GLOUCESTER & BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION. CHELTENHAM BRANCH.

The spring meeting of the Cheltenham Branch was held at Dumbleton, and attended by a large number of members, who, during the afternoon, enjoyed ringing on the nice little ring of six. Service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. Collins Ashwin), who was supported by a full choir, and also gave an excellent address.

By the generosity of the Rector, a bounteous tea was partaken of in the Village Hall. At the business meeting which followed, the Rector was voted to the chair, and expressed his pleasure at having the meeting in his parish. He expressed the hope that the association would come again soon.

Among those present were the Rev. A. D. Pennington (Alderton), Mr. C. W. Dyson (chairman of the Tewkesbury Branch), and over 40 members from the following towers: Winchcombe, Alderton, St. Mark's (Cheltenham), Swindon, Prestbury, Charlton Kings, Leckhampton, Childs Wickham, Willersey, Buckland, and the local tower, together with several members from the Tewkesbury Branch.

The Secretary, in a short report, congratulated Mr. F. Nurdan and the Dumbleton band on the great strides they were making.

A letter from the Gloucester Branch, suggesting that Badgworth tower be handed over to them, was 'turned down.'

Badgworth was selected for the next meeting, and details were left to the secretary to arrange.

Eight new members were elected, and on the proposition of Mr. Townsend, seconded by Mr. C. Martin, it was decided that an effort should be made to arrange a meeting at Stow-on-the-Wold in conjunction with the Cirencester and Gloucester branches.

Mr. W. Devereux voiced the thanks of the members to the Rector for his great kindness in entertaining them, and for the use of the bells.—This was carried with cheers, and the Rector suitably responded.

The tower was again visited, and further ringing closed a very happy meeting.

THE HEREFORD GUILD.

The Hereford Diocesan Guild is by no means so well off as many associations, either for the facilities which its members have for ringing advanced methods, or for intercommunication between its towers, yet it is one of the most go-ahead of the provincial societies in the way in which it endeavours to help its ringers in the art. Its districts are small and well organised, being limited to practically a seven-mile radius around what may be called the parent towers, and the association has gone further than any other that we know of by providing the Ringing Master with a motor-cycle to enable him to reach and help the members in outlying towers. Enthusiast that he was, and is, Mr. Charles Edwards used to pedal hundreds of miles a year on a push-bicycle in his efforts to forward the art, and the provision of a power machine has now enabled him to expand his work at much saving of time and physical exertion. Is there not in this example a suggestion to many another association with scattered or inaccessible towers, where ringers are backward because they are out of reach of regular help? We could mention two or three associations, where, given the right man and a motor-cycle, great things might be accomplished.

In the annual report of the Hereford Guild, another point of interest is mentioned, it is the emphasis laid on peal ringing as an education in the art, and in touching on the question the report states: 'When a man has rung a certain number (of peals) it is doubtful whether he learns much by ringing more unless they are in new methods.' The statement is a guarded one, but there is a lot of truth lying at the root of it. There is no doubt that the best ringer, nearly always, is the peal ringer. The man who can concentrate his mind upon a method and the striking of his bell for three hours, is likely to be a better ringer than the one who seldom rings for more than twenty minutes at a stretch.

It is equally true that after a number of peals in a method a ringer will learn but little more about ringing unless he goes on to other methods. Moreover, unless he progresses in his ringing he goes backward, for stagnation leads to loss of interest. The Hereford Guild report expresses a desire to see as many ringers as possible in the Guild ringing a peal—in view of its educational value, and promises to distinguish these ringers in the report. It might go much further and emphasise among its members the need for ringing more methods. For instance, Stedman and Double Norwich are two methods little practised in the Guild, to say nothing of the Surprise group. It is, of course, difficult work to 'get a move on' with the majority of bands, and yet the spirit which is behind the Hereford organisation is good enough to take the Guild into the very forefront as a change ringing organisation. It is not for any want of effort and enterprise on the part of its officials, and they deserve the strongest backing that their members can give them.

BELATED PEAL REPORTS.

We publish this week, at the request of the secretary of the Norfolk Guild, a peal rung at Fressingfield on January 24th. Two peals rung at the same church in June and October last year came to us for publication, through the same channel, in late December. While we like to make the peals published in our columns a complete record, and particularly to oblige association officials, we shall decline in future to publish peals sent in in this way so long after the performance. If the band do not deem their peals worth publishing, we have no desire to print them.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

A MEETING AT SHIPTON.

The Chipping Norton Deanery Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild held their annual meeting at Shipton-under-Wychwood on Saturday week. Ringing commenced quite early in the afternoon, and included Grandsire Doubles, Stedman Triples and Bob Major. A service was held in the Parish Church, the special preacher being the Rev. J. D. Payne, R.D., who gave a very interesting address upon the bells he had been acquainted with during his travels in various parts of the country.

An excellent tea, provided by the Vicar and ringers of Shipton, was heartily enjoyed.

At the business meeting which followed, the Rev. W. J. Palmer was enthusiastically re-elected chairman. — The Secretary (Mr. J. Keyte) said he did not wish to carry on, although he had been nominated, but upon a very special vote of confidence being passed, which was supported by several clergy and ringers, he said 'yes,' amid much applause.

A sum of £5 5s. was voted to the Washbrook Memorial Fund, and Kingham was selected for the autumn meeting.

All the towers of the Deanery except Barford were represented, and there were also several visiting ringers, including the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, M.C. (Master), Mr. Tom Hibbert (general Guild secretary) and Mrs. Stella Davis.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar of Shipton, the Master of the Guild, and Mr. Hibbert, each of whom replied, and said how pleased they were to be present on such an enjoyable occasion.

A BIRTHDAY PEAL ATTEMPT.

At Shrewsbury, on Easter Monday, twelve members of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford, met at St. Chad's Church, at the invitation of the Ringing Master to attempt a peal of Stedman Cinques in honour of his 51st birthday. All went well up to the 21st course, when a trip put an end to the ringing, after 2 hours 10 minutes' excellent striking. The ringers were O. R. Lilley (conductor) 1, H. Knight 2, W. B. Kynaston 3, J. Perry 4, C. Wallater 5, J. E. Lilley 6, E. F. Mitchell 7, M. J. Morris 8, B. Horton 9, W. Fisher 10, T. J. Elton 11, B. Gough 12. The loss of the peal was a great disappointment to all the band, and it is hoped the same company will be able to make another attempt at a future date.

The company afterwards went to the residence of Mr. Lilley for tea, and the handbells came into use, Stedman Triples, Bob Major and Treble Bob being rung.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.*PROSPECT OF TWO MORE BELLS AT POULTON.

The monthly meeting of the Fylde Branch was held at Poulton on Saturday, May 2nd. As usual, when a ringers' meeting is held here the weather was gloriously fine. The village of Poulton, with its ancient stocks and whipping post in the square, and its 10th century church, presented its usual easy-going, comfortable appearance to the ringers who attended the meeting. Poulton's old residents are not a little proud of reminding the present generation of the 'good old times' when the railway did not run to Blackpool, so that intending visitors to the latter town were obliged to hire any conveyance procurable, very often engaging such incongruities as hay carts, etc., to arrive at their destination. The six bells of the ancient church were cast by Rudhall, and rehung a few years ago by Warner and Co. They are a light, easy-going ring, but are lacking a little in tone.

Owing to some misunderstanding, the first arrivals found the belfry door locked. After waiting a while, one of the local ringers turned up minus the key, but gave instructions where it could be found. Eventually the bells were set going to Grandsire Doubles, followed by Bob Minor, Kent, Oxford, Woodbine, and two plain courses of Stedman Doubles, a ringer from Bispham being piloted through his first touch of Stedman and Treble Bob.

The following towers were represented, Lytham, St. John and St. Cuthbert, St. Anne's Parish Church, Bispham, Blackpool St. John, along with Mr. W. Taylor, Penwortham, and Mr. Heckingbottom, of South Shore.—The Vicar, who presided at the meeting, said how pleased he was to hear the bells rung so splendidly in changes, and thought that at some future time they would have two more bells put in, and so have a ring of eight bells, similar to Bispham. At present they had a scheme in view for erecting a parish hall to cost nearly £4,000, towards which £1,000 had been raised. Last year, £1,500 was spent in renovations to the church. After the parish hall scheme was finished he promised to go forward with the two bells. He also approved of his ringers becoming members of the association, and the fees being paid out of church funds. He suggested to Mr. Lawrenson, the churchwarden, that he bring this matter forward at the next Church Council meeting.

After a little more Treble Bob, the bells were lowered in peal, thus bringing to a close one of the best meetings held at Poulton for a long time.

DEVON GUILD.

The annual meeting of the North Devon Branch was held in the belfry at Ilfracombe Parish Church on Wednesday evening, April 29th.—The Rev. H. L. Pigot, who occupied the chair, was unanimously re-elected as chairman, and Mr. A. H. Hayward was re-elected secretary and treasurer.

Two new members were elected, one from Ilfracombe and one from Combe Martin, both being qualified to receive the Guild certificate.

The next annual meeting will be held at Combe Martin on the last Wednesday in April, 1926.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Rev. H. L. Pigot for presiding, after which some of the younger members were given a good practice in Grandsire Triples.

MUFFLED BELLS.

At Norton-le-Moors, Staffs, on Sunday, May 3rd, for Matins, 720 Cambridge Surprise: W. T. Neild 1, J. E. Wheeldon (conductor) 2, C. Bowen (Bucknall) 3, W. C. Lawrence 4, G. E. Lawrence 5, W. P. Deane 6. Also for evensong, 720 Surprise, consisting of 240 each of London, Wells and Cambridge: W. T. Neild 1, J. W. Walker 2, F. Triner (conductor) 3, J. E. Wheeldon 4, W. P. Deane 5, J. Waller 6. The bells were rung half-muffled at both these services, in memory of the late Mr. E. B. Wain, who for many years was churchwarden and sidesman at St. Bartholomew Church. He was the managing director of a large colliery in the district, and was a great benefactor to the church, and whenever the belfry needed 'spring cleaning,' the necessary paints, staves and varnish were always supplied free of charge by Mr. Wain. His death took place very suddenly. He had been to a coalowners' conference in London, and when about 500 yards from his home suddenly expired. The news gave quite a shock to all who knew him. Certain it is that the ringers of Norton Church have lost a very good friend.

J. E. W.

At Nuneaton, on Tuesday, May 5th, at the Parish Church, four courses of Double Norwich, four courses of Stedman Triples, and 224 of Grandsire Triples. These touches were rung, with the bells half-muffled, by members of the Nuneaton Society, as a last mark of respect to Mrs. Wilkerson, wife of Mr. Abraham Wilkerson, a respected member of the Nuneaton Society. The funeral took place at Chilvers Coton Churchyard during the afternoon.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

It is seldom that a lady participates in a peal of more than the usual five thousand odd changes, but Miss Catherine Fields was one of the band that rang 8,112 Bob Major on Saturday at Long Stanton, Cambs, in 4 hours 35 minutes. Although the bells are light (the tenor is only 7½ cwt.) it is no small feat to stand this length of time with nothing to 'lean on.' The peal was the longest yet rung by the Ely Diocesan Association.

Another lady distinguished herself on Saturday, when Miss Annie Brown called a peal of Stedman Triples, at Corston, the first peal of Stedman conducted by a lady for the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association.

By ringing a peal at Overseal, Derbyshire, last week, Mr. James George, of Birmingham, brought the number of towers in which he has rung peals up to 300. These towers are spread over England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales.

Canon T. L. Papillon, who was for many years hon. secretary of the Essex Association, celebrated his 84th birthday on Easter Day. He has resided for some time at St. Leonard's-on-Sea, but now suffers the grievous deprivation of being unable to read printed matter, on account of impaired eyesight.

There is a fine peal of ten bells (tenor 32 cwt.) by Taylor and Co., at the Cathedral, Christchurch, New Zealand, but change ringing there is a lost art. Mr. D. C. Bates, Box 722, Wellington, writes that a conductor and instructor would be a welcome immigrant to the city—the most English out of England.

The death of Mr. Douro Thomas Potter, verger and bell ringer at St. Peter Mancroft, philosopher, litterateur and archæologist, beloved of all who knew him, breaks a long link with the famous Norwich Church. His great grandfather, Jonathan Potter, was verger from 1821 to 1841; his grandfather, George Potter, from 1841 to 1868; his father, Douro Thomas Potter, senr., from 1868 to 1893, while his own occupancy of the post from 1893 to 1925, was longer than that of any of his family predecessors.

Four years ago, the centenary of this remarkable family connection with the church was celebrated, when, on St. Peter's Day, Mr. Potter was presented with an illuminated address and a handsome cheque. Mr. Potter's son bears the name of Peter Mancroft Potter.

Mr. John Overton, the veteran change ringer of Bridgnorth, Salop, has completed 50 years as steeplekeeper at St. Leonard's Church, probably a Shropshire record.

London and district ringers will hear, with sincere regret, of the death of Mrs. John C. Truss, of Great Marlow, on Monday, 4th May, at the early age of 49 years.

There is a tablet in the belfry at All Saints' Church, Fulham, to record an extraordinary performance by the young ringers of St. James's Society, who on Whit Monday, 15th of May, 1837, rung in this steeple, a true and complete peal of 12,096 changes of Grandsire Caters in 7 hrs. and 50 minutes, being the greatest amount of changes ever performed by ten men only; the truth of which is attested by several of the ablest judges of the art, who witnessed the whole performance, and which can only be equalled by the same ability and persevering exertions. The peal was conducted by the famous Thomas Tolladay.

To-day is also the anniversary of the 8,800 Superlative rung in 1894 at Loughborough, composed and conducted by Nathan J. Pilstow.

On May 18th, 1883, 16,608 Kent Treble Bob Major was rung in 9 hrs. 48 mins., at Mottram, conducted by one who is now among the veteran leaders of Lancashire ringing, Mr. Sam Wood, who in 1911 called the record 12,240 Kent Treble Twelve, and in 1914 the 14,000 of Kent Royal at Ashton-under-Lyne.

Thurstans' famous twin-bob peal — an epoch-making composition, and the story of which almost amounts to a romance—was rung for the first time on May 18th, 1846.

The College Youths rang a peal of 11,080 Treble Bob, Royal at Shoreditch, in 8 hrs. 2 minutes, on May 19th, 1777.

St. Martin's Youths rang a 5,220 Tintom Bob Royal at St. Michael's, Coventry, on May 20th, 1780. On the same date, in 1795, the Cumberland Youths rang 5,120 Cumberland Treble Bob at Edmonton.

The Duke of Rutland, who has just died, was one of the patrons of the Midland Counties Association. The Marquis Curzon, who died a few weeks ago, was another.

BANNS BELL BANNED.

The Vicar of St. Paul's, Addlestone, Surrey, who has frequently had some very outspoken comments in his 'Parish Magazine,' writes this month that, although in some parishes a bell is still rung to announce that banns of marriage have been published, there will be no banns' bell rung from Addlestone Church tower during the Vicar's incumbency.

'Just fancy,' he adds, 'ringing a peal from the belfry after the announcement of an impending life sentence. I would not authorise even a muffled peal.' There is no ring of bells at Addlestone.

ROYAL VISIT TO CROYDON FOUNDRY.

KING AND QUEEN HEAR NEW YORK'S GREAT CARILLON.

Their Majesties the King and Queen visited Messrs. Gillett and Johnston's Foundry, at Croydon, on Tuesday afternoon to view and hear the great carillon of 53 bells for Park Avenue Baptist Church, New York.

Their Majesties arrived at the Foundry just after 3 p.m., and were received by the principal of the firm (Mr. C. F. Johnston). Miss Johnston, the Mayor of Croydon, and others, were present. An inspection of the carillon followed, and the royal visitors then witnessed the casting of a bell in the Foundry.

Subsequently they heard a recital on the carillon by M. Lefevre, of Malines, in which the carillonneur brought out all the beauties of tone and effect of these magnificent bells. The King and Queen then inspected the big tuning machine, also some old bells from Holland which have been brought over for retuning, and the St. James's Palace old clock. Their stay extended over more than an hour, and they were much interested in all they had seen and heard on their visit.

Thousands of people lined the streets of Croydon, and gave their Majesties a rousing welcome. The crowd was closely packed in the neighbourhood of the foundry, and an impressive hush spread over the concourse at the first sweet notes of the bells. The people remained until the King and Queen departed, and their Majesties had a wonderful a send-off as their reception had been.

SERVICES AT RINGERS' MEETINGS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I see that the question of church services at ringers' meetings is again coming up in your columns. The instance cited by Mr. Smallwood is certainly an extreme case, but of all the functions that interfered with ringing at Leicester, why should the service alone be singled out as a 'superfluity'? Time might have been saved for ringing just as well by cutting out lunch or tea. No one ever suggests that as a remedy!

As a matter of fact, I agree to some extent with the tenor of Mr. Smallwood's complaint. Service, tea and meeting do take out a very substantial amount from the whole time available for ringing. Yet one has reason to believe that among those ringers, who take their duties most seriously, the service is really appreciated. Whenever a Guild meeting is held, ringers gather together as a body of church workers, and it is obviously most fitting that they should consecrate their united activities with a corporate act of worship in the church officially visited.

On the other hand, there is something to be said for occupying less of the time available in such religious devotions. An annual meeting is an occasion on which a 'more or less elaborate service' is in keeping with the general character of the proceedings, but it seems to me that at the quarterly or monthly branch meetings a simple service lasting about 20 minutes may serve the purpose better. There is really no need to prolong it by introducing an address; in fact, the absence of an address may tend to emphasise the primary object of the service as an act of corporate devotion on the part of a body of church officers desiring to consecrate their talents and energies to the glory of God and the good of the church. A brief office, with one psalm, lesson and canticle, creed, prayers, and a concluding hymn, reverently and heartily sung throughout, occupies only 20 minutes or so, and is quite complete in itself, without adding a sermon and another hymn.—Yours truly,

F. LI. EDWARDS.

RINGERS' DESIRE FOR SERVICE.

Dear Sir,—I have read with much interest the letter of Mr. Smallwood on the subject, and can sympathise with him. I have experienced the same sort of thing myself, being unable to get a touch of what you came for, through some of the best men coming late in the afternoon and then, soon, a service, followed by tea and a meeting, which take up most of the rest of the time. Consequently you have to leave with your object unfulfilled in order to get home for Sunday.

At the same time, as the desire for a service appears to come from the ringers more than the clergy, would it not be better to put the service a little later, say, at 6 or 6.30, instead of 4.30 or 5, as is so often done? That would give all an opportunity to be satisfied, and get their ringing for which they chiefly come, and would leave a margin for staying for the service, or portion of the service, as time permits.

I am pleased to note that the Middlesex Association has taken a step in the right direction, by advertising their service at six at their meeting at Barnet on May 16th.—Yours faithfully, 9, St. Margaret's Street, Canterbury.

W. E. PITMAN.

EAST GRINSTEAD.—At St. Swithun's Church, on Easter Day, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes), in 48 mins.: P. Barton 1, G. Lambert 2, G. Hewett 3, G. Tizzard 4, E. Oliver (Hartfield) 5, T. Tullett 6, J. Wren (conductor) 7, S. Chesson 8.

HEREFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

THE ANNUAL REPORT.

The annual festival of the Hereford Diocesan Guild is to be held, as usual, at Hereford on Whit Monday. The annual report states that the total membership, including hon. members, life members, and unattached, is 854. There are now 82 towers in union with the Guild, which, taking into account the loss of four towers in the Brecon district, is the same as in 1923. The number of ringers for 1924 was 662, compared with 680 in 1923. 'But we have to remember,' adds the report, 'that the Brecon district has now left the Guild, and forms part of the Swansea and Brecon Diocesan Guild. This district contained four towers with 42 ringers, so that our membership would have been 704, had Brecon remained in the Guild. We wish the new Guild every success, and we are proud of the fact that Mr. S. T. Rackham, who was Ringing Master and hon. secretary of the Brecon district, is the Master of the new Guild. There are now 156 probationers, compared with 146 in 1923. That new members are continually flowing into the Guild is a sign of life and good health. But these probationers are not all new members, and that there are a large number of ringers who have not yet succeeded in obtaining certificates is a sign of weakness. Ringing Masters will do well to pay attention to this. There is a falling off of seven in the number of hon. members. This is partly accounted for by the loss of four hon. members from the Brecon district. The number now stands at 107, compared with 114 in 1923. Their subscriptions come to £32 11s., compared with £36 1s. in 1923. There have been 34 peals rung in 1924, compared with 52 in 1923. We do not attach overmuch importance to the number of peals rung. When a man has rung a certain number, it is doubtful whether he learns much by ringing more, unless they are in new methods. What we want to work for is that there are as many ringers as possible in the Guild who have rung a peal. There is no doubt that the ringing of a peal is a red-letter day in the life of a ringer.

The Guild continues to be in a sound financial position. It is true that the balance of the Central Fund has fallen by £17 1s. 10d. But £35 has been spent, and well spent, on the purchase of a motor-bicycle for the Master, by means of which he has been able to cover a much greater area than formerly. The Central balance is now £53 11s. 1d., compared with £70 12s. 11d. in 1923. Turning to the districts, it is gratifying to find that eight out of the ten districts have increased their balances, and that the total balances amount to £55 18s. 10d., compared with £45 11s. (not including the Brecon district) in 1923, an increase of £10 15s. 9d.

NO SUNDAY DISTRICT MEETINGS.

We would emphasise the importance of the names of districts. The name is chosen not because the place is a strong ringing centre, but because the district contains all the towers within a radius of seven miles of the tower after which the district is called, and consequently, the name of a district cannot be altered without altering the area of the district. The Guild has been and still is a helpful agent in the Diocese in that it supplies sound advice free of expense to towers in union, and with small expense to other towers. The Master has had great experience, and is fully qualified to give an unbiased, disinterested report on the state of both bells, and the cages in which they hang.

At the meeting of the committee held on 14th March, it was decided that district meetings, either annual or quarterly, must not be held on a Sunday. The chief reason for this decision is that it is not fair that ringers, and in many cases singers, should be drawn away from all the churches in the district.

We are much impressed with the value of peal ringing as an education, and, therefore, of the importance of as many ringers as possible having rung a peal. We believe that there are some 400 men in the Guild who have rung at any rate one peal, and we propose that in the next report, an asterisk (*) be placed in front of every ringer who has rung a peal.

One or two towers have applied for grants towards the restoration of their bells. The committee wish it to be known that this does not fall within the objects of the Guild. They take the greatest interest in the good condition of the bells, and willingly give expert advice, but the granting of money must be left to the building societies.

We beg you to notice that the districts of Leominster and Presteign which for some years have been worked together, are now being worked as separate units, and that the tower of Bodenham, which is within the seven-mile radius of both Hereford and Leominster, has been transferred to Leominster.

HARWICH.—On Tuesday, March 31st, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes), in 44 mins.: J. Alderton 1, F. Ramplin 2, G. Taylor 3, E. Scarfe 4, G. Thompson (conductor) 5, J. Scarfe 6, A. Alderton 7, F. Chaplin 8. First quarter-peal in the method by ringers of 2nd, 4th, 6th, and 7th.—On Sunday, April 5th, for evening service, 670 Kent Treble Bob Major.

DEATH IN ST. PETER MANCROFT BELFRY*MR. D. T. POTTER, VERGER AND RINGER.

There has been an extremely sad sequel to the reopening of the bells at St. Peter Mancroft Church, Norwich. Mr. Douro Thomas Potter, the verger, whose family through four generations have held this office, was a member of the Mancroft Ringers' Guild. On Sunday week, while taking part in the ringing for the morning service, he was seized with illness, became unconscious, and, before medical help could reach him, had passed away. The tragic occurrence, naturally created a painful impression, both in the belfry and among the congregation, who had assembled. Mrs. Potter and her two children reached the church for the service just at the time, and Mrs. Potter was summoned hastily to the belfry, but her husband was unconscious before she reached him, and died in her arms.

Few vergers in England could compare in their knowledge and love of the church in which he served with Mr. Douro Thomas Potter. He had a remarkable knowledge of its history, and he loved the Mancroft belfry and the bells. He had taken the keenest interest in the recent restoration, an undertaking on which he had set his heart, and to which he had looked forward, for years past. He lived to see the completion of practically the last detail of the work, and only in the week preceding his death, was superintending the fitting of the new lighting arrangements in the belfry—the very last touch.

His change ringing career began in 1907, when he came forward as a volunteer, on the formation of the present Ringers' Guild, and he had taken part in a number of peals by the Guild. Although starting somewhat late in life, he had long since mastered all the standard methods, and had become a 'Surprise' ringer. It was always a delight to him to take part in a touch of Cambridge, but perhaps he found an even greater pleasure in watching his little son handle a bell. He was indeed a comrade in the belfry in the truest sense, and he is mourned by every single member of the Guild. Mr. Potter was a man of wide reading, of a philosophical type of mind, and considerable literary gifts. He knew the works of Shakespeare and Sir Thomas Browne as few people did, and was looked upon as one of the greatest living authorities on the writings of the latter.

Instead of the sermon he had prepared for the service, which had begun so tragically, Canon Meyrick spoke of the great sorrow which had fallen upon them all at Mancroft. Up to a few minutes before the hour of this morning's service, he said, our verger was carrying out his many-sided duties as usual, apparently in the best of health. He went up, shortly before eleven, to the belfry to help ring the bells as an act of voluntary service, and in that belfry he now lies dead. Death took place before a doctor could arrive. I cannot refrain, in this very sad hour, from a personal reference. For nearly twenty-four years he and I have walked together in the house of God as friends, meeting in this church almost daily, and often four or five times in one day. It was good to meet and know him. He loved his church and duty, and one could place absolute faith and reliance on his care and attention to detail. He never cared to talk about himself or about mere nothings. He was by nature a philosopher, and greater opportunity would have carried him far as a philosopher and writer. His gifts in this direction were recognised by those who knew him intimately. His soul was soaked in and with the thoughts of his great hero, Sir Thomas Browne. He was continually quoting passages from the great doctor regarding life and death. 'I find nothing in death to daunt the courage of a man.' The righteous man is indeed to be envied in his death, which is, after all, only the beginning of life. Douro Thomas Potter had no kind of fear of death. With his hero, he would say, 'In expectation of a better, I can with patience embrace this life.' He had another great friend in Shakespeare. Probably no one at Mancroft knew their Browne and Shakespeare so well. He had a wonderful love for and amazing knowledge of this church and its history. This was the beginning of his love for Sir Thomas Browne, and one could surely trust his accuracy when consulted on anything bearing on the church, its history and famous parishioners. He loved architecture, a love no doubt inspired by daily working in such a noble building, and, of course, he loved the bells and the belfry: and would probably have wished for no other place from which to step into the presence of God. His passing was a Transfiguration. He with his comrades climbed the Mount that he loved, and there sang his own Requiem or (shall we say?) his own song of triumph. In the background of all that he did and thought there was the realisation of eternity, and an unswerving faith in the love of God. For him personally we do not mourn, but our hearts go out with a deep pity and sympathy for the widow and two young children, one of whom is one of our choir boys. As we sorrow together we will do our best to comfort the widow and her children.

After the address, the choir sang as an anthem, 'The souls of the righteous are in the hands of God.'

An inquest was held by the Norwich coroner on the following day, when the widow said that deceased was always a strong and healthy man, and regular in his habits. He left home at 10.15 a.m. on Sunday. At about 10.40 a.m. witness entered the church, and was informed that her husband had been taken ill in the belfry. Witness went to him, and found that he was unconscious, and soon afterwards he died in witness' arms without speaking to her. In July, 1920, deceased had strained his heart when raising the big bell. Deceased had suffered from his heart since then.

Mr. George Cross, of 39, Winter Road, said he was conducting the ringing of the bells in St. Peter's on Sunday morning, and deceased, who appeared to be in his usual good health, was ringing one of the bells. About 10.35 a.m. deceased had just completed one touch and had set his bell, when he sat down on a seat and said, 'I shall have to stop.' Deceased had previously assisted to raise one of the bells, an operation which called for considerable physical effort.

Dr. R. J. Mills, who conducted a post-mortem examination, said that in his opinion death was due to commencing pneumonia, causing a block in the heart which had defective valves.

The Coroner returned a verdict of 'Death from natural causes, viz., pneumonia and valvular heart disease,' and expressed his sympathy with Mrs. Potter.

Canon Meyrick, who was present at the inquest, said he felt that Mrs. Potter was not the only mourner. The Canon added: 'We have lost a very true friend, and we share her deep sorrow.'

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.*ANNUAL MEETING AT LINCOLN.

The annual meeting of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild was held at Lincoln on Saturday, April 25th. Unfortunately, owing to the Cathedral tower being under repair, the beautiful peal of eight bells there was not available. Readers of the 'Ringing World' are also aware, from the appeal which has been published, that the peal of eight at St. Peter-at-Arch is also out of action, the provision of a new frame being imperative. In these circumstances it is hardly surprising that the attendance suffered considerably. Notwithstanding, after service at the Cathedral at 4.30, about a hundred members and friends sat down to tea at the Co-operative Hall. The Bishop of Lincoln (patron of the Guild) was present, and as his time was very limited, addressed the gathering while tea was in progress. He expressed his pleasure at being able to come amongst them, and regretted that this year there were not the usual number of belfries available. Owing to the restoration of the Cathedral, it was an unfortunate time for St. Peter-at-Arch to have to raise money, but he hoped that the present state of things would soon be altered, and that the bells would be again available for future meetings. His Lordship's address was very greatly appreciated, and a hearty vote of thanks was given him before he left the meeting.

The Dean of Lincoln took the chair at the opening of the business meeting. He gave some very interesting information with regard to the restoration work at the Cathedral, and urged the ringers to give their utmost support to the further appeal that was being issued for the augmentation of the bells at the Cathedral. He hoped that the full peal of twelve would be ready for the great reopening service, which would be held when the Cathedral restoration was completed. The Dean, having to leave early, Mr. F. F. Linley (vice-president) took the chair for the remainder of the meeting.

The officers were re-elected as follows: President, the Dean of Lincoln; Master, the Rev. H. Law James; hon. secretary, Mr. F. W. Stokes; hon. treasurer, Mr. F. F. Linley.

The last named, who is joint treasurer with the Dean of Lincoln of the Cathedral Bells fund, made an earnest appeal to the members of the Guild to raise the balance of the amount required to complete the fund, about £113 being still wanted.

The six-hell towers of St. Peter-at-Gowt's and St. Botolph's were available (by kind permission of the incumbents) during the afternoon and evening. The Rector of Washingborough (two miles from Lincoln) also very kindly placed the peal of eight there at the disposal of members during the evening.

THE STOKE-ON-TRENT ASSOCIATION.*'PROPAGANDA' MEETING.

A 'propaganda' meeting was held at the beautiful village of Cheddleton on May 2nd, upwards of 50 members being present from Bucknall, Norton, Kingsley, Cheadle, Leek, Burslem, Lawton, Brown Edge, Uttoxeter and Stoke. This meeting was convened in order to induce the Cheddleton ringers to join the association, and the result is very gratifying, as the Vicar (the Rev. W. G. Burgis) promised to call a meeting of the band to see what could be done, and to let the secretary know. As regards himself from what he had both seen and heard from the members present, he thought the association was made up of a very splendid lot of fellows, and he had been very favourably impressed. He thanked the association for paying a visit to Cheddleton, and he would take it as a privilege if they would allow him to defray all expenses for the tea.

The bells, which have recently been rehung, are a splendid ring of six, and were kept going to the tune of London, Wells and Cambridge Surprise, Violet, Woodbine, Kent and Oxford, by various bands until 9 o'clock.

BATH & WELLS ASSOCIATION. SUPERFLUOUS MEETINGS?

A meeting of the Taunton Branch was held at Wiveliscombe on Saturday, May 2nd. Service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. R. Y. Bonsey), who gave the visitors a hearty welcome, and reminded them of their position as church workers, and the means they should adopt to try and ring, and live up to that standard.

Forty-four members, representing eleven towers, sat down to tea, provided by the local ringers.

A short business meeting followed, with the Vicar presiding, and amongst other matters a discussion took place as to the holding of the three quarterly meetings of the parent association. It was shown that they overlapped the Deanery meetings, also that they cost three times as much, and that the money could be spent to more advantage in other ways. The following resolution was put, and carried unanimously: 'That it is the opinion of this branch that the quarterly meetings of the parent association are expensive and superfluous, and should be abandoned.'

Mr. J. Maddocks, the delegate to general committee, was asked to bring this forward at their next meeting.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Vicar for the use of the bells and for his address. The members then returned to the tower, and touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Kent Treble Bob were rung, several of those present having their first touch in these methods on eight bells.

MILBORNE PORT AND SHERBORNE VISITED.

A very successful meeting of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association was held at Milborne Port on April 25th, and many of the visitors took the opportunity also of ringing on the fine peal at Sherborne Abbey, and also at Queen Camel. It is the first time for sixteen years that a meeting had been held at this outpost of the diocese, and the visitors included the Master of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild (the Rev. R. H. Gundry, of Iwerne Courtney), and a party of ringers from Bristol, including Messrs. W. Knight (president, Bristol Ringers' Guild), C. H. Jennings (late secretary, Dorchester Branch of the Salisbury Guild), W. A. Cave (St. Stephen's), J. R. Jones (Clifton), H. S. Gregory, etc. Towers at Yeovil, Taunton, Weston (Bath), Ilminster, Midsomer Norton, Long Ashton, Clapton-in-Gordano, and Milborne Port were represented. Regret was expressed at the absence of the Master of the Association (the Rev. C. C. Parker, of Corston, Bristol), through illness.

Following tea, served in the Church Room, the Rev. G. M. Evans (Vicar of Milborne Port) presided over the quarterly business meeting, supported by the hon. secretary (Mr. E. E. Burgess, Taunton).—Mr. D. G. Taylor (Ilminster) extended a hearty welcome to the Rev. R. H. Gundry, and also the members who had come down from Bristol to help make their meeting a success.

Mr. Gundry said he could assure them it was a very great pleasure to him to attend. Hearing that they were to meet at Milborne Port, as it was so near the borders of his own diocese, he felt he would like to pay a fraternal call to express the friendly feelings existing between the Salisbury Guild and themselves. He came to show that though they belonged to two different dioceses they were one at heart in the work for which guilds were formed—the furthering of the art of change ringing throughout the country. He felt that by mixing together they could help each other and learn from each other. He appreciated the very kind greetings accorded him, and hoped that some day they might welcome all those present in the Salisbury Diocese.

It was announced that the annual meeting would be held at Minehead.

Mr. Jennings extended a hearty invitation to the members to attend the annual festival of the Salisbury Diocese.

The Chairman said he would like to say how much they welcomed the association at Milborne Port. He could assure them of a cordial reception whenever they came again.—Mr. Taylor moved a vote of thanks to the chairman for entertaining them and granting the use of the bells.—This was carried by acclamation.

The special form of service used by the association was read in the church by the Rev. G. M. Evans, who struck a happily simple note in an address on the words, 'Present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God.' The 'Ringers' Hymn,' comprising a number of the familiar 'Ring out, wild bells' stanzas from Tennyson's 'In Memoriam,' was sung, as was also the hymn, 'Hark, on high the joyful music!' The lesson was read by the Rev. R. H. Gundry.

The methods rung at the various towers were Grandsire, Stedman and Plain Bob.

ILCHESTER DEANERY BRANCH.

A meeting of the Ilchester Deanery was held at Drayton on May 2nd. The service was conducted by the vice-president, the Rev. A. Rhys James, Vicar of Drayton. An excellent address was given by the Vicar of Langport (the Rev. J. W. Plaxton). Tea and meeting followed in the Village Hall, the Rev. G. W. Saunders, Vicar of Martock, and president of the branch, presiding at the latter. There was an attendance of 21 members, from Ilminster, Martock, Yeovil, Curry Rivel, Langport and Drayton. Other visitors included Mr. A. E. Coles, Bridgwater, and Mr. J. H. Shepherd, Swindon.

Seven new members were elected, two being from Curry Rivel, one from Drayton and four from Martock.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Ilminster early in August.

The Chairman thanked the Vicar of Langport for his address; the Vicar of Drayton for the use of the bells, etc.; the organist, organ-blower and caterer.

Ringings, which commenced soon after 3 p.m., included touches of Bob Major, Stedman and Grandsire Triples, and rounds for the probationers.

DEVONSHIRE GUILD.

MID-DEVON BRANCH RING AT BUCKFAST ABBEY.

A very successful quarterly meeting of the Mid-Devon Branch was held at Ashburton on Saturday, May 2nd. Amongst those present were the Rev. E. S. Powell (president), the Rev. E. V. Cox (hon. secretary of the Guild), the Rev. L. W. Browne, and ringers from Exeter, Exmouth, Plymouth, Christon, Newton St. Cyres, Collaton, Littlehempston, St. Mary Church, Torquay, Dawlish, Buckfastleigh, and Paignton. Ringing commenced at Buckfastleigh about 1.30 p.m., but had to be terminated early owing to a funeral. The next move was to Buckfast Abbey, where, by kind permission of 'the Lord Abbot,' a good hour's ringing was enjoyed. The back eight of this peal of twelve were raised in peal, and touches of Grandsire Triples brought round, followed by rounds on the twelve—a new experience for many of the members. The ringers then proceeded to Ashburton, where the Vicar (the Rev. Prob. A. H. Thompson) awaited them, and conducted a short service in the church. In a brief but very interesting address he gave the branch a hearty welcome.

Tea was partaken at the London Hotel, and about 50 sat down. At the subsequent business meeting, Mr. F. J. Laxton presided, in the absence of the branch chairman (Mr. H. W. Wilkes).—The Hon. Secretary read a letter from Mr. Wilkes, tendering his resignation, owing to his leaving the district, and Mr. F. J. Laxton was duly elected chairman for the ensuing year. Dartmouth was chosen for the next meeting, on Saturday, August 15th.

The Rev. L. W. Browne (Collaton) appealed for 'an instructor' for his band, who, he stated, were keen to learn method ringing.—The Hon. Secretary explained the situation, and ultimately Mr. F. T. Gover promised to go to Collaton, whilst Messrs. J. S. Collings and A. L. Bennett also offered assistance.

The Chairman proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the respective Vicars, also to the Lord Abbot of Buckfast for the use of the bells, and to the several visitors present. This terminated the meeting, and further ringing of Stedman and Grandsire Triples was enjoyed.

LANCASHIRE RINGERS' OUTING.

On Saturday last, the members, wives and friends of the Bolton Branch of the Lancashire Association held their annual outing. Two charabancs had been chartered, and the start was made with the weather not too favourable, but when the winter hills had been crossed, old 'Sol' showed his face, and put brighter spirits in all concerned.

Whalley and Clitheroe were the rendezvous, and the grand new ring of eight (tenor 22 cwt.) at the former place were soon going to various methods, while the women folk found a lot of interest in the famous old Abbey and other historical parts of the village. A good tea was served at the Co-operative Hall, and the charabancs were then soon rolling on to Clitheroe, where another good ring of bells was found, and, of course, ringers knew what to do with them. Whilst the vehicles were reloading on the market place for the return journey, several touches were rung on handbells, and this created much interest among the public.

Bolton was reached at 10.30 p.m., everybody voting the day a success. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Newton, of Boston, U.S.A., were among the party, and Mr. Newton expressed his great pleasure at the fraternal feeling that existed between all concerned, and on behalf of Mrs. Newton and himself thanked them for their kind invitation to join in the excursion, which they had both thoroughly enjoyed.

A vote of thanks was passed to the respective Vicars for their permission to ring, and the local ringers for their preparations.

GLOUCESTER & BRISTOL ASSOCIATION.

A very successful meeting of the Swindon Branch was held at St. Mark's, Swindon, on Saturday, April 25th, over twenty members and visitors attending, representing the following towers: Chippenham, Stratton St. Margaret's, Woolton Bassett, Blunsdon, Fairford, Farlington, Christchurch, Swindon, and the local band. Touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob and Cambridge Minor were rung. The next meeting will be held at Purton on May 23rd.

SUDBURY ARCHDEACONRY MEETING.

The spring quarterly meeting of the Sudbury Archdeaconry was held at Sudbury on Saturday, April 25th, when upwards of 50 ringers were present from the following places: Assington, Bramford, Bury St. Edmunds, Bures, Castle Hedingham, Colchester, Cornard, Creetingham, Debenham, Foxearth, Framsden, Gestingthorpe, Greenstead Green, Great Bentley, Harkstead, Haverhill, Hessel, Lavenham, Long Melford, Little Waldingfield, Polstead, Shelley, Sproughton, Tuldouham St. Martin's, and the local company. The bells of All Saints' and St. Gregory's Churches were kept going during the afternoon and evening to touches of Grandsire and Stedman, Plain Bob, Double Norwich, Kent and Oxford, Cambridge and Superlative. Tea was held at the Bull Commercial Hotel, followed by a short business meeting. The Rev. W. G. Stote (Vicar of All Saints) was in the chair, supported by the Rev. R. Garrett-Johnson, Rector of St. Peter's, and the assistant secretary (Mr. S. H. Symonds).

The Chairman extended a hearty welcome to the ringers, and said how pleased he was to meet so many churchworkers, for he had just been learning that this Guild was a real 'live' guild of churchmen. — This was endorsed by the Rev. R. Garrett-Johnson.

The Assistant Secretary then made an appeal to the district secretaries of the Sudbury Archdeaconry to make a strong effort to hold at least two meetings in their respective districts annually. The two following places for district meetings were agreed upon. — On the proposition of Mr. A. Symonds (district secretary), seconded by Mr. T. Chinery, a meeting of the Sudbury district is to be held at Assington in May; on the motion of Mr. A. Moore, seconded by Mr. F. Making, a meeting of the Clare district is to be held at Haverhill in June.

Mr. R. Gowers, of Long Melford, was elected a ringing member, and the Rev. W. G. Stote was proposed as an honorary member.

This terminated the business, when the members and friends again visited the towers for more ringing.

The ringers wish to thank the incumbents for the use of the bells, and Mr. A. Scott (district secretary), towerkeeper, for having everything in readiness.

HEREFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

The Presteigne District Branch of the Hereford Diocesan Guild held the spring quarterly meeting at Weobley. Members attended from Lyonshall, Staunton-on-Arrow, Staunton-on-Wye, and Weobley, and a member of the Oxford Guild, who was staying in the neighbourhood, was also present. Service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. C. L. Edwards), and tea, in the Drill Hall, was kindly provided by local friends.

The business meeting followed, the Vicar presiding. — The Secretary reported progress, three members of Lyonshall and two from Staunton-on-Arrow towers having qualified for Guild certificates of membership.

Five new members were elected, and monthly practices were proposed to be held at Old Radnor in May, and Staunton-on-Arrow in June, and the next quarterly meeting at Wigmore in July, the dates to be fixed by the secretary.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar, the organist, and the donors of the tea.

The tower was then again visited, other members having arrived, making about twenty in all, and ringing was kept up till nine o'clock.

The fine toned peal of eight, which 'go' splendidly, were set going soon after three o'clock to Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Kent Treble Bob Major. Service was held at 4.30, conducted by the curate (the Rev. — Fair), who gave the members a hearty welcome, and also a very interesting address. Tea was then partaken of at Messrs. Galtins' Tea Rooms, and was followed by the business meeting. Mr. F. Edwards, chairman of the branch, presiding. The Vicar of Tetbury (the Rev. W. Thomson) was proposed as an honorary member, and Mr. Richard Hayes, of Haslemere, Surrey, was elected as a life performing member. Several performing members were elected, including seven from the Tetbury tower. Northleach was chosen for the next meeting.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar for the use of the bells, the Rev. — Fair for taking the service, and to Mr. W. R. Locke, secretary of the local band, for his kindness in making the necessary arrangements for the meeting.

The tower was again visited, and touches of Grandsire Doubles, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Major, brought round, several of the local hand ringing their first touch of Triples.

THE ANALYSIS.

In our pages this week appears the Analysis of the peals rung during last year, and once again the Exercise is indebted to the Central Council's Committee for compiling, in a now well accustomed form, the mass of interesting statistics which the twelve months' peal ringing produces. The Analysis is probably the most interesting piece of regular work which is done under the auspices of the Council. Originally it was compiled privately, by the late Mr. G. F. Attree, of Brighton, and later by Mr. Attree and Mr. George Baker in collaboration. Then came the time when the Analysis grew in importance, and eventually it was handed over to the Council, and has since been carried on by them in the interests of the Exercise. For many years it has been recognised as a guide to the activities of our associations, and furnishes the only means which ringers have of studying in concrete form the records which run through our pages for the whole fifty-two weeks of the year. As has been so often remarked, the compilation of the Analysis is a stupendous business, calling for the expenditure of much time, care and effort on the part of those who are responsible, and to them the Exercise, as a whole, owes a debt of gratitude.

There are one or two features in the report to which we may direct attention. There was a slight reduction in the total number of peals rung in 1924, for while tower bell peals increased by fifteen, compared with 1923, handbell peals dropped by no fewer than forty. There is, we think, no special significance in this falling off in the number of peals rung 'in hand,' for this is a class of ringing which, much more than tower bell ringing, requires that a band should keep together. Handbell ringers are not as easily made as tower bell ringers—it needs a special aptitude—and the number of companies capable of peals is therefore much restricted, with the result that a falling off on the part of one or two bands makes a considerable difference to the sum total of the year.

The question of the allotment of points for the peals is a controversial question which is ever with us, and it would be interesting to know upon what basis the committee compute the values of new methods and new ways of method ringing. Probably the question will be raised when the report of the Analysis Committee comes formally before the Council at Chester. We do not raise the matter in any querulous spirit, but it does strike us that a 'spliced' method peal deserves more points than a peal in one method. The spliced Cambridge and Superlative is a case in point. To change two or three times in a course from one method to another (which is far different to going off into a method from rounds) surely makes the peal more difficult to ring, and it is upon the complexity of the peal and complexity alone, that points are allotted. The same argument applies to spliced methods in peals of Minor. It adds greatly to the value of the performance, and it would not seriously complicate the calculation of points if this matter were taken into account. Then, again, one is tempted to ask why Leicester Surprise Royal is allotted more points than Middlesex? Surely, as a method, it is not of greater, if of equal, complexity? It is little matters such as this that detract from the value of the point system of reckoning peals, but as to the interest and importance of the Analysis as a whole there can be, in our opinion, no question.

A MEMORIAL TOUCH.

On Sunday evening, May 10th, at the Church of SS. Thomas and Edmund, Erdington, Birmingham, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes) was rung in 45 minutes, with the bells muffled, to the memory of the Rev. Daniel Henry Haigh, founder of the church, it being the 46th anniversary of his death: B. W. Witcheil (conductor) 1, J. Bayliss 2, W. Stringer 3, F. Price 4, C. Walthman 5, C. Dale 6, W. Davies 7, W. G. Anker 8.

THE LATE MR. CHARLES GORDON.*A SURREY VETERAN.

As already briefly recorded, the death took place on Monday morning, the 4th instant, of Mr. Charles W. Gordon, Deceased, who was 74 years of age, first learnt to pull a bell at Carshalton, when about twelve years old, and rang his first peal there in 1875.

When Beddington bells were installed in 1869, he took part in the first ringing of them, on Whit Sunday, and during his last illness, which extended over a period of six years, he made a supreme effort to ring on that festival. He was the last foundation member of the society which was formed when the bells were installed.

Deceased was also one of the founders of the Surrey Association and had been a member ever since. For twenty years he was a bell ringer at Messrs. Warner and Son's, and afterwards at Messrs. Gillett and Johnston's for a short period. He kept Beddington bells in repair, which is no doubt the reason they are in such good order to-day. He always said that the bells had never cost the church authorities £100 since they were put in, although they never suffered from lack of exercise. Over 130 peals have been rung on them.

Mr. Gordon kept no proper record of his own peals, but he said he had rung between 60 and 70, those previous to the formation of the Surrey Association having been rung for the College Youths, of which he was a member. His last peal was on his 60th birthday, when he rang Beddington tenor to a peal of Treble Bob Major.

During his last illness he was always cheery, and one could spend many an hour in listening to some of his experiences. He had a wonderfully retentive memory, especially in remembering the number and weights of peals of bells, etc., no matter what county they were in.

Beddington has now lost the most enthusiastic member which the tower has had for many a long day.

The funeral took place on Friday, May 8th. Before the service, in Beddington Church, the bells were rung fully muffled to touches of Grandsire Triples and Caters. The burial took place at Bandon Hill Cemetery (between the graves of the late Dr. A. B. Carpenter and Mr. Edgar Bennett), and after the coffin had been lowered to its last resting-place a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by F. E. Darby 1—2, A. W. Clark 3—4, C. H. Kippen 5—6, Mrs. A. W. Clark 7—8. Many beautiful wreaths included one from the Surrey Association, and another from the St. Mary's Society, Beddington.

On Saturday, May 9th, a half-muffled peal of Grandsire Caters came to grief, after 3 hours 10 minutes' beautiful ringing, with only four courses from the end. The following took part in the attempt: A. J. Trappitt 1, S. W. Holdaway 2, E. G. Talbot 3, F. G. Woodiss 4, W. H. Joiner 5, C. H. Chapman 6, F. E. Darby 7, C. H. Kippen (conductor) 8, W. S. Smith 9, T. Talbot 10. The peal, however, was successfully rung on Thursday, 14th May, 1925.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.*STOCKPORT BRANCH VISIT WARBURTON.

Despite the inclement weather and the fact that Warburton is situated on the edge of the large area, covered by the Stockport branch, some 38 members and friends, including the Master (the Rev. C. A. Clements) braved the elements to attend the quarterly meeting held on Saturday, May 9th, and were amply rewarded for their trouble.

Ringing commenced on the noble peal of eight (by Taylor, tenor 26 cwt.) at 3 p.m., and continued until 4.30 p.m., when the usual service was held, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. G. D. Lewis), at which a very striking address was given by the Visar of Oughtrington (the Rev. O. E. Gittins). It is worthy of note that the preacher was only asked to give it as the choir was ready to leave the vestry, and it is sincerely hoped that the Guild will again have the pleasure of listening to him.

Tea was served in the Parish Room, after which the usual business meeting was held. In the unavoidable absence of the branch chairman, and owing to the early departure of the Master, Mr. T. Ashworth, M.B.E., of Bowdon, presided. The business transacted was chiefly of a routine character. In order to assist the Guild Committee appointed to entertain the Central Council, it was decided to give £1 towards the cost.

The election of Mr. George Pownall, as a non-resident member previous to commencing a peal on May 2nd, was confirmed.

During the course of according the usual votes of thanks, a wish was expressed that the local ringers would consider joining the Guild.—The Vicar replied that he would place this matter before his ringers. He expressed his pleasure at having had the members at Warburton, and reminded them of their duty of sending word of their intention to be present in sufficient time, particularly in a country place.

At the invitation of the Vicar, advantage was taken of visiting the old church, which stands about half a mile from the present one. According to a leaflet on sale the Norbertine White Canons settled at Warclurgtune in the reign of Henry II. The date on the timber work of the church, has, on good authority, been given as the 12th century. The whole was probably built of timber, as the north side now is, but the south side and west end were rebuilt in 1645, Lymm sandstone being used. The brick tower was built about 1711, and one of the bells in it, is dated 1575. There is a stone coffin, which was found about 50 years ago in the churchyard, said to date from the 12th century. The pulpit and oak communion table are Jacobean. This old edifice, not too kindly treated by the passage of time, was well worth the visit.

Further ringing was indulged in, and a touch of Kent Treble Bob and Double Norwich brought round.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.*RE-AFFILIATION TO CENTRAL COUNCIL.

The annual general meeting of the Sussex County Association was held at Chichester on Saturday, May 9th, and although not altogether representative—the place of meeting being at the extreme west of the county—the presence of some 65 members should be considered very good. Ringing commenced shortly after 2 o'clock, and at 3.30 a special service was attended in the Sub-deanery Church, conducted by the Rev. Barrington Brown, the Rev. H. M. Cox giving the address. This was followed by a meat tea at Vokes' Tea Gardens.

At the business meeting, Mr. F. B. Tompkins (a vice-president of the association) wishing to preside, was supported in the chair by the Master (Mr. J. T. Rickman).

The following new members were elected: The Cathedral band (F. Arthur, J. H. Blake, T. Doick, D. H. Falconer, W. Falconer, M. Heffer, G. Marshall, Payne, C. Smithers, W. E. Ticehurst, Tucker, A. Tugwell); Lower Beeding branch (G. Feist, C. Feist, F. Hindes, R. Langridge, J. Mitchell, J. Parsons, W. Thorns, W. Wadey); A. J. Simpson (St. Nicholas, Brighton); also H. A. Aitken (Portsmouth) as a non-resident member.

The report and balance sheet were adopted, there being the satisfactory balance of £85 on the general account.

The Peals Analysis was read and approved. Not quite so many peals were rung as in the previous year, but it is believed the Sunday Service ringing is being maintained.

All the officers were re-elected, viz., Mr. J. Thornton Rickman (Master), Mr. Ellman Brown (hon. treasurer), Mr. A. D. Stone (hon. general secretary), Mr. F. Bennett (hon. peals secretary), Messrs. W. C. Hart and W. Markwell (hon. auditors).

It was decided to hold the next annual general meeting at Brighton.

A few minor alterations to the rules were then made, and a discussion followed on the question of affiliation to the Central Council.

Eventually it was decided that the association be affiliated, the Master (Mr. J. T. Rickman) being chosen as delegate.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Dean and Chapter for the use of the bells, to the Rev. Barrington Brown for the service, to the Rev. H. M. Cox for his address, and to Mr. F. B. Tompkins for presiding at the meeting.

The tower was then revisited, the ringing, which continued till 8.30, ranging from rounds to London and Bristol Surprise.

The following towers were represented: Angmering, Arundel, Brighton (St. Peter's and St. Nicholas'), Chichester, Eastbourne, Hastings, Heene, Henfield, Lymminster, Shoreham, Tarring, and Warnham. Non-resident members were represented by Messrs. F. Bayley (Fareham), J. Parker, F. W. Rogers (Portsea), and Mr. and Mrs. G. Williams (North Stonham).

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The North and East District of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild held a fairly successful meeting on Saturday last at Barnet, some 36 members and friends attending. Divine service was held at 6 p.m., at which the Rector (the Rev. W. E. Moll) officiated.

Tea was afterwards served in the Church House, and was followed by the business meeting. Northaw was chosen for the next meeting of the district on June 20th.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Rectors of Barnet and Hadley for the use of the bells at their respective churches, and to the tower keeper for having everything in readiness.

Touches were rung at both churches during the afternoon and evening, amongst the methods rung being Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major, Kent and Cambridge Surprise.

WALKDEN RINGERS' OUTING.

On Saturday, May 9th, some of the Walkden ringers and members of Bolton branch journeyed to Whalley and Clitheroe. Leaving Walkden at 1.45 p.m., they joined Bolton friends at 2 o'clock, and went on through Withnell and Blackburn, arriving in Whalley at 3.45 p.m. After ringing at Whalley, and partaking of tea, they visited the Abbey. Proceeding next to Clitheroe, the bells there were rung for about an hour. Clitheroe Castle was also visited. The return journey was through Blackburn, Darwen and Bolton, and Walkden was reached at 10.45 p.m., after a very pleasant day.

RED AND WHITE ROSES FRATERNISE. LANCASHIRE AND YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATIONS' JOINT MEETING.

On Saturday week, for the first time, a joint meeting of the Lancashire and Yorkshire Associations was held, and about 80 members, from towers spread from coast to coast, were present. The three rings of bells in the district were used freely all the afternoon and evening, the usual methods being rung by mixed bands. Tea was provided by the local ringers, and afterwards Canon Elsee (President of the Lancashire Association) claimed the right to speak first, as the parish church is in the Manchester Diocese, although the schools are in both counties. He welcomed their neighbours in a happy speech, which the Rev. C. C. Marshall (President of the Yorkshire Association) acknowledged in a similar strain.

Mr. P. J. Johnson (Yorks, secretary) proposed a vote of thanks to the clergy for the use of the bells, and the local ringers for meeting the visitors and providing tea.—This was seconded by Mr. W. E. Shaker (Lancs, secretary), and acknowledged by Mr. W. Horan (Rochdale, branch secretary, and a local ringer).

The Rev. A. Aspin, Rector of Todmorden, had previously given the visitors a kindly welcome. The bells were kept going until a late hour. The local ringers had retained a room at the White Hart Hotel, and here handbell ringing was indulged in, as it also had been in the schools before and after tea.

STEBBING'S RINGING FESTIVAL.

The annual ringing festival was held at Stebbing recently, when ringers were present from Great Bardfield, Rayne, Braintree, Dunmow, Chadwell Heath, Springfield, and the local company. A short service was held in the Parish Church, at which the Rev. C. E. Livesey, B.A. (Vicar), officiated, and gave the address. Mr. C. H. Howard (Master of the Essex Association) read the lesson. The ringers then adjourned to the Parish Room, there to find a company of ladies and gentlemen, numbering nearly 100, to give the visitors a welcome, entertain them to a bountiful tea, and provide a musical entertainment.

During the evening a presentation was made to Mr. J. T. Barker, who has just resigned the position of secretary to the local band, by Mr. E. Claydon, the gift consisting of a handsome brass lamp, suitably inscribed, and a silver ringer's badge. In a neat little speech, Mr. Claydon eulogised the services Mr. Barker had rendered for a very long period, and recalled the experiences of the ringers in the seventies in learning the art of change ringing. It was the custom of some of the ringers in those days to walk to Braintree every week, a distance of seven miles each way, wet or fine, to learn the art, and then hand on their knowledge to the remainder of the company. Eventually they formed a change ringing band, which has continued to ring regularly for the services Sunday by Sunday ever since.

Mr. Barker, who was taken quite by surprise, thanked the subscribers for their handsome presents and good wishes.

The Master, on behalf of the visitors, expressed thanks for the excellent arrangements and tea. The annual festival at Stebbing has, he said, become quite an institution in the district, and it would be well if other parishes would arrange similar gatherings for social intercourse and appreciation of their ringers' services.

During the afternoon, 720 Cambridge Surprise Minor was rung: H. Emery 1, C. H. Howard (conductor) 2, W. H. Dyson 3, W. Punter 4, J. T. Barker 5, E. Claydon 6. Other touches were rung in various methods, and the bells were kept going until a late hour.

CADOXTON, NEATH.—On April 5th, for evening service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung: H. Matthews 1, G. Lewis 2, C. Lake 3, W. Thomas 4, D. J. Lewis (conductor) 5, C. Bendle 6. First quarter for the 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 6th.

A SUSSEX VETERAN.*DEATH OF MR. JOHN SMART.

We much regret to record the death of Mr. John Smart, of Steyning, Sussex, one of the oldest and most respected ringers in the county. Mr. Smart had reached the advanced age of 83 years, and died on May 12th last.

Mr. Smart learned to ring at Pulborough, Sussex, and removed to Steyning in the year 1872. He brought up his sons as ringers, and when the eldest learned change ringing in 1884, the father followed suit, and quickly acquired a knowledge of methods on six bells. Then, when Steyning got its peal of eight, he quickly progressed, and during his career took part in no fewer than 119 peals.

Ringing provided him with one of the greatest pleasures in life, and he was among the most regular of the band, both on Sundays and at practice.

John Smart was one of those cheery, self-effacing men whom it was a delight to know. He was keen on ringing, but was ever-ready to stand down if occasion arose, although nothing gave him greater delight than to score a peal. He will be much missed among the ringers who visit Steyning, but his personality will remain an enduring memory with those who, like the writer, were privileged to know him intimately. His last visit to the tower was to ring for the harvest festival on September 28th last year. Since then his health had failed, but right up to the time of his death he talked with interest about his peal ringing days, and the different ringers he had met.

He was laid to rest near the old belfry tower on Friday last, when, as on Sunday, touches were rung on muffled bells.

The following is the list of his peals: On 6 bells 1, Grandsire Triples 13, Stedman Triples 60, Stedman Caters 2, Kent Treble Bob Major 16, Oxford Treble Bob Major 1, Double Norwich Major 15, Bob Major 10, Canterbury Pleasure Major 1; total 119.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD.

A quarterly meeting of the Peterborough Branch was held at Glin-ton on Saturday, when members attended from Peterboro', Woodston, Isham, Market Deeping, Alwalton, Yoxley, and some of the local band. A short service was conducted by the Rector, after which a party of 17 sat down to tea. The bells were kept going to various methods during the afternoon and evening.

DURHAM & NEWCASTLE ASSOCIATION.*DELAYED ANNUAL REPORTS.

A district meeting was held at Tanfield on Saturday, May 16th, when representatives from Chester-le-Street, Consett, Winton and Newcastle Cathedral, were present. A most enjoyable day was spent, and the bells were kept going till dusk, with touches of Grandsire, Bob Major, Bob Minor, and Kent Treble Bob.

As it happened to be the annual church tea the ringers were prevailed upon by the local secretary to buy tickets, which covered the cost of the tea and concert, with dancing to follow. The idea was gladly accepted. The tea was a great success, and there was a bountiful supply of the usual good things, which did credit to the ladies.—Messrs. H. Lowes, Harry Tyson and James Anderson added to the gaiety of the proceedings.

The Vicar, who has been in the parish only a few months, joined the ringers in the bell tower, and extended them a very hearty welcome, and was delighted to see such a goodly number.

It was unfortunate that a similar meeting was being held at Cramlington (Northern Division) on the same day, otherwise several of the Newcastle Cathedral Guild intended being present. However, Tanfield's loss was Cramlington's gain, inasmuch as that a very neglected part of the association's ground, which has been sadly overlooked in the past, has now been reorganised. The local secretary, Mr. Wm. Story, is to be commended for his initiative, and it is hoped that other meetings will be held in this division in the future.

There will be a meeting of the Western Division at Chester-le-Street on Saturday, June 13th, particulars of which will be advertised later in 'The Ringing World.' Also one at Consett in the near future.

The absence of the Rev. W. Lister, Rector of St. Stephen's, South Shields, was much felt. When curate of Tanfield he was a tower of strength to the local ringers, and his place will be difficult to fill. He, however, sent one of his churchwardens regretting his unavoidable absence.

Members were glad to hear that Mr. Wm. Sinclair, of St. Aidan's, Blackhill, was in harness again, and hope to see him at the Consett meeting.

There were one or two inquiries made as to when the annual reports of the association are going to appear. It was felt that, as the annual meeting for 1924-25 is getting near, the reports for 1923-24 (to speak mildly) are very much overdue.

The usual vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar of Tanfield for the use of the bells before the happy gathering finally broke up.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Owing to the demands upon our space this week by the Peals Analysis, several reports, as well as a number of peals, are unavoidably held over.

At the Salisbury Diocesan Guild Festival, at Dorchester last week, Major Hughes D'Aeth was presented with an album of over 800 names, acknowledging his valuable services as Master for five years. A full report will appear in our next issue.

The peal of Superlative Surprise at Sheffield Cathedral on Thursday, May 14th, was the first peal of Surprise at the Cathedral since Nov. 19th, 1892, when a peal of Superlative was rung. It is also worthy of note that four of the ringers who took part in that peal are still members of the Cathedral company.

Leicester Highway Holdup! A graphic account of this appeared recently in a local paper, when a correspondent was held up well after midnight in a downpour of rain. It was eventually discovered that this was due to young 'Tich,' a budding ringer, having gone to the opening of Hinckley bells and failed to return. No word being forthcoming, his elder brother 'Ted' was despatched to find him. He did this by holding up motorists and other night prowlers, and eventually ran the erring one to 'earth' at Barwell, safely tucked up in 'bed'!!!

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Parker, of Farnham Royal, celebrated the jubilee of their wedding on April 25th, when a quarter-peal on the bells of St. Mary's Church was rung by the local band. Men who have taken part in the famous 'Parker's Twelve-part' peal of Grandsire Triples (and its endless variations) will wish the veteran composer and his wife 'many of 'em.'

For the first time in the history of the Analysis of Peals, the name of the Sussex County Association does not appear. This is not because no peals were rung, but because last year the association was not affiliated to the Central Council. Consequently, the Sussex peals are included among the 'also rans,' that is, the Independent Societies.

It is rather lamentable, especially as Sussex, in years gone by, often held pride of place at the head of the table. What is done cannot be undone, but there is consolation for the future in the knowledge that Sussex has this year decided to return to the fold.

To-day is the anniversary of the 17,024 Double Norwich Major rung by the Oxford Diocesan Guild at Kidlington on May 22nd, 1899.

The Society of Sherwood Youths rang 'Mr. Holt's true peal of Grandsire Tripples,' on the new bells at Gainsborough on May 24th, 1768.

The first true peal of Treble Ten in Ireland was rung at St. Patrick's Cathedral on May 24th, 1901, and on the 28th of the same month the first Surprise peal out of England was rung at Bray, Ireland.

On May 28th, the first peal of Stedman Caters (proved long afterwards to have been false) was rung. This was at St. John's, Hoxlydown, London, in the little steeple where the bells, now unringable, are hung in three tiers.

The Bristol Surprise record was made by the Middlesex Association at Hornchurch on May 28th, 1912, when a peal of 15,264 changes was rung in 9 hours 49 minutes.

The opening of the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley was celebrated by two attempts for peals of Maximus, viz., Kent Treble Bob at Bow Church, Chertside, by the London County Association, the attempt lasting 2 hours; and Duffield Maximus at St. Saviour's, Southwark, by the College Youths, lasting about 1½ hours. Last year's opening of Wembley was celebrated, it will be remembered, by a peal on the bells at the Imperial Institute by Cumberland Youths.

Empire Day falls on Sunday this year. It will be celebrated at Brecon by a change ringing competition (among members of the Swansea and Brecon Diocesan Guild) at St. David's Church on Saturday, 23rd inst., commencing at 10.30 a.m.

Mr. Cornelius Charge, late of London, and now of Auckland, New Zealand, writes that the figures of the peal of Bob Royal by Mr. James George, which appeared in our issue of December 26th last, were first published by him (Mr. Charge) in the 'Bell News' of January 26th, 1895.

The peal of Kent Treble Bob at Mountsorrel, Leicester, recorded in our last issue, was the first in the method on the bells.

At the Church of All Saints, Hoole, Cheshire, on Sunday, May 31st, the Bishop of Chester will dedicate the memorial bell and unveil a tablet. All ringers are invited to be present.

WARWICKSHIRE GUILD.

A monthly meeting of the Warwickshire Guild was held at Fillongley on Saturday, May 16th. Members and visitors attended from Coventry, Southam, Exhall, Allesley, Nuneaton, Chilvers Coton, Walsall, Castle Bromwich, Coleshill, etc.

The bells are a good ring of six (tenor 11 cwt.), and touches in the following methods were rung during the afternoon: London, Cambridge, Double Court, Double Oxford, Kent Treble Bob, Plain Bob, Minor, Stedman and Grandsire Doubles.

REPORT OF THE ANALYSIS COMMITTEE FOR THE YEAR 1924.

We cannot present this report without an allusion to the fact that it is the first for many years which has not been signed by the Rev. E. W. Carpenter. His colleagues, while he was a member of the committee, know the painstaking nature of his work, and the care which he exercised to make the Analysis an exact and interesting record. We desire to acknowledge in this report, not only the value of his work to the Exercise generally, but the example of thoroughness in all things which he has given to us. We hope he may have many useful and happy years before him.

Although the peals rung in 1924 are fewer than last year, the difference is small, and it can be said that the activities of the peal ringers have been well maintained. Also taking the points value as a guide, the quality of the peals rung is fully equal to 1923, the average being 16.740 points this year against 16.736.

The total number of peals rung is 1,860, being 25 less than last year. The tower bell peals show an increase of 15, the total being 1,743, while the handbell peals have dropped to 117, being a considerable decrease of 40 peals.

The totals for the year are shown by the following Table:—

|         | Tower | Bells. | Handbells. |
|---------|-------|--------|------------|
| Maximus | 15    |        | 0          |
| Cinques | 39    |        | 15         |
| Royal   | 56    |        | 5          |
| Caters  | 92    |        | 20         |
| Major   | 714   |        | 37         |
| Triples | 446   |        | 19         |
| Minor   | 281   |        | 9          |
| Doubles | 100   |        | 12         |

This shows, when compared with the preceding year, a decrease of 4 in the 12 bell peals, and increase of 3 on 10 bells, also 3 in Major, Triples are 7 less, and Minor and Doubles 20 less.

The Kent County Association has again the greatest number to its credit with 156 lower bell, and 3 handbell peals, a total of 2,466 points, being 1 peal less than last year. The Midland Counties Association have also kept their position as leaders on points, having scored 2,766 for 131 peals, a drop of 361 and 13 peals. The Lancashire Association is the only other society to score the century, with a total of 106 peals and 1,722 points, a decrease on last year of 19 peals and 257 points.

This year the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths has the highest average of points per peal, with 30.6 for 10 peals, the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association being second with 29.812 for 32 peals.

There is again cause for satisfaction in the continued increase of Surprise peals, which shows an all-round advance. Maximus is increased from 4 to 5 peals, Royal from 14 to 20, and Major from 241 to 245. The Maximus and Royal are all Cambridge with the exception of one peal each of Leicester, and Middlesex Surprise Royal.

Leicester Surprise Royal being rung for the first time. The Surprise Major peals include 89 of Cambridge and New Cambridge, and 63 of Superlative, the first method showing a decrease of 6 peals, and the latter of 9 peals. London is one up with 41 peals, while Bristol has increased from 25 to 32. Other Surprise methods show an increase of 11 peals, and include 2 of Guildford, 6 of Norfolk, 5 of Yorkshire, 1 of Rutland, 2 of Rochester, 3 of Pudsey, and the spliced peal of Superlative and Cambridge, the three last named being rung for the first time.

Treble Bob in its variations has greatly increased in favour, 38 more peals having been rung than in 1923, the total being 243, which is made up as follows: 9 of Kent Treble Bob Maximus, 18 of Kent and 6 of Oxford Royal, 163 of Kent and 41 of Oxford Major, 5 Spliced Major peals, and 1 in the Cam variation.

Double Norwich has decreased from 150 to 129 peals, and Plain Bob from 187 to 171 peals. Little methods have increased by one to 6 peals, Little Canterbury Major having been rung for the first time.

Three new plain Major methods have been rung, all by the Middlesex Association, being Edmonton, Marlborough and Winchester Bob Major.

Peals on odd numbers again are almost entirely in the two methods Grandsire and Stedman. It is most interesting to notice that while Grandsire finds most favour with ringers of Triples, it falls off considerably on the higher numbers. This is shown in the following table of comparative numbers in each method:—

|         | Grandsire | Stedman | Erin | Union | Plain Bob |
|---------|-----------|---------|------|-------|-----------|
| Cinques | 4         | 49      | 1    | —     | —         |
| Caters  | 33        | 79      | —    | —     | —         |
| Triples | 240       | 216     | 1    | 1     | 7         |
|         | 227       | 344     | 2    | 1     | 7         |

Peals of Grandsire have decreased by 20, while Stedman has increased by one, and other methods are seven more.

Compared with the past two years, six bell ringers are on the down grade, having scored 20 peals less than in 1923. Again, as was the case last year, the decrease is all in Minor peals, which are 35 less on tower bells and one more on handbells, the average points value also being lower. To compensate in some degree for this, peals of Doubles are 6 more on tower bells, and 8 on handbells.

Lengths of over 7,000 are comparatively few, being five in number only, as follows:—

10,400 of Kent Treble Bob Major by the North Wales Association; 9,120 Spliced Treble Bob Major (the record length) and 7,008 Plain Bob Major by the Midland Counties Association; 8,064 Double Norwich Major, being the longest in the method by the Yorkshire Association; and 7,920 of Minor by an independent society.

Coming to notable performances, that of the St. Martin's Guild of Birmingham may safely be classed as the best. In their arranged twelve-bell week they accomplished five peals of Stedman Cinques, which, even for a first-class collection of ringers is a remarkable achievement. The ladies also were successful in scoring a peal of Stedman Triples without any assistance from the sterner sex, on which they are to be congratulated. We also note a Masonic peal of Treble Bob Major by the Lancashire Association, a peal of Doubles by a father and four sons, the first 'William' peal of London Surprise Major, rung by the Essex Association. (This last is supposed to have caused many hills on the railway). The first non-conducted peal of Stedman Triples by the Kent County Association; the first Surprise peal (London) in Scotland, rung by the Durham and Newcastle Association; the heaviest peal of Minor yet rung; and the Surrey Association may be mentioned for Grandsire Caters by their younger members, all being under 21, and a peal of Grandsire Cinques, being the first by all the band.

Below we give the table comparing the number of peals rung each month in the years 1923 and 1924:—

|          | 1923 | 1924 |           | 1923 | 1924 |
|----------|------|------|-----------|------|------|
| January  | 147  | 132  | July      | 80   | 106  |
| February | 145  | 142  | August    | 134  | 195  |
| March    | 145  | 155  | September | 147  | 132  |
| April    | 185  | 147  | October   | 192  | 148  |
| May      | 163  | 158  | November  | 153  | 207  |
| June     | 154  | 128  | December  | 240  | 210  |

The comparative number of peals rung on each particular day of the week does not vary much from year to year, but the information is of sufficient interest to give it for 1924, as follows: Sunday 89 peals; Monday, 195; Tuesday, 182; Wednesday, 118; Thursday, 124; Friday, 98; and Saturday, 1,054 peals, the surprising feature being that so few are rung on Wednesday.

The names of conductors of five peals and over are as follows, the number of handbell peals included are shown in brackets:—

50 peals, A. H. Pulling (11); 49 peals, J. H. Cheeseman; 43 peals, R. Sperring; 34 peals, G. H. Cross (5), J. E. Sykes; 28 peals, T. H. Taffender (4); 27 peals, H. J. Poole (11); 26 peals, W. Swinfield, B. Thorp, A. Tout, A. Y. Tyler, W. Wellington, J. E. Wheelton.

In addition to these there were 32 conductors of 4 peals each (8), 50 conductors of 3 peals (5), 76 conductors of 2 peals (5), and 257 conductors of 1 peal (9). There was 1 peal non-conducted, and in the case of one peal of Doubles no conductor's name was given.

The number of lady conductors is the same as last year, Miss Edith K. Parker conducting 2 peals, and Misses Phyllis M. Moss, Alice Stokes and Kitty Willars one each. The only representative of reverend conductors is the Rev. H. Law James.

The following statistics for the year are compiled from the footnotes to peals:—

First peal, 565 ringers; first peal in the method, 896; first peal in the method on a different number of bells, 111; first peal of Doubles, 23; Minor, 70; Triples, 44; Major, 106; Caters, 52; Royal, 104; Cinques, 17; Maximus, 8; first peal on six bells, 9; eight bells, 44; ten bells, 69; twelve bells, 40; first peal of Surprise, 38; first peal inside, 44; with a working bell, 4; with a bob bell, 13; away from the treble, 5; away from the tenor, 13; first peal on tower bells, 7; on handbells, 23; first peal as conductor, 72; as conductor in the method, 47; on a different number of bells, 40; 307 birthday peals; 65 wedding peals, including silver, golden and diamond weddings; 20 peals of welcome, and 26 as farewell peals; anniversary, jubilee and centenary peals number 62; memorial peals, 3; complimentary, 9; thanksgiving, 2; muffled peals, 8; half-muffled, 54; 44 peals were the first on the bells, and 41 the first after restoration; 17 peals were rung by the service ringers of the church, 4 of these being the first so rung; 39 peals were rung for church festivals, and 13 peals were the quickest on the bells.

Peals were also rung as a token of respect to the late J. W. Washbrook and George Cleal, and in memory of the late Bertram Prewett.

Below is shown the number of peals rung in representative years since 1881, the grand total since then being 46,642:—

We end our report by calling attention to the column which is added this year to the main table, showing the number of conductors for each society. Conducting is an important branch of the art, and the object of the column is to draw attention to it, so that associations may consider whether the activities of its members can be further extended in this direction.

WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

ANOTHER BELL WANTED AT FARNBOROUGH.

A very pleasant meeting of the Yorktown district was held at Farnborough on Saturday last. Although there are only five bells, they were made good use of, twenty visiting friends and members of the district making the meeting a success. One more bell, a treble, is required to make a nice peal of six. The frame is already there, and any subscriptions will be thankfully received.

The service was conducted by Canon Challacombe, who also presided over the tea and business meeting. At the latter, three honorary, three performing and nine probationary members were elected.

It was agreed to hold a combined or social gathering with the Guildford district, a notice and arrangements will appear later. Will members please note?

A vote of thanks was given to Canon Challacombe for giving such a welcome to the district; Mr. Gasson for making the arrangements for tea; also to the lady organist who had journeyed some distance to play.

The methods rung during the day were Grandsire Stedman and Plain Bob Doubles.

DEVON'S LADY RINGERS.*VISIT TO HUNTSHAM.

By kind invitation of Lieut.-Col. Troyte, M.P., and Mrs. Troyte, who are hon. members of the Exeter and District Ladies' Guild, the latter recently paid a visit to Huntsham Court. The trip was made by charabanc through the Exe Valley. At Huntsham, while some of the party inspected the beautiful gardens, the others adjourned to the quaint belfry, where some Grandsire was rung. Col. Troyte took part. Later about 40 or 50 sat down to tea. The party included Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Thomas (Mrs. Thomas being chairman of the Ladies' Guild) and ladies from Exeter (St. Petrock's), Tiverton, Washfield, Whimble, and Clyst St. George.

On behalf of all present, Mr. W. J. Southwood thanked Col. and Mrs. Troyte for their kind hospitality.—Col. Troyte said his wife and himself were pleased to welcome the Ladies' Guild to Huntsham, particularly as it was the first belfry in Devon to adopt change ringing, and invited all present to 'come again.'

Tiverton was visited on the return journey, and on the fine peal at St. Peter's were rung Grandsire and Stedman Triples, the local band taking part. The afternoon's outing was thoroughly enjoyed by the whole party.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.*TONBRIDGE DISTRICT.

A meeting of the above was held at Brenchley on Saturday, May 9th. It is a pity that more members did not avail themselves of the opportunity of visiting this lovely old-world village with its ancient church and beautiful bells, recently augmented to eight, and rehung in a new iron frame. As it was, less than 20 members turned up, but what was lacking in numbers was made up in enthusiasm, and the bells were kept going in various methods, including Superlative and Cambridge Surprise Major. The usual service was held, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. P. S. Whelan), who also gave a short address. Mr. F. W. R. Baker, of Tunbridge Wells, presided at the organ. Tea was partaken of at the Bull Hotel, followed by the business meeting, the Vicar presiding.

Eight new members were elected, including five of the local band, the tower becoming affiliated to the association.

Mr. F. White (Tunbridge Wells) urged members to thoroughly verse themselves up in higher methods, and come to these meetings, when ample opportunity would be given them to practise any particular method they wished.

Votes of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, for conducting the service, and for presiding at the meeting, to the organist and Mr. P. Hodges, and the rest of the local band for their services, were carried, and replied to, and the members adjourned again to the tower. Altogether it was a very enjoyable afternoon and evening.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL MEETING.

The visit which the Central Council is to pay to Chester at the beginning of next week promises to be an interesting and enjoyable one. The Chester Diocesan Guild have for some few years past been very pressing in their invitation to the Council to hold its annual meeting in their ancient city, and, now that their turn has come, the Guild is rising splendidly to the occasion, and offering to the Council not only a cordial welcome, but a programme of entertainment which will provide their visitors with a thoroughly pleasant time.

As to the business before the Council, the agenda is not a formidable looking one, but it does not follow that it will not provide the members with a pretty good day's work on Tuesday. There are no fewer than eight committees' reports to be dealt with, of which only one—the Analysis—has yet been published. The other seven may yield much or little in the way of discussion, though the last, that of the committee appointed a year ago to deal with method nomenclature, is a more than possible source of lively debate.

The resolution, presumably emanating from the Chester Guild, regarding the question of 'broadcasting' bell ringing, is a timely one, but it is a subject which will require delicate handling with the B.B.C. The Broadcasting Company are out to provide what their listeners most desire, and, perhaps from want of 'education,' the public for the most part prefer at present tune playing to change ringing. If it is possible to develop a wider appreciation of real change ringing by means of 'wireless,' so much the better, and the resolution may be the means of inducing the B.B.C. to give more attention to, shall we call it, the 'legitimate' art, instead of providing the spurious type which so often precedes the broadcasting of a religious service.

The resolution on the agenda which intrigues us most, is that which asks the Council to disapprove, as a general rule, of the augmentation of peals of eight into peals of ten. It will be interesting to learn the arguments against the practice of adding trebles to a ring of eight—whether on grounds musical, mechanical or campanological. Hitherto the general idea has been to look upon an increase in the number of bells as a step in advance; are we now to learn that an octave of bells is best left an octave; and that ten-bell ringing is to be discouraged? To some ringers, Caters is the most musical of all ringing, and it will be difficult to convince these members of the Exercise that augmentations to ten should be discouraged. At any rate, whatever views are held, the arguments for the motion will be followed with interest.

The resolution to amend the 'Rules and Decisions' is purely a formal matter to bring them into line with the present day practice of spliced method peals; but we see nothing in the agenda to indicate that the 'Rules and Decisions' have been entirely overhauled, although it was indicated at the last meeting that the Standing Committee would do this.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

ANNUAL FESTIVAL: TESTIMONIAL TO LATE MASTER.

The ancient town of Dorchester, in the heart of Wessex, was the venue of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild's annual meeting on Tuesday May 12th. There was a large attendance of members, who enjoyed ringing at the Parish Church of St. Peter, and on the peals in the neighbouring villages. A special service was held at St. Peter's at noon, conducted by the Rev. R. H. Gundry. The lesson was read by the Rev. G. C. Niven (Rector), and the sermon preached by the Rev. H. Pentin.

Luncheon was served at the Corn Exchange, and at the business meeting which followed, the chair was taken by the Rev. R. Hugh Gundry (Shroton, Ringing Master), who was supported by the Rev. F. L. Edwards, Kington Magna, general secretary and treasurer; Major Hughes D'Aeth, late Ringing Master, Worthing; the Rev. H. Pentin, Portland; the Rev. G. C. Niven, Dorchester; Captain J. E. Acland, Dorchester, a former Ringing Master; Mr. G. Williams (Master, Winchester Diocesan Guild) and Mrs. Williams; Mr. A. F. Martin Stewart, past Ringing Master, Ferndown; Mr. R. N. Dawes, chairman, Dorchester district; Mr. J. T. Godwin, Dorchester; Mr. T. Hervey Beams, assistant secretary, Bradpole; Mr. J. Benger, secretary, Dorchester district; the Rev. C. C. Cox, West Moors; and the Rev. C. A. Phillips, Bournemouth.

The Secretary presented the annual report, details of which have already been printed in our columns.

A balance sheet was also presented, which showed that, with a sum of £55 in hand, the receipts for the year had amounted to £117 4s. 6d.; and the disbursements had left £66 17s. 8d. to the credit of the Guild.

MASTER'S REVIEW.

The Chairman observed that, taking the branch reports all round, and the general report as well, they might look upon the condition of the Guild as being very satisfactory. The money was on the right side, and in the advance of membership it was particularly pleasing to note that this was caused principally by younger members joining up (hear, hear). That was what they wanted to see, for that would place the Guild upon a sound footing for the future. He was more than pleased to know that the Guild was doing its work grandly, was growing though slowly, and was going on as well as they could hope for, though perhaps not so well as they might wish. It seemed to him that there was no reason why every parish which had a peal of bells should not be represented on the Guild. Since he had been Master he had tried to influence every parish which had a peal of bells to join, and he was glad to say that there had been a small advance in the number of towers that had joined the Guild. But he still wanted to see more in the Guild, because it was one of the greatest of works for beneficial influence that could be brought about in parishes. A ringers' branch was helpful all round; it kept men together on winter nights, it drew out their interests, kept them earnestly together in the great work of the Church, and in time the belfry became an object of real affection (hear, hear). Looking back on the events of the past year, the Master Ringer said it was with regret that they heard of the decision of Major D'Aeth to retire from the Mastership. Amongst the prominent subjects was the starting of the branch in North Dorset (applause). Although it was the youngest branch in the Guild, he might perhaps be permitted to say, as chairman of it, that it had inherited the proper spirit, and that it was prepared to follow the excellent example set before it. And there was another thing that he was glad to refer to, and that was that, although it was a new branch which at one time they thought would hardly be able to toddle alone, it was now the second strongest member of the family (applause). Proceeding, the Chairman said he was sorry to say they had lost two vice-presidents during the year, Lord Long, of Wraxall, and Sir Everard Hambro, of Milton Abbas. He asked the members to show their respect for the memory of the departed ones by standing in silence, which request was duly complied with.

When he became Master, the Chairman continued, he found that Major D'Aeth had left three legacies. The first was organisation for the establishment of the Peace Bell, the ringing of which he was to restore on Fridays in each week in memory of those who had passed away. He knew there were difficulties to be encountered in the ringing of the Peace Bell every Friday at the noonday hour, but he thought they should be overcome in order that they might continue the lesson of remembrance of those who gave their lives in the war that others might live. The second legacy was the War Memorial that had been erected in the form of a screen in Salisbury Cathedral. He thought it was one of the best memorials of ringers in the country. It had not been taken up in the way one might have wished, and there was still a considerable portion of the £200 that the memorial cost to be made up. He asked all those parishes who had not yet considered the scheme to do so, and do what they could to help the fund. The third legacy left him was the reformation of the clergy (laughter). He had come to the conclusion that they were not past reformation, but at the same time he thought their reformation did not rest entirely with the Master, but with every single individual member of the Guild. If their parson did not support them as ringers they should boldly approach him. They should ask their parsons, particularly those who were just appointed to parishes, what they were going to do in the way of ringers, and that might wake them up to a full sense of what they ought to do for them as ringers (applause).

The Master, the hon. secretary and treasurer, and hon. assistant secretary, were re-elected as well as the auditors, the Rev. A. D. H. Allan, Wimborne, and Mr. H. R. Hopkins, Kington Magna.

The Rev. R. H. Gundry, in thanking the meeting for his re-election, asked that all secretaries of branches would send him notices of their meetings in order that if possible, he might attend them.

The Earl of Shaftesbury was re-elected president, and vice-presidents were also re-appointed, with the addition of the name of Sir Robert Williams, Bart., who had been an honorary member.

The Rev. C. Wood and Mr. J. R. Jerram were re-appointed on the committee, and the name of the Rev. C. C. Cox was added.

PRESENTATION TO MAJOR D'AETH.

The next business was the presentation of a testimonial to Major D'Aeth in recognition of the services he had rendered to the Guild during the past five years as Master.—The Secretary stated that when Major D'Aeth was approached on the subject he stated that he did not wish for any gift, but that he would be very much gratified with the signatures of individual members of the Guild, or as many as could be collected. Well, they had taken Major D'Aeth at his word, and there had been got together between 700 and 800 signatures (hear, hear). He had also received an autograph letter from Lord Shaftesbury, the president of the Guild, regretting his resignation, and expressing appreciation of his services.

No doubt Major D'Aeth would like to have the letter suitably framed, and he (the secretary) hoped he would have it done and have the bill sent in to him (hear, hear).

The Chairman then handed over to Major D'Aeth a small volume containing the signatures of members of the Guild, which was accompanied by the president's letter.

Major D'Aeth expressed his thanks for all the most acceptable kindnesses that had, during the five years of his Mastership, been shown him. He thought it was no secret that his Mastership had been a disappointment. The Ringing Master had given them a hint of that. In the first place he had an idea to stop all the bickerings that occasionally occurred between bellfries and the clergy. He had endeavoured to impress the idea from a layman's point of view, of the importance of the duties devolving upon the clergy and ringers, for when ringers called parishioners to church by the sound of church bells it should be inspired by the prayers of some ordained minister. Although Major D'Aeth had not been attained he was glad to say that to a degree it had been realised, as there was now in bellfries an office which could be read before any practice or service, and he was glad that even this much had been brought about during his Mastership. His other ideal was the revival of the Peace Bell. This was not his suggestion, because it was started before he came back from the war, though it was during his Mastership that it was sanctioned by the Bishop. The idea, however, had not come to maturity, though he hoped sincerely that it might be developed. Every parish had a bell, and this ought to be sounded once a week in order that everyone within hearing of it might be reminded of those men who laid down their lives for others (hear, hear). He looked upon the gift that the members had just presented to him not in the light of a consolation prize, but as the finest indication of esteem that they could possibly give him. He thanked them all very sincerely indeed for the kind co-operation he had received on all occasions, and for the splendid way in which they had consistently backed him up.

THE WAR MEMORIAL.

In making a statement as to the War Memorial screen in Salisbury Cathedral to ringers, Mr. Beams said that of the 107 towers affiliated with the Guild 40 had contributed. There was £59 7s. 1d. in the bank, £1 5s. had since been received, and that day's collection in St. Peter's Church had amounted to £2 5s. So that of the £200 required they had only in hand £62 17s. 1d. Further contributions would be thankfully received.

The Secretary stated that during the past year death had removed from their list of life members the honoured name of James W. Washbrook, a veritable prince of ringers, whose fame would endure for ever in the annals of the Exercise.—It was resolved to contribute £2 2s. towards a memorial to be erected to the deceased at Oxford.

The Secretary announced that he had received a communication from Whitchurch Canonorum stating that it was proposed to restore the bells there, for which it was desired that a sum of £250 might be raised.—Mr. Beams observed that the frame wanted renewing, and the bells wanted retuning, the object being to provide an admirable peal of eight bells.—On the motion of Mr. Beams, seconded by Mr. Northover, it was resolved to contribute £2 2s. towards the restoration fund.

After a short discussion it was resolved that the rules be so amended as to provide that in future, when difficulties arose between ringers and incumbents, the ringers should not withhold their services, but that appeal should be made to the Guild.

Votes of thanks were passed to those who had assisted in the arrangements for the day.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The dedication of the memorial bell at Hoole, Cheshire, on Sunday, will take place at 3.15 p.m.

It is proposed to erect a carillon, at a cost of about £15,000, at the University of Sydney, New South Wales, as a war memorial. The whole of the money was raised in little more than six months.

Members of the Norfolk Guild will be asked on Monday to discuss the question of changing the date of the annual meeting from the Autumn to Easter Monday.

It is not uninteresting to note that the Norfolk Guild, since its formation in 1877, has rung no fewer than 4,038 peals.

The Guild membership now comprises: Life members, 6; non-resident life members, 238; Suffolk non-resident life members, 192; Norfolk members, honorary, 38; performing, 339; probationers, 3; a total of 816.

Congratulations will be extended to Mr. E. Alex. Young, the hon. secretary of the Central Council, not only upon reaching his 60th birthday on Friday last, but upon celebrating it with a peal of Grandsire Triples in which he rang the treble—his first peal away from the tenor.

The peal was rung by intimate friends at St. Mary's Church, Southampton, where Mr. Young was baptized, Southampton being his birthplace. It was a matter of gratification that Mr. Young has made a complete recovery from his recent accident, and was able to stand the strain of three and a half hours' ringing. The band desire to thank Mr. Young for his generosity, both before and after the peal.

Thirty years ago to-day the record of Grandsire Cinques, at that date, viz., 10,075, was rung at Ashton-under-Lyne. This record has since been exceeded by the 13,001 at Painswick.

Two interesting first performances took place on May 29th, 1901, when a peal of Stedman Caters was rung on handbells on the Irish Sea, and in the evening the first Surprise peal in Wales (New Cambridge at Bangor) was rung.

The first peal of New Cumberland Surprise Major was rung exactly 40 years ago on May 31st, at Burton-on-Trent, where at that date was one of the foremost bands in the country.

On May 31st, 1909, a peal of 11,040 Double Norwich Major was rung at Leiston, Suffolk, conducted by C. F. Bailey.

A handbell peal of 14,031 Stedman Caters was rung at Guildford on June 1st, 1912, in 7 hours 3 minutes.

The first twelve-bell peal in Birmingham was rung on June 3rd, 1775. This was a 5,324 Grandsire Cinques.

The anniversary of two interesting bell openings occur on June 4th. On this date in 1762 the new peal of ten at Bow, Cheapside, was rung for the first time, and in 1814 the bells at St. Nicholas', Liverpool, were opened.

The popular steeplekeeper at St. Leonard's, Bridgnorth, Mr. John Overton, has just completed a half century of service, and a peal in celebration of the event was rung on Sunday week.

The correspondent who informed us of the College Youths' attempt for Dufield Maximus at Southwark 'in honour of the opening of the Wembley Exhibition,' was mistaken in the purpose of the peal. The attempt for the peal was made in an endeavour, in a small way, to popularise this musical but much neglected method, whose author was one of the greatest benefactors to the Exercise.

On Saturday week a new treble bell will be dedicated at Brightwalton, near Wantage, Berks.

THE RAILWAY CENTENARY.

SUGGESTED RAILWAYMEN'S PEAL.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—It has been suggested to me that a railwaymen's peal might be rung in connection with the railway centenary celebrations, which take place at Stockton on July 2nd. To carry out the idea properly, the peal should be rung at Stockton, or in that district, on the above date, and I would like to suggest that some of our Northern friends should consider whether or not this is practicable.

It so happens that I shall be away on holiday at that time, and so shall be unable to do anything, but if a peal in London later on, to celebrate the centenary year, could be rung by railwaymen, I shall be glad to help.

What do ringers who are workers on the railway think of the idea of a Railwaymen's Guild?—Yours faithfully, 49, Wood Street, Walthamstow, E.17.

C. T. COLES.

RECORD PEAL COMMEMORATION.

The Ashton-under-Lyne Society, on Sunday, May 17th, rang a quarter-peal of Kent Treble Bob Major at Ashton Parish Church, to celebrate the anniversary of that famous record peal of Kent Treble Bob Major (16,608 changes), which was rung at the Church of St. Michael's, Mottam, Cheshire, on Whitsun Friday, May 18th, 1893, in 9 hours and 48 minutes.

DURHAM & NEWCASTLE ASSOCIATION.

NORTHERN DISTRICT'S ENJOYABLE MEETING.

An enjoyable meeting of the Northern District was held at Cramlington on May 16th, and was fairly well attended, some eighteen members and visitors being present from Newcastle, Gosforth and Cramlington. The five-toned peal of six were set going soon after three o'clock, and as the meeting was primarily for the encouragement and education of the less advanced members of the association, only the simpler methods were attempted.

An excellent tea was very kindly served, under the presidency of Mrs. Simm, in the Church Hall, at which were present the Vicar of Cramlington, and Mr. Davison, one of the churchwardens.—The Vicar, in an address of welcome to the visitors, expressed his extreme pleasure at meeting the association members from other districts, and stated that he would always be pleased to welcome them at any time. He took a great interest in the bells, and very much appreciated the services of his local ringers, under the able and painstaking charge of Mr. Oswald Simm, and he would always be pleased at any time to do what he could to further their important branch of church service.

A vote of thanks was proposed to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and to Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Simm for the preparations they made for the visitors, by Mr. William Story, the vice-president of the Northern District; and Mr. Oswald Simm responded.

The tea was preceded by a most interesting game of quoits, when several of the ringers showed that it is possible also for them to get 'ringers' on the quoit pitch as well as being ringers on the tower bells, whilst, after tea a Jazz band of the local ringers gave an enjoyable concert.

Later, the tower was again visited, and a 720 of Kent Treble Rob Minor, conducted by Mr. Oswald Simm, came round in good time, and concluded a most delightful day.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The bi-monthly meeting of the Northern District was held at St. Matthew's, Bethnal Green, on Saturday, May 16th. This famous peal of bells, coupled with the beautiful weather, brought together a goodly company, bent on doing full justice to the excellent tone of the bells. Ringing commenced at 3.15 p.m., and some good touches in standard methods, in which several rang their first inside, were brought round. The company then adjourned to the hall, where an excellent tea was provided by the local band, and ladies of the entertainments committee (not forgetting the 'Flemish'), and was much appreciated. Afterwards were rung a few touches on handbells.

At the business meeting, one new member, Mr. L. G. Landymore, South Hackney, was elected.

It is proposed to hold the next meeting at Barnet and Hadley on Saturday, July 18th.

The District Master referred to the annual summer outing of the association, to be held at Marlow on June 27th, and asked all members and friends to support it.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector, the Rev. S. L. Sarel, for the use of the bells; to Mr. Stevens, steeplekeeper; to the ladies who waited at table; and to the local company for the hearty manner in which they had welcomed us.

A move was again made to the tower, where a course of Cambridge Major and touches in standard methods, brought a most successful day's ringing to a close.

During the day about forty members and friends attended, all expressing appreciation of this fine old peal, and the excellent 'go'; many expressions of admiration were also made of the peal boards placed in the tower to record the recent peal of Grand sire Triples, rung by the local company, the board being the workmanship of one of their own members.

MOTIONS.

8. That considering the future possibilities of Radio, the attention of the Press and Literature Committee of the Central Council be drawn to the performances of 'Bell-chiming' occasionally broadcast, as such performances are liable to create a wrong impression of the true nature of Bell Ringing, and, further, to request the Committee to bring to the Notice of the British Broadcasting Company all unsuitable imitations of bell ringing which may be broadcast.

CHESTER'S GUILD'S ARRANGEMENTS.

Particulars of the arrangements made by the Chester Guild were given in full in our last issue. They include ringing at the Cathedral, and various churches on Sunday and Monday, a trip to Eaton Hall on Monday afternoon, Evensong in the Cathedral at 4.15 on Tuesday, followed by tea in the Refectory at 5.30, and a social evening at the Grosvenor Hotel at 8 p.m.

FOR INFORMATION, APPLY TO—

Members of the Sub-Committee appointed by the Chester Diocesan Guild to look after the entertainment of the Central Council during the visit to Chester, will wear the St. Werburgh's badge as a distinguishing sign. This badge is a bronze medal of St. Werburgh's geese in a basket. Members of the Council will by this means, be able to recognise to whom they should go for information.

ECCLESTON CHURCH.

Members of the Central Council and their friends who are visiting Chester, should make a point of seeing the church at Eccleston, which was built by the late Duke of Westminster regardless of cost, and was dedicated on Ascension Day, 1900.

This church is designed in the style of the 14th century, and is strictly English in its character. It is groined throughout with red sandstone vaulting, and the whole of the interior is of wrought-stone ashlar.

The bells are a peal of eight (tenor 26½ cwt.) by John Taylor and Co., and the tower will be open for ringing in the evening on Whit Monday.

INTERESTING FEATURES OF ANCIENT CITY.

When the Central Council meet at Chester at Whitsuntide they will visit one of the most interesting old cities in the country.

Chester, says a recent writer in a weekly periodical, is one of the strangest survivals of the Middle Ages to be found in Britain. Nowhere else are the walls so complete—red sandstone walls some six centuries old, partly following the line of the ancient Roman fortifications, and making a circuit of nearly two miles.

A narrow pavement along the top accords a delightful walk, and from time to time we come to sturdy towers, including the water tower, where ships used to be moored in the days when the tidal waters of the Dee came right up to the city. At one turning-point of the walls are the Washing Steps, where, we are told, all our wishes are granted if we can rush up and down eighteen steps seven times without taking breath.

No stone wears so badly as Chester sandstone, and the Cathedral had become the most dilapidated in Europe when Sir Gilbert Scott set to work to restore it.

One of the unique features of Chester is known as the Rows, which enable shops to double their attractions and shoppers to multiply their joys. Along the first floor of the four principal streets, which meet at the Market Cross, are strange galleries or arcades, forming a second sidewalk with a second set of shop windows. They are approached by flights of nine steps and run along over the ceilings of the ground floors of the projecting houses.

Nothing really like them is to be seen anywhere else in the world, though one or two Swiss and Italian towns possess imitations. They were probably conceived in the times of marauders from Wales.

Chester is full of beautiful old houses, and houses so cleverly restored that they keep up the ancient atmosphere. Cheshire possessed abundant forests, and the timber was used lavishly for outer beams and balconies and groins and colonnades.

Chester is thought to be honeycombed with subterranean ways like Rome and Paris, a regular rabbit warren, which may some day be brought to light.

We enter a teashop and find ourselves in a vaulted crypt of the year 1230, which was discovered by accident in 1833, when the owner wanted more storage accommodation and set men to clear the ground, who soon found they had no need to excavate. It was probably the chapel of a small monastery.

The New Gate, which is certainly 300 years old, was shut up for a long time because a young man ran away with the mayor's daughter while she was playing in Pepper Street. Hence arose a local variation of the proverb about the stable door: 'When the daughter is stolen, then shut the Pepper Gate.'

Some of the old inns have scarcely changed at all during the lapse of centuries. 'Ye Olde Blue Bell' was licensed in 1494. The Yacht Inn is more modern. Dean Swift was detained there by a storm, and invited the church dignitaries to sup with him. But none of them turned up, perhaps dreading the sharp tongue of the author of 'Gulliver's Travels,' so he revenged himself by writing a rude rhyme on the window with his diamond ring:—

Rotten without and mouldering within.

This place and its clergy are all near akin.

Chester is specially fortunate in her recreation ground, known as the Roodee or Rood-eye, which means Island of the Cross. Once upon a time this cross fell on the lady of the manor and killed her while she was at her prayers. For this it was solemnly tried, convicted of murder, and drowned in the River Dee. But it came up with the tide, and the superstitious say it has since worked miracles.

Chester does not neglect modern activities and conveniences. She ranks as an important railway centre, has twelve square miles of land for potential factories, and thrives on such industries as flour milling, wire and tobacco manufacture, anchor and chain making, and boat-building.

DEATH OF A WOLVERHAMPTON RINGER.*MR. JOHN BRADNEY'S CAREER.

While sitting peacefully in his chair at Idsall Cottage, Penn Fields, near Wolverhampton, Mr. John Bradney breathed his last on March 30th, at the age of 75 years, and was laid to rest in Penn Fields Churchyard on April 3rd.

He began his ringing career at Shifnal—rather late in life—and, with the assistance of the late Mr. Rowland Cartwright, was instrumental in reviving change ringing in that noted tower of bygone days. He taught a band of youths, who, on February 22nd, 1906, were successful in ringing a peal of Grandsire Triples—their ages averaging 20 years, which was claimed to be a record at that time. His list of peals totalled 47, made up as follows: Grandsire Doubles 2, Triples 31 (conducted 2), Caters 4, Plain Bob Triples 2 (conducted 1), Bob Major 1 (composed by him and rung for the first time), and Stedman Triples 7. These were rung under the auspices of the Shifnal Albion Society, Salop Archidiaconal Guild, St. Martin's Guild (Birmingham), Hereford Diocesan Guild, Midland Counties Association, Worcestershire and Districts Association, Warwickshire Association, and the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford. The list includes one of Grandsire Caters rung at Aston, Birmingham, on May 2nd, 1914, by veterans whose ages totalled 653 years and 10 months (an average of 85 years and 4 months). At the time it was claimed to be the oldest band to ring a peal on 10. Alas! only four of the band remain with us to-day.

The deceased, in his early life, was connected with a well-known firm of contractors in Wolverhampton, and supervised the laying of railway tracks and the construction of important buildings in various parts of the country. Latterly he was in business as a quantity surveyor in Birmingham and Wolverhampton—in the latter place up to the time of his death.

CLEOBURY MORTIMER BELLS REHUNG.*RESTORATION OF AN ANCIENT HEREFORDSHIRE PEAL.

In January, 1924, the authorities at Cleobury Mortimer Parish Church decided that something must be done to the bells, and wisely invited the Master of the Hereford Guild (Mr. C. Edwards) to make an inspection and report to the Parochial Council. On examination, it was found that all the bells were sound, but the framework and fittings were in a deplorable state, and the advice was 'have complete clear out and put in a new frame.' The bells were cast by Abraham Rudhall in 1757 (tenor 12 cwt.), and very little attention had been given since, as the bells had not been even quarter turned.

Estimates were obtained, and the work entrusted to Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, who have made a most excellent job of it by erecting a new iron and steel frame about 15ft. lower in the tower than the original. The frame is placed on steel girders, securely braced all ways to the tower walls. The bells are all hung on the most modern principles, and run on ball bearings. The bells themselves were taken to the foundry, the treble recast, and the rest tuned and sand blasted, with the result that they are now a perfect and musical six.

There being no local ringers, the Guild Master was invited to take a band of ringers from Hereford for the reopening, which took place on May 7th. At the service there were quite 500 people present. The Bishop of Hereford was the preacher, and in his address dealt with the many secular and sacred uses of bells. Immediately after the dedication by the Bishop a few rounds were rung, and after the service the bells were set going to Grandsire Doubles, Bob Minor, Kent Treble Bob and Stedman.

The ringers were entertained to tea by the Vicar, about twenty sitting down. They had come from Ludlow, Chur, Bridgnorth and Bromfield, and the party included the Rev. H. S. T. Richardson (Hopesay), Mr. S. Roper, representing Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, and the Rev. G. W. Turner, secretary of the Hereford Guild.

After tea, the tower was again visited, and various methods rung until 7.45, when it was thought advisable to return home, as the weather was not on its best behaviour. Everyone was pleased with the excellent work that has been done by the bell hangers, and it is hoped that a local band will very soon be organised and become affiliated to the Guild, as the Ludlow district is quite ready to take them in hand.

BARNESLEY & DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

The monthly meeting was held at the picturesque village of Cawthorne, amid lovely weather, on Saturday, May 16th. Members attended from Barnsley, Darfield, Roystone, Hoylandswaine, Wortley, Wath, Horbury, Sandal, Shelley, Penistone, and members of the local company. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m., and continued with slight intermission until 9.30 p.m., in a variety of methods, acceptable to learners and others. Tea was provided at the Spencer's Arms by Miss Heywood, who rendered yeoman service for the benefit and comfort of everyone at the meeting.

The usual vote of thanks was heartily given after the business meeting. Afterwards, the evening being warm, members assembled in cheerful groups to chat and listen to the sounds of the bells.

TRAGIC END OF A CARDIFF RINGER.

The Llandaff and Monmouth Association has lost one of its oldest and keenest members, in the person of Mr. W. B. Biss. On Thursday, May 14th, he took part in the usual practice at St. John's, Cardiff. The day following, whilst partaking of fish, a bone lodged in his throat. He was taken to Cardiff Hospital, and operated upon, but complications set in, and he gradually sank, and passed away on Wednesday of last week.

It was intended to ring a muffled peal on Sunday afternoon, but owing to a specially arranged service this could not be attempted. A quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters (1,277 changes) was, however, rung half-muffled for the evening service by the following: W. H. P. Evans 1, F. Smith 2, G. Large 3, J. W. Jones 4, J. Davies 5, W. Richards 6, A. Parnell 7, E. Coombes 8, F. Chamberlain 9, S. R. Barker 10.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.*GRIMSBY DISTRICT AT ELSHAM.

A Grimsby District meeting was held at Elsham on Saturday, May 16th, when members were present from Bigby, Barrow-on-Humber, Grimsby, Scunthorpe, Burton-on-Stather, and the local tower; Messrs. Howell and friends from Hull; the Rev. E. W. Carpenter (Kingerby), and the Rev. J. H. Park (Thornton Curtis). The handy peal of six were kept going during the afternoon in various methods, and service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. C. H. Frith). Hymns were heartily sung, and the Vicar gave a most interesting address. Mr. Harold Rushby, of Grimsby, the district organist, presided at the organ. Tea was partaken of in the school, to which 31 members and friends sat down.

The President (the Rev. H. T. Parry) presided at the business meeting which followed.

Owing to the Ringing Master (Mr. E. S. Long) having left the district to reside at Sheffield, a new Ringing Master had to be appointed.—The President spoke of the loss which the district had sustained by Mr. Long's departure, and said it would also be a great loss to St. Andrew's company, Grimsby, where he was conductor.—Mr. C. W. Taylor proposed Mr. G. Blanchard, of Bigby, as Ringing Master.—This was seconded by Mr. C. Bird, and Mr. Blanchard was duly elected.—Eight new members from Scunthorpe, two from Bigby, two from Elsham and two from Burton-on-Stather were elected.

