BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.*ILCHESTER DEANERY BRANCH.

A meeting was held at East Coker, on Saturday last, when the following towers were represented: East Coker, Yeovil, Martock and West Pennard.

A short service in the Parish Church was conducted by the president of the branch (the Rev. G. W. Saunders, Vicar of Martock). He also presided at the tea and meeting which followed in the Scouts' Hall. There were also present: The Rev. Maurice R. Bailey, Vicar of East Coker, and the Master of the association, the Rev. E. S. C. Lock, Vicar of West Pennard.

One new member was elected, and South Petherton was chosen for the next meeting.

On the motion of the president, a hearty welcome was accorded the Master, who in reply thanked the members, and said that during his term of office it would be his endeavour to know and to be known to as many members of the association as possible.

The president also thanked the Vicar for his welcome and the excellent arrangements. Grandsire, Plain Bob, and Stedman were the methods rung.

BISHOP RYDERS' RINGERS.

Eight ringers from Bishop Ryders' Church, Birmingham, under the leadership of the Ringing Master (Mr. J. George) visited Hampton-in-Arden, on Saturday, September 18th. On arrival the ringers adjourned at once to the tower, where the young band did some good ringing. Afterwards, the party made way to 'Dei Gratia,' the home of the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Redfern. Here a good spread had been prepared, and after some well-struck Stedman on handbells, the visitors sat down on the lawn and attended to their physical wants in great spirits.

The band were honoured at tea with the company of Councillor R. R. Gelling and Mrs. Gelling, the donors of Bishop Ryders' bells, Rev. Canon G. E. Badger and Mrs. Badger, of Bishop Ryders', Rev. R. J. J. B. Colthurst, the Vicar of Hampton-in-Arden, and Mrs. Colthurst.

After tea, the ringers attended evensong, and the bells were then again rung until time to depart home. Thanks are tendered to all who helped to make the outing a great success, particularly the host and hostess for their abundant tea, to whom the party are very grateful. Thanks are also offered to the Rev. R. C. J. B. Colthurst for the use of the bells, and to the two local ringers for having everything in readiness. Splendid weather favoured this annual outing, and everyone returned home after a very happy day.

PRESERVATION OF DOCUMENTS.

From various causes many documents, which the passing years would have made both interesting and valuable to the student of ringing history, have unfortunately disappeared, but there is a growing feeling that such MSS. as remain to us should not share a like fate. At present, however, very little has been done to ensure that old papers in the hands of private individuals should not be lost sight of. It has often happened, and there is danger that the same thing may occur in the future, that papers which would be of considerable interest to the Exercise, have, on the death of the ringer who had treasured them, come into the hands of people who know nothing of ringing or its history, who look upon the collection as so much rubbish and destroy it accordingly.

Documents which are in the hands of existing associations are, we may assume, in safe keeping, but all ringers must lament the disappearance of the records of some of the extinct societies. To be able to read to-day the records of some of the very early ringing organisations would be vastly interesting and instructive, and even the disappearance of the peal books and other belongings of the more modern Waterloo Society and the Trinity Youths is a distinct loss which all must regret. But if such documents as these can so easily be lost, how much more risk is there with papers which are in private hands? There are ringers up and down the country who have private collections of MSS. which they or their predecessors have gradually accumulated. They may or may not be valuable, but the risk of their being eventually lost without being inspected by someone who can judge of their importance or otherwise is very great, and we think it would be a good thing if those in possession of such papers or books would so arrange for the disposition of the property, in the event of their death, that the documents should pass to the Central Council to settle their disposal, unless the testator desires them to come into the hands of some individual who will preserve them with the same devotion. An expert connected with the Council could then inspect the material and the preservation of anything of real value or interest would thus be secured. Moreover, if the Council could induce the possessors of such papers to send a description of what they have in their possession to the Council the latter might possibly be able to keep a watchful eye upon the MSS. in the future, not with the idea of interfering with the free and unfettered disposal of anything which a man might have, but with the sole desire of seeing to its future safe keeping. This is a plan which could be worked out with the good will of those who are fortunate enough to have interesting documents relating to the

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.*DERBY DISTRICT MEETING AT SPONDON.

The monthly meeting of the Derby District was held at Spondon on Saturday, September 25th, when the visitors, who numbered upwards of twenty, were welcomed by Sir Henry Fowler, who afterwards entertained them to tea, which was served in the cafe close to the church. During the afternoon several 120's of Stedman and Grand-sire Doubles and short touches of Plain Bob, Grandsire and Kent Treble Bob were brought round, in which Sir Henry took part, but owing to the tenor casting the rope on account of a broken pulley a 720 was not scored.

After tea, the business meeting was held, presided over by Sir H. Fowler, when it was agreed to hold the next meeting at Breadsall on Saturday, October 30th.

A vote of thanks was accorded the Vicar for the use of the bells and local ringers for making arrangements, also to Sir Henry for providing such an excellent tea.

On behalf of the Vicar and himself, Sir Henry thanked them for the vote of thanks, and said how pleased he was to be present and to welcome the ringers to Spondon. He regretted the absence of Lady Fowler and Miss Fowler, owing to another function in connection with the church, but hoped he would have the pleasure of meeting the ringers again soon, when he would arrange for the tea at the Hall.

Afterwards, some members of the party were escorted round the church by Sir Henry, who explained the historical parts which abound in the beautiful old building. Others ascended the tower, where they were met by the Vicar, who gave them a welcome, and, after ringing up to service time at 7 o'clock, one of the most pleasant meetings of the district came to a close.

BISHOPSGATE RINGERS' OUTING REVIVED.

On Saturday, September 11th, the members of St. Botolph's Society, Bishopsgate, renewed their annual outing after a lapse of several years. The party consisted of the Rev. J. A. S. Bullock (senior curate of St. Botolph's), Messrs. Davis (towerkeeper), Hewett, Sanders, Reeves, Hairs, Brett, Grimwood, Nelder, Pike, Bennett, Digby, Nudds and Walker.

Hertford was reached at about 3 p.m., and the bells of St. Andrew's (eight) were set going to Grandsire Triples, Cambridge and Bristol Surprise Major.

The party then proceeded to All Saints', a truly noble edifice, where the ten were set to the tune of Grandsire Caters, Cambridge Surprise and Kent Treble Bob Royal. At this stage the inner man needed attention, and the party adjourned to the tea rooms near by, where arrangements had been made for a high tea, to which, needless to say, ample justice was done. A pleasant mile walk took the party to the quaint village of Bengoe, and Holy Trinity (eight bells) was visited, and several touches, including London Surprise, Bristol, Stedman, Kent, and Double Norwich were successfully negotiated, the tit-bit of the evening being a touch of Kent brought round in masterly style by eight East Anglians in the company. The success of the outing was mainly due to the liberal generosity of the Rector and churchwardens of St. Botolph's in contributing towards the expenses incurred, and to the Rev. Jas. Bullock for honouring the company with his presence. The thanks of the members are heartily tendered to the authorities of the churches mentioned for their kindness in placing the bells at the disposal of the visitors, and to Mr. Davis for the excellent arrangements made by him for the comfort of all concerned.

LIVERSEGE VETERAN DEAD.*MR. WILLIAM COLLINS' INTERESTING CAREER.

As briefly recorded in our last issue, the death occurred on Saturday, September 18th, of Mr. William Collins, of Liversedge, at the age of eighty-one years. Mr. Collins had been well known in ringing circles up to six years ago, when he had a fall whilst attending ringing for Sunday service. He never appeared fully to recover from the effects of this accident, although he got well enough to go about again, but could not climb the belfry steps any more.

It is not known how many peals he rang, but his first peal, which was Kent Treble Bob Major, was rung at Huddersfield in 1861. It was in Huddersfield where he started his ringing career. Later, he came to reside at Liversedge, and joined the Liversedge company.

The most notable of his performances were a 10,272 of Kent Treble Bob Major in 1871 and 8,544 of Kent Treble Bob Major in 1873. He also rang about five peals each of Violet Major and Cumberland Exercise Major. As a contest ringer, he won about thirty first prizes.

The funeral, which took place at Liversedge Church on Tuesday, September 21st, was conducted by the Rev. A. Swann (Vicar), and attended by relatives, friends and ringers from Mirfield, Almondbury, Birstall, Earlsheaton, Huddersfield and Liversedge. Ringers acted as bearers, and as the funeral party came in sight of the church, the bells, which were fully muffled, were tolled round. Three leads of Kent Treble Bob Major were rung on handbells over the open grave by A. Marshall 1-2, F. Hodgson (conductor) 3-4, E. Betts 5-6, T. Scott 7-8. Immediately after the interment, muffled touches were rung on the tower bells. A muffled peal was attempted on Saturday, September 25th, but came to grief after ringing fifty-three minutes as a result of the fourth rope breaking.

Mr. Collins had been associated with Liversedge Church for sixty years.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The first peal at Risley, Bedfordshire, where there are five bells, was rung on Saturday. A tablet in the tower records that these bells were restored in 1891 by Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, the founders of which firm originally came from this parish.

Mr. W. Hughes, of Liscard, Cheshire, rang his first quarter-peal of Kent Treble Bob last week on the occasion of his 73rd birthday!

Henry Hubbard, who was born in 1807, died on October 9th, 1881. Holt's famous ten-part peal of Grandsire Triples was rung for the first time on October 12th, 1754, at St. Leonard's, Shoreditch, by the Cumberland Youths. George Partrick, who rang the treble, 'call'd bobs.'

The first occasion upon which seven working bells were rung in a peal by priests was at Prestbury, Glos., on October 14th, 1886. It was not until October 11th, 1910, that a clerical ten-bell peal was rung. This was Stedman Caters, at St. Mary's, Warwick.

LONDON TOWERS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Will any London member of the Exercise kindly furnish me, through the correspondence column of 'The Ringing World' with the names of churches, practice nights, and weight of tenor, of bells in the London area, say within three or four miles of town, as I like to go round the towers when I am in London.—Yours,

DRUMMER.

CANNON BALL IN CHURCH TOWER.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Your correspondent, Mr. Pannett, seems to think that he has easily 'solved the mystery' of the cannon ball found in Faringdon Church. May I inform him, through your valued paper, that the ball referred to in a paragraph of your issue of September 10th was found in the tower, while, if he had stopped to think, he must have realized that the ball, reputed to have shot off the leg of Mr. John Beckley, is built into the east wall of the chancel.

With regard to his remarks about the ringing, I am sure that he will be interested to know that even a sleepy old place like Faringdon can change, and should he honour the town with another visit I can assure him that the ringers will demonstrate to him that they can ring changes without the assistance of a 'huge card for the particular bell he is ringing, laid on the floor, with rows of figures on it.'—Yours, etc.,

A FARINGDON RINGER.

THE SOCIETY OF TRINITY YOUTHS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The above society was re-established by the late Rev. H. A. Cockey, W. Weatherstone, J. Laws, and other old members about the beginning of the year 1886.

The old peal book was rebound, and 50 more new leaves added by Mr. Bedwell, printer, etc., Lewisham.

May 4th, 1886.—Holt's Original, St. Mary's, Lewisham.
October 26th, 1886.—Holt's Original (reversed), ditto.
July 27th, 1888.—Holt's Original, St. John's, Deptford.
September 11th, 1888.—Holt's Original, St. Mary's, Rotherhithe.
September 12th, 1890.—Bob Major, St. John's, Deptford.
September 22nd, 1890.—Grandsire Caters, Greenwich.
January 6th, 1891.—Stedman Triples, St. John's, Erith.
February 20th, 1891.—Stedman Triples, Dartford, Kent.
April 2nd, 1891.—Stedman Caters, Greenwich.
April 4th, 1891.—Treble Bob Major, St. John's, Deptford.

I rang in Holt's ten-part, February 12th, 1889, at St. George's-in-the-East, conducted by W. Weatherstone, the first on the bells for 65 years. After this, I do not think the society held together very long. Mr. F. W. Thornton or Mr. E. E. Richards may know more about the matter.—Yours, etc.,

F. G. NEWMAN.

RADSTOCK'S CHURCH BELLS.

Writing in the 'Somerset County Herald,' Mr. S. Lloyd Harvey gives some details of Radstock bells. He says:

The peal consists of five bells; approximate weight and tone as follows:

Tenor A, 9 cwt.; 4, B, 6½ cwt.; 3, C sharp, 5½ cwt.; 2, D, 5 cwt.; treble E, 4½ cwt.

Only the tenor bears an inscription, namely:—

'Bill Biē cast all we.
Mr. Charles Simmes,
Warden, 1740.'

and, evidently what is a foundry-mark, 'G 11.' Judging from the 'play' on his name, the founder (Bilbie) was in merry mood when arranging the inscription, and, equally so, that someone was anxious the 'warden' should not suffer from lack of full description.

An idea prevails of making up an eight-bell ring, and so doing could be comparatively cheaply accomplished if a 10 cwt. bell, at present lying soundless in the parish, could be obtained, wherefrom to cast the three additional.

BELL TONES.*HOW TO OBSERVE THEM.

By E. ALEXANDER YOUNG.

PART II.

The preceding remarks were mostly devoted to the consideration of single bells. Turning now to the quality of peals in general, or to any 'ring' in particular, there should be presented to the ear a pleasing blend of sound, made up of tap-tones, hum-notes and steady overtones, all in proper relationship to each other. Borrowing a slogan from a controversy of the day—i.e., that a bell should be 'in tune with itself,' one would desire to submit the paraphrase that a peal should be 'IN BALANCE WITH ITSELF.' Therefore, a primary question is, has the peal this quality of balance? The main component tones must necessarily be in tune; but as to the whole effect, is the critical ear satisfied, apart from the ready assurance 'that the bells are right to half a vibration of a fork?' When the critical ear is satisfied, it is doubtful policy to go beyond. The tuning-fork may be a good servant, but also a bad master. It is, indeed, worth remarking that some 'rings' that are highly valued for their musical quality, the 'forks' would pronounced as being quite impossible! To the Exercise it is submitted that tone, tune and balance come first and always have done, and that the tuning-fork should come in to check the result only, and not to dictate it.

In considering tone, tune and balance, the first is a matter largely of taste. In an article (see Chambers' Encyclopædia) written some thirty years ago on bells, tubular ones were referred to so highly that it was even suggested that it was only a question of time ere they replaced the ordinary ones; but to the taste of to-day their brassy tang is notorious and taken as something to be avoided. Despite the fact that it cannot be absolutely obtained in a bell, the aim should be purity of tone, and then with the bells blending quickly in 'changes' there should be a musical result. The fute and harp are both known for their purity of tone, and if some of their quality can be detected in the bell-tones, then we have the desired character. The harp and the bell, it should be noticed, are both percussion instruments. It is to be hoped that, returning to the tones, these are neither hard, dull nor metallic; nor, at the other extreme, uncertain, or, like the tubular bell, brassy. In considering balance, the bells should be taken both individually and as a whole. Thus, does the tenor cover well, with a good bold tone? It is the master bell and can compensate for many small defects of its companions. Then the trebles, these should speak up well, without being harsh or strident. Taking the general grade of loudness or softness, does one or more of the bells come above or below it? Are the clappers right? We can presume that when the bells were hung the founders gave this highly important branch of their craft every attention; unfortunately they are often followed by a local smith, one perhaps with the best of intentions but a bad ear. It is customary to emphasise the treble and sometimes the tenor; but, apart from this, does the peal come down smoothly in 'rounds'? It is to be noted that our ears have strange ways; for instance, the 5th bell is apt to sound weaker than it is, and, on the other hand, the 4th and 6th bells are apt to appear stronger than they are. The ear will also impose a rhythm or accent on the bells falling in 2nds, 4ths, 6ths and 8ths places, and these will appear louder than they are. The final test is listening to the peal as a whole, and is the most important of all.

When a peal is going in 'changes,' a ringer hears something more than that roar of sound which was previously referred to. His trained ear tells him that it varies greatly with different 'rings,' but that there is always in common the characteristic tap-tones more or less clearly standing out on a certain background of other tones, and this background is one of the chief factors for him to consider in judging the peal as a whole. It is made up of the overtones blending with the undertones, and which with the tap-tones form the mass tone of the peal. This latter will vary with the weight of the bells, the style of tuning and to some extent with the weight of the clappers. In 'Simpson' peals, the background (with both classes of tone very pronounced) is made to stand out at the expense of the tap-tones, which are themselves slow speaking. In Old Standard peals, the background varies with the weight of the bells, but is not nearly so pronounced, especially as regards the overtones, which are still harder to hear in the heavy 'rings' some of their value has probably gone to the tap-tones, which are rounder and brighter, with more percussive value.

Many ringers find a difficulty in hearing and sorting out, as it were, the various tones. The ear may be assisted by a light plug of cotton wool, and may be trained by listening first to 'Simpson' peals and then returning to the others. It will then be observed that there are the same undertones, but weaker, and the same overtones, but thinner and sounding high up over the tap-tones, like harmonics in the air; even the so-called 'howl' is there, too, if we intently listen for it. Another aid to get on to these higher overtones is to listen to the trebles or lighter bells for a time, and try to imagine their tones as they would sound if heard an octave higher. The required tones will suddenly come, and once perceived are afterwards recalled with increasing ease. One should expect to hear something like little piping flutes of three or four notes, changing and slurring together. The undertones present less difficulty; they are easily heard in 'Simpson' peals and also in the heavier peals tuned on the 'Old Standard'; they blend and merge slowly together, sounding like the deeper notes of an organ playing some musical piece. The reason of this is that they are wider in interval and fewer in number; though there may be discords (because these hum-notes and undertones last longer and overlap each other), the ear is more tolerant of such than it is of the discords in the overtones.

It will be observed from the above that the primary notes are boldly standing out on a background of tone value, always merging and changing, which from the very lowest notes that can come rumbling to the ear reaches thence upwards to the highest notes which it can appreciate. There is no doubt that in getting the proper relationship as a whole, i.e., balance, the skill of the founder and bellhanger is most happily exemplified. The three sets of tone values work together, they emphasise and enrich each other, and it is certain that some property of the ear finds pleasure in contrasting them. For instance, observe how delightful it is, after concentrating on the overtones, to let the ear come back to the clear-cut tap-tones; these immediately appear to have a crisp brightness which had not been observed before. Why this is so, it is impossible to more than suggest. It may be that the aural nerves desire variety or call for contrast, as is the case with the eye, for the eye and ear have much in common, especially in devices to escape fatigue.

To sum up, the perfect peal should present to the ear the combined musical value of the bells with tone tones all in perfect balance. It should have tap-tones properly graded, and, of course, in proper tune; if they have been shaded out of tune, then it must have been with the aid and concurrence of a gifted tuner. These tones should stand out brightly upon a proper background of the deeper undertones, and, finally, when the ear requires it, and only then, there should appear the fute piping of the higher overtones.

An article dealing with this subject, even though on elementary lines, is not complete without some reference to those puzzling and seemingly mysterious notes observable when bells are in peal. One might call them 'ghost notes,' which reminds us that in ancient days our ancestors used to refer to the overtones of a bell as 'spirit-notes.' The writer has noticed them at Lewisham and at Appleton; in the former it is almost like the 5th speaking twice, only fainter. Of notes that persist, probably most 'rings' have them, providing that a certain combination is brought about, such as the 2nd and 4th in the eight at Lavenham producing a well-marked octave 7th (i.e., the 2nd, if the 'ring' had been of ten bells). This is a droning note produced by two strong partials forming a chord continually being reinforced before it can die away. There are many such things to be noticed when listening to change-ringing. For instance, at St. Paul's, when observed from Ludgate Hill, there is a well-marked long repeat of the treble's note, but having the character of what on stringed instruments are called 'harmonics.' There is also to be observed in this fine peal of Taylor's a very deep reverberation, reminiscent of the rumbling note of a distant big water-fall; it is, perhaps, caused by the mixture of certain middle tones only a semitone apart. These produce 'beats' which, being comparatively few per second, the ear registers as a low note, but one that has no existence in reality outside the ear, either in the bell or elsewhere (it is a case of a deep tone appearing as a 'ghost-note').

Taken at random from the writer's experiences and gleanings are the following, viz.: A good resonator, for those who are slow in picking up the overtones, may be found in one of the church doors, or in a bench end, even if up at the other end of the church; try several and close the outer ear. Scientists tell us that Youth more readily picks out the overtones, therefore Age may hope to excel in undertones. On a calm day, try to find in which corner of the churchyard your bells sound best; they all vary, and one may be far preferable, for sound lingers in corners and among leafy trees. Good bells are supposed to have 'liquid' tones; they nearly all have if heard across a fair stretch of water. Bells differ in sound on various days, according to the weather; compare them on a dull, wet or foggy day, with their sound on a dry, bright and sunny one. High overtones travel better up wind than do the undertones. Bells, especially 'Simpson' ones, sound best when in a lofty tower.

OXFORD UNIVERSITY SOCIETY.To the Editor.*

Dear Sir,—I should like to bring to the notice of your readers that the Oxford University Society of Change Ringers is actively engaged in promoting the art of change ringing at Oxford.

Any who are interested in this exercise, and who may be coming up to Oxford next term, are invited to communicate with the hon. secretary, Mr. S. W. Evans-Jones, Jesus College, Oxford, or with myself.

THOMAS E. GREEN,

(Master of O.U.S.C.R.).

TWELVE-METHOD PEAL LOST.

At Deeping St. Nicholas, Lincolnshire, on Saturday, September 25th, a peal in 12 methods was attempted by the following: W. Tilley 1, Miss Jutson 2, J. J. Jutson 3, A. Riggall 4, H. M. Day 5, G. Wells 6. All went well until 120 changes from home, when a change-course brought the bells round. The methods included in the six well-struck 720's were: Primrose and Cambridge Surprise, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Double and Single Court, Double and Single Oxford, Double and Single Bob, and Fulbeck Bob, this being the first attempt for this particular peal. The ringers hope to try again in the near future.

A RESTORATION AT SOUTHAMPTON. DEDICATION OF ST. MICHAEL'S SPIRE AND BELLS.

The ring of eight bells at St. Michael's, Southampton, were dedicated and opened on Thursday, September 30th, and rung after a silence of about 12 years.

Soon after the war, the Church Council decided to have their bells put in order, but after they had been taken down and removed to the foundry it was found that extensive repairs to the spire were necessary, and the scheme was held up for want of funds.

Even after the spire had been restored, the church authorities were in doubt as to whether it would be safe to have the bells hung for ringing, and it was only after the tower had been inspected and a favourable report made by Rev. C. E. Matthews, Major J. H. B. Hesse, Mr. E. A. Young and Mr. G. Williams that the work was proceeded with.

The whole scheme, bells and spire, cost £2,000, and this amount has been raised in full.

All the bells have been recast and hung in a new iron frame, with all new fittings. The weight of the tenor is 17 cwt. in F. The work was carried out by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston in their customary excellent style, the 'go' and tone of the bells being all that can be desired. The only complaint is that the ringing chamber is rather noisy, but it is hoped to remedy this at an early date, as at present there is only one floor between the ringers and the bells.

The re-dedication of the spire and bells was performed by the Lord Bishop of Winchester.

The proceedings began with a reception in St. Michael's Parish Room, which was attended by a large gathering, including the Bishop of Winchester, the Mayor and Mayoress of Southampton, and other members of the Council.

Congratulatory speeches were made by the Mayor and the Bishop, and the dedication ceremony followed at evensong. The service was conducted by the Rev. J. W. S. J. Danbury, the late Vicar, through whose efforts largely the restoration was due, and after the formal dedication of the spire and bells, the Bishop gave an address.

Following the service, the bells were open for ringing, and some twenty members of the Winchester Diocesan Guild attended and took advantage of this privilege. Among those present were: Messrs. G. Williams (Master), W. Andrews, W. Tucker, F. Blondell, S. R. Roper (representing Messrs. Gillett and Johnston), and members from North Stoneham, Bishopstoke, Dibden, Portsmouth, Southampton (St. Mary's), and Winchester Cathedral. The methods rung ranged from Grandsire Triples to London Surprise Major.

All those who wish to ring on these bells will have an opportunity to do so, as a Guild meeting will be held there on November 6th, due notice of which will be given in 'The Ringing World.'

LAVENHAM RINGERS' OUTING.

On Saturday, September 18th, the band at SS. Peter and Paul's Church, Lavenham, held their annual outing. Travelling by saloon bus, a fine run of 15 miles brought them to the first stopping place, Hinflesham, where the 'camera man' was soon shouting orders, after which the peal of six bells were set going to Plain Bob and Kent Minor. This was followed by an organ 'recital' by the conductor. It was his first recital and first attempt. St. Margaret's Church, Ipswich, was next visited, the party being met by Messrs. R. Brundle and H. Shemming, and Mrs. Gillingham. Mr. J. Lee (Clapham) and Mr. W. Lee (Sudbury) also joined the party at this tower, where touches of Stedman Triples, Kent and Superlative Major were rung. A short stay was made at Woodbridge, where some cooled their heads and other their tongues. As the bells here were unringable, the party had to be contented with the strains of a nearby piper. At the Lion Hotel, Ufford, ample justice was done to a splendid dinner. The brothers Lee, having again discovered the whereabouts of the visitors, joined in at the repast. After some handbell ringing, a visit was paid to the church, where the Rev. H. Drake and Mr. C. Fisher greeted the visitors. Many beautiful items of interest were pointed out and explained by the Rector, especially a magnificent pre-Reformation font cover. This cover is the object of the only piece of praise given in the diary of Win. Dowling. After touches of Grandsire, Stedman, Oxford and Cambridge had been rung, a move was made for Grundisburgh. This place, however, was not found, the wrong road having been taken. Ipswich was again visited, and the last few courses of a peal of Bob Maximus were listened to by the 'elders,' the juveniles having made tracks for the 'Hip.' The rest of the journey home was enlivened with songs, handbell tunes and ringing, and in the lending of helping hands behind the bus up hills. Home was reached at 11.30 p.m., all perfectly satisfied that the M.C. knew how to arrange an enjoyable day's tour. The ringers wish to thank the clergy for the use of the bells, the friends who met them, and the deputy conductor for his genial words and help.

MR. STAFFORD H. GREEN'S 50 PEALS.

Stedman Triples 3*, Stedman Cinques 3*, Bob Major 3 (conducted 1), Double Norwich Court Bob Major 10 (6), Kent Treble Bob Major 1 (2), Kent Treble Bob Royal 5 (1), Oxford Treble Bob Royal 1, Superlative Surprise Major 14 (7), Cambridge Surprise Major 5 (2), Cambridge Surprise Royal 1, London Surprise Major 1; total 50 (conducted 19). Rung in 23 towers for five societies. * Including Masonic peal.

THE LADIES' GUILD.

A quarterly meeting of the Southern District was held at Cranleigh on Saturday, September 25th, and the ladies met with a warm welcome. Ringing commenced soon after 3.30, and various touches were rung until 5 o'clock, when the service was conducted by the Rev. P. Cunningham. Tea was provided in the Church Hut, for which thanks are due to the local ladies.—It was proposed to hold the January meeting at Farnham.—A hearty vote of thanks to the Rector and all the kind helpers brought the meeting to a close. Further ringing was then indulged in.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION. WESTERN DISTRICT.

Although the attendance was not what it might have been, quite an enjoyable meeting of the Western District was held at Apsley End on Saturday, September 16th. Unfortunately, one tower was holding its annual outing, unknown to the secretary, so no representatives were present from there. However, a variety of plain methods was rung and enjoyed by all.

The Vicar, Rev. C. H. Goodwin, gave a delightful short address, and extended a hearty welcome to the members.

Following this, the company adjourned to the Church Room, where tea was very kindly provided by the Vicar.

During the meeting, over which the Vicar presided, Tring was chosen for the next meeting-place, the band picked for the quarterly peal attempt, and, last but not least, the chairman was elected an honorary member.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar for his presence, address, and generosity, and also for presiding at the meeting. All then adjourned to the tower.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The Southern District of the above society held a pleasant business meeting at St. Mary's, Lewisham, on Saturday, September 18th. The tower was opened at four o'clock, and the bells were going just after with a touch of Grandsire, which was followed by Stedman and some Major methods. After tea, the business meeting was held at the church. Mr. T. H. Taffender was voted into the chair, owing to the Master (Mr. U. Mance) being away on his holidays. Routine matters were disposed of, and one new member from Lee was elected to the society.

The bells were again set in motion, with touches of the popular methods, and ringing concluded about 9 p.m.

The ringers most earnestly desire to thank the Vicar for the use of the bells, and Mr. Warnett and the local company for the cordial reception.

NORTH STONEHAM RINGERS IN SUSSEX.

The North Stoneham ringers had their annual outing on Saturday, September 4th. The route had been planned and all arrangements made by Mr. G. Williams, with his customary thoroughness. Leaving Swaythling at 8 a.m. by charabanc, the first tower on the list was East Meon, where Mr. Blackman had everything in readiness, and touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Kent Major were rung. Petworth, with its new ring of eight by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, was next visited, and Grandsire, Stedman and Double Norwich rung, and the fine tone of the bells admired and enjoyed. Mr. Lanaway, the steeplekeeper, joined the party, and a very pleasant half-hour was spent. At Pulborough Mr. Doick was awaiting the party, and a splendid lunch was enjoyed at the Arun Hotel. A move was then made to the tower, where touches of Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob and Kent were brought round. Arundel was the next objective, but before this was reached the party was for some time 'lost in the wilds,' in spite of the conductor's knowledge of Sussex. On arriving, the party were met by Mr. Caldwell, who conducted them to the tower, where time only permitted a course of Kent Major to be rung. Compared with the other well-kept ringing chambers visited, that at Arundel was a sad contrast, presenting a very neglected appearance. It is understood that no ringing is done, not even for the Sunday services. This appears to be a tower for the Sussex County Association to look up. Chichester was the next and last place on the list. On arriving, tea was the first order, after which a move was made to the campanile at the Cathedral, where Messrs. Ticehurst, Tucker, Tugwell and Blake awaited the party, and with their help Grandsire, Stedman, Bob Major and Superlative were rung. Home was reached at 9.45 p.m., everyone having thoroughly enjoyed the day's outing. The party wish to express their thanks to the various incumbents and ringers, and particularly to Mr. P. H. Doick.

ALONG THE THAMES.

A most enjoyable half-day was spent on Saturday, September 11th, by the St. Mary's (Acton) company. Leaving Acton 1.45, Wargrave was the place for the first call by G.W.R. Here good use was made of this lovely peal of eight in the usual standard methods. Before leaving, the official photographer snapped the group. Again seeking the train, the ringers dropped off at Henley, where Canon Dams gave them a splendid welcome, and after the good things of a well laden table had been disposed of, the visitors enjoyed some more ringing, winding up with an hour on the river. They wish to tender their best thanks to those at Wargrave and Henley who helped to make the afternoon so enjoyable.

AMBITIONS.*HOW SOME WERE SATISFIED AT WELLS.

He is a poor ringer who has no aspirations, however humble; but there are some ambitions that men spend a lifetime to fulfil, and even then do not manage to complete.

Peals on cathedral bells have been the lifelong quest of Mr. F. E. Dawe, and while he has still some worlds left to conquer, he can, we believe, at least claim to have rung peals in more cathedral towers than any other ringer. He added one more to his list on Saturday, when he called a peal of Stedman Caters on the magnificent ring at Wells. These bells are the heaviest peal of ten in the country.

The band were drawn from a wide area—London, Surrey, Bucks, Monmouth, Gloucester, Warwickshire and Wilts, as well as Somerset being represented. Those of the company who just 'dropped in' to take their rope and ring the peal had a pleasant time, and no worry, but those who had had a hand in the arrangements, it appears, spent anxious days and sleepless nights. However, all's well that ends at Wells, as this peal did, although when he had finished the conductor verily believed he had rung his last peal and was going down to his grave with some ambitions still unrealised. Instead, he managed to go down to a revival, which put him on his feet and enabled him to make a graceful speech of thanks to all who had contributed to the success of the undertaking. Mr. John W. Jones, one of the main props of the Llandaff Association, was also able to say how one of his ambitions—to ring a peal with Mr. Challis Winney, one of the pillars of the Ancient Society of College Youths—had been gratified that evening after waiting forty years, and then Challis had of necessity to respond to the nice things which had been said about him. The wonder is that he was alive to tell the tale, for his companion from London had run him off his legs in seeing the sights of Bristol earlier in the day. When he reached the top of the 107 steps to the ringing chamber he was two inches shorter than when he left home—he had worn his legs down. But it was a happy party that finished up the evening together, with numerous visitors who had come from Bristol, Bath and other places to hear the ringing.

What became of everyone afterwards hardly belongs to this story. The Cave-man collected one cargo and took them to the bank of the Avon, others were whisked over the Mendips at a speed which would have made the local police, had they been out of bed, rub their hands with glee at the thought of a good case and promotion; another went back to Bucks in the dead of night, but the old men of the party stayed in the sleepy old city, and, for all the writer knows, may be there yet. The last that was heard of one of them, however, was an inquiry whether arrangements could be made for him to turn in St. Cuthbert's tenor one afternoon and the Cathedral tenor in the evening. As this ringer is only 73, and had sufficient faith in himself to put down the life member's subscription of the Bath and Wells Association, instead of paying 1s. a year as a Scotsman would have done, this proposal is evidently not considered beyond the bounds of possibility.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.*ROSSENDALE BRANCH AT BURY.

A meeting of the Rosendale Branch was held at Bury Parish Church on Saturday. The bells were set going at three o'clock, and various methods rung. Tea, at the Coffee House, was kindly provided by the Rector, the Bishop of Hulme.

Afterwards the meeting was held in the Church House, and, in the absence of the Rector, Mr. William Mitchell presided. St. Paul's, Ramsbottom, was chosen for the next place of meeting, the date to be arranged later.

Mr. J. H. Banks proposed a vote of thanks to the Rector for his hospitality in providing tea for all, also to the church officials for the use of bells and to the rangers for having all in readiness.—Mr. S. Greenhalgh, of Pendleton, seconded the motion, which was carried unanimously. The ringers then adjourned to the tower, where the bells were kept going till a late hour in touches of Grandsire, Kent, Oxford, Stedman, Double Norwich and Bob Major. Members were present from Bury, Rawtenstall, Helmshore, Christ Church, Bacup, Ramsbottom, and vestry members from Middleton, Radcliffe, Pendleton, Didsbury, Miles Platting, and Bolton Parish Church.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

A quarterly meeting was held at Caldicot, on Saturday, September 25th. The attendance was not so large as is generally the case, but members attended from Llandaff, Penarth, Cardiff, Newport, Bedwas, Chepstow, Caerphilly, Monmouth, Llanbradach, Caerleon, etc., and were rewarded with a hearty welcome from the Vicar and local ringers. They were also favoured with a fine afternoon. The bells, a very handy and musical ring of eight, were raised early in the afternoon, and the standard methods rung. The Vicarage grounds and gardens, which were well laden with fruit, etc., were open to the visitors and much enjoyed. Tea, which had been very kindly provided, was followed by the business meeting. The Vicar presided, and welcomed the ringers.

Arising out of the minutes, several items were discussed, including instruction at Llantwit-Major, Pontypriid and Pendoylan.

The place to hold the next Monmouth meeting was held over until the annual meeting, which is to be held at Llandaff. The payment of subscriptions and votes of thanks brought the meeting to a close, and then all attended service at the Parish Church.

The bells were afterwards kept going until late in the evening.

FOR THE BEGINNERS.*CONDUCTING.—BY GEORGE WILLIAMS.

Following the few hints to the young conductor on Bob Minor, he should, with a little study (not forgetting the use of pencil and paper at home before going to the tower), have no difficulty in calling the Treble Bob Minor methods, the foundation being laid in the former.

There being no singles in Treble Bob and the courses double the length of Bob Minor, perhaps a few simple remarks may not, however, be out of place.

By calling the tenor 'In,' 'Out' and 'In' (or, as it is commonly called 'In and Out unless with the 5th') will produce the 42356 part end, which, twice repeated, completes the 720.

The 'In' means when the tenor is going to dodge with the treble on the front and take up the slow work, and 'Out' when the tenor leaves the slow by dodging in 1-2 up with the treble.

The figures will show that at the bobs 'In' and 'Out' the 5th is left behind, to dodge in 5-6 down, so that the tenor is without the 5th. At the 2nd 'In' the 5th is brought back (by making the bob) to its coursing position behind the tenor, therefore the 5th is with the tenor and the bob at 'Out' has to be omitted.

Now, the young conductor may be led to think that this sounds something quite different from Bob Minor, but if he again gets his paper and pencil he will find the 5th works regularly in relation to the tenor in each part of 240 changes, as it does in each part of the 120 in the plain method; and, further, he will find in some of the more advanced and Surprise Methods the 5th and tenor are in the exact position at the 'calls' as they are in Plain Bob, therefore the calling of a 360 in the one becomes 720 in the other.

Members of the band at Wem, Salop, were enabled to take an encouraging step forward on Friday, October 1st, when, on the occasion of a visit by Mr. C. Edwards, Master of the Hereford Guild, and other friends, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) was rung in 47 mins.: *J. Ravenscroft 1, C. Edwards (conductor) 2, †J. Grocott 3, W. Lycett 4, E. V. Rodenhurst 5, F. A. Barnett 6, †G. Cowley 7, †G. Smith 8. * First quarter-peal away from tenor. † First quarter on a bob bell. ‡ First quarter-peal.

At St. Bartholomew's Church, Bolton, on Sunday, October 3rd, for evensong, ten 120 Grandsire Doubles (1,200 changes) in 39 mins.: D. Knowles 1, H. Weall 2, T. Longworth 3, R. Knowles 4, E. Cutsforth (conductor) 5, J. Aspin 6. This is the longest length by all of the band except the conductor, who only took charge of this tower three months ago.

At the Durham Cathedral practice, held at St. Oswald's Church, Durham, on Thursday, September 23rd, 720 Bob Minor was rung in 28 mins.: Arthur Hodgson 1, C. F. Vasey 2, W. Brown 3, F. Sheraton 4, W. H. Johnson 5, E. G. Ferry (conductor) 6. This was the first 720 by the ringers of the treble, 2nd and 5th, who are local men, and was rung after four months' instruction in change ringing, they having been brought up in call changes. One has since rung a peal of Bob Major on the treble, and is believed to be the first Durham man to ring a peal on eight bells. The ringers of 3rd and 4th hail from Chester-le-Street, and the tenor from Newcastle. The ringers at the Cathedral, St. Oswald's, and St. Nicholas' Churches (the only peals in Durham) are all being instructed in change ringing.

At St. Mary's Church, Redbourn, on Friday, October 1st, for harvest festival, a 720 of Grandsire Doubles (A. J. Pitman's arrangement): W. Taylor 1, J. Hobbs 2, A. V. Good (conductor) 3, A. Brinklow 4, G. Daniels 5, H. Huckleby 6. Ringers of 3rd and 4th are from Apsley. First 720 by ringers of treble, 5th and tenor.—On Sunday, October 3rd, after evening service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles in 47 mins.: W. Lee 1, G. Daniels 2, A. V. Good 3, A. Brinklow 4, J. Stepp (conductor) 5, H. Huckleby 6. First quarter as conductor, and longest length by ringers of treble, 2nd and tenor.

At St. Peter's, Staines, on September 26th, for harvest festival, 1,000 Grandsire Triples: A. Stevens 1, F. G. Goddard 2, W. F. Ellingham 3, G. Walmsley 4, J. Phillips 5, E. J. Goater (conductor) 6, W. C. Parker 7, A. J. Hiscock 8. This was an attempt at a 1,026, but owing to a late start only a 1,000 changes were rung.

'SPLICED METHOD' PEALS.

Method splicing has reached a stage which, we think, was never anticipated by those who first put forward the idea of uniting two or more methods in a peal. To join up even and odd bell methods—approximately a half-peal of each—is certainly novel, and adds to variety, but we doubt if it will commend itself very widely to the Exercise. This week we not only record another peal of spliced Major and Triples, but also one of spliced Royal and Caters. To such performances there can be no legitimate objection, but except that they are undeniably off the beaten track, we imagine that spliced peals of even bell methods only, or of odd bell methods only, will be eventually the more popular phase of this kind of ringing. Carried to an extreme, there seems to be nothing to prevent a peal—measured by the permissibility of splicing Triples and Major—consisting of, say, Doubles, Minor, Triples, Major, Caters, Royal, Cinques and Maximus, by introducing two extra bells at a time as the peal progresses.

The system opens up all sorts of possibilities, grotesque and otherwise, and while we would be the last to discourage any advance that can be made to introduce variety, interest and even difficulty into peal ringing, we are not at all sure that the splicing of odd and even methods is one which we should like to see generally taken up. If we are asked definitely to state our objections—frankly we cannot do so, except to say that such a departure from the accepted canons of ringing does not appeal to us, or, we think, to the general body of ringers. All Triples or all Major; all Caters or all Royal, in as many methods as you please, and ringing will progress on rational lines, but to join odd and even bell methods seems to break a continuity of practice which would, in our opinion, be better undisturbed.

In saying this we do not desire for one moment to underrate the initiative or ability of the bands who have done these things. In one respect we welcome the performances as an indication of the desire to break from the rut, but we would rather see the enterprise of the ringers turned to such channels as spliced peals of Triples in four or five or more methods, and spliced peals of Caters in which two or three methods can be united. Such peals give composers, ringers and conductors just as much scope, and, while providing a field as large as the most progressive ringer can desire, keeps to the true traditions of peal ringing. Where spliced peals are rung, however, we think it should be the aim of the composer to provide constant changes of method. Many peals have now been rung with only one or two switches from method to method, and, although, as Mr. J. W. Parker recently pointed out, such peals are unquestionably 'spliced' peals, there would be more merit in them if they were turned over at least once in every course. That, in our opinion, constitutes the true idea of a 'spliced method' peal.

A NEW TENOR AT CULHAM, BERKS.

On Sunday, October 3rd, on the occasion of the harvest thanksgiving service at Culham, Berks, the dedication of a tenor bell took place. What was a few years back a miserable cracked ring of three, is now, by this addition, a very pretty peal of six, with tenor about 7 cwt. The recasting of the old bells and the addition of two others look place about three years ago.

After the service, a well-struck 720 of Cambridge Minor was rung by the following, whose unanimous verdict was that Culham can be congratulated on their peal, and that Messrs. White, of Appleton, have done their work remarkably well, the 'go' being all that can be desired, and, what is more, the bells strike true: F. Barrett 1, J. Honey 2, Mrs. A. E. Lock 3, G. Caudwell 4, A. E. Lock (conductor) 5, P. Dyke 6.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.*APPLETON BELLS IN NEED OF REPAIR.

On Saturday afternoon, October 2nd, the North Berkshire branch held their half-yearly meeting at Sutton Courtney. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m. for the ringers' special service, which was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. Rendal), some 60 to 70 members and friends attending. After service, tea was provided at the schoolroom, for which sincere thanks are due to all the ladies concerned for the excellent catering and efficient service.

At a meeting which followed, the Rev. H. A. Smith-Masters presided, and spoke of the rehanging of East Hagbourne bells. He thanked the branch for their grant of £4.

Appleton bells now require some considerable repairs, and after hearing Mr. White's account of them the meeting decided to make a grant of £4 towards their restoration.

Votes of thanks were proposed to the Vicar for his address, and to the organist and choir for their appreciated services.—The Vicar, in responding, expressed his great pleasure at having the service and meeting at Sutton, and of the special treat the singing of such a congregation gave him. The meeting over, ringing was again indulged in.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.*NORTH-WESTERN DIVISION.

A meeting was held at Farnham on Saturday, October 2nd. The tower bells were rung during the afternoon, and the Rev. J. G. Geare conducted a short service. The company afterwards partook of tea in the Parish Room.

At the business meeting which followed, the Rev. Geare proved an efficient chairman, and showed marked enthusiasm for change-ringing.—Votes of thanks were passed to all who had helped to make this meeting such a happy one.

The handbells then being produced, a fine performance of lapping was given, and the brothers William and Walter Prior (well known in ringing circles) gave an excellent exhibition of tune ringing, which was greatly appreciated.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.*ASHFORD DISTRICT ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Ashford district was held at Wye, on Saturday, October 2nd. The attendance was small, owing to various reasons, only twenty members being present from Ashford, Charing, Canterbury, Brabourne, Headcorn, Willesborough, Wingham, and the local band. Ringing commenced at three o'clock, Mr. Shepherd, of Swindon, taking a rope. Service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. Medcalf), who also presided at the organ, and gave an address of welcome to the association. Tea was served at the King's Head Hotel, and the Vicar, having to leave after tea, Mr. S. Finn was elected chairman at the business meeting. All the officers were re-elected, viz.: Representatives on Central Committee, C. Tribe and E. S. Ruck; district secretary, A. C. Kay.

The next meeting was arranged to be held at High Halden in November, 1926, the following places being chosen for 1927: Appledore in February, Rolvenden in May, annual meeting, Hythe, in September.

Mr. G. Wanstall, of Wye, was elected a new member, and a vote of thanks to the chairman was passed. The tower was visited till 8.30 p.m., and touches of Stedman, Oxford Treble Bob, and Erin Triples were rung.

ISLEWORTH BELL FUND.

W. J. Bridges, manager, Barclays Bank, Isleworth, treasurer; W. H. Hollier, hon. secretary to the fund.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.*EASTERN DISTRICT.

The quarterly meeting was held at Cottingham, on Saturday, October 2nd, and was attended by some forty members and visitors. Various touches were brought round on the peal of eight, which have been dormant for some years, previous to the incumbency of the present Rector, the Rev. A. Fergusson, who has been most assiduous in promoting the art of change-ringing, with the assistance of ringers from neighbouring towers.

A short service was conducted by the Rector, whose fine address was freely commented on after the service as being one of the best that had been heard at a meeting.

An excellent tea was gratuitously served in the schoolroom, and was thoroughly enjoyed.

The Rector occupied the chair at the meeting which followed, and extended a generous welcome to the association in this their first visit to Cottingham.

After a prolonged discussion, it was decided that the next meeting be held at Pontefract, in December.

A unanimous vote of thanks, on the motion of the vice-president, Mr. F. Cryed (Selby), was accorded the Rector for the use of the bells, the service, and for providing tea; also to the ladies who served the meal, to the organist, and Mr. J. Hodgson, and the local ringers for their very excellent arrangements. A course of Grandsire Caters on handbells brought a pleasant meeting to a close.

HAMPSHIRE VILLAGE BELLS AUGMENTED

On Friday, October 8th, the Bishop of Winchester dedicated a new treble bell at the Church of St. Mary Bourne, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. H. Burne, of Upper Link House. The Bishop also rededicated the five other bells which have recently been returned, the work having been most successfully carried out by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.

After the service of dedication, 720 Bob Minor and six scores of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles were rung by a band collected by the Rev. C. D. P. Davies from Basingstoke, Oakley, Andover and Winchester.

At the same service the Bishop rededicated the pedestal of the ancient Saxon font, and dedicated a memorial table and a stained-glass window.

MR. CRAVEN'S THANKS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Will you kindly allow me to thank my many friends for their kind expressions of sympathy in my unfortunate accident. I am pleased to inform them that I think I am on the road to recovery, which I trust will be complete. I appreciate the cheerful messages many have sent me, and most gratefully thank all for same.—Yours sincerely,

ARTHUR CRAVEN.

DEVON'S NEW PEAL OF EIGHT.

Two treble bells, given as memorials respectively to the Rev. C. R. Carr and Mrs. Gladys Campbell, were dedicated recently in the Parish Church, Littleham-cum-Exmouth, Devon, which lies two miles to the east of Exmouth. The old tower now contains eight bells, of which the first three of the old peal of six have been recast and a new frame and fittings for the complete peal provided by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon.

The church was crowded for the dedication service, and the sermon was preached by the Rev. Canon G. F. Coleridge, president of the Central Council, whose visit was much appreciated. There were a good number of ringers present, and the 'go' of the bells leaves nothing to be desired. The church possesses a keen band of change-ringers, whose efforts to master eight-bell ringing should meet with success, thanks to the great help which has been given to them by the Withycombe Raleigh ringers, who are fellow-members of the Devonshire Guild.

HENRY BAGLEY, BELL FOUNDER.

To the Editor.

Sir,—On reading your article in Belfry Gossip, October 1st, I notice a reference to a Northamptonshire bell founder, Henry Bageley, who was stated to have died in the year 1676. I send you a copy of the inscriptions on our church bells at Flore, from which you will see that he made our 3rd bell in 1679, so no doubt you have been mis-informed. I hope the inscriptions may be of interest to you and others.—Yours truly,

H. SHIMMELL.

INSCRIPTIONS ON FLORE CHURCH BELLS.

1st bell.—'James Phillips and Thomas Sharpe, churchwardens. Russell, of Wooton, near Bedford, made me. 1743.'

2nd bell.—'Cantate Domino. Canticum Novum. 1679.'

3rd bell.—'Henry Bagley made mee. 1679.'

4th bell.—'Matthew Bagley made mee. 1676.'

5th bell.—'Robert Bullocke, John Phillips, churchwardens.'

6th bell.—'I to the church the living call,

And to the grave do summon all.

Russell, of Wooton, mad me,

In seventeen hundred and forty-three.'

[Henry Bagley left two sons, Henry and William, who, with a nephew, Matthew, carried on the business. It is probable, therefore, that the founder of the 3rd at Flore was Henry, the younger. It will be seen from the inscriptions that Matthew cast a bell at the same church in 1676, so that his uncle was, presumably, already dead at that time.—Ed. 'R.W.']

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Members of the Middlesex County Association are to broadcast at Bow, Cheapside, at 8 p.m., on Sunday, October 24th. The method will be Double Norwich, rung on the back eight, as a plain eight-bell method, which is considered more suitable for the listening public, has been requested.

The two new trebles at Dummow, Essex, will be dedicated on October 31st.

At West Derby, Liverpool, Mr. J. H. Moore, who is in his 70th year, and, besides being a ringer at St. Peter's Church for 43 years, was one of the earliest members of the Lancashire Association, has just rung his first 720 Bob Minor.

The ringers at Whittle-le-Woods are giving a helping hand to the parish of Ickleton, Cambs, where recently the tenor broke, and where there are no available funds to replace the bell. Other bands and ringers may desire to help Ickleton, and we are sure that contributions will be gladly acknowledged if sent to the local captain of ringers, Mr. P. H. Webb.

Miss Norah Williams, the first lady to call a peal in Bath, will be congratulated upon having conducted Holt's Original.

Two 'spliced' peals are recorded this week in which even and odd bell methods have been joined up. At Bridgend, a peal of Bob Major and Oxford Bob Triples was rung, and at Bristol Bob Royal and Grandsire Caters.

We hear that a peal is being organised for 'Grandfathers.' This is not a new name for Grandsire but is to be a peal arranged in honour of Mr. Ben Foskett's 80th birthday. Mr. Foskett is 'father' of the Royal Cumberland Youths and the Master of the society, Mr. J. D. Multhous, is getting together a company of twelve grandfathers for a peal of Cinques at Shoreditch.

A peal of 6,030 Grandsire Caters (containing 60 963's and 60 89's) was rung on October 16th, 1820, at All Saints' Church, Wakefield. It is recorded on a board placed in the belfry 'by order of the churchwardens, in consequence of the attention and good conduct of the ringers.'

The composer, and, presumably, the conductor, of the peal was William Woodhead, who two years later was the composer and conductor of the first peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal, also rung at Wakefield. In 1814, he had rung in a peal of 12,320 Treble Bob Major at Otley in 7 hours 15 minutes, 'being the longest peal in that method rung in England.'

Forty-six years ago to-morrow the Norwich Diocesan Association rang 10,272 Kent Treble Bob Major at Debenham, conducted by W. Ireland.

Thomas Tolladay, one of the early members of the old St. James' Society, and their leading conductor in his day, died on October 18th, 1843. It was not until the following January that a muffled peal was rung in memory of him.

The anniversary of one of the first long lengths of Treble Bob Royal, which culminated in much rivalry between the College Youths and the Cumberlands, falls on Tuesday next. One hundred and sixty years ago on that day the College Youths rang a peal of 6,000 at Shoreditch.

Fifty years ago next Thursday the first and only peal of Stedman Royal was rung at Birmingham. Mr. William Kent and Mr. H. Johnson, jun., are, we believe, the only survivors of the band.

Next Wednesday is the 150th anniversary of a peal of Union Treble Bob Major, composed and conducted by George Gross, rung at St. Mary's, Rotherhithe, by the Cumberland Youths.

THE HEAVIEST PEAL OF TEN ?

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I note that it is recorded in your last issue that the bells at Wells Cathedral are the heaviest peal of ten in the country. I wonder whether any reader can furnish me with the weights of the individual bells at Wells Cathedral, as I have reason to believe that they are not the heaviest peal?—With anticipatory thanks, Yours faithfully,

CHARLES H. KIPPIN.

A WELL-DESERVED PEAL.

Few bands have deserved success more than the eight men of Almondsbury, Gloucestershire, who rang a local peal of Grandsire on their bells last Saturday at the eighth attempt. It was a strictly 'local' peal, inasmuch as six of the company were born in Almondsbury, and the other two have lived there since before the war.

As six of the eight had never previously rung a peal (and two of these are in their 67th year), the band have every reason to be proud of their achievement.

'Everything comes to him who waits,' even a 'local peal,' and these men of Almondsbury have shown great patience and determination in persevering as they have. The first attempt was made in April, and six more unsuccessful ones had been started before they eventually got it. Three of the attempts lasted over two hours, and on one occasion, when they were going well, one of the bells slipped wheel and set up—an unusual way to lose a peal. As the ringers had hoped, when they did get the peal it was a good one, and the striking was much appreciated by a large number of listeners, who seemed as pleased at their success as the performers themselves.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.*NOTTINGHAM DISTRICT OFFICIALS.

On October 9th, 'Ye Goose Faire' Saturday, a most successful meeting of the Midland Counties Association was held at Beeston, Notts. Visitors arrived early from Derby, Chesterfield, Burton, Ilkeston, Leicester, Hinckley, and other places, and made good use of the eight bells in the various standard and Surprise methods.

At the committee meeting, Mr. C. Draper was elected chairman in the absence of the president (Ald. R. B. Chambers, J.P.), who was unfortunately too ill to attend.

The usual routine business was disposed of, and a grant of £3 3s. made to Eyam Bell Fund, where the old four bells have recently been augmented to six.

Mr. Willson (hon. treasurer) said he hoped that the Nottingham committee would reconsider their decision, and still continue office with the association, as it was with regret that he saw in a recent issue of 'The Ringing World' they had decided to withdraw from any official capacity.

A substantial tea was served in the schools, when some fifty members sat down. This was followed by the general meeting, and in the president's absence Mr. A. Coppock (chairman of the Nottingham district) was voted to the chair. He was supported by the two churchwardens of Beeston, the Rev. I. B. L. Gibbs (Vicar of Ockbrook), the hon. treasurer (Mr. W. Willson), and hon. secretary (Mr. E. Morris).

The business included the election of 15 ringing, 1 life, and 2 hon. members, made since the last quarterly meeting; also the ratification of the suggested grant to Eyam Bell Fund.

The hon. secretary announced that he had obtained a copy of the 1883 report, which was kindly given by Mr. H. Price, of Fiskerton, and thus they were now in possession of a complete set for the association records.

Hearty votes of thanks to the Vicar of Beeston for the use of bells, to the churchwardens for the schools, and to the local committee for arrangements were proposed by Mr. A. B. Moss, seconded by Mr. C. Draper, and carried with acclamation.

Beeston bells were again brought into use, and by special courtesy St. Peter's, Nottingham, were open in the evening, but owing to the tenor clapper breaking during the first touch not much 'musical' ringing was heard. The writer called a touch of Stedman Caters on the front nine, and it can be left to those with 'musical ears and sensitive' what 'ye titlums and Queens' sounded like without the tenor covering.

It ought to be recorded that certain of the Leicester contingent, in haste to get home 'early,' caught the wrong train in the crowd, and landed at Long Eaton, where rumour has it the hon. secretary wanted to have another touch of 'spliced.' They certainly landed home 'early,' but not that day. However, all's well that ends well, and this can be put down as a very successful and happy meeting.

BARNESLEY AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

A monthly meeting was held at Darton, on Saturday last, about 25 members attending from Ackworth, Kelkirk, Sandal Darfield, Wath, Shelley, Cawthorne, Barnsley, and the local company.

Darton bells are of good repute and lately have been overhauled. The 'go' was a matter of some divergence of opinion, but it is hoped the ringing during the meeting may cause them to run a little easier. The bells had little rest apart from changing bands and methods from early in the afternoon until 5 p.m., when tea was served to 26 ringers and friends. The Vicar, Rev. H. F. Ellgood, and the churchwarden, Mr. S. Hainsshaw, were both at the table, and each gave great praise to their own ringers, and extended a hearty welcome to the association.

At the business meeting, the Vicar kindly occupied the chair. There were no new members to be proposed, but the tone of the meeting was enthusiastic and happy in its social aspects.

Advantage was taken in a vote of thanks to mention the worn state of the tower steps, and, needless to state, this matter will have attention from the church authorities. Thanks were accorded to the Vicar and churchwarden for paying for the tea of thirteen members affected by the miners' lockout.—Further ringing crowned a happy meeting.

SURPRISE METHODS BY DEVON RINGERS.

Saturday was a red-letter day in the annals of the South-West District branch of the Devon Guild, when a very successful meeting was held at Yealmpton. The bells were set going at 2.30 p.m., and following a beautiful service in church 47 members of the Guild, including friends from Torquay, Buckfastleigh and Talaton, sat down to tea.

The usual vote of thanks to the clergy, etc., was proposed by the Rev. M. Kelly, who gave a brief survey of all the Guild had done since its inception, and contrasted the first 120 of Doubles rung in Devon over 50 years ago with the course of Cambridge Surprise he had the pleasure of seeing rung that day.

After the meeting, 720 of Cambridge Surprise was rung and a course of London. This is the first meeting of any branch of the Guild when Surprise methods have been rung.

RECORD PEAL ATTEMPT.

An attempt will be made at Bolton Parish Church by members of the Lancashire Association on Oct. 30th to ring a record length of Superlative Surprise Major, 11,232 changes, composed by Mr. T. B. Worsley, of Bolton. The start will be made at 1 p.m.

SPLICED LITTLE BOB AND LITTLE REVERSE BOB.*SOME HINTS ON HOW TO RING IT.

As a result of the article which appeared in 'The Ringing World' on the splicing of Little Bob and Little Reverse Bob, a correspondent has suggested that a few hints on the ringing of this spliced Major would be of value to those whose experience has so far taken them only to the Bob Major stage, because, he remarks, the explanation of the joining together of the methods is one thing, the explanation as to how best to ring them when spliced is another.

A few hints may not, therefore, be out of place for the benefit of those who desire help, but, as these particular methods have never been rung, spliced or otherwise, by the writer, what follows are merely observations which he would make if he were learning to ring them himself.

In the first place it is assumed that those who desire to take up these spliced methods know how to ring Bob Major. If they can ring Little Bob, so much the better; but, if they do not yet do so, they will find that rules for the latter are quite simple. If you pass the treble in 1-2, you make 2nd's and lead again—that's Bob Major. Then, unless you pass the treble in 3-4, up or down (which prevents you from dodging in 3-4), you dodge in every dodging place as you come to it, viz., 3-4, 5-6 and 7-8 up, 7-8, 5-6 and 3-4 down. There is no dodging in 1-2.

An important point to understand is that the dodging is necessitated by two causes operating alternately. One cause is the 2nd's place made when the treble leads, and the other cause the 4th's place made by the treble itself.

To ring Little Reverse Bob you apply the same rules exactly as for Little Bob, only governing the procedure by the fact that the treble is behind instead of in front. Thus: Pass the treble in 7-8 down, makes 7th's, and lie a whole pull behind—that's Reverse Bob Major. Then, unless you pass the treble in 5-6, up or down (which prevents you from dodging in 5-6), you dodge in every dodging place, viz., in this case, 5-6, 3-4, and 1-2 down, 1-2, 3-4, and 5-6 up. There is no dodging in 7-8.

So far the rules are perfectly simple, and such difficulties as there are come with the change of method. Every time this is done, 4th's by the treble in Little Bob, and 5th's in Little Reverse Bob, are eliminated, and consequently the dodging which these places cause go by the board. We find, therefore, that in going from Little Bob to Little Reverse Bob each of the bells above the treble, as she hunts up, i.e., 3rd's, 5th's, 7th's and 8th's place bells at the previous lead end, each run straight through two dodging places, the 3rd missing 5-6 and 7-8 up, the 5th missing 7-8 up and down, the 7th missing 7-8 and 5-6 down, and the 8th missing 5-6 and 3-4 down.

The treble itself will indicate to the bells, which would have dodged in 5-6, that they must omit this and the next dodge, for the treble will be seen coming into the first dodging place. The bells in 7-8 also should be able to see the treble's approach into 5-6, and thus know when the dodges are to be missed. As soon as the treble lies its whole pull behind, the sequence of dodging is taken up by the bells in 5-6, 3-4 and 1-2.

The 2nd, 4th and 6th's place bells are unaffected in their plain hunting until the treble lies its whole pull behind, when they, as all the rest, take up the sequence of dodging as explained for Little Reverse Bob.

Going from Little Reverse Bob to Little Bob is only a reversal of the process. The four bells below the treble as she hunts down each miss two dodges, while the three above the treble are unaffected until the treble leads, when Little Bob work is taken up.

If the conductor calls the change of method, the task of the ringers is greatly simplified; but practice and powers of observation as to the relative positions of the bells will be found necessary if the change of method is to be carried out without being thus called.

To begin with, it will be found desirable to practice one only of the alternative courses at first, say, that which has the treble three leads behind after the course-end. In that case, the changes of method come as follow:

- From Little to Reverse, after the course-end.
- From Reverse to Little, after the tenor makes 7th's.
- From Little to Reverse, after the 'Middle' lead.
- From Reverse to Little, after the 7th makes 7th's.

These hints, it is hoped, will enable Bob Major ringers to begin practice on a plan which offers considerable interest, and can lead to ringing of great complexity.

J. S. G.

NOTES BY THE WAY.
THE DEVELOPMENT OF RINGING AS A PASTIME.

By J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

It is a remarkable fact that all through the history of the Exercise there have been people who have spoken ill of ringing. The authors of 'The Clavis,' in the eighteenth century, thought it necessary to devote several pages to answering attacks made on ringing. In the nineteenth century Shipway endeavoured 'to refute some objections which have been inconsiderately raised against the eminently beneficial art.' And in the seventeenth century, among the other vices and follies which John Bunyan gave up, when he was converted, was bell ringing. The curious thing is that these attacks were made, not on ringers, but on ringing. In this they differed from those of the latter part of the nineteenth century. Then it was said that ringers were a drunken, disorderly lot; in the earlier times the practice of ringing itself was the objectionable thing. A number of people seem to have looked on it as horse racing and card playing and theatre going used to be looked on in certain quarters. Now it is very strange that an art, so closely connected with the Church and with religious service, should have gotten such a bad name, and the reason for it is worth a few minutes' consideration.

In the first place, we have the fact that change ringing, in its beginning and through the greater part of its history, was a purely secular pastime. Unless we realise this we shall not understand the old ringers and their doings. To some people the very idea of a secular sport in connection with bells, which have been devoted to the service of the Church and of religion, will seem a profanation. But, as a matter of fact, the bells in church towers were used for secular as well as for ecclesiastical purposes from the very earliest times. It is quite true that we have many evidences that, in the mediæval church, bells were looked on as particularly sacred things. The founding in some cases was accompanied by a religious service, and when the bell was made it was sprinkled with holy water and consecrated to the service of the church with a solemn service. It appears that sometimes the actual rite of baptism was used.

But we must remember that in the middle ages there was a great distinction between monastic churches and parish churches. The monks of the great Benedictine Order and its offshoots, the Cluniacs and the Cistercians, devoted their entire lives to the service of religion. The abbey grew wealthy, and, as they had no secular interests, a very large proportion of this wealth was devoted to building. Hence we got our magnificent cathedrals, most of which were Benedictine Abbey Churches, and many more churches, some of which are now parish churches, and some of which are ruins. The bells of these would be used for ecclesiastical purposes and for that alone.

Besides these great abbey churches, there were the parish churches served by the parish clergy, who, he it noted, were called 'secular' clergy. Now the parish church was not like the abbey church, the sole property of the clergy. It belonged to the laity. In the country districts the great landowners practically owned the churches, as they did the other buildings and lands. They appointed the clergy as their successors do to this day. In the towns the burgesses as a corporate body exercised the same rights. The church was the centre of the communal life of the people. It was more than merely a place for religious services. It was used for many purposes of local government and so forth. And in the social life of the middle ages bells played a very important part.

In France one of the cherished privileges of a Bourg or Corporate town was to have a belfry, and probably more often than not this belfry was attached to the parish church. To this day in Belgium the belfries, which I believe are always the property of the town, are sometimes the towers of churches and sometimes secular towers. Thus the famous carillon of Bruges hangs in the tower of a municipal market. At Ghent the belfry is a separate building, while at Antwerp and Mechlin the towers are the cathedrals. In England there are frequent instances of the naves of monastic churches being used for the parish services, and, as a rule, this resulted in disputes with the abbey authorities as to who had the right to ring the bells. In some cases the parish authorities thought the matter so important that they built a separate tower for themselves. The massive tower at Wymondham in Norfolk is an example of this.

Thus, before the Reformation, the laity had got the idea that the bells of the parish churches were their property, and could be used for many secular as well as ecclesiastical purposes. Then came the Reformation, which, in England, was largely the revolt of the laity against the clergy. The parish churches became more than ever the property of the laity, and were used for many secular purposes. And this was the time when change ringing began. No doubt in the first instance the bells were rung for some definite purpose, but presently the ringers began to ring for the pleasure of ringing itself. The young men rang the bells in church towers in just the same spirit that they played games on the village green. And there was nothing incongruous in that, because the whole life of the village, including its sport, centred in the village church. But now came a movement in the English Church which profoundly affected the history of the Exercise. This was the rise of Puritanism. In the Church of England there have always been two opposite schools of thought, which we can call the Puritan and the Catholic. The great bulk of the matters about which these two schools disputed do not, of course, concern us here. All that concerns our present subject is that the Catholic aimed at ornate ritual in the church services and encouraged sport outside, while both ritual inside the church and sport outside were anathema to the Puritan. Ringing began when England, as a whole, was mainly Catholic in sentiment, but it had scarcely begun when a very large proportion of the best and most religious people were converted to Puritanism. The effect on ringing was immense. The bells were being rung partly in the service of the church and partly as a pastime. Both of these incurred the bitter opposition of the Puritans, and in the early years of James the First's reign an attempt was made to forbid the ringing of more than one bell on Sundays. The Puritan view seems to have been strong enough to stop the ritualistic use of bells, but not strong enough to stop ringing as a pastime. The result was that ringing became purely secular, and we can now see why 'good' people had so many ill words to say of ringing.

OLD WOKING, SURREY.—At St. Peter's Church, 720 of Bob Minor was rung on October 6th, in 30 mins.: Mrs. W. H. Edwards (first 720) 1, A. P. Osborne (first 720) 2, W. H. Edwards 3, H. Greenhill 4, J. Brackley (conductor) 5, T. Strudwick 6.

FOR THE BEGINNERS.

CONDUCTING.—BY GEORGE WILLIAMS.

In ringing one of the working bells in Treble Bob it is quite easy to call in the Kent Variation, by noticing when tenor is coursing the treble down for the 'In'; but in the Oxford Variation the direct opposite applies, the treble courses the tenor for the 'In.'

The 'Out' is much more easily observed, as the bell to be called 'Out' has been in the slow for the whole lead. Further explanation is therefore really unnecessary, and these few simple hints I have been able to give ought to suffice for the Minor methods. It must not, however, be forgotten that the more that is done by way of pricking out what you are going to ring, the more efficient and confident will you become.

I will endeavour in my next notes to give a few simple hints on Triples.

At Fenistone, on Friday, October 8th, a 720 Bob Minor: H. Roebuck 1, G. Bashforth 2, F. Barraclough 3, J. Tinker 4, H. Sykes 5, A. Champion (conductor) 6, S. Perry 7, N. Brownhill 8. Conducted by A. Champion (aged 17 years). This 720 was rung on the front six bells, with the 7th and tenor covering. All the band, except the ringers of the 4th and 7th, are under 18. The band have lately suffered a heavy loss by the death of their conductor, the late Mr. G. Hill.

At Christ Church, North Shields, on Tuesday, October 5th, 720 Double Oxford Minor: A. Tugwood 1, E. Hern 2, E. Gosden 3, J. Scott 4, J. George 5, G. Dix (conductor) 6.—On Sunday, October 10th, for morning service, 504 Stedman Triples: A. Tugwood 1, E. Hern (conductor) 2, J. Gray 3, C. Waugh 4, J. Robertson 5, J. George 6, E. Gosden 7, A. Skeoch 8. First 720 and first touch of Triples for ringer of treble, this being his first attempt in both methods.

At St. Mary's, Hornsey, Middlesex, on October 11th, for practice: G. W. Blee 1, A. Underwood (first attempt for a 720 inside, age 15 years) 2, T. G. Deal 3, E. G. Hibble 4, H. Blee 5, C. H. Ross (conductor) 6.

