A NEW GUILD FOR THE NEW YEAR.

Never, we imagine, has a Guild of Church Bell Ringers been formed under happier auspices than those which have accompanied the inception of the new Guildford Diocesan Guild, which was inaugurated on Saturday and came into being with the first minute of the new year. Twelve months of hard work by a committee has culminated in a new organisation which has been launched not only with enthusiasm among its members, but with expressions of goodwill from all its neighbours. The Guildford Diocesan Guild is the baby of the Exercise; and it is worth putting on record that its birth was witnessed by, among others, official representatives of the three oldest ringing societies in the Kingdom—the College Youths, the Royal Cumberland Youths and the St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham (lineal descendant of the aforetime St. Martin's Youths).

It is frequently a complaint that many clergy take little interest in the doings of their ringers or their ringers' organisation. Those who have been responsible for the new Guild have had no exceptional experience in this respect. They have found the ground as hard to till as any of their predecessors, but with the enthusiasm of youth, shall we say, they made sufficient impression on a number of the clergy to induce them to join their ringers at the initial gathering. One of the set policies of the new Guild is to be a determined attempt to break down the invisible barrier which seems to exist in so many churches between the activities of the ringers and the interest of the authorities. How to do it has been a difficult problem for the organisers, but they hope they have done something towards finding a solution by 'attacking' through the Parochial Church Councils.

They have gone directly to the Incumbents and the Councils, and asked them to 'affiliate' their towers (as distinct from the ordinary membership of the ringers), and in doing this they have submitted to the notice of the Church authorities the objects and rules of the Guild, and set out its policy. It was really a bold action, and, while it cannot be said that the scheme has carried through at every point—it is not possible in a matter of this kind to create interest everywhere all at once—there has been sufficient response to show that with tactful and persistent effort there is every possibility of getting for the ringers a greater interest in their work and for the Guild an appreciation of and sympathy with its objects.

The important point in this matter is that it has the backing of the Bishop of the Diocese (whose absence from the inaugural meeting, through illness, was a great disappointment to all concerned). The proposal went out not only with his consent, but with his expressed hope that it would be accepted. The affiliation fee has been fixed at five shillings, but it is not the amount that matters. It is the principle of recognition which is important, and the stage to which it has already gone in the Guildford Diocese makes it fairly apparent that it will be accepted in the great majority of the towers in that area. Whatever may have been done to stir up the interest of the clergy in the past, it is safe to say that among the churches in what is now the Guildford Diocese nothing has previously been done which has directed the attention of the authorities as a whole to the position which is filled by their ringers as much as this scheme has. This, however, is only one furrow in the field in which the members have set their hands to the plough. In many other directions there is a great deal of hard work before them if they are to attain to the highest ideals; and it will need something more than the first flush of enthusiasm to carry them through. A good start has been made; but enterprise and steady, efficient labour, not only on the part of the officials, but of the rank and file will be necessary to make the Guild all that the promoters hope it will become in the future.

* First peal on handbells. The conductor has now rung a peal on every date in the year, including February 29th, and December 25th is the only one on which he has not rung a tower-bell peal. All the peals have been rung on either 8, 10, or 12 bells, and, with two exceptions, without any special arrangements being made. He is the first person to do so.

(Other peal reports are unavoidably held over until next week.)

THE PEAL AT WELLS CATHEDRAL.

It is generally recognised that it requires two men to ring the tenor at Wells Cathedral to a peal. On the present occasion, with a wholly Bristol band, Mr. Farley, formerly of Wells, being now a resident, a lad from St. Thomas' was asked to assist Mr. Braven with the tenor, the Rev. R. H. Whitford ringing the second. After about 10 minutes' ringing, Mr. Whitford set his bell, and said he was very sorry, but he could not go on as he had little or no power in his right arm. Without much waste of time, the lad from St. Thomas', whose only previous experience of Stedman Caters was a plain course, was put on the treble, and Mr. Whitford kindly took the strap rope of the tenor just to see how far we could go. The numbed feeling eventually went from his arm, and a good peal was rung. The lad rang like a veteran, and had not to be told once about his striking, and only very occasionally did he find difficulty in picking out the bell he had to dodge with.

The band, with the exception of Mr. Farley, travelled by train, owing to the snowfall of the previous day (a charabanc having been cancelled), and it was fortunate they did so. Mr. Farley, with his wife, travelled by car, and had a narrow escape from a very serious accident on the hill leading down into Wells. The car skidded, and Mr. Farley lost control, finally crashing into a stationary motor omnibus and the ditch in such a way that little damage was done apart from lamps and mudguards. But it might have been much, very much worse.

LINCOLNSHIRE SURPRISE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I am pleased to see that the Rev. H. L. James has at last realised, in his production of 'Lincolnshire' Surprise, that coursing order in a method is only an arbitrary definition.

No doubt your readers will have noticed that in 'Lincolnshire' Major, Royal and Maximus there is a five-pull dodge in 1-2, but it is in the Royal only that coursing bells are engaged in the five-pull dodge. In the home lead in Major, 4-7 are engaged, and it follows that in the wrong lead 2-3 will be engaged in a five-pull dodge, but, nevertheless, the extension to Royal and Maximus is quite sound, although not the nearest possible to the Major. On the other hand, there is a nearer Major relation to the Royal, given, in which coursing order bells will be engaged in a seven-pull dodge.

The Rev. H. L. James has yet a lot to learn.—Yours faithfully,
'OWEN KAY.'

P.S.—There are four false course ends to 'Lincolnshire' Major: 24365, 26543, 42563, 36245.

GRIMTHORP'S BELLS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Would you kindly grant me a space in your valuable paper to thank Mr. E. Alex Young for his informative article, and to air my views on Grimthorp's bells? Mr. Young seems to praise a couple of his best peals, but, unfortunately, our Penarth bells which got into his clutches—a peal of six with a 14 cwt. tenor—must have been some of his spoils, and I for one have got to suffer. I am struggling hard to get them where I think all his other bells have gone—back into Taylor's melting pot. I know Mr. Taylor's hands were tied, and he had to work to his instructions. Now I will give credit where it is due. The shape of Grimthorp's bells is perfect, but for tone, for his idea of hanging, and for his ear for music, I think there is much to be desired. The tone puts me in mind of a hurriedly discharged truck of corrugated-iron sheets, and the way Penarth bells are hung is in a very heavy oak frame, with small headstocks stuck on top of high cannons, and low wheels, which cause the ringers to have to keep pulling hard every time to keep the bells up from the treble to the tenor. I have rung Hereford Cathedral tenor (47 cwt.) with much less pulling than ours, and from what I can imagine they never did nor ever can 'draw' under such eccentric ideas. I am speaking not as a professional change ringer, but I have had many years with the late William Greenleaf, that grand old Hereford bell hanger and bell tuner.

As many of your readers know, his ear for a bell note was keen and true. I remember once I rehung a peal of six in a country place, and I had one bell a little clapper short. When they were being tried before the opening, Mr. Greenleaf took me down to a stone quarry, not far away, to listen, and he spotted the fault in a minute, and told me of it. I said, 'Oh, it's near enough for a place like this,' and I shall never forget how he 'went' for me. He said, 'It's not near enough for me, and you will stay and alter it,' and I had to. That taught me a lesson, and I have since noticed there are bells left to go with this defect. There are some around here, lately rehung. I think that is one point that the bell hanger ought to notice.

In conclusion, may I ask, is Mr. Young in favour of thick, heavy, hard-tone bells, like Grimthorp's? That is what Penarth's are. If we can get them sent back to Taylor's Foundry, they will come back a nice ring of eight, with a 12 cwt. tenor. I think it is a great pity that all Grimthorp's bells did not get sent to America, which is near enough for them. There is not one in tune with the other.—Yours faithfully,

A. WEAVER.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Our cordial thanks to the many ringers who have sent us their good wishes for the new year.

There is to be a gathering of the clans at Bolton on December 28th, when, in addition to a proposed Ladies' Guild meeting at Holy Trinity Church, there is to be a meeting at the Parish Church to dedicate a peal board commemorating the 11,232 of Superlative Surprise rung at that church on January 29th, 1927. The board will be on view inside the church for several weeks.

The first peal of Surprise Royal in Wales was rung at Wrexham on Boxing Day, and the band would like to associate with the performance the names of Mr. A. E. Pegler and Mr. R. Sperring, who were unfortunately too ill to stand in.

Under doctor's orders, Mr. Harry Chapman, of Manchester, has got to abstain from peal ringing for a few months. It is hoped the rest will restore him to his former health and allow him to pursue his wonted activities.

At a recent meeting of parishioners at Great Bentley, Essex, Mr. W. J. Nevard was presented with an inscribed gold watch on his retirement from the office of churchwarden after many years' service. Mr. and Mrs. Nevard are looking forward to celebrating their golden wedding next November.

Members of the Ladies' Guild are combining in a meeting at St. Clement Danes, London, on January 21st, when it is hoped there will be a big attendance.

What was claimed as the first true peal of Norwich Court Bob rung in London was performed at Bethnal Green one hundred and forty years ago to-morrow.

The first peal of Kent Treble Bob Maximus in London was rung at Southwark on January 7th, 1846.

The first peal of Stedman Cinques 'in hand' was rung by the old St. James' Society on January 10th, 1854.

With reference to the peal of 8,864 Oxford Treble Bob Major rung at Oxenhope on December 17th, an error was contained in the footnote. This peal was not the first of Oxford on the bells, a peal in that method having been rung on October 8th.

Mr. Harry Barton, of Ventnor, Isle of Wight, a member of the Central Council, sustained a heavy bereavement in the week before Christmas, when he lost his mother, Mrs. Barton, of Eastry, Kent, who passed away within eight days of her 90th birthday.

To the many interesting and notable achievements of Mr. William Pye has now to be added another. By ringing a handbell peal on Christmas Day, he has now scored a peal on every date in the year, February 29th included. Christmas Day is the only one on which he has not rung a tower-bell peal.

By ringing seven 720's of Minor in a peal at Tempsford, Beds, on Saturday, Mr. Frank Warrington, one of the district secretaries of the Ely Diocesan Association, completed 398 six-bell extents in the last three years. This is really a remarkable achievement. The 720's have been rung in 64 towers in eight counties.

We are glad to be able to record a jubilee peal, commemorating the fiftieth anniversary of the first peal of the Lancashire Association. Only one member of that first peal band is now alive, and that is Mr. Henry W. Jackson, who is still an active ringer at Holy Trinity Church, Bolton, and captain of the band there.

An interesting 'family' peal appears in our columns this week. Mr. W. L. Duffield and his five sons having scored a peal of Bob Minor at Long Stratton, Norfolk.

What would some of the old Masters have said had they been told that a peal of Major, of 9,600 changes, would be rung without bobs? But they did it at Loughborough on Christmas Eve, as will be seen from our peal columns.

Two youths of thirteen years of age shared in the conducting of a peal of Doubles at Thurstaston on Christmas Eve. All the band were under 21.

THE WM. D. CROFTS' MEMORIAL DINNER.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—As announced elsewhere in this issue, this dinner will take place on the last Saturday in this month, when we hope to be honoured with the presence of the Lord Bishop of Southwell, the Rt. Rev. Bernard Heywood. The Bishop being cousin to the late Sir A. P. Heywood, Bart., will cause the dinner automatically to resolve itself into a memorial to his equally distinguished cousin, and I appeal to everyone who knew and, therefore, respected Sir Arthur to attend, if at all possible. A real live memorial to Sir Arthur is long overdue, and this dinner, having already achieved its object of placing on permanent record W. D. Crofts, the giant of the 18th century, can easily embrace the memory of the most brilliant star of our time, and it is our intention to include a toast to his memory.—Yours sincerely,

A. COPPOCK,
Master.

THE EXTENSION OF METHODS.

BY J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

Take a piece of paper and on it draw a circle. Then place your pencil on it and move it along the line you have drawn. You will find the possible movement is confined to the following:—

(a) You can move from left to right (clockwise), and, if you continue the movement, you will complete the circle and return to the point from which you started.

(b) You can move from right to left (anti-clockwise), and, if you continue the movement, you will complete the circle and return to the point from which you started.

(c) Having moved some distance in either direction, you can retrace your steps, and again, if you continue the movement, you will return to the point from which you started. You have then moved forward and backward along an arc of the circle.

(d) Having moved some distance in either direction, you can retrace your steps; but before reaching the starting point you can again reverse your path, and once more, by continuing the movement, you will reach the starting point.

Whatever you do, in whatever way you vary your movement, it must consist of one or more complete circles, and (except in (a) and (b)) a number of arcs backwards and forwards.

This exactly illustrates the movement of a bell in ringing. But in ringing there cannot be the movement of a single bell. If one bell moves, it implies the movement of other bells. In the first change, a movement of all four bells is begun, and this movement, if continued, will return them all to their original positions by a cyclical movement. You will see I have had to use figures as an illustration; but I want my reader to study, not so much the rows as the change between them—i.e., the movement which produces row from row. Better still, to take his mind into the tower and in imagination ring these changes.

Here again, in the first change, a cyclical movement is begun, which, when continued, will bring the bells back to the positions from which they started.

You will notice that essentially there is no difference between these two, except that one is the reverse of the other; just as the clockwise and anti-clockwise movements round a circle are identical, except that one is the opposite of the other. Notice, too, that the places before and behind are integral parts of the movement; they are included and implied in the cycle, and we need not pay any more attention to them than to other steps in the cycle.

Equally, all internal places are parts of some cycle or other, and essentially of no more constructional value than any other step in the movement.

In the first of these two examples the bells move forward one step. They follow it by one step backwards, which takes them back to their original positions. In the second example, the bells move forward three steps, followed by three backward steps, and again they are returned to their original positions.

Here we have a combination of the full cycle (the hunting course and the arc (the dodge)).

These examples illustrate every round block that can be produced when all the bells are at the same time hunting the same way (i.e., all forward or all backward, not, of course, all up or all down, which, obviously, is impossible). It is of these blocks that all ringing is composed.

When the bells are all hunting the same way, they keep a certain order in which they follow each other. This is 'coursing order.' In the science of ringing the term coursing order is strictly limited to these blocks. There is no common coursing order between two changes, one of which belongs to one of these blocks and the other to another. Nor is there any coursing order in any change where some of the bells are hunting forward and some backward—that is, in any change where an internal place is made. In practical ringing the use of the term depends on this meaning, but, as is only natural and right, is used rather more loosely.

When all the bells move in the same direction (either forward or backward) they keep within the hunting course, and no more rows can be had than double the number of the bells—repetition you can get, but nothing outside the hunting course. To get further rows we must make some of the bells move backward, while others are moving forward (or forward while the others are moving backward). This means, since, as we have seen, all movement is cyclical, that we introduce secondary cycles in a part of the bells. The way in which these secondary cycles can be introduced is the whole science of method construction, and a large part of the science of peal composition. It is outside my present scheme to go thoroughly into the question; it would take too long to cover the ground fully. I must content myself with one or two simple illustrations. I can refer my readers to many articles I have published in years past, both in 'The Ringing World' and the 'Bell News,' and I would advise them to study the articles now appearing by 'Minormania,' where, by a coin-

LLANDAFF & MONMOUTH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

SUBSCRIPTION ARREARS.

The annual meeting of this association took place at All Saints', Newport, on Boxing Day. Despite the very inclement weather, a good number put in an appearance from both Glamorganshire and Monmouthshire. The bells of All Saints' and St. Woolos' Churches were made good use of prior to the service, which was held in All Saints' Church at 4 o'clock, the Vicar, the Rev. Sidney Morgan, officiating.

Immediately following the service a move was made to the Mission House, where tea, which had been generously provided, was waiting. After tea various items were dealt with, including restorations, instruction, etc.

A long discussion on members' subscriptions was the item which took most time. It was pointed out that members who were in arrears and not members strictly according to rule were taking part in peals. It was agreed to ask all leaders in the different towers to act as a collector, and thus endeavour to prevent anyone running into arrears.

The next annual meeting will be held at St. John's, Cardiff, the next quarterly meetings at Llanishen and St. Mellons.

Mr. Jas. C. Perry, of Bridgend, was elected Master for 1928, and the hon. secretary and auditors were re-elected.

Quite a number of new members were elected, and minor matters dealt with.

Ringing was indulged in at both churches after the meeting until late, bringing to a close a pleasant and successful meeting.

AN 'ALL ENGLAND' MEETING.

It is a sign of the progress of the times when we are able to announce an 'All England Ringers' Meeting.' The preliminary notice of this appears in our columns this week. It is to take place at the Croydon Foundry of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston on March 3rd, when the chief attraction will be a peal of ten bells with a tenor of 19 tons! The tenor is one of the additional bells which the firm have cast for the great carillon previously sent by them to America for Mr. J. D. Rockefeller. The recollection of the gigantic 'rally' which took place at Croydon Foundry in the early part of last year will make the coming event one of lively interest.

FIFTY YEARS A RINGER AT ONE CHURCH.

PRESENTATION AT HESTON.

An interesting ceremony took place, after the peal at Heston, Middlesex, on Boxing Day (recorded elsewhere). Mr. H. C. Chandler, on behalf of his fellow-ringers, congratulated Mr. Edwards on his wonderful record of 50 years' service at Heston belfry. Mr. Edwards was a most regular attendant at Sunday service ringing, no matter how inclement the weather, despite the fact that he had half-an-hour's walk to and fro—his only means of getting to the tower direct. Mr. Chandler then presented him with a silver-mounted black malacca walking stick, suitably engraved, and expressed the hope that Mr. Edwards would be spared to assist them for a great number of years.

Mr. Edwards briefly acknowledged the big surprise he had received, and said he should with pleasure continue ringing as long as health permitted.

cidence and from a different point of view, another writer is explaining the same truth. This must be kept clearly in mind—all movement, however, complex it may seem, can be resolved into a number of simple cycles similar to those which I have just described.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Your correspondent 'A Plain Ringer' must not read into my words what is not there. I was not trying to defend Shipway's Royal nor to discredit the Ipswich Maximus. I am quite impartial on that question. I think Shipway's is a very clever adaptation of Superlative, but not, strictly speaking, an extension, and that for reasons I published many years ago. I was using as an illustration a piece of bad argument. Shipway may have been right or he may have been wrong in making third's and fifth's in the second change. My point was that that particular argument, attractive as it seems at first sight, does not prove him wrong.

And your correspondent rather objects to my saying that those places are made in the second change. He thinks they are made in the third change. But if he will go into the tower and ring the method he will find I was quite right. 21436587 is the second row and 12463578 is the third row. The second change, which includes the places, is the movement, the 'work,' which connects the two. You are not likely to understand the problem of extension of methods unless you realise the difference between a row and a change.—Yours truly,

J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

SUCCESSFUL INAUGURATION.

On the last and certainly one of the worst Saturdays in 1927 the new Guildford Diocesan Guild was successfully inaugurated. Although the country was under snow, and cross-country travel was not only difficult but, in many cases, well-nigh impossible, ringers came from all quarters of the diocese to take part in the proceedings which were to establish a new Guild of Ringers in the new diocese. Considerably over a hundred ringers from the diocesan towers were present, many of them accompanied by their clergy and churchwardens, and there were visitors from a number of the neighbouring associations, who came officially to assist in the send-off and to extend their good wishes. The great disappointment of the day—far greater than the weather which kept many away—was the enforced absence of the Bishop of Guildford, who has followed the formation of the Guild with the keenest interest and sympathy. Dr. Greig had been ill during the week, and was unable to leave his house. It was a sad blow to the organisers, but the best was made of the circumstances, and, with the presence of the Archdeacon, who filled the Bishop's place, the Guild made a most auspicious start. At the outset it was announced that 333 members had been enrolled, but this number was swelled considerably during the day, so that at the moment it is not far short of 380.

The inaugural meeting was held in the Holy Trinity Parish Hall, Mr. Walter Harrison being in the chair. Supporting him on the platform were the Archdeacon of Surrey (the Ven. L. E. Blackburne), Canon G. F. Coleridge, president of the Central Council, Mr. E. A. Young, hon. secretary and treasurer of the Central Council, Canon E. C. Kirwan, R.D., Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, Admiral T. P. Walker, D.S.O., Woking, Major J. H. B. Hesse, Haslemere, Mr. J. D. Drewitt, J.P., Master of the Surrey Association, Mr. C. F. Johnston, Croydon, and Mr. James George, representing St. Martin's Guild for the diocese of Birmingham. Others attending the proceedings included Mr. W. T. Cockerill, secretary, and Mr. A. A. Hughes, treasurer, of the Ancient Society of College Youths; Mr. John D. Matthews, Master, and Mr. John Sparrow, hon. secretary, of the Royal Cumberland Youths; Mr. C. T. Coles, hon. secretary of the Middlesex County Association; Mr. G. Pullinger, hon. secretary of the Winchester Diocesan Guild; the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, Master, and Mr. R. T. Hibbert, secretary, Oxford Diocesan Guild; Mr. Stafford Green, Kent County Association; and a large number of ringers and clergy from the diocese of Guildford. Apologies for absence were received from the Mayor of Guildford (Cdr. W. R. Philpot); Mr. J. S. Hawkins, Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths; Mr. J. T. Rickman, Master of the Sussex Association; Mr. G. W. Cartmel, secretary of the Hertford County Association; Mr. C. H. Howard, Master of the Essex Association; Mr. George Williams, Master of the Winchester Diocesan Guild; Mr. W. H. Hollier (joint hon. secretary of the Middlesex County Association); Canon Irwin, the Rev. Sir Paget Bowman, the Rev. E. R. Brittain (Vicar of Hersham), the Rev. A. E. Hollins (Vicar of Dunsfold), the Rev. H. C. Martin (Rector of Ockley), the Rev. E. C. Usherwood (Ewell), the Rev. G. L. Cole (Rector of Ash), Mr. F. E. D. Adland (Banstead), Mr. J. P. Fidler (Loughborough), and Mr. T. W. Fairley (Camberley). A message of congratulation and good wishes was also received from the secretary of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association (Mr. E. Guise).

The Chairman said the absence of the Bishop was rather a severe blow to the inaugural meeting, but he was sure the presence of the Archdeacon would be acceptable to them.

Mr. Goldsmith said Mr. Geo. Williams, the Master of the Winchester Diocesan Guild, from which they were separating, had sent every good wish for the success of the new Guild, and hoped it would have long life and prosperity. Mr. Goldsmith said he had received enrolment forms from 15 hon. life members, five life ringing members, 30 hon. annual members, 259 ringing members, and 23 compounding members, making a total of 333 (applause). They were trying to promote an affiliation scheme for towers, and at the moment 17 towers had actually enrolled. They had done well with regard to money, having £36 8s. in the bank.

THE GUILD IS FORMED.

The Chairman said when a small sub-committee was appointed as a deputation to meet the Bishop, his lordship pitched upon December 31st as the date of the meeting, and he could not help thinking for an assembly of ringers what an appropriate one it was. He was sure when they were ringing out the old year it would be tinged with regret at the separation from Winchester. One thing had been prominent in the minds of the Organising Committee, and that was to raise the status of bellringers—not personally, but to make it more an integral part of the Church's work. Why should they not be thought as much a part of the Church's work as district visitors or a choir? If ever a Diocesan Guild was started on favourable terms that one was. They had any amount of enthusiasm, and were blessed with a Bishop who took a real, kind and hearty interest in the work.

On the motion of the Chairman, seconded by Canon E. C. Kirwan, the following resolution was unanimously carried: 'That this meeting resolves to found, under the title of "The Guildford Diocesan Guild of Church Bellringers," an association, with a view to uniting in one organisation the separate companies of church bellringers in the diocese; that the Guild come into being on January 1st, 1928; that the Lord Bishop of the diocese be president (ex-officio); and that those persons who have signified in writing their intention of becoming members of the Guild be and the same are hereby enrolled (subject to the approval of the Executive Committee) as foundation members, and shall be so distinguished in future in the records of the Guild.'

In his inaugural address, the Archdeacon confessed that he did not know there were any lady bellringers. He was not surprised, in these days, to find ladies in the bell towers, and he was sure they did their work there as well as they did it elsewhere. He was suffering from a cold, and had got up from his bed to be there. The Archdeacon's lot was not a happy one, as they used to sing about policemen, as he was the person who got most of the kicks and not much of the ha'pence (laughter). One of the kicks in that diocese was that he had frequently to act for the Bishop. If the Bishop had been there, he thought he would have said words of most cordial welcome to their newly-formed Guild. He would also have said that no organisation in the diocese would have his active sympathy to any degree more than would the Guild of Change Ringers. They had to make history with that organisation, but he did not know what history they would make. He knew nothing at all about ringing bells. He hoped in every sense of the word they would make harmony, and he hoped they would realise they could not make harmony unless they had the mind to work harmoniously with their fellow-members. That meeting augured well for the future. He came there rather expecting to see two old men and a fox terrier, but he found an enthusiastic gathering, which was a good augury for the Guild. On behalf of the Bishop he offered them hearty congratulations. They had evidently got the first essential of a successful organisation—a keen, energetic and far-seeing secretary—and so far as he was able to judge they had got such a person, and there was every prospect of success in the work which lay before them.

Mr. A. C. Hazelden, Guildford, proposed, and Mr. R. Whittington, Cranleigh, seconded, that the objects and rules as approved at the preliminary general meeting on November 19th, 1927, be adopted, and this was carried.

THE OFFICERS.

The following general officers of the Guild were elected, on the motion of the Rev. Sir John Herschel, Rector of West Clandon, seconded by the Rev. J. Hamilton Jackson, Vicar of Shalford: Master, Major J. H. B. Hesse; hon. treasurer, Admiral T. P. Walker, D.S.O.; hon. secretary, Mr. J. S. Goldsmith; hon. auditor, Mr. C. N. Burdock; representative nominated for the Diocesan Advisory Committee, Major J. H. B. Hesse.

It was agreed, on the proposition of Mr. F. Nye, Bugshot, seconded by Mr. J. A. Crocker, Chertsey, to open an account in the name of the Guild at Lloyds Bank, Woking, and that Admiral Walker be authorised to sign cheques drawn upon it. It was further agreed, on the motion of Mr. F. G. Woodiess, Banstead, seconded by Mr. A. Woodrow, Hersham, that the towers in the diocesan area be grouped into four districts.

The following resolutions, approved at the preliminary general meeting, were agreed, on the motion of Mr. Goldsmith, seconded by Mr. W. Thorne, Ockham: (1) 'That members of the Winchester Diocesan Guild residing on December 31st, 1927, in the dioceses of Winchester and Portsmouth be admitted as compounding members of the Guildford Diocesan Guild not later than December 31st, 1928, on payment of one shilling'; (2) 'That compounding members of the Winchester Diocesan Guild on December 31st, 1927, be admitted as compounding members of the Guildford Diocesan Guild not later than December 31st, 1928, on payment of one shilling'; (3) 'That in view of the opinion expressed at the four preliminary district meetings, the proposal of the Winchester Diocesan Guild, that life members of the Guild at the date of separation shall become members of the Guildford Diocesan Guild without further payment, be not entertained'; (4) 'That each tower where the Parochial Church Council pays the 5s. affiliation fee be given a "Certificate of affiliation" to hang in the belfry, and provided with a card to place in the porch of the church, giving particulars of the number of bells in the tower and the days and times of ringing'; (5) 'That the rules of the Guild, with the list of towers with rings of bells in the diocese, together with names and addresses of the Guild officers, and local secretaries, and the days and times of ringing at each church affiliated to the Guild, be printed and a copy supplied to each honorary and resident ringing member.'

At the instance of the Rev. G. H. B. Coleridge, Vicar of Leatherhead, seconded by Mr. W. Shepherd, Otlands, it was decided to hold a summer festival on the last Saturday in June, 1928, at Epsom, and that the annual meeting of the Guild be held at Guildford not later than April 30th, 1929.

Moving that the Organising Committee be discharged with thanks for their services, the Chairman said they had done their work uncommonly well. All their work had not been entirely free from snags and difficulties. The affiliation clause was a very difficult one. He also moved that the names of the committee be formally placed on the minutes of the inaugural meeting. One name stood out beyond all the others, that of Mr. Goldsmith, to whom the committee made a presentation and to his wife. Special mention should be made on the minutes of his services.

Mr. W. Shepherd seconded as one of the new members of the new Guild, and paid tribute to the work of the committee.

The resolution was carried with acclamation.

Mr. Goldsmith said the committee had worked without friction, although there were divergences of opinion, which were got over in excellent spirit. He wished to publicly thank the committee for the presents they gave to his wife and himself. When they started out, the members of the Winchester Guild residing in that area were not all of one mind, but the difficulties had been smoothed out in a most amicable way, and this led to the successful start. Mr. Goldsmith acknowledged the honour which had been done to the new Guild by the presence of so many representatives of other Guilds and societies.

A WELCOME INTO THE EXERCISE.

Canon Coleridge offered a hearty welcome to the Guild on entry into the Exercise, and affiliation with the Central Council. He was present, he said, at their meeting on November 19th, and the enthusiasm and heartiness of it struck him as being marvellous. He wished them all prosperity, and was perfectly certain everyone would endeavour to pull together in the bond of peace and in unity, each member striving to do his very best, not with any selfish motive, to further the great cause of that Church work of bell ringing in the diocese.

Mr. Geo. Pullinger, as representing the Winchester Guild, said while his Guild regretted having to part with Guildford, they were delighted at the excellent start that had been made. The jubilee of the Winchester Guild would occur in 1929, and he suggested they might have a united meeting on the border line.

The new Master, Major Hesse, said they would all do their utmost to live up to the advice of Canon Coleridge. He felt they could not pay too much attention to the practices in the individual towers, and if they had unity there it would help the association to go ahead. He would do his best as Master, but he knew he had a big task in front of him. Through him, Mr. Pullinger had conveyed his best wishes, and said that he was getting on well.

Messrs. A. H. Pulling, Guildford, and W. Shepherd, Otlands, were elected by ballot as the representatives of the Guild on the Central Council.

Mr. Shepherd returned thanks for his election.

The Rev. C. F. Carver, Capel, proposed a vote of sympathy with the Bishop, and a vote of thanks to Archdeacon Blackburne. The Bishop, he said, had succeeded in getting into touch with every section of the community in the diocese, which meant they had a sympathetic Bishop.

Seconding, Admiral Walker said they appreciated what the Bishop had done for them. They had been asked on Sunday to ring a special touch from all the 50 odd towers in the diocese, conveying their message to the countryside of honour, joy and gladness that the Guild had been launched by the Bishop.

The chairman was thanked for presiding, on the motion of the Archdeacon, seconded by Canon Coleridge.

THE ARCHDEACON'S ADVICE.

A service in the Cathedral Church of Holy Trinity followed, conducted by Canon E. C. Kirwan. A special form, which has been sanctioned by the Bishop, for the use of the Guild, was used. An address was given by Archdeacon Blackburne on the words, from Tennyson's famous poem: 'Ring out the old, ring in the new; ring, happy bells, across the snow; the year is going, let him go; ring out the false, ring in the true.' The Archdeacon said change was a condition of all life, and whatever could not adapt itself to change was dead. That was the long story of evolution on this planet. God's work was always by way of change. Anything that was new was at once an opportunity and challenge. An opportunity to show forth the kind of stuff of which they were made; an opportunity of bringing out the inherent qualities; challenge, because if those qualities are not there, then death must ensue because it cannot change. Many of them in the new Guildford diocese wanted no change, and at first he believed there were members of their Guild who did not want change and did not want to break away from the Winchester Guild very readily and happily. Signs were not wanting on all sides of the diocese that churchpeople were responding to the opportunity and taking up the challenge, as they looked everywhere with the greatest hope to the coming of the new year. The idea of that service was that they might have a pause in their occupations, between business and the comradeship which, doubtless, they would share in a few moments. Pause that they might realise what that business was that called them together—the real meaning and purpose of the organisation to which they belonged. In a sense they were servants and officials of the Church. It was so very easy to become proficient in the mere conduct of the paraphernalia of the Church's work; it was so easy to become just a capable servant and to forget the service in which they were engaged. He knew their temptations. It was that the bells might sound well, and that they might strike them accurately and well. There was the temptation to think that was the end of their work. They must not be content with the mere superficial efficiency of their work. They must try to get at the real spirit of it, and what a ministry was theirs. They called people to worship, but how could they call them with real sympathy if they did not propose to join in the worship themselves. They must think of their ministry as one of real sympathy. And, finally,

NEW YEAR'S BROADCAST.

Wireless listeners on New Year's Day found the bells playing their part. At midnight, millions heard Great Peter, of York, for the first time, as that beautiful and sonorous bell, which the Loughborough Foundry recently installed, boomed out the hour which marked the advent of 1928. And then, a few minutes later, as part of the solemn service at the Minster, the bells pealed out their message, not only over the city of York, but literally over the world.

Then in the evening there was an example from Birmingham Cathedral of how bell broadcasting should be done. The bells started out of the silence and continued for about two minutes in rounds, followed by a bob course of Stedman Caters, rounds, and again silence, the sound of the organ coming into the ether a few moments later.

Have the Birmingham men, who were the first to broadcast change ringing, at length taught the B.B.C. how this sort of thing should be done? We hope so. At any rate, they themselves have learnt exactly how to regulate their ringing to fit the programme, if only they are given their full allotted time, and announcers will refrain from superimposing their remarks.

ROYAL METHODS.

Owing to the difficulty in explaining by telephone, to the uninitiated, corrections to a printer's proof of matter which appears in these columns, an error was made in the letter of 'Bellitis' under the above heading last week. The short-circuiting lead-heads of Bob Royal are the fourth and seventh.

he believed that all the finest art in the world had been done, and all the finest things in the world had been made, by men and women because God had inspired them by some measure of their spirit.

In conclusion, the Archdeacon quoted the following lines from Bishop Butler's magnificent hymn: 'Low lies the best; live for the gift that thou thyself has given; low lies the best, till lifted up to Heaven.' In that sense, he said, might they make the bells ring out across the snow, and in that sense might they ring out the false and ring in the true.

VOTES OF THANKS.

The company subsequently adjourned to the St. Saviour's Parish Hall for tea, at the conclusion of which Mr. Goldsmith thanked members of visiting associations for supporting them in the formation of the new Guild. He mentioned that there would shortly perhaps be bell augmentations at Thames Ditton and at Old Woking, and that contributions to the funds would be welcome in each parish.

The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn and Mr. Drewitt replied, extending their best wishes for the success of the Guild. The latter said ringers to-day wanted more room, and that was one of the reasons for the inception of their Guild.

Major Hesse thanked Canon Kirwan, his choir and organist for the afternoon's service.

Canon Kirwan said the Bishop was looking forward with considerable pleasure to have addressed them, and he was much grieved to have missed that and other engagements. At Holy Trinity they were anxious to make their eight bells into ten. He wished all a happy and prosperous new year.

Mr. Elliott Kitchener, one of the joint editors, made an appeal for subscribers to the 'Diocesan Gazette.'

On the suggestion of Mr. W. Harrison, it was decided to send a message of congratulation to Mr. Alfred Pulling on his improved health and the news of his election as representative to the Central Council. It was also decided to forward a message of sympathy to the Bishop.

Ringings afterwards took place at St. Nicolas' Church.

THE FIRST PEAL FOR THE GUILD.

Special ringing was organised at many of the churches in the diocese on Sunday—the first day of the Guild's existence—to celebrate the event.

The first peal for the Guild was rung on Sunday at Capel, where, years ago, there was a very famous six-bell band. In addition to being noteworthy as the first peal by the new Guild, the performance on New Year's Day had other interesting features upon which the band is to be congratulated. The band was only formed in September last, and it was the first peal by four of the ringers, and the first with a bob bell by another. Moreover, the peal was rung at the first attempt. Mrs. W. Spooner, who rang her first peal, learned to handle a rope only about a year ago, and is the first lady to ring a peal at this church.

At Bagshot, after ringing in the afternoon, the ringers entertained to tea the clergy, churchwardens and members of the Parochial Church Council.

At St. Peter's Church, Old Woking, a quarter-peal of Bob Minor (1,260 changes) was rung in 47 mins. by Admiral T. P. Walker 1, A. P. Osborne 2, Mrs. W. H. Edwards 3, W. H. Edwards 4, J. Brackley (conductor) 5, H. Greenhill 6.

At St. Andrew's, Farnham, for morning service, and in commemoration of the inauguration of the Guild, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (Brook's, 1,260 changes) in 48 mins. by: J. Read 1, E. Kemp 2, G. Upshall 3, S. Meadows 4, H. Kemp 5, T. Upshall 6, R. Hasted (conductor) 7, A. E. King 8.

'IRENÆUS PISTOR.'

THIRD LIST OF SUBSCRIPTIONS.

The third list of donations given below further reveals the generosity of ringers when an appeal is made to them in a deserving cause. From all parts of the country members of the Exercise, singly or in bands, have shown their readiness to help, and we thankfully acknowledge the various sums which have been received on behalf of Mr. Alf. T. Baker, of 22, Hawthorn Road, Hillsborough, Sheffield, who for years was known to our readers only by his nom-de-plume of 'Irenæus Pistor.'

Those who have not already subscribed still have the opportunity of doing so. 'Irenæus' affliction is no mere passing disability. Smitten with permanent blindness, and having inadequate means of subsistence, something more than the relief of immediate necessities is required.

We hope many more companies and individuals will send us their contributions, and help us to raise a fund that, as suggested in a letter printed below, may enable permanent assistance to be given to a family who, until their circumstances became known through 'Nemo,' were carrying on a silent and heroic struggle against adversity.

The fraternal spirit of the Exercise shows itself in many directions; there is no better way in which it can be demonstrated than by support given to this fund.

All contributions sent through the Editor of 'The Ringing World' are gratefully acknowledged in these columns—

A PEAL A WEEK.

By completing a peal at Guildford, on Saturday, just before midnight, Mr. James George brought his total for the year up to 52—an average of one a week. For a man of 74, this is remarkable work, especially when it is recalled that during the year his activities have extended over the whole range of bell metal, from the 60 lb. treble at Loughborough Bell Foundry to the 50 cwt. tenor at Southwark. He has also rung the 11th at Southwark to Stedman Cinques, the tenor at Wolverhampton (33 cwt.) twice, and the tenor of the front six at Loughborough to the fastest tower-bell peal on record, the published time being 1 hr. 54 mins., although we understand it was well inside that period.

CHRISTMAS BELLS.

At Durham Cathedral on Christmas Day, for the afternoon service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) in 49 mins.: W. Cooper 1, J. R. Temple 2, C. E. Vasey 3, R. A. Johnson 4, E. L. Allison 5, W. H. Johnson 6, E. E. Ferry (conductor) 7, Roulandson, H. Oliver and J. Henderson 8 (30 cwt.). Longest length in the method by all except the conductor, and longest length in any method for the ringers of the treble, 4th, 5th and tenor. All who took part are regular service ringers at the above cathedral. It is the first time a quarter-peal has ever been rung at Durham Cathedral for a service. Change ringing was commenced at this cathedral on October 24th, 1926; previous to that, call changes were the order of the day. The band have the wholehearted support of the Dean and Chapter, and therefore hope for still better things.

BEACONSFIELD, BUCKS.—On Christmas Eve, at the Parish Church, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples in 49 mins.: W. L. Guttridge 1, J. Harrison 2, P. M. Moss 3, R. Turner 4, R. Buckland 5, J. Batting 6, *H. Wingrove (conductor) 7, W. H. Fletcher 8. * First as conductor in the method.—On Christmas Day for morning service, a quarter peal of Stedman Triples in 51 mins.: R. Buckland 1, C. G. Mayne (conductor) 2, P. M. Moss 3, W. H. Fletcher 4, J. Harrison 5, H. Wingrove 6, J. Batting 7, A. S. Bagley 8.

EDGBASTON, BIRMINGHAM.—On Christmas Eve, Thurstans' quarter-peal of Stedman Triples: G. Large 1, J. Atkins 2, A. Rose 3, W. Mumford 4, J. Withers 5, E. Boylin 6, G. Pigott (conductor) 7, S. Freemantle 8.—On Christmas morning, 504 Stedman Triples.

WOODCHURCH, CHESHIRE.—On Christmas Day, 360 of St. Clement's Minor: R. Bennett 1, J. Johnson 2, J. Lee 3, G. Philips (conductor) 4, H. Martin 5, H. Philips 6.—360 of Plain Bob Minor: R. Bennett 1, J. Lee 2, W. Bennett 3, G. Philips 4, H. Martin 5, H. Philips (conductor) 6.—Also 240 of Doubles (120 Grandsire and 120 of Canterbury).

EAST ILSLEY, BERKS.—For service, Christmas Day, 518 Grandsire Triples: Miss E. Lowe 1, E. Warwick 2, R. Warwick 3, R. T. Hibbert (conductor) 4, W. Hibbert, sen., 5, W. Hibbert, jun., 6, H. Brown 7, E. Sneller 8. This was the first 500 ever rung by natives of the village. This touch was a great joy to the conductor.

ACHIEVEMENT.

Despite the set-back which ringing received during the war years, there was never a period in the history of our art when so many noteworthy collective and individual performances were accomplished within a similar space as have been placed on record since this country emerged from the world conflict. Within the last seven or eight years many new record lengths have been set up, not only of longer peals on eight, ten and twelve bells, than ever before achieved, but records in advanced methods like Superlative Surprise Major and Cambridge Major, Royal and Maximus. New advances have been made, Superlative Surprise Maximus has been rung (the best performance in point of intricacy done yet on twelve bells). Minor has been advanced to the extent of incorporating thirty-five methods in a peal of seven true extents; Spliced Surprise Major is an accomplished fact, and many new Surprise methods have been rung. Ringing cannot be in such a bad way if it can claim performances like this within so short a space of time. It is proof that there is still a leavening of initiative and enterprise within the lump which we call 'The Exercise.' What we hope to see in the near future is still further evidence of the working of this 'yeast' of progress. It is just as necessary to the future success of the art that there should be expansion at the bottom as at the top. We want the mass to 'rise' and not merely to see the leaven acting in isolated places.

A lot of quiet work is going on in many associations, and there is room for much more of the instructive type. There are bands who have been 'stuck' in their method ringing for years, until they have lost all desire to get on. There are companies who are anxious to progress and yet cannot get the right kind of assistance. It is the old story, with the old difficulties. How many of the associations have set themselves out to teach change ringing, except in a most perfunctory manner? There ought to be something far more systematic in the instruction that is given, and here we come back to one of the principal handicaps. Except that a teacher will begin by helping his pupils to ring Grandsire or Plain Bob, what further carefully prepared steps are there which the instructor himself has been trained to adopt for advancing his pupil's education? Could not a proper course of progressive study be drawn up which instructors could be recommended to follow, and which would include a syllabus of carefully graded steps? Many men who can ring Grandsire well are absolutely 'stumped' when an effort is made to get them on to Stedman—the jump is far too great. We would suggest that a small committee should be appointed by the Central Council to consider the feasibility of such a plan and to make some recommendations as to instructional methods generally. We believe a well-conceived scheme would be welcomed by the Exercise, and, by beginning at the bottom, lead in the future to many achievements which will raise the general standard of ringing, not merely in peal performances, but in that other side of the ringers' office, his service to the Church.

BELL OPENING AT WHADDON, BUCKS.

PERFECT 'HOME' FOR A NEW RING.

The new peal of six bells at Whaddon, near Bletchley, was dedicated on Monday, December 19th, by the Bishop of Buckingham, in the presence of a large congregation of residents and visiting ringers. The service was conducted by the Vicar of Whaddon (the Rev. E. A. Selby-Lowndes, M.A.), and the Bishop, a dignified figure in cope and mitre, gave a most interesting address upon the origin and use of bells for religious purposes throughout the Christian era.

Great interest in their new bells has been taken by the residents of this once Royal Chase, now famous as the centre of the Whaddon Hunt. Only the oldest of inhabitants can remember the old bells, which had not been rung for nearly fifty years. The church, an ancient and beautiful edifice, containing some 12th century work, stands upon an eminence in the centre of Whaddon Chase, and commands from the tower top magnificent views of this wonderful hunting country for miles around. A better home for a good peal of bells could not be wished, and this new and beautiful ring will be heard to exceptional advantage over the countryside.

It was found possible, with minor replacements and certain strengthening measures, to retain the old oak frame, the massive timbers for which were cut many generations ago from the famous oaks of Whaddon Chase, from which were also built many of the 'wooden walls' which fought and won at Trafalgar. Some of the timbers of the bell frame are as large as 24in. x 12in. and 18in. x 14in. The bells have been recast by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, the tenor weighing 14½ cwt.; and the result is a very musical peal, each bell having that clear, full tone which makes for good striking. The large number of visiting ringers were well satisfied with both the tone and 'go' of the bells, which are hung on cast-iron headstocks and ball bearings. A new ringing room has been formed above the vestry, fronted by an oak balustrading of harmonious design, with the result that ringing conditions are excellent.

The opening touch after the service was a course of Cambridge Surprise Minor by J. E. Jones (Rickmansworth), H. Sear (Bletchley), S. Smith (Bletchley), W. Soar (Bletchley), F. W. Elliott (Rickmansworth), and J. H. R. Freeborn (Rickmansworth). Subsequently, the large company of visiting ringers kept the bells going till 9.30 p.m. in all the standard methods. Amongst the visitors were the Vicar of Edgworth, Mr. J. H. Shepherd, of Swindon, and Mr. E. C. Lambert.

A young and enthusiastic band of ringers has been formed by the Vicar, who has secured the able services as instructors of the brothers Sear, of Bletchley, who will be conveyed the six miles from Bletchley and back once a week by the Vicar in his car—an example which might be followed where there are struggling bands badly needing instruction.

FESTIVITIES IN NORTON, DERBYSHIRE.

Nortonians, in the spirit of the past traditions of the company at St. James' Church, and by the kind invitation and generosity of Mr. Fletcher, of the Grange, held one of its famous Christmas Eves amid pleasant fare and festivity, with handbells, music and dancing.

After a dozen tunes on the 32 new handbells by the company, for the entertainment of the guests in the hall, the younger members managed to scrape through a short touch of 'Grandsire,' which was much appreciated.

After the programme, the company retired to enjoy the splendid Christmas fare provided for them by their host.

Mirth and merriment continued until a late hour, several more items being given on the bells, and finally, after 'John Peel,' all joined hands for the singing of 'Auld Lang Syne.'

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.DEVIZES BRANCH ACTIVITY.

The annual meeting of the Devizes Branch was held at Devizes on Saturday last, and was largely attended.

Ringling commenced about 2.45 p.m., at St. John's, St. Mary's and St. James', Southbroom, Churches. The Guild service was held at St. John's, and was conducted by the Rector of Devizes (the Rev. A. H. T. Clarke), who gave an instructive address on the text, 'They brought unto Him gifts.' The lesson was read by the chairman of the branch (Mr. C. D. Heginbotham), and Mr. H. Baker was the organist.

Tea followed in St. John's Parish Room, over 60 being present, including Mrs. C. D. Heginbotham and Mrs. F. Green (Devizes), Mr. West (Melksham), the Rev. H. E. Tilney-Bassett (Beechingstoke), Rev. J. A. Sturton (Market Lavington), Rev. A. T. H. Clarke (Rector of Devizes), and the curate-in-charge of St. Mary's.

The business meeting was presided over by the branch chairman, Mr. C. D. Heginbotham, who, in his review of the work of the branch during the past year, said the wave of enthusiasm which came over the ringing world after the war seemed to have died down, but there was nothing to be alarmed about, as things seemed to be settled down to real hard work, and progress was being made in the more advanced methods. With regard to their own branch, some notable peals had been rung, especially the peal of Double Norwich and the long peal of Major, both at Bradford-on-Avon.

He would also like to congratulate Messrs. S. J. Hector and C. F. Andrews, of Trowbridge, on scoring their first peal of Cambridge, although this was not rung for the Salisbury Guild. He also congratulated the members of St. John's, Devizes, who had scored their first peal. He was sorry he had been unable to visit all the towers of the branch, as in the previous year, but if there was any band in the branch which wanted help in any matter he would be pleased to give his assistance.

With regard to restorations, the bells at Market Lavington had been put in excellent order by Messrs. Taylor and Co. Money was still coming in (although slowly) for All Cannings. Rowde had collected sufficient for their bells to be put in order. A second floor was to be put in at St. John's, Devizes, which would make ringing more pleasant there. With regard to South Wraxall bells, nothing yet had been done, but he hoped it was not too late. He thanked the officers of the branch for their support during the past year.

Mr. F. Green, secretary of the branch, presented the financial statement, which was very satisfactory, and showed a balance in hand. In his report for the year, he said there had been a slight falling off in the number of members. Netheravon tower had ceased to be affiliated to the branch. He would like to thank the tower correspondents and others for their kind assistance during the past year, and Mr. H. Brownlee-West, of Devizes (who, to the regret of everyone was absent on account of advanced years) for auditing the accounts.—On the proposition of the Rev. J. A. Sturton, the report was adopted.

On the motion of the Rev. H. E. Tilney Bassett, seconded by Mr. W. Bolwell, the officers were re-elected en bloc.

The Chairman, in thanking the members, said he had intended to resign, but influence had been brought to bear on him from outside, and with the continued help of the other officers he would do his best to carry on.

Mr. B. Cook, vice-chairman, also returned thanks for re-election, and hoped that all the members would try and make the branch a success.

Mr. F. Green, secretary, Mr. S. Hillier and Mr. Jesse Francis, Ringing Master and Assistant Ringing Master respectively, also returned thanks.

On the proposition of Mr. W. C. West, seconded by Mr. B. Cook, an honorarium was voted to the secretary.

On the suggestion of the Chairman, a collection was made for 'The Ringing World' appeal on behalf of 'Irenæus Pistor,' which realised £1 7s., which sum has since been forwarded by the secretary.

The Chairman thanked the Rector for the use of the bells and conducting the service, and also Mr. Baker, the organist.—The Rector made a humorous reply, and this terminated the business.

Ringers were present from Devizes (St. John's and St. Mary's), Southbroom, Bratton, Beechingstoke, Bromham, Bradford-on-Avon (Holy Trinity and Christ Church), Chippenham, All Cannings, Market Lavington, Chirton, Rowde, Melksham, Trowbridge and Westbury.

Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob and other methods were rung during the afternoon and evening.

On the proposition of Mr. S. Hillier, it was decided, if arrangements can be made, to hold a half-yearly meeting at Trowbridge in future, the same to be a fixed meeting.

MR. C. WALLATER'S 200 PEALS.

Grandsire Triples, 18 (conducted 5), Caters 10, Cinques 3; Stedman Doubles 1, Triples 76 (conducted 29), Caters 24 (conducted 2), Cinques 7; Bob Major 18 (conducted 4), Royal 6, Maximus 1; Kent Treble Bob Major 10, Royal 1; Oxford Treble Bob Royal 1; Erin Triples 1, Caters 1; Double Norwich Major 10; Cambridge Surprise Major 11; London Surprise (on treble) 1; total, 200.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Mr. W. A. Hudson, conductor of the Parish Church company, Hemingbrough, Yorks, and 'Uncle Joe's' Treble Bob pal, has had the misfortune to break a leg, but, although 'out of the hunt,' he is progressing as well as can be expected.

Mr. R. B. Smith, of Howden, Yorks, has recovered from his recent motor accident, and Mr. Horace Morley, of the Selby Abbey band, is now back at work, after suffering from appendicitis.

Momentarily blinded by approaching car lights, when motor-cycling near Woking, a few weeks ago, Mr. W. M. Stone, an 18-year-old member of Holy Trinity Cathedral band, Guildford, came into collision with a horse-drawn vehicle. He is lying in Woking Victoria Hospital suffering from severe head injuries, including a fractured skull (front), nose, cheek, and jaw. He passed the danger point a week ago, and his full recovery is now hoped for.

The reports of two peals rung by the Southern Branch of the Worcester Association, conducted by Mr. O. Attwood, have been sent in without the names of the places where they were rung.

An interesting anniversary occurs next week. On January 19th, 1724, the first peal of Grandsire Cinques ever rung and, presumably, the first twelve-bell peal, was performed at St. Bride's, Fleet Street, where seven or eight years before the first peal of Grandsire Caters had been rung.

On the 102nd anniversary of the Ancient Ringing Society of Redenhall, a peal of Oxford Treble Bob Major, conducted by Samuel Thurston, was rung on January 13th, 1838.

A peal of 6,048 Imperial the Third Treble Bob was rung at St. Michael Coslany, Norwich, on January 13th, 1772.

One hundred and ten years ago to-morrow died that great Kentish ringer, James Barham, of Leeds. He was 93 years of age, and had to his credit many wonderful performances, both as ringer and conductor.

The first peal of Double Bob Major was rung on January 14th, 1726, at St. Dunstan's, Fleet Street, by a company of College Youths.

On January 15th, 1774, a peal of 7,040 Oxford Treble Bob Major was rung in 5 hrs. 1 min. at St. Peter's, Nottingham.

The first peal by the Winchester Guild in Hants, and, incidentally, the first peal by its present Master, Mr. George Williams, was rung at Soherston 44 years ago next Tuesday.

On Sunday, January 17th, 1866, a peal of 5,000 Kent Treble Bob Royal was rung on handbells by the Union Society, Liverpool, at the house of Mr. Robert Halts, in Old Parter Butt, Whitechapel, Liverpool. This, with a peal of Kent Major rung later in the year, were, it is believed, the first peals of Treble Bob on handbells in Liverpool.

LADIES RING A PEAL OF MAJOR.

A performance of outstanding interest, recorded this week, is the first peal of Major rung by a band composed wholly of the gentler sex. This was a peal of Plain Bob rung on Saturday at Handsworth, Sheffield, where the tenor is 12 cwt. The Exercise will congratulate them upon their performance. The conductor was Miss Molly Davenport, the hon. secretary of the Northern District of the Ladies' Guild, whose forthcoming marriage to one of the most popular 'ringing parsons,' the Rev. Everard S. Powell, of Helbeton, Plymouth, has been announced.

Miss E. Fowlke, of Duffield, turned the tenor in, and admirably, we are told, did she perform the task. The local band at Handsworth have asked us publicly to convey their congratulations to the ladies.

After the peal, the ringers were hospitably entertained at the Rectory by the Rev. and Mrs. Baker.

MEMORIAL TO MR. GEORGE HENRY PHILLOTT.

ASSOCIATION'S JUBILEE REACHED.

The 50th anniversary of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association's foundation was reached on Sunday, January 8th.

To mark the occasion it was decided to unveil a memorial tablet to the late Mr. G. H. Phillott, who, with Rev. C. D. P. Davies (present Master of the association), founded the organisation in Gloucester Cathedral Chapter House. Ringers present at Cheltenham for the unveiling came from Bristol, Gloucester, Painswick and the surrounding districts.

In the presence of a company numbering about 45, the Rector of St. Mary's Church dedicated the tablet to the glory of God.

Rev. C. D. P. Davies, in a brief speech, spoke of the valued friendship of the late Mr. Phillott, and said he had been reading in 'The Ringing World' only the day before of the foundation of the Guildford Diocesan Association. This made him think of that day 50 years ago, and of the task that had then been undertaken. What a difference then to the position of to-day. They never thought that the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association would reach the size it had now attained. He hoped that the association would continue to grow.

Mr. W. T. Pates gave a welcome to all the visitors, and the Hon. Secretary said how pleased they were to have Mr. Pates and Rev. C. D. P. Davies with them. Mr. E. Guise also said how much Mr. Phillott had helped the association, and he treasured that memory.

Miss Phillott (daughter) was present at the ceremony. Touches of Stedman Cinques and Grandsire Caters were rung.

BEGINNERS' THEORY. BY 'MINORMANIA.' PROGRESSION.

If we have two cars which travel 55 miles in 43 minutes and 43 miles in 37½ minutes respectively, we cannot be sure which is travelling faster, but when both are reduced to standard terms of miles per hour, we shall find that both cars approximate the same speed of 69 miles per hour.

The ringing parallel is a standard relating to rounds. For instance, our Bob Major lead-ends are each related to the one next following by the transposition of 13527486, as we know, but this is not very apparent when viewed thus:—

If 15738264 becomes 17856342,

Then 18674523 becomes 16482735.

But when both examples are reduced to 'standard terms' relating to rounds, we can see the similarity immediately. Read the pairs downwards, as before:—

If 15738264 becomes 17856342, and If 18674523 becomes 16482735
Then 12345678 becomes 13527486, and Then 12345678 becomes 13527486

It is now very evident that both are one and the same transposition. The literal meaning of 'progression' is forward movement. Mathematically, 'progression' is a series portraying movement of a given set relationship throughout. 0-1-2-3-4, or 0-2-4-6-8, or 0-3-6-9-12, are expressions of arithmetical progression. The old story of the smith who contracted to shoe the squire's horse at a cost of one farthing for the first nail and doubling the price of each successive nail, would indicate that the smith knew all about geometrical progression.

As applied to methods, one sense of the term (with which this article particularly deals) might be described as the order, expressed in standard terms, in which bells move from place to place in given rows. Bells which appear in the same positions in these given rows have made no 'progression,' and therefore are deleted from the 'standard order.' For instance, the treble makes no progress in the lead-end rows, always appearing in first's place therein.

Now examine the 'quarter-lead-end' and half-lead-end' in our Superlative analysis. The bells which have not progressed are in brackets, and the remainder are carried out to one side:—

The lead-head of principle (1)2345(678) (or) 2345

Becomes, at first quarter (1)4523(678) (or) 4523

The first quarter (1)4(52)3678 (or) 43678

Becomes, at second quarter (1)3(52)7486 (or) 37486

Express the above in standard terms, by reading the pairs downwards as before:—

If 2345 becomes 4523, and If 43678 becomes 37486

Then 1234 becomes 3412, and Then 12345 becomes 24153

Then a 'quarter-lead progression' of Superlative is equal to 3412, and the 'half-lead' to 24153. In other words, the first causes four bells to progress in the standard order of 3412, and the second causes five bells to progress in the standard order of 24153.

The 'progressions' of the third and fourth quarters in the summary will be found to be identical with those given above, bearing in mind that the third quarter commences from 13527486 (instead of rounds as in the first quarter). The progression produced by the alternative division of the 'd' places, as before mentioned, will also be found to be identical.

CONCLUSION.

In concluding 'A Beginner's Theory,' I should like to emphasise a significant remark in the Editorial of September 8th, where there was half promised some instructive matter when these articles were finished, 'if there is any desire for it,' and also to recall to mind some 'Hints to conductors' by J. A. T., which were published some time back, with a promise of more, (again) 'if there is any desire for them.' I do not remember having seen any since, and I wonder why?

The bald statement that a technical journal cannot afford space for certain features is rather misleading. Properly qualified, it is thus: 'That a journal such as 'The Ringing World' cannot afford to allot space to matter which does not appeal to a requisite number of readers.'

'A Beginner's Theory' is the result of a suggestion that a beginner might better be able to approach his fellows than the expert who usually compiles the text books, with what success, only the individual may judge. No doubt, its reception has been very mixed, varying from appreciation to open hostility, but, in the opinion of the writer, the Editor has backed a very 'sporting proposition' to the tune of some thirty-odd columns of valuable space, and the point I wish to stress is this, that some indication should be forthcoming as to what the 'beginner' would appreciate, if the 'Instruction page' is to become a practical proposition.

The subject matter of an established journal obviously is the outcome of the experience of years, and it is only reasonable to assume that a departure should have promise of an adequate backing. It is futile for isolated writers in the correspondence columns to advocate elementary or advanced instruction; the demand must be general.

In short, to the 'beginner' (advanced or otherwise) I would say, do not let our interests be neglected for the want of a three-halfpenny stamp. If enough of us ask for an 'Instruction page' it will be forthcoming in the journal's own interests; if not enough, it is absurd to lay blame upon the Editor for that which is the result of our own lethargy.

Do not overlook that phrase, 'IF THERE IS ANY DESIRE FOR IT.'

Finally, I would make acknowledgement to those gentlemen whose kindly help from time to time has made possible these articles from the pen of a 'theory beginner.'

FINIS.

May I draw attention to an omission in the article of December 30th, page 326, first column? The division of the 'd' places in the first quarter should read:—

Row	1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8
8	. . d . . . d
9	. . d . . . d

MINORMANIA.

A QUERY COLUMN SUGGESTED.

Dear Sir,—I am sure you welcome any suggestion from your readers which may help in the instruction of young ringers. May I suggest that you institute a Query column in 'The Ringing World,' whereby a learner, requiring information on a ringing subject, may send his problem up, the question and answer appearing later in the page allocated to the purpose? Perhaps other readers of your valuable paper will voice their opinion on this matter.—Yours faithfully,

F. NEALE.

TREBLE BOB.

STRUCTURE AND EXTENSION.

The whole of the Treble Bob methods are derived from the plain hunting course in different ways. Let us begin with the examination of Oxford and Kent.

Look at this course on four bells.

The treble is the bell in the hunt, and she never goes above 2nd's place. Add two bells in the work and we get:

1234	above 2nd's place. Add two bells in the	123456
2143	work and we get:	214365
2134	This is a perfect plain course, and a large	213456
1243	number of Treble Bob methods are obtained	213456
1423	from it by alteration of the hunt. Make an	124365
4132	alteration from the 2nd to the 3rd row by	412635
4123	letting 1-2 change and 3-4 make places.	etc.
1432	This puts 2 in the hunt and the treble in the
1342	work; we now ring a plain course with 2 in
etc.	the hunt, and the working bells in course
	order, 3, 6, 5, 4, 1. This plain course is the	123456
	same length as the plain course with the	214365
	treble in the hunt; its first row is 124356,	124356
	and its last row 123465. 1-2 then change places, and 3-4	213465 make places. The treble is now in the hunt, and we get to the next row of our original course, 213456.

Each other lead of the plain course being treated in this way produces Oxford Treble Bob Minor, and the plain course of (b) ford Treble Bob Minor really consists of six plain courses. One of these has the treble in the hunt, and it comes up four rows at a time in five separate pieces. Each of the others comes up complete with a different bell in the hunt, as follows:—

2 in the hunt: coursing order	3.6.5.4.1
4 " " " "	2.5.3.6.1
6 " " " "	4.3.2.5.1
5 " " " "	6.2.4.3.1
3 " " " "	5.4.6.2.1

The cross sections of a Treble Bob method are lead-heads and lead-ends of these secondary plain courses.

Kent differs from Oxford in that we make places twice over. Rob the plain course with the treble in the hunt of ten of its rows, and substitute ten other rows for them, and cause the other five courses to have their working bells in the coursing order of the plain hunting course with the treble and the bell in the hunt transposed.

In the collection of Minor methods are twenty-four Treble Bob methods, and anyone who wishes to understand the real nature of Treble Bob methods cannot do better than find the bell in the hunt in each of these methods, remembering that it is liable to change again when the treble is up in 5-6, and that it is never above second's place.

The extension of Oxford and Kent is very simple; each of the six courses consisting of 20 rows each becomes a course of 28 rows, and two more courses of the same length appear because there are two more bells to take their turn in the hunt.

H. L. JAMES.

NEXT WEEK.

The ringers of Wath-on-Deane rang 187 Minor extents in 194 methods in 1927, and details of this remarkable performance will appear in our next issue, together with a further contribution by Mr. J. A. Trollope on method extension, and an interesting article by Mr. Harold Walker on Hatfield (Yorks) Church and its bells.

BELL TUNING.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The tuning of bells is a discussion that will always keep cropping up amongst ringers, and the recent article by Mr. Young is very interesting, but not at all convincing. We are given to understand that Grimthorpe and Simpson were men who had the courage of their convictions, and who evidently considered themselves experts on bells and their tuning. Taylor appears to have taken both these men seriously, and to-day we can see the result. Doncaster and Burton are both recast, and the good news has come through that Worcester will soon be on the way (no tears, please!). St. Paul's are left, and what can be said of them? From a musical point of view they are most disappointing, and when their weight is taken into consideration they, like the rest of Grimthorpe's, are a failure. I am judging them now from the outside. I am not unmindful of how uniform they are when ringing them, thanks to the splendid flooring under them. Had this peal been in any other tower than St. Paul's they would have been in the 'pot' years ago.

Mr. Young speaks of Bow bells as famous. What for, Sir? Certainly not their musical qualities, for they have none. So it must be from an historical point of view only. Some years ago I went purposely to hear this renowned peal, and had the opportunity of hearing them criticised by ringers from Bristol, Sheffield and Birmingham. The trebles are the wildest and most unmusical monstrosities that were ever hung on stocks, and the famous tenor hadn't sufficient 'body' in her to smother the explosions immediately in front of her. As one well-known ringing friend remarked, when taking refreshment in the Gog and Magog, 'Even the glasses found exception to them,' for they had the St. Vitus' dance whilst the ringing was in progress.

I am surprised to note that Mr. Young was once a Simpsonian, and that Southampton bells were so bad as to make him revert to the Old Standard again. No doubt our old friends Ted Horrex and John Carter convinced him, as he appears to have consulted them on the matter. A long chat with Mr. Horrex, when he was in Birmingham, gave me to understand that he did not like Simpson-tuned bells, and he had had but very little experience on them. John Carter I knew well and was intimately acquainted with for several years, and his opinion on bells or any sounds must not be taken seriously. To us who knew him so well, it is really laughable. All the years I was ringing with John Carter I only once recollect him ringing on one Simpson-tuned peal (Erdington), and he always considered these the best in the district. I should be surprised if he ever gave tuning a thought, for I can never once remember him ever discussing it with myself or any other ringer.

Mr. Young speaks of the challenge to Simpson tuning by the Central Council at Coventry. If those concerned had any satisfaction out of Coventry they are welcome to it. Personally, I trust the day is a long way off before I shall make such an ass of myself.

I take it that Mr. Young is in earnest when he appeals to Taylor's to scrap Simpson tuning and revert to the Old Standard again. If so, let me appeal to those firms who have not yet accepted Simpson tuning, to take it up seriously, and, if possible, improve upon it, and so enjoy the orders and prosperity that Simpson tuning have brought Taylor's and Johnson's.—Yours faithfully,

PERCY O. LAFLIN.

MORE KNOWLEDGE WANTED.

Dear Sir,—The thanks of the Exercise are due to Mr. E. A. Young for his two lucid, instructive and interesting articles on 'Bells and bell tones.'

May I entreat Mr. Young to give us further measure of his store of knowledge, musically, in defining the five notes which constitute a perfectly-tuned Simpson bell on a C natural basis.

I believe there are very many ringers who have had an elementary musical education who would be glad to know this.—Yours faithfully,

A. E. PARSONS.

Old Hill, Staffs.

APPRECIATED ARTICLES.

Dear Sir,—The series of articles on 'Bells, their tones and tuning,' by Mr. E. A. Young, are, I can assure you, very keenly appreciated up here in the North, and I trust we are not hoping too much in wishing to see more from that exceptionally able pen.

We are also being enlightened as to the extension of methods, and I think that much light will be thrown on the different methods by which the various experts arrive at the same goal. It is to be hoped that the writers will avoid being dogmatic, and will bear in mind the truth of that ancient Arab proverb, which says, 'Every man knoweth something which some other man knoweth not.'—Yours faithfully,

E. JENKINS.

A DATE TOUCH—1928.

At Barlborough, Derbyshire, on Sunday afternoon, January 1st, in 1 hr. 15 mins., a date touch of 1,928 changes, being 720 Kent, 720 Oxford, 360 Duke of York, and 128 of Killamarsh; Ernest Starman (longest length) 1, William Starman 2, Percy Morris (conductor) 3, Horace Hibbard 4, Richard Rance 5, Philip Hibbard 6. All are regular service ringers at the above church.

THEORY AND PRACTICE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Mr. Trollope has only his ambiguity to blame if he has been misinterpreted. If Mr. Trollope was only using a piece of bad argument by way of illustration, as he now says he was, I will not dispute it with him, but I am quite certain that I am not alone in the construction which I put on his remarks.

If third's place is made in Royal, there are only two other interior positions in which a place can be made, viz., sixth's or eighth's (unless it be the adjoining position of 4th's). Shipway, in his Royal, uses 6th's, as in the Major, and, therefore, as Mr. Trollope said, his method is condemned by a school of thought which holds that 8th's ought to be made, because that is 3rd's from the back, like the 6th's in Major. Mr. Trollope proceeded to apply the test of Oxford Treble Bob, and said, 'If this theory be sound, the Major (Oxford Treble Bob) should have third's and sixth's made, which any practical ringer can see is absurd.' As there was a choice of only two theories, and one is condemned as absurd, I hope your readers will forgive me if I, and others, took it that he meant the other was right.

Mr. Trollope's gentle chiding as to the distinction between a 'change' and a 'row,' and his judgment that those who do not realise this difference are not likely to understand the problem of extension of methods, will doubtless have amused your readers, as it did me. But is it not just these little things by which the experts succeed in befogging the average man? It was not so many years ago that we were content with the term 'lead-end'; now we have to have 'lead-head' as well; and the ridiculous part of it is that the lead-head of the theorists is the lead-end of the practical ringer in the belfry. So this difference between a 'change' and a 'row.' Where, except, perhaps, in the writings of modern theorists like Mr. Trollope, has the word 'change' received the definition which is given to it in your last issue? In any case, I disagree with Mr. Trollope in that I do not think the absence of appreciation of the differentiation which he sets up is likely to blunt an intelligent ringer's understanding of the problem of extension. But in the belfry everyone knows what is meant by the use of the word 'change.' It is the sequence of the bells at any given half-pull. Getting down to 'brass tacks,' what is there between two consecutive half-pulls on the bells? Nothing! Nothing, that is, except what proceeds from the imaginations of the theorists, but which cuts no ice with practical ringers. To show how little there is in this fanciful definition, let me refer to a familiar use of the word 'change.' Large numbers of peals of Stedman Caters come round at the first change after the course-end 214365879. The expression commonly used is 'Rounds next change.' Now, does the rounds occur in 'the work' which connects the two 'rows' as Mr. Trollope defines 'change', or in the actual striking of 123456789?—Yours, etc.,

A PLAIN RINGER.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

CHESTER BRANCH.

The Chester Branch of the Chester Diocesan Guild held its annual meeting at the cathedral on Saturday, January 7th. There was a good attendance, and the members attended evensong in the cathedral, when special prayers were said for the Guild. Tea was served in the ancient refectory, and the business meeting was held in the cathedral parlour. The Dean (the Very Rev. F. S. M. Bennett), who is chairman of the Chester Branch, presided, supported by Mr. E. W. Elwell (the general secretary), Mr. J. W. Clarke (branch secretary), and Mr. A. E. Richards (branch treasurer).

The accounts for 1927 were presented by the treasurer, showing that the financial position was very sound.

Several new members were elected, and arrangements made for meetings during the coming year.

On behalf of the parishioners of Christleton, Mr. R. Gregory thanked the Guild members for the wholehearted support they had given to the restoration fund for Christleton bells. This ring is at present at the Loughborough Foundry, where it will be recast, and when hung again in the tower in modern fittings should be one of the most pleasing rings of eight in the district.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Dean for the warm welcome he had again extended to the branch, and for presiding at the meeting. The Dean suitably replied.

Owing to a case of serious illness in the vicinity of the cathedral, the bells were not rung, but ringing was enjoyed at Handbridge during the evening.

SUDDEN DEATH OF THE RECTOR OF CRADLEY.

The Rev. Janvrin, Rector of St. James', Cradley, died suddenly in the vestry whilst preparing to take early Communion service on Monday, December 26th. The funeral took place on Thursday, December 29th.

The Rector looked upon the ringers as church workers, and his friendly advice respecting the fulfilment of that duty led to the fellowship and progress of the band. His life amongst the people of Cradley will be held in esteemed memory by all his parishioners.

As a last token of respect the bells were deeply muffled on the following Sunday for both services, and in the evening a 720 of Bob Minor was rung by the local band: E. Prosser 1, H. Pritchard 2, J. Holder 3, G. Fincher 4, C. Horne 5, G. Lewis (conductor) 6.

AN APPRECIATION.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Please excuse the liberty I take in writing to you, but I cannot refrain from expressing my sincere appreciation of your 'Leaders,' which never fail to appear week by week on the front page of 'The Ringing World.' I have had the pleasure of being a subscriber to the various weekly journals devoted to the art of change ringing for the last thirty-five years, such as the 'Bell News,' etc., which are now defunct, but I have never read such useful leaders as emanate from the pen of the present Editor of 'The Ringing World.' And I may tell the Exercise that this appreciation is not 'cooked,' but is absolutely spontaneous, as the Editor of 'The Ringing World' is a complete stranger to me. I have been waiting a long time in the hope that someone more glib in their expression than myself would show their mark of appreciation of the really wonderful work of our Editor, who deserves the goodwill and encouragement of every member of the Exercise. I can assure you, Sir, that I, personally, am satisfied with the expenditure of my threepence by the reading of your leader alone each week. Many a time have I been filled with admiration by the tactful way in which you have handled some very awkward situations, which inevitably will arise so long as men of quite different temperaments do congregate together.

Wishing you a very happy and prosperous new year,—Yours campanologically,

JOHN E. WHEELDON.

Milton, Staffs.

[We thank our correspondent for the above kindly compliment, although we blush to publish it.—Ed. 'R.W.']

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

A MIDNIGHT QUARTER-PEAL.

The Leatherhead District has the credit of the first two peals for the new Guildford Diocesan Guild—a peal of Minor (recorded last week) on the first day of the new year, and a peal of Double Norwich at Ashted last Saturday.

The little village of Seale, nestling under the 'Hog's Back,' can, however, claim the first quarter-peal for the Guild. Immediately midnight struck, ushering in the new year, the bells were pulled off in Bob Minor and a quarter-peal (1,260 changes), rung by: E. Gardner 1, A. Court 2, H. Gardner 3, J. Bedgley 4, C. Robinson 5, H. Tinsey (conductor) 6. The bells were also rung for an hour in the afternoon to celebrate the inauguration of the Guild.

'LINCOLNSHIRE SURPRISE.'

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Regarding the above title for these figures, I think the Rev. H. L. James has no right to introduce it. If that gentleman and your readers will turn up their 'Ringing World' for October 26th, 1923, and December 28th, 1923, they will find published under my name 'Rutland Surprise,' with full extensions to Royal and Maximus, and on the latter date they will find a Method No. 1 which was published because of its being absolutely without adjoining places. These two methods are the true samples of that plan. There are two others—one which Mr. James now published, and one which Mr. Tipler published some 18 months ago as 'Wycliffe.' Both I consigned to the scrapheap on account of the superabundance of false places when the treble is in 7-8 up. I append the figures of all four for examination:—

	No. 1.	Mr. James'.	Mr. Tipler's.

Clear proof. 4 false courses. 7 false courses.

Now sir, I think you and your readers will understand why I selected the two former examples. I would not have dared to place before the Exercise the two latter with my name. If Mr. James wishes to claim the authorship of those three false changes he is welcome.—Yours truly, Sheffield.

COMMEMORATIVE PEAL BOARD.

The peal of Kent Treble Bob Major (composed by Mr. William Hyde Inglesant, conducted by Ernest Morris), rung on February 19th, 1927, at Earl Shilton, to commemorate the hallowing of the diocese of Leicester, has been recorded in the belfry on a slate tablet executed by Mr. C. H. Webb, of Croft, Leicester. This was dedicated at a recent service by the Bishop of Leicester (Dr. Bardsley). The tablet is a fine piece of work, and in addition to the usual particulars of the peal bears the new coat of arms of the diocese, and records the fact that the diocese was founded in A.D. 680, and restored in 1826.

'IRENÆUS PISTOR'

The warm-hearted response to our appeal for help for Mr. Alf. T. Baker, of Sheffield ('Irenæus Pistor') is extremely gratifying, and we acknowledge below with sincere thanks the further contributions to the fund, which we hope to see raised to a sum worthy of the Exercise in such a deserving case.

No one blessed with sight can fully appreciate the feelings of despair which must come to a man who, with the permanent loss of vision, has family responsibilities, and wholly inadequate means of subsistence. We can, however, help to relieve his burden, and we appeal to all our readers, individually or through their bands, to support this appeal.

In sending a contribution from 'A few Hydonians,' a correspondent says: 'I think the response to your appeal has been splendid so far, and hope the fund will continue to grow. I am sure all readers of "The Ringing World" will try to help one who has done so much in the past to cheer us and brighten us up by his witty remarks on the topics of the day.'

Then Mr. James George adds his voice to the appeal: 'I am delighted,' he writes, 'to see the help given in this very deserving case, and beg that every ringer and association will not fail to support the fund, however small the contribution may be. Try next week to make a record of two pages of subscriptions, large or small, according to each person's circumstance.'

DEATH OF CASTLE BROMWICH RINGER.

Castle Bromwich has lost a much respected ringer by the death, on December 29th last, after a brief illness, of Mr. Geo. Branston, who was 70 years of age. He had been a regular Sunday service ringer at the village church for the past 40 years.

The funeral took place on the 3rd inst., after which muffled touches and the 'whole pull and stand' were rung by his fellow-ringers.

A PRACTICAL SPIRIT OF BROTHERHOOD

Reference is frequently made to the spirit of brotherhood which exists in the Exercise, and there can be few bodies of men scattered as we are throughout the whole country who, with no tie but their common pursuit, are more ready to show in their actions the best traits of comradeship. Let a stranger go into the belfry and he is at once made welcome. If he claims to be a ringer, no matter what his capabilities may be, he is at once offered a rope; and even if it be only rounds that he can ring, he is given the opportunity of having a 'pull.' Doubtless many readers will be able to point to the exceptions that prove the rule, and to say that at this tower or at that visitors are not wanted. But taken as a whole, ringers are ready to welcome the stranger, if he is a ringer, with open arms and make it a point of honour to show him the 'courtesies of the belfry.'

In the same way a practical spirit of 'brotherhood' is readily evinced when it comes to helping a comrade in distress. In the last few weeks we have had a very fine example of this—another to be added to the many instances which, from time to time, have shown that the comradeship of the belfry extends to something more than formalities in the tower. Ringers throughout the country have rallied to our appeal for help for 'Irenæus Pistor' in the affliction which has overtaken him and placed him in distressed circumstances. The useful sum which we have received on his behalf has been the means of tiding him over his pressing needs, and will, we hope, assist in keeping the wolf from the door for a further period. How timely was the help given to the family, few will ever know, and no words can ever express the gratitude for that first gift or the appreciation of the kindness shown to Mr. Baker and his family. But for a man condemned to a lifetime of blindness, robbed of his power to follow his means of livelihood, with loved ones still dependent upon him, the sum which has been contributed—generously contributed—up to the present cannot for long lift the load that presses so heavily when the breadwinner falls stricken on the field. The £90 which we have now received will, we feel sure, grow into a greater sum yet, and we hope that every company of ringers will contribute their mite to so good a cause. Our columns remain open to acknowledge donations, and contributions, in accordance with the means of the givers, will, we trust, continue to reach us.

A correspondent, the other day, alluded to the fact that the present case once more illustrated the desirability for a relief fund in the Exercise. This is a matter that has in the past been advocated in these pages, and in some few instances associations have established such funds.

But these 'local' funds obviously have their limitations. They serve admirably the purpose of assisting in some degree ringers temporarily distressed, but a case such as that of 'Irenæus Pistor' comes in a different category and nothing but a big general fund could hope to provide the help which long-continued disability would require. There are great difficulties in the way of establishing such a source of relief, but it is a matter to which ringers might direct their attention in the hope of evolving a scheme. For instance, something might be possible on the basis of each association contributing one penny per annum for each member. Assuming there are 18,000 affiliated members (we have no means of knowing if this is even an approximate figure) that would provide an income of £75 a year. Little enough, but it might become the foundation of greater things, and the fund used to supplement whatever else was done by the association whose member made a claim upon it. It is a subject worth considering, and it might enable substantial help to be given to many a distressed brother ringer in the years to come.

DERBY CATHEDRAL PRACTICES.

The Monday nights' success of the Derby Cathedral ringing practice was somewhat marred on Jan. 2nd, when ringers from near and far had their first disappointment at this tower. The cathedral bells could not be rung owing to workmen being engaged in getting a huge flag pole through the ringing chamber and bell chamber to the top of the tower. Ringing of the bells was stopped at the last moment, and the postponement of practice could not be notified. Mr. James Pagett expresses his apologies, and hopes this singular occurrence will not create any doubt as to the future regularity of ringing practice at the cathedral, which will be as before.

HATFIELD CHURCH AND ITS BELLS.

BY HAROLD WALKER.

After having been silent for over two years, during which time they had been recast and rehung, the bells of Hatfield Parish Church, Yorks, again pealed forth their music on January 7th, after having been rededicated by the Lord Bishop of Sheffield (Dr. Burrows).

Hatfield Church, which ranks as one of the most important of the village churches of South Yorkshire, is built in the Perpendicular style of architecture. Its proportions are splendid, it being more like an abbey church than the parish church of a village. The building consists of a chancel, with chantry chapels, clerestoried nave, transepts, north and south aisles, and a central lantern tower. Parts of a much older church of Early Norman origin have been incorporated in the present building, the western doorway being the chief of these.

The church contains many interesting relics of the past, foremost among them being a Norman font, a rood screen of great interest, a chained book dated 1569, and an old oak chest known as a Peter's pence box. Hung up in the south chapel is part of a suit of armour reputed to have been worn by the Black Prince at the Battle of Crecy.

The crowning glory of this beautiful church is its noble tower and the magnificent ring of eight bells which enrich it. The recast bells, which are now in tune with themselves and with each other, set a standard far above similar peals in the district, and are similar to the recently recast Thorne bells, with the exception that they are heavier and deeper in tone.

Before being recast, the bells were a very poor ring, indeed, the individual bells, especially the tenors, being out of tune with themselves and with each other. The old bells bore the following inscriptions:—

Treble.—'DEO DICAT THOMAS JOHNSON FOX NUPER DE HATFIELD. A.D. MDCCCLXXIV. J. TAYLOR AND CO., FOUNDERS, LOUGHBOROUGH, 1874.'

2nd.—'HANC CAMPANAM DONO DEDIT GEORGIUS WRIGHT DE LINDHOLME. A.D. MDCCCLXXIV. J. TAYLOR AND CO., FOUNDERS, LOUGHBOROUGH, 1874.'

3rd.—'A BEQUEST OF ROBERT FORSTER, A NATIVE OF HATFIELD AND ULTIMATELY A CITIZEN OF LONDON. A.D. 1619. HENRY HOGARTH, M.A., INCUMBENT. THOMAS CHATTERTON, ROBERT HAGGITT, WILLIAM OLIVER, CHURCHWARDENS, 1864. J. TAYLOR AND CO., FOUNDERS, LOUGHBOROUGH.'

4th.—'J. GOODWORTH, T. CHESTER AND W. SMITH, CHURCHWARDENS, 1815.'

5th.—'OMNIS SPIRITVS LAVDET DOMINVM HALLELVIA. HEN. MOORE, CHURCHWARDEN, 1884. S. S. EBOR.'

6th.—'GLORIA IN ALTISSIMIS DEO. HEN. MOORE, CHURCHWARDEN, 1884. S. S. EBOR.'

7th.—'THO. LEE, ESQ., JOHN HATFIELD, ESQ., CORN. LEE, GENT., SIMON SIMSON, MIN., HENRY MOORE, CHURCHWARDEN, 1884. S. S. EBOR.'

Tenor.—'SOLI DEO GLORIA PAX HOMINIBUS. 1649.'

There was no founder's mark on the tenor bell, but it may have been the work of William Oldfield, who had the York foundry between 1601 and 1642, his favourite inscription being 'SOLI DEO GLORIA.'

The 5th, 6th and 7th bells were cast at the York foundry by Samuel Smith, whose bells are fairly common in the Doncaster district, there being two at Arksey, two at Wadworth, three at Fishlake, and one each at Rossington and Finningley. Although the 4th bell bore no founder's mark, its characteristics led one to assume that it was the work of James Harrison, who had a foundry at Barton-on-Humber. The 3rd bell was added in 1864 to complete the ring of six, and it is rather curious to learn that the money for this bell was left to the church nearly 250 years before the bell was cast. The two trebles were added and the octave completed in 1874, when the existing bells were taken down and rehung in a new oak frame.

COMPLETE RESTORATION.

The work of recasting and rehanging the bells was entrusted to Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, and it is interesting to learn that they were in the foundry at the same time as the famous Great Peter of York.

The bells have been recast and tuned on Taylor's harmonical system of tuning, which ensures absolute sweetness and purity of tone, all harshness and dissonance being eliminated thereby. The peal has been rehung with entirely new fittings of the most modern type, Messrs. Taylor having introduced many improvements in bell hanging recently which are designed not only with a view of reducing the labour required to ring the bells, but also that the bells should remain in perfect ringing order with the minimum amount of attention required to the fittings. For instance, the old-fashioned type of bearings required to be lubricated almost every time the bells were rung, whereas the patent ball bearings now fitted to the Hatfield bells do not require lubrication except once in every ten years or so. Then, again, the iron headstocks now fitted do not require screwing up and adjusting as did the old wooden headstocks. The clappers are also of a vastly superior type, the joints being fitted with lubricators, so that wear is reduced to a minimum. The whole of the hangings are so designed as to reduce to a minimum the forces exerted by the swinging of the bells and the stresses thrust on the tower structure. The weight of the new tenor bell is 18 cwt. 2 gr. 18 lb., and its note is E natural. The old inscriptions have been faithfully reproduced on the new bells with the following additions:—

On all the bells, 'RECAST 1927,' and Taylor's foundry mark.

On the tenor bell: 'THIS PEAL WAS RECAST BY PUBLIC SUBSCRIPTION. F. MERIDYTH BROOKES, VICAR. GEORGE H. HUDSON, SYDNEY ALLEN, CHURCHWARDENS, 1927.'

In addition to the work carried out on the bells themselves, the old timber framework and its supports, which were designed according to the ideas of the late Lord Grimthorpe, have been thoroughly stiffened and tied together. For the comfort of the ringers a new ceiling made of sound-deadening material has been put in the ringing chamber. The belfry steps, which were very much worn down by countless generations of ringers, have been retreaded.

The whole scheme has cost something like £520. Of this sum £460 was raised prior to the rededication. A further £12 was collected on Saturday week. The credit of raising the money belongs in the main to Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Allen, of Dunscoft Abbey, who have been untiring in their efforts for the bells restoration fund. They have, of course, been ably backed up by the Church Council. Mr. Allen has 'overscored' the work from a professional point of view, so the people of Hatfield can be assured that they have got the very best value for their money.

THE REDEDICATION.

There was a large congregation at the rededication service, among those present being Messrs. J. Oldham and J. F. Fidler (J. Taylor and Co.), Mr. F. Clarke (divisional secretary, Yorks Association), Mr. C. D. Potter (hon. secretary, Barnsley and District Society), Messrs. G. Clarke and H. Walker (Ringing Master and hon. secretary, Doncaster and District Society), and a good gathering of ringers, the towers represented being Doncaster, Arksey, Ardwick-le-Street, Conisborough, Tickhill, Thorne, Sprotborough, Fishlake, Barnsley and York Minster. Mr. G. H. Hudson, churchwarden, was unable to be present, but his duties were carried out by Mr. Barnett, one of the sidesmen.

The service commenced by the singing of the hymn, 'We love the place, O God.' Evensong was then sung, the Vicar of Hatfield (the Rev. J. Haythornthwaite) reading the prayers. After the third collect the Bishop, standing under the tower, read several prayers suitable to the occasion and rededicated the bells with the words: 'In the faith of Jesus Christ and in the name of Almighty God, we rededicate these bells to the use of the church and people of Hatfield.' The Bishop then tolled a bell eight times, and afterwards prayed that the bells 'be solemnly set apart from all profane and unhallowed uses.' The hymn, 'When morning gilds the skies,' was then sung. For his sermon the Bishop took as his text, 'Come ye and let us walk in the light of the Lord' (Isaiah ii. 5). He said that the fundamental principles of the bells were always the same, but periodically the bells required recasting to improve the tone and bring them up to modern standards. After recasting, the principles of the bells were still the same as before.

So it was with the other things of life. The principles of law, of government, trade, industry and the Church were always the same, but all these things required recasting to conform with modern ideas and conditions. The Reformation was only a recasting of the Church. The principles of worship as contained in the Prayer Book were always the same and always would be the same, but still the Prayer Book needed recasting to improve its tone and make it consistent with present-day knowledge.

After the Blessing had been pronounced, Mrs. Sydney Allen tolled a bell eight times. Then as the recessional hymn, 'Now thank we all our God,' was being sung, the bells began to peal out. First one, then another joined in until finally the whole ring was pealing forth in one joyous crescendo of sound.

The Hatfield ringers rang the bells for the first time after rededication. Subsequent ringing was done by the visiting ringers. The bells were rung at intervals until nine o'clock, the methods being Stedman and Grandsire Triples, Bob Major, Kent Treble Bob Major, and Cambridge Surprise Major.

The ringers were entertained to tea by Mr. S. Allen, over thirty sitting down. A vote of thanks to Mr. Allen was proposed by Mr. H. Walker, who congratulated the people of Hatfield on having the best-toned peal of bells in the district. He also congratulated Messrs. Taylor and Co. on their excellent workmanship, and said the bells left nothing to be desired, the tone and 'go' being splendid. Mr. C. D. Potter seconded the vote, and said he remembered being present at the dedication of the old bells over fifty years ago. Mr. Allen suitably replied, and said it was quite a pleasure to have the members of the Doncaster and District Society at Hatfield, and hoped it would not be long before they came again. The Vicar in a few words welcomed the ringers, and then read a telegram from the Rev. Meridyth Brookes, who regretted his absence, and sent greetings to the ringers. After tea, the ringers returned to the belfry and kept the bells going until a late hour.

BICESTER RINGERS' DINNER.

The Bicester bellringers held their third annual dinner on Thursday evening, January 5th, at the Rose and Crown, under the chairmanship of the Vicar, the Rev. O'Reilly. The loyal toast was honoured, as also was that of 'The Vicar,' and the remainder of the evening was spent in a musical entertainment. Songs were given by members of the band, and there were a few touches on the handbells.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Instead of dividing an annual collection of £6 11s. among themselves, Stanbridge, Beds, bellringers gave it to one of their members who is ill.

Mr. Alfred C. Russell, of Slough, passed away on January 3th in his 74th year, and was buried in the family grave at St. Mary's Church, on Monday last. The local ringers met in the evening and gave a muffled peal in memoriam.

It has been suggested that a fully qualified M.D. be invited to give the Exercise 'hints on health' in the belfry, and to advise the parochial authorities if the belfry and bell ropes ought not to be disinfectant as a precaution against stoney cramp, bellitis, Minor mania, Stedman microbe, Cambridge miopia, etc., etc.

The peal of Superlative Maximus at Southwark Cathedral was rung at the first attempt after four practices. The band much regret that Mr. and Mrs. F. I. Hairs were prevented from ringing in the peal owing to the sad death of Mrs. Frank Bennett, mother of Mrs. Hairs. Acknowledgment is made of the experience gained on a visit by some of the band to Ipswich in July last.

A peal has been rung at Thames Ditton, Surrey, to commemorate the centenary of a peal rung on the same bells. What the method was a hundred years ago no one seems to know, for the board hanging in the belfry only records 'a peal of 5,040 changes without the aid of plain bob.' Has anyone any other record of this peal, or can they elucidate the mystery?

At the annual meeting of the Surrey County Association at Guildford on Saturday, amalgamation with the Guildford Diocesan Guild is to be discussed.

Thirty years ago to-morrow a new rogue in ringing was set up. What was believed at the time to be the first peal of Surprise Royal was rung at Cheltenham, when a peal of Cambridge-Fen was scored. It was only a few years ago that the present generation discovered that both Cambridge and Superlative Royal had been rung more than 70 years before at Wakefield.

A peal of 5,600 Bob-Maximus was rung at Cambridge on January 21st, 1788.

The Sussex County Association was established on January 24th, 1885, and rang its first peal two days later at Cuckfield.

January 25th, 1842, was an unlucky day, for a peal of 8,105 Stedman Caters at Painswick and 8,081 Grandsire Caters at Stroud then rung turned out to be false.

Can any of our readers say whether a peal of Double Norwich Major has been rung at St. Botolph's, Bishopsgate? Mr. James E. Davis, the tower custodian, seeks the information.

'The Ringing World' penetrates to distant places, and the December 17th issue of the 'Regina Daily Post' (Saskatchewan) devoted half a column to quoting a letter which had appeared in this journal relating to the Regina chime of twelve bells, and giving its readers other points of interest, including particulars of the Freemasons' peal at Solihull.

Canon Coleridge has been re-elected chairman of the Sonning Deanery Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, and Mr. W. J. Price hon. secretary and treasurer.

A Surrey paper advertised last Friday: 'For sale, ringers, 20-inch rollers.' A mechanical bell-puller, we presume.

CHELTENHAM BELFRY.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—When I visited Cheltenham for the unveiling of the memorial to the late Mr. G. H. Phillott I went up into the belfry as soon as I found that the door had been opened, and I had time to look round at my leisure, and I was well repaid. In no belfry that I have been in up to now is there so much to interest and instruct the conductor or would-be conductor. I saw in a frame the photographs of those men who rang in the long peals of Grandsire and Stedman Caters (some of whom are still with us), and also the compositions, both of them by the late Henry Johnson. On another board, recording the first peal on the twelve bells, is the composition, Grandsire Cinques. Then there was a framed tablet showing hundreds of courses of Stedman on all numbers produced by singles. Also one showing the extent of Doubles without bobs or singles—at least, that is what last caught my eye before more arrivals prevented a closer inspection. I hope to pay another visit and have a chat about them with their author, Mr. W. T. Pates. I am certain, from the evidence in the tower, that all he knows in connection with ringing he is ready and willing to hand on to his fellow-ringers.—Yours, etc.,

W. A. CAVE.

HALF-PEAL OF BOB MAJOR.

On Saturday, January 14th, an attempt for a peal of Bob Major was made at Aberavon, but owing to a very bad light in the tower the bells were brought home at half-peal end: *G. W. Hollis 1, J. E. Bloxham 2, *C. Lake 3, H. Boyce 4, *F. Phillips 5, *G. I. Lewis 6, A. J. Pitman (conductor) 7, E. Stinch 8. * Longest length in the method and first attempt.

BELL TUNING.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I have read Mr. Laffin's letter with much interest. He does not mince his words. I do not therefore intend to mince mine. I cannot say myself that I am in love with either Lord Grimthorpe's system of casting or Canon Simpson's tuning, but there are exceptional peals in both classes.

I consider St. Paul's Cathedral bells one of the exceptions, and if their weight is taken into consideration they are certainly not a failure. What grounds has Mr. Laffin for describing them as such? They sound their weight. The 62 cwt. tenor is B flat, old pitch, which is near enough A concert pitch. The small bells are also cast in proportion to the large ones. Can this be said of the Simpson-tuned bells at Exeter?

Mr. Laffin states that if St. Paul's bells were in another tower they would have been scrapped years ago, but I am afraid his opinion will not carry very much weight in that direction. If those bells hung in a tower outside of London (preferably in Beddington Park) they would be heard to their proper advantage.

I understand York Minster bells are very voluminous. What would they sound like in St. Paul's tower? Would they want scrapping, too?

Now we come to Bow bells. I might say I have never heard such a degrading description given before of any bells as Mr. Laffin describes Bow trebles, and it must be pretty obvious to all who know Bow bells that Mr. Laffin must have paid a prolonged visit to the Gog and Magog before hearing the bells. This would also account for the glasses having a touch of St. Vitus' dance.

His description of the tenor is rather alarming, but for the benefit of Mr. Laffin's blissful ignorance I would tell him that the bell hangs on a cast-iron stock, the shape of a bridge, and, in my opinion, tucked up far too much, but the other eleven hang out on the old wooden stocks. Goodness knows what a modern Simpson-tuned tenor would sound like hung under the same conditions;

There is one thing Mr. Laffin admits, and that is he heard the trebles. I have never been fortunate (P) enough to hear the trebles of a Simpson-tuned peal of 10 or 12 when ringing. This, perhaps, may be an advantage, as when heard singly the bells would certainly fit the description that Mr. Laffin applies to Bow trebles.

The only point upon which I agree with Mr. Laffin is 'to improve Simpson tuning,' and there is certainly room for improvement. When they sound as though they have body in them, yet mellow and no howls and mysterious overtones, I shall be the first person to support Simpson tuning, and I really think that the tuning machine will have to do a little work, and the strikes play a more important part.

The next time Mr. Laffin comes up to London I shall be only too pleased to meet him and show him round to some of the most magnificent peals in the locality, not Simpson tuned; but he must not get an opinion that there are not any Simpson-tuned peals round here, especially as I happen to live within a quarter-of-an-hour's ride of Gillett and Johnston's.—Yours faithfully,

CHAS. H. KIPPEN.

GOOD AND BAD.

Dear Sir,—It seems that my worthy cousin of King's Norton would be more convincing if he were a little less one-sided. He might help the discussion on bell tuning if he would take particular notice of that Arab proverb so opportunely quoted by Mr. Jenkins this week. If Percy would give credit to Mr. Young for a point here and there in his argument, remembering that Mr. Young by no means discredits entirely the Simpson tuning, it would be different. But no. Percy O. seems bent on having every old standard peal recast into a beautiful but characterless lot of Simpson peals, so much alike that there will soon be no pleasurable anticipation in going to hear a new peal. It will be like attending a flower show consisting of all geraniums. Surely, Bow bells are entitled to 50 per cent. of their alleged fame; and have not St. Paul's been described as 'like a big band'?

There are good and bad peals, both Simpson and old standard. I know some of both. There are old peals in which you can find a minor fault in every bell if you want to, yet they give great pleasure when running in peal.

Simpson peals there are that are more perfectly in tune, maybe, but with an 'edge' on their voices like a nasal baritone singing, that you could shave with; and some not so. I notice that Percy O. seems to discredit what Mr. Carter told Mr. Young, yet accepts his opinion as regards Erdington bells; but in general I quite agree that Mr. Carter's hearing probably did not enable him to give an opinion on tuning with any weight, even had he so desired.

Further, why give free advertisements to bellfounders. This is common to debaters on bell tuning, especially Simpsonians. Do they reflect that these same well-advised knights of the melting pot are perfectly willing and even anxious, being business firms, to melt their own products up as often as the church authorities can find the money? I suspect they would recast the tower, too, if it would melt. Let them do their own advertising. Some of them, at all events, have been talked into fame, perhaps against their desire. Who can tell?

If correspondents pointed out some of the less successful jobs, would the same feeling prevail between founders and ringers as at present exists?

STEDMAN.

STRUCTURE AND EXTENSION.

So far we have dealt with the structure and extension of plain methods, and we have been able to see a theoretical system of extension which is common to them all, but we now come to something which is quite different. Stedman Doubles consists of a plain hunting course of three bells combined with a plain hunting course on two bells twice repeated, then one of those two bells goes into the three-bell work, and one of the bells in the three-bell work comes out; the next plain hunt in front is reversed, and the two bells behind do the same work as in the previous six. These twelve rows four times repeated make what is called the plain course, but it must be clearly understood that it is a totally different kind of plain course from any that we have seen in the plain methods.

The extension, unlike any extension we have seen before, leaves the three-bell work alone and the two-bell work alone, and adds more two-bell work of exactly the same kind in 6-7, 8-9, and 10-11.

This disposes once for all of any attempt to find a theory covering all extension, because we cannot, after all these years, alter the system of extension, which I proved years ago can only be done by treating the slow six as plain and the quick six as a bob—a system of extension which is very interesting on paper, but would be very dull in the belfry.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.
LEICESTER DISTRICT ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Leicester District was held at St. Saviour's, Leicester, on Saturday. The bells were raised in peal about 3.45 p.m., and touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Bob Major were then rung. Only eight members partook of tea, provided at the Black Boy Hotel. The belfry was then again visited, and by this time there were 16 or 17 members present. Touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob and Double Norwich Major were then rung.

After the bells had been lowered in peal about 7.30, a move was made to the Black Boy Hotel, where the business meeting was held. The local vice-president (Mr. A. J. Harris) took the chair, and asked the meeting to stand for a moment in silence as a token of respect to the memory of Mr. Alfred Ballard, a member of St. Margaret's band, and for many years a member of the M.C.A., who died under very sad circumstances two days previously.

The general officers of the association were renominated 'en bloc,' except that Mr. Frederick H. Dexter was nominated to take the place of the late Mr. Pryce Taylor on the Central Council.

On the proposition of Mr. W. H. Clarke, seconded by Mr. W. H. Humberstone, the local officers were re-elected 'en bloc.'

One new ringing member, Mr. Frank Haslam, of St. Saviour's band, was elected.

It was next decided to include Belgrave in the cycle of towers at which the annual meeting of the Leicester District is held. The order now is: St. Martin's, St. Margaret's, St. John-the-Divine, St. Saviour's, St. Peter's, Belgrave. It was resolved to hold the annual meeting next year at Belgrave; it was also decided to have it on a Saturday afternoon and not on the practice night, as is often done at district annual meetings.

On the proposition of Mr. J. Pole, seconded by Mr. A. Cuffin, it was decided to send a letter of condolence to Mrs. Ballard. This was left in the hands of the secretary and vice-president.

The question of placing certain of the older and respected members of the Leicester District on the list of hon. life members was discussed, and it was left to the committee to complete these arrangements.

Two places were then proposed for the next quarterly meeting—Humberstone and Countesthorpe, and on being put to the meeting the latter place was selected by one vote.

Mr. A. J. Harris then proposed, and Mr. J. Clarke seconded, a vote of thanks to the Vicar for use of the bells, to Mr. Needham for having everything in readiness, and Mr. N. S. Bagworth for making the necessary arrangements for the tea and meeting.—Mr. Needham suitably replied, and proposed a vote of thanks to the vice-president and hon. secretary, which was seconded by Mr. J. Clarke.

This brought the meeting to a conclusion. It might be mentioned that during this rather lengthy meeting members were helped along by some good bread and cheese, and also by some less solid refreshment. During the remainder of the time, Mr. Needham's famous cup handbells were brought into use.

Finally, remember this, owing to the 5th above the tonic present in every bell, new or old, the running of a number of bells in peal is a bad progression in music anyway, taking a bell and its tones, as representing a chord; therefore, where both styles carry a fault at present unavoidable, it is not wise to sentence a peal like Bow until you really know more.—Yours, etc.,

PETER LAFFIN.

THE EXTENSION OF METHODS.

BY J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

I will now give one or two illustrations of the cyclical movements which make up various methods. The first will be Plain Bob, and that not only because it is the simplest of methods, but it is really the foundation and typical method. The first cycle is the hunting course—the Plain Principle—in which all the bells are equally involved.

This will only give you twice as many rows as there are bells. To get more rows, a secondary cycle is made on part only of the bells, and this is done in the simplest and most obvious position, viz., when the treble (the bell not affected by this secondary cycle) is leading. Here it is.

You can easily see that is a complete cycle on the three working bells, and it moves in the opposite direction to that of the primary cycle.

And these two cycles together involve a third cycle, which is that of the treble or hunt through the coursing order of the extreme or working bells. The coursing order of the first lead of Minor is 653124. Throughout the course the extreme bells keep this coursing order, but the treble in successive leads passes from between 2 and 3 to between 3 and 5, then between 5 and 6, then 6 and 4, then 4 and 2, and, lastly, between 2 and 3, when the cycle is complete and the bells come round. This construction of hunt and extreme bells with the hunt's cyclical path in coursing order always occurs in every bit of work in every method.

You get not only the main hunt of a method, which is usually the treble, but often the work in the interior of the lead contains hunts and extreme bells.

The second example is Kent Treble Bob Minor. First you have a hunting course on six bells—twelve changes.

Second, after every second change a dodging movement is inserted one step backward followed by one step forward:—

123456
etc.

Thirdly, in each lead the slow bell is a hunt; the treble and the rest of the working bells make a cycle among themselves:—

264513
265431
253614
235164
213456

Fourthly, the places in 3-4. These are a complete hunting course on two bells, the movement being in the opposite direction to that of the principle:—

Fifthly, the cycle on the working bell:—

123456
124365
142635
146253
164523
165432
156342
153624
135264

In all these illustrations we must write out hand strokes as well as back strokes, or we miss the true construction.

As a third illustration take Double Court Minor. Here you will find that the two places—4th's and 3rd's—together have the same effect and give similar cycles as the second's place in Bob Minor.

Or again, to take a different illustration altogether, examine Holt's Original. Resolve it into its P. blocks, its B. blocks, and its Q. sets. Write down back and hand stroke rows as we have done above, and you will find they are all cycles of movement.

These are all fairly simple illustrations. The more complex methods differ only because there are more cycles. If my reader is interested in this matter, let him turn to Double Coslany Court Major in the new 'Central Council Collection of Methods.' Let him study the construction of it as there given and see how it is made up of a combination of simpler methods. Then let him turn it into a Treble Bob method by repeating every two changes. He will then get:—

DEATH OF MR. A. M. HALL, GATESHEAD.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION'S LOSS.

It was a great shock to the members of the above association and to all his friends when a newspaper announced on Thursday, January 12th, that Mr. Albert Martin Hall had been suddenly called to his long rest. He had just retired—on December 31st, to be exact—from the bank on reaching the age limit, and was looking forward to many years of service with the Church of St. John, Newcastle, and with the cathedral belfry. He joined the National Provincial Bank in 1882 at Chester-le-Street, Durham, and from thence was drafted to Barnard Castle, Norwich, Bristol and, eventually, to Gateshead and Newcastle, serving as cashier and manager in each of these important centres.

He learnt his ringing when the bells were installed at St. Cuthbert's, Chester-le-Street, in 1883, on the occasion of the 1,000th anniversary of the building of a church on the present site of that church. On returning to Tyneside some ten years ago he took up a more active interest in the Exercise, and acted for some years as treasurer for the Durham and Newcastle Association, and rang several peals, about a dozen in all, mostly taking the treble or tenor. He also took an active part in the restoration of St. John's bells, Newcastle, and rang in the first peal after their consecration.

The funeral took place at Gateshead Cemetery on Saturday last, and was attended by a large concourse of friends, professional brethren and colleagues in ringing.

The deceased lay in St. John's Church overnight, guarded by loving watchers, clerical and laymen alike, and a Communion (Eucharist) for the family and friends was celebrated at 8 a.m. A memorial service followed at 10.45, when the bells were rung muffled in the 'whole pull and stand.' Following the committal at the graveside a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by Messrs. E. E. Ferry, W. H. Barber, J. E. Keen and C. L. Routledge.

And so we laid to rest one of the most earnest and dearest souls ever connected with our association, keen and enthusiastic to a degree, and one who did much to further the interests of our beloved association. And no one loved it and its prosperity more than he, and, as Vicar Noel Hudson said in his 'eulogy' after the memorial service at St. John's, 'Let us not mourn or be gloomy over his death; let us rather rejoice in the life spent in good to others, and in setting an example of constancy and labour for the glory of our Lord.'

The bells of St. Nicholas' Cathedral, Newcastle, were rung muffled on Sunday morning, also as a tribute to his memory.

C. L. R.

OXFORD RINGER'S DEATH.

As a tribute of respect to their late colleague, and one-time Master, Mr. W. Harris, members of the Oxford Society rang half-muffled at Christ Church, on January 2nd, 838 Stedman Caters: A. Dubber 1, F. Exon 2, W. Brigham 3, S. Hounslow 4, F. Taylor (conductor) 5, H. Tolley 6, W. Wilkins 7, V. Bennett 8, W. Finch 9, G. Horwood 10.

and so on.

The four back bells are dodging three times. Instead of doing that, let them make one extended dodge—three steps forward, followed by three steps backward:—

6857	5678
8675	instead of 6587
6857	5678

When you have done a similar thing below the treble you have got Bristol Surprise. And you will have got all the cyclical movements of that method. The key to the construction of Superlative lies in the fact that the 4th and 5th are hunts, as in Kent. Leave out second's and seventh's, and the first lead is a round block. Now examine the work and path of the fourth and fifth and compare them with the second in the first lead of Kent. The comparison will be clearer if we give this first lead in its simplest form thus:—

12463578

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD. SOUTHAMPTON DISTRICT INAUGURATED.

The inaugural meeting of the new Southampton District of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild was held at Southampton on Sat., Jan. 7th. St. Mary's and St. Michael's bells were available during the afternoon and evening; service was held in St. Michael's Church, conducted by the Vicar (Rev. R. A. R. Sprad), after which tea and meeting took place in St. Michael's Parish Hall. Mr. Geo. Williams (Master) presided, supported by the Vicar of Dibden (Rev. G. T. Tritton). The officers for the new district were elected as follows: Chairman, Rev. G. T. Tritton; secretary, Mr. W. T. Tucker; Ringing Master, Mr. Geo. Williams; representative on the Central Council, Mr. J. W. Faithfull; auditor, Mr. Summerfield.

It was decided to hold the next annual meeting at Southampton on Saturday, January 12th, 1929, and quarterly meetings at Eling on April 14th, Romsey July 14th, and North Stoneham October 13th. Notice of these will be given in 'The Ringing World.'

Members attended from St. Mary's and St. Michael's, Southampton, North Stoneham, Netley, Dibden, Romsey, Winchester, King's Somborne, Ringwood, Fareham, Brockenhurst and Portsmouth.

Votes of thanks were passed to Archdeacon Daldy (St. Mary's) and Rev. R. A. R. Spread (St. Michael's) for the use of both peals of bells, and to Mr. D. C. Williams, F.R.C.O., for presiding at the organ at the service.

WINCHESTER DISTRICT.

The inaugural meeting of the new Winchester District was held at Winchester on Saturday, January 14th, and was a great success, over 50 ringers attending from the following towers: Alresford, Basingstoke, Brown Candover, Hursley, Micheldever, North Stoneham, King's Somborne, Portsmouth, Stockbridge, Twyford, Woolton Hill, Winchester, and visitors from Bedford and Bromley.

Mr. G. Williams presided at the business meeting, and was supported by the Vicars of King's Somborne, Brown Candover and Basingstoke, and in opening he stated that the following towers had been placed in the new Winchester District: Cathedral, College, St. Maurice, Alresford, Hursley, Twyford, Avington, Owslebury, Old Alresford, King's Somborne, Stockbridge, Micheldever, Fitchbourne, Choriton, Brown Candover, Barton Stacey, Bishop's Sutton, Crawley, Longstock, Sparsholt and Wotton.

Canon Braithwaite was elected district chairman, Mr. C. Smith (King's Somborne) district secretary, Mr. W. Andrews (cathedral) representative on Central Council, and Mr. G. Smith (Twyford) district auditor.

It was decided to hold the next annual district meeting at Winchester on January 19th, 1929.

Quarterly meetings were arranged as follows: King's Somborne on April 21st, Wotton and Micheldever on July 21st, and Brown Candover and Old Alresford on September 29th.

The bands at Micheldever and Brown Candover joined the Guild, also two new members from King's Somborne.

Mr. C. B. Scott (King's Somborne) was elected a life member, and the Vicar of Brown Candover an honorary member.

The bells of the cathedral and St. Maurice's Church were available for ringing during the afternoon and evening, and various methods practised, ranging from Doubles to Cinques. Several present had their first pull on 12 bells.

BY-MEETINGS IN THE KENT ASSOCIATION.

On Saturday, January 14th, the Tonbridge District of the Kent County Association held the third of its monthly by-meetings at St. Peter's, Tunbridge Wells, and it was attended by 23 members. Some very useful practice was put in. Tea was provided by Miss Allen and a party of lady helpers, and was partaken of in the Parish Hall.