The Rev. J. H. Park, of Thornton Curtis, was elected as an hon. member, and spoke of the great task in front of him in getting a band together again in Thornton Curtis, where two or three years ago they used to have a good company. He thought it only right that he should set an example and join the Guild. He thanked Mr. E. Darnett and other ringers of Barrow-on-Humber for the pains they have taken in trying to teach some young men of the tower on their practice nights, and hoped they would get a band together in the near future.

The confirmation of the election of Mr. C. Bird, Mr. J. Almond, of Scunthorpe, and Mr. Cole, of Burton-on-Stather, was agreed to, and a collection for the Grimsby District Bell Fund amounted to 11s. 6d.

The Rev. C. Steele, Vicar of Scunthorpe, sent an apology for non-attendance.

The President, in welcoming the Rev. E. W. Carpenter, spoke of the great work which he had done for the Exercise for so many years on the Analysis Committee, and the Rev. E. W. Carpenter said it gave him much pleasure to be amongst the ringers that day.—Votes of thanks were accorded to the Rev. C. H. Frith for arranging the meeting, for the service and address, and for the use of the bells; and to Mrs. Frith, the ringers' wives and friends for the splendid tea they had provided; to the president for presiding; and to Mr. Rushby for presiding at the organ.

Scunthorpe was selected for an extra meeting, to be held on Saturday, September 26th.

Members then adjourned to the belfry for more ringing, the methods including Stedman Doubles, Grandsire Doubles and Bob Doubles, Kent and Bob Minor, which brought a very pleasant meeting to a close.

The next meeting is at Bigby on Saturday, June 6th.

RINGING IN BELFAST.

On May 17th, the team of ringers of St. Thomas', Belfast, journeyed to Lurgan, where there is a fine ring of eight bells by Taylor (1878), with tenor of 22 cwt. They rang the bells for morning and evening services. Only call charges were rung, but the young team handled their bells admirably. They are anxious to learn change ringing, and can manage Bob Doubles on handbells quite well, but have not yet got the rope sight for tower bells.

The following were the ringers: D. Ireland, J. Waring, T. Waring, W. Long, A. Abraham, F. G. Elliott, R. W. Adamson and N. Robinson. This is the first visit to Lurgan by St. Thomas' Society since the year 1913 or 1914. An invitation to Dublin has been received from Mr. G. Lindoff, and it is hoped that some will be able to accept.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.*WITNEY AND WOODSTOCK BRANCH.

The spring meeting of the Witney and Woodstock Branch was held at Wootton on May 9th. There were 47 members and friends present, including representatives from the following towers: Woodstock, Kidlington, Tackley, Combe, Witney, Stonesfield, Bladon, Freeland, Wootton and Eynsham.

A service was held in the Parish Church, and a helpful address was given by the Rev. W. H. L. O'Rourke, M.A., Rector of Woodstock. Those present were entertained to a substantial tea, through the kindness of the Rector (the Rev. F. R. Marriott). The chair was taken by the Rev. A. C. R. Freeborn, chairman of the branch.—The Chairman proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector, and it was carried with enthusiasm.

The report and balance sheet were read by the Hon. Secretary, who stated that progress had been made both in honorary and ringing members. There was a balance of £20 10s. 7d. brought forward from last year.

Mr. Monk proposed, and Mr. W. Judge seconded, 'That the sum of five guineas be given to the Washbrook Memorial Fund.'—This was carried.

It was resolved that Mr. W. Judge should be the third representative on the Guild Committee.—Thirty-three new members were elected.—The Secretary stated that this was the largest number they had ever elected at one meeting.

The Master (Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn) addressed the branch, and congratulated them on the progress they had made. He expressed his pleasure that they had made a donation to the Washbrook Memorial Fund.

The General Secretary (Mr. R. T. Hibbert) asked those present to try and see if they could not get the towers to do something for the memorial, seeing that many present could remember the good work Mr. Washbrook had done to improve change ringing, especially in that district.—The Guild treasurer (Mr. A. J. Wright) added a few words.

A vote of thanks to the preacher and the Master concluded the meeting.

NORTH BERKS BRANCH.

The North Berkshire Branch held a very successful annual meeting at Drayton on Saturday, May 23rd, some 70 members and friends attending. The Vicar (the Rev. Littlewood) officiated at the service, assisted by the Master of the Guild (the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, M.C.), who gave the address.

Tea was afterwards served in the Institute, and was followed by a business meeting. The secretary's report showed the branch to be in a flourishing condition, with some 175 members, 19 towers, and a balance in hand of £17.

Mr. R. T. Hibbert and Mr. A. J. Wright, having spoken on the claims of the Washbrook Memorial Fund, £4 was voted toward it by the Branch.

The meeting over, the tower was again visited, and touches of Grandsire, Stedman, Double Norwich and Cambridge, were rung.

Abingdon, Milton, Stevenston and Sutton Courtney towers were open for ringing to the members, and many availed themselves of the opportunity to have a pull. Wallingford was selected for the next branch meeting, on September 19th.

M.C.A. ANNUAL MEETING.To the Editor.*

Dear Sir,—The letters you have recently published concerning the arrangements of the annual meeting of the M.C.A. at Leicester are welcome, inasmuch as criticism denotes interest. At this point, may I say the committee is willing, and indeed anxious, to arrange details to suit the members. The next annual meeting is a long way off, but it is not too early for those interested to express their wishes to their particular district committee, so that at the intervening quarterly meetings of the association suggestions may be considered, and the best possible arrangements made.—Yours truly, A. C. WRIGHT.

THE BANNED BANNS BELLS.To the Editor.*

Sir,—In your issue of the 15th inst., I read with astonishment an announcement by the Vicar of Addlestone, Surrey, that there will be no 'Banns Bell' rung during his incumbency.

In thus enforcing his own views of marriage, which, to say the least, may be infelicitous, he is abrogating a custom which probably dates back to Pre-Reformation times.

It is, undoubtedly, vandals of this kind who are responsible for the discontinuance of the curfew in so many places.—Yours, E. B. BARTER.

SWINDON.—On Empire Day, May 24th, for morning service, at the Parish Church, a quarter-peal of Stedman Caters (1,259 changes): C. J. Gardiner 1, A. Lawrence 2, S. Palmer 3, R. W. Hyner 4, A. W. Bond 5, R. Townsend 6, W. G. Lancaster 7, H. A. Hearl 8, E. Bishop (conductor) 9, A. W. Harrington 10.

PEAL POINTS.

The question of peal points and their value as an incentive to ringing, or a comparison of merit, is a constantly recurring one, and the annual publication of the Peals Analysis is generally the occasion for reviving comment. Does the allocation of points for peals serve any real purpose? Opinions are divided on this matter, but, under the present method of dealing with the points, it certainly seems that they carry no great weight as an indication of the relative merits of the performances, either in regard to individual peals, or to the work of an association.

In compiling statistics of this kind there are, of course, many features which cannot be calculated in arriving at a value to be represented by points, but which, nevertheless, are of importance in appraising the true merits of a peal. The only thing that is now taken into account is the presumed intricacy of the method and the length of the peal, and even so, despite a long-continued attempt some years ago to fix relative values, there is still only a more or less rough-and-ready method of allocating the points, by placing methods in groups. This allocation does, perhaps, approximate to justice; but, leaving out of account those considerations which must vary with every peal, such as the first in the method, or by the band, there seems to be opportunity to overhaul the present assessment of points. By those who have had the experience, it is unanimously held, we believe, that 'spliced' method peals are unquestionably of greater value than a peal entirely in one of the methods. Again, it is held by competent judges that 'double-handed' handbell peals should be given more points than tower bell peals in the same method. This latter point has been discussed before, and, if we remember aright, the Council decided against it, but it is worth reconsideration. There is no argument in saying that each ringer gets double the number of points for his performance, when the peal is rung on handbells, because, under the present system, the individual is not taken into account. It may be equally advanced that no account is taken of anything but the complexity of a method, but there is no question that there is an added complexity to the performance when one man rings two bells.

Another question is that of the existing allocation of points, and there are those who consider that some revision is necessary. To take two of the most commonly rung methods, for example. On paper, Grandsire may be as simple a method as Plain Bob, but given a band equally capable in either method, it is, we think, not above argument that they would lose more peals of Grandsire Triples than of Bob Major in an equal number of attempts, which would prove that the former is the more difficult to ring in actual practice. Yet in the analysis Grandsire Triples does not get as many points as Bob Major. Again, is it not fairly generally recognised that a peal of Stedman Triples is at least as difficult to ring as a peal of Stedman Caters? There are other instances which one could quote, but these are sufficient, we think, to show that a reconsideration of the points in question was necessary. The Council had really come to a stage where they had to decide whether the points should be revised or cut out altogether. The decision to do away with the peal points, by an overwhelming majority, shows how strongly the view has grown in recent years that peal points are in reality valueless.

Moyes (Wilby) 3, Ernest Eady (Thorpe-le-Soken, Essex) 4, Alfred Bowell (Ipswich) 5, Wm. J. Nevard (Great Bentley, Essex) 6. Conducted by W. Nevard. Owing to illness near the church, it was decided not to go to Laxfield, but to go on to Dennington. Here the party were met by Mr. Wardley, and a good 720 of Oxford Treble Bob was rung by J. Noller 1, Alfred Bowell 2, Jos. Bowell 3, E. Eady 4, James Wardley 5, W. J. Nevard (conductor) 6. After dinner, a call was made at Bedfield, where the visitors were met by Messrs. F. Ling and P. C. Potter. A well-struck 720 of Kent Treble Bob was brought round by Percy C. Potter (Bedfield) 1, W. J. Nevard 2, J. Bowell 3, E. Eady 4, F. Bowell (conductor) 5, A. Bowell 6. The next call was at Creetingham, where some good 120's of Grandsire Doubles and 120 of Stedman Doubles were rung by the band, assisted in the Stedman by G. Wightman and Stephen Wightman. Arriving at Ipswich again, it was agreed that a very pleasant day had been spent.

THE BELLS OF NORBURY, CHESHIRE.

Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, have now commenced the work of restoration at Norbury (Hazel Grove), Cheshire, and probably in about six months' time will complete the order for a new peal of eight, with tenor 13½ cwt.

On Sunday, May 17th, for morning service, 720 Grove Delight, and for evening service, 720 Spliced, Trowel, Duke of Norfolk, and College Exercise were rung, and instead of the recessional at this service a 'farewell touch' of 360 Norbury Treble Bob was rung. The ringers were J. Fernley, J. Fernley, junr., W. Fernley, J. W. Hartley, H. Langley, J. P. Fidler, H. Hallworth, L. Clough, with Samuel Potts (probationer).

SWANSEA &amp; BRECON DIOCESAN GUILD.

FIRST ANNUAL RINGING COMPETITION.

On the eve of Empire Day, a ringing competition open to the members of the newly-formed Swansea and Brecon Diocesan Guild was held at Brecon. The ancient art of raising and falling church bells in peal and method ringing were encouraged by the offer of a challenge shield for the best team to complete a fixed task. No less than ten bands were drawn from all parts of the Guild's district to the parish of St. David's, Brecon, to take part, and the new ring of six bells were well rung throughout the day. No company had the misfortune to break down, and the judge's report resulted in the competitors being awarded points as under, the maximum obtainable being 240: Neath, 222 points; Gorseinon, 220; Talgarth, 204; Llanstephan, 201; Baglan, 214; Llangatlock, 216; Cadoxton 'A.', 214; Llanelly, 221; Cadoxton 'B.', 221; St. Mary's, Brecon, 231.

A cold luncheon was served in the Parish Hall, the Vicar of St. David's (the Rev. John Simon, R.D.), being in the chair, and supported by the Rev. T. R. J. Jones, and other clergy, Mr. S. T. Rackham (Master of the Guild), Mr. W. H. Fussell, Slough (who judged the competition), Mr. J. Hammond (the secretary for the Southern District), Mr. Charles Powell (hon. treasurer), Mr. T. J. Richards (churchwarden), and the hon. secretary (Mr. W. R. Howells), nearly 100 ringers and friends enjoying the repast.

A hearty welcome was extended to the visitors, with the hope that they would enjoy their friendly rivalry and feel the benefit of their experience when they returned to their own towers.

The Guild is very much indebted to several gentlemen in Brecon whose generosity has enabled the Guild's hon. secretary to organise financially such undertaking—the Lord Bishop of the Diocese, the Rural Dean (the Rev. J. Simon), Dr. T. P. Thomas, Captain J. D. D. Evans, Dr. W. R. Jones, Mr. R. W. Phillips, Dr. J. L. Phillips, and other friends.

The competition ended at 4 p.m., when tea was served, so that those coming from a distance could get home in good time. Mrs. Simon was present, and kindly distributed the awards, consisting of a challenge shield and certificates for the first three places. The former only passed over Llanfaes Bridge, and is now on view in the window of the conductor, Mr. W. Evans, saddler, of Ship Street, Brecon. Second and third places were obtained by Neath (Mr. J. Hammond, conductor), and Cadoxton 'B' (conducted by Mr. J. E. Bloxham, who tied in the raising and falling).

The judge gave an address to the company, and explained his difficult position to do justice to every man in the competition with impartiality and fairness. To this end he was locked in a private room alone (near the church) and registered the faults made during the contest, and in doing so created an interesting set of diagrams, which were open to the inspection of anyone who wished to question the verdict. He congratulated the teams on the average excellence of the ringing, that no damage had been done to the ropes and fittings during the day's proceedings, and no band had broken down, all of which proved how valuable a little encouragement to the bell ringer was.

A vote of thanks to the donors, to the chairman and Mrs. Simon, and the judge, closed the gathering.

The company could not disperse before enjoying the privilege of a pull on the bells of St. Mary's Church, by kind consent of the Vicar (the Rev. Canon E. A. T. Roberts), who visited St. David's earlier in the day.

It is due to the hearty co-operation of Dr. T. P. Thomas (who presented the shield for competition) that such a successful gathering was brought about, and this competition is the forerunner of others to follow annually. Dr. T. P. Thomas was heartily thanked for his generosity, and the hon. secretary was requested to convey the company's message to him.

The Guild is very much indebted to Mr. W. H. Fussell, of Slough, who at short notice undertook to judge the competition, for the very able and masterly way he adjudicated, and also for his comments on the day's proceedings.

A vote of thanks was also passed to the young band of local ringers for their valuable assistance in preparing the belfry, etc., and it is very encouraging to note that they are now getting quite accustomed to their bells. It was interesting to note also that the Baglan band included two lady ringers one of whom was a Bellringer by name.

During the luncheon interval, a collection was made towards the funds of the church, which is being rebuilt and enlarged, and this realised £2.

ARKSEY, DONCASTER. — For evensong, on Ascension Day, 720 Bob Minor: G. Clark 1, C. F. Otter 2, A. Hall 3, Jas. McCluskey 4, Jos. McCluskey 5, G. Jackson (conductor) 6. Woodhouse 5, F. Clark 6, T. Revill 7, H. Trout 8. Rung to celebrate the 70th birthday of T. Byssouth, one of the local company.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.

NORTHERN BRANCH AND CATHEDRAL BELL FUND.

The annual meeting was held at Gainsborough on Saturday, May 23rd, when, despite unfavourable weather, a good number of members and friends were present from the three districts. Among those who attended were the Rev. H. Law James (Guild Ringing Master), Mr. G. Ladd (hon. secretary, Elloe Deaneries Branch), Mr. and Mrs. R. Richardson (Surfleet), Mr. H. Walker (hon. secretary, Doncaster and District Society), and Mr. J. T. Reid (Redbourne, late of Sheffield).

The bells of the parish church were available during the afternoon and evening, when touches were brought round in various methods. Rounds were also rung to give the less advanced members an opportunity of having a pull.

Choral evensong was attended by about 60. The Rev. S. Walton, one of the assistant clergy, intoned the service, and Mr. Alan Stephenson, Mus. Bac. Oxon, presided at the organ. The assistance given by the choir-boys also added considerably to the brightness of the service.

A very homely address, including a hearty welcome to the members of the branch to Gainsborough, was given by the Vicar (the Rev. Canon Morris). Subsequently, 73 ringers and friends sat down to an excellent tea, provided at the Co-operative Hall. The business meeting followed, at which Mr. F. F. Linley (president of the Northern Branch) took the chair, and was supported by the Rev. Canon Morris (president of the Gainsborough District), the Rev. S. Walton, and members of the committee. Other clergy present were the Revs. H. T. Parry (president of the Grimsby District), R. Boud, St. Peter-at-Arches, Lincoln; and C. H. Frith, Elsham. Apologies for absence were announced from the Revs. E. W. Carpenter (Kingerby), R. G. Fookes (Lea), and J. Barber (Stow), also from Mr. E. Dawber, Gainsborough. The general secretary's report for 1924 was adopted, and the balance sheet passed.

The Secretary, in his report, stated that although steps were taken to form a new district at Sleaford, in accordance with a resolution passed, the scheme had not succeeded as was at first anticipated, and has, therefore, been abandoned for the time being. Two new towers became affiliated during the year (Blyton and Broughton), and four honorary and 46 performing members had been elected, bringing the total up to 247, which was a slight increase on the previous year. Twenty-three peals were rung by the branch.

The President congratulated the district secretaries upon the excellent work which had been done during the past year, and the whole of the officers were re-elected on bloc.

The following new members were elected: Mr. G. H. Hill, Gainsborough, honorary member; Messrs. G. Webb, Brigg and B. Baldwin, Elsham, performing members; and Mr. H. Walker, Doncaster, non-resident life member.

CATHEDRAL BELLS MEMORIAL FUND.

Mr. W. H. Lloyd moved, and Mr. J. Canham seconded, the following resolution: 'That the sum of £20 be taken from the funds of the Northern Branch, and be paid into the Cathedral Bells Memorial Fund as the first result of the "final effort" being made by the Northern Branch to complete that fund.'—As an amendment, Mr. H. Torr proposed, and Mr. J. Dixon seconded, that the sum be £10. At this stage, the Rev. H. T. Parry stated that at a recent meeting of the Grimsby District the members commented upon the diminishing balance of the Northern Branch funds, and were in opposition to the resolution.—As a second amendment, Mr. C. W. P. Clifton proposed, and Mr. G. Chester seconded, that the sum of £5 be granted, reference being made to the forthcoming appeal from St. Peter-at-Arches, Lincoln, and very probably a further appeal from Navenby in the near future. On being put, the second amendment was carried unanimously.

Votes of thanks were passed as follows: To the Rev. Canon Morris for the use of the bells and his instructive address; the Rev. R. G. Fookes (Lea) for the use of the bells; the Rev. S. Walton, Mr. A. Stephenson (organist), the choirboys, Mr. W. E. Mawditt (sexton), and to Mr. F. F. Linley for presiding at the meeting.

These having been duly responded to by the Vicar of Gainsborough and the President, the business concluded, after which some of the members returned to the parish church for further ringing, while others journeyed to the village of Lea, two miles distant, for a pull on the ring of six in that tower. The most praiseworthy ringing of the day consisted of a course of London Surprise Major in the afternoon, and a course of Cambridge Surprise Major, also a short touch of London Surprise Major in the evening.

During the day, members were present from the following towers: Grimsby (St. Andrew's), Lincoln (Cathedral, St. Peter-at-Arches and St. Peter at Gowts), Bigby, Brigg, Elsham, Stow, Scothorne, Welton, Surfleet, Pinchbeck, Branston, Blankney, Scotter and Corringham, in addition to the local company.

WILBURTON, CAMBS.—On Saturday, May 16th, a quarter-peal (1,440 changes), consisting of 360's of Cambridge Surprise, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob and Plain Bob: R. Knight 1, F. G. Gleaves 2, F. Warrington (conductor) 3, F. Thurbon 4, H. Sharp 5, G. Few 6.

A DOUBLE DOUBLE-CENTURY.

Fluky, it was between 19 and 20 years after the captain rang his first peal that, the 'colt' scored his first. Within the next 2½ years he had added another 99; inside the succeeding two years, the one-time pupil and tutor stood in the circle together for Cambridge Royal, having each to his credit 99. The peal was going strong, but one hour and 10 minutes from 'go' being called, down it came, forming neat circles on the floor, with a nice fluffy end. You do not start again the same day at St. Martin's, so 'go' Cambridge was called on the Monday following. No mishap this time, rounds coming up according to plan in 3 hours and 29 minutes, and the critics, who, the writer thinks, were waiting to celebrate the double double century, said it was the finest last course in a peal they had ever heard.

The 'jam' was measured out according to their expectations of a possible and correct celebration, having in mind also that it was the bob caller's 100th peal in that role. The writer apologises, but the 'jam merchants' must blame the law or the gentleman who keeps open house for all, for turning us all out in the damp. One thing is very certain, the culprits will not ring their 300th peal together, so a golden opportunity was missed by not applying for an extension.

ROYAL VISIT TO BARKING.

On Tuesday, May 19th, on the occasion of their Majesties the King and Queen visiting Barking to open the electric power station, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes) was rung in 46 minutes on their arrival: A. C. Hardy 1, W. Beard 2, F. C. Russell 3, H. E. Parker 4, R. Fenn 5, G. V. Faulkner 6, C. Fenn (conductor) 7, H. Holgate 8. As their Majesties were leaving, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) was rung in 45 mins.: R. Fenn 1, W. Beard 2, F. C. Russell 3, H. E. Parker (conductor) 4, A. C. Hardy 5, G. W. Faulkner 6, C. Fenn 7, R. Molton 8.

SUFFOLK GUILD*SUCCESSFUL GATHERING AT HADLEIGH.

Many successful district meetings have taken place at Hadleigh in the past, but the palm must be given for the present to the meeting which was held on May 9th. The local company, it is true, was poorly represented, but this is due to the fact that it is almost entirely composed of men who are engaged in retail business, and, therefore, were occupied in somewhat less musical if more profitable methods. Visitors came from Ipswich, Sproughton, Hintlesham, Yeltham, Cornard, Assington, Polstead, Manningtree, Lavenham, Bildeston, Shelley, Stoke-by-Nayland and Sible Hedingham.

The Rector of Hadleigh, Dean Carter, presided at the meeting, which took place in the ancient Guildhall in the Churchyard. He referred to the forthcoming visit to Hadleigh of the Archbishop of Canterbury, on June 22nd, and asked for volunteers to ring on that occasion, as the local men were engaged in business. Many names were immediately given in to the district secretary, Mr. T. G. Reed.

In the belfry, owing to the numbers present, only short touches were indulged in, but the methods were many and varied, from rounds (to oblige a very young hand), Plain Bob (Minor and Major), Oxford and Kent (Minor and Major), Double Norwich, Grandsire Triples and Stedman Triples, to Superlative and Cambridge Surprise Major. All these rolled home in splendid style, the only 'casualty' of the day being an attempt at a piece of London Surprise Major, which somehow or other came 'unstuck,' to the disappointment of all, but better luck next time!

HOW HONG KONG LOST A PEAL OF BELLS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Referring to the remarks of Mr. J. E. Sykes as to the difficulty of ringing a peal in Hong Kong, this would be quite a simple task, were bells and ringers available. From the middle of October to the middle of March, the colony enjoys climatic conditions second to none the world over. Throughout these five months, the temperature hardly ever exceeds that of an English summer average, the humidity is low, and picnics and tennis parties may be arranged months ahead, as it hardly ever rains. During the remainder of the year, the climate is very hot and damp.

While I was resident in the colony in 1920-1, I interested a leading business man, who was a keen supporter of the Cathedral, in the project of putting a peal of bells in the tower. There are four of Mears' bells, hung dead, there at present, and I obtained an estimate from him for a peal hung for ringing. But for the 2½ months which necessarily elapsed while the letters were in the post, I fully believe Hong Kong would now be the proud possessor of the only ringing peal in the Far East. But in the interim, my friend, who had quite made up his mind to see the thing through, experienced heavy financial losses, in common with many other business people, through the slump which began throughout the Far East in 1920.—Yours truly,

HOWARD FREEBORN.

The Dell, Little Chalfont, Amersham.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.*ARCHDEACONRY OF ELY.

A district meeting was held at Sawston on May 23rd, ringers being present from Somersham, Histon, Cambridge, Barley, Trumpington, Fulbourn, Chatteris, Ickleton, Royston, Castle Camps, Stapleford, and the local band. Ringing took place from 3.30 until 6 o'clock, when the association's form of service was held in the church conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. R. Nattrass. Tea was provided at the White Lion, followed by the business meeting.

Willingham and Barrington were suggested for the place of the next meeting, but Willingham was finally decided upon.

At the suggestion of the secretary, it was decided to visit the three five-bell towers at Balsam, West Wrating, and Weston Colville on Tuesday evening, 26th May.—After the meeting further ringing took place.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

A peal of Stedman Triples rung more than a hundred years ago was that at Shifnal on June 5th, 1819, by St. Martin's Youths.

A handbell record was made at Pudsey on June 5th, 1911, when a peal of 13,440 Bob Major was rung in 7 hours 7 minutes.

The famous peal of 16,608 Oxford Treble Bob Major was rung at Debenham on June 6th, 1892, in 10 hours 32 minutes. This is still the record length in the method. Debenham, in 1880, was the scene of two long lengths of Kent Treble Bob Major, the first 7,296, and the second 10,272.

The Chester Guild rang a record length of 16,800 Kent Treble Bob Major at Mottram on June 8th, 1906, in 9 hours 40 minutes.

June 9th is the anniversary of the peal rung at Christ Church, Philadelphia, in 1850. It was conducted by Henry Haley, of the College Youths, who, with others, including James Hewett, of the Cumberlands, was in America on a handbell ringing tour. The tenor was rung by two men, R. Dodds, a one-legged man, ringing it for 2 hours 15 minutes, and J. Davey finishing off the peal.

Two of Yorkshire's representatives on the Central Council arrived at Chester on Sunday with eighteen other members of the association to look after them.

The busiest man in Chester over the holiday was Mr. E. W. Elwell, the hon. secretary of the Chester Guild, and the Reception Committee, who did not spare himself in his efforts to make the visit of the Council, both officially and individually, a most enjoyable one. With the enthusiasm of youth he combines a charm of manner which won all hearts.

We regret to record the death of the wife of Mr. York Green, of Cambridge, and the sympathy of the Exercise will go out to him in his bereavement.

This peal is produced from Mr. J. W. Parker's three-part courses. First rung at Loughborough Bellfoundry, conducted by H. J. Poole, on May 14th, 1925.

GLOUCESTER & BRISTOL ASSOCIATION.

A very successful meeting of the Swindon Branch was held at Purton on Saturday, May 23rd, there being a good attendance. The early arrivals found there was a set of ropes to go up before a start could be made with ringing, but this little difficulty was soon overcome, and the bells were raised in peal soon after 3 p.m. Tea was kindly provided by the Vicar (the Rev. R. B. Harrison), to whom Mr. E. Bishop moved a hearty vote of thanks for his hospitality, and for the use of the bells. He also thanked the ladies for waiting at table.

One new member was elected, after which a few touches were rung on the handbells.

A short service in church was followed by further ringing. Touches of Kent, Oxford, Cambridge, Plain Bob and, and a few rounds and Doubles for the beginners, were rung. The following towers were represented: Swindon (Christ Church and St. Mark's), Blunsdon, Stratton, Rodbourne Cheney, Woolton Bassett, Faringdon, and the local band.

STANMORE, MIDDLESEX. — On Thursday, April 30th, in 49 minutes, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: George A. Hughes 1, E. Leversuch 2, S. Hoare 3, C. Dyke 4, G. Cheshire 5, F. Edwards (conductor) 6, J. Milner 7, L. Weare 8. First quarter-peal by the ringers of the 2nd and 5th.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

TUESDAY'S MEETING AT CHESTER.

PEAL POINTS TO GO.

The 33rd annual meeting of the Central Council was held in the Refectory at Chester Cathedral on Tuesday, and was attended by 73 members, Canon G. F. Coleridge (President) being in the chair.

The proceedings opened with prayer, offered by the Dean, who then welcomed the Council to the Cathedral.

The minutes of the last meeting, having been published in 'The Ringing World,' were taken as read, confirmed and signed.

Apologies for absence were read from the Revs. C. E. Matthews, A. H. P. Boughey, C. C. Cox, E. W. Carpenter, F. J. O. Helmore, H. Simpson, Tyrwhitt Drake, Maitland Kelly, C. C. Marshall, Major J. H. B. Hesse, Ald. R. B. Chambers, Messrs. W. Wilson, J. T. Rickman, J. Carter, Barton, C. E. Borrett, T. E. Metcalfe, E. H. Lewis, T. H. Taffender, G. Bolland and C. R. Lilley.

At this point the Bishop of Chester visited the meeting, and offered a generous welcome to the Council. He spoke of the ringers' share in the work of the Church in the endeavour to bring all into the fellowship of the Father and His Son Jesus Christ.

The President, in thanking the Bishop and Dean for their welcome and the Precentor for his presence, said this was only the second time in the history of the 37 or 38 meetings of the Council they had been welcomed by a Bishop and Dean. Only at Salisbury, two years ago, had they had a similar welcome.

Arising out of the minutes, Canon Baker asked what had become of the resolution passed last year with regard to urging upon Advisory Committees of the various dioceses the desirability of having a member who was an expert in bells.

The Hon. Secretary said all he had been able to do was to publish a letter in 'The Ringing World,' asking the various hands to get their representatives on the Parochial Church Councils, and so, by getting representatives on the various other bodies, eventually get a member on to the Advisory Committees.

Members spoke of what had been done, or, in some cases, left undone, in their own dioceses, and eventually it was resolved to send a direct letter to the secretary of the Advisory Board in each diocese.

The statement of accounts, as already published, was adopted.

The Hon. Librarian presented his report, which showed a small falling off in the sales of publications.

Arising out of his report, it was agreed to repurchase the copies of 'The Preservation of Bells,' held by Canon Elsee, to sell leaflets of corrigenda to the three sections of the Collection of Peals at 2d. the set, and authorised the librarian to obtain copies of the 'Bell News' for the years 1912 to 1915.

It was pointed out that the stock of some of the publications of the Council were almost exhausted, and the Hon. Secretary proposed that, in view of the increased cost of printing, the remaining copies be sold at an advanced cost of 50 per cent., and this was agreed to.

It was resolved that the 'Council's Rules and Decisions' should be revised, and the revision will be submitted at the next meeting.

The Rev. H. S. T. Richardson reported for the Peal Collection Committee. The work on Treble Bob Major had been completed, and he asked for directions as to what should be done with the material collected. Later, Mr. Richardson reported that the committee had consulted, and Miss Parker had kindly undertaken to type the remainder of the collection, so that it could be placed in the Library with the other typed volumes (hear, hear). The committee did not make any recommendation as to printing a selection of the peals, and it was decided to bring the collection up to date by including peals published since the first sections were compiled.—The report was adopted.

There was no formal report before the Council from the Literature Committee, but the verbal reports of the individual members were accepted.

The Rev. H. L. James reported that the Methods Committee were now in a position to go on, and, in the course of the year, to print a selection of some 70 or 80 of the collection of Plain Major Methods.—The report was accepted.

The report of the Analysis Committee, already printed in our columns, was proposed by the Rev. A. T. Beeston.

At the suggestion of the committee, the Council gave an instruction that in future the names of individual conductors and the number of peals they have rung be omitted from the analysis.

A discussion took place on the question of peal points, and it was eventually decided by a large majority that in future points be omitted from the analysis.

The report was then adopted.

The Towers and Belfries Committee's report was forwarded by Mr. E. H. Lewis. In this it was stated that experiments in the welding of cracks in bells were being made.—The report was adopted.

After the luncheon interval the Rev. A. T. Beeston presented the report of the Records Committee, which incorporated two years' records of new methods rung, and the new progressive lengths.

The Hon. Secretary reported for the Science Museum Exhibit Committee. Matters were, he said, held up because at present the floor and wall space at the Museum was not yet available.—The report was accepted.

A lengthy report upon the revision of nomenclature was presented by Mr. G. B. Burton, and, after discussion, it was decided that the report should be published, so that it might be considered at the next meeting, the committee being thanked for their report, which dealt with a very controversial subject.

This concluded the reports of committees, and, on the motion of the President, all the committees were thanked for their services.

The Hon. Secretary reported that the Cards of Instructions on the upkeep of bells had been printed. It was resolved that a copy should be sent to all Archdeacons in England and Wales, requesting them to bring it to the notice of their respective Rural Deans; and to hon. secretaries of guilds and associations, with the request that they will bring it before their district secretaries, and, by this means, introduce it to all belfries.

Mr. E. W. Elwell proposed the following motion, which was seconded by the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, and carried:—'That, considering the future possibilities of Radio, the attention of the Press and Literature Committee of the Central Council be drawn to the performances of "Bell-chiming" occasionally broadcast, as such performances are liable to create a wrong impression of the true nature of bell ringing, and, further, to request the committee to bring to the notice of the British Broadcasting Company all unsuitable imitations of bell ringing which may be broadcast.'

Alderman Pritchett moved: 'That this Council, as a general rule, disapproves of the augmentation of peals of eight into peals of ten.'—The Hon. Secretary seconded, but there was an overwhelming vote against the resolution.

On the motion of Mr. W. A. Cave, it was resolved that on Page 13 of the Rules and Decisions in the paragraphs headed (a) 'on nine and eleven bells' (b) 'on eight, ten or twelve bells' the words 'in any one method' be omitted. This was decided on, on account of the new developments in ringing peals in spliced methods.

The Council resolved to meet next year at Ipswich.

The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn referred to the Washbrook Memorial Fund. He said they had actually £115 15s. in hand. They wanted £160 or £170, and out of the sum already subscribed £90 9s. had come from members, towers or branches of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. He appealed to societies who had not yet subscribed to acquaint him with what they proposed to do, so that he might report to his Guild at the annual meeting that the money was in hand and the work could proceed.

Mr. Young gave notice that at the next annual meeting he would move 'that the time has now arrived when the so-called scientific or Simpson tuning is in the best interest of the Exercise.'

This concluded the business, and the proceedings closed with votes of thanks to the Bishop and Dean of Chester, to the President for presiding, and to the Chester Guild for their arrangements.

Later some of the members attended Evensong in the Cathedral, and, with their friends, were entertained to tea by the Chester Guild. Afterwards many of them inspected the Cathedral, under the guidance of the Dean.

In the evening a large party assembled at the Grosvenor Hotel, where a social was held. In recognition of his services in conveying such a large number of the visitors on the Eaton Hall railway, Mr. H. W. Wilde was presented with a pair of silver candlesticks.

THE SOCIAL SIDE.

Excellent arrangements for the entertainment of the Council had been made by a committee of the Chester Guild, composed of the Rev. C. A. Clements (Master), Mr. E. W. Elwell (hon. secretary), Rev. A. T. Beeston, and Messrs. H. W. Wilde and J. W. Clarke, who received great assistance from Messrs. W. Seance, R. Sperring and J. Swindley.

Members of the Council began to gather in Chester on Sunday, when quite a number arrived in the city from various parts of the country. As usual, a party of Yorkshiremen—not all of them connected with the Council—made it the occasion of an excursion, and their headquarters, the Stafford Hotel, was the scene of a considerable gathering in the evening. Earlier in the day various towers were visited for Sunday service ringing, and many got as far afield as Wrexham, where a fine peal of ten bells hangs in one of the most noble bell towers in Great Britain.

On Monday ringing at the Cathedral, with an inspection of this edifice, occupied many ringers the better part of the morning. The magnificent pile, upon the restoration of which vast sums have been spent in the last half century, was visited during the day by thousands of people, and the manner in which the crowds were provided for by the Cathedral staff, from the Dean downward, and the manifestations of the work carried on, were proof in itself that the venerable building, which has grown from a Monastic church of the Benedictines, is a living centre of Church life.

Some of the visitors scored a peal at the Church of St. Mary-within-the-Walls, and early in the afternoon a party, numbering about 70, including many ladies, assembled at the Blossoms Hotel prior to an excursion by motor launch on the River Dee to Eccleston and Eaton

Hall. They had the privilege of being shown over the Duke of Westminster's famous mansion and the beautiful gardens, and what interested them not least was the tiny railway, which runs through the grounds, and which was laid down by the late Sir Arthur Heywood. The engines and rolling stock were made at Sir Arthur's workshop at Duffield, and, although on this occasion the haulage was undertaken by a petrol engine, the original steam locomotive was inspected with much interest. There are some miles of track, and over this the visitors were taken in two parties in the miniature carriages, the engine driver being another well-known ringer, Mr. H. W. Wilde, who is responsible for the upkeep of the railway, and whose kindness was much appreciated. Some of the party afterwards visited Eccleston Church to ring, and then made their way back to Chester, some having to 'foot it,' on account of the heavy Bank Holiday traffic on the river.

At the Blossoms Hotel an informal social was held in the evening.

HENRY HOBART, OF BILDESTONE, SUFFOLK.

The following memoir on the career of the old Suffolk ringer, who attained to some fame in his day, was written by the late Mr. Samuel Slater, of Glemsford, and came into the possession of his son, Mr. T. Slater, with many other ringing papers.

A MEMOIR BY THE LATE SAMUEL SLATER.

The subject of this memoir was a distinguished campanologist; he was born at Bildestone on April 22nd, 1800, and began to practise the art of change ringing at a very early age. When only a boy, his father, who was then parochial schoolmaster of Bildestone, and a good six-bell ringer, made a stage for his son to stand on in the belfry so that he might be able to reach the tuft of the rope, and in this way, when only a boy, he rang the second bell in Bildestone steeple to his first 720 of Bob Minor. At the time he weighed only four stones, and the bell seven cwt. He took a great delight in the art of bell ringing, and soon became a proficient, having the gift of a superior ear. After he grew to manhood he used frequently to visit various towns for ringing purposes, and rang in four hours his first long peal on January 14th, 1819, on the Stowmarket Church bells, this being a 6,160 Bob Major. His brother Thomas also rang in the same peal. This was composed and conducted by John Elmer. His second and third peals were Bob Major; one of 6,224, and the other of 6,336 changes on the same bells, conducted by John Elmer and John Naunton, of Ipswich, respectively.

About this time, Mr. Hobart, junr., was appointed parochial schoolmaster of Monk's Eleigh, which post he held for some time. Through negligent habits he was, however, soon dismissed, and he then removed to Hadleigh, and found employment in a stonemason's yard, where he did the lettering of gravestones, etc., being an expert in such work. Here he resided for some time, and upon hearing that the Redenhall (Norfolk) company had rung a peal of 8,000 changes on their own bells of Oxford Treble Bob Major in 1828, he got up a band shortly afterwards in order to try and supersede this Redenhall peal in number of changes. On the Hadleigh Church bells (tenor 28 cwt.), a peal containing about 9,000 changes of Bob Major, the composition of one David Boys, a native of Hadleigh, was attempted, but after ringing about 7,000 changes, and being at work about four hours, one of the band was so much fatigued that they had to give over. The ringing was, as far as it went, conducted by Joseph Lewis, of Bramford. Soon after this, Mr. Hobart returned to his native town, and took a lively interest in ringing matters, and organised a band. In 1841 they scored a 5,040 in seven Minor methods on Bildestone Church bells, the methods being as follows: Bob Minor Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, Double Court, New London Pleasure, Morning Exercise and Cambridge Surprise, Mr. Hobart himself ringing the tenor bell, and also conducting the peal.

The writer recalls his saying that at the time of ringing this peal he could sing every change of each 720 as rung, and on being spoken to after the peal, offered a wager of £5 that he would sit down and sing or 'champ' every change before a competent judge. He had now become a proficient in the art, and was well known as an excellent ringer by several Metropolitan ringers—one then celebrated. I have heard him talk of W. H. Burwash; but in one respect none could equal him in Suffolk, as he could recite touches of various Minor methods with his voice giving to each bell its proper place and time, and the writer has also heard him sing, or as he used to call it, 'champ' touches of Treble Bob Major.

To verify this, I now give an extract from the diary of the late Mr. John Carr, of Waltham Abbey, dated Lavenham, September 14th, 1846: 'Mr. Hobart sang three leads of Treble Bob Major—a very clever man: he also rang two bells behind me in a course of Treble Ten, and thus ended one of the most pleasant evenings that I ever knew.' On September 14th I passed through Bildestone, the town where Mr. Hobart resides, and Mr. Hobart was quite capable of taking down the course ends of a peal while being rung. His next two peals were rung at Hadleigh, both Bob Major: one was the 5,003, composed and conducted by the late William Garrard, senr., of Ipswich. The other was the 6,000 by the late Mr. John Marven, farmer, of Copdock. This was conducted by Mr. John Pettit, of Hadleigh, who was 50 years old that day. Pettit, who was then landlord of the 'Eight Bells' of that town, got the band together to try this peal, promising them one guinea and a good dinner if the attempt was made, and two guineas if the peal was rung. This promise, I have heard, was carried out to the very letter.

Hobart's next peal was Oxford Treble Bob Major, 5,120, at Stowmarket, when he himself was fifty years old. On this occasion he rang the third bell, and conducted the peal. This is recorded as the first peal in this method on those bells. His last peal was John Reeves's 5,600 of Oxford Treble Bob Major, in 1853, when he rang the tenor and conducted the peal. This was on the far-famed bells at Lavenham. This peal, he has informed me, was rung at the third attempt. One was lost in the last 500, and once the ringer of the sixth bell had to give over when more than 5,000 changes had been rung. Lastly, he rang the 4th bell, and conducted four 720's in the year 1867 on the Hitcham Church bells in two hours, the methods being Bob Minor, Oxford Treble Bob, Double Court and New London Pleasure.

After that he did little ringing. He visited Lavenham regularly on the anniversary of their bells, June 21st, and Hadleigh on Coronation Day. In his time he also attended several prize ringing contests, notably those at Ardleigh, Essex, and Polstead, Suffolk, etc., with his Bildestone band, and generally carried off the prize. As Mr. Hobart spent most of his later time in his native town, he was located in a district not suited for peal ringing. This will account for his not ringing a larger number of peals. He generally rang the tenor bell, and although only a spare man, weighing but nine stone and a half, he did it with perfect ease. For a great many years of his later life he followed the occupation of walking postman from Bildestone, through Hitcham, Brettenham to Thorpe Morieux, a distance of fourteen miles walking for each day, and filling up the middle of the day working with the wheelwrights of the village. When over 70 years of age, he informed the writer of the fact that he had never known what a day's illness was, but had worn spectacles 40 years. He died on Wednesday evening, June 14th, 1871, in the 72nd year of his age, after the only (three days') illness of his life. As a last tribute of respect to his memory, muffled peals were rung at Hitcham, Stowmarket, Lavenham and Monk's Eleigh. Mr. Hobart had a brother named Thomas, a ringer, as I have stated above, and they rang together for several years, but in 1836 Thomas removed to London, and joined the London Society of Royal Cumberland Youths.

RINGING AT TRURO CATHEDRAL.

On Sunday, May 17th, the Truro ringers were delighted to receive a visit from Messrs. C. R. and J. E. Lilley, of St. Chad's, Shrewsbury. At the Cathedral, where there is a fine peal of ten (tenor 33 cwt.), 168 and 34 Grandsire Triples were rung in the morning: C. Anderson 1, J. E. Lilley 2, W. Arthur 3, E. S. Sleeman 4, W. H. Southard 5, C. R. Lilley 6, W. Sleeman 7, A. S. Roberts 8, R. Pascoe 9, J. Anderson 10 (9, 8, 10 covering). In the afternoon, before evensong, 504 and 112 Grandsire Triples by eight of the above. The conducting was shared by Messrs. W. H. Southard and C. R. Lilley. In the evening, before service at Kewyn Church, Truro, 336 Grandsire Triples: A. Matthews 1, A. F. Knight 2, H. M. Smeath 3, C. M. Thomas 4, C. R. Lilley 5, E. C. Freund 6, J. E. Lilley 7, J. T. Guiley 8. After service, 168 and other short touches of Grandsire Triples.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

A most enjoyable afternoon and evening was spent at Castle Donington by members of the Loughborough district, numbering about twenty. A substantial tea was kindly given by Major Dalby, who came and expressed his interest in change ringing. The Major was warmly thanked for his kindness, and thanks were also accorded to the Vicar for the use of the bells.

Methods rung ranged from Grandsire and Stedman Doubles to Cambridge Minor.

The next meeting is fixed for Shepsted.

CLAYTON COMPOSITE CATERS.

By JOSEPH W. PARKER.

I venture to bring before the Exercise this composite method for Caters, believing that, if it is given a fair trial, the advanced ringer will prefer it to Stedman. It is on similar lines to the Triple Methods published in diagrammatic form some time ago, but has the advantage that peals may be obtained by ordinary Stedman bobs and singles.

It retains the valuable features of Erin in keeping the heavy bells well together, and at home every 54 changes. In the course, they fall naturally into three different orders, i.e., 978, 897 and 789, giving varied music throughout, and instead of the monotonous repetition of the same slow work, it has two slows and one quick. An examination of the diagram will show that the front work, while presenting very little more difficulty, is much more interesting than Stedman, and it should appeal to those who at present have little to choose from on nine bells. It may be practised on seven bells, but will not give 5,040 changes, and it will not run on 11 bells.

PHANTASMAGORIA OF CONSTRUCTITIS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I did arrive home yestereen to ye conjugal hearth expecting to be awaited by ye Beste of Spouses with slippers atost, and ye patriarchal throne drawn to ye cheering blaze, but, alas! did discover ye goode Dame immersed in ye perusal of a recent publication on 'ye solution of ye science of dreams,' and ye causes thereof. I did timorously inquire ye reason for such patient study, and did but elicit ye information that ye good Dame had, as is her wont, been reading ye recent copies of our own particular 'Who's who' journal, and had become so mystified by all ye mazes of figures and explanatory notes thereon, and that she had perforce come to the conclusion, after perusing her 'Enquire Within Upon Everything,' that her Book of Dreams could afford a solution to the problem. I did at once assure ye goode Dame that she was 'barking up the wrong tree,' as all these screeds were facts, not fancies, and were choice morsels culled from the ablest brains of what we did arrogantly term our Noble Art. 'But,' quoth She, 'if they are all facts and all able brains, how is it that the one doth belie and deny the others, to be in his turn decried? And how can it be that all these brains are the most able of Your Art, if these vaunted brains cannot understand one another's facts?' I did, at once, explain that the brains did exist, as was it not a declared and well-proven fact that Nature abhors a vacuum; and that all these argumentative epistles were necessary to arrive at ye truth, and were all straightforward lines of argument. But ye goode Dame did remind me that dear old Euclid had remarked something about two straight lines continued to infinity could not expect to meet, but that I had the small consolation that even as when rogues fall out honest men get their own, so might it apply that when experts disagree the seekers after truth might gain something of a concrete nature to console them, an they did not object to scramble amid the concrete matter with which the Experts did bombard one another. But as ye date had arrived when ye Gathering of ye Wise Ones did occur, perhaps they would come to a decision, especially as it is to be held in ye Antient and Walled City of Chester, and she did opine that, an they did not agree would be as well to shut the gates, and the 'camp' would be complete, an she held Tyler's office. However, I did remind her that many would not be there to debate or vote, as the case mote be, and that the good old sparring match could be continued till ye Wise Ones did again have their week-end out, and that if ye goode Dame could offer no better solution she had better leave it to ye Council.

Council forsooth! ye Council and ye Exercise will fall back on ye old saw that ye proof of ye pudding will be in ye eating thereof, that ye proof of whose writings are true, and theories sense would be in ye ringing and general acceptance thereof. But to end it all 'twould do great good, an ye experts did hold classes like ye good Mr. Cave was holding to educate ye masses, so that their grey matter would be discriminative enough to pick out the wheat from ye tares, and then of a truth would posterity benefit, even though ye present generation did languish a decade or so, and suffer ye brickbats thrown from one to the other the while ye poor rank and file dismally parade through the line of fire every Friday.

SAMIWELL PEPPERY, BART.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

NORTHERN DIVISION.

At the little Gothic church, in the centre of the beautiful park at Knebworth, the association held its summer meeting on Saturday, May 30th. The new Rector (the Rev. W. V. Mason) heartily welcomed the ringers, and conducted a short service, with an address. He afterwards accompanied them to the Lytton Arms for tea and meeting, over which he presided.—It was agreed that the next meeting should be held at Barkway, owing to illness near the church at Barley.—The Rector was unanimously elected an hon. member, which he very cordially appreciated, inviting us to the Rectory another year to tea. Unfortunately the meeting was not well attended, owing to the Whitsun holiday; however, for quality of ringing and the methods rung, it was considered well worth while.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

The Sonning Deanery Branch held a combined ringing practice at Twyford on Saturday evening, May 16th. About 30 members were present, and visitors from the East Berks Branch and Reading were very welcome, as was also Mr. H. Bungay, who was staying in the district. The following towers of the Sonning Branch were represented: Wokingham, Sandhurst, Wargrave, Hurst, Waltham and Twyford. The following methods were practised: Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob and Double Norwich Major.

We learn with regret of the departure of Mr. Mackman, of St. Laurence's, Reading. He has been of great help in teaching the art to the younger members of the branch. He departs with every good wish for his success in his new sphere.

MEDIÆVAL BELLS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I should like to thank 'Irenæus' for the information, re old bells, published in 'The Ringing World' of March 13th, also Mr. J. R. Jeram in the issue of April 3rd, and others who have contributed to the subject since my report of the Eythorne Bell Dedication on January 9th.

My sole object was to arouse some discussion. The particulars I sent were given me in writing, and I had no reason to think they were others then accurate, but examination of the bells reveals neither founders' name nor date on the two old bells. The shields are as Mr. Jeram states, and in addition to 'Nomen Magdalena Campana,' the words 'Jevet Melodie' appear. The church is dedicated to St. Peter and St. Paul. I am endeavouring to obtain more definite information re date and founders' name, and will write again if successful.

F. ELLIOTT

(Late of Eythorne).

FROM BOSTON, U.S.A.

An enjoyable gathering was held at Old Glossop on Saturday, May 16th, to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Richard Newton, of Boston, U.S.A. (formerly of Manchester), who are now on a visit to this country. Numerous touches were rung on the bells of the Parish Church, Mr. Newton having the pleasure of taking a rope with everyone present. Later a social evening was spent at the Queen's Arms Hotel, at which the ringers were joined by their wives and other friends. Songs and handbell ringing passed the time merrily away, and 'the health of Mr. and Mrs. Newton' was heartily honoured, with good wishes expressed for their safe return.

CHESTER REFLECTIONS.

Another meeting of the Central Council has come and gone, and all who had the privilege of attending at Chester will look back on the proceedings with nothing but the happiest recollections. Apart from the very enjoyable social features which distinguished this year's gathering above many others, the business meeting itself was one of considerable interest. It was not without its humorous interludes, as will be seen by those who peruse the report of the proceedings as it appears in our columns, but this spice of merriment helped to temper the business and relieve it of that dulness which not infrequently has marked the meetings in the past.

Except in the case of the Literature and Press Committee, there was a definite report from each of the numerous committees set up by the Council, and in the case of the Peal Collection Committee and the Methods Committee there was a statement of actual work completed, after a long absence of any apparent progress. We use the word 'apparent' advisedly, because the work of these committees is really stupendous in its detail, and it is only the finished product which the Council and the Exercise see. The great work of the Analysis Committee is obvious to all every year, and we think a considerable number of ringers will fully approve of the Council's action in relieving them of a large amount of work by abolishing peal points for the future. Another of the committees which put in substantial work during the year was that appointed to deal with method nomenclature and the Council, in this knotty problem, took the only reasonable course open to them by deferring discussion until the report has been seen in print. In this connection it might be mentioned that it would be well if all the committees with reports of a controversial nature would publish them beforehand, as failure to do so can only result in postponement of a decision for at least a year.

Only one of the motions down for discussion brought any opposition, and that was with regard to the augmentation of peals of eight to peals of ten. We doubt if Alderman Pritchett, who moved it, was really as serious as he would have us believe, and his proposal was actually laughed out of court. Many members must still be wondering whether he was not gently 'pulling the leg' of the Council. At any rate, the motion added to the merriment of the proceedings, which, throughout, were characterised with the best of good taste and feeling. One other word is necessary, and that is to compliment the Chester Diocesan Guild and its special committee upon the manner in which they made the arrangements, both for the success of the meeting and the enjoyment of their visitors.

WESTERN DISTRICT.

The deferred meeting of the Western District was held at Berkhamsted, in glorious weather, on Saturday last, when about twenty members were present from the towers in the district, and Iyer Heath. A meeting in an adjoining district did not spoil the attendance, although their numbers would have increased by five or six had another date been chosen.

The methods rung were Grandsire Doubles, Bob Minor, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob and Treble Bob Major. Triples sounded the best—if best it can be called, with a 6th cracked from crown to lip. How the inhabitants can put up with that 'row' is beyond the comprehension of the writer.

In the absence of the Rector, through illness, the short service was taken by the Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake (Wigginton), newly appointed to that living (another district's loss, but our gain), who gave a very fine, instructive, pleasing address, from a ringer to ringers.

Tea and meeting followed the service. After the inner man had been attended to, the Rev. Tyrwhitt-Drake was unanimously voted to the chair. One new honorary member (Mr. W. L. M. Benson) was elected. Tring was chosen for the next place of meeting, on Saturday, July 25th.—A very hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector and churchwardens for the use of the bells; the Rev. Tyrwhitt-Drake for his splendid address; the organist for his services; and Mr. F. Norris (who has climbed those belfry steps for 51 years) for the local arrangements.

As no further business required attention, the members again adjourned to the tower, where they were joined by Mr. A. R. MacDonald and Mr. 'Bert' Langdon, the latter of whom added to his experiences by ringing on seven bells and a 'wooden one.'

Will all ringers round this end of Herts, and adjoining counties, please note the Tring date, so that there may be a good meeting?

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

WESTERN DIVISION AND ANNUAL MEETING.

A quarterly meeting of the Western Division was held at Walberton on May 30th, 24 members being present from Arundel, Angmering, Aldrington, Chichester, Heene, Lyminster, Warnham, Shoreham and West Tarring, together with Mr. and Mrs. Bayley, of Fareham. The company were met and welcomed at the church by the Vicar (the Rev. W. G. Hunter). After several touches in various methods had been rung, the company made their way to the tearooms, and were joined by the Vicar, who afterwards presided at the business meeting.—One new member was elected, and it was proposed to hold the next meeting at Warnham in August.

A discussion arose as to the desirability of holding the annual general meetings of the association always at Brighton, and the members present wish it to be known that the majority in the Western Division are in favour of it always being held there, preferably on Whit Monday.

After votes of thanks to the Rev. W. G. Hunter for presiding and granting the use of the bells, to which the Vicar responded, the members again paid a short visit to the belfry, previous to making their way back to Arundel, where some very good practice in Triples and Major ringing brought a very enjoyable half-day's trip to an end.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.

The Whitsun meeting of the Elloe Deaneries Branch was held at Moulton on Saturday, June 6th, ringers being present from Spalding, Pinchbeck, Surfleet, Donington, Bicker, Deeping St. Nicholas, Market Deeping, and the local company. Ringing took place during the afternoon, and service was conducted by the Vicar, who gave an excellent address on 'The brotherhood of man,' who took for his text, Psalm cxxxiii. 1. The organist and choir attended, and their services were much appreciated by the members.

Ten was provided by the ladies of the parish, in the Village Hall, to which about 40 members and friends sat down, including the Rev. C. J. Sturton (Vicar of Orston) and Mrs. Sturton.

At the business meeting, it was decided to hold the next meeting at Long Sutton, in October. Further ringing was indulged in, and included Cambridge and a course of London Surprise.

SUFFOLK GUILD.*DEBENHAM LONG PEAL VETERANS.

A meeting of the Suffolk Guild was held at Debenham on Saturday, June 6th, and was attended by about 30 members, representing the towers of Ipswich, Ufford, Otley, Witnesham, Helmingham, Framsden, Creetingham, Earl Soham, Framlingham, Laxfield, Worlingworth, Cotton, Stoke Ash, Thornham and Wetheringsett, in addition to the local band. Some good touches in the standard methods were rung during the afternoon, and tea was served in the Parish Room. The Vicar of Debenham (the Rev. E. C. Oakley) joined the members at this function, and presided at the short business meeting which followed. In a happy speech, he welcomed everyone, and expressed the pleasure it gave him to meet them all, and to hear the bells being rung so well. He also specially referred to the presence there that day of the four surviving members of the band who rang the long peal of Treble Bob Major on Debenham bells on Whit Monday, 1892, and hoped they would be spared to be able to visit the scene of their splendid performance on several future anniversaries.

The Vicar gave practical proof of his interest in ringing matters by becoming an honorary member of the Guild.—Two performing members were also elected, and the meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the Vicar for presiding; also to the ladies who so kindly assisted at the tea.

Further ringing was then indulged in, and the bells were kept going until 9.30 p.m., the methods rung being Double Norwich, Cambridge, Superlative, Yorkshire and London, also several touches of Stedman Triples.

RAILWAY CENTENARY CELEBRATIONS.

A correspondent writes: The idea suggested by Mr. C. T. Coles of a railwayman's peal, on the occasion of the centenary celebrations, was first suggested by Mr. R. B. Robinson, of Shildon, as far back as 1920, and arrangements are being made to carry this into effect. The band will probably be drawn from ringers now employed on the original line covered by the old Stockton and Darlington Railway (Shildon and Darlington to Stockton). The peal most probably will be rung at Shildon (where some of the original stone railway sleepers may still be seen), which has largely been left out of the official programme, as the procession is to start at Stockton and finish at Darlington (the home of No. 1 and No. 25 Engines). Peals will also be arranged by the Darlington and Stockton ringers, in addition to the all railwaymen's peal (Yarm, the place where one of the promotion meetings was held, only possesses two bells). Mr. R. B. Robinson's address is 54, Albert Street, Shildon, near Darlington.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

There is a scheme afoot to recast the famous peal of ten, which used to hang in the tower of St. Michael's, Coventry, but which were taken down some years ago, into a carillon of 14 bells, and to hang them as a fixed carillon.

We don't know whether it is too late, but we suggest the Central Council might do something here to endeavour to get this scheme reconsidered.

Coventry bells have the reputation of being one of the finest rings of ten in the country, and, we are informed, with a little tuning could be made, to fit into a carillon without going into the melting pot. Moreover, if a restoration scheme is to be carried out, cannot the Towers and Belfries Committee get to work and show the Coventry folks how these ten bells might be hung for ringing with safety to the fabric?

On arrival at Loughborough Foundry to attempt two peals last Saturday week, it was found that one of the bells was minus a stay. This put the 'wind up' some of the band, but the indomitable R. Harry S. said, in his characteristic way, 'I'll ring it.' This he successfully did to both peals, and now thinks he ought to be 'mentioned in despatches,' for this is the first time he has rung two peals in half a day on a bell minus a stay!

The peal of Double Norwich Major rung at St. Luke's, Brouley, on May 28th, and which was Mr. I. Emery's 300th peal, was specially arranged by him so as to allow Mr. Barnett to conduct it, as Mr. Barnett conducted his first peal many years ago—more, in fact, than either of them care to remember.

Mr. James George, of 44, Cuckoo Road, Nechells, Birmingham, writes to thank Mr. Cornelius Charge for his remarks in the 'Ringing World' of May 22nd with reference to the Bob Royal composition. He gives up all claim to the peal.

One hundred and ten years ago to-day, what is believed to be the first peal of Grandsire Maximus rung out of London, was brought round at St. Martin's, Birmingham.

Forty years ago to-morrow, the first peal was rung on the bells at Winchester Cathedral. This was Grandsire Triples, and was conducted by F. E. Dawe.

On June 13th, 1743, 6,720 Bob Major was rung at Harrietsham, Kent, in 4 hours 31 minutes.

The first peal of Stedman Caters on handbells was rung on June 15th, 1851.

OXFORD UNIVERSITY SOCIETY.

CANON NOLLOTH'S LECTURE AT MAGDALEN COLLEGE.

At Magdalen College, on Friday, June 5th, Canon H. E. Nolloth, D.D., gave a very interesting lecture to the society on 'Bells: their ancient history and modern developments.'

The lecturer gave a brief but lucid survey of the history of bells from the earliest times, illustrating his remarks with quotations from early and contemporary writers.

He then proceeded to lay great emphasis on the remarkable improvement which had taken place in bell hanging and tuning in the last thirty years or so, and he gave an interesting account of the pioneer work of Canon Simpson and Messrs. Taylor, of Loughborough, in their endeavours to tune bells so that their harmonies should be perfect. One of their aims was to improve the hum note and to eliminate the fourth—the curse of large bells.

The tenor at Beverley Minster was cited by the lecturer as being a bell with perfect harmonies.

Canon Nolloth next spoke of the important and responsible work of ringing the bells for service. He quoted the words of a lifelong and enthusiastic ringer, who said that he always considered that the service had begun when the bells began to ring, and that the ringing in which he took part was always preceded by prayer.

In concluding his lecture, Canon Nolloth stated that a special ringers' seat, in some suitable part of the church away from draughts, ought to be specially reserved in every church where there was a band of ringers.

At the conclusion of the lecture, the President of the Society (the Right Rev. Bishop Shaw, D.D.) gave Canon Nolloth a very hearty vote of thanks for his stimulating and instructive lecture, and assured him that all present were very grateful to him for placing his expert knowledge at the disposal of the society.

PRESENTATIONS AT NELSON.

On Wednesday, May 27th, Messrs. R. Hartley and H. Entwistle, of the Holy Trinity Church, Burnley, were each presented with a silver cigarette case by the ringers of St. Philip's Church, Nelson, Lancs.

Since the installation of the bells some eighteen months ago, they have attended practically every practice night to give instruction to the local band. This service has called for a large amount of patience and self-sacrifice, which has been highly appreciated.

After the presentation by the Vicar (the Rev. G. F. Eyles), a motion that they be made honorary members of the belfry, was carried unanimously.

The Dean of Chester opened the meeting with prayer, and in the course of his welcome to the members, he said he hoped we should recover presently the notion in England that the Cathedrals did not belong to a group of old gentlemen, but really were the Mother Church of each Diocese, the Bishop being the head of it, the Dean and Chapter trustees, and the Cathedral belonging to everybody. That Cathedral was the one great building in the county that really belonged to everybody. We were at last beginning to feel that it did. He was glad to see that the great Cathedral of Canterbury, which ought to lead them all, had now posted on its doors a notice—more magnificently printed than they in Chester put on their doors five years ago (applause). He was told in Canterbury four years ago it was quite impossible to throw the Cathedral open: it was all right for a little cottage, but a great place like Canterbury would never be able to throw itself open to the public. He was only hoping the great Metropolitan Cathedral of the North would not stick, and he so stodgy that it would not come in at the tail end. After the Dis-solution, Chester Cathedral fell into evil plight as far as money was concerned. The Dean and Canons were only able to carry on by selling their big bell. That big bell now was hanging, he thought, in the tower of Conway Church. It was sold from Chester Cathedral. It was a sign of better days that two years ago in Chester they made their tower safe and sound, and now they could once more ring their bells. They welcomed the Council very much, and hoped they would have a very happy Council meeting.

THE BISHOP'S WELCOME.

The Lord Bishop, who arrived a few minutes later, said he was only discharging what seemed to him a very natural debt to discharge when he came there, and that was to thank them for all they were doing for the church. Wherever one went now, one was conscious of the enormous improvement in that part of church work which they represented. The bells were more beautifully rung than ever, there was more reverence among the bell ringers, and all felt they were among the true workers of the church. There used to be bell ringers who, some of them, kept out of the church. He felt now they were heart and soul working together for the glory of God and the welfare of the holy church. He bid them a most hearty welcome to Chester. He thought they could not have been at the Cathedral on Monday without feeling pretty clearly what it was they were out for. They really were out to try and make people feel the Cathedral was really and truly the central house of God in the Diocese, to which all were welcome, and in which they hoped all would find themselves at home. For those present on Monday it must have been a rather reassuring experience. They had the place full from morning to evening, and it was a delightful crowd to be among. One seemed to find them almost pathetically grateful for the sort of freedom which they enjoyed in God's house. He was specially glad, because he felt that in all this they had the true sympathy of those whom the Council represented. They heard small bells and great bells, but this art of change ringing was theirs alone. He thought it must give them extra pleasure to cultivate what all along had been a traditional English art.

The President (Canon G. F. Coleridge) said he needly hardly assure them how deeply the members of the Council, with some of whom he had been associated 37 years, appreciated the kindness of the Lord Bishop in welcoming them. The Council had met 37 or 38 times, and this was only the second occasion on which they had been welcomed by the Bishop and Dean of a Diocese. Up till two years ago no notice was taken of the Central Council meeting, except by Sir Arthur Heywood on the occasion of the triennial London meeting. At Salisbury, two years ago, when they met in the Chapter House, the Bishop, Dean and Archdeacon welcomed them. That day in Chester they had the Bishop, Dean and Precentor (applause).

The Bishop and Dean then left the meeting.

REPRESENTATION ON ADVISORY COMMITTEES.

Canon Baker, referring to the minutes of the last meeting, asked what happened with reference to the resolution urging the appointment on each Diocesan Advisory Committee of a person with a knowledge of bells and bell ringing. Was the resolution sent to the Secretaries of the Diocesan Conferences?

The Hon. Secretary (Mr. E. A. Young) said he thought the best way of meeting the resolution was to put a letter in the 'Ringing World,' which he did early in the year, pointing out the desirability of ringers getting representatives elected on the Church Parochial Councils, and thus eventually, through the various stages, get a representative on the Advisory Committee. That was all he felt he could do.

Canon H. J. Elsee said what was wanted was to reach the Diocesan authorities in each case. The Parochial Councils had very little to do with Advisory Committees, except when they applied for a faculty themselves. He was not quite sure a request from a Diocesan or County Association would receive the same consideration as one from that Central body. He thought some application of that sort was to be made in the name of the Council to the Advisory Committee in each diocese.

The Rev. C. D. P. Davies said in the Winchester Guild the Rev. C. E. Matthews was on the Advisory Committee for the diocese.

Mr. C. T. Coles said he believed no such Advisory Committee existed in the London diocese.

Mr. F. Wilford said in the Peterborough Diocese they had not known which was the right way to go to work. They had made several inquiries, but they had not known what procedure to adopt. They were anxious it should be done, and that they should have a representative.

Mr. E. W. Elwell said the Chester Guild had taken the matter up with the authorities, but it was rather hanging fire at present.

Canon Baker pointed out that the Advisory body consisted of experts appointed by the Chancellor of the Diocese to advise on applications for faculties, and what they (the Council) wanted was that they should have a representative who could represent the point of view of the ringers, and who knew something about bells. In the case of his own diocese, the committee had come to some extraordinary conclusions. If a letter was sent to the Secretary of the Diocesan Conference he would pass it on to the Advisory Committee.

The Rev. H. Drake said that in the diocese of St. Edmundsbury their difficulty was, that, although they had made application and had the senior Archdeacon supporting them, they had not been able to get a member on the Advisory Committee. He thought if they could get the support of the Central Council it would help them greatly. He thought there would be no difficulty in each association secretary getting the information as to the Advisory Committee, and sending on a letter from the Council to the right quarter.

The hon. secretary undertook to send out a letter at the earliest opportunity.

The Hon. Secretary and Treasurer presented the balance sheet for the year, as already printed. It was adopted, on the motion of the Rev. H. Law James, seconded by Mr. J. Griffin, members of the Standing Committee, who had carried out the audit.

The Hon. Secretary said no associations had dropped out, but he was glad to say Sussex had rejoined them, and they had also got as a new association, the Swansea and Brecon Guild (hear, hear).

THE COUNCIL'S PUBLICATIONS.

The Hon. Librarian's statement of accounts showed receipts amounting to £8 4s. 3d. from the sale of publications, and expenditure of £10 9s. 8½d., leaving an adverse balance of £2 5s. 5½d.

In his report, the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn said: "The sale of publications has not been quite so good as it was in the previous year, the number sold being 250, as against 265. The sum realised by the sales, £8 4s. 3d., of which £2 6s. 10d. came in from the "on sale or return" account as against 9s. only in the previous year. This account was much helped by one gentleman who sent an order for one pound's worth of books to be disposed of in one way or another: an example that might be followed with advantage. One return came to hand after the account had been made up, and the amount 3s. 4d. will be carried forward. It cost the Council £2 5s. 8d. to effect these sales. The popular work again was the "Collection of Minor Methods," which promises well for the sale of Major Methods when published. Having declared that "On the Preservation of Bells" was out of print, I was, in November last, offered at cost price a matter of 30 copies by Canon Elsee. I bought 24 copies as a speculation for the Council, and reinstated the book in the advertisement notice, and have since sold 13 copies. If the Council wishes I will buy up the remainder. It would be well to consider the bringing up to date the book, "Rules and Decisions of the Council," as the last entry therein is dated 1903. The Corrigenda of the three books, "Collection of Peals," is now completed, the last being only recently finished. This means that the peals in these books are now proved. The thanks of the Council are due to the following: Revs. H. L. James, H. S. T. Richardson, E. S. Powell, and Messrs. J. A. Trollope and H. W. Wilde. The results of their work have appeared from time to time in the "Ringing World," and are now printed in leaflet form. There should be a ruling of the Council as to the disposal of these. It has been represented to me that whereas the Council possesses a complete Press record from 1871 to the present day, it has not those numbers of "Bell News" when that paper and the "Ringing World" were running together. I should like to know whether the Council wishes me to try and obtain these numbers, namely, 1912-1915, inclusive."

The Council resolved that the Librarian should repurchase the copies of "On the Preservation of Bells," now in the hands of Canon Elsee.

The Standing Committee having recommended that the Corrigenda to the Collection of Peals should be sold at 2d. for the set of three leaflets, this was agreed to; it being pointed out that anyone sending for a new set of the books would receive the Corrigenda free of charge.

The Librarian was authorised to obtain and have bound the issues of "The Bell News" for the years 1912 to 1915.

The Hon. Secretary pointed out that some of the publications of the Council were either out of print, or nearly so. As treasurer, he noticed that their balance did not progress much, and that they were getting a little loss on their sales. On the other hand, when they wanted to reprint they would find that the cost of printing had considerably increased, and he thought the Council should consider the advisability of increasing the charge of the present stock by, say, 50 per cent. It would be something towards meeting the extra cost when they had to reprint.

Mr. P. J. Johnson said they should approach the matter carefully. One got the impression that it was difficult to maintain the circulation of the Council's publications, and while they might rashly decide to increase the charge for the publications, they might find that it would result in the circulation falling off. He felt that all the while they could carry on without increasing the cost to the members of the Exercise it would be advisable to do so. It ought not to be the special function of the Council to make a profit on these things.

The Hon. Secretary's suggestion was carried by a large majority.

It was resolved, on the recommendation of the Standing Committee, that the Council's "Rules and Decisions" be brought up to date, and submitted for approval by the Council at the next meeting, the task being entrusted to the Literature and Press Committee, with the hon. secretary, it being understood that the Methods Committee would, in the meantime, revise their portion of the matter.

THE HON. SECRETARY'S MOTION.

By the accidental omission of a few words from the notice for next year's meeting, given by the hon. secretary, the motion, as reported last week, conveys the wrong sense of what was intended. Mr. Young's notice was in the following terms: "That the time has now arrived when the Council should consider whether the so-called scientific or Simpson tuning is in the best interest of the Exercise."

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

ANNUAL MEETING AT CHELMSFORD.

The 46th annual meeting of the Essex Association was held at Chelmsford on Whit Monday, when there was a large gathering of members from all parts of the county, and evidence was afforded of the flourishing condition of the association. Service was held at the Cathedral in the morning, Canon Lake, Sub-Dean, officiating. The ringers' service was used, and the lesson was read by the Master of the Association, Mr. C. H. Howard, Braintree. The address was given by the Rev. H. Jordan, Vicar of Finchlingfield, from the text, "Partakers of the heavenly calling." The preacher dwelt on the vocational aspect of bell ringing as part of church worship, and said if that view were kept in mind by the ringers it would increase the interest in their honourable calling. It was of the highest importance that fact should be recognised, because it was of the essence of Christian work. Ringing was also skilled work, and the ringers were craftsmen on the human side. A good deal of technical skill was needed to properly ring bells. Upon an ancient bell, dated 1781, in Finchlingfield Church, there was an inscription, "Music is medicine for the mind." The ringing of bells for church service had a stimulating and helpful effect, because the bells conveyed a message, and if from any cause the bells were silent, there was a feeling of depression, and it was felt that something was wanting.

The annual meeting followed at the Cathedral Hall, where Mr. C. H. Howard presided, supported by Canon Lake, the Rev. H. T. W. Eyre, the Rev. H. Jordan, and Mr. E. J. Pilstow, hon. secretary.

THE MASTER'S REPORT.

The Master presented his report, which stated that the membership was 1,031, against 1,037, a slight reduction. Ninety had dropped out by deaths and lapses, and 84 had joined. The names of all in arrears of contribution had been struck out. Numerous district meetings had been held, and the attendances showed an increase, with an average of about 40. They had lost by death Mr. C. Wendle, an honorary member; Mr. C. Bearman, aged 85 years, who was present at the formation of the Association at Whittle in 1879; Mr. W. J. Sadler, a regular service ringer at Braintree for many years; and Mr. E. Wightman, a ringer and composer of repute, and at one time an officer of the Association. Fifty-one peals had been rung during the year. The majority of the methods rung were of a high standard. The small number of peals in the simpler methods rather indicated that there was little inclination on the part of the less advanced members to aspire to peal ringing. An occasional peal attempt gave an opportunity to improve the quality of the striking. It would be well if more embraced those means. It was pleasing to note that the conductors of higher methods readily responded to any invitation to assist younger members to ring their first peal. At Great Baddow the peal of eight had been recast, and the bells hung in an iron frame. The reputation of this tower, as containing the most unmusical peal in the county, was thus removed. The bells for their "go" and sweetness of tone compared very favourably with any for their weight in the diocese. The work at Rayleigh had been brought to a very successful completion. The 5th and 6th, two Pre-Reformation bells, were retained. The 6th, which was rather poor in tone, was to be hung in the tower arch as a specimen of mediæval casting, and a new one had been added in its place; the old 5th was to be refound, and the other bells recast and tuned to it, and all hung in a new iron frame. The dedication was fixed for June 21st. The six bells at Wethersfield have been refound and rehung in a new timber frame, with ball bearings. The tone of the bells was very much improved. The ring of four at Little Baddow was to be rehung. It was hoped that two trebles would be added to make a ring of six, but this project had been abandoned. Financially, the Association was in a very sound position. The total income was £61 9s. 6d., and the expenditure £42 11s. 1d., which enabled £20 to be placed to reserve, carrying forward £28 1s. 4d. The reserve fund now stood at £102 7s. 7d.

MASTER AND SECRETARY RE-ELECTED.

The report was adopted, and Mr. Howard was re-elected with enthusiasm.—The Master said he was obliged to the members for this renewal of confidence, and it would be a pleasure to carry on the work. The Association was getting to a very large way in the county, and the services of the Association were sought wherever there was a possible restoration of bells. The restorations which had been carried out during the past two years would not have been done in such an efficient way but for the Association, which offered advice and assistance. Only those who knew Great Baddow bells in the old days could appreciate what had been accomplished in the restoration (hear, hear). The Master added that that was his 40th year as a member of the Association. He was elected in 1885, when Mr. Cockey was secretary, and he had attended every annual meeting save one since (hear, hear). He hoped to attend many more (applause).

The Master proposed the re-election of Mr. Pilstow, Saffron Walden, as hon. secretary, and said he had proved a very able successor to the Rev. H. T. W. Eyre.—The proposition was carried unanimously.

ly, and Mr. Pitslow, returning thanks, said it would be his pleasure to carry on the duties of the office. The general committee was elected as follows: Rev. H. T. W. Eyre, Messrs. W. Lincoln, T. Faulkner, F. Dench, the Master, secretary, district masters, secretaries and auditors. Peal committee: Messrs. F. Pitslow, T. Faulkner, G. R. Pye, W. Keeble; auditors, Messrs. G. W. Faulkner and W. H. Theobald. Mr. G. A. Black retired from the latter office, and the Master, in proposing a vote of thanks, stated he had rendered useful service to the association for 13 or 14 years. The Rev. O. Gosney, North Weald, was elected an hon. member, and Mr. J. Walden, All Saints', Maldon, was elected ringing member.

The Master reported that the Washbrook Memorial appeal had been announced in the 'Ringing World,' and the association had been asked to subscribe. Mr. Washbrook was a great ringer in his day, and most of the Ringing Associations and Guilds had associated themselves with his memorial. The general committee had considered this, and recommended that it would be desirous to make a grant from the funds of the association.—Mr. W. Keeble said he had rung with the late Mr. Washbrook, and regarded him as the greatest ringer that ever lived.—Mr. Keeble proposed three guineas be voted from the funds of the association.—Mr. F. Dench seconded this, and the Master, in supporting, said he agreed with what had been said about the late Mr. Washbrook.—The proposition was carried unanimously.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF GOOD SERVICE.

The meeting considered the granting of life memberships to members of advanced age who had been subscribing 20 years.—On a vote there were 16 in favour and 18 against a resolution to confer honorary membership on all men over 65 with 20 years' continuous subscription.—It was agreed nem. con. that the association should make life members of those who had rendered good service.—It was decided to invest a further £50 from reserve in War Stock, the interest to form a fund to aid bell restorations.

The Master read a letter from the Rev. Canon Papillon, a former Master of the Association, who is over 80 years of age, congratulating the association on its flourishing condition, and wishing the members a successful meeting.

The Rev. H. T. W. Eyre proposed thanks to Canon Lake for the use of the Cathedral, and to the Rev. H. Jordan for his eloquent and helpful address.

Canon Lake, in reply, said there had been formed a Central Advisory Committee in the Diocese of Chelmsford, and any proposed alterations, either to churches or bells, had to come before that committee, which had to see that nothing injurious either to churches or bells was done. He (Canon Lake) suggested two years ago that the Master of the Essex Association should be on that Diocesan Committee, to give the members the expert knowledge he had upon matters of bells. Mr. Howard was elected, and he had proved the greatest help and influence to the committee. The restorations of the Baddow and Rayleigh bells had been greatly helped by the expert knowledge of Mr. Howard, the Essex Master (hear, hear).

The Rev. H. Jordan also replied to the vote, and the members adjourned for luncheon, the Master presiding.

The members then made up hands to ring in the various towers in the neighbourhood, where permission had been granted to ring. A large number visited Great Baddow to try and hear the recast ring of eight, and were highly pleased with the tone and 'go' of the bells. Loud praises were expressed of the efficient manner in which Messrs. Taylor and Co. had carried out their work. Excellent touches of London, Cambridge and Superlative Surprise, Double Norwich, Stedman and Grandfire Triples were brought round during the day.

GREAT BADDOW.—On June 7th, for evensong, a quarter-peal of Grandfire Triples (1,260 changes): F. Payne 1, W. Rice 2, H. Dawson 3, H. Bush 4, H. Allen 5, A. Richell 6, George Green (conductor) 7, Dr. Spencer Phillips 8. This quarter-peal was rung on the 12th anniversary of Dr. Spencer Phillips' wedding.

The Rev. R. C. Thursfield moved a very hearty vote of thanks to the clergy of Northampton for so kindly placing the various peals of bells at the disposal of the ringers during the day, and to the Vicar of St. Giles' for conducting the service, and giving the address.

The Rev. A. M. Johnson (St. Edmund's), in responding to the vote, said how pleased the clergy were to welcome the members of the Guild to Northampton, and spoke of the excellent services rendered to the church by his own ringers, who were always ready to support him in every way.

Later, the Vicar of St. Giles' (the Rev. C. J. Watkins) unveiled a peal tablet in St. Giles' belfry, in connection with a peal of Stedman Caters rung as a welcome to him on coming to Northampton.

During the day, touches were rung in most of the standard methods by mixed companies, and some very good ringing was enjoyed by the large number present.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild was held at Northampton on Whit Monday, and despite the many other attractions in the district, there was a large number of ringers present during the day. The Guild form of service was used at St. Giles' Church, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. C. J. Watkins), who preached a very helpful and encouraging sermon. Mr. F. Willford (Master of the Guild) read the lessons.

Lunch was taken at Valentine's Cafe, and was followed by the annual business meeting. Mr. F. Willford (Master) presided, and amongst those present were the Rev. J. P. Freud (President, Northampton Branch), the Rev. J. O. Hichens (President, Guildborough Branch), the Rev. E. C. Thursfield (President, Kettering Branch), the Rev. E. C. Channer (Northampton), the Rev. C. H. L. Hopper (Weekley), the Rev. A. M. Johnson (Northampton), the Rev. J. White (Pitsford), Messrs. W. T. Wilson (treasurer), D. J. Nichols (secretary), R. G. Black (Kettering), T. Tebbutt (Northampton), F. Barber (Wellingborough) and W. Bott (Guildborough), branch secretaries, C. Chown (Sheffield), A. H. Ward and J. Brainer (Derby), W. J. Sharp (Towcester), J. J. Jutson (Peterborough), etc.

The Chairman referred sympathetically to the illness of the Very Rev. A. H. Page (Dean of Peterborough, and President of the Guild), who was taken ill during a service at the Cathedral on the previous day.—He moved that a letter of sympathy be sent, and this was carried.

Apologies for absence were received from the Dean of Peterborough (President), the Mayor of Northampton, Archdeacon Greaves (Finedon), the Rev. C. Grady (Garton Mauditt), the Rev. E. J. Atkins (Isham), the Rev. C. J. Watkins (Northampton), the Rev. L. S. Clark (Poolebrooke), Mr. Owen Parker (Higham Ferrers), and Mr. S. F. Millward (Northampton).

The secretary's report and statement of accounts were unanimously adopted, and the secretary was heartily thanked for his services.

A SUCCESSFUL FIRST YEAR.

The secretary's report (the first under the auspices of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild) stated that 63 peals were rung during the year in a variety of methods, which shows that a steady improvement is being made in regard to methods rung, the most notable achievement being the peal of Bristol Surprise Major at Irthlingborough. Thirteen ringers rang their first peal, 39 rang their first peal in a new method, ten their first on eight, and four on ten bells. Twenty-one ringers conducted peals, three of whom called their first peal. Messrs. T. Tebbutt and M. Hobbs both rang their 100th peal, as a result of hard and continuous work for several years, particularly among the five and six-bell ringers. That the incentive of peal ringing is an inducement for improved striking is a well-known fact, and members should see that the standard in peal ringing is also maintained in the provision of good and regular ringing for Sunday Services. There are 81 towers in union with the Guild, with a total membership of 592, being 65 honorary and 527 ringing members. All the branches are in a satisfactory financial position, although some incurred a slight loss on the year's work owing to extra expenditure which will not occur again. The total receipts amounted to £34 19s. 9d., and the expenditure to £5 9s. 6d., but that did not include the cost of printing the annual reports. A sum of £11 19s. 9d. was added to the Belfry Repairs Fund, after making a grant of three guineas to Yelverton, the balance in hand being £44 19s. 6d. In reviewing the work of the Guild during its first year, the most remarkable thing is the manner in which the branches have settled down to 'local government,' which is due to the very excellent and untiring efforts of all the branch officers. The worthy Master had been a source of inspiration of the whole Guild. He had attended more than thirty meetings during the year, and done much to help in making the Guild a real and living body of active church workers.

The officers were re-elected en bloc for the ensuing year, as follows: President, the Very Rev. the Dean of Peterborough; Master, Mr. F. Willford Northampton; treasurer, Mr. W. T. Wilson, Isham; secretary, Mr. D. J. Nichols, Kettering; auditor, Mr. S. F. Millward, Northampton.

BELFRY REPAIRS FUND.

On the motion of the Master, seconded by Mr. F. Hopper, it was unanimously decided to grant 10 guineas to St. Sepulchre's, Northampton, in connection with the rehanging of the peal of eight bells in that tower.

A proposition to grant 5 guineas to St. John's, Peterborough, for work in connection with the bells, was deferred.

On the recommendation of the committee, it was decided to hold the next annual meeting of the Guild at Northampton.

Mr. W. Rogers informed the meeting that he was making very satisfactory progress in an effort to add two new treble bells to the peal of 10 at St. Giles' Church, and appealed to all ringers to give the scheme for providing a peal of 12 in Northampton their hearty support, when called on to do so.

WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

PORTSMOUTH DISTRICT AT NETLEY.

A well-attended meeting was held last Saturday at Netley, the glorious weather adding to the enjoyment of the gathering. Nearly 30 members and visitors were present from Bishop's Waltham, Curdridge, Havant, North Stoneham, Netley, Portsmouth (St. Thomas' and St. Mary's), Ringwood, Southampton and Swanmore, also the Master (Mr. G. Williams) and general secretary (Mr. G. Pullinger). A short but enjoyable service was held, at which the Vicar (the Rev. W. E. Henty-Summers) officiated, the Guild's form of service being used. An excellent tea was provided at the Alexandra Cafe, the company being joined by the Vicar of Netley, who also presided at the business meeting. Several full members and probationers from Havant were elected, which was most gratifying. It was with regret that the district accepted the resignation of Mr. W. Tate, as chairman of the district, and a member of the Central Committee, to which the Master made reference. Mr. C. J. Fray (Curdridge) kindly consented to fill the vacancy on the Central Committee, and Mr. R. J. Stone (Portsmouth) was elected chairman of the district.

It was unanimously decided to hold the next meeting at Alverstoke on August 22nd next, due notice of which will appear in the 'Ringing World.'

A vote of thanks, on the proposition of Mr. Stone, was accorded the Vicar for the use of the bells, the organist, and all those who had helped to make the meeting such a success.—In reply, the Vicar said his only regret was that the Guild had not visited Netley for six years until that day, and he hoped their visits would be more frequent in the future. After the meeting, the members returned to the tower until 8.30 p.m. During the afternoon and evening the ringing included rounds for the beginners and all the standard methods, and Superlative, Cambridge and London Surprise Major.

WORCESTERSHIRE RINGER'S WEDDING.

PRESENTATION TO SOUTHERN DISTRICT MASTER.

Two Worcestershire ringing families were united by the marriage on Thursday week of Mr. Joseph D. Johnson, eldest son of Mr. F. and Mrs. Johnson, of Hinton-on-the-Green, and Miss Ethel G. Hemming, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hemming, of Hampton, near Evesham. The bridegroom is himself one of the most prominent ringers in the Worcestershire Association, and became quite famous as a boy by taking part in handbell peals with his father and sister. Since then he has conducted some noteworthy performances for the Worcestershire Association, and is now Ringing Master of the Southern Branch. The bride's father has been hon. secretary and treasurer of the Southern Branch of the Association since its formation in 1911, while he is also chairman of the Parish Council, and a school manager.

The wedding took place at St. Andrew's Church, Hampton, and the service was choral. The Rev. D. FitzMaurice officiated, assisted by the Rector of Hinton (the Rev. V. C. Blythe), and the Rev. J. S. Stallard (Vicar of Hallow), the last named giving the address. The bride was attired in ivory silk marocain, with an overdress of silk lace, and she carried a bouquet of arum lilies and carnations. There were four bridesmaids, Misses W. and Joan Hemming (sisters of the bride), and Misses R. and Rosalie Johnson (sisters of the bridegroom). They wore dresses of mauve silk marocain and silk lace, and carried bouquets of mauve and pink sweet peas. Mr. F. Johnson (brother of the bridegroom) acted as best man.

After the service a reception was held at the Parish Room, upwards of 70 relations and friends being present. The health of the bride and bridegroom was proposed by the Rev. J. S. Stallard, supported by Mr. FitzMaurice and Mr. Blythe, and was heartily drunk. The bridegroom briefly replied. A presentation followed which had been subscribed for by bands of ringers from the following towers in the Southern Branch of the association: Ashchurch, Badsey, Braden's Norton, Bretforton, Cropthorne, Dumbleton, Eckington, Elmdy Castle, Evesham, Fladbury, Hampton, Hinton, Little Comberton, Norton, Overbury, Pershore, Stanton and Toddington, and also Mr. J. R. Newman (secretary of the association). A committee was appointed, comprising Messrs. C. A. Binyon (Badsey), H. Middleton (Norton) and J. Hall (Bretforton) to take the matter in hand. These were present at the reception to make the presentation. An oak antique bureau had been chosen, and in presenting this Mr. Binyon said that Mr. Johnson, having the honour of being Ringing Master of the branch, was well known to all ringers in the district, and the very ready response to the appeal showed how very much he was respected among them.—Mr. Johnson, in acknowledging the gift, said he hoped to take the first opportunity of thanking the members of the branch personally. The presents, which numbered upwards of sixty, were most useful. The happy couple left later for Weymouth, en route for Jersey, where the honeymoon is being spent. Needless to say the bells rang out merrily during the afternoon and evening.

NEW TREBLE AT BRIGHTWALTON.

The new treble bell at Brightwalton, Berks, increasing the ring to a peal of six, was dedicated at a special service on Saturday last by Dr. Wickham Legg, Archdeacon of Berks. After the formal dedication, the local band rang a short touch of Bob Doubles, and the Archdeacon gave an address.

A large company then sat down to tea in the schoolroom, their wants being attended to by the ringers' mothers and wives. Afterwards, the bells were kept going till 8.30, in Grandsire, Stedman and Bob Doubles, Bob Minor and Treble Bob Minor. The following towers in the Newbury branch were represented: Beadon, Bucklebury, East Ilsley, Compton, Newbury, Thatcham and Yattendon, also Englefield in the Bradfield branch, and Milton in the North Berks branch. The cost of the new bell is £63, and it was dedicated free of debt.

BRISTOL UNITED RINGING GUILDS.

To the Editor.

NEW PEAL AT BURBAGE. FIVE BELLS INCREASED TO EIGHT.

The dedication of the new peal of eight bells at St. Catherine's Church, Burbage, Leicestershire, took place on Saturday, May 23rd, the ceremony being performed by the Archdeacon of Loughborough. Five bells originally hung in the tower, and these have been recast and three new ones added, making a splendid octave (tenor 14½ cwt. in F sharp). The inscriptions on the new bells are:—

Treble bell: 1 ring to the Glory of God, and in loving memory of Emily Robinson, who departed this life 25th May, 1910, given by Edwin Norman Robinson, Samuel Robinson and Catherine Mabel Robinson, 1925.

7th bell: To the Glory of God, in memory of the men who worshipped in this church, who fell in the Great War, 1914—1918, 1925.

Tenor bell: 1 ring to the Glory of God, and in loving memory of Keturah Robinson, who departed this life 20th August, 1924, given by Edwin Robinson, 1925.

The original inscriptions have been reproduced on the other bells. After the dedication, a few rounds were rung while the Archdeacon and officiating clergy and churchwardens were returning to their seats. The first touch consisted of 280 Grandsire Triples by J. S. Hutchby 1, G. Pudley 2, E. Morris (conductor) 3, E. Rivett 4, W. Perrins 5, J. F. Clarke, junr., 6, H. Broughton 7, J. Oldham 8. Immediately afterwards, all visiting ringers, numbering about 60, and also 600 subscribers to the cost of the bells, were entertained to tea by the Rector (the Rev. R. D. H. Pughe) and Mrs. Pughe. Tea over, the bells were soon pealing forth to the tune of Cambridge, Superlative, etc., everyone being quite pleased with the tone and 'go' of the bells, which quite uphold the high reputation of Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough.

SUFFOLK GUILD.

A very enjoyable meeting of the Sudbury District was held at the Park, Assington, on Saturday, May 30th. Members attended from Ardleigh (Essex), Cornard Lavenham, Long Melford, and the local band. The bells of St. Edmund's Church were kept going during the afternoon and evening to touches of Plain Bob, Double Court, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Minor.

This gathering proved a most successful practice meeting, some excellent help being given to some of the local men, one member from Ardleigh ringing his first 720 of Plain Bob, another from the same place, and one from Long Melford ringing their first touch (360) of Double Court.

An encouraging feature was the securing of four of the local men, also one ringer from Bures as Guild members.

After partaking of light refreshments at the Shoulder of Mutton Inn, the tower was again visited, and various touches rung. The ringers wish to thank the Rev. H. F. Banham for the use of the bells; also Messrs. D. Elliott and the local men for the hearty welcome they extended.

COVENTRY'S FAMOUS BELLS.

Are the famous bells of St. Michael's, Coventry, now the Cathedral Church of the new diocese, to be lost for ever to ringing? The question is prompted by the announcement that it is proposed to recast them into a carillon of 14 bells, as we briefly intimated in our last issue, and unless something is done quickly one of the finest rings of ten bells in the world will disappear, to give place to a lighter set of bells of extremely limited capacity for tune playing. It is a difficult matter for outsiders to intrude themselves into the domestic affairs of any church, but here, we think, the Central Council might with justification endeavour to induce the Coventry people to hold their hand until further investigation has been made.

The position at Coventry is a unique one. Towards the end of the eighteenth century apprehensions as to the stability of the beautiful steeple, led to the bells being taken down and rehung in a wooden frame rising from the ground and unconnected with the steeple walls. When the church was restored in 1885 the western arch was thrown open and the bell cage, being considered unsightly, was ordered to be removed, and with it the bells had also to go. They were last rung exactly forty years ago this month, and, after being stowed away for a time, were re-erected in the Octagon, where they have since hung dead for chiming. From time to time schemes for the building of a separate campanile have been mooted, but have never matured, presumably for want of funds.

In the forty years which have passed since the bells were rung, however, great advances have been made in the engineering side of bell hanging, and it seems to us that there is opportunity here for a reinvestigation of the ability of the tower to carry the bells at a low level; or, if this project should be impracticable, to raise once more the question of another campanile. To melt up this grand old peal of bells seems almost like sacrilege, when the only object is to get out of them four more. We believe that with a little tuning to bring the bells into line with present day scientific ideas, these ten bells would be as fine as any in the land, and if eventually they are to fulfil no greater purpose than to be played upon by mechanical means, it is still to be hoped they may be preserved, and any extension of their number provided by entirely new metal. While one admires the generosity which has prompted a parishioner to defray the cost of the present proposals, there is very little information available as to whether any consideration has been given to a scheme to restore the bells to their original purpose, or whether any independent advice was sought. SHEFFIELD DISTRICT SOCIETY.

CONTEST AT NORTON.

The above society held a monthly meeting at St. James' Church, Norton, Derbyshire, on Saturday, June 6th, when a tower bell contest, judged on the merits of good striking, in the best Sunday Service touches, was held for the Society's silver cup, which is a splendid trophy. The towers represented at the meeting were North Anston, Burnley, Beighton, Bolsover, Chesterfield, Norton, Killamarsh, Rannoor, Sheffield Cathedral, All Saints' and St. Maries, Staveley, and Treeton. The competitors for the cup were: Sheffield Cathedral, St. Maries and All Saints', North Anston, Killamarsh and Ecclesfield. At the conclusion, North Anston was declared the winners, after having given a capital display.

Thanks to the generosity of the Vicar, the Rev. G. W. Hall, M.A., the visitors, numbering 125 members and friends, were entertained to tea on the lawn, under ideal conditions, after which the general meeting took place, the Vicar presiding. The assistant hon. secretary (Mr. T. E. Lee) acted in the unavoidable absence of the secretary (Mr. Chown).

The Vicar extended a hearty welcome to the society, and reminded them that the object of the Guild was to fulfil a very useful purpose in Church work, viz., to call the public to worship God; and in assembling together, as they then were, in their freemasonry, to enjoy the fruits of their labour.

During the course of the meeting, the Vicar presented the trophy to Mr. C. F. Fowler (captain of the North Anston team), who received an ovation from the company.—A vote of thanks to the Vicar and churchwardens, for the use of the bells, proposed by Mr. F. Willey (All Saints'), and seconded by Mr. Potter (Burnley), was carried unanimously.—The Vicar, responding, brought the meeting to a close. The rest of the day was spent in games and tower bell ringing; also in touches on the new handbells recently procured by the company.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

NORTH BUCKS BRANCH.

The annual meeting of the North Bucks Branch took place at Newport Pagnell on Saturday, June 6th, when the weather was gloriously fine. The attendance was not so great as usual, but a representative gathering was present, the following towers being represented: Blechley, Beachampton, Chicheley, Emberton, Fenny Stratford, Simpson, Stony Stratford, Stoke Goldington, Olney, and the local tower. The bells are a fine peal of eight, and various methods were rung. The members attended service, when the Guild's form was used, the address being given by the Rev. J. L. Dove, of North Crawley (Rural Dean), which was very interesting, and called for a special vote of thanks from the meeting.

Tea was held in the Parish Room, where between 50 and 60 sat down, arrangements having been made by the local ringers. After tea, the usual business meeting was held, the Rev. L. Moxon, of Newport Pagnell, chairman of the branch, presiding. — The Secretary (Mr. W. Sear) presented the balance sheet, which was considered very satisfactory.

Subjects relating to the general working of the branch were discussed, and the Master (the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn) spoke on various matters, including the Central Council meeting at Chester. — Mr. Wright (treasurer) and the General Secretary (Mr. R. T. Hibbert) passed a few remarks on the general position of the Oxford Guild, and the secretary made an earnest appeal to the representatives of the towers in North Bucks for a subscription to the Washbrook Memorial Fund.—A grant was made from the North Bucks Branch funds of £3 3s.

The tower was again visited for further ringing, the methods ranging from Grandsire Triples to Cambridge Surprise Major.

SONNING DEANERY BRANCH.

A combined ringing practice was held at Sandhurst on Saturday, June 13th, but only ten members attended, from the following towers: Wokingham, Twyford, Waltham St. Lawrence, and Sandhurst. The following methods were practised: Grandsire and Stedman, Doubles, Plain Bob, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob and Cambridge Surprise.

DEATH OF AN EASTBOURNE RINGER.

It is with regret that we have to announce the death of Mr. Thomas Deadman, who succumbed on Saturday, May 29th, at the Leaf Hospital (following an operation). He had been in ill-health more or less during the last 18 months, and this had kept him from following his favourite pastime.

Although not a great method ringer, Mr. Deadman had rung about 35 peals on the tenor, and was always regarded as a good striker. He was a member of the Sussex County Association for a great number of years, and learnt first to handle a bell at St. Mary's Church, Eastbourne, but for the past twenty years or more he had been a member of the All Saints' band, and was, for some time, their leader.

He was buried on Friday, June 5th, a service being held at All Saints. Before, and after the service, muffled touches were rung on the bells by members of both All Saints' and St. Saviour's Churches, and during the evening, nine courses of Stedman Triples were rung by the following: A. Gower 1, J. Sharp 2, F. G. Waymark 3, F. Bray 4, B. Hobbs 5, G. W. Stokes 6, E. Gower (conductor) 7, J. H. Sharp 8.

MR. F. G. MAY IN DURBAN.

The ringers of Durban, Natal, have received a valuable addition in the person of Mr. F. G. May, late of Bristol, who arrived about the middle of last month. On completing the 50-hour railway journey from Cape Town, Mr. May was met by Mr. F. Simpson, one of the local ringers, and Mr. J. E. Prickett, formerly of Chapstow. 'A hasty journey in rickshaws to Mr. May's quarters, a refreshing cup of tea, and then,' says our correspondent, 'a pleasant hour was spent on the sea front, discussing old times and planning for the future. On Sunday morning, Mr. May joined in the ringing at St. Mary's tower, much to the delight of the local band. Durban is indeed lucky to have obtained the services of two such men as Mr. Prickett and Mr. May, and the writer sincerely hopes that their enthusiasm and encouragement will make the local ringers put their backs and minds into it. A peal of Grandsire Triples should be accomplished very soon now.'

Unfortunately, we have to record the loss of Mr. F. J. Cole, who retires to enjoy a well-earned pension. The writer will always remember and be grateful to Mr. Cole for his help and patience when we first began teaching ringing at St. Mary's. Our loss will be some other tower's gain, for I feel sure that he will not be in England many hours before he finds a corner in some tower. May he long be spared to enjoy his well-earned rest.'

NORTH NOTTS ASSOCIATION.*ANNUAL MEETING AT EAST RETFORD.

A glorious summer day brought together a large gathering of ringers for the annual meeting of the North Notts Association at East Retford. Members were present from Barlborough, Worksop, Norton Cuckney, Gamston, Sutton-on-Trent, North Cottingham, Wheatley, Misterton, Gainsborough, Ordsall, East and West Retford, Doncaster and Grantham. The methods rung during the afternoon and evening were Plain Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Grandsire Triples, Stedman Triples, Grandsire Caters, Stedman Caters and Kent Treble Bob Major, the towers of East Retford, West Retford and Ordsall being at the disposal of the ringers.

Service was held at the Parish Church in the afternoon, at which the Vicar of Harworth (the Rev. F. d'Arblay Burney) gave a most appropriate address on the subject of bells and bell ringers. The work of a bell ringer, either lady or gentleman, was of the greatest importance to those who ministered in God's house, he said. In many parishes there were men who had to perform Sunday duty, and could not always attend the Sunday services, but the sound of the bells reminded them and all other classes of people that came within the sound of the bells that there was a God to be worshipped and glorified. He wished the association the greatest success, and hoped the bells of North Notts would ever continue to ring both for practice and as a call to Sunday service, and to remind the people of their duties and responsibilities.

Tea was provided at Cooke's Cafe, when upwards of 50 ringers and friends sat down. The business meeting was presided over by the Rev. F. d'Arblay Burney, in the unavoidable absence of the Vicar of East Retford. Six new members were enrolled, and the next meeting will be held at Laxton on Saturday, July 11th, when the Rev. S. B. Bleau and his ringers will be glad to see a good attendance.

It was unanimously decided to convey a message of congratulation to the South Anston bell ringers on their performance in winning the silver cup of the Sheffield and District Association for the year 1925. The competition was held at Norton Woodseats, Sheffield, on June 6th, and the Anston company were adjudged the best ringers in the competition, and consequently hold the cup for one year.

The Rev. B. Darley was enrolled an honorary life member.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar of East Retford, the Rectors of West Retford and Ordsall, respectively, for the use of the bells, and to the Rev. F. d'Arblay Burney for his address and presiding over tea and meeting.—In replying, he observed that he was now the oldest vice-president in the association.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The Ladies' Guild have scored another peal of Stedman Triples, all the ringers belonging to the Central District, and being drawn from a comparatively small radius. Four married ladies were in the band, and it shows what strides are being made by the fair sex when not a single footnote is necessary to the peal. There was not even a 'first in the method.'

Members of the Ladies' Guild, Southern District, who intend to be present at the meeting at Aldershot to-morrow should note that the service has been altered to 4 o'clock.

The meeting of the Midland District of the Ladies' Guild is to be held on Saturday at Hampton-in-Arden, and not at Clent, as at first announced.

On June 20th, 1756, a peal of 'Carathans' Triples was rung at St. Peter-at-Arches, Lincoln. This is presumed to have been Garthorn's 5,040 of Grandsire.

The first peal by the Midland Counties Association was Grandsire Triples, run at Derby on June 23rd, 1882.

Forty years ago next Thursday the peal of ten at Taunton were opened.

In the peal of Guildford Surprise, rung at Worlingworth, Suffolk, on June 1st, the 2nd was rung by James M. Bailey, and the 4th by Ernest S. Bailey.

Mr. J. E. Sykes, who is now in Manchuria, has discovered what he thinks is probably the oldest handbell in existence. When visiting a Buddhist temple at Mukden he saw a statue representing the Buddhist conception of 'The Fall.' A handbell is clasped in the hand of one of the figures of this idol, which is held in great reverence, and is at least 1,500 years old.

George Large, who rang his first peal of Stedman Cinques last week at St. Martin's, Birmingham, is a youth of great promise. His first peal (which he conducted) was Treble Bob Minor, with seven different callings, and it was rung at the first attempt. He showed his capacity by the way in which he rang in the peal of Cinques (also his first attempt).

POINTS FOR PEALS.

Points for Peals were always absurd,
And the writer has ever averred
That it's easy to see,
Most ringers agree,
There's a letter too much in the word.

Mr. H. A. Heywood, of Christleton, who presided over the tea, to which the Central Council and friends were entertained at Chester, is a son of the late Canon Heywood, of Swinton, Manchester, and a cousin of the late Sir Arthur Heywood. Although he has never taken up ringing, Mr. Heywood has been a member of the Chester Guild since its formation in 1887, and for some years acted as hon. secretary.

CENTRAL COUNCIL PUBLICATIONS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Will you allow me to give this formal announcement that the price of Central Council Publications has been increased by fifty per cent. by order of the Council, and to call the attention of members of the Exercise to the new prices, as advertised in your paper.—Yours truly,

Broadlands, Caversham, Reading.

CYRIL W. O. JENKYN.

DUBLIN'S TWO RINGS OF TWELVE.

The new bell for St. Patrick's Cathedral will be hung next week. It has already arrived in Dublin. The Cathedral will then possess two rings of twelve, three of ten, and four of eight, as follows:—12 in C, tenor 45 cwt.; 12 in D Minor, tenor 30 cwt.; 10 in C, tenor 45 cwt.; 10 in D Minor, tenor 30 cwt.; 10 in F, tenor 19 cwt.; 8 in C tenor, 45 cwt.; 8 in D Minor, tenor 30 cwt.; 8 in F, tenor 19 cwt.; 8 in A Minor, tenor 11 cwt.

THE IRISH ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting of the Irish Association was held in Dublin on Whit Monday. Members attended from Arklow, Bray, Waterford, Kilkenny, and the various Dublin churches. All the bells of the city were open for ringing, and were made good use of.

Fifty-six members sat down to dinner in the Central Hotel, after which the general business was proceeded with, the president (Canon Greer) occupying the chair. Mr. D. Kennedy, the leader of SS. Augustine and John was elected president, Mr. W. Lynch hon. treasurer, and Mr. G. Lindo hon. secretary.

Dublin was again selected for the next meeting.

The sum of two pounds was voted from the funds to the Washbrook Memorial, which is to be an addition to whatever may be subscribed by the various companies.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL MEETING.

TREBLE BOB PEAL COLLECTION COMPLETED.

The President (Canon Coleridge) announced that the honorary members retiring this year were the Rev. A. H. F. Boughey (a past president), Mr. J. W. Parker, the Rev. H. S. T. Richardson, also Mr. H. Chapman, who was an honorary member, but who is now returned as a representative for Lancashire. That left them one vacancy on the honorary members' list. They had always felt it desirable that they should have one vacancy in hand in case of an emergency arising in which they wanted to put some notable man on some committee, who might be of inestimable use in the hour of necessity.

The three first named were re-elected.

The following new members were introduced to the president: Mr. E. Guise (Gloucester and Bristol), Mr. J. J. Jutson (Peterborough) and Mr. A. J. Hughes (North Wales).

The Council then turned to the reception of the reports of committees. The Rev. H. S. T. Richardson, on behalf of the Peal Collection Committee, apologised for the delay that had taken place in connection with the work, but said the best apology was to 'produce the goods.' 'This he was now able to do. It was an enormous pile of manuscript, and if the Council would decide what was to be done with it he would see that it was done as soon as possible. What remained was one part of the peals of Treble Bob. There was one other thing that had been in his mind. The collection was begun originally by Mr. Trollope a long time ago. A good deal more had been published since, and he thought the collection should be brought up to date. When the last instalment was produced, he noticed a criticism of the collection on the ground that it was not especially a conductor's collection, but the aim, it seemed to him, was to show the history of composition in the method, and that had been successfully accomplished. Its utility to conductors was not the chief thing. The question was whether it would be possible to print the whole thing. He thought that was very doubtful, but if ever that were to come to pass it would be a good thing if the collection were brought up to date.

The Rev. H. Law James suggested it might be possible to print a selection for the use of conductors.