At Sirelton, Cheshire, on handbells, 720 of Bob Minor: Reginald Worrall (first 720) 1, H. Howard 2, H. Parker 3, J. Davenport 4, E. Jenkins (conductor) 5-6.—On tower bells, 720 of Bob Doubles: R. Worrall (first 720 on tower bells) 1, H. Howard 2, E. Jenkins (conductor) 3, J. Davenport 4, H. Parker 6.

On Sunday, October 10th, for evening service at Orston, Notts, 240 Bob Doubles was rung: A. E. Walker 1, C. Taylor 2, Rev. C. J. Sturton 3, E. Count 4, J. Taylor (conductor) 5, S. Wilson 6. All the above ringers are members of the local band, and this is the first occasion on which they have rung a six score for service without help from outside the parish. On the Thursday evening previous the same band rang 480 in the same method for practice.

CHARTER DAY AT TWICKENHAM.

On Wednesday, September 22nd, Twickenham became a municipal borough, under the Sign Manual of the King, a town complete with four wards and twenty-four councillors. The sealed and ribboned Charter conferring this ardently-desired status was carried like a trophy round the streets. A fanfare of trumpets, the thud of maroons, and the ringing of the Parish Church bells heralded its coming. In the sunken garden of York House, which is to be the town hall, the Charter was blessed by the Bishop of Willesden, and loyal thanks returned to his Majesty for its granting. The formal ceremonies over, the town shut its shops and abandoned itself to music, sports and pageantry on the river.

In the evening, a peal of Grandsire Triples was attempted at the Parish Church, but, unfortunately, it came to grief after 800 odd changes had been rung. Standing in the same order, the ringers afterwards rang a quarter-peal in the same method in 47 mins.: G. E. Bradford 1, W. H. Hollier 2, A. M. Stacey 3, F. W. Goodfellow (conductor) 4, A. H. Fulwell 5, C. W. R. Grinwood 6, J. A. Trollope 7, J. H. Morris 8. The ringers of the treble and tenor are both of the local band, and this was their first attempt for a peal. The peal would also have been the first on the bells since their restoration a few months back. A further touch was rung, namely, 168 Stedman Triples, Mr. J. Driver, of Fulham, taking a rope. After the bells were lowered in peal, several of the ringers visited Marble Hill, where, together with thousands of people, they watched an excellent pyrotechnic display. The rockets announced far and wide how Twickenham had, in one day, grown in civic stature and dignity.

The Charter-day celebrations commenced with 720 Grandsire Doubles, conducted by J. W. Driver, and 360 Grandsire Doubles, conducted by W. F. Ellingham, 6-4-8 covering: G. Bradford 1, T. Beadle 2, E. Morris 3, Miss K. Bradford 4, W. H. Hollier 5, A. Sheard 6, W. F. Ellingham 7, J. W. Driver 8. Longest lengths by the ringers of the 3rd and 4th.

'SILENT APPARATUS.'To the Editor.*

Sir,—In your issue of October 1st Mr. Arthur C. Walsh, in referring to the practice apparatus mentioned in Snowdon's 'Hopesight,' remarks that it would be interesting to know the makers of this apparatus and its cost.

In the 'Bell News' for May 1st, 1886, is a report of the re-opening of the bells of Holy Trinity, Old Hill, which occurred on Easter Day that year, after rehanging by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.

After a short account of the ringing, it states that the creditable striking of the young band was partly due to the use of 'Seage's silent apparatus practice, which was fixed during the rehanging.' This report of 40 years ago, then, gives the name of the apparatus, and it seems that Mr. Walsh could obtain some information from Messrs. Mears and Stainbank about it.—Yours, etc.

PETER LAFLIN.

BELL TONES.To the Editor.*

Dear Sir,—In Mr. Young's interesting article on the above subject in this week's 'Ringing World,' the writer refers to an article in Chambers' Encyclopædia, written about thirty years ago, in praise of tubular bells. That opinions were divided, even in those days, is shown by the enclosed clever skit, which appeared in a local paper of a well-known seaside town in the summer of 1887.

H. B. WOOLLEY.

Long Stanton Rectory.

ADDITIONAL VERSE TO EDGAR POE'S POEM, 'THE BELLS.'

Hear the new St. Michael's bells.

What a tale of ill-spent money now their noisy

Clamour tells.

As they jangle in the spire
(Sad example to the choir).
They have no harmoniousness;
They are always, more or less,

Out of tune.

Oh, 'tis sweet, sweet, sweet,
To live in Tontine Street,
And for full ten minutes long,
Ere the daily evensong,
To listen to the clanging,
The horrid nasal twanging
Of the bells, bells, bells,
The inharmonious banging
Of the bells!Ah! What sad degenerate times!
When discordant tubes for chimes
Tumble up and down the scale
And tell a 'tangled tale,'
In defiance of all rules
Of the ancient ringing schools.
And the music-loving ear
Shrinks with tortured startled fear
From the jangling
And the wrangling
Of the bells!

What a mockery of bells!

As the intonation(?) swells,
Our craniums are aching,
And anthems we're taking,
At the wretched imitation,
And the tintinnabulation,
Of these things that some call bells,
Of the bells, bells, bells, bells, bells,
Bells, bells, bells,

KING'S NORTON RINGERS' TOUR.

The King's Norton ringers went on a very enjoyable outing on Saturday, September 18th. They set out for Daventry in two motor-cars, one of which belonged to, and was driven by, their Ringing Master, Mr. F. B. Yates. About 3.45 p.m., the bells of the ancient Parish Church were going to successful touches of Cambridge Surprise Major and Stedman and Grandsire Triples. A move was then made for Southam, where the ringers found a very good peal which had lately received the attention of Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough. Here they were met by Mr. E. G. Berry, captain of the local band, and Mr. W. Thorne, who had formerly resided at King's Norton. The bells gave very much pleasure to the visitors who, although due to abandon the tower at tea-time, 'sneaked' back for a touch of Cambridge afterwards. Mr. Berry had arranged a capital tea at the Black Dog Inn, for which the ringers were very grateful to him.

The party subsequently left for St. Mary's Church, Warwick, and were eager to ring on the beautiful peal there. They were given a right good welcome by Mr. E. H. Adams, and also by the curate, in the absence of the Vicar. There are eight bells at King's Norton, and ten at Warwick, and the band's gallant (?) attempt to ring Double Norwich on the whole peal for the first time provoked to anger the redoubtable Luffin, but 'Old Moore' smiled. The attempt was soon abandoned, and Grandsire Caters and Stedman were the order. The party started for home about 9 p.m., after thoroughly enjoying the afternoon and evening.

In a few weeks' time Mr. Yates' gift of two trebles will be in the King's Norton tower, and then—well, the ringers hope to visit Warwick again in due course!

THE NEED FOR MORE RESERVES.

We should like to emphasise a point made at a meeting of the Kent County Association at Edenbridge on Saturday by the Rector, who, commenting on the fact that few of those present were young men, urged the necessity of training young ringers so that the gaps, which must inevitably come in the ranks of the seniors, can be filled and the disastrous state of having insufficient ringers to ring the bells in the future avoided. Everyone recognises, or should recognise, the fact that continuity of efficiency can only be obtained by training new men, not when the old have gone, but in anticipation of that eventuality, yet in how few cases, comparatively speaking, among ringing companies is this done? Once a band is got together they are, as a rule, content to go on without thought of the future, until something occurs to break the circle, and then, at any rate for the time being, if not permanently, ringing in that particular centre suffers a serious set back. It is a constant occurrence, and yet the number of bands where there is any systematic attempt to bring along young ringers is very small. There are, in fact, too few reserves. Where young ringers are to be found it is generally in those towers where there are not enough old hands to man the ropes. Many cases could be cited where the loss of only one ringer, through death or removal, has thrown a band back for a couple of years or more, yet a little foresight and the expenditure of the requisite time on tuition would have saved all this. We know the feeling. A band has struggled to make itself proficient, and has, perhaps, reached a stage when, at last, it can get some real satisfaction out of its performances, and things go so smoothly that the desirability or necessity for any young blood being introduced not only seems remote, but is definitely looked upon as involving a waste of time and trouble. It is, however, far from that in reality. Ringing companies generally have quite an insufficient number of reserves, as is often evidenced by the fact that when one man is absent it is not possible to ring all the bells for service. No pastime that we know would be content with such a meagre reserve force as we find in the Exercise, and ringing has continually to suffer the inevitable result, first in this tower and then in that. The difficulties in bringing in new men in these days of so many other attractions are fully realised, yet there never was a time when people had so much leisure on their hands. The hours of work are shorter by far than when the present grey heads of the Exercise began to ring, and there ought to be among the Churchmen in every parish half-a-dozen who would be prepared to give an hour or two a week to be trained as the reserve for this part of made up the eight, and two courses of Bob Major and 504 Grandsire Triples were much enjoyed. The tone and 'go' of the bells is well worthy of mention, and the beautiful condition of both the ringing chamber and the bell chamber reflects great credit on the local band.

After an early tea in Nantwich, Wrenbury was reached at 5.30. Here the company made the acquaintance of one 'Arry,' who flatly refused to allow any ringing to take place until he had brushed out the ringing chamber! This task completed, he conducted the party to the roof of the tower, where he pointed out all places of interest, both visible and invisible, within a radius of about twenty miles. Having taken a photograph of such an obliging host, the band descended to a lower level and rang a 720 of Oxford Treble Bob, followed by 120 Stedman Doubles.

The last tower on the programme was Tushingham, which was reached at 7.30 p.m. The visitors found the local band there to meet them, and, after a friendly chat, settled down to a 720 of Double Bob and Plain Bob spliced. This is believed to be the first 720 on the bells, and as such is perhaps worth recording fully: W. Thomas 1, A. E. Richards 2, G. Jones 3, J. W. Clarke 4, J. Morgan 5, H. W. Wilde (conductor) 6.

An attempt for a 720 of Double Oxford unfortunately came to grief in the fourth part owing to the second casting its rope.

After lowering the bells, the party boarded their fiery steeds and turned towards Farndon. On approaching the Egerton Arms at Broxton, however, it was thought that the engines seemed a little tired, so a halt was called to fill up with—petrol! The last place of call was School House, Farndon, where the party were very kindly entertained to supper by Mrs. Richards, and in front of a fire of real coal the many details of a perfect 'ringing day' were talked over. On making enquiries afterwards it was found that no one got into trouble for roaching home rather late! The hand wish to take this opportunity to thank all those who so willingly came forward to help towards the success of the day.

TWELVE TOWERS VISITED IN A DAY.

The ringers of Emmanuel Church, Plymouth, accompanied by one or two friends who are regular helpers in the belfry, enjoyed their third annual outing on Saturday, September 11th, and the following towers were visited: Brixton (5 bells), Yealmpton (6), Ermington (6), Modbury (6), Aveton Gifford (8), Loddiswell (6), Churchstow (6), West Alvington (6), Kingsbridge (8), Dedbrooke (6), East Allington (6), and Halwell (6). The methods rung during the day were Grandsire Triples, Stedman Triples, and Bob Major in the two eight-bell towers, and Grandsire Doubles, Stedman Doubles, Bob Minor, and Plain courses of Cambridge Surprise and London Surprise in the six-bell towers.

RINGERS' OUTINGS.
A STRENUOUS WEEK-END.

Members of the Ancient Society of College Youths paid a week-end visit to Evesham between September 17th and 20th, the party including Messrs. E. Alexander Young (hon. secretary and treasurer to the Central Council), C. F. Winney, G. R. Fardon, A. B. Peck and H. Langdon. Arriving at Evesham by the 8.50 p.m. train on Friday night, they were met by Mr. J. Hemming (Southern Branch secretary of the Worcestershire and Districts Association), who accompanied them to the Crown Hotel, where accommodation had been arranged for them for the week-end. Saturday morning was spent in inspecting the churches, bell tower, and bells of Evesham. The view of the Vale from the top of the tower was much admired, as was also the war memorial, park, and gardens. In the afternoon, a visit was paid to Pershore, the visitors being accompanied by Messrs. J. Hemming, H. Middleton, J. D. Johnson, and F. J. Johnson, of the local company, while Messrs. Davies and Edwards, of Hereford, motored over to meet the party at Pershore. Bishop H. Gresford Jones had kindly placed the Abbey bells at the disposal of the party, and some good touches of Stedman, Treble Bob, and Grandsire were rung. Returning to Evesham, a hurried tea was partaken of at headquarters, and the bus was then taken to Badsey, where Stedman, Cambridge, and Grandsire were rung on this musical peal, Evesham being reached again at 8.30 p.m. The rest of the evening was spent with handbells, etc., till—well, perhaps the hour had better not be mentioned. Suffice to say, it proved a very enjoyable evening, the other hotel visitors taking a keen interest in the musical programme, while one aspirant sketched one of the band ringing a pair of handbells. A proper hanging place will be found for this picture in due course.

Orders were issued to meet at the bell tower the following morning at 9.30 for a quarter peal of Stedman Caters for morning service. Whether it was the drowsy Evesham air or the comfortable beds at the Crown is not quite clear, but 'Go, Stedman, bob,' was not called till twelve minutes past ten, and the bells did not run round till three minutes past eleven, at 1,239 changes, the ringers being: G. R. Fardon (composer) 1, J. Hemming 2, C. F. Winney 3, A. B. Peck 4, H. Middleton 5, J. D. Johnson 6, F. J. Johnson 7, H. J. Phipps 8, H. Langdon (conductor) 9, E. A. Young 10. Ringing also took place for evening service. The visitors also took a motor-launch trip for three miles down the River Avon, the river scenery being much enjoyed. No doubt, had the party had a longer stay, this motor launch would have been engaged for a fishing expedition to try and catch the Evesham famous 'Norton Corner pike,' which cannot be landed.

A handbell peal of Stedman Cinques was attempted in the afternoon on the Crown lawn, by Miss E. M. Johnson, A. B. Peck, C. F. Winney, H. Langdon, J. D. Johnson, and F. Johnson, but a mix-up occurred in the twelfth course, which brought it to an end. The visitors congratulated Miss Johnson upon her fine ringing.

Mr. Peck caught the 6.15 train on Sunday evening for London, Monday morning duty calling him back. Monday morning came all too soon for the remainder of the party, who journeyed back to town by the 9.24 a.m. train, all expressing their appreciation of the arrangements that had been made for them. Although it had been a strenuous week-end, it had also been a most enjoyable one.

A PERFECT DAY.

Six members of the Chester Branch of the Chester Diocesan Guild had their annual outing on Saturday, September 11th. This year a tour was made in the Nantwich and Crewe district, and, as the weather was ideal, the journeys along the roads from tower to tower were most enjoyable. The company was made up by Messrs. H. W. Wilde, J. Morgan, G. Jones, W. Thomas, A. E. Richards and J. W. Clarke, the first four mentioned reclining in a 'Morris,' while the other two hung on to a Rudge motor-cycle. These two docile vehicles are now so used to carrying ringers that they will almost start themselves up as the bells are falling!

The first place of call was Nantwich Parish Church, and the back six were soon going along in a touch of Double Oxford. The early morning (9.30) energy of Mr. Richards, as revealed by his taking the tower rope, was greatly admired by his colleagues. As there was a wedding at 10 a.m., ringing had to be suspended for a few minutes, but the time table allowed of a little 'Aring' and a short touch after the ceremony. The happy couple were thus assured of the band's sympathy and good wishes.

Wistaston was reached about 11 a.m., when a warm welcome was extended by Mr. A. Crawley and a few other local ringers. As the tenor here is 6 cwt., Mr. Thomas was warned to take special care whilst ringing the treble, lest he should overstrain himself! However, he managed to stick it through a well-struck 720 of Oxford and Kent spliced, conducted by Mr. Wilde. This was followed by a 720 of Bob Minor, two ropes being taken by Mr. H. Smith and Mr. J. Bayley, members of the local band, who thus scored their first 720.

The company then made their way back to Nantwich, where campanology had to make way for grilled chops, potatoes, and other appetising things. Feeling greatly refreshed in body and mind, the band then set out for Barthomley, arriving shortly after 2 p.m. The beautiful church, with its recently restored chancel, was much admired, and, on ascending the tower, the bells were found to be equally pleasing. Mr. A. Allman and Mr. J. Brassington very kindly (Continued in previous column.)

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD.
NOTABLE PERFORMANCES RECORDED.

A quarterly meeting of the Wellingborough branch was held at Irthingborough on Saturday, October 9th. The event was a notable one, as a tablet, recording peals of Superlative, Cambridge, Bristol and London Surprise Major recently rung, was unveiled and dedicated. At 4.15 the ringers and friends to the number of about 50 assembled in the belfry, and the Rector (the Rev. W. Prift), in a short and appropriate address, paying high tributes to the ringers concerned, unveiled the tablet. The dedicatory prayers were offered by the Ven. Archdeacon Greaves, president of the Wellingborough branch. The company then adjourned to the church, and the Guild service, conducted by the Rector, followed, the address being given by the Archdeacon from the words, 'Though I speak with the tongues of men and of angels, and have not charity, I am nothing.' In the course of his sermon he appealed to all present to cultivate the spirit of love or charity, not in the way of sentimentalism, but in the true spirit of self-sacrifice. If this was done, it would have an influence for good, and the bells would have a message to the people outside.

Tea was partaken of in the Conservative Room, kindly prepared by Mesdames Hewitt, Chambers, Bigley, Thomas, and Shelton, who also served at the tables.

The business meeting followed, presided over by Mr. F. Wilford, Master of the Guild, the Archdeacon having to leave at this point.—Earls Barton was chosen for the next meeting.—One unattached member was elected, and a Guild certificate was presented to Mr. G. Clapham, of Pinedon, who recently rang his first peal. Hearty congratulations were offered to the youthful ringer on his accomplishment.

The secretary (Mr. F. Barber) said he could not let the occasion pass without offering the heartiest congratulations to all the ringers concerned in the ringing of the four Surprise peals recorded on the tablet just unveiled. It was an excellent performance, seeing the peals were rung by practically a local band. The peal of Superlative was the 60th in that method rung by Mr. W. Perkins.—The congratulations were heartily supported by Mr. R. G. Black, general secretary, and acknowledged by Mr. W. Perkins.

ARMISTICE DAY RINGING.

Reference was also made to the death of Mr. I. G. Shade, a wonderful ringer, and a life member of the Guild, and the secretary said he was sure they all regretted the circumstances in which he met his death. The secretary also referred to the recent discussions in some of the London daily papers on Armistice Day, it being felt by many that during the last year or two it had been made too much of a 'joy' day. He said it was very gratifying to note that some of the London hotels had postponed their rejoicings until the following day. He felt sure it should be kept only as a 'day of remembrance,' and, if so, then the bells of England had a great part to play on November 11th, and he hoped they would all do their best to carry on the good work already begun.

Mr. F. Wilford moved a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells, to the Archdeacon for his address, to the local ringers and to the ladies who had helped with the tea. Before the company dispersed for more ringing, a course of Bob Royal was given on the handbells by the Pinedon ringers.

During the afternoon and evening the bells were kept going in all the standard methods, including Superlative, Cambridge and London Surprise. Amongst those present were Mr. J. R. Sharman (London), Miss E. Steel (Bedford), Mr. H. Baxter (secretary of the Kettering branch), and Mr. R. G. Black (general secretary).

SHIPWAY'S FALLACIES.

By GEORGE BAKER.

The great essential in all methods is symmetry of construction. That Shipway failed woefully in this important matter, is evidenced by his total failure to produce symmetrical extensions of Single and Double Court Bob. There were no arbitrary definitions in his day against the production of irregular methods, and Shipway produced plenty of them, therefore why he did not make use of the places which produce Single Court Bob Minor, i.e., two quick fourth's place bobs, and by these extend the method to infinity is a mystery. The method would be irregular from and including Major upwards, but, nevertheless, it is the method, and there is no other possible without introducing slow bobs or an additional place.

What Shipway is pleased to call extensions of Single Court Bob can be seen on page 58 of Reprint, and I need not say more about them than this, they are all asymmetrical—the Triples and Major each have five false rows to the lead, and the Caters three.

The following extension is true on all even numbers of bells from singles upwards, and is produced by two bobs only: Slow bobs when the pairs of bells are even, and quick bobs when the pairs of bells are odd:

Another extension which requires an additional place to bring up the correct lead-head runs true on all numbers, odd and even, to infinity, and the Major of this extension is the method from which I deduced the axiom 'that all methods, principles and systems are produced by making Bobs and Extremes in the Primary Principles, or the Treble Bob Principle.'

Nothing can be urged against these two extensions except the arbitrary definition which makes the even numbers on the one hand, and the odd numbers on the other hand illegitimate because of the four blows in front or behind.

In his Double Court Extensions Shipway made the biggest muddle of all. His so-called Double Court Triples has nine false rows to every lead, the Major four, and the Caters five. Neither Major nor Caters are double methods.

PRESENTATION AT OSWALDTWISTLE.

RETIREMENT OF MR. JAMES HOULDSWORTH.

On Sunday morning, the ringers of Immanuel Church, Oswaldtwistle, Lancashire, presented Mr. James Houldsworth with a ringer's gold badge, suitably inscribed, in recognition of his 23 years' service as ringer and conductor in this tower.

Mr. William Riley, who made the presentation, voiced the members' appreciation of Mr. Houldsworth's services, the splendid progress made under his leadership, and their sorrow at his retirement from the tower and district, coupled with a hope that he would not be altogether lost to the Exercise.

Mr. Houldsworth, who was taken by surprise, could only thank the band very much both for the present and their loyalty to the tower. His greatest reward would be to see the tower make even greater progress in the future.

WEDDING BELLS.

At Holy Trinity Church, Hoghton, Lancashire, on Monday, October 4th, 2,016 Bob Major: W. Margerinson 1, Miss May Clayton 2, F. Calderbank 3, G. Hooper 4, W. Hsley 5, J. Harrison 6, J. Moulding 7, J. Brown (conductor) 8. Rung to celebrate the marriage of Mr. Richard L. Vernon, of Tong, Shropshire, to Miss Barbara Heywood, daughter of Sir James De Hoghton, Bart. The above is the longest length of Major on the bells by a local company.

At Witney, Oxon, on Monday, October 4th, a quarter-peal of Grand-sire Triples (1,260 changes) in 50 mins.: C. Wheeler 1, N. Spindlow 2, E. Brown 3, T. Bull 4, J. Brooks 5, J. Monk (conductor) 6, J. Brooks 7, C. Channon 8. Rung in honour of the wedding of Mr. Leslie Oliffe and Miss Dora Abbott, of Enstone, the bridegroom being a member of the local company.

At St. Nicholas-at-Wade, on Thursday, October 14th, on the bells of St. Nicholas' Church, 1,320 Bob Doubles, with four different callings, in 50 mins.: S. J. Bolton 1, A. M. Ireland 2, G. H. Gore 3, H. Clayton 4, W. Laws (conductor) 5, F. Beake 6. Specially arranged in honour of the wedding of H. Beake, a local ringer, and Miss D. Dove, and this is believed to be the longest touch ever rung on the bells by a local band.

At Salford, on Sunday, September 19th, as a wedding compliment to the Rev. E. Stephenson (curate) and his wife, 1,344 changes of Grand-sire Triples were rung after evening service in 54 mins. at Sacred Trinity Church: H. S. Kellett 1, Miss A. Brierley 2, J. Hall 3, F. Stonely (conductor) 4, A. Lees 5, T. Jones 6, H. Lees 7, P. Cross 8.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The restoration of Ickleton bells, where recently the tenor broke, will, it is hoped, soon be taken in hand. There are varying schemes afoot, and it is likely that a decision will be taken at a Church Council meeting this evening. There are four of the local ringers on the Council, so that it may be relied upon that the best will be done in the interest of the bells and ringing. Those who desire to help this poor parish should send their donations to Mr. Percy Webb, Ickleton, Cambs.

The peal of Cambridge Surprise Major reported to have been rung at Helmingham, on September 22nd, was rung at Debenham.

The most interesting anniversary of the week is that of the first peal of Stedman Triples, which was rung at St. Peter Mancroft on October 25th, 1731. The story of this peal was well told, not long since, by Mr. J. A. Trollope, in his 'Notes by the Way.'

The first peal of Stedman Caters rung out of London was at St. Martin's, Birmingham, on October 25th, 1790. There has been more than a little Stedman heard in the Bull Ring since those far-off days.

When, on October 24th, 1807, the Oldham men rang 15,120 Bob Major, doubtless they thought they had set up a record and had rung a longer peal than any other set of men, or they would surely not have stopped short at that number. It seems pretty certain that they could not have known of the peal of the same length rung at West Ham on November 25th, 1737, or the 15,360 at Aston in the year 1793, which latter was, we believe, the longest peal on record until the 15,840 of Kent Treble Bob at Bethnal Green in 1868.

A great number of peals have been rung at St. John's Church, Waterloo Road, London, but the 'first ever' was scored by the College Youths on October 24th, 1825. It was a peal of Oxford Treble Bob Major.

The first peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal was rung at Wakefield on October 26th, 1822, and then, so far as Cambridge on ten bells as concerned, the world stood still for nearly 80 years. Nine members of the Wakefield Society, with Joseph Tibbs, of Leeds, took part in this historic performance, the composer and conductor of which was William Woodhead.

Fifty years ago next Thursday a peal of 9,120 Kent Treble Bob Major was rung at Holbeck, Leeds.

COLLECTION OF PEALS OF TREBLE BOB.

The Peal Collection Committee will be glad to receive from composers or others within the next month any fresh peals of Treble Bob, in order that the collection may be fully up to date. Peals should be sent to Rev. H. S. T. Richardson, Hopesay Rectory, Aston-on-Clun, Salop.

A LIST OF 'RINGING' TOWERS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Mr. J. R. Nichols, of 59, Rutland Road, Stamford, Lines, has written asking me to use my best endeavours to reinforce his request for particulars as to towers where bells are hung as per his letter in 'The Ringing World' a few months ago. He regrets that, so far, only three secretaries appear to have been able to give him the information which he desires for his forthcoming book on the History of Ringing.

We have had no such list on ringing towers since Troyte's list some 50 years ago, and which is now not only out of print, but out of date, and an up-to-date list would be to the advantage of the Exercise at large. I beg, therefore, strongly to recommend Mr. Nichol's request to all those who are able to supply him with any useful information.—Yours faithfully,

E. ALEX. YOUNG.

FARNHAM, SURREY.—On Thursday evening, October 14th, at St. Andrew's Church, for the harvest festival service, a quarter-peal of Bob Major (1,264 changes) in 50 mins.: F. Kemp (first quarter in the method) 1, Miss F. Wyman 2, J. Read 3, S. Meadows 4, C. Wells 5, G. Upshall 6, R. Hasted (conductor) 7, T. Upshall 8.

INTERESTING PEALS.*POLICEMEN'S PERFORMANCE IN LONDON.

Among the interesting performances which we record this week is a policemen's peal. It was rung at St. Botolph's, Bishopsgate, by Metropolitan, Leicester and Birmingham members of the force, and Stedman Triples was scored after an unsuccessful start for Cambridge Surprise Major had left insufficient time for another attempt with the tenor in. Arrangements for the peal were made by Mr. H. Bottill, of Scotland Yard, who will be congratulated by his many friends, both of the police and the Exercise, upon gaining well-merited promotion to an inspectorship.

At the last minute P.C. G. Shipp was taken ill with an attack of influenza, and P.C. J.C. Doel very kindly took his place at a moment's notice. The Cambridge came to grief after half an hour's ringing, but Stedman was successfully accomplished in the remaining time available under the conductorship of P.C. H. J. Poole, of Leicester City force.

It is not an easy task to arrange a band of this description, as a police officer never knows at what moment duty may interfere with his leisure. Sergt. Dowding, for instance, was not dismissed from duty until six a.m. that morning, and then had to travel from Birmingham to London to take part in the peal. It is hoped to make another attempt for the Cambridge in the New Year.

The first peal of Original Triples, the fundamental of changes in seven bells, had to wait from the beginning of ringing history until last Saturday before it was rung. It was placed to the credit of the Herts County Association by a band at Bushey, under that enterprising conductor, Mr. Maurice Hibbert. The method may be simple, but the calling is a busy job for the conductor, there being no fewer than 610 calls in the peal. The composition was published in our issue of August 22nd, 1924. It is by Mr. Ernest Morris, of Leicester.

'Name' peals are not a frequent occurrence, and the peal of Treble Bob rung by a band of Charlies—all members of the Kent County Association—at Linton is worthy of commendation.

DEATH OF MR. WILLIAM LAWRENCE.*A VALUED MEMBER OF THE MIDDLESEX ASSOCIATION.

On Monday, October 11th, the death occurred at 24, Wimbourne Gardens, West Ealing, of Mr. William Lawrence, for many years one of the leading ringers of West Middlesex. By birth a Wiltshire man—he was born at Aldbourne on March 23rd, 1859—he did much of his early ringing in Sussex, where he was a member of the Christ Church, Eastbourne, band. About twenty-five years ago he was appointed, from among 164 candidates, to a position in the architect's department of the London County Council Fire Brigade, and went to live at Hanwell, and afterwards at West Ealing.

In 1912, a new ring of eight was put up at St. Stephen's Church, Ealing, and Mr. Lawrence was appointed honorary steeplekeeper, which post he held till 1919, when a serious illness compelled him to give it up. He called the first peal on the bells—Holt's ten-part. About the same time he rang the tenors to several peals of Plain Bob and Grand sire Triples on handbells. His other peals consisted of Grand sire and Stedman Triples and Plain and Treble Bob Major, and included the 1,250th and last peal that the Rev. F. E. Robinson rang in.

A serious illness a few years ago put an end to his active participation in ringing, but his interest in it remained to the end, and one of his last acts was to give a lecture on bells and ringing before the Selborne Society, of which he was an active member.

He was a great collector of old bells and other curiosities. Photography was another of his hobbies, and he was a lover of country life, in which connection he was a frequent contributor to the 'Country Home Magazine.'

Although, on account of his failing health, Mr. Lawrence had not been much among ringers in the last two years or so, his death is deeply regretted by a large circle of friends in the Exercise. For years he did valuable and unobtrusive work, and all who had the pleasure of meeting him recognised in him one of Nature's gentlemen.

He was a member of a number of ringing societies, including the Oxford Diocesan Guild, which was the first he joined, the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, the Sussex County Association, the Middlesex County Association, and the Ancient Society of College Youths. For three years he represented the Middlesex Association on the Central Council.

The funeral took place on Friday at the Westminster Cemetery, Hanwell.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A very successful meeting of the Eastern District was held on Saturday, Oct. 9th, at Cheshunt. Good use was made of the bells during the afternoon and evening, many London friends being present in addition to those of Herts, and ringing was practised in methods up to and including London Surprise. The Vicar, Rev. C. B. Law, came into the belfry and extended a warm welcome to all, and rang the tenor to Stedman Triples. He afterwards sat down to tea with the assembly and presided over the business meeting, at which two new members were added to the Cheshunt band. All attended the evening service, and afterwards the belfry was the place of attraction.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.*YOUNG RINGERS WANTED.

The autumn meeting of the Tonbridge district was held at Edenbridge, on Saturday, and was attended by nearly 40 members. Ringing commenced at 3 o'clock, and it was noticeable that there was an improvement in the striking compared with what it usually is at these meetings, although several members had good practice in methods which they have not the opportunity of practising in their own towers. Unfortunately the meeting clashed with a rural deanery thanksgiving service that was held at Tonbridge the same afternoon, and the usual service could not be held. An excellent tea was kindly provided by the Vicar and Mrs. Edwards at the Church House, and several ladies assisted Mrs. Edwards in attending to the wants of the members.

The business meeting followed, Mr. G. Edwards, of Peshurst, presiding. Two non-resident life members from East Grinstead were elected. At this point the Vicar (Rev. H. C. Edwards) arrived, and Mr. G. Edwards vacated the chair for the Vicar, who first extended a hearty welcome to the members, and next expressed his deep regret that the usual service could not be held. He had given the matter great consideration, and he had regretfully come to the conclusion that his duty was to attend the thanksgiving service at Tonbridge. He had endeavoured to obtain the services of other clergymen, but without success.

Votes of thanks to the Vicar and Mrs. Edwards for generously providing the tea, to the ladies for their kindness in waiting on the members, and to Mr. J. Heasman and the local ringers for making the excellent arrangements, were passed.

The Vicar, in reply, again expressed his pleasure at meeting the members, and promised to convey the vote of thanks to the ladies. He also said that he noticed that a good many of the members were getting rather white on their heads, and there were not many young members amongst them. He urged them to get young men to learn their art, or it would be disastrous if there were no ringers to ring their bells in the future.

This concluded the meeting, and the members adjourned to the tower, where ringing in various methods was indulged in until nine o'clock.

A BIRMINGHAM PEAL.*TABLET UNVEILED AT BISHOP RYDER'S CHURCH.

On Sunday, October 10th, following the evening service, an interesting ceremony took place in the belfry of Bishop Ryder's Church, Birmingham. A beautiful marble tablet (kindly designed by Mr. A. Padden Smith, hon. secretary of St. Martin's Guild), the gift of Councillor R. R. Gelling, the donor of the bells, was unveiled by Alderman J. S. Pritchett. The tablet records in gold lettering the first peal rung upon the bells on January 23rd, 1924, after they had been recast by Messrs. Taylor and Co., Loughborough.

The Rev. Canon G. E. Badger, M.A., had preached an excellent sermon upon bells and ringers, etc., and when the ceremony took place the belfry and gallery leading thereto were crowded with spectators. Mr. Samuel Grove and Mr. Percy O. Laffin, who took part in the peal, were among those present, and took part in the ringing, as also did Alderman J. S. Pritchett, M.A., and Messrs. Edward Large and George E. Large.

A few remarks were made by Alderman Pritchett and Rev. Canon G. E. Badger, M.A., which were much appreciated. It was very pleasing to notice that Mrs. Pritchett and Mrs. Badger were present.

The bells were rung for a short time before and after the unveiling. The young band at this church are making great progress under the capable tuition of Mr. James George.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.*ROCHDALE BRANCH SOCIAL.

The annual party and social of the Rochdale branch was held at Oldham on Saturday, October 16th. The Parish Church bells were available during the afternoon, and a good number of ringers visited the tower. Tea was served in Lord Street Schools, to which nearly 150 sat down.

A short business meeting was held afterwards, the Vicar of Oldham in the chair.—The Vicar extended a hearty welcome to those present.

It was resolved to hold next year's party at Cross Stone, and votes of thanks to those who had worked to make the affair a success were passed. Before the meeting closed reference was made to the Vicar's coming retirement, and those present joined in wishing him a pleasant relaxation.

An interesting programme, including songs, humorous items, handbell selections and dancing followed, and all spent a thoroughly enjoyable evening.

SPLICED METHOD PEALS.*To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I was with interest I read your leading article in last week's issue of 'The Ringing World,' and I heartily endorse your remarks therein, especially that part which refers to the splicing of even methods to even methods and odd methods to odd methods.—Yours faithfully,

JAMES FERNLEY.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

THE EFFECT OF RELIGIOUS CHANGES ON RINGING.

BY J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

The attitude of the Puritans towards bells and ringing is illustrated by the following incident. In 1532 Abbott, the Archbishop of Canterbury, visited Scotland, and at Dunbar he was shown the parish church by 'a crumpled, unseemly person, the minister thereof.' He inquired how many bells there were, and was told, 'None.' His Grace asked 'how it chanced,' and the minister replied, with some astonishment at so simple a question, that 'it was one of the Reformed Churches.' In Edinburgh, Abbott found only one bell; all the rest had been shipped to the Low Countries. That was in Scotland, where Puritanism had far greater power among the common people than ever it had in England.

In England there does not seem any evidence that its influence led to any destruction of bells, but it did tend to lessen their use in the services of the church, and, consequently, since the common people loved their bells, and would have them rung, if not for one purpose, then for another, it did tend to secularise bells and ringing.

In many cases the ringing of bells, which once was for purposes of ritual, was continued, but the original reason was forgotten. It survived as custom without any reason, and sometimes purely secular and even grotesque reasons were given for it. At Kegworth, in Leicestershire, for instance, the ringing of the Angelus at 7 a.m. survived, but the villagers thought it was to waken the rectory servants.

In these circumstances it is not surprising that since change ringing started at a time when Puritan ideas were very strong, it was looked upon, both by its friends and its foes, as a purely secular pastime. From the early days of the seventeenth century, when the 'invention of the sixes' marks the real beginning of change ringing, until 1660 the power of Puritanism was steadily increasing. The Catholic party had to fight a desperate, and, for the time, a losing battle to maintain its hold within the church, and had little or no opportunity of influencing the position of ringing in the church services.

The year 1648 saw the death of Charles I., the establishment of a Commonwealth in England, and, as far as Parliament could do it, the turning of the Church of England into a Puritan sect. The effect on ringing does not seem to have been very great, but when in 1660 the reaction came, and the Kingdom and the Church were restored, it received a big impetus. This was the time when Fabian Stedman was living and ringing at Cambridge. In 1657 the College Youths are said to have visited that town, and, when there, were presented by him with some five-bell peals, which they rang at St. Benet's.

Shipway, following a certain antiquary named Parnell, says that Stedman's Principle was rung at that time, but that, I think, is an error. The Principle was evidently not produced until later—between 1668 and 1677. So that either the College Youths' visit did not take place till after 1657, or, which is likely, what was rung was some plain changes which Stedman and other men were at the time developing. In 1668 Stedman published his first book, the 'Tintinnalogia,' and he tells us that the previous few years had seen a great and remarkable development of ringing.

Perhaps, in the whole history of the Exercise, ringing and ringers never stood higher in the estimation of the general public than it did at this time. It seems to have attracted all classes of people. Professor Jebb, in his 'Life of Richard Bentley,' says that the chief sports of the undergraduates at Cambridge at the time were tennis, racquets, bowls and bell ringing. And in London the College Youths were apparently a well-to-do lot of men. Ringing, however, still remained secular.

There was a Catholic reaction in the Church during the last years of the seventeenth century, but it did not last long enough to have much effect on the ritual of the services or any at all on ringing, and its main force was spent when, for political reasons, the most prominent of its leaders left the Church.

Religious opinion in the Church of England of the eighteenth century was totally different from that of the seventeenth. The long and bitter conflicts were succeeded by a period of quiet and apathy, and the general effect was to confirm the secular nature of ringing. The country clergy were largely the younger sons of the country gentry. They held the service on Sundays, and the rest of the week they behaved much in the same way as the squires, hunting and shooting, and taking part in the ordinary country sports, except that, generally speaking, they were free from the heavy drinking and gross talking which were common at the time.

To such men prize ringing was a thing to be encouraged. They did not consider it any profanation of the Church, and, indeed, under the circumstances and at the time, prize ringing probably did far more good than harm. There was little or no idea of reverence for the church building. The altar was merely a table, to be used at the celebrations, which were seldom held except on the three great festivals, and at other times was a convenient place where odd things could be put, and where, often enough, the parson laid his hat and cloak during the service. If the altar was so treated, there is little to wonder at when the bells were used for sport or other secular purposes.

As I have already pointed out in these notes, it is instructive to compare the inscriptions on the bells cast in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries with those cast before the Reformation and at the present day. The ringers themselves were ordinary men with ordinary faults and failings. One of the most notable of the vices of the eighteenth century was drunkenness. It pervaded all classes of society from Cabinet Ministers, judges and land-owners downward. It was common in the Universities. The amount of wine that some of the most eminent men of the time drank is staggering. Nobody considered it as anything particularly wrong. So long as a man could 'carry his liquor' and not make himself a nuisance to others he could get drunk as much as he pleased. And no doubt ringers, being sociable and gregarious folk, were particularly liable to this failing. Ringers, too, are conservative people, and hang on to old customs, and it is likely enough that they did continue their convivial habits after greater sobriety became common among the better educated classes.

The religious revival begun by John Wesley and his supporters did not touch the Church of England directly, and did not influence ringing at all. The Evangelical movement of the last years of the eighteenth and early years of the nineteenth centuries was within the Church, but its influence was not for the good of ringing. Those

MR. LINDOFF'S 278,828 PEALS OF LONDON SURPRISE.

Next week we hope to publish a special article upon Mr. Gabriel Lindoff's production of 278,828 peals of London Surprise Major.

excellent and pious men, its leaders, were very little concerned with the ritual of public services or with reverence for church buildings. They sought rather the conversion of individuals, and any ringer who came under their influence was much more likely to give up ringing altogether as a worldly thing than to consider himself a church worker.

Thus the whole tendency of religious opinion in the Church of England during the seventeenth, eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries was to make change ringing a purely secular pastime, and, of course, that idea largely survives to-day. But now it is being increasingly realised that bell ringing, while it is a secular pastime, is also something more, a part of the ritual of the Church; and that bell ringers have a very real status as church workers. To the realisation of this we owe a great many advantages. Our bells are better cared for; our belfries are clean and well furnished; and we ourselves are held in higher esteem. And this is entirely due in the first place to the Catholic movement which began in the middle of the nineteenth century, and has continued to this day. As I have already said, the vast amount of what that movement stands for is entirely outside our present subject. All that concerns us here is the greater reverence and care for the church buildings. It began with the east end, but its influence has spread to the tower. The early ritualists personally did nothing for bells, they had other and more immediate things to think of. It was the widening of the influence among all parties of the Church that has brought in reform.

But, while the old order was passing, and before the new had come, ringing and ringers had to pass through a time of reproach. They had inherited the traditions of more than two centuries. Naturally, they lagged behind the reforms which were taking place in the east end of the Church. This, I think, is the chief reason why ringers and ringing were held in so low esteem during the forty years or so which preceded the nineties of the last century.

LONG PEAL ATTEMPTS*EFFORTS TO MAKE NEW SURPRISE RECORDS.

On Saturday, October 30th, under the auspices of the Sussex County Association, an attempt will be made to ring 14,144 London Surprise Major at Warnham, Sussex; starting time 10.30 a.m.

On the same day, as already announced, an attempt will be made at Bolton Parish Church by members of the Lancashire Association, to ring a record length of 11,232 Superlative Surprise Major, starting at 1 p.m.

Both the above, if successful, will create new record lengths in the respective methods.

BEGINNERS' TOUCHES.

On Sunday evening, October 17th, for divine service, at the Church of St. Alkmund, Derby, a quarter-peal of Boh Minor (1,344 changes) was rung in 52 mins.: E. Clarke 1, C. Draper 2, H. Waterfield 3, G. Freebrey (conductor) 4, P. H. Tate 5, W. Slater 6, H. Carigan 7, J. L. Foster 8. This was the first quarter-peal in the method by the ringers of the treble, 3rd, 6th, 7th and tenor, and first in the method by an entirely local band since the bells were rebung.

At St. Giles-in-the-Fields Church, London, on Monday, October 11th, in 43 mins., 1,260 Grand sire Doubles: H. Francis (first quarter-peal) 1, H. Hawkiss (first quarter-peal) 2, R. E. Geare (first inside) 3, W. H. Howe 4, A. W. Coles (conductor) 5, J. Clifford 6.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.*A SAD MEETING AT CONISBOROUGH.

What promised to be an enjoyable meeting on Saturday, at Conisborough was marred by the news, which the ringers received on reaching the tower, of the death of the Vicar (the Rev. A. W. Strawberry). The reverend gentleman had taken the usual service at 10.30, and immediately after had a stroke, from the effects of which he passed away at 12.30 p.m. He will be very much missed by visitors to Conisborough tower, for it was his custom to ascend to the ringing chamber and give a few words of welcome, and to take the chair at the meetings.

As there were several little matters to bring forward, it was decided to hold the usual business meeting, and this was held in the schoolroom, the vice-president, Mr. F. Willey, presiding. Before proceeding to the agenda, a vote of condolence and sympathy with the widow and family of the deceased Vicar was carried by all present standing in silence for a few moments.

Some discussion took place as to the price of 'The Ringing World,' but it was realised that the only solution was to increase the number of readers, and a special appeal was made to all present to purchase a copy each week.

The next meeting was due to be held a week before Christmas, but in view of its close proximity to that date and the restricted earnings of many members, it was decided to try and arrange to amalgamate with the Sheffield and District Society at Rawmarsh on December 4th, if this be possible.

Votes of thanks to the local band and the ladies for their kindness in providing tea were heartily carried.

Visitors were present from Doncaster, Tickhill, Thorne, Hatfield, Arksey, Sprotborough, Sheffield All Saints', Ecclesfield, Dore, Bolsterstone, and Barnsley, and a few touches were rung on handbells.

SURREY ASSOCIATION.*PROPOSED AUGMENTATION AT WEST CLANDON.

A meeting of the Western District was held at West Clandon on Saturday, October 9th. Ringing commenced soon after three o'clock, and the bells were kept going until 4.30 p.m., when service was held and an address given by the Rector (Sir John Herschel), who was formerly hon. secretary of the Winchester Diocesan Guild. Twenty-two members and friends sat down to an excellent tea, which was followed by the business meeting, at which the Rector presided. Hersham was chosen for the next meeting. A collection was made and handed over to the local secretary in aid of the bell fund which is being raised to add two more bells to make the present ring of six into eight.

Votes of thanks were passed to Sir John Herschel for the use of the bells and for his excellent sermon, to Lady Herschel for presiding at the organ, to the ladies who so kindly arranged the tea, and to all who helped to make the meeting a success.

The business meeting over, further ringing took place. Touches ranging from Stedman Doubles to Cambridge and London Surprise Minor were rung. The towers represented were: Leatherhead, Guildford, Thames Ditton, Ockham, Worplesdon, Swindon, Waiton, a large number of the local company, and Mr. J. P. Fidler, of Loughborough, was also present.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.*EXTENSIVE IMPROVEMENTS IN SPALDING TOWER.

A meeting of the Elloe Deaneries branch was held at Spalding on Saturday, October 9th. The bells were set going at 2.30, and the methods rung during the afternoon and evening included Grand sire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major, Kent Treble Bob, Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise. Tea was provided at Barker's Restaurant, to which 40 ringers and friends sat down.

The business meeting was held afterwards, the president (the Rev. G. H. Clark) being in the chair. There were also present the Rev. B. G. Nicholas (Vicar of Spalding), Revs. H. Law James and E. C. Gee. The ringers present included C.S.M. J. Bennett and Flight-Serge. F. A. Holden.

It was decided to hold five meetings a year, with the annual meeting at Spalding.

The bells, a nice peal of eight, have all been recast and hung in a new iron frame with ball bearings, and have been placed about 20ft. lower in the tower. The work has been done by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough. The tone and go of the bells leave nothing to be desired from a ringer's point of view.

The tower has also been restored and a new clock added by Messrs. J. Smith and Co., of Derby, the total cost of the restoration and improvements being £2,220 18s. 4d., all of which has been raised by voluntary subscriptions within twelve months.

ASSOCIATION REPORTS.

One of the biggest tasks that falls to the lot of the association secretary is the preparation of the annual report. These publications involve a large amount of labour, often unrealised by the ordinary members. Some reports are more elaborate than others, and are not only interesting but useful productions, giving a great deal of information, and making a permanent and compact record of the society's doings during the year. Even the less pretentious of the reports seem to be looked upon by the members as of indispensable importance, and for this reason the associations go to considerable expense to produce them. But with all the care expended upon these reports, errors constantly occur, and there is nothing which gives the secretary so much trouble, if he does his work conscientiously, as the revision of names and addresses.

At the last annual meeting of the Winchester Guild the question of dealing with the resident members was discussed, for district secretaries had found the dilatoriness of local bands, in supplying information, a considerable handicap in compiling the reports. How much more difficult is it, therefore, for those responsible to revise the list of non-resident members, of which every association has a growing list. Many reports include the names and addresses of these ringers, and it is almost impossible to keep them up to date unless the members themselves keep the secretaries advised. Even then cases of death go unnoted, and names that ought to be deleted remain, sometimes for years, on the 'live' list.

In another column we publish a useful suggestion by the secretary of the Lancashire Association, which might be developed with advantage to all our ringing associations. He suggests a kind of 'clearing house' for the revision of the information, and it is probable that something of this kind might be established. In the meantime, one way of effectively revising the lists could be found in an arrangement whereby each association secretary should send copies of his last report to all the other secretaries so that the latter could give any information at their disposal. It sounds, perhaps, a little formidable, to ask secretaries to do this, but the amount of work in which each would be involved would actually be small, as he would only be responsible for the corrections in which the names of his own territorial members were concerned, and as the action would be reciprocal, whatever extra labour was involved would be repaid. The whole value of these reports lies in their accuracy, and any scheme which will make for this should be welcomed, not only by members, but even by those hard worked secretaries whose desire is to discharge their task efficiently.

STAUNTON HAROLD CHURCH, LEICESTERSHIRE.*AN AMBITION ATTAINED.

'Nothing so difficult but diligence will overcome.' So runs the superscription to a peal board in the belfry of the beautiful church at Staunton Harold, Leicestershire. With this spirit, Mr. Ernest Morris, of Leicester (whose ambition is to ring peals at as many towers as possible in his native shire, and, incidentally, revise North's book, 'The Church Bells of Leicestershire'), set about getting a peal on the bells at the private church of the Right Hon. Earl Ferrers, D.L., J.P. A band visited here on August 26th, but owing to a serious accident which involved the Countess Ferrers, her son and his wife (Lord and Lady Tamworth) the previous evening, the peal could not be attempted. Earl Ferrers, however, graciously showed the visitors over this historic church, which was built by his ancestors, and is beautifully situated in front of the hall, amid the trees by the water-side. It is said to be the only Anglican church erected during the Commonwealth, and over the entrance is the following epitaph to the founder:

'In the years 1653,
when all things sacred were throughout the nation
either demolisht or profaned,
Sir Robert Shirley Baronet,
founded this church,
whose singular praise it is,
to have done the best of things in the worst of times,
and hoped them in the most calamitous.
The Righteous shall be had in everlasting remembrance.'

His Lordship ascended the tower and copied off the bell inscriptions, as dictated by Mr. Ernest Morris, and later listened to tunes and change-ringing on the handbells. A further visit was arranged when the distinguished invalids were better, and last Saturday the band (with slight variation) again met, full of zeal and ambition, in spite of those critics who declared an ambulance would be required to carry off those who collapsed, and a load of stimulants to revive the remainder.

The two senior 'Ernestes' attended to the bearings, one with a bottle of castor oil and the other with a pound of lard and after solving the mysteries of the clock (to take off the striker) descended to the belfry where Alfred (the Great) had trimmed his lamp, and set the candles alight in the quaint, ancient, wooden candelabrum.

A start was made, and all went well for over two hours, when one of the candles spluttered and eventually snuffed out. Then one after another they all disappeared, until eventually a solitary one was left. This lasted till about five minutes from the end, when it, too, collapsed, leaving only the faithful lamp to cast a feeble glow in the Stygian darkness, and the ringers appeared like so many ghosts moving their arms up and down. All stuck to their work and finished a very good peal in just over the three hours, thus accomplishing an ambition so diligently sought.

Then arose the question, Is it to be tea and miss the bus to Ashley, meaning a four-mile walk, or no tea and catch the bus? Needless to say, the tea won, and the band are very grateful to Earl Ferrers for his kindness in granting permission for the peal, and his generosity in providing tea afterwards in the hall. It is worthy of note that the tenor man in the present peal is the son of the tenor man for the last peal over 37 years ago. It is also the 82nd Leicestershire tower the conductor has rung a peal at.

A description of this church and bells was published in these columns on December 24th, 1915.

BELLS OF S. NICOLAS, GUILDFORD.*FORTHCOMING DEDICATION.

There is every reason to hope that Messrs. Taylor and Co. will complete the work on the peal of ten bells at S. Nicolas' Church, Guildford, so that the dedication can be held on the Eve of S. Nicolas' Day (Sunday, December 5th). The office of dedication will form part of the usual Eucharist service, which is sung at 11 a.m. The bells will be rung at the moment of dedication for a few minutes, also at the conclusion of the service.

It is, of course, realised that 11 a.m. is not a convenient hour for many ringers to assemble, but it is hoped that some will find themselves able to attend. Ample arrangements for ringing during the day will be announced later.

The tenor and four trebles have been recast, the remaining five retuned, the ringing circle is to be improved, and the excessive false striking corrected. The ringers and authorities hope that this programme of work will convert an excessively miserable peal of bells into one of at least passable beauty.

LEONARD H. WHITEHEAD'S HALF CENTURY

With a peal of Stedman Caters at Loughborough Bell Foundry Campanile, L. H. Whitehead, brother of W. P. Whitehead and E. R. Whitehead, of Leicester, reached his half-century.

Doubles in three methods (on handbells) 1, Treble Bob Minor in two methods 1, Bob Minor 3, Bob Major 12, Grandsire Triples 9, Stedman Doubles (on handbells) 1, Stedman Triples 18, Stedman Caters 1, Kent Treble Bob Major 1, Cambridge Surprise Major 3; total 50.

This ring at the famous foundry is the lightest peal of ten in the world, the tenor being only 6½ cwt.

A YORKSHIRE RESTORATION.*GRINTON BELLS REHUNG.

The dedication and re-opening of Grinton Church bells took place on Saturday, October 23rd. The service was taken by the Rev. N. Eyerton Leigh, Rector of Richmond, assisted by the Rev. J. S. Harrison, Vicar of Grinton.

The bells, a peal of six, tenor 10 cwt. 7 lb., have been overhauled and rehung in an H frame made for eight, mounted on subsidiary girders, thus anchoring the four walls together. The second bell has been recast, and the others returned.

A party from Richmond attended the opening, and a few rounds were rung during the service. Afterwards various touches of Kent Minor and Grandsire Doubles were rung, some of the local ringers taking part.

When the bells were taken down for restoration, an old oak beam was found bearing the following inscription: 'James S. Harrison, bell-hanger, Barrow-in-Lincolnshire, 1751,' and it is rather strange that this should be the name of the present Vicar.

The work was carried out by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon, whose representative, Mr. S. R. Roper, took part in the ringing. Others taking part were: G. Holmes, J. Kinchin, T. Walton, R. Todd, W. Downall, S. Thorpe, and T. Lunn.

Tea was provided by the Vicar, and a vote of thanks was passed to him, also to Mr. A. Morton, for taking the party from Richmond.

The 'go' of the bells was excellent, and great credit is due to the firm for the way they have carried out the work.

WARWICKSHIRE GUILD.

The 54th quarterly meeting of the Warwickshire Guild was held at Nuneaton on Saturday, October 16th. The bells were raised at 3 p.m., and a touch of Oxford Treble Bob was brought round. Various other methods were rung before the service, which was taken by the president of the Guild, the Ven. J. L. White, assisted by his curate, the Rev. M. Sharpe. The organist and choir also assisted. In his address, the Vicar welcomed the Guild to Nuneaton, and pointed out that although he did not often thank the ringers for their services, they really did do a lot of good.

Tea was partaken of in the Church Room, kindly provided by the Vicar, and admirably served by the Ladies.

The general meeting was held afterwards, the president being in the chair. Stoke-in-Coventry was selected for the January meeting. Mr. H. Argyle proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar, and also to Mr. Sharpe and the organist and choir.

A touch of Stedman Caters was rung on handbells, and then the members adjourned to the belfry, where the four Surprise methods, Stedman and Grandsire Triples, Plain Bob, Single and Double Norwich, and Duffield's Major, were brought round. The 'fall' at 8 p.m. brought a pleasant meeting to a close.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.*NORTHERN DISTRICT ELECT'S NEW OFFICERS.

A special meeting of the Northern District of the London County Association was held on Saturday, October 16th, at St. John-at-Jerusalem, South Hackney. The bells were raised at three o'clock, and some good touches were rung in most of the standard methods. The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. — McLean). Tea was served in St. Andrew's Hall, about 35 members and friends participating.

At the business meeting which followed, the members were called upon to elect a district secretary and Master, owing to the resignations of Mr. Bottrill and Mr. Alleyway. The choice of those present unanimously fell upon Mr. L. Gray and Mr. J. A. Hales, as Master and general secretary respectively.

Four new members were elected, viz.: Messrs. Ventris, Ward, Dyment, and Jeffries, all of St. Paul's, Glyn Road.

The meeting closed with a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the Hall and the bells, to the organist, to the ladies who waited at table, and, last but not least, Mr. Riley, whose assistance was much appreciated.

The members then adjourned to the tower, where the bells were kept going until nine o'clock. Some excellent touches of Grandsire, Stedman, Treble Bob, and two courses of Cambridge Major were rung.

The next meeting is to be held at West Ham, notice of which will appear in 'The Ringing World' in due course.

MR. F. W. STOKES' 100 PEALS.

GOLDEN WEDDING AT WOODSTON. THREE GENERATIONS RING CELEBRATION TOUCHES.

Saturday, October 23rd, was the 50th anniversary of the wedding day of Mr. Henry Hoare and Mrs. Hoare. Their four sons being at Peterborough, it was arranged to ring on the bells of St. Augustine's, Woodston, two short touches, so that father, four sons and two grandsons, making three generations, might take part. The method was Plain Bob, rung as follows: Henry Hoare (father) 1, J. T. Hoare (Cambridge) 2, S. Hoare (Watford) 3, E. K. Hoare (grandson) 4, C. H. Hoare 5, Herbert Hoare (conductor) 6. In the second touch, H. Long, jun., took the place of J. T. Hoare.

Mr. Henry Hoare has been parish clerk at Woodston for 52 years, commencing these duties at the age of 18. He always chimed the three bells that were at that time in the tower, and were unfit to ring. In 1914, it was decided to have a peal of six. The three old bells were taken out and recast and three new ones added, the work being carried out by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston. Mr. J. J. Jutson kindly undertook to teach six men to ring, Mr. Henry Hoare being one of these. Since the six bells have been in the tower, he has taken a very active part in ringing them for Sunday services, very seldom being absent. He has not been a keen peal ringer, having only rung one peal on the treble.

To mark the occasion of their golden wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Hoare were presented by the Rector and churchwardens with the sum of five guineas, a wallet and a picture with a copy of the marriage lines attached, the money having been collected from the parishioners. In the evening, a peal was rung, as recorded elsewhere.

BELL LECTURE TO ROTARIANS.

Mr. J. R. Mackman gave a lecture to Twickenham Rotarians on October 18th on 'Bells and Belling.' Great interest was taken and, after the lecture, many leading questions were asked, which, from a ringer's point of view, was a very encouraging feature. Messrs. Mears and Stainbank kindly loaned a model, which proved of great assistance.

A DATE TOUCH.

At Holy Trinity Church, Burnley, on Tuesday, October 12th, in 1 hr. 13 mins., a date touch of 1,926 changes of Kent Treble Bob Major: W. Stephenson 1, W. McCleave 2, W. Robinson 3, F. Bentley (longest length and first attempt) 4, H. Wormwell 5, W. Hunter 6, R. Hartley 7, H. Entwistle (conductor) 8. Rung as a twenty-first birthday compliment to W. Robinson, also for the birthday of wife of the conductor. Longest length by ringer of 4th and first attempt.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT TO MR. E. A. PITSTOW.

His many ringing friends will be sorry to hear that Mr. Ernest A. Pitstow, of Saffron Walden, met with a serious accident on Thursday of last week. The ladder on which he was working moved, causing him to fall heavily, with the result that his left ankle was smashed. He is suffering from severe shock, and lies in Saffron Walden Genery Hospital. The latest report of him is that he is fairly comfortable, and progressing as well as can be expected.

MUFFLED BELLS

On Sunday, September 26th, at All Saints' Church, Maidstone, for evening service, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes) in 50 mins., with the bells muffled in memory of the Rev. R. Heyward, late curate of this church, who was interred at Maidstone cemetery the previous day. The ringers were members of the local band: A. E. Gasson 1, L. Head 2, F. Leeson 3, H. Coast 4, E. Spiller 5, J. Amos 6, L. Mannering (conductor) 7, C. Dunn 8.

On Friday, September 17th, at Appleton, Berks, in 48 mins., a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters (1,259 changes): H. Bennett 1, H. C. White 2, G. Hollifield, sen., 3, C. G. White 4, F. Messenger 5, A. H. White 6, F. S. White 7, G. Hollifield, jun. (conductor) 8, R. White 9, F. White 10. Rung with the bells half-muffled as a last token of respect to the late Mr. G. H. Phillott, of Cheltenham.—On Sunday September 19th, 1,036 Grandsire Triples for evening service, with the bells also muffled. Mr. Phillott had attended the anniversary of the opening of Appleton bells (March 4th) for upwards of 50 years.

At St. Peter's Church, Chatteris, Cambs, on Monday evening, September 6th, after a memorial service, 720 Bob Minor in 30 mins.: K. Mattock 1, A. Barker (conductor) 2, T. Rowlinson 3, A. Matteck 4, W. Seekings 5, A. Abrams 6. Rung with the bells half-muffled as a token of deepest respect for the late Mr. W. C. Clarke, organist of the above church, who died suddenly whilst on a holiday in Jersey.

LAVENHAM.—On Thursday, September 16th, at SS. Peter and Paul's Church, a quarter-peal of Superlative Surprise Major (1,284 changes): A. Symonds 1, S. H. Symonds 2, F. L. Leeks 3, M. T. Symonds 4, F. A. Poulson 5, F. F. Mortlock 6, F. A. Turner 7, W. R. J. Poulson (conductor) 8. Rung as a birthday compliment to W. R. J. Poulson, and his longest length of Superlative as conductor.

LEYLAND, LANCs.—At St. James' Church, for harvest festival, on Thursday, September 16th, for evening service, 720 York Surprise.—On Sunday, September 19th, for morning service, 720 London Surprise; for afternoon service, 720 Cambridge Surprise; for evening service, 720 York Surprise: W. Holmes (conductor) 1, J. Miller 2, H. France 3, W. Nelson 4, J. T. Miller 5, J. Ryding 6.

The first handbell peal, Oxford Treble Bob Major, was rung at Sheffield on October 30th, 1811.

On October 31st, 1791, a peal of 7002 'Grandsire Quaters' was rung on the bells at St. Mary the Great, Cambridge.

St. Paul's Cathedral bells were opened on All Saints' Day, November 1st, 1878.

The first recorded 'name' peal was scored at St. Martin-in-the-Field on November 3rd, 1796, when eleven Williams, conducted by William Shipway, rang a peal of Grandsire Caters, there being two men on the tenor.

The bells of St. Paul's Church, Shipley, Yorks, were opened exactly one hundred years ago next Monday. The church was built and the peal of six installed by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank in 1826. A treble and tenor were added in 1867.

A great many ringers, as well as hundreds of thousands of the general public, listened-in to the Double Norwich Major on the back eight bells of Bow, Cheapside, on Sunday evening by members of the Middlesex Association. It was a pity the tenor was caught in a bad frame of mind, and almost superhuman effort was required to ring the bell.

A peal of unique interest in our columns this week is that rung on handbells at Bicester, Oxon, in which Mr. Edward Hims rang four bells. Mr. Hims is one of the few men who can also ring two church bells at once.

A peal at St. Mary Abbots, Kensington, was the 50th peal by Mr. R. J. Wilkins, of Bristol.

TO-MORROW'S LONG PEAL ATTEMPTS.

It is a rare occurrence in ringing annals that two separate record attempts are made on the same day, but to-morrow, as already announced, an effort is to be made at Warnham, Sussex, for 14,144 London Surprise Major, and at Bolton, Lancs, for 11,232 Superlative Surprise Major.

The present London Surprise record is 14,112, rung at King's Norton, Worcestershire, on May 11th, 1903. In the Superlative method the Midland Counties Association hold the record of 10,400, rung at Loughborough Bell Foundry on May 6th, 1922.

The attempt at Warnham, under the Sussex County Association, will start at 10.30 a.m., and the band will be: J. H. B. Hesse, J. Cole, D. Sippetts, W. Robinson, G. Steere, J. T. Dyke, C. Dobbie and A. H. Pulling (conductor). W. Beeson, of Walton, was originally in the band, but owing to the industrial trouble—he is a member of the police force—he is unable to stand in, and W. Robinson is taking his place.

At Bolton Parish Church, the company will be made up of: E. Jenkins (conductor), H. Chapman, Gabriel Lindoff, Peter Ladin, J. E. Bibby, T. Barlow, E. Cutsforth, and T. B. Worsley, the last-named being the composer of the peal. The start at Bolton is at 1 p.m.

MANCHESTER TOWN HALL BELLS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Below are the weights of the peal of 10 bells at the Manchester Town Hall, the total weight amounting to 10 ton 8 cwt. 3 qr. 3 lb. They are, therefore, approximately, 17 cwt. heavier than Wells Cathedral bells, as shown by the weights given in your last issue.

THE CORRECTION OF ASSOCIATION REPORTS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—In getting the 'copy' ready for our new report, I find 204 non-resident ringers. To these we add this year 12, and death has removed four. I have been wondering if it would not be possible to form a kind of 'clearing house' to weed out those whom death has claimed, as there must be a lot in that list, and other secretaries must find the same trouble in keeping their reports up to date. If any secretary likes to send me his list of Lancashire members, I would be pleased to do my bit towards rectifying these errors.—Yours, etc.,

W. H. SHUKER.

MR. GABRIEL LINDOFF DESCRIBES HOW HE PRODUCED HIS WONDERFUL COLLECTION.

[In the following article Mr. Gabriel Lindoff explains how he has produced his collection of nearly three hundred thousand peals of London Surprise Major, with the 6th the extent home at course ends, and 2nd and 3rd never in 6th's. It is one of the marvels of constructive composition and worthy of being placed on record. For that reason we are glad to have overcome Mr. Lindoff's reluctance to talk about his own work.]

The Editor has asked me to write a few notes on my book, which contains 278,828 peals of London Surprise Major. This, to me, seems so much like blowing one's own trumpet that for a time I have been rather reluctant to undertake it. Still, an explanation of the methods employed in building up these compositions may be useful to those coming after, and may probably stimulate some to work on similar lines in other directions, and at length I am therefore complying with the request.

In the first place, I might explain that each peal contains the 6th extent in 6th's, the 2nd and 3rd never in 6th's, and no peal over 5,088 changes in length.

My first plan, which I afterwards scrapped, is not without interest. It consisted of writing out, on separate slips of still cartridge paper, the various ways of calling the 6th the extent, and in the order in which they would have to appear in the subsequent compositions.

Each set consists of two round blocks, the junctions being a bob M, when 2nd and 3rd are respectively 3rd's and 5th's place bells, the block which does not contain rounds being sandwiched between two portions of that block which does. The following is an example:—

On either side of the spaces Y and Z, where dotted lines are shown, incisions are made with a penknife so that strips of tracing cloth could be threaded through, to cover spaces Y and Z. Upon these strips are written the filling-in courses, and, as they are pulled through, peals appear. These are moved on and make room for others as you pass the strips along, the only care required being that the numbers passing Y and Z correspond. The following is an example of a pair of strips giving 5024's, '56's, and '88's. These strips are interchangeable, and so give two peals on each number with each extent:—

As this system left no permanent record, I gave it up for a more permanent one.

In doing so, I first worked out all the possible extents, and, secondly, all the possible touches for filling in Y and Z. The system I worked on to obtain these results was a multitude of slips of paper, kept together with elastic bands. As an example of working this system, let us suppose that there are merely three ways of calling a course. Our first round would be merely three one-course slips, our next nine two-course slips, the next twenty-seven three-course slips, and so on, taking care to transfer to the finished receptacle all those that produce a round block, and destroying those that are false.

The extents were then given a letter, the small touches numbered, and all entered in the front portion of the book. Here are some specimen extents: there are 22 in all:—

These touches are not necessarily round blocks, but run from point to point, a point being a Middle where 2nd and 3rd are not disturbed.

My next and last work was to marshal these touches so that they would fit into Y and Z, and also to note their combinations in the book.

The major portion of the book is composed of these combinations that go to make up the peals. They are given as the following specimens show. If these interested care to work these combinations into the various extents, they will find it simple but interesting.

I have not given the course-ends, but the transposition scale below will be of assistance.

ICKLETON CHURCH BELLS.

COMPLETE RESTORATION DECIDED UPON.

It has been decided to make a thorough overhaul of the bells at Ickleton Parish Church, Cambridgeshire, now that the replacing of the tenor has been forced upon them by the accident which has recently occurred. The bell-frame has been pronounced very unsatisfactory, and, even if patched up, it would not enable a good job to be made of the restoration. The Church Council, therefore, very wisely decided, at their meeting last Friday, to have no patch-work done, but to have a new iron frame, the tenor recast, and all the other bells tuned and rehung with all new fittings. The total cost of the scheme will be about £400, and it was decided to start an appeal for funds at once.

So keen are the Council on getting the bells put in order that nearly half the amount was promised at the meeting. The local ringers, who are all working men, have promised £5 as a first instalment. Any donations, however small, will be gratefully received and acknowledged by Mr. P. Webb, Ickleton, Cambs.

The old frame is in such a bad state that it has been decided to stop ringing the other bells.

Ickleton is a village situated eleven miles south of Cambridge, and five miles north of Saffron Walden. The church, which is dedicated to St. Mary Magdalene, is a very fine and spacious building in the early Norman style. It consists of a chancel, nave and south aisle, south porch, and a centre tower, surmounted by a fine leaden spire. An interesting feature is the stone columns of the nave, which are said to have been brought from the neighbouring Roman station at Chesterford.

