the tower, touches in various methods were brought round, and this brought to a close one of the best and greatest meetings ever held in the history of the branch.

SUFFOLK GUILD AT LAVENHAM.

A general meeting of the Suffolk Guild was held at Lavenham on Saturday, when 30 members attended from 17 parishes.—Mr. A. Symonds, secretary, who had the bells in readiness, welcomed the visitors, who included the Rev. H. Drake, general secretary (Ufford), the Rev. Copeland, Mr. H. Day, Eye, district secretary; Mr. E. Poppy, Stoke Ash, and others. Touches ranging from Bob Minor to Double Norwich were rung. Tea was kindly provided at the Rectory, and the business meeting followed, with the president (the Ven. Archdeacon Farmiloe) in the chair, supported by the Rector, the Rev. G. Lennox Conyngham, and the district secretary.

Mr. S. H. Symonds, Lavenham, was elected assistant secretary, and it was proposed to hold the next meeting at Stowmarket, in November, to be followed by one in December at Long Melford, where a handy peal of eight is shortly to be rung. Two new members were elected, viz., the Rev. Bree and Mr. W. H. Pearman, both of Long Melford.

The young band of Elveden, who were present, were complimented on their splendid progress.

Hearty vote of thanks were accorded the president for taking the chair, the Rector and Mrs. Conyngham for providing tea, and Mr. A. Symonds for having the bells ready.—The Chairman and Rector both suitably responded, commenting on the good church work which is performed by ringers in general.

This terminated the business, and the tower was again visited, when other touches were rung on this grand peal of bells.

ESSEX FESTIVAL AT GREAT DUNMOW.

Fifty members of the Essex Association were present at the ringing festival at Great Dunmow on Saturday, October 4th, from Dunmow, Stebbing, Rayne, Great Bardfield, Braintree, Shelford, Cambridge, Fulbourn, and Sawston, including Mr. C. H. Howard, Master of the Essex Association; Mr. W. H. Dyson, hon. secretary, Northern Division; and Mr. R. Buttress, Archdeaconry hon. secretary of the Ely Association. A short service was held in the Parish Church. The Rev. W. J. House, D.D., Vicar, officiated, and in a short address gave the visitors a warm welcome to his parish.

A bountiful free tea was provided in the Parish Room, after which a social evening was spent. Songs were contributed by Miss Furniss, Mr. John Gibbons, Mr. A. E. Floyd, who gave a selection of West England dialect songs. Miss Bacon accompanied at the piano. Tunes were rendered on the handbells by the Stebbing band, and Miss Dottie Smith, daughter of Mr. W. Smith, Dunmow, gave two excellent recitations.—On the proposition of the Master, seconded by the hon. secretary, a vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar for the use of the bells; to the ladies who provided the tea, including a huge iced cake, of which everyone was bidden to partake; and to the artists for their excellent programme. Touches of Cambridge Surprise, Treble Bob and Grand sire Doubles were rung upon the heavy ring of six during the afternoon.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A special meeting was held at Wylam-on-Tyne on Saturday, Sept. 20th. The bells, a fine ring of six, with a tenor 22 cwt., were kept going during the afternoon and evening to the tune of Bob and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob, Kent, and Oxford Treble Bob, Double Court, and London Surprise Minor, several young ringers having their first touches in Doubles and Minor. Twenty-nine sat down to an excellent tea at the Bird Inn, presided over by the president (Mr. C. Toft), who was supported by the Vicar (the Rev. H. H. Barff), the hon. secretary and hon. treasurer, the vice-president for the Southern district, and secretaries of the Western and West Tyne Districts, and others. The vice-president of the Eastern district arrived, with several other ringers, after tea. The following towers were represented: Newcastle Cathedral and St. John's, Benwell; St. George's, Jesmond; Gosforth; St. Mary's, Gateshead; Tanfield; Holy Trinity, Darlington; Houghton-le-Spring, Newburn, Newton Hall, Winlaton, and Wylam.

This being an extra meeting there was no business to transact, and all the time was, therefore, spent in the tower except when tea occupied attention.

The President thanked the Vicar for the use of the bells, and reminded those present that the annual meeting would be held on Saturday, October 25th, in Newcastle. He hoped everyone present would attend that meeting, and bring two or three with him.—The Vicar, in responding, said how pleased he was to lend the bells, and said he enjoyed hearing them whilst he was going round the Ryton golf course, across the river. He would be nearer during the evening, so hoped they would not clash or ring them too loudly. Both these wishes were materialised. Just at it was time to make tracks for home the weather turned very wet, and the poor hon. secretary had an eleven-mile cycle ride home in the dark and rain. Three packed in or on a motor-cycle and sidecar, splashed through the rain and mud to Newton Hall; yet another three did the same to Gosforth, but despite the watery conclusion it was the unanimous opinion that it had been a very successful meeting. KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.ASHFORD DISTRICT SECRETARY RETIRES.