The President said they were greatly indebted to the committee for all they had done, and he was sure the Council would wish to carry out the committee's wishes as far as possible. He suggested that the members of the committee should have a further consultation and report later.

Subsequently, the Rev. H. S. T. Richardson said he had consulted the members of the committee. Miss Parker had promised to type the collection (hear, hear). The committee did not recommend making a selection for printing, that was a matter for the Council to settle. It was proposed to collect the peals that had been published since the collection was made, to bring it up to date.

The President said the Council were deeply grateful to Miss Parker for her kindness in undertaking to type the collection. They knew what she had done in the way of typing in the past (applause).

LITERATURE AND PRESS COMMITTEE.

Mr. G. P. Burton, asked to report on behalf of the Literature and Press Committee, said he really did not know anything about the business. In recent years, Mr. Willson had acted as convener, and drawn up the report. This year, he (Mr. Burton) had heard nothing from Mr. Willson. All he had had was a post card from Mr. Matthews, and a bundle of papers from the secretary.

Mr. J. Griffin said he received a letter from Mr. Willson telling him he would not be able to attend the meeting. In this letter he said it might be asked why he had not submitted a report for the committee. The reason was he was not the convener. The Rev. C. E. Matthews was the convener, and he had suggested that in his (Mr. Willson's) absence Mr. Paddon Smith should take his place. Mr. Willson had added that he had taken the initiative for three years, and, after all, someone else ought to do their bit. Mr. Paddon Smith would be a good man (applause).

Mr. A. Paddon Smith caused much amusement by relating what he knew of the committee's affairs. All he had had, he said, was a package of papers from the hon. secretary and a post card from the Rev. C. E. Matthews thanking him for a letter which he had never written, and asking him to report in Mr. Willson's place. Although he had written to Mr. Matthews saying that there must have been some misapprehension, as he had never written to him, he had had no reply. What was there more to report? (laughter).

The Rev. F. L. Edwards said during the year things which had been brought up by correspondence in local newspapers had been effectually dealt with, and another thing that had come under the notice of the committee was the admirable action of members of the Devonshire Guild in supplying regularly to local papers instructive and interesting articles on ringing matters. He thought this was a most admirable movement to have initiated, and thought the example might be followed in other districts.

A COLLECTION OF PLAIN MAJOR METHODS.

The Rev. H. Law James reported for the Methods Committee. He said they were now in a position to print a selection of the Plain Major Methods. Mr. Trollope and himself had had a great deal of trouble, and had had practically to re-do the work, because they had not been able to get anything from Mr. Lewis. Mr. Lewis was a very busy man, but that morning Mr. Young had handed him the papers which he (the speaker) sent to Mr. Lewis two years ago. Mr. Trollope and he would look these papers through again, before going any further, and he hoped they would be in a position to print a selection of 70 or 80 methods very shortly.

Mr. J. A. Trollope said Mr. James and himself made up their minds that they would not come to the Council this year unless they could hand in the complete manuscript ready for printing. The collection had been entirely rewritten, but it was possible there were things in the original draft that had been overlooked in the new; therefore, they wanted time to look through the papers that had now come back from Mr. Lewis. They felt ashamed of the way they had had to come there year after year and say they were no further forward. Criticism, Mr. Trollope continued, was sometimes made of the proposal to publish these methods. It was said that ringers already had more methods to ring than they would ever ring. The committee did not expect that these Major Methods would be taken up with the rapidity of the six-bell methods, but they must remember that before the six-bell collection was published six-bell ringers had about 20 or 30 methods. Now they had some hundreds of Minor methods, and every one had been rung, which showed that the publication of the book had done an immense amount of good. When the six-bell book was published it was said 'People will not ring the methods,' but the book had 'taken on,' and he hoped the same thing would result with the new collection. He strongly recommended hands, when they wanted to break fresh ground, and get off the beaten track, not necessarily to aim at Surprise methods. There were methods which could be rung easily if they could ring Double Norwich, whereas they might break their teeth on Bristol and London. Such methods were those which were rung at Willesden.

Mr. G. P. Burton asked the committee to recollect if these methods were printed there was another committee which might have something to say on the naming of them. He thought there was no analogy between the six and the eight bell methods. They would never get ringers to ring all these hundreds of methods on eight bells. In the methods that were being rung every day, they had all the quality that ringers wanted or ever would want. He suggested that the Council should not waste their money in printing these methods. It would be simply a scrap book.

Mr. E. Barnett thought that was a very narrow way of looking at the matter.

Mr. T. H. Beams supported what Mr. Burton had said with regard to the naming of these methods. Once the names were printed they would be pretty well sure to stick to them.

The Rev. H. Law James said the committee were ordered at the Lincoln meeting to print the methods and attach the names. They had attached the names, and were going to print them.

The Rev. H. Drake said the Nomenclature Committee only asked to be consulted before the names were printed.

The Rev. H. Law James: You were appointed to revise the names of the Minor methods ('No').

The report was adopted.

PEAL POINTS ABOLISHED.

The report of the Analysis Committee having been printed in 'The Ringing World,' its adoption was moved by the Rev. A. T. Beeston. He said they had not had one peal published twice during the year, and he thanked the conductors for that attention. They had had a little trouble through the publication of peals having been delayed for some months after being rung. He ventured to say that such long delay in publication should not take place again. The Council, he continued, would notice that the committee had introduced a new column into the analysis, indicating the number of conductors who had conducted peals for each association. There was in their report every year a long list given of conductors with the number of peals they had conducted. This was a table that required a great deal of trouble, and the committee suggested that the Council should agree to drop that part of the report, because the committee felt that it was somewhat of a personal thing; it indicated the performances of individual members of the Exercise, and they felt that the analysis was for the Exercise as a whole, and not for any particular individuals thereof.

Mr. J. W. Parker seconded.

Mr. C. T. Coles suggested some minor alterations in regard to the analysis, and went on to raise the question of the number of points allotted to Middlesex and Leicester Surprise Royal respectively. Although he had not rung Leicester, he had rung Middlesex, but he did not think members of the committee had rung either of these methods. After an examination of Leicester Surprise Royal, he had come to the conclusion that it ought not to have any more points than Middlesex, as there was little difference in the two.

The Rev. H. Law James: I move that it be an instruction to the Analysis Committee to omit all points (hear, hear). It is hopeless, and they are absolutely valueless.

Mr. C. T. Coles seconded, and said that would meet his criticism. Mr. W. A. Cave supported the motion. He said some time ago they rang at Bristol a peal of Clifton Surprise Royal. He was not going to argue whether it was harder or easier than other Surprise Royal methods, but as one of that band he could say they would not think of offering a suggestion as to the number of points to be allotted. They rang the peal, and that was all they wanted.

Mr. A. H. Pulling said he came prepared to propose that the points be abolished. It gave the committee a lot of unnecessary work, for it was impossible to compare one peal with another.

Mr. J. W. Parker said points marked the progress of a Guild or Association, and the quality of the ringing. There was nothing else which marked that, and for that reason he thought they should retain them, and possibly try to improve the way in which they were awarded.

The Rev. C. D. P. Davies said points had had a good long innings, and he thought they might be bowled out.

The Rev. A. T. Beeston said the Council had already decided that points shall be given, and he asked if the rule could be rescinded without due notice.

The President: Not if it is a rule.

The Rev. A. T. Beeston said with regard to the criticism of Mr. Coles, the Council decided the points. A table of point values was drawn up by their old colleagues, was discussed by the Council, and passed. The table of values was published in the ringing papers, and it was that table which guided them in allotting points to peals. With regard to Leicester and Middlesex Surprise Royal, the latter was a double method, and the former a compound method, and the Council had decided that a compound Surprise method was of more value in points than a double method. That was the reason why Leicester had 63 points, and Middlesex only 60.

It was pointed out that the scale of points was not a 'rule,' but a 'decision,' and as such, the President held, could be altered without previous notice.

On being put to the meeting, the resolution to omit the points from the Analysis in future, was carried by a large majority.

The President said he remembered very well indeed the question of points being introduced by Mr. Attree, of the Sussex Association. He (the speaker) was dead against it from the beginning, and he was delighted to see the resolution carried now. It was perfectly true what was so often said that a peal of Grandsire Triples by a young band, or the first peal they rang in a new method they had mastered, was far better in value than a peal of London or Bristol Surprise rung by a band who were ringing such peals every week (applause).

The report was then adopted.

WELDING CRACKS IN BELLS.

The Towers and Belfries Committee's report was contained in a letter received from Mr. E. H. Lewis, who said the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings had raised the question of welding cracks in bells. The committee were not able to be very helpful, although Mr. Fairclough thought such a practice was possible. Two cases were reported in the technical press, and were said to have been successful. As, however, it is doubtful whether these bells had to stand the same treatment as our ringing bells, he could not say what the effect would be on bells hung for ringing. He asked for information of any cases of welding of which the members of the Council had knowledge, and in the meantime he was, in conjunction with the S.P.A.B., carrying out some experiments on the change in crystalline structures in bell metal caused by welding.

The Hon. Secretary said the question was being investigated by the S.P.A.B. with a view to saving some of our mediæval bells. He always understood that it presented many difficulties, but their bell-founding friends would know all about the difficulties. He knew it had been said that cracks had been cured by this process. He was told many years ago of a tenor that was mended by a German. The process was said to be a secret one, and the man locked himself in the tower, and no one saw or knew what he did. Whether this process had been developed he could not say.

Mr. Fairclough said there was a firm in Warrington who would weld cracks in bells, if they were sent to their foundry, on the terms of 'No cure, no pay.'

Mr. C. F. Johnston said he knew of two bells that had been successfully welded, so far as the structure was concerned, but not so far as tone was concerned. He also heard of a German who went about England before the war offering to mend bells by a secret process. But it was really no great secret, it was simply acetylene welding. He did a very good structural mend, but he did not give the bell back its tone.

The Rev. H. Drake said he did not see why they, as ringers, should discourage the process. It might help to keep an old bell in existence. He did not say it was desirable that anything of the kind should be done to bells that were to be rung.

The Rev. H. Law James: It isn't necessary to mend it if you don't want to ring it. Keep it with the crack in it.

The Rev. H. Drake: The crack may get worse.

DEVONSHIRE GUILD.

REV. E. V. COX RETIRES FROM SECRETARYSHIP.

The annual meeting was held in Plymouth on Whit Monday, when 138 ringers were present from Christow, Upton Pyne, Topsham, St. Mary's Church, Plymouth; Otterton, Buckfastleigh, Littleham, Withycombe Raleigh, Lymptstone, Heavitree, Exeter, Kelly, Combe Martin, Thorverton and Holbeton.

Service was held in Charles Church at noon, when an excellent sermon was preached by the Lord Bishop of Plymouth on 'The bearing of the Guild's work upon the great problems of the world.' He said that bell ringing was a capital illustration of co-operation, and showed how this spirit is meant to underlie the work of the world. Men are intended to enjoy their work, and all work ought to be the expression of men's creative faculties in some form of service. Work must have behind it, as its motive, the glory of God. If all work were praise, all work would be gladness; and all work can be praise if it is done to the glory of God. Here are the labour, the toil, the sweat, but up above there is the music. It is the music of our work for which God loves to listen.

What is your message, O bells,
As the crash of your music swells
High in the tower where ye swing.
What is the message you bring?

'Men should work together,' say the bells,
'Keeping time together,' say the bells,
'Helping one another, as a man should help his brother,
Fellows in one service,' say the bells.

'Men should welcome labour,' say the bells,
'Find a joy in labour,' say the bells,
'Work will not be dreary, though our arms and back grow weary,
If our labour maketh music,' say the bells.

'Men should seek God's glory,' say the bells,
'Triumph in God's glory,' say the bells,
'Till our jarring discords ended, all the sounds of earth are blended
In one jubilant hosannah,' say the bells.

The Vicar of Charles Church had made excellent arrangements for the service, which, despite the early hour for those from a distance, was attended by 111 ringers and friends.

Dinner was served in the Charles Church Hall, after which the general business meeting took place.—Votes of thanks were accorded to the Bishop, the Vicar and organist of Charles Church; to the various incumbents for the use of their bells; and to the officers and committee.

The Rev. E. S. Powell was re-elected as president for the ensuing year, and in his remarks stated that he had been able to visit 28 affiliated towers during the first year of his presidency. He urged that more attention be given to even-bell methods, and alluded to the progress in Cinques made at the Cathedral practices of the Guild.

Much regret was expressed at the inability of the hon. secretary (the Rev. E. V. Cox) to seek re-election owing to the pressure of parochial work, and Mr. T. Laver (Exeter) was unanimously elected to succeed him.—Mr. T. G. Bartlett was again appointed as honorary treasurer, whilst Messrs. F. J. Davey and E. W. Marsh were appointed as representatives to the Central Council, owing to the regretted resignation of the Rev. M. Kelly, and the decision to add a fourth delegate, to which the Guild is entitled.

The Rev. M. Kelly read a letter of thanks and deep appreciation for the illuminated album and address, which were given to him some few months ago in token of the value of his services to the Guild as president for so many years.

An alteration to one of the rules was adopted, whereby performing members, who join the Guild after September 30th in any year, shall pay the sum of 1s., all of which shall be paid into the general fund of the Guild.

The motion to appoint a Ringing Master for the Guild and one for each of the branches was referred back to the committee for further consideration.

It was unanimously agreed to hold next year's meeting at Ottery St. Mary.

The president is to be congratulated on the attendance and success of the meeting, and upon his conduct of the business.

The report was accepted, and the Council then adjourned for the luncheon interval, a group photograph being taken in the Cathedral precincts, before the members dispersed.

Copies of the group photograph may be purchased from Mr. T. Chidley, 14, St. Werburgh's Street, Chester. Price: Unmounted, 4/-; mounted, 4/6; postage 3d. extra.

HEREFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.*THE 36TH ANNUAL FESTIVAL.

Now that the Guild is divided into ten districts, the importance of the annual festival is even greater than when the diocese was worked as a whole. It is an opportunity for members from all districts to meet and worship as a Guild, dine together, and transact such business as concerns the welfare of the Guild as a whole.

On Whit Monday a hearty service was held in the Lady Chapel of the Cathedral, under the direction of the hon. secretary (the Rev. G. W. Turner). The Rev. R. A. Lync intoned the prayers. The lessons were read by the hon. secretary. The Rev. H. E. Wall presided at the organ. The Rev. H. E. H. Probyn gave an appropriate address on 'The ringers' message and his method.' The Very Rev. the Dean gave the Blessing.

The dinner was served in the beautiful hall of the Booth Hall Hotel. The party, 70 in number, included ringers from 26 towers, besides visitors from Shrewsbury, Worcester, Wolverhampton, Bristol, Slough and Rickmansworth.

Mr. W. H. Allen, in proposing 'The health of the Clergy,' said he would like to see more clergymen's names in the list of ringers.—Mr. W. H. Fussell, in proposing 'The health of the Master,' said Mr. C. Edwards was 'a goer.' Since he came back to his native county, six years ago, he had done a great deal of hard work for the Guild. He was glad that he (the Master) had been provided with facilities of getting about to the different towers.—Mr. Edwards said he had visited all the districts except two, and he found great strides being made everywhere. He appealed for young conductors.

The Rev. F. W. Worsley, in proposing the toast of the day, said he was asking them to honour a remarkably strong and active body of church workers. The first object of the Guild was to encourage the art of change ringing, not for itself only, but that the bells in each parish might be rung 'with the attractiveness of perfection.'—The Rev. G. W. Turner (hon. secretary), in reply, said the Guild was in a sound condition, numerically, financially, and in the improvement it was making in the art of change ringing. He referred to his suggestion that an asterisk should in the next report be placed against the name of every man who had rung a peal, thus making three classes of qualifications—probationer, certificate holder, and peal ringer. This was later on approved by the meeting.

At the business meeting, Mr. Edwards was re-elected Master; the Rev. G. W. Turner, hon. secretary; Mr. A. W. Davies, Mr. W. Saunders, Mr. W. Mead and Mr. J. Clark were elected representatives on the Central Council; Mr. J. P. Hyett, peal recorder; Mr. A. Chester, auditor. The following were added to the committee: Mr. A. W. Davies, the Rev. H. E. H. Probyn, Mr. H. Male and Mr. H. Chandler.

Before the meeting ended, Mr. Edwards proposed the toast of 'The Visitors,' to which Mr. Cave responded.

A hearty vote of thanks to the Editor of the 'Ringing World' was accorded unanimously.

It was agreed that a donation of £3 3s. be made to the Washbrook Memorial Fund.

During the day, Doubles and Minor in various methods were rung at St. Nicholas'; at All Saints', Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob, Double Norwich, Cambridge Surprise, and the first course of London Surprise Major ever rung in the city or at a Guild meeting; at the Cathedral, Grandsire Caters, Stedman Caters and Bob Royal.

RINGERS' MEETING.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I have read the various letters commenting upon the services, etc., at ringers' meetings, and I would like to say that I, too, consider twenty minutes to be ample for the service. I should also like to suggest that the luncheon be abolished, and in its place have continuous ringing from the opening of the meeting until about 4.30 p.m., to be followed by the short service, and then have tea together, with the business meeting following immediately.

While on the subject of the M.C.A. and its meetings, I would like to draw attention to another matter which badly needs looking into. I refer to the financial side of business. It is a well-known fact at the present time that the M.C.A. is in an exceptionally sound financial position; in fact, it might be said they are in the enviable position of having so much money that they do not know what to do with it.

In my own district we spent much time drawing up a scheme for Decentralisation—to enable all members to feel the benefit of this surplus wealth, but at the annual meeting all our suggestions were cast lightly aside.

I consider it is high time this matter was investigated thoroughly, and in the meantime I suggest that each district be allowed a sum equal to sixpence for each member of the district. This money could then be used at the discretion of the local district committees for the expenses of their own monthly meetings, etc.

At any rate, it is only fair that the men who have subscribed this money through the years should now receive full benefit from it. Perhaps other suggestions will be forthcoming from members of the various districts.—Yours truly,

FRED BLOOD,

Hon. Local Secretary.

THE NORFOLK GUILD*DATE OF ANNUAL MEETING CHANGED.

The general meeting of the Norfolk Guild was held at Norwich on Whit Monday, when, by kind permission of Canon F. J. Meyrick, the Rev. A. Henderson and the Rev. L. E. Waghorn, the rings of twelve bells at St. Peter Mancroft, eight bells at St. John-de-Sepulchre and eight bells at St. Michael, Coslany, were placed at the disposal of the members. Luncheon was served at Messrs. William Grix, Ltd., Criterion Restaurant, White Lion Street, the president, the Dean of Norwich, presiding, supported by the following members of the committee: Canon F. J. Meyrick, Messrs. C. E. Borrett (vice-president), A. L. Coleman (secretary), and W. L. Duffield, G. T. Peggall, and representatives from Buxton, Diss, King's Lynn, Norwich, Ipswich, Thornham Magna and Wymondham, etc.—The toast, 'The King,' was proposed by the president, and duly honoured.—The business meeting followed at which, on a motion, moved by Mr. W. C. Duffield, and seconded by Mr. A. L. Coleman, the following new members were elected: Mr. Philip Edward Sewell, life member; the Rev. Richard Henry Oakley Banks, hon. members; Messrs. Harold Barton, Henry Howes, Arthur W. Rump, Arthur E. Woolsey, performing members.

The Secretary brought forward the motion, of which he had given notice at the Easter Monday meeting at Aylsham, viz.: 'That in future the annual general meeting of the Guild shall be held on Easter Monday of each year.' The Secretary said that he had not more to add to what he said at Aylsham on this important matter, but would like to announce that he had received 48 replies to the circulars sent out with the annual reports on May 16th and 18th, 44 being in favour of Easter Monday, three against, and one neutral.

A discussion took place on the motion, in which the President, the Secretary, Messrs. C. E. Borrett, W. C. Duffield, J. F. Duffield, took part.

The Secretary then formally moved the motion, and the President seconded.—The motion on being put to the meeting was carried.

On the motion being carried, the Secretary moved that standing orders be suspended, and that this meeting do now proceed to elect officers for the ensuing year.—This was agreed to, and Mr. C. E. Borrett moved, and Mr. W. J. Eldred seconded: 'That all officers be re-elected en bloc to carry on until Easter Monday, April 6th, 1926.—The motion was carried nem. con.

Mr. C. J. More moved, and Mr. W. C. Duffield seconded: 'That the August Bank Holiday meeting be held at Diss.'

It was proposed to arrange for a ringing meeting at King's Lynn on the occasion of the Agricultural Show in July.—Mr. W. J. Eldred kindly took charge of this matter, and notice of meeting, if any, will appear in 'The Ringing World.'

The President moved a vote of thanks to Canon F. J. Meyrick, the Rev. E. Henderson, and the Rev. L. E. Waghorn for the use of their bells.—Canon Meyrick suitably replied.

The meeting then closed, and the members adjourned to the bellies for ringing, and were joined by others not present at the meeting in the morning.

NORTH WALES ASSOCIATION.*ANNUAL MEETING AT PORTMADOC.

A fairly representative gathering of the North Wales Association met at Portmadoc for the annual meeting on Whit Monday, members attending from Bangor, Wrexham, Rhyl and Portmadoc. The service was conducted by the Rev. Jenkins (Vicar), and an excellent address was given by the veteran president, the Rev. T. Lewis Jones, M.A., Vicar of Glandsda, Bangor. The business meeting was afterwards held in the Church House, the president being in the chair, supported by the Rev. J. M. Morgan Jones (curate of Glandsda, Bangor).

A letter was read from the secretary, Mr. C. Jones, tendering his resignation on account of his having been transferred to Grimsby. A new secretary, Mr. M. T. Jones, of Bangor, was elected, Mr. Alf. Lea, junr., of Wrexham, who was also nominated, being defeated by a small majority.—The remainder of the officers were re-elected.

A motion to change the date of the annual meeting to Easter Monday was defeated.—It was decided to hold the half-yearly meeting at Barmouth on the first Saturday in September, or, failing that, at Bangor, and the next annual meeting at Wrexham on Whit Monday, 1926.

Instructors were appointed as follows: Mr. W. Jones (Wrexham area), Mr. W. T. Pegler (Bangor district), and Mr. J. Owen (Portmadoc).—One honorary member and several life members were elected.

A vote of thanks to the president for his address and to the Rector of Portmadoc for allowing the meeting and the use of the Church House concluded the meeting.

Tea was served in the Church House, kindly provided by the local ringers and their good ladies, the latter very efficiently waiting at the table. Needless to say, ample justice was done.—The usual votes of thanks were proposed by the Wrexham and Bangor Youths.

The bells were kept going to train time, touches of Stedman, Grandsire and Kent Treble Bob being rung, an opportunity for first touches for many of the 'boys' being provided.

Mr. H. Entwistle (Ringing Master) made the presentation, and Mr. Watson suitably acknowledged the gift, thanking all the members for their kindness.

LADY RINGER'S WEDDING.

On June 11th, at St. Thomas' Church, Woolton Hill, the marriage took place of Mr. John F. Sale and Miss Stella Disney (youngest daughter of Canon and Mrs. Disney). The bride is a good change ringer, popular with the local band, and always attended regularly for Sunday service and practice ringing. It is mainly due to her efforts that a new treble is being added to the present ring of five.

By way of showing their appreciation, the ringers erected at the church porch an archway composed of handbells, with white Canterbury bells intermixed. They also presented the bride with a silver rose bowl.

As the bride and bridegroom were leaving the church, 480 Grandsire Doubles were rung: T. Lock 1, N. Scott 2, S. Bevan 3, H. Balaam (conductor) 4, J. Scott 5. The bells again rang out later as the happy couple started for their honeymoon, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes), being brought round in 42 mins.: T. Lock 1, R. Rex 2, H. Balaam (conductor) 3, N. Scott 4, S. Bevan 5.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.

GRIMSBY DISTRICT.

A Grimsby District meeting was held at Bigby on Saturday, June 6th, when members attended from Burton-on-Stather, Elsham, Brantston, St. Andrew's, Grimsby; St. James', Grimsby, Barrow-on-Humber, Brigg, and the local ringers, also the Rev. H. C. Frith, of Elsham, and the Rev. E. W. Carpenter, of Kingerby. Service was conducted by the president (the Rev. H. T. Parry), Rector of Bigby, Miss A. Peart presiding at the organ. Tea was partaken of in the School, to which 40 members sat down.

The president presided at the business meeting. Owing to the Deputy Ringing Master having been elected to the office of Ringing Master, through the resignation of Mr. R. S. Long, a Deputy Master had to be appointed, and Mr. J. Bray, of Burton-on-Stather, was elected.

Messrs. F. Stainton, T. Hall and L. Sargent were elected members. Letters of apology for non-attendance were read from the Rev. H. Park, of Thornton Curtis; the Rev. Mylne, of Burton-on-Stather; the Rev. T. Russell Warrilow, Vicar of St. Andrew's, Grimsby, and Mr. H. Rushby.

The President gave the members a very interesting report of the Central Council meeting, held at Chester, which was greatly appreciated. The Rev. E. W. Carpenter also spoke on the broadcasting of change ringing instead of so much tune ringing.

A hearty vote of thanks was given to the Rev. H. T. and Mrs. Parry, the local ringers, their wives and friends for providing such a splendid tea; also to the Rev. H. T. Parry for conducting the service; and to Miss A. Peart for presiding at the organ.

After the meeting, members again adjourned to the tower for more ringing. The methods rung during the day were Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Plain Bob, Stedman Doubles, Bob Doubles and Grandsire Doubles, and rounds for beginners.

The next meeting is to be held at Thornton Curtis on Saturday, July 4th.

The toast of 'The Royal Family' was given by the President.

At the business meeting, the secretary's report and balance sheet were read and accepted. The Sunday Service sheets showed considerable improvement on previous years, the first certificate going to Saltburn, and the second to Middlesbrough.

The retiring officers were re-elected, with Mr. W. Newton (Stockton) as vice-president to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. J. W. Passman.

The meetings arranged for the year were as follows: September, Middlesbrough; Easter Monday, 1926, Skelton-in-Cleveland; and Whit Monday, Northallerton.

NOMENCLATURE.

The most contentious business before the Central Council was the report of the committee appointed last year to deal with method nomenclature. The subject, which may to some people appear to be a minor one, is, in fact, of some importance, for the haphazard methods of the past have led to endless confusion as well as to the use of terms which, to say the least, have been out of place. The terminology used in ringing has always been quaint, and, to the uninitiated, amusing, yet little or nothing had ever been done to improve it. A few years ago, however, the Analysis Committee of the Council were called on to give names to certain hitherto unnamed methods, and, with a great opportunity to improve nomenclature, adopted a group of titles which not only maintained some very unsuitable names, but actually accentuated their absurdity. It was the feeling created by this action which led eventually to the setting up of a special committee to deal with the naming of methods, their terms of reference being not merely to revise names already allotted, but to suggest lines of guidance for the future.

This committee admittedly had a very difficult task, but those who read their report will agree with the view expressed at the Council meeting that they have tackled it in a reasonable and moderate manner. First they had to face the fact that, in the past, the author of a method or the band who have been first to ring it have claimed the right to name it. It has been this freedom which has allowed many of the absurdities to grow up, for those who have had the opportunity of applying names have been guided by no principle, and simply christened their methods as fancy dictated. Another thing with which the committee was faced was the fact that certain terms have been so established by long usage that no tampering with them—however ludicrous they may appear to outsiders—would be permitted. History and practice have given them a position unassailable in these days. To carry out their task the committee had to make a break with tradition, and not the least difficult of their problems was to decide where the cut was to be made. That decision, we think, has not been finally arrived at. The report which the committee presented seems to be but a first instalment, for it opens up the question of a much more far-reaching revision of terms than the mere changing of names among the methods.

In principle we think the committee have struck right lines; in detail their report is liable to considerable amendment. The Council could not possibly have discussed it with intelligence and with the care which the subject requires without first seeing it in print, and they took the only reasonable course of adjourning debate until this opportunity had been afforded to them. Probably before the Council meets next year, the committee themselves may have something more to say on the subject; certainly their critics will have ample opportunity of framing amendments. We suggest that it might save time if those who have substantial objections to raise, put them forward in our columns, so that they, too, may be considered by members of the committee and Council before the meeting, and adequately dealt with when the matter comes up for discussion. On a subject of this sort, it is almost as difficult to deal offhand with previously unpublished amendments as it is to deal with an unpublished report.

RINGERS' OUTINGS.

Banbury ringers' 3rd annual outing (on June 16th, to Loughborough included a visit to Messrs. Taylor and Sons' bell foundry. Loughborough was reached at 11.20, and an hour's ringing at All Saints' Parish Church on the very fine peal of ten was much enjoyed, short touches of Stedman and Grandsire being rung. After dinner, a visit to the foundry proved very interesting, the party being shown round, and the various processes explained by Mr. Stubbs. The foundry ten proved too much of a handful, only one touch of Grandsire Triples being brought round.

After tea, a visit was made to the park and the Carillon War Memorial. The company journeyed on to Leicester, being met by Mr. Ernest Morris, and several of St. Margaret's band, with whose assistance two courses of Grandsire Caters were rung, as also touches of Stedman on the back eight.

The Banbury ringers take this opportunity to thank Messrs. Taylor and Sons for permission to visit the foundry, the Vicars of the two churches for permission to ring, and the members of St. Margaret's band who so kindly helped to make their visit so successful.

CHELTENHAM AND DISTRICT BRANCH.

On Sunday, June 14th, twelve members of the Cheltenham and District Branch had a motor trip to Stow-on-the-Wold and Bourton-on-the-Water. On arriving at Stow, where there is a beautiful ring of eight, with tenor 30 cwt., just overhauled by Messrs. Taylor, they were welcomed by Mr. Pardon and other members of the local band. The first touch was 504 Stedman Triples by W. Townsend (conductor) 1, C. Martin 2, W. Hunt 3, W. Hale 4, W. Dyer 5, W. Devereux 6, J. F. Ballinger 7, R. Hemming 8. Also 504 Stedman Triples, from Thursday's: A. F. Hunt 1, W. Yeend 2, E. Pardon 3, M. Hicks 4, C. Martin 5, W. Townsend 6, J. F. Ballinger (conductor) 7, W. Devereux 8. After tea, they were met by Mr. W. Large, of Stretton-on-Fosse, who has done so much for change ringing in the outlying districts of the association. For evening service touches of Stedman and Grandsire Triples were rung, and a touch of Plain Bob Major by M. Hicks 1, C. Martin 2, E. Pardon 3, W. Hale 4, W. Large 5, W. Yeend 6, W. Dyer 7, J. F. Ballinger (conductor) 8. At Bourton-on-the-Water they were met by Mr. T. Banning, and other members of his band, where 504 Stedman Triples was rung by C. Martin 1, W. Hale 2, William Dyer 3, W. Devereux 4, M. Hicks 5, J. F. Ballenger (conductor) 6, W. Hunt 7, W. Townsend 8; and 336 Plain Bob Major by W. Hunt 1, W. Yeend 2, C. Martin 3, W. Hale 4, W. Devereux 5, J. F. Ballinger 6, T. Banning 7, W. Townsend (conductor) 8. Weight of tenor 14 cwt. in F. Also a touch of Grandsire Triples, conducted by W. Hale.

ST. GILES-IN-THE-FIELDS (LONDON).

On Saturday, June 13th, the St. Giles-in-the-Fields (London) Ringers' Guild held their annual outing, the members and their friends paying a visit to Cookham-on-Thames, the same tower as last year. The party numbered twelve, and were favoured with perfect weather. On arrival at Cookham the ringers proceeded to the church (Holy Trinity), the bells of which had been kindly placed at their disposal, where ringing was enjoyed for over two hours. Tea at the Royal Exchange was much enjoyed. More ringing, boating, light refreshment, and a 'sing-song,' concluded the afternoon's programme.—A vote of thanks to Mr. Fowler and the Vicar was carried with enthusiasm.

BONVILSTON RINGERS.

On Saturday, June 6th, the ringers, accompanied by their wives and friends, took their annual outing by charabanc to Brecon Beacons via Pontypridd and Merthyr. A halt was made at Brecon, the party visiting St. Mary's Church, with a good peal of eight, and going well. At Gilwern, Mr. S. Rackham kindly conducted the party up to Llanelly Church, with its nice peal of six, which was rung up, and soon into Doubles. The next stop was made at Newport. Members take this opportunity to thank the incumbents and Mr. S. Rackham and Mr. Evans for their kindness in granting the use of the bells.

The ringers of St. Martin's Church, Fenny Stratford, had a most enjoyable outing on Whit Monday, when they made a charabanc tour through North Bucks. The first stop being made at Stewley, a good ring of six on the heavy side was soon going to Woodbine Treble Bob, Plain Bob, and Cambridge Surprise. The grand old Norman church, with its architectural beauty and massive tower, were greatly admired. The next tower was Swanbourne, where the party were met by the Vicar, who was keenly interested in touches of Cambridge, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob. Then on to Winslow. Here a perfect 'peal' of rounds was taken part in, but as this was round the dinner table, it is unnecessary to say it was successfully accomplished. An adjournment was afterwards made to the church, where Plain Bob only was rung, after which the journey was continued to Calverton. Here the ringers were at home on the beautiful ring of six, the methods rung being Beverley, Double Court, Woodbine, Cambridge and Plain Bob. The next stop was Stony Stratford, where, after an hour's good ring, tea was partaken of. The last call was at Old Wolverton, where touches of Plain Bob and Cambridge Surprise were rung. Home was reached about 10.15, after a most enjoyable day's ringing. The ringers wish to take this opportunity of expressing their thanks to the respective Vicars for their kindness in giving permission to ring, and to the foremen of the towers for getting everything in such excellent order for them.

Salehurst ringers had their annual outing on Whit Monday, when they spent an enjoyable day in visiting Sussex towers. The outward journey was made via Battle, and through the pretty villages of Catsfield, Ninfeld and Hove, and past Pevensey Castle to St. Mary's, Eastbourne, where a halt was made for an hour, and several short touches of Grandsire Triples and Bob Major were brought round. Going on to Seaford, they found a lovely peal of eight at St. Leonard's Church, and after several good touches, resumed the journey to St. Peter's Church, Brighton, where again ringing took place for an hour. Returning via Lewes, a call was made at Southover, and another hour was spent in ringing Grandsire Triples and Bob Major, while some of the party explored the ancient town. Home was reached at 10 p.m., after a most enjoyable outing. The party numbered 36.

IDLE RINGERS.

On Whit Tuesday, the Idle company of ringers, together with their wives and friends, to the number of twenty, went on their annual outing by charabanc, via Otley, Follifoot, Boroughbridge, Thirsk, Cotswold, and arrived at Helmsley for dinner. The ringing members of the party first made for the tower, while the others went to look round the castle. After dinner the party went on to Pickering, where some fairly good ringing was enjoyed, the ringers being congratulated on the standard of ringing by the natives. The homeward journey was via Malton to York, where a halt was made to give the party an opportunity of visiting the Minster. Leaving York, the party motored through Tadcaster to Wetherby for tea, after which the church was visited, and some ringing was done on a delightful peal of bells. The homeward journey was made via Harwood and Otley. Methods rung throughout the day were Kent Treble, Bob Major, Double Norwich, Superlative and Stedman. The ringers wish to take this opportunity of thanking the respective incumbents for the use of the bells; also the local company for their kind arrangements.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

QUARTERLY MEETING AT BOLSOVER.

A most successful meeting was held at Bolsover on Saturday last, when ringing on the fine peal of eight was indulged in throughout the afternoon. All the standard methods and many Surprise methods, both old and new, were rung. A committee meeting was held in the Church Hall, and after the usual routine business, appeals for grants from the Bell Repair Fund were read from Belper and Creswell. At the former place a peal of six steel bells are to be rehung, but this appeal was left over for the president to get further details. The Creswell scheme is a huge one to build a tower and put in a peal of eight.—Mr. J. Flint gave an outline of the scheme, and it was finally decided to promise a sum of ten guineas, after the tower was completed, to go towards the cost of bells. Following this, the members, to the number of 30, from Burton, Chesterfield, Derby, Ilkeston, Nottingham, Southwell, Sheffield and Leicester, sat down to tea, which was catered for by the local ringers and their wives. The general business followed, the president (Ald. R. B. Chambers, B.A., J.P.) presiding, supported by the Vicar of Bolsover (the Rev. J. E. Pagett), Dr. Stretton, the hon. treasurer (W. Willson) and hon. secretary (E. Morris). The minutes of the annual meeting were passed, after which Mr. A. Coppock gave a brief account of the C.C. meeting at Chester.—The President also explained that a letter of appreciation had been read to the committee from Mr. J. Griffin, an original and valued member of the M.C.A., who is an hon. member of the C.C., and attended on their behalf since its inauguration. The list of new members elected since the last meeting was read and confirmed, and four new hon. members from Bolsover were unanimously elected.—Mr. W. Willson proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the local band (especially Mr. Flint) and the ladies for arrangements and tea; to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and for his presence at the meeting.—Mr. J. H. Swinfield, of Burton, seconded.—The Vicar acknowledging, said how pleased he was to welcome the members to Bolsover, and was pleased to become an hon. member of the M.C.A. He was supported by Dr. Stretton, who, whilst giving appreciation to the ringers and their services to the church, held out a note of warning to them never to neglect their duties after calling other people to church, by omitting to go themselves. He was also pleased to become an hon. member, and to propose his colleague, Mr. Lockwood.—This was carried unanimously, and concluded the business, after which ringing was again indulged in. E. M.

DEDICATION OF RAYLEIGH BELLS.

Great rejoicing in the old Parish Church of Holy Trinity, on Sunday, June 21st, the occasion being the dedication by the Lord Bishop of Chelmsford of the bells, after recasting, rehanging, etc. The work, entrusted to the firm of Gillett and Johnston, the Croydon bell founders, entailed the clearing out of the old frame, fixing new steel girders and iron frame, recasting six bells, one new bell, and tuning the whole to the existing 5th (a fine old bell, dated 1510). The old 6th, 1415, no longer of use for ringing, is placed in view within the church. The whole of the work has been carried out in a most satisfactory manner, the tone and tune of the bells being greatly admired by the crowds congregated to hear them. The peal is in the key of F, the tenor weighing 16 cwt. 3 qr.

Immediately following the dedication, the bells were rung round by the local ringers. At the close of the service, the ropes were handed to an expert band from Prittlewell, who delighted the listeners with something of everything, from Grandsire to Cambridge, the conductors being Mr. C. H. Howard, Master of the Essex Association, Mr. H. T. Wilson and Mr. W. H. Judd. Ringers attended from Prittlewell, Leigh, Birehington-on-Sea, Kent, Bury St. Edmunds, Brentwood, Springfield, Rettendon, Chigwell, and, of course, London.

It is interesting to note the clapper of the 3rd bell bears an inscription, stating that the King and Queen saw it forged on their visit to the foundry to hear the carillon cast for New York.

This brings the total up to £136.

It is hoped that the amount required will be received before the annual meeting of the Oxford Diocesan Guild of Bell Ringers (July 18th). It would be a great help if all those who intend to subscribe would do so before that date. Subscriptions may be paid to Lloyds Bank, Reading Branch, or to the hon. treasurer, A. J. Wright, 40, Hamilton Road, Reading.

NORTH NOTTS ASSOCIATION.

In the annual report, recently issued, the Hon. Secretary (Mr. H. Haigh) says: Our numbers are increasing every year, and our list of towers affiliated also increases, the number now being 20; the subscriptions of members are paid with better regularity. In respect to ringing some of the towers have reached a good standard of excellence, whilst in other towers there is plenty of room for improvement. There are towers where a regular practice night is almost out of the question. Ringers must have practice, first to keep up and improve their own standard of ringing; and, secondly, to teach young ringers how to handle a bell; otherwise ringing will in time cease at churches where no practice takes place.

In the matter of bell restoration, the two principal events of the year have been: (1) The rehanging and retuning of the old peal of five bells of St. Peter's, Gamston, and the addition of a new treble bell to make a ring of six. A new ringing chamber has been provided six feet below the old one, and comfortably furnished. Everything in the tower is new with the exception of the old five bells; and the ringers, under the tuition of Mr. H. Revill, of Ordsall, are making good progress in the art of change ringing; (2) the bells of St. John-the-Baptist, East Markham, have been increased from six to eight by the addition of two new trebles, the gift of Mr. W. T. Hopps, of Leamington, as a memorial to Mr. and Mrs. H. Cowlishaw. The late Mr. Cowlishaw was a vice-president of the association for many years. The full octave is a splendid ring of bells, an excellent splice having been made, and together with a new intermediate chamber to deaden the sound in the ringing chamber, leaves nothing to be desired. A new clock has also been given by the donor of the bells. In the matter of meetings, a very successful year has been accomplished. Apart from the annual meeting, six district meetings have been held during the year, and a good standard of ringing maintained; at some of the towers the methods rung were from Plain Bob to London Surprise.

Our list of new members for the year is three vice-presidents and 16 ringing members, including Herbert Smith, Esq., as vice-president and life member; H. Caferlatia, Esq., of Sutton-on-Trent, and the Rev. P. E. Boswell, Rector of Harthill. In the list of special performances during the year 1924 the South Anston company again head the list with 104 720's, 100 six-bell methods, a wonderful record, which we imagine has seldom, if ever, been excelled. In the previous year they rang 60 720's in 54 methods, which was also a meritorious performance, but this achievement for 1924 is a really remarkable one. The membership roll up to December 31st, 1924, is 212 members (performing, probationary and unattached), and also 19 ex-officio members. Total 231.

The financial statement for the year shows a sum of £24 invested in Workshop savings bank, and £3 4s. 3d. in treasurer's hands, making a total of £27 4s. 3d., and the largest gain in one year in the history of the association, but this includes the subscription of a life member of £2 2s.

FAREWELL GATHERING AT PUDSEY.

On Saturday, June 20th, a peal of London Surprise Major was attempted at Pudsey, Yorks, as a farewell to Mr. T. M. Kitchen, who is leaving the district.

Unfortunately the peal came to grief, after two hours' excellent ringing, the band standing as follows: P. Cordingley 1, S. Ward 2, J. Baxendale 3, J. E. Proctor 4, Wm. Barton (conductor) 5, T. M. Kitchen 6, J. Ambler 7, J. W. Cordingley 8. The losing of the peal was unfortunate in more respects than one, as in addition to being a farewell peal, had it been successful, it would have been the first peal in the method on the bells, and by all the ringers.

After tea, Mr. Baxendale, on behalf of the local company, with a few well-chosen words, presented a leather travelling bag to Mr. Kitchen. He said, that whilst all offered their hearty congratulations to 'Tommy' on attaining his new position, they wished him the best of health and prosperity. It was with a great feeling of regret that they met that day to bid farewell to one of the band's most promising ringers.—'Tommy' suitably responded, and said that he would never forget the happy times he had spent with the ringers of Pudsey Church, and hoped that he would be spared to have another attempt for the peal of London. The handbells were then brought into use, and touches of Treble Bob Royal, Grandsire Caters, Treble Bob Major, Bob Major and Oxford Treble Bob Minor were successfully brought round.

During the evening, the tower was again visited, and the bells kept going to touches of Stedman, Treble Bob and Superlative.

OSWESTRY, SHROPSHIRE.—On Sunday, June 21st, for evensong, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes), in 47 mins.: T. Marshall 1, R. Edwards 2, H. T. Hughes 3, R. Kynaston 4, W. B. Kynaston 5, G. Williams 6, R. Evans (conductor) 7, E. H. Kynaston 8. Rung as a farewell to Mr. Robert Head, the parish church organist, who is leaving to take up a similar appointment at Richmond, Surrey.

THE WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.*NUMBER OF MEMBERS AND TOWERS BELOW STANDARD.

The annual report of the Winchester Guild has just been published. During the year, seven compounding members joined, and, in addition, the numbers who have paid contributions, were: Hon. members 59, full members 553, probationers 32. The peals rung in 1924 showed a decrease of five compared with 1923, but there was a large increase in the number of Surprise peals rung. The peals were rung in 35 different towers.

The Hon. Secretary (Mr. G. Pullinger), in his report, remarked that the Guild suffered a great loss by the death of the Rev. W. E. Colchester, a former general secretary and treasurer, and for many years an enthusiastic member and friend. The loss will be keenly felt, more particularly as ringing clergy in the diocese are so deplorably few.

Restoration work has been going on steadily, and in addition to the completion of the work at Brockenhurst and Leatherhead, it is hoped that the ring of five at Sopley, with a pit for an additional bell, will be reopened shortly. A movement is also afoot to add a treble to the existing ring of five at Woolton Hill, and there are whispers of a ring of eight at Milford-on-Sea. Owing to tower weakness, it is much to be regretted that the fine ring of eight at Shanklin are unringable; also that the recast bells for St. Michael's, Southampton, are still waiting the verdict as to tower safety.

Although considerable progress has been shown in some quarters, the apathy towards change ringing and the Guild by many of the clergy and a good number of ringers is much to be deplored. In this connection it should be noted that the number of both members and towers in union fall much below standard. All members should strive to remedy this, as only by making new members can the work of the Guild be successfully carried on. It is regretted that no charge for instruction appeared in the balance sheet, and bands are reminded that the Master, general and district secretaries are always pleased to answer queries on this very important item, and this applies to the higher methods as well as Grandsire.

The general fund of the Guild had a balance in hand of £37 16s. 7d., against £41 0s. 2d., at the end of 1923, and there is £39 1s. 4d. in the special purposes fund. The various districts also hold balances of £6 1s. 3d.

DURHAM & NEWCASTLE ASSOCIATION.*WESTERN DISTRICT'S ENJOYABLE MEETING.

An enjoyable meeting of the Western District was held at Chester-le-Street on June 20th, which was well attended, some thirty members and visitors being present from Pullham St. Mary, Norfolk, Newcastle Cathedral, St. George's, Jesmond, Newcastle, St. John's, Darlington, Shildon, Consett and Heighington.

The fine toned peal of eight was set going soon after 3 o'clock, with touches of Grandsire, Stedman, Kent Treble Bob, Bob Major and Plain Bob. After tea, some keen ringing was kept up till 8.30. Mr. Wm. Story, ex-president, and Mr. E. E. Ferry, secretary of the association, were present.

The next meeting was arranged to be held at Consett on Saturday, 22nd August.

Among the visitors was Mr. C. J. P. Brice, of Pullham St. Mary, Norfolk, who at present is engaged on the restoration work at Durham Castle. Being an old campaigner, he was very pleased to make the acquaintance of North Country ringers, and spoke in high praise of the bells. He conducted a short course of Kent Treble Bob, and promised to attend other meetings.

Mrs. Blenkinsop, of Heighington, was successful in ringing a touch of Bob Major on the treble, and congratulations were extended to her.

The usual vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector of Chester-le-Street for the use of the bells, and to Messrs. Harry Tyson and Fred Sheraton for the arrangements locally.

LADIES' GUILD.*MIDLAND DISTRICT.

The members held their meeting at Hampton-in-Arden, where a very pleasant time was spent. The Rev. Colthurst's ringing party joined the Church Union Society at tea. After tea, the ladies held their meeting, and Miss Foster was elected to the chair. Mrs. Groves was re-elected secretary; Miss F. Saunders, of Smethwick, was elected on the committee; all the other members were re-elected.

It was decided to hold only two business meetings a year—June and December, respectively. Monthly or quarterly ringing meetings to be arranged when possible to get permission for use of bells at various places. Harborne was chosen for the next business meeting if permission could be obtained.

WORMINGFORD, ESSEX.—On Sunday, June 21st, for morning service, 720 Bob Minor: R. Leggett 1, G. Balls 2, G. Clarke 3, A. Ives 4, E. Leggett 5, F. Clarke 6. This is the first 720 by the treble ringer.

THE MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION & LONDON DIOCESAN GUILD.

Some 30 members of the North and East District of the above association spent a very pleasant afternoon at Northaw on Saturday, June 20th, on the occasion of the summer meeting. The bells were raised about 3.30, and ringing continued until 5.30, when the Vicar (the Rev. E. S. Allen) gave those present a very hearty welcome to the service. After an excellent tea, the usual business meeting was held. The president (Mr. F. A. Milne) had to leave early, and in his absence the chair was taken by Mr. W. Pickworth, district vice-president.

Three new members were elected, and the hon. secretary gave an interesting report of the proceedings at the Central Council meeting at Chester.

Stanmore was chosen for the next meeting, on July 25th.—Hearty votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and for his address at the service; to Mr. B. McKie for the excellent arrangements made; to Mrs. Taylor, who had prepared tea; and to Mr. Stevenon, the organist, who had added considerably to the harmony of the proceedings. Ringing again took place after the meeting, amongst the methods rung being Grandsire Doubles, Bob Minor, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Double Court, and Cambridge Surprise.

CUP CONTEST AT HOYLANDSWAINE.*ANSTON'S SUCCESS.

The cup contest promoted solely by Hoylandswaine ringers, under the auspices of Barnsley and District Associations, was held on Saturday, June 13th. Nine bands had entered, but Wortley were unavoidably absent. The remaining eight companies turned up full of hope and bright ideas, but, alas! the slips not missed by the judge, would have filled the cup. Wath, Darfield and Sandal 'rang out,' so the judge advised them to be wise as well as good. The remaining five rang through, and the following is the list of towers with faults attached: Anston, 265; Wath (rang out), 127; Rawmarsh, 593; Darfield (rang out), 348; Sandal (rang out), 287; Cawthorne, 125; Shelley, 219; Penistone, 158. Mr. W. Broadley, Bradford, was the adjudicator, and declared Cawthorne to be the winners. The names of the successful band were Henry Crossland (aged 81), Joseph Matthews 2, Henry Crossland, junr., 3, Aaron Fish 4, Edgar Crossland, junr., 5, Jack Fish 6. The cup is held for one year, and each member received in addition a plated cake stand.

The Rev. J. Hewitson (Vicar) kindly presided over the meeting, and presented the prizes. The tea provided for the occasion was partaken of by upwards of 120 ringers and others.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The Southern District held a very successful business meeting at Beddington last Saturday, June 20th. The tower was opened at 3.30, and the bells were soon set going. At 5 o'clock, tea was partaken of, and the usual business meeting followed. After this a move was made to the church for some more ringing, when most of the standard methods were rung.

The ringers present expressed their thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells, and also to Mr. Trappitt for making the arrangements for the tea, etc., and also to the local society for making the company welcome amid such delightful surroundings. Many of the ringers admired the tone of the bells, and also the 'go' of them.

GLOUCESTER & BRISTOL ASSOCIATION.*SWINDON BRANCH.

A quarterly meeting was held at Bishopstone on Saturday, June 20th, with a small attendance. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m., and continued until 5 p.m., when tea was partaken of on the Vicar's lawn, who welcomed the visitors to Bishopstone. The usual business meeting followed, Mr. C. J. Gardiner presiding. The minutes of the last meeting were read, and passed. A letter, re the Washbrook Memorial, was brought before the members by the secretary, and it was proposed by Mr. T. Moulding, and seconded by Mr. S. Palmer, that each tower secretary in the district should make a collection in his tower, and forward it to the district secretary as soon as possible.—This was carried.—Places for the next meeting were Blunsdon in July, Highworth in August, and the quarterly meeting at Chippenham in September. This concluded the business, and a return to the tower was made, where touches of Kent and Bob Major, Stedman and Grandsire Triples were rung until 8 p.m., when the bells were lowered in peal.

Towers represented were Blunsdon, Faringdon (Christ Church and St. Mark's, Swindon), Stratton St. Margaret's, and Wanborough.

LONDON.—On Sunday, June 21st, for evening service, at St. George's, Beckenham, S.E., 1,280 Cambridge Surprise Major: *Miss E. E. Chapman 1, T. H. Taffender (conductor) 2, *Miss F. E. Orr 3, F. J. Skelt 4, W. Smith 5, E. J. King 6, C. J. Tribe 7, J. R. Gammon 8. * First quarter-peal of Surprise.

BRADFORD'S FIRST LADY RINGER MARRIAGE OF MISS GILL.

The marriage took place at St. James' Church, Bolton, Bradford, on May 30th, of Mr. Arthur Beason to Miss Polly Gill, only daughter of Mr. Arthur Gill. Both father and daughter are members of the local band, Miss Gill being the first lady ringer in Bradford. There was a good muster of ringers from Bradford Cathedral, Shipley, Drighlington, and the local band, to witness the ceremony. With the Vicar's permission merry touches were rung on the bells, but these were only short, owing to their running badly, and it is hoped they will shortly be ringing.

The company were invited to the wedding feast at the bride's home. During the repast, Mr. J. Broadley proposed 'The health of the bride and bridegroom,' and expressed best wishes for their happiness. The happy couple left shortly after for Scarborough for the honeymoon.

A RINGER'S ADVENTUROUS TRIP. MR. CONOR O'BRIEN SAFE HOME.

Mr. Conor O'Brien, of Dublin, who was an active ringer in London some years ago, has just concluded his adventurous trip round the world in the 20-ton ketch, 'Saoirse.' He dropped anchor at Dunlaoghaire on Saturday evening, his journey having lasted exactly two years to the day. He was given a most enthusiastic welcome.

Mr. O'Brien, in the course of his voyage, has circled the globe. A Free State plane and over 150 yachts welcomed him to Kingstown Harbour, and nearly 50,000 people were on the pier.

When he left Dunlaoghaire on June 20th, 1923, he had two of a crew, but with these he parted company at Durban.

On two subsequent occasions he had trouble with his crew, and when he arrived home he was accompanied by his sister, Miss Kitty O'Brien, who had joined him in the Azores, and by a Tongan native called 'Kroo,' but renamed Joseph H. Percival, and whom Mr. O'Brien had taken from Friendly Island.

RINGING FOR KINGS.

The visit of His Majesty King George V. to Newcastle-under-Lyme on June 5th coincided with the 21st anniversary of the wedding of one of the bell ringers of the Parish Church, named King.

The ringers engaged to ring in honour of the Royal visit thought it appropriate to celebrate both events simultaneously, and a well-struck quarter of Grandsire Triples was concluded in 47 minutes: F. Smith 1, A. Barker 2, E. King 3, W. Fitchford 4, W. Alliman 5, H. Vaughan 6, C. Morley (conductor) 7, C. E. Morley 8.

EALING RINGERS' OUTING.

On Whit Monday, the ringers of St. Mary's, Ealing, together with friends from Hillingdon and Uxbridge, held their fourth annual outing. The charabanc departed from Ealing shortly after nine, and the rest of the party was picked up en route. The driver, a stranger to the district, followed the directions of the party, sometimes wrong, but got there eventually. After one such diversion, Wooburn was reached a few minutes late. Touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Bob Major were rung here. A pleasant ride through Marlow and Henley brought the party to Shiplake, this time nearly an hour before time. The host for the day, Mr. C. W. Porter, kindly obtained permission from the Vicar, who himself gave the visitors a hearty welcome, to have a short ring at Shiplake Church before lunch. This tower was not on the day's programme, and the extra ringing was much appreciated.

A bountiful lunch at the Plough Inn was greatly enjoyed by all. After lunch, the party spent a pleasant half-hour in the pretty garden, the weather being lovely.

An enjoyable ride through country lanes terminated at St. Peter's Church, Caversham, and an hour's ringing was indulged in on this handy and musical ring. Kent and Bob Major, Stedman and Grandsire Triples came round successfully. A short stroll by the Thames, after ringing, brought departure time all too quickly.

On again reaching Shiplake, a tea, worthy of unceasing praise, was served at the Plough Inn and Mr. Porter is to be congratulated on his excellent catering. Leaving the pretty little inn with many regrets, the party once more passed through Henley, and after an exceedingly pretty ride, arrived at Wargrave. Some good ringing in the four standard methods took place.

The return journey was made through Twyford, Maidenhead and Slough. Owing to threatening clouds and occasional showers, the party now travelled under cover. Thus shielded from the public gaze, several previously bashful vocalists (?), brightened the ride with songs and other weird noises. The two friends from Uxbridge alighted at that place, and another lady ringer departed at Hillingdon, regretfully, but with memories of a very happy time. Ealing was reached shortly after nine, and the main party dispersed, unanimous as to the success of the day.

Through the medium of this paper, the members of the Ealing band would like to thank the incumbents of those towers at which they were permitted to ring; the towerkeepers for their unselfish assistance; and Mr. Porter, whose excellent catering is to be commended to all his fellow-ringers.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Expansion of business has necessitated the removal of the old-established firm of John Nicoll, the well-known bell rope makers, from Queen's Road, Peckham. Customers should note that the address is now 64, Lewisham Park, London, S.E.13.

Mr. Tom Deadman, whose death was recorded in our last issue, was, in the days when the writer first met him, one of the best physically developed specimens of humanity that it would be possible to meet. Of more than average height, he was broad of shoulder, and had arms as big as many a man's thigh. Had he had the opportunities, he would have been an ideal type for some of the 'big' jobs, but his ringing was done in towers where there are no bells over 25 cwt.

The Birmingham Cathedral bells will be broadcast from 7.45 p.m. to 8 p.m., together with a service, the preacher being the Lord Bishop of Birmingham.

'COVENTRY BELLS.'

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—'To an Amurath an Amurath succeeds,' and so with the 'isms.' A blight appears to descend upon our beautiful bells, and now it is 'carillonism,' and another fine old peal is doomed. I wonder that our bell founders can really find the heart to accept such commissions. Are those which remain to us safe? We fortunately still have Lavenham, Mancroft, Pershore, Fulham, Painswick and Southwark; one can hardly now add St. Mary Radcliffe. But in the Great Jazz Age none is safe, and it remains for the ringing fraternity to bestir itself unless it would lose the little of great value it has left—left as a priceless heritage from the past.—I am, yours faithfully,

TEMPLE BAR.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I quite agree with your article about Coventry bells. If the present members of the Exercise could only hear these fine bells, they would do anything to prevent their loss.

I am amongst the few left who remember their wonderful tone. I used to ring there nearly 40 years ago, with men who knew what a good 'ring' was. I speak of J. Bannister, H. Johnson, T. Reynolds, H. Bastable, J. Joines, and others, who, with myself, were all agreed that, whether in the tower or out, they were an extraordinary fine set of bells, being so well balanced together in tone and tune.

I only hope your efforts to save these bells will be successful.—I am, yours faithfully,

JOHN CARTER.

To the Editor.

Sir,—With regard to the fate of this noted ring of bells, is it not possible even now to do something to save them, as you suggest no time must be lost? I know of a case where a now pulpit was placed in a parish church, the old pulpit was sent into another parish; in another case, an organ had to be removed for a larger one, the old one was moved into another parish. Cannot church bells be moved in the same way? In their ordinary course of business some of our bell founders are sure to have on hand either now or shortly the recasting of an old peal of eight, and increasing the same to ten. Could not these old eight bells with the necessary new metal be cast into the carillon for St. Michael's, and the ten bells from St. Michael's be placed in the tower where the ten from the foundry would have been placed? To facilitate this a conference should be held between representatives of the two churches concerned, the Central Council of Ringers, and the bell founders, when, no doubt, with explanations and reason, all obstacles will be overcome.

JOHN BEAMS.

MUFFLED BELLS.

At West Grinstead, Sussex, on May 29th, at St. George's Church, 720 Marple and 720 College Exercise Minor: F. Turrell 1, T. Adams 2, G. Warnett 3, V. Goatcher 4, H. Turrell 5, W. Denman (conductor) 6. Rung with the bells muffled as a token of respect to the late Mr. S. Stevens (churchwarden).—On Sunday, May 31st, with the bells half-muffled, 720-Woodbine: V. Turrell 1, F. Turrell 2, G. Warnett 3, V. Goatcher 4, H. Turrell 5, W. Denman (conductor) 6.—On Sunday, June 7th, touches of Plain Bob and Grandire Minor, for morning service: W. Denman 1, D. T. Davis (Birmingham) 2, G. Warnett 3, V. Turrell 4, F. Turrell 5, H. Turrell (conductor) 6.—For evening service, touches of Woodbine, Oxford, Kent and College Exercise were rung.

At Liscard, Cheshire, on Saturday, June 13th, at St. Mary's Church, a half-peal of Grandire Triples, being the first half of Reeves' Variation of Holt's Ten-Part was rung in 1 hr. 37 mins.: W. Hughes 1, A. Woosnam 2, D. Hughes 3, F. Woosnam 4, H. Lodkin 5, J. Hughes 6, W. A. Woosnam (conductor) 7, F. Winstanley 8. Rung with the bells half-muffled, as a token of respect and remembrance to a colleague, Henry Williams, who had been a ringer at this church since 1888, and who passed away May 18th. It was intended to attempt a full peal, but owing to the bad 'go' of the tenor, the bells had to be called home at the half-peal end.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL MEETING.

Beeston as follows:—In accordance with your instructions we have pleasure in submitting a list of records of first peals in new methods, and of progressive lengths in old methods, up to date. 5,184 Pudsey Surprise Major by the Midland Counties Association.

5,248 Double Norwich Court Bob Major ('in hand'), by the Cambridge University Guild.

Hitherto we have not referred in our reports to performances in Minor methods. There are, however, three such performances during the period under view, which your committee considers worthy of notice. The two first are seven complete extents in 30 methods on January 1st, 1923, the greatest at the time ever included in such a peal. It was exceeded, however, soon after December 4th, 1923, by seven complete extents in 35 methods. This remains the record.

Moreover, we feel it is advisable to give a list of the first Minor peals rung in progressive methods of methods spliced, according to the present recognised plan. The first was rung by the Lincoln Guild in eight methods, November 9th, 1909; the same Guild rang the first in (2) nine methods, March 10th, 1910; (3) 12 methods, November 7th, 1911; (4) 14 methods, February 15th, 1911; (5) 16 methods, November 18th, 1911.

The Chester Guild rang the first in (1) 13 methods, February 7th, 1920; (2) 15 methods, February 12th, 1924; (3) 17 methods, December 8th, 1921; (4) 18 methods, February 3rd, 1921; (5) 19 methods, July 12th, 1913; (6) 24 methods, November 24th, 1921; (7) 29 methods, March 8th, 1923; (8) 30 methods, January 1st, 1923; (9) 35 methods, December 4th, 1923.

The third performance referred to is a 5,040 at Norbury, Cheshire, on May 8th, 1924, in seven methods, none of which, as far as we know, has ever been included in a peal. The methods are numbers 16, 17, 20, 22, 24, 27 and 28 in the Council's collection of Treble Bob methods. They were rung under the names of Shamrock, Bluebell, Daffodil, Foxglove, Marigold, Dahlia and Geranium.

The report was signed by the Revs. A. H. Beeston, T. Hervey Beams, H. Law James.

THE FIRST SPLICED PEAL OF TRIPLES.

Mr. T. H. Beams seconded the adoption of the report. Referring to the recently rung peal of Spliced Grandsire and Union Triples, he said they had not yet seen the figures, and, therefore, they could not criticise, but until the composition appeared he would be like the Scotsman, and 'hae me doots' about it.

Mr. J. A. Trollope said the first peal rung, called Grandsire Triples, was a 'spliced' peal of Union and Grandsire. It was a peal of Grandsire with 5th's place bob.

Mr. J. W. Jones said, as one who took part in the recent peal, he could briefly explain how it was rung. When the 2nd, 3rd or 4th was in the hunt the method was Union; when the 5th, 6th or 7th was in the hunt the method was Grandsire. In ringing the peal the conductor did not indicate the change of method. He understood the figures would appear in 'The Ringing World' that week or the week after. (The composition was published in 'The Ringing World' of June 12th.)

Mr. J. S. Wilde pointed out that, strictly speaking, Shipway got the first spliced peal of Union and Grandsire Triples. In 'Grandsire' they would find the record of a five-part peal published by Shipway, but there was one lead of Union in each part; therefore it was a spliced peal of Union and Grandsire. In the Central Council's Collection of Peals, Section 1, there were two peals of Union Triples by W. H. Thompson. These were also spliced peals of Union and Grandsire Triples, as they had one lead of Grandsire Triples in each of the five parts. Mr. Davies also had a variation of a peal by Shipway, in which he brought home the five part-ends as the plain course leads of Grandsire Triples.

The Rev. H. Law James: The plain truth is, there is no such thing as Union Triples at all. It is nothing but 5th's place bobs in Grandsire.

Mr. J. W. Parker: The first spliced peal of Triples was the first peal of Stedman Triples, because Stedman is spliced Erin and Quick-Six Triples (laughter).

The report was accepted.

SCIENCE MUSEUM EXHIBIT.

The Hon. Secretary (Mr. E. A. Young) reported for the committee entrusted with the organisation of the exhibit for the South Kensington Science Museum. He said he last year suggested that the committee was rather moribund, and he now feared he had nothing much further to report. The head of the Section, where their small exhibit was, had told him he was still waiting for the re-organisation of the galleries, which would give him the floor and wall space. But the thing moved slowly. With regard to Mr. Carter's ringing machine, he (Mr. Young) had it at his own house, and had written a description, under Mr. Carter's instruction, as to how it worked and was controlled. He thought they might, therefore, now remove from their minds the feeling that the machine might eventually become somewhat useless because no one was familiar with its contrivances (hear, hear). Mr. Young added that the committee had not met during the year, as he had felt it was not necessary to convene them.

The Rev. C. D. P. Davies, in supporting Mr. Young's report, said he did not quite agree that the committee was moribund; it was not the committee, it was more likely the Science Museum. The authorities were 'hanging fire'; they could not yet give the committee the proper room. When they could do so, things would revive, and the committee would only be too glad to avail themselves of any opportunity the Museum authorities could give them. With regard to Mr. Carter's machine, they knew how deeply interesting it was, and he was very thankful that it was at present in Mr. Young's care, and that Mr. Young had had opportunity to write a description of it. As they all knew, the machine was absolutely unique, and, therefore, when Mr. Carter was taken from them, knowledge of the machine and how to work it might have died with him. It was of the greatest importance and value that someone should know how to work the machine. He was thankful it was in the able hands of someone like Mr. Young (hear, hear).

The report was accepted.

METHOD NOMENCLATURE.

The Nomenclature Committee's report was read by Mr. G. P. Burton as follows: In course of time, and by a process of natural selection and development, usage in most cases, sifts and settles by itself, any question of nomenclature. Although in certain departments of change ringing nomenclature that consummation has happily been quite successfully attained, e.g., such terms as 'Doubles,' 'Minor,' 'Triples,' 'Major,' etc., the same, unfortunately, cannot be said of method names. Without any system to guide the selection of fresh names, and with a multitude of new methods produced of late years, a state of almost indescribable confusion has arisen, especially as regards Minor, and more recently Major nomenclature. Every would-be method author has been a law to himself, there having been no authority to decide as to the names to be adopted. Recently, it is true, the schedule of names published by the Analysis Committee in the columns of 'The Ringing World' of 30th March, 1923, did something to set Minor nomenclature in order, and to remove some of the then existing uncertainties. However, unfortunately, that report assumed the necessity for the continuation of all existing anomalies, and, what was worse, stereotyped those floral names to which exception has so widely been taken.

In accordance with the terms of reference (1) 'to review existing method nomenclature, your committee have, during the year past, catalogued in tabular form, a collection of some 250 method names, the class to which each name belongs being set down, and the authority or reference, as far as is known, being quoted. It appears from this catalogue, that as many as eleven names are used twice over, five three times over, and so on. The names 'London,' by itself, is applied to four different methods, and in combination (i.e., double-barrelled names) is used for at least two more, or six times altogether. 'Cambridge' is likewise employed four times; 'Oxford' and 'Norwich' three times each, and so on. Furthermore, at least 46 names consist of two words (where one would suffice), 7 of three words, e.g., 'St. James' Youths' Exercise' (a plain Minor method), 'British Scholars' Pleasure' (a Treble Bob Minor method).

Much consideration has been given to names, which for one reason or another, appear unsuitable, and suggestions for alternatives have been noted in the catalogue. Although finality has not yet been reached in this direction, recommendations are made below as to substitutes for the 'flowers,' etc.

While your committee appreciates fully the value attaching to historical continuity—a name may be a chapter of history in itself—and realises that old names have, besides, a sentimental interest, yet it is convinced that no satisfactory reformation in nomenclature can be obtained without some break with the past. In many cases, old names, which are in themselves objectionable, are either obsolescent, or entirely fallen out of use. Such names ought not to be printed in any further publications issued by the Council.

Your committee make the following recommendations, in accordance with terms of reference (2): 'To suggest a suitable system of nomenclature for the future':—

RECOMMENDATIONS.

(a) That method classification should be simplified, and should in future fall into three main divisions: (1) Plain; (2) Treble Bob; (3) Surprise. Such sub-classification of Treble Bob, as 'Exercise,' '3rd Place Delight,' '4th Place Delight,' 'Pasallatessera,' 'Pasallatria' (as given in the C.C. Collection, p. viii, No. 4, 5, 2, 3, are, for all practical purposes, no longer needed, and are in fact, seldom, if ever, used. In modern ringing parlance, methods of the classes in question are termed either Treble Bob or Surprise.

(b) That in future any name should appertain to one individual method, and that in one class only, and should not, as at present, do duty for methods in any other classes, e.g.:—

London Surprise v. London Treble Bob, etc.

Cambridge Surprise v. Cambridge Delight, etc.

Oxford Treble Bob v. Oxford Bob, Oxford Surprise, etc.

The modern tendency to abbreviate has spread to ringing terms, with the result that it is usual nowadays to speak of 'London,' of 'Cambridge,' or of 'Oxford,' when it is intended that 'London Surprise,' 'Cambridge Surprise' and 'Oxford T.B.' be understood, and not 'London T.B.,' 'Cambridge Delight,' or 'Oxford Bob,' etc.

(c) That, as opportunity offers, all non-essential words, such as 'Pleasure,' 'Court,' 'Delight' and 'Bob,' when the latter is used as a meaningless appendage, be dropped. To a practical ringer Double Norwich now signifies the particular method intended, without the use of the words 'Court Bob.'

(d) That only selected topographical names be employed for the future.

(e) That a change of name be made in the following cases, and that the new names, in the right-hand column, be substituted:—

| (1) Floral. Proposed New Name | (1) Floral. Proposed New Name |

(f) Future requirements as regards new names may be expected to come less and less, as time goes on. Assuming there are still new methods to be discovered, any demand might, it is anticipated, be met by publishing a list of selected names in the next C.C. publication. Then, if a new method has to be named before the Council (through its committees) can express an opinion, one of those selected names must be chosen.

The report was signed by Arthur D. Barker, T. Hervey Beames, George P. Burton, Arthur L. Coleman and H. Drake.

Rider by Rev. H. Drake: (1) In the case of all new methods, which have been rung under names proposed to be altered, an opportunity should be given to those who first rang them to approve of the proposed new name.

Riders by the committee: (2) No names or terms supplementary of, or in substitution for, these published by authority of C.C. should be used until the sanction of C.C. has been obtained; (3) a supplement to the Glossary, containing new names and terms up to date, should be at once put in hand.

COMMITTEE'S MODERATE PROPOSALS.

Mr. Burton, in proposing the adoption of the report, remarked the committee were at some disadvantage in not having been able to publish their report in advance, both from the point of view of clarity and the saving of time. Continuing, he said, with regard to the confusion of names, the committee admitted that many Minor names had been put right in the work of the Analysis Committee in 1925, but it had been by no means cleared up. One Treble Bob method had had, at various times, eight names, and all these eight names were somewhere or other current. Mr. Burton gave instances of other cases where overlapping of names still exists, and then went on to refer to the absurdities in the terms used in ringing. Ringers, he said, had got so used to them that they did not quite realise how ridiculous they might seem in the eyes of laymen. Such a name as 'Grandsire'—the committee made no proposal about that—was really a very absurd term, and although they could not hope to get rid of that word, there were many others equally absurd which might with advantage be dispensed with. The word 'bob' was certainly absurd. It was undoubtedly a good belfry 'call,' and they did not want anything better for that purpose than 'bobs' and 'singles,' but they did not want the term 'bob' used anywhere else. The committee maintained they should not use the same word twice over, by introducing it into the names of methods. They were sorry to see that in the titles of some of the new methods that had been recently published the word 'bob' was quite gratuitously thrown in. It was not wanted, and only made it a bit of a laughing-stock. With regard to the names which the committee suggested should be substituted for the floral names, they thought it might be easier if they provided a name as nearly as possible like that which they hoped to discard, or with the same initial letter. It would make it easier for the hands in the habit of using the old names to get used to the new ones. The Nomenclature Committee, added Mr. Burton, wanted the Methods Committee to clear up several doubts as to classification, because they wanted to know, if they were to be asked by the Council to give names, the classes to which the methods belonged. The Council would see that the committee's proposals were exceedingly moderate, in view of the feeling up and down the country in favour of a drastic change. The committee submitted that their case for this change was a very strong one, and they asked those who wanted more to be content, and those who disliked any change to be as accommodating as they could. They also appealed to the Methods Committee for their co-operation, as they did not want to be antagonistic towards one another.

BRISTOL SURPRISE.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I am sorry I misquoted Mr. Craven with regard to Bristol Royal. I am afraid my fault lies in trusting to memory.

In the previous article, in order to save space as much as possible, I only touched on the fringe of Royal and Maximus, giving a guide how to proceed by dealing with Major fully. As some further explanation may be necessary, will you allow me to trespass a little more on your valuable space?

One of the main points I tried to make clear is, that every Treble Bob Method which employs Stedman blocks and Court shunts solely, is a 'Bristol Method.' The function of the Stedman block is to prevent repetition of rows, it has no effect on the half lead end or lead head. The Court shunts govern the half lead end, thus the lead head. I showed that it was necessary to use all the R shunts, so the half lead end on all numbers depends on the number of P shunts used. If there are none it is 426 . . . 1, if one it is 234 . . . 1, if there are two it is 352 . . . 1, and so on, transposing as 234 . . . 1 is to 352 . . . 1 for each added P shunt, as was so ably shown by Mr. Trollope in a recent article.

There are several lines of extension of Bristol Surprise Major which can claim to be correct; these depend upon the number of P shunts used. I have shown two and a subsidiary in Royal, and two in Maximus. There are at least four lines and some subsidiaries in Maximus. In Royal, since one P shunt only would give an unsymmetrical method, there are two cases: (i) with two P shunts, (ii) without P shunts. In Maximus the four are: (i) with three; (ii) with two; (iii) with one; (iv) with none. Nos. (ii) and (iv) I have already given; No. (i) will be found under Mr. Craven's name in the 'Ringing World' of January 19th, 1923; a subsidiary of No. (iii) under the Rev. E. Bankes James' name in the 'Ringing World' of Sept. 8th, 1922. No. (iii) is a subsidiary because the four bell Stedman blocks with Treble in 5-6 and 7-8 are extended by a dodge to seven rows; this is possible in some cases where the blocks overlap, as an alternative.

Which of the four most nearly resembles Major?

I put this question because, whilst all the lines are correct, some are better than others, and the one which most resembles Major is most entitled to the name. It is difficult to answer definitely, and the question admits of some controversy. I will do my best to put the points fairly for the Maximus.

No. (iv) can be at once ruled out as it contains no P shunts.

No. (i) has too many P shunts in proportion to the number of Stedman blocks, namely, 3 to 2 in Maximus where Major has only 1 to 2.

No. (iii) at first sight looks most promising; it has the half lead end 234567890cT1 giving rise to lengthening leads; unfortunately the P shunt is not true 'type a,' but extended to 12 rows. Any attempt to use 'type a' causes a bell to strike three consecutive blows on the lead and behind; lastly, the ratio of P shunts to Stedman blocks is too small, being 1 to 4.

In No. (ii) this ratio is 1 to 2, as in Major, and the P shunts are 'type a,' and the whole of the work of Major is exactly duplicated; further it can be triplicated on sixteen, and so on, for each four added bells. I will again write a quarter lead of No. (ii) Maximus, and ask all to compare it row by row with Major. The quarter work division is not a straight line. Sixteen has a straight line quarter division, which, though not a ringable proposition, is given for further comparison. In it, so as to make the Stedman blocks clear, I give only the first and last rows.

It will be evident in Maximus (ii) that it is quite impossible to make a P shunt when Treble passes from 5-6 to 7-8. The work of

2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 is exactly as in Major; 7 is modified slightly whilst in the Stedman block, it having more elbow room.

Note carefully: The Stedman blocks on 8, 12, 16, etc., always commence with a whole pull right above the Treble, and with a whole pull wrong below the Treble, in the first half lead. A further point which applies to Nos. (ii) and (iii) is that 8, 12, 16, etc., can be rung as Lancashire, either wholly or in part. I am afraid this cannot be done with Nos. (i) and (iv) without destroying the Lancashire characteristic. This property is more marked, perhaps, in No. (iii) than in No. (ii); indeed, to decide between these two is very difficult, and almost impossible. My judgment is that the balance is very slightly in favour of No. (iii). If we decide that Bristol Royal is correct, then it follows that case (i) Maximus, as given by Mr. Craven, is without doubt correct, but in Maximus other considerations of far greater weight appear, which tend to show that the method can only exist imperfectly and incomplete in Royal. It is better to regard the Royal as a stepping-stone to Maximus, and that it is not in the best line of extension.—Yours truly,

Tower House, Penwortham.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

DELIGHTFUL MEETING AT STOURTON.

For geographical reasons the North Dorset Branch of the Salisbury Guild includes two towers in Wiltshire. To one of these, Stourton, a visit was paid on Saturday, 8th June, when the quarterly branch meeting was held there, and the gathering proved one of the most enjoyable that could ever be imagined. The ancient church of this village stands on a verdant slope, facing the magnificent grounds of Stourton House, where the lake formed from the springs of the River Stour, gleamed clear and cool in the sunshine of a perfect summer day, while on its banks the fresh green foliage of stately trees mingled with the gorgeous hues of azaleas and rhododendrons in their prime.

At this delectable spot, ringers and their friends gathered from far and near, and the beautiful old church was filled with a large congregation for the Guild service at 4.30 p.m. The office was said by the Master of the Guild, the Rev. R. H. Gundry, and the Rector (the Rev. H. Poole King) gave an admirable address on the words of Psalm xcvi., 'O come, let us worship.' The singing was very heartily rendered with a fine volume of voices.

After church, the whole party, about ninety in number, sat down to an al fresco tea in delightful surroundings. The business meeting was conducted in the open air, the Master presiding, while the branch secretary (the Rev. R. E. P. Gorringer) was in charge of the minute book. Several new members were elected, and a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector, the organist, and the local ringers for their respective contributions to the edification and enjoyment of those attending.

By kind permission of Sir Henry Hoare, the grounds of Stourton House were open to ringers in the evening, and a walk through this wonderful estate, with its rich variety of forestry, its cool grottos, and quaint buildings nestling amid shady groves and flowering shrubs, was an experience that those privileged to enjoy it will never forget.

One incident will leave a lifelong impression on all those who experienced it. In the grounds stands a building in the style of a Greek Temple, and the young lady conducting a party of ringers round informed them that singing there produced a wonderful echo. Accordingly three verses of the hymn, 'We love the place, O God,' were sung within the building, and the blend of vocal tone, caught up by the echo of the structure, produced an effect of almost unearthly beauty.

A large number of towers in the North Dorset branch were represented at the meeting, and visitors were present from Wedmore and Bridgwater, besides a strong force from Bristol, under the superintendence of Messrs. Jennings and Cave. The six melodious bells of the parish church were busily plied throughout the afternoon and evening, in touches of Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob.

FIFTY YEARS IN THE MINISTRY.

CANTERBURY CATHEDRAL PRECENTOR'S JUBILEE.

Trinity Sunday was a memorable date in the calendar for Minor Canon E. J. O. Helmore, Precentor of Canterbury Cathedral, as he on that day completed a ministry of fifty years in the Church of England. He was ordained in the Hereford Cathedral in 1875, and after acting as Assistant Vicar Choral at that Cathedral for a short time he was for fifteen months curate and Precentor at Shakespeare's Church, Stratford-on-Avon.

Mr. Helmore came to Canterbury Cathedral 47 years ago—in 1878—and the first service he attended in the Cathedral was the Pan-Anglican Congress of that year. Two years later he was appointed Precentor, and for 45 years he has continuously held that office, during which time he has taken part in the enthronement of three Archbishops—Archbishops Benson, Temple and Davidson, and the installation of three Deans—Deans Farrar, Waco and Bell. He was also chaplain to the Canterbury Guardians' Institution from 1882 to 1916, and he has been Rector of Stodmarsh since 1912.

In the sphere of change ringing, Mr. Helmore has achieved national fame, and is among the oldest clerical ringers in the country. For 40 years he has been an active and keen campanologist, and in February, 1923, a tablet was unveiled in Canterbury Cathedral belfry to commemorate his 200th peal. He has been honorary secretary of the Kent County Association of Change Ringers since 1891, and his popularity is such that, although he has frequently expressed his desire to be relieved of his office, the association has resolutely refused to hear of his resignation. Further, as a mark of their esteem, the change ringers of the county, in 1907 presented Mr. Helmore with a handsome roll-top desk, which he received at the hands of the Dean of Rochester.

Mr. Helmore retains his health and vigour to a remarkable degree, and his host of friends, will not only congratulate him upon his ministerial jubilee, but express the hope that he may be spared to serve the great Cathedral with which he has already been so long associated.—Kentish Express.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

SOUTHERN DIVISION.

The quarterly meeting was held at Arksey on Saturday, June 20th. There was an excellent attendance of members from the following towers: All Saints', Sheffield, Rotherham, Wortley, Conisboro', Horbury, Pontefract, Doncaster, Gainsboro', Leeds and Bradford, and the local company, bringing the total up to nearly 60. Mr. P. J. Johnson, hon. secretary, and Mr. J. Cotterill, hon. treasurer, were also welcome visitors.

The bells were rung in various methods up to 4.30, when a short service was held, and a very able and interesting address was given by the Vicar (the Rev. H. C. Fraser, M.A.). The business meeting was held immediately after tea, the Vicar being voted to the chair, supported by Mr. F. Willey (vice-president).

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed, and five new members were elected, these being Messrs. A. Stamp, P. Mangham, N. Angus, C. Poulterway and G. Johnson, all of Rotherham Parish Church.

No invitation was forthcoming for the September meeting, and this was left for the secretary and committee to arrange, with the proviso that the last two Saturdays in September be left clear, as the annual dinner of the association and the jubilee meeting of the association are being held on those two Saturdays.—Mr. P. J. Johnson moved a vote of sympathy he extended to the hon. district secretary in his illness, and hopes were expressed for his speedy recovery.—This was seconded by Mr. Willey, and passed.—Votes of thanks to the Vicar, churchwardens, choir, organist, the ladies for their services, also to Mr. G. Clark for kindly undertaking the secretary's duties, was proposed by Mr. Johnson, and seconded by Mr. C. Ryder, and was heartily carried.

The Vicar replied in suitable terms, and the meeting, one of the best ever held at Arksey, was brought to a close, after which ringing was carried on until 8.30 p.m.

A ROUND OF SUSSEX TOWERS.

On Tuesday, May 26th, the Henfield (Sussex) ringers, with several friends, had their annual outing, when they visited Canterbury, in ideal weather. At Hawkhurst they were met by Mr. G. Billenness, to whom they wish to express gratitude for obtaining the necessary permission to ring, and also getting everything in readiness. A touch of Stedman Triples was rung, and a few rounds for the juniors, and the journey was then continued through delightful scenery. On reaching the destination, the Cathedral became the principal attraction. Although arriving a little behind time, the party were admitted to the tower, under the guidance of Mr. Pearce, to whom grateful thanks are tendered for making it possible to accomplish one of the chief objects of the day, a touch of Stedman on the Cathedral bells. This having been brought round, the time came all too soon for the return journey.

METHOD NAMES & CLASSIFICATIONS

The report of the Nomenclature Committee of the Central Council, which was published in our last issue, will have been read with interest by our readers. The effort to bring order out of chaos was begun by the Analysis Committee a few years ago. The new Committee has carried this work a step further, and, in accordance with its terms of reference, is seeking to correct what the majority of ringers consider to have been a blunder in the expansion of a class of names for methods which, whether looked upon as picturesque or otherwise, are totally unsuited to what is, after all, a serious science. The probability is that, if the Analysis Committee had been willing, at Lincoln, to take back their proposals for the reconsideration of the method names, instead of insisting upon the Council taking the report, and nothing but the report, there would have been no pressing demand for a revision of old names, such as is now demanded, in conjunction with the desire for suitable titles for new methods.

Many of the methods with quaint and undesirable names are dying a natural death, because the ringers of to-day have something better to ring, and because of the recognition given by the Central Council only to methods of a particular standard of construction. This recognition, which finds its fullest expression in the 'Collection of Minor Methods,' has had an increasing effect upon Minor ringing in the last fifteen years, which is not a little remarkable, and whatever those who desire to belittle the work of the Council may say, there is no doubt that in this direction the central authority has done a great deal to uplift the standard of six-bell ringing. It was unfortunate, therefore, that anything should have been done, even unwittingly, by one of its committees which should tend to lower the dignity of the Exercise in the eyes of the public—and it can scarcely be denied that an action which would enable Press or public to point the finger of ridicule at it would help to undermine the dignity of the art.

The work of the Nomenclature Committee is, therefore, a very necessary one, and, since the revision of the new names is necessary, alteration of old ones, even of those of 'dying' methods, is not inappropriate at this time. But there is in the report an indication that the Committee desire to go further than dealing with simple names, and to revise the means by which the classification of methods has been distinguished in recent years. It is in this, we think, that the Committee is most likely to come into conflict with the Methods Committee. The latter is hardly likely to agree with the Nomenclature Committee that the words 'Pleasure,' 'Court,' 'Delight' and 'Bob' are non-essential words in the designation of a method, nor, we imagine, will they agree that 'Plain,' 'Treble

Bob' and 'Surprise' are sufficient classification for all the methods (apart from Principles) which are practised. The terms used in these classifications have a now clearly defined meaning, and if, for example, one followed the Nomenclature Committee's argument to its logical conclusion, there is no use for the word 'Surprise,' for all 'Surprise' methods, like all 'Delight' methods, are included in the category 'Treble Bob.' To eliminate the distinctive names used in classification is not quite a simple matter, and the Nomenclature Committee may, we think, find it necessary to revise their recommendations in this respect.

RINGERS' OUTINGS.

THE ST. CLEMENT'S YOUTHS.

On Saturday, June 13th, the St. Clement's Youths held their fourth annual outing, when Chislehurst, Shoreham and Downe, were the places visited. The weather on the day was perfect, and the main portion of the party, including Mr. C. F. Winney, the Master, and about twelve members and friends, left Charing Cross Station at 1.30, bound for Chislehurst, where the company were joined by Mr. Sergison (secretary) and Mr. E. A. Young, who first founded the society, and their wives and a few more friends. The party were met by Mr. Tom Groombridge, who joined them for the rest of the trip.

The Chislehurst bells, a nice peal of eight (tenor about 20 cwt.) were raised in readiness, and were soon set going to Cambridge Major, and Grandsire and Erin Triples. They then rung three leads of Treble Ten on the fine peal of handbells belonging to the church. About a mile out of Shoreham the charabanc broke down. This seemed at first to be an unsurmountable difficulty, but someone suggested walking into Shoreham, which suggestion was acted upon, Mr. Young digging out a short cut, through the woods and fields, which gave the party an opportunity of seeing some most beautiful scenery.

On arrival at Shoreham they were met by Mr. Cheeseman, the steeplekeeper, and the bells were raised, and set going to Stedman Triples and Cambridge Major.

After about half an hour's ringing, tea was partaken of. After tea, the party rang a short touch on handbells. The charabanc, which had been repaired by the combined efforts of the driver, and one or two of the mechanically-gifted members of the party, arrived for the remainder of the journey.

Downe was reached, where there is a fine little peal of six (tenor about 12 cwt.). Here they rang Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, and Oxford Treble Bob and Cambridge Minor. The ringing finished, the bells were lowered in peal, and outside the church gate the party rang a course of Grandsire Caters and a touch of Stedman Triples on handbells.

This concluded the ringing, and North Bromley Station was reached, without further mishap, at 9.45, just in time to catch the 9.50 train to Charing Cross.

The company, one and all, wish to thank all who made the outing so successful: Mr. Young for obtaining the charabanc at short notice; and Mr. Sergison for making all the arrangements.

HASTINGS.

On Saturday, June 13th, the ringers of Christ Church, Blacklands, Hastings, had a very successful outing, when they visited Marden and Headcorn. Leaving Hastings at 2 p.m., the journey was made by motor, via Battle, Robertsbridge, Kildown, Goudhurst, to Marden, where an hour's ringing was enjoyed. Tea was served in the village, and a vote of thanks was passed to Mr. S. C. Driver for arranging the outing. It was decided to send letters of thanks to the Rev. R. E. Johnston (Marden) and the Rev. C. P. Dale (Headcorn) for allowing the use of the bells. The party then journeyed to Headcorn, where the bells were available for an hour and a half.

Messrs. J. Livermore and W. Franks called several touches of Grandsire Triples and Bob Major, and rounds were rung for the learners. The return journey was made via Biddenden, Tenterden, Rolvenden and Northiam, Hastings being reached shortly after 11 p.m., a very enjoyable day having been spent. Those taking part in the ringing were as follows: H. Bissenden, F. Coates, J. Downing S. C. Driver, W. Franks (Battle), J. Gallop, J. Livermore, H. Parkin, J. Penfold, E. Prior and W. Swaine.

WESTON-SUPER-MARE.

On Saturday, June 20th, the ringers of St. John's Parish Church, Weston-super-Mare, included two octogenarians, viz., Mr. E. Parker, senr., of Bleadon, and Mr. Jesse Marche—the former for 60 years a ringer, whilst the latter has attended these functions for many years past. Mr. Alec Evans (Burnham-on-Sea) again joined in the 'touches' at both churches. The party of twenty proceeded to Trowbridge, via Wells, Frome, Shepton Mallet and Beckington. The tourists reached Trowbridge at 11.30, being met by Mr. Sam Hector (late captain of the team at St. James' Church), and also proprietor of the White Swan Hotel, where lunch was served. Mr. Hector afterwards took the party to the Church of St. James, which holds a fine peal of ten—tenor 24 cwt. After several touches of Grandsire and Stedman, lasting an hour, the 'boys' thanked Mr. Hector, and a start was made for Devizes.

Bishop Canning, Calne, Beckhampton, Silbury Hill, and Marlborough, reaching Swindon at 4.20 p.m. Here the company were greeted at the Parish Church (Old Swindon) by Mr. Ernest Bishop, who had kindly made the necessary arrangements. Then came some more chiming, even Mr. Parker (81) persisting in reaching the ringing chamber, despite the heat of the day, and advanced age. Here some nice touches of Grandsire and Stedman were 'hit off.' This church contains a melodious peal of ten, recast, hung and dedicated as recently as 1924; the weight of the tenor (incidentally this bell was given by the ringers) is over 22 cwt. After tea, and the usual compliments and reminiscences, the party left Swindon, the homeward route being through Wootton Bassett, Danntsey, Chippenham, passing the Bath stone quarries, to Box Hill, Bath, Bristol, to Weston-super-Mare. The Westonsians desire to thank everyone concerned for the use of the bells and kind hospitality shown them.

EVERCREECH, SOMERSET.

The ringers of St. Peter's tower, Evercreech, with their captain, Mr. R. Whitehead, and accompanied by friends, went on their annual summer outing on Saturday, 20th June. Glorious sunshine prevailed throughout the trip, which was to Weston-super-Mare, by charabanc. The journey forward was by way of the picturesque country over the Mendips. Halts were made at Chewton Mendip, Blagdon, and Yatton, where the towers were visited, and touches rung on the bells. The captain of each tower warmly welcomed the party, and at Yatton the Vicar (the Rev. F. E. Peart) also extended a very hearty welcome. During the incumbency of the late Hon. and Rev. E. C. A. Talbot, the Rev. F. E. Peart was assistant curate of Evercreech. Weston was reached at 1 p.m., all being ready for the splendid lunch that was prepared for them. The afternoon was spent on the Old Pier, and in motor boat trips, the latter proving a source of great enjoyment. At 8.30 p.m. the party left for home, which was reached at 10.30, after a really enjoyable day.

HALESWORTH AND CHEDISTON SOCIETY.

On Monday, June 22nd, the members of the above society had their annual outing. The party, numbering 14, which included the Rector (the Rev. H. C. Newbery), Mr. C. J. Goodwin (churchwarden), Mr. F. G. Lambert (hon. secretary), Mr. Jas. Howard (hon. treasurer), and Mr. H. Pratt, of Croydon, proceeded with a comfortable charabanc by road to Great Yarmouth. They visited en route Raveningham, Norton Subcourse (where the Vicar met them), and Thurlton Churches, ringing touches of Stedman and Grandsire Doubles, and Kent Treble Bob Minor, and had the pleasure of a pull with Mr. F. A. Finch, of Loddon. At Thurlton, welcome refreshments were kindly provided at the Rectory by Mrs. Swatbridge (wife of the Rector), and the visitors were welcomed by Mr. Alexander, churchwarden. An excellent dinner was partaken of at the London Hotel, Market Place, Great Yarmouth, and the annual business meeting followed, presided over by the Rector. All the officers were re-elected, the secretary's report showing that nine peals had been rung since their last meeting.—The Rector and churchwarden thanked the ringers for their services, and expressed their great pleasure at being present on that occasion. Mr. Denison Hayward, captain of the Yarmouth St. Nicholas' ringers, met the party, and had kindly arranged an afternoon's ringing for them on the fine peal of twelve bells at the Parish Church, which was much appreciated. The methods rung were Grandsire and Stedman Triples on the back eight bells, and also rounds and call changes on the full peal, several of the party ringing twelve bells for the first time. The Halesworth men were pleased to meet and ring with Messrs. R. Narborough (Wilshech), W. Cross (Peterborough) and A. More (late of Palgrave).

Tea followed, and then Gorleston was visited on the return journey, several well-struck touches of Kent Treble Bob, Bob Minor, and six-score of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles being brought round. The last call was at Haddiscoe, to greet a few ringing friends, and the musical peal of five bells in the quaint Norman tower were heard to good advantage in Stedman, Plain Bob and Grandsire Doubles.

During the day, a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to all the clergy, churchwardens, and towerkeepers of the churches visited, and their old friend, Mr. D. Hayward, for their kindness in making all arrangements for the ringing, etc.

Home was reached shortly before 10 p.m., one and all having spent a most enjoyable day.

THE HYTHE (KENT) SOCIETY.

The Hythe (Kent) Society had their annual outing on June 22nd, to Croydon. The outward journey was via Charing, to Maidstone, Ighiteham and Knockholt, the party arriving at Croydon in time for dinner. In the afternoon a visit was paid to Messrs. Gillett and Johnston's Foundry, where, by kind permission of the firm, they were shown over the works. At the present time the foundry is busy with carillons for Holland, bells for Manchester Cathedral, Lamberhurst, and other places. A most interesting and instructive afternoon was spent, which was much enjoyed by the members, who had the various items explained to them. The homeward journey was via Warlingham, Westerham, Tonbridge (where a stop was made for tea), Pembury, Goudhurst and Woodchurch, Hythe being reached at 10.30.

The members wish to thank Messrs. Gillett and Johnston for their kindness and courtesy in allowing them to see the foundry, and obtaining much valuable information.

WORCESTERSHIRE AND DISTRICTS ASSOCIATION. NORTHERN BRANCH.

The quarterly meeting of the above branch was held at Northfield on Saturday, June 20th, in ideal weather. The bells were available from 3 o'clock, and were kept merrily going till service time, at 4.45. The service was held in the beautiful village church, and was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. R. A. Haysom, the association form of service being used. He gave a splendid address.

Fifty members were present at tea. The business meeting followed, the Rector presiding. Several new members were enrolled, and it was resolved that the next meeting be held at Hagley on September 18th.—On the proposition of the Ringing Master of the Association (Mr. R. Mathews), it was unanimously agreed that a congratulatory letter of the members' best wishes be sent to the Ringing Master of the Southern Branch (Mr. J. D. Johnson) upon his recent marriage, the parents of both bride and bridegroom being highly respected members of the Worcestershire Association.—A hearty vote of thanks, proposed by Mr. W. B. Cartwright, was accorded to the Rector for his address, the use of the bells, and for presiding at the meeting, and also accompanying the hymns on the organ. He coupled with this also all those who had helped to make the meeting such a success.—This was seconded by Mr. A. E. Parsons.—In reply, the Rector thanked them very much for their vote of thanks, and said it was the first meeting of bell ringers he had ever attended, and he hoped it would not be the last.

After the meeting, the members returned to the tower until about 8.30, touches in all the standard methods were brought round, and this concluded a very enjoyable meeting.

DEATH OF MR. ROBERT MEDLAND AT NETLEY ABBEY

Although the above name is not generally known to the readers of the 'Ringing World,' the news of his death will, I am sure, be read with regret by those ringers who have had the pleasure of spending several week-ends at Netley Abbey for the purpose of peal ringing in the past. He was of the most cheery disposition and obliging in the way of making any arrangements. Mr. Medland was a native of Devon, but left his native county before change ringing had developed, and although not a change ringer he had been entrusted with the leadership of the local band and care of the bells since their opening by the Cumberlands on October 13th, 1886. Although the deceased used to take a great interest in the visits paid by the Winchester Guild, he was never able to get his own band to take up change ringing.

A meeting of the Guild was held there only about a fortnight previous to our old friend's death, to endeavour to get the Netley tower affiliated, when the present Vicar (the Rev. R. E. H. Summers), himself an honorary member, promised to use his best endeavours. This was the last time the writer saw the deceased, who passed peacefully away on Saturday, June 20th, and was interred at Hound Churchyard on Tuesday, the 23rd. In addition to the family mourners, representatives of the bell ringers and Oddfellows were present, as well as former employees of the late Miss Rashleigh, with whom he served for many years; also the Master of the Winchester Diocesan Guild of Bell Ringers, who was a very intimate friend of Mr. Medland.

The floral tributes were numerous, and the breastplate was inscribed: 'Robert Medland, died June 20th, 1925, aged 83 years.'

The bells were rung muffled by the local ringers.

LUDLOW AND CHURCH STRETTON DISTRICT.

A very successful combined practice of the above district was held at Church Stretton on Saturday, June 20th, ringers, numbering 18, being present from Acton Scott, Bromfield, Church Stretton, Knighton, Ludlow, Stokesay, Shrewsbury, and the Rev. H. S. T. Richardson (District Ringing Master).

The bells were set going at 3.15 p.m., and during the afternoon some good touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Double Norwich, Kent Treble Bob and Plain Bob Major were rung.

After tea, touches of Grandsire Doubles, and Grandsire and Stedman Triples were rung.

The bells were finally brought down at 7.15 p.m., which brought to a close a very instructive afternoon.

COVENTRY BELLS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Seeing there is a suggestion to recast the famous Coventry bells, I feel I must say a few words.

On Whit Monday, 1864, I had the pleasure of ringing at St. Michael's, in company with Henry Haley, Matt. Wood, W. Cooter, G. Ferris, E. Lansdell, J. Pettit, J. R. Haworth, G. A. Musket, on an outing from London, and also Henry Johnson, and others, from Birmingham.

It was the general opinion that the bells ranked amongst the very best we had ever heard. Ned Lansdell's words were, 'They are all brothers and sisters, every one of them.'

I hope the authorities will never agree to allow such fine bells to be destroyed for the sake of a so-called carillon, but that they will work in the opposite direction, and make provision for them to be properly rung, either in the stately steeple of St. Michael's, or in a separate campanile, as at Chichester.

As I am most likely the only one living who rang on that day in 1864, I trust the opinion of the old ones will bear some weight in preventing the destruction of one of the finest peals in the country.—Yours truly, E. HORREX.

24, Combermere Road, Stockwell, S.W.9.

Dear Sir,—I for one contend that it is a thousand pities to break up the famous ring of ten bells of St. Michael's Cathedral, Coventry, having had the pleasure of hearing and also ringing on this splendid peal on many occasions. I also took part in the last peal rung on them, which was on June 9th, 1883, being one of Stedman Caters, in which the late Henry Johnson also took part, and I can assure you that the harmony, and especially the power of tone, is all that can be desired, and most enchanting, so that there is no need for recasting them, as far as a peal of ten are concerned. But they have got to make room for a carillon of 14 bells. More's the pity. At one time the citizens of Coventry would have made a strong protest against having their famous bells broken up, but for many years the people of Coventry have not heard their bells rung to advantage.

In consequence of tower trouble, the bells have come to be forgotten, as it were. In conclusion, I might say that it would be a good idea if they could be transferred to the neighbouring Cathedral of St. Philip's, Birmingham, which, of course, is in the same county, for the bells of the last-mentioned Cathedral are extremely bad, and the tower is just the place to take them on one level.—Yours faithfully, T. MILLER.

AN OLD RING OF FOUR.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I am sending you dates and inscriptions of a very old ring of four bells.

These are from ancient bells in the old Parish Church of St. Mary's, Fairstead, Essex.

Treble bell.—Diameter 27 inches.—'Thomas Gardiner Fecit (made me) 1725.' This Gardiner was of Sudbury. He has also bells in the towers of Cressing, Terling and Witham, Essex.

2nd.—Diameter 28 inches.—'T. Osborne Fecit 1785.' Osborne was of Downham, Essex.

3rd.—Diameter 30 inches.—On the crown of this bell, X 'Vocor (I am called) Johannes.' Petrus—De. Wiston made me. Petrus—De. Wiston bell, founder of London, died in 1348. This bell, therefore, is particularly valued from its antiquity, being a Pre-Reformation bell. In the Deanery of Witham, Essex, there are only five bells, which date before the Reformation, the Fairstead bell being the oldest of the five.

The fourth bell, or tenor.—Diameter 33 inches.—Ricardus Bowler me Fecit 1601. Ricardus Bowler was of Colchester, Essex.

Yours truly,

D. W. FISHER.

Vicarage Road, Terling, Essex.

FIRST PEALS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—With reference to the committee's report on first peals, etc., appearing in last week's 'Ringing World,' I am at a loss to understand how it comes about that the Midland Counties Association is bracketed with the Warwickshire Guild for the first peal of Cambridge Court Bob Major.

When the peal was rung at Nuneaton on July 19th, 1923, several of the band, including the conductor, were not members of the M.C.A., and the peal was published in your journal as purely a Warwickshire Guild peal. Furthermore, whatever credit may be attached to first peals in new methods, should, I think, in this instance (if my memory serves me correct), be accorded the Cambridge University Guild, who were the first, I believe, to ring a peal in this method on handbells.—I am, yours faithfully,

ABRAHAM WILKERSON,

Late Hon. General Secretary, Warwickshire Guild,
68, Norman Avenue, Nuneaton,
June 28th, 1925.

GRUMBLEITIS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I read in a recent issue your article re those who grumble about the 'scientific matter' which you publish. I should say off-hand, that if you succeed in pleasing 'all' your readers you will be the first Editor to achieve such signal success. I believe I can, without boasting, lay claim to have rubbed shoulders with a greater number of different ringers than any other of the rank and file of the Exercise, and I trust that my small experience of a matter of thirty years' listening to their grumbles will not dishearten them, and cause them to refrain from their grumbles, for, really, if they did stop, one of my only sources of amusement would be cut off, and I should spend many weary hours listening to twaddle of no interest to even a ringer who reads his paper from cover to cover.

A great many people are unable to wax eloquent, unless they are having a grumble, a good hearty growl clears their chest, and one gets a good laugh at their inconsistency, for ringers can never be consistent in their grumbles. They grumble at reports of meetings. Who wants to read such stuff, they say. Next week the 'R.W.' is full of matter on method building, then we get the grumble that no one wants to read that 'twaddle,' then the week after comes a copy giving the Sunday Service touches—a big show—and the selfsame good old grumbler turns up with the—'Who wants to read this trash?' I have repeatedly asked the disgruntled ones what they really wanted, and the invariable reply is, 'Why, something useful and interesting, of course'; and when I ask them to define what they would require, not one in each hundred can offer even a weak suggestion as to the sort of matter they call 'interesting.' I remember once reading a complaint signed 'A constant reader,' because some pseudo funny man had tried his hand, and when the P.E.M. retaliated by asking for some of Mr. A. C. R.'s 'better than the best,' the matter dropped.

If only ringers would remember that all matter in the 'R.W.' is the product of their own fraternity, that if the matter is poor and uninteresting it is entirely the fault of some of their own friends, and it behoves the grumblers to try and improve on things. But, personally, I prefer to hear their grumbles, for those are to say the least of it—more interesting than their logic. So keep on with the 'uninteresting' stuff, Mr. Editor, and you will at least please

CHANTICLER.

WHY NOT?

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—As several ringers have been asking the meaning of the sentence, 'We fortunately still have Lavenham, etc., one can hardly now add St. Mary Redcliffe.' Assuming this to be St. Mary Redcliffe, one may well ask, why not? It can claim a record, I expect, in one direction. On the great festivals, Christmas, Easter and Whitsun, it is no unusual thing to hear Stedman Cinques being rung between 5 and 5.30 a.m.

Practices are held on the third Tuesday in the month, at 7.30 p.m. sharp. If 'Temple Bar' would like to pay us a visit we should be only too pleased to see him. Any 12-bell ringer who may be visiting Bristol on holiday or business, and would like to ring there, please communicate with Mr. Guise, at 39, Tankard's Close, St. Michael's, or to, yours truly,

W. A. CAVE.

HEREFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

HEREFORD DISTRICT.

A quarterly meeting of the Hereford district was held at Woolhope recently, 28 members being present from Allensmore, Madley, Fowahope, Holmer, Hampton Bishop, Mordiford, Tarrington, Stoke Edith, Hereford Cathedral, and the local tower. A service was held in the church, with an address by the Vicar.

Tea was followed by a short business meeting, at which the Vicar presided.—It was proposed to hold a combined practice at Much Dewchurch in June, and at Tarrington in July.

One life member, three hon. members and eight probationary members were elected.

At the close of the meeting, Mr. C. Edwards (Master of the Guild) thanked the Vicar for the use of the bells, also for his excellent address.—The Rev. G. W. Turner (general secretary) also expressed his appreciation of the interest the clergy were taking in the ringers.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

E. BERKS AND S. BUCKS BRANCH.

An enjoyable time was spent at Langley and Horton on Saturday last. Grandsire Stedman and Plain Bob were rung at Langley. A short service was held, which included the ringers, and an address was given by the Rev. H. Shepherd, whose wife officiated at the organ. A splendid tea was provided by the steeplekeeper, through the unexpected generosity of a friend, who paid the bill, and was gratefully appreciated by the company.

Afterwards, at Horton, Grandsire Doubles, Kent, Kent and Oxford Spliced, Cambridge, London and Morpeth Surprise were rung.

THE MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION. SOUTH AND WEST DISTRICT.

On Saturday, May 9th, a meeting was held at St. Mary's, Ealing. The Ringing Master got the bells going soon after 3 p.m., and short touches was the order of the day. At 5 p.m., a short service was held, conducted by the Rev. H. G. Hatch, and in the absence of the organist, it gave the ringers an opportunity to demonstrate their ability as choristers, which made the service more interesting, and a real ringers' service it was. After service, the Vicar (the Rev. E. G. Sharp) entertained the ringers to tea in the Church Hall, with the vice-president, Mr. C. S. Bird, presiding, supported by the Rev. Hatch, the Ringing Master, and Mr. F. Beadle. The vice-president received the meeting's congratulations on his election to that office. Mr. Beadle received same on attaining his 75th anniversary. A peal of Stedman was also rung at Isleworth to celebrate this jubilant occasion.—The usual business meeting was conducted, and thanks were accorded to the Vicar and the Rev. H. G. Hatch, the vice-president, Ringing Masters, Messrs. J. H. Hunnisett and Fred Goodfellow, and the ladies, who assisted with the tea. Three ringers were elected, and the Rev. E. G. Sharp was elected an honorary member for his liberal hospitality, courtesy and help to members of this association. The tower was again visited till 7.30; then a visit to Christ Church, where ringing was indulged in till 9 p.m.—Thanks were accorded to the Vicar of Christ Church and Mr. J. A. Trollope.