Following tea, a short meeting was held, when it was decided to hold these by-meetings on the last Saturday of each month, except when they would clash with any other meeting being held in the district, and Speldhurst was chosen as the tower for the February meeting.

It was decided also to keep a minute book embracing a resume of the practice at each of these meetings, so that the progress made could be recorded.

A very hearty vote of thanks was proposed to Mr. Richardson, who undertook to arrange these meetings, for the amount of work he had done in order to ensure the success of this new venture.

During the afternoon and evening, the methods practised included Grandsire, Plain Bob, Stedman, Kent Treble Bob, Superlative and Cambridge Surprise Major. The towers represented at the meeting included Speldhurst, Lamberhurst, Mayfield, Sevenoaks, Eversmonden, Tonbridge and the local band.

A DATE TOUCH.

At Goldhanger, Essex, on Saturday, January 14th, in one hour, a date touch, consisting of 360 College Exercise, 128 Plain Bob and 720 each of Oxford and Kent Treble Bob: F. Lewis (longest length) 1, J. H. Waldock 2, B. C. Mann 3, J. O. Buckingham (conductor) 4, H. J. Mansfield 5, F. Chalk 6.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD. LINCOLN DISTRICT ANNUAL MEETING.

Metheringham was the venue of the annual meeting of the Lincoln District of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild, held on Saturday, January 7th. The attendance of about 40 ringers represented the following towers: Cathedral, St. Peter-at-Gowts, St. Peter-at-Arches, Gainsborough, Blankney, Branston, Wragby, Timberland, Basingham, Eagle, Noclton, Metheringham, and Folkingham. Ringing on the very light peal of eight commenced early in the afternoon, and the new ropes, together with the lightness of the bells, presented difficulty in management on several occasions, with the result that prior to the service the stays of two bells were broken. New stays were fitted, and following the meeting the bells were once again in going order, but a little later similar disaster befell the same two bells. The ropes being new had not yet got to the stage of flexibility, with the result that they frequently ignored their guide, the bell then becoming unmanageable, and the consequent momentum of the bell being far too much of an irresistible force for the stay to resist.

There was the usual ringers' service during the afternoon, which was conducted by the Vicar of Metheringham, the Rev. Smith, whilst the pulpit was occupied by the Rev. C. H. Sibthorpe, of Blankney.

Tea was afterwards served in the Parish Room. A business meeting followed, and was presided over by the Rev. R. Bond, of St. Peter-at-Arches, Lincoln, who wished the ringers a happy and successful year.

In the re-election of the Rev. R. Bond as president, tribute was paid to the chairman for his untiring support and attendance at meetings. Mr. H. Marcon was re-elected hon. secretary, and those present signified in a most unanimous way their appreciation of the manner their energetic secretary had carried out his duties during his first year in that capacity. Mr. Marcon, during this period of office, has been a valuable asset to the Lincoln District, particularly in the way in which he has been instrumental in increasing the membership, both in honorary and ringing. He has devoted much of his time in efforts to brighten up the services held at meetings, and on more than one occasion his work in this respect has been much appreciated.

Mr. J. Walden, who had carried out the duties of Ringing Master, was again re-elected. He was also elected as the district representative to serve on the Northern Branch Committee.

The meetings for 1929 were chosen as follows, and are subject to the approval of the incumbents: Wragby February 18th, Eagle June 30th, Wellingore September 1st, and Branston November 17th.

Two new members were elected, and votes of thanks were accorded to the Rev. R. Bond, Rev. Smith, Rev. C. H. Sibthorpe, to the organist (Mr. Simpson, of Lincoln), and the caterers.

The Chairman, in closing the meeting, asked to be allowed to give two words as a motto to the ringers by requesting them to 'Go forward.'

Following the ringing of a course each of Grandsire Caters and Cinques on handbells, a move to the tower was made for further ringing.

60 YEARS A RINGER.

On Thursday evening, January 12th, at the Church of St. Lawrence, Barnwood, Gloucester, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes): T. Hawkes 1, F. T. Waite 2, A. T. Waite 3, W. H. Harris 4, G. L. Brundon 5, A. A. Waite (conductor) 6, H. Beckett 7, C. Hodges 8. Rung to commemorate the 60th anniversary of Mr. A. A. Waite as a ringer at Barnwood Church, and for his 71st birthday. The ringers were afterwards entertained at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Waite, and selections on the handbells were given.

MUFFLED BELLS.

WELL-KNOWN RINGERS BEREAVED.

The sympathy of the Exercise will go out to two prominent members who have just suffered bereavement.

The Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, has lost his mother, whose death occurred early in the new year; and on Wednesday of last week there passed away at 21, Warleigh Road, Brighton, Mrs. K. H. Bennett, wife of Mr. Frank Bennett, and mother of Mrs. F. I. Hairs.

Mrs. Jenkyn was interred at Witney on Saturday, January 7th, and on Sunday evening, January 8th, for divine service at Caversham. 1,120 Cambridge Surprise Major was rung, with half-muffled clappers, as a token of sympathy with the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn: H. Simmonds 1, A. D. Cullum 2, J. Hands 3, W. Lewington 4, A. Wiggins 5, E. J. Menday 6, G. Essex 7, E. W. Monday (conductor) 8. Two courses of Stedman were also rung.

On Tuesday evening, January 10th, at the Church of St. Mary de Crypt, Gloucester, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples in 45 mins., with the bells half-muffled, as a last token of respect to the late Rev. F. W. Jones, former Vicar of the church: Thomas Baldwyn 1, E. E. Davis 2, G. L. Brunsdon 3, J. Gillett 4, H. Beckett 5, J. Austin (conductor) 6, G. Condict 7, A. Martin 8.

At Beckenham, Kent, on Tuesday, January 10th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: R. Hollamby 1, H. Hawkes 2, W. Hollamby 3, W. Rawlings 4, F. Terry 5, F. King 6, W. Smith (conductor) 7, W. Meek 8. Rung with the bells half-muffled as a last token of respect to Mr. J. Dennis, late sexton and parish clerk, who was interred in the churchyard that day.

'IRENÆUS PISTOR.'

Below is given the list of subscriptions received since our last issue towards the fund for the assistance of Mr. A. T. Baker, of 22, Hawthorn Road, Hillsborough, Sheffield, who, until this appeal was opened to help him in his hour of need, was known to our readers as 'Irenæus Pistor,' a contributor who added to the gaiety of the Exercise by his amusing and sometimes caustic comments on the topics of the moment.

To all those who have contributed we tender grateful thanks. We hope to see the fund continue to grow, for Mr. Baker's affliction is not one which time will remove. He is permanently blind, and will need all the assistance that can be given.

The sum of £30 in all has been sent to Mr. Baker to relieve his pressing necessities, and the balance has been deposited in the Post Office Savings Bank to be at the disposal of Mr. Baker as occasion requires. Further reference to the appeal is made in our leading article, and we shall be happy to acknowledge in these columns further contributions from bands and individuals.

THE CUMBERLAND ASSOCIATION.

The annual general meeting of the Cumberland Association was held at St. Michael's Church, Workington, on Saturday, January 7th. Members were present from Bridekirk, Cockermouth, Keswick, Egremont, Carlisle and the local band. The meeting was presided over by the Rector (the Rev. S. P. L. Curwen), supported by the hon. secretary, Mr. W. T. Holmes (Cockermouth).

The accounts, which had been audited by Mr. Brandwood, showed the satisfactory balance in hand of £9 1s. 9d.

It was decided to hold the annual ringing contest at Crosthwaite Parish Church, Keswick, on Easter Monday, and, if possible, to get Mr. G. Newton, of Liverpool, to act as judge.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar for use of bells and room, and for presiding.

The belfry was afterwards visited, and practice was had in Bob Major, Kent Treble Bob Major, Grandsire and Stedman Triples.

NOTICES.

THE PROBLEMS OF SURREY.

The Surrey Association is confronted with some special problems of its own, and at the moment it is much concerned to find a solution. Founded in 1880, it entered the field just after the formation of the Winchester Diocesan Guild had ear-marked, as it were, a big slice of the county territory. In those days the Diocesan connection was not nearly so strong as it is to-day; ringers as a whole did not take their pursuit as being a phase of Church work; neither did many of them look upon ringing as anything but a secular pastime. Indeed, one of the main objects of the societies, which at that time were being formed up and down the country, was to correct the abuses which existed in connection with ringing. The association of the ringing societies with the Church did not, therefore, make the same appeal then as it has done in later years, when the results of the reforming efforts of the organisations have made themselves felt.

Some few of the then new societies adopted diocesan titles, but many of them took on county status, and Surrey was one of them, and its reason for doing so is fairly obvious. We are not aware whether it was the intention of the founders that its operations should extend over the whole of the county and thus overlap a portion of the Winchester Guild's area; but there was a considerable slice of ground left uncovered at that time in the north and east of the county, as well as a portion, inside the diocese of Winchester, which never took very kindly to the Diocesan Guild, whose centre was so far removed from them. The question of a Diocesan Guild for that portion of Surrey was at that time out of the question. The bulk of the area was in the Diocese of Canterbury; the Diocese of Southwark was not formed. Kent, which is in the two dioceses of Canterbury and Rochester, had, or was about to have, a county organisation, and Surrey, therefore, had no choice. Since then they have worked successfully in a portion of the area, but have been faced with tremendous difficulties in the South London district, where little headway has been made outside one or two parishes.

The formation of the Diocese of Guildford with its new Guild, which, while not extending its territory beyond that of the old Winchester Diocese, has, nevertheless, brought a new force into play, has accentuated the problem of the Surrey Association as to how best to promote its own well-being and further the interests of the art. At the annual meeting on Saturday the members discussed the question of amalgamation with the Guildford Diocesan Guild and the alternative suggestion was put forward that the Association should become diocesan in character and take the Southwark title. 64, LEWISHAM PARK, LONDON, S.E.13

Late of BERMONDSEY and PECKHAM.

Maker to St. Paul's Cathedral, Westminster Abbey, Imperial Institute, Canterbury, Edinburgh, St. Albans, Lincoln, Durham, Peterborough, Melbourne (Australia), Rochester, Dublin, St. Patrick's, Manchester, Durban, and Worcester Cathedrals, etc., etc.

Muffers, Ringing Mats, Matting, Flag Lines, etc., etc.

difficulties in the latter proposal is that part of the Southwark diocese is in Kent, and another that Croydon is still in Canterbury diocese. So far as amalgamation is concerned—assuming the referendum which it was decided to take among the Surrey members, gives approval to a scheme—the Guildford Diocesan Guild has still to consider what attitude they will take up towards it. Surrey's problems are truly numerous and difficult, but there is a good spirit abroad, and that goes a long way.

BRISTOL UNITED GUILD'S DINNER.

Ringers from all parts of the country gathered at Bristol on Saturday for the seventh annual dinner of the United Ringing Guilds, and the event was a greater success than ever. The chairman was Mr. John G. Jefferies, and the principal guest was the Lord Bishop of Malmesbury, who responded to the toast of 'The Church,' which was given from the chair. The Master of the College Youths (Mr. J. S. Hawkins) proposed 'The Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association,' which is this year celebrating its jubilee, and the Master (Rev. C. D. P. Davies) responded. 'Kindred Guilds and Associations' was submitted by the Vice-chairman (Rev. R. H. Whitford), and replied to by Mr. J. P. Fidler (Midland Counties Association) and Mr. J. W. Jones (Llandaff and Monmouth).

As usual, a most delightful musical programme had been arranged, and the proceedings were marked by the greatest cordiality and enjoyment.

A full report will appear in our next issue.

THEORY AND PRACTICE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—With many others I am following with interest the controversy on method extension, and I sincerely trust that some good may result. The views of those who have the courage of their convictions are always good reading, although not of necessity acceptable, but, as Mr. Jenkins says, we must give some credit to the 'other fellow.'

My reading of Mr. Trollope's article differs from that of 'A Plain Ringer,' and this does not determine which of us is correct; but I should like to fasten upon two of his statements, and carry them, if I may, to an illogical conclusion.

There is 'nothing' between the rows. An extent of Bob Minor contains every one of the 720 possible rows obtainable upon six bells, and an extent of London Surprise Minor likewise. Then the rows in the 720 of one are identical with those in the 720 of the other. Nothing between the rows means that Plain Bob is London Surprise!

'Go Plain Bob' produces 214365 as the row immediately next following rounds (no ambiguity here), and 'go London' produces 213546 as the corresponding row. Why? His course-end of Stedman Caters, with nothing between it and the next row, is thus:—

and no amount of shouting 'Rounds next change' can alter it.

No, Sir! There is nothing amusing in the work, places, or changes between the rows, nor anything ridiculous in the lead 'ends' being also the lead 'heads.' It is the difference between theory and practice which Mr. Trollope emphasises, and which cuts all of the ice in the world, when the practical ringers turn attention to matters other than rope pulling.

I am afraid the belogging lies in our own understanding, and is no fault of the modern theorist. Read Snowdon's proof of Treble Bob, and see explained there that the false rows 'follow' the course 'end' next preceding. This same 'end' is the 'head' of the course in which the false rows appear, and yet we must call it the 'end' of the previous course instead of the 'head' of that course with which we are dealing. Read 'Method Spicing' and compare Mr. Parker's 720's by the lead-heads and Mr. Fidler's by the lead-ends, and decide which is the more straightforward way. Prove a method, arriving at certain false lead 'ends,' and search for the false rows in the lead of which your 'end' is; see if they can be found.

I am afraid that the modern theorist knows what he is talking about, and we must do what we can to follow him; but I could wish that he would always take the trouble to offer the explanation that is contained in Mr. Trollope's restrained and instructive articles.

If 'A Plain Ringer' could meet the band with whom I have the honour to ring, he would be introduced to practical ringing where lead 'heads' and action between the rows cut all of the ice that he would care to freeze.—Yours sincerely,

GEO. L. JOYCE.

LEAD-HEADS AND LEAD-ENDS.

Dear Sir,—Anyone who knows how to prove methods—Plain, Treble Bob, or Surprise, by transpositions, as they can and should be proved, i.e., by the path of the treble—will not be in any doubt about which are lead-heads or lead-ends.

Except for the fundamental row (rounds), all lead-heads of properly-constructed methods are complex transposition rows; all lead-ends, without exception, of properly-constructed methods are simple transposition rows.

In a complex transposition row the face value and the proving value are not the same.

In a simple transposition row the face value and the proving value are both the same.—Yours faithfully,

GEORGE BAKER.

A DIFFERENCE DEFINED.

Dear Sir,—My article does not bear the meaning your correspondent, 'A Plain Ringer,' puts on it, and I cannot be responsible for his mistakes in reading it.

He is amused because I said that there is a difference between a row and a change—a little thing he calls it. Perhaps; but it is in the differences between such little things that all these questions like extension lie. He wants to know 'where, except in the writings of modern theorists like Mr. Trollope' (who presumably doesn't count) 'has the word "change" received the definition' I gave it. I will tell him. The very earliest written sentence explaining anything connected with ringing which has come down to us is Fabian Stedman's definition of a change. It strikes, as it were, the keynote of his book. It supplies his reader with the foundation idea on which ringing is based. Here it is: 'A change is made between two bells that strike next to each other by removing into each other's places, as in these two figures. 1.2. Make a change between them and they will stand 2.1, which is called a change. Make another change between them and they will stand in their right places.'

I should have thought that the very word 'change' itself would have told anyone who stopped to think for a moment that what is primarily meant is not so much a particular order of bells as the

184 METHODS IN A YEAR.

At All Saints' Church, Wath-on-Dearne, the 13 members of the local company, with the exception of two visitors (who took part in three methods), have rung during the year 1927 197 Minor extents in 184 different methods, the only methods rung more than once being Oxford three times and Kent twice, chiefly to oblige visitors. Of these extents, 121 were rung for Sunday services and 76 for special service, practice and peal attempts. BUCKNALL RINGERS' 70 METHODS.

During the year 1927 the ringers at Bucknall, Staffs, rang 161 720's in 70 different methods. The ringers taking part were: William Wheelodon (leader), 115 720's (conducted 24); Charles Preston, 127 (10); William Fradley, 138 (16); Miss Alice Preston, 144 (22); Charles Bowen, 129 (35); Harry Billings, 138 (38); Reg. alteration from one order to another. And practically every term that is used in actual ringing—hunting, dodging, snapping, leading, lying, place making, bob, course, lead, and the rest—has reference to the movement of the bells, which produces row from row, and not to the row itself. I am quite aware that from very early times, probably even from Stedman's time, the term included the resulting row as well as the movement which produced it. I am also quite aware that since peal composers are interested exclusively in the rows, for a long time the term 'change' was used as synonymous with 'row' as well as in its original meaning. Forty years ago, in the generation just before my time, the term 'row' was introduced as a better one to describe the actual arrangement of the bells. I do not remember who first used it. It was one of the group—Bulwer, Heywood, Thompson, Davies and the rest—who were the leading intellectual members of the Exercise during the eighties and nineties of the last century. When you use terms in an exact thing like the science of ringing you cannot be too accurate, you cannot be too careful in knowing exactly what the terms mean. I should not find fault with a man who spoke of a change when he meant a row, provided he was not confusing the two things. I should certainly advise one who is writing to use them carefully. But that is not the point. The point is that an anonymous writer has (as I think, unnecessarily) gone out of his way to find fault with me because I use the term 'change' with a meaning which was not only its original but which it has never lost. When your correspondent has recovered from his amusement he may with profit consider the fact that while rounds is certainly the first row of a plain course, the instinct of the Exercise is quite sound which treats rounds as the result and included in the last change.—Your truly,

J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

PRESENTATION AT STANMORE.RINGERS' ANNUAL DINNER.

The Stanmore (Middlesex) ringers held their annual dinner on Saturday, January 7th. In the regrettable absence of the Rector (Rev. W. A. Hewett), through illness, the chair was taken by the vice-president of the society, Mr. E. Heading, who was supported by a company of 24, which included Mr. G. Hughes (Master), Mr. F. Hill (secretary), Mr. F. Edwards (instructor), and Mr. C. T. Coles (hon. secretary, Middlesex Association).

After a very nice dinner had been put 'out of course,' the loyal toast was honoured.

Mr. G. Hughes proposed the toast of 'The Rector and Churchwardens,' expressing regret at the absence of the former, who was to have taken the chair, and wishing him a quick recovery.—The toast of 'The Visitors,' coupled with the names of Messrs. Coles and Edwards, was proposed by Mr. Hill, who thanked Mr. Edwards for the great amount of interest he had taken in instructing the Stanmore ringers.—The Chairman then presented Mr. Edwards with a handsome timepiece as a token of their gratitude to him.

In replying to the toast, Mr. Coles referred to the progress made by the Stanmore ringers, and congratulated them on the improvement made in their ringing since Mr. Edwards had given them such valuable assistance.

The latter gentleman also replied to the toast, and expressed sincere thanks for the handsome present made to him, which, he said, would remind him of many happy hours spent at Stanmore.

Interspersed between the speeches were songs by Messrs. Lawford, Bergun, Langley, and Hughes, with Mr. Springett very efficiently presiding at the piano, whilst some clever conjuring was given by Mr. Schofield.—An enjoyable evening terminated all too quickly.

GUISELEY RINGER'S DEATH.

The death of Mr. Stanley Walker at the age of 35, after two years of sickness, has made a gap in the ranks of the Guiseley band. Deceased had been connected with the tower for over 20 years, and had rung seven peals.

The funeral took place on Tuesday, January 10th, when four members of the local company acted as bearers, and rang a course of Grandsire Triples on handbells at the graveside: W. Dixon 1-2, T. M. Thompson 3-4, F. W. Dixon 5-6, J. Woodhead 7-8. Canon J. F. Howson conducted the service, and Mr. John Rhodes was at the organ.

OLD RINGER REVISITS BELFRY.

On Sunday, January 15th, at St. James' Church, West Derby, Liverpool, for morning service, 720 Kent Treble Bob Minor: B. Holmes 1, W. Hargraves (conductor) 2, A. Taylor 3, R. Harvey 4, E. Ginesi 5, H. Hancock 6. This 720 was rung also in honour of a visit to the belfry of Mr. W. Hargraves, who was for 50 years a regular ringer at the church, but owing to illness had to retire about 12 months ago, and now resides in the Birmingham district.

A JOINT MEETING.

A very enjoyable quarterly meeting of the Peterborough and Ely Diocesan Guilds (Peterborough and Wisbech Branches) was held at Chatteris, Cambs, on Saturday week, and was well attended by members of both societies. The service was taken by the Vicar, who gave the ringers a hearty welcome to Chatteris. Referring to the holding of a joint meeting, he said he thought it was a good idea, and showed the friendship that existed among bellringers. He hoped it was only the beginning of many more such meetings.

The ringing during the afternoon was of a high standard, and touches of Cambridge, London, York and Norwich Surprise were brought round, as well as of plain methods.

BELL LECTURE AT COTGRAVE.

A very interesting lecture, organised by Mr. Walter White, on bells and bell ringing, was given in the Parish Hall at Cotgrave, Notts, on the 30th ult., by the Rev. R. F. Wilkinson, of Ordsall, with a view to the enlightenment and instruction of the parishioners and neighbours, and to awaken interest in the art of church-bell ringing.

The lecture, which was very ably given, was illustrated by lantern slides and change ringing on handbells from 'sixes' to Caters by Messrs. Coppock, Milner, Oldham and Wilkinson, assisted by the local ringers. Five 'bob' leads of Bob Major were 'lapped' by the local band, so that the audience might see the marked treble actually hunting up and down.

The lecture, which was preceded by a pianoforte solo by Miss Wilson, of Farnsfield, was followed by a concert, at which Miss M. Knowles, of Matlock, gave some very fine excerpts on the violin, exhibiting great talent. Miss McNair, of Cropwell Bishop, and Mr. A. Coppock rendered some excellent songs, and Mr. E. Batters, of Nottingham, supplied the comic element. The accompanist on the piano was Miss K. A. White (daughter of Mr. Walter White).

Thanks are due and tendered to Mr. E. Morris, of Leicester, and Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, for kindly lending the lantern slides.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Mr. R. C. Clark, of 8, Hill Road, Chelmsford, has been appointed secretary of the South Eastern Division of the Essex Association in place of Mr. P. Timson, who has resigned.

A football cup-tie at Swindon to-morrow has necessitated the postponement of the Gloucester and Bristol (Swindon Branch) meeting at Highworth to February 11th.

The first association to pay its subscription to the Central Council this year was Guildford Diocesan Guild, followed closely by the Peterborough Diocesan Guild. Members of the Council are reminded of the fact that, under the resolution passed last year, notices of motion must be in the hands of the secretary three months before the meeting, which will be held on May 29th.

Mr. F. G. Woodiss, of Sutton, Surrey, fell off an omnibus in London, one day last week, and fractured an arm. We are glad to say he is progressing favourably.

His many friends will regret to hear that Mr. J. R. Jerram, of Salisbury, had a fall during the bad weather after Christmas, and is still confined to his house.

A College Youths band, on the evening of January 19th, visited and rang at St. Andrew's, Wells Street, and at St. Stephen's, Clapham Park. The object was to observe the difference, if any, in the tone of the 'ring' cast 50 years ago by Lewis, the organ builder, and those recently cast upon modern lines. The striking at both towers was much admired by the interested listeners.

A hundred and twenty-five years ago to-day a peal of 10,386 Grand-sire Caters was rung in 6 hrs. 56 mins. at Kingston-on-Thames.

To-morrow is the anniversary of a peal of '5,040 real Double Eight in, with two bobs in a lead, as many 7th's as 2nd's, with bobs behind and before.' This was rung at Richmond, Surrey.

This, however, was not the first peal of Double Bob. The first was rung at Whitechapel on January 29th, 1769, and is recorded in 'The Clavis.'

The anniversary of Benjamin Annable's death occurs on Wednesday next. He died in the year 1756, and was buried at St. Bride's, Fleet Street.

The bells of Birmingham Cathedral will be broadcast from 7.50 to 8 p.m. on Sunday next.

Over a hundred ringers were present at Chittlehampton on Wednesday week, when the bells were reopened, after having been rehung in a new frame and fittings by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co.

Mr. Albert Walker, Deputy Ringing Master of St. Martin's Guild, gave a lecture on bellringing last Thursday week before a large gathering of the Midland Branch of the Institution of Mechanical Engineers. The lecture was followed with keen interest, and handbell demonstrations, including Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major and a splendid course of Stedman Cinques, were greatly appreciated. The interest taken by the gathering in the subject was illustrated by the fact that a discussion afterwards lasted three-quarters of an hour.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

Subscriptions to the Central Council for the year 1928 are now due. The annual meeting will be held at Hereford on Whitsun Tuesday, May 29th, and notices of motion must be received by the hon. secretary, Mr. E. Alex. Young, 155, Rushey Green, Catford, S.E.6, not later than February 28th next.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD.

The annual meeting of the St. Martin's Guild for the diocese of Birmingham was held at St. Martin's Hotel on Tuesday, January 17th, and was well attended. In the absence of the Presiding Master, Mr. Alderman J. S. Pritchett, who apologised for his inability to be present owing to the fact that he was engaged in the capacity of judge at Hereford, the chair was taken by Mr. Vice-president J. H. Shepherd.

All the officers were re-elected for the ensuing year, Mr. James George being added to the vice-presidents, and Mr. Thos. H. Reeves being made a trustee in place of the late Mr. Charles Dickens.

The following are the officers of the Guild: President, the Lord Bishop of the Diocese; vice-presidents, Rev. Canon T. Guy Rogers, B.D., M.C., Rector of Birmingham, Alderman J. S. Pritchett, M.A., B.C.L., Messrs. J. H. Shepherd, Wm. Kent, Thos. Russam and James George; Presiding Ringing Master, Alderman J. S. Pritchett; Deputy Ringing Master, Mr. Albert Walker; trustees, Messrs. T. Russam and T. H. Reeves; auditors, Messrs. T. H. Reeves and Jonathan Preston; hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr. A. Paddon Smith.

Routine business having been disposed of, the Secretary informed the meeting that the Rector of Birmingham, Canon T. Guy Rogers, had promised to preside at the Henry Johnson Commemoration Dinner to be held on Saturday, February 25th.

OVER A HUNDRED 720's AT LAMBERHURST.

During the year 1927, 104 720's were rung on the bells at St. Mary's Church, Lamberhurst, Kent, in 47 different methods, including the 41 Surprise methods of the Central Council Collection. Seventeen ringers took part in them.

SURREY ASSOCIATION.

SUGGESTED AMALGAMATION WITH GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

The annual meeting of the Surrey Association at Guildford on Saturday had an added importance in view of the proposals of the committee to advance a scheme for amalgamating with the new Guildford Diocesan Guild. Nearly sixty members were present, and enjoyed ringing on the ten bells at St. Nicolas' Church in the afternoon, the methods including Grandsire and Stedman Caters, Bob and Treble Bob Royal, London Surprise Major, etc. A service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. G. M. Wheeler), the address being given by the Rev. Sir John Herschel (Rector of West Clandon).

After tea at the Prince of Wales Hotel, the business meeting was presided over by the Master (Mr. J. D. Drewett, J.P., of Mitcham).

The Hon. Secretary (Mr. C. H. Kippin) presented the balance sheet, which showed that there had been a loss of about £2 on the year.

The Master reviewed the work of the association during 1927. Twelve district meetings had been held, he said, and most of them were well attended, but the last meeting of the Western District was a failure, only five members being present. Forty peals were rung. This was 36 less than in the previous year, but the standard of the methods was higher, and it was gratifying that the bands ringing the lower methods in 1928 rang higher methods in 1927. They had lost four well-known members by death—Messrs. A. Otway and E. Hull, of Leatherhead, W. Shepherd, of Streatham, and H. Ewins, of Reigate. The last-named had been Southern District secretary for some years. They had also lost a former member in Mr. S. Daniels, who in 1911 was assistant hon. secretary. There had been three notable bell restorations in the county, namely, at Reigate, Horley and Wimbledon (increased to eight). There were 32 towers affiliated to the association, with 250 members. They also had 42 hon. members, 62 unattached, and 120 life and non-resident members. The Master referred with pleasure to the recovery of Mr. A. Dean and Mr. A. H. Pulling from serious accidents, and also spoke of the great rally of ringers at Croydon last year. He recalled the fact that the association had now been established for 48 years, and was thus only just a little junior to the Winchester Guild, which would celebrate its jubilee in 1929.

Four new members having been elected, the Master proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. J. Beams, of Ewell, for the work he had done in the past in entering the association's peals in the peal book. He did this work for many years, having entered 523 peals in all, and they were beautifully and expertly done.—The vote was heartily accorded.

Reigate was selected as the place for the next annual meeting.

THE AMALGAMATION SCHEME.

The question of amalgamation with the Guildford Diocesan Guild was then considered. The following scheme was put forward by the committee of the association:—

- (1) The amalgamation shall take place on January 1st, 1929.
- (2) The Surrey Association agrees to the rules of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, except for the following minor alterations:—
 - (a) The society shall be called 'The Surrey County Association and Guildford Diocesan Guild' of Church Bellringers.
 - (b) The Bishops of Southwark and Guildford shall be ex-officio joint presidents (subject to their consent).
- (3) Cash in hand on December 31st, 1928, shall be paid into the account of the joint societies.
- (3a) One report shall be published for the year 1928, recording both societies' performances, which shall be distinguished separately.
- (4) The boundaries of the districts in the Diocese of Guildford shall not be altered.

The Southern District of the Association shall be renamed 'Reigate District,' but its boundaries shall not be altered.

The remaining area of Surrey shall be called 'The Croydon and South London District.'

(5) All subscriptions due on or after January 1st, 1929, will be for the joint societies.

(6) Any person who is an honorary or ringing member of either society on December 31st, 1928, shall automatically be admitted a member of the amalgamated societies.

Any person who is a compounding member of either society on December 31st, 1928, will be automatically admitted a compounding member of the amalgamated societies without further payment.

(7) A preliminary meeting of the two societies shall be held during 1928 to approve the proposals put forward for amalgamation. The meeting shall be called by the two secretaries jointly, and the expenses of calling such meeting are to be borne by the two societies equally.

(7a) The first meeting of the amalgamated societies shall be held on January 1st, 1929, when the scheme approved of at the preliminary meeting shall be formally adopted.

At this meeting any resident member of either society may be nominated for election as one of the officers provided that the 14 days' notice has been given to the general secretary of either society, as required by the rules.

(8) After this meeting has taken place, the amalgamated societies shall continue absolutely as one society.

The Master, in introducing the proposal, said it arose from the previous annual meeting, when there was a discussion as to the possibility of amalgamating with the new Guildford Diocesan Guild then about to be formed, and the committee was deputed to approach the representatives of the Guild. A conference was held, and the committee engaged in organising the new Guild suggested that the proper way to proceed would be for the association to consider a scheme, pass it at the annual meeting, and then forward it to the new Diocesan Guild for consideration, as the Guildford committee had no power to discuss the matter. The result was that the association's committee had met and drawn up the scheme now presented. There were 12 members of the committee present at the meeting, and 10 voted for the scheme, while two did not vote. As chairman of the committee he formally moved the adoption of the report.—Mr. J. Hoyle seconded.

In reply to a question by Mr. C. Reading, it was stated that the scheme had not been considered by the Guildford Diocesan Guild.

Mr. Northover (Reigate) said he could not see there was any advantage to be derived by the Surrey Association from the scheme, particularly in the Southern District. He would like to hear some good reasons given in favour of it.

SOUTHWARK DIOCESAN GUILD SUGGESTED.

Mr. F. W. Richardson suggested that instead of amalgamating they should strike out and keep the association going (applause). He had come there specially to say that instead of joining with the Guildford Diocesan Guild they should consider forming a Southwark Diocesan Guild. They had not yet got the Bishop of Southwark's consent to an amalgamation, and if they went to him he might say, 'No; I want a diocesan association of my own.' He knew Croydon was in the diocese of Canterbury, but they might get over that difficulty by some such name as the 'Diocese of Southwark and the Archdeaconry of Croydon.'

Mr. Kippin pointed out that the diocese of Southwark included a piece of the county of Kent.

Mr. Richardson, continuing, said this raised the question whether their associations should be diocesan or county. Some time ago an article on the subject appeared in 'The Ringing World,' and he had been very much surprised that not one single letter had been written on the subject. The thing was, were they to be diocesan or county? They would not all think alike, but he thought they should be the Southwark Diocesan Guild (hear, hear). The Surrey was a good old association, and he thought something like that would be better than joining the Guildford Diocesan Guild. Let them strike out and keep 'on their own' (applause).

Mr. Kippin said if they became a Diocesan Guild they would have to throw out lowers which had belonged to the Surrey Association for 50 years.

Mr. C. F. Johnston said, as many of them would know, there had been talk of creating another diocese, namely, the Diocese of Croydon, and he was not sure that was not actually in the offing. He thought they ought not to hurry over the question of amalgamation, when the whole situation might be drastically altered in a year or eighteen months' time. With regard to the scheme itself, it might be advantageous to both sides, but it occurred to him that if Surrey had only two districts, while Guildford had four, Surrey might find it hard work to keep pace with Guildford. They had also to remember the position of the Southern District, which had worked for some years most successfully. They had also to remember that many of the association's towers were in the Guildford diocese, and their position was, perhaps, as difficult as anybody's.

Mr. A. J. Bull (Southern District secretary) said the Southern District was all against amalgamation.

After further discussion, in the course of which it appeared that there was a considerable division of opinion, an amendment was carried that discussion of the report be adjourned until a plebiscite of the members had been taken, and it was agreed that this should not be done before March 1st, so that all might have the opportunity of thoroughly considering the question. After the vote has been taken, a special general meeting will be held.

NEW RULES DEFERRED.

As the result of a motion passed at a Southern District meeting, 'that the present rules of the association were not satisfactory or sufficient,' the committee presented a new set of rules, and the Master moved, and Mr. Trappett seconded, that they be substituted for the existing rules.

Mr. Northover objected to any decision being come to that day, as many of the members had not seen the new draft.

Mr. Kippin said the committee considered it was not necessary that every member should have a copy. A copy was sent to everyone who had intimated that they intended to be present that day.

Mr. Northover moved that the consideration of the rules be deferred until the members had had time to discuss them.—Mr. Bull seconded.

Mr. Reading said the rules had only come into his possession that day. He had read them, but had not had time to consider them carefully, and he considered it unreasonable to ask them to pass a set of rules at such short notice.

Mr. Northover's amendment was carried by 22 votes to 7, and it was understood that the rules will come up again at the special meeting.

The meeting was then asked to decide the charge to be made to members for the annual report (if one be printed), or any other means of avoiding a deficit on the 1928 balance sheet.—After discussion, it was resolved to charge each member taking part in a peal a 'booking fee' of 3d., and that a charge of 6d. per copy be made for the report.

The officers were then elected as follow: President, the Bishop of

Southwark; Master, Mr. J. D. Drewett; hon. secretary, Mr. C. H. Kippen; hon. treasurer, Mr. C. Deau; assistant secretary, Mr. P. Cooper; hon. members on the committee, Revs. C. A. Finch and G. E. G. Hoare, Messrs. C. Reading, R. Henderson and Kennedy; auditor, Mr. F. W. Housden.

Mr. W. Shorter raised the question of the recording of peals rung by members who had not paid their subscriptions, and referred to a peal at Thames Ditton, published as being by the association, when two of the ringers, he believed, were not members at all.

It was resolved that this peal should not be entered in the association's records, and not to publish the annual report until after March 1st. This, it was felt, would give members in arrears the opportunity of paying their subscriptions. After that date, the peals in which those who were more than a year in arrears had taken part would be excluded.

WESTERN DISTRICT FAILURE.

The Master read a letter from Miss N. E. Shorter, saying that it was useless to arrange meetings in the Western District, and resigning the office of district secretary. Mr. Drewett said they were all very sorry for the circumstances that led up to Miss Shorter having to write a letter like that, and her resignation was not to be wondered at.

Miss Shorter said at the last three meetings they had an average attendance of only five, and on one occasion she was the only member of the district present. She had had a hard struggle for about four years, and it had been most disheartening to arrange meetings when no one turned up. Without the help of outside members it would have been impossible to hold the meetings at all.

The Master appealed to Miss Shorter to continue for another year, but Miss Shorter declined, and the cordial thanks of the association was passed to her for her work.

On the suggestion of Mr. Kippen, it was decided to attach the Western District to the Central District for this year.

The question of the resting place of the association's peal books was raised by Mr. Northover, and it was resolved that they be placed in Reigate tower for the ensuing twelve months. The meeting then terminated with a vote of thanks to the Master for presiding, to the authorities of St. Nicolas' Church for the service and the use of the bells, and to Sir John Herschel for his address.

A collection for the 'Irenæus Pistor' fund amounted to £1 14s.

SURREY ASSOCIATION PEALS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—At the annual meeting of the Surrey Association, held at Guildford last Saturday, it was decided that for all peals rung for the association for the ensuing year the band are charged a fee of 3d. per rope.

The conductor is responsible for collecting the money and forwarding it with particulars of the peal to the secretary in whose district the peal is rung, or, if outside the county, to the secretary of the district nearest.

Will the Analysis Committee of the Central Council please note that the peal of Grandsire Doubles rung at Thames Ditton on December 28th, 1927, is not to be credited to the Surrey Association?—Yours faithfully,

CHAS. H. KIPPEN,

Hon. Sec.

DURHAM & NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.PEALS FOR ASPIRANTS.

The members of the Southern District held a meeting at Bishop Auckland on Saturday, January 14th, which was well attended, there being 24 members present. The following towers were represented: Bishop Auckland, Shildon, Darlington (St. Cuthbert's and Holy Trinity), Staindrop and Willington. The proceedings began with a well-struck touch of Bob Major, and, during the afternoon, touches of Stedman and Grandsire Triples and Kent Treble Bob Major were rung.

The Rev. A. Hammond, curate of St. Andrew's, Auckland, presided at the meeting, in place of the Vicar, the Rev. Parry Evans, who was unable to attend.

A vote of sympathy on the death of Mr. A. M. Hall, a member of the Newcastle Cathedral band, was passed, the members standing in silence. A suggestion was made that in order to promote a greater interest in change ringing a quarterly peal should be organised, and, after some discussion on this subject, the following proposal was made: 'That any member desirous of taking part in a peal should send in his name and the method he would like to ring, to the district secretary, and when a band had been made up by this means the vice-president and district secretary would arrange the peal attempt.' This was agreed to.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Staindrop on Saturday, February 25th.

A vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar for his kindness in partly defraying the expenses of the tea, and for the use of the bells, also to the Rev. A. Hammond for presiding at the meeting.—The ringers then sat down to a good tea prepared by Mrs. Peverell and other ladies, and later again visited the tower, and touches of Stedman and Grandsire Triples, Kent Treble Bob Minor, and Bob Minor were rung and brought to a close a very enjoyable meeting.

IN MEMORIAM.

RICHARD HART HART DAVIS: PRIEST.

A FOUNDER OF THE OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

On Saturday, January 14th, there passed to his rest this well-known and respected member of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. It occurred almost at the moment when Canon Coleridge, as chairman of the Sonning Deanery Branch, was speaking about him at the annual meeting at Wokingham, and asking for the sympathy and prayers of those with whom he had been associated for so many years as founder and chairman. Though four years past the 'four score years,' there had come to him but little of the 'labour and sorrow' spoken of by the Psalmist. For it is little more than two months since he was sculling up the Thames and bringing back, as was his delight, a load of driftwood; while as recently as November 9th he was taking his morning plunge into the river. He had been, as a young man, a good, all-round athlete, excelling particularly as a wicket-keeper at cricket and as a half-back in Rugby football, and not only did he maintain his keen interest in games and athletics till the end, but also preserved in a wonderful way the body of youth.

Though never himself a bellringer, he was keenly interested in ringing, and formed one of the committee appointed by the Diocesan Conference in 1880 to carry out the formation of the Oxford Guild. From 1890-1923, he held office in the Guild, either as secretary or treasurer, and for a time as both. During these years he was also devoted to many other good works. From 1871-1904, he was working as a parish priest, first of all as assistant curate at Sonning, under Canon Pearson, and later as Vicar of Dunsden. When he gave up parochial work and went to live at the Ridge Field, Caversham, overlooking his beloved river, he threw himself heart and soul into all kinds of social and philanthropic work. When, in his eightieth year, he began to resign most of the positions of public trust that he held, it was not because he was losing his interest in things nor because he was physically failing, for, except in the matter of hearing, his faculties were unimpaired, but because he could not naturally expect to live much longer, and he desired to spare trouble to those who would have to settle his affairs after his death.

The congregation that assembled for the first part of the funeral service on Thursday at St. Peter's, Caversham, was a testimony to the affection and esteem in which he was held by 'all sorts and conditions of men.' The interment took place in the churchyard at Mapledurham, where the bodies of his wife and only son had previously been laid. Here it was that he assisted chiefly in the services of the church after leaving Dunsden, for this was really his parish church.

At the close a 720 of Bob Minor and 120 of Stedman Doubles were rung in the tower, with the bells half-muffled, by members of the Oxford Diocesan Guild.

On the Saturday following, a muffled peal of Stedman Triples was attempted at Sonning by a mixed band of Guild members, but, unfortunately, it came to grief after ringing about 1½ hours.

May he rest in peace.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.SOUTH AND WEST DISTRICT.

At the meeting of the South and West District on Saturday, January 14th, over 60 ringers gathered at Acton, where touches for all tastes in 'low,' 'middle' and 'highbrow' methods, and rounds for those whose enjoyment only extends at present to this height of the art, were indulged in.

The Rector (Rev. Newsham-Taylor) at the short service gave a much appreciated brief address after dedicating a magnificent peal board, mahogany and gilt lettered, recording two peals of special interest—an officers' peal of the South and West District and Carter's Odd Bob one-part peal of Stedman Triples, conducted by Robert Fardon.

After tea, the usual vote of thanks was passed to all those who had helped to make the meeting a success.

The Belcher family entertained the company with tunes on their handbells, much to the delight of everyone present.

COMMEMORATIVE PEAL AT SEDGLEY.

The peal at Sedgley, Staffordshire, on Saturday last, January 21st, was rung in honour of the fortieth anniversary of the induction of the present Vicar (Rev. Dr. T. G. Swindell) to the Vicariate of Sedgley, which took place on January 21st, 1888. The peal attempt was made by special request, and as it was also to be rung by members of the society of the Archdeaconry of Stafford, the ringers were thus unable to attend the society's meeting at Willenhall. A letter of apology was, however, forwarded to the secretary on behalf of the band.

After the peal, the ringers were kindly entertained to tea by the Vicar, whose hospitality was greatly appreciated by all present. The Vicar extended his best thanks to the ringers for the splendid peal they rang in honour of such an important event.

During the evening, Mr. Babb (people's warden) joined the company and made an eloquent and characteristic speech on the work of the bellringers.

The bells were 'fired' forty times, to represent the number of years the Vicar had worked in the parish.

Thanks are extended to Mr. and Mrs. B. Fullwood for their excellent services during the evening.

SOCIETY OF ROYAL CUMBERLAND YOUTHS.

THE ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The annual general meeting of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths was held at St. Martin-in-the-Fields on Saturday, January 14th. Permission was given for the use of the bells from 5.45 p.m. until 6 p.m., and from 8 p.m. until 9 p.m.

Tea was served in the St. Martin's Club as usual, but this year the management of this part of the programme was placed in the hands of Miss Wise, the new manageress of the club, who made a most promising start, and it is evident that the 'tea-party' side of the society's meetings of the future will quite equal that of the past. Miss Wise and her helpers well earned the thanks of the members—and the course of Grandsire Cinques, on handbells, they demanded.

The business meeting was preceded by a few words of welcome from the Vicar, the Rev. 'Pat' McCormick, who expressed his pleasure and surprise at seeing such a large gathering. Having had a glance at the society's peal book, he said he began to realise there must be something more in bellringing than he had ever thought, and he was going to try to find out more about it. Time would not permit him to take it up as a hobby, but he would certainly interest himself in bellringing and bellringers, and it was his great wish that the annual meetings of the society should continue to be held at St. Martin-in-the-Fields, as in the days of his predecessor, the Rev. H. R. L. Sheppard. Regretting he was unable to stay longer, he wished the society every success, and assured them of his presence at their next meeting.

The Treasurer presented the balance sheet, which showed a satisfactory balance in hand. This being accepted, the Secretary gave his report on the society's happenings and progress during the past year. In remarking on the various peals rung, special mention was made of the peal rung half-muffled to the memory of the late Mr. Benjamin Foskett, for which it was hoped a peal board would be placed in Shore-ditch Church.

The election of officers for 1928 produced little change. Mr. J. D. Matthews was re-elected Master, Mr. J. Sparrow secretary, Mr. J. W. Cornford treasurer, Mr. C. J. Matthews senior steward, Mr. T. Bevan junior steward, Messrs. R. Bevan and T. Newman auditors, and Messrs. F. Smith and A. Hardy trustees.

The making of new members having been carried out and matters of finance decided upon, the meeting was closed with a vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, the ladies of St. Martin's Club for helping with the tea, and the officers for their services to the society during the past year.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

NEW DISTRICT SECRETARIES.

The annual meeting of the Southern District was held on Saturday, January 21st, at Putney. The hour of commencement was four o'clock, but ten minutes before that hour a dozen enthusiasts were on the steps at Putney Parish Church, and five minutes later a band was getting on with Stedman Triples. Other methods were rung between then and five o'clock, Cambridge Major being the height attained. Tea, to which 23 members sat down at the Cosy Cafe opposite, being disposed of, the meeting was held. Three new members were made, the officers were re-elected with the exception of the secretary, Mr. C. F. Mitchell, in whose stead Mr. J. Herbert, of Putney, was elected.

A vote of thanks was accorded the Vicar of Putney for the use of the bells, and to the local Master and his men for the welcome extended to the association. The Vicar of Fulham and Mr. Driver were also included in this proposition.

The ringers then went 'over the water' to keep an appointment at All Saints', Fulham, where these beautiful bells were set going to Stedman Caters, and subsequently in various other methods till about 8.30. Members came from as far afield as Beckenham and Woolwich.

A meeting of the Northern District of the London County Association was held at St. Mary's, Whitechapel, on Saturday, January 21st. Ringing commenced at St. Dunstan's-in-the-East, after which the members went on to Whitechapel, where, after further ringing, a service was held, at which the Rector (the Rev. G. O. Mayo) officiated.

After tea, generously provided by the Rev. G. O. Mayo, the business meeting was held. The Master, Mr. L. Gray, being absent, Mr. Alleyway was elected Master pro tem. As Mr. Gray was absent, it was decided to leave over the election of the Master until the next meeting.

The secretary (Mr. J. A. Hales) having resigned, Mr. J. A. Waugh was elected in his place. The other officers appointed were: Steward, Mr. A. Riley; treasurer, Mr. Dymont; committee men, Mr. Newman and Mr. Molton; auditor, Mr. Alleyway.

It was decided, if possible, to hold the next meeting at St. Saviour's, Walthamstow.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Rev. J. O. Mayo, both for the excellent tea and the use of his bells, also to the incumbent of St. Dunstan's-in-the-East for the use of his bells. The ladies, who very kindly helped at tea were not forgotten, and a very hearty vote of thanks was accorded to them also.—The Rector, in replying, remarked, 'Come whenever you can,' and it is hoped to visit Whitechapel again soon.

After the business meeting, the members adjourned to the tower for further ringing.

'IRENEUS PISTOR.'

Our readers, we are sure, will be as gratified as we are to see that the fund this week has passed the £100 mark. As the list shows, there have been a number of collective contributions, and we hope we may receive many more such.

The following letter from the Rev. Harry Boyes, of St. Polycarp's, Hillsborough, shows how valuable has been the help provided for Mr. A. T. Baker and his family by members of the Exercise, and we hope the amount will continue to grow until it reaches such proportions as to provide something in the nature of permanent help for 'Ireneus' in his affliction.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—May I say how delighted I am that you have interested yourself and your readers in the case of Mr. Baker, 22, Hawthorn Road, Hillsborough. I know the family well, as I visit them frequently, and they are regular worshippers at my church.

He is bearing his affliction with great fortitude, and although he did not complain, I feel certain that at times his mental suffering must have been very acute. The struggle to make ends meet has been hard, and the prospect none too bright until you took it up. If the numerous subscribers could see the happiness their gifts have given they would feel amply repaid.

I trust that you will forgive me for my intrusion, but I felt that I really must express my appreciation of your kindness and interest in the family.—Yours faithfully,

HARRY BOYES (REV.).

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting of the Burton-on-Trent District, held at St. Paul's Church, Burton-on-Trent, on Saturday, January 14th, was well attended, upwards of thirty members and visitors being present. Most local towers were represented, whilst visitors were present from Derby, Loughborough, Crewe, Norton (Staffs), Chilcompton (Somerset), and other places.

Before the business meeting, touches in various methods from Bob Major to Stedman Caters and Cambridge Surprise Major were rung.

The new Vicar of St. Paul's (the Rev. J. Goodacre, M.C., M.A.) presided at the business meeting, at which the usual routine business was transacted.

The general officers and local committee were re-elected, and three new ringing members, one from Tufbury and two from Overseal, were made.

Overseal was selected for the next place of meeting, on March 17th, an amendment of Newhall being defeated.

Thanks are due to the Vicar for the use of the bells and for his kind hospitality on finding so many visitors present.

THE FUTURE OF THE M.C.A.

The trend which ringing organisations are taking towards diocesan, as distinct from county and territorial, status has been more than once referred to in this column. It has been our conviction that in the evolution, which is ever going slowly on, the future of ringing associations lies in their being linked more closely with the Church. The time is passing when we can look upon our art merely as a secular pursuit. At one time it was considered little else, and, except that ringing took place in the church towers because there were no bells elsewhere, there was little sympathy between the church and the ringers. To-day, however, the position is totally different, and the services of the ringer are recognised as an integral part of church work. The peal ringing side of our operations is becoming very largely a concession to those who, week in and week out, give their time and talents to ringing the bells for the services. If it were to happen that ringers would no longer ring the bells on Sundays, it is quite certain they would no longer have the use of bells for peals. The first is a position that will, we imagine, never occur, so that there is no need to worry about the likelihood of the second; but we put the point forward to illustrate the argument that there has been a definite change in the attitude not only of ringers toward the Church, but of the Church towards ringers, and, if to-day our associations and guilds could make a new start together, we do not hesitate to say it would be found that they would adopt a diocesan basis.

That even county associations are seriously reconsidering the position there is now further evidence from the Midland Counties. Stretching at present over the whole or part of some four dioceses, this large and influential body has decided to test the feeling of its members on the subject; the apparent object of the committee at the moment being a sub-division of the area into four diocesan organisations. It is a thorny problem with which doubtless the members can be trusted to deal with common sense and vision, but it involves many considerations outside the purely M.C.A. area, of which the casual observer is not fully aware. The dioceses chiefly concerned are Leicester, Derby, Southwell and Lichfield, and if the Midland Counties Association's territory were simply coterminous with these the matter would be comparatively simple. Leaving out of the question, however, any small overlappings there may be into other dioceses, the M.C.A. is confronted with the fact that there are other not unimportant societies operating within the four main areas. The Society for the Archdeaconry of Staffs and the North Staffordshire Society are working successfully in the diocese of Lichfield, where the M.C.A.'s principal concern is with the Burton District. In Southwell there is the active North Notts Association to be taken into account if the Diocesan Guild is to be really comprehensive; while in Derbyshire there is the East Derbyshire Association, and the Old East Derbyshire portion of the Sheffield District Society. Then there are organisations like the Sherwood Youths of Nottingham, and the Framland Society, so that if the scheme for division is to be made effective and successful and to embrace all the ringers in their respective dioceses, it will need to be handled with diplomacy, but we have no doubt there will be found an acceptable solution.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

ANCIENT CHURCH PROPERTY AT BROUGHTON.

A meeting of the Preston Branch was held at Broughton, near Preston, on Saturday, January 21st, and, although the day was very wet, there were representatives present from six of the branch towers. The ringing, on the whole, was very good, the methods being Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Spiced Oxford and Kent, Cambridge and London Surprise Minor.

The Vicar (the Rev. D. R. Davies) was present at tea, and also presided at the business meeting.

After tea, the rev. gentleman produced some rubbings which have been taken from three of the oldest bells in the tower. The oldest bell, which is of the early fifteenth century, is inscribed as follows: 'St. Petre, O.P.N.' (the founder's mark) 'T.B.'

The next oldest is inscribed: 'Jesus be our spede 1632' (founder's mark) 'P.H.'

On the third bell is 'C.W. W.W. I C. 1681. Gloria in Exelsis Deo' (founder's mark) 'W.S.'

The Vicar also showed the meeting some old 15th century documents, which related to the giving of the rent of a field to the church for ever, also an old chest which was hewn out of the tree before the use of saws and planes, as we know them to-day; an old font which had been brought back to the church some years ago, after doing duty as a watering trough for pigs or cattle.

The singular part about these ancient bells, and other things in the church, was that, although most of the visitors present had been often enough before, they were unaware of them till the Vicar brought them to their notice.

Two new members were elected, and the bells were 'dropped' about eight o'clock, after a very pleasant meeting.

ACTIVITY AT ALLESLEY.

The following 720's of Surprise Minor were rung by the Sunday service band recently: Sunday, October 9th, 1927, 720 of York Surprise; Sunday, October 16th, 720 of Beverley Surprise; October 24th, 720 of Chester Surprise; October 31st, 720 of Durham Surprise; Sunday, November 6th, with the bells half-muffled, 720 of Wells Surprise; Sunday, November 13th, 720 Cancaastro Surprise; November 26th, 720 London Surprise; December 5th, 720 Ipswich Surprise, also 720 of Cambridge Surprise; Sunday, January 8th, 720 of Surfleet Surprise. C. Aylett and G. Gardner 1, O. J. Hunt 2, H. Summers 3, J. Taylor 4, F. W. Perrins (conductor) 5, J. H. W. White 6. The above 720's, with the exception of London and Cambridge, are the first upon the bells and by all the band.

BRISTOL UNITED RINGING GUILDS.

ANOTHER SUCCESSFUL GATHERING.

The committee of the Bristol United Ringing Guilds have every reason to be happy and proud of the continued successes, year after year, of the annual dinner, but there is one perplexing feature, and that is that Bristol is poorly equipped with hotels and restaurants in which a room can be found to house the large numbers who wish to support the happy event. Last year a move was made to the Royal Hotel, where the coffee lounge was found to be large enough and something to spare for future elasticity, but, unfortunately, the room was acoustically so bad that a return to the Grand Hotel had to be made. With only accommodation for about 125, the hon. secretary was bewildered to find that over 150 tickets had been sold, and that other applications were still pouring in. It was decided nearly a week beforehand that no more tickets could be disposed of. At the last moment some relief was afforded by the unfortunate illness of about eight to ten patrons.

Proceedings at the seventh annual gathering on Saturday, January 21st, commenced with ringing at St. Stephen's Church. After an hour's efforts in various methods, a move was made to St. Mary Redcliffe, where ringing on the twelve bells was indulged in for a considerable period beyond the scheduled time. Tea was provided at St. Thomas' Parish Room, and here good opportunity was made for a chat with old friends. In one instance two ringers met for the first time after a lapse of 20 years. The ringers are very grateful to Mrs. Leaker and Mrs. Cave and others who helped to arrange the tea. At 5.45 a move was made to the Grand Hotel. The room was festooned with large coloured paper bells, and the whole 'atmosphere' was permeated with the spirit of good fellowship. The service was voted better than ever, and good digestion was assisted by sweet music rendered by Mr. Palmer and his friends. After all the good things had been disposed of, the Chairman (Mr. John Jeffries) proposed the toast of 'His Majesty the King,' and when the National Anthem was sung one thought of the Albert Hall community concert. The Sec. read the apologies for absence, in which good wishes were expressed, from Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, Mr. C. F. Johnston, Mr. A. Paddon Smith, and Mr. Dart. An apology was made from Mr. Rich, of Bath, who had unfortunately been ill.

The Chairman then proposed the toast of 'The Church,' in which he referred to the present crisis, and said that bellringers throughout the length and breadth of England hoped for a settlement upon a foundation true and sure. The church bell chambers, he proceeded, were better places now than their paternal body, the Gloucester and Bristol Association had been formed for half a century. He hoped for continued prosperity for the association, and asked all ringers to place the prosperity of their beloved church before every other consideration. This was important, because, of course, if there were no churches they, as bellringers, would not be wanted.

The Right Rev. the Lord Bishop of Malmesbury, on rising to respond, was greeted with a tremendous ovation. The Lord Bishop remarked that it was being said that the Church to-day was torn apart, and that one section was pulling against another, but he was sure that the situation had been greatly exaggerated. 'Here are you good people,' said the Bishop, 'coming from all sorts of churches, and yet you are in real fellowship and willing to live and let live. It is possible that in bellringing even one might find different views upon different matters, but because of that you do not think they are thoughtless or selfish. It would be ridiculous ever to suppose that one could have uniformity of thought. Why, the whole beauty of the world was its variety. Just as there was a variety in nature, so was there variety in the human mind and feeling. It expressed itself in art, in every form of science, in what you prefer to eat and drink, and even as he looked amongst them in that room he could notice the variety of dress. In the Church to-day they had a variety of expression, and in this there was bound to be differences of intellectual ideas and interpretations. The world's progress depended upon variety of thought, and progress was due to that daring to be different. The crisis through which we are passing is an attempt by men who have thought well to bring our laws up to date, and so enable all those who hold fast to the old laws of the Church, but need a variation, to express themselves to God.

A very difficult position had arisen, he continued, and a great deal depended upon the laity as to how they supported the Bishops in the task before them. He would like them to think of what bells meant. They rang as a sign of danger; they rang as a sign of joy; and they expressed the great things of Christian life. Bellringers acted as agents of God when they called people to worship Him. The standard of bellringing had gone up, not only in the work itself, but in the way it was done. In conclusion, the Bishop said he could, in the name of the Lord Bishops of Bristol and Gloucester, thank the united ringing Guilds for the work done and for the example they had set in carrying out the work they had at heart. He had never been at a ringers' gathering before, but he hoped he would be allowed to come again, and, perhaps, on the next occasion they might not be burdened with his voice.

Mr. Joseph S. Hawkins, Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths, proposed the toast of 'The Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association.' In doing so, he congratulated the association upon attaining its jubilee, and congratulated the officials upon their efforts to maintain the position that the association occupied. He wished them continued success.

The Master, Rev. C. D. P. Davies, in responding, was received with long applause. He said the gathering that night proved that the step of forming the association fifty years ago was a right one. There was every sign and prognostication that not only was the association making progress, but would continue to do so (hear, hear). He was very proud that the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association was holding its own among the associations of England. The work of a ringer called for a certain amount of self-denial and self-sacrifice, and they as ringers were willing to give both, and, furthermore, were always ready to do so.

The Vice-Chairman, Rev. R. H. Whitford, proposed the toast of 'Kindred Guilds and Associations.' He referred them all to the leading article in 'The Ringing World' issued the day before, and welcomed the many visitors there that evening.

Mr. John P. Fidler, Midland Counties Association, and Mr. John W. Jones, Llandaff Association, responded.

The toast of 'The Artistes' was proposed by Mr. Joseph Gould, who said thanks were due to those who had so admirably entertained them that evening, and that the Guilds were greatly indebted to Mr. W. S. Emery and Mr. Charles Spurrer, who had worked untiringly to make the musical programme the great success it had been.—Mr. Charles Read, I.S.M., conductor of the Cecilian Musical Society, briefly responded. Mr. Read is regarded as being part and parcel of these annual dinners, and the committee know they not only have his sympathetic support in assisting from the musical side, but his advice and useful information. Songs were ably rendered by Miss Winifred Rodd (gold medallist), and the congratulations of Bristol Guilds have been extended to her upon the invitation to sing at Croydon All-England Ringers' Day on March 3rd. Miss Dorothy Hill gave humorous recitals, and the songs of Master Folkes (a St. Thomas' choir boy) were much appreciated. Mr. Courtenay Frost, who has a delightful tenor voice, was encored. Mr. E. Vaughan Coleman gave mystic performances, and the St. Thomas' handbell ringers played new and old selections to everyone's delight. During the evening, by kind permission of the management of the Prince's Theatre, Mr. Jack Stanley ('King Philip') and Mr. Johnnie Schofield ('Mrs. Pip'), from 'Humpty Dumpty' pantomime, gave a happy few moments of their company and songs. As the evening drew to a close, the numbers gradually decreased, until 'Auld Lang Syne' officially ended the night's successful enjoyment.

Among those present were ringers from London, Croydon, Swindon, Birmingham, Sheffield, Newport, Malvern, Weston-super-Mare, Ubley, Kemerton, Loughborough, Wyke Regis, Chaw Magna, Chippenham, Gloucester and other places. One gratifying feature was the strong support given to the Guilds by the clergy.

COALBROOKDALE RINGERS' DINNER.

The Coalbrookdale Society held their second annual dinner at the Commercial Hotel on Saturday, January 14th. The Vicar (the Rev. Preb. C. B. Crowe, M.A.) presided, and was supported by Mr. Frederick Johnson (churchwarden), Alderman Walter Roberts, Councillors W. Bishop and J. S. Barker, J. C. Green, Esq., and Mr. Edwin Bailey (Coalbrookdale Inn). Messrs. John Wase, Donald Wase, F. Francis, A. J. Garbett, E. V. Rodenhurst (Hodnet), J. L. Hayward (Maidstone), and Wallace Wall (organist), were amongst the visitors. Fourteen of the local ringers were also present, and the sidesmen of Holy Trinity Church, viz., Messrs. S. Stanway, H. Williams and E. Johnson. Apologies were received from Mr. Herbert Hughes (Vicar's warden) and Mr. Thos. Doughty, saying that illness prevented them being present. The function was arranged by Mr. William Saunders, head ringer and towerkeeper, and an excellent meal was served.

The loyal toasts were honoured, and Councillor Barker proposed 'Church and State,' to which the Chairman replied.—The health of 'The Visitors' was proposed by Mr. Fred Johnson, and Alderman Roberts responded.

Councillor Bishop submitted the toast of 'Continued prosperity to the Coalbrookdale ringers,' and Mr. Wm. Saunders suitably replied.—The health of 'The Chairman' was submitted by Councillor Barker, and was responded to.

During the evening Mr. Wm. Saunders explained the origin of the function, and said it would help to promote a feeling of goodwill among the ringers.—A musical programme was rendered during the evening by the following: Alderman Roberts, Messrs. F. Francis, A. J. Garbett, D. Wase, G. E. Wase, J. Garbett, and the Coalbrookdale handbell ringers. Mr. Wallace Wall was the accompanist. All present agreed that the annual dinner of the Coalbrookdale ringers had come to stay.

RINGERS ENTERTAINED.

A pleasant gathering took place at the Bull's Head, King's Norton, on Saturday, January 21st, when the Ringing Master of the St. Nicolas' Guild, Mr. F. B. Yates, invited the members and a few friends to dine with him. A splendid repast of Christmas fare had been provided, to which full justice was done. Afterwards, the company settled down to a concert, songs being well rendered by Messrs. Downes, Dowding, H. Withers and Avery, and touches upon handbells were successfully brought round.

At the conclusion, the best thanks of those present were given to Mr. Yates in a very hearty manner by Mr. J. F. Smallwood, of Derby. A birthday peal for Mr. Yates had previously been rung.

CHITTLEHAMPTON BELLS. A DAY'S FESTIVITIES.

The bells at Chittlehampton, Devon, have been reopened after being rehung by the well-known firm of Messrs. John Taylor and Co., Loughborough. The new framework is of massive cast iron; the foundations consist of two sets of rolled steel girders. All new fittings have been provided, with headstocks of cast iron, specially proportioned to each bell. The nickel steel gudgeons turn in ball bearings, with double race enclosed in special housing which excludes all dirt.

There were over 100 campanologists present at the reopening from Torrington, Atherington, High Bickington, Chulmleigh, King's Nympton, Tawstock, Bishop's Tawton, Marwood, Meshaw, Yarncombe, Filleigh, West Buckland, Burrington, and Mariansleigh, all of whom expressed themselves highly pleased with the work. The proceedings started with an auction of the old timber framing, the hammer being successfully wielded by Mr. F. Dobbs, all the lots realising satisfactory prices.

A public luncheon followed, the Vicar presiding, supported by the acting Rural Dean, Rev. E. Bell Molland, Col. Gracey, Revs. W. Lee and H. J. Crocker, Wesleyan ministers, and Mr. F. Dobbs, the visiting bellringers being guests of the committee.

At the conclusion, a toast list was submitted by the Vicar. 'The King' was accorded musical honours, 'The Visitors' was acknowledged by Col. Gracey and Rev. W. Lee, 'The firm, John Taylor and Co.' was responded to by Mr. J. P. Fidler, representing the firm, and 'The ringers' was replied to by Mr. A. Darch, Torrington.

The Rev. E. Bell submitted 'The Bells Committee,' and congratulated them on the success achieved. To this, Mr. J. R. Burgess, hon. secretary and treasurer, responded. The Vicar then proposed 'The hon. secretary and committee organising the recent draw,' Mr. G. Crocker responding. 'The hon. auctioneer' was replied to by Mr. F. Dobbs, 'The subscribers' by Mr. H. E. Jones. A hearty vote was accorded the ladies, on the proposition of Mr. R. Fidler, High Bickington.

Divine service followed, the preacher being the Lord Bishop of Exeter who in the course of his address referred to the prominent part played by church bells in our national life. The bells, he said, were high up in the various towers, so that their sound might reach everyone with their message, and they had a message for all—the call to God's house and a call to higher things. He hoped they would not call in vain.

During the afternoon and evening, whist drives were in charge of Mesdames Lean and Bastin, and a skittle competition was in charge of Messrs. W. Dean, W. J. Westacott and G. Pethebridge. A public tea was provided and well patronised, followed by a dance arranged by Messrs. J. R. Burgess and P. V. Bastin, who were also M.C.'s, music being provided by the Palestrine dance band.

Much work has devolved upon Messrs. A. E. Mayne, the bellringers' secretary, and J. R. Burgess, hon. secretary and treasurer to the Bell Fund Committee, who are to be congratulated on the results achieved.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION. PROPOSED ALTERATIONS OF RULES.

The quarterly meeting of the Lewisham District was held at St. Luke's, Bromley Common, on Saturday. Standard methods were rung during the afternoon, and a short service was held in the church, the Vicar (Rev. J. W. Hassard-Shortt) officiating. Tea, kindly provided by the Vicar, was partaken of in St. Luke's Church Hall, fifty-seven able trenchermen (and women) participating of the good fare provided. At the business meeting which followed, with the Vicar in the chair, nineteen new members were elected, including five ringers of St. Mary's, Woolwich, a tower which had been out of union for the past two or three years.

Mr. I. Emery gave a report of proceedings at the Central Committee meeting held at Tonbridge in November last. In the course of this report, Mr. Emery called the attention of members residing outside the county to the proposed amendments to Rule 4 (d) and Rule 11. These will appear, for discussion, on the agenda of the annual general meeting, and are as follows: Rule 4 (d) to be altered so that members desiring to become life members after three consecutive subscriptions of the usual amount (i.e., 2s. per annum), must notify the secretary of their desire, and Rule 11 to be altered by the addition of the words 'or other' to the closing sentence, viz., 'No travelling, or other allowances will be made to non-resident life members.' Last year 'other allowances' included free dinner tickets on the occasion of the annual general meeting.

Mr. T. Groombridge, sen., moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Emery for his clear and concise report, and this was carried with applause. St. Mary's, Woolwich, was chosen as the place of next meeting.

Mr. T. Groombridge proposed that a collection be made on behalf of 'Irenæus Pistor.' This was agreed to, and the sum of £1 ls. 3d. was obtained.

Mr. W. J. Jeffries moved a vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, for conducting the service, for his generous hospitality in supplying a splendid repast, and for presiding at the business meeting, to the organist for his services, to the ladies for serving the tea, and to Mr. Keep, of the local band, for arranging the meeting.—This was carried with applause.—The Vicar responded, assuring the members of a hearty welcome whenever they visited St. Luke's in the future.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Among those whom death removed from the Surrey Association last year, was Mr. W. E. Otway, of Leatherhead, not Mr. A. Otway, as inadvertently given in our last issue.

Intending visitors to the Johnston dinner on February 25th should make application for tickets to Mr. Albert Walker, 81, Baker Street, Sparkhill, Birmingham (Deputy Ringing Master of St. Martin's Guild), and not to Mr. A. Paddon Smith, the hon. secretary, who will be abroad for the next three weeks.

Two thousand extents of Minor is a wonderful, if not a record, performance, yet this has been achieved by Mr. James Fernley, sen., the conductor at Norbury, Cheshire, where history has been made in 'Spliced' ringing. Last week a peal in 25 methods was rung, in the course of which Mr. Fernley reached his 2,000th 720.

Mr. William Stevens, a carpenter, who resides at Great Horwood, Bucks, has just completed 60 years as a ringer at the Great Horwood Parish Church, where his father, also a carpenter, helped to do the woodwork when the bells were rehung and one bell recast 70 or 80 years ago.

Sunday is the 40th anniversary of the peal of 12,041 Stedman Caters rung in 7 hrs. 26 mins. at Appleton on February 5th, 1888. Since that time that record has been beaten in varying stages by over 9,000 changes, but Appleton still has credit of the longest length, which it retrieved on April 22nd, 1922, when the peal of 21,363 was rung.

On February 5th, 1783, a peal of 12,672 Bob Major was rung at Bromley. It was two days after this event that the bells of St. Botolph's, Bishopsgate, were opened, and three separate peals were rung by three different bands on that occasion. Two of the peals were by the College Youths, and one by the Cumberlands.

The first Surprise peal rung in the 'Metropolis' was 5,600 of Superlative at Bethnal Green by the St. James' Society on February 9th, 1850.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION. PROPOSAL TO FORM DIOCESAN GUILDS.

What can be written down as a most successful meeting of the Midland Counties Association was held at Syston on January 21st, when some 50 members from Burton, Colgrave, Derby, Hinckley, Loughborough, Leicester, Nottingham and other places were present, including Mr. J. H. Shepherd from Swindon. The eight bells of the Parish Church, though not of the best, and sadly in need of rehanging, were kept going in various methods from Grandsire to Cambridge, and later in the evening Thurnaston (six bells) was visited by a number of ringers. It was unfortunate that the worthy president of the association, Aid. R. B. Chambers, B.A., J.P., could not be present, but advancing years and feeble health prevented this; and, further, the hon. treasurer (Mr. W. Willson) was unable to attend owing to business.

The committee met in the Church Rooms, and Mr. W. E. White was elected chairman. Routine matters were first dealt with, and it was decided to grant £5 to Whitwick, whose eight bells are being rehung. As proposed at the last meeting, the hon. secretary read the committee's report and the treasurer's comments on the balance sheet, and, with minor amendments, these were passed for printing in the annual report.

There have been several suggestions and proposals talked of to divide the association, which covers a huge area, into diocesan Guilds or districts, and this idea was favourably received by the committee and referred to at the general meeting.

A substantial meat tea, catered for by the churchwarden's wife and other ladies of the church, was followed by the general meeting, presided over by the Vicar (the Rev. T. R. J. Avery). He gave the members a cordial welcome in a few witty remarks. The Hon. Secretary (Mr. E. Morris) explained the various matters arising out of minutes, and also stated that the committee's report and balance sheet for 1927 had been passed, and would appear in the annual report in due course.

New members elected since the previous meeting were confirmed, viz., 1 patron (the Lord Bishop of Derby), 1 honorary, 1 life, and 22 ordinary members. The grant to Whitwick, proposed in committee, was ratified, and two auditors to check 1927 accounts were elected.

The proposals or suggestions to divide the association into diocesan Guilds or districts was then discussed at length, the Hon. Secretary first explaining that the committee had favourably received the idea, but warned the members not to come to hasty conclusions, but carefully to think the matter over, so that, should the scheme come about, it could be done in a fair and equal way to all concerned.

It was finally decided to bring the matter up again at the annual meeting on Easter Monday at Nottingham, and that in the meantime each district should discuss the matter among its members. The hon. secretary was requested to write to each of the four Lord Bishops (Derby, Leicester, Lichfield and Southwell), who all are patrons, and get their sanction and opinions.

It was quite understood that the present Midland Counties Association be kept as a central body with the four diocesan Guilds affiliated when, and if, so formed. It was also agreed unanimously that the president, Aid. Chambers, be asked to retain office for at least another year, and that all members be prepared to co-operate with his superior experience and knowledge.

ALL ENGLAND RINGERS' MEETING AT THE CROYDON BELL FOUNDRY ON MARCH 3rd.

We have issued this week an invitation to all hon. secretaries of Diocesan Guilds and County Associations asking them to send names of their members who wish to attend. I would be glad if this information could reach me not later than Wednesday, February 22nd. The programme for the day will be:—

11.30 a.m. to 12.45 p.m.—Ringing at St. Stephen's Church, Clapham Park, and Croydon Parish Church, by arrangement.

2 p.m.—Works open to visitors. Demonstration of a peal of ten, having as tenor the 19-ton Bourdon for New York, which will be rung in its frame; a ring of eight; a carillon of 23; and sundry other peals of bells.

3.30 p.m. to 4.45.—Ringing at the Parish Church and St. Peter's, Croydon.

5 (for 5.15 p.m.)—Invitation tea at the Baths Hall, Scarbrook Road.

6.45 p.m. to 7.45.—Ringing at the Parish Church and St. Peter's.

8 p.m. to 11.45.—Social at the Baths Hall: concert, handbell ringing and dancing.

His Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Lord Bishop of Guildford, Canon G. F. Coleridge (president of the Central Council), the Mayor and Mayoress of Croydon, and the Vicar of Croydon (Canon E. S. Woods), are among those who have expressed their intention of being present at this gathering.

CYRIL F. JOHNSTON,
Gillett and Johnston, Croydon.

In connection with the gathering, Mr. Johnston is seeking the co-operation of the secretaries of ringing Guilds and associations in making known the arrangements, and those who require tickets will have to make application through this channel.

As the number of ringers attending is likely to be unusually large, it is not possible to extend the invitation in a general way to ringers' wives or friends (unless they are ringers also). Every effort, however, will be made to provide for a few tickets for this purpose to each association or Guild directly the number of those coming is known.

If any ringers desire to ring in the morning from 11.30 to 12.45, before visiting the works, and they could let me know, the necessary arrangements will be made at St. Stephen's Church, Clapham Park (ring of eight, tenor 17½ cwt.), and at the Parish Church, Croydon (ring of eight, tenor 30 cwt.).

An application has been forwarded to the Railway Clearing House for reduced fares to all ringers attending. Information on this point, if the application is successful, will be published in a future issue. The nearest station to the works is West Croydon; to St. Stephen's, Clapham Park, is Clapham Common Underground; and to Croydon Parish Church, West Croydon or East Croydon.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Central Division was held at Southover, Lewes, on Saturday, January 21st. Ringing commenced at 2.30, and continued until four, when a special service was conducted by the Rector (Rev. C. R. Farnsworth, M.A.), who gave an instructive address on strength and weakness of character as exemplified in the case of St. Peter. The offertory on behalf of the benevolent fund reached the excellent sum of £1 4s. After the service, the company, which had reached close on 60, proceeded to the Church Room, where a substantial tea had been most generously provided by the Rector.

The usual business meeting followed, the Rector presiding, supported by the Master (Mr. J. T. Rickman), and was mostly of a routine nature. The following new members were elected: E. Colbran, Turner's Hill, and P. W. Arnold, G. J. Cooper, W. J. Davey, J. C. Edwards, S. Foster, F. Keywood, F. J. Sharpe, S. Simister, all members of the newly-affiliated tower of the Good Shepherd, Dyke Road, Brighton. Mr. G. Piper, who is leaving Seaford, was elected a non-resident member, and the election of Mr. J. B. Tyler, Alton, Hants, as a non-resident member, was confirmed.

The next meeting of the division—the annual—was announced to take place at East Grinstead on Saturday, March 31st, by kind invitation of the Vicar, the Rev. Dr. Golding-Bird, D.D.

The meeting concluded with the Master (Mr. J. T. Rickman) proposing a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector of Southover for the use of the bells, the service, his address and generous hospitality. He also thanked the organist for his services. The Rector suitably responded.

Ringing was again resumed, and ranged from rounds to Caters, Royal and Surprise methods. The following towers were represented: Brighton (St. Peter's, St. Nicholas' and the Good Shepherd), Burgess Hill, Ditchling, Crawley, East Grinstead, Eastbourne (St. Saviour's and All Saints'), Heathfield, Heene, Henfield, Keymer, Lindfield, Seaford, Shoreham, Uckfield, Withyham; also the Southover Branch, who kindly made all local arrangements.

DEATH OF NORTHANTS VETERAN.

A 'FATHER' OF THE PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD.

A much respected member of the Thrapston Branch of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, in the person of Mr. Henry Stubbs, of Raunds, Northants, passed away on January 12th, in his eightieth year. The late Mr. Stubbs had been an active ringer in the parish for 63 years, and for 61 years he had taken part in ringing the old year out and the new year in, with the exception of the war years, when ringing was prohibited.

He was also a loyal Sunday Service ringer, and always ready to help and encourage the younger members in the art of change ringing. In his early days, before the advent of buses, etc., he walked hundreds of miles to help and encourage others who were not so proficient in the art as he himself, doing real pioneer work for many miles around. It might be said that he was one of the fathers of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, for he was one of the founders of the Raunds, Wellingborough and District Society of Church Bellringers, formed in 1883, afterwards merged in the Central Northants Association, which four years ago became the Peterborough Diocesan Guild.

He had taken part in a good number of peals, his last being rung when he was 77 years of age. For the last ten years of his active working life he was sexton at the Parish Church, and it was always a pleasure to meet him with his cheery smile.

Amid many tokens of respect and sympathy, he was laid to rest at Raunds on Monday week. The services at the church and at the cemetery were taken by the Rev. A. Brown (Vicar). Amongst those present at the funeral were Mr. W. Gilbert, a life-long colleague, representing the Raunds ringers, Mr. R. Loveday, of Thrapston, and Mr. G. H. Roberts, of Ringstead, representing the Thrapston Branch of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild. After the funeral, touches were rung with the bells fully muffled.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE WIRRAL BRANCH.

The Wirral Branch of the above Guild held its annual meeting at St. Saviour's, Oxton, on Saturday, January 21st, and a goodly muster attended to make full use of the excellent peal of eight bells, the methods rung ranging from Plain Bob to Cambridge Surprise Major. All had their wishes gratified, the youngest learners not being neglected, rounds being rung for their benefit.

A most pleasing feature of the gatherings of this branch is the number of youthful members who are coming along. For instance, in a touch of Cambridge Surprise Major, on Saturday, at least four of the band were under 21, two of them being only 13 years of age! This is a splendid augury for the future of ringing in this district, and reflects the greatest credit on the branch instructor (Mr. J. Cooke), who has been unsparing in his efforts to impart his knowledge to these young ringers.

A short service was held, conducted by the Rev. Canon Sayer, M.A. (Vicar), who gave a most arresting address. He appealed to those present, and especially the juniors, not to rest content in their lives, to avoid getting into a rut, and ever to be seeking to improve their condition and that of those around them. The abolition of slavery, he said, and great reforms of all kinds, had been brought about by men who had a 'divine discontent' of things as they found them, and who sought to improve matters and did not rest content until they had done so.

Tea was afterwards served, and at the succeeding meeting the branch president (Mr. J. W. Milner, of Liscard) took the chair. A letter of regret for absence was read from Mr. E. W. Elwell (general secretary of the Guild).—The election of officers took place, and a very hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells and for his excellent address, and to the Parochial Council for providing the really sumptuous repast, concluded an afternoon that was agreed by everyone present to have been most enjoyable.

BARNSELEY AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED.

The annual meeting was held at headquarters, Barnsley, on Saturday, January 14th. In spite of inclement weather, the gathering was thoroughly representative, and great interest was taken in all the numerous items that had to be dealt with. The bells were rung freely in Minor, Triples and Major during the day.

A committee meeting was held in the Rectory by the kindness of Canon Howe. A short service in St. Mary's Chapel was taken by Rev. H. Hervey (curate).

Tea at Howard's Cafe followed, and the business meeting was held in the Parish Room, the president, Mr. W. Moxon, being in the chair. A representative of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston (Mr. S. R. Roper) was present, and was offered a warm welcome by the chairman.

Two rules, one amended, the other new, were duly passed.

Mr. W. Keyner, the president (Sandal) proposed that a special gathering be arranged, to which the Bishop and all clergy in the association should be invited to meet the members. This was deemed a happy inspiration, to be acted upon at a later meeting.

A charitable gift of £1 12s. was collected for Mr. Wilfred Richardson, a ringer, aged 84.

The accounts for 1927 were duly audited and passed. All the officials were re-elected without opposition.

THE SHERWOOD YOUTHS.

LARGE GATHERING AT NOTTINGHAM.

Growing in popularity year by year, the William Doubleday Croft's Commemoration Dinner, organised by the Society of Sherwood Youths, has now become one of the leading social gatherings of the year among ringers. The event at Nottingham last Saturday drew together a company of between 70 and 80, and, after ringing at St. Mary's Church, a happy party sat down at the Welbeck Hotel, where, thanks to the work of the Master (Mr. A. Coppock), the hon. secretary (Mr. F. Blood), and the steward (Mr. F. W. Bailey), a thoroughly enjoyable evening was passed. The Master presided, and the visitors included the Sheriff of Nottingham (Councillor J. Pollard), the Rev. W. H. Dew (curate of St. Mary's, Nottingham), Mr. J. S. Goldsmith (Woking), Capt. J. H. R. Freeborn (representing Messrs. Gillett and Johnston), Mr. J. P. Fidler and Mr. D. S. Collins (representing Messrs. J. Taylor and Co.), Councillor J. T. Brown (Spalding), Mr. G. Ladd (Pinchbeck), Mr. A. H. Ward (Derby), Mr. W. A. Wooler (Worsley), Mr. W. E. White (Colgrave), Councillor A. B. Moss (Chilwell), and the company also included Messrs. A. Archer (the last link with the former society of Sherwood Youths), Mr. W. Flinders, Mr. M. Bond and Mr. T. Squires (other veteran Nottingham ringers), Mr. F. Blood, Mr. F. W. Bailey, and ringers and friends, including numerous ladies, from St. Mary's and St. Peter's, Nottingham, Beeston, Bottesford, Bulwell, Lenton, Long Eaton, Mansfield, Sileby, Sutton-in-Ashfield, etc.

THE DEMOCRATIC SPIRIT.

The Master, after the loyal toast had been honoured, said they had every reason to congratulate themselves upon the attendance, which was well up to the standard of those gatherings, while their visitors came from further afield than ever before. They invited the Bishop of Southwell, and he promised to attend, but, owing to his unfortunately having had a nervous breakdown in November last, he was now recuperating in Switzerland. He (the Master) suggested they should send their Bishop a letter conveying their good wishes for his speedy return to health (applause). The Chairman referred to the democratic spirit which characterised ringers. In the belfry, a man's position outside ringing fell to the ground, whether it be men like the late Sir Arthur Heywood, the late Lord Chief Justice of Ireland, or the present Recorder of Lincoln, to quote just a few. The only people who seemed to have any distinction in ringing matters were parsons and policemen (laughter). The parsons, of course, got it out of respect to the cloth, but why policemen had it, he did not know. He supposed they would read some day of a peal being rung by eight men who were on the dole (laughter). Referring to Sir Arthur Heywood, whose memory they would honour that night, the Master said he stood for the hall mark of change ringing, and the hall mark was the measure of refinement which he endeavoured to introduce into the Exercise. Among the visitors that night was the Sheriff of Nottingham. The Sheriff had always been a rather particular fancy of the Sherwood Youths, but while the old Sherwood Youths, it was said, used to lay wait for the Sheriff and rob him, the opposite now occurred. They got him to their festive board and treated him as royally as they could (laughter and applause).

'The Church' was proposed by Mr. J. P. Fidler, who neatly introduced a spice of humour into a serious toast. Referring to the fact that the Rev. W. H. Dew was the only clergyman present, and that it would fall to him to respond to the toast, he recalled the old saying that every soldier had a field marshal's baton in his knapsack. He hoped that in Mr. Dew's kit there was a pair of gaiters (laughter and applause). Mr. Dew would see from that gathering the spirit that prevailed amongst ringers. Speaking at Bristol the week before, the Bishop of Malmesbury had pointed out that the animosity that prevailed in some ranks of churchmen was absent at a ringers' gathering. In the belfry, said the speaker, no matter whether they were high Church or low Church, or Roman Catholic, there was nothing which prevented a ringer from taking a rope. His opinions on other subjects did not count in the belfry. So far as the ringers and the controversy which was now raging were concerned, the ringers had every confidence in the Bishops as representing the Church.

After the toast had been honoured, a course of Grandsire Caters was rung on handbells which had been presented to St. Mary's tower by Mr. Archer, who had been both a ringer and chorister there.

The Rev. W. H. Dew acknowledged the toast, and said that, while not a ringer, he realised the tremendous technique and skill there was in bellringing. The clergy and congregations realised the service that was rendered by the ringers. He felt it to be a great privilege to be there that night as an outward and visible sign of what he hoped was coming in their congregations, and was already beginning to be present—an ideal unity, which should be reflected in the outer world, for which all men of goodwill were working (applause).

THE LATE SIR ARTHUR HEYWOOD.

The next toast was 'The memory of Sir A. Percival Heywood, Bart.' This was entrusted to Mr. W. E. White, who had had a long personal acquaintance with the late president of the Midland Counties Association. Mr. White said he felt sure all would readily endorse his remarks when he said Sir Arthur was every inch a gentleman, plain, straightforward, and sincere, yet at the same time one who would never, if possible, say a word that would pain a fellow-creature. He was a pioneer amongst ringers and ringing at a time when both were rising from the opprobrium which had covered them for so many years.

and he was instrumental in bringing together in many parishes the incumbent and his ringers to their mutual advantage, impressing upon both that the ringers' office is essentially a branch of the Church's work, and as such demands proper recognition by the Church authorities and seemly conduct by the ringers. During his residence at Duffield he was an example of what a church bellringer should be. Punctual and constant in his attendance at practice, ringing for Sunday services and his attendance at the service afterwards, always anxious that the striking should be of the best, and avoiding as much as possible the ringing of single bells and the clanging and jangling of which we hear so much when bells are being raised and lowered. The result of his researches into the various methods of change ringing then practised, and his creation of that musical method 'Duffield,' would alone point him out as being above the ordinary run; but it is, perhaps, as president of the M.C.A. (a position he occupied for 29 years) that he will be best remembered locally, and as the founder and president of the Central Council of Church Bellringers, from the date of its inception until the time of his death in 1916, that he will be best remembered by the ringers of England. He (the speaker) knew him intimately. He was a man whose sole idea seemed to be a desire to leave everything he touched in a better state than that in which he found it, and the status of the ringers was considerably raised during the time he was with them, perhaps not entirely due to his efforts, but he certainly was responsible for much of it. The only memorial—if such it could be called—from his ringing friends was to be a peal board in Duffield Church tower to record the last peal in which he took part if the ringers of England could do no more, let them at least cherish his memory in their hearts.

The toast was honoured by the company standing in silence for one minute.

BIG BELLS FOR NOTTINGHAM.

Mr. A. B. Moss proposed the toast of 'The City' in a brief speech, in which he said they, as bellringers and citizens, could congratulate themselves on the churches of the city, and also on the enjoyment they derived from the bells there.

Mr. Sheriff Pollard replied in an interesting speech, in the course of which he said all those connected with their churches appreciated very much the work which ringers were carrying on throughout the country. Those who were citizens of Nottingham had as a heritage a splendid city, as progressive as, if not far more than, any other city in this country. Continuing, the speaker said the name of Pollard appeared three times, representing three persons, on the bells of the Parish Church of Eastwood. He had been greatly interested to visit the church recently and inspect those bells and their inscriptions. He felt that if they could in some way create more interest in the bells of the city of Nottingham and other places they would have greater support than they were receiving at the present time. Bells had played a great part in the history of this land; and the ringers should be proud of their art. He did know it was appreciated by those who loved their church. Proceeding, the Sheriff referred to the bells and clock which are shortly to be erected in the new Nottingham Exchange building which is nearing completion. The industries of Nottingham, he said, were to be illustrated in the frieze and tympanum. On the frieze they would find lacemakers, miners and other trades illustrated, and one that would interest ringers very much was a cupid working at a bell, which was included because at one time long ago they had a bell foundry in Nottingham. The bells of the new Exchange would consist of a large hour bell and four smaller bells, to give the Westminster chimes. The idea was that the large bell should give a note that would sound over a radius of five miles from the Market Place. The weight of the bell would be approximately ten tons, and the total weight of the whole would be approximately 16 tons. The bells were to be cast by Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, and the clock was being made by Messrs. Cope, of Nottingham. The bells which they were going to have showed that the members of the Corporation did not think that bells were a noisy nuisance, as some people tried to describe them. They were wonderfully musical, and for those who could enter into the joys and spirit of those things there was no doubt much pleasure to be derived from it (applause).

'The silent toast' was next on the list, and the only name to be coupled with it was that of the late Mr. Pryce Taylor. He had attended that dinner on two occasions, said the Chairman, and they all deeply regretted his death in Canada. The toast was drunk in silence.

Mr. Fred Blood proposed 'The Visitors,' remarking that the Sherwood Youths were very pleased to have so good a company present. They had visitors from fresh ground there that night, but they missed one visitor of former years, Mr. George Walker, of Birmingham.

Capt. Freeborn responded. He reminded the company of what Canon Coleridge had said at Guildford recently, that he was pleased to see the bell founders present, because the bell founders were their friends. That was very true, but it was not always recognised or realised.

LUNATICS ALL.

At this stage, the Vicar of St. Mary's (Canon G. Gordon) arrived, attired in his scoutmaster's uniform. Called upon to address the meeting, he greeted the company as 'fellow lunatics.' Was it possible for a man to be happy or wise, if he was not a bit of a lunatic? How could they be happy or wise unless they had a hobby, and how could they be enthusiastic over a hobby unless they were 'cracked' on it.

LADIES' GUILD.WEDDING PRESENTATION TO THE HON. GENERAL SECRETARY.

The combined meeting of the Central and Southern Districts of the Ladies' Guild, held at St. Clement Danes, Strand, on Saturday, January 21st, was a great success from all points. Visitors were numerous, and all the districts of the Guild were represented, with the exception of the Western and Northern. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m., and touches in all standard methods up to Cambridge Royal were successfully brought round.

The service at 5 p.m. was taken by the Rector, the Rev. W. Pennington-Bickford, who gave a most interesting address on the origin of bells, and referred to the use of strips of iron by the Greeks when forbidden the use of bells by the Turks. The Rector concluded his address by a sympathetic reference to the bereavement sustained by the Central District secretary (Mrs. F. I. Hairs) by the death of her mother.

After the service an adjournment was made for tea, to which 70 sat down. The company then proceeded to the Parish Hall, which the Rector had kindly placed at the disposal of the ladies for their business meeting, and to which the gentlemen were also invited.

Miss Evelyn Steel (president of the Guild) occupied the chair, being supported by the general and district secretaries. The ordinary routine, which was brief and carried out in a commendably business-like manner, was soon over, and the most important part of the day's proceedings was then reached, namely, a presentation to Miss Parker, the general secretary, on her approaching marriage to Mr. G. W. Fletcher. The wedding takes place at Edmonton to-morrow.

Miss Steel, in making the presentation, drew attention to the fact that when Miss Parker first suggested the formation of a Ladies' Guild (after an attempt for a peal by eight ladies one hot day in July, 1911), it seemed an impossible proposition. However, the Guild was started with eight members, and after years of hard work on Miss Parker's part they now had a membership of over 250. Miss Steel said that as a mark of appreciation for all Miss Parker had done for lady ringers she had great pleasure in asking her to accept a small present from the Guild on the occasion of her forthcoming marriage, and with the present went the very best wishes of the members for her future health, wealth and happiness (applause).

Miss Parker, in a few well-chosen words, thanked the members for their beautiful gift, adding that she had quite a lot she would like to say, but the gift had come as such a surprise to her that all she could say was, 'From the bottom of my heart, thank you.'

Mr. A. E. Young (secretary of the Central Council) said that he knew the ladies would not object to him expressing the appreciation of the Standing Committee of the Central Council for the work Miss Parker had done for ringing in general, and he had great pleasure in handing her a signed letter from that committee, at the same time enclosing a cheque as a personal gift from himself, wishing her all happiness in her future life.

On the proposition of Mrs. R. E. Deal, a hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Rector for the use of the tower, and for the service and for his interesting address.—To this the Rev. Pennington Bickford replied, remarking that he had no idea that the 'Ladies' Guild' had so many members all over the kingdom, and expressing his pleasure at being able to welcome the ladies, who, he thought, had a very beneficial influence in the belfry.

The meeting was brought to a close by Mrs. F. I. Hairs proposing a vote of thanks to Mr. Harris, the choir boys, and Miss E. E. Chapman for their kind assistance, after which all present made their way to the top table to inspect the gift, which consisted of an oak sideboard set, comprising salad bowl and servers, two biscuit barrels, butter dish and trowel, sugar bowl and tongs, cruet stand, and a 24in. tray.

All agreed that the committee responsible could not have done better in their choice.

An hour's ringing at St. Giles-in-the-Fields was the last item of one of the most successful meetings of the Guild. The ladies take this opportunity of thanking Mr. Gear for having everything in readiness at St. Giles'.

NORTHERN DISTRICT'S NEW SECRETARY.

A very enjoyable meeting of the Northern District was held at Handsworth Church, Sheffield, on Saturday, January 28th, when members of the Guild were present from Bradford, Dore, Norton, Rotherham, Surfleet and the local company, the visitors including ringers from Sheffield and Bradford Cathedrals, Treton, Wombwell and Lincolnshire. A choral service was held in the church, Mrs. Baker presiding at the organ. Those present were privileged to hear from the Rector a most interesting address on the true spirit of 'clannishness' (as distinct from 'cliquishness'), which does to a very large extent exist among ringers, and which many hope to see as a solution to the present controversy among the leaders of our national church.

An excellent tea was served in the Parish Room, after which a vote of thanks to the Rector and Mrs. Baker and the local company was proposed by Mrs. Cotterell, the vice-president of the district.

Contrary to custom, the gentlemen, being few in number, were allowed to remain to the business meeting, at which Mrs. Baker took the chair. Three new members were elected—Miss Spieby, of Doncaster, Mrs. Downing, of Handsworth, and Miss Schofield, of Glodwick, Oldham.

The Chairman, with a few words of most kind appreciation, announced the resignation of the hon. secretary, Miss Davenport, in view of her approaching marriage, and asked for nominations for the election of a new secretary. The choice fell finally on Mrs. Hilda Jacques, of Mansfield Woodhouse, to the great pleasure of those present. It is earnestly hoped that members of the district will support her in all her work for the Guild, and in so doing help to build up this Northern District, whose foundations have been but so recently laid.

The next meeting will be held on Easter Monday, April 9th, at Rotherham Parish Church, in conjunction with the Sheffield District Society.

The Secretary announced that congratulations on the ladies' peal had been received from Miss Edith Parker, Miss Sylvia Thursfield, and from many officials of other associations in various parts of the country. It was decided that a peal tablet should be hung in the belfry of Handsworth Church to commemorate this first peal of Major rung by ladies. Any members of the Guild or friends who would care to send a contribution, however small, to this end, are invited to communicate with Mrs. Jacques, The Bungalow, Mansfield Woodhouse, Notts, who will be most grateful for any donations.

DEATH OF MR. W. E. GARRARD.WELL-KNOWN LONDON RINGER DIES IN THE STREET.

The Exercise will learn with regret of the sudden death of Mr. Wm. E. Garrard, an ex-Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths, who expired suddenly on January 20th, from heart failure. Mr. Garrard had been to Paddington Station, where he had met Mr. W. H. Fussell, of Slough, and was on his way home when he collapsed in the street. He was 61 years of age, and had long been associated with St. Mary Abbot's, Kensington, where he was leader of the ringers.

Mr. Garrard was an excellent all-round ringer and conductor, and a delightful man with a young band. He did a great deal of work in instructing beginners, and was always ready with help and advice. But not only was he an able tutor; he was also an accomplished performer, and among the peals in which he took part was the 'London' Surprise Royal at Stepney. He called the 60 course ends of Stedman Caters at All Saints', Fulham, on October 24th, 1896, and the men who rang the four back bells in that peal of 6,550 changes have now all 'crossed the bourne.'

The first part of the funeral service was taken in St. Mary Abbot's Church, and at the graveside members of the College Youths paid the ringers' last tribute by ringing the handbells after the committal. Three whole pulls in rounds thrice was followed by a course of Stedman Triples.

Mr. Garrard was interred in the grave of his eldest son, who, born on the same day as the Prince of Wales, died ten years ago. The deceased leaves a widow, three sons and a daughter to mourn their loss.

The bells in several of the London churches have been rung muffled in his memory, but a peal at St. Magnus' by the London County Association came to grief on Saturday through the sexton attempting to ring the Angelus while the bells were in motion.

MR. ROBERT G. BLACK'S 100 PEALS.

Grandsire Doubles, rung 5, Triples 2, Caters 2 (conducted 1); Stedman Doubles 1, Triples 3, Caters 3; Bob Minor 5 (5), Major 6 (2), Royal 1 (1); Kent Treble Bob Major 6 (4), Royal 1; Spliced Treble Bob Royal 1; Cambridge Surprise Minor 3 (1), Major 4 (1), Royal 1; Double Norwich Major 5 (2); Superlative Surprise Major 4: Minor in three methods 3, in four methods 4 (1), in five methods 4 (2), in seven methods 20 (12), in eight methods 3 (1), in nine methods 1 (1); Doubles from two to seven methods 12 (5); total, 100 (39). Rang in 32 towers with 111 different ringers.

The hobby on which he was 'cracked' was a very good one, and he knew the bellringers' hobby was also a very good one. In the Scouts they tried to do good turns, and the ringers also did their good turn in a stuffy, noisy belfry, doing things he would not do if they paid him, doing it because they loved it, and doing something which the rest of them valued very much (applause). He, therefore, thought their form of lunacy was a very good one, and he congratulated them on it (laughter and applause). He wished long life to the Sherwood Youths.

The concluding toast was 'The Ringing World,' submitted in complimentary terms by Mr. F. S. Price, and acknowledged by Mr. J. S. Goldsmith.

A feature of these gatherings is always the musical programme, and on Saturday it was up to the customary high level. It was principally sustained by the Wolbeck Quartette (of which the Master of the Sherwood Youths is a member), and their five listed items had to be doubled, so greatly were the company pleased with the glee and quartettes. The pieces were of diversified type, ranging from grave to gay, and on every occasion an encore was demanded. Mr. Leonard C. Pearce sang 'Nita Gitana,' Mr. J. F. Adkin, 'Neptune,' and Mr. Warren, 'Songs of Araby.' These three, with Mr. Coppock, make up the quartette. Miss Daisy Greening's songs were a delightful contribution to the evening's enjoyment, and included 'Land of Hope and Glory,' 'A little brown owl,' 'Come to the fair,' and Liddell's 'Abide with me.' Mr. Fred Blood, jun., the son of the secretary, was an able accompanist, and also played a brilliantly executed pianoforte solo.

'IRENÆUS PISTOR.'

We acknowledge with grateful thanks the following further contributions to the fund for assisting Mr. Alf. T. Baker, of 22, Hawthorn Road, Hillsborough, Sheffield ('Irenæus Pistor'), whose affliction has appealed so widely to the sympathies of members of the Exercise.

The appeal which has been published in these columns has led to an effort being initiated at Ilkeston, where Mr. Baker began his ringing career, to enlist help for him among the parishioners there, and Capt. Humphreys is receiving the local subscriptions.

Ringers who have not yet sent their contributions to 'The Ringing World' fund should do so as early as possible. Donations will be acknowledged through these columns. Cheques should be made payable to the Editor.

SUICIDE IN A BELFRY.

A tragedy occurred in the belfry of the Parish Church, Mitcham, Surrey, last week, when Stanley Robert King, one of the ringers, was found hanged by one of the bell ropes. The inquest was held on Friday, which would have been the deceased's 26th birthday, and a verdict of 'Suicide while of unsound mind' was returned.

Mr. Henry King, father of the dead man, told how he looked for his son in the gloomy belfry. His search ended when the beams of his torch shone on his son's upturned face. His son, added Mr. King, had no trouble of any sort. He was always bright and was fond of cycling.

The Coroner: There was something abnormal about him, wasn't there?—He was very reticent.

Is there any insanity in the family?—Yes, there is a brother in an asylum.

A strange note, it is now reported, has since been found in the belfry. The note, which was in King's handwriting, was discovered by Mr. John Lott, another ringer, in the belfry register. It stated:—

'I'm sorry I did not let all the bells down. I slipped on the fifth and hurt my back. It was my own fault. Heaven bless you all. Oh, my back. It does hurt.'

The last sentence was underlined.

The message was taken to the Vicar of Mitcham, who handed it to the police. It is not thought that it can affect the coroner's verdict.

THE LATE MRS. KATHARINE HELEN BENNETT.

The funeral took place on Monday week in the Brighton and Preston Cemetery of Mrs. Katharine Helen Bennett, of 21, Warleigh Road, Brighton, who passed peacefully away, after a brief illness, on January 11th, at the age of sixty. Mrs. Bennett was the wife of Mr. Frank Bennett, the leader of the Brighton St. Nicholas' Church bellringers, and mother of Mrs. Frank Hairs, who, with her husband, is also well known to the campanological world. The whole of the service was taken in the chapel at the cemetery, the Rev. H. Collinson, Vicar of St. Nicholas', officiating. The family mourners were Mr. Frank Bennett (widower), Mrs. and Mr. Frank I. Hairs (daughter and son-in-law), Mr. Reginald Bennett (son), and Miss Goodall (sister). At the cemetery, the St. Nicholas' ringers were represented by Mr. G. Smart and the St. Peter's ringers by Mr. J. T. Rickman and Mr. K. Hart. There were many beautiful floral tributes, including one from the ringers of St. Nicholas' Church.—The funeral arrangements were carried out by Messrs. Brown, Baker and Weston.

Mr. Frank Bennett and family desire to thank sincerely all those who have sent them messages of sympathy and condolence in their great loss.

THE EXAMPLE OF WATH.

We publish on another page a letter of congratulation from one extremely capable six-bell band to another. We like the spirit of that letter just as much as we feel that it is a deserving tribute to a company who have reached the zenith of performance. The band at Wath-on-Dearne rang 197 Minor extents in 194 different methods in the course of the year 1927. Nothing to equal this achievement has ever been accomplished before as far as we know, and we are sure that all our readers will associate themselves with the sentiments expressed by the Leytonstone band. The performance at Wath stands out as one of great distinction not alone on its face value. Its true worth, in our opinion, is to be found much deeper than that. Such an achievement calls for the exercise of all the virtues which can be put into the practice of change ringing. There must be unity among the ringers and an unfailing loyalty on the part of every individual in the band. There must be enterprise and initiative; perseverance and the will to succeed. There can be no slackers; no irregular or unpunctual ones; in fact only the keen and enthusiastic can find a place in such a company. We say nothing about the skill which is essential for the task; the bare record of what was rung speaks for itself.

What the men of Wath have done is open to others to aspire to, and we commend it as an example which all ringers might well endeavour to emulate. The Wath band did not reach the heights they have attained in one stride; it has meant a good deal of toil and steady plodding, and it is perhaps in these earlier stages rather than at the peak of success that the greatest test of those qualities, to which we have referred, comes. When one realises that extents in 194 different methods have been rung in one year, it makes the efforts of many bands look very puny. True, it needs not only exceptional ringers, but also exceptional opportunities to achieve such a record, and true also is it that many bands are faced with almost insurmountable barriers in the shape of depleted numbers, apathetic members and restrained chances, but there is an old saying that those who aim at the stars may reach the top of the tree. There are, we are quite sure, many bands of ringers in six-bell towers who, if they could but become actuated by some of the spirit which has imbued the ringers at Wath, might rise out of the rut in which they have long been content to remain. But it needs determination, unity of purpose, and, above all, a genuine spirit of perseverance if success is to be attained in the end. We hope the achievement at Wath will be an incentive to many other companies to see what they can do by way of expanding their 'repertoire.'

FUNERAL OF MR. S. R. KING.

The funeral of the late Mr. Stanley Robert King, whose tragic death, at the age of 25 years, we recorded in our last issue, took place at Mitcham Parish Church on January 31st. The deceased had been a member of the Mitcham Society and of the Surrey Association for the last five years. He made many friends, and was held in high esteem by all who knew him. He was a man who would always do a 'good turn' for anyone; the furtherance of the art of campanology was his chief hobby, and for this reason the Parish Church company feel the loss not only of an enthusiastic change ringer but of one who was virtually a brother to all.

A number of ringers attended the funeral, and at the graveside a last tribute was paid by ringing the handbells three whole pulls, thrice followed by a plain course of Grandsire Triples: A. Calver 1-2, L. Attwater 3-4, R. Grimwood 5-6, J. Watkins 7-8. After the interment, the tower bells were rung half-muffled to the usual 'whole pull and stand' prior to a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples in 48 mins.: H. Tourle 1, J. Watkins 2, R. Grimwood 3, L. Attwater 4, J. H. Lott 5, A. Calver 6, W. H. Joiner (conductor) 7, W. S. Smith 8. Among the host of floral tributes were wreaths from the Mitcham Society, Christ Church (Mitcham) bellringers, and the Surrey Association.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION. 'BIRTHPLACE' REVISITED.

The annual meeting of the Stroud Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association was held at Bisley on Saturday, January 28th. Touches of Grandsire Doubles and Triples were rung in the afternoon, and the association's form of service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. W. I. Clay), who gave a helpful address. The lesson was read by the Master of the Association, Rev. C. D. P. Davies. By the kind invitation of the Vicar and Mr. Clay, the ringers then adjourned to the Vicarage to a most bountiful tea, at which a feature was an iced cake, adorned with bells, the letters 'G. and B.,' and 50 candles, to celebrate the jubilee of the association. The cake was cut by the Master of the association, and the Vicar said how pleased they were to have the honour of Mr. Davies' presence with them. Mr. A. Wright referred to the two meetings held in that same room, presided over by the late Rev. Canon Keble, in September and October, 1877, when they worked out the details preliminary to starting the association. He read out the names of those present at the meetings, including Rev. C. D. P. Davies and Mr. G. H. Phillott, the founders of the association.

The Master expressed his pleasure in again visiting Bisley, and said he well remembered those early meetings held at that Vicarage.

The annual meeting followed, the Vicar presiding. The secretary presented the balance sheet for 1927, which was passed and considered most satisfactory.

The Rev. W. I. Clay, R.D., was elected chairman of the district, Mr. A. Wright sec. and treasurer and Mr. H. Barrett representative on the Diocesan Association. All the tower representatives were re-elected except that for Stroud. Mr. H. Scrivens takes the place of Mr. G. Orchard.

The Vicar was heartily thanked for his kind hospitality and helpful address, and the tower was afterwards visited and various touches rung.

CIRENCESTER BRANCH.

The annual meeting of the branch was held at Cirencester on Saturday, January 28th, and despite the wet weather was fairly well attended. The following towers were represented: Cirencester, Fairford, Tetbury, Cols St. Aldwyns, South Cerney and Down Ampney. Two welcome visitors put in an attendance—Mr. C. Gardiner, of Swindon, and Mr. L. Wilson, of Wootton Bassett. Tea was had at Messrs. Viner's Restaurant, and was kindly provided by the Vicar (the Rev. Canon Westmacott), who took the chair at the business meeting. The old officers were all re-elected. Several new members were elected. South Cerney was chosen for the next meeting, to be held in April. The Chairman of the branch, Mr. F. Edwards, proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for his kind hospitality. The Vicar, in reply, said that he had been visiting at the hospital during the afternoon, and that the ringing had given great pleasure to the patients.

The ringers' service was held at the Parish Church, and was conducted by the Vicar. The organist, Mr. A. H. Gibbons, very kindly accompanied.

During the afternoon and evening the fine peal of twelve at the Parish Church, which have recently been reclappeded, and the three back bells counterbalanced by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., were kept going to Grandsire Triples, Caters and Cinques, and Stedman Doubles, Triples and Caters, several members having their first pull on twelve bells.

NORTH WALES PRESIDENT'S DEATH.

The death has occurred at Bangor, North Wales, of the Rev. Thomas Lewis Jones, Vicar of St. David's, Glanadda, in his 83rd year. The deceased gentleman was formerly an active ringer, and for many years, up to the time of his death, was president of the North Wales Association. He was an accomplished musician and an enthusiastic horticulturist, his extensive gardens being filled with rare specimens and being one of the show places of Bangor.

THE LATE MR. W. E. GARRARD.

MUFFLED 'REQUIEM' AT ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL.

The late Mr. W. E. Garrard, whose sudden death we recorded last week, was a parochial ringer at St. Paul's Cathedral, and his colleagues rung the 'whole pull and stand' on the bells, prior to which the De Profundis was recited. Afterwards, two courses of Stedman Cinques were rung.

At Wickham Skeith, Suffolk, where Mr. Garrard was born, two 720's of Cambridge Surprise Minor were rung with muffled bells on January 28th, as a mark of respect. J. Botts, G. Brown, A. Berry, F. Hayward, G. Kemp, E. Poppy and E. Youngs took part.

Mr. Harry Sear, of Blotchley, Bucks, who, like many others, owes his first insight into ringing to the late Mr. Garrard, writes paying a tribute to his memory and expressing deepest sympathy with the widow and family.

KILBURN, LONDON.—At St. Augustine's Church on January 28th, in 47 mins., a quarter-peal of Bob Triples (1,260 changes): H. Nelson 1, Rev. M. C. Edgar 2, A. Gardner 3, R. Gilbert 4, C. Nichols 5, E. M. Atkins (conductor) 6, G. Butler 7, G. Wilson 8. First quarter-peal by ringers of 1st, 2nd, 4th and 8th.

ANOTHER DEVON OCTAVE.

SIXTEEN BANDS RING AT BRIDGERULE.

Just two years ago the peal of six bells at Bridgerule, near Holsworthy, Devon, was restored and augmented. This ring has been so admired that it set up the desire to add two trebles to complete the octave, and these have now been added.

The dedication of the new bells took place during a service of thanksgiving, which was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. Kingdon. The local ringers rang rounds for a few minutes immediately after the ceremony. Ringing continued throughout the day by complete visiting bands, which included Bridgerule (two), Launcells, Jacobstowe (2), Marhamchurch (2), Poundstick, Stratton, Weeks St. Mary (2), Pyeworthy (2), North Tamerton, Whitstone and Poundstock—sixteen complete bands in all.

A public luncheon was provided in the schoolroom.

