Dear Sir,—'To resolute or not to resolute,' that is the question that our Ely friends had quite evidently not considered; to ring—perchance, Ely Guild peals, there's the rub, dare I say. I had thought, sir, that our Ely friends had the care to report their resolutions correctly, but I must apologise to you, sir, for not having the gift of second (reading) sight. This is evidently a case of 'a rose by any other name must smell as sweet.' I read that 'black was black,' and now I am told that I should have read that 'black was black,' but that I should have understood that 'black was white.' Well, I will do so (to oblige our Ely friends), and I trust that they will do the same with my poor feckless screed. I have rung a few peals for the Ely Guild, all of which were rung for the express purpose of getting some poor soul labelled as 'First peal.' One got his first peal after 25 years as a ringer—('good job we had two conductors that day,' was the remark passed by a member of his own band). Do the 'honourable' members of the Ely Guild expect me to do the same again? Do I criticise their resolution? No, sir, I do not, I condemn it in toto—and that's that. I am happy to know that the great 'WE' are blessed with a modicum of intelligence; at least they hint as much in their letter which you published in your issue of Sept. 26th, and I trust that in 'all resolutions' (which they publish) for the future, they let that said modicum have a chance to prove its presence at their most august deliberations.

In passing, sir, I don't suppose that it will be necessary to remind the very excellent ecclesiastics who govern the Ely Diocese that the Church hath need of all her sons. That our Master bade them welcome the stranger within their gates (and speed the parting guest) that the claim has oftentimes been made that the 'freemasonry' existing among ringers is the finest, most blessed, thing on earth. So it is—to those who understand it, but how? oh, how, is this 'world-famous resolution' going to sustain that claim on behalf of our Ely brethren?—Yours sincerely,

ONCE A BEGINNER.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

Another successful meeting of the East Berks and South Bucks Branch was held on Saturday, September 27th, at Warfield and Winkfield. Visitors from various towers included Canon G. F. Coleridge. A short but musical service was conducted by the Rev. C. Toogood, who afterwards kindly entertained the members to tea. On permission being given to smoke, the horticulturists made a grand rush to see some very fine specimens of now Michaelmas daisies in the vicarage garden.

Some excellent ringing was enjoyed, several getting through their first touch of 'shandy gaff.' Members would do well to look ahead, and consider whether a day out ringing on Boxing Day would be better than an afternoon meeting on December 27th, the fourth Saturday.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

An effort was made on Saturday, Sept. 27th, to revive the custom of holding an annual outing for members of the association. The place chosen was Chertsey, where there is a peal of eight bells in a church dating back to the 13th century. Between 20 and 30 were present during the day, including Mr. John Carter, and Mr. and Miss Nye from Bagshot, and several touches on different methods were rung. A good tea at the 'Ideal' was kindly provided by Messrs. Dawe and Young. The weather was surprisingly good, which greatly added to everyone's pleasure. Thanks are due to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and to Mr. J. B. Hessey for making the arrangements. All present had an enjoyable time, and it is to be hoped that the outing next year will receive larger support.

BELL FRAMES AND BEARINGS.

A matter of some importance with regard to bell hanging is referred to in the annual report of the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings. It will be remembered that some time ago this Society, after a long period of conferences with a Committee of the Central Council, published, jointly with the Council, a report which has since been the basis of recommendations to many, if not all, of the Diocesan Advisory Committees. That joint 'finding' of the two bodies—the one out to preserve ancient towers and bells, the other to secure the restoration of bells by methods which would enable ringing upon them to be maintained—was one of the most important documents affecting bell restoration that had ever been issued and brought into line the hitherto divergent views of the two organisations. It was a great step forward, for which chief credit was due to Mr. Edwin H. Lewis, whose scientific researches into the strains and stresses set up by bells in motion have resulted in a vast increase in the knowledge of the subject.

The point brought out in the new report of the Society is that the present efficiency of ball bearings disposes of one of the chief objections to timber frames. Mr. Lewis, in a short comment on the S.P.A.B.'s report, which he has kindly given us, agrees that self-aligning bearings get over the objection to the use of timber frames so far as it relates to the twisting of the upper members by atmospheric conditions, but he emphasises the other important aspect, that much damage may be sustained by a tower if the shrinkage of the frame is not systematically adjusted by the screwing up of the bolts for tightening the timbers. Incidentally Mr. Lewis refers to another phase of bell hanging which has an important bearing—more important, perhaps, than has hitherto been realised among ringers—upon the 'go' of bells, and that is the question of 'roping.' At a church in Wiltshire the authorities believed themselves committed to some costly building operations to preserve the stability of the tower. Mr. Lewis was consulted by the S.P.A.B., with the result that an alteration of the roping of the tenor has so reduced the rocking of the tower that no further action is considered necessary. Is it not probable that there are other cases to be found where the 'go' of the bells might be much improved by some alteration of the roping? It is a point worth considering in towers where there is otherwise no obvious reason for the indifferent running of the bells. Indeed, so important is the effect of roping, that Mr. Lewis ventures the opinion that if the eleventh at Southwark Cathedral were roped on the other side of the wheel, the long peal of Stedman Cinques there could not have been rung.

THE TWELVE BELL WEEK.

'If you're unwilling to come, when I call
To prayer, you'll not wish to come at all.'

From the moment Leicester's new tenor was raised to start the week to the final notes of Cister's tenor—at the end, nothing but good fortune—better described as Divine providence—attended the members of the St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham, upon their momentous undertaking. Both the bells referred to are in use in the county in which they were cast (they actually started and ended the week's ringing as it happened), the former at Loughborough, by Taylor, in 1921, and the latter at Gloucester, by Abel Rudhall, in 1736—each excellent examples, modern and ancient, of the bell founder's art. My heading is a translation of the Latin inscription on the tenor of the old Leicester peal of 1633, and it will serve to remind ringers of today that the question of 'answering the call' was quite as necessary three centuries ago as it is now.

Arrangements for the tour were made by Messrs. Albert Walker and W. H. Fussell, who respectively enlisted the hearty support of clergy and churchwardens, with regard to the bells, and the men who joined the party. Everything went swimmingly from the day it was first mooted, at the last Johnson Dinner, until the first week in September, when, for various reasons, 25 per cent. of the team had to withdraw. Change ringers are, I believe, the most optimistic people living, and if it had been possible to put the question, usually asked at political meetings, 'Are we downhearted?' those left in the swim would have answered with a decided negative; so accordingly gaps were filled up and kind friends rallied round rather than see the party stranded.

It will be too tedious to give you particulars of the travelling to each of the six towers in four counties we visited, but I would like to say that no man missed his train or arrived late for the hour of assembly all the week. In these days of crowded housing the company may be considered fortunate in securing bed accommodation. Several incidents made our experiences somewhat novel, such as the man of Kent 'herding' with one from Manchester—a rare man on the thick end, too. The art of making 'shift' is no new process to men who have gone on tour—in the present instance they did not extend the operation to the belfry. We were made comfortable at The Golden, Birmingham, and Ye Olde Crown Hotel at Cirencester, at a reasonable tariff, after I had explained that our men were not American million dollar tourists. An inquiry for 'Walker' led the landlord to admit that there was only 'Black and White,' who were of no use to us, as they knew nothing of Stedman Cinques.

Ringling operations began on Monday at St. Margaret's Church, Leicester, by rolling off No. 1 peal with the Morris (father and son) and the 'Sheffielder' to complete the side—a case of 'Josiah versus Joseph'; the latter having been laid up for some days, after his Quex Park visit. A good start is half the battle, and so we were glad to have the congratulations of Mr. Pryce Taylor and the local ringers, after the performance, and to spend a social hour together—'bacca, beer and bells' sound awfully depraved, but I prefer them to the College Cocktails we read about in the Press this week. In the belfry was hung up a full programme of our tour for all to read, and beside it another notice—'Each member will pay 3d. for booking up in the peal book, provided by the Church Council.'

The prosperity of the town of Leicester, celebrated for its great hosiery trade, is entirely due to a country parson. The stocking frame was invented by the Rev. W. Lee, of Calverton, Notts, in the reign of Queen Elizabeth, and introduced to Leicester in the middle of the 17th century. I wish it were possible for the reverend inventor to visit Leicester in these days of 'bobbed' skirts to see the wonderful array of coloured hose worn by the ladies of the city. I am no authority on this subject, but I wouldn't mind backing Leicester against any other town for such smartness.

A call was made at the King and Crown Inn, where the silent peal of Stedman Cinques 'in hand' was rung, and, by kind permission, we viewed the actual room. This house is down for compensation, and will probably be destroyed for road widening. It stands near St. Martin's Church, and has been a famous ringers' house in the past, and King Richard III. is said to have visited it.

A short historical sketch of St. Margaret's Church, by Mr. Ernest Morris, was given us, and by his permission here are a few extracts: It is the mother church of the city, and tradition says, stands on the site of the first church erected in Leicester consecrated for Christian worship. When the first simple building was replaced by something more durable we do not know, but we find a Saxon St. Margaret's was standing here about 1101, doubtless in a dilapidated condition owing to the warlike visits of William the Conqueror. Robert Bossu, Earl of Leicester, about 1120, finding St. Margaret's in such a dilapidated state, pulled down the old Saxon remains, and recommenced building. In the middle of the 15th century the church was largely rebuilt and decorated. The tower porch, chancel and clerestory were built about this period. The following is a translation of an extract from the register of Bishop Alnwick of a tax levied on all hearths of Leicester for the purpose of building a tower:—

'Commission of the Lord Bishop to levy smoke farthings from our faithful lieges of the Archdeaconry of Leicester . . . for the construction of a Campanile to the Prebendal Church of Saint Margaret's, Leicester, 1444.'

In 1911-12 the tower was restored, and the old stonework renovated at a cost of over £2,000, and in 1921 the bells were recast and increased to twelve at a cost of £2,500, and opened free of debt.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

PRESENTATION TO FORMER SECRETARY.

Owing to holidays, the annual meeting was held later than usual, viz., on October 4th, at Oldham, when the members had the use of one peal of twelve, three peals of eight, and one of six, which were well patronised. The bells were stopped in time for all to get to the parish church by 4 o'clock, when a service was held, the special preacher being the Vicar (Dr. Wilson). A hymn of the church bells, introducing Cambridge Quarters, Canterbury Cathedral chimes and Norwich Cathedral chimes was sung during the service to the tune of A. & M. 341.

After the service, the tea was served in a style known only to Oldham ringers, and 119 sat down, the company being honoured with the presence of the Mayor and Mayoress of Oldham.

After a short committee meeting, while the members had their smoke and chat, the business of the day was proceeded with, or should have been, but was interrupted by the hearty welcome given by the Mayor, and as he had another engagement, the president (Canon Elsee) invited him to present the association's little appreciation to Mr. J. H. Banks, who retired from the office of ringing secretary last year. It took the form of an easy chair and a smoking cabinet. The gift came as a surprise to the recipient, who suitably acknowledged the present.

As there was only one nomination for each of the retiring offices, the business of the elections was soon over. Rawstenstall, in Rossendale, was selected for the next annual meeting.

With the usual votes of thanks to the preacher, choir, Mayor, chairman, and the different incumbents who granted the use of the bells, and, last of all, to the local ringers who made the day a bright and memorable one, and to which Mr. Cox suitably repaid, the company parted, some to the towers, and others to early trains to get back home the same day if possible.

THE FIRST PEAL AT CHEADLE.

This peal was rung to celebrate the jubilee of the Rev. W. Morris, who this year completes his fiftieth year as priest of the R.C. Church of St. Giles, and it is the wish of all who know him that he will long remain in the parish.

The church, one of the most magnificent Catholic churches in this country, was erected through the munificence of the Earl of Shrewsbury from the designs of that celebrated Italian architect, Signor Pugin, and is, if not his masterpiece, certainly his second-best creation. The graceful western tower soars to a height of 200 feet above the churchyard, and contains a fine peal of six by Mears, which were the second peal of bells to be installed in a Catholic place of worship since the Restoration. Although they were installed when the church was opened for worship in 1846 it is only now that men of Cheadle have been able to record a peal on them, the first in the town which contains two rings of six.

In the opinion of the writer no more fitting commemoration of Father Morris' jubilee could be made than to rehang and augment to eight this fine peal of bells.

DEATH OF AN OLD ELLAND RINGER.

We regret to announce the sudden death, on Tuesday, October 7th, of Mr. Joseph Brearley, of Blackpool, at the ripe age of 82. Until two or three years ago he was a member of St. Mary's Church, Elland, band of ringers, having been a ringer at this church for a period of over 60 years. He could well remember the time when Elland had two or three band of ringers, who often competed against each other at various prize ringing contests, which were frequently held during the '60's and '70's. He assisted his company in winning premier honours at Birstal, Glossop, Dewsbury, Ossett, Calverley, Stalybridge, and other places. He took no active part in public matters, but was of a most genial disposition, and will be missed by a large circle of friends. In business he was a cloth manufacturer, and was carried to his last resting-place by some of his employees. The bells were rung deeply muffled.

A WELCOME HOME.

At Alton, Hants, on Monday, October 6th, at the Parish Church of St. Lawrence, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes), in 46 mins.: H. Evans 1, W. Perry 2, G. Noakes 3, J. W. Trappitt, senr., 4, E. E. Ham 5, W. C. Duffield 6, E. P. Duffield (conductor) 7, A. Evans 8. Rung as a welcome home to Mr. William S. Duffield, who arrived late the previous day from South Africa.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Who was the gentleman who was showing a party round the Minster during the recent gathering at York, and on entering a certain compartment commenced to explain the historic virtues of the old coats and umbrellas therein, when the Dean suddenly appeared, and further explained, 'My dear gentlemen, this is my house'?

A Crewe paper recently had a congratulatory paragraph to Mr. James George, of Birmingham, on achieving his 800th peal. 'It will be remembered,' says the paragraph, 'that four years ago he overhauled and put into good working order the bells at Sandbach Parish Church.' This is the first time we have heard that Mr. George added bell hanging to his other accomplishments. He must have been carrying on his business in great secrecy. To hide one's light under a bushel is not profitable in business.

On October 23rd, 1791, Holt's Original was rung at St. Giles-in-the-Fields; it was conducted by James Bartlett, who rang the treble, and for over a century this was believed to be the first occasion the peal had been called by a ringer taking part. It is now known that it had previously been rung under the same conditions elsewhere. On the anniversary of the performance in 1884, the peal was rung 'non-conducted' by the College Youths at St. Giles' Church.

One of the early memorable peals of Treble Bob Major was that rung on October 20th, 1794, a 6,720, in 20 courses with the 60 course ends, at St. Giles' Camberwell. It was a composition by J. Reeves, and was conducted by George Gross.

The only peal of Grandsire Cinques which John Holt rang (at any rate with the Union Scholars), was accomplished at St. Bride's, Fleet Street, on October 20th, 1751.

The first peal of Treble Bob Royal on the bells of St. Leonard's Church, Shoreditch, where several records were afterwards made, was rung on October 19th, 1766. This was a round of 6,000 rung in 4 hrs. 21 mins.

It is interesting to note that the handbell peal of Stedman Cinques rung at Leicester was in addition to the first by all the band, 'in hand,' the first of Cinques in the method by the ringers of 3rd and 4th, 9th and 10th, 11th and 12th, and also the first of Cinques as conductor. This is only the second such peal rung in Leicester, the previous one being the famous 'silent' peal rung on Feb. 21st, 1903.

The time of the several quick peals of Stedman Cinques recently rung on heavy bells in London, writes a correspondent, can now be fully credited by the ringing fraternity in the North, as witness the quick peal of Cinques rung at Sheffield Cathedral last Saturday. But do we get the best music when bells are rung at this pace?

It has been reported that Mr. John Buttress, a Chudleigh ringer, has died, and that buried with him was the bell rope he had pulled for 50 years as a ringer. We do not doubt that a bell rope was buried with this Devon veteran, but it must have been of exceptionally good make if it had stood 50 years' wear! The report must, we think, have been wanting in the accuracy of its detail.

It is said that the correct way for lady ringers to wear their hair at present is 'bobbed' and 's(h)ingled.'

On Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. F. I. Hairs and Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Deal took part in a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major. Is this the first time two married couples have taken part in a Surprise peal?

The restoration at Blotchley, including recasting one bell and retuning the rest, is nearly complete, and the reopening will take place on November 1st. Messrs. Taylor and Co. are carrying out the work.

Mr. T. Hervey Beams, of Bradpole, Bridport, would like to obtain during the first two weeks of January next, the loan of a set of lantern slides suitable to illustrate a lecture on 'Bells, Bell Towers and Ringers.' Every care will be taken of the slides, and carriage paid both ways.

VISITORS' PEALS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—While discussing the way in which a certain resolution has been brought forward, there is a danger that the subject itself may be forgotten. It is a matter on which all ringers in this part of the country, as far as my information goes, are united, but whenever it has been brought up for discussion elsewhere, it seems to have been condemned, without any reason being given. Surely if people condemn it, they have some reason for their opinion: if so, let us have it, and we can see what is the more reasonable course. Merely to say it is 'impracticable,' or that they condemn it in 'toto,' does not carry much weight.

The suggestion is this: that all societies which are diocesan, with well defined boundaries, should only score peals which are rung within those boundaries. Some would add the words 'or county' after 'diocesan,' but it seems best to keep to one point at a time.—Yours very faithfully,

H. DRAKE.

BALL BEARINGS AND WOOD FRAMES.S.P.A.B. REPORT.

Two paragraphs interesting to ringers appear in the annual report of the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings.

The report states that in 1921 the committee were asked to give their advice upon the condition of the tower of St. Mary's Church, Donhead, Wiltshire. They carefully surveyed it and took notes of the positions and weights of the bells, and, after consulting with Mr. Edwin Lewis—whose advice on all matters respecting bell ringing is of great value—they stated that a great improvement would be made by a slight modification in the roping of the tenor bell.

The report then quotes a letter from the Rector, stating that the advice was followed, and it seems so to have reduced the rock of the tower that the lay authorities are satisfied to leave things as they are. The report adds that by following the society's advice the parish avoided the cost of building operations, which had appeared necessary.

The other paragraph referred to deals with the use of ball bearings and timber frames. It is as follows:—

"Since the joint report drawn up by the Council of Church Bell Ringers and this society there has been an improvement in the manufacture of steel, which has enabled ball bearings to be made which can be relied upon not to crack. This means that bearings which adjust themselves to suit a slight unevenness in the top members of the bell pits can now be used with safety. The result of their use is to dispose of one of the chief objections to timber bell frames, namely, that the movements of timber under atmospheric changes throw the bells out of truth, and make them difficult to ring. This, in the opinion of the committee, is a point of such interest that it is hoped reference to it will be made in the architectural papers."

THE VALUE OF PROPER 'ROPING.'

Many ringers, who are not engineers, will be rather at a loss to appreciate what is intended in the above report by the statement 'the result of their (improved ball bearings) use is to dispose of one of the chief objections to timber bell frames.'

To elucidate the matter further, Mr. Edwin H. Lewis, who was a member of the Central Council's Committee which met the society, has kindly supplied us with the following notes on the subject:

The paragraph on 'Bells and Bell Ringing' is not very clear. The position, I think, is this. When we met the S.P.A.B. we were asked 'What about ball bearings?' and our reply was, as far as I remember, to the effect that it was not proved that ball bearings were sufficiently reliable to be regarded as fool proof—a condition that was necessary if they were to be generally used in country towers, though they would probably be quite good in town towers, where there was a competent steeplekeeper.

Since that time, self-aligning ball bearings have proved themselves reliable in general engineering practice, even where subject to rough usage, and a certain amount of neglect, and, therefore, they can be used with some confidence for bells.

The objections to timber frames are twofold.

(1) Owing to the twisting of the upper members of the frame under different conditions of atmospheric moisture, there is a tendency for the bearings of the older type to get out of level, and for the bells to 'go' badly. This is a common experience of ringers, and the difficulty may be got over by the use of self-aligning bearings, whether ball bearings or other. The use by the bell founders of standard self-aligning ball bearings gets over this objection to timber frames, and this is what the S.P.A.B. intend to point out.

(2) The other objection of timber frames shrinking and getting loose in the joints, unless provided with tightening bolts which are regularly adjusted, is not met by ball bearings. The results of such looseness are twofold: (a) The movement of the frame may cause the bells to go badly; (b) the movement of the frame may cause hammering of the walls at the level of the top of the frame, unless stopped by 'wedging' the frame to the walls. In the latter case the fastening of the top of the frame to the walls introduces the very fault which the S.P.A.B. allege in the case of top-stayed metal 'H' frames.

The ringing of the long peal of Stedman Cinques at Southwark proves that a timber frame is not necessarily worse than a metal frame from the ringers' point of view.

It also confirms my theory of roping—applied in the Donhead St. Mary case. I am convinced that if the 11th at Southwark were roped on the other side of the wheel, the long peal could not have been rung.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A very enjoyable and successful meeting of the Eastern district was held at Ware on Saturday, and the newly rehung ring were kept going in methods ranging from Grandshire to Cambridge. The great improvement in the tone since Messrs. Mears took them in hand is very marked. The Whitechapel firm have recast the 7th and tuned up the rest.

A short service was held, conducted by the Rev. H. Winch, who gave a bright and helpful address, which was much appreciated by the 31 members present from Romford, Leytonstone, Edmanton, Chessunt, Broxbourne, Harlow Common, Widford, Barley, Royston, Hertford, Hunsdon, Ware, Thundridge, Great and Little Mundon.

THE NORFOLK GUILD.ANNUAL MEETING.—SUGGESTED ALTERATION OF DATE.

The annual general meeting of the Norfolk Guild was held at Great Yarmouth on Thursday, October 9th. Divine service was held in the Parish Church of St. Nicholas, conducted by one of the assistant priests at 12.30 p.m., when Canon W. Hay M. H. Aitken, Vice-Dean of Norwich, gave an address on bells and worship.

Luncheon was subsequently served at Hills' Restaurant, King's Street, Canon Hay Aitken presiding. He was supported by the following members of the committee: Messrs. C. E. Borrett, G. P. Burton, Denison Hayward, W. B. Duncan, and the secretary (Mr. A. L. Coleman), also by the Rev. F. L. Edwards, Rector of Kingston, Dorsetshire (hon. secretary of the Salisbury Guild), Mr. S. R. Roper (Croydon), and the following ladies: Mrs. C. E. Borrett, Miss H. W. Bill and Miss H. L. Durrant. Representatives were present from Norwich, Great Yarmouth, Diss, etc.

The Chairman proposed the toast of 'The King,' which was loyally honoured.

The Chairman then read a letter from the president, the Dean of Norwich, to the secretary, expressing his great distress and disappointment on finding himself unable to preside that day at the annual meeting of the Guild, having been called away from home to officiate at the funeral, in Westmorland, of a near kinsman, his cousin—a lifelong friend—who died on October 7th as the result of a hunting accident.

The Secretary announced that he would convey their regrets and sympathy to the Dean of Norwich.

Mr. Denison Hayward moved, and Mr. A. L. Coleman, seconded, a vote of thanks to Canon Aitken for his address at the service, and for so kindly presiding over the luncheon.

Canon Hay Aitken, acknowledging the vote of thanks, said he was glad to have the opportunity of saying a few brotherly words to them, and wish them prosperity in their work for the church. They had an important duty, of which they should be proud, for they had the honour and privilege of summoning their neighbours to the highest function in which man can possibly engage, that of worship. While they were helping others to worship they had themselves a good opportunity of worship in the very act of summoning them. Their ringing might be done in a thoroughly devotional spirit, for the moment of ringing bells, might be made an opportunity for prayers and intercession for others. In that way they would realise for themselves what a happy thing service for Christ was. He wished them god-speed in their work.

DECREASED ATTENDANCES AT MEETINGS.

At the annual business meeting which followed, in the choir vestry of St. Nicholas' Church, Mr. C. E. Borrett, vice-president, occupied the chair.

Mr. A. L. Coleman read the annual report, covering the 47th year of the Guild. The separation of the Guild's territory in the diocese of St. Edmundsbury and Ipswich had affected their membership, peal records and finances, but work had gone on steadily, and good progress could be reported. Forty-six new members were elected, and, allowing for deaths and resignations, etc., the total membership was 210 against 792 in 1923. General meetings had been held at Diss, King's Lynn, Lowestoft and North Elmham, during the year, but the attendance was not encouraging. It was hoped that the members would do their best, even at a little sacrifice, to be present, and take an active part in supporting their Guild meetings. Upon their presence and fellowship, the life and success of the Guild to a great extent depended.

The balance sheet for the year ending December 31st 1923, showed the total receipts of £88 0s. 3d., and a total expenditure of £87 12s. 5d., leaving a balance in hand of 7s. 10d. The peals during the past twelve months numbered 88.

The president, the Dean of Norwich, was thanked for his counsel which piloted the Guild at the last annual meeting through the difficulties caused by the loss of Suffolk territory. Restoration work to bells and belfries in the diocese was encouraging, and it is gratifying to note there has been a large amount of restoration of rings of bells throughout the country, and that there was a revival of interest in bells among others than ringers.

The secretary then presented the financial statement for the current year, which showed an expenditure of £65 3s. 8d. The estimated receipts, including available outstanding subscriptions, were £71 7s. At present £25 4s. was outstanding. The secretary reminded the members that subscriptions were due on the 1st of January, and appealed to all those members who had not paid to do so with the least possible delay, and save the labour and expense of writing for outstanding subscriptions.

Mr. C. E. Borrett moved, and Mr. G. P. Burton seconded, that the annual report and financial statement be adopted, and this was agreed to.

Nine life members (non-resident) elected in belfries prior to peals were ratified, and five performing members were elected.

On the motion of Mr. A. L. Coleman, seconded by Mr. Ben S. Thompson, the officers were re-appointed en bloc: The president, the Dean of Norwich; the secretary and treasurer, Mr. A. L. Coleman; hon. auditor, Mr. G. P. Burton; and the vice-presidents, with the additional names of the Right Rev. the Lord Bishop of Coventry and the Rev. W. C. Pearson, Vicar of Henley, Suffolk.—The Rev. R. Bulstrode, Vicar of St. John's, Lowestoft, was elected a member of the committee.

MEMBERS' OPINIONS TO BE OBTAINED.

The secretary brought forward the matter of an alteration to the date for the annual general meeting of the Guild, from October to Easter Monday. He said that the conditions of things had so much changed since the early days of the Guild, when the date was fixed immediately after the harvest, and he thought the time had now come to have the annual meeting on a public holiday, in the hope of a revival in the attendance of members. The decreased attendances at all the meetings had been a source of great disappointment to him. He did not propose to move a motion on the matter until by some means or another the feelings of the members had been obtained on such an important question.

The Chairman said he shared the disappointment of their secretary at the decreased attendances at annual meetings of late years, which he could not account for. He believed that most ringers had their half-holidays on Saturdays, and that it was not convenient to them to attend in the middle of the week.

Miss H. L. Durrant suggested, with the view of obtaining the opinion of the members, that a slip be issued with the annual reports for 1924 to be returnable to the secretary.—The Secretary said that he would be pleased to carry out such a useful suggestion.

Mr. Coleman moved a vote of thanks to Canon R. Aubrey Aitken for the use of the bells, and also to Mr. Denison Hayward (district secretary for Great Yarmouth) for his kind assistance in the arrangements that day. The meeting then closed, and ringing was resumed, touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Caters and Cinques, being rung.

THE BELLS OF ST. PETER'S CHURCH, LIVERPOOL, TO HANG IN ST. BARNABAS' TOWER.

At a recent meeting of the parishioners of St. Barnabas Church, Mossley Hill, Liverpool, it was decided to accept the offer of the ten bells of St. Peter's Church, Liverpool, and to take steps to hang them in their tower.

St. Peter's Church, was the Parish Church and pro-Cathedral, and was closed for services a few years ago. It has recently been demolished. The site, which is in the heart of the shopping centre of the city, was sold to the Corporation to provide funds for the endowment of the new cathedral. The fittings and ornaments of the church were dispersed throughout the diocese, the bells being offered to St. Michael's Church, and actually taken there for safe keeping over two years ago. This church is in one of the poorest and most squalid parts of the city, and the authorities were unable to face the financial difficulties which the gift involved. On several occasions the Liverpool Diocesan Guild has urged that steps should be taken to make the fullest use of the bells, and happily it seems that this will now be the case.

St. Barnabas Church is a large modern building near the outskirts of the city in a residential district which has recently developed with remarkable rapidity. The church must not be confused with the well-known 'Mossley Hill Church,' which, from its situation on the top of the hill, is such a landmark for miles around, and is so well known to travellers on the L.M.S.

It seems probable that peal ringing on the bells in their new tower will be very severely restricted, if not altogether prohibited, but it is to be hoped that a band may be formed associated with the church for regular service ringing.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION. FIRST VISIT TO BONVILSTON.

The first quarterly meeting ever held at Bonvilston took place on Saturday last. The weather fortunately was delightfully fine, and accounted, perhaps, for the presence of such a representative gathering from both dioceses. The church, situated close to the main road between Cardiff and Cowbridge, has a square tower, with a musical ring of six bells, with a 12 cwt. tenor cast in 1718 by Abraham Rudhall.

A hearty welcome was accorded each of the visitors on arrival by the Vicar (the Rev. Gilbert Thomas) and his enthusiastic band of ringers, to whom every credit is due for the care that is taken of the bells and ringing chamber, under the leadership of Mr. E. Thomas.

Service was conducted by the Vicar, who gave a most inspiring address. Following the service, an excellent 'knife and fork' tea was partaken of in the Church Institute, and had been most generously provided.

The business meeting was presided over by the Vicar, and various items were dealt with, including instructor's report, restorations, etc., and the making of several new members from St. Athan, Penarth and Bonvilston.

The place for the next Glamorgan quarterly meeting will be arranged at the annual meeting, which will be held at Cardiff.

After the meeting, the bells were rung in various methods during the evening, and all went away satisfied that it was one of the best in the association's history, thanks to the effort made by the local ringers and their genial Vicar.

EXETER RINGERS AND RINGING COMPETITIONS.

The Exeter branch of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers opened their winter programme with the first of the proposed series of fraternal meetings which are to be held each month at the Franklin Hall. The inception of these gatherings was due to the energy and foresight of the district secretary, Mr. W. J. Southwood, who, together with a strong committee, hopes to make them an unqualified success. If the meeting on Saturday evening is an indication of what is to follow each month, the result is a foregone conclusion. The company were fortunate in being able to have as chairman the Rev. B. C. Bennett, of Alphington, who said he felt sure that these meetings were going to do a great deal of good, and be a great help to ringers. The subject for discussion was 'Are ringing competitions necessary or desirable?' and Mr. T. Laver brought the subject forward in an able manner. The debate which followed was very keen, and the feeling generally was that such competitions would have a harmful effect. The remainder of the evening was devoted to refreshments and harmony.

IPPLEPEN'S BELLS.

THE OCTAVE COMPLETED AT DEVON CHURCH.

The new bells added at Ipplepen Church to complete the octave were dedicated on September 25th by the Bishop of Crediton, in the presence of a large congregation, those assisting in the service being the Rural Dean (the Rev. S. R. Carden, who acted as Bishop's chaplain), and the Vicar of Ipplepen (the Rev. R. D. Cooke), while Mr. Jago presided at the organ.

The Bishop of Crediton, in the course of his address, said bell ringers had a place in the worship and a duty. When ringers consecrated themselves to that duty they were not satisfied with mere call ringing. In that diocese for some years there had been a strong influence to help ringers to produce the very best music from the bells—to learn the true art of change ringing. They should aim at changing artistically with every stroke, and, that being accomplished, they would have the complete music which could be produced from their eight bells. Everything done for the Kingdom of God should be complete.

In the inventory of 1553 (King Edward VI.) mention was made of four bells. In 1797 the number was five. A public meeting in that year decided to recast the five bells into six, and the work was done by the Bilbies at Cullompton. In 1818 the fifth bell had cracked, and it was sent to London to be recast. During its journey back by sea it was cracked again, and had to be recast a second time. The two new bells have been cast by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon, who have made an excellent splice with the old six bells, the ringers present remarking on the purity of tone of the new trebles, and the ease with which they could be rung.

The weight of the tenor is approximately one tone, and the key of the peal is E.

The local ringers rang rounds at the dedication, and were joined after the service by ringers from Exeter, Plymouth, Upton (Torquay), Highweek (Newton Abbott), Paignton, Kingsteignton, etc. Those present, including the President of the Devon Guild (the Rev. E. S. Powell), Messrs. E. Shepherd, W. J. Southwood, and C. F. Johnston, of the Croydon Bellfoundry, were entertained to tea in the Parish Hall, and added yet one more memorable occasion in the ringing circles of Devon to those that have gone before.

The inscriptions on the new bells are as follows: Treble, 'Given by R. C. Maddicott in memory of his wife, Isabella, and by Edward M. Shepherd in memory of the long connection of his family with the parish. R. D. Cooke, Vicar; Colonel F. C. Fulton and W. Maddicott, churchwardens, 1924.'

No. 2, 'Given as a thankoffering to God by S. P. Adams, a native of Totnes. R. D. Cooke, Vicar; Colonel F. C. Fulton and W. Maddicott, churchwardens, 1924.'

The weights of the six old bells are: No. 3, 728 lbs.; No. 4, 792½ lbs.; No. 5, 871½ lbs.; No. 6, 1,151½ lbs.; No. 7, 1,302 lbs.; No. 8, 2,117 lbs.

The tenor bears the inscription: 'Religion, death, pleasure cause me to ring.'

HANBURY OUTING.

A party, consisting of 13 Hanbury ringers, with Mr. G. Lewis, of Sheffield, who was spending his holidays in the district, left Hanbury at 2.30 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 27th, by motor, for the Vale of Evesham, and reached the Evesham church tower at 3.45 p.m., after an enjoyable journey. The party was met by Mr. Hemming, and, through the kindness of the Rector and Mr. Hamming, enjoyed change ringing on the tower bells. This was the first time Hanbury ringers had used a peal of ten. Mr. Hemming afterwards conducted them to the top of the tower, from which a beautiful view of Evesham was obtained. After an excellent repast at the Northwick Arms, a vote of thanks was passed to the Rector of Evesham and Mr. Hemming for their kindness. Hanbury was reached at 9.45 p.m., after, as one of the oldest of the band remarked, 'the best outing we have ever had.' The arrangements for the trip were kindly made by Mr. Harold Smith, a Birmingham gentleman, who has come to reside in the district and has interested himself in ringing, and joined the band. His efforts were greatly appreciated by the ringers.

METHOD CONSTRUCTION.

To The Editor.

Dear Sir,—Mr. Powell's letter in your last issue is clearly that of a man to whom words are playthings, and he uses his ability in this direction to conjure with them till the point at issue is hidden.

In his second paragraph he quibbles about the meaning of the word 'cause,' but does admit that, in the sense in which he used it, the places cause all the work. This is, however, qualified by the statement that 'the dodge causes the place is equally good argument.' If this latter were true, it would certainly dispose of the theory that the place is the active agent. But the truth is, that on any number of bells to infinity, a place made anywhere causes the bells to make certain and particular alterations in their movement, and there can be no variation whatever from this, unless additional places are made. The same place is always accompanied by the same work. Can Mr. Powell say that the insertion or omission of a dodge in any one position is always accompanied by the same place?

It will be as well to dispose of any ambiguity in using the term 'cause,' by stating the case for the place in other words.

The group to which I belong have no need to be afraid of stating their opinion, which is, that the method is brought about by the places; to reiterate, is made by the places, therefore, put shortly, the places show the method.

Let us take a concrete illustration in the following block of 10 rows:—

12345 It is known that five similar blocks may be obtained by using the remaining 50 rows comprised in the even extent on five bells. Then let it be granted that every method of Doubles is constructed by incorporating whole blocks, or portions of these blocks, into the original, and again, that every method is made up of place making and forward and backward hunting. Let us assume the desire to make up methods of Doubles, either on paper or by ringing the bells in the tower, and what is found? That the desired result can only be brought about by first joining the block shown to one other block, in other words, the first essential is to get away from the changes in the original block. The blocks are formed by continuous forward hunting, and it is self-evident that we cannot get away from the changes in any block by any form of backward hunting. To put it shortly, the only joining between block and block is a place; therefore, the desired result, a method, can only be brought about by places, and the conclusion follows that the places make the method.

Mr. Powell is unfortunate in his concluding sentences; he tells us that the majority of the experts believe that the essential characteristic of London is the plain backward hunting below the treble. Below the treble is only half a method, and a number of methods have this same characteristic. Thus it may equally well be argued conversely that two methods which by the essential characteristic theory are closely allied, may at the same time, to use Mr. Powell's words, be as far apart as the Poles in their actual construction.

Mr. Powell believes that the younger generation is tired of our mechanical and materialistic outlook, which may be so, but it is difficult to disprove, in view of recent statements, that method construction is not mechanical and materialistic. At any rate, the younger generation is intelligent enough to look after itself, and to distinguish, if we have the men who can put both sides of the question plainly before it, which is the true and which is the false.—Yours sincerely,

Sunderland.

JOSEPH W. PARKER.

METHODS AN EXPRESSION OF MATHEMATICAL LAW.

Dear Sir,—May I have a word with Mr. J. W. Parker?

I was one of the first that held the opinion that 'Places are the Method,' the very first, I believe, that publicly stated it as an axiom. I had to drop it, because I found it was false and misleading. It is true, of course, that if you have the places of any method you can without difficulty supply all the rest. It is true, of course, that oftentimes you can most conveniently examine a method by means of its places. It is true, too, that by means of the places and a system of exhaustion Mr. Law James wrote out all the six bell methods, and a large part of the eight bell methods. But it is not true that places have essentially any more constructional value, or any different constructional value, from hunting or dodging. And, emphatically, it is not true that any 'dodging, snapping or reversal of hunting direction is caused by a place or places.' Wherever you have cause and effect the cause must be before the effect in time. But considerations of time have no more to do with the construction of methods than they have to do with the qualities of geometrical circles, squares, etc. Mr. Parker is transferring to the method a process which really takes place in his own brain. Because he understands a method best by first considering its places, and then locating the dodging, etc., as their results, he thinks that this sequence is in the method itself. It is not. If I were to give him a set of places he could supply the rest of the work by logical deduction; just as if I were to give him the base of a triangle and two of its angles he could supply the other sides and angle. So far as his own mental process is concerned, what he supplied in both cases would be 'results.' But to say as a general proposition that the base and the two angles 'caused' the other two sides, or that the places 'caused' the dodging and snapping would be absurd.

Also I do not think he is quite right in saying that the two schools of thought on this question consist of 'old fogies who say that places are the method,' and others who 'think they have progressed far beyond that stage.' The real division is between the other school who treat methods entirely on experimental lines, and the few who recognise that methods are the expression of mathematical law, and are trying to find out and understand what that law is. It was the advanced school, not the old fogies, who said that places are the method. It was one stage in the attempt to find out what methods really are, and for myself I do not merely think, I know. I have progressed far beyond that stage, though I do not remember speaking 'with some disdain of the stick fasts.'

There is no doubt at all as to which of the two schools Mr. Parker, with his great abilities, should belong. And there is no doubt at all to which school he would belong if he devoted as much time and thought to method construction as (fortunately for the Exercise) he has to other branches of composition.—Yours faithfully,

J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

MR. TROLLOPE'S REPLY TO MR. BAKER.

Dear Sir,—As my friend, Mr. Geo. Baker, keeps on throwing challenges at me with a persistency worthy of a better cause, I suppose I must say something in reply. My trouble is that he uses words and terms in such a loose and vague way that I am never quite sure what exactly he does mean. I do not in the least know what 'proving the construction' of a method is. In ringing, when we talk about proving a peal or a method, we mean finding out whether there is any repetition of rows, and sometimes in the case of methods people mean working out the false course ends. For these purposes I use pretty much the same formula as other people do, and why I should be challenged about using them I don't quite know. But how can you prove the construction of a method? I may be wrong, but it seems nonsense.

As for the other statements in Mr. Baker's letter which I am challenged to try and disprove, most of them are quite all right. They are not very original or very profound. Some of us knew all about them years before Mr. Baker did, and he makes a mistake if he thinks that he has got here the secret of method construction.

As a matter of simple fact, I have never said that London consists of six or more constructional shunts. What I did say, Mr. Baker or anyone else may see if he turns to my published explanation of the construction of the method.

I am sure I am not doing Mr. Baker an injustice when I say that he does not understand what I mean by a constructional shunt, and though he is so persistent in declaring that my views are wrong, I am quite sure that he does not realise what those views are.—Yours truly,

J. A. TROLLOPE.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD, BIRMINGHAM.

A MEETING AT COLESHILL.

A well-attended meeting of the St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham was held at Colehill on Saturday, October 4th. Colehill is a little old-world town in North Warwickshire, about nine miles north-east of Birmingham, and has retained to a remarkable degree its old-fashioned appearance and atmosphere.

The glory of the old place is the church with its fine embattled tower surmounted by a lofty crocketed spire, which is a landmark for miles around. The bells are a ring of eight, with a tenor about 12 cwt.; formerly six, but augmented by the addition of two trebles from the Loughborough foundry a year or so ago. They run in an anti-clockwise direction, which the novices found to be somewhat of a stumbling-block at the beginning. Colehill is quite an excellent place for a summer meeting, but rather too difficult of access at other periods of the year. Fortunately, however, the weather kept fine, and the attendance of members was far greater than had been anticipated, considering it was an October meeting. Tea was arranged at the Swan Hotel, and was graced by the presence of the Vicar of Colehill, the Venerable J. H. Richards, M.A., Archdeacon of Aston. The business meeting followed, at which the presiding Ringing Master (Alderman J. S. Pritchett, M.A.) took the chair.

Before routine business, the Chairman said he wished to take that opportunity of congratulating Mr. Godden on the attainment of his 75th birthday, and on behalf of the whole of the members he wished him 'Many happy returns.'—Mr. Godden, looking very fit despite his 75 years, suitably responded.

The routine business being disposed of, the Chairman said he could not let the occasion pass without congratulating the members who had taken part in the recent twelve-bell ringing week, on the success of their efforts. They had been fortunate enough to ring five peals of Stedman Cinques out of six attempts, the failure being due to a broken rope. The outing had been thoroughly well organised, and everything had worked according to plan.—The bells were utilised during the afternoon and evening, and the members wish to express their thanks to the Archdeacon for his kindness on this occasion.

The annual meeting will be held at headquarters in January next.

DEATH OF A BURNHAM RINGER.

The Burnham Parish Church company has lost one of their old members, by the death, on Wednesday, October 1st, of Mr. Ernest Carter, at the age of 62 years. Born at the neighbouring hamlet of Lenti, he was a ringer for 42 years, and a Berks and Bucks member of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, taking part in several peals of Grandsire Triples. He was a lifelong 'pull' of the steeplekeeper, Mr. Geo. Alder, and never minded coming to make up a team at this tower when there was a man short for a peal attempt.

The funeral took place at Burnham, on Saturday, Oct. 4th, the service being conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. P. P. Nott, M.A.), and many friends and relatives being present. A number of wreaths were sent, including one from his fellow ringers, who rang St. Mary's bells, muffled, after the burial. W. H. F.

OFF TO NEW ZEALAND.

PRESENTATION AT HULL.

On Sunday, Sept. 20th, the ringers of Holy Trinity, Hull, made a presentation in the tower to Mr. Thomas S. Morton, prior to his departure for New Zealand. The gift consisted of a silver cigarette case, beautifully engraved on the outside with a bell, containing the initials of the recipient, and also a suitable inscription on the inside, and was handed over by the 'anno domini' of the company, Mr. J. Highfield, who in a short and happy speech, wished both Mr. and Mrs. Morton and son, good luck in their new sphere of life, and hoped to see them back again for a holiday in the old country in the near future.

'Tom,' as he is familiarly known to his colleagues, was overcome by emotion in responding, and thanked the ringers for their gift, which would serve to remind him of them every time he had a smoke.

Previous to the presentation, a 1,280 of Kent Treble Bob, with a cover, was rung for the evening service by the following: A. R. Cook 1, T. S. Morton 2, J. McKeag 3, J. Clark 4, J. Highfield 5, Chamberlain 6, G. F. Williams (conductor) 7, J. H. Howell 8, H. Howell 10.

BARNSELEY AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.WATH BELLS.—A HINT AT DEVELOPMENTS.

The monthly meeting was held at Wath on Saturday, when representatives were present from Barnsley, Anston, Rawmarsh, Royston, Crofton, Hoylandswaine, Wortley. There was also a good muster of local company, and a representative of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, bell founders, of Croydon, was present.

Service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. F. B. Gunnery). There were suitable prayers and hymns, and a short address was given by the Vicar, who based his address on two important principles in the bell founders' art; first, that a proper bell is made in tune and harmony with itself; secondly, that it must be in tune with the rest of the bells in the peal. He strongly urged ringers to apply these principles to themselves, especially so in bearing their part in the corporate body of church workers so that in every hour, and wherever they may be, in mine, shop, home or place of amusement, all their acts should be true to the Church and true to themselves.

Tea followed, at which the Vicar was again present, and was unanimously voted to the chair for the business meeting.—Apologies were received from the president (Mr. Thickett) and the vice-president (Mr. Reynier), who were unable to be present. The place of meeting for next month was discussed, but as no definite invitation had been received, it was decided to meet in November at Wortley, provided permission could be obtained.

A vote of thanks was given to the Wath company for all the arrangements kindly made.—Mr. A. Nash replied, and assured all present of a hearty welcome to Wath, and further expressed the hope that with good luck and the help of their Vicar, their small tower would provide still greater attractions to the association in the near future.

A vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar and churchwardens. The bells were rung in many variations of Treble Bob Minor during the afternoon and evening.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A meeting was held at Keynsham on Saturday, October 4th, when about 12 towers were represented, and members were present from Bristol and Newport. Unfortunately, the Master was not able to be present owing to illness. Tea was partaken of in the Parish Room, after which the business meeting was held, the Vicar (the Rev. G. Ernest Walters) presiding. He said he had had a letter from the Master (the Rev. C. C. Parker), saying how sorry he was he could not be present.—The Vicar moved a vote of sympathy with him in his illness, and expressed the wish that he would speedily recover.—This was carried unanimously.

News had also come to hand of the death of the Archdeacon of Bath, one of the vice-presidents of the association, and a vote of sympathy was passed with the relatives.

The next meeting was fixed for Chewton Mendip, in December.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Rev. G. E. Walters for the use of the bells and for arranging the service, and for presiding at the meeting.—In reply the Vicar gave the members a hearty welcome to Keynsham.

The service was then held, at which the organist and choir rendered assistance, and the Rev. G. E. Walters gave a very able address.

Touches in various methods were rung during the afternoon and evening.

WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.GUILDFORD DISTRICT.

A district meeting was held at Aldershot on Saturday, September 27th, when ringers were present from Ash, Farnham, Godalming, Guildford (two towers), Haslemere, Sandhurst, Shere and Worplesdon, as well as members of the local company. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m., and various methods were rung till 4.30, when a short service was held in the church, conducted by the Rev. M. Pitter, who also gave an address. Miss Avenell presided at the organ. The Guild service was used, the hymns including the ringers' well-known hymn, 'Unchanging God who liveth.' Tea was held in the Church Room, presided over by the Vicar (the Rev. E. G. Ireland), between 35 and 40 sitting down.

After the usual business, a vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the church and bells, to the organist, and to the ladies of the Aldershot company, who made such excellent arrangements for tea, was passed. Ringing was further indulged in, both at Aldershot and Ash, till nine o'clock brought a very successful meeting to a close.

A 'DATE TOUCH.'

On Thursday evening, October 2nd, at the residence of Mr. H. Chapman, Kirkmanshulme Lane, Manchester, a date touch of 1,924 changes of Stedman Triples (composed by W. Walmesley, of Macclesfield) was rung on handbells in 59 mins.: Alfred Barnes 1—2, Fred Page 3—4, Allan F. Bailey (conductor) 5—6, H. Chapman 7—8, Messrs. H. Greenhalgh and H. Shaker heard the greater part of it.

RINGERS' SUPPORT FOR MEETINGS.

Seldom in these days is there occasion for serious lament at the falling off in attendances at Association meetings. On the contrary, there are constantly announced 'record' gatherings, and the position which the Secretary of the Norfolk Guild felt compelled to comment on at the annual meeting is therefore, happily, an unusual one. The falling off in the number who attend the annual festival of the Guild is readily understandable. This assembly is a mid-week affair, and in these days there are comparatively few men who can afford to give up a day in the middle of the week for this purpose. Whatever may have been the inducement in the early years of the Association to make this gathering a mid-week one, the trend of the times is now all against this policy. Saturdays or Bank Holidays are now almost universally adopted for important meetings among ringing organisations, and we think the Norfolk Guild will find the remedy in this particular matter by a change in the day.

The more serious feature, in our opinion, however, is the discouraging attendance at the minor meetings. These gatherings are to a very considerable extent an index to the life of an Association, and when the members' interest in them wanes to a degree that calls for serious comment by the officials, it is time someone went into the question to see what's wrong. In the past the Norfolk Guild has been among the most progressive of our ringing organisations. The contraction of its area was bound to have an effect upon it in various ways, but least of all should it have affected the enthusiasm of the members. Rather ought the reduction to have brought about an increased intention of compensating for loss of territory, members and funds by greater and more active interest, and the best way to demonstrate this is to rally round the officers and support them in their efforts to further the Association.

Members may be so well satisfied with the management of their affairs, that they imagine there is no need to attend the meetings. That, however, is entirely the wrong light in which to look at the question. If only for the encouragement of those who do the work, they should respond to the invitation to these gatherings. But there is the other important reason that district meetings form one of the best means of promoting the life of an association; giving some ringers wider opportunities of practice than they can get in their own tower, and others the chance of lending a helping hand in advancing the art among men less favoured than themselves. Those who are seeking progress in ringing can find much to help them in the district meetings; those who are already accomplished ought to look upon it as a duty to attend and help forward the art and hand on to others what they have themselves received. After the appeal made at the annual meeting of the Norfolk Guild there ought to be a return to the more encouraging attendances of the past, and the members generally will no doubt see to it that their officials will have no further reason to complain of the lack of interest shown in the efforts that are made entirely for their benefit.

WATFORD RINGERS' EXCURSION.

A trip through some of the beautiful scenery of Hertfordshire was the way in which the Watford society recently spent a Saturday afternoon. Leaving the tower about 2.30, an excellent run was made via Hemel Hempstead, and through the Chilterns to the Priory Church, Dunstable. The party was met by Mr. Sharman and some of the local ringers. Excellent ringing was enjoyed, including Grandsire and Stedman Triples, and, with the help of the homesters, two courses of Double Norwich Major. After an inspection of the beautiful interior, a move was made to the Commercial Hotel for tea, which was excellently served. The next 'port of call' was Luton, where the party were met by Mr. King, who gave a most interesting account of the church history, and acted as guide to the party over the church and museum. Ringing was then indulged in. Several touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, and with the assistance of Mr. King, and others, two courses of Double Norwich Major and one of Cambridge Surprise Major, were rung. Home was eventually reached about 9.45, everyone having thoroughly enjoyed themselves. The party wish to express their thanks to the clergy for granting permission to ring, and to the local ringers for meeting them and having everything in readiness, thus contributing largely to the success of the trip.

THE TWELVE BELL WEEK.

THE PEAL IN THE 'BULL RING.'

On Tuesday, at Birmingham, there was sight-seeing and visits to the art gallery and museums; 'The Windsor' was entered to hear Tom Bratton's history of Shrewsbury (his father having been vorger at St. Chad's for over 40 years); and 'The Nelson,' which is growing noted for its ringers' 'Cockpit.' A twelve-bell band mustered at St. Martin's Church, rolling up like the course ends of the composition rung there. The time was slow for these bells, and a third 'go' was called before settling down to the Bull Ring 'beat.' We finished No. 2 peal at 9.30 p.m., and so had very little time to discuss old acquaintance with the St. Martin's Youths, who came to criticise and congratulate. However, we made up the teams for the next two towers before St. Martin's Hotel, only 60 yards distant from the ringing room, closed its hospitable doors.

West Bromwich was the fixture on Wednesday, a wet and dismal day not adding to the 'beauties' of the district. Here we were kindly received by the Vicar (the Rev. Stanley Kidson, M.A., M.C.) in the belfry, and supported by Mr. Percy Laffin, who came to ensure a full team. He informed us after the peal had been completed, that several men in the street, listening to the ringing, were 'blowed if they could make out the tune them chaps was playin'.'

This is a neat belfry, and comfortable, with good circle of ropes and draught, but with only a 22 cwt. tenor, the twelve bells hung in a 3-tier frame compel one to be most careful with several of them when ringing. To make good striking, a keen ear and expert handling of the front six are needed. Generally speaking, the ring is a second Quex Park, and the most likely tower, it was thought, where we might lose a peal.

The remainder of the evening was spent at Mrs. Parrish's Temperance Hotel, and passed only too quickly with a hearty knife and fork tea, handbells, and chat. Mr. Jesse Screen, Mr. Rock Small, and several local hands, joined us with tune playing—'Same Grove,' 'Ash Grove,' and other well-known favourites, whilst John Jaggar hummed his Burton-on-Trent favourite song—'Holt's Original.'

The late Samuel Reeves' resting-place was visited, and was found looking quite bright and fresh, with its low granite curbstones and neat flower bed centre. The inscription runs:—

'In ever-loving member of Samuel Reeves, for 27 years clerk and vergier of this church, who entered into life June 19th, 1914, aged 68 years.'

This grave forms a cheerful contrast to the many ugly headstones of huge size, black with the soot and dust of the Black Country, to be seen in this churchyard.

At Wolverhampton on Thursday, Mr. Herbert Knight, Mr. J. Badney, and others, met the visitors at the church, where everything had been placed in readiness for our use. Three times the conductor called 'Go, single,' before the band settled down to its stride, and what promised to be the best peal ringing for nearly one and a half hours was cut short by the third rope coming down, much to everyone's astonishment, and to the disappointment of Mr. G. F. Dickens, the only man, as it turned out afterwards, who did not score a peal with us. It was not long after this incident before we got a letter from Mr. Knight, apologising for the accident. He felt the loss, perhaps, more than the band, for everyone knows his keenness in everything connected with St. Peter's bells and tower. He has scored some 300 peals for the Staffordshire Association alone, and, therefore, he was not likely to 'run risks.'

Another attempt could have been made, but the visitors did not wish to 'squash' the social, arranged to take place later in the evening, so all trained back to Birmingham, after tea together at Lyons' Cafe.

THE FIRESIDE SOCIAL.

This enjoyable three hours was spent at the St. Martin's Hotel, in a private, cosy room, with a cheerful fire roaring up the chimney, regardless of the price of coals. Wet and dismal as the evening was outdoors, some 40 people gathered together, relations and friends of the Birmingham ringing fraternity, including the artists who had come voluntarily and gladly to make our evening so enjoyable. Naturally, the chairman (Ald. J. S. Pritchett, M.A., B.C.L.) was ushered to his seat with all the decorum observed upon the bench, and he was supported by Mr. A. Paddon Smith, Mr. H. Chapman, Mr. G. F. Dickens, Mr. and Mrs. Walker, Mr. J. H. Shepherd, Mr. W. H. Fussell, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Groves, Mr. and Mrs. J. Sekys, and a number of ladies and gentlemen connected with the city churches. I am quoting our impromptu programme in detail, as it was worthy of a printed one, and the artistic ability was excellent, much merriment being caused by the 'rivals' stepping down from the platform to end their duet at Mrs. Groves' feet, thus offering up worship to the Ladies' Guild of Bell Ringers.

The Chairman, in a few remarks, welcomed the visitors. He referred to Mr. Chapman's peal of London Major at King's Norton, still a length record; to Mr. Shades' long list of successful peals (over 1,400), and possibly another record; to Mr. Shepherd's 'Tenoritis,' somewhere in the region of 1,800 in the frame. He also mentioned the new ring of bells that were to be put up in his own old parish church, King's Norton, hoping for the best, although regretting the removal of the old peal with their personal associations. He read a telegram from Mr. Smallwood, regretting absence, and also Mr. Swann's laboriously compiled list of all the peals that had been rung on St. Martin's bells, Mr. Pritchett finishing his remarks with brief reference to his early ringing days, and expressing the hope of attending the next College Youths' dinner in London, as a member of 50 years' standing.

The programme was as follows:—Pianoforte solo, Miss E. Faulkner; song, 'Mountain Lovers,' Mr. W. Dowding; song, 'Can't Remember,' Mr. Alfred Walker; song, 'Mairie, my girl,' Mr. W. Dowding; two courses, 'Stedman Cinques' on handbells, by Messrs. Laffin, Perrens, Swann, Groves, Walker and Norman; the Chairman's welcome to Birmingham; duet, 'Two Sailors,' Mr. T. Davies and Mr. Dai Thomas; songs, 'The Old Farmhouse,' Mr. Sam Grove; 'I heard a Thrush,' Mr. Griffiths Thomas; 'The Wine Song,' Mr. Dai Thomas; 'The Song of the Bell,' Mr. T. Davies; duet, 'The Rivals,' Mr. D. Thomas and Mr. T. Davies.