A meeting was held at Ruislip on June 13th, when over 30 members attended, including the Ringing Master, and Messrs. J. A. Trollope, J. Herbert, F. Goodfellow, J. R. Mackman, T. Beadle and J. W. Fruin, the lady ringers being Misses P. Moss and G. Baker. Methods up to Cambridge were practised, and Stedman, Treble Bob and Bob Major were rung on handbells. The usual business was held, with thanks to the Vicar (the Rev. Canon Cornwall Jones), and to the host, Mr. Basil Fabb, for the excellent tea served, and his accommodation.—The July meeting will be held at Harlington; Sunbury in August; September, Staines.

WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD. SURPRISE MEETING AT CURDRIDGE.

A meeting for Surprise methods was held at Curdridge on Saturday last, when, by the kind permission of the Vicar (the Rev. W. Slater), the fine peal of eight were placed at the ringers' disposal during the afternoon and evening. Three districts of the Guild were represented, viz., Portsmouth, Winchester and Christchurch, and among those present were the Master (Mr. G. Williams), general secretary (Mr. G. Pullinger), and Messrs. W. T. Tucker and F. W. Rogers, secretaries of the Winchester and Portsmouth districts, respectively. Full opportunity was made of the time afforded, during which several courses of Superlative, Cambridge, London and Bristol Surprise Major were rung, the latter the first in the method on the bells. During the afternoon and evening, members were present from Curdridge, North Stoneham, Portsmouth (St. Mary's and St. Thomas'), Ringwood, Southampton, Swanmore, and Mr. F. S. Bayley (Fareham). It is hoped to continue these practices at regular intervals during the year.

LADIES' GUILD. SOUTHERN DISTRICT.

The sixth annual meeting was held at Aldershot on Saturday, June 20th. The Guild service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. E. Garth Ireland), and a sermon was preached by the Rev. Crichton Melville. Sergt. Trumpeter Lawrence Beach, L.R.A.M., Royal Engineers, presided at the organ.

A party of about forty sat down to tea at the Parish Hall, prepared by Miss B. Mills, Miss Fisher and Miss Denyer.

Mrs. Pulling (president) presided at the business meeting. Miss Wyman, of Woking, was elected a member, and the secretary and committee were re-elected. Guildford was chosen for the next annual meeting. There were twelve ladies present, including Miss E. K. Parker, general secretary. Ringing was indulged in from 'rounds' to London Surprise.

Special thanks are due to Sergt. Trumpeter Lawrence Beach, L.R.A.M., for his splendid musical programme.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The anniversary of the first performance of Holt's Original occurs next Tuesday, for it was on July 7th, 1751, that the famous composer, sitting in the belfry with his manuscript in hand, called the great one-part peal of Grandsire Triples at St. Margaret's, Westminster.

A year before, namely, on July 8th, 1750, John Holt took part in, and probably composed and conducted, a peal of Double Bob Major, on the same bells.

Indeed there would seem to have been some event to celebrate at St. Margaret's round about this date, for on July 9th, 1749, Holt took part there in a peal of 6,000 of Bob Major. Was it, we wonder, some royal, national, or campanological anniversary? Perhaps one of our historians can tell us.

James Barham, the renowned Kentish ringer, rang his last peal on July 8th, 1817, when he took part in a peal of Leeds Treble Bob at his own tower of Leeds, the scene, many years before, of the peal of 40,320 Bob Major. Can those who are now conducting researches into method names tell us what variation of Treble Bob 'Leeds' was?

The new bell at St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin, was dedicated on Sunday last.

Referring to a note in this column that recently a ringer rang a bell without a stay to two peals in one day, Mr. W. Pole Routh, of Reading, writes that in his first peal, rung at the Parish Church of Eccles, near Manchester, on the afternoon on Christmas Day, 1870, none of the bells had stays. The bells were rung up in peal, the 5,000 was brought round, and the bells lowered in peal. He adds, 'We did not consider then that we had done anything of special note.'

'Little Bob' is informal that New Cambridge will not run true in Minor, as it produces repetitions in the plain course.

Mr. Conor O'Brien's return from his long and adventurous voyage round the world, created great excitement in Ireland, and the gallant skipper of the 'Saoirse' had an extraordinary reception. Congratulations were heaped upon him, and his old ringing friends of St. Patrick's Society, Dublin, sent him a telegram congratulating him upon his successful and safe return.

SAFFRON WALDEN SOCIETY ANNIVERSARY.

The 302nd anniversary of the Saffron Walden Society of Ringers was held on Saturday, June 27th. Ringers attended from various parts of the country, including London, Romford, Luton, Cambridge, Hitchin, Halstead, Feering, Earl's Colne, Northampton, Irthlingborough, Fulbourn, Ickleton, Stansted, Castle Camps, Trumpington, Royston, Little Munden. Messrs. Gillett and Johnston were represented by Mr. Roper.

During the day, touches were rung in the various methods on the eight, ten and twelve bells. Luncheon was held at the Temperance Hotel, the Master (Mr. F. Pitstow) presiding, supported by Dr. E. L. Taylor. In welcoming the visitors, the Master specially mentioned Dr. Taylor, who was formerly an active member of the society. His father (Mr. Edward Taylor), so well remembered, was Master of the society for a number of years.

Dr. Taylor, in responding, thanked the members for their hearty welcome, and said that he hoped the anniversary would be continued unbroken in the future, and conform with the procedure of many years past.

A congratulatory telegram was received from Mrs. Edward Taylor. Service was held in the Parish Church at 12.30, conducted by the Rev. T. W. Coomb. The choir attended, and Mrs. Mahon kindly presided at the organ.

RINGING ANNIVERSARY AT LAVENHAM.

On Saturday, June 20th, the 114th ringing anniversary was held at SS. Peter and Paul's Church, Lavenham. During the afternoon and evening, touches in the following methods were rung: Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob, Double Norwich, Kent, Oxford, Cambridge, Superlative and London. A large number of ringers attended this gathering, which commemorates the addition of two trebles in 1811 by Wm. Dobson, Downham, Norfolk, the following places being represented: Islington, Clapham, Tooting, Ipswich (St. Mary-le-Tower and St. Clement's), Sudbury (St. Peter's and All Saints'), Bury St. Edmunds (Cathedral Church), Cornard, Polstead, Shelley, Long Melford, Cavendish, Glemsford, Assington, Great Waldingfield, Earls Colne, Greenstead Green, Great Tey, and Maldon. Included in the above were F. G. Symonds, Islington; J. Lee, Clapham; W. R. Grimwood, Tooting; C. Sedgley and A. Howell, Ipswich; D. Elliott, Assington, and many others.

During the middle of the 19th century, this ringing day was often the scene of upwards of 100 ringers, including such 'notables' as W. Haley, J. Cox, H. Hubart, J. Marven, Capt. Moore and Squire Proctor, with his band of change ringers and handbell tune players. The last-mentioned band on several occasions ascended the tower on the next morning to give a 'farewell touch' before departing to ring elsewhere.

During the afternoon, many of the ringers and friends climbed to the summit of the tower, which is a landmark for many miles around.

Among those present was one who had attended and rung at 47 successive anniversaries. At 8 o'clock the bells ceased, and farewells were exchanged, all agreeing that a most enjoyable day had been spent.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL MEETING.

Mr. T. H. Beams, in seconding, drew attention to the desirability of reducing the number of classes into which methods were divided. For ringing purposes, it was only those who liked to strain at the gnat and miss the camel, that were not satisfied with three classifications. With regard to the confusion of names, Mr. Beams referred to the method rung variously under the names of Oxford Delight, Woodbine and Merchants' Return.

Rev. H. Law James: They are not fit to be rung, and are rapidly dying out.

Mr. Beams: But they are still rung.

Rev. H. Law James: And 'Churchyard Bob' is still rung (laughter).

Mr. Beams went on to ask those who were not satisfied with three classifications to tell them how many more were needed. He submitted that if they were to get rid of the objectionable names, there could be no better time than the present. He understood that the present edition of the 'Collection of Minor Methods' was nearly exhausted. The new edition should be published with the new names, and he was quite sure that in twenty years' time they would be the names under which all these methods would be rung. If they looked at the Press, which knew little about ringing terms, they saw the way some of these names could be 'screwed,' and this made them a laughing-stock. That was what they wanted to avoid, and if they could do that they would do something which would help forward the movement.

The Rev. F. L. Edwards pointed out that no place was allowed in the classification for 'Principles.'

ANCIENT RIGHTS.

Mr. E. W. Elwell said he understood that, if they adopted the report, the names would, ipso facto, change over. He thought, therefore, it would be fairer to everyone if they could give it further consideration by having the report published and dealing with it next year. He came there that day with certain instructions from his Guild. The Chester Guild knew that the committee had been formed, and had tackled a very difficult problem, but at the same time they had reminded him of the old custom under which ringers named the methods which they had first rung. The Chester Guild had rung many methods for the first time, and were not prepared to admit that any body of gentlemen had the right to alter and revise the old names on behalf of the Exercise. They felt themselves as well able to choose the names as anyone else. It was felt the committee might confine itself to choosing one of the names in those cases where a method had more than one name, so that it might be known by that one name in future. Another thing was, he was not sure that flower names were not as good as some others. For instance, he preferred 'Daffodil' to 'Dartmoor' (laughter, and a Member: Dartford, not Dartmoor). He did not see that it much mattered if the Press did laugh at them. Outside individuals understood little about ringing, and only fools laughed. The idea in his Guild was that existing names of Minor methods should be allowed to stand, and that where there was more than one name the committee should choose which name the method should be known by. He moved that consideration of the subject be adjourned until the report had been published.

Mr. J. A. Trollope seconded. He said if the report was to be taken as an expression of pious opinion, they of the Methods Committee had nothing to say, but if it was going to tie the Council and the Exercise they would have to go into it and move amendments to practically everything. Mr. Trollope added that with regard to the use of the word 'Bob' in the names of methods, it was given because it distinguished the classification. It was not redundant at all.

Alderman J. S. Pritchett, in supporting the amendment, said he recognised the committee had presented a report of great gravity, which, nevertheless, admitted of being treated with a certain amount of levity. They recognised the earnestness and pains that the committee had been put to produce this report (hear, hear), and he for one, who was inclined at the last meeting to treat the subject as one scarcely deserving the attention of the Council, had now rather modified his view. He could not help recognising it was full of debatable matter, and they ought not to adopt the report in its entirety without a little more consideration. It was very easy to say what ought to be done; it was another matter to get things done. Ringers had habits which they could not well alter by legislation. They had a habit of calling methods by certain names, and the Council would find it difficult to get them to alter names when the Council said they were undesirable. He would like to see the report in print, and reserve his decision until that had been done.

BRINGING ORDER OUT OF CONFUSION.

The Rev. H. Drake said when he signed the report he was under the impression there were three classes of methods and a class of 'principles.' With regard to the amendment, he certainly had no objection to it, and he did not think the other members of the committee had. They had no wish to try to be autocratic; what they wanted to do and what they were asked to do at the last meeting was to try to bring order out of confusion, and also to avoid, if they could, any names that seemed to be causing ridicule. They had done that in this report, and they would be very glad indeed if it could be published, and be considered next year; but one had to remember that they were told at the last meeting, and previously by correspondence, that it was a very urgent matter, and that those names should be fixed as soon as possible, because people were waiting to ring the methods, and did not know under what names they should be rung. The amendment to some extent took away from the value of the rider he suggested, viz.: 'That in the case of all new methods, which have been rung under names proposed to be altered, an opportunity should be given to those who first rang them, to approve of the proposed new name.' He had not been able to get his fellow-members on the committee to go with him and support the rider, because they thought it would be impracticable. He would suggest something on these lines: that when the list of names, such as those the committee put forward, were agreed to, they should be published for a certain length of time, so that the people who were interested, that was those who had rung the method, and the ringers in the place after which the method was called, could have the opportunity of objecting to it; that these objections should be considered by the Council or the committee; that if no objections were made within the period, the changes should be absolute. These riders did not exactly come within the terms of reference, but they were things which might be adopted as resolutions, so that they might know what they were to do in future. This matter of terms was one that went beyond that of names. The committee's reference at present was only in regard to names of methods. Mr. Trollope had spoken of names like 'Bob' and 'Treble Bob.' They could not call them names of method, they might call them descriptions or descriptive terms. What they required was an authority to deal with terms as well as names. He did not think it was quite right that a man should be able to say, because he had used a name, that that name must always be used in future. They, as a Council, should exercise their authority as to what terms should be used, and as to the actual meaning of the terms.

Mr. Burton said with regard to Mr. Trollope's inquiry as to whether the committee were penning a pious report, that was not the case—the committee were absolutely out for it.

The proposal to adjourn the discussion until the report had been printed was then put to the meeting, and carried.

Alderman Pritchett said he would like to propose a vote of thanks to the committee for their labours. Personally, he had been rather at variance with them, but the subject was one of great controversy, and the committee were likely to get more kicks than halfpence, but the Council would all agree that the committee had endeavoured to do well by the subject, and deserved a hearty vote of thanks (hear, hear).

The motion was put, and carried, and on the suggestion of the President, a vote of thanks was also accorded to the other committees for the work they had done during the year.

INSTRUCTIONS ON PRESERVATION OF BELLS.

The Hon. Secretary stated that the 'Card of Instructions' as to the care of church bells had been printed, and the Rev. H. Drake had given them £5 towards the expenses. There were three thousand or four thousand towers in England and Wales where these cards might well be put on the wall, but that would cost a great deal of money and involve a great deal of time. They could, however, make a start, as he had got 500 copies. It was the desire of the Standing Committee that members present should take a card with them, and it was suggested that it would be a very good start in the distribution if they sent one of the cards to each of the Archdeacons in the various dioceses, and also one to each of the secretaries of the Guild and Associations affiliated to the Council.

Mr. T. H. Beams said if they asked each of the secretaries to take enough for their own affiliated towers they would get over the difficulty of distribution quite easily.

The President pointed out that secretaries had no authority over towers not connected with their associations, and that was why the Standing Committee suggested that a copy should be sent to every Archdeacon in England and Wales, so that they might know about it, and bring it before the different clergy and churchwardens.

Mr. James George said it was a pity the instructions were not printed on one side of the card only. Many people would not bother to look at the back.

The Hon. Secretary said that would have necessitated a very cumbersome card.

The Hon. Librarian said the Standing Committee recommended that the card should be sent to each Archdeacon, and that each secretary of association should have one or more sent to him, in order that he might discover from his branch or district secretaries how many cards were wanted.

The Rev. H. Drake said he hoped the Archdeacons would be asked to see that each Rural Dean got one. He suggested that recommendations should also be sent out with regard to the duration of ringing at churches where there was only one bell rung, and he put forward what he thought should be recommended.

The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn thought the Council would be wasting time to consider anything of that sort.

The President said practices differed so much that he thought it would be ridiculous to put forward any suggestion, but if Mr. Drake wished to bring the matter forward at the next meeting, he hoped he would put it on the agenda.

It was resolved to send a copy of the card to all Archdeacons in England and Wales, requesting them to bring it to the notice of their respective Rural Deans; and to hon. secretaries of Guilds and Associations, with the request that they will bring it before their district secretaries with a view to getting the card placed in all helpries.

BROADCASTING BELL RINGING.

Mr. E. W. Elwell moved the following resolution: 'That, considering the future possibilities of Radio, the attention of the Press and Literature Committee of the Central Council be drawn to the performances of "bell chiming" occasionally broadcast, as such performances are liable to create a wrong impression of the true nature of bell ringing, and further, to request the committee to bring to the notice of the British Broadcasting Company all unsuitable imitations of bell ringing which may be broadcast.' Mr. Elwell said this resolution was drawn up by the secretary of one of the branches of the Chester Guild, and was brought forward at the Guild's annual meeting when he was asked to submit it to the Council. He said that on one or two occasions bell chiming, carillons and efforts to make a noise on bells by hammers worked by machinery had been broadcast, and the public had got the impression that bell ringing came from Belgium. On the top of that one frequently heard certain bell chiming which took place at a London church, and which was not bell ringing. He thought the public were getting rather too fond of it, and it was time the Press and Literature Committee took the matter in hand and watched this, among other things. He believed the B.B.C. would be very considerate to any suggestion, and would be ready to have their co-operation to broadcast good change ringing, rather than chiming and foreign music.

The Rev. C. D. P. Davies seconded, and said he once listened to the bells of a certain church, and he had never heard anything more 'footling.' It was nothing but Ellacombe hammers pulled against the bell, and now and again the performer broke out into tune ringing.

The motion was carried, and the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn suggested that Mr. A. Paddon Smith should be entrusted with the task of approaching the B.B.C.

Mr. Paddon Smith: I have on many occasions communicated with the B.B.C., and it is just as much a waste of time as some of that we have done here to-day (laughter).

THE AUGMENTATION OF RINGS OF EIGHT.

Alderman J. S. Pritchett next proposed 'That this Council, as a general rule, disapproves of the augmentation of peals of eight into peals of ten.' He said the eight bells of his own parish church, King's Norton, were recently recast, and it was suggested that they should be augmented to ten. He was happy to say that suggestion fell through, and instead of having what would probably have been an indifferent peal of ten, they had a beautiful ring of eight. There was, he continued, an idea among ringers generally that it was a great thing to have ten bells instead of eight in a church tower. Very often it was a great mistake. The only reason apparently was that ringers got opportunities of ringing on a larger number of bells than they otherwise would, but there were many other considerations to be taken into account before it should be decided to augment a ring of eight into ten. The suggestion was usually made, when a peal of eight was going to be recast. 'Why not have a peal of ten while we are about it?' They went to a bell founder, and he said, 'Oh yes, nothing easier (laughter). We can make you a lovely peal of ten out of the metal of your eight, and with a little contrivance we can get them into your tower.' It presented no trouble to him (laughter). But there were other considerations. It was often difficult to get ten bells into an eight-bell tower, and it so taxed the ingenuity of the bell hangers that they often had to put two bells above the others. In that case they found in the ringing chamber that the sounds of the two small bells were drowned by those underneath. In one tower, he remembered it was scarcely possible to hear the two trebles in the ringing chamber. On the ground of expense there were often objections. The metal of the eight bells was split among the ten, and they had a light peal of ten, which, in his opinion, was always unsatisfactory. It was also very difficult to form a proper ringing circle, and a great many expedients were resorted to, and they had to have an ingenious arrangement of rails and guides. It was often a great makeshift to get ten bells into an eight-bell tower. Moreover, if they were going to augment the weight of the bells by using additional metal, the consideration of the safety of the tower presented itself. Bells have been placed in towers without due consideration of the safety of the fabric; consequently, in a short time, the tower had been declared unsafe, and the ringing of the bells had been stopped. That was a thing they wanted to guard against. In his view the ideal of change ringing was change ringing on eight bells—eight fairly heavy bells, tenor from a ton to 25 cwt., or even more. The music of eight heavy bells when properly rung in changes was extremely dignified; it created a far greater impression upon the people outside than did the music on a lighter peal of ten. The music in all standard methods, he thought he was right in saying, was originally devised for eight bells; the music of an octave was the most satisfactory to the listener. The man outside could count eight bells as they were rung in changes; it was extremely difficult for him to count ten, and almost impossible to count twelve in a change. Methods for eight bells were legion, inviting scope for ingenuity. Very few of the odd-bell methods, however, were capable of extension to nine bells, and there were few, if any, true extensions of the Surprise methods to ten bells, the so-called extensions being really specially constructed methods. It was a laudable idea on the part of ringers to desire to be able to ring on ten bells, but it was also a fact that at some towers, when the bells had been augmented to ten, they were not regularly rung as ten. It was only occasionally they were so rung in changes, such as when visitors came for an opportunity of ringing a ten-bell peal. The words of his motion did not exclude the making of ten-bell rings altogether, where a tower was suitable, and where bells were being put in for the first time; but where it was a question of augmenting eight into ten merely for the sake of having more bells it was a very unwise course to take.

Mr. E. A. Young (the hon. secretary) seconded. He said he had only intended to second the motion formally, but after the cogent reasons put forward by the proposer he had been converted against his own previous opinions. There was much to be said in favour of eight bells, and there was another point which was in his mind, and that was the question of the strength of the towers. This was a phase of the question in which he was particularly interested, and he remembered a case where, through extra bells being put into a tower, the building had become unsafe.

Mr. A. Paddon Smith said when he saw this motion on the agenda he experienced a feeling of amusement; he did not think anyone could have put it down seriously. When he now saw who it was that had put down the motion, that feeling had changed to one of absolute amazement. Mr. Pritchett was his (Mr. Smith's) Presiding Ringing Master, and felt very keenly about this particular ring of bells at King's Norton. He (Mr. Smith) did not agree with a single word Ald. Pritchett had said (laughter), and the motion did not stand the slightest ghost of a chance of being passed (laughter and applause). If they must pass a resolution on these lines it should be simply 'that this Council, as a general rule, approves of the augmentation of peals of eight into peals of ten' (applause). He could not conceive that this motion was really intended to be serious. Would Mr. Pritchett propose that peals of six should not be augmented to peals of eight, or peals of ten to peals of twelve? All their famous rings of twelve were peals that had been augmented at some time or other. With regard to King's Norton, Alderman Pritchett admitted that they had a very beautiful peal of eight. He said the tenor was only 14 cwt. That might be true, but it sounded a lot heavier, and in any case he (Mr. Smith) believed there was some danger of two trebles being added in the not too distant future (applause). If he could do anything towards bringing about that development he should certainly do so, although he would have a very formidable opponent. How could the bells at King's Norton be spoiled by putting in two equally good trebles? The King's Norton men were already well able to ring ten bells, and if they did not ring the ten, the beautiful eight would still be rung, and the two beautiful trebles would be there to be rung when he went over (laughter and applause). He would much prefer to ring ten to ringing eight. He did not, he added, believe Mr. Young really meant to second the motion (laughter).

Mr. T. Faulkner: When I first saw this motion on the agenda I wondered what it was all about. Now I can see what it is. There is a conspiracy between the Presiding Ringing Master and the secretary of St. Martin's Guild to pull the legs of the Central Council (laughter).—I move we proceed to the next business.

Canon Elsee said if it was a question of choice between a really good peal of eight, with a heavy tenor, and a light peal of ten, then he was with Alderman Pritchett, and would have a heavy peal of eight. There was a real objection to encouraging the augmentation of peals that are too light to produce the full music. If a peal was to be recast it might be suggested that ten bells should be cast from the same metal as the old eight. That meant a loss of tone; but if the weight was not to be decreased he saw no objection to increasing the number of bells.

The Rev. H. Law James invited Mr. Pritchett to go to Surfleet. The tenor was 12 cwt. 9 lb., and the treble 2 cwt. 2 lb. It was a ring of ten, and everyone who listened to the bells imagined the tenor was a ton in weight, and the bells were beautiful music.

The Rev. C. D. P. Davies said if they were to follow Alderman Pritchett he did not know where they would be. Had it not been for augmentation they would have had no Painswick bells, and no Cheltenham twelve either. He entirely disagreed with Ald. Pritchett. Two more bells gave a lightness and buoyancy that was rather wanting in an octave. Twelve was, perhaps, rather more of an open question, but if they had acted in the past upon Ald. Pritchett's contentions, he did not know what they would have done. They certainly would not have got some of their finest and most famous peals of ten and twelve in the country (hear, hear).

'STEDMAN' AND 'DUFFIELD.'

By GEORGE BAKER.

There is very little doubt that Fabian Stedman, who was born in Cambridge in 1631, was the first individual to produce a principle, and, what is more, he produced it symmetrically.

Anyone would have thought that Stedman Doubles being the first principle discovered, would for that reason, if for none other, have been exempt from attack but, no, that Principle, like 'Duffield' and 'Leek,' was being described in 1913 and 1914 as 'illegitimate'!

The false definition that made the attack possible has now been exposed, but I venture to think that had anyone told Fabian Stedman, in his day, that his Principle was 'illegitimate' there would have been something more than a 'jovial dog fight,' and the individual, whoever he might have been, would have been given the choice of swords or pistols, and a meeting-place near Cambridge in the early morning to settle the difference.

'We are not now quite as savage as our forefathers.' I mentioned this fact in my first contribution to the late controversy on 13th June last, and at that time I made up my mind I would endeavour to bring to an end the constantly recurring disputes about the subject of method construction.

There is no evidence that Stedman extended his Principle to seven bells and upwards, and the individual who did is not likely to have known that such a thing as a 'pivot bell' existed, but, whether or no, he produced the only correct extension possible without making additional 'moves' and the round blocks and transpositions that follow will prove beyond a shadow of a doubt that the Principle is the same on all numbers, in spite of the fact that the division heads in Doubles have, coursing order, and in the higher numbers they have not.

It will not be out of place to mention here that the late Rev. H. Farle Bulwer was the first gentleman to give me encouragement in the subject of method construction, but, it is to the late Sir Arthur Heywood's writings that I am chiefly indebted for what I know at the present time, and it seems to me that it was a cruel fate, after all that he, Sir Arthur, had done for the Art and for the Exercise, and no man had ever done more, that the last few years of his life should have been clouded by a false definition, according to which, his interesting and perfect method? (Principle? or System?) was illegitimate

I was able in 1914 to prove that 'Duffield' was produced by two Quick Double Bobs, and my one regret is that I had not then the foresight to see what I have discovered since, i.e., that all methods, principles and systems consist of round blocks, produced by making single 'moves' in the Primary Principles or the Treble Bob Principle.

Could it have been possible for Sir Arthur to have learned this before he passed on, he would have had the satisfaction of knowing that all the care, time and money spent in preparing his book on 'Duffield' (a copy of which he presented to me) had not been thrown away.

TRURO CATHEDRAL RINGERS' OUTING.

The Truro Cathedral ringers held their annual outing on Whit Monday. The ringers, with their wives and friends, numbering about 40, left Truro at 7.30 a.m. by charabanc, the first stop being made at Lanivet. This church contains a light ring of eight, lately augmented from six. Touches of Grandsire Triples were brought round. The next stop was Liskeard, where the ring of eight were found to 'go' rather stiffly, and after a short time the bells were lowered, and a ride of eight miles brought the party to the beautiful old church at St. Germans. This church was originally attached to a monastery of Austin Canons, founded here in 1050 by Bishop Leofric. The ring of eight (six of which were cast in 1775, and two added in 1913) were found to be an excellent peal, the 'go' and tone of which are perfect. Touches of Grandsire Triples were again rung. The next stop was at Looe, where the afternoon was spent by the sea, and, after tea, the party visited Fowey. The handy ring of eight were set going, and 336 Grandsire Triples brought round. The last stop was made at St. Austell, where the church contains eight fine-toned bells (tenor 19½ cwt.). The 'go' is excellent, and touches of Triples were brought round. Truro was reached again at 10.30 p.m. The ringers wish to thank the incumbents for the use of the bells, and those who made the trip such a success.

EALING.—On Sunday morning, May 3rd, at Christ Church, for service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: H. Burton 1, G. Harbour 2, E. W. Elwell 3, W. H. Hollier 4, C. Edwards 5, A. Harding 6, J. A. ### THE CARE OF CHURCH BELLS.

The Central Council is undertaking a work of considerable value in their effort to place in the towers of this country a carefully drawn up card of instructions on the care of church bells. This is not the first time they have turned their attention to the subject, for there has been for years, among their publications, a brochure dealing with the preservation of bells. Useful as the latter is, however, it is probable that the card which has now been printed, may be of even greater utility, for, whereas this should find a permanent place in the belfry, a leaflet is likely to be torn or lost. A matter of importance in putting these cards to the most effective use is that of distribution. They will be valuable in any belfry, but they will be of greatest value if they can be got into the neglected belfries and the authorities brought to realise the importance of the instructions being acted on. Here is where the difficulty arises, because where the bells are neglected there is seldom anyone to be found who would trouble to act upon the advice. The Council were well advised to take steps to bring the cards to the notice of the Rural Deans, as the most likely means of giving effect to their desires, but they will probably find it necessary to go a step further if they are to make the most of the opportunity they are creating.

The present position with regard to the oversight of bells, as with other church property, is that it is the duty of Rural Deans to inspect belfries periodically and report to the Bishop. This report, in some dioceses at any rate, is gone through by the Archdeacon, and recommendations with regard to repairs, etc., are made to those responsible for the upkeep of the church. There is, however, no power to enforce these recommendations, and it lies with the Incumbent, Churchwardens and Parochial Church Council to accept or reject the advice as they think fit. We have no doubt that when recommendations come from higher quarters to the church authorities, every effort is made, as far as funds permit, to carry them out; but the trouble in the case of bells and belfries is that very few Rural Deans bother about them—were it otherwise there would not be so many instances of dilapidated bells and dirty belfries. Indeed, so little do some Rural Deans know about bells that they could hardly be expected to be able to report upon their efficient maintenance, even if they climbed into the tower.

This particular matter is exercising certain members of the Chester Guild, and it is likely that the Central Council may be asked at their next meeting to discuss a suggestion that, through diocesan or other channels, Rural Deans be asked, where they have no personal technical knowledge of bells, to appoint as their deputy for the purposes of inspection, some person with the requisite qualifications. If this suggestion could be carried out, we believe it would prove a most useful one, and there should be no practical difficulties if the Rural Deans would fall in with the scheme. Indeed, it would not be surprising if, in the long run, many churches would find that it would mean a saving of money—on the proverbial 'stitch in time' principle.

THE NORTH OF ENGLAND RINGING WEEK.

The North of England Ringing Week resulted in the successful accomplishment of ten peals, as recorded below. Nine visitors and nine local men, who took part in them, desire to acknowledge, with sincere thanks, the kindness and co-operation of the respective clergy and towerkeepers at the churches visited during the week, June 20th to 27th. Thirteen peals were attempted in all, at twelve different towers in the counties of Durham and Northumberland, three of which were lost through mistakes on the part of the band.

WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

The annual meeting was held at Winchester on Saturday, July 4th, and was attended by some 90 members from many towers of the diocese.

The Rev. C. E. Matthews was in the chair, and was supported by Mr. G. Williams, Mr. A. H. Pulling, Mr. F. W. Rogers, Mr. G. Stone, Mr. E. Raddon, Mr. J. Hessey, Mr. W. Tucker, and other officers. All the retiring officers were re-elected.

It was agreed that a donation of £5 5s. be made to the Washbrook Memorial Fund, and Messrs. Williams and Pulling spoke of the great work of the late Mr. J. W. Washbrook.

It was decided to hold the annual meeting at Portsmouth in 1926, and at Guildford in 1927, on the first Saturday in July in each case.

The balance sheet and report were adopted, and the Chairman spoke of the apathy of many of the clergy towards change ringing and the Guild. Mention was also made of the great loss sustained by the death of the Rev. W. E. Colchester.

It was decided to hold a meeting at Arreton, Isle of Wight, on July 25th, in connection with the restored tomb of William Rayner, the service to be held at 4.30 p.m. All ringers and friends are invited to attend.

The Secretary announced that the augmented ring of six at Woolton Hill would be dedicated on Saturday, July 18th, at 3 p.m. All ringers would be welcome, and tea provided for those who notified Mr. Balaam, Woolton Hill, Newbury, Berks, early.

After a long discussion, the motion to provide free certificates was referred for further consideration.

A vote of sympathy was passed to the Bishop of Southampton, who was lying seriously ill in a London hospital.

A vote of congratulation was passed to the hon. secretary on his recent marriage.

The service was held in the Cathedral, and the Guild form of service was used. The Dean of Winchester gave a very interesting and helpful address, and said that he understood that this was the first time that a dean had taken a service of the Guild.

Tea was served to nearly 100 in St. Maurice Hall, where the Rev. C. E. Matthews presided, supported by the Rev. S. M. Watson.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Dean and Chapter, the Rector of St. Maurice, and the Vicar of Twyford for the use of their respective bells.—The Rev. S. M. Watson suitably replied.

During the afternoon and evening the bells at the Cathedral, St. Maurice (Winchester) and Twyford were available for ringing, and various methods practised, ranging from Stedman Cinques and Bristol Major to Grandsire Doubles.

It was with deep regret that the members learned of the ill-health of the Editor of the 'Ringing World,' and wishes for his speedy recovery were expressed.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

SOUTH AND WEST DISTRICT.

On Saturday, July 4th, a meeting was held at Harlington, when over 40 members and friends attended.

Ringing lasted from 3 p.m. until 5 p.m., when a short service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. H. Wilson), accompanied by the organist and choir.

An excellent address was given by the Rector, who gave the association a most cordial welcome.—After the service, tea was served to all present.

The business meeting followed, and votes of thanks to the Rector, choir, and others who had helped to make it such a success, was carried. The tower was again visited, and some handbell ringing was given by Messrs. Herbert, Roberts, Kippin, Goodfellow, and others, and much enjoyed by all.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

The custom of the Central Council is never to go a second time to any place where it has once met. But I fancy the year is not far distant when this will have to be altered. The number of towns really suitable for the meeting is not too large, and is becoming used up. The place you want is a small town, with a Cathedral that can offer its Chapter House, or such like, for the actual meeting, a good peal of bells or two, plenty of historical and architectural buildings, the whole set in beautiful country, and last, but by no means least, good railway facilities. A big order, you say, but Salisbury supplied it with something added; and Chester equalled, if it could not surpass, Salisbury's record. What can Ipswich do next year? You can be pretty sure that so far as warmth of hospitality goes the East will not lag behind the West or the South. The country round Ipswich is fairly interesting, but there is no New Forest and no Eaton Park. And the town is well enough in its way, but there is no Cathedral, or even a parish church of first rank. The biggest church, St. Mary-le-Tower, is a modern affair, and rather uninteresting at that. One thing Ipswich has, and that is a most historical ring of twelve bells. There is no other twelve-bell tower that has anything like the record that Ipswich has. Peals of Plain Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Double Norwich, and Cambridge Surprise on eight, ten and twelve. Peals of Grandsire and Stedman on seven, nine and eleven; besides Superlative and London Major. And the reputation for good striking has always been as high as anywhere in the country. They used to say that all the peals at Ipswich had to be good ones, because if there was a muddle nobody could put the bells right. It was a case of a good peal or none at all. There is something to be said for that.

It must be ten years or more ago when we first began to think about going to Ipswich. Anyway, we are much overdue, and the pity is that Jimmy Motts, first-class ringer, and best of fellows, is no longer alive to meet us.

But for one thing, what a glorious place for a C.C. meeting Wells would be! There is everything you want. A beautiful Cathedral—Chester is not to be mentioned along side it—one of the heaviest and finest rings of bells in England, a quaint old city, set in most beautiful country. Then there is St. Cuthbert's Church, with its noble tower and heavy peal of bells—that by itself is worth a visit. While for the fortunate ones who manage to begin on the Saturday and end on the Wednesday or Thursday, there are Glastonbury and Cheddar, and Bath and Bristol quite handy. Really we must think of going to Wells one of these days. Only would that the railway facilities were better.

Big towns are not much good. I suppose we must not altogether neglect them. There is Nottingham and Liverpool and Southampton. Their turn will no doubt come, but the small towns are the thing. Even the London meeting might sometimes be held with advantage in a small town. Which is not so Irish as it looks. Why not hold it one year at St. Albans or Guildford?

Alderman Pritchard's motion to discourage making eight-bell rings into ten was treated naturally enough as a huge joke, the crowning touch of comedy being supplied when the only one who voted for it was Mr. Pryce Taylor. But don't you think there is something to be said in its favour from the point of view of change ringing? Just see what happens often enough. You have an eight-bell tower and a good band. They ring Stedman Triples, Kent and Double Norwich, and perhaps two or three of the Surprise Methods. Plain Bob and Grandsire they could ring, but probably don't. Then, says one: How much better to have ten bells! And they agitate, and with a little luck the money comes, and they get their ten bells. And then? Well, instead of ringing five or six methods, henceforth and for evermore they ring Stedman Caters, and nothing else but Stedman Caters. Now, Stedman Caters may be a very fine method, but I submit you can have too much of a good thing—even of Stedman Caters. But, say you, you can ring Major methods in an eight-bell tower if you want to, can't you? Yes, you can; but the point is that you don't. At least not unless you meet short.

Of course, tastes differ. There are men who are content to ring nothing but Stedman Cinques from year's end to year's end.

Talking of Stedman Caters, why does not some brave conductor call a peal with the big bells in the natural round at back position? It is pretty nearly as good as the luttums position, and a lot better than the handstroke position. But no. It's not done. We are a lot of sheep. We all go the same way as the others.

Mr. Young has given notice of a resolution practically condemning what is called Simpson tuning. You may be sure we shall have a heated debate. The partisans on one side and the other will rally to the call. The trouble with so many of us is that we really don't know anything definite about the matter. We know what we like, and we know what we dislike. And we say what we think pretty often, and without sparing of words. But the experts have us at their mercy. You can't argue with an expert, for he knows and you do not. He may be wrong in the long conclusion; and you may be right. But what he knows he does know; while you don't know anything. In the interests of sportsmanship and fair play let us hope we may have experts on both sides. Then we can enjoy the battle. And perhaps (who knows?) learn something worth knowing about the matter.

And surely the Coventry people ought to think twice and thrice before they put their famous ring of ten into the melting-pot. When we were young—how many years ago, alas!—the old uns used to say that the three best peals of ten in England were Coventry, Rotherham and Stepney. I think they were the three. Anyway, Coventry was one. Rotherham have been recast; Stepney are somewhat fallen from their high estate; and now Coventry are to go. I dare say a good deal of their reputation was due to the tower they hung in. I dare say that what made a good ringing peal will not necessarily make good carillon bells. But if they are anything like as good as people said, it would be a pity to recast.

NOMENCLATURE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—As is self-evident, a slip has occurred in setting up the type of sub-section III. of the proposed new names, in the paragraph of 'Recommendations,' as printed in your issue of June 26th, page 410. The fourth and fifth items in the 'Old Names' column—'Duke of Norfolk' and 'Grandsire Treble Bob,' which are one and the same method, should have been bracketed, and the new name proposed is, of course, Grimsby for both of them.

And, as a further result of this slip, the whole of the column of 'Proposed New Names' from 'Grimsby' downwards, is one line too high, as far down as 'Vale Royal,' which should be in line with Shaftesbury, the new name 'Woodbridge' appearing twice in error. This misprint is unfortunate, as there is a possibility of these Recommendations of our Committee, being in consequence, misunderstood.—Yours very truly,

G. P. BURTON,

Convener of the Nomenclature Committee.

30th June, 1925.

In order to make clear the names proposed to be substituted, we reprint the list of Section III. as it should originally have appeared: (III.) Unsuitable and inconvenient. (1st instalment.)

Mr. J. E. Wheeldon writes pointing out that there was an obvious error in the list as originally published, and calls attention to the fact that the name Tamworth appears in the proposed new names both in Sections I. and III. He adds: I think, frankly, that the Central Council are on the right track to get a uniformity of names for methods, which has been lacking for many years, and sincerely hope at their next meeting they will be able to make out a complete list, and be able to publish them in book form.

A BIRTHDAY COMPLIMENT.

On Midsummer day, 1904, the bells of Southover Church, Lewes, were rung to celebrate the birth of a son-and-heir to Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Goldsmith, of Woking. On June 24th last the same bells celebrated the coming-of-age of this young man, who, though not a ringer himself, has found ringing affairs very much commingled with his family life. It had been intended to attempt a peal—his father had called a peal on these bells on his own twenty-first birthday—but a service intervened, and only a touch could be substituted. This was 798 Grandsire Triples by G. T. W. Ward 1, R. W. E. Dawe 2, R. J. Dawe 3, R. Heasman 4, T. Scrivens 5, D. White 6, A. J. Turner 7, J. F. Steadman 8. Afterwards, 'the health of Mr. J. H. Goldsmith' was toasted at a hostelry known to most ringers who have visited the county town of Sussex.

ST. JOHN-THE-BAPTIST (LEYTONSTONE) OUTING.

June 20th and 21st were the days chosen for the above, and on Saturday, June 20th, ten members joined the 5.30 a.m. train from Paddington to Chippenham, to try some of the rings of bells in the Devizes district of Wiltshire. Mr. T. H. Beams, of Bradpole, Dorset, and one of the local ringers, met the party at Chippenham. After breakfast, a start was made on the ring of eight at St. Andrew's, Chippenham, where Stedman and Cambridge Surprise Major was rung. The next place of call was St. Nicholas', Bromham, a peal of six (tenor 19 cwt.). Here 720 Beverley Surprise was rung, the bells not going too well, as the bell hanger had not finished with them. St. Matthew's, Rowde, was next visited (6 bells, tenor 13½ cwt.). Lincoln Surprise was lost when two leads from home, owing, no doubt, to the very long draught of rope. Lunch over, a drive through lovely scenery brought us to St. Leonard's Church, Keevil, where 720 York Surprise was rung on the grand ring of six (tenor 21 cwt.), and the 'go' was excellent. Then on to the grand old church of St. Mary, Steeple Ashton, where 720 London Surprise was rung, non-conducted, on this good peal of six (tenor 19 cwt.). The next stop was at Trowbridge to try a pull on the first peal of ten in Wills, where Stedman Caters and Treble Bob Royal were rung in fine style. Hilperton was soon reached, where, on the light peal of six (tenor 7½ cwt.), 720 Southwell and Norwich were soon tapped off. The last place for Saturday was the Church of the Holy Cross, Seend, where on the sweet-toned and well-going ring of six (tenor 14½ cwt.), a 720 each of Ipswich and Lincoln Surprise was rung.

At the hotel, where the party stayed the night, a pleasant hour was spent with touches on the handbells, etc. Sunday saw the party at St. Mary's Church, Devizes, where a 720 London Surprise was called on the grand peal of six (tenor 19 cwt.). Also a 720 Norwich Surprise by Mr. Prior. St. James' Church was next visited, where Mr. S. Hillier conducted 720 Plain Bob, after which a 720 Cambridge Surprise was rung, conducted by Mr. T. Faulkner, and then on to St. John's Church, where, on the splendid peal of eight, Stedman Triples and a good touch of Kent Treble Bob Major were brought round.

After lunch, the organiser had the party on the move again, this time by charabanc to his native village of Bishops Cannings. Permission was soon obtained from the Rector to ring on this grand old ring of eight. Stedman Triples and a good touch of Cambridge Surprise Major were rung, conducted by Mr. T. Faulkner.

After an early tea, a pull on St. Paul's, Chippenham, was arranged, where the local ringers had everything in readiness, Stedman Triples and Kent Treble Bob Major being brought round. Various touches of Plain Bob, Grandsire and Treble Bob were rung at all the places visited. The members wish to express sincere thanks to the clergy who so readily granted permission to ring; to all the local ringers who had the bells ready; and to Mr. Hillier, of Devizes, who assisted in making the outing a great success.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION. EASTERN DIVISION.

A quarterly meeting was held at Battle, on Saturday, June 27th, members attending from the following towers: Eastbourne, St. Saviour's; Christ Church, St. Leonard's; Christ Church, Blacklands; Rye, Southover, Lewes, Salehurst, Shoreham, Pevensey, together with members of the local band. Mr. A. A. Hughes, of the Whitechapel bell foundry, was also present.

Ringings commenced at 2.30 p.m. The usual service was attended by the members, and the Dean (the Rev. W. W. Youard, M.A.) gave an excellent address, which was thoroughly appreciated by everyone present.

Between 30 and 40 members sat down to a splendid tea, which had been provided in the Parish Room, through the kindness of the Dean, who presided.

At the business meeting, the Dean (the Rev. W. W. Youard) occupied the chair prior to reading the minutes.—The Hon. Secretary made a touching reference to the passing of Mr. S. Deadman, of All Saints', Eastbourne, and an old association member, and on being put to the meeting by the chairman, the whole company stood in silence for a moment.

The minutes of the previous meeting having been read and confirmed, the following new members were elected: Canon C. R. C. Frewer, of the Little Rectory, Brede, and the Rev. Roger de Goeij-Hampson, of Christ Church, Blacklands, as hon. life members.

Following a discussion, it was decided to hold the next quarterly meeting at Waldron, in September.

Mr. W. D. Smith proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Dean for the use of the bells, his address at the service, and also for his great kindness in entertaining the members to tea.

The Dean, in responding, stated that it was a great pleasure to him to welcome the ringers. He was glad that there was an enthusiastic band of ringers at Battle, and he hoped that association would do all they could to encourage young ringers.—This terminated the meeting.

The ringers then returned to the tower, and the bells were kept going until 8.30 p.m.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

A garden party (by the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. F. Cawley Roberts) is to be held in the grounds of the Manor House, Torkington, on Saturday afternoon, in aid of the Norbury (Cheshire) Church Bells Restoration Fund.

The peal of Cambridge Surprise Major by Mr. J. S. Wilde, of New Zealand, which was published on Friday, was rung for the first time on the preceding day at North Stoneham, Hants.

What a link with the past is Mr. Ted Horrex, 'father' of the College Youths! We knew he took part in the 15,840 of Kent Treble Bob Major at Bethnal Green in 1868, and now we learn, from his pertinent letter last week, that he was one of a band that rang at Coventry in 1864—sixty-one years ago!

It was pleasant to meet in the belfry at Lichfield, on Saturday, Mr. W. W. Worthington, whose business claims have prevented him from taking part in any ringing for more than two years past. Mr. Worthington began ringing in his Undergraduate days at Oxford, but was some years before he came acquainted with a change ringing band. When he did so, his enthusiasm quickened apace, and his interest is still maintained, despite his restricted opportunities of taking part in a favourite hobby.

Mr. Worthington's home is the beautiful place, Maple Hayes, just outside Lichfield, and overlooks some of the most charming scenery to be found in the county of Stafford.

The first peal of Erin Caters was rung at North Shields on July 12th, 1909.

On July 15th, 1830, a peal of 5,000 new Treble Bob Royal was rung at Leeds. What in those days was known as 'New,' is now the Kent Variation.

An interesting notice concerning Yeovil bells, appeared in the 'Western Flying Post' of July 14th, 1760: 'There is lately Hung to Sally and set going by John Bush, Bell Hanger, of Chew Stoke, near Bristol, in the County of Somerset, a large Peal of Six Bells in the Town of Yeovil, in the said County.

'The Tenor consisting of near 50 cwt., they are allowed to be the largest Peal of Six that is in the Country, and required, before new Hung, 22 or 23 Men to ring the Six Bells; but since they are hung by the said Bush, the same has been rung for several Hours by 7 Men only, and 50 3 or 4 different Peals of Changes, consisting of 128 Grand-sire Changes in each Peal.

'N.B.—The said Bush has work'd in the Business for upwards of 30 years, and is thought to be a very experienced Man, and will be ready to serve any Parish if required.'

There are now ten bells at St. John-the-Baptist's Church, Yeovil, the tenor being 42 cwt. This bell and the present 9th were recast by Bilbie in 1728.

ANOTHER BROADCAST OF BIRMINGHAM BELLS.

The jubilee of the restoration of St. Martin's Church, Birmingham, is to be celebrated from July 18th to 25th. A special service is to be broadcast on Sunday, the 19th, and the bells will be heard over the wireless from the Birmingham station for a quarter of an hour beforehand, commencing approximately at 7.45 p.m. Ringers who have receiving sets should hear some good Stedman Cinques, and the public will hear the 'real thing,' as contrasted with what the Rev. C. D. P. Davies recently described to the Central Council as the 'footling' imitation, which commonly precedes the services broadcast elsewhere.

It is interesting to note that at one of the special services at St. Martin's, the new Rector's son is to be baptized. He will be named Martin Hartley Guy—the first name being after the church of which his father, Canon Guy Rogers, is the head.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

EASTERN DIVISION.

The quarterly meeting was held at Thorne, on Saturday, July 4th, and was attended by some 30 members and visitors representing many towers, and the local company. Ringing was enjoyed throughout the afternoon and evening, the various standard methods being rung on the recently recast peal of eight, the tone and 'go' being perfect.

A short service was held in the interesting old church of St. Nicholas, where an instructive address was given by the Vicar, the Rev. Canon Littlewood.

Tea was provided by the local ringers and their wives.

The business meeting followed, six new members being elected: S. Coates, of Hull; Messrs. W. N. Hains, J. Crossland, C. E. Long, J. R. Long, and A. H. Howeroft, of Eastrington.

An invitation, which was unanimously accepted, was received from Escrick for the September meeting.

Votes of thanks to the Vicar, the ladies, and the local company for their services, were carried, to which the Vicar suitably replied.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL MEETING.

Alderman Pritchett said he put the motion on the agenda at the invitation of the hon. secretary, who said he did not think there would be enough to talk about (laughter), but somebody else came forward, and on that ground he claimed the Council's sympathy (laughter). He did not expect that anybody would agree with anything that he had said, but he did not expect, he must confess, that he would be made fun of (laughter). He apologised to the Council, and thought he had better withdraw (laughter and 'No').

Amid further laughter, the motion was then put, and declared lost by a large majority. Except for the mover and seconder, only two hands were held up in favour, and these were two of the bell founders, with a keen sense of humour.

A CHANGE OF RULE.

Mr. W. A. Cave moved a resolution, of which he had given notice: 'That on Page 13 of the Rules and Decisions in the paragraphs headed (a) "on nine and eleven bells, (b) on eight, ten and twelve bells," the words, "in any one method," be omitted.' He pointed out that this alteration was necessary in view of the development of ringing, and the fact that peals on these higher numbers would in the future be rung in more than one method, the rule as it stood limiting peals on numbers higher than six bells to one method only.

Mr. Beams suggested that 'seven bells' should also be included, but this, it was pointed out, would involve a separate resolution.

The motion was carried without discussion.

NAMES WANTED!

The Rev. E. S. Powell proposed 'that it be an instruction to the honorary secretary to add the names of the proposer and seconder of a motion, when the same is printed in the agenda.' He said they had had that day an illustration of one good reason, although not his real reason, for recommending the course he proposed. Had they had the name of the proposer of a certain motion on the agenda it might have conduced to more peace in St. Martin's Guild, if the Guild could have known beforehand what their respected Master was going to do (laughter). A resolution ought to show what lay behind it, and it ought to have the names of the proposer and seconder. If, for instance, they saw the name of Mr. James to a motion they would expect, when they came to the meeting to hear something about Bob methods, and perhaps Canterbury Pleasure. On the other hand, if a motion bore the names of members of the Chester Guild, they could, by way of preparation to deal with the matter faithfully, turn out their books on botany and study them (laughter). In two different persons' hands the same resolution meant two totally different things. The real thing at the back of his mind, however, was, that there was getting to be a great congestion of business at the Central Council meeting. To have the names of the proposer and seconder would be a guide as to the probable importance of what was behind a resolution, and so help to strengthen the hands of the president in regard to the earlier part of the business.

Mr. G. P. Burton seconded the motion, but Alderman Pritchett opposed it. He did so, first of all, on general grounds, as he did not see it could serve any useful purpose if it were carried. He also opposed it on the special ground, that if he had had to put the names to his motion that day he might have had to hunt in vain for a seconder. There would then have been no discussion, for the Council would not have had the great amusement that had been afforded it (laughter).

The Rev. H. Law James supported the resolution.

The President pointed out that no subject could be proposed for discussion unless it was sent in one month before and signed by two members.

The motion was carried nem. con.

COUNCIL TO VISIT IPSWICH.

The President said the Standing Committee had had under consideration the question of the place of next meeting. Following the regular cycle which they had adopted for more than 30 years, their first meeting of a session was always in London; the meeting this year was in the north-west of England, and consequently next year it should be in the south-east. Two places were suggested to the committee, viz., Canterbury and Ipswich. They had met at Canterbury in the past, and although they were agreed it would be a good place to go to, they felt that they ought to recommend Ipswich in preference to any other place. The Council had never been there; it was very 'get-at-able,' and they thought it would be the best place for the Council to meet next year. On behalf of the Standing Committee he therefore proposed Ipswich.

The Rev. H. Drake, on behalf of the Suffolk Guild, gave the Council a hearty invitation to Ipswich. They had not got quite as interesting a place as Chester, but they would do their best with the interesting things they had, and they would give the Council a hearty welcome.

Mr. C. Ince supported the invitation, and said the Suffolk Guild would try to give the Council the time of their lives.

The motion was carried unanimously.

THE WASHBROOK MEMORIAL.

The Rev. C. W. O. Jenhyn said the Council at the last meeting entrusted the Oxford Guild with the task of putting up a memorial to James William Washbrook, in Oxford, and it also called upon all Associations and Guilds to support the Oxford Guild in doing so, in order that it might be a national one. The treasurer had informed him that he had actually in hand £115 15s. They wanted £160, or, it might be, £170, although he thought £160 might be sufficient. Out of that £115, the Oxford Guild, by means of private subscriptions, and from towers and branches, had contributed £90 9s.; so that he thought they might say the Oxford Guild was doing its part (hear, hear). He also thought that those Guilds and Associations throughout England, who had sent anything at all, had responded very well indeed. He asked those associations who had not yet subscribed kindly to let the treasurer know what support they could give, so that he would be able to announce, when the Oxford Guild met in July, that the money was in hand.

The promise of a number of subscriptions from associations was made by various representatives.

CHALLENGE TO SIMPSON TUNING.

The Hon. Secretary gave notice that at the next meeting he would move: 'That the time has now arrived when the Council should consider whether the so-called scientific or Simpson tuning is in the best interests of the Exercise' (hear, hear, and laughter).

Alderman Pritchett moved a vote of thanks to the Bishop of Chester, the Dean and the Cathedral authorities for the kindness extended to the Council, and the facilities they had afforded for the holding of a successful meeting. This was unanimously carried, as was also a vote of thanks to the President, proposed by Mr. J. Griffin, and a vote of thanks to the committee and secretary of the Chester Diocesan Guild, proposed by Mr. W. H. Hillier.

This terminated the business, and the Council then rose.

Many of the members and their friends afterwards went into the Cathedral for the evening service, the singing being chiefly remarkable for the clear enunciation of the words. Then, following a procession to the cloisters, where they joined in a short service, at which two memorial lights were dedicated.

By this time the lower part of the Refectory was transformed into its original use, as a dining hall, and, as the guests of the Chester Diocesan Guild, about 120 sat down to tea. This number was about 50 per cent. in excess of those who had accepted, but those in charge of the catering rose nobly to the occasion, so that none went empty away. The chair was taken by Mr. H. A. Heywood, who was for some years hon. secretary of the Chester Guild.

During the meal the Dean gave a brief, breezy, but nevertheless informative, address on the history of the building, especially mentioning those things most worthy of a visit. He also placed the bells at the disposal of the ringers till 7.30 p.m.

In the handsome ball room of the Grosvenor Hotel a party of about 150 afterwards foregathered under the capable chairmanship of the Master of the Chester Diocesan Guild (Rev. C. A. Clements). There another treat was in store, for the musical portion of the evening was rendered by the Cathedral Quartette, whose part singing was of a most pleasing and well-balanced character.

Canon Coleridge also delighted his listeners by one of his 'Devonshire Stories.'

During an interval he presented Mr. H. W. Wyld with a handsome pair of silver candlesticks, as a slight recognition of all he had done, especially in getting the house and grounds of Eaton Hall open to the Council and their friends on the previous day.—Mr. Wyld, taken by surprise, feelingly responded.

Thanks to the Diocesan Guild for the arrangements made was followed by Auld Lang Syne and the National Anthem.

THIRTY YEARS A RINGER.

Thirty years a ringer in the belfry of the Lang Kirk of Craven. Mr. C. Brown is leaving Kildwick for Blackpool. On Sunday evening last there was a farewell ring, in which members of the local belfry were formed by ringers from Skipton Parish Church. The members of the band were G. Bottomley 1, T. Rogers 2, C. Brown 3, J. Garlick 4, W. Hillary 5, H. Roe 6, W. Billows 7, C. Law 8. They rang 576 Trelile Bob Major, a touch of Violet and a touch of Oxford. Mr. Brown carries with him the good wishes of many Yorkshire ringers, with whom he has come in contact during his long period of service in the historic old church at Kildwick.

RINGER'S RECOVERY.

Mr. A. Symonds, of Lavenham, is now lying in the West Suffolk Hospital, Bury St. Edmunds, having undergone a successful operation on Thursday last. His many friends will be pleased to hear that he is making favourable progress.

READING.—On Sunday, July 5th, at St. Giles' Church, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes), in 45 mins.: G. Saunders (first quarter) 1, A. W. Osborne 2, L. Osborne 3, A. Evans 4, A. Bailey 5, E. Humphrey (conductor) 6, H. Osborne 7, R. Sawyer 8.

STAFFORD ARCHDEACONRY SOCIETY. RESTRICTIONS AT LICHFIELD.

Lichfield Cathedral is one of the nation's most beautiful possessions, an ornate and stately pile, whose central spire rises nearly three hundred feet, and is the dominating feature of the country for miles around. In one of the smaller but none the less imposing western towers hangs a fine peal of ten bells, now, alas! heard all too little, on account of the restrictions which are placed on the ringing of them. The bells themselves are in excellent order—they were relung a few years ago by Mr. J. E. Groves, of Birmingham—but the local band, of which the veteran, Mr. Cape, has been an active member for more than half a century, receive scant encouragement, and there are few, if any, opportunities for outsiders to ring. Even the Society of the Archdeaconry of Stafford, which operates in the area of which Lichfield is the centre, and which has shown its loyalty to the mother church of the diocese by returning to it practically every year for its annual festival, is finding that its visits to the Cathedral are not altogether welcome. This is really very deplorable, and in these days—when almost everywhere ringers are receiving acknowledgment as valued helpers in the Church's work—difficult to understand. Year after year in the past the society has turned to the Cathedral for its annual gathering, to be met this year with a consent to ring the bells for an hour and a half on condition that no application is made for the use of the bells next year.

When the society met on Saturday last this condition was much commented on and regretted. Over eighty members attended, and made the best use of the bells during the limited time at their disposal. The ring of eight at St. Mary's were also open, but here, unfortunately, illness near the church put an early end to the ringing, leaving only the six-bell tower of St. Michael's for use in the evening.

The tea and business meeting were held at Lloyd's Restaurant, Mr. J. E. Groves presiding, and being supported by the Rev. C. H. Barker (clerical secretary) and Mr. H. Knight (lay secretary).

The business was largely formal, and included the re-election, en bloc, of the officers.

The committee, in their report, stated: 'We are able to record another year of progress. The number of peals rung during the year was 26, made up as follows: Grandsire Triples 4, Stedman Triples 15, Stedman Caters 2, Stedman Cinques 1, Bob Major 2, Kent Treble Bob Major 1, Double Norwich Major 3. The members of the Central Council must have been gratified at the warmth and sincerity of the welcome extended to them at Chester. The Dean of Chester, in the course of his remarks, said he hoped "we should recover presently the notion in England that the Cathedrals did not belong to a group of old gentlemen, but really were the mother church of each diocese, the Bishop being the head of it, the Dean and Chapter trustees, and the Cathedral belonging to everybody. That Cathedral was the one great building in the county that really belonged to everybody." "We should like," added the committee, "to be able to feel that about our own beautiful Cathedral at Lichfield. Our brothers in the Diocese of Chester will sympathise with us when they know that we are allowed to ring the bells of our Cathedral for 1½ hours this year on condition that we do not ask to do the same next year." The report concluded with an expression of deep regret at the death of four members, Messrs. Wm. Benton (Cannock), W. Rock Small (Tipton), J. Bradney (Wolverhampton) and A. Everitt (Tamworth).

The balance sheet showed that there was a balance in hand at the end of the year of £30 15s. 9d., a decrease of £3 2s. 2d., compared with the preceding year. Of the receipts, £22 18s. was from subscriptions, including those of 221 ringing members, whose numbers showed an increase.

The report and balance sheet were adopted.

Mr. H. Knight stated that contributions amounting to £2 7s. had been received towards the Washbrook Memorial, and he asked those who had not already sent donations to do so as quickly as possible.

The three quarterly meetings, recommended by the committee, were confirmed, viz.: Kingswinford, in July; Wednesbury, in January; and Stafford, in April. The committee suggested Wolverhampton or Lichfield for the annual meeting.

The Rev. C. H. Barker said when they came to Lichfield two years ago, and did not have the Cathedral bells, the attendance fell off to almost exactly a half of what it had been the year before. This year they had got the bells on condition that they did not ask for them next year.

Mr. Brindley urged the members to stick to Lichfield. The experiment of moving away was once the downfall of their society. Perhaps if they tried they might get the Cathedral bells next year.

The Rev. C. H. Barker said he did not see how they could ask for them, in view of the condition made this year.

Eventually Lichfield was selected by a considerable majority, eighteen hands being held up for Wolverhampton.

Mr. H. Knight, for the committee, suggested that an effort should be made to revive the cycle runs to outlying towers, and it was decided to try them and see what success attended the effort.

It was resolved to print the annual report this year, there being sufficient funds in hand for the purpose.

Five new members were elected from Erdington (2), Penkridge (2) and Nuneaton (1).

The business concluded with a vote of thanks to the officers for their services, and to the chairman for presiding.

THE LICHFIELD BELLS.

According to an article by Mr. J. R. Jerram which appeared in 'The Ringing World' some years ago, an old record has it that the original bell tower and bells at Lichfield were destroyed by fire in 1315. No more is heard of the bells till the 15th century, when the 'Jesus Bell,' a gift of Dean Heywood, was installed. This bell was destroyed during the Commonwealth. It is recorded in an MS. in the Bodleian Library that 'one Pickens, a pewterer, on July 26th, 1653, knokt in pieces the fair bell called Jesus at Lichfield; he being the chief officer appointed for demolishing the Cathedral.'

In 1670, Bishop Hacket contracted for 'six bells becoming a Cathedral,' three of which were cast before his death, but the tenor only was hung. The peal was completed by his son and executor, Sir Andrew Hacket.

In 1687, the Hacket bells having become 'bad and useless,' a subscription was raised to replace them by a peal of ten. But the bell founder, Henry Bagley, used up all the metal provided, in casting the back eight, and £80 more was required to complete the peal of ten. The money was raised in some way, and many persons gave trees for the timber of the frame.

GORSEINON.—At St. Catherine's Church, on June 28th, for evening service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples, in 45 mins.: *J. Mac-Milton 1, C. Willis 2, Reg. Dobbins 3, R. Baird 4, W. ## DOUBLE NORWICH COURT BOB EXTENSION

By GEORGE BAKER.

In the 'Ringing World' of 29th July, 1921, I gave the figures of what I had then for at least seven years believed to be the correct extensions of Double Norwich Court Bob Major to Royal and Maximus. I also pointed out that the Royal was only a three-part touch, and here I might add that Royal of any description having either of the following lead-heads will never be more than a three-part touch, a fact which can be easily proved by transposition, i.e.:-

|            |            |
|------------|------------|
| 1234567890 | 1234567890 |
| 1860492735 | 1795038264 |
| 1795038264 | 1860492735 |
| 1234567890 | 1234567890 |

These are not isolated instances, of lead-heads producing touches only, but this subject has little to do with the present article.

I am now able to prove by the round blocks and transpositions that the figures given in these columns on the date above mentioned are undoubtedly the correct extensions of Double Norwich Court Bob Major to ten and twelve bells, and as a consequence the only possible Minor is 'Double Court,' e.g., see half-leads, round blocks, etc., which follow:-

MINOR.

|                 | Rd. Blocks. | Transpositions. |
|-----------------|-------------|-----------------|
| 123456 x 156342 | = 156342    | 156342          |

| 423165 x 356124 | = 365421    | 325641          |
| 243615 x 536214 | = 634152    | 156342          |
| 426351 x 352641 | = 452135    | 345612          |
| 462531 x 325461 | = 534126    | 156342          |

MAJOR.

|                     | Rd. Blocks. | Transpositions. |
|---------------------|-------------|-----------------|
| 12345678 x 18674523 | = 18674523  | 18674523        |
| 21436587 x 81765432 | = 72856341  | 28345671        |
| 24135678 x 87164523 | = 87362514  | 17368524        |
| 42316587 x 78615432 | = 87546132  | 42865137        |
| 24361578 x 87651423 | = 87465212  | 73615248        |
| 42635187 x 78564132 | = 87531642  | 84567213        |
| 24365817 x 87654312 | = 68452371  | 23674518        |
| 42638571 x 78563421 | = 75634128  | 14567238        |
| 46283751 x 75836241 | = 67452318  | 23674518        |

To economise space as much as possible I have given only the half-leads of Minor and Major, and I propose doing the same with the Royal and Maximus.

Following are the half-way transposition rows grouped for clearer comparison. It will be seen that the progression is equivalent to 231 from Minor to Maximus inclusive, and it will be the same to infinity, but when the number of working bells, from and including Royal are an odd multiple of three, viz., 9, 15, 21, etc., the figures then will represent touches only.

PROGRESSION.

I can find no mathematical relationship whatever between Double Norwich Court Bob Major and the methods given in 'Shipway' as Double Norwich Royal and Maximus, and the following fact should be obvious to everyone, i.e., the progressive cannot be the same unless the place-making occurs in similar positions on all numbers.

For comparison, I give the half-way transposition rows, and I think the mathematicians will agree there is no progression between the Major and Royal, neither is there any near relationship between Shipway's Royal and Maximus.

GREAT HASELEY, OXON.

REDEDICATION OF ST. PETER'S CHURCH BELLS.

The dedication service of the six bells of the above church was held on Sunday, June 28th. Nos. 1 and 3 of the six bells were recast in the presence of their Majesties the King and Queen, on the occasion of their visit to the Croydon foundry on May 12th. The bells bear the following inscriptions: 'Thos. Rudhall Founders Gloster 1775 I was recast to the glory of God and the memory of Lionel Muirhead 1925'; 'Honour the King 1641'; 'Thomas Plater and Roger Hurst C.W. Will and Rob Cor. Recast as a thankoffering to God by E. J. Lovell 1925'; 'Fare God 1641'; 'Love God 1641'; 'I to the Church the Living call and to the Grave do summon all 1774.' Several members of the South Oxon branch of the Oxford Guild had the pleasure of ringing the opening touches of Grandsire Doubles during the afternoon and for evening service. A good 720 of Grandsire Doubles were rung by C. Tyler, Warborough; H. Cooper, Milton, Berks; H. Stockwell, Haseley; H. Hurst, C. Woodward and F. W. Woodward (conductor), Chalgrove. Other ringers taking part during the afternoon were W. Hutton, Dorchester, J. Smith, Pangbourne; J. Allen, Great Milton and Mr. C. F. Johnson, of the Croydon bell foundry, whose firm have carried out the above restoration very satisfactorily. An excellent tea was provided for all ringers who attended, and was greatly enjoyed. Many thanks are tendered from the visiting ringers to the Vicar and local ringers, and to Mr. C. F. Johnson for their respective courtesy and kindness. Disappointment was felt in meeting one short for Minor, but it is hoped to have a good band for same at an early date.

FARNHAM (SURREY) OUTING.

On Saturday, June 27th, the ringers of the Farnham Parish Church, some accompanied by their wives and children, together with a number of friends, making altogether a party of 32, held their annual outing, which took the form of a trip by road to Bournemouth. Leaving Farnham early, by road, the party proceeded through Alton and Winchester to Lyndhurst, in the New Forest. Here a halt was made for half an hour whilst the company partook of light refreshments. The journey was then continued through the lovely scenery of the forest as far as Ringwood, where the ringers were met and welcomed by Mr. Cheater, of the local band. A visit to the belfry of the fine old church was made, and touches of Grandsire Triples were enjoyed. After two short touches on the bells, the journey was resumed, and Bournemouth was reached at 12.30.

The return journey was commenced at 6.15 p.m., the route being through Boscombe and Christchurch to Lyndhurst, where a short stop was made, after which the party proceeded to Winchester and Alresford. Leaving Alresford at 10 p.m., Farnham was again reached at 11.40 p.m., everyone having thoroughly enjoyed the day's outing.

The ringers wish to take this opportunity of thanking the Rev. Max Binney, of Ringwood, for giving permission for the use of the bells, and Mr. Cheater for having everything in readiness.

IRTHLINGBOROUGH OUTING.

On Saturday, June 27th, the above ringers and friends, to the number of 32, held their annual outing. Travelling by bus via St. Neots, Cambridge, to Saffron Walden, the party arrived at 10 o'clock to the sound of ringing bells, it being 'Great Ringing Day.' A house of 'Eight Bells' was first sought out, being welcomed by Messrs. Pit-slow, of the local band, and other members of the Essex Association, who kindly handed over the bells. A course of Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise Major was brought round on the back eight (and a good eight, too). The party moved on to Sawbridgeworth, being welcomed by the Rev. A. Rust (assistant priest, and sometime secretary of the Beds Association), and other members of the local band, who soon had the bells raised. The 'go' was not all that could be desired, but the party managed to get through courses of various methods. After lowering the bells in peal a move was made to headquarters (Harlow Common), being met by Mr. G. Dent (churchwarden), also a member of the local band, and some of his fellow-ringers. Thanks to their great kindness, an excellent luncheon was in readiness. After lunch, the beautiful musical peal of eight in the tower close by were soon going to various methods. Touches in most of the standard methods were rung during the afternoon, including a well-struck course of Bristol Surprise Major, this being the first course of Bristol on the bells. The local ringers and their wives, not content with what had already been done for the party, prepared tea. Mr. Perkins then made a pleasing announcement, stating that the party were the guests of Mr. Dent and the local ringers, and proposed a most hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Dent, the local ringers, and their wives.—Mr. Barber, in seconding, said he was sure he should be expressing the views of all when he said how deeply they appreciated the great kindness and generosity of Mr. Dent, his fellow-ringers and their wives, and should they ever see fit to visit Northamptonshire they would be only too pleased to return the compliment.—Mr. Dent, in replying, said that as soon as they knew of the visit to Harlow they set to work with a will to make things as pleasant as they could, and it was plainly evident they had succeeded. He went on to say that he had very pleasant recollections of Irtlingborough, having rung peals there 28 or 29 years ago, and hoped they would have a pleasant time on the remainder of their journey. The journey was continued to Ware, and seeking out Mr. G. Barker, of the local band, were soon busy again with this fine peal of eight, and various methods were brought round. After lowering the bells in peal, which was a rare occurrence, the party made their way to the last tower of the day, at Hitchin, being met by Mr. Foster, of the local band, where they were soon busy with another fine peal of eight. Though time was short, various methods were brought round, and a course of London was attempted, but after going well, came to grief in the last treble lead or two. Touches and selections on the handbells were given in the hostelry, as a fitting finish to a splendid day. Through the 'Ringing World,' all the members of the party beg to tender their warmest thanks to all those who in any way helped to make the outing such a great success.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION MEETING.

By kind permission of the Rev. J. L. Kyle, an enjoyable meeting of the Northern Division of the Yorkshire Association was held at Carlton-in-Cleveland on Saturday, June 20th.

The meeting was very well attended, and good use was made of the beautiful peal of eight bells during the afternoon and evening.

A short service was held in the church, after which tea was provided.

A business meeting followed tea, the Rev. J. L. Kyle presiding, in the absence of the vice-president (the Rev. E. Drage).

The ringers much regretted the resignation of their Ringing Master (Mr. H. Ferguson), and after deciding that the Northern Division of the Association should go back to its original organisation, Mr. Barker, a member of the Thornaby band, was unanimously elected Ringing Master.

Mr. Gibson, of Scarborough, and Miss I. Simpson, of Pickering, were elected members of the district committee, and Mr. Gibson was also re-elected a member of the general committee.

The next meeting is to be held at Thirsk, in September, the exact date to be published later.

The annual general meeting next January is due to be held in the Northern Division, and the Thornaby ringers have extended a hearty invitation to the association to hold this meeting in their tower at Thornaby.

A vote of thanks to Mr. Kyle for all his efforts on behalf of the ringers, and for the most enjoyable day's outing he had afforded them, concluded the meeting.

TOTTENHAM (All Hallows').—On Sunday, May 10th, for morning service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: A. Racher 1, S. W. Crabb 2, W. J. Ellis (conductor) 3, G. G. Nash 4, H. Ellis 5, E. A. Hull 6, C. A. Button 7, H. W. H. Strickland 8.

DONCASTER AND DISTRICT SOCIETY OUTING.

The first annual outing of the above society took place last Saturday, the venue being Loughborough, where the party numbered 32. A start was made from Waterdale. Proceeding via the Dukeries and Nottingham, Loughborough was reached at 12.30.

The chief attraction at Loughborough was the world-famous bell foundry of Messrs. John Taylor and Co. Here the visitors were conducted round the foundry and workshops. After lunch, the bell foundry campanile was visited, and touches of Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob, Grandsire and Stedman Triples were rung. The tit-bit of the ringing was a perfectly struck course of Bob Minor, which was rung on the six smallest bells, the heaviest of which is 2½ cwt.

The bells of Loughborough Parish Church were placed at the service of the visitors, by kind permission of the Rector, and further ringing was enjoyed.

The Loughborough War Memorial was also visited; this consists of a dignified campanile 152 feet in height, with a wonderful carillon of 47 bells. Messrs. John Taylor and Co. were responsible for this carillon, which as a war memorial is unique in this country.

After tea, a start was made for Doncaster, which was reached at 10.45.

APATHY, AND A WAY OUT.

The apathy of the clergy and many of the ringers towards change ringing and the Guild was a position which was emphasised at the annual meeting for the Winchester Diocese the other day. In a large area, such as that covered by the Winchester Guild, there is bound to be a number of parishes where interest in ringing affairs falls flat, but it would appear that the conditions are such that they call for special action. Where 'both members and towers in union fall much below standard,' as recorded in the annual report, it is well to face the position to see what can be done by way of reaching a more satisfactory level.

The Winchester Guild is not alone in its complaint of the apathy of the clergy. The recognition given to ringers by the Church in these days is far in advance of that which was experienced even twenty years ago, but ringers are entitled to expect even more encouragement in their work than many at present receive. The question is, do they go the right way to induce this treatment? The clergy, for the most part, are acknowledged to be badly overworked; in many parishes they have scarcely time to keep in touch with all the multifarious branches of par. hial life, and, we imagine, as long as they hear the bells rung for the services, and see the ringers in their pew, they are content. Many of them, perhaps, cannot tell whether all or only part of their bells are being rung—some, probably, would be totally unconcerned if they did know, and, as long as the rubric is complied with, would not mind what happened to the bells. This latter, of course, is a deplorable state of affairs, where it occurs, yet it may easily develop, if the ringers do not themselves keep in close touch with their incumbent.

Where ringers are apathetic it is only to be expected that the clergy will also be without interest—the two generally go hand in hand—and it is, therefore, to the ringers that the 'ginger' must be most applied. But all those who have had anything to do with efforts to 'stir up' ringers know what a heart-breaking job it is. They are the most difficult people in the world to move. A good deal of the ringers' interest, however, depends, we think, upon the stage of advancement which he has reached in the art. The further he gets on, the keener he is, and we believe that one of the greatest incentives to interest in an association is to be found in the progress he makes in peal ringing. A man who never gets, say, beyond Grandsire Triples, can hardly be expected to show the same enthusiasm as a man who has reached the Surprise ringing stage; therefore one direction in which an association can attempt to overcome the existing apathy is to extend the scope of the instruction which is given, and do more in the way of organising peal attempts. With few exceptions, peal ringing is left to the initiative of the individual, and it is not infrequently argued that if a man wants to get on he will seek his own opportunities for peals. That is true in a measure. The ringer whose enthusiasm is inborn will unquestionably bestir himself, and, as it were, carve out his own career. But there is another class which the associations cannot afford to ignore, and that is the ringers whose enthusiasm has to be created. They are usually those who are not quite so quick in grasping the intricacies of the art, or whose limited opportunities have prevented them from making headway. If associations, and we speak generally now, would lay themselves out a little more to give this direct encouragement, we believe they would be well repaid by results. Occasionally the interest of the ringers is secured by first interesting the incumbent, but in the majority of cases the incumbent has his interest aroused by the work done by his own ringers, and we feel sure that the best way to overcome the apathy of the clergy is to attack it through interest created in the local bands.

CHANGE RINGING CONTEST.

Halifax and District Association of Change Ringers held their annual meeting on Saturday, and an eight bell contest took place at All Souls' Church, Halifax. The length of contest was 768 changes, any method. Four teams had entered, and the draw took place as follows: No. 1 Bradford, No. 2 Birstall, No. 3 Huddersfield, No. 4 Batley. All the teams rang 'Kent Treble Bob Major.'

An excellent tea, which over 60 enjoyed, was provided.

During the evening the annual meeting was held in the School, the president (Mr. J. Hardcastle) occupying the chair.

The Treasurer (Mr. F. Salmon) said he was sorry to report a loss on the year, but he thought if the ringers would attend to their subscriptions he would be able to report at the next annual meeting a credit balance.

The officers for the next twelve months were elected as follows: President, Mr. C. E. Carrington (Halifax); treasurer, Mr. F. Salmons (Halifax); secretary, Mr. L. Hargreaves (Halifax).

A vote of thanks was accorded the retiring officers.

Mr. J. Lawson (Lightcliffe), on behalf of the association, thanked the Vicar and Church Council for the use of the bells, also the ladies for providing the tea. He specially thanked Mr. F. Gaukroger and Miss Mitchell, as it was through their generosity that the All Souls' bells had been made ringable.

The judges, Mr. J. Broadley (Bradford), Mr. F. Schofield (Lindley), with Mr. C. E. Carrington (Halifax) marker, gave their decision on the ringing as follows:—

No. 1—Penalties 20, faults 213, total 233.

No. 2—Penalties 20, faults 238, total 258.

No. 3—Penalties 10, faults 193, total 203.

No. 4—Penalties 30, faults 209, total 239.

No. 3 Company, Huddersfield, were therefore declared winners.

Mr. F. Gaukroger, in presenting the cup, apologised for the absence of the Vicar.

A vote of thanks was accorded the judges.

THE SHEFFIELD DISTRICT & OLD EAST DERBYSHIRE AMALGAMATED SOCIETY.

A very successful meeting of the above society was held at Whiston on Saturday, July 4th.

About 40 ringers and friends turned up from Anston, Barnsley, Dore, Gainsborough, Killamarsh, Norton, Penistone, Rawmarsh, Rotherham, Sheffield (All Saints'), Pitsmoor, Cathedral, St. Mary's, Handsworth, St. Marie's (R.C.) and St. John's, Ranmoor, Treeton, Whiston and Wortley.

The bells (tenor about 12 cwt.) were raised in peal soon after 3 p.m., and were kept going in methods ranging from Grandsire and Plain Bob to Cambridge and Superlative Surprise till late in the evening.

Tea, presided over by the Rector (the Rev. A. G. Allton) and his wife, was followed by a business meeting, presided over by the Rector, supported by Mr. J. Holman (vice-president) and Mr. J. E. Lewis Cockey (hon. treasurer).

The Rector, after a few words of welcome, emphasised the difficulties of forming and keeping together capable change ringing bands at the present time.

The Hon. Treasurer explained to the meeting that the absence of the president, secretary and assistant secretary coinciding with some items of importance, it had been necessary for him to take matters in hand pro tem. At a committee meeting, held just previously, the pending resignation of the hon. secretary (Mr. T. W. Chown) was discussed, and the committee decided to ask the meeting to accept the nomination of Mr. Colin Harrison as secretary pro tem. A hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Harrison for his work in organising the successful Sunday Service Ringing Competition at the previous meeting at Norton was carried with acclamation. Mr. Harrison suitably responded.

Only one new member—Mr. J. Wingfield, of Ranmoor, was elected.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector and local company, and to Mrs. Allton and other ladies for their kindness in arranging the tea, to which the Rector suitably replied.

BARNESLEY & DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

The monthly meeting was held at Felkirk on Saturday, July 13th. Members and friends attended from Sandal, Wath, Darfield, Barnsley, Rawmarsh, Badsworth, Wortley, Royston, South Kirby, Shelley, Horbury, and from the local company.

Ringing commenced at 3.15, and easy methods were practised until 5 p.m., when tea was served. The business meeting followed the tea, Mr. R. Thickett being in the chair. The minutes of the previous meeting, held at Cawthorne, in May, and the report of the cup contest were adopted. The secretary was instructed to write to Kirkthorpe asking for permission to hold the August meeting there.

A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar of Felkirk for his welcome to the church and use of the bells; to the sisters for their kind help in providing tea; and the local company for all arrangements made.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A most successful meeting of the Tonbridge District was held at Cranbrook on Saturday, July 11th, which was attended by upwards of twenty members. The members were met on arrival by the Vicar (the Rev. H. T. C. Swingle). The heavy going of the bells proved rather too great a task for ringing Surprise methods, but some good practice was obtained in Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob and Double Norwich Major. A service was held at 4.30, conducted by the Vicar. Tea was partaken of, and was followed by the business meeting, the Vicar presiding.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. Mr. Burt Haffenden, of Mayfield, Sussex, was elected a non-resident life member, and seven members of the Breckley band were elected practising members, the District Secretary remarking that as the result of holding a meeting at that tower all the ringers there were now members of the association.

The Vicar of Cranbrook was elected an hon. member.—Mr. S. H. Green (Tonbridge Wells) urged the members to try and arrange combined practices at the various towers.—The Vicar replied to a vote of thanks for the use of the bells, etc., and for his election as a member.—The District Secretary, in replying to a vote of thanks for his services, said that he hoped some of the meetings would be better attended than they have been during the past. The Vicar conducted the members round the ancient church.

BRISTOL BRANCH.

An interesting meeting of the Bristol branch was held at Marshfield on Saturday, July 4th. At 4.30 a service was held in the church, the Vicar (the Rev. L. O. Asplin), being away, the Rev. T. C. Fowler (vice-president) officiating. Immediately after the service he proceeded to the ringing chamber, followed by the members, where Mr. Lewis, the conductor of the local ringers, was asked to unveil the board which recorded the first peal ever rung on the bells and by local men.

On unveiling the board, Mr. Lewis remarked that it had taken a long time to achieve, being 15 years since the trebles were added, several peals having been attempted by some of the best of ringers, but it was to them that the first peal belonged. The ringers were congratulated on their success, and the bells were then rung by those who took part in the peal. An excellent tea was served by Mrs. and Miss Lewis. Mr. C. Harding, of Marshfield, was elected a member. The usual vote of thanks was passed, and the tower again visited, several touches of Grandsire and Plain Bob being rung.

BELL RINGING A DYING ART.

Addressing church bell ringers at Halifax, recently, Bishop Frodsham said it was not generally recognised that bell ringing, in which the bells were hung round in full swing, was an art peculiar to this country. It was a very different thing from chiming, in which the bell was swung just enough to make the clapper strike the side of the bell. The art of bell ringing was in danger of being lost which would be a vast musical loss, for there was all the difference in the world between chiming and a full peal of bells. Mr. Salmon, chief bell ringer at Halifax Parish Church, said the older generation of ringers refused to teach the secrets of the art to young men.

MUFFLED RINGING.

At St. Mary's Church, Hornsey, on July 13th, 390 Kent Treble Bob: H. Blee 1, T. G. Deal 2, J. G. Nash 3, T. Langdon 4, A. Putland 5, C. H. Ross (conductor) 6. Also touches of Bob Minor and Grandsire Doubles, and the whole pull and stand. Rung half-muffled, as a last token of respect to Mr. H. Childs for upwards of 50 years a ringer at the above church.

DEATH OF GEORGE HENRY JOHNSON.

We regret to report the death of one of the veterans in ringing circles in Nottingham, at the ripe age of 73. George Johnson came of an old ringing family, which is still in active continuity in the sixth generation. His grandfather rang with the famous Wm. Doubleday Crofts, and George himself was one of the two veterans who formed the 'connecting file' between the old and newly revived Society of Sherwood Youths. He is also the one and only Nottingham man to call Holt's Original, which performance took place as far back as 1877. The history of ringing in Nottingham has been carefully recorded by him, and it is to his efforts, and his only, that a complete survey of past peals in this district is available. Several of the most important peal boards in the towers of St. Mary's and St. Peter's are his handiwork. His peals number 32, of which he conducted 18, the methods being Stedman, Grandsire Triples and Caters, Bob Major, Kent Major and Royal. Several of these peals were rung in Eccles, where he resided for a few years. Nottingham is the poorer for his loss, and many have lost in him an old and valued friend.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

By J. A. TROLLOPE.

Although he was not a change ringer, nor I think any sort of ringer, the name of Henry Thomas Ellacombe will always be held in honour in the Exercise. Many of us, no doubt, knew him only as the inventor of the familiar chiming apparatus, but besides being a most learned bell antiquary, he was one of the first who promoted what we used to call 'belfry reform.' You don't hear very much about belfry reform nowadays, because, happily, the abuses that were to be removed are largely things of the past. Some time ago, I came across an account of Ellacombe, which may be interesting. It is in a book called 'Oriol College and the Oxford Movement,' written by the Rev. Thos. Mozley, who was a Fellow of Oriol, brother-in-law of Cardinal Newman, and brother of a man who had a big reputation as a theologian. The book is dated 1882, when the writer had retired, and an old man.

This is the extract: 'Very early did I hear of Henry Thomas Ellacombe. Happy were they that knew him, or had talked with, or even seen him. Yet I am ashamed to say I did meet him once in Oriol Common room, and failed to retain an image, which was not eclipsed by the name. Ellacombe survives, and is ninety-three, or thereabouts. He is of that fortunate race—"sons of the gods" they may be truly called—that care for everybody and everything. There is no wealth like sympathy, for it is inexhaustible. I had heard of Ellacombe's addiction to church bells, to plants and flowers, to armorial bearings and genealogies, but, when I went into Devonshire, I might say that not half had been reported to me.

'His magnificent quarto on the bells of Devonshire gives the size, tone, quality, date, and legend of every church bell in the county, with full particulars of their condition and surroundings. The first thing that strikes the reader is the evidently strong attachment of the people to their bells, and the lead bells have taken in church restoration. Long before Simeon was skeletonising our sermons, churchwardens were recasting our bells, and doing it very well, too. They made mistakes sometimes, and they dealt rather recklessly with the church towers. When they had not room for a larger peal, or even one more bell, they thought nothing of scooping out a waggon load of solid masonry. What was worse, when the "cage" would oscillate so much as to disturb the ringing they drove in big wedges between it and the walls, thereby communicating the oscillation to the walls, and in many cases cracking them from top to bottom.

'Ellacombe went about suitably apparelled, and with proper tools and materials, running up every tower in Devonshire. He did not think it always necessary to ask the parson's leave, but when the parson heard his bells tinkling, clanging and jangling, he knew somebody must be at them, and rushed out to see who or what it was. He found an extraordinary figure that might have stepped out of a scene of German diablerie, ascertaining the keynote of the bells, or taking a tracing of the legend, or a cast of the devices. One clergyman exorcised Ellacombe at once, and his church is conspicuous by its absence from the book . . .

'Ellacombe is a very short man, very much bowed with age, with a white beard reaching half-way to the ground, a beaming countenance, a pair of bright eyes, and a good clear ringing voice . . .

'One could not be in Ellacombe's company five minutes without learning something worth knowing, and in a distinct and positive form. What a loss it is that there are not the men to rescue these accumulations of knowledge before they sink into the ground, where all things are forgotten!

And we may add, too, what a loss it is that when a man dies, full of knowledge and experience, there is not someone at hand to collect and preserve the books and MSS. that he had got together! Where, for instance, are Ellacombe's books? I did hear somewhere and somehow that there was a goodly collection, many of great interest to ringers, but they have all, or almost all, disappeared, probably lost for ever. And so, too, with many a lesser man. Mr. Jones is an enthusiastic ringer, and has got and treasures a good many books and letters about ringing. Mrs. Jones does not value them a little bit. Probably, good honest soul, she detests ringing and ringers, and everything connected with them. She would rather her good man stopped at home with her instead of going about peal ringing. And she can't hear these people coming to her place and talking about bells and bells, and nothing but bells; and so when Jones dies after a decent interval, she clears out the whole of the rubbish. Small blame to her, but once in a while a great loss to the Exercise.

Ellacombe's 'Bells of Devonshire' was the first of that series of books on church bells, which includes L'Estrange's 'Bells of Norfolk,' Raven's 'Bells of Suffolk,' North's 'Bells of Northamptonshire,' and others, which are monuments of learning and patience, and industry. It is a stupendous task to collect the details and inscriptions of the church bells of a whole county, not to be undertaken, and still less to be accomplished, unless the man has time and money and enthusiasm. And all these would not avail without learning, and the true archaeological spirit.

A paper on bells by Ellacombe was published by the Bristol Architectural Society in 1850. Whether any copy exists now I do not know. This was reviewed in the 'Quarterly' of 1854. As was the custom, the reviewer used it as a peg on which to hang a lengthy discourse on bells, beginning with Tubal Cain, and so on, to the time of the writer.

For all its parade of learning, there is nothing much in it. He gives an account of change ringing as far as three bells, which, however is given wrongly, and goes on: 'One unparalleled enthusiast, whose book was printed in 1618, devoted 475 pages to prove that the principal employment of the blessed in heaven will be the continual ringing of bells. Southey pronounces that the art is at least entitled to the praise of being the most harmless of all the devices for obtaining distinction by making a noise in the world. The justice of the remark, however, is more than doubtful. Bell ringers as a class have always had the credit, or discredit rather, of being a disorderly set. The fellowship commenced in the belfry conducts to the public-house, all gratuities are spent in tipping, and it is a common observation that the ringers, after summoning the congregation to church, are prone to slip away themselves.' So there you are. And I confess that I, too, have formed fellowships that have led from the belfry to the public-house, and oftentimes after a peal a bitter has tasted wondrous good.

I am not acquainted with the reasons which were advanced for saying that change ringing is the principal employment in heaven; but assuming the fact to be so, what a complete answer it is to Mr. George Burton's objection that there is no need for the forthcoming Central Council collection of Major Methods. Or is he one of those who would like to ring Stedman Caters to all eternity?

There is a good deal of interest and fascination in copying inscriptions and taking rubbings of bells. It is a far nobler hobby than, say, stamp collecting, which depends to such a great extent on luck and a deep pocket. A good many of us, when we were young, were bitten with the hobby. Temporarily, of course, for the genuine collector is a rare animal. I came across such a one in one of my holiday excursions. I was looking at one of the old churches in, I think, Norwich, when he turned up. He had paper and heel-ball, and all the rest of it, and his quarry was monumental brasses, being very learned in the different kinds—the sixteenth century, and the fifteenth century, the Flemish School, the French School, and so forth. I called in my little—very little—knowledge of the matter, and, spreading it out very thin to make it go as far as possible, I talked with him. Had he been to Lynn? Of course he had been to Lynn. But (sadly) they would not allow him to take a rubbing. But he had so and so, and so and so, and he opined that they were at least as good, if not so big, as those at Lynn. Holidays, however, were rare, and he had pretty well worked out his local district. Why not try bells? I suggested. He had never heard of such a thing. I explained the matter fully, urging him to eschew everything later than the sixteenth century. He was highly delighted with the idea, and went away happy. I saw him no more.

In my childhood, when I certainly was not more than six or seven years old, I read an account, somehow and somewhere, of a visit to a village church. The writer took his readers all round the building, showing and explaining as he went. At least I think so; for on this point my recollection is very hazy. At last he came to the tower and the bells, and he tells you to take a rubbing of the inscriptions. But, says he, you must be very careful, or (and this is the only part I do really remember) 'ten hundredweight of metal will crush you against the framework.' It was that one sentence that stuck in my mind. I knew nothing then, nor for long after, about bells, and I got a curious impression of what a bell must be like. Something like a cat of uncertain temper, harmless so long as you treated it right and stroked it the right way. But if you should happen to upset it, well, look out for teeth and claws.

But why should that particular sentence stick in my childish memory? And why should it continually recur? And this question I have never been able to answer. Was the man talking about what he did not understand? Or did he actually get down into the pit and take his rubbings with the bell up? And if so, how long was it before the providence that he so sorely tempted, lost patience with him, and put a period at once to his rubbings and his life.

I shall never find a solution to this problem. No, never.

RINGER'S ACCIDENT IN BELFRY.

While ringing at Battle Parish Church on Sunday last, Mr. Percy Carter missed the rope, which curled round his neck and pulled him off the ground twice before he could release himself.

He was badly shaken, his neck and ears were severely grazed, and the muscles of his arms sprained.

We wish him a speedy recovery.

CORRECTION.

The peal of Stedman Triples rung at Jesmond during the North of England tour was conducted by Herbert E. Audsley, and not by Ernest E. Terry, as recorded.

DOUBLE NORWICH EXTENSION.To the Editor.*

Dear Sir, I hope Mr. Baker will forgive me for butting in, but as I understand it, the Royal was the 'parent' of the Double Norwich family, the Maximus and Major being its 'offsprings.'

If this be correct, then there can be no question as to what is Double Norwich Royal. If any question is raised, it can only be with reference to the Major and Maximus.

DEATH OF MR. HENRY ROBINSON.

Through the death on July 3rd of Mr. Henry Robinson, the Preston branch of the Lancashire Association has lost its oldest member. The deceased, who was sexton and steeplekeeper at St. Leonard's, Walton-le-Dale, for the past 36 years, was cutting grass in the Churchyard, when he died.

Mr. Robinson was in his 79th year, and had completed 63 years' service as a parish ringer at St. Leonard's, and 28 years as a chorister. The bells were rung fully muffled for matins and evensong on the 5th inst., and after evensong a mixed band rang a 720 of Kent Treble Bob: Messrs. B. A. Knights (conductor) 1, J. H. Gartside (Chorley) 2, W. Sharples (Brindle) 3, F. Harwood 4, E. Armstrong 5, E. R. Martin 6. This was followed by a 240 of Bob Minor: B. A. Knights 1, W. Heald 2, W. Sharples 3, R. J. Armstrong 4, A. E. Woodhouse 5, J. T. Binison 6. On Monday evening, a 720 of Woodbine was rung by H. Martin 1, J. R. Taylor 2, E. R. Martin (conductor) 3, R. J. Armstrong 4, E. Armstrong 5, A. E. Woodhouse 6.

For the funeral on Tuesday, July 7th, the whole pull and stand was rung previous to the service, and after the interment the bells were rung half-muffled, and again in the evening. The Lancashire Association was well represented. The bad going of the 5th prevented any chance of a peal being rung, and it is rather singular that the last peal on the bells was rung for Mr. Robinson's golden wedding in April, 1922. He was a very keen and capable six-bell ringer in his younger days, and used to attend the branch meetings regularly. Mr. Robinson had two 5,040's of Minor to his credit in seven methods, one rung at Walton-le-Dale in 1882, and another at Higher Walton.

NEWPORT, ISLE OF WIGHT.—On Sunday, July 5th, for evensong, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples, in 47 mins.: W. Johnson 1, W. Chambers 2, W. Scott, junr., 3, W. Scott 4, A. Callaway 5, W. Upton 6, A. Pye (conductor) 7, S. Moody 8. Arranged for Mr. A. Pye, of Seven Kings, on holiday in the Island.

TRAVELLING FACILITIES TO RINGERS.To the Editor.*

Dear Sir,—May I, through your columns, appeal to all ringing societies to support an application which we are making for facilities in railway travelling?

On Saturday last, by appointment, a deputation of ringers, consisting of Mr. W. A. Cave (representing Bristol members of other associations), Mr. W. H. Thomas (watching the interest of the lady ringers), and myself (representing the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association), met the Divisional Superintendent of the G.W.R.

Our main points were that guarantee numbers demanded by railway companies were of no use to us; that a concession, reducing the guarantee number to less than twelve, would be beneficial, but more than that was really necessary.

In short, we aimed for the privilege of travelling as anglers, viz., single fare for the return journey on the same day.

The superintendent received us very courteously, and we felt that our application had been favourably heard.

After having carefully stated a few facts, we were asked to make a formal application for consideration, and we were assured that the matter would be placed before the Clearing Board with favourable recommendation from the Bristol Superintendent's office.

In order to make a great effort, will all associations and societies kindly make a local application so that the Clearing Board will understand how large a number of ringers will be benefited?

I might add, that in the event of our application receiving the consent of the Clearing Board, it will be necessary to have some mark of identification. To meet this, I would propose at the next Central Council meeting that all qualified members of affiliated associations and societies should be registered members of the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers, and that the expenses thereof be met by their respective societies.

Each member would then have for production a registration card which might be renewed every year.

Trusting we shall receive the support of every ringing organisation.—Yours faithfully,

EDGAR GUISE.

On behalf of Mr. W. A. Cave, Mr. W. H. Thomas, and myself.

HORNSEY, N.—On Sunday, July 12th, for morning service, 720 Bob Minor, in 28 mins.: W. G. Blee 1, E. Hibble 2, H. Blee 3, F. Fensom 4, J. G. Nash 5, C. H. Ross (conductor) 6.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The annual salmon and green pea supper will take place at Lydney on Saturday, August 15th. 'The Leading Saloon is Severn.' Those wishing to attend kindly advise Mr. J. W. Davies, 5, Railway Terrace, Lydney, early.

Mr. W. T. Tucker, who reached his 200th peal on July 2nd, is one of the enthusiastic band which Mr. George Williams has got round him at North Stouham, and is the energetic secretary of the Winchester District of the Diocesan Guild.

Mr. J. E. Sykes, who is in Manchuria, says China is seething with rebellion, but, happily, is able to add, 'I am on velvet.' Lucky Joe. He looks well in Chinese costume.

Mr. J. S. Wilde, of Dunedin, New Zealand, one of whose compositions of Cambridge Surprise Major, was published a fortnight ago, still keeps up correspondence with a number of old friends in England. He went to New Zealand twenty or more years ago, and, having been successful as a bat manufacturer, has now retired from business.

Mr. George Pullinger, the re-elected hon. secretary of the Winchester Diocesan Guild, who, at the annual meeting, received the congratulations of the members upon his recent marriage, is one of the few one-armed ringers. He lost an arm in the war, but, in pulling a bell, he suffers little incapacity. Not only is he an expert method ringer, but a remarkably good striker.

The opening peal at St. Chad's, Shrewsbury, was rung by the College Youths on July 18th, 1798.

The first peal by a band of ladies was rung at Cubitt Town, London, on July 20th, 1912, when Miss E. K. Parker called a 5,040 of Grandsire Triples.

The record length of Kent Treble Bob Major, 17,280, was rung at Over, Cheshire, on July 21st, 1923, in ten hours.

The broadcasting of the bells at St. Martin's, Birmingham, will take place on Sunday at approximately 7.45 p.m. It has been suggested to the B.B.C. that this should be simultaneously broadcast from all stations, but up to the time of going to press no information on this point had been received.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Central Division was held at Lindfield on Saturday, July 4th, 33 being present. Ringing commenced at 3 o'clock, and at 4.30 a short service was held in church, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. A. R. Mead). At 5 o'clock a tea, which had been provided by the Vicar in a very liberal manner, was served. The Rector presided at the business meeting which followed, supported by the Master (Mr. J. T. Rickman). Messrs. G. W. Brackpool, C. Bonnett, P. Bonnett, C. L. Lucas, S. Luck, H. Robbins, E. C. Snashford and H. Wild, of the newly-affiliated Turners Hill branch, were elected members of the association; also E. G. Benson, of Ardingley. The election of Mrs. and Mr. C. Hazelden, of Guildford, and Miss C. E. Orlebar, of Tunbridge Wells, was confirmed. At the invitation of the Rev. G. Irvine (Vicar), the next meeting of the division will be held at Turners Hill on Saturday, Oct. 17th. The meeting concluded by the Master proposing a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, his very able address, and for his most generous hospitality, also to the organist and choir. The tower was again visited, and various methods were rung. The following towers were represented: Barcombe, Burgess Hill, Brighton (St. Peter's and St. Nicholas), Crawley, Henfield, Hurstpierpoint, Lindfield, Lower Beeding, Southover (Lewes), Turners Hill and independent members.

WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD. GUILDFORD AND YORKTOWN DISTRICTS.

On Saturday, June 27th, the combined meeting at Yorktown was a success, this being the first gathering of the two districts. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m., and continued until 5 p.m. in various methods. The Guild's form of service was then conducted by the Rev. R. M. Curwen, of Yorktown. The members' tea took place in the Parish Hall. In the absence of the Vicar, Mr. W. Melville, of Guildford, presided, and voicing the pleasure of the gathering that day, proposed that the two districts make it an annual event.—Mr. H. J. Chaffery seconded the proposition, and the voting showed a great majority in its favour.—Mr. Whittington, Mr. Raddon and Mr. Nye also spoke.—It was decided to hold this meeting each year on the last Saturday in June, as both districts were represented. A touch of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by Mrs. Hazelden 1—2, Mr. Hazelden (conductor) 3—4, Mr. W. Melville 5—6, Major J. H. B. Hesse 7—8. The ringing was arranged and conducted by Mr. Hazelden. The bells at Hawley were available during the evening, and were well used. The meeting closed with votes of thanks to the lady organist; the Vicars of Yorktown and Hawley for the use of the bells; and to both captains of the towers for the trouble they had taken in bringing success to this meeting.

THE AUGMENTATION OF NORBURY BELLS A CHESHIRE TOWER WHERE RINGING HISTORY HAS BEEN MADE.

Part of the great church enlargement and restoration scheme at Norbury, Cheshire, is the augmentation of the ring of six bells to a peal of eight. The entire project, which is nearing completion, is costing something like five thousand pounds, and although the bells form the last, they are by no means the least portion of the undertaking. It is not just a question of adding two trebles. The old ring had a tenor of about 9 cwt., and included two bells (the 3rd and 4th cast by Oldfield in 1617. It is proposed to preserve these interesting relics, and they are now suspended from beams, for all to see, across the entrance porch. The new peal is to be increased in size to 14 cwt. by the addition of two tenors, with two new bells to replace the pair by Oldfield, and the recasting of the other four. The work is being done by Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, and will probably be completed in about three months' time.

Norbury bells have more than a passing interest for ringers, for, upon the ring which has been taken out, ringing history has been made. Twenty odd years ago, Mr. James Fearnley got round him a band which made rapid progress in Minor ringing. They mastered a large number of methods, and, when they became re-established, after the war, got down to the difficult task of ringing 'spliced' methods, and so accomplished did they become that the number of methods included in seven true 720's was extended until, in December, 1923, they rang a peal of 5,040 in 35 methods, one of the greatest performances ever achieved on tower bells. In January of that year they had rung a thirty-method peal, which was scored at the fourth attempt, and aroused real enthusiasm among the parishioners, who had become interested in their ringers' successes. When the 35-method peal was attempted the parishioners were almost as keen upon it as the ringers, and, when it came safely home at the first 'shot,' the Norbury people were genuinely proud of their ringers' triumph.

This interest in the ringers is only an example of the spirit which prevails in the parish in connection with the church, a spirit which has been kindled and maintained by the example of the Vicar and the church officers. Norbury is a 'live' parish, so far as its church affairs are concerned, and there can be no better testimony of this than the way in which it has set about footing the big bill which the project above-mentioned has entailed. Even the Nonconformists have helped, and the expense of providing the new treble is being borne by them. Special collections having been made in their churches for the purpose. The second bell is to be given by the parish in memory of the men who fell in the war. The third will be the gift of the ringers, and the only name that will appear upon it will be that of Herbert Williamson, one of the original band, who died after the Armistice as the result of war service. The Freemasons of Hazelgrove (of which Norbury forms a part) are giving the fourth, the 7th will be the special gift of the congregation, while the new tenor and the recasting of the 5th and 6th will be paid for out of the general fund. The bells will be placed in the tower in a new two-tier frame, and the general equipment of the belfry is to be worthy of the church.

Funds are still needed to complete the cost, and on Saturday a substantial sum was raised by a garden party, given in the beautiful grounds of Torkington Manor House, by the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. F. Cawley Roberts. Some hundreds of partisioners of all ages and both sexes flocked to the Manor House, and spent a most enjoyable afternoon and evening, amid charming surroundings, with the flowers at their best, and with a variety of entertainments to amuse them. Stalls for the sale of flowers, fruit, and other articles, were in charge of ladies connected with the church, cokernut shies, clock golf and other less skilful, but more speculative, games, held out their allurements, frequent concerts, in which the ringers, who gave excellent selections on handbells, played their part, and in which also a feature was the exhibition dancing of a number of girls. The vocal items were contributed by local talent, and excellent talent it was, too. Then, also, there were sports for juveniles and grown-ups, and throughout the afternoon and evening Hazelgrove Silver Band performed a delightful programme of music, the proceedings being brought to a close with dancing on the lawn. Throughout the day, Mr. and Mrs. Roberts were assiduous in looking after the comfort of their guests, and their kindness in this respect only adds to the indebtedness of the parish to them for placing their delightful grounds at the disposal of their neighbours, and helping so good a cause. To the many helpers who conducted the stalls, the concerts, the games, and, particularly those who had a strenuous time in serving tea—a pleasant and bountiful al-fresco meal, of which strawberries and cream were a feature—great thanks are due.

The people of Norbury are looking forward keenly to the return of their bells, which are, we understand, to be dedicated by the Bishop of Chester at a service arranged separately from that at which the new chancel is to be dedicated—thus emphasising the importance which the Bishop places on the bells. The ringers, who are well organised, (Continued in Next Column.)

BELLS OF ST. MICHAEL'S, COVENTRY.

By E. A. YOUNG.

These bells were cast in 1774 by Pack and Chapman, at the White-chapel Foundry, and were made as a complete peal of ten. The weight of the tenor was 31 cwt. 1 qr. 14 lb., and the total weight 138½ cwt. (including the crown staples which were 'cast in'). The 6th was recast in 1799 by Thomas Mears, and the tenor was recast in 1805 by John Briant, of Hertford.

This peal of ten replaced a peal of eight (tenor 25 cwt.) cast in 1675 by Henry Bagley, of Chacombe, and this eight replaced a heavy peal of six (medieval bells), tenor 30½ cwt.

Before the new peal of ten was erected, fear had been expressed that the tower was in danger from the heavy peal of bells (meaning the old eight), and after the old ten were hung, this fear was increased. A committee was formed to go into the question, and in 1794 the bells were taken down and rehung in a new frame, built up from the ground and unconnected with the tower. They were hung in two tiers. In 1805, when the tenor was recast by Briant, they were all again rehung, and brought down to one level. In 1885, at the time of the restoration of the church, it was considered that the tower was not strong enough to carry the bells for 'ringing,' and after several schemes had been put forward the bells were hung again for 'chiming' only, in the octagon. The tenor bears this inscription, which appeared on Bagley's tenor:—

'I am and have been call'd the common bell to ring, when fire breaks out to tell.'

Bells hung as a carillon are not really in accordance with the use for which they were intended in a church tower. Bells hung in churches were always intended to be rung—at least such has been the case for centuries past, and there is a very strong feeling against introducing a foreign idea of their use in an English church. It hardly needs to be pointed out that there is far greater dignity and majesty in a peal of bells properly rung, than in a set of bells (no matter what number) chimed in tunes from a keyboard. There is nothing to say against a carillon of bells in their correct setting, but a Parish Church tower is NOT that setting. What is it that gives such an arresting effect at, say, St. Paul's on a Sunday morning and afternoon—the 'ringing' of the twelve bells. This, of course, applies to all towers where good ringing is the custom, and what a thin effect it would have at, say, St. Paul's, if the bells were merely hand-chimed. There is no comparison.

If, however, the Coventry authorities have made up their minds to have a carillon of fourteen bells—there is no reason why the four additional bells should not be made upon similar lines to the old—and the necessary adjustments in tune carried out to the old bells, but, on the other hand, if the authorities particularly wish to have an entirely new set of bells, there can only be one way of saving the existing bells, viz., by purchase for installation elsewhere. This would present some difficulty, i.e., in finding a church to take them.