After the toast of 'The King,' the Vicar (the Rev. Kingdon) said how happy he was to meet everyone again in that second dedication of the bells at Bridgerule. He was the more pleased because the desire to complete the octave came from the ringers and parishioners. He explained that, some months ago, their friend Mr. Bassett, one of his ringers, offered to give £25 towards the new bells. Before he, the Vicar, knew anything about this proposal, half the money had been offered. He felt he was pushed into it, but, of course, he gladly took the matter up and approached Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, who were the founders of their splendid peal of six. They, his hearers, had heard the new bells, and he was sure they would agree that they had now an octave of bells second to none in the county. They had with them that day Mr. Roper, to represent the firm, and he was sure they would wish him, the Vicar, on their behalf, to thank Messrs. Gillett and Johnston very heartily for the lovely toned peal of bells which they now possessed, and of which they were very proud.

In reply, Mr. Roper said how pleased he was to be with them once more, and thanked them for the kind things said about his firm. He assured them that they had the same quality of bells that had brought a demand for English bells from all over the world. His firm were now making hundreds of tons of bells each year. Continuing, he complimented the local bands on their splendid ringing (which consisted in raising and falling in peal and call changes). He, the speaker, said that he had rung in hundreds of towers all over the kingdom, and he was bound to say that the excellence of the striking in Devon could not be surpassed. But while he admired this, he did not think, as ringers, that they should stop at call changes and raising and falling in peal. If, as he urged them to do, they took up 'scientific' ringing and maintained the same level of striking which they now did, then they would be giving of their best in their office of church workers. As far as he could see they had the material there which could, with a little assistance and perseverance, in a few months ring a complete peal of 5,040 changes.

The Rev. Melhuish, Ashwater, proposed the toast of 'The subscribers.' He thought that by the easy way money was collected in Bridgerule it showed how much they loved their church and their dear friend the Vicar. He had thought of asking them to subscribe towards the proposed new bell to make his peal up to six at Ashwater, but he quite expected that their own list would be over-subscribed, and he would be glad to receive the surplus.

Further events of the day consisted of a public tea, supper, concert and dance. A football match had been arranged, but had to be abandoned owing to the floods. The festivities ended at 1.30 a.m., after a particularly happy, if strenuous, day.

The bells are a very sweet-toned peal of eight, with a tenor of 10 cwt. They are hung in a massive iron frame, and the 'last word' in fittings. The number of broken stays during the days testified to the easy running of the bells.

It is hoped that when, in future, bands of ringers are in the district for their annual outing, they would include Bridgerule in their itinerary.

HEREFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

The Presteigne District of the Hereford Diocesan Guild held their annual meeting at Weobley on Saturday, January 28th. Ringing commenced at four, and the Guild form of service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. C. L. Edwards). Tea was provided after service, and was followed by the business meeting, twenty-eight members being present from eight towers, including the Guild Ringing Master (Mr. C. Edwards). The Vicar presided, and the Secretary reported that three meetings and five combined practices had been held in the past year, with an average attendance of fifteen members. One practice was abandoned owing to bad weather. Four members had qualified for certificates, one peal of Grandsire Doubles had been rung at Lyonshall in December to celebrate the bi-centenary of the hanging of the bells, rung by the local band.

The District Ringing Master (Mr. W. Evans, Lyonshall) and the hon. secretary (Mr. J. Preece, Staunton-on-Arrow) were re-elected, and two new members were enrolled.

The next quarterly meeting was fixed for May at Wigmore, and combined practices in February at Kington and in April at Dilwyn.

A vote of thanks to the Vicar for the service and allowing the use of the bells concluded the business.

The tower was again visited, where ringing was kept up till 9 p.m. in Grandsire and Bob Doubles and Bob Minor.

CROWNING THE SUPERLATIVE SURPRISE RECORD.

An interesting event was celebrated on Saturday, January 28th, at Bolton Parish Church, when a peal tablet was unveiled and dedicated by the Rev. Canon Carpenter, Vicar and Rural Dean, recording the peal, rung 12 months ago, of 11,232 Superlative Surprise Major. A very interesting service was conducted by the Vicar, the congregation representing many towers in Lancashire. All the band who took part in the record peal were present, including Mr. Lindoff, who had made the journey from Dublin specially for this occasion.

The Vicar, in his address, referred to the remarkable work of skill and endurance which the tablet would for evermore commemorate, and said it was one more noble example of carrying a message to the minds and hearts of men.

Some good ringing was enjoyed on the bells at the Parish Church, Grandsire, Treble Bob, Superlative, and London Surprise being some of the methods rung.

After the service the 'record' band adjourned to the photographers, where a group photo with the peal tablet was taken.

In the evening (at the invitation of the Bolton Borough Police Athletic Club), a very enjoyable time was spent at their headquarters, when upwards of 60 ringers with their wives were entertained. Songs were rendered by Miss A. Potter, Miss F. Cutsforth, Mr. Cutsforth, and others, while Miss M. Cutsforth assisted at the piano. Handbell music was provided by the Holy Trinity company, also a course of Grandsire Caters by E. Cutsforth 1-2, G. Lindoff 3-4, A. Bailey 5-6, E. Webster 7-8, E. Jenkins 9-10, which received a great ovation.

Last, but not least, were the congratulations voiced by Mr. P. Crook to the ringers of the peal.

Mr. Banks, vice-president of the Lancashire Association, while congratulating the whole band, from the treble to the tenor, on their excellent performance and their striking, which was the great feature of the peal, said he could not let the opportunity pass without commenting on the ability, the expertness in mathematical problems, and the far-seeing capabilities of Mr. Worsley, the composer of the peal. As to Mr. Jenkins, went on Mr. Banks, as a conductor he would be very hard to beat. With two such capable men as these, the Lancashire Association would never fall. Mr. Banks closed by moving a vote of thanks to the police for their invitation and their generosity. Mr. Jenkins, who seconded the vote of thanks, stated that the success attached to the peal and the previous attempt was due to the local band and the personal supervision of Mr. Crook, for which he thanked them all.

Mr. Shaker (secretary, Lancashire Association) and Mr. Lindoff supported the previous speakers, and a very enjoyable evening was brought to a close.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.READING BRANCH'S SUCCESSFUL YEAR.

The annual meeting of the Reading Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild was held at Reading on Saturday, January 28th. Touches of Double Norwich, Stedman Triples, and Grandsire Triples were rung on the bells of St. Mary's and St. Giles' in the afternoon, and a well-attended service followed at St. Mary's Church, led by the Vicar, the Rev. A. G. Parham, who gave an appropriate address, his text being, 'Praise Him on the loud cymbals.'

The tea and business meeting were held at the Central Cafe, Friar Street, 75 members sitting down. Among those present were the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn (Master of the Guild), Mr. A. J. Wright (treasurer), the Rev. J. T. Mumford (branch chairman), the Rev. Canon Coleridge, Mr. W. P. Routh, Mr. W. S. Pearton, Dr. Joyce, and members from the various towers of the branch. The tea was not quite a success, owing to the overcrowding of all cafes in Reading by cup-tie enthusiasts, and, as it was first come first served, the ringers had to wait three-quarters of an hour for their tea, which then was not all that could be desired.

The business meeting followed, with the Rev. J. T. Mumford in the chair. The Secretary (Mr. F. W. Hopgood) read the balance sheet and gave his report, mentioning that it had been a very successful year. Eight new honorary members, eight new ordinary members and a new tower, Nettlebed, had been added to the branch lists. The quarterly meetings, too, had been fairly successful, but not so good as in the previous year.

The election of officers resulted as follows: Chairman, the Rev. J. T. Mumford (re-elected); secretary, Mr. F. W. Hopgood (re-elected); auditors, Messrs. A. Wiggins and H. Tucker; committee, Messrs. J. Swain, W. Appleby and H. Tucker.

The quarterly meetings for 1928 were arranged for Checkendon, Shiplake, and Mortimer, and very satisfactory reports were given of most of the towers of the branch.

Mention was made of the death of the Rev. R. Hart Davis, who had been an active member of the Guild for many years, and the members stood in silence as a token of respect.

The Chairman proposed a vote of thanks to Vicar and organist of St. Mary's for the beautiful service which had been held.

A smoking concert followed, the members enjoying very much the songs given by Miss W. Ramsden, Master Godfrey, Dr. Joyce, the Rev. A. G. Parham, the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, Mr. H. Goodyer, ably accompanied by Mrs. Wood. Some amusing Devonshire stories were told by the Rev. Canon Coleridge.

The meeting then closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The recent gale blew down part of the battlements of Loughborough Parish Church tower, and until repairs are completed ringing is suspended.

The Bishop of Taunton, Dr. Charles De Salis, after dedicating a new bell at Minehead Church, climbed to the belfry, when the service was over, and, taking off his coat, assisted in ringing the new bell for the first time.

Another example of the adage, 'It's never too late to begin'—peal ringing, is found in the fact that Mr. Joseph Faulkner has rung his first peal at Southill, Bedfordshire, at the age of 66 years.

While undergoing repair in 1810, the spire of St. Nicholas' Church, Liverpool, fell on February 11th, and crashing through the roof of the church killed 22 persons and injured many others.

The first time the extent of Cambridge Surprise Major with the tenors together was known to have been rung was at Bennington, made famous by Squire Leonard Proctor's band, on February 11th, 1873.

Next Sunday is the anniversary of a 14,016 Kent Treble Bob rung at Oldham in the year 1821. The peal occupied 7 hrs. 26 mins.

Joseph Tebbs, of Leeds, among the foremost men in the Exercise in his day, died at the age of 68 on February 14th, 1836.

At Painswick, where on February 14th, 1920, the longest Cinques (13,001 Grandsire) was rung, celebrates the 70th anniversary of another peal next Thursday. This was the 8,448 Stedman Cinques, rung in 1858.

On February 7th, 1801, the Society of London Youths rang 'a complete peal of 5,040 Grandsire Tripples,' at St. Mary's, Whitechapel. It was composed and called by J. Reeves.

The Kent Treble Bob Royal at King's Norton on January 21st was 5,080 changes in length, not 5,000 as originally recorded.

We are asked to say that the correct dedication of Bromsgrove Parish Church is St. John-the-Baptist, and not St. John, as given in connection with the peal recorded last week.

BELLS, THEIR TONES AND TUNING.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I feel much gratified at the reception accorded to my historical sketch of the above subject, also for the kindly compliments to myself disclosed in the subsequent correspondence, both that published and that received personally.

In briefly replying to the latter, I would state that the article was gleaned from the many notes compiled for the Ipswich motion, and that, something like the little boy, whose mother said that 'he had enough left in his head to build another wooden boat,' I could add that there yet remain sufficient notes for several other articles. But as these would have to deal largely with the theory of musical sounds, they might not prove so acceptable as the historical sketch, despite the present vogue of articles on wireless and loud speakers.

I observe that some criticism has been directed to Lord Grimthorpe's bells. I find that I am in error in regard to Doncaster bells, which have not been recast as I had been informed. If his bells were like his architecture, they are gravely open to doubt. In the case of St. Paul's, it was doubtless the touch of old Taylor's hand upon the tiler, as I inferred, that saved them from the alleged shortcomings of Grimthorpe's other peals. Apart from sound, they should certainly be regarded as having an historical value, and one hopes that they may, perhaps with Doncaster, long remain a memorial to a man who, despite his many faults, was a great Victorian.

In further comment, there is only space to say that in a middle-sized bell of average quality, the 'third' (above the tap-note) is more important and insistent than the 'fifth,' and that the hum-note appears likely to prove the most important of all, as, indeed, Canon Simpson largely claimed. But how and in what degree, it is still, I feel, for the musician and the scientist to tell us.

In 'Bell tones and how to observe them,' I gave them (using key C) as generally accepted; this will still suffice for a comparison, i.e., old standard, D flat, C, E, G, E, G, etc.; and Simpson, C, C, E flat, G, C, E natural, G, etc. (see reprint in 'The Ringing World,' July, 1926). As you, Sir, once pointed out, these cannot be truly reproduced on a piano. The quality, scale and tones all differ.

Being aware that 'fools rush in where angels fear to tread,' I feel some diffidence in expressing the following in conclusion, viz., I think that the scientist will one day find that the first four of the above tones, in either tuning, are primary ones, i.e., originating from various parts of the bell, and each having their own proper groups of over-tones, whilst the remaining two and all above them are natural harmonics from one or more of the tones below. As to the hum-note itself, I consider that it in all probability arises from pulsations of the air column within the cavity of the bell. Shall we call it the 'loud speaker' of the mass tone of the bell also?

I have already trespassed too much on your space. I will only add that when my friend, Mr. Percy O. Lafin, and I meet, whether at the Gog and Magog or at the Johnson Dinner, we hope to have our usual laugh over Simpson Tuning.—Yours faithfully,

E. ALEX. YOUNG.

ALL ENGLAND RINGERS' MEETING AT THE CROYDON BELL FOUNDRY ON MARCH 3rd.

An invitation has been issued to all hon. secretaries of Diocesan Guilds and County Associations asking them to send names of their members who wish to attend. I would be glad if this information could reach me not later than Wednesday, February 22nd. The programme for the day will be:—

- 11.30 a.m. to 12.45 p.m.—Ringing at St. Stephen's Church, Clapham Park, and Croydon Parish Church, by arrangement.
- 2 p.m.—Works open to visitors. Demonstration of a peal of ten, having as tenor the 19-ton Bourdon for New York, which will be rung in its frame; a ring of eight; a carillon of 23; and sundry other peals of bells.
- 3.30 p.m. to 4.45.—Ringing at the Parish Church and St. Peter's, Croydon.
- 5 (for 5.15 p.m.)—Invitation tea at the Baths Hall, Scarbrook Road.
- 6.45 p.m. to 7.45.—Ringing at the Parish Church and St. Peter's.
- 8 p.m. to 11.45.—Social at the Baths Hall: concert, handbell ringing and dancing.

His Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Lord Bishop of Guildford, Canon G. F. Coleridge (president of the Central Council), the Mayor and Mayoress of Croydon, and the Vicar of Croydon (Canon E. S. Woods), are among those who have expressed their intention of being present at this gathering.

CYRIL F. JOHNSTON,
Gillett and Johnston, Croydon.

In connection with the gathering, Mr. Johnston is seeking the co-operation of the secretaries of ringing Guilds and associations in making known the arrangements, and those who require tickets will have to make application through this channel.

As the number of ringers attending is likely to be unusually large, it is not possible to extend the invitation in a general way to ringers' wives or friends (unless they are ringers also). Every effort, however, will be made to provide for a few tickets for this purpose to each association or Guild directly the number of those coming is known.

RAILWAY FACILITIES.

The Associated Railway Companies have agreed to the issue of cheap return tickets to Croydon from any railway station upon payment at the time of booking of single fare and a third (minimum 1s., fractions of 3d. reckoned as 3d.) and surrender of a voucher, which will be forwarded in due course with the admission tickets required. The tickets will be available for the forward journey on March 2nd or 3rd, and for return on March 3rd, 4th or 5th. This will enable visitors to break the journey by staying in London one or two days, if desired, up to and including March 5th.

LADIES' GUILD.

LINCOLN BRANCH MEETING.

A meeting of the Lincolnshire Branch of the Ladies' Guild was held at Bassingham on Saturday. Despite the cold, wet weather, a good number put in an appearance, the bells being raised in peal about 2 p.m. Good use was made of the bells during the afternoon and evening, Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, and the standard methods in Minor up to Cambridge being rung. The most notable feature during the whole of the ringing was the help given to young ringers. Very few touches were rung without having a beginner inside.

The Rev. Pocock officiated at the choral service, and invited those of the ringers who cared to do so to go to the Parish Room for handbell ringing, a fire having been lit for the purpose.

After tea, which was arranged by Mrs. Pollard and other ladies in the village, thanks were accorded by Mrs. Richardson (the district secretary) to the Vicar, Miss Johnson, the organist, and the ladies who had helped with the tea. Mr. Baker, of Gainsborough, who seconded, said how very pleased the gentlemen were to be able to support the ladies' meetings, and they would always do anything in their power to make the meetings a success.

The business meeting then followed, and Mrs. Bartram, of Misterton, was voted to the chair. Lincoln was proposed by Mrs. Humphrey, and seconded by Mrs. Baker as the place for the next meeting. It was also proposed that the business meeting should be held on the same day as the Lincoln Diocesan Guild's annual meeting is held, providing permission could be obtained, as that day would be the most suitable for the majority of the Lincolnshire ladies to meet.

Thanks were accorded to the members, through the secretary, by Miss Parker for the wedding present given her by the Ladies' Guild at St. Clement Danes. The ladies then adjourned to the Parish Room and the belfry, where the ringing of handbells and tower bells was indulged in until about 8 p.m., when a very pleasant meeting terminated.

LADIES' GUILD SECRETARY'S MARRIAGE.

MR. G. W. FLETCHER AND MISS E. K. PARKER WEDDED AT EDMONTON.

The marriage of two distinguished ringers was solemnised at All Saints' Church, Edmonton, on Saturday, when Mr. George Wm. Fletcher, of Southgate, was wedded to Miss Edith Kate Parker, only daughter of Mr. James Parker, of Enfield. The bride has been among the foremost lady exponents of the art of ringing, and, in addition, was one of the founders of the Ladies' Guild, and has been general secretary from its inception in 1912. Miss Parker inherited her ringing ability from her talented father, and is herself the leading conductor among the gentler sex. The bridegroom is also well known throughout the Exercise, and both have rung together with the Sunday service band at Edmonton for some years.

It was not surprising, therefore, that Saturday's event—the culmination of another happy romance—should excite widespread interest among ringers, a large number of whom gathered to witness the ceremony which, fittingly, was performed by the Rev. Canon Coleridge, president of the Central Council, of which Miss Parker is a member. The wedding party reached the church to the sound of the bells rung by eight members of the Ladies' Guild, and the bride, leaning on the arm of her father, escorted by two bridesmaids, and preceded by the choir and clergy, advanced up the aisle while the hymn, 'O Father, all creating,' was sung. In addition to Canon Coleridge, the Rev. R. C. Evill (Vicar of Edmonton) and the Rev. E. Forbes (Vicar of Bush Hill Park, where for 15 years Miss Parker was secretary of the Sunday School) took part in the service, at the conclusion of which the hymn, 'O perfect love' was sung, kneeling.

In an address, Canon Coleridge referred to the part which both bride and bridegroom had taken, in a special way, in church work.

Immediately the ceremony had been completed, the bells pealed out from the old grey tower, and were 'fired' and rung in touches of Stedman Triples by the Edmonton band.

The bride was attired in a pretty gown of grey georgette, with hat of grey tissue and georgette, and she carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The bridesmaids were Miss Skinner (cousin of the bride) and little Miss Parker (the bride's niece). Both wore dresses of blue georgette, their bouquets being of pink and yellow carnations. Mr. C. V. Parker was best man.

As the happy couple left the church, the organ boomed out the 'Wedding March,' and the bells rang out merrily.

A reception was held at the Church Hall, when Canon Coleridge, in a felicitous speech, proposed the health of 'The bride and bridegroom,' which was suitably acknowledged by both. Afterwards, the Rev. R. C. Evill added his congratulations, and referred to the service which the bridal couple had long rendered to Edmonton Church as ringers.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher left for the Isle of Wight, where the honeymoon is being spent. At their departure, and for some time later, touches in a variety of methods were rung on the bells.

The many gifts which Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher have received include presents from numerous ringing friends, and, in addition to those from the Ladies' Guild, there have been gifts from the Cumberland Youths and the Edmonton band.

DEVON GUILD.

BRANCH MEETING AT TOTNES.

Totnes, with its noble peal of eight bells, was the venue for the annual meeting of the Mid-Devon Branch of the Devonshire Guild on Saturday, January 28th. The inclement weather somewhat marred the attendance, but ringers came from Paignton, Collaton, Torquay, Brixham, Dartmouth, Littlehempstone, Buckfastleigh, Plymouth, Dawlish, Christow, Exeter and Exmouth. The president of the Guild (Rev. E. S. Powell) was also present. The bells were kept going in the Grandsire method during the afternoon, and the touches included a well-struck 504. Service was held in the beautiful old church, conducted by the Rector of Totnes (Rev. Preb. J. Heywood Waddington), who in a very interesting address extended a welcome to the visitors.

The company afterwards adjourned to the Commercial Hotel, where the wants of the 'inner man' were amply satisfied.

Mr. F. J. Laxton (chairman) presided over the business meeting which followed. A report on the past year's work was presented and adopted. Messrs. F. J. Laxton and H. J. Hole were unanimously re-elected chairman and secretary respectively, and both suitably returned thanks.

A hearty vote of thanks was also accorded the Rector of Totnes for the use of the bells, and for conducting the service, and to the organist and choir for their presence.—This the Rector suitably acknowledged.

For the next meeting, to take place on Saturday, May 8th, Cockington and Collaton were proposed, and, on being put to the meeting, Collaton was chosen.

A vote of sympathy was passed with Mr. C. R. Walker, of Newton Abbot, a member who had been ill.

The president of the Guild was congratulated on his forthcoming marriage, and on his appointment to another living, to which he suitably replied.

The business having concluded, the visitors returned to the tower, where Stedman Doubles, and Grandsire Triples were rung.

THEORY AND PRACTICE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I suppose I ought to feel thoroughly crushed after the replies which my last letter drew from the experts. But thick-skulled people take a lot of hammering before they are finally 'laid out.' Permit me, therefore, a few more words, lest your readers deem my arguments so utterly demolished that there is nothing more to be said.

The most serious thing which I have to meet is Mr. Trollope's answer to my challenge as to the definition of 'change,' and he goes back to Fabian Stedman as his authority. Mr. Trollope defined 'change' as 'the movement, the "work," which connects two rows.' My argument is that the 'change' is the row itself, and I venture to suggest that Mr. Trollope's quotation from Stedman supports my contention. Let me repeat what Stedman said, and ask your readers to study it: 'A change is made between two bells that strike next to each other by removing into each other's places, as in these two figures, 1.2. Make a change between them and they will stand 2.1, which is called a change.' If the words 'between them' mean anything, they mean 'between the bells or figures,' and not in between what we now call the 'rows,' as Mr. Trollope would have us believe.

I appreciate Mr. George Baker's desire to elucidate the distinction between 'lead-end' and 'lead-head,' but it does not destroy my case that dual terms such as this (and dual meanings to the same term, of which there are many instances to be found) tend to confusion. I did not contend that the theorists had no ground for using the term 'lead-head,' and I am now quite sure the matter will be perfectly clear to everyone in future. All we have to remember is that when we see 135284 appear in Bob Minor and call it the 'lead-end,' it is a simple transposition row. When we see the same row appear in the same place in the same method and call it 'lead-head,' it is a complex transposition row. Yes, it is quite simple.

I am afraid Mr. Joyce has rather missed my point. Of course, everybody knows that 214365 is not 213546, and any ringer knows that if you have 214365879 and do nothing, 214365879 will repeat itself. My whole argument is that the change from 214365879 to rounds is made in the row 123456789, and not in between the rows.—Yours faithfully,

A PLAIN RINGER.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

SOUTH AND WEST DISTRICT BELL FUND.

The annual meeting of the South and West District was held at Isleworth by permission of the Rev. P. W. Shepherd-Smith (Vicar), and in spite of the inclement weather a good company was present. Service was conducted by the Vicar, who in his address gave a brief history of bells, which was most interesting. After service, the members were entertained to tea in the Church Hall by the Vicar and churchwardens, and a party of 56 greatly appreciated the refreshments provided. The Vicar presided, supported by Mr. Bird (vice-president), Mr. Edgley (churchwarden), and Mr. Bridges (hon. treasurer to the Isleworth bell fund).

At the subsequent business meeting an appeal for the distressed sufferers of the recent floods in Isleworth was made, and £1 11s. was collected and handed to the Vicar.

A grant of two guineas was made from the funds to the West Drayton bell fund.

The balance sheet was presented and adopted, and showed a surplus of £1 13s. 3d. on the year's working. It was reported that nine meetings were held during the year, with an average attendance of 39. The ringing at these meetings had greatly improved. Many young enthusiasts had attended, all of whom the association welcomed most heartily. Twenty-four ringing members and three honorary members were elected during the year.

All the officers, including the members of the Central Committee, were re-elected for the ensuing year, with thanks for their past services.

The company expressed their sincere sympathy with Mr. Tom Beadle, and wished him a speedy recovery. A vote of condolence was accorded to the widow and family of the late Mr. W. E. Garrard on their sad bereavement.

Arising out of the several appeals received from churches in the district, a fund is to be formed with a charge of 3d. per rope for peal attempts, to be collected previous to the attempt by the conductor, in towers affiliated to the South and West District, and remitted to the hon. secretary.

The appeal for the Isleworth bell fund, which, owing to the great demand on the generosity of ringers and public alike, has been prolonged for a time, is still before the public. The amount reached is £120. The new Vicar is greatly interested in the scheme, and further assistance is asked for. A dance and social is to be held at Acton Church Hall on Easter Eve, April 7th, arranged by the Ringing Master (Mr. Holloway) in aid of the funds, and it is hoped others will follow.

The usual vote of thanks was accorded the Vicar and churchwardens for their kind hospitality, to the vice-president, Ringing Master, Mr. Lidbetter of the Isleworth band, the organist, hostess and assistants.

With the Ringing Master and hon. secretary's best thanks to officers and members alike for their attendance and support during the year, the meeting closed.

The tower was again visited, and ringing also took place at Twickenham, where the company increased by other arrivals. Thanks were accorded to the Vicar of Twickenham and Mr. E. A. Morris of the local band.

SHROPSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting of the Shropshire Association was held at Shrewsbury on Saturday, January 28th. Heavy rain fell during the afternoon, but in spite of this over 40 members were present from various towers in the county, and also from Crewe.

Ringing commenced soon after 2.30 at St. Mary's Church, but had to be stopped at 3.15 on account of a service. Tracks were then made for St. Chad's, where ringing continued until five o'clock, when a service was held in St. Aidan's Chapel, conducted by the Vicar (Rev. B. S. Lombard), who gave a very interesting address on the origin of bells and their ancient use.

Tea was afterwards partaken of in St. Chad's Institute, the catering being done by Mr. John Wall, an old and esteemed member.

The business meeting followed, Major E. R. Trevor Corbett presiding.

The Secretary read the report, and presented the balance sheet, which showed a balance in hand of £41 4s. 10d. It was gratifying to learn that the membership was 115, and as there were several more elected at the meeting this brings the total to over 120.

Mr. W. Saunders was elected to represent the association on the Central Council, in place of the Rev. H. S. T. Richardson, who has left the county.

On the proposition of Mr. Rodenhurst, seconded by Mr. Saunders, it was decided to reduce the non-resident life membership fee to 3s. 6d. The quarterly meetings for this year are to be held at Malinslee, Oswestry, and Moreton Corbet.

The business having been disposed of, the members returned to St. Chad's, and the noble ring were kept going till nine o'clock in the following methods: Grandsire and Stedman Caters, Plain Bob and Treble Bob Royal, and three courses of Grandsire Cinques.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

THE NEGLECT OF SIX-BELL TOWERS.

In spite of a gale and incessant rain, over 50 members braved the elements and attended the quarterly meeting of the Rochester District at Rainham on Saturday, January 28th. The tower was opened at three o'clock for ringing, and the belfry was soon crowded out.

The Vicar of Rainham, the Rev. W. A. R. Ball, conducted the association service, the organist and a full choir being in attendance, which considerably brightened the service. The Vicar gave an excellent address, taking for his text the words from Corinthians iii. 9, 'We are labourers with God.'

Tea followed in the Parish Hall, to which nearly 70 sat down, including the choir, presided over by the Vicar, who was supported by Churchwarden H. Springate.

The business meeting, which followed, was of the usual harmonious character.

Six new members were elected, and after a host of towers being proposed at the place of the next meeting, Tunstall was finally chosen, after a close vote with Gillingham. It was unanimously decided to hold the meeting on the last Saturday in April.

Mr. Haigh spoke of the neglect to hold meetings at the six-bell towers, and it was decided to hold a bye-meeting at Higham, on Saturday, March 10th, and try and get that tower to rejoin the association.

The district secretary was asked, on behalf of the district, to write to Mr. W. A. Cooke, of Rainham, who was lying in St. Bartholomew's Hospital, Chatham, after a successful operation, and convey their best wishes for a speedy recovery; also to Mr. E. J. Dobbie, of Sittingbourne, who, as the result of an accident with his motor-bicycle, had lost three fingers, expressing the members' regret at his accident.

The District Secretary said they were deeply grateful to the Benevolent Committee for a further grant to Mr. F. Draper, of Northfleet, which had helped him over an evil time, and he was glad to say that now he was in receipt of the old age pension.

Mr. W. Haigh proposed hearty thanks to the Vicar and wardens for their valued assistance, also to the organist and choir for their attendance.

The Vicar responded in a humorous speech and thanked the district for again visiting Rainham.

After touches on the handbells, the tower was again visited, the ringing ranging from rounds to whatever method was desired up to Cambridge and Superlative.

LIVERPOOL RINGER'S DEATH.

The death has occurred at Liverpool of Mr. Sam W. Stewart. Mr. Stewart was formerly a member of the company at Halifax Parish Church. He came to Liverpool about 24 years ago, and was for some time a ringer at St. John's, Tuebrook. Later he had resided at Great Crosby, and rang regularly as a service ringer at St. Luke's Church, the ringers of which tower carried him to his last resting place.

Deceased was a good ringer, and had rung several peals of Stedman Triples, but his favourite method was Treble Bob.

Much sympathy is extended to his widow and family, also to his brother, Mr. C. E. Stewart, by the ringers of Liverpool, with whom the deceased was very popular.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD. PORTSMOUTH DISTRICT SUCCESSFULLY LAUNCHED.

The inaugural meeting of the Portsmouth District of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild was held on Jan. 28th at St. Mary's Church, when over 60 members were present from Alverstoke, Bramshott, Bishop's Waltham, Caterington, Fareham, Gosport, Havant, North Stoneham, Petersfield, Portsmouth (St. Thomas' and St. Mary's), Southampton, and Wickham, as well as visitors from King's Somborne and Mr. H. Barton (Ventnor).

Ringing took place on the peal of eight until 4.30 p.m., when a service was held in the church, at which the Archdeacon of Portsmouth (the Ven. H. N. Rodgers) addressed the members, and was assisted in the conduct of the service by the Revs. A. G. E. Munson and R. B. Brown, of St. Mary's. The Archdeacon based his address on two of the objects of the Guild—(1) The recognition of the true position of ringers as church workers, and (2) the promotion of ringing for divine service. At the close of the service, at which Mr. D. C. Williams, F.R.C.O. (Millbrook), presided at the organ, the assembly adjourned to the Parish Institute, where an excellent tea awaited them.

At the business meeting which followed, the Archdeacon took the chair, supported by the Master (Mr. G. Williams), the general secretary (Mr. G. Pullinger), the district secretary pro. tem. (Mr. F. W. Rogers), etc., the Secretary read the list of towers which had been placed in the new Portsmouth district, viz., Alverstoke, Curdridge, East Meon, Fareham, Gosport, Havant, Petersfield, Portsmouth (St. Thomas' and St. Mary's), Soberton, and West Meon (eight-bell towers); Bishop's Waltham, Bramshott, Caterington, Hambledon, Shedfield, Swanmore, Titchfield, Wickham and Warnford (six-bell towers); Buriton and Steep (five-bell towers). The Secretary said that all the towers had affiliated to the Guild except Soberton, Warnford, and Buriton.

The election of district officers resulted as follows: Chairman, Mr. R. J. Stone; secretary, Mr. F. W. Rogers; auditor, Mr. H. G. Reynolds; representatives on Central Committee, Messrs. F. A. Burnett and R. J. Stone.

Several new members were elected, including the Rector of Bramshott (the Rev. E. H. Polehampton), and eight honorary members of Wickham, Messrs. C. E. Foster (Caterington) and S. A. Bamford (Portsmouth) as full members, and two probationers from Havant and Portsea. Colonel de W. Kitcat (Gosport) was transferred from a full member to an honorary member.

It was decided to hold the next quarterly meeting at Petersfield on April 28th, when it is hoped to be able to visit both Buriton and Steep.

A discussion arose on the question of combined practices, and it was suggested that a quarterly peal should be arranged to give young ringers an opportunity to ring their first peal, applications to be made to the district secretary.

Just before the close of the meeting, the Bishop of Southampton (Dr. Boulflower) paid a visit and was warmly welcomed by the members present, to whom he addressed a few remarks.

On the proposition of the District Chairman, votes of thanks were accorded the Archdeacon for his address, to the clergy who had arranged the service, and to the organist and all who had helped to make the meeting such a success. At the conclusion handbell ringing was practised until it was convenient to visit the belfry. During the day the ringing ranged from rounds for the beginners, and included Grandsire and Stedman Triples. Bob Major, Double Norwich, Cambridge, Superlative and Norfolk Surprise Major.

NEW ALTON DISTRICT STARTED.

The inaugural meeting of the new Alton District was held at Alton on Saturday, January 21st, when 24 ringers attended from Alton, Binsted, Blackmoor, Fareham, King's Somborne, North Stoneham, Portsmouth and Winchester.

Mr. G. Williams (Master of the Guild) presided at the business meeting and was supported by the Rev. B. C. Taylor, Mr. W. Andrews, Mr. W. Read, Mr. Perry and others, and at the commencement expressed his regret that more clergy were not present. He proceeded to give the reasons for forming the new district, and stated that the following towers had been placed in it: Alton, Privett, Chawton, Binsted, Froyle, Ropley, Blackmoor, Hawley, Froxfield, Liss, Selborne and Newton Valence. Bramshott, although in the area, had expressed a wish to remain in the Portsmouth District, but the chairman thought that when it was seen that an Alton District would be more convenient and handy for them, the Bramshott band would be anxious to transfer to the Alton District.

Considerable discussion arose over the point brought forward by the Alton band, that they did not think the new district was required or workable. However, it was finally decided that the only way to work the towers in the area was by forming a new Alton District.

Rev. F. G. Byres (Blackmoor) was elected district chairman, Rev. B. C. Taylor (Binsted) district secretary, Mr. Read (Blackmoor) representative on the Central Committee, and Rev. E. Dennett (East Worsleyham) district auditor (subject to his consent).

It was decided to hold the first quarterly meeting at Binsted on Saturday, May 12th, and that the dates and places of the next annual meeting and two more quarterly meetings be decided at that meeting.

'IRENÆUS PISTOR.'

We are glad to acknowledge the following further contributions to the fund for the assistance of Mr. Alfred T. Baker ('Irenæus Pistor'), of Hillsborough, Sheffield. The fund has reached a substantial amount, but there is, in a case of this description, where a breadwinner is permanently deprived of his sight, great need for as large a sum as can be raised, and we earnestly appeal to all those who have not yet sent their contributions to do so as soon as possible, so that the fund may be closed.

SURREY'S DIOCESAN POSITION.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Kindly allow me to point out a little mistake in your leading article on the problems of Surrey in your issue of January 27th. It infers that the portion of Surrey which formed the new diocese of Southwark was in Canterbury diocese. That was not the case; it was formerly in Rochester diocese. The only portion of Surrey that ever was, and still is, in Canterbury diocese is Croydon and a portion of its near neighbourhood.—Yours faithfully,

W. E. PITMAN.

CHORLEY RINGER'S GOLDEN WEDDING.

On Thursday, February 2nd, at the Chorley Parish Church, a date touch of Grandsire Triples (1,928 changes) was rung in one hour and fifteen minutes, in honour of the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. John Marsden, of Chorley. The ringers were: John Marsden 1, W. Blackledge 2, T. Lofthouse 3, H. Southworth 4, J. H. Gartside 5, F. Rigby (conductor) 6, G. Hewitt 7, H. Foster 8. At the conclusion of the touch Mr. Lofthouse, on behalf of the ringers, presented a framed photograph of the church to Mr. Marsden. The picture was inscribed: 'Presented to Mr. and Mrs. John Marsden by the ringers of the Chorley Parish Church on the occasion of their golden wedding, February 2nd, 1928.'

Mr. Marsden, in accepting the gift, on behalf of himself and his wife, thanked the ringers, and said how pleased he was with it, as he thought they could not have chosen anything more suitable, for he had been connected with the church from birth. He was baptised there, married there, and had been a Sunday School teacher for a long number of years, as well as having been a ringer at the church about fifty-seven years.

The ringers then spent the rest of the evening in a convivial manner, Mr. Marsden acting as the host. Songs were given by Mr. R. Clayton, H. Foster and J. H. Gregson, Mr. J. H. Gartside accompanying in his usual efficient manner, and also playing several selections.

Mr. Lofthouse moved that the heartiest thanks of the ringers be given to their host, and to Messrs. Clayton, Gartside, Foster and Gregson for having entertained them. Mr. F. Rigby seconded, and the vote was carried with acclamation.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A meeting was held at Hertford on Saturday, January 28th, when the bells of All Saints' (10), St. Andrew's (8), and Ben-en (8), were made good use of. Twenty-five ringers put in an appearance in spite of the uninviting weather, and all seemed to enjoy the meeting of friends.

A short but very enjoyable service was held in All Saints' Church. The Vicar gave an address, and all who attended appreciated the warm welcome that he gave them.

The business meeting was held after tea, Mr. R. Sanders, of London, presiding.

The usual votes of thanks were accorded the incumbent for the use of the bells, and to the chairman for presiding, all being pleased to see him amongst them. An adjournment was then made to the three towers, and further ringing was done.

During the afternoon and evening, touches of Grandsire Doubles and Triples, Stedman Triples and Bob Major were rung on the fine peal of bells at St. Lawrence's Church.

The formation of the new district will enable new ground to be worked, as, owing to the large size of the old Winchester District, there were many towers at which a Guild meeting had never been held.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

ROSSENDALE BRANCH.

A meeting of the Rossendale Branch was held at St. Nicholas', Newchurch, on Saturday, January 28th, when members assembled from all parts of the district, and there was a visiting member from Salford, making a total of 34 present. Touches in various methods were rung, including Grandsire Triples, Bob Major, Stedman Triples, Double Norwich, etc., during the afternoon. A substantial meal was served at the Boar's Head Hotel, the menu including potato pie and rice pudding. The repast was kindly provided by the Rector, and, needless to say, the ringers did ample justice to all the good things.

The business was afterwards transacted, St. Paul's, Ramsbottom, being selected for the next meeting, at a date to be arranged.

The best thanks of the meeting were heartily given to the Rector for his generosity in providing such a good meal, also to the Rector and wardens for use of bells, and to the ringers for having all in order. A hearty vote of thanks to the host and hostess (Mr. and Mrs. Cowell) brought the business to a close. Further ringing concluded one of the best meetings held in the branch for a considerable time.

LIVERPOOL BRANCH.

A most successful meeting of the Liverpool Branch was held at St. Nicholas', Liverpool, on Saturday, January 14th. Over sixty members were present, including several visitors from other branches. The bells were set going about 3 p.m., and were kept busy until 5.30 p.m., under the guidance of the Branch Ringing Master, Mr. J. W. Wilkinson. Service was held in the church, and the Rector of Liverpool gave a most inspiring address.

The company then adjourned to the Institute, where tea had been provided for all by the Ven. Archdeacon Howson. At the conclusion of the tea, the meeting was held, and the Archdeacon presided. The Branch Secretary read a communication from Mr. J. Waghorn, sen., conveying best wishes for a good meeting and season's greetings, which was received with acclamation.

The next monthly meeting will be held at St. Helen's Parish Church on Saturday, February 11th. This meeting promises to be very popular, as the old bells of St. Peter's, Liverpool, have been overhauled and rehung in this tower.

At the conclusion of the formal business, Mr. G. R. Newton proposed a vote of condolence with Mr. Tom Hammond and family in their recent bereavement. This was carried by all present silently standing.

A collection was taken on behalf of 'The Ringing World' fund for 'Ironseus,' and the amount totalled £1 10s. 6d.

A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Rector of Liverpool for granting facilities for the meeting and for the inspiring address. In response, the Rector said he was most pleased to welcome the branch to St. Nicholas', and wished all present prosperity.

The Archdeacon was warmly thanked for his attendance and the continued interest he takes in the branch, and last, but by no means least, for providing the bountiful tea.

This concluded the meeting, and a return was made to the tower, where it is said Cambridge Maximus was the order.

194 METHODS IN A YEAR.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—May we trespass upon the hospitality of your columns to offer our congratulations to the ringers of Wath-on-Dearne? Nearly two hundred extents in one year is an achievement of itself, but when nearly the same number of methods are used it becomes remarkable. We wish we had their opportunities—and ability. More power to their elbows!—Yours sincerely,

G. DAWSON,

Hon. secretary,
St. John-the-Baptist Association, Leytonstone.

A NATIONAL ORGANISATION?

The bold suggestion put forward by a correspondent that there should be, instead of many separate diocesan, county and district ringing organisations, one national association of church bell ringers, strikes deeply into the system by which the administration of the Exercise has hitherto been carried on. Mr. Colin Harrison, in advancing his views, obviously realises some of the great obstacles which would be met with in endeavouring to launch such a scheme, which, while it has much that may be said in its favour, has, as far as we see it at the moment, a very great deal to be said against it. It is, however, a subject that might well be discussed, because much might be gained and certainly nothing can be lost by a free consideration of the pros and cons.

The main idea behind the proposal appears to be to avoid that overlapping of ringing organisations which is to be found in a great many parts of the country, with the consequent imposition of dual subscriptions by ringers, who cannot always well afford them, a frequent clashing of fixtures; and sometimes the engendering of friction—all of which things it is in the best interests of the Exercise to avoid. The nucleus of a national body, if it were needed, is of course, already in existence in the Central Council, but we imagine there would be a strenuous opposition to the idea of sinking the 'local' identity of the diocesan and territorial organisations, while even more difficult would it be to absorb those societies like the College Youths and Cumberlands, which are already almost national in character.

The overlapping which exists is due in the main to the fact that all the associations are not based on the same territorial plan—some are diocesan, some county, and while this dual system prevails the trouble, if trouble it is, will continue. The elimination of overlapping, difficult as it may be, would, we think, be easier to accomplish than the setting up of a national organisation, for the reason that there are in the different areas in which the various Guilds and Associations function closer ties to bind the members. For instance, a ringer's connection with a county association must be of a more personal kind than would membership of a national association with a local branch; and the interest of the clergy could be better retained in a diocesan organisation than in one which was country-wide in its scope. Then, too, there is a certain amount of jealous regard which ringers have for their own societies which would make many of them loth to surrender their 'control,' if one may use the term, to a centralised body. These are just one or two of the broader objections which would have to be met in connection with a national scheme. As already indicated we are inclined to think the overlapping difficulty might be better dealt with, at any rate where counties and dioceses are not coterminous, by an endeavour to establish all the ringing associations on a diocesan basis. Even this idea would, we are sure, meet with great opposition and perhaps the time is hardly ripe to put it forward, but, as we have also said on more than one occasion, we believe the trend is already in this direction and that eventually it will come. But whatever individual views ringers may hold, Mr. Harrison's suggestions ought not to be lightly cast aside; it is a proposal which deserves more than cursory examination.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION. THE TREASURER'S 'MAJORITY.'

The annual meeting of the Yorkshire Association was held on Saturday, February 4th, at Selby. By the kind permission of the Vicar and churchwardens, the fine ring of ten bells at the abbey were available for ringing from noon onward, and they were kept going in a variety of methods from noon till 9 p.m. The day's proceedings commenced with the audit, which was held in the sacristy of the splendid abbey church, the auditors being Messrs. A. W. Hall and W. Hinton, of the local band.

Divine service was held in the Abbey at 4 p.m., and was attended by some sixty members. The imposing church made a fine setting for the delightful service, which was tastefully rendered by the choir and organist of the abbey. Taking as his text the first verse of Psalms xcv., the preacher (Rev. Canon Solloway) gave a most interesting discourse on the old ring of eight bells formerly in the Abbey. The words of the text, the preacher said, breathed the spirit of devotion. Ringers of these days had high ideals, and their thoughts should be centred on pressing the spirit of worship, and all members should be animated by this thought in their work. Realising the difficulty of ringers always remaining to service, the Canon stated that he could easily understand them hurrying home occasionally for a drink—of water. Worship meant to honour God in all thought, word and deeds, and all his hearers were urged to take this conception of their office as ringers in the church. In conclusion, Canon Solloway extended a hearty welcome to the members to Selby, and trusted that their visit would be a profitable and pleasant one.

Tea was served in the neighbouring Co-operative Cafe, and the business meeting was subsequently held in the abbey sacristy.

The president (Rev. C. C. Marshall) was in the chair, supported by the principal officers of the association. Apologies for absence were received from Messrs. F. W. Dale, G. Lewis, F. Willey, J. H. Blakiston and C. Harrison.

The Chairman presented the annual report of the committee, and paid a warm tribute to the work of the peal secretary.

The report was adopted on the motion of Mr. S. Briggs, seconded by Mr. W. Idle, while the balance sheet was adopted on the motion of Mr. W. Hinton, seconded by Mr. H. Morley.

No other nominations having been received for the office of treasurer of the association, the retiring treasurer (Mr. J. Cotterell) was duly declared elected to the office unopposed. In making the declaration, the Chairman called the attention of the meeting to the fact that Mr. Cotterell had held the post of treasurer for twenty-one years, and that during that period Mr. Cotterell had faced many anxious and critical times in the history of the association. The present flourishing state of the association was very largely due to the labours of Mr. Cotterell. The chairman also took the opportunity of reminding his hearers that it was customary to honour a twenty-first birthday by the presentation of a suitable memento, and the members and Mr. Cotterell ought not to be surprised if some effort was made in this direction, as some token of the respect that they all had for Mr. Cotterell for his many services to the association on their behalf.

Messrs. P. Byram and M. Hodgson were elected as members of the association, while Messrs. E. Wagstaff and S. Clancy were elected as 'out county' life members of the association. The Rev. J. Hewitson, Vicar of Hoylandswaine, was also elected an honorary member.

The Chairman proposed, and Mr. H. Williams seconded, a hearty vote of thanks to Canon Solloway for his very kindly welcome and for his address at the service. The Vicar of Selby had placed the association under another debt of gratitude to him by placing the fine ring of ten at the abbey at the disposal of visitors, and by giving up an afternoon of valuable time when he was seriously wanting all his spare moments to devote his energies to the appeal for funds for the preservation of the abbey.

The best thanks of the meeting were accorded to the abbey organist, who had very kindly come specially from Leeds for the occasion; to the choir for their services at evensong; to the ladies who waited at the tea tables, and to the local company for their kind arrangements. This, on being put, was carried with acclamation.—Mr. F. Cryer responded on behalf of the local authorities and the Selby ringers, thanking the members for their appreciation of the efforts made for their comfort, and stating that the local ringers felt that they had only done their duty in making the arrangements for the meeting.

The general secretary next called the attention of the meeting to the announcement in the press of a great gathering of ringers at Croydon Bell Foundry on March 3rd, and asked all intending visitors to that function to notify him of their intention not later than Monday, February 20th.—A vote of thanks to the chairman brought to a close a most pleasant and enjoyable meeting.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION. NORTH AND EAST DISTRICT ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the North and East district was held on Saturday, February 4th, at St. Giles-in-the-Fields. Unfortunately, as several meetings took place in or near London on this date, the attendance was a small one, only 40 members being present. The district committee met in the vestry at 4.15, and at 5 o'clock the usual service was held. In the unavoidable absence of the Rector through illness, the Rev. W. Wright conducted the service, and preached a very inspiring sermon.

After an excellent tea, the usual business meeting was held. The balance sheet, showing a credit balance of £20 2s. 5d., in addition to stock valued at £73 13s. 8d., was adopted, subject to audit. In spite of heavy expenditure, which included a grant of £5 to the Bow bells restoration fund, and nearly £3 in instructors' expenses, the loss on the year's working was very small.

Twenty new members were admitted, including the Rev. W. Wright as an honorary member, whose election was carried with acclamation.

The whole of the retiring officers were re-elected, with the addition of Mr. A. Howkins (St. Giles-in-the-Fields) as assistant hon. secretary in place of the late Mr. W. J. Kemp. Diplomas for peal ringers was discussed, in anticipation of the coming Central Council meeting. A decision was, of course, deferred until the annual general meeting of the association is held.

Arrangements for the ringers' day at Croydon were also gone into, and local secretaries and others were urged to send in their returns to the secretary by February 20th.

A sum of £2 2s. was voted to the West Drayton (Middlesex) bell restoration fund.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Hornsey; whilst Edmon-ton was chosen as the venue for the next annual meeting of the district.

An interesting subject was raised by Mr. G. R. Goodship (Harrow Weald), who read an extract from a London evening newspaper in connection with the tragedy which recently occurred in the belfry at Mitcham. The paragraph stated that the question of reconsecration did not arise, 'as the belfry was not part of the consecrated building.' Mr. Goodship asked if this was correct.

Much surprise was expressed by many. The president (Mr. F. A. Milne), the Rev. W. Wright, Mr. James George, Mr. W. Pickworth and others were all of the contrary opinion, and Mr. Milne said that he would write to the Chancellor of his diocese for his ruling on such a matter.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Rector (Rev. W. H. Davies) for allowing the meeting to be held; to the Rev. W. Wright for his address at the service; to the Revs. W. P. Bickford and B. Marshall for permission to ring at St. Clement Danes and St. Andrew's, Wells Street; and to Mr. Dyas for arrangements made at the latter tower.

The vote of thanks was acknowledged by the Rev. W. Wright, and the meeting terminated.

During the afternoon and evening many good touches were rung at St. Giles-in-the-Fields, St. Clement Danes, and St. Andrew's, Wells Street, amongst the methods rung being Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Caters, Bob Major, and Cambridge and London Surprise Major.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

PRESENTATION TO CHEW DEANERY BRANCH SECRETARY.

The annual meeting of the Chew Deanery Branch was held at Long Ashton on Saturday, January 28th, and was attended by members from Barrow, Gurney, Chilcompton, Clapton-in-Gordano, Chew Magna, Clevedon, Easton-in-Gordano, Kingston Seymour, Long Ashton, Portishead, Tickenham, Wraxall and Weston-super-Mare. Ringing was followed by service, at which an address was given by the Vicar of Long Ashton (the Rev. J. E. Varley). Tea was then partaken of at the Church House by 26 members, and the subsequent business meeting was presided over by the Rev. J. E. Varley.

The following officers were re-elected en bloc: Mr. T. Wyatt, chairman; Messrs. J. Bishop and G. Court, vice-chairman; Percy G. Yeo, hon. secretary and treasurer; G. Yeo, Ringing Master and representative on general committee.

Fourteen new members were elected, and Portishead was chosen as the place for the next quarterly meeting, with an intermediate meeting at Chew Stoke.

A handsome 14-day clock, suitably inscribed, was presented to the hon. secretary in recognition of his services, and also as a wedding gift, Mr. Gillingham, in making the presentation, saying the opportunity should not be lost of showing their appreciation of the work done by the hon. secretary.—Mr. Yeo suitably replied, thanking the members for their generous gift and good wishes.

Votes of thanks were then given to the Vicar for his address and for presiding at the meeting, and to the ladies who provided such a nice tea.—A welcome was accorded Mr. H. Jefferies, churchwarden of All Saints', Long Ashton.—The meeting then concluded, and the tower was again visited.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD. FIVE NEW TOWERS JOIN ANDOVER DISTRICT.

The inaugural meeting of the newly-formed Andover District was held at Whitchurch on Saturday, February 4th, and was a great success, over 70 members attending from the following towers: Basingstoke, Bramley, East Woodhay, Fareham, Highclere, King's Sonborne, Laverstock, North Stoneham, Oakley, Overton, Portsmouth, Steventon, St. Mary Bourne, Wherwell, Woolton Hill, Whitchurch and Winchester. A welcome visitor was Mr. J. H. Shepherd (Swindon).

Tea was partaken of in the Parish Hall, and the business meeting followed, the Rev. M. S. Douglas being voted to the chair. He was supported by Rev. E. Jones, Rev. A. Lewis, Rev. G. H. Jewdine, Mr. G. Williams, Mr. A. H. Rogers, Mr. F. Wilson, Mr. H. Horne and others.

The General Secretary (Mr. G. Pullinger) explained the reason for forming the new district, and stated that the following towers had been provisionally placed in it: Andover, Ampert, Abbots Ann, Burghclere, East Woodhay, Highclere, Hurstbourne Priors, Laverstock, Longparish, Nether Wallop, Over Wallop, St. Mary Bourne, Sydmonton, Tangle, Thruxton, Wherwell, Whitchurch and Woolton Hill.

The Rev. F. C. Sear (Sydmonton) was elected district secretary, the Rev. A. Lewis (Wherwell) district chairman, Mr. F. Knapp (Highclere), representative on the Central Committee Mr. R. Rix (Woolton Hill) District Ringing Master, and Mr. O. Smart (Andover) district auditor.

The following bands joined the Guild: Burghclere, East Woodhay, Highclere, Laverstock and Wherwell. This was very encouraging, as these towers had not previously belonged to any ringing organisation. It was decided to hold the next annual district meeting at Whitchurch on February 2nd, 1929.

Quarterly meetings were arranged as follows: St. Mary Bourne on April 21st, Wherwell and Longparish on July 28th, Woolton Hill and East Woodhay on October 6th.

The bells of Laverstock (six) and Whitchurch (eight) were available during the afternoon and evening, and various methods, ranging from Bob and Grandsire Doubles to Cambridge and Superlative Surprise Major, were practised.

USK, MON.—On Tuesday, January 24th, at the Parish Church, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) in 50 mins.: G. Knight 1, L. Jones 2, G. Went 3, E. W. Luff 4, E. Perry 5, D. G. Clift 6, A. Hawkins (conductor) 7, G. Hawkins 8. First quarter-peal of Triples for all. First on the bells by a local band, all of whom are Sunday service ringers at this church.

DEDICATION OF PEAL TABLET AT EXETER CATHEDRAL.

An interesting ceremony was performed in Exeter Cathedral belfry on Saturday, February 11th, when a framed oak tablet, presented by the Rev. M. Kelly, recording the peal of Stedman Cinques on the Cathedral bells, rung on October 15th, 1927, by members of the Devonshire Guild, was unveiled and dedicated. Canon McLaren recited the office, and a congregation of about 30 joined in the responses, the Lord's Prayer, and singing a short hymn.

Mr. Kelly then unveiled the tablet, the dedicatory invocation followed, also Psalm cxxii., thankful sentences and a prayer.

In conclusion, Mr. F. Davey, on behalf of the band, thanked Mr. Kelly for his generous gift, and the donor said it gave him much pleasure to be the means of placing that tablet there to commemorate what he considered to a great effort, not only for the ringers but for the composer in producing a musical peal in such a beautiful method. Although the peal had been rung practically by non-resident members, he was delighted that three Devonians had taken part in it, and that it had been rung under the auspices of the county Guild. He hoped they would let it be an incentive to ringers to progress—something to aim at. He asked them to notice also the motto at the bottom of the tablet, 'Laus est Deo,' i.e., 'Praise is to God,' which should be the true object and spirit of all their ringing, the honour and praise of God.

A touch of Grandsire Cinques, conducted by the president of the Guild (Rev. E. S. Powell), was then rung, also touches of Stedman Triples on the Stafford eight, and Bob Major on the Thomas eight.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Ely District was held at Melbourn on Saturday, February 11th. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m., and was of a high standard, London, York, Beverley, Wells and Cambridge Surprise being chiefly rung. Members were present from Barley, Cambridge, Melbourn, Royston, Stapleford, Trumpington and Long Stanton.

A point of special interest was the ringing of Master D. Howard (son of Mr. R. Howard, of Barley), aged 11 years. An attempt for a 720 London Surprise, non-conducted, by F. Harper 1, F. Warrington 2, R. Howard 3, A. E. Austin 4, E. H. Finch 5, R. G. King 6, was lost two treble leads from home, after otherwise perfect ringing. The bells were lowered about 8.45 p.m., everyone present having a most enjoyable time.

UXBRIDGE.—At St. Andrew's Church, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples in 45 mins., for service on Wednesday, January 25th (Conversion of St. Paul): G. F. Baldwin 1, G. H. Gutteridge 2, J. H. Lucas 3, R. Warnett 4, F. Corke (conductor) 5, G. Nicholls 6, R. Carter 7, S. Humphries 8.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Among the many bell restorations which Messrs. Gillett and Johnston have in hand are a new peal of six, with new frame and fittings, for Stoke Fleming, Devon; recasting the peal of eight for Ruardean, Glos, which are to be hung in new ball bearings; and the addition of two trebles to the ring of six at Houghton-le-Spring, Durham, with new frame and fittings for eight.

An old London society, now defunct, the Trinity Youths, rang their first peal at St. Nicholas', Deptford, on February 18th, 1722.

Henry Haley, one of London's most famous ringers, was born on February 19th, 1819. In the course of his career, he rang 182 peals, of which he conducted 155 and composed 105. Among other performances, during a visit to the United States in 1850, he conducted at Philadelphia the first peal ever rung in America.

Oxford University Guild was founded on February 20th, 1872, which was before any of our 'modern' county or diocesan associations came into being.

A record was made at Oldham on February 21st, 1821, when a peal of 14,016 Kent Treble Bob Major was rung in 7 hrs. 26 mins. It was beaten ten years later by a peal of 15,168 at Elland.

'The greatest performance ever achieved in the Campanianum Art' was put up at St. Giles-in-the-Fields, London, on February 23rd, 1783, when 5,152 of Cambridge Surprise Major was rung. It was believed to be the first 'peal' in the method, but was, of course, false.

LAVENHAM CHURCH TOWER STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

On Friday afternoon, February 10th, the fine old tower of SS. Peter and Paul's Church, Lavenham, was struck by lightning, which, entering at the south-west top corner, went down the inner side of the south wall, causing a crack to extend from under the roof down to the arch of the belfry window, dislodging some of the brickwork. It then entered the window sill, wrecking this, and coming out of the wall just above the belfry floor, where it dislodged some of the smaller boarding near the pit of the tenor bell. The debris was strewn over the bell frame and floor, some of the bricks being found on the north window sill. Any further damage that there may be has not yet been discovered. The damage is covered by insurance. Ringing has been suspended.

WATH MEN TRIUMPH OVER DIFFICULTIES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—May I, on behalf of the Wath-on-Dearne ringers, beg sufficient of your valuable space to thank you for your kind and encouraging remarks in the last issue of 'The Ringing World,' the Leytonstone band, and all others for their congratulations. Our difficulties have not been few, nor yet small ones. Of the band of nine regular ringers, six work on shift work, mornings, afternoons, and nights, and as four of them work at three different collieries, and two are railway guards on shift work, their various shifts have never yet synchronised. This is shown by the small number of 720's rung at practices. In addition to this, one man has, too often, long periods of ill-health, one has serious eye trouble, one can ring only the treble, and one has badly contracted and crippled hands due to severe burns. One ringer only rejoined the band in May last, and I myself only rejoined in August, and have only been available for practices and alternate Sundays, with the addition of a peal or two. All, however, are deeply interested, and have done a tremendous amount of work at home to achieve our end. (We aimed at two hundred extents, and started for a peal of ten on January 31st, but owing to the tenor going badly I decided during the sixth to end the peal at the seventh, so we were three short of our hoped-for total.) We ring for an hour before each service on Sundays, which makes it possible to get four extents, but there have been many occasions when only one has been obtained (sometimes none), owing to shiftwork, illness and unavoidable absences. Our method is simplicity itself. All present for ringing are told what methods are to be attempted on the next occasion, and asked to study and learn them well at home. That this is, in the main, well done, is shown by the result obtained. The bells are old, toneless, and very 'oddstruck,' the dates and founders being: Tenor, 1583, Godfrey Heathcote; 5th, 1748, James Harrison; 4th, 1826, W. Oldfield; 3rd, 1742, James Harrison; 2nd, 1741, J. Harrison; treble, 1748, J. Harrison.—Yours truly,

A. NASH.

LADY RINGER IN AUSTRALIA.

Miss Dorothy D. Steel, of Bedford, who is the English lady croquet champion, and has been touring in Australia with the English ladies' team, has been able to take part in some ringing at Melbourne. At St. Paul's Cathedral in that city she broke a number of 'records,' being the first lady to ring on the twelve bells and take part in a touch of Caters, a course of Stedman and a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples. This last was rung by the following, most of whom, it will be seen, hail from the Mother Country: A. A. Savage (Berkshire) 1, Miss D. D. Steel (Bedfordshire) 2, J. M. Murray (Melbourne) 3, A. G. Fitzgerald (New Zealand) 4, H. Blakeley (Lancashire) 5, G. H. Wheeler (Cheshire) 6, F. Boughton (Worcestershire), conductor, 7, J. Spencer (Leicestershire) 8. The weight of the tenor at St. Paul's Cathedral, Melbourne, is 31½ cwt.

ALL ENGLAND RINGERS' MEETING AT THE CROYDON BELL FOUNDRY ON MARCH 3rd.

An invitation has been issued to all hon. secretaries of Diocesan Guilds and County Associations asking them to send names of their members who wish to attend. I would be glad if this information could reach me not later than Wednesday, February 22nd. The programme for the day will be:—

- 11.30 a.m. to 12.45 p.m.—Ringing at St. Stephen's Church, Clapham Park, and Croydon Parish Church, by arrangement.
- 2 p.m.—Works open to visitors. Demonstration of a peal of ten, having as tenor the 19-ton Bourdon for New York, which will be rung in its frame; a ring of eight; a carillon of 23; and sundry other peals of bells.
- 3.30 p.m. to 4.45.—Ringing at the Parish Church and St. Peter's, Croydon.
- 5 (for 5.15 p.m.)—Invitation tea at the Baths Hall, Scarbrook Road.
- 6.45 p.m. to 7.45.—Ringing at the Parish Church and St. Peter's.
- 8 p.m. to 11.45.—Social at the Baths Hall: concert, handbell ringing and dancing.

CYRIL F. JOHNSTON,
Gillett and Johnston, Croydon.

In connection with the gathering, Mr. Johnston is seeking the co-operation of the secretaries of ringing Guilds and associations in making known the arrangements, and those who require tickets will have to make application through this channel.

As the number of ringers attending is likely to be unusually large, it is not possible to extend the invitation in a general way to ringers' wives or friends (unless they are ringers also). Every effort, however, will be made to provide for a few tickets for this purpose to each association or Guild directly the number of those coming is known.

RAILWAY FACILITIES.

The Associated Railway Companies have agreed to the issue of cheap return tickets to Croydon from any railway station upon payment at the time of booking of single fare and a third (minimum 1s. fractions of 3d. reckoned as 3d.) and surrender of a voucher, which will be forwarded in due course with the admission tickets required. The tickets will be available for the forward journey on March 2nd or 3rd, and for return on March 3rd, 4th or 5th. This will enable visitors to break the journey by staying in London one or two days, if desired, up to and including March 5th.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

ST. HELENS BELLS PROVE A GREAT ATTRACTION.

The long-looked-for monthly meeting of the Liverpool Branch of the Lancashire Association, at the new Parish Church, was held on Saturday last, and was even a greater success than had been anticipated. Between 70 and 80 members and visitors were present. The old bells of St. Peter's, Liverpool, which had been in the hands of Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, had been rehung in the tower last year, but owing to the new tower having to settle, the ringing on the bells was prohibited by the architect until Christmas last. To many of those present they were 'new' bells, but there were some present who knew them in their old home, and these expressed great satisfaction with them in their new abode. The general opinion of these stalwarts was that the bells had been greatly improved by the tuning which they received at the Whitechapel Foundry.

The bells were ringing at 3 o'clock, and kept busy until 5 p.m., when the usual service was held in the Parish Church. The prayers were read by Rev. J. H. Pain (curate), who is a member of the new band there, and the Ven. Archdeacon Howson was the preacher. The organist had a full choir present, and in place of one of the hymns an anthem was rendered.

After service, tea was kindly provided by the authorities in the schoolroom near by.

After tea the business meeting was held. The Rev. J. H. Pain addressed the meeting in warm words of welcome to St. Helens. He apologised for the unavoidable absence of the Vicar.

Four new members were elected, and it was decided to make Bob Minor and Kent Treble Bob Minor the methods for special attention at the next meeting to be held at Rainhill on Saturday, March 10th.

The secretary was instructed to bring to the notice of the Rector of Liverpool the state of some of the old peal boards in St. Nicholas' tower, and endeavour to get them restored in order to preserve the old records.

Hearty votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar and church authorities for granting facilities for the meeting and for providing such an excellent tea; to the organist and choir for their assistance at the service; and to the Archdeacon for his presence and presiding.

A return was made to the tower, where Cambridge Royal was the 'star turn'.

A NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF CHURCH BELLRINGERS?

To the Editor.

Sir,—The re-forming of the Winchester Diocesan Guild, and also the subject of your editorial article of February 3rd, which referred to 'The future of the M.C.A.', have no doubt been of great interest to county and diocesan Associations and Guilds, other than those directly concerned. The Guildford Diocesan Guild, under very able leadership, had a most happy 'send off' at the commencement of this year, and one does not doubt that the M.C.A. officials will endeavour to discharge the many thorny problems which will confront them, with sincerity and a desire to please the majority.

In all reorganisations, one finds that sentiment plays a great part; survivors of old organisations cling dearly to the customs, rules and regulations which they have helped to establish, and which have no doubt been of inestimable value in paving the way to success of the larger associations in which they have gradually become merged. But, with the continual addition of new Sees, the difficulties of reorganisation will ever be present, unless we alter the mode and structure of our system, and, to my mind, the only satisfactory solution would be to form a National Association of Church Bellringers. Not only diocesan areas, but geographical circumstances greatly affect the well-being of any organisation, as anyone who is conversant with county associations cannot help but realise.

It is no uncommon feature to find an important centre of ringing situated on the very fringe of a county or diocesan area, and, owing to the distance or inconvenience caused by traversing that area, many of the meetings would be absolute failures were it not for the assistance derived from neighbouring towns and villages which lie in adjoining counties. Consequently, such meetings, and there are many of them throughout a year, actually have to rely upon the help, at a county meeting, of ringers who do not belong to the said county. Many will say that no harm is done in such circumstances; perhaps not, but is it not anomalous that those who back up such meetings as out-county members have little or no right in the management of that county association?

Many county and diocesan associations have not fulfilled the wishes of members in some particular area, with the result that a district society springs up and carries on the work which should rightly come from the parent society. The thought arises, Have the county and diocesan organisations 'held their hand' for fear of hurting the feelings of county members who are also interested in the junior bodies, or has it been a case of letting the willing horse do all the pulling?

By force of such conditions as just mentioned, many ringers whom I know personally are under the obligation of subscribing to five different bodies, two of them as county associations (ringing peals for each), and three of them district societies. Surely, this should not be so.

To obviate the disadvantages already illustrated, I think that a National Association of Church Bellringers would be just the thing, for, not only would our prestige so far as the church itself is concerned be raised, but in the case of other national matters our weight of opinion and unanimity of expression would have far more effect in general than is the case at the present time. My idea is to have an authoritative Executive Council at established headquarters, with branch organisations in all the centres of ringing throughout the British Isles, carrying on in similar circumstances as other national bodies, such as the Y.M.C.A., C.E.M.S., insurance companies, trade unions, friendly societies, etc. Ringing would then come to be regarded as a whole, whilst local customs would be the care of the branches.

What of financing such a proposal? It is obvious that much of the money now spent could be economised, e.g., more than one county publishes the same peal, for the simple reason that all the performers may be members (either county or life) of their association; and there are instances where two counties hold their meetings within a few miles of each other, neither of them being a success because members naturally desire to support their own organisation, whereas, if a district was governed by its branch, intercommunication would be more feasible, and by regarding each district as one of a whole, the question of rights and settling up of precedents would not arise.

It has been stated several times that there are at least 40,000 ringers in this country, so that on the basis of only 1s. per member per annum, the total income would be £2,000, plus whatever could be obtained from honorary members. This figure would, after deducting all the usual charges associated with running organisations, leave an ample surplus for other purposes, i.e., investment, various funds, etc.

I can hear many of my readers saying, 'What about the funds we have already built up?' Well, surely this is no obstacle, but rather an asset. If my critics are as sincere for the welfare of ringing as they would have me believe, they would not hesitate to put the whole lot in the common pool.

I am well aware of many objections to the scheme propounded, especially from the sentimental point of view, but shall nevertheless be glad to hear what other ringers think, and so long as the correspondence is conducted without bias or personalities, even if nothing comes of it, it will, perhaps, have provided matter for discussion.—Yours etc.,

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

THE FIRST DISTRICT MEETING.

The first of the district meetings in the newly-formed Guildford Diocesan Guild was held at Leatherhead on Saturday. There are twelve towers in the district, the ringers of ten of which belong to the Guild, and nine were represented at the meeting, viz., Ashted, Bantland, Capel, Cobham, Dorking, Ewell, Epsom (St. Martin's), Leatherhead and Newdigate. Excellent arrangements had been made by Mr. A. Dean and the local band, and although early ringing was prevented by a funeral, a number of touches on eight and ten bells were enjoyed in the afternoon by the visitors, several of whom rang on ten for the first time. The Vicar (Rev. G. H. B. Coleridge) conducted the Guild's service, and gave an inspiring address.

A meat tea in the Institute was followed by the business meeting, at which 45 members were present, there being, in addition to representatives of the towers mentioned, ringers from the Cathedral and St. Nicolas', Guildford, Oatlands Park, Walton, West Clandon, Woking, Thursley and London. The Rev. G. H. B. Coleridge presided, and was supported by the Rev. C. F. Carver (Capel), Admiral T. P. Walker, D.S.O. (hon. treasurer of the Guild), Major J. H. B. Hesse (Master), Mr. W. Shepherd (Central Council representative), Mr. J. S. Goldsmith (hon. general secretary), and Mr. C. H. Kippen (hon. secretary of the Surrey Association).

The General Secretary reported that under the affiliation scheme 20 towers had actually paid their affiliation fees to the Guild, and several others had signified their intention of doing so. It was expected that before the year was out all the towers where the ringers had come into the Guild would enter the scheme. It was started as an experiment, and promised to be completely successful. Up to the day of the inauguration of the Guild, 399 members were enrolled, and there had since been belfry elections which brought the total to over 400. There were, at the end of the year, ringers in the Guild from 39 out of the 56 towers in the diocese, and others would be added as the district meetings were held. The Secretary congratulated the Leatherhead district on the work they had already done for the Guild. The members had been very active in propaganda work, and in peal ringing alone they could claim four of the five peals rung up to date.

Fourteen new members (including one life member) were then elected, including all the members of the Newdigate band.

DISTRICT OFFICERS.

The election of district officers followed. Only one nomination had been received for the office of Ringing Master, and Mr. Albert Harman was declared duly elected. Similarly Mr. F. G. Woodiss (whose address is 28, Strathern Road, Sutton, Surrey) was appointed without opposition to the post of hon. secretary.

The representatives elected by show of hands on the Executive Committee were Rev. C. F. Carver (Capel) and Mr. G. Marviner (Leatherhead) from the ringing members, and the Rev. G. H. B. Coleridge from the hon. members.

Leatherhead was chosen for the next annual district meeting, and it was resolved to hold five other district meetings during the year, the places to be selected by the District Committee, and the dates to be arranged in conjunction with the other districts so as to prevent the clashing of Guild meetings.

The meeting approved, in principle, of a scheme for combined practices, drawn up by Mr. A. H. Winch, who has undertaken to do the management for the first year. It provides for a visit to each of the towers in the district once a quarter, on the regular practice nights. The details will be arranged by the District Committee.

A suggestion was also approved of a scheme to encourage progressive method ringing at the district meetings, and this also will be worked out in detail by the committee and put into operation as soon as possible.

The views of the meeting were invited on the question of providing diplomas as an encouragement for young ringers when they ring their first peal. A variety of opinions were expressed, and ultimately a motion was passed that any diploma awarded should be to beginners when they become qualified change ringers.

Members of the old Winchester Guild were reminded of the proposed memorial which it is hoped to provide for the late Rev. C. E. Matthews, and were requested to forward their subscriptions to the hon. secretary of the Winchester Diocesan Guild (Mr. G. Pullinger) without delay.

Votes of thanks to the Vicar for the service and for presiding at the meeting, and to Mr. Dean and the Leatherhead ringers for their assistance in arranging the meeting, concluded the business, after which the tower was revisited and further ringing indulged in.

BRISTOL UNITED GUILDS.

The annual meeting of the Bristol United Ringing Guilds was held on February 3rd. Rev. R. H. Whitford becomes chairman for the 1929 dinner, and Mr. W. H. Thomas (Clifton Guild) was unanimously chosen as chairman for 1930 dinner, taking the office of vice-chairman for 1929. Mr. Way and Mr. Jeffries were elected with Mr. Cave, Miss Smith and Mr. Knight, as stewards.

The Hon. Treasurer reported a slight loss on the year's working, and announced an overdraft of £2. 9d. from the bank. This, however, does not alarm the committee, who are now setting to work in earnest for the jubilee meeting of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association.

NORTH NOTTS ASSOCIATION. MEETING AT EAST MARKHAM.

There was a somewhat meagre attendance at the meeting of the North Notts Association at East Markham on February 4th, but it could not have been due to the weather, which was as good as can be expected at this time of the year. A good peal of eight bells was at the disposal of the visitors from 2 p.m. to 8, and a substantial meat tea was provided by Host and Hostess Coups, of Refreshment Rooms, East Markham, Newark, to whom all the absent members who had sent in word that they would be present at tea should forward their contributions of 1s. 6d., and thus save the hon. secretary the trouble of collecting it. Only 16 attended, whereas considerably more sent in. The members present hailed from Sutton-on-Trent, Worksop, Ordsall, Gainsborough, Tickhill, North Wingfield and Gamston, and Mr. Brett of the local company. The following methods were rung during the afternoon and evening: Bob Minor, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, and Cambridge Surprise Minor, Bob Major, Grandfire Triples, and Kent Treble Bob Major.

Hostess Coups provided an excellent tea, and the business meeting followed, presided over by the Rev. R. F. Wilkinson, Rector of Ordsall, in the absence of the Rev. R. S. Rogerson, the new Vicar, who has not yet taken up residence.

Eight new members from East Markham were duly enrolled, and the next meeting was fixed for Easter Monday, at North Colliingham, and will be duly advertised in 'The Ringing World.'

Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar of East Markham for use of bells, and also to the Rev. R. F. Wilkinson for presiding over tea and meeting. Further ringing took place up to 8.30, when the bells were then lowered in peal.

IRENÆUS PISTOR.

Further contributions to the fund for assisting Mr. A. T. Baker ('Irenæus Pistor'), of Hillsborough, Sheffield, as given below, are gratefully acknowledged.

We hope that all who intend to contribute to the fund will do so quickly, as it is proposed shortly to close it. The money received has been placed on deposit in the Post Office Savings Bank, and when the fund is closed the book will be handed over to Mr. Baker, who feels intensely the generosity of the Exercise in showing in such remarkable degree their practical sympathy with him in his affliction. The kindness of so many friends in endeavouring to lighten his heavy burden is, he says, appreciated beyond description in words.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The first meeting of the Ashford District for the year was held at Headcorn on February 11th, when in spite of the gale 25 members attended from Ashford, Brabourne, Benenden, Canterbury, Charing, Fristed, Frittenden, Hythe, Maidstone, Marden, Smarden, Staplehurst, Stone, Tenterden and the local band.

Service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. W. Gerty), who gave a short address on bells, and a very hearty welcome to the association, this being the first occasion on which he has met the members.

Tea was partaken at the George and Dragon Hotel, and was followed by the business meeting, the Vicar taking the chair.

The secretary presented the balance sheet, which was passed, and a report of the committee meeting held in November was read. The proposed alterations to Rule 4D and Rule 11 were explained by Mr. Ruck, and are to come before the general meeting at Easter.

Smarden was chosen for the next meeting place on March 31st. Mr. W. E. Pitman, in a short and able speech, appealed for support for 'The Ringing World' fund for assisting Mr. A. T. Baker, and a collection was taken which amounted to £1 12s.

Ringing was kept up till 9 p.m., the methods including Grandsire Triples, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Bob Major and Double Norwich.

Thanks were accorded to Mr. W. E. Pitman for presiding at the organ, and to Mr. Hodgkin for having everything in readiness.

LIVERSEDGE SPLICED TREBLE BOB MAJOR.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Will you allow me a brief space to correct the footnote to above peal published last week. I did not compose this method, this being purely Kent Treble Bob, with Kent and Oxford Bobs. It is really the idea of Mr. A. J. Pitman, of Port Talbot, who suggested the first peal of this class being named by the band, to distinguish it from variations known as Worcester, Ilkeston, Granta and Cam. I congratulate the band on ringing this, and thank them for choosing one of my humble compositions.—Yours sincerely,

ERNEST MORRIS.

Leicester.

A DATE TOUCH.

At Milnthorpe, Westmorland, on Saturday, January 21st, in 1 hr. 10 mins., a date touch (1,923 changes) of Bob Minor: W. G. Wilson (longest length) 1, E. Jennings (conductor) 2, W. Atkinson 3, W. Bolton 4, J. Holme 5, J. W. Hayton 6. Longest length on the bells.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.DEVIZES BRANCH.

The monthly meeting of the Devizes Branch was held on Saturday, February 4th, at the Parish Church of St. Michael and All Angels, Hilpertion. After ringing during the afternoon, the Guild service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. S. B. Proby). The lesson was read by the chairman of the branch, Mr. C. D. Heginbotham, and Mr. Watts was the organist.

Tea was provided in the Church Room by the kindness of Sir Edward Wallington, K.C.V.O., treasurer to Her Majesty the Queen, who is the Rector's warden. Before tea commenced, Miss Wallington and Miss A. Wallington, sisters of Sir Edward, came into the room and extended a welcome to the ringers. Miss Wallington said she had been asked by her brother to express his regret that he was unable to be present to welcome the ringers, on account of his duties in London, and hoped that all would have a good time. They were pleased to do what they could to help their good Rector in his work in the parish.

Major Eric Mackay, of Hilpertion House, the people's warden, also said how pleased he was to see so many present, and hoped all would have a pleasant time.

It may be mentioned that Major Mackay is a son of the late Mr. Alexander Mackay, of the Grange, Trowbridge, who was one of the first vice-presidents of the Guild, and was a very generous supporter in its early years. He was a great benefactor to the church at Trowbridge, and the whole diocese, and an intimate friend of the late Bishop Wordsworth.

At a short business the Chairman of the branch, Mr. C. D. Heginbotham, who presided, said he had received a letter from Sir Edward Wallington expressing regret that he was unable to be present, but hoped that all would enjoy themselves.

Six new members were elected. A discussion followed as to advisability of having an experienced ringer on the Bishop's Advisory Board to deal with matters connected with bells, and it was suggested that Mr. S. Hillier, of Devizes, be recommended for the position.

The secretary brought forward the question of purchasing a set of handbells for the branch, to be used at meetings, and it was decided to purchase a set, and a collection was made for that object. It was decided to hold the next meeting at Market Lavington.

A vote of thanks was passed to the Rector for the use of the bells and conducting the service; also to the organist.—The Rector suitably replied.

Ringers were present from Devizes (St. John's and St. Mary's), Warminster, Bratton, Holt, Hilpertion, Trowbridge, Bradford-on-Avon (Holy Trinity), Rowde, North Bradley, Melksham. Touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Bob Doubles, Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob and Cambridge Minor were rung during the afternoon and evening, a very pleasant time being spent.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.BRISTOL BRANCH SECRETARY'S DEPARTURE.

The annual meeting of the Bristol Branch took place at St. James' Church on Saturday, January 28th, but owing to the inclement weather the attendance was not up to the usual standard. The bells were rung to Grandsire and Stedman Caters before service, which was held in the church, and at which the Rev. M. A. Thorold, vice-president, officiated, and gave a very interesting address on 'What is life?'

Tea was kindly arranged at the Parish Hall by Mr. and Mrs. Way, and Mr. and Mrs. Jewell, and was followed by the business meeting, members attending from Bath, Olveston, Pottishead, Winterbourne, Henbury, Mangotsfield, Marshfield, Stoke Bishop, Clifton, and the City churches.

The chairman (Mr. J. Gould) regretted to say that the secretary, Mr. C. H. Jennings, had left Bristol, and had gone back to his home at Wyke Regis, so that Mr. Williams was asked to read the minutes of the last meeting.

The Chairman, in reviewing the past year, stated that the success of the branch was greatly due to the secretary, who had taken such a keen interest in the work (applause).

A report was then read from Mr. Jennings on the year's working, which showed that 13 meetings had been held, with an average attendance of 34, while at St. Philip's, Almondsbury, and Dyrham, the number was over 50. Change ringing had been up to the standard, Marshfield bells had been restored, and there had been an increase of honorary and associate members in the branch.—The report was adopted, and the Chairman moved a very hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Jennings, which was carried with applause.—The officers were then elected as follows: Chairman, Mr. J. Gould, and Mr. J. Jefferies re-elected as representatives on the management committee; Mr. Gilbert Way, of St. James', was elected secretary.

The next two monthly meetings will be held at St. Nicholas' and Marshfield, and the quarterly meeting at Bitton in April, St. Michael's being selected for the next annual meeting.—Nine new members were elected.

The Chairman proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Rev. M. E. Thorold for officiating at the service, also to the organist, and the ladies for looking after the tea.—Mr. E. Guise proposed a similar vote to the officers for the past year's work.—This was carried with applause, and concluded the business.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.PROPOSED ALTERATION OF TITLE NEGATIVED.

In spite of the inclement weather, over 30 members put in an appearance at West Ham on Saturday week for the meeting of the South-Western Division of the Essex Association. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m., and was continued till 4.30, when service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. L. Elliott Binns, after which an adjournment was made for tea served in the Meeson Hall. At the meeting which followed, the Vicar of West Ham was elected an hon. member, and Messrs. White (Loughton) and Jeffs (Brentwood) were elected ringing members.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Woodford, if possible in April.

A proposition that a recommendation be sent to the general committee to consider the advisability of altering the name of the association to the Essex Diocesan Guild was negatived by a large majority.

The meeting concluded with a vote of thanks to the Vicar for allowing the use of tower and bells and conducting the service, the organist for accompanying the hymns, the Ladies' Guild for kindly arranging the tea, and to Mr. G. Haydon for having everything in readiness.

A collection made towards the fund for 'Irenæus Pistor' amounted to £1.

During the afternoon members were present from Leytonstone, Woodford, Wanstead, Loughton, Romford, Brentwood, Walthamstow (St. Saviour's and St. Mary's), Bentley, Streatham and Barking, together with the local band, and touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Caters, Cambridge Major and Royal, Treble Ten and Bob Royal were rung.

SOCIETY OF CAMBRIDGE YOUTHS.A REORGANISATION.

The Exercise will be pleased to learn that a settlement has been reached in the dispute which arose in January of last year, and was given prominence in the columns of 'The Ringing World.'

Thanks are entirely due to the Vicar, Rev. Dr. P. N. Waggett, and his interest in the society since his institution as Vicar of Great St. Mary's, Cambridge, last May.

Negotiations were commenced in October, at an informal meeting held in Rev. A. H. F. Boughie's rooms, Trinity College, between existing members and the friends of ringing. At this meeting the Vicar was unanimously elected as the first president of the society, and succeeding members re-elected. Since then various meetings have been held under his presidency, and culminated in the first annual meeting of the society which was held on Monday, January 30th.

The new rules were read for the first time, and after various amendments were passed.

Officers selected to serve for the ensuing year were: Master, J. Taylor; secretary and treasurer, T. R. Dennis; steeplekeeper, F. Taylor; and committee, Messrs. E. G. Hibbins, C. W. Smith, and W. Welch. The following new members were elected unanimously: Messrs. F. Warrington, B. D. Bultress, A. G. Rivers, F. E. Haynes, S. H. Wood and J. R. Duffield.

A new rule has been embodied to cover Sunday service ringing at 5.45 p.m., and it is hoped as the company grows larger that Sunday ringing will be regularly carried out by members of the society.

PRESENTATION AT GULVAL, PENZANCE

Previous to commencing to ring for evensong at Gulval, on Sunday, February 5th, the captain of the church bellringers, Mr. F. C. Jebbert, on behalf of his brother ringers, in eulogistic words asked one of their honorary ringers to accept a small token of their gratitude and appreciation of his long continued assistance in the belfry, especially in connection with the study and practice in various methods of change ringing, and expressing an earnest wish that he might long continue to be present with them.

The recipient recorded briefly his sincere thanks for their very beautiful and useful present, intimating that it was, and always would remain, a very great personal pleasure to be present with them in the belfry.

The presentation took the form of a handsome ebony crutch walking stick, with an elaborately ornamented silver band, on which was engraved: 'Presented to John Symons, Esq., J.P. (College Youths), by the Gulval Church bellringers, February, 1928.'

ROMNEY MARSH RINGER'S RECORD.

Mr. Alfred Johnson, of Appledore, has just completed 50 years of regular ringing for service at the Parish Church, many of which he has been leader of the ringers. In commemoration of his retirement he has presented a hanging lamp to the belfry.

Mr. Johnson was a member of the choir for 40 years, a sidesman of the church for over 30 years, a member of the Parochial Church Council since its formation, and also representative on the Ruridennal Conference. He wound the church clock for 25 years, and on relinquishing this duty was presented with a clock, suitably inscribed, by the parishioners. He was also a Sunday School teacher for several years. Mr. Johnson is a member of the Kent County Association, the Sussex County Association, and the Romney Marsh Guild, and has rung about 40 peals. He has been in his present situation, first as groom and then as chauffeur, for 55 years.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.NORTHERN BRANCH MEETING.

The annual meeting of Grimsby District was held at Grimsby on Saturday, January 28th, when the towers represented were Bigby, Barrow-in-Humber, Barton-on-Humber, Goxhill, Ulceby and the local members, also the Rev. J. Barber, of Great Coates, and the Rev. G. H. Newton, of Ulceby.

Service was held in St. James' Church, the Vicar (Canon A. A. Markham) officiating, and giving an interesting address. Ten were served in the Church House, 27 members sitting down. The business meeting followed, at which Rev. H. T. Parry was re-elected president, Mr. H. I. Mingay secretary, and Mr. C. W. Taylor representative on the general committee. Mr. G. Blanchard was elected Ringing Master, and Mr. J. Bray Deputy Ringing Master.

Sixteen new members were elected, including Rev. L. Mann, and the members of Killingholme tower, where the four bells have recently been rehung and room left for two more bells.

The accounts of the Grimsby District bell fund were put before the members and accepted. The collection for the district bell fund amounted to 11s.

The President proposed a hearty vote of thanks to Canon A. A. Markham (St. James') and the Rev. T. Russel Warrilow (Vicar of St. Andrew's), for the use of the bells, and to the former for conducting the service and for his excellent address. Mr. Martin Walker proposed a comprehensive vote of thanks to all who had helped to make the meeting such a success, and thanks were accorded to the president for presiding.

The members then adjourned to the tower for further ringing.

The places and dates of meetings in 1928 are: Elsham, April 14th; Ulceby and Killingholme, May 19th; Barrow-on-Humber, July 7th; Claxby, August 18th; Barton-on-Humber, October 27th.

ROMNEY MARSH GUILD.

The annual general meeting of the Romney Marsh Guild was held at Appledore on Saturday, January 21st. During the afternoon, touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Bob Major were rung, also a well-struck course of Double Norwich Major by the Ashford and Tenterden men. A hearty service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. Vischer), the singing being accompanied by the Guild's official organist, Mr. W. E. Pitman, of Canterbury. Tea was served at the principal inn of the village, which was besieged by lean and hungry-looking members and friends of the bellringing fraternity to the number of 50 to 60. At the business meeting which followed, the Rev. Vischer was elected as president for the year.

Mr. Franklin (retiring hon. secretary) read the balance sheet for the past year, which was passed unanimously. Mr. Franklin impressed upon the members the necessity of choosing a new secretary for 1928, for, he said, it was impossible for him to spare the time to carry the work through this year.

Mr. C. W. Player was elected Master for the year, and Mr. Everett proved an easy winner for the office of hon. secretary, after a thrilling contest with those who 'also ran.'

The next meeting was voted to be held at Rolvenden on February 25th.

Hearty votes of thanks were accorded the retiring officers for so ably carrying out the work of the past year.

The remainder of the evening was devoted to what was probably the best musical evening that the Guild has had during its existence for a quarter of a century. The programme included the Stone community singers (conductor Mr. E. H. Stutely, pianist Mrs. Lauder), handbells by the Tenterden ringers, conducted by the redoubtable Mr. Chas. Tribe, recitations by the Vicar, Messrs. Balcomb and Stutely, singing, violin and pianoforte items by the Misses Anderson, humorous contributions by Messrs. Franklin and mine host of the Swan Hotel, accompanied by Mr. Baldwin (pianist), songs by Messrs. Pattenden, Franklin and others. 'Auld Lang Syne' and the National Anthem concluded an enjoyable evening.

CENTENARY COMMEMORATED.

At St. Nicholas' Church, Deptford, on Tuesday, January 24th, after an unsuccessful attempt for Holt's Original, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples in 45 mins.: W. H. Daynes 1, Miss J. Colegate 2, C. Elliott 3, W. Merritt 4, R. Steers 5, G. H. Daynes (conductor) 6, C. Davis 7, J. Harding 8.

The peal was also attempted on January 21st to commemorate the centenary of a peal of Grandsire Triples rung in this tower by a band of Trinity Youths on January 21st, 1828, and recorded on a board still hanging in the tower. No composer's name is mentioned, but the conductor was Robert Shershy.

THE BOOM IN BELL RESTORATION.

There was never a time in history when so much attention was given to the restoration of church bells as at the present day. We believe that all the founders are as busy as the proverbial bees, and that the larger firms are booked up to full capacity for months ahead. This is a most satisfactory state of affairs from all points of view, but from two more particularly where the interests of ringers are concerned. It shows that the importance of keeping church bells in proper order and of having the best that can be produced for use in a building that calls for all that is highest in workmanship and service, is now becoming much more widely recognised among church authorities. Secondly, this growth of work in the bell foundries is the best guarantee we can have that continued progress will be made not only in the mechanical efficiency of modern bellhanging, but also in the desire to produce the best bells which scientific knowledge can design.

The boom in restoration and new work began soon after the war, and shows no sign of passing. Everywhere church authorities are evincing a desire to put their belfries in order, and this, without doubt, is due largely to the attitude of the ringers themselves. No longer, in the days of widely practised half-pull ringing, are they content to exhaust their strength on 'lugging' badly going bells and wasting their energy in pulling a loose frame about the tower and probably putting the very building itself into motion as well. All these things have been done in the past in hundreds of belfries, but the modern ringer is educated to a different standard, and has no hesitation in telling those responsible that unless the bells are put into order they will have to remain silent. Usually this attitude brings about an investigation and a restoration, but sometimes, of course—chiefly for lack of funds—silence does fall upon a steeple. It is remarkable, however, how quickly this has the effect of rousing someone to vigorous action, thus showing the innate love of bells which the people of this country possess.

Undoubtedly, then, the ringers are themselves largely responsible for a great amount of the work which is being provided for the bell founders; but the founders also can take credit for a great deal. Their adoption of new ideas has revolutionised not only bell tuning, but also bell hanging; and people who have been satisfied with the old order of things quickly change their views when brought into contact with what a modern foundry can do. We are not discriminating here between 'Simpson' and 'old style' tuning methods. In either scale there is no comparison between the bells of to-day and those of a generation ago. Both are now scientifically dealt with, and the one can have its peculiar characteristics as perfectly produced as the other. But what we want to emphasise is that ringers of to-day are not so easily satisfied with bells cast on the old haphazard plan, or indifferently hung in out-of-date fittings. And it is the ringers that count in this matter. It is they who have to do the work. As long as they are content to labour unnecessarily, church authorities are not likely to say them nay, but let us give these authorities their due; it is seldom that nowadays an appeal to them for restoration is made in vain, when a genuine case exists for the work to be done. What was accomplished at York Minster, and what is to be done at Worcester Cathedral and at Birmingham Parish Church, can be done on a smaller scale in the most modest of village churches if only the ringers view their responsibilities aright and approach the authorities tactfully.

SURREY ASSOCIATION.

SOUTHERN DISTRICT DISAPPROVE OF AMALGAMATION.

The Southern District of the Surrey Association held their annual meeting at Horley on February 4th. There was a very good attendance, members coming from Charlwood, Reigate, Redhill, Mersham, Godstone, Limpsfield Chart, East Grinstead, Crawley, and the local band, with visitors from Balcombe.

Service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. H. T. Lewis), and, afterwards, tea was provided at the Six Bells, to which 35 members sat down.

The business meeting followed, the Vicar taking the chair.

The new draft rules were discussed, and a committee was formed to represent the Southern Branch. Mr. A. Bull was re-elected secretary of the branch.

The question of the proposed amalgamation of the Surrey Association with the Guildford Diocesan Guild was also raised, but found no favour with any of the members.

The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the Vicar for his excellent address, for presiding at the meeting, for the use of the bells, and for his kindness in providing the funds for tea; also to the organist for her services.

Ringings were kept up till 9 p.m. in the standard methods and Cambridge Surprise.

THE EXTENSION OF METHODS.

BY J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

The examples I gave are intended to illustrate the fact that every round block (which, of course, includes the plain course of every method), is made up of a number of cyclical movements. I did not give the proof of this fact, because I want to keep these articles as simple as possible; but the proof exists. That it is a fact would not of itself make it important in this question of extension. There are many things which are true about methods, but they are not all equally important. Why I am stressing this fact is this. Ringing is essentially movement (i.e., hunting, dodging, and place making); this movement is, and in the nature of the case must be, cyclical. Therefore, when we are dealing with these cycles we are dealing with what chiefly and almost exclusively concerns the ringer—all the work which for him is the method, the hunting, dodging, place making, leading, lying, snapping and the rest of it. And not only those, but what follows from them, the rows, which are the particular orders in which the bells strike and which produce the music. So that, having found out what are the cycles which comprise any method, we have only to see how they will expand to have got the extension of that method.

And that brings us to a very important truth. All these cycles are either hunting courses or dodging movements. A hunting course can expand in one way, and one way only. A dodging movement can expand in two ways, and two ways only. This fact provides a sharp, clear distinction between what is a true mathematical extension and what is not. If your extension is produced by expanding the cycles in the only way they can expand, then it is a true extension. If it contains work which is an addition to that of the original, then it is not a true extension. The truth of all this is to be found by practical experience in the tower.

Well then, we might suppose that all you have to do when you are expanding a method is to find out what are its cycles, expand them according to the increased number of bells, and the job is done. Broadly speaking, it is so; but when we come to look closer we find ourselves confronted with another important fact, which is that expansion can never take place equally in all parts of the method. This does somewhat complicate the question. I propose to explain how expansion can take place by taking several methods as illustrations. Naturally, I shall begin with the simplest. But I want to make it perfectly clear that what I mean by extension is exactly the same thing as the practical ringer means when he says that he knows that hunting the treble in Bob Major is an extension of hunting the treble in Bob Minor. I want this thing worked out in terms of the actual ringing in the tower.

First let us see how a hunting course can expand. A hunting course is simply plain hunting. On two bells it is:—

12

On three bells it is:—

213
231
321
312

and so on, on four, five, six or any other number. There is one way, and one way only.

A dodging movement, which consists of a certain number of steps forward, followed by the same number of steps backward, can be the same on all numbers:—

Or one step forward, followed by one step backward, might become, on a larger number, two steps forward, followed by two steps backwards, or three steps forward, followed by three steps backward.

DEATH OF A NOTTINGHAMSHIRE RINGER.

It is with sincere regret that we record the passing of Mr. Geo. Taylor, of Hathwaite, Notts, at the early age of 48, after only a few days' illness. He had for a considerable time been a member of the Sutton-in-Ashfield Parish Church band of ringers.

He was laid to rest on Tuesday, February 14th, in the churchyard at Blackwell, where he was for many years a ringer. He leaves a widow, son and daughter to mourn their loss.

A great number of friends were present at the funeral, and various local lowers were represented. The bearers were drawn from Sutton, Blackwell and Normanton bands.

The deceased was well known in the district, and was a member of the committee of the East Derbyshire Association. He will be greatly missed by all.

In the evening, as a token of respect, six of his old colleagues rang a half-peal, at the Sutton-in-Ashfield Parish Church, composed of Oxford and Kent Treble Bob and Plain Bob, with the bells half-muffled, in 1 hr. 30 mins.: W. Allin, sen., 1, R. Huskisson 2, W. Allin, jun., 3, G. Allin (conductor) 4, C. Beckley 5, C. J. Partridge 6.

These are the only ways in which the cycles can expand.

Now take Plain Bob. It consists of two cycles—one a hunting course in which all the bells share; the other a hunting course in which the extreme or working bells alone take part. Expansion of these is easy and obvious.

The primary cycle:—

2143	21435	214365
2413	24153	241635
4231	42513	426153
4321	45231	462513
3412	54321	645231
3142	etc.	etc.
1234

The secondary cycle:—

1234	12345	123456
1324	13254	132546
1342	13524	135264
1432	15342	153624
1423	15432	156342
1243	14532	164532
	etc.	etc.

It is just because this secondary cycle is expanded in the same way that plain hunting naturally expands, that we, as practical ringers, recognise Bob Major and Bob Royal as the same method as Bob Minor.

But there is an alternative extension. We could expand the primary cycle as above and keep the secondary cycle the same size as in the original. It would then be:—

1342	12534
1432	21543
1423	12453
1234	12345

That is to say, you would add to your hunt and keep the working bells the same as in the original.

ALBION TREBLE BOB MAJOR.

We have seen that many Treble Bob methods are derived from the Plain Hunt Principle by fixing a bell in the hunt in 1-2. We now come to a method which also comes from the Plain Hunt Principle, but in a totally different way. The method has 2nd's place made when the treble leads, and if we omit this place the bells come round just as they do in Plain Bob. To see the structure of the method, we need only examine the first half-lead.

All rows marked with a * belong to the Plain Hunt Principle, and the others are inserted by means of what we may call a series of singles.

Examine the course all through as given in Standard Methods, and you will find that it includes the whole course of Bob Major, with two rows singled in between each two rows of Bob Major.

Now how can we extend this method to Royal?

When the treble is in 1-2 and 3-4, we can make the places in 5-6 or 7-8.

When the treble is in 5-6, we can make the places in 3-4 or 7-8.

When the treble is in 7-8, we can make the places in 3-4 or 5-6.

Varying these, we get 20 different Royal methods which are all valid extensions of the Major.

In Maximus:—

When the treble is in 1-2 and 3-4, we can make the places in 5-6, 7-8, or 9-10.

When the treble is in 5-6, we can make the places in 3-4, 7-8, or 9-10.

When the treble is in 7-8, we can make the places in 3-4, 5-6, or 9-10.

When the treble is in 9-10 and 11-12, we can make the places in 3-4, 5-6, or 7-8.

This gives us 180 extensions to Maximus. The treble is the bell in the hunt in all these extensions, and every method in Royal and Maximus contains the whole plain course of Plain Bob two rows at a time, with two other rows singled in between each pair.

THE RE-DEDICATION OF RICKLING BELLS.

On Saturday afternoon, February 11th, the Bishop of Barking re-dedicated the peal of five bells at Rickling, which have been taken down and tuned, and the fourth recast. The bells have also been hung in a new oak frame, the work having been carried out by Mr. Alfred Bowell, of Ipswich.

After the service, the bells were rung by a band from Stansted, the methods being Stedman, Grandsire, and Bob Doubles. Everyone expressed their satisfaction of the way the work has been carried out, the 'go' of the bells being everything that can be desired. They are a very light ring, with tenor about 6 cwt.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.NORTH DORSET BRANCH SECRETARY'S RESIGNATION.

A meeting of the North Dorset Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild was held at Sturminster Newton on Saturday, February 11th. In the unavoidable absence of the chairman, the Rev. R. H. Gundry, the chair was taken by the Rector of Sturminster, the Rev. H. Bowdon-Smith, who also conducted the service and gave a short, plain and direct address. There were 47 members present from 13 towers, and four towers were available for ringing, viz.: Sturminster Newton, Okeford Fitzpaine, Marnbull and Manston.

The Rev. R. E. P. Gorringe, who has been hon. sec. of the branch for five years, during which time the membership has increased enormously, resigned owing to pressure of other work, and the Rev. A. E. Nedham, who has been acting recently as assistant, was elected.

A message of sympathy with the chairman in his illness was unanimously passed.

SALISBURY BRANCH.

A very successful meeting of the Salisbury Branch was held at Tisbury on Saturday, February 11th. Ringing, which commenced at 3 o'clock, was followed by service, conducted by the Rev. G. T. Miller (Vicar), who gave a short address of welcome to all the ringers present. He expressed pleasure that the bells had now been restored, and that they could be rung again after such a long silence.

Tea was served at the Crown Inn, and about 50 sat down, the Vicar presiding.

At the business meeting, the chair was taken by the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards (hon. secretary of the Guild) in the absence of the branch chairman.

Rev. W. Goodchild, of Berwick St. John, was re-elected chairman of the branch, and Mr. F. W. Romaine hon. secretary and treasurer. The committee were re-elected en bloc, with the addition of Mr. L. Belsey (Tisbury) and Mr. E. Noyce (Barford St. Martin).

The tower was again visited after tea, and the bells, which have recently been rehung by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon, in a new iron and steel frame and ball bearings, were kept going till nine o'clock. Everyone was pleased with the splendid 'go' of the bells.

The next meeting of the branch is to be held at Amesbury.

Ringers were present from St. Martin's and St. Edmund's, Salisbury, Berwick St. John, Barford St. Martin, Dinton, Tisbury and Mere, and Mr. J. Sheppard, Swindon.

AN EARL TAKES PART IN RINGING.

A quarterly meeting of the Wimborne Branch was held at Wimborne (St. Giles') on Saturday. Members from Bournemouth (St.

Peter's), Poole, Wimborne and Ringwood met soon after 3 p.m., and the beautiful peal of six by Taylor and Co. were kept going in the four standard methods. During the afternoon the party were augmented by the arrival of Rev. F. Ll. Edwards (general secretary) and Mr. Martin Stewart.

The business meeting took place after tea, and was presided over by the Rt. Hon. Earl of Shaftesbury, president of the Guild.

After the business, which was of little importance, the Earl of Shaftesbury welcomed the Guild to St. Giles', adding that he hoped the next time they came they would have eight bells at their disposal, as two more bells were being added shortly.

Six members then went to the tower and rang a six-score of Stedman Doubles for the service, at which the Guild's form was used. It was conducted by the Vicar, the Earl of Shaftesbury read the lesson, and the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards gave an address, in which he dwelt upon the way in which ringers can make the most of their bells for the services of the church, and use them to the best effect, whatever season of the church's year it may be.

A move was again made to the belfry, where the Earl of Shaftesbury was piloted through his first 120 Grandsire Doubles. He was also interested in a touch of Minor which followed, as it was the first time he had seen the tenor turned in.

The next move was made to Cranborne, where the local men assisted in ringing Grandsire Triples.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

The Swindon Branch annual meeting was held at Highworth on Saturday, February 11th. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m. After two hours' ringing, tea was taken at the West Hill Cafe, after which the business meeting was held. The Vicar of Highworth (Rev. Clark Kennedy) was elected to the chair, and also made an honorary member.

A discussion took place re the jubilee meeting at Bristol on Whit Monday, and it was decided to send 10s. from the funds, and to make a collection in each tower.

The branch annual report and balance sheet were read by the hon. secretary and passed unanimously.

The next item being the election of branch officers, the chairman, Management Committee, representative and hon. secretary were re-elected, with Messrs. W. J. Lancaster, A. Bond, A. Heath and H. Wheeler as members of the committee.

A vote of thanks was proposed to the chairman and officers for their services, and they suitably responded, the Secretary stating that he should like a little more support at the meetings. With a branch of fifty members, and eleven meetings during the past year, an average attendance of ten to a dozen members was not good enough.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The peal of eight at St. Peter's Church, Northampton, is to be rung with new fittings, and the frame is to be strengthened. Messrs. Gillett and Johnston are carrying out the work. They are also installing a new frame and fittings for the five bells at Moreton, Essex; and at Stanford-on-Avon, Northants, are recasting the 3rd, rehangings the ring of five in new fittings, and strengthening the frame.

There will be no falling off in the size of the gathering at the Johnson Commemoration Dinner at Birmingham on Saturday, and the 'gathering of the clans' from north, south, east and west will be as comprehensive as ever. Past experience teaches that the 'week-end'—the dinner is only a part of the 'doings'—will be a thoroughly enjoyable one for those ringers who put in a couple of days in 'Brum'.

Those who attend the dinner are requested to bring with them their dinner tickets and hand them to the stewards at the door.

Henry Johnson, whose memory is kept green by the Birmingham dinner, was born on February 28th, 1809, and his birthday in 1881 was celebrated by a peal of 9,238 Stedman Cinques in the Bull Ring, the longest length in the method at that date.

It was also the late Mr. Ted Horrex's birthday. He was born exactly 90 years ago.

It will come as a surprise to many people to learn that there is such a variety of arrangement in peals of Cambridge Surprise Major (hitherto considered the most limited of all methods in composition) that Mr. Edward Jenkins, of Warrington, has called no fewer than 25 different arrangements.

We are asked to say that owing to unforeseen circumstances the bells will not be rung for the service which takes place at Stoke-on-Trent Parish Church next Sunday at 8 p.m.

In a letter from Mr. A. Nash, of Wath-on-Dearne, which appeared in our last issue, he inadvertently stated that an attempt for a peal in ten extents was made on January 31st. It should have been December 31st.

THE CURFEW.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I observed a few weeks ago a statement, subsequently quoted in 'The Ringing World,' to the effect that the curfew is still rung in a score of parishes in this country. I should think that figure well within the mark, as I know of at least eight places in the diocese of Salisbury alone where it is rung, besides two where, to the everlasting shame of those responsible, the ancient custom has been given up.

It may be of interest to mention that in the old Spanish city of Seville (where the oranges will soon be ripe for picking), the curfew, as distinct from the Angelus, is still tolled at 10 o'clock every night.—Yours faithfully,

F. L. EDWARDS.

CHESTER GUILD AND BELL RESTORATIONS. PROPOSED INCREASED MAXIMUM GRANT.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I should like a little space in the next issue of 'The Ringing World' to remind members of the Chester Diocesan Guild that at the annual committee meeting held at Stockport on Saturday last, February 18th, it was resolved, on the proposition of the general secretary, to raise the Guild's grant towards bell restorations in the diocese from a maximum of £5 to a maximum of £7 10s.

It was also decided to make two grants of this amount during 1928—one to Higher Sutton, who have been in union since the Guild started, the other to Marbury, who, according to all published reports, have never been in union.

These two grants, with a deferred grant of £5, which is made to Nantwich, make a total of £20 to be paid out of the funds under this head during 1928. Some members of the committee, including myself, voted against the proposition to increase the grants.—Yours truly,

W. BIBBY.

BELL LECTURE TO THEOLOGICAL STUDENTS.

On February 14th the Rev. F. L. Edwards, hon. secretary of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, gave a lecture on Church Bells at the Salisbury Theological College. The lecture was illustrated by working models of bells, the handiwork of Mr. E. B. Barter, who was also present, and read extracts from his 'Lines in praise of good ringing'.

The students, whom the lecturer addressed as 'potential incumbents,' displayed the keenest interest, and several responded to the invitation to ask questions. A simple demonstration of change ringing in the form of Bob Minimus on four large handbells evoked vigorous applause.

RAILWAY FACILITIES.

The Associated Railway Companies have agreed to the issue of cheap return tickets to Croydon from any railway station upon payment at the time of booking of single fare and a third (minimum 1s., fractions of 3d. reckoned as 3d.) and surrender of a voucher, which will be forwarded in due course with the admission tickets required. The tickets will be available for the forward journey on March 2nd or 3rd, and for return on March 3rd, 4th or 5th. This will enable visitors to break the journey by staying in London one or two days, if desired, up to and including March 5th.

DEATH OF A KENT RINGER.

OLD MEMBER OF THE ROCHESTER DISTRICT.

The Kent Association, and the Rochester District in particular, has suffered a great loss by the death of one of the oldest members, Mr. Charles Waterman, of Cobham, who passed away after a long and painful illness, on Saturday, February 11th, at the age of 66.

The deceased was born and had lived at Shorne and Cobham all his life, having been employed by the Earls of Darnley for 52 years, and was one of their most trusted servants. He was pensioned from the estate as recently as last month, so did not live long to enjoy his well-earned retirement.

Mr. Waterman started his ringing career at the age of 19, and joined the Kent Association in 1887. In his early ringing days he would walk from Shorne to Gillingham, a matter of ten miles each way, three times a week. He was one of the regular band at Gillingham when they were making history under Mr. G. Lindoff and Mr. W. Haigh, and took part in the first peals of Oxford Treble Bob, Cambridge Surprise, and Superlative for the Kent Association. He rang about 50 peals in all.

It is doubtful if any ringer could equal Mr. Waterman in the number of miles he walked to try and advance the art, and for service ringing. He was a member of the College Youths, and on visiting London, either for a peal attempt or to attend a meeting, he lost the last train and walked back to his home, a distance of 26 miles, and expressed his sorrow that he was too tired to walk on to Gillingham—a further ten miles—for Sunday morning service.

The funeral took place at Shorne on Wednesday, February 15th, and as the cortege left the village of Cobham the bells were rung half-muffled by the local band. On arrival at Shorne, the coffin was carried by four of deceased's fellow-workmen on Lord Darnley's estate, and, in addition to the family mourners, the Kent Association were represented by two of his oldest ringing friends, Messrs. W. Haigh and Easter, of Gillingham, and Messrs. J. Avis, G. Morrad, and F. M. Mitchell, Rochester District hon. secretary.

At the wish of the relatives, the grave was chosen close to the belfry door, and as the coffin passed from view among the laurel leaves that lined the last resting place there passed one who was very highly respected by all who knew him. Among the many floral tributes was a wreath from his fellow-members of the Rochester District.

The following half-muffled ringing took place in memory of the late Mr. Waterman:—

At Cobham, on Wednesday evening, after the funeral, a 720 London Surprise by the Milton band in 28 mins., this being the first on the bells: Cyril M. Mitchell 1, Fred A. Mitchell 2, Fred M. Mitchell (conductor) 3, Harry Argent 4, J. Burles 5, G. Morrad 6. Also 240 Cambridge, 240 Grandire, and 120 Grandire Doubles, in which also Messrs. J. Dalton, G. Mungeam and J. Wood took part. A peal could not be attempted owing to the bad 'go' of the bells.

At Gillingham, on Thursday evening, February 16th, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples, by old colleagues, in 50 mins.: W. Easter 1, E. A. G. Allen 2, S. Shellock 3, J. Haigh 4, C. Wiuser 5, W. J. Walker 6. W. Haigh (conductor) 7, C. Norris 8. Also 384 Superlative by the same band.

WORCESTER CATHEDRAL BELLS.

A HEAVIER PEAL TO BE INSTALLED.

Ringers generally will be interested to know that the order has been placed with Messrs. John Taylor and Co. to carry out a comprehensive scheme in connection with the bells of Worcester Cathedral. There are at present sixteen bells in the tower, comprising a ringing peal of twelve, three semi-tone bells which, with the peal of twelve, are used for the tunes played several times each day by the carillon machine, and a Bourdon on which the clock strikes the hours.