Mr. Fussell spoke a few words of thanks, on behalf of the visitors, to the chairman, the artists and the St. Martin's Youths for the entertainment and reception that evening. He referred to the growth of the society and its extended membership in the Midlands, and trusted that the members would always support the Master and secretary, whose duties were not exactly a 'seabite.'—Mr. Albert Walker also mentioned the origin of the six Cinques, and what a pleasure it had been to him to fix up the towers, as the Guild had not been once refused by the clergymen applied to. This fact, and the gentle inquiries he had had in Yorkshire quite recently, encouraged the belief that a similar undertaking may possibly be attempted in 1925, somewhere about Sheffield.

The social closed with 'God save the King,' and the usual bell ringers' enthusiasm.

AT PAINSWICK.

Friday was Painswick Day, and we arrived punctually at noon by road car from Cheltenham, to which fashionable place we had taken train from Birmingham at 9.20 a.m. The drive and fresh air of the Cotswold Hills, and the scenery, gave added enjoyment to our luncheon at the Falcon, where tea also was taken, after the peal No. 4. We were met by Mr. A. Wright, and others, the former, one of the 'remnants' of long ago, who has scored nearly 300 peals to date. His father took part in the 1858 peal at Painswick. This ring of twelve are best heard outside the tower. A sounding tube for the trebles would much improve the peal in the ringing-room, and help the striking by all those who ring here.

Our band, by the help of Bristol and Gloucester men, finished up a good peal of Cinques, with one 'hitch' at two hours, cleverly retrieved by the conductor, and the members felt that their lost ground of yesterday had been regained. The townspeople, much interested in their bells and our ringing, spoke favourably of it, and with Vicar Vicary from the Vicarage, made no objection to a full peal, although only the week previous they had been keeping up the anniversary of their Ancient Society of Change Ringers.

In a conversation with Mr. Wright it was nice to hear of the recovery of an old ringing book, as since mentioned in 'The Ringing World,' but who was the 'culprit' that allowed it to be taken away from Gloucestershire? It has come to my knowledge that the original peal book of the Painswick Youths, established 1686, is now at Gloucester in the possession of a non-ringing gentleman residing there. I understand that the famous composer and ringer—the late Mr. W. Estcourt—took it to the city 'for writing up'—and at his death it was never returned to Painswick. This peal book should be in the possession of the society, and I trust those locally interested will not rest until it is recovered—before it's too late.

It was decided at first to put up at Painswick for the night, but after a conference, and the high tariff quoted for bed and board, we decided to go on to Cister, so as to make as early a start as possible in the morning for our last attempt.

By studying economy we lived like a lord, at Ye Olde Crown Hotel, Cirencester, kept by Mrs. Edmunds—where we arrived at 8.30 p.m.—and had a most comfortable home for the night. Met by Mr. Bond (steeplekeeper) and Mr. F. J. Lewis (secretary), and others, and the use of our 'portable' set of handbells, bedtime came too soon, and I began to find that old Tempus Fugit never comes in 'slow' to these little sociable gatherings.

CIRENCESTER—AND SOME HISTORY.

Saturday was a bright sunny day, and following a good night's rest, we ascended the lofty tower of St. John's Church, Cirencester (125 feet to the battlements) at 10.30 a.m., as per schedule, and helped to wear the well-worn steps a little more hollow. This fine campanile was finished building soon after 1400, and, according to William of Worcester, two bells were consecrated here in October 1238. It is known that there were bells in the tower in 1499, for in the will of 'Agnes Bennett, widow of Cis'citer,' which will was proved 14th February in that year, directions were given for her carrying out of her funeral—

'That the belle callid the Trinitie belle, and

Jesus bells be at Sondry tymes rong on the tyne of the said obit.'

Cirencester can boast of the second ring of twelve in all England

(1722), St. Bride's London, being first in 1719. Whilst York Minster claims an earlier ring 1681, this 'twelve' were recast into ten in 1765, and destroyed by fire in 1829.

Our attempt here did not succeed at the first 'go,' but at the second venture a peal was completed equal in striking to the one rung at Birmingham. Taking the six attempts in order—1, 3, 5—were scored straight away, the others with breaks at the beginning. I must add here that the conductors fixed on their own towers beforehand, and selected a fresh composition in each case—win or lose.

Cirencester is fortunate in the possession of a drinking horn, an arm-chair with carved bell at back, and an old set of handbells, but I regret to say they are not kept together in one 'place of safety' in official keeping. These articles were presented to the Cirencester Society in 1785 (the horn is dated) by Mr. Samuel Blackwell, of Ampney Park, who became Member of Parliament for the borough. Mr. Blackwell was a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, London, and apparently invited the society to ring a peal here, which they did on January 7th, 1787, Grandsire Cinques, conducted by Wm. Underwood, being the first peal on the bells. This gentleman's interest in ringing possibly accounts for the absence of the Painswick Society, which had been formed over 80 years before in the near neighbourhood.

Our parting feast at the Crown was well served by Mrs. Edmunds, and thoroughly enjoyed, with the satisfaction of having met with a most favourable reception from our brother ringers at all the places we had been to. The boiled leg that needed no pulling—which our hostess placed upon the table—was probably walking over the Cotswolds earlier in the week, its woolly owner, like the peals we had rung, alas! amongst the departed and the only pleasure left to the band is to help the 'Editor' to tell our comrades how it all came about.

W. H. F.

DISLEY'S OLD BELLS.

The peal at Disley, Cheshire, on Saturday last, was rung to celebrate the 400th anniversary of the parish church. It was unique, in so far as the ringers who took part regularly ring the old bells of Disley. The first mention of bells at Disley is in the report of the commission appointed in the 16th century to survey church property, and there were four bells. Oldfield, of Nottingham, cast two in 1617, these are now the 3rd and 4th at Norbury. In 1682 a heavier bell was cast, it bears no founder's name or mark. This is the Norbury tenor. Records state that in 1748 a sixth bell was added, but only the four latter bells remain in existence. The year 1750 saw the present Norbury treble cast.

A new ring of six was placed in Disley Parish Church in 1837, and the old bells transferred to the new church at Norbury. Thomas Leigh, of Lyme Hall, giving another bell to complete the six.

THE SOCIETY OF SHERWOOD YOUTHS.

A meeting of the above society was held at St. Mary's, Nottingham, on Saturday, October 11th, and attracted a good company of ringers, including the Rev. F. Li. Edwards (Dorset). The object of the society being to cultivate the social side of ringing, as well as the art itself, means that a brotherly (and sisterly also) spirit must permeate the company, and it was a happy thought to invite to the meeting those veterans in the art, who, through age and infirmity, are incapable of taking any more active part. One of these veterans remarked to the Master, on leaving, 'I can't thank you enough for what you have done. You have made my old age happy'—a sentiment that makes an effort by the society in that direction well worth while.

Some excellent practice on both tower and handbells was obtained, and the membership is steadily growing.

The society regrets the departure from the city of Mr. G. R. Goodship, he having accepted a post in London. His work in Nottingham has been unostentatious, but very useful, and he leaves Basford tower with a workmanlike band of ringers, practically his creation. Beeston will entertain the next meeting of the society.

THE LADIES' GUILD.

SOUTHERN DISTRICT MEETING AT GUILDFORD.

The fifth annual meeting of the Southern district was held at Guildford on Saturday, October 11th. Much good ringing was enjoyed at Holy Trinity in the afternoon, and a hearty welcome extended to the members of the Guild. The Rev. Canon Kirwan conducted the Guild service, and delivered an interesting address on the subject of bells.

The party then adjourned to the Excelsior Cafe, where an excellent tea was provided. Fourteen ladies were present at the business meeting, including the president (Mrs. Pulling) and Miss E. K. Parker.

The secretary and committee were re-elected, and Misses G. and F. Manfield, of Ash, made members. It was decided to hold the next district annual meeting, before June 30th, at Aldershot, and the next quarterly meeting at Shere on an early Saturday in December.

St. Nicolas' bells were available in the evening, and were rung for the first time by ten ladies. Most of the usual standard methods were rung during the day. Ladies were present from Aldershot, Ash, Dorking, Enfield, East Liss, Guildford, Shere, Tunbridge Wells and Worplesdon.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

On Saturday, October 24th, 1807, a peal of 15,120 Bob Major was rung at St. Paul's, Oldham, in 8 hours 46 mins.

Two notable performances in the Stedman method are associated with October 25th. In 1731 the first peal of Stedman Triples was rung at St. Peter Mancroft, although a peal in the same method rung about six weeks later at St. Michael Coslany, in the same city, was claimed as the first 'true' peal.

The first peal of Stedman Caters rung out of London was scored at St. Philip's, Birmingham, on Oct. 25th, 1790.

A peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal was rung for the first time on October 26th, 1822, at All Saints' Church, Wakefield. We believe it was not until 1888 that there is any record of another.

On Oct. 26th, 1837, 7,325 Grandsire Cinques was rung at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields by the St. James's Society.

At Holbeck, Leeds, a peal of 9,120 Kent Treble Bob Major was rung on October 28th, 1876.

The first 'double-handed' handbell peal was rung at Sheffield on Oct. 30th, 1811. This was a peal of Oxford Treble Bob Major.

The Dartford (Kent) parish ringers rang a peal of Grandsire Triples on October 30th, 1749.

The most important restoration since the augmentation and recasting the Cathedral bells in Essex is the recasting and rehangings in a new frame of Great Baddow bells, which were considered the most unmusical in the diocese. The work has been placed in the hands of Messrs. Taylor and Co., and the celebrated Loughborough firm are now engaged in replacing the bells in the tower. The dedication is to take place in November.

A party of schoolchildren from Kingdon Magna recently spent two days at Wembley, in charge of the Rev. F. L. Edwards. The expedition ended with a visit to the city, and by courtesy of the Cathedral officials the whole party were admitted to view Great Paul, while four of the boys enjoyed the memorable experience of assisting to ring the 17 cwt. bell at one o'clock.

The peal in five methods of Minor, rung at East Harptree on July 22nd last, should be credited to the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association.

A YOUTHS' PEAL.

What is believed to be a record was set up on Saturday at Beddington, when, under the auspices of the Surrey Association, a peal of Grandsire Caters was rung by a band all under 21 years of age. This company, gathered from in and around London, contains names which are likely to be in the forefront of the Exercise in the years to come, and these young men are to be congratulated upon their performance.

Their towers and ages are as follow:—E. G. Talbot, Beddington, aged 16 years; R. D. Marshall, Deptford, 20; R. A. Fardon, Acton, 20; T. A. S. Bloxham, Croydon, 18; E. J. Trimmer, Bermondsey, 19; F. E. Darby, Beddington, 18; C. W. Roberts, Kensington, 19; C. H. Chapman, Rotherhithe, 18; C. H. Kippin, Beddington, 19; S. W. Holdaway, Croydon, 18.

The report of the peal will be found in its customary place.

To the Editor.

Sir,—In answer to Mr. Nichols, and in justice to the bell founders, Messrs. Taylor and Co., let me assure them at once that the report of the 'go' of the bells at Rothwell was either a mistake or misprint. What our band wished to say was: 'The "go" of the bells at Rothwell was excellent, and the ropes at Desborough required careful handling on account of the long pull.' Anyone who has had the privilege to ring on the Rothwell peal will agree, that the tone and 'go' of them is excellent.—Yours,
W. BREWIN.

PRESENTATION AT CAERLEON.

At the conclusion of the ringing for the harvest festival at St. Cadoc's Church, Caerleon, on Wednesday, Oct. 15th, a pleasing little function took place. Mr. G. Watts, the Master, made a presentation to Mr. F. R. Bolton, the gift consisting of a handsome eight-day clock, subscribed for as a wedding present by his fellow ringers of this tower. Mr. Bolton has been a regular ringer for over 15 years, and the whole band joined in wishing him many years of wedded bliss.—A letter was read from Mr. Evan Davies, who taught nearly all the existing ringers, including Mr. Bolton, wishing him happiness and prosperity.

WARWICKSHIRE GUILD.

RULES TO BE REVISED.

The October quarterly meeting of the Guild was held at Warwick on Saturday last. The towers of St. Mary (10) and St. Nicholas (8) were open for ringing, and ringers were present from Bulkington, Burton-on-Trent, Chilvers Coton, Coventry, Exhall, Marlon, Rugby, Nuneaton, Stoke and Southam, together with members of both local towers, and a number of ladies.

The Guild's special service was conducted in St. Mary's Church by the Vicar (Canon Llewellyn Wood), who also accompanied the hymns on the organ. The President (the Rev. J. L. White) read the lesson, from Dr. Moffatt's translation of Romans xii., from which he also gave an interesting and instructive address, in the course of which he thanked the Vicar for kindly arranging the service in the ancient church.

Tea was provided at the Dale Hotel, at which 35 sat down, and although arranged for previously, was somewhat delayed on account of the influx of visitors attending the 'Mop,' where the operation of roasting an ox was proceeding in the Market Place.

On this account the business meeting was held previous to tea, at which the president presided.

The chief business was the motion to appoint a sub-committee to consider a revision of the rules, several of which have now become obsolete, and after some discussion, Messrs. H. Argyle, T. W. Chapman (Ringing Master), F. W. Perrens, J. H. White, and the hon. general secretary, were duly appointed for that purpose.

Mr. Argyle suggested that members' views, other than those of the committee appointed, would be welcomed when they met, and asked those interested to send any such to the general secretary.

The election of eight non-resident members, nominated previous to attempting a peal, was duly ratified, and three ordinary ringing members were elected.

Votes of thanks were accorded Canon Wood and Canon Savage for the use of the bells at St. Mary's and St. Nicholas' respectively, the same compliment being tendered to the president for presiding.

The methods rung during the afternoon and evening included Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Caters, Bob Royal, Cambridge, Bristol, and London Surprise Major. The bells were lowered about 8 p.m., and this concluded a pleasant gathering and successful meeting.

A LANCASHIRE VETERAN.

FIFTY YEARS A RINGER.

At Newchurch, Lancashire, is a band of ringers, who, with one exception, can show an average period of service to the parish church of 35 years. The veteran among them is Mr. James Taylor, who last week attained his 70th birthday, and he has been a ringer nearly 51 years. Except on account of sickness he has never been absent from the belfry when duty called, and he has an unbroken record of having rung on fifty consecutive Christmas mornings and New Year Eves. Two of Mr. Taylor's brothers have been ringers at Newchurch for 35 years each.

On Thursday of last week, in honour of Mr. James Taylor's 70th birthday, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung by James Taylor 1, Lawrence Taylor 2, J. H. Haydock (Ramsbottom) 3, Omerod Eastwood 4, Robert Hiddies (first quarter-peal and first attempt) 5, Walter Taylor (conductor) 6, J. T. Wright 7, J. W. Omerod 8. Afterwards, the ringers and a few friends were entertained to supper at the 'Blue Bell,' where a jovial evening was spent, in the course of which Alderman Taylor, of Newchurch, presented Mr. James Taylor with a handsome walking stick, suitably engraved, subscribed for by the ringers and other friends. The gift was suitably acknowledged.

AN INTERESTING 'CENTURY.'

Mr. J. E. Sykes has just completed a performance which few ringers can equal; he has now 'turned in' to a peal one hundred different tenors, and by a coincidence the last happened to be the heaviest tenor ever rung to a peal of Minor. Mr. Sykes has travelled the country more than the majority of ringers, and wherever he has temporarily 'pitched his tent' he has never failed to stir up the local ringers if they have been in any way lacking in keenness. He never minds whether the peal is on six bells or anything up to twelve, and the spadework he has put in has made him a real missionary of the Exercise. He has had a habit of 'digging out' little used peals of bells, and has been responsible for the first peal on many an ancient ring.

To complete this latest century he took a band to the Anglo-Catholic Church of Hoar Cross, Staffs, and rang seven 720's of Treble Bob. Again, this was the first peal on the bells. They are a ring by Messrs. Taylor and Co., and hung on plain bearings, and it says a great deal for the work done by the Loughborough firm that after many years, during which the bells have been little used, and have had small attention bestowed upon them, that they should 'go' remarkably well, and be fit for the heaviest peal of Minor. The tenor is a few pounds under 30 cwt.

CAMBRIDGE MAXIMUS AT LEICESTER.

A visit to Leicester and district, looked forward to for quite a long time, turned out a huge success. First mooted when some of the 'hosts' came up to London in January last, to ring their first peal of Cambridge Maximus, a date in September was chosen for the trip. The arrangements for the twelve-bell tour cut across this, and a postponement was readily agreed to, the day for the 'big event' being definitely fixed for October 18th.

At 2.25 p.m., the seven visitors were met at the L.M.S. station by Messrs. Ernest Morris and Harold Poole, whilst thousands of Leicester people lined the streets. The assumption that they were waiting to welcome the ringers from London turned out to be erroneous, the excitement being merely caused by a local pageant. Punctually at 3 p.m. the peal was commenced, and for real music that which was heard on Saturday could not be excelled. Always a musical method, Cambridge Maximus on the bells at St. Margaret's, Leicester, was a real enjoyment to listen to, and, judging by the expression on the face of the tenorman, he was having one of the treats of his ringing career. The youngest member of the band had the satisfaction of conducting the peal, and in doing so completed the quartette (the quart-pot came later on) of Cambridge as conductor.

Congratulations from the listeners, and then tea, were followed by a ringers' meeting at the Anchor Hotel. Unfortunately Mr. William Pye had to cut short his visit and return to London immediately, but there were plenty of handbell ringers present to carry on, and they did so to good effect. To say the least of it, Leicester has reason to be proud of its talent in this branch of the art. Stedman Caters and Cinques, Cambridge Major, and three leads of Treble Bob 14 were amongst the items accomplished, the latter being rung by Messrs. W. Whitehead, R. F. Elkington, G. R. Pye, H. J. Poole, E. Whitehead, E. Morris, and W. H. Hewitt. Treble Bob 14-in may be all right from a 'doing something big' point of view, but from a musical standpoint the least said about it the better, and if any band ever succeeds in ringing a peal with 14-in, well, 'serve 'em right'! Anecdotes, with Fred Dexter well to the fore, and ringing gossip filled up the gaps between the ringing items, 'that's all' being called all too soon.

An early start was made on Sunday morning for Loughborough, the famous ten at All Saints being the attraction. Accompanied by Mr. Harold Poole, the visitors were met by Messrs. Pryce Taylor, Richard Lane, F. H. Stubbs, John Oldham, E. Reader, etc., and an excellent course of Cambridge Royal and a touch of Stedman Caters were rung. A visit to the foundry was the next item—amongst the objects of interest being the St. Peter Mancroft bells; and a huge bell of ten tons, which emits a tremendous note in E flat loud enough to be heard several streets away. Rumour has it that this bell has been specially cast for the great J. G., to enable him to accomplish something really big, it being realised that all existing bells are mere playthings—but we cannot vouch for the truth of this, as rumours are not always to be relied upon.

After being joined by Ernest Morris and Redvers 'Anstey,' the party journeyed to Shenshed, the conveyance being kindly provided by Mr. P. Taylor. Whilst Harold was arranging for tea, and incidentally not missing his Sunday afternoon nap, the rest rang an excellent peal of Bristol Surprise Major. Some anxiety was caused during the latter stages of the peal through a weak place in the tenor rope (below the sallie) becoming weaker, through some binding giving way, but fortunately the rope held. Harold was equally fortunate, and found an excellent tea, which was duly disposed of. Loughborough, then Leicester, were soon reached, and at the latter place came the parting of the ways. Ernest went home, shaking with laughter, at the story of the man who wanted land, which will give him cause for amusement for many a long day.

Best thanks are due to the incumbents at St. Margaret's, Leicester, and Shenshed, for the use of the bells; to Mr. Pryce Taylor for his hospitality and assistance; and to Messrs. Stubbs, Morris and Broughton, for arrangements made in connection with the outing.

BREAKING TIME RECORDS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir.—With regard to the almost incredibly quick peals that have been published in your paper, may I say, that I think it is utterly futile for ringers to break time records, without having regard to the music produced? Why not fire the bells, and have done with it? The full note of each bell ought to be heard, instead of being cut short and drowned by another bell slashing on top of it. Quite a contrast is obtained by comparing the 'Twelve bell week' peals with that rung at Sheffield, in which the weight of the bells are in excess of any of the rings of bells that were rung on during the 'Twelve bell week,' and yet the time of the peal at Sheffield was considerably less. Hearing a recent peal of Stedman Cinques in this city, rung in average time, I have come to the conclusion that if the said peal were to be rung quicker, the music would be lost. So what must the peal at Sheffield (and elsewhere) be like, when with heavier bells, they completed the peal in extraordinarily short time? To my mind there is about as much music in these very quick peals as there is when classical music is played like jazz. If ringers were to study this more, their efforts would be more appreciated by the public and myself.—Yours truly,

Birmingham.

METHOD CONSTRUCTION. SUGGESTED DEFINITIONS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Let me remind Mr. Parker that the effort to use words strictly in accordance with their true meaning is not quibbling. I protested against Mr. Baker using expressions in a way which is meaningless to anyone except himself, and I pointed out that the word 'cause' is ambiguous. The need for this last is made evident by Mr. Parker's letter. He states that 'the method is made by the places,' and adds, apparently under the impression that he is merely repeating the same thing in other words, 'the places show the method.' No sane person would deny the second statement; the first expresses the difference between us.

His illustration is excellent, and his description of it reveals a far closer approximation to the views I hold than I should have expected. Thus, he recognises that in addition to the places there goes to the making of a method forward and backward hunting. So, according to him, we now have three causes or active agents, whereas two of them alone are capable of meeting the case: and, in fact, the third is inconsistent with the other two. Taking his illustration, let us see how Original can be transformed into another method by the simplest possible means. A transference is made from the block given by means of 3rd's place at the 6th change:—

Up to this point we are agreed the bells have been hunting, 54321 i.e., they have been moving relatively to one another. Why 45312 not recognise (for it is a fact) that the change from one block to the next is caused by the bells 3, 4, 5, making a step backwards? They actually do reverse their hunting from forwards to backwards, and vice versa, and the resultant effect is to advance 1 and 2 a step forward in coursing order relative to the others, as you would naturally expect to occur from an evolution of this character. Why introduce the alien and unnecessary idea of stagnation?

I do not believe that this is a subject in which it is possible for any man to teach another; the most any of us can do is to suggest points which some one or other theory will not meet; by the help of the hint afforded the investigator must carry on his own researches. So I hope Mr. Parker will not think that I am trying just to score debating points in what I write, nor even suppose I am endeavouring to convert him to a particular view. If there is to be conversion, he must convert himself.

When I first approached the problem of method construction I found myself faced by the fact that in a method with a plain hunting Treble it makes all the difference in the world where the Treble is in relation to the place-making bell. Why? Any true cause must always bring about the same effect unless there is another and (shall we call it?) a more powerful cause over-riding the other. Why should totally different results occur when the place-making bell is hunting in front of the Treble from what happens when she is separated from the Treble, if the place is the cause and indeed the only cause? Thereupon I came to the definite conclusion that whatever else may be true the place-making theory fails to fill the bill.

Definition making is not a strong point of mine, but tentatively I would suggest something like the following:—

DEFINITION 1.—All change ringing is based on plain hunting, forward or backward, i.e., the bells are engaged in following one another in a cyclic path.

DEFINITION 2.—Methods are constructed out of the primary plain hunting principle by reversing the hunting direction of some or all of the bells.

These definitions or something better of similar meaning will be found to answer all the problems which have proved insoluble on other hypotheses. They are so simple and so straightforward that I believe they would meet with universal acceptance, were it not that we all find it more difficult to surrender our prejudices than we do to change convictions based on logical reasoning when further information has shown that the conclusions reached need modification. The particular prejudice we have to face is due to the very natural but at the same time erroneous idea that an internal place is a stopping of the bell's travel. Nobody regards the two blows at lead or behind as stopping, and in the same way the place is an integral part of the hunting of part of the bells. It may be objected that it marks the reversal from movement in one direction to movement in the other, but an analogy can be found in the steps taken by a soldier in turning about on the march. He makes repeated steps on the same ground, but he does not stop.—Yours faithfully,
E. S. POWELL.

REASONS REQUIRED.

Dear Sir,—In the argument as to the construction of methods, we seem to be getting down to fundamentals, and many, like myself, would be glad of further information. Up to the present the majority of ringers have accepted the views of the 'old school,' and have believed that the 'places,' made, caused or were responsible for the formation of the method. Now, it seems, this theory is all wrong. I am open to conviction, for the simple reason that I have only taken for granted what has been given us in the past—and there must be hundreds more like me. As Mr. Trollope has got past the 'thinking' stage, and now really knows all about the subject, will he use his lucid pen to explain to those of us who are thirsting for knowledge why it is that the place does not make the method, but that the other things do?

To take a simple example, upon which he may well base his sermon, will Mr. Trollope give us the arguments in favour of saying that the dodge in Reverse Bob Singles has more to do with the construction of the method than has the 3rd's place. Moreover, if the 'dodge' causes the 'place,' why does not the dodge in 1—2, which presumably causes the 3rd's made in Cambridge Major, for instance, also cause a similar place in Bristol instead of giving us two entirely different results, as in the following figures?—

12463857	12346857

What I seek are the 'reasons' for the statements which Mr. Trollope and the Rev. E. S. Powell put forward. If the reasons are convincing they will have no difficulty in winning over many in addition to Yours faithfully, INTERESTED.

MR. BAKER'S REPLY TO MR. TROLLOPE.

Dear Sir,—I am obliged to Mr. Trollope for his grudging admission that of my statements, 'most of them are quite all right,' albeit he evidently believes that it is good policy to tell your readers that his opponents are ignorant, that he, in a much shorter lifetime, has forgotten more than they have ever learned, and then, by adding a few terminological inexactitudes, as make weight, he no doubt feels quite sure that some will be simple enough to believe anything he tells them.

It is quite useless to argue with people of this calibre because they always evade the point at issue, but after the positive statements made in your columns by Mr. Trollope on June 6th, and by the Rev. E. S. Powell on June 20th last, the Exercise is entitled to ask for proofs in substantiation.

Your readers will remember that the two gentlemen mentioned were asked to prove the construction of London Surprise (Minor and Major) by their particular formula, later on Steadman's Principle was added to the request, finally a variation of London Surprise Major was put forward.

How have they replied? Except for two or three clever letters evading the questions asked, they have done nothing to prove or substantiate their assertions.

Mr. Trollope, in your issue of Sept. 12th, did give a proof of the construction of Double Dublin Court Bob Major, with which I so far agree, because whether looked at from his point of view or from my point of view, the result is the same, and yet he tries to make believe that he does not know what I am asking for, also that I do not understand what he means by a constructional shunt!

Your readers shall judge between us.

Double Dublin Court Bob.	Single Dublin Court Bob.

The shunt making bells of the first half-lead of each method are shown above. Mr. Trollope calls the double places made by the 3rd, 5th and 7th respectively, in Double Dublin, 'constructional shunts.' I call them 'double shunts,' and I have good reason for so doing, because in Single Dublin the places are all single, and they are the constructional shunts of the single method just as much as the double shunts are the constructional shunts of the double method.

It is obvious that Mr. Trollope cannot prove the construction of the single method in the same way that he proved the construction of the double method; would he have us believe that doubling the method has altered the character of the SINGLE shunts? Impossible!

Possibly, if I had never seen Mr. Trollope's exposition of London Surprise, I might eventually have become a convert to his views, and I have no doubt he remembers that I supplied him with a different set of essential shunts for that method, i.e., 13527486 x 17856342 x 13527486 x 13527486 equal 14263857.

In conclusion, let me point out a fact that the two gentlemen have overlooked.

They know it is possible to leave out groups of shunts from some methods and still have the same lead-head but a different method.

They will learn now that it is impossible to leave out ONE SINGLE shunt from any method without altering the lead-head and the method, therefore every SINGLE shunt counts.—Yours faithfully,

GEORGE BAKER.

MARLBOROUGH BOB MAJOR.

The first peal in the above method was rung at St. Mary's, Willesden, on Tuesday, October 14th, by the Middlesex County Association and the London Diocesan Guild. This method, a lead of which is given below, is one of the group published in 'The Ringing World' of April 18th last, being shown in the table on page 246 as A plus R plus C. Quite as musical as Double Norwich, it is, with several others of the group, well worthy of attention, and should be of interest to bands desirous of getting away from the very few good Major methods habitually practised.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The half-yearly meeting of the Maidstone district was held at Yalding on October 11th, when members attended from Boarsted, Boxley, Canterbury, Farleigh, Frittenden, Hartlip, Linton, Maidstone (All Saints' and St. Michael's), East and West Malling, Hunton, and the local band. The Vicar being away from home, the Rev. Southgate conducted the service, and also gave an excellent address. Mr. W. E. Pitman presided at the organ. Tea was served at the Bull Hotel, 33 members sitting down.

At the business meeting which followed, Mr. L. Head (district representative) occupied the chair.—Mereworth and Aylesford were proposed for the next meeting, and the former was decided upon.

It was decided to hold a by-meeting at St. Michael's, Maidstone, the date to be arranged by the district secretary.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Vicar for the use of the bells, to the Rev. Southgate for taking the service, and to Mr. Pitman for presiding at the organ.

This concluded the meeting: the ringers returned to the tower for further ringing. Hunton tower was also visited, the ringing here including a well-struck 720 of Treble Bob.

PETWORTH BELLS.IMPRESSIVE DEDICATION CEREMONY.

The restored bells of the Parish Church of St. Mary, Petworth, Sussex, were dedicated on Sunday, October 12th, by the Venerable Benedict G. Hoskyns, Archdeacon of Chichester. The church was crowded, and there was a gathering of about 50 ringers from all parts of the county, besides the local band.

The history of these bells is interesting. In 1827 the six bells were exchanged for eight others, the cost being met by voluntary subscription. These served for nearly a century. Recently, however, it was found necessary to restore them, and they have been recast, tuned on the five-tone Simpson principle, and rehung with new frame, fittings, etc., the work having been carried out by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon.

Archdeacon Hoskyns, in his address, said that all had taken part that afternoon in a simple but beautiful and deeply impressive ceremony—one which was very rare in the history of the church, and, therefore, carried with it a special significance. Until one began to think about it, one hardly realised how large a part the bells of one's church took in one's life, not merely in the services of the church, but in all the great events of history. He did not think that until quite recently they had ever fully grasped what it would mean to be without their church bells. When the ringing of church bells during the war was stopped for safety reasons it came as a real shock to find that all the bells which gave their special message were silenced. The people of that parish had spent a considerable sum of money in restoring their bells. From the ringing of them for a few minutes that day they had some idea of their beauty of tone.

The clergy present included the Rev. V. P. Powell (Rector of Petworth), the Rev. B. W. Mackie (curate), the Rev. A. C. Lucey (Rector of Fittleworth).

The weight of the bells is now, approximately, 3½ tons, and the tenor weighs 18 cwt., upon which is the following inscription: 'AD MAJOREM DEI GLORIAM ET IN HONOREM MARIE BEATÆ MCMXXIV.'

The rounds at the dedication during the service were rung by J. H. B. Hesse (Haslemere) 1, C. Dean (Croydon) 2, R. Hayes (Haslemere) 3, P. H. Doick (Pulborough) 4, M. Smither (Chiddingfold) 5, A. H. Pulling (Guildford) 6, A. Feist (Billingshurst) 7, W. R. Melville (Guildford) 8.

The first touch on the bells after the service (504 Stedman Triples) was rung by J. H. B. Hesse 1, P. H. Doick 2, J. Burdfield 3, A. J. Bartlett 4, M. Smither 5, W. Stanford 6, A. H. Pulling (conductor) 7, T. Attwell 8.

Other touches rung were Grandsire Triples and Bob Major. All the ringers expressed their appreciation of the splendid tone and 'go' of the bells, which are a great credit to Messrs. Gillett and Johnston.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.DEAN BLENKIN'S UNCOMPLETED TASK.

The quarterly meeting of the Northern Division was held at Hitchin on Saturday, October 11th. Visiting ringers were present from Kimpton, Cambridge, Baldock, Graveley, Sawston, Luton and Turvey, together with the local band numbering 22. Service was held in the Parish Church, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. L. B. Ashby). Mr. W. O. Times read the lesson, and gave the address. He referred to the bells at Bakewell, where on the seventh bell is inscribed, 'If men like us would join and agree, they'd live in tune—ful harmony.' That was the lesson of the bells, and a lesson the ringers had taken well to heart. They were closely associated, and working together in unity, and were just as much a constituent part of the church as the choir, organist, or anyone else. Their function was that of 'God calling,' and they had brought the use of the bells to a very high character. Mr. Times made mention of the late Dean Blenkin, of St. Albans (formerly Vicar of Hitchin), who was greatly interested in bell ringing. He had undertaken to draw up a special service form for these meetings, but at the time of his death it was incomplete. In their bell ringing (concluded Mr. Times) they all had to act together, or it was hopeless, and that spirit of unity should find expression in their everyday life.

An excellent tea was partaken of at the Grange, followed by a short business meeting. It was agreed that the next meeting be held at Royston in November.

The usual votes of thanks brought to a close a very enthusiastic meeting. Grandsire Triples, Stedman Triples, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, Double Norwich Court Bob and Superlative Surprise Major, were successfully brought home during the afternoon and evening.

DEATH OF MRS. MATT. WOOD.

We regret to record the death of Mrs. Wood, widow of the late Mr. Matthew Wood, who passed away on Friday last, at 41, Church Row, Bethnal Green, where she spent all her married life. Death was due to bronchial pneumonia and heart failure. Mrs. Wood was in her 83rd year, and was really a wonderful woman, her wit and fund of humour being keen right up to the last.

DEATH OF MR. J. J. W. CARR.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. J. J. W. Carr, the head of Charles Carr, Ltd., the well-known bell foundry, of Smethwick, Birmingham. The sad event occurred with painful suddenness on Tuesday, the 14th inst. The deceased gentleman was connected with the business, founded by his father, from the commencement in 1865, and after the decease of Mr. Charles Carr in 1891, he, with his sister (Miss Hannah Carr), had carried on the business. During this period, over 23,000 bells of all sizes and weights have been made by this firm, including a peal of eight for Fenton Church, Staffs, and a Maiden Peal (made by himself) which has been loaned to theatres in all parts of the country. Only last month he superintended the casting of a 35 cwt. bell for Dennera, and was congratulated on the success of same.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

DEVIZES BRANCH MEETINGS.

During the quarter (June to September) four meetings have been held in the Devizes branch. The first meeting was held at Upavon on July 12th. This tower is situated on the extreme edge of the branch area, as are also the neighbouring towers of Netheravon, Fittleton and Enford, and these are visited during the summer, ringing generally taking place on the four peals on the same day. All are six bell rings, in good condition. This year the afternoon was spent at Netheravon, Fittleton and Enford, returning to Upavon for the service, tea and meeting. The attendance was very good, one charabanc coming from Bradford-on-Avon and Trowbridge, one from Westbury and Bratton, and one from Devizes district. About 50 ringers and friends sat down to tea, and ten new members from Upavon were elected at the meeting which followed. The news of the sudden and serious illness of the chairman (Mr. C. D. Heginbotham) was received with great regret, and the secretary was asked to send a message of sympathy and wishes for a speedy recovery. Mr. S. Hillier (Devizes) was elected to act as branch chairman during Mr. Heginbotham's absence. The bells of Upavon were rung during the evening, touches of Bob Minor, Stedman and Grandsire Doubles being rung.

The next meeting was a 'special.' This was held at Seend on August 2nd. The branch has a standing invitation from Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Awdry, of Manor Cottage, to visit them once a year. Ringing took place on the beautiful ring of six bells, and the usual Guild service was held, conducted by the Rev. W. Weckes, Devizes (the Vicar being away from home). Tea followed, kindly provided by Mr. and Mrs. Awdry, to which 41 sat down. After tea, a good many enjoyed a walk round the gardens of Manor Cottage, others returned to the tower. Touches of Kent Treble Bob and Plain Bob Minor, Stedman and Grandsire Doubles were rung during the afternoon and evening.

A monthly meeting was held at Keevil on August 15th. There is another nice ring of six bells at this church (tenor 21 cwt.), in good condition. Ringing was followed by the Guild service, conducted by the Rev. Reece Heal (as the Vicar was away on holiday). Tea and meeting followed in the Institute, 23 members attending. The Vicar sent a message of welcome to the ringers. Touches of Stedman and Grandsire Doubles were rung during the afternoon and evening.

The quarterly meeting was held at Westbury on Saturday, Sept. 6th. This beautiful peal of eight (tenor 35½ cwt.) was raised at three o'clock, various methods being rung till 4.40. The company then assembled in the church for the usual Guild service, this was conducted by the Rev. E. W. Coles. Tea in the Institute was followed by the business meeting, 31 members being present.—The Secretary reported that Mr. Heginbotham had undergone a second operation a few days before, and was now making excellent progress.—On the motion of Mr. C. H. Jennings, of Bristol, the meeting sent best wishes for a speedy recovery to Mr. Heginbotham. The Rev. E. W. Coles, Westbury, was elected a ringing member of the Guild, and the next three meetings were fixed as follows: At Bishops Cannings on October 4th; Hilperton on Nov. 1st; Devizes (annual) on December 6th.—The Chairman thanked the Vicar-in-charge for the use of the bells, and the curate for conducting the service, extending a hearty welcome to both clergy and visiting ringers from Bristol, Wootton Bassett and Swindon. The ringers then returned to the tower, but unfortunately ringing was stopped at 7 p.m. owing to serious illness near the church. Touches of Major, Stedman and Grandsire Triples were rung during the afternoon.

MANGOTSFIELD RINGER'S DEATH.

Mr. J. Bryant, for nearly 50 years a ringer at Mangotsfield, has died under sad circumstances while opening a grave. A quarter-peat of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) was rung in his memory, with the bells half-muffled, at St. James' Church: *C. Jefferies 1, *T. Marsh 2, E. Harding 3, J. G. Jefferies 4, H. T. Howell 5, E. Palmer 6, W. Hewitt (longest length as conductor) 7, *J. Jefferies, junr., 8. * First quarter-peat.

CLUN RINGERS' OUTING.

On Wednesday, Sept. 17th the choir men and bell ringers of Clun Parish Church had their outing, which took the form of a motor tour through the north-west part of Herefordshire. They were accompanied by the Vicar, and also the Rev. H. J. Scott. The party arrived at Pembridge in time for a substantial lunch, after which they made their way to the ancient detached tower of the church, which contains five old bells rung from the ground floor, but owing to the bad 'go' of them, and the noise, it was not possible to bring round one six-score, although some Bob Singles were creditably rung. After a hasty look round the fine old church, and the old-world black and white buildings, it was time to make for Staunton-on-Arrow, the next stop; then on to Eardisland, where some well-struck six-scores of Doubles were rung. Wigmore was reached in time for a sumptuous tea; then to church, where special evensong was held, and the time filled up by a visit to the tower. Leintwardine was the last tower visited, where the local men were joined in their weekly practice, and time passed all too quickly for the visitors, who soon had to make tracks for home. Although the weather was rather unfavourable, the outing was most enjoyable.

On Sunday, Sept. 20th, the 10th anniversary of the completion of the church restoration at Clun, Shropshire, which comprised the tower and bells, was celebrated. There were special services and preachers. A pen on the bells in honour of the event had to be abandoned owing to the impossibility of getting a hand together, and touches of Grandsire Triples by the local men was the extent of the ringing.

WASHBROOK MEMORIAL SCHEME LAUNCHED.

The Committee entrusted with formulating a scheme to provide a memorial to the late Mr. James W. Washbrook has come to a decision, and subscriptions are invited towards a fund of at least £170 to place two treble bells in the tower of St. Ebbe's Church, Oxford. That there should be provided a fitting memorial to so great a ringer is not questioned, and there is little division of opinion as to the form which, funds permitting, the memorial should take. James Washbrook did as much as any man has ever done in teaching young ringers, and in helping them over those first difficulties which beset the path of nearly all who enter the art. What better, then, than that his memory should be honoured by increasing the number of some peal of bells in a tower in his native city where they will be available for the use of those who seek to advance in the art?

It has only been upon the place where these new bells shall hang that there has been divided counsel, but the Committee, having fully weighed all the possibilities, have recommended St. Ebbe's tower. This particular phase of the question has been to a large extent a 'local' one, and, the Committee having, with all the views before them, come to a conclusion, the Exercise, which is to be asked to provide the money, will be content that the best scheme has been adopted. We have no doubt, too, that those who have advocated some other tower than the one selected will now loyally support the scheme which the Committee has launched, realising that the object is not alone which peal of bells can best be augmented, but how best we can commemorate one of the greatest men that ever entered the ringing Exercise.

The appeal, which we publish in another column, is frankly put forward as a 'venture of faith,' but there ought not to be any question of its success. True, James Washbrook was a giant of other days—a giant of the pioneer days when the ringing of bells as well as the scoring of peals was not as easy as in many cases it is to-day. There are still throughout the country, however, many men who knew James Washbrook in his prime, and it is to them that we must look to forward this appeal among the younger ringers. There are some forty associations affiliated to the Central Council, and if each would collect or guarantee the modest sum of four guineas the scheme from the outset would be an assured success. A promiscuous appeal to individual ringers might not have the desired result, although every ringer should consider it a privilege to contribute; but if the Memorial Fund Committee can see its way to making a direct

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the South and West District was held at Twickenham on Saturday week. Ringing commenced shortly after 3 p.m., when several touches were rung before service, which was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. W. P. Cole Skeane), with the Rev. E. A. Jones presiding at the organ.

The Vicar choose for his text three words of everyday use: 'Nothing, something and everything.'

After service, an adjournment was made to the Parish Hall, when 34 sat down to an excellent tea, as guests of the Vicar and churchwardens, with the Vicar presiding, supported by Mr. T. Etherington (churchwarden), the Rev. E. A. Jones, Mr. T. Beadle (vice-president), and Mr. Holloway (Ringing Master).

At the business meeting which followed, one ringing member was elected, and the Vicar and churchwardens were elected hon. members.

Hillingdon (St. John's) was announced for the November meeting, and Acton was selected for January, 1925.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar and churchwardens for allowing the use of the bells, and for their kind hospitality (which had been much appreciated); to the Vicar for his excellent address, and the welcome he gave to the association; to the organist, steeplekeeper, host and lady assistants.

Grandsire Caters and Bob Major were rung on handbells by Messrs. R. Holloway, J. Herbert, F. Goodfellow, J. E. Cooper and C. V. Ebberson, who received the Vicar's best thanks. He also thanked the members for ringing the quarter-peal on the 11th when the Bishop of London visited their church.—This concluded the business meeting.—The Hon. Secretary and Ringing Master extend their best thanks to all members for their attendance and support at the meeting.

More ringing was indulged in till nearly 9 p.m., when another pleasant afternoon came to an end. The company had by that time increased to 42.

DEVON GUILD.

On Tuesday evening, October 14th, the new president (the Rev. E. S. Powell) visited the North Devon branch. On his arrival at Combe Martin he was given a hearty welcome by the ringers in the church tower at 6 p.m. The bells were at once raised in peal, and 335 Grandsire Triples rung, with the Rev. E. S. Powell taking part, after which several practice touches were rung.

Leaving Combe Martin at 7.30, he proceeded to Ilfracombe, accompanied by Mr. A. H. Hayward, the branch secretary, and at the parish church he was met by the chairman of the branch, the Rev. H. L. Pigot, and the parish church ringers. The bells having been raised, a start was at once made for a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes), which was brought round in 47 mins.: J. Sprague 1, Rev. E. S. Powell 2, R. Dodds 3, A. H. Hayward (conductor) 4, E. Sprague 5, R. A. Eaton 6, F. Blackmore 7, J. Richards 8.

Mr. R. A. Eaton, of Birmingham, was on a visit to Ilfracombe, and it was E. Sprague's first quarter-peal. — A vote of thanks to the president for visiting the branch brought a very pleasant evening to a close.

A RINGING HOLIDAY IN SUFFOLK.THE PEALS OF A WANDERING 'CANARY.'

Journeying as far as Diss by train, the old iron grid then came into use. It was a pleasant sunny day, and the ride from Diss to Debenham was an enjoyable one. On arrival I found the bells were being rung by some band or other. On inquiring I discovered the Lavenham company were on their annual outing. After a few minutes' conversation with these ringers and a course of Cambridge, I resumed my journey to Cretingham. I found it was not possible to cycle all the way to this village, owing to floods caused by heavy rains. However, after some manœuvring through fields and over stiles, the Bell Inn was reached at last. After an early tea, away with friend L.C.W. to Helmingham to attempt London. For once I was early, so the time was spent in exploring the church. Although I had been there previously, for the first time I saw the monument to Tollemache, for which the roof of the church was not high enough, so a piece had to be removed. At last all the band arrived, and after three hours and 19 minutes' good ringing the bells ran into rounds. You may imagine how happy all were, there being seven 'firsts' in the band. As the company was a somewhat mixed one, and consequently had to go different ways, it was not convenient for all to partake of refreshments at the same place. However, a few celebrated the event at Framdsen.

The next day, Sunday, Cambridge, at Debenham, was on the programme. After ringing three courses, this came to an untimely end. But once again we commenced, and a fine peal was scored.

On Monday evening a fine peal of Superlative was rung, the course ends rolling up like clockwork. It is not yet known how many inhabitants at Framdsen and Cretingham are still asking who was murdered, as it was rumoured groans and shrieks were heard about 10.30 p.m. But let it be known it was the holiday maker's back pedal brake. This brake was removed the following morning, and a new one fitted.

Stedman Triples was rung at Coddanham on Tuesday evening, the ringers consisting of a mixed band, with a local ringer taking part.

On Wednesday another peal of Superlative was registered at Framlingham.

On arrival at Honley on Thursday, we were all heartily welcomed by the ringing Vicar. Cambridge was attempted, but as at Debenham, three courses only were rung before it came to grief. However, a second attempt was made, and the bells ran round at 10 p.m.

The next day, Friday, Cambridge should have been attempted at Grundisburgh, but a postcard arrived stating for some cause or other the bells were not available. The 'Canary,' therefore, spent the day touring Suffolk, informing the band there was 'nothing doing.'

Cycling as far as Ipswich on Saturday, a peal at St. Margaret's was the order of the day. But on commencing the peal something went wrong—maybe the bells were bad-tempered. Several attempts for Cambridge and Double Norwich went astray in a few minutes. However, another attempt was made, and a fine peal of the latter method was scored. The tenor ringer is to be congratulated on his performance. After a social hour with our Ipswich friends, our cycles were hauled out, and a damp journey made to Cretingham.

Sunday, the last day of the holiday arrived all too soon, and a dismal morning it was. At first it looked too wet to think of cycling to Worlingworth, where Superlative was to be attempted. However, at 12.30 the weather cleared up a little, so off we went. On arrival at the church we found four of the band had arrived, but after waiting half an hour nobody else appeared. Things had just begun to look like being a 'wash-out,' when up came one more. He apparently had found a shelter from the rain at the other end of the village. The services of old friend David were then sought, and a good peal of Oxford was rung, the later part of which took place during a thunderstorm.

This concluded the holiday, so far as ringing was concerned, and the average was good considering that we rang a peal on each occasion we met for one.

At the conclusion of the peal at Worlingworth, the holiday maker bid the other seven ringers a hurried good-bye, and proceeded to cycle 13 miles to Diss. It was a great ride, being commenced in a thunderstorm and heavy rain. However, the clerk of the weather took pity, and the last nine miles were done in the dry, if the roads were somewhat flooded.

Some have asked whether my holidays are at end, but it is whispered 'not quite.' I thank all who made my time such a happy one, especially my friends at Cretingham. G. H. C.

A DATE TOUCH.

On October 14th, at Dunmow, Essex, a date touch was rung at St. Mary's Church, consisting of 1,884 Bob Minor and 40 Bob Doubles, in 1 hour 15 minutes, by Bert Claydon 1, A. Bibbans 2, A. Smith 3, A. Perry 4, E. Richardson 5, W. Smith (conductor) 6.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Over eighty ringers were present at Old Cleeve, when the Dunster Deanery of the Bath and Wells Association held an 'opening' meeting there. Two trebles have just been added to complete the octave. Sheffield correspondents have written in reply to 'Normal Time,' and their letters will appear next week.

Ringers are reminded of the reopening of the restored peal at Bletchley at 3 p.m. to-morrow (Saturday).

The reopening of the six bells at Higham-on-the-Hill, Warwickshire, is to take place on Saturday, November 8th.

A meeting of the Wotton-under-Edge Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association was to have been held at Thornbury on November 8th, but it has been found necessary to bring it forward a week, and members should, therefore, note that the meeting will be held to-morrow.

Next Monday, Mr. William Rock Small, the Tipton veteran, will celebrate his 85th birthday, and ringers throughout the Exercise will extend to him their hearty good wishes.

Congratulations to the Williams upon their peal of London Surprise. After the disappointment of a few weeks ago, they met again on the 18th, in London, and brought off the job. The band travelled between them about 1,020 miles to ring this peal.

The first peal of London rung by a band of the same Christian name was accomplished at St. Stephen's, Rochester Row, on January 2nd, 1904, when the Johns put to their credit the first of the three peals they have rung.

To the Williams, however, belongs the credit of the first 'name' peal, for in Shipway's day they rang a peal of 5,129 Grandsire Caters at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields.

The anniversary of this peal falls on Monday next. Shipway called the peal, and eleven Williams took part, there being two men on the tenor.

'Listener' writes that with the birth of 'Marlborough' comes the death of 'Wigston.'

This week we record a peal of Double Norwich rung at Surfleet, the composition being an adaptation of Samuel Thurston's 6,160. It is somewhat of a coincidence that to-morrow is the anniversary of the first performance of that peal, which Thurston 'composed and expertly conducted' at St. Michael at Coslany, Norwich, on Tuesday, November 1st, 1831.

The tablet in the belfry records that the peal 'by reason of the intricacy of the composition might be properly called a performance of first-rate eminence, and with respect to the superiority of striking it was no less worthy of notice, the utmost regularity being retained from beginning to ending.'

On November 5th next year, Cambridge ringers will have the opportunity of celebrating a bi-centenary, for on that day in 1725 a peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at Great St. Mary's by the Cambridge Youths. A record of this peal is to be found among the Osborne MSS. in the British Museum.

The first peal of Superlative Surprise was rung at St. Peter's, Huddersfield, on November 5th, 1821.

To the Editor.

Sir,—In your leader of last week, dealing with meetings, and the discouraging attendances, you ask, 'What's wrong?' Is not the answer to be found elsewhere in your columns? You speak of these meetings as 'giving some ringers wider opportunities of practice than they can get in their own tower.' Suppose, then, a ringer goes to a meeting with that idea—perhaps cycling several miles to get there, what happens? Let me quote from your columns: 'Meeting 3 p.m. (often late). Service 4 p.m. Tea 4.45 p.m. Business meeting immediately afterwards.' That is to say, too many things are crowded into the time at disposal. Is it always necessary to have the service? Must the business meeting be held on that same day? No wonder the man, who has come some miles, goes home disappointed, and resolved not to attend another meeting. He has had little chance of ringing—especially if the meeting has been well attended—and actually ringing takes quite a secondary place at such meetings.

I write this with quite an open mind, for I am myself rarely able to attend Saturday meetings of any sort.—Yours, etc.

Bristol.

R. H. WHITFORD.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Wotton-under-Edge branch was held at Yate on Saturday week, when 40 members attended, representing twelve towers. Some excellent ringing was done on the heavy peal of six during the afternoon and evening. The Rector (the Rev. H. F. Forster Morris) conducted the service, and presided over the tea and business meeting which followed.

Three new members were elected, and Thornbury selected for the next meeting, which will be on November 1st (not the 8th inst., as proposed). Canon Connwall is leaving Thornbury shortly, and wishes the meeting to take place before he departs.

The Rector and local ringers were heartily thanked for their welcome, and for providing tea.

WASHBROOK MEMORIAL.

At the annual meeting of the Oxford Diocesan Guild in Reading last July, it was resolved to take steps to erect in Oxford a memorial to the late James W. Washbrook, and to invite contributions towards this from all Guilds, Associations and Ringing Societies, and from personal friends.

It was further resolved, if possible, that the memorial should take the form of augmenting the peals of six bells in the towers of either St. Ebbe's, St. Giles' or Carfax.

A special committee was appointed to make the necessary inquiries and to carry out the scheme which should appear to them to be the best.

The committee met on Oct. 16th, and carefully considered the information which had been collected, the expert reports which had been made, as well as the personal opinions which had been expressed on this question.

It was, in the end, decided to appeal to the Exercise and to friends for the minimum sum of £170, in order to augment the peal of six bells at St. Ebbe's Church, and, in the event of a larger sum being forthcoming, to consider a larger scheme.

Messrs. R. T. Hibbert and A. J. Wright were elected joint secretaries to the committee. Mr. Wright also kindly consented to act as hon. treasurer. Subscriptions should be sent to him at 40, Hamilton Road, Reading, or paid to 'the Washbrook Memorial Fund,' at Lloyds Bank, Reading.

To launch this appeal is a venture of faith, inasmuch as the great days of Washbrook were at least a quarter of a century ago, but nevertheless it is a venture that should be made in order to perpetuate the memory of one who was perhaps the greatest ringer of any age. And there could surely be no more fitting memorial to one who was such a pioneer of change ringing than to provide for a musical though light ring of eight in a poor part of the city of his birth—a city not possessed of a handy ring of eight available for change ringing, in a parish where bell ringing is appreciated, and in a tower where ringers from all parts are always welcomed.

CYRIL W. O. JENKYN, Chairman of Committee.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.SUCCESSFUL NOTTINGHAM DISTRICT MEETING.

On Saturday last, members of the Nottingham district of the Midland Counties Association journeyed to Greasley for the usual monthly meeting, and were well repaid for doing so, in spite of the weather not being all that could be desired. The members on their arrival were welcomed by the very energetic leader of this young band of ringers, Mr. J. E. Hobbs, and his pupils, and the ladies, who were busy with the cups and saucers. This tower originally contained five bells, but in 1922 these were augmented to eight by Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough fame, who have made them a very handy ring.

Tea, served in the Church Institute, was kindly provided by the esteemed Vicar (the Rev. J. S. Galloway), and hon. member of the association. Representatives from the following towers were present: Beeston, Bulwell, Ilkeston, Cotgrave, St. Mary's and St. Peter's, Nottingham, West Hallam, Southwell, and the local band.

After the 'inner man' had been well supplied, Mr. W. E. White moved a very hearty vote of thanks to the Rev. J. S. Galloway, and to the ladies for so well and kindly attending upon those present.—This, needless to say, was carried unanimously.

The business meeting was presided over by Mr. A. Coppock (vice-president), supported by Mr. F. Blood, hon. secretary. Three places were proposed for the next meeting, viz., Breaston, Old Basford and Ruddington, and on being put to the meeting, Old Basford was selected, the meeting to be held on November 22nd.

One new member was elected, making a total of 27 for the year, which speaks well for the progress of the association. It was announced that the William Doubleday Crofts Memorial Dinner would be held at the Albert Hotel, Derby Road, Nottingham, on January 31st, 1925.

The Secretary addressed the members on the arrangements for the annual meeting, which were approved and left to the committee to carry out.

Mr. W. E. White then proposed a very hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar, who had by this time arrived home and joined the members, for his great kindness in granting the use of the bells, and for enabling the meeting to be held at Greasley; also for the magnificent tea he had provided.—The Vicar replied, and mentioned what a pleasure it was to entertain the association. He hoped to meet them all again on many occasions.

Mr. J. E. Hobbs and the ladies were also joined in this vote of thanks.

The members then adjourned to the tower for more ringing, and the bells were made good use of in methods up to London Surprise, the bells being lowered about eight o'clock, after a very enjoyable afternoon. It is hoped that the district will always be able to report such good meetings and fellowship as was evinced at this gathering.

THE FIRST MUFFLED PEAL?

To the Editor.

Sir,—Whilst examining some books in the reference library, I came across an account of a peal in a volume called 'Old English Churches,' by George Clinch, F.G.S., p. 135. In this he gives a quotation from 'Hones' Table Book,' vol. ii., p. 527, as follows:—

The following was formerly exhibited in one of the inns at Bromley, Kent.

'Rang at St. Peter's, Bromley, on the 15th January, 1817, by the Society of Bromley Youths, a complete peal of Grandsire Triples, which is 5,040 changes, with the bells muffled, in commemoration of Wm. Chapman, deceased, being a ringer in the parish of Bromley 43 years, and rang upwards of 60 peals. This dumb peal was completed in 3 hours and 6 minutes: Thos. Giles 1, R. D. Chapman 2, Wm. Sanger 3, G. Stone 4, Wm. King 5, Jno. Allen 6, Wm. Fuller 7, Jno. Green 8, being the first dumb peal of this kind ever rung in this kingdom, and conducted by J. Allen.'

The book also showed the design of a bell in a floral wreath, crudely drawn at the head of the above account, which seems to indicate that it was done on a simple placard, perhaps by one of the ringers or an artistic friend, and hung in the inn for all to see.

The peal itself, however, is of more importance. Has it been known previously as the first 'dumb peal,' meaning, I suppose, fully muffled; and, further, where is the placard to-day?