If the Coventry authorities wish to have an entirely new peal, could they be persuaded to store their existing bells until another home is found for them? An announcement could then be made in the Church papers, and even in prominent daily papers, to bring the bells before the public.

In the opinion of the experts, both ancient and modern, these bells are amongst the finest in the country. William Shipway, the great expert on ringing, writing over 100 years ago, puts them with St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich; York Minster, Painswick, Gloucester and Westbury, Wilts.

DEATH OF A WELL-KNOWN LONDON STEEPLEKEEPER AND SEXTON.

On Sunday, June 14th, the death occurred of Mr. Daniel Lovell, who had held office at St. Sepulchre's Church for over 45 years. He was a member of the Royal Cumberland Society, and assisted in ringing a good number of peals with some of his old friends, the late Mr. John Nelms and Mr. John Rogers, at St. Sepulchre's. He was also beadle for the ward of Farringdon, and when the executions took place at the Old Bailey Mr. Lovell used to toll the tenor bell. This has been done away with a good many years ago. The funeral took place on Thursday, June 18th, at the City of London Cemetery, Ilford. Mr. Lovell was in his 73rd year. Muffled touches were afterwards rung on St. Sepulchre's bells by the local ringers.

with Mr. J. Fearnley as leader, and Mr. J. P. Fidler as hon. secretary, are naturally anxious to resume their operations, and it is pleasing to observe that, although they will have eight bells, which they will know well how to ring, there is no intention of dropping their practice of spliced-method Minor ringing. They hold a foremost position in the Exercise in this department of the art, and we hope they will continue to do so, even though they have more than six bells to perform on.

THE CRITICISMS OF 'CRITICUS.' CENTRAL COUNCIL DELAYS—CARILLON 'MENACE'— LICHFIELD RESTRICTIONS.

We have now been able to read what our learned legislators had to say when the Ringers' Parliament met at Chester, and I think most of us have found in the report something to interest us. I am not one of those who have never seen any good in the Central Council. True, I do not think they have always spent their time profitably in the interests of ringing, although they may have had quite a good time among themselves; but I must say this, I am quite convinced that in the last few years there has been a well-intentioned effort to do good by the Exercise. Folk may ask: 'What have they done that is better or worse (according to the point of view) than anything they did before?' Well, I am not sure that I could define exactly wherein I see the improvement, yet one feels that what has been done in recent years has been of practical use to the Exercise.

The meeting at Chester, however, has emphasised what, to my mind, is one great drawback under which the Council suffers, and that is the slow pace at which it is compelled to move. In any matter which is deferred, at least a year must elapse before any further step can be taken. For instance, the report of the Nomenclature Committee could not be debated because it had not been previously published. Result—discussion adjourned for a year. The Rules and Decisions require overhauling—so the Council of 1924 decided. In 1925 the matter is referred to the Literature and Press Committee—though how in the world this comes within their province one cannot imagine. In 1926 they will probably report—if the Council is lucky. (There have been times when the Council has had to wait for years for a report from this committee.) Next year the report, if presented, will probably be deferred until it has been published, if precedent be followed. In 1927 it will be discussed, and, perhaps, adjourned for amendment; in 1928 it will be presented in final draft, and ordered to be printed; in 1929 (perhaps) 'Rules and Decisions, Revised,' will come from the Press. This may be an exaggerated view to take, and I may be too pessimistic, but it is the style of thing to which we have been accustomed from the Council.

Then there is the Methods Committee. How long is it since they reported they were almost ready to print their collection of plain Major Methods? The delay in this case has been different because of the Literature Committee's past procrastination, but these long-drawn-out affairs are the very things which make ringers, who only look at the surface of things, exclaim: 'The Council never does anything.' But the Methods Committee, apparently, are now to be up and doing. Perhaps I ought, in justice to them, to say that they have been up and doing—doing a second time what had already once been done. In the course of this year, therefore, we ought to have this new Collection of Major Methods, and, despite the view expressed by one member, I believe it will be welcome to the whole Exercise. The six-hill Collection not only sold well, but the scores of methods have been rung. Why, then, should not the Major methods 'go' equally as well? Even if they are not all rung, at least ringers will desire to place the Collection in their 'Library,' but given, say, twenty years, I have little doubt that someone will have rung most, if not all of them. Methods are much more likely to be rung when they are in a published collection than when they appear in isolated issues of a newspaper. For one thing, unless a ringer makes a point of collecting methods for himself, he loses sight of these new productions, and when the time comes that he might perhaps make use of them, he cannot readily put his hand upon them, and so does not bother. If, however, he has these methods on his library shelf, where they are ready at a moment's notice, he is much more likely to be interested in them, and they are brought out for practical use at the first opportunity. I certainly do not agree that the selection of methods which is to be printed will be a 'scrap book.'

By the way, when is the Council going to set up its History Committee, or appoint an historian? Many men have dipped into this branch of research, and there is in existence a considerable quantity of material which needs collecting. Even if nothing further could be done, a chronological record of all peals that have been rung, so far as they can be traced, might well be compiled and placed in the Council's Library. Then there is the collection of all existing methods and peal compositions, so that they can be made into a ready means of reference for those who come after and who, having found what they think to be a new method or peal, can turn to this file to test the originality of their work. Many writers have urged that this should be done. But up to now the Council has taken no action. In these days, when nearly everybody claims to be overworked, it may be difficult to find men with sufficient leisure to undertake tasks of this kind, but I think the Council ought to make an effort to do something. The longer these matters are delayed, the more difficult will be the task when it is put in hand. In the case of peal records, old papers may be destroyed or pass into the hands of those who have no interest in them, or, indeed, may not even understand them. Compositions, we know, multiply every day, and there are constantly recurring instances of peals published and having to be withdrawn because of a prior right of authorship. This position is likely to get worse rather than improve, because as composers pass away, there will be no one to uphold their claims. I am quite sure there are already cases of young composers claiming credit for figures which were produced years ago by some of the older masters. They have no piratical intentions, but, without any exhaustive means of ascertaining whether their compositions are new, they examine the limited number that are at their disposal, and, finding nothing like their fresh production, naturally claim their handiwork as original.

Many ringers must have been gratified at the timely appeal made by 'The Ringing World' to save Coventry bells, if possible. Whether the scheme suggested for breaking up this famous ring is to be persisted in or not I do not know—it will be more than a pity if it is—but I look upon this proposal as constituting a serious precedent. Hitherto augmentations of bells in this country have been by way of extending rings on lines which will enable a wider practice of our old English art. If, in future, there is to be a tendency to expand the numbers of bells in order that they may be chimed as carillons, it is going to be a serious menace to the Exercise. If the ten at Coventry are to be converted into fourteen merely for tune playing, some day, when another of our famous rings needs restoration, there will be plenty of people ready to advocate the substitution of the carillon for the ringing peal, and thus other bells may be lost to us. Coventry, with all its peculiarities and special circumstances, may be but the thin end of the wedge. We cannot expect our bell foundries to turn down good orders, whether they are for rings or carillons. At the same time, it is to be hoped they will not lose sight of the fact that the 'bread and cheese' of their industry is the maintenance and extension of church bells used in the English and not in the continental fashion. Rather than arguing as to whether it is advisable or otherwise to increase peals of eight into peals of ten, the Central Council might well turn their attention to passing a motion deprecating the conversion of peals of any number into carillons. The Exercise will, I am sure, await with something more than interest and information as to whether the Council have done anything in regard to Coventry. Their interference, of course, might not be acceptable to the people of St. Michael's, but as representatives of three of the bell founding firms are, I believe, members of Towers and Belfries Committee who, presumably, would have to deal with this matter, there ought not to be serious difficulty in bringing the two parties into touch, because one might lay considerable odds that one of the three firms will be entrusted with the Coventry job.

Talking of bell foundries, I read the other day for the first time of 'The Ancient and Honourable Company of Bell Founders.' It occurred to me that these foundries had been hiding their light under a bushel, for though I thought I knew something about the gentlemen who make and hang our church bells, this was the first time I had ever heard of their being bound up in one of those old companies which are characteristic of the civic life of London. I had only taken up and opened the book casually, and my eyes alighted on this line about the foundries, but naturally I was tempted to read on, and I gasped when I saw that they had 'invited designs for a chapel to be erected in memory of the founder of their orphan schools at Longfields.' Then I realised that I had got hold of a work of fiction, but, of course, I read on. What tickled me most was this little speech: 'Father is a Bell Founder. You know what I mean. He goes to a big dinner once a year, and is in a bad temper for a week afterwards, through over-eating and making a long, dull speech.' I wonder if our famous men of the foundry will confirm this? I believe, from all I know, that bell founding, when you are in a big way of business, involves something more than a dinner and a speech once a year. I believe they sometimes cast bells; it may be only in their spare time, but they really do make bells as well as speeches, and undertake big contracts as well as big dinners. Isn't it funny that, whenever anything gets into print about bells, it is nearly always to give the public a topsy-turvy impression of the facts.

All clergy are not lovers of bells. That is a misfortune, but it is doubly unfortunate when their dislike prevents bells being rung. Ringers must have read with some surprise of the attitude of the Dean of Lichfield, who made it a condition of allowing the Staffordshire Society to ring the bells of the Cathedral at their annual meeting, that they should not apply for them next year. No one, I presume, can challenge the Dean's right to grant or refuse the bells, but the condition which he imposed looks as if he found it an easy way out of refusing his permission for 1926. Would he, I wonder, put the same restriction upon the use of any other part of his Cathedral if applied for by any recognised body of Diocesan church workers? On the contrary, I warrant he would welcome them with open arms. Well may the Staffordshire Committee contrast the attitude of the Dean of Lichfield with that of the Dean of Chester! 'The Cathedral does not belong to a group of old gentlemen,' said the Dean of Chester to the Central Council, but 'was the one great building in the county that really belonged to everybody.'

CONCERNING ADDITIONAL SHUNTS.

By J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

In my last article (February 20th, 1925), I described Constructional Shunts. Every method with treble and working bells contains one of these shunts. Many methods contain two or more. They are the framework on which the method is built. In methods which have Bob Major Lead Ends, they alone produce the lead ends. (We need not trouble ourselves at this moment with methods with irregular lead ends.) In some of the best methods these shunts produce the whole work of the method; for instance, the fifteen Major Methods described recently in the 'Ringing World.'

But many methods, and particularly those on the Treble Bob principle, contain other work, and that work is called additional shunts. An additional shunt is a cyclical movement on a number of the working bells less than the total number. Perhaps I can best explain their nature by describing a familiar and simple example. We will take the places in 3-4 in Kent.

34 The places in Kent are a complete hunting course on two bells, which is substituted for the regular dodging of the method, for the purpose of preventing repetition of rows. Now, notice that we have here a complete round block; and, secondly, that it is made quite independently of the work of the other bells, and even of the other similar places made in other parts of the course.

If you please you can omit it in one lead; except for repetition of rows the bells go on as before. Or you can transfer it to 5-6 or 7-8; except that you get different rows, the bells go on as before. But if you alter or omit any of the places in the slow work, be it ever so little, the whole structure of the method collapses.

In this example, the additional shunt is begun and completed straight away. But it need not be so. In Oxford the shunt is begun when the treble is dodging in 1-2 up; it is not completed till she is dodging in 1-2 down. Yet the two parts make one complete independent whole. Compare this with the Bobs in a Q-set. 42356, 34256 and 23456 are a Q-set of Bob Major or London Surprise. They may come as three successive Bobs in three successive courses; but they may come at widely parted peals in the peal. Yet they make one complete Q-set.

Here is one further example of an additional shunt :-

| A        | B        |

| 21436587 | 21436587 |

A is Double Oxford Bob. It is produced by the following constructional shunts:

- 1 Extreme Before.
- 1 Extreme Behind.
- 4 R. Court Shunts.

These constructional shunts cause continued dodging from the time the treble leaves the front until she returns. Instead of the dodging on the front four bells, from the fifth to the eleventh change, we substitute a complete round block of backwood hunting, thus :-

|      |      |
|------|------|
| 2436 | 2436 |
| 4263 | 2346 |
| 2436 | 3264 |
| 4263 | 3624 |
| 2436 | 6342 |
| 4263 | 6432 |
| 2436 | 4623 |
| 4263 | 4263 |

It appears to be different in the diocese of Lichfield, when not even a body of church workers can say, 'Here, at our Mother Church, we are always welcome.' What would he said if the boat were on the other foot; if the Dean was proud of his bells and desired them rung for some great annual festival, and ringers turned round and said, 'Yes, we will ring them for you this year on condition that you don't ask us to do so next?' The ringers would probably get 'the sack'—and would deserve it.

CRITICUS.

Directly the additional shunt is completed the bells pick up the same rows as the original method. All I said about the additional shunt of Kent applies to this one.

These are simple examples, and I do not propose now to go into more complex cases. Not all are complete hunting courses; but all are cyclical movements. Here is a useful one: When the constructional shunts give six changes of continued dodging, substitute for it three changes of forward hunting, followed by three changes of backward hunting. Thus :-

|                      |      |
|----------------------|------|
| 5678                 | 5678 |
| 6587                 | 6587 |
| 6857 instead of 5678 |      |
| 8675                 | 6587 |
| 6857                 | 5678 |
| 6587                 | 6587 |
| 5678                 | 5678 |

The uses of additional shunts are as follows :-

1. In methods on the Treble Bob Principle to prevent repetition of rows, as in the cases of Kent and Oxford.
2. To introduce a greater variety of work than is produced by constructional shunts alone; as in the case of Double Oxford and its variation given above.
3. To remove certain blemishes which would otherwise prevent some of the constructional shunts being used in finished methods.

For instance :-

| C        | D        | E        |
|----------|----------|----------|
| 12345678 | 12345678 | 12345678 |
| 21436587 | 21436587 | 21436587 |
| 24135678 | 24135678 | 24135678 |
| 42316587 | 42316587 | 42316587 |
| 24361857 | 24361857 | 24361857 |
| 24368175 | 42638175 | 23468175 |
| 24368715 | 24368715 | 32648715 |
| 24367851 | 42637851 | 36247851 |
| 42637581 | 24367581 | 63427581 |

| 16482735 | 16482735 | 16482735 |

C is produced by the following constructional shunts :-

- Two R. Court Shunts
- One 4-bell Slow Work Shunt.

This latter causes some of the bells to lie still for a considerable time.

In D, continuous dodging on these bells is substituted, and we have a method fit to ring.

In E, this is further altered by an additional shunt similar to that in example B.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD. NORTHERN BRANCH.

A Grimsby district meeting was held at Thornton Curtis on Saturday, July 4th. Members attended from Grimsby St. Andrew's, and Grimsby St. James', Ulceby, Bigby, Barton-on-Humber, Barrow-on-Humber, Elsham, and Burton-on-Stather, and the Rev. Douglas Stedman, Vicar of Barrow; Dr. Birtwhistle, of Barton-on-Humber; the Rev. H. C. Frith, Vicar of Elsham, and the local members. The bells were ready early, and were set going to various methods. The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. J. H. Park), who gave an excellent address. Tea was served to 25 members. The business meeting then followed, the Rev. H. C. Frith being voted to the chair, owing to the president (the Rev. H. T. Parry) being absent. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. Election of new members then took place. The Rev. H. C. Frith proposed Mr. H. Stainton and Mr. W. Harrington, of Elsham, and was seconded by Mr. Tomlinson.—A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Rev. H. C. Frith for presiding, and to the Rev. J. H. Park for the great pains he had taken in making the meeting a success; and further to Mrs. Park and the lady helpers for waiting at tea.—The Vicar suitably replied, hoping that there would soon be a regular band of ringers. Further ringing of Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Bob Minor, Stedman and Bob Doubles and Grandsire Doubles were rung. The next meeting is to be held on Saturday, August 15th, at Burton-on-Stather.

A contemporary publishes an article, entitled 'Bell Ringing as a Hobby'—thus disproving the theory that it is done for spite.

RINGERS' OUTINGS.

ST. CLEMENT'S CHURCH, IPSWICH.

On Saturday, July 4th, ten members of the above band, accompanied by two ringing friends from Bramford and a non-ringer from Ipswich, had their first outing since 1912. At 8 o'clock a start was made for a tour through West and East Suffolk. The first call was made at Wetherden, where there is a peal of six. Short touches were necessary, owing to the distance to be covered. The next stop was made at Woolpit, where there is also a peal of six, the 'go' being none too good. Drinkstone was next reached at 11 o'clock. Here they were informed that since obtaining permission to use the bells it had been discovered that the learners had broken two stays, and that the 5th was minus a slider. After visiting the tower it was decided to ring without them; each one holding his bell until the next man came to try. A course of Plain Bob was managed, but just as the treble finished the course he forgot himself and over it went. The next stop was at Hissett, a five-bell tower. Here they were soon pulling away at Boy Doubles. The next stop was at Rougham, where there is a good heavy ring of six, and a detour was made via Pakenham. Here the Vicar readily gave permission to ring his bells, although this was not on the programme. These were found to be a fine peal of five, and well worth another bell. These also, hanging left-handed, causes some confusion to some of the band at first. At Ixworth dinner was served, and two members rang a course of Double Norwich Major on the handbells, each taking four. Some well-known tunes were also played on the bells, in which all joined. The next move was to the church where the bells have just recently been rehung by Mr. Alfred Bowell, of Ipswich. After some Double Court and Treble Bob had been brought round a move was made for Rickinghall Superior, where there is a ring of six. Here some good Double Oxford was rung. The next stop was at Diss, where they were met by five of the local band, including John Souter and William Ireland. A course of Bob Major was brought round in creditable style without any outside help, and the locals and three members rang a good course of Double Norwich Major. A course of Grandsire Triples on the handbells and a start was made for Thornham Magna, where a good course of Cambridge Minor was rung. Wickham Skeith was reached at 8.30, and a good course of Ipswich Surprise concluded the day's ringing, Ipswich being reached at 10.30. The total distance covered was 76 miles, and 11 towers were visited.

MALDON RINGERS.

The annual outing took place on Saturday, June 27th. Starting at 8 a.m., they journeyed by charabanc via Colchester to Haulleigh, in Suffolk. There a halt was made to ring the beautiful peal of eight (tenor 28 cwt.) and the tone and 'go' were much admired by all. After a stay of two hours they journeyed to Long Melford, where a ring of eight was recently rehung. Although rather noisy in the belfry, the 'go' was splendid, and several touches were brought round, with some of the local ringers standing in. The next stop was at Clare, where the Vicar welcomed the ringers, and after an hour's ringing on the heavy bells the church was visited, which still retains the ringers' jug in a glass case. The party then proceeded to Yellham, Essex, where they were met by Mr. Cooper, and some of the local band. On a light ring of six, a contrast to the heavy Clare bells, several touches were brought round. Home was reached at 10 p.m., after an enjoyable day's outing. The ringers wish to take the opportunity of thanking the respective incumbents for the use of the bells, and the steeplekeepers for meeting them and having the bells in readiness.

BRAINTREE, ESSEX.

This outing was held on Saturday, July 4th, the company numbering 14, including some of the ringers' wives.

Taking the route through Colchester and along the Ipswich road, through the Constable Country, the party visited East Bergholt for the purpose of seeing the bells hung in a cage on the ground in the churchyard.

After this brief visit, the journey was resumed through Ipswich to Henley, where the light peal of eight were set going in several methods of Double Norwich, Stedman and Treble Bob. At Debenham, a hearty welcome was received from Mr. W. C. Rumsey. Touches of Double Norwich, Stedman and Oxford were rung, after which the party sat down to an excellent lunch. — A vote of thanks was passed to Mr. C. H. Howard, Master of the Essex Association, for the trouble he had taken in arranging all the details connected with the outing, and to which he suitably replied.

At Framsdon, where there is a handy ring of eight, touches in various methods were rung, while at Helmingham the bells were set going to Stedman and Treble Bob. The last place of call before tea was Grundisburgh, where a short stay was made, and one touch rung. Tea was then served at Ipswich.

After tea, a visit was made to St. Mary-le-Tower, where the visitors received a very hearty welcome from the local ringers, where a touch of Treble Bob was rung on the back eight. This was followed by a well-struck touch of 295 Stedman Caters, rung by the following band: W. P. Garrett 1, H. C. Gillingham 2, R. H. Brundle 3, C. H. Howard 4, H. E. Hammond 5, G. Wiffen 6, L. W. Wiffen 7, F. Tillet 8, G. E. Symonds 9, C. Catchpole 10. The ringers of 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th hail from Braintree, and it was the first attempt at Caters by the ringer of the 5th. This was followed by rounds upon the full peal of twelve. The ringers wish to thank all those who helped to make the outing a most enjoyable success.

ST. IGNATIUS, SUNDERLAND.

On June 24th, the annual outing was a most enjoyable 100 miles tour through Tynedale and Weardale.

A pleasant hour was spent at Hexham, looking through the Abbey and listening to a well-struck peal of Cambridge, which was being rung by the London band, who are having a 'ringing week' in the North. Allendale was reached shortly after 12, where the party partook of lunch, and indulged in a light peal of six at St. Cuthbert's. After a look round the pretty village, the long pull out of Tynedale was continued. The party passed through Weardale, Wearhead, St. John's Chapel, Westgate and Frosterley, and shortly after 4 o'clock arrived at Stanhope.

After tea, the homeward journey was commenced, a stop being made at Brancepeth to inspect the beautiful Castle, and while the ringers were enjoying a touch of Stedman Triples on the bells of St. Brandon's, other friends were admiring the wonderful wood carving, etc., in the lovely old church.

While passing through Durham, the party had a fine view of Durham Castle, and saw the elaborate scaffolding which has been erected for the purpose of carrying out the necessary repairs. Sunderland was reached shortly after 9.30, bringing a most pleasant trip to an end.

THE HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Northern Division was held at Barley on Saturday, July 11th, through the kindness of the Rector.

The church, which was restored and enlarged in 1864-1871, is an ancient structure. The lower part of the tower is of Saxon masonry, followed by Norman arches and windows.

The bells are a sweet-toned ring of six, having been rehung in recent years, and the 'go' is admirable. Mr. W. Mansfield kindly provided tea. At the meeting, Mr. T. R. Dennis (the Central Council representative for the Ely Diocesan Association) was voted to the chair. It was arranged that Stevenage be the next place for meeting.—Votes of thanks were recorded to the Rector for the use of the bells, also to Mr. Dennis for presiding, and to the ladies for their good catering. The ringing included Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, Plain Oxford, Double Oxford, Double Court, Woodbine, Stedman, Cambridge and London Surprise. By kind invitation of the Rector, the grounds of the Rectory were at the disposal of the ringers.

CHEAPER RAILWAY FACILITIES?

The question of cheaper travelling facilities for ringers when going by train, which the action of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association has again brought to the fore, revives a subject which has more than once been under consideration. There was a time, now thirty or more years ago, when ringers of some few societies (the Sussex Association among them) were able to travel individually as well as in parties at reduced fares when going on ringing expeditions. The Central Council then took the matter up with the Railway Clearing House, and, unfortunately, not only were they unsuccessful in their efforts to obtain cheap tickets for ringers in all parts of the country, but the facilities already granted were withdrawn. From time to time since then the subject has been revived, but the railway companies have been unrelenting, and all demands for special treatment have been turned down.

The advances now made at Bristol have been apparently received in a more sympathetic spirit, locally at all events, but it would be well not to be too optimistic as to the outcome. That ringers can claim to be entitled to privileges equal to those granted to fishermen is hardly likely to be disputed (except perhaps by the railway companies), and it is well worth making a combined effort to achieve what the Gloucester and Bristol Association has in view. Ringers, as a whole, do much travelling in pursuit of their hobby, but for obvious reason they seldom travel in a body between any two points on the railway. As at Oxford on Saturday, they concentrate in one spot in considerable numbers for their meetings, and in this case both the London, Midland and Scottish and the Great Western Railways granted cheap fares to members travelling to the festival from any station in the diocese. If these two companies can issue tickets at reduced prices on such an occasion, there is an excellent precedent to work upon in the attempt to get the facilities made general.

This, however, is a case in which the associations ought to act together, either collectively or simultaneously. To attempt to do the thing piecemeal may result in the first application being refused, with the result that those which come after will be treated likewise. We would suggest that the Gloucester and Bristol Association should organise this approach to the companies, and not trust to chance action being taken on the strength of the letter which appeared in our last issue. The Oxford Guild happened to be meeting on Saturday, and promptly decided to take action, but some of the associations will not meet until the early months of next year, and unless something is done to induce their executives to move in the matter it may either be too late or be entirely forgotten by the time these societies meet. Having got the ear of their District Superintendent, the Bristol organisers should be in the best position to put other association officials into the most likely track for achieving the desired result, but there ought to be a common plan of action. The Central Council, through its Standing Committee, would doubtless lend its weight to any scheme for bringing the associations together, and if it comes to sending a deputation to either the general managers or some other persons representing the various companies, the Council, as the head of the ringing organisations of the country, should be officially represented. But what is most urgently needed at the moment is that all associations should get into line and make common cause with Gloucester and Bristol.

First 720 by the treble ringer, aged 15. Also touches of Cambridge, Norwich and Norfolk Surprise Minor, with E. Bailey, sear., taking part.

THATCHAM, BERKS. — On Monday evening, July 13th, at the Church of St. Mary, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,200 changes), with ten different callings, was rung by the following members of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, in 47 mins.: H. W. Curtis 1, A. Smith 2, C. Pearce 3, E. Crocker 4, E. Smith 5, E. Challis 6. Conducted by H. W. Curtis. Ringer of 2nd is from Thatcham; the remainder are Newbury ringers. Rung as a birthday compliment to the conductor.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.*NORTHERN DISTRICT.

A meeting was held on Saturday, July 11th, at Sible Hedingham, amongst those present being Mr. C. H. Howard (Master of the association), Mr. L. W. Wiffen (District Master) and Mr. W. H. Dyson (district secretary); also ringers from the following parishes to the number of 30, viz., Great Bardfield, Braintree, Stebbing, Earls Colne, Halstead, Greenstead Green, Long Melford, Sible Hedingham, Belchamp St. Paul's.

The usual ringers' service was held in the church.

After the service the ringers sat down to tea, the Rector presiding. At the close of the tea the business meeting was held, the District Master presiding. After the confirmation of the minutes the following new members were elected: Oliver Broyd, Sible Hedingham, and C. H. Smith, Halstead, the Rector (the Rev. J. A. Evans, D.D.) becoming an hon. member. Three places were nominated for the annual meeting in November—Dunmore, Braintree and Earls Colne. It was then proposed and carried that the meeting be held at Earls Colne. It was also decided that bi-meetings be held at Withersfield and Black Notley. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector for the use of the bells, for conducting the service and for his helpful address; and to all the ladies who had arranged the tea. The Rector suitably responded. The following methods were rung during the meeting: Boh Major, Double Norwich, London Surprise, Cambridge Surprise, Stedman Triples and Grandsire Triples.

THE LADIES' GUILD.

The eleventh annual general meeting was held at Reading on Saturday, July 11th. There has been a steady improvement in the attendances at the annual meetings, and on this occasion there were present between 20 and 30 members from various parts of the country.

Ring commenced at St. Giles' Church, Mr. A. W. Osborne, who had made all arrangements, meeting the members. Stedman Triples, Double Norwich, Treble Bob and Stedman Doubles were rung, the last method being necessary on account of the treble rope breaking just before the service. Among the visitors to the tower were Canon Coleridge and the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn.

A choral service was held at St. Giles, conducted by the Vicar. The Secretary tendered the Guild's thanks to the choir and organist.

Tea was served, and the members were joined by Mrs. T. Hibbert, Canon Coleridge, Messrs. Benson, Cole, Caudwell, Deal, Fletcher, Hewett, Pulling and Roberts.

The business meeting was then held, at which the chair was taken by the President (Mrs. A. Pulling). Minutes of the previous meeting were adopted. The accounts were presented, subject to audit, and showed a surplus on the year's working of £3 14s. 11d., making, with the balances brought forward from previous years, the sum of £20 1s. 9d. The accounts were duly accepted.

One new member was elected, viz., Miss Marie Cross, of Twyford.

The Secretary then read the annual report. The Guild has been progressing steadily. The Secretary regretted the lack of a ringing secretary in one of the districts, which is now in the hands of a non-ringing member, who kindly stepped into the breach when the former secretary resigned, and who is doing excellent work. The members of all districts are urged to support the meetings, and so reward the secretaries for their work.

The Secretary deeply regretted to have to report the death of Miss Brudenell, of Bagshot.

The next meeting is to be held in London, it being usual to visit London every third year.

Mrs. A. W. Clark, of Croydon, was proposed as president, and unanimously elected, Mrs. Deal declining to stand for the office.

The Secretary (Miss E. K. Parker) was re-elected.

The Secretary asked for the opinion of the members with regard to reports, and there was considerable discussion on this matter. The question was raised as to whether a charge should be made for these, but this was not considered practicable, in view of the difficulty of collecting the money. The meeting decided against any increase in the subscription at the moment, but agreed to print the report for one year, and discuss the matter further at the next annual meeting.

Mrs. Hairs stated that the Central District had decided to organise a visit to Wembley in October, and invited all who were able to take part in this.

Votes of thanks were passed to all who had contributed to the success of the meeting, to the president for presiding, and for her work in connection with the Southern District during her year of office, and to the secretary. A special vote of thanks was passed to the gentlemen who had interested themselves in the Guild. Canon Coleridge suitably replied.

This concluded the meeting, and the majority of those present visited Caversham tower, where Stedman Triples, Double Norwich and Cambridge were rung. A course of Double Norwich was rung by eight members, and Cambridge was also attempted.

This was one of the most successful meetings held by the Guild, and was greatly enjoyed by all.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the St. Albans district was held at Kimpton on Saturday, July 4th, and was attended by about 20 ringers from various towers. The ringing ranged from Doubles to Cambridge Surprise Minor. The Vicar conducted a service at 5 p.m., and gave a very interesting address on the origin of bells and their use. The party were entertained to tea at the Vicarage. At the business meeting Mr. Bacon (president) occupied the chair, and it was decided to hold the next meeting at North Mymms on August 8th. A vote of thanks was passed for the use of the bells to the Vicar for so kindly entertaining the party to tea, and to Mr. Bacon for acting as chairman; also to Mr. Gillings, of the local band, and Mrs. Gillings for presiding at the organ.

BATH & WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

On Saturday, July 11th, a very pleasant meeting of the Midsomer Norton Deanery branch was held at Chilcompton. Ringing before the service consisted of Grandsire Doubles and Plain Bob Minor. The service was taken by the Rev. L. G. Kethley, of Farnborough, who officiated, in the unavoidable absence, through illness, of the president, the Rev. A. N. Bax, of Radstock. Tea, for which the ringers were indebted to Mr. Bailey, then took place. The business meeting followed, and it was decided to hold the next meeting at Litton on October 10th.

Further ringing then took place, the additional methods being Single Court, Kent Treble Bob and Stedman. A welcome visitor was Mr. Bailey, of Farnham, Hants, who happened to be in the district.

LLANDAFF & MONMOUTH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A most successful quarterly meeting was held at Llantwit-Major on Saturday, June 27th, when a number of ringers from both dioceses attended. The bells, a ring of six, recast some few years ago, were raised and rung in different methods until 4.30, when a service was held, conducted by the Vicar. The address was most interesting. Following the service, tea, which had been most generously provided, was partaken of. Then followed the business meeting, presided over by Mr. G. E. Kibblewhite (lay reader of Llantwit), in the absence of the Canon, who was conducting a party of students from Aberystwyth College through the church. The minutes of the previous meeting were read, and before any business was done the Honorary Secretary moved a vote of condolence with the relatives of two of the oldest association members, who had recently passed away, namely, Mr. William Biss and Mr. William Coombes, which was passed by all present standing in silence for a few moments.

Instructors' reports were accepted, and also the reports of the representatives to the Central Council meeting at Chester. It was arranged to hold the next quarterly Glamorgan meeting at Pendoylan. Two or three very interesting items were reported on proposed restorations and augmentations.

With regard to the late Mr. W. Bliss, who has left a widow and several children, the best thanks were accorded to Mr. S. Dawe for the kindness he has shown by appealing to all towers affiliated to subscribe something on their behalf, and it is most gratifying that a substantial sum has been subscribed, which will be handed over to Mrs. Bliss by Mr. Dawe. New members were elected, and included a dozen young hands belonging to Llantwit, who have recently learned to handle a bell, can just manage rounds and propose learning ringing, the association promising to give every assistance. Votes of thanks were heartily accorded all those at Llantwit for their kindness and help. The Canon visited the meeting just at the close, and was delighted to learn that his bells would soon be put into change ringing. The bells were afterwards rung during the evening.

DEDICATION OF BELL, DUBLIN.

The new treble bell at St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin, was dedicated on Sunday, June 28th, a short service being held in the belfry before ringing for morning service, conducted by the Dean, Dr. Lawlor.

Lady Seers Kaye, the donor, was present in the Cathedral, and was represented in the ringing room by younger members of the family.

After the service, the bell was raised, and touches of Triples, Caters and Cinques were rung upon the new combinations.

The new bell, which gives great satisfaction to all concerned, and weighs 6 cwt. 17 lb., is by Taylor.

BIRMINGHAM BELLS BROADCAST.

In connection with the Jubilee celebration of the restoration of St. Martin's, Birmingham, much service ringing has been done by the St. Martin's band. The thanksgiving services began on Saturday evening, and the bells were rung for an hour and a half. In addition to the usual Sunday morning service ringing, the band rang for evensong, and again for a special service afterwards, when the ringing was broadcast from the Birmingham station of the B.B.C.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

By J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

It is gratifying to see that 'The Morning Post' protests against the recasting of Coventry bells; it was better to notice the general tenor of its remarks. Although—so we may summarise them—although we have several times expressed our approval of carillons, that does not mean we prefer them to ringing peals. On the contrary, as a general rule we think the latter are the best. And that, I think, is the general opinion. English people as a whole are by no means anxious or willing that our ringing bells should be displaced by carillons.

Still we must realise that there is a number of gentlemen—well informed, enthusiastic, painstaking—who are doing their utmost by writing and speaking to proclaim the advantages of carillons and to create a popular interest in them, with considerable success. Further, although there is a professorship of campanology in one of the smaller modern universities, it is concerned solely with carillon music, and takes not the slightest notice whatever of change ringing. The whole tendency of these people's efforts is to create a popular impression that the carillon is a far nobler thing than the ringing peal, and carillon playing an infinitely superior art to change ringing. They do not indeed say anything actually against our English ringing. Their attitude is that it is well enough in its way, but that the other is much the better. I have heard Dr. Stainer, the most accomplished and learned of the carillon advocates, say that he loves to hear our English bells, but that, of course, they are not music; and he plainly infers that no one who knows anything about the matter would or could possibly put change ringing in the same category as carillon music. What we have to consider is this. Assuming that these ideas are uncontradicted and become popular, there is the possibility that authorities will be persuaded to put up small carillons instead of ringing peals; and even, as in a case like, say, Liverpool Cathedral, instal a full carillon instead of heavy ringing peal. You will say that the cost is prohibitive. But not necessarily so. Truly, only once in a while can such a set as that lately put up at Loughborough, or that recently sent to New York, be afforded. But our modern bell foundries have learnt the art of casting good small bells, and a carillon of a dozen or so small bells; the largest, about half a ton, would not cost more than a moderately-sized peal of eight. Agreed that ambitious carillon music could not be played on such a set; but a large number of airs of the hymn tune variety, ambitious enough for the class of carillonneur likely to be available could be played.

There are quite sufficient people among church authorities to whom this would appeal if once it became the fashion.

We, the Exercise, ought to have our answer ready. We must say decidedly, and with conviction, that though carillons are magnificent things in their way, and under some circumstances, yet the ringing peal is far greater. Change ringing is the nobler art. And that while carillon music is a very restricted form of music, English bell ringing is, in its sphere, perfect.

These are bold statements, but they can be justified, and justified not merely from the standpoint of a change ringer, but from the standpoint of the outsider. The carillon claims to be music, and must, therefore, be judged by comparison with other forms of music. Very well, compare it with other instruments—the organ, the violin, the piano, the human voice—in one respect only can it be favourably compared. It can be heard at greater distances. In everything else, in variety of tone, in range, in expression, it is altogether inferior. An average organist can give you results that the most expert carillonneur cannot attempt. And when you consider the cost of the instrument, the comparison should be with a full orchestra. How will it countenance that comparison?

As for the small carillon with its single air without harmony or accompaniment, who was it that said it reminded him of a 'daft' giant trying to pick out hymn tunes with one finger on a Broddingnagian pianoforte?

The ringing peal does not claim to be music, and challenges no such comparisons. But it has a unique power of appealing most profoundly to the listeners' being and memory. Not, of course, in every listener, nor at all times in any listener. Nay, the listener is hardly directly conscious of the effect, and yet it is there. A thing that can do this surely is entitled to belong to true art.

A very striking illustration of this is related by A. W. Kinglake in a book of travels in the East, which he called 'Eothen.' It was published in the middle of the last century, and is reckoned a classic of its kind. He was travelling on a camel across the desert from Gaza to Cairo, and on the fifth day, having closed his eyes against the glare of the sun, he slowly fell asleep. 'For how many minutes or moments I cannot tell—but after a while I was gently awakened by a peal of church bells—my native bells—the innocent bells of Marlen that never before sent forth their music beyond the Blyayen hills! My first idea naturally was that I still remained fast under the power of a dream. I roused myself and drew aside the silk that covered my eyes and plunged my bare face into the light. Then at last I was well awakened, but still these old Marlen bells rang on, not ringing for joy, but properly, prosily, steadily, merrily ringing "for church."

After a while the sound died away slowly; it happened that neither I nor any of my party had a watch by which to measure the exact time of its lasting, but it seemed to me that about ten minutes had passed before the bells ceased. I attributed the effect to the great heat of the sun, the perfect dryness of the clear air through which I moved, and the deep stillness of all around me; it seemed to me that these causes, by occasioning a great tension and consequent susceptibility of the hearing organs, had rendered them liable to tingle under the passing memory that must have swept across my brain in a moment of sleep. Since my return to England it has been told me that like sounds have been heard at sea, and that the sailor, becalmed under a vertical sun in the midst of the wide ocean, has listened in trembling wonder to the chime of his own village bells.'

The explanation is a reasonable one, but you note that it is the bells, that strike the subtle chord, not the village choir, nor any of the many other sounds that memory might have associated with the listener's native place.

But it may be objected. 'Be it so, that does not affect the present argument. The illusion would have been just the same, whether the bells were ringing peal or carillon.' I do not think so. I think this peculiar power in our bells is largely due to the fact that there is no musical air in ringing. Where you have a definite tune, the conscious brain has something to appreciate and understand. In change ringing there is nothing definite to listen to. There are but vague suggestions, and the listener is turned inwards to his own soul and being. The æsthetic effect of change ringing is almost entirely subjective, and not objective. Thus, people talk about bells ringing merrily for a wedding, triumphantly for a victory, and mournfully for a funeral. We know that all ringing actually is the same. It is the listener who supplies the difference.

It is, of course, true that all pleasing inarticulate sound has to some extent this character. For instance, the breaking of waves on the sea-shore, or the sighing of the wind among the trees. They appeal to people just because the sound has no meaning of its own, and can, therefore, suggest such a variety of ideas to those that hear them. Just so the sense of smell, the vaguest and most indefinite of all the senses is by far the most potent in stimulating the memory.

And of all inarticulate sounds that of a bell has this quality the most. I remember some years ago talking with the late Mr. J. W. Taylor. He had just been to Paris, and on his way back he stopped at Rouen to hear the great bell there. I asked him what he thought of it, and his reply was: 'It made me feel religious.' Much the same thing is expressed by Milton, where he says:—

On a plat of rising ground,
I hear the far-off curfew sound,
Over some wide watered shore
Swinging slow, with solemn roar.

What the single bell can do, the ringing peal can do far better. But you are to notice that the effect does not depend to any extent on the quality of the bells or the ringing. We all have friends who have told us of such and such bells. Had we heard them? They were simply lovely. The prosaic truth is as often as not that they were very ordinary bells rung by a quite indifferent hand. But there you have the unique power of the ringing peal.

We ringers are almost the last people to whom bells will appeal in this way. We have too many active interests in them. We are thinking about the line of the bells, the quality of the ringing, the particular method. We are listening for course ends and hobs, and this mental activity is fatal to any of those vague suggestions. We get our full enjoyment out of change ringing, but we inevitably miss its most subtle charm.

NOMENCLATURE.

To the Editor.

On reading the report of the Nomenclature Committee, which has appeared in your columns, I notice that it proposes to reject the names Bluebell, etc., for Blundell, etc., on the grounds that, as a member of the Council put it last year in London, the former are 'in bad taste, unscientific and inartistic.' The Norbury band have rung as many of the new methods in the Central Council Collection as any other company of change ringers, and, together with other bands, have availed themselves of that unwritten law of the exercise, which has allowed those who first ring a new method to have the privilege of naming it. So far, no good reason appears to have been shown why we should forgo the right on which we have already relied, and accept names which are in no better taste, without science, and less artistic. Nor do we admit the contention that by our choice we have taken any 'retrograde' step, but rather do we strongly assert that we have supported the only scientific system of nomenclature which has yet been proposed.

FACTS AND OPINIONS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I should like to reply to some remarks made by the writer of 'Notes by the Way' in last week's issue of 'The Ringing World.'

He says there is no other 12-bell tower which has anything like the record of that at Ipswich. I can assure him that we of the St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham, raise our hats to all that has been done by that excellent band of ringers at Ipswich. But what of St. Martin's, Birmingham, which, I believe, can claim to have rung more peals in different methods on its bells than any other 12-bell tower in existence, and has also had to date seven different peals of Maximus, viz., Plain Bob, Grandsire, Kent, Oxford, Duffield, Forward and Cambridge? This is a record to-day. Also peals of Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob, Kent, Oxford, Double Norwich, Superlative and Cambridge have been rung on seven, eight, nine, ten and eleven bells. The total peals to date on St. Martin's bells approximate 210 in number, from Triples to Maximus. Another record is that more ringers have rung their first peal on twelve bells there than elsewhere. As regards increasing rings of eight to ten, I am sure everyone, with exception of the proposer, was amazed to see the motion on the agenda at the Chester Council meeting and none surprised that it was practically laughed out of court, receiving the only fate it deserved. I shall do all in my power to help King's Norton, as we in Birmingham are especially in need of a good ten-bell tower, and which should be the right and proper stepping-stone to the 12-bell practices at St. Martin's. An instance is St. Andrew's, Derby, which, since two trebles have been added, has a beautiful peal of ten bells, and where Cambridge Royal is rung for the Sunday services. In reference to Stedman Cinques, how many are there that can ring it as it should be rung? Very few comparatively speaking. In conclusion, there are lots of brave conductors, and Stedman has been, and still is, in Birmingham and elsewhere, rung in every possible position—backstroke and handstroke, titlums and home positions. Will the writer of 'Notes by the Way' publish or send me some of his own?

'TO PAY OR NOT TO PAY.'

Dear Sir,—I read from time to time the complaints of Guild officials and various comments on this momentous question, and am convinced that the only remedy is for the harassed officials to table a list of names at the annual meeting of all defaulters, and then to resign en bloc and touch no business until the arrears are paid up in full. It is certain that the members who have the welfare of the Guild at heart would soon bestir themselves to compel the defaulters to pay up and save their faces, which are badly in need of a little 'saving grace.' However a ringer can allow himself year by year to remain on the roll and ring peals and make no effort to pay the paltry one or two shillings per annum passes one's comprehension! Less than one halfpenny per week, for which he receives benefits in the shape of (in many cases) a voluminous report, a few free feeds and the honour of union with a decent Guild. Then he expects all his Guild officials to work many hours per year arranging meetings, teas, peals and what not for nothing; he grumbles, to boot, if he, individually, is not suited by the fare put up for his delectation; has the impudence to promise to pay one halfpenny per week, and is too idle or thoughtless or void of honour to carry out his promise. An Englishman's word was the foundation stone upon which our great Empire was built. Where one's Guild is concerned it is wonderful how things carry on so well with such lists of defaulters. So pay up and look big, my merrie men, and show your compeers that you are worthy of your place among them, for, as things stand just now, your principles are too microscopic to cast a shadow.—Yours truly,

SAMIWELL PEPPERY.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Ringers in general, and particularly those interested in rifle shooting, will be interested to learn that Mr. E. Congreve-Pridgeau, a popular member of the St. Mary Abbots, Kensington, Ringers' Guild, has gained a place in the King's Hundred at Bisley this year, a feat which he also accomplished in 1923.

Mrs. M. H. Shurtleff, of Boston, U.S.A., who will be remembered by many London ringers as Miss Nicholls, the daughter of the late Dr. A. H. Nicholls, has, after 25 years' absence, again visited England with several of her family. During a short stay in London, she attended the College Youths' practices at St. Magnus, London Bridge, and St. Paul's Cathedral. A quarter-peal was arranged for her at St. Mary Abbots, Kensington, on Sunday, July 12th, but it unfortunately came to grief. She also did some handbell ringing, accomplishing, among other touches, a 504 of Stedman Triples and 224 Grand-sire, conducted by Mr. C. F. Winney, who called handbell peals, in which she took part, when she was in England 25 years ago.

Can any Scotch ringer inform us on the likelihood of getting a 'pull' in Edinburgh during August?

One hundred and forty years ago next Wednesday there arrived in London one whose name will be linked with ringing as long as the Exercise lasts. On July 29th, 1785, William Shipway reached the Metropolis from his native town Bath, drawn to the capital by the greater facilities which he would obtain for ringing.

James William Washbrook, whose memory is to be perpetuated by two bells placed in St. Ebbe's Church, Oxford, was born on July 27th, 1864.

The first peal in Ireland was rung on July 27th, 1872. This was a peal of Grandsire Triples at Waterford Cathedral.

On July 26th, 1832, Samuel Thurston called a peal of 6,000 Double Oxford Bob at St. Giles', Norwich.

At Aston Church, where, later, Henry Johnson rang many peals, a peal of 7,552 Grandsire Major was rung on July 30th, 1792.

One of the most useful books of instruction in ringing is Troyte's well-known treatise. It is indispensable to all ringers, and covers the groundwork on all numbers up to eight bells. It has, however, this advantage, that those whose efforts are for the time being limited to six-bell ringing can obtain an edition suitable to their needs at a lower price than the complete publication. Particulars as to this will be found in an advertisement.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

ARCHDEACONRY OF WISBECH BRANCH.

A quarterly meeting was held at Newton, Wisbech, on Saturday, June 6th. A large company of ringers from March, Leverington, Watlington, Shouldham and the local company assembled. Tea was served, and the Rector (the Rev. E. H. Brown) presided at the business meeting. He referred briefly to the belfry reform, adding he had the opportunity of assisting to clear out some abuses which existed in his early days. The chairman became an hon. member and five ringing members were elected. The tower was again visited, and touches rung, the local band joining in, the Rector also taking a rope. A well-struck 720 of Bob Minor was brought round at Leverington on the way home.

On Saturday, July 4th, a meeting was held at the fine old village of Doddington, ringers attending from Somersham, Chatteris and March. Some good touches were rung on the five old 15th century bells, the local company taking part. The Rector kindly entertained all present to tea, and he also gave some interesting history of the fine old church.

On Saturday, July 11th, a district meeting was held at Upwell, ringers attending from Elm, March, Chatteris, Somersham, Watlington and Shouldham. Good touches were rung during the afternoon and evening in various methods. Mr. J. Papiett took the chair at the business meeting at which seven new members were elected.

The next meeting will be held at Sutton.

The report, as presented, was adopted, and the work will, consequently, now be put in hand.

The Master announced that out of the amount subscribed, the Oxford Guild and members had contributed £115. It was not more than they ought to have done, but it was good all the same (applause).

Later in the meeting the Hon. Treasurer moved that a sum of £10 be voted from the Guild funds to the Washbrook Memorial, and that an additional £5 be given if the Master considered it necessary. Mr. Wright said other ringing societies had already sent subscriptions, and the Oxford Guild should support the fund by voting the amount proposed. They were now well able to afford it.

The motion was agreed to.

THE WASHBROOK MEMORIAL.

WORK TO BE PUT IN HAND.

The Oxford Diocesan Guild having been entrusted with the task of erecting a suitable memorial to the late Mr. James William Washbrook, the special committee appointed to deal with the subject presented a report at the Oxford Guild annual meeting last Saturday, when it was resolved to place the order for two bells to increase the ring of six in the tower of St. Ebbe's Church to a peal of eight, and erect a commemorative tablet.

The Master (the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn) presented the report, which was as follows:—

At the last annual meeting held in Reading, it was decided to erect in Oxford some fitting memorial to the late James W. Washbrook, and to invite contributions towards this from all Guilds, Associations, and Ringing Societies, and from personal friends. It was further resolved that, if possible, the memorial should take the form of augmenting the ring of six bells in the tower of either St. Ebbe, St. Giles, or Carfax. A special committee was appointed to deal with the matter, consisting of the Master, Hon. Treasurer, Hon. Secretary, Canon Coleridge, Messrs. A. D. Cullum, H. Miles and W. H. B. Wilkins. This committee was instructed to make the necessary inquiries, to decide upon a scheme, and to issue an appeal for funds wherewith to carry it out.

In considering the suggested towers, the committee ruled out Carfax, chiefly, but not entirely, because it is not a church tower; and St. Giles chiefly, but not entirely, because of the costliness of the work that would be necessary, and finally decided upon St. Ebbe, because the augmenting of this musical little ring appeared to be in all respects a scheme which would give the best value for the money which they expected would be at their disposal. Favourable reports were received from Mr. Hughes, of the Whitechapel Foundry, as to the casting of bells good enough to be trebles in such a lighting ring; from Mr. White, whose firm rehung the six bells some years ago, as to the practicability of putting the bells in the tower; and from Mr. G. H. Philpott, M.S.A., as to the structure of the tower and the plans for hanging the bells.

The sum of £170 was named as a rough estimate, and an appeal was issued throughout the Exercise for the raising of this sum to augment the ring at St. Ebbe's; it was added that should contributions be in excess of the sum required a larger scheme might be considered.

As the result of this appeal we have in hand £160. In addition to this, the Lancashire Association, who approached us first of all on this matter, have informed us we may count on them for £20, and we have a few other promises of smaller amounts. Mr. White's revised estimate is £165 15s., and we calculate that the cost of a decent commemorative tablet and sundry fees and expenses will bring the total up to £190.

The committee feel that financially and otherwise the Washbrook Memorial Scheme, as described, is a sound one, and they recommend the Guild, as trustees for those who, throughout the land, value the memory of this greatest of ringers, to accept Mr. White's estimate, and to authorise the work at St. Ebbe's to be put in hand.

The Master added that Mr. White had said that when he began to do the work he might find one or two things it was impossible to foresee now, which would require to be done, and he intended, if so, to do them, if he had the job, and he would not worry about payment for them. The committee felt that Mr. White should not be allowed to be out of pocket to such an extent, if such additional work should prove necessary (hear, hear). They would not have much more money in hand than they would require, but, with what was promised, he thought they would have enough to do the work well. He proposed the adoption of the report.

Canon G. F. Coleridge seconded. The committee, he said, had gone into the matter with very great care, and came to the conclusion embodied in the report. At the beginning he was, he admitted, very pessimistic over the matter; he did not think they would raise anything like that amount of money. He knew Mr. Washbrook as a little boy at St. Thomas's Schools. He remembered that, with John Jagger, who became well known later at Burton-on-Trent, James Washbrook, as a lad, used to climb up by the ivy to get into the tower and practise pulling a bell with tied clapper; because they felt they should emulate the deeds of the members of the Oxford University Guild, whom they had seen struggling to ring six-scores of Grandsire. He (Canon Coleridge) recognised that there were to-day a large number of ringers growing up, who knew nothing about Mr. Washbrook, and he thought that among the few older ones who did know him, sufficient money would not be forthcoming. He was delighted to know that it was. He did not think they could do better than carry out at once the scheme contained in the report.

Replying to Mr. C. Mayne, the Master said it was true there were formerly two trebles at St. Ebbe's Church, and that they were taken away because they were unworthy of the present six. They were given to other churches in the parish.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

FESTIVAL AT OXFORD.

ANNUAL MEETING VENUE DISCUSSED AGAIN.

The annual festival of the Oxford Diocesan Guild was held at Oxford on Saturday, and was favoured with brilliant summer weather. There are many attractions for ringers at the University city, and the meeting was attended by over 150 members, well representative of the three counties, of which the diocese is comprised. In view of the feeling which has existed for some few years past on the subject of the place of meeting for this annual event, and the argument used that the dominant power in voting is with the district in which the meeting is held, it was extremely interesting to note that a show of hands revealed that at the luncheon, which followed the business meeting, there were 57 members present from the County of Berks, 75 from Bucks, and only 25 from Oxfordshire.

The proceedings began with a service in the Cathedral at 11.15, at which an outstanding feature was the hearty singing. The preacher was the Ven. R. Wickham Legg (Archdeacon of Berks), whose practical address was much appreciated. A collection was made for the Washbrook Memorial Fund.

The Chapter House was filled to its utmost capacity for the business meeting, which, despite the expeditious manner in which the agenda was dealt with by the Master (the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn), who presided, lasted close on two hours. The Master was supported by Archdeacon Legg, Canon G. F. Coleridge, Rev. W. J. Palmer, Rev. R. H. Hart-Davis, Mr. A. J. Wright (hon. treasurer), and Mr. R. T. Hibbert (secretary).

The Master first made reference to the great loss which the whole diocese, and, therefore, the bell ringers of the diocese, had sustained by the death of Bishop Burge. He never was able to preach to the Guild, but that was not because he was not willing or was not asked to do so, but always, at that time of year, his engagements prevented him from doing so, for he was not only Bishop of the Diocese, but a man tremendously sought after in England, and, indeed, all over the world. They were fortunate to have had him as their Bishop; he was heart and soul in sympathy with the Guild, and was always anxious to know how the work was going on. He (the speaker) asked those present to stand in silence for a few moments to mark their respect.

This having been done, the Master said the new Bishop was formerly Dean of Christ Church, and as Dean he was very helpful and sympathetic when their meetings were held there, and the Guild would offer him a very hearty welcome whenever he came among them (applause).

The Master then proposed a vote of thanks to the Dean of Christ Church for his welcome, and for allowing them to hold their service in the Cathedral, for the use of the Chapter House and the hall adjoining, and for allowing them to ring at Christ Church. He also thanked the organist, whose playing they much enjoyed, and then thanked the preacher. They had never before, he said, had an address at their annual festival from the Archdeacon of Berkshire, and they wished heartily to thank him, not only for coming, but for what he said to them. It was good for them to listen to a quiet, straight talk upon their great work. The Archdeacon had given them something to think about, and put into practice. The Archdeacon practised what he preached, and was in full sympathy with ringers.

The vote of thanks was seconded by Mr. J. F. Barlow, and carried with acclamation.—In replying, the Archdeacon said he was always glad to do anything he could on behalf of the bell ringers. He regretted he could not stay to the luncheon, as he had to fulfil engagements in his own archdeaconry. The Archdeacon left shortly afterwards.

RESTORATION WORK.

The Master's report was presented as follows, and adopted, on the motion of Mr. A. D. Cullum, seconded by Mr. W. Sear:—

The Guild is on the whole going forward, though it may be but slowly. If ground is gained in one quarter, there is too often a loss to be reported in another, and still there remain many portions of this great unwieldy diocese where it has no footing. But the branches are for the most part vigorous, and that is the great hope. It is for them to make it known that the Guild is a good thing. Thanks chiefly to Mr. Barker, the East Berks and South Bucks Branch has made a splendid recovery. The peal list is not a long one, but I do not think it is necessarily the worse for that. The encouraging thing is that several new names figure as ringers and conductors. Perhaps the feature of the year is the amount of restoration work accomplished or commenced. The Diocesan Advisory Committee now require a report from me on every 'bell' scheme that comes before them, and there is now a good understanding between us. At the request of the Rural Dean of the Reading Deanery, who is also chairman of the above committee, I visited every tower in his Deanery, and made reports, with the result that four towers have already benefited from the attentions of the bell hanger. Coming to larger matters and in other directions, the fine heavy ring of eight at Great Tew is now rehung in a new frame. A generous donor has recast the old six at Kingham, and added two trebles with a new frame, making a good light octave. At Blotchley and Milton Keynes, respectively, the rings of eight and five have been rehung in new frames. Tackley, with the addition of a treble, has now a fine ring of six going well on the restored old frame. At Chaddlesworth a new frame has been put in, and the three bells augmented to four. The two small fourteenth century bells at Barton Hartshorn have been rehung and made safe, it is hoped for many years to come. I have also visited to give advice at Coombe, Great Hassey, Shalston, Shenington, Shiplake, Simpson, Sinton, Courtenay and Water Stratford. Our treasurer has produced a good balance sheet, and if only his suggestions as to finance are accepted in practice, as well as in theory, the Guild will soon be able to make some grants again. All will agree, I am sure, that the first call upon a Guild surplus must be a subscription to the Washbrook Memorial Fund. The ringing associations, through the Central Council, have entrusted the Oxford Guild with the task of erecting this memorial. Ours is the privilege, and ours the chief responsibility, though we are by no means being left by the other associations to bear this alone. So, for our part, I hope that, besides a Guild subscription, every tower will send a contribution, and that every Branch will vote a sum from its surplus funds. Early in the year, Mr. W. Newell passed away in a good old age, being mercifully spared the days of suffering that his friends feared for him. He was one of the fathers of the Guild, and maintained his keen interest in its welfare, and in ringing generally to the very last. May he rest in peace. In conclusion, I should like to thank those excellent Guild servants, Mr. Wright and Mr. Hibbert, for the way they have helped me in my endeavour to serve the Guild.

THE GUILD'S FINANCES.

The Hon. Treasurer presented his report as follows: 'The statement of accounts for 1924 shows a balance of £86 14s. 8d., as compared with £64 11s. 11d. last year. The amount received from local branches has risen from £87 9s. 6d. to £75 13s. 10d., and the subscriptions to the general Guild from £2 11s. to £15 7s. 6d. The expenses have decreased from £99 14s. 2d. to £84 2s. 7d. The annual report cost £7 less than last year, and the number attending the annual festival fell from 158 to 96. Although a small attendance meant a considerable saving, it is with pleasure that I have received two additions to the funds, given by two persons who have taken this method of recognising the Master's services in connection with the restoration of two peals of bells. One was a life subscription, and the other a special donation. I suggested last year that a "Restoration Fund" should be started so that any grants given should not come out of the year's income. With this object in view, I have placed the donation in a separate fund, and have added the Reserve Fund Dividend, and I hope each year to add a sum when I have a good balance in hand. At the last annual meeting, Rule III. was altered, and subscriptions from local branches have to be paid to the Guild Treasurer by July instead of December. A letter has been sent to every Branch Treasurer calling attention to this alteration. The new rule with reference to the payment for reports comes into operation this year. These two matters have been fully explained at all the Branch meetings. I am very glad to see that the East Berks and South Bucks Branch is regaining its former prosperous position. The subscriptions are nearly double those of last year. Mr. Barker and his colleagues are to be congratulated on the success of their efforts. I should like to express my appreciation of the services rendered by the Branch Treasurers. I have now had the pleasure of meeting all of them, and know a little of their difficulties. It is on their work that the success of the Guild largely depends.

'The Treasurer added that last year he calculated upon a 10 per cent. increase in their finances, and he was glad to be able to say that it worked out at 113. He hoped this year to see another 10 per cent. added. With regard to the reserve fund, he hoped to transfer another £10 from their balance to the Savings Bank. The interest on that and the £10 already there, was equivalent to the subscriptions of twelve additional members.'

The report was adopted.

A SICKLY 'BARY.'

The Secretary, in his report, stated: 'The year 1924 left our Guild better in many ways than the preceding year. That, at least, is the opinion of your humble servant. We have had, for instance, a definite return of membership from each Branch Secretary, and although, as in other years, some towers have fallen out the average is kept up by fresh towers joining. Our membership stands as follows: towers in union, 167; hon. members, 241; ringing members, 1,396; unattached, 420. Total membership, 2,057. One thing I wish I could alter, and that is members falling into arrears. If all members would only realise what an anxiety it is to Branch Secretaries not to know whether subscriptions are coming, or whether to make up their accounts for the hon. treasurer, and "star" members as in arrears, I think everyone would pay subscriptions in good time, and so help the men who do so much to make our unwieldy Guild workable. Our peals are less in number than in the past few years, but most satisfactory from the facts that: (1) 28 ringers rang their first peal; (2) upwards of 60 rang their first peals in different methods; (3) 4 conducted peals first time; (4) 6 conducted peals in fresh methods. An outstanding peal of this description was "Double Norwich," by the North Berkshire Branch, first in the method by all. Congratulations also to members of East Berks, who, with their old conductor, G.

Martin, brought us back to Surprise methods by scoring two peals of "Cambridge." We hope, therefore, to get back to old times during 1925, and to prove that "London" and "Bristol" are not too big. The first 720 of spliced Minor was rung by the young band at Stoke Poges, with the help of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Barker. Mention must also be made of a visit to North Berks by Mr. W. Pye and party, who scored the first peal of "Cambridge Royal" by the Guild at Abingdon, and rang peals of "London" and "Bristol" at Drayton and Dorchester respectively. The Guild had lost, by death, during the year, the Rev. E. Broome, for many years secretary to the Sonning Deanery Branch, Messrs. W. Newell, C. E. Stone and A. Guy.'

In presenting the report the Secretary said the question had arisen whether it was worth while keeping the Vale of White Horse Branch as a separate branch. It was for the neighbouring towers to use their influence to keep the branch alive, and try and feed this 'baby.'

The Rev. E. B. Lock (hon. secretary of the branch) suggested that it be merged in the North Bucks branch. He felt that no amount of 'artificial nourishment' or any other 'nourishment,' would save this delicate 'baby,' unless it was taken over by another branch. It was one of the most scattered areas in Berkshire, and had no 'certificated' bell ringers resident in it. It laboured under very great difficulties, and he did not know whether it was advisable to struggle on for another year.

It was agreed that the question should be dealt with by the Master, Treasurer and Secretary.

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED.

The Master (the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn) was re-elected amid cheers, on the motion of Mr. F. Hopgood, seconded by Mr. J. W. Wilkins, the latter expressing the thanks which the members felt for the work done by the Master throughout the year.

The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn said he hoped they would settle in a workable way the question of their annual festival. Ever since he had been Master he had been dealing either with questions concerned with the annual festival and the dissatisfaction of members, or with memorial funds. He would like to have a few years, before he had done with it, when they could go ahead with the work, without having to consider these other things. He had endeavoured in the past to attend all branch meetings, but they had increased so in number that it had now become impossible to continue this policy, and do anything at all to help young ringers, who wanted to ring a peal, and who were worthy to ring a peal, or a band which wanted assistance in practising Surprise methods. He simply had no Saturdays to spare. The Treasurer and Secretary agreed with him, and so for the future he asked them not to expect him at any but the annual meetings of the branches. He would attend the others if he could, but he would like to be consulted about the date of the annual branch meetings.

The Treasurer and Secretary were re-elected, and the Master congratulated the Guild upon its wisdom, for both these officers put their whole heart into the work.

On the question of the election of the committee, the Master said that Mr. J. J. Parker had written to him that he was unable to continue as a member of the Guild; therefore his name would disappear from the committee.

Mr. Mayne asked whether Mr. Parker was not a 'complimentary' life member. He was one of their oldest members, a master among ringers, and had done a great deal of spade work. It would be a great pity if he were allowed to go from the Guild or the committee.

The Master said Mr. Parker had told them he could not continue as a member of the Guild. He knew nothing about Mr. Parker being a 'complimentary' member.

Mr. Wilkins said Mr. Parker was worthy of being elected a vice-president. He was one of the founders of the Guild.

The Master said Mr. Parker was one of two men he had hoped to see elected vice-presidents; the other was Mr. Newell, who had been taken from them. The question was raised in committee, and the view was taken (with which he agreed) that they could not elect Mr. Parker as a vice-president if he was not a member of the Guild.

The following eleven members of the committee were re-elected: Messrs. J. F. Barlow, J. Evans, G. Caudwell, G. Holfield, E. Humfrey, W. Hibbert, senr., Fred Webb, R. White, A. D. Cullum, H. Sear and J. W. Wilkins. Mr. G. Martin was elected to fill the vacancy.

Canon Coleridge gave a brief review of the proceedings of the Central Council meeting at Chester, which, he said, were full of interest and very enjoyable. Everyone was struck by the warmth and geniality of their welcome, both by the Chester Guild and the Bishop, Dean, and authorities of the Cathedral. Canon Coleridge referred to several of the most important points in the business transacted, and pointed out that a full report had appeared in 'The Ringing World,' which every member ought to have read. They could not keep up in their knowledge of what was happening in the ringing Exercise unless they were regular subscribers to 'The Ringing World.'

A report of the Washbrook Memorial Committee was presented, and adopted. It will be found under a separate heading.

RINGERS' OUTINGS.

On Saturday, June 20th, the Milton-next-Gravesend (Kent) ringers were favoured with glorious weather for their annual outing. Proceeding by charabanc, the first stop was at Croydon, where, by kind permission of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, the party spent a very interesting hour in being shown round by Mr. C. Roper. This privilege was greatly appreciated. The next stop was at Epsom. At Christ Church, the peal of eight were rung to Grandsire and Treble Bob.

Dorking was reached in time for dinner at the Victory Tea Gardens, which was served in the beautiful grounds. A visit was paid to St. Martin's Church, and the bells were soon going to Triples and Treble Bob. The homeward journey was via Reigate and Redhill. It was arranged to stop at Limpsfield Chart to ring, but owing to being wrongly directed, the tower was missed.

After tea at Seal, the tower was visited, where the peal of six are at present a very tiring and trying proposition.

Home was reached at 10 o'clock, one and all well satisfied with the day's outing, and the ringers wish, through the 'Ringing World,' to thank Messrs. Gillett and Johnston for permission to look round the foundry; to Mr. Roper for his kindness; to the various incumbents for permission to ring at the towers visited; and to Mr. C. Dean, the esteemed secretary of the Surrey Association, for his valued help.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The annual summer outing was held on Saturday, June 27th, when a visit was paid to that picturesque riverside resort of Great Marlow-on-Thames.

Some of the party went by train direct to Marlow, but others went to Maidenhead, then by launch to Henley, and returning to Marlow, visiting the pretty tower of All Saints and its ring of eight bells, which was open for ringing from 4.30 p.m. until 6 p.m.

Various methods were rung, including Grandsire, Stedman, Cambridge, Superlative, etc., with the brother member ringers, including Mr. Mayne, of Beaconsfield; Mr. John Evans, of Wycombe; and Mr. Owens, of West Wycombe.

A photo group was taken on the lawn, which included the St. Luke's, Chelsea, section of the association, who were staying for two days.

In the evening, touches of Stedman Triples on handbells by Messrs. J. C. Truss, T. H. Taffender, Herbert and Alloway, opened the proceedings of an enjoyable evening at the Two Brewers. Mr. Truss at the piano, Mr. W. D. Mathews, ex-Master and treasurer of the association, Mrs. Johnson, Mr. R. Newman, assistant secretary, also gave songs, etc.

NOTTINGHAM.

On Saturday, July 4th, the ringers and friends, numbering 25 in all, held their annual outing. Starting at 8.30 for Buxton by charabanc, the first halt was made at Derby and Matlock. The journey was then pursued to Bakewell, where a stop was made for a ring on the fine peal of eight. Touches of Stedman were rung, also three leads of Kent Major, with Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, the editor, who is staying in Buxton. A party of ringers from Kibworth rang the party into the village. A move was then made for Buxton, where dinner was served, and a pleasant two hours were spent in exploring the places of interest. At 4.30 a start was made for Ashbourne, where tea was served, after which Mr. Cobin, St. Peter's Ringing Master, voiced the thanks of the party to Mr. West and Mr. Chadburn for the able way in which the arrangements had been made and carried out. The fine old peal of eight was then visited, where touches of Stedman and Spliced Treble Bob Major were rung, and the handbells were also brought into use. At Derby, the handbells were again rung, after which a start was made for home, via Ilkeston, Nottingham being reached at 11 p.m. Through the medium of the 'Ringing World,' the members of St. Peter's band wish to thank the incumbents for the use of the bells; the towerkeepers for having everything in readiness, and helping to make this outing such an enjoyable one.

ST. JAMES' GUILD, TAUNTON.

On July 4th the ringers of the Guild held their annual outing. Taunton was left at 7.10 a.m. for Tiverton, where Mr. Grateau met the party. Touches of Stedman and a course of Major were rung on the fine peal of bells here. Arriving at Crediton, the party was met by Mr. Perkins, the captain, and, after looking over this fine old 11th century church, several touches of Kent and Plain Bob were rung. Mr. John Osborne met the party at Chagford, and the bells were set going to touches of Kent and Stedman. Moreton Hampstead was visited, and touches of Double Norwich were rung. A move was then made to Bovey Tracey, where the light peal, tenor were rung, including a touch of Kent Major, in good style. Chudleigh was reached at 5 o'clock. The company was welcomed by the captain of the local band, and ringing was enjoyed before Teignmouth was visited. Here tea was served, and the party made the acquaintance of a Swindon ringer, who stood in for a touch of Stedman.

The home journey was made by way of Dawlish and Exeter, all the party enjoying the outing thoroughly.

THE NORTH OF ENGLAND TOUR.

So long ago as Whitsun, 1924, it was my privilege to be introduced to a party of ringers from the North, and to hear them ring London Surprise Major (double-handed) in the ancient 'Coffee Pot,' London. Another younger member of the Goffon family was also met, later in the year, who added his weight to the general welcome to the Durham and Newcastle district, offered to our party whenever it was convenient to amass the men, money and the minutes for this trip.

The opportunity to explore the towers in the neighbourhood of Whitley Bay came to hand most propitiously in June, owing to a proposal by Norfolk and Kent men to spend a week in Hertfordshire falling to the ground. Eventually six men from the London district decided to make the plunge and were joined at the 'far end' by Messrs. Jenkins and Shepherd.

On arrival at the Central Station it was found that illness prevented attempt No. 1 at Gosforth (10), but that Whitley Bay would be available instead, and that two rings at Hartlepool (8 and 10 bells) were kindly allotted us in place of Gateshead, thus completing a list of twelve towers for our use in the counties of Durham and Northumberland.

'The Ringing World' has already given particulars of the ten successes, the same number and of similar mixture to those rung during the Norfolk tour last June, when 14 attempts were made.

On Monday afternoon a peal of Superlative Surprise Major was attempted, but two bells became transposed at half-way, and Conductor Jenkins called 'stand.' On Wednesday afternoon, at South Shields, there was 70 minutes' minutes for a peal of Stedman Triples, which got out of order. On Friday our effort to ring Stedman Triples at Monkseaton lasted two hours and ten minutes, with Mr. Parkes as conductor. On Sunday a visit was paid to the Goffon 'Handbell Belfry,' a modern hut, and here London, Superlative and Double Norwich Major, as well as Stedman Caters and Cinques, were tapped with much precision.

CROYDON, SURREY (ST. JOHN THE BAPTIST'S). OUTING.

On Saturday, July 11th, the ringers of the above church, accompanied by their wives and friends, held their annual outing. Worthing was reached in time for breakfast, after which a visit was paid to the old-world village of Tarring. The towerkeeper was awaiting the party, hence the bells were soon going to the tune of Grandsire Doubles, followed by Treble Bob Minor. On descending from the tower the company was met by the Vicar (the Rev. C. Lee), who was at Christ Church, Croydon, some years ago.

Dinner was enjoyed in Worthing, after which a visit was paid to St. Botolph's Church, Heene. Here several of the local band were met, also Mr. White, of Tunbridge Wells, and Mr. Groves, of Brighton. Touches of Stedman, Grandsire Triples, Double Norwich Major and a course of Cambridge were rung. This concluded the day's ringing, and the party took tea in Worthing. Various amusements were afterwards enjoyed. Much regret was felt at the unavoidable absence of the 'skipper,' Mr. A. W. Clark, and all credit is due to Mrs. Clark for the commendable way in which she made the day such a success. Heartly thanks are due to the Vicars of both churches for permission to use their bells; to the towerkeepers and ringers who helped the proceedings.

A combined outing of the Exeter Cathedral, Heavitree, and St. David's bands took place on Saturday, July 11th, to the district on the Somerset and Dorset border. Ilminster was the first stop, and here the party found a fine ring of eight. Some good ringing was done. South Petherton, with its octagonal central tower, was reached. Bells and fittings all require attention, and it was only with difficulty that three or four touches could be brought round. Yeovil was next visited, where a Carnival Day, in aid of the local hospital, involved delay of nearly one hour.

After lunch, with a few of the local ringers, the musical ring of ten was raised, and some well-struck touches of Grandsire and Stedman Caters rung, and some Triples on the back eight.

Arrived at Sherborne, the next halt, the beautiful Abbey Church was visited. Here is a grand old ring of eight, but the hanging is far from what it might be. Under adverse conditions, the ringing chamber being in semi-darkness, several good touches were completed.

An excellent tea was enjoyed by all.

The party then proceeded to Charlton Horethorne, where there is a nice ring of eight. Half an hour was spent here, and this concluded the ringing for the day. The run home was made via Langport and Taunton.

OXFORD GUILD'S 'BONE OF CONTENTION.'

The position of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, revealed at the annual meeting, must have been gratifying to the members, and reflected credit upon the officials of the society. Numerically and financially the Guild has gone ahead, and there are signs that the leeway which developed in one part of the diocesan area is being made up. For some few years the 'bone of contention' in the Guild has been the holding of the festival annually at Oxford instead of moving it into the three Archdeaconries in turn. It has been argued time and again that in such a big diocese it is unfair that the meeting should be held always at the same place, and there has been much to be said for this view. The subject still agitates the minds of the members; it is the rock upon which the Guild has split, and it still keeps a certain number of ringers in the diocese outside the fold. The annual meeting this year has, however, put a different complexion on the matter. Leaving out of question the advisability of moving the festival from place to place, it has been urged that Berks and Bucks are unduly handicapped, in endeavouring to bring about the change they are said to desire, when the meeting is always held at Oxford, where, presumably, Oxford members would predominate.

The Guild committee had given the whole question anxious thought, and the matter was discussed by the general meeting this year upon a recommendation that the festival should be held in future in each of the three Archdeaconries in turn. The committee's recommendation was defeated, and the general meeting decided to go to Oxford again next year. On the face of it it looked as if the Oxford Archdeaconry members had once more swamped the members from the two other counties, but there was a significant revelation later, when, at the luncheon, a count of hands took place, and it was found that, of 157 members present, only 25 were from Oxfordshire, and that Bucks, in which much of the dissent has arisen, was represented by 75 members, Berks sending the other 57. It does not follow that the whole of these members had been present at the business meeting, and it is certain that they did not all vote, but it is quite obvious that the decision in favour of meeting at Oxford was not decided by the Oxford members alone, and this should remove one of the grounds of discontent.

The last has not yet been heard of this question, but we hope the result of the debate and the figures which were revealed will lead those who are now standing aloof from the Guild to reconsider their position. After all, our guilds and associations ought to mean something to us; and it is our duty to do what we can for them. They are established for our collective benefit, and if they are to be successful each member should put his or her best into it; not throw it over when it does not provide all that was desired or that was expected to be got out of it. Annual meetings are important, but attendance at them is not the only thing that one joins an association for, and while it is natural that members should desire facilities for making their voices heard in the conduct of the business, and share the pleasures which the festival provides, yet a much more effectual influence is often exerted through other channels. The fact that the decision at the Oxford Guild meeting was governed almost completely by the voting of members from Berks and Bucks should convince those who have dissociated themselves from the Guild over this question, that Oxfordshire is exerting no undue influence on account of its privileged position as the meeting-place, and, this being so, there is every reason why they should return to the ranks and throw their weight into the scale with those who are seeking to have the festivals held in the different Archdeaconries in successive years.

PEAL CORRECTION.

The name of the ringer of the treble in the peal of Cambridge Minor, rung at Springfield, on July 11th, and reported July 17th, should read John H. Myhill, not E. Kemp. The peal was also rung as a wedding compliment to Mr. E. Kemp, who was married on that date to Miss N. Clements, of Good Easter, the happy people arriving home in time to hear the last part of the peal. A presentation was made to them by the Rector (Canon Paynter) from the local ringers and friends.

THE NORTH OF ENGLAND TOUR.*AN ENJOYABLE WEEK ABOUT TYNE AND WEAR.

At North Shields, at the corner of a cross-roads, opposite to the Parish Church, is a famous inn known by the sign of 'The Olde 100th.' From 7.30 a.m. to 2.30 p.m. is a long spell without sustenance, and, as no one had previously seen a house of that name—although we had 'sung' it many times—we (who were travellers from the South) went in, and, to use motoring phraseology, 'let her rip.' The name of the house reminds me of a country church of years ago, where the old-hand-barrel organ only gave out two airs, one was the 'Old Hundredth,' and, in the words of the sexton, the 'other ain't.' Dilapidated and out of tune, the oldest inhabitant could not say what the 'symphony' really was. Our West Hallam readers will be glad to hear we enjoyed our 'country' visit, and to know that a picture postcard view of the hotel is to be had with 'owd Baarbe' and 'Deordye' standing outside.

Later in the day, on June 20th, in the belfry of St. Paul's, Whitley Bay, the following six visitors were kindly offered membership of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Guild, on the proposition of Mr. W. H. Barber, seconded by Mr. Thomas T. Goffton, and were unanimously elected by some dozen ringers present, including Messrs. Nevard and Shenherd, who had previously gone through the process in 1915 and 1890 respectively.

Preparations for peal attempt No. 1 and the above preliminary business had delayed our start, and, after letting the bells down there was very little time available for the 'branding operations' at the Black Horse, which closed at ten. The hurried entry of a good body of men requiring prompt attention caused the landlord to take off his coat on hearing that visitors were to be 'scorched,' and the following men who stood the ordeal will ever remember with pride the diocesan initials, D. and N. A., viz., Messrs. Shade, Parkes, Audsley, Bennett, Jenkins and Fussell. There are two mirrors in a room at this house with convex and concave surface, which considerably distort the features of anyone looking into them. My readers who know the two well-known ringers concerned will readily understand how it was that Isaac George Nevard became William J. Shade, the Christian names sticking to them for the rest of the week. Even the sergeant-major looked more like a colonel retired on half-pay.

On Monday night we were the guests of the Whitley Bay company at the Monkseat Arms, and here, in a private room, with cheerful fire, a set of handbells and piano, we enjoyed the time with tunes, singing, changes and conversation to the last minute. The married men consoled with the bachelors in the sad loss of their afternoon peal attempt. The bachelors pleaded want of 'practice,' and hoped to do better next time, as dear 'Sally' requires some coaxing. A course of London Surprise, double-handed, by members of the Goffton family was followed by Stedman Cinques, Messrs. Jenkins and Audsley joining in. Songs were rendered by Messrs. R. A. and T. T. Goffton, Mr. Caminada, and others, till we simply had to 'break up,' and our 'diggings' were reached by eleven o'clock without the use of self-aligning bearings.

After the Cathedral peal at Newcastle, on Tuesday night, we were joined by several of the Cathedral men, and congratulated by Messrs. Hillier, Richards, and others, including even our old 'Ferry boat,' who 'piloted' the tenth for our peal. At the Collingwood Hotel we were entertained by Mr. C. L. Routledge, and left for Whitley by the 10.5 train. During the afternoon we had an hour at the historical castle, several centuries old, and built on the site of an older castle that gave rise to the title of the city. It is stored with many rare specimens of armour, war weapons, banners, and stone carvings, forming a most interesting museum, worthy of a week's study.

A CROWDED DAY.

On Wednesday our spare time was too limited to see anything of the beauties of the Abbey of Hexham. The bells came home at 1.30, and our train left at 2.8 p.m. The tower and bells have been restored quite recently, and altogether make up an ideal 'Surprise' belfry. The names of the visitors were hastily scribbled in the verger's register, some tasted Priory ale on the way to the station, and luncheon was served in the compartment of our railway carriage, by the aid of a pocket knife, one small loaf and 2lbs. of cheese, consumed on the journey to Shields. Passing Scotswood Station on the way, we viewed the colliery bank, where 38 men were lost in the Montague Mine Disaster last May, eight men being still unaccounted for.

The failure at South Shields gave us an early return to Whitley Bay. Formerly this town was noted for its rope works, where, in the days of the sailing ship, it manufactured rigging and cables. All the local ringers were employed at these works, and, judging by the old and patched set of ropes we had to adjust, they were probably made by them.

This ringing room has an interesting memorial to one of the old hands—a square oak panel, with a bell-shaped brass tablet mounted upon it, engraved: 'To the Glory of God, and in loving memory of Robert Hopper, born 1831, died 26th September, 1915, for 73 years ringer in this belfry. Erected by voluntary subscription, 1920.'

The Monkseat Arms was again the scene of a family reunion—'all one body we.' I believe, like the grey old towers studded across Great Britain, that it would be possible to form a living chain of change ringers by joining hands, from Land's End to John o' Groats. A return compliment to the Whitley Bay men was organised by the visitors in the form of a concert, with refreshments. The programme of Tuesday was repeated with sundry encores, and added to by a blind performer, Mr. Martin Henderson (British Concertina champion). The Goffton family were again in evidence with handbells, filling up gaps for London Surprise, with E. Jenkins 7-8, and Kent Treble Bob Royal, with Messrs. Fussell and Jenkins at the 'ends.' During the evening we learnt that Mr. R. Alder Goffton's pigeons had safely returned from the long flight from Amiens on Sunday last against a strong head wind; that he was the winner of four gold medals for 'homing birds' flown in 1924; and that 'our Willie,' who acted as guide, counsellor and secretary for this week's outing, was his son. It will also be of interest to our American cousins to hear that Messrs. T. and R. Goffton were born in the State of New Brunswick, U.S.A. The Boston Guild might make a note of it in their records because the majority of their practical members were born this side of the water.

Thursday was a 'busy bus' time, no less than four various kinds of rubber-tired vehicles taking us out and back. The back tyre of one small car burst with the load of nine men, fortunately near a bus centre, where we obtained a substitute. The fine spire of Chester-le-Street minimises the tower, and we were surprised to find so large a belfry all in apple-pie order, with recently restored tower and bells rehung—conditions similar to Hexham, which make for the comfort and enjoyment of change ringing. In the belfry are two sectors of the old bells of 1665, preserving the original inscriptions, and they are mounted on wood blocks for future generations of ringers to admire. A framed photograph taken at West Hartlepool, May, 1907, shows a fine body of men of the North of England attending the annual festival of the Guild. There is a very good sanctus bell in use, named after St. Cuthbert, who was Dean of Chester in 1409.

THE MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION AND LONDON DIOCESAN GUILD.

The members of this association visited Stanmore and Harrow Weald on Saturday last, when some 30 or more attended a meeting at those places.

Ringling commenced at the former tower soon after 3 o'clock with a touch of Grandsire Triples, which was followed by Stedman Triples, Bob Major, Kent, Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise.

A service was held at 5.30, at which the Rector (Rev. W. A. Hewett) gave the members of the association a hearty welcome and an interesting address. Tea was followed by touches on handbells on the Rectory lawn, where the business meeting was held. Two new members were elected, including the Rector of Stanmore as an honorary member. Willesden was chosen for the next meeting on September 12th.

The Honorary Secretary proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Rev. W. A. Hewett for his address at the service, for the use of the bells and for the use of his garden by the members. The Rector briefly replied. Votes of thanks were also accorded to the organist, and to Messrs. F. Hill and G. Hughes, of the local band, for making the very necessary arrangements.

Further ringing afterwards took place at Stanmore, whilst a small party paid a visit to Harrow Weald, and rang touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles and Cambridge Surprise Minor.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD.

A special meeting was held at Daventry on Saturday, July 18th, the following towers being represented: Long Buckley, Flore, Welton, Braunston, Farthingstone, Daventry, Greens Norton, Brockhall, East Hadden, Watford, Weston Favell, Northampton, Broughton, Kettering, Geddington, Isham, Wellingborough and Burton Latimer.

The Guild form of service was taken by the Master (Mr. F. Wilford), and the Rector of Daventry (the Rev. E. E. Law) giving the address.

After tea had been partaken of the business meeting was presided over by the Master of the Guild, who was supported by the Rev. E. E. Law, Mr. W. T. Wilson (treasurer) and Mr. J. Nichols (secretary), Miss Cecil Hephurn (Ladies' Guild), Mr. F. Barber, Mr. R. G. Black and Mr. T. Hebbutt (branch secretaries), a company of about 40 ringers being present.

The General Secretary explained that the meeting was being held with a view to forming a new branch of the Guild in Daventry, and spoke of the three main objects of the Guild: (1) The recognition of the true position of ringers as church officials; (2) the due care and use of church bells and belfries; (3) the cultivation of the art of scientific change ringing.

It was carried that a Daventry branch of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild of Church Bell Ringers be formed.

The Rev. W. H. Shackell (Brockhall) and the Rev. E. E. Law (Daventry) were elected honorary members, and the following ringing members: A. Moore, S. Moore, A. Clowin, F. Smart (Daventry), F. Rowledge (Braunston), A. Starmer, J. Goode and G. Lyman (Welton), F. Osborne (Farthingstone), A. Starmer and H. Shimmell (Flore). Mr. Sidney Foskett (Bletchley) was also elected a non-resident ringing member.

The election of branch officers then took place, and the following were elected for the ensuing year: President, the Rev. W. H. Shackell; treasurer, the Rev. E. E. Law; secretary, Mr. W. Moore; committee, Messrs. A. Moore (Daventry), A. Starmer (Flore), F. Rowledge (Braunston), G. Lyman (Welton) and F. Osborne (Farthingstone), Messrs. A. Moore and F. Osborne were also elected to serve on the Central Committee of the Guild.

It was decided to hold the next meeting of the branch on Saturday, August 29th, at Flore.

A very hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector of Daventry for his kindness in officiating and entertaining.

During the afternoon and evening several touches were rung, including a good course of London Surprise Major.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

The summer meeting was held at Allendale on Saturday, July 25th. The handy peal of six bells (tenor 10 cwt.) were kept going during the afternoon and evening in Bob Doubles and Minor, Kent Treble Bob, Double Court and London Surprise Minor, one of the local band scoring his first touch of Minor. The small attendance was due to the difficulty of reaching Allendale, 16 sitting down to tea. The towers of Newcastle Cathedral, St. John's, Newcastle, Saints', Gosforth, Newton, St. George's, Jesmond, were represented, also the local band. The Rector visited the belfry during the afternoon. The President apologised for absence, explaining that it was a day and a half's journey from Darlington to Allendale. This, not being a business meeting, no business was transacted other than the confirmation of the election of appointed members in the belfry previous to starting for a peal. They numbered six. The homeward journey was made in a mixture of fine weather and heavy rain, bringing a pleasant and successful meeting to an end. At the close of tea Mr. J. S. Keen, the only vice-president present, proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION (NORTHERN DISTRICT)

A very successful meeting was held at Barnet on Saturday, July 18th. Ringling commenced at 3.30 p.m., several good touches including Double Norwich and Cambridge Major being rung. The company attended service at 6 p.m., and afterwards partook of an excellent tea. The business meeting was held at 7 p.m., two new members being elected, Master Jack Waugh, of Woodford, and Mrs. Allaway, of South Hackney. The question of railway travel facilities, outlined in the 'Ringing World' of July 18th, was discussed, and a resolution passed asking the general body of the association to give the matter their favourable consideration and support was carried. Should permission be given, the next meeting will be held at All Hallows, Tottenham. A move was then made to Hadley tower, where some excellent touches brought a pleasant afternoon to a close. The association thank the Rectors of Barnet and Hadley for the use of the bells, and Messrs. Sumpter and Tarling for having the bells ready.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A successful district meeting was held at Willingham on Saturday, July 18th, ringers being present from St. Neots, Cambridge, Dry Drayton, Histon, Chatteris, Longstanton, Trumpington, Sutton, Wilburton, Fen Ditton, Great Shelford and Willingham. The association's form of service was held at 4.30, conducted by the Rector (the Rev. A. C. Hair), assisted by the Rev. H. B. Woolley (Vicar of Longstanton). An open-air tea was kindly provided by the Rector, and this was followed by the business meeting. Bourn was selected as the place for the next meeting, to be held in September. Good use was made of the tower bells, which are a splendid peal, having been rehung and augmented to six last February. The methods rung were London, Cambridge and York Surprise, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob and Carter's Doubles. A course each of London and York Surprise was rung on handbells by C. W. Cook 1-2, J. B. Woolley 3-4, C. W. Woolley 5-6.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION (NORTH-WESTERN DIVISION).

A district meeting was held at Sawbridgeworth on Saturday, July 11th. Ringling commenced at 3 p.m., and continued until 5 p.m., when a service was held in St. Mary's Church by the Rev. A. Rust. Mrs. A. Rust officiated at the organ. After the service 26 members sat down to tea. The business meeting followed. The Rev. A. Rust was elected chairman. The minutes of the last meeting were read and signed. It was carried that Hunsdon be the next meeting-place. The Rev. Errington then brought to the notice of the meeting that his company at Hunsdon were in need and would appreciate outside help and instruction in change ringing. Their practice is held every Thursday. A vote of thanks was then passed to the Vicar for the use of the bells, etc., and to the Rev. and Mrs. A. Rust.

WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

GUILDFORD DISTRICT.

A district meeting was held at Puttenham on Saturday last, and was very well attended. Ringers were present from Aldershot, Ash, Cobham, Cranleigh, Farnham, Godalming, Guildford (Holy Trinity and St. Nicolas), Shere and Witley, and members of the local company.

The bells were available at 3 o'clock, and were rung in various methods (till five, when a short service was held in the church, conducted by the Rector (the Rev. Canon Cooke Yarborough), who also gave an address. Miss Clark presided at the organ. After the service the ringers and friends adjourned for tea. In the absence of the Rector, who had another engagement, Mr. S. Marshall (churchwarden) presided. After tea a short business meeting was held. The minutes of the previous meeting were adopted, and two full members and one probationer were elected.

Mr. R. Whittington, one of the district representatives, gave a summary of the proceedings at the annual meeting at Winchester.

A vote of thanks was passed to the Rector for the use of the church and bells, and for conducting the service; to the organist, and to Mr. S. Marshall and the members of the local company for making the excellent arrangements.

The tower was again visited, and the bells were rung in methods to suit the ringers present (till 8.30, the ringers expressing their satisfaction at the way in which everything had been carried out.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

A pleasant afternoon meeting was spent at Stanford-on-Soor, when some 30 members were present from Derby, Nottingham, Regworth, Leicester, Barton-in-Pabis, Ringston-on-Soor, Loughborough and Shepshed.

Ringling took place after three o'clock in various methods. Tea was partaken in the Rectory, at the invitation of the Vicar, who himself was unfortunately absent. One new member was elected, Thomas Pilkington, of Quorn, Mr. Ernest Morris acting as chairman. — A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the ladies who had helped to add to the enjoyment of the meeting; and to the Vicar for the kind permission to use the bells. The next meeting is to be held at Hugglescote. In the evening, the members visited the bell foundry campanile, where further ringing was enjoyed.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

By J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

Fifty years or so ago a big attempt was made to popularise the carillon in England. The leading spirit was a London clergyman, the Rev. Mr. H. R. Haweis. He was a man intensely interested in music of all types. He had visited Belgium, heard the carillons of Antwerp, Bruges, and Malines, and like many another tourist fell a victim to their charm. With these he contrasted the 'din and discord' of English belfries, and henceforth he devoted much time and much ability to the task of persuading people at home to adopt Belgian ideas of bells, Belgian bells and Belgian bell music. He achieved a considerable measure of success in creating a widespread, if vague, impression that Belgian bell ringing was something very much superior to our English change ringing, and in a few instances, owing to his direct influence, Belgian bells and carillons were hung in England. Cattistock was one, Boston another, and Aberdeen a third. A set of Belgian bells was installed by the Duke of Westminster at Eaton Hall, and smaller rings at St. Augustine's, Kilburn, and Lower Beeding in Sussex. None of these was any great success. Whatever may be the charm of classical carillon of Antwerp, Ghent and Malines, it was found that the modern Belgian bells were by no means superior to English bells, and at a time when English bell foundries were turning out rather indifferent bells. Now, of course, English modern bells are acknowledged throughout the world as superior to all others, and one must note that many competent people are not disposed to rate even those as better than, or even equal, to the very best of the older rings.

The fact is that all these excellent people who advocate the superiority of carillon music are extreme partisans who are quite unable to judge fairly between English and Belgian bell music. Under holiday conditions, when they themselves are properly attuned, they hear Belgian bells, and they fall under their spell; they think that if only similar carillons could be erected at home the same effect would be enjoyed. When they come back to England they are displeased with our ringing peals, just because they are not the same as the Belgian. Abroad they do nothing but admire and enjoy, but at home their critical faculties are at once awake. This is strikingly shown by Mr. Haweis himself in his book. Dirt, and the presence of rats and mice in the tower of Louvain, strike him as romantic and poetical. Something similar in England (I do not know about the rats) is clear evidence of sordid neglect.

To give an idea of the style of the book which went far toward forming popular opinions of bells and bell music I give an extract:—
'Willingly I do escape from the din and discord of English belfries to Belgium, loving and beloved of bells.

'The wind that sweeps over her campagnas and fertile levels is full of broken but melodious whispers.

'In Belgium, day and night are set to music, music on a scale more colossal than that of the largest orchestra ever heard; music more penetrating than the loudest trumpet or organ blast. In Belgium, every seven minutes there is bell music, not only for the whole town, but for the country miles around. Those carillons playing the same cheerful air every hour throughout the year at last acquire a strange fascination over one who lives within sight and hearing of some such grey old church as St. Rombaut at Mechlin. The listener has heard them at moments when elated with hope; he was looking forward to the almost immediate realisation of some long-desired joy, and the melody of the bells has filled him with exultation. He has heard the same strain rung out in seasons of depression, and his heart has leapt up at the sound so filled with memories. The bells may have again smitten upon his ear at the moment when some tragic news has reached him: or out in the fields steeped in yellow sunshine above the hum of insect life, the same tune has come to him between the pauses of the summer wind; or deep in his dreams through sleep without awakening him, the bells have somehow mingled their old rhythm with his dormant fancies until at last their sound becomes so charged with the incidents and emotions of his life that they are almost as much a part of him as his memory. When he comes to leave a town where he has dwelt for some time, he feels as if he had lost a whole side of life; he misses the sound of the friendly bells which always had the power by force of association to call up some emotion congenial to the moment—the sympathetic bells which seemed always equally ready to weep and to rejoice with him—the unobtrusive bells so familiar as never to be a disturbance—the gentle bells that could, as it were, ring aside to themselves when not wanted, and yet never failed to minister to the listening spirit whenever it stood in need of their companionship or sympathy.'

That is fine writing, but can it possibly be true of more than a very small number of men? And if it is true, will the effect be the same if you transplant the bells in a foreign land? The carillon is an institution centuries old in Belgium. It belongs to the nationality and the life of the people. It will not be the same thing elsewhere. They have now got the largest, and, perhaps, the finest, of all carillons in

New York. Will it be possible ever to write of these bells such as has been quoted above? Can the fine carillon of the Royal Exchange ever arouse any such emotions in any of the thousands of people that continually hear it?

America has no past and no tradition in the matter. But we have our ringing peals and our change ringing. They are as much rooted in the national character and as much a part of the national life as the carillon is in Belgium. The emotional and æsthetic appeal that bells make must be made here by them, and is made and can only be made by them. Whether the carillon or change ringing be in itself the finer thing is, after all, not to the point. The truth is that the carillon is Belgian, but change ringing is English.

But of this the advocates of the carillon are utterly ignorant. They do not understand the change ringing they affect to despise. Still less do they understand the change ringer. Listen once more to Mr. Haweis, the man who was accepted as in his time one of the greatest authorities on everything connected with bells.

'In connection with the swinging of a heavy bell there must always be a considerable strain upon the tower. But the friction might be indefinitely diminished if the bell machinery worked smoothly, and the labour often at present herculean of the poor bell ringer might be reduced to almost zero, were that machinery a little more scientific. When it is understood that an improved system of ringing the bells would save Deans and Chapters all over the country enormous sums of money by suspending the wear and tear which now goes on in so many of our Cathedral towers, we cannot help thinking that little opposition will be raised by those who have to pay for the damages. Bell ringers are doubtless a most obstinate set of men; but if they were paid the same for working machinery which produced twice as much effect, with less than half the labour, they, too, would soon give in to a better system. That ungrateful and barbarous rope and wheel, whose action upon the bell is now so uncertain, would probably disappear, and give place to something like a handle, a piston, or even a keyboard and a set of wheels and pulleys. There is no reason whatever why, with a better ringing mechanism, one man might not ring half a dozen bells, instead of at present half a dozen men being often set to ring a single big bell. I make these suggestions with the more confidence, because they have been favourably entertained by the heads of one of the most eminent firms of horology in England. I am glad to say that in accordance with my suggestions these gentlemen have promised to give their attention to the development of a better mechanism for the ringing of bells. They write as follows: "Although bells have never been rung by machinery, we believe it would be possible to accomplish this, although it might be expensive."

THE OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

Years ago forty-four, the Diocesan Guild

Of bell ringers set out on its way,

Let no pioneers praise who knew well how to build

For it stands in the forefront to-day.

In the joys and the sorrows of life it takes part,

Peals for wedding, and tolls the death-knell,

Takes the joys and the cares of the nation to heart,

And for service sounds summoning bell.

To the art of change ringing it gives of its best,

And would score the most difficult peal.

But yet holds of its duties this far leads the rest,

For the church to work, loyal and leal.

Where so fitting to meet to hold high festival.

Can the heart find a holier place,

Than in Oxford Cathedral, the mother of all,

There to seek inspiration and grace?

R. H. HART DAVIS.

RINGERS' TOUR.

[We regret that this report is a little overdue.—Ed. 'R.W.']

Six members of Newport and Carisbrooke, I.O.W., spent four days on a ringing tour, from December 25th—December 28th, 1795.

On December 25th, 1795, a touch of Grandsire Triples at the Cathedral of Winton; December 26th, at Old Alresford, 120 Grandsire Doubles and Grandsire Triples at Alton, Hants; December 27th, 120's of Grandsire Doubles, at Westmeon, Warnford and Meonstoke; and on December 28th they appear to have finished their tour by ringing 120's Grandsire Doubles on the six bells at the old Parish Church of Portsea, the site on which stands now the noble new parish church, and may be a future Cathedral for the new diocese of Portsmouth.

On this tour they appear to have had the assistance of two local men at both Winton and Alton; at Westmeon and Warnford a local ringer of Westmeon joined them, and at Meonstoke a local ringer, named Holland, joined them and conducted; the rest of the conducting was by Mr. William Raynor. It makes us wonder how these ringers got from the island on to the main land, and from place to place, comparing the facilities of that period with the present. It does show, however, the enthusiasm that existed in the island in the days of William Raynor.

NOMENCLATURE.To the Editor.*

Dear Sir.—The report of the Nomenclature Committee is an able and well-written document. That was only to be expected by anyone who knows (as I do) something of Mr. Burton's abilities. But 'reasonable' and 'moderate' are the last words I should apply to it. Among other things it proposes to alter the names of sixty-eight methods (some of them old and historical ones); to throw the whole of the method classification into the melting-pot; to alter technical terms which have been in use for centuries; to forbid any band and any individual, whatever their qualifications, putting a name to any new method; to invest a committee (presumably this committee) with autocratic powers over the names of all methods past, present, and to come; and to prevent such names as the committee dislikes being even so much as referred to in any Central Council publication. If this be moderation, I am curious to know what Mr. Burton's root-and-branch reform would be like. Stay, though. The committee does not propose to alter the name Grandsire. That is kind and moderate, and many thanks to them for it.

I utterly deny that the names of methods are in a 'state of almost indescribable confusion.' On the contrary, they are quite satisfactory. Care, of course, must be used in introducing fresh names, a good taste in the matter should be fostered; but anyone, whether this committee or any other who tries to settle the matter once for all, is sure to make a hash of it.

If the committee wants to do a little real good, let them scrap this report, which whether adopted by the Council or no is sure to be futile; and let them get together sufficient evidence to enable us to know whether the Exercise as a whole, and the six-bell ringers in particular, want the "Soral" names printed in the next edition of the book of Minor Methods. This was the real reason for the appointment of the committee.—Yours truly, J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

COVENTRY BELLS.To the Editor.*

Dear Sir,—Your readers will be glad to know that, following your article a fortnight ago, the Standing Committee of the Central Council have approached the Bishop of Coventry with a view to staying the melting down of these bells, and suggest my alternatives.

I think that if the secretaries of the affiliated Guilds were also to write letters of support, it would prove helpful. These should be addressed to the Rev H. Holland, M.A., St. Michael's, Coventry.

E. ALEX. YOUNG.

WYCLIFFE SURPRISE MAJOR.To the Editor.*

Dear Sir,—With reference to the above, I wish to state that since the same was published in the 'Ringing World' issue of the 10th inst., it has been brought to my notice that with but a minor rearrangement the method is the work and was published by Mr. Arthur Craven as Chesterfield Surprise, so with apologies to the author I wish to relinquish all claim to the method.—Yours sincerely, E. W. TIPLER.

DOUBLE NORWICH MAJOR.To the Editor.*

Dear Sir,—The 5,184 of Double Norwich Major published in last week's 'Ringing World' will be found in Central Council Collection, section III, peal No. 35.

May I also be permitted to point out to Mr. Howes that it does not contain the qualities claimed, the full combinations of 4-5-6 in 5-6?

H. W. WILDE.

FALSE TOUCH.To the Editor.*

Dear Sir,—I regret that my date touch, published in your issue of March 20th last, is false, and am obliged to Mr. B. Thorp for pointing out the two sixes which repeat. I thought I had checked the whole of this touch, but find that owing to inadvertence I omitted to check three courses in which, singularly enough, the repetition occurs.—Yours faithfully, THOMAS BUTLER.

'FIRST PEALS.'To the Editor.*

In the MS. report from which I read the list of first peals and progressive lengths at the last meeting of the Central Council, the Midland Counties Association is not bracketed with the Warwickshire Guild as sharing in the first peal on tower bells of Cambridge Court Bob Major.

In writing out a copy of the report for publication in the ringing paper, I may have inadvertently joined the two associations together, in which case I readily express my regret.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Devon is sometimes looked upon as being 'slow' in matters campanological, but in one respect it leads the way. A column of 'Belfry Topics' has been contributed to the local press every week, and in this way interest has been stimulated in quarters where otherwise bell matters would have been, perhaps, unknown. This feature, run by an official of the Devon Guild, has been continued now for a year, and we congratulate 'Abel Roper' upon the success of his effort.

The first of a series of lectures upon the 'Church Bells of England' was given by Mr. Harry Boughey at Birmingham last week, under the auspices of the Birmingham and Edgbaston branch of the English Church Union. The subject was 'Change Ringing,' and illustrations were given on handbells by members of St. Martin's Guild.

In being elected a vice-president of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, of which he was one of the founders, and which he has served as hon. secretary, treasurer and trustee, the Rev. R. H. Hart-Davis has been elevated to a rank held only by the Archdeacons of Buckingham, Oxford and Berkshire, the Deans of Christ Church and Windsor, and, 'at the discretion of the Guild, after recommendation by the committee, such members as have done meritorious services.' At present Mr. Hart-Davis is the only vice-president elected under this latter qualification.

Mrs. Amos Clark, who has been elected President of the Ladies' Guild for the ensuing year, is an active ringer, and has rung many peals for the Surrey Association. The passing round of the honour of the presidency in the Ladies' Guild is a feature which has much to commend it.

The light ring of twelve bells at the Waterloo tower, Quex Park, Kent, was opened, with great éclat, on August 4th, 1819. Many London ringers, including William Shipway, were present.

There are not many peals of bells which, like Quex Park, are unattached to a church, but Manchester Town Hall and the Imperial Institute, London, are other notable examples. The twelve at Christ Church, Oxford, are, we believe, in an unconsecrated tower.

The first peal of Grandsire Royal was a 5099 rung at Painswick on August 6th, 1815.

Tavistock Parish Church bells are to be recast, with additional metal, and rehung in a new iron frame, by Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough.

'Squints' and their origin.—In medieval churches the Sanctus Bell which was rung at the ceremony of the elevation of the Host at the altar was sometimes hung over the chancel arch. The attendant, having a view of the altar, was enabled to ring the bell at the correct moment. In some instances, however, when the bell was hung in a cot situated in the porch, the ringer being outside the church, was out of sight of the altar. To overcome this difficulty openings were formed in the several walls between the ringer and the altar, as many as three being found in some churches in a direct line, through which a view of the altar could be obtained from the porch. The name given to such openings was 'hagioscope,' though they are sometimes called 'squints' because of the oblique position in which they pierce the walls.

News reaches us that Capt. H. Freeborn, of Little Chalfont, Amsersham, has had considerable success in the field of sport this year. He gained the Southern Championship, A.A.A., hammer throwing; 2nd in English Championship; 3rd in General A.A.A. Championship. He represented England in the International match v. Scotland and Ireland at Dublin, and v. France at Brighton, when he gained second place with a throw of 131ft. 6in. We further understand that almost the only exercise he gets is ringing, thus using the same muscles necessary for his throwing. Our congratulations on his successes.

Who are the members of the M.C.A. first eleven who are taking a trip round the world? Are they playing a 'match' at each port of call, and are the heavy handbells going as well? Or will the 'ones' that Uncle Joe plays Mah-jongg with be heavy enough?

On Friday evening, July 24th, a cricket match was played at the Hillingdon cricket field, between the bell ringers of St. John-the-Baptist, Hillingdon, and the bell ringers of St. Andrew's, Uxbridge. Some remarkably fine cricket was produced on both sides, and much hidden talent was discovered. The return match is to be played at Lords. St. Andrew's batted first, scoring 57 runs, leaving Hillingdon to bat in a bad light, to score 27.

SAWSTON, CAMBS.—At the Church of St. Mary, on Tuesday, July 7th, 630 Grandsire Triples: A. Walsgrove 1, B. D. Bulltress 2, H. Bright 3, S. Nunn 4, P. Webb 5, S. Stubbings 6, F. Hurry (conductor) 7, F. Mathews 8. Also same Treble Bob and Stedman, W. Pittton and G. Lilley taking part.

ECKINGTON, DERBYSHIRE.—On Monday, July 20th, 1,376 Hub Major, rung to celebrate the wedding of Mr. W. Holmes and Miss C. Machant, two highly respected members of the choir: A. Markwell 1, B. Ditcher 2, A. West 3, J. Morton 4, P. Jervis 5, T. A. Howes Smith 6, A. Tomlinson 7, J. Humphries (conductor) 8.

ASSOCIATION FUNDS.

To the Editor.

DEAR SIR,—I do not know whether Samiwell Peppery's letter in your last issue, 'To pay or not to pay,' was inspired by Mistress Peppery or not, but if so I raise my hat to you, Auntie Nellie.

It has been my unpleasant duty recently to go through the list of members of the M.C.A. who are in arrears, with a view of trying, with a little coaxing, to get them up to scratch before the year end, when I am due to cross out quite a large number off the register. It is amazing to find so many of those who like to voice their opinions at meetings, or amongst their fellow-members, as to how this shall be run, or how that shall be carried out, who are themselves the greatest defaulters by either evading payment of subscription or running to the extreme limit before doing so. It is such as these who make a local secretary's task a very unenviable one, and a general secretary's part a burden.