The annual meeting of the Ashford District was held at Hythe on Saturday, Sept. 27th. Ringing commenced at 2.30, with a well-struck touch of Stedman Triples, followed by other touches in the standard methods. Tea was served at the Wilberforce Temperance Hotel, High Street, about 30 sitting down, with the Vicar (the Rev. H. D. Dale) presiding. The general business meeting followed.

Before the election of officers was brought on, Mr. C. Tribe asked to be relieved of his duties as hon. secretary, which, he said, he had carried out (more or less satisfactorily) for the past 16 years, owing to failing eyesight.

Mr. H. Parkes, of Mersham, was then duly elected to fill the post. Messrs. E. S. Ruck and C. Tribe were elected as district representatives for the ensuing year.

Ashford, Headcorn, New Romney and Brabourne were proposed, and carried, as the places for meetings in 1925.

It was also arranged to hold a meeting in November at Tenterden as a welcome to the new Vicar (the Rev. M. L. Mann).

Two new members were elected, and also the Vicar (the Rev. H. D. Dale), as hon. member.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar for permission to hold the meeting at Hythe, and also for presiding, to which the reverend gentleman suitably replied.

Members attended from Ashford, Mersham, Brabourne, Stone, Appledore, New Romney, Wye, Cheriton, Saltwood, and several of the local ringers, and a hearty welcome was also given to the visitors, Messrs. L. Head and G. Pound, Maidstone district representatives. The members then adjourned, some to the local tower and some to Folkestone, for an evening's ringing.

GLOSTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION.CHEL TENHAM BRANCH.

The autumn meeting of the above branch was held at Kemerton, by invitation of the Rector (the Rev. J. A. B. Mercier), on Saturday, Sept. 20th. The bells were raised in peal at 3 o'clock, and good practice obtained. The weather was about as bad as it could be, for it rained in torrents all the afternoon, but it was gratifying to see some 40 odd members present at the service, which was conducted by the Rev. Mercier, with the Rev. Webb at the organ, and a full choir. After service, the members adjourned to the Victoria Hall, where a splendid tea was in readiness, to which full justice was done.

At the meeting which followed, the Rector presided, supported by the Rev. Webb (Rector of Bredon Norton), the Rev. H. A. Corke (Rector of Swindon), Mr. C. W. Dyson and Mr. W. Wakeford, chairman and secretary, respectively, of the newly-formed Tewkesbury Deanery branch, and some 50 members from the following towers: Tewkesbury, Cheltenham (St. Mark), Swindon, Prestbury, Leckhampton, Leigh, Winchcombe, Alderton, Beckford, Ashchurch, Dumbleton, the local tower, and several friends from over the border.—The secretary explained how the new branch had been formed, and wished it every success.

Letters of apology were received from the Rev. A. D. Pennington (Alderton), Canon E. F. Smith (Tewkesbury) and Mr. W. J. Smith (Beckford).

Prestbury was selected as the venue for the annual meeting, in January.—One new member was elected, and a hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Rector for the use of the bells for conducting the service and the splendid tea provided; also to the organist and choir and the lady helpers.

Mr. Mercier, in responding, said how very pleased he was to be able to welcome the branch to his parish.

This concluded a very happy meeting, after which the bells were again heard above the wind and rain.

PRESENTATION AT LEOMINSTER.PARTING GIFT TO DISTRICT SECRETARY.

On Saturday, Sept. 27th, a combined practice by the Hereford Diocesan Guild was held at the Priory Church, Leominster. Twenty-one members attended from nine different towers, including the Guild Ringing Master and the hon. general secretary. Touches were rung in Grandsire Doubles and Triples and Bob Major. During the evening an interesting presentation took place, a silver inkstand, in the shape of a bell, being given to Mr. A. Talbot, of Staunton-on-Arrow, from the members of the Guild, as a slight recognition of his valuable services as district secretary and Ringing Master of the Presteigne-Leominster branch of the Guild, since its formation five years ago.

The Rev. G. W. Turner, M.A., Vicar of Madley, hon. general secretary of the Guild, made the presentation. He referred to the valuable work done by Mr. Talbot for the Guild, and the loss his going away would mean, and asked him to accept that small present from the members with their best wishes for his future success and happiness.—Mr. Evans, of Holmer, and Mr. J. Clark, of Ross, also spoke, and hoped Mr. Talbot would be able to carry on his ringing activities in his new home at Porthcawl.

Mr. Talbot, in thanking the members, expressed his pleasure in the work he had done for the Guild, and asked them all to give their support to the new secretary.