I was highly amused whilst the controversy on the 'nomenclature of methods' was going on. Some seem afraid of being ridiculed by the public when it reads of 'horticultural' methods being rung. As the subject is now under consideration by a committee one need not express an opinion on this, but I would like to draw attention to a somewhat similar case. Turn to the pages of any standard hymn book (organ copy), and notice the names the composers of hymn tunes have tacked on to their productions. Certainly few flowers are named, unless 'Rose of Sharon' was a flower, but there you will find almost every description of name, place names, colleges, saints, ideas, and commands, such as 'Follow me' (ideal for a plain hunting method). Evidently the musical composers were not troubled with fears as to the public opinion of their names, as the method composers are said to be. The title 'Angelus' was attached to a hymn tune composed in 1657; would it look any worse to apply it to bell music, where it rightly belongs in 1924? Another, 'Safe Home,' is applied to a modern tune; this might not be so applicable to a method, on account of being too optimistic—a rope might break, for instance. Now I will leave this fruitful garden of names for some more able searcher.—Yours faithfully,

Toronto.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION IN NEWCASTLE.

On Monday, October 20th a peal of Stedman Cinques was attempted at Newcastle Cathedral to celebrate the 70th birthday of Mr. Alfred Hillier, but was lost shortly after the half-way, through a change course. Mr. J. W. Parker, of Sunderland, had brought out a new composition (5,070 changes) especially for this occasion: E. Ferry 1, C. L. Routledge (conductor) 2, G. Rowell 3, T. H. Reeves (Birmingham) 4, J. A. Goffon 5, J. E. Goffon 6, J. W. Parker 7, R. A. Goffon 8, A. F. Hillier 9, T. T. Goffon 10, J. E. Keen 11, W. H. Barber 12.

The company was afterwards joined by Messrs. W. Story and R. Richards at the Half-Moon Hotel, and 'Old Alf,' as he is affectionately known in the ringing world, was presented with a silver snuff-box, which was inscribed as follows: 'Presented to Mr. Alfred Francis Hillier by members of the Newcastle Cathedral Guild of Change Ringers and other friends, on the occasion of his 70th birthday, as a token of their respect and esteem.'

The Ringing Master (Mr. Routledge), who presented it, wished him many happy returns, on behalf of all his friends, and said it was the best importation the Guild or the Diocesan Association ever had when Mr. Hillier deserted his native Crawley, in Sussex, to come to Newcastle 33 years ago. He was always to be relied on to turn up for service or peal ringing, and to do his best at the rope from treble to 9th—never any further!

The Brothers Goffon, with Messrs. Barber and Reeves, afterwards treated the company to a course of Stedman Cinques, and then the four brothers rang courses of London and Superlative Surprise, much to the delight and admiration of the company present.

PRESENTATION TO AN ILKESTON RINGER.

The members of the Ilkeston (Derbyshire) band have presented to Mr. H. Straw, one of their number, an oak inkstand suitably inscribed, on the occasion of his wedding. The presentation took place at Mapperley, where Mr. and Mrs. Straw now reside, on Oct. 11th. The Ilkeston ringers spending a very pleasant evening at the Black Horse. The Ringing Master handed the gift to Mr. Straw, in a happy little speech, and the recipient suitably replied. The inkstand was inscribed: 'Presented to Mr. and Mrs. H. Straw, in commemoration of their wedding, by the ringers of St. Mary's, Ilkeston, 1924.' During the evening, touches and tunes were rung on handbells, and some good songs were rendered. A course of Grandsire Triples was tapped by the Ringing Master on his weird peal of bells, to the amazement of the company.

METHOD CONSTRUCTION.

MR. J. W. PARKER'S CRITICISM.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—May I thank Mr. Trollope for his kindly word with me in your issue of October 17th. Certainly it smacks of the superior mind endeavouring to lead an erring one into the right way of thinking, but we may acquit Mr. Trollope of any intentional assumption of superiority.

If the purpose of his letter is to show that places are not of first importance in method construction, he is far from convincing.

A lack of confidence is created at the outset by his statement that he formerly regarded 'Places are the Method' as a self-evident fact. If at one time he, with the whole of the advanced school, believed this, and now consider it is false, then their change of mind at most reflects credit to their courage; but it casts a doubt on the infallibility of Mr. Trollope, which he assumes by saying, 'I know' at the end of his letter.

Further, his case is given away by the acknowledgment that, having the places of the method, you can without difficulty supply the rest, especially when it is remembered that 'the rest' is fixed by the places and cannot be changed, in any way, except by an alteration of the places. Thus, as he again admits, by putting down all the possible positions in which places may be made, all possible methods are obtained.

Then follow two statements which, in the light of the foregoing, are remarkable, and his justification for the statements is 'that cause must be before the effect in time.' Surely the advanced school must know that cause and effect may be simultaneous, and this being so, the two statements have no logical value.

Take the emphasised one, which states 'it is not true that any . . . reversal of hunting direction is caused by a place or places, and look at London Surprise. As the bells come below the treble they are hunting forward, in what may be termed the natural way, each bell, however, as it comes below the treble must make a place, which effects a change, and the bell is said to be hunting backward instead of in the natural way, until it makes another place. If the place is not made the bell continues to hunt forward, then does the place bring about the changed condition?

Further on the point of time, Mr. Trollope thinks that through some mental process I consider the places and the resultant dodging as a sequence. This can only be described as a bad guess, but would he like me to make a guess at the mental process which has brought him to the present pass on this question? Again, he should at least be consistent, for reading his letter which appeared in your issue of Sept. 12th I find the following in his explanation of what a method really is: 'The treble has made a step,' 'the treble has successively changed positions.' Does Mr. Trollope mean to say that consideration of time is not implied in making a step and in a succession?

Also in the same letter we find the following: 'If instead of making second's place you make seventh's when the treble is behind you get exactly the same results. We call either of them an extreme constructional shunt. The simplest group of methods will be constructed by (1) the extreme with the treble before. A "P" Court Shunt will, by itself, as you will find, cause one bell to lie still at lead.'

Do these not plainly state that a method is constructed by a place, that a place gives 'results,' and that there is a cause in methods?

Mr. Trollope likens a method to a triangle; this is not easy to grasp, but we may, for the purpose of argument, take his word for the relationship. Then, given the base and two angles what follows is inevitable, but given the same base and two other angles, what follows will be different from the first, inasmuch as the two sides will not be of the same length. This variation in the two triangles may be said to be caused by the change in the given angles. Similarly, if we fix the places of a method, what follows is inevitable, but if the disposition of the places is changed, variation in the method follows; then to say that this is caused by the disposition of the places would not be absurd.

It appears to me to be impossible for anyone to recognise a method as an expression of mathematical law if they have not found out what that law is. If expressed, it is shown.

We have heard and read of men in the dark, being on the open ground, who thought they were progressing, but when the light came they had only returned to their starting-point. I do not say that Mr. Trollope is in the same case, but there is the possibility, for his present theory is but one of places. He has very cleverly analysed and arranged them into shunts. Single shunts which preserve the coursing order, and combined places which first upset and then restore the coursing order, the whole operation being considered as the Shunt, but at the most they are only a selection of places which give desired results.

I must voice my appreciation of Mr. Trollope's last paragraph. It is entirely undeserved, but most of us are susceptible to flattery.

One could write a great deal on methods, but I have said enough, and will leave the last word to Mr. Trollope if he desires to have it, concluding here with a word about Mr. Powell's letter in your last issue. In dealing with my illustration he entirely ignores or misses the important point, which is, that plain hunting, forward or backward, will only produce the rows in the block known as Original. Nothing else can be got without places.

The only important point in his letter is his views on leading and lying, which he regards as stagnation if the bell is stopping. He is quite wrong in saying 'nobody regards the two blows at lead or behind as stopping.' I for one certainly regard both as stopping or waiting till a bell has moved to change with the bell lying or leading. What else are they doing?

The remainder of Mr. Powell's letter, and his enlightening definitions, may be left to interested readers.—Yours sincerely,

THE REV. E. S. POWELL EXPLAINS.

Dear Sir,—The question put by 'Interested' is answered at least partially in the fourth paragraph of my last letter, though I fear not in a form which will answer his requirements. Perhaps I may be allowed to enlarge on it to some extent. Any true cause must be of such a character that it will always produce the same effect.

This is not so with an internal place. Consider the two sets of figures annexed. In the first set the second's place is made at the tenth change; in the second set the same place is made at the fifth change. The results are totally unlike, as anyone can see. Why? If the place is the cause, as is alleged, the effect of the second's place should be the same in both examples. I have never seen (nor am I ever likely to see) an explanation on the place-making theory, which does not introduce some alien idea. It must be the place and nothing but the place, or else the place theory must go altogether.

Let us see whether it is possible to find a different explanation which covers the ground and does provide an answer as the place theory fails to do. With a view to simplicity, we will assume that the treble is to have a plain hunting course. Following out the idea in my tentative definitions last week, we will also assume that the natural original motion of the bells is such that each of them pursues the one before it in the order 3-1-2-4-6-5-3. So long as the bells are allowed to continue thus, they tend to return to rounds, and will, in fact, do so at the end of twice as many changes as there are bells. In order to carry on and obtain a greater variety, we arrange that the treble shall advance one place in coursing order among the extreme bells. As by hypothesis the treble is to continue marching forward at an even pace, the other bells must take a step backwards, and then continue forward again. This can be done in several ways. For example, 2nd's place can be made at the treble's lead, and similarly when she is behind, or the bell coursing in front of the treble can make a pair of places next her as in Double Court, or one of these places can be made as the treble hunts up, and the other as she comes down. They are all alike in that what actually occurs is that the extreme bells all take a step backwards in coursing order relatively to the treble. The analogy of marching soldiers comes in again here, though the comparison must not be pushed too far. The men are supposed to be marching along a road each one pace in front of the next. One of them (the treble) carries on steadily; the others either take one step back and then continue their forward movement, as in Plain Bob or Double Court, or they mark time one pace on two separate occasions, as in Single Court. If this process be repeated the same number of times in each lead the bells will tend to return to rounds in as many leads as there are extreme bells.

While recognising your courtesy in providing a considerable amount of space for a subject which is very important in the interests of ringers generally, it is equally evident that it is not one in which most of your readers are directly concerned, and it is beyond expectation that you should find room for a full exposition of the subject. If 'Interested' or any other reader with similar views cares to write to me privately, I will do my best to give him a reasonable explanation of the principles for which we desire the consideration of students. After all, we are not politicians with axes to grind, but students anxious to discover all the truth that can be known.

In one small point 'Interested' misunderstood my earlier letter. Neither place nor dodge is the 'cause.' What can be said for the place as 'cause' or against it, applies equally to the dodge.—Yours faithfully,

E. S. POWELL.

RINGERS' BEREAVEMENT.

At Aldrington, Sussex, on Tuesday, Oct. 14th, 720 Woodbine Treble Bob: A. White 1, G. Steele 2, M. Broomfield 3, R. Stradwick 4, F. Trusler 5, W. White (conductor) 6. Also 360 of Cambridge and 120 London Minor. E. Godley taking part. Rung with the bells half-muffled as a token of sympathy to B. S. and A. Cherryman, two ringers of the local band, on the death of their mother.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.THE FORTHCOMING MEETING AT HIGH WYCOMBE.To the Editor.*

Dear Sir,—For the benefit of those readers of the 'Ringing World' who are wondering what to make of the position of affairs in E. Berks and S. Bucks, I would like to place the following facts before them:—

1. The All Saints' Society, High Wycombe, after serious consideration, can no longer associate itself with the same, under existing conditions. It, therefore, with much regret, secedes from affiliation with the Oxford Diocesan Guild from the 31st December next (1923). (See 'R.W.', July 27th, 1923, page 475.)
2. The following members of the High Wycombe band have paid their subscriptions to the Oxford Diocesan Guild for the year 1924: Messrs. F. W. Boxell, E. R. Coles, R. Coles, S. T. Goodchild, F. Hayes, W. H. Plumridge, G. Twitchen, and G. White.
3. The tower of High Wycombe was applied for by me for a branch meeting, and refused, on the grounds that the Master ruled it as 'out of court' for an annual meeting; also that they were expecting repairs to the tower to be commenced.
4. None of the High Wycombe band have attended any E.B. and S.B. branch meetings this year, although a notice has been sent each month to the foreman of the tower, and, the tower at Hughenden, where a meeting was held on Saturday last, is only two miles from High Wycombe.

Reading between the lines, and incidentally noticing the date of the invitation to High Wycombe, it would appear that the attitude of the High Wycombe band is not friendly to the well-being of the Guild. If the members of this band wish to discuss Guild business and rules, why on earth cannot they bestir themselves to attend an official meeting, and get acquainted with what is happening, in a proper manner, instead of giving the impression that their whole object is to destroy the efforts of those who work only for the advancement of the art of change ringing, and the success of the Oxford Diocesan Guild? We have the whole-hearted support of the majority of towers in our branch, whose members are in sympathy with our aims, so that there will always be an East Berks and South Bucks branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, and it is not impossible to get another 12 bell tower in the branch.

The meeting at High Wycombe on Nov. 8th, has no official status or support, and, therefore, cannot pass any resolution which will alter the rules or proceedings of the Oxford Diocesan Guild.—Yours faithfully,

ARTHUR D. BARKER, Hon. District Secretary.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION.LUTON DISTRICT MEETING.

A very successful meeting was held at Woburn on Saturday, members being present from Bedford, Dunstable, Luton, Linslade, Leighton Buzzard, and the local tower, welcome visitors being Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Richardson, and Mr. and Mrs. W. Ayre, of Surfleet and Leverstock, respectively. The bells were kept busy throughout the afternoon and evening, with an interval for tea, which was held at King's Restaurant.

The short business meeting was presided over by Mr. A. King (president of the branch).

Mr. W. Ayre was elected a life member of the association, and Luton selected for the next meeting on November 22nd.

A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and the tower was then again visited.

The methods rung during the day were Stedman Triples Bob Major, Kent Treble Bob, Double Norwich, Double Oxford, Superlative, Cambridge, Bristol and London Surprise Major.

WEDDING BELLS.

At St. John's Church, Portmadoc, N. Wales on Saturday, Oct. 18th, on the occasion of the wedding of Mr. F. J. Williams, one of the ringers at this church, and Miss Dora Thompson, of Ashley, Newmarket, Cambs, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples, in 48 mins.: R. Richards (first quarter) 1, R. McMillan (first inside) 2, H. McMillan 3, H. Roberts (conductor) 4, J. Owen 5, J. V. Humphreys 6, P. Roberts 7, E. Brown 8.

THE LADIES' GUILD.CENTRAL DISTRICT TO BE REVIVED.

A most successful meeting of the Ladies' Guild was held at St. Clement Danes, Strand, on Saturday, Oct. 18th. Seventeen members were present from Croydon, Clapham, Dorking, Enfield, Edmonton, Lewisham, Guildford, Hillingdon, Ealing, Finsbury Park, Kensington and Holloway. The methods rung included Grandsire and Stedman Caters, Plain Bob and Treble Bob Royal, Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise Major. Stedman and Grandsire Caters were rung by ten of the members, and Double Norwich with seven taking part.

At the business meeting it was decided to revive the Central District, and Mrs. F. I. Hairs was elected secretary.

The next meeting will be held at Beckenham in January. In view of the enthusiasm displayed by all the members at this meeting, there is every prospect that the district will flourish.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.TONBRIDGE DISTRICT.

The autumn meeting of the above district was held at Chiddingstone on Saturday, Oct. 18th, and was attended by upwards of 30 members. Service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. R. C. Salmon), and Mr. W. E. Pitman, of Canterbury, presided at the organ. The Rector's warden (Mr. W. G. Birt) was also present. Tea was partaken of at the Castle Inn, followed by the business meeting. The Rector presided, supported by his warden, and Mr. G. Hale, people's warden.

The election of one non-resident life member was confirmed, and the members of the Hadlow band were re-elected, their tower having been out of union for some years.

Votes of thanks to the Rector and churchwardens, to Mr. Pitman, and to Mr. Longley, local secretary, brought the meeting to a close, and the members adjourned to the tower, where some good practice in various methods was obtained during the afternoon and evening.

WORCESTERSHIRE ASSOCIATION.WESTERN BRANCH.

On Saturday, Oct. 18th, a very successful meeting was held at Madresfield, nearly every company of the branch being represented. It was the more encouraging from the fact that many young members were present. Service was conducted by the Rector, who gave a very interesting address. Tea, kindly provided by the Rev. F. G. and Mrs. Copeland, was partaken of in the Recreation Room, kindly lent by Earl Beauchamp.

At the business meeting which followed, it was arranged that the next quarterly peal should be attempted at Madresfield. Mr. W. Rafterford to be conductor. The next meeting is to be at Powick.

The officers were all re-elected.

The Secretary urged the members to approach their respective Vicars and churchwardens to become hon. members, and annually collect their subscriptions.

The Rector, having travelled much abroad, especially in Australia, greatly amused the company by his fund of stories.

A hearty vote of thanks was passed to all who had helped to make such a successful meeting.

Mr. S. T. Holt, the Branch Master, ably supervised the ringing so that all had a pull. There were rounds for the beginners, and the methods ranged up to London Surprise for the more advanced.

MUFFLED RINGING.

At Ilkeston, Derbyshire, on Sunday, Oct. 19th, for morning service, with the bells half-muffled, in memory of the late Dr. R. Wood, J.P., touches of 336 of Grandsire Triples and 504 of Stedman Triples. For evening service a quarter-peal of Stedman was attempted, but lost in the 12th course. Afterwards the 'whole pull and stand' was rung 80 times, representing the deceased gentleman's age. Also on Tuesday, October 14th, after the funeral, several touches of Stedman, Grandsire and Plain Bob and the 'whole pull and stand.' The ringers taking part were: E. C. Gobey, H. Harrison, C. J. Baker, J. F. George, I. Hufton, E. Fletcher, F. Tarlton, W. Tarr, L. King, W. Diffe, E. F. Gobey, H. Fletcher, Miss M. Spencer and Miss E. M. Gobey. H. Straw, E. C. Gobey and H. Harrison shared the conducting.

Dr. and Mrs. Wood defrayed the expense of having the 5th bell recast in 1902, and also in 1910, when the whole peal were recast.

THE CURFEW BELL.A PROTEST AGAINST ITS DISCONTINUANCE.To the Editor.*

Sir,—It is high time that a public protest was made against a flagrant abuse, which has become alarmingly common during the past few years, namely, the arbitrary discontinuance of the curfew in many of our English towns. Persons with so little reverence for antiquity—whether they be incumbents, churchwardens or church councillors—as to abolish a romantic old custom of a thousand years' standing, are obviously not fit to be entrusted with the care of our ancient churches. Moreover, in many cases the generous piety of the past has provided endowments for the express purpose of perpetuating the usage of the curfew for ever, and to divert these bequests to any other object is a gross misappropriation of funds held on trust.

Some few ignoble utilitarians might object that the curfew no longer serves any practical purpose, and, therefore, should not be continued. This argument would prove too much; it would involve, for instance, the immediate abolition of all ecclesiastical vestments and ornaments. But neither is it entirely true. By ordering the closing of shops at 8 p.m. the Government have, to some extent, reproduced the conditions of an earlier age, when curfew law was in force, so that the present is the least reasonable time that could be chosen for doing away with this venerable custom on the pretence that it has ceased to have any meaning.

It is true that by way of compensation a number of churches have revived the Angelus, and a few the Peace bell, but in most cases the Angelus is sounded only at noon (instead of the traditional thrice daily), so that it entirely lacks the romance of 'Sunset and evening bell,' which ever imparts a poetic charm to the sound of the curfew, while it generally consists of nothing else than a prescribed number of strokes produced by the feeble tap of a chiming hammer—in audible beyond the immediate vicinity of the church, and to the general public indistinguishable from a clock striking the hour. The majestic roll and deep, full tone of the curfew bell, raised and lowered, is on the other hand a sound to appeal to the imagination with a sense of solemn awe and reverence. Wherever this custom, hallowed by immemorial usage, has been handed down to the present generation, it should be their care and their pride to preserve for posterity the heritage of the historic past.—Yours faithfully,

F. LI. EDWARDS.

DEATH OF HEREFORD'S OLDEST RINGER.

On Saturday, October 4th, there passed away Hereford city's oldest ringer, in the person of Mr. John J. Jones, who was 78 years of age. Deceased had been in failing health for the last three years, and it was obvious to his many friends that he was getting gradually weaker. The writer has no record of his ever having rung any peals, as his opportunities for change ringing came late in life. He was one of the first to help to found the Hereford Guild in the year 1886, and was a staunch supporter up to his death. He was secretary of the Cathedral company, and was a great peacemaker.

The funeral took place on October 9th at Hereford Cemetery, the members of the Cathedral band following the coffin, with a floral emblem in the shape of a bell. A wreath was also sent by the Guild. Mr. J. G. Buchanan was present at the service, held at St. Peter's, and also at the Cemetery, accompanied by the present Master, Mr. C. Edwards.

In the evening, the Cathedral bells were rung, half-muffled, a 396 of Grandsire Caters being brought round, conducted by C. Edwards; and three courses conducted by W. H. Williams. At All Saints, on Sunday, October 12th, 504 Stedman Triples was rung, half-muffled, for evening service.

BEEDON RINGER'S GOLDEN WEDDING.FIFTY-FIVE YEARS OF SERVICE.

On Saturday, Oct. 25th, at the Old Vicarage, Beedon, Berks, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Curtis celebrated their golden wedding. Mr. Curtis has been a ringer at Beedon Church for 55 years, and a chorister for the same period, as well as acting as clerk and sexton for 39 years. He is now 76 years of age, and still a regular ringer and singer. Mr. and Mrs. Curtis have four sons and three daughters living, the former all being ringers taught by their father.

The venerable couple received many congratulations and presents from family and friends, and in the afternoon, in honour of the event, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes), with different callings, was rung in 43 minutes, by the following members of the Oxford Guild, Mr. Curtis ringing his first quarter peal: T. Curtis, junr., 1. C. Poole 2. A. Smith 3. S. Quintin 4. H. W. Curtis (conductor) 5. T. Curtis, senr., 6.

Afterwards a short touch was rung by father and four sons, with J. Wakefield (Beedon) tenor. The ringers then adjourned to the Old Vicarage for tea, etc., and a very happy evening was spent.

'WHAT'S WRONG?'

There is food for reflection in the letter of the Rev. R. H. Whitford, which appeared in our last issue, in which he points out one answer to the inquiry of 'What's wrong?' in those associations where there is a falling off in the attendance at district meetings. Mr. Whitford suggests that too much is crowded into the time at the disposal of ringers, and that the actual ringing takes but second place. This is probably true of some meetings, and his suggestions for remedying the matter may well be seriously considered in those quarters where they apply.

It must, of course, be borne in mind that meetings are called for the purpose of transacting the business of the associations, and those who attend are aware of this before they go. Often, however, except when it is an annual meeting, there is little more than a few routine items to be disposed of, which, under an efficient chairman, can usually be dealt with in a few minutes. The business portion of the proceedings therefore need not cause any serious loss of time. Nevertheless, there is a way to reduce even the present minimum, and that is for the members to hand over the transaction of all routine business to their committee, leaving the general discussion of affairs for the annual meeting only, in the same way as the business of many organisations is run. What is the use of a committee if they have nothing to do, or are given no responsibility? They might well be entrusted with the conduct of the affairs of our associations and asked to give an account of their stewardship annually—that is, if the members want more time at their disposal for ringing at their ordinary meetings.

Our correspondent's inquiry as to whether it is always necessary to have a service touches a rather delicate point. The practice has grown up as our associations have come in closer contract with the Church, and there are many who would seriously object to forgoing this feature of the meetings. What might, perhaps, be done in some cases is to curtail the length of these services and to omit the sermon. Often the latter is devoted to giving ringers a historical survey of bells, with which they are already well acquainted, or to a homily upon their duties and responsibilities which has now become so hackneyed as to have lost much of its influence if not of its importance. It is rarely that ringers are treated to a discourse which has anything original in it, and if it is desired to add to the time available for ringing at these gatherings the sermon might be cut out without any serious loss, for the act of corporate worship would in itself be sufficient. We put these two suggestions forward as means of, at any rate, partly meeting the objections voiced by the Rev. R. H. Whitford.

BATH AND WELLS ASSOCIATION.

A 'RINGERS' OPENING' AT OLD CLEEVE.

At Old Cleeve, Somerset, where the bells have just been augmented to eight, the Dunster Deanery of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association, held their autumn meeting. The visit formed the 'ringers' opening of the increased peal, and a company of about 85 was present, including Preb. Harman and the Revs. T. S. Dawson, Carhampton (chairman of the branch); E. P. Stanley, Wootton Courtenay; H. G. McTaggart, Monksilver; H. P. Boulton, Exton; and F. E. Walton, Biddisham; and ringers from Minehead, Carhampton, Timberscombe, Williton, Monksilver, Exton, Wootton Courtenay, Stogumber, Wiveliscombe, Chipstable, St. Audries and Porlock, as well as the local band. There were visitors from Huntspill, Milverton, St. James' and St. Mary's, Taunton, and Mr. A. E. Coles (Bridgwater) and Mr. E. Burgess (general secretary of the association, from Taunton) were among those present. The tower was open at two o'clock, and during the afternoon there was some very good ringing done by mixed bands, and touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Bob Major were brought round. Everyone was delighted with the tone and 'go' of the bells, and the splice was pronounced perfect.

After this spell in the tower, the association form of service was held in the church. Preb. Harman officiated, and was assisted by Mr. Dawson, who gave an inspiring address from St. John xvii. 19. He dwelt not so much on the subject of the new bells which had been dedicated to the use of the church and to the glory of God, but on the duties and conduct of ringers. He enlarged on the spirit of self-consecration and self-sacrifice which was involved in the duties of the ringers, and he emphasised that point that, if it was necessary to consecrate a bell, how much more desirable it was that ringers should re-dedicate their lives to the service of ringing. Mr. H. W. Tomkins presided at the organ, and a number of the ringers formed a choir.

After the service the company were entertained to tea in the Village Hall, the tea being provided by the Parochial Church Council and prepared and served by local ladies, under the direction of Mrs. Harman.

The usual business meeting followed. Mr. Dawson presiding. The following new members were elected: Mr. Chas. Moore, Monksilver; Messrs. J. Roberts, R. Huish, and A. Arnold, Porlock; and Mr. L. Facey, Selworthy.

As a result of an invitation from Mr. Boulton, it was decided to hold the next meeting in January at Exton. During the proceedings thanks were expressed to Preb. Harman for his invitation to Old Cleeve, to the ladies who had served tea, to Mr. Dawson for his address, and to Mr. Tomkins, the organist. Mr. Dawson took the opportunity of congratulating Old Cleeve and its parishioners on the addition of the two new bells to the peal.

Mr. E. E. Burgess, after congratulating Old Cleeve on the addition of the bells and paying a tribute to Mr. Sully's work expressed the opinion that it was a very good splice, and he hoped that they would soon have a band at Old Cleeve able to ring the bells.

Mr. Coles endorsed Mr. Burgess's remarks, and added a few words of encouragement to the young ringers. Preb. Harman also congratulated the local band of ringers on their progress, which he said was very satisfactory.

BREAKING TIME RECORDS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I feel I would like to say a few words in reply to 'Normal Time' with regard to the recent quick peal of Cinques rung at Sheffield, as from his letter it would appear he has got a bad impression of same, and this, if left unchallenged or without some explanation, will probably tend to create a feeling amongst the Exercise at large that peals are rung here without any respect to striking, or anything else.

In the first place, let me say at once that I agree with him in principle, that to get the best music out of bells, no matter what their weight, they should not be struck too closely, but to hint that such a thing as firing or even jumbling took place is far from what actually occurred.

The ringers of Sheffield took precisely a similar view on the quick peals that have been rung at Southwark, and such performances could not be fully credited until the fact was brought home to them by their own achievement.

However, I wish to say emphatically that such a thing as breaking time or making records was not sought after or even thought of. The thing just happened, as other things often do.

I can honestly assure my friend, whoever he is (and I believe they are all friends in Birmingham), that the peal in question was a good peal, or it would certainly never have been completed, let alone published. I cannot say what it sounded like outside, although we were complimented at the completion by various listeners (and we have some critics in Sheffield, you know), but inside the beats were clear and distinct. In fact, it had to be a good peal, or it would have 'gone up' like a cartload of rotten apples on a refuse heap.

As my friend compares it with the 'Twelve-bell week' peals, which occupied a longer time on lighter bells, I may say that I had the honour to take part in the first one at St. Margaret's, Leicester, and although I personally consider this was slightly the better peal of the two, I am sure that the great 'A. W.' himself would have been delighted to have been under the one at Sheffield.

Previously, our normal time was somewhere round about 3.50, but if an explanation is necessary I would like to point out that circumstances alter cases.

Firstly, no doubt my friend is aware that we have a very short draught of rope to contend with; secondly, that our bells have recently been rehung on the modern ball-bearing principle, both of which in my opinion are conducive to quick and accurate striking, and last, but not least, we had some young and hefty lads on the back end, who instinctively, without word or warning, commenced at a brisk pace, and being physically fit, kept it up to the end, the little bells ringing to the big bells, as they should do.

In conclusion, I would like to add that although the unexpected took place on this occasion, record breaking peals are not encouraged here, due respect to quality always being our consideration, and the very joy and pleasure of getting the best out of the bells is for ever uppermost in our minds.

If a thing is not worth doing well, we don't attempt it; but if the result is sometimes a surprise, it is not justice to condemn it unheard. Let those that hear, speak. That's all!—Yours faithfully,

Sheffield.

SIDNEY F. PALMER.

A LISTENER'S OPINION.

Dear Sir,—With regard to remarks by 'Normal Time,' re the peal of Stedman Cinques at Sheffield, I cannot let the occasion pass without a strong protest. I heard the whole of the peal, and excellent striking was maintained throughout. One has only to look at some of the eminent names of the men taking part to know that if any clashing took place the ringing would soon have stopped. I am not a Yorkshireman, but nowhere have I heard more consistently good striking than I have in peals in Yorkshire. It is the one thing they pride themselves on. I know that the friendliest feelings exist between the ringers of Sheffield and Birmingham, but remarks like those of 'Normal Time' have a tendency to cause ill-feeling, which I for one would much regret.—Yours truly, 180, The Cross, Ecclesfield.

GEO. LEWIS.

ST. CLEMENT DANES, LONDON.

Visitors to London for the College Youths' Dinner will be welcomed at St. Clement Danes Church on Sunday. There will be muffled ringing from 10 to 11 a.m. for a church parade of the Legion of Frontiersmen, when a memorial to the members of this corps who fell in the great war will be unveiled. During the service, offerings of remembrance will be laid on the war shrine, and a wreath will be laid on behalf of ringers.

In the afternoon there will be ringing from 2.15 to 3.15 for the oratorio service. These services have made St. Clement Danes Church famous in musical circles, and two oratorios will be performed on Sunday. At 3.15, Rossini's 'Stabat Mater' will be given, and at 6.30 p.m., Mozart's 'Requiem.'

TEN BELLS IN THANET CHURCH.

The dedication of two new trebles to make a peal of ten at St. Lawrence, Thanet, will take place at the morning service on Nov. 9th. The new bells are to commemorate the 10th anniversary of the war; one bell will be of thanksgiving and be named the bell of 'Peace,' the other is in memory of the fallen, and will be the bell of 'Remembrance.'

The Mayor and Corporation have promised to attend the service, which no doubt will be most impressive. The bells will be rung after the service. In the evening they will be half-muffled for the Armistice memorial service.

ANCIENT HANDBELLS.

The handbell peal of Stedman Caters, rung at Leicester, is believed to be the first ever rung on cup handbells. This set of 21 were given to the Leicester Scholars on their achieving a 10,080 of Grand-sire Caters at St. Margaret's, by Squire Fortrey, about the year 1777, and were cast by Hare, of Kettering. They are now in the care of Mr. G. S. Needham, and are in good condition. Mr. Needham had them repaired by Messrs. Taylor and Co. at a cost of several pounds. They have ball clappers made of box wood, about 1½ in. in diameter. These make them emit a rather harsh sound, and it was a considerable time before the band ringing the peal felt 'at home' with them.

FOUR SHIRES GUILD.

ILMINGTON'S FOURTH CONSECUTIVE COMPETITION VICTORY.

The half-yearly meeting and competitions of the Four Shires Guild was held at Quinton on Oct. 25th. Ringers were present from Moreton, Campden, Ebrington, Ilmington, Aston Cantlow, Wootton Waven, Bretforton, Stratford-on-Avon and Wolford, and the local band. The competitions commenced at 2.30, and were ably and impartially judged by Messrs. W. Largo (Stratton-on-Fosse) and J. Hemming (Hampton), who made their decisions as follows: Ilmington, 266; Campden, 260; Moreton, 259; Wootton Waven, 236; Ebrington, 224; Aston Cantlow, 179. Quinton being the non-competitive band, was allowed the average number of points on the day's ringing—237.

At the close of the ringing, which was not up to the standard usually heard at these meetings, owing to the very bad 'go' of some of the bells, a service was held in the beautiful old parish church, when an inspiring address was given by the Rev. A. N. Warner (Rector of Ilmington).

Afterwards the party adjourned to the Schoolroom and partook of an excellent meat tea, provided by the generosity of Mr. J. Frost, of Quinton, to whom the ringers are most grateful for this unexpected kindness shown to them. About one hundred ringers and friends sat down to an ample repast.

At the business meeting which followed, the Rev. Gordon H. Poole (Vicar of Quinton) said how pleased he was to welcome the Guild to Quinton. He referred to the interesting history of Quinton bells, and to their being recast at different times. He also spoke of a local legend about the churchwardens of Quinton and Long Marston playing cards, the stakes being the bells of their respective churches. Long Marston unfortunately lost, and so they were left with only two bells in their steeple. The Vicar went on to say that upon the completion of the restoration of the church it was his intention to have the bells put in ringing order, and, if possible, to have the ring increased to eight.

The Secretary reported the death of Mr. George Pugh, of Stow-on-the-Wold. The meeting showed its respect and sympathy by standing in silence, and the secretary was instructed to send a letter of sympathy from the Guild to the widow of the deceased.

The challenge shield of the Guild was presented by Mrs. Frost to Ilmington, that band having obtained the highest number of points on the year's ringing. Moreton, being second, was awarded the Guild's certificate of merit.

Votes of thanks were accorded the Rev. Gordon H. Poole, the Rev. A. N. Warner, Mr. and Mrs. Frost, and all the ladies who assisted. The meeting closed with the hearty singing of the National Anthem. The tower was again visited, and the bells kept going till 9 o'clock.

It is interesting to note that this is the fourth consecutive win of the Ilmington company. Until 1922 they had only five bells in their tower, and rang rounds and call changes. On joining the Guild they took up change ringing, and by going in for the competitions they have arrived at a leading position in their association.

BELL RINGERS' SUNDAY.

Bell Ringers' Sunday was observed at St. Giles' Parish Church, Rowley Regis, on Sunday, when special sermons were preached, and collections made for the bell ringing fund.

Before evensong, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung: R. J. Hackett 1, G. H. Detheridge, junr. (first with a 'bob' bell) 2, W. H. Detheridge 3, E. Homer 4, H. Dowell 5, T. Clarke (first quarter-peal as conductor) 6, A. Timmins 7, A. Taylor 8.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION. NORTHERN DISTRICT.

The annual meeting of the Northern District was held at Feering on Saturday last, when, despite the pouring rain, there were 25 ringers present from Feering, Kelvedon, Braintree, Witham, Romford, Chelmsford, Mistley, Stisted, Greenstead Green and Earls Colne. The bells were open for ringing during the afternoon and evening, and the Ringers' Office was said in the church, the Vicar (the Rev. Prebendary Dalton) extending a hearty welcome to the visitors to Feering.

After the service, a tea was arranged at the Bell Inn, with the Vicar in the chair. At the business meeting, apologies were read from the District Master (Mr. L. W. Wiffen) regretting his inability to be present. The Master of the Association (Mr. C. H. Howard), therefore, presided in his stead.

The Secretary gave a digest of the progress of the district during the year, pointing out that 18 peals had been rung on tower bells, and two on handbells in the following methods: London Surprise 3, Superlative 2, Cambridge 1, Double Norwich 1, Kent 3, Oxford 4, Grandsire Triples 1, Bob Major 3, seven 720's Cambridge Minor, and seven 720's Minor in various methods. The peals were rung at Feering 7, Braintree 3, Earls Colne 2, Sible Hedingham 2, Bocking 1, Halstead 1, Foxearth 1, Ardleigh 1, Witham 1, Stisted 1; W. Keeble conducted 17, J. Fluet 1, J. Claydon 1, and S. Evans 1. The secretary also gave particulars of the financial and numerical position of the district.

The elections of Mr. Gofton, of Monkseaton, and Mr. W. Beeson, Walton-on-Thames, were confirmed. The Rev. Prebendary Dalton was elected an hon. member. One ringing member was elected, and the election of Mr. Rogers, of Northampton, as ringing member, resigning out of the county, was carried.

Mr. L. W. Wiffen was re-elected District Master for the year, and Mr. W. H. Dyson, district secretary.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded Prebendary Dalton (Vicar) for allowing the use of the bells, and for holding the service, also to Mrs. Dalton for presiding at the organ.

During the day, the following methods were rung viz., London and Cambridge Surprise Major, Double Norwich and Oxford Treble Bob.

A NON-CONDUCTED 720.

At Milton-next-Gravesend, Kent, on October 28th, 720 Plain Bob was rung, non-conducted: C. M. Mitchell 1, F. M. Mitchell 2, J. Burles 3, G. Morrad 4, F. A. Mitchell 5, H. Argent 6. First 720 non-conducted by all, and rung at the first attempt.

A SUFFOLK TOUR.

On Saturday, Sept. 27th, the Lavenham company held their annual outing, when travelling by saloon bus, they made a tour of some Suffolk towers. At St. Mary's, Coddensham, they were greeted by Mr. H. English, and touches of Stedman and Bob Major were rung. St. Mary's, Helmingham, came next on the list. Here they were met by Messrs. Last, Pryke and Wightman, and touches of Stedman, Double Norwich and Kent were rung. The Rector (the Rev. — Garrett) pointed out the splendid monuments of the Tollemache family, which are in this church. Upon the monuments are many well-executed figures in marble by Nolckens, and other eminent sculptors. Afterwards, on the invitation of Lady Mary Tollemache, the party visited Helmingham Hall to partake of refreshments, wending their way through the lovely park of 375 acres, and inhabited by two herds of deer, red and fallow, and many wild water fowl. The large and handsome quadrangular mansion, the home of the Tollemaches, was built in the time of Henry VII, and is surrounded by a moat crossed by two drawbridges. A valuable collection of famous paintings in the mansion were inspected with interest, especially one by Vandyke; another of interest being a painting of Queen Mary Tudor at the age of six. All these and some ancient armour and old oak panelling were explained in detail by her ladyship. Another item of interest was a pair of leather jugs, 'Black Jacks,' which were used as beer jugs when Queen Elizabeth visited the hall. Bidding adieu to their generous hostess, the visitors continued their journey to Framden St. Mary's, where touches of Grandsire, Oxford and Superlative were rung; then on to Debenham, where dinner was served. Mr. E. Grimes piloted the party to St. Mary's Church, where they rang Stedman, Kent, Double Norwich, Superlative, and a course of Cambridge, Mr. G. Cross, Norwich, standing in the latter. At Stonham Aspal, the next call, good touches of Stedman Caters and Bob Royal were brought round. Stowmarket was reached at 5.30. After having a 'pinch' and a 'fresher,' Mr. W. Souter and the Stowmarket band greeted the visitors, also Mr. E. Poppy, of Eye, and with these friends, Stedman, Kent, Double Norwich and Superlative were brought round. A visit to the Rose, and then to the music of the handbells and of the songsters at the rear, a safe hunt was made to Lavenham. Thanks are due to the incumbents of the churches visited, the towerkeepers, and other friends, who made this outing a most enjoyable one.

GORSEINON, SWANSEA.—At St. Catherine's Church, on Wednesday, October 22nd, 720 Bob Minor: Reg. Dobbins 1, R. Baird 2, W. Dobbins 3, W. Dobbins 4, J. Williams 5, H. S. Willis (conductor) 6. First 720 by an entirely local band. Rung as a birthday compliment to the ringer of the 2nd.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

An announcement made in the 'Stamford Mercury' in the year 1799 was as follows: 'On Monday, Nov. 11th, 1799, will be opened at Glington, near Peterborough, a peal of six new bells, the tenor in the key of F, cast and hung by Thomas Osborn, of Downham, in Norfolk. Six hats will be given to the company who ring the best round peal for the space of 30 minutes.'

The first peal on eight bells at Coddensham was 5,040 Bob Major on Nov. 8th, 1742. On the same date in 1800 the first peal of Oxford Treble Bob Major in Liverpool was rung.

The Royal Cumberland Youths rang a peal of Oxford Treble Bob Maximus at Southwark on Nov. 10th, 1766.

On Nov. 13th, 1786, a peal of 6,000 Bob Major was rung at St. Peter's, Nottingham.

A record length of Stedman Caters was put up on Nov. 13th, 1797, when the Junior Cumberlands rang a 6,003 in 4 hours 15 minutes at Christ Church, Spitalfields. It was composed and called by John Noonan, but many years afterwards it was found that the composition was false. In the Junior Cumberlands' peal book the performance was described as 'a true and complete peal of Grandsire Caters on Stedman's principle.'

The Huddersfield Society rang a peal of 'New Triple Bob Major, 10,080 changes, in thirty-six courses,' at Huddersfield in 5 hours 45 minutes on November 13th, 1820.

The peal of six bells at Brockenhurst, Hants, are to be opened on Sunday, December 7th, at 3 p.m.

The peal of London Surprise at Chichester Cathedral on Oct. 18th was the first in the method on the bells.

We were a little previous in our announcement of Mr. William Rock Small's birthday. The Tipton veteran will be 85 on the 12th of this month.

Although now in poor health and unable to climb belfry steps, Mr. Small's interest in ringing remains very keen. It is nearly sixty years ago that he rang his first peal. This was at Wednesbury on April 29th, 1865, the band being all natives of Wednesbury. Mr. Small is the only survivor of that company.

ARMISTICE DAY RINGING.

Ringings will be general throughout the country on Armistice Day, which will be commemorated on Tuesday next. There is now more or less general agreement as to the most fitting way in which the bells should be rung, the lines suggested by the Chester Diocesan Guild in the circular below being commonly accepted as the most suitable.

The following is the letter from the Chester Diocesan Guild circulated to the towers in the diocese:—

'An attempt is to be made this year to establish uniformity of practice with regard to ringing throughout the diocese on Armistice Day (November 11th), and the Guild recommends the following procedure:—

'It should be remembered that while Armistice Day is a day of commemoration of the lives of the fallen, it is also a day of rejoicing for the victory which Almighty God gave us over our enemies in the war.

'Where possible, therefore, bells should be first rung half-muffled and afterwards in open peal, and the Guild hopes that ringing on these lines will take place in all its churches on that day, with, of course, the concurrence of the incumbent.'

WASHBROOK MEMORIAL.—'CURFEW.'

To the Editor.

Sir,—I am sorry to see that the committee have recommended St. Ebbe's as a suitable tower for the Washbrook memorial bells.

As I said in a former letter, the experiment has already been tried there, and found so unsatisfactory that the trebles were afterwards disposed of. A peal of eight, with a 5-cwt. tenor, may be all very well for feats of change ringing, or for practice; but the result to the ears of the outside public can never be satisfactory. I do hope that even now wiser counsels may prevail.

With regard to a totally different matter referred to in your issue of this week, I quite agree with the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards that it is not desirable to drop old customs; but I greatly question whether the ringing of a bell at 8 o'clock in the evening (commonly called the 'curfew') can be traced back continuously to the times of William the Conqueror. In most cases, where this custom exists, I believe that it will be found to have originated in mediæval times. There is generally some story connected with it of someone having lost their way on a dark night on some trackless moor or common, and being directed by the sound of bells which happened to be ringing at the time in the tower of some town or village, thus found their way home; and that they left money to pay for the ringing of an evening bell to direct travellers for the future.—Yours faithfully,

October 31st, 1924.

DISTRICT SECRETARY GROOMBRIDGE RESIGNS.

The annual meeting of the Lewisham District was held on Saturday, October 25th, at SS. Peter and Paul's Church, Bromley. The bells were raised at 3 p.m., and were kept going in various methods during the afternoon and evening. Service was conducted by the assistant priest (the Rev. Allen), and a helpful address was given by the Vicar (the Rev. J. K. Wilson). The organist and choir were also present. The service was followed by a splendid tea in the Church Institute, kindly supplied by the churchwardens and others.

The business meeting followed, the Vicar presiding. No new members were elected (which is very unusual), but the ratification of five members elected previous to peals took place.

The secretary's report for the year was read by T. Groombridge, senr. (hon. district secretary), and adopted.

The next business was the election of the district secretary. Mr. Groombridge announced that he could not consent to re-election, as he could not do the necessary writing. He, therefore, regretfully resigned his position, and thanked the members for all the help he had received during his term of office. He hoped the members would be as loyal to his successor as they had been to him (hear, hear).

The president, in reluctantly accepting the resignation, congratulated Mr. Groombridge on 21 years of able and willing service. He said they all regretted the severance of so long-standing a connection.

It was then proposed that A. G. Hill, who had assisted the secretary during the past year, be appointed to the vacancy. No other nominations were forthcoming, and the proposition was carried.

Messrs. W. J. Jeffries and L. Emery were then re-elected district representatives on the general committee, also without a division.

A hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar, curate, churchwardens, organist and choir was carried with applause.—The Vicar responded, and stated that Mr. Dunn (churchwarden) was responsible for the tea.—Mr. Dunn replied that the contributions came from the clergy, churchwardens and choir, he only did the asking.

This concluded a successful meeting, the tower being revisited for further ringing.

ROCHESTER DISTRICT MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Rochester District was held at Chatham on Saturday, October 25th, and over 50 ringers attended during the afternoon and evening. The bells were going in standard methods from 3 till 5, when the Rector (the Rev. F. Wiltshire) conducted the association service taking as the text for his address, 'Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might.' A collection at the close for the benevolent fund realised 13s. 6d.

Tea followed in the Scouts' Hall, at which 46 sat down, and at the business meeting which followed, the Rector presided, supported by the district representatives (Messrs. W. Haigh and W. Spice), and the district secretary (Mr. F. M. Mitchell).

One new practising member was elected, and the election of Mr. G. Basford, of Northants, who was proposed previous to a peal, as a non-resident life member, was confirmed.

The District Secretary presented the annual report and balance sheet, which were unanimously adopted. The report showed the same number of towers in union as last year; one practising ringer less, three more hon. members, and four additional non-resident members. Sunday service ringing had been fully maintained, and 39 peals of 5,000 changes and upwards had been rung in the district, one on ten bells, 28 on eight, and ten on six, and Mr. J. H. Cheesman headed the list of conductors with 16 peals. He was pleased to see the younger ringers taking an interest in the affairs of the district, and welcomed them to all meetings.—The balance sheets showed receipts of £21 1s., and the expenses at £4 13s. 10d., leaving a balance to general funds of £16 7s. 2d.

The officers were unanimously re-elected, and on the proposition of Mr. W. Harper (Swanscombe), a hearty vote of thanks was accorded the district secretary and representatives for their valued services during the past year.

Sittingbourne was chosen for the next quarterly meeting, in January, 1925.

Mr. F. M. Mitchell proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector for the kindness he had shown the association during the day, and the Rector suitably responded.

The tower was again visited, and all methods up to Cambridge and Superlative rung, and, judging by the harmonious way the business was conducted, the meeting proved a distinct success.

Rochester Cathedral was also open after the meeting, and the following cutting from a local newspaper will give some idea of a 'novice's' opinion:—

'A party of ringers then journeyed to Rochester Cathedral where, led by Mr. W. Haigh, of Gillingham, they rang the Grandsire Caters, Stedman Caters, and the rounds for nearly two hours.

'A "News" reporter, who was privileged to accompany the party, writes: "We crawled along tortuous passages and mounted the narrow, slippery stairs which led to the tower. Mostly in pitch darkness, we stumbled along our way, up and up and up, it seemed, our heads almost touching our knees, until we reached the parapet outside. Looking down off the weather-stained gargoyles and crumbling buttresses, we could see the lights of the City, twinkling like pearls in a bowl of ink. More 'incredible rafters overhead' were crawled under, until, exhausted and grimed with the dust of cobwebs, we ultimately reached the bell tower. It was a grim place—all oak beams and grey walls, shadowy with Time and the peace of solitude. There were ten ropes, covered with red plush, and for more than an hour the men heaved at these, lovingly and silently, producing the sweetest music in the world."

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.

GRIMSBY DISTRICT MEETING.

On Saturday, a meeting of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild (Grimsby District) was held at Barton-on-Humber and Barrow-on-Humber. Ringers were present from Grimsby (St. James' and St. Andrew's), Bigby, Burton, Stather and Ulceby, and those of the Barton and Barrow bands commenced the proceedings by ringing on the bells of Holy Trinity, Barrow, an open touch of 360 Bob Minor. Other touches included Stedman and Grandsire Doubles. Coming to Barton, ringing in various methods on eight bells took place. An adjournment was then made to the Assembly Rooms, where tea was provided.

The business meeting followed, the Rev. H. T. Parry (Rector of Bigby, and vice-president of the Grimsby district) taking the chair.

After the election of four new members and one honorary member, Mr. H. Rushby proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicars of Barton and Barrow for the use of the bells, and to Mrs. T. Smith for the tea.

The members then adjourned to the tower of St. Peter's for more ringing, the bells being lowered soon after nine p.m., after a very enjoyable afternoon and evening. It is hoped that the district will always be able to report such good meetings and fellowship as was evinced at this gathering.

EASTERN BRANCH AT SWINESHEAD.

The quarterly meeting of the Eastern Branch was held at Swineshead on Saturday, November 1st. Members attended from Boston, Butterwick, Frampton, Freiston, Wigtoft, as well as the local band. Ringing friends were also present from the Elloe Deaneries branch. Ringing commenced about 3 p.m. A short service was held, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. C. J. Gurnhill), and afterwards the members and friends partook of a very substantial tea, ably provided by mine host of the Griffin Inn.

The usual business meeting followed, the chair being taken by the president (the Rev. J. R. Trotter, Vicar of Freiston-with-Butterwick).

The Rev. C. J. Gurnhill (Vicar of Swineshead) was elected an honorary member, and one new ringing member from Wigtoft was also elected.

Sibsey, near Boston, was unanimously chosen as the place for holding the annual meeting in January next. This beautiful peal of eight bells have recently received the attention of Mr. A. Bowell, of Ipswich, and now 'go' splendidly. It is hoped that a good number of members will endeavour to be present at this meeting.

The usual vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells and for conducting the service brought the meeting to a close.

The tower was again visited, and ringing was kept up until about 8 p.m. The methods rung included Grandsire Doubles and Triples, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob Minor (on the back six), and Bob Major, and also a touch of sixteen changes by the local band, who are not yet very far advanced in the art.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

Excellent support was given to a meeting of the North and East District held at St. Olave's Church, Hart Street, City, and All Hallows', Barking-by-the-Tower, on Saturday, November 1st, some 40 members attending during the afternoon and evening, in spite of the persistent rain. A short service, with address by the Rev. T. Welland, was held in St. Olave's Church at 5 o'clock.

At the subsequent business meeting, votes of thanks were accorded to the preacher, both for his address and for permitting the bells to be rung; to the Rev. P. B. Clayton, Vicar of All Hallows', for the use of his bells; and to Mr. H. T. Wilson for making the very necessary arrangements.

Some good practice in all sorts of methods was obtained on both peals of bells, and as very little time was 'wasted' on the business meeting, all present were able to ring as much as they wished. At St. Olave's, touches of Bob Minor, Kent Treble Bob, Cambridge Minor, and Kent and Oxford Spliced, were rung, whilst at All Hallows' the methods practised were Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Double Norwich, and London and Bristol Surprise Major.

WITNEY, OXON.—At the Church of St. Mary's, on Thursday evening, at 7.30, for harvest festival, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples, in 50 mins.: C. Wheeler 1, L. Oliffe 2, E. Brown 3, T. Bull 4, G. Brooks 5, J. Monk (conductor) 6, N. Spindlow 7, G. Harris 8.

METHOD CONSTRUCTION.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I did not really, in my letter of October 17th, claim to be infallible. I did not really write, 'I do not think, I know.' What happened was that the printer put a full stop for a comma, and so materially altered my meaning. It was like this. Mr. Parker had written about two schools, one of which consists of those who say that places are the method; and the other of those who 'think they have progressed far beyond that stage.' And I retorted, 'I do not merely think, I know I have progressed far beyond that stage.' It was a claim to be progressive, not to be infallible.

I can assure Mr. Parker I realise to the full, the force of the arguments he uses. I have used them myself. But I can also assure him that beyond a certain point they break down and mislead you. His last letter affords an interesting example. 'Look at London Surprise,' he says. 'As the bells come below the treble they are hunting forward. Each bell, however, must make a place which effects a change, and the bell is said to be hunting backward. If the place is not made the bell continues to hunt forward, then does the place bring about the changed condition?'

Now look at London Surprise above the treble. Here, from the lead and, and previous, the bells are hunting backward, until the fifth change, where they turn to forward hunting. Is this brought about by a place? Is it even accompanied by a place? Look and see. There is no place at all made in that change, either internal or external.

Why I object to the axiom, 'Places are the method,' is because it prevents you from realising what really does operate in the construction of methods. I must not argue further about the position of time in method construction. It raises matters which can hardly be dealt with in the columns of 'The Ringing World.' But I may remind Mr. Parker that there is sequence in logic, i.e., in our explaining a thing, and also in our apprehending it. But that sequence is in our own brains, and not in the thing itself. And he must read in that light the quotations he gives from my writings.—Yours truly,

J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

BED ROCK STATEMENT WANTED.

Dear Sir,—Credit where credit is due!

Mr. Powell and I have not always seen eye to eye in the past; but his letter in your issue of October 24th contains an exposition of fact in method construction, put more clearly and truthfully than anything one has observed in the correspondence columns for some time past. I refer specifically to what is included under his 'definitions.' (Although the second needs qualification.)

It is a great pity that so much valuable space and time have been utilised recently in wandering all round these points at issue. I have several times protested against the sort of half-truths which cloak the facts in a kind of mysterious superiority: and only last week appears a concrete illustration of the outcome of the dire results of that vicious practice: I refer to the perfectly reasonable requests of 'Interested.' Now, I have no desire whatever to 'butt in,' but I fear that 'Interested' runs the risk of getting nothing more than another abominable dose of that vile medicine!

The fact is that the fundamental truths of the 'Theory of Method Construction' are, like those of most of the sciences, beautifully simple; and while all this bickering is going on over nomenclature of details (after all, what's in a name?) the actual principles themselves are not being enumerated. The concise and straightforward statement of these principles would go a long way towards composing, for example, the differences between those now arguing over such questions as the naming of Shunts; for after all, they are advancing, if by widely divergent routes, towards a common goal.

I am not proposing, Mr. Editor, to proceed to lay down those principles; but at the same time I feel that the time has come when the bed-rock of the whole business should be set down in plain English, something like this (which may, perhaps, satisfy 'Interested'):

1. Changes are produced on a basis of what is known as 'hunting'; or the regular exchange of neighbouring positions, in cyclic order, of ALL units in a given series.
2. This 'hunting' may proceed in either a direct or a retrograde fashion.
3. The process may be carried on as 'whole hunting,' i.e., the complete traversing of the series by each individual unit; or as 'bi-partial,' 'tri-partial,' or even 'quadri-partial,' etc., hunting; i.e., the partial traversing of the series by some units, while other units traverse the remainder of the series.

Examples:—

Whole hunting.	Whole and bi-partial hunting.
21436587	{ 21436587
24163857	{ 24163857
42618375	{ 42618375
46281735	{ 46218735
64827153	Bi-partial { 64127853
68472513	{ 61427583
86745231	Whole { 16245738
etc.	again { 12654378
	etc.

It will be observed that the breaking up of the 'whole hunting' into 'partial huntings' results in the 'making of places.' It might also result in the 'making of dodges,' producing a 'dodging hunt,' thus:—

Tri-partial	24163857
including dodging	42156875

From this we clearly see that it is the breaking up of the hunting which results in place-making and dodging; and neither of these two last mentioned can be said to 'cause' the other; since either (or both) can—and do—depend on the varying of the hunting.

4. Method Construction proceeds by means of the variation of whole-hunting with partial-hunting either direct and/or retrograde.

Now, on these four basic statements hang 'all the law and the prophets' of the THEORY of METHOD CONSTRUCTION. I said above that Mr. Powell's 'Definition 2' needed qualification, and the following words might well be added:—

'But if the hunting direction of ALL the bells is to be reversed then partial hunting must be introduced.'

This is obvious, otherwise falsehood results, thus:—

Whole hunting.	Whole and partial hunting.
241635*	241635
241635* repeat row.	241635
etc.	etc.

Direction of all bells reversed.	Bi-partial hunting results in no repeat.
etc.	etc.

In the examples which 'Interested' gives the different positions of the place-makings and dodgings are simply the result of the varying of whole-hunting with partial hunting at different points in the traversing of the series of units.—Yours faithfully,

A. YORK BRAMBLE.

CENTRAL DIVISION MEETING.

A meeting of the Central Division was held on Saturday, October 25th, at the six-bell tower of Balcombe, thirty ringers being present. Ringing commenced about 2.30, and continued until 4.30, when the Rector (the Rev. D. L. Secretan) held a short service in church. A collection taken for the benevolent fund amounted to 10s. Afterwards all proceeded to the Church Hall for tea, which had been provided in a very generous manner by the Rector, Mrs. Secretan also being present.