The church was restored about nineteen years ago at a cost of some £600. There are stained glass windows to the memory of the Hon. Algernon Herbert who died June 11th, 1855, and to Mary Elizabeth Johnson, daughter of John Hanchett, who died June 2nd, 1905. There is also a memorial window to the memory of Sir Robert George Wyndham Herbert, G.C.B., D.C.L., L.L.D., who died May 6th, 1905. This window was erected by the inhabitants of Ickleton and other friends. The register dates from the year 1558.

The tower contains a peal of six bells and a clock. The sacring bell, the sound of which in old times gave notice of the celebration of High Mass, hangs outside the steeple, and is now used as an hour bell for the clock.

The bells are inscribed:

Treble.—'Lester and Pack, of London, fecit James Heath and Henry Hanchett, churchwardens, 1761.'

2nd.—'Thomas Newman, of Norwich, made me, 1719.'

3rd.—'Chapman, of London, fecit, 1781.'

4th.—'Lester and Pack, fecit, John Haley and Matthias Ripsher, churchwardens, 1755.'

5th.—'I tell all that doth me see, That Newman, of Norwich, did cast me, 1755.'

Tenor.—'Thomas Lester, of London, fecit, Charles Sheppard and Robert Miller, churchwardens, 1751.'

It is interesting to add that six of the ringers are also members of the choir, and one is a sidesman.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

THE MODERN DEVELOPMENT OF CHANGE RINGING.

BY J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

The remarkable development of the art and science of change ringing during the last forty years is due, in the first instance, to the general quickening of Church life that began in the middle years of the nineteenth century, but the immediate causes came from within the Exercise and not from without. As a result, the continuity of the traditions of ringers and ringing was perfectly preserved. We to-day are, as ringers, what we are, and think and do what we do, because of those who went before us.

Things might just possibly have been otherwise. As a contrast we may take the old village church orchestras of a hundred years ago. What they were like you may read in Thomas Hardy's 'Under the Greenwood Tree,' and doubtless the contemporary ringers were very much the same; in fact, were composed of pretty much the same men. In course of time they were considered unsuitable for the services of the Church, and the hand of the reformer swept them away entirely, not without great loss both to village life and the Church itself. And no doubt a similar fate might have befallen the village band of ringers, only the belfry is a rather inaccessible place, and a substitute for the ringers was not easily to be found.

In many cases reforming parsons did quarrel with their ringers and dismiss them. In many more general neglect of bells and ringers had a slower but more certain result, and in country districts reform of church services was at first accompanied by a marked decline in bell ringing. In the big towns the ringers were, for the most part, too firmly entrenched in their old ways, and the clergy had too much to do elsewhere for any ideas of reform to be thought of. The church authorities simply ignored them, and left them alone, neither helping nor hindering.

It says much for the vitality of the Exercise that it was able to survive this period of neglect, and, while in no way breaking with the past, gradually to adapt itself to changed conditions. No one can say that even now things are always and everywhere what they should be, but, generally speaking, the 'belfry reform' that leading men among ringers were working for forty years ago has been attained.

Among the many causes within the Exercise which have led to this improvement, the most important are:

(1) The establishment of the territorial associations, diocesan and county; (2) the writings of Jasper Whitfield Snowdon; (3) the General Council; and (4) 'The Bell News.' These all acted and interacted one with another, and it is impossible to say which has been the most potent, but certainly not the least of them was 'The Bell News.' Perhaps I should have written 'the ringing press,' and so have included 'Church Bells,' 'Campanology,' 'The Bellringer' and 'The Ringing World.' But 'The Ringing World' was not founded until some years after the time I am writing about, and the influence of the others compared with 'The Bell News' was negligible.

In early days, when ringers wanted to record their peals and other doings, they had to depend on local papers or sporting periodicals, such as 'Bell's Life.' The first paper that regularly devoted a part of its columns to ringing was 'Church Bells.' This was founded by Canon Erskine Clarke, and was primarily a church paper, written for and read by others than ringers. The references to ringing were necessarily brief, and the records of peals very incomplete. But it did a good work for the Exercise. Space was found for many articles on the archaeology of bells, matters relating to composition, and to the history of ringing; and by its means a good many church people first learned that ringing was something different from hard pulling of ropes by old men fortified by big mugs of beer.

In the seventies Jasper Snowden began to write on change ringing, and many of his articles were printed by 'Church Bells.' Naturally a man whose main work was done by his pen was acutely conscious of the need of a paper which should be written by ringers for ringers, and entirely devoted to matters connected with ringing. It was largely due to his influence that 'The Bell News' was started. The man who actually founded the paper was Harvey Reeves, who owned, edited and printed it from 1881 until his death.

Harvey Reeves was at one time employed by the great publishing house of Cassell as a 'reader,' and afterwards owned a printing business at Walthamstow. He was thus no amateur when he undertook to bring out a ringing paper, it is quite certain that he knew his business thoroughly. In his early days he was, according to the standards of the time, a skilled ringer, and had rung and conducted peals of Grandsire and Stedman Triples. He also had ambitions as a composer, and knew a good deal for those days of the composition of peals of Grandsire Triples. One of his compositions has passed into the regular repertoire of Grandsire conductors. This is his quarter peal, undoubtedly the most popular and the best quarter that can be had in the method.

His connection with practical ringing was soon dropped, and it is remarkable how very little he was known among ringers. Even among his contemporaries the number who had seen and spoken to him personally was very small. He never went to meetings; he never appeared in any bellry. He carried out the tradition that the editor of a newspaper must be anonymous to an almost excessive degree.

The early numbers of 'The Bell News' contain leading articles which were very well written. As time went on these became more and more sketchy, and practically disappeared, and either through policy or indolence, the editor made no attempt to influence the opinions of the Exercise. The value of the paper consisted in the fact that it gave ringers the chance of knowing something about each other, and so promoting that feeling of unity which is one of the best possessions of the Exercise. It fostered a spirit of rivalry between bands, and a healthy rivalry which need not degenerate into jealousy is one of the best incentives to progress. The homely and widespread liking of men for seeing their names in print has helped peal ringing in no small degree, and those men who were interested in the scientific side of ringing now found an opportunity of publishing their compositions or making their views known on many of the abstruse problems of theoretical ringing.

The Exercise has been fortunate in that it has had a long succession of able men who were able to contribute articles on different matters, and as we turn over the pages of "The Bell News" of thirty years ago there is very much beyond the mere record of the peals of the day to interest us. Many of those articles were far too learned for the average ringer, and the ordinary reader, no doubt, would have preferred a fuller and more prompt account of the touches he had rung and the meetings he had attended. But, of the value of these articles to the Exercise as a whole there cannot be any doubt. It is certain that when the interest of the best ringers in the higher problems of composition ceases ringing, as a whole, will decline.

In its last years "The Bell News" did not live up to its early standards. After Harvey Reeves' death the paper was carried on for a short time by his sons, and then passed into other hands. The war came, and, after struggling for twelve months, "The Bell News," like other publications, found the times too hard for it and expired. Fortunately, the Exercise has not been left without a weekly paper. That would have been a calamity.

FOR THE BEGINNERS.

CONDUCTING.—BY GEORGE WILLIAMS.

Coming to the calling of Triples, it is presumed that the young conductor would be practising and be conversant with the Grandsire method. I do not propose to deal with Bob Triples, as it is very little rung, although I am in favour of the Plain Bob method being practised through all its stages by a young band. But, in dealing with Triples, we will turn first to Grandsire.

The young conductor must make himself master of the names and positions of the calls. He must know not only where the positions are, but when the observation bell will come to them. Calls in Grandsire Triples are made 'Before,' 'In' and 'Out,' 'Middle,' 'Wrong' and 'Home.'

'Before' is when the treble turns the observation bell from lead, the effect of which, it will be remembered, causes that bell to make 3rd's place. This is the only place in Grandsire in which a bell is not affected in its position at a lead end, whether a bob is called or not.

'In' is called when passing the treble in 2-3 up, which causes the bell to make 3rd's and go into the hunt.

'Out' is called when striking in 5th's place coming down in the hunt behind the treble, which puts the bell in 4th's place at the lead end. The calling of the 'Out' is guided by the number of leads the observation bell is to be in the hunt in any particular composition.

'Middle' is called when passing treble in 3-4 up and the observation bell has to dodge with the bell out of the hunt, and it is in '5th's' place at the lead end.

'Wrong' is after passing treble in 5-6 up, and this is the lead following 3rd's place. Therefore, instead of going to 4-5 down, the bell stops to dodge in 6-7 down, and becomes the bell in '6th's' place at the lead end.

'Home' comes after passing treble in 4-5 up, and, instead of dodging 6-7 down, the bell dodges in 6-7 up, and becomes the 7th place bell at the lead end.

This was my first idea to master the very interesting art of conducting, but I hope to give a few other simpler hints in my next notes. It is, however, very difficult to get off the beaten track which has been followed by the authors of our ringing books.

At Christ Church, North Shields, on Sunday, October 24th, for evening service, 648 Stodman Caters: A. Tugwood 1, E. Hern (conductor) 2, J. Gray 3, A. Tully 4, J. Scott 5, C. Waugh 6, J. Robertson 7, J. George 8, E. Gosden 9, A. Skooch 10. First attempt for Caters by the ringer of treble. He only rang his first touch in any method three weeks ago.—Also course of Bob Royal with G. Dix 10. First course by ringers of 1, 5, 7, 8, and 9.

WEDDING BELLS.

A pretty wedding took place at Holy Trinity Church, Darlington, on Thursday, October 21st, when Mr. Gordon R. Smith was married to Miss Clarissa K. Porter, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Porter, of Darlington. Mr. Porter is a highly respected Darlington ringer and member of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association, and late of St. Peter's Belfry, Timbridge Wells.

The Rev. Canon W. F. Cosgrave, M.A., B.D., Vicar of the parish and Rural Dean of Darlington, performed the ceremony, and Mr. G. Holland Fox officiated at the organ.

Merry touches of Bob Minor and Kent Treble Bob Minor were rung on the bells as the happy couple left the church.

On Thursday, September 23rd, the wedding was solemnised at the Parish Church of Old Brampton, near Chesterfield, of Miss Daisy Middleton and Mr. Charles Norman Biggin, and after the ceremony the bells, a beautiful ring of six, which were augmented from five and relung in hall bearings by Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, about two years ago, were kept going all the afternoon by a party of ringers from Wash-on-Dearne, Yorks, who had arranged to attempt a peal of Minor. This, unfortunately, came to grief, and, as there was not time to start again, 720's or touches were rung in the following methods: Cambridge and Ringers' Surprise. Morning Exercise, College Exercise, Arnold's Victory, Duke of York, College Treble, etc., by J. Champion, H. Chamberlain, W. Allwood, A. Gill, R. J. Rickeltes, C. Walsh and A. Nash.

'COVERING' BELLS IN PEALS.

We print elsewhere an inquiry by a correspondent, who raises the question of the right of a ringer of the tenor, in a peal in which 6-8 covered seven 720's of Minor, to claim to have rung his first ' peal.' As matters stand we are of opinion that such a claim must be allowed, but the point is one which might well be dealt with by the Central Council. It is no rare occurrence for a peal of Doubles to be rung with three bells covering, and, by inference, there is no more argument to be advanced against the extreme case put by our correspondent of a five-thousand of singles rung on the front four bells of a ring of twelve with the other eight covering, than there is against this similar practice in Doubles and Minor.

The Council, years ago, recommended that peals on seven, nine and eleven bells should be rung with a covering bell, but their decisions contain no recommendations as to how peals in even-bell methods shall be rung, except to lay down that a peal of Minor should consist of at least seven true and complete 720's. As to whether there should be allowed any covering bell or bells when Minor, Major, or Royal is rung nothing has been said, for the reason, we imagine, that such thing was hardly imagined likely. Certainly it is as much to be discouraged as odd-bell methods without a bell behind.

When a hand rings a peal with two or more covers, it is doubtless done to give encouragement to non-change ringing members, and may, to some extent, be looked upon as a method of increasing their interest, in the hope that they will eventually become more efficient ringers. At the same time there ought to be some line drawn, as far as the Council's and the affiliated association's influence can be used, to prevent the number of covering bells being carried to excess. Has a man who rings, say, the sixth, when 4-6-8 cover a peal of Doubles, rung a peal in the strict sense of the term? If he likes to say he has done so and to put it in his peal book, no one shall say him ' nay,' but he has really taken no more actual part in a peal than if he had rung the bell to 5,040 rounds.

In these matters ringers will, of course, continue to please themselves, for there is no body that can enforce an embargo upon them; but much can be done by influence. The Council's discouragement has practically extinguished the ringing or completion of peals of Triples without a tenor, through meeting short, or, as has happened, the tenor rope breaking. In all such cases in these days there is no peal, whereas in the past there was, among some ringers, little hesitation to use seven bells only and claim a peal. We believe this has even gone to the extent of claiming a peal when, during the progress of the ringing, the seventh rope has broken and the ringer of that bell has snatched at the tenor rope and utilised that bell in place of the seventh. That kind of thing is now seriously discountenanced, and similar treatment would in time take effect on any tendency to use more than one covering bell in a peal.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

THE PRESSING NEED FOR YOUNG MEMBERS.

The Witney and Woodstock Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild held their annual meeting at Staudlake on Saturday, October 23rd. Thirty-two members were present, including the Master (Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn), the general secretary (Mr. R. T. Hibbert), and the treasurer (Mr. A. J. Wright). The following towers were represented: Staudlake (11), Witney (3), Stanton-Harcourt (1), Wootton (3), Hampton (1), Aston Bampton (1), Eynsham (1), Ducklington (1), Coombe (4), and Tackle (1). Miss Stella Davis, of Bucklebury, in the Newbury Branch, was also present.

A special service was held in the Parish Church, at which the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn officiated and gave an address, commenting on the necessity of younger men undertaking the duties of the older ones of 30 or 40 years' standing. He also impressed upon the members that as there were now so many other attractions for the young generation, those young lads now learning should do so with the firm intention of continuing their work with zeal, and to persevere in the art of ringing wholeheartedly.

Tea was served in the Village Hall, which was most comfortably warm, and was much appreciated by the ringers owing to the unusually cold weather.

The business meeting followed the tea, the Master taking the chair, in the absence of a chairman, due to the resignation of the Rev. A. C. R. Freeborn, late Rector of Kidlington.

Owing to the branch secretary (Mr. W. Everts, jun.) having been very busy during the summer and up to the date of the meeting, he was unable to submit a report.—The funds showed a good balance, but owing to a few subscriptions not having been received a balance-sheet could not be presented. The secretary said this would be sent to the general treasurer in the course of a few weeks.

It was pleasing to note several new towers and ringers joining, including Aston Bampton as from January, 1927.

Reference to the resignation of the late chairman was made by the Master, and a resolution of regret was passed unanimously. The secretary was requested to write expressing the sympathy of the branch in his retirement after having been chairman so many years, and wishing him several years of health and strength.—The Master said that the General Committee had elected Mr. Freeborn a vice-president of the Guild in recognition of his untiring energy on behalf of the branch.

The election of officers was the next item on the agenda, when the Rev. F. R. Marriott, of Wootton was proposed by the branch secretary, and seconded by Mr. John Monk, as chairman of the branch in succession to Mr. Freeborn.—The motion was carried amid applause. It was proposed, seconded and carried that Mr. W. Everts be re-elected as hon. secretary and treasurer for the coming year.

Messrs. T. W. Bond, N. Spindlow and W. Judge were re-elected as representatives of the branch on the General Committee.

Mr. T. Hoare, of Wootton, and Mr. Milton Mark Florey, of Staudlake, were elected members.

The general secretary (Mr. T. Hibbert) also spoke seriously of the manner in which young men were slipping away from the art, and impressed on the members that if this continued there would very soon be no one to carry on.

The branch secretary urged the members to have combined practices, and so visit other towers and make the acquaintance of brother ringers in their districts, and thus obtain further interest in ringing matters.

A hearty vote of thanks to the Rector of Staudlake, and to the members of the Mothers' Union, who provided a most excellent tea, was proposed by the new chairman and was suitably replied to by Mrs. Belcher.

Afterwards, the Master invited all young ringers to the tower for instruction, to which many responded.

RINGER'S WEDDING.

On the occasion of the marriage of Mr. R. Reece, one of the local band, to Miss H. Kerry, of Cresswell, at St. James' Church, Barborough, a wedding peal was rung of 720 Kent Treble Bob: L. Hibbard 1, H. Hibbard 2, P. Morris (conductor) 3, H. Kirk 4, W. Sturman 5, P. Hibbard 6. Afterwards the ringers attended the wedding reception, and gave handbell selections. The bridegroom was the recipient of a dinner service from the ringers.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.*THE HON. SECRETARY'S PROSPECTIVE RETIREMENT.

The annual meeting of the Lewisham District was held at St. Mary's, Lewisham, on Saturday, October 23rd. The bells were raised at 3.30 p.m., and were made good use of during the afternoon and evening, touches being successfully brought round in the following methods: Grandire and Stedman Triples, Kent Treble Bob, Plain Bob, Double Norwich, Superlative, Cambridge, London and Bristol Surprise Major.

Service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. A. L. Preston), who delivered an interesting address.

A really splendid tea was partaken of in the Church Institute, some forty-five members sitting down. The tea was provided by the Vicar and served by several ladies of the congregation.

The business meeting followed, the Vicar presiding, and three new members were elected. Crayford was chosen as the place of the next meeting.

A report of the last year's work was read by the secretary. This was adopted after two amendments to the list of peal performances of the year.

Mr. A. G. Hill was re-elected to the district secretaryship, and Messrs. W. J. Jeffries and I. Emery were re-elected as district representatives on the Central Committee of the Association.

The meeting was then informed of the straitened circumstances of Mr. J. Law. The meeting resolved to support an application to the association Benevolent Fund on his behalf, and a collection among the members present realised £1 6s. 3d.

Mr. T. Groombridge, sen., informed the meeting that the general secretary of the association, the Rev. F. J. O. Helmore, had met with an accident, and reminded the members that the time was approaching when it was imperative that a successor to the post be found. Members, he said, must realise the Rev. F. J. O. Helmore's reluctant but real intention to retire after a long and honourable career as their secretary. Mr. Groombridge asked the members to endeavour to find a likable gentleman for the office, and stated that any suggestions would be welcomed.

Mr. W. J. Jeffries moved a hearty vote of thanks to the ladies who helped at tea, the organist, and especially the Vicar for the use of the bells, for conducting the service, and his address, his generous hospitality in providing a splendid tea, and for presiding at the business meeting.—This was carried with applause.

This concluded a successful meeting. The tower was re-visited for further ringing.

PHILADELPHIA'S ANCIENT 'LIBERTY' BELL.

Philadelphia's 'Liberty Bell,' which has been cracked for nearly a hundred years, has been the subject of discussion among foundrymen. According to the Boston 'Christian Science Monitor' they are considering asking permission to restore the old Liberty Bell to its original condition and enable the inspiring tones that have been silent for nearly 100 years to be sounded again. A suggestion to this effect was made by John Alexander in an address delivered at a meeting of the Foundrymen's Association. Mr. Alexander's remarks were to the effect that it was bordering upon wilful neglect to allow the old bell to remain in a damaged condition and useless for its original purpose when there was every indication that with the facilities provided by modern foundry science, the damage to the old bell could be repaired.

Many of the foundrymen expressed their opinion that if the bell were minutely examined by competent metallurgical experts, the cause for the disintegration of the relic could be determined and the correct modern method of repair pursued accordingly. Philadelphia foundrymen who have examined the surface of the bell declare that gas and sand holes are apparent, probably being due to faulty casting or inferior materials, and the question has been raised as to whether these defects will be responsible, in the passage of time, for the widening of the already prominent crack and further disintegration.

The bell was ordered to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary under the Charter of 1701. It was cast by Thomas Lester, of Whitechapel, London, and arrived in Philadelphia in August, 1752, aboard the clipper ship Matilda. While testing, it was cracked, and was recast by Pass and Snow, ingenious foundrymen of the city, a considerable amount of copper being added to remedy its brittleness.

In April, 1753, the bell was hung, but was found to have very inferior tonal qualities, due to the excessive amount of copper added. This resulted in a second recasting, and the bell was hung again in June of the same year. The original inscription from Leviticus xxv. 10: 'Proclaim liberty throughout all the land unto all the inhabitants thereof,' afterward to achieve so great significance, was retained throughout the various operations.

Experts believe that the cause of the opening of the great crack in the bell that occurred on July 8th, 1835, during the funeral procession of Chief Justice Marshall, is directly traceable to rough handling and unceremonious jolting sustained in 1777 when the retreating Continentals removed the bell from the State House Tower and freighted it to Allentown, lest it fall into the hands of the advancing British troops.

It has been suggested that electro or oxy-acetylene welding be employed in the repair process familiarly known as 'burning in.'

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Next Thursday the nation will again keep Armistice Day as a day of remembrance. As in the past, the bells in our church towers will play their part. Muffled, they will ring a requiem for the men who yielded their lives in the Great War; and, open, proclaim and help to keep alive the knowledge that in the long drawn-out struggle right and freedom ultimately triumphed. From the ringer's point of view, the day is one of the most important of the year, for then, more than on any other annual occasion, the bells can voice both aspects of the national feeling.

'Coming events cast their shadows before,' and those who have watched the progress of certain Ely Diocesan Guild ringers among the Surprise Minor methods will not be surprised to read this week that a peal of seven Surprise Minor methods has been rung. The performance at Stapleford is one of which the band can be proud.

On November 5th, 1787, a peal of 6,048 changes 'of that intricate method called Cambridge Surprise' was rung in 4 hours 18 minutes at St. Peter's, Sheffield, 'the first peal of this method ever rung in the country.'

There is, as far as we are aware, no record of the composer or the composition, so we do not know whether the peal was true or not. In any event, there had previously been a peal of 5,152 rung by the College Youths at St. Giles-in-the-Field. This was in the year 1785.

The first peal of Superlative Surprise Major was rung at St. Peter's, Huddersfield, on November 5th, 1821.

To the recent review in these columns of ancient prize-ringing contests can be added the following advertisement which appeared in the 'Stamford Mercury' of November 8th, 1799: 'On Monday, November 11th, 1799, will be opened at Gilton, near Peterborough, a peal of six new bells, the tenor, in the key of E, cast and hung by Thomas Osborn, of Downham, in Norfolk. Six hats will be given to the company who ring the best round peal for the space of 30 minutes.'

The first peal by the Yorkshire Association was rung on November 9th, 1875.

PEALS OF MINOR WITH COVERING BELLS.

A correspondent, referring to the peal at Lye, Worcestershire, published in our last issue, in which seven 120's of Minor were rung with 6-8 covering, asks how the tenor man can claim a first peal. What, he asks, is the difference in ringing the tenor thus and in rounds? Can ringers be expected to attain to those standards set us by those in authority if peals of this sort are allowed? If these germs of degeneration be allowed to grow, in a decade or so, no doubt, peals of singles with 56789det covering may be published.

[There is nothing in the Rules and Decisions of the Central Council governing this point, which apparently has not been discussed. The decisions emphasise the desirability of ringing odd-bell methods with a covering bell, but nothing is said as to even bell methods being rung with or without covering bells.—Ed. 'R.W.']

ASSOCIATION REPORTS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—The letter of the Lancashire Association hon. secretary and your leader of last week are very lucid, and it behoves all members of the various associations and Guilds to assist hon. secretaries by giving the details asked for. It is very disheartening, after the tremendous amount of time and trouble put in, to find such a mean response as is usual, when all it needs is just a card to bring one up to date. I myself advertised through these columns, asking life members of the M.C.A. to send their present addresses and number of peals to their credit. I was very much surprised at the few responses I got, and so the list must remain incomplete, simply through members' apathetic attitude.

May I be allowed to take this opportunity to impress on the active members of the M.C.A. who know of any errors in the last report, or who may have changed their addresses, to let me know at once, or acquaint their local hon. secretaries of such. Any details I can adjust I shall be happy so to do, to make the next report as nearly correct as possible; but it will be quite useless members afterwards grumbling at their local secretaries or complaining if errors crop up which could be avoided if they themselves would adjust NOW.—Yours etc.,

ERNEST MORRIS,

General Hon. Secretary M.C.A.

24, Coventry Street, Leicester.

FESTIVAL OF THE HARVEST OF THE SEA

Thanksgivings took place on Sunday at the Billingsgate (London fish market's) Parish Church of St. Dunstan-in-the-East, City, which was decorated with fishing nets and 39 different kinds of fish. There were also game, bread, etc.

A large number of ringers were present to ring before and after the morning service, which was attended by the sheriffs of the City of London. The ringing concluded for evening service with 1,280 London Surprise Major by: L. Gray 1, T. H. Taffender (conductor) 2, W. H. Theobald 3, W. Miller 4, J. Bennett 5, J. R. Gammon 6, G. A. Card 7, E. D. Smith 8.

THE LONG PEAL ATTEMPTS.

A 'GLORIOUS FAILURE' AT WARNHAM. BOLTON RINGING ENDS IN DARKNESS.

Neither of the two attempts made for Surprise records on Saturday were successful, although a long length was rung in each case.

The attempt at Warnham for the 14,134 London Surprise Major ended in what can only be described as a 'glorious failure.' There were seven hours of perfect London, and then—well, nobody knows exactly what happened! The bells had been going so well for so long that the trip caught the conductor and everybody else napping, and, as is the way with London in such circumstances, the end came suddenly.

The bells went off at 10.45 a.m., the band being as follows: J. H. B. Hesse 1, O. Sippets 2, J. Cole 3, W. Robinson 4, J. T. Dyke 5, G. Steere 6, C. Dobbie 7, A. H. Pulling (conductor) 8. The bells settled down to a steady pace until the tenors got together, and then, as one outside put it, they fairly rattled along. There were only two occasions when there was any sign of a break in the beat, and that was when a bell did not want to go back to lead after 4th's place, and so to the spot 12½ courses from home, when the very promising attempt came to an end. It was the first and only real trip, and, though the band were naturally disappointed after such a splendid effort, they fully enjoyed the seven hours spent in the belfry.

The company regretted the absence of Mr. W. Beeson, who would have been in the band but for the call of duty, but Mr. W. Robinson, who took his place, fully bore out the conductor's confidence in selecting him as a substitute.

At the conclusion of the ringing, the Vicar (the Rev. Fairbrother) kindly provided a meat tea for the band at the Sussex Oak, and, after such a prolonged fast, it is needless, perhaps, to say that full justice was done to the meal. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar for his kindness, and in his reply he said how interested all the villagers were in the attempt. He hoped the band would meet again on some future date and ring the peal.

It is probable that another attempt will be made at an early date.

A WARNHAM LISTENER DESCRIBES THE RINGING.

'Rough Luck' was the expression heard on all sides at Warnham from eager ringing listeners and expectant villagers who also were thoroughly interested, when silence after the clash proclaimed that the attempt for the London Surprise record had failed after seven hours' almost perfect ringing. 'So near and yet so far.' Success seemed a foregone conclusion, but all hopes were suddenly dashed, and the record at King's Norton still stands.

Punctual to time, 10.30, the band turned up at the pretty village church of St. Margaret, and at 10.45 the bells struck into changes and dropped into a nice rhythmic beat at the outset. Beautiful striking was maintained, and all went smoothly till at 2.10 a slight hitch in the 3-4 caused a momentary break in the clockwork regularity. Two or three blows and everything was running its smooth, even course till at 3.13 another slight disturbance, again in 3-4. This, like the previous one, was corrected at once, and the bells went on the even tenor of the method, the course-ends rolling up with clockwork regularity. Four o'clock came, five o'clock went, and still the same even beat; 5.45, 'they had done seven hours.' Suddenly a 'hang up,' this time in 5-6, a clash, and yet another, a bell on the lead, and none to pick up the next lead—collapse, ending a magnificent attempt on a most stupendous task. The band all finished fresh, and, though for the time defeated, not disgraced, for they had for seven hours given a superb exhibition of glorious ringing.

THE SUPERLATIVE RECORD.

At Bolton Parish Church, the attempt was made for 11,232 Superlative Surprise Major. Here, too, misfortune attended the effort, for, after the ringing had been in progress over five hours, the electric light failed and plunged the tower into total darkness. Everything was going well, and the failure from such a cause was most disappointing. It is hoped that it will be possible to make another attempt early in the new year.

In our paragraph last week we gave the Loughborough peal of 10,400, rung in 1922, as the existing Superlative record. The composition in this peal had bobs both in front and behind. The longest length that has been rung with bobs on the front only is the 9,728 which was scored at Clent, Worcestershire, on Boxing Day, 1910.

NINE PEALS IN NINE ATTEMPTS.

The keenness of youth has for some little time been noticeable about the peal-ringing of the Surrey Association, and the company of which Mr. Charles Kippin is the mainspring have just had a very successful 'tour,' consisting of 'a peal a day.' Ten attempts were arranged. There were no failures, but on one occasion (October 28th, at Bodington) the company met short when Superlative should have been attempted. The successes, recorded elsewhere, included four peals of Double Norwich Major, one of Stedman Triples, one of Kent Treble Bob, and three of Cambridge Surprise Major.

This kind of ringing expedition reminds one of the days, now thirty years ago, when the St. Peter's Society, Brighton, used to carry out a week's ringing in Sussex on similar lines, visiting one tower each evening.

PRIZE RINGING IN CORNWALL.

A SIXTEEN HOURS' CONTEST.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The following report of a ringing contest appeared in the 'Western Morning News' of October 18th, and will, no doubt, be of interest:

THE RINGERS.

EIGHTEEN VILLAGES COMPETE AT ST. MABYN.

Starting at nine o'clock on Saturday morning, the bells of St. Mabyn were rung continuously, except during a short service conducted by the Rector, for 16 hours.

The occasion was a tower bell contest in which 27 sets competed, the following parishes being represented by one or more sets: St. Tudy, Endellion, Egloskayle, St. Teath, St. Neot, St. Vean, Lostwithiel, St. Issey, St. Eval, Lanivet, St. Kew, Laureath, Withiel, Pelynt, Talland, Sallashi, St. Martins, and St. Minver.

At 1.30 a.m. on Sunday the umpires awarded the prizes, which were presented to the winners in the schoolroom by the Rector (Rev. A. H. Longmore), as follows:

1, Talland Brothers; 2, St. Teath; 3, Endellion; 4, Pelynt; 5, St. Kew; 6, St. Tudy; 7, St. Teath; 8, St. Neot; 9, Lanivet; 10, Laureath. During the contest refreshments were provided in the schoolroom, with the following ladies in charge: Mesdames Longmore, T. Thomas, S. Brown, C. Brown, W. Allen, H. Scott, L. Chapman, Johns, Bastard, and Glover.

Since seeing this report, I have made enquiries with regard to the prizes, and the Rector of St. Mabyn informs me that the total amount offered was £15. Six prizes were offered, but owing to the large number of entries they were increased to ten, and ranged from £3 to 10s. One-half of the prize money was raised by subscription (who subscribed I do not know), and the other half is entry money, six shillings per set being charged, each ringer paying one shilling.

It will be noticed that the first prize was won by the Talland Brothers. These six brothers, I have had explained to me, are the finest ringers in Cornwall, that is amongst the prize-ringers, and are considered unconquerable opponents to meet at a ringing match which consists of rising, rounds and falling.

These ringing contests are frequently held in Cornwall, the area most concerned being the eastern part of the county, excluding the extreme north, and it is impossible for the Diocesan Guild to penetrate into this district. The bands will have nothing to do with this organisation.

I have read with interest Mr. J. Armiger Trollope's notes on prize-ringing, and he has been quite rightly informed that this does still survive in parts of the country. In this neighbourhood the organising body is the 'Tamar Valley Ringing Guild,' and it is no doubt the only organisation in opposition to any diocesan guild or association.—Yours faithfully,

A. S. ROBERTS,

Hon. Secretary, Truro Cathedral Company.

A MEETING IN THE CITY.

A meeting of the North and East District of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild, held at All Hallows', Barking-by-the-Tower, on Saturday last, proved an attraction to some 36 members. The bells at that church were set going soon after the appointed time, several touches in various methods being rung, including Grand sire, Stedman, Plain Bob, Superlative and Cambridge. At the neighbouring Church of St. Olave's, Grand sire Doubles, Plain Bob, Kent and Oxford were rung.

Divine service was held in All Hallows' Church, when the sermon was preached by the Rev. M. Hope. Tea was afterwards served, and an excellent meal enjoyed.

At the business meeting, five new members were admitted, and the policemen congratulated on ringing a peal of Stedman Triples a fortnight previously. St. Mark's, Dalston, was chosen as the place of the next meeting in December.

Sympathetic reference to the death of Mr. Isaac G. Shade was made, and the action of the hon. secretary in sending a letter of condolence to Miss Shade was endorsed in the usual way.

Votes of thanks to the various clergy for the use of their bells, to the Rev. M. Hope for his address at the service, to Miss R. Elms and friends for arranging an excellent tea, and to Mr. H. T. Wilson for fixing up for ringing, etc., were unanimously passed, and the business meeting concluded.

A visit was afterwards paid to All Hallows', Lombard Street, where touches of Grand sire and Stedman Caters and Cambridge Royal were rung.

HOLT'S ORIGINAL REVISED.

Holt's Original was varied in a peal rung at West Malling, Kent, on Saturday, and finished with the plain course. To effect this, one of the 'Q sets' was plained. The calls were omitted as follows:

735624 (S. 324567), 637452, 436275, 532746.

The 'singled-in' B block was called thus:

1 B.	467253

FAMOUS NINETEENTH CENTURY COLLEGE YOUTHS.

BY J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

The 'Bell News' first appeared in February, 1881, a modest paper of eight pages, and for a year or so it was published once a month only. The first issue contained, besides the necessarily somewhat lengthy editorial statements, a review of J. W. Snowdon's 'Standard Methods,' which had just appeared, reports of association meetings, a correspondence column, compositions, and records of peals and touches. What, perhaps, most interests us to-day are the names of the ringers which appear—some are names of men who belong to times which seem altogether remote from us, and some are men who are still living, or who have only just passed away.

Composition is represented by two date touches by Henry Hubbard, for so many years a prominent member of the Norwich Scholars at a time when that society rang some of its best peals, and then living at Leeds. The method is Stedman Caters, and, as it happens, one of the two is false. Date touches were at one time rather popular, but for a long time they have dropped out, and few bands now ring anything longer than a quarter-peal unless they are going for the full five thousand, and, of course, a quarter-peal is a very convenient length: it just fits into the hour which is usually given to service ringing, though it does not appear why there should be any particular virtue in the exact number of 1,260 for Triples, and as near as you can get to it on other numbers, why touches of a course or so longer or shorter should not be rung.

The first peal recorded was one by the College Youths at Bethnal Green, which was as follows: 'Bethnal Green. On Saturday, January 15th, 1881, eight members of the Ancient Society of College Youths rang on the pretty peal of bells of St. Matthew, Bethnal Green, a true peal of Kent Treble Bob Major, containing 5,120 changes, in 3 hrs. and 6 minutes. Performers—G. Dorrington Treble, W. Cecil 2, R. Jameson 3, J. Pettit 4, J. Bonney 5, W. A. Tyler 6, M. A. Wood 7, E. Gibbs Tenor. Composed by the late W. Harrison and conducted by M. A. Wood.'

These were all leading men of the College Youths at the time, and five of them—Dorrington, Jameson, Pettit, Tyler and Wood—took part in the first peal at St. Paul's Cathedral, which was rung on Saturday, December 10th, 1881. Matthew Wood was steeple keeper, and for many years the leader at Bethnal Green. He lived at an old-fashioned house, which, I believe, he owned, opposite the church. His family were originally French of the name of Dubois, and belonged to the Huguenots or French Protestants. In the late sixteenth and early seventeenth centuries the Huguenots were both numerous and powerful in France, and, after long and very bitter wars, their rights to have their own churches and worship was granted to them by Henry IV, who was, at one time, himself a Huguenot. In the reign of Louis XIV, the Edict of Nantes, which gave them this right, was revoked. As a consequence, many left the country. Some of them, silk weavers by trade, came to England, and settled at Spitalfields, which was then very different from what it is now. Among them were the Dubois, who changed, or rather Anglicised their name, and in a generation or two became Englishmen. Matthew Wood's father and grandfather both were ringers, and he himself no doubt inherited much of his ability and force of character from his Huguenot ancestors. He was born in 1826, and brought up from his early days among the leading ringers of London, and he told me that he quite remembered as a child seeing George Gross at his grandfather's house. He was the embodiment of all that was good in the old style of ringer, an excellent striker, a first-class heavy bell man, a stern disciplinarian in the tower, and, so far as it went in those days, a good method ringer.

While he was in charge of St. Matthew's several notable peals were rung there. Among them was a 15,840 of Kent Treble Bob Major in 1868, at the time the longest peal rung in any method if we except Barham's peals of Bob Major, which were rung by relays of ringers. It was also the longest length at the time composed in the method. These are the particulars: 'Ancient Society of College Youths. On Monday, April 27th, 1868, was rung a true peal of Kent Treble Bob Major, comprising 15,840 changes, in 9 hrs. 12 mins., being the longest ever rung by one set of men. Performers—H. Haley, senior, Treble, W. Cooter 2, J. Pettit 3, H. Booth 4, R. Hopkins 5, E. Horrex 6, M. A. Wood 7, J. M. Hayes Tenor. Composed by T. Day, of Birmingham, and conducted by Mr. H. Haley, senior.'

Matthew Wood was a great handbell ringer at a time when very few peals were rung 'in hand.' On the 10th of February, 1854, he rang 7-8 to the first handbell peal of Stedman Cinques. About the same time he rang 5-6 to one of the first (if not the first) handbell peal of Stedman Triples, and, shortly afterwards, 7-8 to the first non-conducted peal of Stedman Triples. To give an account of his tower bell peals, which amounted to somewhere about three hundred (a great number for those days), would largely be to write the history of the College Youths and Cumberlands during the latter half of the nineteenth century; for he belonged at times to both societies.

James Pettit, who rang the fourth in the 1881 peal at Bethnal Green, was for many years the leading conductor of the College Youths. He succeeded Henry Haley, and always called the bobs for the service touches at St. Paul's, almost invariably ringing the treble. In the excellent little book on bells in 'The Acts of the Church' series there is a copy of a photograph of St. Paul's belfry, which clearly shows Mr. Pettit and some others of the band.

Edwin Gibbs is the only survivor of the Bethnal Green peal company. He is still a member of the St. Paul's Cathedral band, but unfortunately ill-health has prevented him from ringing for some years.

WORCESTERSHIRE ASSOCIATION. WESTERN BRANCH SECRETARY'S RESIGNATION.

The usual meetings have been held during the year—the first at Upton-on-Severn, where Mr. C. Camm conducted as a quarterly peal a peal of Oxford Bob Triples; the second at Stoke Prior, when the quarterly peal was entrusted to Mr. S. T. Holt, this also being successful; the last, at Hanbury, on October 16th, when Mr. J. R. Newman was appointed to conduct the peal. The next meeting is to be held at St. Helens, Worcester.

These meetings have all been well attended, and the association form of service used on each occasion, upon which also there has been an address by the respective incumbents.

The branch master has capably managed the arrangements for ringing, seeing that everyone had a pull. Young ringers have been present, and received useful instruction. Several new members have been elected, and a tea has been provided, for which the members are very thankful.

At the last meeting the branch secretary stated that his business would not allow him to continue in office. A vote of thanks was passed to him for his services, and Mr. John Rowlett, of Upton-on-Severn, was appointed to the office. The other officers were re-elected.

RECIPROCAL RELATIONSHIP: WHAT IT IS.

By GEORGE BAKER.

In all even-bell primary and Treble Bob principles there exists what I term 'reciprocal relationship' of the opposite pairs of bells, and on eight bells these are: 1-8, 2-7, 3-6 and 4-5.

In principles like 'Barnsbury' Major, 'Duffield' Major, and 'Leek' Major, this reciprocal relationship is never broken in the plain course.

There is also one method, Superlative Surprise Major, in which this feature, although not unbroken, is more prominent than in any other method that I know of, and if we leave out the Extreme when the Treble is lying her whole behind, we shall find that 4-5 are the only interior place-making bells throughout the lead, and I here give the first half-lead in skeleton form as an illustration.

Superlative 7th's omitted.

Anyone who will take the trouble to analyse the actual figures of the first half-lead of Superlative Major will find that reciprocal relationship is unbroken in twelve out of sixteen rows. These are the first four, the middle four, and the last four rows of the half-lead.

In this fact we have a key to a possible extension of Superlative Major to the higher numbers.

We will first examine the possibility of extending the method with these Major features to ten bells.

In the primary or Treble Bob principles on ten bells, the opposite pairs are 1-0, 2-9, 3-8, 4-7, and 5-6.

In any extension we know we must have the 4th in the 3-4 place-making at the start, and the opposite factor to the 4th on ten bells is the 7th, not the 5th as in Major.

We also know that on ten bells the 5th must be place-making in 7-8 when the treble is hunting up; the opposite factor to the 5th on ten bells is the 6th. In these facts we have a proof that Superlative Royal with reciprocating Major features is impossible, because there are only three place-making positions with four bells, 4-5-6-7, to fill them.

We will next examine the possibility of extending the Major to Maximus. In the primary or Treble Bob principles on twelve bells, the opposite pairs are: 1-11, 2-10, 3-0, 4-9, 5-8 and 6-7.

In Maximus, as in Major, the 4th and 5th must be two of the place-making bells, and their opposite factors are 9-8 respectively.

We now have four place-making positions and four bells, 4-5-8-9, to fill them.

With this knowledge, is it possible to produce a correct extension of Superlative Major to Maximus in which the reciprocating and other features of the Major are, or can be, incorporated?

The answer to this question is in the affirmative. The Maximus has already been produced. It was discovered in the year 1912 by Mr. H. W. Wilde, of Belgrave, Pulford, Cheshire.

Anyone who will take the trouble to write out again the lead below leaving out the Extreme when the Treble is lying her whole pull behind, will find that 4-5-8-9 are the only place-making bells throughout the lead.

An examination of the work of the place-making bells in the first half-lead of Maximus reveals the fact that the 4th does the same work as in Major, i.e., place-making in 3-4, odd place last, next dodging in 5-6 and 7-8, then running through 9-0 to dodge with 3rd behind, as in Major.

The 5th does the reverse work to the 4th, but her place-making, odd place first, must now of necessity be in 9-0 (instead of 5-6) to bring up reciprocal relationship and the correct rows at the treble's whole pull behind.

The two extra bells in the place-making in Maximus, i.e., the 8th and 9th, each do the reverse work of one another, and reciprocal relationship necessitates that their odd-places shall be made in the position above or below as the case may be.

Without these odd places, four in each lead as in Major, reciprocal relationship would be non-existent in the Maximus, and this being the great outstanding feature of Superlative Surprise Major, I have no hesitation in declaring this Maximus to be a true extension of the Major, and I firmly believe it is the only double extension possible in which the Major features are reproduced and combined.

It will be noted that the 3rd, the pivot bell, is a Treble Bob hunt bell up, to work with the Treble behind, and also from the work behind to the place-making in 3-4, odd place last.

The first course of the above method was rung on Mr. John Carter's ringing machine on July 10th, 1919, and Mr. Wilde has in his possession the diagram made by the machine during the ringing.

It has recently been brought to my notice that this extension of Superlative Major to Maximus has been discovered independently by the late Mr. Catchpole, of Ipswich, also by Mr. A. Craven, Mr. G. Lindoff, and Mr. W. Taylor.

BEGINNERS' TOUCHES.

On Saturday, October 30th, at Exminster, Devon, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes) was rung in 45 mins.: R. Bryant 1, P. J. Davey (conductor) 2, R. Truman 3, W. Counter 4, J. Way 5, E. Holman 6. First quarter-peal by ringers of 1, 4, 5 and 6, who deserve every credit, having commenced to learn as late as July last.

At Tring Parish Church, on Sunday, October 31st, for evening service, 504 Grandsire Triples: A. Cherry 1, C. Badrick 2, F. Keen 3, H. Bull 4, F. O. Reeve 5, J. Puplett 6, F. J. Reeve (conductor) 7, N. Brackley 8. Longest length for ringer of treble, and first 504 on inside bell by the ringer of 2nd.

APPLETON, BERKS.—On Friday, October 8th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters (1,259 changes), rung with the bells half-muffled as a last token of respect to Mrs. Moore, widow of the late Rev. W. Moore, who was Rector of Appleton for 23 years: W. Hollifield 1, H. C. White 2, C. G. White 3, H. Bennett 4, F. Messenger 5, A. H. White 6, F. S. White 7, G. Hollifield, jun. (conductor) 8, R. White 9, F. White 10.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

The Bristol Branch was again favoured by glorious weather for the quarterly meeting at Abbots Leigh, on Saturday last, when members and friends to the number of 30, and representing ten towers, were present. Abbots Leigh is well wooded and adjoins the noted Leigh Woods (of which Bristolians are so proud), beautifully situated, overlooking the Avon and the Severn Sea, with the Welsh hills in the distance. The bells (which go like tops) were available early in the afternoon, and rung up to service time at 4.30, when the Rev. T. C. Fowler (St. Leonard's, Bristol), in the absence of the Vicar, kindly conducted the service. Afterwards, an adjournment was made to the George Hotel, where tea was awaiting the party. This was followed by the business meeting, presided over by the chairman (Mr. J. Gould).

The places for the next two monthly meetings were chosen. The November meeting is to be held at St. Thomas' (City), Bristol, to be followed by a whist drive and dance, and it is hoped to have three or four other towers available for ringing, including the famous peal of twelve at Redcliffe, as well as the bells at St. Nicholas' and Temple. The Christmas meeting is to be at Brislington on Saturday, December 18th, full particulars of which will appear in 'The Ringing World.'

Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar for allowing the use of the church and bells, to the Rev. T. C. Fowler for coming to take the service, to Mr. Bennett (the local secretary), and the local ringers for their kindness in having everything in readiness, also to the ladies waiting at the tables.

This concluded the meeting, and the ringers paid another visit to the tower, where good practice was obtained, and one budding conductor came through well.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.
NORTHERN BRANCH.

A Grimsby District meeting was held at Barton-on-Humber on Saturday, October 23rd. Members attended from Bigby, Barrow-on-Humber, Grimsby, Burton-on-Stather, Goxhill, and the local tower, also Mr. Howell, Mr. Chamberlain and friends from Hull. Standard methods were rung during the afternoon and evening. Service was held in the beautiful old church of St. Mary at 4 p.m., the Guild Office being used. The Rev. Legge officiated, and gave an interesting address. An excellent tea was served in the assembly rooms, thirty members sitting down.

The president, the Rev. H. T. Party (Rector of Bigby and Rural Dean) presided over the business meeting. Among those present were the Vicar of Barton-on-Humber (Rev. W. E. Varah, R.D.), the Rev. Legge, and Dr. F. P. H. Birtwhistle, of Barton.

Two members were elected, viz., Mr. R. Sutton, of Grimsby, as a performing member, and Mr. J. H. Chamberlain, of Hull, as a non-resident life member.

The annual district meeting was fixed for January at St. Andrew's, Grimsby.

It was resolved that all representatives of towers in the district should send particulars of their respective towers, number of bells, weights, methods rung, practice nights, and any other interesting information to Mr. J. R. Nichols, 59, Rutland Road, Stamford, Lincs, who is compiling a book on the 'History of Ringing.'

A hearty vote of thanks was proposed by the chairman to the Vicar for the use of the bells and for arranging the service, to the Rev. Legge for officiating and for his address, to Miss L. Mobbs for presiding at the organ, and to Mr. A. Hoodless for making the necessary arrangements, and to Mrs. Smith for providing such a good tea. He also complimented the Vicar of Barton on his appointment as Rural Dean. Members of Goxhill were congratulated on ringing their first 120 of Bob Doubles. The band is being instructed by Mr. H. E. Dannel, of Barrow-on-Humber.

Members then returned to the belfry for more ringing, and this concluded a very pleasant meeting.

CAMBRIDGE SURPRISE MAXIMUS.

Mr. W. A. Cave writes that in looking through 'The Ringing World' he found that the first of the two peals of Cambridge Surprise Maximus by Mr. G. E. Symonds, published on January 8th last, was rung as a peal of Royal by the Gloucester and Bristol Association on August 26th, 1919, by adding three bobs W after the first M in the first part, and three bobs M before the first W in the second. The composer was Mr. J. Carter, and the peal has also been attempted as Maximus as the composition of Mr. Carter.

SILVER WEDDING.

At St. Mary's Church, Salehurst, Sussex, on Tuesday evening, October 19th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) in 45 mins.: F. Morgan 1, T. Booth 2, W. Hoad (conductor) 3, G. King 4, C. Creasey 5, T. Hoad 6, E. Mills 7, J. Goodsell 8. Rung, after an unsuccessful attempt for a peal, to celebrate the silver wedding of Mr. and Mrs. F. Morgan and the 21st birthday of Mr. L. Booth, who unfortunately could not stand in on account of an impending operation. Mr. F. Morgan has been a member of the local band since 1899.

SUNDAY SERVICE TOUCHES.

LONDON.—At the Church of St. Matthew, Bethnal Green, for evensong, on Sunday, October 31st, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) in 47 mins.: T. O. Bone 1, J. H. Parrott 2, F. J. Parrott 3, W. W. Stevens 4, H. Hills 5, S. Penfold 6, F. Smith (conductor) 7, H. C. Taylor 8.

SOUTHOVER, LEWES.—On Sunday, October 31st, for evensong, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes): W. Ward 1, R. W. R. Dawe 2, W. Rogers 3, W. Pelling 4, A. Scrivens 5, A. S. Turner 6, R. J. Dawe (conductor) 7, J. F. Stedman 8.—Also 336 Grandsire Triples, F. Fuller (longest length) 1, R. J. Dawe 2, W. Boves 3, W. Pelling 4, A. Scrivens 5, A. J. Turner 6, R. W. R. Dawe (conductor) 7, J. Stedman 8. The ringing was arranged for the occasion of the annual choir festival, also for the visitation of the Bishop of Saskatchewan, Bishop Lloyd, who conducted the service.

WITHAM, ESSEX.—On Sunday, October 31st, at the Parish Church for evening service, 720 Double Court Minor: W. Mellin 1, A. Chalk 2, V. Glass 3, E. Bright (conductor) 4, A. Evers 5, W. S. Butler 6.

RICKMANSWORTH.—On Sunday, October 31st, at the Parish Church, for evensong, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes) in 45 mins.: J. H. Marks 1, H. W. Kirton 2, W. H. Cook (first quarter-peal of Stedman) 3, F. W. Elliott 4, T. Stephenson 5, G. W. Piper (Cheshamford) 6, J. H. F. Freeborn (conductor) 7, W. Crossley 8.

NITHERTON, WORCESTERSHIRE.—On Sunday, October 31st, on the occasion of the harvest festival, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) in 43 mins.: F. Meadows (first quarter-peal) 1, A. ## A NEW PROPOSAL.

It cannot always be said that in the after dinner speech-making at ringers' gatherings one can find any serious food for subsequent thought, but several points were raised by speakers at the College Youths' festival on Saturday which deserve more than passing attention. We would only refer to two of them now, and these two questions may well be inter-related. One of the most serious problems with which the Exercise is faced is how to draw into the ranks not only sufficient men to fill the gaps as the old ones drop out, but to provide ringers for all the bells which are now going into the steeples of the country. A still greater problem is how to retain their interest when they have been recruited. The importance of bringing in young men to carry on the art and the tradition of societies like the College Youths was touched upon by speakers, and it is well that no opportunity should be lost of emphasising the matter whenever ringers meet. But Mr. Albert Walker, the experienced Ringing Master of the St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham, had a fresh proposal to make for ventilating views on this and other subjects of vital importance to the Exercise. His suggestion was that the opportunity might be taken of the four big gatherings in the year—in London, Birmingham, Bristol and Yorkshire—to hold informal conferences. Each of these dinners is attended by representative men—in the case of the College Youths there were ringers present from something like a couple of dozen associations and guilds, and the opinion was offered that much good might be done by an informal exchange of views between those who assemble for the occasion on subjects of general interest to ringers' associations. The idea is to give up an hour or so at the beginning of the afternoon for the purpose, and there are some excellent arguments to put forward in favour of such a scheme. Moreover, there would seem to be no insuperable difficulties in arranging it. It apparently works successfully in connection with other organisations, although perhaps these have no counter-attractions such as ringers have in the shape of peals of bells open for ringing. The foregathering of ringers for festivity, however, does offer an occasion which might be used for a dual purpose, and while any discussion would have to be entirely informal, for there would be no elected delegates or anything of that kind, it does seem that something might be evolved from Mr. Walker's suggestion which would combine usefulness with pleasure when ringers from all parts of the country are meeting. If by such discussions some practical policy could be found for gaining and retaining the interest of young ringers a valuable step forward will have been taken.

THE LADIES' GUILD.

NEW BRANCH FORMED.

A most successful meeting was held at Handsworth, near Sheffield, on Saturday, to form a northern branch of the Guild. The ladies present numbered 23, and the enthusiasm shown augurs well for the future of the new district. Ringing commenced early in the afternoon, and the bells were kept going in a variety of methods to suit all the visitors.

A service was held in the church, conducted by the Rector, and the Rev. W. P. Wright, of Eyam, gave a very interesting address. Mrs. Baker, the Rector's wife, presided at the organ. Tea was provided in the schoolroom, when the ladies present were the guests of the Rev. and Mrs. Baker. Between 50 and 60 members and friends sat down, and an enjoyable time was spent.

Before the business meeting, the Rector welcomed the Guild to Handsworth, and wished the new district every success.

Miss E. K. Parker, the general secretary, responded, thanking the Rector for his kind wishes, and expressing her pleasure at the large attendance. She also proposed a vote of thanks to the Rector and Mrs. Baker for their hospitality, the Rev. W. P. Wright for his address, and the Handsworth ringers for making the arrangements.

At the meeting, Mrs. Baker was elected a life member of the Guild, and 15 ringing members were elected.

Miss Davenport, of Dore, was made secretary, and the committee comprised Miss Lumley, of Leeds, Miss Foulk, of Dunfield, Miss Taylor, of Workop, Mrs. Wolstencroft, of Ashton-under-Lyne, Mrs. Ryder, of Rotherham, and Miss Davenport.

Miss Davenport was responsible for the splendid attendance at the meeting and the general arrangements, and is to be complimented on the success which has attended her efforts. There is no doubt that the district will flourish with such a keen and energetic secretary, who deserves the whole-hearted support of all the members.

Ringing was continued until nine o'clock, concluding with a course of Kent Treble Bob Major by eight members of the Guild.

HOW A RINGER 'SHADOWED' A POLICEMAN.

An amusing incident occurred while ringing was in progress at Bolton Parish Church on Saturday week, when the failure of the electric light put an untimely end to the attempt to set up a new Superlative Surprise Major regard.

Shortly before the bells ceased, Police-Constable Peter Crook, who is Bolton District secretary of the Lancashire Association, strolled round to the church while in uniform. On the way he overlook the Vicar, and as they stood outside the church gates chatting on the prospect of the success of the peal, P.C. Crook took out his watch to give the Vicar, who was anxious to meet the ringers afterwards, an idea of the time they would finish, and timed the changes per minute.

Another ringer, unaware of the identity of the man in uniform, was standing near, and jumped to the conclusion that the policeman was complaining that the bells had been ringing too long and was showing the Vicar, by his watch, how long the bells had been going on. He was determined, if possible, to prevent interference and, when the Vicar had gone, followed the constable about for a time, lest he should go to the tower, and to try to persuade him, if necessary, not to stop the ringing.

Our readers are left to guess the results when the identity of each became known to the other.

The striking throughout the five hours was excellent. The cause of the ringing room being plunged into total darkness was due to a young lady who, having been into the church to perform some small duties, switched off the wrong lights.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

The autumn meeting of the Chipping Norton Deanery Branch was held on Saturday, November 6th. The inclement weather had an ill effect on the attendance. The fine peal of eight bells were raised and a course of Grandsire Triples rung, with the Rev. Maurice Beardshaw (Vicar) standing in.

The Guild special form of service was held, and the Vicar gave a very interesting address. A company of 26 sat down to an excellent tea in the Memorial Hall.

A short business meeting followed, presided over by the Rev. E. C. Freeman (chairman of the Deanery Branch). A letter of apology for absence was read from the Master of the Guild (the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, M.C.).

Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar for welcoming the Guild, and in responding he said he would be pleased to welcome the branch again in their turn.

The branch secretary, Mr. J. Keyte, alluded to the Guild Master's report at a branch meeting published in that week's issue of 'The Ringing World,' urging the younger ringers to try to do their best and stick to the art, so that it might be carried on in future years when the ringers of to-day were gone. The branch secretary also urged foremen of towers to try and respond to the notices that were sent to them and not neglect their responsibilities.

Further ringing brought the meeting to an end.

SHIPLEY CHURCH CENTENARY.

In connection with the centenary of Shipley Parish Church, Yorkshire, special services were held on Sunday, October 31st. The foundation stone of the church was laid on November 5th, 1823. Three years later, on Sunday, November 1st, 1826, the building was consecrated. Thomas Mears, of the Whitechapel Foundry, put in a peal of six bells in that year, and a tenor and treble were added by Mears and Stainbank in 1867. The first five thousand was rung on the eight bells on September 14th, 1867, by the following: James Lilley 1, Samuel Pollard 2, William Kendall 3, William Wilks 4, John Wilks 5, Thomas Ives 6, James Crabtree 7, Thomas Palliaser 8. The method rung is not now known.

The Shipley ringers celebrated the centenary by ringing Oxford Treble Bob for morning service, and for evening service 840 Grandsire Triples: T. Wilcock 1, Mrs. Seager 2, T. B. Kendall 3, F. Seager 4, T. A. King 5, H. Haigh 6, E. H. Simpson (conductor) 7, A. Trotter 8.

For special evening service on Monday, November 1st, the actual anniversary of the opening of the church, a quarter-peal of Double Norwich was rung in 47 mins. by: E. H. Simpson 1, J. Broadley (Bradford) 2, T. B. Kendall 3, H. Haigh 4, H. Stott 5, F. Kilshall (Idle) 6, F. Seager 7, H. Foster (Idle) 8.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.*MEETING AT BROOMFIELD.

A meeting for the South-Eastern Division of the Essex Association was held at Broomfield on Saturday week. About 25 members were present, representing Chelmsford, Springfield, Writtle, Rettendon, Maldon, Baddow, and the local company.

Mr. C. H. Howard (Master of the association) was present, and read the lesson at the service, which was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. Bunbury), who gave a very helpful address.

Tea was served in the old schoolroom, followed by the usual business meeting, Mr. G. Green, District Master, presiding.

The Rev. Bunbury and the Rev. J. Foster Williams, of Sandon, were elected hon. members.—Widford, Boreham, and Gt. Baddow were proposed for the next place of meeting, and Baddow was chosen.

Mr. G. Howard proposed votes of thanks to the Vicar for holding the meeting at Broomfield, and Mrs. Bunbury for presiding at the piano at the service (the organ being under repair).

Touches were rung on handbells, while some members returned to the tower and others proceeded to Chelmsford for 10 and 12 bell ringing.

DEATH OF MR. WILLIAM CLIFFORD.*BEESTON RINGER'S UNIQUE ACHIEVEMENTS.

The death occurred at Beeston, Notts, on Monday, November 1st, of Mr. William Clifford in his 78th year, after an illness of only a few weeks. Deceased had been a ringer at Beeston Church for 62 years and for many years tower-keeper. This is a record to be proud of, but there is a still more wonderful one to the credit of the deceased ringer. For a man, who, at the age of 60, could ring nothing higher than Siedman and Treble Bob, to learn and ring peals in all the higher methods up to and including London Surprise is, we think, unique in the annals of ringing history. He rang his first peals of Kent and Siedman at the age of 60, Oxford at 61, Double Norwich at 62, Superlative at 63, Norfolk Surprise at 65, when the war intervened, reducing the band considerably, and it was not until he was 73 that he succeeded in scoring Cambridge and finally London Surprise at 75 years of age, all on inside bells. His peals totalled 39. For several years he was chairman of the Nottingham District of the M.C.A.

The funeral service was choral, the Vicar of Beeston officiating both at the church and the graveside, and quite a large number of parishioners and ringers from various centres attended, despite the heavy rain. A course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells over the grave, and afterwards a peal of Siedman Triples was accomplished at the church with the bells half-muffled.

MINOR WITH COVERING BELLS.To the Editor.*

Dear Sir,—Will you kindly allow me a short space in your columns to offer on behalf of the band which rang the peal of Bob Minor with 6-8 covering at Lye, on October 23rd, our sincere apologies to your correspondent if we have hurt his feelings or transgressed in any way, this not being the only occasion on which a peal has been rung with two or more covers. As you very plainly pointed out in your leading article last week, nothing is laid down in the rules of the Central Council against the ringing of such peals, and I think, therefore, that if anyone had any objection, the first place to lodge same should have been with the C.C. Anyhow, I beg to say that the members of the Lye band are all young ringers (needing encouragement, not punishment), progressing slowly but surely, and have now commenced practising Grandsire Triples. So if at some future date your correspondent cares to come, the band extend to him a hearty invitation to conduct a peal in this method on the bells at Lye Church.—Thanking you in anticipation, yours faithfully,

C. WILLIAM COOPER.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The Rev. C. D. P. Davies has just completed his term of office as president of the British Astronomical Association, and is succeeded by Dr. W. H. Stevenson, of Norwood.

Mr. Oliver Sippetts, of Crawley, has suffered a heavy bereavement by the death of his father, which took place on Thursday of last week.

A singular accident befell Mr. Frederick J. Rogers, hon. secretary of the Portsmouth District of the Winchester Guild, last week. He fell in the street and injured his head. He was taken to hospital in an unconscious condition, but after being detained for a time was sufficiently recovered to be conveyed to his home. His many friends will wish him a speedy recovery.

To-morrow is the anniversary of a peal of 10,080 New Treble Bob Major, rung on the old bells in the old tower at Huddersfield Parish Church on November 15th, 1820. It was, we believe, the composition of W. Eversfield, of Gravesend, and the record of the peal in the tower is one of those rare old boards which give the figures of the peal.

On November 17th, 1760, the first peal of Imperial Treble Bob Major was rung and had a tragic ending. It was at St. Giles', Norwich, and after the peal had been completed, John Webster, the ringer of the sixth, dropped dead in the tower.

November 17th is also the anniversary of another interesting event, for it was on this day, in the year 1835, that the first peal of London Surprise Major was rung. This was also at Norwich, on the bells of St. Andrew's Church.

For the wedding at St. Paul's, London, last Saturday, of the Lord Mayor's daughter, some magnificent Stedman Cinques were rung on the grand ring at the Cathedral.

A set of sixteen handbells is being offered in competition among those who may care to subscribe a shilling each to a fund for the benefit of Miss Shade, of Greenwich, sister of the late Mr. I. G. Shade. Single tickets or books of ten can be obtained from 'The Ringing World' office, and the Editor will be glad to receive the assistance of anyone who can distribute them.

A mixed band of London and provincial ringers broadcast from Bow Church, Cheapside, on Sunday evening. Next Sunday, St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham, will broadcast St. Philip's Cathedral bells from 8 to 8.15 through the Birmingham station of the B.B.C.

BROADCASTING.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—When the Middlesex band broadcast a touch of Double Norwich from Bow a fortnight ago, or as much as the B.B.C. thought fit to transmit, I wrote that body, pointing out that it was hardly courteous to the band or satisfactory to the listeners to have the first three or four leads of a touch drowned by the voice of their announcer, and then to be switched off when a couple of leads from home, pointing out the similar case of a singer being drowned by announcements in the first verse of his song and switched off in the middle of the last verse.

I received the reply, of which I enclose a copy, and was somewhat eager to hear what effect my protest had had when Bow were again broadcast last evening.

The effect was doubtless noted by many (I have already heard non-ringers grumbling about it). We were graciously allowed to hear a little bit after 8-10 had got behind to wait for the 11th.

It strikes me as somewhat of a slur that would not be tolerated by any other instrumentalist, and the reply that the superimposed announcement would be more artistic, speaks volumes for the esteem in which our art is held in some quarters. We need one of the B.B.C. Uncles apparently to make a peal worth listening to, and I suggest that a bombardment of protests be lodged to convince these people that we prefer our art as it is, without artistic helps from outsiders, or that we should refuse to ring for broadcasting until the same courtesy is shown as to other instrumentalists.—Yours faithfully,

T. GROOMBRIDGE.

Crayford.

The following is the B.B.C.'s reply: 'We have your letter of October 25th, and have read with very much interest your remarks on the above subject and with particular reference to the recent transmission of Bow bells. We quite see your point in regard to the announcing from the point of view of an expert bellringer, but we have been seeing it from the general listener's side, and it seemed to us that the superimposed announcement would be more artistic and would appeal more to the lay mind. We regret any annoyance which may have been caused you in this respect, and thank you very much for your interest in writing.'

A BUCKINGHAMSHIRE RESTORATION.

CHALFONT ST. PETER'S BELLS TO BE RE-OPENED ON SUNDAY.

The re-opening of the tower and belfry at Chalfont St. Peter's Parish Church is to take place on Sunday afternoon, November 14th, at four o'clock. The tower has suffered from old age. Beams have had to be renewed, the floor of the bell-chamber strengthened, and other things looked to. The bells have been rehung, and the whole work has cost about £400.

On Sunday next, at four o'clock, the Bishop of Buckingham will open the tower and belfry, and visiting ringers will be welcome.

COLLEGE YOUTHS' ANNUAL FESTIVAL.

BIG GATHERING IN LONDON.

There has seldom been a larger gathering of ringers at the annual festival of the Ancient Society of College Youths than assembled on Saturday last in London. Apart from the big contingent from the metropolis, there were ringers present from more than twenty counties in England and Wales, and when, after ringing at various city churches, they gathered at the mother church of the society, St. Michael's, College Hill, the seating accommodation was taxed to its utmost capacity. The service, a feature of which was the hearty singing of the hymns, was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. Canon Bullock-Webster. The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, read the lesson, from Ecclesiasticus xlv., 1-16, commencing, 'Let us now praise famous men.' The hymns were, 'We love the place, O God,' 'O God, our help in ages past,' and 'All people that on earth do dwell.' The Rev. Gordon Ponsoby, Rector of Bow Church, Cheapside, was the preacher. He took as his text, Zechariah xiv., 20, 'There shall be upon the bells of the horses holiness unto the Lord,' and traced the history of bells through the early ages. The offertory was given towards the expenses of the service.

The anniversary dinner was afterwards held at the London Tavern, Fenchurch Street, where nearly 200 sat down to a splendid repast. The Master (Mr. Henry R. Newton) presided, supported by Rev. Canon G. F. Coleridge (president of the Central Council), Rev. Canon Perkins (Westminster Abbey), Rev. Preb. Ponsoby, Rev. E. C. Bedford (Rector of St. Andrew's, Holborn), Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, Mr. A. J. Wright (hon. treasurer, Oxford Guild), Rev. Canon Bullock-Webster, Rev. Hon. S. H. Phillimore (Rector of Stepney), Rev. H. J. Fynes Clinton (Rector of St. Magnus'), Mr. E. A. Young (hon. secretary, Central Council), Mr. W. Skinner (Dean's verger at St. Paul's Cathedral), Mr. J. D. Matthews (Master of the Royal Cumberland Youths), Mr. T. H. Beams (assistant hon. secretary, Salisbury Guild), Mr. Sergison (St. Clement's Youths), etc. Mr. P. E. Clark occupied the vice-chair, and among those present were: Messrs. W. T. Cockerill (hon. secretary), Chailis F. Winney and Walter Prime (trustees), A. A. Hughes (treasurer), and C. W. Roberts and J. H. Hawkins (stewards of the society). The visitors included: Major J. H. B. Hesse, Capt. J. H. R. Freeborn, Mrs. Wilkins (Bristol), Messrs. J. W. Jones (hon. secretary, Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association), C. Dean (hon. secretary, Surrey Association), A. Walker (Ringing Master, St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham), R. T. Hibbert (secretary, Oxford Diocesan Guild), Bryce Taylor (Loughborough), W. A. Cave, F. J. Leaker, and C. Gordon (Bristol), T. F. King (Bath), A. H. Pulling, G. Melville, C. H. Dobbie, and J. A. Cole (Guildford), F. C. Rich, C. H. Harding and T. Taylor (Portsmouth), S. Palmer (Sheffield), F. J. Smallwood (Derby), T. H. Reeves, J. W. Pemberton, P. Laffin and E. T. Allaway (Birmingham), H. Chapman and E. Jenkins (Manchester), F. Dench (Saffron Walden), W. D. Smith (Eastbourne), W. Hart (Brighton), J. C. Evans (Hugghenden), H. Hodgetts and F. Smith (Bushey), W. J. Navard (Gt. Bentley), E. Barnett, sen., and E. Barnett, jun. (Crayford), J. Waghorn (East Ham), E. P. Poppy (Eye), J. C. Mitchell, G. N. Price, D. Wright, C. H. Kippen, R. D. Marshall, F. E. Collins, D. Cooper, F. G. Woodiss, C. H. Horton, W. Roughton, F. A. Mitchell, F. M. Mitchell, J. H. Cheesman, H. Audsley, W. J. Hazell, C. Matthews, E. C. Goldsmith, J. S. Goldsmith, etc. There was, as usual, a big representation from Barking and the Gravesend district of Kent Association.