We of the Midland Counties are in a unique position as regards funds, which seem to be exercising the minds of many such as above quoted. The sooner all ordinary ringing members realise that it is not their subscriptions that have made our present balance what it is, but that of the extraordinary list of honorary members our president has secured and certain other economies carried out, the better it will be for all concerned.

I notice the Oxford Guild secretary also has a few remarks in his report, and all who have undertaken this or similar duties will find the same difficulties. The suggestion to 'star' all those in arrears is a good one, and would doubtless bring some up to date, and is certainly better than keeping an uncertain 'black list' and debarring those entered thereon a voice in any business matters.

Any members in doubt as to their subscriptions should either inquire of their local secretary, or write direct to headquarters. This would materially help matters in the right direction.—Yours sincerely,

ERNEST MORRIS,

Gen. Hon. Secretary, M.C.A.

RINGING IN EDINBURGH.

To the Editor.

DEAR SIR,—In reply to a paragraph in 'Belfry Gossip' last week, regarding a 'pull' in Edinburgh during August.

Mr. Heathcote, St. Cuthbert's, Edinburgh, may take notice of same; if not, by writing to him he will gladly give particulars.

August is the fair holidays in Edinburgh, and some of the churches close for two weeks, and ringers are on holiday.

Two peals are in Edinburgh, St. Cuthbert's (eight bells) and St. Mary's (ten bells). Ringers visiting Scotland will be made welcome at St. James' Church, Underwood Road, Paisley. A good going peal of eight bells (tenor 22½ cwt.), but unfortunately the church is closed during August for painting and cleaning, and the ringers go on holiday the first two weeks in August. Paisley is seven miles from Glasgow, and is easily reached by train, tram, or bus.

At any other time ringers will be made welcome by this struggling band, or by writing to me at this address.—Yours faithfully, 24, Mill Street, Paisley, N.B.

A. J. RODGER.

NOMENCLATURE.

To the Editor.

DEAR SIR,—I beg to differ with regard to one statement in Mr. James Fernley's letter of the 24th July. Mr. Dawson's letters have repeatedly shown a very good reason why any band of ringers should forgo the right to '...avail themselves of the unwritten law...'.

The Rev. A. T. Beeston was responsible in part for the refusal to allow the Leytonstone band's claims regarding Surprise, No. 7, and Delight, No. 33, the reason being that the claims were too late. Now, then, can he associate himself with the claim put forward at a later date by the band, of which Mr. Fernley signs himself leader?

The Norbury band have done wonderful things in minor ringing, but the Leytonstone band have stated two concrete cases in support of their contention, that not only has good reason been shown, but that, in connection with their claim, some bad taste was shown by the gentleman bearing one of the names published.

GEORGE L. JOYCE,

Proposer of the Leytonstone Resolution.

STAMFORD HILL RINGERS' OUTING.

On Saturday, July 4th, the ringers from St. Ann's Church, Stamford Hill, accompanied by a few friends, went for their annual outing to Burnham-on-Crouch. On arrival the party proceeded to the Parish Church, where touches of Grandsire Doubles, Plain Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Minor were rung. An al fresco lunch was partaken, after which some more ringing was enjoyed, and 720 Plain Bob was rung by the following: 1 F. Ringrose, 2 G. Hibble, 3 H. Blee, 4 T. Deal, 5 J. Nash, 6 A. Putland (conductor). After tea a 720 Grandsire Doubles was arranged and rung for Mr. E. Rouse, the local captain, the band being as follows: 1 T. Ringrose, 2 C. Ross, 3 A. Putland (conductor), 4 H. Blee, 5 J. Nash, 6 E. Rouse.

COMMITTEE RECOMMEND 'MOVABLE' FESTIVAL.

Mr. Frank Hopgood proposed the adoption of the following recommendation of the General Committee: 'That to Rule X. be added, after July, "in the three Archdeacons in rotation." This would make the Rule read as follows: "The annual festival and general meeting shall be held in July in the three Archdeacons in rotation, at the place selected at the previous annual festival, all the arrangements to be left in the hands of the committee." Mr. Hopgood mentioned that the question of where they should hold their annual meeting had been agitating the minds of the members for a long time, and he thought if they would carry this resolution it would put an end to it. The older members would know that forty years ago it was the custom to go round the three Archdeacons in turn, and when they followed that policy he never heard any complaint. It was true they could not all go to the festival in the years when it was held at a distance from their homes, but once in three years they would be able to go. When, however, it was held continually in one place, a certain number of members were barred entirely from attending. He hoped this resolution would be carried, and put an end to the controversy.—Mr. J. Evans seconded.

Mr. A. D. Cullum opposed the motion on the ground that the present rule enabled the Guild to do all that the amendment would enable them to do. He disliked changing a good rule for a bad one. The rule, as it stood, was plain, simple and democratic, and they could get all they wanted from it. It did not say they must meet at Oxford every time. It was open to them at each annual meeting to say where they would meet each year. Why, therefore, should they tie their hands? If it was intended to push the resolution he would move, as an amendment, that they come to Oxford each year.

Mr. J. W. Wilkins supported the recommendation. He said it was absolutely necessary to alter the rule, and place each part of the diocese on the same basis.

Mr. H. Miles said while he was in favour of the Guild Festival being no longer held year by year at Oxford, because of the dissatisfaction it caused in one branch, he never anticipated they would go to the length of returning to the old state of affairs and go to all sorts of out-of-the-way places, thus adding to the difficulties of the officials in making arrangements for a large gathering. He was out for compromise, but not for going to the length proposed. He thought they should stick to the old rule.

A member pointed out there was no suggestion in the proposal to go to out-of-the-way places. They could find a big centre in each of the three Archdeacons. A lot of harm had been done by going to Oxford each year.

Miss Robinson suggested that the proposal should be made to read that the Guild meet in each of the three Archdeacons in rotation, and at Oxford every fourth year. She moved this as an amendment.

Mr. Hopgood pointed out that under the proposal of the committee they could come to Oxford every third year if they liked.

After further discussion, Miss Robinson's amendment was defeated by a large majority, only 18 voting for it.

Mr. A. D. Barker urged the members not to consider their personal feelings, but to vote for what was best in the interests of the Guild.

On being put to the meeting, 48 voted for the recommendation and 60 against, and it was accordingly declared lost.

Mr. Hopgood said the result would not debar him from bringing the matter forward again, and he gave notice that he would propose it at the first available opportunity.—Mr. Wilkins: I shall do my best to support it. It is not dealing fair with the other branches.

Mr. A. Barker then moved a recommendation by the General Committee: 'That the annual festival, 1926, be held in South Bucks, preferably in the neighbourhood of Slough.' He said he proposed that to give a little life to the branch.

Amendments in favour of Oxford and Reading were moved, and the voting was: Reading 2; Oxford 63; for the recommendation 53. Oxford was, therefore, declared selected.

On the motion of the Secretary, seconded by Mr. A. D. Cullum, the meeting approved of the recommendation of the committee that £3 3s. be granted from the Guild funds for the augmentation of Brighton bells, Berks.

A WORTHY HONOUR.

The Master then proposed 'That the Rev. R. H. Hart-Davis be made a vice-president of the Guild, in recognition of many years of good service.' He said they had all had experience of Mr. Hart-Davis's work, both as secretary and treasurer, and afterwards as treasurer only. He was also instrumental in starting the Sonning Deanery Branch, and was one of the prime movers of the Guild from the very beginning. He gave up the work when he was getting old, and now the Guild would like to honour him by electing him a vice-president (applause).

Canon Coleridge seconded, remarking that they could not do a more worthy honour to a more worthy man.

The motion was carried by acclamation.

The Rev. R. H. Hart-Davis thanked the Guild for the honour they had done him. He had, it was true, worked for the Guild on the administrative side, and on the finance side, but he was afraid he had done nothing for it on the ringing side. His election was rather a new departure, and he thought it was an excellent thing that they should have among their vice-presidents not merely names of gentlemen who were not in their neighbourhood, but names of those who had done some work for the Guild. He could not help very much hoping that the name of Mr. J. J. Parker would reappear next year as one of their vice-presidents. Mr. Parker and himself were the only two surviving members of the original committee formed in 1881, and he would feel very happy if Mr. Parker's name were honoured like his own. There was another name which would have been added had life continued, and that was the name of their old friend, Mr. Wm. Newell, who had gone to his rest. There were other names which might come later, men at present in full work, but who would fully deserve to be honoured when the time came, men like Canon Coleridge and Mr. Tom Hibbert (applause).

The confirmation of the election of 168 new members was agreed to, this being the largest number made for many years past.

Mr. Cullum referred to the steps taken in the Gloucester and Bristol Association with regard to getting cheap railway facilities for ringers (as reported in the last issue of 'The Ringing World'), and asked if the Guild could not join in the effort which was being made.

This was at once agreed to, and concluded the business.

The members and many friends, numbering altogether over 200, then adjourned to Christ Church Hall, where luncheon was served. Afterwards they dispersed for ringing at various towers, and throughout the remainder of the afternoon bells were pealing from many Oxford steeples. The twelve at the Cathedral were a centre of attraction, as were also the rings at Magdalen, New and Merton Colleges, while several rings of six were later utilised, St. Ebbe's, where the Washbrook Memorial bells are to be placed, being chief among these.

WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD. DEDICATION OF BELL, WOOLTON HILL.

On Saturday, July 18th, the new treble bell to complete the ring of six at Woolton Hill, Hanis, was dedicated by the Rev. T. Medlicott, Rural Dean and Vicar of Burghclere.

The work was carried out by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, who have made an excellent splice, the result being a handy little ring of six, with a 7½ cwt. tenor.

A very interesting address was given by the Rev. T. Medlicott, and mentioned the great work on behalf of change ringing of the late Sir A. Heywood, the brothers Snowden and Fabian Siedman.

Mr. Aird (churchwarden) very generously provided a splendid tea which was presided over by Mr. G. Williams. A vote of thanks was passed to the donor, and Mr. Williams congratulated the local band on getting the new bell, and said that there should now be no lack of interest, as the possibilities on six bells were almost inexhaustible to a keen hand, as had been shown by the Norbury company.

During the afternoon and evening touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Bob and Cambridge Surprise Minor were rung, and the first 720 Bob Minor was rung by the following: W. G. Edwards 1, — Balcombe 2, H. Balaam 3, — Barrett 4, G. Pullinger 5, G. Williams (conductor) 6.

In addition to a large number of parishioners, the following ringers were present: Mr. G. Williams (Master), Mr. G. Pullinger (general secretary), and Messrs. Scott, Balaam, Bevan, Rex (Woolton Hill), Edwards, Rowe (North Stoneham), Osler (Bramley), Hadkin (Newbury), Barrett (Willesden), Butler, Knapp, Juniper and Balcombe (Highclere).

Great praise is due to the local ringers for their untiring energy in raising the funds for the new bell, particularly to Mr. H. Balaam.

700th ANNIVERSARY.

CHAPEL-EN-LE-FRITH, DERBYSHIRE.

On July 7th, 1225, Alexander de Staverby, Bishop of Coventry and Lichfield, consecrated the Church of St. Thomas-a-Becket, at Chapel-en-le-Frith, and was at the time, as the name of the town now implies, the Chapel-in-the-Forest. Little of the original structure remains, it being rebuilt in the 14th century and again in the 18th. The building has at various times been put to uses its founders never intended. During the reign of Queen Elizabeth was utilised as a court of law and a prison; here, also, Cromwell confined 1,500 Scotch prisoners captured at the Battle of Ribbleson Moor, near Preston. The 700th anniversary was celebrated in characteristic style, special services being held, treats to old and young, an interesting item being the roasting of an ox in the Market Place. It had been intended to go for the peal on the 11th inst., but garden parties interfered; however, it was successfully brought round on Saturday, July 18th, and is duly recorded in the peal columns. The Vicar (the Rev. — Stredder) generously provided refreshments on its conclusion.

The bells are a ring of six by Rudhall, with a tenor approximately 12 cwt., and 'go' well. The curfew is rung each evening at 8 o'clock, except on Saturdays and Sundays, when it is tolled at 7 p.m.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.

PEAL BOARD DEDICATION.

On Saturday, July 18th, a most successful meeting of the Southern Branch was held at Hough-on-the-Hill, Grantham, 35 ringers being present from the neighbouring towers, including Grantham, Lincoln, Folkingham, Market Deeping, Orston, Barkston, and the local men. The bells were well used during the afternoon and evening, especially by the young ringers from Hough-on-the-Hill, many of whom are under 14 years of age, and who have every promise of becoming good change ringers in the near future.

Service was held in the church, being conducted by the Rector of Hough (the Rev. C. D. H. Moore), assisted by the Rev. C. J. Sturton, Vicar of Orston. During the service, the Rector dedicated a peal board, the gift of the Hough ringers, recording a peal of Minor, rung on Saturday, August 20th, 1921, in memory of Mr. John Hoyes, who for over 40 years was a ringer at that church. The Rev. C. J. Sturton occupied the pulpit, and gave a splendid address to the ringers.

It was decided to hold the October meeting at Stamford on the 3rd inst.—A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar for his kind welcome to the ringers, and to all those who helped to make the meeting a success.—The Secretary also reminded those present that the Church of All Saints has in the tower a very good frame for a peal of eight bells, and expressed the hope that before long two trebles would be added to the present six.

OBITUARY.

On July 10th, 1925, there passed away at Rye, Sussex, a loyal and faithful servant of the Church and an old bellringer, in the person of Charles Price, aged 75.

Born at Oxford in 1850, Mr. Price came to Rye as a Church Army Captain, and took up the duties of verger 36 years ago, retaining this office until his death. During this period he has, by a life of service and devotion to duty, become endeared to the hearts of all Ryeans and to many of those who frequently visit the 'Antient Towne,' and by his passing Rye has lost an honoured and respected citizen, and those who were so fortunate as to be intimately acquainted with him, a loyal and true friend in the highest sense of the word.

Mr. Price, who rang his first peal of Grandsire Triples at Rye on April 12th, 1902, was not a great peal ringer, but a regular Sunday service ringer, the occasions on which he was absent from the belfry being only those on which his duties as verger had to take precedence.

As a token of respect a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung by the local band with the bells half-muffled on Sunday evening, July 12th, and, after being borne to the Parish Church by six of the ringers for the first part of his funeral service on the 14th, 360 Grandsire Doubles were rung to his memory, with the bells fully muffled (tenor open at back stroke) while the funeral cortege was on its way to the cemetery.

MULTI-METHOD PEALS.

HOW TO RING THEM.

The ringing of numerous Minor methods, spliced into true 720's, is a form of ringing which is acknowledged to add immensely to the interest of six-bell practice, and yet it has at present been taken up only to a very limited degree. From time to time we have published the figures of the composite extents, but this does not seem to have conveyed sufficient information to enable Minor ringers generally to grasp the manner in which these 'spliced' peals are rung.

We believe that ringers have only to become more fully acquainted with the scheme by which a large number of methods can be pieced together and rung, to lead to a far larger practice in this direction. We have, therefore, induced Mr. John P. Fidler, of Norbury, Cheshire, one of the band who rang in the celebrated peal in 35 methods, to contribute a series of articles on the subject, which will describe the exact manner in which this company tackled and achieved their task. The basis of the articles is the methods appearing in the Central Council's 'Collection of Methods,' and a copy of this publication should at once be secured from the Hon. Librarian (the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn), Broadlands, Caversham, Reading. The price is only 1/2.

NEATH, GLAMORGANSHIRE.—On Tuesday, July 14th, at St. Thomas' Church, 720 Bob Minor, in 28 mins., with the bells half-muffled: A. Hutton 1, G. Lewis 2, J. Hammond 3, C. Hawkins 4, T. Scott 5, H. Boyce (conductor) 6. Rung to the memory of the members of St. Thomas' Church, who fell in the Great War, on the occasion of the unveiling of the tablet erected in the church to their memory.

RINGERS' OUTINGS.

ST. MARTIN'S SOCIETY, LEICESTER.

The annual outing of the above took place on Saturday, July 18th. Monk's Kirby, Warwickshire, was the first goal. The church is an old imposing structure of the 14th century. The bells, hitherto six, have been augmented to eight, and rehung in an iron frame by Taylor, making a fine ring, with tenor of 24 cwt. Courses of London, Bristol, Treble Bob—the latter in which the Vicar took part—and touches of Stedman Triples were struck off to the satisfaction of both ringers and listeners. At Burbage, some seven miles distant, where a new ring of eight had been installed, the bells, with tenor of 14 cwt., were raised, and Cambridge, Superlative, and Premier were rung. Tea was taken on the cricket ground, where a match was in progress. After tea, a return to the tower was made by those who wanted more ringing. A move was then made for Hinckley, a neighbouring town, where a newly-recast ring of eight had been installed.

It was at the White Hart that the company foregathered after the ringing had ceased, and the Club Room was called into requisition. Handbell ringing, tunes and changes, with songs, filled the bill until it was time to leave for Leicester. 'Bill' Humphreys entertaining the company in his own inimitable way. Well satisfied with the outing, the party wishes to thank the incumbents, chief ringers and Mr. W. H. Poole, the indefatigable secretary, for the arrangements made on its behalf.

HASLEMERE, SURREY.

On July 11th the Haslemere ringers, including the Rector (Rev. W. Wragge), the Rev. O. S. Walford and Major J. H. B. Hesse, held their annual outing, which took the form of a very enjoyable day in the Isle of Wight. Upon arriving at Ryde, a charabanc trip was arranged, and the party proceeded to Newport. Here the ringers were met by Mr. W. Upton, and a touch of Grandsire Triples and Bob Major was brought round. After lunch the journey was continued to Niton, where the party were entertained by Miss Jackson. Afterwards Ventnor, Shanklin, Sandown and Brading were visited. At Brading the ringers were met by Mr. Paine. A touch each of Grandsire, Bob Major and Kent Treble Bob Major was rung here, and, with the help of Mr. Ward, from Ryde, a course of Stedman Triples was also accomplished. After tea at Ryde the party left for home, which was reached about 10.30. Many thanks are due to the ringers who met the company, and the only regret was that Mr. T. Mack, one of the oldest and respected members, was not well enough to attend.

HILLINGDON RINGERS IN SURREY.

On Saturday, July 18th, the combined bands of St. John's, Hillingdon, and St. Andrew's, Hillingdon West, held their first outing. The party left Hillingdon shortly after 2 p.m., by charabanc, passing through Harlington to Kingston, and thence by an enjoyable ride through Ewell and Burgh Heath. A halt was made at the top of Reigate Hill, the party afterwards proceeding to the Parish Church, where they were met by one of the local ringers. The bells were soon going to Grandsire and Stedman Caters.

A very enjoyable à fresco tea was partaken of.—A vote of thanks was passed to the incumbents of Reigate and Betchworth for the use of their bells; also to the steeplekeepers of those towers for their kind assistance.

Through the medium of the 'Ringing World,' the ringers wish to record a hearty vote of thanks to the organiser of the outing, Miss P. M. Moss, for so kindly making the necessary arrangements.

STOWMARKET.

The Stowmarket company held their annual outing on Saturday, July 11th. The party, numbering 14, leaving Stowmarket by motor, first called at Eye. Here they were met by Messrs. E. F. Poppey, H. Day and J. Souther. The bells were soon set going, and some good touches were brought round. The next place to be visited was Redenhall, where Mr. F. R. Borrett was waiting to welcome the company. Before leaving, the grand old peal of handbells at the Yew Tree were put through a few touches, and the party left for Beccles, where, unfortunately, the Beccles company were on their outing, but thanks to them everything was all ready. With the help of Messrs. J. Souther and F. R. Borrett a short touch on the ten bells was brought round. Leaving Beccles after lunch, the return journey was made via Diss, where more ringing was done, and a splendid tea was served. After this more ringing was enjoyed, and then the handbells were brought into use, several of the local company joining in to spend a very pleasant evening. After a splendid day's outing, home was reached about 11 p.m. The company, through the 'Ringing World' wish to thank the various clergy for the use of the bells; also to all those who helped to make the outing such a success. The methods rung during the day were Treble Bob, Double Norwich, Grandsire Caters, Stedman and Grandsire Triples, and Bob Major.

ST. GILES', READING.

On Saturday last, the ringers of the above church, and their friends, enjoyed a half-day's outing. The party proceeded to Newbury, where the fine old parish church peal of eight were soon going merrily in Stedman, Oxford Treble Bob and Double Norwich. Mr. Curtis, the tower foreman, afterwards joining the visitors in bringing home a well-struck touch of Bob Major. Subsequently the party enjoyed tea, and later proceeded over Bucklebury Common to its parish church, where the well-tuned but lighter ring of eight in this old tower were rung in various methods. Four local ringers took part, including the veteran, Mr. Davis, and also Mr. Matthews, who called a musical touch of Stedman of his own composition, and considering he is almost blind, his own accurate striking was wonderful. The party visited Bradfield, and a very pleasant hour was spent. Home was reached at 10.30, all having thoroughly enjoyed the excursion. Thanks of the band are due to the Rectors of the towers visited for kind permission to use the bells, also to Mr. A. W. Osborne, the foreman, for arranging the outing.

SHEFFIELD CATHEDRAL.

The Sheffield Cathedral company had their annual outing on Saturday, July 11th, Liverpool being chosen as the place of entertainment. Proceeding by train, the objective was reached at 12.30 p.m., where the party was met by Mr. Claude J. Davies, who kindly acted as guide throughout the day. The famous Cathedral was first visited, after which lunch was served. Lunch over, the party proceeded to the Princess landing stage to board the steamer for Rock Ferry, and thence by tram to Port Sunlight.

Several touches of Stedman and Double Norwich were duly accomplished on this nice peal of eight, after which a further walk through the village brought them to the Church of Bevington.

The bells are a light peal of eight, with an excellent 'go' about them, but the tone not very good. Touches of Stedman, Superlative and Double Norwich were brought round, after which tea was enjoyed. Returning across the river, St. Nicholas was reached in good time. Here the company met a number of local ringers. Ringing to the tune of Stedman, Cambridge and London Surprise, an hour was quite sufficient to satisfy desires for further ringing. An adjournment was then made for conversation with the Liverpool friends.

The company wish to thank the local ringers at the various churches for their kindness in meeting the party, the clergy for the use of the bells, and Mr. C. J. Davies for his services as guide; whilst our special thanks are again tendered to Mr. Geo. R. Newton for his trouble in so kindly making all arrangements.

WARMINSTER.

On Saturday, July 18th, the ringers of the Minster Church, Warminster, together with a few friends, visited Bournemouth for their annual outing. The party, numbering 16, including the Rev. J. Lee-Warner (curate), left Warminster by charabanc at 8 a.m. Proceeding via Fordingbridge, the first halt was made at the church, where the party was met by Mr. W. Lockyer. Touches of Grandsire Triples were rung, and the journey then resumed, Bournemouth being reached about 11.30 a.m. After lunch, the company broke up to spend the afternoon in various ways, reassembling at 4 p.m. for tea. A move was afterwards made to St. Peter's Church, where special permission had been granted the visitors to ring for evensong. This favour was much appreciated, and Grandsire and Stedman Triples were rung.

Leaving Bournemouth at 5.45 p.m., the first stop on the homeward journey was at Ringwood, where ringing was enjoyed. Arriving at Salisbury, St. Thomas' Church was visited, this being 'the last item on the programme.' Warminster was reached at 10.30 p.m., all the party having thoroughly enjoyed the outing. The ringers wish, through the 'Ringing World,' to thank the incumbents for the use of the bells, also the towerkeepers for having everything in readiness.

LINSLADE, BUCKS.

On Saturday, July 25th, the Linslade ringers held their annual outing, travelling to Hardwick, where the handy little ring of six bells were soon going to Grandsire Doubles and Bob Minor. After an hour's ringing the party visited Aylesbury for tea. Then on to Stoke Mandeville, where the visitors were welcomed by Mr. H. E. Whitbread, late of St. Albans, and other local ringers, with whom Grandsire Doubles, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Minor were rung. The next stopping-place was Tring, where a meeting was being held by the Western district of the Hertfordshire County Association. Here touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob and a course of Duffield Major by mixed bands were rung. The Linslade ringers wish to thank the Vicars and foremen for their hearty welcome, and the secretary and members of the Western district of the Herts Association.

ST. MARY-LE-TOWER, IPSWICH.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Comparisons are proverbially odious, and to blow one's own trumpet is worse, but as the Ipswich St. Mary-le-Tower Society and its performances have been mentioned somewhat freely of late in the 'Ringing World,' perhaps this letter from one of its members may be forgiven; apart from which the record which follows is worthy of note, and will probably prove of interest to your many readers who hail from, or have visited, East Anglia and Ipswich.

From January, 1921, to December, 1922, the society rang peals in the following methods: Double Norwich Maximus, Royal and Major, Cambridge Maximus, Royal and Major, Kent Maximus, Royal and Major, Plain Bob Royal, Stedman Cinques and Triples, Grandsire Cinques and Caters; and on Easter Sunday, 1921, courses of Cambridge Maximus, and Double Norwich Maximus were rung for the morning service. The ringers in each case were regular Sunday Service ringers. This is a great record, and it is safe to say that not many bands have accumulated such a list of performances in the short space of two years.—Yours truly,

CHAS. J. SEDGLEY.

THE ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

On Saturday, July 25th, a meeting of the South-Eastern Division was held at Danbury. Although only a five-bell tower, a fair attendance of members were present from Maldon, Feering, Bloomfield, Braintree, Chelmsford, Sandon, Great Baddow, and the local company. A short service, with address by the Vicar (the Rev. J. B. Plumtree), was held previous to the meeting. After tea, meeting was held, and eight new members were made, including three ladies, and it was decided to hold the next meeting at Rayleigh in August, and the annual district meeting at Springfield.—The Master expressed his appreciation of the representative attendance at a five-bell tower, stating that it proved to the local company and the adjoining five-bell tower at Sandon that the attendance of members from eight-bell towers was evidence the association were just as interested in the five-bell towers as those more fortunate parishes which possessed larger rings.

RINGERS' OUTINGS.

EDGBASTON.

The Edgbaston ringers held their annual outing on Saturday, June 27th. Passing Alvechurch, Redditch was reached, then to Inkberrow. Permission having been obtained, the bells were soon going. Alcester was visited, but the call proved fruitless, as they could not use the bells. The next call was the pretty village of Norton, where a few touches were brought round. At Evesham the party had time for a visit to the bell tower and other interesting places. Lunch was served in Evesham. A visit was paid to Bretford, the tune and 'go' of the bells being complimented by all. The interesting Cotswold village of Chipping Campden was visited, and tea was partaken here. A few local ringers were found, and the bells were tried to Grandsire Triples.

The return journey was made by way of Stratford-on-Avon, Henley-in-Arden and Shirley.

The party wish here to thank the incumbents for kindnesses shown.

ST. MARGARET'S, WESTMINSTER.

On Saturday, July 4th, the ringers of St. Margaret's, Westminster, held their outing. A start was made at 1.30 by train for Hollingbourne, Kent, from whence a walk brought the party to the old-world village of Leeds. A few touches were rung, including Cambridge Royal and a course of Bristol Major, on the back of the peal. After tea more ringing was done, and a presentation made to one of the party. A start was then made for Maidstone by car. Arriving at Maidstone, everything was in readiness for more ringing, and some excellent touches were brought round, including Bristol Major and Cambridge Royal. The Vicar personally welcomed the party to Maidstone. An adjournment was made for a light refreshment, and the 9.10 p.m. train from Maidstone was joined for London, 38 miles away, which was reached in two hours and ten minutes.

Through the medium of this paper the party wish to thank the Vicars of Leeds and Maidstone for the use of the bells, the respective steeplekeepers for having everything in readiness, and, lastly, its worthy conductor for making such excellent arrangements and ensuring such an enjoyable day.

PORTMADOC.

The local band would be very pleased to meet any ringers visiting the district and wishing to have a touch on the bells on Sundays, or any evening, if they would kindly communicate with P. Roberts, 'Cambria,' Station Road, Portmadoc.

On July 20th, Mr. J. H. Sheppard, of Swindon, visited Portmadoc, when touches of Grandsire, Stedman and Kent Treble Bob were rung during the evening.

IN THE FAR EAST.

'UNCLE JOE' AMONG THE CHINESE.

From distant Manchuria, Mr. J. E. Sykes writes that the suggested Railwaymen's Guild would not fail for want of efficient officials. Two Guild secretaries, at least, he says, are real elephants for ringing work: J. W. J. and C. T. C. to wit. He adds: 'Good luck to its inception—and what about a Campanological 'Savage Club,' with the captain of the 'Saorise' as R.W.M.? I think I know a dozen or so who are qualified for membership.' When he returns, 'Uncle Joe' will have to set about organising the ringing 'Savages.'

In another letter Mr. Sykes writes: Your issue of May 8th to hand, with account of that first Chinese 'gorge.' It was rather a 'sultry' evening, and I almost thought I was at the 'Nelson,' but I am used to them now, and they come off once a week. They are really 'chest benders' every time. Your note re my early efforts with the 'chao sticks' was rather apt; you must have been there in the spirit. It is rather disconcerting just as you have prided yourself on how cleverly you have annexed a succulent slug and steered it to within an inch of your mouth to drop it down your Sunday waistcoat, and have to fish it out of your lap with your fingers and try to look as if nothing untoward had happened. That is what you would call missing a bob before. Anyhow, I didn't forget to go 'in quick' when the jug came round!

I have secured half a dozen very fine chopsticks, as used by the rich Chinese ladies. One pair is to be foisted on to Mrs. Editor, and two more pairs are destined for two ladies well known in ringing circles in a certain Midlands' city. There will be no prizes for correct guesses, so don't all rush up with your solutions, my merry readers. I have also got a complete Chinese writer's outfit, seal and all, sir, for one wight known as 'I. Pistor.' He has evidently worn his old one out, so I haste to supply a new one of correct design. We cannot do without our little 'Reneas,' bless him.

My congratulations to my namesake, Joe, on that camel-driving job he did, but why he has got the hump, I don't know. It has been my ambition for many years to ring one of Minor on that bell. Apart from its weight, it is worth standing under to hear Perdue's jewel. On my return, I must get Bro. Joe to ask me down for a week to sample a few: Queen Camel, Bradford-on-Avon, Frome, Warminster and Wells preferred, and I think I shall have earned a holiday at the string-end when I finish here. With all these riots and scraps on, it is unhealthy, and people get hurt, but I am on velvet and keep smiling, as you will see by the enclosed photograph.

The photograph shows our correspondent looking very cheerful in native costume, and engaged in playing 'the ancient and honourable game of Mah-Jong,' with a Jap friend and two of the ladies, O'Hara San and O'Kimee San, who minister to his wants.

'Uncle Joe' concludes his letter by sending his respects to all friends. 'Tell them,' he says, 'the Far East is all one reads of it, but—oh, for three courses at St. Paul's.'

He encloses photos of some of the tombs of the Manchu emperors and another of a pagoda, 800 years old, and containing several ancient bells, which he has inspected. 'Why in the name of goodness,' he comments, 'the of England' does not emigrate out here, passes my comprehension. Everything to suit his tastes in heavy bells, and plenty of 'em, too.'

ST. NICHOLAS, KING'S NORTON, OUTING.

The annual outing of the St. Nicholas, King's Norton, ringers was held on June 27th. Leaving King's Norton at an early hour by charabanc, they proceeded to Tewkesbury, and by 9.30 a.m. were ringing the bells of the fine old Abbey Church. After spending about an hour in this tower a move was made into the Cotswold country to Stow-on-the-Wold. Here they found a peal which had recently received the attention of Messrs. Taylor, of Loughborough. Several touches were brought round. The afternoon was spent in visiting the towers of Blockley and Chipping Campden, and concluded with tea at Shipston-on-Strour. The party then proceeded to Warwick, where the beautiful bells of St. Mary's Church were rung.

During the day several methods were rung and appreciated by members of the various local bands, but that which apparently delighted them most was the way in which Mr. P. O. Lallin turned the tenors into touches of Cambridge Surprise Major.

A very enjoyable day was spent, King's Norton being reached about 11 p.m.

THE PARTING OF THE WAYS.

There is always a touch of sadness at parting with old and well tried servants, and there must have been such a feeling among the members of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association, when, at their annual meeting, both the Master (the Rev. Prebendary C. C. Parker) and the Hon. Secretary (Mr. E. E. Burgess) resigned their respective offices. They have each served the association for nineteen years, having been appointed at the same meeting, and now they are going out of office together. They have seen the association through some of its most difficult years—the years of the war—and they have the satisfaction of knowing that they are leaving it not only re-established on a solid foundation, but in as sound a position as it has ever been at any time. The Bath and Wells Association has 142 towers in union, and a total membership of over 1,600, while its funds amount to more than £140. This is an eminently satisfactory condition, especially when it is remembered that Somerset, from the ringers' standpoint, labours under the same difficulty that handicaps other South-Western counties, namely, lack of means of ready inter-communication. Thanks, however, to the system of well organised branches, the association has been able to reach the ringers of the diocese in a very effective manner, and the Master and Hon. Secretary go out of office knowing that they leave to their successors an association strongly welded by a spirit of loyalty, and one which is making headway in method ringing.

It is often difficult to find suitable men to fill with competence vacancies such as those which have now arisen in the Bath and Wells Diocese, but the members can, we believe, look forward with confidence to the future under the guidance of the two men they have selected to follow the Rev. Preb. C. C. Parker and Mr. Burgess. In their new Master they have a practical ringing-parson, and in Mr. J. T. Dyke, as hon. secretary, they have one of the most enthusiastic and capable ringers in the West. They are fortunate in having at their service a man so well fitted in every respect for the task, and are to be congratulated upon making such an excellent choice. If, as the retiring Master said, he believed the introduction of new blood would be beneficial to the association, then, with the two men elected, the association ought to rise to a high pinnacle among the ringing organisations of the country. Beginning from an already satisfactory position, the new officers have an excellent foundation to build on, and we are certain that the new secretary, on whom the bulk of the work must necessarily fall, will not fail to leave his mark on the future of the association.

THE HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

WESTERN DISTRICT.

The July meeting was held at Tring on the 25th, but, although the weather was perfect, it would have been a failure had it not been for the presence of members outside the district. Only five district members attended, plus the local band and the secretary. The others, who received a cordial welcome, came from Dunstable, Houghton Regis, Clifton, St. Albans, Hitchin and Oxhey. These were supplemented in the evening by the Linslade (Bucks) band, who had arranged their outing in order to visit this association.

The methods rung during the day were: Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Kent and Duffield Major. A short service was held at 5 p.m., conducted by the Rev. S. Meade, who gave a very instructive address.

After tea the business meeting took place, the Rev. Meade kindly taking the chair. One new member from Tring was elected. The motion, 'as announced for the opinion of the district' in 'The Ringing World,' was carried, after a slight verbal alteration. Apsley End was chosen as the next meeting-place on the second Saturday in September. A hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells, the Rev. Meade for his splendid address, the organist for her services, and Mr. F. Reeve for making all preparations concluded the meeting. Four members then rang two courses of Plain Bob on handbells, after which the gathering adjourned to the tower for more ringing.

The Western District members are urged to support their own district and county association.

THE SWANSEA AND BRECON DIOCESAN GUILD.

YOUNG ASSOCIATION MAKES HEADWAY.

The Guild's second annual meeting was held on Saturday, July 11th, in the parish of Sketty, Glamorgan, when the tower of St. Paul's Church (eight bells) was open for ringing from 10 a.m. The towers of St. Mary's, Swansea, and St. Catherine's, Gorseinon, were also open for ringing, and full advantage was taken of the opportunity. The towers represented at the meeting were Brecon, Cadoxton, Llanstephan, Aberavon, Morriston, Neath, Llanelly, Gorseinon, Talgarth, and Swansea.

A short service was held in St. Paul's Church at 3.30 p.m., when the Lord Bishop of the Diocese (Dr. E. L. Bevan) preached to the ringers present. The local branch of the Mothers' Union was also present at the service. The Archdeacon of Gower read the lesson, and the Rev. Canon R. J. Stewart intoned the service, the surpliced choir being also in attendance. During the course of his address, the Bishop said the Guild of Ringers represented those who were making a free contribution to the church life of their diocese. The work was not by any means new, and they had only to see some of the bells in their towers—for instance, that bell which was no longer in use at Llanillo, Breconshire—to realise the work to which they had contributed for a long period of time. Nothing was more encouraging to the devotional life of the church than the cheerful sound of the bells. In the exercise of their high privilege, ringers were making a vital contribution towards the devotional life of the people of the land.

The company afterwards adjourned to the Church Hall, where they were entertained to tea by Canon and Mrs. H. J. Stewart, the members of the Mothers' Union (local branch) being also entertained. The Lord Bishop proposed a very hearty vote of thanks to Canon and Mrs. Stewart for the sumptuous repast, and this was seconded by the Ven. Archdeacon of Gower, and the applause which followed showed the ringers' appreciation of the good things which had been provided for them.—Mrs. Stewart suitably responded.

The general meeting was afterwards held in a field adjoining the church, where the ringers sat down under some magnificent specimens of oak trees. The Lord Bishop presided, and he was supported by the Ven. Archdeacon of Gower, Canon H. J. Stewart, the Rev. W. J. Thomas, Gorseinon; the Rev. J. Rowland Thomas, Llanstephan; the Rev. T. R. J. Jones, Brecon, and other clergy. The minutes of the last annual meeting were read, and after approval, were duly signed by the Bishop. The Lord Bishop was unanimously re-elected president, and the vice-presidents (the Rev. Canon E. A. T. Roberts, Sub-Dean, Canon H. J. Stewart, the Archdeacon of Gower, the Archdeacon of Brecon, and the Rev. E. M. Cole-Hamilton) were also re-elected. Mr. J. Hammond (Neath) was elected Master of the Guild, and Messrs. W. R. Howells and Charles Powell were re-elected hon. secretary and hon. treasurer respectively. The committee elected consisted of Messrs. W. T. Hargest (Brecon), W. H. Bicknell (Builth Wells), Chas. Powell (Llangatock), W. D. Griffiths (Talgarth), C. Morse (Sketty), D. J. Williams (Gorseinon), E. Stith (Aberavon), J. P. Hyett (Glasbury), George Morris (Llanstephan), George Lewis (Morriston), D. J. Lewis (Cadoxton), S. T. Rackham (Llanelly), Rev. T. R. J. Jones (Brecon) and Mrs. E. G. Bellringer (Baglan).

The Hon. Treasurer presented his report for the year ending 31st December last, and this was adopted by the Guild. It was encouraging to note that there was a decided increase in the membership of the Guild, as well as in the honorary and life members.

The Hon. Secretary presented his report, dealing with the number of peals rung during the year and various other matters.

Washbrook Memorial.—The Hon. Secretary read a circular he had received from the Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, and it was unanimously carried that a contribution of 10s. be made from the funds of the Guild in addition to a collection to be taken at the end of the meeting. This collection realised £1 5s. 9d., and the secretary was asked to forward the money to the proper quarter.

Central Council representative.—The Master of the Guild (Mr. J. Hammond) was elected the Guild's representative on the Central Council, and in the event of his being unable to attend, the hon. secretary was asked to deputise.

The next annual meeting was fixed to take place at Brecon on the first Saturday in July, 1926.

The next ringing competition is to take place at Baglan on the 22nd May, 1926, and the preliminary arrangements with regard to methods, etc., were left in the hands of the committee.

The Master of the Guild undertook the secretarial duties for the Southern District, and Mr. E. G. Matthews was elected as Northern District secretary.

Upon a vote being taken, it was resolved that two-thirds of the balance in the hands of district secretaries, after paying all their expenses, etc., during the year, be handed over to the funds of the Guild.

Messrs. W. H. Fussell (Slough) and A. Hatton (Neath) were elected life members of the Guild, and the Rev. Canon Griffith Thomas, Morriston, the Rev. J. L. Thomas and Mr. A. L. David were elected hon. members.

A vote of thanks to the Lord Bishop for his address at the service, and for presiding over the meeting, was unanimously carried, and the company then dispersed to the towers, where touches of Grandsire, Kent, Stedman, Double Norwich and Plain Bob were well rung.

A committee meeting of the Guild afterwards considered designs of a membership card which had been submitted by Mr. W. H. Fussell, and the hon. secretary was requested to communicate the committee's wishes thereon to the donor.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.

EASTERN BRANCH.

The quarterly meeting of the above was held on July 25th at Tattershall. Members were present from Benington, Boston, Butterwick, Frampton, Skirbeck, Stickney, Old Leake, Wigtoft, and friends from Spalding, Surfleet, Grimsby and Heckington. Ringing commenced about 3.30 p.m., and at 4.15 p.m. a short service was conducted by the President (Rev. J. R. Trotter, Vicar of Freiston-with-Butterwick). The address at this service was given by the Rev. H. Law James, Master of the Lincoln Guild. Tea was partaken of by 30 members and friends.

The business meeting was held immediately after tea, the President (Rev. J. R. Trotter) being in the chair. One new member was elected. Kilton was unanimously selected as the place for the next meeting, to be held in October. A vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar for the use of the bells, to which one of the churchwardens responded, owing to the Vicar's absence. The tower was again visited, but the ringing could not be made enjoyable on account of the bad 'go' of the bells. The Rector of Coningsby met the ringers during the afternoon, and invited them to visit Coningsby tower. At 6.30 p.m. the bells at Tattershall were lowered in peal, and all repaired to Coningsby. Here the bells were found in better 'going' condition than at Tattershall, with the exception of the treble, and touches of Cambridge, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob and Plain Bob Minor were successfully brought round.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A party of ringers of the above from Gravesend, Northfleet and Milton towers paid a visit to Faversham tower on Sunday, July 26th. Leaving Gravesend at 8 a.m., the journey was made by charabanc, arriving at Faversham Church at 9.50 a.m. The local band met the party, and the bells, being ready, a start for a quarter-peal of Grandsire was made and well rung in 45 minutes for morning service.

After ringing the ringers and friends were very kindly entertained to a light lunch by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph, which was much appreciated. Mr. J. Avis, in thanking them on behalf of the ringers, asked Mr. and Mrs. Ralph to accept a small present as a token of appreciation. To Mrs. Ralph a pair of photo frames, Mr. Ralph tobacco and Tommy some chocolate. Mrs. Ralph stating it had been a pleasure, and hoped to see all again at some future date. Gravesend was safely reached at 1.45.

Ringers of quarter-peal, 1260 changes: 1 John Avis, 2 Edward Beer, junr., 3 Wm. Beer, 4 Richard Smith, 5 Guy Ambrose (cond.), 6 William Ware, 7 George Morrad, 8 Edward Hadlow. The ringers take this opportunity of thanking the local band for their kindness.

RINGING IN SOUTH AFRICA.

On June 10th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung at St. Mary's Church, Woodstock, near Capetown, by the following: 1 I. Wright, 2 L. Green, 3 J. Wood, 4 N. Foster, 5 E. Gustafson (conductor), 6 H. Wright. This, writes Mr. Ernest Gustafson, is the first time for many years that change ringing has been done at the above church, and it was arranged as a birthday compliment to the Rector (the Rev. S. B. Hirdliff) and on the occasion of the diamond jubilee of the church.

The writer has for many years tried to raise a band of ringers, but met with poor success, and great credit is due to the young men, who worked hard to master ringing, and who are all local residents.

Thanks are due to Mr. F. Heywood May, who, on passing through Capetown on his way to Durban, very kindly explained the calling to the conductor; also Mr. Green, who is an old ringer, and has given unsparingly of his time.

I should like very much to say through you, that if any ringers leaving England to settle in or near Capetown, would kindly call on us and give us their assistance, it will be very highly appreciated.

We are very anxious to commence on Grandsire Triples, but are unable to do so on account of lack of members; but, in the meantime, we are plodding along at Bob Minor, and trust, with a certain amount of luck, to ring full 720s shortly.

We are so proud of our performance that we must let you know what we are doing and what we hope to do. Our ambition is to ring a full peal.

CHARING, KENT.—On Sunday morning, August 2nd, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes) was rung in 47 mins.: A. V. Good 1, W. Henniker 2, W. Good 3, J. Edwards 4, F. Good (conductor) 5, J. Colbreay 6.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

MANCROFT TENOR—THOMAS HURRY—NORWICH TOWERS.

By J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

It was something of a shock to be told that Mancroft tenor is now only thirty-seven hundredweights and a bit. That is a big drop from the forty-three hundredweights we thought she was, and even from the forty-one hundredweights which it seems she actually was before the recent rehangings. And the decline in her position among the big ringing bells is still more striking. Thirty years ago the Norwich ring ranked fifth among the twelve bell peals; only St. Paul's Cathedral, St. Saviour's, Southwark; Bow, Cheapside; in London; and York and Worcester Cathedrals were heavier. Exeter and Wells Cathedrals and Manchester Town Hall had weightier ten bell peals, and Sherborne Abbey a weightier eight bell peal. Now there are somewhere about a score ringing peals with heavier tenors.

This difference has been brought about partly by the casting of new bells, but almost as much by the reduction of the weight of the bell, through tuning and having her cannons cut off. I believe she is the only bell in the tower that has been tuned; and it is worthy of remark that she is the only one that does not belong to the original ring of twelve. They were cast by Pack and Chapman in 1775, and were at once universally acknowledged as the finest ringing peal in England. It is quite a matter of opinion whether they have been equalled by any of the modern and heavier peals.

On July 13th, 1814, the old tenor was broken during ringing, by the clapper coming out, and was recast by Thomas Mears. The new bell was always considered not quite as good as the others, but I hear that retuning has improved her. That is all to the good, but it is a great relief to know that the other eleven have not been touched.

Everyone knows that the old Norwich Scholars were for more than a century almost, if not quite, the leading band in England. But though they had plenty of good ringers and plenty of heavy-bell ringers, only one single-handed peal was rung on the bells from 1775 to 1892. Heavy-bell ringing in the old days was a different thing from what it is now. Nowadays frames are put together in the foundry and properly levelled up, gudgeons are turned up true on the stock in a lathe, and ball or roller bearings are fitted. Then, everything was done by hand, and in the tower. Often a bell would not go at all well until she had been rung a lot, and had worn the bearings, or until the brasses had worked loose on the frame, and so formed a sort of 'self-aligning bearings.' The actual physical strength required to ring a big bell was usually far greater than at present. With modern hanging the bell runs much freer, and is much more responsive to slight alterations in the amount of pull. Far less strength is required, but probably more skill and brain work. You have to know not only the exact amount of pull to give her, but also the exact time when to check her. This last is, perhaps, the more important of the two.

It was not for want of trying that Norwich tenor was never rung single-handed. Several attempts were made, and early in the nineteenth century a certain John Trowse nearly rang her to a peal of Bob Major, but became exhausted, and had to stop. Trowse with his brother's help, had already rung her to 6,240 of Oxford Treble Bob Maximus.

The first man who did ring her was Thomas Hurry, who turned her in to a peal of Oxford Treble Bob Royal. This was considered a marvellous performance in heavy bell ringing, as no doubt it was, and Hurry took steps to prevent its ever being beaten by forbidding anyone even to make the attempt. Years afterwards, so the tale goes, a man of the name of Smith wished to try and ring her single-handed to a peal. Hurry apparently could not be left out, and was induced to start by the pretence that they were going for a long touch. All went well for a time, and the end seemed in sight, till the old man woke up to what they were about. He set his bell, and, turning to the tenorman, said: 'Never as long as I live!' And it was never as long as he lived.

Smith was one of a family of ringers, all fine heavy-bell men. His son George, had, I think, the best and easiest style of any big bell ringer I have ever known. He was the first man who rang Mancroft tenor to a 5,000 of Major, but the peal was not completed, or was false for some reason or other—calling or shift of course—and could not stand.

Thomas Hurry was for years the leading man in Mancroft tower, and among Norwich ringers. He was no conductor, though he called a peal or two, and no composer, though you will find a few compositions of his in Hubbard's book, but he seems to have been rather better to do than the rest, and to have been of a very masterful disposition—a man who intended and managed to get his own way. Mr. Henry Hains told me that he remembered, when a young man, Hurry, who was of big, heavy build, and then very old and broken, ringing the second at Mancroft half sitting on a high chair, which he used to support himself when ringing.

He was by trade a weaver. Weaving was then the staple industry of Norwich, and the Norwich Weavers the best in England. But, he had other activities, including bell hanging. Among others, he hung the two trebles at St. Andrew's, Norwich. The bell frame at that church is about as weird a one as you will find anywhere. First there was a five-bell frame, set corner-wise in the tower. On that a frame was built up to make the ring into eight. And on the top of this Hurry perched his two trebles. The ropes came down just anyhow. The ninth was opposite the tenor; the treble opposite the second, and generally in ringing rounds you had to follow someone on the other side of the tower. It was here that the first peal of London Surprise Major was rung. Of course, in ringing London you would not notice the ropes being out of regular order so much as you would if you were ringing Bob Major or Treble Bob. But it would make the conductor's job a hard one if he were trying to do anything more than bob-calling.

Hurry had some trouble over the two trebles. He was steep-keeper at the tower, and the idea of making the bells a ring of ten was his own. It seems he approached the church authorities on the matter, and having got what he thought was their consent ordered and then hung the bells. But when he sent in his bill they repudiated the whole affair. They were quite ready to thank him for his generous gift, but as to paying, not a bit of it! That is how I heard the tale, but if you ask me how much of it is true, all I can say is that, in these notes, I am not on my oath.

The bells are still in St. Andrew's tower, and the frame is still there, and the visitor to Norwich who is sufficiently curious may see it; but the bells have long since been totally unringable. I don't think they have been rung since, in my young days, I and one or two more got together a band to try them.

What struck me very forcibly when I was last in Norwich was the disgraceful and filthy condition of so many of the towers. The condition of Mancroft, both bells and belfry, is all it should be, and so is that of the eights at St. John's and St. Miles. But the others, the eight at St. Giles' and the sixes and fives are in a shocking condition.

Once was the time when on a Sunday morning every bell in Norwich was chimed. There are nearly forty churches in the old city, a goodly proportion of them with rings of three and upwards, and the general effect was striking and pleasing. Now, unless I am mistaken, they do not seem even to chime the threes and fives and sixes. Yet the churches themselves seem better cared for than ever they were.

The old Norwich Scholars were a curious, and, from our point of view, not very attractive lot. They certainly drank too much, but we have no right to judge them hardly for that. Excessive drinking was the vice of all classes in England during the eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries, and there is not the slightest reason, notwithstanding the many hard things that have been said of them, to think that the old ringers were any worse than others. They certainly were very uncouth and rough to visitors. If you were a skilled ringer, and known to be such, well and good. Otherwise you did not get much chance of a pull. And young ringers did not get much chance. They could go to practice after practice, and sit on the benches and look on. It was only when there was a short meeting that they had any opportunity.

Two old customs show something of the state of affairs. On old year's night it was the custom for the parson, churchwardens, and leading parishioners, to pay for the filling of a big earthenware jug with a potent and subtle compound called 'hot pot,' and to join the ringers in drinking it in the belfry.

Assize week was the great ringing time. The bells were rung on the arrival of the judge, and off and on during the whole time he was in the city. Ringers would come up from different parts of Norfolk, and the time would be spent partly in the tower, and the rest in the public-house. There were no closing times then. The ringers would sleep and eat where they could, some not taking off their clothes the whole time.

The worst of the old traditions died out with the last of the old school, nearly fifty years ago. The best of the old traditions, good ringing, and especially good striking, survived for many years.

NORTH NOTTS ASSOCIATION.

The ringers of North Notts held their first meeting at Laxton on Saturday, July 11th. The gathering was largely attended, 16 towers being represented, there being 43 ringers and friends present. The bells of St. Michael's were at the disposal of ringers from 2 p.m. to 8.30 p.m., and Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob Minor, Oxford and Kent and Cambridge and London Surprise were rung. Tea, presided over by the Vicar of Laxton, was served to 43. The business meeting followed, the Vicar in the chair. The Rev. F. W. J. Daniels, Rector of North Wheatley, was elected a vice-president and honorary member. The next meeting will be held at East Markham on Saturday, September 19th, and will be advertised in this paper. A vote of thanks, to which the Vicar suitably replied, was accorded to him for use of the bells and presiding over the tea and meeting.

Further ringing was enjoyed until the rope of the second bell broke, cutting short a touch of Cambridge Surprise.

NOMENCLATURE.To the Editor.*

Dear Sir,—Surely Mr. Trollope must have felt that he has a bad case, before he allowed his usual judicial discretion to leave him, as in his last letter. Most of the things he abuses us for doing, are similar to what the Council has been doing ever since it existed, and Mr. Trollope himself has been foremost in the practices he now abuses.

The only accusation peculiar to us, is that we propose to invest a committee with autocratic powers over the names of all methods, past, present, and to come.

As for past and present methods, we are asking the Council, and not any committee, to decide. As for the future we have made a proposal which we ask the Council to discuss; and this is what we were asked to do. Why abuse us for doing what a majority of the Council elected us to do?

He suggests that we should get evidence as to whether the Exercise as a whole want floral names, and he denies that there is any confusion. Now, we cannot go beyond our terms of reference, nor is it necessary. Our existence as a committee is ample evidence. I had letters from strangers from all over the country—and chiefly from six-bell ringers—begging me to bring the matter before the Council at its meeting last year, in order to end both the existing confusion and the floral names. So that it was quite clear the Exercise as a whole did not agree with Mr. Trollope. It was not then certain whether those who wanted the confusion cleared up, were in the majority or not (at any rate, there were enough of them to make it evident that the floral names would not meet with the necessary unanimity to make them of any use). But at the London meeting we were elected by a clear majority, so that until that majority has disappeared we must be guided by it.

So far from desiring to have 'autocratic powers,' or wanting to settle any matter 'once for all' ourselves, we did not publish our report beforehand, with necessarily only a week or so for it to be considered in, but we agreed to its being left a whole year for full consideration.

Now, if Mr. Trollope wants to help the Exercise, let him give us some reasoned suggestions for improving on our proposals. As long as he merely abuses them, he is allowing them to hold the field.

GEORGE STEDMAN MORRIS'S 100 PEALS.

That young Leicester ringer, George Stedman Morris, son of Mr. Josiah Morris, the respected ringer and verger of St. Margaret's, and brother of Mr. Ernest Morris, the new honorary secretary of the Midland Counties Association, has just completed his first century of peals. He was born on December 20th, 1907, and is thus but 17½ years old. He is believed to be the youngest ringer to score 100 peals. Commencing with a peal on handbells on his 12th birthday, when he rang 5-6 to Grandsire Doubles, he gradually waded through all the standard methods to the Surprise methods, and is a very steady and reliable ringer. Among his performances are peals on 'inside' bells 'in hand' to Stedman Triples, Caters and Cinques, and all will agree that he holds a very unique and proud record:—

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Mr. John Michael Poyntz, who died recently at Godalming, Surrey, and was buried at Dorchester, Oxon, where he learned to ring, had travelled much as a Marconi expert, South Africa and Siam being among the places to which his profession had taken him. His father was Vicar of Dorchester Abbey for 34 years.

We are asked to state, in reference to the inquiry as to ringing at Edinburgh, that there will be no ringing at St. Mary's Cathedral until September, but if any visitor wishes to see the ringing chamber and the bells he will be welcome to do so.

Although the number of men who have rung five hundred peals is slowly growing, the group is still by no means large. The latest to enter the ranks of this select company is Mr. Reuben Sanders. More than half of his peals have been in Surprise methods, and it is a noteworthy coincidence that the total includes exactly one hundred of Cambridge, made up of one of Minor, 39 of Major, 38 of Royal, and 22 of Maximus.

Coalbrookdale is deserted—the fine octave of 'Darby Bells'—are in London, and now being rejuvenated at the place of their birth—the Whitechapel Foundry—whilst 'Old Bill' is enjoying the sea air at Llandudno. What will happen in the date when the bells and the man return cannot be foretold.

The Surrey company knocking about Guildford district are taking a tour in Somerset, from August 8th to 15th. They will get 'some pulling' on a few Zummer rings on this visit.

The Southern Railway for the first time in its history are granting travelling privileges to its employees this year. Hence a well-known Brighton ringer has gone to South Wales for a holiday, and hopes to add one or two counties to his list, as well as several new towers. The threatened coal strike has not diminished his peal proposals.

The Wiltshire ringing tour is suggested for the week Sept. 5th to 12th inclusive, putting in four days at Devizes, three at Trowbridge, and finishing up at Swindon.

John Holt took part in a peal of Bob Triples at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, London, on August 8th, 1749.

A peal of 6,012 Grandsire Caters was rung at Leicester on August 12th, 1776.

The first peal of Double Norwich in Wales was rung at Rhyl on August 13th, 1883. This was by the Burton-on-Trent band.

A 'silent' peal of Stedman Triples was rung at Drayton, the late Rev. F. E. Robinson's church, on August 7th, 1899, by the Oxford Guild. The first such peal was rung at Burton in 1886.

'Belfry Reform' in 1793.—Found during the alterations made to the belfry at Bourton-on-the-Water.

Whosoever will practice to play on these Strings,
Must these orders observe amongst other things;
He that rings with his hat, boots, spurs on likewise,
To the Sexton shall pay a twopence excise:
For smoking tobacco, and drinking of drink,
To the Sexton shall pay a sixpence in chink:
He that is heard to curse, or to swear,
Shall twopence among the company share:
He also that doth a Bell overthrow,
A Groat to the Sexton shall pay ere he go.
And he that will not to these orders attain,
Let him never come hither to practice again.

MULTI-METHOD PEALS.

The first of the series of articles, by Mr. J. P. Fidler, giving hints on how to ring Spliced Minor Methods will appear in our next issue.

Those who wish to follow this valuable series should secure a copy of the Central Council's 'Collection of Methods' from the Hon. Librarian (the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn), Broadlands, Caversham, Reading, price 1/2.

'WYCLIFFE' SURPRISE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I am sorry that I am compelled to write you on the above subject. I pointed out to Mr. Tipler three weeks ago that his figures were hopelessly false when the treble was working in 7-8 up and down. He, instead of pointing out his mistake to you (for the safety of the Exercise) simply backs out of the responsibility by saying he has used three-parts of the material of one of my methods, and finds he has no claim to them. The inference is that they are mine. I have, therefore, now no other course than to call the attention of the Exercise to the fact that the figures published as Wycliffe are worthless and false, and for true methods on this plan I refer them to 'Rutland' and 'Chesterfield' Surprise. The figures of the latter were published in the 'Ringing World' as No. 1, December 28th, 1923.

—Yours truly,
Sheffield.

ARTHUR CRAVEN.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION MASTER AND SECRETARY RETIRE.

The annual meeting of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association was held at Minehead, Somerset, on July 18, when representatives attended from some twenty-three towers in the diocese. Ringing took place during the day at Minehead, Old Cleve, Carhampton and Dunster, and at the business meeting nearly 70 members were present. The towers represented were Bath Abbey, Bath (St. Andrew's), Bath (Twerton), Bath (Weston), Bridgwater, Bristol, Carhampton, Corston, Ilminster, Langport, Midsomer Norton, Milverton, Minehead, Norton Fitzwarren, Old Cleve, St. Decuman's, Selworthy, Staplegrove, Taunton (St. Mary's and St. James'), Timberscombe, Trull, and Wilton. The Rev. Preb. C. C. Parker, of Corston Rectory, Master of the association, presided, and among those present were the Rev. E. Parry Eddon (Vicar of Minehead), Preb. A. C. Harman (Old Cleve), and Rev. T. S. Dawson (president of the Dunster Deanery branch of the association). Apologies for absence were received from the Bishop of Bath and Wells (president), Rev. H. G. McTaggart (Monksilver), Preb. Reeder (Dunster), Rev. R. Acland Troyle (Taunton), Mr. A. Capel (Chipstable), Preb. Porcher (Weston-super-Mare), Preb. Palmer (Cheddar), Rev. J. E. W. Honniwell (Leigh-on-Mendip), Rev. D. M. Ross (Castle Cary), Rev. E. de St. Croix (Bridgwater), and Mr. A. E. Coles (Bridgwater).

THE MASTER'S REPORT.

'This is the last report which I shall have the honour of writing on your behalf,' was the opening sentence of the report for the year ending June 1st last, presented by the Master. He stated that he had had a long innings as Master of the Association, and had it not been for the war he would have retired earlier, but he wished to see the finances and the general prosperity of the association re-established before laying down his office. This he could now say was honestly the case; they were in a satisfactory condition financially and numerically: also the number of peals last year showed that the association was going ahead in the art of change ringing. He had intended, with their permission, to continue for one more year for the following reason: 'The Bishop, in offering me the honour of a prebendal stall in Wells Cathedral, wrote as follows: "Quite apart from your other qualifications I wish to pay a compliment to the Bell Ringing Association of the Diocese, to which I attach so great importance." In view of these words, which he felt they would appreciate as much as he did, showing the lively interest their president, the Bishop, took in the association, he felt that it might be more becoming to temporarily defer his resignation, but when, owing to ill-health, he found that this could not be done, he explained the matter to the Bishop, who quite understood the position. "In laying down the office of Master," he added, "I should like to say that I have always considered it a great honour and privilege to serve the association in this capacity, and I wish to express my gratitude for the hearty support that I have received from every quarter and for the kindly welcome offered me in every part of the diocese, making the duties of the Master a real pleasure." Mr. Burgess had also resolved to resign the secretaryship. They were elected on the same day, and now they went out of office together. During the nineteen years they had been in office they had worked together without hitch of any kind. It would be impossible to have a more loyal and dependable co-operator than Mr. Burgess. The work of a Master was, after all, comparatively little, but that of the secretary was considerable, and at certain times arduous. Mr. Burgess had devoted himself heart and soul to the welfare of the association, and its present prosperity was largely due to his self-sacrificing labours. He (the Master) believed a change of officers would be beneficial to the association, bringing new ideas, fresh ways, and so on, but while having high hopes for those who succeeded them he ventured to claim, on behalf of Mr. Burgess and himself, that their successors would not have a more earnest desire than they had to serve the association faithfully, and to secure it that recognition and consideration to which it was undoubtedly entitled by its useful and successful work throughout the diocese.

SOME STATISTICS.

They had lost a vice-president by the lamented death of Archdeacon Fish. Archdeacon Boyd, his successor, was already a vice-president, and, as they all knew, a very keen supporter of the association. They had also lost a well-known ringer in Mr. T. Doble, who was one of the first to join the association when it was founded in 1890. He had rung forty-five peals, but this did not tally with the amount of spade-work he did in the early years of the association. The services he rendered many young hands were invaluable, and his efforts had borne good fruit. Passing to details of the year's work, the report stated that the towers associated numbered 142. Five towers had been lost and eight gained. The members were: Hon. life members, 6; hon. members, 95; performing members, 1,286; non-resident members, 11; non-resident life members, 179; unattached, 38; total, 1,625. The number of peals rung during the year was 62. The peal list was most satisfactory, the best, he thought, they had ever had in numbers and variety of methods. The finances were in very good order, and there was a slight increase in affiliation fees. This was a good source of income, and it could be doubled. It rested with the members to see that it came out of church funds, and not from their own pockets. 'This concludes my report,' stated the Master, 'and it only remains for me to wish the new Master and secretary godspeed and the association God's blessing in the good work which it is attempting to carry out in the diocese.'

Mr. E. E. Burgess (hon. secretary and treasurer) presented the balance sheet for the twelve months ending December 31st last. This showed that the receipts were £199 11s. 5d., including balance at beginning of year of £124 19s. 3d.; and local secretaries' balances, £49 11s. 8d.; and the expenditure amounted to £56 12s. 4d. There was a total credit balance of £142 19s. 1d., made up of balance in bank, £86 18s. 1d.; on deposit, £35; and War Loan, £21 1s.

On the motion of Mr. J. Burge (Taunton), seconded by Mr. C. Evans (Bridgwater), the report and balance sheet were accepted.

It was further resolved, on the proposition of Mr. G. Taylor (Ilminster), seconded by Mr. A. Prince (Bath), that an honorarium be granted to the hon. secretary and treasurer.

RESIGNATIONS ACCEPTED WITH REGRET.

The next business on the agenda was to accept the resignations of the Master and the hon. secretary.

The Chairman stated that the reasons for both of them resigning were simply this, that they had both had a long enough innings, and they thought that fresh blood would do the association good. They felt also that they were leaving at a good moment, because the association at the present time was in a particularly prosperous condition, so they could not say about them that they were leaving it in a bad condition. 'I do not say it is due to us,' added the Chairman, 'it just happens to be so.'

Mr. J. Hunt (Taunton), in proposing that the resignations be accepted with regret, remarked that after the statements which had been made he thought they could not do other than accept them.

Mr. W. J. Prescott (Twerton) said he would second the resolution with very much regret, and he felt that he spoke the feelings of all from the Bath district in saying this. He (the speaker) remembered at the election of Mr. Parker as Master nearly twenty years ago. Mr. Parker came up to him afterwards and said, 'I have you to blame for electing me to this post' (laughter), but whether he (Mr. Prescott) was to blame or not he did not think they made a bad selection then. With regard to Mr. Burgess he could say what a pleasure it was to work under him, and he regretted very much that both the Master and Secretary had seen fit to resign, especially as it was owing to health circumstances that the Master had to take the step (applause).

The resolution having been carried, Mr. Hunt moved that both the retiring Master and secretary be elected life members of the association in recognition of the good work which they had done in the last nineteen years.—Mr. Taylor seconded, and the motion was carried with applause.

The Chairman, in acknowledging the appreciation on behalf of Mr. Burgess and himself, said he thought he should have been a life member in any case, as he would have continued his interest in the association, and so would Mr. Burgess. At the same time it was a handsome present to them because a life membership was supposed to be worth £10, and they both appreciated the great honour which they had done them (applause).

It was agreed that the Master and hon. secretary should carry on in these capacities for the meeting.

When the meeting proceeded to the election of officers another compliment was paid to the chairman by adding him, on the motion of Mr. Burge, seconded by Mr. Taylor, to the list of vice-presidents, the previous vice-presidents being all re-elected.

The name of the Rev. E. C. S. Lock, of West Pennard, was proposed for the office of Master in succession to Mr. Parker, Mr. Taylor, who moved this resolution, speaking of Mr. Lock as a practical ringer who was willing to act as Master.—Mr. Rich seconded the motion, which was unanimously carried.

Mr. Hunt proposed as the new secretary Mr. J. T. Dyke, of Midsomer Norton, who, he said, was 'the very man for the job.'

Mr. Burge seconded, and Mr. Prescott supported the proposition, which was also carried without a dissentient.

Mr. D. G. Taylor was re-elected hon. auditor, with a cordial expression of thanks from the chairman for his past services to the association.

A number of new members were elected.

THE INTEREST OF THE CLERGY.

The Chairman proposed that a vote of thanks be accorded to Preb. Harman, the Rev. T. S. Dawson, and Preb. Reeder for allowing the use of the bells to the visitors that day, which they all appreciated. It was a great pleasure to visit other towers. In addition to them he had to thank the Vicar of Minehead, who had so kindly received them that day, in whose church they would shortly have service. He (the chairman) did not think there was a more beautifully-placed church than that at Minehead, and they thanked the Vicar most heartily for receiving them, and for allowing them to use the bells, and also for conducting the service which they were to attend (applause). It was always a great pleasure to thank the clergy, added the speaker, but he sometimes wished that the clergy generally would take more interest in the association than they did. It would be to their own advantage if they did so, and also to the advantage of the association (hear, hear, and applause). All those whom he had mentioned did take a keen interest in their ringers, and he wished to thank them most heartily for their interest in the association.

The motion having been seconded with applause, Preb. Harman, in acknowledgment, said how pleased he was to put Old Cleeve tower at their disposal. He was not a ringer himself, but he was very keenly interested in ringing, and only too glad to do anything he could to help on the good work they were doing so well. They at Old Cleeve were very proud to have eight bells now, and it was a great privilege and honour to have had visits from some of the members. Preb. Harman concluded by saying how pleased he was to see their good Master in so much better health than when he came to Old Cleeve at the consecration of the two new bells (applause).

The Rev. E. P. Liddon also acknowledged the vote of thanks. They were very pleased, he said, to have the members at Minehead. He was also delighted to see that the association was in such a healthy and lively condition. It was a treat to come to a meeting so full of life (applause).

THE NEXT ANNUAL MEETING.

The fixing of the date of the next annual meeting was the subject of some discussion initiated by Mr. J. Hunt, who said he should like to see a definite date fixed from annual meeting to annual meeting. He ventured to say that if this was done they would have double the number of members or more at the meetings (hear, hear), and he moved that the date of the next annual meeting should be the first Saturday in July.

The Chairman stated that each branch had been asked their opinion on a proposal that the annual meeting should be altered to Whit Monday, and he had a resolution from the Dunster Deanery which was against that suggestion.

In some further discussion, Mr. J. Maddock (Taunton) expressed the opinion that the annual meeting might be more widely distributed over the county.

The matter was eventually referred to the committee for consideration.

A resolution passed at a meeting held at Wiveliscombe that the quarterly meetings should be deleted from the association's activities was discussed, Mr. Hunt who brought the matter forward stating that the grounds of the resolution were that more good could be done by the deanery meetings in the way of education in change ringing at a quarter of the cost of the quarterly meetings.

The Chairman said that the committee had considered the matter, and they felt that the quarterly meetings did a great deal of good in keeping the association going, and decided that they should not be dropped, but that they should be held as far as possible in places where interest in ringing was very low.

At the instance of Mr. Taylor, it was decided that the association should support representations being made to the G.W.R. company by other associations to obtain similar travelling facilities for ringers as for anglers, who, travelling singly, could get a return ticket for the single fare.

A motion by Mr. Hunt, seconded by Mr. G. Stacey, that a grant of £2 2s. should be made to the J. W. Washbrook Memorial Fund, was carried. Mr. Hunt reminded the meeting that Mr. Washbrook was a leader of change ringing for thirty-five years, and what he (Mr. Hunt) had read about him was an inspiration to anyone engaged in change ringing.

THE RINGERS' MOTIVE.

After the meeting, most of the members proceeded to the parish church, where choral evensong was held, conducted by the Vicar, whose address was adapted to the occasion. Taking as his text the words, 'God hath set some in the church, first apostles, secondarily prophets, thirdly teachers, after that miracles, then gifts of healings, helps, governments,' he said that in this text St. Paul gave a list of the different offices of the Church, and it was about the last two words—helps and governments—that he wanted them to think. If they got at their true meaning they would find that they unfolded to them a beautiful idea of the work which the ringers should try to do. The word 'governments' had been defined as meaning those who directed or led people, and what was the purpose which brought the ringers Sunday after Sunday into the tower but to direct people, to show them that they should worship and serve God? That surely was the meaning of all their ringing. That should be the great motive underlying all they did in the tower, and all other reasons that led them to ring should be subordinated to this one great reason. But if they would truly summon people to the House of God to worship and to serve Him they needed to do more than ring the bells. They needed themselves individually to do their utmost to help people to enter into the worship and the service of God by their own fellowship in worship and by their help in trying to lead a Christian life all through the week, by showing that what they professed on Sundays carried weight with them all through the week. If they only did that the message which they gave on the bells would be tremendously strengthened and backed up.

SCOTLAND'S NEW PEAL OF EIGHT.

TWO TREBLES DEDICATED AT ALLOA.

A peal of bells is more of a rarity in Scotland than south of the border, and ringers will be all the more pleased, therefore, to hear of an addition to their numbers. Alloa, in Clackmannanshire, the smallest county in Scotland, is the latest to contribute to the list, with the lightest ring of eight north of the Tweed.

The peal of six bells in St. John's Episcopal Church in that town, which was opened in 1871, was found to be out of tune, and the wooden framework decayed. They have been recast and two trebles have been added (the gift of Viscount Younger of Leckie), and the eight have been rehung in a steel frame, with ball bearings. The weight of the tenor is 13½ cwt.

The new peal was dedicated on July 25th, by the Bishop of Edinburgh, the service being conducted by the Rector, the Rev. L. A. Wheatley, M.A.

The opening touch, of 168 Grandsire Triples, was rung by the following band of ringers from Edinburgh: W. C. S. Heathcote 1, Miss A. I. Whitson 2, J. Lothian 3, W. B. Sampson 4, A. G. Collinson 5, W. Jenkins 6, J. Marshall 7, C. Raine 8. Ringers of 4th, 5th, 7th and 8th are members of the St. Mary's Cathedral Society, Edinburgh, the remainder belonging to the corresponding society of St. Cuthbert's Parish Church.

After an interval for tea, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung, the ringers standing in the same order. This was rung in 52 minutes. The opening touch was conducted by W. B. Sampson, the quarter-peal by W. C. S. Heathcote.

The work of reconstruction has been carried out by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., and the peal is a great success, both as regards sweetness of tone and ease of ringing.

COVENTRY'S NEW BELLS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Your leading article of the 19th June last has struck a note which has resounded far and wide in defence of your contention that 'the Central Council might with justification endeavour to induce the Coventry people to hold their hand until further investigation has been made.'

This boiling up of peals is becoming an insidious disease, sentiment is giving place, it is greatly feared, to commercialism. Such proceedings cannot be too highly condemned by those who, by close connection with such peals, have any regard for the memory of those who have passed away in the pious hope that their lives' work would be regarded as a sacred trust by succeeding generations.

To the ordinary mind there does not appear to be any difficulty for the bells to be rehung for ringing on a specially designed frame to suit the tower.

This point, however, remains. Are these famous bells, one of the finest peals in this country, to be smashed up just to please a passing craze for a carillon, a combination of rattling wires and hideous overtones impelled by machinery, which has neither soul nor sentiment? The answer from thousands of scientific church bell ringers would be an emphatic 'No!'

During the past few years several renowned peals of bells have been overhauled, retuned and rehung, and thus made as perfect as when first cast, and what is more to be recognised, continuing to carry on their tidings in the way originally intended by their pious founders, as, for instance, the bells of Billingshurst, Horsham, Leatherhead, Stafford, St. Clement Danes, etc., etc. The boiling down of such peals as these would have been sheer vandalism.

No one can complain of carillons being placed in public buildings or clockmakers' frontages, the latter being, it is thought, a more suitable place, but to have machine controlled bell tapping in our church steeples is, to say the least, a scandal. Why not introduce a gramophone or loud speaker in the reading desk or pulpit?

Coventry, stick to your bells, keep them in perpetuity, and thus revere the memories of those who first placed them there to the glory of God and of His Church.

If the plea of those who have the interest of these famous bells at heart is successful in preventing their destruction, they will join in the words of the poet, and say to the bells of Coventry—

'Now rise accordant. Pull the pendant ropes. Bid every bell strike true, the noble touch rouses the lethargy that clogs my mind, and prompts me on to action. Swell my heart, and dance without control! For sweeter far these lofty sounds than those dead, languid airs, that tremble on an instrument of wire! As far superior as the expressive notes of Beard and Lowe are to the Eunuch's trills. Britons! arise—resume the reins of taste, and let the natives of your Isle receive your amplest tribute of deserved applause; for whilst 'tis yours to boast an Arne or Boyce, no skill is wanted from a foreign land.'—Yours truly, ANGLOPHILE.

THE NORTH OF ENGLAND TOUR.

By way of contrast to the previous day, we had luncheon at The Crown, a Trust house—and two clergymen took lunch there at the same time, little knowing what kind of 'hornets' were browsing at the other end of the room.

Our next stage was far into the Durham hills, among the collieries, where wheels, shaft heads, tramways and slack heaps mottled the whole countryside, and spread a veil of smoke and steam which drifted across the fields for miles. Mr. H. Tyson met us at the church of Tanfield, erected some 35 years since, and the bells have only known one steeplekeeper. The population of the village is about 5,000, and half are unemployed—nearly all are mine hands in one way or another, if the industry was prosperous? Harry was as proud as the peacock when he took us to tea, after our meal, and we went home in good style by the same route we left, via Gateshead high-level bridge spanning the Tyne, a grand engineering structure which has separate thoroughfares for foot passengers, vehicles, cycles, and railway trains.

THE WIZARD OF THE NORTH.

Sunderland is a city of about 170,000 population, and returns two Members of Parliament, but of the whole of this vast number of residents there is only one man, so far as permutation is concerned, the 'Wizard of the North,' who can give us the Alpha and Omega of method building and peal composition. He is one of the three men in England with the same surname who have done so much for change ringing ever since I first began to read the ringing journals:—Parker Major, Crawley, Sussex; Parker Royal, Farnham Royal; Parker Maximus, Sunderland. After lunch on Friday we had the pleasure of ringing a peal at St. Ignatius' with the last-named gentleman. It was here he learnt to ring on the peal of five bells that were put in at the time this modern church was erected. A tablet below the belfry records: 'In the year 1899 the original peal of bells in this tower was increased to six by the addition of a treble bell, the gift of the Rev. Edgar Boddington, first Vicar of this parish, and founder and first president of the Bell Ringers' Guild, as a thankoffering for God's mercies to him during his Vicariate, 1889 to 1899.'

It was due to the gentle persuasion of Capt. Hudson (Bishopwearmouth) that Mr. Parker was encouraged to look up 'method,' by being asked to call six-scores, the novice of that day being supplied with the necessary figures. During our peal the Vicar and the curate came round to welcome us, and afterwards we enjoyed a very homely tea at 'Amberley,' with Mrs. and Miss Parker kindly attending to our needs. Mr. Parker also showed us round the beautiful Marlborough Park, and from an eminence pointed out the chief buildings and churches in every direction, and the memorial to Jack Cornwall, the boy hero of the battle of Jutland.

This public park has also an assembly room—fully licensed—a boon to men who want fresh air after a hard day's work, and here we, who had made hard work of pleasure, toasted 'Success to the Diocesan Guild and the ringers of Sunderland,' before leaving by the 8.57 train. There are three rings of eight in this city. Holy Trinity are managed by a team of ladies—who were included in our toast—the remaining tower is St. Michael's, Bishopwearmouth, where we lost a peal of Stedman in the morning through no fault of Conductor Parkes. Several of the local ringers on the Wear met us on coming down, including Messrs. Hudson and Patterson, and we were able to thank the Sunderland men for their sporting welcome in retiring from Hexham on Wednesday in our favour, after previously booking the tower with Allendale for their annual outing.

One cannot leave out reference to a dear little church with six bells—tenor 5½ cwt.—but not hung for ringing, full of antiquarian interest, with actual portions of the original holy structure still in evidence—the west wall tower. It is situated a few hundred yards from the River Wear, through the mouth of which stream Benedict Biscop sailed to land here in the year 674, and found a monastery. Egfrith gave 70 hides of land out of his own estates, and ordered a monastery to be built thereon, and here came the Venerable Bede, then an orphan boy of seven years of age, to be educated, and to become one of the earliest authors with a knowledge of bells and founding. Bede was buried at Jarrow in the eleventh century, and his bones were removed to Durham, where, in 1541, they were scattered; but the stone bearing his name, and which formerly covered them, is still to be seen.

A DOUBLE EVENT.

With a double event, our final day, Saturday, was spent at Hartlepool, famous for its tirab yards. We saw the devastated area, burnt out last spring, when some £100,000 worth of timber was destroyed. At All Saints', Stranton, the mother church of the town, we rang through a wedding ceremony in the morning, and finished the peal in time to toll for a funeral—'life and death' ever with us. Messrs. Metcalf and Hall from Middlesbrough, and Messrs. J. and T. Gofton joined us at Stranton, making up the Cater band for our last attempt. The Parish Church of St. Oswald is situated on the west side of the Pool, a beautiful decorated Gothic structure erected in 1907, with richly carved stonework, and, internally, oak tracery and fittings that showed there was no lack of funds. It was the last work of three craftsmen engaged upon the building, who died soon after its dedication—the architect, clerk of works, and the bell hanger. The bells and hanging are a good example of the work of Warner and Sons, London. It is a very fine belfry, but, marred by the clock put in over the heads of the tenormen and furnished with wooden shoots for the two ropes, easily touched by tall ringers such as our tenormen were. Our permission to ring was subject to a '7 o'clock restriction,' and Treble Ten was abandoned for Stedman, the 'finale' coming with only five minutes to spare.

Returning to Whitley Bay for the last time, our ranks were thinned by calls for the 'home position' from Metcalf and Jenkins—calls that we were to obey on the morrow. Our last look at the North Sea, from the rocky parade of the bay, was subject to the noise and battle of carnival, the paved walk being completely obscured with a layer of confetti and sundry ragged tawdries strewn by the revellers in a final attempt to outdo one another. We left the 'madding crowd' in their high revelry at eleven o'clock to seek the enjoyment of contented sleep.

MONKSEATON MEMORIES.

Before we left St. Paul's Church I was able to take a few notes which will add to my 'story,' and, like the 'barber,' I will cut it as short as possible. The headstones in the churchyard—and bells in the tower—all speak of the long association this parish has enjoyed with the D. and N. Association. The original peal of six bells was the gift of Sir Charles Mark Palmer in 1865, and the first 720 of Minor rung by an entirely local band on July 23rd, 1890, conducted by J. T. Gofton, with the late R. S. Story, who had previously removed into the parish from Newcastle, on the tenor. This was not accomplished without years of patience, during which the older hands dropped out, and the 'boys' progressed with their tutor, Mr. Story, who died in 1911, at the early age of 52 years, and is buried near the chancel east window.

The new ring of eight bells, dedicated January 25th, 1913, were made up by new bells given and the old ones recast, the back six having the coat of arms of their former donor cast upon them. The tenor is a Coronation bell, King George V., 22nd June, 1911, diameter 3ft. 10in., recast in 1912. 4th, 5th and 6th, given by the local ringers. 3rd: 'In grateful memory of Robert Spencer Story, 22 years President of the Durham and Newcastle Association.' 2nd: Given by Thomas T. Gofton, in memory of his father, Richard A. Gofton, who died 25th December, 1891.

A strong friendship existed between Story and Gofton; both died at an early age, but the change ringing seeds sown had sprung up in their later days, to be crowned after they had gone to rest by a peal London Surprise Major on the new octave, March 24th, 1913, conducted by Thomas Gofton, whose father is buried on the spot he chose, as near the belfry door as possible. A grandfather (on the mother's side) is also sleeping near, a memorial obelisk recording:—

'To perpetuate the memory of Thomas Thompson, Farmer, Whitley Bay, by his friends and admirers, universally loved and affectionately known as Father of Whitley. He died October 5th, 1911, in his 87th year.'

So we go backwards a century, when the farmhouses and cottages could be counted on the fingers of one's hand, but now the rows of corn are rapidly being replaced by rows of houses over the fields of North Farm.

Sunday morning the return was safely effected by the 10.10 a.m. express out of Newcastle, which took an alternative route, occupying one hour longer, but giving a glimpse of more cathedrals and abbeys. With a carriage (part of) to ourselves the time passed pleasantly, although it turned out to be the first day of another heat wave, and two doors away the 'Little Willie' Concert Party gave us a number of musical pieces by four performers who happened to be returning to town.

Mr. Thomas Gofton saw us off the premises at Monkseaton, and our 'Little Willie' at Whitley Station. I could not help noticing the sad look upon his face as our train pulled out, his letter to me a week later confirming it: 'I spent two miserable days at work after you all went away, couldn't settle down at all, but I am all right now.'

When reporting my notes of the tour to 'The Ringing World' I was asked to be sure and thank the friends up North for giving us such a right good time. We—the half-dozen survivors—parted in London some 50 feet underground, where the King's Cross subways join, each to his own little belfry, like rabbits in a warren.

CANON ELLACOMBE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Absence from home has prevented me seeing your issue of July 17th until now. I should like to correct the opening paragraph under the heading of 'Notes by the Way' on page 454, and I am sure my old friend J. A. T. will forgive my doing so.

The late Canon Ellacombe could ring, and ring 'scientific' too, as they say in Devon.

In 'Church Bells' for May 19th, 1877, are copies of peal tablets hanging in the tower of Clyst St. George, recording the fact that on December 26th, 1873, and December 26th, 1874, the Rector rang a working bell to Grandsire Doubles.—Yours truly, C. E. B.

DEATH OF MR. J. M. POYNTZ.

We much regret to announce the death of Mr. John Michael Poyntz, a Marconi technical engineer, son of the late Nathaniel C. S. Poyntz, Vicar of Dorchester Abbey, Oxon, from 1886 to 1920, who died at his mother's home in Godalming on Sunday, July 5th. He was a member of the Winchester Diocesan Guild. Bells seemed to inspire in him a very deep enthusiasm, and he was able to impart this enthusiasm to others.

As a tribute to his memory a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at the Parish Church of SS. Peter and Paul, Godalming, with the bells half-muffled, by the following: W. Moorey 1, W. Clissold 2, C. Bish 3, V. H. Smith 4, C. Childs 5, J. A. Cole 6, C. Hazelden 7, R. Pamment 8. Mr. Hazelden, Ringing Master of the Guildford district, conducted. The following took part in a short touch before the quarter-peal: W. Mills, W. Balchin, F. Mills, J. Pugsley and E. Mills.

At the same time a muffled peal was being rung at Dorchester Abbey, on the fine old bells that Mr. Poyntz had learnt to ring on as a boy.

He was laid to rest at Dorchester near his father, and as his body reached the village the great tenor—over 600 years old—tollled solemnly, and large numbers of parishioners were gathered by the lych gate.

LONDON SURPRISE.

By GEORGE BAKER.

In the 'Ringing World' of 19th August, 1921, I gave the first leads of London Surprise Royal and Maximus respectively, and I pointed out that the Royal was a seven-part irregular touch, the Maximus a five-part touch with Grandsire coursing order.

These statements can be verified by 'proof of construction' (I can find no better term), but as they are touches only, and the Royal irregular at that, I do not propose taking up valuable space in these columns in explaining them.

My object in this article is to prove beyond any possible doubt by the round blocks and transpositions that London Surprise Minor and London Surprise Major are one and the same method, and as mathematical progression has been the sheet anchor of the mathematicians, I think that even they will be convinced when they have scanned the following figures.

In this article, as in my last, to economise space as much as possible, I intend giving only the half leads, and will start as usual with the Minor.

The half-way transposition rows are:—

Minor 54132
Major 57864132

The 6th's place bell in Minor has returned to its own position, so it can be struck out to give a better comparison of the progression, but a clearer comparison can be obtained if we add 678 to the Minor row as follows, and then strike out all the bells that are lying still, i.e.:—

Minor prog. plus 678 = 56784132
Major progression 57864132

by striking out the five fixed bells we have left 678x786, which is equivalent to a progression of 231.

If the method would extend with coursing order to the higher numbers, the extra pairs of bells from Major upwards would have to be added on the front, and the progression would then be:—

54132 Minor
57864132 Major
5907864132 Royal
561907864132 Maximus

Now that we know what the progression row on ten bells should be, we will compare it with the progression row of the seven-part touch of Royal to try if we can find any resemblance.

Seven-part touch progression 54x79621830
Proper progression 59078641x32

By striking out the five fixed bells we have residuum of 90842 x 49280, which is equivalent to a progression of 41532.

We will now compare this with the Minor progression, which is possible because the 5th is the pivot bell in Minor, and the 3rd is the pivot bell in the seven-part touch of Royal.

London Minor progression is 54132
 London Royal 7-pt. touch progression is 41532

By striking out the two fixed bells we have left 541 x 415, which is equivalent to a progression of 231 between Minor and Royal, and as we have previously seen this is also the progression between Minor and Major.

It will be useless trying to compare the progression of the five-part touch of Maximus, because the 2nd is the pivot bell throughout the touch.

There is nothing haphazard about pivot bells, and where we have a fresh pivot bell for every pair of bells added, in regular methods, they will always be in coursing order, either forward or backward, i.e., forward as in Plain Bob 4; 6; 8; 0; 6; etc., or backward, as in Bristol Surprise 4; 2; 3; 5; 7; etc., and this rule also applies to any other sequence of coursing bells that may happen to be pivot bells.

I feel certain that I am right in stating that no two separate methods can possibly have the same mathematical progression, so when anyone is clever enough to find a Royal and Maximus with the progression that London Surprise Royal and Maximus should have, they will not only have found the correct extensions, but they will have found what I firmly believe to be impossible.

THE OXFORD GUILD.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—You appear, according to your letter last week, re the Oxford Guild annual meeting, to be under some misapprehension. I should like to inform you that no one, as far as I know, has ever claimed that we were swamped by the Oxfordshire members. What we claim, and I think rightly, is that we are swamped by the members living close around Oxford. The show of hands proves that, if it proves anything, for of the 75 members from Bucks, 55 must have come from the North Bucks branch—Oxford suits them—therefore, they vote for it.

We other members are trying to make it fair for all the members, not only one branch, but all the branches. I also claim that if a vote was to be taken of all the members, there would be a large majority for a movable annual meeting.

One of the speakers at the meeting enlarged on democracy, yet he is willing to be governed by a few that can attend at Oxford. I personally think that as long as the meeting is held at Oxford the result will be the same, and the turmoil and bickerings, which I very much regret, will go on indefinitely. I also think that when this question was first suggested a meeting was arranged, and was met with strong opposition for Oxford by a manoeuvre. Some of the members, relying on the fact that it was not in the rules, but only a custom to visit the three counties in rotation, arranged the meeting at Oxford, and then relied on the members that could attend there with little trouble, continually to vote the others down.

This, to my mind, is very selfish, and as far as I am able I shall try to win them over to my way of thinking on the question.—Yours truly,

F. W. HOPGOOD.

Reading Branch Secretary.

Dear Sir,—There is another side to this Oxford Guild trouble. How well the late Master, the Rev. F. E. Robinson, knew it! Nothing would induce him even to discuss the question, 'You must have the annual meeting in different parts of the diocese to keep the Guild alive, and get all branches interested.' I have never forgotten the 'rap' he gave me for proposing that the annual meeting should be held at Oxford, Reading and High Wycombe, in rotation. Remembering this, I was not a little astonished when his daughter, Miss Robinson, the other day, proposed that the annual festival should be held in four towns in rotation.

In your leading article last week you say, 'there were 75 members present from Bucks and 57 from Berks, out of a total of 157; that showed it was not decided by the Oxford members alone, and this should remove one of the grounds of discontent.' To me it plainly shows how few members in Oxfordshire take an interest in the festival when held in their city, as they could only muster 25! Seeing that the registered number of ringing members is 1,400, the total of 157 who attended the festival hardly expresses the feeling of the Guild.

There undoubtedly is a strong feeling of discontent which, if not pacified, must do the Guild much harm. I should like this question tested by a vote of all ringing members, to be handed into their branch secretary, who could forward the number of votes to headquarters.

The present Master rightly says he can only go by the rule which says, 'The annual festival shall be held in July at a place selected at the previous festival.' If those wishing for an alteration would make their opinion felt, and it was found they were in a majority, it should not be difficult to change the rule.—Yours faithfully

August 3rd, 1925.

W. POLE ROUTH.

RINGERS' OUTINGS.

CAERLEON RINGERS.

On Saturday, July 20th, six of the Caerleon ringers accompanied the choir by boat from Newport to Weston-super-Mare. Leaving Newport at 9.30 a.m., and arriving at Weston at 10.50 a.m., Mr. S. Jones and his colleagues visited Mr. F. G. Stuckey, who had made arrangements for them to have a ring at Uphill in the afternoon. This was thoroughly enjoyed by all. The peal of six, in excellent condition, can easily be reached. The band made their way back for tea, and afterwards visited the park and gardens. The most important pleasure was the company of the churchwarden (Mr. I. Parry), who is well over seventy years of age, whose able assistance was greatly appreciated by all. The day was a most enjoyable one, and the party's best thanks go to the Vicar of Uphill for giving permission for the use of the bells, and Messrs. Stuckey, together with another of the locals, for such an excellent reception.

SWINDON PARISH CHURCH.

On Saturday, June 27th, ringing members, wives and friends of the above Guild, including that ringing pioneer, John Austin, of Gloucester, held their outing over the bracing Berkshire and Wiltshire Downs. The start was made at 8 a.m., Appleton being reached at 9.30, where everything was in readiness at the belfry. This light and melodious peal of ten were soon going to the tune of Stedman and Grandsire Caters. Abingdon, which was reached about 11 a.m., was the next place to be visited. Abingdon has a fine tower, containing a good ring of 10 bells. These were much appreciated. A well-struck touch of Stedman Caters was rung by the following: 1 A. Lawrence, 2 E. Bishop, 3 J. Austin (conductor), 4 A. Bond, 5 H. Bishop, 6 W. Lancaster, 7 C. Gardiner, 8 H. Hearl, 9 S. Palmer, 10 L. Wilson. The bells were then lowered, and the party left for Ilsey, via Drayton, which recalls the name of the late Rev. F. E. Robinson. Ilsey Church contains a most talkative peal of eight, in splendid tone, and of exceptionally good 'go.' Touches of Stedman Triples and Double Norwich were successfully rung. Newbury was the next call, where lunch was served. After luncheon the bells of St. Nicholas were set going to Grandsire, Plain Bob and Double Norwich. Mr. Henry Curtis, the locals' captain, appreciating the visit. The next move was Kimbury, where there hangs a nice ring of six, with a tenor about 16 cwt. Situated close to the River Kennet, they charm the neighbourhood. Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob and Stedman were rung. Hungerford was reached at 5 p.m., tea being taken here. No ringing took place at this little market town, owing to the bells being out of order. The party then proceeded to Great Bedwyn, and were received by the Vicar. Without doubt these were the finest peal of bells they encountered during the day. A touch of Plain Bob and Grandsire Doubles were brought round here. The journey was continued to Ramsbury, where there is a splendid belfry, a nice ring of six bells, plenty of room and room for improvement, the bell banger being badly wanted there. A touch of Grandsire Doubles was the only thing accomplished. Aldbourne was the last tower to visit, being reached about 8.30 p.m. The Aldbourne Church has a very fine tower and melodious peal of bells. Stedman Triples and Double Norwich were rung, the locals appreciating the art of change ringing. Swindon was reached about 10 p.m., everyone expressing their enjoyment of the day's outing. Thanks are due to Mr. Ernest Bishop for his excellent organisation, and to all steeplekeepers for their kindness in having things ready.

THE CASTLE CARY RINGERS.

The ringers of All Saints' Church, with their wives, had their annual outing on July 18th. Leaving Cary by charabanc at 8 a.m., they visited South Petherton, where, after a short tour of the church, they had a ring on the bells; going on to Seavington St. Mary, where a light ring of six enabled them to have some touches of Grandsire Doubles. Ilminster was reached about 11 o'clock, where a very pleasant time was spent on the bells, some of the local band being present. The visitors also met a former curate and captain of the Cary ringers, the Rev. Vaughan Jones. At Chard a couple of touches were rung. The last stage of the journey brought the company to Seaton, which provided another light ring of six, which the party soon set going. When the bells were lowered a tour of the town was made and tea served. Leaving Seaton at 6.30, the return journey was made via Crewkerne and West Coker, home being reached at 10 p.m., after spending a most interesting day.

SHAW, NEWBURY, BERKS.—On Monday evening, July 27th, at St. Mary's Church, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes), with ten different callings, in 42 mins.: F. Tilling 1, H. W. Curtis 2, E. W. Smith (conductor) 3, E. Crocker 4, P. C. Robey 5. Ringer of treble from Thatcham, remainder from Newbury.

SCUNTHORPE, Lincs.—On Wednesday, July 29th, after meeting late for a peal attempt, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) Miss N. Grassby 1, C. Chapman (Newark) 2, F. Cousins 3, C. Bird 4, G. Hobbins 5, J. Bray (conductor) 6, J. Almond 7, W. Palmer (Bardsworth, Yorks), 8. First quarter-peal for ringer of tenor, first of Triples for treble and 5th, and first of Triples as conductor.

IN HAND.

The great Carillon of 53 bells for New York. Carillons of 43 and 35 bells for Holland, the ring of 10 for Manchester Cathedral, and over 40 other contracts for various parts of the world.

SPLICED METHOD RINGING.

It has been somewhat surprising to find that ringers whose operations are largely confined to six-bell ringing are still content, in the vast majority of cases, to go on with the practice of ringing peals of Minor comprising, at best, seven methods only. When a band first learns to ring, a peal entirely of Plain Bob is not to be despised, but when the seven method stage is reached it seems too often to be a landing stage where ringers are content to rest. They may learn new methods for inclusion in their peals; they may go on to something as advanced as Surprise ringing; but there is no reason why they should stay their progress even at this degree of proficiency.

With the advance of the art, it is now possible to introduce a large number of methods into the seven six-bell extents that are necessary for a full peal, so that no one need be content with doing what the best of the practitioners had to be satisfied with in days gone by, and to say, when they have rung 720 of each of the seven most difficult methods, that they have done the utmost that can be accomplished. Thirty-five methods have been introduced into a peal of seven true extents—even this is not finality—and this is something well worth aspiring to.

Since the system of splicing methods was introduced very few bands have seriously taken up this form of ringing, and in searching for the cause we have come to the conclusion that one of the obstacles has been that six-bell ringers have either been in doubt as to how best to set about mastering the ringing in this new style, or have felt it to be beyond their powers.

In the hope, therefore, of encouraging this most intriguing form of six-bell ringing we have been able to induce Mr. John P. Fidler, a member of the band who rang at Norbury, Cheshire, the peals in 30 and 35 methods, to write a series of articles, explaining the manner in which this accomplished band succeeded in their task. The first of these articles we publish this week, and we believe that the explicit manner in which Mr. Fidler has dealt with the subject will enable any ringer who understands the Treble Bob principle readily to grasp the system by which 'spliced' ringing is done. Even though bands may not desire to extend the practice to the large number of methods which the Norbury men have rung, or even to ring peals at all, there remains the fact that a seven-twenty rung say, as a Service touch, must be more interesting when it is in five methods than when it is in one method only; and if our articles lead merely to this end something will have been gained. As instructions in method ringing alone the articles will be of great value, and we trust that Minor ringers will find them worthy of careful study and regular practice.

ESSEX & MIDDLESEX ASSOCIATIONS. SUCCESSFUL JOINT MEETING AT WALTHAM ABBEY.

Members of the above association fraternised at Waltham Abbey on Saturday last, when a joint meeting of the South-Western Division of the Essex Association and the North and East District of the Middlesex Association was held, by the kindness of the local ringers in giving up their practice night, and the courtesy of the Vicar (the Rev. F. B. Johnston) in giving his permission for the meeting to take place. Visitors began to arrive from all parts soon after 3 o'clock, and at an early hour in the afternoon the bells were set going to Stedman Caters, which was followed by Stedman Cinques and Grand-sire Caters.

Tea was served at the Cock Hotel at 5.15. The 'chair' was taken by the Master of the Essex Association (Mr. C. H. Howard), who was supported by Messrs. F. J. Piastow (general secretary, Essex Association), E. J. Butler (district secretary, Essex), W. Pye (Master, Middlesex Association), W. Pickworth (vice-president, Middlesex), C. T. Coles (district secretary, Middlesex), and some 40 ringers, amongst whom were to be observed some 'young bloods' of the Exercise in Joe Rayner, George F. Margetson and James George, whose ages, we believe, are upwards of 90, 80, and 70 respectively.

After tea, the Chairman expressed his great pleasure at being present at so successful a meeting. It was a great idea to hold joint meetings of neighbouring associations, whose objects were entirely the same, and who, if they chose not to give and take, might easily be very unfriendly, instead of meeting, as they were doing that day, to enjoy themselves together. He hoped that the meeting would be an annual one, or even more frequent than that, and he also hoped that the idea would be taken up by other associations. He was glad to see so many present, some from considerable distances away, and hoped that this annual gathering would always be well supported. Waltham Abbey was an ideal place for holding such a meeting, and they were lucky to have such a tower, with such a fine peal of bells, at their disposal. Their friends of the Middlesex Association were always welcome in Essex towers, just as he was sure that Essex ringers would always be made welcome in Middlesex. He noticed only this week that the secretary of the Middlesex Association had conducted one peal, and had rung in another, in Essex, for the Essex Association, and amongst Middlesex and Essex men. This was just the spirit in which they should live together, and he trusted they would always do so.

Mr. C. T. Coles thanked Mr. Howard for his very kind references to the Middlesex Association, and stated how pleased he was at the success of this joint meeting. His only regret was that they of Middlesex had no such ideal spot to which they might invite their Essex friends. When discussing with Mr. Butler where they might go for this year's meeting the latter had suggested Waltham Abbey again, and he felt sure that the choice would meet with general approval. He hoped that the good feeling existing between the two societies would be all for the good of change ringing. Mr. Coles apologised for the absence of their president (Mr. P. A. Milne), who was away on holiday.

Mr. W. Pye also voiced his approval of the meeting, and his agreement with the idea of holding it, as also did Mr. Butler.

Mr. James George, on being asked for a speech, gave one of his usual pithy talks on ringing, and also expressed his pleasure at meeting Mr. Joe Rayner, of St. Andrew's, Holborn. He added that he hoped he would be as fit as Mr. Rayner in another 20 years. Mr. George also congratulated Mr. R. Sanders on ringing his 500th peal, and elicited from the latter one of the shortest replies on record.

The Chairman proposed that a hearty vote of thanks be given to the Rev. F. B. Johnston for allowing them the use of his very fine peal of bells, and this was carried unanimously.

The ringers afterwards paid another visit to the belfry, where several new-comers were found, bringing the total attendance up to 50. Some very good touches of Stedman Caters and Cinques, and a course of Cambridge Surprise Maximus, were rung, until the party finally dispersed at about 8.30 p.m., after a very pleasant afternoon.

PUBLISHED TWICE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Owing, no doubt, to an oversight, the peal of Surprise Minor, rung at Aspley Guise, on July 25th, has been published in the last two issues of the 'Ringing World.' Will the Peals Analysis Committee kindly note?—Yours faithfully,

ARTHUR E. SHARMAN,
Hon. Secretary, Beds A.C.R.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The bells of St. Mary's, Abergavenny (8) are in the hands of the bell hangers, as are also the six bells of Usk Parish Church. These latter are being rehung in a new iron frame, and two more are to be added to complete the octave. Monmouthshire will thereby shortly be the richer in peals of eight.

Seven peals out of eight attempts was the result of Mr. Frank Bennett's first visit to South Wales, with an evening's trip to Bristol in between. The only failure was at Pentre, where a peal of Double Norwich was lost, after ringing half-way.

'Samiwell Peppery, Bart.' says that the lines written with regard to peal points, and left on the table at the Central Council meeting at Chester, need slight amendment. They would read much better, he says, if they read, as follows:—

Points for peals were always absurd,
And the writer has ever averred
That it's easy to see,
Most ringers agree,
There's a letter too much in EACH word.

Samiwell adds that a certain well known North Country worthy was asked if he had had a good touch at the meeting, and replied that the only touch he really enjoyed was the musical glasses with the Piccadillicum Stilton in the handstroke home position. 'I believe,' says Samiwell, 'he knows something about a composition with a coat behind the ninth. No guesses will receive more than one prize.'

The towers being visited this week by the ringers touring Somerset include Yeovil, Beckington, Sherborne Abbey (Dorset), Milborne Port, Wells Cathedral, St. Cuthbert's, Wells, Drayton, Curry Rivel, Taunton (St. Mary's and St. James'), Burnham-on-Sea, Bridgwater, Milverton and Wiveliscombe.

The peal at Farmborough, Somerset, was not the first peal by D. Parfitt, as reported.

The tour had a rather unfortunate start. A peal of Stedman Caters was attempted on the peal of ten (tenor 45 cwt.), at Yeovil, on Saturday, but the 9th ran dry, and the ringer had to give up. (It really was the bell, not not the ringer, that needed lubricating).

To-morrow is the anniversary of the first peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus, which was rung at Ipswich on August 15th, 1908.

On August 16th, 1902, 10,080 Double Norwich Major was rung at Henley, Suffolk.

On the bells of St. Michael's, Coventry, the fate of which has recently been discussed, a peal of 5,000 Oxford Treble Bob Royal was rung on August 17th, 1812.

The Southern Railway (writes a railwayman-ringer, in reference to a paragraph in this column last week), have always granted free passes to any stations on their system to employees on annual leave, also a free pass to any station in the United Kingdom to members of the clerical staff. All railwaymen can travel quarter rate anywhere in the United Kingdom when they are off duty. I feel certain that these privileges are greatly appreciated by a vast majority.

A Bradpole, Dorset, ringer, Eric Foote, age 18 years, was drowned while bathing at West Bay last Friday.

DOUBLE NORWICH MAJOR.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Kindly allow me to point out to Mr. Wilde that the peal of Double Norwich, published under my name, July 24th, does contain the full combination of 4, 5, 6 in 5—6 at the course-ends. Peal No. 35 in the Central Council Collection III. does not contain those qualities, and the calling of my peal is distinct from Mr. Lindoff's peal; therefore, I claim it as an original composition.—Yours, etc.,

JOHN HOWES.

COMPOSED YEARS AGO.

Dear Sir,—With reference to the 5,184 of Double Norwich Major, published July 24th, and the remarks by Mr. H. W. Wilde in your issue of July 31st, it is high time that all amateur composers knew that all the peals of 5,000, with the tenors together, have been composed years ago, in such methods as Plain Bob, Treble Bob, Double Norwich, etc.

During the last several years a number of peals have been published, and in nearly every case these have been variations of some previously composed peals.

I am of opinion that the above matter should be brought before the Central Council, at their next meeting, to be dealt with. I suggest that, unless the name of the composer is a recognised master of the art, you should be requested not to publish the composer's name in the report of peals.—Yours truly,

GEORGE E. SYMONDS.

MULTI-METHOD PEALS.

HINTS ON 'SPICING' AND RINGING MINOR METHODS.

By JOHN P. FIDLER.

As one peruses the peal columns of 'The Ringing World' week by week, a very noticeable feature is the constant repetition of methods employed in building up peals of Minor, many of which are irregular. When one considers that 'the Collection of Minor Methods' contains something like 178 methods, viz., 29 Plain, 30 Treble Bob, 35 4th's Place Delight, 42 3rd's Place Delight, and 42 Surprise methods, the question, 'What is wrong?' presents itself. Perhaps it is the absence of explanatory detail, a circumstance which makes it difficult for many who desire to ring new methods. With a view to assisting those members of the Exercise who are thus handicapped, the following details of my experience gained at Norbury, under the tutorship of Mr. James Fernley, will, I feel sure, be of assistance. If so, my efforts will be rewarded.

Before a builder commences erecting a house, it is necessary to get plans drawn up, and afterwards to secure a good foundation, and so it is in ringing multiple-method peals of Minor; the band must first of all have a foundation to work on, and gradually build up the number of methods to be rung in the peal. The plans are already drawn up, and will be found in 'The Collection of Methods,' and the finished article, a peal in thirty-five methods. To be able to follow these 'Hints' the more readily, the reader should provide himself, if he has not already done so, with a copy of the 'Collection of Methods,' published by the Central Council, price 1/2, to be obtained from the Hon. Librarian, the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, Broadlands, Caversham, Reading.

A term new to many will be found used in these articles, and one which has been found necessary in our experience at Norbury, this is 'grouping.' This means the 'grouping' together of methods having similar characteristics and which will splice, a feature that will save the student a good deal of time. (It is to be hoped the next edition of the Collection will have all its methods 'grouped'.)

GROUP NO. 1, OR 'THE OXFORD GROUP.'

In this, it will be found that Oxford Treble Bob is the dominating method, and will be found on page 8, No. 1. The other members of the group being No. 2, No. 7, No. 18 and No. 26, making five in all.

For the benefit of those unacquainted with the Treble Bob Principle, it will be necessary for them to analyse it and commit the work to memory by the order of passing treble, and by no other way.

Let us look at the lead of Oxford given, and take the path of the treble, which dodges in 1-2, 3-4 and 5-6, both up and down. (N.B.—For the dodge in 1-2, the term 'snap' is used.)