The whole of the bells are to be recast except the large hour bell, and the recast peal will be in the key of 'B' natural, i.e., a whole tone lower than at present. The scheme includes hanging one of the semi-tone bells for ringing, so that a 'light eight' will be available for practice. The tenor of the 12 will be a bell of about 50 cwt.

Messrs. Taylor and Co. may be relied upon to take this opportunity of demonstrating their skill and experience by equipping the magnificent central tower at Worcester with one of the most glorious peals in the country.

In connection with the restoration, the Worcestershire Association Central Committee have issued an appeal for funds to all honorary and performing members through the official channels. Life and unattached members, however, cannot be reached by this agency.

The committee, therefore, hope that any such members, or their friends, who wish to subscribe to the common association fund will kindly forward their donations, before the closing of the fund on March 31st, to Mr. A. E. Parsons, hon. treasurer, Upwey, Barrs Road, Old Hill, Staffs.

The committee, who have made a grant of £20 from the Belfry Repairs Fund of the association, hope their appeal will meet with generous support, in order that the cost of recasting one or two bells may be defrayed, so that they may be inscribed with the name of the association.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

CHANGE OF GENERAL SECRETARY.

There was a good gathering at the annual meeting of the London County Association on Saturday, February 11th, and a very successful meeting was held. The towers of St. Clement Danes and St. Dunstan's-in-the-East were open during the afternoon, some good touches being rung. A service was held at St. Clement Danes Church, conducted by the hon. chaplain, the Rev. W. Pennington Bickford, an excellent address being given by the Rev. Foster Pegg, who had kindly agreed to come for the occasion.

After the service, the ringers adjourned to the Parish Hall, where an excellent tea had been provided through the generosity of the hon. chaplain and Mrs. Pennington Bickford. General regret was felt that Mrs. Pennington Bickford was unable to be present owing to ill-health, though without doubt she was there in spirit, as was testified by her generous donation of £1 ls. to the association's funds.

Mr. T. H. Taffender (Master) presided at the business meeting. He was again heartily welcomed to the position of Master, which he has so ably filled during the past fifteen years.

It was regretted that Mr. A. H. Keighley, who, as secretary, has conducted the affairs of the association with such competence during recent years, was unable to stand for re-election.

The following officers were elected for 1928: Master, Mr. T. H. Taffender; secretary, Mr. S. C. Moye; assistant secretaries, Messrs. T. W. Taffender and T. Wyatt; stewards, Messrs. F. W. Chorley and Grainger; treasurer, Mr. E. Alex. Young; trustees, Messrs. F. E. Dawe and A. H. Keighley.

It is hoped that members will endeavour to attend all the meetings they possible can, and help the officers to make 1928 a successful year.

NEW NORTHERN DISTRICT MASTER.

A meeting of the Northern District of the London County Association was held at Walthamstow on Saturday. Ringing commenced at St. Saviour's Church at 3 p.m., when some good touches were rung, including 'Cambridge' and 'Superlative,' with Grandire for the beginners. The business meeting was held in the Church Hall.

A desire was expressed that the next meeting should be held either at Bethnal Green or Dalston. Mr. Gray having intimated that he wished to resign the District Mastership, Mr. Alleyway, of Stanmore, was unanimously elected to the office. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector of St. Saviour's, Canon Siddons, for the use of both the bells and hall. The Rector is to be complimented on the state of the bells. They are now in excellent condition, and if there were more incumbents like Canon Siddons, there would be a great many less derelict towers.

A hearty vote of thanks was also accorded to the Rector of St. Mary's for the use of the bells at that church. The respective steeplekeepers (Mr. Edwards and Mr. Adams) were also given a vote of thanks, as were also those who helped at tea and in the tower. Among the latter, Mr. Steed was particularly thanked for his able conducting.

A move was then made to the belfry, where ringing was indulged in until 7 p.m., when the members went to St. Mary's to ring Stedman Calers and Treble Ten.

The number of members attending was not quite as good as it might have been, owing partly to the fact that there was a peal on, on the same day, not very far away. However, there was a good muster of visitors, including three from Gravesend and four from Southwark.

TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD.

TRURO BRANCH DISCUSS A BODMIN DIFFICULTY.

Over fifty ringers attended the Truro Branch meeting of the above Guild, held at Ladoch on Saturday last, from Redruth, St. Gluvias', St. Agnes, Kenwyn, Truro Cathedral, St. Newlyn East, Illogan, Mabe, Gwennap, and St. Stephens-in-Brannel, as well as many of the local ringers.

Ringling commenced at 2.30 p.m., and continued until 4.30 p.m., when there was a temporary cessation owing to a funeral. During this time, however, the ringers adjourned to the school for tea.

Afterwards, a discussion took place. The District Secretary (Mr. A. S. Roberts) remarked that the St. Stephens-in-Brannel ringers were present by a special invitation, and had turned up in force, 12 being present, with their Vicar, the Rev. F. F. Gilbert. They had, until this year, been affiliated to the Guild, and were in the Bodmin Branch. This branch at present lacked a secretary, and the difficulty of filling this position was acute. As nothing was done in that district, it was undoubtedly their reason for resigning membership.

The captain of the St. Stephen's band, Mr. M. Jenkin, said this was exactly why they had decided to take the course which they had done, as during the last nineteen years only two or three minor festivals had been held in their district.

The Rev. F. F. Gilbert regretted his band had dropped out of the Guild, but thought they had only done so to cause a 'stir' in their district. He hoped they would reconsider their decision and rejoin the Guild.

Mr. W. H. Southard spoke strongly, remarking that it was the ringers themselves who formed the Guild, and urged them to try to make it flourish.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Rector, the Rev. H. D. Jackson, for the use of the bells, and to Mr. W. Chapman, the local captain, for arranging the tea.

Very little method ringing was done, as the only change ringers present were from Truro Cathedral and Kenwyn. However, a few touches of Grandsire Triples and Grandsire Doubles were brought round. Rounds were in pre-eminence, whilst one band preferred rising and falling in peal, which they did to perfection.

DEVON GUILD.

A successful meeting of the Exeter Branch was held at Thorverton on Saturday. There were 64 members present, and ringing took place before and after service, which was conducted by the chairman of the branch (Rev. E. V. Cox). The address was given by Rev. G. E. F. Molineux, chairman of the North-East Branch.

A business meeting and tea took place in the Church Schoolroom, at which the president of the Guild, Rev. E. S. Powell, who was present, was the recipient of the best wishes of the members upon his taking the Vicariate of Cyst St. George in the Exeter district.

It was decided to hold the autumn meeting at Colston Ruleigh on September 1st.

Reports from the bands in union showed progress and the maintenance of Sunday service ringing.

At Thorverton, touches of Cambridge, Kent, Stedman and Grandsire were rung, and the bells of Stoke Canon and Rewa were also rung in Doubles by the members.

SOCIETY FOR THE ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD.

A successful meeting was held at Willenhall on January 21st, when the following towers were represented: Bilston, Birmingham, Blakenall Heath, Bloxwich, Bradley, Brewwood, Cannock, Coseley, Darlaston, Kingswinford, Stafford, Tettenhall, Walsall, Wednesbury, Wolverhampton (2), Wood Green and the local tower.

A short service was held in church, the prayers and lesson were read by the Rev. K. Howarth, and an interesting address was given by the Rev. R. L. Hodson (Vicar). A bountiful tea was provided in the schoolroom by members of the congregation of St. Giles' Church, when more than 100 seats were occupied—a record for a quarterly meeting. A communication was received from the Rev. E. V. Cox, of Exmouth (who for some years was clerical secretary and treasurer of this society), extending good wishes for the success of the meeting, and regretting, through lack of spare time, the inability to follow his old pursuit as much as he would like.

A hearty round of applause was given in response to a vote of thanks (moved by the Rev. C. H. Barker) to the Rev. R. L. Hodson for his address, use of bells, etc., to the organist and choir for their assistance at the service, to those who had so kindly provided tea, and last, but not least, to the ladies who catered and waited at the tea tables.

The Vicar replied, and gave all a warm welcome, adding that he hoped the time would come when Willenhall would again be honoured with a visit. Musical selections on handbells were given by the Walsall contingent, which gave great pleasure. Mr. T. J. Elton and his colleagues are to be congratulated on the progress they have made.

The next meeting is provisionally arranged to take place at Brewwood on April 14th.

PUTNEY.—For a thanksgiving service, and as a compliment to the Bishop of London who preached on Thursday, February 2nd, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples in 45 mins.: C. Moody 1, T. Bolton 2, W. F. Ellingham 3, W. W. Bailey 4, Robt. Bullen 5, J. Herbert 6, W. T. Elson (composer and conductor) 7, G. F. Edwards 8.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION SECRETARY'S RECORD.

MR. ERNEST MORRIS' 500 PEALS.

The enthusiastic hon. secretary of the Midland Counties Association recently scored his 500th peal, and his list includes an unusual variety of methods. The most remarkable feature of his achievement, however, is the number of towers in his own county of Leicestershire in which he has rung peals, his ambition being to score at least one at every church where there is a ring of bells. The number of towers in Leicestershire in which he has rung peals is now well over a hundred.

It has taken Mr. Morris over 21 years to accomplish this record, and while doing it he has undertaken the correcting and revision to date of the late Thomas North's 'Church Bells of Leicestershire,' giving all the inscriptions and known history of all the ecclesiastical bells in the diocese. In addition, Mr. Morris is engaged in rewriting his brochure on the history of St. Margaret's Church, and he will shortly undertake the transcription of the ancient registers of the church.

MR. ERNEST MORRIS.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD. FARNHAM DISTRICT ESTABLISHED.

In connection with the organisation of the districts of the new Guildford Diocesan Guild, a meeting was held at Farnham on Saturday to establish the Farnham District, which includes eleven towers in the south-west corner of the diocese. There was an attendance of nearly fifty ringers, welcome visitors being Mr. W. T. Cockerill, hon. secretary of the Ancient Society of College Youths, and Mr. F. J. Rogers, Portsmouth, district secretary of the Winchester Diocesan Guild. After an afternoon's ringing on the eight bells of the Parish Church, the Guild's short, but beautiful, service was conducted in the chapel by the Rector (Rev. J. M. O. Crum), who, in an inspiring address of a quite unusual character for this kind of gathering, first read the Epistle for the following day (Quinquagesima Sunday), which begins: 'Though I speak with the tongues of men and of angels, and have not charity, I am become as sounding brass or a tinkling cymbal.' He pointed out that through most of St. Paul's epistles there could be found some great 'sound' to distinguish them, and in that respect they resembled the pealing of the bells. In the Epistle for the morrow it was 'charity' which was the recurring note, and it reminded him of the recurring of the tenor at the end of each change on the bells.

Tea was served in the Church House, and the meeting which followed was presided over by the Rector, who was supported by Mr. Churchwarden Grange, the hon. treasurer of the Guild (Admiral T. P. Walker, D.S.O.), and the hon. general secretary (Mr. J. S. Goldsmith). The towers in the Guild represented were Aldershot, Ash, Bagshot, Farnham, Frensham, Seale, Guildford (Cathedral and St. Nicolas'), Oatlands, and Woking.

At the outset the Rector welcomed Mr. Cockerill, who expressed his pleasure at being present, and wished the Guild success.

The Hon. General Secretary pointed out that in the Farnham District they already had 86 ringing and 14 hon. members. Aldershot had the largest number of ringing members of any tower in the diocese, viz., 18, and he was particularly pleased to notice that they included a number of quite youthful ringers. If they were to keep the ranks filled in future they should follow the example of Aldershot and 'catch 'em young.'

The new members elected included six of the Hawley band, with their Rector, the Rev. A. W. Armistead, viz., Messrs. J. Boyles, L. Boyles, Martin, Trussler, W. Marshall, and W. Woodbridge. Three ringers from Frensham, Messrs. T. A. Stroud, A. J. Chuter and W. Chuter, were elected, as were also the following hon. members: Rev. J. M. O. Crum (Farnham), Mrs. Hasted (Farnham), Rev. R. S. Arrow-smith (Seale).

The following district officers were unanimously elected: Ringing Master, Mr. R. Hasted (Farnham); hon. secretary, Mr. Bernard Clark (17, St. James' Avenue, Farnham); ringing members on the Executive Committee, Messrs. H. Tinsey (Seale), F. Nye (Bagshot); hon. members' representative, Major-General Deare (Bagshot).

On a vote being taken, Farnham was selected for the next annual district meeting on January 26th, 1929, and it was also resolved to hold five other district meetings, namely, at Frensham, Ash and Bentley (six-bell towers), Yorktown and Aldershot (eight-bell towers), the dates being left to the district secretary to settle in conjunction with the other district secretaries.

The meeting approved in principle of a similar scheme of combined practices, as arranged in the Leatherhead District, and details were referred to the District Committee to settle.

Among the proposals put forward for the development of the work of the Guild was a suggestion that a class should be formed for the instruction of local conductors, and this matter will come before the Executive Committee.

The hon. general secretary brought before the meeting the question referred to the affiliated societies by the Central Council, namely the issue of diplomas to young ringers on ringing their first peal, and a motion in favour of this proposal as encouragement to beginners was passed, it being noteworthy that the many young members (who are looking forward to their first peal) voted enthusiastically in favour of it.

An appeal was made for support for the Winchester Diocesan Guild scheme for erecting a memorial to the late Rev. C. E. Matthews, and the meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the Rector for conducting the service, and for presiding; also to Mr. Hasted and the Farnham ringers for their arrangements. A vote of thanks was also accorded to Mr. J. S. Goldsmith for his part in the work.

Further ringing on the Parish Church bells concluded a successful meeting.

HIGH WYCOMBE RINGERS.

The annual meeting of the members of the High Wycombe belfry was held at the Vicarage recently under the presidency of the Rev. W. L. P. Float. The officers for the year were re-elected as follows: President, the Vicar; foreman, Mr. R. Coles; deputy foreman, Mr. E. Markham; hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr. G. Twitche; collector, Mr. F. W. Boxell. The list of attendances at ringing for service, etc., was given as 1,377. The balance sheet was submitted and passed, and after various grants had been made, a balance was left of £1 11s. 2d. At the close of the meeting the campanologists were very kindly entertained to a first-class supper by the Vicar and Mrs. Float, who were heartily thanked.

'IRENÆUS PISTOR.'

The splendid assistance given to this fund by the Hinckley District of the Midland Counties Association is recorded below, and those responsible for organising the collection on these lines have our grateful thanks. Association meetings, as well as bands and individuals, are providing welcome additions to the total, which this week passes the £150 mark.

This magnificent response to a deserving cause is worthy of the Exercise, and will be a source of solace as well as of material help to Mr. Alf. T. Baker in the days of darkness which are unhappily before him.

The fund will shortly be closed, and we shall be glad, therefore, to receive the contributions of all who desire to help.

DEATH OF MR. A. BALLARD, LEICESTER.

It is with deepest regret we have to record the death of Mr. Alfred Ballard, of Leicester, who passed away at the age of 61 on January 12th. He had been a member of the Midland Counties Association since 1896, but had been a ringer at Birstal and Belgrave many years before—over 40 years altogether. Joining St. Margaret's company in 1913, he took part in exactly 40 peals, comprising Doubles, Minor, Grandairs, Triples, Caters and Cinques, Stedman Triples and Caters, Bob Major and Royal and Little Bob.

Always a conscientious churchman and a sidesman, he never professed to be an 'expert,' but always did his best, and will be sadly missed by all his many friends, both in and out of the belfry.

He was laid to rest in the pretty little cemetery of his native Belgrave, after a short service at St. Margaret's on Monday, the 16th Jan., four of his brother ringers acting as bearers, viz., Messrs. J. Morris, E. Morris, A. Cateil and E. Whitehead.

On Tuesday, the 17th Jan., at Belgrave, a half-muffled quarter-peal of Grandairs Triples was rung in 45 mins. by L. G. Pratt, 1, L. H. Whitehead 2, H. W. Martin 3, J. Polo 4, G. H. Straw 5, R. Barrow 6, W. A. Skinner (conductor) 7, J. Grant 8. The treble and 3rd ringers are nephews of the late Mr. A. Ballard. On Wednesday, the 18th January, St. Margaret's bells were rung muffled to a peal.

THE LATE PRESIDENT OF THE NORTH WALES ASSOCIATION.

At Buckley, Flintshire, on Sunday, February 12th, at St. Matthew's Church, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples was rung in 48 mins. with the bells half-muffled, as a token of respect to the late Rev. T. Lewis Jones, Vicar of Glanadda, Bangor, who was for many years president of the North Wales Association: J. Hayes 1, W. Short 2, R. R. Usher 3, J. E. Usher 4, S. Birks 5, J. T. Hopwood 6, E. Messham 7, A. H. Jones 8.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL. OFFICIAL MINUTES OF LONDON MEETING.

The first session of the 13th Council (35th meeting) was held in the Conference Chamber of the Mansion House, in the City of London (by the courtesy of the Lord Mayor), on Tuesday, June 7th, at 11 a.m. The chair was taken by the president, Rev. Canon G. F. Coleridge, who opened the meeting with prayer. There were present 96 members, 38 Guilds and Associations being represented.

The Lord Mayor, Sir Rowland Blades, welcomed the Council to the Mansion House. He referred to the ability and distinction with which the bells were rung in England, and that in this country they were unequalled in many ways. He felt that the Council represented a body doing valuable work with the Church.

Archdeacon Holmes then addressed the Council. He said that the bells, whether rung in London amidst the clamour of the city or in the quiet of the country, carried some message. He also spoke of the necessity of throwing oneself into the work, so that it would extend far and wide, as bells were a great national instrument. In the name of the Bishop of London and himself, he gave them a hearty welcome to the diocese.

The President, having thanked the Lord Mayor and the Archdeacon for this kindly welcome, the Council proceeded to discuss the business upon the agenda.

The Hon. Secretary temporarily took the chair. He stated that only one nomination for president having been received, and that on behalf of Canon Coleridge (who had been proposed by Rev. C. D. P. Davies, and seconded by Mr. W. T. Cockerill), he declared Canon Coleridge duly elected for the ensuing three years. The President then took the chair. After expressing his thanks to the Council, the President said that for hon. secretary there was only one nomination, that of Mr. E. Alex. Young (who had been proposed by Rev. H. Law James, and seconded by Mr. E. W. Elwell). He therefore declared him elected. Rev. C. D. P. Davies proposed, and Mr. E. Alex. Young seconded, that the hon. librarian, Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, be re-elected, which was carried, together with a vote of thanks to the Council's officers for their services.

The minutes of the last meeting having been published, were taken as read and duly confirmed and signed.

Apologies for absence were received from the Revs. A. H. F. Boughey and H. S. T. Richardson, Alderman R. B. Chambers, Mrs. Edwards, Messrs. C. E. Borrett, G. P. Burton, G. Chester, H. Haigh, C. F. Johnston, E. H. Lewis, T. Metcalfe, Pryce Taylor, and C. F. Winney. Letters having been sent by the hon. secretary to the relatives of Rev. C. E. Matthews, Canon H. Papillon and Mr. John Carter, expressing sympathy and condolence, the replies received were briefly referred to and laid upon the table.

The hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr. E. Alex. Young, presented the financial statement, which showed that the year began with a balance at the bank of £67 6s., and that the balance, after the receipts and expenditure of the year had been dealt with, was £45 5s. 10d. The accounts being audited by them, were, on the motion of Mr. W. T. Cockerill, seconded by Mr. A. A. Hughes (the auditors) adopted. The Hon. Secretary stated that five new associations had joined the Council during the year, one being the Truro Guild, which carried the territory of the Council into Cornwall. A special welcome was extended to the representatives.

The Hon. Librarian, Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, then read his statement, saying that it was gratifying to be able to hand over a cheque for £7 10s. 5d., instead of drawing on the Council's funds, as in previous years. He then referred to various books and MSS. in the library, and suggested that the Council should elect one or two experts to go through its contents with him and report as to their value and disposal, and Rev. E. S. Powell and Mr. J. A. Trollope, having expressed their willingness to serve, were accepted, as was the hon. librarian's statement.

Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn proposed, and Mrs. H. Howard seconded, that the 'Rules for a local company' be reprinted, after revision by a small committee, the following being appointed, viz.: Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, Canon H. J. Elseo, Messrs. E. W. Elwell and H. W. Wilde.

ELECTION OF HONORARY MEMBERS.

Those retiring were re-elected, viz.: Rev. C. D. P. Davies, Major J. H. B. Hesse, Alderman J. S. Pritchett, Messrs. J. Griffin, J. A. Trollope, E. Alex. Young (Mr. John Carter being deceased). On the recommendation of the Standing Committee, Rev. A. T. Beeston and Mr. Cyril F. Johnston were elected to fill the vacancies, and Mr. A. Paddon Smith proposed, and Mr. C. F. Sedgely seconded, that Mr. J. S. Goldsmith be elected, which was unanimously agreed to.

A large number of new members attending for the first time were then introduced to the president, who cordially welcomed them.

ELECTION OF STANDING COMMITTEE.

The previous members were duly re-elected, viz.: Canon G. F. Coleridge, Canon H. J. Elseo, Revs. C. W. O. Jenkyn, H. Law James and C. D. P. Davies, Alderman J. S. Pritchett, Messrs. W. T. Cockerill, J. Griffin, E. A. Young, A. A. Hughes and Cyril F. Johnston. Upon being duly proposed and seconded, the following were added to the Standing Committee, viz.: Messrs. W. A. Cave, C. T. Coles, J. D. Matthews, A. Paddon Smith and Rev. A. T. Beeston.

The Council then received the following committees' reports:—

PEAL COLLECTION COMMITTEE.

Miss E. K. Parker reported, and said that since the last meeting 500 further compositions had been sent in, which entailed a lot of work, but this being practically completed, it was hoped to present the Collection at the next meeting. On the motion of the President, the report was adopted, and the committee re-elected as follows: Revs. H. S. T. Richardson and E. S. Powell, Miss E. K. Parker, Messrs. J. A. Trollope, H. W. Wilde, J. W. Parker.

LITERATURE AND PRESS COMMITTEE.

Rev. F. L. Edwards, who reported for the Committee, referred to their loss by the death of their convener, Rev. C. E. Matthews. He said the committee and the hon. secretary had now finished the revision of the 'Rules and Decisions.' They had also been, during the year, in touch with the British Broadcasting Corporation. He then referred to the fact that both the London and provincial Press had devoted more attention to bells, etc., than in past years. On the motion of the President, the report was adopted, and the committee re-elected, viz.: Revs. F. L. Edwards and A. T. Beeston, Messrs. G. P. Burton, W. Wilson and A. Paddon Smith. Mr. J. S. Goldsmith was added to the committee.

METHODS COMMITTEE.

Rev. H. Law James reported for the committee, and said he was pleased to be able to state that a large number of the 'Collection of Plain Major Methods' had been sold. The reprinting of the 'Minor Methods,' with the addition of bobs and singles and 720's, or the Treble Bob Major, were two matters to which he thought the committee might give their attention. Having published the 'Plain Methods,' he thought they should now reissue the 'Minor Methods.' As Mr. E. H. Lewis was so busy, he suggested that Rev. E. S. Powell should be added to the committee. Mr. J. A. Trollope asked if the six-bell ringers had any suggestions to make, to let the committee know, and it would be included in the reprint. It was proposed by Mr. T. Hervey Beams, and seconded by Mr. T. Salter, that a reprint of the 'Collection of Minor Methods' be proceeded with. On the motion of the President, the report was adopted, and the committee re-elected as follows, viz.: Rev. H. Law James, Messrs. E. H. Lewis and J. A. Trollope. (See further discussion after lunch.)

PEALS ANALYSIS COMMITTEE.

Rev. A. T. Beeston moved the adoption of the report which was printed in 'The Ringing World.' He said that in a number of cases the conductors' names had to be omitted, and Mr. J. S. Goldsmith referred to the defective reports received by him for publication in 'The Ringing World.' On the motion of the President, the report was adopted, and the committee, consisting of the Rev. A. T. Beeston, Messrs. J. W. Parker and G. Williams and Miss E. K. Parker, were re-elected. The President thanked the committee for their work.

TOWERS AND BELFRIES COMMITTEE.

Major J. H. B. Hesse said that during the year he had inspected certain towers. Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn said that he had been very busy visiting towers. He thought this was largely due to a great number of branch meetings their Guild held, and dwelt upon the importance of such meetings. The Hon. Secretary said he had received a letter from Mr. E. H. Lewis, saying he had given advice on Bow bells, etc. After remarks by Rev. H. Drake and the President, the report was adopted, and the committee re-elected as follows, viz.: Revs. C. D. P. Davies and C. W. O. Jenkyn, Major J. H. B. Hesse, Messrs. E. H. Lewis and E. Alex. Young.

RECORDS COMMITTEE.

Rev. A. T. Beeston read his report, and said that he had had copies of the records typed and handed to the hon. secretary. On the motion of the President, the report was adopted, and the committee re-appointed, viz.: Revs. A. T. Beeston and H. Law James, and Mr. T. Hervey Beams.

NOMENCLATURE COMMITTEE.

Rev. H. Drake for his committee referred to their anomalous and difficult position, as their report had been neither accepted nor rejected. Mr. T. Hervey Beams deprecated their work being nullified. Mr. J. A. Trollope, in explaining last year's decision, said that what he objected to was autocratic rules for naming all records, and wholesale alterations in the names of methods which had been rung. After further remarks by the President, Mr. C. T. Coles, Mr. J. Hunt and Rev. H. Drake, Alderman J. S. Pritchett proposed, and Rev. E. S. Powell seconded, that the committee be thanked for their services, but not reappointed. The motion was carried by a large majority, and the committee thanked by the president for their services. The Council then adjourned.

METHODS COMMITTEE.

After the interval, Mr. J. A. Trollope said the Council had empowered them to reissue the 'Minor Methods,' but it was also necessary for the committee to deal with names, and he moved that they be empowered to deal with the whole matter at their discretion. This was seconded by Rev. H. Law James. Mr. W. Willson opposed giving the power asked for, which had been previously taken from another committee, and Mr. T. Faulkner suggested that the committee should add to their names of the late Nomenclature Committee, but Mr. E. W. Elwell opposed this. Mr. Trollope explained that they did not propose to throw over the Nomenclature Committee's work entirely. Alderman J. S. Pritchett said he saw no harm if it were understood that the committee proposed to make the best selection from existing names. After Mr. J. A. Trollope gave a pledge to this effect, his motion was carried by a large majority.

The Hon. Secretary presented the revised 'Rules and Decisions,' which had been enlarged and brought up to date, especially in regard to the decisions (the triennial leaflet having been dispensed with for several years). He also said that the new matter would include a portrait of Sir Arthur Heywood, their founder, as a frontispiece. He then read the verbal alterations in the rules necessitated by the incorporation of certain decisions (a copy of which had been supplied to them) and further proposed that the summary leaflet circularised immediately after the annual meetings should be dispensed with, and that instead the official minutes should be published about January; also that he be instructed to send a copy of them to the affiliated bodies. The Rev. F. Ll. Edwards, who had collaborated in the work, supported the proposals, which, being seconded by the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, were carried, with instructions that 300 copies be printed.

The President then called upon Mr. T. H. Taffender, who moved his resolution, 'That the Council approach the British Broadcasting Corporation with a view to broadcasting during the evening programme a series of instructional talks on change ringing, with handbell demonstrations.' After referring to lectures on bells, etc., in the 'Children's Hour,' he said that he thought it would be better if the talk took place in the evening. Mr. A. D. Barker seconded. Revs. F. Ll. Edwards and C. D. P. Davies both supported the proposal, and said that the committee should consist of men living in London. Mr. A. A. Hughes said they had heard chiming on the 'wireless,' but the public, who did not understand change ringing, preferred it to even Stedman Cinques at 10; they had got to overcome the difficulty of the B.B.C.'s idea of the public's preference for chiming. Mr. H. W. Wilde supported the motion, which was carried, and a committee, consisting of Messrs. W. T. Cockerill, J. D. Matthews, A. A. Hughes, T. H. Taffender and E. Alex. Young, were elected to take action.

Mr. G. Williams moved that the agenda should be published twelve weeks, and notices of motions three months, before the Council meeting. Mr. A. H. Pulling seconded the motion, which was supported by Messrs. H. Barton and J. S. Goldsmith, and carried.

Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn moved his resolution, 'That the Council should issue peal diplomas for young ringers,' and explained his proposal at some length. This was seconded by the Hon. Secretary. Mr. C. H. Howard said that anything that would encourage the young ringer would be an advantage. Rev. H. Drake and Mr. T. R. Dennis supported the motion. Mr. W. Willson reminded the Council that he proposed this 20 years ago. After remarks by Revs. C. D. P. Davies and C. W. O. Jenkyn in favour of it, it was opposed by Messrs. P. J. Johnston, J. George and H. Barton, who asked that members should have another year to consider the matter. An amendment having been proposed by Rev. F. Ll. Edwards, and seconded by Mr. W. T. Cockerill, that the matter be deferred until next meeting, was passed and agreed to as a motion, the hope being expressed that the members would consider it during the year.

Rev. H. Law James then moved his resolution, 'That since William Shipway extended Superlative Surprise Major to Royal, and the first peal of Royal was rung at Wakefield in 1826, the Council cannot accept any extension to Maximus which does not agree with the Major and the Royal.' The speaker said that he had dealt with the question at some length at the Newcastle meeting, and explained his motion by references to what had been accepted in other of the standard methods where they were based largely upon practice rather than theory. He contended that Shipway's Royal stood on as firm a basis as did the extensions of London and Stedman, and that the decisions of 100 years ago should stand to-day. Mr. R. Richardson formally seconded.

Alderman J. S. Pritchett contended that since the Major and the Royal already disagreed with each other, the resolution was a meaningless one. Mr. J. W. Parker proposed, and Rev. E. S. Powell seconded, as an amendment, that in the opinion of the Council there was no correct extension of Superlative Surprise Royal Major.

Mr. J. A. Trollope supported it, and pointed out the difficulties of the whole situation, and Mr. C. J. Sedgley defended the peal of Superlative Maximus rung at Ipswich, when Mr. C. T. Coles moved a further amendment that: 'As the expert advisers of the Council disagree, this meeting is of the opinion that no good purpose can be served by coming to a definite decision on this subject.' This was seconded by Rev. F. Ll. Edwards. After further remarks by Rev. H. Law James, the first amendment being withdrawn, the second on being put was carried by a large majority.

The President then called upon Mr. J. A. Trollope to move his resolution, 'That a committee be appointed to report to the Council (a) bells, (b) ringers, and (c) ringing respectively on the one hand; and (d) the incumbent, (e) the churchwardens, and (f) the Parochial Councils respectively on the other hand, and any other legal matters affecting the Exercise. And, further, to consider the advisability of issuing a statement of these matters for the guidance of ringers and other persons affected.' The speaker, after referring to the action of Parochial Councils, said he thought it would be advisable if the Council knew definitely how ringers stood in legal matters, and suggested Alderman J. S. Pritchett and Mr. F. A. Milne, who were barristers, to serve on the committee. Mr. A. A. Hughes seconded. Alderman J. S. Pritchett said a useful pamphlet might be compiled, so that ringers would know where they stood regarding incumbents and Parochial Councils. He suggested that Mr. E. W. Elwell be asked to compile the pamphlet. This was supported by Canon W. W. C. Baker, who said

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD.

BASINGSTOKE DISTRICT'S GOOD START.

The inaugural meeting of the re-formed Basingstoke District was held at Basingstoke on Saturday, and over fifty members were present from Basingstoke (St. Michael's and All Saints'), Bramley, Binfield, Deane, Ellisfield, King's Somborne, North Stoneham, Oakley, Overton, Sherborne St. John, Sherfield, Silchester, Winchester and Yateley.

Service was held at St. Michael's, and was taken by Rev. E. Jones. At the close the members adjourned to the Church Hall, where a splendid tea, very generously provided by the Basingstoke bands, was enjoyed.

At the business meeting the Rev. G. H. Jendwine, R.D., was voted to the chair and was supported by Rev. H. T. Adams, Rev. E. Jones, Dr. Boustead, D.D., Mr. G. Williams (Master), Mr. W. Andrews, Mr. F. Wilson, Mr. H. Horne and others.

The General Secretary (Mr. G. Pullinger) explained the reasons for forming the diocesan area into smaller districts, and stated that the following towers had been provisionally placed in the new Basingstoke District: Basingstoke (All Saints' and St. Michael's), Yateley (eight-bell towers); Bramley, Deane, Kingsclere, Oakley, Odiham, Overton, Rotherwick, Sherfield and Wootton (six-bell towers); Baughurst, Dummer, Ellesfield, Heckfield, Monk's Sherborne, Sherborne St. John, Silchester, Strathfieldsaye, and Wootton St. Lawrence (five-bell towers).

District officers were elected as follows: Chairman, Dr. Boustead; secretary, Rev. E. Jones (Basingstoke); auditor, Mr. F. Wilson (Basingstoke); Ringing Master, Mr. C. Osler (Bramley); representative on Central Committee, Mr. C. Chesterman (Basingstoke).

It was decided to hold the next annual meeting at Basingstoke on Saturday, January 26th, 1929.

Quarterly meetings were arranged as follows: Deane and Church Oakley on April 26th, Yateley on June 6th, and Kingsclere and Wootton on September 15th.

The bands at Ellisfield and Sherborne St. John joined the Guild. This brings the number of affiliated towers in the new district up to 15, while a letter was read from the Vicar of Monk's Sherborne, from which it appeared that his band were likely to join shortly.

The bells at the churches of All Saints and St. Michael (both rings of eight) were available during the afternoon and evening, and various methods practised.

the control of the bells was absolutely in the hands of the incumbent. Rev. F. Ll. Edwards said there appeared, however, to be some doubt, and Rev. E. S. Powell said that churchwardens were associated with the incumbent in the tolling of one bell only. The motion was then agreed to. The Hon. Secretary then proposed that Alderman J. S. Pritchett, Messrs. F. A. Milne and E. W. Elwell be elected to form the committee. This was seconded by Mr. A. A. Hughes, and carried.

PLACE OF NEXT ANNUAL MEETING.

The Standing Committee having recommended Hereford for next year, Mr. W. A. Cave proposed, and Rev. C. D. P. Davies seconded, Bristol; Canon F. J. O. Helmore proposed Wells; Rev. E. S. Powell then proposed Plymouth, which was seconded by Mr. James George. Upon being put to the meeting, the voting was as follows: Hereford 40, Bristol 28, and Plymouth 10. It was therefore decided that next year's meeting should be held at Hereford.

The President moved that letters of thanks be sent to the Lord Mayor, Archdeacon Holmes and the Astronomer Royal. This motion was carried nom con, as was a vote of thanks to the president and one to the hon. secretary for arranging the social events. The meeting closed at five o'clock.

HOW THE ASSOCIATIONS HAVE HELPED

Last week we referred in this column to the boom in bell restoration and to the part which ringers have played in bringing this about. There is also another phase of this very satisfactory indication of progress which must not be overlooked. The various ringers' associations throughout the country have done a great deal to secure improvement in the condition of rings of bells, and, where funds permit, they give generous and practical help. To begin with, the presence of ringers at district and other meetings, held at towers where the bells go badly, not infrequently results in timely hints being given to the authorities that something ought to be done. On the other hand, ringers from towers where the bells are in an indifferent condition, on going to ring on peals which provide practical illustration of how bells really should 'go,' return to their parishes dissatisfied with the state of things in their own belfry and soon begin to stir for an improvement. In both directions, therefore, the associations have been able to help forward the good work. But they are not mere grumblers at bad conditions and agitators for improvements; they give a very practical aid when they are permitted to do so. Most of the associations have one member, or more, qualified to give technical advice with regard to what is needed in the way of restoration, and the help of these experts is always readily placed at the service of church authorities. In several cases, now, the Diocesan Advisory Boards have some one of this kind to whom they always appeal in these matters, and the day is probably not far distant when every such Board will have upon it, or in consultation with it, a man with a practical knowledge of bells and ringing. So that while our organisations do their utmost to urge on restorations, they are able to give valuable assistance in the technical advice which is at the disposal of those who desire it.

But our associations do even more than that; they vote considerable sums out of their funds towards approved restoration or augmentation schemes, and in this way the ringers of the country contribute a substantial amount to bell funds and back up their proposals with their cash. The Oxford Diocesan Guild has set a wonderful example of helpfulness in these matters, and now the Chester Guild Committee has decided to enlarge its maximum grants by 50 per cent. We should like to see this lead followed by every association which has sufficient reserves to justify it; for there is little use in accumulating money. When once the reserve has placed the organisation at 'safety' point, there seems little reason why receipts and expenditure need more than balance, and we know of no better way in which the funds of a ringing association can be spent than in assisting in the restoration of bells, which are the instruments upon which we rely for the practice of our art. Often the contribution of the ringers helps to open the tower to the association and to interest fresh people in its activities. Judiciously administered, grants of this nature repay the organisations over and over again.

BENINGTON'S FAMOUS BAND. ANOTHER VETERAN GONE.

The last but one of the famous old Benington band has passed to the other side, namely, Mr. Samuel Page, who was in his 80th year. He was laid to rest on Saturday afternoon last in the old churchyard that he had so often trod on his way to the tower and the bells he loved so well, and not many yards from the resting place of his old Master, Squire Leonard Proctor, who was such a well-known figure in the ringing Exercise 70 years ago.

'Old Sam,' as he was familiarly called, was a man whose word was his bond, and punctuality was part of his life. A promise from him, humanly speaking, was a certainty, and to be late was, in his eyes, a crime. Himself one of the very finest of strikers, and a keen listener to every change in touch or peal, no excuse was allowed for any man, who called himself a ringer, for bad striking. Mr. Page had been trained in a strict school. The writer can well remember in his childhood days hearing Benington bells across the fields, striking with the regularity of machinery.

Thomas Page, Sam's father, had the training of his son, and Sam has often repeated the words of his father to him, viz.: 'If I was going to be a ringer I'd be one,' and these words were carried out to the full by both.

The old squire would often take young Sam to various parts of England for ringing, and he was never tired of telling of his visits to Birmingham, Warwick, Ipswich, London, Lavenham, Saffron Walden, and many other places, as well as of the places visited by the whole band together to open peals, etc. For instance, the band visited Braughing on the anniversary of the opening (May 10th) for 50 years without a break, and it was seldom that all the standard methods were not rung during the day. The prowess of the band can be somewhat estimated by the newspaper report upon the visit to Galleywood, Essex, for the opening of the new church and bells, which reads: 'The opening of the church was taken advantage of by Mr. Pryor, who kindly invited the Benington band to attend, and, although they had to travel a distance of nearly 70 miles, they reached Galleywood in time to ring for morning service, after which they rang in masterly style the following touches in ten methods: Grandsire Triples 336, Stedman Triples 420, Bob Major 336, Double London Court 336, Double Norwich Court Major 1,008, Oxford Treble Bob Major 576, Kent Treble Bob Major 704, Superlative Surprise 448, Cambridge Surprise 448, London Surprise Major 448. Conducted by Thos. Page. As will be seen, the whole amounts to a peal of 5,060 changes, and, indeed, a wonderful performance which, without a doubt, no other village in England could approach.'

A few words as to the history of ringing at Benington will interest many. The church stands in a picturesque spot and in a most picturesque old-world village, with its timbered houses and rookery near by. The old bells were a ring of six. When, in 1838, Squire Proctor came to reside there at the old Lordship, two trebles were added, and a peal tablet in the tower record that the bells were opened on Jan. 29th, 1838, and the next day a peal of Grandsire Triples was rung by the Royal Cumberland Youths, Wm. Lobb ringing in it, and Leonard Proctor ringing the tenor, the peal being conducted by E. Giles.

The next peal recorded was one of Double Norwich in 1849, the first in the county of Hertford, rung by residents. The next was in 1855, a peal of Superlative, the squire taking part with a mixed company. Then in 1865 came the first peal of Stedman in the county by a resident band. On December 26th, 1870, from what can be gathered, Sam rang his first peal at home, which was a 6,048 of London Surprise by all residents—truly a remarkable thing for those far-off days and for a small village. Before this date, however, he had rung in a peal of Stedman Caters at Hertford upon the old ten, years before they were burst down. He was then 21 years of age, and the peal was conducted by John Cox, of the Cumberlands. No proper account of the number of peals Mr. Page had rung can be found, but the number must be considerable for a ringer of that time, as, upon the death of his father, the conducting fell upon him, and Benington was the Mecca of many famous men. Cox, Haley, Miller, Lobb, and, in later days, Washbrook, Rev. F. E. Robinson, Nathan and Frederick Pitstow and many others were visitors, and at the Lordship the old squire kept ever-open doors to ringers. It was nothing strange, 45 or 50 years ago, to hear the bells of Benington ringing upon any day of the week, for if a peal was wanted Squire Proctor had only to call up his men, and visitors could be accommodated with any method they required.

In 1873, a board records a 5,600 of Cambridge Surprise rung by residents, and there must have been many that are not recorded, for the ringing was kept up to a very high standard right up to the time of Mr. Proctor's death, which occurred in 1895. Surprise methods were regularly rung for Sunday services, and the fame of the Benington men at that time spread throughout England. Though all men of humble calling, they were great at ringing.

And now one more of this band has left the scene. The bells he loved and had rung so often were rung half-muffled after the funeral service by his colleagues, W. H. Lawrence taking a rope in the tribune to an old and respected friend.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

DIOCESAN TITLE SUGGESTED.

Attracted by what many who are competent to judge consider as the finest ring of eight in the diocese, and favoured with a warm, sunny day, upwards of forty members of the Essex Association attended the meeting of the Northern Division at Dunmow on Saturday. The Ringers' Office was said by the Rev. W. J. House, D.D., Vicar, and Mr. C. H. Howard (Master) read the lesson.

A sumptuous tea, provided by the local ringers' wives and friends, was much enjoyed. The Vicar presided, supported by the Rev. P. E. T. Widdington, Rector of Great Easton, the Master of the association, Mr. A. A. Saunders, District Master, and Mr. W. Arnold, district secretary.

At the meeting which followed, the District Master presided. Members were present from Braintree, Great Bardfield, Earls Colne, Fearing, Great Easton, Great Yeldham, Sible Hedingham, Black Notley, Stebbing, Rayne and Dunmow. Eight new members were elected, and it was decided to hold the next meeting at Stebbing.

The question of changing the name of the association was discussed. After several members had expressed their opinion, the following resolution was carried by a very large majority: 'That a recommendation be sent to the General Committee to consider the advisability of changing the name of the Essex Association to the Chelmsford Diocesan Guild.'

The Master thanked the Vicar for the use of the bells and his warm welcome, the organist and choir for their services, and the ladies who had so kindly supplied the tea.

The Vicar, in his reply, expressed the thanks of himself and his parishioners for the assistance given when the restoration and augmentation of his bells took place.

The Rector of Great Easton, who was present, announced that after a silence of forty years his ring of five bells were to be rebung and a treble added by Messrs. Taylor and Co. He gave an invitation to all to attend the dedication in July of this year.

The Vicar, who is also Rural Dean of Dunmow, stated that a lady parishioner of Great Bardfield had placed an order with the same firm of bell founders to add two trebles in Bardfield Church.

Messrs. Floyd and Saunders, members of Dunmow choir, sang very beautifully two duets, 'Excelsior' and 'The Battle Hymn,' and several courses of Caters and Major were rung on the handbells. During the afternoon and evening methods from Grandsire to Cambridge Surprise Major were practised by the visiting ringers.

SOUTH-EAST DIVISION.

A meeting of the South-East Division was held at Springfield on Saturday, February 11th, and in spite of inclement weather 25 members put in an appearance. Ringing commenced at 2.30 p.m., followed by the service, conducted by the Rector, Canon F. S. Paynter. The lesson was read by Dr. Spencer-Phillips, of Great Baddow, in the absence of Mr. C. H. Howard (Master of the association). Tea was served in the Vestry Hall, followed by the meeting, at which the Rev. G. P. A. Dixon, of Springfield, was elected an hon. member. Miss I. White, of the local band, was elected a ringing member, and Mr. S. Jackson, Great Baddow, probationary member.

It was decided to hold the next meeting jointly at High Easter and Good Easter.

The meeting concluded with a vote of thanks to the Rector for allowing the use of the tower and bells, and conducting the service, the organist for accompanying the hymns, and the ladies who helped with the tea.

A collection towards the fund for 'Irenaeus Pistor' amounted to 12s.

During the afternoon and evening the bells were rung in various Minor methods, including Cambridge and London Surprise.

A RINGER'S SUDDEN DEATH.

The sudden death has occurred at Guiseley, of Mr. William B. Smith, an engineer of Leafeld Mills, who passed away at the early age of 47 years on Monday night, February 20th. He went to work in his usual health about 6.15 in the morning, and on returning home at night he complained of pains in the chest and went to bed. Before a doctor could be summoned he died.

The funeral took place on Thursday week, and was largely attended. The bells were rung half-muffled on Sunday as a tribute of respect to the deceased, who had rung 65 peals. He was a good striker and a safe ringer, and will be sadly missed among ringers.

SUFFOLK GUILD.

A meeting of the Eye District was held at Eye on Saturday, February 18th, when ringers were present from Otley, Debenham, Stowupland, Stoke Ash, Thorndon, Wetheringsett, Thorning Magna, Rickinghall, Yaxley, Diss, Dickleburgh, and the local company. Tea was served at the Horse Shoes Inn, the Rev. J. R. Vincent presiding and giving a short address of welcome.

A vote of thanks to the Vicar for presiding at the meeting and for the use of the bells was proposed by Mr. E. F. Poppy. After tea the tower was again visited, and the bells were kept going until eight o'clock. The methods rung during the afternoon and evening were Treble Bob, Bob Major, Grandsire, Stedman Triples, Double Norwich, Cambridge and Superlative Surprise.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD. WIRRAL BRANCH MEETING.

The monthly meeting of the Wirral Branch of the above Guild was held at St. Peter's, Rock Ferry, on Saturday, February 25th. The number of members present was not as large as it should have been, but those who did turn up thoroughly enjoyed ringing the handy peal of six. Methods of all kinds were rung, ranging from Bob Doubles to London and other Surprise Minor methods. The service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. Arch. Ball, M.A.), who prefaced his remarks by extending a hearty welcome to those present. In his address, which was one quite out of the usual class met with at ringers' gatherings, he said he always endeavoured to find out what the other man was thinking, and on asking one individual how the church could attract the people, he was told that the clergy should cut out the 'sob stuff' and get down to real facts. That was sensible advice, and he thought every man's ambition was to be a 'white man' and to 'play the game.' The question was which was the game they were going to play? They wanted to go straight and know the skipper and the rules of the game. There was such a thing as overdoing it, and a person who, so to speak, was thinking, eating, and drinking golf was not a man—he was a maniac! There was also the game of self, which was played by large numbers in politics, business and sport. The principal point in this game was not to be found out. But the real man played for the team—the game was not the main thing. What was wanted was the team spirit, each filling his own part and all working for the good of the team as a whole. Then there was the great game of humanity, with one goal, the Kingdom of God, and one Captain, Christ. They had the book of rules, and this game was one in which saint and sportsman could meet together, and by doing so win the world for Christ.

A splendid tea was provided in the Church Hall, and at the business meeting which followed Mr. Milner (president of the branch) occupied the chair.—The Vicar appealed to the ringers not just to ring the bells on Sundays and then go home, but to come into church and join in the service.

A brief resume of the Guild committee meeting at Stockport on the previous Saturday was given by the branch representative, and a question of a picnic for the branch was raised.

A discussion arose on the question of inducing one or two towers still outside to throw in their lot with the Guild, and the good offices of the Rev. A. Ball were invoked in two instances.

LONDON.—On Sunday, January 8th, at St. Botolph's, Bishopsgate, City, for evening service, 1,280 Bristol Surprise Major: H. Beicher 1, Miss E. E. Chapman 2, W. Hewett 3, Wm. Madgwick 4, E. F. Pike 5, C. Roberts 6, J. E. Davis (conductor) 7, R. Sanders 8.

BARNSELY AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

The February meeting was held at Darton. The church and parish are at present without a Vicar, but the churchwardens extended a warm welcome to the association and took great interest in the meeting. Members attended from Barnsley, Darfield, Hoylandswaine, Felkirk, Sandal, Shilley, Royston, and members of the local company. During the afternoon, touches of Plain Bob and Treble Bob were freely indulged in.

Tea was provided in Church Schoolroom, and much enjoyed, the attendance by the ladies giving an added charm to the proceedings. The business meeting followed. Correspondence was dealt with. Messrs. Gillett and Johnston gave a hearty invitation to the members to attend the ringers' rally on March 3rd, which was much appreciated, but owing to distance, time and expense, it was feared the pleasures would have to be reluctantly missed.

A discussion took place on the suggestion of having a central summer meeting, at which the association might have the presence of the Bishop of Wakefield and clergy. This idea is to be accomplished if at all possible.

The churchwardens, ladies and local ringers were warmly thanked.

'ALBION TREBLE BOB.'

To the Editor.

Sir,—It would have been much more to the point if the Rev. H. E. James had given the resultant lead-heads of each pair of places made independently in the Treble Bob Principle. They are as follow:—

Lead-head. Transpositions.

First pair made in 5-6	= 12346578	12346578
Second " " " "	= 12346578	12345678
Third " " " "	= 12845673	12845673
Fourth " " " "	= 12845673	12345678
Fifth " " " 3-4	= 18345672	18345672
Sixth " " " "	= 18345672	12345678
Seventh, " " " "	= 12375648	12375648
Eighth " " " "	= 12375648	12345678

It will be seen above that in each lead-head two bells only have been shifted, and in the transpositions that rounds turn up at every second row, proving the statement that Albion Treble Bob is Plain Bob, with the Treble Bob hunt added.—Yours faithfully,

GEORGE BAKER.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

During evensong at Kingston Magna, Dorset, on Sunday week, the organ went out of action. The Rector's handbells were immediately brought into use, and the entire service was chorally rendered without any other accompaniment. The Rector of Kingston Magna is Rev. F. L. Edwards, hon. secretary of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild.

The peal at Thirsk, the report of which was published last week, was rung with the bells fully muffled for the late Earl Haig, and was conducted by J. W. Neesam.

Appleton 'anniversary' is to take place this year on March 10th. This event has been celebrated without a break since 1818, when the bells were made into a ring of six. Formerly the whole village used to keep the day as a holiday.

To-morrow is the 150th anniversary of a peal of 10,260 Grandsire Caters, rung at St. Mary's, Nottingham, and conducted by W. D. Crofts.

The first peal of Cambridge Surprise Major by the Yorkshire Association was rung at Drighlington on March 4th, 1899.

On March 8th, 1737, 12,605 Grandsire Caters was rung at St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich. Considering that this was little more than 20 years after the first peal in any method, this was a great performance.

The first peal of Stedman Caters, on the famous bells of Bow, Chesham, was rung 120 years ago next Wednesday. It was composed and conducted by George Gross, and William Shipway took part in it.

It is forty years on Saturday next, March 3rd, when the first peal of Grandsire Triples was rung on the grand old peal of bells at Lavenham. Hollis' five-part was conducted by the late Chas. Sillitoe, the band being A. Symonds, C. Sillitoe, J. Campin, A. Scott, W. Griggs, W. Howell, H. Harper and W. Moore. All have passed away except the treble man, who is a native of Preston, Suffolk.

THE CURFEW.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Will not the Rev. F. L. Edwards find out for us something really certain about the curfew? The tale we were told in our histories was that William the Conqueror, among his acts of tyranny, ordered the church bell to be rung at eight o'clock, and that then all lights must be put out; and that this was called the curfew (which is short for 'couvre-feu,' or 'cover-fire'). Also that in many places this bell is still rung. It is quite true that a bell rung at various hours in different places is called the curfew; but the fact that our oldest bells are much later than the Conquest makes the whole thing read, to ringers, more like a fairy tale than sober history. Moreover, it would seem probable that all the different bells that are rung in different places are survivals of bells that were rung for different services before the Reformation. When the services were no longer held, it was found that in certain cases people had got so accustomed to timing themselves by a bell rung at that time that the ringing of the bell was kept on, although there was no longer any service; or it may have been that the sexton was paid for ringing at certain times, and in order to still get his money he went on ringing the bell.

The last service, at bedtime, was Compline, and it is pretty certain that when a bell is rung at nine or ten it is the old Compline bell. Mr. Edwards says that at Seville 'The Curfew' is rung at ten. What exactly does this mean? Is it called the curfew in Spanish, or are fires and lights then put out, or is it simply an evening bell?

CHESHIRE SURVIVALS.

Dear Sir,—I know three places in Cheshire where the curfew is rung, viz.: Chester Cathedral, every night at nine o'clock; Frodsham, from November 2nd to February 2nd, at 8 o'clock p.m., except Saturday and Sunday, and Christmas week, when it is rung at 7 p.m.; also at Tarvin, the times of ringing being similar to Frodsham.

NEW BELL FOR TINY DEVON PARISH.

On February 21st, the tiny parish of Bradstone, Devon, which has only about 70 inhabitants, was en fete for the dedication of a new treble bell to the existing five, which were cast by Taylor in 1809. The service was conducted by the Lord Bishop of Exeter, and it is believed that this was the first visit which the parish had received from its diocesan in the memory of man. A very large number of people attended; in fact, the church was quite full. There were nine sets of ringers from neighbouring parishes, who all had a ring on the bells, which were set going by the Kelly band, who rang two well-struck six-scores of Grandsire Doubles and one of Bob Minor, in which they were assisted by Rev. E. S. Powell, president of the Devon Guild.

The subject of the Bishop's address was 'Co-operation,' and the part it should play in our religious life. The effort of supplying funds for this undertaking had been carried out by the parishioners, so the Bishop's words were most appropriate to the occasion.

Messrs. Mears and Stainbank supplied the new bell, and also tuned the old ring, and there was a general testimony that the tone of the peal had been greatly improved. The work of hanging had been skillfully carried out by Mr. N. Stokes, of Woodbury. By the end of the day it was found that the whole cost of the undertaking had been met.

THE 'ALL-ENGLAND' MEETING.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR TO-MORROW'S GREAT GATHERING.
OVER 2,000 EXPECTED AT CROYDON.

To-morrow's great meeting at Croydon, at the invitation of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, will be the largest assembly of ringers which has ever been gathered together, more than 2,100 applications having been made for tickets.

This is a wonderful testimony to the interest which ringers all over the country are taking in the work now being done at the Croydon Bell Foundry, and to handle and feed this great body of people will tax the resources of everyone concerned.

There will be some distinguished guests among the visitors, including the Archbishop of Canterbury and Mrs. Randall Davidson, the Bishop of Winchester and Mrs. Woods, the Bishop of Rochester and his making, with nine others, the heaviest 'chime' in the world—a ring weighing in all 67½ tons! These bells will be chimed in changes to a lead of Bob Caters, by a picked band of ringers. The works, the bells and the carillon will be open for inspection, and at intervals the firm's employees' band will perform selections.

Those who come early to inspect the works will be able to go on to St. Peter's Church (ten bells) and the Parish Church (eight bells) for ringing. There will be special ringing stewards at the exits to assist those desirous of ringing, and a special service of buses and trams is being arranged.

In view of the large number who wish to partake of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston's hospitality, it has been found necessary to engage Croydon's four largest halls for the tea. Three of them are adjacent in Scarbrook Road, viz., the Baths Hall, the Polytechnic and the Welcome Hall. The fourth hall is the Adult School Hall, in Friends' Road, wife, the Bishop of Guildford and Mrs. Greig. Every association in England will be represented, and those who are going to the foundry will find a great deal to interest them.

The bells of St. Stephen's, Clapham Park, and the Parish Church, Croydon, are likely to be in full use in the morning, as many visitors have indicated that they desire to ring on them. The foundry will be opened at 2 p.m., and ringers will enter by the door in Union Road, where the first thing of special interest will be a peal of eight, hanging in their frame, and they will hear a heavy carillon of 23 bells, with a bass bell of 3½ tons in B flat being played.

In the distance they will also hear the great bourdon bell for the Riverside Church, New York, which is to crown the carillon presented by Mr. J. D. Rockefeller, booming out its deep note. The bell is the largest ever cast in England, its net weight being 18½ tons. As the guests move on they will see the bell being swung in its frame and which is a few minutes' walk from the rest. This hall has a capacity of 500, and visitors who are to take their tea in this hall will exchange the tea half of the ticket for a special ticket.

After tea, the great Baths Hall will be cleared of tables, and the whole of the huge company will combine. While these arrangements are being carried out, the company will have the opportunity of hearing the smallest carillon in the world, the bass bell of which is only 1 cwt., in contrast to the 18½ ton bell which will previously have been heard. Miss Nora Johnston will play tunes on this carillon, and Mr. Harry Withers is to tap out a course of Erin Caters.

When the company has been massed, the Archbishop will address them, and commencing at eight o'clock there will be a social and concert, two or three eminent professional artistes having been engaged for this latter. A buffet will be provided and refreshments supplied at the usual prices.

As has already been announced, there are to be cheap trains from every station in the kingdom to Croydon, and the tickets at a fare and a third will be issued on presentation at the booking office of the official voucher. Croydon is reached from London from either Victoria or London Bridge Stations, and the tickets will be available to either East Croydon or West Croydon Station. The latter is the nearer to the foundry.

We are asked to state that the senior representative of each Guild or Association will be given a ticket notifying the seat reserved for him at the tea tables in the Baths Hall, which seat will also be shown on the plan printed in the souvenir leaflet which is to be distributed on arrival.

A special illustrated supplement will be printed with next week's issue of 'The Ringing World,' describing the scenes.

THE RIVERSIDE CHURCH BELFRY.

The magnificent new Baptist Church in New York, for which some of the bells, on view to-morrow at the Croydon Bell Foundry, are destined, has been built on the most prominent site in the city—Riverside Drive. It stands within a few yards of Grant's tomb, overlooking the Hudson River, with an enormous panorama, extending both up and down the famous waterway, and with the Palisade in the far distance.

The building itself is as high as most of the English cathedrals, and is crowned by a beautiful tower, which is pure Gothic, and is about 400ft. high. The bells will hang about 300ft. above the side walk, in a chamber measuring approximately 36ft. octagonal inside, and 5ft. 6in. high. The nucleus of the carillon is that previously sent from the Croydon Foundry to the Park Avenue Church. These are being removed to the new building, and the number of the bells will be brought up to 64 by the bells which are shortly to be shipped from Croydon.

In the tower will be provided the various church offices and also the Sunday School, and it will be served by two high-speed elevators. At the very top of the tower is a minister's 'look-out' room.

CHIDDINGFOLD RINGER'S DEATH.

The death occurred on Saturday, February 4th, at the Royal Surrey County Hospital, Guildford, of Mr. T. Luff, hon. secretary of the Chiddingfold Company, who passed away at the comparatively early age of 48 years. Deceased had been a member of the company for a good many years, and had been in the church choir for quite forty years.

The funeral took place on Wednesday, February 8th, the service being fully choral. The Rector (Rev. E. P. Pelloe) officiated, with Mr. E. Howard at the organ. The bearers were three fellow-ringers and a churchwarden, and a course of 'Grandsire Triples' was rung on handbells at the graveside by G. Luff 1-2 (who kindly took the place of W. G. Brockhurst, absent owing to illness), A. J. Bartlett 3-4, M. Smither 5-6, T. Attwell 7-8. In the evening, on the church bells, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (deceased's favourite method), with half-muffled clappers, was rung by Miss M. Attwell 1, G. Luff 2, A. J. Bartlett (conductor) 3, E. Mullah (first quarter inside) 4, M. Smither 5, D. Ayling 6, T. Attwell 7, G. Johnson 8. Ringers of 4th and 6th are old friends of the deceased from Witley. Among the numerous wreaths was one from the ringers and one from the choir. Mr. Luff is the first member of the new Guildford Diocesan Guild to 'cross the bourne.'

LINCOLN GUILD.SOUTHERN BRANCH SECRETARY'S RETIREMENT.

The annual meeting of the Southern Branch of the above Guild was held at Grantham on February 21st. The weather being fine, there was a good attendance. Tea was provided at the Globe Cafe, after which the business meeting was held in St. Wulfram's belfry, at which the Rev. C. J. Stanton presided. There was only one change among the officers for the ensuing year, the secretary, Mr. S. Proctor, of Grantham, after 16 years' good service, being unable to continue his duties.—Mr. Proctor was given a hearty vote of thanks for his past services.

Mr. C. T. H. Bradley, of Folkingham, was unanimously elected as secretary in his place.

The place of the next meeting was fixed for Market Deeping.

A vote of thanks was passed to the Rector for the use of the bells, also to Rev. C. J. Stanton for presiding.

The peal of ten were made good use of during the afternoon and evening, and a variety of touches in the standard methods were rung.

HEMEL HEMPSTEAD, HERTS.—On Thursday, February 9th, in 48 mins., a quarter-peal of Minor, consisting of 360 College Single, 720 Oxford Bob and 180 Plain Bob, by the following band, with the tenor covering: J. Stopp 1, A. V. Good 3, H. Gates 4, J. Floyd 5, W. Shepherd 6, H. Gidding (conductor) 7, C. F. Winney 8. Rung on the occasion of the induction of the Rev. A. L. Harkness, which took place the previous day at St. Paul's Church.

THE JOHNSON COMMEMORATION DINNERSATURDAY'S GATHERING AT BIRMINGHAM.

With all the interest and enthusiasm which has marked so many of its predecessors, the 40th annual Henry Johnson Commemoration dinner was held at Birmingham on Saturday and attracted a company of nearly 160 ringers, coming from many parts of the country to take part in what has become one of the greatest social events of the year in the ringing Exercise. There was ringing in the afternoon on the twelve bells at St. Martin's Church, the ten at the Cathedral, and the eight at the R.C. Church of St. Chad. At 6 p.m. the company assembled at the Imperial Hotel, where in the Connaught Room the tables had been spread. The chair was taken by Rev. Canon Guy Rogers, Rector of Birmingham, who was supported by Alderman J. S. Pritchett (presiding Ringing Master of St. Martin's Guild), Messrs. J. J. Kendall and F. W. Blake (churchwardens of St. Martin's), Canon Blofeld, Vicar of Edgbaston, Rev. C. E. Wormald, Rector of Solihull and Mrs. Wormald, Mr. J. Bellios (churchwarden of Edgbaston), Mr. W. R. Heaton (Solihull), Lt.-Col. the Rev. F. J. Cheverton (Vicar of Rowley Regis), Rev. J. W. Lyon (Rector of Sutton Coldfield), Rev. S. P. Riley (Vicar of Shirley), Mr. A. Paddon Smith (hon. secretary of St. Martin's Guild), and Mrs. Smith, Mr. A. Walker (Deputy Ringing Master) and Mrs. Walker, Messrs. J. H. Shepherd, J. George and T. Russam (vice-presidents) and Mrs. Russam, T. H. Reeves (trustee), Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Parsons (Old Hill), Mr. H. Mason (Hagley), Mr. E. Alex Young (hon. secretary of the Central Council) and Mrs. Young, Mr. F. B. Yates (presiding Ringing Master of St. Nicholas' Guild, King's Norton) and Mrs. Yates, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Goldsmith (Woking), Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Hughes (London), Mr. C. F. Johnston and Capt. J. H. R. Freeborn (Croydon), Messrs. J. Oldham and J. P. Fidler (Loughborough), Messrs. J. S. Hawkins (Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths), E. W. Elwell (hon. secretary of the Chester Diocesan Guild), J. W. Jones (hon. secretary of the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association), Colin Harrison (hon. secretary of the Sheffield District Society), A. Coppock (Master of the Sherwood Youths), Miss Coppock and Miss I. Thompson (Nottingham), Messrs. W. T. Pates (Cheltenham), T. King (Bath), H. Waghorn (London), S. Palmer (Sheffield), A. Ward (Derby), Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Smallwood (Derby), Mrs. Wilkins, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Cave, Messrs. W. Knight, W. Pring, and W. Thomas (Bristol), H. W. Wilde (Chester), A. Crawley (Crewe), T. H. Beams (Bridport), F. H. W. Sergison, G. R. Fardon (London), G. Holifield (Appleton), and others, including Mr. Joseph Johnson, Henry Johnson's younger son. The towers in and around Birmingham were well represented, and the company was a very jolly one. After an excellent dinner, the toast of 'The King' was honoured, and a 'ten minutes' interval' was fully occupied by an interchange of greetings between old friends.

Afterwards, Mr. W. H. Heaton proposed the toast of 'Church and State,' and in a graceful speech said it would be interesting to discover when Church and State were first allied—he did not mean in England alone. He wondered whether in some of the wonderful explorations which were being made in Ur they might not some day find a tablet recording that at some ancient banquet someone proposed that toast.

Canon Guy Rogers, who responded, first took the opportunity to express on behalf of those who had organised the gathering their great pleasure at seeing their guests present from the remotest parts of the country, from north, south, east and west. That was the third year he had been present, and he was beginning to feel that he had a number of friends at that annual dinner. It was a great pleasure to him to know that St. Martin's Guild continued to be so strong and so representative an institution. Referring to the toast, he said he did not think there had for a long time been the strain between the Church and State that there was at present on account of the revision of the Prayer Book, but he felt sure they would find a way through (hear, hear), and that in the future a strong Church and State would be able to co-operate for the good of the Christian religion and for the good of this people as a whole (hear, hear). It would be a disastrous thing if there were any real quarrel between them which would disturb the happy relations which had existed so long between them. They all desired that the nation should continue to be a Christian nation, and should recognise its Christianity by recognising the Christian Church. They hoped that the differences which had arisen on the ecclesiastical horizon might presently disappear, and that nothing would disturb the relations between Church and State which had existed so happily for many a generation. Proceeding, Canon Rogers referred to the strong fellowship and mutual understanding which existed among ringers, and spoke of the need in these days of making fellowship among all humanity throughout the world a great reality.

A LINK WITH HENRY JOHNSON.

Mr. Walter Bryant, an old Birmingham ringer, made an admirable little speech in proposing the toast of the evening, 'The memory of the late Henry Johnson.' He said he first met Henry Johnson as far back as 1872, and became well acquainted with him later. He rang his first peal with St. Martin's Youths, as they were then called, and it was conducted by Mr. Johnson. Five of that band had long since joined the great majority, the three remaining being Mr. William Kent, Mr. Henry Johnson, junior, and himself. He (the speaker) afterwards joined the St. Martin's band, and there he came under the influence of Mr. Johnson as a ringer. Mr. Johnson had a very strict sense of discipline, and above all he would have good striking. He was a jovial old soul, and often used to tell some good stories about the old ringers of his day. He was a man of great personality—a man who in all his undertakings was the soul of integrity and a man worthy in every way of the tributes which were paid to him at that memorial gathering.

The toast having been drunk in silence, those present who had known Henry Johnson in the flesh were asked to stand up, and out of the company there were only thirteen.

Alderman Pritchett, as usual, submitted the toast of 'Continued prosperity to St. Martin's Guild.' He said he did so on this occasion with a slightly increased tinge of sadness, in that those who knew Henry Johnson were becoming every year such a diminishing band, and especially because of the great losses the Guild had sustained in those who had passed away from them during the year. They mourned the loss of eight of their members, the first of whom to go since their last dinner being Mr. Sidney Smith, the father of their worthy secretary, Mr. Paddon Smith. They sympathised with their secretary in his irreparable loss. The next was Charles Dickens, one of a worthy pair of brothers, who had rung many peals for the Guild. Then Mr. Pryce Taylor, of Loughborough, and afterwards Mr. Stanley Bragg, of Solihull, a member of a well-known ringing family, whose death reminded them in a startling way of the uncertainty of human life. He was a stalwart man, whom one might have expected to live for many years, but he died at an early age. Then there was another worthy, whom they all knew well and remembered with affection and esteem. He referred to Mr. Reuben Hall, of West Bromwich. The great gathering at his funeral, at which that Guild was represented, was the best testimony to his worth. The next was a notable loss, their former secretary, Mr. Godden, who was in harness up to the last, and passed peacefully away from the scene of his toil. He need not dwell on his merits and his services to the Guild. Of late years they did not see so much of him as they wished, but he was one of those worthies who helped to bring the Guild to the state of prosperity which it enjoyed at the present day. The next whose loss they had to mourn was that dear friend of the Guild, the late Dean Willink, Dean of Norwich, who presided over those gatherings on several occasions during the tenure of the Rectory of St. Martin's. He was a most genial man, and he and his wife and daughters were real friends of the Guild. It was with regret that he departed from them to Norwich; it was with still deeper regret they heard of his decease. The last he had to mention was Mr. Arthur Cliff, a most sociable member of the Guild, though not a ringer, who took the warmest interest in their doings. This was a long and melancholy list, but they congratulated themselves that there were still so many of the old members alive, and apparently in the enjoyment of excellent health. They regretted the absence through indisposition of Mr. Thomas Miller, but they welcomed Mr. Wagborn, from London, who was now 85 years of age, and they also had with them Mr. Frank Banks, who celebrated his 80th birthday on the previous day, and had for the last 24 years been their steeple-keeper—an office which he worthily filled (applause). They also had with them Mr. Tom Russam, and Mr. James George, who was continuing to add to his peal record, although in his 75th year, and had now rung 974 peals. They hoped he would get a good way past his thousand before their next annual gathering (applause). Another gentleman, who, although not actually a ringer, was one in spirit, was Mr. Churchwarden Kendall, who celebrated his 79th birthday on the previous Monday. To him also they offered their congratulations and the earnest wish that he might be spared for many years to come. He had honourably served in the office of churchwarden for 40 years, and he hoped he would serve for many more years to come.

ST. MARTIN'S BELLS.

With regard to the progress of the Guild, Alderman Pritchett said that during the year they had rung 28 peals. That was not so many as in some former years, because St. Martin's bells had been out of action for reasons well known to the Church authorities. He thought he was correct in saying that it had been decided to recast and reling the bells; the difficulty was to know who should do it. There were three celebrated firms of bell founders in the country, all of them of equal merit. Their partisans in the committee which had to deal with the matter were equal in number, and no one had yet succeeded in getting a majority (laughter). How it would turn out it was impossible to say, but he was quite certain that whichever of those firms was chosen for the job, it would be done excellently (hear, hear). A notable peal was that at Hereford Cathedral on Easter Monday, and he thought their Guild had established a record for peals on cathedral bells. He only hoped the Guild would be able to ring the first peal on Worcester Cathedral bells when they had been recast and reling. The bells of Worcester Cathedral had been a disgrace for many years, but things were to be put right now, and he hoped their Guild would get the opportunity of ringing the first peal on them. Alderman Pritchett went on to speak of the Masonic peals that had been rung by the Guild, including the first Masonic peal on ten bells at Solihull. They had established a connection between bellringing and freemasonry, and they inoculated Solihull Masons with an interest in

Although Aspenden, Herts, has an old ring of eight—there has been an octave in the tower since 1736—very little peal ringing has been done there. On Saturday week Mr. Challis Winney called what was probably the first peal of Stedman on the bells, but in the ringing chamber there is a board in quite good order, recording the following:—

'October 24th, 1746, was rung here ye first peal of 5.640 Tripples by: Wm. Sanders treble, Geo. Nichols 2, Edw. Pillbrow 3, Sam. Thorp 4, Wm. Wallis 5, Wm. Bruce 6, Tho. Harvey 7, Wm. Green tenor, Ringers of this parish. Ex Dono Gulielmii Freeman Armigeri.'

Mr. F. W. Richardson, who sends us this information, says the only mention he can find of Aspenden is on page 61 of the Rev. F. E. Robinson's book. The bells, which hang the reverse way, are very much out of tune, especially 1, 2, 3, which were added by Robert Phelps in 1736. The original five bells were cast in 1681.

There is a band of seven ringers at this church, and there is a great chance for an instructor. The local men met the visitors, and seemed very keen.

Mr. Richardson would be glad if information about this 1746 peal could be given, as no method is stated, or time or conductor.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.A 'FAREWELL' TO ST. JOHN'S, DEANS GATE.

The monthly meeting of the Manchester Branch was held at St. John's, Deansgate, on Saturday, February 18th, and was well attended, visitors being present from Staffordshire and other branches of the Lanes Association. It was a 'farewell' to St. John's bells, as the church is shortly to be pulled down. The bells were raised shortly after three o'clock, and were kept going till 5.30, when the ringers adjourned to the schoolroom to partake of a splendid tea kindly provided by the church authorities.

At the business meeting, the chair was taken by the Rev. W. Tonge, Rector of St. Matthew's, who is taking charge of the parish when St. John's closes. He gave a hearty welcome to the ringers, and also said how pleased he was to be asked to preside at the meeting, and hoped it would not be the last time if things went aright.

Christ Church, West Didsbury, was chosen for the next meeting on Saturday, March 17th, and a good muster is expected, as these bells have recently been rehung.

The election of Mr. H. G. Jenny, of Leicester, and Mr. W. Dowding, King's Heath, Birmingham, was confirmed.

A collection on behalf of Mr. A. T. Baker ('Ireneus Pistor') realised 22s.

Votes of thanks to the local ringers, church officials, and the chairman, and to all who helped to make a pleasant meeting, were passed with acclamation. The ringers then proceeded to the tower, and further ringing took place till 8.30, when the bells were lowered. This closed the last meeting which will be held here, much to the regret of the ringers.

MUFFLED BELLS.

On Friday, February 3rd, 1,260 of Stedman Triples was rung in 50 mins. at the Bell Foundry Campanile, Loughborough, with bells half-muffled, as a last token of respect to Mrs. Amelia Elizabeth Lane, wife of Richard Lane, an esteemed member of All Saints' Society, Loughborough: H. F. Stubbs 1, J. Saddington 2, J. Huichbay 3, W. Thorley 4, C. Allsopp 5, E. Cartwright 6, E. Reader (conductor) 7, W. Smith 8.

change ringing, which was another illustration of the growing intimacy between the two societies. He referred to a performance which Mrs. Hughes had given with her handbells at a gathering of Scottish Masons that afternoon, and which had been greatly appreciated. Proceeding, Alderman Pritchett mentioned, among the events of the year, the opening of Edgbaston bells and the fraternal gathering of Midland Counties, Sheffield and Birmingham ringers held at Duffield last summer. In conclusion he paid a tribute to the services which Mr. Albert Walker, his Deputy Ringing Master, had rendered to the Guild, and coupled his name with the toast, which was drunk with musical honours.

Mr. Albert Walker was warmly received on rising to respond—a task which, he said, had been thrust upon him by the usefulness of their secretary, Mr. Paddon Smith (laughter). He had been very pleased to be able again to step into the breach while their secretary had been abroad, and he was amply rewarded by seeing around him such a happy gathering. Their presiding Ringing Master had emphasised the social side of their Guild, and he felt sure that the more they could get into touch with each other the better it would be. He hoped they would have many more such gatherings as they had with the Sheffield and Derby ringers.

Other toasts honoured were 'The Visitors,' 'The Ringing World,' and 'The Chairman,' and reports of these speeches will appear in our next issue.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

TONBRIDGE DISTRICT'S SATISFACTORY POSITION.

The annual meeting of the Tonbridge District of the Kent County Association was held at Sevenoaks recently, when the towers represented included Chiddingstone, Tonbridge, Sevenoaks, Lambhurst, Penshurst, Seal Chart, Edenbridge, Tunbridge Wells, Chislehurst, Godstone, Limpsfield, Leigh and Mayfield.

In the afternoon the tower of St. Nicholas, Sevenoaks, was visited and touches of various methods rung. This was followed by a service in the church, conducted by the Rector, the Rev. W. E. Gilliatt, with Mr. W. A. Sayer at the organ. The Rector later presided over the tea at the Lime Tree Hotel. Mr. Gilliatt had to leave early, but before going he was accorded a vote of thanks on the motion of Mr. W. Steed (Tonbridge).

The business part of the meeting was conducted in the St. Nicholas' Parish Room, when Mr. J. B. Rowell (Rector's Warden) presided, accompanied on the platform by Mr. H. Markwell (Tunbridge Wells, secretary pro tem), and Mr. G. Edwards.

Mr. Markwell submitted the annual report, in which it was stated that although there had been no increase of membership it could fairly be said that the district was in a flourishing condition. The various meetings had been well attended, which showed that the members had the interest of change ringing at heart, although one tower had been lost owing to lack of interest on the part of the local ringers. They still had 17 towers and 151 practising members. They had also 5 unattached members and 20 honorary members. They were financially sound, the income for the year being £21 7s., and the expenditure only £6 18s. 6d.

Mr. W. Steed (Tonbridge) moved the re-election as secretary of Mr. W. Latter (Tunbridge Wells), who was unable to be present owing to illness. Mr. Steed remarked that Mr. Latter had served them well for 34 years, and expressed the hope that he would soon be again in his normal health.

Mr. R. Ford (Sevenoaks) seconding, the election was made unanimously.

Messrs. Markwell and Edwards were re-elected representatives on the Central Committee.

Messrs. J. Horton (Penshurst), John Crude (Chiddingstone), F. Oaten (Sevenoaks) and Charles West (Hawkhurst) were elected members, and Messrs. George Spender and Arthur J. Collier (Tonbridge), W. Turley and G. Simmons (Sevenoaks) probationers.

It was agreed that the next annual meeting be at Edenbridge, and that the other meetings be at Brenchley (spring), Penshurst (summer) and Cowden (autumn).

Mr. Rowell was accorded a vote of thanks for presiding, and in acknowledging the vote said that although not an 'expert' he was a member of the county association. In a humorous aside Mr. Rowell said bellringers of to-day were a most respectable body of people, but he did not think that in the olden days they were quite so virtuous, judging by records in belfries and the 'Ringers' rules.' He quoted from these rules such lines as:—

'For every fault a jug of beer,'

and

'If in this place you curse or swear

Sixpence to pay,

For one that swears shall not go free.'

Even the best of us, he said amid laughter, sometimes felt a little that way at times!

CANTERBURY DISTRICT ANNUAL MEETING.

Thirty-three members attended the annual meeting of Canterbury District at Elham on Saturday week, the following towers being represented: Canterbury (St. Nicholas'), Wingham, Brabourne, Lyvinge, Wickham, Littlebourne, Dover, Maidstone, and Elham. The Rev. De Bouchell (Vicar of Elham) conducted the association's form of service in the church. This was followed by tea, held at the King's Arms, the association providing the tea.

The Rev. Canon F. J. O. Helmore presided over the business meeting, when five new practising members were elected, viz.: Mr. W. A. Goodhew, St. Alphege, Canterbury; Mr. R. Webb and Mr. W. Rains, Lyvinge; Mr. A. A. Prett and Mr. A. Ireland, St. Nicholas'. Three hon. members were also elected: Col. Kent, Wickhambreau; Major Norman, Ickham; and Rev. De Bouchell, Vicar of Elham.

The election of officers resulted in the district secretary (Mr. Percy W. Smith) and the two district representatives (Mr. Harrison Smith and Mr. F. Brett) being re-elected.

The quarterly meetings of the district were arranged as follows: Summer meeting, Margate; autumn meeting, Sellinge; and the annual district meeting at Canterbury.

After tea, the ringers adjourned to the belfry, and numerous touches in the usual methods were rung.

MUFFLED RINGING FOR EARL HAIG.

At St. Mary's Church, Lewisham, London, on February 9th, an attempt for a peal of Grandsire Triples, with the bells half-muffled, as a tribute to the late Earl Haig, but owing to a change course after one and a half hours' good ringing, the bells were brought round: H. Warnett, sen. (conductor) 1, C. H. Walker 2, H. Warnett, jun., 3, A. E. Darvill 4, W. W. Fox 5, J. Hurrell 6, J. Dafters 7, C. Moulton 8.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

NEWBURY BRANCH.

A meeting of the Newbury Branch was held at Hampstead Norris on Saturday, February 11th, when the following towers were represented: Bucklebury, Brightwalton, Beedon, East Ilsley, Compton, Newbury, and the local ringers. Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Lock and Mr. G. Caldwell, of Abingdon, were also present. Service was held at 4.30, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. W. A. Lowsley), who gave a very interesting address.

Tea was served in the Memorial Hall at 5 p.m. by Mrs. W. A. Lowsley, assisted by other ladies, when 22 sat down to tea.

The business meeting followed, with the Rev. W. A. Lowsley in the chair, supported by the branch secretary and treasurer (Mr. H. W. Curtis).

Ten new members were elected from Hungerford tower.

The next meeting was fixed for Bucklebury on Saturday, April 21st. Votes of thanks to the Vicar, the organist, and the ladies, for providing the tea, were proposed by the secretary and seconded by Miss S. Davis.

Mrs. Lock and Mr. G. Caldwell then played several tunes on the handbells, which were very much appreciated. The tower was again visited, and touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob and Cambridge Minor were brought round.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE WESTERN DIVISION.

The annual meeting of the above association was held at Lyminster on Saturday, February 18th. There was a representative attendance from Angmering, Arundel, Chichester, Billingshurst, Heene, Shipley, and members of the local band. During the afternoon the bells were kept going to the tune of Grandsire, Stedman Doubles, Kent, Oxford and Cambridge Minor. Tea for members and friends was kindly provided by the Vicar, the Rev. S. P. Duval, at the Parish Rooms. The Vicar also presided at the business meeting which followed, when the following new members were elected: P. Slaughter, of Lyminster, R. Rayner, Itchingfield, Frank Preasy, Peter Powell, and the brothers Albert, Charles, E. J. Percy and W. Merritt, of Shipley.

The following officers were unanimously elected for the ensuing year: A. W. Groves, secretary; Messrs. G. Norris, Tucker and Adams, representatives on the Central Committee; and Messrs. Lindup, Retley and Hills, committee of advice.

It was proposed to hold the next meeting at Billingshurst. After the vote of thanks had been accorded to the Vicar for presiding, for granting the use of the bells, and for providing the excellent tea, the company again visited the belfry for further ringing, the Vicar and curate being interested spectators. It is encouraging to note that Lyminster has now a very keen band of young ringers.

Arundel bells being available, some of the members called there on their way home, and were welcomed by the Rev. C. J. Winn, Stedman and Grandsire Triples and Double Norwich were rung here. Some of the bells do not run quite like tops, but the Vicar stated that the authorities hoped to have them put in order as soon as the funds are available.

Thanks are due to all those who made the local arrangements, and also the ladies who provided for the wants of the visitors at the tea table.

ALL ENGLAND AT CROYDON.

Never in all ringing history has there been anything to approach the scenes and events at Croydon on Saturday last, when the 'All England' ringers' gathering took place at the invitation of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston. It was literally an 'All England' gathering, for every county, almost every association, and hundreds of towers were represented. Ringers came from every part of the country; they found much to instruct and entertain them; much to admire and wonder at; much to talk of and long to remember. Many who were present visited Croydon on that other memorable occasion a year ago; but Saturday's gathering entirely eclipsed its predecessor. The way in which the whole proceedings were arranged and carried out was a triumph of organisation; the exhibits which the visitors were invited to inspect were not merely interesting, they were impressive; and the manner in which the huge concourse were entertained and their comfort and convenience studied was remarkable. For all these things those who took part in the proceedings are deeply indebted to Messrs. Gillett and Johnston.

But this great gathering was more than a mere afternoon's entertainment and pleasure. It was an inspiration, and its results should strike deep into the Exercise. The spirit which pervaded the proceedings was another happy example, on the larger scale, of the brotherhood existing among ringers, and it was a demonstration before the eyes of that revered figure, the Primate of All England, that bellringers are a body of men and women who are deeply interested in their art and are bound together by a common tie far more strongly than the workers in some other departments of the Church. The Archbishop could never before have had brought home to him so strikingly the enthusiasm of those who ring the bells of the churches Sunday by Sunday, and probably a great many ringers themselves realised much more fully than ever before that they form part of an organisation which has real life and is imbued with a spirit and enthusiasm which only needs fanning into flame to carry the Exercise to a position and achievements never yet reached.

There was another respect in which Saturday's gathering was of great value, and that was in demonstrating that our English bell founders are the best in the world. Bells of the quality heard on Saturday can be produced nowhere outside this country, and that is why the Americans, the Belgians and others come here for their carillons. This form of bell music is not typical of England, where we hope our own form of ringing will ever remain in undisputed possession of the field; but it is a gain to the Exercise that our bell founders, with the enterprise and business acumen such as Messrs. Messrs. Where the courses are not marked A or B, either may be rung. Thus, from these compositions, peals may be rung in two or four methods. To reduce to 5,088, omit one set of three calls home. These peals are on the three-lead course plan, and, combined with frequent change of method, should be both musical and interesting to ring.

LINCOLNSHIRE SURPRISE.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I wish to congratulate the Rev. H. Law James for producing the Major, Royal and Maximus, bearing the above name, but, I would like to ask him why he did not give us the Minor?

Perhaps, in the present chaotic position of our knowledge of the laws of extension, it would be very inconvenient and awkward to explain why Cambridge Surprise Minor should become Lincolnshire Surprise when extended to Major, Royal and Maximus.

My personal opinion is, that the Rev. H. Law James has discovered the true extension of Cambridge Surprise Minor, but how we are going to call the method he has now produced 'Cambridge Surprise Major', after ringing something else under that name for over a century, is a very real difficulty. The question is further complicated by the fact that we have already a 'NEW Cambridge Surprise,' also over a hundred years old. Our only way out of the impasse appears to be to use some such title as 'Modern Cambridge Surprise,' but, even this only transfers the onus of ringing out the old and ringing in the modern to a later generation. Let us settle it now if we can.

The method we know as Cambridge Surprise Major has never been really satisfactory, and it is quite safe to assert that, if it were produced to-day, it would be condemned as illegitimate because of four bells laying a whole pull at the same time, when the treble is dodging in 3-4. This defect was recognised quite early in the history of the method, and efforts were made to rectify it. In 1822 New Cambridge was produced by the simple expedient of moving the extreme made by 2 and 6 when the treble is dodging in 3-4, to the cross section where the treble passes from 3-4 to 5-6, thus:—

CAMBRIDGE.	NEW CAMBRIDGE.
2 6 1	2 6 1
6 2 . 1 . . .	6 2 . 1 . . .
6 2 1	2 6 1
2 6 . 1 . . .	6 2 . 1 . . .
6 2 . 1 . . .	6 2 . 1 . . .
2 6 . . 1 . .	2 6 . . 1 . .
2 . 6 . 1 . .	2 . 6 . 1 . .
2 . 6 . . 1 .	2 . 6 . . 1 .
. 2 . 6 . 1 .	. 2 . 6 . 1 .
. . 2 . 6 . 1	. . 2 . 6 . 1

It will be seen that the ultimate effect is exactly the same in both cases, and is quite independent of the operations of the other bells.

Although New Cambridge eased the difficulties of composition, it never really became popular, and to-day it is almost dead. The defect of four whole pulls occurring at the same time was still present, although not quite so obvious. Really, there is no excuse for continuing to ring old Cambridge or New Cambridge, especially now that we have such an excellent alternative.

The Rev. H. Law James has come along, and with a master stroke transferred the extreme which occurs on 2-6, with the treble in 3-4, to a Court shunt (with dodge) on 2-6, with the treble in 5-6. I have previously explained that an extreme is only a particular case of the Court shunt. See now the effect:—

6 2 . 1 . . .
6 . 2 . 1 . .
. 6 . 2 . 1 .
. . 6 2 1 . .
. . 2 6 . 1 .
. . . 6 2 . . 1
. . . 2 6 . . 1
. . . . 2 . 6 . 1

Again, the final effect is exactly the same. Notice how the 2nd's, dodge, lead, of Cambridge becomes 4th's, dodge, 3rd's. At one stroke he has eliminated the four whole pulls occurring at the same time, got rid of an unnecessary Court shunt on 7 and 4, with its attendant false course-end, and eased the difficulties of composition enormously.

If the paragraph on Cambridge Surprise, which occurs in my article on Superlative Surprise in the issue of 'The Ringing World' of January 7th, 1927, is referred to, it will save repetition and perhaps make the matter clearer.

In what the Rev. H. Law James calls 'Lincolnshire Surprise Major' four pairs of bell Court shunt in the half-lead, each of which is neutralised by a Court shunt on the same pairs of bells in the second half-lead.

The bells Court shunting are 46 and 87 above the treble, 26 and 85 below the treble. With plain hunting, the half-lead-end is 86745231. If we apply these shunts successively in their proper order, first all those above the treble and then all those below the treble, remembering that the effect of a Court shunt is to make the two bells concerned change places with one another, the result will be the order of the bells at the half-lead-end. Thus:—

Plain hunting produces 86745231,
+ Court shunt on 46 produces 84765231,
+ Court shunt on 87 produces 74865231,
+ Court shunt on 26 produces 74825631,
+ Court shunt on 85 produces 74528631,

which is the half-lead-end of the method.

It will be noticed that the 3rd has not taken part in any of these shunts. It is therefore necessary that the 3rd should make 7th's place under the treble at the half-lead-end, so that it will be in the same positions relative to the treble in both half-leads.

In Royal the Court shunt on 26 is delayed until the treble dodges in 7-8, and in Maximus it is further delayed until the treble dodges in 9-0.

In Major each Court shunt is responsible for a false course-end, so that there are four false course-ends. Old Cambridge Surprise Major has five Court shunts, and therefore five false course-ends. To show that the Court shunts govern the false course-ends, examine the following variation of Cambridge, where the four whole pulls acting at the same time have been got rid of by adding an extra dodge to the treble in 3-4 to separate the Court shunts.

	12463587
	21648375	Court shunt on 46.
	26143857
Extreme on 26	62418375
	26418375
	62148735
	26417853	Court shunt on 87.
	26748153
	27641835
	72468153
	27648513	Court shunt on 85.

Although an extra dodge is added to the treble in 3-4, we still have the same false course-ends, as Cambridge, Major, without addition or alteration. We are still tied to Middleton's peal, but because of the longer courses we need no more than 21 for a peal, and as a result there are more variations to the peal.

		46	87
Major		26	85
	46		80	97
Royal		26	95
	46	80	te	97
Maximus		26	95

The progression is regular and constant.—Yours truly,

W. TAYLOR.

LANTERN LECTURE IN ST. MARGARET'S, LEICESTER.

AN APPEAL FOR THE BELFRY RESTORATION.

On Thursday evening, February 2nd, by kind permission of the Lord Bishop of Leicester. Mr. Ernest Morris, general hon. sec. of the Midland Counties Association, gave a most interesting lantern lecture in St. Margaret's Church, entitled, 'Famous bells, bellringing and carillons.' The fine peal of 12 bells were rung before the lecture, and ringers were present from Anstey, Belgrave, Billesdon, Croft, Chilvers Coton, Hinckley, Ratby, St. Saviour's, Syston, and the two Wigstons. The lecturer showed a goodly array of slides of bells the world over, covering Russia, China, Spain, South Africa, France, and carillons from Holland and Belgium. In the midst of the lecture, a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells in front of the chancel by C. H. Webb 1-2, E. R. Whitehead 3-4, E. Morris 5-6, J. Morris 7-8, during which a collection was made towards the belfry restoration fund. The lecturer then continued, and finished with a photo of St. Margaret's Church, giving a brief history of its building in 1444, and the gradual evolution of the bells from a heavy four to the present 'fine ring of twelve. He explained that the ringers had undertaken the restoration of the belfry, giving all their funds to the purpose, and doing all the work of erecting a new ceiling, stripping and repointing the walls. They now wanted a new floor to make a worthy belfry to a worthy church. Still a few more pounds are needed to complete this scheme, and an appeal is made to all those friends who have had the opportunity of ringing here, or who admire the bells. Any donation, however small, will be gratefully received by Mr. E. Morris, 24, Coventry Street, Leicester.

MARRIAGE OF A DARLINGTON RINGER.

On Saturday, February 4th, the marriage took place of Mr. Norman Park, a member of the Holy Trinity band, at Holy Trinity Church. The Vicar, the Rev. Canon Cosgrave, officiated, and as the happy couple were leaving the church, the bells were rung in the rounds and 'fired.' Later, touches of Kent Treble Bob Minor and Bob Minor were rung. The ringers then proceeded to the church mission room, where a reception was held. The Rev. H. Sharpe, curate of Holy Trinity, proposed the health of 'The bride and bridegroom,' which was replied to on their behalf by Mr. W. H. Porter, who in the course of his remarks gave some kind and useful advice, which should be highly encouraging to Mr. Park in his ringing outlook.

On Wednesday evening, February 8th, in the belfry at Holy Trinity Church, an eight-day mantelpiece clock in oak case, the gift of his ringing friends, on the occasion of his marriage, was presented to Mr. Norman Park.

Mr. W. H. Porter said that to make the presentation to Mr. Norman Park gave him very great pleasure, as it took his thoughts back to about 25 years ago, when he took part in the ringing for Mr. Park's father's wedding. He hoped the gift would remind Mr. Park of the happy hours he had spent in the belfry in the past, and the happy hours he would be able to spend in the future.

Mr. Park thanked the ringers for their kindness in making him a present, and assured them that the belfry would still have his first consideration.

The Rev. H. Sharp said that he could not understand the sound, good fellowship which was to be found amongst bellringers. It appeared to be of a kind that one rarely found in other social institutions. They must be men of great patience, seeing how difficult it was to get a move on with learners. He thanked the ringers for their kindness to him, as far as he had got in the art of ringing.

Mr. C. Todd, ex-president of the Durham and Newcastle Association, wished Mr. Park and his wife many years of health and happiness, and hoped he would get much enjoyment from ringing. A touch of London Surprise Minor was rung on the bells, and the proceedings concluded.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The ring of six at Worthen, Salop, which have been rehung by Messrs. Taylor and Co., are to be rededicated by the Bishop of Hereford to-morrow (Saturday), at 7 p.m. All ringers will be welcomed.

The first peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor in Devon has been rung by a resident band of the Devon Guild, and conducted by the president. It is another milestone in the history of ringing in Devon, and will delight no one more than that pioneer of change ringing in Drake's country—the Rev. Maitland Kelly.

Mr. Harry Withers, who was performing on Saturday on the carillon at Croydon Foundry, recently opened a carillon for Messrs. Gillett and Johnston in Scotland. It is reported that he was to be seen in kilts, following the occupation of a Scotsman who walked about with his mouth open, because there was a nip in the air.

Among the visitors to Croydon on Saturday was Mr. Kelly, of St. Patrick's Cathedral company, Dublin.

Three generations of one family took part in the peal of Grandsire Triples at Tunstall, Kent, on 'leap year day.' They were the 'Spice' of the band.

To-morrow is the anniversary of one of those early long peals which helped to make ringing history. On March 10th, 1784, the College Youths rang a peal of 7,008 Oxford Treble Bob Maximus at Southwark, the record length of 'Twelve-in' at that time.

The first peal of Treble Twelve had been rung by the College Youths on the same bells 26 years before—to be exact, a hundred and seventy years ago next Monday.

Another memorable anniversary occurs next week, for it was on March 14th, 1727, that the first peal was rung on the bells at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields. This was a 6,006 Grandsire Cinques by the London Scholars.

BELLS OF ST. MARY'S, STAINES. FUNDS WANTED FOR RESTORATION.

The bells of the Parish Church of St. Mary, Staines, are unsafe and require overhauling at an estimated cost of £214. An appeal has been issued for funds, and £119 has been subscribed, with the promise of £14 when the £200 has been raised.

The bells were cast at the foundry of Messrs. Mears and Stainbank in 1734, so it is not to be wondered at that the bearings, etc., want attention. Although the bells themselves are sound, they are dangerous to ring.

The Parish Church is very poor and can only just meet expenses, so an appeal is made to all interested in campanology, as well as to the townspeople towards the cost of putting them right.

Donations will be acknowledged, and should be sent to Mr. W. Lloyd, parochial hon. treasurer, Bridge Street, the Vicar or churchwardens.

'PRACTICE AT A PENNY A NIGHT.' AMERICAN IDEAS OF ENGLISH RINGERS.

The 'Christian Science Monitor,' published in Boston, U.S.A., had a long article in a recent issue dealing with the Boston Guild and a photograph of some of the ringers in the tower, among them, in addition to Mrs. Shurtleff, being Mr. Richard Newton, formerly of Manchester.

The report speaks of the formation of the Guild by the late Dr. A. H. Nicholls, and endeavours to describe change ringing. It also refers to the formation of the College Youths—information evidently gained from an interview with Mrs. Shurtleff, but, unfortunately, for strict accuracy, rather garbled. For instance, the article concluded thus:—

'It takes approximately three hours to ring a peal which, on the 5,041 ring, brings the ringers around to the scale once more. There have been famous records in peals, some of them taking 24 hours and more to complete. There are many Guilds of bellringers in England—the Guilds of Cumberland and Middlesex Youths; and the Guilds are practically always known as "Youths," though their members have generally passed the three-score mark in years.

'Mrs. Shurtleff did not know how long it would take to bring change ringing into the state of popularity now enjoyed, for instance, by the carillon, which is comparatively new to the United States, because change ringing requires much practice, and while there are always excellent sets of bells available for the practice they are usually in belfries in thickly settled neighbourhoods, whose residents do not welcome hearing the bells for several hours at a time when there is no holiday.

'The chief advantage of the great bell towers in England and the opportunity they presented for the practice of bellringers practically whenever they wished to practice—and the prevailing price is 1d. a practice period, scrupulously paid to the parish—is that the towers are in general much higher over the square, and partly by reason of this, partly because generations of English people have been familiar with the sound of the bells and think no more of it than the usual audible accompaniments to life.

'So the bellringers of England are free to practice three or four nights a week at a penny a night, and no complaints are made by the community. Mrs. Shurtleff spoke particularly of one famous peal of 40,000 strokes rung on eight bells, "and the English neighbours liked it."

'ALL ENGLAND' GATHERING AT CROYDON.

RECORD ASSEMBLY OF RINGERS.

GREAT CONCOURSE ADDRESSED BY THE ARCHBISHOP OF CANTERBURY.

There was a remarkable response on Saturday to the invitation extended to the ringers of England by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, to visit the Croydon Bell Foundry, where they have recently completed the largest bell ever cast in England, and the biggest in the world that has ever been tuned. No fewer than 2,400 people, almost all of them ringers, made the journey to Croydon, coming from nearly 450 towers; and they had a marvellously interesting day. They saw for themselves the great progress that has been and is still being made in the bell founder's craft, and found on exhibition the largest 'ring' of ten bells that has ever been assembled. Coupled with this there was on view, among many other things of interest, a completed carillon, upon which demonstrations were given, and they enjoyed the hospitality of the firm extended with a generous hand. The gathering was given added importance by the presence of the Primate of All England—sufficient in itself to make it a memorable occasion—and the evening was spent in merriment.

As was briefly explained in our last issue, the bells which were the principal attraction in the foundry are to be added to the carillon shipped to America about two years ago for the Park Avenue Church. A new church on Riverside is now to contain these bells, the former carillon of 55 having four larger and five smaller bells added, bringing the total up to 64. Previously the heaviest bell was 9½ tons; the new bass is 18½ tons, and its size and tone must be seen and heard to be fully appreciated. Another attraction was a carillon, the gift of two doctors of Rochester, Minnesota, U.S.A., to the Male Clinic in that city, and will be dedicated to the American soldiers. It is the duplicate of one sent to Toronto University, which was dedicated last October.

TUNING THE GIANT.

The 18½ ton Bourdon Bell on the Tuning Machine with Mr. C. F. Johnston inspecting his handiwork.

These and other attractions brought together a record gathering of ringers, many of whom began their pilgrimage to Croydon on Friday, when those travelling from the most distant parts of the country left their homes for the Metropolis. On Saturday morning large numbers made their way to Clapham Park to ring on the very tuneful peal of eight bells at St. Stephen's Church, the first peal which Messrs. Gillett and Johnston installed after the war. The bells of Croydon Parish Church were also open, and here the visitors found heavier metal to pull on, but they enjoyed it to the full.

A TOUR OF THE WORKS.

The works' doors opened about 1.30 to admit the visitors, who, from that time onward, arrived by train, bus and tram continuously for the next two and a half hours. Although about 2,500 people passed through the works, so well had the arrangements been made, that there was no serious congestion, and everybody was able to see all that was on view in comparative comfort.

In the first great shop, where, for the moment, the numerous lathes and other machinery were silent, the chief object of interest was the carillon for Rochester, U.S.A., towering aloft in its massive frame, with the large bells (the bass is $3\frac{1}{2}$ tons) hanging at or just above ground level, so that a close inspection could be made. 'Up in the sky,' as it were, were the smaller bells, but there are no really tiny ones in this carillon of 23, which covers two chromatic octaves with the exception of the two lowest semitones. The carillon, although limited in its compass, provided a complete illustration of modern equipment.

The bells hang in their frame of steel and iron, their clappers are connected with the clavier, the manual which for centuries has been the keyboard of the artists who have made this form of music the national music of Holland and Belgium. It is by the clavier still that expression can best be imparted to a carillon, and no mechanical device yet invented can fully rival the touch and the life given to the bells by an accomplished carillonneur. But carillonneurs are born, not made, and in countries like America, where carillons are only now beginning to find favour, expert players are not always to be found. Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, however, have overcome this difficulty in two ways. They have a dual device which enables a carillon to be played from a keyboard resembling a piano keyboard, or automatically on a principle somewhat similar to that of the pianola.

At the base of the Rochester carillon was to be seen a complicated-looking piece of mechanism—complicated, that is, to the uninitiated, but in reality so simple that it is hardly likely to get out of order. It is the electro-pneumatic control. When the representative of 'The Ringing World' pressed a button marked 'Start,' there was a quiet whirr as the electro motor gathered speed, and a needle on a pressure gauge sprang to life, responding to the rising pressure of air in a large cylinder. At 20lb., reached in a very short space of time, the piano keyboard could be operated, and any music within the compass of the carillon could be played, the bells responding immediately to a light touch on the notes.

Without being too technical, it may be explained that levers and wires connect the hammer of each bell to a small pneumatic chamber, the air pressure in which is maintained by the supply from the large cylinder. When a key is depressed, electric contact is formed, and a valve is opened which liberates air from the chamber, and in this way the levers are operated and the clapper strikes the bell. Pressure on another button puts the motor out of action. While the bells are in the tower, the keyboard could be a mile away, if desired.

The automatic player is controlled by a special switch. A paper roll is inserted, with small slots which mark the notes. As the paper passes over a roller, so a copper finger comes into contact with the roller beneath, wherever a slot occurs. The finger touching the roller completes the electric circuit, and the particular bell in the carillon is struck by the same means as if the keyboard were used. It is all very ingenious, and is another proof of what our bell foundry are doing to keep pace with the times. This particular mechanism has been developed entirely in Messrs. Gillett and Johnston's works, and, what is also interesting, is the fact that the paper rolls are actually cut on the premises.

In this first shop, also, was part of the huge girder frame which will be installed in Riverside Church, to take the completed carillon, when the bells from Park Avenue are wedded to those now at Croydon into one great whole.

More commonplace to ringers was the peal of eight bells for Houghton-le-Spring, Durham, hung in their new steel and iron H frame. The tenor is 12 cwt., and to the old six two trebles have been added.

Passing upstairs, visitors had the opportunity of inspecting the carpenters' shop and part of the clock factory, where, among other things of interest, were clocks in various stages of construction, and the 'master clocks' for electrical clock installations.

BELLS, BELLS, BELLS!

The foundry was the next department on the tour of the works. Here the gigantic furnaces, each capable of holding many tons of metal, the great ovens for drying the moulds, the mighty copes which form the outside section of the moulds, and the other things incidental to the actual casting of the bells were on view. Then a peep was permitted into a tuning shop, where one might come to close quarters with the machine that puts the Simpson harmonics into a bell—or would it be more correct to say removes all superfluous bell and leaves the Simpson harmonics?

Everywhere, as one passed round the extensive works, bells were to be seen, from tiny ten-pounders (or less) for the top end of small carillons, to the $18\frac{1}{2}$ ton giant, enthroned in his frame in what is known in the foundry as 'the cathedral.'

But before going on to describe the climax of the visit, let us look around at some of these bells, bearing in mind incidentally that there were in the foundry on Saturday bells covering—with the exception of one semitone—six full chromatic octaves—a collection such as never before has been brought together in one building. There were bells in all sorts of stages of production, from a $2\frac{1}{2}$ ton bell just out of the mould, with all its surface blemishes waiting to be removed when the tuning machine gets down to its job, to the finished article ready to take its place in steeple or carillon. One interesting carillon was that of 32 bells for the Regal Cinema, London, which leads the way in an entirely new departure. It is to form part of the most ambitious organ ever designed by an English organ builder, and its place in the instrument will be so perfectly controlled that the effects of the bells are likely to be a reminder of fairyland. The bass bell is $6\frac{1}{2}$ cwt., and the carillon will be operated on the electro-pneumatic plan from the organ keyboard by means of stops.

By contrast, one saw some of the great bells intended for Louvain. This is to be a magnificent carillon of 48 bells, which will be placed in the new Louvain University that is to be opened on July 4th by the King of the Belgians. The University is the gift of America, and the bells are given by four American engineering societies, who, with the knowledge of what the Croydon firm have done in the way of carillons, placed the order with Messrs. Gillett and Johnston without competition.

A relic almost of veneration was on view. It was a bell cast in 1655 by Hemony, and so perfectly tuned by that old master that it would be difficult to improve upon it. An examination of the interior showed that the tool used for its tuning must have been much the same as those at present in use. The lines showed horizontally round the bell, and though the appliances used must, of course, have been very primitive compared with the complicated and efficient machinery of to-day, the bell had evidently been on a lathe of some kind. The bell, although nearly 300 years old, has retained its tune and its tone, and offers a proof that those who argue that 'skimmed' bells will not retain their tone and quality are wrong.

'THE ENTHRONED KING.'

And then, at last, the visitors arrived at the ultimate object of their tour. In the new great tuning shop, where is to be found the biggest bell-tuning machine in the world, a machine which can deal with a bell up to 30 tons in weight, they came upon the ten largest bells in the factory. Along two sides were ranged nine upturned giants, the 'baby' of the family being a little chap weighing $1\frac{1}{2}$ tons. In succession came the brothers and sisters, increasing in size and weight until the 6th was $5\frac{1}{2}$ tons, the 7th about 8 tons, the 8th about $11\frac{1}{2}$ tons, and the 9th a low D, $13\frac{1}{2}$ tons. And then the enthroned king, a magnificent regal monster, swinging in his great frame of massive iron and steel. Mere statistics hardly convey the conception of this mighty bell's appearance, nor can words describe what its tone was like when it fell upon the ear, with deep, solemn roar.

Apart from its qualities as a bell, the casting itself is an artistic product. Upon the waist are four lifesize figures, representing angels. These were designed by an eminent American sculptor, and the casts shipped to England for the bell. Round the sound-bow is the inscription:—

'This bell, together with low D, D sharp and F, also certain treble bells, was added to the Laura A. Speiman Rockefeller carillon when the carillon was removed from the Park Avenue Baptist Church to the Riverside Church, New York, 1928 A.D. For the first time in history a carillon compass of five octaves is here achieved and exceeded.'

Time and again, as visitors passed round the works, they had heard the deep low boom of this bell in the distance; but they waited with expectant awe to see the giant in actual operation. Two or three men put all their strength into the heavy rope that, carried over pulleys, enabled the bell to be swung, and soon the cavernous mouth began to swing higher and still higher, while the enormous counter-balanced tongue moved the faster until at length it met the bell at the top of its swing, and a roar like a sudden, great chord from a huge organ struck the ear, and the vibration of it could literally be felt through one's body. It is the greatest bell sound that has ever been heard in England—a perfect blending of all those mysterious characteristics which in modulation of tone and accuracy of pitch go to make the perfect bell. That great Bourdon was, both in sound and appearance, the admiration of every one of the 2,500 ringers who heard and saw it. The bell has a diameter of $122\frac{1}{2}$ inches, and is 8 ft. 9 in. high. Its clapper weighs 9 cwt., and with the headstock the total weight is 25 tons.

It is hung on ball bearings, in a frame weighing $14\frac{1}{2}$ tons, and is so beautifully adjusted that actually one man can swing it. But it is also fitted with two wheels and electric apparatus, especially designed to ring the bell automatically. The $9\frac{1}{2}$ ton E and $5\frac{1}{2}$ ton G bells, both in New York already, are also being hung in ringing frames, and will be operated in the same way.

Bourdon dwarfs the nine other members of the family who go to make up a minor ring of ten (No. 8 is E flat instead of the usual E in such a peal). The E bell is already in New York, being the $9\frac{1}{2}$ ton bass bell of the original carillon). But had it not been for Bourdon, the magnitude of the other bells on view would have been better realised. They seemed almost insignificant against Bourdon, yet the biggest were comparable with the previous largest bells cast in this country. Big Ben and Great Paul are the only two bells in England heavier than the 8th and 9th of this Brobdingnagian peal, the total weight of which is 67½ tons. They are not all destined for the same tower. When they leave the foundry they will part, never to meet again. The four back bells are going to augment the Riverside carillon, the next three are for a carillon at Cohasset, near Boston, Mass., and the three top bells are for Louvain.

CATERS ON THE HEAVIEST RING.

Standing mouth uppermost, they had had fitted for them a special clapping arrangement, with bell rope attached, so that they could be chimed, and their massive tones were heard frequently during the afternoon in courses of 'Original' Caters. This was done by a band of Middlesex Association ringers, whose operations were watched with interest by the spectators who thronged the works. The ringers were Messrs. C. T. Coles, C. W. Roberts, C. H. Kippen, G. R. Pye, F. I. Hairs, G. H. Cross, A. W. Coles, E. P. Duffield, W. Pye and D. Cooper.

Quarter chimes, which were similar to those which will be heard over New York, were demonstrated. At Riverside, they will be operated by a great electric clock, which Messrs. Gillett and Johnston are constructing, and will chime either 'Parsifal' or 10-bell change quarters. The hour will be struck on the Bourdon with a 9 cwt. hammer. It will be the most powerful clock in existence, having a reserve power equal to double that of 'Big Ben.'

In addition to the demonstrations with the big bells, there were other activities in the foundry. The back six of the Houghton-le-Soring peal (having false harmonics) were rung, followed by six bells of similar weight and pitch from the Rochester carillon, with accurate five-tone harmonic tuning, by way of contrast; and the marked difference in the effect must have made an impression upon any who were wavering in their opinions.

The back diatonic ten of the Rochester carillon were chimed in courses of Treble Ten and Erin Caters by Mr. Harry Withers, of Birmingham, and fine recitals were given on the carillon by Miss Nora Johnston, who is easily the leading lady carillonneur—or should it be carillonneuse?—in the world, and Mr. Clifford Ball, the carillonneur of Bourneville. Many favourite songs were included in the recital, and visitors were charmed not only by the skill with which the pieces were executed, but by the delightful effects of the bell music.

There were a number of distinguished visitors during the afternoon, including the Duke of Argyll, the Bishop of Guildford, the Mayor and Mayoress of Croydon. They were all deeply interested in what was to be seen and heard, and, like the less illustrious folk, doubtless spent an instructive time.

Mr. Johnston had, most happily, been able also to secure the attendance of the Archbishop of Canterbury and Mrs. Randall Davidson. They arrived soon after four o'clock, and were received by Mr. Johnston, who conducted them round the foundry. Both showed the greatest interest in the products of the factory, watched with evident pleasure the performance of Miss Johnston on the carillon, and were afterwards photographed in front of the great bell. The Archbishop being invited by the battery of camera men to hold the bell rope.