THE TOASTS.

At the conclusion of the meal, the loyal toast was honoured and the National Anthem sung.

The Master, submitting the toast of 'The Church,' said our English Church was the immediate cause of such gatherings as that, for as ringers they were craftsmen who loved to exercise such skill as they possessed in the belfries as loyal sons and workers for the Church.

The Rev. Gordon Ponsoby, whose name was coupled with the toast, said the clergy looked upon the ringers as those who acted as the publicity committee, who let the people know what was going on in the church from time to time, and the clergy owed a great deal to the way the ringers loyally served the church. He desired to say especially how much he owed to the College Youths for their services at the Church of St. Mary-le-Bow. He wanted to say also how much they would welcome to their City branch at Bow Church any ringers who were members of the Church of England Men's Society who came to London and were without a branch to which to attach themselves. The City branch met at St. Mary-le-Bow, and he happened to be one of the officers. At that branch anyone coming from the country would be welcomed.

Canon Coleridge proposed the toast of 'The Ancient Society of College Youths.' He believed, he said, that that was the thirty-second year in succession that he had attended that gathering, and on many occasions he had proposed the same toast, but while he appreciated the high honour that was done him, he had, after all that lapse of time, very little fresh to say. He told the story of a certain farmer who made a practice, on going to his market town every week, of calling on a barber and being shaved, for which he paid fourpence. This went on for years, until at length one day the farmer did not appear, but a few days later the son called and said his father was dead, and as they 'wanted to put him away clean and tidy' would the barber come and shave him. The barber was prepared to do it, and then came the question of the charge. The son said his father had never paid more than fourpence, but the barber explained that a good deal of time would be taken up with the journey, and he could not do it for less than three shillings. After some argument the son finally settled matters by saying, 'Very well. I shan't have it done; 'tisn't as though father's going to any place special' (laughter). His point was, said Canon Coleridge, that when they as clergy or ringers were going to take part in any of the services of the church they ought always to be particular as to their appearance. Nothing annoyed him more than to see what he might call a dirty cleric, one who had a crumpled surplice or an unshaven chin, performing a sacred office—it was not honourable to the Almighty. So, too, when ringers went about their work, they were going to some place 'special.' In his experience of fifty years he had seen a vast change in the appearance of the men who came to ring. They now took a delight in coming tidy and clean and in proper clothing. When he was a young man, it was no uncommon thing for a man to come to a belfry in the country, straight, perhaps, from the dung cart. It wasn't very pleasant, and, although they managed to get along in those days, things had altered. The men of to-day must carry on the work, and the Ancient Society of College Youths set a foremost example and always would. He had noticed in the service book which they had used that day a paragraph at the end in which it was stated that a certain Fabian Stedman in the year 1657 dedicated his little book, called 'Tintinnologia,' to the Ancient Society of College Youths, and expressed the desire that it might form the foundation of great things in the future. To that the powers that be at the present time had added another paragraph, in that grandiloquent phraseology which had always been indulged in by the College Youths from the beginning. 'That the prognostications of this distinguished author had been amply fulfilled.' In Mr. Cockerill and the other officers of the College Youths they had had men who had built firmly on the structure which had already been laid down, and in those who would come after they would doubtless find, as time went on, they would have men who would raise on these solid foundations a perfect building in the art and science of bell-ringing flourishing throughout the country. The society owed a great debt of gratitude to Mr. Cockerill, their secretary (applause). He (the speaker) had known others before him, but he had never known one like him in any way, for he managed the affairs of the society, as he rang his bell, in a masterly manner (applause).

The toast having been honoured, a course of Stedman Cinques was rung on handbells by G. F. Winney, J. Thomas, A. Walker, J. F. Smallwood, H. Langdon, and A. H. Pulling.

THE YEAR'S RECORD.

Mr. Cockerill then replied to the toast. When he asked Canon Coleridge, he said, to propose the toast, he (the Canon) replied that he would do it, but it was time they found a younger man for the job ('No'). What with his position as president of the Central Council, his long membership of that society, and his great loyalty to it, to say nothing of his majestic presence (laughter) and his fine personality, he did not think they could do better than to keep to Mr. Coleridge as the proposer of that toast (applause). Mr. Cockerill announced that letters of apology had been received from Ven. Archdeacon Holmes, Very Rev. Dr. Foxley Norris, Rev. Canon Haldane, Rev. J. H. Ellison, Rev. Preb. Isaacs, Rev. B. F. Simpson, Rev. F. Ll. Edwards (hon. secretary of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild), Mr. W. H. Judd, Mr. J. T. Dyke (secretary of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association), Mr. A. Prince (Bath), Mr. W. Hibbert (now in Nigeria), and Mr. G. Bowen (Ilfracombe). They had received telegrams of good wishes from the Bristol United Guilds and a band of College Youths in Lancashire. He had also received a telegram from Mr. John Carter saying that, although his illness prevented him from being with them, they would be in his thoughts, and he hoped all would have an enjoyable evening. During the year, continued Mr. Cockerill, they had lost by death Colonel Herbert Baker, Mr. Thos. Hogsflesh, who on the day of the dinner last year rang the tenor to the society's peal at Stepney, Mr. Isaac G. Shade, and Mr. G. H. Phillott. Fifty-six new members had been elected during the year, and 71 meetings for practice had been held. The seniority of membership now went to Mr. Edward Wallace, who joined the society fifty-six years ago, Mr. Thomas Bennett, who joined 52 years ago, and Mr. John W. Rowbotham, whom they congratulated on completing his jubilee that week (applause). As far as he knew, their oldest living member was Mr. Joseph Rayner, lowerkeeper at St. Andrew's, Holborn, who was 90 on New Year's Day, but the length of his membership did not equal that of any of the above-mentioned. The peals rung since the last dinner were: Grand sire Triples one, and one on handbells, Bob Major two, Surprise and Treble Bob Minor one, Kent Treble Bob Major two, Stedman Triples five and on handbells one, Stedman Caters four, Stedman Cinques one, Cambridge Surprise Maximus one; total, 17 on lower bells and two on handbells. In conclusion, Mr. Cockerill proposed a vote of thanks to Canon Bullock Webster for holding the service at St. Michael's, to Preb. Gordon Ponsonby for his address, and to the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn for reading the lesson.

Mr. C. H. Horton next submitted 'The Visitors,' and said one of the most pleasant duties that had to be performed at that festival was to welcome them there. It was quite possible that in the early days of the society their visitors had to be escorted by the Links, who were formed by boys carrying rush candles. To-day they used links of a different kind—they were formed of gold, for they were formed of good fellowship, good friendship and hearty welcome (applause). In the name of the Master and members he extended a hearty welcome to the clerical and all other visitors. He thanked the clergy for the opportunities they gave the society to practise on the bells of their churches. Were it not for these opportunities they would not be the magnificent society they were to-day, and he could assure the clergy they greatly appreciated their courtesy (applause).

The Rev. E. C. Bedford replied to the toast. He said although he could not claim to be a ringer, he always delighted in bell music. Practically all his life he had lived within the sound of bells—at Westminster, Cambridge, Wells, and Haslemere. Then for a time he was away, but he had now come to St. Andrew's, Holborn, and he was delighted when any of their society came to practise on the bells. He was also very grateful to the excellent band of ringers who rang there for the services on Sundays. The visitors much appreciated the invitation to that gathering, and he was sure they all enjoyed the evening.

'London and Provincial Societies' was submitted by Mr. P. E. Clark, who mentioned the numerous associations and Guilds represented at that gathering. They had come there that evening from all parts of the kingdom to give the College Youths their fellowship, and the society took it as a great compliment. Mr. Clark referred to the presence of several representatives of the Cumberland Youths, and to the friendly rivalry revived between the societies when they journeyed into Kent and rang simultaneous peals. He hoped they would be able to continue that friendly rivalry, and that the genial spirit which prevailed afterwards would long continue (applause). He noticed that other societies were organising joint meetings, and these gatherings he thought would tend to remove that feeling of jealousy which there had been in the past and which still, to some extent, was to be found between rival societies. He was glad to notice that some societies were taking in hand more seriously the teaching of beginners, for it must be remembered that the beginners of to-day must be the instructors of to-morrow, and if beginners were not encouraged it would be a sorry thing for the ringing in future years (applause).

SUGGESTED INFORMAL CONFERENCES.

Mr. E. A. Young first responded on behalf of the London societies, and Mr. Albert Walker replied for the provincial societies. He remarked that St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham, was represented that night by no fewer than seven members, and he hoped the College Youths would be equally well represented at the Birmingham dinner next February. There would be a welcome for them all, whether there was one or a hundred or a thousand (laughter). He said he thought they ought to congratulate the two provincial bands (both of which were represented that night) on the splendid performances of the previous Saturday in endeavouring to break records. He would describe them as glorious attempts, not glorious failures. To ring London Surprise for seven hours and then, unfortunately, to come to grief, deserved their commiseration. On behalf of St. Martin's Guild, which at present held the London Surprise record, he hoped they would ring the peal at the next attempt (applause). The Bolton peal was lost through someone inadvertently putting out the light. They sympathised with both bands (hear, hear). Coming to the question of broadcasting, Mr. Walker paid tribute to what had been done by the College Youths at Bow, and said some of the ringing which they had done there for the purpose could never be excelled (applause). Broadcasting at Bow was a very big proposition, and he took it as a compliment that the broadcasting the following evening was to be done by London and provincial members. They had heard that evening the beautiful handbell ringing by Mrs. Hughes, and he hoped they would some day hear broadcast an exhibition of her ringing such as they had enjoyed that night (applause). Proceeding, Mr. Walker referred to a recent leading article in 'The Ringing World' on the apathy of ringers. They all knew that to keep ringing alive they must put their shoulder to the wheel. They might not get much encouragement, but they must not relax their efforts. They must do all they could to maintain interest in the art, and he wondered if it would be possible, on the occasion of such gatherings as that, to have, as a preliminary to the other proceedings, an informal conference on subjects relating to the promotion of the art. They were very representative gatherings, and if they could have an hour's discussion they might get many valuable hints. He was a member of an engineering association in Birmingham, and at a meeting before their annual dinner they discussed in an informal manner the working of various engineering societies. There were four important ringers' dinners in the year, and, if they could adopt this plan at each, some valuable suggestions for the Central Council, who met only once a year, might be made, and great benefit accrue to the various societies (hear, hear.) In conclusion, Mr. Walker urged the maintenance of the traditions of the old societies, and in order that this might be done, they must bring others along to continue the work when the present ringers were finished.

The remaining toast was 'The Press,' proposed by Mr. R. T. Hibbert and responded to by Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, Editor of 'The Ringing World.'

The feature of the musical programme was the handbell ringing of Mrs. Hughes, whose performance elicited vociferous applause. She played first Braga's 'La Serenata' and 'Love's old-sweet song' (Molloy), and gave the familiar 'Ash Grove' as an encore. The solos were rendered with harp accompaniment by Mr. E. A. Young. Mr. P. C. Burden played a selection from 'Il Trovatore' on the violin, accompanied by Mr. J. Langrill, and a gramophone record of 'Bow Bells' aroused considerable interest. It is a record by the Columbia Gramophone Co. (No. 4082), in which the famous bells are heard rung in musical call changes. The vocalists were Mr. T. Warren, who sang 'Neptune,' and Mr. J. Bullock who gave 'My old Shako' and 'Tally Ho!' The pleasant evening came to a close all too soon with 'Auld Lang Syne.'

EAST HAGBOURNE, BERKS.

AN APPEAL FOR FUNDS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—A few weeks ago in the columns of 'The Ringing World' was published a short account of an Oxford Guild branch meeting. One of the items of business was a restoration grant to help get the fine old peal of eight at East Hagbourne relung. This has to be done with new frame and fittings, and will be approximately a £500 job.

Hagbourne was, and is, one of the few places where visitors, whether as a band or as individuals, were always welcomed for a peal attempt. The villagers being very proud and fond of their bells. Just over £300 has been raised, and as the work will shortly be put in hand we appeal for assistance from fellow ringers, reminding all that every little helps.

The following ringers have promised to collect as much as possible in their respective districts, and to forward same to the proper quarter:

- Mr. F. J. Lewis, of Cirencester.
- Mr. J. Dearlove, of Brighton.
- Mr. G. Caudwell, of Oxford.
- Mr. W. H. J. Hooton, Nuneaton and Cambridge.
- Rev. H. B. Woolley, Long Stanton, Cambridge.
- Mr. T. East, East Hagbourne.
- Mr. R. T. Hibbert, of 69, York Road, Reading.

The above earnestly beg for support, as all are hoping to see the work completed in the near future.—Yours, etc.

R. T. HIBBERT.

WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

THE COMING DIVISION OF THE DIOCESE.

The annual meeting of the Winchester District was held at Southampton on Saturday, November 6th. St. Mary's and St. Michael's bells were available to members during the afternoon and evening, the methods rung ranging from Grandsire Triples to London Surprise. Service was held in St. Michael's Church, conducted by the Vicar, Rev. R. A. R. Spread, the Guild form of service being used, and Mr. D. C. Williams, F.R.C.O., presiding at the organ.

Tea and business meeting took place in St. Michael's Parish Hall, Rev. Canon Braithwaite being in the chair, supported by the Vicar of St. Michael's, Rev. J. Parmiter (Vicar of Holy Rood), Mr. Churchwarden Hunt, Mr. Geo. Williams (Master), Mr. Geo. Pullinger (general secretary), and members from Bishopstoke, Bishop Sutton, Hursley, Fareham, Dibden, North Stoneham, Southampton, Twyford, Stockbridge, Lymington, Winchester, Bournemouth, Ringwood, Mr. F. Lambeth (Chippenham), Mr. S. Procter (Grantham), and Mr. S. R. Roper (of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston's, Croydon).

The balance sheet showed receipts £15 Os. 9d., expenditure, including instruction at Stockbridge, £5 10s. 9d. £8 2s. had been handed over to the Guild treasurer, leaving a balance in hand of £1 7s. 11½d., which was considered satisfactory and passed.

All the officers were re-elected, viz.: Chairman, Rev. Canon Braithwaite; district secretary, Mr. W. T. Tucker; auditor, Mr. G. Smith; with Mr. W. Andrews and Mr. J. W. Faithfull as representatives on the Central Committee. The next question discussed was the division of the diocese, and the following resolution, which was passed at Southampton on November 3rd, 1925, was placed before the meeting and carried unanimously: 'That when the present diocese is divided, this meeting of the Winchester District is very strongly in favour of the Guild continuing as hitherto, and that the title be changed to the Winchester, Guildford and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild. We invite ringers in the new dioceses of Guildford and Portsmouth to remain in unity with us, and to help carry on the great work and great name of the Winchester Diocesan Guild.'

It was decided to hold the next annual meeting on the first Saturday in November, 1927, at Winchester.

Quarterly meetings were arranged for the first Saturday in February at New Abresford, first Saturday in May at Stockbridge, last Saturday in August at Sherfield English.

The Vicars of Holy Rood and St. Michael's were elected honorary members of the Guild, and the local band were elected members.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Rector of St. Mary's, Archdeacon Daldy, and the Rev. R. A. R. Spread, Vicar of St. Michael's, and to the chairman for presiding.

NOTES BY THE WAY.*GEORGE NEWSON AND THE ROYAL CUMBERLAND SOCIETY.

BY J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

The first peal recorded by the 'Bell News' was by the College Youths. It was not till the sixth issue that an account of a Cumberland peal appears, but the second peal was conducted by the man who, at that time, was the leader of the latter society. The performance was of no particular account—Grandsire Triples—but the band contains men who were well known among ringers—George Minton, A. J. Perkins, W. Doran, S. Jarman and George Newson.

George Newson, the latest of the famous ringers and conductors who were connected with the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, was one of the many London ringers who came from the Eastern Counties. He was born at Carbrook in the county of Norfolk in the year 1844. In his twentieth year he went to London, and at once joined the Cumberlands. He rang his first peal on March 25th, 1867, at St. Stephen's, Westminster. The method was Grandsire Triples, and the conductor John Cox, at that time steeplekeeper at St. Bride's, Fleet Street, leader of the society, and one who ranked among the foremost ringers and composers of the country. Newson quickly became one of the leading ringers of London, and between 1867 and 1896 he rang 357 peals, of which he conducted 258. The methods were Grandsire Triples, Major, Caters and Cinques; Stedman Triples, Caters and Cinques; Kent Treble Bob Major, Royal and Maximus; Bob Major; Double Norwich Court Bob Major; Cambridge, Superlative and London Surprise Major. In those days three hundred and fifty peals was a very good score, the number of men who had rung peals in the three standard Surprise Methods was very small, and the fact that Newson had rung as many as 58 peals of Double Norwich put him and his band among the most advanced in the country.

The first notable peal he took part in was 8,896 of Kent Treble Bob Major in 1876 at St. Ann's, Highgate, the longest peal then—and still—composed in the method with the tenors together. John Reeves had published in the 'Clavis' an 8,448, which he considered to be the greatest length obtainable. This was rung by the Junior Society of Cumberland Youths in 1787 at St. Mary's, Whitechapel, William Shipway being one of the band.

In 1869 John Thorp, of Ashton-under-Lyne, succeeded in getting two peals three leads longer, 8,544 changes. One of them was rung on November 15th, 1873, at Christ Church, Liversedge, as the composition of William Sottanstill. Sottanstill may have composed it independently, but as his record as a plaguist of other men's compositions is a very bad one, it is, to say the least, doubtful. In 1874 John Thorp produced an 8,864, and called it for the Ashton band at St. Peter's, Ashton, on February 21st of that year. In 1876 William Harrison obtained a peal one lead longer, or 8,896 changes. This was sent to J. W. Snowdon, who forwarded it on to Henry Hubbard, who was able to include it in the appendix of the 1876 edition of his 'Campanalogia.'

A copy of the book was received by the secretary of the Cumberlands on April 26th, a band was at once made up, and the peal rung the following afternoon. Henry Dains, who rang in the peal, related that so great was Newson's enthusiasm for ringing that he not only gave up a day's work and put everything else aside to ring this peal, but he persuaded his whole band to do the same thing,

The following are the particulars: 'On Thursday, April 27th, 1876, at St. Ann's, Highgate Rise, London, the Cumberland Youths rang Mr. W. Harrison's peal of 8,896 changes of Kent Treble Bob Major, being the greatest length ever obtained with the tenors together, in 5 hrs. 22 mts. G. Newson 1, H. Dains 2, J. Cox 3, J. Howe 4, D. Stackwood 5, E. Gibbs 6, S. Jarman 7, J. Barrett 8. Conducted by G. Newson. Tenor 15 cwt.' Mr. Gibbs is the only survivor of the band. At least four of the band, Newson, Gibbs, Dains and Stackwood, were East Anglians.

David Stackwood was an Aylsham man. His father and his brother Robert were both good ringers at that Norfolk tower. When I was a boy I knew the old man quite well, and the last time I met him he was very insistent in extracting a promise from me that when he died I should be one of the band to ring a muffled peal for him. I forget whether the promise was kept.

As already mentioned, Double Norwich was one of Newson's favourite methods, and thirty years ago Double Norwich was reckoned as one of the advanced methods, not practised except by the most proficient bands. The first peal in the method in London was rung as far back as 1786 by the Junior Cumberlands; the second two years later by the Senior Cumberlands; the third, also by the Cumberlands, was not rung till 1840; the fourth was by the St. James' Society in 1848, and the fifth by the College Youths in the same year. Then for 27 years no peal in the method was rung in London. This silence was broken in 1877 by the following peal: 'Royal Cumberland Youths. Rung on the bells of St. George's Church, Camberwell, on April 9th, 1877, a true and excellent peal, containing 5,040 changes of that most musical method, Double Norwich Court Bob Major. The performance occupied three hours; the striking was excellent throughout; and the band stationed as follows: George Newson 1, Henry Dains 2, Joseph W. Cattle 3, Henry Swan 4, George Harvey 5, Edwin Gibbs 6, David Stackwood 7, James Barrett 8. Composed and conducted by Mr. George Newson.'

HALIFAX ASSOCIATION'S CONTEST.

At the postponed six-bell contest of the Halifax and District Association, three teams entered. Each rang 600 Oxford Treble Bob Minor, and the cup was won by Batley with 116 faults and 10 penalty, total 126. The other competitors were: Meltham, 274 faults, 20 penalty, total 294; Holmfirth, rang out.

The annual meeting of the Association followed the contest, the president, Mr. C. E. Carrington, occupying the chair.

In moving the adoption of the balance sheet, which showed a debit balance of £1, the chairman said it was regrettable that the members did not pay their subscriptions more regularly. No doubt, he said, it would be far better also if the Vicars of the various parishes took more interest in the ringers, and became honorary members.—Mr. Booth (Holmfirth) seconded, and the balance sheet was carried unanimously.

The retiring officials were re-elected: President, Mr. C. E. Carrington; treasurer, Mr. F. Salmous; secretary, Mr. L. Hargreaves, all of Halifax.

The President moved thanks to the Vicar (Rev. T. W. Greaves) and churchwardens, for use of bells, also to the ladies for providing such an excellent tea.—Mr. Earnshaw seconded, and the Vicar, in reply, said he was sorry he had not been able to hear the ringing, but he hoped that they had all had a good time, and he hoped to see them again at Oxenhope before long.

Mr. Granger also spoke and gave the ringers a hearty invitation. The judges (Mr. G. H. Hardy and Mr. J. Barraclough) were thanked for their services, and, having given their award, the Vicar presented the cup to Mr. Senior of the Batley company.

MR. CLAUDE J. DAVIES' 50 PEALS.

Mixed Minor methods 3, Cambridge Surprise Minor 1, Grandsire Triples 5, Grandsire Caters 2, Grandsire Cinques 1, Stedman Triples 4, Stedman Caters 6, Stedman Cinques 1, Bob Major 3, Bob Maximus 1, Kent Treble Bob Major 12, Kent Treble Bob Royal 2, Oxford Treble Bob Major 3, Double Norwich Major 4, Superlative Surprise Major 1, Cambridge Surprise Major 1; total 50.

BEGINNERS' COLUMN.

CONDUCTING.—BY GEORGE WILLIAMS.

As I remarked in my last article, it is very difficult to explain anything about the rudiments of ringing more simply than it is now given in our modern ringing books. Unfortunately (or it may, perhaps, have been fortunate for me), when I was called upon to teach a young band on the augmentation of our ring from six to eight bells at Soberton, Hants, in 1883-4, I was not armed with anything compared with the ringing literature of the present day, therefore I had to dig into the mysteries of the art as best I could, and map out my own ideas.

This, no doubt, has helped me very considerably in making any progress whenever opportunities have presented themselves. I often wonder what our total number of peals would have been by now had there been as many opportunities then as there are at the present day. But, of course, change ringing, like most other pursuits, has advanced with the times. But, coming to the point of conducting, I would say to the would-be conductor, 'teach.' This is how I started, and what I have been continually trying to do throughout my whole ringing career, believing, as I do, there is much more to be learnt by teaching than all you can get from books.

At Bratton, Wilts, on Sunday, October 31st (the eve of All Saints' Day), at the Church of St. James the Great, for evening service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes): J. Cook 1, C. H. Lawrence (conductor) 2, W. J. Chapman 3, H. G. Smith 4, B. Cook 5, H. J. Lawrence 6. First quarter-peal as conductor by C. H. Lawrence, who is only 17 years of age and a promising young ringer. First quarter-peal by the ringer of tenor, who is the father of the conductor.

On Saturday evening, October 16th, at St. John's Church, Marston Magna, Somerset, at the quarterly meeting of the Castle Cary Branch, 720 Grandsire Doubles was rung by: E. G. L. Coward 1, P. Hazzard 2, P. Rainey 3, H. Shute 4, F. A. Coward (conductor) 5, G. Bugby 6. This was the longest length by ringers of 3rd and tenor, who are local men.—Also 1st Plain Bob Doubles: P. Rainey 1, P. Hazzard 2, E. G. L. Coward 3, F. A. Coward 4, W. Shute (conductor) 5, G. Bugby 6. First in the method by ringers of treble and tenor.

At Horsington, Somerset, on Tuesday, October 19th, 240 Kent Treble Bob Minor: H. Andrews 1, P. Hazzard 2, J. Ralph 3, E. G. L. Coward 4, L. Perrett 5, W. Shute (conductor) 6. Longest length in the method by all except the conductor.—Also 360 in the same method: W. Shute 2, F. A. Coward (conductor) 6, remainder as before.

ANOTHER RING OF EIGHT FOR ESSEX.
DUNMOW'S OCTAVE COMPLETED.

Considerably over a hundred ringers accepted the invitation to the dedication and opening of the two new treble bells at Dunmow, on Sunday, October 31st. The ceremony was performed by the Bishop of Colchester in the presence of a very large congregation. Evensong was sung by the Vicar (Rev. W. J. House, D.D.).

Last year the old ring of six were rehung in a steel frame for eight. The two bells have now been given, the treble by the Baron Bell Trust and Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins in memory of an old parishioner of Dunmow, Mrs. Eliza Jane Lodge, inscribed: 'Benedicite omnia opera Domini'; and the second by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Harris, of Dunmow, inscribed: 'Sursum corda.'

Immediately after the dedication rounds were rung by the local company. The Bishop, in his address, referred to the fine example of the Dunmow ringers, who in their spare time last winter put in the new bell floor as a labour of love, and who this winter were going to put in a new clock floor.

The first touch on the bells was by a representative band from eight different parishes, who rang Double Norwich Court Bob Major in excellent style, conducted by Mr. W. Keeble, Kelvedon. Among these present were: Mr. C. H. Howard (Master of the Essex Association), Mr. F. J. Pitslow (general secretary and treasurer), Mr. P. Taylor (Loughborough), Messrs. W. J. Nevad, F. Claydon, E. J. Butley, R. W. Stannard, H. Dew, C. Beeston (district officers), Messrs. W. and G. R. Pye, W. Keeble, W. Elliott, L. W. and G. Wiffen, H. E. Hammond, A. Saunders, W. Duffield, W. H. Fussell, of Slough, and many other distinguished ringers. Touches were brought round in the following methods: Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob and Treble Bob Major, Double Norwich, Cambridge, Superlative and London Surprise. The bells are a very melodious ring with a tenor of 21 cwt., and reflect great credit on Messrs. Taylor and Co., who have carried out the whole of the work in a very satisfactory manner. The bells are hung with ball bearings. The 'go' is perfect, and the tone was the admiration of all who heard them.

The visitors were entertained to tea by the Parochial Church Council and ringers.

SUNDAY SERVICE TOUCHES.

ISLEWORTH.—On Sunday, November 7th, for evening service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: P. Norton 1, H. W. Lidbetter 2, H. A. Harding 3, R. Thompson (conductor) 4, E. V. Beadle 5, W. H. Hollier 6, A. Harding 7, H. Sheard 8.

FARNHAM, SURREY.—On Sunday, November 7th, at St. Andrew's Church, for morning service, a quarter-peal (1,260 changes) of Grandsire Triples in 46 mins.: G. Upshall 1, J. Rend 2, C. Wells 3, S. Meadows 4, H. Kemp 5, T. Upshall 6, R. Hasted (conductor) 7, A. E. King 8.—For evening service, 464 Bob Major, and a course of Stedman Triples, in which R. J. Hasted, of Havant, rang the 6th.

DOVER, KENT.—On Sunday, November 7th (Armistice Sunday), at St. Mary's Church, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes) in 46 mins.: H. J. Saunders 1, S. Baker (Cheriton) 2, R. J. Birch (Hythe) 3, R. H. Stevens 4, H. Whitehead 5, G. Turner 6, C. R. Millway (conductor) 7, C. Hardeman 8.

LONDON.—On Sunday, November 7th, at St. Clement Danes' Church, Strand, for evening, a quarter-peal of Stedman Caters: Miss E. E. Hardecastle 1, J. Lee 2, R. Saunders 3, Miss E. E. Chapman 4, Miss F. E. Orr 5, Miss R. G. Hawksworth 6, R. A. Fardon 7, W. Hart (Brighton) 8, C. W. Roberts (conductor) 9, E. C. Garrad (longest length on ten bells) 10.

SOUTHAMPTON, HANTS.—At St. Mary's Church, on November 7th, for evening service, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes): J. W. Faithfull (first quarter of Stedman as conductor) 1, H. Payne 2, H. Badger (Eastleigh) 3, F. Mursell 4, F. Lambert (Chippenhams) 5, S. Procter (Grantham, Lincs) 6, F. Blondell 7, H. Nash 8. Arranged for Mr. Sidney Procter.

RAINHAM, KENT.—On Sunday, November 7th, for 3 p.m. Remembrance Day service, a half-muffled quarter-peal of Bob Major (1,264 changes): W. Rayner 1, A. Munkelw 2, P. O. A. Ockwell, R.N., 3, F. R. White 4, J. H. Champion 5, W. J. Walker 6, C. Belsey 7, G. Gilbert (conductor) 8.

DARLINGTON.—At St. John's Church, on Sunday, October 31st, for the choir festival, 1,008 Grandsire Triples: A. Coates 1, F. W. Johnson, jun., 2, F. W. Johnson, sen., 3, F. Cooke 4, R. H. Johnson 5, Wm. Broadley (conductor) 6, H. Broadley 7, H. Taylor 8.

EDENBRIDGE.—On Sunday evening, October 24th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes), having the 24 6-7's: E. Leigh, jun. (first quarter) 1, H. Leigh 2, W. Leigh, sen., 3, E. Collison 4, Er. Leigh 5, G. Malyon 6, J. Heasman (composer and conductor) 7, W. Leigh, jun., 8.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

DEVIZES BRANCH MEETING AT WARMINSTER.

The quarterly meeting of Devizes Branch, postponed from October, was held at Warminster on Saturday, November 6th, at the Minster Church of St. Deny, and was largely attended. Ringing commenced at about 3 p.m., and at 4.30 the Vicar (Rev. A. R. Beliers, M.A.) unveiled and dedicated a peal board, erected in the ringing chamber, recording five peals recently rung in the tower. The ceremony was to have been performed by the Master of the Guild (the Rev. R. H. Gundry, or Stratton, Dorset), who, to the regret of all present, was prevented by illness from attending.

The usual Guild service followed in the church, and was conducted by the Vicar. At the subsequent tea in the Magnet Rooms, between 20 and 30 sat down, including the Vicar.

A short business meeting followed, the chairman of the branch (Mr. C. D. Heginbotham, of Devizes) presiding.

After a humorous speech by the chairman, five new practising members were elected, and the Rev. A. R. Beliers was elected an honorary member.

The chairman thanked the Vicar and the organist, and the Vicar, in a humorous speech, replied, saying how much he appreciated the work of the ringers, and how much he liked the singing during the service, especially the ringers' hymn.

The ringers then returned to the tower, where they were joined by Mr. J. T. Dyke (secretary of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association) and Messrs. Ronald and Reginald Beck. Touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Major were rung during the afternoon and evening.

Ringers, including Mrs. Wills, of Warminster, and Miss N. Wilkins, of Bath, were present from Warminster; Mere, Buckhorn Weston, Trowbridge, Melksham, Devizes (St. John's and St. Mary's), Bradford-on-Avon (Holy Trinity), Bratton and Rowde. The next meeting is to be held at Holy Trinity, Bradford-on-Avon.

The ringers of Warminster are to be congratulated on the erection of the peal board and improvements in the ringing chamber, also upon the advance they have made in change-ringing, altogether worthy of the fine church at Warminster.

This was a good meeting, and would, no doubt, have been more largely attended but for the inclement weather.

A PROPOSED NEW GUILD.

The division of the Diocese of Winchester is likely to bring with it a partition of the Diocesan Guild, which has been in existence since the year 1879. The diocese at present covers Hampshire, the Isle of Wight and the Channel Islands, and a considerable part of Surrey. The Diocesan Guild has been one of the best organised and most successful in the country. Now, however, the diocese is to be divided into three, and new sees are to be created, one centred on Portsmouth and the other on Guildford, and it is in the Guildford District that the desire is strong for a separate Diocesan Guild. The Guildford District has always been one of the strongest numerically in the Guild, and at the moment has over a hundred and sixty members and seventeen affiliated towers. Guildford District, however, by no means covers the whole of the proposed new diocese. The York Town District, with a hundred members and twelve affiliated towers, has up to the present been desirous of remaining with Winchester in a joint association. There are other towers in the north-east corner of the diocese which have never taken kindly to affiliation with Winchester, and, whatever happens elsewhere, their position is not likely to be affected.

The success of a separate Guildford Diocesan Guild, therefore, depends upon a uniting of the forces in the Guildford and York Town districts, and much will depend upon the attitude of the members of the latter at their annual meeting to-morrow. Co-operation between the two branches will smooth away many of the difficulties, and a Guild which could be assured at the outset of nearly thirty towers and over 250 members has great possibilities. But the task before the organisers of the proposed new Diocesan Guild is not an easy one, as those who know the special local circumstances fully realise. We believe, however, this much may be said. Whatever may be the feelings of the members of the remaining part of the Guild, if the towers in the new Guildford diocese can find unanimity and show a desire to work together in promoting the welfare of a new association, then, however much their departure may be regretted, they will begin their new career with the goodwill and the best wishes of those from whom they part company.

The Portsmouth Area has expressed its desire to remain in unity with the Winchester diocese, under an expanded title, just as Durham and Newcastle, Bath and Wells, Gloucester and Bristol, Llandaff and Glamorgan, have respectively remained united in ringing matters. They would like to see Guildford retaining its connection with the old organisation, and the Guild Committee were to report upon the subject at the next annual meeting.

Last Saturday's decision at Guildford, however, has cut the ground from under their feet, but, despite that, it is unlikely that anything will be done to create dissension in Surrey. As we said before, if a spirit of concord is shown in Guildford and York Town Districts, the spirit of goodwill will doubtless show itself over the Hampshire border. In that case the proposed new Guild could go forward upon a career of usefulness, fully justifying its existence and taking its place among the leading associations of the country.

DEATH OF AN OLDSWINFORD RINGER.

The death took place on Friday, November 5th, of Mr. William Alfred Pugh, of 165, Hagley Road, Oldswinford, Stourbridge, following a protracted illness. He leaves a widow and a grown-up family of two daughters and a son. Mr. Pugh was the second son of the late Mr. William Pugh, a ringer of fifty years ago, and he also was one of four brothers who became campanologists, and only one of whom, Mr. Walter Pugh, of Cradley, now survives. A sister with her four brothers used to complete the party of the Pugh family of handbell ringers who were associated with St. Thomas' parish, and performed at most of the social gatherings which were held forty years ago. The late Mr. W. A. Pugh, who was 69 years old, made a study of change ringing, and had taken part in a number of peals both for the Worcestershire Association and the Dudley and District Guild, of which he was a member. For a number of years he was towerkeeper at St. Thomas' Church, Stourbridge, a position his father used to hold, since when he has been a member of the Oldswinford St. Mary's band. The deceased gentleman was an old Volunteer, having joined the former 'D' Company (Wordsley) of the 1st South Staffs Volunteer Battalion in the year 1883. Mr. Pugh was well known and respected, and a large circle of friends will hear with regret of his passing.

The funeral took place on Tuesday, November 9th, at St. Mary's Church, the Rev. H. H. Williams (Rector) conducting the last rites. The mourners were Mr. W. Pugh (son), Mr. N. Rowley (son-in-law), Mr. Walter Pugh (brother), and Mr. C. Baggott (brother-in-law). The following ringers acted as bearers: Messrs. J. Orford, A. J. Skelding, J. Goodman, Geo. Rowley, Percy Pope and A. Smith. Mr. A. J. Skelding (secretary of the Northern Branch) represented the Worcester Association, and Messrs. J. Goodman and G. Rowley the Dudley and District Guild. Amongst those present were: Messrs. Geo. H. Pagett (Stourbridge), Thomas Heathcock (Oldswinford) and C. W. Cooper (Lyc).

There were a number of beautiful floral tributes, including one each from the Oldswinford band, and Stourbridge St. Thomas' band of ringers, and one from Mr. and Mrs. J. Goodman, sen. and jun., of Dudley.

In the evening the following members rang a touch of Grandsire Triples (1,344 changes) at St. Mary's Church, Oldswinford, with the bells half-muffled as a token of respect to an old ringing comrade: Sidney Yeaton 1, David Heathcock 2, John Bass 3, Robert Matthews 4, Percy Pope 5, Wm. Gibbs 6, J. Goodman, jun., 7, Thos. Whitehouse 8.

BURTON-ON-STATHER, LINCS.—On Tuesday, November 2nd, 720 Kent Treble Bob: B. Gillatt 1, J. Coles 2, Mrs. J. Bray 3, B. Bray 4, G. Hobbins 5, J. Bray (conductor) 6. First 720 of Treble Bob for ringers of 1, 2 and 4.

Lloyd 4, W. Chaplin 5, J. Burge 6, A. Wyatt 7, S. Wyatt 8, W. Lloyd 9, F. Sadd 10, E. Wyatt 11, J. Fowler 12.

PONTEFRAC.—On Sunday, October 30th, for evening service at the Parish Church, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters (1,259 changes): A. Walker, sen., 1, A. Fox 2, J. Ager 3, W. Fox 4, J. H. Lenton 5, W. Senior 6, H. C. Walters (conductor) 7, T. Holder 8, V. Applegate 9, A. Walker, jun., 10.

SOUTHWELL.—At the Cathedral, on Sunday, October 10th, for parish evensong, 1,296 Stedman Triples by the following: E. H. Clulow 1, A. J. Chamberlain 2, G. E. Foster 3, F. Pickard 4, H. F. Clulow 5, J. F. Milner (conductor) 6, E. Foster 7, W. D. Shorthose 8. Rang as a birthday compliment to ringers of 1 and 3.—On Tuesday, Nov. 2nd, 1,260 Grandsire Triples: T. Foster 1, E. H. Clulow 2, G. E. Foster 3, F. Pickard 4, H. F. Clulow 5, E. Foster 6, A. J. Chamberlain (conductor) 7, W. D. Shorthose 8. Rang with the bells half-muffled as a token of respect to Mr. Milner, of Kirklington, father of one of the Cathedral ringers.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Messrs. J. B. Joyce and Co., Ltd., have just fixed a new chiming clock at the Parish Church, Lydeard St. Lawrence, Somerset. They have also added Cambridge chimes to the clock at Wrenbury Parish Church, Cheshire, and also reconstructed the clock and added Westminster chimes at St. Mary's Church, Finedon, Northants.

Our bell-hanging has come, apparently, to a pretty pass. The big firms are doing their work too well.

At one Lancashire tower, where Messrs. Taylor and Co. hung the bells on ball bearings, a request was made by some well-known ringers for the use of the bells for a peal. The reply was to the effect that the bells were now so delicately hung that there might be some damage done unless the ringers were accustomed to them, therefore the request was refused!

Another interesting point for the consideration of the bell founders has just been brought to the front. At a certain Hampshire tower, a local ringer was being congratulated upon the excellent new peal that had been installed, when he rather surprised the gentleman offering congratulations by saying he didn't like them as well as the old bells (a very indifferent lot).

When asked what was the matter, he replied that the bells were too 'tinny.' 'Why,' he said, 'when you stand outside the tower you can hear the tin in them!' (Collapse of the gentleman with the congratulations.)

They are still laughing in a certain northern city at the ringer who forgot to put his clock back at the beginning of October and turned up to ring an hour before time.

William Walker 'designed and called' a peal of 5,040 Bob Major Triples rung on November 22nd, 1721, at Mortlake, Surrey. The old board records that it was the third time this peal (meaning, presumably, the method) was ever rung. William Walker rang peals more than twenty years later at Richmond, and it was probably his son of the same name who took part in '5,040 Grandsire Trebbles Double' at Richmond in 1767, and '10,640 Bob Majors' at Mortlake in 1776.

The first silent peal of Stedman Triples was rung at Burton-on-Trent on November 20th, 1886. The band contained some famous names—C. H. Hattersley, J. Carter, H. Bastable, J. Griffin, S. Reeves, W. Wakley, J. Jagger, and A. Thomas.

One of the earliest 'family' peals was rung at Soham on November 20th, 1809, when eight Tebbits rang 5,208 Oxford Treble Bob Major.

The first peal of Grandsire Cinques on the present twelve at St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich, was rung on November 23rd, 1775.

On the same day in 1732, the Society of City Scholars, long since defunct, rang a peal of 6,012 Grandsire Caters at Cripplegate.

The Eastern Scholars scored a 15,120 Bob Major at West Ham, in 8 hours 40 minutes, on November 25th, 1737. At that time it was, of course, the longest peal ever rung.

For the benefit of Miss Shade, sister of the late Mr. I. G. Shade, and who was for many years housekeeper to this well-known ringer, a set of sixteen handbells is to be disposed of in a competition, among those who subscribe a shilling each. Single tickets or books of ten can be obtained from 'The Ringing World' office, and the Editor will be glad to receive the assistance of anyone who can distribute them.

THE LONDON SURPRISE RECORD.

ANOTHER ATTEMPT TO BE MADE.

All being well, another attempt to ring the 14,144 London Surprise Major will be made at Warnham, Sussex, on Saturday, November 27th, starting at 10.30 a.m. The band will be as on the previous occasion, when the peal was lost after seven hours' ringing.

SUPERLATIVE SURPRISE MAXIMUS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—The late Mr. W. L. Catchpole gave me the figures of Superlative Maximus, as printed by Mr. Geo. Baker, before 1912, although I cannot say the exact date, and I was always under the impression that he had produced them long before that. However, the extension is quite a natural one, and anyone attempting to extend the method to twelve could hardly get anything else. This being so, and in the face of so many different persons obtaining the same thing independently, it can scarcely be claimed by anyone as his discovery.—Yours truly,

CHAS. J. SEDGLEY.

TOWER THAT CRACKED NUTS.

The members of the Port of Bristol Authority Staff Association and their friends paid a visit to Temple Church recently, under the leadership of Canon Welchman, who gave the party an interesting description of the church, and subsequently showed them round the building. Queen Elizabeth, he said, was very interested in this church when visiting Bristol, and, after returning to London, sent the Duke of Norfolk to see whether it was true that people cracked nuts between the tower and the walls when the bells were rung. The Duke paid the visit, and saw the thing actually done.

THE DIVISION OF WINCHESTER DIOCESE

A NEW GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD DECIDED UPON.

An important decision was taken on Saturday at the annual meeting of the Guildford District of the Winchester Diocesan Guild, when it was resolved to inaugurate a separate Guild of ringers for the new diocese of Guildford when it is finally formed.

Despite a dreaching afternoon, the meeting was attended by representatives of most of the affiliated towers in the district, there being nearly 70 members present. Mr. W. Harrison, an honorary member, presided, and he was supported by Rev. Canon G. F. Coleridge, Admiral T. P. Walker, Major J. H. B. Hesse, Mr. G. Pullinger (general secretary of the Guild), Mr. E. Raddon (hon. secretary of the district), and Mr. C. Hazelden (district Ringing Master).

Although coming last on the agenda, the matter provoked a long and animated discussion.

THE ALTERNATIVES.

The Chairman said they had to consider whether it was desirable to form a Guildford Diocesan Guild, when the diocese was formed, or whether they would continue with the dioceses of Winchester and Portsmouth under a new title. He did not think it was at all possible for the new diocese to be formed before next St. Swinlun's Day, which was July 15th. He understood they were holding the annual meeting of the Winchester Diocesan Guild in Guildford some time before that date, so that he did not think it was at all incumbent upon them, unless they desired to do so, to take a binding vote that evening.

Mr. R. Whittington thereupon moved 'that on the creation of the Guildford diocese, a Guildford Diocesan Guild of Change Ringers be formed, to take effect at the first annual meeting after the actual creation of the diocese.—Mr. S. Radford seconded. No speeches were made by either the proposer or seconder, and Mr. J. S. Goldsmith moved as an amendment: 'That this meeting of the Guildford District of the Winchester Diocesan Guild of Change Ringers is of opinion that a division of the diocese does not make desirable at present a division of the Winchester Diocesan Guild, and recommends that it be continued as a united body under a title to be hereafter decided upon.' He said that while he agreed that ultimately a Guildford Diocesan Guild would become desirable, there was at present within the area too great a divergence of opinion on the subject, and they should wait until, by propaganda or otherwise, a greater unanimity prevailed. He pointed out that two years ago the York Town District, which would also come into the new diocese, had expressed an opinion against dividing from the Winchester Diocesan Guild, and they had also to recollect that a number of towers in the Leatherhead district were standing aloof. It would be better, he urged, to wait for a separate Guild, until they could be sure of bringing in the majority of the towers in the diocese, instead of running the risk of virtual failure by starting with a divided camp.

Mr. A. H. Pulling seconded the amendment. He said it would be a different matter if they could persuade the clergy to induce their ringers to come into the Guild, but they knew that the Surrey Association was doing good work in the county, that towers in the Leatherhead District preferred the Surrey Association to the Winchester Guild, while in the York Town District there was also a branch of the county organisation. York Town District was strongly in favour of staying with the Winchester Guild, and it was possible, if a change was forced, some of the towers would go over to the Surrey Association. He agreed with the opinion that they should wait until the new Bishop was appointed. If he wanted to have the ringers of the diocese under his own wing it would then be time to go on.

IN THE BEST INTERESTS OF RINGING.

Mr. J. J. Jones (who for many years was secretary of the Guildford District) said when the district was first formed they were told that they would be able to do nothing; and they did nothing for nearly six weeks (laughter), and then the towers came rolling in. The Guildford District had not only paid its way but had paid part of the expenses of the rest of the Guild. Since the year 1904 it had paid something like £200 to the central fund of the Guild, and if only half that sum had been spent in that district they would have 'roped in' all the six-bell towers, with a corresponding increase in the subscriptions. If they had no more new members, they would have 131 in that district alone to start the Guild with. When the Winchester Guild was started there were only 35 members. He believed a separate Guild would be in the best interest of ringing. If it was good for Church life to have a new diocese, it was good for bell ringing. If they could have a meeting once a month, they would keep their towers in better touch with the Guild and get more and better Sunday ringing. The time to start the new Guild was at the division of the diocese, so that they might catch the wave of enthusiasm which would inevitably arise.

Mr. W. Melville said when the new Bishop began to get his organisations together he would not be satisfied unless all the branches of Church work were diocesan in character. In the branch in which they were interested they had got plenty of enthusiasm as long as somebody else did the work (laughter). That branch would never be what it ought to be until everybody that was skilled in ringing put his shoulder to the wheel. He believed that if they formed a Guildford Diocesan Guild, starting with small things, in another ten years practically the whole of the towers in the Guildford Diocese would come into the Guild. If they formed the Guild they would have to find officers somewhere, and unless people were willing to do the work they would not get very far.

A COMPACT DIOCESE.

The Chairman pointed out that the proposed new diocese would be singularly fortunate in being such a compact area, and he could see no logical reason why the towers in the York Town area could object to coming into a Diocesan Guild. If it was for the best interests of ringing that a separate Guild should be formed, they could not take notice of those who would not listen to reason. There was a desire to-day on the part of incumbents to do what had long been necessary—to recognise bell ringing as an integral part of church work. How much easier it would be to band together in good fellowship in the new Guildford Diocese with its 142 parishes, compared with the present large diocese of Winchester. In a Guildford Diocesan Guild they would be brought much more closely in touch with each other.

Mr. G. Pullinger said the reason why the York Town District was not in favour of a Guild for the diocese of Guildford was that they did not think it would succeed at present. He had studied the question, and he thought the chances were all against it succeeding at present. Personally he would like to see the Guild carried on as it now was, with perhaps a reorganisation, and he suggested that in each of the dioceses a sub-committee should be formed with the object of fostering and developing the diocesan spirit among the ringers, so that when the position was favourable separate Guilds could be formed. He urged the members to approach the question cautiously and not be in too much haste.

Mr. C. Hazelden said nearly fifty years ago the Winchester Guild was formed by a little band of men who were of good spirit and had plenty of courage and faith. With these characteristics he urged the members to go forward with the formation of a Guild for the Guildford diocese. He was quite aware of the difficulties and that certain border towers might be tempted to remain outside, particularly if the threat were carried out to form a Hampshire County Association. He was aware also of the opposition in the York Town District and of the activity of the Surrey Association, and while some of the opposition might not be overcome in their lifetime, there were generations yet unborn, to whom Winchester would be but an historic fact. Their lives would centre in the diocese of Guildford.

Mr. Whittington said he loved the Winchester Guild and everything connected with it, but when the ecclesiastical authorities decided that a new diocese should be formed, he wanted to follow suit and have a new diocesan Guild. If they were on the wrong track in splitting the Guild, then those who decided on the splitting of the diocese were also on the wrong track. Everything connected with the Church was becoming more and more diocesan in character, and, although there were suggestions that county associations might be formed, county associations could not possibly be of the same standard as diocesan associations. He was prepared to admit that they would have sentiment and prejudice to deal with, but it would gradually wear out. If they did not start the new diocesan Guild now, the time would come when they would have to, and he was in favour of taking the bull by the horns. Mr. Pullinger had said it could never be a success. He would like to ask him if the Guildford District was not a success?

Mr. Pullinger: Certainly it is.

Mr. Whittington: Then why should not a Guildford Diocesan Guild be a success?

Mr. Pullinger: Because the Guildford District does not cover the diocese.

WHEN BUCKS WAS IN THE DIOCESE OF LINCOLN.

Canon Coleridge, pressed for his views as an 'outsider,' said he was reluctant to intervene, as he was not in the diocese of Winchester. The diocese of Oxford, to which he belonged, at present consisted of three counties and was bigger than the diocese of Winchester. It had 653 parishes. In 1836, Berkshire belonged to the diocese of Salisbury. In 1845, and before, Buckinghamshire belonged to the diocese of Lincoln, and if there had been diocesan ringing Guilds in those days he did not think Berkshire would have remained with the Salisbury Guild or Bucks with the Lincoln Guild when they were formed into a new diocese. He had no doubt whatever that when Guildford got its new Bishop he would want to get into touch with the associations of all kinds in the diocese, and he would like to feel he had under him a body of men like the ringers. He (the speaker) had not the slightest doubt in his own mind that it would be a very wise thing indeed to have a Guildford Diocesan Guild of Ringers co-terminus with the diocese of Guildford. They would be a compact body, and when they got things into a small compact body they expanded and went on well, but he would urge them, if he might, not to be in too great a hurry. Let them wait and see. When their new Bishop came they would see exactly how the land lay and would be able to make a very sound nucleus for a diocesan Guild.

After some further discussion, the amendment was put and defeated by a large majority, and the original resolution was carried nem. con.

Mr. Goldsmith pointed out that having taken this step the meeting could not let the matter rest where it was. Those who had opposed immediate action would loyally support the decision of the majority, and he urged them, having embarked upon the scheme, to do the job properly. Their first aim ought to be to gain the support of the York Town District, and he suggested the appointment of a small delegation to attend the annual meeting of the York Town District on the following Saturday to lay the Guildford District's views before members there.

This was agreed to and a delegation appointed. A sub-committee was also appointed, with power to add to their number, to carry on any negotiations that might be necessary and to develop a scheme for the formation of the new Guild, which is to take effect from November next.

A HEALTHY DISTRICT.

Prior to the discussion, the customary business of the branch was transacted.

The hon. secretary's report showed the district had maintained its strength and now comprised 21 honorary members, 131 full members, 10 probationers, and four compounding members. There was a balance in hand of £8 8s. 8d. Subscriptions had amounted to £19 11s., and the expenditure to £12.

The Ringing Master reported 18 peals, distributed among ten towers, rung since the last meeting. This was a lower total than in 1925, but he did not think the falling-off was greater than the average had been throughout the country. A feature of the work during the year had been the visits to outlying six-bell towers, twelve of which had been visited and help given to the local bands. This work it was hoped to continue during the coming year. The Ringing Master pointed out that it was becoming more and more customary in churches for the interval between the celebration of Holy Eucharist and the morning service on Sundays to be reduced to such an extent that ringing was not possible. Where that was the case he hoped bands would meet to ring for the Eucharist.

The reports of the Secretary and Ringing Master were adopted and the district officers re-elected en bloc, as follows: Hon. secretary, Mr. E. Raddon; Ringing Master, Mr. C. Hazelden; representatives on the Guild Central Committee, Messrs. Whittington and Jones. Thirteen new members were elected, including the whole of the band at Blackmoor.

The meeting terminated with a vote of thanks to the chairman.

In the afternoon, the Guild's form of service was conducted in Holy Trinity Church by the Rector (Rev. Canon E. C. Kirwan), and an address given by the Bishop of Guildford, who referred to opportunities which ringers had of service to God by the exercise of body, mind and soul, a combination of effort which few, if any, others were called upon to exert in the work they did in connection with the Church.

The Bishop and the Rector, through Canon Coleridge, sent their regrets at being unable to attend the subsequent tea and meeting, but they were heartily thanked for their respective parts in the service.

Owing to the fact that on that afternoon the funeral took place of the Vicar of one of the Guildford parishes, no general ringing was possible, only a half-muffled touch of Stedman Triples being rung for the service. As the ringers assembled, however, they were enabled to find kindly shelter from the rain through the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Pulling, who were warmly thanked for their courtesy and consideration. But for this many visitors would have had to spend the afternoon in the rain-drenched streets.

PORTSMOUTH DISTRICT FAVOUR A UNITED GUILD.

The annual meeting was held at Havant on Saturday last, when the attendance was somewhat spoilt by the weather. Heavy rain fell continuously throughout the afternoon, but about twenty or more members put in an appearance, and the peal of eight were kept going in various methods until the service. This was conducted by the Rector (Rev. H. N. Rodgers), and the Guild's form was used.

The members then adjourned to tea, which was kindly provided by the Rector, who was voted to the chair at the business meeting which followed. At the outset he referred to the unavoidable absence of the secretary, who had unfortunately met with an accident the previous week, and the meeting wished him a speedy recovery.

The balance sheet showed receipts £17 5s., expenditure (including instruction at Havant, Bramshott and Netley) £9 3s. 3d., leaving a balance to the Guild treasurer of £8 1s. 9d. This was adopted by the meeting, together with the secretary's report for the year. Compared with the previous year, there had been an increase of eight hon. members, 17 full members, 15 probationers and three towers in union. Messrs. E. Hedger (Havant) and C. Shepherd and J. Cassidy (St. Thomas, Portsmouth), were elected full members, and Comd. Boyd-Richardson and Mr. Dymak White, honorary members subject to their approval.

The district officers were re-elected en bloc, viz.: Chairman, Mr. R. J. Stone; secretary, Mr. F. W. Rogers; auditor, Mr. H. J. Reynolds; representatives on Central Committee, Messrs. F. A. Burnett and R. J. Stone.

On the question of the division of the diocese, the meeting endorsed the resolution adopted by the Winchester District on the previous Saturday—that the Guild continue as hitherto; and also that, if the new diocese of Guildford should wish to have its own Guild, the dioceses of Winchester and Portsmouth remain in unity for association purposes.

On the subject of Mr. J. S. Goldsmith's draft for the revision of the rules, it was thought better to refer them to the committee meeting to be held at Winchester in February, the representatives having a free hand in the matter.

It was decided to hold the pre-Lent meeting at Netley, due notice of which will appear in 'The Ringing World.'

Votes of thanks were accorded the Rector for the use of the bells and kindly providing the tea, and to the organist. To this the Rector responded, saying how much pleasure it was to him to meet them, and also that he would be pleased to entertain them when they again came to Havant.

During the day, members were present from Bramshott, Havant, Portsmouth (St. Mary's and St. Thomas'), Swanmore; also the Master (Mr. G. Williams) and Mr. R. Hasted (Parnham).

BROADCASTING.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir.—I was very pleased to see that Mr. T. Groombridge has raised the subject of broadcast ringing, which the B.B.C. has been transmitting for the last two Sunday evenings. It was, as he writes, an act of discourtesy on their part to those who have undertaken the ringing on these occasions that their efforts should be drowned by the announcer, who is reading off the whole form of service which is to follow when the complete details are printed in their own organ. Although we read that almost superhuman efforts were required to ring the back bells at Bow, yet we were treated to about four leads of Double Norwich. The same thing happened last Sunday, when we heard about half a dozen sixes of Stedman Cinques.

I might add that I have also written the B.B.C. about this unsatisfactory state of affairs, but they take little or no notice, and simply 'hope that I may enjoy their programmes in the future.' It seems a pity that when there are 15 minutes allotted to St. Martin-in-the-Fields once a month we have to listen to chiming some changes where one bell may be struck twice or even three times in the same change and a few hymn tunes. Perhaps some satisfaction may be secured if the Central Council appointed a deputation to interview the B.B.C. on this subject.—Yours truly,

F. W. ROGERS.

Portsmouth.

Mr. J. T. Dyke, hon. secretary of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association, also took the matter up with the B.B.C., who replied that if the announcements were not superimposed it would mean that less bell ringing would be possible. 'There is the option of having the announcement without the bells (and less bells) or the announcement with a faint background of bells. We feel that the spoken words should not affect the enjoyment of the bells, and that that method is preferable to the suggested alteration.'

Mr. W. Keeble writes that he thinks more good would be done if societies and associations take the matter up with the B.B.C., rather than that individual members should do so.

Members of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild will broadcast from Bow, Cheapside, on Sunday evening, at 6 p.m. Eight bells have been asked for as being better for the general public. The method will, therefore, probably be Bristol Surprise.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Central Division was held at the six-bell tower of Barcombe, on Saturday, November 6th. Ringing commenced shortly after 2.30, and at 3.45 a short service was held in church, conducted by the Rector (the Rev. H. W. Farrar, M.A.), who gave a very interesting address. The Rector of Southover (the Rev. C. R. Farnsworth, M.A.) also took part in the service and read the lesson.

At the invitation of the Rector of Barcombe, those present, numbering about 27, proceeded to the Rectory, where tea had been prepared in a most liberal manner.

The usual business meeting which followed, with the Rector presiding, supported by the Master (Mr. J. T. Rickman), was mostly of a routine nature.

The following new members were elected: A. E. Awcock, E. C. Langdrige (Turner's Hill), Charles H. Surrige (Crawley).

The election of the following non-resident members was confirmed: W. L. Gofton (Monkseaton), R. V. Joluson (Handcross), James Batters (Mersham), F. A. Mitchell (Gravesend, Kent), A. J. Hughes (Rhyl, N. Wales), F. E. Collins (South Norwood), Daniel Cooper (Croydon), Chas. H. Kippin (Beddington), John F. Galyer (Carsialton), James Bennett (Heane Hill), and Miss Florrie Wyman.

The Master informed the meeting of the loss Mr. O. Sippetts had sustained, on November 6th, by the death of his father, and the hon. secretary was instructed to forward a letter of condolence. The late Mr. Sippetts had been a member of the Crawley Branch of the association until two or three years ago, when ill-health caused him to give up ringing.

On the motion of the Master, a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector for the use of the bells, the service and address in church, and the warm-hearted welcome he had extended to the meeting, coupled with an expression of appreciation of the part taken by the organist and other local friends in promoting the success of the proceedings, and this being acknowledged by the Rector the meeting terminated.

Ringing was again resumed and continued until about 7.30, the methods rung ranging from Grandsire Doubles to London and Cambridge Surprise.

The following towers were represented: Brighton (St. Peter's and St. Nicholas'), East Grinstead, Lewes (Southover), Pevensey, Seaford, Uckfield, Waldron, and the local branch.

MASONIC HONOUR FOR A NORTHUMBRIAN RINGER.

At the recent annual meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Northumberland, Bro. William Story was installed as Junior Grand Warden of the Province. This preferment was unique in that Mr. Story is the present reigning Master of his lodge, Hotspur, 1626, and it is an honour very rarely conferred until several years have elapsed after filling the chair.

Mr. Story's long services to ringing in the northern dioceses are well known.

DEATH OF A WELL-KNOWN EXETER RINGER

MR. JAMES MOSS'S LONG CONNECTION WITH RINGING.
A link with the past generation in Exeter ringing circles has been broken by the death of James Moss, which took place on November 11th at the ripe age of 78.

He commenced his ringing career at St. Thomas' in 1860, when quite a lad, and was initiated a member of the Cathedral band on June 27th, 1866, and so continued up to September last. He was elected a member of the Devon Guild in 1884, and rang his first peal at Honiton Clist on April 14th of that year. He was also a member of St. David's and St. Sidwell's bands, and rarely failed to attend the ringing at both towers every Sunday, as well as the week-night practices. His record of peals was 71, made up of Grandsire Triples 55, Grandsire Caters 9, Stedman Triples 5, Stedman Caters 1, and Bob Major 1.

He took part in the muffled peal for the late Rev. H. T. Ellacombe in 1885, in the Victoria Jubilee peal in 1887, in the first peals of Grandsire and Stedman Caters in Exeter, was umpire for the non-conducted peal at St. David's in 1906, and rang the treble to the peal on the minor eight at the Cathedral in 1908, his last peal being at St. Thomas' in October, 1924.

Before joining the Guild, he was an ardent round ringer, and took part in many prize-ringing contests in different parts of Devon, acting as judge at a meeting at Crediton in 1882. He was a friend of the late Mr. Mallett, with whom he used to visit Alphington tower, and by whose persuasion he became a member of the Guild. Possessed of a keen ear, and stoutly built, he was generally on the heavy end, marking time with his head and eyes as he rolled along the Cathedral ninth, and a laggard making a false blow would bring from 'Jimmy' (as he was familiarly called) the ejaculation, 'Strike 'em!'

Ever ready to help a young band, of a genial disposition, and having a lively sense of humour, he was one of the most popular ringers in Exeter and district. At raising and falling the treble, he was without an equal, and has probably tolled the Cathedral Stafford bell as the passing bell more often than anyone.

By trade a bootmaker, he served his apprenticeship with the old firm of East and Son, Exeter, and stuck to his last until quite recently. He will leave a blank that can never be adequately filled.

The funeral took place on Wednesday at St. Thomas' Cemetery.

MASONIC BELL RINGERS.

A Masonic service was held in the Church of St. Cuthbert, Chester-le-Street, Co. Durham, on Sunday last, and was attended by brethren of the Earl of Durham and Cestria Lodges and visitors. The ringing before and after the service was done by Masonic brethren as follows: 676 Kent Treble Bob Major by: A. M. Hall (Hotspur) 1, G. Holmes (Whitley) 2, F. Watson (Cestria) 3, N. Ward (Earl of Durham) 4, J. E. Goffon (Monkseaton) 5, C. L. Routledge (Hotspur) 6, J. Crawford (Earl of Durham) 7, A. Deas (Northern Counties) 8. To ring the congregation out, Bro. T. Edmondson (Earl of Durham) rang the treble in more Treble Bob Major, the rest being placed as above. It is doubtful whether such has ever been done before in Freemasonry.

BARNESLEY AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

The monthly meeting was held at Crofton on Saturday last, members being present from Ackworth, Hoxbury, Sandal, Felkirk, Roy-stone, Shelley, Leeds, Wragby, Wortley, Wath, and the local company. The bells were kept going during the afternoon in various methods, and tea was served in the schoolroom, free tickets being given to those directly affected by the coal dispute.

The business meeting followed, the Vicar (the Rev. H. Brownrigg) presiding.

A letter was read from the secretary (Mr. C. D. Potter) regretting his absence through illness, and the hope was expressed that he would have a speedy recovery.

A vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar, churchwardens and the local company for use of the bells and providing tea and giving such a hearty welcome to all present.

The next meeting will be held at Sandal on Saturday, December 11th. The bells were going again soon after 6 p.m., and were kept ringing until 9 p.m., thus bringing to a close a very pleasant meeting.

WREXHAM VETERAN'S NOTABLE PERFORMANCE.

The peal of Kent Treble Bob Royal rung at Wrexham, as already recorded, on October 28th, had several interesting features. It included seven local ringers, which is the largest number of Wrexham men to take part in a peal together for very many years. The band was completed by Mr. T. R. Butler, of Ellesmere, and Messrs. Sperring and Riding, who journeyed from Chester and Crewe respectively. Special interest centres in the performance of Mr. Samuel Meadows (affectionately known to his friends as 'Old Sam'), who rang the ninth to the peal. It was his first ten-bell peal as conductor, and it says much for his sustained enthusiasm that he should undertake the task when more than seventy years of age. It is many years since the genial veteran called a peal—Kent Major at Chester.

He started his ringing career as a lad at his native village of Brandiston, in Suffolk. His first peal was rung in 1885 at a five-bell tower in Suffolk. His ringing activities have since extended to London, Devon and Staffordshire, and he has rung on most of the famous peals in those areas, including St. Paul's, Cripplegate and Shoreditch in the metropolis, and the Cathedral at Exeter. Mr. Meadows is now tackling Double Norwich.

DEVONSHIRE GUILD.

MID-DEVON BRANCH MEETING.

A very successful meeting of the Mid-Devon Branch was held at Torre on Saturday, November 6th. Ringers present included the president, Rev. E. S. Powell (Holbeton); the general secretary, Mr. T. Laver (Exeter); also members from Plymouth, Exeter, Buckfastleigh, Swindon, Keen, Cockington, Collaton, Brixham, Torquay, Newton Abbot and Paignton.

Ringling took place at Torre and Upton, and a service was held at Torre Church, conducted by the Rev. Porter, who gave a very impressive and interesting address. Tea was provided at Messrs. Woolley's restaurant, and 35 sat down to a splendid repast.

At the business meeting, at which Mr. F. J. Laxton presided, the place and date of the next meeting (which is to be the annual) was discussed, and Brixham was chosen for Saturday, January 22nd, 1927.

The chairman very warmly welcomed the visitors and expressed his great pleasure at having with them so many distinguished campanologists.—Mr. W. H. Marsh (Plymouth) suitably replied.

The president briefly but very warmly expressed his pleasure at seeing so many present, and held very high hopes of further development of change ringing in Mid-Devon.

The hon. secretary introduced Mr. C. R. Walker, of Newton Abbot (late of Kent), who was very heartily received, and was duly elected an honorary member.

The Chairman proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar of Torre for the service and use of the bells, also the Vicars of Upton and St. Marychurch for the use of their bells.

The ringers then made their way once more to the respective towers, and ringing was continuing until 8 p.m. The methods were Kent Treble Bob Major, Bob Major, Stedman and Grandsire.

The members wish to thank the respective tower captains for so kindly getting everything ready for them.

RINGERS' BEREAVEMENTS.

Mr. Richard Stredwick, of Aldrington, and well known in Brighton ringing circles, has sustained a sad bereavement by the death of his wife, who passed away on October 18th, the cause of her decease being heart trouble. Mrs. Stredwick was laid to rest in Hove Cemetery, the Rector of St. Leonard's, Aldrington, officiating at the service, while among the mourners was Mr. Keith Hart, representing the St. Peter's Society, Brighton. Much sympathy will be felt for Mr. Stredwick in his heavy loss.

It is with deep regret also that we announce the death of Eleanor, wife of Mr. W. H. Barber, of Newcastle-on-Tyne, at the age of 52, after a long and painful illness borne with cheerfulness and great fortitude. The deepest sympathy of all his ringing brethren and other friends will go out to Mr. Barber in his great bereavement.

ARMISTICE DAY RINGING.

The following were among the touches rung on Armistice Day. Others will appear in our next issue:

BALDOCK, HERTS.—At St. Mary-the-Virgin's Church, on Armistice evening, with the bells half-muffled, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) in 52 mins.: T. J. Wilkins (first quarter-peal) 1, J. Morley 2, W. D. Pooley 3, J. J. Cawdell (conductor) 4, A. E. Rose 5, A. Buck 6, W. C. Hauscombe 7, A. Spicer 8.

PERRANWELL, CORNWALL.—At the Church of St. Piran, on Armistice Day, November 11th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes) in 51 mins., with the bells half-muffled in memory of the fallen: *W. Launder 1, A. S. Roberts 2, J. Sedgley 3, †W. E. Minors 4, W. H. Southead (conductor) 5, B. Pascoe 6. All are members of the Truro Cathedral Company, and this is the first quarter-peal rung by six members of this company. * First quarter. † First quarter on an inside bell.

CHICHESTER.—On Thursday, November 11th, at the Cathedral, half-muffled, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) in 51 mins.: T. Doick 1, W. Talconer 2, R. J. Tucker (composer and conductor) 3, F. B. Tompkins 4, W. E. Ticehurst 5, J. B. Blake 6, M. R. Haffer 7, A. Tugwell 8.

PORTISHEAD.—At St. Peter's Church, on Armistice Day, for evening, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples in 50 mins., with the bells half-muffled: Miss G. Broad 1, Miss Alice Stokes (conductor) 2, Miss Stokes 3, Mrs. W. Edwards 4, E. Goldstone 5, Miss H. Orchard 6, W. Gillingham 7, A. Colburn 8.

WINDSOR.—On Armistice Day, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: L. Swift (first quarter-peal) 1, W. P. Cross 2, W. Phipps (first inside) 3, T. Smith 4, C. W. Piper (Life Guards) 5, J. W. Croft 6, L. Stilwell (conductor) 7, J. H. Croyley 8.