Our next bell is the 2nd, it 'snaps' with the treble or passes it in 1-2 down, and takes up the 'slow hunt' work. This comprises leading full, and making 2nd's place alternately until treble returns to lead and snaps again, this time being passed in 1-2 up.

At the lead end, the 2nd will now be seen in 3rd's place. Therefore, it will be necessary to carry on the analysis by following the path of the 3rd. The bell passing treble 1-2 up makes 4th's place and returns to lead, passing treble 2-3 down, leads full and does Treble Bob work, i.e., dodges in 3-4 and 5-6 up. The dodge in 5-6 in this case is with the treble, so another note must be made—pass treble in 5-6 up, dodge 5-6 down, make 3rd's place, and return to dodge both ways in 5-6. (The lead end coming just previous to the 3rd commencing the dodge, and that bell occupying 5th's place, return to lead head and follow the path of the 5th.) Our dodge in 5-6 down ended, treble is passed in 4-5 down, continue the Treble Bob work, but without the 'snap,' a full lead being substituted, and treble is now passed 3-4 up; continue the Treble Bob work.

On coming to the lead end, the 5th occupies 6th's place, and we see that the Treble Bob work is continued until treble is met in 3-4 down. The work is as in 4-5 down, but treble being next passed in 4-5 up, the work is now similar to that of the bell passing treble 5-6 up, i.e., 3rd's place being made after dodging both ways in 5-6.

The 6th occupying 4th's at the lead end, follow the path of the 4th, and it is seen that after making the place, returns up behind and dodges; dodges with treble 5-6 down, and continues Treble Bob work; after leading, passes treble 2-3 up, makes 4th's place and returns to lead, to snap treble and take up the 'Slow Hunt,' or the work of the bell we commenced with, i.e., the 2nd, thus completing the course.

OXFORD.

It will be found necessary to have a notebook to write down the results of the analysis in the following manner:—

Pass Treble.

- 1-2 down. Slow bell.
- 1-2 up. (out of slow) make 4th's and return to lead.
- 2-3 down. lead full, Treble Bob work.
- 5-6 up. dodge 5-6 down, make 3rd's place and out behind.
- dodge in 5-6.
- 4-5 down. Treble Bob work, as in 2-3 down.
- 3-4 up. Treble Bob work.

- 3-4 down. Treble Bob work, as in 2-3 down.
- 4-5 up. work as in 5-6 up.
- 5-6 down. work as in 4-5 down.
- 2-3 up. make 4th's place and into slow.

As the work at a 'Bob' is not shown with the lead given, it is shown herewith, and an analysis on the lines given would record it as follows:—

2 4 1 5 3 6
2 1 4 3 5 6
— 1 2 3 4 6 5
2 1 3 4 5 6
1 2 4 3 6 5
1 4 2 3 5 6
4 1 3 2 6 5
1 4 3 2 5 6
4 1 2 3 6 5
4 2 1 6 3 5

Pass Treble.

1-2 and 2-3 up, as at a plain lead.

3-4 and 4-5 up, the work behind becomes a triple dodge in 5-6.

5-6 up, makes 3rd's, 4th's, 3rd's, and up behind.

It will not be necessary to worry about what has to be done next, if the pupil is conversant with the work by means of passing treble, because the next position in which he meets that bell tells him immediately the work he has to do.

CONDUCTING.

For the production of the extent, 'Bobs' will, of course, be required. From study of the work given, it will be seen that two bells are unaffected by the call. When the observation bell is in one of these two positions, a call must be made, except when a pre-arranged bell is also in a position unaffected by the bob. For example, say the calling will be 'Tenor without the 5th,' call a bob every time the tenor goes either in or out of slow, except when the 5th is going into slow as tenor is coming out. In simple terms call tenor 'In, Out. In, twice repeated,' the figures for this 720 are as shown:—

23456

— 64235

— 26435

42563

54326

35642

— 63542

56234

25463

42356

Twice repeated.

The true extent can be produced by employing any two bells in these positions.

Having thoroughly committed Oxford to memory and practised it, attention must now be turned to Kingston (No. 18, page 121). Let us analyse it in the manner described, and see what we find. The first item of note is that all the work done after passing treble up is the same as Oxford. That being known, attention can be concentrated on the work after passing treble down.

Start with the 2nd, passing treble 1-2 down takes up the slow, but not a continuous one, as in Oxford. It gets broken up half-way through, which must be recorded in the notebook.

The next position to note is 2-3 down, see 3rd, which after passing treble in that place, leads full and commences the middle work, which is place making, i.e., 3rd's, 4th's, 3rd's, 4th's, and passes treble 4-5 up.

The next bell to pass treble down is the 6th, which passes in 3-4, and this is the bell to break up the slow. Should the man already in slow forget what he is doing, the 3-4 one can soon put him right. His work commences with a triple dodge on the lead, whilst the other, which he has come to relieve, does a triple dodge off the lead. Having completed this dodge, the bell relieved meets treble in 3-4 up; the other one remaining in slow until treble comes to it.

The work of the 5th occupies the next position, which is 4-5 down, taking up the middle work in conjunction with the 2-3 bell, and whilst it is making 3rd's, 4th's, 3rd's, 4th's, the 4-5 bell is doing the opposite, i.e., 4th's, 3rd's, 4th's, 3rd's. On completion, they go their respective ways, the 2-3 bell, up; and the 4-5 bell, down.

We have now only one position left. It requires no thinking about, and is more likely to upset the treble man than the other. The bell passing treble 5-6 down, makes 5th's, and passes it 5-6 up. The result of the analysis will be as follows:—

KINGSTON.

Work up, as in Oxford.

Work down:—

- 1-2 (slow) lead, 2nd's, lead. Triple dodge 1-2 up (or off the lead), and out.
- 3-4 Triple dodge 1-2 down (or on the lead), lead, 2nd's, lead (Treble comes).
- 2-3 lead, 3rd's, 4th's, 3rd's, 4th's, and out.
- 4-5 4th's, 3rd's, 4th's, 3rd's, lead and out.
- Bob work, and conducting as in Oxford.

After study it will be seen that the bells work in pairs, an advantage which must not be lost sight of, and a circumstance enabling a weak ringer to be pulled through. I cannot impress this point too strongly, and the reason will soon make itself manifest to those who take advantage of these hints and practise the methods.

The two methods having been thoroughly mastered, attention must be turned to splicing them, and a little variety added by ringing an extent in two methods. A plain course of each method produces exactly the same changes, but in different leads; therefore the methods will only splice course for course, which means that a full course, unaffected by bobs, of one method must be rung, and the courses containing bobs are rung to the other method.

The only tip I can give to the ringer is: Remember the method you are ringing, it is so easy to forget. To the conductor, do not try and memorise the leads produced by Oxford, and those by Kingston. The calling is the same as before, and having been mastered requires no more explanation. Commence ringing the extent with Oxford, and ring this method until the first bob is called, and just as the treble is leaving the slow bell, change over to Kingston, continue ringing this until the third bob is called, it is the last one in the part, then change back to Oxford up to the first bob in the second part, when change again and carry on as in the first part.

For practice, reverse the process. Commence with Kingston, ring it to first bob, change, and carry on as with the previous extent. In each case the calling is 'Tenor without the 5th,' but any observation can be used, provided the instructions for changing method are carried out strictly to letter.

LONDON SURPRISE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Please accept my best thanks for your courtesy and kindness in publishing the articles that I have contributed to your columns.

In the eight columns of figures in last week's article on London Surprise, I do not find a single figure misplaced; great credit is due to your compositor for his careful setting up.

Probably I am mostly to blame for one error in regard to the progressions, because although my press copy shows the proper progression first, I write of comparing it with the seven-part touch progression, whereas I intended to compare the seven-part touch with the proper progression, as follows:

Proper progression 5907864*32
7 part touch progression 54*79621830

N.B.—The asterisks are introduced to enable the progression to be shown by a single operation.

In this way only can the progression 90842 x 49280, which is equivalent to 41532, be obtained.

I think that the readers of this journal, who are competent to judge, will agree that I have proved what I set out to do, but as there does not seem any widespread desire for this kind of knowledge, I have come to the conclusion that it is not worth while to go on with it.—Yours faithfully,

GEORGE BAKER.

CORRECTIONS TO PEAL COLLECTIONS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—May I, through your columns, draw the attention of your readers to the addition which has recently been made to the Central Council publications in your advertisements?

I refer to the Corrigenda Leaflets, the history of which is as follows: A few years ago it was represented at a Council meeting that in the three books known as 'Collection of Peals,' Sections I., II. and III., there were a great number of false peals, as well as misleading figures, owing to misprints. I was instructed by the Council to get the books corrected and a list of corrections published. The work was undertaken by the Revs. H. L. James, H. S. T. Richardson, E. S. Powell, and Messrs. J. A. Trollope and H. W. Wilde, and a long and tedious work it was. Each book was carefully gone through by these experts, and every peal examined as to its truth. An exception was made in the case of Grandsire Triples, which peals were considered to be sufficiently established.

The result of this work is now offered to the Exercise for two-pence, and is a most valuable addition to the books in question.—Yours truly,

CYRIL W. O. JENKYN,

Hon. Librarian, Central Council.

Broadlands, Caversham, Reading.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

EAST BERKS AND SOUTH HUCKS BRANCH HOLIDAY MEETING.

An August Bank Holiday meeting of the above Guild was held at Slough and Stoke Poges, and although the weather seemed rather doubtful, the visitors never were. They were there in plenty, too, from 'all over.' Age was very well represented, in the persons of Messrs. Joe Waghorn (East Ham) and Tom Beadle, Isleworth, with some of his 'boys.' Ringers were also noticed from Southgate, Enfield, Manchester, Guildford and London, fraternising with a host of local brethren. It should be mentioned that it was at one time thought the fair sex would be in the majority, but although this was not so, their presence lent a delightful air to the proceedings. The general branch secretary very early had the bells at Slough going to various methods, and during the morning everything (almost) was attempted and mostly rung, several of the people present scoring 'first touches' in one or other method. The church and tower, modern buildings of red brick, with sandstone and flint dressings, stand in a good open position, and the ringing can be heard all round to a pleasing advantage. The writer heard many comments (Oh, yes! complimentary) on the beauty of the bells and ringing generally. Twelve-thirty was the 'appointed time,' so the bells were very nicely lowered in peal, and the company in, shall we say, sections, groups or round blocks, by bus, foot, bike or car, hid them up to Stoke Poges, many taking lunch at Slough, or on the way at their own sweet will. Two o'clock saw a goodly muster at this historic old church, which, as most people know, has famous associations, the greatest being presumably in connection with the poet Gray, and William Penn.

I do not propose, writes our correspondent, to inflict on you the history of the whole thing (because I don't know it), so if you'll suppose we've seen all the points of interest in church and churchyard, we will pass under 'that yew tree's shade' to the belfry, where there are six musical bells, Simpson tuned by the Croydon Foundry, which were soon raised and giving forth various 'tunes,' mostly having 'topo-what-is-it' names. London, Cambridge, Kent and Oxford were some I heard. Several here had their first touch of Spliced Minor, and voted it 'tricky.' One thing noted in particular was that, whether it is a boat race or some ringing, the ladies seem to have a great partiality for 'Cambridge,' which speaks volumes for someone's tuition. Also, 'tea will be served at "Cambridge," Wexham.' All Cambridge to-day, you see, so a nice party found their way to a delightful spot, where the secretary and his good lady had been busy with others preparing to meet the wants of the inner man. I speak for myself. A splendid tea having been partaken of on the lawn, the evening was devoted to tennis (what energy our Arthur has to lay down a court and garden, keep it going, put in a lot of ringing, and in his spare time go to 'town' every day), and other games, interspersed with handbell ringing, in which some of the gentler sex made a beginning of history, I hope. Some tunes by Mr. and Mrs. Barker and Mr. Slowcoach were much enjoyed by the multitude, the fun as well as the tennis being fast and furious, except when some player forgot, and hit a boundary. Or, passing on to another game, a player got an 8 in 2 or a 9 in 3 at clock golf. Of course, Mr. Wag said, 'Call the third in the hunt and they'll come home at hand.'

The thanks of the members and visitors are due to the incumbents of both churches for the use of the bells, and in largest measure to Mr. and Mrs. Barker, the host and hostess, for their great efforts to make a right pleasant day (in which they succeeded), also to their lady and gentlemen helpers.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

THE 'LAWS' OF THE EXERCISE AND THE NOMENCLATURE COMMITTEE'S REPORT.

By J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

People talk about the laws of change ringing, and say that you must not do this or you must not do that. We all do it. Some time ago a very old and much valued friend of mine told me that he proposed to go for a peal of St. Clement's Triples. What could I do but say, 'Oh, you mustn't. It has a bell lying still for four blows?' And then there was a gentleman who proposed going for a five thousand, consisting of four separate quarter-peals, one each of London, Bristol, Cambridge and Superlative. That came before the Central Council, and the assembled wisdom of the Exercise unanimously forbade it. 'You mustn't,' the Council said, 'You are breaking the law which says that you must not ring the same change twice in a peal.' I remember a case where a well-known man refused to start for a peal of Stedman because the conductor directed two bells to lie still at the start. 'You mustn't do it,' he said, 'it is against the rules.'

Behind all this there is a vague idea that change ringing has a definite code of strict rules which ringers are bound to obey, like the rules of cricket and football, and such sports.

But it is not so. There is no analogy whatever between the rules of ringing and the rules of ordinary sport. The rules of cricket are due to the fact that there you have competition between two teams, and you must have laws to hold the balance between the opposing parties. Anyone who deliberately breaks one of these laws is guilty of unfairness. And you have a central body which had not only authority to make laws, but power to enforce them. There is nothing of the sort in ringing. There is not, and never has been, any central body with power to say to ringers, 'You shall not do such and such a thing.' And no rule was ever adopted by the Exercise to prevent men doing anything they thought fit. Competition does not directly enter into change ringing, and, therefore, there is no need to make laws to hold the balance between contending persons. If, in cricket, a bowler throws, he is guilty of unfairness, because he is putting the batsman at a disadvantage. But there is no unfairness when a hand rings a peal of Bob Triples or starts a peal of Grandsire Caters with 6-7 lying still.

What has happened is this: During three centuries, the Exercise has found out by experience that if you want to get the best out of ringing there are certain things which it is advisable to do, and certain things which it is advisable not to do. Our rules are only a set of directions as to how you can get the best out of ringing. They are good advice, not definite laws. Every hand has ultimately the right to say whether they will take the advice or not. There is no rule which a band may not break freely if they have sufficient reason, and there is no authority that can call them in question if they do so.

'But,' you will say, 'how about the Law of Truth? Surely it is a stringent rule that you may not ring the same change twice?' No, not even that. You must not, indeed, say you have rung a true peal of Grandsire Triples when in fact you have not done so. That is a matter of common morality. Everybody, in all things, admits that no one may claim to have done what he has not done. In short, you must not tell lies. And when you publish a peal you do say you have rung a true peal.

But where you make no such claim—in ordinary short touches, for instance—there is no reason why you should not have repetition of rows. And I for one can see no reason why a hand should not ring four quarter-peals, one in each of the four Surprise methods, since by so doing they openly admit that rows which come in one come also in another; and, perhaps, in all four.

Now, do not think I am advocating general lawlessness in ringing matters. Nothing of the sort. Just remember what our rules are. They are good advice gathered together during centuries by the experience of the whole Exercise. You have the right to disregard the advice, but you can depend upon it that the whole Exercise knows more about the matter than you do; and you can be sure that you will do well, from the point of view of your own interests, to keep to the generally accepted rules.

People used to think and say hard things about the Method Committee, because they thought that we were trying to impose on ringers arbitrary rules and restrictions of our own invention. And some of them were men of authority, men of knowledge and experience. It was not so. What we were trying to do was to gather up and codify the experience of the Exercise. When we said that a good method should have Bob Major Lead Ends, and be symmetrical, and not have any one bell lying more than two consecutive blows in any one position, and the other things, we were not saying to ringers, 'You must not ring other methods; but that these generally are what the experience of the Exercise has found to be necessary.' We were giving good advice, and the Exercise has found out that we were right. This, then, is all that the Central Council and its committees can do—it can give good advice; it can increase knowledge; it can point out the more excellent way. It cannot definitely forbid ringers to do anything; nor, if it could, would it be advisable (ringing being what it is) for it to do so.

I am moved to these observations by the report of the committee on nomenclature. The good intention and the abilities of that committee are not in question, but they take up a position and ask for powers which the Exercise at large will never concede to them, and which the Central Council will, I fully believe, never grant. What they ask for is nothing less than autocratic powers over the names of all methods, past, present, and to come. They ask for the right to alter the names of any old method they think fit, and to suppress such as they deem unsuitable; and to decide, apparently without appeal, what names should be used in future. It cannot be. The names of the past belong to history and to past generations. The names of the future belong to the future, and I am quite sure that a band which rings a new method will object, and rightly object, to anyone forbidding them to call it what they think fit.

Besides, the committee have made an excursion from their proper sphere into the difficult and much debated region of classification. I am sure I do them no injustice in saying that their qualifications for that are of the slenderest. But what can the committee do? They can give good advice. They can do something—they can do a lot to create a good style and good taste in this matter. Do not think the thing is easy. It is hard indeed to say exactly what does constitute a good name; far harder than to propose the drastic changes of the present report.

RINGERS' OUTINGS.

A KENTISH TRIP.

The ringers of Ospringe Church (Kent) had their annual outing on Bank Holiday, and during the day they visited four towers, and spent some time at each of them in ringing. Leaving Ospringe at 8 a.m. they journeyed through Chilham and Canterbury to Elham, where they made a stay of an hour, and had their first ring. From Elham they went on to Lymington, where another halt was made for an hour, and the church bells set going. The afternoon was spent at Folkestone, but it was not confined to listening to the music of the waves, an hour or so being passed in a pull on the bells of the Parish Church. The homeward journey in the evening was via Ashford, and there also the ringers found their way to the church tower, and had their last ringing for the day, after which the party had supper together, leaving Ashford for home shortly after ten. At both Folkestone and Ashford the party (who were accompanied by the Vicar and churchwardens) were met by the local ringers, and the two bands spent an enjoyable hour together.

CHELTENHAM RINGERS VISIT CIRENCESTER.

The members of Cheltenham and St. Mary's Guild, with a few friends, enjoyed an outing on Bank Holiday. Although the day was not congenial for a motor trip, it in no wise damped the spirits of the company, who journeyed to North Cerney, Perrott's Brook, Cirencester and Fairford. The start was from the house of the captain (Mr. W. T. Pates), and soon things took a cheerful aspect. Stopping at North Cerney, the members visited the small but very nice tower of the church, and soon had the bells going in merry changes. No wonder the good folk of the village asked if a wedding had taken place. After the bells had been lowered, and the Vicar thanked for the welcome, a move was made to Perrott's Brook, where a very substantial meal awaited the party, who then moved on to Cirencester. The rain was still pouring down on arrival, but it did not in any way interfere with the buying and selling in the market, in which most of the party became interested, but a few strokes on one of the bells soon brought the band together in the lovely church, and soon the bells were ringing out their sweet music. What a lovely peal of bells they are! Lucky Cirencester to possess them! After a short sojourn, a move was made to Fairford, where the company were met by some of the local ringers. After a rapid survey of the interior of the church, further ringing took place, in company with the local men. Touches of Stedman, Grandsire and Pates' combination of methods were rung in all the towers visited. Tea was provided at Fairford, after which the members roamed the village and surroundings before returning to Cirencester and Perrott's Brook for supper. By this time the rain had ceased, and the return journey was made under ideal conditions. After supper, song, etc., held sway for a couple of hours. The following rendered songs and a touch on the handbells: Messrs. W. T. Pates, Yeend, senr., Foster, Parsons, Collier, Humphris, Clements and Sykes. Cheltenham was reached about 9.30 p.m., after a most enjoyable day.

NOTICE.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.—Bolton Branch.—The next meeting will be held at St. Paul's, Walkden, on Saturday, August 29th. Bells from 3 p.m. Meeting 7 p.m. Bolton Police invitation to all ringers to their Athletic Grounds, August 22nd. Usual arrangements for tea. LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.
PRESTON BRANCH ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Preston Branch, which was held at Higher Walton on Saturday, August 1st, was very successful, members being present from Brindle, Chorley, Eccleston, Leyland, Preston, Penwortham, and the local band, in addition to one member of the Wigan Branch, and Mr. R. L. Ince, of Farnon, near Chester, an old branch member, who was heartily welcomed by the members, and who got good practice, of which he has had very little recently, in Plain Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob.

At the business meeting the chair was occupied by Mr. E. R. Martin (Ringing Master) and the secretary gave a report of the year's working of the branch. He said there had been eleven meetings held by the branch, including a joint meeting with the Furness Branch, at Lancaster, with an average attendance of 27 members. The meeting at Brownedge was the first to be held there by the association, and they were heartily welcomed by the Rector and ringers, of whom four have become members of the association. Many of the members he considered were more advanced than they were twelve months ago, as, although the number of branch peals was less, the number of members ringing their first peal, and first in a method, was well up to the average, 29 members having rung in the different peals, amongst them being the first lady ringer to ring a peal for the branch, Miss May Clayton, of Houghton. The peals rung were as follows: One Cambridge Minor at Brindle, the first by the branch, and rung by the local band; two of Grandsire Triples (one at Chorley, and one at Houghton by the local band, this being the first by locals since 1893); two of Kent Treble Bob Major (one at Samlesbury, rung with the bells half-muffled as a last token of respect to the late Vicar of Samlesbury, who was an honorary life member, and one at Houghton); also a peal of Minor in three methods at Eccleston. Entrance fees, subscriptions and sale of diagrams had brought in £7 10s. up to date. They had elected eleven new members, including one honorary. He was sorry to say they had lost two life members by death, one the Rev. T. W. Broadhead, of Samlesbury, who died whilst on a journey to Blackburn, and Mr. Henry Robinson, of Walton-le-Dale, who died whilst attending to his duties as sexton. Mr. Robinson was their oldest member, and had been a service ringer 63 years. They had also lost two or three other members, who had gone to reside in other districts, one of whom, Mr. S. Robinson, was now an active member of the Yorkshire Association, as proved by his peal ringing on tower and handbells. The fourth annual social at Preston was quite up to the previous ones, as far as the social side was concerned, although it was not an entire success financially, and it gave the Preston members pleasure to know that their efforts were appreciated. At the February meeting a gift of great interest to ringers generally, and especially to the Preston ringers, was made on behalf of Mr. T. Russam, of Birmingham. The gift consisted of a print of the Preston Parish Church, as it was in 1821, and two peal records of peals that were rung there in 1831 and 1837. The gift was greatly appreciated not only by the ringers, but by the Vicar and wardens.

The election of branch officers then took place, the secretary and Ringing Master being re-elected, and Mr. W. Sharples was elected on the committee in place of Mr. J. T. Miller. The present acting members of the association were nominated for the respective positions of vice-president, ringing secretary and auditors.

The meeting closed with votes of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and to the local men for having all in readiness, and arranging teas; also to the chairman for presiding.

The tower was again visited, when good practice was had in Cambridge Surprise, a method which should be rung at most of the future meetings.

WILLIAM RAYNER, OF ARRETON. FAMOUS RINGER'S TOMB RESTORED.

Skilled in the mystery of the pleasing peal
Which few can know, and fewer still reveal,
Whether with little bells or bells sublime,
To split a moment to the truth of time.
Time, so oft truly beat at length o'ercame,
Yet shall this tribute long preserve his name.

This quaint inscription, in metal let into the face of the stone, appears on the tomb of William Rayner, at Arreton, Isle of Wight, who was a leading ringer in the Island, and who died just a hundred years ago. The tomb has been restored as a result of the efforts of the Winchester Diocesan Guild, whose interest in the matter was awakened by the 're-discovery' of the tomb by Mr. W. H. Fussell and a visit paid to it by a party of College Youths, who rang handbells over the grave.

The completion of the restoration was marked by a special meeting of the Winchester Guild at Arreton on July 25th.

The service was conducted by the Rev. C. E. Matthews (vice-president), other clergy present being the Rev. H. C. Stokes (Sandown) and the Rev. J. C. Orr (Whitwell). The Guild form of service was used, the first part, with the address, being in the church, and the closing prayers and blessing at the tomb. The service concluded with a course of Grandsire Triples on handbells, by H. Barton 1-2, Dr. J. B. Williamson 3-4, G. Williams 5-6, A. R. Ward 7-8. Altogether it was a very impressive scene, with the old Norman church set in the midst of the downs, and the whole bathed in brilliant sunshine.

As the tower was under repair, the old ring of five bells could not be rung, to the regret of all, but during the morning a peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at Carisbrooke, which has been recorded elsewhere.

It is of interest to note that Rayner rang a peal of Grandsire Triples in this tower 150 years ago, and the old peal tablets in the belfry are well worth seeing.

Members attending the service included Mr. G. Williams (Master), Mr. G. Pullinger (gen. secretary), Mr. F. W. Rogers and Mr. W. Upton (Portsmouth and Isle of Wight district secretaries), and ringers from Arreton, Chale, Milford-on-Sea, Newport, North Stoneham, Portsea, Portsmouth, Ryde, Southampton, Ventnor, Whitwell, Winchester and Yaverland. Mrs. A. E. Locke, of Abingdon, Berks, was a very welcome visitor.

During the evening, Ryde bells were available for ringing, and touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob and Kent Treble Bob Major were enjoyed on this fine ring.

Visitors to the Island may inspect the very interesting peal and record books of William Rayner, which are kept in Newport belfry, on application being made to Mr. W. Upton, the popular district secretary of the Isle of Wight district.

One can easily imagine Rayner, who was a turner by trade, with his mate, the local artificer in iron, tinkering about with the bells and their fittings when it was necessary and the 'go' was not all that could be desired. The parson of those days was probably too busy with his fox hunting pursuits ever to want to listen to anything connected with the bells, which were out of sight, and the belfry staircase too full of dirt and cobwebs for him ever to be induced the ascend. And thus Rayner would have been left to his own devices to keep the bells going, while at the same time he visited other churches to spread the art of change ringing. We of the present day are unquestionably indebted to men of the Rayner type, who kept things going in those dark ages, because their influence lived for years in the respective neighbourhoods in which they operated, and is in fact felt at the present time.

BATH & WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Ilchester Deanery Branch was held at Ilminster on Saturday. Drayton, Curry Rivel, Langport, Ilminster and Martock towers were represented, and Mr. Pemberton, of the St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham, and Mr. Lane (Doulting) were welcome visitors. The president (the Rev. G. W. Saunders, Vicar of Martock) conducted the service.

The meeting, which followed tea, was presided over by the vice-president (the Rev. A. Rhys James, Vicar of Drayton).

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Kingsbury Episcopi.

The Vice-President thanked Mr. D. G. Taylor for his generosity in providing such an excellent tea. They all knew, he said, how keen Mr. Taylor was to do anything he could to help on the art of change ringing. He also proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar of Ilminster for the use of the bells, and to Mr. G. Fowler Sharp for his services at the organ.

Some good touches of Bob Major, Stedman and Grandsire Triples were brought round after the meeting.

THE NORFOLK GUILD. MORE DISTRICT MEETINGS WANTED.

A general meeting of the Norfolk Guild was held at Diss on Bank Holiday. The ring of eight bells at Diss, and also the ring of eight at Palgrave were placed at the disposal of the members. The luncheon took place at the King's Head Hotel, the Rector of Diss (the Rev. Ralph L. Whytehead) presiding, supported by the following members of the committee: The Rev. W. O. Pearson (vice-president), Mr. Arthur L. Coleman (secretary), Mr. William Ireland (district secretary for Diss), and also Dr. Arthur L. Vaughan, and representatives from Diss, Henley, Norwich, Palgrave, Thornham Magna, etc.

The toast of 'The King' was proposed by the chairman, and duly honoured.

At the business meeting which followed, the secretary announced that apologies for non-attendance had been received from the president (the Dean of Norwich), the Rev. R. M. Downton, Messrs. G. P. Burton, C. E. Borrett, F. S. Wilson and F. R. Borrett.

Mr. J. A. Herbert was elected a life member (non-resident), and Messrs. E. J. Barton and P. N. Barton, of Buxton, were elected performing members.

Mr. A. L. Coleman (secretary) brought before the meeting the secretary of the Central Council's letter to the 'Ringing World,' with reference to the Standing Committee's appeal to the Bishop of Coventry to stay the melting down of the Coventry bells, and said he thought the action that the Standing Committee had taken should have the support of the meeting, but before moving a motion he would read Mr. E. Alexander Young's letter, which appeared in the 'Ringing-World' of July 31st. In support of that letter he moved the following motion, 'That this general meeting of the Norfolk Guild held at Diss, August 3rd, 1925, endorses the action of the Standing Committee of the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers in approaching the Bishop of Coventry with the view to staying the melting down of the ring of ten bells of the Church of St. Michael's, Coventry, and that the motion be forwarded to the Rev. H. Holland, M.A., St. Michael's, Coventry.'—The Rev. W. C. Pearson seconded the motion, which, on being put before the meeting by the chairman, was carried nem. con.

Mr. Coleman (secretary) said that he had received a letter from Mr. F. R. Borrett with reference to the cost and size of the annual report, and suggestions for the consideration of the committee, and for discussion by the members at the Diss meeting. The secretary suggested a small committee be appointed to deal with the matter.—The Rev. W. C. Pearson moved, and Mr. J. F. Duffield seconded, 'That Messrs. C. E. Borrett, F. R. Borrett, G. P. Burton, and the secretary, be appointed the committee,' and this was agreed to.

Mr. J. F. Duffield opened a discussion on the need for more district meetings, and moved that the meeting instruct the general secretary to write to the district secretaries with the view of organising district meetings on Saturday afternoons.—Mr. A. L. Coleman said that he fully agreed with what Mr. Duffield had said on the need of holding more district meetings, and thought that if the members in their respective districts rallied round their district secretaries, there should be no difficulty for each of the eleven districts to hold at least one meeting during the summer months. He thought there was no need to pass a motion, but would write to the district secretaries on the subject of district meetings.

A vote of thanks was accorded to the Rev. R. L. Whytehead for presiding, and for the use of his bells, and also to the Rev. B. M. Downton for the use of the ring of eight bells at Palgrave.

The meeting then closed, and the members adjourned to the belfries of Diss and Palgrave for more ringing until the evening.

RINGER'S WEDDING.

On Saturday, August 1st, at St. Mary's Church, Bucknall, Stoke-on-Trent, Mr. William Wheeldon, son of the leader of the tower, was married to Miss Floria Simcoe, of All Saints', Hanley, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. G. T. Birch (Rector). Before the service 720 Violet Treble Bob was rung, and afterwards 360 Bob Minor. The bells were also 'fired.'

By the kind invitation of Mr. and Mrs. W. Wheeldon, senr., the ringers afterwards adjourned to No. 47, High Street, as guests at the wedding breakfast, and best wishes were extended to the bride and bridegroom for their future happiness. The ringers afterwards returned to the tower to give the happy couple a hearty send-off on their honeymoon by ringing 720 College Pleasure. The honeymoon was spent at Blackpool.

Rimple, senr., 2, H. J. Skelt 3, J. Talbot 4, H. G. Pratt 5, J. Cooper 6, A. W. Clark (conductor) 7, J. Cawley 8.

THE HISTORY OF RINGING.

In his 'Notes by the Way' this week, Mr. J. A. Trollope discusses the question of compiling a history of ringing, and suggests the steps by which this might be accomplished. This is a matter which we have several times advocated in this column, for the Exercise at present has its records scattered here, there, and everywhere, and there is no sort of connected history of the art in existence. To the ringer of to-day and of the future, the story of the past should make a deep appeal; those who have taken the trouble to study the evolution of the art during the two and a half centuries which have passed since Fabian Stedman launched his 'Tintinologia,' are already well aware of the vast interest which enwraps those early days, particularly the eighteenth century, when men strove with perseverance for years to accomplish those things which to-day are looked upon almost as elementary performances, although, let us not forget that they achieved some things which would have been acknowledged great even in these days. In ringing, as in all other things, present knowledge is built up largely on the successes and failures of the past, but with the progress of time we shall, unless steps are taken to prevent it, lose sight of much which is of value from the historical standpoint.

Bells and ringing form a vast subject, or series of subjects. Their story covers not merely centuries of time, but a variety of material that would require many volumes to treat in even a general way, and no history, if it is to be within reach of ordinary readers, could touch upon any but the most important details. The selection of material, however, could not be satisfactorily accomplished without the historian having before him all available information, and Mr. Trollope suggests the steps by which, in course of time, the desired end might be reached. The task would, inevitably, be a long and laborious one, and the difficulty is to find the man, first of all with sufficient time and interest, and also with the necessary literary ability, to write, in the end, that history of ringing which so many desire to see compiled. It is hardly a task for a committee, although the backing of the Central Council would be valuable. Indeed, the financial aspect of such an undertaking would make it essential that the person who shouldered the work should not have to risk a serious monetary loss. But this ultimate publication is a matter which the future can settle. The immediate task is the collection of information, and in this, we believe, those who undertook the responsibility would receive ready help from ringers all over the country. We hope that Mr. Trollope's ideas will be matured: he occupies a position in connection with the Central Council which will enable him to put the subject forward in the right quarter, and to get the assistance of the people best able to help.

BRADPOLE RINGER DROWNED.

Quite a gloom was cast over the Dorset village of Bradpole, near Bridport, a fortnight ago by the accidental drowning of one of its parishioners. A party of youths went bathing at West Bay on Friday afternoon, August 7th. At a spot known as 'Table Rock,' two of them got into difficulties. One—a lad, named Knight—was courageously rescued by a sea scout, but another, Eric Foote, aged 18, was unfortunately carried away and drowned, and the body was not recovered till some three hours later.

Eric Foote had always identified himself with Bradpole Church, first as a chorister, and later as a bell ringer, being, in the latter capacity, a most regular attendant.

The funeral took place on Monday week, amid signs of much sympathy with the relatives.

The body was borne to the grave by four local ringers, Messrs. Chester, Clarke, Elsworth and Swaffield, while in the evening a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples were rung, with the bells half-muffled by the following band: C. Clarke 1, T. Hervey Beams (conductor) 2, A. A. Hughes 3, J. Zealley 4, W. D. Smith 5, P. Hayden Beams 6, F. Bugler 7, W. S. B. Northover 8.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

THE HISTORY OF CHANGE RINGING.—WANTED, AN HISTORIAN.

By J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

One of the best things about change ringing is its many-sidedness, and the number of different ways in which it can interest different sorts of people. You can be a peal ringer, and pile up your three or four hundred peals in a dozen or so methods—you have only touched one part of the art. You can be an expert composer, and understand all the tricks of the trade—there are still further things to do. You may know all about the laws of method construction (though nobody does), and even then there are further things to interest you. There are matters of archaeology and history big enough to provide work for an industrious man's spare time for many years. Bell inscriptions and the history of bells themselves are not exactly a part of change ringing, and they require qualifications not to be found among ordinary ringers, such as knowledge of Latin, to say nothing of much spare time and money. But there is one thing that can be done, and that should be done; which is to collect a complete copy of the peal boards throughout the country. Complete, that is, within limits. Nobody wants to read all the peal boards, a large proportion is of no interest to anyone, and to copy them would be a stupendous task without any fitting reward. We can reduce the number to manageable size by ruling out any of later dates than 1880. Perhaps it would be advisable to fix the date still earlier. All those of the eighteenth century, of course, we must have, and, perhaps, the first half of the nineteenth century. For the rest you can include boards which record first performances, or peals of unusual interest, long peals, boards, which illustrate the history of famous ringers or famous bands, and a certain number of the boards with quaint features. Of course, a lot of the oldest and most interesting of the peal boards have been copied, and have been printed in different books, and from them we get a large proportion of what we know about the early history of ringing.

The Exercise owes more than it acknowledges to the labours of Mr. Jasper Snowden in this matter. When we consider that his ringing career was little more than ten years long, the amount he got into it is wonderful. Other people, too, have copied and printed peal boards, here a little and there a little, but the thing has never been done as a whole. This is a matter which might engage the attention of the Central Council. Unless an enthusiastic and able man with plenty of opportunities for getting about, will come forward and undertake the task, the best way would be to work through the territorial associations. First, each association should make a survey of its own county or diocese, and send in a return showing what peal boards they possessed, and a brief description of each. Later on, as desired, full particulars could be obtained. As each year passes, the old boards get more unreadable, the wooden ones get more decayed, and now and then one collapses through age, and, perhaps, is never repaired. These things do not happen in the bigger and well cared-for belfries, such as Mancroft, or St. Martin's, Birmingham, and such like. It is in out-of-the-way towers, where once there was a hand that for a time made ringing history, and which has since lapsed into obscurity; or in city churches, where there is no regular band, and no one to care for such things; or in towers where the bells are unringable, and where now no one goes; or in places where you ring on the ground floor, and some parson, with an itch for putting matters straight, objects to having such things in church, and so makes a clean sweep.

When the collection is complete—it would take many years—but when it is complete the Central Council should publish, not the lot, perhaps, but a big selection, and a very interesting book it would be. It would include the record of the first peals in the standard methods, the long lengths, and the accounts of quite a number of peals rung in methods which seem to have been utterly forgotten. For instance, there is a board at Maidstone recording a peal of Maidstone Bob Major Royals. Does anyone now know what Maidstone Bob Major Royals was?

Then you would have a number of curious and quaint boards, of which the following, which hangs in the belfry of St. Paul's, Hammersmith, is a good example.

C.R.

In Commemoration of the Glorious Victory of our
GRACIOUS QUEEN CAROLINEover her vindictive and unrelenting enemies, the bells in this steeple

Samuel Whitlock, Assistant Ringer; Mr. James Gumme, Churchwarden. N.B.—Nine bottles of wine, the gift of Mr. J. Moody, was drunk here on the 13th in honour of the victory. The gilding, the gift of Mr. F. Wescombe, Plumber.

GOD SAVE THE QUEEN.

A good many men at one time or another have stood drinks round, and a good many ringers have partaken thereof, but did anyone else ever record the fact in gold and vermilion, and in a church of all places?

This board has an historical interest, apart from ringing. The chief of the 'vindictive and unrelenting enemies' of Queen Caroline was none other than her husband, George IV., the reigning King of England. After some miserable and disgraceful years of married life he brought an action for divorce against her in the House of Lords. Apparently the lady was no better than she should have been, and the gentleman a good deal worse than he need have been, and the court found in her favour. The board gives a good idea of the popular opinion and the excitement the trial caused.

When we have got the complete copies of the peal boards one step will have been made toward that definitive history of change ringing, which one day will have to be written. A big step, but only one of the things that will have to be done. Another thing is to make a complete search through the files of the old newspapers, especially those of the eighteenth century.

This is a long and tedious job, but not quite so bad as it looks. Much has already been done. There is the collection made by that enthusiast, the late Mr. Samuel Slater, of Glemsford. Mr. Jerran, of Salisbury, has much material, and quite recently Mr. George Burton has discovered and published interesting items from the old Norwich papers. It will be remembered that he found the record of the first peal of Double Norwich Royal; a peal which was believed to have been rung, but of which all detailed account had been lost. I myself found by accident a reference to a peal of Grandsire Triples rung at Norwich so long ago as December 28th, 1719. It was in a letter written to the 'Norwich Gazette' by Thomas Melchior, in reference to the first peal of Stedman Triples rung at Mancroft. No other account of the peal exists, and the memory of it has quite perished. When I read it at first, I thought it referred to the well-known peal of Garthson's, rung in 1718. It was only in after years that a comparison of the dates and such particulars as were available showed that it was a quite different peal.

Then there are the various MSS. preserved in public libraries, Mason's, at Downing College, Cambridge; Annable's and Osborne's, at the British Museum. I have long promised myself to take an opportunity of inspecting this latter, and finding out what it contains. Mr. Snowden printed several extracts, but whether there is anything further of interest I know not.

When we have got all this with the printed books that have come down to us, and such oral tradition as still survives, we shall have the materials ready for our history. Not the history itself, mark you. That has got to be something very much different from a mere collection of lifeless facts. Twos and twos have to be put together, and the old ringers made to live. For instance, there is the Norwich peal of Bob Triples of 1715, the first peal ever rung. We have the board with the usual details, the date, time, names of ringers, conductor, and the rest. Beyond this all accounts of the peal have perished. No figures have come down to us, and because they were lost, later ringers, such as Shipway, concluded rather contemptuously that the peal was false. We know better. By putting two and two together we can find out what sort of peal was rung, and we can be reasonably sure that it was true.

So with the men themselves. Many of them—nay, the great majority of them—are names, and nothing else. We know that James De Ville rang the fourth at Hammersmith in 1820. Who he was, what else he did, we neither know nor care. But some of the ancients can be made to live. There are enough touches here and there to build up a living picture of Ben Annable not very far from the truth. And what sort of man Fabian Stedman was is writ large in his book for all who have eyes to see.

Oh yes! The history of change ringing can be written. But where shall we find the historian?

HEREFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

PRESTEIGN DISTRICT.

The summer quarterly meeting was held at Wigmore on Saturday, July 25th. Twenty-two members attended from six towers, representing five districts. The Guild form of service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. E. Irving Watson), and tea was provided by members of the congregation.

The business meeting was held afterwards, presided over by the Vicar.—The District Secretary reported combined practices well attended, and one peal of Doubles rung, the first peal for three of the ringers.

Combined monthly practices were arranged, and the next quarterly meeting is to be held at Presteign in October.

The Vicar was elected as an honorary member, and the Wigmore band as probationers.—Votes of thanks were passed to all who had helped to make the meeting a success.

A course of Grandsire Triples on handbells concluded the meeting. This was much appreciated by all. Ringing was kept up till nearly nine o'clock in the following methods: Grandsire, Stedman and Bob Doubles, and Bob Minor.

OXFORD GUILD ANNUAL FESTIVAL.To the Editor.*

Dear Sir,—In a recent issue of the 'Ringing World,' Mr. Hopgood states that you appear to be under some misapprehension by suggesting that your leader claimed that the Oxfordshire men had the dominating power in voting. I did not read it quite in the same light, and anyone who attended the annual festival at Oxford could cast their eyes round and see that the local district men were not there in any great strength to turn the vote of the meeting. I did not intend to enter into any discussion on the 'annual meeting venue,' but when I read that Mr. Hopgood suggests that our 'North Bucks Branch' was strongly represented, giving the number approximately at 55, I must, as secretary, tell him that we did not realise half that number, so he is considerably wide of the mark. We come, he states, because it suits us. Well, that I do not deny. Why shouldn't we, so long as we are members of the Guild? North Bucks has the same legitimate right to come to Oxford and vote for the festival to be held there, equally as much as the other side comes to vote to have it removed. We are not envious about it, and should the time come when South Bucks turns the vote so that the festival is moved from Oxford, there will be no turmoil from North Bucks. As to voting for Oxford we do it because we like it, and think it the proper place. Perhaps it may be thought that we are selfish. I fail to see it. We North Bucks members have to travel quite as far, and, might I suggest, further than a good many of our fellow-members. From the nearest point we do not get under 30 miles railway travel, and I should say we cannot be called selfish on that ground; it would suit us better were it nearer.

But why keep on stirring up the same old trouble? If there is a way to alter it, subject to the approval of the members throughout the Guild it should be done, but while the rule states, 'A place to be selected,' and that place is selected in a proper manner, and voted for on constitutional lines, there is nothing wrong with what is done, even though it may not suit all members. It is quite obvious, and I think my fellow-members of the Guild will agree, that neither North Bucks nor Oxfordshire can be directly accused of being strongly represented at the annual meeting to turn the vote. It would be better to suggest, I think, that the 'Oxford favourites' are well sprinkled throughout the Guild, a few here and a few there, who come and put their hands up, and so sure as Mr. Hopgood tries to win those 'selfish' ones over to his way of thinking, we in North Bucks shall try to hold Oxford.—Yours truly,

WALTER SEAR,

North Bucks Branch Secretary.

DOUBLE NORWICH MAJOR.To the Editor.*

Dear Sir,—In reply to Mr. Howes' letter in your last issue, in which he says that the calling of his peal, published July 24th, is distinct from peal No. 35 in the C.C. Collection, kindly allow me to point out there is no difference whatever, except that he commences with the 4th course of Mr. Lindoff's peal, and also moves the single.

It does not contain the full combinations of 4th, 5th, 6th, in 5—6, as two leads are cut out by the bob at 5 in each part (twelve leads altogether), when two of these bells are in that position.—Yours, etc.,

H. W. WILDE.

WHERE ARE THEY?

Dear Sir,—With reference to the controversy on Mr. Howes' peal of Double Norwich, and the remarks made by Mr. G. E. Symonds, that all these peals were composed years ago, will he kindly say where they are to be found? The Central Council Collections of Double Norwich are very antiquated; in fact, in this district they are termed 'cock-eyed,' and contain the extent of nothing. Any peals that are published in the 'Ringing World' now are as a whole really good peals, especially from a musical point of view. Conductors will sooner call these than those containing bad music. Should a false peal be published it is soon discovered (as Mr. Symonds will readily agree), but the C.C. Collection went for years without these discoveries being made. Some of the peals like those in that collection would never be published nowadays. Yours sincerely,

CHAS. H. KIPPIN.

INVITATION RINGING AT AUDLEY, STAFFS.

At Audley, Staffs, on Saturday, July 25th (St. James' Day), at the Parish Church, an attempt for a peal of Stedman Doubles was unsuccessful, after ringing 2,270 changes: B. H. Pountney 1. W. T. Powell 2. S. H. Coley 3. C. Wallater 4. H. Knight 5. J. T. Davis 6. This was rung on the Patronal Festival, by the kind invitation of the Rev. W. Sykes (Vicar) and his sons, the Rev. David T. Sykes, M.A., curate of Willenhall, curate-elect, Sheffield Cathedral; the Rev. William D. Sykes, M.A., Vice-Principal, London College of Divinity; and the Rev. John N. Sykes, R.A., Principal, Chesterfield Residential School, Vancouver, B.C., this being his first visit to the Old Country since leaving 12 years ago. The ringers wish to take this opportunity of thanking the Vicar of Audley and his sons for the warm welcome and hospitality before the ringing; also Mrs. Sykes, who kindly provided refreshments afterwards.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Until the peal rung there last week, there had been no peal rung at Sherborne Abbey since September, 1912, when Mr. W. Pye's party rang Stedman Triples there, the peal being called by the late Mr. Bertram Prewett. Incidentally it was the 300th tower in which Mr. W. Pye had rung a peal, and during the same tour 'Bert' Prewett rung his 800th peal.

Mr. John Austin, whose services to ringing have been recognised by his friends by the presentation of a gold watch and chain, is a native of Burton-on-Trent. He began his ringing career at Winhill, rang his first peal in 1885, and joined St. Paul's Society, Burton-on-Trent, with whom he rang his first Surprise peals.

On going to Gloucester he helped to lift the St. Michael's Juniors to the top of the tree, and has been the mainstay of ringing in the western city ever since. As a conductor he has had few equals.

A peal was rung at St. Lawrence's Church, Chorley, Lancs, last week, in commemoration of the patronal festival. According to the history of the church, and documents in the British Museum, the skull of Saint Lawrence was brought from Normandy by Sir Rowland Staudish, of Duesbury, near Chorley, and was presented to the church by his brother James, in the year 1442. Since that time the church has been known as St. Lawrence's.

The second peal of Stedman Caters (the first having been rung at St. John's, Horsleydown, in the previous year by the College Youths) was rung by the Cumberland Youths at St. Leonard's, Shoreditch, on August 23rd, 1788. The Cumberlands peal book records that, on this date, 'the society rang a true peal of 5,184 Grandsire Caters on Stedman's principle in 3 hours 47 mins., being the second peal ever performed in that method.'

Some famous men of that day took part in the peal, which was composed and conducted by John Reeves. It was William Shipway's first peal with the society. George Gross, who composed and called many peals, including various record lengths of Treble Bob Royal, culminating in the 12,000, was one of the band, and the tenor was rung by Robert Mann, who also rang the tenor to the 10,200 Treble Ten in the year 1777.

August 26th is the anniversary of the first peal of Grandsire Triples. On that date, in 1718, Garthorn's peal, the triumph of the age, was rung at Mancroft Church, Norwich.

Benjamin Annable conducted a peal of 5,040 Bob Major, at St. George's, Southwark, on August 27th, 1750.

A peal of 12,320 Treble Bob Major was rung in 7 hours 15 mins., at Otley, Yorks, on August 27th, 1814.

An interesting peal of nearly sixty years ago was that at Guisley, Yorks, on August 24th, 1868. It was a 5,088 Kent Treble Bob Major by a band whose combined ages amounted to 553 years. The ringers were J. Hanson, Huddersfield, aged 78; J. Kendal, Otley, 73; C. Iles, Leeds, 74; W. Senior, Earlsheaton, 68; H. Hubbard (of Leeds, formerly of Norwich), 64; T. Dawson, Bradford, 62; I. Hingworth, Bradford, 66; W. Dumbleton, Pudsey, 68.

The time of the peal of Grandsire Caters rung at Painswick on August 1st was 3 hrs. 13 mins., not 3 hrs. 5 mins., as published. The peal of Stedman Caters at Rochester on the same day was Carter's No. 217, and not 127.

A prize of an artichoke has been sent to and duly acknowledged by a Sussex reader of the 'North Dorset Church Magazine,' for the solution of a problem, viz., the correct interpretation of the initials S. D. G. R. The successful competitor must have been a ringer, and we wonder if we should have to make two guesses at his identity? The competition was promoted by the Rector of Kington Magna, who is hon. secretary of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild of Ringers.

DOUBLE NORWICH ROYAL.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I have no objection about making the point raised by Mr. Lindoff.

The Royal method discovered by the late Thomas Porter, of Norwich, has the prior right to the name of Double Norwich Royal, but if there is anything at all in mathematical progression (a weapon forged by my opponents to their own undoing, and which, perhaps, they are not so keen about since it has been turned against them), there is not a shadow of a doubt that I have now shown the correct extension of Double Court from Minor to Maximus inclusive, and it will now be for the Nomenclature Committee to find a name for the true extension, leaving the old name unaltered for Porter's Royal.

I notice that one of my 'opponents,' notwithstanding the harm done in the past by his arbitrary and false definitions, is still misleading us, and it will be well for me, once more, to point out to the Exercise that while Mr. Trollope's so-called 'constructional shunts' will explain some methods that have Bob Major lead heads, my formula that 'single moves' produce round blocks in the primary principles or the Treble Bob principle will explain any method, principle or system whatsoever.—Yours faithfully,

GEORGE BAKER.

MULTI-METHOD PEALS.

HINTS ON 'SPLICING' AND RINGING MINOR METHODS.

By JOHN P. FIDLER. SECOND ARTICLE.

Having met with success in ringing two methods to a 720, attention can be directed to the remaining members of the group. Let us, therefore, sort out the work of London Scholars' Pleasure (No. 7, page 9). Here we find a method, similar to Kingston, with the exception of the middle work below treble, i.e., the work of the bells passing treble 2-3 and 4-5 down. The 2-3 bell, after leading, makes 4th's, dodges 3-4 down, makes 3rd's, and goes up; whilst the 4-5 bell does the opposite, viz., 3rd's, dodge 3-4 down, 4th's, and to lead. A point to remember is to make the far place first, and finish with the near place.

Our next method is Sandal (No. 2, page 8). This will require a little thought spent on it. Its work may be said to be London Scholars' Pleasure transposed, the middle work being transferred to the front, and the front work going to the middle. Let me explain. In the previous method, we have, when treble is up behind, one pair of bells triple dodging on the front, and another pair doing the middle work. The corresponding position in the method under review gives us the opposite, the triple dodge being done in 3-4, and the other work being done in front. For the time being, examine the slow work, and work of the 3-4 bell first. After dodging with treble in 3-4 down, it leads full, snaps, and makes second's place, and is equal to far place, dodge, near place, afterwards remaining 'in slow.' The 1-2 down bell, after snapping with treble, leads, makes second's place, leads, again makes second's place (this is the equivalent to a far place), snaps and leads full (the near place), then to treble in 3-4 up. Simultaneously, the bells passing treble 2-3 and 4-5 down, are triple dodging in 3-4.

In our notebook we shall record the methods as follows:—

LONDON SCHOLARS' PLEASURE. Work up, as in Oxford.
 Pass Treble 1-2 down. Work, as in Kingston.
 Pass Treble 2-3 down. Lead, 4th's, dodge 3-4, 3rd's and out.
 Pass Treble 3-4 down. Work, as in Kingston.
 Pass Treble 4-5 down. 3rd's, dodge 3-4, 4th's, lead and out.
 Pass Treble 5-6 down. 5th's, as in Kingston.
SANDAL. Work up, as in Oxford.
 Pass Treble 1-2 down. Lead, 2nd's, lead, 2nd's, snap, lead and out.
 Pass Treble 2-3 down. Triple dodge in 3-4, after leading.
 Pass Treble 3-4 down. Lead, snap, 2nd's, remain in slow.
 Pass Treble 4-5 down. Triple dodge in 3-4, lead and out.
 Pass Treble 5-6 down. 5th's and dodge treble 5-6 up.

The last method in this group is Overton, No. 26, the figures for which are reproduced herewith. It was discovered by Mr. E. H. Lewis, after the present Collection had been published. It is the tit-bit of the group, and contains very interesting work. Up to now, all the work dealt with has been straightforward dodging and place making with the bells the right way, i.e., hand and back. In Overton, we have place making with the bells wrong, i.e., back and hand, which has a tendency to upset some ringers. If, however, strict counting of places is maintained, this difficulty will be overcome.

Overton.

the slow.

Having memorised the slow work, you can tackle the middle work, which is that of the bells passing treble 2-3 and 4-5 down. Taking the 2-3 bell first (this reminds me of army days, I felt like saying between the forefinger and thumb; however, to be serious, if one will only learn by easy stages, or numbers if you like, the work will be more readily remembered), in this case the 3rd, trace her path to lead, up to third's (note it is near place first this time), double dodge 3-4, fourth's (far place last), and pass the treble 4-5 up. There is a bell doing the opposite work, and as in the case of the other three methods it is the 4-5 bell. Bear in mind which place is made first, viz., fourth's, double dodge 3-4, third's and to lead. There is only one more position left, which is fifth's below treble, and this which needs no explanation. The bob work is the same as for the rest of the group.

The record in our notebook will be as follows:—

OVERTON.

Work up, as in Oxford.

Pass treble 1-2 down. Lead, 2nd's, lead, half-2nd's, lead, 2nd's, half lead and out.

Pass treble 3-4 down. Half lead, 2nd's, lead, half-2nd's, stay in slow.

Pass treble 2-3 down. Lead, 3rd's, double dodge 3-4, 4th's and out.

Pass treble 4-5 down. 4th's, double dodge 3-4, 3rd's, lead and out.

Pass treble 5-6 down. 5th's.

Naturally, after mastering these methods, it will be desired to ring a 720 in five methods. In each of the groups to be considered, there is an ugly duckling. The 'odd' method in the group under review requires care in introduction, otherwise a true extent cannot be rung, although the other four methods, which produce exactly the same changes, lead for lead, can be introduced at any treble lead. As already stated, Oxford is the 'odd' method of this group, and the rule holds for the 720 in five methods, as for the one in two methods, the odd method need not be introduced more than once. After much practice, we have considered that the best place for it is between the last bob of the first part and the first bob of the second part, the remaining methods being changed at will. In the figures given for this extent, tenor without the 5th is the observation.

A SPLICED 720.

Oxford

Sandal

London Scholars'

Kingston

Although I have put the names of methods against the leads, it does not follow that Overton, Sandal, London Scholars' and Kingston must be changed exactly at that position, and they are only shown for guidance. Oxford, however, must be the five leads of the course shown in brackets, or between the last bob of the 2nd part and the first of the 3rd part, or the extent may be commenced with Oxford up to the first bob, and finished with it, changing immediately after the last bob. Further variety may be added by introducing Oxford at all the positions mentioned, and the other methods every other lead end. This will be found good practice, but for peal ringing it will be advisable to use them as indicated in the figures given.

Having accomplished so much, it may be desired to have a shot for a peal. To make a seven method peal of it, I would suggest adding Burton (No. 4), which is Oxford up, and work down that can soon be memorised, and Kent (No. 13). Although these two will not splice and will not be used again, no harm will come of their introduction, it being good practice for the learning and retention of the methods to come.

The following will be found a suitable order for the seven extents: Burton, Overton, Sandal, London Scholars' Pleasure, Kingston, Oxford and Kent—a good stepping-stone to higher things.

In the next article, I shall deal with another group, in which our old, but irregular, friend Woodbine plays no small part.

RAILWAY TRAVELLING FACILITIES. GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION'S APPLICATION.

The following letter from the hon. secretary of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association has been forwarded to the Divisional Superintendent of the Great Western Railway, making formal application for cheap travelling facilities for ringers:—

Dear Sir,—I now send you compilation of facts re travelling of church bell ringers. In doing so I earnestly appeal to you to recommend our application when forwarding to Clearing House.

This association has been established nearly 50 years. Our area extends from Bristol to Swindon, Cirencester to Cotswold Hills, Cheltenham, Tewkesbury, Forest of Dean and Lydney.

We have a membership of 850.

At our meetings we usually get about 12 per cent. This is due to the fact that only parties of twelve are granted pleasure party tickets. In most of our churches we have only peals of six bells, and even five in some. This means that these bands of ringers are not given the opportunity to attend our conferences unless they obtain the necessary extra persons (who are usually disinterested) to make up to twelve.

There are about 50 ringing societies in England, and an approximate number of ringers concerned would be 40,000.

Every week there is an opportunity of ringers visiting neighbouring villages or towns to ring, but unfortunately cheap travelling facilities have not been instituted except to a few of the places concerned, and so many opportunities to ring have had to be turned down.

I understand that the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association have made a similar application to you, and that other societies in England are also applying to their district superintendent to place their case before the Clearing House.

FACTS.

We hold a large annual meeting every year, at about Eastertide, average 100. We hold a large dinner in Bristol on the second Saturday in January, average 130.

These gatherings are of ringers from all over Gloucestershire, Somersetshire and Wiltshire, whilst others travel from even longer distances.

This association has ten branches, and they hold an average of six meetings a year, making the total sixty.

Experienced members arrange party trips, and I give herewith the particulars of one individual arranged this year. There are many doing this.

First trip: Minehead, party of 20; Chewton Mendip, 14; Milborne Port, 20; Dorchester, 10.

Second trip: Minehead, 5; London, 4; Birmingham, 5.

By another: Wrington, 10; Newport, 9; Corston, 8; Corston, 6; Corston, 6; Chester, 3; Reading, 5.

Numbers would be largely increased if consideration could be given to ringers in respect to travelling.

FROM AN ORGANISATION POINT.

Owing to the fact that ringers are drawn from all villages, and the fact that there are usually less than twelve attached to local guilds, we have observed with great regret that the tendency has been, and is persisting, to arrange charabanc conveyance, two village guilds arranging to go together, and fill, perhaps, a 14-seater.

Now, we regard this as being against the interest of ringing associations, from the standpoint that there is a restriction upon the number. In the case of trains there would be no restriction, and on the day in question, perhaps, an extra one or two could travel to the meeting quite unexpectedly.

If you would kindly place our application with your recommendation before the Clearing House we should be extremely grateful, and, successful or otherwise, ringing organisations would be greatly indebted to you.

In the event of consideration, arrangements would be made for registered members of organisations to produce a registration card.—Yours very truly,

(Signed) EDGAR GUISE.

TWO SURPRISE ROYAL PEALS WITHIN EIGHT HOURS.

As reported in our peal columns, the Leicester branch of the M.C.A. have added yet another unique performance to their list. Arriving at Loughborough Parish Church, on Saturday, a start was made at 2.10 p.m. for Leicester Surprise Royal, and a successful peal accomplished in 3 hours 42 minutes on this fine peal of ten bells. A break of about one hour for tea, and then another essay on the small peal at Messrs. Taylor's bell foundry for a peal of Pudsey Surprise Royal was successful, and came into rounds at 10.5 p.m., thus completing the first two Surprise Royal peals ever rung by one band in a day; and within eight hours. By a coincidence, the second peal completed the 100th and 300th peals for the association by the Brothers Morris, and they also completed the 'circle' of the tower.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION. SERIOUS ACCIDENT TO SENIOR STEWARD.

The Southern District of the London County Association held a very enjoyable and successful meeting at Isleworth last Saturday. Some pleasant touches were brought home during the afternoon, and twenty members partook of a very nice tea at the Northumberland Hotel. At the business meeting afterwards the members passed a vote of sympathy to Mr. H. Ellis (a late Master of the district, and a well-known ringer) on the loss of his wife, who died in March, after a short illness.

Mr. Taffender then informed the company of an accident which had occurred to Mr. W. Hewson, an enthusiastic member and senior steward of the society, who, whilst on holiday at his estate in Ireland, was injured by his shot gun, which went off accidentally. This, unfortunately, would probably mean a finish to all active ringing on his part. It was agreed that the secretary should write to Mrs. Hewson expressing the members' sympathy and hope for Mr. Hewson's speedy recovery.—A vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar (the Rev. H. Relton) for the use of the bells, and also to Mr. T. Beadle for making all the necessary arrangements.

This concluded the business, and a little handbell ringing was then indulged in by some of the company. The tower was again visited, and touches in standard methods were rung. Ringing was stopped at 8 p.m., owing to a service, and handbell ringing and a few songs were enjoyed at the Northumberland Hotel.

DEATH OF MR. GEORGE HOLLIS. A WELL-KNOWN CHESTERFIELD RINGER.

After having been unrung for two years, Chesterfield bells, in the famous crooked spire, have been heard again—but their voices were half-muffled in memory of one of Chesterfield's ringers, Mr. George Hollis, who died on the last day of July, and was buried on the 4th inst. The late Mr. Hollis was 52 years of age, and had been for 23 years a clerk in the Chesterfield Borough Accountant's office. He had been seriously ill for six months, but he bore his suffering with great patience.

Mr. Hollis began his ringing career while in London, and rang his first peal at St. Mary's, Willesden, as a youth. As soon as he went to Chesterfield he associated himself with the band at the Parish Church, and, in all, he had rung 178 peals, 15 of which he conducted. Three of these were of his own composition. He had given a good deal of attention to this phase of the art, having as his mentor Mr. Arthur Knights, and he had a considerable collection of musical touches in a variety of methods.

The funeral took place on August 4th, the first part of the service being in the Parish Church, and the interment in Baythorpe Cemetery. His fellow-ringers acted as bearers, and at the conclusion of the last sad rites, a course of Grandsire Calers was rung over the grave. Ringers were present from several of the surrounding towers, including Sheffield and Staveley, and wreaths were sent by the Sheffield and District Society and the Chesterfield Parish Church band. The many mourners included representatives of the various Corporation departments.

In the evening the bells were rung to muffled touches, a peal being out of the question on account of the spire being under repair. The bells had not been rung for two years, but the architect was able to permit short spells of ringing for this occasion.

DEATH OF AN OLD BEESTON RINGER.

One of the 'old brigade' of Beeston, Notts, Mr. George Oldham, passed away on the 9th inst., in his 70th year. A stalwart of the past generation, he would not be widely known among present ringers. He was not a frequent participator in peal ringing, his peals being very few, but he had an innate love of good striking, and never refrained from grumbling if he didn't get it.

The interment was with full ringers' honours, four of his 'brother strings' acting as bearers, and a course on handbells was rung over the open grave. Deceased was a bachelor, and during the last few years had resided near Newark, but was brought to Beeston for interment.

NOMENCLATURE.

To the Editor.

Sir,—The Rev. H. Drake's letter in your columns on the subject of nomenclature engenders considerable surprise. Mr. Trollope has endeavoured to place before your readers a glimpse of the other side of the question, but Mr. Drake apparently thinks there can be no alternative solution. We all want to be helpful, and none of us wish that so important a subject should be considered too hastily, but we do ask Mr. Burton's committee to consider the question in all its aspects.

Now that mention has been made of the 'terms of reference' of the committee, it may be pointed out that it is a grave question whether they have not been exceeded. The committee were appointed to 'review' and 'revise.' Actually they want completely to change. Their mandate does not allow of this, nor does it seem to have been the wish of their appointers. However, apart from technicalities like this, I cannot agree to the wholesale massacre that is proposed. Such entire alteration serves no useful purpose, and, owing to its very entirety, will never find favour with the Exercise. If the committee had confined itself to the removal of anomaly and the effacement of ambiguity their report would have been of much greater value. A scientific, not a rough, attempt at classification would have been better still. At present it seems to be change for the sake of change. No attempt is made to preserve old names which, with the passage of time, have become fixed by immemorial custom, and have given strength to the art of their traditions.

At the Council meeting at Westminster there were 83 members present; the supporters of the committee numbered 35, so that it is evident that Mr. Drake's 'clear majority' was only obtained by abstentions from voting. If, as is often the case, those who did not vote were counted as voting against the motion, the committee would never have been appointed. This goes to show that opinion was then divided enough to make it doubtful whether the body of ringers wish for any marked change other than that which is absolutely imperative.

It is to be hoped that Mr. Trollope will respond to Mr. Drake's invitation and put forward proposals for modification by way of amendment at next year's Council meeting. Surely that is the proper place for him to do it. Meanwhile it would be advantageous if the affiliated Guilds would debate the report and instruct their representatives how to vote, so that their votes may next year represent the Exercise, and not merely their own personal views.—Yours sincerely,

The Rectory, Capenhurst.

EDWARD W. ELWELL.

PLAYING THE GAME.

There are several reasons why one regrets that ringers are not often keen on games. This has been brought home to me this week twice. First, I received a letter from the Sub-Dean of Coventry Cathedral, in which he thanked me very gratefully for my letter, as he said, 'all the other letters had been aggressive, and in some instances, abusive.' Had the writers been accustomed to play in games, they would have recognised that abuse is not only useless, but that it always has the opposite effect to that desired. I hope that the Sub-Dean will get many more letters from ringers, but that no more of them will be either aggressive or abusive. What we want cannot be effected that way, but I am sure it will be effected if we are courteous and 'play the game'; in short, if we put ourselves in the other man's place.

The other instance was the article by Mr. Trollope on 'The Laws of the Exercise, and the Nomenclature's Committee's Report.' To say that this is wrong from beginning to end is not very helpful, so I will try to explain why it is so.

All arts, and games or sports (which are really different forms of arts), are founded on what are often called Laws of Nature, or Scientific Laws. (The word law here is an entire misnomer, and very misleading, but one must put up with it now.) We recognise that these laws are unchangeable, but for the purpose of the art or game, most of us know nothing of them. Instead we use them for our purpose, and turn them into certain practical 'rules.' If we look up the law of impact in a book on physics, we shall find it concerned with angles. But the practical rule in cricket simply says, 'keep your shoulder forward.' Similarly we have in ringing a practical rule about noticing when you pass the treble. For these rules there is no need for any formal enactment; in fact, exponents often find that different practical rules suit different persons. They carry their own penalty, e.g., if you do not keep your shoulder forward you will be caught.

In addition, the liberty allowed by the Laws of Nature is restricted by certain fixed conventions, written and unwritten. Among the latter are that one must not dispute the decision of an umpire, or that one must not set one's bell up in the middle of ringing.

Among the former, are such matters as the width of the bat, or the question of Bob Triples. In all these matters there is no such difference between ringing and cricket, or any other sport, as Mr. Trollope would have us believe. In fact, when we had Points for Peals, we were not only bound quite as strictly by the regulations under which the analysis was published, as any other art or sport, but these points gave a refinement of regulation which does not exist in any other case that I know of.

Mr. Trollope seems to think that there is more liberty in setting aside the laws of ringing than those of games and sports. As a matter of fact, I have played many a game of cricket (and I suppose most players have) in which certain laws were deliberately disregarded, or even set aside. I never remember to have done the same when ringing.

Again, he seems to think that ringing is differentiated by its lacking the spirit of competition, which all other games or sports have. It is true that ringing is among those pursuits which are chiefly concerned in making records, rather than those which imitate a fight or conflict. But so far from this helping his argument, it is much easier to agree to alter rules in a mimic conflict, than in making a record—whether on a paced cycle, or in a long peal.

Even if these arguments were sound, they would not apply to the Nomenclature Committee, who (to use Mr. Trollope's own words of his own committee), have been trying 'to gather up and codify the experience of the Exercise.' He then goes on to repeat almost word for word a paragraph he had printed a fortnight ago. Again I must say that this is not playing the game. Either let him fight by article, or by letter; or by one following, and consequent upon the other. Not by saying the same thing in both. This means he gets in two whacks to one of ours. Besides, in the meantime I had pointed out that all that he says, in this repeated paragraph, is inaccurate.

Is not our report going to have any sounder criticism than this?

HERBERT DRAKE.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION. REVIVAL OF THE STOW BRANCH.

A very successful meeting of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association was held at Bourton-on-the-Water on Saturday, July 25th, and attracted visitors from Swindon, Gloucester, Upton-on-Severn, Chisbury, Dumbleton and Cheltenham, as well as a good muster from the neighbouring towers. The bells were set going at 3 o'clock by the local band, who were soon augmented by the visitors, who arrived in motors, etc.

The service was conducted by the Rector (Canon W. E. White, R.D.), and attended by over 30 members. The Archdeacon of Cheltenham gave an inspiring address.

Tea was partaken of in the Church Rooms, and was kindly provided by the Rector and friends.

At the meeting which followed, the Archdeacon was voted to the chair. Mr. Yeend then explained the object of the meeting, which was to endeavour to revive the Stow Branch.—Thereupon a proposition by Mr. Banning (Bourton), which was seconded by Mr. F. Davis (Stow), that a branch be formed for the Stow Deanery, was carried unanimously.

Several letters of apology were read, the cause of absence being chiefly the unavoidable short notice of the meeting.

The following officers were elected: Chairman, Canon W. E. White, R.D.; hon. secretary, Mr. Bernard Phillips (Bourton); representative, Mr. F. Davis (Stow). Canon White then took the chair.—The date and place of next meeting were left to the chairman and secretary to arrange.

Some dozen new members were elected, and a hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Rector for his support and interest in the association, and all who had made the meeting such a success.

Canon White, in response, expressed pleasure in having such a good number present, and said he would do all in his power to further the interest of the branch.

Stow, with its fine 30 cwt. tenor, was visited in the evening to the delight of all who were present. Their thanks are due to Mr. Banning for his genial help in arranging the meeting.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

On Saturday, July 18th, through the kindness of the Rector of Aldington, an invitation was given to the members of the Exercise to visit his tower. Owing to the rather short notice, and the fact that it was holiday time for some, only about 22 members attended, the following towers being represented: St. Peter's, Brighton; Henfield, Shipley, Shoreham, West Grinstead, and the local band. The bells were kept going in various methods, from Grand sire Doubles to London Surprise, during the afternoon and evening.

At 4.30 a short service was held, and conducted by the Rector, who also gave an address on the uses of bells. Afterwards the members adjourned to the Parish Hall, where an excellent tea was provided by the Rector, and was much enjoyed by all present.—Mr. Markwell (in the absence of the Master, Mr. J. T. Rickman) proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector for his kind invitation, and for the excellent tea; also to the organist for his services.—The Rector said it gave him great pleasure to entertain the members, and hoped they would pay another visit in the near future.

A visit to the Rectory gardens was then enjoyed.

Great regret was felt that the hon. secretary, Mr. A. D. Stone, was not present.

RINGERS' OUTING.

THE WESTMINSTER ABBEY COMPANY, WITH ST. STEPHEN'S, ROCHESTER ROW.

The Westminster Abbey Guild's annual week-end is always a great event, both from a ringing and social aspect. This year, West Dorset was the attraction, and Bridport the headquarters. Bridport is a quaint old town, and full of history. It sent five ships to the Spanish Armada.

On arrival, the party was met by Messrs. W. S. B. Northover, and the ubiquitous Hervey Beams. The programme began on Saturday morning. A motor coach had been reserved, but owing to the great bulk demanded by the 'stores' department, Mr. Northover very kindly conveyed several of the party in his car. Bradpole (a charming old-world village, where Mr. Beams instructs the young in the way they should go) was the first to be visited, and where Stedman Triples, and various Surprise methods were rung. Then to Beaminster for heavier metal, but weight worried not, for the company included such stalwarts as Cockerill, of St. Paul's fame; Peck and Langdon, of Southwark fame; and Bob Newton, of Bow and Southwark fame. The bells here are a complete ring of eight by the famous West Country founder, Thomas Bilbie, in 1765. The party afterwards moved on to Lambert's Castle (old Roman earthworks on the summit of a hill, where the view obtained on all sides is magnificent. A sumptuous picnic was here enjoyed. The day, by chance, was the 40th anniversary of the advent into this mortal world of a certain maker of bells from Whitechapel, who, to his delight, was presented with a fountain pen, and, earlier, at breakfast, with a handsome coting, with greetings and all good wishes to mark the occasion. Of the etching, we refrain from comment except to say that it was certainly inspiring on such a warm day. It is said that the same is to be preserved, as later in the evening it was autographed by every member of the party. By the way, every signature was written with the pen, and each is perfectly legible. One inscribed it thus:—

The Westminster ringers had a day out,
At Bradpole and Beaminster the bells rang out;
Lunch on the site of a Roman camp,
It wasn't dry, and it wasn't damp:
At Hawkchurch we tested the bellhanger's work,
And a 'prohibited one' near to the kirk;
To Axminster then, and a 'Chapple' to tea,
Lyme Regis, too, and a sniff of the sea;
Then as to the 'Greyhound' we motored our way,
Each wished Bertie 'A Happy Birthday.'

After lunch, and down terrible gradients, Hawkchurch was reached, where the bellhanger's recent work was tested, and passed as a thorough good job. Thence to Axminster, Devon, where, after good ringing on the heavy peal of eight, the party was invited by Mr. Pittfield Chapple to take tea in his garden. After some Stedman Cinques and Duffield in hand, and loath to leave their kind hosts and hostesses, the party proceeded on their switchback tour to Lyme Regis—what hills!—one member will never again venture such drives as the day provided without a special insurance policy; his heart is fluttering still. Lyme is a glorious old-world spot, and the views along the coast were truly wonderful. It is recorded in the town archives that at the time of the Spanish Armada, the men were paid £1 15s. for fighting the foe, and after the battle, £2 18s. was spent for them for beer. After an hour's ringing on a peal one would not worry to save from the bellfounder's maw, the party had time to explore, and the Worshipful Grand Primo of the A. and H. O. T. T. was soon making his presence 'felt.' The party took supper at Bridport. About that supper—let it go that the Abbey band does nothing by halves. They may be a terrible lot, but they're healthy. After the spoliation, a special business meeting was held by the members present of the A. and H. O. T. T., which being translated, is 'Ancient and Honourable Order of Tom Tits.' The Worshipful Grand Primo, John W. Golding, mentioned aforesaid, took the chair, supported by Deputy Grand Primo Hughes, with 'Captain' Macdonald, on guard, the G.P.'s new robes of office being greatly admired. Five new members were initiated into the mysterious order (Messrs. Cockerill, Northover, Beams, Warren and Turner), who took the oath of secrecy and allegiance without flinching, and were allocated to their respective lodges. No penalties being necessary, business was closed. More double-handed ringing was enjoyed. On Sunday morning, after ringing on the fine new peal of eight, the party moved down to West Bay until dinner-time. After a display of some members' aquatic talents, the party were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Northover.

However, the only train to Paddington departed at 3.20, so back to dinner.

In closing, it must be said that mere words cannot express the company's appreciation of the wonderful help and kindness shown them by Mr. Northover, who engineered all the local arrangements, and also to Host Walter Trump and his staff who ministered to the creature comforts of the party so splendidly.

The trip was unanimously voted the finest yet undertaken, and the scenery passed through on the Saturday's run must be seen to be appreciated. CAMPANARIUS AND TOM OF BERKYNCE.

RINGERS' OUTINGS.*BOLSOVER RINGERS IN NOTTS.

On Saturday, July 18th, the Bolsover ringers, with their wives and friends, and the Vicar (the Rev. J. E. Pagett), set off for the day by charabanc into the North Notts district. After a twenty miles' run, Ossington Grange was reached, and here, by the kindness of Lady Elinor Dennison, permission had been obtained to ring on the peal of six. The bells were soon set going to Plain Bob, Treble Bob and Cambridge, while the rest of the party were being shown round the beautiful gardens. Lady Dennison gave the visitors a hearty welcome, but the stay here only lasted an hour, the party being due at the Dolphin Inn, Sutton-on-Trent, at 10.30 for breakfast. Mr. Midwinter, the captain of the local ringers, met the visitors. After a substantial meal, the beautiful peal of six, by Taylor, was set going to the usual Minor methods. These bells are all that can be desired, and will make a good eight.

The party next proceeded to East Markham, where the splendid peal of eight were set going to various Major methods, and then moved on to Gamston. Here there is another peal of six, but disappointment was in store for the ringers, as illness close to the church prevented them having a pull. Ordsall being only three miles away, however, the visitors counted on getting a pull there, as the Rev. R. F. Wilkinson had been inducted Rector of the parish only the week previous. On arrival, it was found that the newly-appointed Rector-ringer was not in residence, but the priest-in-charge readily gave the necessary permission to ring, and several Minor methods were got through. Gainsborough was the next stop, and after tea had been served at the Sun Hotel, the party were escorted to the Parish Church by Mr. F. S. W. Butler. The noble peal were soon going to Superlative, Double Norwich, Plain and Treble Bob. Up to this point the ringers had rung at five towers, and travelled 86 miles. They wish to thank the steeplekeepers, Vicars, and all those who helped to make the outing a great success.

ST. JOHN'S SOCIETY, LEICESTER.

The above company, with their wives and friends, to the number of 33, held their annual waygoose on Saturday, July 4th, when Staunton Harold and Ashby-de-la-Zouch were visited, the former by kind permission of his lordship, Earl Ferrers. The church, standing in the private grounds, possesses a ring of eight bells, which was utilised by the men. Later, the annual 'races' took place, and a group photo was taken by the company, which was joined by Mr. H. Poole from St. Martin's, Leicester, and Miss J. Oldlam and H. Stubbs, of Loughborough, who accompanied the party to Ashby-de-la-Zouch, where a meat tea was served. Ringing at St. Helen's Church was permitted, thanks to Mr. E. W. Beadmore, and Cambridge, Double Norwich and Stedman were brought round. Many visited the Castle Grounds and caves. Further ringing and an hour at a neighbouring hostelry brought a most successful outing to a close.

WARWICKSHIRE GUILD.

A very successful quarterly meeting was held at Stoke-in-Coventry on Saturday, July 18th.

Members were present from Nuneaton, Chilvers Coton, Shilton, Buckingham, Etkill, Rugby, Lutterworth, Southam, Allesley, and the local ringers. The new Rector of Stoke gave the Guild a hearty welcome, and in his address emphasised the point of clergy and ringers working together.

An excellent tea, arranged by Mr. F. Perrins, followed the service.

The meeting immediately afterwards was presided over by the Rev. Frank Burnett, Rector of Stoke, and after the usual business, Mr. H. Argyle moved that a resolution be sent to the Sub-Dean of Coventry with regard to St. Michael's bells. The resolution was, 'That this meeting of the Warwickshire Guild bears with regret of the proposed conversion of the Coventry Cathedral bells into a carillon, and expresses the hope that if possible the whole question be reconsidered by the Sub-Dean and the authorities.'

The motion was carried, and Mr. F. Perrins moved that the resolution be also sent to the secretary of the Central Council, and to ask him to move in the matter. This was also carried.—Seventeen new members were elected.—A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector.—The Chairman, suitably replying, extended a welcome to Stoke whenever the Guild wished to go. Methods rung included Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Cambridge, Bristol, and London Surprise Major.

THAT NEEDED REGISTER.

Recent correspondence once more emphasises the need there is for the Central Council to set up a register of peal compositions and of methods. For a long time past we have pointed out how important it is that there should be reference files of these two things, and the Central Council's archives is the place where they should be found. Continually we are having disputes as to the authorship of peals, and this will go on to the end of time, unless there is in existence an official collection of compositions to which one can turn and say authoritatively whether a new claim to originality can stand. Indeed, the present unsatisfactory state of affairs will almost assuredly increase with the years if something be not done. A man may, perfectly genuinely, obtain what he believes, with the limited means of investigation at his disposal, to be a new composition; it may even be rung and accepted as his, and yet the same figures may have been put on paper years ago by one of the old masters, or by some lesser light of the Exercise. As Mr. Symonds points out this week, these supposedly new-found compositions, published as the product of a present-day ringer, may be robbing an earlier composer of the honour due to him, and yet the man who has now evolved what he considers something original may feel justified in his claim, because, having searched all the available material, he can find nothing which can be called the same as his own figures. That is because of the lack of anything like an exhaustive collection of compositions.

The task of providing this register is obviously one for the Council. The difficulty with most of these things, as we pointed out in another connection last week, is to find the right man, with the right qualifications and with the necessary leisure. Hitherto the Council, when entering upon matters of this kind, has generally confined its search to its own members, but there is no reason why they should not go outside their own ranks and enlist, if possible, the services of one or two of the many enthusiastic young men now gradually making their names in the Exercise. They would doubtless, in the interests of the art on which they are so keen, be ready to give their help. Among the rising generation there are ringers as brilliant as any who have gone before them, and if the work of the Council is not to be handicapped and circumscribed, it will be necessary to go outside the ranks of the members to find the necessary men to undertake the tasks which are calling, some of them almost urgently, for attention. And, after all, if it is essential that those who work in such capacity for the Council should be in touch with it as members, there is always the remedy of enlarging the number who find seats as honorary members.

COMPOSITIONS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Mr. C. H. Kippin has missed the point at issue, when replying to my letter of August 14th, and deprecates the Central Council's 'Collection of Peals' of Double Norwich, the defence of which I must leave in other hands.

Let me explain another way. Sometimes a peal of Bob Major is rung and published as being composed by one of the band, whereas the composition may have been previously composed, perhaps, by B. Annable, J. Reeves, W. Shipway, or some other person.

I wish to see honour remain where honour is due, and not deprive the rightful heads (whether with us or gone to the great majority) of the laurels they deserve.—Yours truly,

Ipswich.

G. E. SYMONDS.

NOMENCLATURE.

THE COMMITTEE'S POSITION REVIEWED.

By the Rev. H. DRAKE.

As those who have criticised the Nomenclature Committee's report in your columns do not seem to have read it very carefully, or, at any rate, have not understood it, it may be well to give a short account of the whole subject.

Until the Council met at Lincoln, the practice of naming methods was that those who first rang a method (or, at any rate, who first rang a peal in a new method) gave it a name. As methods were not discovered every day, this did not work badly, as time was given to digest or revise one new name before another appeared. But when the Report on Minor Methods appeared, with a large number of new methods, the position was altered. It was at first suggested that these methods should be rung as soon as possible, and that the band who rang each should name it in the accustomed way. What might have been foreseen happened; some methods were named satisfactorily, others got several names; others, again, got none. In short, the old method broke down. This is the first fact to recognise. The system was choked by being given more than it could assimilate.

At the Lincoln meeting, the Methods Committee, dissatisfied with the poor progress made, suggested that the Analysis Committee be entrusted with the task of naming the methods which had not been named. At the time I was sorry this suggestion was made. It seemed to me that it would have been better to have kept the old way, but to have reorganised it. However, the Analysis Committee bravely faced their task, and produced a list of names to which much objection was taken, especially to their 'floral' class of names.

I have never joined in the objection to these names, but for some reason which I have never understood, I was approached by ringers whom I had not met, from several parts of England, begging me to get the Council to do something to solve the difficulties caused by one method having several names, or one name standing for several methods, and by the doubts which had been cast on the floral series of names.

Several of us then brought the matter before our associations, and we were encouraged to pursue the matter, with the result that the Nomenclature Committee was appointed by a small majority at the London meeting, in order to make an attempt to reduce the existing confusion to order.

So far the lines on which we have worked have been to provide every method with a name, and only one name, and where an objection was raised to a name, and that objection seemed worth considering, to provide an alternate name for that method.

Let it be noted that I have spoken of an objection worth considering. I do not mean that I personally, or the committee as a whole, agree that the objection should be, or will be, sustained; but in case it is sustained, an alternative name has been suggested.

So far from our claiming autocratic powers, it will be seen that in each case there are two things for the Council to decide; first, whether the objection to the existing name can be sustained; and then whether the proposed name shall be adopted.

But as time would make it impossible for the Council to go through each name separately, it will be best for those who object to any point, to do so beforehand in your columns. We shall not, however, do much good by accusing one another of 'change for the sake of change,' which, of course, we all want to avoid; or by one critic complaining that we have classified too much, and another that we have not classified enough. Our work was not to classify, but something of the sort must be done.

Now let us get down to actual examples. Take the name 'Oxford.' More than once I have been present when the call was made 'Go, Treble Bob,' and some proceeded to ring the Oxford variation, and the others the Kent. The last time this happened, I afterwards began a touch of Oxford Bob, and one of the ringers thought the call was for Oxford Treble Bob. This latter method, therefore, has three words in its name, and none of the three sufficiently distinctive. What we suggest is that Oxford, and that word alone, should be the title of that method, and that Oxford Bob should be known by another name. Of course, we lose an historical link by doing so, and my antiquarian sympathies rebel against such a change; but in this life, there are many occasions when the antiquarian and the practical spirit are in opposition: all we have done is to give the Exercise, through the Council next year, and through your columns in the meantime, the opportunity of saying which shall prevail.

Let us take another example from your columns last week. We are there told how to splice 'London Scholars' Pleasure' with other methods; but Mr. Fidler is wise enough not to say what call is made on the occasion. One can hardly believe that all three words—none of them easy—are called out. But if they are not, why print them as if they were?

It will be noted that this name offends in several ways. Not only are there more words than one in it, but one of them ('London'), is commonly used of another method; another ('Pleasure') seems more the name of a class than of a single method, while the remaining word ('Scholar') is not definite enough for a name by itself. Moreover, the whole term is rather a description than a name, so that we may be said to have given a name to a method which has never yet had one.

In this case, as in many others, the old name can be easily kept as a sub-title; and we can thus satisfy the claims both of the Antiquarian and the Practical man.

Do not let anyone say that we cannot see that there is another side to the question. In presenting the Report, it was pointed out that there would be sure to be some who would think that we had not gone far enough, while others would say that we had gone too far; so we recognised at least two other points of view than our own. What I have asked for, is that we should get some constructive proposals from these other points of view, and that time should not be wasted by mere useless destruction. HERBERT DRAKE.

COVENTRY BELLS.

We understand that the question of the Coventry (St. Michael's) Cathedral bells is not settled yet, and will not be taken up again till September. It is now in the hands of the Chancellor of the Diocese—presumably on the question of his granting a faculty. Therefore, it would be well for the C.C. to see if it could be represented before the Chancellor's Consistory Court.

BELLS BROADCAST.

Bells have been prominently before the public through the agency of the broadcasting programmes during the last week or so. On Wednesday week there was an hour of bells from 2 LO and various relay stations. The musical items included vocal and orchestral numbers, in which bells play a part (either in the music or the title), and there was a short 'chat' upon 'The bell,' in which the speaker referred to the charm of church bells and their inspiration, and concluded by touching upon the other uses of bells, which were illustrated—the sheep bell, the fire bell, the dinner bell, and the like. It was an entertaining talk, which doubtless interested tens of thousands of listeners, but it showed a lack of technical knowledge by a reference to 'Grandsire Triplets and Bob Majors.'

On Sunday, as a preliminary to a service broadcast from Aberdeen, listeners heard the bells at Buckfast Abbey, Devon. Eight bells were rung in call changes and lowered in peal. There are fourteen bells at Buckfast, there being two semitones in addition to the ring of twelve. The tenor is 40½ cwt.

CHURCHWARDEN CALLS QUARTER-PEAL.

At Dore, on Saturday, August 15th, in 52 minutes, a quarter-peal (1,264 changes) of Bob Major: A. Craven 1, H. Ringham 2, F. Ward 3, T. O'Hara 4, J. W. Sykes 5, W. Riggan 6, M. Wilson 7, J. E. Lewis Cockey (first quarter of Bob Major as conductor) 8. Rung to commemorate the 70th birthday of the Vicar of Dore, after the failure of a peal attempt in the same method. First quarter-peal by the ringer of 2nd. First quarter 'inside' by 7th. The first occasion at Dore on which a quarter-peal has been called by one of the churchwardens.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

THE FIRST NEWSPAPER CONTROVERSY ON RINGING.
EDWARD CRANE AND HIS PEAL OF STEDMAN.

By J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

Sixty years ago, Dr. John Brown, one of the most humane of men, wrote that it was a natural and healthy thing to enjoy watching a dog fight. We have grown softer since, and our modern dogs hardly live up to the character good old Dr. Watts gave them; but something of the same spirit still lives in the delight we take when two well-equipped opponents set about each other in the correspondence column of the 'Ringing World.' The subject of dispute is no great matter. It may be a challenged peal, or concerning the authorship of some composition or method, anything in which personal interest or pique enters, then let the opponents metaphorically take off their jackets and set about each other with verbal cudgels in right goodwill, and we, the outsiders, are ready to enjoy the fun.

Yet methinks that even in this there is a great and lamentable falling away. It is a long time since we had a really exciting controversy in the ringing papers. We can only hope that they are not altogether things of the past. If all people thought alike the world would be a dull affair, and change ringing will be in a bad way when ringers cease to hold strong opinions, or to be ready to back them with strong words. Wherefore don't be afraid to speak out, and so long as you keep to the rules of the game don't be afraid of personalities. You will not hurt your opponent by suggesting that he is an ignorant ass (probably it will be quite true), and you will be doing your little bit to add to the gaiety of the nations.

It is just on two hundred years ago since the first newspaper controversy on a ringing matter. The opponents were two Norwich men, Thomas Melchior and Edward Crane, by name, and the subject in dispute was the first peal of Stedman Triples. To understand it we must first know something of the history of change ringing up to the date of their publication.

Change ringing started about the year 1600, the closing years of the reign of Queen Elizabeth. Bells had been rung, of course, for many centuries before that time, and, no doubt, had been 'rung up' for many years. But then it was that the sixes were invented; and the invention of the sixes made, as Fabian Stedman tells us, the whole of change ringing possible. If you will study the history of the art during the following three centuries you cannot help noticing, that though there has been development and progress all along, yet there have been definite times when things seem to move with great rapidity, and other times when, for years, little or no progress was made. Just at present we are in the midst of one of the times of progress; the eighties of the last century saw another; and probably the most notable of all was in the early years of the eighteenth century.

Change ringing had been practised for a hundred years. I do not doubt that the average ability and intelligence of ringers was quite equal to that of to-day or any other time. But no complete peal had yet been rung. In 1715, the Norwich men accomplished the first five thousand, a peal of Grandsire Bob Triples. We skip another twenty years, and we have the following remarkable record:—

1717.—The first peal of Grandsire Caters at St. Bride's, Fleet Street, by the London Scholars.

1718.—The first peal of Grandsire Triples, at Norwich.

A peal of 'Hick Triples,' by the Union Scholars.

The first peal of Oxford Treble Bob Major, at St. Dunstan's-in-the-East, by the Union Scholars.

1719.—A peal of Grandsire Triples, at St. Peter's, Norwich.

1721.—A peal of Bob Major Triples, at Mortlake.

1722.—A peal of Grandsire Triples, at Stroud, Gloucestershire.

1724.—The College Youths rang 5,058 Grandsire Caters, at St. Magnus. A peal of Triples, at All Saints', Hertford.

1725.—The first peal of Grandsire Cinques, by the College Youths, at St. Bride's.

The first peal of Bob Major, by the same society at the same tower.

A peal of Grandsire Triples, at Cambridge.

1726.—The first peal of Bob Maximus, by the College Youths, at St. Bride's.

1727.—10,080 Oxford Treble Bob Major, at St. Miles', Norwich.

A peal of College Triples, by the College Youths, at St. Olave's, Southwark.

6,006 Grandsire Cinques, at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, by the London Scholars.

6,314 in the same method, at the same church, by the College Youths.

The first peal of Union Triples, by the College Youths, at St. Lawrence Jewry.

1728.—10,080 Bob Major, at St. Mary's, Bermondsey, by the College Youths.

1729.—5,126 Grandsire Cinques, by the College Youths, at St. Michael's, Cornhill.

1731.—The first peal of Stedman Triples, at St. Peter's, Norwich.

Another peal of Stedman Triples, at St. Miles', in the same city.

1732.—The first peal of Double Grandsire Caters, by the College Youths.

The first peal of St. Simon's Triples, at St. Bride's, by the College Youths.

A peal of Middlesex Triples, at Twickenham.

1735.—The first peal of Court Bob Major, at St. Lawrence Jewry, by the College Youths.

This is anything but a complete list, but it is sufficient to show what great strides were made at that time in ringing. You will notice that while peals were being rung in widely scattered parts of the country, the most notable were in two cities, Norwich and London. That is almost what you might expect. You would, of course, look to London to be in the forefront of the advance. And Norwich was then relatively a much more important place than it is now. Bristol was the second city of the country, Norwich the third, and the rest nowhere. The West of England has never been a great place for change ringing (I am not referring to recent years), and so it was quite in the nature of things that the early lead was taken by the two great cities—London and Norwich.

And two men seem to have stood out as the leaders of the Exercise—Benjamin Annable, at London, and John Garthorn at Norwich. Annable left by far the better record of the two, whether as composer, conductor or practical ringer. But it is evident that it was due to the genius and abilities of John Garthorn that ringing received its first great impetus in Norwich. It was due to him that Norwich had the honour of ringing the first peal in any method, and he laid the foundations on which the fine performances of the Norwich Scholars were built.

Of his history we know very little. He was the composer of the 1715 peal of Bob Triples, which he called, and which seems to be the only five thousand in which he took part. He composed the peal of Grandsire Triples rung in 1718, but did not ring in it. Possibly he was becoming advanced in years; possibly his health was failing. Anyhow, before 1730 he was dead, and was buried in St. Gregory's Churchyard in the city. If one had the time, a search through the parish registers might reveal some details of his age and occupation. At that time there were three rings of eight in Norwich. Mancroft had had a complete octave since 1672. St. Andrew's were made eight in 1705, but for some reason or other do not seem to have been used for peal ringing. I said something a week or so ago about the kind of frame they are hung in, and probably from the first they have never been very easy bells to ring. St. Michael's, Coslany (St. Miles'), were made eight in 1726. The other historical ring in Norwich, St. Giles', were not made eight till 1726.

I imagine (for several reasons) that the peal ringing was done by a combined band from St. Peter's and St. Miles, and that after Garthorn's death, or retirement, the leadership fell at St. Peter's to Thomas Melchior, and at St. Miles to Robert Crane. Rather curiously, except in the case of the 1715 peal, and the two peals of Stedman Triples, the old Norwich peal boards do not mention any conductor. We can only guess at who called the peals by putting two and two together. Thomas Melchior rang the seventh at Mancroft to the 1718 peal of Grandsire Triples, the same bell to the 1719 peal, the treble to the Stedman Triples of 1731, and the treble to the 12,603 of Grandsire Caters in 1737. These were all at St. Peter's. It is pretty certain he called them all. But in the 10,080 of Treble Bob at St. Miles in 1727 he rang the second. Robert Crane rang the tenor, and either he or Edward Crane who rang the seventh evidently called the bobs.

There was a family of Cranes who were ringers. Robert was the oldest, and, I fancy, the father. Edward and Thomas were his sons. Edward was the cleverer and ambitious member of the family. Thomas did not, so far as I know, ever ring a peal, but we shall hear of him presently.

You will notice that here are all the usual causes for the usual very (very much too usual) ringers' quarrel. You have Thomas Melchior firmly entrenched at St. Peter's as Garthorn's successor, as leader, conductor, composer, and general authority on ringing matters, yet not in a position to be quite independent of the Coslany men. And you have Edward Crane, younger, ambitious, through his father in control of the other available peal ringing tower; clever, too, and quite of the opinion that he had as much right to be conductor and leader as anybody else—Thomas Melchior or another. A split was almost bound to come over something or other. It actually came over Stedman Triples.

I believe it was Crane who started the ball rolling. I think the young man thought to himself that it would be a fine thing to ring a peal of Stedman Triples, and that he was the man to compose the peal. I think that Melchior, when he heard of it, treated the matter with lofty contempt. HE was John Garthorn's successor. HE was the man to say what should be rung, and if any peal of Stedman was to be attempted HE would supply the composition. Young men should keep their proper places.

But Crane, you will remember, could control a tower, and at least part of a band. All that was needed was to compose the peal, complete the band, and ring the first peal of Stedman Triples without Melchior's aid, and in spite of anything he could say or do.

The lists were thus set ready for the battle, and the formal challenge was thrown down by the publication of the following notice in the 'Norwich Gazette' of September 11th, 1731:—

Whereas that most Noted and harmonious Peal of 7 Bells called Stedman Triples, which has so long lain hid in Darkness from the knowledge of the World, and although so many ingenious Ringers have pricked so many Thousand Sheets of paper and could never bring it to truth, but have thought it impossible to be done. This is, therefore, to acquaint all Ringers and Lovers of that art that it is now brought to Light and truth with two Doubles, and is pricked at Length which contains 5,040 Changes by that ingenious and Compleat Ringer, EDWARD CRANE.

Note.—If any Ringers Doubt the Truth of the Peal let him come to the sign of the 6 Ringers in St. Michael's of Coslany, and they may have any wages from 2 guineas to 10.' The challenge was promptly taken up.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

A very successful meeting of the Luton District was held at Woburn on Saturday, August 22nd, members being present from Bedford, Luton, Dunstable, Houghton Regis, Husbome, Crawley, Stony Stratford, St. Albans and Linslade. The fine peal were kept going from 3 p.m. until 8 p.m., with an interval for tea, which was held at the Magnie Hotel. After tea, a short business meeting took place, presided over by Mr. A. King (president of the branch).

Luton was selected for the next meeting, early in October.

After the usual votes of thanks, the tower was again visited. Touches were rung in many methods, including Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major, Kent Treble Bob, Double Norwich, Superlative, Cambridge and London Surprise Major, the striking in the different Surprise methods being very good.

TALGARTH, BRECONSHIRE. — On Friday, August 7th, at St. Gwendoline's Church, in 44 mins., a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes): C. Powell 1, D. J. Moore 2, L. S. Griffiths 3, W. D. Griffiths (conductor) 4, C. M. Davies 5, S. Powell 6. First quarter-peal for the ringers of the 5th and tenor.

WITNEY (OXON). — On Tuesday, August 11th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes), in 54 mins.: E. Brown 1, H. Brooks 2, N. Spindlow 3, T. Bull 4, G. Brooks 5, J. Monk (conductor) 6, J. Brooks 7, C. Channon 8.

WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

PORTSMOUTH DISTRICT AT FAREHAM.

A quarterly meeting was held at Fareham on Saturday last, when, despite the very unsettled weather, a large number of ringers attended. The meeting was originally fixed for Alverstoke, but owing to serious illness near the church it had to be abandoned, and by kind permission of the Vicar of Fareham (the Rev. J. C. Tarbat) the meeting was held there. Members were present from Curydrige, Fareham, Havant, Portsmouth (St. Mary's and St. Thomas'), Titchfield, Wickham, and the Isle of Wight was represented by members from Ryde, Whitwell, and Mr. H. Barton. The visitors included Messrs. A. Harman (Leatherhead), O. J. Hunt (Coventry) and the general secretary (Mr. G. Pullinger).

Tea took place at Foster's Temperance Hotel, and the business meeting which followed was presided over by Mr. R. J. Stone (district chairman).

It was with the utmost satisfaction that the district welcomed as new members, the ringers at Hambledon. A combined practice was held there the previous Saturday, and the company decided to join the Guild. Consequently the following names were submitted to the meeting: Rev. E. Kynaston (Vicar of Hambledon), as hon. member; Messrs. W. Boyes, T. Parker, J. Knight, E. Marsh, G. Spiller, H. Perkins, W. E. Hunt, J. Turner, as full members; and Messrs. F. Friend and H. H. Collins, probationers. These were unanimously elected. The meeting also confirmed the election previous to a peal attempt of Messrs. Ernest Morris (Leicester) and E. F. Pike (London).

It was decided, if possible, to hold the annual district meeting at Alverstoke on November 21st next; or, failing that, St. Thomas' Portsmouth. The secretary announced that it was proposed to hold a joint meeting of the Isle of Wight and Portsmouth districts at Ryde in the near future, and it was decided to leave it in his hands to arrange a suitable date.

A vote of thanks, on the proposition of Mr. G. Pullinger, was accorded the Vicar of Fareham for the use of the bells; and, on behalf of the mainland, he welcomed the visitors from the Isle of Wight, who were present with them.—To this Mr. B. J. Snow (Ryde) suitably responded.—The members then returned to the tower for further ringing. During the afternoon and evening the ringing included all the standard methods, and also Superlative, Cambridge, London and Bristol Surprise Major.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The ringing of a peal of Stedman Triples on the back eight of Wells Cathedral, during the Somerset tour, constituted a 'weight' record, for no peal of Stedman Triples had been previously rung on so heavy a ring of bells. Exeter and St. Paul's are the only heavier peals.

Wells Cathedral contains a remarkable 12th century clock, which, although constructed from primitive materials by a monk, is still in faultless working order and an irreproachable timekeeper. Besides giving the hour, the clock records the quarters of the moon, and on the stroke of the hour a group of mediæval figures break into life, and whirl round and round until the last chime dies away. There is only one other clock of the kind in existence.

A quaint inscription has been discovered on the wall of All Saints' Church, Maidstone, opposite the tower and belfry. It is a tribute to the skill of a local stonemason, and runs as follows: 'Here lyeth the Body of John Wallis, who died February 20th, 1745, aged 28 years.

'Stop Ringers all and cast an eye,
You in your glory so once was I,
What I have been as you may see
Which now is in the Belfree.'

The note in this column, re one of Leicester's 'first eleven' going on tour round the world to visit 'Uncle' Joe E. Sykes, brings this reply: 'E. M. left Leicester on June 5th, and travelled via New York, Seattle, Honolulu, Kobe, Noji, Fusan and Antsuy in Korea, arriving at Ansham, Manchuria, on July 8th; started back next day via Mukden; Harbin; Vladivostok, Omsk; Irkutsk; Moscow; Leningrad, and arrived home in Leicester on the eve of his birthday—July 27th.' Some journey this!

Bertram Prewett, whose memory is a cherished possession, was killed in action on August 31st, 1918.

The record handbell peal of 19,738 Stedman Caters was rung at Guildford on August 31st, 1912, in 9 hours 32 mins.

The first ten-bell peal in Scotland—Grandsire Caters—was rung at St. Mary's Cathedral, Edinburgh, on August 31st, 1886.

Birmingham possesses some very active youths. Here is Ald. Pritchett nearly 71, climbing Cader Idris, from Arthlog, returning by the Fox's path to Dolgelly, and thence walking to Barmouth—20 miles in all. There is many a man twenty years his junior who couldn't stand up to that.

Then there is that other Birmingham 'lad,' James George, who has been performing on Southwark tenor again ringing her to a peal of Stedman Cinques. And he will be 72 in November. Birmingham is a frightful blot of the landscape, but it seems a pretty good place to live in if one wants to keep one's youth and virility.

In the belfry at Keighley, Yorks, is a peal board recording the first peal of Cambridge Surprise Major in the North of England. It reads as follows: Rung in this steeple on the 18th of August, 1811, by eight Ringers of this Town, 5,376 Changes of that most intricate Peal, Cambridge Surprise eight in, composed by Mr. Joseph Tebbs, of Leeds, being the first true Peal in that Method ever rung in the North of England, it was performed with great correctness in 3 hrs. 18 mins., by Jeremiah Foulds treble, George Hattersley 2nd, James Baldwin 3rd, David Smith 4th, Joshua Cawood 5th, Thomas Iveson 6th, Thomas Midgley 7th, James Inman tenor. Conducted by Mr. David Smith.

Bert Chilvers, of Cotton, who rang his first peal, on the 9th, as recorded last week, has been handicapped from birth by a useless right arm. He has to do his ringing with his left arm and hand only, and his progress in the art has been a triumph over disability. He is conductor at Cotton, where shortly, the existing ring of five bells is to be made into a peal of six.

Bishop Ryle, Dean of Westminster, who died last week, was always interested in bells and ringers. He attended the College Youths' dinner in 1920, and made a most interesting speech. During the time he was Bishop of Winchester he entertained the Diocesan Guild at his residence, Farnham Castle.

THE 'OTHER WAY OF BROADCASTING.'

On Saturday week, a band of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild tried their hand at broadcasting, but not through the B.B.C. stations. They rang a 'peal' of Minor in seven methods, but they did it in seven different towers, and the time is given as 'not exceeding seven hours.'

This is believed to be the first time such a feat has been accomplished. The following are the details of the performance:

- 720 Woodbine Treble Bob, at Great Addington.
- 720 Oxford Treble Bob, at St. John's, Cranford.
- 720 Kent Treble Bob, at Isham.
- 720 Oxford Bob, at Islip.
- 720 Double Oxford Bob, at Lowick.
- 720 Bob Minor, at Woodford.
- 720 Double Court Bob, at Ringstead.

A Baxter 1, A. Bellamy 2, W. Hayo 3, L. Wyman 4, J. Hudson 5, G. Blaxley 6. Conducted by G. Blaxley.

HINTS ON 'SPLICING' AND RINGING MINOR METHODS.

THIRD ARTICLE.

Those who are not yet conversant with the methods already detailed in my previous articles should not make any attempt to tackle the methods of the group to be dealt with below, but keep the copies of the 'Ringing World' by them for future reference. I am the last person to expect any band of ringers to keep pace with these notes—it cannot be done—but if kept, they will be found handy for reference. Further, if the thirty-five method peal is to be accomplished, all the notes must be obtained, and it would be advisable if each member of the band had a copy so that he could study them at his leisure. The more study at home, the better the practice in the tower.

As I briefly hinted in the last article, the ground work of the group now to be dealt with is 'Woodbine,' and we will, therefore, christen it with that name. No doubt I shall get drawn over the coals, but that does not matter, as the subject is not part of that hardy annual, 'Method Nomenclature.' Those who have been used to ringing this method ought to be able to tackle five new methods at once practice, and ring a five method extent at the first time of asking, but we must not forget our slower brethren, and to them I must explain.

The methods comprising this group are 4th's Place Delight Methods, viz., Grove, Braintree, Neasden, College Bob IV., and Wragby. The reason why I am taking the 4th's Place Delight Methods in preference to others of Treble Bob, is on account of the various kinds of slow work, which are exactly the same as that in the Oxford group.

Braintree is the odd method, and is the only one requiring any amount of study.

First of all, I will give the combinations of the group, with the resultant method:—

WRAGBY.

Let us look at the lead of Wragby (No. 12, page 16), so that a note may be made of the work above treble, or our old friend of Snowdon's days, viz., Woodbine. Incidentally we may as well kill two birds with one stone, and learn also how to find out from the lead given the starting work of each bell. The notes on this particular point apply to any method, and will assist the ringer in taking over any bell without the necessity of having his position explained to him, thus saving valuable time. How often one comes across a ringer who learns his method by the course, is given an unaccustomed bell to start off with, has to run through the whole course before he can pick up the path of his bell, when, had he learned the method by the order of passing the treble, he need only have found out where the bell passed her previous to coming into rounds! I might add at this juncture, it is not necessary to write out the full course to find out the work of each bell previous to rounds coming up, as we soon shall see.