In the course of the afternoon, as the visiting ringers completed their tour of the foundry, they found a service of private omnibuses at their disposal to take them to the Parish Church and to St. Peter's Church, where they enjoyed short touches on the bells. Soon after half-past four o'clock the great halls began to fill for the 'tea party,' and, despite the size of the company, so well had the catering arrangements been made that everybody was comfortably accommodated and quickly fed.

In the Baths Hall, Mr. Johnston presided at the principal table, and was supported by the Archbishop and Mrs. Randall Davidson, his mother, Mrs. Johnston, the Bishop of Guildford, Canon G. F. Coleridge (President of the Central Council), Canon E. S. Woods (Vicar of Croydon), the Mayor and Mayoress of Croydon, the Duke of Argyll, Miss Nora Johnston, Sir Frank and Lady Newnes, Capt. Bennett, V.C., etc. Each table had a separate hostess, who looked after the needs of her guests, and the meal passed off merrily. As soon as tea was over, a band of ready helpers cleared the tables to make room for the company from the other halls, no fewer than four buildings having had to be engaged to accommodate the big party. While this movement was in progress, the guests were entertained by Miss Johnston and Mr. Ball, who gave a recital on the smallest carillon in the world, which was tucked away in a corner of the platform. It consists of 32 bells, with a bass of only 1 cwt., and its shrill notes filled the great hall to an almost overpowering extent. The bell tuner's greatest difficulty is the very small bells, but Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, in this tiny carillon, have shown what can be done by the application of scientific principles.

AN EXTRAORDINARY OCCASION.

When the massed company had assembled,

Mr. CYRIL JOHNSTON said: This is an extraordinary occasion. This is a great gathering of ringers from every corner of this country of England and Wales, from 435 belfries, represented by 41 of the 45 county associations and diocesan Guilds, including 21 ringing clergymen and 71 ringing ladies (applause). I cannot pretend that you have all come to Croydon to-day to see the big bell, because we are honoured by the presence of his grace the Archbishop of Canterbury and Mrs. Randall Davidson (applause). I have tried to find one or two historical facts, and I find that the Archbishop who was primate for the longest period was Archbishop Warren, who held that post for 32 years, from 1503 to 1535, and the next to hold the longest record in the tenure of that office is our present Primate (applause). Another extraordinary and most interesting thing is that he celebrates the 25th year of his tenure of the office this year. I understand also that he celebrates his 80th birthday in three or four weeks' time, and that next November he and Mrs. Randall Davidson will celebrate their golden wedding (applause). If my staff, my family and I have had a hand in bringing together the greatest concourse of ringers ever held to offer their felicitations in advance to his Grace and Mrs. Randall Davidson, then, indeed, we are highly honoured (applause). I will call on his Grace to address you (applause).

THE ARCHBISHOP'S ADDRESS.

The ARCHBISHOP OF CANTERBURY, who was received with loud and prolonged cheers, said: I cannot help telling you how deeply I am impressed by the sight of this great assembly here to-night, and all that it means in the way of a gathering of people responsible for something that matters intensely in the life of our country to-day. We simple folk who do not understand or know the inside either of the making of a bell or of belfry work in the ringing of bells, have had to-day a time of excitement and marvel. We have looked at the outcome of the handicraft of great artificers, who are producing bells of a very wonderful kind to ring both on this side of the Atlantic and the other, as well as in what we have regarded as one of the homes of bells, Belgium and Holland across the seas. The making of a big bell is a mystery wholly beyond the vision of many hundreds and thousands of those who ring, and certainly outside the range of almost all those who do not, and we have stood in awe, literally, before the magnitude of what we have seen as a work accomplished and of the production of such results as are now happily possible in our own motherland. I wish God-speed to the artificers and to their handiwork—a handiwork that is meant to have a character of its own in the bell messages throughout this motherland. The ringing of bells is not so recent an art as the making of a bell. I look round this hall, and I imagine there are few here who could not give me an expert lesson as to how to carry on the craft of ringing bells. This is carried on in every part of England and Wales, but it remains to outsiders like myself a marvellous mystery. We amateurs talk in a glib and easy way about a peal of bells, or ringing a peal, but I am told that to ring a peal with the greatest number of bells which you use—that is, the maximum for a peal of twelve bells—would take 479 million years (laughter). I am afraid that is not quite correct. There are 479 million changes, which would take thirty-seven years to ring. At a time when modern science is bringing to our knowledge and within the range of our hearing or our learning a vast number of things which until a little while ago were not within hearing or touch, one wonders what it may come to when bellringing reaches its perfection and wireless communication and broadcasting reach perfection. We constantly in this country hear Big Ben—I am not speaking of the merits or demerits of Big Ben as a big bell—and the other day it was heard simultaneously in London, in America, in South Africa and in Australia, and one begins to wonder what that means, as ingenuity increases in the realm of sound communication throughout the world. We are only taking hold of something which has existed all along, but it is an immense thought for bellringers, as an example of what happens in our common life, of something which we can put out in the way of leadership, or a message, or stimulus, or sympathy.

THE RESPONSIBILITY OF BELLRINGING.

All these things come with our bells and spread far beyond where we have any knowledge and far beyond anything we can dream of to-day. You know well what is the responsibility belonging to bellringing in the land: it is a message which goes out of cheer, of sympathy, or, it may be, of guidance, into all kinds of homes. Wedding bells, or the passing bell, Easter bells or Christmas bells or new year's bells—all have their own message, and the responsibility of bringing that message to those to whom it is sent is surely a gigantic one; and when I look round this hall and think how that responsibility is concentrated in this gathering, it makes one thank God and take courage (applause). We wish success and God-speed to the great craftsmen and the outcome of their craft, and we think of what it will mean for those to whom the message goes, and the responsibilities of those who hold the bell ropes in sending that message in the hope that the hearts, the sympathies and the conscience of a great many men and women may be stimulated thereby. I have heard people say that the ringing of the great bell at St. Paul's Cathedral at four o'clock every day is literally looked forward to as something indicative of the highest things towards the close of the day's work. In this and in other ways you know probably better than I do, because you are often talking about it and often in touch with those who tell you how much the sound of the bells means to them, you are responsible for doing something that does really matter for the well-being of your country and the world. I should like to say, then, to Mr. Johnston and others engaged in the craft, how grateful we are to those who make these things practicable in our common life, and, I believe, infinitely fruitful of good (applause). I should like to say one word to you of welcome to Croydon, which is in my own diocese, and welcome you to a place that is a centre of so much that you care about, and to wish you God-speed in your work in the days to come (applause).

MAYORAL WELCOME.

The MAYOR OF CROYDON, in a speech of welcome to the ringers, said he had lived in Croydon for a long while, but he did not think he had ever seen anything quite like that gathering. And not only that; he thought they should thank Mr. Johnston for the fact that, with his helpers, he had produced that enormous bell which they had seen that day—the largest bell that had ever been produced in this country, and which redounded not only to his credit but also, if he might claim it, to the credit of Croydon itself (applause). Croydon, as they knew, was a very large town, but it was made much more important than it otherwise would be by the work which was turned out by the Gillett and Johnston Foundry (applause). Just imagine what size Croydon would reach if they had several people with the ability to stamp their mark on the whole of the world and be recognised in the way in which wanted them to know, having come from all parts of the country, that the old saying that a prophet was without honour in his own country did not apply as far as Mr. Cyril Johnston was concerned (applause). He had known Mr. Cyril Johnston a long time, and when the Archbishop had kindly come there to show honour to Mr. Johnston, he (the Mayor) felt justified in giving that same honour, speaking on behalf of the town of Croydon (applause). He did want to tell them how proud and glad they were, and how deeply they were indebted to his Grace for coming to the town and saying such nice things about them and their esteemed citizen, Mr. Johnston (applause).

CROYDON AND THE ARCHBISHOP.

CANON WOODS said he desired to add a word or two to the welcome and appreciation which the Mayor had already spoken. The Mayor had spoken in the name of the whole community of Croydon. He (Canon Woods) would like to speak as Vicar of the parish in which they were at that moment assembled, and, on his own behalf and that of his brother clergy, to offer them a welcome. He was also proud in their name, and in that of the religious community of Croydon, to welcome that great man and great Christian leader, the Archbishop of Canterbury (applause). There might possibly be some of them in that room who hardly realised that they were in the diocese of Canterbury, but it was true that Croydon was an island, separated geographically rather a long way from their cathedral, their mother church, and their Archbishop, but they appreciated their connection and were proud of it. There might be others who did not realise the long and intimate connection there had been between the Archbishops of Canterbury and Croydon. For 900 years the Archbishops of Canterbury had had the closest connection with that place. Archbishop Langfranc, in the 10th century, was the first Archbishop who had a residence in Croydon, and for many centuries the Archbishops had their residence just by the old Parish Church. It was a great ancient and honoured link, of which they in Croydon were very proud. Croydon had always been proud of its Archbishops, and he took leave to say that it had never been prouder than it was to-day (applause). Continuing, the Vicar said he would like to add his very cordial thanks and appreciation to Mr. Johnston and his family and firm for their very generous and public-spirited action that day (applause). The sights and sounds which they had seen and heard in that great bell foundry would remain for many a year in their memory. It had been of extraordinary interest to see and hear that wonderful great bell of 18½ tons, and then they had had in those halls one of the biggest tea parties that it had ever been their good fortune to attend (applause). They were very grateful both to the Archbishop for coming among them and to Mr. Johnston and his family and firm for all they had done for them that afternoon. Canon Woods concluded by saying that he was pleased to meet so many bellringers, and he hoped they would sometimes think of what bellringing really meant. They lived in days that were not altogether easy, but they looked for better times to come, and he hoped, as they pulled their ropes Sunday by Sunday, that, after all, it was as Tennyson said, they were ringing out the old, ringing in the new, ringing in the Christ that is to be (applause).

MR. JOHNSTON'S THANKS.

MR. JOHNSTON: It is very difficult for me to do justice to all the kind words that have been said by his Grace, by the Mayor and by the Vicar. You can imagine what it must mean to our staff, to my mother, my sister and myself, to hear from his Grace's own lips his gracious appreciation of to-day's sights and of our tea party. As far as the Mayor is concerned, I have been thinking, while he was speaking, that if I had a very expensive post to offer to a first-class publicity man, I could not do better than engage the Mayor (laughter and applause). On the other hand, I do appreciate, and I know my staff do very deeply, all the things he has said about us and our work. With reference to the Vicar, I do not know what to say. He has not been in Croydon very long, but he made his mark directly he got here. I could tell you a lot of things about him, but I do not think I will (laughter). At any rate, the Prince of Wales, in a speech this week, has been reported as saying that 'C' is the favourite initial letter of the manufactures of Worcester. I should like to tell you that 'B' is the favourite letter of the manufactures of Croydon—bells, beer, bells and Bishops (laughter and applause). Bell foundries have many ramifications to unravel, just as ringers have. The bell founder, if he wants work to fill his factory, has to visit certain places to find out how to secure the contract. When he goes to a village or a town—I am now going to tell you one or two secrets, because we are all friends here, and I know they won't go any further (laughter)—when he visits a village or town where the bells are to be restored or some new ones added, his first job is this: he need not bother about measuring the bells or the tower; he has got to find out whether the key to the situation is the duke, or the village blacksmith, or the Rector's wife (laughter and applause). 'The Ringing World' told us last week that we are living in a time of boom in bell restorations. It looks as though we are, and, fortunately, we are only repeating history. Three hundred years ago, when better methods of casting and tuning were known than for long afterwards, methods which have been rediscovered and improved upon in this country in recent years—the progress of the bell founding industry is going hand in hand with the progress made in the art of change ringing—three hundred years ago the Hemony brothers of Amsterdam, who were the greatest

The Archbishop, Mrs. Davidson, the Mayor of Croydon, the Vicar of Croydon, and Canon Coleridge in front of the great bell.

Gillett and Johnston had been recognised (applause). He had been thinking how it was that this infinite capacity of Mr. Johnston had been allowed the play it had, and he could not help remembering that his father was a very prominent member of the Town Council for some years. He must have been proud of Croydon, because he worked so well for it, and his son had followed in his footsteps as far as business men were concerned (applause). He did not know that it was his place as Mayor to invite him to follow his father on the Council, but he would promise him this, that if he would only do that he would get such a welcome as they were giving him that day. They wanted men of whom they could be proud, and when they found such a gathering as that, brought together practically by the commercial genius and the love for his work which Mr. Johnston must have, he could not imagine any better person to help the town in other directions (hear, hear). But in saying that, he did not wish him to sacrifice anything he was doing in his business, or to give up time necessary to its maintenance for municipal work, which they lesser lights could see to in the meantime (laughter and applause). He said this because he masters of their art—until the present day (laughter)—turned out 50 carillons in 40 years. The output of the Croydon Foundry in the last five years had been 25 carillons, and it is perhaps interesting to note that whereas in 1913 and 1919 the output of bells was actually 36 in number, weighing 16 tons; the output of bells last year rose to 400 in number, weighing 200 tons (applause). You may think we are all for progress. We are! We are for progress all the time, and yet I have the greatest respect and love for historical things. There is a bell in the foundry 300 years old, by Hamony, that many of you may have seen and heard this afternoon, and we would not break that bell up for worlds. It is a good bell. If it had been a bad bell it should have been replaced by a new one and kept as an interesting relic, but not as a musical instrument to grate on the ears of those who understand music.

I do wish sometimes that the diocesan authorities, where there is any question of restoration in dispute, would hear at first hand the bell founders' reasons for this or that kind of restoration. If they could hear them at first hand, I believe sometimes where there are difficulties—there are not always difficulties—a great deal of misunderstanding might be removed.

(applause). The Editor of 'The Ringing World,' for his leading article (this week), used the heading, 'How the associations have helped.' He was referring to something else, but it is most appropriate for me to quote it now, because without the assistance of the 41 association secretaries we could not have organised this gathering. I do want to thank from the bottom of my heart all those secretaries who have so nobly responded to the call and entered into the spirit of the whole thing. It was really impudent of us to ask them to help us, but they sent out the forms, and the statistics which we required came in from them, almost all of them, by the last day we had given them. In addition to the secretaries, almost the whole of Croydon has rallied round us in support, including the Rotarians, Toc H, and 50 lady hostesses organised by the wife of one of our churchwardens. They have come to the rescue, and to them all we are deeply grateful. I also want to thank the Vicars and Rectors of St. Stephen's, Clapham Park, the Parish Church and St. Peter's, Croydon, for throwing open their towers to the ringers for as long as they were required; the steeplekeepers who got the towers ready and who have been in attendance all day, and my own staff, about 70 strong, who have worked like Trojans. I do not know that they have worked on the making of clocks and bells for the last few days, but for the organisation of this tea party, and to get ready all those great bells which you have seen and heard this afternoon (applause). Then I want to thank all the different authorities with whom we have had to negotiate for the five different halls. They have been as good as gold in giving us every facility. We have also had a picked band of the Middlesex County Association, some of the finest ringers in this country, who came to practise a week or two ago, and who this afternoon have chimed Bob Caters at the foundry on that great ring of bells. In addition, we have had Mr. Withers and Mr. Hall from Birmingham, and another lady who has been playing on the carillon in the foundry (applause). I know you cannot all get home to-night, but when you do go home I hope you will all have a safe and happy journey. I thank you, your Grace, Mrs. Davidson, my lords and all of you for having given us so much of your time this afternoon, and trust it will long live in your memory as it will in those of my family, my staff and myself as one of the happiest days we have ever had (applause).

THE DIOCESAN TENDENCY IN RINGING GUILDS.

(Canon H. F. COLERIDGE, who was loudly cheered on rising to speak, said it was his invariable custom when at breakfast in the morning to take 'The Times,' put it up in front of him and read down the first column. The births did not interest him very much; the marriages still less (laughter). All his friends had been married many years—they all had a wife but him. But he did look down the lower part of the column, and hardly a day passed but one found some old friend or acquaintance had passed from this world. That was his usual practice every morning at breakfast, but he had hardly opened his paper that morning before he saw an advertisement announcing that the bell foundry of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston would be open to everyone who chose to come during the next week between 2.30 and 5.30, and on two evenings, on payment of 1s., to go to the Croydon General Hospital (applause). There was not one of them present that evening, said Canon Coleridge, who would not gladly have paid a shilling for so good a cause, in return for all they had seen and enjoyed. But they were not asked to do it; they came there by the invitation of Mr. Cyril Johnston, free, gratis and for nothing (applause). He could assure Mr. Johnston they had all enjoyed themselves immensely, whether they were big or small (laughter), important or unimportant. They had heard and seen that huge bell of over 18 tons, and they had, perhaps, hardly realised that on the table in front of Mr. Johnston at that moment was the tinkle of that carillon. So there were great bells and small bells, and all in between were important, and all ringers were very important people. There was a great feeling throughout the country that ringers were more and more appreciating their position as church workers (applause). When he began ringing 57 years ago, diocesan associations were hardly thought of. One was formed three years afterwards—the Devon Guild of Ringers. That was the first county or diocesan organisation. Very soon others followed, some like the Oxford and the Gloucester and Bristol being diocesan, others like the Kent being county organisations. He was bound to say he thought the time was coming, and it had been touched upon in their paper, 'The Ringing World,' when these county associations would be merged, as it were, into diocesan associations, for the simple reason that they felt themselves church workers, and they wanted to feel very much the same as the choirmen, and so on. They had their festivals, and they wanted to be, he would not say patronised, but certainly recognised, by the Bishops and the clergy of the dioceses (applause). Look at that gathering! Fifty years ago, what ringers in England would ever have thought that the day would come when some 2,400 ringers, for the most part, would come together in a big mass to be spoken to by the Primate of all England? (applause). They would never have thought, for example, that a diocesan Bishop, like the Bishop of Guildford, would come among them in a new diocese and do what he had done. He (the speaker) believed he was going to show the way in England, just as the Diocese of Oxford showed the way in the days of Bishop Wilberforce. Those in high authority took the greatest interest in the work of the ringers, and in proof they had those distinguished men with them on that occasion. He had on his left, from Scotland, the Duke of Argyll, who was the proud owner of ten bells at Inverary. He had come there and shown a great interest in the proceedings, and who could tell what might be the outcome of it? Perhaps the whole of Scotland would be covered by bells (applause). Last year, continued Canon Coleridge, when he addressed them he told them that by the kindness of Mr. Johnston they left the hall as companions of the bath (laughter). The gathering that night was so big that Mr. Johnston had had to engage three other halls besides, and they would leave that day with a certain hall mark as distinguished ringers impressed upon them (laughter), a hall mark which no other ringers, except those there that night, would be able to claim (laughter and applause). They had to thank Mr. Johnston most warmly, and although others had spoken about him and thanked him already, he would like, as the mouthpiece of the ringers that evening, to convey their best thanks to Mr. Johnston, Mrs. and Miss Johnston, and the staff and everybody else who had done anything whatever that day for their comfort, their pleasure and their instruction (applause).

MR. ROCKEFELLER'S CONGRATULATIONS

Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, having cabled on Friday to Mr. John D. Rockefeller, jun., the donor of the bells, informing him that they were to be demonstrated for the first time at Saturday's great gathering, have received the following cabled reply:—

'Many thanks cable. Cordial congratulations distinguished gathering important occasion.—Rockefeller.'

The BISHOP OF GUILDFORD said they had listened to five most interesting speeches, full of point and full of humour, which were what he might call the finished utterances of practised speakers. Now, at long last, he was to address them, and he thought that what he ought to do was to imitate the other speakers by bringing his oration into a finished condition as soon as possible (laughter). He was there, he supposed, as the representative of the newest of the diocesan bellringers' Guilds—he could think of no other reason why he should be honoured with an invitation to be present on that memorable occasion—and there were two points only upon which he would detain them. It had been said by the last speaker and by others that the bellringer was coming more and more to regard himself as a church worker. He (the speaker) entirely agreed with that opinion. But he wanted to go a little further. He wanted the bellringers not only to regard themselves as church workers of real importance, with an important task to fulfil for the Church, but that the Church itself should regard them in that light (applause). He was venturing to suggest in their new diocese, where they were untrammelled by past traditions, that there should always be a representative of the belfry on every Church Parochial Council (applause). Then there was one other point: it was this. If they were going to regard themselves as church workers, they must regard themselves more and more as part of that clamant voice of Our Lord, which called mankind to the worship of God, and he was going to ask them, as the outcome of that very remarkable gathering, remarkable not only for its size and for the way in which it had been gathered together from every part of England, from Cornwall to Newcastle, from Sussex to Carlisle, but also because it was honoured by the presence in his own most wonderful year of their great Archbishop—he was going to ask them, as the outcome of this, to come to the determination that, as they handled the ropes, the voice of the bells should awaken in their own hearts the voice of prayer, that the sounds might be heard as a spiritual power, and that they might be part of that great army of those who, with the angels and arch-angels, were leading others to God (applause).

This concluded the speechmaking, and Mr. Johnston then called for three cheers for the Archbishop and Mrs. Davidson. These were lustily given, and then there was a call for three cheers for Mr. Johnston, which, needless to say, were just as cordially given, while the singing of 'For he's a jolly good fellow,' made the rafters ring. This part of the proceedings terminated with the National Anthem.

The rearrangement of the hall for the concert which was to follow then rapidly took place, while the 'pocket' carillon was played by Miss Johnston and Mr. Ball.

After the speeches there was a short interval, during which the hall was transformed into a vast concert room, and during this period old friends from many parts of the country had the opportunity of exchanging greetings and comparing notes, which many of them amplified later at the end of the hall opposite the stage. All agreed that it was a wonderful day and a wonderful gathering.

MUSIC AND DANCING.

The programme had been arranged by Capt. Howard Freeborn, who was also M.C. during the afternoon at the foundry, and after an overture by Goddard's band he opened the vocal music with the song, 'Take a pair of sparkling eyes.' Miss Winifred Rodd sang 'Linden Lea,' and then a course of Cambridge Surprise Major was rung on handbells by a band of Middlesex County Association ringers: Mrs. F. I. Hairs, Mr. W. Pye, Mr. F. I. Hairs and Mr. C. W. Roberts. Such a performance is remarkable under any circumstances; in face of the distractions of such a great audience, not all of them silent by any means, it was a great achievement, for it was a perfect course. The same can be said of the course of Stedman Cinques rung by St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham: Messrs. P. O. Laffin, F. W. Perrins, A. Walker, G. F. Swann, A. E. Norman and W. Cave. Miss Nora Johnston had a great reception for her recital of Hans Andersen's fairy story, 'The Clown and the Columbine,' told with striking dramatic effect, to Coleridge-Taylor's trio accompaniment of violin (Mrs. Colt), violoncello (Miss Viola Robinson), and pianoforte (Mr. C. W. Wilson). A feature of the entertainment was the tunes tapped on a fine set of handbells by Mr. Cyril Johnston, who, after two encores, was again recalled, and roused great enthusiasm with 'The Froth Blowers' Anthem,' in which the company joined. Songs were contributed by Mr. Copley Hewitt and Miss Odette de Foras, who were also associated in a duet, and by Miss Winifred Rodd, an enjoyable musical programme being brought to a close with handbell selections by the five Brett-Smith brothers, who are masters of this delightful form of music.

Quickly afterwards the floor was cleared, and from ten o'clock until midnight the company, still numbering some hundreds, enjoyed dancing to the strains of Goddard's band.

Yes, it was a wonderful day, and will live long in the memories of those privileged to enjoy the hospitality of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston.

A POLICEMEN'S GUILD.METROPOLITAN MEN BAND TOGETHER.

There has just been formed in London from the ranks of the Metropolitan Police the Metropolitan Police Bellringers' Guild, the objects of which are to draw together the bellringing members of the Force, to facilitate practice, and to encourage others to take an interest in the art.

The Guild has the approval of the Commissioner of Police (Sir W. H. F. Horwood), and already there are over 20 members.

Inspector William Bottrill has been elected the first Master, P. C. Digby is hon. secretary, and Station Sergt. Porter is treasurer. Four stewards have also been appointed, and practice takes place on Wednesdays at St. Clement Danes, in conjunction with St. Clement's Youths.

Having received official recognition, the members will obtain special facilities for any special ringing occasions.

The Exercise will give a welcome to this new Guild, which will have the good wishes of all for its future growth and success. Already the Guild has a band competent to ring Cambridge Surprise Major, but present activities are directed to instructing the less proficient.

OLD LONDON RINGER'S DEATH.

Many readers will learn with regret that Mr. Thomas Bernardin, one of the oldest bellringers in London, has just passed away at the age of ninety. He was quite a familiar figure to many in religious circles in South London, retaining his health almost to the last, and up to a few weeks back was regularly seen taking his daily walks and visiting the various churches in which he was interested.

He was appointed as steeplekeeper to St. Botolph's Church, Aldgate, in 1865, and retained that position for nearly 45 years, when he retired, being succeeded by his son-in-law. Mr. Bernardin again took over the bellringing during the period of the Great War, while his son-in-law was serving with H.M. Forces.

During Mr. Bernardin's lifetime he had rung the bells in the majority of London churches. His last ringing was at Bethnal Green Parish Church, Christmas, 1921, when he rang a number of call changes, at the age of 83.

He was elected a member of the Society of College Youths, September 28th, 1886. For many years his hymn playing on the bells on Sundays was listened to and appreciated by many of those in the vicinity of St. Botolph's Church, as well as the passers-by. Some of his favourite hymns that he played were the well-known tunes of 'Abide with me,' 'Rock of Ages,' 'Sun of my Soul,' 'Guide me, O Thou Great Jehovah.'

He was also an accomplished handbell ringer. He was a devout and intelligent Christian, and up to a few weeks before his death regularly attended Sunday and mid-week services, as well as the prayer meetings at the Union Congregational Church, Tower Bridge, London.

ASSOCIATION SECRETARIES THANKED.

Mr. Cyril Johnston has sent the following letter to secretaries of Associations and Guilds acknowledging their help in arranging the all-England ringers' meeting:—

Croydon Bell Foundry,
March 6th, 1928.

Dear Sir,—I must write and thank you for your assistance in the organisation of the all-England ringers' meeting.

The way in which honorary, general and district secretaries and officials of bellfries responded to my request for detailed information was splendid.

Although I had no official claim on their services, everyone concerned seemed to enter into the spirit of the affair wholeheartedly, and my staff and I are deeply grateful to you for all the work and trouble which must have been incurred.

The Archbishop and Mrs. Randall Davidson evinced a keen interest in the many aspects of ringing and ringing Guilds and associations, and the fact that many travelled to Croydon from all parts of the country, in many cases from considerable distances and in such numbers as to create a record for the greatest meeting ever held in the borough, was a source of no small gratification to our fellow townpeople.—Yours sincerely, (Signed) CYRIL F. JOHNSTON.

STANSTED, ESSEX.—On Wednesday, December 7th, at the Church of St. Mary, 1,472 Cambridge Surprise Major: H. Watts 1, F. Bird 2, T. Jordan 3, W. Prior 4, A. Jordan 5, T. J. Watts 6, W. T. Prior 7, G. Jordan (conductor) 8. Longest length of Cambridge on an inside bell by the ringer of 2nd and 5th.

THE JOHNSON COMMEMORATION DINNER

ST. MARTIN'S BELLS.

In proposing the toast of 'The Visitors' at the Johnson Commemoration Dinner, Mr. Albert Walker expressed pleasure on behalf of St. Martin's Guild that they had with them representatives of so many other associations, whom he thanked for kindnesses extended to him when he had gone 'abroad' from Birmingham. They had with them that night the three principal bell founders, and the hon. secretary of the Central Council. Amongst the societies represented were the College Youths. They were very pleased to welcome the Master, Mr. Joseph Hawkins, and took that opportunity of congratulating him on having reached the highest position in his society. There were also represented the Essex Association, the Surrey Association, the Sussex Association, the Lancashire Association, the Midland Counties Association, the Oxford Guild, the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association, the North Wales Association, the Ladies' Guild, the Gloucester and Bristol Association, the Worcestershire Association, the Staffordshire Association—he was sorry Mr. Knight, of Wolverhampton, was not present, so that he might thank him for the opportunities given to St. Martin's Guild for twelve-bell peals now that their own bells were requiring attention—the Warwickshire Guild, the Bath and Wells Association, the Salisbury Guild, the new Guildford Diocesan Guild, the London County Association, the Yorkshire Association, the Chester Guild and others. He had to couple with the toast the names of Mr. Elwell, of the Chester Guild, and Mr. Colin Harrison, of the Sheffield District Society. Those of them who had read 'The Ringing World' would have seen Mr. Harrison's suggestion for a national organisation of ringers, and he hoped that, whatever might be the merits or demerits of such a scheme, each individual association would, when they met, discuss the proposal. It might be a practicable proposition, or it might not, but it was worth consideration. In any case, it would take a long time to mature. They must, at any rate, admire Mr. Harrison for the way in which he had put his views forward and invited criticism (applause).

Mr. Elwell, who first responded, thanked St. Martin's Guild for the hearty welcome and the excellent time given to the visitors. The Guild was doubly fortunate, first in the ideals and example set by that great ringer, Henry Johnson, and then in the way his memory was honoured and his tradition kept alive. They had heard, continued Mr. Elwell, something of the great ideals of churchmanship and of service for which their work stood, and they did not intend to yield one jot or iota to the men of the past in the efforts which they made to improve and keep alive the practice of their art. These men need not go to sleep fearful lest they of the present generation were going to spoil the heritage which they were handing down to them. Alderman Pritchett had spoken of the link between the ringing Exercise and Freemasonry. A little time ago Mr. Pritchett suggested that they should establish a lodge of Freemasons for ringers. That excellent idea fell through, owing to the difficulty of a place of meeting, since the Central Council was held at a different place each year. He (Mr. Elwell) respectfully suggested that the matter might be reconsidered in the light of establishing the lodge in connection with that annual gathering in Birmingham. It would be nice if there could be a St. Martin's Guild lodge which could meet in connection with that gathering, and he threw out the suggestion as one worthy of consideration (applause).

YORKSHIRE'S LEAD.

Mr. Colin Harrison also acknowledged the indebtedness of the visitors to the Birmingham ringers for their hospitality, and especially Mr. and Mrs. Walker, who seemed to keep 'open house' at Baker Street. In view of what it was proposed to do at Birmingham in the way of recasting the bells, he could not do better than tell them what happened at York. In Birmingham they had made ringing history with their records and their achievements, and surely they should have bells which were not only worthy of their city, but of the country (applause). Mr. Walker a few years ago did them a good turn in Yorkshire when at their Yorkshire commemoration dinner he frankly stated his opinion upon the condition of York Minster bells. The outcome of that speech was that they had the present magnificent ring of twelve. He hoped, now that they had the assurance that Birmingham bells would receive the consideration of the church authorities, when the proper moment came they would consider the matter with an unbiased mind, would take their local ringers into their confidence, and would study and inwardly digest all that the respective contractors had put before them. He felt quite sure that whichever bell founder took on the job they would get a peal of bells worthy not only of St. Martin's Guild but of the City of Birmingham and the band which was going to ring them (applause). Mr. Harrison went on to remark that he thought it would be out of place at that time to enlarge on what he had said in 'The Ringing World' on the question of a national association, and which might rob the paper of any interest which might ensue from it during the next few weeks. He concluded by expressing thanks to the Birmingham ringers for their kindness, and said he hoped that the success of that gathering which had been so well maintained in the past would continue unbroken in the future, and that the Johnson dinner would remain as the blue ribbon of ringing festivities (applause).

Mr. A. Paddon Smith, in proposing the toast of 'The Ringing World,' first referred to the bells of St. Martin's. He said he hoped it was a fact that the bells were going to be recast. He was fairly close to the Rector in one or two senses, but at that moment he was not assured that the bells were going to be recast. Certainly they needed it—no one could deny that. Mr. Smith expressed emphatic views as to the placing of the contract for such an undertaking, and hoped the Vicar and churchwardens would have no hesitation in their choice. Mr. Smith then went on to speak in kindly terms of 'The Ringing World' and its Editor, and, the toast having been cordially honoured, Mr. J. S. Goldsmith replied.

Alderman Pritchett submitted 'The Chairman,' and said that the Rector, who had always taken an interest in his own ringers, had by this time doubtless learned to understand and appreciate ringers in general. He felt sure it had given him great pleasure to preside over that important and most pleasurable gathering (applause).

RESPONSIBILITIES REALISED.

In replying, the Rector referred to the comments of Mr. Paddon Smith with regard to St. Martin's bells. There was a time, he said, when Mr. Smith thought there were no bells to be compared to St. Martin's, but he had changed his mind of late. The Rector and churchwardens realised their responsibilities in the matter, and were prepared to do their duty by the bells. Whatever was right in their judgment would, of course, eventually be done. They had given the matter serious consideration for many months, and he was quite sure that in whosever hands the work was placed it would be well done, and that they would eventually find complete satisfaction. He wanted to take that opportunity of assuring them that the matter was receiving their attention, and there was no need to be in the least anxious about the fulfilment of the responsibility which lay on the shoulders of himself and his wardens. They had the interest of the great ringing craft at heart, and would do their best to keep up the high traditions of St. Martin's (applause).

The musical programme was, as usual, of a very delightful kind, consisting of songs by St. Martin's Quartette, whose singing gave great pleasure. Mrs. A. A. Hughes (London) once more 'brought down the house' with her handbell ringing, playing 'Take a pair of sparkling eyes,' 'Love's old sweet song,' and as an encore 'Land of hope and glory.' A perfect course of Stedman Cinques was rung on handbells, and members of St. Martin's Guild also contributed handbell selections, which were warmly applauded.

Many of the visitors stayed over Sunday, when there was quite a series of happy gatherings throughout the day for ringing and social intercourse.

DURHAM & NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

The pre-Lent meeting was held at Cramlington on February 18th in beautiful weather.

The committee meeting was held in the vestry of the church, presided over by the president (Mr. C. L. Routledge). It was pointed out that the annual report is held up for the want of the bellry returns. Some bellries have sent no returns, some sent returns with no names of members, and some with names of members, but no addresses. Those who have not sent in complete lists are requested to do so at once.

Tea was served in the Parish Hall, when 22 (including the Vicar, the Rev. Allen) sat down. The ladies connected with the church provided the meal, and also looked after the needs of those present. Mr. Routledge proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells and the Parish Hall, and to the ladies for their kindness.

The Vicar welcomed the association to Cramlington, and hoped they would make their visits as frequent as possible. He offered the bells and a welcome at any time.—Mrs. O. Simm, who is always so very kind and hospitable to visiting ringers, also replied.

The fine peal of six (tenor 20 cwt.) was kept going during the afternoon and evening in various methods from Grandsire Doubles to Cambridge Surprise. After tea, a course of Grandsire and Stedman Triples was rung on the handbells.

The following towers were represented: Durham Cathedral, Newcastle Cathedral, St. John's (Newcastle), St. George's (Jesmond), St. Ignatius' (Sunderland), St. Mary's (Gateshead), All Saints' (Gosforth), and the local ringers.

At the tea, a collection was taken on behalf of the 'Ironvess Pistor' fund, and amounted to £1 5s.

The next quarterly gathering will be held at Stockton on Whit Monday.

AN INTERESTING PEAL.

The peal at Egg Buckland, by two fathers and their sons, was especially arranged to enable the conductor to call a peal on February 29th, and also that two families might score a peal together. It is probably the first time in history that this has been done on 'leap year' day. The conductor has now only a few more dates to complete the 366, and he has conducted a peal on nearly every one of them.

The band desire to thank Rev. Johnson for giving permission at the last moment. It had been arranged to attempt the peal at St. Stephen's, but a Lenten service prevented it. It is interesting to note that the two seniors rang peals together over 30 years ago. The band stood in the order of their ages from treble to tenor—a unique performance.

THEORY AND PRACTICE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I am rather diffident in asking you to publish a few further remarks following 'A Plain Ringer's' letter in your issue of the 10th ult., as I think that we now begin to 'split hairs,' but, rightly or wrongly, I feel that it is a little necessary because of the absolute difference between work and rows, which are, paradoxically, practically one and the same thing.

I may have missed your correspondent's point, but, to split the aforesaid hair, if Stedman's 'change' refers to the alteration between the figures 1.2 and 2.1, then the difference between 214365879 and 123456789 is not a 'change,' as your correspondent states, but 'changes.' Will he be consistent and say that the conductor shouts 'rounds next changes'? However, this is not the point; my quarrel is with his statement that there is 'nothing between rows' and his ridicule of the 'heads.'

First, I am going to say that a row is the result of certain work; next, that a row causes certain work; that they are different and that they are the same thing, according to which way your readers like to view them. But I am coming back to Mr. Trollope's point, that the difference (or similarity) must be fully realised in the proper understanding of what is practice and what is theory.

I am no expert, and have taken it upon myself to answer your correspondent from his own point of view—a plain ringer's. I do most emphatically state that the realisation of the difference between rows and work, between lead-ends and lead-heads, has been of the utmost use to our band in one particular branch of practical ringing—that of splicing methods. Personally, I had the greatest difficulty in appreciating the simplicity of splicing methods, until I realised that the only difference between a lead of (say) Beverley and Surfleet Surprise Minor is the work between rows 11 to 14 of each; that in the one method the rows appear in this order: 11-12-13-14; and that in the other method identical rows appear thus: 11-13-12-14.

Your correspondent's gentle sarcasm anent Mr. Baker's masterly (and obscure) definition is, perhaps, excusable, and I reiterate that I could wish the modern theorist would always offer the explanation that is contained in Mr. Trollope's articles. Frankly, I have not the slightest idea what Mr. Baker means, and I am unashamed to say so. The point is that his explanation is offered to readers of whom 99 per cent. are in the same boat as myself. But let us stick to our point of the lead-heads and the practical ringer.

I am going to ask 'A Plain Ringer' to write out a plain course of Cambridge Surprise Minor, and to divide this course into leads by drawing lines between the rows which constitute the treble's full lead. The back stroke row now becomes the 'head' of the following lead. I am going to ask him to rearrange these SAME LEADS in this order in the course: Nos. 1.4-2.5-3, and he will now have a plain course of Ringers' (or Primrose) Surprise, without having altered a single row within the lead blocks. Can he do this if the backstroke row is treated as the lead 'end'? I think not. This is the ice that the lead-heads cut, and which has enabled practical ringers to splice six Surprise methods in a 720 by ringing only three.—Yours sincerely,

GEO. L. JOYCE.

SIMPLE AND COMPLEX TRANSPOSITION ROWS.

Dear Sir,—In 'The Ringing World' of April 21st, 1922, you published for me an article on 'Pivot bells,' from which I quote the following: 'First, it will be best if I explain briefly what is meant by the term "pivot bell." In all properly-constructed even-bell methods, with the treble a plain or dodging hunt, there is, in addition to the treble, another bell that has returned at the lead-end, to the position which it occupied in the fundamental row or other lead-heads. This bell we call the pivot bell, and the lead-heads and lead-ends of Single Court Bob Minor will best illustrate what I mean.'

That which next follows is an amplification of the former article.

Lead-heads and lead-ends of Single Court Bob Minor:—

1st lead-head	123456	S.T.R.	proving value	123456.
1st lead-end	153624	S.T.R.	"	153624.
3rd pivot bell.
2nd lead-head	135264	C.T.R.	"	142635.
2nd lead-end	165432	S.T.R.	"	165432.
5th pivot bell.
3rd lead-head	156342	C.T.R.	"	164523.
3rd lead-end	146253	S.T.R.	"	146253.
6th pivot bell.
4th lead-head	164523	C.T.R.	"	156342.
4th lead-end	124365	S.T.R.	"	124365.
4th pivot bell.
5th lead-head	142635	C.T.R.	"	135264.
5th lead-end	132546	S.T.R.	"	132546.
2nd pivot bell.

It is the lack of knowledge of little details like these by Practical Ringers which make all the difference between them and the Theorists.

—Yours faithfully,

GEORGE BAKER.

PRESENTATION TO AN INSTRUCTOR.

Great regret was expressed by the ringers of St. Thomas' Church, Woolton Hill, Hants, when it became known that their captain (Mr. E. H. Ballam) had to leave the parish after being with them for five years. He was unexcelled for his keenness and patience in training, and under his tuition extents in the following methods have been rung: Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Minor, Plain Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Double Court, Double Oxford, Cambridge and London Surprise.

At a meeting held in the belfry on February 14th, a clock in a wall-nut case was presented to Mr. Ballam by the Vicar and Mr. Aird (churchwarden), as a token of esteem and gratitude for his splendid work in the past, from the Vicar, churchwardens and ringers of Woolton Hill.

BURTON RINGERS' BEREAVEMENT.

The funeral took place on Monday, March 1st, of Mrs. Charlotte Emma Stone, of Burton-on-Trent. Mrs. Stone was the wife of Mr. Edward I. Stone, who was for many years a chorister and ringer at St. Paul's Church, and was also the mother of Mr. A. P. G. Stone, a present member of the society. The service was conducted by the Rev. J. Goodacre (Vicar), the choir being in attendance. In the evening was rung with bells half-muffled, after meeting short for a quarter-peal, 600 Grandsire Doubles on the back six: G. F. Newman 1, M. Swinfield (conductor) 2, J. H. Swinfield 3, H. A. Rabbetts 4, J. Slade 5, R. H. Dove 6. Later, 336 Grandsire Triples: R. Gilbert 1, J. Swinfield 2, R. H. Dove 3, M. Swinfield (conductor) 4, L. C. Smith 5, H. A. Rabbetts 6, J. Slade 7, G. F. Newman 8.

VETERAN RINGER'S DEATH.

Another old ringer has passed away in the person of Mr. James Coram, of 182, Brighton Road, Crewton, Derby. Deceased worked for many years on the Somerset and Dorset Railway at Highbridge, Somerset, and always rang at the old Parish Church at Burnham. On removing to Bristol he threw in his lot with St. Thomas' Guild, with whom he stayed until he went to Derby, to finish his days with his son.

Although he rang but few peals, he could always be relied on when there was ringing to be done. A true friend to all who knew him, he lived to the good old age of 80, and though bedridden for three years he was looked after by the devoted partner of 56 years of married life, and who, a little older than he was, is left to mourn her loss.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.

EASTERN BRANCH.

The annual meeting of the Eastern Branch held at Freiston recently was well attended. Members were present from Benington, Boston, Butterwick, Sibsey, Skirbeck, Stickney, and the local band. The visitors included Mr. T. Vaughan, of Peterborough. Ringing commenced about 2.30 p.m., and touches of Plain Bob, Single Court, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob were brought round. A short service was conducted by the president of the branch (Rev. J. R. Trotter), who is also the Vicar of Freiston with Butterwick. Afterwards, all repaired to the Bull and Dog Inn, and did ample justice to a knife and fork tea as the guests of the president. Immediately after tea, the business meeting was held, the president being in the chair.

The Rev. J. R. Trotter was again unanimously re-elected as president for the ensuing year, and was thanked for his past services. The vice-presidents were re-elected en bloc. Mr. J. Phillips was also re-elected secretary and treasurer, as were also Mr. W. E. Clarke and Mr. A. Sharp to the offices of Branch Ringing Master and Guild representative respectively. Swineshead was chosen as the place for holding the next meeting.

A pleasing feature of this meeting was the fact that thirteen new ringing members joined the Guild.

A hearty vote of thanks to the president for the use of the bells, for his excellent address, and for his kind hospitality, was proposed by the Rev. Canon Hodge and seconded by Mr. R. J. Westland, Vicar's Churchwarden. Mr. Kent, people's warden, was also present.

During the evening an informal meeting was held in the belfry, when it was decided to send the sum of two guineas as a contribution from the branch to the fund for assisting Mr. Alf. T. Baker ('Irenæus Pistor').

Ringing was kept up in various Minor methods.

AN ACROSTIC.

'ALFRED TOWNSEND BAKER.'
7.8.7.8.

Alfred Townsend Baker,
Long known as 'Ireneus';
Fun and laughter, mirth and glee:
Refreshing fruit, Alf's given us.

Each one should in glad return,
Do his best for stricken 'brother,'
Teaching all who care to learn,
Our true love for one another.

Urgent is our brother's need
(Never wasteful, always thrifty).
Stricken he has been, indeed;
Eyesight lost, and only fifty.

'Nemo' told us of his plight;
Durst we then forget Alf's trouble?
'Brothers' all must give their mite,
And naught lose if they give double.

Kindly render those to date,
Each one, and all, of many ranks.
(This line only metre mate),
Respectively our hearty thanks.

OWEN KAY.

DEVONSHIRE GUILD.
SOUTH-WEST DISTRICT BRANCH.

The annual meeting, held at Holbeton, the home of the president, constituted a record, as far as attendance was concerned, about 70 members and friends being present. The Lord Bishop of Plymouth gave the address at the service, laying special emphasis on the value of team work and service rendered by labour.

The Bishop presided at the business meeting, supported by Lady Mildmay, Rev. E. S. Powell, Rev. Maitland Kelly, Rev. F. W. Moore, Major and Mrs. Jerram, Mr. W. H. Marsh and members from St. Andrew's, Charles', and Emmanuel, Plymouth, Holbeton, Plympton, Kelly and Lifton.

The report stated that generally progress was being made in numbers, methods and striking. The most notable feature was the increasing demand for even-bell methods, for of 21 peals rung during the year, 14 had been in even-bell methods. This number of peals was the largest recorded in any year by the branch. Advancement in Surprise methods continued, the practices at Stoke on Thursdays being well attended. The Vicar of Plympton (St. Maurice), has granted one night monthly for practice in higher methods.

The officers were re-elected, and it was decided to accept the Bishop's invitation to hold the next meeting at Stoke, Plymouth, in April.

Mr. A. T. Westcott moved a vote of thanks to the Bishop for his address and presiding at the meeting, to Lady Mildmay for her presence, to the organist and choir for their services, and to the ladies for providing the tea.—This was carried by acclamation, and the Bishop, replying, said he had a great surprise that day. He did not realise until he came that he would have to preach to such a large congregation. He congratulated the Guild on the splendid work they were doing.

Lady Mildmay, in a nice speech, thanked the members for their kind words. She had no idea she was a member of such a splendid organisation. The service and meeting had been an inspiration to her, and she hoped she would be able to attend many more meetings of the Guild, which she wished every success.

The Bishop presented the Misses Molly and Jessie Davenport with Guild certificates.

THINGS THAT MATTER.

Matters of interest and importance to all associations were raised at a meeting of the Dunster Deanery Branch of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association the other day, when the need for more keenness among members between meetings and the desirability of having more than one person in a tower capable of conducting were stressed. The Dunster Deanery Branch finds no lack of interest displayed in its meetings, and, indeed, it is to be congratulated upon the fact that, in a district where travelling facilities are none too good, the annual meeting attracted about eighty members. It seems, however, that, having come out of their towers for these official gatherings once a quarter, they return to their shell and are content to remain quiescent until the next meeting comes round. There are many associations in which similar conditions prevail. Well-attended meetings are, of course, a sign of interest, but they are not necessarily an indication of progress. They only achieve their fullest purpose when they help to maintain an enthusiasm which impels members to go out into the highways and byways, as it were, helping others and improving their own standard of ringing. Ringers are too often content to leave everything to their officials, instead of 'pulling their weight' and realising that, however good and willing their officers may be, they cannot unaided carry the organisation to success for ever. Members of an association have responsibilities as well as privileges, and, if more thought were given to the former, associations would be able to do even greater work than they are doing to-day.

The other question which was raised at the meeting referred to is one of vital importance to the future of the Exercise, and one which has several times been the subject of articles in this journal. It is essential to the continuity of progress in any tower that there should be more than one ringer capable of acting as conductor. There can only be one leader in a belfry; but there can and should be more than one person able to conduct. If conducting is continually monopolised by one man, there comes a time when, if from any cause he is removed, the band is in danger of collapsing, or in any event of receiving a serious setback while someone else learns the technicalities of the job. Every conductor should at least have one understudy, but, better still, several. It need not mean a usurpation of authority in the tower; but it is a step in the campanological education of the band; for there can be no question that the more real knowledge a man has of conducting, the safer he will be as a ringer. Sometimes, of course, the absence of an understudy in a tower is due to the deliberate intention of the conductor, who is jealous of his position, but more often, we believe, it is due to that spirit so prevalent in the Exercise, of leaving things to the other man. As long as there is someone in the belfry willing to do the extra thinking that conducting calls for, ringers are content to let things slide, particularly if the conductor is really capable. But it is a mistake. Let the best man be commander-in-chief by all means, but he should have lieutenants to succeed him if he wants to see his work live after him. An army without a leader becomes a rabble; and that is what happens in the campanological sense when a band is left without a conductor.

SURPRISE MAJOR METHODS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I am very sorry indeed to have to reply to Mr. Craven's remarks in his letter, dealing with Lincolnshire Surprise, in which he reproduced the figures of practically my first attempt at arranging figures. Does he mean to be sarcastic, or does he intend to place me in the same class as Mr. James? If so, I must say he is doing me a great honour. I myself am not ashamed of what I did, as I tendered an explanation at the time it was pointed out to me. Where have these figures turned up from? As I understand they were deposited on the rubbish heap some 18 months ago, but some people have remarkable memories. I enclose, however, two more methods, which I hope you will publish, and of which I am not ashamed to have under my name, and if Mr. Craven will please refrain from publishing anything more of my first attempt I shall be truly thankful, not that I mind, as I know that all our experts were once beginners.—Thanking you and all concerned, Yours truly,

E. W. TIPLER.

MUFFLED BELLS AT LLANBRADACH.

The sudden death has occurred at Llanbradach of Arthur Williams, one of the ringers of All Saints' Church. After only five days' illness of bronchial pneumonia he passed away on Tuesday, February 28th. He was interred at Ystrad Mynach on Saturday, March 3rd. A wreath in the shape of a bell was given by his fellow-ringers. He will be greatly missed, as he was a regular Sunday service change ringer.

On Sunday week, for morning service, the bells were rung half-muffled. Touches of Grandsire Doubles were rung on the back six: O. Stevens 1, F. Stevens (conductor) 2, L. Stevens 3, H. Cassel 4, W. Burgess 5, W. Fisher 6.

For evening service a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples, half-muffled, by: L. Stevens 1, A. Addicott 2, F. Stevens 3, G. Cook (conductor) 4, H. Broughton 5, H. Cassel 6, W. Burgess 7, C. Stevens 8. First quarter-peal of Triples for ringers of 1st and 8th. No. 2, 4 and 5 came specially from Caerphilly to assist the local band.

BANHAM, NORFOLK.—On Monday evening, February 27th, a quarter-peal of Minor (1,260 changes) in 44 mins., being 120 Plain Bob, 180 Double Court, 360 Kent and 600 Oxford Treble Bob: F. Copeman 1, F. Clarke 2, F. Mapes (conductor) 3, E. Bennett 4, W. Chenery 5, C. F. Goodman 6. Rung for the first anniversary of the reopening of the above bells.

A CONSPIRACY. THE PLOT.

June 24th, 1927, was the 25th anniversary of the opening of the Royal Memorial bells at the Church of St. John-the-Divine, Leicester, also Mr. William Willson's 25th year as organiser and conductor of the St. John's Society of Ringers. We (the society) had a feeling that something ought to be done to mark the occasion, and unanimously decided to keep 'Father' in ignorance of the fact. The next point was WHAT? Knowing that he had been presented with battle axes, swords, spears and shields, and has also used a lot of ink during the course of his career as a ringer, we (the society) thought that probably his inkpot must be getting a little the worse for wear, so we wrote to Woking about it.

THE EXECUTION THEREOF.

The annual dinner of the society was held at the Wyvern Hotel on Saturday, February 25th, when the Vicar, Rev. H. V. Williams, presided, and there were present the members, their wives and friends.

After a splendid repast and the toast of 'The King' had been drunk, the plot was revealed.

Mr. J. Smith in a few words broke the news, and on behalf of the society asked the chairman to present to Mr. Willson a silver bell inkstand, suitably engraved. All who know 'W.W.' will agree that it takes a lot to get him guessing, although it is rumoured that one night at 11.55 he 'got America', but at 12.5 he went to bed because London and Daventry had closed down. But we had him guessing on this occasion, and left him to regain his faculties while we dealt with Mrs. Willson.

Mrs. Smith, on behalf of the ladies, asked the chairman to present a handsome rose bowl for, as he very aptly put it, being the wife of Mr. Willson. That left Mrs. W. bowled out in every sense of the word.

W.W., who was slowly but surely recovering, said he was almost at a loss how to express his feelings, but he managed very well indeed. Mrs. W. also was almost too full for words.

After all the excitement, a very pleasant evening was spent with music, songs, recitations and handbells, and everyone voted it the best annual gathering we have had.

A CONSPIRATOR.

A PROBLEM FOR THE MATHEMATICALLY MINDED.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Knowing the fondness of the ringing fraternity for an argument, I venture to propound the following: Is it a fair method of comparison between peals, assuming other things to be equal, to compare them on the basis of:

TONS OF METAL DISPLACED = WEIGHT of all bells of 'ring' in TONS x No. of changes.

The word 'displaced' is in itself open to criticism and misinterpretation. It certainly cannot be regarded as 'work done' in the strictly mechanical sense, as so many unknown factors enter into it. For example, a light ring of badly-going bells would possibly take up much more effort in pulling through a peal than a modern, well-hung ring of heavier weight. And again, if the ringing is slow, more effort is required each time, and this is accentuated if a bell goes badly.

Is there, then, any means of comparing—in actual figures—the respective merits of, say, a 5,040 on a ring of six badly-going bells with a 20 cwt. tenor, and a (say) 7,000 (or so) on a lighter ring (with, say, a 15 cwt. tenor) of recently rehung bells in tip-top condition?

Working on the basis mentioned we might have, say:—

(i.) Total weight of bells = 82 cwt.

$$\text{'Displacement' of metal (P)} = \frac{82 \times 5040}{20} = 20,600 \text{ tons.}$$

$$\text{'Displacement' (P) of metal} = \frac{58 \times 7000}{20} = 20,300 \text{ tons.}$$

Mentally (ii.) would have imposed the greater strain, and also physically from the 'time' point of view.

Physically, one might imagine (i.) to have required the greater effort, but—DO THE FIGURES CONVEY ANY REAL SIGNIFICANCE? From some points of view it would seem so, while from others one doubts.

Perhaps you might think this of sufficient interest to open a discussion in your columns.—Yours faithfully,

J. R. NICHOLS.

A DATE TOUCH.

At Harwell, Berks, on Tuesday, March 6th, Grandsire Doubles in 1 hr. 7 mins.: W. Hitchman (conductor) 1, H. Palmer 2, J. E. Bosley 3, W. Cordery 4, J. H. James 5, E. Milford 6. Longest touch by ringers of 3rd, 5th and 6th, and longest away from tenor by 4th. Rung as a compliment to Miss F. Hitchman, youngest daughter of the conductor on her 21st birthday.

'LINCOLNSHIRE' SURPRISE AND 'COURT SHUNTS.'

To the Editor.

Sir,—Everyone has a right to change his opinions, but doing so will not alter a mathematical fact once established.

In your columns of January 7th, 1927, Mr. W. Taylor, writing of 'Superlative' Surprise, states the following:—

'The supreme test of the correctness of an extension is that its diagram must correspond to that of the original.'

In your last issue he is asking us to believe that 'Lincolnshire' Surprise Major, Royal and Maximus, is a correct extension of 'Cambridge' Surprise Minor!

Such a statement as the last is so farcical that it scarcely needs contradiction; the practical ringers who rang in the first peal of 'Lincolnshire' Major will be able, if they also ring 'Cambridge' Surprise Minor, to give us their views on this question.

The supreme test of the correctness of an extension is the PLACE making. To prove this make a double method of 'Cambridge' producing an irregular lead-head on ALL numbers, and then test its round blocks.

What Mr. Taylor is pleased to call a 'Court Shunt' consists of two movements, as shown in the examples given below:—

SHUNT OR STUNT.

Sir,—It is clearer from Mr. W. Taylor's letter what 'shunt' is intended to mean than it has been from the letters of the other three people who use this elegant word.

A shunt means that something is 'shunned' or 'shunted.' In change ringing, what we want to shun or shunt is falseness of any kind. Yet these 'shunts' apparently introduce falsehood. Mr. Taylor speaks of a 'shunt . . . with its attendant false-end.' The effects of this false-end may be avoided by some move or other, which, of course, would then be a real 'shunt'; but it cannot be called a 'shunt' because that name has falsely been given to the other move. Could anything be more ridiculous?

The wantonness of the whole thing is displayed when one notices that the word is quite unnecessary. If it were omitted entirely from Mr. Taylor's letter, not only would the letter be much simpler, but it would be much more easily understood. Its use is simply a bit of 'swank.' The word 'Court' by itself is a perfectly good name, and would exactly describe the move, and contrast it more clearly with the move which he calls an 'Extreme.'

It is clear from his letter that the effect of both these moves is that two bells exchange their work. Why not, then, simply describe the moves as 'exchanges'? True, it would not be so 'swanky,' but it would certainly get more readers for the letter.

If Mr. Taylor had written that in Lincolnshire Surprise a 'Court Exchange' is substituted for the 'Extreme Exchange' in Cambridge Surprise, how much simpler the whole argument would appear.

HERBERT DRAKE.

A BOY'S PROGRESS.

At Hillingdon, Middlesex, on Sunday, March 11th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters in 51 mins.: E. Baldwin 1, E. W. Twinn 2, G. Goodfellow (conductor) 3, R. Warnett 4, H. H. Chandler 5, J. Lucas 6, J. J. Pratt 7, L. Corke 8, W. Honor 9, C. Nicholls 10. E. W. Twinn is only 13 years of age, and he has rung upwards of 20 quarter-peals in the methods of Stedman Caters, Grandsire Caters, Stedman Triples, Grandsire Triples and Bob Major.

THEORY AND PRACTICE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—If there has been any 'hair splitting' in the points which I have raised, surely it was begun when Mr. Trollope gave us his definition of 'a change.' There are only two points in Mr. Joyce's letter in your last issue that call for any reply from me. I have never said, as Mr. Joyce implies, that a conductor at the end of a peal shouts, 'Rounds next change,' and I am quite sure that Mr. Joyce has never heard that intimation given. I referred to the use of the word 'change' in compositions of Stedman Caters, as given in print or MS., when 'rounds' comes up in the change after the course-end. Stedman, in his use of the word, was treating of a change in its simplest form only, viz., on two bells, and I hold that from that time onward the word, as used by practical ringers, has had a well-defined and undisputed meaning.

Different men have different ways of learning methods, and also of splicing them. While a knowledge of the 'difference' between lead-heads and lead-ends may have been necessary to Mr. Joyce before he could appreciate the simplicity of splicing, many ringers have been, and are, able to do it without such knowledge, because they know that methods run in groups which produce the same rows in a course, but occurring in a different sequence, according to whether you make 2nd's or 6th's, when the treble leads; and 5th's or otherwise when the treble is behind, as well as to internal variations, into which I need not go, for I do not think even Mr. Joyce got much benefit from his knowledge of lead-heads when it came to the splicing of Beverley and Surfleet, to which he refers in his letter. Cambridge and Primrose is but an example of a course composed of similar rows, with 2nd's place made at the treble lead in the one and 6th's in the other. You have only to remember this and know how every bell starts in Cambridge to be able to switch with the utmost ease from one method to the other. A knowledge of the theoretical difference between lead-heads and lead-ends is no more essential to the ringing of spliced methods than it is to the ringing of Bob Minor.

I am afraid that we have been getting a little away from the main object of my original letter in your columns in August last, which asked the Rev. H. Law James why, in his opinion, the method rung at Ipswich and called 'Superlative Surprise Maximus,' is not Superlative, and why it is not as good an extension of Superlative Major as is his own extension to Maximus of Shipway's Superlative Royal? Those questions have never yet been answered, although I hope that the incursions into somewhat side issues have not been without interest to your readers.—Yours faithfully,

A PLAIN RINGER.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.
NORTH BUCKS BRANCH.

A quarterly meeting of the North Bucks Branch was held at Newport Pagnell on Saturday, March 3rd, when about 35 members attended, representing Blechley, Bradwell, Chicheley, Fenny Stratford, Stony Stratford, Stoke Goldington, and the local ringers. There were also visitors from the Towcester and District and Beds Associations. The Guild form of service was used, which was conducted by the Vicar of Newport Pagnell, Rev. L. Moxon, who is also chairman of the branch, and he gave a very interesting address. Tea was provided in the schoolroom, where a nice spread had been prepared, and was much enjoyed. After tea, the Secretary announced that he had no special business to bring forward, only to remind members that the annual festival was the next meeting, which he hoped all would attend.

A very hearty vote of thanks was given to the chairman for making arrangements for the service, also to those responsible for the catering, which was suitably responded to. Ringing took place during the afternoon and evening, the methods ranging from Grandsire and Stedman Triples to Cambridge Surprise Major.

'FAREWELLS'

At the Parish Church, Luton, Beds, on Sunday, March 11th, for evening service, 1,260 Stedman Triples in 46 mins.: S. E. Armstrong (first quarter in the method) 1, A. King 2, F. Hunt 3, A. Smith 4, H. Wood 5, T. Kendall 6, L. A. Goodenough (conductor) 7, A. Bookwood 8. Rung as a farewell to Mr. Armstrong on his leaving for Alton, Hants.

On wishing the Luton band goodbye, he thanked them for the courtesy shown him during his six months' sojourn in Luton. During this period he has learnt the methods of Stedman Triples and Double Norwich Major.

At All Saints' Church, Wootton Bassett, Wilts, for morning service on Sunday, 336 Grandsire Triples. For evening service, a quarter-peal of Doubles (1,260 changes): J. Boulter 1, Miss Amy Laurence 2, E. Flewelling 3, J. Gibbs 4, H. E. Flewelling 5, W. Boulter 6, L. A. Wilson (conductor) 7, W. Jones 8. First 336 by the ringers of treble, 3rd, 4th, 7th and 8th, and first quarter-peal by the treble and tenor men, and first inside by the 2nd ringer. Rung as a farewell to Mr. W. Jones on leaving to take up the duties of caretaker at Christ Church, Swindon. He goes with the best wishes of his colleagues for a successful career, both as vergor and ringer. All the above are service ringers at Wootton Bassett, except B. Guy, who hails from Fairford.

RESTORATION AT BROWNEDEGE.

On Sunday, March 4th, the recast ring of eight bells at St. Mary's R.C. Church, Browneledge, were rung for the first time by the Preston Parish Church Society. The opening ringing was with muffled clappers as a mark of respect to the late Rector (the Rev. Father Turner, O.S.B.), who passed away the day after the bells were blessed, February 6th. It was he who decided to make a thorough restoration, the old six being recast and made into eight, with a new frame, while the clock was renovated and Westminster chimes fitted. The pity is that he did not live to see his scheme completed.

After service, the bells were rung open to Stedman Triples and Double Norwich, opportunity being given to several visiting ringers to have a pull. Further ringing took place after evening service, the methods being the same, with the addition of Treble Bob.

Messrs. Taylor and Co. have carried out the work in a highly successful manner. The bells hang in two tiers, and the tenor is 16 cwt. in F. All the latest mechanical improvements have been added, and a good circle formed in the ringing room.

Mr. J. P. Fidler was present on behalf of Messrs. Taylor and Co., and took part in the ringing. The Rector, Fr. Wilson, O.S.B., personally thanked the Preston Society for their great kindness, and in the evening a vote of thanks was accorded to the reverend gentleman for his consideration in providing refreshments. A local band has been formed, and will make a start when the clock is completed.

ROCHESTER CATHEDRAL RINGERS' LOSS.

On Monday, March 5th, the funeral of the Very Rev. John Storrs, the late Dean of Rochester, took place. The service was held in the Cathedral, which was filled to overflowing by those who desired to pay a last tribute of respect to the late Dean, who was very popular.

The bells which he loved so well were rung half-muffled before and after the service. He was laid to rest in the Cathedral Cemetery, the Bishop of Rochester officiating, accompanied by all the Canons and clergy in the district and the Cathedral choir.

In the evening a quarter-peal of Stedman Caters (1,287 changes) was rung with muffled bells: P. Springham 1, H. Poulter 2, T. Beaumont 3, E. A. G. Allen 4, F. Belsey 5, H. Springate 6, C. Winsor 7, W. Haigh (conductor) 8, J. Haigh 9, C. Norris 10. The ringers feel they have lost a dear and respected friend, to whose generosity and influence they have got a fine peal of ten bells.

BOLTON, LANCS.—At All Souls' Church, on Saturday, March 10th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) was rung in 48 mins., to celebrate the 21st birthday of Miss Gertrude Markland: C. BELFRY GOSSIP.

Little ringing is now being done in Boston, U.S.A., and district, but it is hoped to have a good-going peal of eight in the magnificent tower of Groton School in the near future. New headstocks and ball bearings are to be fitted.

Groton is 38 miles from Boston. 'It seems a long way to go for a ring,' as Mr. Dick Newton tells us, 'but not so far in a Lizzie.'

His many friends will be glad to see the name of Mr. Fred Wilford, Master of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, appearing again in the peal reports. After a long abstinence from peal ringing, through a serious illness, Mr. Wilford, as recorded last week, conducted a 'centenary' Oddfellows' peal at Northampton.

The bells at Christ Church, Jarrow, were hung, a peal of six, in 1832. The first peal on them was rung on February 22nd, 1905—twenty-three years after they were cast! They were augmented to eight in 1919. The second peal on them was rung on March 7th, nine years after the octave was completed. Visiting bands are made heartily welcome by everyone but the bells. The fact of there having been only two peals rung on them speaks volumes for the 'excellence' of the 'go' of them.

It is worthy of note that Messrs. Tully and Sykes, who rang the treble and tenor on March 7th, 1928, are the only two survivors of the band who rang in the first peal on the bells in 1905, and they are both agreed that the Points' Committee should allot them at least nine points each for having promised to go and try again when the next pair of trebles is a matter of ten years old—not before! 'Uncle Justacuss,' who supplies this information, adds that someone tied the foundation stone to the 7th.

Congratulations to that talented and delightful College Youth, Challis F. Winney, who, born at Nayland, Suffolk, reaches his 70th birthday to-morrow.

Among those who were elected members of the Sussex Association at the last meeting of the Central Division was Mr. J. Whitehead, of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Brighton, where is installed the newest ring of eight in Sussex. Mr. Whitehead's name was inadvertently omitted from the report of the meeting sent to us.

A hundred and fifty years ago to-day a peal of 6,240 Treble Bob Maximus was rung at St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich, in 5 hrs. 22 mins., this being the greatest performance ever done by any society. It was rung for the Cumberland Youths by a band of Norwich ringers. John and James Frowse rang the tenor.

To-day is also the anniversary of a memorable performance at Debenham. On March 16th, 1767, 'was rang in this steeple a peal of ten thousand and eighty changes Bob Major by the Debenham company. This peal was excellently completed in six hours and one minute, a performance never before accomplished by eight men without assistance to ye great bells.'

The first true sixty courses of Stedman Caters (out of course) ever rung was on March 17th, 1846, in a peal of 7,025 at All Saints', Poplar, composed and conducted by Henry Haley.

The ringers of St. Sidwell's, Exeter, have been entertained to supper by their Rector, and they spent a very enjoyable evening with toast and song.

THE LATE MR. CARTER'S RINGING MACHINE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Before visiting Croydon on March 3rd, a brother ringer and myself from County Durham paid a visit to South Kensington Museum in order to see the late Mr. J. Carter's 'Campanmutaphone,' having read a description of the same in 'The Ringing World.'

After several inquiries we found it on the first floor of the new buildings. With it was also a splendid model of a belfry (six bells) made by Mr. T. Horrex. We should be greatly obliged if you or any reader of 'The Ringing World' could inform us if the machine can be seen in operation, and, if so, what steps are necessary to have this pleasure.—Yours faithfully,

A. COATES.

THE ROCHESTER, U.S.A., CARILLON.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In the front page of the interesting account of the All England gathering at Croydon, printed as a supplement to 'The Ringing World' in your last issue, the first word of the sixth line from the bottom of the page contains two of the twenty-six letters of the alphabet which have been struck in their wrong places, namely, the letters 'l' and 'e' in the word 'Male.'

It may interest some of your readers to know that Rochester, Minnesota, U.S.A., is the Mecca of the surgical world. That Rochester, a small and until recently a little-known country town, has become one of the most famous cities of the world is due to its fortune in being the birthplace and the scene of the labours of two of the master surgeons of the world, the two brothers, Drs. William and Charles MAYO—doubtless the donors of the carillon mentioned as the gift of two doctors of Rochester.

The letters 'l' and 'e' in the word Male should be 'y' and 'o' in the word 'Mayo.'—Yours faithfully,

J. LEONARD JOYCE.

A NATIONAL ASSOCIATION.

To the Editor.

Sir,—The question of the formation of a national association of ringers is a revival of what took place at a well-attended meeting of ringers held at Reading during the Church Congress some 45 years ago. Two excellent papers having been read, which appeared in 'Bell News,' a discussion that followed brought out the view that it would be desirable a national association of ringers should be formed, although no active steps to bring such into existence were taken.

Some years after, a meeting of ringers from various parts of the country was called at the Inns of Court, Holborn, by the late Sir Arthur P. Heywood, and the Central Council came into existence, the annual meetings of which for about 18 years I attended as the representative of 'Bell News,' as I did the Reading meeting.

Without the slightest word of disrespect toward a single member whom I had the pleasure of meeting, notwithstanding its excellent work in the past, and, may be, in the future, the Central Council has never appeared to me to be a national association, as referred to at the Reading meeting, and I have no hesitation in expressing the view that a national association is wanted. There are many questions besides those of a technical type that such an association could deal with, especially membership of more than one association, except honorary of the various branches, as the associations, etc., would become. With rules by which every belfry in the country should be visited and reported on every year, greater would be belfry reform, and the more would ringers become recognised as church workers, and the more popular would be the progress of the science.

B. KEEBLE.

'HALF THE DIFFICULTY.'

Dear Sir,—As soon as a system of national affiliation is evolved, which allows free and unrestricted peal ringing in every society or association, half the difficulties of overlapping territorial and diocesan organisations will disappear. The initial reason for the formation of such associations was, and is, the promotion of the belfry to its sacred function, and no one will deny that it has been successful. For divine service, ringers are welcome in any tower, no matter from what part of the country or association they come. If it is for peal ringing, a secular matter, we get the ridiculous formality of electing the visitor a member in the tower, and penalising him in sums varying in amount almost as much as there are numbers of associations. Is it really worth while?—Yours,

Nottingham.

A. COPPOCK.

SHEFFIELD DISTRICT SOCIETY.

MR. COLIN HARRISON'S RETIREMENT.

Despite wintry conditions, about 60 members visited St. Marie's R.C. Church, Sheffield, on Saturday, for the annual meeting of Sheffield District Society, the gathering being of a very representative character. The fine-tuned peal of eight, with tenor 25½ cwt., were constantly engaged from 3 p.m. until after 9 in the evening, except for the time occupied by the business meeting.

Canon Dolan gave the visitors a hearty welcome and spoke in high praise of his own ringers, who were a band of which he was most proud.

The balance sheet was presented, and showed a clear gain of £1 9s. on the year's finances, plus 5s. 2d. bank interest, the total assets at December 31st last being £11 17s. 3d., and 12s. 2d. cash in hand. The total membership is approximately 320, and it would appear that this will be the society's maximum, as most towers in the district are affiliated to the society, and future policy will be directed to maintaining the membership at its present standard. A total of 32 peals had been rung during the past year, comprising no less than 17 distinct methods, and of the 32 rung 13 of them had been Surprise peals. Fifteen members had conducted the peals, which ranged from Minor to Maximus and from Plain Bob to London Surprise.

Mr. J. P. Tarlton was re-elected president; Messrs. A. Knights, J. Flint, J. Holman and C. Severn, vice-presidents; J. E. L. Cockey, treasurer; A. Craven and C. Haynes, trustees; J. Thorpe and W. Stubley, auditors; R. Harrison, jun., was elected secretary; and G. Lewis, assistant secretary.

The best thanks of the society were accorded Mr. Colin Harrison for the services he had rendered during the last three years. He is vacating the post of secretary on taking up an appointment with Messrs. John Taylor and Co., Loughborough. He takes with him the good wishes of the members, who expressed the hope that his future would be as happy and successful as his connection had been with the Sheffield District Society.

New rules were adopted, and from henceforth the name of the society will be 'The Sheffield and District Society of Change Ringers,' and its area of activity will be a radius of 20 miles around Sheffield.

The suggestion of a united gathering with the Yorkshire Association (Southern Division), the Barnsley and the Doncaster District Societies, was warmly welcomed, and the proposed place of meeting is Ecclesfield, on June 16th.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

COMPLETING THE ORGANISATION.

Members of the Chertsey District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild showed considerable interest in their first district meeting, which was held at Hersham on Saturday. There was an attendance of over 40, the following towers being represented: Chertsey, Egham, Hersham, Otlands, Ottershaw, Thames Ditton, Weybridge and Walton, and visitors from Banstead, Feltham, Guildford, Hounslow, Leatherhead, London, Tunbridge Wells, and Woking.

In the afternoon, Otlands and Hersham towers were open for ringing, and the methods ranged from Grandsire Doubles to Cambridge Surprise Major. The Rev. E. R. Brittain (Vicar) conducted the Guild's service in Hersham Church, Mr. A. Chittenden, the organist, also kindly giving his aid. While admitting he had no technical knowledge of bells, the Vicar gave a most interesting and inspiring address, in which he urged his hearers to uphold the standard of their high calling.

Tea in the Church Institute was followed by the business meeting, over which the Vicar presided, supported by the Rev. W. N. Willis (Vicar of Ottershaw), Admiral T. P. Walker (hon. treasurer of the Guild), Mr. J. S. Goldsmith (hon. general secretary), Mr. A. Chittenden, etc. In a general statement, the Hon. Secretary said that the number of towers coming into the Guild under the affiliation scheme was increasing. Twenty-five had already paid the affiliation fee, and he had every reason to believe that all the towers, where there were ringers belonging to the Guild, would support the project. In the Chertsey District there were twelve towers. Ten of these had come into the Guild, and in the case of one of the others (Chobham) the affiliation fee had been paid, but for the time being the ringers refused to join. The total membership of the Guild up to that day was 428 (applause), and of these there were one honorary and 51 ringing members in the Chertsey District. It was apparent from the membership that several towers had not got a full complement of ringers, and he urged the district, as one of its first duties, to do its best to help the local bands to bring their numbers up to full strength.

The chairman and the Rev. W. N. Willis were elected honorary members, and eleven ringing members and one compounding member were elected.

THE DISTRICT OFFICERS.

Two nominations had been received for the office of District Ringing Master, viz., Mr. W. T. Beeson (Walton) and Mr. H. J. Chaffey (Chertsey). Mr. Chaffey withdrew his name, remarking that he could give just as much help to the Guild by having a free hand.—Mr. Beeson was thereupon elected.

Mr. J. B. Hessey, who was for some years district secretary of the Yorktown District of the Winchester Guild, had been nominated as hon. district secretary, but declined to stand, partly on the ground of indifferent health. Mr. Chaffey was therefore prevailed upon to undertake the duties, and unanimously elected.

There was a ballot for the ringing members on the Executive Committee, and Mr. Hancock (Ottershaw) and Mr. Hawthorne (Thames Ditton) were elected. The Rev. W. N. Willis was elected as the hon. member on the Executive Committee from the Chertsey District.

Chertsey was selected as the place for the district annual meeting in 1929, and the following towers were chosen for other meetings: Eight-bell towers: Wallon, Chobham or Weybridge, Egham; six-bell towers: Ottershaw, Thames Ditton.

It was resolved to accept in principle the scheme of weekly combined practices on the practice night of the tower to be visited, the details being left to the District Committee to work out.—Mr. A. H. Winch, who is responsible for the scheme in the Leatherhead District, said that district had embarked upon the plan, and the first meeting that week at Dorking had been a great success, several ringers being able to ring their first courses in fresh methods.

Several proposals for furthering the work of the Guild, which will have the consideration of the Executive Committee, were put forward, and the meeting also discussed the question of diplomas for young ringers—referred to the various associations by the Central Council. It was resolved that the proposal should be supported.

The Hon. General Secretary called the attention of the members to the project which was being carried out by the Winchester Diocesan Guild to erect a memorial to the late Rev. C. E. Matthews, and asked the members to give it all the support possible.

The Secretary also reminded the members that at the inaugural meeting it had been resolved to hold a summer festival at Epsom on June 30th, and he was pleased to be able to inform them that he had secured the promise of the president, the Bishop of Guildford, to preach at the service, and to join them afterwards at tea.

The meeting closed with cordial thanks to the Vicars of Hersham and Otlands for the use of the bells and to the ringers at those churches for the arrangements made. Thanks were also extended to the Vicar of Hersham for conducting the service and for his address, and also to the organist.

Afterwards, the little ringing chamber at Hersham was filled to overflowing, and touches in a variety of methods, including London Surprise Major, were rung.

The remaining district meeting to complete the organisation of the Guild will be held at Guildford to-morrow.

DUDLEY & DISTRICT GUILD INCREASE IN MEMBERSHIP.

The annual meeting of the Dudley and District Guild was held at Dudley on Saturday week, the weather being all that could be desired. The ten bells were available from three o'clock, and were kept merrily going in various methods until 4.30, when the usual Guild service was said in church, conducted by the president of the Guild, the Rev. Canon A. H. Phelps (Vicar of Dudley), who also gave an eloquent and interesting address.

At the close of the service an adjournment was made to the school-room, where a substantial tea was in readiness. The following ladies kindly presided at the tables: Mrs. Phelps, Mrs. Blaker, Mrs. Goodman, sen., and Miss Bessie Sheppard. Upwards of one hundred members and friends sat down, representing the following towers: Bilston, Hradley, Coseley, Dudley, Old Hill, Stourbridge, Smethwick, Tipton, Sedgley, Rowley Regis, Kingswinford, Netherton, West Bromwich, Wolverhampton, etc. At the business meeting which followed the chair was taken by the Rev. Canon Phelps, supported by the churchwardens (Dr. Blaker and Mr. W. Shuttleworth) and Mr. Harry Mason (vice-presidents). The chairman gave a right cordial welcome to the members to Dudley on behalf of himself as Vicar, the churchwardens, and the Parochial Church Council.

After routine business had been disposed of, the hon. secretary presented his annual report, which showed an improvement in the work of the Guild during the past year. An increase of new membership, compared with the previous year, was noted, seven new life members, six honorary members and 24 performing members having been added to the roll during the year, which spoke well for the popularity of the Guild.

The balance sheet was then read, and showed a balance at the bank, after meeting all expenses, of £12 5s. 6d.

The Rev. Canon Phelps was again unanimously elected president, and, on the proposition of Mr. H. Mason, he was heartily thanked for his past services to the Guild. The following vice-presidents were also re-elected: Messrs. J. W. Naylor, H. Watson, Arthur Spittle, C. E. Lloyd, M.P., F. R. McDowell, H. Mason, and the Rev. F. J. Chaverton, Vicar of Rowley Regis. The churchwardens (Dr. Blaker and Mr. W. Shuttleworth) were also elected as vice-presidents.

Mr. John Goodman, jun., was again elected Ringing Master, and the hon. secretary (Mr. H. Sheppard) was also re-elected unanimously, and a hearty vote of thanks was given to him for his valuable services to the Guild during the past year.

Mr. S. J. Hughes was again elected hon. treasurer, and Messrs. F. Evans and T. H. Justice were appointed auditors. Several new members (life, honorary and performing) were added to the roll.

At this point, Mr. Mason offered to Miss Sadie Pigott the hearty congratulations of the members present upon her restoration to health after a long and serious illness. Miss Pigott thanked Mr. Mason and the members for their good wishes.

The hon. secretary made an appeal to the members on behalf of Mr. A. T. Baker ('Ironous Pistor'), in his sad affliction, and the result of the appeal was that the sum of one guinea was sent to 'The Ringing World' fund.

It was mentioned that if any band required assistance they should write to the Ringing Master, 45, Holcroft Street, Burnt Tree, Tipton, Staffs. The committee also desire it to be known that there is a Guild practice at the Dudley Parish Church on the first Monday in the month at 7.45 p.m., at which all ringers will be welcomed.

At the close of the meeting, a hearty vote of thanks, proposed by Mr. Mason and seconded by Mr. John Goodman, jun., was passed to the president for his warm welcome, for his kindness in conducting the service in church, and for his eloquent address, also for the use of the bells and schoolroom. Thanks were also given to the ladies for presiding at the tables, and those ladies who had prepared and served the tea and looked after the comfort of those present. It was also desired to offer sincere thanks to the donors of the tea, the funds for which were provided by subscriptions collected by the hon. secretary from members of the Dudley Parish Church congregation, who are all staunch supporters of the Guild. Thanks were given to the assistant organist, Mr. R. Pasfield, for his kindness in presiding at the organ. Votes of thanks were passed to the officers for their past services, and to all who had in any way assisted in making this meeting the most happy and successful one that the Guild had ever had. The President briefly replied on behalf of all concerned, and the wardens gave a few encouraging remarks.

The president then closed the meeting with prayer.

It is proposed to hold the next meeting at Ponsnett, and the annual peal will be attempted at Dudley, the arrangements for same being left with the Ringing Master.

BELL HANGERS REQUIRED?

At Hartshorne, Derbyshire, on Saturday, March 3rd, 1,440 Grand-sire Doubles: P. W. Grace 1, F. Brown 2, R. H. Dove 3, F. R. Boulstridge 4, J. W. Cotton 5. First 720 conducted by R. H. Dove, second by J. W. Cotton. A greater length was impossible owing to the bad 'go' of the three back bells. The ringers were kindly entertained by the Rector (the Rev. A. R. Langhorne) afterwards.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION. DUNSTER DEANERY BRANCH.

The meetings of the Dunster Deanery Branch of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association are always well attended, and the annual meeting at Cutcombe on February 25th drew a large number of ringers to that place, there being nearly 80 members present from Cutcombe, Wootton Courtenay, Timberscombe, Old Cleeve, Winsford, Chipstable, Huish Champflower, Porlock, Selworthy, Dulverton, Milverton, Carhampton, Exton, Withypool, and Minehead.

The Rev. A. C. Jenoure (Vicar of Cutcombe), at whose invitation the gathering was held there, officiated at the service in the afternoon, which was the association's special form. Miss Hayes was the organist. On this occasion the president of the branch, Rev. T. S. Dawson, gave the address, preaching a very effective and helpful discourse from the words, 'Except the Lord build the house, they labour in vain that build it.'

The Vicar kindly entertained the ringers to tea, and at the business meeting, which followed, the chair was taken by the branch president.

Mr. G. Stacey (hon. secretary) presented a report for the year 1927, which stated that four meetings had been held and well attended. The association heartily thanked all the clergy and Church Councils for the welcomes given and for providing teas and rooms free for the meetings. Twenty-two performing and four hon. members had been elected. Several members had fallen out through not paying their subscriptions, and there were several names proposed as members and hon. members last year, but no subscriptions received. As this rather muddled up the books, the hon. secretary thought it would be a good plan to pay the first subscription when a member was elected. Regret was expressed at the loss of the Rev. E. P. Stanley, the Rev. J. C. L. Isard, and Mr. W. Newberry, who had left the deanery; and also by the deaths of Mr. J. Bulpin (Watchet), Mr. J. Kent (Selworthy), and Mr. J. Sully (Carhampton).

The company stood in silence for a moment in memory of those who had passed away.

A statement of accounts for 1927 showed on the receipts' side a total of £10 5s., made up of ordinary subscriptions £9 15s., and tower fees 10s. Of this amount, £7 had been sent to the diocesan secretary, and there was a balance in hand on the local fund of £4 6s. 6d.

On the motion of Mr. T. Newberry, seconded by Mr. H. Holloway, the accounts were passed.

MORE KEENNESS WANTED.

Mr. J. Farmer (Timberscombe), commenting on the good attendances at the meetings during the year, wished that more keenness was shown between the meetings. For instance, he said, they had a meeting and practice every month at different towers; but beyond the band belonging to the tower where the practice was held hardly anybody turned up. 'When I learned ringing first,' said Mr. Farmer, 'members would go anywhere, rain or shine, but they won't go out now if it is a little rough.' He suggested that it would make for greater keenness if there were more conductors. In some towers there was one conductor who conducted all the time, and it would be a good plan if everyone were to learn conducting (hear, hear). If that was done, there would be a good deal more interest taken, he was sure, and ringers would get to know the methods better.

The Chairman observed that if they took these remarks to heart they would, he thought, profit by it.

Mr. Stacey also expressed a similar hope during some little discussion on the suggestion.

The Rev. T. S. Dawson was re-elected branch president, by acclamation, as was Mr. G. Stacey as hon. secretary, the latter being cordially thanked for his services. Mr. Stacey said he knew they all tried to help him all they could, and if they would all do their best to look up members in arrears with their subscriptions he would be very glad. He did not like to see towers drop out of the association because their members had not paid their subscriptions. He promised to do his best as secretary for another year, but hoped that they would look out for somebody else to take his place.

Mr. W. A. Hawkins was re-elected hon. auditor and Mr. W. Hoyle (Minehead) Ringing Master, with appreciations of their services. The Chairman especially thanked Mr. Hoyle, who, he said, had done a great amount of work in getting round to different towers. They ought to thank him for his past services, and hope that they would profit by his help during the coming year (applause).

Mr. H. A. Phillips (Timberscombe) was re-elected representative on the Diocesan Committee, and thanked for his services during the year.

Four new members—Messrs. Montague Cook (Carhampton), John Turner (Old Cleeve), Edward Kent and Fred Kent (Selworthy)—were proposed and accepted.

Places suggested for the next quarterly meeting were Monksilver and St. Decuman's, and the latter place was approved by a large majority on a vote being taken.

CARHAMPTON'S DIFFICULT TASK.

The Chairman referred to the condition of Carhampton bells. Through the gudgeon of the fifth breaking, the bells were now out of action, and they had a scheme of restoration on hand. At a meeting of the Church Council it was decided to recommend that Messrs. Gillett and Johnston should carry out the work, at a cost of £430, of recasting and rehanging the bells, with steel cage, and everything new, the six bells to be rehung in such a position as to allow for two (Continued in next column.)

ASPENDEN'S OLD BELLS.

Mr. Richardson's interesting account of the above bells, and his desire for further information as to the method rung in the peal of 1746, has led me to search various authorities for the desired information. Unfortunately, I have been unsuccessful. However, the following may be of interest to your readers: Sir Henry Chauncy, Kt., who lived at Yardley Bury, Herts, in his 'Historical Antiquities of Hertfordshire,' published in 1700, states: 'Almost two miles distant from Wakeley, towards the east, stands Aspenden, so termed from the asps or adders which frequently breed in the vale. . . . The church is erected upon a side hill, near the Manor House, in the Deanery of Baldock, in the Diocese of Lincoln; whereof the chancel and church are covered with tile; and at the west end of the church a square tower is erected, where hangs a small ring of five bells, with a short shaft or spire built upon it. . . . Ralph Freeman, Esq., An. Dom. 1644, gave the treble bell to this parish church.'

The Freeman family appear to have been generous benefactors, not only to the poor of the parish, but to the church also. The manor of Aspenden was purchased in the fifth year of James I. by William and Ralph Freeman, who were London merchants. From William descended Ralph Freeman, whose name is inscribed on the tenor. He died on November 26th, 1714, aged 88 years, and was buried at Aspenden. William, whose name appears on the treble, succeeded to the estates. He died on February 6th, 1749, and was buried at Braughing, to which church he gave the first three bells, which are dated 1745. The gift is thus noted in the parish books: '1744, March 30.—William Freeman, Esq., of Hammells, gave three bells to Braughing and made frames and flooring of the bells new, and gave a new flooring for the ringers to stand on by nailing it upon the old one about seven foot higher. 1745.'

The following are the inscriptions upon the Aspenden bells:—

1 and 2.—'The gift of Wm. Freeman, Esq., Robert Phelps, Londini Facit 1736.' (Diameters, 25, 25½in.)

3.—'Robert Phelps made me 1738.' (Diameter 27in.)

4, 5, 6.—'George Chandler made me 1681.' (Diameters, 29, 30½, 32in.)

7.—'Recast by John Warner and Sons, London, 1871.' (Diameter 37½in.)

8.—'Ralph Freeman, Esq., George Chandler, made me 1681.' (Diameter 40½in.)

The seventh bell was previously inscribed: 'George Chandler made me 1681, Henry Holbeam, C.W.'

Thomas North, in 'Bells of Hertfordshire,' gives the Aspenden peal as 1764, but assuming Mr. Richardson's date, 1746, correct, may we not associate the peal of Triples rung at Braughing on September 30th, 1746, which is recorded in the belfry, with the same band? A checking of names might give the desired information. Perhaps our ringing friends at Braughing can solve the problem! G.W.C.

more to be hung when they had the money (hear, hear), 'but I want to make sure of the money first,' added Mr. Dawson. They had to raise £440 before they could attend to the present business, and that was a tremendous task for Carhampton. They were going on quietly however. At Christmas time they raised £40, and since then in other little ways they had been going on with the fund. It was a tremendous pull on Carhampton because they had no gentry in the parish except one or two who were not permanently staying there. 'So if you can excite any interest,' added the chairman, 'on behalf of our little peal at Carhampton we shall be most grateful.' He was hoping to get the job done before this year was out. He was now in correspondence with regard to the facilities, etc., and, he added, 'as soon as they are done I shall invite the association to have a meeting at Carhampton, and you will have nice new bells with all the latest devices. But help us to get them as soon as possible' (applause).

Thanks were accorded to the Rev. A. C. Jenoure for his welcome to Cutcombe, and to the organist and all who had helped to make the occasion such a success. Thanks were also passed to the officers and the chairman, and the ringers then returned to the tower, where, during the afternoon and evening, many touches were rung.

TAUNTON DEANERY.

The annual meeting of the deanery was held at Taunton recently, when the Bishop of Taunton addressed the gathering from the chancel steps of St. James' Church. Tea followed the service. The business meeting was then held, presided over by the Rural Dean (Rev. J. Lindsay Coursey). The Hon. Secretary, Mr. P. Merson, presented the report and balance sheet, which was received with satisfaction. The report stated that 11 peals had been rung under seven conductors. The peals that deserved special mention were Oxford Treble Bob Major, conducted by J. Hunt, first peal of Oxford by all the band; seven different extents of Bob Minor, conducted by H. Pocock, first as conductor; ten different extents of Surprise Minor by the Wilton band, Conductor G. Coles creating a record for the association and the West of England; also a peal of Stedman Doubles at Bishop's Hull, conducted by P. Merson, being 42 different 120's, the first of its kind rung in the country.

The officials were all re-elected, viz., Mr. P. Merson hon. secretary, Mr. J. Hunt Ringing Master, Mr. P. Merson member of general committee of diocese.—Seven new members were also elected—five performing and two honorary (Rev. J. L. Coursey and the Rev. E. Ogden).

'IRENÆUS PISTOR.'

Our fund for the assistance of Mr. Alf. T. Baker ('Irenæus Pistor') of Hillsborough, Sheffield, continues to grow in a gratifying manner, but we hope that all those who intend to contribute will do so at an early date, as the appeal will be closed immediately after Easter. We are extending it to that date so that collections made at any of the numerous association meetings held during the holidays may be added to the list.

CHELTEMHAM VETERANS.

The Parish Church and St. Mary's Guild of Ringers, Cheltenham, met on Tuesday, February 28th, and rang the 12 bells to celebrate the birthdays of Mr. A. W. Humphris and Mr. W. T. Pates (captain), the former's being on the 26th, and the latter's on the 28th. These veterans rang their first peal together on August 6th, 1883, at Upton St. Leonards.

Mr. Pates rang his first two peals at Cheltenham: Holt's Original in 1876, conducted by the late C. Hounslow (Oxford), and Holt's Ten Part in 1878, conducted by the late C. A. W. Troyt, the late J. Snowdon ringing the tenor. Mr. Pates always speaks of this as a great honour, and often comments on the fine physique of the last-named.

Mr. Pates was made captain of the Cheltenham company in 1891, which office he has held ever since. After the birthday ringing, the company was invited to the house of the captain, where his hospitality took the form of a cold supper. After some hours of sound enjoyment, the party broke up to the strains of 'Auld Lang Syne.'

DEATH OF A TAUNTON RINGER.

Mr. Isaac Creed, after an illness of seven and a half years' duration, passed away at Norton Fitzwarren, near Taunton, on the 2nd inst., at the age of 86 years, and was laid to rest in the churchyard on March 8th, amid many manifestations of esteem and respect, being carried to his last resting place by six local ringers. He leaves a widow and daughter to mourn their loss. Amongst many floral tributes was a wreath from the local band and also one from St. Mary's, Taunton, to which band in the later days of his ringing he was attached.

After the interment, the bells of the local church were rung half muffled, and in the evening two courses of Grandsire Cinques at St. Mary's, conducted by Mr. J. Burge. Mr. Creed, who was a carpenter and joiner, had worked, previous to his illness, for Mr. H. J. Spiller for 36 years, and he was a most excellent craftsman. The writer worked with him 33 years ago, and has had experience of his skill in hard woods.

In ringing, Mr. Creed was no less skilful than in his ordinary occupation. He rang altogether 64 peals, conducting 41. He acted as conductor to the Norton band for a great number of years. For about ten years, from 1899 to 1909, this band accomplished some very good performances, including peals in from seven to ten Treble Bob methods. For Queen Victoria's funeral, they rang 7,440 of Bob Doubles, February 2nd, 1901; and for King Edward's funeral, 8,180 of Grandsire Doubles. Both these peals are believed to be the longest peals of Doubles rung.

Mr. Creed was of a lovable nature, and all those who came in contact with him, whether at work or in ringing, realise they have lost a staunch comrade. May he rest in peace.

J. H.

PENHOW, MONMOUTHSHIRE.—On Tuesday, February 7th, in 45 mins., a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes): A. Flook 1, T. Morris 2, T. Edwards 3, F. Harris 4, A. Freebury 5, S. Flook 8. Rung with the bells half-muffled as a last tribute of respect to the memory of the late Field Marshal Earl Haig. First quarter-peal for all, and first on the bells.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD. DEVIZES BRANCH AT MARKET LAVINGTON.

The monthly meeting of the Devizes Branch was held at Market Lavington on Saturday, March 10th. A good number attended, and ringing commenced shortly after 3 p.m. This was continued in various methods till 4.40, when the usual Guild service was held, conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. J. A. Sturton, M.A. Tea followed at the Institute, and 27 sat down, including the Vicar, and representatives from the following towers: Devizes (St. John's, St. Mary's and St. James'), Southbroom, Bratton Holt, Trowbridge, Melksham, Bradford-on-Avon, Chirton, Warminster, Potterne, Rowde, Stourton and Market Lavington.

A short business meeting followed the tea. In the absence of the chairman (on business) and the vice-chairman (attending a Guild committee meeting at Salisbury the same afternoon), the Rev. J. A. Sturton occupied the chair.

The Secretary reported that he had heard of the death of Mr. George Meade, one of the leading ringers at Upavon for many years. Mr. Meade was fatally injured by being thrown from his cycle at Ludgershall, during the gales last month. As a mark of respect to his memory, the company stood in silence for a few moments.

Eight new members were elected—five from Marden, two from Christ Church, Bradford-on-Avon, and one from Warminster. It was decided to hold the next quarterly meeting at Westbury on the Saturday after Easter.

The Rev. J. A. Sturton welcomed those present, especially from Stourton. Mr. S. Hillier proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, for the service, and for presiding over the meeting, etc., to which the Vicar suitably replied.

This concluded the meeting, and a move was made to the tower for further ringing, which was continued till 8 p.m.

The following methods were rung during the afternoon and evening: Kent Treble Bob, Oxford Treble Bob, and Bob Minor, Stedman, Grand-sire and Bob Doubles. All the ringers were delighted with the 'go' of the bells, also with the greatly improved tone of the peal, which was fully restored in June, 1927. The local band rang their first peal of Doubles a few weeks ago.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A most successful meeting was held at Watford, ringers coming from distant towers as well as towers close by. Tea was laid in the Parish Hall and thoroughly enjoyed. Rev. Edwards, Vicar of Watford, occupied the chair, and welcomed the association in a very charming speech.

Two new members were made.—The next meeting is to be held at Bushey.

The Vicar and wardens were thanked for use of bells and for arranging the tea and for the use of the room. Ringing was carried on until 8.30 p.m.

FLAMSTEAD BELLS REDEDICATED.

The bells of St. Leonard's Church, Flamstead, were rededicated on Saturday last, after having been rehung and retuned by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, who have admirably carried out the work. After the service, 720 Bob Minor was rung in 28 mins. by: J. Hobbs (Redbourn) 1, E. Plummer (Woodford) 2, J. Marks (Wanstead) 3, H. W. Anstee (King's Walden) 4, H. J. Shepherd (Swindon) 5, C. R. Morss (Woodford) (conductor) 6.

STAFFORD RINGER'S FAREWELL.

On Sunday, February 5th, for evening service at St. Mary's Church, Stafford, as a farewell compliment to Mr. J. J. Taylor, the conductor of the band (who has now left Stafford to take an appointment in Northampton), a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes) was rung on the bells of St. Mary's Church, Stafford, in 46 mins.: F. T. Hayle 1, J. Warrilow 2, A. E. Garbett 3, A. H. Taylor 4, R. Warrilow 5, F. V. Haggis 6, J. J. Taylor (conductor) 7, W. H. Jones 8. By ringing the tenor, Mr. Jones has now rung a quarter-peal on each of the ten bells in the tower. This is the first quarter-peal of Stedman Triples rung on St. Mary's bells by Sunday service ringers, and is due largely to the efforts of Mr. Taylor, who, since being appointed conductor, has by his devotion and keenness for ringing, raised an efficient band of voluntary ringers. His services, so willingly given, are much appreciated, and he has left Stafford with the best wishes of all his colleagues.

THE VICTORY TOWER Height 300 feet

OTTAWA

Where the World's Greatest Carillon is installed.

AN EDUCATIONAL PROGRAMME.

The new Guildford Diocesan Guild is now entirely on its feet, its districts are established, and its officials are in the saddle. It has started under the happiest auspices, and the Exercise will watch with interest to see if it makes good. Its aims are high, and it is entering upon its career with plenty of enthusiasm among its members. How far the objects set before it will be achieved depends upon the extent to which that enthusiasm is maintained. In the general scheme of things which is being devised every effort is to be made to maintain interest, and it is hoped that, as far as Guild affairs are concerned, members will not be content with paying an annual subscription and attending an occasional meeting. The instructional side, it is intended, shall figure largely in the programme, in the hope of raising the standard of method ringing in all the towers; but obviously if this is to be a success it must be backed up by the members themselves, both by those who desire to learn and those with knowledge which they can impart to others.

We have always advocated a more extensive system of teaching among all the associations. It is all very well to say that a man who wants to learn, will make his own opportunities. That is quite true. The enthusiast will always find ways and means of seeking his desired end, but in the ringing Exercise, as in other pursuits, there is a far larger number who want to advance and yet do not possess the initiative or opportunity to provide their own method of progress. In our view one of the principal reasons for the existence of an association is to take the initiative and organise the opportunities for these members. If, then, they do not respond, the association cannot be blamed, but there are many ringing organisations who make little or no co-ordinated effort to help their members in this direction. From time to time we have dwelt on the desirability of a form of instruction which goes beyond merely teaching a band how to ring Grandsire Doubles or Bob Minor. In the art of change ringing we need never cease learning, and for that reason it cannot be said that an association has done its duty when it has brought a new band just into contact with the extreme edge of it.

For this reason we commend to other societies the proposals which the Guildford Guild will endeavour to carry out. There are to be weekly combined practices in each district; at the district meetings the methods to be specially practised will be decided upon beforehand, and, following the example set in Lancashire, there are to be methods on every occasion at each end of the scale. The methods selected will be on a progressive plan, and thus, it is hoped, create a sustained interest. In addition, an entirely new experiment is to be made. There is to be an attempt to teach conducting, by having special 'classes,' or meetings, for those who desire to learn or to improve their knowledge, and for this, again, it is hoped to enlist the help of all those with experience. What success will attend this departure remains to be seen, but it is something that a Guild should be prepared to venture on such a scheme. It has behind it the double object of strengthening the bands and carrying the 'education' of the ringer a stage further than that of being only a 'change ringer'; as well as providing a reserve conductor in every tower. These are ambitious proposals, but nowhere, we imagine, could a comprehensive scheme be better attempted than in a new Guild, in the full flood of a new enthusiasm, and covering a compact area throughout which there are ample means of communication by road or rail. But its success must depend upon the rank and file, and it will be their duty to support their officers if they wish to make the most of their opportunities.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

EASTERN DISTRICT MEETING AT GOOLE.

The annual meeting was held on Saturday, March 10th, and despite the wintry conditions prevailing, a representative gathering availed themselves of the kind invitation of the Vicar and churchwardens of Goole.

A short service was held in the Parish Church, when an address was given by the Vicar, the Rev. H. E. Wall, M.A., who had only been inducted to the living the previous evening by the Bishop of Sheffield. He extended a generous welcome to the gathering present, and expressed a keen desire to assist the work of the association, as did his predecessor, Bishop G. D. Iliffe, a commendable act which is greatly appreciated.

Ten was served in the Church schools, 40 members participating, and being representatives of towers at Beverley, Conisborough, Hemingbrough, Howden, Hull, Pontefract, Selby, Thorne, York, and the local company.

The business meeting followed, the vice-president, Mr. F. Cryer (Selby), occupying the chair. On the motion of Mr. H. Fairlam (Selby), it was agreed that the summer meeting be held at Snaith, no previous meeting of the association having been held there before. Five new members were elected, all of Goole: Messrs. J. Waud, G. Waud, F. Stephenson, A. Smith, and Miss Miriam Smith.

A vote of condolence was moved with the family and relatives of the late Mr. James Swift Calvert, J.P., an esteemed member of the St. James' company, Sutton-on-Hull. Deceased was also a member of the Sculcoates Board of Guardians, being at one time chairman.

The retiring officers were re-elected, with the exception of Mr. J. E. Pickard (Pontefract), who has left the country, this position being filled by Mr. H. A. Wallers (Pontefract).

A unanimous, hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Vicar for the use of the bells, service and address, the ladies who kindly served tea, and to Messrs. M. Tate and J. Drake, who worked so assiduously for the welfare of the meeting. This was responded to by Mr. J. Drake, in the absence of the Vicar (who had previously made his apologies), and this concluded a pleasant meeting.

SOUTHERN DIVISION.

The annual meeting of the Southern Division was held at Tickhill on Saturday, March 17th, and for an annual meeting the attendance was very small. Whether this was due to the fact that Tickhill is rather difficult of access from the Sheffield area, or that the members are satisfied with the officers, would be interesting to know. The towers represented were Sheffield Cathedral, Barnsley, Doncaster, Arkesey, Ecclesfield, Wortley, Rotherham and Conisborough.

The business meeting was held in the ringing chamber, Mr. G. Lewis (vice-president) being in the chair. For the annual joint meeting of the societies in the Southern Area, Ecclesfield was selected, the date being June 16th.

Mr. G. Halksworth was re-elected Ringing Master, and for the committee Messrs. H. Walker (Doncaster), Panther (Wath), and Hill (Tickhill) were elected. Mr. H. Walker was elected to general committee in place of Mr. C. Harrison, of Sheffield, who had resigned on leaving the county to take up a position with Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough.

Votes of thanks to the local company for having made all the necessary preparations concluded the meeting.

THEORY AND PRACTICE.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I should trespass if I continued to endeavour to convert 'A Plain Ringer' to views which are peculiar to myself, and I gracefully withdraw. In any case, I admire a man who is dogmatic and is unafraid to state his case.

However, as there must be many others of your readers who look upon lead 'heads' as being something quite apart from the practical, may I supplement my last letter with a final remark, and without controversial desire?

The little book 'Method Splicing' first taught me how useful this division of the leads can be to a practical ringer; it taught me that Cambridge-Primrose is not only an example of a course composed of similar rows, but that, as rows, they are one and the same method. This will explain, in part, my remark that we splice six Surprise methods in one 720 by 'ringing' only three. I hope, one day, to offer you an enlargement on this subject, when you can spare the space. But for the moment I will content myself by saying that some time, perhaps, your correspondent and I shall ring a little 'touch' together. He shall ring Cambridge, and I shall ring Primrose, while a third man shall call the bobs.—Yours faithfully,

GEO. L. JOYCE.

'BETWEEN' THE ROWS.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—It is now some thirty years since, in the pages of 'Bell News,' someone told us that changes took place 'between the rows.' I do not remember who it was, but evidently he knew nothing of nomenclature, or he would not have misled us so long. We have now to thank 'A Plain Ringer' for pointing out that 'there is nothing between the rows'; a simple self-evident truth which only needs stating to be accepted by everyone.

What the original author of this blunder meant was that it takes two rows to make a change (like two people to make a quarrel). A change is not completed until the second row is rung. This, however, does not mean that the change is 'between' the rows. The change is 'from' one row to another. If you are not ringing rounds, you cannot get rounds without a change, but that does not mean that rounds is a change.

When it is said, somewhat loosely, that all other rows but rounds are changes, all that is meant is that the starting row is the only one that is repeated, and when that is done the ringing of changes is finished for that time.

THE OCCASIONS OF MUFFLED RINGING.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Is there any rule regarding service ringing on the occasion of the death or funeral of any national or local celebrity? Should the bells be muffled, or is it incorrect to muffle them for service ringing under any circumstances?

I should imagine, of course, that this question should be decided for each individual tower by the incumbent in charge of same, but in the many cases where the incumbent takes no interest whatever in the ringing the question is left for the ringers themselves to decide, and as I am a member of a band of ringers which recently had occasion to try and settle this question for themselves, I am writing for information on the subject, as there was a very sharp division of opinion as to the propriety of ringing bells muffled for Sunday service.

Please note, I am asking for authoritative information and not for individual opinions on the subject—Yours faithfully,

P. W. CAVE.

MR. CARTER'S RINGING MACHINE.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Like Mr. Coates, on my way to Croydon on March 3rd I paid a visit to the South Kensington Museum to see the machine myself, and there I found the object of my visit in the organ section on the third floor. The machine itself is a fine piece of mechanism, and I, as a campanologist, consider it one of the sights of London, and no ringer should visit London without making an effort to see it. The machine is enclosed in a glass case, and in another case next to it and connected with it is hung a peal of bells (12, if my memory serves me right). I was at the museum about one o'clock, and I was told by the attendant who took me to the machine that if I had been staying in the museum until 3 or 4 o'clock I should have a chance of hearing the machine playing, but having to get down to Croydon I was sorry to have to leave it at that. Any person paying a visit to the museum to see the machine, should ask for the organ section, and I don't think they will have any difficulty in finding the exhibit.—Yours truly,

WALTER IDLE.

THE CURFEW.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Illness has prevented me from replying before to Mr. Drake's letter. Its appearance in your issue of March 2nd was a curious coincidence, as I had just tabled a resolution for the Central Council with reference to the 'Curfew, Angelus or other traditional bell.' The wording is proof of some community of ideas between us both.

To enter into the history of the curfew would involve much expenditure of time and no little demand on your valuable space, but I will answer the last query in Mr. Drake's letter at once.

The curfew rung at Seville is called 'Queda,' from the verb Quedar, meaning to stay or remain. An ancient regulation required inhabitants of the city to repair to their dwellings at the sound of the bell and remain there for the night. A firmly-established tradition ascribes this ordinance to Don Pedro the Cruel (14th century), who answers in that respect to William the Conqueror. In Spain, as in England, the restrictions have long since been removed, but the curfew continues to be rung. Actually, it is rung between 9 and 10 from October to March, and between 10 and 11 from April to September. Either time would be very early for a Spaniard to retire, as in Madrid theatres frequently open at 11 p.m.

While the Cathedral bells are used at frequent intervals for ecclesiastical purposes—in some cases for services no longer held, which fact bears out Mr. Drake's suggestion—the curfew is recognised as a civil institution and paid for out of the city funds.—Yours faithfully,

F. L. EDWARDS.

HOW TIME FLIES!To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Will you kindly allow me, through your columns, to correct an error made by my old friend George Flavel re the touch of 1,263 Stedman Caters rung at St. Giles', Northampton, on March 6th, and which was recorded in your last issue of March 16th, stating that 'it was rung on the 46th anniversary of his first peal of Stedman Cinques.' As one who took part in this peal, I may say it was rung on Saturday, March 6th, 1880, at St. Bride's, Fleet Street, and is recorded in my private peal book, which nearly every London ringer of that time has seen. This would make it 48 years instead of 46.—Yours truly,

HENRY A. HOPKINS,
Royal Cumberland Youths, London.

YORK MINSTER BELLS.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In your issue of March 9th Mr. Colin Harrison is reported to have said that the magnificent ring of twelve at York Minster was the outcome of Mr. A. Walker's speech at the Yorkshire Commemoration Dinner some years ago. Kindly allow me to correct that statement. What did happen was this. The local ringers, after constant complaints to the Minster authorities about the bad going of some of the bells, succeeded in enlisting the sympathy of the Dean (Dr. W. Foxley Norris), and he graciously undertook to have the bells put in order. This occurred before the above-mentioned dinner was held. Afterwards, it was largely a question of £ s. d. as to what was to be done, and also who was to have the handling of this formidable task. Fortunately, the Rev. Canon Nolloth was placed at the helm, and the result is York Minster's magnificent peal of twelve, with an extra A flat bell added, also 'Great Peter' recast and rehung. May St. Martin's, Birmingham, have the same good fortune.—Yours faithfully,

T. F. EARNSHAW

BARNSELEY AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

A monthly meeting of the Barnsley and District Association was held at Royston on Saturday, March 10th, when members attended from Wath, Shelley, Darfield, Felkirk, Sandal, Barnsley, and the local company. The bells were rung from 3.15 p.m. until 9 p.m., in a wide variety of Minor methods. A short service, at the request of the Vicar, was held in church, and was well attended, the ministrations of Rev. Lambert being much appreciated. He did not fail in his duty to stress the faith and duty of Christian ringers, and to act well their part.

Tea followed, and here the churchwardens, some of the lady churchworkers, and others met to give welcome to the ringers. After tea, the Vicar kindly took the chair for the business meeting. The chief item came at the end, when the President, Mr. J. Moxon, and vice-president, Mr. W. Reyner, put forward a vote of thanks for all the generosity and kindness received by the association. They begged for recognition and consideration from all within the church to ringers, who desire that touch of feeling that makes the whole world kin.

The Vicar replied in feeling terms, and expressed a warm desire to see and know more of such important work.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Sir Henry Chauncy, Kt., who was recently referred to in these columns as being the author of 'Historical Antiquities of Hertfordshire' (1700), was a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths.

A band at Rishton, Lancs, all under 21 years, whose average age is 18½, are ringing Treble Bob Major for Sunday services, and they would like to know if there is any younger local company doing this.

Mr. David Collins, the veteran Suffolk ringer, recently celebrated his 80th birthday, and the bells at Worlingworth were rung in honour of the event, the veteran himself ringing the tenor to a 704 of Oxford Treble Bob Major.

'Oranges and lemons, say the bells of St. Clement's,' and the old nursery rhyme will become true again on March 31st, when the bells of St. Clement Danes, London, ring for the festival at which the children will receive gifts of oranges and lemons. Particulars of the ringing will be found among the notices.