GRIMSBY.—At St. Andrew's Church, a quarter-peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major was rung with the bells half-muffled on the occasion of Armistice anniversary: S. Steele (first quarter in the method) 1, F. Overton 2, T. Fitzjohn 3, S. Bromfield 4, J. B. Budd 5, F. Metcalf 6, C. Taylor 7, H. Mingay (conductor) 8. This quarter was rung after an attempt for a peal of Bob Major, which came to grief owing to a rope breaking after 40 minutes' ringing.

EALING.—On November 11th, with the bells half-muffled in memory of the fallen, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) at Christ Church in 52 mins.: Wilfred Wilson (first quarter-peal) 1, G. Harbour 2, H. Harding 3, A. Fulwell 4, J. Hunnisett 5, J. E. Davis 6, J. Armiger Trollope (conductor) 7, H. Burton 8.

CARISBROOKE.—At St. Mary's Church, for memorial service, on Sunday afternoon, November 14th, 1,260 Grandsire Triples in 47½ mins., with bells half-muffled: W. Upton 1, W. Johnson (conductor) 2, P. Reynolds 3, W. Scott 4, F. Taylor 5, W. Scott, jun., 6, C. Taylor 7, E. Brett 8.

RAYNE, ESSEX.—On Armistice Day, November 11th, 720 Grandsire Doubles, with the clappers half-muffled, in memory of the men of the village who gave their lives for their country: A. Hart (aged 14) 1, A. Redgwell 2, J. Claydon 3, B. Redgwell 4, H. Redgwell (conductor) 5, J. Hart 6.

HANDSWORTH, SHEFFIELD.—On Remembrance Day, a quarter-peal of Bob Major in 47 mins.: Miss Noel Cawthorne 1, Miss Elsie Lakin (first quarter) 2, Miss Eva Hopkin 3, Frederick Cardwell 4, Joe Garth 5, Harold Taylor 6, William Godden 7, Fred Watkinson (conductor) 8.—For memorial service on Sunday afternoon, November 14th, with bells half-muffled a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples in 49 mins.: W. Godden 1, Miss N. Cawthorne 2, Miss E. Hopkin 3, J. Taylor 4, J. Garth 5, H. Wilson 6, F. Watkinson (conductor) 7, L. Gray 8.

CADOXTON, NEATH.—At the Parish Church, on November 11th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes) in 45 mins.: H. Matthews 1, A. Devonald 2, J. E. Bloxham 3, D. J. Lewis 4, G. I. Lewis (conductor) 5, R. Bendle 6.—On Sunday, November 14th, 1,440 changes of Kent Treble Bob Minor in 50 mins.: A. Devonald 1, W. J. Thomas 2, C. Lake 3, J. E. Bloxham 4, E. Phillips 5, G. I. Lewis (conductor) 6. Rung with the bells half-muffled in memory of those who fell in the Great War.

SPROTBOROUGH, YORKS.—On November 11th, half a peal of Minor was rung at the Parish Church of St. Mary, with the bells half-muffled, consisting of 720 Plain Bob, 720 Oxford Treble Bob, and 1,080 Kent Treble Bob: H. Hawding 1, M. Fowler 2, O. Greathead 3, W. Athron 4, E. Short 5, E. Stacey (conductor) 6. This is believed to be the longest touch ever rung on the bells, which were cast by Pack and Chapman, of London, in 1771.

CONDUCTING.—BY GEORGE WILLIAMS.

Ring my first peal (Grandsire Triples) in January, 1884, at the opening of our augmented ring at Soberton, I was, naturally, like many other ringers, imbued with the fascination for more. I, therefore, set to work to get a band together to practise Grandsire Triples straight away; struggling all through 1884, with occasional assistance from an old friend, the late Mr. James Hewett (of Gosport and previously of London), a member of the Royal Cumberland Youths. He was one of the celebrated band of handbell ringers who toured the Continent and America about the middle of last century, ringing the first peal in America at Philadelphia.

Many tales have I heard of these 'expeditions' from the old gentleman, which all helped to interest me more in the art. Other early stalwarts of the Guild who helped considerably during 1884 were Messrs. Whiting, Prevett, Hill and Grafham, of Fareham, and before the year closed we had rung several quarter peals.

By this time I felt a certain amount of confidence to call a peal, and the captain of our band at Soberton (Mr. G. H. Child) arranged for the attempt to be made on his birthday, the first anniversary of the opening peal, January 17th, 1885. Calling in the assistance of Messrs. Hewett, Whiting and Grafham, of Fareham, and T. Newnham, of Winchester, to make the team as strong as possible, we successfully accomplished it at the first attempt, much to the satisfaction of all, and, not least, to myself, with the result of our first year's work. The peal was Taylor's six-part, and after this little digression into history, I propose to say something about my method of mastering the composition.

At Hunslet, Leeds, on Thursday, November 4th, at St. Mary's Church, 720 of Bob Minor in 28½ mins.: W. Morrell 1, W. Strangeways (conductor) 2, A. Metcalf (first 720) 3, H. Smith 4, D. Yorke 5, E. W. Smith 6.

At Rock Ferry, Cheshire, on Thursday, November 4th, 720 Cambridge Surprise: T. Birch 1, G. R. Edwards 2, R. G. Edwards 3, J. Martin 4, F. C. Amos 5, J. Cooke (conductor) 6. First 720 of Surprise by the ringers of the 2nd and 3rd. The ringer of the 2nd is only twelve years of age, and is believed to be the youngest member to ring a 720 of Surprise for the Chester Diocesan Guild.

At St. Mary's Church, Bulwell, Notts, on October 25th, 1,260 Grandsire Doubles: R. Kennedy (first quarter-peal) 1, E. Caunt (first quarter-peal) 2, J. E. Hobbs (conductor) 3, S. Pinder 4, W. Whalley (first quarter-peal inside) 5, W. Collington (first quarter-peal) 6.

At St. Mary-the-Virgin's Church, Bonvilston, Glam, on October 17th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes) in 45 mins.: W. John 1, W. James 2, W. Samuel 3, R. Coles 4, A. Haunington (conductor) 5, H. Coles 6. First quarter by ringers of treble and tenor.

STRIKING.

We have often urged that advantage should be taken of district meetings to discuss subjects of general importance and interest to the Exercise, outside the purely domestic affairs of the association immediately concerned. It was certainly a step in the right direction that led to the introduction of a topic for debate at the Braintree meeting of the Essex Association last Saturday, especially as nothing more important could be found in the whole gamut of ringing matters than that which comes under the head of 'Striking.' A debate on matters of this kind can only have a beneficial outcome, for the practical advice tendered by experienced ringers is bound to be welcomed and acted upon by younger aspirants in the art.

The importance of good striking cannot be too greatly stressed. Ringers must remember that what they do is heard, not merely by themselves, but by the general public. There are churches where the bells when rung must be heard actually by thousands, and bad ringing jars just as much on the nerves of the outside listeners as upon those of the ringers inside the tower—perhaps more so, when it happens that the band are indifferent to the noise they make. We are afraid that some ringers do not fully realise how much the public notice the difference between good and bad ringing; do not, in fact, appreciate that they have an audience at all. Some allowance has, of course, to be made for practice, but there is little, if any, excuse for bad ringing on Sundays. The best possible in quality should be the object of all bands for service ringing, and for this purpose good rounds are preferable to bad change ringing.

The problem is how to educate ringers into being good strikers. There are some who have no 'ears' at all, and these, unless they are ringing on a perfectly 'even-struck' peal, are almost beyond redemption, for unless a man can pick out his own bell from among the rest it is hopeless to expect good striking from him. Such a ringer is a real handicap to a company. The matter of first importance, then, is to give a ringer of this type a pair of 'ears,' or, in other words, to teach him to use those which he has got, for 'ropesight' in itself is not sufficient to make a man a good striker, however adept he may be at grasping new methods. There are many extremely valuable hints which experienced ringers can pass on to those who are capable of being taught, and which would tend in a large number of cases to raise the standard of their ringing. Often, however, these hints are never given, and the young ringer, whose indifferent striking is due to equally indifferent training or lack of experience, grows into an habitually bad striker, to whom no amount of coaching afterwards seems to make a material difference—indeed, attempts in this direction are not infrequently resented. Instruction provided by friendly discussion at meetings, however, is a most valuable means of education, and we should like to see much wider use made of these opportunities than has been done in the past.

SALISBURY GUILD LOSES PIONEER CHANGE RINGER. DEATH OF MR. THOMAS RADDON.

We regret to record the death, which occurred at Potterne (Wilts) on Sunday, November 14th, of Mr. Thomas Raddon. Mr. Raddon, who was 64 years of age, was at one time well known in ringing circles. He was one of a band of pioneer change ringers formed at St. John's, Devizes, in 1893, and helped to spread the art in the district. He remained with this change-ringing band until he joined the local band at Potterne, with whom he rang for over 20 years, until his illness forced him to give up.

The funeral took place at Potterne on Wednesday, November 18th, and was attended by Mr. C. D. Heginbotham, chairman of the Devizes Branch, Salisbury Guild. Floral tributes were sent from the branch and the old comrades at St. John's, Devizes.

Muffled ringing took place at Potterne on Wednesday by the local ringers and friends from Market Lavington and Devizes. A quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples with the bells half-muffled was rung at St. John's, Devizes, the same evening, by a representative band of the Devizes ringers: J. E. Watling 1, C. D. Heginbotham 2, G. England 3, S. Sutton 4, S. Hillier (conductor) 5, W. A. Swift 6, F. Green 7, J. Stone 8.

DEATH OF MR. W. B. KEMPTON.

RINGER AT GT. ST. MARY'S, CAMBRIDGE, FOR OVER FIFTY YEARS.

We regret to record the death of Mr. William Blythe Kempton, of Cambridge, which took place at his residence on Armistice Day, November 11th, at the age of 78 years. Deceased had been in failing health for some six months, and last rang at Great St. Mary's for the King's birthday.

Mr. Kempton became a member of the Society of Cambridge Youths in 1870, and for a number of years held the office of collector to the society. He was also steeplekeeper at Gt. St. Andrew's Church for many years, and in 1918 became instructor to a young band at Trumpington, assisting them through their first peal on the bells in 1920. His peals included Stedman Triples, Grandsire Doubles, Triples and Cutters, Kent, Bob Major, and Double Norwich, and numbered in all 21 for the Ely Association, including a 6,336 of Kent Major. Deceased was a good practical ringer, and always evinced the greatest pleasure when a particularly good piece of ringing fell under his ear.

As a mark of respect, the bells of Gt. St. Mary were rung fully muffled, and afterwards half-muffled, to touches of Grandsire Triples on Monday evening, November 15th, by members of the Cambridge Youths and friends.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

A new Westminster chime clock, made by Messrs. G. and F. Cope and Co., Nottingham, was dedicated and started by the Bishop of Bath and Wells in Corston Church, Somerset, on October 31st. Messrs. Cope are also making a new striking clock for Aldorton Church, near Tewkesbury.

A recently elected member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, Mr. A. E. Bull, happens to carry the roll number of 5040!

One of the very early twelve-bell peals was rung by the London Scholars, who scored a 6,204 Grandsire Cinques at Cornhill on November 27th, 1729.

A hundred years later, namely, on November 28th, 1829, the first peal was rung at St. James', Bermondsey. This was a peal of Oxford Treble Bob Royal by the Cumberlands. Is it too much to hope that when the centenary comes round these bells may again be found in ringing order?

William Doubleday Crofts, the famous Nottingham ringer, died on November 29th, 1809.

On December 1st, 1732, a peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at St. Alphege, Greenwich.

There is still time for those who desire to do so to assist in the competition for a set of 16 handbells, which were formerly the property of the late Mr. I. G. Shade. Subscribers of 1s. to the fund for the benefit of Mr. Shade's sister will be entitled to take part, and those who can help are invited to communicate with the Editor of 'The Ringing World,' 63, Commercial Road, Woking. Single tickets, or books of ten, can be had for disposal among members of a company.

'X' writes: I wonder how many of the inhabitants of Beddington thought that their church bells were ringing on Armistice Day in honour of the birthday of one of the ringers?

We published last week a handbell peal of Bob Royal for the Cambridge University Guild in which the names of the ringers of 1-2, 3-4, 5-6, 7-8 appeared, but the ringer of 9-10 was omitted. It should have read: 'J. R. Duffield (Selwyn) 9-10.'

Many happy returns of the day to Mr. James George, of England, who will be 73 to-morrow.

After ringing for the Lord Mayor's procession at a church not far from Ludgate Hill, the ringers found the Rector of the parish at the bottom of the tower steps. The conductor promptly seized the opportunity of calling his attention to the dirty state of the belfry. With a genial smile the Rector assured him that 'it was all cleaned down last Easter!'

Mr. W. H. Barber, of 118, Maughan Street, Benwell, Newcastle-on-Tyne, desires to thank the many friends who have sent him letters of condolence and sympathy in his recent bereavement, and asks them to accept this expression of his deep appreciation.

The good wishes of the Exercise will go out to the band who to-morrow will make another attempt for the 14,144 London Surprise Major at Waruham, Sussex. The starting time is 10.30 a.m.

VARIATIONS OF THURSTANS' PEAL.

J. W. WASHBROOK'S CLAIM TO THE DEXTER VARIATION.

We are informed by Mr. W. H. Barber, of Newcastle, that Mr. F. H. Dexter's variation of Thurstans' four-part peal of Stedman Triples was previously obtained by Mr. J. W. Washbrook. The figures of Mr. Dexter's peal came into Mr. Barber's hands at the Chester meeting of the Central Council. Since then he has called the peal at Carlisle Cathedral, but recently, in looking through old reports of the Durham and Newcastle Association, he found the peal in the 1907 report under the name of Mr. J. W. Washbrook. As the variation is often rung, Mr. Barber thinks these facts should be known, and he regrets that he could not first communicate with Mr. Dexter as he has not got his address.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The Southern District of the above society held a successful meeting at Putney and Fulham last Saturday. The tower at Putney was opened at 4 p.m., and ringing commenced with touches in standard methods. The weather was not all that could be desired, but the attendance was better than was expected, even taking into consideration the popularity of the tower.

Unfortunately only one hour and a half was allowed for ringing at Putney, so that at 5.30 the ringers crossed the road to the 'Cosy Corner Cafe,' where they enjoyed a nice tea.

The business meeting followed the tea, and the usual routine matters were disposed of. One new member was elected.

It is hoped that the annual district meeting will be held at the well-known tower of St. Giles', Camberwell, on January 15th, but, owing to industrial and other causes, the work on the bells has been delayed, and the association may have to fall back on Lambeth.

After the meeting, the ringers walked over the bridge and rang on the five ten at Fulham until 8 p.m.

The ringers showed their appreciation by giving a hearty vote of thanks to the incumbents of both churches, also to Messrs. Bolton and Herbert, of Putney, with their local men, and to Mr. Driver, of Fulham, for the arrangements made, and for the welcome received at both the towers.

THE ANCIENT SOCIETY OF COLLEGE YOUTHS.*MR. T. GROOMBRIDGE ELECTED MASTER.

At the meeting last week of the Ancient Society of College Youths, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Master, Mr. T. Groombridge; treasurer, Mr. A. A. Hughes; senior steward, Mr. J. S. Hawkins; junior steward, Mr. J. Bullock; trustees, Messrs. C. F. Winney and W. Prime; hon. secretary, Mr. W. T. Cockerill.

The old books of the College Youths have recently been overhauled, and the inspection has revealed that the motto of the society is 'Vivamus Unanimiter,' i.e., 'Let us live in unity.'

Mr. Thomas Groombridge, who succeeds Mr. Henry R. Newton as Master, has had a long connection with the society and with ringing in and around London. He began his ringing career at Tunbridge Wells in April, 1891, and rang his first peal on December 24th of that year. In 1893 he moved to Chislehurst, and it was on November 21st in that year that he joined the College Youths. His first peals of Stedman were all conducted by famous men of the society: Stedman Triples at Battersea on January 15th, 1894, conducted by the late Master; Stedman Caters, February 23rd, 1895, at St. Clement Danes', conducted by Challis F. Winney; Stedman Cinques, February 18th, 1896, at Cripplegate, conducted by James Pettit.

Usually found in peal ringing at the end where the work has to be done, Mr. Groombridge has taken part in some notable long lengths. He rang the 9th in the record peal of Stedman Cinques at Southwark—12,675 in 9 hrs. 47 mins., on May 21st, 1923. He has also rung in two long peals at Bow—6,048 Treble Bob Maximus and 7,392 of Cambridge Surprise Maximus.

THE NEW MASTER.

Mr. Groombridge has been a member of Christ Church tower, Chislehurst, for 24 years, and captain for the last ten. His membership of the Kent County Association extends over 35 years, and for 21 years he ably discharged the duties of hon. secretary of the Lewisham District. He is one of the representatives of the Kent Association on the Central Council. In addition he is a life member of the following societies: Ancient Society of College Youths, London County Association, St. Margaret's, Westminster, Waterloo Society, Surrey, Sussex, Middlesex, Durham and Newcastle, Chester, Lancashire, Peterborough, Gloucester and Bristol, Winchester, Norfolk, Suffolk and Ely Associations.

THE HANDBELL PEAL OF SPLICED MAJOR

A peal in which three plain methods were incorporated was rung at Frodsham, Cheshire, last week. The order in which the methods were rung was Reverse, Double and Plain Bob, there being one lead each of Reverse and Double Bob Major and four leads of Plain Bob Major, making up six-lead courses. The composition was Reeves' 6,048 of Bob Major (No. 40 C.C.C., Sec. 2). The peal was rung at the first attempt after one previous practice.

Care has to be exercised in the introduction of Reverse Bob Major, as the second half-lead is liable to repeat with Bob Major. The change of method was made without notification by the conductor, the band finding this the best method of procedure.

DEPTFORD.—The following three-quarter peals of Grandsire were rung for the harvest festival at St. John's Church, on Thursday, September 30th: E. Rivett 1, F. Bacon 2, E. B. Crowder 3, W. Martin 4, W. J. Jeffries 5, H. Norgate 6, T. Easterby (conductor) 7, A. Bennington 8.—On Sunday, October 3rd, for morning service: E. Rivett 1, T. Easterby 2, F. Bacon 3, R. Fosdike 4, G. Rawlings 5, H. Norgate 6, W. J. Jeffries (conductor) 7, A. Bennington 8.—For evening service: E. Rivett 1, T. Easterby 2, A. Bradley 3, R. Fosdike 4, G. Rawlings 5, J. Hurrell 6, E. B. Crowder (conductor) 7, A. Bennington 8.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION.*WESTERN DISTRICT INSTITUTES COMBINED PRACTICES.

A most enjoyable meeting of the Western District was held at King's Langley on Saturday, members attending from Tring, Berkhamstead, Hemel Hempstead, Apsley, Watford, Rickmansworth, London and the local company. Ringing commenced about 3.30, the following methods being rung during the afternoon and evening: Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Little Bob, Kent, Double Norwich and Forward Major.

A short service was held, conducted by the Vicar, who, after welcoming the visitors, encouraged the ringers to enlarge their parochial thoughts and endeavour to foster 'service' as required by the extra-parochial or World Call of the Church.

A youthful probationer of the local company ably presided at the organ.

As usual, tea was served in the Church House, being provided by the Vicar and local company, the most grateful thanks of the company present being conveyed to them by Mr. C. T. Coles, who really thought the thanks were more due to the ladies who looked after their wants.

Dr. Fisher (churchwarden), an exceedingly keen church worker, ably presided at the meeting, the Vicar having had to leave early. Two new members were elected, both from the local company.

Hemel Hempstead was chosen for the next meeting, to be held after Christmas. As this district is almost devoid of complete progressive bands, it was proposed and carried that arrangements be made to fix a combined practice once or twice a month at various towers in the district to enable further methods to be practised, the night chosen to be that of the practice night of the particular tower.

Subject to the approval of the county committee, it was agreed to accept Redbourn tower from the St. Albans district.

Mr. C. T. Coles having brought books of tickets, good business was done in the matter of the Miss Shade Fund, for which many thanks are offered.

The usual votes of thanks having been accorded, the meeting closed, a course of Stedman Triples 'in hand' adding the final touch. The ringers then adjourned to the tower for further ringing. It is not often that the secretary is lacking in increasing the methods, but he let an opportunity slip on this occasion, not realising that a 'Superlative' band was present until too late. Better luck next time.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.*SUCCESS OF THE NEWBURY BRANCH.

The annual meeting of the Newbury Branch was held at Newbury on Saturday, November 13th. Forty members were present, including the Master (Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn), the general secretary (Mr. R. T. Hibbert), and the treasurer (Mr. A. J. Wright). The following towers were represented: Bucklebury, Brightwalton, Chieveley, East Isley, East Garston, Peasemore, Shaw, Thatcham, Newbury.

Service was held in the Parish Church, the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn officiating and giving an excellent address.

Tea was served in the Parish Room by the ringers' wives, and was followed by the business meeting. The Rev. L. R. Majendie (chairman of the branch) presided, and was supported by the hon. secretary and treasurer (Mr. H. W. Curtis).

The secretary gave reports of the meetings and combined practices held during the year.

The balance sheet was presented, and showed a balance of £9 6s. 6d. It was decided to place £5 of the balance on deposit at Newbury Savings Bank.

Rev. L. R. Majendie (Rector of Newbury) was unanimously re-elected chairman of the branch. Mr. H. W. Curtis was re-elected hon. secretary and treasurer. Miss S. Davis, Mr. S. Quintin and Mr. T. Curtis were re-elected as representatives of the branch on the general committee.

The foremen of towers then gave their reports, and all reported good Sunday ringing.

The Master congratulated the Newbury Branch on its successful working, and on their efforts to arouse interest at his old home at East Garston, whose ringers were welcomed into the Guild at this meeting.

Mr. R. T. Hibbert also congratulated the branch on its excellent meetings, which showed that it was well served by its officers. He advised young ringers to stick at it until the fascination infected them. Once it got hold of them nothing but three months in goal would keep them out of the tower. Nothing would please him better than for a youngster to say he could ring better than he (Mr. Hibbert) could.

Mr. Wright said, as treasurer, he had no complaints to make. The financial position of the Guild was quite sound. There was £289 in hand, of which £122 was in the hands of the branches. Newbury was working well.

Several new members were elected. The next meeting was fixed for the third Saturday in February at Peasemore, and the spring meeting at East Garston on the first Saturday after Easter.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Master for his address and the Rev. L. R. Majendie for presiding at the organ and meeting. Some good touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Bob Major were rung during the afternoon and evening. Despite the downpour, Mr. and Mrs. Taylor, of Maidenhead, were present.

DIVISION OF WINCHESTER DIOCESE.

YORKTOWN DISTRICT DISCUSSES PROPOSED NEW GUILD.

The question of forming a separate Diocesan Guild of Ringers for the diocese of Guildford, when this see is constituted on the division of the diocese of Winchester, was further considered at the annual meeting of the Yorktown District of the Winchester Guild held at Chertsey on Saturday. This district covers the north-western corner of Surrey and takes in a few Hampshire towers, all of which will come within the area of the new diocese. The meeting was presided over by the Rev. E. H. W. Leachman (Vicar), and was attended by about twenty members. In addition, there were present Messrs. A. C. Hazelden, R. Whittington and W. Melville, the deputation appointed at the Guildford District meeting the previous week, to lay before the Yorktown District the views of the Guildford District in favour of a separate diocesan Guild.

The subject was introduced by Mr. J. B. Hessey, the district secretary, who said the question had been discussed at several meetings of the district during the last three years. At the annual meeting held at Bagshot in 1923, when eight towers were represented by about 25 members, it was resolved that a division of the Guild was not desirable, but that it should be continued, on the division of the diocese, under the title of 'The Winchester, Guildford and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild of Change Ringers.' They also resolved that the annual meeting of the Guild should be held in the three dioceses in rotation. These resolutions were carried unanimously, and he proposed that they be reaffirmed.—Mr. F. Nye (Bagshot) seconded.

Replying to Mr. Chaffey, the hon. secretary said a postcard vote of all the towers in the district was taken, and all were in favour of remaining as they were. Mr. Hessey added that he knew of towers who had declared that, if a division of the Guild took place, they would have nothing to do with the new organisation. The Surrey Association was working very hard to cover that area, and he was of opinion that if a Guildford Diocesan Guild were formed that district would 'go west.'

GOOD-WILL URGED.

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith explained to the meeting what had transpired at the Guildford District meeting, leading up to the resolution in favour of establishing a separate Guild. As the mover of an amendment to delay any division of the Winchester Diocesan Guild, he realised that, this having been defeated and a determination expressed for a separate Guild, it behoved all those who had the interests of the diocese and of change ringing at heart to throw their weight into the scales to make the new Guild a success. Things had moved on since the Yorktown resolutions were passed, and to have the ringers of the new diocese divided among themselves would be a calamity. He urged the Yorktown District not to come to a definite decision that night, but to appoint a small committee to meet the committee set up in the Guildford District to discuss the question in all its bearings. If good-will were allowed to prevail, he was sure a satisfactory outcome would be reached.

Mr. Whittington said, as mover of the resolution at Guildford, his line was that, if it were desirable to split the Winchester Diocese, it was equally desirable to split the Guild for the same purpose, because it was big and unwieldy. He pointed out that the money which the districts now sent to Winchester could be spent in their own areas, and the members would reap the benefit of their own subscriptions. He had consulted several incumbents on this question, and all had expressed the opinion that they would be doing the right thing to have a Guildford Diocesan Guild. Moreover, there was a trend of movement, which would expand on the splitting of the diocese to make every organisation diocesan in character, which was not so already. The Yorktown District and the Guildford District, worked properly, would form a most efficient and compact diocesan Guild, and it would be a great pity if they did not combine. He hoped a committee would be appointed to discuss the whole question.

Mr. Nye disagreed with the opinion that a severance of the diocese necessitated a division of their Guild. A multiplication of societies added to expense, and personally he thought they ought to have a combined body of men from one end of the country to the other. As they now stood, they had in that area two or three societies overlapping, and a Guildford Diocesan Guild would add another. So far as their duties as ringers were concerned, he could see no reason at all for separation.

Mr. Armstrong (District Ringing Master) said there were so many towers in the district who had resolved not to join a Guildford Diocesan Guild that he thought that area would be overwhelmed by stronger associations if they split from the Winchester Guild. The Winchester Guild was one of the leading associations in the country; he did not see how a Guildford Diocesan Guild could ever hope to be anything like as strong. With regard to expense, he did not think there would be any saving.

Mr. A. C. Hazelden said the deputation from Guildford was fully aware of the difficulties which Mr. Armstrong had in mind, but some of them who were interested in this matter had had it pretty clearly from the authorities that associations which were not diocesan in character would not be acceptable in their parish churches. Whether they liked it or not, the Winchester Diocese was going to be divided. Leatherhead, and by that he meant the parishes in that rural deanery, would be in the diocese of Guildford and no other. Whether the ringers there cared to join a Guildford Diocesan Guild was a matter which the future must determine. But with good-will—in fact, he would take it a little further and say brotherly love—they could go a long way. In the Guildford District they hoped for the spirit of good-will and unity among all the towers in the diocese. They were endeavouring to found something not so much for their own day but for the future, something which required courage and faith and good spirit in the same way that the founders of the Winchester Guild began in 1879.

A GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD CERTAIN.

Mr. Whittington pointed out that, whatever happened, a Guildford Diocesan Guild would be founded, and it was for that reason they asked the Yorktown District to discuss the position with them.

Mr. Chaffey said they would never make a success of a new Guild unless they could 'rope in' the men of the six-bell towers. The big ones could look after themselves, but it was the six-bell towers that counted. If they made things hum in that direction they might turn a Guildford Diocesan Guild into something useful.

Mr. Goldsmith pointed out that it was reported at the Guildford District meeting that during the year no fewer than twelve six-bell towers had been visited officially for the purposes of encouragement and instruction of the bands.

Mr. Cobbett (Bagshot) said he thought it would make the Yorktown District look ridiculous if they declined the invitation to meet the committee of the Guildford District. There were many clergy who did not like the division of the diocese, but the division was a fact, and they as ringers must fall into line.

The Chairman, who has recently come from the Oxford Diocese, said some day that diocese would be split, and he had no doubt new ringing Guilds would be established, because in Buckinghamshire, for instance, they felt themselves very much cut off from Oxford. So, too, Winchester was remote from that part of the diocese, and their interest could not be as warm as if they were close to the centre of their church's work. Their enthusiasm would be much greater in a small, compact diocese than in a big, unwieldy one. He thought it would be wise to appoint a committee to meet the Guildford committee.

Mr. Melville pointed out that if the district appointed a committee they would be in no worse position than they were at present. If they felt they were out of sympathy with the whole scheme, they would still be able to remain with the Winchester Guild at the division of the diocese. For a year, at any rate, they would all carry on as at present, but in the meantime the committee could go into the matter. He hoped the Yorktown District did not think the Guildford District wanted to take anything from them, because they didn't. They simply looked at the thing in this light. The bells belonged, in effect, to the clergy; the clergy and the churches were coming into the Guildford Diocese, and it was the desire of the Guildford District that the ringers should come into the Guildford Diocese, too.

Mr. Chaffey said if a new Guild was going to be for the benefit of change ringing and Sunday service ringing, then it would be all to the good, and the sooner it was formed the better. He would like to see the committee get to work to see what could be done. It was no good trying to stand out against the inevitable. They had heard that a Guildford Diocesan Guild was to be formed, therefore if they could work together so much the better.

A motion to appoint a committee was thereupon put and carried, and the following were elected to represent the district: Messrs. F. Nye, S. G. Armstrong, Crocker, J. Cobbett and H. J. Chaffey.

The Guildford District Committee consists of Messrs. J. J. Jones, A. C. Hazelden, R. Whittington, W. Melville and J. S. Goldsmith.

AN INCREASED BALANCE.

At the business meeting which followed service in church (conducted by the Vicar) and tea, the hon. secretary presented his report, in which he thanked the members for their support during the past year. The old faces, he said, turned up at the meetings, but he would like to see many of the younger ringers present. They had lost an old member by death in the person of Mr. Edser, of Hersham. He congratulated the district upon an increase in the balance sheet, but regretted that 14 members had not paid their subscriptions. The balance in hand had been raised every year since he had been secretary (applause). At present they had in the district 7 hon. members, 92 full members, 11 probationary members, and three unattached members, while they had also elected three compounding members. The receipts, including the balance in hand of 6s. 3d., had been £12 12s. 9d. The expenses had been £4 0s. 9d., and £8 had been remitted to the general secretary, leaving a balance in hand of 12s.

The balance sheet was adopted.

The Ringing Master (Mr. S. G. Armstrong) reported that he had visited most of the towers in the district twice in the year. Where there was a weekly practice there was much better ringing on Sundays, but there were at least four towers where they never had a practice, and at least four where there was no change ringing done. It was a regrettable fact that in many cases when they held meetings and combined practices the local ringers did not attend, so there was not much chance of teaching them. If any tower wanted a quarter-peal or practice he would be only too pleased to help them in any way he could.

Mr. J. B. Hessey was re-elected district secretary; although he expressed a wish to resign, and the other officers were also re-elected, viz.: Ringing Master, Mr. Armstrong; auditor, Mr. Crocker; representatives on the Central Committee, Messrs. Nye and Armstrong.

Meetings for 1927 were decided on as follows: February, Pirbright; May, Farnborough; August, Egham; November (annual), Hawley.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.*NORTHERN DISTRICT AT BRAINTREE.

One of the most successful meetings of the Northern District was held on Saturday, November 20th, at Braintree, at the fine old Parish Church dating from the year 1199. Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, ringers assembled from the following parishes: Earls Colne, Maldon, Greenstead Green, Rayne, Dunmow, Gt. Bentley, Prittlewell, Halstead, Sible Hedingham, Feering, Kelvedon, Witham, Chelmsford, Croydon, Gt. Bardfield, Black Notley, Bocking and Braintree.

The usual ringers' service was held, at which a suitable address was given by the Vicar, the Rev. G. P. Bassett Kerry, Rural Dean.

At the close of the service a company of 58 adjourned to the School Hall, where a bountiful tea awaited them, kindly supplied by the generosity of Mr. C. H. Howard, Master of the Association. The annual business meeting was afterwards held, presided over by the District Master, Mr. F. Claydon, who was supported by the Vicar, the Master of the Association, Mr. W. J. Nevard (Master of the North-Eastern District), Messrs. W. Elliott, W. Keeble, L. W. Wiffen, J. Flouty, and the district secretary, Mr. Ludgater, churchwarden, and the secretary of the Church Council.

The secretary gave his usual report of the work of the district during the past year, which showed that 25 peals had been rung—19 on tower bells and 6 on handbells—in the following methods: London Surprise 10, Bob Major 6, Superlative 3, Double Norwich 1, Kent Treble Bob and Stedman Triples 1, and 3 composed of various Minor methods. Twenty-three of these peals were conducted by Mr. W. Keeble, one by W. Arnold (his first peal as conductor), and one by G. Williams, of Southampton. Congratulations were offered to the Dunmow band for their success in having their heavy ring of bells rebung and completing the octave, to Mr. H. Redgwell in connection with the progress made at Rayne, and particularly to Basil Redgwell in connection with the various peals of Major he had taken part in, and his ringing a peal of Bob Major upon the handbells double handed. The numerical and financial position of the district was laid before the meeting.

Mr. Howard gave the ringers a hearty welcome to Braintree, and the secretary was heartily thanked for his report.

Thanks were accorded to the District Master and Secretary for their services during the past year, and they were unanimously re-elected for the year 1927.

One new member was elected and two probationary members were advanced to the position of ringing members. The Vicar was elected an hon. member, and the election of four members previous to starting for peals was endorsed.

Witham was selected as the place for the first meeting in the new year.

Mr. Howard proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, for holding the service, and for his instructive address, also to the organist and choir for their kind assistance, which was adopted, and the Vicar suitably replied stating he was pleased to have the meeting at Braintree.

A vote of thanks was carried by acclamation to Mr. Howard for his generosity in providing the tea, and, in reply, he expressed his pleasure that 58 had braved the pouring rain from 18 parishes to be present.

This concluded the meeting, after which courses of Bob Royal and Grandsire Caters were rung on the handbells, and the tower bells were kept going to the following methods: Grandsire Triples, Stedman, Bob Major, Treble Bob, Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise.

A DISCUSSION ON STRIKING.

After the meeting, Mr. L. W. Wiffen opened a discussion upon 'Striking,' which was taken up by several present. Mr. Wiffen said: We often read in 'The Ringing World' long articles and discussions dealing with various subjects, such as names of methods, method construction, Simpson tuning, etc. Has it ever occurred to you that we seldom see anything dealing with the subject of striking? I don't remember ever having read an article dealing with it. I have often wondered that some of our eminent ringers have not given us some of their ideas on this very important question.

I have discussed it with a few, and one or two are of the opinion that it is a difficult matter to deal with on paper. It may be, perhaps, but there is no reason why we should not realise and keep before us the fact that striking is of the greatest importance in change ringing.

In the first place, the beginner should learn to handle his bell well, otherwise he will always be greatly handicapped in striking, and he should also be able to hear his own bell wherever it is striking. Sometimes it has been said that striking has been sacrificed for method, but if the ringer learns to strike well in the first place he will always be a good striker, whatever the method. It is also a fact, as many know, that it is easier to ring and strike your bell when the striking is good than when the time is broken by careless striking, because when pains are taken a good beat is gradually worked up, and it is possible to ring almost automatically and with little effort.

The pause at hand-stroke is, of course, known and observed by most, but there are some who do not take sufficient care with this most important detail.

There is another small point which improves striking; it is this, the last blow behind at the back-stroke should be a little bit on the slow side, not much, but just enough to get the proper finish. It sounds much better than when the last blow is 'clippy.' Then there is the question of helping the tenor man. In regard to this there are two groups, one which helps the tenor man and the other which doesn't. Of course, this applies more especially to heavy peals than light ones. The help that can be given to the tenor man, especially if a peal is being attempted, is very much appreciated by him. For instance, supposing the tenor is dodging in 1-2 up, as in Double Norwich, the bell that is dodging with it can be just a little bit quicker at hand-stroke—not enough to omit the pause—then the tenor can get his blow in better at back-stroke.

This applies to any position when tenor is dodging up. It is rather annoying when the bell in front is slow and then finishes up by giving the tenor a clip, when he should be well over it.

Little things like these are a great help. This can be realised better by ringing the tenor if you haven't already done so.

CANADIAN PREMIER AT CROYDON.

The Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, C.M.G., Prime Minister of Canada, visited the Croydon Bell Foundry, on Thursday of last week, to witness the casting of one of the biggest bells of the great carillon of 53 (which will be the largest in the world) now in course of construction for the Victory Tower of the new Canadian Houses of Parliament, Ottawa. There was a distinguished company to meet the Canadian Premier, who inspected the works with great interest, and saw the bells of the carillon already completed. When the large bell was cast, Mr. Mackenzie King threw a Canadian one-cent piece and a half-penny into the molten metal. His stay at the foundry lasted about two hours, and under the guidance of Mr. Cyril Johnston, the head of the firm, the Canadian Prime Minister saw a great deal that was of interest to him.

FUNERAL OF WELL-KNOWN EXETER RINGER.

The funeral of the late Mr. James Moss (whose death was reported in our last issue) took place on Wednesday, the 17th inst., at St. Thomas' Cemetery, Exeter. The service was conducted by the Rev. A. E. M. Hare (Rector of St. Edmund's), the principal mourners being the widow, two sons, and daughter. The president of the Devon Guild (Rev. E. S. Powell), hon. treasurer (Mr. T. G. Bartlett), and general secretary (Mr. T. Laver), were in attendance, also Mr. E. Shepherd, chairman of the Exeter Branch, Rev. G. E. F. Molineux, an old friend, and the following representatives of Exeter towers: Mr. W. Drake (St. Sidwell's), Mr. E. W. Biffin (St. Thomas'), Mr. F. G. Coles (Alphington), Mr. J. Ridler (Thorverton), Mr. W. Lethbridge (St. David's), Mr. F. J. Davey (Cathedral), Mr. F. O. Couch (Dean and Clapton), and Mr. W. Acreman (for Rev. H. Lanyon Owen). The handbells were rung by the graveside at the conclusion of the ceremony, and in the evening a knell on the Cathedral bells by fellow-members of the Cathedral band. At St. Thomas' Church, also, in the evening, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) was rung with the bells half-muffled, by: H. H. Thomas 1, E. W. Biffin (conductor) 2, R. J. Davey 3, J. Hosgood 4, T. J. Stokes 5, W. Howe 6, W. Brewer 7, and W. J. H. Bailey 8. Floral tributes were sent from the Cathedral, St. Sidwell's, and St. Thomas' bands.

OFF TO VANCOUVER.*PRESENTATION AT PULBOROUGH.

On Sunday evening the Rector, Rev. E. I. Frost, and the bell riggers met in the belfry of Pulborough Parish Church for the purpose of saying 'Good-bye' and making a presentation to Mr. Geoff. Carter, one of the ringers, who is shortly leaving for Vancouver.

In making the presentation, the Rector thanked Mr. Carter for the useful work he had done in the belfry, and wished him prosperity in his new sphere.—Mr. P. H. Doick, on behalf of the ringers, said how sorry they were to lose such a promising member of their company, and hoped to hear of Mr. Carter's ringing activities in distant Vancouver.

Mr. Carter thanked the Rector and his ringer colleagues for their kind thoughts and good wishes, and said he would always have happy memories of his associations with brother ringers at Pulborough.

Various touches were then rung by R. Pink, C. A. Greenfield, H. C. Greenfield, S. Greenfield, S. Picton, P. H. Doick, H. J. Doick, G. Carter and J. Beacher. The conducting was shared by Messrs. G. Carter and A. C. Greenfield.

A FALSE PEAL.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Owing to a misprint, the peal of Double Norwich rung at Well on Saturday, November 6th, is false. With sincere apologies to the band, Yours truly,

A. HARMAN.

It was resolved to bring forward at the next meeting of the Central Committee the advisability of allowing district secretaries' travelling expenses to meetings.

The proceedings closed with a vote of thanks, proposed by Mrs. Crocker, to the Vicar for the service, for the use of the bells, and for presiding at the meeting.

During the afternoon touches in the standard methods were rung at the Parish Church.

DEATH OF MR. W. KINGDON, BISHOP AUCKLAND

We regret to announce the death of Mr. W. Kingdon, of Bishop Auckland, which took place on November 10th, after a short illness. An honorary member of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association, he commenced to learn change ringing in 1894 in Holy Trinity belfry, Darlington, and was a faithful and conscientious ringer and sidesman at this church until he removed to Bishop Auckland, where he joined the belfry of St. Andrew's, and also filled other offices in this church, including those of sidesman and churchwarden.

He gave up active ringing in 1922, but retained honorary membership of his old belfry of Holy Trinity, Darlington, and of the Durham and Newcastle Association until the time of his death.

Several ringers of Holy Trinity attended the funeral on Saturday, November 13th, and a wreath was sent by the president and members of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association. Muffled touches were rung on the bells of St. Andrew's, Auckland, by the local band, assisted by ringers from St. John's, Shildon, and St. Cuthbert's and Holy Trinity, Darlington. Mr. Kingdon had rung in peals of Plain Bob and Treble Bob Major. The deepest sympathy goes out to his widow and only daughter.

CONDUCTING.—BY GEORGE WILLIAMS.

Taylor's six-part peal of Grandsire Triples, which I first called, I took from Troyte's book on change ringing. This book had been handed to me by my uncle, who had never made any use of it, and never got beyond ringing the tenor behind. Taylor's composition at that time appealed to me on account of its being so easy to learn. I will give just two or three remarks upon how I made myself self-confident in calling it.

As already explained, the observation bell (the 6th) is only called in two positions, 'Middle' and 'Wrong,' throughout. The 'Before' (the only other lead available for the sixth when there is a call at every 'middle' and 'Wrong') is always a plain lead. This, I learnt later, makes up what is called the three-lead-course plan.

The next thing was to find my guide for calling the first single in each division. This also presented itself very simply, as it will be seen that the 5th is called 'Before' with a single (that is double 3rd's) in the first two divisions, and 'In' (2nd's place) with a single in the last two divisions.

The other singles are somewhat mechanical, as they come at each division end with '6-7 at home'; 5, 6, 7 coming home each part end, and a 'Bob,' instead of 'Single,' being called half-way and end.

At Shilton Parish Church, near Coventry, on Sunday, November 21st, for evensong, 360 of Plain Bob Doubles: W. Malabone 1, G. Stanley 2, R. Parker 3, C. G. Bates (conductor) 4, C. Parker 5, C. Aldridge 6. Longest length of Doubles by all except the conductor.

At Twickenham, Surrey, Parish Church, on Tuesday, November 16th, 240 Grandsire Doubles, conducted by E. Morris (first attempt as conductor), and 240 Grandsire Doubles, conducted by W. F. Ellingham, with 7-6-8 covering: Miss K. Bradford 1, D. Hill Brown 2, A. H. Fulwell 3, W. F. Ellingham 4, E. Morris 5, F. Riggall 6, J. Lovill 7, H. Moy 8.—Also two plain courses of Stedman Doubles, with G. Bradford ringing the treble. These touches were rung in honour of the visit of the Duke and Duchess of York, who officially opened York House, the new town hall at Twickenham.

WHEN EXPERTS DISAGREE.

Over and over again it has been apparent that on certain points in the theory of composition and construction, and particularly construction as related to methods, our experts cannot agree. They argue at length, and not infrequently end up by befogging the mind of the ordinary ringer more than ever. These experts look at the same subject from different angles, and apply different tests to support their own standpoint. It is not altogether surprising, therefore, that they often come to different conclusions. Each may be right, according to his own basis of argument, and, if one side were left unchallenged, the case is generally so well made out that the average ringer would usually be content to accept what he is told. Then, however, comes the expert from the opposite camp, and to his own satisfaction, but to the dismay of the on-looker, tears the argument to shreds, only to have his own case similarly treated by his opponent. And so the thing goes on, first in relation to one matter and then to another, and has so done for years.

The latest phase of controversy is Superlative Surprise Maximus. A method, obtained independently by several composers, has been practised at Ipswich, and is put forward as the most nearly correct extension of Superlative that it is possible to obtain on twelve. One of our masters of method, the Rev. H. Law James, now tells us, however, that 'it is interesting, but not Superlative Maximus,' and in view of what Mr. James has in the past urged as the correct extension of the method, we are not surprised at his objection to giving this method the name claimed for it. For years Mr. James has argued that Shipway's extension of the method to ten bells is the correct one, and, in support of the view that it is so, he has carried it out successfully we believe to something like forty bells. But, if Shipway is right, Mr. George Baker and the others are wrong. In the meantime the practical ringer wonders where he is. He may not be much concerned with the details of the controversy; he is frequently quite uninterested in the argument, but he does feel that he has a right to some competent guidance on matters of this kind.

The Central Council once set up a committee to decide what should and what should not be considered a 'legitimate,' or, as it is now termed, a 'regular' method. The decisions have been challenged from time to time, but they have been accepted by the Exercise as a whole, and respected to such an extent that peals in or including 'irregular' methods are now seldom rung. Is it not possible for an expert committee of the Council to be set up, to consider the question of method extension, and to lay down the lines upon which, hereafter, extensions will be recognised? It might not be an easy matter to deal with, but something might be done to clear the ground by setting out the tests which should be applied and to which method extensions should comply before being granted the right of name of the original. It is possible that any such decision would not be immediately accepted on every side, but in time the findings of a really competent body of men would, we feel sure, come to be recognised by the Exercise as the foundation of method construction and extension. With such a ruling ringers would know where they stand, and those who enter upon the practice of such a difficult thing as Superlative Maximus would know whether they were ringing the real thing, or only something 'interesting.'

LINCOLN CATHEDRAL BELLS

To the Editor.

Sir,—May I use your columns to send out an appeal to all members of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild, and especially to the non-resident life members? The repairs to the south-west tower of Lincoln Cathedral are now proceeding, and the time is approaching when it will be possible to hang the four new bells. At present, including promises of ten pounds, we are still ten pounds short of the money we need. A few of our non-resident members have sent subscriptions amounting to about two pounds. Our resident members have subscribed very well, and I write to ask our non-resident life members to help us finish the fund, so that the bells may be cast in the very near future, ready to go into the tower as soon as it is ready for them.

H. LAW JAMES,
Master, L.D.G.

HEREFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

PRESTEIGN DISTRICT.

The autumn quarterly meeting of the Presteign District was held at Kington on Saturday, November 20th, when 20 members attended from Kington, Knighton, Lyonshall, Staunton-on-Arrow and Old Radnor. The Guild form of service was held in church, conducted by the Vicar, Rev. Maurice Berkley, M.A. Mrs. Berkley presided at the organ. Tea was provided at the Vicarage, and was kindly given by the Vicar and Mrs. Berkley.

The business meeting followed, the Vicar presiding. The secretary reported that combined practice was held at Eardisland on Saturday, September 25th, when eleven members attended from six towers, Grandshire, Colledge Single, Canterbury Pleasure and Plain Bob Doubles being rung. Owing to bad weather, at the practice at Presteign on Saturday, October 9th, only four members attended, and no ringing was done. It was decided to hold combined practice at Lyonshall on Thursday, December 2nd, and at Pembroke on Saturday, December 11th, and the annual meeting at Eardisland some time in January.

Certificates of membership were presented to Robert Fletcher, of Lyonshall, and George King, of Kington. Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar and Mrs. Berkley for providing tea and taking the service.

The tower was again visited, and ringing kept up till 9 p.m. in the following methods: Grandshire and Plain Bob, Doubles and Bob Minor, including 720 changes of Bob Minor conducted by Mr. F. Evans, of Kington.

THE EXTENSION OF SUPERLATIVE.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Shortly after we rang the peal of Superlative Surprise Royal last June I published the facts connected with the extension of Superlative from the Major to any even number of bells.

Since that time, Mr. George Baker has been trying to explain away the facts by a theory of reciprocal relationship between the bells.

Now, everyone knows that if a theory comes into conflict with actual facts there must be one fallacy at least in the theory, and I have been following Mr. Baker carefully, looking for the fallacy, and at last, in his article published in 'The Ringing World' on November 5th, the fallacies come to light.

He writes: 'In all even-bell primary principles there exists what I call reciprocal relationship of the opposite pairs of bells, and on eight bells these are 1-8, 2-7, 3-6, and 4-5.'

But this statement is not true.

We need not trouble about Superlative; the plain hunting course on six bells is quite sufficient to show the fallacy.

One and six are a pair, and when they have got into each other's places, we do not get 654321, but 645231. 2 must change with 3 and 4 with 5. Complete the rows and fold it, then 132546 falls on 123456, 315216 on 214365, etc., and in every case 2 falls on 3, and 4 on 5; therefore if 1 and 6 are reciprocal, 2 and 3 are, and so are 4 and 5.

On 8 bells, 1 and 8, 2 and 3, 4 and 5, and 6 and 7 are reciprocal.

On 10 bells, 1 and 10, 2 and 3, 4 and 5, 6 and 7, and 8 and 9 are reciprocal.

On 12 bells, 1 and 12, 2 and 3, 4 and 5, 6 and 7, 8 and 9, and 10 and 11 are reciprocal.

And this is true of all double methods.

Mr. Baker then proceeds to prove that Superlative Royal is impossible, but his proof depends first on the fake assumption that 4 and 7 are reciprocal, which they are not, and, secondly, that 4 must make 3rd and 4th to begin with. Let 4 make these places and the method will not come; the inference is not that Superlative Royal is impossible, but that you must not make 4th's place.

Mr. Baker then produces what he calls Superlative Maximus, and begins by 4 and 9 making places, but 4 and 9 are not reciprocal; 4 and 5 are, and the Maximus, although quite interesting, is not Superlative.—Yours truly,

F. LAW JAMES.

BROADCASTING BOW BELLS.

One of the best broadcasts of bells to which the public has listened 'came over' from Bow on Sunday evening, when two courses of Stedman Triples were rung. For the first time interested ringers heard the complete touch, for there was no superimposed announcement. The bells were heard from the preliminary rounds, and, although the 'fading out' process began in the last two sixes, the final round was heard before the bells were completely switched off.

Mrs. Imrie May, writing in the current issue of 'The Radio Times,' says: 'Living here in Debreczen, Hungary, we have a nine-valve set, and with frame aerial and loud-speaker we can get all the English stations. I am British born and married to a Hungarian, and I cannot tell you how my heart beats at the sound of Bow Bells. It's such a homely sound. My husband, who speaks English very well, delights in the English programmes. My little daughter, two and a half years old, listens to the Children's Hour. Thanks to broadcasting, I have a link with the Old Country the value of which I cannot express in words.'

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—We should all like to hear more change ringing by good hands on good bells, but is it not true that to the outsider change ringing is very monotonous? A little goes a very long way, and that is probably what the B.B.C. considers; seven and a half minutes people like: a quarter of an hour would bring by post a deluge of complaints.

They really serve us quite well. Rarely a week passes without bells being heard from some station or other. Some transmissions are better than others. Bow bells probably come over as well as any. The transmission of Simpson-tuned bells seems to cause difficulty; both Manchester and York bells were drowned in the hum of the heavy bells. About a fortnight ago a brief but very fine transmission of bells from Rochester was heard via Daventry. For tone, this was the finest I have heard, and if they were Simpson-tuned bells, the engineers must have got over the humming difficulty.

The fact is, the public like tune ringing, and the B.B.C. must give them what they like. As a suggestion, have we a band of tune ringers on the handbells? It is quite likely that such a band could be able to get a quarter of an hour and ring well-known hymn tunes before a studio service. They could arrange to finish off with, say, a course of Stedman Caters double-handed for the benefit of listening ringers. If the tune ringers couldn't do this, they could bring some ringers who could do so with them.—Yours faithfully,

E. CORNER.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Mr. Edwin Barnett, sen., of Crayford, Kent, underwent a serious operation last Wednesday week in St. Peter's Hospital, Covent Garden, London. The report on Monday was that he was as comfortable as could be expected. His many friends all over the country will wish him a speedy recovery.

An interesting event on Sunday is the reopening of the restored ring of ten at S. Nicolas' Church, Guildford. Messrs. Taylor and Co. have recast four of the bells, including the trebles and tenor, retuned the remainder, and rehung the whole. The work on the bells was part of a general restoration scheme at the church which has cost about a thousand pounds.

The College Youths rang their first peal of Stedman Triples in December 4th, 1803, at St. Mary Abbeots', Kensington. On an old board in the tower it is recorded: 'The whole peal of Tripples on Stedman's Principle, as composed by Mr. Thomas Edwards, was completely rung in this tower on Sunday, December 4th, 1803, in 2 hours and 50 mins., by the following College Youths: Willm. Paris treble, Willm. Brooke 2, Jon. Langly 3, Willm. Jones 4, Jno. Stratford 5, Chas. Barber 6, Edwn. Bartell 7, Riehd. Eddes tenor. Called by W. Barber.'

The 6th of December is the anniversary of that other peal of Stedman Triples, that at St. Michael at Coslany, Norwich, in the year 1731, which formed such an interesting feature in the Norwich dispute of that year, as recently described in our columns by Mr. J. A. Trollope.

On December 8th, 1746, a peal of 10,080 Bob Major was rung at Hurvictsham, Kent. Next Wednesday is also the anniversary of the 11,111 Stedman Caters, then the longest in the method on record, rung at Fulham in the year 1883. Although this was 43 years ago, half the band are still with us: F. B. Dawe, J. W. Rowbotham, C. F. Winney, E. Gibbs and Walter Prime.

A record that stood for nearly 80 years was made at Painswick in December 9th, 1833, when 10,224 Treble Bob Maximus was rung. It was not beaten until, in 1911, a peal of 12,240 was rung at Ashton-under-Lyne.

'Please permit me to say,' writes Mr. F. Maude, 'that the Yorkshire Association have the honour of Mr. T. Groombridge's name on their list.' That is the worst of having to write about ringers who belong to so many associations. One is apt to forget a few.

The closing date of the competition for the set of 16 handbells, which was formerly the property of the late Mr. Isaac G. Shade, is December 15th, but there is still time for any ringers who desire to take part to forward their contributions to the fund which is being raised for the benefit of Miss Shade, the sister of the deceased veteran.

Those who require only single tickets will benefit the fund further if, when sending, they will enclose a 1/4d. stamp for postage. Bauds can help substantially by taking a book of tickets. There are ten in each book, and each entitles the holder to take part in the competition on contributing 1s. to the fund. Tickets undisposed of must be returned to the Editor of 'The Ringing World,' 63, Commercial Road, Woking, to whom also all contributions should be sent.

RINGING AFTER EUCHARIST.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In reading the interesting account given in your columns of the Guildford District meeting, I took note of the Ringing Master's recommendation to ring for the Holy Eucharist when Matins follows very shortly after it. As this is a matter affecting the country at large, let me supplement his sound advice with the suggestion that the ringers should make a practice of attending the sung Eucharist and ringing again for the short space between the two services. Our English Communion services reach a triumphant climax with the Gloria in Excelsis just before the Blessing, and a brief touch on the bells makes a fine conclusion to the great act of thanksgiving. This is done, amongst other towers, at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, and it is a thrilling experience to come out from that wonderful 'People's Communion' with its fervent congregational singing and to hear the twelve bells rolling out their majestic music overhead.—Yours truly,

F. LL. EDWARDS.

MR. JAMES GEORGE'S NEW RECORD

Mr. James George, 'of England,' fittingly celebrated his 73rd birthday on Saturday, when he made more history by ringing a peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal at St. Clement Danes'. He is, we believe, the oldest man to ring a peal of 'Cambridge Ten', for the last peal in the method, which the late Mr. I. G. Shade rang, was when he was slightly less than this age, his last being at St. Margaret's, Westminster, on January 18th, 1924.

Mr. George wishes, through these columns, to thank his many friends for their congratulations and good wishes for his 73rd birthday; they are too numerous to reply to separately.

AN INCUMBENT'S FEE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Can any brother ringer who knows inform me whether an incumbent can charge 3s. 6d. for his own pocket over and above the ringer's fee for ringing for a wedding?—Yours truly, J. L. Harris, High Street, Haling, Kent.

LONG PEAL ATTEMPT AGAIN FAILS.

The attempt for the long peal of London Surprise Major at Warnham, Sussex, on Saturday, happened to fall on a day when the band was 'off colour,' and it was lost through a rather silly mistake after 3 hrs. 15 mins. ringing. The ringing, although good, was not up to the standard of the previous attempt.

After seeing 'Joe' comfortable in his Austin and ready for his long run to the west, a peal of Stedman Triples was rung, with Mr. Walter Chairman taking the vacant rope. It was most gratifying to the company when the Vicar, who met them on coming from the tower, said, 'When will you come again? Keep on until you do ring it.'

CITY CHURCHES SAVED.*PARLIAMENT REJECTS MEASURE.

After a spirited debate last Thursday night, the 'Union of Benefices and Disposal of Churches (Metropolis) Measure' was rejected by the House of Commons by 151 votes to 27. By this result, the city churches, which were threatened with demolition, have been saved, for the time being at any rate, and it has been due largely to the awakened interest in the churches shown by the City of London itself. Ringers will be gratified, in that it means, also, the saving of some famous rings of bells from possible destruction.

Commenting on the rejection of the measure, the 'Sunday Times' said it was due not only to religious and æsthetic grounds, but even more to the constitutional aspect of the question. 'The City of London is very properly most jealous of its rights and liberties, and it was by no means satisfied that the proposal afforded reasonable safeguards in a matter affecting not one religious body only, but the whole citizenship of the City. The City churches were built, after the Great Fire, not out of ecclesiastical funds, but with money publicly supplied, and they are, therefore, in a sense the property of the whole City, and not of any section or denomination. The City Corporation determined to oppose the claims of the Church to be able to demolish such buildings as it chose and devote the proceeds from the sale of sites exclusively to its own purpose.'

'The victory,' added the 'Sunday Times,' 'means that respite has been won, but not that the position of the churches is permanently secure. On the contrary, it is still very much in jeopardy. The diocesan authorities retain the power, granted them under the Act of 1860, to pull down churches in the City; since the passage of the Act they have utilised their power on no fewer than twenty-one occasions, and there is nothing at law to prevent their using it on as many occasions again. It is time that that power were restricted in so far as it endangers buildings of artistic and historic value; the public at large, and not merely the inhabitants of the parish concerned, have a moral right to be consulted. The matter can be quite easily and satisfactorily settled by amending the Ancient Monuments Act so that churches of other than strictly ecclesiastical value can be scheduled for protection under it. We do not doubt the sincerity of those who wish to demolish certain churches, but we do gravely question the propriety of their claim to act in the matter without considering extra-denominational opinion. The City churches must be made quite safe.'

DEDICATION OF LANCASHIRE BELLS.*A NEW RING OF EIGHT AT CHURCHKIRK.

On Saturday, November 20th, the recast augmented peal at St. James' Church, Churchkirk, Lancs, was dedicated by the Rev. R. Newman, M.A., Rural Dean, and Rector of Churchkirk. A very interesting and instructive address was given by Rev. Canon H. J. Elsee, M.A., president of the Lancashire Association, to the large congregation present.

Tea, which was served in the schools, was attended by ringers and the members of the congregation, and during this meal a telegram of congratulation to the Churchkirk ringers on the augmentation was received from Mr. John Bentley, of Haylake. Over sixty ringers were present, and all were unanimous in praising both the tone and 'go' of the bells, which reflect the utmost credit upon the founders, Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough.

The event coincided with the jubilee of the installation of the original six, and this grand old tower, which can be traced back authentically to the year 1268, and was in existence before that, now contains a peal worthy of its traditions.

In addition to the Blackburn Branch members, who were well represented, many visitors were present, including the president, Canon Elsee; the vice-president, Mr. J. Rollerson; the general secretary, Mr. W. H. Shaker; the ringing secretary, Mr. A. Tomlinson; and a promising youngster from Pendleton, the secretary of the Fylde Branch, Mr. C. Sharple, and Mr. R. Parkinson, of Durham, a former conductor at Churchkirk. Other towers represented were: Houghton and Penwortham, Leyland, Helmsshore, whilst Mr. J. Fidler represented the founders. An interesting visitor was Mr. H. Hayes, who was one of the original band who rang at the previous dedication in 1876. He is well over 70; his height is 'four feet nothing,' and, perched in a precarious position, he rang the treble to a touch of Bob Minor, and right well, too.

Touches in many methods were rung, and the bells were kept busy till 9 p.m., the people in the district quite enjoying the ringing after nearly four years' silence.

An apology was received from the secretary of the Blackburn Branch, Mr. J. Watson, who was unable to attend through illness.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.*LOWER BEEDING BELLS RESTORED.

A very pleasant and successful meeting of the Central Division of the Sussex Association was held at Lower Beeding (Plummer's Plain), near Horsham, on Saturday, November 20th, at the special invitation of the Vicar (the Rev. G. D. Cooper) and members of the Lower Beeding Branch. The bells were originally a complete octave of Belgian origin, but owing to the trebles being so light, and consequently difficult to ring, only the back six had been used in recent years, although peals had been rung on the eight, including a peal of Superlative which is recorded on a tablet in the ringing chamber. Chain was fixed to the clappers of the trebles, which were rung on the wrong side of the bells, but a slight bump on the stay, which only great experience with them could avoid, would throw the clappers right again, and they could not be heard by the ringer. All this has now been altered by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon, in whose hands the work of restoration was placed. The two trebles, the fifth and tenor have been recast and metal added, and the whole of the bells rehung, and the Vicar and local ringers can now be congratulated on possessing a ringable peal of bells.

Some forty-five ringers had notified their intention to be present at the meeting, but the weather was most unfavourable, and when the secretary arrived shortly after three o'clock some anxiety was felt as to the success of the gathering, especially as it meant a cross-country journey for most, the nearest railway station being several miles distant. But at 4 p.m. passed the number increased, and, later, when a count could be made, forty-five were found to be present, representing the following branches: Bolney, Billingshurst, Brighton (St. Peter's), Cuckfield, Fittleworth, Henfield, Horsham, Ickingfield, Lindfield, Lower Beeding, Shipley, Slinfold, Warnham, West Grinstead, also Messrs. Cyril F. Johnston (Croydon), J. H. Shepherd (Swinford), and H. B. Wells, non-resident members.

The service was particularly bright and hearty, and the Vicar's address, which included an account of the bells and their origin, was greatly appreciated. Best thanks are also due to the lady who presided at the organ.

Tea had been provided in a very liberal manner, and for a time everyone seemed to be fully occupied. After cigarettes were lighted, two prominent members of the company began to talk, strike notes, tap notes, dominant notes, harmonics merging into each other and making it difficult to the ear for the purpose of striking. So it went on. In the end—to the writer of these notes—they both appeared to agree to differ.

The Vicar considered the talk very interesting. Later, when one of the disputants was about to leave for Croydon, and the other for Brighton, they seemed to be on very friendly terms.

The ringing during the day did not reach a very high standard. The bells are somewhat odd struck, and the trebles turn very quickly. Messrs. Gillett and Johnston are in no way to blame for this; but it is, none the less, a cause of difficulty to any but experienced ringers.

Mr. G. Walder, of Bolney, intended to be present, but was prevented from doing so through the illness of his daughter. He was present when the original peal was opened forty years ago.

CANON SIMPSON'S CRITICISMS ACTED ON—FORTY YEARS AFTER.

The following notes have been contributed by the present Vicar, the Rev. G. D. Cooper, M.A.:

The bells of Lower Beeding were presented to the church in 1886 by members of the Hubbard family, thanks to the interest and efforts of Miss Louisa Hubbard, and in memory of her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hubbard, of Leonardslée.

They have an interesting history. When in the early 'eighties,' Miss Hubbard first thought of providing bells for her Parish Church, her great wish was that the bells should be as good as possible. With this aim in view, and possibly under the advice of the Rector of Slaugham of those days, she went to Belgium, and there fell in love with the tones of the old Belgian bells and the wonderful carillons of the Lowlands.

In due course, nine bells were bought for Lower Beeding from Severin van Aerschodt, of Louvain, and Messrs. Gillett and Bland, of Croydon, were called in to provide a carillon, and clock, and ringing fittings for eight bells.

But Miss Hubbard had made one mistake. The Belgian bells of 1886 were not like their predecessors of three centuries earlier; and the Lower Beeding bells (especially number five) had a trick of humming painful discords. Added to this, the nine bells (one fixed) were only intended to be carillon bells, and the treble and number two were too light for ringing.

In the summer of this year—just forty years after their erection—these bells and their carillon were examined in detail by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston. When the defective tone and harmonics (long ago noted by Canon Simpson, of Fittleworth) were demonstrated, the Church Council decided that four bells should be recast, the remainder tuned, and the carillon put in order.

So, at last, Miss Hubbard's wish to provide really beautiful bells has been accomplished. A full peal of eight bells, with greatly improved tone, will welcome in 1927, when the time comes; and, day by day now, the carillon is ringing out its tunes, at twelve and six o'clock, to cheer one of the most widespread of our Sussex villages.

The total weight of the eight ringing bells is now 38½ cwt., the tenor being 10½ cwt., note 'G,' in addition to which is the chiming bell between Nos. 4 and 5, for lutes.

BASINGSTOKE DISTRICT AND THE DIVISION OF THE GUILD.

The Basingstoke District, on Saturday, November 20th, considered the question of the Winchester Diocesan Guild's status owing to the impending division of the diocese. It was pointed out that the district had already recorded a resolution in favour of division.

However, it was resolved that the district should support the proposal for the Winchester and Portsmouth Dioceses to remain affiliated whilst the Guildford Diocese should form a new Guild, and this was carried, only a small portion of the meeting recording their votes.

A correspondent writes: 'Respecting the vote taken on Saturday at our district meeting at Basingstoke on the question of the division of the Guild, I think many members were influenced chiefly by the decisions reached at the Guildford and Portsmouth District meetings, and therefore did not record their vote at all.'

With the members in the new dioceses, after referring the matter to their Bishops when they are appointed, will rest the ultimate decision, and I personally think that no pressure should be exercised by members living in the Winchester Diocese, and who will, of course, remain in the Winchester Guild to restrain, or even advise, those in the proposed new dioceses from carrying out their obvious duty as loyal churchmen and especially as loyal church workers. It is, of course, always open to all the present members to remain members of the old Guild, but the diocese is always regarded as the unit of church life, and ringers should regard it as a privilege to work under the individual control of their own Bishop. After all, the real useful work of Guilds is done in the districts, and it does not seem to matter much, except for veneration for an older name, under which Guild a ringer carries on.'

REV. C. D. P. DAVIES RESIGNS DISTRICT SECRETARYSHIP.

The annual meeting of the Basingstoke District of the above Guild was held on Saturday, November 20th, at Basingstoke. A record number was present, the members numbering between 50 and 60, and including visitors from Aldershot, Eastleigh, Winchester and Mortimer (Berks). Touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles and Triples and Plain Bob and Treble Bob Major were rung during the afternoon and evening. Divine service was held in St. Michael's Church, followed by tea in the Church Cottage, where the annual meeting took place.

The chief item, which naturally caused a feeling of sadness, was the resignation of the highly esteemed and efficient secretary of the district, the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, who, after nine years of useful work, is shortly retiring from the parish of Deane and removing from the district.

A hearty vote of thanks and gratitude was accorded to him. To fill his place, Mr. Davies had induced the Rev. H. T. Adams, Rector of Silchester (whose band of ringers joined the Guild during the past year) to consent to allow his name to be put before the meeting, and he was duly elected with acclamation.

Following the precedent of electing a new Master each year, the retiring Master (Mr. W. Hupt, Oakley) proposed Mr. C. Osler (Bramley), and he was elected. Mr. J. Chesterman (Basingstoke) was elected representative on the Central Committee, and Mr. F. Wilson was re-elected auditor.

Meetings during the coming year are to be held at Odiham (spring), Andover (summer), and St. Mary Bourne (autumn). Twelve new probationers were proposed, including the whole band at St. Mary Bourne.

ISLE OF WIGHT DISTRICT DESIRE UNITED GUILD.

The annual meeting of the Isle of Wight District was held at Carisbrooke on Saturday last, when there was a record attendance, thirty-eight members being present, and all affiliated towers were represented. The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. H. S. Footman) and the Guild's form was used, Dr. J. B. Williamson presiding at the organ. The company, including the president, the Rev. H. E. H. Coombes (Freshwater), the Rev. J. C. Orr (Whitwell), and the Rev. H. C. Stokes (Brading), were then entertained to a sumptuous tea at the Waverley Hotel by the Vicar.

At the meeting that followed, the president occupied the chair during the first portion of the business, and expressed his pleasure at meeting so many of the members.

The balance sheet showed receipts £8 6s. 8d., expenditure £3 5s. 5d. (including instruction at Brading), £4 15s. to be forwarded to the general treasurer, leaving a balance in hand of 3s. 5d.—This was considered satisfactory and adopted, together with the hon. secretary's report for the year.

The Rev. H. S. Footman was elected president for the ensuing year, and other officers were re-elected, viz.: Mr. H. Barton District Ringing Master and representative on the Central Committee, Mr. B. J. Snow district secretary, and Mr. H. A. Phillips district auditor. Messrs. E. Fleming (Brading), H. Dowden (Ryde) and A. Drake (Carisbrooke) were proposed as full members, and K. Downer (Freshwater), G. Muddell and J. Cooper (Byde) and H. Dawney (Godshill) as probationary members, and all were duly elected. Major C. W. Vincent, of Ryde, was elected an honorary member.