The business meeting which followed, was mostly of a routine nature. Mr. Thos. Hogsflesh (Bath) was elected a non-resident member, and the election of the following non-resident members was confirmed: Messrs. Ernest Morris (Leicester), Wm. Rogers (Northampton), Geo. Pullinger (North Stoneham) and Morris Smith (Barking).

At the close of the meeting, the Master (Mr. J. T. Rickman) proposed a vote of thanks to the Rector for his kind hospitality, for the use of the bells, and also for his eloquent and helpful address at the service, coupling with this the name of the gentleman who presided at the organ.—The Rector and organist having replied in suitable terms, the proceedings terminated.

Full use was made of the bells during the afternoon and evening until about 7.30, when the bells were lowered in peal. The methods practised included Stedman, Treble Bob, Cambridge and London Surprise. The following towers were represented: Billingshurst, Brighton (St. Peter's and St. Nicholas), Burgess Hill, Cuckfield, Henfield, Keymer, Lindfield; also members of the local branch who did much towards making the meeting a success.

The next meeting of the division will be held at Hurstpierpoint, in January.

A SHROPSHIRE 'RECORD.'

The youngest band to ring a peal of Stedman in Shropshire, brought round Heywood's transposition on Saturday at Church Stretton. The ages of the ringers were respectively 16, 18, 16, 16, 17, 21, 50, 28. They were all members of St. Chad's Society, Shrewsbury, and the 'official timekeeper,' Mr. H. Hall, congratulated them on the striking. The time occupied was 3 hrs. 2 mins. 45 secs. Thanks are tendered to Mr. J. Hughes for having the bells ready.

ABBOTS LEIGH.—For practice, 720 Kent Treble Bob: G. Bennett 1, G. Chamberlain 2, W. Frampton 3, J. Ackerman 4, H. Knight 5, L. Moore (conductor) 6. H. Knight hails from Clapton.

HIGH WYCOMBE AND THE OXFORD GUILD.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The letter in your last issue, with the signature of A. D. Barker, is mischievous, and liable to misconstrue the actions of the Wycombe men: hence this reply.

In May of the present year an application was received from the then branch secretary, for the use of the Wycombe tower, and asking assistance in arranging for a branch meeting at High Wycombe. This was readily granted, and service, tea, etc., fixed up. A letter of appreciation was received, thanking us for our efforts, and confirming the arrangements. In the course of a few days, however, another letter was received, in which the branch secretary explained that he had been expressly forbidden to hold a branch meeting at Wycombe, and, therefore, he had no option but to call the meeting off, much to the regret of himself and others.

In July, at the annual meeting of the Guild, at Reading, a proposition by a member of the Wycombe belfry was turned down, the chairman ruling that Wycombe (though members were still affiliated) was 'out of court.'

In August an application was received from the recently-elected secretary for a branch meeting and practice. His request was carefully considered, and a courteous reply sent, expressing regret that, in view of the fact High Wycombe had been 'ruled out of court,' the request could not be complied with. We had also been notified that the tower would probably be closed in about a fortnight for repairs, and this reason was also given to somewhat 'tone down' the refusal. To this Mr. Barker replied:—

..... Understand I do not consider the Master's ruling applicable to any meeting or practice of this branch. 'I have made a rule for myself, and I expect all members to follow suit.' 'I do not expect any questions from any other of our members.' This arrogant epistle was, of course, ignored, it being obvious no good purpose could be served by further correspondence.

In view of the rulings quoted above, the Wycombe men, feeling it was inadvisable to arrange a strictly 'official' meeting, have taken the opportunity (before their tower is closed) to organise the meeting for November 8th, inviting all members of belfries within the area of the branch to meet together and discuss the position in a friendly manner. Invitations have also been extended to the clergy in the area. That is the reason, sir, why the meeting has been arranged; and we hope it will be successful.

The stupidity of Mr. Barker's autocratic presumption in his last paragraph, as to authority of the meeting, is apparent if the latter part of the suggested motion is read aright: 'To attend and vote for at the annual festival.'

We wish the branch secretary all success; and if Wycombe representatives have been absent from meetings, it has been unfortunate—not purposely. We much regret that this official of the branch should endeavour unjustifiably to prejudice a meeting called for friendly intercourse, by rushing into print, and indulging in 'mud-slinging,' and 'reading between the lines' things that are not. The recent advent of Mr. Barker as secretary of the branch will, we hope, be beneficial, and the good comradeship and freemasonry for which the district has been noted be cemented. Tact, courtesy, and the policy of 'give-and-take' are far preferable to a 'high and mighty do-as-I-tell-you style.' Guild members of 30 or 40 years' standing are working as hard now as ever they were for what they consider best for the Guild, quietly and unassumingly—without any 'flourish of trumpets'—but, nevertheless convinced, in their own minds, as to the justice of their cause.

May we take this opportunity of thanking the clergy and others who have sent sympathetic and encouraging letters, and wishing the meeting all success.—Yours faithfully,

GEORGE TWITCHEN

Hon. Secretary, Wycombe Belfry.

NEWCHURCH RINGERS' VISIT TO WHALLEY.

On Saturday, Oct. 18th, the ringers of St. Nicholas' Newchurch, and a few friends, had an outing to Whalley. Leaving Newchurch by charabanc they arrived at their destination about 2.45, and were met by one of the local ringers. Whalley Church contains a peal of eight bells, the old six having been recast and a new treble and tenor added. The peal has been rehung, and is one of the finest in the county. Soon the bells were going to Grandsire Triples, a touch of 840 being rung by J. Taylor 1, T. Harrison 2, J. H. Haydock 3, L. Taylor 4, O. Eastwood 5, W. Taylor (conductor) 6, J. T. Wright 7, J. W. Omerod 8. After tea, further ringing took place, and the bells were 'fired' several times. The inhabitants of Whalley were very pleased with the ringing, and spoke in praise of the performance of the visitors. The ringers wish to convey their thanks to the Rector, wardens and local ringers for permission to ring, and also for having all in order.

LEE, KENT.—At St. Margaret's Church, on Monday, Oct. 6th, before harvest festival service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples, from Holt's Original, in 42 mins.: J. Crowder 1, W. G. Pinnigar (conductor) 2, H. James 3, J. Lamb 4, F. Dafters 5, H. Richards 6, J. Dafters 7, B. Heisterman

YORKSHIRE VETERAN RINGER DEAD.

SEVENTY-SEVEN YEARS AT BURNSALL.

There has passed away at Skipton, in the person of Mr. John Pickersgill Birch, of Burnsall, one of the best known characters in Wharfedale. For no less than 77 years he had been a ringer at his native village, and he was also known in Leeds and Bradford.

Mr. Birch was admitted to hospital at Skipton on Sept. 24th last, and had been in failing health for some time. He celebrated his 89th birthday on the day before his death. Born and bred in Burnsall, Mr. Birch's ancestors had resided in the village for a great number of years, and the name of his great uncle, Richard Pickersgill, together with the date 1762, is to be found scratched on a small pane of a latticed window at his late residence at Burnsall.

Mr. Birch was best known as a carrier between Burnsall and Skipton, and, on occasion, between Appleton and Craven's ancient capital. He had fifty years' experience in this duty, and could recall many a memorable occasion when his cart was held up in snowdrifts on Barden Moor.

A postman for many years, he tramped his 20 miles a day with unfailing regularity, carrying the letters at 1d. a time and receiving a pittance of 10s. 6d. a week for a long period before the Government recognised his position.

Mr. Birch was only twelve years of age when he learned to ring on the six bells in the Burnsall Parish Church. In 1877 he was elected a member of the Yorkshire Association. Mr. Birch had come to Skipton on show day, almost without a break since the first Skipton show was held, and he always assisted in the change ringing on that occasion on the Skipton Parish Church bells, which is one of the old customs still preserved in connection with the exhibition. In 1921, Mr. Birch was the only ringer present who assisted in the celebration on the occasion of the first show.

Mr. Birch's wife died about 17 years ago. He was the father of eleven children, six of whom are living. He had 40 grandchildren and 30 great-grandchildren.

ICKLETON RINGERS' OUTING.

On Saturday, Oct. 11th, the ringers of Ickleton, Cambs, with some of their wives and a few friends, had a most enjoyable outing. Leaving Ickleton shortly after 9 a.m., the first stop was at Wilburton, in the Isle of Ely. Here they were welcomed by the Vicar, and the bells, a musical ring of six, were soon going merrily to Treble Bob, Plain Bob and Woodbine. The next call was at Haddenham, where there is a heavy ring of six. The back bells were not in good ringing order, so several short touches were rung. A move was then made for Ely. Unfortunately the bells at St. Mary's Church are in need of repair, and, therefore, could not be rung. The Cathedral was visited, and the roll of honour inspected. Afterwards a move was made to Soham, where the ring of ten were at the disposal of the visitors. Touches were rung on eight and the back six, and the ten were rung in rounds. At the White Hart Hotel a good meat tea was provided, to which full justice was done. The party then proceeded to Fordham, where there is a good ring of six, and several touches were brought round. Newmarket was the next call, and here again the heavy ring of six at St. Mary's could not be rung, as they were under repair. An application for permission to ring on the eight at All Saints was not answered; and, as it was getting late, it was decided not to go there 'on spec.' Consequently tracks were made for home, which was reached shortly after nine o'clock, all agreeing it had been a most enjoyable outing.—Votes of thanks were passed to the respective Vicars for the use of their bells; to steeplekeepers and ringers for getting the bells ready; and to Major Routh for the use of his lorry. P. W.

SHALL WE REVIVE PRIZE RINGING?

To the Editor.

Sir,—I have read with greatest interest the suggestion put forward by 'W. W.' in his most excellent article. 'Shall we . . .?' My emphatic answer is—without wishing to be dictatorial—No, sir; the very adjective 'prize' condemns the suggestion.

Yes, with a broad mind we see the suggestion is worthy of consideration. But first of all let us delete that abominable prefix. Ah! now it looks better, it smells better. Now then, one has not got to look twice to see what our friend is out for, not for personal gain, but an all-round improvement in the striking. Bravo! 'W. W.' and my comments are, 'Unhappy is the ringer who does not entertain that view.'

Yes, 'W. W.' we are with you to improve striking, but—proceed with caution! We must do no injustice. Of course we all realise there has been a reformation in the belfry. We realise that, standing on the dead (or dying) ashes of prize ringing, we have the true conception of a church bell ringer to-day! We must also realise that we have some pioneers of belfry reform with us to-day; we must remember that the belfries of to-day are the 'Monuments' of those pioneers who have passed! To preserve that sacred trust, is our bounden duty as we go forward—unquestionably that is 'W. W.'s' honest ambition; but if we revert to the abomination of the past, shall we advance? No! we shall, like the ringer of old, 'come a cropper.' In what? Why, a vaulting, inordinate ambition, for nothing but worthless gain, 'The Prize'!

The competition of the 'Four Shires Guild,' so lucidly explained by Mr. Horace Perry, is worthy of the notice of all who are anxious to bring about a general improvement in the present day striking.

The objects of the F.S.G. is, in my (genial) heathenish, not Puritanical! opinion, pure, unalloyed, fraternal, rivalry! No money; no personal gain, one tower out to defeat the other—without hope of reward—is certain to be successful, and bring about the desired effect in the striking, no matter whether it be 5, 6, 8, 10 or 12 bell tower. That is the fundamental fact that meets my view, that ringers, who compete will compete for what they can 'add' to ringing, and not what can be extracted from it.

Why, then, should not we as one great scientific fraternity take up the subject on those very grounds? Looking at, and taking the situation from an ecclesiastical standpoint, we have in the South the province of Canterbury, and in the North that of York (as every ringer is aware). Those provinces are divided into dioceses.

What I should suggest is, that each diocese competes for a diocesan championship 'without money and without prize.' Let 5-bell tower meet 5-bell tower, 6-bell meet 6-bell, 8-bell meet 8-bell, 10 meet 10, and 12 meet 12. Then, let them thrash the matter out in the diocese who are the 'best strikers'—5, 6, 8, 10, or 12 bell ringers. The tower with the highest grand total of points would be the champions of that diocese; it would not signify whether it was a 5-bell tower, or, to go to the other extreme, a 12-bell tower; they would be the champions, and, as our friend 'W. W.' suggests, no test piece; let hands select their own method, whether it be Grandsire or London, the points to be awarded for the striking alone.

Now then, what should we do? We have the champions in the diocese of A (let us assume) a 5-bell tower, in diocese B a 12-bell tower is 'champion'; let the 'champions' of A enter the lists with the champions of B, either A or B will become conqueror, at the same time the 'champions' of diocese 'C and D,' 'E and F,' etc., will be fighting for the coveted honour; let conqueror meet conqueror, till we have only one left in the province of Canterbury, and likewise one in the province of York.

Then for the 'Grand Finale'! Possibly the champions of one province would be 6-bell ringers, while their opponents from the other province were 10, or even 12 bell ringers. What does that signify? Six bells want striking properly, and so do 12 bells.

Don't tell me that the 6-bell tower would have any advantage, they would not! Every bell in even a peal of six wants handling, and they want striking! On the other hand, if we turn to the 12-bell peal, what applies? exactly the same thing, 'handling for striking'! And that's that! And it's from practical, and not theoretical knowledge. We arrive now at the stage (imaginary) when one of the ecclesiastical provinces, having conquered the other, has become the 'Champions of All England.'

Now then, what about the reward? Let the publication of the fact—which would be published in 'Our Journal'—be the only laurel! And there you are! Ringers in any and every diocese would fight for diocesan laurels, and subsequently ringers of the two ecclesiastical provinces would do battle for provincial and 'All England Championship.' One feels that only good results would ensue, and without 'a prize,' so just consider this, ye campanites.

TRADITION AND CEREMONIAL.

The festival of the Ancient Society of College Youths on Saturday was a memorable one, chiefly from the fact that the society resuscitated the ancient custom of holding a service before their annual dinner, and because that service was held at the church which was aptly described as the old home of the Society. There is authentic record connecting the Youths with the college and church erected by Sir Richard Whittington on College Hill, and that connection has been retained in the title of the Society through nearly three centuries of history. In the distant past the members used to march in procession to attend service at Bow Church, Cheapside, but there can be no question about the appropriateness of transferring the revived custom to the church at which the Society came into being.

With the revival of the service came a renewal of some of the ancient ceremonial. The Society has had in its possession since the year 1702 a silver mace, in the shape of a bell, with decorated supports embossed with miniature reproductions of City towers, and this mace was carried before the Master as he entered the church for the service, as it was carried in procession a hundred and fifty or two hundred years ago when the College Youths of those distant generations visited Bow Church. Such a revival of ancient procedure is most becoming to an organisation with traditions extending over nearly three hundred years, and there is a fitness in the action of the College Youths in not only maintaining the customs which have come down in unbroken practice throughout their history, but in reviving those which for various reasons have lapsed. Although it is true that the College Youths are not the oldest ringing society in point of years, it cannot be denied that in point of continuity of activity they have a record unsurpassed by any other ringing organisation, and, whatever views may be held as to form and ceremony in other societies, ringers look to them to uphold the dignity of their ancient heritage, and accept with ready acquiescence procedure which with any other ringing society might be considered antiquated and out of place. It is not unlikely, even, that the ancient 'procession' to the church may be revived, and Canon Coleridge, in his address last Saturday, gave very good reason why it should be.

Of the dinner itself it can be said that never was there a more successful gathering in London. The company that assembled came almost from the four corners of the kingdom, from Dorset in the South to Yorkshire in the North, from Bristol in the West to Norfolk in the East,

WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD,

THE WINCHESTER DISTRICT.

The annual meeting of the Winchester district was held at Winchester on Saturday, November 1st. The twelve bells at the Cathedral and the ring of six at St. Maurice's were available during the afternoon and evening. The tea and meeting took place in St. Maurice Hall, presided over by the district chairman (the Rev. Canon Braithwaite), supported by Mr. G. Williams (Master), Mr. G. Pullinger (gen. secretary), Mr. F. W. Rogers (secretary, Portsmouth district), Mr. W. Andrews and Mr. J. W. Faithfull (Central Committee), Mr. J. H. Shepherd (Swindon), and members from North Stoneham, Southampton, Romsey, Twyford, Ringwood, Portsea and Winchester. The balance showed receipts amounting to £12 6s. 2d., and expenditure to £4 1s. 10d. The sum of £7 was handed over to the Guild treasurer, leaving a balance in hand of £1 4s. 4d.

It was decided to hold the next annual meeting at Romsey on Saturday, Nov. 2nd, 1925, and to hold quarterly meetings at Southampton, the first Saturday in February; at Stockbridge the first Saturday in May; and at Titchborne and Cheriton on the last Saturday in August.

All the officers were re-elected, viz., chairman, Rev. Canon Braithwaite; secretary, Mr. W. T. Tucker; Central Committee, Mr. W. Andrews and Mr. J. W. Faithfull; auditor, Mr. G. Smith.

A vote of thanks was passed to the district secretary (Mr. W. T. Tucker) for the way he had carried out his duties, and, in reply, he said he hoped the members would support him by attending the district meetings, and that they would also take 'The Ringing World' every week.

A vote of thanks was accorded the chairman for presiding, after which further ringing took place at the Cathedral.

THE OXFORD GUILD FESTIVAL.

THE HIGH WYCOMBE RESOLUTION.

A meeting of ringers was held at High Wycombe on Saturday last, for the purpose of discussing the position created by the decision to again hold the Diocesan Guild Festival at Oxford. The tower was available for visitors during the afternoon and for an hour in the evening; and some enjoyable ringing was indulged in. One visitor was especially pleased to score his first touch of Treble Bob, and three others were highly delighted in getting through their first attempts at Grandsire Triples. A short devotional service was held in the church, conducted by the Vicar of Wycombe, who also gave a brief address. Tea was held in the Church House, and much enjoyed.

After the removal of the cloth, the meeting took place, the Rev. F. M. Molyneux, M.A., presiding, supported by the Rev. W. S. Riddelsdell, M.A. (chairman of the branch) and the Rev. H. O. F. Whittingstall.

The Chairman, after opening the meeting, announced that many letters of encouragement had been received.—The Master and the general secretary had written that, owing to their attendance at the College Youths' Dinner they were unable to be present. The chairman asked for a free discussion; and then called on Mr. Ralph Coles to move the following resolution: 'That Rule X be altered to read: The annual festival and general meeting shall be held in July in the three Archdeaconries in turn; and members here assembled pledge themselves to attend and vote for the suggested alteration at the Guild Festival.' Mr. Coles gave a lucid resume of the steps the Wycombe Society had taken to get the annual festival held in various centres, and remarked that if the resolution was carried it would be forwarded to the proper quarter in good time, and then brought up in the form of a 'private members' bill'; as, of course, they could not, nor had they ever claimed to, alter rules at a meeting such as the present one. The whole gist of the affair was to attend and vote at the annual festival.

Mr. F. Hayes seconded the motion, cordially agreeing with the mover's remarks.—Mr. J. W. Wilkins supported, and gave interesting details of the early days of the Guild. He reminded those present of the remarks of the late Master (the Rev. F. E. Robinson), who used to maintain that if members would not come to the Guild, the Guild must go to them.

The Rev. W. S. Riddelsdell spoke very strongly in favour of the suggested alteration. The holding of the festival continuously in one centre did not work for the welfare of the Guild as a whole. He would certainly support the motion when it was brought on; and he appealed to all those present, not only to pledge themselves, but to try and influence others to attend the annual festival. He was glad of the opportunity to be present to take part in such a frank and free discussion. He would do all he possibly could to help forward the cause they were striving for.

Other representatives having expressed themselves, the Chairman put the proposition, which was carried unanimously, and a pleasant meeting terminated.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—As it is not a new thing for a person to resort to personal abuse when their actions are exposed, we may take the letter of Mr. G. Twitchen for what it is worth. He would practically have your readers believe that—'Black is white, also red.'

The doings of the late branch secretary must not be held up for too much criticism, as he is at present unable to defend himself, but, the branch meeting in May, of which your correspondent writes, was arranged by the late branch secretary, in defiance to a resolution, expressing the wishes, and passed by members, of this branch. The arrangements at High Wycombe were cancelled by order of the branch chairman, who was then informed by the late branch secretary that 'it was not supposed to be a branch meeting at all, but was a gathering at the invitation of the High Wycombe ringers.' This statement can be verified by anyone who cares to communicate with the branch chairman, the Rev. W. S. Riddelsdell, M.A., Bray Vicarage, Maidenhead, Berks.

The following is taken from a copy of my letter to High Wycombe, in answer to their refusal of the tower for a branch meeting:—

'Dear Sir,—I thank you for your prompt reply, but would like you to understand that I do not consider the Master's ruling as applicable to any meeting of this branch. I have made a rule for myself, and, in keeping it, I expect all members of the branch to follow suit, i.e., to keep the fourth Saturday in each month open for a branch practice. As twelve-bell practice is equally as important as six-bell, I do not expect any questions from any other of our members as to why I wrote. To be quite frank, there were a few who knew something of my ideas, and who want to see a branch practice at High Wycombe. Of course, I can understand the repairs difficulty [we have had it brought home rather forcibly at Stoke Poges], but I would like to see a regular branch twelve-bell practice with not too many months between each one. I shall be pleased to answer any questions from your members, and will continue to forward any notices at the same time as they are sent to the other towers.'

If this is compared with the statement in last week's 'Ringing

World,' it will be at once seen that a different meaning is implied by the letter than is suggested by your correspondent in his subtraction of words to suit his purpose.

The suggestion of arrogance comes badly from High Wycombe, whose members have been trying for some time to force their will on the Oxford Diocesan Guild, even to the extent of withdrawing their tower from affiliation with the Guild, Dec. 31st 1923. Comment is needless. Now they would tell us that 'members were still affiliated in July, 1924.'

In conclusion, when a band of ringers goes to the trouble of circularising the branch of a Guild with a printed slip, to enlist sympathy amongst many who are not fully alive to their aims, one can hardly call it 'without a flourish of trumpets.'—Yours faithfully,

ARTHUR D. BARKER,

Hon. Secretary, E. Berks and S. Bucks Branch, Oxford Diocesan Guild.

DEATH OF MACCLESFIELD'S OLDEST BELL RINGER.

LIVED TO SEE HIS DREAM COME TRUE.

On Monday, October 27th, Macclesfield's oldest ringer, in the person of Mr. W. McKinnell (or, as he was commonly called 'Old Kenny'), passed away at the age of 76. Mr. McKinnell started to ring 62 years ago, and had been connected with the parish church tower during that period. He regularly attended to his duties, and it was seldom he was late or absent. He was, in his day, a good and sound ringer and striker. He had rung a few peals, but not a great number.

He was buried on All Saints' Day at the Macclesfield Cemetery. The bells of Christ Church were rung muffled on Friday night, and the bells of the Parish Church were rung on Saturday until 2.30, when the ringers left for the home of the deceased to act as bearers, and to join in the procession.

The funeral cortege was headed by the Old Town band, of which the deceased used to be a member, and moved off to the strains of the Dead March in 'Saul.' On the hearse was a large floral bell, which had been sent by his brother ringers at the parish church. As the procession went through the market place the band ceased playing, and the tenor bell tolled its farewell for him. Large crowds lined the route of the procession.

After the coffin had been lowered into the grave, four ringers rang a course of Grandsire Triples at the graveside. The bells of the parish church were rung half-muffled during the evening, and for the services on the following day.

The Vicar (the Rev. H. E. Stevens), before commencing his sermon on Sunday morning, made the following reference to the deceased: 'Last Monday, our veteran ringer, William McKinnell, passed to his rest, after 62 years' service amongst our bells. His first public act in the craft was to assist in ringing a muffled peal on the death of the Prince Consort. He was well known in the county and beyond its borders as an enthusiastic campanologist; he loved to play hymn tunes on the bells of various churches, the last occasion being at St. Peter's, Congleton, on the second Monday in August, and he was equally expert with the handbells. Many of us knew how keen he was that the parish church should have a peal of twelve bells. He never tired of saying that the money would certainly come, when once a scheme was set on foot. He lived to see his dream come true, for he was in the tower when the Bishop of Chester dedicated the peal more than a year ago. I remember introducing him to the Bishop after the ceremony, and saying 'Now he is ready to sing his Nunc Dimittis.' However, he lived thirteen months to enjoy the sound of the bells, and kept up his interest in them to the end. On his deathbed he expressed a wish that his funeral might be on a Saturday, that the ringers might carry him to his last resting-place. Moreover, he gave instructions that his cherished handbells should be sold, and the money used to provide a stone bell as a tombstone, to bear his name, with the inscription, 'An old ringer.' Surely a splendid bit of enthusiasm worthy of a true craftsman. The ringers of the neighbourhood did him all honour at his burial, and we to-day would gratefully remember the hand-loom weaver, whose hobby gave pleasure to others. We shall not forget the old man with his kindly smile and his ready word for his friends, or the reverent worshipper who was rarely away from his place on Sunday evenings. Perhaps in his last hours he may have remembered the well-known words of Faber's hymn:

Far, far away, like bells at evening pealing,
The voice of Jesus sounds o'er land and sea.
And laden souls, by thousands meekly stealing,
Kind Shepherd, turn their weary steps to Thee.

He has stepped over the threshold of the beyond into the presence of the Good Shepherd.

GUILDFORD.—On Friday, Oct. 31st, at Holy Trinity Church, for special service, on eve of All Saints' Day, a quarter-peal of London Surprise Major (1,280 changes), in 49 mins.: G. Petter 1, C. N. Burdock 2, H. Hutton 3, G. W. Steere 4, H. Burdock 5, W. R. Melville 6, Q.-M.-S. G. Gilbert R.E., 7, A. H. Pulling (conductor) 8. First quarter in the method by all except ringers of 3rd and 8th.

A QUARTER OF GRANDSIRE.

DESCRIBED BY A 'RACY' CORRESPONDENT.

After many days, as prophesied in 'Old Moore's,' the Wakefield company have at least done something to uphold their reputation as change ringers by ringing a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples.

This in itself is not a great performance for a company of their calibre, but it proves the ability of their conductor (Mr. J. Moorhouse), seeing that this was his first quarter-peal in that capacity.

I do not wish to belittle the performance when I say that the ringing was not all that could be desired, but under these adverse conditions Mr. Moorhouse never wavered or lost his head or place, so that great credit is due to him in being successful under such trying conditions.

One grateful member was so delighted that he intends presenting Mr. Moorhouse with a new book in which to jot down his touches, and hopes it will be an incentive to further effort.

The company were arranged as follows: Treble, Peaker; 2nd, Chapman; 3rd, Turner; 4th, Preston; 5th, Hinsley; 6th, Moorhouse (conductor); 7th, Cockill; 8th, Hammond.

A 'racy' individual describes it this way: There were nine entries for the handicap, but one named Heald, who prefers a shorter course, and likes soft going, became unruly at the post, whipped round and bolted, so did not come under the starter's orders. Hammond, who had been very fidgety and was eager to be off, got left at the start, and was tailed-off for a considerable part of the journey, and although the pace was slow in the early stages, he did not get in touch with the leaders until half the distance had been covered. Peaker, who had been leading, was soon overhauled by Chapman, a long striding youngster, who had not previously covered this distance, only to give way immediately to Turner, a stocky-built little fellow, who showed plenty of muscle. At the first turn they were all in a bunch, and a spill was narrowly avoided, but after a lot of bumping and crossing they settled down to a ding-dong finish, and with Hammond now moving close up behind, the pace increased, but he could not overhaul Peaker, who came in a length in front of Chapman, with Turner a similar distance away, third. Time, 53 minutes.

We would like to have seen that old stager 'Scott' in this company, but he may be held in reserve for a future event, or, perhaps, he prefers an easier course. In any case, he usually gets off with a good lead, and is rarely out of the first three at the finish.

TRIP TO GUILDFORD.

The North Stoneham ringers, accompanied by their Rector (the Rev. T. Salmon), held their annual outing on Saturday, Sept. 20th, when Guildford was the venue, and was reached by way of the Meon Valley. It was intended to start at 8 a.m., but this was delayed about half an hour, because, it was rumoured, the bus driver waited outside a licensed house instead of the Church Hut.

After about 20 miles the bus began to show signs of distress, and things got so bad that at Tisted the driver phoned back to headquarters for instructions. During the wait, inquiries were made of a 'local' as to the distance to the next refreshment house, which was said to be a very short distance up the road. Several of the party started to walk, and found to their disgust that the 'short distance' was 1½ miles.

The old bus managed to crawl into Chawton, where a wait was made for another vehicle, which was being sent up from Southampton, and this eventually arrived about 11.50 a.m. It had been intended to ring at Farnham, but the delay had been so great that this tower had to be cut out.

On arrival at Guildford the party were met by Messrs. Melville and Pulling, and at Holy Trinity Church, Cambridge, Double Norwich and Stedman were rung, and during the ringing of the Cambridge the party were treated to a fine acrobatic display by the ringer of the 7th.

After lunch a visit was paid to St. Nicolas, and Mrs. Hazelden and Messrs. Hazelden, Raddon, Chivers, and others of the local band, were awaiting the visitors. Grandsire Caters, Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise Major were rung, and some of the party found that the third bell could not be 'pushed up.'

A call was made at East Meon on the return journey. Here the tenor was found to 'go' indifferently. London was tried, but half-way through a course the tenorman gave up, he was without 'will.' Cambridge and Stedman were rung, but the heavy bellmen quickly decided that enough ringing had been done for the day. Home was reached about 10 p.m. The outing was much enjoyed, particularly the beautiful scenery from the Hog's Back and Hindhead. The party take this opportunity to express their best thanks to the clergy of the various churches for permission to ring, and to all the local ringers who met them, and the hearty welcome extended to them.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

On Saturday, Nov. 15th, 1873, a peal of 8,544 Kent Treble Bob Major was rung at Liversedge, Yorks, in five hours.

On November 16th, 1837, 7,360 Oxford Treble Bob was rung at St. Andrew's, Norwich.

At the same church, on Nov. 17th, 1835, the first peal of London Surprise Major was rung.

The first peal of Imperial Treble Bob Major was rung at St. Giles', Norwich, on Nov. 17th, 1760, and immediately the peal had been completed, one of the ringers, John Webster, dropped dead.

Next Tuesday, the 18th inst., is the centenary of a peal of 8,448 Oxford Treble Bob Major rung at St. Michael at Coslany, Norwich.

The first peal of Grandsire Caters at St. Martin's, Birmingham, was rung on November 19th, 1758.

Last week we published the report of a peal stated to have been rung at Thrapston, Northants. The peal was rung at Titchmarsh.

RINGERS' MEETINGS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Agreeing with you in your leader last week, I have for some time avoided both services and sermons at ringers' meetings. But experience has made me conclude that if you do not have a service, the meeting will lose both in importance and in value; and, while I agree that a 'full-dress' sermon is neither wanted nor useful on such a practical occasion, an address of a very few minutes (not more than five), may be very pointed and useful.

When I was in the Salisbury Diocese we made what seemed to be a very good arrangement, and one which always worked well, and I believe is still in use after a quarter of a century. With the help of the then Bishop, and the present Bishop of Truro, we drew up an office for the Diocesan Guild, making a service that could be read right through in five minutes for a district meeting; and once a year, when a choir could be obtained (or enough of the ringers relied on to sing), could be sung right through in ten minutes. With a very short pointed address this got the ringers together, and only used up time which otherwise would have been wasted, walking aimlessly about waiting for one another.

Treated in this way, the service will help considerably to the success of the meeting; but nothing is more likely to put a damper on a meeting than a lengthy 'shortened' evensong; or an impromptu kind of service that will last no one knows how long, and tend to disintegrate, instead of pulling together, a meeting.

HERBERT DRAKE.

QUICK PEALS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Re the answers in your last issue, to my criticism of the quick peal at Sheffield, I beg to state, in reply, that no ill-feeling was meant or intended. If the two gentlemen had made a careful analysis of my letter, they would have seen that there was no reference to the merit and skill of the ringers taking part in the peal, and my letter, though harsh, was written in no unfriendly spirit, but were my critical views as to the music produced. I was more than surprised at the attitude taken by Mr. Lewis, as he appeared to suggest that my remarks had a tendency to cause ill-feeling between the ringers of Sheffield and Birmingham. I would like to say here that nothing was farther from my mind. The reason why I wrote that letter was to condemn all very quick peals as being detrimental to the music brought forth. I hope I have made this clear, and that the ringers of Sheffield will accept this explanation. Referring to Mr. Palmer's frank letter, he points out the following reasons why the peal was completed in such short time.

- (1) Because the bells are hung on the modern ball bearing principle, and that there is only a short draught to contend with.
- (2) That the 'hefty lads' at the back end started off at a brisk pace, and kept it up to the end.

Whilst agreeing that there were greater facilities for quicker ringing in the first reason, it does not follow that because of this the bells need be struck quicker. As regards the second reason could not a little restraint have been exercised in the case of the back end by a word of warning from more experienced men, who certainly should have been able to tell the extra rate the bells were travelling? The striking (I have no doubt now that I have the facts) was correct, but was the music so well produced by this rapid going? Myself, I think not, and I shall never be convinced otherwise. Mr. Palmer agrees with me that bells should not be struck too closely; therefore, is it not obvious that the bells must have been struck closely to create a time record such as that? He also accuses me of having a bad impression of the peal (my letter certainly suggested that), yet they themselves took (using his own words) a precisely similar view on the quick peals that have been rung at Southwark. So he will readily see why my condemnation was so severe, if on his own admission they at Sheffield took a similar view.

In conclusion, while thoroughly appreciating the spirit of Mr. Palmer's letter, I am still of the opinion that the music of peals rung at such speed cannot approach that of peals rung in

'NORMAL TIME.'

The Ancient Society of College Youths.

REVIVAL OF AN OLD CUSTOM.
BIG GATHERING FOR ANNUAL FESTIVAL.

An interesting revival of an ancient custom marked the annual gathering of the Ancient Society of College Youths on Saturday. Ringing had taken place at various churches during the afternoon, including Southwark Cathedral, Cripplegate, St. Magnus, and St. Andrew's, Holborn; and the members and visitors then assembled at the Church of St. Michael Paternoster Royal, College Hill, where a special service was held. In attending this church the Society went back to its old home, for it was from the College which was connected with this church, that the founders took the name of the Society. After the members had taken their seats, the Master (Mr. R. T. Hibbert) was conducted to his pew, preceded by the ancient mace of the Guild, which is in the form of a silver bell dated 1702, and which was carried by the senior warden (Mr. P. E. Clark). The service was taken from the 'Ringers' Manual,' and was conducted by the Rector (Canon Bullock Webster). The hymns were 'Ring forth, holy bells,' 'The sacred bells of England,' and 'Unchanging God, who livest,' the last named being sung to a tune which introduces rounds and Queen's. The lesson, from Romans xii., was read by the Master, and while the offertory was taken a course of Stedman Triples was perfectly rung on handbells by Messrs. H. R. Newton, C. F. Winney, W. Pasmore and W. T. Cockerill.

Canon G. F. Coleridge (president of the Central Council) preached from the words, 'I was glad when they said unto me, Let us go into the house of the Lord.' These words, he thought, reflected the feeling in every heart when they decided to hold that service on the occasion of their annual festival as aforetime. It was the practice of the College Youths years ago to meet on the 5th of November and then, preceded by their silver bell, which he was glad to see that evening in its right and proper place, march to Bow Church, Cheapside, for a service, before holding their annual dinner or supper. He thought it might be well if they that evening went, after service, in procession, headed by the bell, to their annual banquet. People would then ask what it meant, and they could be told that these were men, engaged in the service of Almighty God, who were keeping their festival, and they had kept it in a right and appropriate way by first rendering thanks and praise to the Giver of all good gifts. Their forefathers went to Bow Church: they had come that day to St. Michael Paternoster Royal on College Hill, and he could not conceive of any more appropriate place than that, because the College Youths took their name from the old College which once stood there on College Hill, a College dedicated to the Holy Spirit and Saint Mary, which he believed, more than a hundred years ago, was removed to the North of London. It would interest them all to know that they had with them at that service the present warden of the College, who was technically called the 'Tutor,' who had charge of some four-and-twenty aged women in the College, which was now commemorated in that church by the Lady Chapel, and would be for all time. Whether the founders of the College Youths rang there or at St. Martin's he did not know with certainty. It was said that they used to chime at the College, but they did know that they used to ring at St. Martin's, also that the College was joined to that Church of St. Michael Paternoster Royal. The preacher then went on to quote from a brief history of the church, in which it was stated that the Church of St. Michael Paternoster Royal stood on a spot consecrated from time immemorial to the worship of God. In the year 1400 the church which then existed was so ancient and time-worn that it was determined to make room for a warthier House of God, and a new building was erected at the expense of Sir Richard Whittington, four times Lord Mayor of London. This new church survived for more than 250 years until it was destroyed by the Great Fire of London in 1666. Once more on the same spot a new church was built. It was erected under the supervision of Sir Christopher Wren, the great architect, and completed in 1694, except the tower, which was added in 1718. On the resurrection of the services formerly held by the College Youths they could not, said the speaker, do better than to meet in that church on their anniversary. What did they come there for? They came first of all to praise and thank and magnify God; they came also in a spirit of commemoration of their founders. They went back to the year 1637 and remembered with gratitude the names of their founders, who included Lord Brereton, Sir Cliff Clifton, and others, bearing names of renown. Coming down from the beginning they had had among them other great men, ringers, composers and conductors, too numerous to mention. Thus they came down to the present day, and they would agree that it was not fitting on that occasion to mention any particular names, but they were all engaged in a great work for the glory of God. So they went back into the past and thought of those old words, which he was so fond of: 'Let us now praise famous men and the fathers that begat us; their seed shall remain for ever, and their glory shall not be blotted out; their name liveth for evermore.' Although their society went back for so many years they ought to remember that there were societies of ringers which went back in history even further than theirs. The Ancient Society of St. Stephen's ringers at Bristol in 1574 obtained the promise of a charter, and that was granted in 1620, seventeen years before the College Youths came into being. Some of them might also have read the articles of the Scholars of Cheapside, dated 1603, and they all, he supposed, knew Saffron Walden, which had had an endowment for ringers since 1623. Part of that endowment went for the preaching of a sermon on the anniversary every year of the death of the donor. In many of these old societies money was left for the ringing of the bells on the anniversary of the death of the testator, and this pointed to a religious origin more than anything else. He did not suppose many societies had a rule so drastic as one of those of St. Stephen's: 'If any of the said company shall be so bold as to run into the belfry before he do kneel down and pray, as every Christian ought, he shall pay for the first offence sixpence, and for the second he shall be cast out of the company.' A stringent rule. He for one did not like stringent and rigid rules. He preferred to rule his own life according to the commandments of God and His precepts, and he took it that most people liked to live in the fulness of God's favour, and therein find perfect freedom, which did not mean doing just what they liked and pleasing themselves, but doing everything for the honour of God, and for the help of their fellow-men. Let them remember that it was in a spirit of freedom that they were there that night. There was no compulsion about it. They were there because they felt it was a good and joyful thing to join together in unity, worshipping God, and thanking Him for their founders, praying also that they might be found worthy to follow in their footsteps. So they looked back with thankfulness over the past, and with fresh resolutions they would go forward in the future, never forgetting that they were church workers, God's ministers. They were God's ministers because they were privileged to ring the bells of the churches, the same high privileges as was shared by the organist and choir, and by all who took part in the service to Almighty God.

As a voluntary after the service, a course of Stedman Caters was rung on handbells.

The members then made their way to the London Tavern, Fenchurch Street, where dinner was served, a company of nearly 190 sitting down, under the chairmanship of the Master.

The Master was supported by the Rev. Canon Bullock-Webster (St. Michael's, College Hill), Alderman J. S. Pritchett (St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham), Rev. Canon G. F. Coleridge (President of the Central Council), Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn (Master), and Mr. A. J. Wright (hon. treasurer, Oxford Diocesan Guild), Rev. Canon Haldane (Rector of Southwark), Mr. Frank Churchwarden, Southwark Cathedral, Rev. J. H. Ellison (St. Michael's, Cornhill), Rev. F. Ll. Edwards (hon. secretary, Salisbury Guild), Mr. J. D. Matthews (Master), Mr. J. Cornford (hon. secretary), and Mr. C. Matthews (Royal Cumberland Youths), Rev. Preb. Isaacs (St. Giles', Cripplegate), Mr. W. Jeffries (Kent County Association), Mr. W. Skinner (Dean's verger, St. Paul's Cathedral), Rev. B. F. Simpson (St. Dunstan's, Stepney), Mr. R. Carter (churchwarden) and the Rev. S. A. Spackman (St. Mary Abbots), Mr. Castell, Mr. E. A. Young (hon. secretary, Central Council), Rev. W. Pennington Bickford (Rector of St. Clement Danes), Mr. Sergison, Mr. F. Walker, Rev. E. C. Bedford (St. Andrew's, Holborn) and the Rev. H. J. Fynes-Clinton (Rector of St. Magnus-the-Martyr). The vice-chair was occupied by Mr. W. E. Garrard, and the company included Messrs. W. T. Cockerill (hon. secretary of the society), A. A. Hughes (hon. treasurer), P. E. Clark (senior steward), W. Hibbert (junior steward), C. F. Winney and W. Prime (trustees), E. Horrex and J. Carter, Major J. H. B. Hesse (Haslemere), Messrs. C. F. Bowen (Hilfrcombe), G. Hoad (Reigate), J. Wyatt (Ashted), C. Dean (hon. secretary, Surrey Association), W. Dyson and D. Elliott (Essex), W. Lawrence (Herts), E. Lincoln (Norfolk), W. Hart (Brighton), T. Groombridge, senr. (Chislehurst), T. Groombridge, junr. (Crayford), A. Walker (Ringing Master of St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham), A. Paddon Smith (hon. secretary), J. E. Groves (Birmingham), S. Palmer (Sheffield), Mr. E. C. Goldsmith (Clapham), Mrs. R. J. Wilkins and Mrs. Cann (Bristol), Messrs. W. A. Cave and C. Gordon (Bristol), F. W. Rodgers, Tate and Taylor (Purvismouth).

F. Smith (Royal Cumberland Youths), J. Monk (Witney), A. Cullum (Caversham), J. T. Dyke (Midsomer Norton), T. Beaumont, C. Norris and W. Haigh (Rochester), F. Mitchell (Milton), T. Beadle (Isleworth), etc. The Barking band were present in force, and ringers also attended from all parts of London.

After an excellent repast, the Master submitted the loyal toast, which having been enthusiastically drunk, was followed by a lustily sung verse of the National Anthem.

Rising again, the Master proposed 'The Church.' In the minds of most of those present, he said, the Church would probably recall the glorious old buildings they had seen and the peals of bells they had rung on, but he wanted them to forget that side of it for a moment, and think of the Church as a brotherhood (applause). Some of those present had heard their glorious old Church of England service on the deck of a battleship, some round the drums behind the field of battle, and some perhaps had heard it in a ramshackle, corrugated shed in the colonies, but wherever that service had been held some individual had gone away a better man than before. That was the Church he asked them to drink to that night (applause).

Canon Haldane, who responded, thanked the Society, in the name of the clergy, for having asked them to be present that evening. The clergy very much needed the laity from various points of view, to encourage them and to keep them in order and it was a great pleasure to find themselves in a gathering so typical of the best laity of the Church. In a spirit of light banter the Canon touched upon the practice of some ringers who, having rung the bells, did not stop to the service, and he appealed to the Society to exert their influence wherever they could in helping the clergy to effect an alteration in this respect.

Canon Coleridge gave the toast of 'The Ancient Society of College Youths.' In addressing the chair, he said he had known the Master from boyhood, and felt inclined to address him as 'Dear old Tom' (applause), but that would not befit the dignity of the occasion, and, therefore, for the first time in his life he must call him 'Master' (applause). Canon Coleridge expressed the delight it had been to him to have had the privilege of speaking to them in the Church of St. Michael Paternoster Royal that evening. He counted it one of the greatest privileges of his life to have been asked to preach that sermon. He was really glad when he heard last year that they intended to begin their festival with a service, as all meetings of Church workers ought to begin, and he hoped that it was the beginning of a new page in the history of the College Youths. Going back over the early days of the Society, Canon Coleridge referred to the fact that Sir Matthew Hill and Sir Cliff Clifton, who were among the founders, were not the only baronets and knights they had had in their ranks. In his own day they had had Sir Bartle Frere as a member and their dear old friend, who did as much for change ringing as any other man, Sir Arthur Heywood. In looking round, they found that in other branches of art and science the great men were honoured. For example, in the world of music they need speak only of Sir John Stainer and Sir Frederick Bridge; in the world of art they had had Sir Frederick Leighton, Sir John Millais, and others. When they came to the ringing fraternity, what a grand thing it would be for the Exercise if they could have Sir Thomas Hibbert (laughter and applause), and it would be a still greater honour to have Sir William Cockerill (applause). Then the world would begin to look up to them. At present it didn't; it only expected them to ring for weddings and other festive occasions. Canon Coleridge eulogised the services of the Master; he also congratulated his son, who, he understood, had been nominated as senior steward for next year, and said he hoped he might live to congratulate him two years hence when, if he were spared, he would be in the position now occupied by his father (applause). Continuing, Canon Coleridge said it was not only the Master of that great society who had to be honoured, but that other gentleman, their devoted and most excellent secretary, at present Mr. William Cockerill (applause). When he looked back over the last forty years and compared the way in which the business of the society was conducted then with the way it is now carried on, there was a tremendous difference, and it was very largely owing to the excellence of their secretary (applause). Long might he remain in that position, and now that he had years before him free from the worry of teaching little boys, he would have more leisure and be able to give even more time to the welfare of that great society. It was his name that he had to couple with the toast of the Ancient Society of College Youths (applause).

The toast was drunk with musical honours.

Mr. Cockerill was cordially received on rising to respond. He said letters regretting absence had been received from Mr. J. C. Mitchell, secretary of the London General Omnibus Co.; Mr. C. H. Howard, Master of the Essex Association; the Rev. Gordon Ponsonby, Rector of Row, Chesham, who was kept away by indisposition. He also read a letter conveying greetings to the gathering from Mr. Alan Macdonald, who is at present in Canada, and a telegram worded as follows: 'Bristol United Guilds send fraternal greetings, and wish College Youths delightful evening.—Guise.' During the past year the Society had lost, by death, five members—William Newell, Samuel Joyce, James W. Washbrook, George Cleal and Sam Thomas. They had made 42 new members, and, including a peal rung that day at Stepney, there had been 32 peals rung, viz., one each of Bob Major and Maximus, Treble Bob Major, Royal and Maximus ten of Stedman Triples, seven of Stedman Cateters, four of Cinques, two of Bristol Surprise, two of Cambridge Major, one Cambridge Maximus and one of London. In these 32 peals there had been 17 conductors. There had been 76 practices and 25 business meetings, and 'Sir' Thomas had honoured them by coming from Reading for 23 meetings out of the 25 (applause).

The Vice-Chairman proposed 'The London and Provincial Ringing Societies,' and welcomed the representatives to that gathering. Referring to the Cumberland Youths, he said the two societies did not meet now as often as they used to thirty-five years ago when the old St. James' Society was in existence. They then used to meet every fortnight, and he for one regretted that this practice had ceased, but things changed in ringing, as in all else. They were glad to have with them Alderman Pritchett, of St. Martin's Guild, for that was the jubilee of his membership of the society (applause). They hoped he would be spared for many more years to reside over St. Martin's Guild and to come among the College Youths on the occasion of their annual dinner (applause).

Mr. J. D. Matthews first responded. He was very pleased, he said, that Canon Haldane had congratulated the College Youths on wearing out the floor of the church, as well as the stairs of the belfry, but he could assure him the ringers would be more interested in the east end of the church if the clergy helped to wear out the steps of the belfry a bit more (laughter and applause). The ringers would like to see the clergy in the belfry more than they did. He would like to take Canon Haldane round some of the London belfries so that he might see their condition. There were some that were not fit for pigs, let alone ringers (hear, hear). If the clergy who were there that night would use their influence among their brethren to get the towers improved they would be doing a great deal for ringing in general, for there were many belfries that needed putting in order, and in which the clergy at present took little interest (applause).

Alderman Pritchett said he was very glad to be there that night, and to have the honour of responding to that toast. As Mr. Garrard had said, if he lived until Monday he would have been 50 years a member of that Ancient Society (applause). It was one of the few things in life that he had to boast of, and he did boast of it. He had experienced more pleasure from bell ringing than from anything else in any other recreation he had been concerned with. When he was elected, on Nov. 10th, 1874, he learned from his certificate, which proudly hung on the walls of his house, framed and properly glazed, that the Master was Henry W. Haley, and the hon. secretary was George A. Musket, and the stewards were William Greenleaf and John M. Hayes, names honoured in the annals of change ringing, and very proud he was to have their signatures (hear, hear). When he died he intended to present that beautiful certificate, which was by Bartolozzi to the Birmingham Public Library where, he hoped, it would be preserved. His membership number was 2,660, and he would like to know the number of the last member (Mr. Cockerill: 4,900). He was going to say he thought the number had been doubled. Of the provincial societies all but two or three had grown up in his time. St. Martin's Guild, of course, had existed almost from time immemorial, certainly for nearly 200 years. It had been a great society, and was now a great society (hear, hear). The cause of its prosperity was two-fold; first of all the love of ringing on the part of its members and able leadership on the part of those who were concerned in leading it, before he (the speaker) became a ringer; and, secondly, a slight inducement of another character. He had heard from the great Henry Johnson, with whom he rang his first peal 49 years ago, that about a hundred years ago or more some benevolent individual left the sum of 40 shillings per annum for the ringers of Birmingham (laughter). He could not find that the forty shillings was ever paid (laughter), but when they looked for new members they told them the arrears of that annuity had been accumulated, and some day they would be collected and a very handsome amount would be distributed among the ringers (laughter). So all the credit of their very prosperous society was not solely due to their indefatigable secretary, Mr. Smith, who had that powerful argument to back him up (laughter). It was all for the good of ringing that there were provincial societies. Ringers were becoming a great power in the land; they were attracting public attention, and, what was better still, they were being understood by the public more and more as the years went on. The societies having organised themselves had enlisted the sympathies of the clergy, and the clergy recognised the valuable assistance they had from the ringers, and the ringers were now recognised as church workers, deserving the respect of the clergy and their encouragement. There had also been another great feature in the progress of ringing, during the 50 years with which he had been associated with it, and that was the formation of the Central Council of Change Ringers, whose honoured president was with them that night. No institution could succeed unless it was founded on discipline and respect for authority. He claimed respect for the Central Council. It gave cohesion to the ringers and ringing societies. Occasionally one hears murmurs against it, and that it did not perform any useful functions, but he could assure them that was not the case. It was the head of the great institution of change ringers in this country. He also appealed to all ringers to support their societies and the respective officers of their societies, to cultivate an esprit de corps, to work in unison, to avoid petty disputes and petty jealousies, and try to be worthy of the magnificent art which they practised (applause).

Mr. A. Paddon Smith, in a racy speech, proposed the toast of 'The Visitors.' It had been the great good fortune of the society, he said, to have with them at their annual gatherings considerable numbers of representative clergymen and laymen, and that night was no exception to the rule; in fact, he thought it was the biggest gathering of its kind which he had ever been privileged to attend. They bade the gentlemen of the cloth a most cordial welcome to the feast. He hoped they had enjoyed the dinner and the musical programme, and that their sermons on the morrow would be none the less interesting or elevating because they were there that night (laughter). He sometimes thought ringers had greater opportunities than even the clergy. The voice of the clergy could only reach the people actually assembled within the four walls of the church, but the voice of the bells, which the ringers operated, were flung far and wide over the busy street and market place, leading men, he hoped, sometimes to think of higher things, and of something over and above money making (applause).

Canon Bullock Webster replied to the toast, and said it had been a real delight to him, as Rector of St. Michael's Paternoster Royal, to welcome them at the church that evening, and he was glad of the opportunity of responding to that toast because it gave him the opportunity of saying that he wanted them to come again (hear, hear). And not only did he want them to come again, but he wanted them to come every year. They would be in very good company in so doing. There was a great revival among the city companies in this respect, and he was able to welcome to St. Michael's not only the Worshipful Company of Inn Holders, who had attended for many years, but also the Viners' Company, and, within the last two years two other city companies who had decided to inaugurate the annual election of Master in asking God's blessing on their labours, the Wire Drawers and the Glaziers. He ventured to say, therefore, that the College Youths would be in very good company. The only reason he hesitated to ask them to come every year was that he had only got one bell, whereas the neighbouring church of St. Magnus-the-Martyr had a magnificent peal of ten bells. The old church which stood on College Hill for many years grew into such a dilapidated condition that it was necessary to restore it. Sir Richard Whittington said he would build a new church, and not only did he build a new church, but he provided a college of clergy, consisting of a master and four fellows, with choristers. Such an impression did it make that some seemed to ignore the Church of St. Michael, and called in the Whittington College, and the church was regarded as the College Church, and when in 1637 the ringers decided to form themselves into a society they got leave to ring in that magnificent pile the peal of bells provided at Whittington's College. They also thought well to take the name of the College for the Ancient Society of College Youths. So he said they were coming back to their old home, and, if they felt sometimes they would like to go to a church where there was a peal of bells to do better honour of their society, then he would suggest they might take it alternate years at St. Magnus-the-Martyr and St. Michael's College Hill (applause).

The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn submitted the toast of 'The Press.' He first congratulated the Master on his successful year of office, and drew attention to the manual which had been used at the service that day. It was drawn up, he said, for the benefit of his own Guild, and also for the benefit of the ringers of all associations. He had already received several expressions of appreciation of the manual. He had had to undertake the responsibility of reprinting the book, and he asked those present, if they approved of the manual, to push it with their respective associations. It could be obtained direct from the S.P.C.K. or from any agent of the society, and the price was fourpence. Continuing, Mr. Jenkyn referred to the influence of the Press on public opinion. There were papers connected with all the many departments of their varied life, and they as ringers were thankful that they had a Press connected with ringing. He did not know whether ringers ever stopped to think what ringing societies would be like without it? Had they ever stopped to think what that gathering would have been like if it had not been for the Press? It would have entailed an enormous amount of extra work, and even with that extra work he doubted if they could have got together such a gathering as that. As Librarian to the Council, he paid a tribute of gratitude to 'The Ringing World' and its Editor. It was a very difficult thing to run a ringing paper, and he hoped that the officers of every Guild and Association would impress on their members to support 'The Ringing World,' by taking a copy. It was their one great link throughout the whole country, and if they had not that link they would lose an enormous amount of that fellowship, without which their ringing, in his opinion, would be worth very little (applause).

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith briefly replied to the toast, thanking the proposer for his kindly references to 'The Ringing World' and himself. A feature of the musical programme was again the handbell playing of Mrs. Hughes, who, to piano accompaniment, rendered 'Solweig's Song' (Greig), and 'Land of Hope and Glory' (Elgar). An encore was loudly demanded, and kindly complied with, a course of Stedman Cinques was rung on handbells by members of the society, and the songs included 'The Bandolero,' sung by Mr. J. Bullock, and

'Drake goes West,' by Mr. T. Warren, who was encored. Messrs. Bullock, Hawkins and Russell rang a selection of tunes on handbells, and Mr. H. Podger, who acted as accompanist, contributed a piano-forte solo. The enjoyable gathering concluded with 'Auld Lang Syne.'

Many visitors stayed over Sunday, when there was ringing at various churches, and in the evening a social gathering took place at 'The Coffee Pot.'

RESTORATION OF LONG MELFORD BELLS.

HEARD AGAIN AFTER 25 YEARS.

The bells of Long Melford Parish Church, Suffolk, have been restored, and on Saturday, November 1st, were rededicated at a special service by the Rev. H. Drake, of Ufford, hon. secretary of the Suffolk Guild. It is twenty-five years since Long Melford bells were rung in peal, but now they have been rebung, three of them recast, and all of them retuned, while the tower has also been placed in a satisfactory condition. The dedication was attended by a large congregation, and many ringers from neighbouring towers.—The Rector, in a statement, said many people of Melford would that day be hearing the bells for the first time. Those who remembered the peal as it used to be would be able to form some judgment as to whether there was any improvement in their tone and tunefulness. With regard to the work which had been done, the original eighteenth century oaken bell frame had been strengthened, and had been passed by the architect as being absolutely efficient, with an estimated future of not less than 150 years. The belfry floor had been so altered as to ensure the bells being heard evenly and correctly in the ringers' chamber, whilst certain of the bells, the second, sixth and seventh, had been recast. All had been retuned, and had been passed as correct in their striking and fundamental tones. In conclusion, he said the history of Melford Parish Church was one of a series of efforts at restoration, and there was still more work to be undertaken.

After the singing of the 96th Psalm, the clergy proceeded to the tower, where the act of dedication was performed by the Rev. H. Drake. Then for the first time the fine tones of the bells broke the silence.