The inkstand bore this inscription: 'Hereford Diocesan Guild. Presented to Mr. A. Talbot, September, 1924.' An address, with a list of subscribers, was also given.

Subscriptions were received in excess of the cost of the inkstand, and it was unanimously agreed that this should be devoted to a present for Mrs. Talbot, and took the form of a silver-plated hot-water jug.—Mr. C. Edwards, of Madley, Guild Ringing Master, made this presentation. He asked Mrs. Talbot to accept this present as a token of the esteem in which she was held by the members of the Guild, and referred to the valuable work done, behind the scenes, by the ladies.—Mrs. Talbot expressed her thanks and pleasure, and hoped to meet the members many times in the future.

The ink was supplied by Mr. G. Langford, of Woking, and the jug by Mr. Wood, of Leominster.

A DERBY DAY.BY A CORRESPONDENT.

It was a sorry number of our company that turned up at the local station for the annual outing, but the few friends that joined assisted in turning out a band who thought they knew how to ring. Derby was the venue. The organisers at both ends were missing, but a programme was left that was strictly to be adhered to, and, as it was a satisfactory one, we were grateful. Arriving at Derby we found St. Andrew's, and Messrs. Hart, Wallace and Freebrey waiting for us. With their added number, Cambridge Royal and Stedman Caters were brought into rounds. He was a good lad, who first used ball bearings on bells. They are fine up to a ton. The next church to be visited was St. 'Awkmund's,' not on ball bearings, but they go like tops. With the assistance of Messrs. Freebrey and Swinfield (father and son), Bristol, Stedman and Grandsire Triples came round, but Duffield Major certainly did not. No, it was not our fault. The conductor got mixed, then messed us up to get out of it, but, like the method, he was only three-quarters of one, so we could not blame him. 'Organisers be praised,' they did arrange a good meat tea for us. We own up to this—everyone did his share in wrecking this touch. The next and last church to be visited was St. Peter's, with a nice-going peal of eight, but very noisy in the ringing chamber. I can hear them now. We tried to raise them in peal, it did not sound nice. Unfortunately, when at home we pull our bells up in penny numbers, so it was silly trying to raise them in peal. Anyway, with the same merchants who assisted us at St. 'Awkmund's,' London, Cambridge, Superlative and Stedman Triples were brought round. The last item was a visit to a place within the meaning of the act. The bells were brought into use, table bells, push bells, and handbells. Messrs. Paget and Wallace, with the assistance of some of our little crowd, did us all very nicely to tunes and changes on the handbells. The writer accompanied on the push bell. On behalf of all we should like to use the medium of our own press to thank those who did their very best to make our trip the success it certainly turned out to be (in spite of depleted numbers and the proverbial weather), including Messrs. Lord and Maskrey, who met us at St. Peter's, and, not least, Mr. Frank Smallwood, who made all arrangements for our visit. Never mind what crowd we are—it was a ripping half-day out.

IS THE COMMITTEE MOVING?To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—We have read that a new committee was appointed at the C.C. meeting to deal with the names of Minor Methods, but have heard nothing of their progress.

Is it true that they separated after the meeting, and went 'everyman unto his own home' without taking a note of the whereabouts of the others.—Yours, etc., ARAB.

HALIFAX ASSOCIATION'S CONTEST.CUP AND MEDALS WON BY KIRKBURTON.

The Halifax and District Association held their quarterly meeting and an eight-bell contest at Batley Parish Church on Saturday, Sept. 27th. It was rather unfortunate that the meeting had fallen on the same day as the Yorkshire meeting at Mytholmroyd.

The Batley ringers had offered a set of medals to the winners of the contest, to be presented with the cup. The draw resulted in the following ringing order: No. 1, Birstall (Kent Treble Bob); No. 2, Kirkburton (Kent Treble Bob). The length was 672 changes, with three leads allowed for practice.

A meeting followed immediately after the ringing had ceased. In the absence of the president, Mr. J. Lawson (Lightcliffe) was voted to the chair.—A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar of Batley, the churchwardens and ringers for the use of the splendid peal of bells, and for the carrying out of the arrangements.

The judges were Mr. F. Schofield (Lindley), Mr. W. Idle (Batley), with Mr. T. North (Batley) as marker. Their decision was announced as follows: No. 1, 223 faults, penalties nil; No. 2, 193 faults, penalties nil. Kirkburton were, therefore, declared winners.

Mr. Lawson presented the cup and medals to the conductor of Kirkburton (Mr. J. W. Pickering), and congratulated the bands on the splendid ringing that both had attained.—Mr. Pickering suitably replied, and a vote of thanks to judges closed the meeting.

An excellent tea was provided at Brown's Cafe.