First of all, examine the path of the bell in second's place at the lead end. It is the 6th; trace back, and we find that she passed treble 2-3 up; then make a note of the work after passing in that position. The 4th, being in third's place is next on the list, being the bell coming out of 'slow'; there is not far to go, and our discovery is that it passed the treble 1-2 up. We have a little farther to trace back with the 4th's place bell, viz., the 5th, she having passed treble 5-6 up. This is a position requiring special attention, as also does that of the next bell, the 2nd, which passed treble 3-4 up, and in their work, there are either made before or after working with treble in 3-4. There is only one bell left and that is the 3rd, occupying 6th's place, which had passed the treble in the 4-5 position.

In our search for the work after passing treble down, we find ourselves on very familiar ground; it is identical to that in Kingston, consequently there is no further need to memorise it.

After this analysis we find the following recorded in our notebook:—

| Pass Treble. |  |
|--------------|--|
| 1-2 up.      | (Out of slow), 4th's, as in Oxford.                  |
| 2-3 up.      | (In slow), 4th's, as in Oxford.                      |
| 3-4 up.      | 4th's, 3rd's, and a triple dodge in 5-6 up.          |
| 4-5 up.      | A triple dodge in 5-6, before and after lying 6th's. |
| 5-6 up.      | Triple dodge in 5-6 down, 3rd's, 4th's.              |
|              | Work down, as Kingston.                              |

ROB WORK.

This will be found somewhat different from that of Oxford, but the bells passing treble 1-2 and 2-3 remain unaltered, so the hobs are called when the observation is in one of these two positions. The instructions given on conducting Oxford apply to this method. The bell passing Treble 3-4 up, makes the hob, i.e.,

BRAINTREE.

Pass Treble Up. Work as in Woodbine.

- 1-2 down. (After snapping Treble), lead, 2nd's, lead, dodge off (i.e., 1-2 up), 3rd's, 4th's, i.e., Kent Places (pass Treble 4-5 up).
- 2-3 down. lead, 3rd's, 4th's, and out (Kent Places).
- 3-4 down. dodge on, dodge off (i.e., dodge 1-2 down [lead] dodge 1-2 up), and out.
- 4-5 down. (Kent Places), 4th's, 3rd's, dodge on (i.e., 1-2 down), stay in slow.
- 5-6 down. (Kent Places), 4th's, 3rd's, lead and out.

The rule for 'splicing' this method with its four companions, is the same as that for Oxford. A full course of it must be rung. If the practice is followed of always introducing these odd methods in the position given for the first group, the conductor will have his troubles reduced. As the extent can easily be pricked out, there is no necessity for it to appear here.

Having mastered these five methods we are now in a position to attempt a ten method peal, and I would suggest it be arranged as follows:—

- 1st extent (spliced). Braintree and Grove Delight.
2nd extent (spliced). Neasden and College Bob IV.
3rd extent. Wragby.
4th extent (spliced). Overton, Sandal.
5th extent. London Scholars' Pleasure.
6th extent. Kingston.
7th extent. Oxford.

My next article will deal with Group No. 3, the College Exercise Group.

CAMBRIDGE MAXIMUS AT WINCHESTER.

An attempt for a peal of Cambridge Maximus was made on Saturday last at Winchester Cathedral by twelve members of the Winchester Diocesan Guild, mainly recruited from London and district, under the conductorship of Mr. Wm. Pye. Exactly 2½ courses, or a quarter of the peal, had been rung in 59 minutes, and good steady striking was being maintained, when a message came from the Dean asking that the ringing should cease owing to serious illness in the Cathedral Close.

THE SOMERSET TOUR.

A DELIGHTFUL WEEK IN THE WEST COUNTRY.

On Saturday, August 8th, a party of ringers, some with their wives, etc., met at Yeovil with some very large ideas about ringing. A peal of Stedman Caters at the Parish Church was the first course of a very attractive menu, but a great disappointment was in store, for, after some first-class ringing, the 9th took so much 'humping' that it was found impossible to continue. On inspecting the bell afterwards it was found that one of its bearings was bone dry, and, in the opinion of those who know, Hercules himself could not have stuck it through a peal.

The headquarters for the first part of the trip were at Queen Camel, to which place the party now proceeded. Those with their own means of locomotion found no difficulty in getting there, but those who had to rely on the railway soon discovered that 'slow and easy' applies to another section of English railways other than the South Eastern. However, on arrival at Sparkford Station, the fortunate ones were there to convey luggage, and the weary ones to their destination, Mr. Pulling's brother having made all the arrangements for accommodation and catering for the inner man.

On Sunday the landlord's car was commandeered (no, dear reader, it was not a 'Tin Lizzie,' but a good solid old bus), and a move towards Beckington was made. A peal of London was successfully brought round here, and on its conclusion the local band, who said some very nice things about the ringing, were in such a hurry to ring for the evening service (there were only five of them) that the peal band had to retire to the churchyard to finish dressing, and, as one of the party aptly remarked, 'it was a good job he hadn't taken his shirt off.'

Sherborne was the seat of operations for Monday. The party, who arrived early in the town, were shown round the school (which is probably the oldest in England, and dates from A.D. 704) by Major Hesse, who was educated there. The Abbey, which dates from the same period, was found to be equally interesting. The peal of bells, the heaviest ring of eight in the kingdom, were then set going to Stedman Triples. No one would have been surprised if the peal did not materialise, but much to the joy of everyone concerned, the bells were kept going until the conductor shouted, 'This is all.' It may be added that no one was sorry, especially the ringer of the tenor, who, before the peal, was so optimistic that he had visions of turning it in to Major! Arrangements had been made for a peal at Milborne Port in the evening, but this was not possible, owing to the late start at Sherborne. The tower was visited, however, and a course or two of different methods were indulged in, just to keep the ringers from getting rusty.

On Tuesday, Wells was the hunting ground, and it may be said a very happy one. It is true that an attempt for Stedman Triples was abandoned at St. Cuthbert's, as it was thought that, if P.C. 137, who had the 7th in custody, lost too much weight, the ratepayers of Surrey would be put to more expense to provide him with a new uniform on returning to duty. In the afternoon, Mrs. Robinson, wife of the Very Rev. the Dean of Wells, very kindly entertained the whole company to tea, and showed them round the Deanery—a most interesting house, which has been occupied by the successive Deans of Wells Cathedral since it was built over 800 years ago. A certain amount of disappointment was felt when it was discovered that the band were one man short for Stedman Caters at the Cathedral, but nothing daunted, the best was made of a bad job by ringing a peal of Stedman Triples. Those of the party had had been fortunate enough to hear these magnificent bells before, said this was the best music, as Triples sounded infinitely better than Caters. On thanking the Dean for his hospitality and the use of his bells, he told us how glad he was that we had scored the peal, and how much he had appreciated the ringing.

All the really heavy rings had now been disposed of, and the lighter peals at Drayton and Curry Rivel came as something of a relief on Wednesday. It was unfortunate the weather decided to be unkind, especially for Mr. and Mrs. Williams, who had to cycle from Queen Camel, something like 20 miles, and also for Mr. Pullinger who cycled from Wells. The latter, who was drenched to the skin, purchased a new set of underclothes at Langport. On retreating Drayton he obtained permission to put them on at the local inn, and was told by the proprietor he might 'change his clothes in the front room at the back.' Another set-back came when it was found that the conductor, with his spouse, had not arrived: he eventually turned up with his 1925 model, being towed in by old Dobbie's 1918 bike. During the peal of Superlative, which the band rang here, Mr. Dobbie stood out and put the faulty machine in order. The peal itself was without incident, except that the treble ringer was the only man on a box. This caused a little confusion on starting, but was soon overcome when two of the band changed ropes. Tea was then partaken of at the Bell Inn at Curry Rivel. The inhabitants of this village are, according to a local resident, very small meat-eaters, it being only necessary to kill half a sheep a week, to meet their requirements of this commodity. A peal of Cambridge was then attempted, but as this was lost after about an hour and three-quarters' ringing, the less said about the performance the better. No one seemed very unhappy, however, for, had the peal been completed, it would have meant waiting another hour for a train to Taunton, which was to be the headquarters for the remainder of the week, to say nothing of having to carry the baggage over a mile to another station, from whence the later train departed.

At Taunton the passengers were met by Mr. James Hunt, who had organised the times for the various peals with his customary precision, and obtained permission to use all the bells, with the exception of Wells Cathedral. He had also arranged for the accommodation of the party in this town, taking four of them under his own roof.

Two peals were fixed for Taunton on Thursday. Cambridge was rung at St. James', but at St. Mary's, where the band were welcomed by the curate-in-charge, Stedman Caters was lost, after 45 minutes' ringing. The company, which now included Mr. J. T. Dyke, the new general secretary of the Bath and Wells Association, made their way to the house of Mr. J. Maddock, a well-known figure of the ringing community, especially in the West Country. Here a convivial evening and real Somerset cider was enjoyed, and Mr. Hunt's splendid peal of handbells brought into use. The opportunity was now taken, as the whole party were together, to make a small presentation to Mr. and Mrs. Hunt and Mr. and Mrs. Pulling for the work and trouble they had taken to make the week such an enjoyable one.

First-hand knowledge of the proceedings on Friday is unknown to the writer, who, with one other (not a ringer), spent the day elsewhere. Anyway, it proved to be the only day of the tour on which two peals were scored, London at Burnham-on-Sea, and Superlative at Bridgwater. Lunch was partaken of at Burnham, and was much enjoyed until the bill was presented, which left a nasty flavour behind it.

Saturday came, and with it, the beginning of the end. Owing to a burial taking place at Milverton, time would not permit the company retrieving a bad start for London by commencing a second time, so, after three courses, it was decided to make for the hotel, where lunch had been prepared. Some of the ringers who had not received sufficient exercise during the week betook themselves to the skittle alley, where they showed considerable prowess at this old-fashioned game. Before going on to the next village, 'good-bye' was said to three of the party who could not stay until the finish of the tour.

Stedman Triples was rung at Wiveliscombe to wind up the week. This method was adopted as the visitors were informed that the inhabitants, who apparently have an ear for music, would not appreciate the tenor turned in, otherwise a peal of Surprise would have been attempted.

Returning to Taunton, the remainder of the company adjourned to the Parade Hotel, where for half an hour they enjoyed discussing what had been done, what remained to be done, and when.

Farewells were then bidden amongst expressions of regret that such an enjoyable week had come to its conclusion, but with the hope that in the future all might meet again to renew acquaintance with the fair county of Somerset.

In conclusion, grateful thanks are due to the incumbents of the various churches for granting permission to use their bells, and to the local bands for the great help they afforded the party, and the very warm welcome with which they were greeted at all the towers they visited.

The ladies of the party are also deserving of a word of appreciation for the way in which they discovered establishments where the appetites of the hungry peal ringers might be appeased on descending from the belfries.

BRABOURNE, KENT.—For evensong, on August 9th, 720 Plain Robt: E. Cheesman 1, L. Finn 2, P. Pierce 3, W. Cheeseman 4, S. Finn 5, A. Castle (Elham), conductor, 6.

This bell was cast by John Warner and Sons, Crescent foundry, London. On the waist the Royal Arms and 'patent.'

This tenor was originally given by Cardinal Wolsey. The present bell is 84 inches diameter, and weighs 46 cwt. 0 nr. 23 lb.

Sanctus-bell.—STA MARIA ORA PRO NOBIS' (in small Lombardic capitals).

Fire-bell.—'Lord, quench the furious flame.—Arise, run, hold out the same, I.W. I.C. * 1653, R.A.' This bell, called the 'Panne bell,' is of peculiar shape, nearly as wide at the crown as at the mouth, and has a most dismal sound. Diameter 32½ inches.

The ringing chamber is close under the bells, and the noise is deafening, with the result that the conductor has an unenviable task. Ringing has to be carried on, even in broad daylight, by means of three gas jets of the old flame burner type, so dark is the belfry, and although the tower is a 'barn' for room, the general conditions are the reverse of conducive to comfort in ringing. Only four peals are known to have been rung on the bells.

SHERBORNE ABBEY BELLS.

INTERESTING HISTORY OF THE HEAVIEST PEAL OF EIGHT.

By J. R. JERRAM.

Sherborne Abbey may now fairly claim to possess the heaviest peal of eight bells in England, with a tenor of a little over 46 cwt. Previous to 1891 that distinction belonged to Wells Cathedral; but in that year the peal was augmented to ten.

As regards the early history of Sherborne bells, the following notes are taken from the late Canon Raven's 'Church Bells of Dorset':—

'The first mention of the bells of All Hallows (i.e., the old parish church which was built on to the west end of the Abbey, and continued to be used as the parish church until the town bought the Abbey church at the dissolution of the Monastery in 1539), is in the year 1514-15, when some repairs were done, but the account is much torn: in 1515-16, the sum of 2s. 4d. was paid for the keeping of the bells, and 13s. 4d. was spent on the clapper of the great bell, and 7d. on the bawdericks, and 4d. on grease, and 3s. on two bell ropes, and 2s. 2d. on trussing the great bell. The bell here mentioned is probably Wolsey's bell, which was given to the town, not to the Monastery. Similar entries occur regularly. All Hallows had five bells, at least as early as 1527-8. When the parish bought the Abbey Church, 1539-40, the bells were transferred to it, and there were certainly six bells roof of the same along the east, south and west sides, and then to ascend a few more steps and a ladder at the south-west angle of the tower. The chamber is so dark that it is necessary to light the gas in the daytime.

'In 1858, two trebles were added, and the sixth was recast by G. Mears, of the Whitechapel Foundry, London; and from that date the peal became one of eight bells.

'Unfortunately, at the end of that year, on the first Sunday in Advent, as the bells were being rung for evening service, the noble tenor suddenly cracked. Such a disaster, after having just spent so much on adding two new bells and recasting the sixth, seems to have exhausted the church funds for a time, and it was not until 1865 that she was recast by Warner. Since then, and since I visited Sherborne and copied the inscriptions, the third and also the seventh have been recast.

'The clock is in the ringing chamber and strikes the Cambridge quarters on 2nd, 3rd, 4th and 7th, and the hour on the tenor.'

Treble.—'G. Mears, founder, London.—Lord let the folk below—Resound in living song—Thy praise as I do now—With iron tongue.—August 10th, 1858.'

Second.—'G. Mears, founder, London.—We hang here to record—That the choir was restored—In the year of our Lord—1858.'

in 1542-3, for Roger Smyth was then paid 2d. for a buckle for the bawderick of the sixth bell, and Appulby and his two men were paid 1s. 2d. for "trussing of vith bell and for nayles to that work."

'In 1556-7, the two largest bells were recast, and a great collection was made for the bells amounting to £61 19s. 9d., besides gifts of cows, parchment, skins, bell wheels, etc. Then follow numerous items of expenses incurred about the work.

'In 1553-4, we find an item "in full payment for a Belle solde XI. li." Why this bell was sold is doubtful. It may have been one of the Abbey bells (perhaps the only one in the Abbey tower before the others were removed from All Hallows Church), which had been sold cheap. There are many other items connected with the bells up to the year 1578.

'In 1655, Robert Austen and his sons were paid £55 9s. 6d. for casting bells, and for metal for the "Panne bell," i.e., the Fire-bell.

'In 1670, the tenor was recast by Thos. Purdue at Clossworth. The recasting alone cost £21. At this time the bells were only rung at stack-level, from the ground floor, and there is a tradition that it required twenty-one men to ring the six bells. How they were stationed it is impossible to imagine. At what date they were hung with stays and slides, to be rung in the ordinary way, I have not been able to ascertain. But in 1762-3, Mr. Belby (i.e., Bilby) and Mr. Evans were paid £50 for new hanging the six bells, and very likely it was at that time that the change was carried out.

'The present ringing chamber is on a level with the vaulting of the church roof. To reach it it is necessary to ascend a spiral staircase at the angle of the south transept, and to traverse the leads on the Third.—The original bell was cast by Robert Austen. The inscription was on the crown, and partly hidden by the stock. When she was recast in 1803 an attempt was made to reproduce it, but with rather unsatisfactory results. It now reads: 'Recast by John Warner and Sons, Ltd., 1903.—W—M x CAST x E.R.S x THO x GARD x (above EA . GAVE) ME. R.A. 1652.' The date on the old bell was 1655, not 1652, the last '5' being inverted was evidently mistaken for a '2.'

Fourth.—'Peace & Plenty is the wish of Thomas Thorne & Samuel Jeffery, Churchwardens, 1803. Thomas and James Bilbie, Chewstocke, Somerset, fecit.'

Fifth.—'Bartholomew Watts. : and : Sweet Hart : Church Wardens, 1787. Be meek & lowly to hear the word of God. William Bilbie, Chewstocke, Somerset, fecit.'

Sixth.—'G. Mears, founder, London, 1858.'

Seventh.—'Recast by John Warner and Sons, Ltd., 1903. R. A. CAMPANA DOMINE . JOHN WHETCOMB JOHN COOTH WARDENS, 1653. William Hector Lyon, M.A., Vicar. Mark Parsons, Frederick Bennet, Churchwardens.'

The former bell was by Robert Austen, and weighed 26 cwt. 3 qr. 7 lb., the present is 29 cwt. 3 qr. 13 lb.

Tenor.—'By Wolsey's gift I measure time for all. To mirth; to grief; to church; I serve to call. G.H.—This bell was now cast by me Thomas Purdey, Oct. the 20th, 1670. Again recast 1865. Edward Harston, Vicar. James Hoddinott, Francis Stokes, Churchwardens.

DEATH OF MR. THOMAS HORTON.

A WELL-KNOWN MIDLAND RINGER.

Death has removed an old Midland ringer, in the person of Mr. Thomas Horton, of West Bromwich, who passed away on July 26th, in his 77th year. For 60 years he had been a member of the band at Christ Church, and, until a few years ago, he was most regular in his attendance in the belfry. He used to be a very keen peal ringer, and his total ran into hundreds. His first peal was at Christ Church, West Bromwich, in 1872. He was a member of many societies, including the Ancient Society of College Youths, Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford, St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham, and the Midland Counties Association. He was a capable ringer in many methods, and had rung in belfries all over the country. In his early days he was a great tune ringer on handbells.

A half-muffled touch of 850 Grandsire Triples was rung on the occasion of the funeral by the local band at Christ Church, West Bromwich: C. Williams 1, E. Reeves 2, A. Pickering 3, J. Jaggard 4, J. Walker 5, J. Screen 6, A. Greenfield 7, R. Hall 8.

PRESENTATION TO MR. JOHN AUSTIN.

VALUABLE SERVICES TO RINGING RECOGNISED.

The annual salmon supper was held at the Queen's Hotel, Lydney, on Saturday, August 15th, when thirty ringers and friends sat down to an excellent repast, provided by Host and Hostess Woolley. After the tables were cleared, Mr. J. W. Jones (Newport) was elected chairman. The toast of 'The King' having been honoured, Mr. Jack Davies said it gave him the greatest pleasure to see so many friends around him that evening, and especially to see present one to whom they were all indebted, one who had done more for the Exercise than anyone he knew, who was always ready and willing to assist and teach beginners the art of change ringing, and whose efforts had been crowned with success. He asked the chairman to present Mr. J. Austin with a small testimonial, subscribed for by ringers and friends as a token of the respect in which he was held.

The chairman handed to Mr. Austin the testimonial, which consisted of a gold watch, suitably inscribed, and albert, and said it gave him the greatest pleasure indeed to be there that evening, and to be asked to make the presentation. He could endorse all that had been said by Mr. Davies. He had been a sort of troublesome chap himself to Old Jack, as they called him, worrying him for a peal here and a bit of ringing there, but it was always arranged. He hoped Mr. Austin would live to a good old age, and continue to enjoy the art he loved so well.

Mr. E. T. Allaway (Birmingham), Mr. H. W. Bishop (Swindon), Mr. W. H. Harris (Gloucester), also paid tribute to the great services which Mr. Austin had rendered to the art, and to the great respect in which he was held throughout the Exercise.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the North-Eastern Division was held at Kirby-le-Soken on Saturday, August 22nd, and was attended by nearly 30 members. Service was held at the Parish Church, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. A. Gledhill), who, in the course of his address, welcomed the association, and also expressed a wish that more of his own congregation were present to hear the beautiful words and music of the Essex ringers' service, and to hear the splendid singing of the men. The hon. secretary (Mr. R. W. Stannard) read the lesson.

Tea was provided at the Parish Hall, when the Master, Mr. W. J. Nevard, suitably thanked the Vicar for his welcome, and the ladies for their help.

The Vicar was elected an honorary member, and eight ringing members were elected. The meeting was a great success.

BARNSELY SOCIETY.

A successful meeting was held at Kirkthorpe, near Wakefield, on August 8th, but in the absence of the president, vice-president, treasurer, secretary, etc., who were all away, no detailed report can be given. Good practice on the bells was indulged in. Tea was prepared early and much enjoyed. The next meeting was arranged to be held on September 5th, at Wortley, on a date not to clash with the Yorkshire branch meeting, to be held at Penistone on Saturday, Sept. 12th.

RINGERS' OUTINGS.

ST. MARY'S, ACTON, SOCIETY.

On Saturday, July 25th, a glorious half-day was spent by the St. Mary's, Acton, ringers and friends. Leaving Acton at 1.48, Twyford was reached by the Great Western Railway at 3 p.m., where Mr. Dentry met them, and a few touches were indulged in on this very handy peal of eight in the standard methods. Miss Cross took part, and became a much appreciated guide.

Ringing ceased here at 5 p.m., when a good, old-fashioned tea was tackled by all and sundry. Sonning, the next and final call, was a treat in store, for here the annual regatta chanced to be on. The bells—a glorious eight—were soon going to Stedman, Bob Major, etc., much to the delight of the regatta folks. Ceasing at 8.30, all adjourned to the river, where some indulged in boating, and others had a dance in a meadow adjoining. Altogether a jolly time was spent. Both Mr. Dentry and Mr. Wright gave the ringers a hearty welcome—a real honest one, too—which was much appreciated, and very best thanks are due to them, their respective Vicars, and to Miss Cross, for their kindness.

FLEET RINGERS' OUTING.

Seven ringers from Fleet, Lines, including the Rector, had a very enjoyable little tour on August 5th. Starting at 8.30, in two cars, they were joined at Grantham by the Rev. C. J. Sturton, formerly curate at Fleet, now Vicar of Orston, who had kindly arranged for ringing at Elston, Whetton, and Orston. The bells were raised and lowered in peal at each church, and touches of Plain Bob, Oxford Bob and Grandsire were rung in good style. The bells at all three towers were in perfect order, and it was a real pleasure and privilege to ring them. Returning to Grantham for tea, home was reached at about 9.30 p.m.

DURHAM & NEWCASTLE ASSOCIATION.

In spite of the unfavourable weather, a successful meeting of the Western District was held at Consett, on Saturday, August 22nd. The bells of the Parish Church, and those of Blackhill were at the disposal of the ringers, and touches of Bob Minor, Bob Major, Grandsire and Treble Bob were rung. Those present, including the local members, came from Newcastle Cathedral, Chester-le-Street, Tanfield, Pulham (Norfolk), and a member from the North Yorkshire and Cleveland Association.

A feature of the meeting was the improvement shown in the ringing of the local hands—several new members having recently joined the association. In the case of Blackhill, where a peal of eight bells was only put in two years ago, a touch of Bob Minor, with the help of one or two of the experts, was safely negotiated.

After tea, presided over by the Vicar of Consett, Mr. Tyson proposed that the thanks of the meeting be given to the Vicars of Consett and Blackhill for the use of the bells.—In replying, the Vicar of Consett expressed his pleasure at meeting the ringers once more, and assured them of his hearty co-operation whenever they cared to come again.

Mr. H. Tyson and Mr. J. Hargreaves were responsible for the arrangements of the meeting.

The next meeting will be that of the Eastern Division, to be held on Saturday, Sept. 5th, at Sunderland, where there are three eight-bell towers.

AN EXPERT COMMITTEE WANTED?

The letter which we publish in this issue from the Rev. E. S. Powell, upon the subject of providing a register of compositions—with which matter we dealt on this page last week—raises a question of considerable importance, and one to which we think the Central Council would do well to devote their attention. In advocating this register of compositions we had not overlooked the difficulty which the Rev. E. S. Powell points out; indeed, there are several difficulties surrounding the problem which will have to be surmounted if the register is to be of practical value. But the particular point which the Vicar of Holbeton raises need not, we think, interfere with putting the project in hand. Whether a particular set of course ends is or is not a variation of some previously obtained peal is a question which can be settled after the collection has been made, if it cannot be settled before.

The most important step seems to us to be getting together the peals which have already been composed, and before their identity with their original author has been lost. Whether any two of them are the same peal or variations of each other can be decided, and the claim to originality awarded to the first author afterwards. On the other hand, of course, the work of collecting the peals and deciding rival claims could go on concurrently, if a definition of what constitutes originality or variations can be decided upon, but to wait until a ruling on this latter point is satisfactorily settled might postpone indefinitely the big task of forming the register. What we have been anxious to emphasise is that the longer the task is delayed the more difficult it will become.

There is, however, in Mr. Powell's letter a suggestion upon which the Council might well act. They ought to set up an expert committee to define what is an original composition, and what constitutes a variation. Such a committee could be formed, and the recommendation of that committee, or a majority thereof, should be accepted by the Council, and they should recognise no other. There are other technical questions which have been and still are matters of great divergence of opinion. These, also, ought to be the subject of consideration by an expert committee of the Council, and if the committee was one to command the confidence of the Exercise, we believe their report would be loyally accepted by ringers at large, the majority of whom admit their ignorance on these subjects, but would be prepared to accept the considered views of a competent committee. We should, doubtless, always have a 'minority movement' among us, but a good deal might be done to influence the opinion of the 'rank and file' if the Council would set up a kind of judicial body to whom these subjects could be referred. The Committee must, of course, be men of knowledge, and it could be strengthened by going outside the Council for some of its members; one important point would be to have a committee in which the Exercise as well as the Council had confidence.

THE SURFLEET 'ANNUAL.'

A HOLIDAY AND SOME RECORDS.

Glorious weather on Saturday, August 15th, hailed the arrival, at Surfleet, first of the 'luggage fiend' and later of the 'cockneys,' accompanied by 'Old Bill' and his 'penny-in-the-slot' trunk.

After ringing on Sunday morning, which included a course of Cambridge Royal, the rest of the day was given over to leisure, during which 'mine host' gave 'Old Bill' his list of duties for the week.

Monday morning was spent by the visitors in 'digging themselves in,' whilst Rupert attended to business. In the afternoon a peal of Bob Major was attempted in the meadow, with Rupert in command, but 'too many cooks spoil the broth.' At 6 p.m. 'go' was called for Cambridge Royal on that 'second-to-none' peal of ten at the Church of St. Lawrence, with 'Old Bill' at the helm. Three hours and a half of good ringing, and the bells ran home, much to the delight of the Rev. and the rest of the band, more especially Rupert, as it was Mrs. Rupert's first peal of Cambridge Royal, also the first peal of Cambridge Royal in which two married couples had taken part.

Tuesday, being market day at Spalding, ringing was left alone until evening, when Cambridge Major was attempted at Fulney; but, for some unaccountable reason, came to a sudden stop after 2 hours and 40 minutes' ringing, the band being sadly disappointed, although two of the ringers were afterwards closely inspecting their hands for some reason or other. The air of Surfleet, having taken a strong hold of one particular member of the party, weird noises were heard issuing from his bedroom about midnight, but the ill-effects had worked off by next morning.

After breakfast on Wednesday, a start was made for Bob Royal, and a good peal was brought round just in time for dinner, during which one ungrateful member passed rude remarks about not being used to retiring to the mat. A cricket match was played in the afternoon at the Reservoir, which resulted in the Ladies beating the Gentlemen and one of the gentlemen having to resort to aquatic feats to recover the ball.

The weather still treating us with great kindness, a visit was paid to Skegness on Thursday, where a most enjoyable day was spent, the male portion having their 'annual.' Some amusement was caused at dinner time by 'Old Bill' trying to digest a specially prepared Surfleet sandwich! The exertions of the day again proved too much for 'this particular member,' and night time arrived with more noise and vigorous 'flag' waving in the corridor.

Friday was commenced with 'many happy returns of the day' to Rupert, and to celebrate his birthday a peal of Bob Major was rung, conducted by the particular one in question. An impromptu birthday party followed, during which Rupert received the good wishes of everyone present.

The 'luggage fiend,' being one peal short of 150, it was decided to ring a peal of Bob Major on Saturday. Mrs. 1-2, having a desire to see other people work, very kindly umpired, and carried out her duties equally as well as 'Old Bill' on the previous day.

Sunday, August 23rd, must be put down as a red letter day in the history of the 'Surfleet Annals,' for on that day a peal of Kent Treble Bob Royal was rung, this being the first peal of Treble Bob Royal rung on one of these very enjoyable occasions.

All good things come to an end, and Monday morning arrived all too soon, and with it the hour of departure. The weather, having taken a turn for the worse, mine host had a busy hour before breakfast, but as the rain continued to patter down, time was found to squeeze in another peal of Bob Royal. After dinner the fatal hour was close at hand, and tracks were made to Spalding Station, the 'luggage fiend' taxing Rupert's car to its utmost, which necessitated 'Old Bill' being left until last (a position he usually chooses for himself). The 5.40 train from Spalding, being rather late, however, he was able to join it, together with his 'penny-in-the-slot' trunk (which certainly looked better for its stay at Glyn-Garth). The departure of the train brought to an end one of the most enjoyable 'annuals' the writer can remember. Although the ringing week officially ended on Monday, the tit-bit of 1925 arrived on Friday, when the remnants of the party had the pleasure of taking part in the hostess's first peal 'in hand,' a good peal of Bob Major being rung in 2 hr. 18 mins.

This little account cannot be brought to a close without mentioning the cause of the success of these functions—the unlimited kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Richardson, for which the party all join in one big, hearty 'thank you.'

WEDDING BELLS.

On August 29th, at All Saints' Church, Leighton Buzzard, 168 each of Grand sire and Stedman Triples and 240 Bob Major, J. Arnold, W. Bodsworth, A. Butcher, A. Seabrook, F. Dodman, F. Buttrum, W. Gates, W. Jeffs and F. Vickers taking part. These touches were rung as a wedding compliment to Miss Connie Nicholls, daughter of Mr. J. Nicholls, foreman of All Saints'. It was also the anniversary of the wedding of Mrs. Brownworth, one of All Saints' ringers. Later in the day the Beds Association rang a peal of Kent Treble Bob Royal.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

THE OLD NORWICH CONTROVERSY.

By J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

Thomas Melchior was in no wise backward in accepting the challenge thrown down by Edward Crane. No doubt this was but the formal declaration of war. Hostilities had already begun. Melchior was not the man to sit still and see another usurp his position as the leading ringer of Norwich. He, too, had a tower at his command and a number of good ringers who supported him. All he had to do was to compose a peal of Stedman Triples and ring it before the Coslany men got theirs. The old peal ringing band had, roughly, split into two equal halves, due very likely to the fact that it had been made up out of the best men of the two towers. Thomas Barrett, who had taken part in both the 1718 and 1719 peals of Triples, and also the 10080 of Treble Bob, followed Melchior. So did John Webster, who rang in the 1719 peal and the Treble Bob. So did William Palmer, who rang in the 1718 peal. Another was John Gardiner, the son most likely of the Thomas Gardiner who had taken part in the 1715 peal of Bob Triples and also the long peal of Treble Bob—unless my copy has a misprint and they are the same person. On the other hand, Crane had his father and a couple of the Treble Bob band, Richard Barnham and John Harvey. So as far as experience went the opponents were pretty equal. But the sixth at Mancroft was going bad, and it was doubtful if anyone could ring her to a peal; while Coslany bells were in excellent condition, as the ringing of the 10,080 proves.

To-day we can see one pretty obvious reason why neither could ring the first peal of Stedman Triples, and that is the difficulty amounting to almost an impossibility of getting a true composition. But both composers, who knew a great deal that John Garthorn had taught them about Grandsire Triples, were blissfully ignorant of the pitfalls of Stedman composition. We need not wonder at that. It was not till 1768, after several false peals had been rung, that Christopher Wells, of the London Youths, discovered that Treble Bob can run false internally without showing at the lead ends; and not till 1780 was the full extent of this falseness found out. Nay, the band who rang the first peal of Waterloo Reverse Bob in 1912 had reason enough to know that a composer in quite modern times can get tripped up in much a similar fashion.

Whether either Melchior or Crane had any experience of composition in any other method than Grandsire Triples and the old Plain Changes as given by Stedman and J. D. and C. M. is very doubtful. No name is given in the record of the long peal of Treble Bob as to the composer, so presumably it was not a local man, though, as the conductor's name also is not given, we are not quite sure. Well, Melchior managed to get over the difficulties of composition as he saw them, and the next thing was to ring it. Here luck was with him. A little more than a month after Crane's challenge, on Saturday, October 31st, 1731, the 'Norwich Gazette' had the following:—

'NOTWITHSTANDING the Pretensions of several Ingenious Ringers in this City and elsewhere who would bear the World in Hand that they have composed that most intricate peal of STEDMAN'S TRIPLES; this is therefore to satisfy all Lovers of that ingenious Art that Thomas Melchior has composed it to Truth with Two Doubles, being the first that ever was composed all perfect Stedman consisting of 5040 changes; And was rung by him and 7 more on Monday, the 25th of October, 1731, at St. Peter's of Mancroft in Norwich in 3 hours and 40 minutes; and never a Bell out of Course, nor changes alike; by us whose names are here subscribed, viz:—

'Thomas Melchior treble; Thomas Blofield 2nd; Wm. Palmer 3rd; Thomas Ather 4th; John Gardiner 5th; John Forster 6th; Christopher Booty 7th; William Porter tenor.

'NOTE.—If any of the Curious be desirous they may see the Peal at John Forster's at the sign of the Eight Bells in St. Peter's of Mancroft aforesaid and satisfy themselves without laying any wager.'

The first round of the fight was clearly Melchior's. In due course a board was put up in Mancroft tower to record this peal. It reads as follows:—

'On the 25th of October, 1731, here was rung that Mysterious Peal called Stedman's Tripples; the discovery thereof has been the Study of several Ingenious Ringers though to no effect, until this intricate Peal, which differs from all other Methods of tripples, as being every bell a like course was perfectly discovered by Tho. Melchior, who first compleatid the Peal of Perfect Stedman Triples with only two Doubles and no alteration. The extent being 5040 changes, was compleatly rung by us in 3 hours and 40 minutes, on which occasion Willm. Scott in his remarks upon the ringing this Peal did elegantly sing, viz:—

As for the sweet and pleasant Treble she

By Melchior well was rung that bell, and called the bobs so free;

Blofield the 2nd; Palmer the 3rd did ring;

Ather rung 4th, and was not loath, but made her for to sing;

Gardener the 5th did sway; Foster the 6th did play
The 7th round Chris. Booty bound and made her to obey;
The tenor fine and neat, brave Porter so compleat
Did ring her out and turned about that Cymbal loud and great.'

This was the third peal board put up in St. Peter's tower, and all three are similar in size and style of lettering. They have been restored in recent years, and are quite legible. As they record the first peal rung in any method, the first ever rung of Grandsire Triples, and the first of Stedman Triples, it will be hard to find another three in any tower approaching them in historical interest.

Not every peal was recorded by a board. Indeed, for a hundred and fifty years, every board put up in Norwich with, I think, only two exceptions, recorded a peal which was believed to be either the first or the longest rung anywhere in the particular method. The two exceptions are the first peal at Mancroft on the present twelve and the peal of Oxford Treble Bob Royal, to which Thomas Hurry rang the tenor, and which I referred to some time ago in these notes.

We can never be quite sure how many peals were rung in these old days. Some probably are lost for ever, but there is just a chance that notice of others may be found in the files of the old newspapers. It would be a good thing if some enthusiast would search through the 'Norwich Gazette,' and see if there are any references to the 1715 and 1718 peals; if our present incomplete account of the 1719 peal can be supplemented; if any record of a peal supposed to have been rung at Aylsham about the same time can be found; and if there are any further references to this Stedman controversy beyond what I shall reproduce. I commend this task to our Norwich friends, and especially to Mr. George Burton.

The poetically inclined will enjoy the way in which Mr. William Scott 'did elegantly sing.' This effusion is the first of quite a number of similar efforts, which from time to time have been inflicted on the Exercise. The best we can say of it is that it is no worse than the others, but that is not saying much. I should think that a peal of Stedman Triples or for that matter anything connected with change ringing, is about as unsuitable a subject for poetical treatment as you can find. One or two of the really great poets could make fine poetry by stringing together a list of sonorous names, but not John Milton himself could make anything of Ather and Foster and Chris. Booty. One other example of Mr. Scott's elegant muse has come down to us, but of that later.

The time the peal took to ring was remarkable. Three hours and forty minutes for a peal of Triples, with a 23 cwt. tenor (for that was the weight of the old bell at Mancroft), seems almost too slow to be possible. We should have thought there was a mistake in the printing, but that we have a double corroboration, the peal board and a further letter. The Coslany men, indeed, did say that the time was only three hours and a half, but they also said that the peal was 180 changes short, both of which things Melchior indignantly denied. So, allowing for any small error of calculation, we can take the time as pretty well correct. It shows that the bells were going none too well, and that the sixth especially was going very badly indeed.

It would be rather interesting to discuss why some bells go so much quicker than others. Ringers are used to saying that old-fashioned, long-waisted bells, well hung out with big wheels, always go slowly, and though one would have thought that these things would have had just the opposite effect, there does seem some reason for this opinion. Certainly a big belfry and wide circle of ropes nearly always mean slow ringing, and so does a long draught of rope. The early peals at Mancroft were rung on the present floor, which is a long way from the bells. At some time or other, either when the twelve were put in or (which is more likely) when the old eight were made ten, an additional floor was put in just below the spring of the tower arch. This was taken away when, with other improvements, the lower arch and belfry were opened to the church in the eighties of the last century. The times that the other peals on the old bells took to ring are as follows:—1715, 3 hrs. 18 minutes; 1718, 3 hrs. 30 minutes; 1719, 3 hrs. 6 minutes; the peal of Court Bob Royal in 1769 took 3 hrs. 29 minutes; and the 12,603 Grandsire Caters in 1737 8 hrs. 15 minutes, which is 3 hrs. and 18 minutes for a 5040. These times vary very considerably, but the Stedman is much the slowest of the lot.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

A very successful quarterly meeting of the Bristol Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Association was held at Mangotsfield on Saturday last, members from 15 towers attending, including Mr. A. Tout, of Milverton, and Mr. and Mrs. R. Deal, of London. The Vicar (Rev. F. R. H. Crews), being away on holiday, the Rev. Francis Wright, of Reading, took the service, which was fully choral, and gave a very interesting address, in the course of which he gave the association (on behalf of the Vicar) a very hearty welcome.—Tea was served at the Crown Hotel, 37 members being present.—The business meeting followed, with Mr. J. Gould in the chair.—Mrs. G. Trow and Mrs. R. Seager were elected associate members, and the elections at the monthly meeting were ratified, viz., Rev. S. R. Worters, of Brislington, honorary member, and three performing members; also Mr. J. W. Pemberton, of Birmingham, as life member.

Britton was the place fixed for the September meeting, and Stoke Bishop and Westbury for October.

Mr. C. H. Jennings proposed a very hearty vote of thanks to the Rev. Francis Wright for his interesting address, and to the organist and choir for their assistance, which had provided one of the brightest services which the branch has had.

A vote of welcome was also extended to Mr. A. Tout and Mr. and Mrs. Deal.—The Rev. F. Wright, in replying, said it was a very great pleasure to him to be with the association that afternoon, and he hoped they would give him a call if in Reading.

The tower was again visited, and a good practice obtained in Grandsire, Stedman and Cambridge Surprise.

STAFFS VILLAGES VISITED.

The Bucknall and Norton ringers, on August Bank Holiday, paid a combined visit to Keele, Staffs, where there is a splendid little ring of six bells, and were successful in ringing 720 each of London and Cambridge Surprise, and Duke of York Minor: C. S. Ryles 1, F. Triner 2, J. E. Wheeldon 3, D. Preston 4, W. P. Deane 5, J. Walley 6. Conducted by J. E. Wheeldon, F. Triner and W. P. Deane, respectively.

On Saturday, August 8th, the Kingsley and Norton ringers visited the beautiful moorland village of Horion, Staffs, where they rang 720 each of Cambridge Surprise and Duke of York; also touches of Violet, Kent and Oxford, the following taking part: C. S. Ryles, A. W. Hall, H. Berrisford, J. E. Wheeldon, J. Walley, H. Carnwell, E. Edwards, and A. Edwards.

OXFORD GUILD ANNUAL FESTIVAL.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—May I suggest through the medium of the 'Ringing World' that the best way to settle the controversy re the venue of the festival is to change the date to August Bank Holiday, when, I am sure, a much more representative attendance would be the result. A large majority of the members are not men of leisure. The holding of the meeting on a Saturday morning debars a large number from attending, consequent on their having to remain at business or lose time, which, added to their day's expenses, makes the cost of attendance prohibitive.—Yours truly,

R. R. LEWIS.

SONNING DEANERY BRANCH.

A combined ringing practice for the Sonning Deanery Branch was held at Arborfield, on Saturday, August 8th. There were 16 members present, from Twyford, Wokingham, Binfield, Hurst, Waltham St. Lawrence, and Arborfield. The Guild secretary (Mr. T. Hibbert) and his son, Mr. W. Hibbert, looked in during the evening, their help being very welcome. The following methods were practised: Grand-sire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob Minor.—The foreman ringer, Mr. Emblen, said that one of the Arborfield ringers had only missed Sunday Service ringing twice during a period of seven years, a record to be proud of.

RINGERS' SOCIAL AT BOLTON.

On Saturday week about sixty members, wives and friends of the Bolton and neighbouring branches of the Lancashire Association, availed themselves of the invitation of the Bolton Borough Police, who had placed the whole of their athletic ground at their guests' disposal.

During the afternoon and evening the men indulged in games of bowls, and the women folk in tennis until darkness approached, when an adjournment was made to the pavilion. Here, a 'free and easy concert' was held, handbells, songs and dancing bringing the time for departure all too soon.

This invitation has now developed into an annual affair, and is looked forward to by many members, it having created a friendly rivalry between towers as to which possesses the best bowlers, and, for some weeks previous, one can hear challenges thrown out, and they are settled in a right royal fashion.

A vote of thanks was passed to the Bolton Borough Police for their kind invitation.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

There is always a certain amount of interest to the ringer concerned in completing the 'circle of the tower.' Mr. Gabriel Lindoff has now rung every bell at Leiston, in Suffolk, his native town, to a peal. When one remembers that Mr. Lindoff has been domiciled in Dublin for more than a quarter of a century, this achievement is somewhat remarkable.

'Following in father's footsteps' may be said of Edward F. Gobey, of Ilkeston, who last week rang his first peal. He is only 13 years of age.

The actual works of the ancient Wells Cathedral clock, to which we referred last week, are, we learn, in South Kensington Museum.

On Sunday, September 6th, 1807, a peal of 6140 Bobb Major Royal was rung at Coventry in 4 hrs. 23 mins. At St. George's Church, Southwark, on September 9th, 1750, John Holt rang in a peal of Bob Triples. This he conducted and probably composed.

'Ye Crowfield Society of Ringers' rang a 'compleat peal of Five thousand and forty of Gathrine's Triples, being the first true peal that ever was pricked with two Doubles only,' on September 10th, 1741.

Theodore Ecclestone, the squire of Crowfield, gave the peal of eight bells to Coddensham, as well as the ten to Stonham Aspal. He rang the treble in the peal above referred to.

RAILWAY TRAVELLING FACILITIES.

'GREAT PUSH' NOW WANTED.

The application made to the Great Western Divisional Superintendent at Bristol by the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association for railway travelling facilities for ringers at reduced fares has elicited a request for further information, and secretaries of associations throughout the country are urged at once to write to the honorary secretary of the Central Council (Mr. E. A. Young, 155, Rushey Green, Catford, S.E.), giving the approximate number of their members.

Mr. Edgar Guise (hon. secretary of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association) writes:—

'I have received a letter from the Divisional Superintendent of the Railway, in which he states that consideration has been given to my application, but he now desires to receive a similar application from the Central Council. I have communicated with Mr. Young, the hon. secretary, and I think it would be a good plan for all general secretaries of associations to forward him (Mr. Young) at once the approximate membership number. This is asked for.

To ensure success now it is up to every ringer to interest himself in the matter. It now wants the "Great Push."

MULTI-METHOD PEALS.

HINTS ON 'SPLICING' AND RINGING MINOR METHODS.

By JOHN P. FIDLER. FOURTH ARTICLE.

College Exercise is the basis of the next group to be dealt with. It is an old favourite, and appears in many peals of Minor. We, therefore, call this group of methods, 'The College Exercise Group.' Put briefly, the combinations are as follows:—

Work above Treble, Work above Treble,
Or that of Bells passing Or that of Bells passing Resultant Method.
'up.' 'down.'

|                   |                   |                   |
|-------------------|-------------------|-------------------|
| College Exercise. | Kingston.         | Norbury.          |
| College Exercise. | London Scholars'. | College Exercise. |
| College Exercise. | Sandall.          | Duke of Norfolk.  |
| College Exercise. | Overton.          | Trowel.           |
| College Exercise. | Morning Star.     | Morning Star.     |

These will be found amongst the Treble Bob methods, and I will deal first with the method from which the group takes its name, No. 8, page 8, of the 'Collection.' London Scholars' Pleasure supplies the necessary work, and I think it will now be seen why a strong point is made of mastering thoroughly the four methods of the Oxford group before attempting the other groups. If the figures of the lead are examined, we find a new feature introduced, viz., second's place above the treble, this being the chief difference, and a little thought must be spent upon it. London Scholars' work in the middle is done both when treble is in front as well as behind, and the bells passing her 3-4 and 4-5 up, triple dodge in 5-6, i.e., as at a bob lead of Oxford.

Those unacquainted with the method are advised to analyse the work of passing treble up, which is as follows:—

Pass Treble 1-2 up. Make 2nd's place and snap again.
Pass Treble 2-3 up. 4th's, dodge 3-4, 3rd's and up.
Pass Treble 3-4 up. Triple dodge 5-6 up.
Pass Treble 4-5 up. Triple dodge 5-6 down.
Pass Treble 5-6 up. 3rd's, dodge 3-4; 4th's and in.

The work of the bells at a bob is exactly the same as that in a bob lead of Oxford. The bell passing Treble 5-6 up, after dodging 5-6 down, makes 3rd's, 4th's, 3rd's, and up again. Those passing 2-3 and 1-2 up, respectively make 4th's and return to lead, and, as already stated, the 3-4 and 4-5 bells, triple dodge in 5-6. These two latter positions remaining as at a plain lead, it is when the observation bell is in one of them that a call is made. To call the extent with tenor as observation, the terms, Wrong, Home, Wrong (twice repeated) may be used, but tenor behind without the 5th is much more easy to remember.

Once the ground work has been mastered, little or no difficulty should be experienced in ringing the other three methods. Norbury (No. 19, page 12), as stated in the combination table, has Kingston work down, Duke of Norfolk (No. 3, page 8) has Sandal work down, and Trowel, No. 25 (figures herewith), has Overton work down.

These four methods will splice lead for lead, and the odd method which splices only course for course is Morning Star (No. 6, page 9), and notes should be made of the work down.

MORNING STAR.

Work of Bells passing Treble down.

1-2. Lead, 2nd's, lead, dodge off (1-2 up), 4th's, lead and out.

2-3. Lead, 4th's, dodge on (1-2 down), stay in slow.

3-4. Dodge on, dodge off.

4-5 and 5-6, 3rd's and up.

The same rule for splicing the methods applies as that previously given.

Morning Star may be found a stumblingblock, particularly when introduced into a peal, and, as in Baintree, the 3-4 down bell helps to keep things straight in front, but for all that, let it be a case of 'every tub on its own bottom.' Do not rely on someone else keeping you straight, the other man has enough to do in carrying his own rope.

Practice nights will now be found to be fully occupied, the all-important hour passes very quickly, and it will be found necessary to turn service ringing into practices. No opportunity must be lost of getting a pull, and every man in the band must put his shoulder to the wheel if a multi-method peal is to be accomplished. The question of how to accommodate probationers may present itself. If too much of the practice night is taken up with the new methods, the learner is at a disadvantage, and may, if he has to sit in the ringing room most of his time, lose interest. It will, therefore, be advisable to arrange extra practices for his welfare, and get him as soon as possible on to the Oxford group. When he has reached that stage it will be possible for him to join in with the rest when the earlier methods are being 'brushed up.'

A PEAL IN SIXTEEN METHODS.

From experience it has been found, that, after concentrating on a new group, no small amount of confusion exists on ringing methods learned a month or so beforehand. One man may be ringing Woodbine, and another wants to ring Oxford. Of course it simply cannot be done. How, then, can we overcome this difficulty? Presuming the fifteen methods already described are thoroughly mastered, and the details of the next group are to hand, on the practice night devote the whole of the time to the new methods, and, on the following Sunday, ring plain courses, changing method frequently. This will bring out the weak points, which should be noted and ultimately strengthened. Moreover, the practice of Plain Courses, enables the band to get smart in breaking off into another 720. A very strong point must be made of always finishing an extent clean, and picking up smartly the next one. Your own experience will by this time have taught you that unless the ringing is good, success cannot be hoped for.

Efforts may now be directed to ringing a spliced peal. Formerly, to ring a peal of Minor in more than seven methods, necessitated ringing over seven 720's, or introducing 360's, and to ring fourteen of the latter was no mean performance, only possible by hard and constant practice. At that time, the sphere of Minor methods had not been fully explored; fortunately we are much better placed, and are now in a position to ring fifteen methods in seven true extents; in fact, we can go one better and have sixteen by introducing Kent Treble Bob.

For the first 'spliced' peal, I suggest the following arrangement:—

1. Trowel and Morning Star.
2. Duke of Norfolk, College Exercise and Norbury.
3. Grove Delight and Baintree.
4. Neasden and Wragby.
5. Wragby and College Bob IV.
6. Overton and Sandall.
7. London Scholars' Pleasure, Oxford and Kingston.

There may be some who object to Wragby being included in two extents, if it were not, seven spliced extents could not, as far as we have gone, be obtained. Already mention has been made of the introduction of Kent, thus giving sixteen methods, with subsequent alterations to the suggested peal. Numbers 1 to 3 remain as given, add to No. 4, College Bob IV., No. 6 becomes No. 5, London Scholars' Pleasure and Kingston comprise the 6th, whilst 720 of Oxford and Kent complete it.

'SPICED' 720 OXFORD AND KENT.

2 3 4 6 5 Oxford

|    |           |        |
|----|-----------|--------|
| 1  | 3 2 6 4 5 | Kent   |
| 2  | 2 3 5 6 4 | Oxford |
| 3  | 5 2 4 3 6 | Oxford |
| 4  | 2 5 6 4 3 | Kent   |
| 5  | 6 2 3 5 4 | Kent   |
| 6  | 3 6 4 2 5 | Kent   |
| 7  | 6 3 5 4 2 | Oxford |
| 8  | 5 6 2 3 4 | Oxford |
| 9  | 2 5 4 6 3 | Oxford |
| 10 | 4 2 3 5 6 | Oxford |

Twice repeated.

The splicing of Oxford and Kent is only possible by paying attention to the leads. Bobs are not required to produce the extent, but a little explanation is necessary. With the figures given, the name of method opposite each lead end denotes the method which produces that lead end.

Commence by ringing Oxford, the first lead end being produced by Kent. When treble is dodging 3-4 down, change over to Kent, thus allowing Kent places to be made in lieu of Oxford. There being only the one lead of Kent, change back when treble again dodges 3-4 down. Oxford is rung for two leads, change again for three, then again for four (or until the part end comes up), and repeat the whole twice. A little study and practice will soon make this clear. The leads of each can easily be memorised—1 of Kent, 2 of Oxford, 3 of Kent, 4 of Oxford.

DOUBLE NORWICH.

WHICH WAS FIRST RUNG—MAJOR OR ROYAL?

To the Editor.

Dear Sir.—Which was rung first—Norwich Court Major or Royal? I was much surprised last evening when I was informed that a peal of Norwich Court Bob Major was rung in Norwich in 1741. Maybe my informant will supply details some time in the near future.

—Yours faithfully,

GEORGE H. CROSE.

RINGERS' OUTINGS.

ST. SIDWELL'S SOCIETY, EXETER.

On Monday, August 3rd, the St. Sidwell's Society, Exeter, which was established in 1875, held their jubilee outing to North Devon. A party of 13 travelled by coach via South Molton, the lovely Bray Valley, Brayford and Blackmoor Gate to Combe Martin, which was reached at noon. Here, at dinner at the Castle Hotel, they were joined by Mr. A. H. Hayward, the secretary of the local branch of the Guild, who had kindly arranged for ringing at the Parish Church. Ascending the lofty tower and raising the bells in peal, which are a nice ring of eight with a tenor of 10 cwt. in F, several touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples were rung; also some ringing with members of the local band. A delightful ride of five miles along the coast brought the party to Ilfracombe, where SS. Philip and James' tower was visited, with its recently augmented ring of eight, tenor 12½ cwt. Here more touches of Grandsire and Stedman, and some Kent Treble Bob were rung, an hour being pleasantly spent. As soon as the bells had been lowered, the bulky frame of the popular Rector and President of the society (Rev. H. Lanyon Owen) filled the doorway, he having come down by train. Then, after an hour's stroll round the Capstone and promenade among swarms of holiday visitors, the party gathered at Holloway's Restaurant for tea, at which the Rector presided. He expressed the pleasure he felt in being with them, and thanked the ringers for their services.—Mr. Richardson, in replying, referred to the good spirit of unity that existed among the members.—The journey home was made via Barnstaple, where a short stop was made, and the 'last lap' (Messrs. Carter and Bartlett) at the Fox and Hounds, Eggesford. Here the handbells were brought out, and a course of Grandsire rung in hand by Messrs. Howe, Richardson, Belts and Shepherd, and some 'tapping' by Mr. Belts; then the Rector obliged with some well rendered songs. Thus enlivened, all reached home in a pleasant mood. The members desire to thank the respective Vicars, Messrs. Hayward and Dadds for facilities at Combe Martin and Ilfracombe, and Mr. E. Shepherd for the general arrangements, all of which combined to make the day a memorable one in the annals of the 'Grecian' ringers.

ST. STEPHEN'S GUILD, BRISTOL.

On Monday, August 3rd, St. Stephen's Guild, Bristol, held their annual outing. Starting at 7 a.m., Swindon was reached at 9.30, where Mr. Gardner welcomed the party on their arrival at the Parish Church. A well-struck course of Cambridge Royal and touches of Stedman Caters were rung, after which the visitors proceeded to Oxford, arriving at 12.30, to find dinner awaiting them at Messrs. Weeks' Cafe. After luncheon a move was made to Christ Church Cathedral, where Stedman Cinques and Caters were rung. The ringing, however, was of the holiday order, owing, doubtless, to the long journey. The remainder of the afternoon was spent in visiting the different colleges, river and other interesting places.

At 5.30 the homeward journey was begun, a call being made at the most interesting and quaint old tower of Appleton. Here touches of Stedman Caters and Cambridge Major were rung. The journey was then resumed, and, with just a short stop at Swindon, the destination was reached at midnight, after a most enjoyable day.

Through these columns the Guild wish to thank Mr. Hibbert and those other gentlemen who contributed to the enjoyment of the party.

ESSEX RINGERS IN WEST SUFFOLK.

On Sunday, August 16th, three members of the Essex County Association paid a visit to West Suffolk for a short ringing tour. Starting from Great Bentley, by car, a call was made at Ipswich to pick up two members of the St. Clement's, Ipswich, company. Leaving Ipswich at 8.15, a run was made via Stowmarket to Pakenham, where permission for ringing had been readily granted. Here some well-struck 120's of Grandsire Doubles were brought round for morning service, a member of the Ingham company taking part. The next stop was Ixworth, where, after service, a well-struck 720 of Bob Minor was rung: Percy Almond (Great Bentley) 1, Fredk. J. Long (Ipswich) 2, Fredk. Rowell (Ipswich) 3, Ernest Eady (Thorpe-le-Soken) 4, Wm. Durrant (Ixworth) 5, W. J. Nevard (Great Bentley, conductor) 6. After dinner a move was made to Great Barton, near Bury St. Edmunds, where, for afternoon service, a 720 of Oxford Treble Bob was rung: P. Almond 1, W. J. Nevard 2, P. J. Long 3, E. Eady 4, F. Rowell (conductor) 5, H. W. Foulger (Great Barton) 6. A short run soon brought the party to Ingham, where some Grandsire Doubles were rung. On the way back to Ipswich a call was made at Bramford, where, with the help of a visitor, 720 of Oxford Treble Bob was brought round for evening service: P. Almond 1, F. Rowell 2, W. J. Nevard 3, E. Eady 4, Fredk. Kinsey (Kesgrave, Suffolk) 5, F. J. Long (conductor) 6. Ipswich was reached at 6.30, where the party broke up, and the Essex members were left to continue their journey home.

A KENTISH EXCURSION.

The ringers of St. Peter's Church, Tunbridge Wells, held their annual outing on August Bank Holiday, in accordance with their usual custom. Leaving Tunbridge Wells at 8 a.m., accompanied by their wives and sisters and Mr. T. Groombridge, in a comfortable motor charabanc, the first stop was at Lamberhurst, where they were joined, after a little delay, by Messrs. R. B., R. T. and F. J. Lambert, jun., from Horsmonden. The first tower for ringing was Hawkhurst, where two excellent courses of Superlative, followed by three courses of Double Norwich, were rung, followed by a short touch of Grandsire for the weaker brethren.—The next stop was at Benenden, where Mr. W. H. Lambert was waiting to welcome the party. Here two courses of Cambridge were tried, but a shift course brought up 432 in place of rounds. A similar fate befel four courses of Stedman, but two courses were brought round successfully, and the bells lowered in peal. The road was then taken for Tenterden, where the grand peal were soon raised and set going to two good courses of Superlative. A touch of Norwich came to grief, and so did a touch of Stedman, through the omission of a bob. The ringing here closed with a good course of Cambridge. After an excellent lunch the party proceeded to Biddenden, where Oxford Treble Bob and Grandsire were rung, but the visitors were agreed that the peal would be improved if the two trebles were in tune with the other bells. Headcorn next engaged the party's attention, and here they were met by Mr. Hodgkin. The first touch (Superlative) came to an untimely end, but amends were made by two courses of Cambridge, 168 Grandsire Triples and a course of Double Norwich, after which the bells were rung down and a move made for Leeds, where tea waited. After this the party adjourned to the tower, and tried conclusions with this celebrated peal of ten. Here it was obvious that ten was not one, but two too many for the ringers; but, after several attempts, a course of Stedman Caters was induced to come round. The last part of call was Linton, where Mr. T. Sone had everything in readiness. A course of Superlative came round in good style, and 'go' was called for Cambridge, but this came 'unstuck' about the fifth lead. Two courses of Stedman brought the day's ringing to a close, and, after a pretty run through Marden, Horsmonden and Breckley, the party reached Tunbridge Wells again at 9.45, after a very pleasant and enjoyable day. Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar of St. Peter's and the Church Council, by whose generosity the outing was made possible, and Mr. Groombridge, in a neat speech, voiced the appreciation of the visitors. The arrangements were in the capable hands of Mr. W. Latter, the Ringing Captain, and the thanks of all are due to him for his excellent 'staff-work,' and also to the various incumbents and steeple-keepers for their courteous and friendly welcome.

STOURBRIDGE RINGERS' TRIP.

The annual outing of the ringers of St. Thomas's Church was held on Saturday, July 26th, when Ledbury was visited, the outward journey being via Worcester, Malvern and Colwall. At Colwall a short stay was made, and a few touches of Grandsire Triples were rung on the bells of the village church. Ledbury was reached in time for tea, and a visit was paid to the tower of Ledbury Church, and various touches were rung on the bells. At 8 o'clock the homeward journey was commenced, the route being through British Camp, Malvern and Worcester. Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar and churchwardens, for making the outing possible, and to Mr. A. J. Skelding for the excellent arrangements he had made for the comfort of the party. Votes of thanks were accorded the Vicar of Colwall and the Rector of Ledbury, for allowing the use of the bells, and an old friend (Mr. W. Harford, of Colwall, late of Stourbridge).

PONTYPRIDD RINGERS CROSS THE CHANNEL.

The ringers of St. Catherine's Church, Pontypridd, had their annual outing on August 4th, when they visited Weston-super-Mare. Travelling by train to Cardiff Docks, they crossed by steamer to Weston, which was reached at 11 o'clock, after having a calm trip. Visiting St. John the Baptist's Church, they had an hour and a half's ringing of Grandsire Triples. They were met by Mr. Blackmore, the captain of the ringers, who gave them a hearty welcome. After dinner the party boarded a bus, and made for the famous old church of St. Nicholas at Uphill. There they found Mr. Masters, one of the local ringers, awaiting them, and soon had the ring of six bells going in Grandsire Doubles. Though the bells are very old, the 'go' is excellent. After staying about an hour and a half the party returned to Weston for tea. Still anxious for more ringing, they took for a point as near as possible to another old church, St. Paul's, Kewstoke, with its nice ring of six. Grandsire Doubles were rung, and the only regret the ringers had was that they were not able to stay very long, and a sharp walk back was necessary to meet the homeward bound boat. The visitors spent a happy and enjoyable day, arriving back in Pontypridd at 10.30 p.m., after an outing which will be long remembered. Best thanks were accorded the Vicars and ringers of all towers for giving permission to use the bells. The ringers also desire to thank their own Vicar and churchwardens for giving them such an excellent outing.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.*ROCHESTER DISTRICT.

The quarterly meeting of the Rochester district was held at Rainham on Saturday, August 8th, and was well attended. The bells were going in various methods from 3 till 5 o'clock, when the association service was held, conducted by the Rev. W. A. R. Ball, a full choir being in attendance, with Lieut. W. A. Cooke, a local ringer, presiding at the organ. The Vicar gave a straight and inspiring address, likening ringers unto guides, and urged them to be 'good guides,' not only by their ringing, guiding people to church, but to go with them in their worship of God.—A collection at the close for the benevolent fund realised 13s. 9d.

Tea followed in the Church Hall, to which 49 sat down.

The business meeting was held after tea, the Vicar presiding, supported by the Rev. L. G. Barnett, of Milton Regis; Messrs. J. Coomber and J. A. Springate (churchwardens), Messrs. Haigh and Spice (district representatives), Mr. F. M. Mitchell (district secretary), and Mr. and Mrs. Hazleden, of Guildford.

The Chairman welcomed the association to Rainham, and said he was sorry he had not time to prepare a proper address for them, as he had only the day previous returned from his holiday, mountaineering in Switzerland. (Some of the ringers wondered what a 'prepared address' would be like.)

Mr. W. J. Beer, of Gravesend, was elected as an honorary life member, three non-resident life members, and 15 practising members were also elected. Milton Regis (Sittingbourne) tower was brought into union with the association.

Gravesend was unanimously chosen as the place for the annual district meeting, to be held on Saturday, October 31st.

The District Secretary reported on the action he had taken regarding the clashing of dates with other district meetings, and read the resolution passed at their meeting on February 25th, 1922, and the correspondence he had received on the subject.

Mr. W. Haigh (district representative) moved that the resolution, as passed on the date mentioned, be adhered to, as the number of visitors at these meetings from other districts did not merit any alteration.—This was seconded by Mr. W. A. Cooke, and carried unanimously.

Mr. W. Spice proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for his excellent address, for the use of the bells, and for presiding over the meeting, also to the organist and choir, to the churchwardens for their attendance, and to the ladies who had assisted at tea.—The District Secretary, in seconding, also extended a hearty welcome to the Rev. L. G. Barnett and the Vicar and ringers of Milton Regis, and to the association.—The Rev. W. A. R. Ball, Mr. J. Coomber and the Rev. Barnett responded.

The tower was again visited, and ringing in various methods indulged in until 9 o'clock, when the bells were rung down in peal, on a very successful meeting. Sixteen towers were represented, and methods up to Superlative were rung. It is hoped members will look up London Surprise for the meeting at Gravesend in October.

LEWISHAM DISTRICT.

The quarterly meeting of the Lewisham District was held at SS. Peter and Paul's, Shoreham, on Saturday, July 25th. The bells were raised at 3 p.m., and were kept going during the afternoon to various methods. Service was held at 5 p.m., and an interesting address, on the history of the church, was given by the Vicar (the Rev. H. D. Madge). Tea was supplied to the members in the Church Room.

The business meeting followed, Mr. W. J. Jeffries taking the chair. Two new members were elected, and the elections of two others, previous to peals, were ratified.

St. John's, Deptford, was chosen as the place of the next (annual) meeting.

Mr. H. E. Audsley discussed the association rule, No. 15, with the object of eliminating the clause restricting the number of elections previous to peals to two. After some discussion, it was agreed to put this matter on the agenda for the annual district meeting.

A collection on behalf of one of the local ringers realised 7s. 7d., and this was paid over by the secretary.

A vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar for the use of the bells, to the organist for his services, and to the ladies who helped with the tea.

This concluded the meeting, and owing to an open-air theatrical performance a short distance from the church making further ringing impossible, the members dispersed.

HORNSEY BELLS' 150TH ANNIVERSARY.

The one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the hanging of the bells at St. Mary's, Hornsey, was celebrated on Monday, when 720 Kent Treble Bob Minor was rung by H. Blee 1, T. G. Deal 2, H. A. Barnett 3, J. G. Nash 4, A. Putland 5, C. H. Ross (conductor) 6.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

The quarterly meeting of the Glastonbury Deanery Branch was held on Saturday, August 22nd, at Dinder. Members were present from Glastonbury, Croscombe, Pilton, West Pennard, Wells, Ilminster, Doulting and Shepton Mallet, together with the local ringers, while visitors in Mr. J. W. Pemberton (Birmingham) and Mr. J. H. Shepherd (Swindon) were also present. Ringing commenced about 3 o'clock, and service was conducted by the Rev. M. Y. McClean (Rector of Dinden), the association's special form being used. The Rector also gave a suitable address. The company afterwards adjourned to the Village Hut, where they were entertained to tea by Mr. and Mrs. Somerville, and upwards of 40 members sat down to a substantial meal.—The Rev. L. S. Lewis moved a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Somerville for their kindness, and also for their kind invitation to look over the beautiful gardens.—Mr. Somerville responded.

The business meeting was then held, the Rev. L. S. Lewis (President of the branch) presiding.—Three new members were elected, and Street was chosen as the place of next meeting.

A vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector for use of the bells, and the Rev. McClean, in responding, invited the members to visit the Rectory garden.—Votes of thanks were accorded to the visitors, the ladies who had so kindly waited at tea, and the local ringers.

The President congratulated the Rev. E. S. C. Lock (West Pennard) on his appointment to the office of Master of the Association, and the Rev. E. S. C. Lock suitably responded.

The Hon. Secretary (Mr. F. D. Rickards) announced that the beautiful peal of six bells at Croscombe were open to the members, and in the evening several took advantage of the opportunity to have a pull. The ringers take this opportunity of thanking the local band, especially Mr. J. Drew, who had done so much to make a success of the meeting.

WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

A quarterly meeting of the Winchester District was held at Cheriton on Saturday, August 29th. The peal of six bells was kept going to Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Bob, Kent, Oxford and Cambridge Surprise Minor, and tea was held on the lawn at a village inn. A short meeting followed, at which Mr. G. Williams (Master of the Guild) was in the chair. Those present included Mr. G. Pullinger (General Secretary), Mr. F. W. Rogers (Portsmouth District Secretary), and members from North Stonham and Winchester, Mr. J. H. Shepherd (Swindon) and Mr. and Mrs. Carter (Goring, Oxfordshire).—On the motion of the District Secretary (Mr. W. T. Tucker), seconded by the Master, a vote of thanks was passed to the Rector (Rev. H. Brownlow) for the use of the bells at Cheriton and Titchborne, after which both peals of six were kept going during the morning.

The annual meeting will be held at Romsey on November 7th, notice of which will be given in the 'Ringing World.'

DEVON GUILD.*VETERAN EX-PRESIDENT'S LONG JOURNEY.

The Rev. Maitland Kelly (ex-President of the Devon Guild), despite his more than eighty years, travelled over a hundred miles to attend a meeting of the Mid-Devon Branch at Dartmouth on August 15th. The Rev. T. G. Watt (Vicar of Dittisham) was also present, and ringers attended from Buckfastleigh, Cockington, Collaton, Sowton, Stoke Gabriel, Torquay and Paignton. A short service was held in St. Saviour's Church, conducted by the Vicar, Rev. F. H. A. Simpson, who gave a very interesting address on 'Our Bells.'

At the subsequent business meeting, Mr. F. J. Laxton presided, and Teignmouth was chosen as the next place of meeting. Three new hon. members and one associate member were elected.

The Rev. Maitland Kelly said he had watched the Mid-Devon branch with interest, and he was glad to see new members elected and other towers coming in. It was a very difficult task to learn change ringing, but they should bear in mind the motto of the Guild—'Perseverantia omnia vincit' ('Perseverance conquers all things'). He urged them all to stick to that motto, and congratulated them on the number of quarter-peals they had rung. It was very interesting, because in nearly every quarter one noticed it was the first quarter for one of the members, and first conducted by one of the band. It showed that the spade work of the branch was on a sound principle.

The Chairman proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Rev. M. Kelly. He was sure all the members were delighted to have their ex-president with them that day. Although over 80 years of age, he took a very great interest in the work of the Guild.

The branch wishes to thank the Vicar for the service and use of the bells, also Mr. Middleton, the local captain, for his assistance.

A DEVON PEAL RESTORED.

HAWKCHURCH BELLS RUNG AGAIN AFTER 25 YEARS' NEGLECT.

The rural parish of Hawkchurch was en fete on Monday, August 24th, the occasion being the dedication of a new treble bell and the formal opening of the augmented and recently rebung bells. It is some 25 years since the old five were last rung, and 17 years since they were chimed. Tower and bells alike had fallen into decay, and for years were in a dangerous condition.

Recently, through the generosity of a resident, the tower was restored, and a further generous donor came forward and offered not only to restore the old peal of five, but to add an additional bell.

The restoration of the bells has been of a thorough character. The old bells were sent to the Whitechapel Foundry, where they were tuned, quarter turned, and fitted in a new iron frame. The new treble is a bell of the same character, and all make a melodious peal.

The bells, having been erected, the Bishop of Sherborne (Suffragan Bishop of Salisbury) dedicated the new work on the date mentioned.

Although the parish is in Devon, it is in the Diocese of Salisbury, so it was only fitting that the Diocesan Guild should be invited to officially open them.

Notices to the neighbouring affiliated towers brought together a large number of members, while other associations represented were Devon, Bath and Wells, Essex, Sussex and College Youths and Cumberlands. The following rang rounds immediately after the dedication prayer, followed by 240 Grandsire Doubles at the conclusion of the service: T. Hervey Beams, Rev. C. C. Cox, F. Brooks, F. Bugler, Rev. F. Ll. Edwards and W. Woodward.

From then, until late in the evening, the bells were kept merrily going by the many ringers present, in call changes, Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Minor. So many were present that only one 720 was attempted, the following band ringing a well-struck extent Kent Treble Bob: W. D. Smith 1, T. Hervey Beams 2, the Rev. C. C. Cox 3, A. G. Belts 4, W. Miller (conductor) 5, A. A. Hughes 6.

'THAT NEEDED REGISTER.'

To the Editor.

Sir,—Every member of the Exercise will sympathise with the purpose of your leading article on this subject. But it needs to be remembered that the question is not as simple as it looks. Where the figures of two compositions are identical an untrue claim to originality is easily adjusted, but more often than not this is not what actually occurs. The real difficulty comes when a difference of opinion arises as to whether the alteration is a mere variation or amounts to an independent production. Most of your readers will remember controversies in the past, when opposite conclusions were upheld with considerable warmth.

On one notable occasion Mr. G. Lindoff engaged in a vigorous campaign with four other leading composers, which was carried on for several months. When brought down to its essential elements the problem boiled down to the apparently simple question, whether the introduction of one bob entitled a new composition to be regarded as original. No conceivable collection of peals would assist in the solution of a difference of this kind. And, as I have said, these are the points, and others like them, in which a solution is most urgently needed.

How are we to reach it? Perhaps the first and most important step is to recognise that the standard of originality is not a fixed quantity, but is always inevitably rising. In making this statement I have not in view the obvious fact that every new discovery makes it more difficult for others to obtain an original peal, but there is the equally cogent point that our knowledge of the principles of composition is constantly advancing, and we know far more about the nature of variations than our predecessors of only a short time ago. An example of this is the simple 'reversal,' of which, I believe, Jasper Snowden was the first to explain the essential characteristics.

Would it be possible for some of our leading composers to agree upon a few leading principles governing originality at the present stage of knowledge? No production falling short of this standard to be recognised. I confess, however, that I am by no means confident either of the agreement of the expert composers, or of the general acceptance of their conclusions, assuming they are fortunate enough to reach any. But I am firmly convinced that something of this kind is a necessary preliminary to the production of such a register as you propose, if that register is to be of practical value in avoiding disputes.

Lest I be accused of merely destructive criticism, I will venture on one positive suggestion. Let it be known to every young composer that to claim to have obtained an original 5040 in any plain even method in courses of normal length is to-day practically equivalent to saying he could sweep the Atlantic dry with Mrs. Partington's broom. If that be taken to heart an appreciable reduction will take place in the number of unjustified claims.—Yours faithfully,

E. S. POWELL.

P.S.—What ought a conductor to do in the following circumstances? For a particular purpose he wants to call a composition with certain characteristics. He has not in his possession a peal with these qualities, and strings together from old material a peal and calls it. As a guarantee of truth he is expected to state the composer's name when the peal is published. He knows perfectly well it is not strictly his, and under no circumstances does he intend to publish the figures. Probably many of the instances you have in mind in your leading article come within this category. Would it not be well to have a convention to cover them, such as 'Arranged by A. B. C.' instead of the usual 'composed'?

NORTHERN BRANCH MEETING.

A Grimsby District meeting was held at Burton-on-Stather on Saturday, August 15th, when members attended from Grimsby (St. Andrew's and St. James'), Bigby, Uisceby, Burrow-on-Humber and the lower tower, also from the Gainsborough District, including the Hon. Secretary (Mr. P. S. W. Butler) and friends from Hull. Bells were going early, and the Vicar (the Rev. C. Mylne) kindly conducted a service and gave an interesting address. Tea was partaken of in the Schoolroom, and enjoyed by 35 members and friends. The business meeting followed, the President (the Rev. H. T. Barry) presiding.—The re-election of one member took place, and a collection for the Grimsby and District Bell Fund amounted to 11s. 8d.

The President proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, for conducting the service and for the excellent address; to the organist for presiding at the organ, and to Mr. Godfrey and Mr. Bray for making the arrangements. — In reply, Mr. Bray said it was a pleasure to them all to have the Guild at Burton Stather. He was looking forward to the time when they would have eight bells instead of six.—A vote of thanks was accorded to the president for presiding.

Members then adjourned to the tower for more ringing, and some to the Burton Hills, which is a beauty spot of Lincolnshire, to view the surrounding country.

The methods rung were Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Plain Bob, Stedman Doubles, Grandsire Doubles and Bob Doubles.

The next meeting is a combined one with Gainsborough District, and is to be held at Brigg on Saturday, September 12th.

A CALL FOR IMMEDIATE ACTION.

The immediate co-operation of Association Secretaries is sought in the endeavour to secure for ringers cheap travelling facilities on the railways. The initiative in the matter, as our readers are aware, has been taken by the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, who have got the ear of the railway officials, but it is necessary to make the application country-wide if it is to meet with success. In a matter of this kind the railway companies usually take a common line, through the Clearing House, and, as we pointed out in this column a few weeks ago, what is most urgently needed is that all Associations should join in a united effort to bring about the desired end. Each Association should put its own facts before the company serving its own district, and the information which will be of value is similar to that set out in Mr. Edgar Guise's letter to the Divisional Superintendent at Bristol, and which we published in our issue of August 21st.

Ringers, in the aggregate, do a considerable amount of railway travelling; if they had the advantage of reduced fares for a ringing expedition, whether for peal or meeting, they would do a great deal more than is possible at present. Anglers and golfers, who do not travel in bodies of at least a dozen together, have these cheap facilities, and on any ground that can be advanced for the privilege extended to these two sections of the community, equal claim can be made for bellringers. An important point in the argument is that ringers, although numerous as a whole, are not to be found in big numbers at any one centre, and it is seldom that twelve (which is the present minimum number for which cheap tickets can be obtained) travel together. They constantly assemble in considerable strength, and even monthly district meetings may bring together anything from twenty to a hundred members, and these numbers would be considerably increased if there were a reduction in the fares. The railway companies would certainly not be the losers.

We hope that in this matter the Standing Committee of the Central Council will throw all its weight into the scale, and every Association, through its officials, should at once approach the company or companies which touch its area. There may not be time or material available to take our statistics as to the amount of travelling done by members in connection with peal ringing, but details as to numbers attending meetings would be a powerful argument in support of the application. Another point which should not be overlooked is that each application should bear a reminder that it is part of a national movement, otherwise some local railway official may take it into his own hands to turn down the request before it gets to the proper quarter. The essential factor now is time. It is of no use for Association officials to wait for meetings of their own societies, they must act upon their own initiative, and act quickly. Their own members, and ringers in general, will not thank them if procrastination results in the endeavour of others being defeated because of the absence of sufficient support.

WYCLIFFE SURPRISE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In reply to the letter published on Aug. 7th in the 'Ringing World,' I am sorry to say that Mr. Craven has misunderstood my intention so far as to put me down as a wamrel, and accuses me of trying to back out of this mess by the use of channels other than letting you and the Exercise know the true facts. My last letter was published merely to hold up the matter until I had ascertained for myself that things were as bad as stated to me by Mr. Craven. Thanks to him I am now in a position to place before the Exercise the true facts. The reason it came to be published as containing only one false course end, viz., 24365, was because two methods were accidentally mixed. Wycliffe was proved up to treble in 1—2, which shows the false course end stated. It was then laid aside (owing to business). When I took up what I thought was the same, it had been moved away during my absence, so accidentally that I took up the other and proved from 1—2 upwards, so that it showed only one false course end, whereas the method itself shows 9 F. C. E., and would never have been published if I had found it out before. The other method which has been sent to you shows 4 false course ends with treble in 1—2. 'The Exercise will readily see how the mess had come about, so I must apologise to you for wasting your valuable space in the 'Ringing World,' and forgive Mr. Craven for his baseness in jumping to conclusions.—Hoping I have satisfied all concerned, Yours faithfully,

ERNEST W. TIPLER.

A TOUR IN NORTH KENT.

A NINE-PEAL WEEK.

The nine peals recorded below were rung for the Kent County Association, as a result of a week's ringing in North Kent.

The ringers desire to sincerely thank the incumbents of the various churches for granting permission for the use of the bells, and the visitors are also very grateful to the several local men who completed the band in each case. Special acknowledgment is due to C.S.M. James Bennett, R.M., who arranged the programme, and owing to whose forethought and untiring efforts a most enjoyable time was spent.

RINGERS' OUTING.

ST. NICHOLAS GUILD, HARWICH.

On Saturday, August 15th, the above, with a few friends, had their annual outing to Leiston and Aldeburgh. The first stop was at Ufford, where touches of Kent Treble Bob Major and Grandsire Triples were brought round on this nice peal of eight. Afterwards the journey was resumed to Saxmundham, where the party were joined by Mr. T. Watling, and tracks were made to Kelsale. Here touches of Kent, Bob Major and Stedman were duly brought round with some of the local company. Afterwards the party returned to Saxmundham for luncheon, and then resumed the journey to Leiston and Aldeburgh, where various touches were brought round on these nice rings. At Aldeburgh they were met by Mr. T. Bailey and the local ringers, and touches of Bob Minor, Oxford and Kent, also Grandsire Triples on handbells, were brought round. Going on next to Hasketon, tea was waiting, at the home of the captain, Mr. G. Thompson, which was reached at 6.30. Afterwards selections on handbells were given by Messrs. G. Thompson, A. Alderton, J. Alderton, C. Ellis, J. Scarfe and E. Scarfe, and a course of Kent Treble Bob Major was rung. Harwich was eventually reached at 11.30 p.m. The ringers wish to thank, through the medium of the 'Ringing World,' the respective incumbents for use of the bells, Mr. T. Watling, of Saxmundham, Messrs. Norman and Charles Bailey for having the bells in readiness, Miss S. Thompson for the splendid tea which she prepared, and everyone who helped to make the day so enjoyable.

SHEFFIELD DISTRICT SOCIETY.

A MEETING AT TICKHILL.

Saturday, Sept. 5th, found the Sheffield District Society meeting at that quaint old village of Tickhill, known to all in the surrounding district as 'Tickhill, God help 'em.' The suffix to its name is reputed to have as its author, Cromwell, who, when approaching the village during his travels, asked one of his men the name of the place, and on being told Tickhill, remarked 'God help 'em.'

However disparaging its name may appear, Tickhill gave the ringing visitors a real good welcome, the interior of the church proving an attraction for the ladies, whilst the recently rehung peal of eight bells were set going to various methods, the opening touch consisting of four admirably struck courses of Stedman Triples, which gave especial delight to the local company.

Tea, which a party of thirty enjoyed, was served in the old Parish Hall, which dates back to the days of the Reformation, and the local company are to be congratulated on the excellent repast put before the visitors at the moderate charge of 1s. per head.

The business meeting which followed, was presided over by the president, Mr. George Lewis, who took the opportunity of introducing and welcoming the new hon. secretary, who had taken over those duties that day.

It was proposed, seconded, and carried with acclamation, that a vote of thanks be sent to Mr. Thos. W. Chown, the late hon. secretary, who has now left the district, for the services he has rendered to the society.

Other business matters being disposed of, the usual vote of thanks was extended to the Vicar and local company for the use of the bells. A well struck course of Stedman Calers on the handbells and further ringing on the tower bells brought the meeting to a close, and, with darkness creeping on, members made tracks for home, feeling all the happier for a small but very enjoyable meeting.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

LEICESTER DISTRICT AT SOUTH WIGSTON.

A meeting of the Leicester district was held at South Wigston on Saturday last, members being present from St. John's, St. Martin's, St. Saviour's, and St. Martin's, Leicester, Sipton, Wigston Magna, Humberstone, and the local band. Ringing commenced at 3.30, and touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Bob Major were rung. Tea commenced at 5 o'clock, and was thoroughly enjoyed by all, especially the merchant of 'all sorts,' who called no 'Singles' in his 'Double Method.'

The business meeting was held after tea, in the Schoolroom, the Vicar presiding, and gave a hearty welcome to all present.

The proposed new rules for the association were then freely discussed.

The place for the annual district meeting was considered, and St. Margaret's and St. John's, Leicester, were both put to the vote, and St. Margaret's chosen.

A vote of thanks to the Vicar for presiding brought the business meeting to a close.

A short service was then held in St. Thomas's Church, conducted by the Rev. C. W. Weston. After this, another visit was paid to the belfry, and touches of Stedman Triples and Double Norwich and courses of Superlative and Bob Major were rung, this concluding the ringing on the tower. Afterwards, at the Clarence Hotel, the handbells were soon unboxed. A course of Grandsire Calers was first rung, and followed by various tunes and a 'rise and fall.' The next thing was a bus for home. After waiting for half an hour, listening intently to tales of Jews and Scotsmen, a bus was spotted coming the right way, but the driver refused to stop. (Perhaps he knew the would-be passengers!) On inquiring at the station, the belated ones were told the next train home was the next day, so all decided to 'foot it.' However, before going far someone heard a bus, and with a lot of shouting etc., successfully stopped it, and Leicester was safely reached, after a very troublesome 'last course' to a good half-day.

WEDDING BELLS.

At the Church of SS. Simon and Jude, Earl Shilton, Leicestershire, on Monday, August 3rd, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes), in 43 mins.: G. M. Coe 1, W. P. Whitehead 2, H. Wright 3, C. R. Belton (conductor) 4, C. H. Webb 5, S. Coe 6, W. Reynolds 7, H. Fullylove 8. The ringer of the 2nd bells from Leicester, and the conductor from Barwell, this being his first quarter-peal as conductor, and first attempt; the rest belong to the local company. Rung on the occasion of the wedding of Miss Doris A. Cufflin to Mr. E. Hurrell, which took place at the above church previous to the quarter-peal.

On Wednesday, July 29th, as a compliment to Miss M. G. Taylor (daughter of the conductor) on the occasion of her marriage, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) was rung on the bells of St. Mary's Church, Stafford, in 44 mins.: R. Siberry 1, A. H. Taylor 2, A. E. Garbett 3, R. Warriow 4, W. G. Curtis 5, W. H. Jones 6, J. J. Taylor (conductor) 7, J. Warriow 8.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION. EASTERN DISTRICT.

The quarterly meeting of the Eastern District was held at Eserick on Saturday, August 22nd, by the courtesy of the Rector (the Rev. C. H. B. Trollope, M.A., Rural Dean). The Church of St. Helen, erected upon the old site, as a memorial to the first Baron Wenlock, who died May 9th, 1852, was consecrated and opened July 1st, 1857. It is a building of stone in the Perpendicular style, consisting of chancel, nave, aisles, baptistry, south porch and a lofty embattled tower, with crocketed pinnacles at the north-east angle, and containing a clock and 3 bells, which are quite new, the whole church having been entirely restored after the disastrous fire of two years ago.

The fine peal, by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, was erected in November, 1924, the tenor being 13 cwt. 1 qr. 11 lbs. in F, and the total weight 55 cwt. 1 qr. 10 lbs. Full advantage was taken of the bells by the visitors, who rang all the modern standard methods, the 'go' being all that could be desired.

The beautiful grounds of the Rectory were thrown open for the visitors' inspection, and much admired. Others journeyed through the model village into Eserick Park, the property of the trustees of the late (4th) Lord Wenlock, and thoroughly enjoyed watching a game of cricket, to the sound of the bells in the distance.

There was a short service at 4.15, the Rector, in his address, extending a very hearty welcome to the association in this, their first visit to Eserick.

An excellent repast was afterwards served on the lawn at the Rectory, and although the thunder ominously rumbled, the rain fortunately held off. Some 50 visitors sat down, representing towers at Doncaster, Guiseley, Halifax (St. John's), Hemmingborough, Howden, Hull (Holy Trinity and All Saints), Market Weighton, Pontefract (St. Giles and All Saints), Selby, Sherburn-in-Elmet, Wragby, York and the local ringers.

The business meeting immediately followed. Apologies for absence were received from the vice-president, Mr. A. E. West (Sutton-on-Hull) and the Ringing Master, Mr. H. Fairlam (Selby), who, we regret to say, has been seriously ill, but is now, happily, convalescent. The next meeting was fixed to be held at Pontefract in December.—A very hearty vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. F. Cryer (Selby), and seconded by Mr. H. Howell (Hull) to the Rector, organist, the ladies who served tea, and last, but not least, to Mr. J. Steel, who carried out the local arrangements in a very efficient manner.—The Rector, in acknowledgment, thanked the association for visiting them, and hoped it would serve to stimulate the interest of his ringers in change ringing.—This terminated the meeting.

LLANDAFF & MONMOUTH ASSOCIATION.

USK BELLS TO BE INCREASED TO EIGHT.

A quarterly meeting of the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association was held at Bedwellty, Mon, on Saturday, Sept. 5th, when a good number of ringers attended from both dioceses. The bells, a fine ring of eight, by Taylor and Co., were raised soon after three o'clock, and kept going until 4.30, when a service took place in the Parish Church. Tea was then served in the Schoolroom, and had been very generously provided by the Rector and churchwardens. The business meeting followed, presided over by the Rector, who, at the outset, welcomed the association to Bedwellty, remarking that there was no more useful body of church workers than the ringers, to whom he was always grateful. He added that they would always be welcomed at Bedwellty.

Instructors' reports were heard, and then the item of 'Restorations and Augmentations' was touched upon, mention being made that the bells of Abergavenny would be finished in a few weeks, and at Usk the contract was let to rehang the six in a new frame and complete the octave.

The question of monthly combined practices was discussed, and it was decided to give them a trial with a view to practising the higher methods.

The hon. secretary (Mr. J. W. Jones) was instructed to send forward the number of the members of this association to help in the endeavour to obtain cheap tickets for railway travelling.

New members were elected, and a successful meeting was brought to a close. Among the welcomed visitors was Mr. Chas. Edwards, the Master of the Hereford Guild.

The bells were afterwards rung until late in the evening.

The next meeting will be held at Pendoylan.

SURPRISE RINGING IN SHROPSHIRE.

Mr. J. Martin, of Liverpool, writes: 'In your issue of August 28th, a 720 of Cambridge Surprise Minor, rung at the Church of St. Julian, Shrewsbury, was stated to be the first 720 of Surprise in the county. While not wishing to detract anything from the merits of this performance, the following extract from the Walton Parish Church ringers' records will show that the claim cannot stand: "On Monday, October 24th, 1910, at the Church of St. Julian Shrewsbury, 720 of Beverley Surprise Minor, in 25 mins.: Jno. Wilkinson 1, Jas. W. Bell 2, Thos. W. Gilmeur 3, Hy. Harrison 4, Herbt. H. Barker 5, Jas. Martin 6. Conducted by H. H. Barker."

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The first peal of Imperial Place Major was rung at St. Mary's, Islington, by the Society of Cumberland Youths, on Sept. 13th, 1802. The method and the peal were composed by William Shipway, who was also the conductor.

The method, although afterwards included in Shipway's 'Art of Ringing' was little practised, and soon fell into disuse—as well it might. In the method a place was always made immediately above the treble, but the greatest defect was the three blows behind by two of the bells before and after the treble's whole pull. The method contained no dodging.

It can only have been Shipway's vanity, as the author of the method, that can have induced him to include it, with the reverse and double variations, in his book. He claimed it as superior to Plain Bob in one respect, in that 'it is as regular on an odd as on an even number of bells.'

The first peal of Double Norwich in Cheshire was rung at Christleton on September 11th, 1844, and the first peal of Superlative in Wales, at Llangollen, on Sept. 13th, 1907.

The Society of St. Martin's Youths, out of which has developed the present thriving St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham, rang its first peal on Monday, Sept. 16th, 1755. This was a peal of Bob Major at St. Philip's Church.

Charles Henry Hattersley, who died on October 21st, 1915, was born on Sept. 12th, 1844; and Charles Middleton, of Norwich, whose peal of Cambridge Surprise Major is the only one obtainable, with the tenors together, died on Sept. 14th, 1886.

Next Thursday is the anniversary of the 11,328 London Surprise Major rung by the Oxford Guild at Drayton. This was on Sept. 17th, 1896.

The peal at Milverton, recorded elsewhere, was completed with one strand of the tenor rope gone below the sally during the last three-quarters of an hour. It unravelled both up and down, but luckily the other two strands held.

Mr. C. N. Sharples, one of the young ringers at St. John's, Blackpool, has succeeded in winning a University scholarship of the value of £100 a year for three years, offered by the Blackpool Corporation. In March last he gained an exhibition at Selwyn College valued £10 per year. He will go to Selwyn College, Cambridge, in October.

Recently while some workmen were engaged in repairing the lead on the dome over the tower of St. Philip's Cathedral, Birmingham, smoke was noticed coming from the woodwork below. The fire was extinguished before any damage was done.

It must surely be almost a record for a period of nearly forty years to elapse between a man's first and second peals. Mr. G. H. Roberts rang his first peal in 1886, and his second at Ringstead, Northants, last week.

The ringer of the 6th in the peal at Bath on August 27th was Thomas F. King, not Hing, as printed. The ringer of the 7th at Wyrardisbury on August 29th was Daniel Cooper, and the weight of the tenor is 9 cwt. 2 qr. 26 lb. in G, not 10½ cwt., as mentioned in the original report.

The meeting of the Eastern Division of the Sussex Association, advertised in last week's issue, to take place at Waldron on the 12th, will be held on September 26th.

RAILWAY FACILITIES FOR RINGERS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I have been advised to ask all secretaries of associations to write at once to their railway authorities (locally) in a form of application.

Hon. secretaries can be guided by my letter, kindly published in your issue of the 'Ringing World,' No. 753, of August 21st last.

Finally, I do appeal to all secretaries to apply, and I should be grateful to them if they would drop me a postcard so that I may know who has carried out the suggestions.

EDGAR GUISE.

39, Tankard's Close, St. Michael's Hill, Bristol.

'THERE'S MANY A SLIP.'

The Norton (Staffs) ringers experienced a great disappointment on Saturday, August 22nd, when an attempt for a peal of Surprise Minor in seven methods was made. The ringing had reached the end of the second part in the last method, when the pin holding the clapper of the tenor bell broke in two in the centre of the head stock. The clapper came out with a crash on to the floor above the ringers and gave them all a fine fright for the moment. Had the pin held another ten minutes the peal would, doubtless, have been completed. The methods were London, York, Wells, Ipswich, Durham, Milton and Cambridge: G. E. Lawrence 1, F. Turner 2, J. E. Wheeldon (conductor) 3, W. C. Lawrence 4, W. P. Deane 5, J. Walley 6.

MULTI-METHOD PEALS.

HINTS ON 'SPICING' AND RINGING MINOR METHODS.

By JOHN P. FIDLER. FIFTH ARTICLE

The methods for the fourth or 'Willesden' Group are in the 4th's Place Delight section, and the group takes its name from the method we shall first practise. I will give the combinations first, and explanations afterwards.

| "         | Overton          | Poynton    |
| "         | Braintree        | Marple     |

No member of this group appears to be extensively practised, which is a pity, as they contain some interesting work, and all are worthy of attention. Method experts, however, may not agree, chiefly owing to the 7-pull dodge in 5-6.

It being necessary to learn the work 'up' before tackling any of these, the notebook is necessary to record the result of our analysis.

WILLESSEN.

Willesden is our first method, and is No. 13, Page 17, of the C.C. Collection. Commencing at the lead end, examine the 4th, 'the slow' bell. After snapping treble this bell makes 2nd's place, and snaps again, as in College Exercise—that presents no difficulty. If any difficulty is experienced it will be in the next two positions, i.e., 2-3 and 3-4. Pay attention to these, and the rest will look after itself. The 6th passes treble 2-3 up in this case, makes 4th's place, dodges 3-4 down, and makes 3rd's and 4th's. It will be seen that treble comes to dodge 3-4, as in the Woodbine Group. The 2nd is the object of our next note. Passing treble 3-4, it makes 4th's and 3rd's (as in the Woodbine Group), dodges 3-4 up, makes 4th's and goes to lead. If the 2-3 bell makes a strong point of the 4th's place first, it will help to keep the middle work straight, should anything untoward happen. The bells passing 4-5 and 5-6 up, work as at a bob lead in the Woodbine Group, i.e., is a 7-pull dodge in 5-6. Our notebook, then, records the following:—

Pass treble 1-2 up: Make 2nd's and snap again.
Pass treble 2-3 up: Make 4th's, dodge 3-4, 3rd's and 4th's.
Pass treble 3-4 up: Make 4th's and 3rd's, dodge 3-4, 4th's and in.
Pass treble 4-5 up: 7-pull dodge 5-6 up.
Pass treble 5-6 up: 7-pull dodge 5-6 down.

Work down, as in Kingston.

Bocking, No. 21, Page 19, our next method, requires little or no detail. From study of the lead, it will be seen that London Scholars' work takes the place of Kingston.

Old Oxford Modernised, No. 17, Page 18, has Sandal work below treble, whilst Poynton (a lead of which appears here, as it is not found in the Collection) has Overton work. As in previous groups, Poynton these four methods produce the same changes lead for lead, and will splice at any lead end. Marple, No. 11, Page 16, is the odd method, and the work in is the same as for Braintree.

Bob 164235

From the figures given, it will be readily seen, that the work at a bob is the same as that in the Woodbine Group, the 3-4 up bell continuing the place making in 3-4, until treble comes again, the 2-3 bell makes 4th's and snaps with treble, whilst the bell which snapped first with treble, instead of lying in 2nd's, goes up to 4th's. The 4-5 and 5-6 bells continue dodging behind. The two latter positions, being unaffected by the bob, calls are made when the observation bell is in one of these places. The rule given for College Exercise applies in this case, i.e., 'Tenor behind without the 5th,' or any other pair which suits, say, 2nd without the 3rd.

CORRECTING TRIPS.

The peal in fifteen or sixteen methods having been successfully brought round, we can now add five more methods, giving us a twenty method peal in the space of seven extents, which will necessitate a rearrangement of the 720's.

By this time the four dominating methods of Oxford Group will have become thoroughly engraved on the mind, and the chief difficulty experienced will be in remembering which method you are ringing. Should you forget, don't be afraid to call out and ask—it will save a deal of confusion, and such a request will not upset the others.

A few remarks on the correction of trips caused through forgetfulness will not be out of place at this point. As new methods are added to the peals, the conductor's responsibilities are increased, and it is up to each member of the band to try his best to ease his burden, which can be done in many ways, first by paying strict attention to the work in hand. If a trip occurs and your partner is the culprit, it is no difficult matter to correct him, but should it be some other bell, keep yourself straight and take no notice, let the one he is working with keep him right.

Always remember that it takes two bells to break an attempt down; if only one goes wrong, with the bells working in pairs, someone is bound to be in a position to correct him. Say, for example, 'A' wants to do London Scholars' work in the middle and 'B' tries to do Sandal. If 'A' is quick, he can put 'B' right without a misblow, or, on the other hand, 'B' might come along without any idea of what he has to do. He only needs to ask, and 'A' can oblige and tell him every blow, the work, of course, being, in this case, the opposite to that which he is doing himself. The same can also be done in front or behind.

A treble ringer who is conversant with the methods is a decided advantage. In many towers the treble is considered the learner's bell. I admit it is, but only up to a certain phase of his training. As soon as he has had a few practices of the treble hunt in Treble Bob he should be put on inside work until able to ring a number of methods, remembering always a good treble man cannot always ring inside, but an inside man can always ring the treble, and when he is conversant with the method rung can keep an eye on the working bells.

A TWENTY METHOD PEAL.

This could be arranged to suit the band intending to ring it, and the best will only be found by experience. For guidance, the following may be found suitable:—

1. Poynton and Marple.
2. Old Oxford, Bocking and Willesden.
3. Trowel and Morning Star.
4. Duke of Norfolk, College Exercise and Norbury.
5. Grove Delight and Braintree.
6. Neasden, College Bob IV, and Wragby.
7. Overton, Oxford, Sandal, London Scholars' Pleasure and Kingston.

MAKING A START.

At East Crompton, Lancs, a practice in spliced method ringing on September 1st, resulted in a 720 of Spliced London Scholars' Pleasure and Oxford Treble Bob being rung at the first attempt: G. Wild 1, S. Wareham 2, W. Oates 3, H. Oates 4, C. Howarth 5, J. Butlerworth (conductor) 6.

WINCHESTER GUILD.

A quarterly meeting of the Isle of Wight district of the Winchester Guild was held on Saturday at Godshill, where there is a peal of six. The bells were in use from about 3 p.m., and Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob, Treble Bob and Double Court Minor were rung. Visitors to the tower included Miss E. K. Parker, and Mr. G. Fletcher, of Edmonton, and Mr. F. W. Rogers, of Portsea. Tea was served at the Griffin Hotel, a party of 16 sitting down.

Two probationers were elected full members, one new member was also elected, and one probationer.

A joint meeting at Ryde, organised by the Portsmouth and Isle of Wight districts, was proposed by Mr. B. J. Snow, and seconded by Mr. W. Chambers, and particulars will be announced in the 'Ringing World.'

Further ringing took place after tea.

RINGERS' OUTINGS.

CHRIST CHURCH, CREWE, RINGERS' OUTING.

On Saturday, August 22nd, the ringers of Christ Church, Crewe, had their annual outing. A very enjoyable programme had been arranged by one of the ringers. Starting from Crewe at 7.30 a.m., the party proceeded by train to Shrewsbury, where a good breakfast was awaiting them. After this had been disposed of the party got aboard a very comfortable little bus, which, after running round about the town for some time, found its way out, and decided to make for Much Wenlock. The ride through Harley Hill, Weulock Edge and the 'Five Chimneys' was much enjoyed, notwithstanding the misty weather, which somewhat marred the beauty of the fine views for which the district is famous. From Much Wenlock the route lay by Church Stretton, and thence to Ludlow, a stop being made at Winstanton Church. At the latter place, owing to the illness of the Rector's wife, there was no ringing on the church bells, but a touch of Grandsire Triples was rung on the hand-bells, the ringers standing at the lych gate. Some members found their way to the church tower roof, after a perilous ascent. Others inspected the church, noting the fine old door and lock, on which is the date 1696.

Away again! and to Ludlow, where a very substantial dinner awaited them. Ample justice was done to the good fare. When all the diners had been brought to a stand a pleasant interlude was afforded by the presentation to the ringer who organised the trip of a pendant, in the form of a silver bell, bearing his initials and the date, as a mark of appreciation for the excellent way the outing had been arranged.

After dinner, to the fine old church of St. Lawrence, where the beautifully mellow peal of eight were set going to Grandsire Triples, Bob Major and Kent Treble Bob. The only 'fly in the ointment' was the 'steep ascent to heaven'—to wit, the stairs to the ringing chamber. Oh! those steps! hundreds of 'em, and, after two 'plain courses' of lamb (Canterbury?), mint sauce, etc. On our way rejoicing, this time over some terrible hills!

The rumour went round that even the tyres had got the wind up, but this was not true of all of them, as one 'flatly' refused to go any further; this, together with the engine emitting clouds of steam, made a halt imperative. One of the party took advantage of the stop to risk his camera by snapping the happy group stranded miles from anywhere. The wish was expressed that the picture would turn out as well as the outing. Matters having been put right, away again to St. Mary's, Cleobury Mortimer, where a fine peal of six were soon sending forth Stedman Doubles, Grandsire Doubles and Kent Minor. The bells here, both as regards the 'go' and the tone, leave nothing to be desired. It was with regret that the party at last tore themselves away, but not without inspecting the peculiar architecture of the church, whose leaning walls, arches and pillars, also the crooked spire, were the object of much interest.

After a further delightful run, Bridgnorth was reached, and the party were soon doing justice to an excellent tea. Ringing took place at St. Mary's Church, where the six bells were soon sounding over the Severn. The fine old belfry at St. Leonard's was silent, as the church authorities are concerned as to the safety of the tower. The members of the party unanimously agreed that the sooner this deplorable state of things was put right the better it would be for the Exercise in particular and bell-lovers in general. After a look round the very interesting town, the party again got aboard for Shrewsbury, which was reached about 9.30 p.m., after a nice run, during which the admiration of the party was called forth by the magnificent performance of a 'push-cyclist,' the latter keeping pace with the bus most of the way to Wenlock, and finishing first by several lengths.

At Shrewsbury a light supper of bread and cheese filled in the interval before getting aboard the train for Crewe. On the way to the station a member of the party was observed to slake his thirst at a public—(no, not house) fountain! Crewe was reached at 11.30, and all agreed that it was the best day's outing they had experienced. The ringers wish to thank all concerned for the use of the bells at all the places visited, and feel very glad to have been made so welcome.

THE ST. ALBANS CATHEDRAL SOCIETY.

The annual outing took place on Saturday, July 11th. Glorious weather favoured the party, and a start was made at 8.45 a.m. by charabanc, the route selected being a visit to various parts of Surrey.

The first halt was made at Old Windsor Church, where an hour was spent with the bells. From there a very enjoyable journey was made to Guildford, where lunch was served, after which the company visited the towers of Holy Trinity and St. Nicolas. Ringing over, the party made a survey of the town until tea-time.

Guildford was left about 6 o'clock for Epsom, this being the final stay for ringing.

The homeward journey was commenced about 9 p.m., and after a pleasant ride St. Albans was reached about 11 p.m., all expressing satisfaction with the day's outing.

BEECLES RINGERS' OUTING.

On Saturday, July 18th, the Beccles company of ringers, accompanied by friends from Loddon and Halesworth, held their annual outing. The party left Beccles by charabanc, and the first call was Worlingworth, where they were met by Mr. David Collins. After a few short touches, the party journeyed to Debenham, where Mr. W. Rumsey met them. Short touches were rung before and after dinner at the Red Lion Hotel, when the company proceeded to Stonham Aspal, where, in spite of nervousness caused by the 'bird-cage floor,' and the warning and advice of the Debenham ringers, Grandsire Caters and Bob Major were brought round. The next call was a Stowmarket, where tea was served, after which some short touches were rung on the bells of the Parish Church, where everything was left in readiness for them by the local ringers, who were visiting Beccles on their outing on the same day. Stowmarket was left at 8 p.m., and a pleasant journey brought the party to Beccles about 11.30. Thanks of all are due to the clergy for the use of the bells at the towers visited, and to Mr. B. Grimes, of Debenham, and Mr. E. Diaper at Stowmarket for their kindness for making the arrangements for them.

IDLE RINGERS AT KILDWICK.

The ringers of Idle parish church, accompanied by other ringing friends, had a most enjoyable outing to Kildwick on Saturday, Aug. 8th. By the courtesy of the Vicar, the bells of the Parish Church were placed at their disposal, and various lengths were rung in the following methods: Grandsire Triples, Stedman Triples, Bob Major, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Major, Double Norwich Major, Superlative and Cambridge Surprise. The following ringers took part: F. Davison, H. Davison, T. Hill, R. Umpleby, F. Kilsaw, W. Feather, H. Foster, all of Idle; T. B. Kendall, E. H. Simpson of Shipley and F. McKell, of Gargrave.

Ringers of Stow-on-the-Wold, with Bourton-on-the-Water, and W. Large, of Stretton-on-Fosse, held their outing on July 12th, visiting Churchell, where 720 of Bob Minor was rung. The party motored to Shipton-under-Wychwood, where 630 of Grandsire Triples was rung. At Burford, 504 Grandsire Triples were brought round, and at Northleach 532 and 504 of Triples were rung, all touches being conducted by W. Large.

DUDLEY &amp; DISTRICT GUILD.

SUCCESSFUL MEETING AT SEDGLEY.

A very successful meeting of the above Guild was held at All Saints' Church, Sedgley, on Saturday, August 22nd, in beautiful summer weather. The fine peal of eight bells were at the disposal of the members from three o'clock. The service was conducted by the curate of Sedgley, and the address was given by the Vicar (the Rev. Dr. Swindell, D.D.). A bountiful tea was served in the Schoolroom, the tables being presided over by Mrs. B. Fullwood, and other ladies. About thirty members were present, the following towers being among those represented: Bradley, Coseley, Dudley, Netherton, Old Hill, Sedgley; Oldswinford, Kingswinford, Rowley, etc.

At the business meeting which followed, the Rev. Dr. Swindell presided. Apologies were received from Miss Pigott and Mr. Harry Mason, the latter having met with a very bad accident. The secretary was instructed to send a letter of sympathy to Mr. Harry Mason, and convey the members' best wishes for a speedy recovery.

It was proposed (though late in the day) that a letter of sympathy and condolence be sent to the family of the late Mr. William Rock Small in their bereavement, Mr. Small having been one of the founders of the Guild.

Several new members were added to the roll, and it was proposed to attempt the quarterly peal for the Guild at Sedgley, the Ringing Master being asked to make the necessary arrangements. It was decided to let the selection of a place for the next quarterly meeting stand over until the meeting at Dudley, about October 3rd, when the bells of the Dudley Parish Church will be rededicated by the Lord Bishop of Worcester. It was hoped that the members would book that date.

Mr. James George received the hearty congratulations of those present and the Guild as a whole on completing his 850th peal the week previous.—Mr. George briefly replied to the compliment paid him.