The bells of St. Philip's Cathedral, Birmingham, will be broadcast on Sunday, from 7.50 to 8 p.m.

At the triennial election of parish councillors held in the Town Hall, Clun, Salop, on the 12th, Mr. W. Mead (churchwarden and district hon. secretary of the Hereford Guild) was re-elected at the head of the poll, another ringer, Mr. S. W. Roberts, being second. Unfortunately, Mr. Mead was not able to be present owing to an illness which has kept him indoors since the beginning of the month.

The 18½ ton bell at Croydon, on the occasion of the 'All England' meeting, sounded round the world, for not only did the press of this country give extensive notice of the event, but the newspapers of two continents have talked about it. Already a cutting from the 'Detroit News,' describing the bell and the gathering, has reached us, and Detroit is 12 days' mail journey distant from Woking.

The first peal of Reverse Bob Major was rung at Harrietsham, Kent, on March 23rd, 1751. It was conducted by that famous old ringer, James Barham.

On the same day in 1783, at Fulham, the College Youths rang 5,020 Old Double Caters, 'being the first peal ever rung in that method.'

A year later, on March 24th, 1784, the same society rang at St. Bride's, Fleet Street, 5,160 'Double Twelve In,' and two days afterwards they rang at St. Saviour's, Southwark, 6,048 'Real Double Twelve In.'

While the College Youths were busy with those performances, the Royal Cumberland Youths set about the Treble Bob Royal record, and at Shoreditch on March 27th, 1784, rang the peal of 12,000, in 9 hrs. 5 mins., which stood as the record until 1911.

March 27th is also the anniversary of the first peal of Superlative Surprise Royal, which was rung at Wakefield in 1826. It was a hundred years before the next was rung—at Surfleet.

A peal of 'New Double Tripples,' being the only peal that was ever completed in that method, was rung at Shoreditch on March 28th, 1750.

On March 29th, 1762, the College Youths rang a peal of 10,080 Grandsire Caters, in 6 hrs. 53 mins.

This is not a bad record for one week of anniversaries of events 150 to 200 years ago. There were enterprising ringers and giants in the Exercise even in those days.

FROM THREE TO EIGHT.

LILLINGTON'S NEW OCTAVE.

Some months ago the three old bells which hung in the tower of the Church of St. Mary Magdalene, Lillington, were taken down by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, and sent to their foundry, where they were tuned, and five new bells added to make the octave:—

Tenor.—9 cwt. 0 qr. 18 lb., F sharp. Henry Bagley made me, 1675.

6.—7 cwt. 0 qr. 20 lb., A sharp. By Thomas Harrys, London, about 1480.

5.—5 cwt. 1 qr. 3 lb., B. To the glory of God and in memory of Mary Bidemead, Stratton, who passed to eternal rest on August 14th, 1926. And little children's voices echo answer, making Alleluia.

4.—5 cwt. 1 qr. 27 lb., C sharp. In memoriam, Mary Bidemead, Stratton.

3.—4 cwt. 2 qr. 24 lb., D sharp. Ditto.

2.—3 cwt. 3 qr. 24 lb., E sharp. Ditto.

Treble.—3 cwt. 3 qr. 16 lb., F sharp. Ditto.

Also on each of the new bells, M. and S., London, 1927.

The bells have been hung in a new oak frame, with all the latest fittings, including ball bearings and iron headstocks. The cannons of the three old bells have not been removed.

After the dedication took place on December 19th last, members of the Warwickshire Guild of Ringers from Rugby and Allesley rang a touch of Stedman Triples, also a course of Cambridge Surprise Major, in which Mr. A. A. Hughes, of Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, took part.

On Saturday, March 3rd, members from the same towers rang a peal of Stedman Triples upon the bells, a report of which has appeared in 'The Ringing World.' It was agreed by all the band that Messrs. Mears and Stainbank have carried out the work in a most excellent manner.

RE-DEDICATION OF FLAMSTEAD BELLS.

The bells of St. Leonard's Church, Flamstead, Herts, which have been tuned and rehung by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, were, as already briefly recorded, rededicated on Saturday afternoon, March 10th, at a service of thanksgiving conducted by the Vicar (Rev. F. C. Clare), at which the Rev. H. W. B. Berry, Vicar of Redbourn, Herts, was the preacher. Prayers were said at the tower arch for benefactors, ringers and workmen, for the sick, and the departed, and, after the prayers and before the last hymn, the ringers rang the bells for a few minutes. A new window in the tower and extensive works of repair were blessed at the same time. The sermon was an earnest appeal to all to respond to the real message of the bells, and was greatly appreciated.

After the service, tea was provided at the Vicarage by the Vicar and Mrs. Clare, to which the ringers, visitors from other places, and several office holders of the parish were invited.—After tea, happy speeches were made by the Vicar, Mr. Hayes (leader), Mr. F. Smith (vice-leader), Major Deacon (architect), and Mr. H. W. Austee, a former leader, and the Flamstead ringers gave a few tunes on the handbells. The party then adjourned to the belfry, where various touches were rung.

It is agreed on all sides that the bells, five of which are dated 1664 and one 1729, are vastly improved in tone, and the new method of hanging has greatly eased the task of the ringers.

BELLS OF ST. MARTIN'S, BIRMINGHAM.

A NEW PEAL OF TWELVE FOR THE BULL RING.

The contract has now been placed with Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, of the Whitechapel Foundry, for the recasting of the bells of St. Martin's, Birmingham. The famous church in the Bull Ring is to have a new Simpson-tuned peal of 12 bells, with a tenor about 37 cwt., slightly heavier than the present tenor. The old wooden frame, which is in an excellent state of preservation, is to be retained.

By this decision of the church authorities the old bells will go back to the foundry whence they came, for they were, nearly all of them, cast by Lester, Pack and Chapman. There were six bells in the tower from 1682 to 1758, when Lester and Pack supplied a new peal of ten, and in 1771 two trebles were added to make a ring of twelve.

For the purposes of its bells, St. Martin's is exceedingly fortunate. It is recorded that 'Jno. Billingsley, A.D. 1629, left a croft of land to provide bell ropes.' This croft is now situated in one of the busiest thoroughfares in Birmingham, and having been built upon and duly appreciated in value, St. Martin's bells have never been silent for want of ropes, while in these days there is a bumping surplus which has enabled the present recasting scheme to be undertaken.

The magnificent tower, with its lofty spire 220 feet high, is a nobly proportioned structure, and was built about the year 1690.

DIVISION OF THE MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

UNANIMOUS REJECTION OF SCHEME BY BURTON DISTRICT.

The first district meeting of the year was held at Overseal on Saturday, March 17th, when upwards of twenty ringers and friends were present from Burton, Ashby, Measham, Newhall, Repton, Uttoxeter, Melbourne and the local company, whilst Mr. J. H. Shepherd, of Swindon, also arrived at teatime. The methods rung during the afternoon and evening included Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Bob Minor and Major.

A capital tea had been prepared in the schools by the Overseal lady ringers and friends, this being followed by the business meeting. The Rev. H. E. Worthington, Rector of Seales, presided.

For the impending vacancy of treasurer, no one from the district coming forward for office, Mr. E. W. Beadsmoore proposed, and Mr. J. W. Cotton seconded, the nomination of Mr. Albert Coppock, of Nottingham.

As an amendment, the local Secretary (Mr. R. H. Dove) proposed the nomination of Mr. Walter Wallace, of Derby. Mr. W. Brooker seconded, and on being put to the vote Mr. Coppock was nominated. It was, however, resolved to nominate Mr. Wallace in the event of the former's refusal to hold office.

For the vacancy on the Central Council caused by the death of Mr. Pryce Taylor, of Loughborough, Mr. J. H. Swinfield was unanimously nominated as delegate.

Nominations for these two offices had been made at the annual district meeting in January, but the persons nominated had declined to hold office.

The Rev. J. R. King, Vicar of Measham, who was present, invited the district to hold their next meeting at his church on Saturday, April 28th, this being carried.

The final and most important item on the agenda, was the discussion of the proposed formation of Diocesan Guilds for the respective dioceses of Derby, Leicester, Lichfield and Southwell. Various items from 'The Ringing World' were read, and a discussion then took place, the principal speakers being the two clergy present, and Messrs. J. H. Swinfield, E. W. Beadsmoore, J. W. Cotton and R. H. Dove.

The district covers portions of the dioceses of Derby, Leicester and Lichfield, Burton itself being in two dioceses. There is a membership in the district of 81 ringing members, nearly 10 per cent. of the total membership. Of these, 21 are in Leicester diocese, 29 in Lichfield, and 31 in Derby. It was pointed out that if the association were divided into Diocesan Guilds, no fewer than three districts would come under Leicester, namely, Leicester, Hinckley and Loughborough (with few exceptions), in addition to several towers from the Burton district. This would probably cause dissatisfaction in other quarters when the time came for the apportioning of the funds.

Altogether it was decided amongst those present at the meeting that the scheme, as the members understood it, was quite impracticable in the district.

The following resolutions were accordingly passed unanimously:—

'That the members of the local committee be authorised to vote against the scheme at the forthcoming annual meeting.'

'That as the members were insufficiently informed as to the exact proposals, the matter be left over to the following annual meeting, by which time a vote of the whole association could be taken, and the matter properly discussed amongst the several districts.'

This concluded the business, after which a vote of thanks was passed to the ladies for their help with the tea, and to the Rector for his presence and permission for the use of the bells.

Further ringing in the evening concluded the meeting.

CONDUCTED FIVE HUNDRED 720'S.

At Lambethurst, Kent, on Thursday, March 15th, for practice, 720 Plain Bob: J. J. Bassett (aged 12 years, first 720) 1, A. Relfe (conductor) 2, G. Fuller 3, A. Marshall 4, A. Smith 5, J. Waghorn 6. This was A. Relfe's 503th 720 as conductor.

THE LADIES' PEAL OF MAJOR.

A BAND WHO MADE RINGING HISTORY.

The first peal of Major rung by a band of ladies was achieved, it will be remembered, as recently as January 7th of this year, at St. Mary's, Handsworth, Sheffield, and was a notable performance. It was rung under the auspices of the Ladies' Guild and the Yorkshire Association by: Mrs. C. Ryder treble, Miss Elsie Smith 2, Mrs. Hilda Jacques 3, Miss Eva Hopkins 4, Miss Molly Davenport (conductor) 5, Miss Noel Cawthorne 6, Miss Amy Taylor 7, Miss Elizabeth Foulk tenor. By the courtesy of Mr. William Willson, of Leicester, we are enabled to publish this photograph of the band.

fact that she only rang her first peal on January 23rd, 1926, since when she has rung six more, total seven. Cupid whispers that she is about to change again, this time a 'spliced' method in conjunction with a well-known clerical ringer.

Miss Noel Cawthorne also hails from Handsworth, and therefore was quite at home in her own tower. She rang her first 5,040 on November 1st, 1924, and has now five 'scalps' in her vanity bag.

Miss Amy Taylor, of Worksop, is a bashful maiden, with very little opportunities for peal ringing, but the fact that she rang the 7th bell in a Major peal is a hallmark of ability. A badly-rung seventh can spoil the best tenor ringer's efforts, and it is on record that Miss Taylor struck her bell splendidly. She has rung two peals up to the present.

Miss E. Foulk (Duffield) is one of the few 'Tenoras' in the Exercise. Her first essay as a peal ringer was on St. Valentine's Day, February 14th, 1925. She is equally at home on any other bell, and has rung peals of Grandsire and Stedman Triples (inside) for the M.C.A. The choice of Miss Foulk for the tenor was a good one. Among the sterner sex, the ringer of that bell has a duty to 'shepherd' the strollers when the 'colts' run green, and it must be infinitely more difficult with a band of 'les filles.' Miss Foulk's total of peals is 11.

'WHO'S WHO' IN THE LADIES' BAND.

Mrs. C. Ryder, Rotherham, who rang the treble, was the first lady to ring a peal for the Yorkshire Association. She rang her first in March, 1913, and has scored 30 peals.

Miss Elsie Smith (Norton) accomplished her first in November, 1922, and since that time has accounted for three others; total, four.

Mrs. Hilda Jacques (Mansfield-Woodhouse) was better known as Miss Hilda Willson, of Leicester, before her marriage. She rang her first peal at the age of 13. The next year scored two in one day—Stedman Caters and Double Norwich. Has rung 33 peals in most methods on eight and ten bells, including Superlative, Cambridge, and London Surprise, and conducting one of Treble Bob.

Miss Eva Hopkins learned to ring a bell at Handsworth, and made her debut as a peal ringer there March 11th, 1922. Up to the present she has rung a total of six peals.

Miss Molly Davenport (Dore), the conductress, is to be congratulated on calling the peal from an inside bell. Her skill is obvious from the

As this performance was rung under the auspices of the Yorkshire Association, it has been suggested that it be commemorated by a peal tablet. It goes without saying that if some member of the Y.A. will initiate a fund, other subscriptions will follow. The writer is promised several, even from Aberdeen. Verb sap.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

KEENNESS IN THE GUILDFORD DISTRICT.

The concluding meeting in connection with the organisation of the four districts into which the new Guildford Diocesan Guild has been formed was held on Saturday, when members of the Guildford District met in their cathedral city, and the greatest keenness was shown. Splendid use was made of the ring of ten bells at St. Nicolas' Church during the afternoon, several members getting their first touches of Caters or Royal. The Guild's service was well attended, and an admirable address given by the Rev. J. M. la F. McNally (Rector of Haslemere). After tea at the Prince of Wales Assembly Room, the business meeting was presided over by Mr. Walter Harrison, supported by the Master of the Guild (Major J. H. B. Hesse), the hon. treasurer (Admiral T. P. Walker, D.S.O.), the hon. general secretary (Mr. J. S. Goldsmith), and nearly 70 members from the following towers: Guildford (Cathedral and St. Nicolas'), Chiddingfold, Cranleigh, Godalming, Haslemere, Mew, Pirbright, Shalford, Shere, West Clandon, Witley, Woking and Worplesdon. There were also visiting members from Aldershot, Bagshot, Barnet, Dorking, Farnham, Leatherhead, Portsea and Thursley. A warm welcome was given by the chairman and members to Mr. A. H. Pulling, who was present at the first meeting he has been able to attend since his accident more than six months ago.

The Hon. Secretary, in a statement on the position of the Guild, said the towers were rapidly coming into the affiliation scheme, and 28 out of the 56 in the diocese had actually paid the affiliation fee, while others had pledged themselves to do so. In the Guildford District 17 out of the 21 towers had either paid or promised to pay the affiliation fee, and he thought that what they started as a venture of faith might now be said to be an assured success. Up to that moment they had 448 members, representing 48 towers. The Guildford District had members from 19 out of the 21 towers in the area, the roll including 129 ringing and 24 hon. members. The old Guildford District was looked upon as one of the strongest in the Winchester Diocesan Guild, but the Guildford Diocesan Guild had not only got affiliated to it all the towers in the diocese that were formerly in membership with the Winchester Guild through the Guildford District, but 16 others in that area which were not in membership (applause). He thought that was an admirable result of their work, and the best justification for having established a new Guild (applause).

Mr. H. Mayers, of Godalming, was elected an honorary member, and 20 ringing members were elected from Worplesdon (3), Womersley (1), Godalming (2), Haslemere (1), Cathedral (4), St. Nicolas' Guildford (1), and Mew (8).

THE DISTRICT OFFICERS.

The Cathedral Society had suggested that there should be joint Ringing Masters for the district, one to be elected from an eight-bell tower, and one from a six-bell tower; also that owing to the size of the district there should be an assistant or organising secretary.

Considerable discussion took place on the question of the joint mastership, but eventually it was resolved that there should be only one. For the office, two nominations had been received—Mr. A. C. Hazelden (St. Nicolas', Guildford) and Mr. W. J. Robinson (Cathedral). On a show of hands, Mr. Hazelden was elected.

Three nominations had been received for the secretaryship, and, after close voting, Mr. N. V. Harding, of Orchard Cottage, West Clandon, a young and enthusiastic ringer, was elected.

It was resolved to appoint an assistant organising secretary, and this post was filled by the election of Mr. W. R. Melville.

For the two ringing members on the Executive Committee, six names had been nominated, but Mr. Hazelden, having become an ex-officio member, five went to the ballot, with Messrs. F. W. Rogers (Portsea) and E. Nye (Bagshot) as scrutineers. The result was announced later, when the Chairman declared Messrs. C. N. Burdock (Cathedral) and B. Whittington (Cranleigh) elected.

Only one nomination had been received as the hon. member of the district on the Executive Committee, and the Hon. Secretary stated that Mr. Walter Harrison was therefore elected. This was received with loud applause, for Mr. Harrison has rendered invaluable service to the Guild throughout the period of its organisation.

It was resolved that the annual meeting of the district should be held at Guildford on January 19th, 1929, and that district meetings be held, on dates to be arranged by the secretary, at Shere and Albury, Mew and Clandon, Haslemere, Bramley and Womersley, and Godalming. The selection of these five was made to fit into the general scheme by which there will be a meeting somewhere in the Guild area once a fortnight. A joint meeting with the Leatherhead District at Shere was also approved.

The meeting also approved in principle of district combined practices, the details being left to the District Committee. It was also resolved that special methods should be selected beforehand for practice at the district meetings. The methods for the first six-bell meeting will be Grandsire Doubles and Bob Minor for beginners; Oxford and Sandal Treble Bob for the more advanced. For the first eight-bell practice, Grandsire Triples and Bob Major for beginners, and Shipway's Court Major for the more advanced. The idea behind the scheme is to lead on by easy stages to the Surprise methods both on six and eight bells.

BOTTESFORD BELLS RESTORED.

OLD PEAL RETUNED AND HUNG IN NEW FRAME.

For some considerable time it was known that something must be done to the ancient ring of eight bells at St. Mary's, Bottesford. The 'go' had become very bad, and the peal was sadly out of tune. It was therefore decided to call in experts, and they were firmly of the opinion that to continue ringing would result in some serious mishap. The old oak beams which supported the frame were sadly decayed, and it was deemed advisable to clear out the whole of the frame and the old beams.

With the knowledge of what needed to be done, and with the realisation that the present generation had a duty to perform, steps were taken to raise the necessary funds to carry out the work of restoration. This contract was eventually entrusted to Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, who removed the bells to the foundry for tuning and alterations. The bells have been rehung in a new cast-iron frame, which is carried on 15in. rolled steel girders built firmly into the walls of the tower, the whole peal being fitted with new cast-iron headstocks and hung on ball bearings. They have been placed about 14 feet lower in the tower, which has necessitated the erection of a new ringing chamber. The whole work reflects the greatest credit on the firm.

A special reopening and thanksgiving service took place on Saturday, March 10th. The preacher was the Rev. B. H. Smith, M.A., M.C., honorary secretary of the Framland Society of Bellringers. The lessons were read by the Rev. C. J. Sturton, Vicar of Orston, and a popular campanologist. Preceded by the churchwarden, the clergy passed to the west end of the nave, where appropriate dedicatory prayers were read by the Rector, the Rev. F. Walford, M.A., a few well-struck rounds being rung whilst the clergy returned to the chancel.

The Rev. B. H. Smith preached a most instructive sermon, taking as his text the words, 'Father, I thank thee.' He said they were met that day in an act of thanksgiving to Almighty God for the success which had crowned their efforts for the restoration of the bells of their beautiful church. To have raised such a large sum in so short a time for the purpose of God's house was a splendid achievement. He felt sure the small amount required would be as gladly given as the larger amounts had been.

Immediately after the blessing, the bells were set going, when a perfect touch of Grandsire Triples was rung by: A. Mackears 1, M. Bend 2, S. Proctor 3, E. Nidd 4, H. Thorpe 5, R. H. Bartram 6, A. W. Ward 7, T. H. Hall 8. Ringers were present from Grantham, Melton Mowbray, Hough-on-the-Hill and Loughborough, Messrs. Taylor and Co. being represented by Mr. J. Oldham and Mr. W. Smith, the bell-hanger. The tone and 'go' of the bells is excellent, and it is agreed on all sides that Messrs. Taylor and Co. deserve great praise for the splendid improvement they have made. That Bottesford people are justly proud of their fine old bells is proved by the way they have responded to the appeal, as practically the whole of the money required is raised, with the exception of about £50.

A. W. W.

The suggestion for a series of meetings for conductors' instruction also met with approval, and details of this will be arranged by the committee.

'Diplomas for young ringers,' referred to the associations by the Central Council, was discussed, and, on the motion of Mr. Melville, seconded by Admiral Walker, who made excellent speeches in favour of the proposal, it was resolved, with only two dissentients, to approve of the scheme.

The General Secretary mentioned that the Bishop of Guildford had promised to attend the summer festival at Epsom on June 30th and preach at the service. He also renewed the appeal made on behalf of the memorial fund being raised by the Winchester Diocesan Guild towards providing three new bells, to make a ring of eight at Milford-on-Sea in memory of the late Master of the Guild (Rev. C. E. Matthews).

The Chairman mentioned the important matter of the suggested amalgamation of the Guild with the Surrey Association, which was to be discussed by the latter on the following Saturday, and urged the members to give it their careful consideration in case the matter was referred to them by the Surrey Association.

Votes of thanks to the Rector of St. Nicolas' and St. Nicolas' band, to the preacher, the organist, and the Chairman concluded the meeting.

THE CROYDON PARTY.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Will you allow me through your columns to say a brief word in warm admiration of everything at the Croydon Bell Foundry on the 3rd inst.? First, of the bells themselves. All of them, large and small, struck me as being beautifully pure in tone, while the sound of the large ones came as nothing short of a revelation. Bells of a weight comparable to them, and certainly coming anywhere near the weight of the Great Bourdon bell, have, so far as my limited experience goes, given forth not one but a discordant mixture of several notes; and these bells of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston have ushered us into a new era. Truly, the firm is to be most warmly congratulated, as are also England, whence they come, and America, whither they go.

Then as to the party. Never in all my ringing career have I seen such a gathering or a happier one. It was delightful to meet old friends from all parts of the country. The arrangements were perfect in every respect for enabling the vast crowd to see all parts of the works, and were a striking testimony to the care and thought and organisation that had been bestowed on every particular. For myself, I owe a special debt of gratitude to Mr. Cyril Johnston, who had the heavy ten rung for my personal benefit just before I had, to my intense regret, to leave at half-past three. They form a glorious ring-of-ten.

May I, in conclusion, Sir, add a word of warm congratulation to yourself for the full and admirable report given of this unique occasion in last week's 'Ringing World'? This must have been a matter of no light undertaking, and with the excellent illustrations will form a valuable record in time to come.

Only one point more. Cannot we get the sound of these glorious bells broadcast on the wireless? If there is any music worthy of it, it is surely this.—Yours truly,

CHARLES D. P. DAVIES.

Kemerton, Tewkesbury.

A SALOP PEAL REHUNG.

Another milestone in the history of the ancient village of Worthen, Salop, which, it is interesting to note, was formerly a market town under charter of Henry III., was reached with the rededication of the rehung ring of six bells by the Lord Bishop of Hereford on Saturday, March 10th.

The tower, whilst laying no claim to architectural beauty, is imposing with its massive ruggedness, signifying it was built for use and not for ornament, for it must be borne in mind that owing to the nearness of the Welsh Border it was not immune from the attacks of the marauders from that country in the days of old.

As far as can be ascertained, the earliest record of bells hanging in the tower is that of four bells, hung in an oak frame, in the year 1616; in 1850 they were recast into a peal of six at the Whitechapel Foundry. Owing to the dilapidated condition of the frame and fittings, the bells have remained unringed for many years. In view of the large sums of money necessary for the restoration of the church fabric and schools, the parishioners were reluctantly compelled to leave the bells in their unsatisfactory state. To all appearances it seemed likely that this state of affairs would last indefinitely, but, thanks to the munificence of Mr. John Powell, of Birmingham, whose ancestors have been connected with Worthen since 1568, the bells have been tuned and rehung in a new and massive iron frame on a foundation of heavy steel girders, by Messrs. John Taylor and Company, Loughborough. All the fittings are entirely new, and incorporate all the improvements introduced by that firm, including ball bearings. A nicely-executed tablet on the north wall of the nave records Mr. Powell's magnificent gift.

The honour of reopening the bells was accorded to the ringers of Conbrookdale Parish Church, who spoke highly of the tone and 'go.' Following the raising of the bells in peal, Grandsire, Stedman Doubles and Plain and Treble Bob Minor were rung.

The late hour of the special service debarred many from attending this out of the way place, but much enthusiasm was displayed locally. The dedicatory prayers and eloquent address of the Bishop were followed with interest. Immediately after the Benediction, the Bishop, clergy, and congregation remained seated whilst five of the 'Dale' ringers rung on handbells a well-struck course of Grandsire Caters, an innovation that called forth well-earned compliments, and later in the evening, in between ringing on the tower bells, the visitors were prevailed upon to oblige with a few selections on handbells, which were rendered in masterly style.

That the visiting ringers' services were appreciated is evidenced by the manner in which the Vicar (Canon Bell) entertained them, also in the kindness of the churchwardens who entertained them previous to returning to the 'home' position, and to these gentlemen thanks are accorded.

It is understood that a band of young ringers is in course of formation, whose intention it is to join the Shropshire County Association and the Hereford Diocesan Guild. To them we wish every success.

WEST GRINSTEAD, SUSSEX.—On Wednesday, March 14th, for Confirmation service, 720 Woodbine and 720 Cambridge Surprise: V. Turrell 1, R. Stredwick 2, G. Warnett 3, V. Goatcher 4, H. Turrell 5, W. Denman (conductor) 6.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The meeting of the North and East District of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild, arranged at Hornsey on Saturday last, proved an attraction to some 38 members, who enjoyed good practice on the fine-toned peal of six hung in the old tower, which now stands alone. The ancient church has recently been demolished, and the services are held in a stately edifice some 50 yards from the site of the original building.

Ringings commenced at three o'clock, and at 5 p.m. the usual service was held. The Rector (Rev. H. C. Mountgomery Campbell) preached one of the most instructive and useful sermons that the writer has heard for a long time.

An excellent tea was served in the Church Hall, after which the business meeting was held. Hendon was chosen for the next meeting, if possible on May 5th.

Votes of thanks to the Rector for his address at the service and for presiding at the meeting, and to the local ringers for the excellent way in which matters had been arranged, were unanimously passed.—The Rector, in acknowledging the thanks of the members, gave the association a hearty welcome, and expressed a hope that another such meeting would be held at no distant date.

The tower was afterwards visited, and several touches rung, the methods practised being Grandsire Doubles, Plain and Kent Treble Bob, Cambridge and London Surprise Minor.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A successful meeting of the Southern District was held at Lambeth on Saturday last, and was largely attended by members and friends from a wide area. As ringing facilities were rather restricted, an early start was necessary, and, therefore, soon after 2.30 the bells were merrily swinging to the good old tune of Stedman Triples. No time was to be lost, so a succession of touches in various methods followed, including Cambridge Surprise Major. About 4.30 the company attended service, a shortened form of evensong being used, with a brief address. The organ helped largely in the musical parts, and was very ably played by one of the members, Mr. James Archer, of the Woolwich band. Tea was partaken of at the Old Brew House, an ancient building attached to Archbishop Tait's Infants' School, and 29 'hefty chaps' did full justice to the fare provided.

At the business meeting, the usual routine was disposed of in the shortest possible time commensurate with efficiency, and a return was then made to the tower, where 'more ringing' was indulged in till the hour for evening service. The company then adjourned to a nearby place, where the time passed pleasantly, the members being entertained with some splendid handbell tune ringing by Messrs. Goddard, Trioker and Ellingham, of Hounslow, their efforts being lustily applauded by an appreciative audience. Messrs. Smith, Goddard and Herbert rendered songs, and courses of Grandsire Triples, Caters and Bob Major were rung by any heroes who had pluck enough to 'have a cut.' Grandsire Doubles on 12 bells in the Queen's Position (Goddard's Variation) was most ably done, and was voted both tuneful and interesting. During the meeting, a hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Rector and churchwardens for the use of the bells, to the curate for conducting the service, to Mr. Archer for his able manipulation of organ and piano in the musical department, and lastly, but by no means least, to Mr. Wyatt, of Lambeth, for the splendid work put in to make the meeting the success it was.

LYDNEY RINGER HONOURED.

On Saturday last a few very old ringing colleagues hailing from Gloucester and Newport, Mon., journeyed to Lydney to honour and celebrate the 60th birthday of Mr. John W. Davies, the local leader, and together with four of the locals started the proceedings by making an attempt for a peal of Triples. It was one of the 'off' days, and, as is often the case when a peal is specially wanted, things would not go right. After an hour and a half's ringing, down came the fourth rope, which put 'paid' to the peal. However, after putting another rope on, a very good quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung by: O. Thomas 1, J. Austin (conductor) 2, N. Rees 3, J. Gillett 4, J. W. Jones 5, W. Harris 6, J. W. Davies 7, A. Sandford 8. All were afterwards the guests of Mr. Davies at the Cross Keys Hotel, where an excellent cold supper was found waiting on the table, to which real good justice was done.

The toast of 'The King' was given by Mr. Davies, and his Majesty's health drunk. This was followed by the toast of the evening being proposed by Mr. Jones wishing Mr. Davies 'very many happy returns' and continued good health.

Mr. Jones remarked that the association of Mr. Davies and himself was an unbroken one of just forty years, which commenced at Caeleon, at that time the only tower for many miles which had a ring of eight bells, and where Triples and Major could be obtained.

Mr. Austin spoke of the happy relations that for a great many years had existed between himself and Mr. Davies, and the good times and ever welcome spirit that prevailed at Lydney. Others also had a good word, especially Mr. N. Rees, one of the local ringers.—Mr. Davies' reply was that his life of ringing had been a great labour of love, and he thanked all for coming to Lydney to honour him.

A most happy and convivial evening was spent, and it was unanimously decided that the same band should again attempt the peal, which no doubt will find a permanent record in the proper place.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION. EASTERN DIVISION.

The annual meeting was held at Christ Church, Blacklands, on Saturday, March 17th. About 22 ringers attended, representing the following towers: Battle, Brighton (St. Peter's), Eastbourne (St. Saviour's), St. Leonards (Christ Church), Hastings (St. Clement's), Rye, Salehurst, together with members of the local band. During the afternoon the bells were kept going in various methods.

A service was held at 4.30 p.m., at which the Vicar, the Rev. J. Morgan, gave an excellent address. Tea was provided in the Parish Room, and at the business meeting which followed the Rev. J. Morgan occupied the chair.

Mr. G. W. Stokes was re-elected as hon. secretary, and Messrs. A. R. Miles, W. Franks, and W. Booth were re-elected on the committee.

Mr. Stokes pointed out that he could only accept the secretaryship on the understanding that someone else was appointed to fill the post pro tem, in the event of his leaving the district. It was then proposed by Mr. W. D. Smith, and seconded by Mr. Hobbs, that Mr. F. G. Haymark, of Eastbourne, be elected as assistant secretary in order to take over the duties should occasion arise.—This was put to the meeting and carried.

The following new members were elected: Messrs. F. Banks, A. Carpenter, E. Geall, J. Geall, H. W. Jones, E. Lay, J. Muddle, J. J. Miller, F. Playford, C. Painter and G. Wiggins, all of Ringmer.

Following a short discussion, it was decided to hold the next meeting at Heathfield.

Mr. W. D. Smith proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, for the address at the service, and also for presiding at the meeting. The Vicar, in reply, stated that it had been a great pleasure to welcome the members of the association to Christ Church, Blacklands, that day.—The meeting then terminated, and the members returned to the tower, where further ringing took place until 7 p.m. The members then proceeded to Christ Church, St. Leonards, where a further enjoyable hour's ringing was spent.

THE FUNCTIONS OF AN ASSOCIATION.

To what should a ringing association limit its attentions? This question is raised by the discussions which took place at a meeting of the Surrey Association on Saturday, when the members were called upon to adopt new rules. In the draft presented by the committee the first rule provided for four things: (a) the recognition of the true position of ringers as church officials; (b) the due care and use of church bells and belfries; (c) the cultivation of the art of change ringing; (d) to supply, when required, information of a practical character concerning the condition of the bells and their fittings. The inclusion of two of these objects was challenged, not casually, but deliberately by one of the District Committees, and for that reason the subject deserves more attention than it otherwise would. It was urged that 'the due care and use of church bells and belfries' was no part of the business of the association, but the duty of the church authorities; and that 'to supply, when required, information of a practical character concerning the condition of the bells and their fittings' was the business of local ringers and bell founders, and not of a ringing organisation. The objection to the first of these two points was successful; the second objection was defeated.

Looking at the matter broadly, it seems to us that anything which will lead to efficiency in the belfry, whether in the men who act therein or in the bells which they use, is to be encouraged. It is true that the duty of maintaining the bells and the belfry in proper condition devolves upon the church authorities, but to say that a county or diocesan association should have no part in promoting it seems to us to be excluding from its objects one of the most useful purposes it can serve. The wording of the rule, in this particular instance, may have been a little unfortunate, although, we imagine, the members fully understood what was, in principle, intended. Some of the other associations have this object more clearly stated by defining their attitude as being one for 'the encouragement' of the preservation of bells in an efficient condition; and there could be no object more worthy of ringers' attention than that. Frequently the influence of an association has been the means of getting bells restored, and it is a pity that the Surrey Association have not looked with more favour upon their opportunities for usefulness in this direction.

On the second point which it was proposed to eliminate, other counsels prevailed, and the association will still be able to supply, when required, information concerning the condition of bells and their fittings. The resolution to retain this rule was, we think, wisely made, because it opens the way to doing valuable work. It is in no sense impinging the prerogatives of a local company or the bell founders. If local men have any difficulty in convincing their church authorities of the need for renovations, it considerably strengthens their hands if they can call in independent evidence such as the association should be in a position to provide. Indeed, many of the associations have been able to go a step further than this, and either get a representative on the Diocesan Advisory Board, or a person recognised by the Board to whom reference is made in every case where augmentation or restoration of bells is under review. Ringing organisations should seek to extend their sphere of usefulness and influence rather than curtail it; and no association, in our view, is properly fulfilling its functions if it does not keep its eye upon the structural and mechanical conditions prevailing in its towers and stand ready to give advice when asked. The maintenance of bells in a proper condition is just as important to the success of an association as the maintenance of bands, for, without efficient bells, the bands will ultimately disappear.

ASPENDEN'S OLD BELLS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The following is an account of the peal of Triples rung at Braughing on September 30th, 1746, and I give it to you as copied from the board in the ringing chamber:—

These 8 bells were rung for the first time September 25th, 1745, and the first peal of 5,040 Triples were rung in 3 hrs. 10 mins., September 30th, 1746. By Jno. Scripps treble, Wm. Welch 2, Geo. Wallis 3, Thos. Hubbard 4, Thos. Rayment 5, Wm. Welch 6, Wm. Chamberlain 7, Fran. Uncle tenor. All of this parish. Given by Wm. Freeman, Esq.

This is quite a different band from the one that rang the Aspenden peal. No method or conductor is given on either board, but evidently both peals were Bob Triples.

Mr. Archibald Jackson, of Sawbridgeworth, has written several articles relating to the bells of Aspenden and Braughing, and they have appeared in the 'Hertfordshire Mercury' from time to time.

Wm. Chamberlain was evidently one of the workmen engaged when the new frame and bells were placed in the tower in 1745, as his initials 'W.C.' are carved on one of the braces and also on the stonework on the stairs. One is 'W.C., 1739.' Probably he was the village carpenter at that date, and made the frame from oak grown on the Hamels estate.

I hope this will prove of interest to your correspondent and others.—Yours truly,

WILLIAM K. NORTH.

Braughing.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

As Good Friday falls in next week, 'The Ringing World' will be published a day earlier than usual.

All communications intended for that issue must reach us by Monday.

The attention of Secretaries, who wish notices to appear, is specially drawn to this matter.

THE LADIES' PEAL OF MAJOR.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Will you kindly allow me space to thank our noble friend, William, for his contribution to your last issue. We are pleased to see he is making use of his 'inkwell,' but hope it may not be necessary to call his 'batlle axe' into use also.

With regard to the ladies' peal of Major, this is well worthy of a permanent record, for truly it is the making of history, being the first peal of Major rung entirely by ladies, also the first peal for the Northern District of the Guild, which had only been in existence fourteen months, and speaks well for its future.

As the peal was rung on the bells of Handsworth, and two of our members took part, we hesitated to make the first move, but now we feel we may enter the scheme, and the Handsworth company have placed in my hands subscriptions amounting to £1, and if it is acceptable to our ringing friends generally, I will gladly receive and acknowledge any subscription towards the tablet. Then a small committee can be selected to consider design and erection of same.—Yours fraternally,

FRED WATKINSON.

Handsworth, Sheffield.

'HALF THE DIFFICULTY.'

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I have heard several ringers discuss the letter of Mr. Coppock, headed as above, in your issue of March 16th, and all were in agreement with him as regards peal ringing. Many ringers at some time visit the districts of ringing associations, situated long distances from their home, and should they desire to attempt a peal while in that district must become a life member of the association in question.

If a ringer be a member of an association affiliated to the Central Council, that should be sufficient for non-resident ringers to attempt a peal in the district of any association, the peal to be credited to the association having the majority of members taking part. In the event of the ringers being in equal numbers, the conductor could decide to which association the peal be credited.—Yours faithfully,

A. C.

BREAKING INTO 'STONEY LAND.'

The peal of Minor at Peter's Marland, North Devon, on Saturday, was arranged by Rev. E. S. Powell (president of the Devon Guild) through an invitation of the Vicar, the Rev. C. Smale. The local band has recently started on Grandsire, and can ring six-scores exceptionally well, having had only a few practices with the help of Mr. Powell.

This district is in the centre of 'stoney land,' and it is much hoped that a new district branch of the Guild may now be formed there. The Vicar is enthusiastic, can ring Grandsire, and hopes to make his tower a centre for combined practices with adjacent bands.

The striking of the peal was of the very highest order, which pleased the local ringers.

The band wish to thank the Vicar for his hospitality before and after the peal.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

SONNING DEANERY BRANCH.

A most successful quarterly meeting was held of the Sonning Deanery Branch at Binfield on Saturday, March 17th, ringers being present from Arborfield, Binfield, Easthampstead, Finchampstead, Sandhurst, Twyford, Waltham St. Lawrence, Wokingham (All Saints' and St. Paul's), Boyne Hill, Reading and Chertsey. Altogether about 50 ringers attended, including many young members of the branch, who had the opportunity of ringing rounds for the first time away from their own tower. The Vicar, the Rev. H. Bonsey (himself a ringer), conducted a short service, and gave a practical and encouraging address. He also provided a bountiful tea, at the close of which the Secretary expressed the thanks of those present to the Vicar for his kindness.

The secretary also presented a programme, which he had prepared, of meetings and practices for the remainder of the year. This programme was accepted by the meeting.

Ringings took place during the afternoon and evening in various methods, including a short touch of Cambridge Surprise. The next practice will be held at Sonning on Saturday, April 21st.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

SMALL WESTERN DISTRICT MEETING.

Rather a disappointing number turned up for the Western District meeting held at Hemel Hempstead on Saturday, March 17th, only 15 members being present, representing Olney, Apsley, Tring, King's Langley, Redbourn, Harpenden and Hemel Hempstead. The bells were rung half-muffled on account of the death of one of the churchwardens, Mr. J. Steptoe, who was always interested in the bells and ringers. Short touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Plain Bob Major were rung before the service, which was conducted by the Rev. A. F. Robson.

Afterwards, the company adjourned to St. Mary's Hall, where tea had been very kindly arranged by the Vicar and Mrs. Robson. Unfortunately, the latter was unable to be present, being busily engaged in other church work.

For the short business meeting the Vicar presided. Tring was chosen as the next meeting place, for early in May.—Three peal attempts were arranged.—The Vicar was asked to convey the condolences of the meeting to Mrs. Steptoe, this vote being carried in the usual manner.

Mr. Good proposed a comprehensive vote of thanks, to the Vicar for his kindness in providing tea, for the use of the bells, for splendid address, etc., to which the Vicar suitably replied. The secretary then had to leave, while the others adjourned for another short spell of ringing.

M.C.A. ANNUAL MEETING AT NOTTINGHAM.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Will you kindly allow me to trespass on your space to emphasise the fact that owing to the unfortunate serious illness of Mr. Fred W. Bailey, the local hon. secretary, who is now in hospital, it is essential that all members intending to be present at tea should notify Mr. L. Chadburn, 8, Butt Houses, Derby Road, Lenton, Notts, not later than April 5th. In the past serious inconvenience has been caused by members omitting to do this, and I appeal to all, especially in the unfortunate position above stated, to assist the local committee by notifying their intention of being present.—Yours faithfully,

ERNEST MORRIS,
General Hon. Secretary.

SURPRISE MINOR AT ROCK FERRY.

At Rock Ferry, Cheshire, on Thursday, March 22nd, in 47 mins., a quarter-peal of Surprise Minor (1,440 changes), being 240 each of Canterbury, Carlisle, Chester, York and London, 120 each of Beverley and Cambridge: A. Leatham 1, J. F. Smith 2, G. R. Edwards 3, W. Dean 4, J. Martin 5, J. Cooke (conductor) 6. First quarter-peal of Surprise by the ringers of 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th, and the first in seven Surprise methods by the ringer of the tenor. To their friend, Mr. J. Martin, who hails from Liverpool, the band desire to put on record their many thanks for his kindness in coming over to help them.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION. SUCCESSFUL MEETING AT CHISWICK.

The meeting of the South and West District was held at Chiswick on Saturday, March 17th. Ringing commenced with Grandsire Doubles, followed by Stedman Triples: and methods up to and including Double Norwich were practised before service, which was conducted by the Rev. Eric K. C. Hamilton (Vicar). The excellent 'Chiswick' tea was served in the Parish Hall by Host A. Thurley, one of the local band. At the meeting which followed, sympathy was expressed with Mr. Tom Beadle, who has had to go into hospital again.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to Mr. J. R. Mackman, who gave the sum of two guineas to the Isleworth bell fund, also for the admirable lecture he gave on 'Church bells and ringing' (illustrated with lantern slides, handbell ringing, and a model of bell and frame), at the Richmond Athenaeum on Monday, February 27th, when the president, Prof. S. L. Loney, M.A., was chairman. Thanks were also accorded to the handbell ringers, viz., Mrs. F. I. Hairs, Messrs. F. I. Hairs, J. Armiger Trollope, A. W. Coles, C. W. Roberts and G. Cross.

The usual vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar for permission to hold the meeting at Chiswick, for conducting the service, and for the hearty welcome he had given to the association as diocesan ringers, to the host and lady helpers, the steeplekeeper (Mr. T. Thurley), and all the company for their support, there being about 40 present.

The tower was again visited, and Cambridge Surprise Major, Double Norwich, Kent Treble Bob, and other methods practised. At the close the Vicar paid another visit to the tower, as did also the Rev. C. H. Sangster, assistant priest and a ringer, who is leaving Chiswick in April.

Members are reminded of the Acton social on Saturday, April 7th.

OLD MILVERTON RINGER'S DEATH.

On March 18th there was laid to rest all that was mortal of William Chapman, who died after a short illness at the age of 77 years. He was an old and respected Sunday service ringer at Milverton, Somerset, and had rung about 30 peals. Among the wreaths sent was one from the local band. Touches of Stedman and Grandsire Triples were rung with the bells half-muffled on Sunday and at the funeral.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The ancient thirteenth-century bell, at Caversfield, Oxon, cast between 1207 and 1219, and given to the church by Hugh Gargate, lord of the Manor, and Sibilla, his wife, whose names appear on the bell, has been placed in the church in order that it may be preserved as an object of interest. A new treble has been erected in its place, and will be dedicated next Sunday at 3 p.m.

Arrangements have been made with the Great Western Railway for the issue of cheap tickets to Hereford from Bristol on Whitsun Tuesday for the Central Council meeting, for the benefit of those members who attend the Gloucester and Bristol Association's jubilee festival. The tickets will be available by the 7.38 train, arriving at Hereford 9.50, and by the 9.45 a.m. train. Tickets are 2s. 6d., and are available for return by any train the same day. A good one leaves Hereford 6.12, arriving at Bristol 8.4 p.m.

Those ringers who are also interested in sporting events can have a good day in London on Saturday if they will do as one gentleman from the West of England proposes to do. He hopes to see the Boat Race in the morning, the football match between England and Scotland in the afternoon, and take part in the early evening in the 'Oranges and Lemons' ringing at St. Clement Danes. Some day this!

On March 29th and 30th, 1891, the Royal Cumberland Youths rang the first peals of Stedman Cinques and Treble Twelve on the bells at Quex Park, Thanet. Of that band of 37 years ago, only three are left: George Williams, Harry Hopkins and Fred Pitstow. The others—Newson, Foskett, Rogers, Jacob, Swain, Nathan Pitstow, Duins, Baron and Chapman—all are gone.

The ringer of the 3rd in the peal of Bob Major at Bolsover on March 18th was Joseph Saxton.

Mr. Fred W. Bailey, of Nottingham, district secretary of the M.C.A., has undergone two serious operations in Nottingham Hospital. The latest report is that he is progressing as well as can be expected. Mr. Bailey is one of the famous Leiston family who made ringing history by a peal rung by eight brothers.

A hundred and fifty years ago to-morrow the Society of London Youths rang a peal of 5,120 Oxford Treble Bob Major at St. Mary's, Lambeth.

The first peal of Grandsire at St. Dunstan's-in-the-West, London, was rung on April 1st, 1834, by St. Dunstan's Society, conducted by Thomas Tolladay, who was a prominent member of the old St. James' Society. The bells of St. Dunstan's-in-the-West are seldom, if ever, rung now. They overhang Fleet Street.

The Double Norwich record was broken on April 3rd, 1899, when in 9 hrs. 24 mins., at Erith, members of the Kent County Association rang a peal of 15,072.

A hundred and twenty years ago next Thursday, a peal of 10,097 Grandsire Caters was rung at Shrewsbury in 6 hrs. 50 mins. A tablet was erected by the Union Society to record the peal, which, if surpassed by future practitioners, will stand as a memorial that their predecessors were not deficient in skill and perseverance.

The Norfolk Guild report for 1927, which has just been issued, shows that 44 peals were rung by the Guild in 1927, of which two were on ten bells, 25 on eight bells, 14 on six bells, and three on five bells. This compared with 61 in 1926, and is the lowest number for a great many years.

In recording with profound sorrow the death of the president, Dean Willink, the report says: 'We may safely say our Guild has never had to record the loss of such an ideal and honoured leader in the whole of its history.' Dean Willink was an active and wholehearted officer of the Guild.

THE OCCASIONS OF MUFFLED RINGING.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Replying to Mr. Cave's letter in the last issue of 'The Ringing World,' should the deceased be a prominent citizen or churchman, it is best to ring muffled on the day of the funeral, and on the Sunday at whichever service the parson is going to mention the loss from the pulpit, when, in all probability, the 'Dead March' will also be played after or before service. For the other service that day it would be better to ring the bells unmuffled.

In the case of a Royal personage, a national personality, or a municipal loss such as a Lord Mayor, requiring national or municipal mourning, it would be better to ring for all services on the Sunday, especially if the week-end intervenes between the death and the funeral.

The best form of muffled ringing is, of course, the 'whole pull and stand,' which should be practised by every band of ringers for such occasions. It is simple and most effective, and is appreciated tremendously, not only by relatives of the deceased themselves, but by the outside public. We reserve the last five to ten minutes of the ringing following a touch for this purpose.

On Armistice Day we ring as above before the service, but ring the congregation out with open bells, to harmonise with the 'Reveille,' a rejoicing for the resurrection.

SURREY ASSOCIATION. AMALGAMATION SCHEME DEFEATED.

An important meeting of the Surrey Association was held at Leatherhead on Saturday. It was specially convened under a resolution of the annual meeting, first to receive the result of a plebiscite among the members on a proposal to approach the Guildford Diocesan Guild, with a scheme of amalgamation; and, secondly, to consider a new draft set of rules. After ringing on the ten bells of the Parish Church in the afternoon and attending service, the members partook of a substantial meat tea at the Institute. They then settled down to business, which engaged their attention for a full three hours, and there were some animated discussions. The Master (Mr. J. D. Drewett) presided, supported by Mr. C. H. Kippen (hon. secretary), Mr. U. Dean (hon. treasurer), and nearly 60 members from most of the towers in the area of the association.

The Master, in reviewing the steps which had led up to that meeting, referred to the original proposal made over a year ago, that the question of amalgamation with Guildford Diocesan Guild should be considered. This resulted in a conference with the organising committee of the Guild, who pointed out that they had no powers to deal with the subject, but suggested that the Surrey Association Committee should formulate a scheme which might be put before the members of the Guild when it was formed. As a result, a scheme was submitted at the Surrey Association's last annual meeting in January, when it was resolved to take a plebiscite upon it. This scheme proposed that amalgamation should take place on January 1st, 1929, that the society be called the 'Surrey County Association and Guildford Diocesan Guild of Church Bellringers,' with the Bishops of Southwark and Guildford as ex-officio joint presidents; that the rules of Guildford Diocesan Guild be adopted with certain minor alterations, and that the two organisations should continue absolutely as one society.

The Hon. Secretary then announced the result of the plebiscite. He said 263 members were circularised. Of this number, 69 were in favour of amalgamation, and 104 against, while 90 did not vote.

The Master said the result was against amalgamation. There was, however, a motion before them, adjourned from the annual meeting, that they should amalgamate with the Guildford Guild, and in view of the plebiscite something must be done to get that motion out of the way.

Mr. W. J. Trappitt moved as an amendment to the motion that no further steps be taken in the matter. He did not see why they need amalgamate. The Surrey Association was nearly 50 years of age, and it could stand on its own legs. He was, he believed, the only original member of the association left, and he strongly objected to amalgamation with Guildford.—Mr. G. Hoad (Reigate) seconded, and the amendment was carried with only three dissentients.

NEW RULES.

The meeting then proceeded to consider, seriatim, a new set of rules, and a number of alterations were made to the committee's draft, the changes being made principally upon the representations made by Mr. Northover, on behalf of the Southern District Committee. The first rule provided that 'That society shall be called "The Surrey Association of Change Ringers," and have for its objects, viz.: (a) The recognition of the true position of ringers as church officials; (b) the due care and use of church bells and belfries; (c) the cultivation of the art of change ringing; (d) to supply, when required, information of a practical character concerning the condition of the bells and their fittings.'

With regard to (b), it was urged that this was not the province of an association, the duty of the care and use of church bells and belfries devolving upon the incumbent and church authorities. On a vote being taken, it was decided to eliminate this clause. A similar proposal to take out (d), as being a matter for the local bands or bell founders, was opposed by several members, and the clause was retained by a considerable majority.

In discussing the 'government' of the association, it was resolved that the president should be elected annually like the other officers; that the auditor should not be an ex-officio member of the Central Committee, and that there should be no honorary members (as in the past) on the committee.

It was resolved that non-resident members should pay a compounding subscription of 5s., but any member, who had paid an annual subscription for five consecutive years, should on leaving the county automatically become a compounding member without further payment. The area of the association for this purpose is to be treated as the geographical boundary of the county.

It was decided to eliminate the proposed rule giving authority to dismiss a member from the association for misconduct, it being argued that it did not look well in a set of rules for bellringers, who could all be relied upon to behave themselves.

A discussion took place on a financial rule directing subscriptions of hon. life members and compounding members to be paid into the general fund. The Southern District desired that these subscriptions should be retained by the districts, but the committee's proposal was adopted, after two counts of hands; the final decision being reached by the casting vote of the chairman.

Other minor alterations were made, and then considerable discussion took place on the rules for the district branches. They were ultimately adopted in a redrafted form. The principal alterations to the committee's original proposals were that the districts will each have their own treasurer and auditor, and will pay over to the central fund 6d. per paid-up ringing member (equivalent of 25 per cent. of the subscription), instead of 75 per cent. of the cash in the hands of the district secretary at the end of the year.

In contrast to the decision to eliminate from the objects of the association the 'care and use of church bells and belfries,' the district rules provide that the District Committee shall satisfy themselves by personal inspection or otherwise as to the state of the belfries and bands in their districts, and make a yearly report for presentation to the Central Committee.

The rules having been disposed of, the meeting turned to a discussion on the form of the association's certificate. It was decided to retain the old form, but to bring it up to date by substituting a photograph of one tower from each of the three districts (to be decided on by the districts) for those shown on the existing certificate, but still retaining the illustration of Beddington tower, as the birthplace of the association.

On the proposition of Mr. Chas. Dean, seconded by Mr. Northover, it was decided to leave the matter in the hands of the three secretaries to complete and arrange for the printing of 500 copies.—This concluded the business.

The General Secretary informed those present that an invitation meeting would be held at Beddington (where the bells have recently been restored by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank) on Saturday, April 14th, and that he hoped to see a good number there. He emphasised the importance of those intending to be present notifying him beforehand, so that adequate provision could be made for tea. He had received 20 notifications for tea that day, whereas about double that number had put in an appearance.

A vote of thanks to Mr. A. Dean for making arrangements for the tea and meeting, to the Vicar of Leatherhead for conducting the service, and to the Master and general secretary for their work in connection with the meeting, brought the proceedings to a close.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

WESTERN DIVISION OFFICERS RE-ELECTED.

The annual meeting of the Western Division was held at Earlsheaton on Saturday, the following towers being represented: Birstall, Guiseley, Leeds, Shipley, Queensbury, Headingley, Huddersfield, Bradford, Silsden, Bingley, Horbury, Mirfield, Denholme, Keighley, Lightcliffe, Armley, Lindley, Batley, Rothwell, and the local company. A short church service was held, when an address was given by the Vicar (Rev. G. R. Hall). Tea was served in the schools, and was followed by the business meeting, Mr. J. Cotterell (treasurer of the association) being in the chair, supported by the Rev. C. C. Marshall (president of the association).

Six new members were elected, viz.: H. Wilde, G. Longbottom, R. Kendall, A. Skelton (Queensbury), J. Birchenough (Northwram), W. Brittain (Birstall).

No new nominations having been received, the retiring officers were re-elected: Messrs. J. Broadley (Ringing Master), F. W. Dixon, J. Hardcastle, R. Umpleby (committee).

On the motion of Mr. Lawson it was decided to hold the June meeting at Brighouse if possible.—A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells, and for his address, to the organist, to the ladies who kindly served tea, and to the local company for the arrangements made.—These were responded to by the Rev. G. R. Hall (Vicar), Major Goater (churchwarden), and Mr. H. Dransfield for the local company.—A vote of thanks to the chairman concluded the meeting.

HALIFAX CONTEST.

SANDAL WIN FOR THE FIRST TIME.

The quarterly meeting and six-bell contest of the Halifax and District Association was held at Shelley, near Huddersfield, on Saturday last, when seven teams entered the competition, in which they had to ring 600 changes in any method. Mr. Broadley (Bradford) and Mr. Hoyle (Shelley) officiated as judges, and their decision was as follows:—

Company.	Method.	Faults.	Penalty.	Total.
No. 1.—Holmfirth	Oxford	192	20	212
No. 2.—Liversedge	Oxford	182		182
No. 3.—New Mill	Oxford	140	20	160
No. 4.—Moltham	Kent	217		217
No. 5.—Sandal	Oxford	151		151
No. 6.—Batley	Kent	177		177
No. 7.—Huddersfield	Kent	190		190

No. 5 company, Sandal, were therefore declared winners of the cup. It was the first time Sandal had won the trophy, and the Vicar (Rev. Walkden) congratulated Mr. Moxon, the captain, who received the cup. He hoped that the association would soon visit Shelley again.

An excellent tea was provided, and a vote of thanks to the Vicar and judges closed a very enjoyable meeting.

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS.

At Staveley, Derbyshire, on Sunday night, March 25th, for divine service, a quarter-peal of Bob Major (1,344 changes), arranged for the birthdays of Messrs. Smedley and Markwell. All the band are Sunday service ringers at Staveley: A. Markwell, sen., 1, A. E. Parsons (conductor) 2, F. Dyble (first quarter-peal) 3, S. Smedley 4, H. Stow 5, F. Parsons, jun., 6, F. Parsons, sen., 7, L. Palmer 8.

MR. EDWIN BARNETT, SEN. CRAYFORD VETERAN'S 700 PEALS.

The name of Edwin Barnett, senior, is one of the most familiar to ringers throughout the country, and in the Exercise he has a large circle of friends, which a gentle nature and a genial disposition has continually widened throughout the years. In the course of his long ringing career Mr. Barnett has achieved a number of distinctions, and his latest is to join the comparatively small group of men who have rung 700 peals. Among this little circle, however, Mr. Barnett stands almost unique in the number of methods which he has included in his big peal total, a total which has certainly not been amassed from selfish ends, for much of his peal ringing has been done to help others, as witness, for instance, his 110 peals of Grandsire Triples.

Mr. Barnett, sen., was born at Ross, Herefordshire, in 1862, and was educated at the Bluecoat School there. At the age of 13 he removed to Welshpool, where he became a Sunday 'chimer,' there being no ringing there at that time. Three years later he went to Leytonstone to live, and there he came in contact with Mr. Arthur Gardener home again about one o'clock in the morning.

As soon as the bells at Monmouth were rung, Mr. Barnett formed a band, to all of whom he had to teach the handling of a bell, but in a little more than a year they succeeded in ringing a peal of Grandsire Triples, which was his first as conductor. It was also the first peal on the bells and the second in the county of Monmouth, the previous one having been rung at Chepstow many years before. During the period he was at Monmouth, Mr. Barnett married, and his son, Mr. Edwin Barnett, jun., was born there. Very soon after the peal above mentioned, he returned to London and joined the band at Leytonstone, where he remained a member until 1889, when he removed to Crayford, with which place his name has been associated ever since. Here he found practically a 'stone' band, but excellent material, which he very quickly transformed into—at that time—one of the best change-ringing companies in the county, as the records in 'Bell News' of the '90's testify.

Mr. Barnett was elected on the committee of the Kent County Association in 1894, and has represented that body on the Central Council since 1903. He is one of the oldest members of the Royal Cumberland Youths, and in his early days was closely associated with the late George Newson, John Cox, Henry Dains, and many others whose names will live as long as ringing lasts. He is a member of many county and diocesan associations.

MANY 'FIRSTS.'

Mr. Barnett's record of 'first peal in the method for the Kent County Association' is probably unique, for he has called no fewer than 26, ranging from Triples to Maximus. Last year a serious operation threatened to end his life, but he was happily spared, and has made a wonderful recovery. His 700th peal was the first he has been able to ring away from treble or 2nd for some years, and the fact that he was able to turn in the tenor in 2 hrs. 40 mins. speaks for itself.

We referred above to the great variety which characterises Mr. Barnett's peal list, and it will be seen that it includes four methods of Maximus, two of Cinques, nine of Royal, two of Caters, 22 of Major, nine of Triples (which is probably a record), and six varieties of spliced methods. His full list is as follows:—

APPLETON'S 109th ANNIVERSARY.

The Appleton people do things without thought or care as to what other people think. For instance, they decided a few years ago that March 4th should always be on a Saturday. This year of grace 1928, owing to the 'All England Meeting' at Croydon, it was decided that March the 4th should be on the 10th, and it was so. To those who made the journey to this place of renown it proved that March 4th can be celebrated at any time, while Hollifield's and White's are alive and full of 'vim and vigour,' as has obtained since A.D. 1818.

The day started with a good peal of Grandsire Caters, the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn and Miss S. Davis getting to Appleton soon after sunrise to ensure an active participation in the opening proceedings.

After mid-day, visitors arrived in shoals, and touches of Triples and Caters, Major and Royal were rung in good style, a few ringers, as usual, hearing and ringing ten bells for the first time. Dinner was served by Host and Hostess R. Brown at the Thatched Tavern (which will soon have to be enlarged for these occasions). After a good meal, songs, speeches, handbell ringing, and instrumental music brought parting time all too soon, but, as usual, those people who have been several times were thankful that they had been spared to go once more, and those who made their first pilgrimage to that 'ringing Mecca' said, 'I shall come next year (D.V.).' Visitors were present from Abingdon, Bucklebury, Caversham, Faringdon, Croydon, Oxford, Reading, Launton, High Wycombe, Wokingham, Witney, while that little place called London was also represented.

ROWS AND CHANGES.

BY J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

Some time ago I pointed out (not for the first time) that the important thing in change ringing in general, and the problem of Extension in particular, is not the rows, but the changes which produce the rows. And I said that unless you appreciated the distinction between a row and a change you were not very likely to go very far in understanding the question of Extension. Of course, I was promptly contradicted. I was told that I was hair splitting, that there is no difference between a row and a change, and that there is nothing between the changes. These gentlemen, no doubt, think they have completely demolished my argument to their entire satisfaction, and I should be sorry to disturb so happy a frame of mind. But I feel sure that the man who is interested in Extension as a general question, and who is not merely trying to establish or dispute some particular case, like Shipway's Superlative or the Superlative Maximus rung at Ipswich, will agree that it is anything but splitting of hairs to make quite sure of the grounds on which you are working, and rather important to know what you are going to extend before you try and see how it can be extended.

After all, it is a question of facts and of facts belonging to actual ringing in the tower.

If you are thinking of practising a new method you will probably get that method in the form of a lead of rows. The first thing you will do will be to draw a line, either with a pen or mentally, along the path of one bell. What is that but putting in something between the rows? When you give the method out to your band to learn, you will probably give them a 'skeleton course'; that is to say, you will ignore the rows altogether and give them only that something you have put in. And what is that something? It is hunting, place-making, dodging, leading, lying, snapping and everything which we call work. These are the things which really are the method, and they all take place between the rows. They constitute the changes, and they produce row from row.

Probably the reason why people say that there is nothing between the rows is because there is nothing that they can see. They can see two lines of figures written on paper; they can see nothing between them. True, but then, a line of figures is not in itself a row of change ringing; it is only a symbol which represents a row. There is nothing to see of a row in the tower. On the other hand, when you represent the changes by your skeleton course you have a symbol which is just as visible as the line of figures. A row and a change are equally real and equally abstract. There can be no question of which is of the more immediate importance in actual ringing. If you ring a peal of, say, London Surprise Major, it is almost certain that you will never know what rows you have rung, neither the ringer, nor the conductor, nor even the composer. You will know, you must know, what hunting and place-making and dodging you have done, for they are everything that, for the actual ringer, is London Surprise.

This brings me to my main point. A method is not essentially a collection of rows, but an amount of movement among the bells. It is a matter of clear historical fact that in that way, and that way alone, ringing was begun, was developed and still continues. And it follows that if we are to understand such problems as Extension we must study ringing as it is practised in the tower and not as if it consisted of certain orders of figures written on a piece of paper. To put it briefly, we must study chiefly the changes and not the rows.

Once you get ringing as essentially the movement of bells, certain laws become operative. I have already pointed out and illustrated the most important of these. It is that this movement is, and must be, cyclical. Every round block, and therefore every method, consists of a number of cyclical movements. When this fact is recognised, we are in sight of the solution of the problem of Extension, so far as any solution is possible. For this reason, a cyclical movement has a definite recognisable way of expansion. The plain hunting course on four bells will expand into the plain hunting course on six bells in one way, and one way only. And this is true whether this hunting course is independent or whether it is part of a more complex method.

How this works out I will show presently, but there is one thing which I may perhaps be pardoned for referring to. It is the usual custom for people who criticise the views, which those of us who have been at some trouble to investigate these problems put forward, to call themselves plain practical ringers, and to brush us aside somewhat contemptuously as mere 'theorists.' They stand for facts; we only for fancies. Actually, the case is just the opposite. No doubt in these things many views are expressed which are unsound or only partially true. But the aim is always to find out the truth which underlies the science of ringing, and that truth is being found out more and more each year. Whereas your 'practical' man is usually one who refuses to look an inch before his nose, who thinks that the little he can see is all that there is to be seen, and who imagines that his prejudices and interests are all that matters in ringing. Usually a very worthy sort of man (we all share his failings), but not the most trustworthy guide in finding out the unknown.

BEDDINGTON BELLS RESTORED.

PERFECT 'GO' IN A ROCKING TOWER.

After a silence of ten weeks, the bells of St. Mary's Church, Beddington, Croydon, were rung again on Sunday, March 11th, after restoration by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. They were dedicated during matins by the Rector (Rev. E. V. Bond), and immediately after the bells were rung to three minutes of call changes. At the conclusion of the service a touch of Grandsire Caters and a course of London Surprise Major were rung.

On the following Sunday, for evening service, the local band rang a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters (1,259 changes) in 48 mins.: F. E. Darby 1, L. Bance 2, F. Jennings 3, E. G. Talbot 4, A. Arnold 5, G. Jennings 6, F. W. Housden 7, A. J. Trappitt 8, C. H. Kippin (conductor) 9, J. Avery 10. The first practice night saw plenty of visitors, and all the standard methods, including Cambridge Royal, were rung.

The bells have been quarter-turned and retuned, and the canons removed. New cast-iron headstocks have been fitted with independent clapper staples, which can be adjusted by any ringer in the tower. The staples are controlled by a couple of bolts from the stock, and, in the writer's opinion, it is a great improvement, as true striking bells can be ensured. The clappers have been refaced, and the rims of the wheels renewed. New gudgeons running on ball bearings, with ball-bearing floor rollers, have been supplied, and all stays, sliders and runner boards renewed. The oak frame has been retained and strengthened. The tenor is now 13 cwt. 14 lb. in E flat.

Messrs. Mears and Stainbank are to be congratulated upon the excellent way in which they have carried out the restoration work, especially as the tower rocks violently. The bells 'go' like tops, and they sound beautiful.

An invitation meeting is being arranged for Saturday, April 14th, particulars of which appear in the notice columns.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

CHELTENHAM BRANCH.

The spring meeting of the Cheltenham Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Association was held at St. Mark's, Cheltenham, on Saturday, March 17th. Proceedings opened by the raising of this peal of five at three o'clock, and there were soon more than the tower could hold comfortably. The service at 4.30 was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. Hill Merryweather), with the support of the organ and a full choir, the lesson being read by the Vicar's warden (Mr. J. Hurcombe). A bountiful tea was served in the Parish Hall, and kindly given by members of the Parochial Church Council.

At the business meeting which followed, the Vicar was voted to the chair, and was supported by Mr. J. Hurcombe, Mr. G. A. Nock (Elkstone), Rev. A. D. Pennington (Alderton), Mr. C. W. Dyson (Leigh), and over 50 members from Alderton, Dumbleton, Winchcombe, Elkstone, Leigh, Swindon, Prestbury, Leckhampton, Badgeworth, and the local tower, as well as several visitors from Worcestershire.

The Secretary expressed pleasure at seeing such a large number present, especially their beloved friend, Rev. A. D. Pennington. Letters regretting absence were read from the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, Capt. Trye, R.N., and Mr. Chas. Amos Wilson (churchwarden).

Elkstone was selected as the place for the next meeting in June. Mr. Wm. Hale proposed a very hearty vote of thanks to all who had helped to make the meeting so successful, and expressed the hope that at least one more bell would be added to make a fine ring of six in the near future.—This was seconded by Mr. G. A. Nock and carried with applause.

The Vicar, responding, said how pleased he was to welcome the branch there that day, and thanked Mr. J. Harper (captain of the tower) for his loyal support in all church matters.—Mr. J. Hurcombe also expressed pleasure at seeing such a happy gathering.

A collection was taken for the Alfred T. Baker fund. The tower was again visited, and the following methods were rung during the day: Stedman, Grandsire, Canterbury, St. Dunstan's, and Plain Bob Doubles.

THE COUNCIL'S BUSINESS.

The early publication of the Central Council's agenda this year is in compliance with the decision arrived at, at the last session, the object being to give the many associations which hold their annual meetings between now and Whitsun Tuesday the opportunity of discussing beforehand any matters upon which they may specially desire to have their views represented to the Council. Hitherto, with the appearance of the agenda in the three weeks immediately before the meeting, there has been no opportunity for ringers to talk over at their meetings any of the proposals which are to come before the Council, and consequently there has often been a year's delay while matters under discussion have been referred to the affiliated societies. One such case occurred last year, when the subject of the issue of peal diplomas for the encouragement of young ringers was deferred for twelve months to enable the 'rank and file' to be consulted.

This matter comes up again at the next meeting, and the various associations and guilds have the opportunity of expressing an opinion upon it. Very largely this is a question for the young ringers. Those whose first peal is now but a distant memory may feel that the peal should be its own reward, but they should try to put themselves in the place of the young ringers to whom the first peal is still a joy to come. It seems to us that it would prove an incentive to many to know that their first substantial achievement in the art would be recognised by the central authority, and undoubtedly it would give an added pleasure to the initial success if some such recognition were forthcoming. Many ringing associations will be meeting next Monday, and if they can find time in the press of business, they should invite their young members—those who have not yet rung a peal—to express their views. The opinion of the 'old hands' would not be half so valuable, because to them the glamour of the first peal is already lost.

Another subject which should rather vitally interest the associations is that which is to be raised by Mr. W. Ayre, who intends to propose 'that a committee be appointed to consider the best method of dealing with cases of extraordinary sickness amongst members of affiliated change ringing associations, with power to report to the next annual meeting.' This raises again an important question, and as it is one which, if carried out, would have to be financially supported through, if not by, the associations, it would be wise if it were given as much consideration as possible by those affiliated bodies who are meeting between now and Whitsun. The happy result of the appeal made by 'The Ringing World' for a distressed member of the Exercise, whose case is one of the most deserving that it is possible to imagine, has shown the practical sympathy of ringers and their willingness to co-operate in any effort which is properly organised. Ringers are a large-hearted brotherhood, and it ought not to be beyond possibility to bring into operation a scheme to assist such cases of extraordinary sickness as Mr. Ayre has in mind. It is not for us to suggest how a scheme of this description should be given effect to; but, assuming that there are, at a low estimate, twelve thousand interested ringers in this country, here, at a penny per member per year, is a nucleus of fifty pounds per annum. This may be a very small sum for what would admittedly be a biggish undertaking; but that is at a penny a member; and who, after all, would decline to give sixpence a year to such a cause? With proper limitations to the class of claims which could have consideration, the product of such a general contribution would go far to help relieve dire necessities in the case of sickness. We hope the associations will give this proposal careful and sympathetic consideration.

Conducted by J. F. MILNER.

Umpires: ARTHUR J. CHAMBERLAIN AND ERNEST H. CLULOW.

First peal 'in hand' by all, and in Southwell by a local band. 25 years have elapsed since the first and only handbell peal was rung in that town.

The 5,024 was rung on October 22nd, 1927, at Churchkirk, Lanes, and the 5,056 at Padiham, Lanes, Nov. 5th, 1927, both conducted by Laurence J. Williams.

A PEAL ATTEMPT LOST.

On March 24th, the Milton-next-Gravesend, Kent, band started for a peal, as a birthday compliment to the Rector of Milton, the Rev. G. W. Minnie, M.A., but owing to the indisposition of one of the band the conductor called a 'stand' at the end of the fourth 720, after 1 hr. 50 mins. The methods rung were 720 each of Woodbine, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob and Cambridge Surprise, the ringers, all members of the local band, being: S. Baker 1, C. M. Mitchell 2, F. A. Mitchell 3, J. Burles 4, F. M. Mitchell (conductor) 5, H. Argent 6.

LADIES' SURPRISE PEAL. CAMBRIDGE RUNG AT CRAYFORD.

The Ladies' Guild have achieved another triumph, by having scored a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major, at Crayford. The record of the peal will be found in its proper place, and we feel sure our readers will join in congratulating the band upon their success.

It was rung at the second attempt. On the first occasion Mrs. Poole, of Leicester, was in the band, and she also made the journey to London a month ago for another attempt, but the peal was postponed, and the telegram did not reach her before she left home. On this occasion she was unfortunately prevented at the last minute from standing in, by illness, and Mrs. Fardon stepped into the breach. The members very much appreciate Mrs. Poole's share in what has been done in the past.

After the peal the company were kindly entertained to tea by Mr. and Mrs. Barnett, whose hospitality was much appreciated.

It will be noted that the band included four married ladies, who, besides being ringers themselves, are the wives of ringers.

CAVERSFIELD'S ANCIENT BELL. INTERESTING RELIC IN OXFORDSHIRE CHURCH.

In the steep-pointed roof of the old Saxon tower of the little Parish Church of St. Lawrence, Caversfield, near Bicester, Oxfordshire, has hung for upwards of seven hundred years what is believed to be the oldest known bell in the country.

It was given to the church between the years 1207 and 1219 by Hugh Gargate, the lord of the manor, and Sibilla his wife, and bears the inscription round the shoulder:—

+ IN HONORE DEI ET SANTI LAVRENCII.

And round the rim:—

HVG(H)GARGAT(E)S IBILLAQVE VXOR EIVS HAEC
TIMPPANA FECERVNT ECPONI.

Some of the letters are of peculiar form, and may be said to be more Saxon or Roman than Gothic, and the inscription appears to have been scratched in the mould rather than impressed.

The latter part of the inscription indicates that there were at least two bells put up at that time, and documentary evidence shows that Hugh Gargate was in possession of the manor of Caversfield in 1207, but in 1219 his wife is described as 'Sybil de Kavarsfeld, widow of Hugh de Gargat.'

The bell was cast without a clapper staple, and was sounded by being struck on the outside with a hammer, doubtless an arrangement which could be worked by a rope from below, but which unfortunately obliterated some of the letters of the inscription on the lip of the bell.

Later in its life, some holes were drilled in the crown of the bell and a clapper staple fitted, enabling the bell to be rung and giving it a new lease of life.

The dimensions of the bell are as follows: Diameter at lip, 20½ inches; height to top of cannons, 28 inches. It has a very round shoulder, a long, straight waist, and instead of its greatest thickness being at the sound bow, it increases towards the lip, which is flat and two inches thick.

The second bell was recast towards the end of the thirteenth century, and bore the inscription: +IN HONORE BEATI LAVRENCII. This bell survived until 1876, when it was recast. The tenor bell was added in 1874.

In 1925, the fittings of the bells having become so dilapidated that they were hardly safe to ring, the first attempt at a restoration was made, and the two larger bells were patched up, the frame strengthened and the old thirteenth-century bell, being cracked, was removed from its bearings and hung dead across the frame, the work being done by Mr. Richard White, of Appleton, Berkshire.

In February last further restoration was begun, the old thirteenth-century treble was lowered into the church, and hung complete with its old headstock, wheel, stay, slider, bearings, etc., in an oak frame specially designed to receive it, in order to preserve it as an object of interest. It has been placed where it can easily be seen, and is quite accessible.

The old oak bell frame has been strengthened by an additional supporting beam and by iron braces and bolts, the second bell, being quarter of a tone sharp, has been retuned, and a new treble bell has been erected in the place of the old one and hung on a cast-iron headstock, and having ball bearings and the latest modern fittings.

The inscriptions and particulars of this ring of three bells are as follows:—

Treble (F, 24in. diameter).—+ AVE MARIA GRACIA PLENA
DOMINVS TECVM + (crest of the Whitechapel Foundry).
+ ANNO DOMINI MCMXXVII. Weight, 3 cwt.

Second (E flat, 28in. diameter).—IN HONORE BEATI LAVRENCII.
J. Taylor and Co., Founders, Loughborough. 1876. Weight, 4 cwt.

Tenor (D flat, 29½in. diameter).—J. Taylor and Co., Founders, Loughborough. 1874. Weight, 5½ cwt.

The treble is a beautifully sweet-toned bell, the work of Messrs Meare and Stainbank, and has been cast with cannons and with the inscription in Gothic lettering in order to be in keeping with her surroundings, and the whole of the restoration work has been carried out in a most satisfactory manner by Mr. Richard White, of Appleton, Berkshire, to whom great credit is due.

DEVON GUILD.

THE CATHEDRAL PRACTICES.

The annual report of the Devon Guild, just issued, says that the year 1927 will be noteworthy for the record number of peals by resident members—34; compared with 1903, when, out of a total of 37, 28 were rung by resident members. The peal of Stedman Cinques at Exeter Cathedral on October 15th, rung chiefly by non-resident members, is notable as being the first in the method by members of this Guild, and is to be commemorated by a peal board presented by the Rev. M. Kelly, to be dedicated early in 1928. This fine performance should be remembered as something worthy of emulation by Devonshire men. In this connection the committee must express their disappointment with the attendances at the monthly Cathedral practices, and it will be a cause for regret if these have to be abandoned.

There has been no expansion during the past year, one band having become affiliated, and another dropped out.

The committee desire to call the attention of qualified members to the number of associate bands affiliated (9 out of 60), and would urge on all who are able and willing, to do their share in the matter of instruction—a crying need in all districts. Grants for instruction expenses from the general fund have unfortunately had to be reduced or delayed owing to a diminished balance, but it is hoped that a proposal for augmenting the general fund by a levy from the branches in respect of the annual report, which has been agreed by nearly all the branches, will be favourably received at the annual meeting. In the meantime several of the branches are loyally paying instructor's expenses from their own funds, an action which the committee appreciate.

IN THE BRANCHES.

The branch reports make, for the most part, encouraging reading. In the Exeter district there has been steady work, particularly in Sunday service ringing. Practices have been well attended, and Stedman, Plain Bob and other methods have been studied. It is noteworthy that the nine peals rung by members included 13 'firsts' and one first as conductor. The branch records with regret the resignation of Mr. E. Shepherd as chairman after seven years' devoted work. The Rev. B. V. Cox is his successor.

Steady endeavour to progress by the various bands has been a feature of the past year in the East Devon Branch, and Sunday service ringing and practices have been well maintained in all towers.

North-East Devon Branch reports an increase of membership, having now nine honorary, 102 performing and one unattached. Eight certificates have been awarded, and the two peals of Grandsire Doubles rung during the year—at Bickleigh and Silverton—were the first peals by the members of the branch who took part, and the first on the bells.

Difficulties confront the North Devon Branch, where progress is hindered by a deplorable lack of interest shown by some of the members. Regular Sunday service and practice ringing is reported from all towers in the Mid-Devon Branch.

Even-bell ringing has been a feature of 1927 in the South-West Devon Branch, and out of 21 peals rung, fourteen have been in even-bell methods—a record for the branch. At Stoke, extents of Cambridge and London Minor have been accomplished, and one result has been that striking has improved in methods generally. The problem of instruction is ever present, and volunteers are wanted for the work. Regularity of Sunday and festival ringing is generally satisfactory, and those in charge of the various bands are not sparing in energy or patience to bring on new members.

DIPLOMAS FOR RINGERS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Now that the Central Council meeting is announced, and the question of peal diplomas will again be before the members, I venture to express a few opinions on the subject. I think the suggestion was first put out as a means of attracting and encouraging young ringers—a matter which does need some serious attention. Before a young ringer becomes expert enough to ring a peal he has usually been ringing from one to two years. Now, in my opinion, it is long before that time that a beginner in our art requires the encouragement of the older members. It is his or her most difficult time during the first six months, when trying to grasp the first rules of change ringing. On that point straight away I say that a peal diploma would miss its objective. It is during that first six months when we lose most of our prospective ringers. It is therefore in that time that the older members must take an especial interest in their beginners.

To meet the beginner in the tower on practice night and give him ten minutes' ringing and let him sit down and watch for the rest of the time will never encourage anyone. He needs taking about to different towers, and efforts made to keep him occupied in ringing matters during his spare time. Only spare work by the individual ringer can do this, and from my own experience the number who will do so is very small.

The proposal of 'peal diplomas' is nothing but a half-hearted attempt to solve a pressing problem, which will never be altered till the rank and file ringer makes up his mind to do his bit. I would suggest that the Central Council find some other means of solving the problem of the interest and encouragement of young ringers which will tackle the question at its beginning and not at its end.—Yours faithfully,

WILLIAM SIMMONDS.

THE CUMBERLANDS' PEAL AT EPSOM.To the Editor.

Sir,—As nobody else has asked the question, re Cumberlands' peal at Epsom, on March 17th, I should be glad if the conductor of same would explain the ringing of the last course of the peal.—Yours truly,
JOHN BEAMS.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.A BAND OF SEVENTEEN MEMBERS ELECTED.

A by-meeting was held at St. Peter's, Thanet, on Saturday, March 24th. It proved to be a great success, although the attendance was somewhat lower than has been usual at these by-meetings, there being about 25 members present, representing the following towers: Canterbury, St. Nicholas, St. Lawrence, Birchington, Littlebourne, Margate, Wickhambreau, Wingham and Brabourne.

The Vicar of St. Peter's (Rev. C. H. S. Matthews), who very kindly provided tea for the visitors in the Parish Room, presided over the meeting, the business being to elect the St. Peter's band of seventeen ringers into the association.

In replying to a vote of thanks, proposed by Mr. F. Brett, the Vicar said that St. Peter's was going to have the mightiest band of ringers in existence. He went on to say that he should welcome another association meeting at St. Peter's, when the weather was more suitable, so that the visitors could then have tea on the Vicarage lawn. The Vicar also expressed a keen desire to become a bellringer himself.

During the afternoon and evening some very pleasant ringing was enjoyed by the visitors, some of whom stayed the night and were able to ring again for the Sunday morning service.

VICAR TAKES PART IN QUARTER-PEAL.

The Vicar of Marshfield, the Rev. C. S. L. Alford, takes a practical interest in bellringing, and last Thursday evening he showed his ability by ringing the tenor to a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples, rung with muffled bells as a token of respect for Mrs. Coles, who had been interred in the churchyard that day. Mr. Coles, her late husband, was sexton at the church for 40 years.

It is also interesting to note that the date was the first anniversary of the Vicar's induction to the living of Marshfield.

The quarter-peal was rung by E. Beazer 1, E. Lewis 2, C. Harding 3, H. Woodham 4, H. Hinton 5, J. H. Beazer 6, G. Robinson (conductor) 7, Rev. C. S. L. Alford 8. It was the first quarter-peal rung muffled at Marshfield Church.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Our article on Mr. Edwin Barnett last week mentioned some famous Cumberlands of a generation ago with whom he was associated. Twelve years ago to-day Henry Dains died at the age of 78. George Newson died thirty-two years ago to-morrow. It was George Newson who conducted the 13,440 Double Norwich at Romford in 1894, and of this band Mr. Barnett is the only survivor.

'Many happy returns of the day' to Mr. Sam Wood, of Ashton-under-Lyne, hero of many long and famous peals, who was born on April 7th, 1857.

This inscription will hand to posterity the unparalleled abilities displayed in the performance of the peal that was rung in this steeple on Tuesday, 7th of April, 1801, 5,220 changes Court Bob Royal, in 3 hrs. 37 mins., being the first ever rung by any society in that intricate method. George Gross 1, George Gross, jun., 2, James Nash 3, William Shipway 4, John Pousden 5, John Hints 6, Malachi Cannon 7, Thomas Reeves 8, Samuel Cowling 9, William Stephens 10. Composed and called by G. Gross, sen.

This is the wording of a Cumberland Youths' peal board in Shore-ditch tower, recording a memorable performance of a century and a quarter ago. There are some famous ringers in that band, men who made ringing history in those far-off days, and whose names will live as long as ringing lasts.

To-morrow is also the anniversary of another very notable event. April 7th, 1761, saw the beginning of that wonderful performance at Leeds, Kent, which ended on the following day in the completion of 40,320 of Bob Major, which occupied 27 hours. Thirteen ringers, among whom was James Barham, are said to have taken part in the peal.

Leeds tower, in which there are now ten bells, was built in 1119, and is peculiar in appearance, being little higher than it is wide.

Among the long peals whose anniversaries are celebrated in the next few days, are the 10,176 Oxford Treble Bob Major, by the Norwich Association, at Ufford, Suffolk, on April 7th, 1894; 10,259 Grandsire Caters, at Ashton-under-Lyne, on April 8th, 1844; 12,160 Bristol Surprise Major, at Knebworth, Herts, by the Herts County Association, on April 8th, 1912; 13,440 Bob Major, at the Loughborough Bell Foundry, by the Midland Counties Association, on April 8th, 1922; 10,272 Kent Treble Bob Major, at Liversedge, Yorks, on April 10th, 1871; 13,265 Grandsire Caters, at Appleton, by the Oxford Diocesan Guild, on April 11th, 1888; and, greatest of all, the 18,027 Stedman Caters, at Loughborough Parish Church, under the auspices of the Midland Counties Association, in 12 hrs. 18 mins., on April 12th, 1909.

The peal at Stroud on Saturday was rung as a farewell to Police-Sergeant George Hastings, who, on being promoted to the rank of inspector, is to be stationed at Tewkesbury, where it is hoped he will be able to pull the Abbey ringers together and get regular ringing at this fine old tower.

The will has recently been proved of the late Rev. R. H. Hart-Davis, of Ridge Field, Mapledurham, formerly hon. secretary and, later, hon. treasurer of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. He left £31,253.

A long-length peal attempt will be made at Heptonstall on Saturday, April 14th. Visitors should arrive early and stay late, if they wish to hear the 'going off' and the 'coming home' courses. There will be 'high Jenks' if the performance is completed.

'Uncle Joe' is squatting at Hull just now. He has been inquiring if a 12-bell week of 'Maximus' can be put on for him?

One of the visitors to Croydon Bell Foundry paused beside the 18-ton bourdon bell, comparing it with the smallest one cast in England (by the late William Haley), which only weighed a bare half ounce.

The first 'silent' 5,040 of Minor ever rung was accomplished at St. Mary's Church, Bucknall, Staffs, on Saturday, April 6th, 1897, in the seven following Surprise methods: London, Chester, Superlative, Worcester, Bristol, York and Cambridge. The ringers were George Clarkson, William Wheeldon, John E. Wheeldon, Charles Preston, Daniel Preston, William Twigg. All the above are still 'knocking about' on this planet, with the exception of the late William Twigg, whose memory is very dear to his pupils, for he was a ringer of the keenest enthusiasm, and a man of the greatest integrity.

BROADCASTING OF ST. MARTIN'S BELLS.

Letters have recently appeared in the London 'Evening News' with regard to the bells of St. Martin's-in-the-Field, which broadcast listeners frequently hear chimed on Sunday evenings. Here are two of them:—

'May I suggest to wireless listeners that a practical and useful way of showing appreciation of the services from St. Martin's-in-the-Fields would be to provide the church with a new peal of bells, or a carillon, really in tune? The present bells are a poor sample to be broadcast to the world.'—'Amphion,' Whitehorse Road, Croydon.

'I think that "Amphion's" suggestion that wireless listeners should subscribe to a new set of bells for St. Martin's-in-the-Fields is unnecessary. There is nothing wrong with the bells, as would be heard if the authorities would give listeners an opportunity to hear the bells in a "touch" of Stedman in the English way.'—G. R. Channer, 34, Cathles Road, Balham, S.W.

DIOCESAN GUILDS.

BY THE REV. HERBERT DRAKE.

Half a century ago or more, when associations of change ringers were being formed all over the land, it was not practicable to confine their energies to diocesan limits. For one thing, diocesan boundaries were too awkward then, and, for another, ringing districts were too scattered. The only way was to arrange associations where there were enough ringers to form one.

In the last fifty years these bodies of ringers have succeeded so well in spreading the art in every direction, and in making ringers consider themselves, and be considered by others, to be keen church-workers, that the time is approaching when a diocese will be considered a 'back number' if it has not its proper ringing Guild.

The question has become an urgent one, through the formation of Church Councils and of Advisory Committees. The former may not include any ringers, and may be quite out of sympathy with them; while the Advisory Committee in each diocese is composed of all the learned antiquaries who can be induced to serve; and not only are they likely to be out of sympathy with ringing, but we know that they are introducing many needless difficulties into our belfries. Where the incumbent wants to help ringing, either of these bodies may make it very difficult for him, while in the many cases where he is not helpful, ringing is likely to become a lost art.

It is, therefore, urgently necessary that ringers should consider it their first and unceasing task to see that in every parish where there is change ringing, one of the ringers, whether a member of the P.C.C. or not, should be associated with that Council for advice when matters concerning the bells arise. And, similarly, that every advisory committee should have a practical ringer, of sufficient standing, to be an efficient adviser on all questions affecting bells in the diocese.

These two matters are of more importance than any work done in the past, either by associations or by the Central Council. For without bells to ring we cannot practise our art; and one can think of, say, a score of important towers which, if they were all silenced, would place our art in a parlous state.

But we cannot prevent these disasters until we are organised on a diocesan basis everywhere, and I do not think the time is so very far off when every diocese will have its own Guild of ringers. Moreover, this time will be hastened by the present associations continuing their good work which they are now doing. Thus we have the paradox that the more efficient they are, the more effectually those which are not already diocesan are committing suicide!

At the same time no good will be done by forcing the pace. In most cases it will be better to go step by step. What is urgently needed, and should be formed without any unnecessary delay, is a ringing organisation for every diocese, for diocesan matters. But this organisation need not have anything to do with ringing meetings, practices, instruction, or the arranging and recording of peals. It might take the form of, say, a 'Diocesan Ringing Committee,' with the Bishop as president, so that he could preside at any important meeting. The chairman, or an active vice-chairman, should be an influential member of the Diocesan Conference, and the other members should form a live body, not necessarily meeting often, but quite ready to do so whenever required.

This would allow the present non-diocesan associations to continue the good work they are doing at present on the same lines, as long as they find it useful to do so. They would not then feel that they were occupying the ground which a diocesan Guild should occupy, while they would be able to continue their work among borderline towers. Rivers make convenient boundaries; their banks also are convenient places on or near which to build towns, large churches, and to transport bells; thus one finds that boundaries run through the middle of groups of towers, giving non-diocesan associations a great advantage in such districts. Still, 'one must draw the line somewhere.'

Two difficulties remain to be considered. One is where two or more associations overlap. In these cases the present danger is such that any old rivalries should be dropped, and conferences held with a view to a speedy settlement of a working policy. An even greater difficulty is where a somewhat barren district has been left a 'no man's land.' Here, again, loyalty to the common cause should induce some association to take the lead. Why is there no Guild for the Coventry diocese? Whose business is it to see to this matter? There are several associations in the neighbourhood; if they cannot cover this ground, they should become diocesan Guilds without delay.

In any case, one thing to avoid is a joint organisation for two or more dioceses, with the Bishops as joint patrons. This is an absolutely futile plan. A Bishop can do nothing in another Bishop's diocese. Therefore, each is restricted to saying a few empty compliments when the joint Guild meets in his diocese. If we have a diocesan Guild, let it be a real one.

CAMBRIDGE SURPRISE IN WESTMORLAND

On Tuesday, March 27th, at St. Mary's Church, Ambleside, 720 Cambridge Surprise Minor: W. Middleton 1, W. Nevinston 2, E. Jennings 3, T. F. Hewetson 4, W. Robinson 5, T. B. Newton (conductor) 6, W. Fisher 8 (covering). The first 720 of Surprise for ringers of 1st and 3rd, and the first of Surprise as conductor by T. B. Newton. It is the first in Westmorland since 1914.

LONG PEAL ATTEMPT.LANCASHIRE MEN'S ENDEAVOUR TO SET UP NEW RECORD.

All being well, eight members of the Lancashire Association will on Saturday, April 14th, at the Church of St. Thomas à Becket, Heptonstall, Yorkshire, attempt a record length of Double Norwich Court Bob Major, 22,096 changes, starting at 6 a.m. Umpire: Mr. H. Chapman.

NORFOLK GUILD.SUGGESTED REORGANISATION.

At the annual meeting of the Norfolk Guild next Monday a scheme of reorganisation is to be placed before the members. It is proposed that there shall be three divisions, coterminous with the areas of the Norwich, Norfolk and Lynn archdeaconries, in place of the existing districts.

The present division of the Guild's area comprises eleven districts, whose membership varies from as few as nine up to 55. The result has been that district activity has been absent through lack of interest, and it is hoped that the reorganisation will increase the efficiency of the Guild. It is thought that by the formation of a committee, consisting of chairman, secretary and committee for each division, members would be brought into closer touch with the work of the Guild, and that, as an aid to their advancement in the art of change ringing, some system of instruction should be arranged for by each committee.

The present membership of the Guild is 801, of whom, however, only 332 (hon. members 34, performing members 298, probationers 2) are resident in Norfolk. The total is made up by seven life members, 253 compounding members, and 209 Suffolk non-resident life members.

THE SUGGESTED DIVISION OF THE M.C.A.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—It has occurred to me that I ought to address you a letter on the proposal to subdivide the area at present under the control of the M.C.A. It has, I know, been felt for some time by some members that such area is inconveniently large, and that it has not been possible to hold frequent meetings in the more remote parts of that area.

The formation of the new dioceses of Southwell, Leicester and Derby has naturally suggested the idea of the formation of a Guild in each diocese, as has recently been done in the case of Winchester.

Of course it rests with the members assembled at a general meeting to decide on the course to adopt. If it is decided to divide the area, the formation of the above Guilds seems to be the best way to proceed. The case of the Burton District is more difficult, as only a small portion of the M.C.A. area falls within the diocese of Lichfield, and I understand from a report in 'The Ringing World' that the Burton members are not favourably disposed towards the scheme.

I regret to say that, acting on doctor's orders, I feel that I must resign my position as president of the M.C.A. It has been a great pleasure to me to have held the post for the past eight years, and from a financial point of view, at any rate, I am glad it has been a success.

I should like to bear testimony to the hard work undertaken by our hon. secretary (Mr. E. Morris), and I regret that my indisposition has recently thrown extra work on his hands. I am sure that he has endeavoured to act fairly in this matter, and has not let his private opinions outweigh those of other members.—Yours faithfully,

R. B. CHAMBERS.

DEATH OF MR. EDGAR HUNT.NORFOLK GUILD'S LOSS.

The death occurred on Monday week, at Shropham, Norfolk, of Mr. Edgar Hunt, at the age of 66 years. By the loss of Mr. Hunt, the Thetford District of the Norfolk Guild loses one of its oldest members. He was a keen campanologist, notwithstanding the fact that he mastered the intricacies of the art when nearly 40 years of age. This was with the St. Peter's company at Thetford, and under the tuition of Mr. Edward Dunk. Since then he has managed to ring just 20 peals for the Norwich Diocesan Association and the Norfolk Guild, as it is now known.

A stonemason by profession, Mr. Hunt worked in his younger days in the Metropolis, and, later, was employed for some considerable time in the alterations of Elveden Hall, the Suffolk seat of Lord Iveagh. He was very good company, and always in demand at social gatherings.

The funeral took place on Thursday last, March 29th. The Rev. E. Harcourt Anson (Vicar), who officiated, paid fitting tribute to deceased's long and sincere labours for the work of the church. The bearers were F. Shingfield, R. Allen, A. Hewitt, and C. Hewitt, all of whom, with Mr. J. Peck (also present), had learnt to ring in Mr. Hunt's company.

Many a young ringer has received from the deceased advice on ringing and striking, and his loss will be greatly felt by all who came in contact with him.

SPliced SURPRISE RINGING.

BY GEORGE L. JOYCE.

Readers of 'The Ringing World' will have read with interest the report in our last issue of the peal of Spliced Surprise Minor rung by the Leytonstone band at Chigwell Row, when twenty-two methods were incorporated in seven 720's, the greatest number of Surprise methods that has yet been put into a 5.040. In the following article Mr. G. L. Joyce, the conductor of the peal, explains how it was done.

The splicing of Minor methods is merely a question of substitution—the replacement of a given block of rows in method 'A' by a given block of identical rows in method 'B.' This remark must be modified with regard to the higher numbers, from Major onwards, because the extent of the rows is not produced. But in Minor, with every possible row appearing in a 720, it is necessary that the rows displaced should faithfully be reproduced by those that are substituted.

We know that the extent of the rows may be produced in a variety of different ways (or methods), and that a 720 of Plain Bob contains exactly the same rows as a 720 of London Surprise. In another way, a 720 block of the one equalises the rows in a 720 block of the other.

Certain pairs of methods will equalise the rows in blocks of less than the 720, and these are the blocks, each in its entirety, which, in splicing, are substituted one method for another. Once the block (whatever it may comprise) is completed, the splice is truly made, because the rows are equalised in the displaced and substituted blocks. It is necessary to handle the whole block, whatever its component parts may happen to be, and no more. This means that, if a certain block of method 'A' is deleted, and that of method 'B' is inserted, the matter may end there; or, of desired, two such blocks may be exchanged, or three, and so on. But each separate block is a true splice provided the whole block is exchanged. A portion of one block in method 'A' cannot be substituted for a portion of one in method 'B.' This is important; the block must be kept whole and in the same method, and each block is, in itself, a true splice.

The twenty-two method Surprise peal at Chigwell Row, recorded last week, is the direct result of the study of that excellent little book, 'Method Splicing,' which readers will find advertised in this journal. I do not propose to 'infringe copyright matter' therein, but merely to endeavour to explain its application as practised at Leytonstone. I shall write of lead 'ends' and of lead 'heads' from a practical ringer's point of view. In using these terms, Mr. Parker refers to different rows, but for convenience I shall refer to the same row, viz., the backstroke row of the treble's whole pull at lead. As an 'end,' this row is understood to be incorporated with the rows of the lead of which it is the end; as a 'head,' it will be understood to be the first row in the lead next following.

The equalising blocks are divided (broadly) into two:—

(a) Those methods which produce the same rows in blocks comprising one or more complete leads.

(b) Those methods which require blocks of complete courses to have the same effect.

Those in (a) again are roughly divided:—

(c) By lead-blocks of methods which have the same first lead-end.

(d) By lead-blocks of methods in which the first lead-ends differ.

Then in (b), (c) and (d) we have three distinct ways of splicing methods: (b) and (d) are complete in themselves, but (c) is subdivided into (1) single-lead blocks, (2) three-lead blocks, (3) six-lead blocks. The easiest to accomplish is the method classified under (d), but because of a certain peculiarity I shall leave this until the end.

SPlicing BY LEAD-BLOCKS.

Methods that splice by lead-blocks and have the same first lead-end (a) are usually so very similar one to another that a band capable of ringing one method should have no difficulty in mastering its fellow. The 'work' usually differs only when the bells are below the treble, and the variation is so simple that they may almost be regarded as the same method. I need not plagiarise Mr. Fidler on this subject, except to emphasise the point that the actual change from one method to another (best made at the lead-end) need worry nobody, because the previous method may be continued for several blows until one has time to get his bearings. The 'calling' is no trouble, because the lead-ends of the 720 are absolutely undisturbed by the splice; the bobs appear in exactly the same places as when no splice is made, and the same bells are in the same places at the bob rows.

(1) SPlicing BY THE SINGLE-LEAD BLOCKS. This is the easiest to understand and conduct. The methods produce exactly the same rows in the first lead; therefore every corresponding lead of each method equalises the rows of the other, so that the conductor may substitute leads of method 'A' for method 'B' when and where he pleases; one lead only or twenty-nine, how he likes and where he likes, because each block (of one lead) in method 'A' equalises the rows of the displaced block in method 'B.' But they must be whole leads that are exchanged.

Examples of Surprise Methods that will splice in this way: Munden-Ghester (Nos. 1 and 6 in the Central Council's 'Collection of Minor Methods'), Coldstream-Southwell (12 and 16), Allendale-Westminster (18 and 26), Hexham-Berwick (30 and 34), and Surfleet-Beverley (31 and 35).

(2) SPlicing BY THE THREE-LEAD BLOCKS. This is the easiest to ring, but it throws a little more work upon the conductor; he has to protect the blocks and keep them whole. That is to say, he must see that the three leads, which form the block, are rung in the same method. Mr. Parker explains in detail how these methods are found, and I need only touch upon what he says in order to show how the conductor may simplify his work.

The three leads which go to make these blocks do not of necessity appear next each other in the 720—they may be widely apart; but there will not be more than three with the peculiarity which marks them as belonging to the same block. They are governed by any given pair of bells appearing in two given places at the lead 'heads.' The conductor may pick out one block, or many, for substitution. Each block of three leads will have the same pair of bells in the given two places, and every complete block will have a different pair of bells there. He may choose the three leads which have 5-6 in the two places for method 'A,' and ring the other 27 leads in method 'B.' He may amplify method 'A' by choosing another block which has 2-3 in the necessary places, giving six leads of 'A' and 24 leads of 'B'; or a third block with, say, 3-4 in the two places, and so on. But each member of a block must be rung in the same method, because it requires the particular three leads in method 'A' to equalise the rows in the same three leads of method 'B.'

The given places in the lead 'heads' will vary according to the methods being spliced, as shown in 'Method Splicing.' They may be 2nd's and 3rd's places in one case, 2nd's and 4th's in another, 2nd's and 5th's in a third case, and so on; but whatever the two given places may be, the conducting may be simplified in this way: Any one bell every time in both of the given places will produce four blocks (of three leads each) which will conform to the requirements of the splice. Suppose the necessary places in the lead 'heads' to be 2nd's and 4th's, then the tenor (for instance) every time in both 2nd's and 4th's at the lead 'heads' will give these four blocks:—

060500	040600	030500	020500

Ring these leads in method 'A' and the remainder in method 'B' and the splice is truly made. It will be seen that the tenor is six times in each place at the lead 'heads,' and that three-lead blocks have been produced with 6-5, 6-4, 6-3 and 6-2, in the necessary places. When it is realised that any bell may be used as 'observation' in this way, quite irrespective of the calling of the bobs, it will be seen that the conducting of this three-lead splicing is an easy matter.

Surprise method examples: Canterbury-Morpeth (Nos. 2 and 1), Alnwick-Newcastle (Nos. 3 and 5), London-Wells (Nos. 14 and 15), Immanuel-Stamford (Nos. 22 and 24), Lightfoot-Wearmouth (Nos. 23 and 25), and York-Durham (Nos. 32 and 33).

(3) SPlicing BY THE SIX-LEAD BLOCKS. This is harder to ring, but no more difficult to conduct than the three-lead splice. It may be reasoned upon exactly similar lines to the above, except that six leads are necessary instead of three, and that the six leads are governed by any one bell in only one given place at the lead 'heads.' Therefore, any two bells, every time in this one given place, will give two six-lead blocks, being twelve leads for method 'A' and eighteen leads for method 'B.' The given place will vary in the same way as the two places in the three-lead splice, as clearly shown by Mr. Parker in 'Method Splicing.'

Surprise method examples: Carlisle-Munden (or Chester), 9 and 1 or 6; Ringers' ('Primrose')-Hexham (or Berwick), 38 and 30 or 34; Cambridge-Surfleet (or Beverley), 39 and 31 or 35.

SPlicing BY COURSE BLOCKS.

Methods which require whole courses to equalise the rows (b) are not so easy to ring, because the work varies more than the foregoing, but the changes from one method to another are not so frequent, and the conducting is not very difficult. Mr. Fidler has dealt fully in 'Method Splicing' with this subject, and it is sufficient to say that a course of Minor comprising five leads, the particular five which form this block must be rung in the same method. One course may be rung in 'A' and the other five courses in 'B,' or three courses of each, etc., so long as the five leads which form each course (no matter where they appear in the 720) are rung in the same method. Mr. Parker fully explains how these methods may be found, but it may profit the reader to study the first lead of a pair of the methods given below. He will find that the rows are identical for half of the lead, and will notice that, while the rows differ in the second half, yet the places made, as a rule, are exactly similar in each method of the pair. This is not always the case (instance Nos. 14 and 17), but it is a very good guide in tracing methods which splice by the course.

Surprise method examples: Newcastle-Munden (or Chester) (Nos. 5 and 1 or 6), Northumberland-Carlisle (Nos. 8 and 9), London-Cincastrae (Nos. 14 and 17), Immanuel-Annable's London (Nos. 22 and 27), Lightfoot-Netherseale (Nos. 23 and 28), Durham-Surfleet (or Beverley) (Nos. 33 and 31 or 35), Norfolk-Ringers' ('Primrose') (Nos. 36 and 38), Ipswich-Cambridge (Nos. 37 and 39).

SPlicing BY THE SECOND'S AND SIXTH'S PLACES.

These methods (d) are the simplest to ring and conduct, because they are, virtually, exactly the same so far as the 'work' is concerned. We are indebted to Mr. Parker for an ingenious composition which enables these methods to be spliced. He points out the advisability of dividing the leads between the two rows which form the treble's whole pull on the front, thus making rounds and the backstroke rows into the 'heads' of leads. If this is done, it will be seen that the rows in the first lead of methods which splice in this manner

THE BIG BELL AND THE LITTLE BELL.

Within an old cathedral hung
A mighty bell,
Which never, save at Easter, swung
One solemn knell;
And then, so sternly all around
Its echoes fell,
The peasants trembled at the sound
Of that big bell.
Not far away from the cathedral stood
A hermit's cell,
And in its belfry-tower of wood
A little bell;
Whose daily linkings through the year
So faintly fell,
The peasants hardly gave an ear
To that small bell.
The hermit—he who own'd the same,
And loved it well—
Resolved that it should share the fame
Of the big bell;
So tolling it but once a year
With one brief knell,
He taught the peasants to revere
His little bell.
And there are fools in vast repute,
Who, strange to tell,
Acquire their fame by being mute
Like that small bell;
These would-be sages rarely speak,
For they know well
That frequent utterance would break
The solemn spell.

Yriarte Trans.—Robert Rockliff.

are absolutely identical, the only difference between the methods being the 'place' which is made 'between' the leads (or, if you prefer, the place made 'from' the handstroke to the backstroke rows). A band that is capable of ringing Cambridge can introduce its companion, Ringers' Surprise ('Primrose') without 'learning' Primrose at all. Mr. Parker shows how the extent is produced. He says, in effect: Ring Cambridge to produce a certain lead-end, then ring 'Primrose' to produce another, and so on. But Primrose is merely Cambridge with a 'sixth's place' at the lead-end. No band would think of learning another method in order to produce a 'single' in Plain Bob. Then why do so to produce a 'sixth call' in Cambridge? Learn the altered work, necessitated by the sixth's place, as you would learn the single in Plain Bob; call your 'sixth's' where necessary to produce the required lead-ends, with the bobs in their proper places, and you have your spliced extent without bothering your band about Primrose. Apply this to any methods which splice in this way, using the necessary figures as given by Mr. Parker.

It would be interesting to try this on, say, Middleton's peal of Cambridge Major, calling successive 'eighth's' at those leads between the wrongs and homes, causing the bells to hunt instead of dodging at the lead-ends. This would reduce each course so treated by one lead, and introduce 'Primrose Major' with fourth's-place bobs!

Examples of Surprise methods: Whitley-Northumberland (Nos. 7 and 8), Weoler-Sandiacre (Nos. 10 and 11), Bacup-Barnborough (Nos. 19 and 20), Immanuel-Lightfoot (Nos. 22 and 23), Stamford-Wearmouth (Nos. 24 and 25), Hexham (or Berwick)-Surfleet (or Beverley) (Nos. 30 or 34 and 31 or 35), Norfolk-Ipswich (Nos. 36 and 37), Ringers' ('Primrose')-Cambridge (Nos. 38 or 39).

BUILDING UP EXTENTS.

The building of spliced extents requires a little thought, but it is quite simple—it is merely a question of substitution. Mr. Parker gives several variations which are typical. We usually start with the blocks which are the most awkward to handle (those by the course, the six-leads, or the 'places'), produce an extent in two methods, and then work backwards to the simpler blocks. If one of the paired methods has a companion three-lead splice we try and find the necessary three-lead blocks, and simply substitute the one for the other at these leads. If any of the methods now included has a companion single-lead splice, then at any convenient lead we substitute one method for the other.

It is all very simple, and 'Method Splicing' is a profitable and interesting book to those who wish to make their ringing far more interesting and entertaining. I have quoted Surprise methods because these happen to be the ones practised at Leytonstone, but what has been said may be applied to all Treble Bob methods, and, with modifications, to the plain methods. As I have said, our peal at Chigwell Row is merely the result of careful study of this excellent little work, coupled with a little ingenuity. Actually sixteen methods were rung and six others brought in by 'sixth calls'. Of the sixteen, four pairs were practically similar, leaving only twelve methods which presented any difficulty. Of these, two pairs were merely variations of the work differently placed in the rows (from middle to front), and thus there were only ten in the peal that were worth calling 'different methods.'

'IRENÆUS PISTOR.'

There will be a final opportunity on Monday for those associations who would like to make a collective contribution to our fund for the assistance of Mr. Alf. T. Baker ('Irenæus Pistor'), of Hillsborough, Sheffield, to 'pass round the hat.' The appeal will be closed after next week, but we shall always be glad to acknowledge contributions to the fund. Let it be made up to £200 with one concluding effort!

DURHAM & NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Eastern District of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association was held at Jarrow-on-Tyne on Saturday last, and was very successful in every way. The bells of Christ Church (eight) and St. Peter's (six) were kept going during the afternoon and evening. After an excellent tea at the Co-operative Cafe, a short meeting was held, presided over by the president of the district (Mr. R. L. Patterson), supported by the president (Mr. C. L. Routledge), Mr. Wm. Story, Mr. J. W. Parker, Mr. E. E. Ferry (secretary) and others. Thanks were accorded for the use of the bells, and to Mr. Hall, of Christ Church, for having made such excellent arrangements.

The next meeting was fixed for May 5th at West Hartlepool. In the course of a few remarks, Mr. Story said that it was most appropriate to have a meeting at Jarrow on that day, as it was the birthday of the late Frederick Harrison, a Jarrow man, who did so much for ringing in his native town, and for the association.

A MEMORIAL TABLET.

At All Souls', Bolton, Lancs, on Saturday week, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes) was rung in 49½ mins., with the bells half-muffled: C. Pike 1, A. Holden 2, J. Kay, jun., 3, H. Wallbank 4, R. Holden 5, H. Johnson 6, J. E. Markland (conductor) 7, J. W. Kay 8. The occasion was the unveiling of a memorial tablet to the late Mr. Jos. Markland, recording his 36 years' service at All Souls' Church. The tablet was unveiled by the Vicar (Rev. J. H. Martin), and after the ceremony the tower was thrown open to other ringers, and touches of Bob Major, Kent Treble Bob, Stedman Doubles and Minor were rung.

PRESENTATION AT MARKET HARBOROUGH.

At the Parish Church, Market Harborough, Leicestershire, on Sunday evening, March 25th, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes): C. A. Manning (conductor) 1, F. Clark 2, R. March 3, Frank Wallington 4, W. Wallington 5, J. Chester 6, Fred Wallington 7, W. Hector 8. Rung as a farewell to Mr. Frank Wallington, who is taking up an appointment in the Sheffield Police Force. The opportunity was taken to present him with a travelling case as a mark of appreciation, together with the best of wishes for his future success.

THE 18 1/2 TON RINGING BELL,

RIVERSIDE CHURCH, NEW YORK, U.S.A.

LONG SERVICE.

Among the many meetings held on Monday not the least interesting was that at St. Albans, where the Hertford County Association met for its annual gathering and to do honour to Mr. G. W. Cartmel, who for exactly a quarter of a century has so enthusiastically and efficiently filled the office of honorary secretary. Twenty-five years is a good slice out of a man's life, and a long period to occupy a voluntary position which involves no small amount of labour, as well as tact and patience, and the sacrifice of time. Mr. Cartmel has given his services ungrudgingly in the interests of the art of ringing, as well as of the Church, of which he is so devoted a son. Every year the association elects a new president, but the secretary and the treasurer (Mr. E. P. Debenham), like Tennyson's brook, 'go on for ever.' Both have seen, during their long term of office, a new generation of ringers come upon the scene, but it is fortunate for the organisation which they serve that it should have, as a secure anchorage, the interest and experience of two such men.