It was resolved to hold the next annual meeting at Newport on November 26th, 1927, and the spring quarterly meeting at Freshwater on February 26th, 1927, also a by-practice meeting at Arretton the last Saturday in January, subject to arrangements.

Arising from the matter re the division of the Diocese, Mr. W.

Upton, of Newport, proposed that on the division of the diocese, the members of the Isle of Wight District of the Winchester Diocesan Guild of Change Ringers are desirous of the Guild continuing on as hitherto.—This was seconded by Mr. E. Hatcher, of Ryde, and supported by the ex-president, and on being put to the vote was carried unanimously.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the ex-president and the officers, also to the new president for his kind hospitality in entertaining the members to tea.

This concluded a most successful meeting, and further ringing then took place on Carisbrooke's grand peal.

NORTH NOTTS ASSOCIATION.

PROPOSED RINGING COMPETITION.

The sixth meeting of the year was held at Tuxford on Saturday, November 20th. A large attendance of ringers had been expected, but owing to the usual rainy November Saturday and other causes there was only a moderate attendance, and many who had promised to attend were unable to do so. There was a good supply of buses, and the L.N.E.R. Co. conceded single fares for the double journey, and to give the ringers 1½ hours longer ringing allowed the 8.21 express train ex Newark to stop at Tuxford station for the Northern District ringers. However, the 22 stalwarts who braved the elements got good value for their sacrifice. The new peal of six bells in the key of G, tenor 12 cwt., was kindly placed at the disposal of the ringers from 2 p.m. to 8.30 p.m., and was kept in motion the whole time except for a brief interval for tea and the business meeting, and some good ringing was executed, both with handstroke and closed leads. Ringers were present from Sutton-on-Trent (7), Barlborough (3), East Markham (2), Gamston (2), Worksop (2), South Anston (1), Ordsall (1), North Wheatley (2), Newark (2), and Mr. J. H. Smith, the leader of the local band, who made every arrangement for the welcome and comfort of all. The methods rung for the probationers were Plain Bob Minor and Doubles, also Grandsire Doubles. Afterwards, Kent, Oxford, Killamarsch, Violet, Duke of York, Treble Bob and St. Clement's Minor were rung. Tea was served in the schoolroom, and the business meeting which followed was presided over by the Vicar (Rev. Walter Smith), who gave a hearty welcome to the visitors. It was, he said, their first visit to Tuxford since the restoration of the bells, and he was very favourably impressed with the good ringing done that afternoon. He would very much have liked to have the full octave. There was plenty of room for them, and frames had been put in the tower for them. He hoped the day would soon come when someone would come forward with the additional bells to make them complete. He noticed a number of ladies present, who, he was told, had taken seriously to learning the intricacies of the art, and it was always a good sign of progress when the ladies of the church took seriously to any branch of church work. He also noticed from the yearly report that the society was progressing numerically and financially. That was another good sign. He wished the association every success for the future, and 'Godspeed' in their work. When he was at Cambridge he took a great delight in the sound of bells, and always had done, but he had never learned to ring them.

The next meeting will be held at West Retford early in the new year, and will be advertised in due course in 'The Ringing World.'

The following new members were duly enrolled: Archdeacon Hacking, of Newark, and Rev. Bell Hawes, Vicar of Sutton-on-Trent, as vice-presidents, and Mr. B. Thompson, of East Retford, as performing member.

A discussion took place with reference to the new cup or shield to be given by Mr. A. B. Crawford, of Rampton, son of the late Mr. Charles Crawford, of East Markham, and a member of the association. The cup or shield is to be called the Crawford Cup, to perpetuate the memory of the donor's father, and a competition is to take place annually, the cup being held for twelve months by the ringers for the best ringing.

The discussion was adjourned to be dealt with by the committee and, later, the annual meeting.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar for presiding over tea and meeting, for use of the schoolroom and bells, also to the caterer for providing tea, and to Mr. J. H. Smith for having everything in 'apple-pie' order for the visitors.

The Vicar suitably replied, and the meeting terminated. Ringing was then further indulged in until 8.30 p.m.

BEGINNERS' TOUCHES.

A quarter-peal of Minor, in which four of the band are quite young ringers, was rung at Penistone on Thursday, November 25th, when 1,440 changes of Bob Minor were brought round in 55 mins., the two 720's having different callings: H. Roebuck 1, F. Barraclough 2, W. Wooler 3, A. Champion 4, H. Sykes 5, L. Wilkinson (conductor) 6. All the ringers except those of the 3rd and tenor are under 18.

At Church Stretton, Shropshire, on Tuesday, November 23rd, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes) in 49 mins.: J. Williams 1, R. J. Shenton 2, W. J. Beniams (conductor) 3, W. Powell 4, R. Sands 5, W. T. Boughey 6. First quarter-peal by ringers of treble, 4th and 5th.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

GEORGE NEWSON'S NOTEWORTHY PEALS.

By J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

In his early days Newson usually rang at the light end, afterwards he usually called from the tenor, and, although never a very strong man, developed into a first-class tenor ringer. In 1894 he got together a band to attempt the extent of Double Norwich with the tenors together, 13,440. The band started for the peal on Easter Monday, March 26th, and rang 13,072 changes in eight hours and fifteen minutes, when the treble rope broke—a most unfortunate and disappointing ending when so near home. Curiously enough, on the same day another long peal attempt failed by a mechanical defect. This was at Wolverhampton, where 17,000 of Grandsire Caters were attempted under the conductorship of Mr. John Carter. 7,362 changes were rung in four hours and thirty-nine minutes, when the tenor clapper broke.

The Cumberland band, though disappointed, did not mean to accept defeat, and a few weeks later the same men, standing in the same order, successfully accomplished the peal at St. Edward's Church, Romford. The finished peal took only one minute longer than the unsuccessful attempt, which is accounted for by the difference in the weights of the tenors, Brentwood being a couple of a hundredweight heavier than Romford. 'Romford, Essex. The Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, on Wednesday, April 18th, 1894, in eight hours and sixteen minutes, at the Church of St. Edward, a peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major, 13,440 changes. Tenor 17½ cwt. Benjamin Foskett 1, Edwin Barnett 2, Henry Dains 3, George Smith 4, Charles Wilkins 5, Albert Pittam 6, Arthur Jacob 7, George Newson tenor. Composed and conducted by George Newson.'

This was the longest length at the time rung in the method. It was beaten by a 15,000 rung at Erith, conducted by Mr. W. Pye. This was superseded by 17,000 at Kidlington, though there are some doubts as to the correctness of that peal. And the Kidlington peal was beaten in number of changes, though not in length of time, by 17,104 rung at St. Thomas', Wigston, by the Midland Counties Association on December 27th, 1904, in 10 hours 35 minutes. Composed and conducted by Mr. William Willson. This remains the record for the method.

Another interesting peal of Newson's was the first true peal of Cambridge Surprise Major rung in London. This was at St. Ann's, Highgate. The history of Cambridge Surprise is an interesting one. It was composed as a six-bell method in the latter years of the seventeenth century by, if I remember rightly, Fabian Stedman, and was deservedly popular among the old ringers. Annable extended it to Major, but wrongly. He omitted fifth's and eighth's when the treble is dodging in 3-4, and, of course, produced an incorrect lead end. The correct extension, however, was shortly after discovered, and Cambridge Major was extensively practised in London during the eighteenth century. Two peals were rung, one by the London Youths, and one by the College Youths; though, as it happened, the bands were composed of exactly the same men, except for the treble ringer, and standing at the same ropes. Both peals, unfortunately, were false.

In the early nineteenth century peals, also false, were rung in Yorkshire, and later the method was practised at Norwich, though no peal was rung. From Hubbard's early editions we learn that it was highly thought of, and it is interesting to notice that he compares it favourably with Imperial, because it has Bob Major lead ends and the other has not.

Then, partly because of the difficulty of getting a true peal, and chiefly because of the general decline of ringing in the higher methods during the latter part of the nineteenth century, the method fell into disuse. When the revival came the experts who praised Superlative as 'par excellence, the perfect method,' despised Cambridge as a crude, ill-constructed affair. To Sir Arthur Heywood, Cambridge was 'radically bad,' and the 'Glossary' is scarcely more complimentary. So it was that Superlative was the Surprise Method which was first extensively practised, and peals of Cambridge were rung more as curiosities than anything else.

Then, a few years before the war, opinion changed. The fact that Cambridge will extend perfectly to any even number and the rediscovery of Cambridge Royal gave the method great popularity, and now it is rung as much as all the other Surprise Methods put together.

In George Newson's time the headquarters of the Cumberland Youths was, as now, at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, and there they had a very proficient twelve-bell band. They were not a very attractive lot, and one would hardly apply the title 'Church Workers' to them, but they could ring Stedman Cinques. Perhaps their most unamiable characteristic was a selfish exclusiveness. They had twelve good men to ring, and they never encouraged any young ringers. The immediate day was sufficient for them, the future could take care of itself, and so, when Newson and some of the others died, there were no others to take their places, and the Cumberland Society in a few years, from being among the very best in the country, fell into a very low state, from which much time and no little hard work has gradually once again raised it.

George Newson died in 1896, and was buried in Hampstead Cemetery. A stone was erected by the subscriptions of ringers.

ICKLETON BELL RESTORATION.

A TENDER ACCEPTED.

The Parochial Church Council of Ickleton, Cambs, held a meeting on Thursday evening of last week, when it was decided to accept the estimate of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston for the work of restoring the bells, which, it will be remembered, were silenced a short time ago by the breaking of the tenor gudgeon pin. It was then found that the accident was due to the dilapidated condition of the old oak frame, which was actually endangering the tower. The belfry is, therefore, to be cleared and a new iron frame installed. The tenor bell is to be recast and the other five tuned.

One subscriber to the fund having made it a condition of his gift that the tower shall be examined by an architect and his sanction to the work obtained, the Council are not placing the order until the architect has visited the tower. He will be met by a small committee (of which Mr. P. Webb, one of the ringers, is one).

Mr. Webb is anxious that when the work is carried out an H frame for eight bells shall be erected, as he feels confident that it would not be long before two trebles could be obtained to complete the octave. At present there is reluctance on the part of the village folk to depart from the six to which they have always been accustomed, but a little outside influence might convert them to the advantages of eight bells.

The following donations towards the estimated cost of £400 have been received from outside sources, and further contributions will be gladly welcomed by Mr. Webb: Whittle-le-Wood ringers 10s., Chatteris ringers 5s., Rev. R. Copeman £1, A Friend 2s. 6d. Mr. Webb's address is Ickleton, Cambridgeshire.

COINCIDENCE.

By a curious coincidence the peal of Guildford Surprise Major rung at Guildford and recorded this week fell on the same date as that on which the first peal in the method was rung in 1913 at Holy Trinity, viz., November 23rd. The same composition was rung and the same time occupied in ringing it.

With the exception of the composition, all the rest is absolute chance, and even the ringers were unaware of it until they had finished. There have been no other peals in the method on these bells except the first one of all, which is not recorded as it turned out false.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION. ANNUAL FESTIVAL.

The 49th annual festival of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association was held at Newcastle on October 30th. The service was held in Newcastle Cathedral, conducted by the Vicar of Newnastle (Canon Newcom), assisted by the president (the Rev. A. W. Lister, Rector of St. Stephen's, South Shields), and Canon Stephenson (Rector of Gateshead). A very interesting and instructive address was given by the Rev. R. E. Holmes, Vicar of Tynemouth, who based his remarks on the 19th Psalm, and said the clergy and the bell-ringers were fellow-ministers, each in his own way telling of the glory of God, for the bells called God's people to God's house to hear the Word of God. When the church bells sounded over hill and dale, their message was, 'May Jesus Christ be praised.'

The president (the Rev. A. W. Lister) presided at the annual dinner and meeting, held at the Crown Hotel. The hon. treasurer, Mr. G. S. Taylor, presented the financial report, which showed that a debit balance of £3 17s. 10d. had been transformed into a credit balance of £13 7s. 3d.

The hon. secretary, Mr. E. Ferry, presented the annual report, which showed that North Shields took first place for Sunday service ringing, followed by St. Ignatius', Sunderland, for the 8, 10, and 12 bell towers, Newcastle Cathedral being third. In the six-bell towers, Holy Trinity, Darlington, took first place for the fifth year in succession. The first peal of Doubles by the association was rung at St. Peter's, Jarrow, on September 22nd, and on Sunday, October 24th, the bells of Durham Cathedral were rung in changes for the afternoon service. This is believed to be the first time these bells have been rung in changes for a Sunday service, and the ringing was done by the local band with the assistance of their instructor. There is great hope of better things here in the future, with the entire support and encouragement of the Dean and Chapter.

The sad note in the report related to the loss the association had sustained in the death of one hon. active member, three active and three life members, namely, Major R. C. Hudson, who met his untimely death whilst muffling the bells at Bishopwearmouth Church preparatory to the memorial service for Queen Alexandra. The magnificent character of the deceased and the terrible calamity are too fresh in the memory of all to need detailing here. Then came the death of Mr. Norman C. Fleck, of Gosforth, Mr. A. F. Hillier, and Mr. R. Richards, of Newcastle Cathedral, life members, Mr. W. T. Robson, of Liverpool, one time hon. secretary of the association, and a fellow ringer with Major Hudson at Bishopwearmouth before going to West Hartlepool and thence to Liverpool, Mr. Geo. Hill, of Penistone, and Mr. J. G. Shade.

The points gained for Sunday service ringing were as follows: For the 8, 10 and 12 bell towers, North Shields 1,165,844 points, St. Ignatius', Sunderland, 833,443, Newcastle Cathedral 690,735, Gosforth 526,376, St. John's, Darlington, 422,404, Shildon 326, Tanfield 383,13, Gateshead 208,12, Jesmond 195,45, Consett 186,81, St. Oswald's, West Hartlepool, 182,06, Chester-le-Street 173,772, Bishopwearmouth 48,9; six-bell towers, Holy Trinity, Darlington, 1,454,828, Benfieldside 683,464, Hurworth-on-Tees 582,464, Newton Hall 463,56, Winton 168,48, Newburn 119. Twenty-seven peals were rung during the year (including the first peal on Carlisle Cathedral bells), 69 members having taken part in the peals, twelve members had rung their first peal during the year, and there were nine conductors. Four towers have joined the association during the year.

Canon Stephenson presented the certificates to the winning towers for the best Sunday service ringing during the year.

The following were elected officers: President, Mr. C. L. Routledge; vice-presidents, Messrs. T. Clark (Southern District), F. Sheraton (Western), J. S. Goffon (Northern); hon. secretary, E. Ferry; hon. treasurer, G. S. Taylor; hon. editorial secretary, Arthur Payne; hon. auditor, A. M. Hall; district secretary, W. Story (Northern Division of the Northern District), A. Deas (Newcastle Division), G. S. Taylor (Eastern), T. Titt (Southern), H. Tyson (Western), C. Squire (West Tyne). It was stated in the report that the association is celebrating its jubilee this year, and the whole-hearted support of every member was asked for to make it the success aimed at.

DEATH OF THE REV. H. T. W. EYRE.

FORMER SECRETARY OF THE ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

We regret to announce the death of Rev. H. T. W. Eyre, in his 79th year, the sad event taking place at The Temples, Witham, on Wednesday, November 24th. The deceased was apparently in his usual health when he retired to bed on the previous evening, but had a seizure and passed away soon after midnight.

The Rev. H. T. W. Eyre was for forty years Vicar of Gt. Totham, from which living he retired in 1916. While there, he was instrumental in restoring the church and adding the ring of six bells.

For upwards of 30 years he was honorary secretary of the Essex Association, and up to the time of his death took a keen interest in its welfare. He was present at the last annual meeting at Chelmsford Cathedral on Whit Monday.

The funeral took place on Saturday. The church was crowded with his old parishioners and friends to pay their last respect to a faithful parish priest. The service was choral, and the whole of the neighbouring clergy were present and robed. The opening sentences were recited by the Vicar (Rev. A. B. Herbert), Rev. G. A. Cambell (Vicar of Witham) read the lesson, and Canon G. T. Brunwin-Hales (Rector of St. Mary-at-the-Walls, Colchester) recited the committal prayer. Among those present were: Mr. C. H. Howard (Master of the Essex Association), Mr. P. Timson (district secretary S.E. Division), Messrs. L. W. Wiffen and C. H. Howard (Braintree), J. D. Buckingham (Goldhanger), F. Chalk (Hoybridge), W. H. Chalk (Langford), A. Evers (Witham). Among the many floral tributes were a cross from the Essex Association and a wreath from the Totham choir and ringers. Immediately after the burial, 720 Bob Minor was rung deeply muffled on the bells which Mr. Eyre loved so well: S. Rusben (Totham) 1, C. H. Howard (Braintree) 2, P. C. Sayer (Totham) 3, J. D. Buckingham (Goldhanger) 4, L. W. Wiffen (Braintree) 5, T. Hammond (Totham) 6.

At Witham, on Saturday, with the bells half-muffled, as a token of deep respect, 720 Oxford Treble Bob Minor and 720 Double Court Minor were rung: W. S. Butler 1, W. Mellin 2, V. Glass 3, A. Evers 4, W. Butler 5, E. Bright (conductor) 6.—On Sunday, for morning service, 720 Cambridge Surprise Minor and 216 Oxford Treble Bob Minor: V. Glass 1, W. Butler 2, W. Mellin 3, A. Evers 4, W. S. Butler 5, E. Bright (conductor) 6.—For evening service, 720 Woodbine Treble Bob Minor, also 216 Bob Minor: W. Butler (conductor) 1, W. Mellin 2, V. Glass 3, A. Evers 4, E. Bright 5, W. S. Butler 6.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION PRESENTATION TO FORMER BRISTOL BRANCH SECRETARY.

The monthly meeting of the Bristol Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association was held at St. Thomas' (City), Bristol, on Saturday last, when no less than 22 towers were represented, and visitors were present from Bath, Burnham-on-Sea, Clevedon, Devizes, Weston-super-Mare and Newport (Mon). The bells of St. Mary Redcliffe (12), Temple (8), St. Philip's (8), and St. Thomas' were available during the afternoon. Redcliffe and Temple were the great attraction, and at the former several ringers had their first pull on twelve bells. The interest at Temple is its leaning tower, which is nearly five feet out of plumb.

Tea was served in the Parish Hall, where 70 ringers and friends sat down, including the Vicar (the Rev. M. Patterson) and the churchwardens, Messrs. G. E. Ford and W. H. Paul.

The short business meeting which followed was presided over by the chairman (Mr. J. Gould).

The usual votes of thanks were accorded to all concerned for the arrangements.

The service, which was fully choral, was conducted by the Vicar, who gave a thoughtful address from the chancel.

Following the service an adjournment was again made to the Parish Hall, where in the presence of about 100 ringers and friends, several coming in from the surrounding districts for the occasion, the chairman presented Mr. Percy C. Williams with a handsome eight-day striking clock, suitably inscribed on a brass plate. The gift had been subscribed to by members of the branch in recognition of Mr. Williams' great services as honorary secretary of the Bristol Branch for five years. The chairman, in making the presentation, spoke of the excellent work Mr. Williams had performed during his term of office. He had given them a great deal of his time and energy, especially in connection with the monthly meetings.

Mrs. Williams was not forgotten, as it was well known that she had done her share in the work, and she was presented with a large box of chocolates.

Mr. Williams was taken by surprise, and was almost too full for words. In thanking the members most sincerely, he wanted to know how they kept the secret.

The rest of the evening was spent in harmony. A whist drive and dance had been organised by the Bristol United Guilds, and it proved that some of the ringers (not forgetting the old hands) could enjoy a dance as well as a ring on the bells.

GLOUCESTER BRANCH ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Gloucester Branch was held at St. Laurence's Church, Barnwood, on Saturday, November 20th, when 30 members from various towers attended, including visitors from Stroud and a lady ringer from Cheshire.

A short service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. F. H. V. Paton), who is chairman of the branch. He extended a hearty welcome to the members, and gave a very helpful address on the ringers' vocation. Following the service, the members adjourned to the schoolroom, where an excellent tea had been provided through the kind generosity of the Rev. and Mrs. Paton.

After tea, the Vicar took the chair for the business meeting, at which the hon. secretary presented his report. This showed that nine meetings had been held during the year, with an attendance of 198 members, and an average of 22 per meeting. The report was considered very satisfactory and adopted.

The Rev. F. H. V. Paton was re-elected chairman for the ensuing year, Mr. W. H. Harris, secretary, and Mr. T. Baldwin as representative on Management Committee.

The Chairman and Mr. Harris thanked the members for the confidence placed in them by re-electing them, and said they would serve the branch to the best of their ability.

A vote of thanks was passed to the Rev. and Mrs. Paton for their kindness in providing tea, and to Mr. J. Waite for his assistance.

The next meeting is to be held at St. Mary De Lode, it being left for the secretary to arrange a date.

CAN EXPERTS FIND THE TRUTH?

Our article last week, suggesting that a committee of experts might consider the question of method extension and lay down the tests which shall be applied in future for deciding the validity of claims, has brought from the Rev. H. Law James the rejoinder that such a committee would be impossible, because what is wanted is truth, and a committee could only offer a compromise. Here, however, we must join issue with the Master of the Lincoln Guild. If there is truth to be found, why cannot a committee of experts find it? If the protagonists of any one view cannot trust a judicial body to investigate their claims, for fear it may be said that truth does not lie in that direction, we can understand there may be objection to submitting arguments to an impartial tribunal, but where men are certain of their ground there ought to be no hesitation in accepting the decision of a committee who could get down to the fundamental facts. There is no need for compromise in a thing like this, any more than there was when the committee set out to define 'legitimate' methods, and, if 'truth' exists, let us have it defined.

In certain directions, however, many practical ringers have serious doubts whether any of the disputants are strictly right, and there is much in the contention that in regard to some methods, at all events, true extensions are not possible. A great deal of light will be thrown upon the matter, we think, by the remarks which will be found in 'Notes by the Way' in this and subsequent issues, and when the ordinary reader has perused these notes he may be able to place his own value upon the discussions to which the Exercise is from time to time treated. Mr. Trollope is here dealing with method extension from a detached point of view, and reviews all the factors that have a bearing on this involved problem. It is an explanation which will elucidate for the uninitiated some of the knotty points which need to be unravelled if a complete understanding of the subject is to be gained.

But the more the experts oppose an investigation of the question, the more will the average ringer be inclined to the belief that the 'authorities' are by no means sure of their ground. After all, the Exercise, as we pointed out last week, although not particularly interested in the arguments, which many cannot follow, is at least entitled to know where we stand in these matters, and to be told, if that be the truth, that there is no correct solution to these problems. Surely there is enough knowledge in the Exercise to settle a matter of this kind, or to tell us that it is incapable of settlement; to say, for instance, whether the Baker view or the James view of the extension of Superlative is right, or whether both are wrong. It is of no use to say that the matter is of no importance to the Exercise. Before anyone thought of ringing Superlative Maximus it may have been unimportant, but now that a method which purports to be an extension of the Major is actually being practised, this question becomes one of definite importance. And as time goes on other bands will want to practise extensions of other methods; why not, therefore, endeavour to clear the ground and tell us, at least, what tests must be satisfied in method extension?

DEXTER'S VARIATION OF THURSTANS'.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In reference to Mr. W. H. Barber's contention that the late Mr. J. W. Washbrook's variation of Thurstans' and the one under my name are the same, having called both, I really must beg to differ. Mr. Washbrook's peal, which was first called at Southgate on September 24th, 1896, has three successive blocks with singles at 2. The other has three successive blocks with the singles at 14, so that the whole cycle of both is different. Again, why did not Mr. Washbrook claim it when he saw it? But if Mr. Barber, or anyone for that matter, prefers to call them the same under Mr. Washbrook's name, I have no real or personal interest, for there are no royalties, and life is too short for argument. But my feelings on the matter are similar to the astronomer who was compelled to recant his view of the world revolving round the sun. When I have called the one we will call 'Dexter,' it has always been published as a variation of Thurstans'.—It is much easier to call or conduct than either Mr. Washbrook's or the original. This was my only excuse in stringing the blocks together in this form with singles, for both variations are mongrels. I am much obliged to Mr. Barber for wishing to call my attention to the same.—Yours truly,
F. H. DEXTER.

50, Stuart Street, Leicester.

To the Editor.

Sir,—May I say that I pointed out the matter of the above to the secretary of the M.C.C. early in the present year? The composition was rung at Barwell on November 9th, 1912, conducted by F. H. Dexter, as Washbrook's variation; at Leicester, on August 16th, 1919, same conductor, as Dexter's variation; and again at Nottingham on June 1st, 1926, conducted by A. F. Bailey, as Washbrook's, and the figures are again given. There is no such variation as Dexter's.

W. A. CAVE.

MR. R. BROWN'S 50 PEALS.

A peal of London Surprise at North Stonham, Hants, on Saturday, completed Mr. R. Brown's 50 peals as follows: Grandsire Triples 6, Stedman Triples 6, Bob Major 4, Kent Treble Bob Major 4, Double Norwich Major 9, Superlative Surprise Major 6, Cambridge Surprise Major 10, London Surprise Major 5; total 50.

MR. J. FLEUTY'S 100 PEALS.

Minor 14, Bob Major 7, Oxford Treble Bob Major 4, Kent Treble Bob Major 8, Double Norwich 8, Grandsire Triples 4, Cambridge Surprise Major 11, Superlative Surprise 22, London Surprise 22; total 100.

GUILDFORD'S IMPROVED RING OF TEN.

A great improvement has been effected in the ring of ten bells at St. Nicolas' Church, Guildford. The bells have been in the hands of Messrs. Taylor and Co., who have recast the front four and the tenor and tuned the other five, and the church now has a much more dignified and sweet-toned peal. The tenor—22½ cwt.—is a little heavier than its predecessor, and vastly superior in quality. The old fittings as well as the old frame has been utilised, and the bell hangers have made such a complete success of this part of the job that the 'go' is perfect.

The rededication of the bells took place on Sunday at the morning service, when, from the chancel, the Rector (the Rev. G. M. Wheeler) recited the dedicatory prayers, and the 'St. Clement's Bell Hymn,' written by Mrs. Bickford and set to music by her husband, the Rev. W. Pennington Bickford, Rector of St. Clement Daves, was sung by the congregation, kneeling. Then the bells were heard, rung by the local band in rounds for a few minutes before the service was resumed.

After the service and during the afternoon, the bells were open, and a number of visitors joined in the ringing, among them Mr. Frank Bennett, of Brighton, who was present at the dedication of the two trebles when the bells were first made into a ring of ten, about forty years ago. Mr. Pryce Taylor represented the founders.

A SILENT HANTS PEAL.*A SUGGESTION TO THE WINCHESTER GUILD.

On Thursday week, the Wickham (Hants) ringers paid a visit to St. Andrew's Church, Owslebury, and rang three 720's of Minor, being 720 Plain Bob, 720 Oxford Single and 720 College Single: W. Heming 1, H. J. Smith 2, H. W. Merrett 3, Rev. E. H. Duke 4, G. E. Chappell 5, H. Bennett (conductor) 6.

After the ringing, the visitors were entertained to light refreshments at the Rectory, by the Rev. A. E. and Mrs. Briggs, who expressed their appreciation of hearing the bells once more.—The ringers thanked the Rector for the use of the bells and for so kindly providing refreshments, and hoped their visit would be of some interest, and would rouse some of the locals to start ringing, as it would appear the bells are never rung, not even for Sunday services.

This is a good case, writes our correspondent, for the district representatives of the Guild to take up, as the bells are a nice ring of six and in good going order. The Guild is always anxious that bells should be erected and restored when in bad condition, and it should be part of their duty to see what can be done to keep them on the move, especially for Sunday services. Will officials and members of the Guild please take note?

'BIG PETER' AT LOUGHBOROUGH.

'Big Peter,' the famous big bell of York Minster, weighing 103 tons and inferior in size only to 'Great Paul' and 'Big Ben,' was removed last week from York Minster and taken by road to Loughborough, where it will be recast at a cost of nearly £1,500. So large was the bell that the stone pillar between the large double doors at the west end of the Minster had to be removed before the bell could be got outside the building. The bell is 1ft. thick, with a clapper weighing 3 cwt. This bell has never been 'rung' in the accepted sense of the word, because it was too unwieldy. It was stated in the 'Times' that the bell defied the efforts of 40 men pulling on ropes over a pulley to swing it into action, and in order that it could be rung at noon-day and midnight, on New Year's Eve, a special hammer with which it could be struck had to be erected. When the bell is rehung, the weight will have a different distribution, and the installation of ball bearings is expected to enable 'Big Peter' to be swung into action for the first time since it was hung over 70 years ago.

One of the objects in recasting the bell is to get it into tune with the new ring of twelve.

DEATH OF THE VICAR OF CHATTERIS.

We regret to record the death of the Rev. H. F. Bagshaw, Vicar of Chatteris for 25 years. Beloved by all, his death called forth a remarkable demonstration, both of the affectionate regard which his parishioners had for him, and of the high esteem in which he was held by the townspeople generally.

Amongst his church workers, no branch loved him more than the ringers. Although not a ringer himself, he knew what good ringing was, and was always ready with a word of praise when due.

After the funeral on Saturday, November 5th, the bells were rung half-muffled, and on the following Sunday.

From all quarters have come expressions of appreciation, and one of the finest is that of the Free Church Council, who say: 'We loved him, not only for his work's sake, but also for the graciousness and sweetness of his Christian character, and we have very happy memories of his unflinching courtesy and brotherly spirit shown to us all.'

On Saturday, a 720 Plain Bob half-muffled was rung: E. Mattock (first 720) 1, W. Seekings (first 720 as conductor) 2, A. Barker 3, A. Mattock 4, J. Granger 5, A. Abrams 6.—On Sunday, November 7th, a 720 Plain Bob half-muffled in 27 mins. for morning service: E. Mattock 1, W. Seekings (conductor) 2, A. Barker 3, A. Mattock 4, J. Granger 5, A. Abrams 6.—For evening service, 720 Plain Bob half-muffled in 27 mins.: E. Mattock 1, A. Mattock 2, A. Barker 3, W. Seekings (conductor) 4, J. Granger 5, A. Abrams 6.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

An outstanding performance for a youth in those early days of ringing was achieved by Robert Porter, who at 17 years of age called '5,040 Holt's Grandsire Trebles' at Kingston-on-Thames on December 10th, 1787.

A peal of 'Real Double Caters' was rung at St. Magnus' Church, London Bridge, on December 10th, 1770. It was a 5,165, composed and conducted by George Gross, and the figures are recorded in 'The Clavis.'

A peal of Grandsire Triples, 'which was done in three hours and eleven minutes to the satisfaction of all the lovers of that science,' was rung at St. Mary's Tower, Ipswich, on December 12th, 1735. The tenor was rung by James Kirridge, aged 61 years.

On December 12th, 1735, 7,392 Stedman Cinques was rung at St. Martin's, Birmingham.

A hundred and ninety-one years ago next Wednesday a peal of 8,008 Grandsire Cinques was rung by the College Youths at St. Saviour's, Southwark.

The same day is the anniversary of a peal of 5,886 Stedman Cinques, rung at Christ Church, Spitalfields, where there are now but eight bells, the old peal of twelve having been destroyed by fire.

The first peal in South Africa was rung at Woodstock on December 15th, 1904.

A peal at St. Peter's, Smithills, Bolton, has been sent without the name of the conductor. Will our correspondent, who did not enclose his address, please supply the necessary information?

The peal of Grandsire Triples at Llandudno on November 27th was rung for the North Wales Association, and that at Balcombe, Sussex, on the same date, for the Sussex County Association. The latter was the first peal by the ringers of treble and 3rd.

Those who have counterfoils of tickets for the competition for the late Mr. J. G. Shade's set of handbells are reminded that they must be returned to 'The Ringing World' Office, 63, Commercial Road, Woking, by Wednesday next. Tickets undisposed of and cash should be returned by the same date.

There are still a few tickets available for any who would like to help and who can comply with above conditions. The competition will be decided on Saturday, the 18th inst., and the result announced in the following issue of 'The Ringing World.'

The number of changes in the peal of Bristol Surprise Major at Radcliffe, on Saturday, November 20th, should have been published as 5,056, not 5,088 as sent.

STRIKING.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I quite concur in your valuable article upon 'Good Striking,' a thing which I have always impressed upon beginners. Mr. Wiffen's observations are also to the point, but, of course, his 'ral-en-tando' at back stroke must not be too obvious. In reference to his remark as to not having read anything upon training the ear in these pages, may I refer him to my previous article upon 'Bell Tones and How to Observe Them'?—Yours faithfully,

E. ALEXR. YOUNG.

BROADCASTING.

Dear Sir,—When I wrote you in regard to the broadcasting of Bow bells, I did so with the object of inducing others to add their protest, and not with the idea of starting a controversy among ourselves, but the letter in your issue of last week from Mr. E. Corner can hardly pass unchallenged, for I doubt if even the B.B.C. would care to father such an epistle. The question of public dislike is one which 'outsiders' are quite capable of voicing without our assistance (as they did in the recent controversy over jazz v. classical music, etc.), and my experience of the uninitiated is that they do appreciate a short touch (I am not aware of any request for a quarter-hour touch) when well struck, and that the only section of the ringing fraternity which needs to apologise for ringing is that to which your recent leader on striking was addressed. This has been proved to me by remarks from non-ringers (many of whom pity my insanity in 'pulling my inside out and getting blisters for nothing') on the 'fine ringing' transmitted from Bow last Sunday week, and it is up to those who ring for broadcasting to give the public something worth listening to, as has been done at Bow, and appreciation will quickly take the place of the criticisms which arise from some quarters.

As to tune ringing, I have heard no enthusiasm over the solo from St. Martin's, and as far as handbells are concerned, we can find tuning-ringing companies at two a penny, and plenty amongst them to ring a course of Stedman Caters, but I do not think they would educate the public to appreciate the 'music of the bells' if they had an interrupted quarter of an hour every Sunday as well as a band of strikers would at Bow, with a bob course of Stedman Triples or three leads of Bristol once a month.

I might also mention, for Mr. E. Corner's benefit, that Rochester are Simpson-tuned bells.—Yours faithfully,

T. GROOMBRIDGE, JUN.

SHEFFIELD DISTRICT SOCIETY PROPOSAL TO FORM DISTRICTS.

In conjunction with the Southern Division of the Yorkshire Association, a joint meeting was held at Rawmarsh where the late Mr. Sam Thomas devoted so much patience and time in teaching a new band of ringers. Upwards of 40 members assembled from Doncaster, Dore, Eastwood, Ecclesfield, Handsworth, Killamarsh, Norton, Ranmoor, Rotherham, Sheffield Cathedral, All Saints', St. Marie's, Worksop and Wortley, supported by local members. The peal of eight, in excellent going order, were sent into changes at 3 p.m., many methods being rung and several learners taking advantage of the opportunity to have a pull with their more experienced brethren.

A short service was held in the church, where the Rector gave a very interesting address, which was followed by a well prepared tea in the Parish Room, after which a smart course of Grandsire Caters opened the business meeting.

The Rector, the Rev. F. C. Scovell, kindly presided, and was congratulated by Mr. Craven upon his recent appointment as Honorary Canon of Sheffield Cathedral. Nine new ringing members were elected and also one honorary member in the Rector, who paid the welcome subscription of 10s.

The Secretary reported that owing to the large area which the society covers some towers were visited only once in three years, a position which was far from satisfactory from the point of view of collecting subscriptions and giving the necessary assistance to struggling bands. It was therefore proposed, subject to ratification at the annual meeting at Ranmoor next March, to form two branches or sections of the society to hold meetings on the same day in different areas, so that practically all the towers affiliated could be visited during the course of the year, and joint meetings held as occasions warranted. The funds of the society are still to remain under the control of the general committee.

It is hoped that members will study this proposed reorganisation, so that discussion at the annual meeting will be brief but helpful.

The usual, but none the less necessary, vote of thanks was accorded the Rector and local company for their hospitality, and a move was then made to the tower, where the bells were taken full advantage of until 8.30 p.m.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

SOUTHERN DIVISION'S JOINT MEETING.

The policy of holding a quarterly meeting of the Southern Division of the Yorkshire Association jointly with the Sheffield and District Society at Rawmarsh on Saturday, December 4th, was watched with some anxiety, but all doubts were set at rest by an attendance of about 40. Members were present from Sheffield (the Cathedral, St. Marie's, All Saints', Ranmoor and Handsworth), Ecclesfield, Conisborough, Doncaster, Arksey, Wortley, Dore, Rotherham Parish Church and Eastwood, Killamarsh and the local company. The bells were kept very busy up to 4.30, when a short service was held, conducted by Canon Scovell, whose remarks were followed with great interest. A splendid tea was provided by the local company in the Parish Room, which was very much enjoyed.

At the business meeting Canon Scovell was voted to the chair, and opportunity was taken to congratulate the Rector on his appointment as Hon. Canon of Sheffield Cathedral.

Two new members (A. Hall and J. McClusky), both of Arksey, were elected members of the association.

An invitation to hold the annual meeting of the division was given by Handsworth, and this was accepted, the date being March 19th, 1927.—Hearty votes of thanks were accorded to the Rector for his presence and the use of the bells, the organist, and to the local company, and these were duly acknowledged.

WESTERN DIVISION.

The quarterly meeting of the Western Division was held at Rothwell on Saturday last. About forty members were present from Armley, Bramley, Headingley (St. Michael's), Far Headingley (St. Chad's), Horbury, Keighley, Leeds Parish Church, Queensbury and the local company. Tea was served in the schools, and was followed by the business meeting, the Rev. C. C. Marshall being in the chair.

One new member was elected. No invitations having been received for the annual meeting in March, it was decided to leave it in the hands of the committee.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar and church-wardens for the use of the bells, also to the local company and the ladies for the arrangements made.—The Vicar and Mr. Strangeways responded, and the meeting terminated.—Ringing was further indulged in until 9 p.m.

TWO BELLS AT THE TIME.

At Little Munden, Herts, for divine service on Sunday week, 720 Bob Minor was rung with Mr. W. H. Lawrence ringing two bells: W. H. Lawrence 1-2, S. Carter (conductor) 3, W. Williams 4, A. Phillips 5, G. H. Carter 6.—For evening service, 720 Duke of York Treble Bob: W. Williams 1, S. Carter 2, A. Woolston 3, A. Phillips 4, G. H. Carter 5, W. H. Lawrence 6.

MEMORIAL TO THE LATE MAJOR R. C. HUDSON.

LECTERN DEDICATED AT BISHOPWEARMOUTH.

Simply, but with deep reverence, the lectern presented to Bishopwearmouth Parish Church (St. Michael and All Angels'), Sunderland, in memory of the late Major Robert Challis Hudson, who was killed in the belfry while muffling the bells for Queen Alexandra's funeral, was unveiled and dedicated on Sunday morning, November 28th, before a fully representative congregation. Miss Susan Hudson represented the family, Mr. Thos. Hudson and Miss Hudson being absent through illness. Representatives of every parish organisation, with their leaders, were present, and also the president, secretary and about 40 members of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association of Ringers. During the war Major Hudson served with the R.A.S.C., and officers and men from the Newcastle headquarters were present. Before the lessons were read, the 'Last Post' was sounded by buglers and drummers from the 7th Durham Light Infantry.

On behalf of Major Hudson's family and friends, Lt.-Col. A. Dent, R.A.S.C., then unveiled the lectern, and offered it to the Rector and wardens in possession for ever.

The Rev. Prebendary Wynne Wilson dedicated the memorial, and the buglers sounded the 'Reveille.' The Rector afterwards gave a deeply touching and appropriate address, and the congregation dispersed after inspecting the memorial to the sounds of a touch on the bells by a mixed band of members of the association.

The Rector, after briefly sketching the history of the foundation of the church 1,200 years ago, went on to refer to the new lectern. It was fitting, he said, that St. Michael bearing the flaming sword should support the Book which contained the Word of God. Round the base of the lectern were bells. They were introduced here primarily because of the life-long interest which Robert Hudson took in bell ringing and of the services which he rendered to that craft. Bells were the heralds of joy, the call to worship in Christian churches, and the Gospel was good tidings of great joy. They rejoiced when the friends of Robert Hudson desired to perpetuate his memory that they should have chosen to follow up the dedication of the beautiful holy table, in which he was so interested, by the provision of an equally beautiful resting-place for the Holy Bible. They were met there, friends and relatives, and comrades of his, because they wished to show that the loss of his earthly presence was remembered. Robert Hudson had, through his constant study of the word of God, become inspired with the ideal of Christ, whom he served. Major Hudson set a great example by placing the service that he could render to Christ and to His Church above all sectional differences. He saw something greater in religion than the insistence on his own point of view. Truly it could be said of him that he was 'our servant for Jesus' sake.' The secret of his influence was in his simple faith. The figure of St. Michael was not unfitting to commemorate his life. Like St. Michael, he fought a good fight against all that is evil. Of him, whose tragic death they remembered that day, they believed that he had entered upon the fullness of life, rejoicing in wider service for the Master, and enlisted still under the banner of St. Michael in the work which overcomes the power of evil in the great cosmic struggle to destroy the works of the devil and to make us the sons of God.

DEVON GUILD.

STRENGTH OF EXETER BRANCH.

The annual meeting of the Exeter Branch of the Devon Guild was held at Heavitree, Exeter, following a hearty service in the Parish Church, and tea at the Church Institute. There were about 110 present, amongst whom was Sir Robert Newman, M.P., Member for the City, who replied in a witty speech on behalf of the hon. members present.

The chairman, Mr. E. Shepherd, was re-elected, appreciation of his services being shown by prolonged applause. Mr. T. J. Stokes was elected hon. secretary and treasurer, and Miss G. Duvey assistant. A good balance in hand was reported, and it was also stated that the membership was well maintained. The meeting stood in silence in memory of Rev. W. S. Gurney and Mr. James Moss, who have died during the year. The Cathedral (12), St. Sidwell's (10), the eight-bell rings at Heavitree, St. David's, and St. Thomas' and six at St. Petrock's were rung by the members.

PRINCE ALBERT TREBLE BOB.

Many ringers will ask, when they peruse the report this week of a peal of Prince Albert Treble Bob, rung at Calverley, Yorks, what method is this?

It is a variation of Kent, the slow work in front being cut up when the treble is behind.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD, BIRMINGHAM.

The last quarterly meeting of the year was held at the Cathedral, Birmingham, on Saturday, November 27th, but the attendance was rather sparse, due, no doubt, in part to the inclement weather, and in part to the reputation of the bells.

The Guild's presiding Ringing Master, Mr. Alderman J. S. Pritchett, M.A., took the chair at the business meeting, and, formal matters having been disposed of, the Secretary reported that he had booked the Connaught Room, at the Imperial Hotel, for the Henry Johnson Commemoration Dinner for February 19th next, this being the nearest available date to Henry Johnson's birthday, viz., February 28th.

The annual meeting will be held at St. Martin's Hotel, City, as usual, on a date to be arranged in January.

Mr. Alderman Pritchett reminded the meeting that that day, November 27th, was the 73rd birthday of Mr. James George, and the secretary was instructed to write him congratulating him on the event.

The bells were kept going in various methods during the afternoon and early evening, the chief results being numerous tender places on the hands of certain members present.

DEATH OF A LINCOLN RINGER.
THE LATE MR. C. W. P. CLIFTON'S ALL-ROUND ACCOMPLISHMENTS.

The many friends of the late Mr. Charles W. P. Clifton, of 120, Scorer Street, Lincoln, in various parts of the country will regret to hear that he succumbed after an unsuccessful operation on Sunday, November 28th, at the age of sixty-two. Three years ago he had a serious illness, chiefly rheumatism and gout, and although he made a wonderful improvement it is now apparent that he never completely recovered from that attack.

Migrating 40 years ago from Tinwell, near Stamford, where he spent his early days, he attached himself to St. Peter-at-Archies' tower, where at that time change ringing was at a very low ebb. During some part of the 19 years' membership there, he, with the help of other enthusiasts, saw the standard of ringing raised from 'Churchyard Bob' to London Surprise. During his connection with this tower the bells were overhauled at considerable cost, and under his careful supervision as steeplekeeper were for many years kept in excellent condition. He was away from Lincoln for about two years, and upon his return joined the Cathedral company, where the highest methods were being practised. Whilst a member of the Cathedral he saw the installation of the fine peal of eight, which now hang in the tower, and the ringing for the 10.50 service introduced instead of chiming.

He was very enthusiastic in the proposal to augment these bells to twelve, which is likely to be an accomplished fact in the near future, and with his usual tact was successful in collecting a considerable sum towards the cost. With the exception of a short break, he was for about 18 years a member of the Cathedral company. In peals, he was usually found at the heavy end, and in all he had rung 58 with various Guilds and Associations, from Minor to Maximus.

Apart from his change ringing activities, his loss will be felt by the Diocesan Guild. Always a regular attendant at the various meetings, he was of great help in the various discussions. It was at these meetings when his practical knowledge of bells and bell hanging was found of great use, and on many occasions his skill as a debater was noticeable when any knotty point was being discussed.

Outside his trade as a printer, the late Mr. Clifton was no mean citizen. A member of the Typographical Society, the members at their meeting showed their respect by observing five minutes' silence on Tuesday evening. As a Buffalo, he was a strong supporter of the Order, and had held all the offices of his lodge and possessed several medals. An ardent Liberal in politics, he was a director of the Liberal Club and chairman in 1905-6. In the latter part of his life he became attached to St. Peter-at-Gowts' Church, and although he refused the office of churchwarden, he was a member of the Parochial Church Council.

Amongst his many pursuits, he was for many years a keen angler, and two of his intimate ringing friends, one now in Yorkshire and the other in Ireland, will no doubt recall the various expeditions among the Lincolnshire rivers. Possessing a good voice, his services as a vocalist were often demanded, and very rarely refused. In his younger days he was no mean swimmer, and at times his ability as a short-distance sprinter was shown.

The funeral service on Dec. 2nd at St. Peter-at-Gowts' Church was largely attended, the church being practically full. Many of the mourners followed to the graveside, and there were numerous beautiful floral tributes. In the evening the six bells of St. Peter-at-Gowts and the eight at Washingborough were rung half-muffled. At both towers some of the members of the Cathedral took part in the ringing, through the kindness of the members attached to those towers.

At Gainsborough (Lincs), on Thursday, December 2nd, at the Church of All Saints, a quarter-peal of Grand sire Triples (1,260 changes) in 50 mins.: Miss P. G. Baker 1, C. A. Hewitt 2, J. T. Bartram 3, F. P. W. Butler (conductor) 4, J. Dixon 5, C. H. Baker 6, R. Dawson 7, E. Halingwater 8.

This is the first quarter-peal in the method by Miss Baker, and was rung with the bells half-muffled as a last token of respect to Mr. C. W. P. Clifton.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.*NORTH WESTERN DISTRICT AND CENTRAL COUNCIL ELECTIONS.

The annual meeting of the North-Western District of the Essex Association was held at Bishop's Stortford, on Saturday. Touches in various methods having been rung on the bells of St. Michael's Parish Church, the members attended a special evening service. This was conducted by the Rev. Canon H. T. Lane, Vicar, with Mr. A. R. Brazier at the organ. After the service, tea was served in St. Michael's Parish Room, followed by the business meeting.

Mr. H. Dew, District Master, presided, and twenty-one members were present from Bishop's Stortford, Saffron Walden, Hailow, Potter Street, Barley, Stansted and Leytonstone, the rather small attendance being due to the foggy state of the weather, which prevented members travelling from some parts of the district.

Mr. H. Dew, on being re-elected District Master, said he was glad the proposal was 'for another year' only, as he did not believe in one man retaining the chair too long. All members should aspire to take the chair in their turn, and he thought everybody should fulfil the office. He thanked them for his re-election, and would do whatever he could for the district.

The hon. secretary, Mr. C. Beeston, was also re-elected, and in thanking the members he said he endorsed the chairman's remarks. If anyone would take over the secretaryship he would be pleased to give up the position, and he would give a new secretary every assistance in his power. The Chairman remarked that the office of secretary was not a very thankful one, and all the officials should have the support of the members.

Mr. Pitsoe said he had been asked by Mr. C. H. Howard, the Master of the Association, to express his regret at not being able to be present. It was owing to the funeral taking place that day of the Rev. H. T. W. Eyre, late Vicar of Great Totham, who was for many years general secretary of the association, when all the work was done by the general secretary before the association was divided into five districts. Mr. Howard was representing the association at the funeral, and was also sending a wreath in its name. The chairman said they regretted the cause of Mr. Howard's absence, and Mr. Dench suggested that a vote of sympathy be sent to Mr. Eyre's family. Mr. Pitsoe said he had already done so, and the meeting thereupon endorsed his action.

The Chairman brought forward the question of the general meeting of the association being held continuously on Whit Monday, a day on which he and possibly others could not get to it. He suggested that it might be held alternately on Whit Monday and the Saturday prior to Whit Monday. Mr. Pitsoe said that had been tried and had failed.

The Chairman said, that being so, he would withdraw his suggestion. He then remarked that he thought the representatives on the Central Council should be elected at a general meeting every three years, each of the five districts to elect a representative in rotation, four to be elected as now. He thought if such a resolution were sent from that branch to the association it would carry more weight than if it came from an individual member.

Mr. Dench said the delegates paid their own expenses, and the association was fortunate in getting representatives voluntarily. He thought they had better leave well alone.

Mr. Pitsoe said it was, of course, open to the meeting to nominate a representative, but the Chairman said they might leave the question open to the next meeting, and in the meantime turn it over in their minds.

Newport and Saffron Walden were suggested for the next meeting, and eventually, on the proposition of Mr. J. Prior, seconded by Mr. Wacey, Newport was selected.

A new member from Harlow having been elected, Mr. Pitsoe proposed a vote of thanks to Canon Lane for lending the bells and for his address, the organist, and the steeplekeeper, Mr. Springham, which was carried.

The Chairman thanked the representative of the 'Herts Mercury' for attending the meeting, as he had done for many years, and the meeting closed.

A JUBILEE PEAL.

The jubilee peal of the Lanes Association, at Blackburn, was arranged some weeks ago, and by a strange coincidence the name of the new Bishop (Dr. P. M. Herbert, Suffragan Bishop of Kingston-on-Thames) was gazetted the same morning. The four dioceses covered by the Association—Carlisle, Blackburn, Liverpool and Manchester—were represented in the peal. It was Mr. Barnes' birthday, and the usual compliments were given to him. The band's best thanks are extended to Canon Sinker for the use of the bells, Mr. W. E. Wilson for having all ready, Mr. A. Tomlinson, 'the scribe,' for getting the band together, and Canon Elsee for refreshments after the peal.

HEMEL HEMPSTEAD, HERTS.—On Wednesday, December 1st, 720 each of College Single, Plain Bob, and Oxford Bob, in 1 hr. 18 mins.: A. Brinklow 1, A. V. Good 2, W. Hughes 3, W. Shepherd 4, H. Gates 5, H. Golding (conductor) 6. Longest touch in three methods by ringers of treble, 3rd, 4th and tenor. Rung after an attempt for a peal in the same three methods in honour of the birthday of the conductor.

NOTES BY THE WAY.
EXTENSION OF METHODS.
BY J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

In writing these notes I have made it a general rule not to introduce any references to the higher problems of composition. To a select few these problems are of extreme interest, but they are of necessity beyond the majority of ringers, and it is for the average ringer, and especially for the younger generation, that I have been trying to write. The leading article of last Friday, however, has tempted me to break my rule, and to say something about the Extension of Methods. I propose to give a short extract from a book I wrote a few years ago. The book is called 'The Science of Change Ringing,' and is an attempt to explain the fundamental nature of change ringing and the scientific laws on which it is based. It is, I believe, by far the best thing I have ever done or am likely to do in connection with ringing. Owing to its length, the number of diagrams necessary, and the fact that its appeal is to a very limited number of readers, it will never be printed. It remains in manuscript for circulation among the select few who are likely to appreciate it.

Here is the extract which I may say, lest anyone should be afraid to read any further, is one of the least technical and most easily understood in the whole book: 'Of all the outstanding problems of the science of change ringing none has aroused greater interest than that of extension. The Exercise has made up its mind definitely as to what are the correct extensions of many of the methods in general use, but the correct ten and twelve bell variations of such methods as London and Bristol Surprise Major, and, indeed, whether such variations are possible, are still an open question. Double Norwich and Superlative Major have traditional extensions, but they are not accepted as correct by all. Many men, most of them of ability and knowledge, have set themselves to supply these extensions, but it is remarkable and significant that though each man backs his version with copious argument, the results are almost always different. And as they all work on pretty much the same lines, we shall not be far wrong if we come to the conclusion that the problem of extension as a whole has not properly been understood. Ringers found no difficulty in getting the correct extension of the early simple methods. Given Plain Bob Minor, Plain Bob Major, Royal and Maximus are quite obvious. So, too, are Plain Bob Triples, Caters and Cinques. Grandsire, Oxford, Kent and Stedman extend equally easily. No detailed arguments are necessary to show that these extensions are correct; they pass the only really vital test—the experience of the ringer in the tower.'

In addition to the above, there are a few other methods, the correct extensions of which are not in dispute. These are Original, Duffield, Forward, Double Oxford and Cambridge Surprise, and the whole serve as models of what a correct extension should be. Men do recognise this, but unfortunately directly you come to methods outside this group, you have no longer any obvious and unmistakable extensions, even in cases where the construction of the method is quite simple and obvious. Double Court Minor is almost as simple in construction as Plain Bob Minor, and quite as simple as Kent Treble Bob Minor. In early days it was one of the most popular of six-bell methods. Naturally, ringers tried to extend it to eight bells, but almost every band which rang Court Bob Major rang a different version. Peals were rung in at least three quite distinct methods, and each was rung simply as Court Bob Major. Two of these methods became popular, and the Exercise avoided confusion by treating them not as extensions, but as fresh and distinct methods, and calling them after the places where they were first practised — Norwich Court Bob and London Court Bob.

Interest in extension seems then to have died out. The Exercise had quite as many methods as it had any practical use for, and the general opinion grew up that outside the group of methods I have mentioned there can be no such thing as real extension. This was probably the opinion of the Exercise for a hundred and fifty years, down to the end of nineteenth century. (See Sir Arthur Heywood's 'Duffield'.)

Two notable exceptions there were. The one really original contribution that Shipway made to the science of ringing was to show the relationship between different variations of a method. He gave the single, double and reverse variations of most of the methods then in use. He showed how any even bell method on the Plain Principle can be turned into an odd bell method by adding a Bell-in-the-Hunt, and in the cases of Double Oxford and Superlative he attempted a true extension of the methods to 8, 10 and 12 bells. Unlike other men, his work was not experimental. He worked on a general principle, and his conclusions are thoroughly sound.

In the North a band discovered that an apparently complex method like Cambridge will extend as readily as Plain Bob or Kent. Whether as the result of experiment, or of logical deduction, there is no means of knowing. Neither of these cases had any effect on the general opinion of the Exercise. The figures of the Cambridge Royal were not published in any ringing book, and were virtually lost, and the Exercise did not grasp or understand Shipway's investigations.

This was the state of opinion in the closing years of the nineteenth century, when the advance of practical ringing revived a keen interest in method construction. New methods were produced on all hands, and the question of extension became again a live one. Even then it was felt that composers showed more zeal than knowledge, and the real idea at the bottom of the appointment by the Central Council of the Method Committee was an attempt to devise some means of curbing their exuberance.

INTERCHANGE OF VISITS.

On Saturday evening, November 27th, for the first time within memory of the inhabitants and probably the first time in the history of the church, a band of change ringers visited the Church of the Holy Cross, Slapton, Bucks, and rang the bells. This visit was the result of a visit paid by the Slapton ringers to the belfry of All Saints' Church, Leighton Buzzard, on Tuesday, November 23rd, when an invitation was given to visit Slapton. The visitors to Slapton included ringers from All Saints' Church and St. Barnabas' Church, Linslade, and 90 minutes were spent in change ringing. Among the methods practised were Grandsire Doubles, Stedman Doubles, Bob Doubles and Bob Singles.

The Church of the Holy Cross has a peal of five bells, and their record is as follows: Treble, cast by C. and G. Mears, of London, 1852; 2nd and 3rd, by G. Chandler, Drayton Parslow, 1681; 4th, by G. Chandler, Drayton Parslow, 1715; tenor, by G. Chandler, Drayton Parslow, 1703. In 1889 all the bells were ringing and the third and tenor bells recast.

'SPLICED' METHODS.

At East Crompton, Lanes, on Tuesday, November 30th, 720 spliced Oxford, Sandal, Kingston, and London Scholars' Pleasure: C. Thorpe 1, S. Wateham 2, W. Oates 3, H. Oates 4, C. Howarth 5, J. Butterworth (conductor) 6. First 720 in four methods by all the band.

SUPERLATIVE SURPRISE MAXIMUS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In your leading article last Friday you ask for a committee to consider method extension, but you are asking for an impossibility; a committee would only produce a compromise, and what we want is the truth.

The question is a scientific one, and has to be settled in a scientific manner—that is, not by abstract thought or any theory, but actual demonstration of facts.

Why does Mr. George Baker differ from me? Because he has fixed his attention on one very important fact and never seen the other. He is like a man in a wood whose attention has been called to one very fine tree and has got so close to it that he can see that one tree alone.

If you wish to extend a method you must first of all take nothing for granted, but examine it thoroughly and find out all the facts, and you must then take all the facts into account when you try to extend. We will now look at Mr. Baker's tree and a few others alongside of it.

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8	1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8	1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8	1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8	I.
..4..5..	2..3....	...6..7	.1....8	II.
..4..5..	2..3....	...6..7	.1....8	III.
..4..5..	2..3....	...6..7	.1....8	IV.
..4..5..	2..3....	...6..7	.1....8	V.
..4..5..	2..3....	...6..7	.1....8	VI.
..4..5..	2..3....	...6..7	.1....8	VII.
..4..5..	2..3....	...6..7	.1....8	VIII.
..4..5..	2..3....	...6..7	.1....8	IX.
..4..5..	2..3....	...6..7	.1....8	X.
..4..5..	2..3....	...6..7	.1....8	XI.
..4..5..	2..3....	...6..7	.1....8	XII.
..4..5..	2..3....	...6..7	.1....8	XIII.
..4..5..	2..3....	...6..7	.1....8	XIV.
..4..5..	2..3....	...6..7	.1....8	XV.
..4..5..	2..3....	...6..7	.1....8	XVI.

Mr. Baker's 2-3 6-7 1-8
4-5 reciprocal. reciprocal. reciprocal. not reciprocal.

Compare row I. with XVI., 4. with XV., etc. Now compare 2 in the 2nd diagram with 7 in the 3rd.

This disposes once for all of Mr. Baker's theory, which is built upon the first diagram without regarding the other three, and I think that I have demonstrated the facts in such a simple manner that anyone can follow them.

I have dealt at some length with this matter because it is of practical importance. There is no doubt in anyone's mind about the extension of Plain Bob, Grandsire, Treble Bob, Stedman, Double Norwich, and Cambridge Surprise. In addition to these, London Surprise, Superlative Surprise and Bristol Surprise are in pretty general practice, and we may fairly claim to-day that we have nine standard methods instead of only four. London and Bristol will not extend beyond Major, but Superlative will; the Royal has been rung, but the Maximus has not, and it would be a thousand pities for our Ipswich friends to waste their time in ringing a peal which would not be Superlative when it was rung. Moreover, the method Mr. Baker calls Superlative Maximus is not fit to ring; fancy ringing 5,280 changes on twelve bells when 11-12 only come home 60 times in the peal. If it was Superlative, it would be worth ringing one peal for the sake of doing so, but as Superlative Maximus exists and brings up 11-12 fourteen times in the course instead of only six, and is really good Maximus music, to ring a bad method instead of the good one would be a ridiculous fiasco.

Finally, many ringers object to the extension of Double Norwich to Royal and Maximus because the knowledge of the Major does not lead on to the higher numbers; but the well-known rule of Superlative Major, work with the treble, odd place last, etc., applies equally to Royal and Maximus.—Yours truly,

H. LAW JAMES.

A 'BACK BENCHER' SEEKS EXPLANATION.

Dear Sir,—As a 'back bencher' I am rather loath to touch upon this argumentative matter, but after the Rev. Law James' letter in 'The Ringing World' of December 3rd, I am somewhat unconvinced.

In the plain hunting course on six bells, the Rev. H. L. James, in considering a horizontal cross-section between the sixth and seventh rows, agrees that 1 and 6 are reciprocal. Then, by considering a section between the eighth and ninth rows, why are not 2 and 5 reciprocal? Similarly, it seems apparent that 3 and 4 are reciprocal.

It is surely a question of the direction in which the sectional line is drawn—horizontally or vertically. Even then the matter is not settled. If the hunting course named above be folded horizontally between the sixth and seventh rows, then agreed 2 falls on 3, and 4 on 5; but (and this is not justified) 1 does not fall on 6. Now, if the changes be folded vertically between the third and fourth figures in each row, 1 will fall on 6, 2 on 5, and 3 will coincide with 4.

From the second way of viewing the question, the reciprocation is quite regular. I have no doubt that Mr. Baker is undisturbed, as I take it that this is his basis of argument.

Please note that I do not wish to be taken as being judicial, but rather as seeking explanation on a very simple, but fundamental, point.—Yours truly,

J. F. DUFFIELD.

Norwich.

RECIPROCAL RELATIONSHIP.

Dear Sir,—In my article of Nov. 5th last, when I pointed out that in twelve out of sixteen rows of the first half-lead of Superlative Major Reciprocal Relationship is unbroken, I thought and hoped that I had given a sufficient clue as to what Reciprocal Relationship is; evidently it was not so, hence the Rev. H. L. James' letter in today's issue.

Let me illustrate once more by giving 'Leek' Major and what I call a Reciprocal Extension to Royal of that Principle, but not the same method.

I hope before anyone writes again on this subject they will try and find out from the following examples what Reciprocal Relationship consists of, and when I point out that Reciprocal Relationship is unbroken in the Plain Courses of Major and Royal, everyone will surely begin to understand my meaning.

'LEEK' MAJOR.

- 21436587
- 12463578
- 21645387

- 26581437
- 62854173
- 68245713
- 36427531
- 68472513

It will be seen that 4-5 are the only place-making bells in the first division, and the other pairs, 1-8, 2-7, and 3-6, are doing work exactly opposite to each other, just as much as 4-5, the only place-making bells.

RECIPROCAL EXTENSION OF 'LEEK' MAJOR TO ROYAL.

- 6281470395
- 6824107935
- 6842019735
- 6840291735

In the above Royal it will be seen that 4-7 are the only place-making bells, and the other pairs, 1-0, 2-9, 3-8, and 5-6, are doing work exactly opposite to each other.

This is what I mean by Reciprocal Relationship, and it is a characteristic of the Primary and Treble Bob Principles from Singles to Infinity.—Yours faithfully,

GEORGE BAKER.

RAINHAM VISITED BY THE PRIMATE.

In common with other churches throughout the land at St. Andrew's tide, special intercessions for missionary work were offered at Rainham (Kent) Church throughout Tuesday, more especially by members of the Silent Fellowship of the Church, a movement started by the Vicar (the Rev. W. A. R. Ball) some two or three years ago, and taken up all over the country. The Archbishop of Canterbury has evinced great interest in the Fellowship from its commencement, and on Wednesday afternoon he visited Rainham Parish Church to address the members. A short service was held in the church, special prayers being offered, and the Archbishop, who was accompanied by his chaplain, the Rev. F. D. V. Narborough, and Mrs. Davidson, expressed himself as being very gratified at what Rainham was doing for missionary work.

In honour of the visit of his Grace, and also as a birthday compliment to the genial secretary of the Kent County Association (Canon F. J. O. Helmore), a peal was rung (reported elsewhere). As the peal was still in progress when the Archbishop departed from Rainham (and the ringers were locked in), a special message of thanks was conveyed to the belfry by the Vicar immediately ringing ceased. His Grace thanked the ringers for their thoughtfulness, and congratulated them on the ringing that he had heard, and also congratulated Rainham on having such a fine ring of bells.

The hand wish to thank Messrs. Spice (Tunstall), Taylor (Lynsted) and Pitman (Canterbury) for making up the band at short notice owing to three local members not being available.

THE BELLS OF KING'S NORTON, LEICESTERSHIRE.*THE SHERWOOD YOUTHS MAKE HISTORY.

As reported elsewhere, a peal of Stedman Triples was successfully rung on the bells at the tiny village of Norton-cum-Gaulby, Leicestershire (called King's Norton from the fact that King William I. held these estates during his reign). It is situated 'miles from nowhere,' right off the beaten track, and can only be approached by a long walk across country or by special bus. The Nottingham quintette chose the latter method from Leicester, where they were joined by a trio of 'Leicester Scholars.' The village boasts of a population of some 50 souls altogether, but, nevertheless, is fortunate enough to possess a fine church and peal of eight bells with an interesting history.

Squire Fortrey, of Gaulby, rebuilt the church there, and placed in it, in 1741, a peal of six bells. He did the same at King's Norton, hanging a peal of ten, since reduced to eight owing to the strain on the tower. In 1738 he gave two trebles to St. Margaret's, Leicester, making them ten, and in 1771 gave a treble to Houghton-on-the-Hill, making them five. His name is also mentioned in connection with bells in other churches of the district, and in 1753, when John Holt published his 'broad-sheet' of peals, this Wm. Fortrey is there shown as a subscriber for four copies.

The first peal on the King's Norton bells was by the Society of Sherwood Youths as follows: 'On May 28th, 1776, J. Holt's peal of Grandsize Triples at Norton-by-Gaulby, the seat of William Fortrey, Esq., in 3 hours 31 minutes: James Wilkinson treble, Richard Peat 2, Robert Metheringham 3, William Bradley 4, Richard Sharrah 5, Francis Draper 6, William D. Crofts 7, John Mason tenor. Conducted by W. D. Crofts.'

Then, after a lapse of forty years, we read in the 'Leicester Chronicle' of June 8th, 1816: 'Ringing: Tuesday last, being his Majesty's birthday, the Leicester Scholars met at Norton in this county, by particular desire of the Norton and Gaulby Scholars, to strike off the musical peal of eight bells of that place. They rang a true and complete peal of 5,040 Grandsize Triples, which was brought round in a masterly style in 3 hours 20 minutes by the following persons, viz.: Jonathan Haywood treble; John Clarke 2; Thomas Clarke 3; James Gill 4; George Harris 5; Lawrence Stains 6; William Reeves 7; William Wood, tenor. The peal was called by Wm. Reeves. After it had been rang, the Leicester, Norton and Gaulby Scholars partook of an excellent dinner, and the day was completed by ringing several courses of Grandsize Caters on the handbells.'

The bells are still in their original two-storey frame (the three trebles being about ten feet above the others), but of recent years Mr. F. G. Rimington, of Manchester, has spent a lot of time and money on them, having had stays and sliders added, new beams placed under the floor, and wheel guides, and other improvements carried out by which alone it was possible to ring a peal on them.

On February 5th, 1921, and again on March 19th, 1921, attempts were made by several Leicester and Manchester ringers to get a peal, but after 1 hour and 2 hours respectively they had to be abandoned owing to the heavy 'go' of 7th and tenor. Since then various improvements have been made, and the local enthusiasts have been busy ringing them. They now go much better, and so, this year being the 150th anniversary year of the first peal on the bells by their ancestors, the Sherwood Youths determined to attempt a peal with the result shown.

Some of the 'facetious' remarks about, and by, the band on this memorable occasion are worth recording. The treble's presence was made felt by the Youths' 'hon. secretary' in his own inimitable style, while the 'Master' rang the 2nd and 'called ye bobs' in strong 'basso' voice. The 'gen. hon. secretary, M.C.A.' rang the 3rd in a determined mood, meaning to get the peal at his 3rd attempt on these bells, and thus add another Leicestershire tower to his already long list. 'Tich' had evidently heard beforehand that the 4th was best of the lot, as, before anyone had a chance, he was doctoring its bearings with a special concoction of his own. The 5th ringer, in spite of his 'bald patch,' was made a 'Youth' before starting, took off his boots and stood on some brown paper—some said it was because his feet swelled, others otherwise. The 6th man didn't say much, but set his stall out as though he meant business, especially with his 'otile.' The 7th (the worst goer of the lot) was sent along splendidly by Fred W., of the famous Bailey Brothers, of Leiston, Suffolk. Last, but not least, the tenor man, who had been training on pork pies, devouring two in the bus—one for each arm—put his hell exactly in its correct place throughout, then went and had more pork pies.

Immediately the peal finished, the belfry was besieged by the local men from Norton, Gaulby, Billesdon and other places, showering their congratulations on a splendid performance. Tea was kindly provided by the local residents, after which followed handbell ringing and the usual votes of thanks to all concerned for making this peal a possibility, and, needless to say, all went home very pleased with themselves.

DIOCESAN OR COUNTY STATUS?