The Rev. H. Drake based his address on the words: 'Woe is me if I preach not the gospel,' which appear round the waist of the great bell at St. Paul's Cathedral. He said for the first part of his life he lived within a short distance of the bell foundry at Loughborough, and he well remembered his father coming home and telling him that the greatest bell cast in England had that day been cast in the foundry. A few days later he went with his father to see that wonderful bell, which had been raised out of the casting pit and stood upside down in the foundry workshop. He remembered seeing Mr. Taylor, the grandfather of the present head of the firm, swing a large ball of metal backwards and forwards until it reached the bell, and they heard its wonderful sound for the first time. The words of his text were around the bell in large letters, and the bell was now known as 'Great Paul,' and hung in St. Paul's Cathedral. It was hoped at the time to put twenty tons of metal into the bell, but the cast would only take 17. It was to this same foundry that the bells they had just heard had been sent. Their beautiful tone was due to the modern system of tuning. They knew that these bells were not like the ancient bells in the church before the time of the great village. There were said to be at that period five great bells and one sanctus bell, which was afterwards sold, but bought back again and placed in a mission room in Melford. There were five great bells at the time of the Reformation. These had all gone, no doubt being recast at different periods. So it had gone on through the ages, and again they had their bells. The five bells before the Reformation were all baptised and anointed before being placed in the tower. That was not the custom now, and they might regret it or think it foolish. The idea was, however, that the bells were to be a type of Christians, that, just as churches were filled with pictures, stained glass windows or ornaments with their lessons, so also were the bells. It was for the bells to tell out the message, that they were to preach the gospel by their sound. There was no doubt that that was the reason why the authorities of St. Paul's decided upon the text on their bell.

The service concluded with the hymn, 'For all the Saints,' and a collection was taken on behalf of the Churchyard Improvement Fund.

Subsequently all the ringers present were entertained to tea by the Rector in the Parish Room, where Archdeacon Farmilow spoke a few words of welcome and encouragement. He said he felt proud to take a part in such a function. They were keen on the ringing of the church bells, and were glad that one more tower was added to those in the diocese. One of the best things about ringers was that they were always ready to help their neighbours. He was sure they wished the ringers at Long Melford a successful future with their tower, and they would look forward to great help and support from the ringers.

The Rector (the Rev. R. S. Bree) thanked all for coming, and hoped that that day would mark a new period of history in Long Melford Church. They looked forward to getting a Melford company of ringers for Melford bells, but they would always be proud to welcome surrounding members to the tower (applause).

During the afternoon touches of Grandsire Triples, Bob Major and Kent Treble Bob were rung.

KENT'S NEW PEAL OF TEN.DEDICATION OF TWO TREBLES AT ST. LAWRENCE, THANET.

The two new trebles at St. Lawrence, Thanet, to increase the peal to ten, were dedicated on Sunday, Nov. 9th, at the morning service. Immediately after the second lesson, a procession was formed in the vestry, in the following order: Clergy; St. Lawrence company of ringers; two R.A.F. non-commissioned officers; two representatives of the young men of the parish; parishioners who served in the fighting forces; two representatives of the congregation; officers of the R.A.F.; the wardens; the preacher (the Rev. Herbert Bull, M.A.); the Vicar (the Rev. A. G. Wilcox, M.A., hon. C.F.); the Mayor; Dame Janet Slancombe-Wills, O.B.E.; Mrs. Wilcox (representing the bereaved families and visiting clergy).

The procession passed down the south-west aisle and up the centre immediately under the tower, the ringers falling out on each side for the remainder of the procession to come up into their places. The Vicar then dedicated the bell of 'Thanksgiving,' and after it had been rung by the Mayor the congregation joined in singing the Doxology. The Vicar then dedicated the bell of 'Remembrance,' which Mrs. Wilcox rang on behalf of the bereaved families. The congregation then joined in singing the hymn, 'How bright these glorious spirits shine.'

The procession returned, and the anthem, 'Blessed are the dead,' was sung, and special prayers were said for the ringers and those who should listen to the call of the bells. After the sermon, the ringers' hymn was followed by the National Anthem, and as the congregation were leaving the church the full peal of bells was rung.

At the evening service, the bells were half-muffled for the Armistice service, when some good touches of Grandsire Caters and Stedman Caters were brought round. During the day ringers representing most of the towers in East Kent were present.

The work has been carried out by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, and great credit is due to them. The 'go' and the tone is everything that can be desired.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.MONTHLY PRACTICES INTRODUCED.

On Saturday, November 8th, a most enjoyable afternoon and evening was spent at Whitwick, members numbering about 18, being present from various parts, including Hugglescote, Ashby-de-la-Zouch, Quarndon, Loughborough, and the local tower.

During the afternoon and evening some beautifully struck touches of Grandsire Triples, Stedman and Bob Major were brought round, one new ringer ringing his first 500 of Grandsire Triples on an inside bell.

Canon T. W. Walters presided over the meeting.

The secretary brought forward questions of the proposed monthly practice meetings, which, after a considerable amount of discussion was carried unanimously. The idea is to promote better striking, also to raise the standard of, and introduce new, methods, also to give a chance to ringers who, between the monthly meetings do not get an opportunity of ringing much above Doubles, although, perhaps, possessing eight bells.

The first practice meeting is to be held at Whitwick on Saturday, November 22nd, these particular meetings to be separately arranged at monthly meetings, the next taking place at Shepshed on Dec. 6th.

A vote of sympathy was passed with Canon Broughton (Archdeacon of Loughborough), who had been taken ill rather suddenly, and who was to have given the address.

Some of the ringers were kindly entertained to tea by Canon T. W. Walters, and a vote of thanks was passed to him for his eloquent address, and his kind permission for the use of the bells.

DEVON GUILD PEAL AT LAUNCESTON.

The peal at St. Stephen's-by-Launceston, Cornwall, on Saturday week, was the outcome of the Exeter ringers' visit during the past summer. The bells, which have been augmented from six to eight, and rehung in a steel frame by Messrs. Taylor and Co., Loughborough, are a most musical ring, and the 'go' is perfection, so that it only required the Vicar's permission to make the attempt. This the Vicar (Canon E. Dewe) readily gave, and saw to the comfort of the ringers before starting. It is only fair to the ringers and bellhanger to say an excellent and well-struck peal was accomplished. The Vicar heartily congratulated the band at the finish, as also did the Rev. Maitland Kelly, who had heard over an hour of the ringing. The former kindly invited the ringers to the Vicarage for refreshments, and the hospitality was much appreciated.

It is hoped that a help has been given to the Truro Guild, and that the local ringers will join up and assist their county guild in its good work.

CARDIFF.—On Thursday, Oct. 30th, after meeting one short for a peal of Stedman Caters, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes), in 50 mins.: W. Biss (conductor) 1, J. Bailey 2, J. Davies 3, G. Large 4, A. Parnell 5, S. Dawe 6, J. W. Jones 7, S. R. Barker 8.

MR. E. V. RODENHURST'S 100 PEALS.

Mr. E. V. Rodenhurst, of Keystone, Salop, has just completed his first 100 peals. The record is a meritorious one, inasmuch as there is practically no change ringing in his own district, and he has had to travel anything from fifty to seventy miles for nine out of ten of them. The list is as follows: Stedman Cinques 1, Kent Treble Bob Royal 3, Bob Royal 1, Stedman Caters 2, Grandsire Caters 1, Double Norwich Major 19, Kent Treble Bob Major 23 (including 7,488, 9,344, 10,400 (longest peal in Wales) and 17,280 (Treble Bob Record), Oxford Treble Bob Major 4, Bob Major 7, Stedman Triples 7, Grandsire Triples 20 (conducted 2), on handbells 1, Minor (1 to 4 methods) 5, Doubles (1 to 4 methods) 5, on handbells 1; total, 100. Rung in 51 towers, in seven counties, for seven associations.

THE FIRST MUFFLED PEAL.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In reply to Mr. Laffin's letter in 'The Ringing World' of Oct. 31st, re 'The first Muffled Peal,' I am pleased to inform him that the original placard of the peal has been glazed and framed, and is placed among other peal boards in the belfry of SS. Peter and Paul's Church, Bromley, where the peal was rung. The record was 'rescued' from 'Ye Olde Rising Sun,' together with our peal book, over 50 years ago, and has been in its present position ever since. Mr. Laffin speaks of a 'crude drawing' at the head of the placard. He, and others, will be interested to learn whose work this was. The drawing and the writing were by (we presume) a relation of one of the ringers, viz., C. T. Giles, whose age was 12 years.—Yours, etc.,

P. SPICE,

Secretary, Bromley Youths.

KING'S NORTON BELLS.A GREAT IMPROVEMENT ON THE OLD PEAL.

About three years ago the ringers of King's Norton Parish Church approached the churchwardens, recommending that the bells be rehanging on new fittings. The matter was taken up, and expert opinions sought, the result being that a committee was formed to deal with the work.

Mr. F. B. Yates, a gentleman highly respected in the parish, and an enthusiastic lover of ringing, was appointed chairman. Mr. W. E. Moore, people's warden, schoolmaster and lay reader, of King's Norton, undertook the work of hon. secretary. Other members of the committee were Messrs. Boffey, Vicar's warden, Izon and Nicholls, members of the Church Council; Laffin, Williams and Webb, members of the local ringing band; and the Vicar of the parish. The committee got to work, and decided to recast the peal, except the 4th bell, which had been recast in 1905, and to rehanging the bells on new ball bearings, fitting them with new wheels and iron head stocks. It was really a bold move to recast the peal, since it was acknowledged to be already a good one, as far as Birmingham peals go. Also, there was known to be some local prejudice against the proposal. The bells, however, were a mixed lot, and not musically true in the major diatonic scale. The committee decided to improve them, and not having at any time any official objection from anybody in the parish to overcome, applied, through the Church Council, for a faculty to restore the peal. They were determined to secure the best peal possible with the money at their disposal for, and in keeping with, their ancient church.

On Saturday, November 1st (All Saints' Day) the recast bells were dedicated by the Lord Bishop of Birmingham in the presence of a large congregation. After the prayer of dedication the following local ringers ascended the tower, and had the honour of ringing the bells for the first time: P. O. Laffin 1, F. B. Yates 2, W. E. Moore 3, H. Williams 4, W. Ball 5, C. Webb 6, J. Bettleton 7, J. Withers 8.

After the service, a meat tea was provided for local and visiting ringers.—The Vicar presided, and expressed his pleasure in seeing so many ringers present.

Responding on behalf of the visitors, Mr. A. E. Parsons, of Old Hill, Staffs, stated that prior to that afternoon he had misgivings as to the wisdom of interfering with the old peal. Now after having heard and rung the new bells he was delighted to state that they were a distinct improvement on the old ones in every way. The committee had, he thought, every reason to be proud of them, and of the results of their very successful undertaking.

During the evening, several touches were rung, the ringers all expressing their delight with the sound and the 'go' of the bells. The people of King's Norton are delighted with the new peal and congratulations are pouring in from all quarters. Naturally, the chairman of the committee and the secretary are very proud of the achievements.

The work of restoration was carried out by Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, who are to be congratulated on the excellence of their work.

The arrangements for tea were admirably carried out by Mesdames Moore, Yates, Izon, Williams Laffin, Webb and Ball.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A most successful meeting of the South and West District of the Middlesex Association and London Diocesan Guild was held at Hillingdon on Saturday, when close upon 50 members and friends attended from Acton, Chelsea, Clapham, Camberwell, Chiswick, Ealing, Fulham, Isleworth, Staines, Tooting, Windsor, Willesden, and the local company.

Ringings commenced shortly after 3 p.m. (under the leadership of the Master (Mr. Robert Holloway), and at 5 p.m. a short service, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. H. J. Kilcat) took place, and was much appreciated by all.

After service, an adjournment was made to the Church School, where an excellent tea had been arranged by the hon. secretary and lady friends.

At the business meeting following, four new members were elected, namely, Miss E. Chapman, Miss E. Harcastle, Miss F. E. Orr, and Miss Robinson, daughter of the late Rev. F. E. Robinson, so well known to the ringing world.

The customary vote of thanks to the Vicar, choir and friends, who kindly put their shoulder to the wheel to make the last monthly meeting of the year such a success was heartily given.

'What's Wrong?' the leader in 'The Ringing World' of November 7th, came under a little comment, but at the end of a most successful year everyone agreed 'All's well.'

LONDON BELFRIES.

About a year ago, in this column, we commented upon the neglected state of some of London's bells, and suggested that combined action might be taken by the London ringing societies to endeavour to bring about an improvement. As far as we are aware, however, nothing whatever was done, but at the College Youths' dinner the other night, the Master of the Cumberlands referred to the very unsatisfactory condition of some of the belfries of the Metropolis. There were belfries, he said, which were not fit for pigs, let alone ringers. Now this is a strong indictment, and it is a disgrace to the authorities of any church that such a stricture should be possible. There ought to be means of bringing home to those responsible the urgent need for improvement in the condition of these neglected belfries.

The bells are some of the most valuable of church property, and to permit their dilapidation is, in principle, as blameworthy as to allow the organ to remain in disrepair. The organ, however, is a favoured instrument, and has to be maintained at all costs, but the bells—well, if they cannot be rung, let them be chimed; if they cannot all be chimed, let one suffice. The bells are not a part of the service in which the clergy are concerned—therefore it does not matter whether they are in usable order or otherwise. This, we fear, is the line of thought which influences the action, or rather inaction, of those authorities where long years of neglect has told its sorry tale among the bells.

And the same unfortunate views must, apparently, be held in regard to the ringing chambers. Clergy and Church Councils would no more think of allowing the choir vestries to become places unfit for pigs than of permitting the chancel to become derelict or 'uninhabitable,' but some of them do not seem to realise that the ringers are entitled to equal treatment in that part of the church to which their duties call them. Mr. Matthews did well to ventilate this subject in the presence of a number of London's clergy, and we could only wish that his audience had included some of the 'culprits,' instead of those whose presence showed that they, at any rate, appreciated the services which ringers render to the church. It is, however, open to the London ringing societies to bring these matters home to the powers that be, and we would repeat the suggestion that there should be combined action between the organisations covering the London and Suburban areas. Let this fact not be lost sight of: the opportunities for peal ringing in London are not as great as they were, say, four years ago, and, if the Metropolitan Societies are to maintain their facilities, it looks as if they will have to extend the number of available towers, as peal attempts in specific belfries become more limited. If for no other reason, the renovation of bells and belfries is an important one to them all.

Pullinger, of North Stoneham), also Mr. and Mrs. Melville, of Guildford. Ringing commenced shortly before 4 p.m., and at 4.45 the Guild's form of service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. C. E. Lefroy). Tea was afterwards served at the Parish Hall, having been arranged for by Mr. Woodrow.

At the business meeting, the Vicar occupied the chair. The report and balance sheet for the year were presented by the hon. secretary (Mr. J. B. Hessey). The receipts amounted to £10 11s. 10d., and expenditure to £4 11s. 9d., leaving a balance of £6 0s. 1d. in hand.

The Ringing Master (Mr. H. J. Chaffey) gave a report of the work in the district. He was pleased to say that the Farnborough band had rejoined the Guild, and a meeting was to be held there next year. Proposed meetings for 1925 were: Ottershaw, Farnborough, Egham and Yorktown (annual).

A vote of thanks was given to the Vicar for his kindness, and also to Mr. F. Shepherd for his valuable service at the organ. Further ringing was afterwards enjoyed up to 8.30 p.m.

AN INTERESTING RESTORATION.

Mr. J. E. Groves, of Birmingham, has recently rehung the bells at Denstone Parish Church, Staffs. It was on these bells that the late Sir Arthur Percival Heywood learnt to ring, and his son, Lieut.-Col. Sir Percival Heywood, Bart., D.S.O., is the present churchwarden. The bells (4) are hung in a round turret only 5ft. 11in. in diameter. Among other work Mr. Groves has in hand is the restoration of the bells at Harborne, Staffs; Bromyard, Herefordshire; Bromham, Wilts; St. Nicholas', Hereford, etc.

NORTHAMPTON.—At St. Edmund's Church, on Thursday, Oct. 2nd, for harvest thanksgiving service, 1,260 Grandsire Triples: F. Barrett 1, W. Gamunage 2, I. Bennett 3, J. Netherell 4, J. Mackay 5, B. Soden (conductor) 6, T. Tebbutt 7, H. Marlow 8. Also on the following Sunday, for morning service, 1,120 Rob Major: F. Barrett 1, G. Townsend 2, H. Marlow 3, T. Tebbutt 4, J. Mackay 5, I. Bennett 6, B. Soden 7, J. Metherell (conductor) 8.

HIGH WYCOMBE AND THE OXFORD GUILD.

Dear Sir,—The letter from Mr. Barker shows a change of front. After writing an epistle in which he accuses the Wycombe men of unfriendliness to the Guild, hindering the efforts of others, the wilful clashing of dates, and such like, he leads off this week with 'sobstuff' about personalities and the mixing of colours. May we suggest that this official saw 'red' when our notice appeared in your columns; but that this has now changed to 'white.' He would have us believe he is anxious for less criticism of one who, he says, is unable at present to defend himself; yet at the same time he accuses that person of open defiance; and then seeks confirmation from a third party. How consistent!

Again, when refused a tower, put out of court by a higher authority than his, he professes to repudiate that ruling; but when the same tower announces a meeting 'on their own,' he blusters and raves about no official status or authority. When taken to task for an impudent interference in the affairs of an individual belfry, he yells loudly about abuse. He started the ball rolling—we still have a kick left. He suggests that Wycombe is trying to force their will on the Guild. May we remind your readers, sir, that at largely attended meetings at Boyne Hill and Wooburn, a resolution asking for a change of meeting-place was carried enthusiastically, with one dissentient—Mr. Barker, then an unattached member? But, after all, let us get back to the point at issue in this controversy, which seems to resolve itself into this 'That no tower can hold a meeting of its own, for fear some "Jack-in-Office" will butt in either to approve or condemn.'—Yours faithfully,

GEORGE TWITCHEN.

Hon. Sec., Wycombe Belfry.

MEMORIAL TO MAIDSTONE RINGER.

On Sunday evening, November 2nd, the Rev. T. K. Sopwith, M.A. (Vicar) dedicated a tablet erected in the tower of All Saints' Church, Maidstone, to the memory of the late Mr. Thomas Mannering. The ceremony took place in the presence of deceased ringer's relations, and many ringing friends.

The tablet is of Sicilian marble, with polished slate back, and the inscription reads: 'In memory of Thomas Mannering, a faithful son of the church, for 22 years captain of All Saints' ringers, district representative on the Central Committee, conductor of many peals rung in Kent, member of St. Peter's choir, who died May 4th, 1923, aged 53. Deeply respected and greatly valued. The tablet was erected by the Kent Association of Change Ringers.'

BELFRY GOSSIP.

We are glad to notice that the committee of the Kent County Association has led the way in voting four guineas to the Washbrook Memorial Fund. If the other associations will follow suit, the task before the committee will be greatly lightened, and a scheme, even larger than that proposed, may be possible.

The lightest peal of ten in the country, the bells at Loughborough Foundry, were rung on Saturday to a peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal. The tenor is only 6½ cwt., so that the bells at the light end, which run on ball bearings, require delicate handling.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Barker, who have been training a band of youths at Stoke Poges, have now had the satisfaction of ringing a peal with four of them. Of the boys, who have now scored as their first 5,000, seven 720's of Kent Treble Bob, three are 15 years of age, and one 17.

After having been laid aside for 13 months with septic rheumatism, Mr. C. W. P. Clifton, of Lincoln, has been able to resume work. His many friends will congratulate him on his restored health.

The Lord Bishop of Bristol has promised to attend the Bristol United Ringing Guild's fourth annual dinner. There is great hope that the Lord Mayor of Bristol will also attend. He will do so if his civic arrangements permit him.

Peals will be arranged for visitors attending the Bristol United Guild's dinner. Start 2.30 p.m., and anyone desiring to take part should communicate early with the hon. secretary.

This week we record the first peal on another ancient ring of bells. A peal of Minor was rung on Saturday at East Carlton, Northants, where Joseph Eayre, of St. Neots, installed the bells in the year 1755.

The first 'silent' peal of Stedman Triples was rung at Burton-on-Trent on November 20th, 1886. The band was C. H. Hattersley, J. Carter, H. Bastable, J. Griffin, S. Reeves, W. Wakley, J. Jaggard, and A. Thomas.

The Society of City Scholars rang a peal of 6,012 Grandsire Caters at Cripplegate, London, on November 23rd, 1732.

The first peal on the present ring of twelve at St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich, was 5,170 Grandsire Cinques, rung on Nov. 25rd, 1775.

Peals of Oxford Treble Bob Maximus on handbells are a very rare occurrence. The first was rung on November 24th, 1816. Can any of our readers give us particulars of one rung since?

November 25th is the anniversary of a peal of 15,120 Bob Major, rung in 8 hrs. 40 mins., at West Ham, by the Society of Eastern Scholars, in the year 1737.

A peal of 6,006 Grandsire Cinques was rung at St. Chad's, Shrewsbury, on November 25th, 1799.

At Chislehurst, Kent, where the bells have just been quarter-turned and rebung by Mr. T. Groombridge, junr., a peal of Bob Major has been rung in honour of the installation of Sir Alfred Bower as Lord Mayor of London. Sir Alfred is a resident of Chislehurst. It is an interesting coincidence, as well as something of a record, that the last peal of Major in the tower was rung for the installation of Sir George Truscott as Lord Mayor in 1908. He was also a resident of Chislehurst.

Mr. James George, who rang the treble in the birthday peal at Tipton, for Mr. Wm. Rock Small, was the only member present who took part in the peal when the composition (one by Mr. John Carter) was rung for the first time at St. Alkmund's, Whitchurch, on October 9th, 1894. Mr. Small also rang in the peal at Whitchurch. By the way, Mr. George will celebrate his 71st birthday on Nov. 27th.

Mr. R. Richards, of the Cathedral band, Newcastle, has just been operated on for the fifth time in two years. It has been found necessary to amputate one of his legs, but on Sunday he was reported to be doing well. His many friends wish him a speedy recovery, and hope soon to see him among them again.

In our columns this week will be found reports of peals in no fewer than six Surprise methods. In addition to peals of Cambridge Royal, there are peals of Superlative, Cambridge, London, Bristol, Yorkshire and Rochester Surprise.

PRESERVATION OF BELLS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Will the Exercise please take notice that 'On the preservation of bells, etc.' is again included in the list of Central Council publications in your advertisement columns? A considerable number of new copies, which were purchased in bulk some time ago, have been offered to me. From applications I have had to refuse recently, I believe there is still a demand for this book.—Yours truly,
CYRIL W. O. JENKYN.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.FOUR GUINEAS VOTED TO THE WASHBROOK MEMORIAL.

The Central Committee held their November meeting last Saturday at Canterbury. Among other items of business it was decided to hold the annual general meeting next year on Easter Monday at Folkestone.

The sum of £5 was granted from the Belfry Repairs Fund towards the augmentation of St. Lawrence, Thanet. The sum of £4 4s. was voted towards the Washbrook Memorial Fund.

The possibility of establishing some headquarters was mooted, but no definite conclusion was reached. The secretary was empowered to approach the authorities at the Maidstone Museum, the Canterbury Free Library, and the Cathedral Library.

It was also decided to affiliate the association to the 'Association of men of Kent and Kentish men.'

ASHFORD DISTRICT.

A meeting of the Ashford District was held at Tenterden on Saturday, Nov. 15th. Touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Bob and Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Major were rung before service, at which the Vicar (the Rev. M. L. Man) officiated. Mr. W. E. Pitman, Mus.Bac., presided at the organ, and the Vicar gave a very helpful address on unity, fellowship and brotherhood. About 50 afterwards sat down to tea, the Vicar presiding.

At the business meeting, the Vicar was elected as an honorary member of the association.—A vote of thanks was accorded him for the service and address, and in reply, he heartily welcomed the association, and hoped to have the pleasure of meeting them again at Tenterden.

The tower was then visited, and the ringing included a course of Double Norwich.

The visitors from other districts included Messrs. Pitman and Castle from the Canterbury district; C. H. Sone, district secretary, Maidstone district; and T. E. Sone and W. H. Lambert, Tonbridge districts. There were also present four lady members of the district, viz., Mrs. Gatehouse, Mrs. H. Baker, Mrs. Button and Miss Rose Thomas.

NORTH NOTTS ASSOCIATION.SUGGESTED RESTORATION OF HARTHILL BELLS.

On Saturday last the members of the North Notts Association met at Harthill. The day had been looked forward to for some considerable time, as the members were anxious to meet the new Rector (the Rev. P. E. Boswell) and enrol him as vice-president, and also to ring in the cool weather, which November affords, on the hard going and heavy ring at All Hallows' Church. When the weather is warm it is almost impossible to ring these bells for more than 15 minutes at a stretch.

Ringers were present from Anston, Barlborough, Killamarsh, Shire-oaks and Worksop, and the local company also mustered well. The following methods were rung during the afternoon and evening: Kent, Violet, Duke of York, and Cambridge and London Surprise.

Tea was provided at the Church Institute in good style by the members of the Ladies' Working Guild, who were accorded a hearty vote of thanks for their kind services. The next meeting was arranged to be held at Tuxford early in the New Year.

The Rev. P. E. Boswell was enrolled a vice-president, the Rector thanking the members for their unanimous vote.

The Hon. Secretary (Mr. H. Haigh) remarked there was one matter that had been in the minds of all the members for many years, viz., the bad 'go' of Harthill bells, and also the fact that they were very much out of tune. The late Rector (Canon Darley), who was for 28 years a vice-president of the association, and for 17 years of that time the honorary secretary, had a great desire to have the whole peal recast and rehung, and made into a ring of eight. This was one of the most interesting subjects Canon Darley discussed whenever he met the ringers, and but for the war there was no doubt they would have had a beautiful peal of eight bells in that tower instead of the heavy-going peal of six of to-day. He (the speaker) understood steps were to be taken very shortly to restore the church, and if the bells could be included in the scheme the association would do everything possible to help it forward.

Several members joined in the discussion, and the Rector replied showing his hearty sympathy with the ringers in their work on Sundays and practice nights throughout the year. He loved to hear bells skillfully rung, although he was not a ringer himself, and he promised to bring the subject before the Church Council and the church working party with a view to including the restoration of the church generally and of the bells in one comprehensive scheme.

The Hon. Secretary thanked the Rector for his sympathy and support, and mentioned that the late Rector was a practical ringer, and invariably attended all the association's ringing meetings during the time he was honorary secretary, and the restoration of the bells would gladden the heart of one who had done so much for the association. Let them ever keep his memory green!

A hearty vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells, and for presiding over tea and meeting, brought the meeting to a close.

WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.ANNUAL MEETING OF PORTSMOUTH DISTRICT.

The annual meeting was held at Portsmouth on Saturday last, when the peal of eight at St. Mary's were available during the afternoon and evening. Members and visitors to the number of 30 attended from Fareham, Gosport, North Stoughton, Portsmouth (St. Mary's and St. Thomas'), Ryde, Swanmore, Wickham and Winchester. The visitors included Mr. G. Williams (Master), and Messrs. A. D. Stone (Brighton) and A. T. Lovejoy (Reading).

A short service was held in the church, the curates officiating, in the absence of the Vicar (the Rev. J. F. L. Southam). The members were very grateful for the services at the organ of Mr. D. C. Williams, F.R.C.O., who added to the enjoyment of the service. The members afterwards proceeded to the Institute, where a good spread awaited them.

The business meeting was next proceeded with, Mr. W. Tate occupying the chair. The district report for the past year was read by the secretary (Mr. F. W. Rogers). It stated that during the year meetings had been held at Fareham, Curdridge, Privett and Titchfield, the attendance at each being 31, 39, 45 and 21 respectively, an average of 34 members and friends, and also 12 towers. The ringing, which had been quite up to standard, had included the standard methods, also Cambridge, Superlative, London, Bristol and Berkeley Surprise Major. The number of full members accounted for was 83, compared with 97 in the previous year, not due to a numerical reduction in numbers, but rather to the fact that there was a slackness on the part of some to pay subscriptions due. It was hoped an improvement would be effected during the coming year. There was an increase in unattached, compounding and probationary members, but the district had lost one of its honorary members due to the removal from Wickham of Col. Farquhar to Winchester. At all the meetings arranged during the past year a service has been held, at which the incumbent had addressed the members assembled. The secretary asked, in conclusion, for the co-operation during the coming year of the members with the district secretary and representatives so that they might embark on a year of brotherhood, prosperity and progress.

The balance sheet, which was presented to the members by the district auditor (Mr. H. G. Reynolds) showed receipts amounting to £11 9s., and expenditure to £5 2s. 11d., leaving a balance to the general treasurer of £6 6s. 1d.

Three full members and one probationer were elected viz., Messrs. Hennings, Lovejoy, Paterson and R. Page.

All the district officers were re-elected, viz., Chairman, Mr. W. Tate; secretary, Mr. F. W. Rogers; Central Committee, Messrs. W. Tate and H. G. Smith; auditor, Mr. H. G. Reynolds.

It was decided to hold the next quarterly meeting at Petersfield on Saturday, March 7th, 1925 due notice of which will be given in 'The Ringing World.'

Votes of thanks, on the proposition of the Chairman, were accorded to the clergy for the use of the bells and for conducting the service, the organist, and also to Mrs. Fuller and her helpers for providing the tea. This concluded the business meeting, after which the members adjourned to the tower. During the day, the ringing included the standard methods, and also Superlative, Cambridge and London Surprise Major.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The Southern district of the above Association held a very successful meeting at St. Mary's, Putney, on Saturday. Members attended from various parts of London, and the bells were set going a few minutes after the appointed hour of four o'clock. A good many touches of the most popular methods were rung until a stop was called for tea.

At the business meeting, it was resolved that Mr. J. Herbert should act as auditor for the year. Afterwards a move was again made to the church, where more members had arrived. Some good touches of Stedman, Kent, Double Norwich and Cambridge were brought round. Unfortunately a stop had to be made at eight o'clock, and brought to a conclusion a very pleasant meeting.

The ringers wish to thank the Vicar and also Mr. Bolton for the use of the tower.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Biggleswade district was held at Southill on Saturday, November 8th. The attendance was small, but the ringing was good. Tea was provided at the White Horse Inn, to which ten sat down, being members and friends from Sandy, Roxton, Everton, Clifton, Letchworth and Buckden with Canon W. W. C. Baker.

It was proposed to hold the annual meeting at Biggleswade on Saturday, December 6th, if convenient, or, failing Biggleswade, at Sandy, when it is hoped a good company will be present.

A vote of thanks to Canon W. W. C. Baker for the use of the bells and for providing tea for those present, brought the business to a close.

The tower was again visited, the methods practised being Stedman Doubles, Grandsire Doubles, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, College Single, Single Court, Cambridge Surprise, Woodbine and Plain Bob.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

NORTHERN DIVISION TO BE SUB-DIVIDED.

A meeting of the Northern Division of the Yorkshire Association, was, at the kind invitation of the Rev. E. Drage, Vicar of Pickering, and vice-president of the Association, held at Pickering on Saturday, November 8th.

There was a large and representative gathering of ringers present, the chief towers represented being Thirsk, Helmsley, Middlesborough, Thornaby, Salthurn, Scarborough, Leeds, Bradford, Halifax, and Pickering.

Throughout the afternoon and evening, the fine peal of eight bells, which were placed in the tower of the Parish Church as a war memorial, were kept in full swing, the methods rung including Grand-sire, Stedman and Treble Boh.

Apart from the splendid ringing enjoyed by the more experienced ringers, the meeting proved a valuable help to the younger members.

In the unavoidable absence of the Vicar of Pickering, through indisposition, the Rev. C. C. Marshall, president of the association, presided at the meeting, supported by Mr. J. Cotterell (treasurer).

The principal business of the day was the consideration of plans for the more efficient working of the Northern Division. Although considerable progress has been made in this district since its reorganisation in 1919, it has long been felt that it would greatly help the work if this widespread and scattered area could be divided into two districts.

After careful consideration it was decided to try this plan for a time, appointing a Ringing Master for each district. Mr. Barker, of Marske, was elected Ringing Master for the Northern District, and Mr. Ferguson, of Scarborough, for the Southern District.

Each district is to hold three ringing meetings every year, and there is to be one annual meeting of the whole Northern Division, to be held in June. It is hoped all towers affected by these plans will do their best to help those in charge to make the work a success.

The meeting ended with a vote of thanks to the Rev. C. C. Marshall and to Mr. Cotterell for coming the long distance from Leeds and Bradford, respectively, in the interests of the ringers in the North; and to the Rev. E. Drage and the ringers of Pickering for the enjoyable day they had afforded their ringing friends.

Mr. Cotterell and his friends were able to stay the night in Pickering, and assisted in ringing for the special Armistice service on Sunday morning.

CHANGING THE RINGERS.

DEVON VICAR'S ACTION.

The Witheridge, Devon, correspondent writes as follows in the current issue of the 'South Molton Ruridecanal Magazine':—

'The time has come when, in the considered opinion of the Vicar, new arrangements should be made in the important matter of ringing the bells for service, and on other occasions. In the first place, it is well to remember that a bell ringer is an office-bearer in the church. It is, therefore, most expedient that anyone who executes this office should be a convinced churchman. It is also desirable, in these times of progress in campanology, that a ringer should be willing to take at least a little step forward in the art to which he is dedicating his services. For these and other reasons, it has been thought wise to make two simple conditions for those who aspire to a place in the belfry. First, they should be churchmen who recognise the duty of attending the services to which they are summoning others. Secondly, they should be ready to attend some instruction (which will be provided) in change ringing as an addition to the ordinary round-ringing which has prevailed for so long.

'Simple as these conditions are, we find any number of persons ready to point out difficulties. Of course, there are difficulties, especially in country places. But difficulties (in the common phrase) were made to be overcome. At the moment, we are asking for men who are ready to join a band of ringers formed, as we believe, on the only possible lines which will give satisfaction. The Vicar will be glad to hear from any who are interested in the work, and who are willing to offer their services in accordance with the simple terms that are specified above. To those of the late band of ringers who, for various reasons, have found themselves unable to accept the conditions, the Vicar has already expressed the thanks of the parishioners for their past services. To such of them as are able to accept the new arrangement, the door is as wide open as it is to others who are willing to do so.'

CENTENARIAN HONOURED.

At Ford End, near Chelmsford, on Saturday, Nov. 8th, Mrs. Archer celebrated her one hundredth birthday. In honour of the event, members of the Felsted Guild rang 720 of Bob Minor and 120 Grand-sire Doubles on the bells of Ford End Parish Church: R. Haslen 1, A. Shuffelbottom 2, A. H. Farrow 3, H. Ebert 4, W. T. Farrow 5, J. Wood 6. This is the first 720 that has been rung on the bells for over 30 years, as the tower was considered unsafe. Through the energy of the Vicar and friends, however, the fabric has now been restored.

BLETCHLEY BELLS RE-OPENED.

The opening of the bells at St. Mary's Church, Bletchley, was carried out on Saturday, November 1st (All Saints' Day), when they were re-dedicated by the Lord Bishop of Buckingham (the Right Rev. H. P. Elliot). There was a very large congregation, and a number of clergy, who were hon. members of the North Bucks Branch of the Oxford Guild, were present, those taking part being the Rev. F. W. Bennett (Vicar of St. Mary's, Bletchley), the Rev. G. H. Field (Milton Keynes), who read the lesson, the Rev. E. Mostyn Ellis (Newton Longville), and the Rev. C. R. Wheeler (Fenny Stratford), who acted as Bishop's chaplain. The service was fully choral, and hymns taken from the ringers' service book. An anthem, rendered by the choir, was taken from Tennyson's poem, 'Ring out, Wild Bells.' During the service the Bishop and clergy proceeded to the belfry, where the Bishop handed the care of the bells to the Rector, and, as the procession returned the bells were rung by the local ringers.

The Bishop's address dealt with bells and their uses, expectation, but, thanks to the ladies, there was sufficient to go round, and everyone was satisfied.

After the service, both ringers and congregation adjourned to the Schools, where tea had been provided by the ringers' wives and lady friends. About 130 sat down, a number greatly in excess of expectation.

After tea, the Rector cordially welcomed the Bishop, and thanked him for attending. Thanks were also expressed to Major Chadwick for his professional assistance as architect, both in giving advice and supervising the work during construction, and to mark this appreciation he was presented with a pair of oak candlesticks made from the old bell frame which had been in the tower since 1712.

—Major Chadwick suitably responded, and thanked the contractors, Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, for the thorough and efficient manner in which they had carried out the work. He was glad to say that there was no apparent vibration in the bell frame.

Mr. Harry Sear said that he would also like to thank Mr. Taylor, and to let him know that the ringers were well satisfied with the way the bells went. It appeared to them that the whole peal had practically been recast instead of only the 5th bell.—Mr. Taylor, in reply, said how pleased he was the work had given satisfaction. From the ringers' side it would be good to know that the bearings of the bells would not require lubrication for ten years. He hoped soon to see a peal rung on them.

Mr. W. Sear, secretary of North Bucks Branch, expressed regret at the unavoidable absence of the Master (Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn), but he was pleased to tell them that the Oxford Guild was represented by the Guild secretary (Mr. R. T. Hibbert). He also thanked the visiting ringers for attending on such a wet day, which showed a certain amount of interest existed among the kindred associations, those represented including ringers from Bedfordshire, Northants, Towcester and District Association, also the veteran, Mr. James George, of Birmingham.

After the meeting, all were anxious to have a pull on the bells, and they were kept going until 8 p.m., the methods ranging from Grandsire to Cambridge Major.

THE WASHBROOK MEMORIAL.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I do not think that Mr. J. R. Jerram is by any means 'playing the game.' He should realise: (1) That the committee appointed to deal with this matter have had the advice of competent bell founders and bell hangers; (2) have weighed the 'pros' and 'cons' of the two towers suggested; (3) that one job can be done £100 less than the other; and (4) that if sufficient money be forthcoming the committee are open to consider a larger scheme.

Bell founding of the present day is a very different proposition to that of one hundred years ago; and little bells are cast and tuned and admired, which are quite as light as the two trebles would be if added to St. Ebbe's, Oxford.

Letters like the two from Mr. Jerram will have the effect of preventing some people from sending a subscription at all. I would suggest that instead of throwing a 'cold douche' on this laudable endeavour, Mr. Jerram should send a substantial donation, or, better still, give one or both the bells. I would ask any member of the Exercise who reads 'The Ringing World' to remember that every little helps, and to send his contribution to Mr. A. J. Wright, 40 Hamilton Road, Reading.—Yours faithfully,

RICHARD T. HIBBERT.

THE BRISTOL NON-CONDUCTED PEAL.

On Tuesday, November 4th, the Bristol United Ringing Guilds held their monthly practice at St. Stephen's, instead of at St. Nicholas.

During the meeting, the Rev. R. H. Whitford unveiled a peal board recording the non-conducted peal of Stedman Triples rung on November 3rd, 1923.

The Rev. R. H. Whitford spoke of the Bristol towers being well equipped with capable conductors, and this wonderful performance proved that.

Mr. W. Knight, in the absence of the umpire, Mr. T. King (of Bath), thanked the Rev. Whitford for unveiling the board.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

THE ANNUAL MEETING.

The 47th annual meeting of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association was held on Saturday, October 25th, in Newcastle. The bells of all the churches in Newcastle, also of Gosforth, and St. Mary's, Gateshead, were kindly placed at the disposal of the ringers for the day by the respective Vicars. The committee meeting was held at 12 noon, the service in the Cathedral at 1 o'clock, and dinner at the Collingwood Restaurant at 2 p.m., following which the annual meeting took place, and lasted until 5 o'clock, when the ringers dispersed to the different towers, and kept the bells going during the evening in various methods.

The service was conducted by Canon G. E. Newsom, Vicar of Newcastle, Canon Stephenson, Rector of Gateshead, read the lesson, and the Right Rev. Bishop Wood (Vicar of St. George's) gave the address. His lordship said one of the association's objects was to secure recognition for bell ringers. Sometimes parishioners passed their work over unthinkingly, the sound of the bells being so familiar. Yet theirs was a common purpose with the clergy in the service of the church. Let them see that they performed that task with conviction and sincerity, developing a sense of responsibility, for it was not purely imaginary to say that the bells in a parish did, in some sense, represent the souls of those who rang.

Luncheon was afterwards served at the Collingwood Restaurant. The president (Mr. C. Todd, of Darlington) presided and was supported by Bishop Wood, Canon Newsom, Canon Stephenson, Rector of Gateshead, and six of the clergy, the secretary, treasurer, auditor, one vice-president, district secretaries, and others, including Mr. C. C. Ellis, of Edenborough, and Mr. J. W. Falconer, of Gosforth. The company numbered 105. After the toast of 'The King' had been duly honoured, Mr. Story gave the toast of 'The Bishops and Clergy of the two Dioceses,' and expressed regret that the Bishop of Newcastle was not yet well enough to be present.—Bishop Wood responded briefly, saying that a great many of the clergy looked on the bell ringers as co-partners with them in their parochial work.

The annual business meeting followed. The annual report was presented by the hon. sec. (Mr. E. Ferry), who deplored the deaths of four members, and recorded the fact that Mr. T. Stephenson, of Stockton, whose death occurred during the year, was one of the original members, having been elected at the formation of the association in 1877. Mr. W. Newton, of the same town, is now the only original member left.

On eight, ten and twelve bells, Whitley Bay took first place for the fifth year in succession for the Sunday Service ringing. With 1,712.92 points, St. Ignatius, Sunderland, took second place. Next in order were Newcastle Cathedral, North Shields, All Saints', Gosforth, St. John's, Darlington, Bishop Auckland, St. Michael's, Sunderland, Skildon, Gateshead, Chester-le-Street, and Consett. For the six-bell towers, Holy Trinity, Darlington, took first place for the third year in succession, and had won the certificate outright with 930.53 points. Hurworth-on-Tees were second with 404.24 points. Next in order were Newburn, Benfieldside, Newton Hall and Houghton-le-Spring.

NOTEWORTHY PEALS.

Twenty-eight peals were rung during the year, against 23 last year, 58 members taking part, against 66 last year. Seventeen of these peals were rung on tower bells and eleven on handbells. Eight members rang their first peal during the year, and Mr. E. Lowrey entered the list of conductors this year. The peals included a spliced peal of Cambridge and Superlative Surprise Major rung at Whitley Bay, composed by Mr. J. W. Parker, and conducted by Mr. J. A. Goffton, and was the first peal of Spliced Surprise Major ever rung; a peal of London Surprise rung at St. Cuthbert's, Edinburgh, was the first peal of London in Scotland; and a peal of Stedman Triples at Chester-le-Street, when Miss A. Donnison rang the treble, this being the first peal of Stedman by the association with a lady taking part. Miss Donnison is to be congratulated upon scoring her first peal of Stedman. The report mentioned that the association was unique in having the support of five bishops, viz., the Bishops of Durham and Newcastle, the Bishop of Jarrow, Bishop Weldon, Dean of Durham, and Bishop Wood, Vicar of St. George's, Jesmond. Bishop Wood had recently come amongst them, and they extended to him a most hearty welcome. It also recorded a unique and interesting event which took place at Monkseaton on Thursday, April 15th, 1924, when a peal of London Surprise Major was rung on handbells by the Brothers Goffton. This was Mr. J. A. Goffton's 200th peal, his 50th on handbells, his 50th as conductor, and he had rung 50 on his own tower bells. It would be very interesting to know if any other ringer has accomplished this feat.

The Vicar of Newcastle (Canon Newsom) presented the certificates to the winners for the best Sunday Service ringing during the year.

The Rev. A. E. Cornibee, Vicar of St. John's, referred to the satisfactory progress being made with the restoration of the bells at St. John's, Newcastle. This has been termed the 'Ringers' Church,' as so many North Country ringers were taught in its tower. It is hoped the bells will soon be in the bell founders' hands.

It was agreed, on the motion of Mr. Story, that the subscription of the clerical honorary members be reduced to a minimum of 5s. instead of 7s. 6d.

Mr. C. Todd, of Darlington, was re-elected president; Mr. E. Ferry, hon. secretary; Mr. Arthur Payne, treasurer; Mr. C. L. Routledge, auditor; vice-presidents, Messrs. J. E. Keen, R. B. Robinson, R. Patterson, and the Rev. A. W. Lister. All the district secretaries were re-elected. The following were elected hon. members: The Right Rev. Bishop Wood, the Rev. E. P. Pestle, Vicar of Tanfield; Alderman A. J. Robinson, the Rev. F. J. Burt, Vicar of Whitley Bay; and Messrs. J. W. Falconer, Gosforth; T. Nixon, Darlington; and J. Dunlop, Hexham. Sixteen new ringing members were also elected.

Meetings to be held during 1925 were fixed as follows: Pre-Lent, Hurworth-on-Tees, Saturday, February 21st, 1925; Whit Monday, North Shields and Whitley Bay, May 23rd, 1925; summer meeting, Allendale, July 25th, 1925; annual festival at Durham on Saturday, October 31st, 1925.

SALISBURY GUILD WAR MEMORIAL.

On Monday, November 3rd, the war memorial chapel in Salisbury Cathedral was dedicated by the Lord Bishop of the Diocese, after the unveiling of a memorial to his predecessor, a great friend of ringers, by the Bishop of London.

The chapel is flanked by a handsomely carved screen of dark oak, which bears the following inscription: 'This screen is erected in memory of 58 members of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild of Ringers and other bell ringers of the Diocese, who gave their lives in the Great War.'

The Earl of Shaftesbury, president of the Guild; the Rev. R. H. Gundry, Master, and the Rev. F. L. Edwards, secretary, were present at the ceremony.

OXFORD GUILD.

On a recent Saturday, in spite of inclement weather, a successful meeting of the E. Berks and S. Bucks branch was held at Hughenden. The following towers were represented: Beaconsfield, Bledlow, Chalfont St. Giles, Cookham, Hitcham, Hughenden, Marlow, Stoke Poges and West Wycombe.

Although the organist did not turn up, he was not missed very much, the quality of the singing giving the impression that all present were choir members.—The Vicar gave an excellent and interesting address.

The catering arrangements of the Hughenden band left nothing to be desired, and, given fine weather, the next meeting there ought to run into three figures. Touches in various methods, up to Cambridge Surprise, were rung, everyone enjoying themselves to the full.

CAMBRIDGE SURPRISE ROYAL.

By JOSEPH W. PARKER.

The three peals following are the first published in sixteen courses (towers together) in two equal parts. They also all have the quality of being reduced to 5040 by the simple expedient of omitting three consecutive bobs as bracketed. The shortened form of the last peal is shown:—

METHOD CONSTRUCTION.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—For some unknown reason my 'Ringing World' for 31st October did not reach me till 5th November, hence the delay in replying to the Rev. E. S. Powell's latest communication. Will that gentleman kindly scan the following figures, and then explain what inference is, or can be, gained by comparing a two-bell shunt with a four-bell shunt.

The great little We, are they benten? If not, will they for my benefit, and for the benefit of interested readers, explain, prove, reveal, or show the construction of the following method by their particular formula? ('by whose means ALL KNOWN methods and thousands of unknown methods can be turned out as mechanically as sausages are discharged from a sausage machine').

The above method is another near relation of London Surprise, the number of shunts is the same, and there are only five, denoted by asterisks, which differ. The 2nd and 20th shunts are four bell shunts instead of six, the 8th and 14th shunts are three bell shunts instead of five, and the 11th shunt is a seven bell shunt instead of five, as in London, consequently there are only six less bells shifted than in London, the lead-head being 13527486, while the lead-head of London is 14263857.

When the great little We can show the Exercise as accurately, by their wonderful formula, as I have shown how the above method is constructed from the Treble Bob Principle, I shall be open to conviction, until then I think your readers will agree that their statements are not worth the paper they are printed on.—Yours faithfully,

GEORGE BAKER.

YORK MINSTER BELLS.

Several important bell restorations have been carried out since the war, but none, we think, has excelled in interest and scope that now proposed at York, where a scheme is rapidly taking shape to recast and rehang the peal of twelve at the Minster and to provide what has always been badly wanted, a ceiling between the ringing room and the floor of the bell chamber. It was only in the year 1914 that the bells were in the hands of bell hangers, but the condition of the peal is now such that the Dean and Chapter have resolved no longer to put off rehangings, and it is because this task is inevitable that the further proposal has been made to recast the whole ring. The bells are reputed to be the third heaviest peal in the country, but they are lacking in quality of tone, and if anything is to be done to make them more worthy of the glorious Minster, now is unquestionably the time to do the work.

As will be seen elsewhere, while the cost of the rehangings will be provided out of Minster funds, there is no available money at the disposal of the Dean and Chapter for the recasting, but this part of the scheme bids fair to become an accomplished fact, for already there has been a generous lead given, and promises, headed by three of the Canons, have been made which guarantee the cost of casting seven of the bells, the ringers themselves being responsible for one. There is little doubt, therefore, that the full proposals will be carried out, and Messrs. Taylor and Co., who, we are informed, will be entrusted with the work, will have a magnificent opportunity of producing a noble peal of bells for one of England's noblest churches. That they will rise to the great occasion goes without saying, and the Minster will doubtless hereafter possess an outstanding example of the English bell founders' art.

It is a matter for real gratification to find cathedral authorities so ready to enter upon a comprehensive scheme such as is proposed at York. It is not often they are prepared to do so, and still more seldom is it that so handsome and speedy a lead is given without public appeal. But the people of York have a great pride in their Minster, and, with the opportunity now before them, will add to the glories of their magnificent fane. Fortunately no point of antiquarian interest enters into this recasting project, for the present bells are but eighty years old, and a clean sweep can therefore be made of them without injuring the susceptibilities of anyone. We expect to hear in a very short time that donors for the recasting of the rest of the bells have come forward, and when the work is consummated there is a prospect of York Minster possessing what may well be the finest peal of bells in the world.

A meeting of the Ilchester Deanery Branch was held at Langport on Saturday, November 22nd. Owing to other attractions the attendance was small, Langport, Curry Rivel, Martock, Stoke-under-Ham and Bridgwater being the towers represented. The Vicar (the Rev. J. W. Plaxton) conducted a service in the Parish Church, and the Rev. Rhys James (Vicar of Drayton) gave an address.

The Vicar of Langport presided at the meeting, which followed tea in the Church Room. He was supported by the Vicar of Drayton, and Mr. A. E. Coles, of Bridgwater. — The Chairman opened the meeting with a few words of welcome, and four of the Langport ringers were made members. — Martock was chosen for the annual meeting.

The Secretary (Mr. F. Farrant) proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar for his kind words of welcome, and for so kindly making all arrangements. He also thanked the Vicar of Drayton for his address. The tower of Huish Episcopi was open to the ringers after the meeting. Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob were the methods practised.

THE BOSTON GUILD.RINGING AT U.S.A.'S OLDEST TOWER.

On Sunday, November 9th, members of the Boston, Mass. Guild of Change Ringers met at the Memorial Tower of Hingham Church, which is the oldest church in U.S.A., having been built in 1681. The occasion was the unveiling of a memorial to the late Mr. Fred L. Ripley, who was for many years a leading citizen of Hingham, and died at the age of 88.

No peal was attempted, but throughout the afternoon several 168's of Grandsire Triples, 276's of Bob Minor, and other touches were rung.

The greatest interest was displayed by local residents, to whom, of course, our method of ringing is something of a novelty. The ringing chamber and staircase were crowded, and a large number congregated in the churchyard to listen to the bells, in spite of the inclement weather. The ringers were afterwards entertained at tea by ladies of the parish. The handbells were then brought out, and courses of Grandsire Caters were rung. This concluded a most successful meeting.

The following members took part in the ringing: Mrs. Margaret H. Shurtleff (President of the Guild), Philip J. Alfrever, William Bashford, Joseph Goodhead, George E. Hubbard, James F. Laker, Richard Newton, Tony Price, Somers H. Sturgis, and S. Warren Sturgis.

The Boston Guild, which owes its existence to the untiring labours of the late Dr. A. H. Nichols, has, at the present time, a membership of about 20. Unfortunately, owing to the great distances apart at which members live, and to a certain amount of prejudice against ringing, regular practice is impossible. Despite these handicaps, the band still retains a high standard of ringing.

The Guild has its next meeting at Groton, Mass., on November 23rd, when it is hoping that Mr. A. R. MacDonald, of the White-chapel Foundry, now on a visit to Canada and the U.S.A., will be present.

SURPRISE MINOR RINGING.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The Bishop, in appointing the Rev. C. C. Parker, Rector of Corston, and Master of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association, as a Prebendary of Wells Cathedral, stated he did so for several reasons, but more especially for the valuable services the association had rendered to the diocese.

The Midland District of the Ladies' Guild will hold a meeting at Coseley on December 13th. Mr. and Mrs. Ben Gough have kindly promised to entertain the ladies to tea. A small charge will be made to gentlemen.

A band of Cumberland Youths had a somewhat galling experience on Saturday, when a peal of Stedman Cinques at Shoreditch was lost within 60 changes of the end, through a rope breaking.

The Master has found an 'unlucky' composition. It was lost at Quex Park past half-way; at High Wycombe through a broken rope five courses from the end; at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields in the last course, when the bells were stopped for a service; and now at Shoreditch. It ought to be publicly burnt!

In the report of the peal of Bob Major, at St. Saviour's Church, Bath, rung on Saturday, November 15th, 1924, the second footnote should have read: First peal 'in the method' for C. W. Bell as conductor, Mr. Bell being one of the oldest conductors in the Bath branch.

Members of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association intend to attempt a peal of 13,440 Bob Major at Colerne, Wilts, on December 13th.

The first peal of Oxford Treble Bob Royal on handbells was rung at Sheffield on December 3rd, 1811.

The College Youths rang their first peal of Stedman Triples on Dec. 4th, 1803, at St. Mary Abbots, Kensington.

Mr. Ben Gough, of Coseley, Staffs, ringing the 6th bell in the peal of Stedman Triples at Tipton, on Saturday, Nov. 15th, has now accomplished a peal of Stedman Triples on every bell in the tower, and is supposed to be the first to achieve that honour in this belfry.

Miss Annie Brown, of Bristol, is the latest lady to add Cambridge Surprise Royal to her laurels. She took part in a peal on Saturday, never having previously rung any more than a plain course.

A peal of London Surprise Major by a resident band in Hampshire has been rung for the first time. It was rung at North Stoneham with only two outside the local band, and is another performance for which the enthusiasm of Mr. George Williams has largely to be thanked. It was, as a matter of fact, a great triumph over difficulties, and success after numerous failures.

It is a singular coincidence that the first peal of London Surprise Major by the Surrey Association should be claimed on the same day by two bands. One peal was rung at Carshalton, and the other at Godstone. Enquiries, however, have elicited the fact that the latter was completed about 2½ hours before the former, and must be awarded the claim.

The bells at Rayleigh, Essex, are being restored. Thanks to the efforts of Mr. C. H. Howard (who has just had the satisfaction of seeing completed the recasting and rehangings of Great Baddow bells, on which he learnt to ring), the Diocesan Advisory Committee were induced to advise the erection of a new iron frame and the recasting of several of the bells.

The recent claim that a peal on cup handbells was the first on this type of bells, brings from Mr. A. H. Pulling the information that a peal on cup bells was rung at Teddington in 1920. Like the Leicester men, the band found the bells difficult to get used to.

William Doubleday Crofts, the famous old Nottingham ringer, died on November 29th, 1899, and was buried at St. Mary's on December 2nd, when a 'mourning peal of 1,494 Grandsire Caters' was rung.

A peal of 6,012 Grandsire Caters was rung at Southwark on Nov. 28th, 1735.

On December 4th, 1722, a peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at Stroud, Glos., and on December 1st, 1732, a peal in the same method was rung at St. Alphege, Greenwich.

The first peal at Long Melford since the restoration was rung last Saturday, in 3 hours 23 minutes. It is pointed out that the time occupied had nothing to do with the 'go' of the bells, which run splendidly. But owing to the excessive noise in the ringing chamber it was found better to give more open leads, and a slower time. The conditions will be altered before any more peals are rung.

A secretaries' peal has been rung by members of the Lancashire Association, the band being made up of the general secretary, the ringing secretary, and six branch secretaries.

COLLEGE YOUTHS' OFFICERS.

At the meeting of the Ancient Society of College Youths, on Tuesday, November 18th, the following officers were elected for the year: Master, Mr. Percy E. Clark; treasurer, Mr. Albert A. Hughes; senior steward, Mr. William Hibbert; junior steward, Mr. Alfred Noakes; trustees, Messrs. Challis F. Winney and Walter Prime.

YORK MINSTER BELLS TO BE RECAST?

GENEROUS OFFERS PROMOTE BIG RESTORATION SCHEME.

One of the greatest bell restoration schemes promoted since the war is to be carried out at York Minster. Hung in this stately pile is one of the heaviest rings of twelve in the country, but they are at present in bad ringing condition, although they were rehung only about ten years ago. The Dean and Chapter have had the matter under consideration, and, having received a report from Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, have decided, out of their own funds, to have the bells rehung.

At the same time they went into the question of recasting the bells, and making them a peal worthy of the Minster, but this project was beyond the means at the disposal of the Cathedral authorities. Further, the Dean and Chapter felt it was difficult in view of the pressing claims of the Cathedral Windows Fund to launch an appeal for the bells, but it was thought that, with the other work to be carried out, the opportunity of recasting the bells ought not to be lost. To give a lead in the matter, three of the Canons of the Minster generously offered to defray the cost of recasting three bells, and their example was followed by the Chapter Clerk. Now the ringers have undertaken the recasting of one of the remainder, and two more offers have been received, bringing the promises up to seven bells, including the 9th and tenor. Thus, there is every prospect of the complete recasting of the peal being carried out.

In addition to the recasting and rehanging, it is proposed to insert a new ceiling about 19 feet above the floor of the ringing room, and to encase the clock weights. From the ringers' point of view, this alteration is a very necessary one, as hitherto the noise in the ringing room has been almost unbearable, and a great improvement will be effected if this proposal is carried out.