There are few associations which can boast of having two important officers who have carried on their duties together for so long; and it says much for the enthusiasm of both, as well as being an indication of the confidence of the members, that they should have borne the burden of office for so many years. Officials, as a rule, come in for little of thanks so long as things go well, although there is no hesitation to bestow the 'kicks' when things are ill. That, however, is one of the fruits of office, and secretaries and others are not greatly distressed by the absence of the one, or disturbed by the application of the other. What does dishearten them, however, is the apathy which is so often to be found among the members. So much is often taken for granted or left to someone else to do that the whole burden of the organisation is cast upon the officials. This, to say the least, is not fair. The associations are run in the interests of the members, to bring them into contact one with another; to provide them with opportunities for practising and advancing in their art and to encourage them in their service ringing. Yet many fail to respond to all that is done for them. Their ringing often takes a very secondary place among the pursuits of their leisure hours, and they overlook the fact that in return for the work that is done for them they owe a loyalty to their officers.

Nothing could be a better reward for the long and devoted service of officials, in whatever association they serve, than keen interest and a whole-hearted backing-up of their efforts. It is not only at annual meetings and the like that ringers should make a point of being present, but throughout the year they should show by their active interest that they appreciate what is being done for them by those whom they have placed in positions of responsibility. The Hertford County Association has, happily, long been a united family and fortunate in the possession of an admirable band of officers. To this much of the success of the organisation has been due, but an outstanding influence has been that of the honorary secretary, and the recognition on Monday of his long and faithful service was a deserved tribute to his work and to the high personal esteem in which he is held.

A VISIT TO SOHAM.

The Ely Diocesan Association, in accordance with the resolution passed at the previous meeting, held its annual meeting at Soham, on Easter Monday. The fine day enabled 26 members to assemble in the somewhat isolated Fen town, with its fine church and tower with ten bells. Perhaps, as the N.U.T. were holding their annual meeting in Cambridge, it was well that their deliberations were not disturbed by the ringing of the bells of the University Church. Ringing took place from about noon onwards. Various 'touches' of Grandsire, Stedman and Major methods were rung, and the fine ring of ten were heard after a long silence.

A short service, conducted by the new Vicar, the Rev. P. F. Boughey, who gave an interesting address, was held in the transepts of the church at 4 p.m. Those present then sat down to tea, arranged by mine host, Mr. W. Sharpe, at the Crown Hotel.

In the absence of the Rev. A. H. F. Boughey, who had sent an apology, the Rev. H. B. Woolley presided. The business meeting followed.

The Hon. Secretary read a brief report, noticing the work done in regard to the Akeley bells, and the successful appeal for the rehanging of the heavy ring at St. Wendrida, March. He also referred to the reorganising of the Cambridge Youths under the presidency of the Vicar of St. Mary-the-Great, Dr. P. N. Waggett. He stated that, thanks to the assistance of the auditor, the balance sheet had been drawn up, and showed a satisfactory balance in hand, but he considered that the district secretaries might well try to obtain an increase in the number of hon. members. He also, while thanking the members for reappointing him to the joint office of hon. secretary and treasurer, thought he must ask them to relieve him of the latter office.

During the year 1927 25 peals had been rung for the association—22 on tower bells and three on handbells, viz.: Kent Treble Bob Major 2, Oxford Treble Bob Major 1, Bob Major 5 (handbells 3), Double Norwich Major 2, Grandsire Triples 1, Surprise Minor 9, Kent Treble Bob Minor 2, Bob Minor 2, and Doubles 1. It was noteworthy that of the 13 peals of Minor, nine were Surprise peals, viz., Cambridge 2, Wells, Beverley, Durham, Annable's London, Immanuel and London 1 each.

The meeting proceeded to elect the following officers: Hon. secretary, Rev. R. Copeman; treasurer, Mr. T. R. Dennis; auditor, Mr. A. E. Austin; district secretaries, Archdeaconry of Ely Mr. F. Warrington, Archdeaconry of Hunts Miss C. Fields, Archdeaconry of Wisbech Mr. H. W. Giddings, Marshland District Mr. W. G. Cross; committee, in addition to the above, Revs. A. H. F. Boughey, H. B. Woolley and R. P. R. Routh, Messrs. H. Fields, E. G. Hibbens, A. G. Rivers and J. Taylor.

As members were leaving to catch their train, the meeting closed with a general vote of thanks, proposed by Mr. Dennis, seconded by Rev. R. F. R. Routh, to the Vicars and churchwardens, to the Rev. P. F. Boughey for his address, and to the organist for accompanying the hymns.

DEDICATION OF NEW BELL AT CAVERSFIELD.

The dedication of the new treble bell at Caversfield, Oxon, which, as described last week, replaces a thirteenth-century one which has been placed in a frame in the church, took place on Palm Sunday, April 1st, at 3 p.m. The tiny church was packed to its utmost capacity, and a sapient choir was in attendance, drawn from the neighbouring parishes of Bicester and Launton. The service, which commenced with a shortened form of evensong, was taken by the Vicar (the Rev. W. O'Reilly), and after the second lesson three members of the choir, the churchwardens, and clergy proceeded to the ringing chamber, and the churchwardens, Major the Hon. E. H. Wyndham, M.C., and Mr. W. A. Phipps, having presented the rope of the new bell to the Rural Dean (the Rev. H. Last, Rector of Launton), the dedicatory prayers were offered by him, and the bell was rung up.

The ropes of the bells were then handed to the Vicar, with the customary charge as to their uses and duties, and the three bells were rung for a few rounds, and the hymn, 'Set them nobly in the steeple,' was sung as the choir and clergy returned to the chancel, where the remainder of the dedication service was offered, followed by the hymn, 'Unchanging God, who livest.'

Preaching on the text, 'Sound a trumpet in Zion, call a solemn assembly,' the Rural Dean said he had to congratulate the parishioners of Caversfield on behalf of the Bishop and the whole diocese, and also on behalf of the rural deanery, on their having acquired that third bell to add to the two they already possessed, and they were particularly to be congratulated, because they had not sacrificed the old bell, which was a unique feature in the church which possessed so many interesting features, and was, as he understood, the oldest known bell in the country.

The Rural Dean went on to say that they had dedicated the new bell to the service of Almighty God, and enumerated the ways in which a bell could render that service, and would remind them, among other things, not to neglect the assembling of themselves together.

The service ended with the hymn, 'The sacred bells of England,' and the bells were again rung. The ringers during the dedication service were F. Sharpe (treble), J. Evans (2nd), and H. Foster (tenor).

After the service, the opportunity was taken by a great many to inspect the old thirteenth-century treble bell, which is now situated in a frame hung exactly as it was up in the tower, complete with all its fittings, in the ringing chamber on the floor at the west end of the church.

A CRACKED BELL AT IPSWICH.

At the annual meeting of the St. Mary-le-Tower Society, Ipswich, held on April 3rd, it was reported that instruction had been received to discontinue, on the advice of experts, ringing the 7th bell of St. Mary-le-Tower in order to prevent an extension of a crack which has developed.

It was decided that the annual outing be a trip to London, with ringing at various towers, on June 16th.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Master, Mr. W. P. Garrett; Deputy Master and treasurer, Mr. C. J. Sedgley; steeplekeeper, Mr. F. J. Tillet; auditors, Messrs. Brundle and Garrett; secretary, Mr. G. E. Symonds, 28, Chevallier St. Ipswich.

SHORT-CIRCUIT.

Partial short-circuit is not the same in its incidence on all numbers of bells, and depends on the number of leads in the full normal plain course. (a) If this number is prime, no partial short-circuit can possibly occur, and, therefore, with the Plain Bob lead-heads, four, six, eight and twelve bells are entirely free from it. (b) If this number is composite, partial short-circuit, producing plain courses of two or more leads, is at once liable to occur, and therefore five, seven, nine, ten and eleven bells are affected by it. It is, in fact, endemic on the odd numbers.

Double Bob Doubles is short-circuited in two leads, for example. On ten bells the possible short plain courses are all three leads in length, and, as Shipway, at any rate, rejects Double Bob Cinques, with a five-lead plain course, as incomplete it would appear that three-lead plain courses on ten cannot be admitted.

A diagrammatic representation of short-circuit on ten bells is as follows:—

A b c d e f G h k a b c D e f g h k A.

The letters represent the Plain Bob lead-heads, and the capitals those of Double n. Court Bob Royal.

Double n. Court Bob Royal is Double Norwich Court Bob Royal with the 5-6 places added. Similar short-circuit is produced from Double Oxford Bob Royal by removing the 5-6 places. Other instances can be easily obtained.

Double Court Minor, Double Norwich Major, Double n. Royal and Maximus form a very striking sequence, in which, as each set of places is added, a dodge is added, both to them and to the other work, in the most charming way. The hammer blow which strikes one of its members is a matter for much regret.

The presence of a bell in the hunt moves partial short-circuit up to the next higher number of bells.

Total short-circuit is 'grand slam' in one lead, and is capable of occurring on all numbers of bells. Gaps in the ranks of eight-bell methods can be found owing to it. It is really only a particular case of the other form.

THE EXTENSION OF METHODS.

BY J. ARMIGER THOLLOPE.

In my previous articles I have tried to explain and illustrate two main points. First that change ringing is essentially the movement of bells among each other; and, secondly, that this movement is, and must be, cyclical in form. A method is really a particular form of movement, and this movement is made up of a number of cycles. All these cycles are either similar to hunting courses or dodging movements, in which a number of bells first make a number of steps forward and then the same number of steps backward. In every case the cycle is complete.

Hunting is the simplest form of movement, and the extension of hunting from one number of bells to a greater number is the one thing in extension of methods about which everybody is quite clear and certain. Plain hunting on three bells will give you six changes, on four bells eight changes, on five bells ten changes, and so on. There is one way, and one way only, in which this extension can be had. This applies equally when you are dealing with the hunting courses which go to make up a method; they have one way in which they will expand, and one way only. When we realise this, we are in sight of the solution of the problem of extension of methods, so far as it has a real solution. But, as the cyclical movements which make up a method are combined in a great variety of ways, we shall find that though it is quite easy (having understood what I have just written) to set down all the possible extensions of any given method, yet it would take a very long time to describe all the varieties and combinations which are possible. Instead of attempting to give any general rules (which I have done elsewhere), I will take one or two examples, explain them, and leave it to the reader who is so minded to apply the examples to other methods.

First of all, the simplest of all methods, Plain Bob. Here you have (1) a hunting course on all the bells which expands in one way, and one way only:—

213	2143	21435	214356

	etc.	etc.	etc.

Then (2), when the treble is leading, you have another hunting course on the Extreme or Working bells, in which the bells move backwards. This expands in one way, and one way only:—

1234	12345	123456
1324	13254	132546
1312	13524	135264
1432	15342	153624
1423	15432	156342
1243	14523	165432
1234	14253	164523
	12435	146253
	12345	142635
		123456

The members of these secondary hunting courses are separated from each other, but the whole cyclical movements are complete, and the rows which they produce come in the same order as if you rang them straight off. The reason why we all recognise that Bob Major is the same method as Bob Minor, but extended to a larger number of bells, is simply because it agrees with the simple rule that extension of movement is only moving in the same direction, but for an increased length.

There is, however, an alternative extension. You can increase the first cycle as before, adding to the number of bells, but keep the second cycle on the same number throughout:—

21 354	132 546	2143 576
12 534	123 564	1234 756
21 543	132 654	2143 765
12 453	123 645	1234 675
12 345	123 456	1234 567

The bells to the left of the vertical line are simply plain hunting throughout the course; the bells to the right are making the secondary cycle. The first of the examples is Grandsire, the second is a hobbled course of Bob Minor, the third is Grandsire Triples, with three bells in the hunt.

This illustrates the first of several points which I want to make. It is that there is no method in which it is not possible to have more than one valid extension.

PORT SUNLIGHT, CHESHIRE.—On Monday, April 2nd, 720 Bob Minor: G. Battle 1, A. Lenthum 2, J. Bruse 3, J. C. E. Simpson 4, W. J. Battle 5, J. Cooke (conductor) 6. The ringer of the treble is only 12 years of age, and this was his first 720. It was rung as a birthday compliment to him.

A FUNERAL PEAL OF 200 YEARS AGO.

Apocryphal the inquiry recently made in these columns as to the correct occasions for muffled ringing, the following 'Method of Ringing Funeral Peals in London in 1734,' from a MS. in the Guildhall Library, London, by William Laughton, of Leather Lane, London, dated March 10th, 1734, will be of interest to our readers:—

'After the bells of the bells are clothed with pieces of leather, called muffers, which are the properest things for that purpose, ring ten or a dozen rounds to hear whether they strike equal or no; if they do not they must be altered by putting some tow under the cloathing of such as strike too hard, and putting on thinner muffers to such as strike too soft, till they are made to sound equal. Then, about half an hour before the corpse is brought to be buried, proceed in the following manner: Ring one pull round and stand, all but the tenor, but let her be rung out a pull by herself; then ring two pulls round, and the tenor two pulls by herself; then three pulls and the tenor three; then four and the tenor four; then five and the tenor five; then six pulls round, and the tenor to be rung as many strokes by herself as the person is years old that is to be buried. When that is ended, ring the numbers backwards as you began with all, that is—six, five, four, three, two and one; but the tenor must be rung the same number of pulls by herself between each number of rounds. After the last round is ended, ring the tenor again by herself as many strokes as the deceased is years old (this is performing the exercise backwards and forwards), then ring a Grandsire with the tenor behind, or a course of Plain Bob, or anything else that you please, though not to exceed six score changes in length; after that, till the corpse is brought into the church or to the grave, ring only one pull round and the tenor one pull by herself; if the corpse is brought into the church first, then ring it out again in the same manner. Whilst it is burying, cut off the muffers, and ring the company out of the churchyard with one pull round, and the tenor one pull by herself; continue that thirty or forty times and stand; then finish with a 720 of any peal that you can cleverly manage, and cease the bells without standing.

'In that manner the dead peal was rung at St. Mary's, Islington, on Friday, the 7th June, 1724, when Mr. Wm. Ibbotson was buried in that Churchyard; he was a wheelwright and thirty-six years of age.

'N.B.—Let the number of bells be what they will, from 3 to 6, the exercise is to be performed after this manner; but if a dead peal is rung on 8, 10 or 12 bells, then ring as many pulls as there is number of bells.'

THE OCCASIONS OF MUFFLED RINGING.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Mr. Routledge's letter on the above subject is interesting and instructive, but he does not mention what to do on Good Friday, and I would have liked to have had his opinion on that. Some churches do not ring at all on that day, and some ring muffled. If we ring muffled on Armistice Day in memory of those who gave their lives for our country, why not ring muffled for Him who gave His life for the world? If all churches rang muffled, it would help the people to remember that it is a holy day, the greatest of the year.

ONE OF NORFOLK'S BEST LIGHT PEALS

To the Editor.

Sir,—At a parish meeting at New Buckenham, on Monday, April 2nd, it was decided to overhaul and hang in new bearings the peal of six bells, which are classed as one of the best light peals in Norfolk. A subscription list has been headed by the Vicar. If any reader should be interested, a donation would be very thankfully received by, yours truly,

WILFRED G. SAUNDERS

A BELL FRAME PUZZLE.

In the evening of Tuesday, March 13th, the village of Aston Tirrold, Berks, had the pleasure of once more hearing its bells after a silence of some months. They are a melodious ring of five, well worthy of a sixth bell, which it is hoped will be added at no distant date. The old frame was condemned some time ago. Its presence in the tower was somewhat of a puzzle, being in most ways too big for the tower. It gave one the impression that it was constructed in the churchyard, and then was found to be outside measurements, whereupon bits were taken off it and off the walls of the tower until it was possible to get it inside.

A very fine frame of English oak to contain six bells has taken its place, and the existing five have been rehung on ball bearings with a certain amount of other new fittings. The work was entrusted to Mr. Richard White, of Appleton, Berks, and with most excellent results, as was acknowledged by the band of members of the Oxford Diocesan Guild who first rang the bells on the above date. A remarkable feature of the work is the ease with which the ropes can be handled, new as they are, in spite of the fact that owing to shortness of draught the sallies go round the wheels.

TWO MORE BELLS FOR ANSTON.

At Anston, Yorks, on Easter Sunday, for evening service, 720 Anston Surprise in 26 mins.: W. Platts 1, H. Haigh 2, H. Stenton (conductor) 3, H. Turner 4, F. Stenton 5, C. F. Fowler 6. This is the last 720 to be rung on these bells before restoration. They have done good service for 60 years, and are now to be taken down and sent to the bell foundry with a view to recasting the tenor, overhauling the others, re-hanging, etc., and there is a hope of getting two more bells to complete the octave.

The ringers have rung all the Minor methods contained in the Central Council's collection and other books, and they are looking forward to raising sufficient money to add two more bells.

This diagram gives the actual structure of Cambridge Surprise Minor, and you have only to turn back to what I have written on the extension of Double Court to see how Cambridge Major comes from the Minor in the same way that Double Norwich comes from Double Court Minor.

Lincolnshire Surprise is, of course, another extension and a better one than the extension which we ring, but it cannot be called Cambridge, simply because it has appeared too late in the day.

This shows that the method is derived from the Plain Hunting Course and not, as some people seem to think, from an imaginary Treble Bob Hunting Course.

NORTHAW.—On March 27th, at St. Thomas', 720 Oxford Treble Bob Minor: J. Roberts, jun., 1, J. North 2, E. A. McKie 3, J. Parker 4, J. Roberts, sen., 5, R. Stiles (conductor) 6. First 720 in this method by all. All are local Sunday service ringers at this church.

A VETERAN OF THE EXERCISE.RANG FOR THE DEATH OF THE PRINCE CONSORT.

There is no more respected figure in the Exercise than Mr. Joseph Waghorn, of East Ham, who, although he has passed his 85th birthday, still takes the keenest interest in ringing, and is to be found at most of the important gatherings of the year, although his advanced age now prevents him doing much actual ringing.

In the course of such a long life, Mr. Waghorn has shared in the ringing of bells for many notable events, and he was one of those who rang at Westminster Abbey for Queen Victoria's Diamond Jubilee. He began ringing at the age of 16, and rang for the death of the Prince Consort in 1860. He took part in a peal at Tottenham on Queen Victoria's Jubilee in 1888, and other events of interest in which he shared in the ringing were the coming-of-age of Edward VII., when he was Prince of Wales, the entry of Princess Alexandra into London and her subsequent marriage, the coronation and death of King Edward, the coronation of the present King and Queen, and the wedding of Princess Mary.

There is one other distinction which, we believe, Mr. Waghorn can claim. He has attended a service at every cathedral in England. Mr. Waghorn, although not now a member, is usually to be found listening to the debates at the Central Council meetings, wherever they may be held, and last February he was an honoured guest at the Johnston Commemoration Dinner at Birmingham.

THE CURFEW.A LEGEND OF CHERTSEY.

Among the few places which have seen a revival of the curfew is the ancient town of Chertsey, Surrey, where one of the most treasured possessions of the church is the fifth bell in the present ring of eight—a pre-Reformation casting which local tradition states to have come from Chertsey Abbey at its dissolution. It is said that this bell tolled for the funeral of Henry VI., murdered in the tower of London, and hurried to Chertsey for burial, 'without priest, clerk, torch or taper, singing or saying.'

Chertsey's ancient bell is also associated with another ancient legend—first put into story form and dramatised by Albert Smith—which relates how Blanche Heriot, to save the life of her lover, Neville, condemned to die at sundown, climbed to the bell tower and held the clapper of the bell, determined that 'curfew shall not ring to-night.'

A tragedy occurred at Berwick-on-Tweed on Monday, March 26th, when, just after he had rung the curfew at the Town Hall, George Payne, described as the master bellringer of the town, was found hanged. The bell rope was round his neck.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

We are all familiar with the ringing activities of the Pye family. 'E.M.' wants to know if the following is one of their ancestors: '1507. Paid to Henry Yerde Pye, bellringer, for his quarter of Michaelmas, 20d.'—from St. Mary-de-Castro Church accounts, Leicester.

Mr. Challis Winney writes that the recent handbell peal (Holt's Original), which he called, was on the 44th anniversary of his first peal as conductor, not of his first peal.

An example of what may be done by keenness and perseverance is to be found in the peal at Usk, the report of which we publish in this issue. This is a country tower, but the band, who have taken up change ringing during the last twelve months, have worked on without outside help, practising twice weekly and ringing for an hour before morning and evening services on Sundays. They first mastered Grandsire Doubles, and now have a good Triples band. Six of them were in the peal on Saturday, and it was their first attempt. It shows what can be done with determination, and they are to be congratulated upon their success.

The Kent Treble Bob Royal record was made at Ashton-under-Lyne fourteen years ago to-day, when Mr. Sam Wood conducted a round 14,000, which was rung in 9 hrs. 24 mins. The previous Treble-Pen record, rung at Shoreditch in the Oxford variation, had stood for a hundred and thirty years.

At the same church three years earlier, namely, on April 17th, 1911, the record length of Treble Bob Maximus was rung. This was 12,240 of Kent, which occupied 8 hrs. 39 mins.

Ninety years ago next Monday, at Birstall, Yorks, the first peal of Cumberland Exercise Major was rung.

Tuesday is the anniversary of the first peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Royal, which was rung at St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich, on April 17th, 1769. 'The harmony and regularity of its changes,' write an old chronicler, 'filled every lover of the art of ringing with the most pleasing wonder and astonishment.'

'This incomparable peal,' he goes on, 'was invented in the year 1751 by Mr. William Porter, one of the ringers belonging to St. Peter's company, and though from that time it has been annually practised, yet never was perfectly gone through with, without bells being out of course, till now, so that it may be affirmed that this is the first complete 5,040 that ever was rung in the known world.'

A peal of 9,312 Superlative Surprise Major (then the longest length that had been composed) was rung at Irthlingborough on April 17th, 1900.

The anniversary of the 13,440 Double Norwich Major by the Royal Cumberland Youths, at Romford, to which we referred last week, was rung on April 18th, 1894. In this connection Mr. Edwin Barnett, sen., tells us that he is not the only survivor of the band, but that Albert Pittam and Charles Wilkins are still in the land of the living.

Twelve months ago next Wednesday, members of the Lancashire Association scored the 17,824 Treble Bob Major at Heptonstall. They will have a bigger task still when they get down to the Double Norwich at the same church to-morrow.

CLAIM TO CANTERBURY PEAL WITHDRAWN.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The band who finished a peal at Canterbury Cathedral on August Bank Holiday last, with clapper out of the 8th in the last course, wish to give up any claim to this being recognised as a peal. Thanking you to find room for this notice, yours truly,

J. H. CHEESMAN.

SPLICED SURPRISE MINOR.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir.—On behalf of the Norbury (Cheshire) ringers I beg to tender heartiest congratulations to the Leytonstone band for the splendid peal of Surprise Minor. This is, indeed, a wonderful performance, splicing 22 Surprise Minor methods in seven true extents. We sincerely hope this success will be an incentive to many other companies to follow.—Yours sincerely,

JAMES FERNLEY.

THE PEAL AT EPSOM.

To the Editor.

Sir,—In reply to Mr. Beams' inquiry, nothing whatever happened to the bells in any course of this peal. However, something went radically wrong with the mental faculties of your humble servant in the last course. I called the bells into the plain course with a bob wrong, and sailed along with the erroneous mental deduction that the homing position would come after I had done full work. Of course, it comes before this work, and the consequence was the rounds change of the peal flashed up when I was not even thinking or looking for it. I was for the moment nonplussed, and the absence of 'This is all' caused confusion amongst some of the ringers, who wondered whether to ring rounds or changes. It took me a few moments to recognise that my mental error had allowed me to overrun the rounds change, which had come up perfectly correctly. Had a bob at home been required, I should have had to apologise to my fellow-ringers for letting them down at the last course-end of the peal.—Yours truly,

THE CONDUCTOR.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

PRESENTATION TO THE HON. SECRETARY.

At the annual meeting of the Hertford County Association, at the Abbey Institute, St. Albans, on Monday, a presentation was made to Mr. G. W. Cartmel, who for twenty-five years has discharged the duties of hon. secretary.

The gift, which was handed to Mr. Cartmel by the president (Mr. F. A. Smith) on behalf of the members, took the form of a silver tea service, and was accompanied by an illuminated scroll signed by the president and district secretaries. To Mrs. Cartmel was presented a pair of silver vases.

Mr. E. P. Debenham (the hon. treasurer) said that Mr. Cartmel began ringing in 1885, and rang his first peal in St. Albans Abbey in 1885. He (Mr. Debenham) took over the secretaryship in 1887, and Mr. Cartmel acted as assistant secretary until he succeeded him as secretary in 1903, and they thanked him very sincerely for the admirable manner in which he had piloted the association for so many years.

Mr. Cartmel, in reply, said he had had a happy time during the past 25 years, and had made many lasting friendships. He looked upon bell-ringing and bellringers as a wonderful fellowship with great possibilities of doing good.

The financial statement showed a balance in hand of £21 1s. 10d., compared with £13 15s. 7d. at the beginning of the year.

THE SECRETARY'S REPORT.

In his annual report the Hon. Secretary said he thought it was generally agreed that the life of a busy person seemed short, but when recounted by years the journey appeared somewhat lengthened. This thought came to his mind when he remembered that this was his 25th annual report, made possible by the kindness of the members in electing him these many years as their secretary. He was still 'not out,' and if it was their pleasure not to 'declare,' he was prepared to take the next over. If length of service was a worthy asset, then that association had been fortunate from its foundation in 1884 in its choice of officers. Their treasurer had been wandering through the wilderness for over 40 years, and although he had worn out many pairs of boots in the pursuit of his hobby, yet he preserved the same youthful serenity and enthusiasm that had always marked his bellringing career. His chariot wheels had not been clogged with deficits, for in whatever condition the exchequer stood they could depend upon him telling them of that little nest egg standing in the association's name at the P.O. Savings Bank. Long might it be so. Lengthy service was also the lot of Messrs. Lawrence and Nash, and others who had retired. A perusal of the minute book recalled friendships that had been priceless, and, although many had passed beyond, the joy of fellowship still remained.

As regarded the state of the association, a perusal of the peal list was a fair indication of enthusiasm and progress, and the tradition of the past had been well upheld. Thirty-three peals had been rung in 23 different towers, divided between 18 conductors, and two peals upon handbells, making the splendid total of 35 peals, all the higher methods having been rung, from Bristol downwards. Many had rung their first peal, but a far greater number had rung their first in advanced methods—a healthy sign of progression. The six-bell towers throughout the county were 'going strong,' and they congratulated the Little Munden Society upon having rung 98 full extents in fifteen methods during the year 1927.

AN EMERGENCY SICK FUND.

The question of an Emergency Sick Fund, the report proceeded, was discussed at the annual committee meeting, the principle being generally approved. The recent misfortune to Mr. A. T. Baker had given prominence to the need of some such organisation. The prompt, commendable action of the Editor of 'The Ringing World,' who brought the sad circumstances to the notice of the Exercise, resulted in timely help being given. The committee, however, feeling keenly that something on a more permanent basis should be attempted, instructed one of the association's delegates to give notice of a motion to the Central Council of Church Bellringers (which meets at Whitsuntide), so that the question could be discussed, and, if thought advisable, a committee appointed to consider the problem as to the advisability of creating an emergency sick fund. How the money was to be raised and administered need not enter into discussion now, but he suggested that the subject was worthy of further consideration, whatever might be the outcome.

The report recalled the deaths of members, viz., Mr. J. J. Cawdell, of Baldock, Mr. G. H. Barker, of Ware, Mr. S. F. Barnes, formerly of St. Albans Cathedral Society, Mr. H. Shaw, of Luton, Mr. Samuel Page, of Benington, and Mr. W. E. Garrard, of London. Thanks were accorded to Mr. W. Mercer, the auditor, Mr. T. J. Hull, the librarian, and the district secretaries, Messrs. W. Ayre, G. T. Croft, W. H. Lawrence, W. Nash and C. H. Horton. By their services the district secretaries had given not only an impetus to ringing, but to the prestige of the association. In appreciation of that service the members had warmly supported their efforts. They thanked the district secretaries for all they had done, and wished them success in the future.

In conclusion, the Hon. Secretary hoped they would carry with them the inspiration of that annual meeting. To many, old friendships had been renewed, and new friends had entered upon their horizon. Some had probably seized the occasion for ringing a new method, or had LONG PEAL ATTEMPT.

TO-MORROW'S GREAT ENDEAVOUR.

All being well, eight members of the Lancashire Association will to-morrow (Saturday), at the Church of St. Thomas à Becket, Heptonstall, Yorkshire, attempt a record length of Double Norwich Court Bob Major, 22,096 changes, starting at 6 a.m. Umpire: Mr. H. Chapman.

BETWEEN? NO, NOT BETWEEN!

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—No one was more astonished than I was to hear read again the illogical views of a gentleman whom we all know has educational attainments, rather above the average, who with persistence keeps writing and telling us that the change takes place in between the rows.

Our friend fails to grasp this significant fact, that in the 'Art of Ringing' there is only a short rhythmic interval between the rows, and that ringing is but one long drawn-out row of figures, no matter whether it be a touch or a peal of 5,040!

Every round or change is a succession of rows, one behind the other, and not on top of one another, as we write them out for convenience sake. Every round is divided into a rhythmic series of blows and intervals; no differentiation of those intervals takes place except at the handstroke lead of the treble, which, as we know, is accentuated simply to mark out 'hand' from 'back' stroke.

If Mr. Trollope will write out for himself four rows of Plain Bob as they are rung, it should be quite sufficient to convince him that he is in error. For example, bells ring at given intervals, thus:—

1-2-3-4-5-6-7-8- 2-1-4-3-6-5-8-7-2-4-1-6-3-8-5-7, and there is no 'between' anywhere, except the interval, which comes between one bell speaking and the next one to it. The interval between the rows is only equivalent to the intervals which come between the bells, except the handstroke.

Surely, everyone will agree that the change takes place in the row as it is built up. But Mr. Trollope would have us seriously believe that 2 and 1, 4 and 3, 6 and 5, and 8 and 7 actually changed between the rows, where the tenor finished the first row and where the second picked up the lead in the next row. Of course, I know that I am only endowed with a very dull mental equipment, but these are the views of, yours truly, ring upon a higher ring, and were feeling 'bucked up.' This was as it should be. The annual meeting, and also the district meetings, should give an impetus to every band to persevere, not only in the advancement of change ringing, but in the determination to keep the bells going every Sunday for morning and evening service, as a reminder to the careless and indifferent (and others) that 'this is the day which the Lord hath made; we will rejoice and be glad in it.' He hoped they would all go back to their bellfries with this inspiration, not forgetting that they were part of a great army of men and women (roughly, some 40,000) engaged in work for God's Church below for 52 Sundays in each year, whose spirit of unity, friendliness, and brotherliness was a feature worthy of emulation, not only by other churchworkers, but by all who pursue the daily round and common task.

IRENEUS.

MR. CARTMEL ELECTED PRESIDENT.

Mr. G. W. Cartmel was elected president for the ensuing year. The other officers and representatives were re-elected.

It was agreed that the representatives to the Central Council should support the proposal for establishing peal diplomas for the encouragement of young ringers.

Mr. W. Ayre (district secretary, Western District) called attention to the fact that there were 16 towers without members belonging to the association, and asked if anything could be done to bring them into the association.

The Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt Drake (Wigginton) said he thought many more Vicars could be obtained as hon. members of the association if an alteration were made in the rules on the lines of the Yorkshire Association, whereby any Vicar of a tower where there was a peal of bells could become an hon. member of the association for so long as he was in charge of the peal, for a single subscription. He pointed out that a great many Vicars were unable to afford an annual subscription.

It was decided to send a message of congratulation to the Archbishop of Canterbury upon his completion of 25 years as Primate and upon attaining his 80th birthday.

Prior to the meeting, the members attended a service in St. Albans Abbey, at which the Dean of St. Albans (the Very Rev. E. L. Henderson) read the lessons, and an address was given by the Vicar of St. Peter's Church, St. Albans (the Rev. H. Gathorne Crabbtree). The Dean was present at tea and meeting which followed.

BELL TONES AND RINGERS' OPINIONS.

BY J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

I fancy that a good many old-fashioned members of the Exercise felt something of a shock when they read the other day that the bells of St. Martin's, Birmingham, are to be recast; and I opened the next issue of 'The Ringing World,' fully expecting to find a deluge of protest. But no; whether it was stupefaction or only apathy, not a voice was raised in opposition, and it looks as if the famous old peal is to go to its doom without tears and without much comment. And yet, St. Martin's really are a peal to which you can apply that much-abused word 'famous.'

In the whole history of change ringing perhaps there are only two others of equal interest—Mancroft and St. Saviour's, Southwark. The glories of the Mancroft band were finished half a century and more ago. St. Saviour's never was more than one of several towers where the London ringers practised; but St. Martin's has had a first-class band and first-class ringing almost without interruption from its earliest days till now. For the bare record of peals, Ipswich has, perhaps, the finer list, but the history of Ipswich ringing belongs to modern time only, and Ipswich never had a list of great names connected with it like Birmingham. Lates and Thurstans, Cooper, Day and Johnson—these men are among the giants of the Exercise.

One would have thought that sentiment would have been strong enough to save the bells from anything more drastic than tuning. Indeed, we always have been told that they are a very fine ring, not a Painswick or a Mancroft, but well above the average, and worthy representatives of their founders, who were men who did turn out some really good bells. As to that, I can say nothing. I have never heard them—I am almost ashamed to admit it. And I certainly should not presume to judge from hearing them once as a visitor. The men on the spot must settle that. Anyhow, they will probably be replaced by a better ring. Our modern bell founders know their job, and can be trusted to do good work. But they will not be the same bells. Bells are like human beings: they have an identity which is easily destroyed, and once destroyed cannot be revived. To talk about recasting a bell is really all wrong. Once a bell is broken, its life is gone. You can make a new bell out of its material, or you can replace it by a new bell, but it is not the same bell. A building you can alter, you can reconstruct, you can even rebuild, without destroying its identity and continuity, but you cannot do the same thing with a bell.

To us outsiders, perhaps the most interesting thing is the statement that the new bells are to be Simpson tuned. The battle of the tuning has been going on merrily for a long time. We have had plenty of arguments on both sides, but so far as I can see the success of the Simpsonians has been all along the line. There was a time when you could find very few ringers who really liked the new style; now you will find its most active partisans among ringers, and there are plenty who will not allow any merit at all to bells tuned in the old way. Personally, I do not care a little bit one way or the other. I know what I think is a good bell when I hear it, and, so long as it sounds right, how it is tuned does not matter in the least. That is the business of the founders. If they can give us the bells we want, let them tune them how they please. And the bell we want is the one which appears to give one good round musical note. We do not want a bell which appears to give a bundle of notes of practically equal strength, whether these notes are in accord with each other or not. I know quite well that every bell does in fact give several notes, and that if you train your ear you can always hear them. So, for that matter, does a violin string. A good many ringers, by training themselves to hear undertones, have made it impossible for them to like old-style bells, and in the same way you can easily, by listening unduly for the minor third, train yourself to an intense dislike of the modern style.

The opinions of both these classes of men are not really of much value in judging the two styles. For what matters is how the bell appeals to the man with a musical ear who is not consciously listening for anything but the strike note. There are plenty of bells, both old and new, which will satisfy such a man, and I think it quite safe to say that the mere fact that a bell is five-toned tuned does not make it a good bell, nor that it has those objectionable features, which ringers call 'howling.'

One thing, however, is certain. The introduction of Simpson tuning has been accompanied by a very great improvement in the bells which are cast nowadays. The two are evidently very closely connected, but I hardly think it is all cause and effect. I recall quite a number of modern bells tuned on the old style, which, to my mind, are quite as satisfactory as any new-style bells. Southwark Cathedral tenor is an instance.

I am not sure that ringers as a whole are the best judges of the musical qualities of bells. It is so very seldom that they hear them where they should be judged—that is, outside. Inside the tower you can have conditions which will make a very ordinary peal nearly perfect for change ringing, for what you want is primarily a peal which you can hear clearly and distinctly, so that you can appreciate good striking. Bells with a lot of hum, however musical they may be outside, are not the sort to induce the best striking, and for the same reason spring clapper controls and clapper buffers are nuisances, without any compensating advantages. Ringers should discourage all such contrivances.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

THE POSITION OF THE EAST GRINSTEAD GUILD.

The annual meeting of the Central Division was held at East Grinstead on Saturday, March 31st, when there were 37 present. Ringing commenced at 2.45 p.m., and continued until 4.30, when a special service was held in church, conducted by the Rev. Wm. Shepherd, who also delivered an interesting and helpful address, in the absence of the Vicar, who was recovering from a recent operation. The collection taken at this service for the Benevolent Fund amounted to 10s. 7d. The ringers then adjourned to the Parish Hall, where an excellent tea had been prepared by several kind ladies of the parish, and was much appreciated. The business proceedings followed, the Rev. Wm. Shepherd presiding, supported by the Master of the Association (Mr. J. T. Rickman).

The following new members were elected: Messrs. R. Wood, R. Longhurst, C. Finch, Balcombe; J. Lewry, H. Temple, Bolney; N. C. Cragg, E. G. Higgin, I. Edwards, F. Edwards, A. Elliott, A. Killick, F. Killick, G. Leney, A. Miles, G. Miles, H. Mitchell, P. Tarry, Coleman's Hatch; C. Mitchell, Cuckfield; A. L. Ryman, Hartfield; A. H. Brackpool (unaffiliated).

It was reported to the meeting that Coleman's Hatch would require an instructor, and Mr. J. Wren (East Grinstead) kindly volunteered his services, which were gratefully accepted.

The election of Mr. W. Claydon, of Reigate, as a non-resident member was confirmed.

All the officers of the division were re-elected, with the exception of Mr. O. Sippetts, who did not desire to continue a member of the committee. Mr. G. Apps, of Cuckfield, was elected to fill the vacancy. The officers are therefore as follows: Hon. secretary, Mr. A. D. Stone; committee, Messrs. J. A. Hart, J. Wren and G. Apps; committee of advice, Messrs. K. Hart, F. Bennett and C. Tyler.

Mr. N. E. Hope, of East Grinstead, stated that he would like to take the opportunity of making clear the position of the East Grinstead and District Guild. He said the Guild was formed by himself and one or two others for all towers within a radius of ten miles of East Grinstead, with the sole idea of helping beginners and the lesser advanced ringers to become more proficient in the art of change ringing. To this end practice meetings were held, and had proved very successful. Speaking personally, he could say he had very much benefited from the meetings, and he believed there were many more members who could say likewise. The Guild had enabled ringers in that district to meet together and practise together more often than it was possible for the association to have meetings. He wished to make it quite clear that there was no intention whatever of interfering with the work of the association; in fact, they were trying to help the association forward in that particular area. He hoped, therefore, that if they had committed any technical breaches the association would overlook them.

The Divisional Hon. Secretary, in reply, said there were some who thought he had some feeling against the Guild, but this was not so. He pointed out that the machinery for combined practice was provided for in the rules of the association, but the Guild, as now formed, operated over the borders of Surrey and Kent. The association did not go outside the county borders. He also referred to the office of Master adopted by the Guild. The Master of the Association was Mr. J. T. Rickman, and the Secretary pointed out that there could not be a Master within a Master. But as regards meeting together for combined practice, they were doing a good work, and he wished them every success.

Mr. J. T. Rickman proposed a vote of thanks to the Rev. Wm. Shepherd for conducting the service and presiding at the meeting, coupling with this the name of Mr. Hope, who kindly presided at the organ. He requested Mr. Shepherd to convey to the Vicar, Dr. G. Golding-Bird, the very hearty wishes of the meeting for his speedy recovery to health, and to thank him for his kindness in allowing the association to hold its meeting there. He also wished Mr. Shepherd to thank the various ladies who had prepared such an excellent tea, and to tell them that their kindness was very greatly appreciated.—These motions were all very enthusiastically passed.

Ringing was again resumed, and continued until nearly 8 p.m. The methods rung ranged from rounds to Cambridge Surprise. The following towers were represented: Balcombe, Brighton (St. Peter's, St. Nicholas' and the Good Shepherd), Crawley, Coleman's Hatch, Cuckfield, Hartfield, East Grinstead, Heane, Hastings (Blacklands), Lindfield and Turner's Hill, together with non-resident members.

Simpson tuning has come to stay. There is little good in trying to get back to the old style. But I think we should recognise that it is only a means to an end, not an end in itself. There still will remain the distinction between good, bad and indifferent bells, and, perhaps, one may express a hope that all the old style bells, which we once used to think so much of, will not disappear, even though their places may be taken by better ones.

HALSE.—At St. James' Church, on Sunday, March 25th, for morning service, 720 Grandsire Doubles (called in six different ways) in 23 mins.: J. Nelson 1, A. Pole 2, W. Clapp 3, F. Pole 4, W. A. J. Knight (conductor) 5, G. Lang 6. J. Nelson, late of Bosbury, Herefordshire.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

THE QUESTION OF PAYING FOR PEALS.

In the annual report of the Midland Counties Association, presented to the members at their annual meeting on Monday, it was stated that as far as peal ringing went, 1927 was a record year with 183 peals, the previous highest being 149 in 1922. Among these were 66 peals of Minor and Doubles, and, commenting on them, the report says: Most prominent are the number of five and six bell peals, of which the general hon. secretary holds himself partly responsible where Leicestershire is concerned. His activities in this direction have encouraged ringers who were more or less dormant, and a number of both honorary and ordinary members have been made in some places and a stimulus added in others. It would be well if all branches of the M.C.A. activity realised that there are in nearly every county more than three times the number of five and six bell towers to those of higher numbers, and much good might be done, many members interested and secured, and the art considerably increased, if these towers were not isolated so much, but brought into line with their more fortunate confreres of greater numbers.

From the footnotes which had appeared to peals, 39 ringers had rung their first peal, and no fewer than 162 rang their first peal in a new method. There were also 11 first peals on the bells, and 11 first on the bells in a new method. Five ringers had scored their first as conductor, and ten their first as conductor in a new method. Broadly speaking, the year had been most successful, not only in peal ringing, but in other directions. No less than 95 new ringing, 26 honorary and 6 new life members had been made, which certainly showed a healthy state of interest. A certain number of each class had been lost through death and lapse of subscription, and the membership, when the report was printed, was 222 patrons and hon. members, and 887 ringing members.

The balance showed that an income of £130 had been received from all sources. The gross expenditure was in round figures £113, leaving a surplus for honorariums, as might be decided upon, of £17. It was clear that the association could not always create profit sufficient to guarantee a fixed amount. Derby again headed the list with honorary members, due, undoubtedly, to the untiring energy of the president, to whom the thanks of the whole association were due and were accorded. There was again a serious loss on the report. For some years a veritable mine of information for peal ringers and conductors had been published. This has been paid for by the funds of the whole members. While nothing should be said or written derogatory to peal ringing, it should be remembered that it is only one phase and an adjunct to church bellringing, and it might be thought well to consider whether those whose names were printed so voluminously at the general expense, ought not to contribute to the cost. If peal ringers were to pay, say, two shillings per peal—or an average of three-pence for man—the sum of £10 per year would be added to the funds.

The bell repair fund, the report added, had now been depleted by grants to several churches (amounting to £28) to £2 3s. 8d. During the current year there would be due £100 from Government certificates. The members would have to decide whether the whole sum be again invested, and, if so, how? There was at present the War Loan of £150, which brought in £7 10s. per annum. At the bank there was £72. Altogether the association was worth at the moment the sum of £518, amply sufficient to provide for the establishment of the three diocesan Guilds of Derby, Leicester and Southwell, whenever the time came. If the old proverb that 'Coming events cast their shadows before' be true, then this intimation was not out of place, and the members would be wise in being fully conversant in the matter, and on the qui vive for a moment which might be nearer than many might think. Funds should therefore be carefully conserved for any eventuality.

BISHOP DEDICATES A PEAL TABLET.

Recently, at Swindon Parish Church, so beautifully situate on the hill, and forming a prominent landmark visible over a wide stretch of typical English countryside, following a Confirmation service, the Bishop of Malmesbury, accompanied by the Vicar (Canon Mayall), proceeded to the belfry to dedicate a handsome white marble tablet, mounted on a slate bed, which has been erected to record the first peal accomplished on the fine new ring of ten bells installed in 1924.

Mr. E. Bishop, on behalf of the ringers, requested the Bishop to dedicate the tablet, and his Lordship, before doing so, said how pleased he was to come among the ringers and to bear testimony to the valuable work they were doing on behalf of the Church. The ringing of a peal amply demonstrated the proficiency of the hand taking part and the interest they took in their work.

The tablet, which is of beautiful workmanship, was designed and executed by Mr. Bert Bishop, who rang the treble in the peal.

The Bishop was thanked for his kindness in dedicating the tablet, especially as the hour was so late—nine o'clock—and he had to journey to Bristol by motor-car—a distance of over 40 miles. His Lordship mentioned that he was very much struck by the beauty of the bells, and he should make a point of visiting the ringers on any future visits to the church.

'IRENÆUS PISTOR'

We close this week the appeal for Mr. Alf. T. Baker, of Hillsborough, Sheffield, but our columns remain open for the acknowledgment of further contributions. All who have given, or who have in any way helped to further this fund, have our grateful thanks for their assistance. The response has been most generous, as we knew it would be in a case so deserving. A statement with regard to the fund will be made when the final donations have been received, and in the meantime we acknowledge the following further subscriptions:—

DESIGNED AS A DUNGEON?

Among the few towers I have had the pleasure of visiting, writes 'Uncle Justacuss,' I think the ringing chamber of the magnificent Parish Church of Cottingham was the most difficult to find. One must ascend the usual spiral stair right up to the bell chamber, where, if one has keen eyesight, one finds a small trapdoor at the corner of the bell frame. You raise the door, and descend a step ladder to the ringing chamber. The architect must have designed it for a dungeon, not for ringers, as he forgot to leave a doorway to it.

I think the finest and most eloquent tribute to the bell founder's craft is contained in the few words inscribed on top of a peal board in Beverley Minster tower recording a peal of Stedman Caters, called by one Guillaume de Barbiere. It says: 'Praise Him upon the well-tuned cymbals.' Verb sap.

AN OLD SUFFOLK FOUNDER.

THOMAS GARDINER AND COLNE ENGAINE BELLS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Whilst looking through some old papers I came across some relating to the bells of Colne Engaine, a village in North Essex. These are the papers of Thomas Gardiner, the Sudbury bell founder, and the following extracts may be of interest:—

* Nov. 6, 1747/8.—Gentlemen, this is to satisfy you that I saw the bell weighed, and it weighed teen hundred and sixteen pound and no more (10 cwt. 16 lb.).

* Feb. the 20, 1747/8.—

	cwt.	qr.	lb.
Colne Engaine new tenor wd.	10	2	13
The old tenor wd.	10	0	16

* Feb. the 20th, 1747/8.—Mr. Mead, Churchwarden of Colne Engaine, and the rest of the gentlemen there bill for casting the tenor bell and putting the other in good order.

The old bell wd.	10	0	16
The new bell wd.	10	2	13
	£	s.	d.
For casting to the agreement	10	10	0
For addition of new mettle	02	13	0

£13 03 0

* Ochr. the 25th, 1760.—Delivered then to Mr. Mead and Mr. Mayhew, of Colne Engaine:

	cwt.	qr.	lb.
The fifth bell that weighed	10	0	11
The old bell weighed	10	1	00
	£	s.	d.
For casting 9 cwt. 3 qr. 15 lb. of old mettle	9	17	6
For addition of 24th pounds of new mettle	1	08	0

£11 05 6

* Feb. 19, 1761.—Recd. of Mr. Ed. Mead and Mr. Jere Mayhew. Churchwardens for the parish of Coln Engaine, the contents of this bill and all demands, by me,

Rec. £10 10s.

THOS. GARDINER.

Witness, GEORGE FULLER.

The signature is undoubtedly the signature of Thos. Gardiner himself, and I should think is the only writing of his on these bills. The bill concerning the casting of the tenor in 1747/8 and the one concerning the fifth in 1760 are in the same handwriting, the other two are in a different hand.

These dates evidently do away with the theory I have read that Gardiner left Sudbury in 1746. On the tenor I am informed that the following is cast:

'Thomas Gardiner did me cast:
I'll sing his praises to the last.'

Yours truly,

GRANVILLE C. BIXBY.

RIVERSIDE CHURCH, NEW YORK, U.S.A.

DIOCESAN STATUS.

The question of embracing diocesan status is at present a matter which concerns more than one of the territorial associations, but for the time being the Midland Counties Association has shelved its proposal to divide the organisation into four diocesan societies. It is, of course, no easy matter to dig up by the roots a tree so well developed as the M.C.A., which has grown deep into the soil of the Exercise and whose branches spread out over four or more counties. It is well that nothing should be done hurriedly, and for that reason a postponement of the scheme of division to some future date will do no harm. At the same time, we feel confident that the problem will have to be dealt with sooner or later, and, it may be, sooner than some may think.

When the modern associations were first launched their relation to the Church was markedly different from that of to-day. If not exactly secular, their objects, so far as the Church was concerned, sought for little more than the removal of the abuses to be found in the belfry. It could hardly be said that the ringers of those days were, in the mass, a body of Churchmen; but the tendency ever since has been towards that desirable end, when those who ring the bells should be in name and in fact Churchmen doing a real work for the Church. That goal may not even yet have been entirely attained, and the full recognition which it is desired to achieve cannot perhaps be said to have completely taken place. The majority of the clergy may look upon their ringers as church workers, but for all the public may know, a county association of change ringers may be as secular a body as a county football association. In the impression which it makes there is a great deal in a name in matters of this kind, and a diocesan title at once links it in the public mind with church work and makes the aims which the associations have in view so much easier of attainment. Moreover, let it not be forgotten that without the aid of the Church ringing would be in a parlous state. We depend absolutely upon the Church for the means of carrying on our art, and how much stronger is our position if we can say that we have diocesan status? If Church bell ringing were ever threatened with outside interference it can stand much more securely upon a diocesan basis than upon an apparently secular footing. All these points enter into the argument when a subject like this is under discussion.

If and when the Midland Counties Association sets about a division—and it is admittedly now somewhat unwieldy—the diocesan basis must offer the best solution, but the scheme will have to be a comprehensive one, and to argue pro or con without having taken into consultation societies like the North Notts, the Archdeaconry of Staffs, and the rest within the four dioceses, is to invite rebuff and failure. The desire to cling to old traditions is great; but when the Church itself is courageous enough to break the links of centuries in the interests of Church life, ringers ought not to be afraid to sever the ties of a few decades if the ultimate result is going to benefit ringing, by creating new interests and activities, and instilling new life by bringing ringers into closer touch with their organisations.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION. ANNUAL MEETING AT NOTTINGHAM.

According to the usual rotation, the annual meeting of the Midland Counties Association was held at Nottingham on Easter Monday, when from an early hour the bells of St. Mary's (ten) and St. Peter's (ten) were made good use of by visitors from many parts, and later in the day Beeston (eight), Lenton (eight), and Basford (eight) were available, whilst the standard of ringing was of the usual meeting type, more or less 'syncopated.' All the seven centres of the M.C.A. activity, viz., Burton-on-Trent, Chesterfield, Derby, Hinckley, Leicester, Loughborough, and Nottingham, were well represented by members from places too numerous to mention, and it was pleasing to mark the presence of the hon. secretaries of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild (Mr. R. G. Black), Bath and Wells (Mr. J. T. Dyke), Warwickshire (Mr. J. A. Fenton), and many other friends of kindred societies, and last, but not least, James the Great (by George!).

The committee met at St. Peter's Schools at 2.30 p.m., and in the unfortunate absence of the president (Alderman R. B. Chambers, B.A., J.P.), owing to advancing years and illness, Mr. C. Draper, of Derby, presided. Routine business was disposed of, and certain recommendations passed to be placed before the general meeting, whilst the suggested division of the association into diocesan Guilds was freely discussed at considerable length. Owing to the great diversity of opinions expressed, it was finally decided to put to the members (a) whether to take a complete vote of all members, or (b) whether to let the matter drop for the time being.

A short service was held in St. Peter's Church at 4 p.m., and the Rector, the Rev. H. P. Hale, M.A., who officiated, gave an inspiring address. A collection was made and subsequently voted to the Restoration Fund of St. Peter's Church. The general hon. secretary here records his great disappointment that so few members attended this service which was specially arranged for them, but is consoled somewhat by the fact that those who did attend were, in the words of the Rector's text, 'faithful witnesses' to those who stayed away.

A meal tea was provided in St. Peter's School, and once again the hon. secretary had to apologise for some inconvenience and overlapping, caused through certain members failing to notify the local committee of their intention of being present, although the Editor of 'The Ringing World' published a special letter of appeal on the matter.

After tea, the general meeting was held, about 130 members being present. In the absence of the president, Ald. R. B. Chambers, the Rector of St. Peter's, Rev. H. P. Hale, M.A., presided, and was supported by the Rev. A. Chaplin, of Cotgrave, Notts. A letter of apology was read from Ald. Chambers regretting his inability to be present, owing to ill-health and doctor's orders, and expressing good wishes for a successful meeting.

Members elected since the last quarterly meeting in January were confirmed, viz., two honorary, two life, and 23 ordinary. The committee's recommendations for the next three quarterly meetings were passed, after voting on an alternative of Southwell for Mansfield, viz., June Melbourne, September Mansfield, January, 1929, Loughborough, the next annual meeting to be at Leicester by the usual rotation.

Honorariums to secretaries, C.C. delegates' fees, steeplekeeper's and vergers' allowances were ordered to be paid in accordance with the committee's resolutions, and a grant of £5 5s. to Croft (where three old bells are being made into six with all new fittings) was ratified.

Owing to the lamented death of Mr. Pryce Taylor, a vacancy occurred among the representatives on the Central Council, and three nominations having been received, a ballot was taken, and Mr. John H. Swinfield, of Burton-on-Trent, elected.

Alderman R. B. Chambers wished, on account of advancing age (he is now approaching 80 years) and ill-health, to resign the presidency after nine years' most useful service, in which, by his strenuous efforts in obtaining the large number of honorary members, he has raised the association to its present financial soundness. Under doctor's orders he has to cancel all his public engagements, and has already resigned from the Derbyshire Education Committee, the Derby Magistrates' Association, the Derby Branch of the League of Nations Union, and many other charitable and public institutions.

Mr. W. Willson voiced the feelings of regret of the whole of the members, recognising the president's great work for the M.C.A. in the past, and proposed an alternative that Alderman Chambers be asked to remain as president, and to have as assistant, or vice-president, Mr. Joseph Griffin, of Burton-on-Trent. The hon. secretary informed the members that Mr. Chambers had promised to look after the Derby honorary members who formed the bulk, whilst he himself would look after the remainder. This proposition was carried with acclamation.

Mr. W. Willson, having definitely resigned the position of hon. treasurer, proposed as his successor Mr. W. Wallace, of Derby, who was also nominated by the Burton District, and this was carried.

The re-election of the general hon. secretary was proposed by seven or eight persons at once, to the consternation and amusement of the chairman, who wanted a seconder, and Mr. Ernest Morris, of Leicester, has got to 'carry on.'

PROPOSED DIVISION DEFEATED.

Then followed a long discussion on the proposed division of the association into Diocesan Guilds, and the committee's alternatives were put to the meeting. Very deep and sincere appeals and protests were voiced by Messrs. A. Coppuck, J. H. Swinfield, W. White, R. H. Bartram, J. Harris, C. H. Webb, P. S. Price, H. W. Needham and others, there being much diversity of opinion.

As a result of the discussion at Syston in January, the hon. secretary had written to each of the four Bishops explaining the position and the proposal which had been put forward that the association should be put on a diocesan, as distinct from a county and territorial basis. The letter went on to state: 'If the M.C.A. territory were simply coterminous with the four dioceses of Derby, Leicester, Lichfield and Southwell, the matter would be comparatively simple, but the M.C.A. is confronted with the fact that there are other not unimportant societies operating within the main areas. In the Southwell diocese there is the North Notts Association to be taken into account, while in Derby diocese there is the East Derbyshire Association and the old East Derby portion of the Sheffield District Society. In Leicestershire there are the Framland and Goscoat Societies covering those deaneries. In the Lichfield diocese the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford and the North Staffs Society are working successfully. So that if the scheme for the division on the lines suggested is to be made effective and to embrace all the ringers in their respective dioceses, it will have to be handled with diplomacy. The committee would be grateful to your lordship if you would give us your opinion on the matter, and if the diocesan Guilds were established you would be willing to become a patron of the portion included in your own diocese.'

THE BISHOPS' VIEWS.

The Bishop of Derby replied that he thought it would be a good thing to reorganise change ringing societies on a diocesan basis, but he saw the difficulty of dealing with old-established bodies. If they should rearrange by dioceses, he would gladly become patron.

The Bishop of Leicester wrote that the proposal that a diocesan Guild should be established seemed to him an excellent one, and he would be glad to do anything he could to promote its success. It would be necessary to get into touch with the Framland and Goscoat Societies, and consider with their representatives their position and their wishes in regard to a diocesan Guild.

The Bishop of Lichfield, in his letter, said on the face of it there was a good case for making the associations coterminous with dioceses. If there was a Lichfield Association, he would be proud to be a patron. But it would not be worth while, for the sake of symmetry, to run the risk of damaging associations which are now working well. He had not the knowledge to enable him to judge how far the associations were working well, and what were the local prejudices which must not be offended. So far as Lichfield diocese was concerned they must remember that North Shropshire was in the diocese. The leading members of the N. Staffs and S. Staffs Societies might well be consulted as to whether they would consider amalgamation a good thing, or whether there were objections to it. The Bishop concluded by saying: 'I am afraid this is not a very helpful letter, but I do not know the ropes well enough to allow me to be confident in giving advice.'

In the absence of the Bishop of Southwell, the Archdeacon of Nottingham (a ringer and hon. member) wrote: 'Clearly, the present area is too large, but it is possible to get too small. I do not know what difficulties there may be, and therefore my opinion is probably of little value. It is clear that we would cease to be such a combining force, if we confine ourselves merely to a county or diocese. Diocesan Guilds are excellent, and I should certainly value one for the whole of Notts, which is now the diocese of Southwell. At the same time there ought to be some means whereby such Guilds were kept in touch with one another. Could the present association be so continued as to work locally through the Diocesan Guild? In this way it would help to maintain the brotherhood of ringing, which is such a delightful feature!'

The Hon. Secretary pointed out that, as reported in a recent issue of 'The Ringing World', Burton-on-Trent District were unanimous against the division, as their position was unique and peculiar. In the early days, this district was one of the mainstays of the M.C.A., both as regards officers and ringing performances, and in the latter sphere especially they added to the laurels of the association many historic and valuable records. The town itself stands in two dioceses, whilst its 80 odd members are divided (territorially) into three, just over twenty in each—Derby, Leicester and Lichfield. The Hon. Secretary also pointed out that the remaining 800 members were divided as follows: 200 in Derby, 400 in Leicester, and 200 in Southwell diocese. It would be seen that whilst each of the Lord Bishops would welcome diocesan Guilds, they were reluctant to advocate the breaking up of old associations, which were doing good work, and not being quite sure of the position could not with certainty advise upon such division.

Mr. Walter White, of Cotgrave, the original mover of the resolution to ask for the Bishops' views, said this altered the case considerably, as they could not thrust the matter on to the Bishops while such uncertainty held, but they should leave it until such time as the position could be more clearly seen.

The committee's motion was put, and by an overwhelming majority it was decided to carry on the good work as heretofore, and not to split the association, at least until much more favourable conditions prevail, and the Bishops, whose letters the hon. secretary read, were more sure and unanimous in asking for the members to form diocesan Guilds.

Heartly votes of thanks were given to the local committee for arrangements made, especially to Mr. L. Chadburn, who had carried on pro tem. in the unfortunate absence, through grave illness, of the local hon. secretary (Fred W. Bailey), who, everyone was pleased to know, is going on favourably. Further ringing and fraternising ended a very successful and enjoyable day.

NORTH NOTTS ASSOCIATION.SPLENDID MEETING AT NORTH COLLINGHAM.

Collingham is seated on a gentle eminence above the Trent Marsh, five and a half miles north by east of Newark. It is a large, pleasant and well-built village, comprising the two parishes of North and South Collingham, which together contain 5,115 acres of land. North Collingham parish includes the better half of the village, also Potter Hill, a lofty tumulus on the border of Lincolnshire, where many Roman relics have been found, and it is very likely to have been a military station. The church, dedicated to All Saints, stands in the centre of the village. It is a very ancient structure in the Norman style of architecture, and in the tower a ring of six bells, recently increased from four, are decidedly musical, and certainly much admired by the parishioners, the tenor being a little more than 9 cwt. It was at this place that a hearty welcome awaited the arrival of the North Notts ringers and members of kindred associations on Easter Monday by the Rev. R. F. Gould, the three lady ringers and four gentlemen who constitute the local team. Splendid use was made of the bells from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. by the 43 ringers, who came from the following places: Anston, Barlborough, Branston, Bassingham, Gainsborough, Gamston, Lincoln, Ordsall, Treeton, Misterton, Sutton-on-Trent, Southwell Cathedral, Wheatley and Worksop, with the full company of local ringers.

The methods rung during the day were as follows: Plain Bob, Double Oxford Bob, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, Duke of York, Sandal, London and Cambridge Surprise. In 720 of Cambridge, the first on the bells, the band included two ladies, who scored their first 720 in the method: F. S. W. Butler, Miss K. Burchnell, Miss G. Burchnell, H. Stenton, H. Haigh (conductor), and L. Pierrepont. The Vicar, who visited the tower during the afternoon, complimented the ladies who had taken part, and gave a special word of praise to his own band of ringers, who were under splendid leadership.

Tea was served, the lady ringers of Collingham doing splendid service in catering for the wants of the inner man. The tea and meeting were presided over by the Vicar, who was supported by Mrs. Gould, the Misses Burchnell, the hon. secretary (Mr. H. Haigh), and the assistant secretary (Mr. H. Revill). The Vicar gave a very hearty welcome to the ringers, and said that anything that tended to increase the standard of change ringing should be welcomed by all true lovers of the art—for it was an art. It was not a game of sport, but a true art and science, and nothing was more beautiful than the sound of church bells when skilfully rung in the true, loyal spirit—the team spirit which should prevail with all ringers. Whenever the North Notts ringers wished to visit Collingham again, he would be glad to give them a most hearty welcome (applause).

Two new members, Miss Ethel Marshall, of Gainsborough, and Mr. William Morrison, of Bawtry, were elected.

The annual meeting will be held at East Relford in May or June, the date to be fixed by the committee and advertised in 'The Ringing World.'

The Anston ringers, who are having their bells rebung, some recast and probably augmented to eight, made application for a grant from the funds of the association, and this will be brought before the annual general meeting.

A vote of thanks to the Vicar for presiding over tea and meeting, for use of the bells, and many other little kindnesses to the ringers, also to the ringers of Collingham for their splendid catering, brought the meeting to a close.

Ringing was kept up until 8 p.m. During the day some of the ringers tried their skill on a peal of five bells at St. John-the-Baptist's, South Collingham.

LADIES' GUILD.PRESENTATION TO A LATE SECRETARY.

A meeting of the Northern District of the Ladies' Guild was held at Rotherham on Easter Monday, in conjunction with the Sheffield and District Society, when the bells of the Parish Church (ten) and Eastwood (eight) were at the disposal of those present. Members attended from North Wingfield, Dore, Handsworth, Little Norton, Rotherham and Mansfield-Woodhouse, and those who reached the church in time were able to ring for the wedding of a prominent member of the district, Miss A. Taylor. A special feature was a touch of Bob Minor rung entirely by ladies, conducted by Miss N. Cawthorne.

Tea was served in the Parish Room, after which the business meeting was held, the Vicar's wife, Mrs. Allen, presiding.

It was unanimously decided that the peal tablet recording the first peal of Major ever rung by a band of ladies should be of marblette, and for which Mr. F. Watkinson, 159, Hall Road, Handsworth, Sheffield, will gratefully acknowledge subscriptions.

It was hoped to be able to present the late secretary, Miss M. Davenport, with a gift on the occasion of her marriage with the Rev. E. S. Powell, but owing to her inability to be present at the meeting a deputation was sent to convey the same to her with the best wishes of the members for her future happiness.

The gift took the form of a bell-shaped gong, with a suitably inscribed tablet on the base.

A vote of thanks was extended to the Vicar's wife for presiding over the meeting.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Armley, Leeds, on Saturday, June 30th.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The East Derbyshire Association has changed its name, so we gather, to East Derbyshire and Notts Association.

The meeting of the Northern District of the London County Association to-morrow is to be held at Old Hackney instead of South Hackney.

The four memorial bells added at Lincoln Cathedral to make a ring of twelve are to be dedicated at the Lincoln Guild annual meeting on April 28th.

A sum of about £9 was realised by the recent dance social at Acton for the Isleworth Bell Fund, which now amounts to £131. About £200 in all is needed to enable the two treble bells to be added.

Forty years ago to-morrow a peal of 10,304 Bob Major was rung in 6 hrs. 17 mins. at Leiston, Suffolk, by members of the Norwich Diocesan Guild.

Sunday is the sixth anniversary of the record peal of Stedman Caters at Appleton, when 21,363 changes were rung in 12 hrs. 25 mins.

A hundred and fifty years ago next Monday a peal of 10,080 Bob Major was rung at Braughing, Herts. This was evidently in preparation for greater efforts, for about a year afterwards a peal of 12,210 was rung on the same bells, although the record of 15,120, set up at West Ham in 1737, never appears to have been exceeded in the Hertfordshire tower.

Monday is also the centenary of a peal of 8,000 Oxford Treble Bob Major, rung at Redenhall, Norfolk.

'IRENEUS PISTOR.' FUND REACHES £200.

With the closing of our appeal for help for Mr. Alf. T. Baker ('Ireneus Pistor'), of Hillsborough, Sheffield, whose affliction has resulted in the permanent loss of his sight, we are delighted to announce that the fund has reached £200—a really wonderful as well as a gratifying result, and one which reveals the extraordinary spirit of practical brotherhood which prevails in the Ringing Exercise.

A PEAL AT ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Referring to the peal of Stedman Chiques rung at St. Paul's Cathedral on Easter Monday, I am sure my brother provincial College Youths would like me to express in your columns the great appreciation of the spirit of our London brethren of the Ancient Society in giving us an opportunity of standing in on the rare occasion when permission can be granted for a peal by the Cathedral authorities, and especially of Mr. H. Langdon, who both arranged the band and also conducted the peal in his characteristic and masterly manner.—Yours truly,

CYRIL W. O. JENKYN.

[The report of the peal had not reached us when we went to press.—Ed. 'R.W.']

DEATH OF AN OLD CROYDON RINGER.

By the death on Easter Sunday of William States, at the age of 72, the Croydon Parish Church ringers have lost their oldest comrade. For over fifty years, 'Father,' as he was always called, had been a ringer at the Parish Church, and for many years acted as steeple-keeper.

The funeral service took place on Friday, April 13th, at the Parish Church, where the bells, which he had loved so well, were rung fully muffled. Among the ringers present were Mr. J. D. Drawett, J.P. (Master) and Mr. C. H. Kippin (general secretary), of the Surrey Association (of which deceased had been a member for over 40 years), and many members of the local company. The interment took place at Mitcham Road Cemetery, and a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells at the graveside by A. W. Clark 1-2, D. Cooper 3-4, C. H. Kippin 5-6, Mrs. A. W. Clark 7-8. Among the many floral tributes was a wreath from the Surrey Association, and one, in the form of a bell, from his comrades of the Parish Church belfry. In the evening the bells were rung half-muffled as a last tribute to his memory.

THE RECORD PEAL ATTEMPT.

FAILURE AFTER 10½ HOURS.

A great attempt was made last Saturday at Heptonstall, Yorks, to beat the existing record length, and the Exercise will share with the band regret that ringing had to be abandoned after 10 hrs. 36 mins. on account of the bearings of the tenor running dry. In that time approximately 18,360 changes had been rung, the method being Double Norwich Major. This is fairly fast ringing, being nearly 29 changes a minute.

It had been apparent to the ringers for some time before they stopped that all was not well with the tenor, but they went on in the hope that they might pull through. However, the bell defeated them, but it was defeat that was almost as great as success.

The bells are a fine peal by Messrs. Taylor and Co., and the tenor is 18 cwt.

The band, who were ringing as members of the Lancashire Association, were T. B. Worsley 1, J. E. Bibby 2, E. Jenkins (conductor) 3, P. Ladin 4, T. Barlow 5, J. H. Riding 6, G. Lindoff 7, A. E. Pegler 8. They desire to thank the local band for their work in getting everything in order, and Messrs. W. Bibby and J. E. Ashcroft for providing ropes for the attempt.

Not a bit dismayed, they hope, if permission can be obtained, to make another attempt later in the year.

The existing record peal is the 21,363 Stedman Caters, rung in 12 hrs. 25 mins., at Appleton, on April 22nd, 1922. The longest length of Double Norwich is the 17,104 rung in 10 hrs. 35 mins. at South Wigston, on December 27th, 1904, the previous record in the method being the 17,024 in 11 hrs. 12 mins. at Kidlington on May 22nd, 1893. Apart from the peal at Appleton, only once before has a band, single-handed, rung over 18,000 changes, and that was in the 18,027 Stedman Caters at Loughborough in 12 hrs. 18 mins. on April 12th, 1909.

BELL TONES AND RINGERS' OPINIONS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—In reply to Mr. Trollope's letter in 'The Ringing World' of April 13th, may I ask, Why should there be a storm of protest against the recasting of the peal of twelve at St. Martin's, Birmingham? Surely, it only concerns the authorities and ringers of St. Martin's, and, as they are to be recast, I am glad to note they are to be tuned on the five-tone principle.

There has been a lot said and written about the tuning of bells, and the fact that there are more peals to-day being turned out tuned to the five-tone principle I think goes to prove that it is the best. There are still some old peals about that are full of music, and individual bells also, and I was surprised to read in 'The Ringing World' a few weeks ago the criticisms on Bow tenor. In my opinion she is not a perfect bell, and, I think, could be improved by tuning, but I do think she is a good bell. I have listened often, both inside and outside the tower, to the whole peal with pleasure. The trebles are a bit wild, I admit, and they undoubtedly could be improved.

I do not agree with Mr. Trollope's remarks on clapper controls. If you have a peal of bells correctly tuned to the five-tone principle, and have them all fitted with clapper buffers, the outside effect, in my opinion, is better than without them; but, if the bells are not correctly tuned, the outside effect would be the reverse, because you would accentuate the hum of false harmonies running into one another, which would increase the discord. I have recently fitted clapper buffers to the whole peal of ten at Haslemere. People who are competent to judge, who are not ringers, have remarked on the improvement, that the bells sound distinctly softer. Of course, inside the tower there is more hum, which, I think, makes ringing a little more difficult, and the trebles are not heard quite so distinctly as before, but this I hope I shall overcome by fitting a sound shute to the treble and second, with a large mouthpiece over the top of the bells when they are up, and running the shute right down into the ringing chamber in the church.

I do not think ringers, as a whole, think enough of outside criticism. It must be remembered that we have the outside public to please as well as ourselves.—Yours, etc.,

J. H. R. HESSE.

'COMMON SENSE.'

Dear Sir,—Would you please kindly allow me, through the medium of 'The Ringing World,' to say 'Thank you' to Mr. J. A. Trollope for his excellent common-sense contribution on 'Bell Tones and Ringers' Opinions' in your last week's issue?—Yours truly,

G. H. GUTTERIDGE.

PRITTLEWELL LOSES AN OLD RINGER.

Mr. John Perry, an old ringer of Pritlewell, Essex, passed away on April 5th. He had been ringing at St. Mary's Church for over half a century. He rang in the first 720 on the old six in 1887, also in the first peals of Triples and Caters, when the bells were augmented. He had rung altogether about 20 peals of Triples, Major, Caters and Royal in various methods. He was buried on April 11th, and the bells were rung muffled to the usual 'whole pull and stand,' after which touches of Stedman, Cambridge, etc., were rung by W. Bacon, G. Bacon, H. T. Wilson, G. E. Wilson, W. Dudley, L. Page, S. Baybutt, J. W. Cornford and W. H. Judd.

DIOCESAN GUILDS.

VIEWS OF THE MIDDLESEX COMMITTEE.

An interesting reference to diocesan Guilds is made in the report presented on Saturday to the members of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild at their annual meeting at Ealing. The report opened with the following paragraph:—

The most important event that occurred in the world of ringing during the year that has just ended was the successful launching of a new diocesan Guild in the western part of Surrey, for the recently-formed diocese of Guildford. Formerly in the Winchester diocese, the area covered by the new Guild includes some very active centres of ringing, and the success of this young organisation seems already assured. A fresh problem has, however, arisen, as practically the whole of the territory is in the county of Surrey, where there is a county association. This problem is, of course, capable of being settled by those chiefly concerned with it, but we venture to suggest that the only solution of this and other similar cases of overlapping is by the adoption of diocesan status all round. We notice that the Midland Counties Association is considering the formation of Guilds for the various dioceses in its area, with the present organisation as a parent body. Here again other existing societies are concerned, and we shall watch developments with interest. With the formation of new dioceses in all parts of the country it is quite conceivable that the idea of a separate ringing organisation for each would only result in small, and consequently weak, societies, and the suggestion of the committee of the Midland Counties Association seems to be a practical way of avoiding this obvious drawback, whilst at the same time attaining diocesan status. We have to thank our late president, Mr. A. T. King, for obtaining the recognition of the Bishop of this diocese in 1903, but, in the course of time, the problems that confront other associations to-day may confront us to-morrow, and we should do well to study whatever methods may be adopted by ringers in Surrey and the Midlands with a view of solving their difficulties. The proposal of the Midland Counties Association to form diocesan Guilds with a governing body covering its present area, if capable of being applied successfully, would solve any similar problem arising in our own diocese should a division at any time take place.

DEATH OF THE REV. W. SALTREN WILLETT.

LINK WITH FORMER GENERATION BROKEN.

Many ringers, especially of the older generation, will hear with sincere regret of the death of Rev. W. Saltren Willett, which occurred at Tunbridge Wells on Wednesday, 11th inst. The elder son of Rev. Charles Saltren Willett, Vicar of Monkleigh, North Devon, he was born over seventy years ago, and was educated at Eton, whence he passed on to Oriel College, Oxford, in the year 1876. It was while at Oxford, where for a short time he was secretary of Oxford University Guild, that he laid the foundation, sound and good, of the knowledge of the groundwork of change ringing, and became, as he continued to be to the end of his ringing career, an exceptionally steady, trustworthy hand in a peal. In the midst of a trip, or a bit of shaky ringing, just when collapse seemed imminent, he would plod on, without noise or fuss, as steady as a rock, not infrequently to the saving of the situation. He was the very man that delights the heart of a conductor. Always a good striker, he would, even if he had not been in practice for months, settle down at once to his work, and, though he may have protested beforehand that he would be likely to cause a smash, we who knew him and his ringing knew better than that. When once settled down to Stedman Triples or Stedman Caters he was thoroughly in his element, and, as far as he was concerned, all the rest were happy. Whether he kept a list of his peals, we do not know. So far as we are aware, they were mainly in the methods of Grand sire, Stedman, Plain Bob, Treble Bob, and Double Norwich. He rang in the chief clerical peals, and in the old days was to be found again and again in the company of Rev. F. E. Robinson.

As regards his clerical career, he was ordained at Lichfield, and served his first curacy at Barton-under-Needwood from 1880 to 1882. Thence he went to St. Martin's, Brighton, which he left in 1884 for the curacy of Windsor, remaining there till 1888, when he took his own living of Monkleigh. After remaining there for eleven years he accepted the living at Gilston, near Harlow, and there worked until well on in the war, when he was overtaken by a nervous breakdown caused almost entirely by the strains of that period. Full of sympathy, he felt acutely the losses and suffering among his parishioners, to whom he was deeply attached. When his health failed, it became evident that he could not do otherwise than retire, and he and his family took up their abode at Tunbridge Wells, where he finally passed peacefully away. He leaves a widow, daughter of the late Right Rev. Bishop Bowlby, and two sons and a daughter.

To his friends and to those who knew him personally, he leaves the happiest of memories behind him. Always the same—quiet, cheery, full of dry humour, he was a delightful companion. A good raconteur, his stories were brief and pithy. Able to see as far through a stone wall as most of us, he was quick to detect quackery or nonsense of any sort, and hinted it. Once a friend he was always a friend, and, in fact, his whole character was like his ringing—firm as a rock. It is one of the pleasures and privileges of life to have known him.

He was laid to rest on Saturday, April 14th, by his old friend, Rev. Canon Coleridge, at Rushall, near Tunbridge Wells, where he had long worshipped. 'Requiescat in pace.'

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION. MEMBERS DISCUSS CENTRAL COUNCIL AGENDA.

Over a hundred members attended the annual meeting of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild held at Ealing on Saturday. With three eight-bell towers available there was plenty of scope for ringing, and good use was made both in the afternoon and evening of the peals at St. Mary's (which have recently been returned and rehung by Messrs. Taylor and Co.), St. Stephen's and Christ Church. Service was held at St. Mary's Church, and was conducted by the Rev. T. Matthews (curate), Canon G. F. Coleridge (president of the Central Council) was the preacher, and at the outset he referred to the death of the Rev. E. Saltren Willett, an old ringing friend, whose funeral he had attended at Tunbridge Wells that day. Probably none but the president of that association (Mr. Milne) knew the Rev. Saltren Willett, who was at Oxford with them 52 years ago, and succeeded their president as secretary of the Oxford University Society of Change Ringers in 1877. He (the preacher) rang with him in the first peal of the University Society in 1879. He was a most accurate ringer, but had not rung for many years. Standing at his graveside that day, he (the preacher) was reminded of the words in Psalm xl. 2: 'He brought me up out of an horrible pit, out of the mire and clay, and set my feet upon a rock.' That was an Easter message telling them of the resurrection. Not a few of them, continued the preacher, were present at the Bell Foundry at Croydon, when they heard that wondrous peal of ten bells, the treble a ton and a quarter, and the tenor 18½ tons. None of them, he supposed, had ever heard such tones in their lives—certainly, he never had—and that great big bell coming in at the end, a solemn note, speaking to them as, he thought, no other note of music had ever appealed to them. Yet not many weeks before, those bells, so to speak, were in the mire and the clay. The lesson which came home to them whenever they heard bells ringing was that they must take care that their lives also were in tune with the bells. There were good ringers and there were bad ringers, just as there were big bells and little bells. He read the other day that while looking at that mighty bell at Croydon a ringer produced the smallest bell that had ever been cast, weighing about half an ounce. It was cast by the late Henry Haley. Compare those two bells and think of the numerous notes that come in between the little bell and the big one—a wonderful series. So it was that every ringer had his part to play in life. He might be, or he might not be, very skilled in the bellry, but it was the bounden duty of every Christian man and woman to be well skilled in the faith which he or she professed, and to see that nothing marred the harmony of his life in any way, but that everything was done to the praise and honour and glory of God. As he looked at that great bell in the foundry the thought occurred to him of what would be the effect if some musician were to stand beneath it with a violin. He could strike many notes, and there would be no response whatever; but let him strike the exact note of that bell on his violin, and that empty mass of metal would vibrate with sound in response to the comparatively feeble one. So it was with them all. Over them was the great blue vault of heaven, like some great bell. They were puny creatures underneath it, striking their notes in their daily lives. When they struck the right note the whole heavens rang with praise, and the angels and archangels took up the strain. They might not be very beautiful in their voices, but they might be very beautiful in their lives. Whether in the ringing chamber, the workshop or the home, let their lives sound out true and real and pure, so that the heavens might respond and the whole earth and firmament be filled with the praise and glory of God. In conclusion, the preacher offered his blessing upon the work which they were doing in the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild.

THE BUSINESS MEETING.

Tea was served in the Good Shepherd Hall, where the business meeting afterwards took place, Mr. F. A. Milne, president, being in the chair.

In the report, which was adopted on the motion of the president, the committee stated that an extension of the holding of mid-week practice meetings in the North and East District was fairly successful, while joint meetings with neighbouring associations were an interesting feature of the year's activities. Good feeling and comradeship animated the proceedings, and the committee were convinced that these meetings were a means of drawing societies together towards a common understanding.

There was a considerable increase in the number of peals rung during the year, the total for 1927 being 72, nine of which were rung on handbells. The number of members who took part in the peals was 173, and those who conducted peals numbered 22. One of the handbell peals, consisting of seven extents of Bob Minor, was something of a novelty, each of the three ringers conducting two extents, whilst the seventh was rung non-conducted. Incidentally, this peal was the first rung by one of the band, and the first on handbells by another.

Those who rang their first peals numbered 15, whilst 84 members performed something new. Three members rang their first peals of Cambridge Maximus, whilst there were four first peals of London, five of Bristol, three of Superlative, five of Cambridge Major, two of Cambridge Royal, and two of Stedman Cinques. Two members rang their first peals on handbells, and one his first peal of Stedman Cinques on handbells.

The committee again record their satisfaction at the number of new members admitted, the figures for the year being 4 honorary and 55-ringing members in the North and East District, and 3 and 28 respectively in the South and West District. On the other hand, there has been a larger number of lapses of membership than usual, and also a heavy loss by death, no fewer than eleven members having died during the year. Consequently, the total membership remains almost the same as last year, the actual number being 830.

The report recorded that instruction had been given at several towers and varying degrees of progress made. In connection with the work done in this direction, thanks were accorded to Messrs. E. Corke, F. W. Goodfellow, A. W. Coles, G. M. Kilby, H. Kilby, E. Edwards, J. A. Trollope, J. E. Davis, and the district masters and secretaries, for the invaluable assistance rendered.

Several important bell restorations had taken place during the year. Messrs. J. Taylor and Co. have rehung the peals of eight at St. Mary's, Ealing, and St. Augustine's, Kilburn, in both cases in new cast-iron framework, besides recasting the fourth bell at the latter church. Messrs. Gillett and Johnston have rehung the peal of ten at St. Stephen's, Hampstead, on ball bearings; whilst Messrs. Mears and Stanbank have rehung the peals of six and eight at Hornsey and St. Saviour's, Walthamstow, respectively, in new bearings, with newly-strengthened framework. The Isleworth bell augmentation fund now reaches £120, and further subscriptions are earnestly solicited. In view of the many appeals which have recently been received in connection with bell restorations, a fund has been started in the South and West District, from which grants may, if thought fit, be made. It has been decided that each ringer in a peal in this district shall contribute 3d. towards this fund. The committee of the district concerned is confident of receiving the loyal co-operation of the members in this matter.

The balance sheet, showing a balance in hand in the Central Fund of £29 7s. 9d., compared with £25 13s. 2d. at the beginning of the year, was adopted, and all the officers re-elected, viz.: President and hon. treasurer Mr. F. A. Milne, Master Mr. William Pye, joint hon. secretaries Messrs. C. T. Coles and W. H. Hollier, and auditors Messrs. J. E. Miller and W. Pickworth.

The President again nominated Messrs. C. S. Bird and W. Pickworth as vice-presidents, and it was resolved that the association peal books and other volumes should remain for the year at Acton tower.

A VOTE AGAINST 'PEAL DIPLOMAS.'

The agenda of the next Central Council meeting was brought before the members by Mr. Coles, and the resolutions which are to be proposed were discussed.

On the question of the issue of peal diplomas, the Hon. Secretary said the committee had come to the conclusion that it was not desirable to issue certificates for a first or any other peal, and this view was supported by several speakers.

Mr. J. A. Trollope thought the awarding of diplomas was unworkable, but those who brought the matter before the Council were anxious to see if something could not be done for the encouragement of young ringers, and he thought the association should not tie the hands of its representatives, but should allow them to use their discretion after having heard the views put forward at the Council meeting. Personally, he thought the only way to encourage young ringers was in their own towers.

The committee's recommendation was carried nem. con.

The motions in favour of retaining the curfew, the angelus, and the ringing of other traditional bells, and of placing plaques in bellries to commemorate distinguished ringers, were approved.

The motion with regard to the definition of peals on five and six bells was discussed at some length, but no resolution was passed, it being left to the representatives to vote according to their own judgment after hearing the arguments in the Council meeting.

The proposal to investigate the possibilities of a scheme for helping ringers in cases of extraordinary sickness was also discussed, and it was resolved that the association's representatives should vote against this. One member pointed out that they already had to pay enough now in the way of contributions to sick funds, and Mr. W. H. Hollier said if they were going to impose more work on the secretaries of associations they would not get secretaries to carry on.

It was resolved to hold the next annual meeting at St. Botolph's, Bishopsgate.

The president proposed a hearty vote of thanks to Canon Coleridge for his address, and for attending the meeting, to which Canon Coleridge replied.

Thanks were also accorded to the Rev. E. G. Sharp (St. Mary's), Rev. Maynard (St. Stephen's), and Rev. W. T. King (Christ Church) for the use of their respective bells, and to those who had arranged the tea.

A vote of sympathy was passed to Mr. T. Beadle, an old and respected member of the association, who has long been ill, and is once more in hospital.

Mr. Horace Belcher and his family, with Mr. A. Fulwell, gave some excellent handbell selections after tea.

The ringing at St. Stephen's in the afternoon included Superlative, Stedman, etc.; at St. Mary's in the afternoon and evening, London, Cambridge, Superlative, Double Norwich, Kent, Grandsire and Stedman; and at Christ Church Bristol, Cambridge, Double Norwich, Grandsire, Stedman and Spiced Surprise Major (four methods).

WORCESTERSHIRE ASSOCIATION.THE CATHEDRAL BELL RESTORATION.

Once again an enjoyable day was spent at Worcester on the occasion of the annual meeting of the Worcestershire and Districts Association on Easter Monday. Five rings of bells were going early in the morning to the music of methods ranging from Doubles to Cambridge Royal and Stedman Caters. Those at the Cathedral were not available, as, although they were still in the tower, they were not safe to ring, but a new peal at Claines, recently relunged and increased from five to eight, was a welcome addition to those usually in use on these occasions. The business portion of the day's proceeding was transacted in the Cathedral Chapter House in the afternoon, with the president (the Very Rev. Moore Ede, D.D.) as chairman. Among the apologies received was one from the Master, Mr. J. D. Johnson, his absence being due to the illness of his wife, and the Chairman voiced the feelings of those present by expressing a hope that she would soon be well again.

A subscription from members and friends toward the rehanging and recasting of the Cathedral bells had been organised, and the treasurer, Mr. A. E. Parsons, reported that he had received about £85, including a grant from the Belfry Repairs Fund of £20, and it was decided to keep this open for a time and to make an effort to raise in all £100.

There are at present in the Cathedral tower, a ring of twelve bells, tenor 50 cwt., in D flat, three semitone bells, not hung for ringing, but used for the chimes, and the hour bell of 90 cwt., and the Dean and Chapter have decided to have all, except the hour bell, recast and relunged. When completed, there will be a ring of twelve, tenor 50 cwt., in B natural, and one of the three new semitone bells will be hung for ringing so as to make a ring of eight, with a tenor of about 20 cwt.

The Chairman, in speaking of this improvement, mentioned that the recasting was due to the remarks made at the last annual meeting of the association, and that the total cost would be about £1,400.

The formation of a library was referred back to the committee, the arrangements for the annual peal were left to the Master, and the next meeting is again to be held at Worcester.

The Central Council agenda occasioned a certain amount of discussion, and after the re-election of all the officers the meeting closed with a comprehensive vote of thanks, moved by Ald. J. S. Pritchett.

The members attended afternoon service in the Cathedral, and the musical rendering of this is always a pleasure. Tea followed, and the day ended with further ringing.

TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD.'ROUND RINGERS' WANT A SHIELD.

A general meeting of the Truro Diocesan Guild was held at Truro on Easter Monday, when between 60 and 70 members attended from Gulval, Kenwyn, Kea, Truro Cathedral, Pillaton, St. Goran, Gwennap, Perranwell, Zennor, St. Newlyn East, Landulph and Redruth, as well as Mr. F. I. Hairs (London), Mr. E. W. Marsh (Plymouth), Mr. W. Hiscott (Plymouth), Rev. R. Hocking (Vicar of Pillaton), Rev. J. V. Yonge (St. Goran), Rev. Jenkin (Landulph), and Rev. W. H. R. Trehwella (Zennor).

The ring of ten at the Cathedral and the rings of eight at Kenwyn and Kea were available for ringing throughout the day. The Cathedral bells came in for most attention, and the many round ringers from six-bell towers acquitted themselves exceptionally well on this higher number with more metal. The only method ringing done was Grandsire, and several good touches of Triples were brought round in this method.

Evensong was sung in the choir at 4 p.m., and conducted by the Precentor, Canon E. C. Corfe, who also gave an address. The Rev. F. J. Driscoll presided at the organ.

Tea was partaken of in St. Mary's Hall, and afterwards a flashlight photograph of the company was taken. This was followed by a short discussion of great importance to the future prosperity of the Guild.

As no annual general meeting of the Guild has been held for several years, the officers of the Guild are elected and the general business is transacted at the annual committee meeting held on the last Monday in January of each year. This committee, which consists of the officers and one representative from each band in union, is always poorly attended, as Monday is a very inconvenient day for those who live at any distance from the place of meeting.

It was the general feeling of all present that this committee meeting should be held on a Saturday, and the Truro district secretary (Mr. A. S. Roberts) was asked to convey this motion to the general secretary, Canon H. R. Jennings, who was unable to be present.

Several 'round ringers' supported the view that the Guild should award a shield, to be competed for annually, for affiliated bands. Mr. Nicholls (St. Gluvias') said his band were strongly in favour of this, as also were the St. Stephen's band. The Rev. W. H. R. Trehwella pointed out that the Guild's task was to cultivate change ringing, and thought that, if a shield was awarded, bands would be content to do nothing but 'rise, ring rounds and fall.'

Mr. W. H. Southeard said that if the round-ringing bands wanted to improve their striking and progress, which it was the object of the Guild to further, they should be tested on rounds one year, Grandsire Doubles the next, and so forth. A shield would then be an advantage, but he was inclined to think they would be content to continue ringing.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.BIG GATHERING AT GRAVESEND.

The annual general meeting of the Kent County Association was held on Easter Monday at Gravesend. Once more we have to be thankful for glorious holiday weather, which was duly appreciated by the members, one hundred and twenty-five or so, attending from different parts of the county. The towers of St. George's (eight), Northfleet (eight), Swanscombe (eight), and Milton (six) were open for ringing, and both before and after the service and dinner the bells were kept going in various methods from Plain Bob to London Surprise. Other six-bell towers in the neighbourhood were available for any band who cared to visit them. At the service in St. George's, the Rector, Rev. Ernest Michell, read the prayers, Rev. G. A. Tait, Vicar of Meopham, read the special lesson (Rom. xii.), and Mr. W. E. Pitman presided at the organ. A small surplined choir of ringers attended—an unusual feature at these gatherings, but very acceptable, though quite unnecessary from the choral point of view, as the Kent County Association are more than able to 'hoist the tune' without the assistance of a choir. In the course of the service three hymns were sung—the Easter hymn, the ringers' hymn ('Unchanging God'), and 'Light's abode, celestial Salem.' The Rev. Canon Gedge, Rector of Crayford, formerly Rector of Gravesend, gave a very striking address on Psalm cxxxiv. 3, 'Lift up your hands in the sanctuary and praise the Lord.' Such an effect had this discourse, that the wish was expressed that it might be printed and circulated among the members. The collection after the address was for the 'Douglas Haig Memorial Homes,' and amounted to £2 11s. 6d.

By the kindness of the Mayor, Alderman J. A. Axcell, luncheon was laid in the Town Hall, a spacious chamber, on whose walls were hung portraits of past Gravesend worthies. The Mayor presided, supported by the Rector, Revs. G. W. Mennie (Rector of Milton), G. T. Colson (Vicar of Northfleet), G. A. Tait (Vicar of Meopham), Messrs. Everden and Grant (churchwardens of St. George's), the hon. secretary (Rev. F. J. O. Helmore), and members of the committee.

After the toast of 'The King,' given from the chair, had been duly honoured, a course of Grandsire Cinques was rung on handbells by Messrs. E. J. Beer (Gravesend), R. Brett-Smith and E. Brett-Smith (Eltham), J. H. Cheesman (Greenhithe), T. Groombridge, jun. (Crayford), and T. Groombridge, sen. (Chislehurst).

The health of 'The Archbishop and Clergy' was proposed by Mr. F. White (Cranbrook), who referred to the interesting ceremony at Canterbury on Easter Eve, the presentation of the Freedom of the City to the Archbishop on the attainment of his eightieth birthday.—The Rector of Gravesend, in returning thanks, suggested that an address of congratulation might be sent from the meeting to the Archbishop. The members present cordially agreed, and the following day the secretary conveyed the members' congratulations to the Archbishop.

The toast of 'The Mayor' followed, and his Worship, in the course of his reply, related some of his experiences at the end of a bell rope. He reminded his hearers that the last and only annual meeting at Gravesend was in 1886, and expressed a hope that the Association would not let another forty-two years go by before the next general gathering at Gravesend.

After this the business meeting was held, which was mainly of a formal character, the reading of the report and balance sheets, and the re-election of the officers, vice-presidents, committee, secretary and treasurer.

Slight additions were made to the rules respecting non-resident life members, on the proposition of Mr. I. Emery (Bramley), seconded by Mr. T. Groombridge, sen.

The company then dispersed, some to the towers for ringing, some across the water to Tilbury to see the big liners, others to stand about, as ringers will, within hearing distance of the bells—all, as far as could be gathered, well pleased with their day's outing and at the success of the association's forty-eight annual meeting.

ASPENDEN BELLS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Many thanks to Mr. G. W. Cartmel for his interesting account of these bells, and also to Mr. W. K. North for his letter giving the record of the Braughing peal. But it does seem strange that, although a few peals have been rung at Braughing, the bells of Aspenden appear to have been severely left alone, more so considering that Renington is so near.—Yours faithfully,

F. W. RICHARDSON.

ing rounds, as was the case with the prize-ringing associations in East Cornwall.

Mr. A. S. Roberts asked if anyone who was in favour of having a shield was prepared to give one, as he did not think one would be forthcoming from the Guild Committee.

This ended the discussion, and the various bands returned to the towers for further ringing. Unfortunately, Dr. J. Symons, the Diocesan Ringing Master, was unable to be present owing to sickness.

THE 18 1/2 TON RINGING BELL,
the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at RIVERSIDE CHURCH, NEW YORK, U.S.A.

A TASK BEFORE NORFOLK GUILD.

The Norfolk Guild has for some time past been faced with the difficulty of maintaining the interest of its members. There have been complaints that its ordinary meetings have been poorly attended; that life in the districts is stagnant, and that generally the rank and file have not rallied to the support of the officers in the way the latter have a right to expect. Norfolk is a county not altogether easy to organise; for successful organisation depends largely on easy means of intercommunication, and many of the towers in East Anglia are in very isolated situations. Even with the coming of the motor bus the facilities for travel in Norfolk, at times which would enable ringers to meet, are poor, and any activity that there may be has got to be developed very largely in the individual towers. Hitherto the Guild has been divided into eleven districts. Some are obviously too small to hope for success, but, with one or two exceptions, none of these districts seem to have functioned properly; whether it has been due to the difficulties of organising, or sheer apathy we do not know. But whatever the cause, the members do not seem to have taken advantage of the facilities which they might embrace for the holding of district meetings. In many other associations these gatherings are the foundation of the work, and have done more than anything else to foster the spirit of brotherhood and extend the art of ringing.

That some reorganisation of the existing arrangements is necessary is recognised by the committee of the Guild, and a proposal is now before the members, as will be seen from the report of the annual meeting elsewhere in this issue, to scrap the present division of the area and set up three districts only, each comprising an archdeaconry, with a district committee, to endeavour to infuse fresh life into the work of the Guild. It has not yet been definitely decided that this is the best way of reorganising, but if anything is done it will probably be on these lines. Changes of this description, which usually bring with them the introduction of new blood into administrative posts, often have the desired effect, but nothing will be accomplished without hard work. Nobody is more difficult to move than the apathetic ringer, and once he has slipped into indifference to his ringing organisation it takes a great deal to reawaken his active interest. The Norfolk Guild has a great reputation and a great record, and, though it has been shorn of half its original territory, by the formation of the Suffolk Guild, it must have great scope for useful work. We cannot imagine, for instance, that 300 anything like represents the number of ringers in the present diocese of Norwich, and yet this is all that the Guild can claim as actual resident members. The ringers themselves should get down to the task of bringing the Norfolk Guild back to the front rank of associations; in a county of such a size the general officers cannot themselves shoulder the whole of the task. A reorganisation would doubtless help, but it is work that tells in the long run.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

LEATHERHEAD DISTRICT MEETING.

The two six-bell towers of Capel and Ockley were visited by the Leatherhead District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild on Saturday, and, despite the vagaries of an English spring day, when rain, snow, and sunshine alternated, nearly forty members put in an appearance from Leatherhead, Dorking, Banstead, Newdigate, Capel, Ockley, Guildford, Woking, Farnham, and Beddington. Capel will always hold a special place in the interests of the Guild. It was once the home of a six-bell band, celebrated throughout the country; and then, after a long lapse from membership of any association, it came wholeheartedly into the new Guild, and, on the first day of its history, rang the first Guildford Diocesan Guild peal. Unfortunately, its ring of bells is but a poor lot, although there have been hopes that some day this state of things might be changed. How soon that end will now be achieved is uncertain, for the Vicar (the Rev. C. F. Carver), who initiated the scheme, and who was a keen supporter of the Guild, having himself recently learned to ring, has just left the parish for the living of Charlton Hawthorne, in Somerset. It was, in fact, a great disappointment to the members that his induction on the preceding Thursday prevented him being with the members at the meeting on Saturday.

In the circumstances, the conduct of the Guild's service was left in other hands, but the members received a homely address from the gentleman who took Mr. Carver's place.

There was little business to be transacted at the meeting which followed tea in the Church Room, and at which the Guild Master (Major J. H. B. Hesse) presided. Several new members were elected, and the district hon. secretary (Mr. F. G. Woodiss) detailed the arrangements made for other meetings during the year. There would, he said, be no separate meeting in June, as on the 30th of that month the Guild was to hold its summer festival at Epsom, which was in that district. There would be a meeting at Banstead in August, a joint meeting with the Guildford District at Shere and Albury in October, and a meeting at Cobham in December.

Mr. A. Winch spoke of the good work which was being done at the combined practices, one of which was held in the district every week.

The Rev. J. Ward, of Newdigate, who for many years was in charge of a church in Australia, expressed his great pleasure with the Guild's proceedings and admiration of the characteristic service which had been held. Their procedure, he said, must add to the reverence with which they carried out their duties, and to the brotherhood which existed among them.

A cordial vote of thanks to the preacher and the organist, and to the authorities and ringers at the two churches closed the proceedings.

A variety of methods were rung, both in the afternoon and evening, at the two churches.

SUMMER FESTIVAL.

A special committee have in hand the arrangements for a summer festival at Epsom on June 30th. It is hoped to organise charabanc parties from a number of groups of towers, to work out for each an itinerary by which the ringers of the party will be able during the afternoon to ring on at least three peals of bells, and eventually concentrate on the Parish Church at Epsom, where service will be held, at which the Bishop of Guildford has promised to preach. There will also be arrangements for ringing in the evening. It is hoped to have three, if not four, eight-bell and two ten-bell towers available.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

ANNUAL MEETING at STOCKPORT.

The annual meeting of the Chester Diocesan Guild was held at St. George's Schools, Stockport, on Easter Monday. Proceedings commenced with a service at 10.45, at which Rev. A. J. Humphreys, B.A., Vicar of Norbury, and an honorary member of the Guild, preached an excellent and inspiring sermon.

At the business meeting held an hour later in the schools, the accounts, showing an increased balance of £12, were adopted. The Secretary apologised for the absence of the printed report, which had been delayed owing to circumstances over which he had no control, but promised that it would be in the hands of the members shortly.

Arising out of a remark made by Mr. Elwell, an interesting discussion took place on the dirty state of some of the belfries in the diocese, several members taking part. It was pointed out that, being a part of the church, the belfry or ringing chamber should not be used as a lumber room, and there were several suggestions for dealing with the matter. Archdeacon Thorpe, of Macclesfield and Stockport, suggested a resolution, which was adopted for circulation to the Rural Deans, and promised to mention the subject in his archidiaconal charge. The resolution runs: 'That this Guild desires to call attention to the state of certain belfries, in the hope that a more satisfactory state of affairs may be brought about.'

Rev. C. A. Clements was again unanimously re-elected Master, with the Rev. A. T. Deeston as treasurer, and Mr. E. W. Elwell as secretary. Messrs. H. and J. Jackson were re-elected auditors, and Mr. J. Cooke as peal recorder.

It was unanimously resolved to accept the recommendation of the committee that the maximum grant for restoration work be increased to £7 10s., and grants of this amount were confirmed to Higher Sutton and to Marbury.

It was also resolved to admit junior members on payment of 1s. per annum, which is half the usual subscription, provided they are under 18 years of age. By this means it is hoped to encourage young ringers to take up the art at an early age.

After the decision to hold the next annual meeting at Bebington, a vote of thanks was passed to the preacher and the St. George's officials who had so kindly arranged the details of the meeting.

The next item on the programme was lunch, and an excellent one it was. The thanks of the Guild are due to Mrs. Jackson and the ladies who helped her to prepare it, and for all the trouble they took. At lunch, the loyal toast was drunk, and a collection for 'The Ringing World' fund for 'Ireneus Pistor' realised £1 7s. 6d.

After lunch, the afternoon was devoted to ringing, which took place at St. George's, St. Mary's, and Norbury Parish Church. The whole day was a most successful one, and the attendance numbered about 70 members and visitors.

SUCCESSFUL BRANCH MEETING AT BROMBOROUGH.

A most successful meeting of the Wirral Branch of the above Guild was held at Bromborough Parish Church on Saturday. A goodly number of members was present, and enjoyed to the full the fine peal of eight bells, the methods rung varying from Plain Bob Minor to Superlative Surprise Major, and all were thoroughly satisfied both with the quality of the ringing and the 'go' of the bells.

The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. J. H. Barr, M.A.), who, speaking from the chancel steps, extended a hearty welcome to those present, and said his reason for speaking to them from that position was because he considered they were all on a level as worker's in God's service—he as a minister, the organist at his organ, and the bellringers in the belfry—all serving God in their own special ministry. People seemed to think the time would come when there would be no need to attend church, as sermons could be heard in their own homes on the wireless. He wished to emphasise the fact that the sermon was not the principal part of the service, and that the more important parts could not be carried out at home. Speaking of bells and bellringing, he said it seemed to him that bellringing created an enthusiasm and a keenness which was seldom met with in other walks of church life. He wished he could catch some of the fire and keenness of bellringers and infuse it into the leaders of other branches of parochial work. In conclusion, he said how pleased he was to see such a number of young boys present, and trusted they would progress and prosper in the office of bellringers.

A substantial tea was provided and thoroughly enjoyed, following which the usual monthly business meeting was held, the Rector presiding, after which the company adjourned to the belfry, the bells being kept going until about nine o'clock.

W. J. B.

COMPTON GIFFORD, DEVON.—On Easter Monday, April 9th, on the occasion of the wedding of Mr. F. M. Rice and Miss A. D. Cowl, a peal of Bob Major was attempted, but, unfortunately, a change course occurred in the eleventh course, after which the band rang 1,340 Bob Major in 50 mins.: W. J. Symons (longest length in the method) 1. R. J. Baldry 2, G. H. Myers 3, J. E. Lilley 4, G. Goddard (longest length in method) 5, C. R. Lilley (conductor) 6, T. G. Myers 7, J. Woodley 8.—On Easter Sunday, at Emmanuel Church, 518 Grand sire Triples: W. Pugsley 1, R. J. Baldry 2, W. J. Symons 3, J. E. Lilley 4, G. Goddard 5, J. Woodley 6, C. R. Lilley (conductor) 7, G. H. Symons 8.

PRESIDENT OF DEVON GUILD MARRIED.

Considerable interest was taken by parishioners and friends at Christ Church, Dore, on Wednesday, April 11th, in the marriage of Miss M. P. B. Davenport, a member of the local band of ringers and lately secretary of the Northern District of the Ladies' Guild, to the Rev. E. S. Powell, M.A., Vicar-designate of Clyst St. George, Exeter, and president of the Guild of Devon Ringers. The event, which was favoured by a beautiful, sunny morning, attracted a large congregation, and the pretty little church, its Easter decorations enhanced by quantities of flowers from Devon, arranged in bowls and clusters by Mrs. Cockey and Miss M. Benton, was almost full when the bridal procession arrived.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a gown of ivory satin, the veil of Brussels lace being lent by Mrs. W. P. Wright, of Eym Hall. She carried a bouquet of narcissi, with maidenhair ferns, and was followed by her two bridesmaids, Miss Jessie Davenport and Miss Dorothy Wright, in dresses of apple green and white georgette, each carrying bouquets of pale gold tulips. Mr. Charles Westley acted as best man.

The service, which was choral (bridal music being played by Mr. A. F. Farnsworth) was conducted by the Rev. W. P. Wright, of Eym Hall, assisted by the Vicar of Dore, the Rev. W. R. Gibson. The Rev. W. P. Wright, a ringer himself, in a pleasing little address at the close of the ceremony, referred to the ringing activities of the bridal pair, to the position of the bridegroom as a priest of the Church, and to the bride's great fitness as a helpmeet for him, and concluded with a little analogy on the significance of the wedding ring.

For the occasion, the bells were placed in charge of members of the Ladies' Guild, and the following took part in touches of Grandsire Triples and Bob Major, and 'firing,' both before and after the ceremony: Miss Mary Benton (Dore), Miss Noel Cawthorne (Handsworth), Miss Marjorie Holmes (Dore), Mrs. H. J. Jacques (Mansfield Woodhouse), Mrs. W. M. Ryder (Rotherham), Mrs. Scott (Workshop), Miss Elsie Smith (Norton), Miss Nora A. Spilby (Doncaster), and Miss Dorothy Tarlton (North Wingfield).

Among the relatives and friends present were Mrs. Davenport and Everard Davenport, Mrs. Davenport, son., Mrs. Westley, Miss Cause, Miss Cane, Miss Nichols, Mrs. W. P. Wright and party, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lewis Cockey, Mrs. Holmes, the Rev. L. C. F. Tomkins and party, Mrs. Benton, Deaconess Weston (Sheffield Cathedral), Mrs. Watkinson, members of the Mothers' Union of St. John's, Abbeydale, the Sheffield Girls' Movement, and many others. Owing to the ill-health of the bride's mother no reception was held, and the bridal couple left shortly after the ceremony by motor for Southampton en route for the South of France.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

DEVIZES BRANCH.

A well-attended quarterly meeting of the Devizes Branch was held at the grand old Church of All Saints, Westbury, Wilts, on Saturday, April 14th. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m. The Guild service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. E. C. Alexander), Mr. Jefferies, the talented organist, being at the organ. Tea followed in the Church Institute, to which 36, including the Vicar and organist, sat down, the catering being done by Mr. W. Holloway, who was formerly one of the Westbury ringers.

The business meeting was presided over by Mr. C. D. Heginbotham, of Devizes.—Mr. B. Cook gave a report of the business transacted at the Diocesan Committee meeting.

A discussion followed as to the advisability of trying to form new branches, with a view to covering ground not already covered by the Salisbury and Marlborough Branches. The Chairman stated that a meeting of the Marlborough Branch was to be held on Saturday, April 21st, at Pewsey, when an effort would be made to start a branch for the Pewsey District. If this were done, it would relieve the Devizes Branch of four six-bell towers, viz., Upavon, Enford, Fittleton and Netheravon, and should be the means of making a good branch.

On the proposition of the Chairman, a vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar for the use of the bells and conducting the service, also to the organist.—The Chairman asked the Vicar, as Rural Dean, to use what influence he might have to get a representative of the Guild on the Bishop's Advisory Board.

The Vicar, in replying, said how pleased he was to see such a large number present, and was glad to welcome the Branch to Westbury. He wished they could come more often, but, as they knew, the tower was still under observation, and cases of illness near the church sometimes prevented the bells being rung. He added that he would certainly use what influence he had to get a representative on the Advisory Board.

Visitors present included Miss N. Williams, Messrs. W. J. Prescott, W. H. Crocker and F. Rich (Bath), Mr. L. G. Hill (Slough), Mr. H. Hunt (Bagshot, Surrey) (Guildford Diocesan Guild), Messrs. F. Lambeth and S. Wilshire (Chippenham), Messrs. Romain (secretary, Salisbury Branch), Southey and Roles (Salisbury), and Messrs. F. A. Coward and E. Coward (Mere), (North Dorset Branch). Ringers were also present from Bratton, Bradford-on-Avon, Chirton, Devizes (St. John's and St. Mary's), Melksham, Rowde, Trowbridge and Warminster. Touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Oxford Treble Bob and Double Norwich were rung during the afternoon and evening.

It was decided to hold the next two monthly meetings at Rowde and Bromham (May) and Bishop's Canning (June).

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Messrs. Headstock, Soundbow and Co., of Warrington and Bolton, beg to announce the following rule decided upon at their recent Hoptonstall meeting: 'That anything over 13,000 shall be classified as "a good practice."

At the annual vestry meeting at Christ Church, Dore, on Easter Monday, Mr. J. E. Lewis Cockey was elected people's warden for the fifth time. At a previous meeting of the parochial electors, he was also elected a member of the Diocesan Conference for the See of Derby.

The most interesting anniversary next week is that on Thursday, for it was on May 2nd, 1715, that the first peal of which we have any authentic record was rung. It was the famous peal of Grandsire Bob Triples at St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich.

Last Sunday, in addition to being the anniversary of the Appleton record peal—which, by the way, was duly 'celebrated' by a small party who met by accident in London—was also the anniversary of the 15,227 Grandsire Caters (still the longest length in the method) at Cheltenham in 1889. The conductor of that peal, Mr. W. T. Pates, is still in charge of Cheltenham belfry.

Sixty years ago to-day a famous band of College Youths rang the then record peal of 15,840 Kent Treble Bob at Bethnal Green, in 9hrs. 12mins. Ted Horrex was the last of that company to go.

The first peal by Cambridge University Guild was rung on April 28th, 1890. To-morrow is also the anniversary of the 12,896 Cambridge Surprise Major, rung at Stony Stanton.

The first peal of Cinques in Yorkshire was rung on May 1st, 1812. This was a peal of Grandsire, at Leeds, composed and conducted by Samuel Smallpage.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

HON SECRETARY'S THANKS TO MEMBERS.