One of the things which exists in the organisation of the Exercise, and which no one counts as curious, yet it is a little odd, is the fact that our large associations are divided almost evenly between those having diocesan and those having county status. They grew up side by side, nearly all of them within about the last fifty years, yet, having objects in common, they bear titles which to the outsider would appear to divide them into two distinct sections, the one associated with the Church, the other purely secular. The art of change ringing began originally, without a doubt, as a secular pursuit, and it has been due to the work of the associations over the last half century that it has become so largely recognised as a part of church work. Formerly bands of ringers cared little about the service ringing, and in many parishes the bells were rung only on those special occasions when payment was forthcoming for the services rendered, or when the ringers desired to practice or attempt a peal for their own amusement.

The steady plodding of the reformers has almost entirely altered the attitude of ringers towards the use of the bells, and in these days it is nearly, if not quite, universally recognised that the primary use of the bells is for the services of the Church. There is no doubt, too, that ringers, in the mass, are better Churchmen than their predecessors, and in their turn they desire and are entitled to be regarded as church officials. Why is it then, that more of our associations do not take diocesan titles? There are, of course, a variety of reasons. In some cases the territorial names cover an area which includes parts of more than one diocese; in others they cover only a part of a diocese, but there can be few instances, we think, where a county title is retained solely because there is any objection to a diocesan name.

Ringers give their services to the Church, and in return they are entitled to expect opportunities to practise their art and to ring peals, but whatever their opinions may be as to their 'dues,' it must not be forgotten that they depend upon the good will of the Church authorities to pursue their art. It seems, therefore, a matter of some importance that ringing associations should become linked as intimately as possible with the Church through a diocesan organisation, and the time may come when, to receive full recognition, ringers' societies will have to be diocesan in character. Not merely may this have to be so in name, but in actual practice the various associations will have to be more closely allied to the Church. Indeed, it does not need a great deal of vision to see that this might some day prove a source of strength to the societies and a protection to our art, if ever there should be an attempt made by legislation to suppress church bell ringing. The difficulty of any change over in names at present would be, in many cases, because diocesan and county boundaries are not coterminous, but we believe the time will come when ringing societies will see that it will be to the advantage of the Exercise to be organised on diocesan rather than territorial lines.

IMPROVED ATTENDANCE AT FYLDE BRANCH MEETINGS.

A meeting of the Fylde branch was held at Holy Trinity, South Shore, on December 4th. Fourteen members were present, being a much larger number than usual at this six-bell tower. This was the third meeting of the winter season, and all three have been much better attended than in previous years, leading one to hope that perhaps, at last, the faithful few will reap a reward in increased membership and attendance after many years of patient plodding and struggle to keep alive the cause of change ringing in the district. Touches of Plain Bob, Oxford Treble Bob, Kent and Woodbine were successfully brought round, also 240 Cambridge Surprise, being the first touch of Surprise at a meeting to be rung for many years, the ringers being: W. Burkes 1, A. Hague 2, C. Sharples (conductor) 3, E. Atkinson 4, J. Heckingbottom 5, W. Wilde 6.

The wardens kindly provided tea in the schoolroom. The Vicar (the Rev. H. Percy Dean) presided at the meeting, and said it gave him great pleasure to see more numbers present than usual, indicating an increased interest in the art of ringing. He was sorry only one of his own ringers was present. Four of the ringers were also members of the Sunday School football team, and were doing their duty in that respect.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at St. Anne's-on-Sea in January, and a hope was expressed that Double Norwich would be thoroughly mastered by many present, and the first touch rung by the Fylde branch.

Votes of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, to the wardens for so kindly providing such a splendid tea, and to the ladies who so ably attended to the distribution of the good things provided, brought a successful meeting to a close.

PRESTON BRANCH SOCIAL.

The sixth annual social of the Preston branch was held at Chorley on Saturday, December 4th. The proceedings commenced with ringing on the Parish Church bells during the afternoon, after which all adjourned to the Church Institute, where full justice was done to an excellent tea by nearly one hundred ringers and friends from Preston, Brindle, Penwortham, Whittle-le-Woods, Leyland Parish, and St. James', Eccleston, Coppull, Standish and Chorley.

Tea was followed by a short whist drive, and the rest of the evening was spent in dancing, interspersed with songs by Miss H. Rimmer and Mr. Holme, also handbell selections by Mr. J. Booth and Miss Booth, of Standish, the crowning item being 'The Blue Bells of Scotland,' given by special request.

The M.C.'s were Mr. H. Fisher and Mr. John Bowling.

During a short interval, Mr. James Bowling, the Institute secretary, in welcoming the ringers and friends to Chorley, said he hoped all present had enjoyed themselves, and hoped to see them on many other occasions. He also thanked them on behalf of the Institute committee for their generosity in allowing the proceeds of the social to be devoted to the special effort to clear the Institute from debt.—Mr. Wm. Nelson, of Leyland, expressed the feelings of those present by remarking how pleased they were to come to Chorley, and with the splendid manner in which they had been catered for and entertained. He had the greatest pleasure in thanking all those who had contributed to the success of the gathering.

The secretarial duties were carried out by Mr. F. Rigby and Mr. H. Southworth.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS FROM NEW ZEALAND

To the Editor.

Sir,—May I through your columns express appreciation for the publication of Clarendon Surprise Major in your issue of September 10th; to the Norbury band who rang the first peal in the method; to Mr. George Baker, of Brighton, for pointing out that an earlier version of the method did not quite conform to symmetry of construction, and for suggesting, in effect, that if the second half of a treble lead was reversed to first half symmetry would result.

THE NEW BELLS AT S. NICOLAS' CHURCH, GUILDFORD

Messrs. Taylor and Co.'s work on the bells of S. Nicolas' Church, Guildford, has given the greatest satisfaction, and it says much for the work which they carried out in the tower as long ago as 1880 that the frame which they then put in has been again utilised, and the 'go' of the bells is perfect.

The old peal of eight had a tenor of 12½ cwt., which Messrs. Taylor and Co. recast and made into an octave with tenor of 22½ cwt. These were hung in a new frame. Two trebles were added by the White-chapel Foundry in 1894 to make a ring of ten. The recast tenor is 22½ cwt. The following are the inscriptions on the re-cast bells:

Treble.—'A.M.O.C. Nos Societ Sts—Semper Nicholus in Altis. Recast by the ringers of this church, 1926. Taylor, Loughborough.'

2nd.—'Subvenial Ditna—Donantibus nas Katorias. Recast 1926. Taylor, Loughborough.'

3rd.—'J. Taylor and Co., Founders, Loughborough, 1879. Recast 1926. Taylor, Loughborough. Ora Pro Nobis. Beata Katherina.'

4th.—'J. Taylor and Co., Founders, Loughborough, 1879. Recast 1926. Taylor, Loughborough. Ora Pro Gertrude Dixon. Quae ex Vita Discessit. A.D. VI. I.D. September, MDCCCXXV. Sancta Maria Mater Dei. Ora Pro Nobis Peccatoribus Nunc et in Hora Mortis Nostrae.'

Tenor.—'J. Taylor and Co., Founders, Loughborough, MDCCCLXXIX. Pax. Recast June, 1926. Taylor, Loughborough. In loving memory of Anstice Margaret Smallpeice, daughter of Ferdinand and Mary Jane Smallpeice. Died in September, 1907. "Blessed be the Name of the Lord."'

BARNESLEY AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

A monthly meeting was held at Horbury on Saturday last. The meeting was not so numerously attended as is usually the case, but the attendance was sufficient to ring the bells and to make it of such social character as to please everyone concerned. The methods rung were Oxford, Kent and Violet Treble Bob Minor, Grandire Triples, Stedman Triples and Kent Major.

A business meeting was held in the tower with Mr. R. Thicketts in the chair. Apart from nominations of officials for 1927, the business was of a routine character.

Messrs. Moxon, Panthers and Potter are the suggested names for president, treasurer and secretary respectively, but other names are invited before the annual meeting to be held in Barnsley on Jan. 8th.

A very hearty vote of thanks was accorded to Canon Hill (Vicar), the churchwardens and local company for the hearty welcome, and all possible attention freely given.

A LOUGHBOROUGH OCTAVE IN LONDON.

The new ring of bells placed in the tower at Holy Trinity Church, West Hill, Wandsworth, by Messrs. Taylor and Co., were dedicated by the Bishop of Southwark on Saturday, November 27th. There is, of course, an entirely new framework, and fittings of the latest type have been supplied. The sound of the bells inside the ringing chamber is practically ideal. In view of the fact that there is a hospital adjacent to the tower, every endeavour has been made to reduce the sound of the bells outside, but although these measures have been taken and satisfactorily carried out, it is doubtful whether permission to ring peals will ever be granted. On the day of the dedication, ringing was strictly limited.

There is an inscription only on the tenor bell, and this is as under: 'To the Glory of God, and in loving memory of Thomas Francis Harley Parkinson, Lieut. Royal Navy, B. 1900 and D. 1923, and of Frances Ursula, his mother, B. 1872 and D. 1905, daughter of E. A. Harley, we eight are dedicated. 1926. Taylor, Loughborough.'

DEATH OF MR. A. J. LE CLERCQ, FARNHAM

Through the death of Mr. Alfred John Le Clercq, the Farnham (Surrey) band have lost one of their oldest ringers.

The deceased, who was 72 years of age, passed away at his residence, Weydon Hill, Farnham, on Wednesday, December 8th, following pneumonia, after only a week's illness, leaving a widow, one son and three daughters to mourn their loss.

Mr. Le Clercq was a native of Guernsey, but had resided in Farnham since boyhood. He was a carpenter and joiner by trade, and only retired from work in July last.

He joined the Farnham band of ringers in 1883, and had been a member of the Winchester Diocesan Guild from that time. He was steeplekeeper at the Parish Church for a number of years, and was always a very regular Sunday service ringer, until he resigned the position of steeplekeeper about a year ago, owing to reasons of health.

The funeral took place at Farnham Cemetery on Saturday, December 11th, and was attended by a large number of relatives and friends, the ringers being represented by Messrs. Prior, Clapshaw, Hasted, King and T. Upshall.

In the evening, as a last token of respect, with the bells muffled, an attempt was made for a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples by the local band, but this proved unsuccessful. Afterwards, 700 Grandire Triples was rung: H. Prior 1, J. Reed 2, C. Wells 3, S. Meadows 4, H. Kemp 5, T. Upshall 6, R. Hasted (conductor) 7, A. E. King 8.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

A 'spliced' peal in three Cater methods has now been rung for the first time, a composition including Erin, Stedman and Grandsire, by Mr. A. J. Pitman, having been brought round at Walthamstow.

A former attempt for this peal, in which Messrs. E. Barnett, senior and junior, took part, was lost after upwards of two hours' ringing, and the hard desire to associate these ringers with the peal, and to express their regret at the cause of their absence. They wish the former a speedy and complete recovery.

Mr. Tom Beadle, of Isleworth, late vice-president of the Middlesex County Association, has been confined to his bed for six weeks past, and his illness is likely to keep him there for some time yet. Mr. Beadle is 76 years of age, and he will be glad to see any of his ringing friends, especially those of his earlier days.

The peal of Bob Triples rung at Tunstall, Kent, on Saturday week, was rung at the third attempt, and it is requested that 'A.H.P.' will please note.

On December 17th, 1810, a peal of 3,448 Oxford Treble Bob Major was rung in 5 hrs. 1 min. at Richmond, Surrey. Among those who took part were William and John Platt. Their family had been connected for many years with ringing in this district, and Robert Platt had rung in a peal in the same tower in 1767.

The first peal of Canterbury Pleasure Major was rung at Warnham, Sussex, on December 17th, 1888.

A peal of Bob Triples, composed and conducted by Benjamin Annable was rung at Southwark on December 18th, 1730.

Ninety years ago next Monday, on December 20th, 1836, John Cox conducted the first peal of Stedman Caters rung at Southwark. This was for the 'Junior College Society.'

We are pleased to be able to state that the latest report of Mr. Edwin Barnett, sen., is that he is progressing as well as can be expected.

CARILLONS' 'PEACEFUL PENETRATION.'

To the Editor.

Sir,—Any ringer who read the article headed 'London's first carillon' in the 'Daily Chronicle' of December 10th might be excused for thinking that the 'peaceful penetration' of England by carillons had commenced. Mixed with unstinted praise of Belgian carilloneurs and correctly tuned bells, which, according to this article, can only be obtained in two places in England, are the following remarks worthy of note by change ringers:

'Expense is the only reason against erecting carillons in England.'

All over England there are bells which are silent because their supporting structure is too weak to admit of their being rung.' This is followed by a reference to the stationary carillon which does not 'strain the tower.' 'The speed with which the bells can be played, and the beautiful chords that can be sounded, amaze those who are accustomed to change ringing.'

Perhaps when English music lovers have been introduced to the beauties of the carillon they will see that carillons are erected in every town.'

I will comment on one only of these extracts, the first, 'Expense is the only reason against erecting carillons in England.' No other reason apparently being necessary to throw aside the centuries-old service of the change ringer, and this after bell restorations running into thousands of pounds have been carried out up and down the country.

Having heard three or four carillons, I am by no means against them, and recognise that the march of progress cannot be stayed, but I venture to draw attention to this article in the daily press because of the unfavourable comparisons drawn against change ringing. The first tune on the new Bond Street carillon should be Bach's 'Sleepers, awake,' for assuredly the time is upon us when the time-honoured service ringers will be displaced by the paid 'bell organist,' or, worst still, asked to stop ringing while the neighbouring tower 'sprinkles' the air with popular airs.—Yours faithfully,

'OUT-OF-COURSE.'

TO ADVERTISE 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

To the Editor.

Sir,—I frequently notice in the columns of 'The Ringing World' reports of ringing meetings where ringers are urged to give your valued paper more support by many more ringers than at present taking the paper regularly.

As a means to this end, may I bring to the notice of committees of our many ringing organisations what is done by the committee of the Winchester Diocesan Guild, and that is, to place at your disposal gratis, as a small token of appreciation of the service of 'The Ringing World' to ringing in our area, a full-page advertisement in our annual report?

While I do not claim that all that can be desired results from this, it at least brings prominently to the notice of all our members that such a paper as 'The Ringing World' exists, and I believe that if this was done by all the ringing societies increased circulation of your paper would result in the long run.—Yours, etc.,

G. PULLINGER,

Hon. Sec., Winchester Diocesan Guild.

[The Suffolk Guild have also very kindly done the same thing in the past.—Ed. 'R.W.']

A CROYDON FOUNDRY TRIUMPH. HUGE BELL FOR AMERICA.

The largest bell ever cast in England, and the tenth largest in the world, was shipped last week by the Croydon Foundry to America. This big bell is to be erected in Philadelphia at the great Wanamaker Store.

The net finished weight, after tuning, is 15 tons 11 cwt. The weight of the bell—before tuning—exceeded that of Great Paul at St. Paul's Cathedral. The total weight of bell, head-stock and clapper, is approximately 18 tons. The diameter of the bell is 114 in., and the height 7 ft. 9 in. The actual casting time was 10 minutes from the moment the pouring of the metal began until the mould was filled.

The ornamentation and inscription have been cast in bas-relief, and were designed by Mr. Walter Gilbert, who has been responsible for the sculpture at Liverpool Cathedral. The ornament running round the upper part of the bell represents 'wave sounds coming out of the belfry,' and a feature of the inscription is the reproduction of a facsimile signature of the late 'John Wanamaker,' whose son, Rodman, ordered the bell; whilst the wording is that of the motto evolved by the first owner of the famous store, and still in use by the Philadelphia House.

THE FOUNDER'S BELL.

Let those who follow me continue
To build with the plumb of Honor, the Level of Truth, and the Square of Integrity, Education, Courtesy and Mutuality.

John Wanamaker.

The actual tuning occupied three working weeks. The bellfounders undertook to make a bell weighing just over 15 tons, and to be tuned accurately to International Pitch—low D—and having its harmonics, viz., the hum-note (the octave below the strike-note), its nominal (the octave above the strike-note), its tierce (third) and quint (fifth)—all in correct time with the strike-note. This has been accomplished, and the bell is the largest in existence that has been tuned on these lines. It is lower in pitch than Great Paul by half a tone, and lower than Big Ben by a whole tone.

The bell left the bell-foundry by lorry on Tuesday evening last week and proceeded to London Docks during the night, in time to sail on Wednesday, on the 'Ascania,' for New York, whence it will be transported by road to Philadelphia. It was originally arranged to ship the bell on the 'Olympic,' but the engineers discovered that the hold of the ship could not take the bell.

It is intended to ring the bell on the roof of the Philadelphia Store, where it is to be installed at a height of 300 feet above ground level, for the first time at midnight, on December 31st, and it is hoped that this ceremony will be performed by a distinguished American.

A gigantic electrically-driven clock has been constructed to strike the hours on the bell, and accurate time will be broadcast once daily from the powerful station on the top floor of the store. It will be the largest bell in America.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

A meeting for the South-Eastern Division was held at Gt. Baddow on Saturday, December 4th. The bells were kept going throughout the afternoon, and service was held, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. Douglas). Mr. C. H. Howard read the lesson, and Mr. Burton presided at the organ. The choir were also in attendance.

Ten was held in the Parish Room, 35 members sitting down, representing 11 towers, the Vicar and the two churchwardens being present.

At the business meeting which followed, Mr. Geo. Green was re-elected District Master and Mr. P. Timson district secretary.—Mr. Howard proposed votes of thanks to them for the work they had done in the past year.

Seven probationary members and seven ringing members were elected, and Widford was selected for the next meeting early in the new year.

Mr. Howard proposed votes of thanks to the Vicar for holding the meeting at Gt. Baddow, and to the organist and choir. He congratulated Dr. Spencer Phillips on ringing his first peal of Double Norwich the previous week at Dunmow, which proved that if young ringers wanted to get on they should get out after their ringing.—The Rev. Douglas said he was pleased to welcome the association to Gt. Baddow.

Mr. Howard, before the meeting closed, reported with regret the death of the Rev. H. T. W. Eyre, who was for 25 years hon. secretary of the association, and had done some valuable work for them in its early days, and he (Mr. Howard) was pleased to see so many ringers present at the funeral. He asked the members to stand for a few moments in silence as a mark of respect to the deceased gentleman, and this was done.

Touches were afterwards rung on handbells, and the tower was again visited for further ringing.

MR. C. W. BIRD'S 100 PEALS.

Grandsire Doubles 1, Bob Minor 3, Treble Bob Minor 1, Seven Minor Methods 14, Cambridge Minor 2, Grandsire Triples 2, Bob Major 2, Treble Bob Major 3, Stedman Triples 14, Double Norwich Court Bob Major 14, Superlative Surprise Major 16, Cambridge Surprise Major 6, London Surprise Major 3, Bob Royal 1, Treble Bob Royal 5, Grandsire Caters 2, Stedman Caters 7, Cambridge Surprise Royal 4, total 100. Rung in 31 towers in five counties and for four associations.

DEVON GUILD.

N.E. BRANCH MEETING.

The annual meeting of the North-East Branch was held at St. Peter's, Tiverton, on Saturday, December 11th. There was a splendid attendance, about 70 ringers being present. Every tower in the branch was represented except Holcombe Rogus, and visitors came from Crislow, Chipstaple, Exeter, Exmouth, Minehead, Newton Abbot, Seaton Talfan and Thorverton, and included the Rev. E. S. Powell (president of the Guild) from Holbeton and Mr. Laver (general secretary) from Exeter. Service was held in St. Peter's Church. The Rector, the Rev. E. Chapman, officiated, and gave the visitors a hearty welcome in the course of a short and helpful address.

During the business meeting the members heard with regret of the Rev. E. J. Barton's decision to resign the chairmanship of the branch, and passed a hearty vote of thanks to him (proposed by the Rev. F. Carter) for the interest he has shown for the N.E. Branch by acting as its chairman ever since the formation of the branch in 1920.

The Rev. G. E. F. Molineux consented to fill the vacancy, which is a cause for much satisfaction and a good augury for the progress of the Exercise in this branch. Miss M. Hanson was re-elected secretary, and Mr. J. Elsworth was re-elected Ringing Master.

The secretary's reports were read. In spite of a new associate band (nine members at Bradninch) having been enrolled during the year, the number of performing members has decreased, being 97, as against 98 in 1925. This was not considered satisfactory, but good progress was reported from Silverton and Calverleigh, while the Bradninch band will soon be able to claim some certificates. Quarterly meetings have been held through the year, with an average attendance of 47. Six certificates have been awarded during the year.

The financial statement was satisfactory, and showed a total balance of £23 17s. 3d.

The next meeting was fixed for April 23rd at Huntsham, subject to the approval of the Rector.

Mr. Powell spoke a few words of encouragement and advice. He praised the successful efforts of the past year, and urged the ringers to keep up their numbers by finding and training recruits, and to keep up their own interest by mastering new methods.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Rector for the use of the church and tower, and to Mrs. C. Knowles and all her able helpers who were responsible for the tea.

Many ringers returned to the belfry after leaving the Church House, and touches of Kent Treble Bob, Bob Major, Stedman Triples, and Grandsire Triples and Doubles were brought round.

Many thanks are due to the local band for helping to carry out all arrangements, especially in the Church House, and to Mr. Elsworth for his indefatigable efforts to give every ringer a pull—no light task, as, perhaps, only those who saw the congested condition of the belfry can fully realise.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

EASTERN DIVISION.

A quarterly meeting of the Eastern Division was held at Christ Church, St. Leonards, on Saturday. Twenty-eight members attended from Battle, Brighton (St. Peter's), Brighton, St. Saviour's, Eastbourne, Blacklands, Rye and Salehurst. Mr. C. Payer was also present from Stone-in-Oxney, Kent. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m., and good practice was had in various methods until 5 p.m. An excellent tea was provided through the kindness of the members of the local tower, and this was followed by the business meeting, the chair being occupied by the Master of the Association (Mr. T. Thornton Rickman).

The place for the next meeting was discussed, and the members were asked to choose between St. Mary's, Eastbourne, and Hailsham. On being put to the meeting, St. Mary's, Eastbourne, was chosen.

The Chairman then brought to the notice of the meeting that the association had sustained a loss through the death of one of their members, the late Mr. W. Coleman, the local secretary of the St. Mary's Branch, Eastbourne, and it was resolved that the local secretary should write a letter of condolence to the family.

Mr. W. D. Smith proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the chairman for presiding at the tea and meeting, and also to the incumbent for the use of the bells. He stated that he also wished to thank the members of the local Guild for providing the splendid tea, and in giving the members each a good welcome.—The Chairman responded, as also did Mr. Kennett for the local band.—This terminated the meeting.

The members returned to the tower and kept the bells going until 7 p.m., when they wended their way to Christ Church, Blacklands, where ringing was continued until 8.30 p.m.

THE LATE MR. C. W. P. CLIFTON

At St. Peter-at-Gowt's Church, Lincoln, on December 2nd, a quarter-peal of Bob Minor (1,260 changes) was rung with the bells half-muffled as a last token of respect to the late Mr. C. W. P. Clifton, a ringer at the Cathedral and an honorary member of St. Peter-at-Gowt's company, whose death we recorded last week: R. Chester 1, S. J. Wolfe 2, R. H. Hurst 3, I. Vickers 4, W. Bettles 5, H. Lowman (conductor) 6. Ringers of 2nd and 4th belong to the Cathedral company.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

WHAT IS A METHOD?

BY J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

Why men should try and get extensions of popular methods is easily understood. There is a prestige belonging to a method like London Surprise which no new one can ever possess. Every one would admit that a peal of London Surprise Royal is an outstanding performance. A peal in the same method under another name would pass almost unnoticed.

But, in trying to produce these extensions, composers had little knowledge to guide them. They had the sample methods as models, but these did little more than show, apparently, that the extension of a complex method like London or Superlative or Bristol is a different thing altogether from the extension of Plain Bob or Stedman or Kent. Composers were therefore reduced to working by experiment. They took an eight-bell method, analysed it, found what they considered its important features, and then tried to reproduce them as neatly as possible on ten bells. Of course, they were prepared to justify their results by much argument. They could give abundant reasons for everything in their extensions. But it is quite fair, I think, to say that in all cases the figures were got first and the arguments afterwards.

The proof of a pudding is in the eating. Not only has the experimental method of working failed to show how methods as a whole extend, it has utterly failed to produce one undisputed extension of any one method. In the case of London each composer who has tried to extend the method has produced a different version, most of them have produced more than one, and each version has, in its turn, been given to us as the one and only correct London Surprise Royal.

The experimental method of working stands, then, condemned, and we must find out some general law based on the essential nature of ringing; or, failing that, we must come to the conclusion that outside the few methods I have mentioned there is no such thing at all as extension.

Inside the Method Committee one or two attempts were made to find such a law. The attempts failed because they were based on the assumption that places are the important things in Method Construction, and that all else depends on them. Thus, we argued, Plain Bob Minor is produced from the Plain Principle by moving inward an External Place. Plain Bob Triples is produced by adding two fresh places. Therefore, they are not the same method. But the general experience of the Exercise and the individual experience of all of us in the tower is that they are the same method, and the one a true extension of the other. Places are not the one essential thing in a method, and we must look elsewhere for the basis of our law.

In trying to settle the question of extension two questions must be answered at the outset.

1. What, exactly, is it that you are going to extend?
2. What, exactly, do you mean by extension?

1. What is a method? Probably no term in ringing is, for all practical purposes, less ambiguous or less liable to be misunderstood than the term 'method.' It hardly needs a definition. But when we come to a question like the one before us we must have something much more definite and exact than will serve "for all practical purposes." A method is not a collection of symbols or figures. It is not an arrangement of places. It is not a collection of rows. It is not a particular relationship between a number of rows. It implies all these things, but essentially it is what its name states, a 'method of ringing changes.' It is so much work, so much hunting, dodging and place making. It is so much movement of the bells. You may express this in mathematical or philosophical terms, but for all purposes of the science, as well as the art of change ringing, a method is nothing else than so much movement. As I have proved elsewhere, ringing is essentially movement and movement, which must be cyclical in form.

Therefore, what you have to extend is not a group of figures; not an arrangement of places; not a collection of rows, but a series of cyclical movements. And it can hardly be denied that if you can do this you will have produced just what the practical ringer asks for.

2. What do you mean by extension? Most men answer something in this way. In extending a method they say you take it on one number and reproduce the same thing on a larger number. They assume that an extension differs from its original only in scale.

But this is what can never happen. You cannot treat two rows like 123456 and 12345678 as if they were two lines of different lengths. If you have two lines, AB and CD, of different lengths; and if on AB you erect any geometrical figure; you can project that figure on to CD. The figure on CD will be exactly similar to that on AB, except that it will be on a larger or smaller scale. But you cannot do a similar thing with two rows of unequal length. The reason is that a line is made up of an infinity of points, but a row is made up of a definite number of bells. Any line can be divided in any proportion, and, therefore, any two lines can be divided in the same proportion. But no two rows of unequal length can ever be divided in the same proportion. You cannot divide a row which has seven extreme bells in the same proportion you can a row containing five extreme bells. You could divide into two equal halves both a row containing eight bells and one containing ten bells; but since the half of one contains an even number of bells, and the half of the other an odd number of bells the division is not really proportionate.

In Stedman Doubles the 3-bell work occupies three-fifths of the whole space; in Stedman Triples it occupies three-sevenths; in Stedman Cinques three-elevenths. The result is that the work of the bells differs in many respects. In Doubles a bell runs straight through from back to front, and from front to back; it does not do so on any other number. Similarly, there are ways in which the work of Kent Major differs from that of Kent Minor. You can never get exactly the same thing on a higher number that you do on a smaller number. This is true of the simplest methods, and quite obvious of the more complex.

Some composers, recognising this, say that extension means getting the nearest possible result on a higher number. But that won't do. It is altogether too haphazard. What one man would consider the nearest possible another man would probably hotly dispute. If there is such a thing as extension at all there must be a definite mathematical relationship between the different variations. You must be able to say definitely and without qualification that such and such is an extension, and such and such is not.

NOTICE TO CORRESPONDENTS.

Owing to Christmas falling in next week, the 'Ringing World' will be published one day earlier.

Correspondents are, therefore, reminded that all communications must reach this office by Monday next if they are to appear in the issue of December, 24th.

Conductors of peals rung on Boxing Day are requested to post the reports the same night, in order that they may appear in the succeeding issue.

Take rounds on all numbers of bells to infinity:—123—1234—12345—123456—etc. What is the exact relationship between these rows? How does 1234 differ from 123? It is not by the addition of anything fresh. Of course, in writing out the figures which represent the rows you do add a new figure; and in the tower you add a fresh bell. But so far as a method is concerned, which is the added figure or bell? Not the treble, for the treble on one number is the equivalent of the treble on all numbers. Not the tenor, for the tenor on one number is the equivalent of the tenor on all numbers. Equally, every individual bell in the row 123456 is an equivalent of a bell in the row 12345.

The only relationship between the rows in this series is that of a mathematical progression, and it follows that if on these rows equivalent methods are constructed the relationship between them also will be a mathematical progression.

WASHBROOK'S OR DEXTER'S?

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Having read with interest remarks on the question of the ownership of 'Dexter's Variation,' for the benefit of your readers I append the calling of Mr. Washbrook's peal, which is not, in my opinion, a transposition of Thurstans' but a peal built up on Thurstans' foundation, and so constructed that it contains neither extras nor omits.

The 20 parts are arranged as follows:

	A.	A.	A.
	B.	B.	B.	B. C.
	B.	B.	B.	C.
	B.	B.	B.	C.
	B.	B.	B.
	3.4.5.6	12.13
	S. at 2
B. is	Thurstans' standard calling.
C. is	3.4	7.8
	3.4.5.6	12.13
	5.8

Mr. Dexter has simply changed the blocks containing Singles, starting with the three C. blocks, and calling the A. blocks in place of C. later on, so I leave your readers to judge to whom the peal belongs.

J. HUNT.

Taunton.

LEARNT IN ONE LESSON.

To the Editor.

Sir,—May I point out to Mr. Cave that he is a 'terminological inexactist'? There is such a peal as Dexter's Variation, one that has enabled at least half a dozen conductors to call Thurstans' and have no sleepless nights, and any fool who can ring Stedman can learn how with one lesson at Stuart Street.—Yours,

A. FLAT.

WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

On Saturday evening, a meeting for combined practice on the 12 bells at Winchester Cathedral was held, when representatives were present from Portsmouth, Fareham, Southampton, North Stoneham, and the local band, the result being a good practice of Grandsire Cinques and two touches of Stedman Caters. Two or three of the band who took part had never pulled off on 12 before, but they made an excellent show for the first time, and it is hoped these practices will become more frequent, and that the local men will become interested in them.

LEICESTER.—On Friday, November 12th, on handbells, 1,344 Bob Major: W. P. Whitehead 1-2, E. R. Whitehead 3-4, H. Morgan 5-8, L. H. Whitehead 7-8.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

EAST DORSET AREA.

The annual meeting of the branch was held at Poole last Saturday, and was attended by about 40 members representing Bournemouth (St. John's and St. Peter's), Corfe Mullen, Dorchester, Poole, Ferndown, Swanage, West Moors, and Wimborne. Touches in the standard methods, including Double Norwich, were brought round before the service, at which the Rector (the Rev. C. Egerton-Williams) and the Rev. H. Ball officiated. A brief and earnest address was given by the Rector on 'Service.'

After tea, the business meeting was presided over in the Church Room by the Rev. C. Carew Cox (chairman of the branch), supported by the Rector and the Ringing Master (Mr. F. W. Townsend).

A telegram containing greetings and good wishes from the North Dorset Branch, assembled in annual meeting at Ware the same day, was read and warmly received, the chairman being instructed to convey the thanks of the members to the North Dorset Ringing Master.

Much regret was expressed at the absence of the branch secretary (Rev. C. A. Phillips) owing to illness. Sympathy also went out to Mr. W. Chester, who could not be present owing to bereavement.

The report on the year's work recorded a satisfactory carrying out of the programme of monthly practices, notwithstanding the difficulties caused by the general strike. Steady practice was going on, and two peals have been placed to the credit of the branch, viz., Kent Treble Bob at Poole and Stedman Caters at Wimborne.—The balance sheet showed a balance in hand of £4 8s.

Both the report and balance sheet were unanimously agreed to.

The officers were all unanimously re-elected, and Messrs. Bennett, Bishop, Hart and Townsend were chosen to act as a sub-committee for drawing up a programme of monthly practice. Quarterly meetings were arranged for Cranborne, Sturminster Marshall and Swanage, with the annual next year at Wimborne.

Cordial thanks were given to the Rector for his welcome to the Guild and for his address at the service.

Members afterwards revisited the tower for further ringing.

OFFERTORY GIVEN TO GUILD FUNDS.

The monthly meeting of the Devizes branch was held on December 4th, at Holy Trinity Church, Bradford-on-Avon, and was largely attended. The Guild service was held, conducted by the Vicar, Rev. W. H. M. Clarke, B.D. Tea followed, to which about 40 sat down. A short business meeting then took place, Mr. C. D. Heginbotham presiding.

The Chairman reported the death of Mr. Thomas Raddon, of Portner, one of the oldest members of the branch, and the company stood in silence for a few moments as a mark of respect.

The Chairman reported that the sum of £2 had been received from the Vicar and churchwardens of Holy Trinity, Bradford-on-Avon, and they were thanked for the same, and also for the use of the bells. Thanks were also accorded to the organist.

The Vicar, in reply, said he would convey the thanks to the Parochial Church Council, who, he said, were unanimous in giving the collection for the funds of the branch, and thought it was the way to express their thanks to the ringers by encouraging them in their work.

An apology was received from the Rev. Wyndham Noel, Vicar of Christ Church. The following towers were represented: Trowbridge, Bratton, Bishop Cannings, Melksham, Westbury, Devizes, St. John's and St. Mary's, Bath, Warminster, Rowde, Holt, Hilpertown, Camerton, Chippenham, Bathford and Bradford-on-Avon, Holy Trinity and Christ Church.

Ringings took place both in the afternoon and evening at Holy Trinity Church, and also at Christ Church. Touches of Kent Treble Bob Major, Plain Bob Major, Stedman and Grandsire Triples were rung, also some Cambridge Surprise Minor.

It was suggested that the annual meeting should be held at Devizes on Saturday, January 1st, 1927.

FIFTY CONSECUTIVE SURPRISE PEALS.

LEISTON'S RECORD.

A new record must have been set up at Leiston, Suffolk, where there has just been rung the 50th consecutive Surprise peal on the bells. No other method has been attempted since June 8th, 1922, when a peal of Stedman Triples was rung. It has therefore taken 44 years to complete this half-century. During this time there have been several visitors, some of whom have been successful and some not, but nothing else has been asked for but Surprise methods. The following methods have been rung: Superlative 2, Cambridge 6, New Cambridge 1, Bristol 12, Guildford 2, London 17, Suffolk 2, Lancashire 1, Edinburgh 1, Rochester 8; total 50. All the peals have been conducted by Mr. Charles F. Bailey.

AN OLD CUSTOM.

To the Editor.

Sir,—The old custom of ringing the church bells on three Monday mornings before Christmas is still carried on in some villages, yet no ringer I have asked can give me a satisfactory reply as to how it originated. They know it is an old custom and that's all. Can any reader enlighten me on the matter?—Yours truly,

T. WISE.

METHOD EXTENSION.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The obvious retort for me to make to Rev. H. L. James would be: 'There are none so blind as those who won't see.'

Instead, let me point out to him, once more, that a method is the same when the round blocks are the same, plus the additional round blocks on the higher numbers.

I have a mass of material on hand waiting the time when I can afford to have it printed, and nothing more need be said except to point out as follows:

(1) When Mr. James has learned how to find the round blocks of a method or principle he will be able to prove for himself the fallacy of his present position.

(2) He will also be able to prove that Shipway's so-called Superlative Royal is not remotely related to Superlative Major.

(3) That the irregular extension of Royal is the same method as Superlative Major.

(4) That the real Maximus (Superlative) is a single method, because the extreme behind has to be left out to bring up a regular lead head.

(5) That, as a consequence, the nearest double reciprocating extension of Major to Maximus is the method discovered by the late Mr. Catchpole, by Mr. E. W. Wilde and several others.

(6) He (Mr. James) will also be able to prove that Bristol Surprise extends perfectly from Minor to Infinity.

(7) Finally, he will learn that arbitrary definitions are no good at all.—Yours faithfully,

GEORGE BAKER.

WRONG COMPARISONS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—As 'a common or garden variety' of ringer, and one who has followed the various articles in 'The Ringing World' with interest for some time, may I be allowed to pass a humble opinion on the Rev. H. Law James' statement re reciprocal relationship?

Here he gives us the plain hunting course on six bells, and shows which bells he considers to have reciprocal relationship. It is all very interesting, but I think it is also all very wrong.

He is comparing 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6 (rounds), which is a back-stroke, with 6, 4, 5, 3, 2, 1 (the 5th change), which is a hand-stroke, and also with 1, 3, 2, 5, 4, 6 (the 11th change), which is also a hand-stroke. This is a wrong comparison, as the 5th change does not complete a half-lead, nor does the 11th change complete a full lead or complete cycle. The comparison for relationship lies between the back-stroke when the treble leads, and the back-stroke when it lies behind.

I give again the figures of the plain hunting course as the Rev. H. Law James gave them.

The dividing line in the middle is just as he gave it, and is quite in the right place, but we must compare the first row in the first half with the first row in the second half, and not with the last row in the first half, as he does. The same with all the other rows: 2 with 8, 3 with 9, 4 with 10, 5 with 11, and 6 with 12.

If we do this we find that in each case one row is exactly the reverse of the one it is compared with, and that the relationship every time is between 1-6, 2-5, 3-4. We must compare a hand-stroke with a hand-stroke, and not with a back-stroke, or vice versa.

The Rev. H. Law James is drawing the wrong comparisons, and it is like telling us that a lead-head is a lead-end, and a lead-end is a lead-head. I don't say which of the two it is, but it certainly can't be both.

To say that 4 and 7 are not reciprocal in Superlative Royal is equivalent to saying that 4th's place is not reciprocal to 7th's place. The same thing applies to the Major. If 3rd's place in the method is comparable to 6th's place, and 4th's place to 5th's place, then it is quite obvious that as the method is just the same from the back as it is from the front, so must the reciprocal relationship lie between 1-8, 2-7, 3-6, 4-5, as stated by Mr. Baker.

That Mr. Baker is right, and has given us the correct extension to Superlative Maximus, although it has been produced before, is the opinion of Hyde.

T. WILDE.

THE EXTENSION OF METHODS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Is it not a fact that when the experts disagree as to the proper extension of a method, the practical ringer comes to the conclusion that the method will not properly extend, and all the arguments and theories in the world will not make it do so; and any extension that is claimed as the 'nearest' should not be allowed to use the name of the original? Take the case of 'Bristol' Surprise Major. The 'nearest' extension to Royal found by the author is that known as 'Clifton,' but I have no doubt that if he attempted to call it 'Bristol' the experts would again disagree.

The arguments are, no doubt, interesting to a few, but to the majority of your readers they are a big waste of space.

W. A. CAVE.

An article by the Rev. H. Law James, analysing his method of extending Superlative, will appear in our next issue.

THE DUDLEY AND DISTRICT GUILD.

A PLEASANT AFTERNOON AT ROWLEY.

The quarterly meeting of this Guild was held at St. Giles', Rowley Regis, near Birmingham, on Saturday, December 4th, in beautiful autumn weather. The bells were kindly placed at the disposal of the members from three o'clock, and good use was made of them.

The beautiful form of service used by the Guild at its meetings was conducted by the guild Vicar of Rowley, Lt.-Col. the Rev. F. J. Cheverton, who also gave an appropriate address on the use of the bells in the olden days, which was greatly appreciated. An adjournment was made to the schoolroom, where a beautiful tea was in readiness, and upwards of forty members and friends sat down.

At the business meeting which followed, the Vicar occupied the chair, and he was supported by Mr. H. Mason (vice-president), Mr. J. Goodman, jun. (Ringing Master), Mr. S. J. Hughes (treasurer), and the secretary.

The Chairman gave the Guild a hearty welcome to Rowley, and thanked them for the help that had been given to his ringers by some of the members.

The Secretary referred in very feeling terms to the loss the Guild had sustained through the death of one of their oldest members, namely, Mr. W. A. Pugh, of Stourbridge. Mr. Pugh was one of the oldest ringers in the district, and he (the secretary) said he felt sure he was voicing the feelings of the meeting when he said that their sympathy went out to the bereaved family.—Mr. Mason also spoke feelingly of their late friend and brother ringer, and referred to his unassuming manner and his readiness always to fill a gap in a band for a peal.—On the proposition of Mr. Mason, the secretary was asked to forward a letter of sympathy from the meeting to the deceased's family, the motion being received in silence by the members.

Mr. Mason then proposed that the secretary send a letter of congratulation to Mr. James George, 'of England,' upon his attaining his 73rd birthday.—The motion was received with loud applause, and the hope expressed that the redoubtable veteran might be spared for many years to come.

The arrangements for the quarterly peal were left in the hands of the Ringing Master. The next meeting, which is the annual one, will be held at Dudley.

One honorary and nine performing members were added to the roll. Other business of a routine character having been disposed of, a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the chairman, proposed by Mr. Mason and seconded by Mr. S. J. Hughes, for his great kindness in granting permission to hold this meeting at Rowley, for conducting the service, for his eloquent address, and for the use of the tower and bells. The vote also included thanks to the donors of the tea and to the ladies for preparing and serving the meal; also to Mr. J. H. Barsley and his ringers for making the necessary arrangements, and to all who had in any way assisted in making the meeting a most happy and successful one.

The Vicar replied on behalf of all concerned, and briefly closed the meeting with prayer. Members then adjourned to the balfry, where the bells were kept merrily going in various methods, including Stedman, Plain Bob and Grandsire, until nearly nine o'clock.

The opinion was expressed on all sides that it was one of the best meetings that the Guild has had for some years.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

NORTH BUCKS BRANCH MEMBERSHIP.

A quarterly meeting of the North Bucks branch was held at Stony Stratford on Saturday, December 4th, when a representative gathering was present from the following towers: Bletchley, Beechampton, Penny Stratford, Newport Pagnell, Shenley and the local tower. There were also visitors from the Peterborough and Towcester and District Associations. The bells were set going at 2.30 p.m. A short service was held, the Guild form being used, and an address given by the Rev. W. Payne, Vicar of St. Mary's, Stony Stratford. After the service, the members were the guests at tea of the Vicar (Rev. E. A. Steer), whose hospitality was very much enjoyed.

After tea, the Secretary (Mr. W. Sear) announced that he had no special business to bring before the meeting, but he wished to inform them that, after rendering his statement of accounts and membership to the general Guild, he very reluctantly had to state that the branch was not so strong as the previous year, owing, of course, to the fact that several towers had not paid their subscriptions, and he feared the loss of them. He would, however, continue to try and keep them in union with the branch. He also stated how pleased they were to have the company that day of the Guild officers, Rev. C. W. O. Jonkyn, Mr. Wright, and Mr. R. T. Hibbert. He would ask them to address the meeting.

This they did, giving sound advice, and appealing to the members to retain the younger ones as much as possible, and to try and create enthusiasm by getting more young members to join if possible. The same apathy was being experienced by other associations at the present time, and it was up to all to try and maintain a high standard of ringing.

The usual vote of thanks was passed to the Rev. E. A. Steer for so kindly welcoming the branch to Stony Stratford, and this brought a very pleasant meeting to a close. Further ringing was then indulged in, the methods rung ranging from Grandsire and Stedman Triples to Cambridge Surprise Major.

SUNDAY SERVICE TOUCHES.

EASE GRINSTEAD, SUSSEX.—On Sunday, December 12th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) in 48 mins. for Confirmation service, and also to welcome the new Bishop of Lewes to East Grinstead: G. Lambert 1, N. E. Hope 2, T. Potter 3, W. Mills 4, G. Hewitt 5, T. Tullett 6, J. Wren (conductor) 7, S. Chesson 8.

HILLINGDON, MIDDLESEX.—On Sunday, December 12th, at the Church of St. John-the-Baptist, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) in 49 mins. for morning service: R. Warnett (first quarter-peal and first attempt) 1, Miss G. Baker 2, Miss D. G. Feltham 3, J. H. Lucas 4, J. J. Pratt 5, W. Honor 6, F. W. Goodfellow (conductor) 7, F. Smith 8.

TOTTENHAM.—At All Hallows' on Sunday, December 12th, for evensong, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: S. W. Crabb 1, H. A. Barnett 2, W. P. Roe 3, W. J. Ellis (conductor) 4, H. W. H. Strickland 5, E. A. Hull 6, J. G. Nash 7, H. Ellis 8.

HESTON, MIDDLESEX.—For morning service on Sunday, Dec. 12th, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples: W. Lewis 1, H. C. Chandler 2, C. S. Bird 3, H. A. Fulwell 4, C. I. Edwards 5, A. Harding 6, W. H. Hollis (conductor) 7, W. Godfrey 8.

DALSTON.—At St. Mark's Church, on Sunday, December 12th, for evensong, 1,280 Bristol Surprise Major: R. F. Deal 1, W. H. Hewitt 2, C. W. R. Grimwood 3, J. Bennett 4, E. F. Pike 5, C. T. Coles (conductor) 6, J. E. Davis 7, W. Pvo 8.

NAYLAND, SUFFOLK.—On Sunday morning, December 12th, 720 Oxford Treble Bob Minor: E. Leggett 1, W. Stiff 2, H. Evers 3, D. Elliott (conductor) 4, W. Chalk 5, J. King 6.

WARWICK.—At St. Mary's Church, on Sunday, December 12th, for evening service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: S. L. Rye 1, W. Male 2, W. Collett 3, J. Rye 4, T. Stanley 5, H. Huxley 6, E. H. Adams (conductor) 7, E. H. Bosworth 8.

ISLEWORTH.—For morning service on Sunday, December 5th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: H. A. Harding 1, J. E. Churchill 2, E. V. Beadle 3, W. H. Hollis 4, P. E. Hawthorne 5, H. W. Lidbetter (conductor) 6, H. Harding 7, A. Sheard 8.

WILLENHALL, STAFFS.—On Sunday, December 5th, at St. Giles' Church, for evening service, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes) by the following: A. Evans 1, B. H. Pouniney 2, C. Wallafer 3, E. Trushaw 4, E. Hortin 5, J. T. Davies 6, S. H. Coley (conductor) 7, C. Law 8. First quarter-peal as conductor and first quarter for E. Trushaw and C. Law. All are members of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford.

CHURCHKIRK, LANCS.—For evening service, on Sunday, December 5th, 720 Bob Minor with tenor covering: A. Chadwick 1, W. Aaron 2, C. Bowen (Bucknall Staff) 3, A. Ingham 4, J. Parr 5, L. Williams 6, W. Hindle 8.

HITCHIN, HERTS.—At the Parish Church on Sunday, December 5th, for evensong, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples in 49 mins.: A. Symonds (first in the method) 1, E. W. Day 2, J. Hare 3, T. Scott 4, G. Wolfe 5, G. T. Croft (first of Stedman as conductor) 6, L. Fidler 7, H. W. Else 8.

LAMBERHURST, KENT.—On Sunday, December 5th, for evening service, 720 Berwick Surprise: B. Luck 1, W. Marshall 2, G. Fuller 3, A. Marshall 4, A. Relfe 5, H. Hammond (conductor) 6. First in the method by all.—On Thursday, December 9th, 720 Durham Surprise: B. Luck 1, W. Marshall 2, G. Fuller 3, A. Marshall 4, A. Relfe 5, H. Hammond (conductor) 6. First in the method by all.—On Sunday, December 12th, for morning service, 720 Cambridge Surprise: W. Marshall 1, B. Luck (first 720 with a bob bell) 2, G. Fuller 3, A. Marshall 4, A. Relfe 5, H. Hammond (conductor) 6.

WEDNESBURY.—At the Parish Church on Sunday, November 28th, for evening service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples in 45 mins.: C. Mounsey 1, G. Hughes 2, T. Burkitt 3, F. Smith 4, T. Palfreyman 5, A. Mitchen 6, J. Barber (conductor) 7, J. Gaydon (first quarter-peal) 8.

SWINDON, WILTS.—On Sunday, November 28th, at St. Mark's Church for evensong, a 720 of Plain Bob: N. Allnatt (first 720) 1, J. Roberts 2, H. Hatton 3, J. Penny 4, A. Heath (conductor) 5, G. Laurence 6.

UXBRIDGE, MIDDLESEX.—On Sunday afternoon, November 28th, for Confirmation service, at St. Margaret's Church, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples from Hull's Original in 44 mins.: E. D. Kemp (first quarter-peal at the first attempt) 1, Miss P. M. Moss (conductor) 2, F. Corke 3, G. Gutteridge 4, J. H. Lucas 5, W. L. Gutteridge (first in the method) 6, R. Carter 7, C. Nicholls 8.

A VALUABLE WORK.

Those critics of the Central Council who are in the habit of asking 'What has the Council done for ringing?' are often forgetful or ignorant. If the Council have done nothing else, they have rendered invaluable service to the Exercise by their publications and by placing within the reach of ringers books and pamphlets upon matters relating to our art for which no individual would have made himself responsible, and which, therefore, but for the action of the Council, would probably never have seen the light. One of the greatest steps ever taken in the advancement of six-bell ringing was the publication of the 'Collection' of six-bell methods. It revealed to the aspiring ringer a new field for his enterprise, new scope for his skill. It raised the quality of the methods practised to a higher level, and, by making possible 'spliced' ringing, opened up an entirely new departure in our art. The financial risk attaching to such a publication as this is was considerable, and such as few individual ringers would have cared to face. But it was possible to a body like the Central Council, and the Exercise has had the advantage not only of the knowledge of eminent men in the science, but also of a useful work at a reasonable price.

A new and equally valuable publication has now been completed by the Council, and is available to the Exercise. It is a collection of Plain Major and Cater Methods, 'selected and issued according to the instructions and under the authority of the Council, by the Rev. H. Law James, Mr. E. H. Lewis and Mr. J. A. Trollope.' It is a step towards providing for the Exercise as comprehensive a collection of methods on the higher numbers of bells, as has been done on six bells, but in its scope it is something more ambitious, and consequently should be of even greater help to ringers on eight and ten bells than was the former publication to the six and seven-bell method ringers. The methods given in the new book are merely a selection from the complete collection—more than eight hundred plain Major methods, all complying with the Council's definitions, were obtained by this industrious committee—but what is now put before the Exercise is a skilfully arranged choice of those methods which it is considered will be of best service to ringers and those anxious to study the theory of method construction, coupled with tables of lead and course ends, and peal compositions. The bulk of the book is, of course, devoted to the eight-bell methods, and Caters forms necessarily only a small section, but in the latter, as in the former, ringers will henceforth have available something which will enable them to extend their present limited practice.

There will doubtless be those who will say that ringers have enough scope in regard to methods already, and that the labours of the committee will be interesting to just a few only. There were those who said this in regard to the Minor Collection, but there has been a gradually growing desire on the part of ringers to practise the methods put forward by the Council in that earlier publication, and in course of time this new work will be as widely used and valued as the old one; indeed, we venture to think, more so. When 'Standard Methods' was published by Jasper Snowdon it was a welcome addition to the instruction books on ringing. The Method Collections of the Central Council are, in reality, only a continuation of the work which Mr. Snowdon began. No one would argue that what was sufficient when Jasper Snowdon first brought out that work is sufficient for these days. The Exercise has progressed—must progress if it is to live—and in publishing these Collections of Methods, the Central Council is not only providing for the advancement of the art in the present, but paving the way for higher standards and greater scope in the practice of ringing in the future.

BEGINNERS' TOUCHES.

At Martham, Norfolk, on Thursday, December 16th, the local company rang a quarter-peal of Bob Doubles (1,260 changes) with tenor covering in 45 mins.: Wm. Sales 1, Arthur Hodds 2, H. Mason (conductor) 3, Walter Watson 4, Albert Jetten 5, Sid Durrant 6. This was the first quarter-peal by all except the ringer of the 3rd, and first on the bells for over 30 years, during which time 'Stoney' has been the dominating 'method.' This quarter-peal was only made possible by the ringers themselves doing a bit of amateur repairing, as the bells are sadly in need of a boll-hanger.

A PROMISING YOUNG RINGER.

On Tuesday evening, December 14th, for practice, Frederic Richard Wellard, who is a pupil of Mr. Fred Brett at St. Alpheage, Canterbury, rang a plain course of Grandsire Cinques, a plain course of Stedman Cinques, a touch of Stedman Cinques, and a touch of Stedman Caters, on the 2nd, at the Cathedral. This was his first attempt at Stedman on any number of bells.

At St. Matthew's Church, Oversea, Derbyshire, on Tuesday, November 30th, a 720 Bob Minor was rung for the first time by the local band: P. Grice 1, L. Freeman 2, W. Brooker 3, C. Jewsbury 4, J. W. Cotton (first 720 as conductor) 5, W. E. Clayfield 6.

MILNBROW, LANCs.—On December 7th, a quarter-peal of Kent Treble Bob Major was rung at St. James' Church: J. Fitton 1, H. Hamer 2, W. Staff 3, J. B. Shaw 4, S. W. Dunn 5, G. Staff (conductor) 6, A. Buckley 7, Jno. H. C. Bessey 8. This was a birthday compliment to Mr. J. Fitton, who has been a regular service ringer at the above church for 52 years, also the longest length in the method by a local band.

GRANTHAM, LINCOLNSHIRE.—At St. Wulfram's Church, on Saturday evening, December 4th, 1,278 Grandsire Caters: J. Royce 1, A. Muckack 2, S. Proctor (conductor) 3, H. Haynes 4, H. Squires 5, P. Turner 6, A. Ward 7, T. Hall 8, F. Turner 9, R. Peck 10.—For evening on Sunday, December 5th, 1,299 Stedman Caters: S. Hall 1, W. Thorpe 2, E. Nidd 3, E. Roys 4, H. Thorpe 5, P. Turner 6, A. Ward 7, T. Proctor 8, S. Proctor (conductor) 9, R. Peck 10. First quarter-peal by J. Royce and E. Roys.

NOTES BY THE WAY.
MORE ABOUT THE EXTENSION OF METHODS.
BY J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

A method on a given number of bells is a series of cyclical movements. The extension of that method will be a progression of the series of cyclical movements arranged on a progression of numbers of bells.

To understand any progression it is necessary to state one term and also the factor of the progression. In methods the term must be the cyclical movements and nothing else, for these alone are the essential things of ringing. The factor will vary in different circumstances, but will be subject to one general law.

Since a progression of cyclical movements is a progression of the one essential thing in a method, we shall find that it implies and involves a progression of all other features of any importance. It implies a progression of the rows, of the places, and of all the work.

231	2413	24153
321	4231	42513
312	4321	45231
132	3412	54321
123	3142	53412
	1324	35142
	1234	31524

Let 12, 123, 1234, 12345, etc., be a progression of rows to infinity. On each construct a forward hunting course.

Then since :—

- (a) The starting rows are in progression,
- (b) There is one cyclical movement on each row.
- (c) The movements are in all cases in the same direction (i.e., forward).

Therefore, the result is a true extension.

This simple and obvious extension is the pattern and model of all extensions. Just as all method construction is implied in the hunting course and is a development of it, so all extension is implied in the above example.

Notice how everything of importance is equally in progression :—

Coursing order :—

21—231—2431—24531—246531, etc.

Number of rows :—

4—6—8—10—12—14—16, etc.

Or the rows themselves :—

21—213—2143—21435—214365, etc.

Or again :—

No. of bells =	2	3	4	5
Position of row =	2	3	4	5

Similarly, each individual row of any block on any number is one of a progression, which runs right through the whole extension from the lowest number of bells to infinity.

And this is a general rule of all extensions. Each individual row on any number will be one of a progression which runs right through all numbers; though in many cases the progression will not be obvious or easy to see.

The one factor in the above extension is the difference in the number of bells, and extension takes place equally in all features. Thus the relationship between a hunting course of Minor and one of Major is that of 6 to 8. The number of rows, the size of the cyclical movements, the coursing order, the rows themselves are all strictly in that proportion.

But directly you introduce any dodging or secondary movement the factor can no longer be the simple one of the difference in the number of bells.

1234	123456	12345678
2143	214365	21436587
1234	123456	12345678

The main forward cyclical movement extends in a progression to infinity, the factor being the difference in the number of bells. The number of inserted dodging movements also expands as the difference in the number of bells. But the extent of backward and forward movement in each dodging movement does not extend in the same proportion. On all numbers it is definitely one step backward, followed by one step forward. The result is that, while a series of Treble Bob courses in 4-5-6-7 ad. inf. are in strict progression, the divisions into which they are divided expand horizontally; but vertically are constant.

Thus the progression is not a simple one, as in the case of the hunting course, but a compound one; and this fact has a profound influence on the extension of methods.

In the book several other examples of compound progressions are given, and it then goes on :—

' This establishes the fact that equal expansion can take place only within a single hunting course, and that when dodging movements are introduced expansion is unequal, some features expanding in a different proportion or remaining constant.

' Similarly, expansion in a block which is constructed by a primary cyclical movement, and one or more secondary cycles is necessarily unequal. Each cycle will expand as the difference in the number of bells involved; but as the proportion between the numbers of bells in the primary and secondary cycles is not constant, but in a progression, the factor of the whole series will be a compound one.

' Take the simple case of Plain Bob :—

No. of bells	...	4	5	6	7	8	etc.
No. of hunts	...	1	1	1	1	1
No. of extreme bells	...	3	4	5	6	7
No. of rows in lead	...	8	10	12	14	16
No. of rows in secondary cycle	...	6	8	10	12	14
No. of rows in course	...	24	40	60	84	112

' This is a true progression, but it is obvious that the factor is not a simple one, and that therefore expansion is unequal.

' The introduction of other secondary cycles will each bring in a factor of its own, and thus make the progression still more complex.

' The fact that expansion is unequal and subject to the laws of a true mathematical progression has been totally overlooked, and this is largely the cause of so much misunderstanding of what extension really is.

' One general law arises from the fact that an extension is a true progression, which is that an extension is not confined to a limited number of bells. It goes on to infinity. Thus, if you have a true extension of London Major to ten bells, you have automatically a true extension to twelve bells, and every number that is in the progression 8, 10, 12, 14, etc.

'Conversely, if you have what you call a true extension from 8 to 10 and it will not further extend to 12, 14, 16, etc., then that fact is sufficient proof that the extension is not really a true one, whatever reasons and arguments you may have to think it so.

'Further, no one in considering a mathematical progression, and especially a complex, would think of confining himself to the first two or three terms; and, similarly, though for practical purposes we are restricted to twelve bells and the labour of writing out methods on large numbers is very great, still we must take these higher numbers into consideration. In many cases it is only by so doing that we can appreciate what the extension really is.'

The book then goes on to deal in detail with the problem of the extension of the more complex methods. This I spare my readers, but at the end I believe that a general and sound law of extension is shown to exist. And in this connection let me repeat what I said at the beginning. The really vital test of an extension is experience in the tower. In other words, if an extension is really a true one, then you must be able to give a set of rules by which you can ring both the original and the extension. I do not mean that every rule by which you ring the original must apply to the extension, but that there must be a set of rules which will apply comprehensively to both.

I ought to mention that the Rev. E. S. Powell, who did me the service of reading and criticising my book before the sheets were bound, objected that I use the word 'factor' not in exactly the same sense that a mathematician does. I had to let it stand for want of a better, and I hope that what I mean by it is sufficiently clear.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION. A HALF CENTURY REVIEWED.

The annual report of the Lancashire Association shows that the strength of the association at the close of the year was 78 hon. life members, 15 hon. members, 13 non-resident life members, 211 non-resident members, and 1,125 ringing members. The financial position is also reported as satisfactory, the year's working showing a gain of £10. One hundred and nine peals were rung, a slight falling off from the last few years, due, says the report, in some measure, no doubt, to the unsettled state of trade and unsatisfactory travelling facilities. The quality of the methods rung, however, is quite up to the average.

After reviewing the principal events of the year and thanking the branch secretaries for their constant and unselfish labours, the report goes on:

'This is the fiftieth annual report issued by the committee. Looking back over the last half century we see a wonderful advance in some of the things, to promote which the association was formed. The belfries are, as a rule, in far better order, and the bells in many cases are better hung for ringing. The number of rings, especially of octaves, in the county has been greatly increased. There has been a general uplift in the status of ringers, and in the standard of behaviour in the belfry. Much has been done to promote friendly fellowship between ringers from different towers, and knowledge of change ringing, especially in a variety of methods, has been much more general.

'Speaking of the standard of ringing, we notice that, while the advance has been general, it has not been constant in any one place; now one band and now another has had pre-eminence. On the other hand, there are still bands who seem to have no ambition to progress beyond a very small knowledge of one method, and still ringers who, apart from Sunday ringing, seem to let every other interest than ringing have the first claim upon their time. There are enthusiasts in all our branches, but there are many more whom they might stir to more enthusiasm for their art. In the earliest reports, great stress was laid upon the ringer's position as a Church worker, and upon the duty of himself joining in worship. We would put it that the Sunday ringing in quality and attendance ought to be the very best that ringers can give, because it is there definitely offered for the service of God, and all who ring on Sunday with this motive will feel that the offering of their art in the belfry is not complete without the offering of their prayer and praise in their service which follows the ringing.'

BELFRY GOSSIP.

We heartily reciprocate the kindly wishes for Christmas and the New Year which have been sent us by many friends, and to all our readers we extend our cordial greetings.

In the early days of change ringing, what we now know as Oxford Treble Bob was called Union Bob, and the first peal was rung by the Union Scholars at St. Dunstan's, in the City of London, on December 27th, 1718.

The first peal of College Exercise Major was rung at Hackney on December 26th, 1760.

A peal of 5,040 'London Union Trebbles' was rung on Dec. 26th, 1782, 'being the first peal of that method composed and called by J. Pleglis, at St. Giles-in-the-Fields.' Was this the method which Shipway afterwards published as London Treble Bob?

The Christmas holidays have been a favourite occasion for long peals, among the most noteworthy being the following, rung on Boxing Day: 15,168 Kent Treble Bob Major at Epsand, Yorks, in 1851; 8,064 Double Norwich at Leiston, Suffolk, in 1885; 9,312 Superlative Surprise at Crawley, Sussex, 1894; 10,080 Bob Major at Helmington, 1895; 11,111 Stedman Cinques at St. Martin's, Birmingham, and 10,176 Kent Treble Bob Major at Beeston, Notts, 1901; 9,728 Superlative Surprise, Cleat, Worcestershire, 1910; 10,440 Cambridge Surprise Royal at Walthamstow, 1923.

The Winchester Guild, which may now soon be divided, on account of the division of the diocese, scored its first peal on December 27th, 1881. It was a peal of Union Triples at Guildford.

On December 27th, 1904, 17,104 Double Norwich Court Bob Major was rung at South Wigston, Leicestershire. On the same day in 1909, 10,176 Double Oxford Bob Major was rung at Brierley Hill.

The Friendly Society of Ringers' rang a peal of 6,160 Bob Major at St. Andrew's, Holborn, on December 27th, 1738.

LONG MELFORD BELLS.

INFORMATION WANTED ABOUT A FAMOUS SUFFOLK RING.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I am gathering all the information I can concerning the bells of Long Melford.

I should be grateful if any reader would let me know anything about these, especially the peals that have been rung on them. In 1884, the Melford company were members of the Cumberland Youths. Has that society any record of peals rung by their members on these bells? I presume there are many ringers alive who rang peals before 1898, and perhaps they would give me particulars concerning those peals.

There have been bells here many centuries, as I find that in 1401 there was left in a will '3s. 4d. for the repair of the bell broken in ringing.' In 1468, there was left 2s. for the ringing of the bells. In 1555, the ringers received 10s. for ringing when the Bishop came. Could it be possible that they rang changes by methods as is done now? Perhaps someone would answer me that question.

The first mention of peals is 1768, and there is a record of a peal of Bob Major (10,080 changes) by the Melford company, also a 5,120 of Treble Bob. In 1782, we have the following peal recorded:

Attend, ye gods; oh, hark ye Saints Divine;

Give merit due to a ringer's rhyme.

No trifling peal, I mean no paltry change—

London Court Bob, that peal of mighty range.

And here, as in the following time, are named

These were the men for ringing highly famed:

Samuel Scott, as first with the treble he did lead,

The second was rung by Joshua Steed;

Joseph Cutts, the third, stood well in his place;

John Pearson the fourth bell swayed in the chase;

James Green, the fifth, of whom stood much in need;

And the sixth was rung by William Smith indeed;

John Corder the seventh, and the peal did call;

George Cadge, the tenor, which completed them all.

The changes were five thousand and twice one score.

And it is supposed 'twas never done before

Within three hours and ten minutes space.

And the changes took no ringer from his pace.

Was this the first peal of London Court? John Corder called all the three peals mentioned.

There are many things I should like to ask, but I feel I am encroaching upon your space already.—Yours faithfully,

GRANVILLE C. BIXBY.

Hall Street, Long Melford, Suffolk.

VETERAN SUFFOLK RINGER DEAD.

We regret to record the death of an old Alburgh ringer in the person of Mr. Frederick Smith, who had attained the age of 75 years. He is the first of the band of septuagenarians, who rang a peal four years ago, to join the great majority. No ringer was ever better liked by those who knew him. He had been a ringer at Alburgh and Redenhall since 1867, and rang his first peal at Redenhall in 1872 and his last this year at Alburgh. Altogether he had rung 122 association peals.

THE SHADE FUND. RESULT OF THE HANDBELL COMPETITION.

An extremely gratifying result attended the effort to raise a fund for the benefit of Miss Shade, the sister of the late Mr. I. G. Shade, who devoted so many years of her life to keeping house for her brother.

Readers of 'The Ringing World' were invited to subscribe to the fund, and in return for each shilling so contributed were entitled to participate in a competition for the set of sixteen handbells which were Mr. Shade's property, and which had been offered to the Editor by Mr. Shade's sister. In view of Miss Shade's circumstances, however, the Editor desired to put the handbells to practical use, and consequently organised the competition for the benefit of the veteran ringer's sister.

Many willing helpers throughout the country gave their assistance by collecting subscriptions and distributing the tickets, and to all these the Editor extends his grateful thanks.

No fewer than 1,078 tickets were disposed of, representing subscriptions amounting to £53 18s., and a further sum of £1 was kindly contributed as a donation by Mr. E. A. Young, hon. secretary of the Central Council, making the total amount received £54 18s. The printing, postages and carriage on the bells to the winner amounted to £2 8s., and the very satisfactory sum of £52 10s. has therefore been forwarded to Miss Shade.

The competition was decided by a draw, which took place on Saturday evening. Purely by coincidence it happened that the date advertised for this was the same as that subsequently settled upon for a conference, at the office of 'The Ringing World,' of members of the Winchester Diocesan Guild, in connection with the proposed setting up of a separate Guild for the new diocese of Guildford. At the conclusion of the business, the draw for the handbells was made by Mrs. J. S. Goldsmith in the presence of the members of the committee, and the winning ticket was No. 800. This ticket was held by

Bramley, Near Leeds,

to whom the bells are being sent. The subscription was collected by Mr. H. Lofthouse, secretary of the Leeds and District Society.

LIVERPOOL BELLS FOR ST. HELENS.

The old peal of ten bells which used to hang in the tower of St. Peter's Church, Liverpool, but which were removed and stored for some time, will shortly be installed at St. Helens, Lancs.

The bells have been to the Whitechapel Foundry, where they have been tuned and sand-blasted. They are to be hung in a new frame. The tenor is a bell of exceptionally deep note for its weight. Although only about 24 cwt., it is, we believe, nearly down to C.

Messrs. Mears and Stainbank are also shortly to commence the re-hanging of the ring of twelve at St. Michael and All Angels' Church, Ashton-under-Lyne, where many celebrated peals have been rung, including the records of 12,240 Kent Treble Bob Maximus and 14,000 Treble Ten. The bells are to be tuned and rehung in new framework, with entirely new fittings.

VETERAN RINGER'S DEATH.

On Monday, November 29th, the death took place of Mr. Richard Blundell, of Halsall, near Ormskirk, Lancashire, in his 87th year. Mr. Blundell had a record of 52 years as a chorister, and 37 years as a ringer at St. Cuthbert's, Halsall, where his remains were laid to rest on December 2nd, the local ringers acting as bearers.

Many years ago it was customary at Halsall to ring on May 24th, and as the majority of the ringers were engaged in agriculture they started at 5 a.m. and rang till six, and often Mr. Blundell's horse and cart laden with produce could be seen near the church waiting for its owner to drive it to Liverpool, a distance of 14 miles, after ringing was over, generally reaching home about 8 p.m. There was no eight-hour day at that period.

As a last tribute to his memory, 720 Kent Treble Bob Minor was rung on Monday, December 6th, in 26 minutes, by: Arthur Mawdesley 1, Thomas Prescott 2, Harry Fyles 3, John Gardner 4, Harry Sergeant 5, William Huyton (conductor) 6.

WEDDING BELLS.

On Saturday, November 20th, at St. Andrew's Church, Farnham, on the occasion of the wedding of Miss V. E. Bainton, of Farnham, and Mr. W. Johnson, of Aldershot, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) in 47 mins.: H. Prior 1, J. Read 2, C. Wells 3, S. Meadows 4, G. Upshall 5, T. Upshall 6, R. Hasted (conductor) 7, A. E. King 8.—Also 518 in the same method with F. Kemp ringing the treble, the rest as above.