INTERESTING HISTORY OF THE BELLS.

A very interesting history of York bells has appeared in the 'Yorkshire Weekly Post,' from which we take the following extracts:—

The present peal is not an old one as cathedral and medieval parish church peals go. It was hung in 1844, succeeding a peal which perished in the fire of 1840. The history of the York Minster bells, like the history of any part of that magnificent heritage of York people, is full of interest. The first record of bells at the Minster is contained in a note of a twelfth century quarrel between the Archbishop of the day, Geoffrey, and the Dean, whom he inhibited from performing service or 'having the bells rung.' From this date onward references to the bells are frequent, both in the Fabric Rolls of the Minster and in contemporary documents.

York Minster bells, however, have suffered greater vicissitudes than almost any other part of the equipment of that glorious fane. 'Falling down' seems to have been among the least of the misfortunes they encountered. In 1359 it seems that the 'great bell' fell, and was broken 'by default of the Treasurer,' and it was not till ten years later that it was replaced. A new clock and several bells were set up at this time, and there is a most interesting list of items in the Fabric Rolls of the expenditure incurred. The 'bill' throws a good deal of light on both ecclesiastical and economic history of the time. Not only are the labour costs set out, but the cost of material.

The account shows clearly that the founding of the bells was done in situ. York, indeed, was one of the four leading centres of the bell-founding industry in medieval times, and several notable York bell founders' names appear as the makers of bells up and down the country.

The history of the York bell-founders is a fascinating one. It came to an end with the death last century of the last of the Daltons, who had their foundry in Stonegate. The 'Bell founder's window' in the north aisle of the nave is in itself testimony to the importance of the craft in the city, and to the substantial character of one of its leading practitioners in Richard Tunno, who was bailiff of the city in 1320, and its representative in Parliament in 1327.

In 1459 the bells of the Minster were removed from the central tower, before it was rebuilt, and were hung in the north-west tower. The late Mr. W. H. Howard, York's most famous ringer—he was a bell ringer at the Minster for 68 years—with infinite patience and research compiled a history of the bells which was published some sixteen years ago, and to which the writer is indebted for much of the information contained in this article. Among the fruits of his research in the Fabric Rolls are entries for 1473 showing four bells, the 'Lady Bells' hung in the north-west tower, and chimes to the bells in the south-west tower.

FIRST PEAL OF TWELVE IN THE COUNTRY.

Coming down to 1655, the four minor bells were removed from the north-west tower to the south-west, the damaged bells being recast. They formed the 'ring of twelve bells,' which is spoken of by the authors of the 'Clavis Campanologia' as the earliest ring of twelve bells in England.

There were in addition two bells in a bell turret on the south transept, one being used as the clock bell and the other for daily service. They were removed in 1752. What happened to the clock bell is unrecorded. The service bell was placed in a turret on the lantern tower, and in 1803 was removed to the south-west tower. The peal was formerly hung in two tiers. In 1765 they were taken down, and a peal of ten, cast by Lester and Pack, substituted for them.

In 1840 the bells were completely destroyed by a fire caused accidentally during the cleaning and repairing of the clock. The south-west tower was involved; the whole of its contents, including the ring of ten bells and the clock, perished, as well as the roof of the nave. In four years the restoration was completed at a cost of £25,000. In July, 1844, the present peal of twelve bells, founded by Mears, of London, was hung, having been purchased from a bequest by Dr. Stephen Beckwith, a great public benefactor to the city, who left £45,000 to the Minster, the Museum, and other York institutions. A tablet in the ringing chamber records the bequest.

DEATH OF MR. J. F. PENNING.

SAFFRON WALDEN RINGER AND COMPOSER.

We very much regret to report the death of Mr. J. F. Penning which occurred on November 13th, at his residence, Saffron Walden. Deceased had been in failing health for the past two years, and during the last twelve weeks was confined to his bed.

Mr. Penning began his ringing career with the Saffron Walden Society in 1871, and was still a member of this ancient society at the time of his death. In the early part of his ringing career he was closely associated with the brothers Pitstow, and with them and the late Mr. Samuel Slater, and other members of the Glensford company, he rang his first peal, which was one of Kent Treble Bob, at Long Melford.

At this time the Walden company was at low ebb, Treble Bob and Bob Major only being rung, but the introduction of young blood caused great progress in all standard methods, and Mr. Penning was one of the band which rang the first peals in the following methods on the bells: Stedman Triples, Double Norwich Court, Superlative Surprise (first peal in the county of Essex), Cambridge Surprise (first peal in the Eastern Counties), London Surprise (first peal in the County of Essex). He also took part in the first peal of Treble Bob and Cambridge Surprise in the County of Cambridge.

Mr. Penning had practically a lifelong connection with the church, first as a chorister for a great number of years; as vergers for 27 years, and as a ringer for 54 years. He was a most regular attendant for Sunday Service ringing until the duties of his office as vergers prevented him giving full time to ringing. Unfortunately, a full record of his peals is not available, but they consisted of all standard methods from Bob Major to London Surprise. The last time he visited the belfry he expressed a wish to ring a course of London Surprise, but after ringing six leads he set his bell, being too fatigued to finish the course.

It was perhaps as a composer Mr. Penning was better known to the Exercise generally, he having composed peals of Bob Minor with the greatest number of calls yet published. In the early eighties he became prominent by the composition of peals of Grandire Triples, was the first to improve on Holt's One-Part, and was the first to obtain a Five-Part peal with the use of ordinary singles. In 1907 he composed methods known as Penning Triples and Stansted Triples, and his peals in these methods were rung by the Stansted company.

Mr. Penning was a member of the Royal Cumberland Youths, the Ely Diocesan and Essex Associations, being district secretary of the latter for a number of years, and taking a great interest in the business matters concerning the associations of which he was a member.

Mr. Penning possessed a gift for writing poetry, and it gave him much pleasure to record ringing performances in the form of verse. He was for 27 years town hall keeper, and custodian and clerk of the corn market. He also occupied for many years the office of secretary of the local Court of the Ancient Order of Foresters.

The deceased, who was 72 years of age, and leaves a widow and two daughters to mourn their loss, was laid to rest in the family grave at Saffron Walden Cemetery on November 18th, and in the evening the local company rang at the Parish Church with the bells half-muffled, 1,036 Grandire Triples being the first part of one of deceased's compositions: A. E. Pitstow (conductor) 1, F. Dench 2, A. James 3, I. Pitstow 4, R. Strong 5, A. Evenett 6, F. J. Pitstow 7, W. Parish 8.

WYCOMBE & THE OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—There is no record of the High Wycombe resolution being discussed at Boyne Hill on the only two occasions when I have been present, incidentally as a member of the Stoke Poges band; also, I have yet to have the pleasure of attending any function at Wooburn.—Yours faithfully,
ARTHUR D. BARKER.

GREAT BADDOW BELLS.

RING OF EIGHT RECAST.

The dedication of the bells of St. Mary's Church, Great Baddow, after restoration, took place on Saturday, November 15th, the ceremony being performed by the Bishop of Barking.

The bells have been recast and tuned on the 'true-harmonic' system, and, in recasting, all the old inscriptions have been reproduced in facsimile. The bells have also been rebung in a new, strong, and massive cast-iron frame, the foundation of the framework consisting of heavy rolled steel girders built into the walls. The standards which support the frame are of heavy cast-iron. The new head-stocks are of cast-iron and fitted with patent self-aligning ball bearings in massive iron pedestals, totally enclosed, and are absolutely dust and dirt proof. There are also new wrought-iron clappers, with independent crown-staples and joints passing through the head-stock and secured by patent lock-nut, which cannot be shaken loose by vibration.

The bells have been fixed at a lower level in the tower, thus producing a much softer tonal effect in the immediate vicinity of the tower, and at the same time a further carrying power. The old bell chamber floor has been removed and replaced with a new one, fixed independently of the bell frame. The cost of the work will be over £600, of which about five-sixths has been raised.

The inscriptions on the bells are as follows:—

Treble: I mean to make it understood, that tho' I'm little, yet I'm good. Mears, 1781.

2nd: The gift of Mr. Waston Gower, 1738. Recast 1809. Thomas Mears and Son, of London, fecit.

3rd: The Revd. Alexd. Longmore, Vicar; Mr. William Polly, Ch. Warden. W. and T. Mears, of London, fecit 1787.

5th: Jno. Godsalue Crosse, Esq. The Revd. Mr. Longmore, Vicar. W. Mears fecit, 1781.

6th: Whilst thus we join in cheerful sound, may love and loyalty abound. Mears, 1781.

7th: To Honor both of God and King, our voices shall in consort ring. Mears, 1781.

Tenor: The founder he hath played his part: That shewes he's master of his art: So hang me well, and ring me true, And I will sound your praises due. Chapman & Mears, of London, fecerunt 1782.

This peal of eight bells was recast by public subscription, 1924. Rev. C. Neill, M.A., M.B., Vicar; Dr. P. T. Spencer-Phillips, Frank Howard, Churchwardens.

DEDICATION BY THE BISHOP OF BARKING.

There was a crowded congregation at the dedication service. The choir were present, and Mr. A. Burton was at the organ. The Vicar, Rev. D. G. Douglas, commenced the service, and the hymn, 'All people that on earth do dwell,' was sung. The special lesson was taken from Numbers x. 1—11. During the singing of the hymn, 'Pleasant are Thy courts above,' the clergy, churchwardens, and choir, proceeded to the tower. Here the churchwardens, Dr. P. T. Spencer-Phillips and Mr. F. Howard, taking the ropes, presented the bells to the Bishop for dedication. This completed, the Bishop delivered the ropes to the Vicar, requesting him to receive the bells as a sacred trust, to be used for the glory and service of God. A few rounds were then rung, during which the Bishop, clergy, and choir returned to the stalls. The hymn, 'Hark on high the joyful music,' was then sung, after which 168 Grandsire Triples, conducted by Mr. C. H. Howard, was rung, and a collection in aid of the Bell Fund was taken, amounting to £9 4s. 9d. This was followed by the hymn, 'The gospel bells are ringing.'

The Bishop, who preached from the words, 'Rejoice in the Lord alway, and again I say rejoice,' commenced by saying that it was somewhat difficult to find a suitable text for such an occasion. Bells were only mentioned twice in the Bible—namely, Exodus xxviii. 33, and Zechariah xiv. 20. Bells were not as old as churches, and their origin was somewhat obscure. They probably came into use about the ninth century of the Christian era. Abbots had bells in olden times, but they were probably cast upon the spot, as transport would be then impossible. He rejoiced with the parishioners that the bells were now in order, and also that the old inscriptions had been retained; and he congratulated them that about five-sixths of the total money (£600) had been raised. He referred in kindly terms to the ringers in the diocese and to all the voluntary work they so readily gave, and trusted that their labours would bring many into the fellowship of the Church. The message of the bells could be interpreted in many ways, such as joy, which was the predominant note; sorrow, as at the passing of some loved parishioner; wedding peals, signifying the knitting together of two in Jesus; and national happiness.

The recessional hymn, 'Now thank we all our God,' concluded the service.

The ringers during the service were Baddow men, past or present, who stood as follows: Treble, H. Dawson; 2, W. Rice; 3, R. Bush; 4, J. J. Clark; 5, H. Allen; 6, C. H. Howard; 7, G. Green; tenor, A. Richell.

A FINE RESULT.

After the service about 60 ringers from 25 different churches partook of tea in the Vicarage room. Mr. F. Howard presided. They came from Baddow, Braintree, Boreham, Broomfield, Chelmsford, Clacton-on-Sea, Danbury, Dunmow, Earls Colne, Feering, Great Bentley, Greensted Green, Kelvedon, Loughborough, Little Waltham, Maldon St. Mary's, Maldon All Saints', Rayne, Romford, Rettendon, Sandon, Stisted, Springfield, Writtle, and Witham. Among the visitors was a lady ringer, Miss A. E. Waldoek, from Maldon St. Mary's, and Mr. E. Newman, for 53 years a ringer at Great Baddow.

Mr. C. H. Howard, Master of the Essex Association, and a Baddow ringer of 40 years ago, but now living at Braintree, congratulated the Church Council on the splendid work achieved in the restoration of the bells. He stated that expert opinion was obtained, tenders invited, and excellent work secured, so that Baddow now possesses a very fine peal. He congratulated the founders, Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, on the fine results achieved, and said the peal would be a lasting credit to that firm. He knew there were ringers who would take up the work in Baddow in the right spirit now they had such a peal to work upon.

Mr. Taylor thanked Mr. Howard for his kind remarks. He stated that when he inspected the old bells on the wooden, rickety frame he knew that nothing but complete restoration would make a satisfactory job of it, and he was glad that the Council had agreed on such a course, instead of attempting to patch up the old ones. He was most happy to meet such a number of ringers, and extended a very warm welcome to any who visited Loughborough at any time.

Mr. E. A. Amoss, secretary of the Parochial Church Council, extended a warm welcome to the ringers, and thanked Mr. Howard for all the assistance he had given, and also Mr. Taylor for the very courteous and prompt manner in which he had dealt with the whole business.

Mr. Dyson, of Braintree, proposed a vote of thanks to the ladies who had served the tea.—Mr. H. Allen seconded; and this was carried with applause.

Touches of Grandsire, Bob and Treble Bob Major and Cambridge Surprise were afterwards rung. The 'go' and tone of the bells were much admired.

RECTOR WANTS MORE PEALS RUNG.

A most successful meeting of the Western Division was held at Heene on Saturday last, when between 30 and 40 members and visitors attended from the following towers: Angmering, Arundel, Steyning, Henfield, Shoreham, Pulborough, West Tarring, Warnham, Brighton (St. Peter's and St. Nicholas'), and a good many members of the local band. The meeting was also favoured by the presence of the Master (Mr. J. T. Rickman) and Mr. H. Chandler from Hillingdon.

Some good courses and touches in the following methods were rung during the afternoon and evening: Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Double Norwich, Kent Treble Bob, Superlative, Cambridge, Bristol and London Surprise Major.

At 5 o'clock, the company adjourned to the Churchroom, where they were met by the Rector (the Rev. F. J. Fallows), who had provided an excellent tea.

The Rector having to leave before the business meeting, a vote of thanks, proposed by Mr. J. T. Rickman, was accorded the Rector for generously providing the meal.—The Rev. J. P. Fallows, in responding, said how pleased he was to meet such a large company of ringers, but he was sorry more peals were not rung at Heene. He hoped one could be arranged amongst the company present.

At the business meeting, with the Master in the chair, one new member was elected, viz., Mr. W. Willson, of Leicester.—It was proposed to hold the next meeting at Petworth in February.

A vote of thanks to Mr. Rickman brought the short business meeting to an end. Further ringing was afterwards enjoyed, some of the visitors going on to West Tarring. Although several had to leave early to catch trains, enough remained to ring Bristol and London Surprise, and a touch of Superlative.

DEVON RINGERS' 'FRATERNAL.'

The monthly fraternal meeting of the Exeter Branch of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers was held at the Franklin Hall, Exeter, on Saturday, November 8th. The chair was occupied by the Rev. E. V. Cox, hon. secretary of the Guild, and the Rev. Franklin Owen, Rector of St. Sidwell's, Exeter, was also present.

The subject for debate on this occasion was, 'How best to promote good striking.' A very interesting discussion took place, in which a good many members took part.

Quartettes were splendidly rendered by the 'Orpheus' Glee Party, and the Rev. Franklin Owen sang two songs, 'Glorious Devon' and 'Tavistock Goosey Fair,' in excellent form. The whole of the musical programme was greatly appreciated.

It is very gratifying to note the interest being taken in these meetings, which must give the committee every encouragement to go forward, as success is already assured.

UNIVERSITY GRADUATES AS RINGERS.

A COMMENT OF FIFTY YEARS AGO.

The Hon. Librarian of the Central Council (the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn) sends us the following interesting extract from 'A Note on St. Bride's, Fleet Street,' published in the issue of 'Church Bells' of November 21st, 1874:—

'In its tower (St. Bride's) some of the earliest feats of ringing were accomplished. The ring, originally consisting of ten bells only, was cast in 1710 by Rudhall, of Gloucester; and about seven years later the first peal of Grandsire Caters was rung on them. In 1718, two trebles were added, and within eight years from that date the first peal of Cinques and the first peal of Maximus had been accomplished on these bells. Those were the aristocratic days of ringing, for we are told that each ringer in the last-named peal drove home in his own carriage. The possession of a carriage is a very good thing in its way, but we hope that in a few years peals rung by men with the hallmark of a University education will be so common as to pass without special comment, and then the art of ringing will have gained the position to which it is entitled, as the most perfect form of combined mental and physical exercise. Oxford, by the inauguration of a University company, has shown how this desirable end is to be attained; and we trust that ere long Cambridge will have followed such an excellent example. For many years there were not wanting at Cambridge instances, though rather rare ones, of men graduates and undergraduates who could ring; if any of these remain, it ought not to be difficult to get a company together.'

RINGERS' THANKSGIVING WINDOW.

In the memorial chapel of Oswaldtwistle Parish Church, Lancs, a stained window has been placed by the ringers in gratitude for the safe return from the war of all their members.

This handsome and thoughtful gift in thanksgiving was dedicated on Sunday week. The window represents 'Christ in Glory,' and beneath is a plate bearing the inscription:—

A.M.D.G.

And in gratitude for the safe return from the war of all their members, this window is given by the ringers of this church.

On Monday, November 17th, a peal of Bob Major was rung in honour of the dedication of the window.

ST. CLEMENT'S YOUTHS

SCORE THEIR FIRST PEAL.

The first peal by the St. Clement's Youths, at the famous church in the Strand, is of interest. Apart from the fact that there were five ladies in the band (the title of the society should be surely 'Youths and Lassies'), the hon. secretary of the Central Council has scored his first peal on ten bells, and also upon these bells, with which he first became associated in 1884. Mr. Young has been a ringer at this church since joining the St. James's Society in 1889, being soon afterwards made one of the officers. The last time Mr. Young attempted a peal at St. Clement's was on the occasion of the bi-centenary celebration in March, 1893, when the tenor became unringable some 40 minutes after starting.

Mr. G. Fardon, who has given much time to teaching beginners, had looked forward to calling the St. Clement's Youths' first peal early this year. His unfortunate accident six months ago, however, has prevented him ringing since, but the peal on Saturday was one of Mr. Fardon's compositions, and was ably conducted by his son, 'Bob Minor.'

The composition, which was first rung at St. Clement Danes, on December 4th, 1919, by a band of Freemasons (conducted by the composer) was as follows:

THE WASHBROOK MEMORIAL.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I can quite realise the four points which Mr. Hibbert mentions, and am quite aware that modern bell foundries can cast small bells less 'wild' in tone than the old foundries did. At the same time, I am dead against many of the modern fads which are now so common (such as recasting old bells, which are perfectly sound, because they cannot be tuned on the Simpson principle, ball bearings for comparatively light bells, etc.). I do not know who the 'competent' founders and hangers are whom the committee have consulted; so that any strictures I make are not directed against any particular firm. But I must say that any peal of eight with a tenor higher than F is not pleasant to listen to.

I must certainly decline Mr. Hibbert's invitation to contribute anything to such a scheme as he proposes; although the late Mr. Washbrook was an old friend of mine, and one whom I always looked up to in ringing matters.—Yours faithfully,

J. R. JERRAM.

ST. STEPHEN'S, CARLISLE.

The Rev. David W. Irving, the son of Canon Irving, of Hawkshead, Ambleside, and brother-in-law of Mr. Eric H. Truscott, of London and Bromley, has recently been inducted to the living of St. Stephen's, Carlisle, where there is a peal of eight bells, with tenor of 15 cwt.

It is the only peal of bells in ringing order in Carlisle, as the six bells at the Cathedral are now never rung, as the tower is supposed to be unsafe.

The new Vicar of St. Stephen's is very keen on bells, and is taking steps to get a band of change ringers together again, for the bells have not been regularly rung for service for a long time. The church was built, the peal put in, and the living endowed by the late Baroness Burdett-Coutts.

MALDON RINGER'S DEATH.

The death of Mr. William Last took place at Colchester Hospital on November 13th, from pneumonia, following an operation. The deceased, who was 66 years of age, had been a ringer of All Saints' Church, Maldon, for over 40 years.

The funeral took place at Heybridge on Tuesday, the 18th inst., when the Maldon ringers were represented by Messrs. F. and W. H. Chalk, and G. W. and H. J. Mansfield. During the evening, touches of Grandsire and Bob Major were rung at All Saints' Church, with the bells deeply muffled, by H. J. Mansfield, Miss A. E. Waldo, W. H. Chalk, G. W. Mansfield, J. Amos, A. South, E. Ellinger, F. Chalk, R. Hutson and J. H. Waldo.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

On Saturday last, at Burnham, a good deal of spadework was put in by those who were present from Boyne Hill, Burnham, Hitcham, Reading and Stoke Poges, at the meeting of the East Berks and South Bucks Branch. The following methods were rung: Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob Major, and Cambridge Surprise Minor and Major.

We are looking forward to some accounts of peals in various methods in the near future.

The opportunity is taken of congratulating the energetic steeple-keeper, Mr. G. Alder, on attaining his 67th anniversary on Nov. 30th.

WORCESTERSHIRE AND DISTRICTS ASSOCIATION.

The quarterly meeting of the Southern Branch was held at Bretforton on Saturday, Nov 15th, and as usual was well attended. Among the visitors present were Mr. J. Newman (general secretary), Mr. H. Terry (general secretary, Four Shires Guild), Mr. S. T. Holt (Ringing Master, Western Branch), and Messrs. E. Gibbs (Hanley Castle) and C. Camm (Upton-on-Severn). The association's special form of service was held in the Parish Church, and the Vicar (the Rev. J. H. Waugh) gave an appropriate address. There were also present the Rev. W. C. Allsebrook (Vicar of Badsey and Rural Dean) and the Rev. D. Fitzmaurice (Vicar of Hampton). A collection taken on behalf of Rowley Regis Bell Restoration Fund realised 13s. 6d.

Tea, provided by the generosity of the Vicar, followed in the Memorial Hall, and the Rev. J. H. Waugh presided at the subsequent business meeting.

It was decided to hold the spring meeting at Pershore, and that the quarterly peal be attempted on Bretforton bells, with Mr. L. Jells as conductor.

The retiring officers, viz., Messrs. J. D. Johnson, Ringing Master; J. Hemming, hon. secretary and treasurer; and J. Hall, Central Committee representative, were re-elected for the ensuing year.

Votes of thanks to the Rev. J. H. Waugh, for the cordial welcome he had given the branch, and to all who assisted in making the meeting a success, were carried with applause.

A return was made to the tower, where thanks to Mr. J. Perkins, the handy peal of six are kept in splendid going order. Among the methods rung were Cambridge Surprise, Woodbine and Kent Treble Bob, and Double Oxford Bob Minor.

SUNDAY SERVICE TOUCHES.

RAWMARSH, YORKS.—For evening service, on Sunday, Nov. 23rd, at St. Mary's Church, 1,600 Bob Major, in 60 mins.: A. Mitchell 1, F. C. Wilson 2, A. G. Stocks 3, E. Liversedge 4, E. Pammenter 5, H. THE CURFEW AT BLANDFORD.

The announcement made recently that from lack of funds the centuries' old custom at Blandford, Dorset, of ringing the curfew was to be discontinued, has been widely circulated in newspapers, not only in England, but also in America and Australia. As a result, Blandford Town Council have received numerous letters on the subject, and from Mr. S. F. Pond, of Melbourne, Australia, son of one of Blandford's townsmen, has come an offer to provide the money. Mr. Pond, in his letter, said: 'I think it is a great pity to drop such old customs, and no doubt there are many who hold the same opinion. Rather than see this custom lapse because of the expense, I should, until further notice, deem it a privilege to defray this outlay, which I understand is £5 per annum. A cheque on my London bankers to cover the cost for the ensuing twelve months is enclosed herewith.' The Council have decided to send a letter of thanks and appreciation to Mr. Pond.

On November 18th, a farewell handbell peal was rung at Leeds.

HERTS ASSOCIATION IN MIDDLESEX.

A very enjoyable meeting of East Herts District was held, by invitation, at Edmonton on Saturday, Nov. 15th, and the warm welcome extended to those attending by the Edmonton band was greatly appreciated. Tea was prepared by the ladies, and much enjoyed, and the business meeting was held afterwards, under the presidency of Mr. J. Parker.

The usual votes of thanks to all who contributed to the success of the occasion were unanimously carried, and ringing from Grandsire Triples through the standard methods to Bristol Surprise gave scope to all degrees of talent.

A BIRTHDAY PEAL.

A peal of Stedman Caters was rung at Walthamstow on Saturday to celebrate the 70th birthday of Mr. William H. Freeman, who took part in the peal, ringing the tenor. Afterwards he received the birthday congratulations of the band, whom he entertained to dinner at his residence. The proceedings concluded with a musical evening, in which change ringing and tunes on handbells figured prominently, and complimentary speeches were made.

AN OLD-STANDING TROUBLE.

The recent determination of a Devonshire Vicar (as already recorded in our columns) to lay down two conditions for those who ring at his church, has caused some little discussion both in and outside the parish. The conditions, in effect, are first, that the ringers should be Churchmen who recognise the duty of attending the services to which they summon others, and, second, that they should be ready to attend some instruction in change ringing as an addition to the ordinary round ringing which has prevailed for so long. With the reasonableness of these conditions very few, we think, will quarrel, and our comment on the subject is merely general and not specially directed to the parish in question, where the immediate circumstances, beyond those already published, are unknown to us.

The question of ringers attending the services for which they have rung is an old-standing source of trouble. In principle, where the ringers claim that they are office bearers in the church — and that is a point which the associations have been urging the clergy for years to accept—it is obvious that the ringers' obligation does not end in the belfry, any more than that of the sidesman ends when he has shown the people into their seats. Nor should any question of attending the services arise, because the ringer, apart from his allegiance to the Church as one of its officers, has an even higher duty to perform, and his conscience will impel him to join as often as may be in the acts of public worship. But there is also another type of ringer—the man who rings for what may be termed purely selfish ends, and who thinks he has satisfied his debt to the church, which gives him his opportunities and facilities for the practice of his art, when he has rung the bells for the Sunday services. We think that little is gained by attempting to drive ringers of this type into church.

The remedy is the exercise of persuasion and influence, and here is to be found the ground for that other argument so often advanced—and put forward with truth—that the ringers would be more often seen in the church if the clergy were more often seen in the belfry. There is a great deal in this. If the clergy never visit the ringing chamber, the ringers, after a first feeling of neglect, may become callous in their attitude to the church. A parson who appreciates his ringers can show his feeling by many little acts, and one of them is by going to the belfry when the ringers are discharging their duties and by interesting himself in their affairs. An influence thus judiciously exercised would be bound to have its effects in other directions, and is likely to have results which hard-and-fast rules would never produce. Moreover, rules of the kind which insist upon ringers attending service whenever they have rung the bells, become irksome in practice, because it is not always convenient to observe them; and the man who recognises his duty to his Maker needs no artificial spur to drive him from the belfry to the church.

Upon the second of the conditions mentioned above we have not space here to dwell at length. Men who refuse to get beyond the round ringing stage, if the opportunity offers, are but a drag on the wheel of progress, and are usually better out of the belfry than in it.

STEDMAN CINQUES AT CHELTENHAM.

By kind invitation and permission of the Rector of Cheltenham, a band, organised by Mr. Albert Walker, of Birmingham, visited Cheltenham on Saturday, November 22nd, to attempt a peal of Stedman Cinques. The organiser, when in London at the recent College Youths Dinner, conceived the happy idea of inviting several College Youths, and in response, 'Sir' Thomas Hibbert (Past Master), William Hibbert (Senior Steward), Rev. Cyril W. O. Jenkyn (Hon. Librarian, Central Council) and Mr. A. A. Hughes (whose firm supplied and fixed the two new trebles at Cheltenham) joined the Birmingham contingent, at the headquarters of the Cheltenham Parish Church Society, and were welcomed by Mr. W. T. Pates, Mr. Philott, and several of the local ringers. After light refreshments, a move was made to the church, and the interior, with its beautiful stained glass windows, was very much admired. Time did not allow of a closer inspection of this grand church before a move had to be made to the well-appointed ringing chamber, where Mr. Pates had the bells ready raised. After prayer by the Rev. Cyril W. O. Jenkyn, 'go' was called at 2.30 p.m., and at 6.10 p.m. the bells ran round, a good peal (already recorded) having been rung. Tea was had close by the church, and here the visiting party had soon to break up, the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, Messrs. E. Allaway and J. H. Shepherd having to leave to catch early trains to their destinations. The rest of the party afterwards spent a very pleasant hour with the local men.—Mr. Walker took the opportunity to thank, on behalf of the visiting band, Mr. W. T. Pates and his friends for the very hearty welcome, and for the excellent arrangements made, and requested Mr. Pates to convey to the Rector their best thanks for so kindly granting permission. Continuing, Mr. Walker also regretted that only a short stay was possible in Cheltenham, owing to train service.—Mr. A. A. Hughes (London) supported Mr. Walker's remarks, and Mr. Pates, in reply, expressed his pleasure that the peal had been successful. They all enjoyed the ringing, and it had given great pleasure to the Cheltenham ringers to welcome the visitors.

A HALF-PEAL.

At St. Michael's Church, Stone, Staffs, on November 26th, a half-peal of Grandsire Triples (2,520 changes) was rung in 1 hr. 27 mins.: H. Buckley 1, J. Head 2, G. Moulson 3, C. Templeton 4, T. Hodson 5, W. Buckley 6, A. Rowley (first half-peal as conductor) 7, E. Baker 8. This is the first half-peal by a local band at St. Michael's. It was rung as a compliment to the late schoolmaster and present lay reader, Mr. J. W. Clough, on his 70th birthday.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The Rector of Holy Trinity Church, Guildford, which is likely to become the Pro-Cathedral of the proposed new diocese, is, we hear, keen on getting two new trebles added to the existing fine peal of eight. And when the Rector is keen, the rest ought not to be very difficult.

The newly-formed Swansea and Brecon Guild intend to introduce a competition for ringing, and with that end in view are already in possession of a suitable shield.

At St. Sepulchre's, Snow Hill, London, of whose bells we hear so little in these days, a peal of Bob Major was rung on Dec. 5th, 1749.

The 'five ones' of Stedman Caters was rung by the College Youths at Fulham on December 8th, 1883. Although this was over forty years ago, half the band are still actively engaged in ringing. The 11,111, then a record, occupied 7 hrs. 11 mins. Three weeks earlier a band had made an attempt to beat the previous record of 10,047, made at Birmingham in 1859, but lost the peal after ringing nearly 10,000 changes.

A peal of 10,080 Bob Major was rung at Harrietsham, Kent, on Dec. 8th, 1746.

John Cox, one of the best known among composers of the nineteenth century, was born on Dec. 9th, 1813.

On Dec. 9th, 1833, a peal of 10,224 Treble Bob Maximus was rung at Painswick, and remained the record until 1911.

The first peal on the bells at St. Paul's Cathedral was rung on Dec. 10th, 1881.

At St. Magnus-the-Martyr, London Bridge, now hidden from view by a modern 'sky-scraper,' the first peal of 'Real Double Caters' was rung. It was composed and conducted by George Gross, and the bobs were alternately behind and before, but not always in the same or adjoining leads.

The 65th birthday of Harry Burstow, that famous old Sussex ringer and folk-song singer, who passed to his rest when over 80 years of age, was celebrated on Dec. 11th, 1891, by a peal of 6,720 Canterbury Pleasure Major at Horsham Church, when the old man rang the 7th.

The marks shown against the names of ringers of 5th and 6th in the report last week of the peal of London, rung at Godstone on Nov. 22nd, 1924, should have been reversed.

The ringers of 8th and 9th in the peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal at Bristol on Nov. 22nd were George Trew and John A. Burford, respectively. George R. Jones, and not George R. Hughes, rang the 4th at Farndon, Cheshire, in the peal of Double Norwich. The ringer of the 8th in the peal on November 22nd, at Surfleet, was Horace M. Day, and not Wood, as printed.

While referring to errors in the publication of names, may we ask correspondents to assist the printers by writing all names and initials as clearly as possible?

CARILLON DEDICATED IN CANADA.

FIFTEEN BELLS FROM WHITECHAPEL FOUNDRY.

On November 9th a carillon of 15 bells, the largest weighing 52 cwt., was dedicated at St. George's Church, Oshawa, Ontario, Canada, by Dr. Bidwell, Bishop of Ontario. The bells and the new tower in which they hang, have been given by Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Houston, of Cincinnati, Ohio, in memory of Edward Carswell, a pioneer churchman in Oshawa. The bells were supplied by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, of the Whitechapel Foundry, London. The tenor is hung for ringing, and the others are fixed rigid. The bells can be operated from a keyboard, and there is also a chiming machine, the hammers of which can be operated from a barrel rotated by hand. The dedication, says the 'Toronto Daily Mail and Empire,' was of a distinctly international character, with three countries—United States, England and Canada—being directly interested in the ceremonies; Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Houston, of Cincinnati, Ohio, donors of both tower and chimes, representing the former; Mr. A. R. McDonald, of London, England, who supervised the installation and tuning of the bells, representing England. The first bell was rung by Miss June Houston Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Smith, Simcoe Street, North Oshawa; a grand-daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Houston, and great-grand-daughter of the late Edward and Rebecca Carswell, in whose memory the tower and chimes were dedicated.

The tune played on the carillon at the dedication service by W. C. Smith, B.A., Sc. C.E., who is to be the official carillonneur, was 'Praise God, from whom all blessings flow,' and after Bishop Bidwell concluded the dedication address, the Rev. C. R. Depencier Rector of the parish, called Mr. Houston to the steps of the chancel from which he made the presentation of the tower and bells, and asked that they be accepted by new St. George's Church as a lasting memorial to Edward and Rebecca Carswell, two of the original members of the congregation.

After the ceremony the chimes rang out 'God save the King' and 'The Star-Spangled Banner.'

WILLIAM DOUBLEDAY CROFTS. A HISTORY OF THE FAMOUS NOTTINGHAM RINGER.

Last Saturday was the anniversary of the death, in the year 1809, of that famous old Nottingham ringer, William Doubleday Crofts, and through the kindness of Mr. Albert Coppock we are able to-day to publish for the first time a portrait of this old worthy, who made ringing history in that part of the country a century and a half ago. Our picture is reproduced from a photograph of the painting which hangs in Nottingham Castle Art Museum.

William Doubleday Crofts was a Nottingham attorney-at-law, and he achieved fame as a campanologist not only through Notts and the adjacent counties, but even as far afield as London and York. In this day, the 'tin Lizzie,' the Penny Post, and a ringers' weekly, were things undreamed of, and the amount of literature available for ringers lamentably small. Crofts was fully alive to this position, and his manuscripts, which are still in perfect preservation show him to have been fully aware of the fact that discoveries must be properly and carefully reported if they are to be of any use to a later generation.

It is a matter for regret that, apart from his ringing records and MSS. relating to ringing, practically nothing is known of the life of this celebrity, but every source of information is being carefully followed up by Mr. Coppock, to whom we are indebted for this sketch.

Crofts' MSS. have drawn praise from Jasper Snowden, who has interleaved them with written remarks, and present-day experts. His ability as a ringer is proved by his peal records. Physically, a very powerful man, he performed some very remarkable feats at the heavy end, and the heavy end in those days was a much more formidable task than at the present time. For instance, the first peal on the bells at Gainsborough was one of Grandsire Triples, in which Crofts rang the 4th, and two men rang the tenor behind. One year later, Crofts turned in this same tenor to Bob Major, single-handed, the peal being the same length, and only two minutes longer in execution. At the time the peal of 10,260 Grandsire Caters was rung at St. Mary's, Nottingham, in 1778, the bells were rung from a loft inside the church, requiring at least 30 feet more rope than is the case now. Yet Crofts conducted the peal from the 9th, single-handed, during the whole 7 hours and 22 minutes.

He was elected a member of the College Youths in 1765, and included in that society's band that scored the first peal at York Minster in 1787. An address noted in his MSS. reads, 'Mr. Roscoe, White Horse, Copper Gate, York.' Perhaps there is some connection. He conducted many a 'first peal on the bells,' including St. Peter's, Nottingham (old peal) in 1768, new peal 1771, Uppingham 1773, Newark 1773, Mansfield 1774, Grantham 1775, Norton-by-Galby 1776, and Caythorpe 1778. Two of his compositions, a 5,280 Treble Bob Major and a 5,000 Treble Bob Royal, find a place in Snowden's 'Treble Bob.' One of his successors as conductor of the Sherwood Youths, George Dickisson, reputed to be his son-in-law, and buried in the same grave as Crofts, conducted the first peal on the bells at Ashbourne, Derbyshire, in 1821, where a free fight occurred after the peal, with the locals in the churchyard.

A mere glance through the MSS. gives an impression of careful and detailed effort, which characterises all his work. His personal peal-book is a dainty specimen of cultured writing and engrossing. One of the two copies of the Clavis possessed by him shows in his own writing that every page has been carefully read and corrected even to the most minute detail, also that every peal in the book was proved by him, and the position of the false changes shown. He rang in all 31 peals, 27 of which he conducted, the details of which are:—

Grandsire Triples 15, conducted 14.

Grandsire Caters 6, conducted 4, including 6,012, 8,046, 10,260

Bob Major 4, conducted 3, including 6,000.

Bob Royal 1, conducted 1.

Oxford Treble Bob Major 3, conducted 3, including 7,040.

Double Bob Royal 1, conducted 1.

In one peal at Nottingham, in 1782, the ringer of the 3rd is described as 'an honest Yorkshireman.' No explanation is offered, but probably 'Samivell Peppery' might be able to throw light on it. The portrait which is published by kind permission of the Nottingham Castle Art Museum, where the original hangs, was painted by Richard Bonington, a one-time stump orator, artist, and jack-of-all-trades, who eventually succeeded his father as jailer at the Nottingham House of Correction, in which latter capacity he probably encountered Crofts. Bonington afterwards married a Birmingham lady, named Parkes, settled in the nearby village of Arnold, where a son was born to them. This boy grew up to be the famous Nottingham artist, Richard Parkes Bonington, whose work is internationally known.

This article is intended to justify the efforts of the present generation of Nottingham ringers to keep alive the memory of this local giant by holding an annual memorial dinner bearing his name. His grave, so long neglected that its position was forgotten, has now been cleaned and edged with marble, and as a compliment to him the Society of Sherwood Youths has been revived.

Writing of the Crofts' MSS. Mr. J. W. Parker, of Sunderland, has said 'The whole of the papers are extremely interesting, and, considering the time when they were written, reveal the writer as a wonderful man. At that time there could be little or no chance of learning from an outside source, and yet the contents of the MSS. show Crofts to have the knowledge of and a keen insight into many things which would put him in the forefront, even to-day. His touches and peals seem surprising for the time The most surprising and interesting to me is the writer's proof of Treble Bob methods by the lead ends. In the case of Oxford Treble Bob the proof is as exact and detailed as that published 100 years later by the late Jasper W. Snowden. Though set out in a different way, the method of deducing the false course ends from the false lead ends is the same.'

Mr. George Baker, who has also examined the MSS., expressed the view: 'Considering the time it was written, the knowledge he had of proving stanzas Crofts as one of the most remarkable men in the history of ringing. With one exception (Cambridge Surprise) his proofs are equal to anything that can be done to-day, although the work was far more laborious than now His collection of peals and touches is very wonderful, and one can only be surprised that at such an early date there was living a gentleman with far greater knowledge than many first-rate ringers possess to-day.'

BARNSELEY & DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

The monthly meeting of the Barnsley and District Society was held at Wortley, near Penistone, on Saturday, November 15th, when the following towers were represented: Horbury, Anston, Bolderstone, Rotherham, Penistone, Hovlandswaine, Wath. Touches were rung in 6 and 8 bell methods, and the bells kept going until 9.30 p.m. Tea was provided by kind invitation of Mr. Wooler, and at the business meeting, held in the same room, a letter of regret was read from Mr. C. D. Potter (secretary), who was unable to attend owing to illness. The meeting expressed its sorrow and the hope that he would soon be restored to health.

An invitation was received from Horbury to hold the next meeting there, as it was proposed to open the bells after rehanging by Messrs. Meurs and Stainbank, on December 13th.—The offer was accepted, and the meeting closed with votes of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and to Mr. Wooler for his kind invitation to tea.

ELTHAM BELLS DEDICATED.

SIX RECAST AND TWO NEW TREBLES.

The newly recast bells of Eltham Parish Church, Kent, were dedicated by the Lord Bishop of Southwark on November 1st, in the presence of a large and representative congregation.

The first step in carrying out the scheme was taken at a public meeting in the Parish Hall, at which it was unanimously decided that the six lower bells in the tower should be recast and rehung in metal framework, with new fittings, and two new trebles added. It was also decided that electric winding apparatus be fitted to the tower clock, and that a third dial be placed on the east side, so that it could be seen from High Street. This is the scheme which has been admirably carried out by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon.

The restoration was organised by Captain W. Anderson, who has worked with considerable enthusiasm, keeping the scheme constantly before the public, special emphasis being laid on the fact that the bells and clock existed for the common good of Eltham people, who, one and all, were asked to contribute to the cost of the work. The first, or treble bell, bears the inscription 'Mary,' and is in memory of Mary C. L. Yeatman and E. L. Yeatman.

On the second bell is inscribed 'Restoration, organised by Capt. W. Anderson, M.C., and the cost defrayed by public subscription, 1924,' and on each of the eight bells is inscribed 'Recast by Gillett and Johnston, Croydon, 1924.'

The history of the bells is given on No. 8 bell, and is as follows: 'The lower six bells, recast by Thos. Mears, of London, in 1794. Were again recast and two trebles added in 1924. The Rev. I. Kenyard, Vicar; Thos. Noyes, Wm. Glazbrook, churchwardens, 1794. The Rev. Elphinstone Rivers, Vicar; Thos. Reed Parry, Geo. Wm. Chidley, churchwardens, 1924.'

THE DEDICATION SERVICE.

Despite the distinctly inclement weather, the church was well filled for the dedication service. The Lord Bishop was attended by the Rev. S. G. Hooper (Bishop's chaplain), the clergy in the stalls and sanctuary being the Rev. Elphinstone Rivers (Vicar of the parish), the Rev. J. C. Grey (Parish Church), the Rev. H. A. Hall (Vicar of Holy Trinity, Eltham), the Rev. R. H. S. Gobbitt (St. Luke's, Eltham), the Rev. R. B. Janvrin (St. Peter's, Lee Road), and Father E. Thornton (All Saints', Hatcham, New Cross, who assisted at Eltham Parish Church during the war). Occupying front seats in the nave were the eight bell ringers (members of the Kent County Association, one of whom was Captain Anderson). Col. H. B. Tasker and Mr. R. C. Gregory, representatives of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, were also present. The organist was Mr. G. Nelson Prior.

Evensong was begun with the Lord's Prayer, and the act of dedication having taken place, the bells were rung in rounds for a few minutes.

In his address, the Bishop first said they were taking part that evening in a service, which, through the nature of the case, could very rarely occur—the dedication of the bells of the church, either as new bells or after recasting. Normally, bells were recast every 200 years, and so it followed that it was in the highest degree improbable that any of those who were in the church that night would, unless some strange accident occurred, hear again the ringing forth of the bells immediately after their dedication. Their earliest bells dated back to the reign of Henry VI., and it was possible that some of the metal in some bells to-day was used for the ringing of the peals of triumph at the destruction of the Spanish Armada, at the restoration of Charles II., at the release of the bishops from the tower, at the coming of William of Orange, and after the victories of Trafalgar and Waterloo. The bells of their Parish Church in many cases linked the church with the distant past, and it was difficult, he thought, to exaggerate the place bells had had in history, in architecture, and in art. Sometimes the bells in the past actually made history. They were rung to warn the inhabitants of the town of the approach of the enemy; they were rung at other times to stir the people into revolt; they were rung as a signal that all fires were to be closed; and frequently in the past there were occasions when the ringing of the bells signalled some really important act in history. Speaking of the effect bells had on art, his Lordship said that at one time our churches had no towers; they had little turrets through which light and air were admitted, but presently there came the need for a place in which bells could be rung, and so were built the towers and spires as tabernacles for the bells, and gradually those towers and spires were adorned until they became objects of real beauty on our English landscape.

THE INFLUENCE OF BELLS.

Bells had also left their influence on poetry. It would take volumes to give anything like an adequate account of the way in which bells had influenced the poets of every generation. If bells, continued the preacher, had had their part in history, in architecture and in poetry, they had had their part above all in religion, calling the people to church, calling them to worship, ringing out merrily for a wedding and mournfully for some passing soul, reminding people of the world which was invisible, bringing to them in this jangling life some message from the spheres of heaven. And they brought their message to many who often stood entirely apart from organised religion. Some of them might remember how Faust, when about to commit suicide by drinking from a cup of poison, suddenly heard the bells ring out, and he remembered how, long ago in his boyhood, he had heard them, and they stirred him to better thoughts. Then again, Peer Gynt, when wrestling with the bestialities of the lower world, was delivered by the sound of the bells ringing out in the morning. When the bells rang out, what was their message? They called people to worship, and if they themselves were not able to come into the church when they heard the bells, they could lift up their hearts in some short prayer, act of thanksgiving, or act of recollection, recalling to themselves the Presence of God, and the invisible world. They also rang out a message of peace and goodwill; they called them to realise the fellowship they should all have one with another as members of the great family of God. To the bell ringers, his Lordship said they must perform their duties rightly with co-operation and unity. There must be no disharmony and dispute in their own lives, and in their own work, and the parishioners must in their own lives show forth the same unity and goodwill. When they were sometimes depressed and disappointed at all the disharmony of their day, when they saw the world divided so often by class division and social and international strife, then let them remember God's purpose. Let them realise that in due time His purpose would be accomplished.

The musical parts of the service were very beautifully rendered by the choir. The closing hymn was, 'Lifted safe within the steeple,' followed by the Blessing.

A collection was taken on behalf of the Restoration Fund, and after the service the bells were rung by the bell ringers, this concluding another interesting phase in the history of old Eltham.

WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

GUILDFORD DISTRICT'S SUCCESSFUL YEAR.

The annual meeting of the Guildford District was held at Guildford on Saturday last, and the result shows that the district has kept up its reputation of being one of the most progressive in the diocese. The bells of Holy Trinity (8) and S. Nicolas (10) were available during the afternoon, and a service was held in Holy Trinity Church at 4.30, conducted by the Rector (the Rev. Canon E. C. Kirwan). A capital address was given by the Rev. P. Cunningham (Rector of Cranleigh). Tea was provided at Brett's Restaurant, 79 sitting down. Ringers were present from Aldershot, Ash, Clondon, Cranleigh, Cobham, Farnham, Godalming, Haslemere, Holy Trinity and S. Nicolas, Guildford, Puttenham, Shere and Worplesdon, as well as a strong contingent from the York Town district.

After tea, the annual business meeting was held, the chair being taken by Mr. N. Vincent, churchwarden of Holy Trinity, supported by Rev. Canon Kirwan, Rev. P. Cunningham, Major J. H. B. Hesse, Mr. J. J. Jones, Mr. K. Whittington, etc.

After a few introductory remarks by the chairman, the secretary's report was read, and showed a substantial balance to be forwarded to the general treasurer.

The Ringing Master also presented his report, which showed a great improvement of ringing in the district during the past year.

The officers were all re-elected: Mr. E. Raddon, hon. secretary; Mr. A. C. Hazelden, Ringing Master; Mr. W. R. Melville, chairman of committee; and Messrs. Jones and Whittington, representatives on the Central Committee.

Four full members and one probationer were elected, and the places of meeting for the year were decided as follows: Wonsers and Bramley in February; Godalming in April; Leatherhead in May; Seale and Puttenham in July; and Cobham in September.

The usual vote of thanks was passed to the Rev. Canon E. C. Kirwan for holding the service, the Rev. P. Cunningham for his address, to the chairman for presiding (accorded with musical honours), to the organist, and to the officers for their past services.

At the conclusion of the business, a smoking concert was held, and a capital programme of music and songs was carried out by members of Brett's Concert Party, a very enjoyable evening being spent.

ISLE OF WIGHT DISTRICT.

The annual meeting of the Isle of Wight District was held at Newport on Thursday, November 27th. Mr. A. D. Callaway was voted to the chair, in the absence of the Vicar of Newport (Canon Thompson). The accounts were passed, showing a balance of £4 2s. 5½d., which was considered satisfactory, in view of Shanklin ringers having lapsed through the bells being unringable, owing to the state of the tower.

The Rev. J. C. Orr, Vicar of Whitwell, was elected president for 1925. The secretary, auditor and representative on the Central Committee were re-elected.

Meetings for 1925 were fixed as follows: February 28th, Carisbrooke; Whit Monday, Ryde; Sept. 6th, Whitwell or Godshill; November (last Saturday), Brading.

Thanks to Mr. Callaway for presiding terminated the meeting, after which the bells of Newport Parish Church were utilised by ringers from Newport, Ryde and Carisbrooke.

WHITECHAPEL FOUNDRY.'FROM THE ARMADA TO THE GREAT WAR.'

A very charmingly got-up booklet, dealing briefly with the art of bell founding and the history of the ancient Whitechapel Foundry, has been issued by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank for private circulation. Entitled 'Bell Founding from the Armada to the Great War and after,' the brochure has many illustrations, which include a picture of one of Robert Mot's bells, cast in 1594 for Staplehurst, Kent. A chronological list of the proprietors of the foundry is given from the days of Mot in 1570, and it will be interesting to those not already conversant with the history of this firm, to learn that at various times the goodwill and patterns of the following founders have been incorporated: Abraham Rudhall and Co., of Gloucester; John Briant, of Hertford; Osborn and Dobson, of Downham, Norfolk; and Robert Wells, of Aldbourne, Wilts.

A list of some of the more important bells in all parts of the world, cast by the firm, is given, and there are notes on 'Tone and Tune,' bell hanging, and carillons, as well as much other interesting matter. Not the least striking feature is to be found on the front cover, where is embossed a facsimile of the present stamp of the foundry alongside a copy of that of Robert Mot of 1570.

DEATH OF MR. W. J. SEVIER.PASSING OF 'THE PROPHET.'

We regret to record the death of Mr. William J. Sevier, of Nottingham, and late of Gloucester, who died on November 20th after only a few days' illness.

Mr. Sevier was something of a 'character' in the Exercise, and was formerly familiarly known as 'The Prophet,' from his study of astrology. He was born on Dec. 2nd, 1864, and did most of his ringing while living in and near Gloucester, although his interest in the art remained keen to the end.

Members of the Nottingham District of the Midland Counties' Association intended to be present at the funeral, but the obsequies took place earlier than was expected, and consequently no ringers attended, and the wreath which was subscribed for was not placed on the grave. With the sum received for this purpose, however, it is hoped to form the nucleus of a fund for some kind of memorial.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The quarterly meeting of the Northern Branch was held at Royston on Saturday, November 22nd, and was well attended by members from Baldock, Barkway, Barley, Braughing, Graveley, Hitchin, Little Mundon, and Ware.

Service was held in the Parish Church, and the Vicar (the Rev. J. Harrison) gave a very appropriate address on 'Influence.'

Tea was served at Beale's Restaurant, and was followed by the meeting, which was presided over by the Vicar.—One new member was elected, and it was decided to hold the next meeting at Baldock in February.

Regret was expressed all round at the departure of Mr. W. L. Darlow, a valuable member of the Royston company, who leaves for South Africa, for health reasons shortly, everyone wishing him good-speed.

Thanks were voted to the organist and the Vicar for their helpful services to the association, and a return was made to the tower for practice in the standard methods.

A district meeting was held at St. Albans on Saturday, November 29th. St. Peter's tower was open during the afternoon, and ringers attended from Watford, Harpenden, Tring, Hemel Hempstead, Kington, Hatfield, North Mimms, and the local band. The methods rung were Grandsire and Stedman Caters, Bob Royal and Treble Bob Royal, Double Norwich and Superlative.

The bells in this tower have recently been overhauled by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, and the 'go' of them is all that can be desired.

At the business meeting, the President of the Association (Mr. H. Goodenough) occupied the chair. It was decided to hold the next meeting at Hatfield on January 17th, 1925.

After tea, the Cathedral tower was visited, and the bells kept going till 8.30, and the evening was concluded with handbell ringing.

YAXLEY, SUFFOLK.—On November 14th, at St. Mary's Church, an attempt for a peal of Minor came to grief, after ringing the last course of the second 720 Kent Treble Bob Minor. Then was rung 720 each of Oxford Treble Bob Minor and Plain Bob Minor: W. Saunders 1, E. Youngs 2, A. J. Berry 3, H. Day 4, E. F. Poppy (conductor) 5, D. Whiting 6. This was rung for the institution of the new Vicar, which took place the same evening.

EYE, SUFFOLK.—On Monday, November 17th, 720 Bob Major and 544 Oxford Treble Bob Major: G. Merton 1, E. Youngs 2, R. Grimble 3, A. Oakes 4, F. Hayward 5, E. F. Poppy (conductor) 6, H. Day 7, D. Whiting 8.

METHOD CONSTRUCTION.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—What Mr. Baker calls a two-bell shunt will be better understood if it be regarded as a three-bell shunt. The three shunts are shunted from a position in which they course after 4 and 5 to a position before these bells. The operation by means of which this is done is known as an 'Extreme.' Similarly his four-bell shunt is actually a one-bell shunt. Also an Extreme. To many people the difference will doubtless appear merely a matter of words, but in fact it is in points like this that all the difference lies between understanding what a shunt is and complete failure to grasp the point at issue. If he will allow me to say so, Mr. Baker would do well to spend his next half-hour of leisure at Brighton Goods Station. He will then learn that a shunt consists of cutting a block of trucks out of a train and re-uniting them to the train in a fresh position. Any railway porter will inform him that the shunt is not completed when the train is cut in half. This is where the theory of the place-makers breaks down. It is true that it might be argued that the two rows correspond to a train of 6 trucks in which 1 and 4 are interchanged, and similarly 5 and 6. But no one is foolish enough to say just this, for everyone recognises that coursing order has something or other to do with a shunt in ringing.

What most people fail to grasp is that this coursing order has everything to do with it, and nothing else at all enters in. Giving prominence to the place invariably causes a confusion of thought, though this is not always evident when applied by really able men like Mr. J. W. Parker, though it is present all the same.

What is needed is freedom from all artificial prejudice. Nothing has stood more in the way of a recognition of the true principles which underlie all change ringing than the assumption that London Minor and London Major are the same method. Why this ancient superstition (for it is nothing else) should prove so long lived is hard to understand. Take any other method whatever in which the extension is unquestioned, can you find a single parallel to the work of the second in the first lead? In Minor, after making 4th's it hunts up, whereas in Major it turns round and returns to the lead. Surely this ought to raise suspicion. And yet we actually find that the assumption that it is a true extension is used to controvert an argument, logical in itself, which goes further to explain Method Construction than anything which has previously been produced.

Mr. York Bramble is mistaken about my second tentative definition. It is the familiar story of confusing Construction and Composition. At one stage they have much in common, but at the point with which these definitions deal it is necessary to keep them quite separate. Thus, we are not concerned here with the possibility of the repetition of rows. That comes later. The definitions deal with the principles which will restore a certain number of bells to the order from which they started: we are not as yet dealing with the way in which repetition is to be avoided. Mr. Bramble's suggested addition, I fear, will only increase the confusion in most people's minds. The root of the whole matter, so far as Construction is concerned, is that if bells are started from rounds they can only return to rounds when they are in 'original' coursing order. Incidentally, that is the reason why methods ought to have Bob Major lead ends. The regular divisions into which a plain course is divided should exhibit at their junctions the complete work of the method. They do not strictly do this if some or other shunt is not completely resolved within the lead. Or, to put it another way, a lead must contain completed shunts within itself and not part A of one shunt and part B of a second shunt.

To give a familiar example:—

214356	214356	In the first instance the shunt is completed within the lead, whereas in the second at the go off from rounds the first stage of a shunt on 3-4 takes place, but it is not completed till the 5th lead of the course. That is why Canterbury should be rung in its reverse form alone. In its earliest form a so-called lead contains part of four separate leads. This spoils the symmetry, and symmetry is one of the most important features of change ringing.—Yours faithfully,
123465	123465

E. S. POWELL.

P.S.—Does not Mr. Parker's clever jugglery with words amount to this? A murderer makes a small cut and severs an important artery of his victim. The man bleeds to death. His death is caused by the bleeding, and not by the cut. Therefore, the perpetrator ought only to be punished for a common assault. Very nice and conclusive.

DEATH OF MR. T. H. JONES, MONMOUTH.

It is with regret that we have to record the death of Mr. T. H. Jones, of Monmouth, after a long and trying illness, at the age of 64. He was at one time a very active member of the Llandaff Diocesan Association, but for some years past, through his many public duties, he was unfortunately only able to give but little time to ringing away from his own parish church, where he remained to the end a constant and regular attendant.

It was in 1882, when the writer first went to live at Monmouth, that Mr. Jones began his change ringing career. He soon proved himself to be a very intelligent and enthusiastic pupil, and with his help, after many struggles, the local band scored their first peal, which was also the first on the bells. He gave great promise of being a good handbell ringer, having rung 5-6 to the writer's 'four-in-hand' to at least a hundred 720's of Minor in ten methods. He had only rung three peals of Grandsire Triples, but could ring all the standard methods very well.