Fellow Members,—By the courtesy of the Editor, I wish to convey to you all my grateful appreciation of the kindness literally showered upon me on Easter Monday at an annual meeting, when the president, in your name, presented to me a handsome silver tea service, together with an illuminated address, to mark the completion of 25 years' service as your secretary, and to Mrs. Cartmel two beautiful silver vases. I confess that I was so utterly taken by surprise that I fear I very inadequately expressed in words the true emotions of my heart, and the feelings of my wife. Although it was a record gathering, I know that to many contributors attendance was impossible, so the courtesy of the Editor is welcome, as it enables me to express to one and all my sincere appreciation of their kindness. The epitome of the letters read by Mr. Ayre, and the remarks of various speakers at the meeting all seemed so overwhelmingly kind that cold print, or even words, fail to express one's feelings. Again, your kindness was once more shown in electing me your secretary, and further in appointing me to the presidency.

To those gentlemen who initiated and carried through the effort, and to all kind friends who have by their generosity made the presentation possible, please accept from Mrs. Cartmel and myself our sincere thanks.—Yours sincerely,

G. W. CARTMEL.

THE RINGERS' DIRECTORY.

To the Editor.

Sir,—May I, through your columns, thank brother and sister ringers for the prompt response to our directory notice. My committee will be very grateful for the kind wishes for success which have accompanied subscriptions.

The Bristol United Ringing Guilds have undertaken this task for the benefit of the ringing community, and have no regard for a profit to be made, although they are not in a financial position to stand for a loss.

The scheme has been carefully drafted out, and it is up to every ringer to ensure the success of this large undertaking.

In conclusion a free copy will be sent post free to every subscriber of 1s., even though it is as large as 200 to 300 pages. The size of it of course depends upon the number of subscribers.—Yours faithfully,

EDGAR GUISE,

Hon. Secretary, B.U.R.G.

PEAL CRITICS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I did not hear the peal of Cambridge Royal at Epsom on March 17th, but would suggest that when any self-appointed critics are outside a tower when a peal is in progress, they should be courteous enough to meet the conductor and his band when they come out of the tower and criticise the performance in front of them. Some critics up this way suddenly remember that they have an important business appointment when the last course-end comes up.—Yours truly,

W. R. MADGWICK.

THE HEPTONSTALL PEAL ATTEMPT.

CONTROVERSY OVER THE CAUSE OF FAILURE.

The newspapers gave a great deal of notice to the attempt for the record peal at Heptonstall on Saturday week, and some of those in the North of England gave long articles. The Halifax 'Daily Courier' went into the question of the cause of the failure. After describing the attempt and the dramatic climax, the report stated:—

The actual state of the bells, and the ability of the team to have completed the peal under any other conditions, has already aroused a little storm of controversy, and the points mentioned above (whether failure was due to dry bearings on the tenor) are likely to be long debated in bellringing circles. Mr. Chapman, for instance, declared that the bells at Heptonstall, from every point of view, constitute one of the finest peals in the country. Before the collapse of the effort he expressed the opinion that the ringing was not as emphatic and confident as a year ago, when the peal of Oxford Treble Bob Major was rung. Afterwards he said the team had done remarkably well to have rung for 10 hours and 36 minutes in Double Norwich Court Bob Major. Much depended upon the man who rang the tenor bell, and 10½ hours on Saturday's method was equal, in regard to pulling strength needed, to about 18 hours of Oxford Treble Bob Major. He described Mr. Pegler's effort as a great feat, and doubted if anyone in the country could have beaten it.

they are blaming the bells, but the bearings are not dry. I went specially to inspect them before the ring started, and there was then sufficient lubrication to have kept a mill shafting running all day. The bearings are still greasy, and, for ordinary ringing purposes, it will not be necessary to touch them for weeks. It was a mistake, when attempting such a big thing, to put in a new rope. Pegler is a strong, well-built man, but he was completely beat. I believe he had been more or less exhausted a couple of hours before he gave in.'

HOW THE NEWSPAPERS VIEWED IT.

The different newspapers treated the peal attempt from many different standpoints. One made it the occasion for describing the antiquarian charms of Heptonstall; another to refer to the decimation of the town's population during a plague in the early seventeenth century. Another emphasised the fact that it is unlucky for ringers to encounter a funeral, and that a funeral took place in the churchyard while the bells were ringing. Of course, there was the writer who tried to poke fun at it and talk of the long-suffering inhabitants. But his article makes humorous reading, so here it is. It is headed 'Heptonstall, Saturday':—

This little Yorkshire village tried to make history to-day. It became the big noise in national achievement; in fact, it was the biggest noise since a Barnum and Bailey's elephant did a clog dance on a platform of broken bottles.

HEPTONSTALL PARISH CHURCH, WHERE THE ATTEMPT FOR THE RECORD PEAL WAS MADE.

For this illustration we are indebted to Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, who cast and hung the bells in 1912.

LOCAL RINGERS' OPINIONS.

Mr. Francis Robertshaw, the conductor of the Heptonstall team, said the 'Daily Courier,' strongly denied that the bearings were dry. He said he had examined the bearings after the peal ended and declared that they were not dry. 'Pegler did well,' he added, 'but the task was too much for him. He was exhausted. If it could have been possible for him to have rested ten minutes I believe he would have finished the job, but that could not be. In my opinion the man would be seriously feeling the strain at the end of five hours. The visiting ringers had a new rope fitted to the big tenor bell. That was a mistake, for it would increase Pegler's task for several hours, until the "stretch" had gone out. When told on the Friday night that a new rope had been put on, Pegler himself shook his head as though he disapproved of it. Anyhow, after the effort had broken down, a visitor, an old ringer, volunteered to ring the tenor bell in a peal of 5,000 changes to show that it was not so much the condition of the bell that had caused the failure, as the matter of human endurance. The bells have not been touched, and to-day (Sunday) our own men have been ringing as usual. The bells, including the tenor, have swung beautifully. We all think that the team on Saturday put up a fine performance, but it should be known that that was the third unsuccessful attempt which has been made to break the present world record.'

Mr. Lewis Greenwood, the belfry keeper and the man responsible for seeing that the bells were in order, when interviewed, said: 'I know

For Heptonstall awoke at 6.15 a.m. this morning to the music of its church bells, and every inhabitant who hadn't taken the precaution to sit overnight has been dashing about ever since in search of aspirins and oblivion.

It was all due to a misguided ambition of an expert band of ringers from different parts of the country to tackle the Double Norwich Court Bob Major peal, with 22,096 changes, on the bells of Heptonstall Church. They locked themselves in the belfry, and were prepared to carry on without food or drink until the peal was completed in 13½ hours.

But it was not to be. After 10hrs. 31mins., when 18,600 changes had been rung, the patent lubricator of the 18wt. tenor bell ran dry, and the record-breaking attempt had to be abandoned.

The present bell-ringing record, of course, is held by a Scotsman, who wanted a drink on credit in a Glasgow public-house, and had to ring continuously for the waiter for 12 hours.

But everything passed off happily to-day. At the seventh hour one of the ringers complained of perspiration, and was provided with a blotting pad. At the eighth hour a small boy called round to show his blood orange, and at the tenth hour a flustered ringer slipped on the peal.

When told later that the record hadn't been broken, the oldest inhabitant said he had heard all about it, though he had never had such a day of earache in his life before.

NORFOLK GUILD. THE PROPOSED REORGANISATION.

The annual meeting of the Norfolk Guild was held at Norwich on Easter Monday. Ringing commenced soon after ten a.m. at St. Peter Mancroft (12), St. John-de-Sepulchro (8), St. Michael-at-Coslaury (8), and All Saints' (5). By kind permission of the respective incumbents these rings of bells were placed at the disposal of the members throughout the day. Divine service was held at 12.30 p.m. at St. Peter Mancroft, when Canon F. J. Meyrick (Vicar) officiated, and the address was given by the Rev. Roger Bulstrode, Rector of Holy Trinity, Heigham, Norwich, on the text, 'The hearing ear, and the seeing eye, the Lord hath made even both of them' (Proverbs xx. 12). In Snowdon's 'Rope Sight,' said the preacher, 'the writer speaks of the power of noticing the ropes' as 'the foundation of all change ringing.' He also says that 'side by side with finding his way amongst the ropes, a ringer must strive so to catch the rhythm or beat of the time, and so impress his mind and ear with it that he finds himself working both in mental and muscular sympathy with it.' In other words, a ringer must have all his faculties alert, especially those of mind and ear and eye. Those present to-day will not fail to see the bearing of my text on the ringers' art. They know by experience the close application, the long apprenticeship that is needed before the art is mastered, and even intricate methods become almost second nature. But even then, I am very sure, vigilance can never be relaxed. Watch a company of good ringers, and there will be no fuss or anxiety—you will not see the wild and anxious look that often comes into the eye of a beginner—but you can see that each ringer has his senses alert, counting his place, listening for the lead, and glancing at the rope to be followed. I was tempted to choose as a text Nehemiah i. 6, as a good motto for ringers, 'Let thine ear now be attentive and thine eyes open,' but I felt it was unjustifiable, as the words form part of a prayer to the Almighty, not an exhortation to His servants. It is a high privilege to preach at this service in this ancient home of ringing. As a ringer, I can only speak as a learner, but as a minister of Christ I can welcome the opportunity of addressing you as fellow-workers in His Church; and whereas in a belfry some are experts, some learners, here in the service of God we shall feel we must all take our place as learners, often more beginners and bunglers, but at least, I trust, keen, anxious to improve and to offer something better and more worthy than we have done. It is therefore from the point of view of the learner only that I would speak on the two parts of our subject. (i.) The hearing ear. The young ringer cannot be expected to 'hear' the bells in the same way that an old ringer can. He cannot, perhaps, even pick out the sound of his own bell, but there is one thing that the youngest ringer can and must do: he must listen to the voice of the instructor. Carelessness or inattention here is unpardonable. When he makes a mistake, he may be unable to correct it, but the conductor's instant shout (and conductors have been known to speak 'rather sharply' to beginners!) may enable him to recover and avoid disaster. Best of all, perhaps, is the presence of some old ringer who will 'stand behind' him, and whenever he sees signs of doubt or hesitation will just quietly give the needed instruction: 'After the 5th at hand, 6th at back; now you're leading,' etc. Does this familiar scene in the belfry ever remind you of the voice of our divine instructor, Who once said, 'Learn of Me,' 'Be My disciples,' and whose voice, gentle or stern as needed, will whisper in our ear and guide us through life? He is the Teacher, and the wise learner will have his ear attentive, and say, 'Speak, Lord, for Thy servant heareth.' (ii.) The seeing eye. This may remind us that ringing is team work. We must watch the other ropes and take our own place unobtrusively. Unselfishness should be a virtue of the belfry. A selfish ringer spoils the spirit of the belfry, as a bad ringer spoils the music of the bells. The 'seeing eye' must also be kept on the conductor. 'I will guide thee with mine eye,' is the divine promise, but only the willing, watchful pupil can be so guided. If the art of change ringing is intricate, how much more intricate is the art of life! We dare not trust our own wisdom; we know too well how often we have failed. 'Looking unto Jesus,' keeping our eyes fixed upon Him, is the only secret by which we can be sure of bringing the bells safely 'home' at the end of our course.

THE NEW PRESIDENT.

Luncheon was served at Messrs. Ashworth and Pike's Restaurant, Davey Place, the Rev. Canon F. J. Meyrick presiding, supported by the Rev. Roger Bulstrode, Mr. Charles E. Borrett (vice-president), Mr. Arthur L. Coleman (secretary and treasurer), Messrs. G. P. Burton, W. L. Duffield, and W. C. Duffield (members of the committee), and Messrs. W. B. Duncan, R. W. Cooke, Ben S. Thompson (district secretaries), and forty-four members.

The toast, 'The King,' was proposed by the Chairman, and duly honoured. Following the loyal toast, the members stood in silence in tribute to the pious memory of their former president, the late Dean of Norwich, the Very Rev. John Wakefield Willink, D.D.

The annual business meeting then followed. Canon F. J. Meyrick presided, and welcomed the members. He said that in his own church the Guild was one of the strongest organisations he had at St. Peter Mancroft.

The annual report dealt in detail with the work of the Guild during the year 1927. The membership had increased by 28, making a total of 801. Reference to the death of the president (the Dean of Norwich) was signified as follows: 'We may safely say that the Guild has never had to record the loss of such an ideal and honoured leader in the whole of its history.'

The balance sheet showed a balance of 2s. 2d. in hand. The total receipts amounted to £147 3s. 4d., and the expenditure £147 1s. 2d. It was resolved that the report and balance sheet be adopted.

Mr. Arthur L. Coleman proposed, and Mr. John Moy seconded, on behalf of the committee, that the Archdeacon of Norwich, the Venerable George Martins MacDermott, M.A., be elected president of the Guild in succession to the late Very Rev. the Dean of Norwich. Mr. Coleman said that he was quite sure that in the Archdeacon of Norwich they would have a splendid president and a worthy successor to Dean Willink. He (Mr. Coleman) thought the choice of the committee in nominating the Archdeacon of Norwich as president a very happy one. He would be in touch, not only with the clergy, but now with the ringers also.—The proposition was agreed to unanimously.

The vice-presidents were re-elected, Mr. Arthur L. Coleman was re-elected secretary and treasurer, and Mr. G. P. Burton was also re-elected hon. auditor. The committee were re-elected en bloc.—The Secretary moved the ratification of one belfry election, four re-elections and the election of nineteen new members, and these were duly elected.

It was resolved that the Whit Monday meeting be held at Fakenham and the August Bank Holiday meeting at Great Yarmouth.

COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE PROPOSED CHANGES.

With a view to increasing the efficiency of the Guild, the committee had recommended that three divisions, coterminous with the area of the Norwich, Norfolk and Lynn Archdeaconries, should take the place of the eleven existing districts. It was thought that by the formation of a committee consisting of a chairman, secretary and committee for each division, the members would be brought into closer touch with the work of the Guild, and that as an aid to their advancement in the art of change ringing some system of instruction should be arranged for by that committee. The project was explained by Mr. Coleman, who suggested that the Archdeacons should be asked to act as chairmen of the respective divisional committees.

It was pointed out by Mr. G. P. Burton that the matter required very careful consideration, and the old foundations should not be disturbed until the new scheme was proved workable. After all, he said, the Guild had gone on for 51 years, and to postpone the matter would not disturb its existence.

The Chairman said that the Guild was suffering, as were many other societies, from the diocese being so scattered. The proposed scheme required most careful thought, and he advised that a small committee should draw up a report on the matter.

In this connection it was suggested that a meeting should be held at King's Lynn during the month of October. After further discussion it was agreed to refer the matter to the committee, and to instruct them to get into touch with the ringers of West Norfolk to obtain their views on the scheme.

A vote of thanks was passed to Canon F. J. Meyrick for presiding, and this concluded the meeting. The members then adjourned to the belfries for further ringing. They were joined by latecomers, making a total attendance of members of over sixty for the day.

BARNESLEY AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

A monthly meeting of the Barnsley and District Association was held at Crofton, Wakefield. The village is possessed of a model church, built in the 14th century Gothic style, and is cruciform in plan, with centre tower. The whole is beautiful in proportions, although small in size. The ringers stand on the floor of church under the tower in sight of everyone in church, and the bells are one of the very best rings of six, with a tenor of 14 cwt.

The Vicar (Rev. H. Brownrigg) gave a hearty welcome to the association early in the afternoon, and evinced a fatherly interest in the whole proceedings. Members attended from Pontefract, Felkirk, Horbury, Sandal, Wath, Shelley, Barnsley, and a full muster of local ringers.

Tea was partaken of in the church Sunday School, about 40 sitting down.

The Vicar presided at the business meeting, at which the coming cup contest at Hoylandswaine came under review. Further particulars are to be given at an early date.

A summer meeting at headquarters (Barnsley), at which the Bishop of Wakefield is expected to be present, is under serious consideration, and everything points to a favourable meeting in due course. Messrs. C. Ward, Welsh, P. Morley, Briggs, A. Taylor, and G. H. Cook were elected members, and these, with other members of Crofton tower, form the greatest number from one company in one tower.

Heartly votes of thanks were given to the Vicar, churchwardens, Church Council, and local ringers for all the kindness bestowed so freely on the association.—The Vicar and Mr. Churchwarden Stead replied.

RINGERS' WEDDING.

The wedding of two members of the Worcestershire Association took place last Saturday, when at Hinton-on-the-Green, Gloucestershire, Miss Alice Victoria Lampitt, a regular service ringer at Hinton, was married to Mr. Ralph Harris, the leader of the ringers at the neighbouring village of Elmley Castle. In honour of the event a quarter-peal of Grandshire Doubles was rung at Hinton by J. D. Johnson 1, J. Hemming 2, Miss Rosalie Johnson 3, F. J. Johnson (conductor) 4, G. J. Hemming 5. In the evening the bells at Elmley Castle were also rung.

RE-OPENING OF THE HOUGHTON-LE-SPRING BELLS.

The two new trebles to complete the octave at Houghton-le-Spring, Durham, were dedicated on Saturday afternoon, April 7th, by the Bishop of Durham. The old six, dated 1826, have been to the Croydon Bell Foundry and tuned, and the whole have been hung on ball bearings in a new 'H' cast-iron frame on new steel joists. The tone and 'go' is all that can be desired. The bells were seen and heard at Croydon at the 'All England' ringers' meeting, and so no further description is necessary here.

The service was held at 3 o'clock, when the fine old cruciform church, with its massive central tower, was filled to its utmost capacity. The Rector (the Rev. Ralph Watson) conducted the service, assisted by the Rev. F. B. R. Wilcox and the Rev. F. Owen. Other robed clergy present were the Revs. L. W. Trotman (Bishop's chaplain), the Rev. W. W. Adamson, and the Rev. W. L. Law. The Bishop gave a very interesting address, and said a good, skilled, loyal company of ringers in a parish was a great help to its higher life, if only they would look upon their ringing as what it truly was—the service of God. It was really as much part of the service as the singing of the choir or the worship of the congregation.

The two new troubles were sounded at the dedication, and after the service the bells were kept going in various methods until 9 p.m., with an interval at 5 o'clock for tea, when ladies of the congregation very kindly looked after the ringers sitting round the festive board. The ladies had really been very badly treated, for six ringers notified their intention of being present, but some 40 sat down. It is to be hoped the delinquents' ears are burning, and that they will mend their ways.

Fortunately, the weather was very kind on this occasion.

The following towers were represented: Durham and Newcastle Cathedrals, Durham (St. Oswald's and St. Ignatius'), Sunderland (St. John's), Darlington, Shildon, Gateshead, Tanfield, Jesmond, Whitley Bay, West Hartlepool, Cheshire-le-Street, Staundrop, Willington, and the local ringers. Houghton-le-Spring have now a very handy peal, and great things are expected from them in the future.

REDEDICATION OF ST. PETER'S BELLS, NORTHAMPTON
A SUCCESSFUL RESTORATION SCHEME.

On Thursday, March 29th, a notable event occurred in the history of St. Peter's Church, Northampton, when the peal of eight bells, cast by Abraham Rudhall in 1734, were rededicated by the Bishop of Peterborough (Dr. Claude Blagden).

Messrs. Gillett and Johnston were entrusted with the work of re-tuning the bells (tenor 123 cwt. in the key of F), rehanging them with new fittings throughout in the existing wooden frame, which has been placed on two steel supporting girders, making renewals to the clock climbing apparatus and regilding the clock face. In addition the walls of the tower have been strengthened by the provision of angle bonds.

A large congregation attended the rededication service, among those taking part in the procession being the St. Peter's ringers, with the Master of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, Mr. F. Wilford, and Mr. J. C. Dean, of the All Saints' company of ringers, the latter gentleman having served on the Bells Restoration Committee.

The Bishop performed the ceremony, after which the St. Peter's company rang a course of Stedman Triples: W. J. Dove 1, H. E. Sibler 2, S. J. Lawrence 3, A. Slade 4, W. R. Parker 5, W. Sturgess 6, W. H. Austin 7, J. Wilkins 8. Then followed an inspiring address by the Bishop, during which he said: 'It is a great achievement to be able to look back upon work as being finished. Most of our work is so lamentably incomplete. But you are granted that happiness. You know, too, that the work has been well and truly finished; and in later years you will be able to look back with pride upon what you did in 1928? 'And,' continued the Bishop, 'what of the future? What had been accomplished in unity was surely going to be an example for the time to come.'

After the service, touches in standard methods were rung in the limited time available, many visiting ringing friends taking part, and all expressed great appreciation of the work carried out by the bell founders (who were represented by Captain Howard Freeborn), the tone of the bells being very much improved, and the 'go' really excellent.

During the restoration work, when the wooden frame was raised to insert the steel girders, it was discovered that part of the bottom of the frame was decayed to such an extent that work had to be suspended until that portion was renewed. This meant the insertion of two oak beams and accompanying struts, and the rehanging work was thereby delayed for many days whilst the new beams were slotted and fixed. It is worthy of note that although this delay was, of course, unforeseen, Messrs. Gillett and Johnston ably kept their promise to have the job completed by the opening date, but it meant working late hours towards the finish.

St. Peter's is a very poor parish, and it is very gratifying, indeed, to know that, thanks to the generous support of the congregation and outside friends of town and county, nearly the whole of the money required for this restoration has been raised.

HAGDOURNE, BERKS.—On Easter Monday, Thurstan's quarter-peal of Stedman Triples: W. E. Napper 1, J. S. Napper 2, H. J. Balcombe 3, E. Humphrey 4, R. T. Hibbert 5, R. G. Rice 6, F. W. Hopgood (conductor) 7, W. A. Goodenough 8.

'IRENÆUS PISTOR'S' THANKS

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I have to-day (Friday, the 20th inst.) received P.O. bank book, with a deposit of £166 18s. placed to my credit, which, with the £35 already received by me, makes a sum total of £201 18s.

In acknowledging receipt, one feels too full to dictate a fitting letter of appreciation. It is, however, my bounden duty to offer my thanks, and not only my, but the grateful thanks of mine, to our ringing friends in the British Isles, the Dominion of Canada, New Zealand, and the United States of America.

Really, it is impossible to express in full our heartfelt thanks. 'Our' is the most happy word one can use, for at 22, Hawthorn Road, it is 'our' in everything. Your brotherly sympathy, spoken, written and practical, speak of Freemasonry and savour of Christianity in its purest form. The response on my behalf to your appeal has proved beyond doubt that, even if there be no Lodge of Freemasons associated with the art and science of ringing, there is the essence of one permeating the Exercise, which has risen, and will rise again, to the occasion if a brother or sister of the Exercise is in adversity.

In offering thanks, one feels that it would be most ungrateful if one failed to give appreciative acknowledgment, through the medium of 'The Ringing World,' to my dear old friend 'Nemo,' who (secretly) wrote to the Editor, and who is equally as full of emotion and gratitude as I am myself. To him and Mr. J. S. Goldsmith I owe a debt, for not only has the latter appealed on my behalf, but he has made himself responsible for every incidental expense in connection with the fund, after the donations had reached him. He is a 'ringing gentleman,' who, I hope, will cast aside diffidence, and will not delete my written opinion, and that of 'Nemo' and others.

Brothers and sisters of the Exercise, from the bottom of my heart I thank you for your practical sympathy, which gives one heart and courage to 'drain the bitter cup,' ever mindful that the things one has seen were but temporal, and, beautiful as they seemed, I do believe that they are incomparable with those glories we are to see in the life eternal. Again, profound thanks from yours sincerely,

ALFRED T. BAKER.

AN ACROSTIC.

'JOHN SPARKES GOLDSMITH.'

7-8-7-8.

John, our thanks are due to you
On behalf of 'Irenæus':
He, his wife, and daughter too,
No need to say, join in with us.

Sustenance to those in need;
Pressing duty, kindly taken,
Asking nothing; this, indeed,
Real thanks in all ringers waken.

Kindly, then, accept our thanks,
Effervescing, running over;
Sincere gratitude all ranks
Give to you, from 'Gloats' to Dover.

Our friend 'Irenæus,' now,
Loving wife, and loving daughter,
Do no longer have to bow;
Sorrow's fled, re-enter laughter.

May the years find Alf content
In his home with wife and daughter;
There's still one trait, worth comment:
He was born creating laughter.

VETERAN SHIPLAKE RINGER'S DEATH.

On Wednesday, April 4th, there was laid to rest in the churchyard at Shiplake, Oxon, the mortal remains of Walter Wenman, who died in his 71st year, and was a ringer at Shiplake Church for 53 years. A fine striker, the deceased gained his early tuition from that famous conductor, the late Mr. Henry Haley, who in the early '70's was engaged by the then Vicar to train the local ringers in the art of change ringing. Mr. Wenman probably held the record for distance walked to and from the belfry. He lived three miles from the church, and during his prime never missed a service or practice.

The 'whole pull and stand' was rung after the service, and then Shipway's 546 Grandsire Triples with the bells half-muffled. The deceased had rung several peals of Grandsire Triples.

At the present time this beautiful country churchyard is full of bloom, with primroses and scented violets. The ringers' wreath was inscribed with the following:—

53 YEARS A RINGER AT THIS CHURCH.

Walley, our love, peacefully rest. Adieu!
Sweet violets blue, primrose true, bloom beneath the yew,
Not raised by human hands; God's monuments for you.
To you, Adieu, Adieu!

[CLEVELAND & NORTH YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

The Easter meeting was held at Whitby on Bank Holiday, when there was a good gathering from the following towers: Robin Hood's Bay, Skelton, Middlesbrough, Stockton-on-Tees, Darlington (St. John's), and the local company. Dinner was provided at Hood's Marino Cafe, and presided over by the vice-president, Mr. G. F. Alexander, supported by the vice-president (Mr. W. Newton), and the hon. secretary (Mr. T. Metcalfe). The bells (ten, with tenor 17 cwt.) were kept going from about 11 a.m. until about eight in the evening to Grandsire Triples, Stedman Triples, Kent Treble Bob Major, Double Norwich Major, Grandsire Caters, Stedman Caters, and Kent Treble Bob Royal, everyone getting a good share of ringing.

Several new members were elected, and a hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Rector and churchwardens for allowing the association the use of the church and bells.

THE 18½ TON RINGING BELL, the Bourdon of the Carillon of 64 Bells, about to be installed at RIVERSIDE CHURCH, NEW YORK, U.S.A.

BELLS WITHOUT RINGERS.

In the annual report of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild attention is called to the fact that, out of 98 towers in union with the organisation, over 40 have not sufficient ringers to ring all their bells for services. This is a state of affairs which, we are afraid, is common to nearly all our associations, and the actual position is really worse than this, for there are still many towers unaffiliated because they are without ringers, or possessed of only a few indifferent ones. It is only another version of the story so often told, of the difficulty of finding new ringers—a difficulty which, so far as can be seen, is likely to be ever present. At any rate, no solution of the problem has yet been found, but that is no reason why we should not go on trying.

It is really lamentable that valuable instruments should hang in church towers and be allowed to fall practically into disuse and often become derelict, because sufficient interest cannot be aroused to produce ringers to utilise them. A good deal of the fault, and we say it advisedly, lies with the church authorities. There are hundreds of churches where large sums are spent on the organ, substantial payment is made to an organist, and every effort made to maintain an efficient choir; yet not a finger is lifted to ensure the proper ringing of the bells as a preliminary to the services. In hundreds of other churches the same conditions would prevail but for the ringers themselves, who are for ever seeking to improve their skill, and to keep their ranks filled. If the organ failed or half the choir was absent from one service, clergy, churchwardens and congregation would want to know the reason why; yet almost equally costly instruments, such as bells are, may fall into disrepair, or there may be only half a company of ringers to handle them, but who cares?

This barrier of indifference on the part of church authorities in so many places has got to be broken down and it is the ringers and the associations who will have to do it. A little plain speaking may not always be relished, but it would often do good. Church authorities should realise that it is as much their obligation to see that the bells are properly rung as it is to ensure that the Psalms are properly sung. The efficiency of the ringers is as important as the efficiency of the choir, and it is the duty of the church authorities to find recruits for the one as much as for the other. The clergy are in touch with the young life of their parishes and their influence ought to be used to find ringers as well as choristers. They could succeed, where no one else could, but it is for the ringers or the associations to bring home a realisation of this duty to the parsons. In some cases, it may be, the clergy only need tactful prompting, but where RESTORATION OF CALNE BELLS.

TWENTY TOWERS REPRESENTED AT GUILD MEETING

The bells of St. Mary's Church, Calne, Wilts, have been rehung in ball bearings, and a new third bell, the gift of the Marquis of Lansdowne, has been provided. The old third bell has been placed in an oak frame on the floor of the church, with its history inscribed on a plate attached to the frame. This action provides a good example to other church authorities when dealing with historic bells.

On Saturday, at the invitation of the Ven. Archdeacon Coulter, a ringers' gathering was held at Calne. Touches of Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob, Treble Bob and Double Norwich were rung, as well as 'Churchyard Bob' for the local men. Ringers to the number of 50 were present from 20 different towers, Bridport, Bishop's Hull and Ilminster being the farthest points from which they came. Everyone agreed that Messrs. Mears and Stainbank had carried out the work quite well, considering the difficulties under which they laboured, owing to the movement of the tower when the bells are ringing, and the ungainly size and construction of the existing oak frame, which was retained. Although the bells go well, it was the general opinion that it would have been much better had the bells been brought down below the louvres. This, however, would have meant, perhaps, a new frame.

A meeting of the Calne Branch of the Salisbury Guild was held after tea at Maslen's Restaurant, presided over by the Rev. N. V. White, chairman of the branch. Bremhill was selected for the next meeting on May 26th.

The ringers desire to thank the Archdeacon for the use of the bells, also the agent for presiding at the organ. A very enjoyable afternoon was spent.

Calne has a peal of eight bells with a tenor of 26 cwt. in D flat.

THE SILVER BELL FOR H.M.S. 'NELSON.' A MELLOW AND SWEET NOTE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Following on my letter of some months ago, I am enclosing a letter from the head of the firm of Messrs. Reid and Sons, Newcastle-on-Tyne, silversmiths and jewellers, who have carried through the contract for the presentation of a silver bell to H.M.S. 'Nelson' from the citizens of Newcastle, where the vessel was built. I have had full permission from Mr. C. Leo Reid to send it to you for publication, and it gives some very interesting details.

At his request I compared the two small experimental castings at their shop, and the tone of the silver bell, though not so strong as that of bell metal, was very much mellow and sweeter, but about three or four notes down in the scale.

I have been down to-day to see the finished article, and it is a very beautiful casting, highly polished and burnished, except on the crown, below the cannons, where it is left in a 'matt' condition. It is of a good, modern, elegant shape and thickness, and evidently has been cast by an expert in molten silver.

It is 20in. in height from lip to crown, with a base width of 19in., and weighs 2,749 ozs., Troy, that is, 1 cwt. 2 qr. 21 lb. avoirdupois. Even the tongue is of solid silver, the rod being 3in. in diameter and the ball 3in. across. It ends in a 'holed' flight with a tassel of silk rope for striking purposes. The inscription is to be engraved on it later, but will be of the simplest description. It gives out the note of B flat, but my untutored ear could not grasp whether the graduations of tone were true as I struck the bell from sound-bow to waist and crown.

It would be interesting to know from one of our expert founders what note a bell of equal size and weight would give out if cast in bell metal.

I may repeat here (from my last letter on the subject) that 'solid silver,' as the silversmith knows it, is really 925 parts of pure silver to 75 parts of a copper alloy.

The 'Nelson' is putting into port here in September formally to receive the gift, and meanwhile Messrs. Reid, Blackett Street, are willing to show anyone the bell, which is now hanging by rope in a temporary frame.

I may add that the tone, contrary to my original expectations, is both mellow and sweet, and fairly strong. At the same time I think it a wise provision to have the bell 'wireless' to every wardroom on the ship, otherwise it would not be heard over so enormous a vessel.—Yours faithfully,

C. L. ROUTLEDGE.

The letter from Mr. C. Leo Reid, of Messrs. Reid and Sons, to Mr. Routledge, is as follows:—

"Thanks for your letter and enclosure of cutting with regard to the silver bell from the paper, 'The Ringing World.' I quite agree with yourself and the authorities with regard to the mixture of silver in bells of ordinary bell metal. I have Lord Grimthorpe's book on 'Clocks, Watches and Bells,' but a mixture of bell metal and silver has nothing whatever to do with this case.

We have made the experiments of casting two bells—one of ordinary bell metal, and the other of ordinary standard silver, and the tone of the ordinary standard silver bell is good and clear. I am quite aware that there is a good deal of superstition about the use of silver in peals of bells, and also that there is a considerable difficulty in getting the tones in peals—Westminster, Cambridge, or other chimes—but this is a single bell, and a particular note is of no great importance.

If you like to call in we have the two castings, and you can hear the notes of the two for yourself. I think you would be interested. The mixture of metals such as bronze, copper, and silver in an ordinary peal of church bells, for instance, may be a somewhat dubious experiment, but there is no doubt that a bell of standard silver will give out a good, clear, ringing note, and on the "Lord Nelson," being a huge battleship, the note of the bell is transmitted by a microphone through wireless to every mess, wardroom, magazine, and other parts of the vessel."

SUFFOLK GUILD.

On Saturday, April 14th, the Sudbury-Clare District of the Suffolk Guild held a very successful meeting at Sudbury. For bells, Sudbury is, perhaps, better endowed than any town of its size in the country. There are three peals of eight, with tenors 16 cwt., 23 cwt., and 28 cwt. respectively, that of All Saints' (28 cwt.) being a splendid peal.

A representative gathering of ringers was present, and the members had the pleasure of welcoming Mr. W. J. Nevard, of Great Bentley, and ringers from Cambridge, Colchester, Lavenham, Long Melford, Lawshall, Fulbourne, Manningtree, Sible Hedingham, Wickham St. Paul's, as well as Sudbury.

At tea, the party were joined by the Rector of Sudbury (the Rev. Garrett-Johnson) and the Vicar of All Saints' (the Rev. W. Stote).

The Rector and the Vicar both gave the ringers a hearty welcome to Sudbury, to which Mr. Nevard responded on behalf of the ringers.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Clare, another eight-bell peal with a 28 cwt. tenor, the date being left to the district secretary.

After tea other visitors arrived, and the bells were rung to some excellent touches.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

SOUTH-WESTERN DIVISION NOW OVER 200 STRONG.

In beautiful summer-like weather over 50 members from Leytonstone, Romford, Loughton, Bishopsgate (St. Botolph's), Brentwood, Bentley, Wanstead, Stapleford, Springfield, Walthamstow (St. Saviour's), with the local band, attended the meeting of the South-Western Division at Woodford on Saturday last. The bells were set going at 2.30 p.m., and ringing in various methods was kept up till 5 p.m., when those present attended service, conducted by the Vicar, after which an adjournment was made to the Memorial Hall for tea and business meeting presided over by the Vicar, supported by the District Master (Mr. A. Prior).

Seven new ringers were elected members, thus bringing the number in the South-Western Division to over 200.—Both North Ockenden and Loughton were proposed as the place for the next meeting, and it was decided by a large majority to pay a visit to North Ockenden, if possible, on Saturday, June 23rd next.

A motion congratulating the Leytonstone band on their accomplishment of a peal of Spliced Surprise Minor in 22 methods, and also one congratulating the members of the Woodford band on the progress they are making with their young ringers, was carried unanimously.

The meeting concluded with a vote of thanks to the Vicar of Woodford (the Rev. F. J. Albery) for allowing use of his tower and bells, and presiding at tea and meeting, to Mr. Todd for accompanying the hymns on the organ, to Mr. C. Moss, of the Woodford band, for having everything in readiness, and to the ladies for kindly giving their services at the tea.—This was responded to by the Vicar, who gave the members a hearty welcome to Woodford, and expressed the hope that in the near future he would be privileged to meet them again.

During the afternoon and evening, touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, Double Court, Cambridge and London and Spliced Surprise Minor were rung, all present expressing the opinion that the meeting was one of the best they had attended.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Ely Archdeaconry was held at Fulbourn on Saturday last, when members were present from Bourn, Cambridge, Ickleton, Long Stanton, Newmarket, Over, Sawston, Willingham, and the local band, including the Rev. R. Copeman (general secretary), the Rev. H. B. Woolley, Mr. T. R. Dennis and Mr. E. G. Hibbins. In the absence of the Vicar (the Rev. T. H. Hennessey), the Rev. H. B. Woolley kindly took the service. Tea was served at the Six Bells, 18 sitting down. The Revs. R. Copeman and H. B. Woolley were unable to stop for business meeting, and Mr. T. R. Dennis was elected to the chair.

It was proposed to hold next meeting at Castle Camps.

Votes of thanks were accorded the Vicar for use of the bells and Mr. B. D. Buttress for making arrangements. It was regretted Mr. A. E. Austen, Mr. E. H. Finch and Miss Willers were unable to attend.

The methods rung included Bob Major, Kent, Double Norwich, Stedman and Grandsire.

PEAL BOARDS AT DORE.

The peal of Bob Major (composed by J. R. Pritchard and conducted by J. E. Lewis Cockey), rung at Dore on September 24th, 1927, to commemorate the founding of the diocese of Derby, has been recorded in the ringing chamber by a handsome oak tablet, French polished and gilded, executed by Mr. H. W. Westlake, church decorator, of Sheffield. The tablet is a striking one, and is headed by the arms of the new See, followed by the headings, 'The Yorkshire and the Midland Counties Associations of Change Ringers,' 'Ad Majorem Dei Gloriam,' and the following inscription, 'This board, provided by the below-named ringers, members of the above associations, records a peal of 5,056 changes of Bob Major rung on these bells on Saturday, September 24th, 1927, in 3 hrs. 9 mins., in order to commemorate the founding of the diocese of Derby, and the appointment thereto of Dr. Edmund Courtenay Pearce, as first Bishop.' Then follow in the usual manner the names of the ringers, composer, conductor, Vicar and wardens.

The above forms a pair with a similar tablet recently presented by the Rev. E. S. Powell, recording the first peal on the bells, and the first on tower bells for the Yorkshire Association to be conducted by a lady, Miss M. Davenport.

A third tablet, to match the above two, is also proposed, to record the first peal of Grandsire on the bells, and the first by an entirely local company, the peal being Vicars' six-part recently conducted by Mr. Norman Short.

Two other interesting additions, presented by Mr. Cockey, are an oak frame containing a series of eight 'Ringing World' peal cards, each one recording a peal of Bob Major for the Yorkshire Association, each being a learner's peal, and in each of which the donor has taken a different bell. The conductors named are Messrs. A. Craven (2), F. Watkinson (2), J. E. L. Cockey (2), the late Sam Thomas (1), and Miss M. Davenport (1). Also, a fine illuminated record by Mr. T. Lee, of Norlon, amplifying one of the above peals, rung fully muffled in memory of the late Sir Edwyn Hoskyns, Bart., for 21 years Bishop of Southwell, composed and conducted by Mr. A. Craven.

In a recent letter to Mr. Cockey, the Bishop of Derby expresses the hope that it may be possible to dedicate the above on his first visit to Dore.

WARWICKSHIRE GUILD.A VOTE AGAINST PEAL DIPLOMAS.

The 21st annual meeting of the Warwickshire Guild was held at Nuneaton on Saturday, April 21st, about 40 members being present. After ringing on the Parish Church bells, the Guild's service was held, the president, the Rev. J. L. White, officiating. His address and welcome were much appreciated by the members, as also were the services of Mr. Baker (organist) and his choir. Tea, held in the schoolroom, was again given by the president, and ably served by Mesdames Chapman, Argyle, Wilkinson and Billington.

At the meeting which followed tea, the whole of the officers were re-elected, with the exception of Mr. W. Male, district secretary for Warwick, in whose place Mr. W. Collett was elected.

Six new members (three honorary and three ringing members) were added to the roll.—Lillington was selected for the May meeting, Fillongley for June, and Southam for the quarterly meeting in July. As a report is only issued every two years, the Secretary read a summary of accounts, which showed a small increase in the balance in hand, which stands at £14 17s. 2d.

The Central Council's agenda was considered, and a discussion took place on the question of diplomas for first peals. Mr. James George emphatically condemned the idea, and eventually it was agreed to ask the Guild's representatives to vote against the proposal at the Council's meeting.

A hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, etc., to Mr. Baker (organist), and to the ladies brought the meeting to a close, and the members adjourned to the towers of the Parish Church and Chilvers Coton for further ringing. Many methods were rung during the day, including Bristol and London Surprise.

ST. GEORGE'S DAY AT COLCHESTER.

At St. Peter's Church, Colchester, on Sunday, April 22nd, on the occasion of the annual church parade by the Mayor and members of the Council, supported by the officers of the garrison and public officials, and preceded by the silver drums and band of the Essex Regiment, the bells were rung by members of the local company before service, and on Monday, St. George's Day, throughout the morning and evening, when touches of Bob Major, Double Norwich, 1,264 Oxford Treble Bob, Grandsire and Steadman Triples, were successfully brought round. Those taking part were Messrs. R. W. Stannard, F. L. Bumpstead, W. Chalk, H. Evers, E. P. Duffield, G. Rashbrook, H. T. Pye, G. Dent, W. J. Schofield (local members), also S. Moss and G. W. Moss, of Mistley, Fisher, of Framlingham, and H. E. Finch, of St. Leonard's, Hythe, the last-named ringing his first touch of Major.

ICKLETON'S FETE.

A big effort is to be made in Ickleton to clear off the debt on the bell restoration fund, for which £120 is required, and a fete is being organised for May 26th.

Dr. Yorke Moore is training lads to play tunes on handbells, and it is proposed to visit the villages round, to play and advertise the event.

There will be a great variety of attractions, including a band, a concert party, dancing and whippet racing.

The bells will be open for ringing throughout the afternoon and evening, and it is hoped that ringers from a wide area will attend.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

A very successful meeting of the Biggleswade District was held at Old Warden on Saturday, April 14th, ringers being present from Biggleswade, Clifton, Southill, Northill, Roston, Everton, Sandy, Letchworth, Offley, Great Shelford and Crawley.

Rev. H. P. Higham, of Eaton Socon, presided at the business meeting, at which two hon. members (the Rector of Old Warden, Rev. F. Stooke, and the Rector of Clifton, Rev. R. M. La Porte Payne) and one non-resident member (Mr. D. C. Mears, School House, Offley, Hitchin, Herts) were elected.—It was proposed to hold the next meeting at Southill.—Thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and Rev. H. P. Higham for presiding, brought the business meeting to a close.

The methods rung during the afternoon and evening were Cambridge Surprise, Woodbine, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Double Oxford and Plain Bob, with Bob Doubles and Grandsire Doubles for the benefit of the younger ringers.

WEDDING BELLS.

At Sharnbrook, Beds, on April 25th, for the wedding of Miss Sylvia Newell, of Sharnbrook, and Mr. Frank Bosworth, of Liddington, 720 Oxford Treble Bob, 360 Cambridge Surprise, 360 Woodbine, 360 Oxford Treble Bob, 360 Double Court, 240 Kent Treble Bob, 240 Plain Bob, and three leads of Kent were rung by the following: W. Surridge, C. H. Surridge, R. C. Allen, E. C. Allen, F. Allen, W. Cooper, and G. Bell, who belong to the local band.

In honour of the wedding of Mr. H. Pendry (a member of the local band), which took place that day, 420 Grandsire Triples was rung at Pinner on April 23rd: W. Crowsley 1, G. M. Kilby (conductor) 2, C. Lord 3, T. Collins 4, A. E. Millett 5, J. C. Jackson 6, H. Kilby 7, R. Colyer 8.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Canon Elsee, who has been for some time past in South Africa, recently visited Durban, where he was able to ring with the local company. A touch of Grandsire Triples was, however, as much as could be managed.

An appeal is being made on the Rand for £14,000 to complete St. Mary's Cathedral, Johannesburg. All the money required for the nave and chancel and the interior furnishing has been forthcoming, and the additional sum is required for the tower and a peal of 13 bells.

'Many happy returns' to George Williams, that veteran with over a thousand peals, who will be 71 next Monday.

The anniversary of one of the long peals for which Painswick is famous occurs to-morrow, for it was on May 5th, 1817, that 12,312 Grandsire Caters was rung there in 7 hrs. 44 mins.

The first peal of 'Grandsire Bob Maximus' was rung at Southwark on May 7th, 1792.

Forty years ago next Monday a peal of 10,176 Kent Treble Bob Major was rung at Foxearth, Essex.

Edmonton bells were opened on May 8th, 1788, by a band of Cumberland Youths with a peal of 5,280 Oxford Treble Bob Major, composed and conducted by John Reeves.

On May 10th, 1777, the Cumberlands rang the 10,200 Treble Bob Royal at Shoreditch, which was another stage in the rivalry for the record which they carried on for many years with the College Youths.

Mr. C. H. Howard, the esteemed Master of the Essex Association, has been seriously ill, but, we are pleased to say, is now recovering.

The East Grinstead and District Guild, which exists for promoting change ringing among the towers within a radius of ten miles of this North Sussex town, is doing its best to organise practice meetings. As the area covered by the Guild extends into three counties (Sussex, Surrey and Kent) it has been found difficult sometimes not to clash with the meetings of the county associations. The first report of the committee shows the Guild to be in a satisfactory financial position.

A FACULTY REFUSED.

TILSWORTH MAY NOT HAVE BELLS RECAST.

A correspondent writes from Leighton Buzzard: I should like to bring before your readers the plight of the little village of Tilsworth, Beds. In the year 1908-9 the Rev. T. Green (Vicar) had the tower thoroughly restored at his own expense, in memory of his late wife and only son. The tower contains a peal of five bells, by Emerson, of Wootton, Bedford, which have been in a very bad state of repair for a great number of years. A year or two ago the villagers felt they should like to hear the bells ring again, so they sent out collecting cards, and also held a fete and garden party, with the result that they cleared about £400. The late Vicar, Rev. T. Green, was so pleased at their success that he at once sent them a cheque for £50.

At a meeting of the Church Council they decided to obtain estimates from two well-known firms of bell hangers, both of which advised recasting all the old five bells. At a further meeting of the Council, it was decided to accept the tender of Messrs. Taylor and Co., to recast the old five bells and add a new treble to make a ring of six, to be hung in a new iron frame, and at once to apply for a faculty to put the work in hand.

On applying to the Chancellor, his advisers refused to grant a faculty for the old bells to be recast on account of their antiquity. They also noticed a small crack at the top of the tower, large enough to put a sixpence in edgewise, so they advise the Council to spend £100 of the money on the tower.

The only bricklayer in the village is a member of the Church Council, and he says he should like the job to fill in the crack for £5, and that it is unnecessary to touch it at all, as he very much doubts whether there is a tower in the country that does not show some sign of settlement, and he will never agree to set any of the money on one side that was collected for the recasting and rehangings of the bells.

We understand that the matter is now being further considered.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A most successful meeting was held at King's Walden on Saturday, April 28th, and was favoured by a beautiful afternoon. The meeting was held especially to help the new band of ringers being formed at this tower. Some 40 ringers turned up, and good work was done. The church is situated in one of the most beautiful spots of Hertfordshire, and the churchyard adjoins the magnificent grounds owned by Major Harrison. Everything possible was done to welcome and for the comfort of the ringers, who were allowed to look over the estate, and were entertained to an excellent tea given by Major Harrison. Five new members were made (four of the local band and one life member, namely, Mr. H. Tysoe, of Clapham, Bedfordshire). The Vicar spoke a few words of welcome, and a very hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar and Major Harrison for their kindness. Ringing was kept up until quite a late hour, the place seeming to be too attractive to leave early.

CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS.

In case the earlier publication this year of the Council's agenda has cut out certain motions, those concerned will please note that such motions might be considered under 'other business,' if the Council and time permit.

E. ALEXR. YOUNG,
Hon. Secretary.

P.S.—Guild Secretaries please note that 14 subscriptions are still outstanding.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

NEWBURY BRANCH.

The spring meeting of the Newbury Branch was held at Bucklebury on Saturday, April 21st, when the following towers were represented: Brightwalton, Shaw, East Ilsley, Newbury, Thatcham, and the local ringers. Mr. and Mrs. Lock and Mr. G. Cauldwell, of Abingdon, Mr. Sharpe, of Launton, Bicester, and the general secretary (Mr. R. T. Hibbert) were also present. The Guild service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. E. M. Thorp), who gave a very interesting address. Mrs. G. Davis presided at the organ. Tea was served in the Victory Hall, when 27 sat down.

The business meeting followed, with the Rev. E. M. Thorp in the chair, supported by the branch secretary (Mr. H. W. Curtis). The summer meeting was fixed for June 9th, at Hungerford. Votes of thanks were accorded to the Rev. E. M. Thorp and the organist, Mrs. G. Davis.

The tower was again visited, and several good touches in the following methods were brought round: Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Kent Treble Bob and Cambridge Major.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD.

'SHORT-HANDED' TOWERS.

The Peterborough Diocesan Guild, whose annual report has just been issued, has 98 towers in union, but in 40 of these there are not sufficient ringers to ring all the bells for services. The report says the position has not improved since last year, and needs the co-operation of the incumbent and the ringers in each tower to try to increase the numbers.

The Guild's total membership is 71 hon. members (a decrease of three), 622 ringing members (an increase of three, while 17 of this total are free life members), 153 non-resident life members, making a grand total of 846, an aggregate increase of 10 on the year. The report urges the members to try and make the total a round 1,000 during the coming year, which would be quite possible if all would try to add to the number of ringers in their own tower.

During the year 48 branch meetings were held, and, generally speaking, the attendance has been good, but in one or two cases there would be more encouragement for the branch officials if the members would support them better, especially by attendance at the meetings.

There were 52 peals rung during the year, a decrease of seven on 1926. They were as follows: Stedman Caters 3, Stedman Triples 5, Grandsire Caters 1, Grandsire Triples 2, Bristol Surprise Major 1, Superlative Surprise Major 2, Cambridge Surprise Major 3, Double Norwich Major 1, Kent Treble Bob Major 1, Bob Major 1; Minor in 14 methods 1, 7 methods 9, 6 methods 1, 4 methods 4, 3 methods 1, 1 method 5, Doubles 10, Doubles on handbells 1. The peals were rung in 34 different towers, in four counties, and in five cases it was the first peal on the bells. The number of ringers taking part was 130, of whom 13 rang their first peal, and eleven were presented with certificates for ringing their first peal on a working bell.

Financially the Guild has improved its position, there being an increased balance in hand on general account of £14 10s. 7d., while the belfry repairs fund, which has had no calls on it during the year, has been increased from £69 7s. 5d. to £88 5s. 7d.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD.

PORTSMOUTH DISTRICT'S GROWING MEMBERSHIP.

A quarterly meeting of the Portsmouth District was held at Petersfield on Saturday last, when the glorious weather helped to attract 55 members and friends from Bramshott, Bishop's Waltham, Catherington, Fareham, Gosport, Havant, Hambledon, North Stoneham, Portsmouth (Cathedral and St. Mary's), Petersfield, Swanmore, and visitors from King's Somborne and Blackmoor. The bells were set going at 2.30, and at 4.30 the members attended the Guild service, at which the Vicar of Petersfield (Canon T. H. Masters, C.B.E.) officiated and addressed those present.

An excellent tea was served in St. Peter's Hall, at the conclusion of which the business meeting was held, at which the Vicar presided. Several new members were elected, including the Vicar as an honorary member and six full members from Catherington, five from Steep, with the Vicar as an honorary member, and two from Petersfield, and one probationer from Swanmore.

It was decided to hold the next quarterly meeting at Curdridge on July 21st next, due notice of which will appear in 'The Ringing World.'

On the question of the motion before the Central Council with regard to peal diplomas for young ringers, it was the opinion of the district that the delegates should have a free hand in the matter.

A draft copy of the proposed new rules was placed before the meeting, and a copy distributed to each band for consideration before the annual general meeting. Votes of thanks were accorded the Vicars of Petersfield and Steep for the use of the bells, after which the members returned to the tower for further ringing, which during the day ranged up to Cambridge Surprise Major.

Some of the members made the journey to the picturesque village of Steep, where a handy ring of five were found, and touches of Grandsire, Stedman and Bob Doubles were brought round. It is to be hoped that they will soon be augmented to six.

SOUTHAMPTON DISTRICT.

A quarterly meeting of the Southampton District of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild was held at Eling, on Saturday, April 14th. The peal of six were kept going to Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Bob and Kent Minor. Tea was partaken of at the Anchor Inn, Mr. Geo. Williams (Master) being in the chair, supported by the Vicar of Eling (Rev. T. Thistle), Mr. Geo. Pullinger (general secretary), and members from North Stoneham, Netley, Dibden, Brockenhurst, Lyndhurst, Romsey, Alton, King's Somborne, Reading, and the local band.

At the business meeting after tea, six members of the local band were elected members of the Guild, after which a resolution was passed asking Mr. Williams to support the question of diplomas for young ringers at the next meeting of the Central Council.

A vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar of Eling for the use of the bells, and to the Master for presiding.

The next meeting will be held at Romsey Abbey on Saturday, July 14th, notice of which will be given in 'The Ringing World.'

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION. ROCHESTER DISTRICT.

The Rochester District held a very successful meeting at Tunstall on Saturday. The weather was delightful, and under a cloudless sky this beautiful country village, with its mass of cherry trees in full blossom and its quaint old church, presented a truly pleasing picture. A representative gathering of the district put in an appearance, and the tower was open for ringing at three. The bells were kept going until 5 p.m., when the association service was held, conducted by the Rector of Tunstall, the Rev. G. H. Green, who also gave an address.

An excellent tea had been provided in the Village Hall by the Rector and the local band, at which 54 sat down, presided over by the Rector, who was supported by Col. H. Lumley-Webb and Mr. G. H. Wills, churchwardens.

The business meeting followed, at which Col. H. Lumley-Webb was elected an honorary member, and three practising members were also elected.

For the venue of the next meeting five towers were proposed, and on a vote being taken Hoo was chosen for the last Saturday in July.

It was unanimously decided to hold a by-meeting at Eastchurch, on the Isle of Sheppey, on Saturday, June 9th.

A collection to defray the cost of a wreath to a departed brother realised in all 24s. 6d., which left a balance of 14s., and it was decided to send the balance to 'The Ringing World' for the 'Frenens Pistor' fund.

Mr. W. Haigh (Rochester) said they had met in ideal weather, in an ideal spot, and had been provided with an ideal tea, and he proposed hearty thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells, conducting the service, and for presiding over the meeting, also to the local ringers and the Rector for the tea.—This was heartily carried.

The Rector and Mr. W. Spice, the leader of the ringers, responded, the latter remarking that they had created a fund by fining members for being late for ringing, and that was the way they were spending the money.

The tower was again visited, and Sittingbourne bells were also available for members on their homeward journey, and was taken advantage of by many.

Regrets were expressed at the absence of the Rev. F. J. O. Helmore, the general secretary, who was unfortunately prevented from attending owing to the funeral service of the late Canon Mason, senior Canon at Canterbury.

LEWISHAM DISTRICT.

The quarterly meeting was held at Christ Church, Erith, on Saturday, April 28th. The bells were raised at 3 p.m., and were kept going to various methods ranging from Grandsire Triples to London Surprise. The association form of service was held, the Vicar (Rev. W. E. Bott) and curate (Rev. J. A. Lloyd) officiating, the former giving a very interesting and original address.

Afterwards tea, kindly supplied by friends of the local band, was served in the Church Rooms, about thirty-five members being present.

The business meeting followed, the Vicar presiding. Three new members were elected, and the election of one member previous to a peal was ratified.—Eynsford was chosen as the place of the next meeting.

Mr. T. Groombridge, sen., moved a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, for conducting the service, for his address, and for presiding at the business meeting; to the organist for his services; to the donors of the tea, and to the ladies for serving the same.—The Vicar briefly responded and gave the Blessing.

This concluded the meeting, and the tower was again visited till about 8 p.m., when the visitors adjourned to the neighbouring tower of St. John's, Erith, for further ringing.

MISS D. D. STEEL'S VISIT TO NEW ZEALAND.

The visit of Miss D. D. Steel, of Bedford, the English lady croquet champion, with a team of English croquet players, to the Antipodes, has resulted in her making the acquaintance of ringers and belfries in Australia and New Zealand. A press cutting, which has reached us, thus speaks of her visit to the Cathedral Society, Christchurch, New Zealand:—

'One of the most successful meetings of the Cathedral Society of Bellringers for some years held at the Cathedral was that attended by Miss D. D. Steel, the English croquet champion, who is also an expert change ringer, as the guest of the local society. Touches were rung on the Grandsire principle, with the following ringers taking part: Treble, N. Sloan; second, C. Grant; third, C. Wright; fourth, G. H. Clayton (conductor); fifth, Miss D. D. Steel; tenor, A. G. Cusdin. Two touches of 120 changes each were rung on the heavy eight, with Messrs. E. and C. Hollobon on the tenors.

An exhibition lapping course of Triples was rung on the handbells by Messrs. Sloan, Grant, Heald and Wright. The evening concluded with a ring on the full peal of ten bells, which have not been rung for a considerable time.

Mr. Clayton welcomed Miss Steel to the Cathedral. Miss Steel, in reply, stated how pleased she was to have a pull on the Christchurch bells, and that while in the city she had endeavoured to interest the Church authorities in their magnificent ring of bells, of which they appeared to be blissfully ignorant.'

THE LONG PEAL ATTEMPT AT HEPTONSTALL. THE OPINION OF 'THE MAN AT THE END OF THE ROPE.'

To the Editor.

Sir,—I must differ from the conductor of the Heptonstall team, whose opinion was quoted in your last issue, as to the condition of the tenor in the long peal attempt. After four hours' ringing the bell went heavily. I told the treble ringer I was hoping that it would go better, but it got worse. I can honestly say that if the bell would have run like she did when I rang her to the long peal of Oxford Treble Bob there would not have been any difficulty in my ringing the bell to the end of the peal, as I was quite fit on the day. The new rope did not make things any better. I am certain that the old ringer mentioned could not have rung the bell when I finished with it. There is no better judge than the one who is on the end of the rope. I have had enough experience in my time to know when a bell is running well, and when it is running badly. I would like to remind the Heptonstall conductor and the old ringer that I am confident that I am able to ring the same weight of bell to the peal when it is well lubricated.—Yours truly,
A. E. PEGLER.
Bangor.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Northern District was held at St. John's, Old Hackney, on Saturday, April 21st. The bells (for the use of which thanks are due to the Rector, the Rev. Lash) were kept going from 3 until 5.30 p.m.

At the business meeting, held in the tower of St. Paul's Church, Glyn Road, one new member (Mr. Ellis) was elected.

It is hoped to hold the next meeting at Tottenham.

The Master also gave notice of practice meetings, which are to be held in conjunction with local bands.

A hearty vote of thanks was recorded to the Rev. W. E. Andrews, of St. Paul's, Glyn Road, and to the respective steeplekeepers, Messrs. Alford and Clark, for having everything in readiness.

The bells at Glyn Road were kept going until 9 p.m., and the meeting was a very successful one. The attendance numbered about 25.

A 1905 PEAL COMMEMORATED.

A peal board has just been unveiled in the belfry of St. Leonard's Church, Clent, which records a peal of Grandsire Triples (Holt's 10 Part), rung on December 11th, 1905, in three hours.

Miss K. C. Thatcher, who rang the fourth bell, was the first lady to take part in a peal for the Worcestershire Association, and also in the Midland Counties.

The unveiling ceremony was performed by Miss F. Thatcher, in the unavoidable absence of the Vicar (the Rev. P. C. Thomas, M.A., C.F.).

Six of the members of the band who rang the peal were present, but illness prevented Mr. T. J. Salter from attending, while the remaining member, Mr. Frank Boughton, is now resident in Melbourne, Australia.

In the absence of the conductor, Mr. T. J. Salter, Mr. W. Boughton, jun., tendered hearty thanks to Mr. Harry Mason, the donor of the board, for his generosity.

After the ceremony the bells were kept going for upwards of two hours in the following methods: Grandsire Triples, Stedman Triples, Bob Major, Kent Treble Bob Major, and Double Norwich Court Bob Major.

Several local towers were represented by the following: Messrs. C. Boughton, W. Boughton, jun., B. C. Ashford, Wm. Shilcock, Wm. Short, H. Trimm and the Misses K. C. and F. Thatcher, Clent; Mr. Harry Mason, Hagley; Messrs. John Smith, Kidderminster; J. Bass and T. Hughes, Wollaston; W. H. Cooper, Lye; A. J. Skelding, Stourbridge; A. Hackett and Wm. Brown, Halesowen; H. Bird, Old Hill; John Barber, Wednesbury; and E. Calcutt, Belbroughton.

PEAL CRITICS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Mr. Madgwick is inebriated with delusion. I wrote to 'The Ringing World' a letter which was published on April 6th, asking a question, which was answered by the conductor of the peal in question. That cannot be called criticising a peal. Mr. Madgwick should not be so ready to rush to print with uncertainties. As no good purpose will be served by keeping up correspondence on this subject, I shall not write further upon it.—Yours truly,
JOHN BEAMS.

ONE HUNDRED PEALS IN A TOWER.

The following is the list of Mr. H. Warnett, sen.'s, 100 peals on the bells of St. Mary's Church, Lewisham: Grandsire Triples, rung 28 (conducted 11), Oxford Bob Triples 7 (conducted 6), Stedman Triples 11 (conducted 4), Plain Bob Major 16 (conducted 8), Kent Treble Bob Major 12 (conducted 3), Oxford Treble Bob Major 1, Double Norwich Court Bob Major 12 (conducted 1), Real Double Norwich Court Bob Major 1, Double Oxford Bob Major 1, Superlative Surprise Major 5, New Cumberland Surprise Major 2, Cambridge Surprise Major 3, London Surprise Major 3; total 100 (conducted 33).

MR. L. BARRY'S 50 PEALS.

Doubles, two methods, 19 (conducted 12); Bob Minor, 3; Grandsire Triples, 11 (conducted 4); Grandsire Caters, 14; Grandsire Cinques, 3; total 50 (conducted 16).

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD. SUCCESSFUL MEETING OF FARNHAM DISTRICT.

The Farnham District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild held a very successful meeting at Ash on April 28th, when 39 members and visitors from Ash, Aldershot, Bagshot, Farnham, Frensham, Seale, Yorktown, Banstead, Guildford, and Worplesdon attended. The peal of six bells was placed at the members' disposal from 2.30 p.m. by the Rector (Rev. G. L. Cole), who conducted the service.

After tea in the Church Room, the Rector was voted to the chair, supported by the District Ringing Master (Mr. R. Hasted) and the District Secretary (Mr. Bernard H. Clark).

Nine new members from Crondall and Farnham were elected.

The hon. secretary was asked to write to all towers for nominations from each band to form a district committee for the purpose of arranging combined practices.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector for the use of the bells and for conducting the service, also to the organist and choir, on the motion of the Ringing Master, seconded by Mr. Nye. The ladies who supplied the tea were also accorded a hearty vote of thanks for their services, on the motion of Miss Fisher.

This finished the business, and another move was made to the belfry, when the bells were kept going to Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Minor until nine o'clock.

Two features of this meeting were the number of young ringers present and the number of first touches in the various methods by the beginners.

The next Farnham District meeting is at Frensham on June 16th, and members and visitors are reminded that the church is quite close to the famous Frensham Ponds, one of Surrey's beauty spots, and a visit to these would be a nice excursion for wives, families and friends, while the ringers are at the church.

LINCOLNSHIRE'S RELATION TO CAMBRIDGE.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I am pleased to note that the Rev. H. Law James has accepted my explanation of the construction of Cambridge Surprise, and recognises that the Treble Bob Hunting Course is secondary in importance. He rather overshoots the mark when he says that it is 'imaginary.' In his notes he writes: 'Double Oxford Minor 6 in the hunt.' Let me correct him. Six is not 'in the hunt'; it is more than that: 6 is 'the hunt.'

One little point he seems to have overlooked is the fact that the place-making bells (2 and 4) of the first half-lead are the 'plain hunts' of the second half-lead; also the 'plain hunts' (6 and 5) of the first half-lead are the place-making bells of the second half-lead.

I really cannot understand his argument that 'although Lincolnshire Surprise is another and better extension of Cambridge Minor, yet it cannot be called Cambridge simply because it has appeared too late in the day.' It is making a statement similar to 'Truth cannot be accepted because it has arrived too late in the day.' I fancy much the same argument was used to Galileo: 'The earth cannot possibly go round the sun because we have always assumed that the sun goes round the earth.'

If Mr. James will read my article carefully he will see that I acknowledge there is a difficulty, and also give a temporary way of surmounting the difficulty. My whole point is that the Major, Royal and Maximus, which he has called Lincolnshire, should have embodied in its name the fact that it springs from Cambridge Surprise Minor. Mr. James is in effect calling one of the sons of John Smith by the name Henry Brown. It also appears that Mr. James is at last coming to the view that Double Norwich Court Bob Major is the natural extension of Double Court Minor. It should be easy now to decide that old Double Norwich Royal is on another branch of the extension tree.

—Yours truly,

W. TAYLOR.

ISLEWORTH BELL FUND.

An experiment was carried out at St. Mary's Halls, Acton, where a dance-social was held to augment the Isleworth Bell Fund. It proved a great success, and upwards of 130 turned up. For those who could not dance, in a room leading off from St. Mary's Hall, where the dancing could be seen and the music heard, card tables and cards were placed for a friendly game, a feature appreciated and made use of. Between the dances solos were given by Mr. S. M. Bridge, Mr. E. Gladman, Mr. Dick Sayers (humorous), and by way of variation Mr. Stump entertained with some conjuring tricks, the Belcher family with handbell selections, some of the Ealing contingent with a course of method ringing on handbells, while Miss Herbert gave a skipping exhibition. Miss Hollier ably accompanied at the piano.

Another interesting feature was a 'mystery box' in the hands of Miss D. Brown at a penny a guess. No one guessed correctly, and it was used as a spot dance prize and won by Mrs. Goodfellow. It proved to be a hand mirror.

St. Mary's Dance Orchestra was in attendance. After a thoroughly enjoyable evening, the gathering dwindled away near midnight. Mr. Hollier was M.C. for the social side, and Mr. R. Holloway was M.C. for the dance. After deducting expenses, a profit of £9 was made.

'IRENÆUS PISTOR.'

We acknowledge with thanks the sum of 14s. to the 'Irenæus Pistor' Fund from the Rochester District of the Kent County Association, per Mr. F. M. Mitchell, and 12s. 6d. collected at the Gloucester Branch meeting of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, per Mr. J. Austin.

This makes a total of £203 19s. 6d.

THE DERIVATION OF METHODS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Is not the Rev. H. Law James trying to stretch our credulity a little with his statement that Cambridge Surprise Minor is derived from the Plain Hunting Course, when he has to resort to such shifts and expedients as the illustration given in your issue of April 13th? Should we not be as fully justified, in view of the following figures, in saying that Plain Bob is derived from the Treble Bob Hunting Course, and not, as some people think, from an imaginary Plain Hunting Course? Moreover, in order to demonstrate it, we do not have to put into the hunt bells that would never be there in practical ringing, as Mr. James does in his explanation of Cambridge Surprise.

METHOD EXTENSION.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Following is a half-lead of a composite method, and the way in which the several sections are related to other methods is shown at side:—

12345678	}	This first section is identical to 'London,' 'Londonderry,' and many other methods.
21354768
12537486
21573846
25137864	}	Orthodox 6th's place Bob.
52318746
12537486
52314867
25341687	}	This second section is equivalent to the second section of 'Superlative,' 'Yorkshire,' 'Lincolnshire,' and many other methods.
32541687
23451687
34256178
43265718	}	Orthodox 3rd's place Bob.
34627581
36425718
63247581
36427581	}	This section is equivalent to 'Bristol,' 'Yorkshire,' and many other methods.
14263857
14263857	}	Orthodox 5th's place Bob.
56427851

There are three false course-ends to the method, tenors together, all from one round block, i.e.:—

53624
65432

From the foregoing we shall be able to place 'Lincolnshire' Major, which is also a complete method, in its true perspective. To begin with, the first ten changes are 'Yorkshire' Surprise, pure and simple; the extreme made in 'Yorkshire' is omitted, and a quick 4th's-place Bob made instead. This accounts for eleven changes, and the last five changes are exactly equivalent to the last five changes of the first half-lead of 'Superlative.' Therefore, in 'Lincolnshire' Major the first six changes are related to Cambridge Minor by its round blocks, and the remaining ten changes of the half-lead are related by its round blocks to 'Yorkshire,' 'Superlative,' and other methods.—Yours faithfully,

GEORGE BAKER.

MUFFLED BELLS AT WARNHAM.

On Saturday, April 21st, the pretty churchyard at Warnham, Sussex, bore a crowded but sombre aspect, when the remains of the late Mr. C. J. Lucas, of Warnham Court, were laid to rest in the family vault. The deceased gentleman had for many years been a churchwarden, a keen and enthusiastic supporter of the local band of ringers, and a life member of the Sussex County Association since its formation. The cortege was escorted from the house to the church by a strong body of the West Sussex Police and the local company of Special Constabulary, of which he was superintendent.

At the close of the service, the bells were rung half-muffled for a short time by the local band. And on Sunday, for morning service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples were rung by Albert Charman 1, I. Branch 2, J. Stanford 3, J. Cook (conductor) 4, W. Hooker 5, W. Pettifer 6, W. Charman 7, Alfred Charman 8.—For evening service, a quarter-peal of Cantorbury Major (1,312 changes) by W. Charman (conductor) 1, T. Branch 2, W. Pettifer 3, W. Hooker 4, J. Branch 5, P. Charman 6, W. Stanford 7, J. Cook 8.

MINOR METHOD NAMES.

The Methods Committee of the Central Council have completed their revision of the names of the Minor Methods which they desire to appear in the next edition of the 'Collection' of six-bell methods and the list is published elsewhere in this issue. It is interesting to recall the circumstances which have led up to the present step. When the Council first published the Collection in 1907 many of the methods, which appeared in print for the first time, were unnamed. In the course of years some were rung, and those who rang them gave them names, with the result that some methods became known by a number of titles, and this led to confusion. The Analysis Committee were given the task of clearing up the position, and, in addition, were authorised to name the still unnamed methods. In this way each Minor method in the Collection was given a definite and distinctive title, and their report was accepted by the Council in 1923.

The committee, however, had selected or retained certain titles which failed to give anything like general satisfaction, and objection was particularly taken to the floral names which were applied. It was felt that while some old methods had come down to us saddled with the names of flowers, which might be tolerated, it was a mistake to extend and perpetuate this style of nomenclature, which is so ill-fitted to a mathematical service. A special committee was therefore set up to make recommendations as to names. They did their work too thoroughly. Two years ago they suggested wholesale alterations and submitted a long list of recommendations, which their opponents side-tracked by an amendment; and last year they were 'discharged, with thanks for their services.' Thereupon the Methods Committee, one of whose members had led the attack on the nomenclature report, asked for and obtained powers to carry out the revision. That, briefly, is the story of the past. And now we have the Methods Committee's recommendations as to names.

Those who compare the lists with the titles accepted by the Council, on the recommendation of the Analysis Committee at Salisbury in 1923, will find very few alterations. But such as they are they are significant. The Methods Committee have gone back to the names which they themselves allocated when they first published the methods, except in so far as they have admitted themselves in error, and unless the Council are tired of the whole thing, there will be another fight like that which took place at Salisbury, on such points as, for instance, whether the method at No. 12 of the Plain Methods is Canterbury Pleasure, or Canterbury Pleasure Reverse; and at No. 26, College or College Reverse. We asked last year, when the Council jettisoned the Nomenclature Report and had obviously overlooked the fact that four years before they had themselves settled the names, for what purpose did the Methods Committee want discretionary power? Was it merely, we asked, to ensure that their own views on the disputed names should prevail? The Methods Committee's report is the answer. They are going to restore, as far as they can, the names which they themselves originally allocated. They may plead justification for doing this, but we think it is due to the Council that they should give the reasons for the changes they propose and give them soon enough to enable the members to consider the alterations, remembering that they are settling questions of priority and derivation probably for all time. Meanwhile, the Suffolk Guild is urging the Council to take into consideration the Nomenclature Committee's recommendations. Those recommendations, some of which would find general acceptance, still exist in a report which, the members of that now defunct committee hold, has neither been accepted nor rejected.

SOCIETY FOR THE ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD.

CATHEDRAL BELLS AGAIN REFUSED.

A quarterly meeting was held at Brewwood on Saturday, April 14th. A short service was held in the fine old church, when the Rev. L. Knights Smith, who recently took over the vicariate of Brewwood, after being Vicar of Uttoxeter for many years, gave the members a warm welcome, and a helpful address. Mr. W. York presided at the organ.

A capital tea was laid in the schoolroom, but, unfortunately, provision had been made for a larger number than was present.

After tea, the usual vote of thanks was accorded the Vicar for his address, etc., to the organist for his kindly assistance, and to the ladies who arranged for the tea and waited at table.—The Vicar suitably responded.

The Rev. C. H. Barker (clerical secretary and treasurer) announced that he had made application for the use of the Cathedral bells at the annual meeting to be held at Lichfield in June, but that the Dean and Chapter could not see their way clear to alter their previous decision, viz., that permission would be granted for alternate years. This decision is a great disappointment to members, who feel that the privilege of ringing on the bells of the mother church once a year is not asking too much.

There was some discussion as to the advisability of a diploma for 'first pealers.' The decision was in favour of such, and the representatives were accordingly instructed to support the motion at the Central Council meeting at Hereford.

PEATLING PARVA'S PEAL.

The tiny village of Peatling Parva, Leicestershire, consisting of some 40 houses, and boasting of a population of about 120 souls, was enlivened last Saturday, after a lapse of 45 years, by the first complete peal on their bells. Originally an ancient set of three, dating from 1520 to 1599, they were augmented to five by J. Taylor and Co. in 1883. For many years little or no ringing has been done on these bells, and it was with some misgiving that Mr. Ernest Morris, of Leicester (whose great ambition is to ring a peal at every Leicestershire church), set enquiries on foot concerning their condition. However, Mr. H. Bird, of Broughton Astley, and Mr. C. H. Webb, of Croft, proved invaluable by their help, in making special visits to splice up old ropes, oiling bearings, etc., and, undoubtedly, it was only through their efforts the peal (reported elsewhere) was possible.

Before starting, Mr. Morris visited the bells to take off their inscriptions for his book on the 'Bells of the Leicester Diocese,' and with some difficulty—the birds having almost entirely 'whitewashed' the bells and frames—he did this satisfactorily. Meanwhile, Ernest 'Tip' went birdsnesting in the louveres and floors, bringing out handfuls of eggs and fledglings, remarking the latter ought to turn out good songsters, seeing that they were given a 2½ hours' 'solo.'

After tea, which followed, the conductor set off, as he usually does, to catch the first train home to his 'large wife and small family,' and after 2½ miles' walk arrived at Ashby just in time to see the train steaming out. Not relishing the idea of a long wait, he then walked a further three miles or so to Broughton to catch a bus, and even in that village was 'spotted' by one of his numerous friends. However, he did eventually arrive home some two hours late, to receive a 'telling off' from the aforesaid 'missus,' but he puts this down as one of the fruits of success.

A DATE TOUCH.

On Saturday, April 21st, in 1 hr. 15 mins., a date touch (1,928 changes) was rung at St. Werburgh's, Kingsley, in the seven following Surprise Minor methods consisting of 128 Ipswich, 120 Boverley, 240 York, 360 each London, Durham, Wells and Cambridge: J. Barker 1, C. S. Ryles 2, J. E. Wheeldon 3, H. Carnwell 4, A. W. Hall 5, J. Waley 6, conducted by J. E. Wheeldon. The ringers hail from Norton, Cheadle and Kingsley. This is the longest length of Surprise on the bells.

MORE BELLS WANTED FOR BRIXHAM

The Rev. W. H. Davis, Vicar of All Saints', Brixham, Devon, writing in 'The Times,' says: 'At All Saints', Brixham, we have the sum required to instal eight bells. This is the memorial church of Mr. Lyte, the author of what has become perhaps the most famous of all hymns. But we find that it will require ten bells to enable "Abide with Me" to be chimed daily from the tower with the necessary apparatus. So we are venturing to ask for help from a wider public so that we can in this way honour the memory of the revered author who was for many years the devout incumbent of this parish. I shall be glad to acknowledge any donations sent to me here.'

VISIT TO BUCKFAST ABBEY.A PEALABLE RING OF TWELVE.

On Easter Monday last a visit was paid by a party of Bristol ringers and friends to Buckfast Abbey, with its peal of 14 bells, two of which are hung 'dead' for chiming only. An early start was made in a very comfortable 26-seater charabanc, and Taunton was reached at 8.45. A stop of 40 minutes enabled the party to have a cup of coffee and a stroll round, and, incidentally, to hear the carillon of St. Mary's play an Easter hymn at nine o'clock. Ashburton was reached at 11.45, and as the party were a little in front of scheduled time, enquiries were made as to the prospects of ringing on the peal of eight there. A wedding was about to commence when they arrived, but it was over in time for the visitors to ring a course of Stedman Triples and four leads of Cambridge Major before resuming the journey to Buckfast, which was reached at 12.30 p.m.

Two attempts for Stedman Cinques did not succeed, so Stedman Caters were substituted. The ringers were agreeably surprised at the good 'go' of the bells. They had been led to believe that the front four were almost unringable, instead of which they went remarkably well. In fact, the whole peal go well, and are easily 'pealable,' once the unfamiliar surroundings are mastered.

Lunch at the Abbey Guest House was followed immediately by the first part of the return journey, as far as Tiverton. Here a splendid tea was provided by Mr. and Mrs. Knowles, two of the local ringers, at the Constitutional Club. Then a move was made to the tower of St. Peter's, with its splendid ring of eight by John Taylor and Co., and it was unanimously agreed that they rank with Chewton Mendip and Heavitree, and that he would be a bold man who would say which were the best. Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Cambridge, London and Bristol Surprise Major were rung here. Bristol was reached punctually to time, 10.30 p.m. after a most enjoyable day. Several have expressed a wish to pay another visit to both places with a little more time at Buckfast, and, knowing what they now know, this can easily be done.

A STRANGE EFFECT.To the Editor.

Sir,—In this neighbourhood a peal of bells (ten) was recently tuned, some recast, rehung, and put in good condition by a well-known firm of bell founders. After the thing was done—and the bells sounded better than ever before—someone thought the seventh was out of tune, so after a lot of talk another person offered a new bell. This was cast, and the old bell, as it was of historic interest, and forbidden to be done away with by the diocese, hung 'stiff' in a corner of the belfry, struck by a hammer, and used for tolling for week-day services. This is the result! When the old bell is tolled a distinct and mournful 'hum' is set up somewhere, and in some parts of the town sounds awful; also, the ringers now complain that the new 7th is 'out.'

Is the cause of this the fact of having two bells of the same pitch and weight hanging too close together? I fancy so myself, but should like to have the opinion of your readers on the point. At any rate, the old bell has a horrid 'wang! wang!' sound that is far from musical, and causes an harmonic drone all out of proportion to its own note.—Yours etc.,

BRISTOL RINGERS' WHIST DRIVE.

A whist drive, arranged by Mr. F. G. Leaker, in aid of the Jubilee Fund of the Bristol United Ringing Guilds, was held at St. Thomas' Parish Room on Wednesday, May 2nd. Nineteen tables were in use, which considering the very short notice given (only seven days), was very satisfactory. Prizes were kindly presented by Mrs. F. G. Leaker, Mrs. C. Spurrier, Mrs. W. A. Cave, Mrs. A. Prince and the St. Thomas' Guild of Ringers, and the prize-winners were Mrs. Parker 201, Miss Sainsbury 198, Mrs. Lott 197, Miss Harcombe 107 (half-time), Mr. W. A. Cave 200, Mr. Alföld 195, Mr. Warr 195, Mr. Hippett 105 (half-time).

Once again Bristol ringers are indebted to the Vicar and churchwardens of St. Thomas' for their kindness in allowing the use of their room for this event, and also the society connected with the church for the use of tables, cards, etc.

The Vicar showed his continued interest by looking in during the evening, while both churchwardens (Messrs. Leaker and C. F. Solomon) and an ex-warden (Mr. C. Spurrier), with their wives, took part in the games.

The prizes were handed to the winners by the senior warden, Mr. Solomon, who must have regretted his colleague was so near a prize and yet so far away. His score was 194, and the last hand but one was a 'one.' The duties of M.C. were carried out by Mr. W. A. Cave.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Manchester without Harry Chapman! Can any ringer imagine it? Mr. Chapman is going to live at Keyston, Huntingdonshire, and it is hoped that the change will benefit his health, which lately has been indifferent. At Keyston there is a ring of five bells, and, we hear, plenty of young men wanting to learn change ringing. So Harry need not get absolutely rusty.

Friends of Mr. C. J. Sedgley, of Ipswich, will be glad to learn that he is making good progress towards recovery from his recent illness.

Mr. James George will have to look to his laurels. According to a tombstone in Leek Churchyard, James Robinson was interred there on February 28th, 1788, aged 438.

Mr. Albert Walker, Deputy Ringing Master of St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham, is hors de combat with acute inflammation of the optic nerve. His many friends will wish him a speedy recovery from a painful affliction.

Twenty-five years ago to-day the present London Surprise record was set up at King's Norton, where a peal of 14,112 changes was rung in 8 hrs. 40 mins.

On May 12th, 1788, 'was rung at Wakefield by the ringers of that place a New Composition Peal of Tripple Bob Tripples, called Wakefield Delight, consisting of 5,040 in eight courses complete. The same set of Ringers without changing a man or setting a bell, began another peal of Oxford Single Tripples in courses consisting of 5,040, called Wakefield Surprise.

'Boath these peals,' adds the record, 'consisted of 10,080 changes, were performed, including the raising and settling of the bells, in 7 hrs. and 1 min., and were rang with a exactness and nice distinction, an instance never before Done in Ye Kingdome. What adds to the singularity of this performance is—there were two fathers, five sons, five brothers, four cousins, one uncle, one nephew, yet only eight persons and only two names.'

We might also add another conundrum: What actually did they ring?

On May 13th, 1909, Harry Withers 'called' a peal of Superlative Surprise at Selly Oak, by standing 30 yards from the tower and indicating the bobs to the ringers by ringing a small bell fixed in the ringing chamber.

The first peal of Stedman Caters on the famous bells of St. Clement Dances, Strand, was conducted by John Cox on May 14th, 1845. It was a 6,485, and the band consisted of College Youths.

On May 15th, 1837, St. James' Society rang a peal of 12,096 Grandsire Caters at All Saints', Fulham.

MASONIC PEALS.

PROPOSED PERMANENT RECORD IN GRAND LODGE LIBRARY.

Several ringers who have taken part in Masonic peals have expressed a wish that some permanent record should be kept of past and future performances, and it is felt that the Library of Grand Lodge would be the most fitting home for such a record.

Grand Lodge have agreed to accept the gift of a peal book, and accord it a place in the Library and Museum.

Will all who have conducted such peals kindly send details to Bro. F. White, Westfield, Cranbrook, Kent, in order to obviate the risk of any omission?

The cost of the book, with entries to date, is expected to be about £8, and ringing brethren are invited to send subscriptions to Bro. White.

It is estimated that a subscription of 2s. 6d. or 5s. from each Masonic ringer would cover the entire cost.

Brethren are assured that the peal book will be a handsome volume and worthy of the givers and of Grand Lodge.

THE JUBILEE GATHERING AT BRISTOL.

To the Editor.

Sir,—By direct and indirect information I know that the Jubilee Festival will be attended by a very large number of ringers.

May I, through your columns, ask all those who wish to have luncheon and tea and also attend the meeting to apply for their tickets at once, sending the deposit of one shilling as requested? Otherwise there may be a disappointment for them, and, in any case, undue anxiety to the officials and myself. Only ticket holders can be provided for.—Yours faithfully,

EDGAR GUISE.

TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD.

In the annual report of the Truro Diocesan Guild, Canon Jennings, the hon. secretary, says continued progress was made during 1927, and there are at present about 720 members. Minor festivals were held in all the branches except Bodmin Branch, and that for the Launceston Branch on Whit Monday was so largely attended that it has been decided to have two branches, one centred at Launceston and the other at St. Mellion.

The finances of the Guild are still in a flourishing condition, the balance in hand having increased from £82 16s. 7d. to £94 9s.

Half-pull ringing has been taken up in many towers, and during the year 1927 twelve peals were rung.

A small committee has been entrusted with the revision of the rules.

CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS.

In case the earlier publication this year of the Council's agenda has cut out certain motions, those concerned will please note that such motions might be considered under 'other business,' if the Council and time permit.

E. ALEXR. YOUNG,
Hon. Secretary.

The Council meeting, which will be held on Whitsun Tuesday, will take place in St. Peter's Church House (next to St. Peter's Church).

Better accommodation at enhanced prices can be obtained at the Green Dragon and Mitre Hotels.

The large hall at the Booth Hall Hotel is placed at the disposal of visitors by the Hereford Guild as a social centre for the whole of Monday and Tuesday, and cold lunch can be obtained here at 2s. 6d., also teas and other refreshments provided. Those who wish to take advantage of these facilities are invited to advise me during the week previous, to ensure adequate supplies.

Efforts will be made to arrange a charabanc trip through the Wye Valley to Tintern on Monday afternoon at a probable cost of 7s. 5d. each, if sufficient notify me in time to secure a vehicle. Prompt notification is important.

The Hereford Guild invite all members and their friends to a meat tea at the Booth Hall after the afternoon session on Tuesday, to be followed by a social to commence about 7.30 p.m.

DURHAM & NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

A very successful meeting of the Eastern District of this association was held at West Hartlepool on Saturday. Members attended from South Shields, Jarrow, Sunderland, Durham, Stockton, Middlesbrough, as well as several local ringers, and the fine peal of ten at St. Oswald's was kept going during the afternoon.

A short meeting was held after tea at the Co-operative Cafe, Mr. R. L. Patterson presiding. Mr. R. Stephenson, in proposing a vote of thanks to the clergy for the use of the bells, asked if something could be done to improve the access to the bells of All Saints', Stranton, and the Vicar of Stranton, in replying, said that a suitable circular staircase had been obtained, but had not yet been fitted owing to one of the floor beams being in the way, but he would do his best to have the trouble remedied.—The Rev. T. H. Lilburn, Vicar of St. Oswald's, also replied.

Gateshead, Durham and Houghton-le-Spring were suggested for the next meeting, and on being put to the vote Houghton was chosen, the date being left to the secretary.

All Saints', Stranton, and St. Aidan's were afterwards visited.

LORD SHAFTESBURY'S GIFT.

DEDICATION OF BELLS AT ST. GILES', WIMBORNE.

By the generous gift of the Earl of Shaftesbury, the ring of six (by Messrs. Taylor) at St. Giles', Wimborne, has been enlarged to eight by the addition of a new treble and tenor (17½ cwt.). The work has been completed by the same firm. The dedication by the Bishop of Salisbury took place on May Day afternoon, in perfect spring weather, and was attended by a fairly representative gathering of ringers from Bournemouth, Buckhorn Weston, Christchurch, Cranborne, Edmonsham, Parkstone, Poole, Stanbridge, Southampton, Swanage and Wimborne. Prayers were read by the Vicar (Rev. E. J. Janson Smith), and the lessons by Lord Shaftesbury, and after the dedication the Bishop gave an address from the text, 'One generation shall praise Thy works unto another, and declare Thy power.' He began with a description of the torch race, the relay race of the ancients, and how it was a picture and parable of the way in which each generation can carry on the Light—the knowledge of God Himself in Christ, the knowledge that we are His children—the fact that His purposes of Love for the world can only be realised as the men of each generation do their part. He spoke of the way in which church towers standing out among the trees of a countryside bear witness of God and the Unseen, and still more their bells, as they sound out Sunday by Sunday over the highways. The use of bells has been woven for many centuries into all our civil and religious life. Towers and bells last on through many generations, but it rests with the men of each generation, a supply of good men, true, skilled, and faithful, to make that witness clear and attractive, and to do their part in declaring the praise and power of God.

After the service, the following members of the local company raised the bells and gave a fine display of firing: Rev. E. J. Janson Smith 1, G. Saunders 2, F. Perry 3, W. Perry 4, A. Simmons 5, Lord Shaftesbury 6, F. Ackerman 7, E. Henning 8.

The Vicar then expressed to all present their grateful thanks to Lord Shaftesbury, not only for his generous gift, but for his personal help during all the past winter, and Lord Shaftesbury, in replying, spoke of the long service of most of the home ringers. They had been so faithful with six bells, the time had well come for them to be given the full ring for their work.

A 504 of Stedman was then rung by the following: G. Williams (conductor) 1, A. F. M. Stewart (Wimborne) 2, A. Medd (Bournemouth) 3, G. Preston (Christchurch) 4, C. Forfitt (Bournemouth) 5, W. Bastable (Swanage) 6, P. Witham (Bournemouth) 7, E. Doel (Poole) 8. Ringing with various touches of Grandsire, Stedman and Kent Treble Bob went on all the evening.

Tea was provided in the garden of the Bell Inn by Mr. Plesled in such delightful surroundings that the keenest ringer could not hurry back to the tower.

St. Giles' has now one of the finest rings of eight in the diocese, and under the present leadership will soon become one of the most useful centres of the Exercise. It may be added that by the Vicar's good leave the bells will be available all day on Saturday, May 19th, when the Guild hold their annual meeting at Salisbury.

COMPETITION RINGING.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In the report of the meeting held recently at Truro, it was stated that several round ringers supported the view that the Guild should award a shield to be competed for annually by affiliated bands. It is also understood that two competitions are taking place at Aliphington and South Tawton, in Devonshire, on the second and third Saturdays in June respectively, under the auspices of the Devon Association of Ringers. I happen to have in my possession a souvenir belonging to this association of the meeting held at Moretonhampstead last year. In this book it states that 'the object of the association is to encourage the art of ringing in our country parishes.'

Most of the associations in the Exercise debar their members from taking part in any competition ringing, but there are a few in the North who go in for it, and apparently for some object or other.

The Devon Association appear to be out for the same object as the ringing Exercise, viz., 'to encourage ringing,' and if associations are going to adopt rules prohibiting their members from taking part in competition ringing, I would like to ask what they are going to do to interest the competition ringers in change ringing and the affairs of the Exercise? One thing is quite evident, their object is to go in for good striking.

I would suggest that members in the Exercise should mix up with these ringers, and take more interest in them. Perhaps then, if they are recognised by the Exercise a bit more, it would possibly help remove some of the opposition and prejudice towards change ringing.

Yours faithfully,

CAMPANOLOGIST.

'IRENÆUS PISTOR.'

We acknowledge with thanks donations to the above fund of 5s. from Mr. J. Frank Smallwood, Derby, 31s. from St. Mary Abbots' Guild, Kensington, per Mr. Ralph Sadler, and 5s. from W. E. M., King's Norton. The total amount received to date is £206 Os. 6d.

DEATH OF MR. LOUIS ATTWATER.A WELL-KNOWN LONDON RINGER.

By the death of Louis Attwater, which took place on Monday, April 30th, from pneumonia, after an illness lasting about five weeks, ringers generally, particularly those in the south-western suburbs of London, have suffered a severe loss. Born at Horsham, Sussex, on June 20th, 1880, he was approaching his 48th birthday when he died.

He commenced his ringing career at Cuckfield, Sussex, at the age of 14, with five brothers. When he rang his first peal he was only 16, the occasion being a visit by a Brighton band, who, meeting one short, invited young Attwater to ring the treble to a peal of Superlative Surprise.

After a period of about one year at Hastings, Mr. Attwater moved to London at the age of 17 and resided at Streatham, where he was connected with the ringing at St. Leonard's Church and various other churches in Surrey and district up to just before his death.

He succeeded Samuel Greenwood as instructor at St. Leonard's church, but transferred his services about six years ago to All Saints' Church, Wandsworth, after the bells there had been restored, he having moved to Wandsworth, where he resided until the end.

A complete list of his peals is not available, but he rang approximately 150, which included Cambridge Maximus at St. Paul's Cathedral, Spiced Surprise Major and several handbell peals, principally Grandsire and Stedman Caters and Cinques.

By trade a blacksmith, he was interested in Friendly Society work, and was elected as local representative of the Hearts of Oak Benefit Society a few years ago. He was also a keen player of bowls and chess.

The funeral took place on Friday last, at Streatham Cemetery, after the service at All Saints' Church, Wandsworth. A large number of friends were present at the graveside, representing various societies. A course of Stedman Triples on handbells was rung by Messrs. C. F. Winney, H. Langdon, H. R. Pasmore and W. H. Pasmore. Ringers also present included Councillor Drewett, J.P. (Master of the Surrey Association), Messrs. Benney, Bish, Hughes, Hewson, W. Langdon, J. Oxborough, Rumley and E. Wallage, also Mr. and Miss Gray.

The same evening the 'whole pull and stand' was rung at All Saints' Church by Messrs. C. F. Winney, G. N. Price, H. N. Pitlow, T. Langdon, W. Langdon, J. Rumley, H. Langdon and W. T. Cockerill.

A genial, companionable and sincere man, Louis will be greatly missed by all who knew him. He leaves a widow who, throughout his illness, nursed him devotedly, and sincere sympathy will go out to her in her bereavement.

On Monday, at St. Leonard's, Streatham, half-muffled touches of Stedman Triples were rung by St. Leonard's Society, of which deceased had been a member for many years previous to his taking up duties as steeplekeeper and captain of All Saints', Wandsworth.

FUNERAL OF AN IPSWICH RINGER.

The funeral took place at Ipswich on Thursday, May 3rd, of Mr. H. Charles Gillingham, who for many years was a member of St. Mary-le-Tower Society, Ipswich. He was fifty-seven years of age, and had recently been in failing health owing to an internal complaint. His last request was that there should be no muffled ringing for him.

There were present, in addition to the family mourners, the deceased ringer's employer, Mr. Catchpole, while the St. Mary-le-Tower Society was represented by their veteran member, Mr. R. H. Brundie, and others.

Wreaths were sent by the family; Mr. W. Roughton, London; Messrs. Catchpole, Ipswich; St. Mary-le-Tower Society; and friends and neighbours.

Mr. Gillingham had rung 128 peals for the Norfolk Guild, 22 for the newly-formed Suffolk Guild, and several others outside these two dioceses.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.A SUCCESSFUL SIX-BELL MEETING.

In grand weather the North and East District of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild met at Hendon on Saturday last, some 34 ringers attending. From shortly after 3 o'clock up to the time fixed for the service, the bells were kept going to a variety of methods. At 5 p.m., the ringers attended church, the preacher being the Rev. M. Patterson. Tea was afterwards served in the Church House, and was followed by the usual business meeting.

Five new members were elected, and Stanmore chosen as the place for the next meeting on June 9th.

The Hon. Secretary reminded members that they could obtain cheap travelling facilities to Edgware on the tube railways, and a short bus ride would take them to Stanmore; also to Harrow Weald, at which tower there would be ringing.

Votes of thanks to the Vicar (Rev. S. E. Chetloe) for the use of the bells, to the preacher at the service, and to the ladies who prepared tea, concluded the business.

Regret was also expressed at the absence of the Vicar through illness.

Ringings continued until nearly 9 o'clock, a large number of methods being practised, including Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob, Double Court, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, and Cambridge and London Surprise Minor.

SUFFOLK GUILD.METHOD NOMENCLATURE.

The annual meeting of the Suffolk Guild was held at the Cathedral, Bury, commencing with a short service, at which Canon Goldsmith preached an interesting sermon on the history of the use of bells to summon to worship, and the way in which ringers should now look on their art, and their duty in that respect.

After tea, provided by Archdeacon Farmiloe, at the Abbey House, the Archdeacon, as president, was in the chair. There were 34 members present, and the officers were all re-elected, Canon Goldsmith being added as an additional vice-president. The accounts still showed a slight deficit, which it was hoped would be wiped out by omitting the list of members from the report for one year.

After the adoption of the report, the Secretary pointed out that the Guild had never been consulted yet by the Advisory Committee of the Diocese, although the latter had promised to do this.

The Central Council had asked the diocesan associations to consider whether they would like it to issue a diploma or certificate to ringers on attaining a certain standard. The discussion showed that all present thought that the work of the Council was to correlate such certificates, and not to issue them, and a resolution was carried that the Council should leave the matter to the associations.

On the subject of names for methods, the following resolution was, after some discussion, passed unanimously: 'The Suffolk Guild asks the Central Council through its Standing Committee to approve, or otherwise deal with each of the proposals of the Nomenclature Committee serialim.'

The meeting concluded with the election of a large number of both honorary and ringing members, and with votes of thanks.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.MEETING AT AN ANCIENT CHURCH.

The Chertsey District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild met at Walton-on-Thames on Saturday, when members attended from Chertsey, Ottershaw, Egham, Esher, Thames Ditton, Hersham, Otlands, and Woking, in addition to the home tower, and there were visitors from Feltham, Sunbury, and Iwer Heath. The ringing extended to Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob and Treble Bob, some useful instructional work being done.

The Vicar (Rev. W. Kemp Russell) conducted the Guild's service, in which the singing was led by choir boys, with the talented organist, Mr. Turner, at the organ.

Tea in the Church Room was followed by a short meeting, at which the Vicar presided and welcomed the Guild to Walton. He said it was over 20 years since a ringers' meeting had been held there.

The Vicar and the Rev. Canon Pares (Horsell) were elected honorary members, and one ringing member was also elected.

Arrangements for weekly combined practices were left to the hon. district secretary (Mr. H. J. Chaffey), and for this purpose the towers will be linked up into two groups.

The Gen. Hon. Sec. (Mr. J. S. Goldsmith) outlined the plans for the summer festival at Epsom on June 30th, under which it is hoped to organise the members so that charabanc parties may be arranged from grouped towers, each to make a round of bellfries before concentrating on the Parish Church, Epsom, where the Bishop of Guildford is to be the preacher at the service. The towers available for ringing will be the Parish Church and Christ Church, Epsom, Ashted, Ewell and Leatherhead.

In proposing a vote of thanks to the Vicar and organist, the Hon. Secretary promised that with the consent of the incumbent it would not be 20 years before the next meeting was held at Walton. He referred to the fact that great things had been done by the Vicar, over a period of years, in the restoration of the fine old church, and suggested that the turn of the bells had now come. They had some enthusiastic young ringers at Walton, but the bells badly needed attention.

The Vicar, in reply, said they had at present in hand a scheme for the restoration of the organ, and he was afraid the bells would have to wait for a time. They would, however, have to see what could be done later on.—Mr. Turner also acknowledged the vote, and, while sympathising with the ringers in their desire to get the bells put in order, naturally pressed the claims for the restoration of the organ.

Further ringing took place in the evening.

Walton Church is one of the oldest foundations in the country, for it is believed there was a church on the present site in the second century. In earlier days Walton was a Roman camp. The present building dates from the 11th century, and in the vestry is a curious relic—a scold's bridle, presented to the parish more than two hundred years ago.

A LONG PEAL OF MINOR.

The attempt at Rickinghall, Suffolk, on Saturday, for 10,800 of Minor was successful, the band ringing five extents each of Kent and Oxford Treble Bob and Plain Bob, in 5 hrs. 37 mins. It is believed to be the longest peal on six bells in Suffolk, and it was the longest length by all the band, who came from six different parishes, viz., Diss, Thornham Magna, Braiseworth, Yaxley, Stowupland and Dickleburgh. The ringers wish to thank the Rev. Brown for the use of the bells, and Mr. James Bailey for having everything in readiness.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

DEVIZES BRANCH.

The monthly meeting of the Devizes Branch was held at St. Matthew's Church, Rowde, on Saturday.

Ringling commenced about 2.30 p.m., and at 4.40 p.m. the Guild service was held, conducted by the Vicar, Rev. H. J. Wright, Mr. Hunt, who is also a ringer, being the organist. Tea followed in the Parish Room, after which a short business meeting was held, the chairman, Mr. C. D. Heginbotham, presiding.

The following new members were elected: Mr. J. P. Fidler, Loughborough, and Mr. C. T. Coles, London, life ringing members; and Messrs. C. Bartholomew and D. Dickenson, of Devizes, as Guild members.

The death of Mr. T. Lancaster, formerly a ringer of Edington, Wilts, and a member of the Guild, was reported, those present standing in silence for a few moments.

Mr. Heginbotham, in proposing a vote of thanks to the Vicar, congratulated the people of Rowde on the way that the bells had been rehung and the money had been raised.

The Vicar, in replying, welcomed the branch to Rowde, and said, now that the bells had been put in good order, he hoped they would soon have a good change-ringing band. He would also like to express his thanks to Mr. Heginbotham and Mr. S. Hillier for their great kindness in assisting them with their advice. Mr. Hillier made the first inspection which led to the rehanging. Also, he would like to express his thanks to Mr. Fidler (representing the Loughborough Foundry) for the excellent manner in which the work had been done. Mr. J. P. Fidler suitably replied.

The visitors included, in addition to Mr. Fidler, Mr. L. Wilson (Wootton Bassett) and Mr. E. J. Woodroffe (Stratton St. Margaret). Ringers were also present from Devizes, St. John's and St. Mary, Bratton, Bromham, Calne, Rowde, Southbroom, Seend, Melksham, Trowbridge and Warminster. Touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles and Plain Bob were rung during the day. Ringing also took place at Bromham during the evening.

Rowde bells have been recently rehung by Messrs. Taylor and Co. at a cost of about £340, and they are to be congratulated on their successful work.

FOUNDERS OF ROWDE AND BROMHAM BELLS.

Writing to the 'Wiltshire Telegraph,' on April 30th, Mr. H. Brownlee West, of Devizes, the veteran vice-president of the Salisbury Guild and former secretary of Devizes Branch, said:—

In reading your account of the rededication of Rowde Church bells in last week's 'Gazette' I notice that mention is made of the want of information respecting the original inscriptions upon the bells, previous to their restoration in 1870, when Messrs. Jno. Taylor merely placed upon each bell the simple legend, 'Jno. Taylor and Co., Founders, Loughborough, 1870,' instead of reproducing the old inscriptions, which were as follow:—

- No. 1.—Wm. & Robt. Corr. 1706.
- No. 2.—+ Anno Domini 1639.
- No. 3.—Nathaniel Bolter made mee 1654. R.E. H.R.
- No. 4.—+ Anno Domini 1639.
- No. 5.—I to the Church the living call,
And to the Grave do summon all.

A sixth bell was added to this ring of five, but of this one I cannot give the date.

N.B.—Wm. and Robert Corr were bell founders at Aldbourne from 1696 to 1713. Nathaniel Bolter was a bell founder at Salisbury in 1654.

On one side of the 3rd bell was a large shield, bearing the coat of Sir Edward Hungerford, who died in 1648. This bell was probably the gift of his widow, Margaret Lady Hungerford, who died in 1672.

Now that we are on the subject of church bell inscriptions, perhaps it would not be out of place to mention a similar occurrence at the neighbouring parish of Bromham, whose bells were restored and rehung in 1875 by Messrs. Warner and Co., of London, who merely placed on each bell the words 'Cast by John Warner and Sons, 1875,' instead of reproducing the original inscriptions, which were as follow:—

- No. 1.—John Scott, Churchwarden 1658. W.P.
- No. 2.—God Bless Queen Anne. Wm. and Robt. Corr. 1706.
- No. 3.—John Scott, Churchwarden 1658. W.P.
- No. 4.—Benjamin Pearce and W. J. Simkins, Ch. 1761. T.B.F.
- No. 5.—Ferdinando Hughes: J. Scott. T.S., A.D. 1658. W.P.
- No. 6.—Richard Tucker and Mr. John Gaby, Churchwardens. James Burrough, Devizes, Founder, 1748.

I sound to bid ye sick repent.

In hope of Life, when breath is spent.

— Memento Mori —

N.B.—W.P. evidently refers to William Purdew, bell founder, Salisbury, 1613 to 1662. Wm. and Robt. Corr, of Aldbourne, 1696 to 1713. 'T.B.' probably Thomas Bilbie, of Chewstoke, 1740 to 1768. James Burrough, bell founder, Devizes, 1738 to 1754.

ASTON-ON-TRENT, DERBYSHIRE.—On Saturday, May 5th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (the greatest length on the bells) in 45 mins.: W. H. Curson 1, C. Davies 2, F. Brown 3, R. H. Dove 4, N. S. Bagworth (conductor) 5.

LINCOLN CATHEDRAL'S NEW BELLS.

FOUR TREBLES 'HALLOWED.'

The ceremony of hallowing four additional bells for Lincoln Cathedral was performed by the Dean of Lincoln on Saturday week, in conjunction with the annual meeting of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild. The bells are a memorial to the ringers of the diocese who fell during the Great War, and have been cast by Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough. The funds have been raised by the voluntary contributions of the members of the Lincoln Guild and their friends, and by an anonymous American benefactor. The inscriptions on the bells are the same as were on four old bells which were melted down in 1834. They read as follows:—

- 1st.—'Cum voce sonora Thomam campana laudet' and a Greek Cross over 'In Hoc signo vinces.'
- 2nd.—'Sum Rosa pulsata mundi Katerina vocata.'
- 3rd.—'In multis annis resonat campana Johannis.'
- 4th.—'Sum Rosa pulsata Mundi Maria vocata' and a Latin Cross over, 'Britannia; Columbia; Una Voce; Uno Animo.'

The second and third bells are also inscribed 'The gift of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild of Church Bell Ringers.' It is hoped that the repairs and strengthening of the St. Hugh's tower will have sufficiently progressed to allow of the bells being rung towards the end of the year.

Speaking at the annual meeting of the Guild, the Bishop of Lincoln congratulated the Guild on having added the new bells to the Lincoln Cathedral peal (making the total 12) in memory of members who fell in the war. He said it was a very fine gift, and the bells would be a great addition to the peal, which, he hoped, would be rehung before the end of the year.

SHREWTON BELLS AUGMENTED

'CHILDREN'S BELL' IN WILTSHIRE PARISH.

A new bell, known as 'The children's bell,' has been added to the ring at Shrewton, Wiltshire (where the other bells have been rehung), and was dedicated by the Bishop of Salisbury. The event was marked with great enthusiasm, practically the whole of the villages of Shrewton and Maddington taking part. The weather was beautifully fine. The proceedings commenced with a procession from the school, led by the Shrewton Band. The banner of the Foresters added a picturesque touch to the scene. The Buffaloes were also strongly represented. The Sunday School children were marshalled by their teachers. A small company of airmen, numbering 20, under Corpl. Jones, attended. The British Legion was fully represented by its members. The choir and clergy walked in a separate procession to the church, the clergy present being the Rev. M. Parkin, R.D. (Wylke), the Rev. A. Goodman (Stockton), the Rev. Eric Graham (Bayton, son of Archdeacon Graham, a former Vicar of the parish), Archdeacon Carpenter, the Rev. A. G. Forbes (Bishop's Chaplain, carrying the pastoral staff), and the Bishop.

The procession was met at the belfry tower by the churchwardens, Messrs. C. P. Young and A. Barrell, and a processional hymn was sung. The large congregation thoroughly entered into the spirit of the proceedings, and the whole service was heartily enjoyed. Following a few prayers, the Bishop, with his Chaplain and Vicar, returned to the belfry, where the bells and the other work completed in the tower were rededicated, after which touches were rung.

The Bishop preached a sermon based on the text, 'One generation shall praise Thy works unto another.' He strongly emphasised the need of the present generation banding on the good works of past generations and themselves to future ones. He also gave interesting details of the former uses of bells. 'Now you have the bells,' he said, 'use them,' commending this work to the young men of the village, urging them to become efficient and eventually enrol themselves in the Diocesan Guild of Ringers.

A substantial collection was taken on behalf of the Bishop's School Fund. An especially gratifying feature to the Vicar and churchpeople is that after a few years' strenuous work a new bell has been added and the old ones rehung free from debt. After the service the bells were rung by ringers from Market Lavington, who were accompanied by their Vicar (the Rev. J. A. Sturton). Their change ringing was much appreciated. They were afterwards entertained by the churchwardens.

It bears the inscription: 'In affectionate memory of William E. Garrard, founder and for 32 years instructor of St. Mary Abbot's Guild of Change Ringers, died 20th January, 1928.'

LOSS TO A DEVON VILLAGE.WASHFIELD RINGER'S DEATH.

The death has occurred at Washfield, near Tiverton, of Mr. William Henry Chane, who passed away at the early age of 34 years. The deceased, who lived with his mother at Brook Farm, which he managed for her, had been in failing health for several months. He had taken an active part in church affairs, and had for many years been a ringer and chorister.

In a small country parish like Washfield a loss of this nature is keenly felt, not only by the ringers and choir, but by all the community. The deceased was beloved by all who had the privilege of knowing him, and his cheery disposition made him popular with everyone with whom he came in contact.

He was a particularly fine striker, and attended regularly to ring for Sunday services. He also took part in the only peal (Grandsire Doubles in Pitman's arrangement) ever rung on the bells of his parish church.

After the funeral on Wednesday of last week the 'whole pull and stand' was rung, and in the evening a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung by L. May 1, Mrs. F. Balment 2, T. Arscott 3, H. May 4, W. Snell (conductor) 5, F. Balment 6, with half-muffled bells.

On Sunday, for morning service, the 'whole pull and stand' and touches of Grandsire were rung, also with the bells half-muffled.

RIVERSIDE CHURCH, New York, U.S.A.

A REVIVAL IN PEAL RINGING.

The analysis of peals, rung in the year 1927, which is available to the Exercise this week, is again full of interesting material for those who like to examine what has been done by the various associations and to compare results with past years. The care with which this analysis is compiled from year to year places the Exercise under a deep debt of gratitude to the members of the committee of the Central Council, who are called upon to labour consistently to keep abreast of their task and whose work forms a record which increases in value as each year recedes. To have in tabulated form the complete list of peal performances will be of great benefit to the historians of the art in the future.

As to peal ringing itself, while it is, perhaps, confined to a minority and is by some people looked upon as a selfish occupation, unless the peal is rung for a special purpose, there are one or two important points which must not be overlooked. A peal is the best training which a ringer can have; for it tends to bring out the highest qualities which he possesses, in fitness, mental alertness, concentration, perseverance and performance. No number of touches will work quite the same improvement on a ringer of average ability, as a peal, and the result must almost inevitably be to make him better qualified to discharge efficiently those duties which he owes to the Church. Even in itself, a good peal is a worthy achievement, and as an example of team work is unexcelled in any other pastime.

It is, therefore, gratifying that the peals rung last year have shown an increase. For three years there had been a gradual falling off in the number, but 1927 has seen a welcome revival, the aggregate being 174 above the previous year. A healthy sign of the increase is the fact that more ringers rang their first peal and a greater number of new conductors appeared upon the scene. The committee remark upon the decline in Surprise ringing, especially on the falling off in the number of peals of London, but add that there is no need for pessimism. Actually the total number of Surprise peals on eight, ten and twelve bells fell by only 14, but London Major dropped by 34. To some extent, of course, the decline in this method is general, but a closer examination reveals that it has occurred more particularly in special areas, and therefore has had more or less a local cause. The Essex Association, for example, rang only five peals in 1927 against twelve in 1926. The Winchester Guild, which had two companies proficient in the method, provides an even more striking example, for only four peals were rung against 16 in the preceding year. Ringing in these higher methods is seldom general in an association, and those who take part in the peals are usually limited in numbers. Thus it takes very little to cause a marked fluctuation in the total of peals rung in a method like London, and illness, such as we believe we are right in saying overtook two of the leading Surprise conductors in the areas mentioned, made a big difference to the results. Even the drop in London Surprise peals, however, need alarm no one, as long as there has been a general improvement in other directions.