At Edenbridge, Kent, on Sunday, November 21st, at SS. Peter and Paul's Church, for the wedding of Mr. H. Malyau, son of one of the local ringers, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (containing the 24-4-6's): E. Leigh, jun., 1, E. Collison 2, W. Leigh, sen., 3, R. Jenner 4, H. Leigh 5, J. Hearman (conductor) 6, E. Leigh 7, W. Leigh, jun., 8.—Also a short touch with E. Leigh, sen., H. Mainbridge and R. Nye standing in. Of the above ringers, three are uncles, three are cousins and one the grandfather of the bridegroom.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION BRISTOL BRANCH MEETING AT BRISLINGTON.

The Bristol branch brought its successful run of meetings to a close for the year at Brislington on Saturday last. Members attended from Bristol (St. George's, St. Philip's, St. Stephen's, St. Werburgh's), Henbury, Stoke Bishop, and a full muster of the local band. Messrs. A. Evans (Burnham-on-Sea), C. Ford (Keynsham), and C. D. Heginbotham (Devizes) were welcome visitors.

Brislington possesses a fine old church, and one of the fifteenth-century towers which are among the glories of Somerset. In the churchyard is a tomb, the inscription on which records the death of Thomas Newman, who died at the age of 153 years. The writer, the first time he visited the tomb, heard a well-known ringer remark: 'I'll bet he was a bell ringer!'

The bells were available from 3 p.m., and touches in Cambridge Minor, Kent, Plain Bob, Stedman and Grandsire Double were rung. The ringers then adjourned to the Church Hall, where they found a sumptuous tea awaiting them, which had been kindly provided by the Vicar. A willing band of ladies waited at the tables, where 40 sat down, including the Vicar (the Rev. S. R. Worters) and Mrs. Worters. The Christmas spirit was evident, for after tea the crackers were banged off all along the line, and all was merry and bright.

Followed a short business meeting, presided over by the chairman (Mr. J. Gould), at which Mr. F. W. Cannings (Bath) was elected a life member.

Mr. Heginbotham proposed, and the Chairman seconded, a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for providing such a bountiful tea, for the service he was about to conduct, and for the use of the bells, to the organist for his services, to Messrs. Stowell and the local band for having everything in readiness, and, last but not least, to the ladies who had done so much to look after their comfort, yes! and ever-handed round the cigarettes. The Vicar was greeted with applause on rising to respond. He said they had looked forward to this meeting with great pleasure, and nothing better would please him and his willing band of helpers if they would make this an annual affair. A remark which the hon. secretary made note of. He (the Vicar) reminded Mr. Heginbotham of what he had missed by not coming to Brislington before.

The association form of service was afterwards held in the church (conducted by the Vicar), in which all heartily joined, and proved that the ringers could sing as well as ring. The new tune to the hymn, 'Hark, on high the joyful music,' was much appreciated. The Vicar also gave a fine address.

The tower was again visited, and one of the Surprise methods was made a feature of a good practice.

A FOUNDER OF NORTH WALES ASSOCIATION.

DEATH OF MR. GEORGE WILLIAMS, SEN., AT GRESFORD.

Through the death of Mr. George Williams, sen., the North Wales Association have lost one of their oldest members and one of the founders of the association, while the Gresford Church has sustained a loss which is irreplaceable. Deceased was 77 years of age on October 11th, and was at his place in the belfry and at the services on Sunday, December 12th. He worked in his business during part of the Monday, 13th, when after partaking of dinner, he was suddenly discovered to be very ill, and in spite of expert attention and every care unfortunately passed quietly away late in the evening. He leaves to mourn his death two sons and three daughters and many ringers.

Mr. Williams was a native of Gresford, and had spent the whole of his life in the environs of his beloved church and village. He was a member of the choir from the early age of six years, and ringer, steepkeeper and sexton for very many years. He possessed a unique knowledge of the history of his church, and delighted to escort any party of ringing friends around and point out the numerous items of special interest. He was a strict disciplinarian, especially in the tower, and had taught the rudiments of ringing to a great many young men. Not a great ringer of methods, he had rung a few peals of Grandsire Triples and one of Bob Major, and he was always delighted to welcome visiting ringers.

The funeral took place at Gresford Church on Thursday. The service was fully choral, and conducted by the Vicar (Rev. J. E. Williams, M.A.), assisted by his curate, the Rev. W. H. Bolton, the Rev. Bransly A. H. Jones, M.A., curate of Hay, and the Rev. R. J. Barker Owen, M.A., Rector of Is-y-Coed. The bearers were his brother ringers, who had also lined the grave with evergreens. The church was full to the door with sorrowing mourners and others who came to pay a last tribute of respect. The North Wales Association was represented by the Master (Mr. A. J. Hughes), Mr. L. J. Evans, Rhyl; Mr. E. Rowland and Mr. W. Jones, Wrexham; Mr. H. W. Wilde and Mr. Jas. Morgan (Pulford), and Mr. Jas. Swindley (Handbridge, Cheshire). A well-struck course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells at the graveside by: J. Swindley 1, L. J. Evans 2, H. W. Wilde 3-4, A. J. Hughes 5-6, J. Morgan 7-8.

The tower bells were fully muffled with the tenor open on one side. The whole pull and stand was rung by the local band assisted by E. Rowlands and A. J. Hughes, and afterwards three courses of Stedman Triples; H. W. Wilde 1, W. Jones 2, E. Rowlands 3, L. J. Evans 4, J. Swindley 5, J. Morgan 6, A. J. Hughes (conductor) 7, Mr. Randles 8. This was followed by touches of Grandsire by the local band assisted by the visitors.

SUPERLATIVE ROYAL AND MAXIMUS
REV. H. LAW JAMES' ANALYSIS OF CONSTRUCTION.

If we want to know what Superlative is on ten and twelve bells, it is absolutely necessary to find out what it is on eight bells.

The first point to notice is that the method is double, and so we need only study the first eight rows of the plain course.

 21436587
 12463578

A.—1. The whole eight bells change to produce the second row, fourth row, sixth row, and eighth row, and all the places are made at hand and back stroke.

2. When the treble dodges in 1-2, third's and sixth's places are made. What are these places?

 26145837

Third's is 3rd from the front and 6th from the back. 6th's is 6th from the front and 3rd from the back.

3. When the treble passes from 2nd's place into 3rd's, 4th's place is made. This is 4th from the front and 5th from the back.

4. When the treble dodges in 3-4, 5th's place is made; this is 5th from the front and 4th from the back.

5. The eighth row is 2618573, therefore the ninth must be 26481537, for if you do anything else the bells will not strike 86745231 when the treble gets to the back; third's is 3rd from the front and 6th from the back, and 6th's is 6th from the front and third from the back.

We now know all that is to be known about the places, and it will be noticed that I have noted the relationship of these places both to the front and the back, because the method is double.

B.—The next thing to notice is the coursing order, and we can drop 7th's place and 2nd's because we know the result of these from Double Bob Major; then the bells come to lead and behind in the order 26373, and the 4th and 5th never get to lead or behind.

C.—The sixteenth row is 86745231. Eight and treble have changed places, 6 and 2, and 3 and 7, but 4 and 5 are still in the same place.

These are all the facts that we can gather from the Major; we want the Royal, and this problem is to produce twenty rows, the first of which is 1234567890, and the last 0896745231, and we notice 8-9 must change with 2-3 and 6-7 with 4-5 when 0 and treble have changed.

1234567890	1234567890	1234567890
2143658709	2143658709	2143658709
1246357890	1234685790	1246358790

This is the same as Major with places related to the front but not to the back.

3rd's place from the front and 3rd's from the back.

These three groups of four rows are the only three that we can produce on ten bells. Each one of them has places made between the 2nd and 3rd rows which can be justified from the Major, and as far as the place making is concerned there is no more to be said for any one of them in preference to either of the others; but the place making does not constitute the method. The next thing to consider is coursing order. In I. and III., 6 is prepared to go in to the 2nd; in II., 4 instead of 6. Therefore we prefer I. and III. to II.

Comparing I. and III., in I. 3 is in course order behind 7, but in III. the course order is 9, 5, 3, therefore we prefer I. to III.

We therefore elect to proceed from I., remembering that we still have II. and III. to fall back upon in case of need.

IV.	V.
2164538709	2164538709
2614357890	2615437890

In this we have 4th's place as in Major, but it is not 5th's from the back.

In this we have 6th's, which is 5th's from the back, as 4th's is in Major.

We can say as much for the one as the other. We will take IV.:

IVa.	IVb.
2614357890	2614357890
6241538709	6241538709
2614583079	2614358079
6241850397	6241530897

This has 5th's place from the front, as in Major, but it is not 4th's from the back.

This has 4th's place from the back, as in Major, but it is not 5th's from the front.

As far as the place making is concerned, there is no choice, but IVa. shows 8 going in to 6 in front, and IVb. shows 5 going in. Moreover, this puts 4 and 5 below the treble, which cannot be in a double method when the tenor and treble are to change in the middle.

We are therefore compelled to drop IVb. Return to IVa.:

 2648105379

The Major tells us that we must make 3rd's and another place, the 0 must come to the treble in 5-6, therefore the other place must be 8th's. The Major tells us to make 4th's place when the treble dodges in 5-6, and as the method is double we must also make 7th's.

Now, comparing these last two rows, it is evident that the twentieth row will be 0896723451. We can not make 9th's place, but we can continue the lead, and, by making 2nd's place when the treble leads, bring up 1352749608.

This is a true extension to ten bells, but it is not Superlative for it is not double.

We are driven back to V.:

Va.	Vb.
2615437890	2615437890
6251348709	6251348709
2615384079	2615438079
6251830497	6251340897

4th's place from behind, but it is not 5th's from the front.

Now, Vb. is impossible, because 2 and 3 will both come below the treble, and this leaves us Va.

Va.
6251830497
2658103479

The Major tells us to make two places; we are compelled by the treble to make 3rd's as in Major, and the other place must be 8th's, because the method is double, and also because 0 and 1 must come together in 5-6. The Major tells us to make 4th's when the treble dodges in 5-6, and, as the method is double, we find that as 6285014397 is to 1234567890, so is 6825104937 to 0896745231, which will therefore come up when the treble gets to the back.

We can complete the round block of 40 rows, the last one being 1325476980, and the bells come to lead in the order 2680973, and 4 and 5 never get to the lead or behind.

We now add 9th's place with the treble behind and 2nd's with the treble at lead, and we have produced a double method on ten bells, which satisfies all the conditions resulting from our analysis of the Major.

But we have still II. and III. to consider. I have worked them both out in the same way, and they both produce impossible conditions.

Now, what is the method which we have produced? It is the very same method which Shipway produced over a century ago, a peal of which was rung at Wakefield in 1826.

Now, what about Maximus?

To find Royal, we started from the Major assuming nothing, but carefully noting all the facts. When we approach Maximus we are in a much better position; we have both Major and Royal to guide us. We have only to analyse the Royal in the same way that we have analysed the Major and then extend to Maximus, considering every point in relation to both Major and Royal.

I have done the work years ago, and I do not intend to set it down here, because I think that I have made the matter so plain that anyone can do it for himself, but I will call your attention to one point. In Major, the course order to lead and behind is 26873, in Royal it is 2680973, and so in Maximus it must be 2680te973.

When we rang the peal of Royal, I published the facts connected with the extension of Superlative. I have now demonstrated the way in which the method grows. Write it out on any number of bells you like, and ask, What is this method?

The answer is the same in every case. It is a method in which a bell does

- (A) Work with the treble;
- (B) Place making with odd place last;
- (C) Long dodging;
- (D) Place making with odd place first.

D is the same as B in reverse order.

Now look at the matter from the practical point of view. A man who can ring Superlative Major has to learn the extended long dodging and the extended place making to ring Royal, and I know from experience that this is easily done. A man who can ring Major and Royal has simply to learn the extended long dodging and extended place making of Maximus, and this is quite an easy matter.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION.
EASTERN DISTRICT.

A meeting was held on Saturday, December 11th, at Hertford, and was fairly well attended, members being present from Benington, Barnet, Baldock, Cheshunt, Hatfield, Kington, Great and Little Munden, Ware, besides ringers of Hertford. The noble ring of ten at All Saints' were made good use of, and all seemed satisfied to stay, so that St. Andrew's eight were not required. Various methods were rung, and plenty of practice was got through for various grades and ringers in various stages of efficiency.

A service was held, at which the Vicar (the Rev. Llandulph Smith) welcomed those assembled and gave the address.

The tea was prepared at Farrow's, Fore Street, and the business meeting followed, presided over by the Rev. W. E. Mills, Rector of Benington, a place which has made history in bell ringing in former years.

A fact worth recording is that one of that once famous band was present in the person of Mr. Samuel Page, who is now 78, and who at the age of 21 rang a peal upon the old bells which were destroyed by the fire which occurred 35 years ago, and destroyed the fine old church. The late John Cox was the conductor.

DURHAM CATHEDRAL RINGERS.

On Sunday, November 21st, for the afternoon service, 360 Bob Minor, with 7-8 covering, tenor 50 cwt.: A. Hodgson 1, C. Vasey 2, W. H. Johnson 3, *R. A. Johnson 4, *E. L. Allison 5, E. Ferry (conductor) 6, T. Brownless 7, G. Metcalf, J. Henderson and Rowlandson 8. * Longest length. Rung after ringing three plain courses of Minor at the previous practice.—On Sunday, November 28th, 600 Bob Minor, band standing as before. The last two courses of the 720 had to be cut out owing to shortness of time.—On Sunday, December 5th, 720 Bob Minor, band standing as before.—On Sunday, December 12th, 720 Bob Minor, band standing as before. All the ringers are local except the conductor, and the touches were rung after six months' conversion from call changes. The 5th was the observation throughout.

DEPTFORD.—At St. John's Church, for mission services, on Sunday, November 14th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: S. Rivett 1, T. A. Easterby 2, A. Bradley 3, F. Bacon 4, H. Norgate 5, S. B. Crowder 6, W. J. Jeffries (conductor) 7, A. F. Bennington 8.—On Monday, November 15th, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples: F. Frazer 1, T. A. Easterby 2, E. E. Richards 3, J. Dafters 4, R. Woods 5, W. Martin 6, W. J. Jeffries (conductor) 7, H. Norgate 8.—On November 19th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: F. Frazer 1, W. J. Jeffries (conductor) 2, H. James 3, J. Dafters 4, T. A. Easterby 5, J. Hurrell 6, W. Martin 7, A. Bennington 8.—On Monday, November 22nd, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: E. Rivett 1, F. Frazer 2, W. Martin 3, H. James 4, W. J. Jeffries 5, J. Hurrell 6, T. A. Easterby (conductor) 7, J. Dafters 8.

BELLS FOR A WELSH CATHEDRAL.

Messrs. Mears and Stainbank have been entrusted with the order for a new peal of eight bells at St. David's Cathedral, Wales.

'DEXTER'S VARIATION.'

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—It is far from being a pleasure to reply to the letter over the signature of 'A. Flat.' When writing to the public Press, and when conducting in the tower, he should use decent language, because everyone is not like the lady ringer, who, after a particularly bad flow of foul language, said: 'Oh, I have got used to that.' Everyone of your readers is not used to it. I particularly object to being called a 'liar' in whatever guise that term is dressed. I deny that I am one; what I have written is the truth. I also deny that 'any fool who can ring Stedman can call this variation in one lesson.' Mr. Walter P. Whitehead is the one who, I believe, has called this variation most often for the M.C.A., and he, perhaps, had a lesson at Stuart Street, but this need not cause him any uneasiness. No fool can call a peal of Stedman Triples; if he did, he would not be a fool.

Going back to Mr. Dexter's letter in your issue of December 10th, he asks, quite reasonably, 'Why did not Mr. Washbrook claim it when he saw it?' I suggest he never saw the figures. He probably, like myself, wondered what 'Dexter's' variation was, and expected to come across it some day. When I did, at last, see the figures, our friend Washbrook was dead. I claimed the peal next day for him through the secretary of the M.C.A.

I wish to draw Mr. Dexter's attention to an inaccuracy in the same letter. He says: 'When I have called the one we will call "Dexter," it has always been published as a variation of Thurstans.' If he will refer to peals Nos. 2557 and 3227 M.C.A. he will find this is not so.

While writing, Mr. Editor, I should be glad if you would point out to the secretary of the M.C.A. that the odd-bob peal of Stedman Triples, No. 3264, was composed by John Carter. It was also produced independently by the Rev. E. Banks James, and sent to me, but after it was rung and published in the Gloucester and Bristol report (from which it has evidently been taken), it was claimed by Mr. Carter, and the claim acknowledged by Mr. James. A note to this effect was inserted in the following year's report.

W. A. CAVE.

P.S.—For those conductors who do not like 12-13's, let them substitute Brooks' calling for Thurstans', and for others substitute Haley's, ringing either the two or four-course blocks three times to start with. I do not believe either has been rung or even published. They, like the other two, are Washbrook's, I have only done what any novice could do, after having seen the original variation.—W. A. C.

WASHBROOK'S PEAL.

Dear Sir,—I did not think it was necessary to write again on this subject, but Mr. Dexter's letter deals unfairly with the qualities of the above variation. Mr. Washbrook, by introducing the six singled-in blocks (three with S at 2, and the corresponding three with S at 14), cuts out the extras and omits of the original. This, to my mind, puts it above the mongrel class. By exchanging the singled-in blocks, you get what is often rung as Dexter's Variation. Further comment is unnecessary.—Yours faithfully,

W. H. BARBER.

Newcastle.

SIMPLIFICATION, BUT RETROGRADE.

Dear Sir,—Mr. Hunt's reasoning would be perfect, but, unfortunately for the theory, I arrived at my result before seeing Mr. Washbrook's, even before calling my first peal of Stedman, by the same road that anyone who knew anything about Thurstans' peal and Hudson's 60 courses also knew that Thurstans' quarter-peal could be linked up with singles. Surely, Mr. Hunt did not imagine that Thurstans would be unaware of so obvious a fact. But the ideals of the great had been to eliminate singles to a minimum. The result in Thurstans' case was a perfect composition with only two singles. To add four singles to rid it of omits and extras was a retrograde step over ground that had been covered 60 or 70 years ago. His only excuse in my case was simplification of calling. The fact of Mr. Washbrook producing a similar variation earlier than mine does not give anyone a claim to a monopoly on his behalf. If there were such, it belonged to those who first produced a 5,040 with two singles only, for they undoubtedly turned down such compositions when their ideal was in sight. But again, let me say that anyone wishing to call either variation under Mr. Washbrook's name robs me of no royalties.—Yours truly,

F. H. DEXTER.

MR. DEXTER'S RIGHT.

Sir,—I am sorry to differ from my old friend, Mr. J. Hunt, re Dexter's Variation. Mr. Dexter does not claim it as his own composition, but as a 'Variation,' which he has a perfect right to do, in my opinion.—Yours truly,

A. H. PULLING.

Guildford.

KYDE, ISLE OF WIGHT.—At All Saints' Church, on the occasion of the patronal festival, 1,152 Kent Troble Bob Major: A. Brading (longest in the method) 1, W. Johnson 2, W. Scott, sen., 3, H. Barton (conductor) 4, A. Calloway 5, W. Scott, jun., 6, W. Upton 7, A. R. Ward 8.

THE BELLS OF SOUTH MARSTON, WILTS.

SIX INSTEAD OF THREE.

Sunday, December 12th, was a red-letter day in the annals of this old-world vale village, situate four miles east of Swindon, and immediately north of the G.W.R. main line. It has an ancient church, dedicated to St. Mary Magdalene, and a peal of three bells of exceptional interest. The treble, a pre-Reformation bell by Robert Hendley, of Gloucester, has an inscription, 'Sancta Barbara Ora Pro Nobis,' the original second of the same founder was recast in 1885, and now again, the inscription 'Sancta Maria Magdalena' being reproduced. The tenor, which weighs about 12 cwt., was cast in 1616 by John Wallis, of Salisbury.

The frame in which these bells were hung was of rough and massive construction, and for many years were practically unringable. When the late Vicar resigned and retired some 11 years ago, he expressed his intention to restore and augment the bells and thus complete the work of restoration to the whole fabric, which, under his loving care, had been carried out in various stages. Last summer he enlisted the services of a well-known local ringer, who inspected the bells and reported, with the result that estimates were obtained from two well-known firms of bell founders, and Messrs. Mears and Stainbank were selected to carry out the work.

The fine old Black Letter bell has been hung rigid with a spring clapper, and will be used for chiming only. The tenor has been retained, the second recast, and four other bells added, making a very musical peal of six in F, hung in a new iron frame carried on steel girders with entirely new fittings, and as the bells are rung on the ground floor suitable guides have been provided. The frame is constructed to carry two more bells, which it is hoped may at some future date be added. A new floor has also been placed below the bells.

There is an inscription on the new fifth 'To the Glory of God. These bells were augmented from three to six by subscriptions from the parishioners and friends, assisted by the Rev. A. Macdonald, the former Vicar of this parish, Francis George Vernon Iles, Vicar, Minnie Iles, John James Sansum, churchwardens.' The work has been most successfully carried out by the contractors, who are to be highly congratulated on the result.

The dedication service took place at evensong on Sunday, December 12th, before a crowded congregation, the Archdeacon of Swindon, Canon Talbot, officiating and afterwards preaching a most appropriate sermon. The Vicar took the service, and the Rev. Angus Macdonald, the venerable former Vicar, read the lesson, and handed the ropes to the Archdeacon for the dedication.

Six members of the Swindon Parish Church Guild motored over after ringing for evening service at their own church and rang the opening touch immediately after the dedication. A goodly number of ringers from neighbouring towers assembled, and ringers of note were there too, in Messrs. C. F. Winney and A. A. Hughes of the College Youths, London, and J. H. Shepherd, of Swindon, who, it is interesting to learn, has attended services of this kind before. It is encouraging to hear that a number of young parishioners have expressed a desire to become ringers, and Miss Iles, the Vicar's daughter, has anticipated matters, and under the able tuition of Mr. G. W. Lancaster of Stratton St. Margaret, has made such progress that she rang the treble to 360 of Bob Minor after the service.

The Swindon branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association propose holding their annual meeting at South Marston on Saturday, January 15th, when the new ring will be available.

SPICED MINOR.

At Norbury (Hazel Grove), Cheshire, on Monday, December 13th, at the Parish Church of St. Thomas, a spiced Minor extent in the following methods: Poynton, Marple, Old Oxford Modernised, Bocking, and Willenden: Harold Jackson 1, W. Fernley 2, H. Langley 3, W. W. Wolstencroft 4, J. Fernley (conductor) 5, J. W. Hartley 6.

A full explanation of spiced method ringing will be found in 'Method Spicing,' to be obtained 1s. 3d. post free, from 'The Ringing World' Office, Woking.

DEVON BELLS.

Two Devonshire churches have taken in hand extensive work in connection with their bells. Uffculme Church Council intends not only to remodel its present peal of six, which has done 80 years' good service, but to complete the octave by the addition of two more bells. A large amount of the money required is already in hand.

St. Andrew's, Plymouth, has also had its fine peal of bells quartered and rehung. Ten in number, some of them date back to 1719, and the fine tenor, cast in 1840, weighs 35 cwt.

Sir Thomas and Lady Baker have made themselves responsible for all the expense entailed, and have also met the cost of renovating and restoring the clock. The renovation has necessitated scrapping the remaining parts of the original clock made in 1706 by Thomas Mudge, with the exception of the setting dial, which is still preserved.

BAGLAN, GLAMORGAN.—At the Parish Church of St. Catherine, for divine service on St. Catherine's Eve, November 24th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles: B. John 1, Miss Lucy Thomas 2, Mrs. Bellringer 3, A. Thomas 4, E. G. Bellringer (conductor) 5, A. E. Pitman 6. All are local ringers.

YULE 'TIDE.'

To the Editor.

Sir,—Scrooge lived in three ghostly periods. Scrooge still lives in 1926—he does, beyond doubt! Yet one is sure he's not amongst those who—Say it by telephone, and buy 'The Ringing World'! Rest assured of that, Mr. Editor, and be certain of this, Sir, we are growing older, some of us softer, some of us a little harder, some of us wiser, and some of us a lot more cynical. Therefore, one is inclined to think (sometimes) if we all in this 'ringing world' would only allow those three spirits—which brought about a change in Scrooge—to visit us at Yule Tide, it would do us all good.

S-h-h-h-h-h! (The spirit of Christmas Past enters.) The home, the family circle of old days, the old school (the Prodagogue), the lessons, the months—weeks, days and hours—which only made it seem longer to Christmas Day, the holidays and those friends, young manhood, our work, our ambitions (peals), our hopes, successes and failures, the meeting of 'Someone,' the greeting of Someone, and the 'kicking' of that 'Someone,' under the table, who not only made us think of—but thank God for—that greatest thing of all—Home Happiness! Through sunshine, through shadow we have passed along life's checkered path, till we arrive at 1926. (Exit first ghost.)

(Enter the spirit and form of Christmas Present.) Upon its form depends what we have allowed the past to make us—yes, Sir, to make us—as near as we can—get down to the child spirit of the season of Yule.

'Tisn't difficult, if we don't lack enthusiasm, in playing our part in blindman's buff, or wearing a paper hat, or dancing round the Christmas tree, or pulling crackers to see if we can find a real 'C.C.' with a laugh! Ha! ha-a-a-a! Let's see if we can find a real 'C.C.' to ward off the witches, whose especial amusement it is

To untie the winds and make them fight, like children, for a symbol of contemptible superstition, which Whittier says:

'Still o'er many a neighbor's door
She saw the horseshoe's "curved charm."'

Ha! ha-a-a-a! What care we where we find this 'C.C.'? Whether we find it in a cracker, or embedded in the Christmas pudding, or whether we find it in a 'hash' at Whitsun, or whether we find it on the 'chest' of the Editor of this journal—what care we? A 'C.C.' is a 'C.C.'; it is universal. One might find it anywhere. It may be of pagan origin, stuck on some Runic monument, or it may be traced, as the Hottentot traced it on his cabin door, or again, it may be found on the doors and the thresholds of houses as much in Europe as in Asia and America.

Admitted, the 'C.C.' is universal, but massive, barbarous, extravagance—reciprocating extravagance, barbarous, massive. 22 ct. 'curved charms' are not to be found anywhere, so one has commissioned oneself to make and to manufacture one (on behalf of the Exercise without their permission), such as no company of goldsmiths could ever dream of fabricating, therefore—still without the mandate of the Exercise—whereas, on behalf of the Exercise, one does not beg our worthy brothers' acceptances of this 'C.C.' but we command the acceptance thereof—of this 'C.C.' which we have despatched under separate wrapper as a token of esteem and best wishes and as a sign and symbol of 'Christmas Present'! (Exit the ghost of same.)

(Enter the spirit of Christmas Future.) With this one wish (and command) to the fraternity of campanulogists:

Then peal the bells more loud and deep.
God is not dead, nor doth He sleep.
The Wrong shall fall,
The Right prevail,
With peace on earth, goodwill to men!

IRENEUS.

[The Editor has duly received the massive charm that is said to bring good luck. A gigantic golden horseshoe will adorn the baronial hall this Christmas tide. Almost immediately this charm arrived a cup of hot tea was spilled over the recipient (of the charm and tea); he went out and lost a ten-shilling note and came home to find that the black cat had died. But he lives in hopes, and his grateful thanks are hereby returned to 'Ireneus' for his thoughtful 'Christmas present'.]

DATE TOUCHES.

At St. Mary's Church, Broughton Astley, Leicestershire, on Tuesday evening, December 14th, in 1 hour 15 minutes, a date touch (1,926 changes), comprising 68 Stedman Dobbles, 240 Plain Bob Doubles, 360 Canterbury Doubles, and 1,260 Grandsire Doubles: A. Bodycote 1, J. Brunt 2, C. Carr 3, P. Bodycote 4, H. Bird (conductor) 5. This is the longest length for all except ringers of the 2nd and 3rd, and the longest length rung on the bells by all local men.

At St. Peter's Church, Bexhill, on Saturday evening, December 11th, in 1 hour and 16 minutes, 1,926 Grandsire Triples: H. Parkin 1, Mrs. A. Lovett 2, J. Downing 3, S. Driver 4, T. Baker 5, G. Piper 6, A. Lovett 7, A. Reid 8. Composed and conducted by A. Lovett. All are ringers from Hastings with the exception of the tenor man.

SUNDAY SERVICE TOUCHES.

ACTON.—At St. Mary's Church, for morning service on December 12th, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples: H. Wincote 1, Miss Hawkesworth 2, Robert Farden (conductor) 3, H. Belcher 4, R. Holloway 5, J. W. Kelley 6, E. W. Coulson 7, W. Boucher 8. For the benefit of visitors coming to London, it may be mentioned that this tower is a twopenny tram fare to church door from Shepherd's Bush Tube Station. Quarter-peals most gladly arranged and welcomed for either those struggling with Grandsire or Stedman and 'highbrow.'

LINCOLN.—At St. Peter-at-Gaw's Church, on Sunday, December 12th for matins, 720 Oxford Treble Bob Minor: H. Chester 1, R. Lowman 2, H. Hurst 3, W. Walker 4, W. Bettles 5, J. E. Sykes (conductor) 6.

LONDON.—At St. Margaret's, Westminster, on Sunday, December 5th, for evening, a quarter-peal (1,263 changes) of Stedman Caters: Mrs. F. I. Hairs 1, Miss E. Chapman 2, W. H. Hewett (conductor) 3, Henry Ellis 4, J. E. Davis 5, W. A. Alps 6, C. W. Grimwood 7, F. I. Hairs 8, R. F. Deal 9, R. Sanders 10.

ZEALS, WILTS.—On December 5th, at St. Martin's Church for evening service, 720 Stedman Doubles: F. Ball 1, J. J. Parsons 2, A. Bayerstock 3, E. J. Rowe 4, L. Perrett (conductor) 5, W. Gray 6.

MALDON, ESSEX.—At All Saints' Parish Church, on Sunday, December 5th, for evening, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes): F. White 1, E. G. Ellenger 2, W. Chalk 3, J. Ames 4, J. H. Walcock 5, F. Chalk 6, H. J. Mansfield (conductor) 7, S. Linnet 8. First quarter-peal by ringers of treble and tenor.

GOLDHANGER, ESSEX.—On Sunday, December 5th, for evening service, 720 College Exercise: S. J. White 1, B. C. Mann 2, J. D. Buckingham 3, G. H. Neville 4, C. J. Mann 5, H. B. Gardner (conductor) 6. First 720 in the method by B. C. Mann (aged 14 years).

OXHEFY.—On Sunday, November 28th, for morning service, 720 Kent Treble Bob Minor: H. Hodgetts 1, E. Bowley (first 720 in the method) 2, C. Leman 3, A. W. Dix 4, W. Hodgetts 5, F. W. Brinklow (conductor) 6.

LLANDUDNO.—On Sunday, November 28th, for evening service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) from Holt's Original: T. Barrow 1, R. Fairlie 2, A. W. Brighton, London (conductor) 3, E. Lodge 4, S. Brown 5, A. Fairlie 6, S. Cullington 7, T. Low 8.—On Sunday, December 5th, for evening service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples from Holt's Original (1,260 changes) in 46 mins., the band in the same order as above, conducted by A. W. Brighton.

LONDON.—On Sunday evening, November 28th, at St. Mark's Church, Dalston, 1,312 Double Norwich Court Bob Major in 54 mins.: J. Bennett 1, W. Nudds 2, W. Hewett 3, R. Deal 4, E. F. Pike 5, T. G. Bannister 6, F. E. Collins 7, J. E. Davis (conductor) 8. This is believed to be the longest touch on the bells, which were installed in 1877, and have quite recently been put in 'going order' after being silent for approximately 30 years.

LONDON.—On Sunday, November 28th, for morning service at St. Andrew's, Church, Holborn, a quarter-peal of Treble Bob Major (1,280 changes) in 48 mins.: L. Gray 1, C. Choct 2, J. S. Hawkins 3, R. Green 4, F. H. Crook 5, A. E. Darnell 6, J. Bullock 7, E. Breit (conductor) 8.—On October 24th, for evening service at St. Andrew's, Wells Street, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) in 46 mins.: L. Gray 1, Harry Dyas 2, C. Choct 3, H. Franks 4, C. F. Winney (conductor) 5, A. Darnell 6, F. H. Crook 7, J. Bullock 8, taken from Holt's Original.

WRENTHAM.—On Sunday, November 28th, 720 Cambridge Surprise Minor: Rev. F. R. Bousey 1, W. C. Bunn 2, E. Bailey 3, A. J. L. Naunton 4, G. Lee 5, F. W. Naunton 6. Conducted by W. C. Bunn, age 16. It was the conductor's first 720 in the method on an inside bell and as conductor.

DORE, SHEFFIELD.—On Advent Sunday, November 28th, for evening, at Christ Church, in 92 mins., a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes): Rev. W. P. Wright 1, Miss Molly Daveport 2, R. E. Johnson 3, W. Bingham 4, N. Short 5, N. Fisher 6, J. E. Lewis Cockey (conductor) 7, M. Fisher 8. First quarter in the method as conductor. Rung as a welcome to the Rev. W. B. Chalmers, of Leamington, the preacher at evening.

BECKENHAM, KENT.—On Sunday, November 28th, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes): W. J. Rawlings 1, H. Hawkes 2, W. Hollamby 3, F. Scutcher 4, F. Terry 5, F. King 6, W. Smith (conductor) 7, W. Meek 8. First in the method by ringers of 2 and 4.

COMPTON, BERKS.—On Sunday, November 28th, at the Parish Church for evening, a quarter-peal of Bob Minor (1,260 changes) in 43 mins.: W. Parfitt 1, A. Gregory 2, E. Pontin 3, A. Jeffery 4, A. Hall 5, C. Parfitt (conductor) 6.

RING IN THE NEW.

Ring happy bells across the snow;
Ring out the false, ring in the true.*

Once more we are at a milestone in the years, and we are reminded again of Tennyson's famous lines. Few people, we imagine, will be sorry to see the departure of this year of 1926, with its upheavals and difficulties, its troubles and its anxieties, both national and individual. Many will be devoutly glad to see the back of it, in the hope that the new year will bring with it a better spirit, and that there will be brighter and happier prospects in store. 'The year is going, let him go.'

As we approach 1927 with new hopes and aspirations in our industrial and national life, may we not also, as ringers, approach our duties and our art with keener desire and greater energy. The unhappy industrial trouble affected many members of the Exercise, and directly or indirectly large numbers suffered. The brighter outlook in the labour world will, we hope, enable them to return to greater activity in the ringing world, for, despite what is already being done, there is a great deal of work which awaits the willing hand, and the new year surely is the time when the task may well be begun.

There are still many silent towers in the country and towers where bands are not up to strength. Here, at any rate, is one direction where associations and individual ringers can get to work. The question, 'What are we doing to introduce fresh blood?' is being often asked, and seldom satisfactorily answered, but it has got to be faced if the art of ringing is to progress and not to be allowed to lapse into the condition of a century ago. Associations might well start the new year by seriously tackling this problem. The difficulties are great, but they should be only a spur to effort. It is a task, too, in which individual ringers can act even more effectively in many cases than associations can do. Let 1927 be a year of new endeavour, in a new spirit.

One step might well be a determined onslaught on those clergy and people in high places in the Church who still fail to realise the importance of the ringer's office. It is more often than not due to this that bells are silent, and it is not until those responsible are aroused from this indifference that any substantial change will be brought about. Their co-operation is needed, and recruits for the belfry should be got from the church. There should be in every congregation sufficient men ready to give their time and energies to the service of the Church by ringing the bells, and if bands were, by the aid of the clergy, recruited from this source, it would finally do away with the old complaint, the ground for which is steadily disappearing, that the ringers are never seen in church.

Here, then, is one direction to which ringers may turn their energies anew in the coming year. Success can only be achieved by long and sustained effort, but let us approach it with a new spirit in the new year; let us not think so much of what we can get out of ringing, but more of what we can put into it.

'SPLICED' BOB TRIPLETS AND SUPERLATIVE.

To the Editor.

Sir,—While reading a book by B. Thackrah and W. Sottonstall I came across an account of a peal of 5,040 changes of Bob Triples and 5,152 of Superlative Surprise, a total of 10,192 changes, rung at Huddersfield on November 5th, 1821, in 5 hours 56 minutes. Is this the longest, if not the first, peal so spliced?

I have reason to believe this may have been the Superlative:

STRIKING.

To the Editor.

Sir,—If there is anything one loves to see in 'The Ringing World' it's a bit of real good striking! You know, similar to that one saw in 'Belry Gossip' on November 26th. One must congratulate 'X' on the excellency of his 'Striking, brief!' Yes, 'brief' in more senses than one. It was a brief, and vigorous, exercise in invective, which aptly fits some others who forgot that the village bells of remembrance wanted striking at 'home' 'before' going abroad to meet three short of being one too many! Verb sap.

One read the leader of the same date and felt it was just summed up in that one word 'striking.' So were Mr. Wiffen's comments. Both should strike to a wondrous depth, but will they? One is afraid not, urge as the Editor or Mr. Wiffen may, and they have urged!

I maintain that if the 'touch' is not there it cannot be put there. Paderewski is a glaring example of touch, so is the master violinist. Why? Because it is there!

Mr. Wiffen says he has discussed the subject of striking with one or two who are of the opinion that it is a difficult matter to deal with on paper. That is so; it is impossible to put touch on paper. Touch is genius, and genius, be he pianist, artist, sculptor or campanologist (if you will), cannot impart that touch to others! It is there in him, he knows not how or from whence it comes. He could not put that touch on paper; he could not breathe it into the ear.

The Psalmist said: 'Ears have they, and hear not; hands have they, and handle not!' The Editor's advice is good, it is sound; it is sound—measured. That is what he advocates. That's all right as far as it goes, but we must not forget what David said about ears and hands, and it is my firm opinion that it is a physical impossibility for a fellow to ring with his ears if he can't handle a rope with his hands! It is nothing fresh to see good strikers and good ringers at any meeting; and it is nothing new to see fellows anywhere who think they are ringers. Some go so far as to hold high opinion of their own ability, and some are so wrapped up in themselves, and a bellrope, or two, that when all comes to all they make up a very, very small campanistic parcel.

Not so long ago a fellow I know was advocating striking before methods. Every word he said one endorsed, but, Sir, one must come back to these bad strikers, and it is only quite recently one had the horror (was going to say pleasure!) of seeing a man trying to ring, and that sally, which should have come gracefully down before his nose, went flying, twirling, curling like some hissing cobra, livening things up in that ringing room. The man on the right was a good ringer, a good striker, but he 'dodged' with him abominably, and the fellow on the left dodged from him, time after time, to prevent an accident. No, he was not a beginner, Sir, but he is in what may be termed the probationary stages. He has been there for a decade to my knowledge, and his name is elegantly inscribed on peal tablets as conductor. We all know musical conductors are permitted to give us the best gymnastic displays they can, but we don't want anything of that sort in the belfry, that is, if we are to get good striking. We don't want physical 'jerks,' we want 'touch' for striking. One does not profess to be much of a ringer, but one does love to ring with 'ringers,' and I like to converse with ringers. When the aforementioned performance took place, I stood chatting with a ringer (14 years old), a girl, who turned to me, Sir, and said: 'What's he trying to do, Mister—?' My answer was: 'The Charleston, my dear, the Charleston!' Subsequently, this child (not me, the girl!) rang this bell, yes, the selfsame one and struck it, not like a man, but like a ringer! Why? Simply because the human agency at the one end of the rope had got the touch, and it was the 'boss' of that metallic element at the other end. The bell went where she wanted it to go. Whether her ears were shell-like or elongated, I don't know. I never noticed that. But I did notice that she had the essential touch, and that she was endowed with a something, known commonly as 'gumption.' That's an asset that is not found in text-book, technology or dictionary. That gumption enabled her to measure mentally, all the time she was ringing, the size of the 'hole' the founder put (or left?), not only in the bell she was ringing, but in the whole series which constituted the peal. She 'considered' these 'holes' of varying degrees were of vital import. She knew that if a 6 cwt. treble was pulled off synchronal with a tenor 2 tons, synchronism would end in the pull-off, and that there would be an interval in the 'S.T.'-ringing.

In concluding, one cannot refrain from commenting on, and drawing the reader's attention to, the universality of the pervading presence of the consonants 'S.T.' They are abbreviations for harmony, these two letters, S.T.-art, S.T.-ringing, S.T.-art now to make ringing a pleasure and quite interesting for the public at large.—Yours truly,

IRENEÆUS.

NOTES BY THE WAY.
THE EARLY DAYS OF RINGING.

BY J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

A few weeks ago, describing the state of ringing in the middle of the nineteenth century, I said that that period was the most unsatisfactory in the whole history of the Exercise. A book has just been lent me which contains a most striking confirmation of that statement. It is called 'The Wiltshire Magazine,' and is one of those publications written and read by men learned in local history and archæology. The date is 1855, and it contains an article on 'Church Bells, with some notices of Wiltshire bells,' written by the Rev. C. W. Lukis. Mr. Lukis, it will be remembered, was the man who owned, and probably preserved from loss the copy of Stedman's 'Tintinnalogia,' which is now in the possession of the Rev. W. C. Pearson, and which was for long supposed to be the only copy of this book in existence. He was a great lover of bells, deeply versed in antiquarian bell lore, and shares with the Rev. A. Gatty and the Rev. H. T. Ellacombe the honour of being one of the three men who began the revival of interest in bells which was one of the causes of the present improvement in the condition of ringing and ringers. He was not, it appears, a ringer, but he took an interest in ringing and collected records of early peals.

The book is rare, and as necessarily few if any present ringers can have read this article, I should like to reproduce it in full, but that is forbidden by consideration of space. Part of it deals with the inscriptions on Wiltshire bells, which is of local rather than of general interest; part of it deals with the founding and hanging of bells, and is largely out of date; and part deals with ancient bell foundries. This is very interesting, but most, perhaps all, the information is available elsewhere.

The part which will now interest us most is the descriptions of the state of belfries and bells and of ringers and ringing at the time; and these parts I will reproduce in full. Here is what Mr. Lukis says about ringers and ringing: 'Peal ringing is peculiar to England; it is not known abroad. It was formerly considered not only a healthy, but a gentlemanly recreation. Sir Matthew Hale, and Anthony Wood, who says that "he often plucked at them (Merton bells) with his fellow colleagues for recreation," may be numbered among the amateurs of this art. Anthony Wood learned to ring on a peal of six bells which had then been newly put up at Cassington.

'In our day bell ringers have been ranked among the disreputable characters of almost every parish; but if we are to give credit to Paul Neutzner, a traveller in this country between 1550 and 1560, they had become notorious even at that period. "The people of England," he says, "are vastly fond of great noises that fill the ear, such as firing of cannon, beating of drums and the ringing of bells, so that it is common for a number of them that have got a glass in their heads to get up into the belfry and ring the bells for hours together for the sake of exercise."

'A very curious Latin book published about the year 1600 contains a lawyer's decision whether the number of bells might be increased in a church and whether their ringing could be stopped. It speaks of idle boys being very fond of running to the towers to do the work. When bell ringing was more appreciated than, unfortunately, it is now, there were societies of ringers in Cambridge, Oxford, London—such as the College Youths

(from their practising at St. Michael's on College Hill, London) founded in 1637—Birmingham, and other places. There are some societies of ringers now in various parts of England, and there is among others in London a society of College Youths, but it is said not to be descended from the ancient society above mentioned, which became extinct in 1788. There is, I believe, an excellent society of Norwich Scholars. I do not know where to find a society of ringers in Wiltshire. There are sets of men who ring for what they can get, which they consume in drink; but there is very little love for the science or its music. There is no "plucking at the bells" for recreation and exercise.

'Church ringers with us have degenerated into mercenary performers. In more than one parish where there are beautiful bells, I was told that the village youths took no interest whatever in bell ringing, and had no desire to enter upon change ringing. The whole number of changes that can be rung on any given number of bells is called a "peal," and various series of changes or permutations have been invented which are known by the names of their composers. One such series, called Grandsire Triples, was invented by Mr. Benjamin Anable, who died in 1755; and was subsequently improved by Mr. Holt. Another composer was Mr. Patrick, a maker of barometers in the beginning of the last century. But one of the earliest composers was Mr. Fabian Stedman, who, about the year 1657, invented a complex method of ringing, which has ever since been called "Stedman's Principle."

Mr. Lukis then explains the action of a bell clapper during ringing, and illustrates it with some diagrams. He then proceeds: 'I need hardly state that bell ringing requires extreme care to prevent accidents. Anyone who has handled the ropes knows this; and accidents have frequently happened. In June, 1778, a man of the name of Lilly was drawn up by the rope at Doncaster and killed by the fall. In 1812 a boy sitting near a ringer was caught by the rope and so seriously injured that he died; and was buried in the same grave with a brother who was drowned. On the grave stone is this quaint couplet:—

"These 2 youths, were by, misfortune scrounded. One died of his wounds, the other was drowned."

'Oxford possesses three fine peals of ten bells, viz., at Christchurch, New College, and Magdalen; and in the last century and up to 1827 had a corps of gallant youths who took intense delight in the science of ringing. I have the record of a series of musical exploits ranging over the space of one hundred and twenty years, with the name of every man who took part in each performance and the time in which it was accomplished. There are few arduous tasks in the present day to be compared with that of ten stout hearted men undertaking to ring six or seven, or even ten thousand changes without a mistake. On May 20th, 1734, six thousand eight hundred and seventy-six changes were rung at New College in four-and-a-quarter hours. On April 19th, 1742, at Magdalen, ten thousand changes were started for, but after ringing seven thousand in fine style, the bob caller by mistake brought the bells round in a little more than four hours. On Easter Monday, March 27th, 1815, at New College, ten thousand and eight Grandsire Caters were rung in six hours and forty-two minutes.

'Highworth in Wiltshire, produced some good ringers at that time, and in 1787, December 29th, they rang the whole peal of five thousand and forty changes, Grandsire Triples (Holt's method) in three hours and fourteen minutes, which was the very first time they ever attempted to ring this peal. It is recorded that forty thousand three hundred and twenty changes were performed at Leeds by thirteen men in twenty-seven hours, one man ringing eleven and another nine hours; and eight Birmingham youths rang fourteen thousand two hundred and twenty-four changes in eight hours and forty-five minutes. Records of remarkable performances are no doubt preserved in many Wiltshire belfries; but why should there be no memorials there of recent exploits?'

CHORLEY BELLS REHUNG.

The bells of Chorley, Lancs, which were hung by Warners in 1894, have been to the Loughborough Foundry, where they have been cleaned by the sandblast process, and tuned on the Taylor tone harmonic principle. Thus each bell, besides being in tune with the other bells of the ring, is in tune with itself.

The new frame in which the bells are rehung is a massive cast-iron structure built up from a foundation of heavy rolled girders. Built into the tower walls, the whole of the structure of frame and girders is scientifically designed and built on sound engineering lines. All the fittings are entirely new, and incorporate all the latest improvements in bell-hanging, including patent self-aligning ball bearings, for the main gudgeons, and also in the pulley boxes; specially designed cast-iron headstocks and patent balanced clappers ensuring the correct clapping of the heavy bells. The whole have also been hung lower down in the tower.

The reopening took place on Sunday week, when Mr. J. P. Fidler was present, representing the foundry. He congratulated the ringers at the conclusion of the peal which was rung, and afterwards took a rope in a course of Stedman Triples.

The ringers assured Mr. Fidler that the tone and go of the bells were all that could be desired, and the excellent work is a credit to Messrs. Taylor and Co.

CENTENARIAN'S BIRTHDAY CELEBRATED.

Touches of Grandsire were rung by the local ringers at All Saints' Parish Church, Lydd, in honour of Mrs. Thomas Finn, who celebrated her 100th birthday on December 23rd.

It will be remembered these bells were reopened and broadcast by the B.B.C. on March 6th last, and it is probably the first time in their history that they have been rung for anyone who has seen a century of years.

Mrs. Finn, who is living in London, has had good health till her last month. She is a native of Lydd, and is to be congratulated on this anniversary.

Mr. R. RICHARDSON'S 400 PEALS.

Mr. Rupert Richardson rang his 400th peal on Saturday, December 18th, when, with a band of seven ladies, he rang a peal of Bob Major. His list is as follows:

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Among the associations who kindly bring 'The Ringing World' to the notice of their members and urge them to support the paper, is the Kent County Association, which inserts a notice every year in the annual report.

Children of the employes at the Loughborough Bell Foundry had a happy meeting with Father Christmas the other day, and enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. Pryce Taylor.

The peal of Treble Bob at Foxcath was rung on December 11th, and not the 4th, as sent in. The peal of Bob Major at Twickenham on December 18th was 5,168 changes, and not 5,056, as reported.

To-day is the anniversary of two long peals, both rung by the Oxford Diocesan Guild. On December 31st, 1892, 12,086 Double Norwich Major was rung at Maidenhead; and, on the last day of 1888, 15,011 Stedman Caters was rung at Appleton.

The first time the bells of St. Peter's, Nottingham, were raised after their hanging was completed, a peal of Grandsire Triples was rung on them. That was on December 31st, 1771.

James Barham rang his one hundredth peal on January 1st, 1793. The aggregate age of the band was 582 years.

One hundred and fifty years ago to-morrow a peal of 8,046 Grandsire Caters was rung at St. Mary's, Nottingham, in 5 hrs. 48 mins. It was conducted by W. D. Crofts.

On New Year's Day, 1786, the first recorded peal (Grandsire Triples) on the bells of St. George's, Gravesend, was rung. The church had been burnt down in 1727. After rebuilding, a ring of eight was installed by Phelps and Applebee, of the Whitechapel Foundry, in 1736. There is no record of any peal rung on them in the first years of their existence.

Next Monday is the anniversary of a 14,480 Bob Major rung at St. Paul's, Oldham, on January 4th, 1748, in 8 hrs. 24 mins.

The first peal of Halifax Treble Bob was rung at Huddersfield on January 1st, 1866.

On January 6th, 1851, a peal of 7,524 Stedman Cinques was rung in 5 hrs. 24 mins., at St. Giles' Church, Cripplegate, by the Collegio Youtbs. It was composed and conducted by John Cox. There were some famous men of those days in the band.

The peal of Treble Bob Major rung at Badsey on Saturday, December 18th, was the 60th birthday anniversary of Mr. Harry Middleton, of Norton, near Evesham, well known among ringers of thirty years ago. 'Young Harry,' despite an operation four years ago, is still 'going strong.' The band wished him happy returns, and heartily drank his health after the peal, but, owing to a cold, failed to get from him his only and favourite song, 'The Leather Breeches.' Evidently a treat in store.

The report of the peal at Washfield, Devon, has been sent without the name of the conductor. A report of a peal of Grandsire Triples by the Lincoln Guild and conducted by F. S. Fred Holden, has been sent without stating where the peal was rung.

To all Ringers everywhere,
A happy and Prosperous New Year.

1927.

The following lines have been sent to the Editor for the perusal of all brother change ringers throughout the 'ringing world' with best wishes for a happy new year:

The week is over, and to-day
Once more we meet to praise and pray.
Once more a peace, a holy calm,
Falls on our troubled hearts like balm.
For in the week, sure, few could say
No shadow fell across their way,
And to some lives how doubly blest
The quiet of this day of rest.
In this day's calm my soul shall seek
A staff to lean on through the week;
And may each Sunday prove the best
Till the eternal day of rest.

The author is unknown. The lines were written on the fly leaf of a ragged and torn prayer book found on the rubbish heap near the stokehole of a church in Westmorland in 1925.

December 31st, 1926.

MISS SHADE'S THANKS.

On receipt of the £52 10s., the proceeds of the competition for the late Mr. I. G. Shade's handbells, Miss Shade, for whose benefit the fund was organised, sent a grateful letter of thanks to the Editor of 'The Ringing World.' She asks us to publish the following expression of her gratitude to those who subscribed to the fund:

Dear Sir,—Words fail me to express to all my brother's ringing friends my thankfulness to them for their very great kindness in so kindly helping to dispose of his handbells, which realised such an unexpected amount, for which I am most thankful. It is a great comfort to me in my trouble to know he was so highly esteemed and respected by so many gentlemen from far and near.

M. SHADE.

SUPERLATIVE SURPRISE MAXIMUS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—With reference to the article on the above in the issue of December 24th, I venture to state that most composers are agreed that there is no such method as Superlative Royal, and that the ten-bell method is superior to all have a different title.

It appears to me that the Rev. H. Law James has taken this hybrid Royal from Shipway and extended it to Maximus instead of extending Superlative Major to Maximus, notwithstanding his elaborate explanations.

Mr. James admits that the Superlative Maximus, as extended by the late Mr. W. L. Catchpole, Messrs. Baker, Craven, Lindoff, and, perhaps, scores of others, is interesting. I should like to learn the opinion of some of these regarding Mr. James' version.—Yours truly,

G. E. SYMONDS.

Ipswich.

VARIATIONS OF THURSTAN'S PEAL.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Mr. Cave seems to be a very funny man. He objects to 'A Flat's' remarks. Rightly so, the scamp. In the same letter he suggests the same of me. Now, it would be impossible for me to prove to his satisfaction that Mr. Washbrook ever saw my variation. Further, it is not necessary; but I do know that it was forwarded to him by one of his own pupils, the late Mr. C. H. Fowler.

If Mr. Cave's argument is that any variation with singles for omits and extras solely belong to Mr. Washbrook, then I realise the futility of further argument with him, but still beg to differ.—Yours truly,

F. H. DEXTER.

WASHBROOK'S PEAL.

Dear Sir,—Perhaps I did not put clearly what I intended on the above question. I do not care a scrap what Mr. Dexter claims. It does not alter the fact that it is the late Mr. J. W. Washbrook's peal. Mr. Dexter puts forward the theory that Mr. Thurstan's first knew of the peal. Great as Mr. Thurstan's was, I have my doubts if ever he built this one. It is hardly likely that he would have hidden it under a bushel, seeing he published a five part with ten singles and ignored this really fine peal with six singles. Ring it who will, starting with what singled blocks you like, and, if you must call it a variation, give the credit to whom it is due—the late Mr. J. W. Washbrook, and call it a variation of his.—Yours faithfully,

J. HUNT.

Taunton.

NO STEDMAN'S TRIPLES.

Sir,—I am sorry Mr. Cave objects to what I said, but I merely chose a word to designate an erratic statement, which other writers have proved, one by showing figures and the other by statement. Further, Mr. Cave should remember an old maxim, 'No names, no pack drill.' I now make another statement: 'There ain't no such thing as Stedman's Triples.' Wishing all a happy new year, especially the soothsayers and the Chaldeans of the Exercise.—Yours,

A FLAT.

ANOTHER PEAL OF SIX FOR CORNWALL.

ONE OF THE BEST IN THE COUNTY.

Cornwall has yet another peal of six bells to add to its already long list of this number. The dedication took place on Saturday, December 11th, at the beautiful 15th century church of St. Senara, Zennor, which lies midway between St. Ives and Penzance. Originally there were three pre-Reformation bells at this church, one of which was cracked. The Vicar, the Rev. W. H. R. Trewbella, himself a ringer, quickly realised the bad state the bells and tower were in when first coming to the parish about eighteen months ago, and at once took in hand the restoration. With generous gifts and the money subscribed by his 300 parishioners, he was able to invite tenders for the complete restoration and augmentation of the three bells. This has now been completed, and a beautiful ring of six, tenor 12 cwt., hangs in the tower. The bells are hung in a cast-iron frame, and are fitted with all the most modern fittings.

The bells were dedicated by the Bishop of Truro (Dr. Frere) at 11.30 a.m., the service being sung Eucharist. The following clergy were also present: Canon Jennings (Madron), Marsh (St. Ives), and Humphrey (Penzance), the Revs. Sutton (Penzance), Stoner (Sancreed), Whitley (Towednack), Jones (Newlyn), White (Gulval), Pocock (Penzance), Barlitt (Halselton), and the Vicar (the Rev. Trewbella).

Immediately after the dedication, rounds were rung by six members of the Truro Cathedral company under the able captaincy of Mr. W. H. Southard. The Bishop then gave a very interesting address on the uses of bells.

After the service, a touch of Grandise Doubles was rung by the Cathedral band. The bells, up to a late hour, were rung by representative bands from Towednack, Gulval, Ludgvan, Lelant, Madron, Crowan, Truro and the local band. The latter have been practising for some months at the near-by village of Towednack, to be ready for this day. Remembering they are entirely new to ringing, the way in which they ring the bells made one think they had been ringers for years. The arrangements for the enjoyment and comfort of the ringers, in fact, everyone, were admirable. A bounteous cold lunch and tea were provided free, and, after tea, the Vicar thanked the ringers and all those who attended for making the day one of the happiest in his life. He also thanked the founders, Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, Croydon, for giving the parish such a melodious peal of bells, and for the excellence of the whole work. He was very glad that with the dedication of the bells he had a band to ring them.

Dr. Symons, of Penzance (Diocesan Ringing Master) said that there were, he believed, eighty-five peals of six bells in Cornwall, and congratulated the people of Zennor on possessing what, in his opinion, was one of the best of these eighty-five rings. He said that both the 'tone' and 'go' of the bells were excellent, and he was sure they would like to thank Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, and, no doubt, Mr. Roper of that firm, who was with them, would convey those thanks. He, Dr. Symons, said that before the gathering dispersed he was sure they would like him to voice their appreciation of all the kindness the Vicar had shown them, not only for providing a peal of bells which were a delight to ring, but for the splendid hospitality shown them in entertaining such a large number both to lunch and tea. He had the greatest pleasure in proposing a very hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar and his helpers. This was seconded by the Vicar of Crowan, and carried with musical honours.

To conclude what had been a wonderful day, a dance was held in the schoolroom, which was well attended.

TEN BELLS AT KING'S NORTON.

TWO TREBLES DEDICATED.

For some time King's Norton ringers have been looking forward to a ring of ten in their tower, and now their highest hopes have been realised.

Mr. F. B. Yates, their popular ringing Master, a gentleman well known and highly respected in the locality and the city of Birmingham, a former churchwarden and a generous benefactor of the church, has crowned his generosity by the magnificent gift of two treble bells.

On Sunday, December 19th, at the morning service, the new bells were dedicated by the Very Rev. Dr. Moore-Ede, Dean of Worcester, who at the same time unveiled two tablets, the one commemorating the recasting of the peal of eight in 1924, and the other the gift of the two new trebles.

Immediately after the dedication, the King's Norton band ascended the tower and pulled the bells in rounds for a short time.

The Dean delivered an interesting sermon on the use of church bells, and directed the thoughts of the congregation to the worship of God, who is Love, and whom they worship in church at the call of the bells.

After the service, there were touches of Stedman Caters as the people left the church, the local ringers being assisted by Messrs. A. Walker and Paddon Smith (St. Martin's, Birmingham), A. E. Parsons (Old Hill, Worcestershire), and Price Taylor (Loughborough).

Many distinguished people, friends of the donor, were present at the service, including Messrs. P. Hannon, M.P., W. Evans, J.P., A. W. Heath, J.P., W. Malins, B.A., and E. Yates.

The bells were cast by Messrs. Taylor, of Loughborough, who have given the utmost satisfaction and produced a peal which is in keeping with the glorious, ancient church—the pride of the King's Norton residents.

ASSOCIATION REPORTS.

THE SECRETARIES AND THEIR ADDRESSES.

Mr. R. G. Black, the hon. secretary of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, writing with reference to Mr. W. H. Shuker's suggestion and our leading article in 'The Ringing World' of October 29th, said:

'The list of non-resident members is, as you say, difficult to keep corrected and up to date. Your suggestion of sending reports to all the other secretaries would be a good idea, if sufficient reports were available.

'Our own Guild has not enough spare copies this year to do this, but would it not meet the case if you could publish a list of the names and addresses of the general secretaries of the different Guilds and associations, so that any one of them could write to any or all of the others for information respecting any ringer or ringers who are in the 1925 report as residing in their respective area, with a view to correcting the list or deleting the names if they have passed away?'

We readily comply with this suggestion and append the names and addresses of the secretaries of the principal associations. If there are any errors we shall be glad to be informed, so that the necessary corrections can be made:

LEEK OLD PARISH CHURCH.

DEDICATION OF NEW TREBLE BELLS.

In memory of their father and mother, the late Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Watson, of Southfields, Leek, two new treble bells have been given to the Old Parish Church of St. Edward the Confessor, Leek, by Mr. Edward Watson, Mrs. E. Somerville, and Miss M. Watson, and these bells were dedicated by the Rev. R. M. Thompson (Vicar of Leek) at evensong on Thursday, December 23rd.

A beautiful tablet of ebonised wood, with white letters, is placed in the chancel, bearing the inscription: This is to Record a Gift of Two Treble Bells (which augment the present peal of Eight Bells) hung in this Church and Dedicated December, 1926, to the Glory of God and in ever loving memory of William Saddington Watson and Margaret Eliza Watson, by their Son, and Daughters.'

The work of installing the new bells was entrusted to Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of the Croydon Bell Foundry, who have carried out the work to the entire satisfaction of all concerned, the splice being perfect. The bells contain an elongation at the crown, which enables them to be hung lower, thereby giving them a greater sweep and the clapper more power. This effectively prevents them being drowned by the heavier metal of the other bells. They also contain the new buffer device recently developed by the firm, which is also a splendid improvement on the old style of allowing the clapper to rest on the bell after the blow has been struck, the bell thereby losing no resonance whatever.

The original peal of bells was a peal of six, cast by A. Rudhall, of Gloucester, in the year 1721. These were augmented to eight in the year 1863, by the addition of two new trebles which were cast by John Warner, London. The weights and the inscriptions of the entire peal are as follows:

Treble (4½ cwt.).—'To the Glory of God and in memory of Margaret Eliza Watson.'

Second (5½ cwt.).—'To the glory of God and in memory of William Saddington Watson.'

Third (6½ cwt.).—'The Lord to praise, my voice I will raise.'

Fourth (8½ cwt.).—'Our voices shall with joyful sound make hill and valley echo round.'

Fifth (7 cwt.).—'God be our speed.'

Sixth (8 cwt.).—'Reverence my sanctuary.'

Seventh (9 cwt.).—'Glory be to God on high.'

Eighth (10 cwt.).—'Prosperity to all our benefactors.'

Tenor in E (18½ cwt.).—'On earth, peace, goodwill towards men.'

By this augmentation has been realised a dream over thirty years old, born in the imagination of the present leader at Leek heltry and his young band of ringers, of those far-off days, who to-day still stick loyally together, giving the whole of their energy to their art and encouragement to the younger brood to follow them when their labours are no more. Through the columns of 'The Ringing World' the ringers would like to thank Mr. Edward Watson and his two sisters for their magnificent gift. What nobler gift, indeed, could have been made: what greater tribute to the Almighty in gratitude for the two lives so well and nobly spent, than to follow the command of the Psalmist David, who, in the fifth verse of the one hundred and fiftieth Psalm, exhorts us to 'praise Him on the loud cymbals, praise Him on the high-sounding cymbals.' The dulcet notes of the bells will float over the tomb of those to whose memory they have been given long after those who live to-day have ceased to be. Thus will their names be perpetuated through the ages.

The thanks of the ringers were also due to the Vicar and Churchwarden, whose sympathetic attitude and untiring energy have done so much to bring the happy event to so successful an issue; may their confidence in the ringers be amply rewarded. Truly they are a ringer's Vicar and churchwarden.

The bells will be thrown open to the Stoke and District Association on Saturday, January 1st. Should any ringer be in the district on this date, he will be made very welcome wherever he may hail from. Through the munificence of the donors, tea will be provided free in the Britannia Street schoolroom.

Mr. Cyril Johnston hopes to be present to meet the donors at this meeting. Thanks are also due to the employes of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston for their unstinted efforts and long hours to have everything ready for the dedication in the limited space of time allowed them.

E. A. R.

PENTRE, RHONDDA.—On Sunday, November 7th, for Remembrance Day service, at St. Peter's Church, a quarter-peal (1,230 changes) of Double Norwich Court Bob Major in 48 mins.: H. Crabb 1, G. Wines 2, H. Davies 3, J. Cross 4, T. Hamlin 5, H. Page 6, T. Page (conductor) 7, W. Page 8.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

Upwards of thirty members and friends attended a meeting of the Northern District of the London County Association, at All Saints', West Ham, on Saturday, December 18th. Ringing commenced at 3.30 p.m. with a touch of Grandsire Triples, which was followed by Cambridge Surprise Major, Grandsire, Stedman Caters, Treble Bob Royal, etc. A service was conducted by the Rev. J. C. Nunns, and greatly appreciated. Tea was served in the Parish Hall, after which came the business meeting, the district Master, Mr. L. Gray, being in the chair.

One new member was elected, Mr. John Thorpe, a member of the Loughton band.—A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Rev. J. C. Nunns for his interesting address, to the organist, and the ladies who so kindly waited at table, also to Mr. Hayden for having the bells ready.

The company then adjourned to the tower for further ringing until 8.15 p.m., when an excellent touch of Stedman Caters brought a very enjoyable meeting to a close.

It was very gratifying to those who arranged the meeting to find such a large number present, and it is hoped all members will not fail to support the annual district meeting, notice of which will appear in 'The Ringing World' in due course.

ILLNESS OF MR. C. EDWARDS, EALING.

The many friends of Mr. Chas. Edwards, Oakhurst Cottage, Ealing, will be very sorry to know that he is at present an in-patient of the King Edward Memorial Hospital, Ealing, having undergone a very serious operation. Although his condition is serious, his progress is satisfactory, and every hope is entertained for his complete restoration to health.

He would gladly welcome a line from any of his ringing friends. Those of us who have been placed in a similar condition know the comfort a letter or card gives. It is quite impossible for him to write to anyone at present. The address is: King Edward Memorial Hospital, Mattock Lane, Ealing, W.S.

CHRISTMAS BELLS.

TIVERTON.—On Christmas Day, for seven o'clock celebration, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: R. Bray 1, Mrs. C. Knowles 2, Miss Hanson 3, Mr. C. Knowles 4, F. Viney 5, W. Cockram 6, F. Newcombe (conductor) 7, J. Bray 8. Mr. R. Bray comes from Newton St. Cyres.

BRITH, KENT.—On Christmas Day, for morning service at the Church of St. John-the-Baptist, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes) in 44 mins.: F. J. Cullum, sen., 1, E. J. Hott 2, S. A. Stagg 3, G. Cullum 4, L. J. Cullum 5, J. S. Morton 6, F. J. Cullum, jun. (conductor), 7, W. Darke 8.

The ancient custom of ringing for 7 a. m. celebration of Holy Communion on the Feast of the Nativity was observed at Braintree. Touches of Treble Bob Major were rung and again for matins. For evensong, on St. Stephen's Day, 720 Double Court Bob; G. Welbourne 1, Geo. Wiffen 2, C. H. Howard (conductor) 3, H. Reason (first in the method) 4, L. W. Wiffen 5, W. H. Hammond 6.

DEVIZES.—At St. Mary's Church, on December 27th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes): R. Twift 1, W. A. Twift (conductor) 2, G. Twift 3, L. Twift 4, J. Ottaway 5, H. Tutton 6. Rung to celebrate the home-coming of the Twift brothers.

CARDIFF.—At St. John's Church, for 11 a.m. service on Christmas Day, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) in 42 mins.: J. Phillips (first quarter) 1, W. Richards 2, W. Heath 3, F. Smith 4, P. Heath (first quarter inside) 5, E. Coombes (conductor), E. Stitch 7, S. R. Barker 8.

GRANDSIRE DOUBLES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Perhaps the following arrangement will prove interesting to Grandsire Double ringers. It consists of three equal parts, and contains the possible 24 changes of Bob Singles at the lead-end, producing 240 changes, with only three plain leads.—Yours, etc.,

LESLIE W. C. MORRIS.

Upton, Snodsbury.

Beer 5, Thomas G. Myers 6. Longest length by ringers of 3rd and tenor.

FORTHCOMING MASONIC CEREMONY.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—A few weeks ago you published an account of the augmentation of Penwortham bells. In the speech of the Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Master, Lancashire (Western Division), reference is made to the ceremony of unveiling a tablet recording the Masonic peal of Kent Treble Bob Major rung at Garston on March 29th, 1924.

I can now inform you that the date fixed for this ceremony is 3 p.m., January 30th, 1927, and that the Bishop of Liverpool and the Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Master will (D.V.) take part.—Yours faithfully,

CLAUDE I. DAVIES.

HANDBELLS AT A CAROL SERVICE.

A Christmas carol service took place at St. Paul's Church, Hounslow, on Sunday evening, December 19th, and at the invitation of the Vicar the ringers were asked to assist on their handbells. The carols selected for accompaniment were 'Ring, happy bells,' by Simper, and 'Ring out, ye bells,' by Wallis. The splendid toned bells were heard to the best advantage by a large congregation.

A quarter-peal was attempted on tower bells for this service, but owing to a miss-call it was not a success. However, in the time available, a touch of 279 Grandsire Triples was rung.

ILLNESS OF MR. BERNARD MITCHELL.

Mr. Bernard W. Mitchell, of 58, New Street, Erdington, has been under a very serious operation in the General Hospital, Steelhouse Lane, Birmingham.