He was born in humble circumstances, yet by hard work and perseverance he rose to become a prominent business man of the town. In a busy life, however, he always found time for public work, and many and varied were the capacities in which he devoted his energy to the benefit of the town and neighbourhood. He had occupied a seat on the Corporation for considerably over a quarter of a century, ultimately becoming an alderman. No better tribute could be paid to him when it is said that in all he undertook he gave of his very best, and never let anyone down.

The church bells were rung muffled while his remains were being conveyed to the Cemetery. E. B.

NOTTINGHAM DISTRICT.

A meeting of the Nottingham District was held on Saturday, Nov. 22nd, at Old Basford, when between 20 and 30 ringers attended from the following towers: Beeston, Barton, Bottesford, Bulwell, Ilkeston, Sawley, Greasley, Long Eaton; St. Peter's and St. Mary's, Nottingham; Daybrook, Sutton-in-Ashfield, Sandiacre. Mr. J. E. Sykes was also present, being on a visit to the city, and received a hearty welcome. Members of the local band also attended.

The vice-president (Mr. A. Coppock) was unable to be present, owing to indisposition, and at the business meeting held in the tower the chair was occupied by Mr. W. E. White.

On the suggestion of the committee, the next meeting is to be held at St. Mary's, Nottingham, on December 13th, and will be followed by a lecture at 7 p.m. by the Rev. R. F. Wilkinson, of Mansfield, on the history of the church bells of Nottinghamshire, bell ringing customs, and bells and change ringing. This gathering will be held in the St. Mary's Church Institute.

The Chairman mentioned that the association had lost one of its members during the week in Mr. W. J. Sevier, and asked all those present who possibly could to attend the funeral. It was hoped to ring the handbells over his grave. A collection was also taken for the purchase of a wreath.

A hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and also to Mr. Hooten for kindly making the arrangements, was proposed, and carried, Mr. Hooten replying on behalf of the Vicar and himself.

The bells were kept busy during the evening in various methods.

TO REACH THE OUTSIDERS.

A very gratifying state of affairs exists in the Suffolk Guild, for it is reported that, with one exception, every change ringing tower in the area is fully affiliated to the organisation. We wonder how many other associations can boast of an equally good record. The ideal state of affairs, of course, would be that every tower with a peal of bells should be affiliated, and it is towards this end that associations should ever be striving. That the majority are always working to achieve this result cannot be denied, but we are not so certain that more could not be done than is done to bring in the towers which, for no special reason, except, perhaps, neglect or indifference, remain outside. We realise the difficulties with which associations are faced in their task, but no stone should be left unturned in the process of 'converting' those who remain outside the pale. There are some associations who use very little effort of the missionary kind; some who never make a point of officially visiting an un-affiliated tower, and simply wait until private influence or spontaneous desire prompts an application for admission.

There are, of course, other associations who carry on well organised efforts to reach these outside towers, but we should like to see a much more general endeavour to bring them into the 'fold.' Instead of leaving it to casual private invitation, as is often the case, a zealous official campaign might be inaugurated, and, just as a business man seeking a new customer does not give up trying at the first rebuff, so a persistent attempt should be made. Let formal invitation be followed up by interview with ringers and clergy, and the importance of affiliation with the county or diocesan body stressed. Pressure such as this, if continuous and tactfully exercised, would be bound to tell. We believe that the plan which is followed in some associations, of providing for the affiliation of the tower—as distinct from the ringers—is a step in the right direction. This is usually effected through the incumbent or the Parochial Council, and where the church authority can be influenced to support officially the diocesan organisation it almost goes without saying that the support of the ringers would follow. We do not always emphasise sufficiently the fact that a ringer, in joining the association, is joining a body formed not merely to cater for his amusement or instruction, but established as a part of the Church's organisation in the diocese. It is the diocesan aspect, indeed, which would make the strongest appeal, if all associations were to endeavour to introduce the system of tower affiliation. We believe that in future our ringing associations will see the importance of such action as we advocate, instead of the 'go-as-you-please' methods so common to-day.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The fine little handbells used in the peal at Leicester last week went to France and Flanders with their intrepid owner, Sergt. Harry Stoneley, R.G.A., and were under bombardment in the trenches many times. Often when things got too hot, and E. Harry had to run for it, his little bag of handbells were invariably his first thought, and whatever else was left behind, these never left him.

The Royal Cumberland Youths will hold their annual meeting on January 17th next.

As mentioned in the footnote to the report published last week, the peal at Torquay on November 29th was the first on the bells for 29 years. The bells have a long draught, and do not go well. The previous peal rung there (in 1895) was by the Oxford Guild, and the band included the Rev. F. E. Robinson and Mr. J. W. Washbrook.

On December 12th, 1848, St. Martin's Society, Birmingham, rang a peal of 7,392 Stedman Cinques, which was composed and conducted by Henry Johnson, and was the longest length in the method up to that date.

A peal of 8,008 Grandsire Cinques was rung at St. Saviour's, Southwark, on December 15th, 1735, and long stood as the record length in this method. In this peal 'Benjamin Annable call'd bobs.'

The first peal in South Africa was rung twenty years ago next Monday, this being Grandsire Triples at Woodstock.

Yesterday, in the evening was rung by our ringers at St. Mary's tower in this town 5,040 changes, being the whole peal of Grandsire Triples on eight bells; the persons were James Kerridge, aged 61, 8th; Isaac Whitehand, 7th; Stephen Bond, 6th; George Bond, 5th; Stephen Kirby, 4th; Robert Hogger, 3rd; Thomas Bennett, 2nd; George Weston, treble, which was done in three hours and eleven minutes by the above said persons to the satisfaction of all the lovers of that science.

The above is quoted from the 'Ipswich Gazette' of December 13th, 1735, so that the 189th anniversary of this peal occurs to-morrow. There is no board in the tower relating to this peal.

William Banister, best known of the famous Woolwich ringing family, called the first peal in Exeter, a peal of Grandsire Triples, at St. Sidwell's on December 18th, 1875. Mr. Banister was then at Plymouth Dockyard. It is interesting to note that the back eight bells of St. Sidwell's were bought from All Hallows' Church, Goldsmith Street, in 1767, when the latter church, being much in debt, was glad to raise money in this way.

The first peal of Canterbury Pleasure Major was rung at Warnham, Sussex, on December 17th, 1888. Probably more Canterbury Pleasure Major has been rung in this tower than anywhere. A band once started there for a 20,180 in the method, and rang a long way.

The handbell peal at Northrepps, published last week, was rung for the Norfolk Guild, to which E. L. Risbrow was elected a member before starting.

The peal of Stedman Caters on handbells at Nuncaton was rung on November 29th, not the 22nd, as published.

St. Mary-le-Tower bells, Ipswich, will not, we learn, be available for some months, owing to the extensive work that has to be done to the masonry of the tower.

The Bishop of Peterborough has granted a license as Lay Reader to Mr. Fred Wilford, Master of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild. He was instituted on Saturday by the Rev. J. P. Friend, R.D., who is president of the Northampton Branch of the Guild.

Mr. Wilford was one of the first advocates of services at ringers' meetings in Northamptonshire, where they have since grown to be a strong feature of such gatherings.

On December 9th, 1889, the late Mr. James Motte called the first part of Day's peal of 16,608 Treble Bob Major, which was rung on handbells.

The peal of Treble Bob Major at St. Martin's, Epsom, published last week, was in the Kent, and not the Oxford Variation.

EASTERN DISTRICT MEETING AT GOOLE.

The quarterly meeting of the Eastern District was held at Goole, on Saturday, November 29th, and was attended by representatives from Eastrington, Hemmingbrough, Howden, Hull, Pontefract, Selby and Thorne. A short choral service was held in the Parish Church, when the address was delivered by the Vicar of Goole, the Right Rev. Bishop G. D. Iliff, D.D., and was much appreciated by those who were privileged to hear it.

Tea was afterwards provided in the National Schools, to which some 35 members sat down.

At the business meeting, which followed, the Vicar occupied the chair. Three new members were elected, viz., Mr. A. Tate (Goole), and Messrs. P. J. Metcalfe and B. Scaife (Withernsea).

It was unanimously decided that the annual meeting be held at Selby in March, 1925, subject to the usual permission being granted. Votes of thanks were accorded the Vicar, organist, choir, and the local ringers, for their efficient arrangements during the day.

THE LATE MR. W. J. SEVIER. RECOLLECTIONS OF MR. JOHN AUSTIN.

My first meeting with the late Mr. Sevier was whilst at Burton, when he turned up at St. Paul's Church on an Easter Sunday morning and at St. Modwen's at night, he being then on the road to Manchester. The next day (Easter Monday), the annual meeting of the Midland Counties Association was held at Duffield, and W. J. S. turned up, having walked from Burton. Afterwards he made his way to Manchester, as far as I know with little success, for shortly afterwards he was back in Gloucester. On my leaving Burton for that city, the deceased was the first ringer I met, and he introduced me to the St. Michael's Juniors at their practice on Thursday night, and from that time we were continually out ringing together. There is not a tower round about Gloucester which the deceased had not visited. He would think nothing of walking five or six miles for a practice, and occasionally would go off for a twenty or thirty mile walk at the week-end to visit some tower which could not be reached in the week-day. One Sunday evening, after ringing at Thornbury, he walked back to Gloucester twenty miles, and, on one occasion, when on the road from London, he walked from Reading to Gloucester, 75 miles in one day.

As a ringer he was a good striker, and always ready, if there was a bell going badly, to tackle it. Although he never mastered Surprise methods he was well at home in Stedman, Grandsire, Plain Bob, Treble Bob and Double Norwich. He was always willing to go and assist any band wherever his services were required. He was a member of the St. Michael's Juniors from the commencement until he left Gloucester.

Unfortunately the news of his death came too late for the society to be represented at the funeral, or to send a wreath, but as the Gloucester and Bristol Association was meeting at Barnwood, where Mr. Sevier was a member of the band in 1888, it was suggested that a muffled peal be rung as a token of respect. This peal was successful, and will be found recorded in the peal columns. J. A.

In memory of Mr. Sevier, who was one time Master of the Old Basford Guild, Notts, a half-muffled touch of 504 Stedman Triples was rung at Old Basford Parish Church on November 25th: Miss Florrie Hooton 1, G. Hooton 2, F. Barks 3, F. Turner 4, A. Marsh 5, S. Pinder 6, H. Lewin (conductor) 7, W. Kinton 8.

BELL RINGING BROADCAST. A SUGGESTION FOR NEW YEAR'S EVE.

The following letter has been addressed by Mr. J. M. Poyntz, himself a wireless expert, to the director of programmes of the British Broadcasting Co., London:—

Dear Sir,—Can you not broadcast some genuine change ringing from 2 L.O. instead of the chiming of the St. Martin's bells, which you give us so frequently?

Some time ago your Birmingham station transmitted a course of change ringing from the tower of St. Martin's, Birmingham, which, judging from the reports in the ringing press, was thoroughly appreciated by campanologists all over the country.

The London ringing societies would doubtless be only too pleased to make the necessary ringing arrangements, were you to approach them on the subject, and I am sure that the result would be much appreciated by all ringers who have receiving sets, as well as by all lovers of bells.

The chiming of bells is not the true English method of using these beautiful instruments, and is, at best, only a make-shift.

While on this subject, I should like to suggest that, on New Year's Eve, you would be giving us all a great treat if you would broadcast the ringing out of the old year and the ringing in of the new. By this I mean, the muffled ringing of the bells before midnight, the striking of the hour, and then the open ringing to welcome the new year.

This is carried out at many churches, it is very impressive, and you could doubtless easily arrange it with the ringing authorities referred to above.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION. NORTH AND EAST DISTRICT.

The last meeting of the year of the North and East District was held at All Hallows', Tottenham, on Saturday, and although the attendance was at first below the average, members turned up in good numbers after tea, and enjoyed some excellent practice in all sorts of methods.

A short service was held at 4.45, when the members were addressed by the Vicar (the Rev. F. Denton Jones). This was followed by tea, and at the subsequent business meeting four new members were elected, whilst Edmonton was chosen for the next meeting, on January 24th, this being the district annual meeting.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Rev. F. Denton Jones, and to Mr. H. W. H. Strickland for arranging the meeting. Ringing was afterwards indulged in until 9 p.m., and as is usual at these meetings everybody had as much as they desired, and in almost any method they wished, from Grandsire and Stedman Triples to Cambridge, London and Bristol Surprise.

THE WASHBROOK MEMORIAL.

To the Editor.

Sir,—The committee's proposals re the above are evidently unsatisfactory to ringers, both inside and outside the diocese. One hopes the suggestion of adding trebles to the present peal of six at St. Ebb's will be dropped. St. Giles' would make a very decent peal of eight, but experience has taught most ringers that it is folly to put additional bells into a church adjoining a hospital. The authorities at the hospital may be all right now, but what of the future, when the bells are wanted for peals? Apparently there are too many bells in Oxford now, the fact that some towers are closed for ringing altogether, and others are available only two or three times in the year should prove this.

May I suggest to the committee and the Exercise the claims of Kidlington for the Washbrook Memorial? In the first place, the late Mr. Washbrook was born in the parish of Kidlington; secondly, it was at this tower where he achieved one of the greatest performances in the history of ringing; and, finally, permission is always readily given for peals at any time within reason. Two trebles in front of the existing peal of eight would make a really nice peal of ten. A fitting memorial to a great man.

GLOSSOP RINGER'S DEATH IN CANADA.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Just a few lines to inform my friends in and around greater Manchester, that we have lost a very old friend by the death of Mr. Joseph Maloney, late of Glossop, Derbyshire, and better known as 'Joe Loney.'

He died on Friday, November 14th, suddenly, although he has been ailing for a long time. I have just received a letter from Mulville, Manitoba, Can.

'Dear old Joe,' his memory will never die amongst bell ringers for 20 miles from Glossop. Everybody knew 'Joe Loney.' His favourite method was Kent Major, and he had the honour and privilege of conducting the last peal on the old Mottram bells, and, I think, but am not sure, that he called the first on the new bells in the same tower, again Kent Treble Bob Major. I had the honour and privilege of a rope in each peal. Joe and his dear wife, Harriet, sailed to Canada about 12 years ago, and I don't think another Loney has turned up in his place. He was happiest when he was either ringing or singing—'knocking sally up.' If the ringers of either Dinting, Whitfield or Old Glossop, ever think of putting up a small tablet to his memory in either tower I will very gladly contribute my mite towards it. Thanking you in anticipation, and wishing you and all my ringing friends in and around Manchester a merry Christmas and a prosperous New Year.—Yours sincerely,

RICHARD NEWTON.

THE SUFFOLK GUILD.

ALL BUT ONE CHANGE RINGING TOWER AFFILIATED.

The meeting of this Guild, which was held at Stowmarket on Saturday last, was one of the most successful ever held there. Members came from all over the diocese, even from distant Bungay, while one 'youth' of 74 walked eleven miles to the meeting. Tea was provided in the Church Hall.

At the meeting afterwards, presided over by the Vicar, there was discussion on the prevailing practice of clacking bells, or tying a cord to the clapper, which is sure to result in the bell becoming cracked.

It was announced that there is now only one change ringing tower in the diocese which is not fully affiliated to the Diocesan Guild.

ANOTHER ASPECT OF AN OLD QUESTION

Apocryph of our leading article last week, the following cutting from a London daily newspaper published some time ago, may be read with interest.

THE RINGER'S POINT OF VIEW.

A Vicar chides ringers who call people to church and then walk out themselves.

I loves the old bell in the steeple,
That swings i' the marnin' sky,
An' I loves fur to call the people,
But, bless ye, the job's full dry;
An' if I was stayin' to listen
Till passon an' choir amen'd,
Why, that 'id be givin' o' this un
Two dry old jobs on end!

I don't mind a-callin' the people
To coom in their Sunday best,
But when I've done wi' the steeple
The passon can do the rest;
Sakes: wouldn't poor passon grumble
If axed for to do his spell
An' set in th' porch while yer 'umble
Was dingin' that blessed bell!

ESSEX ASSOCIATION. A 'LIVE' DISTRICT.

The annual meeting of the North-Eastern Division held on Saturday at Great Bentley, when 30 members, representing 15 parishes, were present. The Vicar conducted the service at the Parish Church, and later presided over the tea at the Lion Hotel, kindly provided by the Vicar and Mr. W. J. Nevard. Mr. Nevard (Master) and Mr. Stannard (hon. secretary) were for the fourth time re-elected unanimously, one member stating in a humorous speech that it was best to leave well alone.—Mr. Stannard, in thanking the members for their confidence, stated that every name in the annual report was that of a live member, everyone having paid the last year's contribution, so that the North-Eastern Division was up to date.

Ringling was indulged in till a late hour, one ringer of 13 boasting that he had not left the belfry till he had rung the 2nd to a course of Cambridge.

GLOUCESTER & BRISTOL ASSOCIATION. GLOUCESTER BRANCH.

The annual meeting of the Gloucester Branch was held at Barnwood on Saturday, November 29th, when 29 members from various towers attended, including visitors from Swindon and Stroud. Ringling commenced at 3 p.m., and a short service was held, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. F. H. V. Paton), who extended a hearty welcome to the members, and gave a very helpful address on the vocation of ringers. Following the service, the company adjourned to the Schoolroom, where an excellent tea had been provided, through the kind generosity of the chairman of the branch (Mr. W. B. Wood) and the Rev. F. H. V. Paton.

After tea, Mr. Wood took the chair for the business meeting, at which the hon. secretary presented his report, which showed that nine meetings had been held during the year, with an attendance of 150 members, and an average of just over 10 per meeting.

Mr. W. B. Wood was re-elected chairman for the ensuing year; Mr. W. H. Harris, secretary; and Mr. J. Austin as representative on the management committee.

Mr. Wood and Mr. Harris thanked the members for the confidence placed in them by re-electing them, and said they would both serve the branch to the best of their ability.

Mr. J. Austin informed the members he had heard that afternoon of the death of an old and respected friend of that association when living in Gloucester, Mr. W. J. Sevier, and he asked the members to stand in silence in their places to show their respect for the departed.

The Vicar also said that their veteran, Mr. H. Mitchell, had been removed to the Gloucester Royal Infirmary to undergo an operation, and the secretary was instructed to write a letter of sympathy to Mrs. H. Mitchell.

A vote of thanks was passed to the Rev. F. H. V. Paton and Mr. Wood for their kindness in providing tea, and to Mrs. J. Waite for arranging same; also to the Misses Waite for kindly waiting upon the members at the tea-table.

The next meeting is to be held at Brockworth, it being left to the secretary to arrange a date.

The members then returned to the tower, and further ringling was indulged in.

LADY RINGER'S WEDDING.

On Saturday last the wedding took place of one of the lady ringer at the St. Mary's Church, Handsworth, Sheffield, the bride being Miss Maud Gough, and the bridegroom, Mr. Albert Downing. The members of the Ringers' Guild attended the service, after which three short touches of Bob Major, Kent and Stedman Triples were rung. Owing to the funeral of a prominent resident of the village, a pause had then to be made in the ringling until after tea, when a quarter-peal of Spliced Treble Bob Major was attempted, all going well until the last course, then, too many bells desiring to stop in the slow, the ringling came to an end. A jolly evening was then spent among a happy party. The Guild members presented the happy couple with a timepiece, which was greatly admired.

TABLET UNVEILED AT AUDLEY.

On Saturday week, members of the Stoke Archidiaconal Association from Burslem, Bucknall and Norton-le-Moors, paid a visit to Audley Parish Church to take part in the ceremony of unveiling a marble peal tablet which has been placed in the tower to commemorate the ringling of a peal of 5,040 changes on February 14th last in two hours and 52 minutes by visiting ringers, this being the first complete peal on these bells which have been in the tower for 60 years. The ceremony was performed by the Vicar (the Rev. W. Sykes), who said that he would be glad to repeat the task at any time, especially if his ringers would emulate the performance. He also gave all a hearty welcome to Audley.

After the ceremony the following ringling took place: 240 Oxford Treble Bob, and the whole pull and stand, as a token of respect to the two men who were accidentally killed at the local colliery on the previous evening. Further ringling took place during the evening in the following methods: Cambridge Surprise, Woodbine and Kent Treble Bob.

ROMNEY MARSH GUILD. VISIT TO ANCIENT RYE.

A meeting of the above Guild was held on Saturday, November 15th, when ringers from Ashford, Wye, Wilesborough, Rye, Mer-sham, Aldington, Burmarsh, Stone-in-Uxney, Frittenden, Rolvenden, Appledore, Biddenden and Idon, were present.

The party was met at Rye Station by Mr. J. L. Deacon, F.R.Hist.S., a member of the Guild, who conducted them to the church, where Mr. J. Price, the aged sexton, explained the architectural features and the stained glass windows, talking as one having a thorough knowledge of his subject, and loving every corner of his church. Amongst the historical things shown were the 'Vinogor' and 'Breeches' Bibles, the stone cannon balls used by the French at the invasion of Rye, and the beautiful spanish mahogany table in St. Claire Chapel, for which £2,000 had been offered and refused, the value being put at £25,000 by a former Rector.

The party then went to the Town Hall, under the guidance of Mr. Deacon, and were shown, among other things, the borough maces, said to be the finest in existence, dated 1767 (they are silver gilt, and weigh 986 ounces); a pair of Elizabethan maces, and the Mayor's bell, dated 1555, and the valuable town records. They were also privileged to be the first in Rye to see the latest addition to the town's treasures, a silver coffee pot, tea pot and cream jug, made from a part of the canopy carried at the Coronation of George III. These were the property of Mr. Slade, of Rye, one of the canopy bearers, and were only the previous day presented to Rye by one of his descendants, Mr. Deacon having brought them down from London. Amongst other objects seen in the Town Hall were 'the names of the Mayors of Rye since the time of Edward I.'; 'the pillory,' the engagement to serve under Cromwell, 1649; the skull of Breeds, the murderer; and the irons in which he was hanged in 1742. Mr. Deacon then took the party to the Gun Garden, pointing out and explaining the various objects for two hours, both instructing and interesting his hearers.

The ringers then went to the belfry, and rang touches of Kent Treble Bob and Grandsire until 5 p.m., when they adjourned for tea, after which the business meeting took place, Mr. Deacon being in the chair. Short speeches were made by the chairman (the Rev. G. Long (Aldington) and Mr. G. J. Capeling, encouraging and complimenting the ringers, remarking that sick people often asked for the windows to be opened so that they might hear the bells, and that many a downcast one had been cheered by the sound of the bells.

Mr. Young then drew the attention of the members to the presence of the 'Father' of the Guild, Mr. H. Slingsby, of Aldington, who is 87 years of age, and had that day taken part in the ringling. He also expressed the appreciation of the Guild of the kindness of the Rev. G. Long for bringing Mr. Slingsby over.

Mr. H. Balcombe (secretary) expressed his pleasure at such a good meeting, and Mr. C. Franklin then proposed that the next meeting should be at Great Chert, which was carried.

Mr. W. Everett (Ringing Master) proposed a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. G. J. Capeling for arranging the meeting, and the Rev. G. Long proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. Deacon for his kindness to them that afternoon, saying how thoroughly he had enjoyed listening to him.—The appreciation of the members was shown by applause being given in the style known among Kent men as 'Kentish Fire.'

The members then returned to the belfry, and continued ringling until 8 p.m., when a very pleasant day concluded.

KING'S NORTON RINGERS.

Closely following upon the dedication of the recast peal of bells of the Parish Church, King's Norton, a meeting of the local ringers took place on December 1st. It was decided that the band be known as the St. Nicolas' Guild of Change Ringers. The Vicar (the Rev. T. S. Dunn, M.A.) was appointed president, and the following were elected as the officers of the Guild: Ringing Master, Mr. F. B. Yates; Deputy Ringing Master and conductor, Mr. P. O. Laffin; hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr. W. E. Moore. Several useful rules were adopted, and a most enthusiastic meeting terminated with a hearty vote of thanks to the president.

LADIES' GUILD.

The quarterly meeting of the Western District was held at St. Michael's, Bristol, on Saturday. Members attended from Bath, Bristol, Portishead, Clapton-in-Gordano and Evercech.

The Guild's service, with an address, was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. W. S. Hazledene).

A splendid tea was prepared in the Parish Room, and the business meeting followed.—It was decided to hold the next meeting at Portishead in the beginning of March.

Ringling was enjoyed both at St. Michael's and St. Philip's, the latter tower being open to the members during the evening.

METHOD CONSTRUCTION.

MR. BAKER'S REPLY TO REV. E. S. POWELL.

Dear Sir,—What sophistry! What jugglery! When it suits Mr. Powell's argument, the constructional shunt is the only thing that forms a method, but if it suits him to call the hunt bells the shunt then he does it!

I will give him two more examples by making the same place, as made in the two-bell shunts, on six bells; perhaps then he will be able to make up his mind which are the hunts and which are the working bells.

Once more the great little WE have evaded the real issue, which was the explanation of the construction of London Surprise Major, by their particular formula. Why are they so reticent about these matters when they possess such a wonderful formula to explain them?

The reason is this, they know quite well that I sent Mr. Trollope an alternative set of essential shunts to those which he is pleased to call the constructional shunts of London Surprise Major, and they are very much afraid that I should do the same thing in regard to London Surprise. They are quite right in thinking so, because if they take the obvious shunts according to their own theories, I can checkmate them at once.

I have said before, and I repeat it, that we were all dolts in years gone by not to see that composition and construction are one and the same thing. When the late Mr. H. Dains began producing peals of Original Major we all ought to have seen at once that here was the real key to method construction.

It is waste of time arguing with people of the calibre of the great little WE, so with your permission I will submit a proof that London Surprise Minor and London Surprise Major are one and the same method.

Very little explanatory matter will be needed in regard to the proof given above. The fixed bells in the shunts are denoted by italic type. If the fixed bells in the shunts are not sufficient evidence that Minor and Major are one and the same method, I suggest to any readers who are in doubt that they examine the coursing order of the shunt bells, the Minor with the Major, and if they are not convinced, then nothing will convince them.

I have tried to make the proof as clear as possible. I do not think your readers will have any difficulty in understanding it, and I have no doubt at all that if a vote could be taken of those who know anything about composition or construction, that the vote would be overwhelmingly in favour of my arguments, that London Surprise Minor and London Surprise Major are one and the same method.—Yours faithfully,

GEORGE BAKER.

MR. POWELL'S 'MURDER' CASE.

Dear Sir,—I had not intended to trouble you again on this subject, for those who belittle the 'place' have put up a very poor case. Mr. Powell's 'murder,' however, is so interesting that I ask for a little space to refer to it.

If questions of criminal law, such as the charge against the perpetrator, are left out, the reasoning attributed to me is quite sound. I say, without juggling, that the unchecked bleeding is the cause of death, and not the cut artery. If Mr. Powell thinks that the cut is the cause, his postscript only shows how even a trained mind may arrive at wrong conclusions.

In writing of the real meaning of 'cause,' he says, in your issue of Oct. 10th: 'Let us try to come to some agreement as to what we mean exactly by the term. Suppose it is found in our experience, some one event always accompanies or follows another, then the first event may be said to be the cause of the other.'

It follows then that the cut, to be the cause, must always be accompanied by death, but we have many living examples that a cut artery does not cause death.—Yours sincerely,

JOSEPH W. PARKER.

SHUNTING.

Sir,—Had I been able to see Mr. Powell's letter the day before it was published, I could myself have followed his advice to Mr. Baker; as I unfortunately had to spend a considerable time that day in Brighton Station. Or had I been able to get to Lavenham, where I have a friend who is both stationmaster and change ringer, I could have readily obtained from him the information Mr. Powell asks for. Failing either of these, it would seem as if the stationmaster at Woodbridge would do as well. I have accordingly inquired there for the desired information, and find that Mr. Powell is quite mistaken. What he calls a railway shunt, the railwayman himself calls 'marshalling the train.' It is true that the men who do the work are called 'shunters,' but the word 'shunt' as a noun is not used on a railway. 'To shunt' means to put a train on a siding so that another can pass by.

These people who used this foolish and pedantic term are now convicted by their own Court of Appeal by using the wrong word. It is bad enough for the 'Glossary' to use the term wrongly: but for ringers to use it in a sense which is both glaringly wrong, and differs from the 'Glossary,' is inexcusable, as well as unworkmanlike.

The result is that these ringers, whose knowledge of language is not equal to their knowledge of our science—their pre-eminence in this we readily acknowledge—are misunderstanding one another, and confusing us.—Yours etc.,

Ufford Rectory.

COINCIDENCES AT SHREWSBURY.

The peal rung at St. Chad's, Shrewsbury, on Saturday, to celebrate Queen Alexandra's 80th birthday, was the first 'local' peal of Caters at this church for 116 years, the previous peal having been a 10.097 rung in 6 hrs. 50 mins., on April 5th, 1808. It is a coincidence that in both these peals there took part, a schoolmaster, a saddler and a butcher, while a Leo also rang in each.

The band who rang the peal on Saturday have learnt their Cater ringing at St. Chad's, under the tuition of the Ringing Master, Mr. C. R. Lilley, and his band (including five youths of only 17 years) is the youngest to ring a peal of Caters in Salop, and probably the youngest anywhere to ring a peal of Caters on such heavy bells. The striking was excellent from start to finish, and the band were afterwards complimented by listeners upon their performance.

TANFIELD GUILD PRESENTATION.

On Tuesday, December 2nd, the Tanfield Guild had a pleasant duty to perform in presenting Mr. F. Lowe, the 'father' of the band, with a gold bell pendant upon his leaving the parish, after spending close on 60 years in the village, and working for the church all the time, first as a Sunday School teacher, then for 21 years in the choir, and after that for 34 years as bell ringer, and three years as people's churchwarden, a record to be proud of.

The Master of the Guild, after referring to the many happy days they had spent together, called upon the Rev. A. W. Lister to make the presentation, which he did in a very happy speech, in which he alluded to the good work Mr. Lowe had done in the church. He hoped that he would live many years yet, and still come to the belfry when the weather permitted.

Mr. Lowe, on rising, was deeply affected, and said he was sore at heart at leaving the church and friends among whom he had spent the best part of his life, but he would still come among them when the weather would permit him. He very warmly thanked the Guild for their gift.

Afterwards some good touches of Bob Major, Kent Treble Bob Major and Minor were rung, and brought the happy proceedings to a close.

CHELTHENHAM RINGERS' SUPPER.

The members of St. Mary's Parish Church, Cheltenham, and St. Mary's Guild of Ringers, met on Tuesday night of last week at the residence of the captain, Mr. W. T. Pates, for their annual supper. After a very enjoyable repast, and the toast of 'The King' had been honoured, the evening was spent under the chairmanship of Mr. W. W. Bastin. Songs, recitations, and selections on the handbells were rendered by the members present, different touches being most artistically given, including some well-known hymn tunes. One feature of the evening's entertainment was the song rendered by Miss Humphris, daughter of Mr. A. W. Humphris, who was, with the captain, one of the ringers of the celebrated long peal of 1889. The members present who included Mr. Macpherson, a friend of Mr. Pates, were Messrs. Humphris, Brinkworth, Parsons, Hayward, Clements, Collier, Harley, Whittle, and Lewis. After a good time, the evening, which each member said was one of the best of many held, concluded at midnight, with all joining in the singing of 'Auld Lang Syne.'

BRIDGNORTH RINGERS IN WORCESTERSHIRE.

On Saturday, Nov. 8th, the ringers of St. Mary Magdalene's Church, Bridgnorth, had a most enjoyable outing. Leaving Bridgnorth by motor, shortly after 10 a.m., the first stop was at Droitwich, where the light musical ring of six bells were soon set going to Bob Minor and Grandsire Doubles. The next stop was Worcester, where a substantial dinner was partaken of at Mr. Watkin's Restaurant, after which a move was made to St. John's Church, where the visitors were met by Mr. W. Lewis, and the local ringers. Stedman and Grandsire Doubles and Bob Minor were rung, and a move then made for Madresfield. The Master and hon. secretary of the Western Branch of the Worcestershire Association, and Mr. C. Camm, of Upton-on-Severn, met the party. The bells of the Parish Church were set going to Stedman Doubles, Bob Minor and Kent Treble Bob Minor.

Going on next to Malvern Link, the visitors enjoyed a pull on the fine ring of eight bells, and three of the younger members rang their first touches of Triples and Major, with the help of Messrs. R. G. Knowles, S. T. Holt, C. Camm, and some of the local ringers. A good tea was the next item, and tracks were made for home, which was reached about 9.40. The party wish to take this opportunity of thanking the respective Vicars for the use of the bells; Mr. R. G. Knowles, of Madresfield, and Mr. W. Lewis, of St. John's, Worcester, for so kindly making all arrangements; and Messrs. Holt and Camm and the local ringers for meeting them and making the outing such a success.

BELFRY DANGERS.

The fatality which occurred at Thetford last week is an unpleasant reminder that danger lurks in the belfry. A clock repairer went among the bells to carry out some slight adjustment to a clock hammer while some of the bells were up. Exactly what happened will never be known, but it is surmised that while down under a bell he pushed against the slider and the bell turned over, crushing him to death and pinning his body against the bell frame. The injuries received were of a terrible nature, and death must have been practically instantaneous.

It is, happily, seldom that such a tragedy happens in a belfry, but it provides a lesson in the dangers of leaving bells up. In this instance it can be said that the unfortunate old gentleman was not ignorant of the peril which he ran, and it may have been a case of familiarity breeding contempt; but that only adds, in our opinion, to the importance of never leaving bells up when there is any possibility of anyone being able to get amongst them. As a matter of fact, there is seldom any need to leave up bells of average weight, and the argument that to do so saves time or trouble is a poor one. In the case of very heavy bells there may be some excuse for not lowering them after they have been used, but wherever bells are left up and for whatever reason, special precautions should always be taken. The belfry door should be locked, the ropes drawn up out of reach, and a large notice placed in a conspicuous position giving warning of the danger. But there is no question that the safe plan is to let the bells down after ringing. Whenever they are left up there is always the risk, as at Thetford, of some person going to the belfry for a special purpose, and meeting with an accident, when, so far as the ringers may have been aware, no one was likely to have access to the tower. The practice of leaving the bells up all the week prevails in a great many places, but it cannot be too strongly deprecated. There is no real harm done to bells or fittings by leaving them up, unless it be that a deep set bell may strain the stay or slider, but there is a real risk of harm in other directions.

And while on this question of belfry peril, may we once more refer to the danger to ringers who go up among the bells in the dark, perhaps to turn a clapper or some such thing? To do this is simply inviting trouble. However familiar a man may be with the particular bell frame, the operation is full of risks which it is folly to court, and yet it is constantly done. Wherever it is possible, church authorities should be induced to extend the lighting system to the bell chamber, and at very least a proper lantern should be provided. These two points—the danger of leaving bells up and the risks of going among them in the dark—might well be emphasised by associations at every opportunity, for it seems that 'education' in this department is still sadly needed.

SWANSEA & BRECON DIOCESAN GUILD.

The Southern District of the Guild held a quarterly meeting at Neath on Saturday, December 6th, the towers represented being Llanelli, Breck, Brecon, Sketty, Neath, Morrison, Cadoxton, Aberavon, Llanstephan and Llandilo. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m., and a short service in St. Thomas's Church was conducted by the Rev. A. J. Lewis. The company then adjourned to the Parish Hall, where tea was partaken of at the invitation of Mr. William Samuel (churchwarden) and Miss Samuel. The spread was a most generous one, and host and hostess must have had previous experience of ringers' appetites, for when speech time arrived some of them were too full for words.

At the business meeting which followed, it was resolved that the next quarterly meeting be held at St. Mary's Church, Swansea, on the first Saturday in March, 1925.

Twelve new ringing members were admitted, and two honorary members (Rev. A. J. Lewis and Mr. Wm. Samuel) elected.

The Hon. Secretary (Mr. W. R. Howells) mentioned that through the generosity of Dr. T. P. Thomas, Brecon, the Guild was in possession of a ringing shield, which would be put up for competition during the coming year.

The company present at tea numbered between 50 and 60. The Rev. A. J. Lewis made a very capable chairman, and his remarks were highly appreciated. A hearty vote of thanks to host and hostess was proposed by the Hon. Secretary, seconded by the Master of the Guild (Mr. S. T. Rackham).—Mr. Samuel, in responding, said it had been a real pleasure to him to have the opportunity of showing how pleased he was to be able to do anything to help the bellringers.—The company then adjourned to the tower, where touches of Stedman, Grandsire, Plain Bob and Kent were rung, the bells being rung down at 9 p.m.

The Brecon ringers, leaving home at 8 a.m., had a day's tour of towers, ringing touches of Cadoxton, Baglan and Aberavon, returning to Neath in time for the service there, and their thanks are due to Mr. J. Hammond (district instructor) for having arranged the programme.

REVERSE BOB MAJOR.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—With reference to the peal of Reverse Bob Major, rung at Crayford on November 24th last, I find in Bannister's book on change ringing that the College Youths rang a peal of Bob Major reversed in 1751 at St. Margaret's, Westminster, in 3 hours and 20 minutes. A peal in the same method was also rung by the society at Kensington in 1805. I expect the former peal was the first ever rung in the method.—Yours faithfully,

CHAS. H. KIPPIN.

THORNBURY BELL RESTORATION.

On Saturday, December 13th, at St. Peter's Church, Thornbury, near Holsworthy, Devon, a most interesting service took place, to celebrate the opening of the recently restored bells. Despite the inclement weather, the church was well filled. The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. Mylchreest) and the Rev. Powell (Halwell), while the address was given by the Rev. Donaldson (Rector of Pyworthy). Following the service, the opening peal was well struck by the Thornbury Guild, and afterwards, ringers from Halwell, Bridgerule, Bradford, Black Torrington, Langtree, and numerous other towers, testified to the excellence of the work carried out by Messrs. W. Aggett and Sons, of Chagford. The tone, and especially the 'go' of the bells, were admired. The whole peal has been rehung in massive iron frames, with steel joists, oak floors, and modern fittings, including the firm's patent adjustable bearings, so well known in the West of England.

The fine peal of eight bells, at Lifton, recently damaged by lightning, and the clock, are now under restoration, and the work is to be completed by December 23rd, when the opening is to take place. The bells of Holsworthy (a peal of eight) are to be placed in order soon after Christmas; also the peals of six at Kingscington, Leudon and Widecombe in the New Year by the same firm.

RINGERS' DINNER AT HANDSWORTH, SHEFFIELD.

The St. Mary's Guild held their annual dinner at the Old Crown Hotel on Saturday, Dec. 13th, when 37 members and friends were present. After dinner, in the absence of the Rector, who was unable to be present, through illness, the Rector's warden (Mr. P. Berley) filled the part of chairman for the musical evening, which included songs, handbell ringing and dancing, intermixed with the usual toasts of 'The King,' 'The Church,' 'The Guild,' and 'The Host and Hostess.' Mrs. W. A. Baker, the Rector's wife, at the piano, accompanied the singing and dancing.

ELLESMERE, SHROPSHIRE.—On Monday, Sept. 22nd, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (Thurstan's), 1,250 changes, in 50 mins.: R. Biggs 1, A. Haynes 2, A. Allen 3, G. H. Edwards 4, T. Butler, senr. (conductor), 5, W. S. Higginson 6, T. R. Butler 7, W. Higginson, senr., 8. First-quarter-peal of Stedman Triples on the bells, and rung by an entirely local band.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The peal of Grandsire Caters, rung on December 4th at St Giles', Northampton, was 5,021 changes, not 5,039, as sent in. The ringer of the 6th in the peal at Woodston on December 5th was Herbert Hoare, and not Henry Hoare, as printed. Mr. F. A. G. Allen rang his first peal of Kent Treble Bob Royal in 1920, and not at Rochester Cathedral on November 29th last, as indicated in the peal report.

To our friends everywhere: 'A Merry Christmas!'

The bells of Kingham, in the Chipping Norton Deanery Branch of the Oxford Guild, have been augmented to eight by Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough. The old six have been recast and two trebles added. The opening will take place to-morrow at 3.30 p.m.

The first peal of Stedman Triples 'in hand' was rung on December 19th, 1853, and was performed, in the presence of nineteen members of the College Youths and Cumberland Societies, by John Cox, Thomas Powell, Henry W. Haley and Thomas Brittan.

On December 20th, 1806, a 6334 Stedman Cinques was rung at Christ Church, Spitalfields, now, unfortunately, only an eight-bell tower.

Holt's Original was rung at Saffron Walden on Christmas Day, 1753.

The bells of Clebury Mortimer are to be restored at a cost of about £350.

The peal of Stedman Triples at Willenhall on November 29th was rung in 2 hrs. 55 mins., and not 2 hrs. 35 mins., as published. The peal of Doubles at Milton, Northants, was rung on Monday, November 24th, and not Saturday, November 22nd, as reported.

Our readers are requested to peruse the special notice which appears on page 802.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I am glad Mr. Smith has made the suggestion that Kidlington should be selected as the home of the Washbrook Memorial. As he says, what more fitting spot could there be than the village where he was born, and where he performed the greatest ringing feat of his life! Kidlington possesses a good peal of eight bells, easy to ring, easy to hear, with a good circle, and a band of ringers which has been kept together for 25 years, and has rung Stedman Triples nearly every Sunday throughout that period, except during the war. They are, moreover, good ringers and good churchmen, and their tower is always open for peals. Indeed, there cannot be a more accessible tower in the diocese. It is five miles from Oxford, and possesses both a main-line station and a good bus service to Oxford. Further, the church is at one end of the village, with houses on one side only.

I have nothing whatever against the Oxford Church of St. Ebbe's, except that the existing peal of six is very light, and that consequently the addition of two trebles there would be a less substantial memorial to the great ringer than two trebles to make a noble peal of ten in his native village.—Yours faithfully,

HOWARD FREEBORN.

THE LIGHTEST PEAL IN HAMPSHIRE.

A NEW ZEALAND MEMORIAL.

The new ring of six bells of the Parish Church, Brockenhurst, Hants, were dedicated on Sunday, December 7th, by the Rev. C. E. Matthews, R.D. (Vice-President of the Winchester Guild). The church was crowded, and there was a gathering of about 25 ringers from Christchurch, Ringwood, Lymington, North Stoneham and the local band. Mr. J. H. Shepherd, of Swindon, was also present.

Just prior to the dedication, a marble tablet to the memory of the New Zealand soldiers, who died at the Brockenhurst War Hospital, and were buried in the churchyard, was unveiled. One of the new bells was given by their relatives and friends in New Zealand as a memorial of their self-sacrifice.

At the dedication 120 Grandsire Doubles was rung by C. W. Tucker (Brockenhurst) 1, G. Williams (N. Stoneham) 2, F. Sparshott (Christchurch) 3, G. Stone (Christchurch) 4, A. Wooff (Christchurch) 5, G. Preston (Christchurch) 6. This band also rang 720 Bob Minor at the completion of the service.

The three old bells that formerly hung in the tower have been recast, and three new bells added, all tuned on the Simpson principle, with new frame, fittings, etc., the work having been carried out by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, of Whitechapel.

The weight of the tenor is only 4 cwt. 12 lbs., and the bells are the lightest ring in Hampshire. All the ringers expressed their appreciation of the fine tone and 'go' of the bells, which are a credit to the founders.

Touches were rung of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Bob, Kent and Cambridge Minor.

KILLED IN A BELFRY.CLOCK REPAIRER CRUSHED BY A BELL.

A distressing fatality occurred in the tower of St. Peter's Church, Thetford, Norfolk, on Tuesday of last week, when Mr. William H. Harris, a well-known watchmaker and jeweller of the town, was killed by one of the bells turning over on him and crushing him against the frame, while he was attending to one of the clock hammers. There are eight bells in this tower, and it seems to have been the practice to leave the bells up. Mr. Harris was responsible for the upkeep of the clock, and was in the habit of going to the belfry for this purpose. On this occasion he had some repairs to execute, and when he failed to return home his wife went to look for him, and found him in the bell frame, having been obviously crushed to death. It was only with difficulty that the body was released, and was found impossible to bring it through the bells and into the belfry. It was therefore carried to the top of the church tower, and supported by ropes under the armpits, lowered 80 feet to the ground on the exterior of the north side of the tower.

The late Mr. Harris was for many years a prominent tradesman in East Dereham, where he was captain of the Fire Brigade, and an active church worker. At Thetford he was for some years superintendent of one of the Church Sunday Schools. Despite his age (he was over 80), he was a skilled motor cyclist, and would also undertake the most dangerous jobs in connection with hall and church clocks. Only last year he painted a vane at Lynford Hall, which, on account of the dangerous nature of the task, few others would undertake.

The full story of the fatality was told at the inquest held on the following day.

Mrs. Sarah Ann Harris, the widow, said about eleven o'clock on Tuesday morning her husband left home to go to St. Peter's Church to put a new wire on the hammer striker. About 11.30 she heard the bell of the clock strike once, and she thought he had finished and was trying the striker. After about half an hour, as he did not return home, she went to the church to see if she could give him any help. On going into the clock chamber she saw his tools there, and the clock open. She, however, could not find deceased, and went into the bell chamber and called him, but got no reply. She then came down the tower and made inquiries, but could hear of no one having seen him, and she returned again to the belfry and climbed amongst the bells. There she saw the deceased pinned under one of the bells. She felt one of his hands, and found it cold. She attempted to extricate him, but was unsuccessful.

The Coroner: He has had charge of this clock for many years?—He put it up 57 years ago.

And since that time he has had entire charge of it?—Yes.

Did he usually go alone to do these repairs?—I have gone with him lately.

Mr. James Goodman, watchmaker, of Thetford, said he had assisted the deceased with the repair of St. Peter's Church clock on many occasions. He heard of the accident, and went to the church about 12.45. About half an hour later he went up into the belfry and stopped the clock for the safety of those above. He then went up to the bells, and saw the hammer tail wire had been disconnected ready for putting in a new wire.

The Coroner: What does this wire do?—It works from the clock and goes along the roof of the clock chamber into the bells, where it is connected with the striking hammer.

Was anything being done to this?—It had been disconnected ready for repairs.

You saw the deceased there?—Yes, lying under the third bell.

The bell was upon him?—It was resting on the body. Witness was of opinion the deceased had gone under the bell to repair the striking apparatus instead of going by the side of it.

He knew there was a danger going amongst the bells when they were up?—Oh yes; there is a notice in the chamber facing you as you go in, warning you of the danger if the bells are up.

I suppose you had helped to repair this clock when the bells were up?—No, never when the bells were up.

But you had assisted to repair this clock several times?—Yes; but if the bells were up we always got them then let down.

Dr. Geoffrey Cowan, Thetford, said he found very serious damage to the right side of deceased's chest, which was smashed in. There was also a fracture of the spine and the jaw bone broken on the right side. There were other injuries. The injury to the chest was sufficient to cause death.

The Coroner: Death was practically instantaneous?—Yes. I should say so, as the injuries were very severe.

Mr. Alfred William Macro, of Thetford, said he was captain of St. Peter's Change Ringers. They rang the bells on Sunday evening, and at the finish left six bells up and two down. It was usual to leave the treble and tenor bells down—the treble to facilitate getting up the steeple and the tenor for the clock to strike on—and the other six up, except when they were being used for chiming; then they were all left down. He knew that the deceased had been in the habit of going into the church tower to repair the clock, and thought he was fully aware of the danger of touching the bells when they were up. The bells that caused deceased's death weighed 84

owt. Witness produced a diagram, and gave an explanation as to how he imagined the accident occurred. He thought, he said, perhaps deceased was stooping about under the bell which caused his death when he probably pushed his back against the slider attached to the bell and swung it over. He was of opinion deceased must have put some bit of weight against the slider to have released the bell. Sometimes when deceased had gone to the church and the bells were up he had let them down himself, so was aware of the danger of working amongst the bells when up.

Police-Constable Warren said on Tuesday Mrs. Harris said, 'My husband is dead: a bell has fallen on him.' Witness went up into the belfry, and examined the deceased, and found he was dead. He tried to remove the bell, but failed, and sent for help. He assisted to remove the body to the mortuary. When he went into the belfry five bells were up and three down.

The Coroner remarked that he thought the deceased had been up the tower so many times that he did not realise there was any danger.

BOSTON, U.S.A., GUILD.STUDENT RINGERS AT GROTON SCHOOL.

On Sunday, November 23rd, special ringing took place at the chapel of Groton School to celebrate the American Religious Festival, known as Thanksgiving Day (November 27th). Members of the Guild met at the School at 10.45 a.m., but, owing to wet weather, the attendance was small, only five being present.

The local band, recruited entirely from the students of the school, show marked proficiency at rounds and call changes. They ring regularly for the services of the Chapel, but, with two or three exceptions, have not mastered the more advanced method ringing.

Members of the Boston Guild arriving by train were too late to ring for service, but immediately afterwards they assembled in the belfry, where they were joined by the student ringers.

Before ringing on the tower bells, however, handbell practice was carried out for about twenty minutes. This was followed by a few short touches of Grandsire Triples on the tower bells. A move was then made to the dining hall, where the visitors were entertained to lunch, in company with the whole school.

On returning to the tower, Guild members rang several well-struck 120's of Grandsire Doubles, and when joined later by the student ringers, short touches of Triples were rung. The ringing went on till about 4 p.m., and closed with an attempt of 360 Grandsire Triples, which only came to brief in the last lead: George E. Hubbard 1, Frederick K. Trash (student) 2, G. Warren Sturgis (Master, conductor) 3, W. S. Roberts (student) 4, Joseph Goodhead 5, William Bashford 6, Richard Newton 7, C. McKim Norton (student) 8.

On leaving the tower the weather had sufficiently cleared to enable the visitors to appreciate the magnificent view of the foothills and ranges of the Adirondack Mountains obtainable from the school grounds.

Mr. S. W. Sturgis very kindly invited all the ringers to the Master's house for tea, after which the handbells were again brought out, and the time for departure came only too quickly.

The thanks of the Guild are due to Mr. Sturgis for putting his car at the convenience of members, and also to the Principal and staff of the school for their hospitality.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A very successful meeting of the Eastern Division was held at Christ Church, Eastbourne, on Saturday, December 13th, thirty-five members being present, from the following towers: Brighton (St. Nicholas and St. Peter's), Chiddingfold Eastbourne; All Saints' and St. Saviour's, Hastings; Christ Church, Blacklands; Heathfield, Lewes, Pevensey, Rotherfield, St. Leonard's, Waldron and Westham. Ringing commenced at 2.30 p.m., and at 4.30 a short service was held in the memorial chapel, Christ Church, with an address by the Vicar (the Rev. R. R. Fenning, M.A.). Following this, the members made their way to Leaf Hall, where a good tea was thoroughly enjoyed, and was presided over by the Master of the Association (Mr. J. Thornton Rickman), who also occupied the chair at the short business meeting which followed. The venue of the next meeting was discussed, and Bexhill was decided on.

Mr. W. D. Smith proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the chairman for presiding, and also to the Rev. Fenning for the use of the bells, and the address at the service. He also thanked the Rev. J. A. Brookes for presiding at the organ.—This was supported by Mr. Piper, put to the meeting, and carried.—Mr. Rickman having suitably replied, the meeting terminated.

The members then wended their way to South Street, where the bells of St. Saviour's had been placed at the disposal of the association, through the kindness of the Vicar, the Rev. Canon Wheelpton, M.A. Some excellent practice was had on these bells, in methods ranging from Grandsire to London Surprise, until close on 8.30 p.m.

PRESENTATION TO DEVON GUILD'S EX-PRESIDENT.REV. MAITLAND KELLY'S LONG SERVICES.

In recognition of his long and devoted services to the Devon Guild the Rev. Maitland Kelly, who relinquished the office of President last Whitsun, has been presented by the members with a handsome address. It is in the form of an album (beautifully executed by Messrs. W. J. Southwood and Co., of Exeter), containing the address and views of churches having bands connected with the Guild. The volume is 15 inches by 12 inches, and bound in royal blue morocco. The front cover has a pierced monogram; the inscription and title page are illuminated in gold and colours; and there are 21 pages, containing about 50 photographs.

The presentation was made privately on December 5th by the new President (the Rev. E. S. Powell), who announced the fact on the following day at a meeting of the Exeter District at Exeter. Mr. Powell said the album had been presented to Mr. Kelly in recognition of his services from 1896 to 1924 as President, and to commemorate the jubilee of his election as a member, which took place on June 15th, 1874, and to express gratitude for his efforts to cultivate a high moral and spiritual tone among ringers, and to promote the art of change-ringing in church towers in the Diocese of Exeter. Mr. Powell read a letter from Mr. Kelly, in which he stated he could not sufficiently thank the members for the beautiful album, and that he should deeply value it, because it would ever remind him of the jubilee meeting of the Guild, and, through the photographs, of ringers with whom he had rung and towers he had visited, and for its intrinsic beauty, because it was quite a work of art and all the more precious from being the handiwork of members. During its existence, the Guild had greatly helped in a reform that was much needed in the belfries and bell chambers, and had also introduced the art of scientific change-ringing. There were still many fields to conquer, but, if the present zeal and work were continued, in course of time the majority of towers in the county would be affiliated.

There was a good gathering of ringers for the meeting, and during the afternoon and evening ringing took place on the bells at St. David's, St. Sidwell's, St. Petrock's, St. Thomas's and the Cathedral. Service was conducted in St. Thomas's Parish Church by the Vicar (the Rev. H. G. Chalk), and an address given by the Rev. E. S. Powell. The choir boys led the singing, and Mr. Western deputised at the organ. Tea was provided in the Buller Hall. Messrs. Hunt and Son catered, and Mesdames J. C. Oke, T. G. Bartlett, T. J. Stokes and A. H. Goad and Miss A. Goad assisted at the tables.

A business meeting followed, when sympathy was expressed with Mr. W. J. Southwood (hon. secretary of the district) in his absence through illness.

Crediton, on February 21st, was chosen for the next meeting, and votes of thanks were passed to all who had assisted at the service and tea. The district officers—Messrs. E. Shepherd (chairman), W. J. Southwood (hon. secretary and treasurer), and J. C. Oke (assistant hon. secretary)—were re-elected.

THE NORTH-EAST BRANCH.

A quarterly meeting of the N.-E. Branch was held at Tiverton on Saturday. About 60 ringers were present, including the Rev. E. S. Powell (President of the Guild), the Rev. E. V. Cox (general secretary), and representatives from Huntsham, Holcombe Rogus, Bampton, Upwotton, Calverleigh, Stoodleigh, Washfield, Bickleigh, Tiverton, Exeter, Silvertown, Chipstable, Thorverton, Wiveliscombe, Christow and London. Ringing commenced at 1.30, the methods practised being Stedman Triples and Grandsire.

The service, conducted by the Rector, was held at St. Peter's Church, the lesson being read and the address given by the Rev. E. S. Powell.

Tea was provided in the Church House, the excellent arrangements being made by Mrs. C. Knowles, helped by the wives of the local band.

A business meeting followed the tea, the Rev. E. J. Barton in the chair.—A letter from the Rev. Maitland Kelly was read regretting his enforced absence from the meeting, and heartily thanking all members of the Guild who had contributed in any way towards the album presented to him on his resignation of the post of president of the Guild, after fifty years' service.

Six new members were elected, and six certificates awarded.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Rector, the Rev. E. S. Powell, the Rev. E. V. Cox, Mrs. Knowles, the local band of ringers and their wives, and the organist (Mr. Dyer) for helping to make the meeting such a success.

It was proposed that the next meeting be held on April 11th (Saturday), at Bickleigh.

The members then returned to the tower, and rang with zeal till about 8.30.

BICTON, SALOP.—On Saturday, Sept. 27th, on the eve of the harvest festival, 720 Boh Minor: W. T. Goodfellow (first 720) 1, J. Bain 2, C. Lee 3, J. E. Liller 4, J. Evans 5, C. R. Lilley (conductor) 6.—360 Stedman Doubles and 240 Grandsire.

LOSTWITHIEL BELLS' RESTORATION.UNITED GATHERING FOR THE DEDICATION.

The five bells which had hung for many years in the Church of Lostwithiel, Cornwall, have been recast and increased to six, and hung with all modern fittings in a new steel and iron frame, the work having been carried out by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, the well-known Croydon firm, and on Wednesday, December 10th, the borough was en fete in connection with the reopening. The dedication service was attended by the Mayor, the Corporation officials, and members of the Town Council; the procession to the church being headed by the Lostwithiel Town Band.

The service opened with the hymn, 'We love the place, O God,' the act of dedication being performed by the Rev. Stanley Windsor, the Rural Dean of Bodmin. A few rounds having been rung upon the bells by the Lostwithiel ringers, the service proceeded with the hymn, 'Now thank we all our God,' followed by an address from the Rev. R. D. Purves, at one time Vicar of Lostwithiel. Basing his remarks on the words, 'The earth is the Lord's and the fulness thereof,' he pointed out that the bells had come to that tower because God had given to the minds of men the power to search into the earth for the metal which was there long years before, to refine it, purify it, build it and place it in the belfry. We were inclined to say 'Our Bells'; they were God's bells because of the metal which came from God's earth. The ringers became fellow workers with God. They would feel they were doing a great work. They were God's messengers, and when the sound of those bells went out Sunday by Sunday it would go to the ears of the rich man as well as the poor, calling men and women of the parish to the service and worship of God. Every time the bells pealed forth they taught a tremendous lesson; that those who worked for God should use the word 'we.' Their work had to be done in peace and in harmony. If every ringer considered that he was going to set the time and each ringer had a different idea of time, there would be no harmony, but discord and clashing, and that taught them they must work in harmony, which was never more necessary than it was to-day.

Luncheon was afterwards partaken of in the Drill Hall, and after the loyal toast had been proposed by the Mayor, Alderman J. A. Beswarick proposed 'Ministers of Religion.' After referring to the high place ministers of religion took in everyday functions, the speaker said they heard a good deal in these days about the union of the churches. Possibly there were some people who had reversed the telescope, and they saw that union afar off. Whether Church Union or organic union were far off or not, he knew that the spirit of union was in their midst, as was evidenced by the united and helpful service they had had that morning, and demonstrated by the assembly that afternoon, showing that there had been a unity of spirit prevailing throughout the whole of the proceedings.

Responding, the Vicar remarked that certainly not only those who governed State affairs, but those who governed ecclesiastical affairs, found the difficulties tenfold more than they were thirty years ago. As he thought that the laity were shaped by the ministers so also he thought it was true that the ministers were shaped by the laity. In having a warm-hearted laity they created atmosphere which made the work of ministers possible. Remembering that they all belonged to the common Lord, they got unity and warmth, and out of that they got what they saw in the parish to-day. He concluded his remarks with a reference to the splendid way in which everyone in the borough, and some out of it, had worked well to make what they had that day possible.

Also responding, the Rev. J. Highley Coles (United Methodist circuit minister) referred to the splendid spirit of the Vicar of Lostwithiel. It took most of them a lifetime to distinguish between their prejudices and their convictions, and he was perfectly sure that there was no lowering of their convictions in meeting at that genial and Christian table. He was sure they all wished the church in Lostwithiel great prosperity, and congratulated them on their most impressive service that morning.

During luncheon and throughout the day, the bells were rung by bands of ringers from all parts of Cornwall, the ringers expressing their complete satisfaction with the 'go' of the bells. The purity of the tone of the bells was greatly appreciated by the inhabitants of the borough, and the visitors from the surrounding district.

COLCHESTER RECORD UNVEILED.

On Sunday evening, Dec. 14th, the unveiling of a peal record took place at St. Peter's Church by the Vicar (the Rev. C. E. Cardo), who, in a few well-chosen words, thanked the donor, Mr. W. J. Nevard, for his kind gift, in recording the first peal of Superlative rung on the bells.

A vote of thanks was passed by Mr. Nevard, and to the Vicar, for kindly unveiling the record, and for his interest in attending in the belfry.

Touches of Double Norwich, Stedman Triples and Kent Treble Bob, were then rung for the evening service by Messrs. W. Button, F. L. Bumpstead, W. Chalk, H. Evers, H. T. Pye, W. J. Schofield and R. W. Stannard (local members), W. J. Nevard (Great Bentley), G. W. Dixon (Sudbury), D. Elliott (Assington), and F. Butler (Romford).

METHOD CONSTRUCTION.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—It has been brought to my notice that the popular argument which I used to disprove the legitimacy of the extension from London Minor to London Major is of doubtful validity. The case which has been suggested as a parallel to that of the 2nd, in the first lead of London is not quite on all fours with it, but there is sufficient resemblance for me to prefer to withdraw that particular argument rather than cause any misunderstanding. There are other perfectly good reasons for denying the truth of that extension.

My lapse, if it is one, is an illustration of the insidious danger that lies in introducing a popular practical argument into the consideration of a theoretical abstract proposition.—Yours faithfully,

E. S. POWELL.

'SHUNTING.'

Dear Sir,—With all due respect to the Rev. H. Drake, allow me to point out that although I was not the first individual to make use of the term 'shunt,' I do not think we can find a better word for our purpose, e.g., when we make a bob Middle in the plain course of most methods, we shunt from the MAIN line of 12345678 to the side line of 14365278.

A bob Wrong shunts into side line of 15243678.

A bob Home shunts into side line of 14235678.

In method construction we are doing the same thing all the time, every single place made shunts into a fresh row.

Coursing order by double shunts is but an arbitrary definition, because there are thousands of methods which do not possess a 'Double Shunt' in their make up, and yet they bring up coursing order at the lead-head equally with the methods that, like Double Dublin Court Bob, are constructed with double shunts only.—Yours faithfully,

GEORGE BAKER.

P.S.—Thanks very much for the way in which you set up the tables in my letter last week, it could not have been better. I find, however, there is one little error in the table of places. The error was mine, not yours; the last two places before the Extreme should have been Slow 3rd's, not 4th's.

G. B.

THE ORIGIN OF 'SHUNT.'

Sir,—As there seems to be a difference of opinion with regard to the meaning of 'shunt,' which, I take it, is derived from the term 'shunting bob,' originally and first used by myself in connection with ringing, it may be well if I explain what it was intended to mean. The first occasion of its use will be found in the reprint of my article, at the top of page 196 of 'Grandsire.'

To begin with, from the days of my boyhood I have always understood by the railway 'shunt,' the operation of causing a vehicle or train to run from the pair of rails along which it was going on to another pair. A careful perusal of the last paragraph on page 195 of 'Grandsire' and the first four lines on page 196, will, I think, make quite plain and obvious what my meaning was, and will show that the bob which I called, and still call, the 'shunting bob' is truly such, without need of further disquisition.

CHARLES D. P. DAVIES.

Deane Rectory, Basingstoke.

APPLYING THE ARGUMENT.

Dear Sir,—The answer to Mr. G. Baker's argument can be put in very few words. If the actual shunts of London Minor and Major are as he suggests, and if the two are one method, it follows that the Royal will be produced automatically from the Major exactly as the Major is got from the Minor.

It is, however, notorious that Mr. Baker has himself produced two different Royal methods which he has successively proclaimed aloud to be the one and only London Royal.

I apologise to the N.U.R., but take leave to point out that the explanation of the Woodbridge stationmaster suits my argument equally. The whole object of my comparison, as I should have supposed was clear to the meanest intelligence, was to show that in a shunt the whole of the bells have to be taken into account. The shunted train is ready as a whole to start off on another set of rails. It is not a chopped up train. Indeed Mr. Drake's intervention has strengthened my analogy.—Yours faithfully,

E. S. POWELL.

AGREED!

Dear Sir,—Mr. Baker writes that he is wasting his time arguing with people of the calibre of Mr. Powell and myself. I hope he will not be offended if I say that I thoroughly agree with him. Yours truly,

J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

COALBROOKDALE BELLS TO BE RESTORED.

PROVISION FOR AUGMENTATION TO TEN.

A scheme has been set on foot for the complete restoration of the bells at Coalbrookdale, Salop, and it is felt that many ringers who have had the pleasure of ringing on these bells and have experienced the hospitality of the tower may like to contribute to the fund, towards the completion of which another £400 is required.

Seventy years ago Holy Trinity Church was built and endowed by the late Abraham Darby, and the bells were given by his brother, the late Alfred Darby. The bells, eight in number constitute a very good ring in the key of E (tenor 19 cwt. 2 qr. 10 lb.), and, apart from some repairs to the gudgeons and framework in 1895, the bells have had no attention from the founders (Messrs. Mears and Stainbank) or any other firm of bell founders. They have been attended to, rung and cared for all the years they have been in use by the ringers, and for the past 28 years Mr. William Saunders and his band have done all in their power to keep them in a satisfactory condition. Now the time has arrived, when, in the opinion of experts, the bells require immediate attention. It is therefore necessary, say the committee in a circular, to appeal for funds to place the bells in a modern iron and steel frame, and carry out many necessary renovations and repairs, which will safeguard the tower and bells, as the two main foundation beams, supporting the whole weight of the bells, are badly worm-eaten and rotten. Also the whole of the present timber frame is worn out and condemned. The committee feel the money can be easily raised, if all who hear the bells, all who enjoy their sound, and all who have rung them, will undertake to give all they can, and to solicit all they can, for the Bell Restoration Fund. 'He gives twice,' it is said, 'who gives quickly.' All subscriptions will be immediately invested in War Saving Certificates, and so will increase in value before the work is completed, but, on the other hand, they will be very grateful to anyone who will accept a collecting book, and undertake to raise the cost of one or more War Saving Certificates within the next few months.

Subscriptions may be sent to the Vicar, the churchwardens (Messrs. H. Hughes and F. Johnson), Messrs. W. Saunders, Richard Jones (hon. treasurer), Alfred Bayley (hon. secretary), any member of the Bell Restoration Committee, or 'Coalbrookdale Bell Fund, Lloyds Bank, Iron Bridge, Shropshire.'

The scheme proposes the complete restoration of the present eight, also the addition of two trebles, the old bells to be rehung in complete new metal frame, etc., on one level. £470 is required for the restoration of the old eight, and to put in pits for the trebles. It is hoped, however, that sufficient money will be forthcoming to allow the trebles to be added at the same time.

The fund up to date is well over £100. This includes £25 from the patron (Mr. A. E. Darby), whose father gave the bells, also £5 Ss. from Mr. John Carter. The other has been given by the ringers and friends.

At a meeting of the Parochial Church Council and Bell Restoration Committee on December 9th, when the Rev. Preb. C. B. Crowe (Vicar and Rural Dean) presided, and was supported by the churchwardens and most of the influential church people, the Chairman reported that the sub-committee had been very busy. A letter by Miss Sarah Barker had been published in the 'Wellington Journal,' and 1,000 illustrated circulars were to hand for distribution.—Mr. Greenhalgh explained that he hoped to get the £250 worth of ls. stamp books in a few days.—After a report by Mr. W. J. Fletcher (foreman pattern maker for the Coalbrookdale Co.) had been heard as to the dangerous condition of the main foundation beams and the worn-out frame, it was decided that after the Christmas and last night of the old year ringing the bells should not be rung again till they were completely restored.

It was proposed to ask the editor of 'The Ringing World' kindly to help the scheme by publishing the appeal and other information, so that all ringers who know Coalbrookdale, its nice bells and their loyal friends and ringers, will do all they can to get the job going with the brighter days.

The work will be entrusted to Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, the founders of the present eight.

HARBORNE OLD CHURCH BELLS.

After having been silent for five months, the bells at Harborne, which are among the oldest in the county of Staffs, were reopened on Sunday, December 7th. During the interval the tower has been repaired (inside), and the bells rehung on ball bearings by Mr. James E. Groves, of Handsworth. Several ringers from neighbouring towers were present at the opening, and all expressed their satisfaction with the 'go' and tone. It may be of interest to give the dates of the bells: Treble, 1877, by J. Warner and Son; 2nd, 1877, by J. Warner and Son; 3rd, 1691, by William Bagley; 4th, 1799, by Thomas Mears; 5th, 1691, by William Bagley; 6th, 1691, by William Bagley; 7th, 1691, by William Bagley; tenor, 1691, by William Bagley.

The local band at present are only able to ring Grandsire Doubles, but under the able tuition of Mr. S. Grove, who has kindly undertaken the office of Ringing Master, they hope soon to be able to accomplish Triples.

DUDLEY AND DISTRICT GUILD.

The quarterly meeting of the above Guild was held on Saturday, Dec. 6th, at Holy Trinity Church, Old Hill, Staffs, in beautiful weather, and a fair muster of members attended from the various towers affiliated with the Guild. The bells were kept merrily going from 3 p.m. until the service, for which the Guild form was used. The Vicar of Old Hill (the Rev. C. Fisher) officiated, and also gave a very appropriate and interesting address. The Vicar extended a cordial and warm welcome to the members, and said how pleased he was to welcome them to his church. The lesson was read by the Vicar of Rowley Regis, Lieut.-Col. (retired) the Rev. F. J. Cheverton. After the service an adjournment was made to the Church Institute, where a bountiful tea was in readiness, to which, it is needless to say, full justice was done.

Owing to a previous important engagement the Vicar was unable to stay for the business meeting, and the Vicar of Rowley kindly took the chair. Apologies for absence were read from Mr. Harry Mason and Mr. W. A. Pugh. Before reading the minutes, the Hon. Secretary (Mr. H. Sheppard) said he would like to mention that since their last meeting death had robbed them of two of their most staunch supporters, in the persons of Mr. John Poole Bills (a vice-president) and Mr. James Bayliss, who, for some years, was a member of the Dudley Parish Church band.—Upon the proposition of the Chairman, it was resolved that the Secretary send a letter of condolence and sympathy to the families, also to Mr. Hugh Watson (Vice-President) upon the death of his sister, Mrs. H. P. Bagott, of Kingswinford.—The resolution was received by the members standing in silence for a few moments.

The Rev. F. J. Cheverton (Vicar of Rowley) was elected an honorary member, and the Rev. W. J. Lamb (Curate of Old Hill Parish Church) as a performing member, and the meeting also ratified the election of Mr. Fred Molineux, of Hagley, who was elected in the belfry some time ago previous to starting for a peal.

The quarterly peal was arranged to be attempted at Old Hill, the arrangements being left in the hands of the Ringing Master (Mr. John Goodman, jun.).

On the suggestion of Mr. S. J. Hughes a collection was taken on behalf of the Rowley Regis bell restoration fund, and realised the sum of 14s. 3d.

Mr. D. Wright (clerk to the Rowley Regis Urban District Council) afterwards gave a very interesting historical survey of Rowley Regis Church and bells, which was greatly appreciated by those present.—Mr. S. J. Hughes proposed that the best thanks be given to the Vicar of Old Hill for giving permission to the Guild to hold the meeting at his church, for conducting the service, and for his eloquent address, and for the use of the tower and bells and Church Institute; also to the Vicar of Rowley for presiding at the meeting; to the organist for the musical part of the service; to the donors of the tea, and to the ladies who prepared and served it, and to the ladies who presided at the tables. Thanks were also accorded to Messrs. John Price and W. Green for their kindness in having all things in readiness, and to all who in any way had assisted in making the meeting a most successful and happy one.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD.

A joint meeting of the Peterborough and Oundle Branches was held at Warrington on Saturday, December 13th. Members attended from Northampton, Peterborough, Surfleet, Oundle, and the local band. The Guild service, with an address, was conducted by the Vicar. A splendid tea was prepared, at which about 30 sat down. This was followed by a business meeting.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

APPEAL TO NORTH BUCKS TOWERS.

A quarterly meeting of the North Bucks branch was held at Bletchley on Saturday, December 6th, and was well attended, the following towers being represented: Bletchley, Beachampton, Calverton, Chicheley, Emberton, Penny Stratford, Linslade and Newport Pagnell, about 50 members being present. The bells were set going from 2.30 p.m., and service was attended by all. The address was given by the Master (the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn), whose text was: 'So that I might finish my course with joy.' The members afterwards adjourned to the Schoolroom, where tea was served, thanks to the ladies, who had everything ready.

After tea, the secretary reported that he had no special business to bring forward in connection with the branch, but was sorry to say that several of the towers were in arrears with payments. He appealed to them to remain in union with the branch.

The Master said a few words, touching on the business in hand by the Guild, also giving details of the 'Washbrook Memorial.'

Mr. Wright, the Guild treasurer, also addressed the meeting on various financial points. He said the North Bucks branch was the premier branch of the Guild, and he was sorry to hear from the secretary that towers were dropping out rather than increasing. He hoped, however, that efforts would be made to hold the position of premier branch; to quote the Master's words, their motto must be 'Service, not self.' The meeting closed with the usual vote of thanks to the Rector, and to the ladies for making arrangements for tea.

The Bedfordshire Association was represented by Mr. C. W. Clarke; Northants by Mr. W. Rogers; Towcester and district by Mr. Green. The methods rung during the afternoon ranged from Grandsire Triples to Cambridge Surprise Major.

ACTION, NOT ARGUMENT.

The letter which appears in this issue from the Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, with regard to the proposed memorial to the late Mr. J. W. Washbrook, should make it clear that the time has now gone by when any useful purpose will be served by arguing the site for the memorial. The claims of various Oxford churches had previously been discussed, and St. Ebbe's selected for a variety of reasons. Since this decision was arrived at by the committee who have the matter in hand, the further alternative of Kidlington has been put forward. Whether this tower would have commended itself more to the Exercise if the proposal had been made earlier, is now beside the question, for a scheme of this kind cannot very well be scrapped after it has been launched until, at any rate, the Exercise has expressed its opinion upon it in the only practical way, that of giving or withholding its support. The time is now for action, not argument.

We believe that in this case the support will be forthcoming as much to place bells in St. Ebbe's tower as in any other, because primarily the object of the scheme is to honour the memory of a man who was one of the greatest ringers in history, who accomplished some of the most noteworthy ringing feats ever performed, and who, in all-round ability as ringer, conductor, tutor and composer, has never been excelled. With the mass of ringers it is not a question of this tower or that, nor even a question altogether of the actual form of the memorial—although nothing is more practical or more suitable than a gift of bells to augment an existing ring. What matters is that the memory of this man should be perpetually commemorated.

That there should be a memorial to James William Washbrook everyone agrees. Its form must depend upon the amount of money raised, and the committee who have undertaken the task must be accounted the best judges to decide the shape which the memorial shall take and the spot where it shall be placed. That they have done, and it now remains for the Exercise to respond to the appeal which has been made. The memorial would be much more widely representative if the associations would each make an adequate donation on behalf of all their members, leaving the personal friends of Mr. Washbrook to contribute individually to the fund, and we suggested, in our last article upon this subject, the minimum sum which would ensure the success of the scheme. We sincerely hope that all our large associations and guilds will follow the example so admirably set by the Kent County Association, and vote the necessary subscription without delay, and that the hundreds of ringers throughout the country

CONCERNING Q-SETS.

By J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

From a time, very early in the history of change ringing, competent composers have been more or less clearly aware of a fact of the utmost importance in peal composition. It is that the bobs in any peal are not, on the one hand, independent things unrelated to each other; nor, on the other, like equal links of a chain, but that they exist in a number of groups, the bobs in any one group being related to each other in a special way, which is quite different to the relationship between two bobs belonging to different groups.

Shipway, I believe, was the first who called attention to this fact in print, but there are sufficient reasons for us to think it was known long before his time; by John Holt, for instance, and Reeves. Shipway tells us that in Extents of Bob Major without Singles, if you bring up 42356 and 34256 bobbed, you must also bring up 23456 bobbed. And in a peal of Grandsire Triples without Singles (assuming such to be possible, which he did assume), if you bring up 1532746 bobbed, you must also bring up 1735624, 1637452, 1436275 and 1234567 bobbed. If you bring up one plain you must bring up all plain. 1735624 may come up at the beginning of a peal; 1436275 may come up near the end. No matter, they belong to the same group, and are irrevocably related to each other.

The older composers knew of this fact, and as far as they knew, they used it; but although the Exercise has had all along men of outstanding mental ability, it does not seem that there was anyone after Stedman until recent times who had the gift of what is called deductive reasoning. Consequently the older men could make little real use of their knowledge of this fact. Then came Mr. W. H. Thompson, to a certain extent preceded by Mr. C. D. P. Davies. Mr. Thompson wrote as a trained mathematician, and using a mathematician's methods he was able, by means of this fact, to solve the then burning problem of composition; and also to show the Exercise an entirely new way of composing peals.

But, because Mr. Thompson was a trained mathematician, he knew that, in solving the problem, the first thing to do was to state the case correctly, and then to rule out anything that did not directly concern it. It was sufficient for his purposes that these Q-sets (as he called them) were a demonstrable fact. What else they were, whether they were the expressions of a local or a general law, what their real nature is—these questions did not concern his problem; and, at least, so far as his printed writings go, he left them severely alone.

The more competent composers have adopted Mr. Thompson's statements, and have applied the Q-set law to other methods. But it does not seem that any have stopped to ask whether this is merely a local or a general law; and, if general, what its nature is, and how it arises. I think it would be profitable if people, who have the necessary ability, would ask themselves these questions. They would find that just as by understanding the Q-sets they can understand the composition of peals: so by understanding the wider scope of the same law, they will be able to solve many of the problems that vex the souls of composers concerning Method Construction, Extension, and so forth.

Is this law of Q-sets a general one? Obviously, if we take a Q-set to mean exactly what Mr. Thompson, and these who have followed him, meant, it is not. It does not in the least follow that in, say, Bob Major, if I call a bob I must complete the Q-set. In a double course, for instance, called W. R. repeated, I call a bob on 235. I do not need to call the other two to bring the bells round. Even in Extents it does not always apply. In a 720 of Minor, you can have two members coming up at back stroke, and the third at hand. All bobbed or all plain, it is true. But that is not quite the ordinary Q-set. Or, again, in Reeve's Extent of Bob Major, you have 342 brought up plain 423 bobbed, and 234 singled.

But you must remember this—mathematical laws always work in exactly the same way, they have no exceptions to prove the rule. But the results are not always what at first sight we might expect. Different circumstances produce different results. So the law that produces Q-sets may be a general one; and what look like exceptions may be due to altered circumstances.

Let us, first of all see what a Q-set is. When Mr. Thompson was writing about Q-sets, the chief thing he had in his mind was how that law affected the truth of a peal, and he worked out his argument in terms of the lead end. The modern composer follows him in both of these things. But I want my reader to put aside for the moment all considerations of truth or falseness; and also to get behind, not merely the lead ends, but also all the figures as well, and to think this thing out in terms of what a band is actually doing in the tower.

The effect of a Q-set is shown at the lead end, but the operation itself takes place when the bob is made. Let us write out the rows which show the bob changes, and side by side the rows, which show the work at the lead ends. Here they are—

3152746	1234567
1357264	2135476
3175624	1253746
1376542	2157364
3167452	1275634
1364725	2176543
3146275	1267453
1342657	2164735
3124567	1246375
1325476	2143657

Now, carefully examine these, and you will find the following facts:—

- Both operations divide the bells into two groups.
 - In the one case the treble and the bell Before at the bob. In the other the Treble and the bell in the Hunt. These we will call the Hunts.
 - In the one case the bob making bells. In the other, the working bells. These we will call the Extreme bells.
- The Extreme bells in both cases make a complete Hunting Course among themselves. This is one cycle of movement.
- Write out the Coursing Orders of all the bells in both groups. You will find that the Hunts make a complete cycle through the Coursing Order of the Extreme bells. (Ring a Course of Bob Major, and notice the position of the Treble in the Coursing Order of the bells, and you will realise what I mean.) This is the second cycle of movement.
- You have the cycle that the plain hunting produces on all the bells (Hunts and Extreme bells) alike. This is the third cycle of movement.

We have then this fact that a Plain Course and a Q-set each is a movement consisting of three cycles, and (I want you to mark this carefully) it is essential that each cycle should be complete. Omit one member of one of the cycles, and the bells will not come round.

Put the Q-set and the Plain Course together, and you have a touch of five courses which can be split up into a number of cycles.

Now, take as many methods as you can, good and bad alike, with as big a variety of bobs as you can think of. Write out the Q-sets, and you will find that they are all similar to the case we have just been considering.

We are a long way off proving that we have here a general law. But I am going to make a jump in argument, and a big assertion. Every possible block of changes, whether it be course or touch or peal; whether it be true or false; whether it be symmetrical or unsymmetrical; whether it be simple or complex; whether it be London Surprise or crude 'Stoney'—all can be split up into a number of cycles, and every one of the cycles must be complete, or the bells will not come round.

This is the law which gives importance to Q-sets; and this is the foundation law of Change Ringing. Unless you understand it you cannot understand the problems of Method Construction.

Now, this law works according to its nature, and not necessarily in the way you want it to, or expect it to. If you want to see how it does work begin with the Simple Methods, and then go on to the more Complex. Don't break your teeth on a problem like London Surprise before you understand the construction of Plain Bob, Double Norwich, Kent, and the like. When you have understood these you will be able to see that London only differs in that it has more cycles which are more intricately interwoven.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

WESTERN DIVISION.

At the kind invitation of the Vicar, the Rev. E. R. Dawe, B.A., the quarterly meeting of the Western Division was held at Queensbury, and the peal of eight (tenor 14½ cwt.) were kept going from 2.30 p.m. in methods including Bob Minor and Major, Kent Treble Bob Minor and Major, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, and Double Norwich. About 60 ringers, including ladies, sat down to tea, after which the business meeting was held, but owing to the absence of the vice-president, through ill-health, the chair was occupied by the Ringing Master (Mr. J. Broadley).

Several new members were elected, but as no invitation was forthcoming, arrangements for the next meeting, to be held in March, were left in the hands of the secretary.

After a vote of thanks had been passed to the Vicar, churchwardens, local company and ladies who presided over tea, for the hearty welcome accorded to the members, and which was suitably responded to by the Vicar and Mr. E. Whiteley (churchwarden), the meeting was brought to a close with a hearty vote of thanks to the chairman. Further ringing then took place until 9 p.m.

The following towers were represented: Bradford Cathedral, Bolton (St. James'), Halifax (St. John's), Headingley (St. Michael's), Idle, Shipley, Guiseley, Keighley, Gargrave, Oxenhope, Denholme, Mirfield, Liversedge, Lightcliffe, Northowram, Mytholmroyd and Todmorden.

DEATH OF AN OLD SHEFFIELD RINGER. RANG BEFORE THE CRIMEAN WAR.

By the passing away of Mr. Francis Allen, at the ripe old age of 89 years, Sheffield loses its oldest ringer.

Mr. Allen was born at Witham-on-the-Hill, in Lincolnshire, on January 19th, 1835, and, had he survived a few more weeks, would have entered upon his 91st year. Coming to the City of Blades in the year of the great Sheffield flood (1864), Mr. Allen took up the position of coachman to one of the old Sheffield families, and held the post for over 40 years. By the exercise of thrift, he had been able to purchase the house he lived in, at 203, Providence Road, Walkley, and it is pleasing to note that his former mistress made ample provision for him and his family during the years of his retirement.

A life member of the Yorkshire Association, Mr. Allen was, up to a few years ago, a regular ringer at Rannmoor Church, and took part in the ringing for the signing of the Armistice, being then in his 84th year. It was his proud achievement to have rung several 720's in his native village before the outbreak of the Crimean War, a record which few ringers of to-day can claim. He had rung several peals for the Yorkshire Association, and was a safe ringer of the standard methods.

The funeral took place at Walkley Cemetery on Tuesday, Dec. 16th, and was attended by representatives of the Yorkshire Association, four of whom rang, at the graveside, a course of Grandsire Triples as a last token of respect.

The deceased leaves a widow and son to mourn his death. The former is in her 89th year. The latter is a member of the Rannmoor company, with which church his father had such long association.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL COLLECTION OF PLAIN MAJOR METHODS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir, I shall be glad if any band who have rung a peal in any Plain Major method, other than the standard and well-known methods, will forward me a lead of it, with the bob they used, the name they called it, and the date the first peal was rung.—Yours faithfully,
J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

MUFFLED, RINGING.

At Cirencester, Glos., on Thursday, December 3rd, at the Parish Church, on the minor eight, with the bells half-muffled, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,316 changes), from the first part of Holt's Original: F. W. Bond 1, J. King 2, F. J. Lewis (conductor) 3, J. C. Eden 4, W. H. Hayward 5, G. Dore 6, H. C. Bond 7, F. Edwards 8. Rung as a token of respect to the late Mr. F. Boulton for many years churchwarden, and also a honorary member of the Gloucester and Bristol Association. — On Tuesday, November 25th, two courses of Stedman Caters: F. Edwards 1, F. W. Bond 2, W. G. Cook 3, W. C. Cuss 4, H. Gassor 5, W. H. Hayward 6, S. R. Hicks 7, F. J. Lewis 8, H. C. Bond 9, A. Parsons 10.

FLEMISH BELLS IN WALES.

On Saturday, November 22nd, the Gorseinon (South Wales) ringers held their annual outing, and visited Haverfordwest. This place was favoured because of the kind way the Gorseinon ringers were welcomed a year ago, when they were privileged to open this magnificent peal of eight bells (tenor 1 ton). Some of the bells are believed to be of Flemish origin, according to a local historian, and 'go' splendidly. The ringers were met at the station by Mr. Rogers, the local captain, who escorted the party round the places of interest. Afterwards, the bells were raised in peal, and, after lunch, a well-struck quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung in 47 mins., by Reg. Dobbins 1, R. Baird 2, C. Willis 3, A. Sluman 4, Wal. Dobbins 5, W. Dobbins 6, J. Williams (conductor) 7, Will. Stevens 8. This was the first quarter-peal on the bells, and was rung as a birthday compliment to the conductor. Then followed a good practice for the locals, who are just taking up change ringing with fairly good results. The ringing included 168 and 504 Grandsire Triples, also 360 Bob Minor. The bells were then lowered in peal, and steps were turned towards the Institute, where a bountiful tea was awaiting the visitors. During the meal, the Vicar (the Rev. T. Owen Phillips) thanked them for again paying Haverfordwest a visit, and also for providing such good music from the bells. He was supported by Mr. Warren and Mr. Thos. Rogers.—Mr. J. Williams and Mr. W. Dobbins replied for the visitors, and added the thanks of the visitors for the generous lunch and tea provided for them. The evening was spent in various ways.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

We extend to all our readers best wishes for a happy and prosperous New Year, and beg to acknowledge the many kind greetings which have already reached us.

Congratulations will be extended to the band who last week rang the first twelve bell peal at Canterbury Cathedral, especially as eleven out of the twelve men had never rung a twelve-bell peal before. This success must be a source of gratification to the hon. secretary of the Kent County Association.

Birmingham is shortly to lose Canon E. Grose Hodge as its Vicar. Canon Hodge is leaving in January on account of his health, and he will be much missed by St. Martin's Guild, in whose affairs he has shown great interest. He has on several occasions presided at the annual Henry Johnson Commemoration Dinner.

This dinner, by the way, will take place next year on Feb. 28th.

A new clock and peal of eight bells were dedicated on Saturday in the Penistone Parish Church tower, to take the place of the clock which had served for over 100 years, and six bells, two of which dated back over 200 years.

The time of the peal of Major rung at Colerne on Oct. 18th should have been published as 2 hrs. 55 mins.

Alderman J. S. Pritchett, presiding Ringing Master of St. Martin's Guild, has been elected a governor of King Edward's School, Birmingham, the school at which he received his education. The date of his election almost exactly coincided with the anniversary of his entrance into the famous school sixty years ago, i.e., in 1864, when he won a place by competitive examination at the age of nine. Needless to say, Alderman Pritchett is exceedingly proud of being a governor of his old school.

Only the tenor of the old ring of three at Brockenhurst was recast for the restoration, the old treble and second now taking their places as the 3rd and 5th in the restored peal. The tenor is 4 cwt. 12 lb.

With a bell of this weight, it almost looks as if a strap rope should be provided.

The Christmas holidays have always been a favourite time for long peals among the first of these having been the 15,58 Ke-t Treble Bob Major at Elland on Dec. 26th, 1831.

On Boxing Day, 1885, College Youths rang 8,064 Double Norwich at Leiston, and in 1894 the Crawley (Sussex) band rang the record length of 9,312 Superlative Surprise, which has only been exceeded in this method by the 9,728 at Clent exactly 16 years later.

In 1901, on Boxing Day, a 10,176 Kent Treble Bob Major was rung at Beeston, and on the same day the fine performance of 11,111 Stedman Cinques was accomplished at Birmingham, a record which stood until the masterly peal at Southwark, on Whit Monday, 1923. Last year, on Boxing Day, the Middlesex Association rang the 10,440 Cambridge Royal at Walthamstow.

Two long lengths rung on Dec. 27th have been the 17,104 Double Norwich at South Wigston, in 10 hrs. 35 mins., in 1904; and 10,176 Double Oxford Bob Major at Brierley Hill in 1909.

In 1718, on Dec. 27th, the Union Scholars rang a peal of 5,120 Union Bob Major (Oxford Treble Bob) at St. Dunstan's. The composition of this peal is still on record.

The first peal by the Winchester Diocesan Guild was rung at Guildford on December 27th, 1881. This was a peal of Union Triples.

On December 31st, 1883, the Oxford Guild rang 15,041 Stedman Caters at Appleton in 9 hrs. 16 mins., and on the last day of 1892, 12,096 Double Norwich at Maidenhead in 7 hrs. 10 mins.

The bells of St. Peter's, Nottingham, were raised for the first time, and a peal of Grandsire Triples rung on them on Dec. 31st, 1771.

In the composition of the peal of Winchester Bob Major, published last week, the 2nd and 3rd courses after 32456 were transposed.

A POLICEMEN'S QUARTER-PEAL.

At Manchester, on Monday, December 15th, at the Church of St. Thomas, Pendleton, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes), in 44 mins.: P.C. J. Mulliner 1, P.C. D. Brown 2, P.C. J. Carter 3, P.C. W. Pye 4, P.C. G. Pye 5, P.C. P. Crook 6, P.C. F. Page (conductor) 7, P.C. J. Wilson 8.

STAINES. — On Sunday, Nov. 23rd, for morning service, at St. Peter's Church, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples, in 42 mins.: Miss D. Gundry (first quarter-peal) 1, W. Parker 2, J. Phillips 3, A. Hiscock 4, E. Butler 5, W. Sewell 6, J. B. Hessey (composer and conductor) 7, — Smith 8.

THE BELLS OF CROYLAND ABBEY.

BY J. R. JERRAM.

There is a tradition (for the truth of which I cannot vouch) that Croyland Abbey was the first church in England which possessed a peal of bells.

Be that as it may, we find that Turketyl, the sixth Abbot (A.D. 946-975) cast a great bell for the Abbey, and named it Guthlac, to whom the Abbey is dedicated. Egelric, his nephew and successor (A.D. 975-984), added six more bells, viz.: Two large ones, named Bartholomew and Betelin, two middle ones, named Turketyl and Tatwyn, and two smaller ones, names Pega and Bega. Abbot Ingulph, the chronicler, says that when these seven bells were rung 'an excellent harmony was produced thereby, nor was there such a peal of bells in those days in all England.' The sound of Guthlac was said by Fuller to be a remedy for headache!

Those bells hung in the central tower till the year 1091, when a fire broke out in the belfry by which they were totally destroyed. Ingulph, going to the door and trying to enter, had a narrow escape of being killed by the molten metal which poured down from above. This fire was caused by a plumber, who had been preparing lead for repairs to the roof of the tower, and had foolishly left his embers covered up for the next day. Nearly the whole of the Abbey was consumed thereby.

After the fire the monks set to work immediately to rebuild their Abbey. No sooner was the calamity known than the neighbouring towns and villages vied with each other in sending relief in money, food, building materials and other commodities. Among these Fergus, the coppersmith, of Boston, gave two metal skillets, or pans, which the monks suspended in a temporary belfry, and which gave a certain amount of resonance when struck. Ingulph replaced the books, vestments, bells, and other requisites, before his death, which took place in 1109.

Abbot Ralph Merske (1253-1281) erected a detached bell-tower at the east end of the church, which was called the 'outward belfry.' Abbot John de Asheby, who died in 1392, gave or recast the large bells hanging in this structure. In 1405 there were 'four sweetly sounding bells hanging in the tower behind the choir.' These were repaired in that year by Abbot Thomas Overton.

In the time of Abbot John Lytlington (1427-1469) the great bells in the outer steeple were recast 'in order that they might be brought into a state of more perfect harmony.' In this work the monks were assisted by John Leycester, a brother of the monastery, who in 1463 'induced by pious considerations, contributed 40 marks towards the work.' What became of the bells of the outer steeple at the Dissolution is not now known.

It was in 1465 that Abbot John Lytlington, 'in order that nothing might remain undone which is considered to tend to the increase of the praise of God, caused five fine and choice bells to be cast at London, and substituted for the three old ones [one gone since 1405] here [that is in the central tower] to send forth their sweet sounds with their harmonious chimes. The cost of these, together with the expense of the carriage thereof to Croyland by land and water, amounting in all to £160, was defrayed entirely by himself. These bells, while still lying below upon the ground before they were hung, were solemnly consecrated by Nicholas, the venerable Lord Bishop of Elphin, who was at this time suffragan to the reverend father in Christ, John, Lord Bishop of Lincoln. They were inscribed from the smallest to the greatest with the names in especial of the patron saints in whose honour they were most devoutly dedicated: the names being Guthlac, Bartholomew, Michael, Mary and Trinity.' It is further related that a great beam, which was being raised in the greater bell tower, which had newly been built in the western part of the church, in which it was intended that the bells just mentioned should be hung, fell down, doing much damage and jeopardising the lives of the workmen, all of whom, however, escaped.

Two of the five bells hung by Abbot Lytlington in 1465 remained until after 1783, when Gough, in his 'History of Croyland Abbey,' published in that year, gives the inscriptions on three of them, viz.: (1.) 'In multis annis resonet campana Johannis'; (2.) 'Sum Rosa pulsata mundi Maria vocata'; and (3.) 'Hæc campana beate Trinitati sacra.' The first of these, dedicated to St. John and cast after Abbot Lytlington's time, is evidently the present tenor.

So much from the late Mr. T. North's notes in his 'Church Bells of Lincolnshire,' and Marrat's 'History of Lincolnshire.'

From 1788 up to 1903 the tower contained a peal of five bells, the inscriptions of which I copied in 1868. They were as follows:—

Treble. + THOMAS NORRIS MADE ME 1654.

Second. EDWD. ARNOLD, LEICESTER, FECIT, 1788. WM. HICKLING, WM. COOKE, CHURCHWARDENS. O [A medallion of Edward Arnold, rarely found on any of his bells, and not appearing in any county bell book. It is also found on the tenor at Cowbit]. Unfortunately this bell has been recast and the medallion lost. It consists of a somewhat irregular circle enclosing three birds and the word 'Leicester.'

Third. EDWD. ARNOLD, LEICESTER, FECIT, 1788. + WM. HICKLING, WM. COOKE, CHURCHWARDENS. 'S.

Fourth. + REV. MOORE SCIEBO, RECTOR. + WILLIAM COOKE AND CHARLES ASHBY, CHURCHWARDENS. + E. ARNOLD, LEICESTER + FECIT, 1797.
The name 'Sciebo' is a mistake for 'Scribo,' more properly 'Scribeaux.'

Tenor. U + O In Dulcis Annis Resonant Campana Jobannis. The ornaments are the Royal Arms (3 fleur de lys and 3 lions passant quarterly), crowned. See Stahlschmidt's 'Church Bells of Kent,' fig. 17, p. 33. A floriated cross, and the 'Ihu merci ladi help' medallion, see his 'Church Bells of Surrey,' figs. 185 and 187.

The diameter of the tenor is 39½ inches, weight 9 cwt. 2 qrs. 8 lbs. About the year 1880, Mr. R. Wyche introduced change ringing at Croyland; and in 1885 I had the pleasure of visiting the tower and taking part in several six scores of Grandsire Doubles there.

In 1895 the treble, being cracked, was recast with the following inscription: 'THOMAS NORRIS MADE ME 1654. THIS BELL WAS RECAST BY J. TAYLOR & CO., LOUGHBOROUGH. REV. T. H. LEBBECK, RECTOR. T. ATKINSON, A. BELLAIRES, CHURCHWARDENS.

In 1903 it was resolved to augment the peal to six, also to recast the old second. These bells are now inscribed:

Treble. 1903. GLORIA DEO IN EXCELSIS. JOHN TAYLOR & CO., FOUNDERS, LOUGHBOROUGH, LEICESTERSHIRE. REV. T. H. LEBBECK, RECTOR. T. ATKINSON, J.P., E. SANDERSON, CHURCHWARDENS.

Old Second (now Third). 1903. TO THE GLORY OF GOD THIS BELL WAS RECAST IN MEMORY OF W. J. CLETON, ESQ., OF YORK.

So now the Abbey possesses a peal of six bells.

It is almost a pity that, considering three of the bells are new, they did not add a heavier tenor, say, about 14 cwt., keeping the old one as fifth, and recasting the old third, making her half a note lower, as a fourth bell.

THE LATE MR. JOE MALONEY.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—May I ask for space in your valuable paper to give me the opportunity of replying to Mr. R. Newton's kind letter re the death of our old colleague, Mr. Joe Maloney? We had received a little information about his death, but Mr. Newton's letter gives us more particulars, and I offer my best thanks for it. Our old friend Joe did conduct the last peal on the old Mottram bells, under Ashton-under-Lyne Society, but not the first on the new ones. He rang for service on them on the Sunday previous to leaving this district for Canada, Sept. 26th, 1910. It is with the deepest regret we learn of his passing hence, and I feel sure no better-hearted man will be laid to rest beneath Canadian soil. He was a good ringer, and the jolliest of company. No ringers' gathering in this district was complete without his presence. I know there are many ringers for a good distance around here who will remember having the pleasure to meet him. He needed no introduction into company, for he soon made himself at home, especially amongst ringers. He rang a good number of peals, chiefly in the Kent method, the most outstanding one being 10,000 at Old Glossop Parish Church some years ago. Seeing that I am writing about one of my old tutors, and had the pleasure of conducting his last and farewell peal, his name will be a lasting memory to—Yours sincerely,

JAMES BUCKLEY.

A SALOP 'MISSIONARY' OUTING.

On Saturday, December 13th, an outing was arranged to Calverhall and Ightfield, two 6-bell towers in North Salop, where there is no change ringing done, with the idea of stimulating local interest. Owing to the unfavourable weather conditions, the full number expected did not turn up. However, ringers from Whitechurch, Hodnot and Stanton, met at Calverhall at 3.30, where there is a handy ring with a tenor of 13½ cwt., and touches of Grandsire Doubles and Minor were rung till 5.30, when tea was partaken of at the 'Old Jack' Inn.

After tea, the party made tracks for Ightfield, where the visitors were met by the local men, several of the latter being piloted through their first six-score. Ringing was kept up till 8 o'clock, and after an excellent 'fall' the party broke up, everyone having had an enjoyable time.

THE WASHBROOK MEMORIAL.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In view of letters which are now appearing in your columns under this heading, may I offer the following summary of matter relating thereto, which you have previously published for the information of the Exercise?

February 8th.—Notice of proposed memorial in Lancashire.

February 22nd.—Letter by Mr. W. Brown suggesting a memorial in the parish where Washbrook was born, and at the church where he commenced his ringing.

May 16th.—Recommendation from Oxford Guild Committee to the general meeting to erect a memorial to Washbrook in the cloisters of Christ Church Cathedral, Oxford, and to invite all Guilds and Associations to contribute.

July 18th.—Resolution of the Central Council, on the proposition of the President of the Lancashire Association: 'That this Council considers that steps should be taken to place a tablet to the memory of the late Mr. J. W. Washbrook in the city of Oxford, and commends this scheme to the Guilds and Associations with which he was connected.'

August 1st.—Full report of the discussion of their committee's recommendation, together with the resolution of the Central Council, and a letter of goodwill from the secretary of the Lancashire Association, by members of the Oxford Guild assembled in general meeting. Resolution carried that the memorial should be in Oxford. As leave could not be obtained for a tablet in the cloisters, other suggestions were invited as to the actual form it should take. In response, the claims of augmenting the rings of either St. Ebbe, St. Giles', or Carfax, were put forth, and urged. A special committee was appointed to consider suggestions, decide on a scheme, and carry it out.

August 8th.—Leading article stating that the general opinion of the aforesaid meeting seemed in favour of St. Ebbe's.

Sept. 22nd.—Letter from Rev. F. L. Edwards, setting forth the claims of St. Giles'.

Sept. 26th.—Letter from Mr. Collett, suggesting St. Aldate's.

Oct. 10th.—Letter from Mr. Bennett, supporting St. Giles'.

Oct. 31st.—Notice that the Washbrook Memorial Committee met on October 16th, carefully considered the information which had been collected, the expert reports (i.e., of bell founder and bell-hanger) which had been made, as well as the personal opinions which had been expressed on this question, and decided to appeal to the Exercise and to friends for the minimum sum of £170, in order to augment the ring of six bells at the Church of St. Ebbe, and in the event of a larger sum being forthcoming, to consider a larger scheme. In the same issue appeared a leading article commenting on the fact that a decision had been arrived at, and commending it to the loyal and generous support of the Exercise.

Sir, in view of these facts I would respectfully ask the writers—and others—what good purpose can be served by such letters as have since appeared over the signatures of J. R. Jerram, M. Smith and J. H. R. Freeborn?

The time for such has gone by. The committee now asks for the loyal and generous support of the scheme from every person who values Washbrook's memory.

It will require no more—and no less—until it finds it has more money than it knows what to do with, of which state of things the Exercise shall be duly informed.—Yours truly,

CYRIL W. O. JENKYN,

REDENHALL BELLS RESTORED.DEAN OF NORWICH ON THE MESSAGE OF THE BELLS.

The bells of Redenhall, Norfolk, have just been restored as a result of the efforts of the parishioners, supported by their Rector (Dr. O. D. Inskip), and the generosity of Mrs. Sencroft Holmes, of Gawdy Hall. The church has also recently been fitted with a fine heating installation. The major portion of the funds was realised from a bazaar held at Gawdy Hall during the summer, when over £300 was obtained. It was then that Sir H. Rider Haggard reminded the neighbourhood of their duty to preserve the church and its bells, which had been ringing since Plantagenet times. The bells have been rehung and two of them recast, the work being carried out by Messrs. Bowell, of Ipswich, at a cost of £248. With the heating installation a total expenditure of £393 has been incurred.

The dedication was performed by the Dean of Norwich, president of the Norfolk Guild. Seldom has the seating capacity of the large church been so taxed. The Rector read prayers, and the Rev. E. A. B. Creed the first lesson. Miss E. Gambril presided at the organ, and the hymns sung were: 'Glorious things of thee are spoken,' 'Hark, hark, my soul,' and 'When morning gilds the skies.' After the dedication by the Dean, a short touch was rung, the congregation standing.

The Dean, in his address, said it was in Italy in the year 395 A.D. that the ringing of bells as a call to Divine worship was first introduced. Who could say why a mere stroke upon a shell of metal designed and cast by human hands could send forth upon the earth a message so enthralling? It was beyond their power to determine this, but they all would admit the fascination of those sounds. The antiquity of bells was very great. In India and China bells were rung centuries earlier than in Europe. The Romans at the height of their power used bells for proclaiming the opening of great games in Rome and in other important centres at times of national rejoicing, and at the triumphs of their armies. It was in the year 607 A.D. that bells found their way for the first time into this country in a church in the North of England, and in which he himself had preached. The first set of large bells of which there was record was a peal erected in Lincolnshire at about 870 A.D. It was then thought to be something wonderful, and people came for miles to hear the new music of those bells. Each bell was named, and those names have been preserved. Thereafter bell ringing spread rapidly all over England, although for some centuries it was carried out exclusively by monks, and in many of the large monasteries foundries were to be found. Later it outgrew the power of the monks, so great was the demand. Among the early permanent foundries were those at London, Gloucester, Salisbury, Bury St. Edmunds, Colchester and Norwich. Each bell was given its own name, and each as it was sounded was supposed to be giving out its own special message. In early days it was supposed that evil spirits were unable to endure the sound of bells. Bells were made for many reasons, and they were also full of romantic interest. Far-reaching happenings were associated with their use. The tower of Redenhall, with its belfry, was a gem of architecture. The Dean urged his hearers to think of what their bells meant. They called the faithful to prayer, they reminded those who could not go of the prayers of the Church, and they spoke of the communion of saints. Bell ringing was one of the best of hobbies, centring as it did round the things of God. Comradeship and true brotherhood were more emphasised in that hobby than in any other. The preacher remarked that an effort was being made to re-establish the systematic ringing of the restored bells, and trusted that there would shortly be a body of men devoted to their service.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.NORTH DORSET BRANCH.

The first annual meeting of the North Dorset Branch was held at Sherborne on Saturday, December 6th. About 90 ringers were present, representing 20 towers. A service was held in the Abbey, at which Canon Wingfield-Digby, Vicar of Sherborne, gave an address. The members had tea together in the Church Hall.

After tea, there was a business meeting, at which the Rev. R. H. Grundy, Rector of Shroton, and Master of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, was re-elected chairman of the branch. The Rev. R. E. P. Gorringe, Manston Rectory, Sturminster Newton, was re-elected hon. secretary.

The Secretary reported that there were now 148 ringing members, and 11 hon. members of the branch.

Sherborne and Lillington towers were elected to the branch for 1925, and it was decided that the quarterly meetings in 1925 should be held at Blandford, Stourton, Shroton and Gillingham.

Too many ringers were present for any long touches to be rung, but several short lengths were brought round in the course of the afternoon and evening. All the members expressed great satisfaction at the success of the meeting, and their sincere gratitude to Canon Wingfield-Digby for allowing them the use of the Abbey bells.

A GHOST AMONG THE REVELLERS.A STORY OF FECKENHAM WAKE.

The following amusing story appeared in a recent issue of 'The Evesham Journal':—

In the main street of the village of Feckenham and adjoining the churchyard is an old-fashioned inn, 'The Eight Bells,' and in the bar-kitchen of this old house one Saturday night, more years ago than I can remember, was assembled a jovial little party. It was the eve of Feckenham Wake, the first wake after Parson Hinton had been inducted as Vicar of the parish, and though most of the frequenters of the 'Eight Bells' had gone home to their beds, the ringers, the Parish Clerk, and the Crier had 'sat on their beer' with the result that they, as well as the night, were getting 'fairly on.'

'For Bobby Haines he hadn't come,
They weren't particular then
About the public's shutting up
Just as the clock struck ten.'

The old grandfather clock kept on ticking off the minutes towards midnight, and the little party in the bar got merrier and merrier, until at last it was suggested that they should adjourn to the church and have a bit of practice on the bells, and incidentally rouse up the new Vicar. To go through the churchyard at that hour required a bit of courage, so they had a large stone jar filled with 'courage' to take with them, and off they went.

In the study, at the Vicarage:—

'The Vicar was a sitting up
To write by candle light
His first Wake Sunday sermon,
That Saturday at night.
But the words they came uneasy,
He couldn't get 'em right,
When out there burst a tipsy peal
At night, the dead of night.'

The Vicar started, rose from his chair, and walked impatiently up and down the room. He was an Irishman, and like most of his countrymen rather hot-tempered but warm-hearted. Eventually the noise ceased, probably while the ringers had a drink, and Parson Hinton sat down to continue his sermon. He had not written many lines, however, when the bells commenced again with more fury and less harmony than before. This was too much for the Vicar, who rose hastily for the second time and went off to his bedroom, where he chalked his face and wrapped himself up in a white sheet and started for the church.

The scene changes to the belfry. The little party of revellers now almost too drunk to stand on their feet, but still pulling at the bell ropes. The stone jar now empty.

As the church clock strikes twelve the little door from the stairway opens slowly and noiselessly, and there in the doorway stands a ghostly figure all in white. Eight pairs of staring eyes, the hair on eight heads rises on end like quills upon the fretful porcupine. Eight pairs of legs suddenly give way and the erstwhile noisy band of revellers lie hopelessly on the belfry floor around the empty jar.

A SILVER WEDDING CELEBRATION.

On Saturday afternoon, Dec. 13th, eight members of the Surrey Association, viz., Messrs. R. D. Marshall, F. G. Woodiss, Miss F. E. Orr, Messrs. D. Cooper, J. E. Cooper, C. H. Kippin, C. W. Roberts, G. H. Daynes, met at All Hallows', Barking-by-the-Tower, E.C., for a double purpose, viz., to attempt a peal of Double Norwich, to celebrate the silver wedding of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Marshall, parents of Reginald D. Marshall; also to ring for the annual 'Toc H.' club service at 5.30 p.m., at which H.R.H. the Prince of Wales was to be present. Unfortunately the peal attempt 'went west,' but ringing was indulged in till 5.30 p.m., in the following methods: Double Norwich, Little Bob Major and Stedman Triples, after which the band adjourned to Lyons for tea. Afterwards the band, with two exceptions, made for Deptford, to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall, where they were joined by Mr. E. J. Trimmer, who kindly brought his handbells, and a pleasant 90 minutes was spent, ringing (more or less successfully) Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Stedman Caters. Supper was then served, and afterwards Mr. F. G. Woodiss congratulated Mrs. Marshall (Mr. Marshall, senr., unfortunately was unable to be present) on successfully completing 25 years of married life. He thanked them for providing such an excellent supper, and proposed 'Long life and happiness for yet another 25 years.' This, seconded by Mr. C. W. Roberts, was drunk with acclamation, after which a short time was spent in further handbell ringing. This brought to a close a pleasant afternoon and evening, which, although not successful from a peal ringing point of view, was heartily enjoyed by all.

BRIGHTER MEETINGS.

PEPPERY'S REMEDY.

To the Editor.

Dear Editor, — During ye past few weeks ye Beste of Spouses hath called mine attention to various items of much note, which have appeared in our journal, which ye Goode Dame hath opined are of more than passing import. Chief among these was ye meeting of ye 'Morrie Men' (no longer garbed in Lincoln Green) at Basford: Robin Hood, alas, being kept away through illness. This meeting did put one more rung to ye ladder of progress (and good Little John did catch it hot and plenty for staying out till he could not get in ye same day on which he hied him forth), as ye secretary did announce that at ye next meeting at ye noble Church of Mary a very interesting lecture would be given by one of note in ringing circles (eh? No, not Friar Tuck, Goode Dame, he's heard his last course 'in hand' these years gone by. What a tenorman he'd have made!) on ye bells and ringing antiquities of ye county. Now, this is a step in ye right direction, as we all hear grumbles about meetings, and many go as a duty, and not for the ringing that may be inflicted on ye unoffending R.P. It is claimed that these meetings are to advance ye noble art, and what could advance it more than a really good lecture of interesting data on bell lore by an authority such as the one booked to address the meeting at Nottingham?

Many meetings I have attended do fall short of their promise; some because all those who attend are not interested, others because there is no one vested with authority as Ringing Master for the day, and others because the said 'R.M.' has not got the personality to do the job with the correct aplomb and eclat. Meetings are spoilt because A goes there determined to ring 'Panoply Surprise,' and doth omit to heed that it is necessary to learn the method ere he attends. B doth arrive and doth require to be coaxed for five minutes before he will ring; 'twere better HE had not left ye cannibal apron string. Five minutes is too precious to waste on such as he. C doth arrive not knowing what method he either knows or would like to pull at; so D goes home grumbling because he hath not rung that 720 of Acorn-on-the-Greensward Delight. But as ye Goode Dame doth point out, these lectures would be a profit to all, as we should then meet not only to learn by annoying the populace for five hours; but to listen to sound sense, propounded to us in a way we could grasp. If all those who do write these learned treatises in our journal were to do the same, far more ringers would understand the meaning of the 'in and out of course of changes.'

I did suggest to ye Goode Dame that it would be ye real thing if ye good and learned Professors Bramble and Baker, of Brightseaside University did give us a heart-to-heart talk on Method Construction, and that ye great scientists, Powell, Parker and Craven, took it in turns for an hour each to expound as to whether ye rounds preceded ye 'That's all' position, or ye place made ye rounds, at year respective meetings. This course would do more to interest us in and make clear to us these mysteries, than all their cross purpose enigmas, were those lectures given with blackboard illustrations. An did ye learned Professor of Shunts, 'Lamm as' hard as he were able it would have a really (H)ealing effect were he to discourse on ye way bells should be rung to ease the aches after one had been to Whit-e-chapel and lost it in the last six, especially were it by a nice fire and a soft cushion and a—'Yes, Peppery,' quoth she, 'all MY lectures are in vain—must you always have meal with your mustard?'
SAMUEL PEPPERY.

WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

At Curdridge on Dec. 15th, a meeting for combined Surprise ringing was held at the Parish Church, when a good muster availed themselves of the opportunity of a good practice in London, Cambridge and Superlative, with courses of Stedman Triples thrown in. The company included Messrs. Rogers, Tate, Burnett (Portsmouth), F. S. Bayley (Fareham), W. Linter (Swanmore), R. Brown (Southampton), G. Pullinger W. G. Edwards, W. Rowe, G. Williams (N. Stoneham), with Messrs. C. J. Fray, J. Ryves, and the brothers Mears, ... the local band. The ringing throughout was very fair, and may be considered one of the best combined practices of the year.

A PEAL CORRECTION.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Attention having been drawn to the peal rung at St. Giles', Rowley Regis, Staffs, on September 16th, 1924, and duly reported in 'The Ringing World' of October 10th (page 643), under the title of 'St. Thomas' Guild, Dudley.' I wish to point out that the title should have been given as 'The Dudley and District Guild,' and not St. Thomas' Guild. When the St. Thomas' Guild was made an independent society in 1911 its title was changed to the Dudley and District Guild, hence no doubt the slight error.

HERBERT SHEPPARD,

Dudley and District Guild.

Hon. Sec.

SPLICED ERIN AND STEDMAN.

The following compositions by Mr. A. J. Pitman, of Port Talbot, are both produced from original courses, and are the first to contain long blocks of Erin and Stedman.

First peal of Caters on this plan.

OUR VILLAGE TENOR-MAN.

Our little village steeple boasts a man of great renown:
The way he knocks that bell about marks the strongest man in town:
They say his sole ambition is to shake the steeple down.
They say when athletes do great things, they rub their joints with lotion:

Not so with him, for every pull's the poetry of motion:
They say he needs no 'Kruschen,' 'cos the feelings always there.
And once he rolled Great Paul 'in,' and never turned a hair.
'Tis true our Jehu drives a 'trike' of prehistoric genus;
And when to church he scorches 'tis like the famed transit of Venus.
I've heard that to this vale of tears there's one comes every minute:
I think you'll find, where'er you seek his equal is not in it;
And if adown the ages for a thousand years he roam,
He's sure to take a special prize every time he's shown.
